But, first of all, let me, sir, congratulate you most warmly on this, the attainment of the 1,000 th issue of "The Ringing World,' and on what it bas done and is doing for the advancement of change ringing and for all that is best in connection with it. May your influence for good always be the same as it has ever been, and may the paper continue to flourish and its circulation continue to grow as the years pass on!
'lhere are, I suppose, nof very many of has left whose memuries go hack to the jear 1874 or thereabouts. It was then that I frst began change linging. For about three or four veals prevous to that time 1 Lad been able to pull a single hell, but had had no opportunity of thything further. At that time "Church Bells, with a column for singing unter the sub-editorslip of Rev. H. TH. Ellacombe, had been in existence for a short time, bul, though it was generally used as at channel for the publication of the performance of peals, there was Jithe in it calcuiated to advance the interests of the Exercise in those matny other directions that are now and hate been tor so long to the lore. It must not for a moment be thought that I am blaming

Chureh Bells' for this, except in so far as the closely circuraseribed space allolted to us of men militated agaiust the inclusion of mathet alat would linve beers of munh use, but which had to be pasipand or rejected allogether for wat of sufficienf room. As it was, the space arailable for anything in the way of instruction was nearly always ially and splendidly occupied by Mr. Jasper Snowdon with his invaluable articles cither scientifie ar listorical.
To undersland why his articles, a? whatever kind they were, were so important, it is necessary that we shauld put ourselves in imagimation to the slate of affairs as they then were.

Except possibly for some very brief and ocoasional communication fa ' Bell's Life,' or some such 'sporting' journal, the only means of Narespondence that had ever existed between rimgers was privata and personal-that is, by post-and, be it remembered, a leiter in the older days cost move like three and six than three linlfpence. We know that there were ringing books, but they were neither many nor cheap, and to the ordinary man not at all easy of comprehension. The last of the old writers was Shipway, and of the more recent meilher Hubbard nor Banister erred in the way of too full explanations. And so ringing pabulum was thin und scenty.

The matural resull of this was that the Exercise was thoroughly unorganised. In London and the leading lowns there were individua] ronductors and composers who knew one or two ather conductors or emoposers up and down the counlyy, but beyond this there was no general intercourse or cobesion between the various lacal units of the Exmeise. And so cach local company developed solely on its own lines zad while in many centres, such as London, Norwicl, Birmingham, Pairswick and others, change ringing well kept up its head, there Were often co-cxisting developments of a less desirable nature, such as jaslousies, quarrels, batrowness of outlook, accompanied by failuce in general to realise and appreciate the uplifting power of the science, and, above all, its position and responsibility as periaining to the Clureh of God
What a different yiew meets the eyo of the riager of the present day as he surveys the scene around him! We do not mean that things are perfect. There is still much to bo done in many ways. But on the chiei lines we are well established. In place of sparse and easual units the Exercise, though not formally, but really and eftectually, is a united whole. Ivery member of it is, or at least may be if he likes, thoroughly instructed in ringing theory and practice. Is there any question in connection with the art and science of change ruging on whtch he wishes for eulightenmeut? He may get replies galore in a fow days. . The same, Loa, as regards any point in its history or olher particular on which he may wish for information With the Church he stanets well, elaicfly as the outcome of the mutual recopnition of his true position by his own realisation on the one hand, and on the other by the fact that tha clergy and Church authorilies have come to lecognise him as a most important charchworker.

Thus the whole aspect of ringing has altered for the better. Hievo It is vital to remember that the improvement has manly arisen, not as in most cases by kindly help from outaide hatads, but as the out come of a moving spirit in the Exercise itself. It is true that Mo Elacombe struck the mateh, bat the naterial for the flame was supplied by the ringing frateruity itself.
It took but a short while to discover that what was requiren was a voice of its own by which the Lxercise could express its nand and its ideals, and could develop its own power of expansion both in knowedge and in action.
This speedily gave birth to 'Bell News,' which was at first publisked as a 'monthly,' but soon settled down as at 'weekly,' zurd ran a most useful course for somewhere near thirty years, when from various causes weakness began to affect its utility.

THE REV. C. D. P. DAVIES.
It was then that 'The Ringing World' came into existence, and since then has contimued with conspicuous ability and faithfulness in is task of coatribating to the unity and proguss of the Exercise.
When we look at its pages ant the present time and compare thom with its earlier sssues or with those of its predecessor we are at onte struck by strong evidences of continuity of policy. The samo causes of weakness in ringing circles, boll from within and from withoui, ate Btid at work and mast be countercd. From within comes ever and anon slackening of energy and pulpose, and now and then dissension and estrangenient. From without come attacks on ringing ant ringuts from tho few-we are happy to aty, the vary fow-who hate bells and everything to do with them. Deprived of our weekly jourmal we shoutd lack the chief means of defence against these dangers.
The great point of difference between the older numbers and ilje more reent ones is to be found in tha comparative ahaenes of scientific matter at the present time. Tlue reason for this foalure is not at all to be attributed to any unwillongness on the part of the editor to insert matter of this deseription, nor to want of interest on the part of his readers, but to the simple fact that modern (Contintad an page 335.)

By THE PRESIDENT, CANON G. F. COLERIDGE.

Forty years an elected representative member, with never a miss at the annual meeting, a member of the Standing Committee, and for the past nine years President of the Council, naturally afford a deeper insight than would be granted to many of the objects and practical working of the Central Council from its inception to the present time. I therefore gladly accept the invitation of the editor of The Ringing World ' to write a short article to mark the 1,000 th issue of a periodical which should claim the active support of every ringer in the land.

Debarred as I an at the moment from access to the shelves of my library, wherein may he found volumes of 'Bell News' and 'The Ringing World,' complete from the begnning, the two containing records not only of the proceedings of the Central Council, but records extending over near 50 years, a mere sletchy outline of the Central Council is all that I can give, not laying so much stress on its transactions year by year as on the wisdom in which it was conceived, and the sound lines on which its constitution was drawn up, for on those lines the Central Council has made such sure and definite progress till it has become the natural body to which all ringers can with confidence appeal, and to which they can look for guidance in the solution of many a knotty point which has arisen during the 40 years of its existence.
Tlis is jush what might be expected, secing that the Council from Eliz loginning has alwnys mumbered amongsi its memhers nok a few thn bost known and most highly respeeted men to be foumd in The Jixurcise, whollem as praclical ringers or as decply vared in the Itedry of conposition, methord construction and so forth Many of the original manlers have passed from onr midst-a new gemeration is sucecerling thenn.
What dnes this generalion know of the origin and founding of the Contral Councile Huw came it intu heing? There are some of us who wall rememher Hise aceasion on which in National Association af Change Ringens' was forst munted. 'Lo eelehrate the 8oth birthlay of Me. Heury Johnson in the vesu 1890 , Sir. Arthur Heywood (he han not then sneceeded to dhe haronetey) invited maarly a limulreal of the best known ringers to do honour to the old veteran ul a linuer in Birmingham given lyy him. It was atio this dimuer that a scheme tar sueh an association was luid before those present, sod, arrimet 'Tho various assomiations, guilds and societies were invited o semf liwo represputatives each io a furthep meeting to be held in Gambin, where, Hand the chaimanship of Mr. Feywood, the draft gelume was gone dhrough, horoughly disctased, altered and amondent in lie conve of ant atiernoon's wok, ant the proposed title elanged into "Ceatral Council of Chureh Belluingers.
The tuhes and consiatution were circulated among the associations, guilds ami sucipties wibla a request that yepresentatives slaoukl be Plectent befure the ent of that year to atiend the firbt meeting of the Councild to be held in London on the Tuestay in Eagter week following. There was a most sntisfactory response, 63 out of the 74 elveled were present, a large amonat of business was transacted and the Comect cotered with high hopes on its career of usefulnoss.
Such, in brief, is the story of the inauguration of ile Council; the founger generatian majy the glad to read it. Untor the wise and Firm ghidance of Sir A. P. Heywood, who was preatient for 28 yearg dill his thenth from overwork during the Great War, backed up by two at the mbst able secretaries, the Res. HI. Earle Bulwer and, after furn, the Rew. C. D. J. Davies, with a Standing Commitice alive to The responsibilities entuiled upon it, together with unfailing goodwill extibited by memors in Council assembled, though opinions min sonn paints proved to be as far apart as the poles, the Council lins made its way and gained ils position as a body essential to the walfure of the lixereise. I venture to assert that it will conlinue to exercige its influence for just as long as there is no radical departure from the sound lines on which its constitution has been evolved.
By the rules of the Council the election of representatives is heta evary three yeara, and al. the first mecting, always heki in London, not more than 15 honorary members may he nominated. The two romaining meptings of the session are held in regular rotation gither in the Midland district or North and South and East and Weat. I'lis urrangerent has theen found io work well in the past, all parts of Fingland being visited in thrn according to rota, the selection of city or town to be visiled being left to the decision of the members present at the provious meeling. In recent years the Council has not only been warm!y invited to a centre, but has beeu officially received in Gathedral citics by Bishops, Deans and Archdeacous towns by the Mayor, nolably at the last meeting in London by the Lorq Mayor, Sir Rowland Blades, now Lord Etbislam, who placed the Mansion Honse at the disposal of the Council. This year, for the first time, the mecting will be held at Lambelh Palace.
The output of literature by the Council has been considerable would be vastly incressed if sufficient funds were available. Most of the books, pamplilets, etc., should be in the hands of every riuger. There are also volumes and typewritten collections of peals in the care of the librarian which may be horrowed by any member of an association represented on the Comeil.

Committees who do invaluable work, and whose praises art often loft unsung, sre constantly at work, their labours being submitted to the Council annually, as for example, the 'Press and Publications Committee, which is clanged, among other duties, corroct misstatements in the public press when ringing and th legitimate use of church bells is in question; the 'Melhods Commit tee," diligent in their work for many a long year, and of ens disn pointed when lack of funds provents the publication of their labours the 'Analysis Committec,' which annually produces its statisties of peals rung, with commentaries of surpassing interest appended the 'Peals Colfection Committee, whicls is always at work, pr compositions and arranging them in volumes, some of which been printed, while others, ju zypescriph, are in the Council's libra Other committecs having done their work have been dissolved thanks for their labours: others, 120 doubt, will be appointed occasion serves; while others again are kept in being in view possible work in the futute.
There is a liglater side to the amaual meetings which must be men-tioned-the pleasant evenings arranged by the association whose area the meetings fall, the sumptuous teas at the close husiness provided by them, witl later entertainment, whon mat talent, musical and otherwise, is enlisten, and ringers of the disk have an opportunity of meeting the Council members in an informal w
A lightey side is also ocensonally manifest in the midet of solenan discussions, as, for example, when we were jufarmed that 'Sterlmar is not of method-it is a prineiple. Forty minutes or so were ocelipied in disoussion, whiel the president closed by stating that the anly motion before the menting was ame made by a burly Yorkshire man- that Stedman should be as it was in the days of his fath
is would certainly heavily line any other lighthearted aneodot could supply. To save him trouhle, I refrain.
One serious question, however, remains to be asked-it is prompled by the statement made by the secretary three werks ago, that subjects for fiscussion at the next mecting harl bem sent in. may well ask: What are the asseciations doing? What are representatives doing? Strely therv are plenty of subjects wijelt touch the rimger on all sides, and subjects mhich might well be enssod. It is an old complaint of forty years standing:

\section*{Goxncil is to be useful to associations, it is imperative that mabler} for aliseussion should be submited by them to fill an agenda papar otherwise concerned only with rontine business. laet ins hope that the naxt forty years will see a big anaual response in the mathe
subjects for discussion
And now one word in conclusion. We welcome to-day the appearance of the 1,000 th nuraber of 'The Ringing World.' We may well ask: Where would the Esercise be if it lad ho journal devoted solely to its interests? Of what use woild tite Central Council be if mo detailed account of its proceedings were made public? The answer is obvious. There iz no need to give it, ol', if givels, to dilate apon it. It is enougla to say that for a hhoushand weeks "The Ringing World " has regularly appeared every Friday without a break. What this means to a proprietor and editor exth hever be realised by thoser who morely read. What it means to those who read is that a feeling of deep gratitude should rise aud extend to him who for a thotsand weeks lias miaistered to their needs.
To carry on a paper dealing with one subject only, for the benefif of a comparatively few in mumber, means indomitable faith, courage and pertinacity. Those virthes hare been exemplified to the full. Week by week we read our journal, and with avidity the lending article, wondering whether the springs of inspiration will ever run dry; and if now and then in the past some of us may have felt that certain strictures on the Contral Council were somewhat uncalled for, we must remember that yons lare passed since they whe writtenihat they are now forgoten and have been mone than atomed for by innmerable srticles of the greatest help, sll written by a man of courage, and one who is never ashamed of lis opiutons. I waise my haf to the Editor on this auspicious occasion, so full of satiafaction both to himself and his resders. anil beg to assure him that the thonssad congratulations I personally affer him will be exactly nultiplied by the number of those who appeceiate and value his nultipliea by tho mu

\section*{HOW THE RINGING PRESS HAS FTRTHERES COMPOSTIYON}

\section*{BY J. ARMIGER TROLIORE.}

Ihat the study of eomposition and the theory of elamge ringing is necessary, is a statement that fow ringers, even the most careh:ss, would care to deny. At the same lime ihere are many who do llank that these things are mot of immediate juportance at least, mot to themselwos-and they are inclinod to grudge the space and ime which are giren lo them in the pages of "The Ringing Worif ' and the discussions of the Ceneral Council. Lel as have, laey say, something practical and leave all this theory to those who are interested in it. Well, these good people should be reminded that quese discusaions and these questions are of the utmost importance; lie progress and the very life of change ringing and the Exercise alepend on them, and directly or indirectly they infuence every inilividual ringer, however inumble.
When the study of composition is keen and intelligent, then pracileal ringing fourishes; when it lyas been languid, then practical ringing las declined. The melhods and the peals we ring to day are the fruits of the study of men that have gone before, and perhaps there is mothing which more helps to Keep change rincing alive and growing than the keen intellectual interest these problems give Io the best men of the Exerase.

MR. J. APMIGER TROLLOPE.
I supmose that throughout the long history of ringing there was no tinte when its future looked more uncertain than the thind niarter of the last century. It was a period of stagnation, if not "E actual decline. In the country villages, owing to various causes, sutue of them economic, some ecelesiastical, ringing was dying out. In tho towns there was no progress. What ringing was done was anost entively Treble Bob, "randsire and Steतman, nud Stedman unly in a few favoured lowers. And everywhere the social standing ul riugers was at the lowest. This was the time when composition was at its worst.
The book on ringing, which William Sottanstall published in 1867 , Will gire an iden of compositiou and the standayds of originality at his time. If you take away whai belongs to previous generations and what is either the merest variation of old peals or the closest invitation of ald peals, very lictie is left of that work of many humdred pages. And Sottanstall was undoubtedly a verg worthy man and ahove the average. Of coutse, there were a few men even then whose names rank, and deservedry, among the leading composers of the Exercise, but with the exception of Hersy Jolanson, Wheir repafation depends on a few peals of Treble Bob.
pifty years ago began the great revival of change ringing, of branch of the art and seience. The jubitee unativersary of associntiou after nssociation during these recont yeats has reminded us of ont great feature of this revival. Jasper Snowdon's series of books on various methods (which are out of chate to a surprising litho degree) is another feature of this revival. And a thind and equall; potent was the establishment af a ringing zuress. For luaf a eentury the Exercise has not lacked the services of a weckly newshaper, anal it is not ansy to estimate how much ringers, and especially the morn advanced vingers, owe to this fact. At lingt it was the now defunet "Church Bells. \({ }^{*}\) This was not primarily a ringer"s paper, but it did apen its columns to ringing compositions. Then in 1881 appeared "Bell News," a paper which, however nurh it fell away in ita later days, served the excreise manfulty till it clisappeared along with many other better and worse things in the great war. Tw: papers, 'Campanology" and "The Bellringer;' Lad brief careers. And, of course, for these last one thousand weeks we have bud "Thi: Ringing Worved.

