\section*{DEATH OF A TOTTENHAM VETERAN.}

LONG AND VALUED SERVICFE AT ALL HALEOWYS GEURCE. A wide circle of ringers, especinlly of an older generation, will learn with regret that Henry A. Barnott, of Tottenlam, las parsed from anong us. At the beginning of August he was baken il and died suddenly early its the morring of September 27th.
For fifty-six jears lie was a regular memher of the Fottenham All Hallows Sociely, and for most of that time the belts owed their splendid condition to his care and attention. Deceased had rung 96 peals, mostly in the carlier linlf of lis ringing career. Fis enjoyrucnt in peal ringing was the company of his ringing friends and the assistance he gave to lis own hand. Therefore he was never interested in running up a long scove- His capabilities as a ringer are knowa to all who met him. Standy and meliahle in ringing, willing and ghd to help in anything arranged, the ralote of his service in tha lower of the church he loved so well camot be estimated truly untll is loss has been felt. He died on the eve of his \(74 t\) h birthdey. On the evening of the day of the funeral at Tottenham Cometery an age "touch" of the whole pull and stand was rung, fand representatives from various neighbouring towers attended fur half-muffed ringiug.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.
The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, "The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

After many years of service as hon. secrotary of the Rossondalu Branch of the Lancashire Association, Mr. J. H. Haydock has reHinquished the post ant is succeeder by Mr. Jack Bradwell, whose address is 8, Regent Street, Bacup. There is to be a meething of the buach at Haslingden to-monow.
Twonty years ago to-morrow the first clerical len-bell peal wis rang, when aparty of parsons scored a peel of Stedman Caters at Werwich.
Holt's ten-part peal of Grandsive was rung for the first tima on October 12th, 1754, when it was called at Shorediteh by George Partrick. One of the ringers was Francis Wood, grandfather of Matt Wood, who a hundred years and more later became a formost London ringer.
This is a long span to cover three gencrations. We do not kuw when Francis Wood was born, but he died in 1780, leaving a Enanily of eight boys and two girls. One of the former, who was ton yexrs old at his frther's death, afterwards became the father of Mathew Wood, who was born in 1826, and died in 1912 . The three gererntions thus covered at leasl 160 years of ringing.
A band that met at 4.30 on Saturday at Bocking for \(n\) peal starterf at four o'elock-by the charcl clock.
A pal was rung at Stomey Stanton on Saturday to commemprate the 80th birthday of Mr. Harry Briggs, of Stoney Stanton, "fither" of the Hinckley District of the Midland Counties Association. Mr. Briggs and Mr. Wm. Jones, another Stoney Slanlon ' youth,' heard the peal. Each is looking forward to celebrating his dianond wedding. That of Mr. and Mrs. Briggs will oceur (D.V.) nexl February.
His many friends in Suffolk and Norfolk ringing cireles will regret to hear that Mr. E. F. Poppy, of Eyc, has suffered a greal bereavemont by the cleath of his wife,

\section*{JAMES WASHBROOK'S GRAVE.}

\section*{To the Editor}

Sir,-I wosid like to supportis the letter writion by 'A Movice,' re. Jamrs Washbrook's grave. As one who knew him personally, I think something should be dome to mark his last resting-place, and I appeal to the general secretary and committee of the Lancashire Assuciation to take this matter up, and also to get some ringer to spend a little time so that the grave shall not be neglected. Wher the time comes for a listle subscription \(I\) am willing to give my share.

\section*{MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION}

\section*{SUGGESTED RATSTNG OF ANNUAL SUBSCRTPTION}

Bottesford, which stauds on the extreme edge of Leicestershire and very close to tine borders of bolls Lincolnshire and Nottinghamshire, was the seenc of the second quarterly meeting of the Midand Counties Association ou Saturdsy. The Church of St. Mary is ranked as anc of the noblest parisl churches in the country, and, indeed, is worthy of a visit if only to view the noted monaments in the chancel, which make it a sorl of miniature Westrainster Abbey. The chancel is \(60 f\). long and 27 ft . hrond, and muderwent conswerable repairg in the early \(16 \mathrm{c}_{\mathrm{y}}\) eentury, wader the direction of Thomes, first Earl of Puthand, for the reception of the coffins and monumental remains of his aneestors, which he moved from Belvoir Priory and other momastic foumations after the dissolution. The firgt Farl was buried is a watt which he formed muder the chancel in \(15+3\), and it continued to be the burial place of the Manners family tilt the completion of the mausolemm at Belvoir in 1828-9. The monuments fure many and varied, and atre of graat interest to archeniogists and other wisitors. To rimgers, the splendid tower and crocheted spire, mising to a heightiof 222 ft , is the chief attraction, and the now magnificently restored rimg of eight hebls-tenor 22 cwt . 1 qr. 8 lb .-is a soture of delight to all who heat them. The new ringing gallery, foo, is an ideal belfry, being extremely light ank airy, and everything up to a matern ringer's idea of perfeotion.
Ringers arrived early, and the firgt touch was Stedmar Triples, called by E. Bardram. This was followed by an excellent course of London Surpuise Major, in which the writer had the pleasure of ringing the tenor, with the genial Rupert \(R\). hy his sido on the 7th. Then followed tonehes and courses of most of the standard and shrprisa methods. 'The cammittee, umier the presidency of Mr. T., Denison Titylor, met at 3.30 pm ., and envied out their woutinn and ather duties, including certais recommendations to the general meeting.
Tea was servod at the Rutland Cafe in a mather airy marquee, pminently suitable to thee "Fresh Air Brigade.' Some forty or more members and friends sat down from Buiton, Derby, Loughharough, Leicester, Notimgham, Melton, elc., and were pleased to welcoma iriends of the Lincolu Diocesan Guikd from Girantham, Sarfect and thel places nearby.

\section*{PRESIDENT'S BRJEF REVIWW}

The genoral mecting immediately followed, the chaif being taken Mr. E. Denison 'raylor' (Dresident), supported by Mr. W. Wallace hon. treasurar) and My. E. Morris (general hon. secretary). In orening the meeting, the Ppesident first mentionod how pleased he was to see such a good number prosent, as for most members of the E.C.A. Bottesford was mather inaecessible. He stated that the uarter's peals were well up to the average, some thinty haring been ung, inclucling several Stedman Triples by the 'Wednesdayites, tedman Cinques at Sit Margntet's ana Camhridge Royal ai Si, ohn's, Leicester. He also wished to congrathlate the conduclor of he aforesaid "Mednasdayites "-Mnurice Swinlield-on his splemdid cord of malling 100 peals, each a consecntive differnut composition. Mr. Taylar then spoke of the great loss sustained, not only by the I.C.A., buf by the Exercise at large, by the cleath of Mr. Arthur raven, who, as they all knew, was a ringar of exceptional ability. He read the following extract from the fortheoming book, 'History ad Art of Rineing, which will soon he pulblished, by the M.e.A. on secretary, Mr. Emest Morris, viz. : Arthur Craven, of Sheftieln., eminent jinger, ptodneed many axellent and well pracised ethoda, arnong which mieht be named Yorkshire, Judsey, Belgrave. Fiutland, Ipswish, Kent, Latneashire, Palatine Surpotise, and a host of athers on the trigher nambers of Royal and Maximus. He also prouced many original compositious of Trcble Bob Major, with qualjies litherto undiscovered; and other method compositions of merit.: Mr. Taylan asked the memhers to stand in silenoe for a moment the respectel memory of Mr. Graven.

\section*{MEMORTAL TO LATE PRESIDENT}

Arising out of the minutes was the question of the suggested memorial to the late president of the M.C.A. Aherman R. R. Cbambers, B.A., J.P., and the Hon. Seerelary explained that wis fortumately, owing to the distance, and not being very well, Wh:s. Chamleers could not attend their meeting that dry. She had, however, after cousulfation with her brother, and tlie Vicar of Little-over-where it is propased to place ille memorial-sent on two suggestions of worth, both ornamental and uscful. They were an almsdish, which could be made to suit ony price avalalile, and for chalice, to be a replica of an ancient silver one now 112 use.
After discussion, the committee rocommenced the latter, and, if ufficient funds were available, \(n\) small brass tablet recording the fact. It was suggesied that an appenl to all lowerg in the area be immediatoly sent out, the local secretaries to look after their respective districts. This suggestion met witl the approral of all present, and will be proceeded with at once.
The Hon. Treasurer then reported that. the National Savings Certificates held in trust for the rasociation by the late president had now heen converted by the solicitors for the estath of the late Mr. Chambers, and during the rext week a cheque amounting to e110 (Conlinued in next column.)

\section*{THE AIR DISASTER}

HRLLS' NATYONAL JRIBUTE TO THE DFAD.
At many ebruthes on Suntay, after receipt of the nows of tho ferthe disaster to the airship R 10I, the bells were rumg laflimuthen or the evening service.
The ringing at St. Martin"s, Birminglann, was in the hature of n national tribute to the dead, for at this church the hells wer hoondcast, and the piaintive notes of the half-mufled dappers lian a most impuessive offeet as the dinely struck touch of Sledman Cinques emflef in stme perfect roumbs.
At Twekenham, ans Shainy maraing, the Vicar (fkey, W. P. Coh. Sheane) visiled thu rimging chamber and uxpressen his grit! at the calumity, and at his request the bells were rumg half-rnuflet for the service by Miss P. Gileá, Miss J. Stapleton, Miss E. On the eve of Palni Suuday, 1918, a Bribisl aeroplane, fying over SL. Ires, Huntingdonslaire, dashed into the Parish Church, smashed the spire, and fell through the roof into the corth sisle. The pifot was killed, and extraordinary festruction done to the fabrie of the elurch. During the years which lave since elapsed the work of resturation has beon stearlity carricd on. First the three roofs ware reinstated. This part of the work was completed two years after the disaster al a host al 28,000 . Eight yoars after tho spipe was fimished at a furlhel cost of 83,600 , and now the bolts and tow clack have been restored at a cost ol \(£ 750\). It las all representer great lahour and no small sackifices on the part of the parishioners
T'he new bells and clonk were fedicated by the Bishop of Ely ati a service of thanksiving on Thursday of last week, when it great congregation, representative of atl elasses and denoninations in the town, gathered within the walls for the cernmony. The prayers offered hy the Bishap included the fallowing:

We beseech Thee to sunctify and bless these bolls, which we now offer to Thee, that at itw sound theres the devation of "rhy servants may be awakened, and their hearts mover to entor into Thy Sanetuirs, that they may hear and receive Thy Holy Wort, bo refreshed by Thy Stacraments, ancl comforted by Thy gracu lirough Jasus Christ our Lord.'

Blassed the Ehy Name, 0 Lord our Goa, that it hath pleaser Pliee to fut into the hearls of thy servants to repair the fabricr of Thy holy habilation to Thy wowhip and service. Bless, we humbly besecels Thee, all those by whose pains, atare and cost this work hath bem doun. Blesi their farilits and theit substance. \section*{YORKSHIRE PROBLEMS.}

Only those who are responsible for the management of big associations know the difliculties which are encountered in keeping up a heallhy and active interest amongst the rank and file of the members, and the wider the area and the more detached its districts the greater the task which confronts the officials. One of the most difficult of all county areas must be that covered by the Yorkshire Association, where, when one gets away from the industrial centres, means of communication are not easy and distances so great that the ordmary organisations of an association could not hope to cover comparatively frequent visits to all the towers which are so essential in maintaining local interest in the affairs of the association and indeed in the art itself, which if left in isolation rarely thrives for long.

Speaking at the Yorkshire Conmemoration Dinner at York on Saturday the President confided to the members that the future prosperity of the association is a matter of serious concern to the officers. The Yorkshire Association was one of the first, it is still one of the greatest of the provincial organisations, but its future, if it is to maintain its traditions, depends upon the loyalty of the members. They have a splendid source of inspiration in the work, of the men who are now but a memory, but, who, as the President remarked, laid the foundations of the association by self-sacrificing efforts. This spirit is surely not lacking to-day among Yorkshire ringers, yet it would be a great encouragement to those who are responsible for the present success and for the future prosperity of the association, if their efforts were more widely backed up and their labours rewarded by a more active support. :We want to see more new faces at our gatherings,' remarked one official; 'unless we do, this commemoration will die out as the old members disappear:' That statement referred to the anmual dimmer, but it is a similar feeling in refard to the future that is, apparently, giving the association's officials food for serious thought.

In one direction the President threw out a suggestion which will doubtless be much discussed. The northern part of the county has always been a difficult problem for the county organisation. It has never effectually covered this area, where the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association has operated for many years. The gesture of the President nwas towards a united association for the whole county on some terms by which the smaller society would retain its identity. It is delicate ground, which would need careful exploration, but if it is likely to promote the interests of ringing and the progress of the (Continued oll page 662.)

art in that portion of the greal county, it ought to receive the earnest consideration of both the associations. There have been previous instances of competing interests being amicably united, and, with good will on both sides, there seems no reason why the position in North Yorkshite should not find some basis of satisfactory arrangement.

SUGGESTED COLLECTIONS FOR INSTRUCTION FUND.
A quarterly meeting of tho Mid-Devon Branela of the Devon Guila was heil at Brixham on Satinday week, ringer's heing present from Exeter, Duwlish, Buckfastieigh, Torquay, Cockington, Paigntom, etc., as well as from the local compuny. The bells were well utilised during the afteraoon, and a service was conducted by the Rev. W. F. Jenner, who, as be usually does, gave an excellent aidress. After tea in the scloolroom, the business meeting was presided over ly Mr. F. J. Laxton, the vhairman. Reterence was aiade to the theath of the Rev. A. V. Cox, formerly of Paignton, atal father of a well-known member of the Chificl.
Votes of thanks were accorded the Fiear of Brixham for the use of the bells, to the Rev. W. E. Jenmer for conducting the service, and to the organist and choirhoys.
Kingsteignton and Wolborough were chosen for the anmal meeting, whicla takes place on Saturday, Jamary 24th.
A sufgestion arose that collections should be taken at sorvices and should be devoted to the Instruction Fund, and, after discussiou, it was agreed to make a recommendation to tho general committee. Six new members from Brixham, whe from Clurston, and two full performing members from Collaton were elected.
The business concluded, a move was again made to the tower, where touches of Grandisire and Sterman Doubles were rung. Clurston bells were also available for the visitors during the afternocu and eveniug. Tle altendance wus moderate, parily owing to the fuct that another braucts meeting was being held the same day.

\section*{CRANLEIGHS ANCIENT STALLS.}

\section*{To the Editor.}

Dear Sir,-In the report published in your issue of October 10th, of the meeting at Cranleigh, a small inaccuracy has crept in. The stalis, to which the report refers as stalls for three Cauons, arc situate in the sanctuary. They are an excellent example of aucient sedilia, literally seats for the use of the priest, deacon and subdeacon during High Mass, at thie time of the sermon, or while the clerks and poople sing their parts of the office. Cranleigh may in old days have been a collegiate churcla, ia which case the camons htalla were in the choir. A fine example of sucis stalls may be scen in the old collegiate Charch of All Saints, Maidstone.-Yours, etc.

\section*{HANDBELL MUSIC.}

HOW TO ARRANGE YOUR OWN.

\section*{To the Editor}

Dear Sir,-With reference to the Rev. C. W. O. Jenky's letter in your issue of the 3rd inst., may I he allawed ta stave how my family azod mygelf have giren quite a mumber of 'tums' at concerts, etc.? The applatic shows appreciation.
Two octaves require 15 bells. This is the number we gemerally uge. Anyome with a smatioring of tausic can arrange the musie for himself as follows: Obtain four small manuseript masic books. In the Jirst write only the notes of the four smallest heils; in the second, only the notes of the next four; in the third, only the notes of the next four ; in the foumb, only the notes of the three largest bells. The first three books are writen in the lireble and the fourth in the hass clefs.
rlyuspose all the tunes into the key of \(G\) (particularly old Iavourite airs), then the top note in the firs: book would be above the save, and in the fotirth book the largest beld would be writen in thu top space. Care zrust be takeu to put in rests correcty where the ringer has mothing to piav.
I lare arragged my handbell music in this why, and, in some tumes, chords oceur in which seven bells are struck ai one beat.
Of course, move variations can be obtaized by a few aceidentals and one ar two smaller bells.
It does not matter what key the handbells ars in, one must prefond that the top and bottom notes are \(G\), after the manner of tonic sal fa.

Fline first three ringers retain two bells in each hand, striking the top one crosswise and the bottom one downwards, aud the fourih manipulates the tarce largest.
Holal: Necessity is the mother of inrention.-Yourg truly.
A. E. SYMONDS.

\section*{WALKDEN'S NEW BELLS.}

PROVIDED AS MEMORTALS
On Safurday, Outober 1ith, the new peal of belle and Westminster chimes at Walkden, Lanes, were rledicated by the Dean of Manelaester in the presence of a croweded congreyalion, which included about 70 ringers from 28 towers. The selvice was conducled by the curate, Rew. A. H. Duncan, assiated by Canon 1I. J. Elsee, president of thu Laneashire Assaciatiog, who read the lesson.

The Dens gave ar very impressive address in which he referred to the remarkable way in which the parl of bells was obtained. It was mentioned at the Easter meeling thai the hells were in a bad way, and a commiltee whs formed who issued nat apporl for fumats on tho last Sunday in Aptil. On the second Sunday in May seven bells had been promised, as well as 2150 Lowards the tenor bell which tho late Vicar, the Rov, WT. M. Smili, wanted lo be suisecribod for by the people of Waliden. All the halls have hena given as memorials to relatives, including one given by a Nonconformist family in memory of their parents. He regrethed to say that thee of the donors of the bells, including the Vicar of Walkden, had died white the restaration had been in progress. The chimes lad beern givent the the widow of a tormer churchwarden.
After the sermon a sperial lymin was sung in menoly of past worshippers, beginning, In our day af thanksiving one pasalm lel us offer.
At the close of the servion a slant touch was rang thy the locat conpany, after which the bells were npen for ringing.
Tea was provided in the sohools theath the gonerosily af a fuw friende, at which about 120 sat down.

After tea the bells were halfemfinfed in memory of the \(R 101\) vietims. The order of the dey was 'short towehes' so that everyone present could ring.
The bells are a very fine peal hy Mesars. J. Taylar and Co, willı f tenar of \(18 \frac{1}{2}\) cwh, and the opinian of the ringers is that they are a credit to the church and to the founders, who were representent by Mr. J. P. Fidler.

\section*{PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.}

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photograplic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

The Yorkshive dinner in commemoration of the past officers if the Yorkshire Associntion is a reminder that one of the greatest of the off stalwarts, Charles Henry Hattersley, died on Octalyer 2lst, 1915.

Mr. F. C. Dawe lans made anoiher step Lowards attaining his life's ambition of ringing a peal st every cathentral where there is a ring of bells. Forty-seven years ago he made his first attempt at Riponon Saturday he was successiul.
Mr. James Broadley, of Bradford, who, we are glad to say, is now improving in health after in rather serious illness, is one of the few ringers leit who rang peals with Jasper Snowdon. Mr. Broadley will be 71 on the 25 th of this month, and lie rang with Jasper Snowtinn in 1881 аมี 1882.
Many ringing friends will regret to hear of the death of M[r. Julss William Siman, aged 62, at a nursing home at Scarborough. He was for several yefrs a well-known ringer in the Heavy Woollen Distrift and a member of the Yorksliire Association.
One hundred and forty years ago uext Tuesday a peal of 8,448 Oxford Treble Boh Major was rung at St. Mary Abtois Chuich, Kirgston.
The second timn Holt's Original was conducted by a ringer taking part in a peal was at St. Giles' Church, Norwich, on Octoher 23 rri, 1752. The first time it was done was at St. Michael's Coslany, just two months earlicr. The conductor was william Dixon.
In our recent article on 'Trouble in the 'Tower' we stated that the Lower concerned was in Essex. We are informed that it is on the other side of the border, in Sufiolk.

THE 'HEAVIEST' CAMBRIDGE ROYAL. SOUTHWARE CLAM STCL HOLDS GOOD.
A correspondent sends us the following comparative weights of the back ten bells at St. Mary Redeliffe, Bristol, and St. Saviour's Cathedral, Southwark, to show that the latter bells were righily claimed as the heaviest peal rung to Cambridge Surprise Royal. He points out. that the tenor at Redeliffe was only about 39 owt. until Taylor and Co. recast it and addled considerably more metnl. So that, miliile Redclife is slightly the heaviest tenor rung to Cambridge Roval, Soutlwark, as a peal, can elaim to be more than 22 cwt. heavier, in the aggregate, than the Bristol ring. Here are the woights:-

After eujoying an excellent vepast, the loyal tonst was honaned, and the Chairman announced that apologics for absence bad been received from the Dean of York, the Bishop of Whitby, Rev. H Spence Chamberlajn of Youk Minster) aud Bishop Heywood.

A MEMORIAL TO CANON NOLLOTH
E. A. Young proposed the loast of 'Chureh and State.' A angers, lie said, fivey were closely in touch with both. En their ordinary lives they may not always feel ad, one with the State, but they did feel one with fle Church as Sunday by Sunduy they discharged their office in the belfry. As ringers they felt that they were more than a family of just two or three people. They helonged to a givid or an association, and were in touch with other similnr puilds and associations, all of which were bound together by the Central Coumeil Rev. F. G. Pyne, who first respouderl, referred to the fact tlrat there was a project on foot to provide at Beverley a memorial to the laie Canon Nolloth, who sendered sueh great serwices to ring ing, and wio was largely responsible for the schemes that prowided the present hells at Beverley Minster and the reensting of the bells at Fork Minstar. One of the suggestions was that there should be tablet of bell metrl. At the time of his death, Canon Nollofh was collecting, or had collected, a great deal of material for the purpuse of publishing a hook on belis, but his strengit did not permit kim to eamplete the work. He wonclered whether from that meeting they might send a recommendation to the Memorial Committee that somesne compet ent should he appointed to put the manuscript into book from, and that it should be published at a nominal price as part of the memorial: He thought such a book would be welcomed by ringers all over the country, and lab know it would be something Hftur Canon Nollath's own heart hear, hear). Proceeding, Mr. Pyae threw out the suggestion that all ringers should become members of the G.E.M.S. He thought it would strengthen them as a Fraternity of churchworkers, and it would heip churchpeople to realise that hells and bellringers were part and parcel of the work of the Charci ant held an honoured place. He thought, pertnops, it was n matter for the Gentral Council to consider how far there might be some sort of affiliation, even if only of an ex-officio nature. Mr. Pyne also suggested that there should be certificates or prizes offered by the Council to oncourage progress among young ringers, and that medals for lang service should be presenfed to older memberg. He would not go into details of any scheme, but he thought a long-sorvice medal might he given for ten years' service and a bay for every subsequent

The President said he thought ha cotild assure Mr. Pyne that it would be most decidedly hise wish of tho monderes of that associntion if suvie such book could he compiled from Canon Nalloth's muthe script, that it should be pablished as part of the memorial to hims.
Tise Rep. R. M. Kelly, who a Kelly formerly presideni of tho Devon \{iulid), also responded in bricí and lamorous zpeech.

JASPER SNOWDON.
To Mr. F. E. \section*{PRESFRTATION RFLL}

Mr. Cyrid F. Johnston, whan also replied, said that one of the things thai struck hime most ahout the career of Jasper Snowdon, who was such a great ringer, such ath able man, and ond who disi so much for ringing betore he died at a comparatively early age. wast that he aetuaily walked from Leeds to London in five days. Fre wondered lasw miny of them could do that without getting knocked up before they got throlgh. Contimuing, Mr. Johnston said that recently they had a vigit at the Croydon Foundry from the Rer. C. C. Marghall, thwir clagirman, and by a coimcilence it so happerned that on the day if his wisit they wore casting the peal of lyolls for Rurley, Leeds, which was an arljoinimg parish to lis axn. It was purely a hedey mincidenec, but knowing how deeply Mr. Mavshall was connected with finging and the work he liad donn for the Yorkslime Associatisn, he tholight the \(\begin{gathered}\text { would not mind if he thok that opportunity to } \\ \text { unke }\end{gathered}\) muke hitm a lithe prosent as a memmento of the oécasion. He hati therefore surreplitiously hrouglit that memento with him to hand Core Mr. Marsbill. It was a minikel hell, inseribed, 'To the Rev. C. Charshall, who was present whrn the harlis uere cast for St. Minthew's Church, Burley, wiemento of the occasioh.

Mr. Johnston handed the gift to Mr. Marshall amid applatuse, and the Clairman expressed his sincere thanks for tho handssme present, which be sald he world value aud treasure very much. It watid be used at his little cottage in wales to ring him in from the sen whes he was away in his boat and they wanted him lack. It would be a plagsure to bave it there to remind hina of his wisit to the foundry, and of the fact that be was present at the foumding of the bells for almost the nert parish to his own at Leeds. He slionld always have a unique interest in those hells, and Mr. Johnston's gift would remiud bim of that wisit to the fouldry when they were chst,

\section*{DIFFICULTIES OF A BIQ AREA.}

The Chairman proposed 'Continued prosperity to the Yorkshire As sociation,' and remarked that he had received a letter from Miss Snowdon, who, in the name of her mother aud herself, sent their good wishes to that gathering, and assured thent of their goal wishes always for the association with which thcy felt themselves so vosely comecterl by bearing the name of Snowdon (hear, hear). Ho was sulpe he would only the following the desire of thase present if the reciproctated those yoorl wishes to Mrs. and Miss Snowdon (applansel. The association, continued the Chairman, started from a small theginning in 1875 , urder the wonderful impetus of the enthusiasm of their great founder, Iasper Whitfield Suowdon, anki it had gone on to truly groat things. Fe thought he was right in saying the torkshire Association mow hed an honoured piach anmong tho ringing singers. The future rested witla lise present mombers, and il wals therefore well that they sloula consider how the mosperity of liat assaciation could be continued. In his wiew they must all try in pretion, hecause he helieved that was what they existed for. In the past it had been the Yorksliive characteristics which hat hronghi homour to thoir association. Those who were visitors from different parts of the country would, he thousht, realise that there were certain things in the Yoikshire character which were worth prescrving. Yorkshiremen might he rather hlunt: they might he rather barl-mannered, but that was only on the surface, because, as they all knew, behinel that hrusqueness there was a heart of real goorthill. and ihere wus a thorolaghoess and recliability which he hoped would always he the characteristic of the members of thal association, and would make thern honouved wherever they went (applause). Tho Yorkshirn fssociation was responsible for an exlensive area. He sonetimes felt poople did not noways reatise the difficulty of maintaining the lif the association over so wide an area, suld the officers were fronn lime to time very troubled as to what was the best way to carry work covering the whole of that geat eonnty. It was a very real problem, hecause of the difficully there was of getting from place In phace, and there was also the fact that there was working in Nor linywn Yorkshire Association. Somelow, it seemed wrong that there shoulil be two competing associations covering that part of the county, and he could not help feeling tilat for the prosperity of the association they ought all to contemplate some kind of ambiation between inrse two societies, so that the competition between them might ho done awny with, and they mikht work together amicably, the smaller association keeping its identity, yet heing part of the county association.

\section*{LOYATTY NEEDED.}

They were, he continued, an association handed topether for the good of the whole, and they cond not hate prosperity unless thern always have this in the forefront of their efforis and of their thoughts. Somelimes ane felt in these days that there was not the same loyalty amongst the memhers of the association that theye was in the past. When one thought of the giants of the past, whocs nimes they had honoured that evening, one realised how intenbely loyal they were. Thicy realised that the honour of the associntion resied with them; they endured in great amount of self-saerifice to further the welfare of the association to which they belonged, and for the eause they lard git henrt. Those who were following thern mist endeavour to foster that same spirit of loyalty, and nit sidering the goot of the whole over their individual pleasure. too, continued the Chairman, the association existed for, nald the continued prosperity of their asseciation must west upon, the wery real iuterest which they gave to their art, and one hoped that the nssociation which in the past lad brought forth such great mames would continue Lo do so in the future, and that the memary of the men who had gone would atir thens to become pioneers of the art and to uphold the ligh traditions of which they were now the representatives (applausel. It used to he said that in Yorkshire there was only one method rung, and that was Kent Trehle Boh. There was a time, perlaps, when to a great extent thali remark did apply, and one reason probably was the contegts which took place in curtnin par's, hut whaterer they might say nbout contests, they did fosker one of the essentials of clange ringing-extreme care in striking. In these days, however, ringing was spread over many other methoda, and he honed that in the practice of the more intricate methods their mombers would continue to take that care and that pride in the striking of their hells, gnd especially in the rising and falling in peal. Their asseciation existed also as a bramelt of churel wotk. and that slways musi be kept in mind, for they would neter bring full prosperity to their association unless they remembered they were an integral part of the great Church to which they belonged and to which the hells helonged. 'They nust remember that they were ininisters of that Clunch, inat they gave their services to it, not he hoped that, more aud morc, ringers woakd be identified with the full, free aml true life of the Clurelh of England to which they hatil the hovour to belong (applause). The Chanman then reforred recent deall of Nr. Arthur Craven, who was one of their tuost eminent nombers-it very eninent ringer and composer, and he thouglt it right that they shoutd that evening in some way express Ilum sorrow at fies death and their esterm for the work he hat done for the Excrelse (liear, licar).
The company thetctuon rose and stood in silence for a few moments.

Gite of thanks to the artists was proposeal by Mr. F. F. Dawe and the speectroaking concluded with "The healtio of the chairman, preposeld in complimentary terms by Mr. T. F. Earnslaww, and respouded to by the Rer. C. C. Marshatl.
The musical programme was a most enjoyable one, for much of which the Elor Quarlette was responsible. Their glees and partsongs were splendidly rendered and much appreciaterd by the audinace. Songs were also rendered by the members of the pirty. The inumerist whe Mr. Holmes, who crealed great amusencul by a topical song, fu which he introduced the names of many of the prompinent ringers present. A course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handhells, and some handied funca also added to the variety of the excollent programme
Many of the visilors wha had come from a. distance stayed the night in Yoik, iand rang at the Minster in the moming, while some aflerwards visited Eserick, Thadeaster ancl Sellw.

\section*{JUBILEE OF CRAWLEY BELLS.}

RINGING'S LPS AND DOWNS AT a CELEBRATED TOWPR. The jubilee of the bells at St. John-the-Baptist's Caureth, Crawley, Sussex, has just been reached. They were opened on October 6ith, 1880, haying been put in (to replace three old bells more or less eracked) by the efforts of the then Rector, the Rep: J. Barvett dumatrd, who was himself a ringer'. Since those days ringing history has heen made at Crawley. Older members of the Exercise will recall the many performanecs, partfularly of Superlative Surprise, inclading the then record of 9,312 rung wh Hoxing Day, 1894, acconplished by a band under the leadership of Mr. James Parker (now of Eilmonton) and incluting such well-knewn mames ns those of Rice anft dordaan, Alf Mills and Fred Deuch. In these peals James Parker was generally to be found on the seventh, with Fred Rice, something of a character 'in his way, on the tenor. For some few years from abont 1891, Crawley had one of the 'safest' Superlative companies in the country, and was a stronghold of Sissex change ringing. Then Mr. Farker went to London, othors followed him, abd ringing at Cruwley weut downhili until, in 1902, Mr. A. D. Mills formed a brad, the present leader (Mr. O. Sippotes) being one of titese, generally ringing the end from a box 10 inches high. In 1907 a lacal peal of Garandire was rung and thence onwards, to the outbreak of war, a fair lund was maintained.
After the war, ill-health, cte., preventer the oider tingers iaking setive part, and an effort was made to raise a hand of ladics, but that could not be called a suceess. In 1923 Mr. J. Rice nad Mr. A. Mills passen away, leaving only Mr. O. Sippetits and three young lads, who condd ring rounds, to earry on. However, by dint of grent effert, Mr. Sippetis began to get togetlier another band, and this he clid with the aid of the valuable services of Mr. A. J. Pall, of Horlcy, who assisted in training the new Jandes. Every practice saw him in the tower. When a certain amount of progress Chel been made, other singers were altracted to the tower, and practice in higher methods began. Al the moment, Iondon and Bristol, ats well as other Surprise methods, ave rang, and although al peal has not yot been scored in the two metlods namerl, it is loped that it wild not be long before this is achiered.

