BELL FOUNDERS & CLOCK MAKERS, CROYDON.

Establlahed 1844

THE 18 1 TON RINGING BELL, the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at Riverside Cgorca, New York, U.S.A.

PROBLEMS OF THE NEW YEAR.

Another year has gone, aud ringing associations will be counting up the gains and losses, and balancing the indications of progress against the set-backs. Such stocktaking is, of course, interesting, but it is unprofitable unless the lessons to which it points are taken to beart, and practically applied in the future. The credit items of success should lead to expansion of the same lines of advance; the losses on the debit side should lead to an examination of the causes, and determined effort to counteract them. There is probably no organisation of ringers that can survey the work of the past year and honestly say they are complerely satisfied with it. They can see failures as well as successes; links in the chain which have weakened as well as others which have been strengthened. True, perfection is hard to achieve, and disappointments are many, but in carrying on the work of the associations there is a fairly wide margin between present achievement and the complete fulfilment of the bighest ambitions of those who have the welfare of the Exercise and the art of ringing closest at heart.

The elevation of bell ringing to its rightful sphere in the service of the church; the promotion of a happier spirit and greater mutual recognition of each other's difficulties between clergy and ringers in many churches; the reawakening of interest in towers where the bells are now silent or seldom beard for want of men; the kindling of a greater enthusiasm in the art of change ringing among thousands of ringers who are at present content to mark time or even to drift backward and gradually to slip out of the Exercise. These are some of the things to which all those who take their ringing seriously constantly turn their attention and by which they as constantly find themselves bafled. Association officials who appreciate their responsibilities are doing their best, but the great stumbling block is the inertia of such great numbers of the rank and file, some of whom wait for their rigging to be provided for them, while the rest, worse still, do not even take advantage of it when it is offered to them.

It is to these ringers that we would at this time appeal. A little individual effort on the part of everyone would make all the difference to the success of the work of the men, who, year in and year out, devote their time and energies not only to promoting the art of ringing, but in endeavouring to widen the interest of the ringers and the scope of ringing in every tower. If, in this new year, everyone who puts his band to a rope would also put his shoulder to the wheel of his association's chariot, every organisation would have a vastly different tale to tell in twelve months' time, and the problems which we have enumerated above, and others which we could name, would be in a fair way of eventual solution.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.
Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELERY GOSSIP.

A postal subseriber to 'The Ringing World,' writing in appreciation of the promptness in dispatch, adds, One looks for the "R.W." with as mush certainty as one looks for the suntise in the morning." Those who have difficulty in obtaining 'The Ringiug World 'promptly and punctually should take the hinle nud have it sent direct by post.
The first peal on the twelve bells at Lincoln Cathedral was dumg on Saturday, and was a noteworthy performance. Under the conductorship of the Master of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, a Lincolnshive band rang their first peal of Camhridge Surprise Maximus. in the one or two previous attempts that had been made, success elnded the band after it had appeared within grasp.
The peal of Bob Major at Tipton on Saturdry was rung as a mark of appreciation to Mr. Alfred Rowley, a prominent nuenber of the Stafford Society, who has completed thirty years' service as a pinger at the 'Pcpperbox,' and during the last few years has been Ringing Master and towerkeeper. Mr. Rowley, who is an employe oi the Birmingham Canal Company, las recently been trausferred from Tipton to Briceley Fill. His duties at the latter place campel him also to reside in that district. The hand who rang the peal extend their best wishes to Mr. Rowley in his new abode.
Ringiug couditions at Folkiuglam, Liucs, have beau greatly improved by the addition of an extra fleor.
Mr. John Cobbe Pitnan, son of Mr. W. E. Pitman, Mus.Bac., organist of St. Gregory's, Ciuterbary, and well knowis in Fent ringing circles, has been ordained deacon at Lichfield Cathedral, and becn licensed to the curacy of Heduesford, Staffordshire.
The first time that Bow tenor was turned-in to a peal of Treble Bob Royal was on January 3rd, 1803, when it was rung by James Malton.

On January tyl, 1784, a peal of 14,480 Bob Major was rung at St. Paul's, Oldham.
The first peal of Oxford Treble Bob Maximus on the bells al St. Martin's-in-ithe-Fields was rung on January 6th, 7785, by the Aacient Society of Colloge Youths.

Fenry Johnson, the farmous old Birmingham composer and ringer, dibd at Aston on Jauuary 7th, 1850. January 5th is the amiversary of the death of another notable Birmingham ringer, Tom Roynolds, who died in the year 1912.
Alf Grimes, of London, who made a personal recard in peal riaging, by scoring exactly 250 in two years, died on January 5th, 1917.
The first peal on the bells at Cirencester, which, as mentioned last week, have the longest unbroken history as a ring of lwelvo in the provinces, was rung by the Coflege Youths on Jaunary 7th, 1767. This was a peal of Grandsire Cingues.

THE BERKSHIRE 12 -BELL FUND

This fund is now elosed. There are one or two small amounts promised, which wiil be gratefully acknowledged, and a final list of subscribers will be printed as soon as these are in hand. With heartfelt gratitude,

A DEVON RESTORATION.

WHIMPLE BELIS REDEDICATED.

The recledication of the ring of six hells at Whimple, Devon, took place on Saturday week, and great interest was displayed in the event, both by parishibners and by members of the Devon Guild of Ringers. It was the consummation of several years of earnest effort, particularly on the part of Miss E. Lamas, who is hon. secretary of the Exeter Branch of the Devon Guild, and who las acted as hon. secretary of the Bells Restoration Committec. The bells had not been rung for several years hefore 1924, but in that year Miss Lumas started a ladies liand of ringers in the village. But their efforts were handicapped by the fact that the bells were badly in need of repair. Instruetors of the Devon Guild, who went to the help of the ladies, urged the necessity of a rehanging scheme. Miss Lowas approached the Church Cotneil on the matiter, and obtained its consent to getting estimates for the work. A committee of three members of the Chureh Council was then formed; of this Miss Lomas is now the only representative, one member being deceased, and another having removed from the parisl. The amount of the estimates causeri a good deal of scepticism on the part of the Church Council, and, indeed, the whole parish, concerving the possibility of raising enotgh money. However, a fund was started with moneys from jurble sales organised by Miss Lomas and her family, assisted by friends. Early in 1928 the Church Council definitely undertook responsibility for the scheme. A committee, comprising 30 members, sas formed, and the money required was eventably raised, from subscriptions, sales of work, fetes, etc., while members of the Devon Guild contrilsuled eqze. The total cost of the work has been £306, and it has been carried ont by Messis. Taylor and Co. with their customary efficieney. An cutirely new steel frame, carried on firters

WHIMPLE PARISH GHURCH.

Has been provicled, the old fourth, which was badly out of tune, has been recast, and the others taned. The ring has been rehurg in now fittings, and Whimple has now a greatly improved peal of bells. Of the original six bells, the back four were mediaval, although their actual date was unknow but eventually it had to be reast on accomt of the additional expense which would have been involved by the provision of a new hell, The trobles wero east in 1886.
Sit Hemy Imbert-Ferry, who has associations with the parish, put forward a proposal whereby whimple might have acquired eight bells that were given by members of his family to a London chureli that has been seheduled for demolition, but the difficulties and delays were regarded as almost insuperable.
There was a large attendamee at the special service of dedicntion which was eonducted by the Rector (the Rev. E. A. Jullyan). The other elergy present were the Dean of Exeter (Dr. Gamble) the Rev. E. S. Powell (president of the Devon Guild), the Revs. E. Y Cox (chairman of the Eyeter District of the Guild), T. Caldwell (Rockheare), and z. F. Prowse (Luppitt). The processional hymn, 'Angel voices ever singing, was follower by the 84th Psalm. The lessons were read by the Revs. E. V. Coy and E. S. Powell. The Dean, clergy, and choir proceeded to the ringing chamber, where the Dean, at the invitation of the churchwardens (Messrs. F. W. Dyer and G. M. Steuart), redericated the bells, and some rounds were rumg by local ringers-Misses R. Manley and E. Lomas, Messre. S. Please, F. Coleman, G. Hamilton, and J. Coleman. A few more prayers were suceceded by the bymn, 'Lift them proudly to the ## TRAGIC SEQUEL TO A PEAL AT BRISTOL.

 SAD DEAIH OE MR. ALABERT STOWELLElewen of the hand which look part, in the penl of Stedman Cingus at St. Mary Redeliffe, Bristel, on Boxing Day, mustered ut the appointed time, 11 a.m., and waited for the IRth man (Mr. Albew Stowell) to turn up. As the minntes passed wilhout any sign wit the missing man, spectution was rile as to the reaton for his novt appearance, and eventually, after waiting hanf an hotur, Mr. Jesse Gillett, who lad cone over from Gloucester specially to listen to the riuging, was asked to fill Lre vacunt place.
Lititie did the ringers illeam that they would nerer again see the fellow-ringer for whom they liad waited, as he was ilnen lyjug seriously ill in hofpital, within sound of Redeliffe bells, and nn operation, whioh took place the following doy, unfortunately proved travailing.

Ouly on the preceding Saturday Mr. Stowell took part in a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major al Clevedon with some of the members of the Cingues band. He was tukeu ill offer raising the bells at Brislingeon Church on Christmots Eve, in premeration for Christmas Day. Fis immediale removal to fnospital was necpssayy, buts despite all that could be flone de suecumbed. Ille mews of his deaih came as a very great shook to his colleagues.
Mr. Stowely was a member of Brislington tower, and he will be sady misser by all who knew him, as his was a most plensing petsanality. Ke leaves with his friends many happy recollections o hours spent in his nompany, in mat out of the belfry, mud of his de-most fanious ' Ren and the Butter.
A relative of Mr. Stowel] acted in the capacity of subsintute for the Christmas Day ringinf at Brislington, and the rope of the bull which he rang broke at alowost the first pull. This is, fo say the least of it, a very tragic coincidence.

A REGISTER OF COMPOSITIONS WANTED.

to the Editur.

Dear Sir,-Your leader in this week's issue (Decenther 20th) is exnetly my hackney, whicls I have periordically troticed out, both by letters to your valuable paper publicly and hy writing to individnals.
There appear to be toa many budding composers today, having no register to refer to, working upon lines almaty exluustiod, say, lealf a century ago or mole.
It will be a pity if the names oi the prioneer componers of our Exemcise sinnulat be lost siglat of. As previuusly mentioned, I any in firm believer in homour to whom hombin is due.

belfry." Then an address was given ty the Dean, ani? the service concluded with the hymu ' Now thank we thl out Gorl.
The Dean, tuking as his text the words ' Praise Fim upoil the welltuned eymbals, praise Hima upou the loud cymbals, said eymbals seemed to more nearly resemble bells than my other kjul of musi cal instrument, and they were used in the old days in Tgypt oo call people to services. He traced the conncetion of hells with the Churels and the many uses to which bells were put. It would, he saifl, hee a. thousand pities if bell ringing ceased through cavelessness or jaziness. Happily, of late years there harl heen a considerathle rovival of ringing in Devon. The Gathedmal had beer presented with two new bells, making a peal of twelve, and many parishas hand hat tu-ment, but a religious excreise.
Tlen was arranged al the Vietory Hall by lady menthers of the Church Council. A lerge number attender. The Rector, in welconing the visitors, said how grateful the parishioners were to all what had helped, and how pleased they were to see so many present.
Mr. F. W. Dyer \{Rector's warden\} expressed the thanks of the parish to the Devon Guitd of Ringers for help and support Fe pointed out that bellringers, perliaps keyonri any other churehworkers, had the nom-parolial mind which led them to remeder help outside their own fowers, and from which Whimple lad benefited so much. He also spoke of the debt due to Miss Lomas, the hell fund secretary, who had brought about a reviwal of interest in bellotiging in the parish.
Miss Lomas suitably replied, and ine Rew. E. S. Fowell, on behalt of the Guild, expressed the pleasure all felt that day at tho completion of the scheme and the great improvement in the bells. The Rector elosed with further thanks to those, including Mr. and Mrs. Lomas and the Plajlips-Browne, wha had lieen mainly instrumparad in raising the funds for the work.

During the "ovening the bells were rung by a large number of bands, inclucling representatives from Winsford, Jibtlehan, Luppitt, Newton St. Cyres, St. Sidwell's and SL. David's (Txeler), Heavilree, Kenn, Thorverton, Glyst St. George, Ottery St. Mury, Taiaton, and Rockheare. All expressed themselves pleased with the "gos of the bells.

THE RINGERS' DIRECTORY.

NEW EDITIOS DF A LSTIFLL PUBLICATLON.

The second edifion of the 'Directory of Chureh Bellringers ' has brat isturd by the Briatol thiterl Ringing (anilas. It is nearly treble 1.he size of the lirst edition, and it is certuinly more thatu three times :ts iseful.
The alplanbetical list of rimger's lias expanded to twise its previous lenglu-a practical testimony to the value which ringers place unon this work. The classifeation under nussoviations, which is by no aterns a simple task its the existing conditions of overlapping among many ringing organisations, has been revised, and in its present arrangement is a considerable improvement upan the former publication, in whels the names were atrouged under geographical divisions. In in ${ }^{4}$ great, many cases the unaher of hells, the weight of the tenor nut the name of the tower senreaty is given, thus providing a most usurul means of referenee tor a ringer desirous of visiting any place ontside fis own area. The untues of nssociation officials are also given, ame in many eases those of the district officials as woll, so thun the Disectery is growing inta the conplete work of veference which the promaters fiesire lo make it.
A new seethon gives the numbers of rings of bells in the areas of the varion associations, so fir as it has heen possible to compile then from afficial roturns available. Those retums bre not quite wanplete, bul so far as they have been compiled it is interesing to learn that there are nearty 3,500 rings of bells, from 5 to 12 , coming wilhin the influence of the recogniser associations. Aecurate statis lies of this kind are wery difievitt to obltain, but with the assishance associntion officials donbleas chis interesting table will eventually orvite us with reliable information.
III the carly stages of a ventire such as this, zhany difficulties have in he faced, and whilos it thay he ensy to suggest further improvements, it ruse be recognised that the compilers have placed ringers namber a deht of gratitude fur the way they lave placed the Directory before the Exercise. They are most ansious that ihe pultication shiculd be ant only reliable ittul ust tomprellensive as possible, and ringers himaclves can make it so ligt giving the ventare the support which it rleserves.
The Bristol United Guilits Committec, in their preface, ask subsetibers to visualise the vaat anmunt of work and time given by six Hemalners of the Chited Guadds to rompile the work, and the untiring cforms of the whale ebmater to hring oul a hook ihat must of nstessily be axtreacly useful. We doulh, howerer', if anyone except Hose who have appliof themselveq to the task, wifl fully realise at1 that the publicatiou has meant to those who have carried out the lask. When the sthene for a Directury was initiated, it was started with $\pi$ feeling of optimisur. and that optimism, we are sure, was not mi-placed. The Directory fultils a monst useful purpose, and with ench sutceeding edition, will grow more and more indispensable.
Subseribers to the Directory rection a free copy, others can obthin one fur a shilling, ami ho ringer ought to be without a copy. It can Berstul.

The dedicationt of tho hells at St. Mary's Church, Thatcham, Berks, took place un Sunduy, Deceminer 2tad, after the mominy service, Ithe corcmony being perfomed by the Venerabla Archiidetoun of Herks, Canon R. Wieklian Legg. There was a large coat gregation al the service.
special ringers' servime was helf in fhe afternoon, and was exmeptionally well atiended. The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guid, who gave the address, made reference to the mumber of dedication services hedd in the diocese since the war. This, in his opinimo, was a goad sign. It plainly showent that gleater imterest was leing taken in the Chuch. Tlise speaker addreased eat ecturaging words to the ringerra, and outlived their responsibilities. He fuyther urged the congregation is entomage the rimgers in their work. The rehanging of Thatchati bells had been carried out oxreerlingly well, and with the auddition of two extra bells a very pretty peal had resulted.
After the sorvice upwards of 70 ringers, churchworkers, ote., sal down 10 an oxcelient Lea serverl th the Patish Hall. Mrs. H. Smith, assiated by other ladies, was responsible for the arrangements. The ellergy promat were the Viear (Rey. Li. C. Marte), Rev, E. Clamherbint, Rev. A. H. Fargus, Rev. I. F. Foyle.
The Viegr, in a short speech, refarred to the excellent why the work to the bells and church dawer had heen earried out by the employes of the firm entrusled with the restoration. They hati spared :10 paius in making the work satisfactory chor cost of the restaration whe aholit &750, which included ahout f200 spert gh the chaveh toper. The amaunt how required to clear the debt is d180. ## THE FIRST BLIND MAN TO RING A PEAL

The 'Cambridge Chronicle' for Saturdas, Decemher 29th, 1770, tecorded the following: 'On Monday lnst was rang at Great St, Mary's Churell in this town, on 12 bells, a compleat peal of Grandsire Cinques, consisting of 5.610 changes, when was completed with ense in there howers and lift.s minutes by Messis. Young treble, Lamphton 2, Sauaders 3 , Incirsolo 4, Goo 5, Ruluinson 6, Jones 7, Finkin 8, freves 9, Growther 10, Day, who ealled whe hols, 11, Banyat tenor. - It is very remalkables Lhat Mr, Incarsole, who rang the the hell, is quite talind. The above is a woulderind feat in peal ringing, for at man to the guite blimi and to ring a working bell througla a peat of Gramesive Cinques. There is a fradition in Gambridge that this most wanderful matn, Mr. John Incarsole, was rery yemarkable for his great talent and learing powers, hoth in change ringing amd This peal was rugg in the same fear that the bells of Great St.

SEVEN DIFFERENT 720's.

To the Edifor

Duas Sir, -I am much obliged both to you for your leading article an 'Condlitions for peals," and to Mr. Trollope for his "Notes by the Way, dealing with my inquiry as to ringing both Rob Minar and Grandsire Douhtes in one peal, but no one has yet roplied to mus other question as to what actually constitutes seven different 720 s. May I repeat the inquiry? Does it meall that there must be soven differeal campositions, or conld the same composition be nsed, making a diffecent bell the observation, which wouth tbus prodtre The 720 clanges its afferent order?
I have discussed the question with two ringers who are looked upon as leading mos its our district, and they have given me different nuswers. One said, 'Seven different 720's" means 'sewen difterent compasitions'; the other pointed out, logienlly I think, that if the ehanges come up in a different order they nust be different 720 , so far as it is possible for one 720 to diffeu from another. He further argued that if a 720 of Bob Minor ealled W.R.W. with 4 th the whservation was the anne ns a 720 with the Gth called W.R.W., then it was not possible to say that 720 of Bob Minou and 720 of Oxford Bob, buth calked W.R.W., were different 720's.

If $I$ may vencum to put forward my own very bumble opinion, $720^{\circ}$ s in which the sume calling is used, but from different observation bolls, ane as much entitled to bo called different as are peals of Doubles to the deseription of having heen rugg will 'ten different six-scoves, when actarally there arc only two sets of calling, begun dither an a different place or with a different bell as the observation.
It soma obvious, howerer, that there is a clivergence of opinion on the matticy, and our baud would like to see it cleared up. it may lie that all that is mecossiny is that those who record peals of Mitor should distinguish hetween 'Seven different 720's" and 'Seven diferent compositions. - Fours fathfully,

TYRO.

QUICK PEALS.  To the Editor.

Dear Sir, With regard to a letter in this weet's 'Ringing Worlal signed hy "Tyro II.: I think that the majority of the band who took part in the quick peal at Crayford (and many others) will atree with me that anonymous insinuations of this typo are beneath comberripl.

All peal bamils ate gpen to, and should welcome, sane criticism of their performances, but what a pily that "「yro IT." had not the conrage to challenge the peal in legs than frous months, and then not openly, $\quad$ mad, still Further, what a pity that ho gave a record of his own achievements in that elirection in the same letter, thereby laying himself open to the suspicion of measuring other people's per formances with his own ravtistick- Yours faithfully
T. GRODMBRIDCEE, JUN.

Drar" Sir,-Why has "Fro IE not hat the courage to throw out his poisumous hinta of doubt before now? (apparently lie lacks the pluck to diallenge the peal threct), and why act the doubting Thomas hohiad a nom de plame? I an very somy if atry peal times of 'Tyoo' lane been lowerod, and also that lire did not huve a band of superman, anch as he must ba, so flat they could lave put on a litule more speed when lit made his desperate appeal to thens. Has tre Ruy mason to doubt the word of such men as E. Harnett, 'I'. Groonshritge, T. Cheommat. H. Audsley stan C. Roberts? if so, why mot rone into the open. I had the pleashe of ringing the benor to this peal, ard I think if these men could be parsuaded to melude "Tyso" in a hand, he would, preliapa, not be ashamed to liave his mame published, if to a peal of about 2 hrs. 1 min. (that is, if he could stiek ithe pace)-Touss faithetilly,

BELLS AND PUBLIC SENTIMENT:

The old year went out with a rush of peals. We have not got the exact statistics before us of the number rung, but December was almost certainly the record month in 1929, as it has been in many previous years. The reason, of course, is not far to seek. The great festival of the Church, which is celebrated during the month, gives the ringers great opportunities. Bells are as much a feature of the Christmas celebrations as are roast beef or plam pudding. The one thing that thousands in the towns and villages look forward to, either at midnight or in the early morning, are the church bells which herald the coming of Christmas. There is thus a tradition and a duty wbich ringers have to maintain. And then the holidays, which offer many chances of peals, and the passing of the old year, which again calls for the use of the bells and gives ringers yet another occasion upon which to exercise their art.

That bells make a wide claim upon the imagination of English people at this time of the year cannot be gainsaid, and it was typical that the feature of the British Broadcasting Corporation's special programme for the passing of the old year was the ringing of bells. Listeners were enabled, through the marvellous achievements of wireless, to follow the coming of the new year as it advanced across a large part of the continent of Europe, and everywhere, where the celebrations were picked up, the bells were heard. They may have been somewhat 'shouted down' by the ships' sirens of Rotterdam, but the clanging of many bells in a German town, an hour before 1930 reached England, was a striking demonstration of the part which bells play on sucb occasions throughout Christendom, and to listening ringers in this country revealed in strong contrast the difference between the clanging of bells on the continent and the rhythmic music which is produced from the towers in our own land, and which was admirably demonstrated by the half-muffed twelve-bell ringing at St. Michael's, Cornhill, before midnight and the open ringing on the twelve at Southwark Cathedral after the hour had struck. For the hundreds of thousands-perhaps millions - of listeners on New Year's Eve, in this land of ours, the bells were not only in evidence-they predominated in the celebration.

And not only over the ether. In every town and village throughout the country where there is a peal of bells, the people were listening for their sounds, either ringing for the watchnight service, or immediately before the witching hour, and again, with even wilder melody, when the new year had come. People talk of church bells becoming out of date and unnecessary in these days of clocks and wire (Continued on page 18.)

less time signals, but we have only to turn to the important place which bells bold in the sentiments of the public at Cbristmas and the New Year, to know that, deep down in the hearts of the people of this country, church bells really occupy a warm corner and are cherished with an affectionate regard.

THE TWELVE-BELL RECORD.  To the Rditor

Sir,-I considel your correspondent, Mr, Dyke, who is well known as a gool ringer, is a little severe on the band who attempted the long peal of Grandsire Cinques. If the peal hed been accomplished, it could not be in competition with any poal of Maximus. In my opinion it would only stand as a recori of eleven-bell method ringing. The difficulty is in egreeing what would constitute a stendard for peals. I have herrd all sorts.

PEOTOGRAPHS WANTED.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN "THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to ther future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use whers fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enougl3 to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A long-felt want has beeu removed by a gift of a set of new ropes for the Parish Church, Hagley, Wores. The generous donor is Mr. Harry Mrson, who has become bighly popular since coming to resile in the village.
It is never too late to-begin peal ringing. Mr. E. W. Hutchinsons tras just rung his first peal at the ago of 73 years, at Penwortham. The first peal of Graudsire Caters was ring at St. Bride's Church, Flect Street, on Javuary 11th, 1716-17, by the London Scholars. In tho Osbone MSS. in the British Museum it is reconded that the first knows performance of the London Scholars was a peal of 5,040 Grandsire Caters, at SL. Bride's in Fleet Streat, Friday, January 11th, 1716-17. The frame put up was taken down and destroyed when the church was repaired in 1796. This was supposed to be the only paal of Caters rung whilst St. Bride's coatained ten bells, and was said to be the first known peal of Caters ever completed by any company in the kingdom; which was probably the case, as no other peal upon tell bells appears upon yecord to precede this performance.
The Ancient Ringiug Society of Redeniall was establisbed on Jantuary $13 t h, 1736$, and the anniversary was eelebpated for a long period of time. We do not know whathor, like Safton Wakden and Lavenham, the day is still commemorated.

James Barbam died on January 14th, 1818, at the age of 93 years. He was buried in the churclyard at Leeds, Kent, and a headsione recordis something of his ringing prowess.
J'he two Central Council r'epyesentatives elected by the Ilandaft and Mommonth Diocesan Associetion at their ammal menting on Boxing Day were Messts. J. W. Jones and John Phillips.

THREE GENERATIONS OF RINGERS

EDWIN BARNETT I., IE., AND 1II.

We recorded in our issue of December 27ith a peal of Grandisine rung on December 20th at Crayford, Kent, in which three generations of one family took part. Edwin A. Barnett, at the age of eleven years, rang his first peal, and with hini in this performance was his father, Fdwin Barnett, jun, and his grandfathor, Edwin Barnett, sen., who was the conductol of the peal.
The name of Barthett bas been prominently associated with rimgiug for neally fifty bears, and the encouragement given to young ringers by Edwin Baraett, sen., thraughout his long carcer has been as great as any man has ever given, for he is as ready to thelp u youngster through a peal of Grandsire tiriples-as he did his grandson on this oceasion-as he is fo ring a peal in any of the higher methorls.

THE THREE GENERATIONS

Mr. E. Barnett, sen., rang tis first peal at Wcst Hana as long ago as April, 1882, and his seore is now over 800 . His son vang his first peal in 1899 , ind now, thirty years later, to the great delightiof of "grandad," as well as of his father, Edwin III. has iaken his place among peal ringers. He was eleven years of age on October l5th, and with this carly start he will have $n$ gond chance of beating his grandfather's fine record, if only he cau maintain the same interest and enthusiasm and the same will to succed

PEAL BOARDS AND A PRESENTATION

aleasine little ceremony took place at $S$. Nioolas' tower. Guildfort, on Sunday morning, when the Rector (Rev. G. M. Whesler) unveiled two peal boards. They are of polished oak and written in gitt letters, ane recording the last peal on the bells before their restaration (Grandsire Caters oll Jamury 30th, 1926), and the first peal on the bells after rebanging and recasting several of them (Guandsire Caters on January 5th, 1929). The second board records a peal of Bats Royal rung on March 3rd, 1906, and a peal of Stedmati Caters on November $121 \mathrm{~h}, 1908$.

After the boards liad been unveiled, a silver hell inkstand, Endably inseribed (supplied loy Mr. I'. E. Russell, Woking), was presented by the ringers to the Rectar as a parting gift on his shoctly leaving the parisin to take up a chaplaincy at Mentone.

CLERGY AND RINGING.

To the Editor.

Sir,-Ringers, 1 an sure, lave appreciated the tone and maner of the Rev. F. A. Roughton's fetter, and if 1 add one or two renariks, it is not in the spirit of eriticism, but in order to supplement what be say's

In the first place, it is by no means necessary for a clergyman to become an efficient change ringer before he can show an intelligent interest in his band. As soon as he can ring rounds, twe will probibly be at usefa] member of the band, evell if he is not equal toramging the 'tenor behind," while it will not take him nuch longer with a good band to conch him to be able to hunt the trethe.

With such an elementary knowledge of that att, the will br able to appreciate many of the ringers diffectities, and himself avoid so many causes of offence to these, his most finithfil chirchworkers. In fact, it is quite possible that lie may be more thouglt of if has can only ring a little than if he is 'an efficient change ringer." We do not expect a parson to be a solo singer himself, but we to expect him to know enougla about music to avoik giving offence needlessly to Lis choir. In the case of the ringers, such an clementary knowledge is even more urgently required. For while the work of the choir is done hefore evergone, and it is rarely very difficult to get somenne who is sufficiently musical to supplement any defects in the parson, meither of these things applies to the ringers.
Some time ago I went ap into a bulfy, where I was a stranger After some preliminary difficulties, we had just settled down to 1 good touch when the parson, who had seen the go ap, canse in with a number of young fellows-appurenty a Coulirmation class, or part of one. He waited for some minutes, and then went down looking rather annoyed.
It looked as though he had expected us to stop as sooth as ine int rived. He would mot have expected his choir or an orchestra to stop in the riddle of a piece they werc-rehearsimg. What ringers feel, and I think rigletly feel, is that a parson ought not to umiertake work in a church where there are bells until he has leurnt enough about ringing to avoid making such a mistake.
As for preparation before a service, I have found nolling hettor that the gentle and regular exercise of ringing for the borly, ar the skill reguired for easy changes for the mind. If a parson can manage to timf time for it, I an sure he will never consider it timu ili spent, even in a busy day. Peal ringing on Sunday is gute Rnother matter.

About 11.45 p.ms. the ringers adjourned to the clurch tower co toll out the old year and ring in the new, when two touches were brought round. The bells having then been lowered, the ringers retumed to the schoolroom, where the party, joining crossed bands, sang 'Auld Lang Syme' before finally dispersing about 1 a.m., overyone havitag had a good time. It is belicyed this annual supper bas, with the exception of war years, been held for noarly a century.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.  DEVIZES BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Devizes n Baturday. The belle of St. John's (8), St. May's (6) and St. Inmes' Southbroom (6) were all available for ringing, which commenced about $2.45 \mathrm{~m} . \mathrm{m}$. At $4.40 \mathrm{~m} . \mathrm{m}$, the Guild service was held in St. James Church, and was condtuted by the Vicer, the Rev. "Evior Jefferys, tive lesson being read by the chairman of the branch (Mr. ©. D. Heginhothom). Mr. Wicks was the organist, and tho gervich was largely attended. The Ficar spote a few words of welcume to thase present. He expressed his pleasure that a meeting had been arranged at that chureh, it being the first time during his four years incumbevey that such a gathering had been held there, and spoke of the encouragement jt gave one to have a faithful haod of ringera such as he was pleased to say he hati.
'Iea followed, to which betwen 70 and 80 gat down, including the Rev. 'Judor Jeffeys, Rev. 'Tilney Bassett (Rector of Beechingstake), a former chairman of the branch, Mr. C. F. Johnston (of Messra. Gillett and Johnston, Croydon/, the grand old veteran of the hrench, Hr. H. Rrawnlee West, Mrs. C. D. Heginbothom, Mrs. F. (ireen, Mr. W. Shute and Mr. J. Wiison.
A business meeting followed, Mr. C. D. Heginbothon presiding. At the outget, the Chairman wished all present a happy new yoar. He drew attention to the leating article in that week's issue of The Ringing Warld, on probleme to be faced, and said there were always new ones, and he appealed to sll to face them in a spirit of goodwill. In his resume of the work in the branch during the year, the Chairman thanked the officers for their help, and said the work of restoring the bells at All Cannings and Bishop's Lavirgton hat been completed. Among those which required attention were Edington, Erlestoke, and South Wraxall. He also congratulated those members who had ruag peals during the year, and noted with pleasure those who had been first pealerg. -The secretary (Mr. F. (rrect) produced the balatice atheet for the past year, which showed a smali balance in hand. In his report, the Secretary thanked the incumbents of tue parishes for the use of the bells, and the corregpondents of the towers for their belp during the past year
The following new members wore elected: Mr. C. Springforil and Ms. F. Springford, of Devizes, as hon. momhers; Messrs. F. May, G. F. Mead, Swift, Vincent and C. Drewett as ringing members.

Tho olection of offeers for the coming year resulted in the whole of the retiring officess being re-elected, with thanks for their gevPres.
On the motion of the Chaimman, a vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar and atler incumbents in the town for the use of the hells, to the organist, and to thase who prepared the tea. The Vicar arknowledged the vote, and Mr. Johnaton and Mr. Shute jeplied on brhalf of the visitors.
I'his concluden the business
Ringers were present from Devizes, Bradford-on-Avon, Bromham, Chirton, All Canninge, Bratton, Trowbridge, Melksham and Warminster, Mere, Buckhorn Weston, Wootton Basaett and 太windon.
[t would be a very great help indeed to the secretary if the correspondents of towers would Iry and get the suhseriptions in earliev in the year, so as to enable him to complete the balance sheet for fudit before the annual meeting
The Church of St. James, Devizes, is the garrison church of the Wilts Regiment, and contains memorials to offects and men of that regiment, and some old colours. It has a time perpendioular tower, which, until 22 or 23 yeara ago, contained only four hells. Then iwo trebles were added, and the third reeast by Messrs. Taylor and Co. The tenor is a bel! of about 9 cwt.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

DEEBY DISTRICY DECIDES ON QUARTERLY MEETINGS.
The annual meeting of the Derby District was held on Saturday afternoon in the Catisedral belfry. The splendid ring of ten bells was kept going during the uftermoon and evening, touches in a variety of methods being rung, members being present from most of the surroundiag belfries. At the busincss meeting, which was presided over by Mr. H. Fletcher (vice-president), the retiring officers were thanked for their past services and again elected, viz, Mr. H. Fletcher (vice-president), Messrs. C. Draper and E. Clarke (committee), and Mr. George Freebrey (secretary).
Some discussion arose as to whether it was advisabie to continue the monthly meetings or to hold mectings once a quarter, and on the proposition of Mr. Draper, seconded by Mr. E. F. Clarke it was decided to bold quarterly meetings, tie first to he held in Derby.

A hearty vate of thanks to Canon Ham for the use of the bells, to Mr. James Pagett as Ringing Master, and Mr. George Holmes, towerkeeper, was proposed by Mr. W. Wallace, and carried tnanimously.

HOW STAGSDEN RINGERS PATCHED UP THEIR BELLS.

On Thurstay evening, January 2nd, the ringers of St. Leanard's Qhurch, Stagsdon, were entertained to supper and a social evening by their Vicar (the Rev. E. E. Nickisson) and Mrs. Nickisson. The maeal was partaken of at the residence of Mrs. R. Bonnett, who kindly undertook to prepare the supper, which consisted of good ald English fare. After [ul] justice had been done, the company adjourned to the Church Room, where handbells and games passed away a very pleasant evening. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Viear and Mrs. Nickieson, to Mrs. R. Bonnett, and all those who belped to make the evening so enjoyable

Stagsden bells are a poor peal of five, and for some twenty years only the front three were usen, chimed by one man. However, when be died, a young hand set to work to improve matters. The clapper efaples of the 4 th and 5th were brokew, making the bells unringable, but the ringers determined to put matters right, spont many hours inside the bells with specially shaped pieces of iron and "u" bolts, nuts, etc, and in the end successfully fixed in the clappers. The outcome of this is that the bells have been rung ever sinoe-aver five years-shange ringing is practised, and the bells sung regularly for Sundey service.
The time has now come when a thorough restoration will have to be effected, as the 'go' of the bells is very bad, and the fitings very dilapidated. A fund has been started, and subscriptions will be gratefully recened by the Vicar, Stagsden, Beds.

BICESTER BELLRINGERS' SUPPER.

The amual supper of the Bicester ringers took place on New Yrar's Eve. After a pull on the bells, the party made their way to the Rose and Crown Inn, where they atat down to an excellent repast, presided over by the Vicar (the Rev. O'Reilly). Thase present Were Messrs. T. Clifton, E. A. Clifton, J. Evans, L. Evans, W. Scervott, B. Cox, H. Hatfield, F. Neale, G. Auger, G. Keeyes and A. Tuffrey. After the supper, the loyal toast was nonoured, and touches and tunes were then rung on the handbells.
The Vicar gave the toast of 'The Bicester Kingers,' which was responded to by Mr. E. A. Clifton.
A vote of condolence was passed with Mr. Cor on the death of his father, the company standing in silence a few moments. Mr. Cox thamked the ringers for their sympathy, and also for the muffled peal which was rung the previous evening.
Community singing was next the order of the evening, and then followed the toast of 'The Vicar,' which was accorded musical honours.
Mr. L. Evans then gave the company a recital of his awn composition, entitled 'The Bicester Bellringers,' in which each member of the band came in for his share of criticism or otherwise.

A few tunes nn the gramophone, the toast of 'The Fostess,' proposed by Mr. Clifton, who thanked Mrs. Neale for her kind regard for them at all times, a duet by the brothers Evans, followed by Auld Lang Syne and the National Anthem, brought an end to the happy proceedings, and the ringers then wont to the belfry for muffied ringing until midnight, after which followed open ringing until 12.15 a.n. Thus was the now year uslered in.

NEW BELLS AT TILSWORTH, BEDS

A FINE RING OF SIX.

Sunday, December 29th, was a 'red-letter' day in the history of the hamlet of Tilsworth, Bedfordshire, the recast and nugnented peal of bells being on that occasion solemnly dedicated by Bishop Lander, in the prescuce of a crowded congregation, The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. E. R. Souper), asgisted by the Rov. G. C. Rolfe, Rector of Dunstable (Rural Dean). After the dedication of the bells, rounds were rung, as the Bistop and choir returned to the chancel, by a band from the Priory Glurch, Dunstable, who had been specially asked to open the bells.

At the close of cvensong, the crowder congregation stayed to hear the ringing. Touches of Cambridge Surprise, Double Gourt, Kent Treble Bob, and Grandsire Doubles were brought round, the ringing concluding with the first 720 on the bells, a well-struck exteut of Bob Minor being rung.

Originally a peal of five by Russell, of Wolton, the bells have now been recast, and a aew treble added, the whole now making a lovely ring of six, upon which Messrs. Taylor and Co., the founders, are to be heartily congratulated. The whole of the work has been carried out with the well-known thoroughness of the firm, who were represented at the apening by Mr. J. P. Fidler. Everyone was loud in their praise of the beautiful tane of the bells. The 'go, too, is evorytling a rimger could deaire.

On Tuesday, December 3lst, the first peal was rung on the bells.

RE-OPENING OF WHITSTONE CHURCH BELLS

A MIDNIGHT CEREMONY.

The five belts of Whitatome Church, Devon, bave been quarterturned and rehung (two being recast) and a sixth bell added by Mr. ant Mrs. Roderick Fry (of Bristol and Bude), to the glory of Gad, and in loving memory of theit; son, Dennis Grierson Fry, who entered into rest on St. George's Day, 1929. The new treble bell was amointed and blessed at the Sung Mass on Sunday, November 24th, and was rung for the first time at the elevation of the Host and at the Alugelus by Mrs. Fry. The rehung bells were officially reopened with prayers and a mufflea peal at 11.30 pm . on Christmas Eve, followed by a festal peal at 11.45 p.m. before the Midnight Mass. At this service Mr. and Mrs. Fry were present, and there was a very large congregation. An address was given by the Rector (the Rev. O. D. Kingdon) from the text, Exodus xxviii. 33 , 'Bells of pold.' Ninety people made their Christmas Communion.
There were merry peals after the service. The work of the solianging, ete., las bmen splendidly executed by the firm of Messers. Giliett and Johnstan, of Croydon. At the close of the service all those prosent were given a memorial card of the re-opening, and an original poem on the Christmas Belis of St. Anne's whitstone.
As there was litile opportunity for ringing at the re-opening, the Rector and ringers extended a hesrty welcome to the ringers of the neighbouring towers to meet at Whitstone Clurch on Monday last (Gld Chuistmas Day) for a ringers' gathering. Tea was served in the Church Hall for wingers and friends.

CLAUDE D. KINGDON,
An old 'College Youth.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

BEDFORD DISTRICT AT THURLEIGH

The Berlford District held a meeting at St. Peter's Ciurch, Thurleigh, on Saturday, and about 24 members attended, which was consudered quitc good for the time of ycar. The bells at this church are rung in full sight of the congregation, the tover being ecntral. The ringing during the afternoon and evening was of the sisual meeting character-some gool touches, some indifferent. Nevertheless good spade work was done, sorme of the members ringing their first touch inside.
T'ea was sorved in the Village Hall, the memberg being the guests of the Yicar (the Rev. C. Hemsley), who, although vinable to be present through indifferent health, sent his best wishes.
A herrly vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicas for his generosity.
A short business nueeting was held, Mr. R. Shimmans being in the chair. Mr. R. Lovell, of Thurleigh, was elected a membur of the association, and Mr. W. Whitmore, of Raunde, an hombur of dent member. Mr. JI. Cockings, of Stagsien, was re-clected a nember.
It was recided to holl the next meeting at Carelington (8) on February 1st, if the bells are available, Wootton (6) being chosen as an alternative tower.
A voto of thanks to the Ficar for the tuse of the bells, to the local Fingers and their wives for making arrangements and preparing the tea, was heartily accorded.
Ringing in methods from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprisc was carried on till 8 p.m.

RINGER'S DEATH AFTER MOTOR ACCIDENT.

It is with very deep regret we havesto amounce the death of Mr. Thomas Wifliam Ensden, of Clitshehutsi, wheh occirred on December 20 th, the result of a motoring decident, amounced is 'The Ringing Wiorld' of December $13+1 \mathrm{l}$. Tlle decussed never fully regained consciousness.
Mr. Emsden was leturning from Brohley to Chislehurst on a motor-cycle when he was mu into by inother machine. No one snw the aecilent, but holh riders were faurd unconscious in the road, and were removed to hospital. Mr. Husden's injuries conaisted of a frectured skull, a broken leg and at badly lacerated hazd.

A mative of Burking, noar Necdhan Market, aud a carpontor by trade, he bad only done a lititle six-hell ringing before comint to Chislehurst, but he joined the Chislehurst hand, and soon made good beadway in ringing Grandsire tryples (hwo peals), Etodman Triples, Plain Bob, and Treble Rob Major, faw touches on ben bells, and rounds on several of the city iwelves, his last beitg at St. Peul's Catledral.

A man of more lovable and kindly disposition never walked, and he will be greatly missed by all who knew him.
A half-muffled peal was lung on suturday under the auspices of the two secieties, in whinh he took such sn interest- Whe Kent County Association antl the Ancient Society of Callege Youths, R.J.P.

SEVEN-BELL METHODS.

To the Editur.

Sir, While thanking those gentlemen who wrote letters on the subject of "Silvester," I would point out that I made no elaim to originality, and only sent yous the tigures and the penl, as I wanteal to refer ta then in a sloort article on ' $Q$ sets,' intencled for beginners, which I hope shorkly to publish, if you can find room for them

Mr. Craven may be interested to know that Silchester is u ${ }^{4}$ legitimate seven-hell method, ${ }^{\text {a }}$ and as such it is docketed in the Central Council Libraly, wbere it has been in manuscript form for the inst twonly years or more.
It pleased the Central Council to draw a distinction bebwen a legitimate severi-bell methad' and a 'legitimate 'Triple method, which doubtless was the reason that made him think that such metheds had been condemned.- Yours truly, E. BANkES JAMES.

STANMORE (MIDDLESEX) RINGERS DINNER
This annual event hook place on Sahurday last at the Abercorn Arms, Stanmore. The Icctor (Rev. W. A. Hewett) wook the chair, and was supported by Mr. G. Hughes (Ringing Master), Mr: E. Heading (vice-president), Mr. F. Hill (hon. secretary) and the lecal ringers, besides several guests, who included Mr. F. Edwards (Bushey) and Mr. G. 'T'. Coles (hoo. secretary, Middlesex Association) and other ringers from Ruislip, Pinner and Harrow Weald. After an excellent dimer, the loyal toast was bonoured.
Thu Hon. Secrotary then spoke of the excellent progress made during the year, when the bells were rung at least twice every Sunday without exception. Mr. G. Hughes set a good example by making 109 attendances, being closely followed by his son with 106. Five quarter-peals were rung, and Mr. Hill congratulated the band that had rung the first peal of Stedman Twiples on the bells that afternoon.
The Rector then presented a barometer to Mr. R. Wilkinsou, as a gift from the Stamore ringers on the occasion of his marriage. A silver inkstand, in the shape of a bell, was presented to Mr. F. Edwards as a toxen of appreciation of his gerwices as instructor.
Mr. Edwards, in returning thatiks, took oecesion to thank the visilors who had stood in the peal that afternoon to enable bim to call the first in the method on the Stanmore bells.
Mr. G. A. Hughes proposed the toast of 'The Rector and Churchwardens.' Their Rector, he said, was the best they could have, anl was one who taok a great interest in the ringers. He (Mr. Hughes) was especialiy pleased that the bells were rage for all Sunday acrvices without fail, and hoped such a state of affairs woald continue. He also spoke a few words of appreciation of the support given by the Middleses Association, and said thuy looked forward to the summer meeting of tile association at Statmore.
The Rector, in his reply, took occesion to thank the ringers for their oxcellent services, for which both he and the churchwardens wer gratezul.
Mr. Hill toasted 'Our grests,' who included Mr. Bozier, for over 30 years a ringer at Stanmore, but now retired.-Mr. C. T. Coles replied, thanking the Stanmove ringers, on behalf of ile visitors, for an excellent dinner. The secrut of success at Stanmore was the good fellowship prevailing, and the Rector was fortunate in his ringers. Mr. Coles also lbanked Mr. Edwards for the work he put $m$ al Stanmore, which they of the Middlesex Association mush appreciated.
A musical programme helped to fill up the evening, which passed all too quickly.

\section*{STATISTIOS THAT WOULD BE USEFUL}

One of the things about which there is no definite statistical information available is the precise number of rings of bells in the country, and it is consequently impossible to arrive at anything like an accurate idea of the percentage of towers in which there are bands of ringers or in which change ringing is practisecl. The latest edition of 'The Ringers' Directory" contains a table showing the number of towers in the areas of nearly all the associations, and the total given is 3,349 , containing peals of from five to twelve bells. But the figures are admittedly incomplete, and the compiters invite the help of subscribers so that in future an authentic total can be given. There ought not to be any great difficulty in getting these statistics completed, although it will require care to ensure that all towers are incluted and that none are counted twice, through the overlapping of association areas. Correct information would in itself be interesting, but it woukl also be of considerable valtue if, in conjunction with it, particulars were available with ;egard to the number of towers which are fully or undermaned, and the number at which change ringing is practised. In organisation statistics form the basis of operations and a periodical census would provide a guide as to how the Exercise actually stands and whether it is making real progress, both in gaining numbers and in spreading the art of change ringing.

In all probability the records for the year 1929 will show a falling off in the number of peals rung, compared with the preceding year. It would be interesting, if it were possible, to know whether these peals have been rung in as many towers as in the previnus year, and by as many different ringers. If they were, there would be no need to regret the falling off in the peal total, but in the absence of such statistics it is impossible to say what has been the reason for the decline. If we may make a suggestion on the subject, we should like to see appointed in every association a statistical officer (where the secretary is unable to undertake the additional work) who would get out all the necessary information, based upon an agreed form. The cletails would then be available for the use of the association in planning their own campaign and could be sent on also to the Central Council, by whom they could be collated. Ringers would then have comprehensive and reliable information on the general position of the Exercise, which would be availalle for a variety of purposes. If each association undertook its own portion of the work, it would impose no great burden on anyone, and the resulting statistics would be not only interesting but illuminating. The falling of in peal ringing last year may or may not be symptomatic of a general decline in the art; (Continued on parge 34.)

with the information now available no one can say. If it is, surely it is as well that it should be definitely known, in order that steps may be taken in the right quarters to counter it; but we cannot know without statistics and, in our view, it would be well to lose no time in organising the channels by which the information might be obtained.

\section*{GILLINGHAM RINGERS' LOSS.}

The many friends of Mr. William Haigh, leader of Rochester: Cathedral and Gillingham Parish Chutch bellringers, will learn with regret of the death of his wife on January 4th, after much suffering patiently borne. The sympathy of the whole Esercise is extended to him and to his farmily in their bereavement.
The funeral took place on Thursday, January 9th, the first part of the service being heid in Gillingham Parish Church, the Vicar, Rev. C. Webb officiating, and the interment at Gillingham Cemetery boing conducted by the Rev. Buckingham, a member of the Gillingham hand of ringers.
The Kent County Association was represented at the fureral, and among the many boautiful wreaths were three sent by the Rochester District, the Rochester Calhodial, and the Gillingham Parish Church bellingers.
A representative cotmpany of the Kent County Association assembled at Gillinglam Church in the evening, the bolls being halfmufled in memory of the deceased lady. A quarter-peal of Stedmau Triples was attempted, but was onfortunately lost.

\section*{THE TWELVE-BELL RECORD.}

\section*{To the Editor.}

Denr Sir,-Your anomymous correspondent, who signs himself 'An ordinary ringer \({ }^{\text {' }}\) is surely mistaken when he states that had the long peal of Granusire Cingues been accomplished it could not be in competition with any peal of Maximus. I would refer hin to recent issues of "The Ringing World." Writing withont reference (my copies being at the binders), I have a distinct recallection of it being stated that tho Painswick ringers were attempting to achiepe the greatest number of changes on twelve bells.' Again, in the report of the failure of the attempt there is reference to tho twelve-bell record. Further, if the peal was being attempted to beat the existing eleven-bell record-well, the Painswick men already hold that, so why trouble?
As I did not hear any of the ringing at Painswick, I cannot say whether or not Mr. Dyke was justitied in his comments, but if he was, I do think something better ought to be put up in an attempt to beat the Ashton peal. And why not ring Maximus to beat Maximus? - Yours faithfully,

\section*{DEATH OF JOSEPH W. SMITH, OF WORCESTER.}

The death took place on Sunday, January 5th, of Mr. Joseph William Smith, at The Limes, Bromyard Road, Worcester. The deceased was well known to Worcestershire rimgers, and he will be sadly missed. He has held the position of clerk of the works at Worcester Cathedral for the past 20 years, during which time he has done some valuable work. When the Cathedral bells were recast in 1928 he took quite a lat of interest in their removal aud return, and the Dean and Chapter, as a reward for his services, had his aame inscribed on one of the bells.
Arcideacon Piele, in his address on Sumday, January 5th, apoke very highly of his valuable work, and the Cathedral Guile of Bell ringers rang the bells muffled for crening service on that atate.
The funcral took place on Wednesday, January 8th, the Dean of Worcester (Dr. Moore Ede) being present, together with several clergy and a great namber of friends and relatives. On the same date members of the Cathedral Guild rang 593 Graodsire Cinques: F. Neate 1, J. Morris 2, B. Hill 3, W. Powell 4, W. C. Jones 5, D. Morris \(6_{2}\) W. Page 7, A. Hill 8, W. Lewis 9, J. J. Jefferies (conductor) \(10, \mathrm{~S} . \mathrm{T}\). Holt 11, W. H. Johnson 12. This was followed by 'the whole pull and stand' 59 times, representing the age of the leceased.

\section*{'Q SETS' FOR BEGINNERS}

\section*{To the Fititar.}

Dear Sir,-I read with interest that you may publish an auticle an Q sets' from the pon of the Rev. li. Bankes dames. 'This will undoubtedly be welcomed, and should prove to bo instroctive fo those who care to study it. I should, howover, like to offer advance comment, if I may.
Firstiy, if specific reference is to be made to the figures and peal of 'Silvester,' they should be embodied in the article itsulf, ms many of us do not keep a 'file' of back aumbers, and I do not remember that mention was mate of the fortheoming atticle, when the figures were published.
Secondly, some years back I sat long with ant article on 'Proof, by the same gentloman, and found complete unclerstanding very diffcult, for two reasons:-
(1) Cerfain fgutes were priated in 'heavier type, the 'heaviness' of which did not happen to mature in my copy. I would auggest that any such 'marking should be done in amother manmes.
(2) There was an error in the text-an imporiant onk-which remained uncorrected in your following issues. In publishing instructive matter, I think that the author should have errors eorrected as soon as possible.

I trust that these remarks ofler 10 offence, and apologise for my pseudonym; it is less obscure tinn my name, and, in any case, shoudd hide nothing from the gentieman mentioned, Yours simerely,

MINORMANIA.

To the Editor.
Deay Sir,-As notified on pago 329, May 24th, 1929, in "The Ringing World, I suggested at the Central Council rieeting liat it ringers' directory would to useful. The 'Bristol Tisited Ringing Guilds Committee' have providerl a very useful directory. Tho one for 1928 contained 489 mames, wherems for 1929 it has i,005, an inerease of 516 in one year. I have liherefore decided, with very great pleasure, to withdraw my suggestion to the Council.
Mr. Edgar Guise and others of the commitlee must have worked very bard to form such a useful und waluable direotory, atat the Thanks of the ringing Exeroise is duo to them.
In onnclusion may I ask each and every ringer to support this valuable and necessary cause. If this is done, I gee no reasom why the Directory for 1930 should not contain at jeast 20,000 mames, Yours sincerely,

JAMES GLORGE,
Hon. Member of the Central Conncil.

\section*{PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.}

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR publication in 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, witb a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.
Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs. \({ }^{\text {. }}\)

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

Mr. Tom Lewis has been a ringer at the Parislı Church, Eastbourne for 72 jears. At the age of 85 yearz be claims to be one of the oldest, if not the oldest, active bellringers in the country. He rang for the weddings of King Fdward VII. and Queen Alexandra, the present King and Queen and the Duke and Duchess of York. He told an interviewer the other day that bells were better than doctor's physic. 'Be a ringer,' he said, 'and you'll never be ill.'
The bells at West Crenmore, Somerset, have been condemned for ringing, and unfortunately it is not likely they will be reliung for a considerable time, as the village is already faced with a big expense in repaining the tower aud church.
When the Essex Association met at Bishop's Stortford on December I4th, and nearly 40 ringers were present, ringing in the evening was stopped. The explanation is given in this month's issue of St. Michacl's Parish Magazine, which says: 'Owing to a complete misunderstanding on the part of the Yicar as to the object of the gathering, the bells were stoppod, and the gentlicmen assembled left for home withotut any further ringing. We hope that noxt year some amends may be made for a perfectly unintentional discourtesy to our guests.
After 31 weeks in hospital at Chalfont, Bucks, as a result of a motor-cycle accideut, Mr. Bermard Clark, formerly one of the districl sacretaries of the GuildFord Diocesan Guik, has now been able to return to Farnhams.
The first peal by a purely local bend at Usk, Monmouthshire, was rung last Friclay at the nintla attempt. We congratulate the ringers on their success and perseverance.
The first peal on twelve bells was rung at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, London, on January 19t11, 1724, when "the Society of College Youths rung compleatly a peal of 5,060 Grandsire Cincques, being ye first that ever was done.' Benjamin Anmable probably called the peal, although the records do not give the name of the conductor, and Matthew East, who rang the 11 th, bectue Master of the Soctety ten years later.
A peal of Norwich Maximus was rung for the first time on January 20th, 1817, appropriately at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich.
On Jamuary 21st, 1788 , a peal of 6,600 Boh Maximus was rung at Great Sc. Mary's, Cambridge.
A peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung at Cheltemban on January 21st, 1898, the firat in the method since the peal at Wakeliela in 1822.

Harry Basiable, who was Ringing Master at St. Martin's, Birminglam, for eleven years, died on January 19th, 1899; James Motts, of Ipswich, died on January 21st, 1923.

\section*{THE ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS.}

\section*{PRESENTATION TO THE MASTER.}

There was a memorable gathering of members of the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths and friends at St. Martin's-in-the-Tields on Saturday, when, on the oceasion of the aumal meeting, opportumity was taken to acknowledge the services rendered to the society by the popula: Master, Mr. John D. Mathews, who, for twenty years, has been guiding the destinies of the old society, and has, during that time, done a great deal to raise it to its present successful position. Mr. Mathews has been able not only to keep an active interest in the society in the matter of peal ringing, in whicis recent peals of Cambridge Surprise Maxinus liave been fine evidence of the consistent work which has been done, but the bells at St. Martin's-in-theFieldes, and, in a rather less degree, those at St. Leounrd's, Shoreditch, lave becu rung regularly for the Sunday services. Not only have Mr. Matthews' offorts been apprecfated by the society, but also by the authoritios at hoth these charehes, and they joined with the members in presenting him with some toker of their appreciation. In addition to the presentation on Saturday, there was the unveiling of a marble peal tablet in St. Martin's belify recording the first pcial of Camhridge Surprise Maximus by the society. There was a large gathering of members from far and near for the occasion-men who had grown old in their membership of the society, youths only just on the threshold of their ringing carcers, but all assembled for the one purpose of doing honour to the Master, who was accompanied by Mrs. Matthews. It was interesting to note that among those present were three generations of the Barneth family-all members of the society-Mr. E. Barnett, sell, having joined the Royal Cumberlands over 48 years ago. The Master's family was also representeri by three generations, but in this case the youngest representative was only ahle to watcla the proceedings from his mother's arms. A nother old member present was Mr. Joseph Waghorn, sea., who carries his 33 years with wonderful vigour. Soveral members of the Ancient Society of College Youths attended, and the compang included Mr. C. Clarke (Bedford) Mr. W. Ayre (Hemel Hempstead), Mr. A. H. Pulling (Guildford), and about 50 ringers from churches in the London arca. The Rev. Pat MeCormick, Vicar of St. Martin's-intethe-Fields, came to perforth the twa ceremonies.
Mr. R. Barnett, as the oldest member of the society present, marie an introductory speech. He said they had gathered there primarily for their annual meeting, but they had also assembled for the purpose of doine lonour to their worthy Master, Mr. J. D. Matthews, and the band which rang the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus for the society. When he looked back on his nearly fifty years of nembership of the society, snial Mr. Baruett, and thought of how the society declined after the lamented death of Mr. George Newson, whose name they would always revere, and when he looked at the proud position the society had attained to-day under the leadership of Mr. Mathews, be realised all that their Master had done for them, but he fell incrpable of doing justice to that important occasion. Mr. Matthews had been Master for 20 years, and he lad raised tho societr, which was almost dormant at that time, to a most prominent and inportant position among the Loudon riuging societies. Where at any other tower in Lonilon could they find Camburdge Twelpe rung for the church services, except at St. Martin's and Shoredith? And who had made this possilice, except their worthy Master? The members were proud of him, and they thanked him heartily for all ho lad done for them. Thoy hoped he would be spared to them many years to preside over the ringing at St . Martin's-in-the-Fields, and to he the leader of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths thear, hear) Mr. Barnett then asked the Rev. P. MeCormick to peal tabeil the great esteem in which they lield him
The Rev. Pat McCormick then puilled aside the flags which hitherto had hidden the marble tablet bearing the record of the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus ruag by the Royal Cumberlands, and expressed his pleasizre at being invited to perform the ceremony. The tablet, he said, recorded a very meritorious achievement, and would take its place among many others on the walls of that tower. They were very proud that the peal should have been rung on the bells of St. Martin's Church, and that it should have been accomplished under the feadership of Mr. Matthews. It gave him great pleasure to be abic to say just a word or two to the members of the society, and espocially to Mr. and Mrs. Matthows. It was a real joy to find a band who were really working in harmony and fiving io harniony. Mr. Barncti had told them what Mr. Matthews had done for the Royal Cumberland Youths. It was really a fill record. Mr. Matthews had worked up the society from a more or less dormant state until it had become what it was to-day. They at St. Martin's appreciated what hecome what it was to-day. They at St. Martin's appreciated whast peal of Maximus was the finest thing the society had done, and it was to Mr. Matuhews that they owed this success. They desired to mank that special occasion by presenting him with the fine clock they saw before them, and by giving Mrs. Matthews a nice watch, which he hoped they would both live long and appreciate. They were small things, but they carried with them not only their congratulations and good wishes but their heartfelt thanks for all Mr. Matthews lad done, zud to Mrs. Matthews for the help ste had given hims. A man could not do a job like Mr. Matthews lad done, said the speaker, unless he had the co-operation of his wifc. Without it he would bave to stay at home (laughter).

The Rector then, amid applause, presented the elock wo Mr. Matthews and the watets to Mrs. Mathews.
Mrs. Matthews first acknowledged her present by expressing thanks, and adding, 'I do not know that I lave dane anything, except to get up and get Mr. Matthews off in the moruing " (laugliter and applause)
Mr. J. D. Matthews, in replying, said the members liad got him out of course, for he did not anlicipate anything of the kind. What he had tried to do in has emall way at St: Martin's and for the society had theen done wholeheartedly. Mis. Matthews added that. that was a very proud moment for himself, and porhnps le might bo allowed to tell them a Jittle story which io some extent represented his own feclings. In an old coutriry lown they elected a Mnyor named Hooley, and when be responder to the tonst of his healen tht the banquet he told the gucsts that when he started work ns a hoy on a farm it was 'Hooley this' and 'Hooley that.' Later, whon ho became a stockman, they called him 'Jack Hooley,' and then, when ho became bailiff to the squire, they called him "Mr. Hooloy." Afterwards, he took a farm himself, and gradually, addod other farms to 1 t, and in time they called lim 'Squire Hooley.' But he had como that day to the proudest moment of his life, for when be went to church Hoole head of the Corporation be heard all the congregation singing, Fooley, Fooley, Hooley, Lord God Almighly ' (laud Iaugliter). That, said Mr. Matthews, was somewhat the position he felt in that evening (laugliter). He felt that he did noi deserve their kindresss. If they thought he had endeavoured to do his best, that was his satisfaction. He thanked the members for the spirit in which the gifts had been given, and if they wisherd it he would be only too glad to continue to do his best for them (applause)
The handsome naantel clock, in maliogany case (supplied by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston), bore, under the dial, the inscription:-

The clock strikes the Westminster guarters and the hours.
A musical service being in progress, it wes not possiblo for much finging to bo done untul early evening, hut in no way did it mar the arrangements which hatl been mude, for the speeches orcupied mosit of the timp, and after two courses of Steriman Cingues had Lenu rung for the jive o'clock service for the Givis' Triendly Socinty, the company assembled for tea. This was served ian the Pollowship Room, in the erypt, under the supervision of liomisses Magniae and Wise, who roceived the thanks at the Mabter for their kitrd services and tea provided.
The business meeting, which was held in the'Vestry Hall, was presided over by the Vicar.
The treasurer (Mr. (i. Steere) next presented the balance sheet, The was received with grent satisfaction
The Sceretary, in reporting on the saciely's husiness for the year, mentioned that subseriptions to various funds during the past thene years had amounted to E 30 gs. In thanking the members for the splendid response to his appeal for \(\Omega\) gift for Mr. Macthews, he said that be had received the sum of £18 14s., of which \(£ 18\) 1s. had been speat. Thus he lad in hand the sum of 13 s., which he suggested should be held for the purpose of meeting the cost of pristing-a suggestion which was favourably received by all present.
The officers for the year were then elected, and, there being mon change, they are as follows: Mr.. J. D. Matthews, Master; Mr J. Sparrow, hon. secretary; Mr. G. W. Steerc, hon treasurer; Messrs. T. Newman and R. Bevul, auditors; Messrs. F. Smith and A. Hardy, trustees; and Messrs. C. Mathews and T. Bevau, senior and ioo steward respectively.
The nembers to represent the society on the Centrai Council are the Master, hon. secretary, Messrs. J. Parker and F. Smith.
New nembers having been elected, various discussions on itents of interest to the society followed, one of which was a request from members that the secretary should see if it ware possible ter revive the aлпual cricket match with the College Youths, which had always been looked upon with pleasure and enthusissm hy all Londen ringers.
The Master thauked the Rev. Pat MeCormick for his kindress in unveiling the tathlet and presiding over the mecting.
The Viear, in reply, said that it had given him great pleasure to be wiilh them that day. The duties he had performed lad been mosta pleasing, and he only wished that he had gone into the art of ringing himself, for it geemed to be most attractive and interesting pastime, and he wished the society continued success.
A vate of thanks to the officers for the services given the sacicty during the past year concluded the meeling, and a return was then mate to the helfry, where among the many friends who were waiting to congratulate Mr. Matthews ware Messer. C. Pipe, C. W. Roberts, R. Deal, B. Langdon and W. Hewett, members of the 'rival' London society who had turned up to show what the word rival actually meant. Their presence sudded greatly to whut already lad been a most excellent meeting.

\section*{EXETER RINGER'S JUBILEE}

MR. EDWTN SHEPHERD'S 50 YEARS AT ST. SIDWELL'S. The jublee of Mr. Edwin Shepherd as a ringer at the Parish Church of St. Sidwell, Exeter, was celebrated last week, nnd nt St. Silwall's Institute about fifty ringers and friends, with their wives, assumbled for supper as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd. A good many ringers can point to 50 or mote years' service, but wery few, in lows at any rate, are able to bonst of unbroknir comection with one church for half a century. Mr. Shepherd is the surquor of four very capable ringing brothers-Eierris, Alfred, Frank and himelf-who played a conspicuous part in the development of sciantific ringing in the Exeter diatrict. Mr. Ferris Shepherd was for many years the leading local conductor; in later years Mr. Edwin Shepherd lias excelled his brotber's achievernents, participated in over 100 peals, and "ealled' about half of them, including the four standard Methods-Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Treble Bobwith pronounced suceess in Stedman. Tho Shepherd family has hat a long association with the parish of St. Sidwell; ihe brothers were born in it; Ferris and Edwin were partmers in a building business there for at good period; later, when Ferris went to Treland, Edwin carried it on until he retired about five years ago. Mr. Edwin Shepherd, bosides being a ringer (and for fang time Rioging Masterl ad St. Sidwell's Chureh, was for several years chairman of fle Exeter District of the Devonsaire Guild; has been churchwayden for twa zeriods, and is stitl one of the parish feoffees. Both Mr. fand Mrs. Shepherd have taten much interest in general clurch work in the purish. To mark the jubilee the ringers, both ordinary and honowity, subscribed to a silver-monnted umbrella for Mr. Shepherd and in handsome handbag for Mrs. Shepherd. The arrangements for and Mre. W. Drake, of St. Sidwell's. Mr. C. Panter assisted at the ppar as steward.
Mr. Shepherd presided over the company, which included the Ree tor and Mrs. Lanyon Owen, the Revs. J. Cawley (curate) and T. G Hackwand-Price (assistant curate), Messas. J. D. Hellier and S. G. Stanhury (churehwavdens), Mrs. Stanbury, Messes. C. Panter, S. Parler, and D.J. Reef (organist, St. Sicwell's). The ringers consisterl manly of St. Sidwell's band, but therc were representatives of St. David's and St. Thomas'

The Rectas, after 'The King' had been honoured, gave the heallh of Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd. He sate it was impossible to pay adeguale tribate to all the work that Mr. Shepherd bad done in many capmeitios in the parish during a long period, but all connected witly the parish highly appreciated and were thankful for it. They also gladly recognised thet in all of it Mr. Shepherd bad been ably hacked ly Mrs. Shepherd (applause). The supper was unique in more thun nue sense. Fie supposed that in the many phases of its history St. Sidwell's jad never known before the 50th anoivoraery of the chice ritger. It was also mique in that it was a ladies night. Ee (the Rector) thought he could clain to be the first to stant a supper for the ringors of the parish; he forgot, however, to include tho ringers' better halves. Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd had the loya friandship of not only the ringers and their wives, but the whole of St. Sidwell's congregation and St. Sidwell \({ }^{3}\) s parishioners generally applause)
WORK IN THE CHURCH.
Mr. Sheplacd, in replying, said that, born in 1862, he went in 1867 to St. Sidwell's Chureh sehools, which were provided through the generesity of the well-to do people of the parisli for the beneliti of lerge families. The rule then was that where there were several clitdren irom one fanily attending the schools, the eldest should pay 2d. per woek and the others 1d. each. He had always looked upon the foundation of the schools as one of the finest acts ever accomplished by the better-off parishionerg for the benefit of fellow-resirents of the parish. St. Sidwell's churchpcople hati regerded it as priviloge to keep the schools going to emable children to have a good education that fotted ihem to go through life with credit to themselves aud the community (applause). After being a clerk for six months he entered the huilding trade. In 1878 he joined \(S t\). Sivwall's belfry, and in 1879 qualified as a member of the Devon \{inilal. In 1890 he berame a sidesman, and contmued untib 1904, when he was elected churehwarden with Mr. Arehibald Lueas, and Eerved unlil 1911, when he retired, hut was reappointed in 1918, and contimued, with Mr. C. Panter rs his calleague, until 1922 . It was at so ensy a joh to be churchwarden as some pooplo imagined; there were many charities, and they of ten causer trouble. But he had thoroughly enjoyed his association wiilh the ringing, atad his wife and himself highly appreciated the presence of so many ringing and other friends and their wives to celebrate with them a great landmark (applause)
Mr. Richardson (hon. secretary of St. Sidwell's Sociefy), who said he started ringing in 1876, then asked the Rector and Mrs. Owen to make the presentations to Mr. and Mrs, Shepherd, and said they represonted the kindly feelings and best wishes of the jingers and some friends to the host and hostess. The Rector and Mrs. Owen emmpliert in a few appropriate wayds, and the recipients made beartfolt tucknowledgmenfs.

\section*{FIFTY PEALS OF SURPRISE MAXIMUS.}

These are days of great records in rigging, and among the first of the notewarthy performances of the new year is the fiflieth peal of Surpise Maximus by Messrs. William Pye and George R. Pye. They completed ihe achievement on Saturday by taking part in a peal of Spliced Superlative and Cambridge Surprise at Southwark Cathedral. These peals consist of 43 of Camhridge, five of Superlative and two with the two mathods spliced. Tliey have been rung in 20 towers, and in 19 of these Mr. Willian Pye has rung the tenor. They have included some big tasks, among them the 15,312 at Asliton-anderLyne Iast Augusf-which constituted the twelve-bell record-and the 7392 at Bow, Cheapride, where the teur is 53 cwt. Then there was the herculean task at Worcester and the peal at St. Mary Redclife, Rristol, while there bave been several peals at Southwark, where the tenor is 50 cwt.

\section*{\section*{MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCLATION} \\ NOTH'TNGHAM DISTHICT NN TEE DOLDRUMS}

The Nottingham District annual meeting was held in St. Mary's beliry, Nottingham, on Saturday last, but was so poorly aitended that some ringers went away tibgusted. After tea, however, the bells were got gaing to Stedman and Grandsire Caters, Treble Bob Foyal, Double Narwich and Cambridge Major mitil 7 p.m.

At the business meeting, Mr. L. Chadburn (the vice-president) presided, and after the minutes of the last meeting had been approved, the Wice-President informed those present that he wished to lesign office, and the seerctary (Mr. F. Bailey), owing to ill-health, also wished to resign.
Mr. W. E. White was elected viee-president, and Mr. E. C. Cobcy (ikeston) was elected secretary
Miss I. Thompson and Mr. J. W. Firton were elected to serve ons the committee.
A long discussion took piace witl regard to continuing the monthly meetings, and eventually it wns decided to try and caryy oni for anather year.
The first monthy mecting is to be held on February list at Ilkeston
A hearty vote of thanks to Ganon Gordon for the use of the bells, also to the St. Mary's band for laving things ready, closed the meet-

\section*{WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD}

The annual meeting of the Winchester District was held at Winchester on Saturday. The belis of the Cathedral were set going shout three oiclock, nud several members made their first attempt with I2 bells. At the same time the bells of St. Marice were open, and offered ean ataraction to many. After an honn and it half's practice, service took place at St. Maturice's Church, which was placed at the use of the Guild by the Vicnt, who, however, had an appointment elsewhere and could not take the service. The seeretary found very difficult to get a clergyman, but the gap was filled at the last minute by the Rev. W. H. Hellier, Vicar of Micheldever, who is himself a ringer. The secrefry presided at the organ.

After service a splendid tea was served at Messis. Dumper's Restaurant, where 52 members from various towers gat down.
The business meeting followed, the Master of the Guild, Mr. Williams, being elected to the chair'
The officers were re-elented for the coming ycar.
A letter was received from the general secretary, Mr. Pullinger, stating that through the illness of his wife he was unable to attend. Apologies were also received from Mis. Farquhar, an hon. member, who lias recently lost her Lusband, and Canon Braithwaite, who was awny from Winclrester.
The mecting proposed that lelters of contolonce should be sent to Mr. Pullinger and Mrs. Farguhar. The following new members were elected : Honorars, Mrs. Wynne und Rev. Morley, both of Stackbridge: ringing mombers, Messrs. W. Lee, S . White, E. Harlield, A. Hutchings, D. Livingstone, C. Pierce, M. Derrick, all of Owslebury; Rev. W. H. Hellier, Vicar of Micheldever; R. Barnes, E. Keilh, E. E. Keith, sen., of Bishop's Sutton; and M. Field, of Winclester

The secretary was unable to present a bilance sheet, as there were several outstanding accaurls, and it was agreed that it should be completed as early as possible, andited and passed hy the Central Committes. The following meetings were arranged : Annal meeting, Winchester, second Saturday in Jthuary, 1931 ; Alvesford and Bishop's Sutton, May 3 rd, 1930 ; Owslebury and Twyford, July I2th; Stockbridge and Longstock, October Ilth.
After discusbing various subjects, a vote of thanks to the Dean and Chapter for the use of the Cathedral hells, Rev. Watson for the uso of SL. Maurice's Church, the Rev. W. H. Hellier for taking the service, and the chairman, was passed, and a move was then made to the towers, where further ringing was clone.

Mr. Shepherd gave somo reminigennes of ringing, and claimed that despite the imosds of death in recent pears, the St. Sidwell's band was not excelled by any other tower in Devon as regarded six, eight or ten-bell ringing in scientife methods. He acknowledged the kindness and sympathy of the Rector for the ringers, but pointed out that the mainstays were good attendanee, perseverance, and unit.j. A lot was heard of football, but the kicking of a ball did not re quire a tenth of the science necessary to properly ring a church bell.

DATE OF ANNUAL MEETING CHANGED
The quarterly meeting of the Warwickshire Guild held at Nuneaton on Saturday was well attemded by members from Allesley, Bulkington, Chilvers Coton, Croft, Husbands Bosworilt, Leamington, Lillington, Hugby, Shiltog, Smethwick and Stoke, togother with the local and several witing ringers. The bells were raised in peal at 3.30 , and ringing was continued in various methods until 4.30, when a service was held in the Lady Chape of the Parish Church. This was conduated by the Vicar (Rev. J. L. White), president of the Guild, and the Guild's form of service was used.

About forty members sat down to a splendid tea served in the old Grammar decool, and kindly provided by the president. Dpoa the suggestion of the local ladies, a collection was taken, resulting in the sum of \(£ 1\), which was added to the Parish Hall Building Fund, andthe Viear cordially thanked all those who had subscribed.
The business meeting followed the tea, the president taking the chair
The places for the Fobruary and Wareh mectings provided sone discussion, but Bulkington for February and Stoke for March were eventually decited upon.
The advisability of altering the date of the annual meating was then brought up. The third Saturday being Easter Eve, it was thought that a postponement would enable more members to the present, iherefore, by consent, the date was alteved to May Jud.
A vote of thanks was proposed to tho president for his welcome, for conducting the service, for his generous bospitality, and for presiding at the business meeting; to the ladies for preparing tea; and to the organist for his part in the scrvice. This was seconded and catried amanimously. -Tlis Vicar suitably responded.
A few of the members stayed in the tenwom to indulge in handhell ringing, while the mojority returned to the tower, where ringing in most of the standard methods up to and iveluding London and Bristol Surprise Major continued until about 8.30.

\section*{MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION} ENTEUSIASTS FACE RAIN AND SNOW
A meeting of the South and West District was hold at St. Andrew's, Hillingdon, on Saturday, when in spite of the heavy rain and tho bliadiug snowstorm 27 viaging enthusiasts attended, and wero rewarded by a wariety of ringing. The bells pealed forth soon after 3 p.m., Mr. Frank Corke, assistant Ringing Master, being in charge. The mothods rung before tea were Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob Major, Double Norwich, Kent and Oxford Treble Boh, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major.
The company adjourned to tho Rebland Cafe for refreshments, MI. C. S. Bird (vice-president) presiding. The other officens present were Messrs. J. H. Hunnisett, w. G. Wilson and Wm. F. Hollier. The Ringing Master (Mr. Fred Goodfellow), arrived after tea, business hawing prevented his earlier attendance.

A hearty voto of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells, to the viee-president, and to Mr. Frauk Corke for making arrangements which ensured success.
The Hon. Secretary thanked the company for their attendance. The annual menting was announced for February \(15 t h\), and the secretary will arvenge a meeting for March, Due notice of both meetings will appear in "The Ringiug World." Tle tower' was agaju risited, and Luondon and Bristol Surprise Major and other methods were rung umtil 9 p.m.

\section*{HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.}

A most successful meeting of the Northern District was held at Gmveley on Saturdey: The peal of six have recently been relang on ball bearings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and they were set going about 3 p.tho, various touches being brought round kanging from Cirandsire and Stedman Doubles to Cambriage Minor.
Ringers were present from Baldock, Benington, Clifton, Croydon, Graveley, Henlow, Kingswalder, Ofley, Hitchin, Southill, Slevenago, Welwyn nad Watton-athstone. At 5 p.m. the company ndjourned to Gravgley Bury, where some twenty-six members found themselves the guests of Mr'. and Mrs. Gardner, who take a keen interest in ilis local band. After enjoying an excelient tea, the short business meeting was conducted, Mr. T. Garduer being unanimously elected to the chair.
At the conclusion of the meeting a very hearty vote of thanks was passed with applause to Mr. and Mrs. Gardner and family for their bespilality.

Some of tho members returned to the tower to continue ringing on the tower hells, whilst others adjourned to the drawing-wom with the handbells and 'brought home' several towehes of Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Grandsire Doubles.
Ringing continued until 8.30 in the tower, when the bells were lowered in pal, bringing a very enjoyable meeling to a close.

To the Editor.
Dear Sir,-A few montlis ago you were good enough to publish a letter' from 'Collegian,' pointing ont that Ansable oniy joined thm "College Youths" in 1721 , and inferving that the statement in tho socisty's records that he composed and conducted a peal in 1689 was in error. Of course, it may be. The subject is one of diffeulty, and, for the benefit of your readers, I givo bolow a few extracts from the peal book containing the record, For mysolf, I am certain thet our predecessors were not wiflully lying.
The book appears to bave been compiled about 90 years ago, when it was realised that many MSS. and books bad then heen lost or stolen, amongst the latter the valuable peal book bound in silver. It is headed thus:-

of the
that have been rung
SOCJTTY

\section*{COLLEGE YOUTHS}

The first few pages nomtain a lengthy statement as to eurly hange ringing and the arigin of the socialy, written in a fair long haud,' and from them I abstract the following:-

On Jany. 7th, 1689-90, the whole Poal of Bob Triples wrs rung at Sb. Sepulchre's without Newgate, London, in 3 hrs. and 45 minutes (and the first trinl), being tle first 5,040 that was ever rung, and som after the ringing of this Peal they hegan to practice Grandsite Cators, but we have mo account of any doing peals of Cators till the London Scholars rung 5,040 at St. Bride's in Fleet Street.'
The above peal follows in the book, and was obviously copied from the foregoing particulars. It reads thus:-

No. 1.
St. Sepulchre's, Snow Hill,
The Company rung tho fuyl paal an eighi bells the method being PLAIN BOB TRIPLES (containing 5,040 changes) with 200 singles; it was accomplished in three hours and forly-five minutes.
Cornposerf and corducted by Mr. Benjamin Ansable.
Such is the 'statement.' It pill be seen that there are omissions and additions, both instructive, as I have before suggested. Vory interesting, too, xre the following extracts:-

It is thought to be rhout 96 years rgo when changes were first atiempted to be rung, whtch was in 1642.
The original MSS. would thus appear to be ane of the yeav 1738. Tho copyist ends, hawever, thus:-

This account was taken from the Oxford Ringers' Register Book, and communicated by Mr. George Searsbrook, 1796.'
May I end too long a letter lhy a suggestion to 'Gollegian' that we should be glad to see him in name nand person at all our meetings? He could then give us in ful] the benelit of his knowledge.Yours faithfully,
E. ALEX YOUNG.