These newspapers give us a full and complote history of the Exercige during this last halfecentury, und as we turn over the pages Wo can trace the development of ringing and the changea that have taken place, and how this mehod has waxed in popularity ant that method has waned. It is easy mougla to see why Treble Bob should have losb ground, but we wonder why Superlative, which was aucu Hailed as "the queen of methods," should have dechined; why Cannbridge, once so despised, should now be so popular: why Doumle Norwich does not hold quite the position whith we think it should.
but perhaps of all the artiches in these pages the mosit intaresting and the most valuable are those on compdsition ard the science of ringiug. Wo see a succession of problens arising, and we see ine best brains of the Exercise setting themeslves to the task of solving them. It is not always that wa actually see the soludion-we musi look for that in the doings suld opinions of the ringers of to-day.

Fifty years ago the burning question was, 'Is it possible to gul a tue peal of Grandsire Triples with common thobs only? 'Thuanswer is so simple, and the clues to it had beva given to the Exarcise more than fifty years earlier by Shipwry that we wonder-unw -that it ever confa have been a problem. "Hat it took some very ciever brains to solve \(i t\). Later on the comstruction of peals of Stedman Triples on Tharstans' phan was investigated by the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer and Mr. Percival Heywood, whom we later got to tnow as Sir Arthur. He was a frequent contributor to the ringing press on composition, and many of his articles are of permanent value. Whatever opinions we may hold of his method Dufteld (ant mine are not bigh, there can be no doubt that the artieles in 'Bell Nows' in which lie introduced it to the Exercise fatterwards issued in book form) are among the best of ringing literature.
Then there was the big fight orer Loudon Royal. Many of us rementuer how Mr. Lindofi extended Iondon Mnjor to ten bells, how the College Youths, under the canductorship of Mr. Gcorge [rice, rang the peal at Stepney; how composers from all sides with ous consent shouted that whatever the nethod was it was bot London Royal, and how the air was black with diffemet Landon Royals, no hwo people agreeing on the sane version: the net result being, I inagime, that ordinary sensible people camo to the conelasion that there is no Hondon Royal at all,

Then there was Mr. Law James brickhat hurled at the liearl of Stedman ringers, when he bluntly told iben that the first pea! of Stedman 'riples has yet to be rung, and what they were practising was a faully exteusion, All of which fad some touth and muels exaggeration, but which adminably served its purpose of making people think.
So I could go on and tell of the batile we foughi over Boly Majur Lead-ends and Symmetry, now generally aceepted by the Exereise, and on down to the latest dispute ahonl Migor peals. And what is the gond of id all? What? Fifly years ago, if you were a giatclass ringer you would be ringing peals of Gramdsire Triples. Now. Canbridge is an ordinary "bread and cheese" method, and ten Surpriso melhods have been rung splieed into one penl!

\section*{GREAT WORK IN THE INTERESTS OF RINGING}

Hr. James Armiger Trollope, wha has been for many years one of the anost regular contributors to the ringing press, was born on January 8th, 1876, at East Derelam, Norfolk, and educatrad at King Edward VF. School, Norwich. Fis ringing carear starter in 1882. and his Grst peal was saven 720 's of Bob Hinar on haudhells, which he conducled from 1-2. This peal, rung in the then quick time of 1 hr. 38 unins., was shared hy the brothers George and J. E. Burton. Mr. Trollope's first tower bell peal was Bols Major, on the midde eight at St. Peter Mancroft tower, and in the sanme jear, with a young hand, he rang 5,040 in seven methods of Doubles at St. Peter (Contimued on page 336 .)

\section*{LOOKING BACKWARD, IN LIGHT AND SHADE.}

BY WLLLIAM WIELSON.

Memory, the warder of the brain, a phrase that Shakespeare puts into the mouth of Lady Macheth, can hold, for most of us, both sweot and bitter reflections. A retrotpect of 'One Thousand Weeks,' or a period of nearly iwenty years, is like looking into a kaleidoscope with its mever-endiag prisms. lime rings the clianges on faces and cwents which pass before us like a panorama. Let us seel On Marcla 27th, 191 , the curtain was rung up on No. 1 of 'Ithe Ringing World,' which from the outset wns stamped 22 carat at Goldsmith's Hall.
Since that lime many things lave happened and giants of their generntion, mental and plysical, bave passed on. Names such as W. Banister, Siy A. I'. Heywood, John Carter, and J. W. Washbrook, will live for ever in tho ambals of ringing. Peal records linve been eclipsed to make room for further raughty deeds, though it would appeat hat the limit of haman enduranee mast have been almost reached.
Perlaps the hest perfornances of the pust two decades were the ong peals of Stedman Caters al Appleton, the Cincucs at South-wark-with it tenor of 50 cwt.-and the Cambridge Maximus at Ashton-under-L.yne. I heard several hours of the Cinques, and checked many course-ends. 'lile boon ai the heavy bells could be heard long bofore the tindergromed tran pulled into London Bridge Station. Tlue striking was boyond any criticism when I came away ater the seventh holt
I regret that 1 dirl not hear the Ashton poal, but it goes without saying that it must have been one of the best, for anyone knows that a vinger cannot 'rum anok' in Cambridge Twelve very far without wrecking the peal. With a' serateh' hand, it is no fool's jal) to seote a 5,000 , but to pull off 15,000 at the first tiwe of asking is little short of marvelous, and a feat of which the performers may well feel justly proud. 1 dhank that record will stand the test of time.

The other two peals were rumg by the College Youths, whose hefty lienclutur, Hr. W. T. Cockerill, lats just passed his 7ist mileatone, tud on April 13th! 'lhis supposed unlucky date has mot been anfortunate for him, for he carries his yens-and weight-remarkably will. Somelow, these ak-timers of the G.T. retain their youtn's errtificate well beyond the allotled span. I first met some of them over 35 years ago, and they acem to have aged very little. On that aceasion llsere were C. F. Winnoy, W. Prime, W. T. Cockerill, J. Washorm, J. Pettitt and E. Horrex. Most of these remain, and one wonders if the sceret of their longevity lics in the Goffee Pot? II it clocs, I must take to coffee. Of course, the secretary of the C.Y. must always remain a chicken, for moness be changes his mame ho will nerter the an old bird.

The flight of time has brought the carillon, though this toes not scem to threaten dange ringing al all. The view has been expressed that it would be a good thing if 8,10 or 12 bells in every darillon were hung for ringing, as it woutd sorve a dual purpose. It would, butt as a rute, catillon towers are not built to carry swinging bells, atad as the carillon is usually hung in several fiers it is probable fant mechanism would be disturbed by the ringing. Stilh it is not berond engineering ability, and the forst bell foumder who intintes it will get the husiness. In thein place, cavillons ane uldightrut, and can lye heard at their bost on the Continent, where fowers and spiree sue muclı higher than in this countre. I call to mind sithug in the market place at Bruges on a summer evening, listening to the bells immortalised hy Longfellow, when the caritlonnetur twecompanieal a droir singing on a balcony below. The effect of bells and singing on the still, night air is thrilling, and visitors from many paris of Brlaium come on Mbuday evenings in summer to a seend romantic and weish. One ean ascond the tower and stand beneath the bells which are open to the sky, but the semiwooden staircase is nurrow, dark, and somewhat dangerous.

After counting 350 steps, i suddenly forgot how many, for a huge fellow was coming down with no room to pass.

Go bactr, please," I said. He answered, "Neín, nein" and came on like nn clephant. 'Oh, hat's your game, is it!' I replied, and mrepared to receive cavalry."
We elashed, hut 1 was able to get in some fine beyonet work with the cibows, treading on his fect the while, by way of encouragement. 'Mrin Gott! Dander und Blitzen,' he yelled, aud with a final dig in his eapacions patunch, I got clear, It was meat and drink to gite to hear his grants all the way down.
So, my vearlers, when you are rushed on the belfy steps, rememher my recipe.

Some of the ringers whose mames appeared in No. 1 are with us tar-day-and some are not. The veteran I. G. Shade whs atictim of the motor, and paid the toll of the road. Others we can never forget. One mamorable name is missing-Bertram Prewett. Those who knew htim will ever recall his sunny smile. When the holoceusi of 1914 burst over Europe, many of our fellow-ringers exehanged the rope for the rifle, and the belfyg for the battle-front. I haw sought for their mames in the cometerjes of the Salient, wher poppics blow in Flanders fields, and where the blood of our nation was poured out like water.
Few cun stand in these hallowed bavens of peace wilbout emotion. It is a peace unbroken, save for tha sighing wind singing a requiem in the trees, save for the song of a bird piping its plantive elegy to the fallen. There they lie. All that they had, they gave. Stretching out far beyout the horizon-from Poperingh. to Passchendacle, St. Julien to Ypres, and these are but a fewthousands on thousands of headstones steam like fields of whiteming corn, the harvest of the Reaper Grim.
It makes one feel a better man to stand in the silent company of the heroic dead who found their journey's end in the garden of God. Faces we shall see no move come before the mental vision, lit now by the lamip of remembrance, and the words rise unbidden: 'These are they who came out of great tribulation.' Aye:They shall not grow old, as we who are left grow old, Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn,
At the going down of the Sun-and in the Morning We will remember them.
Some years ago a course of Stedman Caters was rung in Westminster Abhey owar the grave of the Enknown Warrior. Why nol a ringers' pilgrimase at the Monin Gate?

MR. WILLIAM WILLSON.
There are others still with us who are like Tennyson's brook. To natoo few: Lindoff, Pre, Pulling, G. Williams and, of course, J. George ("Fe of England"). The last-named must Jave been forgotton by Father Time. James, known to his frievds of the vulgar tangue as 'Jimmie,' laughs at the nla man with the hoar-glass. The hero of many tenors commenced peal ringing late in life, und in consequence is a stayer. One sebreely knows how to plach Jimmie in Shakespeare's - Seven Ages of Man. \({ }^{\text { }}\). Always interesting aud volatile, though never more so than when at the Central Connoil meetings, he secks the hable repnation, even at the camons mouth, , notwithstanding the Canom in the diair deftly spikes Jimmie's guns. He telis me that lae sibll relains that Kuschera feeling, is as spry as a greyhound, and bas taken at lease of his house that runs out when he is 130 years old. He is worried becanse he thinks he will have to renew the lase. His namm, also, appeared in No. I of 'The Bellringer' in 1907. Laoking Eurther back, I find two famous names also in No. 1 of 'Campanology' in 1896, but what is most remarkable the same two appeared in No. 1 of old 'Bell News' iu 1882. They are Messra. C. F. Wimey and F. E. Dawe, and both are still in peal-ringing Jiarness

In a review of two decades we camot but be impressed by thu new methods and systems evalvei, and one wonders what the ringers of old would lave thought. 'J'Jere are those who will adopt nothing without a precedent, ablivions to the fact that everylhing that exists was once its own precedent. This retrospect is in no wise controversial, but the fact remains that some features of modern ringiog have evoked divided opinions. It could be argued that methode like 'Little Bob,' where the trebie only rings Minimus, ought to be scrmpped from Major grethods, on the ground that it never does the work. On the other hand, I recollect \(k\) poal of Stedman Caters where the seveath bell never weat in slow.
The splicing (within the lead) of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob raghat fity be described as "neither lish, fowl, nor good red herring, as it is only rung by extraneous calls, but this is not altogether new, for Sottanstall produced the idea in 1867. I would, however, like - see a Plain Course of 'Mixed Treble Bob.'

The real splicing of methods, both plain and Surprise, is on a firmer foundation, aud has come to stry, compelling, as it does, the utmost skill of composer, conductor and ringer. Slipway thought in 1816 that London Surprise might be rung if a band could be found clover enough to practise it. What would he think is 1930 when 5,8 and 10 or more Surprise methods are rung, all compressed within a true peal of 5,000 changes?

Peals have been rung under vaxious condilions. Once on the sea, and several touches down a coal mine are tho present limits. No ane seems to be sufficiently ambitious to attempt a handbell peal either down in a submarine or up in an airplave. The coal mine would not be 30 bad. I have been down 1,000 feet, and except for the atnospliere, which is a bit pusty, there should be so difficulty; Chose Londion xingers who live almost continually in tho 'Tubes ; would be quite at home. The airplane is a diferent proposition. If anyone contemplates it, I advise a trial futter first. Except in the tail of a Haudley-Page, the roar of the "Prop.' is like thunder, air sicknoss is worse than sea water, and if the pilot should decide th do a litlle stunting, such as 'the Falling Leaf,' 'Spiral nose dive,' do a little stuuting, such as 'the Falling Leaf,' 'Spiral nose dive," or "loop the loop '-well, the striking would get a lit mixed, to say nothing of the ringers.
rliere is a feat, howerer, that remains undone. I think I ans light in saying that no peal has yet been rung on the Contiment of Furope outside the Britisk Isles. A lanalbell baud could easily ring peals in France, Belgium, Hollend, and Germany iu a week's tour. Dunkerque, Ostend, and Sluis are all in a 50 -nile radius. Cologne ould be taken at leisuye. There is-or was-a monsler 35 ton bel! at Cologne, with two wheels for swinging, and the cannons forming a royal crown. A call coulry be made at Brussels, and a tribute paid to the grave of Nurse Cavell. I should be glad to join such a party. This is looking forwatd, but when the younger ringers reack ing 2,0001 number of 'The Ringing World' in 1849 , may they theu look back on sonething attempted and something done.

Well, bere we are at the end of the programme. Talking is dry work, and my bearings meed lubrication. There is just anothei lose in the dispensary, now, as my private Muse is nudging my arm I give yau

\section*{ONE OF JTHE FIRST CONTRTBUTORS TO 'THE RINGING} WORLD.
There has been no more trenchant pen in ringing journalism than hati of Mr. Williaro Willson, who was a contributor to the first number of 'The Ringing World -and many subsequent issues-and etingh to-day in reminiscent vein.
In his many contributions to the ringing press, Mr. Willson, in erious mood, lias been a canstic writer, and often a formidable undgonist to those with trhorn he disagroed. When he fels down to business he has a way of saying things which arake his opponents it \(1 p\) and think, for he never hesitntes to call a spade a spade.
Thorn on August \(124 \mathrm{~h}, 1868\), Mv. Willsou began ringing at the early ige of ten years, and he has now rung over 330 peals of \(5,000,6,000\), \(7,000,10,000,11,000,17,000\) and 18,000 changes, proving that he is as thacious at the end of a bell rope as he is in debate. Fe conducted Lie lixst seven-mothod peal for the Midiand Counties Associetion, Hand also peals of 7,001 Grandsire. Caters, 10,176 Kent Treble Bob Major, 10,182 Bab Major, and 11,008 and 17,104 Double Norwich history when Ehey rang the famous 18,027 Stedman Oaters at Loughborouglt Parish Ghurch. Among other natable performances in which the has taken part have been 'silont' peafs of Stedman Triples, Chlers. and Cinques (on handbeils), and the first peais of Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise in Leicester. Mr. Wilkon was for some years hon. freasurer of the Midland Conaliog Association, of which he is at present one of the representaliveg on the Central Council, and is Ringing Master at the Church of Sl. Joha-ihe-Dirine, to fhich tower lie gave two trebles ocomplete the ring of ten.