To commemorate the jubitee of the bells, a peal of New Cambringe (recorded elsewhers) was rung by members of the local braneh.
The bels, in the key of \(F\), are as follows:-
Treble.-Weight, 4 cwt 2 gr . 131 lh . ; inseription, Glory.
2. 4 cwt. 2 qr .24 lb . Sir W. W. Burrell. Honour.

\section*{ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM}

\section*{ASTON BELLS IO BE RESTORED.}

The usual guarterly meeting of gt. Martin's Guild was beld ou Saturday, October 4h, at Handsworth Parish Church, Birmingham. Ringing took place from three o'clock onwards, and at 4.30 the Guild's service was conducled by the Rector, Canon W. G. Arrowsmith, who alsa gave a very helpful adross. Tea was served in the schaolroom, presicled over byy the Rector, who stated that he was particularly pleased to welcome the Guild at his churela.

Tho busimess medting followed, at which the Presiding Ringing Master, Alderman J. S. Prikehett, took the chair. Jommal busines having been disposed of, Mr. Albert Walker proposed, and it was unanimously agreed, to hold the annual Heary Jobison Commemoration Dinner on Saturduy, Fehruary 28th, 1931, as ustal, and that the wficers of the Guild make the necessary arrangemeats.
Mr. W. Davies reported that the Parochial Church Council of Aston Parish Clurch at their last medting lad definitely decided to proeed with the restorntion of the bells.
The Chairman remarked that be was sure not only the Gaild lout members of the Exereise generally would be pleased to hear that this ancient peal was to be restored. In the years past the bells had always been availithe for penl ringing, and many notable peals foud heen rung on them. As the parish was a very poor one, he suggested hhal many ringers througliout the country would be happy to lave the opportunity of subscribing townards their restoration. He thereFore proposed: 'That a subscription list be opened in aid of the resturation fund, and that subseriptions be invited from members of the Exereise in general.- This was seconded by Mr. Paddon Smil], and carried unanimonsly.

Local rempesentatives were requested to collect subseriptions from their members and forward to the hon. secretary.
Fotes of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and schools and for his address at the service, nud to Mr. Dandy for having everything ready, concluded the meeting.
The ambual meoting was fixed for Saturday, January 3od, 1931, at headquarters.

\section*{THE PEAL AT ISHAM}

The composition of this peal was atranged witly two Singles only riz., at halfway and end, the halves of the 720's heing arrenged in corresponding positions itn the two halres of the peat. This ruses the row 123456 to come up ath tha end of each of the first six 3 B0's, and 124356 to come up at the end of the next seren \(360^{\prime \prime}\) s. Tt would be interesting to learn if this is the lirst peal of plain Minar methads lo be rung with two Singles only.

\section*{CARE AND PRESERVATION OF BELLS.}

The book on the 'Care and Preservation of Church Bellos' Which is now out of print, has beeu carefully revised and rewritien by the members of the 'lowers and Belfries Commitiee of the Central Cunt cil, and the cost of reprinting is heing defrayed by private subsurpfions. Tenders were invited from four printers connecter will the Exercise, and that of 'I'lle Ringing Wortd,' being the lowesh, was accepted.
It is hoped that this useful hook will be on sale at an eurly fule.

\section*{CERTIFICATES OF PROGRESS?}

One of the problems that constantly face the Exercise is that of obtaining and keeping recruits. It has been discussed many times and by many different sections of the ringing fraternity, but in these days of almost unlimited counter attractions there is a great difficulty first in getting young people into the belfry, and next, hawing got them, in keeping them there. Recently, a meeting of the Lancashire Association referred the subject to the committee to grapple with and everyone will watch with interest for the recommendations they may make. Frankly, the question is a difficult one, and it is also an important one. If the att of ringing is to be maintained, it is essential that the ranks of the Exercise shall be also maintained; yet everywhere there is a demand for beginners which cannot be satisfied.

In another column a correspondent puts forward some suggestions for helping beginners to keep their interest, and curiously enough one of his proposals is on the same lines as a suggestion made by a speaker at the York dinner, namely, that of giving badges or certificates to mark progress. This, of course, presupposes that the recruits have been obtained. Incidentatly, it may be recalled that the same idea was ventilated by the Central Council, carried to the associations for an expression of opinion, and, finally, on a vote at the subsequent Conncil meeting, turned down. The action of the Council does not, of course, preclude any individual association from adopting a scheme of this kind, and it would be a very useful guide as to its practical worth if some active and enterprising organisation would make the experiment. Among older ringers there seems to be considerable aversion to being ' ticketed,' but there might not be the same reluctance among young ringers to wearing a badge of competence when they are at ringers' gatherings.

But while ringers may object to being labelled, we have never been quite able to understand the objection to the issue of certificates to a young ringer to mark his progress. There are hundreds of ringers up and down the country who are inordinately proud of the certificate of memberstip of one or more associations, and they are displayed in frames on the walls of their homes. These certificates mean nothing in themselves, except that a man has paid his subscription; why, therefore, shouid there be any objection to the issue of certificates showing that a ringer has really made progress in the art? Seeing that the test of membership of, at any rate, the majority of associations is the ninimum of qualifications, a ringer ought to be far prouder of a certificate which vouches for his recognised competence in the art. Indeed, why should there not be provided on the certificate of membership not only a space for the date of election, but spaces in which could be inserted the dates on which the holder qualified for the different grades, which might be laid down as marking a ringer's progress? There might easily be arranged a uniform standard of qualification for anh grade, whicla all associations would recognise, and whenever a reprint of certificates is next made, the necessary provision for endorsement could be made in the design. This, of course, is only a matter of detail, but we offer the suggestion as a contribution to the discussion on the encouragement of young ringers. The greal and primary problem, however, is how to get these young ringers!

THE FIVE-BELL TOWERS.
A meeting of the Central Division of the Sussex County Association was held at Lower Beeding on Saturday, October 11th, when repre sentatives to the numher of thirty-seven were present from the three Brighton towers (St. Peter's, St. Nicholas' and the Good Sheplaerd), Bolney, Coleman's Hatch, Cuckicid, East Grinstead, Koymer, Lindfield, Lower Beeding, Scaford, Turner's Fill and Warnham. The tower was open for ringing at 2.30 , and at 4.30 a short service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Guy D. Cooper, who delivered an eloquent address on tho words, ' Let Jesus Chtist be praised,' from the well-Inown lyma hy Casmall.

A colfection taken for the benevolent fund amounted to 12s. Afterwards the company adjourned to lie Plough Inn, opposite the church, Where a gencrous tea had been prepared by the kindness of the Vicar, who expressed the great pleasure it gave him to -welcome the members of the asscciation.
The usual business meeting followed, also presided over by the Vicar, supported by the Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman). The proceedings were mostly of a routine nalure, two new members being elected, riz., James William Jeftery, Cuckfield, and w. Henson, the Good Shepherd, Brighton. The election of Mr. J. Crampion, South Woodford, London, and Mr. Wilfred Williams, Erith, Kent, as non-resident mambers was confirmed.
Under the item 'any other bursincss,' the question was raised as to whether more could nit be done for five-beli towers. The Secrelary expressed his fear that a company would nol be present if a meeting was arranged, and stated further that these towers were borne in mind when meetings wore mrrangod at most suitable towers near them, which the members of the five-hell towers could easily attend.
The Master proposed a hearly vote of thanks to the Vicar of Lower Beeding for the hospitality he had extended bolh in the beliry and in the chureh, and for his findness in providing the meal, which had been so thorougbly eajoyed. This was catried by acclamation, and, the Vicar lasing suilably replied, the meeting concluded. The tower was again visited, and ringing continued until about 8.30 , when the bells werc lowered in peal, everyone being of the opinion that the meeting lad been a great Euccess. The methods rung ranged frora Grandsire to Cambridge, Superlative and London Surpriso

\section*{DEATH OF MR. HARRY TORBLE.}

AN OLD WEST HAM FINGER,
Anotacr ringer, well known, especially among the older generation, las passed away in the person of Mr. Harry Torble, who died on Monday, October 6th, after an illness extencling over ten years. Mr. Torble was born at Eye, Suffolk, in 1865, and from there migruted to Straford wo enter the employ of the late Great Jastern Railway Company in their shops att Stratford, and soon after his arrival joined the ald. Bow (Stratford) Sacioty, whieh brought him in touch with several well-known ringers in the vicinity, mong whom were the late Messrs. W. Doran, J. Bradley, S. Hayes, J. Scholes, H. Flauters, etc, and eventually he joined the West Fam band, witl whom he has been identified ever since. Although unable to take part in ringing during the past ten years be, nevertheless, still took a great interest in the art, and often paid a visit to towers in the slislrict, where his presence was aiways welcomed.
He was interred in the City of London Cemetery on Saturday, Ochober Ilth, and among those present were Messis, J. Waghorn, sell., and (i. Faydon, representing the West Ham band, W. H. Theobali, the Leytonstone brud, and E. J, Butler, the Essex Associatian.
On Tuexday, October 14th, several of his old friends met at All Saints; West Ham, and rang, as a mark of respect, half-muffled touehes of Grundsire and Stectman Caters, fhe Treble Ten, together with 'the whole pull and stand, those taking part being Messrs. If. Davis, G. W. Faulkner, W. Miller, R. Molion, A. Reeve, E. D. Smith, W. H. Theobald, C. Hughes, F., J. Butler, G. R. Pye, G. Haydon, A. J. Neale, F. C. Newman, J. Waghorn, son., and E. W. Purbunk.

\section*{'SILLY' SUFFOLK}

Dear Sir,-I am not happy with anonymous persons. They infringe the ninth commandment. Nevertheless (to use Dr. I'emple's word) I think J. W. D. admirable. There is 'a true ring in bis letterl There is a story that, when a calf got hung up in a gate in Essex, they cut off its head to release it, and it geems to me that 'Essex Colt, wants to decapitate the free will of the ronnd ringer. Never mind, he is interesting. 'Silly Suftolk' comes from a Saxon word, Sielig, which means 'Holy." If I recollech correctly, I read it some 40 years ago in 'Stoke Magazine" by the Rev. Charles Forlesse. Dr. Raven also quotes it in a pians expression, Sielig Suffolk. Yours truly,
C. F. WINNET.

\section*{ESSEX ASSOCIATION.}

TERLING BELLS MAY BE AUGMENTED.
It was a very happy band of ringers linat paid a risit to the old church at Terling on Saturday, October I8th, for a meeting of the South-Eastern Division of the Essex Association. Thitry-ono members were present from Braintree, Broomlield, Great Baddow, Chelmsford, Feering, Galleywood, Kelvedon, Matdon, Wilham, Writtle, Inworth, Blact Notley and Terling.

A service was conducted by the Vien (Rev. W. E. Moss), the lessan being read by Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the association.
I'ea was served at the Rayleigh Arms, presided over by the Vicar, supported by the Master and District Master.
At, the business meeting which followed, one rieging member was electad, and it was decided to hold the district annual meetimg at Writtle on November 29tis.
Mr. C. H. Howard proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for tho use of the bolls, for conducting the service, and for the warn wolcome that he gave the ringers.-The Viear, in reply, welcomed tho ringers to l'erling, and said he hoped that by tho timo they next came there would be six bells instead of five.

A touch of Grandsire Tripies and 720 of Minor was rumg on the handbells, and ringing on tower lsells continued till 9 p.m. in various methods.

\section*{BARNSLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.}

The moulbly meeting of Barnsley and District Absociation was held at Cawthorne on Saturdey, October 11th, when the towers. represented were Armley, Darficld, Darton, Felkirk, Holmfirth, Hoylands. waine, Royston, Shelley, Wath and the lacal company. Ringing commeneed soon after 3 p.m., the bells boing lalf-mufled. Tea wro served at Holt's Cafe, and was followed by the business meeting, which was held in the Parish Hall, Mr. J. C. Wimms (churchwarden) presiding. A rote of condolence was passed by the mencbers atanding in silence in sympalhy with the relatives of the Vicar (Rev. C. A. L. Woolley), who died rather suddenly three werks previously, of Mr. W. Ward (aged 91), wha had been sexton at Cawthorne for 50 years, and was the ol?est inhabitant in the village, and also of the victims of tho R 101 disastier:

Penistone was setected for the next place of meoling.
After tho usual vote of lianks, tho balls were kept going until about 0 p.m. in warious methods, biere being some very good siriking.

\section*{PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.}

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

The good wishes of the Exercise will go with Mr. E. Alex. Yonrig (hon. secretary of the Central Council) and Mas. Yourg when IIncy sail to-day on the 'Winchester Castle' for a visil to South Airica. They expect to ve absent from Eggiand until about April.

Central Counvil matters should still be addressed to Mr. Youne al his tiew office address, 165, Ruskey Green, Catford, S.E.6.
Mnny visitors to the W. D. Crofte dinners at Nothingham will renember Mr. Joln F. Adkin, the bass membor of the quated who did so much to make the programmes onjoyable. We regret to athnounce that he died on Friday last after much suffering. A staunch friend, he was always ready to oblige his vecal colleague, My: A. Coppock, in any project connected with ringing, nud had sumg at soven cut of the cight Nottingham ringers' dimners.
To ring a peal of Bob Doubles at Wilby, Norfolk, last week, Mr. Alplawus J. Berry cycled 42 miles along main roads, by-roads and lanes, over brecks and through meadows to reach this chuth, sifuated in the 'wilds' of Norfolk. There's enthusiasm for you?

We have not lad lang to wait for the peal of Landon Surprise at Crawley, Sussex. Before our article on the jubilee of the bells was in print last week, the peal had been rung.
 London. There was a period when peals were rung there nemily every week, but the bells are now silent and unringable. The first peal on them was rung 105 years ago to-day by the College Youtlos.
On October 24 tir, 1807 , a peal of 15,120 Bob Major was rung at St. Paul's, Oldham.
Ta-morrow is the anniversary of the Grst peal of Sledman Triples. which was ruag at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, on Octaber 251 l . 1731. The rival company at St. Michael Coslany disputed its aceurecy and rang a peal on December 6tll.
The first peal of Cambridge Sutprise Royal was rung at Wakefiela on October 26th, 1822.
The first 'double-lianded' bandbell peal was rung at Sheffield min October 30 th, 1811, the method being Oxford Treble Bob Major.

As anmounced in the peal columns, the first peal ou the light ringr of ten at Cudham Church, Kent, has been rung by members of ihe Kent Association. The conductor was well acivised to make the peal one of Kent Treble Bob owing to the excessive noise in the ringing chamber, as he had to shout bis loudest to make the "hobs" herrd. It is to be hoped that this difficulty will be renuedied, and that some attention will be given to the ventilation of the belfy, the space being small, and there heing no window. Even the trap deor has to be sliut down so that the treble ringer may stand on th, the ringers must have welcomed 'Lhat's all' so as to raise the trap and let fresla gir in.
It is reported that the ringers of Farmondsworth, Middlesex, lave gone on strike following a complaint by the Clurcl Council thai some of the ringers go bome insticad of attending service.

The ringers want an apology before they resume their dutics, as, the captain says, most of the men altead at least one of the services on Sunday, and they contend the Church Council have no cause to complain.

\section*{BELLS REHUNG AT EPSOM.}

TWO ASSOCLATIONS AT REOPENING.
Forty years ago this year a ring of eight bells was placed in the Few tower of Christ Church, Epsom, and they were opened with a peal of Stedman Triples, conducted by J. W. Washbrook. Of the band that took part only the Rev, Canon Coleridge survives. Last Sanurday a festival service was held at Cirist Church for the reopening of the bells after restoration, and a large gathering of ringers assembled for the event. There was also a numerous congregation of parishioners, and the Boy Scouts attended, bringing their eoloters with them. The service began with a procession from the ciancel to the westerm Lower, where the hew Assistant Bishop of (juildford (Rt. Rev. C. H. Golding-Bird, D.D.) offered the approprate praycrs. Modified evensagg followed, the service being condacted loy the Vicar, fhe Rer. W. L. Mylreit Bishop Golding-Bird, who was senior chaplain to the Australian Forces in the war, and has since leld a bishopric which covered the islands of the Judian Ocean, preached os sermon, in which he enlerged upon the privileges enjoyed by worshippers in this oountry, and graphienily compared them with the conditions prepailing in the islands of his former see. He zecalled especially an event which happoned exnetly a year before when he landed on a small coral jsland 300 miles from the coast, and conducted a service for the 80 or 90 inhabitants-men engaged iu digging and shipping guano-in a hastily provided "church' made by raffia, mud upon which had been writlen, 'Church of Christ. Welcome, Lord Bishop.

After the service, visiting ringers to the number of about 60 were entertained to a bountiful tea at the Church Hall by the bell fuuders (Messis. Gillett and Johnston) and the Vicar and chwehwardeus. The Assistant Bishop supported the Vicar, who was in the chnir, and before leaving expressed his pleasure at coming among ringers, and reminded them of their duties as workers in tine Church. Mr. J. S. Goldsmith thon. secretary of the Guildford Diocesan Guild) proposed a vote of thanks to the donors of the tea. He congralulated the parish upon having had their bells restored, and said Ihal, from what he knew of the work of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston hit mas sure they had made an cxcellent job of the restoration. He a]so welcomed the opportunity of that rcopening as affording another andosion for displaying the friendly feeling that existed between the Sirrey Association and the Guildford Diocesan Guild. Although thrir areas overlapped, there bad always teen the most amicable relationship between the two, and they carried on their work not as rivals but as friends who had the same cause at lieart and the samo yal in view.
The Vicar, who first replied, thanked Mr. C. H. Kippen, of the Surrey Aspociation, for his help in comnection with the scheme. It was he who first called their attention to the noed for the restorafina, and who afterwards told them exactly what was wrong. The krils, zaid the Vicar, would not have gone on as long as they did if her had not had sach an excellent captain as Mr. J. Crawford to look after them, and they would realise how deroled Mr. Crawford was when he told them that he walked five miles to ring and five miles back again every Sunday. The Vicar thanked Messrs. Gillett and Johnston for the work ihey had done, and their bell banger, Mr. Nowson, for the way he had carried out the job.
Mr. C. T. Johnston also replied, and remarked that he had specially pleasant recollections of Christ Ghurch, Epsom, as it was there he rang lis first peal of Stedman Triples. He said it was a very rare orcurrease for two associations to be officially concerned in the reponenig of a peral of bells. Among ald members of the Surrey Assoiation there wns some doubt as to what was likely to happen when the Guildford Diacesan Guild came inlo being, with samething like 400 membors, three years ago, but so far as he could see there had ever since been between the two associations a spirit of co-operation and goodwill, and the Guildford Guild and Surrey Asbociation were Corking amicably together over the same territory.
The Rural Dean (Rev. C. R. P. Muir, Vicar of St. Marlin's, Epm) also spoke. Christ Church, lre said, bad come through some lfficult years with fying colours, and they had that day yeached the dimination of another great achicyement. The spenker told all musing story of an Epsom lady to whom he spoke about a church ell. She said Ehe loved the bell, aud when he asked her why, she eplied that it reminded her that 'They're off" (laughler)
Mr. C. H. Kippen (hon. secretary of the Surrey Association) also ongratulated the autharifjes of Christ Church upon having successufly carried out the restaration, and said he was sure the foumers ad made an excellent job of it.
The Vicer said the parish had not mach money, and was now aced with a big scheme for the repair of the church roof. The bells 1ad been restored by the many small gifts of generous subscribers, and \(h 6\) was thankful to say they were now in a position to pay the bell ounders (applause).
The ringers then rehurned to the tower, where ringing from rounds the Surprise methods, and includiug a towh of splicod Cambridge nd Superlative Surprisc, was indalged in, everyone finding the bells go like the proverbial tops. Among those present was Mr. J. Beams, Ewell, who was also present at the original opening of the bells. (Continued at foot of nexl column.)

\section*{ADVICE ON BELLS.}

\section*{To the Editor}

Dent Sir,-feferring to your lending article of October 10th, in which youl say that the 'Central Council for the Care of Churchos' yeeommentil that an richiiect 'slitiled in work of this kind ' be called fia fur bell restorations hefore the bell founder, I give you an instance of what liss really lappened in our diocese
In 1927 the bells of a partish church in my district were under restoration, the shree front hells being relung in a now iron frame and a fick treble adifect. When I hearil of the work, I hat a eonversation with the Vicar and recommended a well-known firm of bell foumbers for the work. Fe told me that this firm were going to cast the trehif, and that inse cliocesen architcet fand been called in to inspect the steeple. So fite so goud, but the snag eame when the Wicar inld me that the architent was going to get someone known to himi to rolang the leello, whons be could trust better than the bell finngers.
I visited the work whilse in progress, and called the Vicar"s atten timn 10 certain matters. However, he thoughi it best not to inter Fere willa the work unlil it was finished. The day canse for the Ifedication of tho bels, and \(\mathbf{1}\) selected a good batd for the opering ring Imenine ms dismay on elimhing aloft shortly liefore the service to find thint the 2nd and the bells hand been changed over in their respective prsitions in the tower, and the topes carricd down to the "pposite side of the ringing chamber A roller had heen fixel on the top of the first floor, a scond roller in the middle of the intermediat chatulber undier the hells, and a thived ane on the flome uuder Ulin bells to carry the ropes for the 2nd ant 4th hells. So that it ringel was expreled to stand on onte side of the low to ring a bell on the obler sife aver three rollers, the first foll hells being hung in an upper tier above the back lwo. We tried to ring, but found it an nlmast impossible task to raise them and cing 120 .
I told the churchwardens not to make any pryment, and myself wrole the architect. The belis were changed over and scme improvements effected which rade the hells go better, but the job was spoilt ns the iron frame lad been partialify cut through on each side to allow the hells to rise througlt tho frame. In this case no one was to blame except tlie architect, who took upon thitnself the respensihility of eiving a skiled joh of hell hanging to a local firm of luidiers, who would rloutiless have male a satisfactory job if they hadi been put to fix logeller stone and moviar.
I fon not think it desirthle to mention the names of the principats in this mufortumate episude, tot, lot it be a warming to others. A DISTRICT RNGMNG MASTER.

NORTH STAFFORD AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION GIFTS ? CO NORTON BELFITY
A why succossful mooting of the above association was hela a Norton on Saiurdny. Oetober \(11 \mathrm{~h}_{\mathrm{h}}\), attended by fifty-four members from Bucknall. Biddulph, Brownedge, Burslem, Cheddle, Kingaley, Lawlon, Spondon, Swymerlan, Wolatanton, Tileseler and Nortast. The first part of thim proceedings ennsisted of a short service in the hellow, envidueted by the Rector ni Norlon (Rev. J. G. Wheelton as lwater of the ringers of that Lower, July 15th. 1900-1930. An oak fathle was also muveiled, which was presented hr Mr. Henry Fimey, of Audley. for the use of the ringers in the belfy
Mr. J. E. Whecldon. on helalf of the ringers. thanked the two alonori for the benutifut gifes, which he could nszure then were greatly rppreciatod.
The* Hector then satil how delighted he wes to extend a hearty wrlentme to such a large gathoring of loyal cilurdworkers as hail nascmised there that aftemom, and he sincerely loped that the sarne lanppy relalions existed in the warious lnwprs frrm which they rame as oltained helwen his own ringers al Norton and himself, for the considered ringing was a sery important part of Church life, He was-rery glacl to linve thas opportunity of expressing the high approcialion not onty of himself, hut of the whole parish of Norton, whe wher very prond of their hells.
Mr." Ceorgo Walker, an old ringer, expressed his great pleasure nt the wir the younger generation of ringerg, under the ahle leaderslaip of Mr. J. E. Whinellon, were keeping alive the noble art of rhather ringing. Fo wished them every sucenss, and exhoried thein to conlinue in this important and fuscinating part of the work of the Chatich.
Tra was afterwards partaken of in the Church Tnstitute, during whicla the Lawton \(r\) ingers regaled the company with musieal selcetions an the handhells, which was quite a new feature and very mith appreciated. The fower wns. nfterwavels revisited, where tinging wns imdulgerl in tantil 8.30 , which brought to a close one of the ing whimulger injoyable mectinges of the year.

\section*{WHAT TO DO WITH OUR BEGINNERS.}

\section*{To the Edilor.}

Sir,-At the recent meeting of the Lancashire Association held at Liverpool, the subject, 'What to do with our heginners,' was on the arenda, but owing to the shorlage of time the discussion hat to be limited, and, in the ond, it wrs decided to leave it to the conmiftee to overhaul the whole question.
I would like io put forward a few points of my own with the hope that the committee will keep them in mind whilst, discussing this most important question. The chief bono of contention seems to he the association's rule which salys that a ringer, to qualify for momhership, mast ring 120 changes. I have no hesitation in saying that as regards this rule the ayerage conductor could get a beginner through 120 cbanges before he knows his way up and down the belfry steps, but by Eioing so you have not laid one brick which goes to build up the foundation of a change ringer. Instead of altering ihis rule I would wipe it out entircly. It is rot always observed, and it is not mutch good when it is observed. Now, what have I in its place?
This: When a beginner comes to the belfry to learn to be n change ringer, I wound atimil him into the association right away, pointing out to him all the advantages, and get his entrance fee What he can ring, to the satisfaction of his conductor, a service touch in any methoil,' \(T\) would award him the badge or certificate thadge preferred, hecausc he could carry it with him to meetings, etc.) of a third-class ringer.
When he can ring a service tonctio in the standard methoris I would awral lim a and class, and when he rings one or more Sumpieg mathods, then be shoulf be catitled to be acknowledgerl as a firstclass ringer. He should himself pay for these badges, which should be a vailable for a very small sump
I would apply the same thing to ronductors. Conduct one peal. 3rd class ; conduct all the slandard methods, 2nd class; conduet one Surprise method, 1st elass contuctor. If these small badges were at meetings it would be a great help in organising ringing.
In my experience with begimners, which has been very extensive, I find that the most important thing of all is that you must keep moving. You must have a goal to aim at, and when that is reached thera must he nother. 'You cannot stand still; if you zre not going formard, then yotr are going hackwari.' It is only the hardened ringer who can withstand the pitfalls and the very disheartening process of going baek to the beginuing again and still remain i \(r\) inger. The young fellow will not, and II believe that this chief cause of so many promising ringers being lost. Give the young ringer plenty to do, plenty to aim at, plenty of fields to conquer, and something to show that he has succeeded, and you will not wiv keep him, but you will have others wishing to follow his examp Yours truly:

\section*{FIRST STEPS. \\ To the Editor.} Sir,-Is it true to say that all 'stoney' ringers are contenl with inging call changes? Has it ever occurred to Essex Colt that in ringing, as in ewery other art or profession, one must start from the bottom of the ladder? From rounds and call changes, to hunling a troble, atd on to Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedinan and so or. No one should be content with ringing call changes, but no man can be expected to jump from rounds to Stadman and Dauble Norwich, and that is what a great many like 'Essex Colt' expect one to do. I a recruit cannot start at the point where these more efficient have reached, is it fair to call him \(n\) frone? The real root of the trouble is that a great many of these Stedman and Double Norwich ringers ( (partienfarly the old hands) are afraid that they might have to put themselves about a bit to keen some of these poung recurits intercsted. To so hack to ringing Grandsive and Phan Boh theraselves might lower their dignity.-Tours, efe.

WALK FIRST, THIN RLN
P.S.-I will remind 'Essex Colt ' that in Mr. Jasper W. Snowdru's hooks of fuition, all recruits to the art are taught to ring Grand sire and plain methods before learning Steduan and Treble Bob.

Dear Sir, In my oninion (for what it is worth) the kind of peal rung recently at Iatam should strongly be discouraged. Yours truly, J. ARMIGER TROLLOPJ.

\section*{PRESENTATION TO THE SHEFFIELD CATHEDRAL BELFRY}

\section*{INTERESTING PEAL RECATLED.}

A very pleasant gathering took place recently in ihe ringing chamber of sheffield Catledral, whon Mr. J. W. Rowbotham, of London, one of the oldest and most respected members of tho Ancient Society of College Youths, paid a visit to his native city and presented a framed record to the Cathedral company of his first peal rung 53 year's ugo at the then Parish Church of Sheffeld.
Ml. Row botham, in his rounger days, was apprenticed to the late Mr. Thomas Fattersley, \(\quad\). Sheffeld stalwart and well-known ringer of his clay, from whom be obtained bis firsti insight into the art of dhange vinging.

He, howevm, was not destined to stay long in Sheffield, for he quickly transferred to London to make lis nume and fortune, but during the short time available the advanced so far in the ath as to becone competent to ring a peal of Grandsire Caters with his master: atdilion to this being Mr. Rowbotham's first peal, it also has an lastorical sfanding owing to tho fact that one of the participants was the laie Jasper Whitfield Snowdon, aud it was this very visit of Mr. Srowdon's that itwexced him to cousult Mr. Hattersley with a Fiew to fostoring-the Yorkslife Association, which had just recently been formed. That this effort was sucoessful is now a matiter of heen fo hisisory.

The record is boautifuly written and illuminated on parchment, which is enclosed and sealed in an excellent fumed oak frame, whereby it is renderch dustproof and practically airtight, so that it will willistand the ravages of time.
In making the presentation, Mr. Rowbotham thanked the Cathedral company for allowing him to do so, and for the privilege of placing on record his first peal int the towor in which he was taught to ring. He knew thab space was now most valuable owing to the mony peal beerds already erecteć containing famous and historical peals off the yeats gone by, and he especially considercd it an honour to add his to the fanous collection.
hr. S. F. Palmer, on bebalf of the Cathedral company, warmly hinked Mr. Rowhotham for his most generous gift, and for his kindly thouglt, in wishing to do honour to the tower that gave him bitrli into tho ringias world. In accepting the gift, Mr. Palmer staich le wis roicing the appreciation of the whole of his colleagueg, who were united with hims in expressing their gratitude for the heanliftil work presented to them.
adjourmment was then made to the locul meeting room, where a rary pleasant hour was spent, in the course of which Mr. Rowwho linlped to lay the foundation of the high slandard of ringing the Fxucise has now reached.

The following is a copy of the record:-

\section*{MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION'S El:EORT' TO COMPIETLE THE FUND. \\ Ta the Elitor}

Sir, A yeur or two ago the Boulh and West Throuch of the Mirdllesex County Association decided to uy and raise th furl la give two new trebles to Isleworth Parish Chureh. The western suburbs of London are badly off for ten-beld tuwars. Alter you louve Kensiugton ind Filham you do not conle across ane till youl reach Kingston, which is out of the Middesex diswriet, on Hillingdonz, whieh is right away on the west border of the counlio. We thought that a ten-bolt tower somawhere in the neighbourhood of Acton or Ealing wouht be an advartage boulh to our association amb tho Exercige at large and theip ifte promotion of change ringing. "Chere wus mone than one tower which might be suilable: Achon, where thero whs at that lime a regular and enthusiastic bamd under the late Robort Fohlowthy, and where pal abtempls were allowed quite Erequently. The fowor and situation were quite suitable, but tho bells were deenerd not good enough. St. Mary's, Eilling, was thought of. I'lo eight ware recently rehung and retuned by Taylor. Quito a gooul peal, but a weak fower. Christ Church, Ealing, has gol by far the best and strongest tower in the district; a goons peal, lao, of the ald strle tuning, but wher too ligh in note to make a salisfactory ten. [hosides, thie architect who some years ago carried out some vely costly internal dncorations to the church, pul the organ in such a position that no bell can bo gat in or ant of the tower withouk palling the organ lio pieces.

That lef All Saints', Isleworth, nof so good in situation as tinese others, but in most other respects a good place for a pesl of ten. The tenor is only \(18 \mathrm{cwh} .\), but it is deep in lone. The hells were rostored by Taylor some years ago, they are hang in an inwo frame, ea well, and are very musical oulside. Besides these were other reasons why it would be a grateful thing for us to try and get two new bells there. For a long time it lase been unofficially the lieadquarters of the branch. Every year the annual meeting is held ai the chureh, and then and always the clergy and churchwardens have treated the assochation with the utmost kindness and courtesy.
The fund was started and med with quite a lat of sticcess, A large sum of monay was raised, and then, when tho end was nearly in sigliu, thirgs, as is usual, slacked ofi a bit. Now we want to finish the job, and we want a few more pounds. We aro making an appeal to the Exercise at large to help us.
It, wild be a good thing for ringhg in gencral if we ringers ghow by a gift that we gppreciate flie findness we reapive at the latads of so many towers where we visit. If any reator of "lhe Ringing World ' can epere something, will he forward it to Mr. Hollier or to Mr'. Bridges, the treasurer of the fund.