\section*{THE WELLINGTON CARILLON \\ A RINGER'S MPRESSIONS.}

Here are the views of a well-known ringer, Mr. Staford H. Green, written after bearing the New Year's Day recital of the Wollington carilhon, now in Landon:-

I spent my hucheon hour to-day,' ho says, 'by wisiting Hythe Park and listoning to the new carillon for New Zoaland temporarily erected there, and, for what they are worth, I send you my impressions of what 1 heard. Imagine, if you will, a very fino grand piano -but spending its last days in the dim parlour of some of the ims wa find and love in country towns-the folts very worn by constant thumping, and tho loud pedal permanently on owing to the weariag out of jis spring, the tuning not too good. That, to my miud, is how harmonised melodies on bells sound-no matter how fine the individual notes. I. feel sure that carillon music should be confined to figues and arpeggios, unless some stopping davice has benn fitted which will prevent the vibuntions of one chord clashing with other chards following, and so producing the horrible fattening of the notes which now mars bell music. It is very motuch the amo with belts in an orchestra-they do not jepresent beil tones. If the New Zealanders heard Worcester or Chewton Mendips or Farlow Cammon beils they would form a far befter opinion of English bell founding skill

While I am writing this gratuitous criticism of carillons, I would beg you, if you can do so, to try and dissuade the B.B.C. from braadcasting any bellringing except that done by cxperts. Hymn tures may suit pianos, but they don't gitre flac bells at St. Marlin's a fair show, and do real ringing a grievous wrong.

\section*{BRISTOL GUILDS' SERYICE TO RINGING.}

Bristol has many clams to a place of distinction in connection with ringing, one of which is that it is the home of the oldest ringing Guitd, with a more or less continuous existence in the country-although its atual connection with ringing has long since ceased. Another is that, for its size, Bristol probably possesses more rings of leells than any other city. But its strongest claim in recent yeats lies in the activities of Bristol United Ringing Guilds, originated about ten years ago to draw togetber the numerous companies of ringers which existed in this city of bells and thus to promote not only the art of ringing, but also a spirit of fraternity among members of the Exercise in the district. Out of this has grown the annual dinner, which now brings logether one of the largest and most representative gatherings of ringers that assembles during the year. In this respect the United Guilds have not oaly done a considerable service to those who appreciate the importance of the social aspect of ringing, but they have also done another important piece of work in the interests of the Exercise, by the publication of the Ringers' Directory. The second edition, which has recently been issued is a proof of the possibilties of such a publication, yet it needed considerable courage and confidence to undertake such a work and it is doubtful if even the Centrat Council could have been induced to lautheh out on such a scheme. Wut cournge and confidence have been characteristic of the actions of the United Cuilds. Both these qualities were necessary even for its own institution, and are still necessary for its successful contintation. Yet, despite difficulties, the United Guilds are able to command the support of the majority of the ringers in the Bristol district and to do a definite and substantial work for the Exercise in general, while it has also fomed a valuable bulwark fot the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association in which it is incorporated. All this, of course, has only been possible by the untiring efforts of the officials. In things of this kind much depends upon the work which the honorary secretary is prepared to put into it and in this respect the United Guilds have been fortunate in keeping at the helm such an indefatigable worker as Mr. Edgar: Guise. That his efforts have been appreciated was proved by the very deserved presentation made to him on Saturday, when he was the recipient of a secretaire-bookcase in recognition of: his services. The example of the United Guilds in organising in the interests of ringing a social atmosphere among ringers is one that might well be attempted in other large centres of ringing. Only those who are fortunate enough to be alble to participate in such gatherings (Conlinued on page 50.)

FOR ALL PURPOSES
as those arranged at Bristol, and a few other places, can fully appreciate how much they do in promoting goodwill and anderstanding between ringers of widely separated areas. What, for example, can better cement the spirit of brotherhood than the interchange of visits which takes place between representative ringers of Yorkshire and Bristol, London and the Midlands on the occasion of these big social gatherings? An jndefinite number of dinners is, of course, not possible, but each place in which they are now held is becoming the centre of an ever widening circle, and presently we hope to see the whole country more or less covered by a series of such events.

\section*{A COLLEGE YOUTH'S DIAMOND WEDDING.}

FOUR PEALS TO CELEBRATE AN INTIGRESTING EVENT
The diamond welding of one of the oldest members of the Ancient Sowicty of College Youths, Mr. Harry Fenden, and bis wife, of Orange, New South Wales, was celehrated on Siturday, when in honour of the event two peuls were rung in London by members of the ancient snciety, one at St. James', Clerkenwell, where Mr. and Mr. Henden were married on January 19th, 1870, and the other at St. Clement Danes, while the Royal Cumberlant Youths reng a peal at Dartford, where Mr. Henden rang his fursl peal, and the Surrey Association rang one at Beddington. Although separatea by sa many thousamls of miles from the old country, Mr. Henden's interest in ringing has been revived in recent years, and he is kept in toucir with erents by 'The Ringing World.
Mr. Henden learnt his ringing at Woolwich under John and William Bunaister, and was made a member of the College Youths on Febrnary 26th, 1867. His first peal was one of Grandsire Triples, at Dartford, on November 17th, 1873, conducied by John Coz. Fe rang soveral peals in various towers, and numbered among his ringing friends Henry Johnson, Matthew Wood, John Cax, and the Bannister Samily
On the oceasion of his marriage, at Clerkenwell, a mixed band of ringers rang at St. James' Church a date touch of Stedman Triples, composed ant conducted by John Cox.
Mr. Fenden left England in 1884, and, with the exception of some ringing at Melhaume an his arrival in Australia, he las done no ringing sinca. For about 20 years lie leasd nothing of ringing, uatil ho saw in the 'Overseas Daily Mail' an account of the ladies' peal of Stedman Caters at St. Clement Danes. He then wrote to the Ladies', Guild, and since then has been receiving 'The Ringing World,' in which he takes a great interest.
Thr following extract from one of his leiters to the secretary of the Ladies' Guiln' is iateresting: 'I was delighted with 'The Ringing Worlds." I take a great interest in them, and they bring back a lot of nemories of the years gone by and the ringers whom I knew. I remember being in Fleet Street, and I thought I would go up to St. Bride's, as I thought I might gee Mr. Jolin Cox, whom I knew well, and ask him if be would come to lunch with me. When I entered the ringing chamber he was alone laying fult length on the floor with a lot of figures before him and a lump of chalk. I said, "What are you up to, CoxP" His reply was, "Ah, I don't mind you, but if I told you, you might tell someone else," so I askell him no more. But I could see he was trying to get a peal of Grandsire Triples willaut a single. He was then steeplekeeper at St. Bride's. At that time there were several whom I knew frying the same thing.'
Tha following were the fous peals rung in honour of the dismond wedding

\section*{DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. \\ SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT GATESHEAD.}

A very successful meeting of the Eastern District of the Dutham and Newcastle Association was held at Gatesheai on Saturday. Ringers began to meet about \(2.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). at St. Mary's Church, and the bells were kept going until five o'clock. A splendid tea thers awaited the party at the Anchorage, a fime old buikling edjoining the church.
After tea, a short menting was held, Mr. Burnett, wice-president, being in the chair.
Mr. E. Ferry moved a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, and the vestry clerk, Mr. Macfarline, replied on behalf of the incumbent. In the course of his remarks, he said that the ringers might be interested to know that they were having tea in the oldest schooltoom in Gateshead. The Anchorage dated back to 1340, and it was founded for the habitation of an anchoress. It was then the ouly sehool in Gateshead. Part of the master's duty was to teacli Latin and Greek, together wilh navigation. It was of interest to know' that Lord Joicey and 'Sir George Renwick were educated at this school.
Mr. C. L. Routledge moved a vote of thanks to the laties for providing the tea, and this was carried with acclamation.
The Rector arrived at this juncture, and, apologising for being late, said the football match at Sunderland bad delayed him, adding that he had not been present at the match, but about six or seven bus loads of passengers had passed before he managed to get on a vehicle.
Sympathy was expressed with Mr. Stuart, a ringer for 50 years at St. Mary's, who was unable to, be present at the meeting owing to illness, but all were pleased to know he was progressing favourably.
It was proposed that the next district meeting be held at Hough-ton-le-Spring on April \(12 t\).
After the meeting, the ringers went back to the tower, and tile bells ware kept going until 8.30 p.m. The methods rung during the day were Grandsire Triples, Steđman Triples, Bob Major, Kent, Oxford, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise.
It was a very happy meeting, and the time passed all too quichly, but it was plainly seen that all the ringers had enjoyed the proceediags, and hopes were expressed by many ringers that the meetings to follow would be as successful.

\section*{ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.}

SUGGESTED DTVISION OF ARCHDEACONRY OF ELY BRANCH. A meeting of the Archdeaconry of Ely was hold at Fulbourn on Saturday, about 20 ringers being present from Barley, Cherryhinton, Canbridge, Dry Drayton, Melbourn, Royston, Sawston, Stapleforf, Trumpington, as well as from Fulbourt. Riuginf commenced soon after three o'clock, and a short service was conducted by the Rector, Rev. T. H. Henuessey, assisted by the general secretary (Rev. R. Copeman). Afterwards the ringers partook of tea, which was proyided at the Six Bells by the Rector. Owing to the absence of the district secretary (Mr. F. Warrington), the minutes of the previous meeting could not be read, but the General Secretary reported tha be had received a letter from bim stating his inability to be present. The Rector extended a hearty weleome to the visitors, and proposed the toast of "Success to the ringers in the diocese."

A guggestion was made that the meeting to be laeld at Newmarket on February 15th should be a joint meeting of the Suffolk and Ely Associations, and this was agreed to.
A digcussion took place as to the desirability of dividing the Archdeaconry of Ely into two districts, with the view, if possible, of atiention being paid to some of the places which in the past have been somewhat neglected. Mr'. Austin gave notice of his intention to briug the matter up at the annual general meeting
Mr. Austin proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and for his generosity in providing tea.

Mr. E. H. Finch, in seconding, pointed out that bellringing was one of the finest physical and mental exercises, end stated that several elergy of his acquaintance instead of going off with their golf clubs, would do better in learning to become proficient bellringers and mixing with their own ringers.

The Rector, in reply, humorously remarled that be was a bachelor, had a parish of 1,200 inhabitants, was a Rural Denn, and as such had to look after three parishes at present without an incumbent, consequently his time was fully occupied, and, moreover, lie did not play golf. He welcomed the association to Fulbourn whenever they wished to come.
Further ringing took place after tea. The Rector stayed in the belfry for about an hour, and, on leaving, suggested that the asso ciation should make their visit a guarterly one.
The methods rung inchuded Bob Minor, Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Double Norwich and Cambrictge Surprise Major. A course of Loodon Surprise Major failed to mature by one lead. The arrungements for ringing were in the liands of Mr. B. D. Buttress, of Fulhourn, who saw that everyone was catered for.

\section*{THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION}

JOINT MEFTING OF FIVE BRANCHES
Che joint meeting held at Preston on Sixturday was an undoubtent success, represendalives from no less than fourteen Preston Branch towers, as woll as ringers from the Blackburn, Fylde, Wigan ant Bolton Branches, being present. The usual methods from Plain Bob to Cambridge Surprise Major were rung at Penwortum and Preston Parish Church, and good praetied for some of the six-bell ringers was obtained at St. Mark's, Preston.

After the actual ringing was over, a short busimess meeting was held, and a lecture given in the Parish Church tower, Mr. A. Tomlinson, of Blackburn, the association ringing secretary, presiding.
In opening the meeting, Mr. Tomlinson anid how pleased he wrs to be present at that joint meeting, and the way in which all seemed to have enjoyed themselves auguren well for any sucls moelings in the future. He went on to congratulate Mr. E. W. Hutchinsor, af Penwortham, on ringing his first peal at the age of eventy-threc.
The meeting confirmed the election of three new Preston Brancir members, and also fixed the place ant date of the next branch meeting.
Mr. J. R. Tayior expressed the pleasure of the Preston Branel in welcoming the members of the other branches, and proposed that a joint meeting be held annually on the same lines. This was seconded and carried unanimonsly.
Mr. J. R. Traylor then mover that the next joint meeting be held at Blackburn Catliedral next Jananxy-Mr. W. Hunter, of Burnley, seconded, Mr, R. Fartley supported, and the motion was carried.
Mr. Tomlinson said he was sure the Blackburn ringers would bo only ton pleased to welcome all who went to Blackbrirn.
Mr. W'm. Taylor gave a contincation of his lecture oll 'Coursing order.' He went briefly over the chief points of his previous lecture, and referred to the henefits of a knowlectge of the caursing order of methode as shown between a Bab Galler' and an expert conductor.
With the aid of an improvised blackbond Mr. Taylor gave some illustrations of the effect on coursing order of bobs called at 'Wrong,' "Middle" and 'Home' positions, slowing the various alterations at the course ends caused by the different bobs.
The lecture over, the Chairman moved a cordial vote of thanks to Mr. Taylor for his lectare, which liad been given in such an able and clear manner.-Mr. J. Millar seconded, and the motion having been carried Mr. Taylor suitably replied.
Mr. J. R. Taylor then moved a vote of thanks to the different, church authorities for the use of hells, to the local ringers for having all in readiness, and to the chairman for presiding.

This concluded what wes undoubtedly a splendid meeting.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN "THE RINGING WORLD.
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about thern.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use wher fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, "The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.}

A vely successful meeting of the Central Division was held at Crawley on Saturday. The tower was open for ringing at 2.30 , and a sinort service was held in church, conducted by the Rector of Crawley (the Rev. H. A. K. Baynes), who, in his address, traced the suhject of attendance at divine service through the Jewish and Christian dispeusations.
The next item of interest to the forty-four present was an excellent tea, which had been prepared in tho Parish Hall, after which the Rector, supported by the Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman) prosited at the business meeting, which was of a routine nature.
Capt. Manley, Turner's Hill, and Mr. J. Merritt, Bolney, were elected members.

At the close of the procedings, Mr. Rickman, proposing the usual vote of thanks to the Rector, said that this was probably the first time that many of them bad the pleasure of meeting hims since lis appointmeat to Crawley, and that they wished him all possible happiness and success in this his new sphere of work.

The Rector, having thanked the meeting for this expression of goonwill, the pracecding terminated.

The tower was again visited, and ringing continued until about 8.30, when the bells were lowered in peal. The methods rung ware very varied, and included London, Bristol, Norfolk, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise, the striking being above tho average for these occasions. The following towers were represented: Balcombe, Bol. ney, Brighton (St. Peter's, St. Nicholas, The Good Shepherd), Burgess Hill, Crawley, Cuckfield, East Grinstead, Hartfieid, Heene, Lindfield, Lower Heeding, Lewes (Southower) and Turner's Hill.

\section*{A RECORD GATHERING.}

There was a record gathering at Bristol on Saturday, on the occasion of the Bristol United Guilds' minth annual dinner. A company of considerably over two hundred joined in the procecdings, whicts were marked by a spirit of great cordiality. Visitors were prosert from many distant places, some having travelleri from as far afidd as London, Leeds, Sheffeld, Manchester, Birmingliam, Coventry and Exeter, to say nothing of the many from places withius a lesser radius. The organisers left nothing undone which would contribute to the pleasure of their guests, and this year made a now departure by arranging a charabane tour of the city and neighbourlood during the afternoon. Those who were uble to participate in this excursion spent a most enjoyable and instructive fime, thanks largely to the cfforts of the cicerone, Mr. W. S. Emery, who explained in an interesting mannel all the points and fcatures of interest in the itincrary. For those unable to take part in the tour there was ringing at St. Stephen's and St. Thomas' Churches, and a large number Jooked in at the "preliminary' gathering at St. Thomas" Chureh Room, where tea and buns were dispensed at the end of the afternoon.

The dinnor look place at the Grind Hotel, and was prosided over by the chairman of the United Guilds, Mr. William F. Thomas. He was supported by Rev. and Mrs. Heber Thomas (SL. Stephen's), Rev. M. A feature of the Bristol gathering is always the cintertainment which is given in connection with the dinnor, and this year there was the greatest difficulty of getting througln, before the hour of parting, the feast of good things provided. The Tyndale risio (piano, violin and 'cello) provided nusic during dimmer, and subsequently there Were songs by Miss Doreen Weeks (gold medallist), Mr. Milton Jones and Mr. L. Tanner, a hemorous monologue by Miss Dorothy Fill (gold medallist), selections by St. Thomas \({ }^{\circ}\) handiboll party, with Miss Bishop playing a harp acompaniment, a clever magical entertainment by Mr. E. H. C. Wethered, O.B.E., and, by kind permission of the management of the Prince's Thestre, artistes now appearing in the pantomime lent their assistance in the programme, humorous turns being provided by Mr. Ahol Tier and Mr. Fred Wynne, while Mr. Bryn Gwyn sang two songs, one, the "Cobleres Song' from 'Chu Chin Chow,' which lie sang 1,500 times in the play, and "The Seryt.-Major

\section*{RINGERS' SERVICES RECOGNISED}

The Clairman, in opening the post-prandial proceedings, proposed the toast of 'The King,' which was honoured enthusiastically, and the "National Anthem' sung. The Chairmen then went on to say that the Bristol Uuited Guilds lad become a sturdy youth. During the past eight or uine years it had shown its usefulness, and it was getting more uscful as time went by. He had often wondered at the confdence displayed by the founders of the Guild, because they liad 110 ald associations to look back upon like some of the other societies. The College Youths, for instance, had nearly 300 years of existence behind them, and recently held their 292nd annual dinner. ©t. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, kept green the memory of ane of their renowned men of the past; the Yorkshire Assaciation commemorated Jasper Snowion, whose works every linger knew; and then thero was the Grofts memorial dinner al Noftingham. In Bristol they looked back with pride on the ability of J. W. Hinton, a forerunner in the pructice of the higher scientific metrods and a "stickler' for good strkking; but those who were present that evening were there becaus they were ringers or were interested in ringing, aut as ringers they were parh nut parcel of the Chureh. When they joineal a band uf ringers they recognigeri they had a raty to perform, fud the dirst duty was to ring for the services. That was a thing which thuy, as ringers, oughti always to remember. If they only earried out thoge तituties as they should do, they would gain a rich blessing, even if only it the knowledge that they had done their duty. He asked there all to rise and drink to the toast of 'The Clurelh, witt which be coupled the name of the Rev. Heber Thomas, Rector of st, Stephen's.

The Rev. Hober Thomas, in replying, said, although not a ringur mimself, he yielded to no man in his deep love, from his arliest years, of bells. "this love of bells had remained will lim all his life and had increased as the yeurs had gone by. Therefore, albouth he was wot a ringer, nud disiliked public dinuers intansely, he looked forward every year invintion of their churchworkers quiet as thew were, and unohtrusiwe mut at same time genial and God-fearing, as they had in St. Stephen's. Thoy always judged the general from the ptrdicular, and, judging other ringers from the eingers of St. Steplam's, he asstumed other charelies fournd their rincer's eqtally devoted. He sometimes wondered what were the various gualifications required before they entered the belfey. Certainly he snw keenness, enthusiasm, geniality, good temper and comradeship, and also that quiel, unobtrusive service which was an characteristic of their own ringers at St. Stephen's, and lue coulil not help thinking that those who were gathered there that evening were men and women pussessed of the characteristies. These qualifications, the speaker went on, must lave come down to them though sticeessive generations, for they were the charucterietics re quired three huarlred years ago of those who joined the Antient Guild of St. Stephen's Ringers. the speaker quoted from the rules of the aid Guild (recently given in detail in 'The Ringing World to bear out this contention, and coneluded by expressing the lape Lhat the ringing Guilds of Bristol, of Gloucester, and Somerset, and fhroughowt the country would continue to do their work and do it in the same spirit and with the same rosult to the Churel in tha years to come as they had done in the gencrations gone by applause)

\section*{INTERESTING PRESENTEATIONS}

A toast of 'Success to the Ringers" Directory" was proposet by Mr. James George, who congratulatel the Bristol United Guilds upon huving produced such a useful publichtion for the benefit of the Exarcisc. He said he had inteaded to ask the Central Cotuncil to publish a directory of this kind, but in view of the splendid edvance nade in the Bristol Guild's directory he would be pleased to withdraw his proposition. There had been an increase of about 516 names in this edition, and if every ringer supported the directory as lae aught to do there was no reason why the next issue should not include forty thousand names, although he would be modest and ask only for not less than twenty thousamd. In the same way be asked ringers to support 'The Ringing World.' It was disgraceful that in so many towers only one copy was taken between all the ringera. If only twenty thousand ringers subscribed to 'The Ringing World, the paper could be published at a penny, atod when one thenght of the work that was put into "The Hinging World 'for the benefit of ringing, he consideren it was a shtme that so many ringers were content to share one copy (heer, hear). He hoped the Ringers' Directory would continue to be a success, ansl that it would grow in sizr and usefulness.

Mr. F. G. Leaker responded on behalf of the eommittee responsible for the publication, end paid a warm tribute to the great work done in connection with the directory by their genial hon, secretary, Mr . Edgat Guise. His work for the Bristol United Guilds was only one part of the work which he did for ringing, for he was, as they all knew, also gecretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Association.
The Chairman then announeed that he had a pleasant duty to perform. They had, he said, n number of laclies, who wore always at the beck and call of the Bristol United Guikls when there was anything to be done, and they desired to mark their appreciation of what liad been done by two of these ladies. He had a brooch, suitably inseribed, which he was going to ask their vice-chaiman to hand to Mrs. Leaker, and nnother for Miss Smith, who, unfortunatcly, owing to a family bereavement, coult not be with them that evening. These gifts where just an expression of the appreciation of the United Guids for all the kindnesses which these ladies had shown thern (applanso). The Ghairman went on ta refer to the work wi Mr. Giuise as secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Association and of the Brisiol United Guilds. In addition, be said, Mr. Guise luad acted as editor of the popular and valuable 'Ringers' Directory, "ant it was his privilege to ask MI. Guise to accept, on hehalf of the members of the Bristol United Guilds, and a few friends, a present in lecognition of his great services (applause)
The Chatman then presentel to Hr. Guise a hamdome walmut sectetitire-bockease, in which was a plate bearing the inscription: -To Mr. Edgar Guise. An apprecialion from the Bristol United Ringing fituilds. Jaruary 18th, 1930.

\section*{THE GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.}

Wr. Cyril F. Johnston submited the toast of \({ }^{1}\) The Gloucester and Bristal Association.' He suid to one who was responsible for a toast it wes of considerable adventage to frow something of the history of those whose health and prosperity he proposed-whether it was to their credit or their detriment, at least he should know something (lnughter). It was also an immense help if he could gef his specth writion for him, so he might as well make a clean breast of it and confess nt once that when their indefatigable secretary ordered him an Wednesday to propose the torst of the Gloucester and Bristol Diovesan Asociation, lie wired asking lim for any information cons cerning the pust history of the chairman and his associstes that he thought it advisable to disclose (lauginter'). Mr. Guise promptly sent \(a\) most compreliensive and masterly shoit story of the association's doings both past and present-6o complete that he the speaker) was sorely tempted to learn it hy heart and give it them as his own peroration (laaghter). Continuing. Mr. Johnston seid he was proud to have numbered two principal foumderg amongst his ringing friends-the late Mr. Phillott and the Rew. C. D. P. Davies.
Mr. Davies was the first person in the bell word with whom he ever siscussed-in those dark, unenlightened days- the question of bell tuning. They all regtetted his absence from that gathering and the jllohoulth whioh the had suffered in recent yoars. Tlat astociation, he added, had ringers, ton, of national repute in Bill Cave, Jack Austin, 「riend Thomas, the latter equally at home in Yorkshire or Bristal. The inerease in ringing members from 420 in 1914 to 1000 in 1930, spoke eloquently of the keenness of the offeers. Their energises were not confined alone to their own arear the new Ringers \({ }^{*}\) Directory, compiled by their hon. Secretary, was surely a welcome nddition to every ringers' library. Thes should be proud of the progress of the Glouccster and Bristol Associatinn. They had, he underslood, rung 1,600 peals, anil had them all but last ycar's recorded in albums, and their treasures was alwajs ablr apparently to show a sitisfactory balance af the bank. Ther Macter (Mr. Salcby) had told him he was not a proficient change ringer, but he appeared to be fullillimg, in ane particular respect, the qualifications peculiar to lis order. He was a ringer elergyman with an ungingable peal of bells-they test in the churchyard (laughter). He (the speaker) thought there must be an unwritien law in this metter or a plot amongsi the Bishops and patrons of livines, for nearly every ringing parson has a peal of one, or th chich without a tower "laughter and 'Shame'!. In conclusion, Mr. Iohnston asked the companj to dink to long life and prosperity to the association of church bellringers for the dincoses of Glowcester an:l Bristol. Might they double their mombers each succeeding decade, as they bad done in the last ten Years: might they coax into the fold those towers that were still without, in the wildermess ; and might they bring to a successful issue every record lengih which thej might set out to ring. He caupled with this foost the name of their Master, the Rev. E. S. Saleby.

The Rev. E. S. Saleby, in responding, said they were a very live association. Not very long ago they were a little too lively (laughter), and kicked a little over the traces (labgler). He liad gone among the niembers as much as he could, and he was impressed with the wonderful spirit of keenness and progreasiveness, and if they could only get together and make everybody realise that movements and rales and regulations which were framed thirty or forty years ago did not necesearily work in 1930, and if they could show the powers that be that they wato alive and very keen, that they wanted to get a move on, that they lived in a democratic age, and wanted to be able to express their opinions and wiews, then, he thouglit, the little clotd he had mentioned would quickly pass. They were ont far various reforms, and he helieved that by working to gether they woull find their efforts had not been in vain and that they would lead to more effective work in the future. He suggested they might well adopt the motto, which was inzcribed on a bell, 'Different in size, in tome, in weight, both small and great, we liarmonise. Let them avoid the things which spoilt their harmony and made discort, put aside personal feelings and put the association first, then, be was certain, in the exercise of their art and in the spirit of co-operation they would become bven mare alive and more flowrishing in rheir association in the future than they had been in the past (applause).

Mr. Percy Williams proposed "The Visitors,' and expressed the gratification of the United Guilds at the presence of so many representatives of other associations from all aver England.

Mr. A. A. Hughes first responded, and thanked the Guilds for the wonderful evening which they had given the visitors, and which they had all so mucla enjoyed. Why, he asked, did they come there? They did not come there just to sit down to dinner. They came because they liked to see old friends and spend a pleasant time with them (applause). Mr. Hughes referred to the wonderful good these gatherings did in enabling ringers to rub shoulders, and he hoped the gathering in Bristol aud those in other parts of the country would long contintuc. They tid more to foster the spirit of good feeling and keep going the art of change rineing than almost anything he could think of (hear, lear)

Mr. C. D. Heginbothom also replied. He remarked that he liked the spirit of cheerfulness which surrounded that gathering: and he hoped those present would return to their own associations and carry into the meetings of their branches a litile of the good foeling and of the gense of humour that pervaded that gathering (applause)
Mr. II. Burt proposed "The Ringing World,' to which Mr', J. S Goldmith responded, and the toast of "The Artistes" was submitted by Mr Colin Harrison, who thanked them heartily for the varied and delightful entertaimment they had provided. To this toast Mr. Chas. Read responded, and the happy proceedings then terminated with 'Auld Lang Syme.
W. further interesting event took place after the dinner, when Mr W. H. Thomas (the chairman' was presented with an okd English silver snuff box as a token of esteem fiom Mr. Syd Palraer, of Slief field.

Mr. Palmer expressed a wish that suitable inscriptions should the placed upon the hox so that memories of fraternal hondship should be perpetuated. Ml. Thomas responded, and it is regarden by those few present that a link betwen Bristol and Shefield has been forged, and that it is one of everlasting strength

\section*{BARNSLEY AND DISTRICT SOCTETY RETIREMENT OF THE HON. SECRETARY.}

The annual meeting of the Barnsley and District Society was held at St. Mary's, Barnelcy, on Saturday, January lith, members being presemt from Ackworth, Darlield, Darton, Felkirk, Eeclesfield, Pontefret, Sandal, Shelley, Weth-on-Dearne and Worthy. The bells weve kept going (with difficulty, owing to their reed of expert attention) in Minor and Majol mothods until \(4.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). when the Rector (Canon H. Z. Hone) conducted a short service, after which all adjourned to the Parish Room for tea, about thirty sitting down to an excellent meal.

The annual general meeting then took place, with Canon Fone in the chair.
The auditors, Messi's. Chant and Goldthorpe, presented their report, which was accepted and passed as satisfactory.
The officers for the year were elected as follows: President, Mr A. Nash (re-elected) ; secretary, Mr. A. Panther; treasurer, Mr. H Cliant.

The late secretary, Mr. C. D. Potter, who has been a tower of strength to the society since its inception in 1910, has been wanting to relinquish ofice for several months owing, chiefly, to indifferent health. In accepting lise resignation with sincere regret, both Mr Nash and Mr. Reynar eulogised his excellent qualities, and testified to the great value of the work lie hasl done for the society during their long association with him.
It was progosed, seoonded and passed unanimously that Mr. Pofter should be made a life vice-president as some very slight recognition his past sutviecs.
Five new members were elected, and Mr. S. Roper (of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's, Croydon) was made an out-of-radius member. Mr. Lewis (Ecelesfield) thanked the Rector and churchwardens for The use of the bells, etc., and the ladies for their preparations for the comfort of the inner man.
The fext monthly meeting will be held at Wath-on-Dearne on aturday, February 8th.

\section*{ANOTHER RING OF EIGHT FOR LEICESTERSHIRE.}

On Saturday last, the ancient four bells of Claybrooke Church, Leicestershire, were reopened, and four additional bells dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Leicester (Dr. Bardsley). This work of restoration was entrusted to Messis. J. Thaylor and Co., of Loughborough, and included the recasting af one of the old bells and retuning the other three, as well as the addition of the four new bells. The peal has beed rehung on ball bearings in an fron and steel frame, with all the modern improvements. Everyone present was delighted and

To the gratification of everyone concerned, the iounders have retuned the ancient tenor (withriut recasting), and this magnificent old bell fully justifics being retajned to cover a beatiful ring. It is one of the few pre-Reformation bells temeining in the county, and is thus inscribed:-

\section*{fuius ste petre}
followed by stamps of the licads of King Edward I. and Qucen Eleanor, and a flaral decoration and cross. This proves it to be a Nottinglum easting of about the yenr 1500. The 7th hell is duted 1672 , the \(6 t 11\) 1626, while the 5 th wis originally 1618 , hut has becn recast to fit in with the above. The tenor, which now gives the full note of E flat, is a magnificent cover, giving the impression of a much heavier bell, although it is actually under 14 cwt.
Inmediately at the conclusion of the ser Yice, Master Daffere Seul (son of the donor) chimed one of the helle, then the following raised the bells 'in peal,' and rang a splen-didly-struck three courses of Stedman Triples: J. H. W. White (Coventry) 1, W. Pervin (Coventry) 2, J, B. Fenton (Rugby) 3. 'T. W. Chapman (Nuneaton) 4, G. S. Morris (Leicester) 5, J. A. Fenton (Rugby) 6, E. Morris (Lcicester) 7, J. Morris (Leiens ter) 8. Coniucted by Eirnest Morvis, genera] hon. sectelary of the Midand Counties Assuctiation, who was ontrusted with the ringing arrangements for the day. In the words of one of the well-known visiling riugers prosent, whatever ringing is done bere, none will be better than those three opening courses-they were perfect.
The founders were represented by Messrs. J. Oldham, R. Lane (the veteran bell hanger) and W. Enaith, while a host of visitors were preseat from Groft, Hinckley, Froughton Astley, Wolvey, Rugby, Copentry, Swindon, Nuneaton, Wigston Magna, and ather places. Dering the aftermoon, tovehes and courses of Grandsire, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge, Bristol and London Gurprise were suceessfully accomplished.
Rofreshments were provided at the Yicarage, and in the evening a "convivial" was held, thoroughly enjoyed by everyone present. Handballs wout prominent, and tunes were played hy Messrs. C. H, Webb, J. A. bid J. B. Fenton, J. and E. Morris nnd others, with severa] coursem of clitnge ringing. The special feature was a courge oi Gramidire Caters by the five 'Joe's, viz., J. S. Carter 1-2, J. H. w. White 3-4, J. B. Fenton 5-6, J. A. Fentan 7-8, J. Beale 9-10. Breaking-up' time came all too soon, but everyone present had a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon, and all were loud in the praise of "Clayhrooke"s new peal." The founders lave cxcelled themselves.

\section*{THE FIRST YEAR OF THE PEAK DISTRICT}

The first amolual merting of the Peak District of the Midland CounLies Asqociation was held at Bakewell on Saturday last, and members were present from Eakewell, Baslow, Castleton, Darley Dale, Bore, Eyam, Hathersage, Hope, Matlock and Tideswell. The fine peal of bells were kept going at inlervals from 3 to 7.30 p.m., and a substantial tea was providet at the Wheatsherf shortly after 5 p.m. Following tea, the annual businces meeting was lield, presided over by the Rev. W. P. Wright, Fyam (vice-president), supported by Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey, Dore (bon. secretary), mud Mr. A. G. Wallace, Bakewell.

The Scereters presented a brief report, giving a resume of events in connection with the formation of the district, and of the various meetings which have since taken place. It had to be borne in mind, the report stated, that the district was essentially a 'missionary' one, formed with the idea of trying to rope in and eacourage towers where ringing was at a low ebb in a somewhat inaccessible area, and that great iesults frem a changeringing point of view could not bo expected all at once. The meetings had been variable, some very poor with poor ringing, some very good indeed, but in 130 case had the time been wasted. Some of the poorest meetings had resulted in a quickening of interest in several enthusiastic novices, and in severn] applications for membership. The district had not received the support that one might have expected from one or two towers where change ringing was in vogur, but, on the other hame, where least expceted, support had been forthcoming, a notable case boing at Hathersage, from whence that day there was an application from eight of their ringers for membership, and a request for a meetimg to be held there. An encouraging fact, too, was that at arch tower, however poor the attendance of locals, the branch hat nuwass been well received and welcomed by the incumbents. Undoubtedly, the backbone of the branch had been tac towers of Eyath and Bakewell, with their enthusiastic leaders, the Rev, W. \(P\). Wright and Mr. A. G. Wallace, without whose support little could have been accomplished. The report also referred with gratikude to the generous and euthusiastic welcume necorded to the branch at the new tower of Tideswell on more than one occasion.

In regard to future policy, the Sectetary suggested that eucls tower should wy and bring in its incumbent as an hon. memher, or, alternatively, that they should approach their Churela Councils, asking them to support the "nomination' scheme by paying an annual subscription and nominating one or two of their mernbers. Also, that each tower slotuld pay its subseriptions promptly and agree to take a certain number of the M.C.A. reports, which were well worth the money. Further, that if ill was deciden to carry on with the monthly meetings, ench tower slould make it a point of honour to send at least one member to each meesing. As to the mootitus themselves, it was suggested that the present policy be continued, i.e., that a special eight or six bell method be selected for attention and practice, but at the same time novices were to bo given every belp and encouragement, and that the young conductors were to be helped as much as possible. The Secretary also Euggested as much support as possible should be given to Tho Ringing Warlh: In conclusion, the Gecretary expressed his grateful thanks to all in the district who had extended to him so much courlesy and assistance, and predicted that by working together there would be a bright future for the district.
On the proposition of the Rev. W. P. Wright, a bearly vote of thanks was accorded to the secrelary for his untiring work in the (Continued in nert column.)

\section*{ADDISCOMBE'S BIG BELE.}

The large bell which has been hung in Addiscombe P'arish Church tower, Czoydon, by John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, is to be dedicated by His Grace the Archbishop of Canterlury tomorrow (Saturday), the 25 th insi., at 3 p.m.
The bell, which weighs over 50 cwts , is a fine example of the bellfounders' craft and, as will be seen from the pholograph, is tichly ornamented.

\section*{DEATH OF MR T. J. BRATTON.}

distriel, and he was instructed to record this vote on the minutes.
Thic Rev. W. P. Wright (Eyam) was re-elected vice-president by atclamation, and beartily thanked for all his kindness and help, it buing fully realised that without his breezy and cheery disposition the district meetings would not be nearly as happy and cheerfus functions as they have been.
Mr. J. E. Lewis Cocker (Dore) was re-elected hon. distriet secretary, and Messrs. A. G. Wullace (Bakowell) gnd E. H. Holmes (Matlocki us aumbers of the committee, the latter in place of Mr. N. Short, who had resigned on account of ill-health.
It was decided to carry on with the system of monthly meetings, it heing considered that taking all in all they liad been well worth while.
'I'he next monthly meeting was fized for Halhersage on February 15th, and it was decided to submit the names of cight ringers from ilis tower to the next general quarterly meeting for membership. A hearty vote of thanks to the ineumbent and to the local ringers closed the proceedings, ndjourament being made to the tower for more ringing on tower and handbells.

\section*{GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL'S GESTURE}

A resolution which has been passed by the Executive Committee of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, and sent to all the branches for consideration, opens a way for the return of the Association to affiliation with the Central Council after the shortest possible absence. This resolution expresses general approval of the suggested alterations to the rules of the Council, published in 'The Ringing World' on October 18 th last, and recommends the Association to express willinguess to reaffiliate if the Council can see its way to placing the suggested alterations upon the agenda for the next meeting. Already two of the branches, including Bristol itself, have confirmed the resolution, and this promises well for the eventual adaption of the motion by the Association. This done, the return of the Association to the ranks of the affiliated societies should be an easy matter, for it will be observed that the resolution does not ask that the proposed alterations shall be carried by the Council, but only that they shall be placed on the agenda. There is a distinct advantage in this, because the condition laid down makes it possible for the Association to reaffliate and to send its members to the Council meeting to assist in the discussion on the proposed amendments, and place the views of the Gloucester and Bristol Association before the Council. Had the motion required the acceptance of the alteration of the rules as a sine quat non of reaffiliation, the position might have been much more difficult, and the lead which the Executive Committee of the Association has given to the members empbasises that their action in withdrawing from the Conncil was not dictated by general hostility to the central body, but was based or what was felt to be a grievance, and that when the cause of the grievance is remedied they are ready once more to join hands in promoting the welfare of the Council and, through it, of the Exercise.

The suggestions which were put forward in our columns have already been considered by one or two Associations and seem to have met with approval, except that in two instances, at any rate, it bas been held the system of triennial elections should be retained instead of the annual elections provided in the draft amendments. The object of annual elections is to keep the work of the Council more constantly before the Associations, and to endeavour to sustain interest: Instances could be cited of Associa. tions where the Central Council is never mentioned except on the one occasion every three years when the representatives have to be elected. This is neither good for the Council, nor for the objects which it seeks to promote. Continuity of office is in some respects a desirable thing, but when it leads to the extinguishing of interest on the (Continued on page 66.)

part of the constituent bodies, then it is something to be avoided. Under the present system, there is nothing to compel the Council being brought under the notice of an Association more than once in three years; an annual eiection would alter this, even though, in those Associations where continuity of office is considered of importance, the same nembers are re-elected. On the other hand, while uniformity of practice in the matter of elections is desirable, it might be possible to leave it open to Associations to elect annually or triennially, as they please. In any event, whatever views are held on this one point, we hope Associations will devote attention to the other matters raised by the suggested alterations to the rules.

\section*{GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. SUGGESTED CONDTITONS OF REAFFLLIATION TO THE CENTRAL COUNCLL}

Members of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, who last Fear seceded from the Central Council, are considering the question of reaffiliating, and in each branch a resolution passed by the Executive Committee is to be disctused. This resolutiou is as follows:-

That the Executive Committee of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association at a meeting held this day, December 21st, 1928, generally approve the suggested alierations to the rules af the Central Council contributed to "The Ringing World," October 18tht, 1929, No. 969, p. 665. They, the Executive, recommend that the association expresses its willingness to be reaffiliated if the Central Council can see ifs way to placing the suggested alterations upon theil "agenda" at the next meeting."
It came before the aunual meeting of the Bristol Branch, attonded by 45 members, on Saturday, and was introduced by the rhairman (Mr. J. Gould).
The Yice-President (Rev. M. E. गुhorokl) proposed that the resoIntion ha passerl. He said that liere was no good to be done by fliseussing the secession of the association, except to state that a good deal of stir had been created throughout the Exercise, and that the general opinion was that the Central Council needed remodeling to conform with the present-dny necds of associations and guilds. He thought the suggested alterations put forward in ' The Ringing World 'on Octoher 18th, 1929, were very fair.
Further comments were made by the mambers, and it was geverally agreed that the Central Council had lacked finality in its work, viz., too much of the work recommended by them was left to gssociations and guilds to take up, whereas the Central Council might have enmmunicated direct with the clureh authorities, especially with regard to advisers upor Diocesan Boards.
'Two members present suggested that no attempt should be made to reaffiliate under any circumstances.
Upon being put to the vote, those were the only two to rote against the resolution, and it was therefore carried with ease.
It was urgen that any useful suggestion from ringers should find its way through the tower, then the bracch, and on to the general meeting, to find its way eventually to the Central Council for, at least, their perusal.
The Chairman then asked for opinions upon a second request from the Executive Committre as follows: 'The Executive Committee is nlso enxious to ascertain the opinion of branches as to the desirahility of adding to the rules of our diocesan association, a new rule which shall state what number of members present at a general meeting of the association shall form a querums.
The Rev. M. E. Thorold had to leave. just as this was being discussed, but he took the opportunity of saying that in his opinion it would be very diffietlt to fix a quortum for the annual meetings.
The General Secretary, Mr. E. Gnise, informed the meeting that during the last twelve years (including the opening of the memorial nt Berkeley and the jubilee meeting, nt which there were 130 and neer 200 present respectively), the average attendance was 62.3 . last year at Chippenlam 72 attended, and a few years ago the whole of the business was transacted with an attendinae of 28 only. If the meetings were duly equvened and every possible effort made bring to the notice of members important items upan the agends, ihe findings of the annual meetings shouki be accepted as representing the views of the association.
No one suggested a definite number, and eventually the following resolution was carricd unanimously: 'That the members of the Bristol Branch of the Gloucester and Brisiol Diocesan Assaciation at their annual meeting, January 25th, 1930, are unanimous in the opinion that the annual general mectings have been duly convened and the business carried out in a satisfactory manner, and that it would not be practicable to stato a quorum necessary for these general mectings.'
At a meeting at Chipponhnm on January 18th, atlended by about 25 members, the resolution with regard to the Central Counci's rules and the suggested alterations was carried by a unanimous vote.

\section*{BRISTOL BRANCH CEAIRMAN RETIRES}

The annual meeting of the Bristol Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Dincesan Association was held at St. Ambrose's on Saturdny, when there were 45 members present. The hells were available from iliree o'elock, and good practice was obtained by the beginners present until 4.30 p.m., when the usual service was conclucted by the Vienr, the Rev. F. G. Waimsley. The organist and choir boys were present, and hotped to make the service exceptionally bright.

The Vient in his address gave the association a very cordial wel come to St. Ambrase's, this heing the first meeting the branch has held here. He said he could not help feeling impressed by seeing present such a number of men, who, having only a Saturday afteryoon for their recreation, came to chturch to attend at these meetings.

After the service, the members pastook of a very sice tea in the Clurch Hall, the Vicar, organist, and choir bops, and the Rev. M. E. Thorold (a vice-president of the association) being also present. (Continued in next column.)

\section*{WELL ATTENDED MEETING AT BRIERLEY HILL.}

The quarterly mectiug of the Northern Branch was held at Brierley Hill on Saturday, January 18th. The bells were available to the members from 3 p.m. till 4.30 , and a Eervice was then lold in the church conducted by the curate (Rev. David Morgan), who also gave the address. Tea was served in the Church Schools, over 100 members partaking of the good things provided.
Rev. D. Morgan presided at the gusiness meeting which follower, and was suppayted by the Rector's warden (Mr. J. Cox). The Clairman apologised for the absence of the Rector (the Rev. F. A. Smith) through illmess, and also conveycd the Rector's best wishes to the gathering.
The aranch introduced the venture of hawing a collection on behalf of the Belfry Repair Fund, which realised \(15 s\). Gil., and was considered a very gnod effort.
It was unanimously agreed to hold the next meeting at chaddesley Corbett.
The Rector of Brierley Fill, the Rev. D. Morgen, and Mr. J. Cox weve elected honorary members, and several performing members were also adiled to the list
It was decided to attempt the quarterly peal at Brierley Hill, the Ringing Master (Mr. C. Skidmore) being appointed to make the arangements.
Mr. W. B. Cartwright moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for allowing the meeting to he held at Brierley Fill, for the use of the bells, to him and lhe churchwardens for providing such a splendid tea, to Mrs. Lloyd and the ladies who had so kindly atlended to the wants of the visitors, and Mr. Lloyd on behalf of the local ringers. Mr. H. G. Bird then moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. D. Morgan for presicling at that meeting.
The Chairman, replying, said it had been an afternoon's pleasure to be with the lingers, and he thanked them sincerely for making him an honorary member.-Mr. J. Cox also acknowledged the wote of thanks, and Mr. J. Lloyd replied on behalf of the ladies and local ringers.
The members then returned to the tower, and several touches in Surprise methods were brought round before the close of a very gratifying meeting.

\section*{BRANOH MEETING AT TEIGNMOUTH}

The anmual meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devonshire Guild was held at St. Michael's, East Teignmonth, on Sakurday, when ringers were present from Paignton, Cookington, Collaton, Brixham, Buckfastleigl, Kenu, 官xeter, Clyst St. George and Newton Abbot.
The fine peal of eight bells were well utilised during the afternoon, and a gervice was held in church, which was couducted by the Viear (Rer. W. E. T. Trelawney Ross). An excellent address was given by tire Vicar of Rishopsteig nton (Rev. J. MaIntyre)
The visitors then adjourved to Messrs. Addison's Cafe for tea, which was followed by the business meeting, presided orer by the president of the Guild (Kev. E. S. Powell) in the absence of the chairman (Mir. F. J. Laxton) through illness

The annual report was produced and aclopted and showed a decrease in membership. It also showed that Mr. J. S. Gellings, a member of Paignton band, had tied during the past year, and the meeting stoorl in silence as a token of respect.
Votes of thanks to the Vicar and arganisf of St. Michael's and the Viene of Bishopstieignton were carried.
Messes. F. J. Laxton and H. J. Hole were re-elected chairman and searetary respectively, and one new honorary member and three associate members were also elected.
For the next meeting, to take piace on Saturday, May 10th, Cockington was unanimously chosen.
Other husiness was transacted, and the visitors afterwards returned to the tower, where touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung.
At the business meeting which followed, Mr. J. Gould, chairman, presided.
A vote of thanks to the Viear, organist, choir boys and lady helpers who assisted in serwing the tea, was proposed by the clatirmanl and scconded by Mr. Howell. The Vicar and organist suitably replien. The secretary and repregentative on Manegement Committee were re-elected.
The Chairman, Mrt J. Gould, who wished to resign, esked for nominations for that fofice, and Mr. F. Skidmove, of St. Ambrose's, was clected.
Mr. W. F. Thomas said they could not let Mr. Gould resign without extending to him their heartiest thanks ant appreciation of the work he hati so lopally done for the branch, and his suceessor would find great difficulty in filling his place.

\section*{PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR} PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their fisture publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about then.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

In their endeavours to destroy the symhols of religion in Russia, the Soviet is carrying out, a wholesale destruction of church bells, as well as removing all the ormaments from the churches. Thousands of tons of bells are being broken ap and melted dowa.
Beujamin Annable, one of the greatest pioneers of ringing, died on February lst, 1756. He was iuuried at St. Bride's, Flect Street where some of lyis performances helped to lay the foundations of ringing history.
On February 4th, 1861, a peal of 10,032 Grandsire Major was rung in 6 hrs . 18 mins. at Walsall. It is years now since a peal of Grandsire Major was rung ; it is more effote cven than Bob Triples.
Next Wednesdry is the annivorsary of two long peals. Ou that day, in the year 1783, a peal of 12,672 Bob Major was rung at Bromloy, and in the year 1888 a peal of 12,041 Stedman Caters at Appleton.
The first peal of London Sutprise on handbelis was rung at Romford on February 6ih, 1904.
The 50th amiversary meeting of the Eent Association will bo held at Canterbury on Easter Monday, and His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbary has promised to give au addross at the special service at noon in the Cathedral and to preside at the meating, which will be of special importance. Will members and visitors who anticipate being present kindly make a mate of the date?
The venue of Eo-morrow's meeting of the Blackburn Branch of the Lancashire Association has been moved to St. Michnel's Clurch, Blackbun.

\section*{PROPOSED AUGMENTATION OF BELLS AT MILTON} PARISHIONERS' ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF RINGER'S SERVICES.
It is soldom that any bell restoration takes place to recognise the efforts of an individual ringer, but such a proposal is on foot at Milton-next-Gravesend, Kent.
The Parochial Council of the Parish Church recommended to the annual meeting of parishioners on Friday evening last that the present peal of six to restored, and two trebles added to complete the octave, to commemorate Mr. F. M. Mitchell's 21st annivergary as leader of the ringers ai the tower, ind also of his appointment as hon. seceretary of the Kent County Assbeiation.
This recommendation was umanimously adopted, and a restoration fund opened, the estimated sum required being about \(£ 300\).
The peal of six at this tower are a handy ring, with a teuor of \(12 \frac{1}{5}\) cwi, und are of fine tone. The hack five were cast by John Hodson in 1656, and the present treble added in 1810 by the Whitechnpel Foundry, and the wholo rehung in a new oak frame, which is now in an extremely good state of preservation.
It is interesting to record that it was in this parish that her late Majesty, Queen Alesandra, firkt landed on English soil on the way to her wethling with the late King Edward, and it is alsu supposed that the bells at Milton were the lirst heard by Queen Alexandra in this couniry Douations to the above fuyd will be gladly received by tha Rector of Milton, the Rer. G. W. Mennue, or the hon. secretary, Mr. H. Argent, 45 , Rural Vale, Gravesend.

\section*{ARCHBISHOP AND CHURCH BELLS,}

THEIR IMPORTANCE IN MODERN LIFE.

\section*{IMPRESSIVE DEDICATION CEREMONX AT ADDISCOMEE}

An effective answer to those who argue that, in these days, clurch bells are unnecessary, was given by the Archbishop of Canterbury on Saturday, when lie dedicated the new groat bell at St. Mary's Parish Church, Addiscombe, Croydon. His Grace pointed out that in these deys of restlessness, brought about by the changed conditions of godern life, it was well that the thoughts of people should be directed sometimes to things eternal by the saund of the bell, which will reach them in their homes and at their work. This bell at Addiscombe is to be rung every day for a few moments at noon, and a brief prayer has been composed and widely circulated so that is may bo used in the silence of the beart of everyone who hears the sound.

The bell, of which we gave an illustration Last week, is one of the largest and certainly one of the finesf in Surrey. It weighs over two and a half tons, and its decp, sonorous tones are a delight to the ear. It is the gift of a generous member of the congregation.

 the bell, not only in its perfect harmins!: taning, buin if. th markmanslup and ornamentation, is a beswtipl exrmplo at fie hell foumder's art. It is not hung for rinisng in the orinany, why, bul can be swang jusi; e little more than frame ligh. it is lung in a new tower, which has been added to mompto ibr lnailding is colebration of the jubilee of the chucly, whath now litwer " wor: parulous district.
The dedication service was a most intmesiva and siemilienat on, for it hrought together in an act of prai and tiantrggiving pos ahs the members of the congregation, hut napr wntnives ather \(\%\) ligious borlies of the district, and the sific alloritios 'Thare mast have been at least two thousand people pwant at tive cermong, and many were unable to obtain admissin. The Mryor of croydan in his robes of office, and members of the Lomphratson, zunsat riti. ministers of various denominations in the frorman nin of repren nts fire men who accompanied the clorgy and the Archbizhop thi fhe fantect the bell founders being represented by $15. Th, Dim ant Thylus.

The service was a most inspiring one, the climax of which was reached when, the Archbishop havivg solemuly dediented the tower and bell, the latter boomed out its glocious note for the first time in the hearing of the people of Addiscombe. Afterwards, tho Arehbishop dedicated a mew chancel sereen and choir desks and some additions to the organ.

\section*{THE ARCHBISHOP'S ADDRESS}

The Archbishop, in his address, exptessed his joy at being permitted to take part in that occasion, which must mean, he said, so much thanksgiving and praise in so many hearts. They lad just completed their church, fand it was well that they had done so. Sone miglit ask why, while thote were so many pressing uecds anound them, they should take any of the resources, whing wero so scanty, for the adormment of their churches? Whenever he saw an unfinished chureh, standing year by year with something that spoke of the drean of the arehitect and we early lopes of the people who built it, still uncompleted, it always seemed to him, somohow, that thare must have been some arrest in the flow of enthusiasm and faith and hope; and whenever he saw, after whatever lapse of time, a church completed, and, as thare in their midst, the tower finished, he seemed to see sign of movemunt, of life, a time of fresh loyalty to the faith of the Lord on the part of the people, which was, indeod, most welcome. It, was well that aot only should thoir church, aftor more than fifty years, be completed, but also that the tower should have a voice to speak, so that it alould be not marely an adornment of the church but also, should he ary, r partner with them in the witmess and the message which that church was there to give, and when they henrd that bela, so generously given to them, speaking its note a short time before, they must havo heard in its depth and solemuity a most moving reminder of tho hhings that are unseen and eternal.
The Archbishop went on to thank those who had contributad to the carrying out of the scheme tor the completion of the church and to refer to the difficulties which were experienced in creating in the fast-growing outer Londan suburbs the sanse of corporate fellowship. It was a great pleasuye, therefore, to lim to greet on that occasion tho Mayor of Croydon and his colleagues, and to wolcothe among them their brethren from other communions. He went on to speak of the great and increasing importane of preserving at the hoart of our common life in England the remembranco of the living God, and said lie would take for his text not ang words from Holy Writ, but the word that would be spoken, please God, for' generations from the tower of that clarch and from the bell which Litey bad placed within it. Their bell lad received a mame, in accord. ance with an ancient and pieturesqua custom of hoso middle ages which they so often misunderstood and which, wilh ull their crudities and superstitions, had the touch of imatination and simpleminded devotion which we did well to remember. In accordance with that spirit the bell had roceived its name Gabriel, from the great messenger of the living God, and he understood that upon it was inseribed these words, and he would uge these words as his text and let the bell speak to them its message fhrough his lips: 'My name is Gabriel. I bring good tidings from the Lord and ramind the inlabitants of him. I call men and women to worship and arlore him within those walls or wherever they be at the sound of my voice. The Lord be with you." It was, said the Archbishop, over fifty years siuce his revered predecessor, Archbishop Tait, dedicated that church as a parish chareh. How many and far reaching had been the changes since then? He sometimes wordered whether any generation had sem changes so sudden, so umexpected, so far reaching as this gencration, whose life they sharod. He was not thinking of the change in oullook wrought by the awful vataclysm of the war, but of the advances of selence whieh hat ereabed a revalution in their mothods of life changes such as those brought about in the means of mechnoical propulsion and the achievements of wireless. These changes ladd created a restlessness, a desire for excitement, so that there was a danger of their forgelting the immortal soul and the clemal God, and of their living for the material things of the moment. The problem of our time was how they could use all the wonderful thimgs which had been given to them not only to raise the standard of comfort among our people, but how amidst it all they could remember the immorbal soul and the living God. Therefore it was that the dignifien, deep voice from the bell of that tower had somelhing to say to Croydons at this present, time, and, when thase who lived arolual it henrd it, he asked them to listen to Eleeir Vicar's plea and make their swift response, their ace of reminder, and perhaps fhose at home would link with it those who had gone forbh to the labour and work of the day, so that there might be that instantaneous, habilual link binding their lives to the living God. Iae mayed with all his herert that that church and the bowes, now completed, and pointing upward as a silent witness, might continually fulfil the cal] of the bell, and to all of them engaged in the work of the Church and the civic life of that town he re-echoed the prayer, "The Lord be with jou.'

\section*{GULDFORD DISTRICT'S ACTIVITES.}

Thr munusl meeting of the Guildford District of the Guildford Disicasitn Guild was held at Cuildfard on Saturday, January 18th. The belle of the Cathedral Church and of S. Nicolas' were available, andi were kept going in various metliods throughout the afternoon. A shart service was held aft S. Nicolas', at which the Rev. G. M. Whecter preacled a farewell sermon. He has now left to take up ar chaplaincy ab Mentone, and the support whicin he las given to the Cuild will be missed in the Guildioud District. Mr. Cyphus, the organist, very kindly gave his services at the organ.
Representatives, numbering about 70, from the Cathedral Chureh, S. Nicolas", Shalford, Haslemere, Godalming, Chiddingfold, Shere, Worplesdon, West Clandon, Merrow and Old Woking, and visitors from Dorking, Croydon, Otterslaw, Aldershot, Hawley, Chichester Cathedral, Farnham ant St. Clement Danes, attended the tea and business meeting at the Prince of Wales Assembly Rooms.
Jhe chair was taken by Mr. W. Harrison (vice-president), and he whs supported by Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O. (treasurer) and Major J. H. B. Hesse (Master of the Guild).
Mr. G. Grover, secrelary, Mr. A. H. Pulling, Ringing Master, and Mr. N. V. Harding, auditor, were declared elected, as only one nomination for ench of these offices had been mede.
Mcssrs. C. Hazelden and $. Ratiford were elected by ballot as members of the Executive Cornmittee of the Guild.
The balance shect showing a balance in hand of \(£ 85 \mathrm{~s}\). 9d. was adopted.

After referring in their joint report to the activities of the district durjug the past year, the Ringing Master and Secretary pointed out that it was dangerous to take a too aptimistic view of the fulure of change ringing in the Guildford District, and they appealed to all members to make a great effort during the coming year to render more support to the district afticers, and to make progress in the art of clangut ringing, which was at many towcrs in the district only practised in ils very elementary stages.

\section*{THE SECRET OF SUCCESS.}

Illee report atded: There is a lot to be done before every peal of bells in the diatriet is rung regularly for Sunday services by bands of keen change ringers. Every member must realise that although the succoss of the district and of the Guild depends, to some extent, on its officers and its efficiant management, it depends principally on the individaal menbers, who cannot be too strongly reminded tint their duty to the Guild does not end, but only starts, with the payunent of their annual subscripulogs. The objects of the Guild can never be attnined until every member bas developed such a sense of loyalty that he is, even at some inconvenience to himself, a regular and punctual attiender at service ringing, at practices and, at the mechngs of his district and the Guild; ever ready to learn some new methot to help to keep interested his fellow-ringers, and, above all, nerbeps, a persevering recruiting oflicer for the Exercise. Recruiting ringera and keeping them lias always been a diffeult task, and probably never more so than it is in these days, when there are so many counter attractions, skill in which is more easily acquired. Do not despair and do not forgot that the membership of the Guild must he kept up. The grentest recruting agency in the world is publicity. Dontt lost a single apportunity of finding a learner. Advertise among the clooir and congregation at your charch, youl cricked or fouthall clum, your institute and every possible place the fact that change ringing is the most fascinating art that has ever been pracased, and elways be ready to give anyone who shows the least interest an opportunity of learning to handle a bell. It is useless to sit still and say, "Wo can't get any ringers.' They will not oome until they are asked, and many will not give ringing a trial unless Pou convince them beforehand that clange ringing is something more than a mere tug-of-war business with a lump of metal.
Adniral T. P. Walker voiced the thanks of the members fà Mr. C Hezelden, tho retirigg Ringing Master, for his services as Ringing Master of the Guildford District, both for the new Diocesan Guild and the Winchester Guild during the last 12 ycars, and several other momuers also expressed their appreciation of Mr, Hazelden's work.
Ewhurst, Witley, Dunsfold, Old Woking gnd Puttenham wer chosen as places for district meetings in 1930 .
For the purposes of combined practices it was decided to divido the district into five areas with four towers in each, and Messrs. Whittington, Melville, Hazelden aud Hayes, together with the seeretary, wore closen as conveners of these practices in their respective districts
The District ronominated as Guild officers for election at the annual meeting of the Guile Mr. W. Harrisan (vice-president), Major Hesse (Mnstor), Mr. I. B. Coldsmith (seoretary), Admiral Walker (tressurer), and Mr. G. N. Burdock (suditor).
Messrs. A. H. Pulling, C. Fatel及en, G. Grover and R. Whittington were all nominated as candidates for the office of representative of the Guild on the Central Council.
Several new members were elected, and the mecting closed with a vole of thanks to the chairman.

NORTH-WESTERN DISTRICT ANNUAE MEETING.
The annual meeting of the Norlh-Western District was held at the Parish Church of All Saints, Kingston-on-thames, on Saturday, mentbers and friends attending From Ashtead, Banstead, Bedingion, Ghelsen, Croydon (St. John's and St. Peter's), Dorking, Ealing, Epsom, Ewell, Haslemere, Fingston, Leatherhead, Merstham, Mitcliam (Christ Church and SS. Peter and Paul's), Thames Ditton, Waltan-on-t'bames and St. Margaret's, Westminstcr. Ringing commenced at three o'clock, and the heavy ring were kept gaing in warious methods until 5.30 , when tea was served in the Church Hall, 35 members sitting down to a very enjoyable meal.
At the business mecting whinh follower, the Master of the association (M1. D. K. C. Birt) presided. Two new members were elected, and the election of three members previous to peal attempts were ratifled.
The report and balance sheet for the year was passed without comment.
It was decided to held six districe meetings during the year at the following towers if possible: Leatherhead on Easter Wonday, Benhilton in Mey, Ranmare Comman in July, Hersham in September, Mitcham in Navember, and the annual district meeting at St Peter's, Croydon, in January.
The district ofticers for the year were elected as follows: Mr. A W. Clark, Master; Mr. F. G. Woodiss, treasurer; Mr. D. Gooper secretary; and Mr. A. Gower, auditor. Three members elected on the committee were Messrs. J. Sparrow, A. H. Wincli and J. Beams Mention was made with regret that the tirgston band had entirely dropped out of the association until that evening, when one of the young Kingston ringers was elected a member.
Majar J. H. R. Hesse spoke of the time when Kingston tower was a real contre of change ringing and haci ar good band belonging to the association, and he thought something ought to be done to persuade them to rejoin.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the retiring officars and consmiltee men for their work during the year, and the secretary was asked to write to those not present and convey to them the meeting's thauks. A cordial vole of thanks was also passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to Mr. J. Howes for making all the necessary arrangements for a successful meeting.

The tower was again visited and the bells kopt going until nine oclock, when a very successful and anjoyable meeting was brough to a close. Tlue methods practised during the day ranged from rounds to London Surprise Major and Gambridge Surprise Roya] SOUTHERN DESTRICP.
The annual general meeting of the Sonthern District was held at Godstone on Soturday, Tanuary 18ih. The following tawers wree represented: Kingswood, Merstham, Buckland, Reigate, Limpstield Chart. Redhill, Horley, and the local band. The bells were set going soon after three a'clock, and at the scrvice beld later an appropriate address whs given by the Rev. G. E. Hoare, Rector of Godstone After service, the party adjourned to the Rectory, where tea was kindly provided by the Rev. G. E. and Mrs. Hoare.
At the business meeting which followed, the Rector occupied the
Mr: D. K. C. Birt proposed a very bearty vote of thanks to the chainman for presiding ot the mecting, for the use of the bells and] for his address at the service, and to Mirs. Hoare and Mr. Robert Hoat for making such excellent arrangements. A vote of thanks was also accorded the officers for their services during the past year, and they were reappointed.

\section*{GOUTHERN DISTRICT'S ANNUAL MEETING}

The annual meeting of the Southorn District was held on Sntur day, Jamuary 18th, at St. Luke's Church, Chelsen, and during the afternoon and erening some 35 members and friends made use the ten bells contained in the lofty tower. Three coclock saw an eight-bell band in attendance, but before they had raised the bells other ringers arrived, and a touch of Ganndsire Catprs opened the proceedings, several roung men and maideas thereby getting an opportunity of practice on tey hells. Stedman Caters followed, some goorl touches being rung until five o'clock, when an adjournment was made for tea at a neighbouring restaurank, 26 merry souls partaking of the repast, with many a quip and jest, 'midst' the clatter of the tea cups.
The business meeting took glace immediately on the return to the Lower, the Master (Mr. H. Manec) presiding.
Ther balance sheet was aph, sved and adopted, and the clection of officars conclusively proved that the distriet was in a food and live position, as all the officers were re-elected without any debate, viz. Master, Mr. H. Mance; treasurer, Mr. R. Mackrill; stewartl, Mr. W. Essery; and secretary, Mr. J. Herbert.
A vote of thanks was acearded the church authorities for the use of the bells and to Mr. H. Mance for making the arrangemonts, Ringing was afterwards carried on till some time past eight ocolock. Gambridge Royal hing sandwiclen between Stedman Gaters and other stindard methods.
It is hoped to hold the next mecting at Lewishan in March, duc notice of which will appear its these columms.

\section*{OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD} SONNING DEANERY 13RANCE.
The mnnual general meeting of the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guidd was held at Wokingham on Saturday, Taruary 18th. Ringing in the local towers took place during tho aftermoon. Divine service was held in All Saints' Church, at whieli a very appropviate address was given by the Rey. R. W. H. Aeworth, Vicar of Sumaingdale, who presided, from Isaiab lxii. 6, "Te that make mention of the Lord, keep nol silence.' 'lea followed in the Chutch House of All Saints, where a capital spread was shly served by a staft of ledies, who were afterwards thanked, on behalf of those present, by the Rev. Canon Coleridge.

Canon Coleridge presided ovar the business meeting, at which there were also present the Revs. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Mister of the Guild), B. Long (R.D.), W. T. Stubbs, A. P. Garc, Mr. A. J. Wright (treasurer of the Guild), Mr. R. T. Hibbert (secretary), Mr. W. J. Paice (hon. secretiry and treasurer of the braneh) and over 100 ringers.
The Hon. Treasuren reported a small balance in land, a decrease upon last year's.
As lon. secretary, Mr. Paice reported 20 hon. members and 150 ringing members, practically the same as last year, during which period they hati lost, by death three of their hon, members-the Rew. Canon Selway, Mrs. R. H. Walker, of Wokingham, and Mr. J. Simonds, of Arborfield. Among the meetings held had been one at Hawley, Hants, where the Guild joined with members of the Guik]ford Diocesan Guild and the Rasingstoke District of the Winchester and Porlsmouth Guild. A good piece of work by the brapeh had been the overhauling of the Easthampstead bells at a cost of 824 , carried out by Messis. T. Bond, of Burford, Oxon. There were other towers in the branch where similar work would be welcomed. Tlise zumber of young ringers at Sandhurst and Finchampstcad was a very emcouraging feature. He hoped the young members would make full use of the mectings and the combined practices. The inatallation of electric light in Finchampstead Chureh, including the tower, bell chamber, etc., had proved of great advantage. Mr. Paice thanked all the members for their kind help and co-operation.
The reports were passed unanimously and with expressions of satisfuction.

\section*{OFFICERS RE-ELECIED.}

Than Rev. Canon Coleridge, who vacated the chair pro tem. in fayour of the Master of the Guild, was unanimously re-clected chairman, on the motion of Mr . F. Dentry, sceonded by Mr. A. J. Wright. The Mastat congratulated the branch on its chairman, and sniti no other brancla in the whole of the kingdom had such a splendid chairman, Canon Goleridge expressed lis thanks.
Mr. W. I. Paice was unamimously re-elected hon. seeretary and treasuler by acclamation and was heartily thanked for his services. The said fee would, with their kind eo-operation, continue to do his hest (applause). The Brancil Committee, to serve with the ex-oficio nembers, chairman and hon. secrefary, was then re-elected.
Messers. J. Rance, J. Moth, F. Dentry and Jos. White were unantimously re-elected branch representabives to the Guild Committee.
On the recommendation of the secretary three towers, not yet isited for quarterly meetings, were arranged as under: Easthampshead for Marel, Hurst for June, and Barkham for September.
Combined practices were left to the secretary to arrange.
This coneluded the agenda, and the chairman invited the Master make a few remarks.
The Rev. C. W. O. Jenky, who was received with applause, said two things mate lis atteudance at their ansual meeting a great pleasure-the excellent ten and the fully set out printed statement sent to ench tower by their secretary. Printing expenses, though heavy, were all worth while. He referred to the renovation of bells which had taken place in sdjacent places-Reading, Newbury, ete., and at Goring, where John Bower hat Rehieved the desire of his lifetime. He lad never failed to have a Minor ringing band for one Sunday scrvice, if not both, for the past 50 years. St. Lawrence's, Reading, was a very great achicvement, and there was now a very beautiful ring of twelve bells.
The Guild Treasurer, Mr. A. J. Wright, said the Guild finances were in a sound position. He auticipated a balance as large as last year's. The Restoration Fund was, as usual, considerably decreasing. He hoped restorations would not come on very quictly, hut lie hoped before the end of next yeas to recommend the grants wo all the restorations coming in (Ivear, wear). He suggesten flat the branel should form a Guilal Restoratisin Fund, using halis the subscriptions of their hon. members for ibs purpose, He congralalated their secretary upon an excellent balruce gheel, the mast intelligent balance sheet that, as Guild treasurer, he sver got. It gaved a lot of trouble. Fo congratulaied tha hranch, arid hoped they would go on increasing.

\section*{JUBILEE OF THE BRANCH.}

Mr. R. T. Hibbert referred to the suppurt of other brami lase of the Oxford Guild to St. Lawrence's rustaralion, gital sbid Esnning Deanery did a great deal in a quet wh. hfr. llibbert boped fuat with such an excellent chairman and secretary they would 'lange on' to then.

FARNFAM FETERANS BLRULUAY QUAKTER-PBAL,
On Sunday, ad Si. Andrew"s Clareh, Farniani, for morniag service, a quarter-peal ( 1,260 clunges) of (mandsire Y'riples was rung if 48 minules ly: G. Upshall 1, \(\mathbf{1}\). Upbiall 2, C. Wells 3, S . Mcadows 4, E3, Clapshaw 5, F, Kemp 6, IR. Histed (composer and conductor) 7, A. E. King 8. This quarter-pert was arranged as a compliment to Mr. Edward Clapshaw, the Tinget al the Sth und eaptain of the band of ringers ah this chutels, on his 85 th binthday, with the congratulations and best wishes of tho whole of the menbers of the band.
Mr. Clapshaw has ben a ringer at Farilam Chureh for 64 years, and is vory highly esteemed by the clengy, his brather riugers, and the whole of the chturchworkers, whose sincere wish it is that lee will be able to continue his work among them farmany yenrs yel to came.
Mr. Claphaw was present at the anousi meeting of the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, at lamham, on the previous dey, and received the cangrafinalions and good wishes af the whole of the 50 members present

He began to ting in the yenr 1866, whon the bells were reopenem at Farnham, after the tower had been raised by another sharey, and he has continued his loyal service to the Clureh ever sinee. He joined the Winchester Diocesan Guild when it was formed ower fifty years ago, aud he is, of course, a foundation member of the Guildford Diacesan Guilk.
He is hale and hearty, keenly interested in ringing, and ever ready to take his place in a touch. Fo is always present fur the Sunday service ringing. When asked on Saturday, by someone not fully aware of his capability, if he thought he world be able to mamage the quarter-peal the mext day, the veteram replied, "I shall bo all right. It's fhe others ['m wondering ahout." Mr. Clapslaw is a skilled horticulturist, and still works in his lavge garden.

\section*{MR. JOSEPH WAGHORN, AGED 87}

The eighty-seventh birliday of that woll-known London veteran, Mr. J. Waghom, sen., was celebrated hy some touches of Grandsiro Triples, rung ai St. Margaret's, liarling, an Sunday morning, is which Mr. Waghorn took part. Among thoge who shared in the ringing were \(R\). Courtier, who is anly 12 years of nge, G. W. Finulkner, F. G. Cottis, W. Benrd, E. Juems, W, Rolsbins, S. Holgate, E. Moore, R. Fenn and C. Fenn. Mr. Waghorn received the hearty congratulations of the ringers.

\section*{FIRST EIGHT.BELL PEAL AT WOKING}

The first peal on tha recently augmented ring of bells at Woking, Surrey, was rumg on Monday evening. The memhers of the Guildford Diocesay Guild, who had the privilege of taking part, Had the satisfaction of puting up a very finc aerformance, and afterwards wore the guests at supper of Almiral 'I'. P. Walker and Mrs. Walker and the local ringers, to whom cordial thanks were expressed for their kind hospitality and for the very friendly spirit in which the peal had been nrranged.
Admiral Walker, who is hon treasurer of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, has learnt to ring since leaving the Service, nud his interest in and enthusiasm for the art of ringing is an example to many a young ringer. It was largely through his initiative and efforts that the bells at Woking Parish Church, where he is also churchwarden, have been increased from six tr eight, and the old bells puts into new ball bearings. The funds for this purpose have beelr raised by the local ringers, among whom the Adminal is proud to number himself an A.B.

It was by the help of Adminal Walker and the ready requiescence of the otlier members of the band that the peal on Moninay was rung, and a special word of thanks must be given to Mr. Strudwick, who 'mounted guard' thuoughout the penl to prevent any accidental switching of of the electric light, quich would bave left the lingers in darkness.

Mr. Paice then refored to the jubilee of their branch, started on May 22nd, 1880, the Fear before the Diocesen Guild, with which it later affiliated. He suggested that the branel be first in the field with its jubilee celebration, to be in the form of a garden fete to be hold at Wokingham on or about May 22 and.

After some discussion it was decided prowisionally to fix the rlate us Saturday. May 24th (Empire Day, to which the fumction would add additional brightness in Wokingham), cletails to be left with the secrefary, Mr. Paice.

Mr. Dentry thanked the Rev. R. W. H. Acworth for his address, the Rector of All Saints', the Rector of St. Paul's (the Rev. H. M. Walterl, also the hon. תuditor, Mr. Owen Goddard, for their various acts of kind assistance.
The Rev. B. Long briefly and gracefully replied for all.
The Chamman expressed pleasure at heing present, and gaid the mumber of ringers in the country was 46,083-240 less than lagt year. The year before that there were 410 more. The tiocese of Oxiord held second place for numbers, the greatesi ntmber beiag in Exeter Diocese, while Bath and Wella came thind.

Mr. Moth thanked the chaimman, and the meeting elosed. Further ringing afterwards took place.

LEICESTER DISTRICT PROPOSES PEAL BOOKING FEES.
The mammal meeting of the Leicester District was held at the Cathedral, Leicester, on Jan. 18th. Previous to the business meeting the bells were kept going for about \(1 \frac{1}{2}\) hours to Kent Treble Bob Minor, Stedman Triples and Grandsire and Stedman Caters. Tho attendance was not all that could be desired, only 18 members being present at the business meeting at \(6.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\).
The local wice-president, Mr. A. J. Harris, occupied the chair. The hon. treasurer and general hon, secretary were renominated.

On the proposition of Mr. W. Wilson, seconded by Mr. J. Pole, a resolution was passed nominating Mr. J. Griffin, subject to his approval, as president of the association, and the secretary was instrutted to write to him immediately to this effect.
The local officers were reelected en bloc, with the exception of Mr. F. H. Dexter on the committee in place of hr. J. S. Carter.

On the proposition of Mr. E. F. Payne, scended by Mr. N. S. BagForth, it was decided to hold eight meetings this year as last year. Arnesby was chosen us the place for the next meeting, and Kibworth tor tho spring quarterly meeting.
Owing to the state of the association's finances, a resolution was passed, on tho motion of Mr. J. Pole, and seconded by Mr. W. Willson, to bring forward at the next general meeting that in future merabers should pay \(3 d\). per head per peal.
Mr. A. J. Harris then brought forward the subject of holding ans annual dinner in Leicester and reviving the old society of the Leveester Scholars. It was manimously decided to hold the first of these dinners before long (probably on Saturday, March Isth). The local officers, pius Mr. W. H. Clarke, were chosen to act as a committee in this matter and make the necessary arrangements.
The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Provost, Ringing Master and local ringers.

\section*{YOUNG BRAMSHOTT RINGER'S DEATH.}

The funeral took place at Bramshoti, Hands, on Saturday, January 11th, of Wm. Thomas Vale, a chorister and ringer at the Parish Church, who died in Haslemere Hospital following an operation after a very short illness.
The service, which was choral, was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. F. A. Berrisford, assisted by Rev. A. H. Taylor and Rev. H. A. Bowleg. A course of Grandsire Triples was wing on the handhelds at the grave by members of the Faslemere band, Messes. Furlonger, Ovary, Rowilen, and Major Hesse, and the tower bells were rung muffled by his colleagues of the Bramghot hand.
'Tom' will be greatly missed ab Bramshott, where he was most regular both at the Sunday services and practices. He was a irequant visitor to Haslemero for handbell practice, through the kindmes of the Rev. O. S. Walfort, at whoso residence the practices took place, and always received on warm welcome at the Haslemere belfry, where he was flatways anxious to learn.
The la ge attendance at the churn and the many formal tributes testified to the esteem in which he was held, and mach sympathy felt for his parents at the loss of their only son at the early age twenty.

\section*{DEATH OF HEREFORDSHIRE VETERAN}

Another Herefordshire veteran has answered the "call." After only a few weeks' illness, Mr. John Edwards, of TIraringtom, died Parish Church on Thursday, January th, with many tokens of regret and respect by relatives, ringers and other friends. He was a wonderfully active man for his years, of sturdy build and a happy disposition, with a deep love, since boyhood, for his church bells. He formerly resided at Woolhape for many years, where le acted as foreman of the belfry at St. George's Church under the Vicar, the Rev. T. M. Beavau, and there trained a humher of young men of the parish to ring Bob Doubles. These pupils of Eladereford.
Tho writer met the deceased over 40 years ago, and was much irapressed by his all-round knowledge of gardening, Herefordshire cattle (the famous white-face breed), and apple culture for cider making. Two outstanding occasions that gave the old gentleman much satisfaction may here be noted: when the Vicar of Wool-hope in 1889 presented nine of Mr, Edwards' lads with their certhope in 1889 presented nine of Mr, Edwards' lads with their certilocates as change ringers, and when he dined at ilo Hereford Festival of the Guild with his son in the chair as Ringing Master

\section*{THE CENTRAL COUNCIL,}

\section*{NORTH NOTES ASSOCIATION}

A successful meeting of the North Not ts Association was held at Shireoaks on January 18th, when the attendance nurabered forty, members being present from Alston, Barlborough, Creswell, Edwinstowe, Gainsborough, Gamston, Killamarsh, Treeton, Worksop, Sutton-on-Trent and Ordsall. Tea was served in the Parish Hall by the ringers' wives and other helpers in an excellent manner, heartily appreciated by all present.

The meeting was presided over by the Rev. R. Y. Dod, Vicar, supported by the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, of Ordsall, Mr. H. Cafferata, of Sutton-ou-Trent, and Messes. H. High (hon. treasurer), H. Reval and R. W. Stockdale (hon. secretaries), accompanied by all the members who game for the ringing in the afternoon and evening.
The Rev. R. Y. Dod gave the association a hearty welcome to Shireoaks, and said that be wished there could be moro meetings held in his parish if all the gatherings were as great a success as this one. He also mentioned that they had had their bells recently rehung, which was an effort achieved by the ringers themselves aud one or two fitters. He hoped that be visiting ringers would find a great improvement
It was proposed that North Collingham should be visited on Easter Monday far the next meeting, but the Secretary slated that the bells of this church were being rehung, and, in case he could not get permission for their use on that date, Edwiustowe was adopted.
There were no new members to be elected. The Rev. IR. F. Wilkinson asked all who were present if they could not bring new life into the association, for it was only the younger generation who could make the association prosper in the years to come. It was said that the society had during the past year been very successful, both in membership and finance, and it was loped that they would try to keep it at this high standard.
Two applications for grants to bells funds were received, viz., from North Collingham and Shireoaks, but it was decided that their consideration should be held over until the committee meeting.
A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for all he had cone in connection with making the meeting a success, to tho caterers for provi-liag such a splendid tea, and to all who helped with the arrangements of the meeting.
Tho tower was again visited, and some very good ringing done in methods ranging from Plain Bob to London Surprise. Tie bells were dowered in peal at 9 p.m., bringing to a close a most enjoyable day.

\section*{ALDERMAN PRITCHETT'S 75th BIRTHDAY.}

\section*{CELEBRATED BF A PEAL OF STEPMAN CINQUES.}

In celebration of his seventy-fiftil birthday, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, presiding Ringing Master of Si: Martin's Guild, Birringhammy, took part on Tuesday of last week in a peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's Church. The alderman is naturally and justifiably proud at having rung another twelve-bell pea! at this advanced age. He has been ringing for more than 60 years, having began at King's Norton when he was only 14. He has been a membet of the College Fouls for over 50 years.
Ala old friend of Birmingham ringers also took part in the peal in the person of Mr. W. T. Fates, of Cheltenham, and next to hin n was " promising young ringer, George F. Fears, who rang his bell Taultessly in this, his first attempt for a peal on twelve.
In addition to Alderman Pritehett's birthday, this peal celebrated the Goth birthday of Mr. J. H. Shepherd (Swindon), one of the vice-presidents of St. Martin's Guild, and the 53 rd birthday of Mr. F. B. Yates, of Kina's Norton, another keen supporter of the Guild.