\section*{THE INFLUENCE OF THE RINGING PRESS.}

books on ringing, notably those of the Snowdon series, lave havorporated in their pages reprints of all the epoch-makiug artictes in former issnes of "Bell Nows" and "The Tinging Workh' so lhat ringers of the present day aro thoroughly and firmuy set standing on their own feed in tho science of ringing, and are abte flemselyes to go aberd with any new views of then own, or to apprecirte what is or what is not of real and permanent ralue in the idens of cibrrs. In fine, we may truly say that, while on the one hand the fanition and infueace of the Excreise to-tay are largely due to its umu initiative aud organisation, to ils diocesan and caunty guilds and associations, to its supply of modern books and treatiscs, and, vi course, to modern means of transport and intercourse, it bas ben and still is the case, that all these advantages have been mate known and brought homo to each and every individual ringen by the ringing press, and for many years past aoleiy by 'lhe Ringing World,' to which with all our heart we wish every success anil a long period of continued and increasing usefulness in the luture

\section*{THE REV. CHARLES D. P. DAVIES}

IFVESTIGATOR AND AUTIHOR
Although a ringer and conductor of no mean order, it is not so much for his work in this department of the Exerotse flrat the Rtw. C. D. P. Dattes has made his imprint on the art. He is best known for lis important Iabours in the investigation of Graudsire and Sichman Triples, the results of which solved many of the problems which baflled earlier compesers, and which, embodied in the 'Snowdon" volumes, hape become standard works upan the questious involved. In addition to his services in this direction, Mr, Davies has laid ringing under an obligation to him by the gervices lae rendered as lon. secretary to the Gentral Council for twenty years. In addition M.: Daries filled, for some four or five years, the position of editor af t.he ringing column in "Church Belis.

The Rev. C. D. P. Drvies was born at Tewkeatury Ficarame, Glos, on September 12th1, 1856, the eldest sou of Camou C. G. Dnvies, who was Vicar of Towkeshury fron 1846 until his deall in 1877 , anil who initiated a great scheme for tho restoration of the thbey-a work which he did not live to see fmished. Last Feay his son preaclied at the jubilee celebration of the completion of the reshomtion, thas forging a memonable link in the history of the fimous clamet.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies bergan his ringing at Tewkesbury tower, but progress was slow. by great perseverance, however, the cumpany taught themselves to ring first Grandsire Doubles end Hen? Grandsire Triples, and Mr. Davies eventualiy had the satisfaction of dinging a peal with tha band on their own bells. Affer his father's death the lamily romoved to Cheltentam, where, during Facations, Mr. Davies, who was then at Oxford Universily, rang with HuCheltenham company- At Oxford MF: Daries practised with the University Guild, of which he became hon. sec. and afterwards Master. Mr. Davies was ordained th 1880 at Lichineli Githeriral to the curacy of Whitchurch, Salop, where he warked up the lecal company to ring Stedman Triples. Going next to Chaceley, in Worcestershire, Mr. Davies completed and published his work on Grandsire, which was afterwards incorporated in Snowdon's standard work upon tht method. After filling curacies al Redmarley, Worecstershire and Whiteshill, Gloucestershire, he went to Ringraer, Sussex, where anco more the existence of a ring of eight bells eniabled lim to concli 1 band. His next appointment-to the living of Tast Marden, a vilage among the South Downs-took him to a chureh withotht a ring or bells, but his association with tho Exereise vecame mote intinube than ever by his being elector hou. secretary and theasurer of tho Centmal Council, on the death of the Re5. H. Earle Bulwer. Thas important office bo occupied for no less than iwenty years and filled wilh ability, punctiliouspess and courtesy. When he retired in 1921 the Counctit presented him with \(\Omega\) 'Luvitg eup" as a smin] loktu uf' their appreciation of his long services.

In 1902 Mr . Devies accepted the living of Fretherne, Gloucestrrshire, where loe remained for many years. He was again in at parint without a peal of bolls, but he became Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, of which he trat heen othe of litu founders. He was in the office wher tive associntion celobrated ils 25 th Jear', and by a bappy coincidence the was agair Master in 11 . jubilee yoar of the association. After a long perion at Frethern. Mr. Davies occupied for a few years the livifg of Deane, mun Andover, and since lis retirement has heen living nl. Kemorlon, Tewkesbury, where, despite physical hatulicaps wills which jliness hus left him, ho still keonly follows the developments of ringlng, and has contributed to the literature of the art nithtier aseful publication under the titie of 'Odds and Ends of Grandsire Triples,"

Mr. Davies has, unfortunately, no record of his peals, but they cover tho standard methods on eifht and ten bells, and include tho 13,054 Stedman Caters at Choltmham. There is, lowever, no vart stick by which his services to the Exercise can be measured. JTis researches fifty years ago laid the foundation of much of the knowledge which is the common property of riager's and composers troday. Priaciples, which his painstaking labours discovered, are and cepted facts from which modern inveatigators start; his compoeitions of Graudsire and Stedmau are classies.

MR. J. A. TROLLOPES WORK FOR THE EXERCISE. (Continued from page 333 .)
Termoundergate, Norwich. This company, who are all well known in the Exerise, was made up of Mr. Trollope, the brothers Burton, Mr. C. E. Borreit, afterwards for maty years gecretary of the Norwich Diocesan Association, and now one of its viec-presidents, and Mr. Alfed W. Brighton, who later migrated to London athd who has fuen a risitor to towers in every corner of tho country. Three memkers of this band aye to-day nacmbery of tho Cental Council.
Mr. Trollope's activities in the belfry have been very considerable, ancl his peals, from Doubles to haximus in many metbods, number 110 arly 400 , the longest being 11,200 Bob Major on handbells, which stood for many years as the record length 'in lanud.' He has rung porl in eath of 20 Major methods, which must be almost, if not quite, is record, in addition lio another method in which the composition proved false, and two othors which were included in the peal \(\Rightarrow\) ten Spliced Surprise Xajor methots, in which be took part, as well as in the peals of 4,5 , and 6 Splieed Surpitse methods.
in the realm of nethod construction and peal composition and in his many short treatises on these und cognate subjects, as well as an the listorical side of the ant, contributed to ringing journals, Mr. Trollope has rendered lasting service to the Exercise. Articles from his fluent pen constantly appeared in 'Hell News' and 'Gampanology, while in 'The Ringing World' his contributions, alwnys lucid and gifled, have been a fonture of interest. His "Notes by the Way \({ }^{3}\) which were published regularly for a time and now make nceasional appearances, are often critically analytical and always informative and interesting.
Ihese are amang the fhitgs which are known to the ringing fratemity. What is not so generally, known is the vast amount of work which Mr. Trollope has tone is the interests of the scienco bebind the deor of his own study. A great deal of this has been in collaboration with the Rev. IT. Law James ant others, solely for the leneft of limgers in gencral. Some of the results of these years of labour Gave made their appearance through the Gentral Council the shapo of the "Collection of Plain Majol and Gater Methork" and in the revised 'Collection of Minor Methods,' which is awaiting publication. The Council and the Exereise are fottunate in having men life Me. Trollope, and those with whom lee has been associated, ready to give their time and knowledge la work of this kind, with dat any sort of persanal reward. In addition, Mr. Trollope has also wridten one or two books on tise science of ringing, which are in MSE. for private circulation.

Wr. Trollope's connection with the Central Council began in 1897 Whoth ho wos elected as re representative of the Norwich Diocesan Association, and he las been an honorary member since 1900 . He is thus one of tha oldest members of the Council. Ho has served on the Mothods Committee From 1899, and several other commitiees. He is now a viec-president of the Middlesex County Assoointion and London Diocesan Gutd.

\section*{LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION QUARTERLT MEETTNG AT ABERGAVENNY}

A well-ntonded and suceesfind meeting was held at Abergavenny on Eaturday last, and will not soon be forgoten by those who paid the vigit, Abergavenny, sitated amongst bentiful scenery and hills at the north-west end of the diocese, possesses a ling of eight bells, und is a very different place to visit, from a ringer's point of view, 10 whal it was a few yeara ago. Acecs to the tower was then almost impossibin, hat to-dny the heartiest and most cordial welome is given by a genial amm entliasinglic bond, amongat whom is Mr. W. HorsingLons, this yenr's Mayor of Abergnvemy.
The hells were raised enrly in the aftemoon and, contrary to the axperience of in Yortshive corvespondent of 'The Ringing World,' as reported in the last issue, everyone luad the opportunty of a ring. The Master, Mr. W. Pike, had charge of the tower, and saw to it that no one lad to go atway disappointed or hat to wait loug for a pull. Spryice was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. M. E. Davies), whose idklress was ouch appreciated. A move was then mathe to the ald Priory buildings, nos ownerl by the charel authoritics, where a bountiful tea hat been Feneroysly provided. At the outset, the Vicar cxtented a weleome to all, and this was followed by a cordial welcome ly the Mayor. very successifl meeting of the Peak District was held on Saturarriving at Youlgreave about 3 p.m., risitors were informed that no ringing could take place owing to illness nearby, and for a time it lookeil as if a great disappointment was in store for a large gathering. Thanks, however, to the kindness of Mr. A. G. Wallace, the use of the fine peal of bells at Bakewcll, phout four miles distant, was ohtained, and eventually the whole of the visitors arrived there, fand ringing took place from 4 to 8.30 p.m. Between 30 and 40 ringers antived during the afternoon, and some very good ringing was accomplished, ranging from Loudon and Superlative, through Donble Norwich, Oxford Treble Bob, Stedman, Bob Major and Grandsire, to rounds and call changes, so that all should be satisfied and no one should go short of the chazuce of a ring.
Ringers aud friends were present from Bakewell, Baslow, ButterLey, Chesterfield, Darloy Dale, Dore, Duffeld, Eyam, Great Longstone, Eathersage, Matloci and Pipley, and again, through the efforts of Mr. Wallace, a substantial tea was arranged at short notice at the Wheatsheaf, which was followed by a short business meeting? presided aver by the Tev. W. P. Wright, of Eyam, and at which several items of business were disposed of.
The next meeting was arranged for the historic Church of Eyan, with its musical light ring of six, probably on June 14 th, and an espectally bearty vote of thanlss was accorded to Mr. A. G. Wrallace and the Bakewell ringers for their eflorts in converting what might have been a most disappointing afternoon into a very successful meeting.

THE \(18 \ddagger\) TON RINGING BELL, the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at Riverside Chorce, New York, U.S.A

The peals analysis for the year 1929, which is published in this issue, again reveals a falling off in the number of peals rung. The difference between last year and the year before was only 37, but it followed on a much bigger decline in the preceding twelve months, and is the lowest total since 1921. The report of the committee and the tables which they have prepared will be perused and closely examined by those interested in peal ringing and who look upon the analysis as the barometer of the Exercise. There are many ringers who take the view that peal ringing is the least important part of the art. With this view we do not agree. It is true that the progress of change ringing cannot be entirely judged either by the number of peals or the quality and variety of the methods, but in our opinion these things do indicate to the observant whether enthusiasm for the art and enterprise in its application are advancing or suffering under a temporary cloud of apathy. It is usually in those associations which have the highest percentage of peal ringers that the standard of change ringing is best; and the greater the ambition for peal ringing among the members the keener they are upon attaining good striking, and, what is also important, discharging their Sunday duties in the belfry. The indications which can be gathered from a careful study of the peals analysis are, therefore, not unimportant in diagnosing the health of the Exercise generally, and it is for this reason that the tables and report have a value as welt as an interest, especially whem they are compared with those of the preceding year.

In the figures for igzg there are certain disquieting fentures, apart from the reduced aggregate of peals, and the most: striking of these seem to be the drop of nearly one hundred in the number of ringers who rang their first peal and the still greater fall of 366 in the number who rang their first in a new method or method on a latger number of bells. The drop in both these categories follows upon a fall of lesser extent in each ith the preceding year. Is thrs an indication that fewer young ringers are taking an interest in peal ringing; that they are less ambitious, and is it another illustration of the now familiar story of 'other attractions'? Whatever the reason may be, it is, we suggest, a matter to which the ringing organisations sholid give close attention. In every association there are large numbers of ringers who have never rung a peal, and it will be worth while searching for and applying means of creating enthusiasm and ambition among these members of the Exercise. Success in a peal is often the factor which turns a man from indifference to keenness, and it is obvious that unless the supply of peal ringers is maintained there must ultimately be such a slump that the art itself will suffer badly.

TONBRIDGE DISTHICI ELECTS 29 MEMBERS.
The spring meeting of the Tonbridge District was held at Marden on Saturday, May 17th, and was atrended by about 30 members. Ringing commencel about three otclock in mothods raskging from firaulsire to Cambridge with rounds for tho young begianers. An agreable surprise was the arrival of the hon. genernl secretary, Mr. \(\mathrm{H}^{\mathrm{F}}\), M. Mitchoh, and his visit was much apprcciated by the nombers. The scrvice was conducted by tile Vicar (Rev. J. A. Finch), while M1. W. E. Pitman, of Canterbury, presided at the organ. Tea wns partaken of in the Hill Tea Roonis. The husiness meeting was held in the vestry, Mr. F. M. Mitchell presiding, when 29 nem practising members were olceted, incuinding 19 nembers of the local band.
The District Secretary annaumed that the next meeting would be hold at Hever carly in July, and Mr: G. Edwards would endeavour to obtain permission to view the Castle and grounds.
In replying to a vate of thatks for the use of the bells and for ponducting the service, the Vicar exteaded a hearty welcome to thic nembers. This was the first time he had had the plessure of meeting thrm, lie said, but he hoperi it would not be the last. He was very glat that his ringers had joined the association. The reverent gentlennan then proceeded to give a humorous discription of an expected enil on the telephone when he armived home, from a lady living opposite the church who, he said, had not yet developed an car for bell music.
This ended the meeting, and the members then induiged in more ringing.