For the Middlesex Assaciation (S. and W. Brameh),

\section*{DEDICATION OF A PEAL BOARD AT TETTENHALL}

On Saturday, October 11th, a peal tablet was nuveiled and dadicated in the belfry of the Collegiato Chulch of St. Michael and At Angals, Tetteuhall, recording two peals of Grandsire 'I'riples rung by Sunday service ringers of this church. The unveiling was carriet out by Mr. H. J. Lockley, the donor of the board. The Vican (Rov. W. Goode), after dedicating the board, said how pleased he was that tha ringers had succeeded in ringing two peals, as four of those taking parl in them luad beon taught how to haudle a poll since bley lind had their new bells.
Ml: R. Piekering expressed the thanks of the band to Mr. Lockley for giving the board, and to the Viear and churehwardens for kindly deflaying the cost of painting the same, the writing baving lneen splendidly done in gold leaf on a black ground.

Bosides the Yicar, those attonding the ceremony were the Rev. J. G. Campbell (curato), Major' W. L. Foster (charchwarder), Riv, C. H. Barker, Mr, H. Knight (hon. secretary), and Mr: W. A. Cooper (Ringing Master of the Sociely for the Arohcleaconry of Staforit). Members of the society also attended fram Wolworhampton, Walsall, Coseley, Brewood and the local band, with a local rirger who has had to give up ringing owing to illness, and whose namo is recorded in the belfiry, viz., Mr. J. H. Rowe.
The ringing which took place afterwards included tozehes of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major, the chappers being half-muffler as a trokon of respect to the rictims of the ill-fated R 101, and of the Girove Pit disaster at Norlon Canes.
A splendid tea was partaken of ni. the Mitre Inr, Lower Green, provided by the hosi and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. T. Lockett. After fea, handbell ringing was the order. Grandsire and Gtedman Triples, with Doubles for the jounger ones, and Plain and Kent Treble Bob Minor were rung. Altogether a very enjoyabte afternoon and evening were sperat.

\section*{THE LATE MR, HARRY DYAS,}

The fmeral of Mr. Harry Dyas, of Kensington, whose death as the result of being knowed down by a motor-car we recorded last week, tonk place in the Kensinglon new cemetery at Gunnersbury, the first part of the service being Leld in Si. Peter's Church, Cranley Gardens. The cammitlal prayers were said by a pious priest from St. James*, Sominds, who himsclf cast the carih upon the coffin, and after the sotrowing widow and children (a son ank daughter) hax taken a last look at the cofsn, Messes. Bolton, Elson, Pasmore and Winney rang haruhblls over the grave. There were about 30 wreaths.
Mr. Harry Dyas was formerly one of the staff of the Royal Mews, nad a greal lover of horses. He was an imposing figure when in Conter fress and seated on the box of one of the King's carrages, and when he teliren from service le was granted a royal pension. Mr. Dyas starten his ringing at St, Androw's, Wells Street, and ho becanc a keen service ringer, taking more delight in this than in peal ringing; although he had rung npproximately 50 peals, half of them Stedrana Trimes, Caters and Treble Boh Royal heing among the remainder. His last peal was at Clerkenwell for the diamand wedding of Mr, amf Mrs. Henden, ant he rang his last quarler-peal ot St. Jaul's, Bath Rord, on St. Mathew's Dav, for the evensolng, whicin he atilended.
By his own wish, borses were used to draw the hearse and carringes at the funeral
At SI. Andrew's, Wells Streat, on Thursday, by kind permission of the Vicar, the 'whole pull and stand' was rung half-mnffled as \(n\) last tribute to the deceasent, who was carelaker of the bells. One af tha bana recilent Jha De profundis (with 'Rest Eternal,' ete, at the end in phace of (lotia, Patri) hofore the ringing. A touch of Stedman Triples was also rung.

\section*{PORTSMOUTH DISTRICI}
well-attended meeting of the Portsmouth District was held ai Curdrider on Safurday last, when forty members and fryends were present from Curdridge, Gosport, North Stoneham, Petersfield, Portsmonih (St. Mary's nnd St. Thomas'), Southampton, Shedfield, Swanraore, Titahlield, Ryde, Wickham, Bishopstoke, Jymiugton, Overton and Winchester.
Full use was mada of the bells during the afternoont when a slant geryice was hold in tile chutel?, at which the Vicar (Een. A. H. Staray) officinted. An excellent tea was served in the reading room, after which the business meetimg whs Jeld.
The election of the follawing non-resident members wes confirmed: Miss 1. L. Hastie (Dorking), Mrs. A. E. Lock (Abington), and Messirg. A. J. Bartlett (Chiddingfold), R. Overy (Hashemere) and E. J. Munday (Rogato). Two fisll members from Steep and one from Swanmore wnre elected ringing members.
It was decided to hold the nnmual mecting at Portmontil Cathedral nim Salurdey, Jannary 24th, 1931. It was decirled that fle followithg resolation be furwarded to the Central Committee: "That all nonresifent ringels, on joining the Guitd as compounding members, be presented wilt a copy of the Guitd certificate.'
Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar for allowing the nse of the bells nind being present at the meeting, after whinh a furtior wisit was made to the tower, the methods rung including Grandsire nad Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Douthle Norwich, Superlative, Osxbridge and Bristol Surprise Major.

\section*{STREATHAM RINGERS VISIT THE FEN DISTRICT}

A very plensant and enjoyable outing was spent recently by St. Leonard's, Slreatlam, ringers fiuring a visit to the Fen District. On arriving al Peterharaugh, a visit to its magnificent Cathedral was much appreciated, but it is much to ho regretted that the heary peal of six are unringable owing to the weak sfate of the tower. In the afternoon \(\pi\) visil was prid to St. Mary's Church, where Mr. Jutsan, of the local hand, seon had everylhing in readiness for a pull on this handy ring of six, which mere rung in Minor and Doubles. The neat mova was by hus to Whittlesey, Cambs (about seven miles distant) to ring on the recently augmented meal of eight at St. Andrew's Chureh (where the caplain of the visitors first learnt to pull a hell thirty years ago). Touches of Grandsire Triples were rang here. The ihanks of the visitors ave due to the Vicars of St. Mary's, Peterborough, and St. Andrew's, Whittlesey, for the use of the bells and the welcome given them. Jondon was reached on the return about midnight

\section*{KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION. YOUNG RINGERS AND JRESE METEODS}

A very successful meeting of the Tonbridge District was held at Cranbrook on Safurday, October 1Itw, and was attended by nbout thirty members, the following towers being represented, viz. : BenerRen, Horsmonden, Hawhhurst, Lamberhurst, Sevenoaks, Penshtirst, Tenterden, Staplehurst, Tunbridge Wells, and the local members. The bells were half-mufited as a mark of respect to the mentory of the crew of the R 101, and some good practice was ohtained, sevenal members seoring their first tonch in various methods.
Service was canducted by the Vicar (Rev, II. S. O. Wwiugler) sisted by the curate (who is learving to ring), and an excellent address was given by the Fioar. Capt. E. R. Lewis, one of the churchwardens and an hon. member of the association, was present. Tea was partaken of in the Parish Room, and at the business meeting the Vicar presided. One honorary, two non-lesident lifo members, and several practising nembers were elecied.
Mr. F. White urged members to look up methods that they were umable to practice at home, and come to these meetings and ask those in charge for an opportunity to practice them. This would 5. waps be granted nan cyers nssistance piven, Ho said was better to try and fail than not to iry at all.
The District Secretary said he thought that most young ringers ware nervous of tackling a fresh method at the meetings for farr of not being successful. He could assure finem that the best ringers made mistakes and broke down, so it was no disgrace, and liers were always members willing to lielp them througl a touch.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar, cmate, orpanist, charchwarden, Mr White and the rest of the focal members for the yarious parte they had taken in the mecting, to which they replied, terminated the mating, and the members adjourned to the tower.

\section*{HOW CHANGE RINGING CAME TO YATELEY} RINGERS ENTERTATNED.
Recontily the local band of bellringers at Yateley, Hants, were the grasis of Mrs. Stilwoll, of Thriftswood, Yateley, who very kindly entertained them to supper at the White Lion Hotel. After doing justice to the capital courses served up, Mr. S. J. Riddell, president of the bend, proposed the bealth of Mrs. Stilwell, remarking that fm. over fifty years a great interest hed always been taken in bellringing by the Stilweil family, and many kind and useful flings bad becn done by them for the benefit of change riagiag. Ha was sure Mrs. Stifwell would be pieased to know that among the stronk company present ware Mr. W. B. Tree and Mr. J. R. Bunch, who were two of the first in Yateley to take up change ringing, and without whose efforis the act might have been lost to the parish. They Whimenced 42 years ago, under the tuition of the lafe Mr. Heary White, of Basingstoke, whose serwices for six months were genetously defrayed by the late Mr. John Pakenham . Stilwell, who was for many yoars president of the Winchester Diocesan Guild of Ringers, and who also gave three bells to the church. It was very picasing to see in the room four grandchildren of that great supporter of the Guild in its early dsys, together with Mr. H. Oswell from overseas. The benlth of Mrs. Stilwell and family" was received with acclamation and accorded musical honours.

Major J. G. Stifwell responded. He said tifint they were always ponsed to rssist the Yateley band, and, like his grandfather, he consiclered that a good company of ringers was a splendid asset to any chureh and parish. They had in Fateley one of the strongest bands thank the oligstoke district- He felt that, although they bad to the village, the success of the present band was of campanology into president, Mr. S. J. Riddell, who gare a tremendous amount of his tiane in teacling beginners.
The handbells were then prorlucen, and some capital old Englislı nit Scotely melodies were played by the handibell section. dnd Grand-sive and Stedman werg rurg, the sire and Stedman wera rurg, the whole company tnking part in furns.

\section*{PEALS OF MINOR.}

We are very glad to see a member of the Methods Committee publicly discouraging peals of [3ain Alinor rung on the lines of a recent one at Ishan?, which was arranged with two singles only. In this form it may be a novelty, but it cannot be chamed as atvancing the standard of peal ringing; indeed, it is just the reverse, and, in our opinion, a retrograde step. It is exactly antio of the developments which, during the controversy on the Methods Committee's report last year, we pointed out would be led up to by admitting into a peal of Minor anything but true and complete \(\boldsymbol{z}^{20}\) 's, or anything but trut and complete 120's in a peal of Doubles. In fact, we quoted an exactly parallel case of Doubles in which, il repetitions are to be admitted before the completion al any extent, \(50 \neq\) Grandsire Doubles with only I wo singles would have to be recogrised as a peal.
It is the logical outcone of what we cafled "tampering with truth, and once you break the rule which requires each 720 (or 120) to be complete, however desirable may be the immediate end in view, you cannot decline to recognise any absurdity which a conductor may think fit to call a peal, so long as cach row occurs not more than seven times in a 5040 of Minor or more than 42 times in a 5040 of Doubles. Mr. Troliope may object to the form of the Isham peal for reasons totally difterent to our own-he does not tell us on what grounds he thinks it is undesirable and therefore to be discouragedbut it is a good thing to find a member of the Methods Committee taking the first opportunity strongly to discourage 'freak' arrangements of this kind.

Nothing in the recognised standards of peal ringing is binding upon anybody, but the tendency in these days ought to be to raise them and not to open the door to the lowering of them. There may be some who would argue that the Isham peal is not retrogressive; but if such atrrangements became accepted in general practice, why should not 5040 of Bob Minor be rang with only two singles, and if the one is to be recognised, why should not the other be? The Exercise has spent more than two and a half centuries in trying to btild up a standard; ringing in these days has reached a stage when peals on the higher levels are 'cheap,' and anything. which may tend to lower the qualification for any performance to be given the dignity of a "peal ' should be sternly rejected. There will probably always be people with strange notions of their own as to what they would call a "peal,' but that does not make it necessary that the Exercise should recognise then, and, if the Exercise refuses recognition, such things will quickly cease to be practised.

\section*{PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR} PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World ' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

St. Peter Mancroft lias been famous in ringing history. Here the fint peal on record was rumg (Bols Triples) in the year 1715 . The frst poal of Grandsive followed in 1718 , and the dirst peal of Stedman Triples in 1731. For these three performanees alone St. Peter Mancroft holds an important piaen in ringing, but many other famons peals have been rung there.

In 1775 it was decided to replace the old peal with n new ring of twelve, with a fenor of 4 I cwt, and these were cast by Pudt and Chapman, of Whitechepel. "The now peal af twelve bells was opened an Wednesday, dume 21st, 1775. On that day a Te Deturn and Jubilate was performed in fire Churth with a chorus from the Messiah. The Coronation Anthern was also performed by a bend of about kinirty gentlemen to a genteel and mumerous tudlence. Atter this the bells were opened by the ringers, madt to the admination ot the listemers and admirers of music and rinting. No conductor likes to say after throe hours' ringing, "This shoutd he sll." He wili alwayg tuy to find a few places in the composition where the ann check tho progross of the ringing and eall 'Stand, something is wrong. Jasper Snowdon deati very fully with the impurlance of this in 'Thonosight' and it his 'Treatise on Treble Rob, where he states that the ablest class of conductars comprises those who know the posilions of the bolls throughout the peal.
So far as Plan Bobs concerned, it is quite easy to know the condring order througliont the touch or peal, ant to worte out mentally tho cffect of a hob before calling it. I am nesumine that the tellors are not parted, ant that the conductor is ringing an obwervation hell. In the plain enurse the bells come lo load in this order, 8.7.5.3.2.4.6. It is sufficient to remember the working bells, 53246. A bob alters the work of three bells, which will he met consecutively. A bob will rearrange but not separate the bells whose woslk is aliered by the eail. A hoh at the first lead (i,e., Wi) catuses (532)46 to hecome (325)46. The first of the three has hacome the lasl of the throe figures in brackels. 336 changes of Bob Major with calls at w could be writen:-

If you take the first opportunty of calling this touch you will find the eoursimg orders given ate corred. There are two mote ways of putiong three figtares in brackets- \(5(324) 6,53(246)\)-and there are two more places in a course where a bob can be called. It wottld he very convenient to find a bob at Middle had rearranged the middle thvee ( 324 ), and a boh at lasi lard lad rearranged the lase three (246). Jnfortunately, ilis is not so. Efforts to create an intereat in change ringing are being made a Barmard Castle, Co. Durham. A meeting of the Southera District of the Durlanm anki Neweastle Diocesan Association was held thare on Octoher 18th, when the members met the local ringers at tea, kindly provided by Mrs. Bircham. After ritgitg on the Parish Chatch hells, the compnny, numbering 24 , met in the Mission Room tinder the chatmanship of the Vicar (Rey. H. W. H. Bircham). The visitors induded MEssrs. T. Titt (secretary), G. Park, Roland Park, Normam Park (vice-president), Lawes, Porter and W, Oliver, of Holy Trinity Darlington: Messrs. Venus and Clarke, St, Cuthhert's, Darlinglon Messys. J. W. Shipp and H. Shipp, Staindrop; Mr. Hall, Hnighing ton; and Mr. Burnett, Kirkby Stephen. Local ringers prosent in chuded Messrs. Tom Ghati, (captain), Robert Blenkinsopp, W. Gheese brough, A. Stoddart, F. W. Willis, and T. W. Harwond, of the Parish Church belfuy. The Rev. G. K. Spiller (etratol, and Mr. F. R. Battensby (lay reader) were also among the guests.

After the repast, the Ficar, in offering a heatity welcome to the guesfs, referred to the importance of the bellungers as part of the Church organisation, but regrefted that in many cases ringers nppeared to be outside the general band of churehworkers, although Their work came within the same aategory as Sunday School toachers district visitors, churchwardens, sidesmen, and so ont. He wanted the rimeds to rogard themselveg as pard of the Chareh organisation and foel that their services were valued. Since an enthusiastic hand of chanee ringers had come to the town he had taiten the opoorthatis of offering them welcome. They were protul of the peal of bells at Bamard Castle Church, and they were proud to have people from in distance to ring them. The lacal elergy desired to recognise the ringers more that they had done in the past. There wete ringers who, although they called people to chutch, did not go in themselves. Hn mbmitted affectionately that they who rang the invitations to कhtiel penole to gather for worship should go inte Ged's House thenselves. His friends from a rifstanec had shown hing it litale book an change ringing, and if the lonal ringers would accept coptes from him he would be pleased to provide them. If locel bellringers cared to go in for change ringing members of the association would be ploased to come over mome Saturday afternoons to give them instruction There were no handiells in ise at Barnard Gastle at present, bul if there was a possibility of them heing used they would he provider There was need for nrogress in everything, and he wotht like to geo progress made in bellringing.

Mr. Norman Park promised that the association would do conld to nssist lonal rinpers in change ringing. If handbells were pro wided, they would be nleased to come over some Saturday afternom

Four ringers from Folv Trinity, Oarlington, rang touches of Stect man Triples ou the handhells, ankl then Mr. Noman Park exptessed the thanks of the emmpany to the Viear and Mrs. Bircasm for their hospitality and kindly welenme.
Mrs. Bircham, acknowledging the vate of thanks, said how pleased the Vical and she had heen to have the vingers with them. She was snry there were no change ringerg or handbells in Barmand Castle. She hoped that soon there would be change ringing in the town

\section*{DEVON 'CALL CHANGE' RINGERS KEEN}

On I'luusday of last week 170 ringers of the Tavistock Deanery assembled for a festival at Bere Fervers. They came from 16 parishes. including Lewtrenclard, Buckland, Walkhampton, 'I'merton, Milton Abbot, Tavistock, and Bere Fervers.
The ringers wisited the towers in the various parishes they pasget through, and ringing began at Bere Ferrers at 2 p.m. and continued until eight o'clock.

A service was held, when the Rector and Rural Dean welcomed the visitors. He was assisted by Roy. W. Moore (Kelly), who is the in defatigable hon. secyetary of the Deanery Guik, as well as being president of the South Devon Branch of the Devon Guild. The Yicar of Eggbuckland (Rer. J. C. L. Jolinslane) was the preacher.
Tea was propided, the catering being carried out by the wives of the Bere Ferrers ringers, under the supervision of Mrs. Collom
Most, if not all, of those present were round and anll change ringers, and it says something for the keemess of these Devon men when they will assemble in such numbers for a mid-week festival.

\section*{HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION,}

A meeting of the Western Division of tho Hertford County Asso ciation was held at Apsley on Saturday, and was fairly well attended Riugers came from King's Langles, Berkhampsted, Leighton Buzsard Tring, Ealing, Homel Hempstcad, Watford, and, last but nut the least, Mr. J. H. Shepherd, from Swindon, The methods rung ranged from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor. A shmet ser vice was held, contucted by the Ficar (the Rev, C. B. Goodwin), who also kindly entertnined the ringers to tea in St. Marg's Hall, and presided at the business meeting.
The bells have recently been overlanled by Messus. Taylor and Co. and a great improvement has been effected in the "go" ot them.
At the elose of the mecting, Mr. W. Ayre proposed a hearty wote of thanks to the vicar for all he had done in regard to the bells, and for his kindness and hospitalite.

\section*{CORNISH RESTORATIONS}

5F. MABE BELLS REHUNG AND AUGMENTED.
The bells it St. Mabe, near Penrym, Cornwall, restored and nte meated to six, have been dedicated by the Arehdercon of Cornwall (Canon G. W. Hockley). The bells, ariginally a ring of five, hang anti-clockwise, were cast in 1877 by Wessrs. Wamer and Sous. The ald treble has been recast, the remaining four retuned, and a new reble has been added (this being the gift of Mr. J. M. Stuart in memary of his mother'). They heve been rehurg in a new iron frame un ball benrings with the latest fittings. The fifth and tenor, which were [emibly out of tune, would not be recagnised as the same bells. This goes to slow what ann be done by retuning. The whole of the work has been admirably carried out by Messrs. J. Taylor and Ca. end the hells are now a most pleasant ring, the lenor being gt cwt. After the deritation service, the Vieat, the Rev. C. Daly Atainson, extended a pressing invilation to the district secretary of the Truro Branch of the Truro Diocesan Guild, to arrange a meeting for October 25 th, exactly a year after the last meeting, when those present made in callection to start a bell fund for the restoration, and at the Vicar's request the Rev. W. H. R. Trowhella, Messrs. W. H. Southeard and A. S. Roberts inspected the old frame and made a report for him to set bofore his Church Council. Now, Lhrougli the dforts of the Church Council, enthasiastically led by the Vicar hings have been set in order, gnd the hells were at the disposal of the sixty ol mote ringers who were prosent on Saturday last, the owers of Illogan, Budock, Gwennap, St. Agnen, St. Gluwias, Perranvell, Kenwym, Gitwal and Truro Cathedral being weil represented. Dr. J. Symons (Diocestu Ringing Master) and Major C. F. Jerram, C.M.G., D.S.O. (vice-Master), were also present
'The serwice was conducted by the Ficau', and an address given by the Rev. W. H. R. Trewhella (diocesan secretary), who emphasiseti he great call of the bells to worslip and prayer. He also urgen hose bands who at present were content with rounds and cal? hanges to aspire to something greater-cliange ringing-now the winter was setting in. A special word was addressed to the captains f bunds on ledership and encouragement.
The bells were kept gaing from 2 p.m. until late in the evening, od it was only during service time that they were silent, as whilst vome were at tea others were ringing. The method vioging included Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor'.
Ewaryone congratulated the Viear and local ringers on such a result in less diat enthusinsm will do.

A NOTHER TIRURO DISTRICT RING PUN TN ORDER
During September, Messrs. Grlett and fohnston rehung the six hells in the detrehed campanile at Illogan, pulting them on bad bearings, and overiauling the sitinga ana frame generally. The go' of these bells is now splendid.

\section*{A GREAT SOCIETY.}

To-morrow nembers of the Ancient Society of College Youths from all over the country will assemble in Lonclon to celebrate the \(293^{\text {rd }}\) anniversary of the foundation of the society. This gathering, by far the largest event of its kind in the ringing calendar, seems to grow in popular favour every year, and were it open to ladies, as are the social gatherings in other parts of the country, would expand with a bound. It is, however, not only difficulties of accommodation which limit the party. A conservative policy of the society itself-which, for one brief perios, admitted ladies'to membership and then recanted-now restricts the dinner to gentlemen almost. but not absolutely.

The conservatism of the College Youths is one of its traditions, but that is not to say that the members have not kept abreast of all that is best in the advancement of ringing. The College Youths have a history of neaty three hundred years and those who are responsible for its management endeavour to live up to that bistory. To some people this tranquil progress which has been pursued through the centuries, which has been almost undeviating since the days when Charles I. was on the throne, may seem out of date and antiquated, but there are some respects in which it is to be encouraged. Since. change ringing began the College Youths have been all the very centre and core of the Exercise; indeed, the society has been from the first one of the pillars round which the Exercise has woven itself, and ramified throughout the country. It is only in the last fifty or sixty years that the territorial socicties have conse into existence; before that it was the College Youths and at very few societies of a like nature that kept alight the torch of change ringing and enabled the expansion of the last half century to be made. For its part in maintaining the art in the past, the Exercise owes it a debt and ringers look up to it as the doyen of alt ringing societies.

There is stilt, however, about its proceedings-which necessarily centre chiefly in the Metropolis--a spirit or aloofness and exclusiveness which is not unnoticed by those outside. This spirit may be inhred through the traditions which are behind the society, but in these days of the wider brotherhood among ringers, it seems, though we cannot for a moment think it is really intended, at title austere. London may be somewhat crowded with ringing socicties; in places they may be treating on each other's toes, but there certainly is scope in London for a greater intermingling of organisations. A policy of isolation is entirely out of keeping with the spirit of the alsein ringing as in other things. The goodwill which finds (Continued on page 7l0.)

expression in the presence of so many non-members tht the College Youchs' dinner is proof of this, and the cause of ringing in the metropolis would receive a great impens if all the societies interested endeavoured to work in less watertight compartments.

\section*{PRESENTATION TO MR. J. E. WHEELDON.}

H'且IRY YEARS AS LEADER OF THE NORTON-IN-THE-MOORS BELIPRY.
A very enjoyable eqeaing was spent on Monday, October 27th, in the Church Room, at Nortan-in-the-Moors, Staffs, on the occasion of is presentation to Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, leader of the belfry. At the kind invitation of the Rector (Kev. J. G. Hamlet) and Mrs. Hamlet he foilowing were prasent at tea: Messrs. J, E. Wheeldon, W. C. Lawrence, J. Walley, F. Triner, W. Corfield, H. Wibberley, S. Ryles, C. Williams, J. Walker and G. W. Walker. Apologies were received fram Mr. G. Lawrence, Mr. J. Mothatford (ringers), and from Mr. W. Jack, people's warden.
In proposing the toast, Mr. G. W. Walker referred to the capabilities of Nir. Whecldon as a change ringer, and also to the admirable way in which ho had controlled the belfry at Norton for the past 30 years. Mr: Walker expressed the mish, an behalf of those present, that lio night be able to cerry out his dubies for many years to come.
At the conclusion of the tea, upwards of fifty people assembled to wituegs the presentation to Mr. Wheeldon, which was in the form of cheque. In prescnting the gift, the Rector referred to the work that harl been done in connection with the church during 1929-1930. It would stand as a record. He wanted specially to record the work None in connection with the bells, which had been recast and rebung during 3930 , and also to record the thiply years' loyal and faithful sorwiee of Mr. Wheekton, who hat worked assiduously during these years, nnd particularly in belping to raise funds for the bells scheme. In asking Mr. Wheeldon to accept the cheque, the Rector expressed the wish tiazt Mr. and Mrs. Wheeldon would be favorred with good heallh and a happy ifo.
In thanking the Rector, churchwardeas, and paristioners for their yenmous gift, Mr. Wheelen said that during his yoars of leadership 1 Norton he had always been happy. He had always endeavoured instil inta the ringers their responsibility as churchmen. Conchining he spoke of the ready help that had always been forthcoming from his fellow-ringers, and said lie had many happy refections from their companionship, and hoped that he might still be allowed to contipue his associations.
Mr. W. Lawrence and Mr. A. Walley expressed their pleasure at wing present, and supported what had begn said by the Rector.
Tho resti of the evering was spent in a happy mood, when gongs and short stories were contributed liy the friends preseat. Mr. S . Moreton and Wiss Sillitoe supplied the music for dancing. At the close af the evening the Rector ruanked all those who had helped to muke the evening in success.

\section*{BELLS RESTORED AT DEDDINGTON.}

\section*{AN ENGLISH OAK FRAME.}

On Saturday afternoon the Bishop of Oxford dedieated the newly rehung ring of bells at Deddington, Oxfordshire, in the presence of a large congregation. The bells were raised previous to the service, which was conducted by the Vicar, and took the form of a shorlaned oveusong. The lesson was read by tho Rop. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, immediatoly after which the Bishop, clergy and churchwardens proceeded to the towor, where, at the requesf of the churchwardent, the Bishop offered the customary dedicatory prayers. In his excellent sermon the Bishop referred eapecially to tho uses andi customs connected with bolls, and said he hoped that the sound of the bella ringing out Sunday by Sunday would turn the thoughts of those living nearby to God and tho church and thair duties as Christians.
After the eervice several touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob Minor were rung by members of the Diocesma Guild from Banbury, Appleton, Caversham, Reading, Adderbury, Bodicote, Launton, and the local band.
The work of rehanging has been most satisfactorily earried out by Mr. Richard White, of Appleton, who bas put in a znassivo framo of beautiful English oak, on a foundation of four very massive oak beams, under which are two rolled steel girdors encased in concreto.
The canons have been rotained on tho bells, which have been lung to headstocks made from some of the finest seasoned elm in the country, and fitted with self-aligning ball bearings of the latest pattorn. The whole is a very finn piece of master ernftsmanship, and the find timber-very rare in these days-of which the framo is composed is well worth inspection. The bells go heautifully, and it is moped that in the near futura two trebles will be added to completc the octave, Provision has been made in the frame for these additional bells. The present six are a 'maiden' neal east by Thomas Mears in 1791, and all bear the same iuser'ption, viz. ' 'Thos, Mears, late Lester, Pack and Chapman, of London, feeit 1791.' They ave in the key of \(\mathbf{E}\), and the tenor is 17 cwt. 10 lb . There is also a small sanctus bell inscribed Anthony Basely, Richard Large, C.W., 1649."
The tower was rebuilt about 1663 . It is a very massive structure, worthy of a ring of eight, as is, indeed, the grand old church. The town stands on a slight hill, and the tower is a landmerk for miles. Its predecessor fell down in 1635 , ant in 1643 Charles I. deranaded the bells, which, as he explained, wore of no use to the churcha as the tower had recently fallen, and so they wore carled into Oxford and made into guns.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the plotographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{A DIFFICULT PLACE TO RING IN}

Tho peal ruag on Baturday weck had been long contemplatect. A member of the band, whilst on a visil to Devonshite early in the called on the Father Abloot and olstained his promise that a peal might he attempted after the holiday season. Preparations were made to take a band for Cambridge Surprise Maximus, and a proyisional date was fixed. Good fortune favoured the band chosen, all being able to make the jouraey, whilst the date was quite sutitable to the Abbey authorities.
Most of the ringers travelled to Exeter on the day prior to the peal and completed the journey next morning. Twelvo o'clock wis riceting time, shortly afler which hout luncle was serveri in the Abher guesi house. By oue oclock the band was in the faty belfry. The narrow gallery, from whiels vinging is done, is about 4fi. wide, with a waist-high protecting wall. The space in the middle is aboul \(20 f 1\). square, with a drop oi 51ft, to the floor below.
It was guickly realised that to attempt a peal of Surprise Maximus would be exeeedingly risky, owing to acoustic diffeulties and a had rope-sight. The four trehles, in a straight line, are almost lidden from one another by projecting pillars, and the ringer of the llivd has to staud with lis hack to the two smailer bodls. Sletman Cinques was, therefore, deciderl upon, the bobs being ealled by Mr. W. Pye from the temor. These could just be lieari on the opposite gallery, but visitors in the Abboy helow heard n. 'big noise,' most of the sound travolling down the space between the galleries.

A meeting of the Fylde Branch was hed at the Parish Church of the ancient town of Kirkham on Saturday. The eight bolls are a very" Larmonious ling, with tenor about 20 cwt., cast by Rudhalls, of Gloucester, and are in good going order. Seventeen members assembled in the riaging chamber by three o'clock, and the bells were kept merity going to the tune of Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob and Little Bob. An encouraging feature was the appearthec of three local ringers, who, although only stoney men, showed ith interest in the ringing, the leader of them asking if it was possible to jave an instructor sent to give them instructions in change ring lug.
special item in the aftermoon's programme was provided by Mr A. Hague, who brought a set of handbells, and a course of Grandsire Caters was brought round in good style by the Blackpool ringers.

\section*{ARMISTICE}

BY WLLLIAN WILLSON, LEICESTER.
A November day, and the clouds are grey o'er the clock in yondel tower, sud heads are bare in the City square as the hands apploach the hour.
The wheels that whir now cease to stip-a gun booms over-herd-
A sudden thrill and the world is still!.... in THE SILENCE for the dead.

Our homage is made and the moments fade. If faces are stern and seb, I'here's nought of shame or onght of blame, e'en though your eyes be wet.
Two minutes' foll can sear the soul, constraning men to pray, Nor need we quail to lift the veil from our hidden hearts today.

O, woman of grief, "tis sure relief that your loved one under the sod
Came back to your side as you softly cried-came back from the light of Got.
He stood as rou bored in the wating crowd, to dry the tear that falls;
You will meet wo more till the journey is o'er, and the last Reveille ealls.

And war-time men recall agrin how they" "ducked' at the sniper's 'pop';
How they furtively felt for the cartridge belt, the time to go oyer the top.
How they stood in the trench in the mud and the stenchand how cheerily they strode.
Dodiging the shells from a hundred Hellis, at Messines and the Menin Road.

Then our ihoughts turn where they sleep 'out there,' in the land where poppies grow,
Where graves are white in the fading light as flakes of falling snow.
And we count the cost of the lives we lost, and their Calvary keep in mind
As year by year we liere revere-the lads who were left behind.