BEWDLEF, WORCS-On Wednesday, January 8 th, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Tuples (1,260 changes) in 47 mine.: Mrs. J. Broad 1, G. Davies 2, T. J. Salter 3, J. Broad 4, C. H. Wonciberry (conductor) 5 , J. Smith 6, J. Woodberry 7, G. Bishop 8. Ringers of \(1,4,8\) are of the local band, the rest from Kidderminster.

\section*{'SEVEN DIFFERENT 720's.'}

No one has yet ventured to reply to a correspondent who has twice asked the question in our columns, "What constitutes "seven different \(7^{20}\) 's " of Minor?" The question, on the face of it , would seem easy to answer, but the apparent reluctance of the pundits to reply to the inquiry seems to indicate that the point is more difficult of satisfactory explanation than appears at first sight. Accepting the expression ' 720 ' as meaning the extent of the 'rows' or' 'changes' on six bells, and that ali extents must contain, somewhere or other, the same rows or changes, it seems to us common sense that, if in each of the extents the rows or changes come up in a different order, then the 720's are 'different.' But it is never safe to make even the simplest assertion in regard to ringing, because someone is nearly sure to contradict it, and we shall not be in the least surprised if, having had the temerity to answer our correspondent's question-because no one else seemed prepared to do sowe are now told that our views on this matter are entirely wrong. It is possible we may be told that it means something totally different to what the words in their ordinary sense convey-as we were, for instance, when it was stated that the apparently simple expression, 'seven 720's' (contained in the definition of a peal of Minor) meant seven different compositions.

If a transposition or a reversal is looked upon as the same composition as the original, it is obvious that, unless the fefinition of seven different seven-twenties is that which we suggest, a great many reports have beet published which could not substantiate the claim made of the peal consisting of 'seven different 720's.' Here is another issue to which the Central Council might turn their attention when they come again to the vexed question of defining a peal of Minor. They might say what shall be understood in future by the expression 'seven different \(720^{\prime}\) 's,' and the suggestion by our correspondent might, in the meantime, very well be considered by conductors in reporting thein peals-that they should distinguish between seven different 720's, in which the differ ence lies principally in the sequence of the rows or changes, and those in which there are actually seven different compositions.

The question of peals on five or six bells is a complex problem, upon which there is a wiclening division of opinion, and the probability is that it will eventually become one of those questions, like the extension of methods, in which the two sides take up an irreconcilable attitude. In all these questions, however, the Council (Continued on page 82.)

ought to show a mind of its own. It does its prestige in the Exercise no good when it shelves knotty points by passing resolutions that it is ' not competent to express an opinion' upon such things as, for instance, what it will recognise as an extension of a method. When there are two divergent foints of view, both cannot be accepted, and even at the risk of olfending the susceptiSilities of one side or the other, the Council should have the courage to take a stand. Such a position is hardly likely to arise, perhaps, over the question of what constitutes seven different \(720^{2}\) 's of Minor-but it might.

\section*{ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.}

The minual meeting of St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birminghati was held in the belfry of St. Marlin's Church, Mr. Aiderman J. S. Pritchett, M.A., Presiding Ringing Mnster, being in the chair. Before proceeding with the ordinary business, the Chairman referred to the loss the Guild had sustained by the death of Charles Stanbridge, one of its oldest members, and he asked those present to stand for a moment as a last mark of respect
On the proposition of the chairman, the president and vice-presidents were re-elected en bloc.
The Secretary, in proposing that Mr. Alderman Pritehett bo reelected Presiding Ringing Master, congratulated him, on behalf of the Guita, on having attained his 75th birthday, and on enjoying such good health and strengtin.-This was seconded by Mr, James George and carried unanimously.
Mr. Pritchetf thanked the members for their ronewal of confidene and their good wishes. Although he was 75 yeare of age, ho whs thankful to say that he was still actively eagaged in all his public and Masonic work, which took np guito a lot of lis time. He thanked Mr. Albert Walker for acting a bis depoty during the past yaar, and proposed his re-election for the ensuing year. -This was seconderd by Mr. Perrens and carried unanimously.
Mr. Walker, in accepting the office for anatier year, stated how increasingly difficult it was becoming, owing to business pressure, for him to attend the weekly practices regularly, and that ere long they pould have to consider appointing someone elae in his stead.
Mr. T. F. Reeves suggested that he should now relinguish the nfince of trustee, and proposed that as Mr. Paddon Smith had arocfully looked after the funds of tha Guild during his 20 yenrs as secretary, he should now become a trustee togelher with Mr. VicePresident Tom Russam.-This was seconded by Mr. Walker and carried unanimously.
The remaining officers were all re-elected as follows: Auditors, Messra. J. Preston and E. T. Allaway: librarion, ML. G. F. Swann; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. T. H. Reoves.
The balance sheet was presented by the aecretary and this was adopted on the proposition of Mr. Walker, seconded by Mr Goorge.
It was decided to hold the Henry Jobnson Canmemoration Jinner on Saturday, March lat, at the Imperial Eotel, and, on the proposition of Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. Neal, to ask the Rector of Birmingham to take the chair. The other arrangements in connection with the dinner were left in the hands of the officers.
Several new members were elected, and the next quarterly meeting was fixed for Saturday, April 5th, at Nortbtield.
Owing to the Saturday activities in the Markot Place, only a small amount of ringing could be done. This, however, enabled the members to spend a convivial hour or so together in another place.

\section*{RINGER'S SERVICES RECOGNISED.}

Through the kindness of Mra, Fiuller, of the Cedars, Bagslot, Surrey, the Bagshot ringers were entertained to a supper on Friday week. The Vicar, Ganon R. W. Stuart, prosided.

During the evening Mr. F. Nye, who lias been fareman and atceplckeeper for a great number of years, was presented with a case ol pipes from the Vicsr and the local band to show their eppreciation for his help in teaching young ringers and the assibtance ho bas given to the band.
Mr. Nye has heen one of those persistent and long-suffering 'spade workers' whose discouragements fisually outweigh the permanent gans achicved, but who nevertheless continue to give their time and energies to teaching others in tho hope that eventually some young ringer will be added to the ranks of the Exercise. Always cheery and onthusiastic, Mr. Nye is a valued member of the Guildiford Diocesn Guiti, as he proviously was of the Winchester Diocerarn Guild.

\section*{WELLTNGBOROUGH BRANCH RECORD MEETING.}

On Saturday, January 25th, by the kind permission of the Vicar (the Rev. B. E. Owen), a quartorly meeting of the Wrellingboraugh Brandl of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held at Figham Ferrers, a thoronghly representative body of ringers being present from Fimedon, Irthlingborough, Wellinghorough, Wollaston, Borzeat, Earls Barton, Easton Maudit, Yardley Hastings, Mears Ashby, Wilby, Burton Latimer, Cranford, Geddington, Tlirapston, Raunds, Titchmash, Bedford, aud the local company. The line peal of eight bells were raised about 2.30, and wore in great demand during the afternoon and evening. Many methods were rung, ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Superlative, Cambridge, Bristol, and Londen Surprise Major.

The Guild service was Leld in the beautiful Church of St. Mary, canducted by the Viear, who also gave a most appreciative and en couragitg adaress, in which he pointer out that the work of ringers thad not always been recognised as it was to-day, and fhat he looked unon them as a fire body of elturcliworkers. The address, the music led by the fine organ, and the hearty singing, made the service an inspiration to all.
The party afterwards adjourned to the Old Grammat School close by, where an excellent tea, which had been kindly prepared by the local ringers and their wives, awaited them.' The Yicar presider supported by Mr. W. Webh, churchwarden. Mr. A. E. Wright, organist, and a record attendance of 70 members.

The business mecting follawed, the Vicar being in the chair. Wallaston was suggested as the next place of meeting. Mr. W. Webb and Mr. A. E. Wright were elected hon. members, and four ringing members were also elected.
The secretary then presented his report and halance sheet for the past year, which were passed as highly satisfactory, and on the proposition of the Vicar hearty thans were accorded him for his work.
A comprehensire vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his address, to the arganist, the local ringers, and the ladies who had lelped with the tea, was proposed by Mr. T. R. Hensher, and carcied with acclamation.
On returaing to the tower, a pleasing feature of the gathering was the ringing of a wall-struck course of Superlative Surprise Major by eight old veferans who had rulg together at Highan Ferrers more than thirty years ago, the band heing as follows: H. Chapman 1, A. Perkins 2, J. Gurratt 3, A. H. Martin 4, J. J. Mawbw 5, C. W. Clatke 6, T. R. Hensher 7, A. Y. Tyler 8 . It was generally agreed that the honours of the day rested with these reterens. After the lowering of the bells, about elelit o clock, a well-attended social was held in the clubroons of the Green Dragon Hotel, touches and selections heing gireu an handhells by the Finedon and Irtinlinghorough ringem, and songs rendered by various members of the company, ML: A. Perkins being at the piano.

Amougst those present were Mr. R. C. Black (general secretary) Miss Thursfield (secrelary of the locat kranch of the Ladies' Guild) Miss E. Stecle, Mr. IT. Tysoe and Mr. H. J. Sharp, of Bedford

\section*{LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION'S TITLE,}

To the Editor.
Dear Sir-I slall be glad if you will allow me, through your Rimging world \({ }^{2}\) to draw the attention of the members of the Lonclon County Association to the incorrectness of the last part of the title.

There is no North Southwark Dioceso.
If the members wish to mean the northern area of the Southwark Diocese, why not be correet and alter the title to read and the Sunthwark Archdeaconry Guild'?

I think this is the only one of our societies with an incorrect title. -Yours sincercly,
F. W. RICHARDSON.

\section*{ROCHESTER DISTRICT GROWTH}

A very successful meeting of the Rochester District was held on Saturday at Swanscombe, and in spite of the very wat weather upwards of sixby ringers attended, the following towers being represented: Rochesier Cathedral, Fuindsbary, Figham, Gravesend, Mil-ton-next-Gravesend, Chatham, Gilingham, Upclutch, Tunstall, Queenborough, together wibl the local band, and also visitors from Sevenoaks. Some very useful practice was accomplished, especially hy the less experienced ringers, during the afternoon. A service was lund in the caurch, attended by the whole of the ringers, and conduced by the Rector, after which tea was served in the Church Hall The business meeting was presided over by the Rector, who expressed his ploasure in once again meeting the bellringers. The Rector said that ho considered the bellingers were amongst the most loyal and devoted of his chutchworkers.
It was very gratifying to see the increase in membership of the association, a total of iwents-two practising members being elected at the meeting. Included in lhig was the whole of the hand from Minster, Isle of Sheppey, where Mr. Exeter has been fighting an uplill task in forming a new band in a very creditable manner. The Viear of Minster, the Rev. Brazier, was also elected as an honorary nember. If Miaster proves as loyal to the association as Queenhorough, another Sheppey tower, the district will indeed have a very useful extreme wing
At the conclugion of the meatirg a very bearty vote of thanks was nccorded to the Rev. and Mus. Camplbell Ward for so generously entertaining the rimgers, also to the Rector"s sisler for playing the organ, and the ladies who waited tupon the ringers at such a splendid tea.

\section*{PRESENTATION TO MR. ARTHUR SYMONDS.}

\section*{RECOGNITION OF LONG LEADERSEIP}

A goodly number of the SS. Peter and Paul's band, Lavenhana, met at the tower on Thursday, Jamuary 23 rd , to greet their macis estemed leader and instruetor on his 72ad birtlday, Mr. Arlhur Symonds, the 'G.O.M." of West Suffolk. Owing to seriong illness near the ebureh, the tawer bells were silent, but a rari i programme was accomplishod orr the handbells, including Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Bob Major, Double Norwieli, Supernative and Stedman Caters.
Mr. W. R. J. Poulson, denuly conductor, in making the presentation on behalf of the Lavenlhm Society, asked Mr. Symouds to accept their sincere wishes that lie might be spared many more yours as their leader, and Mr. Symonds suitably responded. The presenta silver bell pendant-takes the form of a badge of office, and is insoribed: "Instructor of the Lavenham Society of Bellringers," mud on the reverse side: 'Presented to Arthur Symouds an his 72ud birthday by the L.S.B.R., January 23rd, 1930.
Much could be written on what Mr. Symoads has done in "spade work' in and around Lavenliam. Suffice it to say that upwards of 70 ringers have passed under his guidance, and three other pupils are now under his titition.

\section*{HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.}

A very successful meeting of the St. Albans Digtrich was held al Luton, an January 22nd, about 25 lingerz attending. 7he methorls practisca were Grandsine and Stedman Irtples, Double Nowwich, Kent Trebla Bob, Superdative, Cambridge, Bristol and London Surprise Major.
IE was decided thet the next meeting should be held at BL. Alhaus at the two six-bell towers of St. Michaol's and SE. Stephen's.
The thanks of the ringers were accorded to the Vicur for allowing the meeting to be held, and to the local band for their holp in making the meeting a success.

\section*{BELL BALLADS.}

An elegantiy got up brochure has been printed containing the bell baliads by "Cascable" (Major F. A. Yorke). Ringers will bave read some of the verse by this author in 'The Ringing World' from time to time, and the balladg are now brought together in a charmingly got up booktet, dedicated to the Exercise in general and the College Youths in particulan. 'Beil Balads' can bo obiamed pog* free for 2s. from the printers, Sessus. Willian Barlow and Sons, Park Road, West Hertlepool.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive pbotographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be grood enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELERY GOSSIP,}

The bells of St. Botolph's Church, Bishopsgate, now temporatily silent, wers opened on February 7th, 1783 , when thrce penls were rung by three different bands-two of Oxford Treble Bob by the College Youths, with a peal of Grandsire Triples sandwiched in beiween by the Cumberlands.
The first peal of Forward Major was rung on February 8il2, 1889, at Deritend, composed and conducted by John Carter.

Eighty years ago, next Sunday, the St. James' Society rang a peal of Superlative Surprise at Bethigl Green-the first Surprise peal in the Metropolis.
Next Tuesday is the 120th amiversary of the collapse of the spire of St. Nicholas' Church, Liverpool, which fell with disastrous results.
A peal of 14,016 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung in 7 hrs .26 mins. at Oldham on February 12th, 1821.
Mr. Ferris J. Sheplerd, of Herslam, Surrey, who has had to forego ringing for some long time, under medical orders, hopes that he may eventually be allowed by the doctor to resume and to meet his old friends again in the belfry.

\section*{CHANGE RINGING BROADCASTS}

Sir,-I have sometimes wondered whether in the broadcasting of change ringing the best use is made of a great opportunity. Apart from the immediate purpose with which such ringing is associated, it might be also a means of rousing a greater interest in campanology, or, if need be, instilling a kindlier feeling towards it on the part of those who are not ringers themselves, or of those who have not got beyond round ringing. The question bas recently been forced upon me by the remarks of a friend who is not a ringer hut who does not dislike bells.
Is it wise to broadeast twelve-bell ringing? Maximus or Cinques may appeal to a ringer, but \(I\) cannot help thinking that anything above Triples or Major is rather beyond the general pubfic. They could comprehead an octave, provided the leads were kept well open, but the higher numbers are too much for them. Would it notbe better if broadoests were limited to Major or (perhaps better still) to Triples? This, I may add, is not written in criticism of tive excellent ringing of Cingues which we hear on the wireless from time to time. My point is that twelve-bell ringing will never appeal to the public, or help to any zppreciation of campanology, to the extent that Major or even Doubies will.
Some time ago the Rev. Ll. Edwards gave a talk on bell ringing which was, so we were told, greatly appreciated. In his illustrations he used, if I remember rightly, Triples or Minor methods. That was wisdom. I renture to think that if he had used the higher numbers the good results of his talk would have been Eullified. An octave of bells can be grasped. Any higher number is, at any rate for monringers, too big a proposition.-Yours faithfully, Bristol.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. GIRENCESTER BRANOH AND CENTRAL COUNCIL AFFILIATION.
The aumual mecting of the Cirencester Branele was held at Cireneester on Saturday, January \(25 \mathrm{th}_{1}\), he following towers being represented: Cirencester, Fairford, Lechlade, Tetbury and Soulth Cerney. Visitors were present from Swindon and Burford. Watermoor bells were rung during the afternoon to Grandsive and Stedman Twiples nend Kent Treble Bob Major, Tea at Messrs. Viners' Restaurant was followed by the business mecting, the Vicar (Rev, Canon Westmacott) taking the chair.
The treasurer's leport was considered satisfactory and adopted. One bonorary and 12 now performing members were elected.
Coln St. Aldwyn was chosen for the next moeting.
Arising from the circular letter sent out by the executive committee of the association, witl regard to re-affiliation with the Central Council, and on the question of providing in the association's rules for a guorum at the annual general meeting, the following resolutions were unanimously agreed to:-

That this branch, while hating no objection to the suggested alterations of the Central Council rules, is of the opinionstiat reaffiliation with the Central Council is desirable, without any proviso whatever.'
\({ }^{\text {so }}\) That this lareuch is in fevour of 8 per cent. of the performing members forming a quorum at the annual general meeting or any specially called general meeting, but suggest that the quorum should not apply to the reutine business, viz. : Glection of officials, committees, place of next meeting, etc, at the annual general meeting, but shondd apply to iulicrations of rules or similar important changes.

The following branch offears were clected for 1930: Chairman, Mr. F. Etwnrds; secretary, F. J. Lewis; member on Management Comquit tee, Mr. J. Hope.

A Fote of thanles was accorded the Vicar for granting permission to hold the meeting and for taking the service.

The service was leld at the Parish Chureh. The organist, Mr. A. H. Gibbons, wery kindly aceampanied the singing. The Parish Chutol bells were thon open, and a good practice was had in Grandsire Caters and Cinques and Stedman Calers.

\section*{STROUD BRANCH APPROVES.}

The Stroud Branch, at a meeting held at Painswick on Saturday Week, gave unanimous approval to lie recommendation of the Exeeutive Committee with rogari to representation on flie Central Council, after the Master (Rev. E. S. Saleby) had given a full explanation.
On the question of a rule to fix a guorum for the annual general meeting, no proposal was made, and it was felt that a majority vote st the mecting was sufficient.

T'wenty-nine members attended the meeting, and ringing in various methods look place from 3 to 5 p.nl., when service was conAuctenk by the Vicar, Rev. A. M. Coode.

After tea at the Golficn Heart, the Vicar presided at the business meeting, at which the branct officers were re-elected, and thanked for their serviecs.

\section*{VIEWS OF THE FOREST BRANCH.}

At the annual meeting of the Forest Branch, held at Lyduey, consideration of the Executive Committec's recommendation as to reaffiliation with the Gentral Council resulted in a resolution being passed, expressing appreciation of tile effort made with this end in view, but suggesting that the last sentence should read: 'They, the Executive, recommend that the association expresses its willingness te be reafliated, hoping that the Central Council may see its way to placing the suggested alterations upon their agenda at the next placing t
On the question of lixing a guorum for annual meetings, the pinion was expressed that such a decision would have a tendency to etard progress.

ENCOURAGING SIGNS IN NORTE AND EASL DISPRICT.
Although dismal weather ptovailed, it was not bad enough to damp the ardour of mambers of the above association, some sewenty of whom attended the aEnual mentigg of the North and East Disiriet at Soutlgate on Saturday last. Tho meating was, howover, held under a. cloud, and it was witla deep regret that marnbers heard of the serious illness of their holoved president (Mr. 1 . A. Mine). Resolutions of sympathy with Mr. Milue and lis relatives were passed, which ulu hon. sechetary promised to send mil to himen.
No time was wasted during the afternoon, and much use was made of the bells between three and live o'clock, when the service was held, At this the Vicar (Rev. C. T. Peploe) officiated, aud gave members a very stirrigg sermon on the lessons to be obtained from the story of the conversion of St. Pasil.

After service, tea was served at tho Chorry Trea, and this was followed by tho business meeting. After reforence hard been inade tu the illness of the presideat, as stated nbove, routime business was disposed of. The balince sheet, showing a credit on the ycar's working of \(£ 2\) 9s. 11d., and assets wo the value of 8991 s . 2d., was alopterd. Twenty-nine new mambers were elected, including nine of tho St. James", Clerkenwell, band, and a similir number of SE. Anm's, Stamford Hill. It-was pointed ont that the ringers at Clerkenwell are being looked, after by a prominent member of the hasociation, and are making good progress.
The election of officers was then proceeded with. The Fou, Secredary (Mr. C. T. Goles) staked thast he had been notified by the Mester, Mr. N. A. Tomlinson, of his inability to attend most of the meetings, and he therefore regretfully handed in his resighation. Mr. Kilby proposed, and Mu. Lucas seconded, thet Mr. A. W. Ooles be elected District Master for the ensuing year. Thus was strougly supported by Mr. G. R. Goodship, and carried with great enthusiastu. Mr. Cales promised membere he would do his best for the association. Mr. F. A. Milne and Mr. C. T. Coles were re-elected hon. treasurer and hon. gecretary respectively, whilst Mr. G. R. Goodship was clected assistant hon secretary, promising his loyal support to the secretruy in anything he was asked to do.
Messrs. G. B. Lucas, R. E. Geare and W. H. Oram wore re-eleated as representiatives on the Ceutral Committee, and Messts. J. E. Miller and W. Picksorth were chosen as auditors.
The Chairman (Mr. Pickwarth) proposed a sincere vote of thanks to Mr. Tomlinson, who had served them sa wall as District Master, in spite of increasingly heavy duties, during the past five years, 'This was seconded by the bon. secretary, who also congratulated Mr, Pamlimson on his recent marriage, and earried manimausly. Mr. Jomlinson briefly replied, and stated he roguettod having fo give up his work, hut his interest in the socicty remained.
It was resolved to hold the next meeting al Hornsey on May 22nn?, whilst St. Giles-in-the-Fields was chosen for the next annuwl meeting. Mr. C. H. Martin proposed a hiearty vole of thanks to the Vicar (Rev. G. F. Peploe) for lis verv fine adtiress and for the use of the bells, gan to the organist (MF. Conisbee). This was carried with acclamation.
The Han. Secretary expressed tho thanks of ithe nembers to the Southgate ringers for their kitumess in assisting finameially lownuls the cost of the tea, which was maeh appreciated by all present.... This was geconded by Mr. W. Pye and carried. After Mr. Piekworth had briefly acknowledged the thanks of tho mombers, the moeting termimated.
Whilst fow ringers stayer behind to ring touchos ou handhella, nost of the company returned to the tower to support lhe new Ringing Master, who saw to it that all who wished to ring did so, whether it was rounds or Cambridge Royal. It was gratifying to note the several young enthusiasts who wohk full mavantage af a good oppartunity of some ten-bell practice. This was ona of the masl hopeful signs in a hopeful meeting, which gives great encouragement to officers of the association.

\section*{ESSEX ASSOCIATLON. \\ SODTRF-EASTERN DIVISION.}

Their call would go ofer the walers af the cathals into the great West leiding towns.
'ltue hymm, "Riug forth, holy bella, was thon sung, and the Vicar pronowned the dedicatny proyer. A sord attached to the pendulum of the clock and festomed with white and red silk ribbons, the colonk of the elarch, hang fown ithough the belfry floor to the note. Sir Joln pullerf blitio cord at two minutes to eight o'clock, and immediately the sweet tones of the chimes came floating into tho hushed ahurch, followed by the strokes of the hour. The hymms,
The sacred bells of England' and 'flhe church bells ringing from the height, conduded the service the National Schools were crowded after the service, when the Ficar, who presided, said they muld not allow Sir John to go away withont. having expressen their thanks to him for helping them and identifying limgelf with tho work of flue claurch. The service had luen a moment of great listory, rejoicing und gratification for the Fraish Glurch. Thase wha lud taken part would not forget it. They were also extremely grateful to C'anon Berry fot his fine midress.
Sir John apoke of the great inlipest the Airn and Calder Navigatinu harl in tha Pasish Chameh. He was estremely gratified at the whense that ovaning of the wonderful hold the Church of England hati in finole. T'liey could not stand still, but must go aliead or go land. That could not be better illustrated than by the bells, and the manmer in which they liad gat the freat.
When Goole was asked to sulnserite for the belle it promptly got Losether edan. At a specially convatml town's meeting it u'as deeificd to make an appeal to tha town generally for E300. There was a house to house collection hy envelopes, aud an appeal mate through 1he Itesal press, and in ramarkably short space of time it was not (arl] treli Lut tho find was over-subseribed to the amount of \(£ 100\), the motanl result of the appoal leing £ 400 F 5 a . 4 .
The resinqution and retuning of the bells was entrusted to Messis, , cousparion of Loughborough, who earried out the work to not "ys of the bells now being all ens and hatconced, the tone not p wiry ald ring. The tenng (16 ewt. 2 qr ), in F sliarp, is by "Inylors, 1869, the other seven brlls by Thy lors, 1889. It was deciden to Imwer the tonse of the brils by half a note, and this has effected a guent improvemont to the mbsic of the hells. The efforts of the belllangers, both its taking out ank putting back the bells to the time weeifed, reatly for ringiag for the service on Christmas morning, was prethly uppreciatai in Goole. \section*{MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION}

PROIOSED MEMORIAL TO THE LATE PRESIDENT
The thind ravarterly meeting of the Midland Counties Association was held on Saturday week ac Bolsover, and, as miglat be expected, that centre of good ranging, possessing a fme ring of eight bells, attracted qute a host of ringers, who came from Burton, Chesterfield, Cotr grave, Derthy, Leicester, Nottingham, Sheffeld and elsewhere. Good use was Hutle of the bells, and warious mefhods meted out, some being sucecssfil and othens not!

The wommitice met in the ctumwh Fall, and in the unavoinable alosence of the vice-president (Mr. J. Griffin), owing to the illmess of his wife, the Rev. W. Peter Wright, of Eyam, presided. Various routine work was carried out, and suggestions made an several matters to be put before the general meeting which followed tea. In the interim, the Vicar of Holsover, the Rev. Canon J. E. Paget, redicated it lurge and beatifully executed peal tablet, which suitably records the firat peals ent these bells of Cambridge, New Cambringr, Bristol, London, Superlative, Pucisey, Peterborough, York shire and Norfolt Surprise.
Subsequently, tea was served in the Ghurch Hall, and ovar 50 memhers and friends sat down. The meeting followed immediately, and Mr. W'. E. White firgt stated how glad all were to have the Vicar of Bolsover with them, to which Canon Paget satably replied, giving tho metnliers a hearty welcome to Bolsover, and expressing delight at such a groodly mumber accepting the invitation.
The Rev. W. Peter Wright was then voted to the chair in the absence ul Mr, J. Griffin. Arising out of the minutes was the question ol the suggested memorial to the late president, Alderman R. B. Chambers, B.A., J.P. The Chamman stated that in committee there han been a long discussian on the matter, and the first proposal to augromi the ring of hells at Peatling Magna, Leicester, where the late president had eertain properts, wis felt to be too big an underthking. NoL only rould this mead providing a bell or bells, but reconstretion of frames, etc. Another suggestion pit forward was the erection of a suitable tablet in a church, and that Mrs. Chambers he asked to decide which she would wish, cither St. Peter*s, Derby, where Akdeman Chambers was churchwarden for over 20 jears, or Litleover, where he attended in the latter years of his life, and to which it is understood, he left a certain sum of money for a tower and twills when that project was developed.
The scheme for a tablet recciving the support of all present, was riecided that a cormmittee, consisting of the eight local secretaries and the gemeral hon. secretay, with the hon. tweasurer, be appointed lo earry out the proposal.
The commituees sugestions for the printing of the annual roport, aut of the charge of sizponce per copy, was agreed to, and the Clairman arged all members to purchaso a copy, as they were receiving three times the value of parchase price. lt was a great pity thet a surplus of such raluable history was left over, making an extra loss to the association.

New members clected sinse the lath tageting were duly confirmerl, Tiz., 26 ringigg, 4 hon., 1 life. It was pleasing to note among tho former cight from the new Peak District-the Hathersage ringers.
Two auditors, Messrs. W. J. White atd A. H. Ward, were duly elected to audit the 1929 accounts.
The Hon. Secretary pointed out that several nominations for geaeral officers aul also reprosentatives for the Gentrai Gouncil had heen resefved, but any others put forward must be in his hands one month prior to the anmual meeting on Easter Monday, no one to be nominated unless willing to gtand for the office

Other proposals, for the ardilitin to the association's litle and eertain rule amendments, were read, but as these matters are to be dealt with at the annual meeting, members were asked to diseuss them locally prior to that meeting.

Henrty votes of thams to the Fiens for use bif bells, the local enmmitue for arrangements and eqtering, closed a very stocessful meeting. Further rigging, both on hand and tower bells, terminated a very happy aftermoon's gathering.

\section*{COMING EVENTS}

Although it is stil! four months ahead, signs are not wanting that the Central Council meeting is beginning to occupy attention and, as there are in front of us, between now and Whitsun, many important county and diocesan association meetings it is well that ringers should again be thinking seriously of some of the matters affecting the Exercise whicil are likely to come up for discussion. Exactly what the agenda will consist of in the way of debatable subjects, it is too early to surmise, but the London meeting, being the triennial gathering at which a considerable amount of routine business has to be disposed of, may possibly provide a long and important programme. A variety of subjects which it would be open to the Council to deal with have been broached during the past year, and if only half of them get on the agenda the members will be in for a long sitting.

The question of what should constitute a six-bell peal, which has occupied attention at the last two meetings of the Council, is not unlikely to be again a bone of contention. The subject, since it was postponed from the Chelmsford meeting last Whitsua, has been simmering below the surface as it were, and elsewhere in our issue to-day a suggestion for a new definition of six and five bell peals comes from the Rev. H. Law James. It is true he does not say that he proposes to put it on the agenda for discussion in London, but it is one of the matters which is not unlikely to appear, and ringers, therefore, shouid make themselves thoroughly acquainted with what is now put forward.

There are two points in Mr. James' suggestions which deserve special attention. One is that a peal of Minor or Doubles need only consist of 5,000 changes, instead of 5,040 , as has hitherto been the practice, thus putting them, he says, on the same basis as peals of Major, Caters, etc., and leaving only Triples at the compulsory length of 5,040. Ringers may or may not be prepared to accept this alteration in principle, but we hardly think it is likely to commend itself generally in practice, as, except in those cases where a band want to ring' something different,' the seven complete \(720^{\prime}\) 's or the 42 sixscores seems so much more a commonsense performance for an ordinary peal length.

Be that as it may, however, the other point in Mr . James' suggestion to which attention will have to be directed is that upon which there is already strongly divided opinion, viz. whether within the limits of each 720 or 120 a repetition of changes is to be permitted. Mr. James' suggestion would open the way to peals in which the repetitions, which must necessarily take place (Continued on page 98.)

where five thousands are to be rung on five or six bells, could occur at any point, so long as any change is not rung more than seven times in a five thousand of Minor or \(4^{2}\) times in a five thousand of Doubles. It raises afresh the controversy as to whether the 720 's or 120 's comprised in the peal are to be true in themselves, or not.

SUCCESSFUL MTFITNG AT FEERING
The Northern Division of the Essex Association opened their first meeting of the ycar with a record gathering at Feering on Saturday, upwarcls of 70 members representing 24 parishes being present. During the afternoon and eveniug methods ranging from Bob Minor to Bristal and Londun Sunprise Major were ruag on the bells. A serwae was held at which Ref. Dalton, Prebendary of Feering, gave an inspring address on the inscription on some of the bells at Feering and theiv meaning. Mr. C. H: Howadd, Master, Essex Association, read the lessan.
The company afterwards adjourned to the Bell Inn for tea. Mr. Howard was in the chair, supported by the Rev. Dalton, the District Master, and the distriet secretary.

At the business meeturg which followed, Mr. Howard proposed a very hearly rote of thauks to the Rey. Dalton, to the organist and blower for their scrvices. The speaker contiaued that he was pleased to see such a large number of ringers at Feering, and he expressed the opinion that this was chiefly due to the untiring energy of Mr. W. Keeble, who lad doae, and was still doing, so much for the nssociation, and he (the speaker) would certainly have eancelled any other engagement to have been at Feering that day. He also rematked on the fact that of the 62 who sat down to tea 53 had given notice of their intention of doing so. Tliis was certainly a record.

The Chammun then lemarked that it was \(\mathbb{K r}\). W. Nevard's 74th hirthrlay. Fe was pleased to see him amongst them, and wished him "many happri returns of the day." -This was loudly appleuded.
Ther Rev. Deltoth, it replying to the vote of thanks, eaid it was a very grat, pleasure to him to welcome the ringers to Feering, as lie took a great interest in the bells and was always pleased to hear them rung. Fe also wished to endorse the chairman's remarks respecting Mr. Kenble, and was pleased to think he resided with them at Fecring.
Mr. Nevard also suitably replied, and said ho hoped he should be with liom for a few more yoars yet. 26 t

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN "THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photugraphs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

The half-muffled peal at Monken Hadley was the 150th by Nr. W Piekworth, vice-president of the Middlesex County Associalion.
To-day is the anniversary of the longest length of Cinquen, 13,00 Grandsire rung at Painswick in 1920, and ta-morrow an attempt will bo mude on the same bells to regain the honour of the longest; twelve-bell peal, which last Augusb was faken to Aghton-uniter-L;onc, where the 15,312 Cambridge Surprise Maximus was rung.
The attempt made at Painswick towards the end of lask yonr was not very long lived, only about two hou 'sa ringing taking pluce in the effart to break the 12 -bell record.
Grandsire Cinques has been a furourite method for record naking since the early days of peal ringing, A hundred and ninety-nime years ago to-day the College Youths rang a peal of 7,018 at Commlill, in which Benjamin Annable called the bobs. It was the longest peal on iwelve bel's up to that time.
On February 17 th, 1883 , 6,000 changes in 25 different metiods upon six bells, was rung at Tong, Yorkhire. George Bolland was the conductor, and 240 changes of each method was rung. 'This peal," says the record, "was accomplished to celebrate the 72ni birthray of the veteran ringer, Mr. George Carter, who has bem it ringer el Tong Church for more than 50 years. It was listiened fo by a goodly number of ringers from Birstal, Liversedge, Bradforf, Pudsey, Guiseley, ete., who all acknowledged it to be a trasterly performance:' Georgo Carter rang the treble.

Oxford Uniwersity Guik, which lias lost one af its early secramies by the death of Mr. F. A. Milne, was founded on February 20ıh, 1872.

A long span in the history of nineteenth-century ringing was covered by the life of George Wilson, of Sheffield. Barm in 1809, he rang as bis first peal 6,120 Treble Bob Roysl at Sheffeld on Thebrinary 19th, 1833, while his last was a peal of Treble Bab Maximus : the same church on Decomber 26th, 1876.

A peal of twelve bells was lost to London on February 17th, 1836, when the ring at Christ Church, Spitalields, was destroyen by fine They were replaced by a peal of eight.

A quarter of a contury ago, last Tuesday, the longest peal hy the Surrey Association was rung at Ashiead. This was a 10,208 Both Major, and except for Edgar Callins, of Debenham fame, who wat in the peal, all the band are alive, and, except Harry Last, who is in Canada, still actively interested in ringing The olhers werre \(A\) H. Winch, J. Hoyle, J. Howes (conductor), F. G. Gorldard, J. H. B. Hesse and Arthur Dean. The peal was rung at "the second time of asking, the first attempt failing after 8,080 clanges hat been rung.

Last Saturday was the thirty-fourth anniversary of a peal of Lothion Surptise Major rung at Boyne Fill, Maideahead (the firsi in the county of Berks), which was conducted by Mr. John Evans. 3.3y is coincidence, four members of this hand were ringing together in a pral of Stedman Triples at Fughenden, viz., John Evans, Ralph H. Biggs, Fred Biggs, and William E. Taylor-

In the peal of Bob Major rung at Pontypridd, on January 30th, the dinger of the tenor was Ernest Coombes and not Ernest Stiteh, as staled.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY RINGQR OVER 50 YFARS AGO.
It is our mournful task to record the dealh, which took place at Lhis residence at Barnet, on Wedpesday week, of Mr. Frank Alexander Milne, M.A., J.P., president and hon. treasurer of the Middlesex County Association and Londion Diocesan Guild. Born on July 5th, 1854, at Fadley, Middlesex, Mr. Milne had given up a great deal of his long life to useful public work, aud his death will be as widely mourned as his service will be greatly missed.
M1: Milue was educated at Winchester College and Koble Gollege, Oxford, and it was while at the University that his active association with ringing began. The Oxford University Society Had been in existence but a year or two, and Mr. Milne became a member. Fe was secretary of the society in 1876, and it was he who induced Ganon G. F. Coleridge to join and take up change ringing. Their contemporaries at Oxford in those days were Messrs. C. D. P. Davies, H. A. Cackey, and Willett, all of whom afterwards rendered great services to the Exercise. Mr. Milne, in 1877, took part in the first peal rucg by University men, when seven Oxford men and one CamЂridge (C. A. W. Troyte) ravg a peal of Grandsire Triples at Appleton: J. T. Keble (Keble) treble, F. A. Mino (Keble) 2, C. D. . Davies (Pembroke) 3, H. W. Ellioott (Brasonose) 4, G. H. Phillott (Christ Ghurch) 5 , Rev. E. E. Robinson (Exeter) 6, G. A. W. Tropte (Trinity Hall, Gamb.) 7, W. C. H. Burne (Keble) tenor.
Mr. Milne also took part in the first 720 of Bob Minor rung by the Mr. Milne also took part in Oxford University Society.
While at Oxford, Mr. Milne distinguished himself by being the Grst in the University to take a firgt-class in Jurisprudence, and later he was called to the ber and practised at Lincoln's Inn. In 1876 he was mainly instrumental in getting the four bells at Hadley Chumeh relumg, one recast andi two ndded, and at a special service on June 17th in that year the dedication took place and the bells were rung for the first time by H. Haley, sen., F. Haley, jun., 3fatt. Wood, Gen. Muskett, W. Greenleaf and F. A. Milne, all members of the Ancient Society of Gollege Youths.

\section*{EARLY MIDDLESEX ASSOGIATION DAYS.}

On leaving the Universiby, Mr. Milne's interest in ringing contimued, and le rang constantly at the towers on the Middlesex and Herts border. In 1887, the "North Middlesex Association' was formed, combining the three towers of Finchley, Hendon and Edgware. Mr. Mime became interested in this society, and in 1889 its scupe was widened and it became 'The Middlesex Association, with the towers of Barmet, Edpware, Tinchley, Hadley, Hendon and Tottenham included. Mr. Milne was the firse bon, secretary, an office which afterwards was undertaken by the late Mr. A. T. King, and Mr. Milne became treasurer. In the year 1897 came the amalgamation with the Soulh and West Middlesex Guild under the title of "The Middlescx County Association.' Mr. Milne became hon. treasurer, which post he held until lis doath. The added title of Landon Diocesan Guild' was taken in 1903.
In 1924 Mr . Milne was elected presildent, which affice loe thus oceupieni for nlmost six years. Fis many duties would not allow him much time for peal ringing, but he had rung in about 30 for the Middesex Association-Gragasire and Stedman Triples and Plair Bob and Treblo Dob Major. Although his pesl ringing was limited, he was never happiey than when among the members at their meetings. the last occhsion on which he thus mot them being at Northaw on September 14tl, 1929.
A fow yoars ago Mr. Milne gave two new bells to Monken Hadley Parish Church, one in memory of his father and molher, and the other in memory of his son, whe was a captain and adiutant of the Hertfordshire Rogiment and was killed in retion at St. Julien in 1917. This was in treat blow to him, and the death of Mrs. Milne November", 1927, deepened his sorrow.
Mr. Milne lad been a member of the Ceviral Council since 1924, and was a romber of the Legal Committee, whose report was presented by him at the last meeting at Chelmsford, and which is undoubidy a most waluable treatise on the law relating to church bells and ringers.

PUBLIG AGTIVITIES.
Few men gave up so much time and energy to voluntary publie Work ns Mr. Milne, who devoted himself wilh unremitting zeal paricularly to edueation and Church affairs. Fe held many important appointments on education authorities, he was a member of St. Albans Diocesan Conference, the Diocesan Board of Finance, the Dhocesan Education Committee, the Chipping Barnet Parochial Churel Council, of which he was vice-chairman for several ycars: i momber of the Baraet Ruri-decanal Conference; a diocesan lay reader, and a sidetmen of Chipping Barnet Parish Chruch.
He was appointed a iuslice of the peacs for Hertfordshire in 1918 and for Middesex in 1925. He discharged offices in connection with Sacieftyer of charitable trusts, was secretary of the Folk Lore Society for 40 years, chairman of the district Incomo Tax Commissioners, a keem member of the Gommons and Footpaths Preservation Sociefy, and hon. secretary for Barnet of the Waifs' and Strays' Sociefy, How Mr. Mihe was able to carry out all the multifarious (Continued in mext column.)

\section*{PEALS OF MINOR AND DOUBLES. SUGGESTED NTEW DEFINITIONS.}

Dear Sir,-Every definition of peals on five and six bella bo far given is open to serious objeclion. Seven diferent 720's is not satis fied by a different order of rows, bectuse hat stalamont cames intu conflict with tho statement that variations of, say, Hult's Ten Paru. are all the same peal. On the olher hand, there are only five possible 720's in any Treble Bob method, and some Treble Bob methods hrve only one possible composition.
I suggest the following definitions after consideration of the question very carefully, since the last Coumeil mecting:-

A peal of Minor must consiat of 5,000 clanges nt least, suny in one or more methods, and in order that it may be reongrised as true, these changes musi be equivalent to six 140720 s and one true toucta of 680 changos all last.

Longer peals mast be equivalat to seven or more true 7an's, with or withoit oue true touch.

A peal of Doubles must consish on 5,000 changes at least rung in one or thore methods, and in ouder that its may lue 1+eognised as true, those clanges must be equivalout to forty-one tiou sixscores and one turu touch of 80 thanges at least.

Longer peals must be equivalent lo forty-two or fubre true six-scores wilh or withous ore trug touch.?
These defnitions put peals of Minor anti Doulhes juto hun same position as penls of Major, Gaters, me. IL. LAW ThMles.

\section*{THE COUNCIL AND CONTROVERSIAL QUESTIONS.}

\section*{To the Editor}

Sir,-May I trespass on your space to oner a few words of comment on two matiers avisine out of yotur last issut?
The tirstis Mr. Whitford's letter. I ontirely rgice with his contention that change ringing on six or eight bells is far better calcalated to appeal to the geneval publin than an tea or twolve. Broadeasts in the higher numbers should, to my mind, be confined to exceptional occasions, such as riagitg in the thew yenc, or tho broad cast of some special commony from " Cathedral or Parish Chasch. Whenever clange ringiog is specially to introduce a broadeast serviec or to illustrate the use of bells accarding to Finglich methods, Lhe sound of six or eight bells is mueh more likely to ensure tho appreciation of the uninitiaded.
The otlat matiter is your leading arliche. It seems to me that there is sometimes a tendency to slaw undue impatience with regard to controversial çuestions submitted to the Central Commel. II 130 all right for the Council "to slow a mind of its own," when the premises are such as to warmat a dalimite conclusion, hatu the subijects under discussion are of on in an entirelg experimental stage, and it would be premature to abtompl hay conclusive pronouncement outhom, before further light has heen thrown on buem fy research and experience. Ohange ringing is a progressive science, and it is hoped that it will continue to bo so for maty generations to come. Tust for that roasan we mast expect at amy given tince lo lave open questions awtiting soltation, whon out knowledge is subiciently complete. If on a recent occasion the Council lind altemptod to Jay down the law es to the corract extonsion of Superative, il would, to my mind, have been mucli like a hoard of astronomers ith the sixteenth eentury making a 'final' prononncoment on the number and mation of Jupiter's satellites, while Gulileo was still experimenting will his new telescope. In many eates yoars of disenssion and experiment may be required before any salisfactory conclusion can be reached.- Yours faibfally
F. LI. EDWARDF.

BEDFORD DESPRICT MEFTING AT CARDINGTON.
A most sarecysfui and cnjoynble meeting of the Bedford District was held al St. Mary's Church, Cardington, on Saturday, Fehruary lat, hun was altended by ahout 40 members and welcome visitors. 'Jhe chatcl, a weil-built structure, was rebuilt, with the exception ,if the chnacel, turing the period 1898-1902, and is in the PerpenIfenlar sifle le consists of a chancel, nave of four bays with "Lerestory, nislos, south porch, and a fine western tower containing int extellen! petal of eight beils (tenor 21 ewt) by Taylow and Co., whicla won the admiration of all on Saturtay week, both in regard Lus bone and 'go,' the latter being like the proverbial 'tops.'
The thells were raiserl at 3 p.m., and kept going constantly until fah time. Mr. E. Freeman was in charge of the rimging, and looked aflou everyhody's wants in a capablo manner. Tea was served at thu King's Arras, and as such a large meeting had not been anticipated, il kept the waiters going at full pressure, but they eventually avercame this.

At. the husiness moeting, Miss E. Steel was in the chair, and Whotton (6) was chosen for the next mocling on March lat if the bell- are analable, with Kempston as an alternative tower.

A vote of thinks to the Ficar for we use of the hells, and the lacal ringers for making urrangements, was also passed.

Ringing was aftemards indulged in wntil 8.15 p.mn, with varying tegrees of sucenss, and ranging from Grantsire Triples to Cam bitige ann? Superlative Surprise Major.

Wembers were present, from Bedford (St. Paul's and St. Peters) Bromiam, Clapham, Kempston, Riseloy, Keysor, Harrold, "Iurvoy, Stagalen, Roxton, Biggleswade, Southill, Clifton, with visitors from GTicy, Hitehin, Narthampton, Wellinghorough, Irihlirgbovough and TRanuds, and the lunal town.

When these monthly meetings are as well attencled and suecessful as this merting was, it amply repays the work of arranging then, arme it in to lie hoped the future meetings throughont the year wid] he as well utteurled.

\section*{KILLED BY THE WALL OF DEATH}

THH FATAL ACGTDENT TO MR. H. COCKINGS, OF STAGBDEN. is wills prolound regret that we lave bat to record the death of Mr. Bert Cockings, of Shargden, Beds, which was briefly manioned Jast week.

Whike eycling home nim Wednesday evening, Jatany 22nd, from Hareok to Stagenlen. Mr'. Cookings was passing fhrough Turvey, when a lory with forniler attathed overtaok lim. The lorry passed him all right, lut, unfortunately, the trailer swerved, kooking him off las biogele nudemeath the trailer, the rear wheels of which passed tover him, eatusing serious interual iujuries, from which he passed away.
The lory athd trailer contajned the "Wall of Death, on which brink motor-cyeling has theen ane in Bedford. At ihe inguest before the bonotgh coraner (Mr. R. C. Rense), a verdict of 'Accidental Drath wati returned.
Mr. Cublings was a fhan of a ghiel and gemial aisposition, with a oltery smile and kinuly worl for extryone. He was an old member wi the Beaforvahire insocialion, and farmerly belonged to the Hatrold company. Since residing at Stagsdm, he las been the mainstay of tho young band there, and was \(n\) great help when olantige tinging was taken up in this tower. He is already keenly missed by his fellow-ringers. Only on the Sumday hefore lis death he was ringing for both services, and litije did hig fellow-ringers rualise that wis the last 'tauch' they would ring with him (a 360 of firandsirn Doubles) to which he rang the tenor. He had rung sereral peals, and was a grood striker. He was keenly lookiag forward to the proposed resionation of the bells.

The funcml took place on Tuestay afternoon, Jamuary 28th, and was anducted by the Fiene (the Rev. E. E. Nickissonl in the prosence of th large company of sympathising parishioners.
A wrenth in the shape of a bell was sent from his fellow-ringens, and there was also a wreatio from the I3edrovd Disurict of the Bedformshire Assomition. Nueln aympatly is felt for lhe bereared wife and ilaughter in the sudden rind trugic luss.
As theken of respect the ringers rang some short touches of Doutales in the efening after the funcoral, assisted by the Bromham ringers, the bells being half-mufled.

A remarkable record was made during igag at Felkirk, Yorks, where the local company for service and practice rang no fewer than 253720 's of Minor and every one of them in a different method. It is a unique achievement, and one which merits more than passing notice. To begin with the number of methods is about a hundred more than in the Central Council's 'Collection,' and to get together such an assortment must have been a business of some magnitude. The fact that some of the methods must have been of the 'irregular' variety does not detract from the greatness of the performance, which represents a wonderful standard of efficiency in the practical mastery of methods, and most ringers who have any idea of what learning new nethods means will appreciate what must have been involved in assimilating at least five fresh ones every week throughout the year. And not only were five fresh methods mastered every week-what is more a \(7^{20}\) of each of five methods was rung on an average every week. It is the first time in history that such a thing has been done, and the company that sets out to improve upon this record has got a big task on hand. The Felkirk ringers are to be congratulated upon their achievement, which is one which, we think, most of our ringers will agree should be suitably recorded in their tower.

And what a lesson the year's work at Felkirk is, in many ways, to some of the rest of the Exercise. Not only is it a great example of what can be done in method ringing, but it is a remarkable illustration of team work; of steady perseverance; of genuine loyalty to an ideal and a sacrifice of personal ends to a collective purpose. Of the eight local ringers who took part, four rang in over two hundred of these extents (the conductor, Mr. J. T. White, ringing in and conducting 247 of them), two others rang in over igo each and another in nearly 150 ! There is complete harmony in a company such as thisthe result could not be achieved without it-there was keenness and enthusiasm-that goes without saying-and there must have been regularity and punctuality, as well as ability and skill. It may not be given to all ringers to learn and ring methods at the same rate as the men of Felkirk, but if, on the one hand, this is an extraordinary example of what can be done, it goes also to emphasise on the other how little some companies endeavour to expand in their method ringing, The Felkirk ringers did not accomplish what they have done at a bound. Their achievement was the outcome of assiduous practice in other years, until they got the knack of assimilating fresh methods with comparative ease. And the same kind of success is open to scores of other bands if only they will put into their ringing the same qualities which have been exhibited by the talented Yorkshiremen.

Those who are seeking to promote change ringing in the Chertag District are having an uphill fight，bal：they are to be engratulated upon the determination with which they persevere in the face of difficalties．At the annual meeting of the district on Saturday weak，at Chertsey，there was a small attendance，only some 16 memhers being present A service was condueted by the Vicar（Rov．E．F．W．Leach－ man），and Admiral T．P．Walker presided over the subsequent busi－ ness meeting，when the Vicar and organist were thanked for their service．
The Ringing Master（Mr．H．J．Chaffer），in his report，said the meetings had been badly attended by district members，fithough roost of them har been suonessful from the help reccived from fisit－ ing members．He especially thanised Mr．A．H．Winch，of Leather－ head，for assistamee he lead given in the district．He hoped in the future that more members in the district would attend the meet－ ings，which were arranged for their bencfit．
The bslance sleet showed receipts amounting to \($ 6\) 童．，of which one－half was remitted to the Guild troasurer，and，after paying expenses，Jast year＇s balance of \(£ 168\) ．9d．had been increased to \(£ 3\) 3s．The Secretary reported 54 ringing members and 3 hon．members in the district．

H．J．Chaffey was re－elected District Ringing Master，and Mr． H．Hancock hon．secretary．After a ballot，Mr．F．Hawthorne and Mra．Boeson were re－elected on the Executive Committee．Tho Rev． E．H．W．Leachman was elected as the hon．members＇representative． The following were nominated for election as representatives of the Guild on the Central Council：Messrs．Edwards，A．H．Palling， F．Hawthorne and C．Hazelden．

The places for meetings during the ensuing year were selected as follows：Hersham，Thames Dition，Ottershaw，Weybridge，Chobham and Egham（ammual）．

A vote of thanks to the chairman conchuded the business．
The standard methods were practised during the afternoon and evening，and at 8 p．m．the curfew，which is heard daily from this tower．was rang on the bell which is over 600 years old．

\section*{SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION． WESTERN DIVISION．}

The annual mesing of the Western Division took place at Shipley on Saturdej．Althotigh this rillage is rather out of the way，about a score of good ringers came to ring on this landy little peal of six． Visitors are always surf of a hearty welcome and goad ringing．The following towers were represented：Billingshiurst，Heene，Lindfeld， Brighton，Kirdfora，Wu＇nlam，West Grinstead and Shipley．
Tea was partaken of at the Village Room，and at the busineas meetiog，with Mr．Walter Charnsn presiding，the election of officers for the ensuing yeat resulted as foliows：A．W．Groves，hon．district secretary：Messrs．T．Adams，G．Nerriss and W．Charman，commit－ tee：Messrs．J．Burdifeld，E．Linkup aud H．Turrell，comailiee of advice．Only one new member was elected，viz．，Mr．R．P．Woad， of Billingshurst．
A vote af thanks to the Vicar，Rep．C．J．Radford，for granting the use of the bells，also to Mr，Ctarman for presiding，was carried， aud another pisit to the belfry brought this wery enjoyable meeting to it close．

\section*{DEATH OF MR．W．W BONHAM，OF WOLVERTON．}

Thime Oxford Diocesan Guild sustained a sad loss on January 79th， when the death took place of Walter William Ronham，of Stony Stratford，who wis 65 years of age，and had been regularly，for the pas 36 yedrg，a Sunday service riuger at Sti．Giles＇Church，where he will bo saity missed．ant his place difficult to fill．He had rung 55 peals in a variety of methorls．
Decemsed was taken suddenly ill about a fortnight earlier，and had nol ragained conscionsmess ance during that time．He leaves a widow ancl twa sons．
Devensen retired from his employment（as a traverse driver for the L．M．and S．Railway Company at theip Wolvertou Carriage Warks，where be was employed for about 38 jears）anly seren montlis ago，and was reapected by all with whom he came in contact．
The intermeat took place on Wedmesday，Januaty 22nd，and among the Tialif floral tributes sent were wreaths from the Oxford Dio－ cesan fibild and from his fellow－ringers ats St．Giles＇．Four of his ringing colleagues bore the mortal remains to their last resting place． After the funeral 504 Graudsire Triples was rung with mufflen bells by E．Futes 1，W．G．Clarke 2，T．C．Tampkins 3，H．E．Tempkins 4， William Neale 5，E．C．Lambert（emductor）6，H．C．Edwards 7，T． Turslar 8.

EAST DEREYSHIRE AND NOTYS ASSOCLATION．
A specinl meeting of the Easi Derbyshire and Nottinglamshire Association was held on Saturday the the Parish Chureh of St．Mary， Sucton－in－Ashfield，Notts，which possesses e beautiful ring of six belis，tenor \(15 \frac{1}{4}\) cwt．The bells were raised about thee oclock，and n goodly number af visitors kept them going to the various stardard methods for an hour，when a shord service was held in the tower， conducted by the Vicar（Rev．R．P．Tinsley，M．A．）．During tho service the Vicar dedicated a peal board，the gift of a local ringer， Mr．O．M．Heatheote，which was unveiled by Mrs．Aled．The hoarkl was neatly execated in gold lattoring on a black surface，aud re－ conded two peals．The first was a peal of Boh Minor（ 5,040 changee） rung on September 8th，1923，the fitst poal on the bells，in which local vingers took part．The second was a peal of Bob Doubles and Grandsire Donbles，rung on October 21st，1929，and was the firat peal of Doubles on the bells．
Immediately after the ceremony，the brad which took part in the last peal rang a short touch，and then the company adjourned to the Parish Foom at the Ficerage，whore a sumptuaus tea was pro－ vided， 35 persons sitting down．
A bearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the uge of bells and the room for tex，also for his kind remarks with reference to the ringers，etc．，during the service，on the motion of Mr．J．W． Fingland，seconded by Mr．Joseph Lard．The Vicar suitably replied， giving the ringers a hearty welcome to Sutton－in－Ashfold．Mr．T． Betison woiced the thanks of the association for the good tea pro－ vided by Mr．C．M．Heatheote，which was seconded by Mr．J． Bleby．
Mr．Heathcote responded，and Mrs．Tinsley，the wife of the Vicar， made a bappy little spech，reminding tho listemers that the sound of the bells reached much further than the tower itseif，and brought happiness to mumerless people，who，for various reasons，wero un－ able to nttead church．
After the good ladies who had prepared the tea had been thanked， the ringers reburaed to the tower，and good use was made of the belis until eight o＇clock，when they were lowered in peal，and this hrought to a close an enjoyable gathering．The mothods rumg varied from Granasire Doubles to Londan Surprise Minor，and some very good striking was heard．Ringers attended from Blackwell，Grich， Derby（St．Peter＇s），Mansfield，Mansfidd Wondhouse，Morlon，Noi－ tingham（St．Peter＇s），Ripiey，South Nommaton，Tibshelf，Worth－ ington，and the local band．

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and; where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

We regref that we are compelled, by pressure on own space, to hole over several letters to the Editor.
The Bishop of Birmingham has promised to attend the Henry Jolnson Dinter at Birmingham on March 1st. Early application should be made for tickets in order to avoid disappointment.
The first peal rung at Shelianger, Norfolk, was scored last week. In this small tower there is a clock case of such liberal proportions that the third and fourth ringers do not sea each other during tho rimeing.
Mr. John Sauter, of Diss, in his eightieth year rang a peal of Superlativa last Saturday, and received the congratulations of the campany on the characteristic excellence of bis striking throughout. Mr. Souter rang the tenor at St. Peter Mancroft to Superlative on February 13th, 1902 , the heaviest ring of bells on which a peal of Surprise Major had then been rung. A couple of years later, on February 27th, 1904, Mr. H. R. Newton rang tile tenor at Southwark Gathedral to a peal in this method.
Another peal rung last week celebrated the 80th birthday of Mr. F. Fraser, who has beeu a ringer and steeplekeeper at Eltham, Kent, for the long period of 62 years. Despite lis years, Mr. Fraser rung the 2nd to the peal of Kent Treble Bob.
In perusing our peal columns, our readers will notice that one of the Painswick 'Youths' who took part in the attempt for the twelve-bell record length, which ended in a peal of 9,000 odd on Siturday, was tho gentleman who rcfusea to grow oid-Mr'. James George. Fancy a man at 76 years of age laning the audacity to stand up to a 16,000 peal attempt! But there, be would be just as ready to make one for 80,000 if ith were on.
Mr. Harold Walker, who has recently been stationed at Lincoln, las been transferred to the Carrage and Wagon Department of the L.N.I.E. at Colwick, Notes.

Today is the anniversary of a peal of 14,016 Kent Treble Boh Major rung at Oldham in 1821.
Cambridge Surprisc, now so popalar a method, was first lung to a peal \({ }^{\text {a }}\) on February 23nd, 1783, at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, Londouthe greatest performance ever achieved in the Campanishanean Arit.
The record length of Minor, which has stond for well over a hundred years, was rung at Wath, Yorks-where they still know samething about Minor ringing-an February 27th, 1816. It consisted of 21 seven-twenties in different methods.
It was described-and, in view of present controversios, the description may well be noted-as 2I peals, making 15,120 changes, 'which were brought round in a grand and masterly atyle without a man quitting his rope.'

\section*{THE CROFTS MEMORIAL DINNER}

\section*{SHERWOOD YOUTHS GATHERING}

The 8th annual dinner, organised by the Sherwood Youths memory of William Doubleday Grofts, was held at the Welbeck Hotel, Nottingham, on Saturday. Tho Master, Mr. Albert Coppock, presided over a company of over 60 members and friends. He was supported by the Ven. Arcludeacon of Nottiugham, Canon Spencer Eliott, Vicar of Mansfield, the Rev. W. K. Gallagher, Rector of Wilford, and Mr. E. Alex. Young, hon. secretary of the Central Council. There were also present Sergt. W. E. Johnsay, the ouly V.C. 1inger, Messrs. Colin Harlison, D. Colins, F. H. E. Stubbs and J. H. Wilson (Loughborough), R. H. Dove (Croydon), A. H. Ward and A. Braines (Derby), H. W. Wilde (Chester), S. F. PaTmer, W. Burgar, E. Wilson and W. A. Wooler (Sheffield), Councillor J. T. Brown (Spalling), J. Marshall (Cotgrave), H. Walker (Lincoln), A. J. Baker ('Irenmus Pishor'), Miss I. B. Thompson (treasurer to the society), F. Blood (hon. secretary), and A. R. Hickton (steward). An excellent dinuer was served, after which the toast of 'His Majesty the King' was proposed by the Master and logally honoured by the company.
The Master, in his introductory remarks, said that W. D. Crofts was a man who, when he left this wovd, left it a little better than he found it, and however trivial his efforts might appear to some people, they, at any rate, secured for him a measure of immortality. On introducing Sergt. Johoson, V.C., to the company, he asked that every person preseat who wore His Majesty's uniform during the Great War stould rise. This they did, and lie and the rest of these comades drank to the bealth of the recipient of the most coreted decolation in the scrvices.
The toast of 'The Church' was entrusted to Mr. Colin Harrison, who said he thought tho bost thing he could speak on was loyalty to the Churoh. For the last 40 to 50 years ringers had bad s great heritage to preserve, and had lifted ringing from the lowast depths. We could now include in our ranks all chasses of society from dukes and sdmirals, clergy and judges, Thanks to the loyalty of the clergy of bygone drys, we had had handed down to us such piles as York, Selby, Linooln, Southwell, ete., which were presefved, not so much to reduce the wealtily as to tuplift the poor.

Replying to the toast, Ganon Spencer Elliott, in a very cloquent and forceful address, made a strong point of the phinase, "Stick to the Church. He had heard that ringers never attended the services they rang for, but in actual fact all his ringers ant only attended regularly but were also communieants. He related a story of a certhain church clock, which received the attentions of the local plumber, wheelwright and other craftsmen until, owing to their inability to get it to function properly, they called in the maker of the clock. He advised them to leave it alone for a period, and all would be well. It was the same with the Church. Leave the Church alone and let it get on with its work in jis acoustomed way. They shound stick to the Church. It was a manly thing to be a Christian, and be did not think it a wise thing to put off the good things in life zatil a man was at bis last gasp. Was it a wise ihing to wait unti] a inan was all but unconscious and asking for water to relieve his parched lips before sending for a clergymen to help to get him over the barder safely?
The Ven. Archdeacon Conybeare, himself a ringer, proposing the next toast, said the ringing associations had done a great deal to imprope the bolfries and ringers throughout the kingdom. They were alsa responsible for such gatherings as these, at which social intercourse enabled them to get to know each other better: He would like to seb all the local associations brought together into one diocesan body, and was glad to see sa many of the younger generation taking up the art, for, with the presence of such 'Youths, \({ }^{\text {, }}\) there Was no prospect of change ringing declining. He was proud of one fact, that for the past 14 jears he had not missed ringing at 5 am . on Christmas morning at Southwell Cathedral.
Mr. E. Alex. Young made a most interesting response, speaking ather as a lover of bell music than as a ringer. He pointed out the intluence he assumed that bell music had had oyer the earlier Engish conopnsers of music, citing as an instance one number from the Beggar's Opera, which, he was confideat, had been inspired by the music of the bells.
The toast of 'The Visitors' gave Mr. F. S. Price opportunity for a Tery cepahle speeeh, which was suitably responded to by Councillor Browa, of Spalding
The tanst of 'The Ladies ' ernated a gond deal of diversion owing to the specified proposer having to leave earlier than expected. Eventually, after an arduous task of finding a substitute, Mr. J. W. Kirton proposed the toast in a racy but felicitous manner, to whicin Miss I. A. Thompson replied in surprisingly concise terms.
The mustical programme was, as is usual, excellent and varied. Miss Nellie Alvey, a cultured contralto, contributed two fastefully rendered solos, and left a distinet desire in the minds of the listeners for more, had time pormitted. Miss Kathleen Pearce presented three solo dances, of widely different character. Mr: Albert Kent, who had boen associated with Mr. Coppock in amatemp operatic productions for many years, gave humorous sangs claperly, also a short部etch from ane npera essisted hy Mr. Coppock. The Welbeck Quartet, Mesers. Warren. Perure, Coppock and Adkin, sang glees, (Continued in next column.)

\section*{NEW TREBLES AT ST JOHN'S, WORCESTER RESTORATION AND AUGMENTATION.}

The old six bolls at St. John's Church, Worcester, having beeome unsafe and vary hard to riag, have been thotoughty rcomdihonvel and retuned, filled with entirely wew fitings of the latust type, nud augmented to night by the atdition of two trebles. They wern reopened and derficated at a special service on Thursdiny exouing, February 13Lin, an ovent which bronght logether a large cougregation of parishioncrs. prit-songs, golos and duots. Mr. Fred Blood geve two very fine pianoforte solos, andi shared the aceompaniments with Madame: Raynor, while the handbelis were by no means idle.

Duriag the afternoon, throurl: the great courtesy af Cancillor Emmony, the party inspected the new Council House, which is decidedly the "dernier cri" in beanty, confort and utility in puthic buildings. The rooms are beautifully lighted withe not e lamp to be seen, and the heating apparatus is ulso totally invisible. Phe elock and bells natmally came in for expert criticism, the crowd being magnetically attracted to "Jittle . Wolin," the deppost-toned hour hell in the Empire.

\section*{THE GIANTS OF THE PAST.}

In these days when everyone is concerned with the present and those who have vision also turn their attention to the future, it is sometimes well to pause for a monent or two and think of the past. In ringing, as in most things, the present owes a great deal to the past, and to those who, in days gone by, laid the foundations which have made modern progress possible. There is little doubt even if our forefathers had not discovered some of the fundamental things about our science which they have handed down to us, that others who came after would have done so, but do not let us overlook what the men of the past - giants in the Exercise in their day and generation-have done for us. We could begin with Stedman and come down through a long list of names famous in the annals of ringing, of men who brought great mental capacity and enterprise to bear on the intricate problerss which confront those who study the theoretical. side of ringing, in order to give us new methods and new peals; and of men whose application to the other phase of the art has advanced the practice of change ringing by their skill in the belfry and the spirit of emulation which they have kindled in others.

To-day is the anniversary of the birth of one of these men-Henry Joinson, whose memory will be honoured in a great gathering of ringers at Birmingham to-morrow. Apart from the value which such events as these have in bringing ringers, from widely scattered places, togetler in social intercourse, they do definitely serve to remincl the present generation of something of their indebtedness to the worthies of the past. Even though a ringer may never have attended one of these functions, the mere fact that there is such a commemoration every year, reminds him that such a man as Henry Johnson lived and that in his day he was a force which had its influence in the Exercise; an explorer who opened up new paths, and who left his mark upon the art. Without this commemoration it is probable that by this time, except in the gradually narrowing circle of those who came into personal contact with him, the rame of Henry Johnson would be no more to the ringers of to-day than many a score of others, whose names have deserved a place in the temple of ringing fame. Happily, however, the notable place which Henry Johnson accupied is kept before us in a manner that serves a double purpose. Johnson himself, could he tell us, would no doubt approve of the spirit of the Birmingharn gathering, which, apart from preserving his memory, helps to spread, in no uncertain manner, the real feeling of brotherhood which does so much to expand the art of ringing wherever it penetrates and makes the efforts of all so much more worth while.

BOLTON BRANCH SOCIAL WITH POLICE.
On Saturday last, the Bolton Branch held what is begiming to be Jooked upon as ar annual affair. The Bolton Borough Police Athletic Club had again given an iuvitation to the ringers to visit their club for a billiatds match and social. The arrangements were made in conjunction wilh the mouthly mecting of the Boiton Branch, and the bells of All Souls' were at liberty from 3 p.m. to 5.30 p.m. Over 30 rimgers visited the tower and rang touches of Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bol, Double Norwich Courl Bob and Cambridge Surprise Major.
Then an adjournzent was made to the Police Clab, and here was a real 'gathering of the clans.' Over 100 ringers, wives and friends met and enjoyent a 'Frec and easy ' concert. Mr. John Bootb and his claughter were encorcl agair and again for their handbells, and Miss Booth's rendering of 'Landonderty dir' with piano accompaniment was splendid. Miss Annie Potter and Mr. C. Gudgeon gare vocal solob, Mr. A. Sewart was the accompanist, P.C. Hayhurst provided the humour, and Mr. J. P. Fidler was a good story teller. course of Grandsire Caters was rung on the handbells.

In the biliards match, the police were easy winners.
The appreciation of these events is shown by tine way they aro patronised by ringers, who come from long distances. The invitation cxtends beyond members of the Bolton Branclu: it is to all ringers, and they are tnking advautage of it. The president, Rev. Canon Elsee, and the two general secretaries were present.

At the conclusion, P.C. Hayhurst mored a vote of thanks to the artistes, and, on behalf of the club, gave another cordial invitation to the ringers to come to the bowling greens sametime during the sarmmer. He said they looked forward to the ringers coraing, us they knew they would have nu enjoyable time. He said he wauld Hike to couple the name ni Surgb. Crook with the success of this. evening. Fe knew that-he had gone to a lot of irouble to make tire sacial a success, and he was to be congratulated. -Sergt. Teblutt seconted this, atud supported the iuviletiou.
Ots belalf of the ringers, Mr. I. E. Fidder thanked the police for their invitation with appropriate remarks.
Sorge. Crook said he was in a pecaliar position: lie applauded both sides; but as a riuger his chief object in organising these evcruts was la give the womenfolk un upportunity to meet and enfoy themselves. The menfolk enjoyed ringing, and to some women this was a bore, so he thought it was only fair to consider them.

\section*{SPADE WORK BEARING FRUIT.}

Another successful meeting of the Preston Branch was held at St. Mary's Ronan Catholic Church, Brownedge, on Saturday week, whin in about forts ringers were present dusing the day, amongst them heing visitors from Lancester, Blackpool, Standish and Bolton.
The bells were kept going in various methods from 3 p.m. unt after eight oclock, except for a brief interval for tea and the busi ness moeting. It was gretifyisg to note that the spade work of some of the members was bearing fruit, also that some fresh faces were to be seen.
An unknown non-ringer, who lad found his way to the belfyr said, in a conversation with the secretary, thaty for what it was worth be would like to say how much he liad appreciated the beantiful tone and pealing of the bells as he had been cycling towards the church, and he also said how very mach he was improssed b) the class of men at the meeting, and that, from the attitude and interest of those ringing, it was an 'ideal exercise for team work.
During a short interval betwen the tea and mecting a course Grandsire Triples was rung on landbells by J. R. Martin, B. Knights, C. Sharples andi d. Booth.
The meeting was theu beld, Mr. Wm. Sharples presiding. The Chairman said how pleased lie wns to welcome the visitors from tho other branches.
The usual rautine business having heen transacted, one or two suggestions were made as to trying peals in oflicr methods tizn those usually rung in the branch.
The Secretary said he wished to remind those present that, in ringing the peai of Cambridge Major at Higher Wallon recently, Mr. B. A. Knights had completed one hundred peals for the association, and was the first Preston Branch ringer to do so. On betalt of the branch he would like to congratulate, Mr. Kaights on his performance.-The Clniman also added a few appropriate remarts.
The usual vote of thanks to the church authorities for the use of the bellis, and to the local ringers for having all in readiness for the meeting, concluded the busiuces.

PFAK DISTRICT.
A very successful meeting of the Peak District wss held at Hathersage on Saturiay, February 15th, when about 40 ringers and friends attended from Bakewell, Baslow, Castleton, Dore, Eyam, Hathersage and other places. The beautiful and historic church of St. Michael, situated in a commanding position amidst the glorious scenery of the Peak, with its many objects of interest, including the grave of 'Little John,' mate of Robin Hood, was a great attraction, apart from the ringing. The bells, a heavy and old ring of six, three of them pre-Reformation, and with a tenor reputed te be \(17 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt., were raised about 3 p.m., and were kept going in various methods till 8 p.m. A pleasing feature was that the local ringers, who have little knowledge of change ringing, furned up in force, showed themselves keenly interested, and were given all possible encauragement and halp.

A spleudid tea was proviced gratis in the Schools through the kindness of Mr. H. Newbury, of Hathersage, and was presided over hy the Rev. J. H. Brooksbank, Vicar and Rural Dean, who welcomed those present in a racy and kitdly speech.
The Rev. W. P. Wright (Eyaml presided over an informal kusiness mecting, and axpressed great appreciation of the kindness of Mr. and and Mrs. Newbury, and of the cordial weleome received that day, and voiced the earaest good wishes of all prepent for the progress and suecess of the Hathersage ringers.
Mr. Newbury, who was reccived with great applause; welcomed the M.C.A. to Hathersage, and, although not a ringer himself, expressed his great affection for and interest in their historie bells, and his intention to do all in his power to help and encourage the local ringers.
The next meeting was fixed for Mawch 15th st Matlock, and, after some discussion, it was decided on a vote to limit the length of touches at all meetings to not more than 20 minutes. The methods for special attention remain as before, i.e., Double Norwioh on eight and Cambridge Minor on six.

\section*{KEYNSHAM RINGERS ENTERTAINED.}

On Wednesday, February 12th, the Keynsham ringers were enterthined to dinner by the kind invitation of Mr. nnd Mis. Hunta a party of 18 sitting down ta a splendid spread. The Ficar (Rev. E. Walters) sod curate (Req. S. Falo) were present, and after dinner a few memhers of the church choir, assister hy the organist (Mr. F. Laurence) readered solngs, ete. A vory enjoyable evening was spent.

\section*{INTERESTING PEALS RECORDED.}

Before morning service, at West Clandon, Surfey, on Sundar, February 16th, the Rev. Sir John Herschel (Rector), in the presence of members of the Parachial Church Gouncil and the ringers, unveiled a peal board. The board, which is, of course, hung in the belfry, commemorates two peals of Surprise Minor in seven mothods, one being the last perI rung on the bells before the fire of 1913, and the other the frrst peal rung on the bells after their restoration. The former was accomplished in 1911 and the latter in November, 1928. The war heiped to some extent to fill up the intervening space of 17 years, but it depleted the ranks of the ringers at West Clandon to such all extent that this long period elapsed before 8 bend could bo got together sufficiently advanced to attompt a peal of Surprise Minor in seven methods. It is interesting to note that Messrs. F. Benrett, F. Day and J. Goacher took part in both peals. The peal of 1928 was not rung by an entirely local band, as the services of Mr. W. J. Robinson, from the Cathedral Church, Guildford, \({ }^{-1}\) had te be enlisted. There are great hopes, however, that in the near future a similar peal will be rung by a local band.

After the sorvice the ringers again went to the belfry and rang a short touch, and most of the congrogation who were invited to watcit the ringing took edvantage of the oppartumity. Those who did so appeared to be keenly interested, and the ringers wore kept busy endcavouring to answer in non-technical terms the many questions which were agked whout the bellas and change ringing.
The ringels are indebled to the Misses Varren for the painting of the peal board.
After Sunday's experience, the writer of these lines is convinced that, if more opportunities could be found for ringing in front of an audience netually in view of the roper, the work of ringers and the fact that change ringing in a fascinating and intricate art would bo more deeply appreciated by the general public than it is at present. Although many of those who entored tho belfry hear the bells Surday after sunday, very few had the slightest idea thit there was anything in ringing beyond a display' of brute force and jgnorance to appeal to its devotees.

\section*{PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR} PUBLICATION IN "THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

We have received from the hon. secretary of the Central Council, for publication, the afficial minutes of the last meating. We reareh that the pressure on our space will prevent us, for a week or twe, from publishing the minutes, but we will do so at the carliest pussible moment. We feel this announcement is due to the lon. secte tary.
A well-known official of the Surrey Assaciation was nearly Lnangud the other day-not in an atternpt to commit suinide, but in a successful endeavour to save a ringing pupil from an unhappy fate. Fe still bears the sears upon his neels, but he is Kippin very cheerfin! over it all.
Two promising ringers rang iheir first peal of Bob Major on hamelbells on Sunday, and from the footnote to the report sent by all independent observer, they acquitted themselves well in the pertarmance. By the way, bath these ringers took part in the first peals of London, Gambridge and Bristol Surprise on handbells.
A peal of 8,064 Grandsire Caters was rung at Painswick on Mnewh 1st, 1734, and on the same day a year later a peal of 10,080 was rung on the same bells.
Another long peal of Grandsire Caiters, beating the Painswirk length, was rung at Notingham on March 3rd, 1778. The 'Cmubridge Chronicle of March 7 th, 1778 , recorded the performance in the following paragraph:-

On Shrove Tuesday, a complete peal of 10,260 Grandsive Caters was rung upon the deep-toned peal of ten bells at St. Mary's Church in Notting \(\ddagger a m\), being the first and only nitempt ever made for tho same. The above porformance continuod 7 lirs. and 20 mins., atul was performed by eleven of the Nottinghann Society. The tenor, its customary with bells this weight, was yung by two men, and the other nine singlelanded. St. Mary's bells ave the heaviest penl of ten bolls within one hundred miles of the place, Yark Mineter excepted.
On Marcl 6th, 1832 , a peal of 7,392 Keni Trebie Bob Maximus wns rung at Oldham. In 1871, James Mills and Abraham Jaekson, two survivors of the band, rang in a commemorative touch.
The peal ruyg at Shipham, Somerset, was Oxford Beb, not Oxturd Treble Bob, as published.
'House Fuif' is the notice posted for the Leicester dinner to-morrow, which is roing to be n great feasE day, with the Johnson dinner at Birminglana (a mational affair) and ouner amners at Cloucester and Appleton.

\section*{THE BELLS OF ST. MARY'S, NOTTINGHAM. \\ WHERE W. D. CROFTS PRACHISED}

The datcs of the present ten bells stretch from 1595 to 1856, through the reign of fourteen sovereigns. At least half of the present peal replace earlier bells, since, as eatly as the end of the 14th cenzury, William Brayser de Notfinglam was a prominent bell founder, and there is a retord tiat the clerk was sued for sellimg a clapper in 1394. The present bells may be grouped into three periods. The 941 , 8ti and 6th belis belong roughly to the beginning of the 17 th eentury, and bear the mark of Henry Oldfield, jun. This great firm carried on business in Fotlingham for two hundred years; and the 7 the and 5 bh bells, added after tho Restaration, have borders and lettering which suggest Oldfid workmanship.

The inscriplions on the bells are as follow:-
Treble.-C. nud G. Meare, Founders, London. Recast in \(1856 . \mathrm{J}\). W. Brooks, Vicar; W. Dearden, J. Coope, Churchwardens.

SThe original inseription would be the same as that on the second bell; and both seem to lave been given ato the time of fhe coronation of King George III.)
2ad.-Richd. Lambert and John Wyer, Churchwardens. Raised by subscription, 1761. Scrope Beardmore, Vicar, D.D. The Hon. Wm. Howe and John Plumptre, Esq., Menbers for the down. Lester & Pack, London, fecit.
(Inscription is in smalf homen eapitals, euriously anianged.)
Jrd.-Rev. Scrope Berdmore, D.D., Vicer. G. Brown, H. Ward, J. J3urgess, Churchwardens, 1765 . By subseription. Sodnhes Musici Nottinghamienses Restauraverunt, Jester & Paek, of London, fecif. Tranalation: 'Nobtinglam friends of music restored me' (supposed to be the Sherwood Xouths).
41h.-As the 3rh, except for Latin pentameter: "Untouched, I silent atm; shilke, and I swectly sing.'

ST. MARY'S CHURCH, NOTTINGHAM.
5th.-Inseription Zranslated [rom Latin: ' When my voice is lifted up, do Thow, O Jesn, direct pions souls. O cornc, let us sing.' I. Ditwardes, I. Sweetaple, Churchwardens.
6ith-Ralphe Shuwe and Henry Alvie, Wardens, 1613; Robert Midrodg, Vicar:
1 This bell bears two founder's marks of FIenry Otdfeld, jun., the Calvary cross, crescent and star, and H.O., and a fleur-de-lis belweon tho two letters H.O.)
7th.-Tripisated: "May this bell be consecrated by the Blessed Trinily.' W. Slurrup, '. Graze, Warkens, 1690.