\section*{PENZANCE BRANGE FESTRVAL.}

A very successful minor ringiog festival of the above branch was Ield an Saturday, May 17th, at St. Keverne, between sixty aad suventy ringers athending, representing the fowerg of Truro Cathedral, Galval, Phillack, St. Filary, Helston, St. Anthony, Manacean, I'owednack and St. Keverue. The churcls at St, Keverne is the happy possesmor of a line peal of eight (tener 18 ewt.) hy Messrs. 'Traylor and Co. Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m., and continued nontil 4.30 , when a short service, condacted by the Vicar, the Rev. E. C. Norris, was hold. The address was giver by the diacesan secrelary (the Rev. W. F. R. Trewhella). He spoke of the duties of ringers as churchworkers, and emphasised that they wero very important as auch, as by their example they might be the means of bringing others to the church who never at present showed near.
After the service a substantial tea, kindly provided by the Vicar and churchwardens of Sti. Koverne, was partaken of. A hearty vote of thanks to the Viear for the use of the bells, also for his help and the churohworkers in providing the tes, was proposed by the Ringing Master (Dr. John Symons), who, in the course of his speceh, gava a few helpfui hints to the ringers.-This was seconded by the diocesan secrelary-The Vicar, in replying, said it wias a pleasure to de able to help in any way to the welfare of ringing. He appreciated what his own men did, and he was sure these festivals helped and slimulated ringers immensely.
The Viee-Master (Majar C. F. Terram) was alsn present, and helped tonsiflerably to the success of the meeling. Among the visitors were the Rector of Phillack, the Vicar of Manacas and the genial secrelary of the Truro Brench.
After tea the bells ware started again and kept going until about 8 p.m. At the committce meeting following, it was decided to hold the next festival at Ludgvan about the third week in September.

We record to-day a peal rung by meabers of the Boy Scoutg' ssociation at Orer on Saturday to commemorate Empire Day.
Frequent complaints are heard, mrites Mr. W. Bibby, of Frodsham, hat recruits cannot be obtained to fill vacancies in the balfry. I think the peal of Bob Major rung al Over, Cheshire, on Saturday last, by eight Scouts, points the way. Frodshem is pleased to have had three members of their company included in the band.

\section*{AN OCTOGENARIAN RINGING CLERGYMAN.}

DEATH OF THE REV. O. S. WAEFORD
On tha day before his 82nd birthday, the Rev. 0 . S. Waltord passed amay at Haslemere, Surrey, on Mity 14th. The deceasend clergyman, whose father was second aaster at the Old Charterhouse in London, was educated at Cliartarhouse and Trinity Gollege, Gambridge, bad received his theologioal training at Wells College, from which he went to Haslemere in 1871 as carate. Subsequently he filled curacies in other places, and became Vican of Holy Trinity, Gosport, where he stayed for five years before going to tha Rectory of Liss in 1899. Here he remained until 1922, when tho retired from active ministerial work and weat to reside again in Haslemere, where he was always ready to give assiatames in the services of tho Church.
The Rev. O. S. Walford was greatly intereated in ringing, and was an active ringer for some time, although his opportunities wore few. He was a life member of the Winchester Guild, and one of the foundation life members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild. As long as ha was able, he delighted to sit in the churchyard at Haslemere and listen to the ringing of peals, and his personal iaterest in the Haslemere band was shown by the fact that he regularly had the young members at his house and taught them change ringing ous handbells-be could ring two eilher to Grandsire or Stedman Doubles.
The deceased was buried by the side of his wife at Libs on May 17ib, and on Sunday the bellis at Haslemere were rung half-muffled for all three services, a touch of 1,115 Grandsire Catera being rung in the evening by H. Furlonger 1, R. Hayes 2, R. Orery 3, F. Bowdea 4, J. S. Goldsmith (conductor) 5,-B. Elliott 6, J. H. B. Hessa 7, M. Smither 8, A. J. Barileit 9, W. Eltridge 10.

\section*{RINGING ON THE CONTINENT.}

\section*{To the Editor}

Sir,-Mr. Willson, in his remarks last week, mentions the fact that he has no recollection of a peal on the Continent. In my fortheoming 'History' I have noted the following: "The Colloge Youths crossed the Channel to Galais June and, 1732, and there rang a course of Cinques, and "anatber when they were half seas over." Also the Cumberlands record the firgt peal ever accomplislied on the Continent of Europe' when on handbells they rang HoIt's tenpart Grandsire Triples in 2 hus, 35 mins. at the "Roulevard Bon Nouvelle à Paris' on Sunday, July 15th, 1855, viz.: Edward Eawyer 1-2, John Cox (conductor) 3-4, Gornclius Andrew 5-6, George Banis 7-8. -Yours sincerely, Leicester.

\section*{BELERY GOSSIP.}

It is impossible to thank individually all the host of friends and well-wishers who have sent us their congratulations upon our onethousandth number. Will they therefore kindly accept this axpres. sion of our indebtedness to them?
It is guatifying, iodecd, to know that not only was last week's number particularly welcomed, but ihat the work whieh "The Einging World ' has striven to do for nerrly twenty years has met with such general appreciation.
Many of our correspondents are proud to remind os that they have every copy from the first to the oge thousandth. For this evidence of their loyal and continued support we ask them to accapt our thanks.
The peal at St. Luke's, Wolverbampton, on May 16th, was rung for the Saciety for the Archdeaconry of Staiford.

After being silent for some time, the five-toned peal of ten hells at St. Paul's Chureh, Bedford, were heard on Friday eveming Inst when being given \(a\) 'trial spin, after being overhauled and rehung on ball bearings. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have carried out the work.
The first peal of New Cumberland Surprise Major was rung at Burton-cn-Trent on May 31st, 1886. It has never been very popultr with ringers, and \(1 t\) is some years now since a peal in the method was rung.
On June 1st, 1912, a peal of Stedman Caterg, 14,031 changes, was rung on handibells at Guildford in 7 hrs. 3 mins. Later in the year the same band axtended this record length 'in hand by ringing 19,738 .
The first 12-bell peal in Birmingham was rung on Tune 3rd, 1773. It was a peal of 5,324 Grandsire Cinques. St. Martia's is one of the few old towers which has anyining like a complete record of the peals rung on the bells.
"The new peal of ten bells " at the famous Church of St. Mary-leBow, Cheapside-which are still silent while moncy is being coillected in their name for the restoration of the churclt as well as the bellswere rung for the first time on June 4 th, 1762.

Letters from Mr. J. A. Trollope and the Rev. H. Drake, jeplying to our article on "A Lead and a Challenge," as well as a number" of peals, are unavoidably held over.

\section*{A RINGERS' PILGRIMAGE TO MENIN GATE ? To the Editor.}

Sir,-It gave me great pleasure to read Mr. Willson's suggealion of a ringers' pilgrimage to the Menin Gate, and I wish he, or someone, would ariange it. Why not the Central Council? Perhaps Canon Goleridge or the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn would ga. As ringera, we should hold a short service at the Menin Gate and then visit I'yne Cot, Passchendaele, and there in that teruble but beautiful place, amd in full fiew of the Solient, with the bandbells give our farewell salute to our late friends. As a non-tinger once sajd, handbells at the grates of the dead are the most touching expression ho had aver heard.-Yours,
A. H. PULLING.

\section*{ORIGINAL MEMBERS OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL}

To the Edilor.
Sir,-Having read Canon Coleridge's artiche on the Central Council, I would like to ask how many of the original representatives at hat first meeting are still with us? At the anmual meeting of the Lanenshire Assaciation in 1889, the Rev. F. T. Elsee and Mr. G. Longden were electod to represent us at the first meeting, and to-day Crnou Elsee is still one of the members. Mr. Longden passed to his rest some years ago, and I am afraid that the bulk of the original some years ago, and I am afraid that the bulk of the orgine members have gone from us.-Yours, ete., members have

\section*{THE PEAL AT LINCOLN.}

The second peal on the twelve at Lincoln Cathedrat was rang hy a mixed band on Saturday lasi. The visitors were weloomed by the sub-Denn, who made the long ascent into the belfry to wish success ta the ringers.

Jight of the band were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Richnedson at Surfeet for the week-end, and on Sunday enjoyed some excellent Cambridge Royal and Spliced Surprise Majar on the Surfeet bells. The latter is, by the way, the frst touch of Spliced Surprise rucg at the clatarch of the inventor of the system.
It is estimated that ahout 2,800 miles were travelled by the hand who rang the peal.

\section*{DEATH OF A BRABOURNE RINGER.}

The Ashford District and East Kent have sustained a loss by the death of Mr. Ernest Cheesman, one of a well-known ringing familyHe died in the Vietoria Hospital on April 30th, aged 55 years.
Thse funeral took place at his native village of Stowting, on May 5th, the bearers being the lecal ringers.
As illncss prevented ringing at Stowting, the bells at Brahourne (of which band he had been captain for several years) were later in the day half-muffled, and Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor rung by local ringers, assisted by Albert Tanton, an old friend from Lymingo, a broken rope preventing a peal. The deceased was a good striker and had taken part in peals in various parts of the county.

\section*{REPORT OF THE ANALYSIS COMMITTEE.}

The total number of peals rung during 1929, as shown by the analysig, was 1,665 , a decrease of 37 as compared with 1928. The following table shows the various fuctuations:-
\begin{tabular}{|c|c|c|c|c|c|c|}
\hline \multicolumn{2}{|l|}{\multirow[b]{2}{*}{Maximus}} & & Tower. & Нıдd. & & \\
\hline & & ... & ... \(\quad 23\) & & 10wer & Hanu. \\
\hline Cinques & ... & ... ... & ... 23 & 3 & 19 & 6 \\
\hline Royal & ... & ... ... & ... 49 & 4 & 52 & 9 \\
\hline Caters & ... & ... ... & 83 & 9 & 80 & 3 \\
\hline Major & ... & ... & 629 & 31 & 621 & 16 \\
\hline Triples & ... & ... & ... 359 & 5 & 381 & 5 \\
\hline Minor & ... & ... ... & 318 & 3 & 336 & \\
\hline Doubles & & ... ... & 126 & - & 146 & - \\
\hline & & & 1,610 & 5 & 1,649 & 53 \\
\hline
\end{tabular}

Tower Balts.-As will be seen, the peais of Maximus have increased, there being 6 more of Surprise and 3 in other methods. Cinques show 4 more, 3 of Stedman and 1 of Grandsire. Pealy of Surprise Royal have decreased by 4, whilst other methods have increased by 1, making the total decrease 3. The increase of 3 in Caters is mnado up of Stedman 6, Double Norwich 1, whilst Grandsire lave decreased by 4 .
In Wajor the total increase is 8 . Peals of Surprise have increaseê by 25, of which Cambridge alone accounts for 23 . Treble Bob and Plain Methods have decreased by 17. Triples have decreased ly 22, made up of a decrease in Stedman of 34 and other miethods 3, and an increase of 15 in Grandsire. Minor have decreased 18 peals, the chief variation being decreases in peals in 1 and 2 methods 37 , and increases in 3,4 , and 5 methods 20 . The decrease in Doubles is 20 , which is more than accounted for by peals in 1 method.
Handhalls.-The decrease of 3 pesls in Cinques is represeated by Stedman; that of 5 in Royal by Plain Bob 3 avid Treble Bob 2. Stcdman Caters are 7 more and Grandsire Caters have decreased 1 . Major have increased by 15, there being 17 more of Plain Bob and 4 more of Treble Bob. Triples, although being equal, show one more peal of Stedman and one less of Grandsire. Mmor have decreased by 3 peals.
Yorkshire Surprise Maximus, Melton Surprise Royal, LollGuborough Bob Major, Wellington Little Court Bob Major, and Spliced Treble Bob in the Worcester varistion have been rung for the first time. Again the Midland Counties Association have ruag most pealb, their total heing 128, a decrease of 25 peals on last year's catal. The Lancashire Association and Kient County come next will 104 nnd 100 respectively. Both totals are less than last year, I.ancashire being 15 and Kent 9 down. Twenty-eight societies show a decregse in peals, the mosti serious being the Warwickshire Associatiou, whick has uropped from 34 to 6.
On the other hand 16 associations slow an increase. The Suffolk Association, with 99 peals, linve increased by 22; the Esscs wilh 90 peais have increased by 40 . The Lincoln, Stafford A rechdeaconry and Cuester have increased by 19,18 and 17 respectively.
Without doubt the outstanding performance of the year is tho long peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus, 15,312 changes, at Ash-ton-under-Lyne, rurg under the auspices of the Lavarthire associgtion. This surpasses all previous records on 12 bells, anil was a truly wonderful fert.
No other long longth was ruag on tower bells, but a peal of Minor of 7,800 clanges was rung ou handbells by the Suffolk Guild.
Other peals worth noting are a peal of Splicel Surprise Major in 5 methods, and one in 10 methods by the Middlesex Association; Spliced Superlative and Cambridge Maximus by the Lssex Association; a nou-conducted peal of Double Norwich, one of Casmbridge Surprise Major and one of Superlative Surprise Major by the Kant County; a peal of Grandsire Triples by 4 fathers andi 4 sons for the Surrey Association; a Surprise penl by police officers for tha Middle sex Association; a 'William' peal of Kent Treble Bob 4 ajor and an 'EdFard' pent of Stedman Triples for the Kent Counts; and a \({ }^{1}\) James ' peal of Double Norwicis for the London County Association. Following are the number of peals rung each montli in 1928 and 1929:-
\begin{tabular}{lccclccc}

About thirty members and visitor's were present at the district quarterly meeting held at Derly on Saturday last, which turned out to lue very successful. Azong the wisitors were Messrs. E. C. Gobey and H. Harrison (Ilkeston), E. H. Bagworth (Leicester), J. H. Swistield (Burton), and James George (Birmingham), etc. During tho afternoon the bells of St. Luke's and St. Alkmund's were made good use of, various methods being rung and others attempted, everyboly having an opportunity to test their ability. The tine ring at St. Andrew's was reserved for the evening, and tho ringers werc welcomed by Mr. A. H. Ward, Ringing Master (in the absence of MI: C. E. Harl. The methods rung were Cambridge, Treble Bob, and Stedman Caters, the latter method proving more dificult ihan was first anticipated, but was, however, successfully brought round Rt the third attempt.
At the business meeting the chair was taken by the vice-president (Mr. Fenry Fletcher), who was supported by the hon. secretary (Mr. (Fieo. Freebrey), Mr. P. H. 'Tate, Mr' E. H. Clarke, Mr. F. Cozon, and Mr. J. Bailey. One jife menber (Mr. F. Joincr), of Stonchowse, Glos, whis electen, and the members were pleased to welcome, on the proposilion of Mr. Geo. Freebrey, the Rey. Dr. W. H. Irwin, Wicar of Duffield, as an hon, member of the M.C.A.
Mention was made of the deatl: of Ald. J. H. Grant (late Mayor of Derby), who was one of the hon. members, and the clairman nsked all present to stand in silence as a mark of respect to his memory. The noxt two places decided on for the quarterly meetings wore West Hallam and Belper respectively, due notice of which will bo given in 'The Ringing World.
Mr. John Swinfield proposed a vote of thanks to the cletgy for the use of the bells, and to the towerkeepers for having everything ready.
At the subsequent tea, which was prowided af King's Cafe, the arrangements gave every satisfaction, an edjoyable hour being spent in a room specially sot out for the oecasion.

\section*{LORD DAVIDSON'S DEATH.}

The death of Archbishop Lord Davidson lias removed a great figure fram the Church and State.
While he was Arclabishop of Canterbury he was president of the Kent County Association, and as ex-presitient he was one of those whu signed the illuminated address recently presented to the Rev. J. O. Helmore.