Is it nothing io you that they pulled us througln ; Had still there are hearts that, acho?
That theirs the tight though yeare of Night-yel We saw Morning break
Then never forget we owe the debt-a debt wo can ue'cr repay-fit wars shall cease aud the bells of Peace, ring in the Eternal Day

The first penl on the bells of Kington Magna, recorded in another whomu, was rung bs request of the Reclor, Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, on All Sitints Day lo celebrate the pratronal Cestival of the Parish Chard. Mr. Edwards reports on it as follows: The striking was magnificent. The peal literally answered to the description sometimes found in old recorde, "rung without a single false blow being struck or a bell misplaced from beginming to end." At the conclusion, the hells were delightifully lowered in peal.'
The ringers were subsequently entertinined to supper at the Rectory-

The monthly meeting of the Sheffeld and District Society, held at Eckington on Saturday, November 1st, proved in great success. Athough the weather was none too kind, hboud thirty membera attended from Killamarsh, Noum, Bolsover, Slueftich Canhedral, Hamdsworth, North Wingtheld, Kanmoor, Creswell, Clestergeld and Rotherham.

Eckiogion is fortunate in possessing a fime peal of eight bells (tenor 164 cwt.), and these were set going carly in a variaty of methods, inefuding Cambridge, London und Bristol Surprise, Dutiela, Oxford and the four standard methods, and the striking of the bells was excellent.
At the business mecting held in the tower it was decided that lue next meeting be held at Rawmaxh on Saturday, December 11th, instead of December 4th, in ordar to form a juind meeting with Yorkshire Association, the gecretary haviug previously read a letter from the secretary of the Yoakshire Assaciation requesting this change of Extures.

By permission of the Ficar (the Rev. \(\lambda\). W. Iaws) a guatemly meeting of the Welliugborough Branch of the leterborouglt Dioceanu Guild was held at Irchester on Saturday weak. A record attentance of members was prosent from a very wide ureu, some twenly-live towers being represented. The newiy-angmented peal was in gront demand during the aflemoon and evening, and muy methods wive rugg, from rounds and Giandsire Doubles for hoginers, to Supertafive, Cambridge and Bristol Surprise Major tor thes more experiencerl. Many expressous of satisfaction atione tote and 'go' of the bells wer's fortheoming.
The Guild service was comitucted by the Vicar; who also give a most helpful and proctical arliess, in the course of which be nxpressed his great joy at heing in the position to welonme them to ring the bells. It was not only a joy to him, hat to tha whola village. Two jears ago, whon he beenme an honorary member of the Guild, he had the lucky privilege of addressing the memhers, and ho then sated that thes hoped to put their bells, which had been silent for twenty-five years, in order. That wish had boen gratilied, and lat exceeded their greatest expeciations. He appealed to all of the to look unan their worlk of ringing the bells as much a part of the ministy as his was; in fact, they appeated to n much larger audience than he could hape to.

After the service, tea was partaken of in the Go-perative Hall, eightw-nine members and frieods being present, the Vicar presiding.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar being in the thair. Finedon was suggester as the mext place of meeting. The election of Messu's. George Willinms, Clantles W. Roborls, Willived Williams, Tames Bennett, Thomas T. Got'ton, John W. Wond and Ernest W. Tipler, as mon-resident life members, was conliomed. Messra, T. Lillie, F. Brudenall, A. Stone, Wh. Dunkloy, S. Liwrence R. Inyno, C. Aldridge, S. Boddington and J. Smith, all of Irchestet, weto elected dingug members.
The secretary, on hehalf of those present, offered a very henrty welcome to them as members of the Guild. He also thanked those who hani, and were, lapping their Ircheater friondis, and said that those who koew anything about ringing knew what a diffiend lask the had before them. It was bad enough when bley had one or two begimers, but when thex got a dozen, lise problem was mulliplicd considerably, and he hopet that any who could would continue that help. He also thanked the members for altending there that day in suel splendid numbers. As same of them woild remomber, they had a record attendance at their meeting held at Higham Ferrers in fanumy, but that record had been left behind eliat day. There wre complaints about the falling-off in attendanoen wariour meetings up and down the comtry, but he was thankful thay that was not the case in the Wellinghorougli Branch.
A comprehensive vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his excellent address, to the organist, not forgetimg the blower, and all who had helped to make the meeting suoh a fuccoss, was proposed by Mr. F. Wilford (Master of the Guith) and carried witl acclamation.
Apologies were received irom the Rev, C. J. Westacott (president of the branch), Rev. B. E. Owen, R.D. (Vicar of Higham Fexrers), Rev. G. G. Thompson (Vicar of Wollaston) and Rev. J. H. THE 18 the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at Riverside Cborce, New York, U.S.A

From the after-dinner speeches at the College Youths' gathering on Saturday two points, of real importance to the Exercise at large, emerged. One was made by the Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, who urged both that the Church should treat ringers and that the rimgers should consider the Church more seriously; the other was pressed home by the ex-president of the Central Council when he emphasised that bell restoration work was a task for the bell engiseer and not for the architect, as the Council for the Care of Churches would have church authorities to believe. Both speakers, from different angles, directed attention to the importance of bells being kept in the best possible order, and to the fact that the people who understand the mechanical principles involved and the requirements nceessary for their use were the people who should be consulted both in the provision of new bells or the restoration of old ones-a thing which we have long and persistently condeavoured to bring liome to all whom we could reach through this joumal.

For far too great a time ringers, their art and their work have been, for the most part, at the mercy of illinformed writers in the public press. Some, with a little knowledge, have wilfully distorfed the facts, other's out of sheer ignorance have just lamponned the ringers and all things connected with them. The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn put the feelings of the Exerotse into a nutshell when he said, 'We are no longer a people to be talked about in a funny way, and we resent it.' What we most strongly object to, however, is the action of writers who do ringers a deliberate injustice, and who entirely misrepresent both their aims and their competence, when the writers themselves approach the subject from a biased standpoint. The people who have been the greatest offenders in this matter, and who, unforthately, have the ear of the majority of those responsible for church property, are simply antiquarians, who would have the rest of the world believe that the only thing that matters about bells and their fittings is their age and that ringers who wish to see this valuable church property kept in efficient condition, for the purposes for which it was installed, are by their very nature and desires pure vandals.

Both the public press and the churcin authorities are, at the moment, infucnced by a propayanda whicin is entirely inmical to the interests of ringing. We have it on the authority of one of the foremost bell founders that the present influences that are at work are not only causing considerable difficulties where restorations are concerned, but, if allowed to go on unchecked, must inevitably, in time, prevent the carrying out of work (Continued on page Te6.)

essential for the effectual restoration of many rings of belis. The propaganda is being carefully disseminated throughout the Diocesan Advisory Committees; very few of which include, or consult. an expert in bells and ringing who can represent the practical side of the question to them. The committees themselves have no technical knowledge, and the views which they hold or the influences which are brought to bear - often through diocesan architects-are almost entirely those of the antiquarian school. We hope sincerely that the references made at the College Youths' gathering will lead to definite action being taken at the next Central Council meeting to set up some countervailing influence among church authorities and advisory committees.

\section*{THE FIRST RING OF BELLS IN JERSEY.}
- TENOR OF NEARLY THRET TONS.

The ishand of Jersey lus now got its first ring of bells. Recently here was consectated at the Roman Catholic Chureh of St. Thomas a new bell, cest in a French foundry, weighing 2 tons 18 cwt , which forms the tenor of a peal af five. The ecremony took place on the ocasion of the golden jubilee of the establishment in Jetsey of the Society of Jesus, the Oblates of Mary Immanculate, and tha Saciety of Helpers of the Holy Souls. A congrogation numbering 1,400 attonded He consecration, which was performed by Bishop Cence, Viear Anostolic of Basutoland, who acted for the Rt. Rev. Dr. Cotion, Bishop of Portamouth, who was unable to cross to the Island. The hell bears a long inseription in Latin, fhe translation of which is as follaws:-

I Anne Marie Andree Igaatius, consecrated by the Ilkustrious, Well-loven and Very Reverend Lordship Willian Cotter, Bighop of Portsmonth, Javiug for Godfathers the IElustrious and Wery Reverend Lordship Augushim Duntenwell, Archbishop of Ptolemy, SuperiorGoneral of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate, and the Reverend Father Grenier, Provincial of the Order; for Godmothers Mothers Lucic Marie and Clmente, Superior-Genelals of the Order of the Holy Family of the Convent of St. Andwe at Tomnai.

Commemornting the 50th year of the arrival in Jersey of the Oblate Fathers of Mary Immaculate, the Fablhers of the Society of Jesus, and the Noblares of the Sociely of "Helperg of the Holy Suuls."

I call and will call the peoplo for the prrpose of giving praise to Tesus Chise and Mary Immactitate.
[ Li plaise of the great and good God and in honour of Mary Immaculate, the Oblate Fabhers, the Jesuit Fathers and the Helpors of the Holy Souls, in recognition and remenbrance of their Jabilee, liave dedicated this bell to "the greatest glory of God."
The church lias a tower of continental design.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN "THE RINGING WORLD."
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{POTTERNE'S OLD BELL.}

\section*{To the Editor.}

Dene Sir,-In your repori: of the Salisbury Diocesan Guik moeting at Potterne, it is stated the insuription on the Znd, or pre-Reformatian bell, is 'mintelligible.' This is not the case, as il wha feciphormby the lite Rev. F. C. Evans, who was curete at Pohterne in lhe lato soventios of last century. He mointod out to the writer that it was usnat ab the time the bell wers cast to omit certain lotrens from the inseription, probably every oller one, and by inserting the missing lefters the inscription, instead of being a jumble, can be easily reati. The inseription was copien, reppodued in full in the osigiual characters, and insorted at the botom of the stained glass mimitup fot the wost end, where anyone may see it who visils this heartiful chureh. The inscription is the first verse of the 4 End Esalm: Like as the larit, ele. The date on the treble bell shonld be 1820 , mot as printed. -Yours fairlatully,

AN OLD RINGER OF POTTERNE.

TWELVE BELL RECORD BROKEN.
Nenzbers of the Painswick Youths on Saturday accomplished a great performance when they were successful in ringing in eleven hours and 36 minutes the longest peal on twelve bells, a 17,687 of Grandsire Cinques, which was composed and conducted by that enthusiastic master of the Society, Mr. Albert \(W_{r}\) right, now approaching the veteran stage in years of service, but still imbued with that spirit of eternal youth which characterises ringers in the pursuit of their art. This great achievement is the outcome of persistent effort to bring back to the famous old Gloucestershire tower the record which was held there from 1920 until August of last year when the Ashton-under-Lyne peai displaced the Painswick 13,001 .
Three ailompts were made prior to Saturday's succossful effort, in two of whicks the bells were brought round at a long leysth, but short of the recort. There was great enthusiasin anong the inliatitants at Jainswick on Saturday at the success of the band, who, in auddition to Mr. Wright, ineluded five others who took part in the 13,001 teu years ago. They were Messis. T. Balidwin, W. Iyeland, W. Sluite, A. Hannis und J. Ballinger. The noost femarkalile thing of all about the peal was the fact ibat the tenor ( 263 s cwt.) was rung by Mr. Jances George, who will be 77 years of afe on the 27 h of this mantl. Two of the precrious attempts land had to be curtailed for the sake of the tenor ringer, bot the extraordinary stamima and filuess of Mr. George onablicd him to see ile job through in a really wonderful fashion. It is no ide llatery to say that Mr. George has donc somothing which comparatively few men of any ago could accomplish; to do it whon practically 77 years old is a feat absolutely unparalleled, and ringers will fift their hats to this veteran youth upon his achievoment.

The bell- wont off into changes at 8.10 n.m., and sotied down to pacs of about 25 changes to the minnte, which was maintained sonsistumty throurlaut the peal. The weleorae call, "This is all,' ampe at 7.46 p m., and a mighty cheer went up from a big crowd in the clutchyard and lic vicinity as the bells came romul. The Viear ( ihe Fiev, A. M. Goode) was Ehe first to enter the tower and con gratuate the band collectively and individually upon their fine per lommance. A formor Vicur, the Rev. C. H. Veney, also joined in the rongratulations, and then cance a press of ringers who hat gathered to leare the and of the peal, anong Elem Mr. John Austin, of Gloucester. Others who ceme to congeatulate the band were Lord and Lady Dickivson, of Painswick, and Sir Francis Hyotb.
Afterwatds ilse band, who had, of course, been without any kind of lood on drink tinoughout the day, partook of refreshments at tho Golden Hart, where a gatheriug of ringers wok place, and renewed congratulations were extended aud acknowledged lyy Mr. Wright.

The official clebals of the performance will be found in our penl columus, and the best tharks of the rimgers arre expressed to the two sheeplekeepers, Mr. F. Cole and Mr. B. Birt, for all they did to secure thal the beils went wall throughont. so long a trinl. The perfommance is also a greal testimonial to Messrs. Taylor and Go., of Lougliborough, for the efficient work they put in on the bolls when they relung thom ju 1909, for, despite a great amount of ringing on them since, they continue to 'go admirably.
Many big performances hrve been accomplished at Painswick, und next wedi we hope to be able-to give some particulars of them.

\section*{THE COLLECE YOUTHS IN HISTORY. \\ A SLLT FICTION.' \\ To the Edirar.}

Deas Sir,-Ta it not time that the silly fielion was dropped that the S.C.Y. is the lending ringing society? In the lime of Benjamin Annable the Cullege Foulhs were the leading ringers in London, and, suppose, exept for the Narwich Seloalars, flo leading ringers in England. Buli Anmble died in 1756, and since then they have been living on his merits. In no one thing-meither in_method ringing, nor tomposition, nor arganisation, nor belfy reforn-liave they led the Buercisc. In all Liese Lhings they liave lagged woefully behind the hest of the country bunds. Nor, according to history, are they the otdest vinging socioty. The Sociaty of College Youths was, indeed, fonmdud in 1637, hat afler a long and honomralylo arreer it fell on cvil i,mes, and in 1788 a meeting was held and the whole thing was wound up and finished. The then Master of the Cumbertand Society paid the outstanaling debts on condition thed the society's property was Hnnded over 10 hin. The present Ancient Society of College Youths is descended from one of the Junior Sociclies of College Yonths whicl: from time to time broke away from the parent body.
I was ehout to sign my name to the above, when I bethought me that I have one or lwo friends among the College Youths-big, hefty chaps-and prudence suggests that on the whole 1 hud better remain UNKNOWN.

\section*{ETETNAL MND BEHIND METHODS.}
'jhe Ruv. C. W. O. Jenkyn, who lilled the gap nt the last minute, preaclied from the words, So that I might finish my course with joy' (Acts za. 24). Three words in the Lext, he said, were of outalbutarg interest and importance to Choristian poople, aral partioularly io Christinn belluggers. The first was the word 'course. With that word they were at once initialed into the nysteries of divite working; Gad worked in conrse. Et was something that man really had no hand in There was the course of the sun, the cotarse of the waring tual the whuing of the moon, the course of the seasons, the course of our mighty rivers, all working ins the divine drder. Man kept. that wrder ith lis arragemend of "hings in this life, amd they as church bellingers knew the primary importance of the word "oourse. It scemurl to sict them at once on a different footing altogether to those who had not yet been able to get bryond ringing call changes. Call i:hanges were something man-made. 'lluey must not think that he despised thase who rarif call changes; he admired those who rang iborm well-he rang them himself fov a good many years-but the difference between ringing call changes and a plain course of Grandsire Joubles was just the differenec between something thaf wrs enlircly man's work and thad whieh was God's. He bhenght they would agree with lim that, when they wore initited into the scienca and arl, of change ringing, nud whan they ronlly sat down to study it, they must ho improssed with tho symmetry of a cousse of al method nand the way it worked ont from the beginning to the end. They halked about people who invented methods, but they knew they did imal, invent methods-they diseovered them. They were already there, and food had given some men the gift and power to discover them; they were there, coming from the wind of the Eternal for them to aliscover. In a course they liarl a tremendous foundation to help them in the ringing of a penl. The peai or touch was only an extended course, aud it was only by raaking themselves thoroughly acquainted wits thin course that they were able to complete the peal. Next, said itse prencher, there was the word 'finish.' 'To 'finish' struck the mote of complefeness; it did not mean just scrambling through; it meant maintriving a high standard to the end. The tronble wills so raeny of them in the world la-dny was that they were only loo anxious to get to the end, and they did not really make a good finish. There wrs something wondrously, unsurpassingly grand in the one Greek word whigh our Lord utiered on the cross, and which meant in Engiish, "It is finished." It whs periaps the grandest word ever spokon. IL was not something just coming to an end; it was somethimg which had been grandly earried through to a perfect finish. The they came to the third word, "joy: Fo Fitish in joy meant to finish in thath; it struck the difference between just, ending aud fanishag, and lie supposed there was us joy likn that which came from moth onteavows, begun again and aguin, and ab last coming to a toal finish. Te thought, perhaps, in their practising it would be rery much belter it", inslead of smashing through, they stopped again ayd even again arme started afresh, because fi put the right est upon buman tempernment. It was a great thing to to itble to say, "That is not good onough, we will stop and start ngan,' These, said the preacher, weve the theughts which he fol himself from the text, and he ventured to hand them on to his hearers es bollyingers. He wanted thera, as men who were trying to follow the Lord Jesus Cirist in flis life, to Fulise that the course which St. Pand was speaking of was the course He cotrse in which ilhey hat to do was the plain course, it was atter ; if was a course in which they made meny mistakes, aud in which they had of ton to seek forgiveness. It was a groal lhing to be atile to say, "I have fought the good figlat, I liave finished my courge, thent the crown of life, which they minht call the perfect peal, Whichs awaited then ins the lifo of the world to come.

After the toast of ' The King ' Inad been hourured, the Master pro. posed "The Church.' He shid ib beloved thera as rivgers and memhers of the Churelt to do Heir begt to maintain Sunday service ringing (hear, hear). Sometimes it entailed a little sacrifice to atond ratrularly, but they should do it if they could. Sunday serviee ringing, he said, should be as good as possible, whicl meant that they must pay atkention to the striking. The primazy use of bells, as thoy all kncw, was to call peoplo to disine worship, amd what the outside public noliced mosli was the strikivg of tha bells. They did not know or care what was magy and it was hetter to ring call changes ar plain raethods well than lo ring Surprise methods hadly (hear, heart) We would say, "Do mot furn divine service ringing into a practice, and remember that you are ringing for the honou and glory of God ' (hear, hear). The Charch, like the State aud of her institutions, was passing through troublous times, with dissentions within and controversies without; they could only pray that she might have a happy issue out of her difficultios (hear, hear'). Whey had with them liat njght eminent preachers and members of the Church: some were ringers, and some werg hol, but wicy all toak an intereab in their bris and their ringers, aud hey wore fudebted to them tor fie

CHURCH SHOULD TREAT RINGERS MORE SERIOUSLY
The Rev. C. W. O. Jeukyn, whose mane was coupled with the toast, said the Master had given then some very gooll advice and expressed some Fery sound sentiraents. In chrinking that toast, he seiri, Church, of which they, as ringers, were a part. It did, howerer, acenr to him that it miglat be woll to lave a tonst to the clergy, for they scemed to be getting into a rery poor way (langliter). They liad latd to come to a humble person like himgelf to fill a pulpit in the City of Landons. It was the third time in the last month that he had hat to step into a breach, because it had been impossible for someone elso to preach to ringers, or someone had been frightetsed at the last manent, or some other reason. He hoped that clergy were not nothiug to make them so (laughter). "Ptey might wrell drink to the Least of the clergy, therefore, and hope that at that time hext year thuy wauld have hetter heallh, nut That one of the London elergy would tio able to preach at their service. Proceeding, tho speaker asked them all to remomher that when they were talking of the Churel they were talking about something diviae, a diwine iustitution far all the sons of men, but they bought that night moru partienIary of the relation of that institution to themselves as clurch beit ringers, and of themselves to that institution, and the proist lie wauted to make was that both hie Churels shouk treat the ringers and the ringers slould consider the Gluren more seriously. Some of them no doubt read what was written about chuvel belringers in Fhe Empire number of "The Times' in Mey, and there were soave bem, anylow, who felt that they were not treated in guite that rlignified way that they ought to liave been (hear, hear). They were no longer a people to be talked about in a funny way, and they resented it (applause). They were Churclt officers, and they felt that thoy watrled to offer themselwes in the best way they could to do thein wark in the Church. They wanted lheir aetual ringing to be the hest they cotald give, and, if they could ring Sumprise well, then he telt it an honome to be able to do so instend of ringing a plain methad, althonglt le fully agrced with the Master in what ho said ahout the first stage. Fiutter, they felt that the bells, which were the property of the Ghurch, sloould be kept up in the very best mamer posibla, and that was what he moant by the Churel and the riugers treating the whole question seriously (npplause).

THE EERFECI TOWER.
Genon CoIeridge, as tor many years past, proposed the toast of the vanon Coremage, Theiont Sociefy of College Youtls." He said Mr. Jeukyn had alled incir attention to what was writen in the Times Smpire number abont bells and ringers. Since then there had issuad from the Church Assembly a report on the preservation of ancient churches. There was ant enormous amount jut that report wheln was simply magaifent. It deall with all sorts of subjects, and when it reforred to organs it gave mosb excellent adviec. It recognised at once that the modern mechanism of organs was infinitely to be preforred to ancient mechanism, and then it wenh on to refer to bells. If only it lad said that modern mechanism in the belfry was to be preferred to the old mechanism, the writers of the report would have dona a very good work (hear, hear". Instead of that they laid down that nothing whatever must be doue except under the advico a compelient architect. Was there such a man existing in relation bells? He doubted it. Their old friend, Mr. PlailoLt, was one, bul he was gone. The hanging of belle was an enginecring job, and wound not do, as tho report recommended, io splice up an old wood rame when it docayod, and to pul iu nothing new except where it wrs absolutoly necossery to keep the shape of Tino frame as it was before. A groat many church authorities made a great mistake in going slraight to an archited when they wanled their bells restored. Camon Coleridge weat on to say that some little time ago an archi-
1 boll town which he was called upon to erect. He went to considerahle trouble to informi lim, and sent lim about twelve pages of typewritten foolscap as to how he ought to build lis tower. Among nither things tre told him to make a stairway wide enougly for the fatest man he ever knew to get up in comfort, fud high enough tallest man he ever thought of to get up witlioul bumping lis load if he stood upright (langhter). He told lim about the lighting and the veatilation, and lie told him to put the sound opeuings right he top of the tower, and many athe things. Some little time after, ho roceived a lehior from the architect telling him that he (Canon Coleridge) lad made one mistake, nad that he proposed la put nan'row windows whare the bulls wore for the sake of light. He the Camon) had replied that it was quite unnecessury if lie hud prowided, as he had beon told he should de, electric light in the bell ohamber. He did mot know what the architect had done, as be hat whole of the suggestions lie made had beed enhodied in the design, wrula have beea the hest tower in England from the ringers' point view hear, hoar). Such iz towar, however, had never yet beon ndded lator that te was told that, after all, the slits had been put the walls of the bell chamber, and so his porfect tower had yet to buitt (lategher).

go. Then here has been that shori tour to Devonshire, in the course of which the firgt peal was rung at Buckfast \(\Lambda\) bbey, an uncommoniy difficalt job-one of the mosi dificult that lias ever been clanc, T think, because you lievo to ving in a litile gallery, and ynu look rlown over the parapet to the ground about ffiy feet below, something like Merton College, Oxford. I am quile surg thang like Marton College, Oxford. I am quile suro we slafll congratulate any brud who sucecels in ringing a peal there' (hear, beari). Continuing, Canon Coleridge quated, from a recent issue of Punch, a parody on 'The Bells of St. Glemen's,' velating to the oxthmimation of pigeons in the neighbouthood of Si. Paul's Catheriral, The anthoritios, he snid, could do what they liked with the pigeons, he adiled, "linere is one they will mot exterminate, snd that is (Continued at foot of cert column.)

THE \(18 \nmid\) TON RINGING BELL,
the Bonrdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at Riverside Cborch, New Yors, U.S.A

What is the 'twelve-bell record'? This question is raised by a letter, which appears in another column, from Mr. C. T. Coles, hon. secretary of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, as the result of the description applied to the peal of Grandsire Cinques rung at Painswick on Saturday week. Mr. Coles' argument is, in brief, that a twelve-bell peal can only be a peal of Maximus, and, that being so, the twelve-bell record is still the peal of Cambridge Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne on August \(5^{\text {th }}\) last year. When it comes to a question of record performances it is only right that these matters should be treated seriousiy, and for that reason the claim that is made by Mr. Coles is one for serious consideration. On the face of \(i t\), the simple question appears to us to be was or was not the Painswick performance a twelve-bell peal? If it was, then, in our view, it was a twelve-beli recorcl; if it wasn't-well, where does Mr. James George come in, after having rung a \(26 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cw}\). tenor for in hrs. 36 mins.? Surely it cannot be suggested that he did not take part in the peal? The facts that the twelve bells were rung throughout the peal, and, while eleven bells provided the changes, the tenor was essential to the effective completion of each change, place it, in our opinion, clearly in the twelve-bell category. Mr. Coles' argument that a twelve-bell peal can only be rung in a twelve-bell method puts a limit on the expression 'twelve-bell peal,' which, we think, will not be generally accepted.

It might be as well, perhaps, if the Central Council were to classify the records, and then obviously Cinques and Maximus would be definitely separated. As a matter of fact, in all such performances so many different factors have to be taken into account that it is difficult, if not impossible, to make comparisons between them, and the only thing the Exercise has recognised up to now has been the number of changes rung, and the number of bells engaged in ringing the peal. Neither the time occupied, nor the weight and 'go' of the bells, nor the method rung, enter into consideration-so far as record's go it is a question of the longest length. At the moment the longest length that has been rung in which twelve belis have been employed is the peal at Painswick, but that does not detract one jot from the greatness of the achievement at Ashton-under-Lyne. While one peal was two thousand changes longer than the other, they are not in the same category and no question of comparison between the performances, qua performances, arises. What remains to be settled, bowever, is whether or not the Painswick peal was a twelve-beli (Continuter on page 742.)

peal, and in settling the question let there be no monfusion between the expressions ' a twelve-bell peal ' and 'a peat in a twelve-bell method.'
Having said this, let us add our congratulations to the men of the Painswick Fouths upon their really great purformance. Every time some new record length is set up there is a feeling that this, at last, must be the limit, but every time others are found prepared to put their slill and endurance to the test and show that the final word has not been said. These long peals-and they are longr peals indeed when they last nearly round the clock-are remarkable exhibitions of pertinacity, stamina, and concentration. To the conductor, Mr. Albert Wright, the moving spirit of so many long peals at this famous belfry, and to all the band the congratulations of the Exercise will be extended upon a wonderful achievement, but perhaps to Mr. James George more than to anyone will these expressions go. We all know that long peals are not exclusively the prerogative of youth, as are the records in most other pursuits, but for a man within a lew days of his \(77^{\text {th }}\) birthday to ring a 263 ewt. bell for 11 d hours without rest or refreshment is almost beyond belief. Yet Mr. George has done it. For a man thirty years his junior it would be a great achievement; his performance is a marvellous feat and demonstrates not only his exceptional physical fitness, but his ability and judgment in handling a bell.

\section*{BARNSLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.} SNOWDON DENNER "TOO ELABORATE."
the monthly meeting of the Barnsley and District Association was held af Penistone on Saturday, November 8th, when the towers represented wera Aston-under-Lyne, Bolsterstonc, Cawthorne, Darficth, Ecclesficld, Felkirk, Fandsworth, Hoylandswaine, Rayston, Sandal, Shelley, Wath and the lacal company. Riuging in various methods of Major, Triples and Minor was continued from 3 to 5 p.m., when tea was served in the schoolroom, followed by a short blesiness meehing ab which the Vicar (Rev. E. B. Carlelot) presided, and welcomer the association to Peaistone.
Five new members were electert, and it was decialed that the next neeting shoutd be a joint mecting with the Yorkshite Associntion (Snuthorn District), the Sheffield and the Doncaster Society at Rawnratris on the second Saturday in December.
A diecussion arose on the Snowdon Commemaration Dinner, the general opinion being that it was too elaborate for the majority of ringers to attend.
II was finally agreed to ask the committer of the Yorkshire Association to try and arrange a meeting at Ilkley (where Jasper Suowdon is buried) somo time next summer, and to make it as nearly as possible meet tho desires of the majority of ringers, so that it may bo Lermed the 'Snowdon Conmenoration Ringers' Rally.
Mr, Rayner moved the vote of thanks to the Yienr for the use of the bells, and to the ladies who provided ter.

Further ringing was afterwards contimued until 9 p.m.

\section*{FORTY-NINE YEARS A RINGER.}
'The band at Churist Chureh, North Shields, has suffered a severe los- by ihe death, after a long illuess, of Mr. Clark Fdward Waugh, aped 59. Fic had been a member of the band mearly 50 years, liaving commenced his ringing carcer at the early age of ten, and as his Jather had been a ringer, and his grandfather vergar and beadle at the same church, the family connection with Christ Church extended over ulmost a century.
Mr. Whagh had only one peal, in 189B, to his credit, but he was a 1 agtulas athender for Sunday serfice ringing, and also an special oecasious, and, being of a cheerful disposilien, he was loved and respeeded by his fellow-ringers.

At the funeral, on Monday last, a short touch on hardbells was rung al: the graweside, and in the evening a muliled ped of Stedman Cators was rung on the bells of Clusist Church, particulars of which will be found in the peal columns.
Deepest sympathy is extended to his widow in her bereavement.

\section*{PASSING OF A HAGBOURNE WORTHY.}

DEATH OF MT. E. E. NAPPER.
Fisitors to East Hagbourne wilt aiss a familiar figure now that Mr. Ernest Edwin Napper Las passed away.
Born the youngest of a frmily of thirteen at lhe Fleur de lys, ho had been the popular landord there since 1902, the louse having been in the Napper family for over two hundicd yours.

Practically all the villago organisalions have lnd their headquarters there, including the football club, cricket eluth, the local branch of the British Legion and the St. Andrew's Bellringiug tuild. The deceased wis one of the original change ringing hand first formed in the village, tho company including wo of his brothers, two cousing, and others. Fo rang a fair number of peals of grandsire and Stedman Triples with the local baud, aud also witla lao late Rev. F. E. Robinson and J. W. Waslibrook at various lowers, including Bibhopstone, Great Tew, Shipton-under-Wychwood, ete.
A perfect striker, jo preferred to ring a gmall bell, bui when porsuaded could ring a lieary bell wits the best, as beinoved at sun of 6 ft. in height and about 16 stone 111 weight.

He prssed away on Saturday, Novemher 8th, at the age of 70 yoars, and the interment took placc an Tuesday weck.
A very Iarge number of people attonded the funeral, including many brother ringers, among them Messus. F. Napper, D. Napper (cousins), W. F. Napper, J. S. Napper, J. F. Napper, W. IH. Napper (nephaws), W. J. Napper, C. W. Alleu, J. E. Bullar, J. A. Butler aud J. Bower. Eight nephews acted as bearers. The bolls were rung half-muffled before tho service, and also while the corfege proceeded to the cemetery, and again after the interment. In the evening eight members of tho local band rang in quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 50 mine.: A. W. Coy 1, W. V. Webt 2, H. K. White 3, W. Lambell 4, T. East (conductor) S, J. Sawyer 6, A. H. Webb 7, J. Hitchman 8.

\section*{ANOTHER RING OF SIX FOR LINCOLNSHIRE.}

Messis. Taylor and Co, of Loughborough, have added a lreble to the bells at St. Mary's Church, Tydd, Lincolnshire, mal relung the old ring of five, the tenor of which is 11 cwt 2 gr. 21 It . The bells ware dedicated on Sunday, November gita, aftar the morning service, and the opening ringing consisled of is 720 of Bob Minor in 28 mins.: G. Ladd 1, H. M. Day 2, A. Riggall 3, J. Curry 4, A. J. Firur 5, J. G. Ames (conductor) 6. For evening service 360 St. Clement's Minor was rung. In the aftermon the bame ringers rang a peal of Minor in seven melihons, as reeorned in our peal columus.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where threre is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Wiil each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, ' The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

Grayshott, Hants, hopes to have a peal of eight bells in the near future. At present there are three, hut a parish meeting has deciderl to recast therr: as part of the octave. About \(£ 200\) has been sulsseribed up to the preseat, ant an appeal is to be made for the rest of the money requived.
Mr. W. G. Ryde, K.C., who over forty yeerg ago was a ringor at Woking, is the moving spirit in the scheme.