\section*{A PEAL OF MINOR. \\ To the Nditor.}

Sir,-In a previous izsue, I suggested a delinition of a pend of Minor and Doublos. It is now necossary to justily the definition.
Many ringers secm to think elint it is uecessury to ding seven 720 's from rounds to rounds to ensure the truth of the peal; bat ronnta is only one row chosen arbitrarily oul of the 720 , aud it it is necossary to insist that ruburis nust always come up 720 changes from thu previous rounds, it is also necessary that every other row must nlso come up at the same interval, find this means that we must ring all soven 720 's in the same method amd wall them all exactly alike; for if we ring different methods or cull the seven 720's difiorentiy, some rows will come up at iutervals of less than 720 , and some at inlervals of more than 720.
The delinition says that the peal must consist of 5,000 changes at least equivalent to six or more 720 's, ete., in order to get ridi of that absurdify-
The trutin is that the peal is really one round block and not sever.

Compare the two round blocks A and 13. A consists of three 720's beginning und cuding with rounds, is is the same round black with three extra bohs thatiked E put in at the points laving a line klown across in A. This splits a up into three pieces, and jains thase pieces up in a differond order, in oxhetly the samu way as lienves, Fariation of Holt's Ten-part allers it.
Now evergone udaits thati \(A\) is true, and it follows that \(\Gamma\), whels is the same thing in a difterent order, must also be true

There is also a pricst's bell. It las no inseription, dato or decoration.
The grent interest of St. Mary's, Nothinglam, to ringers is the fact that this was the church where William Doubleday Crofts, the Nottinglam solicitor, who wns a pionecr of change ringing in the Slierwood Forest district, did most of bis ringing. The annual gathering to comucmorale him was held at Nottingham on Saturliny week.

\section*{CROYDON BELLS FOR YORKSHIRE}

\section*{EXPERIMENT THAT MAY BECOME HISTORIC.}

At a recent lecture at the Mappin FLall at Sheffield University 1t the Sheffiela Trades Technical Societies, by Mr, \(R\). W. Allott, M.A., ons 'The nitration process of case hardening' the lecturer, in nuw process of case hardenind steel was being applied in this and oliner countrins, remarked that a word of congratulation was due to Thiner countrins, remarked that a word of congratulation was due to proseskorts of the first church beli in the world to be given ' nitralloy' fitionga.
iti may be added, in explanation, that all the clappers of the peal if eight at Jore were rerently rebushed and fitted with rubber hiffers through the kindincas of Mr. A. 3. Grant, managing director the great steel firm of Johs Brown and Company, Ltel., who is a generous supporter of the church, and on his suggestion, and under The supervision of Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey, A.M.IMech.E., the tenor was fittod experimentally with a ' nitralloy' clapper, pin and busk, which is so far very successful. It may perhaps be of intierest to add further that ' nitrated steel ' is' a form of super-case hardening boing developed by Messrs. Joln Brown and Co., by means of which " surface harciness approximating to double that previousiy obtainuthle, is reached, and a mirror-like surface can be obtained. The steel rant be matle to scratch glass, is practically rustless, and almost unwrurable, and has undoubtotly a great future, so that Dore tenor hell may in time bevome notable for the experiment.

CANTERBURY DISTRICT'S SUCCESSFUL YEAR.
The annual meeting of the Canterbury District was held at Canterbury on Saturday. The mecting was remarkably well attended, 17 towers being reprosented by 58 members as follows: Ospringe, Sittingbourne, Tunstall, Borden, Dover, Walmer, Wickhambreaux, Littlebourne, Ashford, Wye, Wingham, Canterbury Cathedral and St. Alphege, St. Nicholas-at-Wade, Sturry, St. Peter's Thanet, Brabourne, Service was held at St. Alphege's Church, at which the Rev. A. H. Taylor, Vicar of Winglam, oficiated, Canon Crum, of Canterbitry, giving a very instruative adidess, hasen on the composition and rhythm of the 119th Psalm.
The ringera adjourned to the Foresters' Hall for tea, at which the Rev. A. H. Taylor presided, and subsequently paid a warm tribute io the services rendered to the association by Canon F.J. O. Helmore, who was unhappily prevented from being present owing to a cold. The chairman also explained the absence of Rev. A. A. Carter, Vicar of St. Alphege's, owing to ill-health, and Rev. C. A. Manley, Vicar' of Littlebourne, and went on to thank Canous Crum for his delightful address at the service. The ringers showed their appreciation, and it was regretted that Canon Crum was unable to be with then for the meeting.
The secretary (Mr. P. W. Smith) presented a report for the district for the year ending November, 1929 . The report showed that the district had had a very successful year, with an increased balance of £1 0s. 3d. over 1928, and an increass of 14 practising members over 1928. A total of 15 district meetings had been held during the last two years-night in 1928 and seven in 1929. The report continued: During the year, and perhaps before, the need has been constantly felt that the diatrict should have a Ringing Master. At a quarterly meeting held at Wingham in Ootober, this was propased and carried, Mr. F. Brett being elected to that office. Although the new office had had but a short trial, it was generally agreed that the step was a wise one, and would ultimately lead to improver and more varied singizg at the mectiugs. The report concluded with thanks to all who had materially helped to make the meetings successful; particularly, perhaps, might be mentioned the kindly encouragement given by the clergy. This oncouragement was very much appreciated, and it was hoped the distride might look forward to the same understanding sympathy during 1930 .
The report was waimly received by the company, and the chairman later paid a tribute to bin secretary for producing a clear and concise account of the working of the Canterbury District.
The election of officers for 1930 resulted in the district secretary and the two representatives being unanimously ve-elected, Mr. F. Brott laving the added honour of being rc-elected Ringing Master.

The arrangements for quartorly metings for 1930 vere decided upon as fallows: Summer znacting to be held at Birchington, autumn meeting at Upper Deal, and the annual meeting at Canterbury.
Eight new practising members were elected from Sturry, Deal, Dover, St. Nicholas-at-Wade and St Alphege, Canterbury, and Mr. A. B. Beresford-Joues as a life member.

Mr. W. Spice, one of the Rochester District representatives, offered the Canterbury District his heartiest coggratulations on his great success of all thoir meetings. He had, he said, been given to understand that some district secretaries had the jdea that theirs were the only districts which had successfui meetings. In future, he would, he said, remind them that the Canterbury District could always show Lhen what a successful meeting cauld be. Mr. Spice's remarks wert received with much enthusiasm.
The suggestion of a combined meeting with Ashford District, made by the secretary, who intimated that the Ashford District secretary (My. A. Kay) was desirous of such a meeting, was discussed, but no definite arrangements were made.
Mr. Cahbold proposed a vate of thents to the Req. A. H. Taylor for taking the chair at the mesting. This was seconded by Mr. Whitchead, and received the wholehearted support of the meeting.The Chairman suitably responded.
The meeling closed with a vote of thanks to tho Vicar of St. Alphege's and the Rector of St. Stephen's for the uste of the bells, and to the organist for kindly presiding at the organ during the serwice. After the meeting, the ringers adjourned to the three towars avail-able-the Cathedral,' St. Stephen's and St. Alphege's.

\section*{NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION}

A very successful meetimg of tha East Norfolk Branch wes beld at St. Margarel's, Lowestoft, on Saturday, January 25in. Those present were Mr. A. L. Coleman, goneral secretary, aud about 25 members (including three ladies) from Beccles, Lowertoft, Great Farmouth, Acle, Loddon, and Wrenthano. The musichl peni of cight, by Messrs. Taylor and Co., were set going soon after 3 p.m., and various tauches of Grandsire, Sledman, I'lain Bab, Treblo Bob and Double Norwich wero brought round, ith severna of which the veteran ringer, Mr. R. Spalding (in his 80th year) took part. The belle wore kept going almost without a hreak until aboat 6.30 p.m., when a very enjoyable meeting was brouglt to a close. The inclemert Feather was doubtless respousible for the meeting not boing even larger. The members wish to accord thoir thanks to the Fitar for the ugs of the belle, and to Mr. R. T. Woodley for having them in perfect ringing order.

\section*{LEEDS AND DISTKICT SOCIETY.}

The annual visit paid by the Leeds and Tistrict Society to Birsall took pace on Saturday. ' Tae busimess mecting was beld in the tower, with the president in the chair. The date of the noxt meeting was brought forward a week to March \(22 n d\), in order to prevent clashing with the Yorkshire Association meeting. Members are reminded that the Armley meeting is the anmal nomination meeting, when all officers retire according to rijle 7

A vate of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens of Birstall, for allowing the use of the hells, and to the local company for the arrangements, was proposed by Mr. Jackson (Hunslet), and seconded by Mr. Ash (Leedsi Br Arams replied on behalf of the locel company.

\section*{LADIES' GUILD.}
"Lhe ladies of the Southern District found a very warm weleome awailing them on their visit to St. Peter's, Old Woking, on Saturday last. Ringing commenced soon after three o'clock, and various methods were rung until 4.30, when the Rev. Canon Askwith conditeted the Guild service and delivered a well-chosen address.
Aiter tho service, a substantial tea, kindly arranged by Mrs. Edwards, was enjoyed by some 35 ringers.
At the business meeting, it was decided to hold the next quarlert \(y_{y}\) ruceting at Aldershot in April.
The thelfry was revisited, and the bells were put to good use till nind oflock. A foature of the ringing was that on two occasions the bells were rung in rounds by eight ladies, Miss Fisher, of Aldershot, rastiering the tenor, which is about 20 cwt.

Thlow Guild thank all who assisted in making the meeting go so well, nud special thanks are due to the ringers who provided the cigareltes and swoots, and to the kind individual who paint for the hire of the hall and wishes to remain anonymous.

\section*{THE LATE DEAN FRY.}

The Lincoln Diocesan Guild has lost a groat friond by tho death of the veteran Dean of Lincoln, Dr. T. G. Fry, who was president ot the Guild. Dr. Fry had reached the advawed age of 83 yenrs, anu his residence at Lincoln had bery marked by his eforks itt commection with the restoration of the: Cathenral, for whide he will ever he remambered. On this work he hat lahoured for seven years, and while he did not live to zee its completion he had the satisfaction of knowing that the great task was noaring its conclusion. Even groater, perhaps, than his efforts for the presarvation of tha Cathrdral fabric was his work for the sacial amelioration and well being of the people throughout the whole af his 20 years it Linealnahime. and his death is mourned throughous the county
Meabers of the Central Council will recollect his kindly interest when tho meeting was leld there in 1922, und he personally conducted a party round the Cathedral.
The point of greatest interest to ringers in connection with the restoration of the fabric was the work on St. Hugh's tower. Only those who satw its condition six years ago, when it was in actual danger of collapsing, and who bavo seen it since ils restoration-now one of the fincst bell towers in the conatry atrd coataining probably the finest peal of twelve for their weight-man reblise what is owod to Dean Fry isnd his gtaft of workers.
At the request of the Sub-Denn, Canon Jowtaine, immedintoly after tho funeral service on February 13 hh, the Cathedral bells wero rung open. \section*{BRIGHTON RINGER'S TRAGIC DEATH}

\section*{STRUGGLES OF 40 YEARS AGO RECALEDU}

There las been a tragic sequel to the reporl, to which we reformet a fortnighl ago, that Mr. Riclard W. Hoather, a Brightoblinger, was missing from his home. He was ufterwurds fownd dead, antl aL the inquest it was stated that death was due to lysol poisoning. A verdict of 'Suicide while of unsound mind' wes returned.
The deceased, who was about 60 yeass of age, begat ringing about the year 1890 at Southownt, Lewes. At that thme thore were no elange ringers there. All that counci be doate was a plain cotursib of Doubles rung troms a card. Mr. Hoaker was one of uboat half a dozen youngsters who took up ringing at the same time, aud who. having hoard about pents of 5,000 changes, soor got the iden that thern was momething more in it than they were practising. Itwey therefore got into touch with the ncightowng tower of Ringner, which at that time liad a very good band under the Rev. D. D. P. Davins. A wisit to the tower one practice night quickly revenled that the youths were on the wrong track, and a talk with the IRer. C. D. H. Davies resulted in them, nfterwarda each beconinig a possessor of a copy of 'Rope Sighl.' They began to study in the right way. Startiag on Boh Singles, they worked througli Doubles and Minor to Triples, and could lay claim lo being a self-taughi band. They could probsitly dain to be the only self-tanght hand in Sussex, although they never rang a completo peal. Tlie fomluctor of this struggling little company was Mr: R. J. Dawe.

Ahout the Year 1891, Mr. Hoather removed to London, where her got inty touch with the Foyal Cumberland Fouths, and joined Lise Wulham Socioty. While in the Metropolis, he rang a few peals, but the migrated to Brighton aboul three yeal's later, and joined the St. Nicholas' Society, to wthich he remaiued attached to the med of hilife. He was never kean on peal ringing, and probably rang ondy about 30 in all. Another of Mr. Hoather's favourite pastinses was angling, and he was fur a time gecretary of the Sir Robert Poul Angling Club.
His death came as a great dhock to his many friends, and much sympathy has heen extended to the witlow and daughtre, who fre left, to mourn their loss.
The first part of the service whs lablat St. Wilfred's Clurelr, atw was attended by a largo gathering of Bympathising fuiends. Ia addition to members of the family, tho mournets incluted Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Dawe and Mr. J. Carley, of Lewes, wlo were ljfenhe friends, Mr, and Mrs. F. Ranu, Mr. and Mrs. G. Ades. Gthers present included Mr. J. Г. Ricknan (Mastel of the Sussex Gollnty Association), Mr. G. B. Bleach, representing St. Nicholas' Soriet. Rrighton, and Mr. K. Hart, representiog St. Poter's Society, rupixsontatives of the Southern Publishing Company, where dreansed was employed, and the Sir Robert Peel Slate and Tontine Clubs, of which deceased was seerctary up to ahout a year ago. The ringolis of St. Nicholas' Chureh sent a wieath, and a muffed peal was rugg in his memory.

\section*{CHANGES IN THE COUNCIL.}

Changes, it is understood, are likely to take place in one or two of the important offices in the Central Council at the next triennial meeting. In the nearly forty years of its existence, the Council has been extremely fortunate in those who have voluntatily served it. There have been, up to now, only three Presidents and four Secretaries. Sir Arthur Heywood, who was the virtual founder of the Council in 189 r , was the first President, and he held that office untif his death in 1917-a period of over 26 years. He was succeeded by the Rev. A. I-I. F. Boughey, who occupied the position for three years, and Canon Coleridge has filled the office since 1921. And now, it is stated, he contemplates retiring, principally on account of advancing years. In the three presidents, the Council has had not only men of eminence among ringers, but men of wide and varied experience, and in whom the Exercise has had confidence, while there probably has never been a more popular figure connected with our art than the present occupant of the chair, whose urbanity, kindiness, common sense, and geniality have endeared him to everyone.

In the secretaryship of the Council, there have been almost equally few changes. After the first year of the central body, during which Mr. F. E. Dawe acted as secretary, the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer filled the office for ten years from 1892, and he was followed by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, who retired after serving the Council with ability and diligence for nearly twenty years. He, in turn, was succeeded by the present occupant of the office, Mr. E. Alexander Young, who, although he came to the task very little known in the Exercise, has done splendid work for the Council since 1921. Both Camon Coleridge and he took office in the same year, and now, it seems, they both propose to resign at the same time. If it is not possible to persuade liem to continue, they will depart with the deepest regret of all who have come into contact with them in the Council's affairs, in which they have had the complete confidence of the members.

But is it too late to induce one, if not both, to continue? We venture to put this question now, because when the Council meeting arrives it may be too late. The departure of either will be a loss, the simultaneous exit of both would be doubly regrettable. The knowledge and experience of one would be invaluable to a new ocspant of the other office, and while it is true that a double change nine years ago produced perfectly happy results, it might be just as well if only one change were effected at a time. Men who are fitted and able to undertake these tasks are few, and it is essential to the future success of the Council that careful choice should be made.

FIRST VISIT TO BURGHOLERE.
A very successful by-meeting of the Antiover District was held Burghclere on Mareh 1st, about 30 members atteuding from St. Ma Bourne, Overton, North Sloneham, Wiuchester (Cathedrabl, and King Alfred's Colloge, Highclere, Wootton St. Laurence, and Wooltoas Hill.
The bells were set gaing about three o'clock, and, later, a servicb in the church was conducted by the district seretary (Rem. F. Sear), with a very interesting adiress by the Rector of Burghale re (Rev. Canon Medificoth). This was followed by an excellert tea is the Parish Room.
There was no business to be dono at this meeting, but dir. Geurde Williams (Master) thanked Canon Medlieott for the use of the bells and for his interesting address. He also said he was pleased to see that Burghlere bells had been relung, for when tre (Mr. Wilhiaus) examined then a yerr or so sgo he found them in a very bail condition.
Votes of thanks were also accorded to the organist and those who were responsible for the tea. A move was then made to the tower for more ringing, which lasled until nine o'clock, the methods rang during the day being Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor. Unfortunately, the compary was just one short for ringing Surprise methods. This is the first ringing meeting ever held at Rurghelere.

BEDFORD DISIRICT.
A most surecsstul monthly meeting of the Bedford Disinict was hold at the Parish Chureh of All Sains, Kempston, on Saturday, Marel 1 st, and was attended by about 26 members duwing the afternoos and evening.
Thite bells, which were raised in peal and set going to a well-struck touch of Cambridge Surpise, were kept constantly on the move duriug the aftertoon and evening in ummerous methord.
A short service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rov. T. K. W. Barker.), who is keenly interestod in ringing, nud who handles a hell well. Misa E. Sieel kindly presided at the harmonium. The surice was taken from the 'Manual for Ringers, and a short uddress was given by the Ficar based on the text, There is one body (Eph. ir. 41. He said, as a splendid example of team work, ringing rominded him of rowing, for ia each case all taking part must keep striet time and work in sympathy one with another, otherwise hopeloss confusion would follow. A church possessod of such a fine peal of bells and band of liogers as they had at Kempston was indeed fortunate, and aothing deligiated hin mone than to hear the bells riugilg out their irvitation on a Sunday, and greater still was hus delight as he sew the ringers aceepting heir own invitation and taking their seatio in chumeli as often as they contd. In conclusion, the Vicar wolcumed fle association to Kempston, antl wished the members every suecess in their offorts.
An excellent tea was served in the school, after which a short business meeting was lield, when Slmrnbrook was chosen for the next maeting on March 2911, with Milton Eraest \(8 s\) an alternative tower. Two mew members were elected-Mossrs. A. Ford and C. Prindiville, holla of Kempston. A hearty vote of thanks was Hecorded the Vicar for the use of the bells, and taking the service and his address, also Mr. F. Inskip for making local arrangements.
The bells were afterwards rung until eight o'elock in the following metheds: Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob, St. Clement's, Double Court, Oxforis and Keat, Woodbine, Gollege Esercise, London Schohrs', Royal Boh, C'ambridge and Londan Surprise Minor. PEALS OF MINOR
COUNCH'S DEFINIPION STLLL STANDS
Sir, I lave been interested in the remarks in your leader of February l4th issue, with refereace to the suggestions made by Rev Law James with regard to definition for peals of Misor aud Doubles, and it is evident that the sagument is still occupying the same ground as was covered by No. 7 on the ngenda of the Central Council of 1929: "That this Council will not reagaise as a peal of Minar or Doubles any compesition in which the bells do not strike in 720 or 120 different orders rebpectively, before beginning the next 720 or 120.'

As you say, Mr. Jrmes' suggestion raises afresh (I doubt if it has ever abated, at any rate, in certain quarters) the question whether the \(720^{\circ}\) s are to be (camplete) true in themselvas or not. Mr. Jathes says (in bis letter): "There are only five possible 720's in any Trebl, Bob method, and some Treble Bob methods have only one possibli composition,' and 1 ask, "What of it?' According to decisions of Central Council, and the paragreph on ABix balls on page 17, it a band rang the Treble Bob meinod meationed by Mr. James (which has only one possible conposition) seren complete times, striking round only once ab the end of each, their performance would be recognised by the Central Council as a peal of Minor, and I conténd, Sir, that so loag as that decision of the Central Council slands, and it stands yes, that ary peal of Minor or Doubles its which tho bells do not strike in 720 or 120 different orders before beginning the next 720 or 120 is 'irregulan'.

It was with the object of finding out the exnct fecling of the Exercise on this critical point that item No. 7 was placed on the agendit last year, but our experts were ablo to draw so many red herrings across the track that the whale thing became very confused, and it seomed to me that very few in the room really knew what aetually they were voting for.

If the Exercise are of the oninion that 720 or 120 different orders shoula be rung before beginning the next 720 or 120 , then a defnite vote on a motion suck as item 7 ou last year's agenda would decido it. IF, on the contrary, the Exercise is of opinion that a repetition of clanges is to be permited within the limits of individual 720 s ar 120's, then a definite vote an a notion embadying Mr. Jumes suggested new definitions would decide that. I believe, Sur, that it is essential for that critical point to be pat and voted on in Council before any satisfactory conclusion will he arrived at, or any had-way made on the muestion. - Yolles, ote,

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN "THE RINGING WORLD.
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower showld be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use wher fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking', Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{NEW BELLS FOR CASTLE CARY.}

On Sumday, March 2nd, two new bells wore consecrated by the Bishop of Bath and Wella in the tower of All Gaints', Castle Cary, Sumerset, giving the complete peal of eight. The bells are a gift to the elauroh in memory of Mr. Charies Allen, for many years churchwamian of All Saints \({ }^{7}\), by his son and daughter, Mr. Charles Allen, aud Miss Allen, and by his nepliew, Siv James Allen, G.C.B. Ue died at the age of 96 in the severe spriag of last year, full of armorics to the last of the chureh life of Cars. He could rememberp the notable work of Canon Mcude, who found the church liawing height without zufficient length. He therefore pallod down the former tower and spire and lengthened the church westrards by an oxtra pier, and then built the present tine tower and spire, whin are sf geater height than the former. The present proportions of the luidiag, which lasa now added a fitting lengtle ta the beights salisfy every spectator. The bells were restored under the next Ficar, Prebendary Grafion, and now we lave the generons gift of the Allens, who have had the whole bell cage and fittings over-

\section*{RECOLJECTIONS OF RECORD MAKING AT APPLETON.}

A glorious day, the meeting of old frieuds, it fine peal of bells, a good dinner, all combined to add one more to the happy and sucens5ful celebrations of the 'Fanth of Wards* at Appleton. The hell were kept going all the aftermon, Ucandsive and Stedman Caters betug the favourite methods. It was a pleasure to see Canom Coldridge, president of the Central Council, oned again ringing thr 9th, as be clid iu ilse 15,041 peal of 1888 , whinh was tile worllis record for many yoars. The uncxpected sppearmee of Mr. Bent Langrlon (who conducled tho 21,000 at Appletan) and friends for a pull in rassing was hailed with delight, and the shortness of his visiti was regrectict by a,ll.

At 4.30 a company of some 35 ringers guthered at the Thatelied Tavern and enjoyed the usual excellent meal.
The meeting which followed was presided over by the Master of the Oxford Dinensan Guidd (Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), supporterd by Mr. A. J. Wright (hon. treasurer). The Rector, the Rev. G. E. H. Scanlan, was, to the regret oil all present, prevented from coming by illness.
Aftor proposing the opening tonst of "Chnich and Fing, the Mnster called on Canon Coleritge to give "The Appleton Society.' The Canon gave a short semmary of lecord making and recond breaking ont the Appleton bells, thentioning parbicularly the record seb mp on the last day of 1888 , when at shor notice a hand was collectad, He tenth man being fetchod from his "shoening' in thu" neighonring village to take parl. With thu tomst of the society ly coupled the names of the two other ringers still in our midst, ant presenk at the meeting-George Holified and \(\mathbb{F}\). S. White.

Replying, Mr: Holificld gave a sliort accolnt of the society anjoying lnis, the 112th mmiversary. He then proposed the laealth of "The General Semetary of the Oxfore Diocesan Guile, "Mr. R. T. Hibbert, whose absence was regretted by all.
During the erenimg the "White Brolliens" gave a display of thant bell ringing; when the clapper fell ont of one of the bells, other clappers, wagget valiamly till it was replaced. Several "olt favourites were sung by the Mastor, Measrs. White and Bennett ant others.
M1. Holifield proposed " The Visitors, to whose advent tho meeting owed much of its suceess, and a bearly vote of tianke to the hasi and hosiess and all who had helyed in tho arrangements broudit it happy erening to a close.

\section*{ANCIENT BELLS TO BE RESTORED. \\ AN APPEAL FOR FARWELL. \\ To the Editor.}

Dear Sir,-An appeal has been lannctien to raise funds for the restoration of the six bells of Harwell, Horks, believed to bo than oldest ring of six in the conntry, all liaping benis cast hetween 1590 and 1615. The freme has been in the tower ginee the end of the sixteenth century, and the bells have been condemmed as unsnfe fur rizgiug.

It is thought lhat now is a suitahle tine to have the bells relung and two trebles added to complete the actave.
A large sum of moncy has been raised recontly in the parish fow rougheasting the tuwer and the instaliation of eleotric lighting in thas church, so we feel we are move than justitiod in making a general appeal outside the parish, the lirst ever made for the chardt, which is not a bad retord for a village of mot more than 700 inhabilantsI havo undertakon to try and raise sufficient funds to provide one of the trebles, and so appeal to anyone, riager or otherwise, for sub)geriptions, however, small, which will be most gratefully received and acknowledged (with the editor's permission? in Lhese columas.Yours faithfully,

\section*{THE SURREY ASSOCIATION.}

Dear Sir, [n your issue of February luth, [ see the notice that the anmal general meeting of the Surrey Association will bo helit at Beddington ols Marcla 22 nd. 1 tun surprised that this date has been fixed. Does tho general sectelary not know that May 21 si will be the 50th athiversary of the fotandation of the associntion? Phat neeting was preaided ovec by the fiev. Canon Bithges, grandfather of the wife of the present Roctor of the parish. As the last of thu founders, I could wish that the meeting be held on the samu datu us the original meeting.
[ shonld be plased to see the amalgamation of Guildford Dincesan Guild and the Surrey County Association, for il seems mond absurd that there sliould bo two issociations is the one county. Guildford is the county town of Surrey ; whij, then, should it not he the hoadquarters of an all-county association? The countr will he still ture when the diocese is rgain split up. - Tours faithfully.

\section*{SOUTH-WESTERN DIVISION AT LOEGHTON.}

There is no toubt that the fine afterncon, together with a chance of having a pall on a recently restored ring, was responsible for the large number of ringers who made their way to Loughton on Saturday to attend the meeting of the South-Western Dirision of the Ersex Association. Amongst those present were Messrs. C. T. Coles and W. Pye, hus. secretary and Master respectively of the Middesex Association, Mr. J. Waghurn, sen., who, despite his 87 years, is still able to take a rope, Wessire. J. Date (Hornchurel), W. Watson (Romford), J. Dawis (Bishopsgate), ele. 'Ihe bells were raised by 3 p.m., and kept gomg till 4.30 , when those present attended the aervice conducted by the Rector, alter which tea and business meeting, presided over by the Rector, supported by the District Master (Mr. A. Prior) amd Mr. G. Dent (Master of the NortlWeatern Division), was held.
Ten new ringing and three honorary members were elected, and three elections prior to ringing peals were confirmerd. Shenfield was decidell upon ns the place for next meeting, which it is hoped to arrange for May 24th next.
tt was mentioned by the Master wilh regret that one old member, \(\mathbf{M r}\). F. Gridley, for 30 years clerk, sexton and ringer at North Weald, had passed uway, and as a mark of respect all stood for a minute in ilence.
The meating closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector, Rev. P. N. Maililand, for allowing use of tower and bells, conduching the servine nud presiding af tea and mecting; to Mr. Osborne, the arganist; to the ladies fol preparing and serving the tea; and, lask but not least, to the four veferan menbers of the loca! hand, Messrs. Raca, Carter, Clarke and Bacon, for having everything in readiness. As riuging vould not bo resumed till 6.15 p.m.; the interval was spent listening to Miss Dawsou, who onee again beautifully rendered note of her well-knewn solos.
During the aiternoan and evening, upwards of 80 members were present, representing 25 different lowerō, and touches in warious methans, ranging from Girnndsira Triples to Bristol Surprise, were brought round.

To the Editor
Dear Bir,-As no one clse appears to have replied to Mr. F. W. Fichardson's criticism, nuay \(I\), as at member, explain that the phrase Worth Sauthwirk Diocessu Guild was suggested by the Bistroe of Fingston when he met repregentatives of the association on behalf it the Bishop of Southwark, and that the new ithe was aflerwards approwed by the lather, and he consented to become patron. As the assocination has no desire to extend its existing tervitory, the term 'Southwark Diocesan Guild' would not have been appropriate, lience the present title.
I am not competent to express all opinion on Mr. Richardson"s suggestion of 'Southwayk Archdenconry Guild,' but should have houglt that if this description met the case the Bishop himself would have proposed it.-Yours failhfully, A. H. KEIGELEY.

TREBLE GIVEN BY RINGERS.
Two new treble kells, inoreasing the ring to the full octave, havo bren ackied at St. George's Church, Wiltor, Taunton, and they dedicated on Thursday of last week by the Bishop of Taunton, whin gave an inspiring address. Being himself a ringer, the Bishup preached a practical sermon, in which he urger all to live work together in unity. The Vicar (the Rev. A. F, Judd) ducted the selvice, and there was a large congregation, including the local ringers.
The bells rang out in a touch of Stedman Triples after the ser vice, and their tone was mucla adraired by all.
The scheme for: augmenting the bells has been falked about ten years or so. The loen hand nyreed to subscribe fis5, and Vicai eppealed to four previons Vicars of the parish, who agmol witl him to give one bell. The ringers then decided to do likewist and made an appeal, both personally and through 'The Ringi World.' This appeal brouglit in over fe25 stom places as far afien as Louden and mitl-Devon. The parishioners, after such a splend example, followed with the remaining feno required to compleie th job.
The work has been parried out by Mearrs. Mears and Siainban under the slmperwision of Mr. Jack Thomas (bell hanger). All who have heard the bells are agreed that the 'splice" is perfect. Tlio ऊack six (tonor 9 cwt.) have been on tre lathe, and it is dificul realise that any of them belonged to the ald lot. The 'go circlo ave everything a good ringer desires.
Snturday was yeneral ringers day, when the bells wete mad full use of trom romnds to Cnmbridge Surprise Major, everyon fally enjoying thermselves. a bountiful tea was provided in t Sconts' Hut, presided over by the Vicar (Rev, A. F. Judd), Rev E. G. Swcetman (af St. Mary's), My, T. Bromutiead and Brig.-Gpi H. ©. Frilh (churchwatdens) being also present. Ter over, was rutg on tite hatadbells, and the Vicar then said haw glad Was rupg on the hamdbells, and the ficar then said how glad the wisitore, and assured the gathering that he was alive to the par that his ringers were an excelient set of men. Rer. J. E. G. Swe man also spoke, and the clurchwardens gave the ringers an exc tent tesiimonia
Wr. A. WY. Fiayward (captain) proposed a vole of thanks to clurdh authorties, parishioners and ringing friends who lad liberally subserihed to the fund.-Mr. S. G. Coles, the energet collector, seconden, adding that an oxcollent feeting existed betwech tha Vicat aml chnrchwardems and the ringers, and it was mos appropriate that it Viuars bell and ringers' bell should hang side side.
The lettering on the ringers' bell wats kindly given by Mess Mears and stainbank

\section*{Establlehed} 1844

THE \(18 \ddagger\) TON RINGING BELL the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at Riversidg Chorch, New Yorr, U.S.A

The question of what should be the conditions governing a peal of Minor is again coming into the arena of controversy, as a result of the suggested definitions put forward by the Rev. H. Law James in recent issues of 'The Ringing World.' Stripped of superfluities Mr. James' proposals are that the changes in a peal of Minor may come up in any order as long as in 5,040 none appears more than seven times, and he puts forward the proposals in order to get rid of what he calls an 'absurdity.' The absurdity is, however, only of his own making. Ringers whose standard for a peal of Minor is that each 720 shall end with rounds will disagree entirely with Mr. James when he says, in effect, that a peal. rung with seven different callings or in seven different methods does not come within this standard. To the practical ringer it will sound equally absurd to be told that, because each 720 ends with rounds, each other of the 719 rows must fall in exactly the same place in each extent if it is to come within the limits of the above mentioned standard: Practice does not require it ; common sense does not demand it and whatever justification there may be for a definition which permits the repetition of changes within the limits of each 720 , let us avoid false reasoning as to the need for it.

In his letter justifying the definition which he puts forward, Mr. Jarnes remarks, The truth is that the peal is really one round block, not seven.' We do not want to do Mr. James an injustice, but if this statement refers to all peals of Minor, inciuding those in which each 720 ends with rounds, is he not asking the Exercise to stretch its credulity a bit too far? A round block' is described in 'The Glossary,' as 'a block which comes round to the same row or point from which it started.' Although Mr. James may think differently, we imagine that the majority of ringers, with this definition before them, will have no hesitation in saying that seven 720 's, each beginning from and ending with rounds, constitute seven round blocks. The theory of the 'one round block' is, of course, one of the essentials to Mr. James' proposal to permit the rows to come up in any order, irrespective of the truth of individual 720's. Unless he can convince the Exercise of this, one of his main props goes. If he is correct that seven 720's each ending in rounds is one round block and not seven round blocks, then two 5,040's of Grandsire Triples, rung without interval, would be one round block and not two. If Mr. James* proposals are to be accepted, the Exercise has got to alter its whole conception of a peal of Minor and in this conrection it is interesting to recall that it was only about 40 years ago that the term 'peal ' was applied to seven 720 's.

Just prior to that time these performances were described as ' 5,040 clianges of Minor,' and earlier still as 'seven peals of Minor, 5,040 changes,' showing that our forefathers, at any rate, looked upon the 720 , and not the 5,040 , as the unit of truth.

\section*{SURPRISE PRACTICE IN ELY ASSOCIATION.}

A spocial practice of Ely Diocerun Association members was field at Ickleton ou Thursdny evening, February 13th, for Surprise Major, and courses of Grmbridge, Superlativg and London were necomplished. This is the frat time a course of Londou lias been rubg in the district by a band of local ringers: P. Webb 1, F. Harper 2, E. G. Hibbins 3, R. Foward 4, A. E. Austin 5, C. Cook 6, E. Finch 7, R. King 8. The local raen also had good practice for Double Norwich and Stedman Triples. The visitors greaty appreciated the action of the Iocel company in allowing wem to muetise on their regular practice night.

\section*{RESTORATION OF FAVERSHAM BELLS}

The octave at the Parish Ghurch of St. Mary of Charity, Faver sham, Fent, have been reopmed after a silence of fifteen months. The blessing of the recest bell prior to the ordinary evensong was performed by the Archdeacon of Gaaterbury, Canon Hardeastle.

Immediately after the dedicatory prayers, visiting tingers from Sittingbourne, Boughton-under-Blean, and other towers in the Ashford Diskrict, raug touches of Stedman, Grandsire, Double Norwich and Kcnt Treble Boh, while the bells were also rung for a shart while after the service.
Pl'he Archdeacon preachot bo a lacge congregation, nud referred to the history and uses of betls in general, and partioularly to the English science of ringing.
The whole peal has becu rehung on ball bearings, the oak frame strengthened, No. 6 bell, which was cracked, having been recast. 'The work has beeu carried out by Messrs. Gilleit and Johosion, of Groydon, who have made ag excellont splice," the new bell blending perfectly with the remainder of the peal. Messrs. Gillett and folnston ware represented on the oceasion by Mr. R. E. Dove.

\section*{WESTERN DISTRICT'S RESOLUTIONS.}

The menting laeld at Northohurch on February 22nd was only fairly atteaded by small numbers from 'Tring, Berikhampsted, King's Langley, Redbourn, Abbots Langley, Watford, Leighton Buzzard and Hemel Hempstead. The riuging done was of a very low order.

The Rector kindly held a service and used the county association's form, after which he generously invited the members lo tea in tho Clurch Room. After tea, the Reotor presided over a brisk meeting. One member's election was confirmed, and, providing the bells aro ready, Femel Hempstead was chosen for the next moeting, to bo held before Easten.
It was proposed and seconded that, before the district commited itsolf, full particulars as to the working, etc., of the proposed Necessitous Gounty Members' Fund be obtained.
Another measure carried was that 'at committec meeting be held once in each quarter, and that the agenda for the same be forwarded to eneh memher of the commitee before the said meeting. It was also proposed and seconded that 'a record of compositions rung for the association be kept,' and, in addition, "a soheduie of all peals rung up to date be included in the anmual report.'
The follorying was also passed, that the aunual yeports be issued within a montly of the annual meeling. An additional proposision was carried, that "the agenda of the anmual meeting be sent to each tower prior to that mecting.
The meeting was unanimous that peal booking fees be pait by all or none.
The question of a wew district secretary was left over until the Hernel Hempstear meting. A very hearby voto of thazks was accarded to the Reator for providing the tea and service, and also for the use of the bells.
The Rector replied and gave the ringers a hearly invitation to come whenever they wished.
This coneluded fibe meeting, and the memberg adjourned fur a little more ringing.
r'he secretary is very grateful to ilose mombers who attended, pacticularly those who did so at much inenvenience to flicmselpas.

\section*{Kent association's jubilee meeting SPECIAL RAILWAY FACHITIESS.} To the Edilor.
Dear Sir, In connection with the jubilee meeting of the Kent County Association, which will be held at Cankerbury on Eastar Monday, and at which His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury wild address the members nod preside at the luncheon, I should like to bring to the netice of members and intending visitors that the Southern Raiway Company have kindly granied concessions for traveling. Tickets for the return journey at single fare can be obtained from any station in Kent, Surrey, Sussex and London on presentation of a vousher, which cas bre ohlaimed from the lan. secretary on receipt of a stamped envelope.
Trains have heen arranged to enable visitors ta arrive at Ganterbury by 11 o'clock from London stations, viz., Cannon Street 7.26, Charing Gross 8.7, wia North Kent, London Bridge 8.30, via Chnllam, Charing Cross 8.15, via Ashfort, Victoria 9.20, via Faversham. Connections between intermediato stations ean be supplied when applying for woucher:
It is hoped a large number will attend and show their appreciation of the Archbishop's presence.
The bells at the Cathedral (12) and oullring districts will be available duriyg the day, and particulars will be announced later.

Luncheon tickets for non-members can also be had on applicalion with remittance, 3s. each. Yours faithfully,

FRED M. MLTOEFLE.
Hon. Secrulays.

\section*{GUILDFORD RINGER'S SILVER WEDDING}

The silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jelley, of Guildford, was celebrated last week. Twenty-five years ego a peal of Bob Majar was rung at what was then Haly Trinity Church, where Mr. Jelley was a ringer, in honour of the marriage. On Tuesday weak, the sante composition was rung in the same tower. Mr, Jelloy has been a ringer for 30 years, and although he has rung only a few peals he has been a valued member of the Holy Trinity, now the Cathedral, Socioty. Mr. Jelley has also been a prominent Surcey footballer, hoving gained county honours as a goalkeeper.
On Saturday, at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Jelley, a gathering of friends, numbering nearly 60, celebrated the silver wedding. The proeedjags took place at Holy Thinity Parish Hall, and the company included the Provost of the Gathedral (Canon Kirwan) aad the ringers. A mast onjoyable evening was spent, the programme including touches on the handbells.

Opportunity was also taken to present Mr. Jelley with a silver bell inkstand, which was inscribed: 'Presented to Mr. W. E. Jelley by the Provost and ringers of the Gathedral Church, Guildford, on the ocession of his silver wedding, March 4th, 1930.' The presentation was made by the Provost, who congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Jelley on the auspicious event which they were celebrating.

\section*{OIL MADE THE BELLS GO.}
t meeting of the Fylde Branch of the Lancashire Association was held at Bispham on Saturday last in glorious spring-lika weather. The bells were set going with a touch of Grandsire Triples for the benefit of new mombers, followed by Bob Major, Little Bob and Stedman Triples. Through the generosity of the Rector and charchwardeas, a substantial tea was provided at Iwy Cottage, the number being augmented by a faw late comers, who coula not resist watching the football match, Blackpool v. Notts Counly.
At the busimess meeting, reference was made to the excellent running of the bells compared with their condition about three months ago. One of the lingers accounted for the bells good running by the fact. that he had given the bells a good oiling previous to the meating, and suggested that when a team wanted to make use of the bells for practice or a peal they should oil the bells thamselves.
This oiling business is one of difleulty, owing to the small size of the tower, which is less than ten feet square, the bells, with a tenor of 10 cwt., being in two tiers. It is a clever engineering feat on the pari of the bell hangers to lave got the bells in the tower and such a good circle of ropes.

The spring meeting of the Exeter Branch was held at Whimple on Saturday, March 1st. The Rector, the Rev. E. A. Jullyan, condueted a very hearfy nervice in church, at which an interesting ada dress was given by the president of the Guild (Rov. E. S. Powell, of Clyst 5t. Eeorge).

A tea and short business mceting followed in the Victory Hall, between 70 and 80 mombers aud their friends being prasent. The Rev. E. V. Cox, chairman of the branch, presided, and wes supgorted by the Rev. and Mrs. Powell, the Rev. 12. A. Tullyan, the Rev. G. E. F. Molineux (chairman of the N.E. Devon Branch), Mr. E. W. Marsk (hon. secretary of the S.W. Devon Branehy, Mr. E. Shepherd (lato chairman), and many honorary mombers.

A very bearty vote of thanke was carvied, amidst acclamation, to the Rector, the president, the organist, and the ladies who had helped to dispense the tea. The Rector suitably ceplied, and said Whimple was very honoured to bave members of the Guild meeting togethar in the parish twice within a few weeks, and he hoped they would not stop at that, bub would come again.

Miss E. Lomas, hon. secratary of the branch, put forward tho names of six new members, who were subsequently elected, and tho autumn meeting was fixed for Septembor 6th, at Cly时 St, Gearga.

Full use was made of the bells, which have recently been very successfully rehung in a metal frame, with entirely new fittings, by Messrs. Jolan Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and all the visitows axpressed entire satisfaction with the enormous improvement in the 'go' and tone of the bells.
Members also visited Rockleare, Lowton, Exminster, Feinton, Pay; hembury and other towers in the diswict during the afterncon and evening.

\section*{AN OXFORD BIRTHDAY TOUCH}

A novel performance was accomplished oin St. Giles' bolls, Oxfori, on Sundoy, February 18th, when seven merabers of the Oxford Sociaty, all of whose birthdays occur in February, mat fogether and rang a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples in 47 mins. The eighth man, whose little daughter's birthday also occurs in Februnry, rang the tenor, thus making up the band for this anique oceasion. Their names and birthdays are as follows: \(R\). Allsworth (Fobruary 24th) 1, Miss M. Reynolds (February 23rd) 2, F. Tayior (February 17th) 3, F. Sharpe (Febrtary 22ud) 4, J, R. Chaundy (February 25th) 5, V. Bennett (February 25th) 6, R. Post (February 21st, conduotor) 7, W. Judge (daughter's birthaay, February 194h) 8.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.
PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN "THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World̛,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

Mr. Harry Withers now holds the record for baving atteaded a greater consecutive number of Johnson dinners than anyone else, vic., 32. And he looks well on it.
Tha Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guitd (Rev. C. W, O. Jenkyi) bas promised to preach at the annual meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on March 29th.
The late Mr. George Bowen, of Ifracombe, was well known to many ringers who wisited London for the College Youtins' dinner. Fur something like thirty years excepi, of course, during the war-Mr. Bowen made a pilgrimage to the Metropulis to meet his old friends at this gathering.
Tho six membors of the Ladies' Guild who took part in the pelpformatned are to be congratulated on anging a peal in three Minor methods at Gamston, Nolits. We have it on the authority of an andopendent listener that the peal wis a particularly good one.
Mr. U. Braven, leader of St. Luke's Charch, Bristol, has been apl painled pro. vice-chairman of the United Guilds. This wiil be the firat six-bel! tower to be represented in the chair of the Bristol initul Ringing Guild's annual dinner. Mr. P. C. Williams is chairman aind Mr, F. Burt is vice-chairmen.
When wo observed the other day to a prominent nember of itse Oxford Guild that it was a pity lhat 'March the 4th' at Appleton so often clashed with the Johuson dinner, we were reminded thut the fault lay with the organisers of the Birmingham feast. March the 4th at Applaton has been colebrated for 112 years.
But the Gloucester and Leicester dinners cannot lay claim ta the same nntiquity. Perhaps next year the promoters will swoid Februaty 28th.

On this rlay, 203 years ago, the first peal was rung att St. Mrrinnts-in-the-Fieids, London, wheu the Jundon Scholars (now the Royal Cumberland Youths) rang 6,006 Grandsire Cinques. On the foilowing day, the College Youths had the use of the bells and went ane better, by ringing 6,314 in the same method.
On March 14 th, 1837 , a pend of 10,133 Graudsire Ceters wrs vung at Christ Church, Bristol.
A cryptic posteard las reached us from Norwich containing division sums to prove that the peal of Grandsire Caters recorded at St. Peter Mfancroft, which Ftated ilsat 12,303 changes were rung an March 8th, 1737, is three changes over 700 leadg-a rather unusual length truly, if the record is correct. Perhaps the peal was actuelly 12,600.
The attention of Suffolk ringers is called to the alteration of clate of the mecting at Uford. Ithe moting will be held on March gend.

The first session of the Fourteenth Council (38th annual meeting) will be held by tho courtesy of the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, at Lambeth Palace, Eondon, on Whitsun Tuesday, June IOth. Full particulars of the meeting will appoar later.
Notices of motion should reach me ton weeks beforohand in order that they may be inciuded in the agendr, which, under the rtiles, has to be published eight weeks before the meeting.

Subscriptiang (on the revised scale) are now due.

ONE OF TEE GLORIES OF SOMERSET
Somerset is a particularly fortumate county in regard to its rings of bells, for there are many glorious pents within its bounderies. Not far from the foot of the Mendips lies Wrington, a fine old-world village, with a magnilicent church, whoss tawer is said to have formed the model upon which the architect of the Houses of Parlianuent modelled the Fietoria tower. And Wringion has one of the finest rings of bells in all Somerset-a ring of ten with teror of 37 ewt. in O sharp. The foundation of the peal is some old ones cast by the Bilbies, of Chewstoke, who prit the hack six into the tower at variens dales in the eighteculh ceutury. I'reble and tenor were recast in 18:55; and in 1911 four trebles were added by the Whilechapel Foundry. Previons to 1845, the treble of the six weighed \(10 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\)., and the tener \(33 \frac{1}{2}\) ewt. Recently the bells have been overluanled by Messrs. Mars and Sininbunk, and there is an eathusixtstie local haud who are muking headway in change dinging.

\section*{WRINGTON CHURCH.}

\section*{AN ANCIFNT PEAL OF SIX RESTORED}

The aucient ring of six bells at Scdlescombe, Sussex, wbieb have been retuned and rehung, werc recently dedieated by the Archbishop of Hastings. These bells are one of the oidest rings of six in the country, and vame from the whitechapel Foundry. Messrs. Mears and Strinbenk have carried out the work, the cost of which was defrayed by Mr. suld Mrs. Kingdon. A special band of members of tho Sussex Assmiation did the opening ringing.

The first of what is toped will he a series of many anaual dimers held by Lricester and District Sacielies took places at tho King Richard LUI. Hotel, Higheross Sineet, Leiegstor, on Salurday, Mareh 1st. The bells of St. Marguret's (12), the Cathetra! (10) and All Saiats \({ }^{2}\) (5) were apen for ringing, from 3.30 till 6 p.m. Onfortanutely, the fine peal of terb at St. Joln's were unavailable owing to serious illness near the church. Visitors to St. Margaret's were very int terosted in the magnificent poal book at ihat church. This is a real work of art. It has been benulifully execuled in coloured inks, and is the resuli of many lowurs' labour on the part of the painstaking Ringing Masler of St. Margaret's, Mr. Ernest Morris. T.LIe ringing varied from Grandaire Doubles to Stedman Cinques and Cambridgo Surprise Royal. Rounds and call clanges were also rung nal St. Margaret's bells, whicin guve some of the ringers au opportunity of ringing on 12 bells for the lirst tirac.
A company of 58 ringers and friends sat down to dinner, and six ar soycn more came in for the concert aflerwards. The ouly thime that could be at all regrelted was that members wero a little pressed for room, but it is hoped that next year, when a still larger gathering is looked for, a more spacions room will be obtained. The following towers in the areas ware represented the the diner: Anstey, Billesdon, EXdmondthorpe, Fallatoth, Husbands Bosworth, Leicester (St. Mazgaret's, the Cathedral, St. Joln's, St. Poter's, Belgrave, anil St. Saviour's), Ratlyy, Rothley, Syston, Thrussington, Waltham, Wigston Magan and Wyznoulhan. Welcume visitots were Mr. Alhert F. Ward, of Derby, and Messrs. Edward C. Gubey and Jumes F. George, of Ilkeston.

Arter the tables had been cleared, the party sethed duwn to \(n\) really enjoyable impromptu concert. The following seven lames were excellently rendered on the handbells (four "in land \({ }^{\text {') }}\) ) by Messrs. W. Willson, E. Morvis, H. J. Poole and P. Harrison: 'Drink to nitu only,' 'Rlue Rells of Scotland,' 'Annie Lamic,' 'Men of Harlech, \({ }^{\prime}\) - Swannee River," 'Soldfer's doy,', and 'The Bells of St. Mary.' An execllent course of Stedman Caters was also rung by E. Morris 1-2, F. J. Paole \(3-4\), A. H. Waria 5-6, W. Willson 7-8, R. F. Elkingten 9-10. The yemainder of the handbell ringing consisted of a course of 'Rugby Triples Major' '"Cag-Mag') by J. Morris 1-2, R. F. Elkington \(3-4\), \(\mathbb{C}\). Morris \(5-6, H\) J. Poole \(7-8\); and \(n\) course of Grandsire Triples, ' 4 in hand,' by W. 1 . Whiteheal 1-2-3-4, IN. R. Whitehead 5-6-7.8.
Mr. C. Turner eutertained those present in his own witty manner, and the following kindly contributed songs: Mr. F. Howe (Mlye Sentinel'), Mr. J. Morris (Tha Coffee Mili'), W1: H. J. Poule ('Topical Song'), Mr. A. H. Manslield ('Come landord, fill the flowing bowl, and 'Billy Muggins'). The audience wholeleartedly joined in the chorus of the four latier songs. One of the mast enjoyable items of the eveuing was Mr. Haroli Poole's 'Topical Bong, in which the beils of local towers and prominent Leicester ringers were skilfully introdured into is rollieking dituy, the ehorus of which was sung with considerable vigour.
Previous to the commentement of the coneert, the Chairman, Mr: A. J. Harris, submitted the toast of "The King," whieh was duly honoured. Olher toasts were wiven at intervals during the evening. Mr. W. Willson submitenl "The Visitors.' He said that he caulil remenber the time wher there were differences of opinion betwon the ringers of the different clurches in Zeicester, hut these had now happily passed away, and thoy were that evening all gathered together under one ronf as a big united family. He also spoke it word of welcome to those who lind come from lowers outsicle tho eity, mentioning by namo Mr. P. Hardy, of thrussington, witl whon he rang over to yenrs atgo: Whr. Willson went on to say that lie hoped that that gathering would be the forerumer of many annual dinmers, and hat he was plensed to see so many present. Hte hoped that uext year they would lave still more there, and that they would hald it in a larger room.
Mr. E. C. Gobey (Inkestion) responded, and thanked Mr. Wibhon for his welcome to the visilors. Mr. P. Hardy, of Thrussington (for very many years hon. secretary of the Goscote Deunery Socioty of Chureh Bellyingers), supported Mr. Gobey in his remarks. Ho said that be hud bad a good many years' expertence of ringers, and knew the difficulties that those who hold any official position had to coll tend with. He said how fery much ho had enjoyed the overting, and expressed chanks for the invitation given to him.
Mr. H. G. Tenney subnitted the toalst of 'The Leicester and Distriot Socicties.' Ho said this was one of the octasions which helped one to realise what a good thing it was to be a bellringer. He said that other places had these annual gatherings, nd he saw no reasun why Leferstor slould not do the same, and that an evening such ns they had enjoyed made him sealise what they had been missiug in the past.
During the Inst lialf-hour, those present were given an opportunity of exercising their voices, when they were diviled in fout gitups, and the old vound song,' 'Lomlon's Burning, was sung with vigonr for a few minutes. The singing of 'Auld Jang Syne' a few minuies before 11 p.m. brought a vefy enjoyable eveng to a conclasion.

THE JOHNSON COMMEMORATION DINNER

Lu replying to twe toast of 'Continued prosperify to St. Martin's Guild," proposed by the chairman (Alderman J, S. Pritchett), Mr. T. H. Jeeves (the hon. secretary) said that prosperity needed fidelity. That was the secret of the whole matter, and they of St. Martin's hud been oxternely fortumate in the very enthusiastic band of offoars thoy hud hed. So long as ilhat contisued, Le was sure the prospority of the Guild was assureri

Mr. A. Paddon Smith, also malled umon to respond, said the Guild wits exccedingly fortunate in having the servicos of Mr. Reapes as scerctary, and wilh him and their esteemed Presiding Ringing Mnster skill holding office, the Guild would go on and prosper.

THE OATHEDRAL BELLS.
Mr. Abort Walker also had to reply, and took the opportunity of impressing on the Bistron the need for a complete restoration of Whe bells at the Cabhedral. It was very regrettable, hes said, that when the authorities carried out their recent renovations of the Calacdral ard fle organ they did not flo something to the bells, whicis ought to nome right oul and be recust and re-erected in a new Srane, They onglat to have the best pual of bells possible at the Calledral, but, unfortumately, they had not ouly the worst in tho diceset, but the worst in the world (laughter and hear, lear). Out of the ten, five were crackerl as far as they could lell. The Guild were always impressing on the virious authorities the need for puthiug and keeping these bells in order, equally with arry othor part of the ohurch property, They were fortunate in that diocese that the bells generally were well lnoked after, and be hoped tho Bishap would we his infuence to oblain a thorough restoration of tha bells at the Cathedral. It would lave an important bearing on the structure of the tower, for a modern framework would strengthen it by one hundred per cent. He hoped before agother twelve montlis had gone by something might bo done. He believed if an appeal werc made to the eitizens of Birmingham for money for the renovafion of the Cathedrat bells it would come in just as fast as for the fabric and the beautiful organ (applause)
Mr. .J. Fr. Smallwood proposed "The Visitors, whom, he said, they were alweys glad to see and welcome. They valued the presume of those who came from near and far, and they appreciated the homonr which the visitors thus conferred upon them.

\section*{A RUMOLiR}

Mr. Ti, W. Jiwell, who firsi respourled, said it was difficult for visiturs, when they came to that gathering, to believe that ihey were visitors. St. Murtin's Guiki made them so wolcome that they fell mopletely at home. They were among peoplo they knew; al wele friends, and it was a horoughly pleasant everaing. Continuing, Mr. L'swell satd be found his name had been assacinted with rumours that gomeone was wanfed to undertake a certain amount of worli in the Exercise. That rumour fided not hold the truth that he personilly wotidd like it to hold. There wero so many calls made upon his time at present thal he was avable to do everything lie would like to do for the Exercise.
Mr. H. A. Young also replied, and sid, in regard to the rumours refermet to, if they could oaly be upheld with truth to Mr. Elwell, the nlice in question would be filled with the utmost ability. The way in whel Mr. Elwell not any emergeney and said the right thing at, the right time would make him a rery useful officer of the Cennal Council if he was able to add the duties to his many fields of nulivity

Mr'. F'. W. Perrirs, in proposing the tonst of 'Clas Ringing World,' gaid it was naw 19 years since the paper lyegan publication. What amunth of progress the Exercise had made as a result conld not be measured any more than they were able to measure the good done to the Exercise by the mats whose memory they were honouring that night. They cauld not, however, deny for one moment the advantage to ringers of having their owt joumal. Thore were, he reanared, no less than 27 ringers gatherings in various parts of the country that dny; without the aid of 'The Ringing World,' through which singers were able to learn what was tuking place, fow of those gatheringe would bo the success that they were, Mr. Perrens arged all those who now supported "The Ringing Wort " to do all in their power to get others to support it, so that the circulation might be considurably increasci. He suggested that riugers would wolcome in the columns of 'The Ringing World' a series of sketches of the lives, with portratits, if possible, of past stalwarts of the Exercise. Those who came to the Henly Johngon dinner, who had seen his porlmit recularly on tho programme, and had heard the reminiscencos of him by people who know him, really felt as if they had themsnlves known Heary Johnson, and lio felt sure that ringers gencrally would like to make acquantance in the same way with mony of the other worthies of the past

With the toast was associated the names of both Mr. sud Mrs. Goldsmith, whose health was drunk with riusical honours. Mr. Gold smitz roplied.

Tho Chairman thenked those who latd contributed to the progranume, especially the St. Martin's Quartette, with whom the ringers were co-workers in tho elurn,

PEALS OF MINOR
To the Editor
Sir,-I heartily agreo with all Mr. Whittington seys in your last issue, and muless the Council defnitely decides as to what shatl consLitate peals of Doubles and Minor, this controversy will seep coming up.
Revertiner to the definition of peal of Minor as given by Mr. James is your issue of February 28th, 1 am sutprised that Mr. James should take up your valuable space by sending such examples as \(A\) and \(B_{1}\) especially after condemning so strongly 720's of Cambridge and London which bring up \(5-6\) at hand. As he rightly says, A consista of three trae and completa 720 's, containing 9,12 and 15 bolos, each having nine 5 -6's at hand, whilst \(B\) contains three 720's, trane of them true or complete, and bringing up no less than thirty-sis 5-6" at band, one being rounds. Which would six-hell ringers prefer to ring?
With reforence to Mr. James* statement that there are only five possible 720's of Minor, via., \(9,12,15,18\) and 21 bobs, I give below four 720 's, and would like Mr. James to explain that, if Nos. I and 2 are one and the same, what are Nos. 3 and if?

\section*{Killamarsh}

C. SFVFRN

Sir, With roforence to Rev. Law James' Bob Minor in "The Rigging World " of February 28th, surely, with six variations of 18 Bobs, 2 Singles, six variations of 16 Bols, 2 Singles, and "umpleon' olher 720 's in 'Ropesight,' there is no need for anything itn the nature of \(\Omega\) freak in Bols Minor. I think it is uearly tiale we got to tho definition between a ravintion of a calling and seven clifterent 720's.
This seems to izdlere to my letter somo months ago. Once yotio may lave rung tho true 720 ohanges, it maters not anl iata as to how the next six come up, provided rou tepant nothing more than five limes.
I hope when the Central Council meet again they will make this subject a strong point, and state what is legal and what is other-wise.-Yours faithfully,
F. WARELNGTON

HAPPY ANYWHERE.
ML. A. 玉. Parsons gave "The Chairman," and congratulated Alderman Pritchett on having rung a peal of Stectrman Cinques to colebrato his 75kl birtladay. There were, lae said, few men in the Exercise who could ring a peal in that method at that age

The tomst was musically honoured.
Alderman Pritchett made a charectoristic response. The proposer had asked whether be was happiest in parforming his masonic duties or amongst ringers, and lad anticipated bis reply by suggesting he was equally happy with both. 'I am happy all the time, baid the Chairman, ; whatever I am doing. Under the providence of God, I bave good health, as far as I know mg mind and body are unimpaired, and that is a condition in which one enjoys life in all circumstances. I am happiest at the moment wherever I happen to bea At the present moment I cannat imagine myself happier that ir yotar compaly, and responding to this toast. We may pricle oursolves on this gathering, and we thank Mr. Reeves for the arrangements made for it.

The Rector of Birmingham who eame in late in tho proceedings, then adflressed a few words to the company, cxpressing regiet that he had been prevented by another engagement from joining them earlier.
This concluded the procoedings, and the gathering broke he aiter singing the National Anthem.

The delightful programme of music which interspersed the speethes was sustained by Madiame Lilley McCornack, Mr. A. S. Downes, Mr. W. C. Dowding, who contrihuted songe, and St. Martin's quartebte, whose finely readered glees and parl-songs were a feature of the evening's entertainment.
Many of the risitors spent another bappy day on Sumday, and a number made an excursion in the momilag to Wialanll to riug wn the new peal of iwelve bells there.

\section*{THE LATE MR. GEORGE BOWEN}

LJELONG ASSOGLATION WITH ILFRACOMBE CHURCH, As briefly reeorted in our lazt issue, Mr. George Bowen, of Htiracombe, passed away on Saturdny week. Hr. Bowen, who was 83 years of age, was a diescendant of a famous Ilfracombe family. One of his fncestovs, Capt. Richand Bowen, cammanded FL.M.S. "Terpsichore' and lost his life at Tenevifte in 1797. Gapt. Bowen was one of those who were ardered to stay and spike whe guns so that they would be useless to ilue enemy. The task was fulifled, but ail who took part lost their lives.
George [Jowen had been associated with Holy Triwity Church, Iffracombe, practienlly all his life. He bad been a choxister for over 70 years, a ringer for more ilan 60 years, and parish clerk turing literally lived for his elutch. His life was one of the most selfless and benutiful that man could live. Thinking always of others and how best he could be of service, Mr. Bowen was loved by all who kner him inismately.
He was not a great ringer as ringers are reckoned in these days, but his whole life and work leave a splendid exnmple. Ee was responsible for the introduction of change ringing to Jteracombe when ualy six bells lung in the tower, and when two trebles were offered in 1893 lie undertook to raise the funds for the nenessary framework and the langing. He was ever ready to help foung ringers, and those who know the coast hills of North Devon will realise what it meant for hina to eycle tho 20 miles to Lynton and back every week to give instrtiction to the local band. It was his elforts, also, which resulued in the only peal that has been rung on Lundy Island. In ber of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and he attended the anmaal dinmer in London regularly for about 30 years.
Mr. Foweti was also a Freemason and a member of the Odifellows' Friendly Saciel:
the funcral service took place on Tharsday of last week, and was conductad by the Vicar, who was assisted by the Revs. F. Neshit fof Exeter, former curate it Jlfracombe), W. Pigot (West Down), and N. Phillips. The cortege was met at the lych gate by the choir and clergy. Ihse path being lined by a guncl of honour of Orldfellows. The coffin was borne from deceaser s residence to the chureh by Odffellows. The bearers in church were mernbers of the choir, and the enfly was barme from the morch in the gravesite by the following bellingers: Messrs. F. G. Ritige, C. W. Filer, F. Blackmore, A. Thmet, 1. Splauue, and J. Richards. The 90 h Psalm was chauted, and the lymms, 'Neaver, my God, to Thee, zad 'Now the labourer's task is a"er,' were sung. Tliee organist (Mr. R. D. Fincly) played applogitate music, and muffed peals were rang on the bells. Mr. W. Butler read the Oddfellows' order of service at the graveside.

The monrners were Mrs. Bowen (widow), Mus. Viekery (bistex-inlaw, Mr. Eruest Phillipse and Mr. Gharles Belber (neplews), Wrs. E. Hugles, Mr. A. Hughes (Loudon), and Sister Sergeant. A large congregation assemblet to pay their last tribute of re-

\section*{A TENOR WITH A PREFERENCE．}

On March 8uh a very successful meating of the Nottingham Dis－ triet of the Midiand Counties Association was held at Ruddington． The bells were kept going in various melhods from 3 p．m．until 8.30 p．m．About 25 members urned up，and they put their backs into it well，but the tenor would insist on playing nasty tricks，and would not go to Double Norwich．After a time，however，she was coaxed to go to Cambridge and Treble Bob，but she preferred keeping behind in Sledman．
A most enjoyeble afternoon was spent looking round this beautiful elurch，iuside and out，but the bells want the bell founders round therm．There has never been a peal rung on them jet，and none of the party scemed to be amxious to fix up a penl．
The next montilly meeting of the district is to be held at south－ well，if the bells are available，if not，at Radolife－on－Trent（six boile），on the first Saturday in April．

\section*{SHIPLAKE RINGERS LOSS．}

Ou Thursday，March 6th，were laid to rest at Shiplake，Oxos，the mortal remains of Mr．F．W．Nicholson，on the eve of his 80 th birthiay． He was interred by the side of Mrs．Nicholson，who predeceased him in September，1928．In August last，Mr．Nicholson gave up the Old Yiarage to live with his son，and be passed away on the Krd inst．at Wester Closa，Withypool，Dulvarton，Somerset．It was Mr．Nichol－ son＇s wish that the writer of these lines shouli make his coffin．The wish was carried out，and on Tuesday，March 4th，a distance of 320 miles wns covered，and，as the body was reverently being placed in the belfry，the tenor bell singularly started to speak out－it was the hour of \(10 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\) ．
－The Ringing World has contained many accounts of Mr．and Mre．Nicholson＇s hospitality to the Shiplake ringers，who have lost these noble hearts in which＇the milk of human kindness made the whole worle kin．＇
The funeral serviee was fully choral；half－muffled touches were rung before nad after，and in the evening a quarter－peal of Grandeire Triples was rung by：A．Histead 1，W．Wicks 2，E．Smith 3，O．W． Porter 4，G．Cleave（conductor）5，J．Hiscock 6，O．W．Porter，jun．， 7，R．Allum，8．The sfriking in this touch was of a very high standard．The men at the ropes gave of their best to the glory of God and in memory of a gentieman．

\section*{Establlahed 1844}

It is strange that, in spite of all the efforts that are put into the working of ringing associations, a large number of towers and ringers remain outside these organisations. Associations throughout the country have been working for years, some of them for more than half a century, and yet it has to be admitted that there are many towers in which the ringers are content to stand apart from their county or diocesan ringing society. Why is that the long-continued efforts that have been made to react these 'outsiders have failed? It may sound an astonishing thing to say, but there are probably more ringers outside the associations than in them. At a meeting a few weeks ago the President of the Central Council stated that last year there were 46,000 ringers in England. His statistics were authoritative, and the was able to give the exact numbers and the decreases in the last two years. The Central Council itself represents practically all the ringing organisations of importance, but we doubt if the whole of the affiliated societies include 20,000 individual ringers, when allowance is made for overlapping. Why is it that 25,000 and more are still outside the 'fold '?

There are probably a number of causes and we doubt if any one of them is more responsible than another. Here, however, are some of the reasons which, we believe, affect the position. There are those who, frankly, do not want to come in, because they cannot see that they are going to get something out of it. They are the people who can only appreciate a spirit of 'brotherhood' if the other man is going to give them something more than they will give him. There are those, also, who, because they are not change ringers at all or are only indifferent change ringers, imagine that a ringing association has no place for them. From their standpoint they cannot appreciate the fact that these organisations are out to promote the progress of such as they are. Then again there are some who, with an eye on 'the loaves and fishes,' set their faces very firmly against the intrusion of strangers into their belfries for fear that they may eventually lose the few pounds that are annually divided among the band. They do not realise that associations do not desire to interfere in their domestic affairs. And beyond these there is still a larger class of 'ringers' who are so lethargic or so indifferent to the art that their interest in it is absolutely nil. No amount of effort would ever drag them into an association. They are the men who, even when a meeting is arranged at their own tower, stay away. They are the 'dead wood' on the tree and so far as they are concerned drastic pruning might make it better for the Exercise. There are other types also, in(Continued on page 178.)

cluding those bands who deliberately resolve to stay outside, probably under the inflsence of one man with a grievance, but they all lack the real spirit which makes the brotherhood of the Exercise the great thing that it is, and which bas lifted the art of ruging from a secular pastime to a recognised service to the Church. Can anything be done more than is already being done to bring in this other 25,000 ? It is a problem which the associations have not yet solved.

\section*{UNVEILING OF PEAL BOARD AT BOTTEGFGRD.}

A beathfal peal tofard has been placed in the ringing clintoter of St. Mary's Church, Bottesford, recording the ainging of an peal of Stedman Triples on Saturday, August 3rd, 7929 , by a bnme of M.C.A. ritgers. The unveiling and dedication ceremony took place on Saturday. March \(86 h\), before is acod number of fingers and friends from Melton Mowbray, Grantham, Croxton Kerrial, Orston and the local band. Mr. R. H. Bartram (Melton Mowbray), 'Father' \({ }^{\text {b }}\) the band which rang the peal, asked the Rev. F. Walford, as Rector, to accept the board as a gift to the church from the ringers. Bil said the peal was an excellent one, and was worthy of being recorded. He congratulated Mr. S. Proctoy, as cousluctor, also the kntul that rang the peal. The Rev. F. Walford grabionsly aeceptesl thit loard, saying it would be a reminsler to futtro genprations an to what had been accomplished.
The unveiling cercmony was performeti hy a lady member of the Church Council, and the Rector conducted the dedieation, after which a splendid touch of Stedman "friples was rung hy the game hand that rang in the peal, viz.: \(W\). G. Therpe (Grantham) 1, , 12. Bartuam (Melton) 2, A. W. Warla (Bottesforl) 3. E. Ridd (Grantham) 4, E. Bartram (Melton) 5, S. Proctor (Grantham) 6, R. H. Bartram (Melton) 7, T. F. Hall (Grasthan) 8. Mr. A. W. Ward woiced the ihanks of the ringers to the laty for hooousing them with her presemes, also to the Rev. F. Walford for his service and allowing the use of the bells on this and previons occesions.
The bells were at the disposel of the ringers duting the afternoon, when touches in the following methods were brought round: Double Norwich, Kent, and Plain Boh Mijor, Stednan anal Grandsire Triples. The bells were lowered in peal at 5 p.m., bringing to a elase a most enjoyable aiterncous, which will long be remembered. A. W. W.

1 suppori that quite in number of Minar vingers are taking an in terest, paning or otherwise, in the contsoversy that is likely to rage afresh on the rexed question of 'different \(720^{\circ}\) s." Always it is prolitable to read the riews expresied by diferent writers when they are Ancked by logical argument, but there is nothing edifying in vald gtatements which are opposed to common practice, when no efforf is marse to subatatiate thom in any shape or form, especially so, when, apparently, they ate inconsistent to a degree.
Such a unt appeamed in "The Ringing Worlde' of frebruary 14th, where the Ret. H. Law Iames slated thai pursible 720's in any Tretbie Boh method. fs left fucioutr to think out exactly what is As usual, ilie reader meant or, at leasta as ta how one would arrive at such \(n\) conchusion. Unfortunately, ho generall; is thinking furbousiy (in \(n\) different gense of the term) of as epprusite point of view. It is left to Mr. Scvern to assume that Mr. James implies that 'difiorent' 720 's uast coubain a different number of bobs, viz. \(9,12,15,18\) '2 21 . This may, or may not, be thei eorrect reading, \(t\) do nat know.

1 shotld, howaver, like to say lhat there are considerably more than five, or, alternatively, that thero are not five! And, unlike Mr. James, \(J\) suhmit reasons.

Let in tuake a moser acquantance with the mysterious ' Colonel (hogey) \(Q\) sel, in anl endeavomr to jndge for ourselves bow very inennsistent Mr. James' stadcumal appears to be.
Syeryone krows that there are 30 lead 'ends' (or lead 'heads,' if you preter) in a 720 of Treble [Boh, atad everybody will realise that Itsere not another 30 rows adjoining these; in short, there are 30 possible paits of tows when the treble makes her fuil lead. Fvery one of these 60 rows ean be reatod in invee ways in order to prodince it mate, viz., second suplace bam be nade (a), sixth's-place (b), or fourth s-place (c).

If will hro seen, in (a) ant (c), that ine bells in the S/6 posilions remanin amiljatnerbed by either treatanent; and, in (b) and (c), that the undiblurbert halls are in the \(2 / 3\) places. Jeyond the fact that the "shelterest' (or madistmraed) positions are in \(5 / 6\) in second's-place methots. and in \(2 / 3 \mathrm{jn}\) sixth's-place methods, the effect is oxactly similar, and we may choose either for the oxample which follows. Let it be the former

In the 60 possible rows there are ten groups of six, each graup hnving the same pair of bells in the sheltered \(5 / 6\) places, Take, for example, those rows which have the tenomg there- 123456 , 124365, 134256, 132465, 142356, 143265 ; and accent, as a fact (and a very conernte fact), that these six rows ean he proditeed in an extent only thoy be joined together, in pairs, by the same means. The thee pairs of rows all must he 'plained' by using second's-piace, or all 'loobbed ' by using fourlh"s-place.

Here, then, we have a 'g set,' i.e. three pairs of rows wilh the same pair of balls in the two slestleret positions. The \(g\) set must be EITHER plamed OR bobbed. Tlhis emphasis is important to my freint-plained OR botberi. It follows that any six such rows, with a griven pait of bells in the shelterad positions, will form a a set. There aty: 60 such rows, efich \(q\) sotitakes tup six rows, and thus an uxient comprises ten of sets. Each of sel has n different pair of bells in tha shcitered positions, and any one q set may be plained OR lubbed.
If we call the tenor W.R.W., lwiec repeated, we hoh all of those paits of rows wherein the ienor appeats in a sheltered position without the fifth ' being there also. Tn other words, the rows uro bobbed only when 26,38 and 46 are the bells in the \(5 / 6\) places. In short, we bob threa of the ten qu sets and plain the ather seven.
Alicmatirely, we may bob flie difth R.W.TR., twice reperated, thas bobbing the rows when the fifth is ' without the tenor- In other Whers wob the 25,35 , and 45 q-sets and plain the other seven.
When we realise that we naty bob the second without the third wilh the sume effect, and, vice varga, the 'third without the second, tho sacond without the fouth (hath ways), the second without the difth, aud so ch, it will readly be seen that we may, will uine bobs flume, prodtuce a fair crop of witying 720's.
Bui Mr. James' 'five possjble" menns that all of the above variadians ure one, in spile of the fatis that the rows appear in clifferent infers, the calls appear at different leat-ands, different observation frells are issed, and that the combination of a sols differ. Am, mark this wall. in spite of the frot that certain qu sets will he bobbed in one and plained in another.
Now, in London Surprise Minor (for example), we may bob the fenor I-4ilis-O, I-4th's-O, R, twice repeated, as given by Mr. Severn in luis letter; an extent with 21 bobs, wherein we hoh every lead except when the tener is 'without the fifth.' In other words, we plait of sets 26,36 and 46 and bob the other seven.

\section*{THE SURREY ASSOCIATION．}

\section*{To the Editor．}

Dear Sir，－With reference to Mt．Trappitis letter as to why the anntial meeting of the Surrey Association should not be held on Wednesday，May 21st next，the date（Mareh 22nd）was fixed by the committee in accordance with the rules of the association，which srate that the annual meeting must be held in March of each year． It was not likely thati the rules of the association would be ignored ta suit ube whins of any one person，even if ly does allege himself to he the last surviving foundation member．He and others should come to the ammual meeting abd put forward practical suggestions in which the members might celebrate the jubilee about the time of the aminersary．
1 have a copy of the fryst report issued by the association，and I am quite aware of the circumstances in whin it was formed．
Mr：Trappitt＇s remark upon the suggested amalgamation beiween the Surrey Association and Guildford Diocesan Guild really anazes me．He definitely stated at the time amalgamation was suggested that the Surrey Association must never lower its dignity by amal－ gamsting，bub should carry on as always lad done．When a plehiscite was taken and the result made known to a special meeting of the asaciation hald at Leatherlhead in March，1928，Wr．Trappitt was the very person who praposed that the scheme be dropped，and the mintion was carried

Why the sudden reversal of policy now that the affairs of the as－ bocimion are ranning so smoothly under the management of a busi－ ness－likf committee？－Yours failhinally，

CEAS．H．KIPPIN，
Hon．Secretary．

\section*{WARWICKSHIRE GUILD．}

A montaly meeting of the Guild was hold at Stoke（Coventry）on Saiurday；March 15th，when members atemded from Allesley，Bed－ Worth，Mullington，Coventry，Learaington，Nuneaton，Slilton，Rugby， Warwick，etc．A variety of methods was rung on the church bells from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise Major．Twenty－four mem－ ber－sut down to a good tea in St．Andrew＇s Parish Hall，and were sorcy la hear the hoo．secretary（Miss E．Lewis）was indisposed ankl quatle to attend．
The Fector，who was unable to be present，sent a note of welcome to the members of the Guild．
A vote of thanks was passed to tho Rector for the use of the church hells and Parish Hall，and to the ladies who prepared and served tim tea．

\section*{ELECTRIC SHOCKS BRING PEAL TO AN END．}

An extraordinary occurvence happened on Suturiny last，when a band of ringers from the Northern Branch of the Worgestershire and Districts Association met at Brierley Hill to attempt a poal of Lon－ don Surprise Major．Before ringiug commenced a little oil was given to each bearing，and after this was completed the towerkeeper came kown inta the belfy，omitting to switch off the electric light in the bell chamber．There hea been a heavy fall of suow on tine previnus night，and some had drifted through the louvres of the tower，thus making the floor very damp．
Everything was in order nald ringing commenced，After ringing lot 10 minntes，the ringer of the 6th bell felt a sharp twinge of pain in his right nom．Thinking this a small bodily pain，he cerried on． The pain came gagin，but this time in both atris．Howover，he exin－ timed ringing，when，after about 40 minutes，he had a sepere puin not only in his arms buf thronglant his whole body，and at liw same time the rope snarled as it went up at handstrokc．Tlee ringer then came to the conclusion if wrs an electric slock，althougli it was not then known that the light had been left on in the bell gamalier．
The ringer of the 6th called a stand，much to the astonishment of the other members of the band，as them everything seemed to toe going well，and they were very surprised to learn the reason a stand had been called，nemely，that the ringer of the \(6 t / 1\) was occmsionnlly getting an electric shock．
This was due to a＇short＇in the electric wirt and the dampness of the tower and belfry foor，also to ine fact that the boll rape uli times came into contact with the clectuic eurrent，which pagsed down the rope and into the ringer，who，however，feels no ill enfect from his unisual experience．As the ringer of the 7 th is an electricisin by trade，it may have been had he had the 61 h boll be would have known immedintely the cause of the twinges of pain．

The unfortunate band was as follows：J．Lloyd 1，W．Short 2，if Bess 3，W．Browhl 4，C．Skidmore 5，H．G．Bird 6，T．Hemming 7． R．Matiliews（conductor） 8.

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive phot graphs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photograpls should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photograpls may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Waking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

Thbe aunual meating of the Eastern District was held ati Goole on Saitriay, March 15th, and despite the inclement weather was attended by upwards of 50 members, representing towers in Eastrington, Hatfied, Henainghough, Howden, Hull, Pontefrach (St. Giles' and All Snints'), Selhy, Thorne, York, and the local company.
The cight bells of the Parish Chureh, which were ceast in 1890, have recently been retuned and rehung in a new jron frame, fitted with ball bearings, hy Messrs. A. Taylor and Co., and full advathtage was taken by the fisitors to test, the 'go," which was pronounced by all and sundry to be excellent.
The chureh was consecrated in 1848, and was built hinougls the mumificonce of the Aire and Galder Navigation Co., the tower then containing six bells. Two new irebles were added in 1860, and thus the peal of eight, dind service up to 1890.
The clowk, which had been out of orter fot two years, has now been thoroughly overlauled and Westminster chimes added by Fesirs. Potts ane Co., of Leeds, and was started, during the service held for the rledication of the bells, on Jamuary 23ref last, by Sir Johm Eagesome, K.C.M.G., managing airector of the tire and Calder Navigation.

The visitors on Saturday had tea together in tho National Selools, कnd this was followed by a service in the church, af which a very appropriate sermon was delivered by the Vicar of Goole (the Rev. H. E. Wall, M.A.), who preached from the Ephesinns iv. 8: Wheraiere, he sailh, when he ascended up on high, ine led captivity captive, and gave gifts unto men.' I'luee special hymms used at the dedication service were sumg, accompanied on the orgall by Wr. C. Brearley, Mus. Bre.

\section*{A PEAL OF MINOR. \\ To the Editor.}

Sit, -I em nof dealing with theary but with facts.
A round block is a block which comes round to the same row or paint from which it started: therafore a 720 cousists of 721 rown, of whinh the firat and last are the same. Therefore, soven 720's consist of 5,047 Fows, if it consiste of seven romad blocks.

It is not a theory but a fact, that you an only join round blacks hy culting them open mad joining them together by the ends. Seven Itue and complete 720 's is like seven links in a chain, but 5,040 of Minor is like e single ring in which tho 720 's are incomplete and joined \(u p\) end to ond, so that there are only 5,041 rows in the wiolo. Now, if this ring is true nut we cut it up sgain and join it topether in any other order, gon that we make the same number of rhanges and produce exactly the same rows in a different order, the remult is only ar wariation, and it mast also be true.