Lort Davidson's last appearause among ringers was in March, 1928, at the great 'rally "at Croydon, attended by a company of about 2.500. He and Mrs. DRvidsou were photographed in the Bell Foundry with Canon Coleridge and the Mayor of Croydon in front of the \(18 \frac{1}{2}\) ton bell destined for the Riverside Church, New York. Ie nfterwards adressed the great gathering mssembled at the Baths.
Mrrougliout this week the hells in many places lave been rung nuffied in memory of the late l'rimate.
At Chiddingstone, Kent, on Sunday, for marning service, a quarterpeal of Grandsire Triples in 46 mins., with the bells half-muffled, as token of respect to the late Lord Davidson: A. Wiles I, F. Longey \(2_{2} \mathrm{~J}\). Weller, Westerhum (first quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples) 3. J. Chuwys 4, H. Huntley 5, A. Longley E, E. H. Everest (conducor) 7. L. Everest 8 .

There nve 54 now conductors, and 73 conductors. in a new method. On the occasion of national thanksgiving for the King's recovery 66 peals were rung.
Other footnotes show that 51 peals wete the first on the bells; 46 since restorntion or augnentation; and 158 the first in the method on the bells. Miffied and half-muffled peals number 58 ; birthday peals 241, wedings (including silver and golden) 59 ; clurch festivals and dedications 44; Empire Dny 4; Armistice Day 14; anniversaries 63; welcome and farewell peals 46 ; and royal birthdays 12 .
The ladics still figure largely in the peal reports, and 91 have rung pals this year. Three appear among the conductors, and one peal of Rob Major was rung for the Ladies' Guild.
We conclude our report with the number of peals rung in each of \({ }_{5}{ }^{\text {reppresentative }}, 206\) ycars since 1881 , tho total for the whole period being 5",206.

\section*{RINGING COMPETHTION}

The sixth annual ringing compotition of the Swansea and Brecon Diocesen Guild was hold at Llanclly, Carmarthenshire, on Saturde5 (Empire Day), where, by kind permission of Canon Walcyn Morgan (Vicar) the bells of the Parish Church (Si. Elli) were in Hsc, whe competilors were favoured with delightul wather. Some teans had journeyed very Iong distances to compolo, and all wore delighted that \(\mathrm{Mr} . \mathrm{W} . \mathrm{H}\). Fussell, of Slongl, had ween uble once mure to hoaour the Guild as tho adjudicater of tho competitinn. His award mel with full appreval of all competitors.
In former competitions, the 'test piere' was confined to raising the bells in peal, rioging 120 changes Doubles, falling the bells in peal. In order, however, to encourage towers to interest theuselves in other methods it was decided that teams ringing Stedman or Minor metbods should have the beneff of live points, and it was pleasing to note that of the nime thams lhat entered the campetition five took advantage of such benefil.
The order of ringing and the points obtained by the severat teams were :- Talgarth

The maximum number of points obtainable was 240 , nod the figures set out above include points earnod for ringing methods othor than Doubles. It should be noted that tire local team (Llanelly, Carmarthenshire) were handicapped nine paints for the arivilege of ringiug on their own bells.
Mr. W. H. Fussell, in his report, complimented the teams on their gencrai proficiency, and stated that the competition lad been keener than in previous years, and the standard of ringing had greatly improved. Most teams lost points becallse the fourll bell was kepi rather wide on back-stroke.

Cadoxtou, Neath, the holders, managed to retain the shifeld by one point. Certificates were presentad to the first hree teams.
A cold luncheon was served in the Harish Hall at I p.ma, and tea was taken at 5 p.m.
Canon Watcyn Morgan presided at the tea table, and ho wns supported by the Rev. J. T. Dnvies (Vicar of St. Panl's, Llanelly), Rer. E. J. Kingabury (Llanelly), Rev. W. Gurnos Davies (Vicar of Llanelly, Breconshire), Minor Cauons Gomer Davies and David J. Jones (Brecon), the Rev. D. Thouas (Gailoxtan, NeaLi), arul other clergy.
After lea, Onnon Morgan referred to the death of Dr: T. Price Thomas, Brecon, the donor of the shield, nnd the company present stood and observed a few minutes' silence. Dr. Thomas took a great interest in the bells and ringers at Bracos. It was at his suggeation that this competition was to be hold on Empire Day, or the Saturdny nearest thereto.
Canon Morgan gave the company a very warm welcomo into bis patish, and hoped they had as much pleasure out of their visit as be had in having the ringers there in such strong numbers, Thero were 80 ringens present at lunch, but by tor time there was it muster of about 100 . Mu. Fussell was then calleal upon to deliver his ndjudication referred to above, after which Canan Morgan presented thas shield and certificates to the successful terms.
The thanks of the company wero given to Canon Morgan and his band of lady workers for the welcome, and tho very exinllenti luncheon and tea provided free of charge, on the proposition of the Rev. W. Gurnos Davies, secanded by Rev. J. T. Davies. 'the proposer then called for three clieers, and these were heartily given.
Canon Morgan, responding, said the work of providing lunchion hud been attended to by Mr. Harding, his churchwarden at All Suints' Church, whilst the ladies were responsible for providing tea, and Mr. Harding was thereupon asked to speak. He expressed his pleasure in being able to do a small service to the ringers, and loped they had enjoyed themselves.
Mr. Fussell was heartily thanked for his services alfo.

\section*{ESSEX ASSOCIATION \\ TOINT DISTRICT MEFTING}

On Selurday (Empire Day) the North-Eastern and Northern Divisions of the Essex Assaciution held a mecting at Great Tey, when nhout 50 members from 17 churchos, and a lady ringer and other visitors from Cambs attended and rang touches. A special service was held, conducted by the Rev. Sainti, who wefoged the ringers, and also spoke on the Empire Day spirit.
Afterwards tea was served at the liotel adjoining, when the Rey. Afterwards tee was serwed at the hotel adjoining, when the Rev.
Saint presided, supported by Mr. C. H. Hnward (Master of the association), Mr. W. J. Nevard, Mr. Ridgewell (Earls Colna), Mr. Stannard (Colchester), and dher prominent ringers from the distriets.
Mr. Howard proposed a vote of thanks for the use of the bells, and to the Vicar for his address, elso to the choir and organist for their help in making the meeting a success.

\section*{SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD. \\ WAR MEMORLAL FUND COMPLETED.}

In accordance with the rule of the Guild requiring the annual meeting to he lield in the area of the rifferent branches in rotation, the festival of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild was held at Calne, Wilts, on Saturdny, May 17 th . Some foubts had been expressed as to the advisnbility of holring it at a point somewhat difficult of aceess and far removeri from the greater part of the diocese. All such misgivings, however, weve eampletely diasipaterl by the result. Some ninety members assemhled in the grand old Parish Church, with its fine bells and magnificent organ, at I2. 30 p.m., and took part in one of the most inspiling ringers' setvices ever held. The singing was led by fwenty surpliexd choristers with exquisitely trained voices, and the special parima ind bymns were accompanied by the arganist with thrilling effect. The oflice was intoned by the honorary secretary of the Guild, aud the lesson reat by the senior assistant priest. The Ven. Arohdeacon Coulter, Vicar of Calne, in the course of an intensely interesting uddress, spoke of the nneient history of Calne Church and its close connection with Salisbury Cathedral, aud quoted a very carly reference to the ringing of the bells, while the Te Deum was sung, on the appointment of a former Viear of Calne as Archbishop of Canterbury- In extending a fearty welcome to the Guild, the Archdeacon commended the wisdom of occasionally wisiting the extreme points of the dioceses, in spite of the cost and secrifice entailed, and aptly remarked that the activities of the body are not confined to the region round the heart but extend to the fingers and other extromities.- A collection taken in aid of the war memorial fund amounted to \(£ 20 \mathrm{~s}\). 7d. At the close of the service a beautifully struck touch of Grandsire Triples was fung, and the company then sat down to hncheon in the Town Hall, which was most attraetively. decorated with flags and lowers. The catering was undertakcin by Maslen's Cafe, aud the arr'migements made refected great credit on the firm.
After the King's healit had been drunk witli musical honours, the anuanl meeting ensuent, wnder the presidency of the Master, Fev. R. H. Gundry.

The stalement of accounts was approver, showing a working halnnee in land of \(£ 97\) 16s. 1d. The Rev. R. H. Gumdry was tee clected Master, and Rey. F. Lh. Edwateds secrelary. Mr. F. Greer whe elected assistunt secretary, Rer. R. E. G. Newman and Mr. H. R. Hopkins nuditore, the Bishop of Sherborine, the Dean of Salisbury and Mr, 'T1. Herwey Beams vice-presidents, and Rev. F. Ll. Edwards and Messrs. T. H. Beams, S. Hillier and C. H. Jennings repregentaliyes on the Central Catneil. Masses. C. Fi. Jeanings, W. Townsend and 1 . A. Wilsou were appoluted belfy inspectors in addition to Mr. S. Fiflier.
The Masier and Secretary both expressed the general regret at Mr. Berms' enforced retirement from office on account of falling health, and spoke in eulogistic terms of his valuable services to the Ginild.
Mr. Bearns had the satisfaction of reporting that his great labour of love, flue raising of \(£ 200\) for the ringers war memorial in the Catiedral, had been brought to a successful conclusion. Not only had the full amount been subsoribed, hut he was able to produce ns the finshing touch to the memorial the Guild badge, skilfully carved in onk by Mr. Northover, of Bridport, amd handsomely gilded and coloured. The Master expressed the cordial thanks of the Guild both to Mr. Beams and Mr. Northoves.

It was agreed to make two additions to the rules, and a grant of two gaineas was roted towarils the restoration of the grand peal of bells at Heytesbury.
Mr. C. D. Heginhothom proposed a vote of thanks to the Arch deucon, organist and choristers, for their respective parts in the service, to the ladies and gentlemen responsible for the decoration of the hall, and to the incumbents of the various churches for allowing the use of the bells. Tite Arohaeacon briefly replied, and the meeting conchuded with a vote of thanks to the chairman, proposed in \(a\) wilky speech by fine Rev. A. II. T. Clarke,
Eleven towers were open for ringing, and touches in the standard methods were enjoyed by visitors from all parts of the diocese, many of whom had travelled sixty on soventy miles to take part in the festival.

\section*{LEARNERS AT DISTRICT MEETINGS. \\ To the Editor.}

Denr Sir,- think our ringing friend, Mr. Harrison, of Conishorough, wfuld have acted more wisely land he brought his complainl re ringing arrangements at Rotherham on Easter Monday hefore members of his association at a district meeting (instead of the whole Exercise). Personally, I cannot think the Yorkshite Association care less for the lenrner than other guids or associations. My experience of over fifty fears of guild aud association meetings is that over two-thirds of the ringing time is given up to the lanmer, and if the opportunity is not seized when, say, \(a\) 'first eleven team' are in line tower, the mecting goes of without a touch on the top line.'
We, as ollicers, know that we have to eater for all-that is from tounde to the top-line ringer. GEORGE WILLIAMS, Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

BEDFORD DISTRIGT VISITS TWO FITw-BELL TOWERS.
On Safurday last a successful and enjoyable meeting of the Redford District was held at the two five-bell towers of St Marys, Keysoe, qud All Saints', Riseley. Keysoe was first visited, and the bells were raised about three o'clock and rung until 4.30 to touches of Grandsire, Plain Bob and St. Simon's Doublos. An excellent tea awaited the company on arrival at Riseloy, to which full justice was done.
At the business moceting \(\mathrm{Mr}^{2}\). Harry Chapman (a welcome and regular attendant at the Bedford District's mectings) took the chair. Before ealling upon the secretary to read the minutes of the last meeting, Mr. Chapman said he had with him the annual repori of the association for 1886-1887, and, now, after being away from the neighbourhood for many jears, he was back amoagst them, and, looking back over forty years, he was proud of the progress the association had made. In that jear only about eight or nine towers in the county belonged to the association in the neighbourhood of Berford and Woburn. In those days Luton, Leighton Buzzard aud Dunstable did not belong, but to-dey the Laton District was a stronghold of change ringing. Continuing, Mr. Chepman said he would like to mention ane or two names of men who by their keenness and enthusiasm in the carly year's had done much work-the late Mr. I. Hills, and Mr. Herbert, of Woburn, and Mr. C. W. Clark, who was still amongst them. To-tlay they were reaping the benefit of what these men did. He was ploased to see at the zmual meeting of the association that a distriot ought to be formed in the Ampthill area, and he appealed to members to support, the meetings when held there. This was an sure sign of progress, and he was glad the five-bell towerg were being visited, as it was by holding meetings as they were doing on that day that eathusiasm could he created.
Mr. J. Church, of St. Paul's, Bedford, was reelected a member of he association, while Norman Inskip aud Ronald Ford, of Kompston, were slected new merabers
It was decided that the next meeting be held at Stagsiden, and it never paicil a wisit to this tower before.
A hearty vate of thanks to the Vicars of Keysoe and Riseley and to Mr. Farry Chapman for taking the chair at the meetirg, was heartily accorded.
Ringing was indulged in at Riseley until eight o'cleck in Grandsirc, Stedman, Plain Bob and St. Simon's Doubles. Twenty members were present during the day from Bedford (St. Paul's and Stt. Peter's), Kempston, Turvey, Keysoe, Riseley, Great Stmughton, Claphara and Stagsden, with visitors from Woolaston and Ruslden.

\section*{NEW RTNGING MASTER IN GUKDFORD DISTRICT.}

Between 30 and 40 members attended the Guildford District ancelirg of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at Witley on Saturday, where they were welcomed by the Ficar-designate (Rew. P. f. Holden), who was inducted to the living two clays later. The new Yicar, before the war, learnt to handle a bell at Auncorn, Cheshive, and was induced to make a fresh start in his new parish. The Rev. P. G. Holden will, it is hoped, prove on acquisition to the Guild, which is badly off for "ringing parsons.
He conducted the Guild's service and delivered an address based upon the precept, "Practise what you preach.'

At the meeting following tea in the Parish Room, the Master (Major J. H. B. Hesse) presided, supported by the Viear-fesigutite and Admiral T. P. Walker (hon. treasurer) -
The resignation of Mr. A. H. Pulling as Ringing Master of the district was received with regret, mud Mr. R. Hayes (of Haslemere) was elceted to fill the vacancy, subject to his agreeing to act.
It was decided to transfer Dunsfold tower from the FiIstlemere group to the Guildford South group for the parposes of combined practices.
a resolution of acep regret was passed upon the death of the Rev. O. S. Walford, of Raslemere, a life member of the Guild.

On the motion of the Master, congratulations were accorded to the Editor of "The Ringing Worid," who is also general hon. seoretary uF the Guild, upon the completion of one thousand issues of this journal. The Master expressed the hope that all the member'f of the Guild would support it.-Wr. Galdsmith acknowledged the motion, remarking that lis greakest recompense had been the many motion, romarkigg that his greatest recompense had we日n the many friendships he had made and retained among ringers throughout the country.

A vote of thauks to the Ficar-designate and argauist coneluded the meeting; and further ringing was clone

THE 181 TON RINGING BELL, the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at Riverside Cudrce, New Yors, U.S.A

The dearth of motions put down for discussion at the Central Council meeting next Tuesday revealed in the first publication of the agenda, and which was commented upon by the President in his article in our one thousandth number, has been remedied by the inclusion of items permitted by an elastic interpretation of the rules. It did not, however, follow, because there were no motions for debate, that the Council would have little business to transact. The first session of every new Council always provides an additional amotnt of routine business which cannot be lightly passed over and this year, at least, the retirement of the President, and the election of a new occupant of the office, is hardly likely to be a purely formal affair. Then, too, there are the reports of the Connmittees to claim attention. Although this year there is not in view at the moment any burning question, like the Peals of Minor disputation which was brought to a head twelve months ago in the Methods Committee's aeport, the Council have an important question to decide in regard to the publication of the 'Collection of Minor Methods.' The issue of the complete work will be a costly affair, for in the revision of the Collection the Committee's anxiety to make the volume as full as possible has led them to expand it to more than twice the size of the original, and the Council have got to decide how far they can go in its printing, not only in regard to initial outlay, but also in providing a volume at a price that will be within reach of all who desire to possess it.