Dauble Dublin Surprise Major, the Gr'st peal of whinh was rumg at Hersham, Surrey, on Saturday, is a method by the Rev. E. Brakes James.

The Antient Guild of St. Stephen's Ringers (Bristol) was granterl a Royal Charter on November 17th, 1620 . It is stil] in existemen, allhaugh it has now no diject connection with belluinging.
The first peal of Grandsive Cinques on the presfat ring of twelwe at St. Peter Mrancroft, Norwich, was rung on November 23 rd, 1775 ,
On November 24lh, 1816, ilie first oeal of Oxford Treble Boh Maximus on handbells was rugg at Sheffield.
A peal of 15,120 Bobls Major was rung at West Ham on Novemher 25th, 1737, by the Fistern Scholars, a now lous defund Jondon sosiety.
Next Thursdsy Mr. James George, hero of the Panswick mal, will be 77 years young. It won't be long hefore he rings his \(1,1001 \mathrm{~h}\) pral. Most people at his age would be lhinkiug of giving up ringing, but Mr. George is looking for more worlds to conquer.
The carillon east at the Croydan Bell Foundry for the Wellington (New Zoaland) War Memorial, and which was erected at the NothEast Goast Exhibition last year, and has been regularly used for recitals in Hyde Park this ynar, is now to be taker, to Buenos Aires for the Britist Empire Tshihition mext spring. It is hopen to hang the carillon in Wellington in time to ring for Armistice Dry next year. When it arrives at its naltimele destination the carialon will surely be the most travelled set of bells in the word.
Was the peal of Cambilige Surprise Hajor, rung at Twerton, Bath, on November loth, the first by the Bati and Wells Assoointion by resident member's? asks a correspondent, who cosgratalates the band on \(&\) capital performance.
The peal of Superlative Surprise at Warnham on November 1st was rung in 2 hrs. 53 mins. (not 2.43). The ringer of the 7 th in the peal of Oxford Treblo Bola Major at Stowmarket on October 251 h was Arthur Grimwood, not Greenwood as published.

\section*{BELLS FULLY MANNED.' To the Editor.}

Gir,-I would like to draw Mr. E. Cooper's attention to the facts of his letter on the above. He writes that the bells should have been' fully manned, but does not khow if they were. As regards Doneaster, it is true aleven were lalt to man the bells, but they were mamned hy six ringers and one learner not yel able to sing rounds corceetly.
One of the most relied-upon ringers wats away at Tiekhild. I don't think he makes his case any hetter by his remarks on the conduntor. If a ringer wants to go to naother chureh to ring ho ought, in my opinion. to give reasomale notice, so that his place in the town may be filled. T know My. Cooper does not like to hear six bells at his church on. Standays. J aitend vegularly.- Yosurs fnithfully,

A TOWER OF MANY 'LONG LENGTHS.'
The peal of 17,687 Grandsire Cinques rung in in hrs. 36 mins. at Painswick, Gloucestershire, on November 8th, has naturally been a matter of great jnterest throughout ringing circles, for it is a feat that has few equals. For a couple of centuries Painswick has been conspicuous in ringing annals, for as soon as ten bells were put in the tower the ringers there went in for long lengths, a io,000 of Caters being rung in 1735 and a 12,000 in 1736 .

THE PARISH GHURCH OF ST. MARY, PAINSWICK.
Previous ta the year 1686 there were six bells in the tower. In January of that jear a meeting was held at which it was decided to add two naore bells, which were cast by Abvalaum Rubliall, of Gloucester. Forty-five years later it was determined to add two more bells and remast the existing eight, which was done at the Ghoucester fonndry, from which in 1821 cama two trebles to complete the ring of trelve. Tho now bells did not come up to tho calibre of the old ones, and in 1887 were replaced by two recast trebles frons the Whitechapel Foundry. In 1902 Messrs. Taydor and Co. relang the whole twelve an one level, and they have not had any hiteation from a bell hanger since one more proof that the more bells are rung the better they are cared for.

The Painswick Fouths have in their possession some interesting recards of peals of pasb days:-

Dear Sir, First to eangratulate Mr. Albert Wrighl and his hand an a fue performance, which I do most leartily. If any mombor is deserving of special praise it is the veteran tenor minn, Mi: Junes Genrge.

Wut does this peal constitute tha twelve-bell record? The daily press referred to it as containing the 'grentest number of changes on twelve bells," which the peal certainly did not. Unless Jimmy George was at fault, and I cannot imagine that he was, ilse peal did not coatain one elange on twelve bells, and I cannat see why it is described in "The lkinging World' as the twelve-bell record. If it is, where js the eleven-beh recard? this one camot be both!
The Central Council's 'Glossary of Techniead Temms, compiled by six famous nuembers of the Exercise in 1901, contains, cu page 17, the following definitions:

Cinques.- The chnnges praduced on eleven bells, in which live pairs of belts change at each permutation.
Maximus.-Change ringing ju which twelve bells are concened in produming the permalations is known as 'Maximus, or' nore familiarly, as 'twelve-in.' Methods adapted for twelve bells are nsually known as twelve-bell methods.
If atything further is nceded, Mr. Editor', I will refer you to 'The Ringing World, Vol. I., page 74, which contains tho following:-
' The loug peal of Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne (i.e., 12,240 Troble Bob Maximus in 1911), setting up a new record for iwelve bells, naturally revives interest in the previous record whieh wus bet up over 77 years ago. This peal was rung at Painswick, Gloucester, in \(1833^{3}\) (i.e., 10,224 Treble Bob Maximus). The explanatory notes in parentreses are mine.
Now, between fhose 1 wo peals the 11,111 Stedman Cingues was rung at Bimningham in 1901, and this penl 'The Ringing World' sid not consider as laving superseded the Painswick 10,224 Maximus. In other words, "The Ringing World" in 1911 considered that only Maximus could beaf Maximus for the record on twelve bolls. This, I subnit, is quito correct, and maindain that the 15,312 Cambridge Surprise Maximus rung last year still cemains as the twelve-bell record.

\section*{FROM FRTSTCM TO LONDON.}

Mr. Wr. A. Cave (Bristol), whone hanfe was also cotplod with the Kuows in theme days of rapid changes, how suon cirmmgthnces may so aller as to turn hima into a Mehropolitan. When this happens in the case of a ringer, it is good to know that he will at one be able to meet frinads who will der fll that is possible to make lim feel at finme. Mr. Cave nombioned thred who hari passed form tha provinces in Condon by way of Bristel, and had attainers the highest honour in London's premier ringing socioties. Mr. O'Meara, who was Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths for four years, 1899, 1800, 1905 and 1906, dicl some of his carbiest change ringing in the neighbourhook, but teft there before his (the speaker's) time. The ollier two he knew well. Mr. J. D. Mathews, the worthy Mastar of the Rojal Cumberlsuds, who came to Bristol from Northamptoushire, and was the ouly ringer iz his (Mr. Cave's) experience to make a lengthened shay in Bristol, who knew more about risging then they themselven, and he was not forgetting Mr. Fred May, who developed into sudi 咕 excellent conductur after his arrival. Mr. Malthews was largely instrumental in the St. Stephen's band ringing the firsi Surprige peal in Bristol. Mr. Charles Forlon, Master of the College Youths, 1918 and 1919, lemut all his ringigg at Bristol before coming to London. Many handbell pratiees the tiree of them had at Mr. Mattiews Lome when his cldest son, Ceail, was a baby in the cradlo by the fireside. There wece, canlinued Mr. Gave, two peal performance he would tike to refer to. One was the so-called peal of Minor at Isham a speaker at the Central Coumeil meeting sad, "Tikere is mothing in the world to prevent any band ringilg just what they like.' True, but if it was io be recognised as \(\Omega\) peal it must be within a certaith standard, and 14360 's wore dolinitely not within that standard. It might have been rusg with a certain object in wiew. Of that he know notlaing; but if the Analysis Commitiee decided not to recognise it as a peal, he thought they would be quite justified, and it was good to know they had tho support of such cminent men ats Mr. Trollope and the enlor of 'The Ringing Worlt.' The abler penl vas the one at Buckfast, the recort of which was publisled the provious day. He considered Mr. Pye and his baud had done a great service to ringing and cingers generally in visiting we Albbey and ringing such an excellent peal of Stedman Cinques. It was performances such as this that did an innmense amount of good to the cnuse of change ringing. Aud especially did this apply to Devonshire, where there was bueh powerful oppositian. He knew how thoroughy thas opposition saciety clid its work. He had seen in Devangline towers large posters printed in zed abd hlue annoumeing compatitions, on both six and eigltt bells, giving the figures of the changes to be rung, besides the list of prizes to be wom. They were a church society, recognised by their elergy, so that idey were one with the rest of the Exercise, hat il was up to thear as change ringers to try ard converf. them ta datage linging. This could only be done by visiting ringers giving of their very hest, and not giving the round and eall change zingers a clance to say, "Is can ring better"z that onrselves" (laugiter and applause).

Mr. R. T. Hiblert proposed 'flue Press' in his typically outspoken of Anantas' He appealed to ringers to support theip own paper,
The Ringing World,' is whith he hoped to see further encouragement giveu to Joung ringers, ancl took the Editor to task for the article which appoared in tino previous day's issue-describing the College Youths as exclusive and alonf. They were, he said, always glad to welcome any ringer. The College Youths were the liab of the wheel in ringing, and line provincial socheties wote only the spokes, the fellocs and the tyres.
Mr. J. 5. Goldsmilih, Tiditor of 'The Riaging World,' replied to He toast, and this brouglit the speechmaking to a close.
The musieal programme was exenplionally enjoyalile. Mra Hughes again delighted the comparg whth her' laadluell solos, 'Solveig's Song' (Grieg) and "Until' (Santlenson), being followed, ns an encore, by the ever popular 'Land of hope and glory. Mr. E. sketehes, while the baritone songs of Mr. Reginald Johnson were fincly renderen, fud the vocelist had to respond to an cneore at ench appearance. Mi. A. N. Pitstow was the accompanist. The Foly happy evening termimated with' Auld Lang Syne.

\section*{DEATH OF CANON W. W. C, BAKER.}

We deeply regret to announce the deatl, which took place on Friday, of ihe Rev. Conon W. W. O. Baker, president and one of the founders of the Bedfordshire Association. For a considerable period Canon Baker was Vicar of Dunstable, but a few years ago he took the liwing of Soutlitl, Berls, Ganon Baker was a member of the Cambridge University Guild und one of the faw surviving original members of the Central Council, on which he had served witboul a break up to the time of his loatl. His passing will be a great loss to the Bedfordshire Association, and removes from the Excroise a very lorable figure.
Canon Baber has led a very achive life that extended outside his parochial duties. For maty years tre was a member of the Bedfordshire County Conacil, and he was one of the menberg of the first Cbarch Assembly.

It originally contained a poal of six belts (tenor 73 awi.) presented by Mary and Elizzbeth Becketf, of Meanwood Park, Jecels, in 1854. For some tirne, however, the bells luse been unvingable: The work of restoring them was giver to Messrs. Qillett and Johnston, of Croydion, who have cleared out the scaffold-like structure on which the old wooden frame was placed, fond recasl the existing peal of six into a peal of eight. \section*{A GLOUCESTERSHIRE RING RESTORED}

After being silent since the sutumn of 1914 , St. Nicholas' Churels孔elis, Standish, Gloucrsier, werg heard again for the frst time on Shiurdey, November 8th, when they were rededicated by the Rt. Rev. Di: Headlam, Bishop of Gloucester.
The chareh was crowded to its utaost elapacity for the service, which took the form of evensong, during which the Vicar, churchwardons und Bishop proceded to the west oad of the church. Fere whrdonshoud Bishop itimented the bells and offered stitable prayers. The bells, which had been ruised priar to the service, wero then rung in rounds, this being the first time for over 16 years.
Aftur the dertiention, a new Euglish altar was dedicaled and vested, the Bishop then giving itn address. At the conclusion of the service, a picked hand of members of the Gloweester and Bristol Diocessun dssociation reng 360 Gyandsire Doubles, and for the remainder of the evening visitort from Painswick, Gloucester, Stonehouse, Gront Witcombe, Elkstone, and other towers, had the opportienity of Irying the belle.
The founclers, $lessis. Gillelt and Johaston, of Croydon, who were represenied by Mr. It. II. Dove, have made an excellent job, the 'go' of the bells being perfect, and the tone appreciably improved. No. 3 bell, which was cracked, las been recsst, and the remainder retumed ani Lurued, while the whole peal has been equipped with complete s radern fittings, find hung in a two-tier metal frame. New onk floows to the ringatag room, intermediate chamber and bell elamher, have been inslalied, while new louvres have also been fitted.
The cost of tha work has been raised by voluntary subseription, and reflects great eredit on sutch a small and seattered parish.

\section*{THE FIRST RING OF BELLS IN JERSEY. \\ \section*{To the Editor.}}

Dear Sir, Faving mate several journeys to my many relations in the Chanuel Islands, nud having spent the most happy imes of my life there, parlicularly in Jersey, I was kecnly interested in the article in "The Ringing Work' under the above heading.
I know St. Stiomas in Fal Plaisant very well, antd liave in my collection a pieture posteard of a most beantifnl beill, shown susspeuded in this ehureli, rearly for hoisting up into its place in the tower, 'Jhe wording on this posterrd reads: "Maria Immacuata bell of St. Thomas' Chatch, Jersey, rung for the first time December gll, 1904."
But his is not the first ring of hells in Jergey, for within a stone's throw, at the corner of David Place aud St. Mark \({ }^{-1}\) R Road, stands the Episcopal Chmolh of St. Mark, whicls may be termed a danghter church of St. Helier, mat a peal of six was installed here in 1844.
It is ir nusical ring of six, tenor about 11 cwt., cast at Whitechapel in 1844 by \(C\). and \(G\). Meurs.
In looking throngh my diary of ny ringing activities I find that on Friday, July 15th, 1904, at 3 p.m.. 1 inspected the whole of this tower will uy island friend, Mr. Thilip Gaudin, and saw the six bells by Mears pusher mato the fomer to make room for the 2 ton clock hell by Taylor, 1881. On the fallowing Sunday at 3 p.m. we met the Rev. Lobbe, of Devizes, hon. secretary, Salisbury Diocosan Guild, and tapped a fow elianges on these thells.
I have been in every parial churel in the Isiands, and as far as I know there las never fuecu any clatige ringing, nor do I know of any olluec ting of bells in Jersey. Yours sincerel
F. W. RTC日ARDSON.

\section*{BELL RESTORATION APPEALS.}

The columns of 'The Ringing World 'have ever been open for the making of appeals, either on behalf of distressed members of the Exercise, or to assist ringers in their efforts to raise funds for bell restoration or augmentation. It is always a pleasure to bring these appeals to the notice of our readers, for it gives at opportunity to those who are able and willing to do so to lend a helping hand. These, however, are days when, with depression in industry and vast unemployment, the resources of ringers, in common with other classes, are depleted, and not all have anything to spare for outside objects. Yet, whenever these appeals are made, how much might be done if everyone who is earning a regular wage would contribute even a shilling? Except where the cases have a direct human appeal, however, requests for help are frequently passed over as being of no concern of the reader, because they do not happen to relate to some tower which he knows or which is in his own association'sarea; yet there is at the back of all these appeals a genuine need for help, and help which could be given in many cases without much, if any, sacrifice on the part of the giver. There are those cases, for instance, where impoverished parishes are anxious to have their bells set in order and are absolutely without the means of raising sufficient funds locally to do the work; and cases where, with the parish already giving its utmost to carry out a scheme of restoration, an opportunity presents itself for effecting further improvement if only outsiders will come to the aid of the local people.

Such an appeal as this appears in our present issue. The little Worcestershire agricultural village of Hinton-on-the-Green is spending all the money it can raise at home upon putting its bells in order and adding another to make them into a peal of six. Simultaneously an offer comes of a new bell if the ring is made into eight. The opportunity seems too good to be missed, for that part of Worcestershire is sadly handicapped by want of a handy octave for eight-bell practice. The task of raising the rest of the funds, therefore, falls largely upon the shoulders of the ringers, who, for years, have steadfastly discharged their duties to the church and maintained a band of double numerical strength and more to ensure that the bells should be regularly rung on Sundays. Is this not one of the cases, therefore, where not only members of the Worcestershire Association, who took such an admirable share in the recasting of their Cathedral bells, but members of the Exercise generally should lend a helping hand to further, as they undoubtedly would, the art of ringing in a district which promises (Continued on page 758.)

well to repay any ellort made to assist it? Many of us are apt to spend shillings without thought upon personal trifies of no consequence. We should be doing some read service to our art sometimes if, when restoration appeals are made, we diverted what would otherwise be a promiscuously spent shilling to a chanmel in which it could help to do some permanent good. We hope there will be a ready response to the appeal from Hinton-on-the-Green, in substantial sums by all means, if possible, and in those small contributions from the multitude, which would nor only count up to a considerable total, but show a spirit of goodwill in an undertaking which, at the moment, is a venture of faith and a project which will enable its sponsors to carry on their work with greater scope, if not more worthily, than in the past.

\section*{PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR}

\section*{PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'}

The Editor of 'The Ringing World ' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his rame and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

The marriage will take place at St. Mary's Clurch, Cadogan Street. This hapacnest at Painswick, and the painful incident might have remaimed unnoticed lad it not been for a press pholographer who passed all lie moment. 'The picture of the prisoner undergoing his 'sentence' is mow on record for all time in the 'Gloucester Journal.'

A first peal-by all has been rung at Badgeworth, Gloucesteraliire. This is always a creditable performance, and in this case there were five young members of the band, and the peal was in three metinols of Doubles. The tower owes much of its progress to Mr. W. Yeend, secretary of the Cheltenliam Branch of the Gloucester and Bristo Association, who started a young band at this church between four and five years ago.
William Douhieday Crofts, the Notingham solicitor and famous Sherwood Youth, died on November 29 hh, 1809. His inseresting peat book is still preserved.
The first peal by Mark Master Masons, which we zecord this wock, retalls the fact that the Grsh Freemasons' peal was Grandsire Caters, rung at St. Clement Danes, London, on December 4th, 1919.
On November 27th, 1789, ihe Lonton Scholars rang is peal of 5,204 Grnulsive Cinques at Cornhill.
Mumbers of the Bristol Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association are reminded of the altered date of the Redeliffe meeting, which is now to be theld on December 6th.

\section*{A GREAT LOSS TO BEDTORDSHIR}

We brjefly chronicled last week the loss which the Bxercise, and particularly the Bedfordshire Association, Jad sustained by the denth of Canon W. W. G. Baker, Vicar of Southill, a member of the Ceneral Council end president of the Bedfordshire Association. of which ra was one of the founders. Canon Baker, who was 70 years of nge, was taken ill after attending a meeting of the Bedfordshire Wilementary Education Sub-Committee, and succumbed to en attack of hronchial pncumonia on Friday, the 14th inst.
He begun his ringing when an undergraduate at Gambridge, and was one of the carly members of tha TVivorsity fivild. For a great amber of jears he joined them on their anmal summer tour, and was present lest year at the jubilee celebrations. He acteil for many year's as hon, secretary of the Bedfordshire Association, and leter be came president, which office he occupied at the time of his death. He represented the Bedfordshire Association on the Central Couneti rom the latter's formation to the present time. He had rung a number of peals, hat kept no record of these performances. Among the peals in which he tonk part was the first peal of thetle Bob by the Bedfondshire Association in 1887; his first peal as conductor was rung in 1888. His laşt peal far the association was, we believe, a peal of Stedman Tuples with his own band just before leaving Duastable. One of his anfulfilled ambitions was to return to Dunstable and ring with his old friends there a peal of Superlative Surprise, a method of which he was very tond.

Born at Long Melford, Suffolk, Canon Bakor was first educated at the village school at Eversholt, whote his tather was then incumbent. Later he went to King's College School, London, and Clare College, Cambridge. He took lis B.A. degree in 7882, and his M.A. in 1886. In 1884 he was ordained dercon, and priest in 1885, and his first curacy was at St. Mary's, Nottingliam, which he took in 1884. After two years in the north, le retarned to his native county, and became Viear of Milton Bryan. Fe remained there for ten years, and removed to Ridgmont in 1696 . In 1903 be becmme Rector of Dunstable, रhe appointment being rade by the Bishop of Ely, and whea Dusstable becarme a part of the diocese of St: Albans the Rector was appointed by Bishop Jacob an honoracy Canon and Himal Dean of Dunstable. He also scrverl as a Proctor in Couvocation from 1917 to 1919, and was a member of the Diocesan Board of Finance and a large number of other diocesan eammittoes. Fol some years, up to the beginning of the war, le was chaplain to tho County Territorial Battalion.
Canon Baker, says a writer in 'The Bedfordshite Times, was mu aclive force for good, not only through his eloquent preaching and disinguished servies for his chutek, but also through hiss work and example in the public life of the county. An intimate friend said of him this week, 'He was the truest example of a Cbristian that I have over met. \({ }^{\text {a }}\) He was the intimate and cherished friend and reighbour of the Lord Lieutenant of his county: he wos no less the friend of the liumblest of his parishioners. 'the elementary teachers of Bedfordshire valued him and trusted lim as a slaunch friend. Fis death is indeed an irreparable blow to Bedfordshire education on its administrative side.
Generous and warm-hearted, never turning a deaf eay to any appeal, affable and casy of approach at all times, possessing the gift of disagreeing in a friendly way with those loolding other viows than his own, a manly man who could enjoy a good story and tall one tao, and was very fond of a joke, Canon Baker was a popular and a dominating figure in whatever company he hajpened to be.

He was appointed to the first Education Committee for. Bedfordshire on day 8th, 1903 , and served as a co-opled member until March, 1910, when he was elected to the County Council as ome of the Dunstablo representatives. From then, until 1922, whet Ito is? tired from tho Council, le represented the Council an the Commit tee. In the meantimo, in Septembor 1914, he had been appointed chairman of the Elementary Sub-Commitee, and his services on that body had become so valued that loo was prevailed upon to contisut his service as at co-opted member. On several oveasians since 1922 attempts werc made to persuade him to necept Hn aldermanship, but he preferred to concentrate his energies and time on the oducational side of the Council's work.

When Canon Baker resigned the living of Dunstable in 1924, 4 cheque for 8100 and fis album containiag the namos of 585 subscribers were presented to Lim by the Mayor in tho presence of several hundred residents of all denominations.
Canon Baker married, in 1888, Gatherino Amna, the younger dauglt ter of the Rev. Truman Tanqueray, Rector of Tingritls. There were nine children, six of whom are living. Canon Baker's seeond and Lbird sons died in action in the war, Capt. Gharles Baker in Galltpoli in 1915, and Lieut. Aveling Baker in France in March, 1918. With Mrs. Baker and the surviving members of tic family, widespread sympathy has been exprossed

Canon Baker's great work in various directions in Bedfordahire was manifested by the large and representative gathering from a parts of the county that altended the funeral on T'nesday week.
Tho coffin was taken into Soathill Parish Glurch on Mondny evening, and a reguien celebration of the Holy Communion was hold al 8.30 arm . on Tuesdry moruing, the Rev. Scott Baker (the deceased's son, chapiain of King's College, Camtnidge) being the celebutut:
The opening sentences of the fumeraf sorvice were read by tho Eev. G. H. Strange, of Shefford, und the lesson by Arehdeacon Parnell. The remaimer of the service in charch and at the gravesida was talten by the Rev. A. G. Hodgson, who was Canon Baker's carate at Dunstable from 1907 to 1909 . The Blessing was pronounced by thet Archdeacon. Among the clergy present who rotsed was Canoni it. F. Coleridge, while the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Oxford Diocesan (iuild) and the Rev, R. My only other aequammance with this method lad been through "Standard Melhods, and I liad paid it but little atcution. The discovery of the original treatige, however, led me to a fuller investigution. Among many interesting poinis I moted the following: Tn Majot \({ }^{4}\) lie course-ends recht every 48 phanges with 7 and 8 daublr. todging in the home position. Further, hawouglout the course 7 mul 8 keep well Lagether, and, even in peals, it is passible to keep the 6ill at home throughout. From a musical point of view, this is all that can be desived. Moreover, the method is easily extended to 10 and 12 hells Ly simply dauble dodging in the extra places, as in Stedmnn. Thege are not the only admanlages poiated out by the author, but these few scem to me to warrant is wirler practice of the method. Yet peals of . \section*{FIRST STEPS.}

WELL-KNOWN ESBEX RINGER GIVES AN ADDRESS.
The annual meeting of the Northerr Divisian of the Essex Assgcialiors was held at Coggeshall on Saturday, November 15th, when, despite the inclement wealher, 60 ringers attended from 24 parishes. Very little ringing has been done at Coggeshall for some time past, partly due to the had 'go' of the bells. However, after a fittle lubrication several touches in various methods were brought round. A sertice was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. Pickford), Mr. C. E. Howard, Master of the Association, reading the lesson. The usual callection for the Essex Bell Festoration Fund was made, and amounted to 18s. 3
Tea was served at Ye Olde Woolpack Inn, where 58 sat down, the Vicar taking the chair. It is pleasing to nate that 51 of that number had notified their intention ts be present.

At the husiness meeting which followed, Mr. Howard took the chair, sapported by the Diatrict Master (Mr. A. A. Saunders) and the diatrict setretary (Mr. F. Ridgwell).
The semetary rearl a short report on the work of the division during the past year, in which he stated that fre motings had been held with an averate ationdance of 40 , alsu two joint meetings. Twemty-fiwe memhers lad been clecfed and 33 peals had been rung on towet hells and lamathelle.
The Rev. F. Pickford was then elected an hon. member, and theee other ringing members were also elected
The District Mastor and secratary were unanimously re-eleeted for tive ensuing year, and it was decided to hole the next meting at Rayne un February Itht, 1931.
Mr. Foward thanken the Vicar for the splendid reception he had givel thetan and the excellent spirit lie liad shown by joining the assumialion. The Vicar, in reply, said he did not understand much aluut riuging, only ' Bob Single, and that was what he paid for his tea "laughterl. "but," he added, "with your help and goad wishes 1 hope Coggeshail will soon sland out again among other ringing centres.
The company was then entertained by Mr. W. Keeble with an essay on "First Steps," in the course of which he said that one night in Dcemmer, 1894, a youth of 16 was about to take his "First Steps' in the art of clange ringing. The methat was Grandsire Doubles. Amother youth of 18 on the tenor ralled 'Gn, but just before the lanlf-way single the ringer of the 3rd shonted, "Call them round at laglf-wry; lie will rever make a ringer." However, with a little advice from the tenor man another attempt was made, and a passable 120 was tuly. In May, 1885 , this youthful aspirant rang 720 Bob Minor, fullowed up in February, 1896, by a 5,040 in the game method. Another 'first step" was taken by ringing a 5,040 Bob Minor at another tower, this time contucted by the youth referred to, and ringimg a nom-observation bell. Mural: "It is never safe to prophesy." In coursc of time the hefore-mentioned yauth auitud home, and other ' first steps ' wore taken wilh credit ami honour. The way intervened, and tinging practically ceased. Afterwards, ine work of rebuilding weekly practices commenced. The youth hail now become a Bob "allew or nunductor. During the years Collowing he had the pleasure of taloring several in that mysterious method called 'London,' and brad the pleasing satisfaction of calling the first peal in that method in which the beforementionel ringer of the Jrd took part. This youtls liud now become a futor of 'first steps.' Mr. Keeble added ilatithe first step to talse was to teacla the pupil to handle a bell properly, so that he could master it at every stroke ana never let t master him. One met, occasionally with ringers whe in a touch in the simplest method were canliuualiy ' wool atthering. Why coull 1 haty nat leave that alone and have a little consideration for the outside public?
It wats to be moted that in meent correspondence in 'The Ringing World:" a writer tised the word "drone." Well, licere were some. What would they think if the parson preached the same sermon Sunday after Sunday, ol the choir always sang the same hymos? Could not these drones see that in ringing, as in all else, progross inust he made or back they wonld go? A well-known and popular finger recently said: 'I fcai I am entirely ignorant of one branch of ringing, i.e., conducting. What are the "dirst steps"p" The adrice given was :uccosful and much appreciated. "Mecting heve tonday' concluded Mr. Kweble, 'Where the bells go badly, and witly the Master's consent, I have given you a brici opinion of "first steps:" See that "wery" "first siep" you take is the correct one, and if it meets with your approwal, my next essay slabll be on "Winning through."
This address opened a wide area for diseussion, zad various opinions were expressed, the Master thanking Mr. Keeble for the pleasant bour they had spent on the subject.
It was learned with regrel that Mr. G. W. Moss, of Manninetree, Mr. W. J. Fazell, of Etmonton, and Mr. H. Ewers, of West Bergholt, were all indisposed. The meeting passed a vote of sympathy with bem, nuti rauested the secretary to convey this expression in writing, whict lias since been done.
The lowers of Kelvedon and Feering, in adtition to Coggeshall wrove available, and ringing was continucd until 9 P.m.

\section*{TICKHILL DIFPICULTIES.}

Sir,-As Mr. Lloyd and 'Church Service Ringer' are one and the same person, I will go into the details of the events which led up to the quarter-peal of Stedman being rung at Ticklijll.
It will first of all be necessary to go hack to the summer of 1928. At that time we had at Tickhill a hand of eight change ringers, but as one was nearly always at work on Sundays, and nlother was only mildly interested, it was nearly always a case of ringing Minor. As a band of service tingers, those six were far ahead of any service band round Doneaster', both as regards the number and quality methods rung and the striking. A 720 of Cambridge could always he attempted with confidence, and quite a number of wisitors rang ilieir first 720 in that method at 'Ticknill. In a very short space of time, however, that band was broken up. One, owing to age and in. firmity, had to give up ringing, the ome who was only mildly interested finished altogether, gnother met with an accident which for some time has rendered him incapable of vingisg, aud three of us have left the district. This left two, one of whom, Mr. Hill, is both a capable ringer and conductor.
From 1922 to 1928 numerous attempts were made to augroent the band, and I mysolf taughe some thirty or forty begimers to handle a bell. A number of these, of course, fell away before they made any attempt at change ringing, but quite a few nade good progresu. It was mosl remarkable, however, that every one who made any heatway left the distriet shoytly afterwards. When I left in 1929 Mr . Hill was successful in getting togeticer another band of learners, and it is to his credit that at the present time there are at Tickhill eleven ringers capable of ringing rounds, and all flie bells are rung every Sunday for morning and evening serviac. Tickhill is so situated that wisiting ringers are conspicuaus by theiv absence, and as five of the bnad are on shitt work, thus causing practices to be-few and far between, it will readily be seen that progress is very, very slows. Mr. Hill bas aeveral times asked me if I could gei a band to go and show them how the bells should lue rung, anct that was why the quarter-peal was rung. It was only the secour occasion this year ihat genuine change ringing has been lieard at Tickhill for a service That tho quarter-peal was appreciated is to put it mildly. The Vicar lay reader, two churchwardens and quite a number of the congregation expressed their greal pleasure and thanks to me at bearing the bells rung iu changes again. I might add that mine of the local band turned up, and afterwards eroryono had a pull in rounds with us.
Now turning to those ringers of other towers who were asked stand in. I am assured that the only complaint is from Doneaster. The only ringer from theme who was asked to stand in was, until he got married five fears ago, a resident of Thekhill, and it was I who persuaded him to take up ringing, and he was the first person [ faught to handle a bell mad inifiated into the art of clange ringing. When he came to Ticklill for that Suwday le was but helping those who liad helped him. Nearly hall the present band at Doncaster were change ringers bofore they went there. If is nearly always the same: country places do the work, and towns ike Doncaster rasp the benefit. Of that I do not complain, but when a man like Mr. Lloyd writes a letter such as he did, it is either the height of selfishness ignorance, or hath. No lower has done as much as Tickhil further the arf of clange-ringing roumd Domeaster, and no tower in more need of help nt the present time. I canmot recall ane single instance of Mr. Lloyd helping anybedy. Can he tell me of one? Has he had anything to say to the other four absentees who were not at Tickhill?
In his second letter I suppose his remark about the conductor means that I ought to be rather ashamed of myself for not being shached to any tower at present. Strictly spaking, I suppose I am still atfached to Ticklill, but as 1 now live ten miles away it is very selcom that \(I\) am able to be theres. In faet, to ring at any towev now takes up three bours of any Sunday moraing or evening, and although I could always manage an hour for every service, I no seldom in a position to spare thuee.