T'wo peals of Grandzire Triples rung as you suggest would be only unt round block for the same reasoln.
The Farl is that a peal of Treble Bob Minor containing 5,040 Hanges muat sansist of 42 plain courses, and if we ingigt on this Heing a perfeci seven part, than in justice to the six-bell ringer we cught to insish on all peals of Stedman Triples being seven parts, anili all peals of Major also.
What we want is a definition which will easure that enough - langer are made and that the whole is true, aud bhe definition of Minor zarl Doubles which I have proposed ensure both blose points, while lowing the six-bell ringtu abolutely free in all other respects junt. as free as his 8,10 and 12 bell brethren.
H. LAW JAMES.

LOUAL RINGER'今 GENEROUS CARE OF WDTSHIRE RTNG
Anuther stage in the history of the bells at the Church of All Saints, Wootton Bassett, was veached on Salurday, when they were reopencd after celanging. The bells are a peal of eight, made up from ats old peal of tive by the addition of three trebles in the year 1890 by J. Warner and Sons, Londort. The tonor ( 19 cwt .), seventh and fourth bear the diate 1633 , the sth and Gila were recast at the tine of the restoration and addition. The bells are well known throughout the ringing world, as many peals have been rung on them, the outstanding performance being n. peal of Superlative Surprise Major, the first bs a local band in the West out of Bristal, on March 17 th , 1923.
For some time the hells have been rather loose in the frame, and it was therefore decided by the Church Council to call in the bell hamgers and have the matter aitended to. The result was that Messrs. Gillett and Johnston refitted the ring with new gudgeons am? bearings, ete., it a cost of 589.
fingers from the following towers attended the opening meeting: Swindon, Strathort Si. Mal'garet's, Gloucester, Croydon, Colnc, Rrombill, Purton, Bratal Hinton, Cliff Pytord, Dewizes, ete. A short service was couducteri hr the Rev. D. Bartlett, assisted by the Rev. Aspinali, after whimb the mingers adjommed to the Vicarage for tea, lo which 42 thembers sai down. A vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar and Mr. Bartielt fol their kind hospitality. Various methods From Grandsire tan Canbidge Surprise were afterwards rung, the finging being of very gooul grablity II is interesting tir note, in passing, that the writer of the above notes, Mr. L. A. Wiln, lias been in cliarge of these bells fot the long period of 32 yearis, and during that time has borne the whole expunse of the upkeep of the bells and of various improvements in the tower. He haf how bad the pleasture of liaving the bells marde sufo for at least another 50 years. Messus. Gillett and Joluston have designed a special bype of sold gun-metal bearings in which boarings, hence the puiting in of plan bearings.

\section*{A FRATERNAL GATHERING AT SHELDON.}

On Saturday, February Dst, a fraternal meeting was held at Shilforn, when ringers from Darlington and others were invited to ant afternoon's ringing for the benefit, of the local company. Several touches of Bob and Treble Boll Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, in which the local men took part, as far as possible, some for the first time on this number of bells.
Adjournment was made for tea in the cafe by the church gate, when seventeen sat down, the Vicar (Rev. H. B. Watts) presiding. Mr. T. Clark proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for paying the expenses of the tea, and for the use of the hells. Mr. G. Fire seconded the proposition, which Mr. T. Titi supported.
The Vicar, in reply, said he embowed the afternoon's ringing, and was very pleased to be present at such a pleasant gathering.
That ringers again went to the tower for more ringing until eight o'dloek (exempt for au thalf-hou's service), a course of London and Cambridge Surprise Minor by the visitors bringing this interesting social meeting to a close.

Two more associations this year cclebrate their Jubilee, the Surrey and the Kent county organisations. Last Saturday the former held its fiftieth annual meeting, and the Kent Association will do likewise on Easter Monday. The Surrey Association, like most of the territorial societies which began round about the same time, has grown from small beginnings, and its path has not been an altogether easy one. On the one hand its area included part of South London, where, at its bitth, the towers were already nominally under the influence of the oid London ringers; on the other side, the Winchester Diocesan Guild had already been established, and the diocesan area covered a considerable portion of the southern half of the county. There was thus but a strip of territory left, yet, in the interests of belfry reform, it needed an organisation to cover it.

The Surrey Association has striven to unite the towers in this area, but it has often been no easy task to hold the ground and to unite the members, who were scattered over a district which, in the days before the war, had little means of direct communication between east and west. This was a very real handicap, for one end of the county could not be kept in effective touch with the other. The effect of modern transport systems has somewhat overcome this difficulty, and the association has been able, in recent years, to show much greater signs of active life.

The diocesan question, however, still puts something of a stranglehold upon the society. Most of the area in which it works is now in the diocese of Southwark, but Croydon, one of the association's chief centres, remains an isolated part in the diocese of Canterbury. Moreover, the London County Association now includes ' North Southwark Diocese' in its title, so that the opportunity which the Surrey Association has of taking on diocesan status, if it desired to do so, is full of complications, especially as any comprehensive Southwark Diocesan Guild would overlap the area of the Kent County Association. Obviously no rearrangement on the diocesan basis could take place without subseantial concessions between the associations concerned, and of this there seems no present likelihood. In the meantime, the Surrey Association is taking on a new lease of life, with young blood as the driving force, and it reaches its jubilee at a time when its activities are as great as at any period of its career. The Exercise will join in congratulating the association upon completing fifty years of work in the cause of belfry reform and change ringing, and in expressing the hope that its future may be even more successful and prosperous than the past has been.

The Bishop showed great interest in the work of the association, utud readily rememberd ringers at churches where he had at some time oficiated, amongst. then being Romford and St. John's at Hackney. Immedjately tea was orer, the Rector expressed his pleasure at meting the associntion, and the Bishop then adduessed the members. His description of the raried ways of calling people to worship in dilferent parts of the world was very interesting.
Before the deparlure of the guests, the Hon, Sceretary (Mr. C. T. Coles) oonveyed the thaniks of the members to the Bishop and Rector for their kind interest in the association, and informed the members that the Bishop had kindly consented to Lecome an hon. vice-president.
ft the business meeting, the derch of the president and ban. irrasurer (Mr. F. A. Milne) was refrred lo, and the hon. secretary aiated that he had received many letters expressing sympatlyy, ineluding one from the Bishop of Landon. J'o show Lheir respect, the membors present stood in silence for a few moments.
The Hon. Secretary stated that the rlistrict was in the position of having nearly a year to go before the next annual meeting, when they cauld eleet a new treasurer, and he suggested that this offee blould be filled temporarily. He lind mucls pleasure in proposing that their old friend, Mr. W. H. Oram, be electeri hon, treasurer (pro. tem.).-This was seconded by Mr. C. H. Martin and carried nnani-mously.-Mr. Oram expressed his delight af being able to do something uscful, and promised to do his best for the welfare of the aociety. It, was also agreed that Mr. Orant should be the third rustee of the invested stock.
Five new ringing members were electod, as well as the Rector of Sif. Giles-in-the-Fields (the Rev. A. H. Lloyd) as an hon. menher. to was announed that the amual general meething of the associaion would he held at Fulham on Saturday, April 26tb, when the prebcher would he the Rey. WT, P. C. Sheane, Vicay of Twickenliam ad Rural Denn of Hamptun.
It was deeided that the next district meeifing slould be held at St. hudrew's, Enfeld. on May 17th, jointly with Lle Ladies' Guild.
Whe Chairmnn (Mr. W. Pichworth) proposed a vote of thanks to tha Rector for his whdress af the service, and for the use of the bells, und to the local ringers and their friends for the excellent tea prowided. This was seconded by tho hon. secretary, and carried unani-mously.-Mr. Fived Barker replied, and expressed his pleasure that the meeting har been.so mach enjoyed.
The Ringing Master (Hr. A. W. Coles) Kept everybody busy in the ower, anl saw to it thal all present had ant upportunity to ring. Rounde, Grmodsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Troble Buh, Double Court, Doublo Oxford, Cambridge and Lonlon Surprise wers among the tuethods rung.

\section*{CHESTER GUILD AT LAWTON}

The Crewp Brameld of the Chester Diocesan Guild held their nombioly meoting at Lawton on Saturday week, whon 33 members were present epresenting Crewe. Alsager, Lawton, Wistaston, Northwich, Maceleseld, Namtwich and Mariket Drayton. Ringiog conmenced at ubout 30 and continued until 7.30 p.m., with an interval for tea.
Diring ilse afternoon and evening, touches of Graudsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Treble Bob Major, Cambrige and Treble Bob Lajor werc rung.
An excellent fea was setred in the Institute, alter' which fhe Lawtou handbell ringers entertained the visitors with handbell selections. These accomplished ringers eonsisted of Messrs. Rigby, Aryowsmith, Booth, Harpor, Longman and Biddulph. Character sketches by Mr' Sproston were much enjowed
At the conclusion, a. vate of thanks to the Rector for presiding and for the use of the huths, io hro. E. Hollinshead for providing such a splondid tea, lo the ladies wha assisted in this connection (tea), and to the handbell ringers, was proposed by Mr. Wm. Holding of Crewe. This was seconded by Mr. Longford and carried with acelemation. A very happy mecting was thus brought to a satisfactory conelusion.

Portsdown was reached at about 10.15 , and a halt was called for the niglt, the Queen Hotel ncoommodating all the members. At mine o'clock next moruing (St. Patrick's Day they again entrained for the last portion of their joumey to Condonderfy, which was reached at 11.5 a.m. Here they wwe mel he the Tery Rev. Dean King, Mr. J. C. Ore, Mr. Kennedy and other numbers of St. Columb's Cathedral Society.
'lhe seven members who were not standing in the peal were kindly laken in malors by the Dean and other gentlemen to Portrush, same forty miles distant, and entertaiued to duncheon. Tho remaining ten wended their way to the Cathedral, where the principal event of the outirg was soon under weigh.

After three hoturs and fourtecn minutos, the bells rollod home, no word laving been spoken beyond the necesary aalls.

With ouly un hour romuining before entraining for the one hundred and seventy-five mile homeward journey, it was only possible for the band to ohtain light refreslments before getting to the station. Dinner was served on the train.
In bidlling 'Good-bye" to all their Denvy friends, the president of the visiting society (Mr. R. S. F. Murphy) asked the Dean to accept, for the belfry, a framed photo of the members of St. Patrick's Sociely wha wisited Derve and rang fot the apening of the bells- He also thanked them all for fheir kind co-oporation in making their prosent pisil such a success.
The Deat, in accepting the photo, ungratulated the ringers on their peal, uid wished them a safc return.

\section*{THE SPLICING OF PLAIN METHODS. \\ Ta the Editor.}

Dear Sir, - fear that the third item in your Sunday service towehes colamn of March 2lst is slightly misleading. If I had known ihis extent would be rung, I should inve explitined to Mr. Relfe before he seat you his report
The methods, Double Oxforl and Si. Clement's, have the relationship deseribed ut pare 14 uf "Methot Splicing" it the seventh paragraph below tho beading "Plain Methods." "Ihey can therefore be spliced in blocks of 30 leads, the methods being changed at the Singles, and have probably bean ruag thus.
The novelty of the Lambenturst 720 lies in the maneer in which the melhods havo loern spliced, in 3-laad blocks, irrespective of the Singles. The figures of a typical 720 are given :-

\section*{THE BELLRINGERS' FAREWELL.}

The following lines were inspired by seeing four ringers ring a course of Grazdsira Triples over the open grave of the late Mr. F. A. Mine, president of the Midillesex County Agsociation:-

Tho last word is said; the earif receives her dust. There is an ond of him we koew.
We wait by the open ground, under a careless sty,
And know "bat we and he are lost and separate.
Sad dust, there is no help for you, no gentle end
Thet we can make. Impotent, wo depart,
With no farewell.
Four-square the ringers stand,
Look down, then lift their bells in salutation
To peal sweet tunes aboot yous eartliy bod,
That fall on jou and mount to us, and are carriend
High in the wind, then drop to you again,
To silence. The ringers stand,
Look down. "Friend, was it woll done?"
They go, with muted belis and lowered faces.
And wo go too,
Our troad an echo of your requiem.

Vofes ad thanks were accorded the Vical for the use of the bells and for conducting the service, the ladies in chavge of the tea arrangements, and to Admiral Walker for presiding.
The tower was revisited at the close of the business meeting, and the bells kept going until \(8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). The methods rumg ranged from Grandsire Doubles to Canbridge Surprise Minor.

\section*{GLOLCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION CHELTENHAM BR&NGH.}

The spring meeting of the Cheltenham Branch was held at Badgeworth on Saturday, March 15th, and was well attended despite the rery heary rain. This nice ring of six bells was kepl going during the aftemoon and evening. The service was conducted by the Virar (Rev. Wm. Downes), with Mr. George Cos al the organ and a full choir.

After service all adjoumed to the Willage Fall, whoto the membris were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Shephera, who, logether with their lelpers, had arranged a nice tea.
The business meeting followed, with the Vicas in the chair, gupported by the Master (Rey. E. S. Saleby), Ganon F. W. Sears, Mr. and Mrs. F. Clements and some 35 members representative of the towers in the branch.
The Vicar heartily welcomed the members to his parisls, aud ssid he had a lot to thank the secretary for.

One hoanary and three performing members were elected, and Dumbleton was chosen for hise summer meeting in June.

The Master then fully explained Rule XIV., and it was decided to support the executive with reference to the association's re-affiliation to the Centual Council.
Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard were heartily thanked for their tind hospitality, the Vicur for the use of the bells and for conducting the service, and all who had helped so freely. This concluded the business.

\section*{FELKIRK'S RECORD}

To the Editor.
Dear §ir,-I was very pleased to read your editovial re the Nelikirk record of 253720 's and methods. I had the pleasure of congratulating them publicly at a meeting of the Barnsley and District Socioty held at Wath-on-Dearaie, and I am glad to say details of the rocort will be inserted in the society's minutes. This record may be beaten, hut the hand which sets out to beat it will be busj. I had the plasure of conducting a cand many of the 197700 s : amg by tho Weth-on-Dearne band in 1927, and I can assure you that that band can ring Treble Bob Minor methods.
Seeing the reference in 'Beltry Gossip' re the 15,120 in 21 T'reble. Boh Minor methods rung at Wath-on-Dearme in 1816 and still unbenten, you may be interested to learn that a few years after I han learnt to cing a little I rang a short touch of Oxford Treblo Bob Minor on handbells (one bell each) with the son of the conductor of that lone peal and four others.
Round about the years \(1908-1910\) I goi together six Treble Bob Minor ringers to practice with tho intention of trying to ring 25 720 's, i.c., 18,000 , but several things happenad to upset the projact. after we had got to the stage of ringing any of 50 or 60 methods. One ringer left the district, ono left lis earth and others were not avalable to fill their places at that period, but I still hope to have a shot at it when I can get the men and a suitable peal of bells, Chose at Wath-on-Dearne being quite out of the question now.
Alsa, please note, the record was mado at Wath-on-Dearne, Xorkshire, not Wath (Yorks), which is a small town near Ripon, and which also has a peal of six bells.-Youts truly,
A. NASH

President, Burnaley and District Saciely.

\section*{PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.}

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

The bells of Cramsley, near Ketteving (nn old ting of six by Bagley, all daled 1685), are ta be brearleast ale 7.55 p.m. on Sunday, Maed 30th. Until a fortnight ago, they had not been raised for seventedu yearts, when they were pronannced unsafe by a representativo of is lirn of hell founders, who inspeded thent, and they are, in ringers' language, a "jough lat.' Two of them (treble and fourth) are cracked in the crown, but do not make their defect too plainly teatu when tung- Under the circumstances, the land on Sunday may nal be able to put up as good a pertormance as they would like to do.
Mr. James George has liad a nariow escape from serious injury. On Monday week he was knocked down by a motor-car, near his home. Fartanately, the brakes of the car ateted effeiently, and whea Mr. George was pulled out from heneath the vehide the only damage done was to his hat and clothes, although, of corrse, he wits severely shaken. With his wonderful powers of recuperation, hu quickly recovered, and on Saturday rang in a peal of Stednam Cinques at Walsall.

Owing to illness, the meeting of the Ely Diocesan Asseciation it Lang Stanton is postponed indafinitely.
Mr. George Pullingey, who has for same years ably filled the offee of hon. secretary of the Winchester aud Rortsmouth Diocesan Guild, thas resigned office. Mr. F.W. Rogers, Portsmottt District secretary, is acting pro. tem.
A peal of 10,080 Grandsite Caters was Lung at Fullham by the College Fouths on March 291li, 1762.
At St. Michatel Coslany, Nouwiels, a peal of 10,080 Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung on April 1st, 1727.

The first peal of Girandsire Triples ai St. Dunstan's in the Wost, Pleet Street, Londion, was rung by the St. Dunstan's Society on Aprid 1st, 1777. These belis are now seldon, if ever, rung.
On April 3rd, 1899, a peal of 15,072 Double Norwich Major with rung at Erith. At that time it was the longest length in the methorl. It whs, however, exceeted by Kidlington peal less than two mouths leter.
A peal of Grandsire Caters (the first on the bells) was ruaf on Saiurday ut St. Peter's, Brighton, on tho anniveratry of the firs peal of Bristol Surprise Major rung in the same tower in 1901.

\section*{The " Mother" tower of tho Surrey Association.}

Tho following affilinted towers were represcited: Aslitead, Banstean, Bednlington, Buakiand, Burstow, St. John's and St. Peter's, Crovilon, Ewell, Horley, Kingswood, Leatherhead, Limpsfield Chnri, Mersham, St. Poter's and Christ Chureh, Mitcham, Redhill, Reigate, and St. Heonard's, Streathan. There wore also members from Chelsea, Chislolaurst, Hrulick, Hillingdon, Norwich, Penge, Poole, Guildford, Woking and Landon, nud among the visitors was Mr. George Dent, of Hrrlow Common.
The service was laken Erom the Ringers' Manual, amb bhe Rector prenched from lbe words, Walk wortliy of the vocation wherewith ye tave called (Fphesians iv. 1). After exteuding a wekame to the issociation, bo remarked upon the titingness of holding the meeting inl the jubilee year at Beddingtun, and referred to the foundation of the ascoeiation fifty years ago, and the objects for whith it was formed. In those days, he sbd, ubuses of the belfry were conmon, and drinking, gambling and smoking were often earoied on in them, while in many towers the only ringing consisted of younds or call chatages. It was to coumteract these abuscs and to promote the art of change ringing that the great assaciations were farmed. Method ringing tequired study and practice, a clear head, close coaceutration, thought and inkelligence, and it involyed a sacrifice of time and even of money. It also required the old Christian characteristics of patience and thoroughneas. It brought together all classes of people, who uniten in one fraternity, giving their services to Rod and the Church. 'I he bolls lad a message to those outside, and, if the bolls hasi a messaru, then the ringers were the preachers. Let therm, thorefore, walk wart by in their vocation; let them do their ringing to the glory of Giad. "ihure was a danger in thinking ton much of practico as ant titl 10 anal ringing, but if they bad behind their mind flatt the object of their pructicg was to ring the bolls lietter on Snnday, then atl woulil lin well. Let them aim high, but lef then remenber that, as in the:ir ringing they set an example of mavranc, patience and reverenee, in their daily life they shouid set au example of true Christimn mom.

\section*{AN ASSOCLATHON CTETRTPICATE.}

After tea, at the Harvest Fona Hutel, the business mecting was held, presided ovar by the Masier (Mr. D. Kcmuelh C. J3irt), who at the outset reminded the members dhat that was the fiftielh anabat meating, and quoted from the list report of the association, which, pressed the conviction that not only wortd the performances imerasu it numbers, but that they would alsu grow in yarioty. Tlant antivipation, said Mr. Birt, had been abundantly fulfilled in the years that had followed.
Mr. C. Dean, as hon. treasumer, prosented the fanamial statemont, which showed that the yoar began witly £29 1s. 5d. in band. Wlan re ceiptr included \(£ 3\) 8s. from the Southern District, £4 19s. Gu. frome the North-Westerm District, 22 2s. from one life hon. member, und £3 5s. from 13 compounding members. The subscriptions were wceived from 110 ringing and 4 hon. nembers in the Sobthem Distriet, and from 142 members in the North-West District. The expenses, including 19 10s. for printing the unual report, amounted lu fe3 19s. Id., leaving a balance in hand of \(£ 18\) 3s. 4d., a reduetion af mearly ell on the year.-I'lie reporl was adopted, with thanks tressurer.
The Hon, Secretary (Mr. C. H. Kinpin) read the committee"s report, whicls stated that 22 peals had lieen rang by the association in 1929. Four ringing menbers and an hon. membor had been lost h death. In the North-Western District live meelings land been hed with an average attendance of 30 , and two successinl joint mentings with the Guildford Diocesan Guid. There wete 109 members attachurd to 15 towers and 34 unathached. Iliere wete 23 towers with 114 mombers in the Southern District.

An important part of the reponf denlt, witle the commituets remmmendations as to a new certifeate ol membership. A design was suthmitted, and it was recommended that this should be aceeplerl: that a stowe be produced and 300 copics printed at a cost of £23 10 s, , and that mambers be charged 18. per copy. I'lue stone wond be tha property of the association, and further copjes could be produced ato EI 1s. per 100.
The design was passed round, bul several sperkers considnced Ihat it wits uot good enougl, and Mr. Fousdon asked if they cotald moh have an alternative design.
The Chamman said the committer had been to some extent time in theit choice of design by a rosnlntinm prased two reats ago at the meeting at Leatherbead, wimen it was resolved that the new fesigis should follow the old certificato as noarly as possible The fommitioue themselves did not like the design, bat they felt bound to ant unan the instructions given them. The flesigums had gone to a great dunl trouble to make the most they conke af il within thesc limits.
After considerable disensaion, a motion to reler hack this purt of the report was defeated, and eventually the desigre and tie frmimiltoe's recommendations were approwal.

\section*{The remainder of the report was also adopled}

PEAL BOOKANGFES.
Tha Hon. Secretary moped a tosolution to delete rule 21. under whicir a hooking fee of 3A. per rope is charged tor peals. Ha said ths rule was introduced when thm asociation was in finameial diffienties in order to assist in meeting the ensti of prinling tife annual zuport. At the present time they were in anter position, and as it wan fond the rule penalised peal ringers it was Lhanght flicy should get rifl of the rule as soon as possible.

Mr. M. Northover expressed the opinion that the fime was not ret ripe to delete the yule eatirely. He Hgreed that it latd jts distalvantateg, especially in the case of ringers who rang perls for plie benefit of young hands. A suterestion that had been carried pratticully manimonsly in the Southern Distriet was a compromise, urnd he moved that the booking foes he paid by the districts fot whels ringer after his first three peals.

The dificulties of carrying this out were pointed ond by than du. socretary, and on a vote hoing taken the amendment was lost by \(\pi\) large majority.

Mr. Nortlaver then said they ought la think earefully hefore they decided to do away entirely with this source of income. Fe thought it was loa soon, in view of their nilher emmmitments.
It was elicited that the amound received from booking fees last year was 51 198. 6d.

A member asked if 3d. would stop anyone standing in a peal?
The Hon. Secretary replied that he was sure of it, They would ting peals for another association.
On baing put to the vale, the motion to delete the rule was defented by a large majority.

\section*{UFFICIAL MINUTES OF THE MEBTNG AT CHELMSFORD.}

The thiril session of the thirteenth Council (37th annual meeting) wis lield in the Cathetral Halk, Chrlmaford, on Whitsun Tueaday, May 2lвE, af 11 a.m.

\section*{COUNCIL MEETING}
'I'Jere were present at the general meeting 78 members (32 guilds and associalions being represented)
The: chair was faken by the president, who opened the meeting with prayer.
Thi the tris avoidable absence of the Bishop of Chelmsford, the Council was welcomed by Canon Morrow, Sub-Eean and Aector of Chelmsford, and by the Mryor.
Cunon Morrow, on belialf of the Chtrch, expressed him appreciation of the work done by the Council, and the high level to which the whole idea of ringing had been brought during tho last twenty or thirty years.

The Mayor, on behalf of the city, gave the Council a hearty welcome 10 what he described ats one of the most beautiful of English counties.

T'he President then thanked the Canon and the Mayor, and the Council proceeted to discuss the business upon the agenda.
The minutes of the last meeting hating been puhkished, were taket as read, and duly confirmed and signed.

Applogieg for absence for receiver from the Revs. C. D. P. Davies, A. J. Beeston, H. S. T. Richardson, F. J. O. Helmore, Canon Eisee, E. W. Carpenter, G. C. Marshall, Messrs. J. W. Parker, J. Cotteril\}, P. J. Johnson, J. S. Pritchetu, A. Paddon-Simih, H. Knight, E. H. Lewis, H. Haigh, W. Barton, W. Ayre, J. Clark, J. D. Mathews, T'. H. Taffender and H. G. Fretwell.

Several of the above wero incapacitated by illness, especially the Rev. C. D. D. Davies, and a sympathetic referenee was made of the lact by the president.

\section*{AGCOUNTS.}

The hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. TE. Alex. Yaung, presented the diancial statement, which showed that the year began with a balarice at the bank of 22615 s . Gil., and that the balance, after the receipts (which included sis 5 . for the brondcast lecture), and expenditure of the year had beon deatt with, was 531 19s. 6id. There was also 8100 (nominal) on deposit.

The accounta were adoptent on the motion of Mr. Griffin, seconded by Mr. Hughes.
I'he Hon. Secretary stated that they would hear with regret that the Gloucester and Bristol Association (one of the founders of the Gouncil) bad seeeded, but two otiler associations had joined, viz., thu' Coxford University Guild man thee St. Clement's Youths, London.

The Hon. Librarian, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, then read his statemest, saying that the amount realised on the sale of publications during the past year was E65s. Jd, that is one pound in excess of the previons year, due to the 'on sale or retarn' agenta. He stated that ho lad received the lagf instalment of tho "Treble Bob Peals Collestion, \({ }^{\text {a }}\) most ably typed by. Mrs. Fletcher. During the year he had received mumorous applications for pablications which were now onk of print, through mambers not constulting the Council's weoky advertisements. He had aent the Hewwood MSS. to Mr. Trollope. The Hon. Secretrry said that he had inspected some of the MES. with Mr. Trollope, and they had concluded to recommend that the papers be sorted, put into covers and doeketed and returned to the library for future use.
Mr. Trollope, in agreeing with the previous speaker, said that thougls many of the conmecting links of the correspondence were missing, it was possibic that the prpers might be deemed usefu! in stihsequent years.

On the motion of the Presidont, the report was adopted, and the Council decided that tho book, "On the Preservation of Bells, ete.," should be revised before being republished.

\section*{HONORARY MEMBERS.}

The following hon. members being dno to retire, viz, Mrs, Edwards, Rev. E. W. Carpenter, Mr. Jas. George, and Mr. H. W. Wilde, the President gaid that the Standing Committeo had recommended the alection of Mr. W. A. Gave in place of Mrs. Edwards.
Mr. J. Bunt then proposed the olection of Mr. Cave, As hon. member of the Council, which tras seconder ly the Fey. E. S. Powell, and, on the motion of the Prosident, the ramaining three outgoing meruhers were re-olected 'lhe now members attending far the lirst time were then introduced to and welcomed by the president.
The Fon. Secretary then mentioned the loss hy death of Mr. J. D. Drewett (Surrey Association), Mr. R. B. Chambers (Madand Countias Association), and Mr. A. Holloway (Middlesox County dssociation), and the Council stood in silence as a mark of respect. STANDING COMMIITPEE.
The Hon. Secretary reported that the committee proposed that a lettor of congratulation on his recovery from serious illness be sent to the King, after the day of thanksgiving, and also particulans of the peals ruge in celelaration of the event.-This was unanimously endorsed by the Council.

ROLL OF FONGLR.
The Hon. Secretary stated that this book liad been brought ap to date (as they would observe).

CAPTIER'S RINGING MACHINE.
He further reported that fair progress in reconditioning the machine hat beun made, and he loped at the next meceting to report thai it had been completed.

TRAYFLLING FACILITIES.
He informed the Council that they had received a revised offer, based on 100 persous using the tickets, and that it was deemed adiasble to postpone acceptance until mext year's meeting.

13AL COLLECTION COMMITTEE.
Mrs. Fletcher reported that the Rev. F. S. T. Richardson was proving the peals of Treble Bob with the tenors parted, and the work was still jut haud. The report was accepled.

\section*{LITERATURTE AND PRESS COMMITTEE.}

Fey. F. LI. Edwarlis, who reported for the committee, said that the year had been remarkable for several good and sympathetic articles on bells, and for the publication of "Bells Through the Ages '- a great addition to otur litetature.
He referred to the necessily of keeping a watehful eye in the case of any proposal being brought before Parliament for the preventhon of noises, which might include a reference to bells.
The President prased the report, aud on his motion it was adopted. SUB-GOMMITYTEE.
Suh-Commitzee-Mr. E. W. Elwell reported that they had revised the '虽ules for a Local Company,' which thoy suggested should be puhlisherl at a cost not exceding 85 , for sale at bd. per copy. On the malion of the Iresident, the report was adopted. METHOUS COMMITTEE.
Rov. F. Law James, in presenting this committee's report, re minded the Council that they were authorised to publish a new edition of the Minor Methods, hot, in view of the controversial issues involved, they had thought it wiser to defer publication until now, when they were preparad to pululish a complete book containing the whole of the information which had gradually been gathered togather.
Mr. I'rollape, in seconding, reminded the Cotuncil of the long serviees of this committee of thirty years' slanding, and its undoubted experience. Ho reviewed tho diferences of opinion which ohtainer as to what should he inchuderl in the book, or otherwise, and strongly urged the Council to pass tho list of compositious as published, and, wefring to the arangements of Morris, Pitman and Bankes Iames, lie advoented that they also should be incluted in the work.
Mr. W. Willson spoke strongly against the adoption of the report, and proposed that it he deferred hack for the deletion of the Morris and Pitman Doubles, the London Minol and the Cambridge Surprise Minor, and Mr. Jas. (ieorge formally seconded.
Considerable discussion then enstied, Mer. Coles submitang that much of the argument might be deferved mitil resolution No. 7 was reached, a view supported by Rex. B. H. Tyrwhit Drake. The Hon. Secretary here interpolated the remark that tho compositions might be put into an appendix.

After further remarks by wessis. Pulling and Cave, the latter proposed that the disputed peals be put in as an appendix to the book.
Mr. J. S. Goldsmith protested against the comailtee publishing the compositions in question, and maintained that the Council's book, when pablished, Ghould scrve practical uses only, and should nat include anything merely for historical purposes. He further remarked Lust, whilst he was not prepared to say that the Bankes James Cambridge Minor was false, lie hoped that the oiher compositions in dispute would be excluder from the publication.

At this point the Council adjourned for lunch.
After the adjournment, Mr. Pulling suggested that the disputed compesitions should be inserted wilh a footnote that thes were not o be rung in peals, whereupon Mr. Coles, on a point of order, asker whether this was not prejudieing Motion No. 7, and the President concurred.
Mr. James Huat objected to the disputen peals being ineluded in the book, and Mr. H. W. Wilde supported him.
Rer. E. S. Powell, as a memher of the Methods Committen, then [urther explained its views. He suggested that the distinotion as to truth which aritics of the Methods Committee had tried to draw betwenl varinus compositions in question was illogical and false. The calue of these productions for peal purposes could only be judged by aractionl experionce in the belfry.
Mr. Wilson's motion was then taken an an amendment, and after wo counts was declared carried by 30 votes to 29.
It was then put liv the president as a substantive mation, with the addition of the words, "hednase they are all hopelessly false," which, however, was dechared as lost.
A deadlock having arison, it was, after some discussion, proposed by Mr. W: A. Cave and seconded by Mr. C. Mee, that these peals should be inserted as an appendix under the heading, 'The insertion of these compositions floes not commit nnybor?- to the opinion that they are suitable to peal ringing,
This was carriect hy \(4+\) vates 3 , and tine report adopted aceordingly.

\section*{PEALS ANALTSTS COMOITTEE}

Mrs. Fletcher formally moved the adoption of lie report for this committee, its analysis having already been published, which was secouded by Mr. Geo. Williams and adopted.
The Hon. Searotary then said he regretted to say that Mr. J. W. Parker and Rev. A. T. Beeston had wilhdrawu from the committee. Mr. J. S. Goldsmith proposed, and Rev. E. S. Powell seconded, that Mr . Jas. George and inr. Geo. R. Pye be elected to lill the vacancies on the cormittee. This was carried unanimously.

The report was adopted, and the President, on behalf of the Council, thanked Mrs. Fletcher and Mr. Warker for the enormous aneant of work they had done in conneffon with the interesting report.

\section*{TOWERE AND BELFRIES.}

Req. G. W. O. Jenkyt reported for this committee. He referred to the report, which had already been puhlished, on belfry acoustics, at subject which he thought deserved serious atiention. Ho moved that the commiltee's report be adopied. Mr. F. M. Atkins, asking whether anything furiher har heen done regarding the welding of holls, Mr. C. J. Sedgeley stated that one at Ipswich had beeu so mated most satisfactorily.
Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn suggested that the committee should undertate the revision of the book on the preservation of bells. This addition to the report being seconded by Major Hesse, it was adopted and the committee asthorised to do the above-mentioned work.

\section*{RECORDS COMMITTEE}
Mix. T. F. Tesans reported for this committee, and read a list of Hue first peals and new methods and progressive lengths in others which had been rung since the last report. On the motion of the President, the report was duly adopted.

\section*{LEGAL LTABILITY.}

Milne rearl an interesting gnrl valmahle report dealing wifl the rights, privileges and liabilities of all those having to do will church bells. After a short discussion, the President sajd that the Council were very grateful to the members of the committee for कhel paluable report, which, on his motion, was then adopted.

BROADCASTRNG COMMITTEE.
Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, reporting for the committee, said that the Iaik' on bellringing given on September 19th, 1929, had proved an anmulified success, and he liad recoived math lettera from different parts of the country in confrmation of this.

The Preaident sald the thanks of the Rxercise would be accorded to Mr. Edwards mad the ringers who had assisted him, and on his motion the repart was adopted.

he Council then proceeded to discuss the motions on the agenda. Mr. R. Whittington noved, and Mr. A. Hi. Pulling seconded, That Lhis Council will rot recognige as a peal of Minor or Doubles any conpositions in which the bells do not strike in 720 or 120 different orders respectively, before beginniog the nexd 720 of 120, , these menbers, in briefly asking the Gouncil to support their motion, explafned lhat it was to reinforee the decision passed by the Coumel at Herehoth cages referred to the changes should start from and fuish at ounds. \({ }^{3}\)
After Rev. E. S. Powell had suggested that the motion could be mode more acceptable in its terms, Mr. J. Funt raised the point as to the aciual meaning of the resolution passed at Hercford, following upon whick the Rev. E. S. Powell then moved the following urnemdment: 'That this Council will not recognise as a peal of Ninor or Doubles any composition in which the 720 's or 120 pal of me not true and complete and which did not start from and cond with ounds,": and said that he deprecated proceeding any further than the Hereford decision (certainly for a yeat or two), in order that the pros and cons could he better appreciated. Mr. F. W. Perrius secouded this.
Rer. H. Isaw James in endeavouring to clear op the position, which as becoming somewhat obscured, then illustrated bis wiews upon the ature of a round block? by refereace to the clock hanging beside then on the wall, dividing its figurea into six divisions, starting at 12 midock, or 'rounds, and proceeding clockwise with the changes until they fimished at 12 o'clock with the same 'rounds,' claiming that thase at the end were those at the beginning. After considerabla further diseussion, in which be, the Rev. F. Li. Edwards, and Messrs. inglon then said that he and his geconder were prepared to withdinw thoir motion and support the amendment. The withdrawal holng agreed, Mr. J. A. Trollope then pointed olat that the passing of tu amendment, which had now become the resolution, would exchnle the Bankes James Gambridge which, he thought, many would dndeed. It indesirale. There was evidently a wide difference of opinion indeed. It might be betfar to leave he Hereford resolution as it stoctid.

Rev. F. LJ. Edwards then propoged as an amendment 'That in Wisw of the fact that the practices affected by this resolution were be present in an entirely experimental stage, further consideration be deferfed until a future meeting, and Mr. C. T. Coles seconded.

Afler a few further remarks, flis momenomb was put to the meeting aud carried by 34 Fotes to. 24 ; and, on boing put as a suhsantive motion, the President declared it carried by a large majovity. The whole question thus remained to be discussed at some future meeting.
(The discussion, with that on the methoda report, oceupied several hours.)
In the absence of Mr. E. W. LJwal, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn moved, - That honorary nembers pay an aftimion foe of 5t. each por annum; (b) that associations in future nay a fee of 5s. per representalive per annum. \({ }^{1}\)
Mr. J. Hunt deprected the idea that fom. members, who came there at their own expeuse, be panalised, aud moved that the portion of the motion relating to hon. members be deleted. The amendment, seconded by Mr. A. H. Pulling, was carried by a large majority. There was, bowever, no discussion regarding the increase ar aftiliation fees of ashociations from 2s. 6tl. in 5s. per annum, and the motion, as amended, on being put to the meting, was carried hy 44 votes to 6.
Mr. Drake proposed that '(a) The Connci] asks each association to appaint a consuitant to the Advisory Cammilter or Committees in its area; (b) The Council asks each associntion to make every effort to get as many ringers as possible elected to Harochial Church Councils, to Dincesan Committees and to the Climell Assembly.
'I'lae proposer said that he recogaised that the Council hal already cireularised these committees withis recent juars, but his present motion was that each association be urged to themselves secure the election of someone to the advisory conmittees. It was an expart vinger that was reguired in such a case, and he hoped that hiss motion would be carried. Further, also, that the members would see that their associations put forward ringers as amadatea for tite Conucils, and so on, to the conferences, and then the Churoh Aggembly. Mr. C. d. Sedgeley seconded. Mr. C. H. Haward, it supporting the motion, emphasised the fach that n eommittee member was much stronger than a mere consullant, as he knew from his own experience on the Diocesan Advisory Board at Gkelmsford. He said lbat it was for the associations to appraach their Bishops to obtain nomination to these boards. From remarks of subsequent speakers, it appeared that consulting members of these bogrds were not always invited to atteud the meetings, even when their services might have proved useful. But the Rev. F. Law James, speaking to the contrary, sald that he was supplied by the Board at Lincoln wiht all papers connected with bolls, and bis adwiee was always taithfully followed. The Rev. G. W. O. Jenky stated that he, trio, had had much the game experience.

The proposer, having replied to mome of the points which had been maised, the motion was then carried.
Mr. J. E. Goldsaith moved, "riuat the rules of the Council be umended in order to provide that the notice and agenda of each amnual meeting of the Council be published at least eight weels, instead of twelve weeks, prior to such meeting.

The proposer having explained his motion, and Mr. C. T. Coles having seconded, it was carried without further discussion.

In the absence of Mr. W. Ayre (through ilneess), Mr. E. A. Young proposed, "That a committee be appointed to consider the best method of dealing with cases of extraordinary sickness amongs members of our affiliated change ringing associations, with power to report to the next annual meeting-

This was seconded by Mr. Jas. George, and, after some discussion, For and against, the motion, on being put, was lost by a very large majority, it being falt that any scheme of this kind should bo dealt wili by the individual associations.

The President then referred to the next item on the agenda, which was to lix the place of mext year's London meeting. The Hon. Sceretary stated that he had approached the Archbishop of Canterbury with a view to meeting at Lambeth Palace, and witist he was speaking telegram was received from the chaplain baying that, subject to no unforescen occurrences, the Archbishop was only too pleasud to place a room at their disposal and to welcome the Council personally if possible. The procedure was left with the hon. secretary.
This finshed the business on the Council's agenda. But Mr. Ins. George then suggested that the Gouncil should issue a book conlaining the names aud addresses of all ringers.
The Presidnat, hawever, stated that this was out of order, and that it should be brought up by way of a resolution to be discussed next year.
Rew. C. W. O. Jenkyu proposed, and Mr. T. Faulkner seconded, a hearty vote of thanks to the chairman for presiding thad day. Both speakers foelingly referred to the severe itlthess from which the president had now providentially recovered, and the vote was carried with applause.
The President, having expressed his thanks for their kindness that day and durily his late illness, then proposed a vote of thanks to the Meyor and to the Sub-Dean of Chelmsford, and to Mr. O. H. Howard and the Essex Association (whose jubilee had beea celebrater the day before) for their kindIy welcome of the Council on its visit to Chelmsford, which was carried, and the meeting concluded at abott: five o'clock.

SURREY ASSOCIATION＇S JUBILEE（Couthmed from page 207）．
All the retiring oflicers werc re－elected，no other nominations having been received．
It wes resolved to lack tho next annual mectirg at Kingston－on－ I＇hames．

Mr．C．H．Rearligg said，as tiat was their jubilce meeting，he Lhought they ought to plate on recotd au cappession of grateful thanks for all their fathers did 「or then in foundiag tan sociefy 50 years ago，and a pledge to chrry on and thalla the objects for which the assaciation was started．The association lad done a wonderful work for ringing in masy ways，and he heped some resolntion might he placed an the minutes．－Mr．Joiter sevonded，and the motion， having been endorsed by the chmiman，was umanimously carried．

The meeting，which had peoviously thanked the Rector of Bedding－ tou and the organist，concluted with thanks to the Master for pre－ siding nud for the serwices which lie lad readered to the association． －Mr．Birt，replying，emplasised the need for bringing on young ringers，upon whom the future of the art depeaded，and on behalf of the association le thanked those members who had given their time und pationce in teaching young lingers，nad also the hon．secre－ tary and other officials for the work they had done in ilso interests of the association during the past yerr．
A social was afterwards held，at which handbell music and songs brought to a close a very pleasant and successful meeting．

\section*{A REPLY TO MR．KLPPIN：}

Dear Sir－With your permission I will reply to Mr．Kippin re the Surrey Association＇s jubilee year．He says that it is nat likely that the rules of ine association would be ignoved to suil the whim of ane person．It is not the whim of myself，bul the fact that May 21st is the official date of the association，and I doubt，if the feeling of the mambers were known，but that the rule would bave jeen set aside for the occasion．He twits me with loeing kle＇alleged＇last of the foundation members．If he is honest and knows ot any other he will let me know who it is，ax withdrew that word＇alleged．＇As to his remark about＇he and others should corme to the annual meet－ ing：＂the journey fram Dublin to Surrey is noti one that cav be made after work hours so that one can bo home the same night．He zeed not bo in the least amazed at my remarks about amaigemation， which I should like to see，not，however，with the Surrey Association taking a secondary place，but fhat there should be a Surrey County Association embracing the whole of the county on the sane lines of the Yorkshire，Kent，Sussex and other county associations．－Yours faithfully，

J．W．TRAPPRTT，seu．

\section*{A MENACE TO THE DEVON GUILD.}

In an article contributed by a correspondent, a serious warning is given with regard to the state of affairs which is developing in Devon. Two years ago hints were given in these pages that all was not well in that county; the article which appears in another column reveals that the menace to the Devon Guild and to change ringing in that delectable county is a serious one. It is of no use to blink the facts. The Devon Association of Ringers was established in 1925 to encourage rising and falling and round and call change ringing and it promotes these ends by annual competitions. In the year 1929, four years after the foundation, it had 68 affliated towers-more towers than the Devon Guild which has been established for over 50 years. Devon, although it was one of the first counties in which a change-ringing society was formed, has, of course, always been a stronghold of 'stoney,' but let it not be forgotten that, taken as a whole, there is nowhere in England where rising and falling in peal can be haard in such perfection, or the call changes struck with such measured precision. 'Stoney ' in Devon is not 'bell banging' and, because it is only call-change ringing, do not let it be imagned that, speaking generally, it is not well done. It is done better than the average change ringing is done, because of its vastly easier and simpler character and, if the simpler task appeals to the simpler village mind inside the belfry, it also pleases the ear of those outside, who in some of these country places are shrewd critics of good ringing.

There is another direction. too, where the Association has a pull over the Devon Guild. In the latter the members have to pay a subscription of \(2 /\) - per annum; in the Devon Association the ringers pay nothing, except entrance fees if they compete in the contests, and apparently they get a free luncheon into the bargain. The funds seem to come from subscriptions of presidents and vice-presidents, and the advertisements in and sale of elaborately prepared programmes of the competitions (a profit of nearly 630 was made on this item alone last year). In addition there are offertories at the festivals and proceeds from other sources, one of which appears to have been a skittles competition In this way the ringers get all there is to be got out of the association financially, without putting very much into itwhich in our opinion is extremely bad in priaciple, however nice it may be for those who benefit.

Here then are some of the broad facts which face the Devon Guild. Our correspondent suggests that they are actually losing some of their towers to the new organisation, and, if this be so, it is time some serious steps were taken to stem the 'decay' to which he refers, if the Guild is to (Contimued on paga 210.)

survive as a live force in the churches of Devon. We do not know of any change ringing organisation which is faced with a more serious menace than the Devon Guild, and it would be interesting to learn what is being done to combat it. In a recent appeal for subscriptions the rival association said: 'There is no other organisation in the county that appeals to the village church belfry. Other forms of ringing may succeed in towns, but will never take on in our scattered villages, and from the excellent ringing on the Cathedral bells we feel that even in towns a return to callchange ringing would be appreciated.' Surely the Devor Guild has some answer to this?

\section*{FACLLTY CASE RECALLED.}

The bells of St. Mary's, Wrshington, Sussex, have beca rehung by Messers. John 'laylor and Co., of Loughborough, and a new treble added to make a geal of six. The tifth has been recast, and the other bells reluned. They are lung in a mew east-iron side frame, mounted on four steel girders, rumning worth and south, east and west, and efficiently cross braced, fhas binding the four walls of tho tower together. The new bell frame is several feel lower in the tower than the old timber frame was, thus allowing the bells to beg scveral foet below the opeaings.

The bells are as follows:-
Treble: Jolin Tayior, Loughborough, 1930.
2ad and 3rd; Mears and Stainbank, 1878.
4th: Reger Tapsul, 1608.
5th: Recasl by John Taylor, 1930. (Formerly by Eldrdge, 1614. This bell has bad an rivg round the shoulder about tiu. deep eut out and preserved, so as to maintain the old founder's name and inseription, and this is now phaced in the eburefl.)
'lenor: Mears and $tainbank, 1878. (Weight 9 ewt. 2 qr. 19 lib. This weight was before tuning, and the hedl now weiglas a fow pounds lighter.)
The eanons on the old bells have been rebainel, hud special fron Itendstocks have beon designed and east to suit these bells. Alt the filtings are of the very latest pattern, induding ball bearings to main bearings and rollers. The whale joh is a lime specimen of what bell henging ought to le-mechanieally sound horoughout, and tho ga' of the bells is perfection.
The redication service on Wedresdny of last week was a beutiful one owing to ils perfect simplicity. It was conducted by the Vieal (He Rev. A. H. S. Pattrick), who has been instrumental ju getting this wort done, and many years ugo the did a certain amount of ringing. Ii was gratifying to note flat he had not lost ithe art of handing a bell, as lic ratised one hefore the aludication servico, although lie is nearar eighty than seventy years of age.
 Pulymesit), who is now Rector of Selsey. Duting the dediention serviee the first rounds were rang by : J. II. B. Hesse 1, Miss Ireme Hastie 2, G. Ellis 3, R. Swift 4, N. Eliott 5, O. Sippetts B; iul, atter the service, the first touch was rung, 288 of Kent Treble Mol, Minor, by the tollowing: O. Sippetts (conductor! 1, Miss Irene Hastie 2, (1. Ellis 3, R. Snift 4, N, Ellioll 5, J. H. B. Hesse 6.
Some of the local ringers then reng some rounds and Grandsite Doubles. Following that, 720 of Canbridgo Minor was wang by the visiting ringers mentioned above. During the evenieg, soreral of the lonal ringers tack part, and were initiated into Grandsire Doubles, and, considering they had not rung for such a lang time, their performaneo was very ereditable. The writer is sorry that he has not got their names.
The whole of the procecdings went off without a hiteh, and as the weather was beartiful the day was a most enjoyable ones. The Rev. A. H. S. Pathrick very kindly provided ten for all the visiting ringers nt the Village Hall.
It will be remembered that there was a stiftish fight for the faculty in enomection wilh the carrying out of this restoration, there being opposition to an iron lrame and to recastiag the 5th (which fistl heen recommended by Major Hesse, who wus called in to advise the church authorities), and the prescrvation of the portion bearing the inscriptian was the conpromise.

\section*{FIRST PEAL OF 'SILENT' SURPRISE MINOR}

Dear Sir-April 6ib will bo the 33ral ammersary of the first silent peal of Surprise Minor ever rung, whelh took place at St. Mary's Church, Bucknall, Slafts, in seven different methods. As one of the band whe rang the above peal, I am wondering how many per cent. of the Exercise have attrined to the plural in peals of this calibre. Personally, I should say that the pereentage would be very low, not only owing to the rarity with which such bands could be gol together, but also to the great strain on the nervons system which it involves owing to the tomb-like silenee that prevails for practically three hours, which seems to be interminable. The band at Buckall was composed of two pairy of brothers, an unele and a Heplew, and all are still alire, with the exception of the uncle, who was one of the pionecrs of clange ringing in North Staftortshire-EOurs sincurely, TOHN F. WHFELDON.

\section*{DECAY: \\ A WARNENL FROM IJEFONSHIRE. \\ [Conzunuteo.]}

Decay is always loatbome in overg sphere of life, whethor in LusiRess, domestic and social affairs, or even in sport. When, howover, it toubles the more religious sade of life mud enters into our Exercige of ehurch bellringing, w: may well be concerned.
Admiting that every county or districh would have some peculiar difliculties ard dangers, yet evenso, it is a real duty to tackle and overcome these hindrances, egpecialty when a "dry rot' is apparent, In some counties it is uphill work to avoll 'stagnation,' Bud yo progress is bad enowgh, bul when we discover-as is the case it thes connty of 'glorious Devon - a Guild that is decreasing in its bands nnd losing tonch with our ringing world, and seientife method ringing is in graye danger of becoming extinct, then surely your warning in last week's issuc, entitled 'The Other 25,000 ,' is not only iimoly but urgent, and demands derp coucern from the Devonshire Guild.

Our county hus a large hreu and is most difficult to work, especially it its heart or centre between Burmstaple and Crediton and Holsworlhy to Axminster.
It is in this rutal areat that the most alaming conditions exist. A Devon association is making rapid strtale witil some 70 towers, well organizel, and led by ut rast energetio lon. secretary (Rev. A. F. MeCartly), who can capture the village ringer and please the outside listener by his apperls for music vorsus noise, so often created by inefficient scientific bands who visit tho towers and leave behind in lund impression through careless striking.

In this county there are at least 370 rings of bells (from 5 to 12). The Devonshire Guild, after all its years of existence, canmot claim more than 50 towers, and during the past five years liave actually lost no less than 10 bands, whilst there are several otbers on tho verge of breaking from the Guild (through clespair and lack of progyess). Yet the Round Ringing and Cail Change Association is all the time making rapid progress, and its hundreds of members mre contented and millusiastic.

Perlaps the influence of your weekly paper and its excellent ediLorial will arouse a deep armiely bo probe matters and give Devonshiro ringers an opportunity to suggest a remedy when careloss ringors and bad striking should in some way be penalised at home, and when scientilic bands visit the rural distriots only the best should be offered in place of chash and noise, which at present becomes a langhing stock in the villoges and a discredit to our science,

Fven the Guild ringing al our Preter Catisedral is of a low order, and does no creditit to the science or our city. Often six and eipht bells are rung instead of the noble ring of 12.

\section*{DISHFARTENING CONDITIONS 1N GLOUCESTER. To the Editar.}

Dear Sir, Witll referme to your leading article of Marejı 21st, The Other 25,000 ,' your rensons given why a large number of them ury outside the fold are, I should sny, very aerr life mark, but they do not quite apply to the city of Glaucester. We are not allowed to Fing for practice or the church services, except for one hour a month at Elie Crypt Churel, and at Lliat sorvice I bave seen aix or geven out of tho eight slop to service. I have suggested myself, if we could ring one hour a fortnight at ench elanth for service- St. Michacl's and the Crypt altmately-it would keep a bumd together, and hold the inlerest. Within this list two or three yearg the anthorities have bech approsched several times wilhout avail. I think il wond be more ithat Mr. Jim George or even the King of England conld do to slter Lhe existing state of affars. Uuder the plesent concitions, Gloucester ringera will, I am sorry to say, gradually join the ollice \(25,000\).

\section*{NOMINATION OF OFFICIAES.}

A wery well-atlended meelisg was held at Armeley on Saturday, March 22ad, for the nomination of officinls for the coming yesr. The business meeting was hedi in the tower, the president being in the chair. Members wore present from Almondbury, Bailey, Calverley, Drighlinglos, Birstall, Feadingley, St. Chad's, Funslet, Lindley, Leeds Parish Claweh, Pudsey, Rolhwell, and Sharow (Ripon). Three new members were elected.

The following were nominated for 1930 and 1951: President: MIr. C. E. Lawson: vice-presidenis, Wessay, T. Suranceway, d. Hey, W. H. Senior: secretary and treasurnw, Mr. H. Lofthouse; Irustaes (for bunk account), Messrs. R. C. Squires, G, Moorloouse; Ringing Master, Messers. W. H. Ash and H. Marsden this will require a ballot for election) : auditors, Mesers. A. Fiekliouse and H. Grimwoot.

It was deeided to revise the rules of the society, and the committeo wero asked to do this.
The usual vote of thanks to the Viear of L'pper Armley, for the uso of the hells, ath to the lonal company, for the necessary arrangements, wis prased. It was moposed that the annual general meeting should be lacld at Leeds Parish Churd on April 26 hh, bells to be nvinilable from 5.30 p .in... nan? the hnsiness meeting hetd in the tower.

Dear Sil,-The last iling we want is the sort of controversy whick arose last jear upon this question. Now 'Minormania' calls lif artiche of March 2lst 'Mudded Minor.' I do not suppose that he intended to do anything anfair when he wrote that tifle, but the title is simply an appeal to prejudice, and that is the last thing that is wanted. His article is very good as far as it goes, hut it want supplementing at one point.
rake the old nine bob 720 and oxamine its q sets. They are:-
\begin{tabular}{llll}
bob 720 & and oxamine its q gets. Thes are:- \\ 32546 & 52364 & 53246 & \\
23564 & 25346 & 35264 & \\
24536 & 54263 & 52436 & \\
42563 & 45236 & 25463 & \\
43526 & 53462 & 54326 & \\
34562 & 35426 & 45362 &
\end{tabular}

Now in the midde one of each of these sets the bells are running the reverse way to what they are running in the first and third.
This point is of the greatest importance because it explains the possibility of adding five plain courses to the original course in Minor methods, and so produce the whole, which you cannot do in Triples.

I have known the connection between 9 boh and 21 hob 720 s for forty yesra, and the same conneotion exists between 12 boh and 18 bob 720 's, but if aryone thinks hat they are the same, will he pleass prove it by producing a 21 bob 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor

MORE THAN IHREL EXTENTS.

\section*{To the Editar.}

Dear Sir, -I should like to cxplain my reason for assuming that Mr. James moant by different 720 s that they must contain a different number of bobs, was assumed on good grounds. Some yeara ago a conductor asked Mr. James to supply him with all the differant ways (not 720's) of Londou Surprise, and as I was fortunate to get liold of the figures supplied was ablo to judge what his idea was. contained seven round blocks containing 720 's, with \(9,12,18\) ami 21 bobs.
In your issue of Marcl 21st Mr. James persists in saying a 720 consists of 721 rows, of which the first and last are the same. ] also notice in the minutes of the lust Central Council mbeling, published it this week's issue of 'The Ringing World,' he mado use of the clock to emphesise this point of a round block. I would like to trse the same means. Big Ben booms out 1 a.m., and the minute hand starts out on its 12 part 720 changes (i.e., minutes). It is in the coming home course, and presently booms ont 1 p.m. Docs James mean that I p-rin. is I a.m.?

I do not quite agree with Mr. Powell that a 720 of Kent with 9 bobs is a difierent composition to a 720 of London Surprise with 9 hobs. The \(Q\) sets used are exactly the same, viz., 2.6, 3.6, ani 4.6 , the only difference being their renoval from \(2-3\) places io \(5-6\) phaces. I am also of the opinion thit there are more than Unee difarens extents of Treble Bob Minor. I givo below two \(720^{\circ}\) 's of Canturige Minor:- 2345 417 \(\mathrm{Kr}^{\text {( }}\) )

1 H
2345 4tll \(\mathrm{W}^{(\mathrm{BH}} \mathrm{O}\)
I H

The Q sels in (A) are \(35,52,45,23,46\), and may be varied by using Q sets \(42,63,25,53,45\), or \(35,26,54,34,25\). Now, to produte (B) yon have to pick oul of these threc variations \(Q\) sel \(42,63,46,53,62\), which, in my opimion, produces a different 720 .-Yours, etc. Killamarsh.
C. SETERN.

To the Editor.
Dear Sir,-Replying io Mr. Trappitt's letter in your last issne, no doubt he has read the report of the associalion's anmual meeting and observed the number that wore present. I can imagine a simiar gathering on a Wednesday whatever the oceasion-I don't think!

I must confess I did allege Mr. Trappitt was the only foundation member, but would remind hiru that all people are honest turtil they are found out. I now say delinitely that he is not the oaly foundition member. Only this week I linye been in cammunication with the representative of Mr. Fary Fates (85), now living at Clacton-ori-Sea. I abs informed that Mr. Pates was enrolled a member at the Surrey Assobiation's inaugural raeeting on Thay 2lsi, 1880, nt Reddington. If Mr. Trappitt requires further proof, no donlit Mr. Pates himself will rush into print.

I note Mr. Trappitt's remarks 2 re amalgamation. I refer Jim to the first paragraple of the propossls for amalgamation circulated monong the memhers at the proper time, and remind him that those present at the Leatherlead meeling in March, Ig2d, are quite aware of his attitude at that meeting, which calls for no farther comment. from me.-Yours faithiully, OHAS. GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. BRISTOL BRANCH AT PUCKLECHURCH.
The spring meeting of the Bristal Branch was held on Saturday at \(\mathbf{1}^{\prime}\) mklechurch in glorious weather. A record number of members attunded, over 50 buing present, reprusenting 17 towers. The fine afternoon, conpled with the clanice of a ring on this recestly restored peal, was no doubt responsible for the number present. The bells, a peal uf six, have recently been overhauled and prehung in a new frame by Mesgrs. Gillett and Johnstion, of Grogion, whose representative, Mr. F. Stevensen, attended the meating, Mr. Cyril Johastorn being manhie to be present through illness.
The bells were made good use of until 4.30 , whon gervice was conducted by the Viear (the Rev. R. E. Lewis), who gave a very helpful address.
The members then made their way to the 'Fleur-de-Lys,' where tea had been prepared by Mr. Scarrett, the arrangements being due to the kindmess of Mr. F. Lewis.

A short business meeting followed, al which the chairman, Mr. F. Skidmore, presided. Five new membors were elected, and the secretary was asked to send a letter of congratalation to the Minchinhargpton ringers (Stroud Branch) on their ringing the first peal of Cambridge Minor for the association.

The Chairman proposed a hearfy vote of thanks to the Rev. R. F. Lowis for the uge of the bells, and conducting the service, also to the lanlies and those who had kindly assisted at tea. This was seconded hy Mr. J. T. Dyke, Ohilcompton.

The Ficar, in responding, gave the members some idea of the work and trouble he had had to get the necessary ropairs done to the bella to put them in orger. He gave the association a hearty welcome, anul hoped they would come again.
The tower was again visited, end ringing in the usual methods was continued until 8 p.m.; some of the members aliso going on to Abson to sing.

\section*{A DISAPPOINTING EXPERIENCE.}

Dear Sir,-Ringens wigiting the Newark-an-Trant district would be well advised not to go out of their way to get a ring at Nawarls Parigh Church, as the welcome extended by the local ringers to visitors is not exactiy cordial, if I may judge hy my own experience.
I happened to be at Nowark on Sunday, March 9th, and ascended the tower when ringing commenced, in tha hopa of getting u pull. Sledman Triples was in progress when I entered the belfry. The 'touch' came round a few minutes after. No one took any notice of me, and after a couple of dozen vounds, 'go' was called again. The bells wers then kept going until they wers lowered for sorvice time. The conductor then asked me if I had come up to see him. I told him I bad hopen for a ring. No one expressed regret at my cissappointment. Someone did say, 'Was I coming again?' I politely refrained from saying, 'Not so likely,' said "Good-night" instead, and descended the tower.
I am pleased to say that this is the first time I have hat this experionco in fourteen years' activity in the Exercise, and I sincerely hope it will be the last.- Yours failhfully,

FREDERICK E. COLLINE.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELERY GOSSIP.}

Mr. C. T. Coles, the popular hon. secretary of lim Middlesex Cownly Association, is the third ringer to reach 50 Surprizn peals on 12 bells, the other two being Messrs. W. and G. K. Pyc, wh. reached this total a few weeks ago. Mr. Coles' 50 ave made of 43 F Cambridge, 5 of Superlativa and 2 of Spliced Superlative and Gamhridge. They have been rung in 21 towers for 11 associations, and hiclude the 7,392 at St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside, and the 15,312 ar Asl on-mider-Lyme.
The Rev. W. H. Pennington Biekford, the poanar Rector of St. Clement Danes, has heen elected an honorary menilser of the Ancient Soeiety of College Youths.
The College Youths and the Cumberland Youllis are taking sleps to appoint an entertainment committee in connediou with the Central Council meeting in Londen at Whitsun.
This next weck sees the anniversary of soveral itemorable performances, including the 40,320 Bob Major rung by Janacs Barham and 13 other ringers at Leeds, Kent, on April 7hand \(8 \mathrm{l}, 1761\). The peal occupied 27 hours.
A peal board at Shoreditel records: 'This insen ption will hanl to posterity the umparaileled abilities displayed in the performance of a penl that was rang in this steeple on Tuesäay, 7 .h of April, 1801, 5,220 clanges, Court Bob Royat, in 3 hrs. and 37 mins., being the lirst ever rung by any society in that intricate meinot.' It was composed and called by George Gross, sen.
On April 8ith, 1912, a peal of 12,160 Bristol Surpriso Major was rung at Knebworth, Herts, by tho Herts Association, and on the same day, ten years later, a 13,440 Bob Major at the Lougliborougla Bell Foundry by the MidIand Counties Associntion.

Seven years later he tapperi a peal of 19,440 of Tirehle Bob Maximus, which oecupied him 13 hrs. 43 mins., and be carte in an untimaly end by his own hand in 1865.
A peal of 19,272 Kent Treble Bob Major was rang at Liverselge, Yorks, on April 10th, 1871.
The peal of London Surprise Major at Stoke, Coventry, recorled in our last issue, wes rung for the Warwiekshire Guild.
The poal at whitwick was rung on March 19th, not February 19th, as reported to us.
Until the nest annual meeting, correspondence for tho Wincliester and Portsmoulh Diocesan Guild should be addressed cither to the Rev. Evan Jonas, Hedge End Vicarage, Botloy, Hants (hon. treasurer), or Mr. F. W. Kogers, 52, Samuel Road, Portsmouth, who is acting as hon. secretary pro. iem.

\section*{THE CENTRAL COUNCIL'S CONSTITUTION}

\section*{COUNCIL TO DECIDE NEXT YEAR.}

Our coatributor, who in several issues last autumn put forward proposals for revising the constitution of the Central Council, writes:

In your issue of October 18th last you printed some suggested alterations to the rules of the Central Council, which it was thought might bring its constitution more closely into line with present day ideas of what it should be. Suggested amendments were set out in definite terms, so that the associations might consider them and put forward any alternative proposals if they desired to do so. It was the intention that these alterations should be submitted to the next meeting of the Council in London, but for the reasons given below it has been thought, after consideration, that it would be well to postpone the question of revision until next year.

First, in order to get the necessary motion on the agenda for this year, it would have to be sent in before Easter, and, therefore, the great majority of the associations would not be able to consider the proposals at their annual gemeral meetings-and it is desirable, above all things, that in this matter the associations should ventilate their views upon it.
Secondly, the Council will have been aiready elected for three years, so that some part, at any rate, of the proposals could not, even if passed, be put iuto operation until the end of the triennial pesiod, and it would be mucb better if the whole cbange could be introduced at the same time.

Thirdly, the London meeting is usually a full one from the point of view of business, and the discussion which would probably ensue on the proposals might inconveniently congest the proceedings.

If, therefore, the associations will devote their attention to the subject and definitely express their views as to the suggested alterations, which could be made next year and come into operation (if desired) before the next election of members, the ends in view might be better served. But each association ought to consider the proposals this year.
[Briefly, the points upon which alterations are suggested are the following :
(r) That the various associations and guilds should be formaliy affiliated to the Council, with a certain ratio of representation; instead of the Council consisting merely of a number of private members elected by the associations.
(2) That all the affiliated associations and guilds should undertake to recognise the rulings of the Council.
(3) That the members be elected by the affiliated societies annually, instead of triennially.
(4) That it should be open to the affiliated associations and guilds to make recommendations direct to the Council.
(5) Tbat all resolutions, outside the purely domestic affairs of the Council, should be officially communicated to the affiliated bodies.

Full details of the proposed alterations, set out side by side with the existing rules, were published in 'The Ringing World' on October I8th last.--ED. 'R.W.']

\section*{A CITY BELL RESTORATION.}

The bolls of Sl. Lawrence Jowry, one of Wren's City elatarese, are being restored and the bells are now nti tho whitechapel Foundry, where they were cast by Jartlett in 1687. The belfs have bean sand. blasted and retunet, and wild be rehang in new fittings, the tenor is 32 cwt., and they are the heaviest riug of eight in the city.

They hat not been fung for a number of yons owing to their dilapidated condition, and their renovation has ben earried out as parb of a lig sclame for the restomation of the church, the roof of whels hud suffered hadly from the ravages of the * thenth watel * beelle.

where the bells are now being restored.
Fery littie peal ringing has been done on the hells. On April 30h, 1887, a peal of Grandsire Triples (the fourth peal on tho bells) was rung, the previous peal having been 125 yents before. The only survivor of the band that rang the peal in Queen Victorin's jubilee year is Mr. James Waghourn, sen. 'The others who took part were James Haworth, Robt. Jamnsun, Wm. Weatherstone, Geo. A quarterly meeting of the Laties' Guild (Northern Districh was held Ht North ' Wingfickl, on Snturday, March 2end, when ringers attented from Duffiedd, Rotherhan, Chesterfield, Handsworth and the local band. Allhough it was a lovely spring diy, the attondanco was very poor.

A niec tea had been prepared in the Church Hall, where the bisiness meeling was held afierwatds, one new member heing elected.

Miss Foulk, of Dufficla, proposed a vote of thanks to the Vioar for the use of the bells, to Miss Tanton for so kindly arranging the meeting, to flae ladies for preparing tea, and la the gentlemen who gave stuch valuahle assistance.

Various methods were rung during the aftemoon and evening inclading Suporlative, Carubridge, Duffih, Slerhman, Little Bob, Kenl andi a touch of Grandsire Triples.

\section*{GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD} THE ANNUAL MEETLNG
The seconel ammal meatime of the Guildford Diotesan Guild was Hehl at Guildtord on Saturiay, and drew a lave attendance. The holls at the Cuthedral and S. Nicolas Church were kept well em ploned duriag the afterman under the direction of the respective lowar shater, and ahorat servite was Isela in the Cathedral. The frovont (Canobs. C. Kirwan) offiated, and the choir led the singitg. The preaclier wh: the Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guila (Lhe Rov. (1. W. O. Jelakyn), who pave an inspiring address.
The Rey. C. W. O. denksn preached from the text, \({ }^{\text {Let }}\) Let waits thl our ministry' (Rom. xii. 7). He referred to various ministries in connection with the Church of Christ, and said that the ministry of the bellringers was by wo rueans the least important. Despite all that was said in newspapers ansl elsewhere, there was a demand by the Clumeh for the miniatry of church bellringing, and it was by mo means frys tordity than it was 20 or 30 years ago. Ahere was a demand lo thave belles put in good ordet and woll rung, and very often there was domand to have it ring of bella where none existed. In his own diuccse of Oxford, bell hangers liad been extremely busy simee the wat, and this was prouf that litere was a demand by charchpeople Hat there should be a charch ministry of bellringing. That, conlimed the proacher, was a very diftorent thing to heving bells put in guod order for vasious people-good, steady people, no douht- Lo exereise themselves in the art of ringing as they would in garm's. such as golf, or orickat, or footbull merely using the bella as a rustas, athe the place as a sile in which to take there excreise. He was quite sure that ringers who thought at all would agree with him thast the ministry of hellringing in theit churches must be elearly a ehurels ministry and not a pastime only. Let them, then, ask themsolves this question: Din they wail on their ministry; tilat was, were They absorhed in it, or did they expect the ministry to wait on them? Thoy ought all to feel the need of wailitig on their ministry, and they should try anti see how best it could be donc. First of all, they ought (t) engage more in spiritual exercises and make thanselwos move fitted for their lask. They wanted to say more prayers, to be more regular in their Cammunion, and to look apon attendance at publte worship as a dudy which they must, diacharge unless there was good reason to I lie contrary. He was quite sure himself, attice considerable thought and experience, that the indea of making a hard and fast rule as to ringers attending serviee so often was a matake, hut thoy should be fribliful in the discharge of their duly in regard tu public worship. Then, proceeded the preacher, they should adapt themselves to the eonkitions which they found in the fower to whielt they were attached. if a man left a tower where there was a toof luand and found himself in ane where there was a struggling band, he must ithept hinself. He did not mean by that he must just let things remain as they wore, but he must be patient. And while lie was patient he must carcfully and strennously insist on progress. If they Were a hand that strurs hadif, he mast persuate them to eancenrate on their striking rather than going on to some other method if he found that what they rang liney rang well, intif wore content to learm pothing more, lie must try wnil induce laem to brandi out in snmething new. That was the way to halp their ninistry along. It then lad a fow worts of advice to begimers, urging them to show zoal in the work and to devole themgelves to it as they would to eny gane. Guilds and associations, lie saik, hat also tos wat upon their ministry. They existed for the benelit of the ministry. It was for the bencfit of good service ringing that there were fuilds at all. Guilis did not exist merrly to enable rimgers to ring a great number Thare shonat be peals, mudombledly; and praclice, cortainly-hoth did a great danl af good to the ministry if they were done in the right way-hat the real minisringers into a fellowship which should thelp, by instruction in ringing athe by leading then to think about their duty in the highest possibie way, und inspire them in be goond minisiers. Fhey should ramember that cood harl malled them to this ministry-it was mat something which they lad dome on their awn-theretme let them wait on their ministry.

Tea was scrved in St. Saviours Chureh Hall, und at the subsequent business \(M r\). Waltac Farrison (vice-presiclent) presided orer pordendrice of nernly 140 members and frients. He was supported by tite Provost, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Miss Middeton and Vortan. C. Ryde (life houn. members), Revs. S. Courtnay-Suith and Norton (Guildford), G: Mitcliell (Cranleigh), Major I. \section*{THE REPOR1}

The annual report began with some frank eriticism. After the Eist flush of enthusiasar inspired by the foundation of the new Guild then'e had been, in some quarters, said the repart, a ialling-aff in fatereat, and while the offecris had been endeavouring to consolidate the position achieved whell the Guild started, many of the members had not contimad to give that suppart which might justifably have been nuticipated. This had been noticeable both in the district meetings and in comection with combined practices. Usually these had been attended by the same limited citele of enthtusiasts, but if the Guidi was to fulfil its functions successfully, support of a much wider kind wis not only desirable but essential. The combined practices held in the Leatherhead and Guildford Districts had been atfended warying success, and the committee recorded its tlanks to those hud devotod so much time and attention to this part of the work of the Guild. Those who had taken advantage of the facilities proviched lad profited by the experience. If ringers would realise that by tetading intese prictices they would be helping athers as well as pro ably helping themselves, the relactance to visit othes bolfries, whieh seemed to exist, would perlaps eventually disappeai in the desire reuder service. In both the Leatherhead and Guildford Distriets schemes were to he Lried this year, and it was hoped the rosults would be more encouraging to the promoters. There had been organised combined prachices in the Farnham District, but the trict offers liad dome some valuable spade work in visiting severa? the towers. In the Chertsey Distriet, also, it had nol been possible arrange combined practices, and there was a vegcettable lack of terest among the majority of ringers in this area. The commitee appealed to all the members in this distriot especially to show grealer intierest, nat only in the Guild itself, but in the dutios which fhey are called upon ta perform in their own towers and in the meetings whicla are arganised in their interests.

Having referred to the various important erenls of the year, the report recorded that the commiltee, under the powers given to them to make grants to towers which are endeavouring to add new bells to the existing ring or are carrying out extensive repairs, had given grants of 42 2s. to West Clandon and sl Is. to Woking Parish Church. Welcome augmentations to two rings of bells in the cese lad been made daring the yoar. A new bell was addet Farnborough, increasing the peal to six, and two trebles added Woking Parish Church, and the ather bells put on bali bearings, giving another ring of ciglat in the Guildford District. This augmentation was carried through largely by the efforts of the ringens, who collected mosi of the necessary funds, find they wer be congratulated on the success of their efforts, in which the treasurer (Admiral 3'. P. Walker) took a leading part. As a of a meeting held at Godalming it was hoped that something mighta be done in the near future to put the ring of bells at the Parisl Clutoh in better order. There were several other rings in the docose which badity required attention. Their present condition was nots orly an obstave to the progress of the Guild, but also resulted in Faluable property of the Church remanimg in a state of disecp and unfin for use for the purposes for which it was installed and unfif for use for the purposes for which it was installed ADVANOE IN PEAT RINGING.
In peal ringing, the Guild made a substantial advance on the one coding year, due in no small measume to the weleome retam ranks of peal ringers af Mr. A. I.. Pulling after his liappy reco from the serious accident which for so long inoapreifated fin ringing. The peals numbered 35 , against 22 in the previaus These peals were rung in 21 towers (including four nutside thin cese), against 15 in the precading year. They included the GuTid's five peals of Cembridge Surprise Minor and Hoyal, Stedmati Triplem and Gaters, Canterbury Pleasure Major, College Single Major, Bob Royal, Dublin Surprise Major and Bristol Surprise Major. Other nateworthy peals wern the peals of Guandsire Caters at S. Nicalas' Guildford, the first on the bells since rehanging: file first peal of Bob Minor at Esher; a peal of Gramisire Doubles at Ottersiaw, in which five of the local ringers rang their first peal: and a penl of Superlative Surprise at Ramore, rung by a resident band of the Leaberhead District. The number of towers which paid their afisiation fice for 1929 was 35 , four less than in 1928. The total membership was 559 , made up of 19 life hon. members, 38 hon. memhors, 379 ringing members, and 121 non-resident members. It condusion, the committee urger that move strenuaus efforls should be matle by merabers to bring Sunday service bands up to lull strenglth and to adwnee the art of change ringing; and that there shonld be a fuller appreation of their dulies to the Ghurch and their responsibilitios to the Guild. This appeal to the members could not be better pm-plasised thau by auoting from the report of the Guildforf Dislrich gecretary presented to the anmual meeting of the Guildford Dislvich Every member must realise that, although the suceess of tie disirict and of the Guild depends, to sone extent, on its officers nond its offcient managoment, it depends principally on the individual members, who camot be too strongly reminded that their duty to the Guide does mot euf, but only starts, with the payment of their anmual subseriptians. The objects of the Guild can never be attained umbl at service ringing, at practices and at the meetings of hin district and the Guild; cver ready to learn some new method to help to keep interested hia fellow-ringers, and, above all, perhaps, a persevering recruiting officer for the Exercise.

The balance sheet of the general fund showed that the ycar began willa \(£ 20\) 1s. 2d. in hand, and that subscriplions amounting to e36 12a. liad bean received. The oxpenses, including the donations ta thell funda, wore e20 0s. 11d., leaving a balance in hand of \(\mathbf{5 3 6}\) 12s. 3d. The distridi balances have inarobed duriug the years from 11 0s. 10d. to fl 1813 s . 1 A .
The balance sheet was adopted on the proposition of the chairman, conded by Mr: F. Nye.
On the proposition of Canon Kirwan, the following officers were -elected : Vice-president, Mu. Walter Harrisen; Master, Major. J. H. 15. Hessc (Haslemere) lion. treasuver, Admiral T. P. Walker (Waking) ; hon. secretary Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (Woking) hon. auditor,
Mr. C. N. Burdock (Guilaford). Mr. Goldsmith asked to be allowed hand in his resignation mext year as his interests in ringing exlended outside the diocese, and sometimes there was \(\frac{a}{}\) clash of inicrests. The suggestion was greoted with cries of 'No."
A ballot for the election of three representatives on the Central Council resulted as follows: A. H. Pulling, C. Fazelden and G. L. Grover. A rote of thanks was accorded the last fliree representa-

Alterations were made in the rules to the effect that vice-presidents ha ex-aftio nembers of the Executive Comanittee.

\section*{PROTECTION AGAINST FAULTY WORK.}

The rule khat the Execulive Cammititee may make grants to towers whict are madeavouring to add uew bells to the existing ring or are carrying out extensive repairs, any such grant not to exeeed e3, was monded, so that such grants be not matd until the work has been ompleted to the satisfrelion of the Guild's advisory officer.
The Hon. Secretary, summiting the alteration, said there might bu a danger of repains being done by the village blacksmith, instead of by competont beli langers, ol', failing to raise sufficint money to get a new peal a chureh mighti decide to instal a se beils. He thought the Guild ought to safeguard ilself.

Major Hosse seconded.
Admiral Walker and Drr. A. Pulliug opposed the alteration on the Gud that the grants the Guild conld make were only small sums,
Canon Kitwan pointed out that the alteration was exactily the same as that adopted by every Dioeesan Board of Finance. No Eraths were made unless the work was done to the satisfaction of the Bonrd. It was a matter of principle.
The alteration was accepted by 66 votes to five.
Tho meeting decided to bold their summer festival at Egham an July 5th, aut the next annual general meeting at Guildford. I'lue anceting also approwed of the suggestion to hold a Guild dinner.

\section*{NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION \\ THE ANNUAL REPORT'}

The forty-eighth ammal report, covering the \(52 n d\) yenr of the Norwich Diocesan Association, has just been issueri. It is nafinly a record of the recent reorganisation of the association. The last teorganisation, suys ilse report, took place in the year 1890. when the association was divided up into districts, whicli Wher the association Tas arvided up into disticts, whing this period many of the districts have become far too small in member. stip to hope for any success, and in ohers diflienlties have been ioumd in the way for the proper arganisation of the districts being salisfar* torily carried out, with the inevitable result that district meelings had fallen to zero point, followed wilh an atmosphore of apathy hovering over the work for the futho wolfare of the association.
The committee yecognised this state of aftairs and also that the existing arrangements of districts were olbviously out of gear and should be overhauled without further dolay. The commithee's proposals for the reorganisation schemo were considered by isl! the general mectings in 1928, and were summarised in a dircular letrer dated February, 1929, to all members residing in Norfolk, with §1s attached form containing live questions on the proposuls of reform for members to answer and return to the general secretary ( M . Arlliur I. Coleman). The returns slowed majorities in favour of all the five zroposed reforms at the Whit Monday genernl meeting lielt at Pulham St. Mary, on May 20tl, 1929.

A sub-committce was appointed lo deal with the areas of the new braches. Great attention was given to the impurbant matev of easy inter-communication by ralways and motor bus routcs which was no easy matter with so many of the towers in isolated pirces. To meet this difticulty it was fountl necessary to group the alevis existing districls indo four branches insteat of the three as proposed in the referendum to members, to be called "I'le North," "The Fust," "The south,' and ' The West " Branclas. Parlienlars with regard to the boundaries of the branches are printed in the annual report for 1529.

The clange of title, "The Norfolk Guild for the Diocese of Norwich.' to revert to its original titlo, "The Narwich Dincesan Association of Ringers, was particulariy popular, especially famong the older members, with remembrances of its brilliant past record, thus briaging it into touch with the present generadion.