Three of the five motions on the agenda are put down in indefinite terms, and it is unlikely that any of them will go through without discussion. The suggestion that the Council should form a collection of lantern slides to illustrate ringing in its various aspects will surely commend itself to the members. The question of opening the door to motions in the name of affifated societies is one which we hope will be supported, at least in principle, even if its application may need modification. Of the other motions, the most important-indeed, the most important of all-is that by which discussion will be initiated on the subject of alterations in the rules of the Council, as suggested in "The Ringing World' last October. These suggestions were put forward as a means of drawing tighter the bonds between the Council and the associations, and of enabling the societies to have a direct voice in the affairs of the Council. There is a difference between a Council formed of persons chosen by associations, which are under no obligation to observe the decisions, and a Counctl formed of affiliated societies, who are pledged the accept the Councit's rulings. There (Continued on page 358.)

is a principle here which may well divide the Council, as also, probably, will be suggested alterations of the term of a member's election from three years to one year. While, of course, it is desirable that the practice should be uniform, it is not absolutely essential, and a satisfactory compromise, if one is needed, might be found in permithing societies to decide for themselves the period for which they elect their representatives. This motion is going to provide the widest scope for debate next Tuesday as far as can be judged from the printed agenda.

\section*{WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.} AlTON DISTPTCL'.
The quarterly mecting Tietel at Liss on May 10th was a pleasant one in spite of the cold and showery weather, atal was attender by ringers from Blackmoor, Bramshoti, Peterslield, Ragate and Winchester. Wost of the ringing was done at the "old 'Churel of St. Peter, where there is a ring of six. Liss is a growing piace. There is a new church, near the railway station, where a lower is heing buitt, and the suggestion has been made that the bells should be transferred there from the old church, now but litile used. Mr. J. P. Filler, of Messrs. Taylor and Co., Loughborough, happened to be present at the meeting, and was able to give the Recior same valuable advice on this matter. During the afternoon some of the party visited Hawkley, two miles distant, aud tried the bells there. The Guild service was condacted by the district secretary, aud the Rector (Rev. S. N. Sedgwick) was at the organ, and also gave nobe of his characteristic addresses, brief, thoughtfui' and inspining. "Cas was served at the Spread Eagle, where the chairman (Rev. F. G. Eyres) presided over a company of twenty-three, which inaladed the Master (Mr. G. Williams) and Mrs. Williams, Rev. S. N. Sedgwick, Mr. F. S. Bayley (Titchfield) and Mrs. Bayley, Mr. W. Androws (Winchester'), Mr. J. P. Fidicr (Loughborough), and Mr. W. Read and Mrs. Read.
At the mating which followed, Hec Chairman efferved to the recont death of Rev. E. Denneld, Rectrr of East Worldham. He was an hoa. member who liad always iaken great interest in the Guild, and lind been district suditor, aum office which he only resigned last January on account of failing leailth.
Three new members, all of Liss, were clected, which seems to show that there is a pood prospect of the band being ra-formed thero. The incumbents of Liss, Eawkley and Nowion Yalence were also proposed for election as han, members. In proposing a vote of thanks to the chairman, the Master commented on his regular allentance st the meetings, which he cousidered a shining example worthy of reenti.

\section*{FATALITY TO BEDWAS RINGER.}
& COLLIERY ACCIDENT.
We regret to announce the death of a most respectiod member of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association, Mr. Geo. H. Martin, of Bedwas, who was killed on Sunday, Myy 18th, 1930, whilst following his employmenx at Bedwas Colliery. He fell about 25 feet from a Radder and was killed instantly, Ha was laid to rest on Thursday May 22nd, at Bedwas Parish Cturdhyard, and after the funeral the bells were rung half-mufled in Grandsire and Stedman Doubles by the following: Geo. Cooke, W. Pike, T. Jones, A. Addicott, T. Love, Caerphilly, W. Hurford, Bedwas, A. E. Slatter, Machen. A peal could not be attempted owing to the bad state of the bell frame. A wreath was sent from the members of the Caerphilly tawer.
Mr. Martin was greatly respacted by all who cnme in contact with hins. He was a member of the association for about fwelve years, and had rung about lalf a dozer peals in the four standard methods. He was always willing to lend a helping hand to begimers, and will be greatly missed by the Caerplilly band, as he was a regular ringer there on practice nights. He was master of the association for the year 1929.
To his sorrowing widow, sons and daughter the members of the association tender their deepest sympathy.

\section*{PRESENTATION AT MYTHOLMROYD.}
the ringers of St. Michael's Chureh, Mytholmooyd, Yorks, have presentod Mr. Joln Wiicock, one of their members, with a suitably nuseribed ringer's budge in recognition of his 55 years' association with ringing in the tower. The presentation was made on Ascension Day at a gathering in the bolfry, by Mr. W. Carter, and the Ficnr expressed the thanks of the church and limaclf to Mr. Wilcock for his loyal service. The gift was suitably acknowledged by Mr. Wilcock.

\section*{TWENTY-SIX SURPRISE METHOD PEAL.}

To the Editor.
Dear Sir,-May we tender heartiest congratulations to the Lamber hurst band? Their peal in 26 Spliced Surprise Minor methods is a splendid porformance, which needs to be attempted to be fully appreciated. It is a record fully worthy of its 'record' in your "one thousandth.' -Yours sincerely,

GFO. DAWSON,
Hon. Secretary,

A LONG-SERTIGE BAND STLLL LINATFELATED.
A very enjoyable meeting of the North-Western Division wns held at Radwinter on May 17th. Members and visitors arrived from Hurlow, Pottar's Street, Matching, Nuzciug, Stansted, Bishop's Stortford, Roydon, Trumpington, Safiron Walden, Finchingfield, Ickloton, Sawston, Stapleford, Melfourn, Braintree, Springfiold, Long Mclford and Sudbury. The bells wore rung to various mothods duridg the after noon. Mr. G. Dent took control of tha belfy and saw that everyone had a pull set to his or her particularly desired method.
A service was held in the churclt at 5 p.na, and a very substantial ten was afterwards served to 37 at the nearby Red Lion Fotel.
Following tea, a brjef business meeting ensued, Mr. G. Dent being in the chair.
The following meetings were announced: Dunmow on Wedncsday, June 4th; a joint meetiog with the Ely Association at Icklaton of Saturday, June 21st; and at Eatlield, Broad Oak, on some Saturday is August.
Mr. L. Peacock, of Matahing, was accepled as a vinging member. Mr. G. H. Howard moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar, to the organist and especially to the blower (the varson he emplasised the blower being that the office was a wost important one, and the official a most important person, and not being seen he did not always receiva the credit due to him). -The Vicar, Rev. Whitworth, thanked Mr. Howard. He was more than plensed to welcome all ringers. His local band (seven of whom have been ringing fot over thirty years and one for fifty years) were not mombers of the association, and he hoped they would be induced to join. The vote of thanks bo would convey to the organist, and would be sure to express to the biower the appreciation of the meating. This latiter person was one of lis Scouts, aged 12, and would think himself a more important porson than ever - Ringing was continued churing the evening.

Owing to the lamented death of the Vicar of Thames Dithon, the meeling of the Chertsey District of the Guidford Diocesan Guild, which was to have been beld at Thames Ditton to-morrow, has been cancelled.
We understand that only one nomination for president of the Certral Council has been seat in, and that is Mr. Fdwin H. Lewis, who has been proposed by the retiring president (Canon Coleridge) and scoonded by the Rev. G. W. O. Jenkyn.

Members of the Central Council who attend next Tuesday's mecting would do well to take with them their copy of The Ringing Warld 'for October 18th, 1929 (No. 969), They may need it when item No. 11 on the ageuda is reached.

Messrs. Paylor and Co. are to instal a new peal of 12 bells, lenor \(12 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt., at Frimley Parish Church, Surrey, but unfortunately the bells are not to be hung for ringing in full swing-they are to be played from a keyboard.
The new peal of eight bells which is to be dedicated at Westhoughton Parish Church, Lancs, on Seturday next, June 7th, at 3 p.mi, was cast by Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and Lancashire wilt ihus have yet another of those fine and melodiaus rings which are the product the Loughborongh Foundry.
"A Shant Fistory of Bells,' the firsl iustament of which appenred in the May number, is being wruten for 'The Accessory ' (a mouthly trade journal for the Radio and allied industries), by Mr. J. R. Nichols, of Stamford, author of 'Bells Through the Ages.' Mr. Nichols bas also in hand a short series, eutitiled 'Britain's Bell Foundries,' which is to appenr in "The Mctal Industry,"
To-day is the 38 L h anniversary of the 16,608 Oxford Treble Bob Major rung, in 10 hus. 32 mins., at Debenham, Suffolk.
That number-it has previously been rung in the Kent Variationwas the longest peal of Treble Job until June 8ch, 1906, wheu 16,880 was ruug at Mottram, Choshire. This longer length, hawever, was rung on lighter bells, and occupied the shorter titne of 9 hrs. 40 rains.

It is 80 years ago next Monday that the first peal was rung in America. It was a landmark in ringing bistory. Tha peal was Folt's ten-part aud was rung at Christ Church, Philadelphia, on Sunfay, June \(9 \mathrm{th}, 1850\).

A party of ringers was in the Siutes on a haudbell music ringing tour, and fiading two or three other English ringers living in America they made up their band: I'. H. Lesage 1, C. Rahill 2, T. (1, Wade 3, H. W. Haley (conductor) 4, J. Hewett 5, W. Lobb G, E. Sawyer 7, R. Dodd and J. Davey 8. Dodrl, who was a one-legged man, rang the tenor for 2 hrs. 15 mins., when he handed it over to Davey.

\section*{RINGING PAPERS FOR MORE THAN 60 YEARS.}

Mr. 'I. E. Slater, of Glemsford, in congratulating 'The Ringing World ' upan reaching its one thousandth number, informs us tindie has in his possession a thousand numbers each of 'Clurch BeIls,' the Eirst issue of which is dated New Year's Eve, 1871, zad 'Bell News.'

Before 'Church Bells' appeared, his father, Samuel Slater, used to take 'Bell's Life,' cut out the portions relating to riuging and paste them into a pocket book.
How many instances, asks Mr . Slater, are there of a father mud son taking a ringing paper without a break for so loug?

\section*{LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.}

GRANT TOWAKDS A PEAL BOARD.
A very successful meeting of the Southern Braneh of the Lincolnshire Diocesan Guild was held at West Deeping on Saturday, abut 40 riggers being present from Peterborougli, Bourne, Spalding, StamFord, Surfleet, Edenham, Rippingale, Morton, Folkingham, Billingborough, Wymondham, Jdenmanthorpe, South Norwood, Market Duging, Deeping St. James, Deeping St. Nicholas and the local band. The musical and good-going peal of six were available during the afternoon and evening, and a variety of both Surprise and Plain methods were brought round.
The Rev. G. Dudley, Rector of West Deeping, conducted the service and gave a helpful address to the members. Tea was serverl in the schoolroom, thirty sitting down, and was followed by the business rreeting, with the Rev. F. Law James (Master of the Guild) presiding. The Rev. G. Dudley, Rector of West Deeping, and Rev. H. Williams, Rector of Rippingale, were unanimously elected linn. members of the branch. Nine performing members and two nonresident life members were also elected.
After a lengthy discussion, it was decided to bold the next meeting at Billingborough. It was thought by the members present that a peal board should be erected in West Deeping Chtirch, recarding the 10,080 changes of Minor in 14 raethods, rung there in 1927. Subsequently it was agreed upon that a grant of 82 from the hranch funds be made towards the erection of a peal board.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. Law James for presiding at the meeting, and to the Rector of West Deeping for the use of the bells and the service, to the organist and to those who lad made such excellent arrangements for the tea. Further ringing was continued until 9 p.m., when a most successful meeting concluded. C. T. H. B.

\section*{THE BELLS OF ARKLOW.}

Many ringing visilors to Ireland have made a pilgrimage to Arkow, Co. Wicklow, where, ir the sylvan surroundings of a beatutiful park, the fifth Earl of Carysfart erected ihe beartiful Proteslant church redicated Lo St. Savions, and presenterl it to the perish of Arklow in the year 1899. The bandsome building was erected ati a cost of same \(£ 40,000\), and Earl Carysfort installed in the lofty tower a fine peal of eight bells cast at the Loughborough Foundry.
It was to this church that the late Mr.J. W. Washbrook went as instructor to a young band, and here be rang on more than ane ocension lyo bells to a peal.
Next Monday the Irish Association will visit Arklow for their annual meeting. The first occasion on which the association went there for its annual gathering was in 1901, when the late Earl, the honor of the bells, was himself present and presider over the gathering, which was atteuded by the late Mr. R. R. Cherry, K.C., who afterwards hecame Tand Chief Justice of Ireland, and several English ringers, who ut litat time were touring in Ireland.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION
THE QUESTION OF REAFFILIATION WITH CENYMRAL OOUNOIL.
The anmual general meeting of the Glotacester and Bristol biaeosan Association took place at Lydiney, Glos, on Satnday, May 31 st. There was an attendauce of about 75. The hon. secrefary and tumn treasurer gave reports of an excellent year's work.
The following resolution was unanimously adopted on the motivn of Mr. Dyson (Tewleeshury), seconded by Mr. Thomas (Forest): 'That this meeting strongly supporis the resolution cireulated by tine executive committee to all branchos and accepted by them with it very large majority, and in addition proposes that a small sub-committeo bo formed to approach the Central Council in due course for reaffiliation in accordance with tho resatution. Furthermore, the subconmittee be asked to prepare recommendations and report to executive, namagement and general moelings for discussion and decision.
This means that the association will reaffiliate to the Central Council as soon as the recommendations printed in "The Ringing World, October 18th, 1929 (No. 969 , page 665), are placed npon the official ageuda of the Central Council in striet accordance with the rules of the Conteal Council. It was accephed that, although an item appears in a belated agenda, it wauld not bo dischased by the Central Conneil according to their rules, nat even under fule 9 , as this quessinn is one afferting the rules.

A committoe was formed to draw up regulations for futuru alyitit tion, and to decide how far the association should go in guestions of finance and acecpting rules aud fecisions of the Council in future.