If Mr. Lloyd is as keen on service ringing as lie would have us believe, there is plenty of scope for him roumd Donoasier. Let him lake bis coat off and get to work, and when he has had as many sothacks and disappointments as we have had al' Tieklijl, if he comes through smiling and reanly fo do the same again, he will, indeed, be a church service ringer.-Yours faithfuly,
3. B. CAWSER

\section*{A WRINGTON BELE TO BE RECAST.}

The fifth bel] at Wrington, Somerset, is to be recast. This bell lias become slightly cracked in the crown, and the reasting will be done by the whitechapel Foundry, who did such excellent work in the tower in 1911. The wotk is to be carried out in memory of Lt.Col. John Valentine Fesse and his wife, Ellen McGhie, also of Edward Dowel! Marshall, M.A., of Pierce Hay, Wrington, son-jr-larf, as the gift of Rose Etheind Marshall and Joh Harley Bridges Hesse.

An extra floor is to be placed in the belfiy to deaden the sound in the anging chamber, to wish the wingers of Wringtan are lhemselves generously contributing situ.

THE 18子 TON RINGING BELL, the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at Riverside Cburcb, New York, U.S.A

Why do ringers 'take' to some methods and discard others? We do not include in the latter methods which, by their nature, fail to comply with the standards of these days, and are therefore really 'taboo,' but methods which may, broadly, be said to be as interesting to ring and as musical, or, if you like, as unmusical, as some of those which may be termed popular. The point raised last week by a correspondent regarding ' Duffield ' brings this matter again to the front, and one is still left wondering why. Let us look for a moment at some of the facts. In 1913, the year in which the greatest number of peals was rung-viz., 2,359 -the four most practised Surprise Major methods accounted for 177 peals, with \({ }^{3} 3\) other Surprise peals divided between five methods. Of other peals of Major, 566 were either Treble Bob, Double Norwich or Plain Bob, with 18 peals divided between eight other methods. In 1929, when 1,665 peals were rung, the four popular Surprise Major methods produced 204 peals, and seven others produced Is peals (apart from five 'Spliced '). In other Major methods Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Plain Bob accounted for 370 and II other peals were rung in eight other methods. These figures go to show that ringers' tastes and practice generally have changed but very jittle in the last 16 years. Triples and peals on the bigher numbers exhibit very much the same characteristics; ringers cling tenaciously to the old and well known methods. Here and there a band experiments with something new; but nothing seems to take the popular fancy in plain methods any more than in the more advanced. Indeed, in the last thirty years only one new method can be said to have really made a wide appeal, and that is Bristol Surprise, which won its place on its own merits, both in its construction and its musical qualities.

How is it ringers, as a whole, show so little desire to ring fresh methods? They have them in plenty, so it cannot be for lack of material. Neither can it be for lack of skill, for there are many ringers to-day who, given a few hours to study a diagram, could make quite a good show at ringing any method of ordinary construction. Is it lack of initiative, or is it that in the great majority of towers a complete band cannot be kept together long enough to get over the stages of laying the foundation? Quite a lot depends upon this latter element. Unless the foundations have been well laid, it is impossible to build' properly, but once a band is established and has properly grasped the principles, there is, given opportunities, nothing to prevent them from going on from method to method almost indefinitely.

Whatever the cause, it does seem strange, on rellection, that so many of the good methods that exist should go unrung. For those ringers who have got no further than plain Major there are vast and interesting possibilities in the Central Council's Collection, which offers easy steps to the more complicated things. For example, many ringers, if they want to get away from Plain Bob, are turned straight on to Double Norwich. The work in the latter is many stages removed from the former and months are often spent in trying to learn the fresh method; whereas in the Council's Collection is a series of methods which would take the learner by easy and conparatively quick stages, giving him a constant new interest instead of blunting the keenness of his ambition against a rock which he finds tantalisingly difficult to surmount. Yet it seems as if all except a very few limit themselves to the well established methods and make little or no effort to explore what may be termed the bypaths, and it is, we believe, more because of this than of any difficulties or demerits in the vast bulk of other methods that so little is done away from the beaten track and ringers cling to what everjone else is practising and put aside the rest.

NORJH-WESTERN DISTEICPS SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT MICCHAM.
A mecting of the Noth-Mestern District was held at Mitcham on tialurday, and proved, as all who attended will agree, the most enjoyable meeting of the year. About sixty ringers attended during the afternoon and evening from Bunstead, Beddington, Benhilton, Brockley, Bushey, Chelsea, Croydon (St. John's and St. Pefer's), Erling, Erith, Ewell, Hillingdon, Merton, Mersham, Mitcham (Christ Ghureth and Parish Church), Streatham, Sutton and Woodford. The light meal of six at Christ Church were open from 3 p.m., and were kept going in various methods until five o'clock, when a very enjoyahle service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. D. G. Mathews). Ten had been prepared at the Welfare Gentre, through the kind gemerosity of the Christ Church company, a party of 52 sitting down to a meal that ouly ringers really know how to enjoy, but ewen this large company could not quite clear the tables of eatables.

The Vicar presided at the business meating, supported by Mr. D. K. C. Birt (Master of the Association). Four new ringing memberg were elected, and the District Secretary reported that the new certificafes were now ready and could be ohtained from him at the price of Is., nad he hoped all members of the rssaciation would apply for one.

It was proposed to send a lecter of congratulation and good wishes froni the meeting to Mr. Cyril Johaston, of Lhe Croydon Bell Foundry, aud arr honorary menber of the astociation, who was merried enrlior in the day.

The Mnster, in a short speect, gaid low pleased he was to see so many young ringers joining the association, and he urged the ringers ia all towerg to do their atmost to teach the younger ringers to come ort, and so keep the bands at full strength.
A vory hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar of Christ Chutch for the use of the bells and conducting the service, to the Fienr of the Parish Church, whose bells were available during the eveuing, also to the captain zud band of Christ Church for their kind generosity in providing the tea, and to the ladies who waited at the tables.

The Vicar, Mr. Miller, and Mr. Reading: of the loeal company, suitabls replied.
The bells in both towers wore kept going ducing the evening in methods ranging from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Minor and Major, and Spliced Surprise Major. The secretary finds he made an emm in giving out the date of the districh amaurl mecting at St. Peter's, Croydon. It is to be held on January 24th, not the \(51 s t\).

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.
ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CHELTENHAM BRANGH.
The annual meeting of the Chetonham Branch of the Glongegter and Bristol Associntion took piace at Prestbury on Saturday, Novernber 22nd, when the nice ring of eight were set going at three o'elock, and soon a good number of ringers were wniting to take their shmo in the ringing.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Bugot de In Bere), Canon F. W. Sears, of Leckhampton, reading the lescon.
After sarviee, members adjourned to the Church Room, whera a splendid tea was in readiness, given by the Vienr, who had the belp of many lady frienda. Beforc lie left, a yery hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vical for all he had done that day, and, in repiy, he said how very pleased he was to wolcome the branch to his chureh.
The business meeting followed witl Canon F. W. Sears (chairman of the branch) in the chair, supported by Ref. E. G. Benson, of Tewkesbury, and forty members from the following towers: Dumble ton, Alterton, Swiadon, Chelienhan (St. Mark's), Badgeworth, Charlton Kings, TdwLesbury, Gloucester, Burford, Leckhampton nud the local tower

The Secretary gave a short report of the year's work, and congratulated the bands that rang the Doublo Norwich at Leckhampton and the peal of Doubles at Badgeworth.
Two new members from Prestbury and two from Swindon were elected.

MI: J. Austin praised Mr. Alberd' Wriglat and his band on their gread performance of the previons Salurdry at Painswiok, and Mr. J. Ballinger, who rang the 11th, raplied.

Mr. Walter Rose, of Prestbury, was elected on the special sultcommittee which is to conside the queblion of reaffliation to the Central Council.
The following were re-elocted ollicers of the branch for the coming year, and thanked for thoir past services: Cliairman, Canon F. W. Sears (Lecklampton) ; representative, Mr. G. H. Walters (Prestbury) : hon. secretary, Mr. Walter Feend (Swindon).

Withington was selecter for the next meeting in the late spring, the arrangements being left to the secretary,
A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the meeting.
During the aftemoon and evening the following methods were rung: Grandsire and Stedman Tuples, Little Bob, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treblo Bob and Double Norwich, as well as rounds for the beginners.

\section*{PHOTOGRAPES WANTED. \\ PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'}

The Editor of "The Ringing World ' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use wher fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It shouid be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

Congratulations are offeren to Mirs. F. M. Mitchell, wife of thin lum. secretary of the Kent County Association, who has returned to tinging after a few years' absence, on ringing a quarter-peal on Sunday evrining last. Mrs. Mitehell, ns Miss Ethel Goodship, was in the firsl at tempt for a ladies' peal, which unfortunately came to grief.
Composers of peals of Triples will soon have to get busy and produce something new, or Maurice Swinfeld, of Burton-on-Trent, will lanto exhausted the supply of compositions. Last week he rallg his one hundredth peal of Triples for the Midland Counties Associa tion, as conductor, and overy ome has heen a different composition 1
Mr. James George scems, at last, to have 'got going' with peal riuging. Having lad a bit of practice down at Painswick the othry day, he is now ringing peals so fast that we gre losing count of them. It is fortunate, therefore, that the report of a peai rung lait Snturday at Derby reminds us that it was his 1,100 th! Some peoplo may say he ought to he ashamed of such a recoril, but, there, what can you do with these irrepressible boys?
A peal of Sledman Triples wns rung it St. Michael Coslany, Nutwieh, on Derember 6th, 1731. Six weeks before, there had heen a peal of Stedman rung at Mancroft, and it led to a great deal of feeling between the rival bands. The St. Mickael's hand claimed that theirs was 'the first time that ever it was rung, thus casting doubis on the Mancroft peal.
According to contemporary records, before the parl at St. Michatl's was begun, the Mancroft company employed a bellman to 'cry about the streets the following scavdalous verses':-

This is to give notice to all sorts of people,
That the ringers that praclise at St. Michael's steeple,
Have crazed their brains by setting forth false pretences,
That it is to be feared they have quite last their senses.
Therefore let 'om repair to John Foster's, and 'tis plain
There's those that can help them to their senses again.
The ' five oncs ' 11,111 ) of Stedman Caters was rung at Fulham on December \(84 \mathrm{~h}, 1883\).
It was at Painswick on December, 1833, that the 10,224 of 'Trethles Bob Maximus was rung, which stond as the longest in the method until the Ashton-under-Lyne peal in 1911.
The first peal on the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral was rung our December 10th, 1881 . Mr. Ted Horvex was the last survivar of Ihat band.
In the two hundred and more years that have elapsed since the first peai on record, there have not been many peals of 'Real Double Caters,' but George Gross nomposed one and conducled it at St. Magmus, London Bridge, on Deember 10th, 1770-just 160 years ago next Wedncsilay.
The peai at Ilkeston, recorded last week, was rung on Wednestar, November 19th, yot Thurslay, the 20th, as reported.
On St. Cecilia's Day, November 22nd, the bells of St. Pnul's Cathedral were rung from 3 to 4 p.m. The ringing took place at ilic instigation of Mr. E. Alexander Young (secretary of the Contral Cauncil), prior to a sersice for the musical fraternity, whose patron saint is St. Cecilia.

The marriage took place on Saturday, at St. Mary's Church, Cadogan Gardens, London, of Mr. Cyril Frederick Johnston (head of the firm of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of the Croydon Bell Foundry, and son of the late Mr. A. A. Johnston and of Mrs. Johnston, of Broadwater, Addiscombe Road, Croydon), and Miss Mary Evelyn O'Leary, daughter of Mr, and Mrs. C. Evelyn O'Leary; of Sydney House, Bedford Park, London.

From lis inlimate connection with the hell work, Mr. Cyrir F. Johnston is widely known to ringers all over the country. The work which his firm has done in hundreds of belfries has brought hina into personal contact with members of the Exercise in every cormer of England and beyoud, mind Saturday's event is, thercfore, one of unusual interest to a very large circle of yinging friends.

There was a picturesque setting for the wedding ceremony at st. Mary's, the churel being decorated with lijies fund pink and white chrysanlbemums. Miss O'Leary mate a charmitg zuide in a dress of parchment satin, with a train of old Brussels lace and tulle veil. She carried a slueaf of lilies. The hridesmaid was Miss Nannette O'Leary (sister'), who more a dress of twrquose blac georgette, and carried a bouquet of deep pink roses. The small train bearers, Master John Nomman (nephew of tho bride) and Miss Xevia Gox, were attired in parelment satim. The bride's mother wore a dress of wine satin, with black hat and fur coat. Mrs. Johnston was fowned in blue velvot and georgette, with a loque to mateh; while Miss Nora Johnston wore a drest of red gcorgette trimmed with baige fur.

The bridai parts was met ai the entrance to the claurch by the officiating elergyman (ihe Res. C. E. Sutton) and the choir, and lle bude advaneed up the aisle leaning on the arm of her uncie, Mr. H. O. Serpell, J.E., who, owing to the jlluess of ber father, geve the briad away. Mr. Highmare King, son of the late Sir George King, was the hest man. The acrvice was fally choral, Hud was attendrad by a large gathering of friends of both fanilies and by many menabets of the Croydon Foundry slaff.

Thfortumately fhero is no peal of bolts at St. Mary's, Cadugam Gardens, and it was impossitile, therefore, at this charch to give iln happy pair ile costonary ringems salute upon their marriage, hon arrangomenfs were made for tinging at 忽t. Luke's Clurein, Chelses, in honour of the cocasian, and the britle and britogroom, on the why to the reception, drove to \(S\). Lake's and listened for a shorl whilo to the wadding helis.

\section*{A. CHIME OF TWELVE BELLS.}

\section*{ADDITION TO A SURREX CHURCH}
1) Weducsday of last week, the Jishay of Guikforid dedicated a dhime of Iwelve bells and thew clock at the Parish Clurch of St. WhLer, Firmley, Surrey. The bells, which consist of ten in the diatonic cale and two half notes, hare a teuni of 123 crit., and liste heens cast and installed by Messts. Taylor and Co., of Loughlurough. There was formerly in this tower oac bell, a recast in 1872 of a hefl hy Bryan Eldridge, of Chertsey, dated 1651. The tower is of small dimensions, and is tro frail to carry a peal bung for ringjug, but by the gencrous gift of Camline Larinia Johnsan, as a lhankotering, Frimlog is in possession of a clelightful chime.
Duspite a drenching evening, the spacious chuch was filled for the supict, and many of the congregation lingered afterwards to hear He recilal on the hells given by Mr. Harry Wirhers, of Birmingham, Whe, immediately after the dedicatory nresers, played the hymn, 'the lowe the place, O God.' Subsequently lis recital included a pertectly tapped course of Erin Caters, a sclection of lymn tunes, and Welah, [rish, Scotch'and English molodies, in which he brought sull, all tho benuties of the chime. The lange andionce was delighted, hofli with the excellence of the pluying, apon which Mr. Withers aflerwards received many congratulations, ami the beautiful tones af' the betls, which ane typically fine specimens of Loughborough work. \section*{THE LONGEST PEAL ON FIVE BELLS.}

\section*{To the Editor}

Sir,-Replying to 'Extremes' ' query regarding the longest peal on five bells, my records stow that 7,080 Doubles were rung at Wrentham, Sulfolk, January 3rlk, 1824, in 4 hours. A greater length is recorded, lowever, on a tablet at Whaplode, Lincolnshire, thus:-

Feby. 27th, 1775,
Was rung 10,080 chauges of 84
Peals by Wm. Jackson, Richd. Harwood, Wm. Money, Stepn. Davis &
Richd. Pottenger. Raised & settlei tho
Bells in 7 hour's if 25 minutes."
Unfortunately therc is no mention of mothod or methods rung.
The longest peal on five bells in Leicestershiro or by the M.C.A. was 6,600 changes, rung at Billesdon, conducted by yours sincerelv, ERNEST MORRIS.

\section*{ROMNEY MARSF GUELD.}

\section*{MAYOR ELEGTED A MFMBER.}

In spite of the inclement weather, members from all parts of the district turned up at the meeting of the Romney Marsh Guild it Tenterden for a gull on this fine peal of bells, and, incidentally, to pass an opinion on Messrs. Bowell's work in rollanging the seventh. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. with a short touch of Stedman Triples, and was followed during the afternoon and evening by Grandsire, Superlative, Kent, Oxford, Cambridge and Double Norwich, with rounds for the learaces. The Vicar and two churchwardens paid an early wisit to the belfry. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar, who gave an address. Mr. W. E. Pitman, Mus.Bac., presided at the organ. Tho ringers then adjourned to the Temperance Hotel for toa. The Vicar presided, supported by ihe two wardens, the Guild Master (Mr. C. W. Everett), and the hon. secretary (Mr. A. J. Batten), the company numbering 38. The Yiear also took the chair at the business meeting which followed, when Charing was chosen for the next meeting on December 20th. The Master proposed the election of the Rev. M. L. Man as an hon- member, andr in thanking the members, the Vichr expressed his pleasure al meeting and welcoming so mauy churchworkers to Tcnterden. He assured them that tho cicrgy really did appreciate the time and energy thep gave to the church.
The Hon. Secretary then proposed that the two clurchwardens be clected hon. members, and said he felt sure the Guild would be pleased to have ihem, especially as the Vicar's warden, Col. Findlator, was now Mayor of Tenterden. He conlit assure them from a ringer's point of view thoy were ideal wardens. Fe (the speaker\} happened to be secretary of the local band, and lately they seemed to want a good deal in the belfiry, but their wardens never made any trouble of it. It was, 'Ol yes, certainly, and they got on with the job (applause).-Mr. C. Ballard seconded, and the elections were carried with acelamation.
It-Col. Findlator thanked the members for the great honour they had done him, and said, although he flid not understand their art, he loved to hear the bells, and he was very pleased to be amony them and to associate himself with their work. He also welcomed them to Tenterden.-Mr. Hippesly Smith elso briefly replied.
A vote of thanks to Mr. Piman laving been accorded, the Vicnv, in concluding the meeting, said he was sure they would all like jim to express their pleasure at being able to mect under the roof of their oldest ringer, Mr, G. Cramp, and than" appreciation of the splendid way Mrs. Cramp had eatered for them.
A retura was then made to the tower until 8.30 p.m. All who hat previously experienced the bad 'go' of the 7th were satislied that Miessr's. §owell had completed another successful job.

\section*{A YOUNG CORNISH RINGER.'}

Ai Kenwzn Parish Church, Truro, on Friday, Navember 28th, in 48 minutes, a quarter-peal of Grandsive Triples: Gyril Lanxon (aged 2, first quarter-peal on eight) 1, J. Sedgley 2, W. E. Minors 3, Mies E. I. C. Angwin 4, A. M. Thomas 5, A. S. Roberts (conductor) 6, F. W. Marshall 7. F. Williams 8. The treble ringer is the youngest to ring a quarter-peal in Cornwall. All are members of the Truro Cathedral band, except the ringer of the fffth, who is the son of the Vicar of Keuwyn, this being his first quarter-peal of Triples "inside." The touch was a compliment to a nephew of the fourth Einger on his birthday.

\section*{THE PAINSWICK PEAL}

\section*{To the Eattor.}

Dear Sir,-The Maximus peal at Asbton-under-Lyua and the Cinques peal at Painswick las disturbed the minds of a few. The Central Council will uot recognise peals rung on seven, nine or eleven beils only. Boing odd-bell methods, the Council will recognise them when an addilional bell is added as a covering bell, and therefore they come under the heading of 8,10 or 12 bell peals, and twelve belis were necessary at Painswick. Those who rang at Astr-ton-lander-Lymo slould be satisten with their peal of Maximus, and llose at Painswick with their peal of Cinques. I agree with Mr. Ernest Morris thet ringers should know the difference between Cinques and Maximus, and the bands of each record be content with cnol performance.
Mr. A. E. Reeres las been described in these pages as "a levelheaded' ringer, or words to this effect, and 1 agree, but I cannot conceivg that his letter is his own considered thoughts,
After the Pajnswick peal, I anticipated a letter to "The Ringing World 'from Mr'. C. T. Coles, and in this he dic not disappoint.Yeurs faithfully,

ARTHUR PRINCE.

\section*{RECORDS ARE 'CEANGE RINGING" RECORDS.}

Dear Sir, My renson in asking the question, Can an 18,000 of 31 inor, with \(6-8\) or \(7-8\) covering, be called an eight-hell record? was this: Now and again peals of Doubles are rung with 4 -6-8 covering. I admit eight bells are not essential far a peal of Minor, neither are three coveriag bells to a peal of Doubles. And peals of Doubles ring llus are recognised by their associations, and also published as cight-bell peals. But I quite agree with your opinion, \({ }^{\text {a }}\) Certainly nol.' If a banti were successful in ringing such a peal as \(I\) described, if sould certainly mat be recognised, and probably laugled at, but the fact remains that it would be a six-bell recork, as all the Minor changes could only be rung by six heils. And that is my point in regard to the Painswick peal. Our records ave records of change ringing, and as the change ringing at Painswick was clone on eleven hells, my opinion is that it is the cleven-bell record. With regard to Mr. Morris' letter, 'Why Worry? I don't think there is any reason a worry muel. All we are lrying to get at is this: Is the Painswick peat the twelre-hell record? - Yours faithfully,
A. T. REEVES.

Bristol.
HOW JONG COELD "RE TENOR MAN HAVE CONTINTED? Sir,-I, in common with all other twelve-bell ringers, have been mond joterested in the correspondence, and your excellent \({ }^{\text {s }}\) leader, together with the circumstances generally, that have appeared in font valuable prper since the suecess of the recora peal of Grandsir Cinques at Painawiok recently. Technically, it was, of courge, an odd-bell method on an even number of bells, the tenor finishing erch successive change, withoat which it would hape been impossible o hawe attancil it. The performance has been duly recorded in your paper under the usual heading of 'Twelve-boll peals, which Infinition has obtaiued without question for many ycars. There are no entries for 9,7 or 5 bell peals.
Now, as we all presume, and it goes without saying, that a tablet will he placal in the ringing chanher recording the performance, I tave at olrong presentintent that it is extremely unlikely they wil] anit the mame of the tenor man, therefore it certainly becomes a twelve-bell peal. At the same time, we, as yimgers, know that there is ino comparison, from the scientine point of view, between the Cammetge Maximus and the Grandsire Cinques.
By the way, speaking of the "tenor man, everyone, of caurse, chows lim-nut to know Jim Gearge is lo arguc one's self unknownnut 1 have enjoyed the privilege of his personal acquaintance for marly tifty yents. We are all filly awace of the wonderful ability of this genial pertsonality, his onthusiosm and marvellous "staying' powerg: nothing seems to 'knock him up' I have lad the pleasure ol' taking parte in many performances in which lie lias astonished the hand by his 'treah' condition at the finish. I can recall some wonderful insbances such as the big hell at Jow far Troble Twelve In, The tenor bell at Worcester Cathodml (surely one of the greatest performances), and many obhers too mummous to mention.

As the peal at Painswiok occupied ovel \(11 \frac{1}{2}\) hours, it now oecturs fo mo that it woult be a matter of very great interesit to the ringing Exercise generally to be furnished with a reasonabla estimate ns ta actually how lourg' Sir' James could have rong the beil on this obeasionz, and 'as the oulooker sees most of the game, I respectfully surgest Eliat all lise band formish their own idea on the subject to aut estemed friend, Mr: Atbert Wright-the ablé and capable contlactor, who will Iransmit the result to yon for tha bencfit of each and every' of 133 , whe will gladly take off our lants to this wonderful and purgetic ata? man, who has the audacity to appear only half the age he actuaily is !-Fiours, etic.

Ehthaifat and enterprise made a huge buccesg of the venture Hnderlaken by the Axbridge Deanery of the Bath and Wella Dio－ cesan Association，when，at Weston－super－Mare，they organised a dinner fund social．Tlie company numbered nearly 200，and they spent athoroughly enjuyable evening，thanks in large measure to thet efforts of the hon．secretary，Mr．L．G．Tanner．Dinner was served al the Cairn Fiatel，and the company，which was presided over by．Ise Rev．J．S．C．Lacke，Master of the Association，included ringers from We：tom－super－Mare，Burnham－an－Sea，Brisiol，Bath， London，Uplail，Kewstoke，Babwell，Cheddar，Congresbury，Bleadon， Lampsham，East Breat，Brent Knoll，West Pemuard，Compton Mar－ titn，Churchill，Shiplam，Compton Bishop and Chew Magas．

After the loyal loast had heen honoured，the Rev．J．H．H．Door－ bar（Kowstake）proposed that of＂The Axbridge Deannty，＂He said lie lloment the branels was second to gone in the Archdeaconry of Wells and in the diocese（hear，hear）．It owed its excellent position to the extraordinary list of very eminent presidents－he bappened In lip ane of them（laughter）．The excelleat pasition of the branch was also due to the extraarlinarily energetic secretary．They must fimil that the very fact they had met togelher was due to that lump of laman energy known as Len＇lanner（applanse）．Fis work as socretary was known to all ringers，Mr．Tanner thought that the ringers should get＇ailed＇at least once a year（laughter）．He ob－ jected to their getting oiled at any other time，especially when they were ringing ！Thonight he bas tried to oil i，he bearings of our frimolships，＇the 日年oaker continued，＇to marshal us as a unit；to darch us that we are patt of a great organisation；and to get a little oil into our wheels so that the comradeship and good feeling which ouglat to exist unong ringers shall be cemented at least once a year．＂ Jhin ringers represented a very important piece of church work，he nulded．He was told there was a preparation used on a rery large seale by ruval，urban and municipal authorities，which was supposed i．o kemp Council houses together－tiey wated it！（laughter）．He was toln it would meod leaks in roofs，stop floor－boards fron dis－ solving parinershij，stop shuting from leaking，and if freely applied watd doable ble life of a Council house－a very necessary thing in－ ficel．He was told on the best authority that the people who used flat stuff called it＇bunkime＇（atughbert．Mr．Tanner must know something mbout that skaff！Some people might be ringing the changes，bub ringers would stick to change．ringing，and they hoped Itse branch would grow．The ringers net together to call people to prayer and worship；to send happy couples along their happy voyage of life：and to close the cloor behind the departod with a rouffed peal．Ringers had vory important duties indeed．He saw fron the Diomenn Gitzetto＇that the Axhridge Deanery was very well off in the matier of towers wibl six and oight bells，and if the Axhridge Deruery was hol second to none in the archteanery and in the rio－ cese，it was the ringers＇own finult．＇They liad a wonderful supply of towers with sis bells，farl connting the tubular bells at Hewish－ （laughter）－there were five towers with eight bells．
Responding，Lto President（the Rev．L．T．Powys David）remarked Hoat lie was 10 bollinger．＇Ask some of the Bleadon boys，＇he sajed amid laughtor．＇I get the bell a little bit too much over，and I have to work as hard as I can to keep up witls the rest，and the whole thing rands up in a erasin．Thime，perkaps，will mend atl that． I alti trld thal if \(I\) come to the practices I will make guite a good ringer in time．His experience as president duting the past year liad taught him that［or rabl entlusiasm in bellringing the members of the Axbridge Deanery Branch would take a lot of heating（hear， henti）．They rolled tup in large number at all flie meetings，and they wern always enthusiustic gatherings．

The Presiclent also submitted＂The Visitors，＇saying he was pleased to know that there were so many guests from places as far away as Bristol and Batly．That gathering was the first of its kind in their Deanery，but they were living in fopes that it would not he the last by a long way：thad they wauld meet together for equally pleasur－ able gatherings for many more years．The success of such a venture is that depended to \(a\) large extent upon the number of visitors they land．They looked to the visitars for mropaganda．They wated to stimulate intereat and keenness for bellinging everywhere．They wneted wives and sweethearts to stiv up their men－folk to come along aud lindp．

THE 184 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 84 Bells, about to be installed at Riverside Cedrce, New Yorr, U.S.A

What is the best way to teach the art of change ringing to beginners, so that the study may be made ithteresting and the instructor get the best results? That is a question which must often have occurred to many ringers, and where answers have been found they must have been of vastly differing nature. The tuition of young ringers differs enormously in type, from the variety which consists of a vague verbal explanation, supplemented perhaps by imaginary fgures drawn on the palm of one hand by the forefinger of the other, to a carefully detailed exposition by means of text books, figures and diagrams, both of which-and all the degrees in between - lead directly, as a rule, to putting a beginner, at the end of a rope and endeavouring to show him the way through what is, to him, a maze. Untess the teacher is gifted and the pupil receptive, it is a slow and cumbersome arrangement, generally speaking, and all too frequently the learner gets tired and 'gives it up.' A great deal, of course, depends upon the intelligence of the pupil ; but a great deal more depends upon the ability of the instructor. A man who is a good ringer is not necessarify a good teacher; even if he possesses the important qualiuies of patience and tact, the has not always got the gift to impart knowledge. If the best use is to be made of the material which comes into the belfry-and in these days it is difficult enough to obtain-more instructors who can really teach are needed. The text books that we have for beginners are, for the most parl, excellent in their way. They are much more effectual in their purpose, however, when supplemented by intelligentexplanation, but this is not always available. The rough and ready methods of teaching which are all that many ringers can hope to give to pupils and which, let it be said, hatve formed the groundwork upon which many exponents of the art have built up great skill and ability, are not, however, the limits with which the Exercise ought to be content to-day. In this respect we have lagged much behind many other pursuits. There might very well be a text book prepared for the use of teachers, giving hints upon the best way of training beginners and elaborating some of the essential details which should be passed on by way of explanation to pupils; courses of instruction organised, and ultimately, if the system were efficiently worked out, it might be possible to lave examinations, so that those who emerged successfuliy would be recognised as fully qualified instructors and would hold a diploma. Such an arrangement, indeed, would be almost certain to induce many more ringers to study seriously the best methods of instructing beginners, for it should (Continued on page 790.)

be counted an honour to hold a diploma, in the same way that teachers of other arts already do. Even if a beginning were nade almost imnediatcly this final step would be one for the future, but there seems no reason why the Central Council could not consider the question of providing a handloook for instructors and getting the associations to encourage its use among all those who find cast upon them the task of teaching beginners. There is scope for good work here.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World ' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about thern.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photograplis may be ready at fand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

Mr. Harold E. Symonds has had an unusual experience. He rang several peals of Miximus in various Sararise methods before scoring his first peal of Surprise Mujor, which he did at Grundisburgh on Saturday week.
A corresponclent asks what compositions can be used for a peal of Rutland Surprise Major. Will someone please oblige?

Tho Edwius have scored their first peal, when they brought round a peal of Bob Major at Crayford. The band included three generitions of the Barnett family, Edwins I., II. and III. Is this the hisi: peal of Major in which thren generations lave takon part?
A peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung at Cheddon Fizpainc, Somerset, on Friday, in witich three members of the local band towk part. 'They anly began scientific' ringing just over twelve monlls ago, and the peal was rung la mark their "admission year' to the Bath and Wells Association. At tho conclusion of the peal the Fitar, who is kecnly interested in the cloings of his vingers, and tho locnd Ringing Master extended to the ringers thalr congratulations, which were much appreciated.

Mrr, C. J. More's numerous friends in East Agglian ringing circlos will be glad to hear of his complete restoration to healut after serious jilness.
Mr. J. .T. Matrby, who has rung round about 150 peale in various methods up to London mind Buistol Surprise, rang his first peal of Minol last Geturday. There is always some new experience awating even tho best of ringers.
By the way, this peal, rung ali Wollaston, was the first by the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, containing faur Surprise methonk. Wells and York Surprise liarl not been rung before in a peal by the Guild.
Farl Shilton Parish Church handbell ringers are to broadcast frarn the Birminglam Studio dusing the enijdren's lour, 5.15 n.m., on Drcember 3lst. The ringers are Messra. E. V. Chesterton, P. Coe, W. H. Sturgess and (7. A. Newton. The ringers are members of the Midand Counties Agsociation, and belong to the Earl Shilton hand, Mr. Newton being Ringing Master.