The unwieldy area of the association covering the diocese of Norwith was far too great to be continued to be administered centrally frons Norwich. The committec hope For a real revival in Itse life of thro association by the constitution of four new branches lange onough fo give ample material for the officers and committees to work and keep the members actively in touch witly one and another by frequent meetings and combined practices, and also for members to take the opportunity now offered to them for active work as officers and menbeis of the brameh committees.
The committee are pleased to report that mombers came lorward willingly to take up office at hae election of the brancll committees: The Fast Norfolk Branets at Great Yarmouth on Noveminer 9th, 1929; tho West Forfolk Buauch at King's Lymu, Noveniber 16th, 1989: the Soutli Norfolk Branch at Diss, November 23rd, 1929; the North Norfolk Branch at Norwich, December 7th, 1929.
The committee wish them every succoss, and lust their efforts will rosult in a general activity in the work of the ussociation, but let, it be remembered that this largely depends upon what support the buancl committees ged from the members. Sisvice and gand fellawshiy is the key to malock in successful branch.
The committee also put on record thair thanks to all district secretaties for their many years of services, and are sure thoy will apmociate the mention of the name of their grandfather of district secretaries, Mr. Willian Treland, of Diss, who has been district secretary of Diss for 39 years and 52 yours a member of the association, nod still going sirgig in his 78 Hz yoar of age, and adiking an peals to his: record of 101.
The conmitten regret the loss by death of nine members and four by resignation. Seven members have hapsed during the year, bust they are glad lo report the election of 26 new menbers and the re-election of nime old members, the gramd total of members standing nt 822 agninst 806 its 1928 . The commitice report a small reduction in the amount of outstanding subseriphons for the year ending December 31 sE , 1929 , the amount benng e4 10s., ugainst \(86 \mathrm{3s}\). in 1928 . Thry eegret to report the falling off in the mamber of peals during the year. F'orty-five peals in 11 different methods were rurgs, against 50 peals in 1928; 115 members book part in the peals, which were conducted by 13 members.

In conclusion, bhey wish to thank al] the officers and members of the committee for their services during the past year.
The association membershis is 7 life members, 263 noth-resident life members, 218 suffolk non-resident life members, 31 hon. members it Norfolk, and 303 performing members, atotal of 622.

RINGERS' ATTENDANCE AT SERVICE.
From time to time we hear of ringers 'locked out' or 'on strike,' and it always comes as something of a shock, not ouly to members of the Exercise, but to the public of the place concerned when either of these two things happen. Such an occurrence is always to be regretted. More often than not there are faults on both sides, and sometimes an exhibition of petulance and a lack of toleration add to the difficulties of the situation. At the moment the little Devon village of Exminster is much concerned because its bells have been stopped. The Vicar, according to report, has ordered the ringers to cease their ringing because some of their number, it is alleged, 'have been dilatory in their attendances at worship.' The ringers say there are other reasons, and mention is made of the fact that because the incumbent commenced the service last harvest festival before the choir had entered the church, three choirmen who were also ringers left the choir but continued their ringing. The Vicar, it is said, has declined to talk the matter over with the ringers and there the deadlock remains - with the belis, upon whicl \(£ 500\) was spent about five years ago, hanging unrung in the tower.

It is not for us to allocate blame in this most recent ' lock-out,' but the incident does give point to the futility of making hard and fast rules as to ringers' attendance at church. Every ringer who approaches his duties in the right spirit will always make it a practice to attend service unless there is reasonable cause for not doing so. Seldom is there a sermon preached at a ringers' gathering when emphasis is not laid upon the duty of the ringer to respond to the call which he has given from the belfry, but is not the part which the ringer plays, as a preliminary to the service, an act of worship in itself? If the ringing is done in the right spirit it constitutes as much on part of the service as that which takes place afterwards in the church; and while we do not say that ringers should not share in the prayer and praise which follow, when the congregation have assembled, those who imagine that the ringers have not fully done their part unless they stay to service overlook the fact that the half hour's ringing, reverently and well done, can in itself be a not unimportant part in that service.

Preaching a fortnight ago at the service in connection with the Guildford Diocesan Guild's annual meeting, the Master of the Oxford Guild, whose experience is as wide as anyone's in this matter, expressed the opinion that hard and fast rules as to ringers attending service are a mistake, and those who really know will agree with him. Where such rules exist they are more honoured in the breach than in the observance, and when one finds an autocratic in(Continued on page zef.)

cumbent who takes an extreme view and insists upon attendance at service his attitude nearly always ends in trouble. Either there is an open breach, or the band gradually breaks up and, anyway, the bells become silent. What is much more effective than rules is the visit of the incumbent to the ringing chamber at frequent intervals. A real interest in the ringers' work is the surest means of getting and maintaining the ringers interest in the church and in the services for whicli they ring.

THE VALUE OF HANJBRJL RINGING.

Dear Sir,-It is very sadilenizy to read Mr. Condickes account of ringing aftais in GToucester' in this weck's issue of "the Ringing World.' Service riaging is, or should loe, the main purpose of ull bellriuging, other things, such as peals aud practice meetioms, being eccondary, but loading up to good eervice ringing.
In Glancester, however, the atutholities do mot seen to favoul sarvice ringing rety mach and practices not at all, if I menderitand Mr. Condick's letter aright; so that keeping a lonal together unst be az iuposible tank, unless they are memely to Lalk about riogitug. May I suggest to Mr. Condick, and, imped, to alay other conductor who is similarly situatied on short-handexi is the tower, that the enthusiastic members should sationsly fake up hathell vinging. FTandbell ringing, allhough it can nevor answer the purposes of tower bells, has one or Lwo decided advantages. Firsh, ik requires less men; flierefore, the onthusiastic onee, who, maybe, parely hear their full pea\} in the tower, can gratify thair desire to ring wh ligher muraberg. Second, the enthusiastio ones can forge ahoal in their own way, without waiting ayoud for the lugatads-in sevoral senses.
One more point, hancibell ringing has the merit of being good ringing mostly, for it is mext to irapossible to keep bad striking going at all.
These advantages, aud tho fact that the ordinary standard methods provikie momited soge for practice, together with the most alecided advantage of all, that four or five can ment almost when and where they like to practise, where seven might wait for the eighth in a tower, bust condude my plea for mote evidence of handtell practice.
Finaly, lef me point ont that in this weak's issme there are published 26 peals on tower hells and one only' 'in band.'-Yours faithfully, Stuck part.

PETER LAFLIN.

ANOTHER ARTICLE BY STEPYEN F. WOOD
At tha end of my last article on this subject I spoke of elaboratiag the calling of the 15 -method pend a little bit in order to reduce the number of short courses necessitated by the 'Bobs at Home." Wre blall find that we can, in this way, make ont 60 courses give us 6,048 instead of under 5,1000 changes.
As in the last peal, we have got to selech four sets of comrse-ends which do not show repetition mith each other when tiansposed by any of the eigit false course-ends montioned before, namely:-

It is interesting to compare ibese four sets with the symmeirlcal four which we used for the inst peal, and to mote the rarious alterations nad their connection with the altered calling
\(A\) in the last case, \(C\) and \(D\) are the same as A and \(B\) with 5 and B reversed. The first 15 of \(A\) and \(C\) are the same as in the last case, and the 6 whict arc now the only members of \(B\) and \(D\) appeared in tha samo places hefore. We have removed 9 from ench of \(B\) and \(D\), end exdled 9 dilterent ones to ench of A and C.
This gives us four sels which satisfy the conditions and earabe us to join them togother into one round block, as in the peal belom

I will give a brief ontline of the deructure of the peaj, so that enyone who is interesteal and las the time and inclination to do so may pull it to pieces and see how it is btilt tup, and-henco-the reasons for the selection and arrangement of the course-ends iu \(A\), \(B, \mathbf{C}, \mathrm{D}\).

The main basis of the compesition is a five-course block similar to the one wa used before, and for which we are indebted to the Ror. E. Dankes James. It is this:-
\begin{array}{lll}
\mathrm{H} & \text { R. } & 23456 \\
& 42635 \\
\mathrm{x} & 64525 \\
\mathrm{x} & - & 55425 \\
\mathrm{x} & & 35352 \\
\mathrm{x} & 34256
\end{array}

Plis, repoated five times, with a Single for the Bob at Right in the 3 rd and 6 th's paris to tarn \(5-6\), will give us the first 15 coursc-ends of A and C. The others are then spliced in at various points, thus: Before each of the 6 calls at 'Right' we put in 3 bohs at 'Wrong'; this gives us 6 of the ronainiag eontse-ends of eaul of 4 and C . The other 6 ( 3 of A and 3 of G) are spliecd in, one in each part, between sirgles at "Middle,' after the first of the 3 bobs nt Wrong. Wo are now left witl! the 12 course-ends which come under IS and D; 6 of them are spliced in, one af a time, between 2 singles at ' In,' be"Wenn the first and 2nd bobs at 'Fame' is cach part. The oflser 6 are put in in two chumks of 3 ; thus, between the 2 nd and 3rd hobs at 'Wrong ' in 1st and 4 El garts, 2 Singles at 'Right' ate called, and lietwech thene 2 we call 3 bobs at "Midide." We have now accounted for al! the 60 course-ends, and can proceed to write out the figures and cotrese-chts of the peal; we can then cloose which of the four original groups of methods to use for each of \(A, B, C, D\), sud then, by observing the natural course-end at any point, and also whether the calling uecessitates a 2ad's-place or an 8th's-place method, we can decide which method to ring at muy point, there veing in geveral a choide of two (as explained in detail for the last peal).

By leaving out the three 3-cousse blocks as shown in square bracketer the peal is reducen to 5,040 .

In the enses whare the method is changed in the middle of a conrse I have indicated hotween the two metbods the point where the change-over is made (thus: I for In and \(\mathbf{M}\) for Middle). It must be understood that in these cases the course-ends do not necessarily come up at equal intervals of seven learls. Perliaps an exsmple will make this point clearer. Tako the 2nd course of the peal, for instance: Double Norwich is rang till the ' [a' position, whicl comes up at the first lead-end; a Single is called here and Maidstona is rung. The course-end 32645 will actually come up at the next leadend, so that the course only contain 2 leads; but the next couran will contain 10 leads to make up for it. This is a little mudiding at first, but it is reafly quite simple. The easiest way to look at it is to take the 2ad and 3rd comrses together; it is then simply a course of Double Norwich with a bob at 5 (i.c., at "Home'), with a wholo course of Maidstone spliced in between Singles at the In position (wherever it may happen to occur). And so on in a similar wny in the other cases. The three pnirs of conrses where Double Oxford and Double Bob are rung are at litio nome complicated, owing fo the fact that in Double Onford the werng nosition comes after the Middle position．The result is that the 5 th course－end actually comes up before the 4 h，but again，provided tho calling is carried out Without worrying about where the course－ends come up，therc is no difficulty．The instruchions for the 4 th， 5 th and 6th courses are simply as the calling says，i．e．，Ring Double Oxford till the Wrong pasition and call a bob；the 5 th course－end will actually come up at the rext lear，but don＇t worry about this；go on till the Midde position，call a Single and ring Double Bob；ring this for a whole eourse（during which the 4th course－end will came up somewhere－it dnes not matiter whero），and call another Single at Middle，and then ring Doumid Oxford again．We next have to call the boh at Wrong in the 6th course，and this position will came up without the inter－ vention of a course－end（the course－end 26543 having elready been rung）．［The whole business is not nearly as complicated as it sounds；it is exactly similar to the making of Singles in peals of Sledman Triples．］

As regards the omission of the three chunks to reduce the peal to 5,040 ，there is no difficulty，and I think the placing of the brackets shows just what is meant．For instance，aiter the 15 th course，in－ stend of the next four courses we simply zing one course，the calling being＇Bob at Right＇and the method Double Oxfard．Similarly for the ather eases．
Now that wo have got a length of more than 5,000 we can intro－ duce 6 ＇Little＇methods if we want to，thas bringing our number of melhods up to 21.
The calling will be exactly the same as the 15 －method peal wo have just been dcaling with，the only difference in the two peals being the methonts rung in certain courses．We will，therefore，save space by refraining from writing out tho 2l－method peal in full，contenting ourselves by mevely indicating the courses in which the new methods are rung，thus：－

A SPLICED PEAL OF PLAIN MAJOR IN RI METHODS．
5，000 CHANGES．
The calling the same as the 15 －method peal，and mathods the same with the following exceptions：－
Rire Gravford Jittle Court for Reverse Bah in course 31.
Ring Wellington Little Court for Reverse Boh in courses 41，42， 43.
Ring Litile Bob for Plain Bob from course 57 （＇Wrong＇position） to course 58 （＇Wrong＇position）．
Ring Gainsborough Litile Bob for Plain Bob from course 48 （＂Wrong＇position）to course 49 （＇Wrong＇position）． Ring Victoria Little Court for Shipway＇s Court from （＇In＇position）to course 45 （＂In＇position）．
Ring Little Oxford Bob for Winchester Bob from course 38 （＇Midile＇position）to courge 39 （＇Middle＇position）．

This gives 5,672 ，and the peal is reduced to 5,000 by omitting the First two of the 3 －course blocks shown in square brackets：the 3ud block，which was also omitted in reducing tho 15 －wethod peal to 5，040，must not be omitted in this case．
May I point out，in conclusion，for the sake of those who may bu interested in the practical ringing of these spliced peals，that the methods are，all to be found in the＂Central Council Collection of Rlain Major and Cater Methods，＂and will be quickly mastered by any band that can ring Double Norwich and Double Oxford，which are in construction，if not in symmetry，the most complicated of them all．
I must apologise if my explamation of theac peals has made them seem more complicated than they actually are，but it is no new dis－ covery that anything campanological is difficult to explain in a clear and yet concise mariner．I hope I have at least begn clear．I trust that any conductor who has followed the argument through will be able to make alterations in the arrangement of the methods to suit himself or the ambition of his band without jeopardising the＇truth＂ of the compositions，but if anyone has any dificulty in following my explanation I baall be only too glad to attempt to make myself clearer if they will write to me．

\section*{DEATH OF A STOKE－ON－TRENT RINGER}

It is with deep regret that we have to record the death of Mr． George Bloor，of Stoke－on－Trent，who passed dway after a short illness an Thursday，April 3rd．He was out on the Tuesday before his death， whicla came as a great shock to all his friends．Deceased lod been a member of the Stoke tower for 27 years，during a number of which lie acted as towerkeeper．He was looking forward to the time whed the bells would be reopened on Palm Sunday after rebanging by Messrs．Taylor and Co．，of Loughborough．

The funeral took place on Salurday at Hartshill Cemetery，after a service in St．Barnabas＇Church，at which the Rector of Stoke（the Rev．D．H．Crick）officialed．Deceased＇s brother ringers from Stoke attended，and four of them（Messrs．J．Limister，W．Ball，D．Steel and C．H．Page）acted as bearers．There were a great many flaral trihutes， inelading one from the Stoke ringers in the slape of a bell．Mr．Bloor was very regalar in his attendance at gervice and practice ringing，but was not keen on peals，having rung about 12 in all．The deepest sympatly gocs out to his whlow and relatives in their great sorrow．

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN :THE RINGING WORLD.
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive pbotographs of churches, witb a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

Another atternpt on the twelec-bell record length is to be made hy the I'ninswick Youths at P'ainswick on Easter Monday. The -iart will be at 8 a.m.
Forty-two years ago to-lay a peal of 13,2 as Grandsire Caters was rung at Appleton, in a year when no fewer than threc ten-bell secords were made in the tower.
To-morrow is the anniversary of the 18,027 Stedman Caters, rmig at Loughborongh in 1909, in 12 hours 18 minutes-the first tinue dat oue set of men had rung 'round the clock.'
A mew Kent Trehle Bath Royal record was get up at Ashtom-underLynel ont April 1314, 1914, when a peal of 14,000 was rung in 9 jnuts 24 minutes. Three years earlier, vin., on April 17th, 1911, that recurd uf 12,240 Treble Bob Maximus was rung in the same tower.
Probably the longest pen] attempt which has been Jost was that at Heptenstall on April 14th, 1928, when in an effort to ring 22,096 Donble Norwich Major the ringing came to grief, after 10 hours 31 mimales ringing-at consicierably longer 'lost gcal than that at Romford the March 26th, 1894, when a rope broke after 8 hours 16 mibutes, aud tha holls were within 400 ehninges of the end.
What was probably the first 5,040 of Minor was runt on April 16th, 1737. This was at St. Mars's, Whitechapel, and consisted of seveu complent Surprise six-bell peals, viz., 720 of Oxford Tripple Bol, Combridge Surprise, Morming Fixercise, Bristol Surprise, Worester Surprise aud York surprise, containing 5,040 changes in 3 hours 15 minutes. By a Socielt of Compileers. \({ }^{\text {, }}\)
The 'performers' of this peal were Janes Tichhourne, Jumes Sturl, Tannes Forsee, Edwayd Newton, Thomas Smallshaw and Willian liarrett (who ealled the bohs). The treble and second men were Eastern Seholars; thive, fourth and fift Jondon Youtbs, and tenor' a College Youthis.

Sir, Your qarious correspundents ura affording us, litlle by little, a uloser insight into this prablem; lunt, tho whole story has not yet been told.
At last, howerer, the Rev. H. Law James has himeelf brought forward, insupport of his cese, jusil that evidence whereby his contention may be tafithed is more details than one.

Hr. James lias slated that ins no "reble Bob Minor method ame more than five compositious poscible. It las been pointed out by "Minomunia," aud, luter, by the Rey. E. S. Powell, that the compositions, in certain cases, exist in "pairs."

Mr: Powell conjecturew, rightly, that, in fany grouns of methorls, which hes specifies, every composition huting 9 (or 12 bobs has an "inverse, producible by changing every plim to a hob, and every bob to a Haits, thus giving a eouposition hering 21 (or 18) bobs. He might havo added with respect to the two groups among those four, wheroin a 15 -bah wampoition may be had, hat such a composition will, by like lreatment, yiekl anofher composition laving (merely by accident) the wane mamber of bobs.

Mr. Powell thinks that if twa compositions ate 'inverses, one of the uther, they ine one. What does Mr: James thinkp Of the 9 and 21-bob pair, also the 12 and 18 -hob pair, he states definitely that they atre different compositions, and be jute forward whal lie considers to tae intontrovertihlu proof of this. But wheu, of & PAIR, each has the sune number of hohu, hre connts the pait as one. Let us jucige of the "ow'octness of this by MT. Jands' wwis eriterion.

Mr. Severn's extent \(A\) published on April 4ti, will serve as an illustration. The Q-sets hoblyed are:-
(b) \(23,25,35,45,46\).

Conserpuently, those plained, also five in number, are:- (a1 \(24,26,34,36,56\).
By bobbing the (a) yroup of \(Q\)-sets, the "inverse" of this composition will be proiluced. Tlis 'invelse " will serve for Kent Treble Bob; by which is meant ilat, in Kent, Irhbing Q -sets ( \(a\) ) will produce a extent.
If Mr. Innes thinks the two compositions ave ane, will be phease prove ii by producing at 15 -twh 720 of Kent laving the (l) group of 1): sols bobberl? Of courze, he enumt do so; and if he proved the 9 arud 21-lob compositions to be rifforent, then the two 15 -lyob conspatitions are provel also to be differeat.
'Thus, Mir. dames' 'five' shoulth le six; which is the same thing as Mr. ipowell's 'three, whers it is understood that in the luther cabo Hiree pairs" is tucant.
But this is mat all. Mr. Powcll writes that all extente larving a iven number of hows are simple variations or reverses one of another. It las been shown that this is not so in one case. Let us look further. II ne are two 12 -bob compositions of Cambruige:

(a) іл IM. (a) 24, 36, 46, 56.
(h) in [F (b) \(25,35,36,56\).

A 720 of Kenl may be hed by hohbing the ( \(n\) ) group of four \(Q\)-sets, Init not hy bobbing the (b) groip. Mr. James nust aximit that IF. (at) and IV. (th) are different compo-itions.
Eftele of thes 12 -boh conpositians tives yise to an 18 -boh inverse, Y1. (a) and VT. (b), respeciwely. Can they be the same composition while their inverses are df/fercin? Neither will serve For Kent hat as YL. (b) will run in Loadcan, while Ví (a) will yot, they world seens In be different; yet both rum in Cambriage.
It would appear quife phais that there are no less than cipht nasentially disinet compositions of T'roble Fols Minor, or four pairs, nd thut in sonve methods all of them call be usod.
'Clie possibility uf using any of these cumporstions, in any methot, path be exhithited it a concise table, which wilf bo offered for publication if a desire for it: is evident.

\section*{MORF FXPLANATION NEEDED.}

Dear Sir, - can heartily agree whla bie Rev. H. Lav James in that wo certainly should a void the kind ol controversy be mentions, and if there is one otiner of your readers who sees, in 'Muddled Minor,' an unfair appeal to projudice, I would hastent to apologise. I have read through my articlo again, and, apart fiom its tithe, fail to see anything hut appeals to the remder to judge for limself, and to Mr. James to e-2trimh his whearaces. As "Minormania,' I care not two straws which way tile wind blows, and try to separate my writings undel" this name frons others which appear wuder my own. "Minormania" endeavours to take an inexpert view, that is all.

Nons realises more than I what Mr. James has domo for rimpine and the depth of his experience, but he will forgive me if I say that I cannot swallow cryptic utterances solely benause of their source: and Le, I am sure, would be the lasl to wisli anyone so to do fu commenting inpon my article, Mr. James still jefiains from explaning his 'five possifle," and it is this lack which is the bone of my contention. I ask for all to have a sporting cinamee to understand, and 'Muddled Minor' stated no definite view-the reader took lis choice.

Finally, Mr. Janmes' last paragraph of his letter of April 4 th leaves extents in \(a \pi y\) method are tle same. Very well! Again I appeal to your readers to make a choice.
"Things that are equal to the same thing are equal to one anotiner' onpositely, two things that are equal must be equal to a similat third. Therefore, if n nine-bob-Kent and a nime-bob-Lontlon are the sane, aml a nine-bob-London bears a certain relationehin to a 21-BobLondon, it follows that a nime-bob-Kent ought to beat a like reiationship to a Quhbl-Kent! What is the ayswer? I am not splutiag styaws it is merely that I bad a Minor mania, which is becoming a muddlex

\section*{A HANDBELL PEAL IN JOHANNESBURG.}

\section*{MLSSION SISTERS THKE PART,}

An extremely interesting item of news comes this week from South Africa, and records the first peal in the Transvaal and the first handball peal in South Africa. It was rung at St. Margaret's Mission Honse, Jolanneshurg, on March 6tli. Canon Ridout was the confluctor and the other ringers were four sisters athached to the Mission. In the following notes, Oanon Ridout, who was in England ou leave last year, and took part un the Cambridge University Guilds jubilee relebration atrd also in other peals, gives some brief details of the fomation of St. Alban's Ringing Guik, and the persevering efforts which have led up to the successful completion of this peal of Bob 3 Iimor.

On St. Matgaret"s Day, July 20tl, 1926,' writes Canon Ridout, " some of the sister= of St. Margaret's, Johannesburg, expressed a desire to take np clange ringing as a form of reereation: and the project of buiking the new Clumel of St. Alban gave an added incenlive. Within twelve nouths the first 720 's and quarter-peals had been achievad. Thure weeks later, on August Bank Haliday, 1927, seveu \(720^{\circ}\) s were accomplished-but with breaks between them. After that a good many peal attempts were made: and the conductor confesses that, the failures were more often due to lim than to the rest of the lonad.

On 10th Mithels, 1529 , the new olurch was dedieated, though the bells are not zel forthcoming. The conductor was then away on furlonglifor six months; but with his return handbell practice was agan despmed. The first success was within a day or two of the clurch's anniversary.

Three other members of the Cuild have scored quarter-peals, Sister Mifdred, Stster Josephine and Mr. C. W. Kearns.
'St. Joln's College, Johanneshurg, is building a bell tower, the foundation stone being laid last month. St. Boniface Chureli at Germiston, even miles away, is to start building ifs tower soon after Easter. The question of bells for St. Alban's is at present in the lap of the gode. di all events, we have hopes that wher belld are forthcoming they will be turned to good account.'

\section*{SMALL BETT ESEFDL SIX-BELL MEETING.}

The Leatherdearl Distriot of the Guiklford Diocesan Guild held its first meeting of the year at Cobhan on Saturday. Only 10 ringers sitencled frum Coblam, Leatherhead, Dorking, Woking, Epsom and taildford, and trom this one would deduce that six bells are not a pupular mumber for meetirgs. It is surcly an erroneous point of riew that the six-bell meetings are only for the six-bell ringers, and yet ane invarially finds that cight-bell ringers will not adequately support six-bell mactinge, and that six-bell paen do not come to eight-belt incetings. The ideal ringer will attain to ringing on bells of all numbers, and the interest of a six-bell meeting elionkt be just as great as an eight or ten-bell meeting. The average eight-bell mau can learn much from the six-bell mars, and vice wersa,
The ringing started inter than ristal, and "Brooklands" lad to be baned for this. It is belicwed that a bus erew took French leave at that yoint of their' journey, thus causing the 'flower, nof the meeting to arive sil hom ]ate. They reached the charch just in time to ring \(\pi\) touch of Cambridge Minor for service. The Vicar, the Rov. J. diu Brunton, officiated, and in the coturse of his address traced the hishory of church bells and their uses through the ages. The congregation were informed that the 'Encyolopmedia Britanuica' positively ristles with information regardiag the art.
A welcome feature of the service was the attendance of 13 choir boys, II view of the smali number of ringers present, this was a great boon, was. Much fof the buccos of the leacish Hall, and a goodly spread
Much of the success of a meeting depends upon the quality of the tea, and the Leatherlhead District looks specially to this part of the programme. Other districts or associations might make a note
The husioess moeling was short, consisting chiefy of the ratification the clection of Messis, W. Poplett and H. Sycamore, of Eweli, prior ho a peal atlempt: the clertion of Messris. Jesse Beams and w. harsfold, of Fwell, as ringing members; and the election of Mr: Hilliam T . Waller, of Dorking, as an honorary member. The hon. dintitet's hashorary menberslip. He suggested that chuclease the Vere suitable persons for election in this way.
The necting then closod with the usual votes of thanks, and the mernhers returner to the tower for further practice. Methods ranging from Bob Minimus to Cambridge and Eondon Surprize Minor were Cobised.
Cobham bells are a nice ping, with a goorl toned tenor of 93 cwt . In passing, it may be stated that all strangers would be welcomed at, Cobham, whether for practice or service ringing. At 8.30 the beils ringers dispersed, peal in the approved 'West Country' style, and the ringers dispersed, having attended one more enjoyable meeting.

\section*{THE DEVON GULED.}

SOME SUGGESTIONS

\section*{To the Editor.}

Dear Sir, -I am not at all in agreenent witla the forlorn nate struck by your correspoudent and emplasised in your deadinar artiele conceruing the Devon Guild.
Thue, it is that we are jost passing througlo a reactionary periout after sevaral years of excellent progress, lunt, la some extent, nearly all the azsociations are experiencing the same.
There are so many countec attractions lor young people to-day that it is alifficult to get the younger generalion to give tho time and concentration necessary to learin half-pull change ringing
But the Devonshime Guild is surely, is slowly, progressing, and I am sure our daar old late president, the Rev. M. Kelly, was happy in lis later days in the thought that all the yoars of labour he had given to advance the aims of our Guild had borne fruit.

If, by our example, we have taught our round riuging friends to copy us by holding meetings and services for ringers and elinamating all that was associated with prixe ringing contests, as I rementier them a few years aga, then we hava at leat done something toraise the status of vingers generally.
The Devonsline Guild thee years ago passeal a rebolution by a huge majority prohibiting competitive ringing, and I an of the opinion that if we keep firmly to this primeiple, the day is not far distant whens the rival association, which has been copying our methods of administration, will see that we are right and that we are net in any way antagonistic towards them, but rather that we are prepared to help them.
But have we perfect unanimity in out own ranks?
Hayc we any members, experienced change ringers, who are quietly giving moral aupport to our rival round zmging friends.in their endeavaur to persuade ringers, especially in rural areas, to take up round ringing rather than haif-pull tinging?
Perlaps we have not donc all that we might to advance the cause of half-pull ringing, and I would suggest that in the first place we should become a diocesan association, with official recognition from the diocesan authorities: scondly, that we advertise ourselves more, letting the clergy and ringers know exactly the aims and objeets of the Guild; and, thimlly, that we endervour to meet the excontive officers of the rival association and try ta persuide fincm that in half-pull ringing there is something which stimulates to furbier affort, which, through mind training and coneminalion, brings out all the noble qualitien of the ringer and encourages lim to aspire to higher incals. As a result, the clergy mustl recognise biat acientific half-pall ringing inevilably brings into the belfry (and the church) the nersen Whe can ho relied upon as an excellent example of a real churchworker who is prepared to progress on sound principles.-Yours faithfully, principles.-You

THE 18ł TON RINGING BELL, the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bella, about to be installed at Riverside Cburce, New Yors, U.S.A

After a lapse of four years the Ladies' Guild has published another Report and it is satisfactory to learn that during this period the Guild has slowly but surely grown. One frequently hears the question asked, How many lady ringers are there in England?' The report does not, of course, completely answer the question because the Guild does not include all the lady ringers; but it claims a ringing membership of 215 , as well as 58 honorary members, so that quite a fair proportion of the lady ringers must be on the roll. This represents no small measure of successful work, when the difficulties attending the organisation of such a widely scattered body are considered. There are few areas where lady ringers are to be found in anything like sufficient numbers even to meet frequently for practice, and even district meetings depend considerably for their success upon the assistance which men are able to give. This, of course, is not the fault of the Ladies' Guild. The same handicap prevents them from making peal attempts, except on tare occasions, and in the last four years ladies \({ }^{7}\) bands have been able to accomplish only four peals.

The services rendered in the belfry by ladies, however, is not to be measured by their achievemepts as an organisation. The Guild binds them together in a sisterhood which forms a national link between them, but in their individual spheres the ladies, whose 'joining up' in the belfry was greatly' stimulated by the war, when they responded to the call to replace the men, are a useful adjunct to many a band. The frequency with which their names appear in peals shows that numbers of them are as keen as the other sex, in proportion to their numbers, on acheving the highest ambitions of a ringer, but it is in the service ringing that the ladies have proved their usefuiness and their reliability. The difficulties which the Guild finds in getting adequate support of the members for their district meetings can be realised when it is remembered that the whole country is covered by only six districts and that, for instance, the western and southern districts have to cover nearly all the southern half of England, with the exception of the London area, and that the northern district has to cater for the rest of the country with the exception of Northamptonshire and Lincolnshire, which have their own districts. Whether a district reorganisation with smaller areas would facilitate a larger membership and create a greater interest in the Guild is not easy to determine, but the disappearance of the Midland district has left a gap in the organisation which ought to be filled without undue delay. There must be quite a number of lady ringers in the area west of Northamptonshire and (Continued on page 242.)

north of Bristol who are sufficiently keen to support the Guild, and we hope to see some effort soon made to re-establish the activities of the Guild in that quarter of England. Despite all drawbacks, however, the Gaild has done well, and is officered by some enthusiastic women ringers, several of whom are outstandiag figures in the Exercise. But most of all, the Guild owes its success to the labours of Mrs. G. W. \section*{- A DISAPPOINTING EXPERIENCE.}

\section*{To the Editor}

Dear Sir,-Mr. Collins complains of discourteous treatment when he visited Newark recently. In contrast, I wonld like to give my experience whem I visited this tower about two years ago. I was weated with owery courtesy and kindyess, and was asked to call a touch of SEedman. I think it is only fair to our Newark fricuds to state this. Probably the fact that Mr. Colline arrived in the belfry after the ringing liad commenced had something to do with his failure to obtain a pull. Moral-be early!-Yours faithfully,
J. FRANK SMEALLWOOD.

Allenton, Derby

\section*{A CORDIAL WELCORSE}
lhear sir,-I was amazed to see a lottor in this week's issue of "The Ringing World 'from Mr. Frederick E. Collins under 'A disappointing experience." Who for? Mr. Collins or the Newark ringers?
I was living at Brigg, Lincs, for 12 months, and ofter used to go over to Newark at wrek-ends, and my experienco at Newark Parish Clutroh was tatally opposite to that of Mr. Collins. I had e most cordial welcome from the first Sunday I wisited the belfry, but I took any usual precaution (which surely Mr. Collins with 14 years' experience slould take) of finding out what fime Sunday service rimging started. Sucely no ringer who values Sunday scrviee ringing should expect to go into a shange belficy where serwice ringing is orly for approximately 26 minutes and expoet belis to be stopped, and started again just for bim. I feel certain that had Mr. Colinas arrived early lie would have no cause for complaint. have rumg both morning and evening (ringers should note that morning service ringing at Newark begios at 9 oclock), and was often told if II was in Newnit on a practice night, to he surs and go, and I an far from what a good ringer aud striker should be. The Newark conductor un my first visit asked me to gall a touch, but I fold frim I was ouly a learner ink had not progressed so far, I remember one Eunday evening when there were fipe risitars in the belfry, and the lacal ringers most willingly gave way to them. Thoy all came from diferent parts of the country, but they were all there early. Two of us only had faig al Nowark before. The other three were on their first wisit. I just point this out, as Mr. Collius might think jt was because he was a stranger and was not known. Sometimes in life wo are refused bacause we are hnown, cometimes because we are not known. But this does not apply to Newark or any other belfry, either in England or Jreland, where I have been. Prowiding ringers do not expert to do away with local customs, e feeliag of fellowshig and comradeship has always been my experience of 25 years, during which time I have had the pleasure of ringing in orer 360 towers. I believe the Newark people (not the ringers) as soon as they hear the bells stop all make for church, and I expect the Newark zingers would sooper risk disappointing Mr, Collins than fooling the people of Newark. I hope ringers will not take Mr. Collins' advice and keep away from Newark, but go when they can and as ofter as whey can, but go early and they will bo happy--Yours faithfully, HiRRY'E.WILLS. Midhurst Aremue, Croydon.

\section*{VISITING RINGERS.}

Dear Sur, -We was very sory down in Erefutshire to see as 'ow that there mon Coilins, from Lundun town, didna get a pull on them bells at Newark-on-Trent, but I 'ave been thinking as 'ow maybe it फas his own frult.
You sce, Stur, there be all sorts of ringing blokes as gets about. Bonetimes there is a mon wot cums and sort of ses: 'That was some poor striking of yourn; yo ought to cut yourn backstrokes down your bells are a poor lot, and ought to be melted down, etsetr'a. peefs. ard big mon, and likes good striking. I have rung a lot of peels. I am sefyetary of Flapdoodle, and I hawe been to the Sentral Knwneel meeting for years and years." Well, after he have flapt min wings like this, and put his thumbs into his waiskit holes, and biowd his chest okt, them there ringers do weigh him un, and with a scale and waits of their own, and when be do lape a tuch with the m, be do sort of upset the kumpus of the ringing, and when he pe guat, what they do sey about that mon would fill a good big

\section*{TEE KENT ASSOCIATION'S JUBILEE}

\section*{FORMATION AT CANTERBURY IN 1880.}

The Kent County Association, which celebrates its jubilee on Monday, was formed at a meeting held in the Cbapter House of Canterbury Cathedral on Whit Tuesday, 18xo, and made an auspicious start, there being over a hundred ringers present from various parts of the county.

The first bon. secretary was the Rev. R. KuatchbullHugessen, of Mersham, Ashford, and the Committee subsequently admitted about a dozen bands to the Society.

By the time the first district meeting was held, five months later at Maidstone, there bad been marked progress, there being 159 practising and no fewer than 100 honorary members.

The Archbishop of Canterbuicy has always been president, and during the history of the association there have been few secretarial changes, for the Rev. F, J. O. Helmore, who was elected to the office in 189 I , continued to discharge the duties until 1929-a period of \(3^{8}\) years, equalled, we believe, by no other ringing association secretary.

The first peal by the association was rung at St. Mary's, Frittenden, a peal of Bob Major on October 31st, I86I, the conductor being Thomas Daynes. Progress in method ringing was rot as fast in those days as now. It was not until 1889 that the association's first peal of Stedman Triples was rung and not antil 1093 that the first Surprise Peal was achieved. Since that time a great variety of ' firsts' for the association bave been rung and some well known names appear among the conductors of these 'pioneer' performances, among them F. G. Newman, Gabriel Lindoff, William Pye, John H. Cheesman, Frank Bennett and, last, but by no means least, Edwin Barnett, sen., whose name as conductor of first peals for the Association appears nearly 30 times between the years t890 and the present time.
The Archbishop of Canterbury will preach at next Monday's festival service in the Cathedral, and afterwards preside at the luncheon and business meeting.

\section*{MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION. PEAK DISTRICT.}

A plessnnt mecting of the Peak Disistict was leeld at the pretty Peukland village of Great Longstonc on Saturdey. Ringers were present from Bakewell, Darley Dalc, Dore, Great Lougston and Hope, and the bells, a nice ring of six, were kcpt going in the various tandaril methods from 3.30 p.m. onwards.
A short business meeting whs hell in the tower during the afternoon, Mr. A. G. Wallace (Bakewell) presiditrg, in the absence of the Res.' W. P. Wright.
Ono new member, Mr. G. Buggins the loesi schoolmaster, was clected and was welcomed into the fold.
The usual yotos of thanks were passed, und it was decieded, if possible, to have thic next mecting att Youlgreave on May 10th. This is nather boautiful Peakland vilhge, and with its fine church and henvy peal of eight (tenor about 27 crst.), slould be an attraction to ringers oulside the districl. A good meeting, therefore, is exposted.
An adjourrment to the White Lion and a solstantial tea was followed by more ringing till well on in the evening.

LEICESTIER DISTRICT.
A guarterly meeting was heid ab Anstey on Saturday last. Tea wus lipld at a house near to the churcll, ai which a party of 18 (including the Rector) were present. At the husinnss meeting it was decided to hold the next mesting at Kibworth (8) on Saturidar, May 17th, and the next qunrterly meeting at Hallaton (6) on Saturday; June 21st.
It was hoped that, suliject to their approwal, a combined mecting with the Hinckley Districh would be held zi South Wigston and Wigston Magna curing the latter part of July.
During the aftertioon and evening, the bells were kept going to Stedman Donbles, Bob Minor, Grandsire Triples, Bob Majar, nid Londen Surprise Major, a full course of this method being suceessfuily :weomplished.

\section*{RINGERS' EFFORT AT TOTTERNHOE}

NEW ITREBLE GIVEN TO THE PARISH OHUROH.
The beils of St. Giles' Ghurch, Totternhoe, a swall village, at the foot of the Chilteras, two miles west of Dunstable, have juse been augmented to six by the addition of a new treble by Messrs. Mars and Stainbank. The dedication took place on Wednesday, Aprit 9th, and was performed by Bishop Lander in the presence of a large congregation. At the same time Bishop Lander dedicated new lighting and heating arrangements, electric light having bean installed in place of the old oil lamps. The new bell has been given to the parish entirely through the ringers; ant is a siviking example of what can be done by persistent effort in even a small parish. The whole sum ( \(£ 9412\).) leas been collected in 15 months.

The old bells were rehuag and quarter turned in 1984 by Messrs, Mears aud Stainhank, and shortly ofterward io young band was formed, who sonn made good progress under the tutorship of Mr. G Feley, of the Prior Church band, Dunstable. Tle need for another bell was quictly ficlt, and Wednesdry aight's service was the sequel. The new bell is a perfect splice, and the bells are now a very line ring of six, as follows:-
Treble.-Gloria in Excelsis Deo. Enected by the ringers, 1930. Mears and Staiabank, foundors.
2.-Chandler made me, 1655.
3.-Recast by Warner and Sons, 1865.
4.-Chandler made me, 1654.
5.-Chandier made me, 1654.

Tenor.-Chandlev made me, 1654. Recast by Warner 1892.
The weight of the tenor is approximately \(10 \frac{1}{2}\) ewt.
The ringers are to be congratulated apon what they have done, and with the wider scope will son trave a flowrishing band.
Riuging took place after the dedication, touches of Kont Treble Bob, Bob Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles being rung, local men standing in each of the touches, assisted by visitors from Luton, Dunstable and Linsiade.

\section*{BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION, \\ PROPOSED ANNUAL DINNER \\ AXBRIDGE DEANERY BRANCH TAKES FTRST STEP}

An important quarterly meeting of the Axbridge Deanery Branch of tho Bath and Wells Diocesan Assaciation was held at Kewsioke on Snturday. The Vicar (thic Rev. Doorbar), was at the chureh to extend a hearty wolcome to everyone as they arrived. The heils wers kept going from 2.30 till 4.30 , when choral service was conducted by the Vicar. The main responsibility of the secretary (Mr. L. G. Tannery in aranging fea was relieved by the lady clarehworkers, whose efforts could in 180 way have been improved upon. Unfortunately, the presideat (tho Rev. Powys David, of Bleadon) lost lis way, but artived in time for tea, and presided at the busincss meetiug. The minutes of the previous meeting, which were confirmed, showad that the branch had a balance of fi3 16s. 2d. It was decided to hold the rext meeling at Shipham on Saturday, June 28th.
Mr. Tenner then launched a sheme for an annual dinner, remarking that if one association could hold successful annual dincers, why cond not the Bath and Wells Association do so? (applause). Though some had tuied to damp his enterprise, he was going fo pusla it and, furthermore, make it a success. Some members bad remarked that they saw no object in it as an aid to the art' of change ringing, hut he, as secretary, differed from that view.
Mr. Coles, jun., of Tamiton, congratulated the secretary on his enterprise, and said. He fully approciated it would be a keen much to a later established wedgo, and miglat be turned from an axbridge Deanery dinner to a Bath and Wells Association dimer, and he wauld promise his support (applause).
The Ghairman then asked for replies to the letters Mr. Tannot had writiten to each tower. This resulted in over 70 promises to attend. With such a prospect, a committee was formed, consisting of Rev. Powys David, Mr. L. G. Tanner (secretary, 51, Locking Road, Weston-super-Mrare). Mr. C. R. Lilley (Congresbury) and Mr. F. Hey (Euntgpili). The date fised for the first dimer and concerti was November 15th. 1930, aud it was decided that it be beld at Weston-super-drare, the committee being givon power to choose place. The Rev. Donhar, who had previously been chosen as one of the committae, said he must 'put the bar up' to that, whereon .Mr. Tanner retorted, amid taughter, "Well, gentlemen, that's decided; the Rev. Doorthar will look arter the bar.'
Mr. Tamer asked that if be mate clear that any friends, ladies or gentlemen, in or outside of the association, might he asked to aldent. The Rev. Doorbar remarked hat the thought the idea was great, and Hough, no doubt, they would find a fow who saw no objnet in such a gathering, be had not tho slightest doubt that on tho night itsolf even those wonld come along and go home wondering why they had ever opposed the idea.

A hearty wote of thanks was accorded the Vicat, who liat heen the means of giring everyone such an enjoyable time; and to the president, who, sinef taking office, lad shown a keen friterest io furthering the art of campanology. The suitable responses of these genliemen terminated the mecting, amd the ringers again enjoyed touthes of Grandsire, Stedman, Bobl Minor aud Oxford till the hells were lowered in peal al 8.30 p . m .

\section*{PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.} SLIGETT DECLINE IN MEMBERSHTP.
In his annual report to the members of tha Peterborough Diowesan Guild, tho Master (Mr. F. Wilford) says the Guild is making progress in a small way, as far as knowledge of the art goes, and also in repairs and additions to bells, but with the making of membors progress is very slow. Restaration work has been completed at Kisliugbury, Bradden and Thornby, and wotk is either in hand or reports are being made out at Spratiton, Trchester, Hazelbeach and Bugbrooke.
The hon. secretary's report records that 50 peuls were rung during the year, an increase of seven. Four peals were rung on ten bells, 23 on eight bells, 15 on six bells and eight on five bells. These weres rung in 32 different churches, under 24 different conductors, four of whom called their first peal. One hundred and twonty-six ringers took part is these peals, eleven members ringing their first peal and being awarded certificates. Fifty branch neectings wero held, and in most brandies the attendance was un to the averge, but in others ал increase in this respect would be appreciated by those responsille for arrargiug them. There are now 97 towers in union witin the Guild-a decrease of one; 81 hom. members, an increaso of ninc; 595 ringing members (of whom 15 are free dife members), a decrease of 29; and 169 non-resident life nembers, an incrense of 7. These together makc a grand tatal of 845 , a fecrease of 13 on the year, although 62 new members were elecled. This, the report adds, is far from satisfactory, and is tho first time in the Guild's history that a decrensed membership had been recorded. Ten members had been lost by death.
The collections at services for the Belfry Repairs Fund anounterl to E18 4s. 3cl., inchaing E1 1s. 2a. Forwnuded from the Northamptonslite Branch of the Ladies' Guild. The balance in this fund is 5110 4s. 4 cl . ; an increase on the yenr of fa 18s. 11d. Ore the general account the receipts were \(£ 4385.6 \mathrm{~d}\)., and the expenses 841195 . \(7.4 .\), leaving a credit bnlance for the year of LI 8 s . 11 d .

\section*{A LOST LONG PEAL.}

To the Editor.
Dear Sir,-In your issue of the 11th inst., and column Belfry Gossip, respecting the longest peal aitempt that had been lost, I would point ont that it was not at Ronford on Mareh 26th, 1894, after eight hourg 16 min. ringing, that a rope broke. This took glaces at Brenlwood on that particular date. The peal was afterwards rung at Romford on April 1867, 1894.-Yeurs truly,
E. BUILER.
[Wo thank Mr. Butler for his letter. The facis were known to us, and in our perngeaph 'Romford ' was a slip of the pen.-ED, 'R.W.']

\section*{PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR} PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, witb a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

Will conductors of peals rung on Monday kindly post their reports tlie same niglit?
In addition to the bells at the Abbev and various churches in St. Allyans, the ring of den at Hatheld will be open during the morning on Easter Wondiy in connection with the annual meeting of the Hereford Culnty Association.
A lablet emmernoratiog the record peal of Cambridge Surpusa Mnximus js to be unviled at Aslatom-under-Eyne on Enster Dey, ifter evensong. The whole of the band who took part in that memorable performance hope to be present, and on the following day will aitempt peals at Oldinm and Macclesfich.

Thoday is the anniversary of the 17,824 Oxford Treble Bob Majur rung at Heptonstall, Yorks, in 1927. Three of the band took pert in Lhe long peal of Cambridge Maximus.
The greatest number of changes and the longest time ever rung is a peal hy one set of men was in the 21,363 Stedrana Caters at Apple ton. This was on April 22nd, 1922, and occupied 12 hrs. 25 mins. Only-one other peal las lasted the clock round (if we exelude the 40,320 el Leeds, Kent, rung by 14 men), and that was the one at Loughborougl referred to last week.
On St. George's Day, 1778 , a peal of 10,080 Boh Major was runar an Bratgling, #erts. On April 24tli, 1896, a 10,400 Kont Treble Bols was rutg at Shipley, Yarks.
The cheap tickets which will be jssued by the railway companies [rom day station to Eandon, in comention with the Centra] Counci] meeting at Whitsun will be available between Saturday and Wodnesday on any day.
The balance sheet of the Enst Berks and South Bueks Bramely of the Oxford Diocesan Guild reveals that in the hranch 3 life members, 15 hon. members, and 213 ringing members paid theit subseription for 2929, aud in addition 23 ringing members paid also for 1928. The balance in hand has beem iacreased from 9148 s . 71 d . to fl4 19s. 11d., but on the expenditure side is fll 2s. (half subscripions) remitted to the general freasurer.
The ringer of the 6th in the peal of Double Norwich at Milnuw, Lancs, on March 29th, was George Staff, ade bot Waller, as erroneously gent in the report.
Here is a new query tor zhe experts to armue over. A peal ni Now Cambradge Surprise Maximus was rung at Ipswich on Saturday, the length being 5,040 changes, insteari of the customary 5,280 , and it was produced by bringing up the 'Yrong' at the firsi leadoud. If, as we sormise, this was done hy omitting 2nd's place, was if all New Cambridge, or was there a lead of "New Primrose" splied in?
The question might well be nskod, "Where are our youngtiers?" for in a party that met at Thatciam, Berks, last Saturday (and hoy ard not men who are peal ringing epery weck) it was found ilat these were the ages of the hand: \(27,43,59,62,65,67\), 6 , 69 , anl light well did they accomplish their tash. "Mine best, the trefale man, wery kindly entertamed the band to taa at his bome after the peal. It will only be fair to say that out of a rough old gix bells ait this tower, which have been tuned and two trehles added, and hung in \(\pi\) steel frame, the firm of Traylor and Co. lave again brougit credit to their name.

\section*{QUEX PARK TOWER AND BELLS.}

The lightest ring of twelve beils in England, the tenor being only 15 cwt ., is to be found in the Waterloo Tower, Quex Park, Kent, and these bells have the further distinction of being the only peal of this number hung for ringing in a private building-the twelve at Christ Church, Oxford, are hung in an unconsecrated tower, but they are associated with the College of the Cathedral.

The tower at Quex Park is set among sylvan surroundings and was built by Mr. John P. Powell, the owner of the extensive demesne. According to report, he had the bells cast and hung by Messrs. Mears, of Whitechapel, in order that he might use them for his own amusement. In any case he must have been very much interested in bells, for the public opening ' was made a great event in 1819, and both the College Youths and the Royal Cumberlands were invited to take part.

The two peals rung there recently are a reminder that from time to time the bells are still an attraction to ringers, and are available for peal ringing. There is no record, as far as we are awase, of all the peals that have been rung on them, but details of the first performance have been preserved.

The following is the report of the 'Grand Opening of a New Peal of Twelve Belis, at Quex House, Thanet, Kent: the seat of John P. Powell, Esq.' :-

Wednesday, the 4 inst. (August, 1819), was the day announced for the Public Opening of the Bells, which were cast and lung by Messrs. Mears, of Whitechapel, London, and as might be fairly expected from the novelty of the ring, attracted a considerable concourse of fastionables (it being in the vicinity of Margate) and the interest of the scene was considerably enhanced by its having no parallel, that of a gentlemen erecting in his park a tower, with spire, in front of his noble mansion, and placing thereiu a peal of twelve bells solely for his amusement and to attain the art of change-ringing, having an eminent tutor for the purpose, who, in patronizing this manly art, has exinced a considerable ability in this very abstruse science.

Two Societies of twelve bell ringers of London the Cumberland and College Youths) were invited to this festive scene, where booths were erected and the park and pleasure grounds were opened to the assembled auditors.

The onset commenced by each company giving a specimen in a touch of 900 Cinques, after which the Cumberland Society rang a fine peal comprising 5,213 Grandsire Cinques, in three hours and 19 minutes, this was the opening peal. The other Society did not attempt a peal, but contributed alternately to give touches of about an hour's performance on that and the following day, which closed the never-to-beforgotten treat to the amateurs of the manly art of ringing.

The following persons were the performers and their stations in the pea! :-
Mr. George Gross ...Treble \({ }^{\text {Mr. Thomas Freeth... } 7}\)
"James Nash \(. . .{ }^{2} \mid\) " Thomas Ovenden 8
". Wm. Shipway ... 3 3
," John Hints ... 4 " Joseph Riley ... 10
". Peter Jones \(\ldots{ }^{2} 5\) "Thomas Grainger 11
", James Blacklock 6 ", Francis Mallew Tenor Mr. George Gross, conductor.'
It would be extremely interesting if we could have had some further particulars of this never-to-be-Forgotten treat,' to have learned who formed the company of College Youths: how they journeyed from London-and returned; and how they were feasted and feted, for on such an occasion we may be sure they were royally feasted and feted.

The eminent tutor referred 10 , who assisted Squire Powell to attain the art of change ringing, was, we believe, no less a person than the great William Shipway hinself, who three years earlier had completed and published his Campanologia.'
The present owner of the estate and the tower is Major Powell-Cotton, one of the world's most renowned big game hunters, whose museum of trophies of the hunt forms one of the largest and finest private collections in the world. It stands in the grounds of Quex Park and many ringing visitors have had the privilege of inspecting it,

\section*{SOUTHERN DISTRICTS INNOVATION.}

There whs an interesting inuovation at the meeling of the Southern District of the Surres Asaciation at Merstham, on Saturday, when 'talk' on conelucting was given. About 30 ringers were present From Burstow, Buckland, Chathwood, Croydon, Godstone, Horley, Kingawood, Merstham, ओiteharn, Redilil, Reigate and Woking, in ine county, and visitora foom Crimeg, Shorchama and Turner's Hill. St. Katherine's Church standa in a picturesquo seiting on a liillside, with a churchyard that slopes steeply awny from the walls. The tower, capped by on spire, cuntains at mixed peal of six bells, the number hanving been increased from fivo in 1901 . The oldest bell is the 3 rd, which dates from pre-Keformation tines, and is inscribed in block letler, "Sancta Katerins ora pro nobis." The founder of this bell is unknowa, bui Stahlschmidt, in his 'Church Bells of Surres, connests it with a group whose founder was not impassibly William Burford, of London, 1371-1392.
The fourth bell was east by Robert Mot in 1597. Two other bells ano from the Chertsey Foutdry, the tenor in 1640, and the second in 1657. The former bears the inseription, 'Hryan Edridge made mes, and the laiter, 'Bryaths Eldridge me fecit.' The possibility is that tho second was east by the son of the founder of the tenor, for Hryan the elder died in 1040 . The fifth was recast in 1774 by Pack and Chapman.
The service was conducted by the Rector (Bislop Eyre Chatterton), who geve un address on the words, 'Labourers together with God, He spoke of the service which ringers rendered to the Church, and "mplassised the importance of faithifulness to the duties, which they andertook. Tea was served in the Parish Room, itse ringers being the guests of the Master. The Bistop was present, together with the Master (Mry, Kenneih Birt), Capt. K. Mruley, R.N. and Capt. J. D. Manley, of Turner's Fill, and MA. A. J. Bull, the district sectetary.
After ten, the Master explained that he and tho secretary had inited Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, editor of 'The Ringing World,' to come that day and give them a talk on 'conducting.' They fell that talks of that kind would be a ubeful innovatiou, and would be interesting midid instructive to the memhers.

\section*{TALK OX CONDUCTNG.}

Mr. Goklsmilb dovoted about ten mivutes to explainiag some of Hhe elementary points which would enable the 'bob caller, eventually tu bowore anductor.' There were no insuperable difficulties, he suid, and ho emphasised the importance of study at home, with araotical application in the belfry, the advisability of tat attempting Htatical application in the belfry, the advisability of nat attemptivg tionging ; and a ime neessity of being able to follow the coursing order rind Ithe bells. It was not necessary, he said, to be able to memorise loug strings of course ends, which only occurred at intervals, and were not always of practical use io the beginner, except for chenking the accuracy of what had beon donc. Coursing order, on the wher hana, helped theas all the time. He recammenden the bethnier to take ont method at a time; analyse its coursing order, and 1 hen go into the tower and watch the coursing order in operation than go into the tower and watch the coursing order in operation while ringing was in progress. There were also many simple points which could be picked up by the study of a methon, and by gradually storing them in the mind they would ovelatually become observations hat were il most seemaif nature to the conductor. Even if a ringer wis not doing the conducting a knowledge of conducting should make him a batter finger, and enable lime to become of assistance whon mistakes were made in ringing- A trip by one ringer oflen becarne \(n\) trap for others, anth it was, thelefore, necessary to correct "imiss hefare it becamo a moss. It was the conductor's job to keen Tho bells right, as well as call the bohs, but many a peal had been saved hy r dimely word from one of the other ringers
The Miaster' thanked Mr. Goldsmith for his ardiress, whicl he was surre wauld be an encouragement to nany of them to go more into tho sphero of conducting.

\section*{AN APPRAL.}

The business meeting of the disivict followert, the Master presiding. The Master asked the members to stand in silence for a few moments to mark their regret the theath of the Rev. R. Hoare, of Godstone, who had presided at the last meeting of the district.- Mr. Caph. J. D. Manley and Capt. F. Wanley- ringing memhers.
It was deciled to hold the next meeting at Horley in Juno, and to fitlempt the quarterly peni either at Horley or Redhill, the method 10 bo Grabdsire "ripist, and the conductor Mr. Clayton.
The Hon. Secretary reported that three peals had been rung since lhe last quartelly meollog, and the Assistent Sceretary snid that Inting the same periorl 17 720's and three gusrter-peals had been runc.
The Mastor said the had received a letier from Mr. C. F. Johnston slating that information had reached him that Mrs. Ewens (widow of the late Mr. Ewens, the first secretary of the district) and her raughter were in very strnitened circumsiances, and asking if anything could be done to assist them.
It was stated that Mrs. Ewens bad been an invalid for many years, and that the daughter had remained at hone to look after her. It why resolved that the conmittee should investigate the malter and she how best the association could help.

The tower of the Parish Church was openeal during the afteruoon, and touches of various methods, from Gramksive Triples to Lodion Surprise Major were rung.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Canon C. W. G. Wilson (Vicar), who gave a helpful address from the text, Do all to the glory of God (1 Cor. x. 31). The special lessont was read by the Rev. R. Clough, aud Mis. Arman (an honorary member of the association) was at the organ. The lyyms sung were, \({ }^{2}\) Through all the clanging scenes of life,' 'Soldiers of Christ, arise,' and 'Praise, my soul, Hic King of Heaven.'
Tea was served in the Parish Room, where Canon Wilson presidect, sumporled by the Rev. H. I. Reoti (Ardingly), Mr. T. T. Rickmau, Mr. A. D. Stone and Mr. G. Apps (captain of the local brad). The annual mecting was opered by the claimmat extending hearty welcome to the members of the association. The Vicar said thai. the last time the welcomed them to Cuckfield was in 1926, and it was a real pleasute to him personally, and to Mr. F. R. Hounsell, the hon, secretary, Mr. ©. Apps, the captain, and other members of the local band in see so many preseut that day. It was a great regret to him that he hal never been ablo to ring, but he did try once in the tower of Hurst Clutech, and he bore the marks on his fingers for many days (langlatey). Nevertheless he appreciated tinging very muth, and be realised that cingers played a very useful part in the life of the commanity and church life. For that reasoan he was ploased to give them a hearty welcome to Cucktield (applause).
New members were elected from Burgess Hill (two), the Shepherd, Brighton (two). Fenfield, Lindfield and 'Twinelanm each), and Canon H. D. Rurton, O.B.E. (Viohr of Burgess Fill), was eleoted an honorary niember of the insociation. Thic meeting confirmed the election of three non-y esident members.

\section*{OFPTCERS RUEFFHCTED.}

The question as to whether the Octoher quarterly meeting should be held on a Wednesday was discussen, and the meeting decidel in favour. The remaining three quarterly meetings during the ensuing year will be held on Saturdays at Lower Beeding in Iuly by invitation, at Lindfiold in January nod at Lewes in April, the last mentioned boing the analial mexting.
Mr. A. D. Stane, in giving details af the finance ducing the past year, said the income reached its highest point, a sum of \(£ 30135\). 48 . having hean received. The expenditure had been heavy owing to extra railway fares, but alter ali expenses had been met a sura of e22 10s. 8il. Was handed to the treasurer of the associztion (npplause). Mr. Stone ealled ahemtion to the anuual meeting of the association, which would be held in Brighton on Saturday, May 3rd. The towers of St. Peter's, St. Nicholas' and the Good Shephew would be open for ringing, and the service would be held at St. Nicholas' Church, anel it was almost certain that the Bishop of Juewes would give the adliress. Ten would be served at the Pavilion Creanery Tha Master proposed a hearty vole of thanks to Canon Wilson for allowing the members the use of the bells, for alranging the service and for his helpful address.
The Vicar, in reply, said it had given him great pleasurc to do what little he could to make the day one the wisitors would not to grat and one they could look baek on with pleassnt memories. had also given pieasure to his daughter, Mrs, Arman, to play the organ, as although she was not now an active ringer she was during the war, when she filled a gap caused by the absence of men in the Forces. The Chairman concluded by thanking Mr. Rickman kind remarks.
The comprny were then ontertained to a course of Grandsire Caters, rung on the batudbels by Mr, and Mus. F. Halug Ma, F. Bennctt and Mr. F. N. Smeaton (St. Nicholas', Brighton) and Mr. Keitl Hart (St. Poter's, Brighton). Several further touches rung on the Pavisls Church bells.
rung on the Parisisl Church bells.

On the motion of the hon. secretary, a hearto rote of thanks was accorded to the Master for his kind hospitality, and to Miss Birt, who This concluded the tea.
This concluded the business and the members thea returand to the tower, where, during the day, the ringing ranged from round to London Surprise Minor.

\section*{THE DEVON GUILD. \\ To the Editor.}

Deal Sir,- Decay ' is right, and I will give you a few facls. During the past five years we have losi eleven bands, namely: Alphington, Whitestone, Aylesbeare, Woodbury, Exalnster, Bradninch, Dartmouib, Littlenempstome, Holbertion, Thwistack, Lifton. One writer says: Progress, if slowly.' (I doubt it.) In addition, the Exeter District has lost 13 hon. members.

Quarterly meatings were lield af country towers in order to get them to join, but this last two yenrs it is mado a pradine ground for Minov methods, and the banging and clashing is a disgrace to tho Guild. Hence no towers join up, and the village is disgustod with the noise.
With regard to the Gathedral, nomething ouglat to be done to improve matters. It is fruo the ringing is of a very low ordor and not becoming to a city like Exeter.
As to diocesan work, the sec. of Exeter district sent a circular to all incumbents of churches with bells inviting bands to join. I do not think any returns have bean made aj to now.
The burning question of to-day seems to be, Is the Devon Guikd to remain as it is, a churchman's Guild, with no compebitions, or is it to be sporting Guild wilh competilions on bells dediented to the glory of God? I, as a clurchman, cannot sue any inslrumenta in the church used in competition; true, I am only one. I must say, however, that I do not agree with it. Let all the menbers take the advice of the Rev. Canon Coleridge, given at the Cathedral at our jublee mecting 'Handle your rope properls, and strike your beb.'
-Yours faithfully,

\section*{THE ARCHBISHOP AMONG RINGERS.}

If was an event of more than passing siguificance that the Archbishop of Canterbury should, on Monday, have preached in his Cathedral at the Jubilee Meeting of the Kent County Assuciation, and afterwards taken a part in the other proceedings which marked a memorable day. It is true the gathering was held in Canterbury and that: the Archbishop is President of the Association, but the demands upon the time and energies of the Primate are so enormous that he has little of either to spare for engagements which do not go necessarily with his official duties and position. His presence at Canterbury, therefore, was a signal honour not only to the Association, but indirectly to the Exercise at large. All who heard his address must have been convinced of His Grace's conviction of what the bells of our English Churches mean to this country and of the importance which be attaches to the ringer's office and art. It was this which doubtless induced the Archbishop to come so willingly among the members of his own assoctation to offer them a message of goodwill and inspiration upon an auspicious occasion.

In addition, however, the Archbishop's presence was also, we imagine, partly prompted by the little ceremony which he-undertook to perform of making a presentation to the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, the precentor of the Cathedral, who last year retired from the secretaryship of the Association after 38 years of untiring and successful work. And not only did this play an important part in bringing the Archbishop among the ringers; it was by no means the least of the attractions which drew so large a gathering to the venerable city. Among the members of the Kent County Association there is a deep and abiding love and esteem for the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, not merely for the service he rendered during the 38 years he held the secretarial office, but for the never-failing personal qualities of kindness, gentleness and sincerity which he has displayed. Mr. Helmore can never have had any doubt about the affection in which he is held by the ringers of Kent, but if he had, they were completely dispelled on Monday by the great gathering which assembled to do him honour and the warm expressions of gratitude which were heard on all sides for the lifetime of labour he had given in the cause of ringing in the county of Kent.

The whole of the day's proceedings were signally successful and probably constituted a record for any assaciation meeting, and the ringers who were present will carry away with them lasting memories, not the least of which will be those of the hearty service in the glorious choir of the Cathedral and the sermon of the Archbishop, who, in eloquent phrases, put into proper perspective not only the position of the bells themselves in relation to the services to the church and the life of the people, but of the ringers in relation to their task in the belfry. To all who heard it, the sermon was a great inspiration, and to those still amongst us who can remember the relationship between ringers and the church before the days of the county associations and diocesan guilds, it must have conjured up thoughts of the striking differences between then and now - between the time when few of the clergy considered the ringers as in any sense part of the church organisation, and the belfry was hardly recognised by those who used it as part of God's House, and to-day, when in the mother church of English Christendom the Archbishop of Canterbury publicly acknowledges the importance of the ministry of the bellringer and pronounces his benediction upon their art and their work.

\section*{A BENEVOLENT GOHEME ADOPTED.}

The annual mecting of the Hertford County Association was held as is costomary, at St. Albans on Easter Manday, wher the bells of the Abbey and other city churches were utilised during the day by wisiting ringers, many of whom in the morning had also the opportanity of ringiag on the peal of ten at Hatsield. In the afternoon they nutonded evensoug in the choir of the Abbey, and were addressed by the Lishop of St. Abbans, They afterwards went to Vor House Hotel for tea and the annual meeting of the association.
In his address, the Bishop said he was grateful to lave the op portunity of publicly saying 'Thank you' for the servieca which the ringers were rendering to the Chureh, the commonity and the diocese. Tho science and art of bellinging was typicaliy English, but it rould not go on unless they inspired the youpger generation to folluw in thoir footsteps. That was not only true of bellringing but of every other good thing in the life of our nation to-day. It was abundantly tue of the Christian faith and of the Christian Chureh from which bellringing took its origin, and from which all that was best in the life and charucter of the nation and its history was due disectly or indirectly.
At the annual meeting, Mr. F. W. Golding, of Hemel Hempsteed the retiring president, wrlcomed the gathering of nearly eighty members, and expressed his pleasure st secing so many youngor members present.

Fllo ton. secretary's report was again a full and interesting review of the year. He said that throughout the year in the city, fowns and rillages of the county tho members had rung the bells for Eunday divine sarvices and on other special occasions. While this servico ringing liad emplasised one aspect of their craft, the ringing of peals showed tho scientific advancement in another direction. This year they had cause for congratulalion, 36 peals having been rung on tower bolls and one or handbells in a variety of methods. He mentioned in particular the Spliced Surprise Major at North Mimms and the Double Norwich Ropal at Hertford, both records for the associntion. The peals had been distributed throughout every distriet, and had been rung in 23 towers with 20 different conductors. They hed certainly progressed, and typical instances might be mentioned of the Northera District, where five rang their frist in a poal at Finxworth and six their finst peal on eighi at Bennington. ploasing feature of the year had been the holding of joint meetings witl other asscecialions. Herts and Beds met at Dunstable and also at Biggleswade; Herts and Midilesex ot Monken Hadley; and Esex, Herts and Middesex at Hertford. The president had shown the onthusiasm of a young man in attending most of these meetings, armared in his chain of office. The Fon. Secretary added that his experience of those gatherings was that they made for progress and socinbility, and ringers got to know others who were carrying on the sane good work in the neighbouring counties. Bell founders had added to tho Hatfield peal, Im memory of the late Rupert Edward Gascoigne Cecil, sou of the Bishop of Exeter, and the county now pussessed four rings of ten. The bells at Graveley and King's Waden had bees rohung, and the peal at St. Mary's, Hemel Hempsead, had been quarter turneri and rehung, and the chimes put nta repair after a silence of twenty-five years; other repairs had also burn done. Adpice an the condition of various peals of bells in the In a recont issue of given by members when approached. arm or indiferent, or, having conjured up a fancied grievence with lamir Vicar or ringers, gave ap. It is a ranty-sided problem. Peromatherliood and serviec. This is assured come through the spirit of hrstherhood and serviec. This is assuredly the greatest factar in our xereige of which I venture to surgest wiest features, and in the hat hes been achioved. If our belluinging owe much he Church, and is also undertaken in a spirit of true followship alwa ane anotber, wa shall rejoice in the slogan, Once a riager, always a ringer." When age or infirmity debars us from actual ringguid, because we regard it as a lifelong pact. Whilst the task of wimirg back lakewarm members in any appreciable uambers is great, yet, purlaps some mafy be recovered by a " personal contact canturgn," and the ranks of all associations further strengthened.'

\section*{A BENEFIT FUND.}

Having reforred to the losses sustained by the association through death, the Fon. Secretary called attention to the following matters 1) Pout of the committee meeting:-
ies, is hooking fees. The eliarge for hooking peals, wecording to rifected to pher head, and the attention of contictors of all peals in (2) Necrenito Fule. (2) Necessitous sjek benefit fund. This was diseussed at some length, and a resalution adopted epproving the same. In the discussion it was apparent that an cxpression of opinion from members atiending the valious district meatings bofore Easter would be helpu ful in any decision that miglit be mate by the general meeting. A some meetings this has been done, and I boliove tho consensus of opinion is favourable to the iden. The crux of the question \(i\) is whether it should be volumtary or the tunds raised hy the innosition of an higher rate of subserjption and grants mate ths onension arose from the general or separate fund. By the rdoption of a fund on a volantary hasis, if could start from lodur, but the alteration of subscription would require prewious notice, and condrl not be started until a yen hence. Parsumally, I helieve the voluntary basis proferable, and that a selome-could be worked by at committee comprising the officers of the association, which would he: representative of each fistrict.
(3) Attendance at dishiot meetings. It was feld by the committed that an juprovement in the atlendance of rasident members would be encouraging to those responsible fur arranging the meetings, but since our meeting three of our district sectetaries report goorl gatinerings.
During the year, a form of service for dishriet meetings, the whert adds, has been adopted with the approval of the Bishop of the Diocese, and has been found most helpful. A new certificate of membership has also been approved by your committee, for which I trusi, there will be a ready sale to all new members, at ane shilling each. It has been specially drawn, and is represented by a sketch of \(n\) church in each district, and the Abbey, wnder whose shandow tho association was formed.
Thanks were extended to Mr. W, Mercer, chartered accountant, for his gratuitons gervices in auditing the ireasurer's accounts, und also to Mr. Gilbert Dehenham for undertaking the services of librarian. The district secretaries had arranged a full complement of mectr ings during the year, and cordind thanks were extanded to thena.
In conclusion, the Hmp. Secrelary on behalf of the committee, at knowledged the assistance which had heen given during the past year by the various incumbents, churehwardens nud atherg, in granting facilities for ringing, arranging services, sud in many oases generous hospitality; to the honorary members, for their monelary nesistunce and interest; and to the members in general for all they had done for the advencement of the association

\section*{FELLOWSHIP NEEDED}

The Dean of St, Albang (the Fery Rev. J. L. Fiendergen), in moving the adoption of the secretary's report, impressed the need "ul the luelfy in every town and village being a place of real fellowship. Fellowslip was what was needed move and moto in this coltntry, and particularly in the Charch. 'I cannot tell you how admire you all as ringers,' he added. 'Tor belloinging a very high eval of intelligenco and concentrution-is requited, and my aduirttion goos out to anyone who is a really tried awd passed ringet.
Mr. E. P. Debenham secondel the adoption of the report, whirlh was npproved. On the proposition of Mr. Debenham, seconded by Mr. W. Buckinghum, the following resclution was carried unnnimously: 'That the Hertford County Association of Clarige Mingers approves in general the idea of the formation of a berevalenf fund it connection with the association, and requests the committee to Work out details and forward them to the various lowers througin the district secretaries.
Tho lion. treasurer (Mr, W, P. Debmham presentod the finamein] statoment, whicla showed a balance in hand of e23 85. 6d., at bgans E25 19s. 9d. at the tuegimimy of the year, fund m tesorve fund of e24 158.

The follhwing were elected ringing members: Messrs. F. W. Allen St. Albans Cathedral), R. Bedifori and A. Ewer (St. Stephen's, St. Albans), G. W. Marlborough and 3. E. Roots (St. Peter's, Bushey Heath), and F. Aldridge (Graveley).
Mr. W. Nash, of North Mymms, was unanimously elected president, and received the silver badge of office presented last year by Mr. G. W. Cartmel, who was then the retining president. Othm officers elected were: Hon. treasurer, Mr. E. P. Doheniamm; hon. secretary, Mr. G. W. Cartmel ; representative on the Central Couneil, Mr. W. Ayre; hom. librarian, Mr. Gilbert Debenham; hom. audiNorbome w. H Mistriet sechetaries Mrsps. D. C. Meatre H. Horton (Watford) and J. Puplett (Western).

Thauks were accorded to the Dean, the Vick's of St. Peter's, st. Steplien's and St. Michael's, St. Albans, and the Rector of Hatfich for the use of the bells, and the steplekeepers for their servide.

\section*{BARNSLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION}

A very suecessful meeting was held at Sauth Kirkhy on Siturday, Appll IZth, when merobers attended from Ackworth, Cawthorno, Dat かeld, Darton, Felkisk, Fontefact, Royston, Sundal, Shelley, Wath and the local company. The fine peal of six bolls was kept foing durn ing the afternoon, and the business meating was lield nftor ted in the Parisla Hall, the Vicar (Rev. A. L. Brightman) presiding. Went. the Parish Hall, he Vicar (Rep. A. L. Brightnan) plesiding. Wentworth and South Kirkby were put to the wote as the venue for the shield confest, and Wentworth was selected, the meeting to be helis in July. Felkirk whe chosen for the next meeting:

After the usual vote of thanis the were brouglit round in Plain, Treble Bob, Delight and Surprisa methods, good atriking being the general order of the day.

\section*{THE TWELVE BELL RECORD.}

A reunion of the band that rang the record twelvebell peal at Asliton-under-Lyme last August Bank Folifay took place during Easter, A hablet cammemornting the peal was unveiled on Suaday evening, and on Monday peals of Cambridge Su'prise Maximus were rung Rit Oldham and Macelesfield,
When the record peal was rung circumstances dici not permil of the company being photographed, but this mecting of the twelve men has afforded an opportunity, and the picture will, we hope, be reproduced in "The Ringing Worki" next week.
At the time of going to press we have had mo official intimation with regard to the result of the attempt at Painswick on Monday to ring a longer peal than the one at Aston-under-Lyne. We under stand, lowever, that the attempt failed after 7 hrs. 52 mins.!

\section*{'DECAY' IN DEVONSHIRE}

Duar Sir,-The shate of affars you mention in your leadine article of April 4th, is, I much regret to sity, ver'y mucl the position in which we, as members of the Devou Guild, are placed. The menace to the Devon Guikl is scrious, and likely to become more so, if the flow of the lide is not stemmed, and that as early as possible. But it is of no use to cry over spilt milk. Our chief concern omphatically and immediately should be to see that no more is spilt, ard also make every possithe endeavon to try and recover some that has heen losta Surely our stont hearts of glorious Deron have mot lost the pluck and enthusiarm which they used to possess some thirty or forty years ago, when (so 1 have been proudly informed) members of our Devon Guild have tramperl or cycled oper hill and dale in ail winds and weathers a considerable distance to ring perhaps just a touch or toucher, and perlaps a peal. Some of these men are with us to-day, with probably the addition of grey hairs; athers with hair, perliaps, not quite so thich as it used to be; others have passed heyond reoall. It is to these few remaining pioneers of our Guild we should naturally tim for same possible remedy, which (yes, I know, weal out the old ones frsl! I sincercly thmk could be found, provided we and they work wholeheartedly in co-operation with eaci other for the common cause, and for the benolit of all.
Bry I be allowed to put forward a suggestion which may be the means of adding a few more sheep to our fold: That wo have four informal meetings a year ju mddition to and alternataly with our guartarly meetings. Such informal mectings could be arranged at a quarterly meeting, prion to which the sectetary should write to Farions towers, or to sueh towers where ringers are thought to be interesied in chango ringing, and acquaint lliern with the fact that the Guild would be willing to seud men there to give an exhibition of the art of change ringing; help them to practise it, and give them all the necessary details they may desire to assist them. Opon the recciving of un invitation from such tower, a qualified number of mombers, who man rise and fall, and ring 'lialf pasl' well, should be selected (at the quarterly sheeting) to tisit such tower and give the loual band such assistanue, and put them on the way that leads to change ringing. The oxpenses incurver by such Fisits sinould be borme by the Guild. Possibly a quarterly meeting could afterwards be held there, or another informal meeting. Surely we could give this a trial:
I may add that at our tower we are doing oay little bit for the Ctuild in bringing on seven keen young meti (iaverage age about 16 yearg) in the art of ehange ringing. All of them can rimg Grandaire Doubles, and some of then Triples. The question of the noble rine of twelve at our Cathedinl has heen raisud. Like many others [ should weleome, and do look lobwart to, the time when the powers that be will give this matler their keenest attentiou, and so come to some definite arrangements whereby wo may again (and sadn) hear The fult twelve ringing merrily, and in the mothod which we leve.Yours, ete.,

\section*{A LOT TO LEARN.}

Sir, -Your remarks are to a certain extent ture, hut I think halfpull ringors lime a lot to learn, as regards striking, from the mach abused call-change ringars. A lot of our so-called 'experts do not know how ta lamde or strike their bells. So fong as they can 'scramble' through Londou, ibristol or Cambridge, that is all they want: striking is a matler of lithe consideration. the majority want to 'run before they can walk', to use an old saying. I spend about a month annually in Dewous or Connwall, and there is nothing I elljoy more than a pull with these "stoney' ringerg, fund have always met with a very hearty welcome and it request to come again. I was at Hatherleigh last Spplmber, and simpled the new peal, and the way these belis were raisent and lowered was an real treat. Ine same romark applies to full the Devon and Cornwall towers I lave risited. Two years ago 1 wis staying at nonotrel vilhage where a visiting band of half-pull men came along. A day or two afterwards a frend of mine asked the lonal men what ther thought of the ringing. The reply was, "They can't larn us nothing,"

\section*{ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. \\ \section*{CHANGE IN SECRETARYSHD}}

The annual meeting of the Ely Diocesan Association was held at Cambridge on Easter Monday. Ringing took place at Greal St. Mary's, the R.C. Church of Sl. Mary, and St. Andrew's the Grent, also at Old Chesterton.

A short service was held in St. Andrew's at 4 p.m., conducted by the general secretary (Rev. R. Copeman), at which about thirty members were present. An interesting address was given by tho Rev. J. Duffil, Vicar of Bonrn, in which he pointed out that etymologically the wrord "belfiy \({ }^{3}\) was not derived -from ' bells \({ }^{2}\) but was derived from two words meaning 'guard of peace.' He went on to point out that especially it Easter and Christmes the message which tho season gavo was associated with 'peace.
The members then assembled for tea at the Dorothy Cafe, This was followed by the business meeting, Mr. Duffil being voted to tho chair.
The general secredary read his veport, which was adopted. The treasurer; Mr. TI. R. Denais, produced a statement of the accounte, which showed a balance in hand of 216 ls. 11 d . It was decided to postpone the printing of the annual report, and to print one for the two years.
Tho officers for the yeat were then elected: General secretary and treasurer, Mr. 'L. R. Dennis; auditor, Mr. A. S. Austin; representaEives on Central Gommittee, Mr. T. R. Dennis and the Rov. B. H Tyrwhitt-Drake; districl secretaries, Mr. F. Warrington (Aroh-deaconry of Ely), Miss D. Clarte (Archdeacoary of Hunts) Mr. W. Giddings (Areludeaconry of Wisbech), and Mr. W. G. Cross (Marghland District). For the general committee, in addition to the abova, Rev, A. H. F. Boughey, Messrs. H. Fields, E. G. Hibbens, A G. Rivers and J, Taylor.

It was decided to hold the next annaal meeting on Enater Mondey at Cambridge, and to arrange delnite times for ringing at the different churches.
Mr. Demnis proposed, and Mr. Rivers seconded, a vote of thanks to the Rev. J. Duffil for his address, to tho ineambents for the use of the bells, and to Mr. F. J. Hazell for accompanying the hymu at the scrvice, also to the district secretaries for their support, and especially to Miss C. Fields for her work in the Arehdeaconry of Hunts.
This brought the business to a conclusion, and members returned to the towers for further touches in standard methods.

\section*{CLEVELAND ASSOCIATION MOURNS EX-PRESIDENT}

\section*{DEATH OF REF. ALBERT SLMPSON.}

The Cleveland Association has lost owe of its most popular vicepresidents by the death of the Rev. Albert Simpson, M.A., Vicar of Evenwood, County Durham, which occurred on April 13th. Be Simpson joined the Cleveland Association in 1907, and was president from 1922-1928. HLe was always most popular with the memberg, who felt that in him they had a president who was in the urique position of being able to sce both the ringers' and the clerical points of view. His peal list was not large ( 44 in all for the Cloveland \(A\) sociation), but his ready hely and counsel were of greab service to the association during tho troublesome times of reconstruction after the wal.
Mr. Simpson was oducated at Universiliz College and Wyclife College, Toronto. He was ordained in 1917, and his first charge was the curacy of Sb. Peter"s, St. Toronto. Ho remained in Canada until 1919, when he came to Stackton-on-Tees, and was curate of Foly Trinity Church there. He becante Vicar of Evenwood in 1929, and abrigg the shott time he wats there he lad endeared himself to all his parishioners. Fe leaves a widow and one son.
His memory will live with the members of the association for \(\sqrt{5}\) long time, and the gap lett by 'Albert's' death wili be very, very hard te lill.