The following alteration to Rule 5 was carried unanimously, on the motion of Mr. A. Wright (Stroud), seconded by Mr. "1. Baldwyn (Gloucester)
*Rule 5.-That buaches of the association slaall be estathished in suilable areas and shall consist of one or moro raral deancries, mombors of which shatl elect their uwn chairman and secretary, unn bu conducterd in accordance with the rules get out under "Rules for Local Branches." The executive commatee may decide to twanfer a tower from one bruach to anollact, but their action must bo approved at the following geperal meeting

The following resolution to alter Rule 15 was then discussed:-
That any atcrations in, or additions to, the above rides shall only be made at an anmual or special meeting. Nat less than two monthas notice must be given of any proposed alteration, addition ar defelian to any of the above rales, or part thercot. If, in the opinion of the managenent or execative commitueo, such alleration, ardilion ou deletion is of vital importanes, tho hon. secrefary shall be requested to obtain a ballot throughout the branches upon suth a yoint. (The ballat to be expedited so that refurns shall be ready far presentation to the duly convoned general of special meeting for confinnalion. '
This was proposed by Mr. Fopper (Swiadon) and sceonded by Mr. Jefries (Bristal).
A suggested amendment whs made following a letier reat from Rev. C. D. P. Davies, that if less than 150 mamber's atterded the general mesting then all business carvied out by them should be ratifed by the bremelies. It was annoumed that 75 per ceat. of the associacions adoped the rule as il shood at present, and it was telli Hagt this was sufficient guidance, and the resolution was fhorefore rejected by utanmous vole, conseçuently Rule 15 stands as hetone.
Mr, J. Gould and Mr. W. Lansdown were elected as viee-presidents, and Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Rev. Thotold, Rev. E. J. Phillips, Mr. F.' K. Howell and Mr. Hale wore ro-elected as vice-presidents The Master (Rex. E. S. Saleby) was re-olected, as were all the other ofticials.
It was decided to hold the ammul meelings in future by ionotion in each branch area. The next amual meting will take place at Cheltenham on Easter Monday, April 3rd, 1931.

A tote of thants to hev. Jones, Vimm of Lydney, was warmly atcorded, whilst a message from the chairman of the brandh, Mr . Dewducy, extended the welcome of Lydney to the association, even though (as bo bumorougly put, it) it was in the absence of a Mayor.

An excellent meat tea at ihe Feathers Fotel concluded the meeting, and ringers (who lad time before thetr traing) lad it good ring on the peal of eight at St. Mary's Clisteh.

\section*{DEATH OF MR. F W. BOXELL, WYCOMBE}

The High Wyeombe belfry has sustained a loss in the death of Mr Frank William Boxell, who passed away on Empire Day at the uge of 47. Mr. Boxell had been indifierent health for a long time, hut early in the year his ilnness took a serious furn and he gradualiy grew worse, complications arising which caused his death despite medical skill and careful nursing.

Mr. Boxell had been a member of the Wycambe belfy for many years, and hat had rung a good number of peals.
At the funcra? at the Parish Church, on Wednesday of last week, handbells were rung hy Messis. J. W. Wilkins, 5. Hayes, F. Boreham and \(F\). D. Hovelam as the moumers entered the church, and again at the graveside. On the Sunday evening after hion death, 1,174 Stedman Cinques (conducted by F. Hayes) was rung on the muffled hells, and on the evening of the funcral the hells were again

\section*{FOUNDATIONS OF THE OXFORD GUILD \\ JUBILEE OF SONNIEG DEANERY. BRANCE. \\ ENTHUSIASTTC GATHERTNG AT WOKINGHAK}

From 1880 to 1930 is a far cry, butt both these dates were happily linked logether all the jubilee celebration of the Soming Deanery Bytunch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild in St. Paul's Parish Chureh, Wakiaghan, on Empire Day, Saturday, May 241h, when veterans of the first commitfee, with their successors thvough the years down to the juniars of the present time, united in union and reubion. The event follows closely on the jubilee of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch.
T'lle Sonning Deanery Society was founded in 1880 with Mr: J. Walter, M.P. (of "The Timén') as president, Rev. R. F. Hart 1)uvis, who afterwards for so many jeurs did magnificent work for the Oxford Guild in various offices, as treasurer, and the Rey. J. F. Llewellyn, hon. secretary. The first towers to join were Arborield, Souning, Wargrave and All Saints \({ }^{1}\) and St. Paul's, Wokingham. In 1881 the society beratne affiliated to the Oxford Diocesan Guild, which was founded in that year and became known as the Sonning Douncry Branch. For ten years the clairman was the Rer. Dolben Paul. From 1901 to 1924 the Rev. R. H. Hart Devis lilled the office except from 1908-10, whell the Rev. F. E. Robinson was chaiman and Mr. Harl Davis vice-chairman. Canon Coleridge succeded Mr. Davis in 1924, so that trom 1881 the branch tas had only four chairmen. It has been equally fortunate in its secretaries, of which it has had only Jive, imollg them the Rev. E. E. Broome, who filled the office fimm 1892 to 1918.
The teature of the jubilee celebration was a thanksgiving service in St. Paul's l'arish Chureh, conducted by the Rector, the Rev. H. M. Walter (a son of the first president), and was well attended. Mr. A. H. Lusty, A.R.C.O., A.T.C.L., the organist, played suitable voluitaries aud led the singing with the olvan. Tho National Antherm was sung, it being Enpire Day, then the hymn, "Bright the vision that nelighted,' the massed voices combining with fine offect, as they did in ibe Creed which followed. Psalm 150 was then clanted, after which the Rev. A. F. Sheflield read the lesson from Hebrews xiii. 7-21. After, several prayers, the ringers' hymn, 'Unchanging God Who livest,' was rendered with spirit and forvour.
The Ven. Archdeacon of Berkshire, the Rev. R. Wiekham Legg, gave a very fine address from the pulpit. Dispensiug with, a formal text, les said thr first thing they wanted was to 'strike' the note of thanksciving for all those engaved in the lite and work of their own thankgiwing for all those engaged in the lite and work of their own
Guild from the lieginning, Qor those gone to their resti who land done sol much for them, aiso thanksgiving that they were able to kcep their jubilee. I'liey could congratulate themselves upou thu fact that the Souning Deasery Society preceded the larger body, the Diocesan Gitid. Usually the procedure was the reverse, the smaller body growing out of the larger. They were further to be corly patulated that the jubilee was being kept al SL. 1'aul's, Wokingham, the same parish where their society started. Also, they were glad to see annongst them their bekaved chtsirman, Canon Coleridge, and they thanked God for his wonderfut recovery from very serious and dangerous illness.

\section*{a training Place.}

The Areldencon proceeded to say that the belfry was first of all a traiuing place. Many people imagined on seeing the ringers at work, so natural, simple aud spontaneous their efforts scemed, that all was fone quite ensily and readily. But skill in bellringing depended upon several things-upon being thorough and punctual, ind upon porsoverance atd practice-even drudgery, withotit which no good work Whes really tone, as in the ense of tho artist's picture and the sermons il the clergy. So wilh ringing skill depended on that wonderful rasential quality of the Clrisilian life-steady perseverance.
A remarkable thing about hellringers was the delightful and wonderful and oxtraordinary fellowship, camaraderie, existing among filum not only from befry to helfy, but the wotld over; aud, further, that same and ewcr-growing sense of fellowship between the bedringer and the church, Especally shown when by the Enabling Act ringers might choose as 10 whether they came under the rule of the incumbent or of the Parochial Council, ther manimously decided or the parson, which slowed the increasing sympathy, fellowship and understanding between bellringers and clergy. Another very touching xhibition of brotherhood was the way in whict older members of the helfry looked after the younger members they were training, not ony in ringing hut in character and self-control ant self-discipline in fler to make life worlh living.
The Archdeaoon reforred to the bratherthood of the British Empire -is great responsibitity-anid added that they were members also of another brotherhood, greater than that of the British Empire-the Christian Church, spread all over the world with iucreasing power and tlominion, in spicit and corporate worship with ofher Christian men mad womint, as well an in their own homes. Bellringers liad olten wher duties on Sunday, and could not always aitend the churcla servine. Ringing meant oftcu a severe amount of physical and bodily strain, but the ideal of the bellringer was nol only to call others to worship God in His church, but to join in that worship with them.

Mny Gosl bless you in your work; may you realise more and more the dignity of it, that it is a real yocaliun and a veal privilege to whieh you are enlled; that the service you can "ender to the glory of God and to Fis Church, and that by the ringing of the hells and your varied character and conducl in life you may be able to set forth the mystery of the love of Gord through Jesus Christ our Lard."
The address made a deep impression upon the large congregation, and sitowed a remarkable insight and symathy on the part of the speaker, who confessed lrimseli as 'not laving the pleasure and privilege ' of being himself a ringer
'Praise, my soul, the King of 'Feaven,' sung to the fine setting by Goss, was the concluding hymn, sung while an offertory was takea (realising £1 16s. Jl.) for the Branch Restoration Fund. The Blessigg was then pronounced by the Rector, the Rev. H. M. Welter, who had conducted the service. The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Oxford Guild, was also present and robed.

LINES WII'H THE PAST
A move was next made to St. Paul's Parish Room (in lieu of the Rectory garden as swranged). All enjoyed tea, by the kind invitatiout of the Rev, F. M. Walter and Mrs. Walter. Mrs. Houlton was in clarge of the arrangements, and was assisted by the clurchwardens and Mesdames Newberry, Hyle, Parkey, Harwood and Miss Welb. Among the party which tightly filled the rom were Canon f. F. Coleridgo (elairman, Sonning Deanery Branch), the Rev. C. W. 0. Ienkyn (Master of the Guile), the Rev. H. M. Walter, the Rev. Lang (Rural Dean), the Rews. J. A. Anderson, W. T. Stubbs, A Manday, A. F. Sleffeld, L. R. Majendie, Mr. W. J. Paice (hon. sec., Sonning Deanery Branch), also Mr. A. J. Wright (treasurer) and Mr. R. T' Hibbert (secretary of the Guild), Mrs. Broome zurf Miss Roe, and Mr. A. Hill, of Wokingham, and Mr. T. Attwell, of Chiddingeold, late of Arborfield, the last-named the two survivors of the original committee, Mr. J'. Fuller (Wargrave) and olber old members, Mr. W. Houlton, aud Dr. Joyce (Reading)

The Rector welcomed the company nnd regreited that the weather prevented itre garden meeting as intended.
Canow Coleridge, after tea, presided at a vory pleasant gatheringMr. W. I. Paice (hon. secretary) nmounced apologics from Mr. Bohn Walter, who said it would have beon a wery great pleastire to have attended, and who congratulated the branch upon its well-maintaineas tradition since it started under the presidency of his late father, and he wished the society every prosperity. Mr. Walter also sent a telegram of best wishes. Other apolngies were from the Vicar of WarWedderbarn, Mr. A. Riddell, etc.
The Chairman referred to lis 25 years' comection with the deanery. He lad, he said, recently attended four ringing jubilees; He welcomed the two members present who were on fle original not know them.
Both gentlemen then rose, anid great enthwsinsth, and brieny pressed pleasure and thnuks. Mr. Hill said he was pleased to be present and to seo so many of the old faces of past years. He was pleased to see the yonnger generation frowing up to fill their places (hear, hearl, and to see the Guild advanced.
The Chaicman proceeded to thank the Rev. H. M. Walter tor the service in his chureh and for the tea. He referted to the presence of Mra. Bruome (whose hushand, the late Rev. E. E. Broome, was for so many ycars the brameh secretary), and Miss Roe, who had journeyed from Bath to be present (applause).
The Rey. H. M. Walter said it was a special pleasure to him to do what he had for the Guild, as he was so connected with their tradition. He remenlured the late Rev. Dolben Paul, the Rector of Bearwood, aud the two bellg of that church. The infaence of chmelh bells was peculiarly touching-their very sound revived so many memories. This was undoubtedly a poignant source of grief to many in the unhappy country of Russia. He thanked them for their appreciation, and regretted that Mrs. Walter was unable to be present.
The Master of the Guild then thanked the Acheteacon for his address; the two Wokingham incumbents for the use of their bells that day; also the organist and the organ blower of St. Paul's for their gervices. They were fortunate as a branch to lawe two rings of eight bells and two Rectors who so cordially welcomed bellringers (hear, hear). The Master referred to a paper read by Rev, H. C. Sturges at the Ruri-decanal Chapter, which was productive of something really good and great. The Rev. R. H. Hart Davis took it up with a letter to the 'Reading Meroury,' and the result was the Soming Deanery Society, followed by the Oxford Guild.
Mr. Fuller, of Wargrave, said the Master was a very old member, though not one of tho first, and Mr. Wright, of Sonriag, was not far behind. He was glad to see present se many links with the past, and also to see the ladies already mentioned.

\section*{CANON COLERIDGE'S RECOVERY}

The Rural Dean, the Rev. B. Long, then expressed ploasura at their chairman's recovery and return, at which they could express their delight more fully than in church (great applause). Canon Coleridge had done so much for bellyinging that he liad endeared himself to the beart of every bellringer. Almost his first afternoos after a long convalesucnce lhe spent with them. He hoped he would keep well for a long time (applause)
The Rural Dean then went fully into the records of the branch, which was foundal on May 26 lh , 1880 , with a committee of four elecgy and iwo laymen. This took place at \(\operatorname{st}\). Paul's Parish Room, Wokingham, at the lerrace opposite where they were now assembled. In 1873, at All Saints', Wokinghan, there was started the Suciety of Honorary Change Tingers lo encourage clange ringing. They slaried, first, with handbells in 1874 . In 1876, those ringers went to Bristiol, and the "Bristol Mercury" accorded them high praise. Their Guild had done something to promote change ringing gince the carly days.

The Rural Dean proposed thanks to the ladies and helpers at the tea.
'i'he Mayor of Wokingham, Alderman A. T. Priest, who was enthusiastically received, responding, asked to be allowed to speak not as Mayor but as one wha, baptised, confirmed, amd married at St. Paul's, Wokinglam, was very much atached to that church and parish, and was also a churchwarden and socretary of the Perochial Councll, etc. Ib was a reat, decp pleasure to feel that, ffty years ago, such a society of bellringers was formed in the parish. He did not know much about bellringing, but one could serve their church En other ways. For thirty-nine Fears, from a boy, he had heen conneeted with St. Panl's. He knew Mr. Fill and Mr. W. Houlton and many athers. He had leant from the Archdeacon's excellent address that, fortunately for the Parochial Council, it was not converned with the bellringers; that was the Rector's duty (laughter). Fe wished the branci and the Guild the very best success (applanse).
F. T. Hibbert, iu a racy speech, said lie hoped in a few years to become a 50 years member of the Guild, and teferred to the fact that this brancli had been as well gerved by its officers as any branch in this or any other Guild, motably by their suceession of seretaries-the Rev. E. E. Broome, Mr. F. Dentry and now by Ma. W. J. Paice (applase). He wished the branch success-it had not math to foar, Might they wipe out the marks of their predeessors in euergy and campanology, in good living and charchnanship. 'I lope I will come to the centenary of this branch' (laughter and applause)

Mr. A. J. Wright also expressed his pleasure. The Sonning Branch wers one of the most progressive in the whale Guild, spending its money, well and wisely, He hoped that gablsering would prove a great incentive to the young faces \({ }^{\text {g }}\) present. He hoped they would see the next jubilee, more prosperous even than they wero to-day (applause).
Wine Secmetary then said the collection would give an impetus to Lheir Restoration Fuad now considerably depleted. He had tried His hardest to get many old mombers present. Those and the poanger members together were tremondously inspiring, causing than to 'thank God and take fresh courage' (applause).
concuring the assembly, the Chairman thanked Mr. Paice for his encouraging letters during his (the chaiman's) recent ilness
He thanked them all for their kind thought and congratulations. Canon Coleridge then called attention to the 1,000 th number of "The Ringing World' with its deeply interesting artieles. For upwards of nimeteen years had that periodical been regularly and punctually delivered. One could not say too much in praise of the moprietor of that paper when considering how much ringers were indebted to him for the bond of mion anoong them. that meeting would be reported in it.
t. the charman's suggestion, the meeting instructed the secrebary send a letter of congratulation to the editor of "The Ringing Yorld. \({ }^{\text {a }}\)
The two town churches wore kindly opened for ringing.

mecting of the North-Westicm Districh of the Survey Association lied at St. Mary's, Ewell, on Saturday, when ringers altended Irom Barstead, Beddington, Chelsea, Croydor (St. Jolnn's and Et. Fther"s), Ewell, Hillingelon, Kensinglon, Merstlam, Mitcham (BS. Peter and Pati's), knal Streatham (Si. Leouard's). Ringing began with Gramdsire and Stedman Dotubles, and as numbers increased sume good practice was ohtained in Yarious methots tap to Cumhridge Surputae Majol. A short and enjoyable stervice was conducted by the Vicar, who welcomed the ringers to Ewell, and regretted wery much he was unable to join them at tea. Pea was served in rimers. A sho Wa, the Disfriat Master (MN. A. W. Clark) taking the clamir.
Mr. H. Wills, of Croydon, spoke of tho slackness all over the enantry of ringers notifying their intention of being present to tea at assacialion meetings, and he thoughl ull ringers ought to make if pioint of hollotr to to this.-Mr. E. Rerve, of Chelsea, also spoke which various opinions were was a shorts discussion, in the course of which various opinions were oxpressed.