Peal hoards recording menorial peals rung at St. Patrick's CalheAral, Dublin, one on February 19th, 1916, in memary of Viscountens Jraggh, and the other on Octohar \(24 t h_{1}\) 1927, in membry of tine Farl of Iveagl, were to be anveilod yosterday at St. Patrick's beltiy, in the presence of the Earl of Iveagh and members of the family.
Messus. Taylor and Co., of Loughtarough, have issuet their calendar for 1931. Its interes is inereased by the illustrations of churches and towers in Great Hritrin and America, where work has been doue by the furm.
Mr. Harry Turrell, verger ftad boliringer of St. Gearge's Cinurch, West Grinstead, dind on Fridey. His death will be regretted by many Sussex ringers.
The tirst peal in South A frich was rung at Woodstock on December 15th, 1904.
Haleswrolts Church town will he reppened by the Arehdencen of Suftolk on Sunday next. Thre hells nere now back in the tower, but it will not be possible to ring much on them until the clock is linished at the end of Jumbry.

\section*{OVER SIXTY YEARS A RINGER.}

PEAL RINGING AT 79.
Mr. John Hnwrison, of Ashton-under-Lyne, who celebrated his 79th birthday by rimging the 7th at Hossley Parish Church to a peal of Kent Troble Toh Major, has been a finger far well over sixty years. His ringing caren began at Mriple, when ho was 16 years of age, and his interest in the art remains undiminished. He is one of the most respected Jancashire ringers, and is a life member of the Lancashire Association.
A native af Knutsford, Mr, Harrison wemt at an early ege to Marple, where his interest in ringing first devoloped, and he becume a menber of the larish Church band. Afterwards he lived at Now Mills, and first went to Asinton in 1876, where he became a member of the Parisj Church company, whel in those days rang their peals in the old tower. After five years in Ashton, Mr. Harrison spont another peried at New Mills, but le returned to Aslaton, where he joined the company at St. Peter"s Clurch, of which he remained a member for abont 45 years.

Mr. Harrison was one of the first band la ring the bella at Manchester Town Hall, and in 1906 took part in the 16,860 of Kent Treble Bobruag at Motleram.
A blacksmith by trade, Mr. Fartison has led a strenuous life, but is still remerkably fit for his years. He frequently walks from Ashton to Mossley to assist the band there on Snaduy evenings and at practiecs.

\section*{RETIREMENT OF MR. J. W. JONES.}

RAILWAY PRESENTATION TO SEGRFTARY OF LLANDATT AND MONMOLTH ASSOCIATION.
Mr. Jolin W. Jones, the popular loor. secretary of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association, retired last Friday, on reaching his 65th birthday, from the service of the Great Western Railway as storekceper of the engineering department at Newport. He lad beed 47 yerrs with tite railwny compriny, and at an influential gathoring of members of the departmenial stafi Mr. Jones was presented with a wallet of Treasury notes by Mr. A. E. Madtiox, clief clerk of the engineering department, while Mis. Jones received a travelling case, tho gift being handed to her by Mr. G. W. Virgo, inspector of mechanies, on bchalf of his collemges. The gathering was presided over by Mr. A. W. Hollingdale, assistant divisional engineer, and tesbimony was paid to Mr. Jones' long service, the chaiman exprebsing regret at hig teparture, ard that the regulations preventen Jum from having the alvanhage of his experience and services any longer.
Mr. Jones is well-known to ringers in many parts of the country', and his genial presence is always waleone. He is leader of the ringers ght All Saints' Chnreh, Cardifi, has been seeretary of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association for 27 years, and is a representativa of tho asenciation on the Chotral Commeil.
But while ho has been an almost lifelong onthusinst for ringing; Mr. Jones has also heen a very kena ricketer, and for sevara? vears was un active player in the ranks of Nowport Athletic Olub. What is still more remarkable, perhaps, is the fact that for the past 45 years ho has not missed seeng the Australians in a Test match in Ex-zland.
During the 47 years he wrs with the G.W.R. Mr. Jones was never once nbsent from his daties on acwout of ill-health, which, he always axys, speaks wall for ringing as n means of keeping fit.
To celebrate lus retiroment and lis \(65 \mathrm{H}_{2}\) birthday, a peal of Grandsire Caters was athempted at St. Woolos', Newport, but was unforeunately lnst after \(2 \frac{1}{z}\) hours' ringing, owing to it missed bob. \section*{CROYDON RINGER'S DEATH,}

All who knew him will much regret to hear of the death of Mif: Joseph D. Talbot, of Croydon, who passed away on Moaday, Decensber 1st, at the age of 65 yeats. He will be greatly missed by his fellow-ringers at St. John-the-Haptist's Church, Croydon, where Ise hat heen a member of the band for 42 years, most regular in his attendances on Sundays and practice nights, and a very sure ringer int the methods be knew. He was always pleased to see tho younger ringers making progress, and, although he did not ring them binself, He never stood in the way of those who wanted to practise the higher methods.
Mr. Tralbot was not a great peal ringer, laving rung 11 peals for the Surrey Association, and only a few outside this association.
The funeral took place on 'llursday, Decentber 4th, at St. Johs's, C'roydon, the bells being rung fully-muffed for the service.

A plain conrse of Grandsire Triples was rung on landbells over the grave al. the cemetery by four of his fellow-ringera as al last token of respect for one who was greatly respected by all who knew him.

The weight of tho tenor is 28 cwt ! Further ringing aiterwards took place until \(9 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\).

\section*{RINGING FOR SERVICE.}

\section*{To the Edifor.}

Dear Sir,-Mr. Lloyd, in your issue of November 21 st, seems to be upset about something, and goes so far as to say he attends regularly on Sumdays. It is quite likely, from the tone of his letter, that he knows something of the identity of 'Ghurch Servico Ringer, who wrote such a clarming little note turder a nona de plume. Accardiing to his letter, the one man rofercent to, even lind he stayed in Doncaster, would not have made it possible for all eight bells to be rung, and therefore the is condenning the one and apologising for eleven. Rather consistent, don'L you think? As for saying lhat I do mok like to hear six bells cung at iny own place, Mr. Lloyd is wrong. l fo like to hear six, almost ns well as I like eight, fad more so whent thnse six are rung well, and there is only the possibility of poor eight-bell ringing, although I will grant that, whert there are eight bells, all eight should he rung if possihle wh Sianday of all days. Incidentally, no mention was nade of the three towers short handed. Yours Inilafally,

\section*{E. COOPER.}

Sir, Mr, Cawser wrote in pour essue of Novemher 28th ihat Tiekhill Las done more than any lower to further change ringing around Doncaster'. I ask him one question, 'Who built up ilie Doncaster and District Sociely, and what tower did that ringer belong to? I have always been a wiling hand to help any learner, many of whom Mr. Cawser knows nothing about. I do not look for honours by wher's' labours, if that is what Mr. Cawser means.
I repsat the question asked in the first letter: What honours are gained in ringing blese quarter-peals, when mixed bands leave their own towers shont-handed on Sumday?
On page 767 of "The Ringing World of November 28th is recorded the passing away of one who leaves an example for us all to follow, and I take off my hat to bim. Yours truly
W. LLOYD

\section*{WHAT IS A 'TWELVE BELL' PEAL?}

In the discussion on the subject of the 'twelve-bell record,' Mr. C. T. Cutes . ked the question: If the Painswick peal was the twelve-bell record, where is the eleven-bell record? Up to the piesent there has been oo reply to the inquiry, but if Mi. Coles looks to us for an answer we are inclined to say that, if there is an elevenbell record, it was rung at Painswick. But is there an eleven-bell record? We do not think that, strictly, there is. There is, of course, a Cinques record, but no peal of Cinques has been rung with the use of eleven bells only. The whole question seems to us to turn on what definition is to be applied to the expression 'a twelve-bell peal.' Mr. Coles has referred to the Central Council's definition for a peal on eleven bells, which says that it shall consist of not less than 5,000 true changes rung without interval, with the addition of a covering bell. This is just the kind of point about which lawyers would delight to argue, but the mere fact that the Council stipulate that, in addition to the eleven bells, there shall be: a covering bell, puts it, in our humble opinion, at once into the category of a twelve-bell peal, and the deduction appears therefore to be that there is no actual 'elevenbell ' record. It seems to us that there is still a certain amount of confusion of thought in regard to our use of the terna 'twelve-bell peal.' As we have previously pointed out, a 'twelve-bell peal' is not, in our view, necessarily a peal in a twelve-bell method, but the term broadly covers any peal it which the use of twelve bells is essential to comply with the general practice and with the conditions laid down.

The discussion which has taken place, has, of course, ranged round the description applied to the Painswick peal in the columns of 'The Ringing Worid.' With a nicer discrimination, no doubt, the Central Council, in their official records, will ignore the number of bells used and place the particulars of the perfornance among peals of Cinques, and, even perhaps, in the still closer division of Grandsire, so that no one will have cause for complaint, because Maxinus will be in a compartment by itself with nothing to overshadow that truly great performance at Ashton-under-Lyne. And so honour will be satisfied all round and the generalisation of 'The Ringing World ' will be forgotten. All the same we have a notion that-assuming existing records remain unbroken - when future ringers inquire what was the longest length rung on twelve bells they will be told that the twelve-bell record was made at Painswick. But in any case the Exercise acknowledges that both the Ashton-under-Lyne and the Painswick peals were gigantic performances, and in their respective categories merit all the honour which accrues to those who took part in them.

\section*{PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR} PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World, will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

It is proposed to hold a police ringers' meoting at Leciestery on Saturday, January 24h. All policmon-bellingers are eaynostly iuvited to attend. Will those interested please comennicute with Harold J. Poole, 326, Narborough Road, Leicester \({ }^{\text {P }}\)
In connection with the cffort to raise funds for the restorution of Bow Church, for which the bells ale the 'stalking horse, gramuphone reproductions of tha bells are to be given from the thelloy. Bow bells have been silent for something like five years, and wie of the last peals rung on thens wns tist magnifient performance of 7,392 Canabridge Surprise Maximus by tho Middcsex Associabien un December 19th, 1925.
At Christ Church, Spitalields, which lost its twelve bells in a dlinastrous fire about 90 years ago, a peal of 6,334 Stedman Ciuques wns rung on December 201h, 1806.
The first peal on lice bells at lekleton, Cambs, by a local hand whs rung on Saturday, December 1313, with the bells muffled, as it Loken of respect to the late Mr. W. Brand, who died at the age of 89, and land been a nacmber of the Iekleton Sociely for several years. The funcral took place on the 11th inst. All the band that look part in the peal are regular servie ringers, and it was their firsto attempt as a local company. The achievement must be a grent gratification to Mr. l'ercy Wobh, who has rendered such long nad faithrul service to ringing at Iekleton.
The second of a series of 'Eenry Flls.' peals was accomplished on Saturday last at froring-on-Thames.
Her many friends will be pleased to see the unme of Miss H. F. M ills in the peal columns again after the serious uccident which bofell her just over two pers ago whilst on hohiday in Ireland.
Thanks to the initiative of Mr. Alreed F. Pulling, the Guidford Diocesan Guild has recently been ereclitech with the first peals of three Surprise Major methods, the dast of the trio laturg been Reverso Dublin rung at Fwell on Saturday. The others were Donble Dublin and Surrey. It is intersting to note that Mr. Goorge Wilson, one of the band, took patt in the 'first ever' of Dublin (rang at Leiston), Double Diblin and Reverse Dublius. He has yet to ring a peal of Grandsire Triples!

\section*{FATAL GUN ACCIDENT TO RINGER'S SON.}

Tho many friencls of M1, Maurice \(\mathrm{F}^{2}\). R. Fibbert, 21, Melbonne Road, Busley, will regret, to learn of a tragic accident which befell his eddest boy, Leonath, who was ten years af age. The lad hat a half-holiday from school on Fuiday and went, as loo often did on such occasions, to pass the lime on Tyler"s Farm, near his home, essisting a neighbour. The farmer's brother, who was on a visil to the farm, left a gun, laaded and cocked, against a building. A young employe, not thinking the gun was loaded, aimed al Leomard and pulled the trigger. The gun went off. and the charge sinattored Leonard's shoulder and perforated his lungs. Ho dicd as a resulf of his injuries six tours luter. The sympathy of all ringers will ga out to Mr. and Mre. Hibbert in thuir sud loss.

\section*{STOW ON \({ }^{-1}\) THE=WOLD, GLOUCESTERSHIRE.}

Stow-on-the-Wold, where a peal of Bob Major was aung on November 26 th, is a small but old-fashioned North Cotswold town, situated on a hill which is 800 feet above sea level, and when in winter time a "Nor" Easter ", is blowing the oll-time riyme certainly comes true, viz., "Stow-on-the-Wold, where the wind blows cold." The church stands nearly in the centre of the town, and the tower is a landmark for miles around.

Guiffin, of Burtan-on-Trent, showed me in three seconds what a treble bobl lanu was by mexely striding neross the feor, and no doulut countess litule devices of this nature can be, fad are, ased regularly.

We spend much time at our meatings in lelting one another what fine fellows we are. We have chairanen who appear to love to hear themselves speak, sometimes on tulally irrelevant mathers. We have the grouser and the earnest enmuiver who boih waste time. Wouldr't it be muth more useful if ane tingel who knew what ho was falking about guve a shart dipgertation on wac prilicular mspect of ringing? A discussion could follow. If I remenaher reblly, Mr. W. A. Cave gave a paper on the 'In and out of course of cirnges' to a meeting in isristol some years ago, and at fhe time it stuck me as being the most useful thing I lind heard of leeing atienmpted in ringing. Here we lave tioe casiest thing in the world to undersland, but few ringers kuow anytuing about it, or about its practical application.
Yes, sir, theve is a erying need for adiequate inturaction, and it is up to associabions to provide it, but there can be no land and fast rules.-Yours turly,

\section*{THE INSTRUCTION OF RINGERS.}

QUALIFICATIONS AND DRAWBACKS.
To the Editor.
Dear Sir,-Che leading article in your issue of the 124 l jnst. challs ableation la a real difieblty. For years I hare considered this nintion, and lave renched the cocchasion tant it would be next to impossihte to draw up a schene of instruction whelt would meet the needs of everyole.
What are tho nttributes of a grood rioger? & will put thom in ovder of importance as I consider then, Ho inust possess:
(1) Ability to handle tho bell.
(2) Broml vision, as opposed to 'tunnel' vision,
(3) Sense of myiblins.
(4) A prir of ente-
(5) A fair funntity of intelligence.

If he lins them all, he becomes ane of 'the top liners,' but fow ringers have limern all.
'lto deal witli these requirements separately, the first is a sine gun non, and is not impossible of altaimment. Correct movement of the hands and borijy shond be insisted on. Nine-tentha of country risgers fold the tail end of the rope wongly, and at fenst ont-liilts of them moper by athy ohnnee at the hand stroko tuise theit band Hiwve fte level of the ehin. Clange ringing shonald neper he 11 tempted matil rounds ean he rung property, und before the lammor with a tiod elapper lans practised eutting and looding, slaw blows und quick blaws. By n judicions use of laese methods in tho early slages, fine leamer is put well on the way to change ziuging. It follows, binen, that the initial instruction must not be relegated to any one of the hand, hat rather to the man who lamalles his bell will precision ame easu, prats it where he wants it, and makes it stay pol when lie wants it to sfay put. Progress is somewhal slow and when disheartening, and lenmers ne liablo at this stage to gixe nh, puth this is quite a good thing. Farly on, the lemmen who laces gril is weeded ond, thus suving the time of many good men later on.

The ringer who hacks qualiby (2) is, I beleve, a menily bopeless chse. Fis wisual nugle is very small, dine to a cortain plysical eorndition, minf he sees mily the rope at which he is looking at thos moment. Thle anly thing you unt do is la pul, fitas on a cormes boht Deart Sir,-As a general rule it is perhaps as well to jguore anonymous letter", but that sigued 'A Hamble tinger' unlls for a reply, I have cartimlly avoided saying anythiug that could give rise to sugmastions of eritioism or jealousy; indecd, I know of nothing in the Painswick peal to criticise or to be jealous of, Your leading article of November 2lst trulhfully states that the Ashton and Painswick peals arc not in the same calegory, and that no question of comparison of the performances arises. If your comespondent cannot understand that, be must be humble in intellect as well as humble it ringing. And what right has he to lalk about the spinit of brotherhood, and acting like sportsmen, when lie is so humble in decent manners as to do so without letting us know who he is?

I agree with Mr. Prince that ringers should know the difference between Cingtes and Maximas, and as Cinques las been definitely classed by the Gentral Council as being changes on eleven bells, I fail to see why Mr. Prince's Paunwick friends desoribe their peal as containing the greatest number of changes on twelve bells. Mr. Prince evidently thought there was something to write about, of why should Lo bavo anticipated a letter from me?
With the exception of Mr. A. E. Reeves, your several correspondents lave cavefully iguored the Council"s delinitions of eleven nurl twelre-bel! peals, and liave simply thrown in vague generalities, enlogies of the benor man, and oliher matiens quite beside the point. i lave flready quoted the definitions twien, and there is no need to repeat thetry, but until they are proved to cover the Eainswick ringers datm, I see no veason to alter anything I lave alvearly writien.

Whether rour colrespondents who think this is a point not worth worring ahout aro right ot mot is a matter of opinion, but it seemed of sulficient importance for you, Mr. Editor, Lo write u leading article on the mabier, in which you said that the question was ane for serious consideration.
whilst on tine subject of decisions of the Council in relation to recoud peals. I would point out that clatse three is in connection with the camposition. "indis slantd latwe beon semb, sealed, to the secreLary of the association for whom the pad was zung, prior to the athempl, and on the peal being rung should have been forwarded to 'I'he Ringing World' far pablication immediabig. Is it not about tine the figares were publisined?
Fo conclusion, and to satisfy another of your anowymous correspondents, I may say that I am writing outirely for nysolf in this ru&ter. Furher, if this comespondenf will read my previous letters again, he will see that I raiseal un ahjuchion to you baring changed your opiniar: but I consider that I have u perfect right to poind out thul you did so. If not, why not? I might yet change my mind on this subject, but not until I get a reply which intelligently meets the point at jssue, and does not contain vague and unfounded suggestions of baci fealing and jealousy. - Yours faithfutly

\section*{A LEAD BY "CHE TVINGING WORLD.}

Drat Sil, More ink has already been spillert in the controversy re the 'twotye-bell record' at Painswick tlan is either necessary ar fiesirathle. Most practicnl ringers are, \(1 /\) think, agreed on that, parficuatrly in riew of the admmably brief and lacid comment by Mr Eirneth Morris.

However, since what has happened onea may lappon again, would it re scom desirable to serap the rablier amhiguous plage, 'twelreThis, of course, should apply right down the scale frome Maxibus to Donbles. Surely a boun-fide record peal is worthy of correct descripion, no mater what the number of bells may be.
And liore. sir is a suggestion as to low you may forwari that end minsiderably. I' confess to no tembieal kunwledge of printing, but would it not bo possible, wher printing the weekly peal reports, to sub-divide thern under the headings Maximus, Cinrues, Royal, Caters, Major, Triples, Miner and Doubles, and omit altogether any peal laving note than one hell covering Denr Sir, There must be many thousands of peals in existence applicable to this method.

Ary peal of Loadon Surprise will be true for Rurland, and Rutland liefing only one falge course-end, 24365, tenorg together, it is possible to produce far better peals for Rutand than for Loadon, the latter luaving three falso course-ends.

Hare are three peals of different lengths. I do not claim tham to be original, probably they are not; but they are evidence of the fact that compostion of peals of Rubland is a verg simple matter, and ilan only thing to bo apoided is the reversing of bells in 5.6 by courseonfls equivalent to 24365.-Youts faithfuly,

\section*{THE SCIENTIFIC SIDE OF RINGING}

The proportion of ringers who take up seriously a study of tive scientific side of ringing is comparatively small, and yet it is a deeply fascinating subject. 'the reasons why so few really enter this department may be many and various; in the case of the majority, perlaps, because they are not scientifically-minded and feel that they could not, without great labour, grasp the many important details which go to make up a successful understanding of the theoretical branch of our art. Others, and there are doubtless many, may have the ability, but not the time or inclination to take it: up. But whatever the cause, the number of ringers who have more than a superficial acquaintance with the principles underlying the science is insignificant. Many people have composed peals, because they have been able to put together a series of course ends, and, by the help of proof scales, say whether the peals are true. Yet what percentage of the composers could themselves have got out the proof scales? Moreover, some, even with the assistance of proof scales, have to rely entirely upon the process of trial and error-they have not the knowledge by which they can say beforehand whether any particular plan of construction will carry them to the end they have in view. Again, many of those who have groped more or less blindly in their efforts to "compose ' peals, have often had to waste many hours of work and reject many fruitless results, for reasons not obvious to themselves, except, merely, that their productions have been false. They have no acquaintance with and therefore no knowledge how to utifise to their advantage, that, to them, mysterious thing called ' \(Q\) sets.' And it is, we believe, because of the obstacles which they nieet and the disappointments whicti arise as a consequence that many ringers give up bothering their heads about anything except the practical application of the art in the belfry.

It is true that much of the necessary knowledge is hard to come by. The existing text books are not entirely easy to follow-their style is really too 'scientific ; the writers have not dealt with their subjects on what in these days are called 'popular' lines, so that they do not appeal to the mass of ringers. For instance, able and exhaustive as is the 'Investigation into the construction of peals of Stedman Triples ' by Sir Arthur Heywood and others in the volume on 'Stedman' in the Snowdon series, it requires not only long and close application to digest it, but its character is such that only the studiouslyminded are likely to proceed with it after sampling the first few chapters. To the carnest student, of course, treatises stict as this are invaluable, and, indeed, indis(Continued on page fre.)

pensable, but for the average ringer who desires to get below the surface without the boredom of an analytical study of microscopical details, the style of this kind of writing offers no attractions, although, for the purpose for which it is intended, the treatise mentioned is one of the cleverest pieces of work that has ever been pemmerl on a subject relating to ringing. But the ordinary ringer of to-day wants something which he can read without having to force his interest, something which he can understand without racking his brains too extensively, and something which will increase his knowledge of his favourite subject without boring him.

In this issue we begrin a series of articles by Mr. J. A. Troliope, who is-and we say it without flattery-one of the most lucid writers on ringing matters that the Exercise has ever known. He has a happy knack of pulting very plainly and simply for all to understand, things which have seemed to be complicated and abstruse. In this new series Mr. Trollope deals with a subject which is really of wide importance to ringers, especially to conductors and more particularly to composers, and it will be found that it has been written in a style which readers of all classes will be able to follow with interest, and, most of them, grasp with clarity: He covers the ground of 'Variation and Transposition,' on which many wordy' battles have been fought in the past, very widely, and we are quite sure that the articles will add not only to the knowledge of our readers, but to their better appreciation of the values and importance of developments both in method and peal construction.

OCIAVE NOW HUNG ON ONE LEVEL.
The bells at Haleswortb Parish Ghurch, Sufatk, have been restored by Mr. Alfred Howell, of Jpswieh, who has insialled a new massive cast-ifon frame, carricd on heary steel girders, and rehung the bells in special steel headstocks, so that the old camnons liave been retaincl. The bells are now all on onc level and have been provided with new fittings. The clock is being rebuilt, and Westminster chimes added. The bells were rededicated on Sunday week by the Archdeacon of Suffolk in the presence of a representative and crowded congregation of townspcople.

The service opened with the lyymu, 'We love the place, 0 God, sung as a processional. Prayers wore taken by the Rector, and the lesson read by the Archdeacon.
During the servioc Archdeacun Darling, accompanied by the Rector and the churchwardens, \(\mathrm{M}_{2}\). C. J. Goodwin and Admiral E. F. Breun, C.B., proceeded to the belfry, where he received the bell ropes from Mr. Goodwin. Having dedicated the bells, the Arehdeacon lanaled the ropes to the Rector. A touch was then rung, the ringers being: A. H. Took 1, L. Hammond 2, A. Lee 3, W. Pearce 4, C. Moss 5, 1. Howard 6, F. C. Lambert (conductor') 7, J. Jolly 8.

After the hymm, AJI people that on earth do dwell had been heartily sang, an intercsting address was delivered by Archdeacon Darling, who said il had given lim great pleasure to decept the invitation, to dedicate the bells. The bell founder and arebitect had contributed their skill, so that the bells were placed satisfactorily. Enfortunately this was not always so, and in many churches the want of care and foresight, which they had exhibited at Halesworth, had meant the loss of the bolls and damage to the church. His own chureh (Eyke), he saikl, was a striking example of how beils had been hadly used. At one time in the history of the church it was decided that two of the bells were not seeded, and the churchwardeas got rid of then to bity bead for the roof, and later the lead was sold to have slates on the roof. Another bell was wanted, and thore was no room for it on the frame. Ignorant of the stiess aut strain of the belles on the tower, often made of flint rubble, the frame was cut away and the local carpenter or blacksmith wedged the bill frame securely up against the wall, with the result that the tower eracked. Belle lad their message in times of joy and sorrow, and in the past bad been much used for parochial purposes. One of the Halesworth bells, added the preacher, had an imscription written on it, which was very are in this part of the country, many such bells having been lost during the time of the Reformation.

At the conclasion of the address, the Rector announced that the expense of rolianging the bells, ctc, wathla be about 8340 , of which they trad essi in hand. During the singing of the hyunh, Wher morning gilds the skies, a collection was laken for the fund amome ing to \(955^{\circ} 2 \mathrm{~s}, 1 \mathrm{~d}\).
AFter the scrvice a well-shack tonel of Bob Major was rung by the local hand with Messis. H. Barrell (Bungay) and G. Howlett (St. Margaret's). Ringers were also present from Chediston, Wissett, Fumingfiold, Bramicid (Mr. J. Punchard, aged 82), Peasenhall, Badingluam, Laxhetd, Redenhati, Somthwald, Aldeburgh and Ipswich. They took part in toucher in vations methods, and expressed their great satisfaction at the improved sone and 'go' of the bells. The tenor is 18 cwt. 261b.
Halesworth Church tower was compieted about, 1420. Belween 1446 and 1480 a peal of five bells from the foundry at Bury St. Edmunds was lung, and two still remain-the duble (now the foutrth), "Sance-Thoma-orn-pro-mobis,' and the old thind, now the sixth, with the legend, 'Jolanmes-Givisti-care-dignare-pro-mobis-orara.' Both bear the arms of the old abbeg of Rury-a crown with crossed arrowswiln the intime H.S.
In the certificate of 1553 . five hells and a sametus were mentioned, and in 1611 the oid fourth (now the seventh), which lad becomo erncked, was recast by one Willian Brent, a Norwich bell founder, and or it is tha inseription, Atho Dumini 1611. A.J3.-W.: The original bell frame was at this time taken out of the tower, laving become mucl worn and decaycd, and the Brends supplied the frame which rfiri duty for the five largest, and oldest bells up to the present westomican. 'In 1624 tho tenor bell was recast by William and John Brend, and bears the words ' new cepaired by Roger' Woods, Ernsmus. Moss, Churehwardens, Jeffery Barelt gave me. W.I. \(\bar{B}\). 1624. This Jeffery Barctt was born about 1365 , being described in it will of 1460 ns an old man.
In 1627 the present fifth bell, fotmerly the second, was alse recast by the same man, and its inscription reads: 'Riclard Welton and Daniel Barbe, churdswardens, Iulii \(1 J\) uly), 1627. W.J.B. In 1759 anoliner bell was reded, and in 1776 two lrebles to complele the oclave. The snnetus bell was reenst in 182G, and is now used for the etnek.
The ringers of Linese bells were firat mentioned in the will of Wm. Walpole, of Halliswarth, July 19th, 1539, in which he left 26s. 8d. for the priest, clerks, and ringors tor their "bred and drink." This. money, equivalent to 226 now, was investacd in a piece of land, and is now included with other charities, but the ringers still receive fro guineas a fear for ringing on Claristmas Day and the Sovereign's hirthday. Their records concerning the ringing in the tower date back to 1771.

\section*{QUEER STORY 'TOLLED' BY BELLS.}

Much bas been withen of ahe story of the bells-linat of Dick Whitington, for instanci-but few have been more queer than that Lolled" by the bells of St. Osmund's Churclz, London Road, Derby, oti Sumday week.

Ding, dong; ding, dong, they rang. There was nothing unusual uhont that. But when the inhathitants of the arco realised that the hotir was 8.30 p.th., the5 semsed a mystery.

Ding, dong; ding, donge, the bells rang. That was all they could say, litit, did the passers-by but know, what a lot they were sayieg. Here is the story of the bells of St. Osmund.
Afice cuensong, the organist and some of the congregation remained, unknown to the verger, to practice ennols in the organ loft, When the pracice was over they found to their amazement that they mak been locked in, and the only way of communicating with the - ntisicle world was by mean- of the hell's. A parishioner let them out when he went to investigate.

\section*{To the Editor.}

Sir, -'lue compositions mentioned by my old friend, Mr. F. W. Wilde, will produce the number of chames all right, but is this wholesale bobking by Befores in Rutland, or any olluw methon, quilo the thing?
The result is that five of the seven working bells are ringing the methorl, the tenors are ringing something diferens from the olluer five, and something different from each other.
This can casily be demonstrated by comparing the diagram of the plain course will diagrams af separate cobuses in which the tenors are always bobbed Before.
Symantry should he the great thing in change ringing, but there is hul much symmetry in the diagram of Bobbed Before Courser. Yous faithfully,

\section*{ILFRACOMBE BELLS}

FROM A ROYING CORRESPON1DENI.
Having heen away from Hfracombe for a few rears, aud, of course, now Javing heatd its bells for the samo period, I recently had n pleasant surprise. As all ringers who visil this 'Queen of watering places' know, Iffracombe Parish Churth is one of the very fow phaces in North Devon where the mysteries of our eraft hre practised, and, as can only ho expected, visiting ringen's were abtacled ta if; not su masy af them, however, would climb up to the church ta have a ring, as the bells were such a poor lot.
Tho church, as many know, las a remarkable situation, ocoupying. an emiucat position overlooking the sea on one hand, nud the towit ons the other's with the war memorial, in nicely laid-uth grounds, at the foot, and riugers, myself included, have often wished to hear is really line peal sound out from a tower with such a commandiag position. That wish has now materinlised
If was during a lecent hasty end brief visit, quite oblivious of the fact that any work to the bells was contemplated, hlat I had the plersunt surprise beforementioned.
When one las bean used to, and oxpects, \(a\) fow whe "pols and pans ' Lu work in conjunction with clocks, it comes as it bil of a surprise to hear clock chimes that possess a richness and digaity all of their own-it made one's pulse boat to thank liat they maght be clock bells mily. Happily, 1 diseoveren blis was not so, hut that tho bells of the Parish Chareh had lueen oasif into a fiery furnace, and onl of the Loughborough mire and cluy had thoy heen builated up. One often wonders what are the mysteries-if there ara any-abouh the Lataghborough moulds- Taylors only specify, like other bell founders, that the bells will be censt of hell metal, yet the timbere lans an ouistanding characteristie af ils own.
It was with regret that I hari to forego a visit to the fower while ringing was in progress, but what enjoyment I last in tho lanalling of a rope 1 gained by being able to listen to tho finging they aro truly a magufieent peal, and althongh the tenor weigho ouly 12 ewt., an impression of greater weight is createci. They are truly a grand exchange for the previous set, whidh har done good service, und future visiting ringers shald not fail to have a palt there.
From enquiries I found that all tho ald bells lind recently bean recast and hung in a new cast-iron luame. All tho latesil gadgets hawe been supplied, nothing has been left undane to mako the joh a success, and the Church Council and Taylots are to ho enmgratulated on the result, which only shows what co-operation on do.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of "The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with theit inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

The Ely Association meeting at Cambridge on January 3rd ought to prove a great attraction, for there will be a rare opportuyity of ringing at St. Renedici's Churcls, where Stedman rang.
Ringers generally will regret to hear of the illness of Mr. W. T. Cockerill, the lion. secretary of the Ancient Society of Calloge Youths, and will wish him a speedy recovery.
Boxing Day has seen the performance of many memorable peals, and it is 20 years ago to-lay that 4 band at Clent rang the 9,728 Superiative Surprise Major, which made a new record in the melthod, tho peal of 9,312 at Crawley, which was the longest in to that time, having been rung exactly 16 years before.
On Boxing Day, 1901, the 11,111 Stedman Cinques was rung by \($ 1\). Martin's Guild at Birmingham, and on December 26th, 1831, a peal of 15,168 Kent Treble Boh was rung at Elland, Yorks.
The Cambridge Surpsise Royal record of 10,440 was rung at Walthamstow on December 27th, 1923 ; aud on the same day in 190t the Midland Counties Association scored the 17,104 Double Norwiuh Major at Soutin Wigston.
On the last day in the year 1888, a peal of 15,041 Stedman Cater's was rung at Applcton, the fourti peral of over 12,000 clanges of Caters rung in that year. Two of the others were at tho sume iower, and the remaining one at Cheltenhams.
Io many places peal ringing in too little appreciated by the inhabitants. Not so at Uppinginm, where a peal is reported this week. In this case the ringers were the beroes of the day, and yemarks of approval were heard on all sides, and a veritable feast was prepared for the bungry-and thirsty-performers.
Irthlinghorough is coming into its own again. There was a time when this tower figared largely in the ringing performances in higher methods, and then came it period of more or less quiescenve. Mr. Anderson Y. Tyler bas now got round him another excellent local. band whick this year has rung London, Bristol, Garcbridge aud Superiative Surprise Major, all of them conducted by Mr. Tyler.