\section*{GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.}

The meeting of the Chertsey District at Fersham on Saturday week was a disappointment to the officers, especially to the Ringing Master (Mr. H. J. Clnaffey), wha, on account of the illaess of the hon, secrebry, had been responsible for the arrangements. The attendance was very small. Only five members residing in the district attended, together with visitors from Woking, Hillingdon and Cambridge. Even the members of the local band were conspicuous by their absence. It is said they all went to the boat race, but oven tilat was ovar by onc oflack. The officers of the Chertsey Districu have an uphill lask, and the menbers do not exhibil the lovalby tn the Guild in supporting the meelings arranged fot thom which those who are responsible are cntilled to expect.
The Vicav (Rew. F. R. Brittain) conducted service and afterwards presided over the short business meeting, at which the Ficar was elceted an fron. member of the, Guild.
The ringing furing the aftemoon and evening included Grandsire and Bob Doubles. Stefman End Grandsive Triples.

\section*{A DATE TOUCF.}

Ab Brathay; Westmorland, on Saturday, April 12Lh, in I hr. 10 mins-, a date touch of Bob Minor ( 1,930 changes), comprisiag two 720 s and one 490, each called differently: J. Tebay 1, H. Richardson 2. E. Whodburn 3, G. Sutton 4, T. Jefferson (conductor) 5, E. Wilson 6. All are Sunday service ringers at Windermere Parish Church.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.
The first quarterly mecting of the year was held on Saturday, April 5th, at Northfeld Parish Chareh, bear Birmingham. Very littie remains of the original building, which dates back to the Normati period. There is, however, still to be seen the leper's window ant a tine example of Norman door and arch. The elurch is wonderfully rich in stained-glass windows, but, strange to say, is extramely poor from a musical point of vew. It has no organ; all it can boast of to lead the singing is a small harmonium. The tower contains a nico modera peal of eight by Taylor and Co., and these were kept going on the occasion of the visit in various methods from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise. Tea was partaken of at 5.30 , and this was followed by the business meeting presided over by Mr. Vice-President James George in the absence of the Presiding Ringing Master, Alderman J. S. Pritchett.
Several new members were madc, induding Miss Muriel Sanders, of Moseley, as a full ringing member. The tower elections of Messrs. A. W. Coles and John Armstrong as life members were also duly ratified.
The secretary having referred to Alderman Pritchotits unique record ill completing 50 years as a member of the Masonic Craft, and the high position he held in the Order, Mr. George proposed, and it was unanimously decided, that a letter of congratulation should bo sent him.
It was decided to hold the mext meeting at Subton Coldfield on Saturday, July 5th.

Votes of thanks to the Yicak for the use of the bells and gehoolroom and to the werger for maraging the loa brought the meeting to a close.

PICTURES OE CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic pastcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

It is quick work to begin to handle a bell at the cod of Jumary and to ring a peai by the middle of April, jet this is what Geurge and Rex Chapman have accomplished at Banham, Norfolk. What these young men liave done in from two to tirree months has taken many ringers from two to three years.
The number of clanges in the peal of Superlative at Medcuninul, published in the last issue, was erroneously sent as 5,088 . It sthoultal linve been 5,312 .
Two hundred and twenty-five years ago to-morrow the first peal of Bob Major was rung. This was at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, ant wis acromplished by the College Youths.
The anniversary of two other memorable peals by the Anciunt Socicty occurs on Sunday, one the 8,580 Stedman Cingues at Curnliill in 1861, and the other the 15,840 Kent Treble Bob Majer H Belhnal Green.
Forty years ago next Monday the Cambridge Uuivetsity Guild rang their first peal.
The record length of Cambridge Surprise Major (12,896) was rung nt Stoney Stanton on April 28th, 1923.
The Royal Cumberland Youtlis rang a peal of 10,112 Oxford Trille Boh Major at Edmonton, on April 28th, 1800.
We have recently hind reference in our columns to long lexgths rung in unsuccessful peal attempts. The 'Annual Register," melder date of April \(28+1\), 1800, recorded that in an attempt for a peal of 15,136 Oxford Treble Bob at Edmonton a short time since, "the linging liad entered the ninth hour when Mr. George Gross, the composer of the peal, made an nttiempt to slacken his knee buckle, and his leg became entangled in the rope. He was olcvated to a bansiderable height, and, falling on his head, he broke his collar tume.'
Miss Kalbleen Jutson, of Peterborough, after passing through a course of training at the Churel Army College, has been appoitled to St. Aif̛̣an's, Leeds. She will carry wilh her in her new splemen of work the good wishes of her many yinging friends.
Mr. Frank Warrington, district secretary of the Ely Diocesan Associetion, wishes to thank the several bands of ringers for their kind reception and allowiag him to have a pull in Kent during lis atay nt ' The Bay.'
The Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, who was honoured by his follow-members of the Kent County Associativn on Monday, is approaccining his gath birthday. Nevertholoss on Sunday he elimbed to the Gativedral belfly to take part in the ringing for both services.
Loudon ringers, and College Youths in partioular, will regrot to learn of the death of Mr. J. C. F. Bayley, the genial steeplekceper of St. Giles Church, Cripplegate.
St. Andrew's Church, Rugby, is almost unique in the possessiou of two lowers. In onn is a ringing peal of eight, in the other is it rimg of five. These latter have now heen restared by Messre. Thaylor aud Co., of Loughhorough, and Messis. J. Smithand Sons, ol' Dethy, have installed a new elock.
Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Shurtleff, of Boston, U.S.A., will celebrate their silver wedding on Sunday next. Mrs. Slurtleff, who is f deughter of the late Dr. A. H. Niehols, of Boston, is a memher of the Boston Guild of Ringers, and on her occasionai visits to this country has taken part in ringing with the College Youtlis, witls wiom she rang her first poal.

\section*{ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY'S VISIT.}

\section*{PRESENTATION TO THE KEV. F. J. O. HELMORE.}

The Arehbishop of Canterbury spent four hours among the ment
org of the Kent Connty Association, of which he is presideat, on the accasion of their jubilee celebration on Monday at Canterthury, where in 1880 the association was formed. The Primate moti maly preachend at the festival service th the Cathedral, but presided at the lunch and the Ettbsequcnt proceedings. The interesting gathering brought fogether one of the largest assemblies of ringars ever seen at a meeting of this kind, and there must have been well over four hundred seated in the vast choir of the Cahedral when the service lugan at noob. Farlier in the morning there had been ringing on the Cathedral bells, St. Stephen's, Hrekington (eight) and St. Alphege (six).
The Rov. F. J. O. Helmore, Precentor, who for 38 years was honsacretary of the association, officiated, and the lesson was read by the Arcladeacon of Canterbury. the order of service was printed in 'souvcnir' programme, aud was followed with great heartiness, whish partioularly manifested itself in the singing of the hymns, Alleluia, Alleluia,' 'Unchanging God' and 'Chist is made the sure Foundation; and the 'Te Deum.' The 蛔er. G. C. E. Ryley Mus.Bac., was at the organ.

\section*{A WONDERTUL POWER.}

The Arehbislop gave a most inspiring address. As Archbislop of the Diocese and Province, and as president of the Kent County Association, it was a great pleasure to him to come there to give them a message, as they celebrated this jubilee year of their association, of congratulation, of gratitude for the service they rendered, and of benediction on their art and their work. I wast this morning, if I can,' he continued, 'to help you to magnify your office and to realise its special place in the life of the Church and of the people. (Romans xii. 6-7): "Javing, then, gifts differing accotding to the grace that is given to us...or ministry, let us wait on our and minigiry in the Clurch of Christ. In another Epistle, SE. Paul says "there are many kinds of voices lin the world and none of them is withont signifiention." Thio voice of the church bells is among the many voices of the world full of a very special signification aud meaning. The ringing of bells is peculiarly a charecteristic of Engand of the Englisli Church. There are, indeed, ather countries single bell, deep mouthed and solemn, but change ringing appears to be the peeuliar possession of the English race and the English Church. The bells express, as no ohler voice can, the joys and sorows of the people. What would the commemoration of great events And as the bells speak out in the life of the whole people, so also they speak out in the lives of the very humblest. It is to the sound of the bells in the village that the young man ant woman at their wedding advance to the adventure of their new life, and it is to the somad of the muffled bell or the passing knell that the humblest villager is laid to rest. Again, as you must often have noticed, there is 120 voice in the world more capable tlata the voice of the hells in retaining and reminding us of the most sacred associations. I do not think any sound in the same wonderful way opens the doars of memory and brings out its greatest treasures. Only last week I sponding some days in the place for ever sacred to me as the seche of my first prayers and resolutions in preparing for the sacred ministry, and I nover hear the familiar sound of the church bells that quiet village withont being at onec and constanlly reminded of the associations of that holy time. Whenover I hear the bells of the clumelhes or the cathedrals with which in my life I have been associated, memories of the hopes and the desires of the time spent there come rushing back. Truly you who ring the bells wield a most wonderful power. Some of the deepest associations of haman life, most of all, of course, the mrssage of the Church, the voige of the bells speaks ont. There are other voices within the Church, of teacheng, of wortlip, and of praise, but the bells always seem to me to be the voice of the Church itself, when the buildings, so many of them old thad venerable, try to speak for themselves. Tho belle, thercfore, give their withess of what the churches themselves stand passed, of things that are unsean and eternal. Sunday by Sunday the sounding of the bells reminds the people of God's clam upon their lives, You who wield those bells call to a world that is increasingly indiferent. The bells you make to speak are saying, "O come, leit us worship and fall down and kneel hefore the Lord our Maker

\section*{A GREAT MTNISTRY}

And in the midst of all the many questions and dounts and per* ploxities there is always to me something joyful and rather assuring of the sound of the bells. They speak of the faith that endures and of the overlasting gospel of the love of God. To make the voice of the hells heard is truly to fulal a great ministry in the Church of

Gad. Then, secondly, St. Pand says we must wait upon our ministar: ing, we are to give ourselves to il with care and with zenl, and 1 would ask you to waib upon this ministry of yours. First of all he eager to be perfect in your art of bellringing. It is a great arb, und it belongs to your honour to see that you make it as worthy as you can possibly make it of tho high offie. Other arta, such as music, of arehitecture, of paiating, lave a great place in the life of Alue Church. When you meet to-day in this choir, almost exactly 750 years after it was built, yeparred from tha whste of a great dires, when you look roume upon it, its pillars and arches and windows, you realise what a place are thas in the expmession of human worship and devotion and all the revelaion of God in beaty. And in its own way four ehange ringing has its place anong the arts hint are meant for the glory of God. Therufore, I say, it belongs to your honour that joumake it.as an art as perfeck as you can. Yut rejoice, I know, in your change ringing and your practie. You geh rejoice, I know, in your change ringing and your practice. You get the main mative with which you conduct thase practices is that you are striving to wait upon your ministry, to make your art a trut and wortly offering to God. I rejoice in the immense improwoment in the spinit and tone of the belfry chambers, and I hrust you will always be zealous when you are there to memember that you are wal holy ground, and nost af all know yeu will try yourselwes to obry the summons of your bells. There is something extratdinarily uureal if you make the beils speak uut a summons to worship and yout yonselves are heedless of it in youl own lives; somelhing strantu if you yourselves do not steadlastly and loyully obey it, if the voice of the bells does not hud a sure answer in your hatits and lives. So I congratulate you, and most of all I congratulate your venerable late secretary, to whom presently I hope to presens a token of gratitude for his service of 38 years. I wiah well to your ministry, and 1 pray that God's blessing may rest upon it. In these days so full of perplexities and indifercnee, lot me ask you to ling out with glachess and pride the joyful tidings of the urehangerl fath in the everlasting love of God. Led yant bells Sunday after Sunday proclaim the joyful Easter" message, "The Lord is risen nath He is in the midst of us," In falfilling vour great calling, wait upon your ministry with pride and thankfulness, and with the degp desirw to make it worthy of the glory of God

\section*{THE LUNCHEON}

Afterwards the big party were photographed it al group ontsite the Gathedral, and then proceeded to the County Hall, where they sat down to lunehoom. The Archbishop prosided, and was supporterl by the Mayor of Canterbinty (Rev. E. Gordon Wilson), the Rev. F. J. O. Femote, the Arehdeacon of Onaterbury, the Rev. ©. C. E.
 A. Young (hon. secretary of the Ceatiral Council), ollieinls of the Kent Association, and visitors from whler linging organisations. Altogether a company of 350 sat down
The loyal tatst hitving been honoured, Mr. F. Whita proposed His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishops and that clergy of the county of Kent., lie said it barl been the custom in connection with that toast to thank the clergyman who hat enonducted the serqice and given the address at their annual meeding. Custom was not to be lightly trified with. Tineir association whs formed fifty years ago by a meeting of clergy and laity held in that city of Canterbury, and the special object of the association was the cultivation of chage ringing and belfry refom. Fie vontured to think the association had thoroughly justified its existence (hear hear). Not the least of its achievements bad been to bring into claser touch the clergy and ringers, so that ringers were thow recognised as having a definite status as ohurolaworkers. Tluei- services and the skill and practice which those services demanded of therr were fully recognised by the inoumbenta througlout the counly. They received from them great kimbers and encouragement in finil wark. Many of the elergy were themselves clange ringers, notatily their dear past aneretary, Canon Helmore (applanse). They wnee in debted to the clergy for the opportunities given them for peal rimg ing and holding meetings, and for the holpful addresses they gave to them at those meetings, as well as for the hospitality that was often extended to the nembers. Fur all those kindnesges they ascorded them their most hearty thankg (applause). Thoy werc specially honoured on that occasion hy having the Arelibishop with them (applause). The Archbishop was not a visitor; le was their president; he was one of them; he came to them of a right, and they said to him, "Welcome, sir' hove is your place at our head " (applause). They felt that the Archhishop had done thern and the assaciation a gignal honour in laying aside for a short while the oremors duties of his high office and coming to give them so helpful an address, shaming their meal with them and performing the important duly which would shotly fell upon him. Never hefore in the history of any ringing association lad a meeting been presided aver by an Arobbishop of Canterbury, nud it would always be a proud boast and a happy memory that lite honour was first conforred upan the Kent County Assaciation in the city of Canterbury (applause). In the Kent County Association of Clange Ringers the Archbishop and clergy had a bouly of men who had tone, were doing, and would rondmue to do, their bust to carry out the purposes for which the associaton was formed. They weleomed the Archbishop among them, atd nssured him of their logalty and thanked bim for all he had donc for thern (applause).
'Ille toast was druak with missical honours.

\section*{T'FE REY. F' J. O. HELMORE'S ' DAY.}
'I'lee Archbislop, in replyirg, said the menbers lad atfended that day in larae numbers boesuse it was ihe jubilee of their associn-tion. Fifty years was a long tione, and it invested them with a certain stability and respectability, but bappily it did not make therm aid, and ha hoped they would merer allow themselves to grow stale, and Jnving becn allowed to readi 50 yeary they would become, as Huture years passed, yourser in their anihusiasm, theiy unity and thais devation to theil work. There had been a remarkahle inareake in ilicir numbers from something like 150 to about 1,000 praclising mombers in the county of Kent, and lie liked to think of that great body united in fulfiling what he bad elsewhere called their ministry in the Church and in the life of the people. He had, be couninued, no vight to speak ahout their art, He know nobling albint in, Fe ance or twice tried to makn a beginning, but as be Funtal min the first oceasion, and again on the sacond, and again on Hie thith, that his arms were mearly wrenched from his body, he nawisted in any further efforts, hut he was told that these were only i.hir Prolics by which they wero disciplined before they were ablo proporly to manage a bell (laughter). He liad often noticed how diffrult the act of ringing a bell could be when an incumbent, industad to hite carrs of a living, fried to ring a bell as a token to the parishioners that he had arrived and takin pussession. In order not Ib give awny the secrets of lis profession he would not reveal what he had oflen seen happening jn lhat connection (laughter). Somebimes the new incumbert was apparenly being carried up into the heavens inatead of being indneted tio more earthly things (langhter). H. Admised what the rimgers tould do, atholigh he must adrait there lat heen times when be liad not spoken so favounably ahont them as he then was. "There had heen moments when long posls had been rung in towers under which ho had beet living, when he could have wishod the diange riagers and ah thoir works in Jericho or anywhere olso (laughter). He was not sure that his feeling about them would not he somewhat different ahout half-past six that evening thay thay wero jusi at ilat moment (Iaughter), but at that moment If liad nothing except praise and gratitude for them.
Anober reason, continued the Arehbishop, why they wore there wis that it was Mr. Helmore's ' Duty' (applause). He confessed he was glat he was not in Mr. Helmore"s shoes-it would be difficult to rise Io the height of that great outasion. He eould only hope Mr. Helmore woald remember for the rost af his days the entire sincerity Hf the thanks to himn which he knew was in all their hearts. It was monarkable thing for one man as secretary to have guided their work for those 38 years. He became their secretary the ver yenr in which he the Archbishapl was ordained in the Church of (eorl, nud all that time Mr. Helmore liad given himself to their ser"They could have had no one more filtef to be their secretary fint he hat been for lifty years tannecled with the Mother Churoh, nan monld he a more fitting link hetween the art of music and the iall ol holtringing and worship than their secretary for these 38 years, the work he had done in the Cathedral, ami, that day, for all the Wurk he lad done for the associahoun. There was gnother gift which ho would ask Hr. Helmore to quccept, and in this respect hope phssed more into the region of eurtainty, for he was to ask him to teceive a supplementary gift of a case of pipes. If Mr. Helmore Would continue to nse these opportumities of solace, he would ensure contiont and happiness for is lolag tiane to come. Lastly, he had to present to bim an zddress, illumiuated suitably and thoughtfully, and, Hu' Wought, boautifully, and he wast ask Mr. Helmore to conceal his blushes while he read tho words (laughter). The Archbishop then read the address, which was worded as follows:-

Presented to the Rev. Fraderick John Ottley Helmore, M. A., by the members of the Kent County Association of Change Ringers, who desire to place on record their warm appreciation of his services as hon. secretary for 38 years, and of the high staudard of efficiency attainer by the association due to this loving care and devotion. In asking his acceptance of fluis testimonial, the members of the association expross tho hope that he may continue to enjoy good health and happiness, and assure him of their very cordial goodwill and afioctionate romembrances.
Turning to Mr. Helmore, the Arelabishop added that he had been proud to sign that address, as Mr. White liad said, as their head. It was signed also by oflier most suifable persons, includiag his reveren predecessor, whom they all wished to remember tuat day, Lord Devid son. It was also signed by Mr. Ryley, the trustees, the secretury and the six eistrict secretaries. He had very great pleasure in prosenting this address to Mr. Helmore with every good wish (applause).

MANY TOWERS STLLL UNAEFJLIATED.
The Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, who was received with tremendous anthusiasm, saict he did not know what to say ahout their gifts, except that lie did not expeet atuything of the sort. Fis wished to appear as thankful as he cotild to them for what they had done in this way and for the expression of feeling towards him. At the same lime he would bike to say that he considered it unneedssery, becauge the older monbers of the association at all events would remember that in the year 1907, at the nnnual meeting at Rochester, Dean Ernle Lane presented him on their bohalf witls a most clamming and most useful gift in the shape of a desk. That had beeu a great help for him in his secretarial work, so, bearing that in mind, be reall a great tribute to the work done by the six district semetaries of the association, whose efforls had gicaty lightened his duties, and one of them, his old friend Mr. Fred Mitehell, had taken his (the speaker"s) place. Judging from the experience of this year, he felt sure Mr. Mitclell would be able to carry on the work of the asso ciation to the satisiaction of them all. In an article which appeared in a recent issue of The Ringing World it was stater lhat there whe about 25,000 ringers outsida their associations and guild 5 wes for them in Kent to try and bring in some of them, and lie hoped the members would coaline withi the district seeretarics to induce outside ringers to come in and farm bands in the towns and villages. They wanted to extend the indlumee of their association. They had 106 towers in union, but there were 215 allogetuer in the county. That meant they had not got half, and even some of these ought not really to count as being affiliated to tine association, he asuse only one or two rilagers in the tower ware mombers. They wanted to improve upon tlat, and be felt sure that Mr. Mitchell ann wanted to improve upon that, and be felt sure that Mr. Witchen anm the district secretaries would be able ta do samething, but the sana hers mast not leave: il all to the secretaries. They should all pul their minds to it so as to influence others to come in and help in the work which they had been luying do do for the last fifty yans. 'I thank you all from the hothan of my hesrt," concluded Mr. Helmare, anid applause.
Rising again, Mr. Helmore proposed the toast of "The Right Worslipful Mayor of Canterhary, and referred to the fact that the Mayor was a beneficed elergyman, and that the three bells in the tower of his church had been recently rebung by Messiss. Meats and Stainbank, and that there had been some lalk of adding to them. As they respeced their Mayor, said Mr. Felmore, so they, as ringers, expecterl something from him in this matter, andi they hoper they would not be disappointed.

MAYOR SUGGESTS A BADGE.
The Mayor of Canterbury, in the course of his reply, said he did not see the possibility at present of getting any more bells for his cluurch. The thee bells had been hung in ball bearings, and, said the Mayor, they look samething like a magnificent new motor car in the belfry (latughter). Whether eventually they would be able to get n full peal he did nat know. Proceeding, the Mayor submilted the toasf of "The Kent County Association of Change Ringers.' On hehalf of Canterbury he welcomed them to the city, and congratulated them upon their jubiles. He hoper the work which thoy liad done during tho last fifty years would be continued as successfully during the next half nentury, and that the silent bells in many stenples of Kent would be restored by the efforts of Kentish cTergrimen (applause). Campanologists, said the Mayor, seemed to be slay peaple. He rather wished his Grace would found a badge to be giventoringers after so many years' service. He thought a great many more ringers would roll into tha association if they could get a badge for, Eay, a shilling, and he would be very pleased to desigu them a badge ant present them with the first 300 (applause). On belinalf of the ditizens of Canterbury, concluded the Mayor, he weleomed them as brethren of the Noble Order of Campanologists.

The Hon. Secretary reglied to the toast, and said that he belierea their gathering that day was one of the largest association mentings ever held by a single association. There were about 350 present, and among them were four foumbation members (applause)-Mr. Plilip Hodgkin, of Headearn, Mr. E. S. Ruck, Willeshorough, Mr, Slingghy,

West Malling, Mr. Josepla Waghorn, sen, of West Ham, who had been is life member of 45 years, was also with them. Looking been is the member reards of their progress anid Mr. Mitchell, he found hat in 1880 they tiad 156 practising members and 100 honorary memhers. In 1890 they had 456 practising and 142 honorary. They had today 970 practising and 80 honorary members. He wondered whether the falling of in hom. nembers indicated a falling of in the intorest in their work by those outaide, and he hoped the various bands would tey and get more honoravy members. They welcomed among them that layz said Mr. Mitchell, representatives of other ringing organiations, including Mr. E. A. Yourg, the hon. gecretary of the Ceutral Council, Mr. A. A. Hughes, of the College Yeulbs, visitors from rarious county associations, and the Editor of The Ringing Worlal.
MIr. Mitchell then read the report for 1929, which showed that the maber of towers it umion sud the number of members remained ahout the same, and there were the following balances in the various funds: General fund 5685 s .4 a , belfy repairs 8123 15s. 3d., benevolent 1242135,81 .
Before the husimess meeting began, the Archbishop and the Mayor took their departure, and the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore presided.
The report and balance sheet were adopted and the officers realected. A ballot took place for the eleotion of four Central Council representatives the Fev. F. J. O. Helmore vetired, and the vacancy was filled by the clection af Mr. F. Mitehell, the hon. secretary. The other three represemtativet, Messrs. E. Barnett, sen., J. F. Cheesman and T, Groombridge, sea., were elected, the unsuceessful nominees being Messrs. W. Haigh and T. E. Slone.
Mr. E. A. Young said that outside the walls of one association there was only ane body whicls could speak for the whole Exercise on such an ocrasion as that, and that was the Central Council of Church Bellyingers. It was the moutlipiece for the ringers of the country. Camon Coleridge, the president, had, as they all knew, recently been seriousty ift, otherwise he would bave been present to convey the gond wivhes of the Council and the Excreise to the Khent Gonnty Association upon its jubitee. In his absence, therefore, be (Mr. Young) desived, on his behalf and of the chureh belloingers throughout the coatury to offer the absociation felicitous greetirgs, to wish them "find-speed ' in their work, with the hope that they would go on for another fifty years. vote of fhanks to the organist and to the hon. secretary terminatenl the proceadiags.
In the evening further ringing at the Gathedial and other churches Inpotht to a close a memorable day, upon which all those responsible for its organisation, anti especially the hon. secretary, are to be heartily congtatulateri.

THE GROWTH OF THE ASSOGIATION.
In the fifty year:s of its history the Kent County Association has Lat only four geneval sectetaries. The Rev. R. Kuabelibuli-Hugessen wat eleated when the association was formed on Whit Monday, Mas 18ih, 1880. Fe remsined in office until 1889, when, having accepted a living in Sustex, he resigned and was surceened by the Rev. E. W. Carpenter, duriug whose secretaryship the area of the association was divided into districts. Mr. Garpenter gave up in 1891, and the Rev. F.J. O. Helmore was elected. His tenure of office lasted until 1929, when advancing years led him, much to the regret of the memhers, to resigh, and his wark was taken up by Mr. F. M. Mitelell. Gine humded and bifty lingers were present at the inangural moctiny, and the membership has steadily grown until there are now 1,350 life, honorary, pratesing and non-vesident members.
Pinancially the association is probably better off than any other ringing arganisation. Its invested futms have reached 8547 , Ruki this, logether with the lalances in various funds, amount ta over £880, the interest being mainly devoted to the belfry repairs and benevolent funds. Extremely useful work lias heen done with these latter funds. The Belfry Repairs Fund was starbed in 1895 , and since then 48 grants, amounting to 8163 2s, inave been makie to churches for the repair of belfries or the addition of new bells. The fund atill has a balance in hand of \(£ 123\). The benevolent fund, to assist aged and disabled members and memberg' widows, was instituted in 1913. Since that date \(\overline{\delta l}\) grants, totalling \(£ 11319 \mathrm{~s}\)., have becn made, alad There it a present balance of 514213 s . 8ct. to meot deserving cases. Tins strong and satisfactory financial position is in itself a testimony to the admirable management of the association, which is in the hands af a representative committee and the hon. secretary.

\section*{THE REV. F. J. O. HELMORE}

The almost ascidental circumstances under which the Res. F. J. (I. Helmore becano a ringer are interesting. In the year 1882 a company of amateurs applien to Demn Payne Snjith ior permission to learn to ring on the Cathedral hells. This the bean declitued 10 grabl unless they could induce oue af tho Cathedral clergy to superintemi theit practices, and he reconmended them ta apply to the junies minor canon. It was not until it had heou clearly pointed out that their chame of putling the Cathedral hells depended entirely upon his consent to join them that Mr. Helmore was prewailed upan fo touch a bell rope. For months those mnateurs attender a weekly practioe, but made very little progress, and by the spring of 1884 Mr. Helmore was so beartily sick of seramhling tirough a plain course of Grandsire Doubles that be wha preparing to give up all idea of becoming a change ringer. Forlunately, howevor, the then condactor of the Gathedral ringers (Mr. (i. Stanconbe) interested himself in one or two of the party, and by inducing then to practise with some of the Cathedral men, soon had then ringing Grandsire Triples.

Mr. Hemore rang his first peal at Fowersham on November 10th, 1884. He scoted his first peal of Stedman 'Triples with the College: Youths (at Bishopsgate, conducted by James Pettit) in 1887. His first peals of Stedman Caters, Double Norwich and Superlative were rang with the Oxford Diocesan Guild, in conjanction with the Rev. F. E. Rabinson and James Washbrook. The majority of tha Rev.

Mr. Felmore was clected president of the Cathedral oompany in 1885, and he still occupies the position. In July, 1891, he succeeded the Rev. E. W. Carpenter as general hoan. secretary of the Kend County Association, and discharged the duties of the affice with the utmost efficiency and suceess until, in 1929, after 38 years \({ }^{*}\) service, advancing age compelled hin to relinquish the work. In 1807 thr: members presented him with a handsome roll-top ilesk, with a sitver bell it the centre intemal panel, in recognition of his labourg for 25 years in the interests of the passociation.
Born in London on December 2nd, 1851, the Rev. 14 . J. O. Helmare celehrated his jubilee itt the mipistry of the Churelt in 1925. After being curate ath precentor of Holy Trinity (Shakespare's Church), Strat-fordon-Avon, 1877.78, he was appointed mizor Canon of Canterbury Gathedral, and became precentor of the Cathedral in 1883. THE \(18 \frac{1}{3}\) TON RINGING BELL, the Bovrdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at Riverside Cherce, New York, U.S.A
'The Church Bell Nuisance ' is not infrequently in the public eye in these days, through complaints ventilated in the press, and a handful of vocal objectors can give a seeming importance to a view which, in reality, is held by a very small minority of people. The 'other side,' the people who find no annoyance, or who like to hear the bells rung, are seldom heard, unless it is to correct gross misrepresentation, which protesters seem curiously inclined to make when writing about these things. It is distinctly refreshing, therefore, to find a spirited protest against the banning of church bells being made, not in the press this time, but in the public arena of the council chamber. Salisbury Town Council decided to sell to the Bishop of Salisbury, for the purposes of a church, a site on one of their building estates, and a few of the members endeavoured to insert a condition that there should be no bell ringing in connection with the church. The opposition developed mainly against the use of a single bell, one of the objectors remarking that he would not mind if the church had a peal of bells. Other speakers, however, ridiculed the suggested restriction, and Alderman Wort delivered a slashing attack upon the imposition of any condition with regard to bells. 'Considering the way some people now spent Sunday,' he said, 'they would not know it was Sunday at all but for the bells. It would be a bad day, not only for Salisbury, but for the world if they did away with bells.' The motion, even to debar the use of a single bell, was lost.

To those who are lovers of bells and who have an interest in the art of ringing, this debate and decision of Salisbury Town Council has a wider significance than the mere attempt to prevent the use of a bell in a church on a Salisbury building estate. It is an inciication of the spirit in which the people of this land regard their church bells. A few objectors may complain of their use and cynics may sneer, but the vast majority of English men and women would not lightly permit the bells of this country to be silenced, gad, as at Salisbury, would be quick and emphatic in quashing any such proposal if the question were raised in a way which gave them the opportunity of expressing an opinion. The real danger to the ringing of bells lies in the 'back door' methods which might at any time be opened for their suppression, through, for instance, a general and innocuous looking clause of an Act of Parliament, which gave power to some departmental chief to make any addition to a schedule of prohibited acts, by which bell ringing might be included (at the instigation of some crank or other), and become debarred by law before its inclusion was realised and there was time for legal objection to be made. The Central Council is fully alive to this risk and its Legal Committee has been kept in being largely to watch this matter. There is no risk of any law-made interference with bell ringing if it is left to the decision of the public, who, at heart, love to hear bells properly rung; but under the present system, by which a great deal of legislation is carried out by delegated authority, the views of an active minority can very easily become the law of the land, unless there is unceasing vigilance.

AMENDMENT OF RULE REGAIRDING PEALS
The annuml general mealing of ine Norwich Diocesan Association was held at Norwich of Easter Monday. The members began the day by ringing touches in various standard methods at the churehes of St. Peter Mancroft (12), St. John de Sepulchre (8), St. Michael at Coslany (8) and All Saints" (5). The exceutive committee held a moeting in the choir vestry of Sl. Peter Mancroft at 11.30 a.m. to consider an amendment to association Thule 10, to present to the members at the general meoling in the afternoon. This rule provides that peals shall only be recorded in the annual report at the cost, of the association if every ringer taking part in it lias pairl lits or her subscription either for the current year or for the prepious yem.
Divine serfice was beld in tho Church of St. Peter Mancruft at 12.30 p.m., conducted by the Rev. Hugh McMulian, M.A. (Viqnr). The address was given by the Ref. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, M[A. Rector of Watington, Norfolk, who said that the fascinatian of ringing was tlic perfeet combination of body, mind and soul-body, becanse you had got to train your museles and everything to l'espond to the need of the belfry; mind, because you bad gol to work with the team, and had to keep your attention the whole time; and soul, because it was done for a religions purpose, to call people to ginurdi.
The luncheon was served at the Bell Hotel, Orford Hill. The president, the Archeleacon of Narwich, was ir the chair, and among others present were the Rev. H. MeMallan, the Rev. B. H. TyrwhittDrake, Mr. P. E. Scwell, Mr. C. E. Borrott (vice-president), Mr. A. L. Coleman (general secretary end treasurer), Mr. G. P. Barton (hon, auditor), Mr. Denisoc Hayward (chairman, East Norfolk Rranch), Messrs. W. B. Duncan, W. J. Iee, F. Nolan Golden, muä̀ W. J. Eldred (branch seeretaries), and Messrs. J. F. Duffeld, W. L. Duffeld, W. C. Duffield, R. W. Gooke, W. Clover, J, Taylor, H. R. Heyhoe, C. J. More, C. T. Goodman (memberg of the committees), besides representatives from all parts of the Diocese of Norwich and from Sulfolk, making a total of 57.
The only toast was that of 'The Kinga' which was proposed by the president and duly honotured.
Then followed the business meeting.
The annunl report and balance sheot for the year endiug Decomber 31st, 1929, were adopted on the motion of the Vicar of St. Peter Mancroft, seconded by Mr. W. B. Duncan.

GOOD WORK SINOE REORGANISATION.
Mr. A. L. Coleman (goneral seeratary) seid that he would like to refer to the spleadid work that had been done since the reorganisation of the association into four bramohes. The scheme had only come into force this year, and they wore fortunate in having gead sectetaries and enthueiastic chairnen. Already this year eadh brand had held two mectings wilh one exception. The atterdances of members had bern above the average, and so also was the ringing. Anather good result of these mectings liad been the election of twenty-six new members. Hr. Coleman said he felt sure the association would appreciate the good work the branch secretaries had afready done in so short a time.
The Presideat said he had been able to help them as editor of the ' Norwich Diocesars Gazette, and had got Mr. Coleman to write an article for it about bells and belfries. Atl the clergy were supposed to read it, and he hoped they had noticed what Mr. Coleman liad to say. The article was so imporlarat that he would be commenting on it in his charge to the Archdeaconry of Norwich. He did not know that they lad always done their duty as regards the bells. The secretary thought that those who went to inspect lhe claurches--they had inspected forty enurches this year-ought to climb up into the belfry. 'Who is going to insure us, asked the President, 'and what sort of insurance is it to be? Some of these belfries are terrible places' (laughter). 'I have elimbed up a good many,' added the President, \({ }^{\text {and }}\) anye eren got amangst the bells; but as I get older I don't feel inclined to elimb, (langhler).
The president was re-elected with enthusiasm, the Vicar of St, Pater Mancroft, in proposing the Archdeacon, remaring that he wis the only ane who could possibly fill the positiont (applause). The hon seeretary seconded.
The Presideat, in acknowledging his olection, said he regarded it a privilege and honour to hold this office, which he thorouglny en-joyed.-On the motion of Mr. B. S. Thompson, secoaded by Mr. A. L. Coleman, the vice-presidents were re-elected with the addition of the name of the Rev. Hugh McMullan, Vical of St. Peter Mancroft. On the motion of Mr. G. P. Burton, seconded by Mr. F. N. Golden, Mr. Arthur L. Coleman was re-elected general secretary aud treasurer, tributes being paid to his enthusiastic work.
Mr. G. P. Burton was re-elected hon, auditor, Mossus. Charles E. Borrett, Arthur L. Coleman and F. Nolan Golden were appointed representatives to the Central Council.
It was resnired that Miss Hejen W. Bill, Mr. H. I. Heyhoe and Mr. James Taylor be efected to fill the vacaucies on the Exchative Committee, the remaining four being re-elected.

PEAL RINGEKS' SUBSCRIPTIONS.
The General Sceretary moved the rafification of three belfry elections and the elections of four new members. The Secretary than presented his amendment to Rule 10 , and said that it had been considered and passed by the Executive Committee at their meeting. After a debate, ju which geveral members took part, it was resolved to amend the rule as follows, after the word 'association': ' But no peal shall be admitied undess overy ringer taking part in it has paid his or her suluscription by January 7th of the year following the date on whicl the peal whs rung, conductors or organisers of peals to be held responsible for the due observance of this condition.
On the motion of 3ir. A. L. Coleman, seconded by Mr. G. P. Burton, it was resolved that standing orders be suspended in order that the amendment may become eftcotive from that day.
Mr. A. L. Coleman moved, and Mr. H. R. Heyhoe seconded, That the Branch Rules, as published in the Annual Report for 1929, on page 6, be confirmed. -The motion was carried.
On the motion of the Prosident, a vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar of St. Peter Mrncroft and to the incumbents of the churches of St. John de Sepulchre and St. Michael at Coslany and All Saints for allowing the use of their bells, and also to the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake for his address at the service. The Rev. Hugh Mediullan, in reply, said it had beon a great plensure for him to welcome them that day for the first time as the new Vicar, and he hoped it would not be the last, When they came to St. Peter Mancroft they would always receive the warm welcome they had always had. He hoped they would always look mpon it as the home of ringing in Norfolk. He had no technical knowledge of bellringing, but wancroft bells were to him a tremendous joy.
A surgestion by Mr. Ti. Nolan Golden, that the tablet recording that the first peal ruag by the association was in Redenhall Cburch should be renorated, was favourably received, and zeferred for further consideration. The peal recorded was 5,152 changes of Superlative Surprise Major rung on Tuesday, November 6th, 1877.
Mr. G. P. Burton moved a vote of thanks to the president, to which the Archdeacon of Norwich suitably responded, and then declared the meeting closed.
The members afterwards dispersed to the warious belfries for furlhor rimging uatil the evening.

\section*{A POOR GETY AND A POOR WORED WTTHOUT THEM.}

Salisbury Town Council last week decided to sell to the Bishop of Salisbury a site for a new church on Iand in Strationd Road. The Fand wha originally purchased from the Ecclesisstical Commissioners on favourable terms for a housing scheme. The price to be charged is \(\mathbf{x} 2\) per foot frontage.

An attempt mas made to make it a condition of sale that there should be no bellringing in connection with the church. Mr. Lemon, who propesed this condition, said no one objectex to a chime of bells, but some stimulation should be made when the land was sold that there should be no bellringing until a proper ohime was pravided. If they would do this he had no objection, but that a singla clang slould be rung for half an hour or twenty minutes before a service was an obnoxious thing.
Mr. Eudson said that, heving lived near one of these bells, he wanted to have a word on the matticr. The valuo of their properfy Would depreciate through having a church with such a bell nesr. It was new a peaceable part of the eity, but if they wore going to have a boll rung like it was at St. Mark's, he was quite sure folks would not go to live there. -Mr . Moore also supported the mocion.
Alderman Baker said that during all the 27 years he had been on the Council he had never heard such a vidiculous resolution. One of the traditions of the Ghurch was that there should be a bell to call people together, and he did not see why there should not be one.
Mr. Moore: If they would undertake to have a peal of bells I would not mind.
Alderman Wort said that he had been nearly 21 years on the Council, and he had never heard a more ridiculous stipulation. It was a good thing for everyone that on the Sabbeth day they slould hear the bells ringing, becatse, considering the way some people now spent Sunday, they would not know it was Sunday at all but for the bells. It would be a bad day not oniy for Salisbury, but for the world, if they did away with bells. Mr. Hudson had said that the property would depreciate by laving the bells there; lie thought it would be a big advantage. Some people had some mad-brained ideas in their heads, but he had no use for agnosticism, and sooner or later they would find there was only one Pilot in this world. It was all very nieg fon people to talk, but if they debarred a church from being built on the site, and deprived the people of having the pleasure of hearing the bells, it would be a poov city and a poor world.
The motion to debar the ase of the single bell was lost.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN "THE RINGING WORLD.
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to recaive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a colfection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

\section*{BELERY GOSSIP,}

The men who rang the record twelve-bell peal at Aghton-nnderLyme on Angust Brak Foliday creaked another record on Eostor Monday, when, meoting again, they were the first band to ring two peals of Cambridge Surprise Maximus in one day-one at Olithma and the other at Macelesfield.
The peal of Cambridge Maximus at Olaham was the frat * 5,000 ' rang in the method by Mr. G. Lindoff, although it must be ednitted that he had ample practice at Ashton-under-Tyne on Augusi Bank Holidey last!

On Saturday, Mr. G. W. Fletcher was elected one of the reprosentatives of the Middlesex County Association on the Central Conacil, and with Mrs. Fletcher creates a new record by theis heing the first ingtance of a man and wife holding sats together on the Council.

Mrs. Fietcher had some yeari ago made another record willa her「ather (Mr. James Parker) by their being the first father and daughter to serve together on the Council. Mrs. Fleteher represents the Ladies' Guild, and Mr. Parker is one af the representatives of the Royal Cumberland Youths.
The death has accurred at SLansted, Fssex, of Mr. George <ithys who was & ringer at the churuh there for over 80 years.

Having left the district, Mr. H. G. Fretwell has resignad tha secretaryship of the liast Derbyshive and Notinghamshire Aswacistion, and Mr, J. W. England, the Cormon, South Normanton, has been elected to fill the vacancy.
the bells of Broughton Pavish Chureh, near. Preston, are loing relung on ball bearings and a rope guide installed by Mr. Jms. E. Groves, of Birmingham.
Next Wednesday, May 7th, is the anaversary of the 10,170 of Keut Treble Bab Major rung at Foxearth, Essey, in 1888. Only two of the band naw survive, namely, Messms. John Lee, of London, nid Geo. Maxim, of Cheshunt, both natives of Foxeartl.
On Easter Mouday, in the year 1889, the Gloucester and Hristol Assachation ratg a peal of 15,227 Granesire Caters at Oheltenhas the conductor of which, Mr. W. 'T. Prtes, is still, after 41 rears, the active head of ringing affairs in Cheltenham tower. Most, if not all, of the others have passed away.
To-day is the 215th anniversary of the first peal of which there is any authentic record. It was a peal of Grandsire Boh Triples, rang at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, on May 2ad, 1715, anll the peal hoard is still preserved in the famous belfry.

On"May \(5 t_{1}, 1817\), a peal of 12,312 Grandsire Caters was ring at Painswick. There must have beon more 'long' peals rung in this famous Qloucestershire tower than Rnywhere.
Obe hundred and fifty years age next Wedneadry the first peal ( 5,040 Boh Major) at Harrow was rung by the London Youths, who included John Reeves.

Many happy returns of the day' to Mr. Albert Walker, Deputy ringing Master of St. Martin's Guid, whose birthdap is to-marrou, and to Mr. George Wilhams, Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, who will be 73 mext Wedneaday.

The peal of London Surprise, reported on page 243 of our issue of April 18th, was rung at St. Lawrence's Chturch at West Wyembe antil not ot Hughenden as sent to us.

UNVEILING OF PEAL TABLET AT ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE,
A permanent record of the 15,312 Gambridge Surprise Maximus, which was rung under the auspices of the Lagcashire Association by a mixed band at St. Michael's Church, Aghton-under-Eyne, on August Banf Holiday last, has been placed in the belfry at that church. The record is in the form of a handsome black marble tablet, framed in oak, with lettering in gold, the sime of the tablel being 42 juches Dy 24 inches.
The unveiling took place on Easter Sunday after evensong, when the mhole band were present, besides many members of the local society and an number of friends from the surrounding district. On behalf of the band, Mr. C. T. Coles requested the Rev. S. Lane to acospt the tablet, and the latter gentleman, in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar (Canon A. W. Thompson), then dedicated and umviled the record of the peal. Mr. E. P. Duflield thanked the Rev. S. Tane for taking the scrvice, and once mora expressed the gratitude of the band to the Vicar and churchwardens for allowing the peal to be rung.
\(26 \frac{1}{2}\) owt., recest and rehuug in ball Learings in 1923. Compared willz the previous task, this was easy, eud an excellent peal was ably conducted by that geod little man from Bradiord, Thod Jenkins. Tha thanks of the band atc especially due to Mr. V. Sykos (Oldham) and Mr. J. Norbary (Macclesfield) for having the bells and ropes ready.
Many old friends were mel after tho second pen, nmongat then being the Rev. A. T. Beeston, J. Fernloy, J. P. Fider, W. Madgwick, etc., and a pleasant evening passed all too quickly

Finally, the band desire to express sincere gratilude to Mr. Ben Tharp, Mr. S. 'Ibompson, and others at Ashton for the great help rendared in many matters that required attention on the spot.

\section*{THE MEN AND THEIR RECORDS.}

When the record peal was rung at Ashton-under-Lyne on Augast Bank Holiday, no opportunity occurred for the company to be photo graphed together, and within a few hours they were separated hy huadreds of miles. It, was, therefore, a particularly thappy and fortunate event which nabled ham to meat again is n complete band

A short tauh of 290 Cambridge Maximus was bhen rung by the long peal band, standing in the same order as they did in the peal.
The tablet, which was made by Mr. C. Mee, of 太proughton, is fixed over the doot of the belfry, between very similar tablets recording the Treble Bob Royal and Maximus records, and these three fablets form frting memorials of thvee great performances.

Needless to say, the band found it impossible to avoid peal 1 ing ing, and two peals of Gambridge Maximus were rung on Easter Monday at Oldham and Macelesfield respectively. The ringers were met at the former place by Mr. J. Mallalieu (churchwarden), who wished them success on behalf of the Vicar and his fellow-warden. The bells, which were recast and rehang in hall bearings by Taylors in 1923, are a very fine peal with a tenor of 35 owt., but a movement in the tower cioes not lielp to make ringing an easy bask, especially for the two 'heavy-enders.' However, Mesiers. E. P. Duffield and W. Pye Fept their bells well in hand, and after four hours' good ringing the bells ian into rounds shortly after moon. Hearty congratulations wore received from a large number of friends, and Mr. William Perkins, J.P. (who was treasurer of the restoration fund in 1923), kindly provided very welcome refreshment. Before leaving Oldham, a photograph of the band was taken, and is reproduced on this page.
Macclegficld was reached at 3 p.m., where Mr. W. Walmsley recelved the band. Here there is one of Taylor's best peals, tenor at Easter at the scene of their great achievement, and to be photographed. One of the remarkable featutes nboul the performance was the fact that it was not the zehiewement of youtl-as records usually are. Only one of the twelve is under 3n, ath only three others under 40 . One was oyev 60 and three others ovur 50 , the average age being 44.
Here are brief particulars of the outstanding individurl performances of the ringers:-
Edwin Jenkins (Hradford), treble, age 35, penls rung 323, conducted 122; canducted the 11,232 Superlative Surprise Major at Bolton and the 17,824 Oxford Treble Bob Major at Heptonstall.
Thomas B. Worsley (Bolton), End, ate 43, patale rung 206, conducted 36 ; rang in the 11,232 Superlative Surprise Major at Bolton and the 17,824 Oxford Treble Bob Major at Heptonstulf.
George R. Pye (Chadwell Heath), Jrd, age 57, peals rung 1,229 conducted 205; rang in the 15,072 Donthe Norwich Major at Frith, the 14,112 London Surprise Msjor at Kingrs Norton, the 11,111 Stedman Cinques at Birmingham, the 18,027 家tefman Caters at Loughborough, the 15,204 Bristol Susprise Major at Hormehurch, the 7,392 Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Bow, and the 70,440 caunbtidge Surprise Royal at Walthamstow; also has taken part in peals of 4 5, 6 end 10 Splieed Surprise Major nethode.

\section*{ANOTHER GREAT ATTEMPT AT PAINSWICK.}

Wembers of the Ancient Society of Painswick Youths and GloueesLor and Bristol Diocesan Association made another attempt on Fasloul Moaday for the twelve-bell record Iength. Evorything went will until nearly 12,000 changes had been rang, when the tenor man able to finish the full lengtr of the penl, which was 16,565 changes. He was asked to 'stick it for another 10 or 15 minutes, which he dit, with the result that a peal of 12,221 changes was successfuily rung in 8 hrs.

Alhough complete success did not attend the band's third effort to exceed the puevious langest length, this was a great attempt. Particulars of the performane will be found in our peal columns.

\section*{BRISTOL, BY GEORGE!}

As wilt be secu in our peal columon, the "Georges " were successful at St. George's Church, Southwark, on Sk. George's Der, in ringing George Lewis' composition of Bristol Surprise Major. General George "Bob" P. (who bad a quiet 'week-end" by spending Sumay at Ashton-under-Iyne, and ringing a counle of peals of Cambridee Maximus at Oldham and Macclesfield on Monday, and a peal Stedman on Tuesday evening) was provailed upon to call the peal ou Wednesday, Appointed times wore woll kept, for at 5.25 Mr. Spinks (steeplekeepor) was on the spot with everything in remdiness, and at meeting time, 5.30 , the whole band were prosent (and this on a week-night), ready for the start. The riugers came from Greenwich, Ohadwell Heath, Ruislip, Broxbourne, Clapton, Maidenhead, Sutton and Eufeld.
St. Gearge's tower which is the headquarters of the Metropolitan Police Guild (under Insp. W. Boturill) was very kindly placeri at the disposal of the 'Georges, the Folice Guild giving up ilrcir practice night in the Genrges \({ }^{3}\) favour. A letter to wish the band suecess was also received from the police 'skipper, who was provented by daty [rom personaly deliverimg it.

After the peal the band (less one who had to seamper for hins train) adjulared to the-but that is another question; it may bave been the George and Flagen-where a pleasane half an four was spent. Througla the mediurn of "The linging World' the 'Georgen' wish to thank Mr. Botbrill and his Guild for their welcome to the tower, and Mr. Spinks for completing an enjoyable evening by having the bells in excellent going order, everything in readiness, and anteting them bollh before and after the peal.

\section*{DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.}

A suecessful meeting of the Eastern District was held af Houghtrin-le-Spring on Saturdey, Apri] 19ih.
Ringing commenced about 2.30 p.m. with a short tonch of Feat Treble Bob Minor, and afterwards touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were brouglit coand.
Tea was served in the Fepier School, and a short mecting was held immediately afterwards, Mr. Burrett, vice-president, being in the chair.

Mr. Storey moved a vote of thanks to the clergy for the uge of the hells, and Mr. R. Parkinson, replying on behalf of the incumbent, said theil Vicar always welcomed the ringers to their belfry.
Mr. J. Wr. Park proposed a vate of thanks to the ladies for providing tea.
Mi: J. Brown, of Clester-Ie-Street, was elected a member of the association.

Mr'. Burneit, the vice-presitent, hawing moved out of the assmaiation's area to Kirkly Stephen, esked what sbeps should be tuken to appoint e successar. Mr. Parker held that he should keep the appointment until the anmal meeting, the mombers present heartily agreeing to that course being taken.

It was proposed to hold the next meeting at Jarrow on Saturday, Jane 14th.
Ringing was afterwards again indulged in, and the meeting proted great success, especially considering the inclement weather:

\section*{ELJGTYON OF A NEW PRESDENT}

The Middlesex Gounty Association and London Diocesan Guild hela their annual meeting at Fulham on Saturday, aud between 60 and 70 members attended. There was ringing on bath sides of the Thames in the afternoon, namely, at Fulbam (10), Hammersmith, Putney and Wandsworth (all eight-hell towers), and the ringing covered the whole gemut of the generally practised metbods. The service took place at All Saints, Fulbam, the preacher being the president-elect of the association (the Rev. W. P. Cole Sheane, Vicar of Twickenham), whose practicel address was much appreciated. He pointed out that in their association they were banded together is the service of the Lord Jesus Christ, and they should serve Him, not only by the skill with which they rang, but by the example of their lives. He cmphasised four steps by which they should seek to achjeve their objects, viz., brotherliness, regularity, discipline and charity and forgiveness.
Tea and the annual meeting took place in the Parish Fall, Mr. W. Pickworth (vice-president) being voted to the chair st the beginaing of the business. He was supported by tho Rev. W. P. Cole Gheane, Mr. ©. 'P. Coles and Mr. W. H. Hollier (joint hon. secreIaries), Mr. J. A. Trollope (vice-president) and Mi. W. Pye (Master)
Mr. C. T. Coles, at the outset referred to the loss which ihe association liad sustained by the death of theiv president, Mr. F. A. Milne, who was one of the founders of the association in the northern part of the county, out of which the present association grew, and who was their treasurer from the formation of the county associaiot in 1897, and president for the last six years. He did a great leath was a great loss to thear.
The members stood for a few moments in silence as a last mark respect.
Mr. Hollier then proposed the election, as president, of the Rev, W. P. Cole Sheane, Vical of Twiekenham, Rutal Dean of Hampton, and a ringer, who had promised to take oflice for a year.
Mr. Coles seconded, and satid he was sure the members would weleoms their new president and make him feel at home among them, so that he would consent to carry on for a longer period. Cole shmane, in reply, thanked the members, and said he agreed to alse the office for one year to give the members time to look round and find someone more suitable to fill the post. He felt stre there must be a number of perzons who could fill the offiec so much hetter, but he would do all he conld ta forward the interests of the hssaciation.
The president then naminated Mr. W. Pickworth as vice-president of the North and East District, and Mr. J. A. Trollope as vice-president of the Soulh and West District.

The report, which was taken as read, referred to the death of Milne, and gave a sketch of his connection wilh the Exercise d the Middleser Association. It reviewed the events of the past Year, recording a satisfactory attendanco at district meetings and mecessful joint meetings with meighbouring associations. "During the year," the repori continued, "we elected one honorary and 78 rigging members in the North and Eiast District, and 5 honorary Whese exceptional ligures, our total membership, which now stands at 839, has not greatly increased. There are, no doubt, many dificulties in the way of retaining members who lack enthusiasm, but we achan ulde upon locul secretaries the need to keep in touch with manking every effort to keep them in the asseciation. An entirely new hand has heen formed at Clerkenwell, and is receiving iuition, ao fur willa good restilts. The band at St. Ann's, Stamford Fill, has been considerably augmented, and is already making progress. We tegret, bowever, chat the band ut St. Olave's, Hart Street, has tian isuat. In all, 70 peals were rung, atang is of them being several moing of morte than passing notice. From a purely scientific standpoinl, the oufstanding performance of the year was the peal of Splicen Surprise Major in ten difierent methods rung at willesden an August 13th. The concentration of mental energy necessary to bring this peal to a successful jsstur was onormous, and it was not arcomplished until several attempts had been made. This peal had been preceded on March 19tin by one in six Surprise Methofis, both being tonducterl fy Mr. W. Pye, and the association can proudry point to having rung peals in four, five, six and ten Surprise meath in farious sumsing anything ctone by any othez society. First Meals marious methods by the association were rung as follows: Surprise Major at Willesden Trornaty 5tla and Doulle Norwid joart Roh Royal at Westminster on September 7th. Eight poiceSouthwark a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at St. George's, Poole, of Leicester. We coneratulato the being Det.-Constable H. J. nition of rapine a Surpe congratulate the Force on atitaining its amon the willesing a Surprise peal. The loath peal by the association formances, mention should be made of a perl of Bob Minor rung ul St. Anm's, Stamford Fill, on March gth, by Mr. T. G. Deal, nt the age of B1; and of a peal of Grandsire Triples at Pinner on July 6th, which was the first by Mfosstr. T. Humphreys and C. Lord, aged 67 and 72 respectively! Sixteen members rang their first peals, anil 68 rang new methods to peals. In all some 178 members took part in the peals, whici, with the exception of one on handbells, wero rung in 觡 different towers. Twenty-one members shared in the canducting. The paal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus rung at Southwark Cathedraj on June 15tls was the 1,000lh by Mr. W. Pye for the association.

As far as bell restoration work is concerned, Messrs. Gilleth and Johnston have recast the eight bolls at St. James', Clerkenwell, and have relung them in new fitings witll streugthened framowork. Clapper controls have been added to the treble, second, and tenor bells. The samo lirm have recently rehung the whole peal at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, and have rebuilt the iron fiame on now steel foundations. Messrs. Jolin Taylor and Co. liave rehung tho peal of eight at St. Mary Magdalene, Holloway, with new fittings. Mossis. Mears and Stainbank lidea rafited the eight bells at Heston in ball bearings, and have also added two trebles to the existing six at St. Olave's, Hart Street, the old bells being relung witin completely new fitings. This firm also have in hand the rehangine or the bells at St. Lawrenco Jewry, E.C., and St. Dunstan's, Stepney. The fund which is meing raised for the augmentation of the isleworth bells now stands at a total of £140, and further subseriptions are earnestly solicited.

Congratulations were extenderl to the Rov. A. H. F. Boughay, an esteemed viee-president, on abtaining his jubilee in the presiderey of the Cambridge University Guild; to Mr, H. A. Barneti, of Totenham, on reaching his 50th year as a ringer at thot church; and to Mr. W. Webl, of Fiachley, who in 54 years has not missed ringing in the New Year in his own tower. The failing bealth of Mr. T. Beadle is still a matter of concern. A practical method of showing sympathy for him in his long illness resulted in a sum of just over f20 being forwarded to him from his many friends, throngh the hou. secretary of the Soullw and WTest District.
'Sincero thanks were tendered to the many members who lava acted as instructors during the past year. This work is of the utmost importance, and members able ta assist the assoeiation's officers in this respect should get in toucl! with the hon. secretaries, who would be glad to find them something to do to help forward the progress of the nssoctation. The invaluable services rendered to the association by the joint hon. searetaries were also neknowledged. A great deal of their work was done silently and unseen. The members could best show their appreciation of their efforts ly supporting them at association meetings and by prompt payment of sulbscriptions.
In moving the adoption of the report, Mr. Coles called attention to the excellent way in whiclı it had been printed by 'The Ringing World." He had been able to find only one error in the whole of the 58 pages, and thet was a coman in the wrong place (langhter and applause). He aiso called attiention to the reprint of the report of tho Central Council's Committee on the Iaw relating to clurch bells, ringing and ringers. It was \(n\) most valuable report, and was drawn up by three legal gendemen-theis late presidont, the Recorder of Lincoln, and Mr. D. W. Irwell.
The report was adopterl, as was also the balance shect of the central fund, which showed reacipts amounting to \(8242 \mathrm{2s}\). 11d., and expenditure 523 5s. 6d., the balance of 529 3s. 8d. nt the beginaing of the real having been inerensed to \(£ 30\) Is. Id.
Mr. W. H. Seabrook, of Fullam, was elected a momber, sud the offivers were elected as follows: Masler, M1. W. Pye; hon. freasurer, Mr C. T. Coles; joint hon. secretaries, Messus, Q. 7?. Golos and W. H. Hollier; auditors, Messus. J. E. Miller and W. Eiekworth.

On the election of Central Council representatives, Mr. J. A. Trollope said the committee had gone into the question of the representation of the gssociation. They winted men for tho position who not only liad the time and were willing to sorve, but men of some standing, both in the association and the Exercisc. The committee, therefore, seggestea the election of Messrs. C. T. Coles, W. II, Hollier, W. Pickworth and G. W. Fletcher.-This proposal was it wns resolved that tho peal books and the bound volumes of 'Bell News' belonging to the association should be transferved from Actan to St. Gilos-in-the-Fields.

\section*{A MEMORIAL TO THE LATE PRESTDENT}

Mr. Coles brought forward a recommendation by the commitlee that a memorial to tho late Mr. Milne should be placed in Barnet Church, and that it sliould tako the form of a small brass. Il. could probably be erected very noar to the association's memorial in the same church to the earlicr president, the late Mr. A. T. King. The suggestian whs agreed to, and the carrying out of the project eft ta a small committee
The next business was 'discussian of the Central Council agenda.' Mr. Coles said he did not know whether it was lack of interest or not, bus there mere only two motions dawn. That did not mean that lhe Council had no business to transact. The most important (Gontinued in next column.)

\section*{WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.}

\section*{Mr. J. R. N゙EWMAN'S 25 YEARS' SERVICE.}

Notwithstanding a drab and cheerless day devoid of one ray of Easter sunshine, a goodly number met in the "Faithful City" for the annual meeting and service of the Worcestershire and Districts Association an Bank Holiday.
Bella at the Cathedral and various churches were in use, and at 2.30, instead of 2.15, the Dean (Dr. Moore Eide), as usual, occupied The clair, and the routine business was soon disposed of. President, vieg-presidents, lay viee-presidents, to whom was added Mr. W. Page, Master, secretary, Hreasiver, auditors, Central Committee, and Messes. R. G. Knowles, J, D. Johnson and H. G. Bird, Central Countcit representatives, were all elected. Mr. T. J. Salter expressed a desire to retire after 25 years consistent and faithful service, for which ho was thanked.
The report and balance sheet were also adopted. My. J. R. Newman the briefly reviewed the progress and work of the association during the last 25 years, as that day completed a quarter of a cenfury of his secretaryship. He gave the following comparisons: Numbbor of members increased from 313 to 578 , towers affiliated from 30 to 65 , annual report enlarged from 31 to 69 pages, and a credit balance of 28 increased lo the much more satisfactory figure of 9107 , at total of es living been subscribed during the past ton years toward the cost of rehanging, otc, at various towers in the area.
Mr. Newman, with that admirable, unostentatious, magazmimous unselfish and brotherly spirit, of which he is the very essence, thanked the office and rank astrid file of the branches who had loyally and unstintingly helped to bring about bitch progress. One noticed how feelingly he spoke of the many friends he bad made after coming among them almost a stranger 25 years ago Appreciative comments followed, and a suggestion which, it is hoped, will be executed later.

The sum of 810 was voted to flee augmenting and rehanging of the bells of Hinton-on-the-Green-a village of 200 inlabiants situated the vale of Evesham -from the belfry repairs fund. This War generously supplemented by an offer from the Dean of the callection al the subsequent service.

At this point, with half an hour to spare, there was a surprise when the Dean, with in hope of entertaining the members, asked Mr . F. E. Dame, of London, to give his aperiences of Worcester Catherial hells in the seventies. The Dean himself followed with a talk on the renovation of the tomb af King Jolson.
These two lat t points were unfortunate, and disappointment preswailed, seeing that two most important matters, namely, the newlyenastituted library by Mr. T. J. Salter and a discussion on Central Council matters, were not mentioned.
At the service which followed, the Rev. Canon Ghesslive gave an address from Eackiel ii. 5 and niterwards tea was partaken of at the Co-nporalive Cafe. A. F. P.

\section*{THE BERKSHIRE TWELVE-BELL FUND.}

The balance sheet of the Bork shire Twelve-bell Fund, audited by Mr. Arthur J. Wright, has been issued by the joint organisers, Rev. ©. W. O. Jenkyn and Mir. R. T. Hebert. The total subscriptions received umounicd to else 9 s . Jd., and added the this was fl \(78.2 d\). interest. the expenditure included £166 4 . on the two new bells, fittings and hanging, in St. Laurence's tower, Reading, and other incidentals amounting to 8810 s . Ed., leaving a balance of E 19 Is . Ltd., of which flo will be given to the Bell Restoration Fund of the Orford Diocesan Guild, anil the remainder, after deducting the coat of printing aud circulating lime balance skeet, to the churchwardens' special fund for the upkeep of St. Laurence's bells.

part of its work was the discussion of the reports of the committee, but the only motions of which notice had been given was that honorary mentors and the fourth representative member of an association should pay \(2 s\). Gd. per annam. At present hon. members paid nothing, and the association paid 5 , each for representative members. Ho hardly thought that was worth while discussing at that meeting, but that they should give their representatives a free band. -This was agreed to.
It was resolved to hold the next annual general meeting at st. James', Clerkenwell, with St. Giles-in-the-Fields as an alternative. Mr. W. H. Hemet made a suggestion that \(a\) joint meeting should be held, if possible, with the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Royal Cumberland Youths, and the London County Association. discussion ensued, from which it was apparent that members were in favour of such a meeting, if it could jive arranged, man it wat decoded to make inquiries among the other societies to ascertain their feeling in the matter.

Totes of thanks were accorded to the Rector of Fitham, Mr. Page and his mother, who had done tho catering and made pecticaily all the arrangements at Fultham for the meeting, the incurboats, tower secretaries and towerkeepers at Hammersmith, Wandsworth and Putney, to the president, and to bon. secretaries for their invaluable services during the year. The meeting also extended a welcome to Missis. Panther and Gill of the Barnsley Association.

\section*{THE LATE MR. J. F. C. BAYLEY.}

The death of Kr. James O. F. Beyley, briefly recorded in our last issue, removes a well-known figure from London ringing circles. Mr. Bayley, who was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, was for many years steeplekeeper at St. Giles, Cripplegate, where, when the bells were nat rung, he regularly chimed for the services. He was a born musician, and lad a collection of over 400 hymen tunes, which he played on the twelve bells. The music of these tunes he had written out by hand, and be played them strictly in accordance with the seasons and special days of the Church. His last performance was on Passion Sunday.
Mr. Bayley was formerly a partner in the firm of Smith and Bayley, printers, of Kennington, but retired some years ago. He was a Freeman of the City, a life member of the Guild of Fret men, and a great lover of old buildings.
He was a regular altar server on week days at the Church of St. Magnus-the-Martyr, London Bridge, and made an imposing figure in his robes.
Ho died, after only a few days' illness, aud was buried in tho Roman Catholic portion of Streatham Park Cemetery on Maundy Thursday. The Rector of St. Magus (Rev. Fines Clinton) officiaterl, attended by the crossbcarer, Mr. Greenwood, a grandson of Mr Samuel Greenwood, of Streatham ringing fame. The last rites were carried out with impressive ritual, and at the close of the service a party of ringers rang three whole pulls of rounds three times, and followed with a course of Stedmaz Triples un harebells.
On May Fth, Vespers of the Dead will be said at St, Magus Church, and at noon on the following day there will be a Requiem Mass at the same church, which will be attended by Wee family.

CHURCH BELLS AND FIRE INSURANCE.
From time to time there occur instances of the loss of church bells as the result of the destruction of the tower by fire. Happily, disasters of this sort are rare occurrences, but there has been the recent case at Eaton Sacon in Bedfordshire. The loss of a parish church through such a cause, especially when it is an ancient and beautiful building, is always a deplorable thing and very naturally arouses sympathy among churchmen throughout the country. The disaster at Eaton Socon was an almost overwhelming one for the parishioners, for the fabric has been reduced to a ruin. The bells themselves were not altogether destroyed but were very much damaged. The loss was referred to the annual meeting of the Bedfordshire Association, when, very naturally, the question of the restoration of the bells was uppermost in the minds of the ringers. The President (Canon Baker) said that the church was well insured, but if they got the whole of the insurance the restoration of the church to anything tike its former beauty would cost a very large sum.' He added that there was no immediate prospect of being able to restore the bells and the Vicar had told him that the bells were one of the last things that would have to be considered.' Why? Surely the bells should be considered equally with the other furniture and embellishments of the church ; they are valuable property and there is no real justification for passing over their restoration. The bells should be dealt with at the same time as all the other things covered by the insurance. We hope that when the scheme to restore the church is really in hand, the tower and bells will find their proper place in it, despite a present tendency to make the bells one of the last things to be considered.'

Presumably at Eaton Socon there was no special insurance of the bells. There is, we believe, no obligation on church authorities to do this, but it is done in some parishes and it is a wise provision. An authority on church insurance says, 'It is the paramount duty of Parochial Church Councils to keep the church and all its fittings fully insured against fire. It will generally be proper to insure different portions and articles separately.' If this latter direction were acted upon, when fire overtook a church, the disaster would not leave the bells one of the last things to be considered, and with the example of Eaton Socon before them, ringers would do well to urge, through their Parochial Church Councils, that the bells be specially provided for in the insurance policies. And this gives point to another matter of importance. If the bells are specially included, they are much more likely to be insured at their real (Continued on page 290.)

replacement value. In churches, especially those with old rings, the amount provided for bells and bell frame in the estimated 'over all' value of the fabric and furnishings is doubtless often only a fractional portion of the replacement cost, and where ringers are sufficiently alive to the importance of this question to raise the matter with their church council, it would be well, even if they cannot get separate provision for the bells in the fire policy, to ascertain whether the contents of the towers are in fact fully covered and to press for their adequate insurance.

\section*{WEDDING OF WELL-KNOWN RINGER}

On Easter Saturday a wedding took place at the ofd Farish Church, Luton, between 3ir. Augustin V. E. Good, well-known ringer, and Miss Eva May Hensbrey, of Luton. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very pretty in white satin, and was atteaded by three bridesmaids and a page. Mr. H. E. Good, of Satton, Surrey, brother of the bridegroom, and also a weil-known ringer, acted as besi man, whilst another campanologist was presant in the person of Mr. Wallace Good (the bridegroom's father), captain of the ringers at Charing, Kent.
As the bridal pair left the church, the bells were rung to the tune of Stedman Triples, and inter a peal of Double Norwich Major wns attempted (conducted by Mr. A. E. Sharman, of Dunstable), which unfortanately came to grief half-way through. After the ceremony nearly a hundred friends, including many ringers, attended̃ a reception at St. Paul's Chursh Hall, where the festivities were carried on till a late hour, when the happy couple left to take up residence in their new home at Homel Fempstead.
The bridegroom, who started his ringing career at Charing, and at different times rang at Dunstable, St. Peter's, Brighton, Apleley End and Heroel Hempstead, was the recipient of many presents from his ringing friends.

EARLS COLNE BELLS TO BE RESTORED.
The picturesque willage of Earls Colne was the scene of a very pleasant gathering of ringers on Saturday wcek, when upwards of 50 members representing 22 parishes attended a meeting of the Norlhern Division. Ringing commenced about 2.30 p-m., and was cantinued at intervals until nearly nine ofeck, during which time touches in various methods ranging from Bob Minor to London Surprise Major were successfully brought round.

A serwice was held at which the Vicar (Rev. O. L. Martin, M.A.) gave an excellent address, and Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the association, read the lesson. Tea was provided at the Duke of Wellington Inn, where 42 sat down.
At the business meeling which followed, Mr. Howard was supported by the District Master (Mr. A. A. Saunders), the district sectetary (Mr. F. Ridgewell), Mr. W. J. Neward (Districh Master, North-Eastern Division), and Mr, E. J. Butler (district secretary, Sohth-Western Division). Three new ringing members were elected, nud it was decided to hold a joint meeting at Great Tey on May 24th, also a meeting at Wetioerssield on June I4th.
My. Howard proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar and organist for their services, and remarked on the excellent address the Vicar had given. He was very pleased, he said, that they had paid anothor visit to delightful parish of Earls Colne, and the beantiful clurch. He was also pleased the Vicar had in hand the restaration of the church bolls, for he had no hesitation in saying the \(L_{\text {a }}\) apart from the loyalty to the Church, Earls Colne posseased one of the best companies of riggers in the diocese for their punctuality, high-class ringing and excellent striking- He nlso eppreciated the progress made at Great Tey. He was pleased to see one ringer, who was onity 12 years of age, ringing the treble, and he accorkn them a learty welcome as he did also some members of the Ely Diocese and Messrs. Novard and Butler.
The Rev. O. I. Martin suitably responded. He extended a werm Welcome to the ringers, and thanked Mr. Howard for the kind remarks he had made respecting bis ringers. An estimate for 8123 for the resionation of the church bells would be fecepted as soon as the funds were forthcoming, and he hoped that after the work was completed the ringers would do even better things. Mr. Nevard, is replying, said he rang two peala on Easter Monday. They had a mosi enjoyable time, but he thought they might have rung a third peal just to finish the day off.

\section*{PLESHEY'S OLD BELLS RESTORED.}

By kind permission of the Rev. C. H. B. Woodd, Ficar of Plasbay, Essex, six-scores of Grandsire, Stedman, Elain Bob, St. Simon'a ank Canterbury Doubles were rung upon the bells of the Church of the Holy Trinity on Seturday, May 3td, by the following members of the Essex Association: H. E. Hammond, O. H. Fioward, W. J. Nevard, L. W. Wifen and W. Keeble.

The bells, a ring of five, which have been recently rehung by \(\mathrm{Mr}^{\text {r }}\) A. Bowell, ate in excellent going order, but the tone gives one tho impression that they were intended for a ring of six, with the tonor jet to be added.
The 2ad and 4th are 15 th contury bells by William Dawe; tha treble by Miles Gray, 1620; the Jud was recast in 1752; and the Eth, weighing 12 cwt., recast by warдer, 1854.
Near the church are the zemains of a Norman fortification, now knowa as the Mount. It was from here that the Duke of Gloucester was decoyed from his castle to Trance and murdered in P'aris in 1397.

The montlily meeting of the Devizes branch was held at the Parish Clureh of SS. Peter and Paus, Heytesbury, on Saturday. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. G. L. Anderson), Mr. Targett being the organist. Twenty-seyel eat down to ten at the Angel Hotel, and at the short business meeting which followed Mr. C. D. Heginbothom. presided. He congratulated the people of Heytesbury on the work of rehanging the bells and referred to the condition of the belle a few years ago.-The secretary (Mr. F. Green) read a copy of the letter of sympathy sent to Mr. F'. Hervey Beams, of Bradpole, Dorset. assistant secretary of the Guild, and the reply received from Mrs. Beams.
On the motion of the chairman, a vole of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and conducting the gervica, to tho organist, and to those who prepared the tea.-The Viear, in reply, gave a hearty welcome to the Guild, and said how pleased the people of Heytesbury were to have the bells in good order again. He hoped the branch would soon pey another visit to Heytesbury, Tlie ringers, including Mr. A. E. Baverstock (Zeals St. Martin) and Mr. E. Coward (Mere), were present from Heytesbury, Aldhourne, Devizes St. John and St, Mary, Bratton, Melkslanı, Warmingter mul Rowde. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles Plain Bob, Kenti and Oxiord Treble Bob, and Cambridge Surprise Minar woro rung during the afternoon and evening.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about therm.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.
Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

\section*{MR. E. DENISON TAYLOR ELECTED PRESIDENT,}

\section*{CONDIITONS FOR PEALS.}

The anmual meeting of the Midand Conaties Association was hekd (by the usual rolation) at Bution-on-Treat on Easter Monday. The weather, which had previously been very boisterous and wet, did not prote too bad, consequently from an early hour quite a host of riugers assembled at the various charches open for ringing. Every district of the association's activitice was represented in force, viz. Burtont, Chesterfield, Der'by, Nuhimgharm, Hinckloy, Leicester, Loughborough and the Teak of Derbyshice. There were aleo weleone friends fom as fax distant as Bitmingham and Wellingborough, Dorc, Battesford, Groyton amil other places too mumons to mention. The bells of Buthont, St. Taul's (10), St. Modwen (8), Wiushill (6) and Rolleston-on-Dove (8) were in great demand, aum touches \(m\) al] sorts of methods mova of lass successfully rugg. The committee met in the afternoon in St. Paul's Institute to discuss and carry oul a very heavy programme of rotine and other business, and deliberated for over two hours on the various items brought forward. Hea was served at 5 p.m., at wbich well over 100 ringers and friends were present. The nhair was taken by the Vice-1'resident (Mr. Joseph Griffin), supported by the hon. treasurer (Mr. W. Walluec), the hon. secretary (Mr. Ernest Morris), the Rev. H. E. Worlhington (Rector of Seals), Mr. E. Denison Taylor (Loughborongh, Mr, and Mrs. Mears, the Iatter being the daughter of the former president (Mr. John W. Taylor, jun.).

Mr. E. DENISON TAYLOR,
Hiad of the Lowghhoraugh Bell Foundry, wha ban been elected Preatident of the Midiand Countios Acsociation

The business meeting followed inmediately after tea, and the viceprogident gave a brief yesume of the conmittee's deliberations before geing into full details. The general hon, secretary (Mr. Emest Morris) dad apologies for absence from Sir Percival Heywood, Bt. (son of the ate Sir Arthury; Prebendary A. Lowe, Vicar of Rangemone; the Rep. W. G. Clark Marwell, of Markeaton Hall; and the Req. W. Peter Wright, the squire of Eyam.
The report and balance sheet for 1929 werc duly pasaox on the proposition of Mr. William willaon, seconded by Mr. John H. Swinfiek, Mr. Willson remarking on the fact that itho working expenses nand prodnced a deficit of \(£ 18\), and urging members to consider this, and in means of altering this advelse balance. New mentbers proposed since the last meeting weve duly conframed, wiz, 23 ringing, 2 life and five honorary. The general lion. sectetaty here complimented the Derby logal searetary (My. George Freetrey) for his energetic work, especially in assisting him in distributing reports and circulars to hon, members, work formerly done by the late prosident, Alderman Chambers; also upon the fack that the five newly elected bon, members were ahl his (Mr. Freehrey's) work, and included the Right Fon. J. H. Thomas, M.P., Lord Privy Seal. It is loped that other local secrataries will note this, and thus do their best to get hon. memhers, whose support so lielps the association, both morally and financially. NEW PRESTDENT ELECTED.
The election of gemeral officers for 1930 was then proceeded with, and the Fiee-President stated that no nominations for president had been received, save that of My. E. Denison Taylor, whom they were all pleased to welcome. He himself had been approached on thu anatier, but Lu felt that as he resided en far out of the centre of the association's sphere, and was getting on in years, comeone more able zhould lake on the work. He, therefore, had graat pleasure in anHouncing that Mr. Taylor was elected to the presidency. Needless Lir say, this was receired with ncclamation.
Mr. T'aylor responded in at very tino and vigoraus speech, in whinh ho paid a great tribute to the past presidents of the M.C.A. First was the lev. J. Pish, Vicar of St. Panl's, Burton-ou-Trent, who was a gocal ringer and energetic worker on their behalf. Next came Mry. A. t. Heywood (afterwards Sir Arthur), whose great deods mot only for this association, but far ringers and ringing tencenlly, were widely known. Following him canm his (the spenker's) brother, the late Mr. Jolin W'. T'aylor, jun., who, not only as a balfounder, but us an experienced ringer and conductor, did great thinge for the art. Lastly caume the late lamented Alderman R. B. Chanberg, of Derisy, of whom il was safe to say he rased the association to its present strong fruancial postion more than any other individual, whether riuger or otherwise. Nuw he himself was chosen, and although to his mind an unworthy successor to a fine set of gentlemen, nevertheless he would do all in his power to follow their good deads, and gire his best efforto to furthering the interests of the association. Fe puikl a striking tribute to the original nembers of the association, alas, now growing very few, and welcomal at least three that afternom-Mr. S. Maskery, of Derby; Mr. 3. Jaggar; and their vice-president, Nry. J. Griffirs of Burton. IIt alsu recalled other mames of old and respected members, and paid a bribute to the services of the present officers, the treasarer, Mr. W. Wnllince, of Derby, who worked incessantly in the good cause, and dieit juinstaking and vigorous hon. secretary Mr. Emest Morris. To the hater he was indebted for much of his information, anl he knew him not only as a ringer of ability, but as an historian and archrologist at repute in other spheres outside the ringing association. Botlo MrMorris and he were members of the Aeicesterghire Acchaulogical Society. Mr. Taylor further urged all members to do their utmust fur the art and the association, as it was only by each individual"s uffort that they could maintain and carry forwari tho glorious heritage of the past, and thus make the association one of the best and foremost in the country.
The hon. Eecrefary (Mr. E. Morrjs) suid that as they had had a vicepresident on several occasions in the past, he proposed Jr. Taseph Griffin to that office.-This whs carmied unanimonsly.
Mr. Walter Wullace wha re-clected hon. treasurer and Mr. Fruesh. Morris hon. secretary for tho encuing year. As there were six manms proposed far delegates to the Central Council and four only yrequired for this office, a ballat was taken, which resulted in the following being elected: The Rev. R. P. Farrow (Stoney Stanion), Messis. Jolin F. Swinficld (Burton), E. Denisan Taylor (Jotighborough), william Willson (Leicester).

A PROPOSED MEMORIAL.
Regarding the proposed memorial tablet to the late presidentAlderman R. B. Chanhers, B.A., J. P. -the gencral hon. secretary had heen in communication with Mrs. Cbambers, who had selecterl st. Peter's, Derby, as the mast suitalle clutch in which this could bes erected, as lier late husband had been over 20 years olinichwarden there. A letter had also been veceived from the Vicar ami Church Council, gsking for fuller detalls before proceeding with tho selneme, and in the committee discussion on the mater it was decidad flat, a deputation visit St. Peter's, Derby, and fully go into the mator of material, gize, wovling, efe, of the tablet. Those selected wrin Messers. Griffin, Wallace, Morris, Weblh and Gockey, the first inree being the officers of the association and the two latter experts in their respective trades.
Places selected by the commitee for the next three quarterly meretings were Duffield (Junc), Bottesford (September) and Hínckley Janury, 1931). These were duly ratifiers Regavding the War Saving Certificntes belonging to the association, the lon. trensurer explajed that a communication liad been received from the solicitors of the entate of tho late presidenl (Mr. R. R. Chambers, who liad held game on trust) that a new trustof must he appointed before these could be transforred. The commitiee had, therefore, suggesten that Mr. William Willson, of Leicester, end Mr. W. Wallace, of Derby, be trustees, and the general hon. Eectetary was requested to get the necessary transfer made. This was agreed to.
Honorariums were granted to the general hon. sectetary and the eight local secretaries, but it was pointed out in the commiteo that these would have to be reviewed anothor jear, as the association had actually workol at a loss during the past year. The hon. transures askerl each local secretary to do his best to gather in all suluseriptions outstanding, as this would then put matters right.

PEAL BOOKING TEES.
Next arose the guestion of charging for the booking of peals and for printing them in the anmal report. Although not the first proposer of this, Mr. William Willson formally proposed that in future all reports of peals be charged at the rate of \(3 d\). per man per peal. He pointed out the deficiney in the associationts working funds and supported this measure as a means of getting extra monev, fund in this he was seconded by Mr. A. J. Farris, who contended that those who rang peals ought to be pleased to pay for the booking of them. Mr. W. E. Wlite also supported this view.

MLESENTATYONS AT A BRANGH MEETING.
The annual meeting of the East Berks and South Bucks Eranch, held at Farnhuen Royal, was quite a successful one, some dozen or inere towers being represented. An excellent address was given by the Rector (the Hev. A. F. G. Farmer) on the text, 'Quit ye like men." A photograph of the party, taken before sitting down to tea, has turued out a buecess, and copies will be available for those who reguire them.
A departure from the usual routine was made directly after tea, when the chtimman, on behalf of many friends, presented i hamdsome clock, with Westminster chimes, in mahogany case, to Mr. C. C. Mayne, and a pair of silver candlesticks to Mrs. C. C. Mayns, as a wedding present and mark of appreciation of gervices in tile past.Both the recipienta replied, thankirg their friends for this pleasant surprise.
Several interesting discussions took place during the businese meeting, when it was decided to invest some of the branch funds in the Ahtiey Road Building Society at 5 per centi, also to grant an honorarium of £2 per anmum to the branch seeretary.

The following officers wero elected: Chairman, the Rev. W. S. Ridflelsdell, M.A.; branch ringing master, Mr, TS. J. Fowler; secretary "and treasurer, Mr. A. D. Barker; and five repregentatives to aerve on the General Committer.
(ireat pleasure was expressod at the presence of the master (the Rev. C. W. O. Jonkyn), general secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert), and genrmal treasurer (Mr. A. J. Wrigbt), who congratulated the branch on shill further progress.

The proposal was strongly condemned by Messis. T. Vallayce, J. Frank Smallwoxi, M. Swinficld aud the general bon. secretary, each of whom emphasised the fact that peal ringers already paid for their penls, and often quite dearly, not only by travelling expensea, but hy postages and in making arrangements, and then the sending to the riaging Press and to headquarters.
The general hon. secretary (Eraest Morris) stated that he had rung more peals for the M.C.A. than any other individual member, and that lie conld honestly say that every one had cost several shillings an an average, and that the idea of penalising peal ringers by this catra charge was certainly not the way to get extra funds. It had ween said that all peals were rung for the glorification of individual ringers comprising the bands, but was not the essociation (as a body) prond of theis performances? Would not the ascociation's position be lest prominent without their fine peal records?
Mr, Walter White, of Cotgrave, spoke of the pleasure and pride will which the-ns a young ringer in the past-had read of the doings and peal records of tho great ones of the M.C.A. He conlended Lhat the best wy to get funds was not to penciise peal ringers, but ta raise the amual subscription, and issug a report to all members free. This was supported by Mr. Colit Harrison, who pointed out that this had already been successfully tried in another association.

I'ru discussion beceme so protracted that many members had to leave the meating to catch enrly trains, etc., and Mr. W. Willson finally withdrew the proposition.
Mr. W. E. White then brought forward two motions which had been discussed and passed in commitece. The first was : That each nck nowledred und recorded peal by tho associalion must comply with the following conditions
1. All peals must commence and finish with rommets
2. On five hells a penl must consist of not less than 42 true and somplete 120 's, each commencing and finishing with roundis. It may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 120's and for one shorter toncil fulfilling the above conditions.
3. On six bells a peal must consist of not lass than seven true and complete 720 's, each commencing and finishing with rounds. It may be lengthened by the addition of any mumher of 720 's and for one shorter touch fulfilling the above conditions.
4. On seven bells a peal must consist of not less thay 5,040 true and complete changes, commencing andl finishing with rounds.
5. On eight bells and upwirds a peal must consist of mot less thay 5,000 true and complete changes, commencing and finishing with rounds.
6. Splicing of 5 and 6,6 and 7,7 and 8,8 and 9 , etc., bell methods will not be recogrised in any peal.

\section*{ADDTTHON TO TITLE OF ASSOCIATION}

Mr. W. 13. White then proposcil that in future the full title of the association shall he "The Mitland Counties Association of Chame Ringers for lihe Dioceses of Derby, Leicester, Liclifield and Southwell.? This had met with the approval of the Lord Bishops concerued, and was carried by the members remaining.
Later in the evening further ringing was done on both tower and handhells andi a convivial hour spent 'in a select spat' and thus anded \(\pi\) very successful meeting, although to the committee and officers conmened a very tiring one!

\section*{THE KING AND WINDSOR BELLS}

LARGE GATHERING OF RINGERS AT REOYENIVG
The reopening of the bells at Windsor Parish Church on Saturday proved a great attraction to ringers, many of whom travelled considerable distances to be present on-an interesting occasion. Messrs. Mears aud Stainbank have had the bells at the fomdry, where they werc retuned. The old frame has been re paired and the bells have beell hung in entirely uew fitings. Not only do the bells now go perfectly, but a vast improvement las been cffected in their tone, and those who knew the bells before the restoration were greatly pleasad at the result. The work has cost about 5230 , which was traised largely by an appeal in the "Windsor and Eton Gazette and the efforts of Mr. E. R. Foreman (ohureth warden). The list was Ireaded by His Majesty the King and the Prince of Wales.
The bells were lirsf rung on Easter Day, when the Vicar of Windsor (the Rev. O. H. Hamilton) wrote to Lord Stamfordham requestiug him to inform His Majesty that the bells were complete, and that they had been used that day. The Vicar received the following reply:-
\text { Windsor Gestle, April 21st, } 1930 .

My Dear Vicar, Many thenks for your letter of pesterday, which has been read by tho King, who was so glid to hear the bells ring again yesterday. His Majesty heartily congratulates you on your successful undertaking for the restaration of the bells.-Yours very truly,

STAMEORDHAM.
The letter has been framed and liung in the belfry.
The dedicatios service was couducted by the Viear in the presence of a large congregation, and the dedicatory prayers were offered hy the Bishop of Buekinglam, who gave-a most appropriate address.
The visititg ringers were afterwards entertaned to tea at the Church House by the Ficat and churchwardens, and among those who were present were Mr. S. Oxley (representing the proprietors of the 'Gazette') Mr. J. M. Burme (churchwarden), Mr. A. A. Hughes (Whitechapel Foundry), Mr. J. J. Parker (the veteran composer and ringer, of Farubam Royal), Mr. Tom Benaey, of Stepney (one of the okfest menbers of the Gollege Youths), Mr. W. A. Cave amd Mrs. R. J, Wilkiths of Bristol, and ringers from St. Mary Abbot's, Kensingtor, Southgate, Greenwich, Watfonl, Poole, Harrow, Camberwell, Slowgh Staines, Shrivenham, Fillingdon, Boyme Hill, Old Windsor, Clewer, Beaconsfield, Bletelnley, Cooklaua, High Wycombe and other places, the number being about 80. Much to his regret, Mr. Churehwardeu Foreman was unablo to be present owing to indisposition.
The Vicar, after tea, woiced the thanks of the church authorities to the local Press for having made the restoration scheme possible, and to the bellfounders for the excellent way in which they had carricd out their work.-Mr. Stanley Oxlcy replied, and thanks were aceordsd to those who had kindly provided the tea, and to the J'ingers' wives who had superintended the serving of it.
The evening was spent in ringing touches in a variety of methouls on the bells, a notable feature of this part of the proceedinge boing the excellent striking which predominald. The arrangements wera eficiently carried out by Mr. L. Stilwell, who was indefatigable in securing the comfort and enjoyment of the ringers.

THF IMPROVEMENT IN NORTF COLLINGHAM BELLS
The North Notts Association held a very enjoyable meeting at North Collingham on Easter Moutlay, when ringers were present from Anston, Edwinstowe, Gamston, Sution-on-Trent, Ordsall, Wheatley, Worksop, Nottingham, Lincoln, Great Haie, Eagle, South Cailingham and the local company to test the beantiful bells, which lave recently been reluung on ball bearings.

After tea the business meeting was presided over by the Vieas, Canour Gould, who was acconpanied by Mrs. Gould, and the treasurer and secrotary. The Vicar, in giving a learty welcome to the association, remarked upon the recent overhauling of the bells, and said he boped that the ringers had fonnd a great inoprovement. No good ringing could be done before the repairs had been carried out.
The arrangements for the next meeting were left to the committeo to decide. The secretary said that it would, as usual, he beld as Fast Retford, and would be the 42 nd annual meeting. He hoped that ringers would try and make it a record gathering.
The following members were duly elected: Arthur Jessap and John Day, performing members from North Collingham, and Mts. P. Humphreys (Tolkingham), Mrs. J. Bray (Burton Stather), Mr. R. Richardson (Suvfeet), Mr. F. E. Collins (Forwood) as non-resident life members.
In proposing a wote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens, eaterera and local comnany for all the privileges and work that had been dore in making such an emorable diay, Mr. C. MeGniness gaid the ' go' of the bells was considerably improwed and an excellent job had been made of them.-Mr. C. Fowler seconded the motion, which was unanimously earried.
The methods runt were Plain Bob, Kent, Oxford and, Sandal Troble Bob, Stedman Doubles and Cambridge Surprise. Jilie probationary members of North Collingliam aequitited themselves admirably.

INSURANCE OF OKURGH BELLS AGAINST FIRE.
The Bedfordshire Association discussed several matters of importance at their annual meeting on Easter Mondny, when they met at Leighton Buzcand. There was ringing on the ten bolis at Leighton Huzzard and the eight at Linslade during the day, and after lunch, Crnon W. W. G. Baker (president) presided over tlie business meeting. Hxplajing why they met in Leighton Buzard again, the President said they lad hoped to meet at Bedford, and their hopes were raised when they heard that the bells of St. Paul's Cthurch were to be pul in order, but the wrork was not jet begun, although it was hoped that by another year the assaciation would bs able to resume their mectings thare. In the meantime, they were grateful to Leighton Buzeard for providing them with the next best place of meeting. It was not unditing, however, that they should come to that side of the countr, considering the history that had been made in the restoration of the bells at Tilsworth and the addition of a treble bell at Totternhoe. The association congratulated these parishes on the success of their effarts. The Diocesan Advisory Committee lad not bean able to prewent them doing what they wanted to (hear, bear').
The 47 th annual report of the committes etated that that year lad heen a successful one. There had been a slight increase, both in honurary and ringing members. The peals ruyg, however, were only 28, against 34 for the previous year, but a good feature was that a number of young members had rung their first peal. The association liad lost by death ita hon. audilor, Mr. F. I'. Tanqueray, of Woburn. He was one of the few members who had remained with the association since its formation. He conducted the fist 720 of Bob Minor evel rung in the county. Owing to lis departure from Bedford, Mr. \(\int\). Newington had had to resign from the secretaryship of the Bedford district. Mr. Bonnett, of Stagsden, had succeeded him. Two important restorations had taken place at Tilsworth and Totternhoe, where there were now rings of six, and both towers had keen bands of young ringers.

MEMBERSHI? SUBSORIPTION TOO LOW?
The balanee sheet showed a balance in hand of slightly over ese4, and Canon Baker ssid that when they started the association the Whke of Bedford gave them a donation of fe25. Nearly 50 Jears after they had still got nearly 225 in hand.
report and balance shoct wete adopted, and a suggestion by Mr. A. Markwell, that the merabers' subscijption of ls. Was too low and shouki be increased, was referred to the next annual meeting. On being re-elected president, Ganon Baker said there was no honaur he appreciated more, but if lie lived to meet them another year he would be 70 , and ik would be time to make way for some younger and more calergetic member. He was ringing in defiance of coctoris orders, to which be did nof pay much attention, but be was not able hake part in pesls now.
Tour viee-presidents elected were: Miss E. Steel, Bedford: Mr. A. King, Luton; Mr. C. Herbert, Wohurr; and the Rev. A. Rust, Husbore Crawley. Mr. E. Herhert was olected hon. auditor, and Mr, A. li. Slarman, of Dunstable, hou. secretary and treasurer, the Rev. A.
Rust paying a wam tribute to Mr Rust paying a warm tribute to Mr. Shaman's work. Canon Baker and 1 . Sr. Sharnan were re-elected representatives to the Central Counresigning fram the presidency of tha Central Council, owinig to advancing age. It was decided to send a meserge of sympathy to Cumon Coleridge in his illness.
When the place for tho nert meeting whs under discussion, Canon Baker said that Leighton Buzzard whis a alelightful place, but on the hede of a precipice imto anather county, whercas Becfford, apart from heing the county town, had an Admirable peal of bells. He proposed that the next annual meeting be leld at Bedford. Mr. J. Nicholls, of Leightan Buzzard, seconded, and the meeting agreed.
was decided to hold the summer meeting at Condingtan.
EATON SOCON BELLS.
Canom Baken referred to the disastrous fire at Eaton Socon Church, and sain that forlumately they were well insured, but if they got the whole of the insurance, the restoration of the church to anything like its former boauty would cost a very large sum. If the bolls were not altogether destroyed, they were very much damaged. They thad been taken down for safety, and there was 10 immediate prospect of being able to restore them. The Wicar told him that the bells would be one of the last thinge that would have to be considered. Fie did net know whether it would be possible for the ringers of Bedfordshire, not ouly the mentbers of the asseciation, to do what they could by Sma! subseriptions, spread over a term of years, to help to cet these bells rehune. If they could organise some sort of a sulbsoription from rimgers in the county, anything they could give would be very warmly appreciated by the Vicar and Churchwardens, and would be earmarked for that purpase. It miglit resalt in the bells being got to work again Syoner than they otherwise would. Fie would undertake to communisome smiall sum. it ang over the county to sae if they cauld not raise Eome small sum. It was an owerwholming disasier for tho people of Faton socon, but on the day after the fire the Ficar jeceived a letter from on gentleman expressing sympathy and enclosing a cheque for ciation might try and imitate.

Mr. Markwell suggested that the appeal be made e dionesun aftair, and Mr. Sharman was iur favour of collecting carde in whel tow"r. A subscription fram the azsociation was also suggested, and in the ond it was decided to Jeave the matter in Canon Paker's hnids.
The Rev. A. Rust thought that church insurance nolicies should stipulate separately the thing coveral by it. At Husborne Crawloy they lod insurced their bells definitely as such, and it sloould he done in cvery palish.
Mr. Sharman asked whether it whe the duty of the Rural Dean or the Archideacon to see that the bells were insured.
Canon Baker replied that it was the duty of the Parochial Church Council.
Mr. Sharman said the bells slould not be allowed ta git into the condition some did. It shauld be compulsory to keep belis as much in repair as the fabric. At Caddington the wheels were lociken, and it was a distrace to any church.
Mr. King : It's a bird's paradise (laughter).
Canon Baker said they could not now compel people to spend money as in the okd days, when there were clureh rates, and when the elaurchwandens were ordered to levy a rate and die the work. Since the abolition of church rates, this was no longer possible. That was why there were ruined churches in Bedfordshire. He thought the suggestion that bells should be adequately insured an adnirable one. Mr. Shaman recalled that when the tower at Totternhon was burner? out the bells were rehung as pazt of the restoration sclieme, and nolhing was heard about hem being provided for separately.

\section*{SUGGESTED REVISION OF DISTRICTS.}

Mr. Sharman raised the question of revising the districts. He said there was a very wisle area in the county that needed 'roping in by the association. There was a wide area all round Ampthall whore there was no change ringing, and be wondered whether the asseciation could not form a small committee to re-group the county. There were three districts of Biggleswacle, Luton and Bedford, but there wns a wide area uncovered, and they did not know whose district is was. Cauld not the comity be re-formed on the rural deanery system?
Miss Stcol said it was understood that Ampthill, Manden and Flitwick were in the Luton district.
Mr. Sharman adided that they were out to extend chango ringing, and this was an opportunity to do it.
The question was referred to the committee.
The mecting closed with a vote of thanks to the Viears of Leighton and Linslade for tha use of the church belfries, and to Mr. J. Nicholls for making the errangements for the visit.

\section*{YORKSHIRE ASSOCLATION.}

\section*{WARM WELCOME AT HEDON}

A general meeting of the Yorkshire Abeaciation was held at Hedon, near Hull, on Fagter Monday. A boisterous and Etormy week-end hat the effect of substiantinily reducing the aticndance as the gatiaering. Hedon is situated five miles from Hull, and the magrificent Parish Ghurch of St. Augustine is a tribute to its former commercial importance. Dating from 1185 A.D., the church has cathedral-like proportions, and its elaborate and brautiful examples of styles in various periods of arelitecture emphasise its claim to be the 'King of Hoklerness,' as the inhabitants proudly proclaim. The tower contains a splenclid new ring of cight beils (lenor 17t cwt.), and their beautiful tone and perfect "go' mdd yet another laurel to the famous Loughborough F'oundry.

A meeting of the commitite of the association was held in the early ufternoon, following which the general meeting was held in the neighloming sehoolroom, Letters of apology for non-attendance were received from the president (the Rev. C. C. Marshall), Messie. A. Walker, H. Halkswarth, G. Lewis und F. Clark.
Mr. Arthur Moorly, of Hedon, was elected as a member of tho assaciation, ful a most lienrty vote of thanks to the Vicar of Hedon, the life. E. H. M. Ainslie, M.A., for so kindly granting the use of the Eplendiit new ring, was moved by Mr. P. J. Johinson, and eeconded by Mr. F. G. Sherwood.
The Vicar of Fedon, in reply, said how delighted be was to have the visitors at Hedon, and niso how gratified ho was with the admiration which the new bells excitel. In a passing word to his own new young inank, the Vicar urged flem nover to forget that they were part of tho church organisation, and to let that thought urge them to give of their best to clange ringing, and let their example be a warthy ons for others to foliow.
Mr. S. F. J'almer proposed a vote of thanks to the lecal company and the ladies for their kind arrangententa. This was seconded by Mr. J. Lpwsen.
In racy replies: Messrs. C. Drescher and G. B. Newton gave promise of great things in the ringing world, and bade the senior mombers look to their laurels in the near future.
An invitation to hold the next meeting of the association at Calverley in September was accepted on the motion of Mr. S. F. Palmer, secondeal by ML., W. Middleton.

A bountiful tea, served in the same schoolroom, was greatily appreciated by some 40 members, thed the reply to a vote of thanks by Mra. Drescher, of Hedion, proved the village capnble of protucing excellent speakers, in addition to eathusiastic ringers and first-class cooks.
Ringing continued in the tower until a late hour, many of the local young band being piloted through their first plain courses and touches, and their great keenmess is an earnest of brilliant achjevements in the future.
This account would be incomplete without a reference to a warm welcame at the church by Alderman Allan Park, and the menary of this delightful wiliage, the magnificent cluurch and the wholelearted welcone will long remain a pleasant recollection with all those who attended this meeting.

\section*{WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD \\ \\ PONTSMOUTH DISTRICT.} \\ \\ PONTSMOUTH DISTRICT.}

A very surcesful mocting was held at Hambledoa (the birthplace of cricket on Saturday week, the glorious weather attracting nearly 40 ringers luring the nitcernoon and evening from Bramshott, East Meon, Polersficid, Fortsmonth (St. Mary's), Hambledon, Sheifield, Swanmore, Titchfield and visitors from Ryde and Beaconsfiekd (Bucks). By kind parmission of the Vicar, the peal of six were swailable for ringing, and at the service, conducted by the Rev. E. B. Maynard, in the unaroidable absence of tie Yicar, owing to ill-health, the Guild's new form was uerd.
Tca ab the New Inn was followed by the business meeting, at which the Rev. E. S. Maynaxd presided. Tlirec new members from Hambledon unkl two from Titchfield were elected.
It was decided ta hold tho nest meeting at East Meon on Saturday, July 194h, and a mreting for combined practice at Curdridge on Satumblay, May 3lst, due notice of which will appear in "The Ringing World.'
Votes of thanke were accorded the Rev. E. B. Mayaard for his kindness in heirk present, ancl also to the lady who presided at the orgnn. This coneluded the meeiing, after which a further visit was paid to the tower, where touchcs were rung, comprising Grandsire and Stedman: Doublos, Plain Bob and Treble Bob Minor and Cambridge Surprise.

\section*{WINOHYSTER DISTIRCT.}

A mecting of the Winchester Distriet took place at Alresford on Saturiay. Ringiug commencad on the ring of eight bells at 3 o'clock, and wes followed hy a service in the church, conducted by the Ficar.
Tea was prepared at the Swan Fotel, to which, however, 14 only sat down. Members present were from Winchester, Bishop's Sutton, Titchfield. Overton, Micheldever, King's Somborne and Alresford.
After the business meeting, the memhers paid a visit to Old Alresford Church, where there is a pretty ring of six, which were utilised for an hour, and a mave whs then made to Bishop's Sutton, where there is a ring of fise bells. This brought to a close a very enjoyable afternoon and evening

\section*{THE DEVON GUILD.}

\section*{A LEAN PGRIOD.}

The position of affairs in Devon was discussed at a meeting of the East Deron Branch at Axminster on Easter Monday. The matler was rafsed by Mr. H. Skinzer, of Honiton, who called attention to the articles which had appoazed' in 'The Ringing Workd,' and inquired if any answer could be made to the criticisms.
The President of the Guild (the Rev. E. S. Powell) saicl the Guild was going through one of the lean periods that occurred in the affairs of every organisation. The position was one that required cansidelation, but there was no need for alarn. The Guik was undoubtedly in slack water. Duriog the war bands were broken up. Afterwavis they increased enormously. Now the number had declined and there was a certain amount of reaction. There had been a slight setbnek, not only in the East Devon branch, but every other branch. Before the war there were 37 bands, of which not more tban were practising change ringing. Last year there were 54 bands, of whicla 44 werg practising change ringing. lihat comparison was not indicative of decay.
Mr. G. C. Woodley (of Sidmouth, and late of Talaton) said lis thought a little more lard work onglit to be pat into thie Guild as to create enthusiasn, or the competitive ringing connected with the Devon Association would canse bends to lapse from the Guild
The President: I don't think it will affect change ringers as a whole. A band here and there may drop out, but you will not find maly change ringers going back to "stoney.
Mr. Skinner : How many towers are there in Devon?
Tha President: Of towers possessing from five to eight bells there are about 300 .
Mr. Skinner: You Lave not got many in the Guild, then?
The President: No. Scientific change ringing is a matter of glow growth, and towers devoted to it are always diliticult to increase. Time after time I have had bands, including young men who are sick of round and call change ringing, writing and saying they want to take up half-pull ringing, but they bave been miles from any Guild centre and could not get instruction. The only way in which you will get change ringing throughout the county is to push out from ahange ringing parishes into round ringing parishes. The menace to the Devon Guild is supposed to be the Devon Assciation. That associstion now only possesses 70 towers, although it started five years ago. I don't beligve there is any great enthnsiasm for competitive ringing, even among round ringers, but branches must do everything they ean to arause enthusiasm and to pret in more work for the interests of the Guicl. It is a job not for one or two, but for all.
The Rev. E. S. Powell presided over the meeting in the absence of the rev. L. Stallard (Ottery), who was re-eiected chairman, with Mr. J H. Godfrey (Otlery) as hon. secretary and treasurer. Sidmouth was chosen for the next annual meeting, onl Faster Monday, and Feniton for a district meeting on September 17th. Hearty thanks were nerporded those who assisted at the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Teer. F. H. Satders), who also gave an address, to the branch officars, and the local tingers.
Ringing took place at Axminster and other towers during the duy-

The maetings of the Cleveland Ascocintion go on from success to suceess. The meeting on Easter Monday at Robin Hood's Ray was Frifed by all who atteuded to be another triumph for the associntion. Thirty-four members and friends sat down to diumer, and the lowers represented jncluded Darlington, Stockton, MiAdlesbiruugh, Ortmeslyy, Sharow, Whitby fad, of course, the local tower.
The peal of eiglt were kept going in Plain Bob, Kent, Grandsire and Stedman from early, till about 6 oclock at night, and everyune had their fill of good tinging, the perfect striking of most of the touches being a feature of the meeting.
Tho younger members of the association were well representel both by the local band and the visitors. One young enthusiast cycled from Sharow to Robin Hood's Bay, some 60 miles; such is the enthusasm for the associetion.
It was a good meeting: the weather was not too favourable, but the hapay spirit which peryaded the whole of the gathering marle up for the shortcomings of the weather. Another success! Now for bumper mecting at Northallerton on Whit-Monday!

\section*{A LEAD AND A CHALLENGE.}

There were many matters discussed at the annual meeting of the Midland Counties Association which made it an important one, but probably the question of most farreaching effect was that which resulted in piacing on the minutes definitions with which all peals must comply in future before they will be acknowledged and recorded by the association. This is at once a lead and a challenge to the Central CounciI. The actual rules laid down differ little from those of the Council, but the differences are important. Into the merits of these differences we do not propose to enter on this occasion, but the Midland Counties Association give a lead to the Council by showing that a settlement of disputed points is desired among ringers and by demonstrating that there is no valid reason why the question should not be determined-not necessarily on purely scientific lines but on lines which meet with the views of the general body of the Excercise. Those views may change later, and, if they do, the rules can be amended accordiggly. The Midland Counties Association knew what they wanted and they have laid down their regulations accordingly. At some other time the members may think it desirable to revise these requirements, and when that time comes they will not, we imagine, besitate to do so. Rules of this kind are not like the laws of the Medes and Persians-unalterable. They should reflect the highest standard which ringers are prepared to recognise. The Central Council could settle their definitions on precisely the same grounds. Last year they got rid of an awkward question on the subject of peals of Minor and Doubles by iuḑefinitely deferring it.

And here comes the challenge. If the Council is not prepared to settle such questions - and it is to promote uniform recognition and acceptance of decisions on points of this kind that is particularly the Council's businessthen the associations are going to settle these matters for themselves, and in doing so they will diminish the authority and prestige of the Council. The Midland Counties Association decided to set up their own definitions of what shall constitute a peal before they will recognise it. These definitions differ in certain particulars from those which now exist in the rales of the Council and if other associations follow suit, there may well be set upa number of varying codes for peal ringing. The difficulty of the Council's position is that, while it has a set of definitions it winks at breaches of its rules, because a section of the Council is not satisfied with the code as it stands. There ought to be only one standard for peals throughout the Exercise, but unless the Council faces the situation, the action of the Midland Counties Association may be followed by others and much that the Council has stood for in the past may be lost. Every association has a right to say what it will admit as a peal, but the whole aim since the Council was founded, nearly forty years ago, has been to unify these various views. It would be a pity if at this stage the Council let slip their recognised authority because, while waiting to see which way the cat jumps, they decline to tnake up their mind upon the present requirements of the Exercise.

PRESENTATION TO LEWISHAM DISTRIOT SECRETARY
The puarterly meeting of the Lewislam District was held at Dortford ar Satarday, May 3rd. Touches in all the standard methods were accomplished during the afternoon and evening.
The Vicar (Rev. Lempriere D. Hammend) offefated at the rervice and gave a very interesting addiress based on a plarase in the assacintion prayer.
After the service the memberg adjourned to the Clarch Fall to partake of a substantial spread, generously supplied by the Vicar, who occupied the head of the table, supported by Mr. A. Koyes, churcliwarden.
The Vicar welcomed the company to Dartford, and afier a chort, witty speech, presented the district secretary (Mr. A. G. Fili) with a handsome canteen of cuilery, the gift of the members to mark Mr. Hill's recent marriage.
After a short but sincere expression of thanks and agreealife surprise by the recipient, the business meeting procecded, ihe Vicar presiding.
One xinger was elected a member of the association, and the election of three members in the tower before peal attempts was corsfirmed.
Mr. E. Barnett, jun., (district representative) read a roport or ihe proceedings at the committee meeting held at Canterbury on Eastar Mondsy. This was adopted, and a vote of thanks to Mr. Barnett for an able report was accorded.
As the place of next meeting, Eynsford was most favourdi, Tharningham being chosen as an allernative should calering diffeulties prove insuperable at Eynsford.
Mr. W. J. Teffies moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Viar for the use of the bells, for conductilig the serviee, fot his peverous hospitality, and for presiding at the business meating.-Tho Viear asked Mr. A. Keyes to respond on behalf of Dartford. Mr. Kcyes did so ir a few well-chosen words, ending with an invitation to the association to visit Dartford again in the not too distant futare.
This concluded a successful and well attended meeting, made more enjopable by the presence of Mr. F. M. Mitchell, the general gecretary of the association. The tower was then visited for further ringing.

\section*{MUSICAL ASPECTS OF CHANGE RINGING．}

FEATURES OF COMPOSITION EXPLATNED TO MUSIGIANS．
＇Some musical aspects of change ringing＇is the titile of an in－ erestina and instructive article by the Rev．F．Ll．Edwards in a recent issue of the＇Masical Slandard．＇After dealing with the dis－ linctive features of bell music and briefly describing the rules and restrictions which govern methods，the writer says：－

But while change ringers make it their object to ring a definite aumber of changes according to the rules of a particular method without ropelition，they are by no means contont to achieve that object without regard to the musical effect．The number of per－ mutalions that can be produced on a given oumber of bells is simply a question of arithmelical pragression．The order in which those changes shall be produced is a matter for the composer，first the composer of the method，then the composer of a touch or peal ac－ cording ta the rules of that method．Great care atid remarkable ingenuity are erercised in composition to obtain the most musical Wfects．Changes ending，for instance，with the Lonic at the bottom of the scale preceded ar followed by the leading note above are avoided as fax as possitble．Indeed a general principle is adopted of avoiding wide intervals，other than the sixth or octave，and keeping the deeper toned bells in juxtapasition，thus maintaining the tradi－ toonl character of ecolesiastical musie．Naturally，when all the permutations obtanable on a giver number of bells ave to the rung， efen the lenst euphonous sequences have．to be included；but it is jusp here that the composer exerts his ingenuity to the utmost，in separating tho less musical changes from one anoiher by considerable intervals，an as to relieve the ear of any succession of unpleasing effects．＇

It is naturally to the practical bellringer that the science of change ringing chicfy，appeals．＂saps Mr．Edwards at the close of his article， －but the musical aspect of it presents so many points of interest， that any muaician，without any such practical experience，might find it quite a fascimatig study to make himself acyuanted with the rules of one or two methods，master the principles of composition， and tinen endeavour to work out peals or＂toucles＂containing the Fnlest proportion of musical effects．A professor of mathematics has are now found the subject of sufficient interest to co－operate with a committee of change ringers in working out some of the technical pachlems involved．It mity well be that the professional musician may likewige find interest in co－operating with the change ringer in the production of melonious sequences，to the mutual satisfaction of hoith．\({ }^{1}\)

\section*{LEARNERS AND DISTRICT MEETINGS． \\ A YORKSHIRE EXPERIENGE．}

Dear Sir，We often read in＇The Ringing World＇of secreiaries of associations and district societies bemoaning tho laci that their meetings are poorly attended，and is there any wonder that such is the unse，for the way some meetings ate carried out is onough to dishearten any learner，no matter how enthusistic ho may bey My experiance at the meeting I nttended at Rotherham on Eastor Mon－ diy was that woless you gan ring the advanced methods，such as Lovion Surprise，Gambridge Royal，etc，it is no use speading tho time sud money to go．I was there over two hourg，and the ring－ ing I got was ta pull a bell up and have a short touch of Kent Royal（which came to grief），and the rest of the timo was spent waiting until the higher methods were done wiit．Someone sug－ gested＂Double Norwich，＇but this was soon turned down，and the hand contented themselves waiting for more to turn up，and re－ marking that there dinn＇t look like being many there．Howevor， there fins a fresh arrival，who was evidently welcome by the recep－ tion he received，as be had only to get his coat off，pick up his rope， and＇Go nert time，Cambridge Roynl．＇That satisfied mo that my roan was preferred to my company，and I disappeared，regretfing I had spent so much time at a ringers meeting．
I learat afterwards that I was not bino only unlucky one．Another member of our band，after waiting two hours for pull，had docided to giva it up as a bad job，and was preparing to leave when ono of the local band asked bim where he was going．To this he promptly replied，＂Hame，as it doesn＇t look to be much use staying hero，but he was persuaded to stay，and eventually he got a touch or two after waiting hours．Now，Sir，is there any wonder that youlg members will not attend meelings？I have frequeatly asked our members to go，but they say it is a waste of time and money，and when you can hear of those who do altond not having is pull at all， and athers waiting for hours for it，my only fear is that，if this treafment of learners continues，in twenty years＇time our art wil have ceased to exist．I think this is a mateer that should be care－ fully considered by those responsible for argauising meetings，ete． who should aee that someone is in charge to arrange fin tha game privileges to be meted out to the rearner ats well as the expert，
Trusting you will favour me with space in your columne，and thanking you in anticipation，yours faithfully．

S．HARRISON
Secretary，Conisborough Parisly Church ringers．

\section*{FEATURES OF A SOUVENTR ISSUE.}

The one thousandth issue of "The Ringing World," which will appear next Friday, will be a noteworthy event in the long and chequered history of the ringing Press, which bogan in 1871 with ' Ghurch Bells, \({ }^{\text {a }}\) and has seen three other ringing journals, includiug Bell News,' established and disappear,
We intend to make our one thousandth number warthy of the occasion, and in this we have had the kind co-operation of the president of the Central Council, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Mr. T, Armiger Trollope and Mr. William Willson. All these names are known wherever ringing literature is read.
Canon Coleridge, although still only in the convalescent stage after his recent serious illness, is, with characteristic kindness, going to redeem a promise made some fime ago, and write on Forty Years of the Central Council.'
The Rev. G. D. P. Davies' active touch with the ringing Press goes back to the early days of 'Church Bells,' and he will contribute an article on the influence of ringing papers on the Exercise.
Mr. J. Armiger Trollope will deal will the way in which technimal questions, leading to the general advance of the art, have leen furthered by the aid of the ringing tewspapers.
Mr. William Willson, who contributed to the first number of "The Ginging World, \({ }^{\text {B }}\) will take a look back and deal with his subject in light and shade.
Several photographs, inoluding a picture of Canon Coleridge, will itlustrate the issue, which will be enlarged for the occasion, and will be one which, as wo have pointed out before, ringers will most certainly desire to keep.
There are many who follaw ringing affairs who only share a copy of the paper. Next week, we feel sure, everyone will want a copy to bimself. Unlesg these extra copies are ordered CO-DAY, through a newsagent, or by TUESDAY NEXT from the Editorial Office of 'The Ringing World,' there may be disappointment. The edition will be imited, and there can be no reprint. The price will he \(\mathrm{K}_{\mathrm{l}}\).

Regular readers will render us a service if they will bring this announcerment to the notice of non-subseribers. We intend to make the 1,000th issue a "bumper" number; will ringers help to make nur circulation next week a record?

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

Many of our readers will be interested to know that Messrs. Johal Taylor and Ca., of Latughborough, have in hand the recasting af the tenor bell (approximately 20 cwt .) of Limerick Cathedral peat of eight.
A young band is being formed at St. Lawrenee Jewry, where there is the heaviest ring of eight in the City of Loudon. Mr. A. A. Fughes has undertaken to instrust them.
It was at St. Lawrence Jewry that the first recorded peal of Court Bob Major was rung. This was by the Ancient Society of College Youths, and is recorded in their peal buok as a peal of 5,040 Courb Bob, being the first lint was ever done.'

Thurstans famors four-part peal was rung for the lirst time on May 18 th , 1846 . It was the outcome of yorrs of effort to find the parfect peal of Stedmun, and there was the keenest rivalry amang composers of that day to get a peal with two singles only. The honour fell to Thomas Thurstans, of Birmingham, ant Henry Johnson called it for the first time at St. Martin's Church.
On May 18th, 1883, Sam Waod, of Ashton-under-Lyne, called the peal of 16,608 Kent Treble Bob Major at Nottram-in-Longdendele, Cheshire.
The south-west fower and the ring of ten bells at York Minster were destroyed by fire on May \(20 t h, 1840\).
Next Wednesday is also the anniversary of the 13,054 Stedman Caters rung at Cheltenham in 1888 , and of the 12,675 Stedman Cinques at St. Saviour's, Southwark, in 1923.
Thursday is the 3 Ist anniversary of the 17,024 Donble Norwich Major, at Kidington, which the late James Washbook called.
A peal of Grandsire Triples, at Grundisburgh, on April 12th, has been reported twice. Only one peal was rung.
Mr. S. Rowsell, of Staple Fitzpaine, has not missed ringing at his tower on Easter Sunday for 52 years.

\section*{BOYS OF THE OLD BRIGADE.}

Last week Mr. William Ireland, of Diss, Norfolk, celebrated his 78th birthday by ringing in a peal of Double Norwich Major. Mr. Ireland, who is an original member of the Nowich Diocesan Association (founded 1877), conducted its firgt peals of Bob Major. (Mareh 6th, 1878) and Kont Treble Bob Major (March 19th, 1879). He also called a 7,296 and a 10,272 in the latter method in 1880. which remained the Treblo Bob record for the association until it was surpassed on June 6th, 1892.
Another Diss veteran, Mr. John Souter, took part in Mr. Treland's birthday peal. He is in his 80th year, and is looking forward to laking part in an attempt to raise the association's Double Norwich record, which at present stiands at 11,040 .

Messre. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, have just completed che recasting of the bells of Banbury, Oxon, and have turned tho old ring of eight into a lighter peal of teu.
Late in the year 1928 the bells were condemned as unsafe and ringiag had to be stopped. The restoration needed much anxious consideration an the part of the church authorities owing to the unusual construction of the tower, which is circular in plan. Ono of the defects of tho ofd peal was that, in order to get all the bells into a round tower, they had not been properly hung in a complete bell-frame, but were hung upon baulks of timber, some of which abutted directly on the masonry of the walls, on which they exertad a detrimental thrust. It wrs, therefore, decided to adopt the castom, practised in some towers, of hanging the new peal in two tiers. Mr. Ernest Ravenscroft, F.R.I.B.A., one of the diocesan surveyors, who has had an very large caperience of belfries and towers, had been appointed the architect to suporvise the relranging of the Banbury hells, and after he had in-epected tho tower and the plan of the two-tier lyell frame, he conflemmed the proposals. Although this experlient is quits aceptable in towers the rasanry of which is equally substantial throughout their lieight, the thrust of the upper tier would, it is said, have come in the Banhury lower against a portion where the louvre openings render the masonry weaker.

Tho Church Council had severa! anxious discnssions on the matter. The alternatives wore to replace the present pal of eight, with two bells recnst and such retuning as the varying nnture of a mixed peal would render possible, with a new iron frame and modern fittings; or to recast the present peal with one of the semi-tanes and a new treble bell into a lighter ringing peal of ten bells, all of which could be hung on one level. The latter course was eventually agreed upon by the Council, and Messrs. Taylor produced a plan which the architect and the Diocesan Adrisory Committes approved. The Chancelloy of the Diocese granted an amiended faculty on November 1ith last and Messrs. Taylol were given instructions to proceed with the work. Although the bells had been with them sinee June, they hat, of coturse, beel unable to move, evel with the preparatory work, as thu Wo schemes under consideration were widely diferent.
Excepting the new treble, the belk have been recast, from tho old metal, and the identity of each bell has, therefore, been preservedt, and the original inecriptions on the individual bells have been retainet. Two bells pattake of a memarial character: Mr. T. H. Boote and Miss Boote hay given tho new tweble bell in memory of the late Mrs. Boote aud the Misses Dorothea and Clarico Boote, and tho oighth ball has been givon in memory of tho labo Mrs. Sarah Carter by Mr. George Carter, her husband, and his family and her sister.

ANNUAL MEETING
The proceedings at the antual general meeting of the Sussex County Asiomialian at Brighton, on Saturday, May 3rd, commenced witht ringing at the Lowers of St. Peter'3 acd STL. Nitholas' from 2 till 3.30 , nud a good propurtion of those attending the mecting-over 80-was in aticndance from the commencement. AL foul oclock a special service was hold at St. Nichoms' Church, conduched by the Fiear (the Rov. H. Collimson). The Bishop of Lewes (one of the viee-presidents) gave the address

Yois have n privilage that in not given to the conductor of a band, nor la flamous singer'; Hot' etwen to atreacher. The sound of your work is heard, but you rembin litden, said tho Bishap. He degeribed change ringing as a gcience and an art when required entire usselfighness. 'Change ringitng itself,' he added, 'requires great skill, memory, and endurance.' It was a work they could mot do properly, however, wilhout remembering it was a spirikul work. It was ihe sight of litile villages, with their churehes and spires, that made the beaty of Suasex. The church spires were the first things one noticed in any town, and they appealod to the tendorest fraits in the hurnal heart. The spires wore built to holai bells, and England whs a bell ringing island. The bells were bound up with the family social and undional lite of the country, and, inded, it was a wellknown fact that in Russia, when they wanter to put down the social Life of themantry, ihe first thing they did was to silence the bells, You cammot compare the band or orelestra with the music of the bells," he added; "hut it is not bells generally, but church bells, which apponl to the heark. I think there is some wonderful mystery in the bells, fas as soon as tike sounds finat over the country they assimilate themselves with the surroundings
The collection on belali of the Benevolent Fund amounted to \(E 1\) 2. Efl.

A meat tea was provided at Morloy"s Pavilion Restaurant, at which Lhe Bishop of Lewes presifed, but was unable la reanain for the meetimg which followed. The Masler, Mr. J, Thoment Rickman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Bishop far his presence with them, also for hiss address.- The Bishop stuitably replied.
The Masier prosided at the business meeting at whinh the followmé new members wure elected: Mr. S. E. Armstrong, Good Shepheri, Brighton; Mr. J. Woolgar, Hurstpicrpoint; Mr. A. Bleaciz, Mr. A. F Thapley anri Mr. T. E. P. Pavey, Steyning

A SOUND FINANCIAL POSITEON
The proport showed that the warious aclivities of the association had hem mmintained. The standard of ringiug wes satisfactory, and the attendnice at the various divisional meotings was fairly good. One particulnyly pleasing feature was the large proportion of young men alithoso finctions. The hope was expressed that some of them would betin to wondnef peals of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major, especially its the conaltry parisless The association contioued to remain in a sound furneinl posifion, due in a latge mensure to invested capital. The halance in handi was sles. The appreciation of the essociation was expressed to the clergy of affiliated towers for their generous support. In return, the association mentioned thet in cases where anvice was required as to the contilion of exisling peals, or of new work, they were prepared to place capable and expericnced men at Lteir gervice. The report appealed to its merabors to make Sunday anrvice ringing their first object. Fifly-thee peals were rung during 1929, Which connpated favourably with the past four years.

The following officers wre clecterf: President, the Right Rev. G. K. A. Boll, D.D.; vice-presidents re-olected en bloc; Master and hons. Lreasurcr, Mr. T. Thornton Riekman; hon. general secretary, Mr. A D. Stone; hon. peal seeretary, Mr. F. Hennetit hon, zuditors, Mr. W.

\section*{THE INSURANCE OF CHURCH BELLS. \\ \section*{To the Editor.}}

Dear Sir,-In your timely leader on Insuranc: in this week"s issue "The Ringing World ' you say: 'If the bells are specially ineluded, Lhey are much more likely to be insured at their real replacement raiue.' This depends a good deal upon how recently the policy was issued or revised. It must be remembered that the price of everything has risen considerably in the last lew years, and that in the case of tatal loss there are not many things that could be replaced al what they cost twenty years ago.
n zevising the poliey on our cliurcin and its contents here we requested the advice of the bell founders, organ builders, and clock makers; and in each case we found that the sum for which the items insured was little more than late what we should have to pry replacement in the cvent of a total less, though the policy was not very old.
It is ciear that it is not sufficient to have the belis specialiy included in the insurance at their cost price; the policy must be lrought up to date.-Yours faithfully,

GARSTANG PARISH CHURCH BELLS RESTORED.
Thero was a crowded congregetion at St. Helen's Parish Church, Garbeng, Lanes, on Easter Sunday afternoon, when the bells were rededicated by the Lord Bishop of Blackburn.
The bells have been retuned and sandblasted and rehung on ball bearings wilh ali up-to-date fitionge, the work having been carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Jahnston, of Croydon, who were represented at the opening by Mr. J. W. Trappitt, who had hung the bells. The restoration of the bells is only part of an extensive church The towor was erected so far and belfry also undergoing repair. The tower was erected so far back as the 15th century, and from recent investigations it was discevered that some of the massive oak hanng were suffering from the ravages of the death watch bectie, which is causing much havoe to many old and historical buildings in various parts of the country.
On the occasiou when the bells were rehung a hundred years ago they were yung all day by ringers from Preston, Blackrod, Croston, Leyland, Ribchester and Walton, and on Easter Sunday the oid tradition was muintained, the local ringers being assisted by represematives of the Preston Branch of the Lancashire Association. The opening touch was rung by the local ringors, while after the service 720 Kont Treble Bob Minor was rung by members from Penwortham, Leyland St. James', Preston, and Brindle.
Thin service, which was simple and impressive, was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. C. F. Hood, while the Bishop gave an inspiring naderess.
Tho ringors present expressed their appreciation of the improvement bath in the tone and ' y 0 ' of the bells.

NEW Treble dedicated.
An impressive service was held at St. Nicholas' Church, Withernsea, on Wednesday evening, May 7hi, when the dedication of the new trutule bell, which completes the ring of six, took place in the presence of a large congregation. The bell is the gift of the Withernsea branch of the Girls Friendly Society, and is inscribed:-

> LAUS DEO.

\section*{THE WITHERNSEA GiF.S. GAVE ME. \\ FEB., 1930.}

The service, which was fully choral, commensed with the singing of the hymn, 'We love the place, 0 Gad,' After the lesson and collects, the choir, churchwardens, clergy, crossbearer, and the Bishopproceeded to the base of the tower, where the dedication ceremony was performed by the Right Rev, Bishop Heywood, who pronounced tho dedicatory prayers whilst holding an extended rope of tho new bell.

Immediately after the dedication, the new beli was rung alone sir times, and then the full peal of six were rung in rounds for a minute, the congregation standing. The processional hywn, Lifteri safe within the steeple, how our hells ate set on high,' was then sung, whilst the choir, clergy, and Bishop returuen to the chancol. In an eloquent address the Bishop commended tho work of the G.F.S. in giving sueh a valuable addition to the chutel, and algo paid a glowing tribute to the arti of change ringing, whicls showed he was 110 stranger to the bolfry. After the sermon, the bymn, ' 0 worship the King' was sung, followed by the Blessing and the recessional hymar, 'Cone, let us join our cheerful songs.' After the service, the congregation werb invited to ascend the lower to the ringers' room to sec the bells heing rung, and about it hundrerl availed themselves of this opportunity. Touches of Bols Minar, Grandsire, and Bob Doubles, were rung by the local ringers, with friends from Sutton-on-Hull, the following taking parl: G. Dowling, M. Dixon, 7'. Sheppard, C. 'Tomlinson, E. E. Taylor, P. 3. Metcalfe, J. Pickering, S. Webb, A. E. West, H. Rodmell, L. Rodmell, and Misses N. Dalton and W. Webh.

The tower was revisiterd at the close of the business, and the belts kept going in various mothods until 9 p.m.

\section*{THE MASONIC PEAL AT COLERNE}

By kind invitation of Brother A. Prince, several of those taking part in the Royal Arch peal, rung at Coleme on April 24th, were the guests of 'Roynd Albert' Edward' Lodge at the Masonic Hall, Bath, ou the previous evening. After witnessing a ecremony exceptionally full of interest, they were entertained to a sumptuous repast, anad during the course of the evening the Worsinipful Master referred to the presence of the 'Campanological Brethren,' nud wished them good luck in the effort to establish a fvesh record. Tho clerical member of the parly contrihated to the harmony of tho proceedings with a folksong.
W. Bro. Northover, replying to the tonst of 'The Visitors,' referred to interesting points of contact bowween Masonry and tho Collega Youths.
The Musonic peal book was produced by Bro. A. A. Hughes for the inspection of the brethren, who regarded the illuminated entries wilh great admiration. So keen was the interest aroused in the forthcoming attempt that some of the Bahi Masans motored up to Colerne the following day and listened to the peal.

IREPRESENTATJON ON JIOCESAN ALVISORY COMMITTEE RO BE SOUGHT.
The annual meeting of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild took place on Sturday, April 26ut, when there whs a good muster of members from all parts of the cliocese, as wall as of vigitors from adjoining counties, By kind permission of the Dean und Chapter, ringing commenced at the Calherral at 1.45. This allowed a good number to sanuple.' the peal of twelve before service time at 3.30 , when the ringers assemblod in the Morring Clapel. The address was given by the Jev. Canon G. W. Jeadwine, Sub-Dean of Lincoln. Immediately this was over, all those present crossed the oave to the Ringers Chapel, inder the south-west tower, where the Right Rov. E. M. Blackie, Bishop Suffragan of Grantliam, dedicated the memorial tablet erectod to those members of the Guild who lost their lives in the war. About 100 members and friends gathered for tea at the Co-operative Hall.
At the commencoment of the busincss meeting, the Sub-Dean (Canon Jeudwine) was elected president of the Guild and took the chair. The other ofliecrs were re-eletted, namely, the Rer. H. Law James, Master; Mr. F. W. Stokes, hon. secretary; and Mr. T. F. Linley, hon. treasurer. Four representatives on the Gentral Council woro also elected, namely, Rev. H. Law James, Rev. H. T. Parry, Mr. Rupert Richartison and Mr. G. Chester
The President referred to the great lass the Guild liad sustained by the death of their late president, Dean Fry, who had for many years taken a very lively interest in the work of the Guild, and largely through whose influence and help the sugmentation of the Cathedral bells from eight to twelve had beea made possible. Fe recaller to mind the opening of the bells on December 15th, 1928 , when the late Dean, although in a very weak state of health after e serious illness, insisted on attending tho service. The following resolution records the sense of loss felt by the Guild and the esteen ith which the liate Dr. Try was held:

That this Guild places on record its rebpeetful and profound attachneat to its late president, Dean \(\mathrm{F}^{\prime} \mathrm{r} \mathrm{y}_{\text {, }}\) and also the humble and personal fecling of loss sustained by each member, as well as by the members as a body. It desires to acknowledge the thoroughness and magnitude of his work, especially in the Cathedual Clureh of the diocese, the augrnencation of whose bolls was largely due to him, and which, with many otler acts of kindness, will be held as persenal tributes to him.'
A vesolation asking for representation on the Diocesan Advisory Commithee was passed unanimously. This was brought forward by members of the Grimsby District in consequence of events in a parish in that district, where a certain amount of perfectly useless work had been flone to the hells. The local ringers reported this at fodistrict mectirg, umd eensequently representations were made to the Church authoritics, with the result, that eventually something more sutisfactory hod been done, and the bells made ringable.

After the meeting, the ingers again visited the Cathedral tower and alsn the two six-bell towers of St. Peter-at-Gowts' and St. Botolph's.

An altennp to ring a courge of Cambridge Maximus on the Catheatral bells daring the evening unfortunately came to grief in the last lead, owing to one of the bells casting ats rope.

\section*{LEEDS AND DISTKICT SOCIETY.}

The annual meoting of tho Leeds and District Society was held at Jeeds Parish Church. The president (Mr. C. E. Lawson) occupied the chair and the towers represented were Armley, Rothwell, Holbeck Batley, Hoadingley SL. Chad's, Headingley St. Michael's, Hunslet and Drighlington.
The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mr. G. Th. Lawon; vice-presiclents, Messts. T. Strangeway, J. Hey and W. H. Senior tingitg master, Mr. W. E. H. Ash; secretary and treasurer, H. Lofthouse.
The menthly ringing nocotings lizt was left to the committee to arrange.
"Iha balance sheet was rear' and accepted as a certain sign of the progrees of the society.
The secretarys roport showed an increase in the membership and also in the number of towers affliated.
The ameuded rulos of tha society were vead nad approved, and it was decided to have them printed aud to supply every member with a copy.
The secretary was instructed to write to the Vicar of Leeds and remind him that the bells of Leeds Parish Church were in urgent need of rehanging.

\section*{ONE THOUSAND WEEKS.}

Readers of 'The Ringing World' will not need to be reminded that this is the one thousandth number of their journal. It is a notable 'mile stone' in the history of the ringing press, and we feel we may be permitted to record our pride and satisfaction at having reached this stage in our career. 'The Ringing World' has from the outset had as its principal aim the elevation of the art of ringing, the promotion of the interests of the Exercise, and the drawing together, through its columns, of all the varied interests which are open to ringers in the pursuit of both the art and the science of companology. From first to last we have never deviated from that course, and as long as 'The Ringing Vorld ' continues we hope this will be its guiding policy.

In the course of a thousand weeks it is inevitable that there must have been numerous accasions when many of our readers have not seen eye to eye with us, but that has not altered the fact that 'The Ringing World' has conscientiously endeavoured to discharge what it has considered its duty to its readers, the Exercise and its own aim as expressed in the article which appeared on this page in the first issue: 'We intend to use our columins for the information, the instruction and, we hope, the elevation of all who take an interest in the art of change ringing, and in the business and social side of the organisations which promote the art.' How far we have succeeded it is impossible for anyone, us least of all, to say, but we are egotistical enough to believe that "The Ringing World has not been without influence on the Exercise. Obviously, too, it has never been possible to satisfy everybody in regard to what has appeared in our columns, and if there have sometimes been disappointments for some of our correspondents and readers we are sorry. Our endeavour has been always to give those items of news which were likely to interest the greatest number. We know quite well that a ringer's individual performance, whatever it may be, is to him as important as, if not more important than, any other thing in the current news, but there are occasions when, as, for instance, after the great festivals of the Church, we are deluged with reports of touches rung for service and it is impossible to find room for them all; or again, when under pressure of news of a wide general interest to the Exercise, we have reluctantly to sacrifice something of more limitect appeal. It is not an enviable task to make the selection, but we are quite sure our readers will realise that our efforts in this direction are always made in the whder interests of the majority.

Maker to Dt. Paul's Cathadral, Westminster Abbey, Imperisl Institute, Canterbury, Edinburgh, St. Albana, Lincoln, Darhers, Peterborough, Melbocrne (Australia), Rochanter, Dublin, St. Patrick's, Manchester, Durban, and Worcester Oathedraln, eto., etc.

Mufflers, Ringiog Mats, Mating, Flag Lines, etc., etc.

There is one feature of ' The Ringing World' to which we may, perhaps, here be permitted to refer, and that is to the articles which have appeared every week in this columu. There has been no break in their continuity from the first number until the present, and always with the motive behind them of focussing attention on some matter of special interest, of malking ringers think and, whenever possible, of providing a subject for discussion, either privately or in public. Sometimes, we admit, they have been deliberately provocative, and if occasionally there has been some hard liitting, it has always been, on our part, without rancour, or ill-feeling of any kind. If we have given knocks, we have always been prepared to take them, and our columns have always been open to the views of 'the other side.' For the most part, however, we conficlently believe that the opinions which have been expressed in these leading articles have reflected the views of the majority of the thinking members of the Exercise. They have been written, not only from a fairly long experience, but from a very wide and constant contact with ringers throughout the country. They have thus, to a large extent, kept our readers in toucly with the general feeling of the Exercise on questions of broad policy in ringing affairs, and in this respect have been something more than the views of the individual writer.

We look to the future with the confident hope that 'The Ringing World' may stil] serve the Exercise, even better than it has done in the past. We are grateful to all those who, during this last one thousand weeks, have given us their loyal support. The future depends as much upon the Exercise at large as it does upon ourselves. A journal run in the interests of a comparatively small section of the community can only fully succeed if all who are concerned in those interests give it their complete support. It cannot be said that the ringing community, as a whole, has given 'The Ringing World' anything like full support; if it were to do so, it would have in return a bigger paper at a much reduced price. If only half the ringers of England were to purchase a weekly copy a great advance could be made, but until the support justifies it, our readers, we feel sure, will agree that it is better to have a journal for threepence than none at all, because no one expects that any single individual should bear the cost as well as the responsibility of providing the Exercise with what, we venture to believe, is one of its most vital necessities.

In closing this one thousandth leading article we would like to be permitted to put on record a personal fact of which we feel proud, and which, whatever may happen in the future, will always be to us a matter of satisfaction and thankfulness. Every leading article that has appeared on the front page of 'The Ringing Work,' from the first number to the one thousandth, has been written by the editor. It is a personal task which he has been able every week to discharge, despite, in former years, the handicap of illness; and to-day's article completes what' has long been an ambition. It is not always an easy thing to fill this particular corner of the paper with a subject germane to ringing - there are times when the text itself is difficult to find, and the clothing of the bare bones with sufficient flesh even more difficult. That it should have been possible for a thousand weeks is something upon which we hope we may be allowed to say we look back with no little pride.

\section*{MORE THAN HALF THE ViLLAGERS VISXI CROYDON FOUNDRY}

Over sixty parishioners of Kaselhecin, Northanpton, visited Me Gillett and Johnston's Beli Foundry on Friday last to winness the casting of six new bells, which will be added to two old ones dated 1621, to form a Lew ring of eight, in the Parish Church.
They are being presented to the parish by Miss F. D. Ismay, in memory of her lato father, and dedigation day is fixed to syuchronise with her coming of age duriag the summer.
The visitors arrived at the Foundry at 3.30 p.m., and wore taken round the works in two parties. They viewed, amongst other things, tho big bells, ranging up to the 18 -ton Bourdon, which are being added to the grent carillons for Riverside Church, Now York, und also some of the bells for the new big carillon now being cast for the University of Cbicago.
At 4.30 p.m. tile casting of the six new Faselbech bells took place, Miss Ismay, hey mother, Mrs, Bower Ismay, the Rector and some ut The parishioners throwing coins into the molten metal.
At 5 p.m. the visitors were entertained to tea, and departed at about 6.15 p.m.
The party motored the 70 miles each way in two mator buses, stopping for lunch at Mr's. Ismay's house in Grosvenor Street.
As the total population of Haselbech numbers only 100, practically the whole of the adult population were at Croydon, and friends from the neighbouring rillage of Naschy, famous for the batile on the Moor and now the country home of the Duke and Duchess of York took elarge of Haselbech for the day.

\section*{EATON SOCON BELLS \\ Ta the Editor}

Sir,-I regret very much that it should go forth, as your arti in your issue of May gtil assumes, that wo bold the church bells this parish in such light esteom, aud that they wore not insured. a matter of fact we hava no tigures yet as to the actual cost of placing the fabric, but the destruction has been so mprecedeuted as the insurance company admit, that it is probable that the what insurance of \(£ 18,000\) will bo required to put the fabric in orde Obviously, this must be aur frest duty, and that was the point of my remark, and all other things, such as the bells, the organ, the oat benches and the stained glass windows, most come last. How far we are able to replace these must depend on the response to ou appeal far \(88,000\).

I need hardly say how much wo appreciate the practical offer made by Canon Baker at the annual moeting at Leigitou Buzzurd, and, of course, any gift earmarked for clurch bells will bo most gratefuld used for the renownl of our peal. Three of theso crashed and are in pieces, and the other thres are badly cracked, and have had to be taken down and all the burab timbers removed.

CDGAR P. FIGHAM, Vicar of Eaton Socen.

LARGE NUMBER OF YOUNG MEMEERS EEECTED.
A meeting of the North and East District leld at St. Mary's, Enfield, on Saturday last, turned out a great success, somo 50 nuembers and friends aftendiag. Divino scrvice at fre o'clock was taken bl the Vicar (Rev.J. Thomas). Tea was servod in the Church Falf and Zlie unexpected number caused a strain on the catering depar meat, which was, however, successfully overcome.
The Vicar, who had to leave early, afterwards gave the ringer yery hearty welcome, and was thanked by the hon. secretary only for the uge of the bells, but for his hind and helpful wor
At the business meeting the chair was taken by the tice-presidens (Mr. W. Pickworth), who was supported by the District Master' (Mi A. W. Coles), the assistant hon. secretary (Mr. G. R. Goodshipl, Mr W. Pye, Mr. G. R. Pyc, Mr. J. Parker, etc. No less than 25 new members were elected, including three of the local band, and twelve of St. Andrew's, Eafield, who ware proposed as members by Mris. H. K. Fletcher, seconded by Mr. G. W. Fietcher.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. G. T. Coles) expressed gratification at theo election of such a large number of young members, and stated that he sincerely hoped that these young ringers would prove of great value to the asscoiation. The joinigg up of a new band at Si. Andrew's whs very pieasing to them all, and these foung ringers were fortunate in having two canable instructors in Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher. The Socretary added that wisitors would be welcomed at St. Mary's Clurch on Thursdays, where assistanco was needed.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. G. W. Daisley for thr use of the St. Andrew's bolls, and to Mr. F. Start for making at rangements for the meeting.
A. course of Stedman Oators was afterwards rung on handbeils hy an expert quintette, prior to as adjournment to the tower, Thi ringing done during the afternoon and evening was of a very rarid pature from rounds for the large number of beginners present, lin Splicul Surprise (four methods) for the 'experts.' Early in tlo. afternoon tho bells at St. Andrew's were rung to touches of "rounds:" and Grandsire and Stedman Triples.

\section*{SUFFOLK GUILD.}

AN AUGMENTATION FUND.
At the annual Easter meating held in Bury Cathedral, the sermon was preached by the Rev. T. E. Goodbody, Precentor, on the valuable church work rendered by ringers. By invitation of Archdeacon Farmiloe, tea was provided at Abbey Fousc. Oring to the inclement weather the attendance was not so large as it sometimes is.
The balance shent showed that although the income is not sufficient for tho expenditure, there is still a balance in hand of nearly 89.
A collection amounting to 22 was made for the repairs to Haleswortt bells.
It was decided to start an augmentation fund, to which members, who could not afiord to pay half a crown a year, cotid still pay something more than a shilling, if they wished, and so increase the income of the Guild.
Thare was some discussion on the fact that neither ring of bells at Bury is heard to the best advantiage. In both cases the sound is too peretrating, and not at all well blended. It was pointed out that this could be remedied at no very great cost.
It was decided to hold next year's meeting on the Saturday after Easter, and the meeting ended with the usual rotes of thanks.
A general moeting of the Guild was held at Laxfield on Suturday, May 10th. Although half the district secretarios had not sentin in their returns, it was announced that the report was now ready for the printors. Arrangements were made for distributing the report more expeditiously, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Grundisburgls on June 14th. There was rigging both at Cratield and Densington, as well as at Lasfield; all these wowers have excellent rings of six bells.

\section*{BARNSLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION}

The raonthly meeting of the Barnsley and District Association was held at Felkirk on Saturday, May 10th. Owiug to the unsettled weather the attendance was small. Members were present from Ackworth, Crofton, Ropston, Sandal, Wath and the local company. Alter tir, which was served in the Church School, a short business meeting was presided over by Mr. A. Nasin.
Mr. G. D. Potter proposed a vote of tlanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells.-The Rev. H. R. Coney, in replying, remarked on the wonderful record his riagers had achieved last year, and said he Was very proud and deliglited to see such a good account of it in "The Ringing World.
Crofton was selected for the next meeting.
It was decided to hold tioc Shicld Contest at Soutin Kirkby in July.

To the Editor.
Dear Sir,-J was very much surprised, when reading in "The Ringing Forld, the report of the annual meeting of the Midlank Counties Association held at Eurton on Eester Monday, to seo thu action taken in regard to the assuciation's title. The report states that a resolution was passed, "Hhat in foture the full title of the association blall bo "The Midand Counties Association of Clangu #ingers for the Dioceses of Derby, Leicester, Lichlield and Southwoll." It is further stated that this haid met with the approval of the Lord Bishops concerned.
Now, Str, seeing that the Diocese of Lichlicld is already provided for by having an association in each archdeaconry of the diocese, all of which are already doing very good work, this clange of title appears to me to be urcalled for, end is also in direct opposition to what the Church aed our associations stand for.

One of the objects of our secieties is, 1 believe, that of creating a spirit of brotherhood among the mombers. As a member of the society for the Archacaconry of Staftom, I cannot help thinking that this change of title was not given the due consideration by the members of the M.C.A. that it ought to have liad, for on the face of it, as it appears in the report, it seems to me, and I do not like using the word, very much hike 'poaching' on others' preserves.
This is not upholding the teaching of the Clurch, to which some of us, at least, are proud to belong.

In conclusion, I would like to ask the M.C.A. whether, before they came to their decision, the views of the members of the threr societies at present in the Diocese of Lichfeld ligd heen ascertained from the officials of these societies, and whether they were in fapour of this alteration? Yours faithfully,

JOHN PERRY.
Erewood, Stafford.

\section*{TWELVE-PART PEALS OF STEDMAN TRIPLES.}

Dear Sir, The 12 -park Stedman Triples by Mr. J. J. Parker, published on 24th April last, is merely my 12 -parli No. 8 , which was first rung about 15 years ago, conducted by W. Pye.
With regerd to the remarks by our old friend, "W. H. F." I consider in the first place he had no right to refer to private'colrespondence, and in the second placo the reference he made was not correct. I stated that the 10 -part peal which Mr. Parker publislied recently for the first time was rung as my composition 28 years ago (not recently as stated).-Yours taruly,
G. LINDOEF.

We oxtend our sincere thanks to the large zumber of ringers who have written to congratulate us upou reaching this interesting poin in our history, and to send us their good wishes for the future. We would lave liked to give extracts from many of them, as evidence of the appreciation in which 'The Ringing World' is held, but spave forbids, and we must coutent ourselves by saying a heartfelt "Thauk you.'
When 'The Ringing Work' was started the Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths was Mr. Alfred B. Peck, and his was the first photograph to appear in our columns. He had many greal performances to his credil even in those days, and he has sinceadded the ringing of the tenor at Southwark to the record peal of Stedman Cinques at Southwark, 12,675 changes in 9 hrs. 47 mins. and St. Paul's Cathedral tenor to a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus.
Mr. F. E. Dawe, who suppied 'The Ringing World' with the photograple, has very kindy provided mary of the excollent illustrations of church towers which have since appeared. Incidentall he wrote the first letter to the Editor which appeared in our columns
While we feel that we have grown older since No. 1 of 'The Ring ing World' was issued, there is one man whose name appeared in that issuu and in this who refuses to recagnise the passing of time, num who has been a great 'missionary' in the cause of this journal. He is seventy-six and a half, and has rung 1,059 peals, and intends to ring at least a thousand more-he is James George, 'of Eiglani,' whe has been not inaptly, described as "one of the eight wonders of the world. \({ }^{1}\)
In looking over the peal columns in the first number it is interest ing to note how many whose names then appeared are still on the active peal ringing list.
Those who are no longer with us include such well-known conduc fors in their day as Willism Lomas, of Sheffield, Frederick W. Bice of Grawley, William F. George, of Eastleigh, Robert E. Stavert, of Busher, and York Green, of Loulon, who all conducted neals recorded in our first issue.
Mr. I: Alex. Young, hon. secretary of the Central Council, celebrated his bith birthday yesterday. He now relinquishes his poots eto surveyor under the Landon Counly Council, and the good wishe of his hosts of friends will go with him that he may long live to emjoy his well-earmpd retirement.
A board, recording the peal of Cambridge Surpriso Maximus at Eincoln Cuthedral, is shortly to be ereoted in the Cathedral tower at the expense of the Lincoln Diocesnn Guild.
The plotograpls of the big gathering ali Canterbury on the occasion of the Kent County Association's jubilec, are now on sale (IFin, \(x\) 12in. 5s., and postage 4d.; 12in. x 10in. 2s. 6d., and postage 3d.) from the hon. secretary, Mr. F. M. Mitchell, 114, Sun Lane Gravesend, or Mr. Munns, photographer, Gravesend. Souvenir programmes can be had fron the hon. secrelary, post free, \(4 d\).
" I-ver got to tell you, writes one of our Alppant correspondanis. that although the "Ekeds" were only at half strength on Saturday list, they were not severely wrounced by Double Norwich.
There is a certain bachelor ringer, well known in London ritging circles, who, we hear, is not a littic envious of the recent performance in which one 'mene male' rang a peal with seven ludies.
The Sherwood Youlis, with W. D. Crofts anong them, rans "Mr. Holl's true whole peal of Grandsire Tripples, containing Eyto changes, on Whitsun Tuesday moraing, May \(24 t \mathrm{l}, 1768\). "The bobs w're call'd by J. ©. Camler.

The Royal Gumberland Youths rang a peal of 5.120 Court Trehle Boh at Eidmonton on May 26th, 1798.
Next Wbulucaday is the anniversary of the first peal of Stedmazt Caters, rung at Horsleg Down by the College Fouths, Londog, ir 1787. The bells in this smail tower are now never rung.

May 28 th in also the anniversary of the first peal rung by the Junior Gollege Youths. This was a peal of Grandsive Caters at, Fulham, in 1820.
The Bristol Surprise record of 15,264 changes was rung in 9 his. 49 mias. at Hormchureh, Essex, by the Middlesex Association on May 28th, 1912, conducted by William Pye.
The first Surprise peal rung out of England was a peal of Supetlative at Bray, Ireland, on May 28th, 1901, conducted by J. 5. Goldsmitll.
The only peal that has been rung on the sea was rung on the clay following the above while crossing from Dublin to Holyhead on the S.S. 'Cambria.' The bells came round as the ship entered harbour. The band was made up of Mensrs. W. Pye, W. H. Barber, G. R. Pre, E. Pye and W. Short (conductor). It was rung for St. Martin's Guild.

Later the same day these ringers with three other members of the fouring company, including 'He of England,' rang the first Surpise peal in Wales, a peal of New Cambridge Major, conducteal by W. H Barber, at Bangor.
The peal of Grandsire Triples at Taunton on May 3 Ird was the frss peai 'inside' on eight by the Rev. E. S. C. Lock, and not by A. H. Reed, whose manie was "starred " ia error.

\section*{THE PRESIDENT OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.}

There is no member of the Exercise more esteemed and popular than Canon G. F. Coleridge, president of the Central Council. His name is known wherever the art of change ringing is practised, and for years he has stood as the revered figurehead of the Exercise.
Canon Coleridge was botn in the Devonshire vicarage of Cadbury on November 10th, 1857, educated at the Ayshford Grammar School, Uffculme; Chardstock, Dorset, and St. Edmund's College, Salisbury, before proceeding to keble College, Oxford. His first lessons in ringing were given to him, when a lad, by Mr. R. Brimblecombe, a judge' much sought after in Jevon prize ringings in those days. In these early lessons the necessity for the most accurate striking took precedence of all else, and those who have rung with Canon Coleridge know how this primary instruction of the uld Devon tutor has been lived up to. Canon Coleridge's ringing has always been an example to emulate, and many ringers will agree with his view that a liuge number of people ring peals before they have learnt to ring rounds properly, or even to handle a rope correctly.
It was while at Oxford that he took up change ringing. He joined the University Society, al the time when the members in residence included C. D. P. Davies, H. A. Cockey, IV. S. Willett and J. F. Hastings, who all later entered the Church and became prominent in the Exercise. Mr. Coleridge, as he then was, succeeded Mr. Davies as Master of the University Society, and he took part in the Society's first peal of Stedman Triples, which was rung at Drayton, although the undergraduates had previously rung peals with the Oxford City Society.
Canon Coleridge entered Holy Orders in 1884, and was licensed tc the curacy of Caversham, where, naturally, the ringers became his special care, and where in 1891 the six bells were increased to an octave. The Caversham band made great strides, but in 1894 Canon Coleridge went to the Vicarage of Crowthorne, Berks, where he has remained ever since, and has endeared himself to the hearts of all his parishioners, as he has done in the wider field of the ringing Exercise among alt who know him.

The strenuous work of a single-handed parish, with only a 'ting-tang' in the church turret, has prevented Canon Coleridge from taking part in as many peals as he might otherwise have done ; nevertheless his list is not only of goodly proportions but contains some noteworthy performances, including the first clerical peal (Stedman Triples at Drayton), the first peal by the Central Council (Stedman Triples at Selby Abbey), a non-conducted peal of Stedman Triples at Drayton, the only peal (Stedman Triples) rung on Lundy Island, the first peal of Grandsire Caters on the bells at Exeter Cathedral, 8,800 Superlative Surprise Major at Loughborough, 12,096 Double Norwich Major at Boyne Hill, 13,054 Stedman Caters at Cheltenham and 15,041 Stedman Caters at Appleton.

CANON G. F. COLERIDGE
A member of many ringing Guilds and Associations, Canon Coleridge has been one of the guiding influences in building up the success of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, while the advance of change ringing in his native county, through the efforts of the Devon Guild, has always been followed by him with the closest interest. Outside these two societies, his greatest pride is in the Ancient Society of College Youths, which he joined in 1879, so that he is one of the few now living who have conpieted half a century of membership. Canon Coleridge seldom misses the annual dinner of the Society in London, and here, as at all other gatherings of ringers which he attends, his cheery speeches, his amusing stories, and above all, his genial personality, are not only welcome, but give delight to everyone.
Canon Coleridge has been an elected member of the Central Council since its formation, close on forty years ago, having represented the Oxford Diocesan Guild for the whole of that time. In 1921 he was elected president and now, after nine years in office, he contemplates relinquishing the post on account of his advancing years. He will retire to the regret of all the members, for he has presided over the deliberations of the Council not only with the utmost impartiality, but with a tolerance, tact and good humour that leave nothing but the pleasantest memories.

His uaique experience of the Council gives him unexcelled qualifications to speak of its work, and for that reason the article which he has specially written for this issue "of 'The Ringing World ' is of additional interest and value.

The fact that Canon Coleridge las been able to write this sketch of the work of the Council is a happy evidence that he is now recovering from his recent serious attack of pneumonia. The whole Exercise followed with deep concern the progress of his illness and will join in congratulations to him upon what, it is hoped, is a complete return to health.

FROM ONE TO ONE THOUSAND-AND AFTER.

By the Editor.

To-day 'The Ringing World' makes its one thousandth appearance.

One thousand weeks is but a mere fiutter in the world's history, but it is a fair slice in the modern history of church bell ringing.

The Ringivg World' was founded on March 24th, 1911, and with one exception-in the period of the General Strike in 1926-it has made an unfailing appearance every Friday for more than 19 years.
\(=3\)
It is interesting to note, therefore, that it has to-day the same editor, the same printers and the same publishers, whose association in its production and publication has never been broken.

MR. J. S. GOLDSMITH, Editor of "The Ringing World."

It is a proud boast that never once during the whole of this time has the publication of 'The Ringing World' been even one hour late from any reason within the control of the three departments concerned, and on this occasion, as Editor, I desire to acknowledge the cordial co-operation which bas been given both by The Woodbridge Press, Ltd., the printers, and The Rolis House Publishing Co., Ltd., the main distributors.
This path of ' The Ringing World ' from its first to its one thousnadh numbor has, howeyer been by mo menns an easy one. Its appontance in the arena in 1911, at a time when the Exercise was badly in aeed of a reliable journal, properly edited and punctual in its publication, was at once a success as far as its reception among singers was concersed, but the early difieulties which inevitably coufrout a new undertaking had senreely been surmounted when there came the upheaval of tis war with all it brought in its trainthe departure of asen from the leffries and the almost complete cessation of ringing, with the consequent loss of circulation; fle alteration of values which added to the financial difficulties of carrying oa; and the restrictions whieh haudicapped production of every kind except of those things directly connected with the prosecution of the war.

During these sirentuous days, which changed the whole course of our habits and our lives, numberless journals which, like 'The Ringing World, catered exclusively for special interests, suecambed to the unequal atruggle for cxistence, many of them never to lie resuscitated.

Emaciated ag 'The Ringing World' was in thase troublous times, it contrived to maintain a precarious existence, and when the restorgtion of peace came, it was there to help and cncourage those to whom fell the task of rebuilding the Exercise.

Since that time it has been held steadily on its course throngh the encouragaments and clibappointments, the suecesses and the dificulties which come to undertakings as well as to individualis in the progress of a long carect. "The Ringing World has lisd the ell. couragement of a host of loyal supporters, whose kindncss, cansideration and help Luve been a stout buttress against tho disappointments which come from the apathy of a large section of ringers, who do not even yet reatise that a vast amount of the pleasure which they get from their ringing and of the knowledgo which is at their disposal would have been unobtainable withous the assistance which a ringing journal provides.
Any success that has been achiered has come to "The Ringing World ' by steadily pursuing a policy which bas had for its aim the general uplifting of the status of the ringer and his ant; and the diffculties inave been met by the knowledge that throughoun the Exercise it has had the goodwill and the consistent advocacy of countless friends. And because of all the assistance which lans feen received from so many well-wishers, and in spite of the apathy of so large a proportion of tingers, 'The Rioging World' is still a lire trace in the Exercise.
Coming mare particularly to the personal, as distinet from the general review, I cannol let this nccasion pass without thanking the many, many friends throughout the conntry for the always kindy welcome accorded to me whenever I have gone amongst them. The position of an Editor, uven of a journal like 'The Risging Worm, s not always an envinble one, although it is always interestigg, bu the drawbacks late had their compensations, the greatest of all of which have been the friendships made, many of them deep and lasting.

It has been my privilege to know personally almost all the leuding members of the Exereise men whose names arc household woyds among ringers-since the days when "The Ringing World' was dist launched. Many of then ane no longer with us, but who that kwow Lhem, as I was lapgy to do, would not cherish the memory of the acquaintance of stela famous men as Sir Arthur Heywoot, William Snowdon, Charles Hatterzley, Henry Dains, Nathan Pitstow and Tohn Carter-men mhose service to the art of rimging will ever woll timue to bencfit the Exercise-and such great ringers as Malthow Wood, James Washbrook, Emest Pye, Bertram Prewott and Isac Shade-to mention but a few-whose mames will live in the amals of ringing as long as ringing itself shall last? It was a privilege to know these giants now golle from us; it is still a privilege to clainn as friends notable ment, whose name is legion, still aclively engrated in our art, and it is in no small measure due to their support, in ciark days as well as fair, that 'Tlue Ringing Worlì' has been encourrged to carry on.
I hate referced to the past. What of the future? On an crectsion like this we mast look forward as well as hack. The future of - The Ringing World, as the leading article to-day points out, rests as much on the ringers as upou those who are responsithle for its procluction. Without eirculation it cannot live. The paper is thew going ou on what is really a minimum eirculation. There are, it is officialy estimated over 45,000 ringers in this country. The number of subscribers to 'The Ringing Werld, does not equal even ilte odd 5,000. Is it too much to ask that there should be a cieculation equal to half the number of ringers? If this could be achieved, a journal as large as this issue conld he provided for \(2 d\). , jf not less. I know lhat there arc maur who refiais from buying a copy of the paper because of its price. What they do not realise in that less than half the sum goes towaris the cost of prorluction; the necessary channels of distribution swallow up the rest. The way to a reduction in prien is a rise in circulation; the ringers thus lave the matter in their own hands.
'The Ringing Worh' desires ta serve the Excreise. It will contimue to do so within the linits at its disposal. It is for the ringets thomselves to enlarge those linits, and if they will do so they will not be disappointed.

BY THE REV. C. D. P. DAVIES.

It is with no little pleasure that I respond to the Editor's request for a short article for the one thousandth number of 'The Ringing World,' recalling a few impressions of the days when the Exercise had no journal devoted entirely to its interests, and showing, at least by implication, some of the many clanges for the better that have ensued from the dissemination of ringing news and the interchange of ideas between ringers.