Recently some Americans raised money for the placing of a window in Purleigh Church, Essex, in memory of its geventeen-century Vicar, the Rev. Laurence Washington, an ancestor of George Wasliington. As a token of gratitude, the present Vicar gave the Bishop of Oregon a worn-out cl ipper taken from one of the church bolls, which lias been passed on to Christ Church, Alexandria, Virgiuia.

\section*{To the Editor.}

Dear Sir,-With reference to the peal of Grandsire Caters, pulplished in your issue of December \(12 t h\), I desire to point out that the ringer of the 91 h (the president of the undermentioned society) is not a.P.C. in the sense that you have deseribed him. The letters P.C. after: his name, as it was seat in for publication, thoss not imply that he is a police constable, but a peace commissioner for the City of Dublin, a1 rank bimilar to that of a justice of the peace in England, and as it existed prior to the eatabishmeni of the Inish Free State.-Yours faithfuly,

\section*{ST. ANDREW'S, HOLBORN.}

\section*{BELES THAT RANG FOR AGINCOURT.}

The parish church of St. Andrew, Holborn, possezses one of the finest rings of eight bells in London. The following interesting article concerning them is :ontributed by the Rector, the Rev. Lidwin Bedford :-

When the old church of St. Aadrew, Holborn, was pulled down at the end of the syth century, owing to the ruinous state into which it had fallen, Sir Cliristopher Wren, the famous architect, was chosen to crect a new church. He kept the old brick tower standing, however, and raised it to the height of 110 feet, casing it with stone. This tower is not considered one of his best efforts architecturaliy, but it contains one of the finest rings of eight bells in London.

And the bells are old, for when they have been recast from time to time the old bcll metal has been used again, so that it is boasted that the bells of St. Andrew's rang out to celebrate the victory of Agincourt !

There are many interesting notes on the old bells contained in Churchwarden Bentley's book-a valued possession of the clurels since the \(17^{\text {th }}\) century. Here are a few of them: -
"The steeplo of the Church that now is, was liegun to be builieul, and the old steeple pulled down in the 25 year of king Henry VI.. and made up so that the bells were thrst hung up Herein, amb ringr in the 35 yr of the said King

Item. "The Churchwardens made or new enst athell in the en yent of King Henry VII, whereunto many woll disposed parightomess ath other people gave much money.

Iten. The bells were aceustomed ta be rung always at the eleetion of a pope-as in all Loncon over- (how much ruther ought they to be rugg und rumg ngain for our Glristiun priveo), und for these peals the Churchwardens wero allowed in their accounbs.'

The present peal dates from 1731 and the bells bear the name of Phelps-now Messrs. Mears and Stainbankfounders, as also the names of the then Rector, Rev. Geoffrey Barton, and the churchwardens. ln 1921 wo of the belis were recast by Mears and Stainbank, and the peal rehung-iron girders being substituted for the old wooden beams.

The tenor weighs 28 cw. ., and the whole peal 5 tons 12 cwt.
In the tower, besides, there still hangs the old 'Sanctus ' bell of pre-Reformation times, cast by Robert Mott. This betl is still rung for week-day services to call the people to prayer.
St. Andrew's has a Guild of Change Ringers, three of whom have held the proud position of Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths. Each Sunday morning and evening the bells are rung, as on special occasions as well, and the practice night is one Thursday each month. The Rector is president of the Guild, Mr. H . Alford Master, Mr. J. Hawkins (steeplekeeper) is secretary, and Mr. W. J. Norton treasurer for the elirent year.

In May, 1928, Mr. Joseph Rayner-well known in the ringing world-died at the ripe age of 92 years. He bad been a ringer at St. Andrew's for 45 years and stecplekeeper for 20 , and never tid the belfry have a more careful custodian, or church bells a more devoted lover.

(hne of the questions which most interest yingers is Llate of the authorship and miginality of methods and peal compusitions. Whenever you get one or two of them aalking together it is ats likely ats not to crop up. A pual has been published as composed and conducted by so and so, and people knowing what has been done in the particular method say that it cannot possibly be original. Conscientious secretaries are ofthimes tropbled in their minds whether they ought to let certain names stand in their reports as the composers of certain peals, of compositions. Some little while ago the captain of une of the foremost bands in the comtry wrote me a long ancl interesting letter on the subject. He suggested that it was a matter which the Central Comencil should take up, that some standard of originality should be agreed on, and that a register of compositions made available so that anyone could find ont whether at peal was an old one or not. He invited my co-operation, but the subject bristles with difficulties, and though I gave the matter some thought I did nothing. Now, an influential member of the Exercise has asked me to deal with the variation and transposition of peals and methools, and I am going to do so as a necessary part of the other and larges subject.
In the first place we muxt recognise that the ideas which ringers huld about authorship and originality lave heem gradualify evowect durimg three eenturies, mad hiey liape elanged from time to time, thouglit imal. To-day thoso views are changing and five nuld twenty years hence quite dififerent views may prevai

In the carly days there was litile question of authorship. It was a recegrised fact that certain unen had introuluced ecrtain peals and mocthods, but weither in Stedrunn'3 two bouks, nor ia thie various Cannpanalogias ' nor in 'Thlo Clavis' are the namies of any cornpusers given. By the accident that Stedman's name became the Tille of lis Principle, bis autliorship of it lias been recognised Trudition tells us that Porter romposed Double Norwich, but for the most part we do not know, or ern only guess, to whiom 'the Exercise uwes the standard methods-Treble Bob, Cambridge, London find the rest. It is onty by tradition that we know that one of the thrue authore of 'The Clavis' was the compuser of the peals given in it. The book says nothing, except that Superlative was our own' ; and it is quite likely that some, at least, of the peals were Uncs which wore familiar to John Reeves, but were not nctually his own exmposition. Indeed, if I remember nright, there is one peal allways reckoned as Recyus', which in the Cunberland peal book is Entit to the the compasition of George Gruss.
It is the same with peal boerds. As a rulc the early ones say nathing about the composer. Where lhey do it is usually in such eyceptianal eases as the first penl of Cirandsire or Stcdman. Tho extliest paal bonrd of all is an example, and its wording is interesting and instructive. it is the record of thr peal of Grandsire Bob Triples rung at Norwicls in 1715. It says: 'it has been Studied by The must Acutc Ringers in the land, bit to no Fiffect ever since Triple Clangce were first Rueg; but now at last its found out to the truth by Jolu Garthon, one of the sail Suvicty and Rung by lim antl tho rest of the Society.' We can prraphrase it something tike this. For a long time ringers knew that there was a peal of Grandsire Boh Thiples to ixe Lud if only one knew how to apply Bob Minor to seven bells, and John Garthon was the first man who had the knowledge and ability to do so. It is quite a differeat claim to the modern ane of mathorship and ownership. The wording of the bards recording the first yeais of Grandsire and Stedman Triples are sinilar. But where boards record peals of Major or Caters no Royal, no composers' names are given. Not till Shipway's hoak, which appeared about 1880 , so we find it the rule to put, a man's name as composer to avery compositiou.
But, of course, the modern ideas rbout whthorship had been growing up in the Exercise from very early times. Ammable, in his natebook, which was evidently a dl'uft of the book he intended to pathlish, is coreful to put an initial letter under the leads of the six-hell methods be wrote out to show the composers, or perhaps tho persons from whom he got tiem-A for Anable, \(S\) for Stedman, D for Dolenan, and L for Lakgiston. Whether he would have put their mames in the primed baok or not, we canmot ted, for unfortunately it was rever completed and neven published. But by Shipsay's time, when composers had multiplied and had turned their attention ho many methorls, it was grnerally recognised that, as nothing could exist, without a cause, so there could be bo composilion withouk a coms posar. And, since compositiou was a vital and high branclı of ringing, it was only due to the composme to recognise his work by putting his name to his compositione.
Juring the mineteentlo contury linese taleas becamu more definite and reached the opinions generally licld live and twonty years ugo. In the oightios and nincties there ware a number of composers of outstauding ability and industiry wha produced an inmense number of poals. Thuree of the most ispueal and leading of these men were Henuy Dains, Nathau Pitstow amd Charles Henry Hattersley. The Exercise bencefted enarmously by their work, and their opinions are worthy of respect. Broadly, thelr view was as followa, and it was shared gererally by ringers. 'lhey accepted one or twa tules of variation. Beyond that, nach method of peal was a distinet composition and boiouger the persoll who first producod it is a rule it was necessary to publish a parl to prove priovity of composition, but other wxys, such as ringing it, miglit be acceptod. Otwe you had made out your tide to your pal it was your property. Anotier mar miglat compose it quite iudependently. That did not afect the case. Priority of tomposition wits cyorything. It was no answer for the man to say that be did not and could not know that there fad been previous pablication. He should hate known. It was the business of athyonc who wished to enter the rankes of the coraposers to make hinself acquainted with what land already been done. When, as must inevilably happen somnone da by mistake puhlisha a peal that laal already been published, it was his duty to apologise and withdraw as soou as the fact was brought to his notice. No one ought to use another"s peal without acknowledgment, and it was eren hed that if a man spoke disparagingly of a composition as a method he was insulting its composer. People thought that they had real rights and property in their poals, and they were ready to fight for them, aud did fight for thom, as you can sea if you turn to the correspondence columns of the ringing papers.

Now, apart from extavagances, if you recept two ideas, these vicws were quite natural and logical. Tho two ideas ave, first, that each composition, with its definite variations, is a distinet thing : and the ofher that fle composer ereates something which did not exist before. Ringerg had got to look on compositions in ringing is if they were like liferary or musical conpositions. Everybody recognises, nud the law recognises, property in musical compositions. Why int in peal compositions? ft lakes, or rather it once took, as much ability and knowladge to compose a peal of Bob Major as a lymm tunc. If there is copyright in oue, why not in the ather? Trus, the arrangement of bols in some peals is very simple; but so is the arrangenent of notes in nn Auglican Chureh chent. Aud they are copyright. I think tbat when Holt issued his broadshest of peale af Grandsire Triples he had produed somothing which did not exist before, and, speaking cliffidenty, as becomes a layman, I think the law would have upheld his property and copyright in lis peals.

But it soon became clear that there are difficulties. Holt bad to use an infinity of labour and trouble to get his peals, but once they were published it was no great difficully for other people to gel other peals, similar in many ways, but not quite the same. Whese proparty are they? John Recves, as we know, found that by bobbing the \(d\) set with the second before he could gel an improvemont. That was called 'Rceves' Yariation, giving the credit partly to the original author and paytly to the author of the periation Othe men were not so particular. In tho belfry of Lambeth Parish Churcin there is a board recording a peal of Grandsire Triplos; when and by whom rung I do not remeniber. It docs not matter. But it is said to lave been composed by such a one, and to have contained 103 bobs and 2 singles. When we consider all the circumstances, it does not renuire much imarination to gucss that what was rung was half of Holt's Ten Part rad laff of Reeves' Variation. We may think that it was not quite honest of the man to call it his composition, but I do not know that we ought to. People knew rery little about varintion in those days, and they may quite well lave thought that this really was a new neal Shipway does not liesitete to put lis name to a peal which is only fecves' Variation begun at anothel lead-end. This sort of thing was cione continually, and the names of the people who did it forbid us to think that it was anything which was not considered perfectly right and allowable. There are many such instances in Sothanstalls beuk, aed in Treble Bob" Jasper Snowton giros some cases. The three Surprisa peals rang at #emington-Cambridge in 1873, Superlative in 1855 , and Landon in 1870 -were all by \(J\). Niller, and ail were variations of older compositions. It is pretfy sure that Miller knew of the older peals nat used thom to prodtace his; but did he know that his variations would automatically produce hue peals, as we kuow it now! I am nat so sure. Perhaps he thought he was doing what wauld be considered quite legitimate now-taking the irlen of an old peal and using it to produce another noal with different conserends and different qualities.

The publication Ly Jasper Snowdon of 'A Treatise on Troble Boh' in 1878 sel up a new standard. He explained that any composition may be waried by begirning it at any lead-cud, and that overy compasitinn may bu reversed and still be true. This was the standard which I said was generally aceppted live and twenty years aga. Each &-umposision was regarded as a diskinet thing, but it could be varied these two ways, and the orjginal aud the variations alike wore the property of the first composer. But now a new factor came into the case. Tho oldor composers, all except Fabian Stedman, worked hy experimental methods, and looked on their peals as artistic productions. In the late eighties and nineties a new style of composition crane in which regurded a peal as the result of mathematical law. (.). D. D. Duvies and W. H: Thumpson were bine pioneers of this cluss of composition, and they were followed by A. P. Hoywood, H. Earle Halwer ant whers. For the mosh part they held the cursent ideas of ownership, and whe equally rendy as the others to fight for their rigits. But il rakes all the difference in the long run if you consider in composition as the solution of a mathematical problem instend of an aztistic creation. And especially if you teach other peopla to look at it so.

Tlye publication of the Central Council Collections may fairly tre said to have given the death blow to the old ideas of authorship and cwnerihig so fat as methods are conemmed. The six-bell methods were worked out neither as distibet oompositions nor as the solution of mathematival problems. A simple formula was set up whiels gave every combination of all possible places in a lead. From this, by a purely mednanieal process, the different leads were written ouk Fhase which did not produce the proper lead-enes were rejected and the remaintor wore the full tolal of wino molhorls. Entlae same way all the Plain Triples and Plain Major methods were produced. The lation mumber over eight hundmed, Hud of course, they coukd not all be printed. In making the neecssary selection a new plan was axdopted, There is a short chapter in the book whicla begins tinus:
Methods are not isolared independent things. They are related io enth other in a number of ways." It is then pointed out that there is a small number of simple, or 'key,' mechods, and that all tho others follow trom these by means cither ol combining them logether or by varying them according to definite and ascertainable rules. Then follow the simply constructed methods in the order they appear one from another. Anyone who studies this patt of the collection of Plain Major Methods " will sec that there is no roon for individhal authorship and ownership. And, indeed, anything of the sort was ignored in making the collection. Where st method lind been rung or was known to the Exercise from its having boon prinked in one of the standard books, its name was carefully given. Many of the others no floubt liad been publislosi and possibly numed. As thoy liad gever boon rung, and, to all intonis and purposes, were forgotten, it was not cansidered necessary la search for lism, since Erery possible method was int the hatise of the compilers.

What is true of the Plain Melhorls is equally frte of Treble Bob Hethods. But with this proviso. T'he number of mathorls on the Treble Boh Principle is so immentse, so mablievobly immense, Lhat 110 oute will ever be able to chain that he has written them all out, or even an appreciable part of lien. But the laws of method canstruction are now fairly well known. Whe can see pretty well what is possible. We can see how methods are related to each other. Wo esin by means of short formula sel down hundreds of melhods in any one of which the lead-eads, or for that matter any particular row, can readily be ascertained. During these last thitly years, working on the Methods Commitee's invastigations, I must lave written out many thousends of fresh methods. Huw meny I have worked aut in formula I should not care to say, oren if I knew. But I have nevor clamed the authorship ar ownership of a single one, and most of the new methads whioh appeni from time to time atre old friends. I have before me th manusoript book, the result of some investigations I made into Surprise Mrathoris. It measures rbout eleven inches by eight and four ineles thiak. It cousists of -heets of thin paper, and has nothing but liali-leads of Surprise Methods, ench one of which slends for two methods, sometimes for four, sometimes for more. How many there are all together I do not know. If is too long a job lo count them. These represent only it small proportion of those that can bo mechanically written out wilhout any experimenting and with the certainty of arriving at a (Coatinued in next column.)

 But it doos throw a llood of light oh questions of anthorship and ownerghip whieh are sometimes lobly debated. When methods are commou property, anyone has the right to lake ane amb by working ont proof scale and peal composition make it, pessithe for a band to limg it. And if someone says, "That is only \(n\) viariation of my,

Aud How the question mises, Cnn origimatity be maintained in the case of peal cormpositions, or must hay, tou, he considered as, so to aponk, common property? Personally, I think that the time will come when the idea thal every composition has a composer who lag tha righat to put his name to it will have to be drapped. When wo issuen the 'Gollection of Mrajor Methods' we hat to sumply peals for those methods where thoy were not already avalable. I was strongly ic faveur of prinsing them wilhout any coinposers' names, as was bhe cese witht the methods. Probatily we shotild have done so but for tho fant that an outside composer luad bron invited to supply many of these oompositions, and it would not have been fair to bin to lave broken the established custom. I witl come to those peale J myself supplied later and show how mueh originality there was in hiom. Perlaps I may say, now, that by no aceopted rule could I have put ather men's names to them. Whero that was possible, evon by strelching tho rule, it was done.

Now, aftor this long preamble, in come to what I am asknd frido. I wand to cover the ground as simply und as harodghly as I can, and, of course, I shall have to say a good deal of what is already generally known. I am not writing for oxperts, but for the orinary intelligent member of tho Exercise who takes att jaterest in the scicutifie as woll as in the art side of ringing.

BY O.P.Q.

The spirit of Christmas is abroad, or it is as I write these lines. With a cold in my head and no fire in the grate, the coalman having forgotten to call because I forgot to pay his last bill, I feel 1 have thoroughly gripped the mood for penning a few cheerful notes for rcaders of 'The Ringing World.' This is the season of peace and goodwill-you may have heard that sentiment before, and I certainly do not claim it as an original composition. For a few days, at any rate, we shall put aside our petty squabbles. Over the nuts and wine none of us will care two taps on a cracked bell whether the Painswick peal was a 1 welve-bell record or a peal of Doubles; whether or not Mr. James George had rung a peal after he had stood for in lirs. 36 mins. on the tenor box in the Gloucestershire tower; whether or not a certain London society is the oldest and the leading ringing organisation in the country, or any of those many other little things which seem to worry many of my ringing friends. Let us be merry. I am only concerned about one thing at the moment and that is whether my Christmas dinner will be a record turkey, or the sausage meat I am going to buy for the stuffing-if I get it. As one tramp said to the other, ' If we had only got some ham we could have ham and eggs, if we had only got the eggs.

Hut hover mind, we tingers are elneerful tolk-sometimes. See low rendily we geh up early on Christmas morning and disturb the peqce anal rest of everybody in the parish at some thearthly hour in the interests of perbe and goodwill'? if is really great fun-for usto awakea dhristinns und heathen alike at 5 a.m., to remind them of thas poace and goodwill. It may be a pretty custom, but it is also a perthy fiction. Thore is not much peace for anyone wilhin earshot when the bella begin, and il brings fitule of goodwill to the ringersat least, not in the street where I happen to live. After Christmas i. usuibly takes me about twelve months to regain the goodwill, which I loge ly lofping to ring at fivo ochock on Christraas morning, and I ask ungelf ewery fear, " 13 it wortin getting out of a wasm boal at thai hour to go out into the cold, uratired sireets and into a draughty belfry on purpose to upset all ruy neighbours on such a day at Christmas? [ nom quite sure it isn't, after [ have done il, and yet every year, like many of you, gentle readors, I do the same thing. Yus, we are cheerful folk, obedient to custom and command. We and our forefathers have dono this ever since Queen Elizabelh (or was it ciladstone?') said, 'Let the bells ring out at five o'clock on Christmas uncratng. And I suppose we shall alwaps do it, for after all, it is only the prelude of whet we try to give the public on Boxing Day.

Fos, Boxing Day; that ig the day for ringers; that is the timo Wen wo really do lot ourgelves go with llaz hells, and no one seems to mind. Of conrsc, Boxing Day would not he the right day to attempt to bent the Painswick record, fol you are not always guite fit on Boxing Day, what with having got up earlier in the morning on Christmins bay, the foasting and drinking you buve indulged in, the staying up until morning bours. No, heads are not always quite so clear on Boxing Day as on some days in the year. It, is all right, of courge, for n fire thousand, which doesn't matler whellaer it is rung or lost, fud peale of this kind on Boxing Day are genorally cheerful affairs. what acmbters it if the spinit of Christmas dnes causo two bells to ehango coursc, or it rope to break; it is all part of the fun. Besides, if you lose tho penl there is moro time to driuk to each other's health.

And spenking of Hoxing Day perls reminds me, as someone once said. I have no doubl we hove all had gueer ringing experiences, ospecially at Christmas. Thero are various things which accotant for them at this time of year, suti as, for instance, plum pudding and mince pies, ant-other things usually associated with Yuletide festiwilles. One of the weirdest adventurcs \(I\) ever lad liappened to me on a lioxing Day. A party of youths ol varyiag age they ranged from about 70 down to vanishing point-arranged to go out into the coumtry for a peal of Caters, but one by onc, after they had met, they diopped out, somewhat like the ten little nigger boys of our numsery days. You stall read tho story in rtiyme:-
Ten very stalwart ringing youlls, inmbed with Christmas zeal, Once set out on a Boxing Day to Slopton for a peal.
That at, \(\pi\) country inm they stopped and there the landlord's wine Mate nue of them so helpless that they trudged on, only nine.

The road was long, and when they renched the willage churchyard gate,
Bill Binns was also missing, so they numbered only eight.
Then eight jolly ringing jouths nade for the belfiy stair,
The last one stuck when half-way up, aad only seven got there.
Seven enger ringing youths knew quickly what to do,
Ton Brown said if they liked to start ho thought lie could ring two. So off they went, but Tom soon got into a pretty fix,
One of the ropes got round bis neck, and that left only six.
They started then for Minor, bat it did not long survive;
A bob choked the conductor, thea thero were only live.
Five frighted youths rusher to his aid, but when ou the trap door, Jim Smith fell through to the church below, and that left only four.
Out of the tower thess ringers dashed and bumped into a tree,
'r'ke churctyand ghost grabbed "Ginger' Boast, and that left only three Three ringers white, wifh shal?ing knees, made for the Old Dun Cow. Joe Binks fall in the villago pond, then there were only two.
With hearts revired by potions strong, these two strode out for home; A roadside ditch claimed Peter Fijtch, and I went on alone.
And all around the spectres danced, they stood me on my head-
I sat up quick and rubbed my skull-m'd fallen out of bed.
There are, of course, various kinds of Chistmas spinits-there is no need for me to detail them; you know then as well as I do, but at a clurch where I used to ring, the spirit of Christmas was once displayed in an unexpected manmer. In the 'good old days, before the advent of "heltry reform, the ringers bad a habit of laying in a slove in the belfry' for 'consumption on ibe premises " during the festive season. There was much ringing to be clone. and ringing was thirsty work. Chrisimas eve was the bine when they 'stocked the celiar, which, as they rang on the ground loor, was behind the door of the stairs leading up to the fower. To old George, the steeplekeeper, was entrusted the task, and the eash, of the purchase. On this particular Christmas Ewe he anlled at the Wagon and Harses for the customary nine-grallon barrel of 'old,' but, being Christmas Eve, he stopped loug of the Wagon, and it was pretty late befare ha startcel to roll the eask towards the scene of its execution. I don't know whelher any of my readers have tried it-I mast confess I haven'l-but I should imagine that to roll a cask over the inequalitien of a viltage street in tho darkmess of night, aud to steer it along Hic marrow paths of a churchyard would not be an casy job at any fime, but on Cbristmas Evo of all wiglts of the year-well, it would be, I should think, inordinately difticult. And so old George found it. He liad been gone from the Wigon and Horses some time, when Bill Muggins, nothing by trade, but poacher by profession, came across bim, sitting lyy the side of the road, clasping the barrel and telling it that he clid not intend it ghould run away-not if be know it. Now old George saw in Bill Muggins a very present help in time of trotble, althourb at olber times lee would not care to be seen in his company, and he calied upon him to come to his aid and help him direct the renkettrant barrel to jus proper destination. Between them, or rathor, in front of them, for Bill did the pushing and George followed on behind, they eventually established the cask under the stairs. George could not seg very well in the dark, so he got Jill to lock up the belfry and deposit the key under fle mat in the porch ready for the first comer in the morning.

The inhabitants of the village were arousen, as they expected to be, at six odock on Clristmns morning with the ringing of the bells. Despite the hour, the ringers were present in force, and, laving rung, turned to further herald the day by pledging peace and gondwill to all men in a draught of the 'olk." Oln Gearge went behind the door to drive in the tap which he had brought in his pocket. At the first blow of the bammer there was an ominous, hallow sound from the cask, nod at the next the tap went home withont any of that solid, satisfying fecling which accompanies the final drive into \(n\) fult barrel. George's misgivings developed into cerlainty os he carefully lifted the cask. Unquestionably, it was empty, and bis chin droppeni. The others, waiting an the other side of the cloor, could not believo the tragic news until about half of them had separately tested ilie weight of the barrel. And then thoy held an inguest, at which they formed themselves into coraner and jury combined, with old Gearge as the principal witness. He called on Jim Cowhide to witness that when he loft the Wagon and Horses the cask was full, and Jim had to admit that, as he hat helped George to gat it ont of the door of the Wagon, he was auite sure ik was full at that time. And George called upon them all to witness that there were no signs of any leakage in the belfry. All the same, it was their money that hut heen spent, and their thoats that wero dry, and-well, what was George going to do about it? George didn't know, but he said im would see the landlowd of the Wagon at opening time. Meanwhile le could only attribute it to the ghost which was said to haunt ile cluarchyard on Chrisimas Eve.

Bill Muggins had the merriest Christmas of his life. Old ale ouls came his way when he called for a drink at someone. else's expense, and that wasn't oflen. But 'Eaher Clarismas lind bronght him a nine-gallon barrel of it this year,' he fold bis fanily, and lis family had learned never to tell tales. Bili told himself that it was not mucli trouble to fat a bung to an empty eask, and cerry it in the dark from the yard of tho Wagon and Horses to the churelh. It was harder work to get the full cask home-but it was worth it.
The Editor has entrusted me with the task of reviewing some of the books recently received from publishers, aud I would recommend ny readers to add the following to their bookshelves:-
'The Treatment of Belis.' This is a new handbook on the care and preservation of bells, and I give you a few of the hints which it contains-there are, of course, many more equally as useful-so that you can judge of its value for yourselves:-

Bells being musical instruments should be trented as such. Do not knock them about with a sledge hammer; they reseat it. If they are obstinate, it is best to talk quietly with them, and, if necessary, pat them gently. The most stubborn bells can generally be wade to go by kindness.
'It is useiess to attempt to produce sound fron bells by blowing into them as you would into a cornet or flute. It is easier to blow the froth aff a pint of ale. The best results are abtained from bells if they sre struck with the clapper, which is usually provided by the maizer for the purpose.'

Where the tages are harsli, these may semelimes be softened by simmering the bells for a fow hours over a gentle lieat.'

Bells will not crack if they are never touched.
In cold whather the steepiekeeper should wrap the bells in blankets al night, and, if possible, cover them with an eiderdown quilt. They like it (the bells, not the steeplekeepers), and start up quicker in the morning.'

Frames with rhemmatic joints or which have gone groggy at the knees shoukd be made "tight." This can sometimes best be done by tubricaling the ringers.'
This book should be kept in evory belfry for veady reference. It costs 2 s . 6d., aud would be cheaper at half the price.
' Make your own Methods,' by Rasper Raiudon.-This is a text book that all ringers should have by them for emergencies. It is prepared in ready reckoner form, so that ringers may compile their own methods and at the samo time produce the necessary composilions to obtain peals. To the uninitiated, the procedure for doing this appeare to be sliglitly complex, but the author is confdent that anyone can master its intricacies in 25 yoars. It is cheap at a shilling, and wonId make a stitable Cliristmas present for a beginaer-if he is a young man.

Christmas Bells.'-This littie book of verse is by Abel Puller, who in lis preface says he has gained his inspiration from his aetual experiense as a riuger'. Here is the opening of his first poem, which gives the title to the wook:-
The bells on Cliristmas morning, from out the steeple high,
Spread their sounds across the bouse tops, beneath the starry sky. (Fol' as yeb the san is hidden; 'tis the hour before the dawn.) The childuen wake with laughter; their parents ourse and yawn. . .

I don't think it is necessary to puote any more of the poem. These lines speak for themselves, and there is plenty more sucla rot to be found in the volume, if you care to buy it.

The Missad Sallie.'-Miss Belle Hinger, the authol' of 'Love in a Belfry,' and 'Eric the 'leworman, has achieved her' greatest success in her new novel, 'The Missed Sallie,' It is a thrilling story of a woman's daring for the man she loved. For poigunat treatment and intense drama, we have read nothing to compare with this book-and don't want to!

\section*{To the Editor}

Sir,-I do not think that ever lawyers could equal the amount of verbal guibbling that has amused me ever since the Painswick peal. My own view-as a lawyer-is a very simple one, viz., there are two varieties of twelve-bell peals, one with the tenor covering, the other with the tenor taking part. The Painswick peal was of the former variety, and surpassed in the number of changes any peal in either variaty ; therefore it is a record in twelve-bell peal ringing. Don't you think this correspondence may now cease? We slabl have worries enough in the new year without this one. - Yours faithfully,
Birmingham,
J. S. PRITCHETT.

\section*{MANCHESTER RINGER'S DEATH.}

With much regret we announce the death of ex-P.C. Walter Billinge, of Moss-side, Manchester, which took place on Thursday, Decomber 111 hl , at the age of 62 yeara, after a short illness, from pheumonia. The deceased was a member of the City Police band of ringers for many years, until his retirement from the force in June, 1922.

Tho funcral took place on Monday, December 15th, at the Southers Cemetery.

A plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells over the grave by P.C. W. Pye, P.C. D. Brawn, P.O. F. Page and P.G. W. Robinson, as a token of respect for one who was much respected by al] who knew him.

\section*{A RINGER'S JIG-SAW PUZZLE.}

TRY YOUR HAND AT 'COMPOSING.'

If you get tired of eating and drinking this Christmas zind are looking for something to do, try this ringer's ' Jigr-Satw' ; it will provide you with a little mental exerबige, and to some it will probably prove an intriguing problem.

In the panel given below are the \(3^{\circ}\) lead heads and lead ends of a \(7_{5}^{20}\) let us, for this occasion, give it a seasonalsle name-Yuletide Surprise Minor. It is a method in which zad's place is made at a plain lead and, of course, 4th's place at a bob. To facifitate manipulation of the figures, cut out the panel and stick it on a card-a post card will do-and then cut the panel along the lines into 30 sections.

What you have to do is to re-arrange the sections so that the whole of them are used. When this has been done you will have a true extent in the method because alt the 720 rows have been utilised. The top line in each section is a 'lead head ' and the bottom the correspondings ' lead end,' and every lead head of one section must properly connect with the lead end that precedes it by a 24365 or a 32465 ransposition. Thus, \(126+35\) lead and can be succeeded by one of two lead heads only: 124653 (by means of 2nd's place) or 162453 (by means of 4 th's place). Here are the altermative conmections:-