\section*{ase ofy hearty vole of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the} Hig the the service, and to Mr. Read for making all arrangements when that replied, and said he was always glad to do all he could when the association wisited Eweli.
The town was again visited, fand riuring continued until nino oloma, melhods practised including London Surprise and Spliced Cinmbridge and Superlative Surprige Major.

\section*{DOUBLES AND MINOR}

I imagine that those people wha aro asking for a now rulo for penls on five and six bells think that it is guite an easy thing to draw one up. I have sean several atempts; I have yet io see one worth anything. Men know quite definitely dertain tinngs which they want to allaw, ol (and move usitally) certain things which they want to disallow. But whan they come to got their rule down in words it is tea to one that il will say something quito diferent from what fhey mean, and forbid what they want to allow, or allow what they wast to forbid.
The new rule of the Midland Counties Association is interesting. The truth seems to bo that there are certain influential nembers of that body who want to forbid the ringing of tho Morris und Pitman brangements of Ginadsire Dubles and the Bankes James artangement of Cambridge Minor. Iustead of saying so straight out, they have produced this new ruka. If that is the besi that can be done, the Central Council nueds no justification for leaving the question for the present an apen one.
Were I an ordinary nomber of tho association I should enter ans objection to Mr. Willsotis last peal of Trebte Ten on the grounds that it does not corply with the new rute As I am only a tife member, I may be told that this is mone of my busitess and be invited to keep my paws out of their platter. I must sun the rish. The M.C.A. is one of our leading associations, mat what they tho cannot but affect us others, Besides, l rather enjoy giving Mr. Willson good advice. It costs me nothing, and makes to feel good, like whan one gives a penny to a beggar in the street.
The rulo says bilat on seven holls a peal must consist of not tess than 5,040 true and complete clanges.' Whan the old ringers talked ahout ringing a true and complete poal, they Isnew what they mant and said what they meant, and wo know what they meani. Rut What, in the name of common senge, is a true and complete change? The statement is monsense. The rule also allows you to atid one shorter' touch fulfilling the above conditions'; one of which (there are only (wo) is that it must not be less than 5,040 cbantoos.
Then the splicing of old and even bell changes is forbidden. You may mot splice Doubles and Minor, or Triples and Major or Caters and Royal. And pray, why not? Because, I presume, these gentlemen do not like it. I do not know that I, personally, lave nuely usg for this kind of splicing; but other people liave rung jt, and 1 ennmet see why, if once you concede the principle of splicing you lanve any right to forbid a bend to ring, say, spliced Grandsire Catars and Bol Royal.
It is proverbially unsefo to prophesy, but I thisk the tendency in tho fatuve will be vather to loosed the rigid rules which for a long time have cantrolled medhod ringing. Time was, nud not so long ago, when you had a Plain Gourse built up in rigid fashion with a definite number of leads all alike, and you were allowed one sort of bob and one only. No doviation from thes was permissilile. Ehere were reasons for this, and those reasons can never be sel aside, but: they may be applied to different circumstances. Splieing has giver us a Plain Course quite different from the old sort of Plain Courses, and thers geems no reason why further development should not Lake place on thoso lines. A method has been rung (at least in touchos) where tho tenor is altematively a working bell and a cover. Why should such be forbidden \(P\) Or aguin, it is guite good practice to ring Bob Minov and cyery time 5.6 dodge at home to interpolato a six-score of Grandsire Deubles. No one would say that these things are likely to bo very common, but they are very inleresting is a variation of ordinary vinging. And if a band chnose to ring hitent, varialion on cartli should they not?
Of course, it is against the Grandsire Doubles and the Cambridge Minor compositions that the pule is really directed. I have alreads said a lot about them and need ngt repeat. But this I will sily tor the five and six bell ringers: "If yau find these compasilions useful and want to ring them; if you would rather not be tied down to the monotony of the ald restricted callings, or if you wama rather ring Cambridge Minor with \(5-6\) the right way and nat with a multitude of \(6-5^{3} \mathrm{~s}-w{ }^{2} y\), then, ring them? Don't let a lot of eight and ten bell ringers, who do not understand your needs, dictate to you and roh you of your fights. It is youthat can setitle this matiter, not they.

\section*{LANCASHIRE ASSOCTATION.}

This year the half-yearly meeting of the Lancs Association wns revived, the place choson being Southport. As it was between sensons, the place was not overcrowdert. Tha bells of Christ, Chutch wer"es at liberty from 12 noon, and were kept poing until 8.30, except diring the short serviee, at whinh the Rev. N. L. Coursey gave a helpfit] address. A tea was provided in tise seliools at the experse of the churchwardens, to which some 56 sat ritown.
Canon Elsee (president) thanked lhe donors, and was supported by MIc. G. R. Newton. 'lho wardens replied, and the Vicar also anid few words of welcome, and hoper tho ringers would come agein. As the tower and bells are small (tonor \(10 \frac{1}{2}\) cwl.) the visitors enald not all get into the belfry at once, so while some were ringing ollubrs went out to try and discover the sea, but it land gone out for the day and was not expected hack before midnight, hat, taking al! Lhings fogether, be one was sorry fot going lo Southport.

\section*{THE FIRST C.E.M.S PEAL}

Several correspondents have writien to point out that the peal at Fital Fhillon recorida a toriniglat ago was not the first jung by a hand of members of the C.E. Mi.S.
Mr. 1, H. Spice, of "Cunstall, Kent, writes that the first was a peal of Minar (seven different 720's) rung at I'unstall on Murch \(12 \mathrm{~h}, 1912\), conducted by Wm. Spice.
Mr. H. Sheppart, of Juulley, calls attention to a perl of Grandsire Caters at Dudioy on September 28th, 1912, conducted by \(J\). Goodman, jun, and Mr. A. Rowley, of Brierley, in addition to quoting particulars of this peal, gives details of a peal of Grandsire ing particulars of this peal, gives details
Triples at liptan on December 23 rod, 1912.

AN APPEAL FOR 'YOUNG BLOOD.'
At Retford, on Saburday, May 24th, the North Notes Associstion held their 42 md annual meeting. It was attended by 50 mambera hailing from Anstou, Barlborough, Bolsover, Cuckney, Edwinstowe, Gainsborough, Gamston, Lamebam, Liacoln, Misterton, Erst Markham, Ordsalk, East Retford, West Retford, Sutton-on-Treat, Ehireoaks, and Treeton. The towers of East Retford, West Retford, and Ordsall were visited by ringers during the afternoon and evening, when some excellent touches were ruag in various methods.
A service was held in East Retford Ghurch at 4.30 p.m., conducted by the Vicar, Rev. A. Parkinson, and the Rev. R. V. Dodd, of Shireoaks, gave a most interesting address. Mr. H. Blegg, of Retford, kindly played the karmonium for this service.
After the members had partaken of a splendid tea, served by Messrs. Caok and Sons, of Carolgate, the Rev. A. Parkinson presided over the butiness meeting, supported by Mrs. A. E. Rowsell, Rev. R. V. Dode, Rev. R. E. Rogerson, Mr. H. Haigh (hon treasurer), Mr. H. Rooke (hon. cup secretary), Messes. h. Revill and R. W. Stock dale (hon. general secretaries).

The belance sheet for 1929 was considered very satisfretory, as it showed a balance in the Worksop Savings Bank of 537 11s. Bd., and E4 5s. 11d. in the tweasurer's hands, the gain on the year's working being 5718 s .2 d . This is a record, and the committee wish to thank everyone who has helped to secure this excellent result.

BELLS THAT ARE NOT RINGING.
The secretary's report for 1929 stated that the membership increased by 29 , and all meetings were well attended, but the association needed more young blood to fill the positions in years to come held by the older members of to-day. In the matter of bell restorntion, not much progress was made during the year, but Shireoaks and North Collingham had since made improvements. Hartill was doing 210 ringing, as the bells were in bad repair. One vice-president had been trying to persuade a parish to have their bells rehung, cast and made into a ring of six, but success had not yet attended life efforts. Whilst tho progress of the association was gratifying to all, a. considerable number of church bells were frequently only chimed, and some not rung at all; some were only able for Sunday service to ring rounds and a few call changes. It could hardly be said that the art of change ringing was making the progress desired. They all knew the patience and forbearance that were required, first in loaching learners how to ring rounds well, and afterwards im tenching them the art. When they got to this stage he stauld bo glad if they would bear in mind that change ringing was never completely leaznt, and that tiey would always welcome now conductars. the time the aext report was published everyone would like to see some towers, who have lately dropped out, back again in the ranks. He appealed to every ringer to help forward the association's objeras and bring back the losses.

The officers were re-elected en blac for 1930 .
Mr. A. Jolinsou, in proposing that Shireoaks and North Collinghan be granted \(£ 2\) 10s. towards their respeeilive bell funds, said that the association was always pleased to help any church which was trying to obtain a better peal of bells, and in these days if weas very dificult to raise the amounts required for the various restorations. He added that credit was due to these towers for what they had acewtoplished, and he hopert a few more churches would follow the example diey had set.
Tilse arrangements for the Grawford silver cup was nл item of great interest. It was decided to hold it again at Easc Markham early in Septcmber, and the cules were altered so that the home team could compete, and that six-bell ringing stould be hatudicapped a litile.
Edwinstowe was propased by Mr. H. Haigh and secoaded by Mr. A. E. Midwinter as the place of the next meeting, and this was unanimously carried.
Mr. H. Haigh, of Worksop, for 17 jears the hon secretary, and now tile hon troasurer, was elected a rice-president, on the motion of Mr. H. Fterill, seconded by Rev. A. Parkinson.
Mr. A. Johnson proposed a vote of thanks to all the officials for carrying out their duties so well during the past year. It was also resolved that a vote of thanks be accorded to "The Ringing World, "The Newark Advertiser, 'The Retford Times,' and 'The Worksop Guardian" for publishing the reports of the meetings of the year, and 'The Ringing World' was congratulated upon reaching its one thousandth number.
A vote of thanks was accorded to the incumbents and wardens of East Retford, West Retford and Ordsall, to Rev. V. Dodd, the Rey. A. Parkinson, Mr. H. Blagg, to the eaterers and evergone who had made the day so enjoyable to all.

\section*{MUFFLED BELLS}

On Thursclay, May 29th, at St. John's Charch, Blackpool, 80 Grandsive Triples in 25 mins.: W. Wilde 1, W. K. Bovill 2, W. Strickland 3, J. Parker 4, L. Green 5, F. Foster 6, F. Greenwood (conductor) 7, G. Maries 8. Rung after an attempt for a quaricr-peal of Stedman inad come to grief, with bells half-muffled as a taken of respect to William Birks, a ringer at the above church for the past six years, who was interred the dey previous at Pndscy, Yorks.

\section*{DEDICATION OF GREAT BROMLEY CHURCH BELLS AN ESSEX SIX RESTORED.}

For many years the six bells in Great Bromley Church tower, Esser, lave been in a bad state although ringable: in fact, it could hardly have been expected that learners would stay long. Early lardt year tho churebwardens were appromeled, and one of them, the Iate Mr. Percy Crossman, of Great Bramley Hall, who liad already done mach in the church and rillage, agreed to bear the expensa of the complete relianging. Enfortunately, lie was taken ill and passed away before the work could be started, but it was his wish that the work should go on, and as the tenor was cracked it was decided to recast it. However, a faeulty could not be obtained for this without considerable restrictions, so the widow decided to havo a new tenor cast and hang the old one for tolling only.
On Wednesday, May 28 hh , a service was held to rededicate the bells, which hare been rehung on steel and iron frames with modern littings and plain bearings. The new tenor, which weighs 15 cwt., and is in the key of \(E\), bears ihe inscription: 'Alfred Bowell, Founder, Ipswich, The gift of Percy Crossman of this parish, 1929. God bless all whom we call.'
Owing to the very inconvenient hour of the service ( 3.30 p.m.), not many ringers could be present, but after tea several came from surrounding districts. Aunong those at the service were some from Gical Benlley, Thorrington, Tharpe, Mistley, Ardleigh, Ipswich, Edmonton, Clacton and Tendring. Aftay service, two 720's of Oxford Treble Bob were rung, one by P. Almand (Great Bentley) 1, W. J. Hazell (Edmonton) 2, S. Davey (Ardleigh) 3, Jos. Bowell (freat Bromley) 4, G. A. Andrews (Thorrington) 5, W. J. Nevard (Great Bentley) (conductor) 6 ; the other by Roy Woodard (Ipswich), 1 E. Bioomfield (Ipswich) 2, J. Bowell 3, 5. Daver 4, Geo. Moss (Misuley) 5, Fredk Bowell (Ipswich) (conductor) 6.
The intire work has been earriod out by Mr. Alfred Bowell, of \(f\) pswich, who also tuned the whole peal, which was much needed, and everyone agreed that an excellent job had been made both in tone aud 'go." It is haped to hald a meetmg there shortly, when a good attendanco is desired to revive local interest in ringing.

DTSAPPONNTMENT TURNED TO PLEASURE.
Members who journeyed to the small, picturesque village of Bickenill on Salurtay, May 31st, appeared doomed to be disappointed, as the hells of the old Norman church could not be rogg owiog to illness near. However, the reception acturded by the Vicar (Rey. G. Hood) r. However, the reception acuarned by the Vicar (Rey. Gr. Hood) seorter the members round the church, pointing out interesting rehitertural features, particularly the Norman piliars and arches and be old Norman coorway. An object of interest was a framed list of Fioars of Bickenfill from 1320, extending in unbroken sequence up to the present time. The aames of Vieats before that date are nof known. On the south side of the tower, which is topped by a sive is an old sundial in addition to a clock which has only one luad, the loour hand.
splendid tea was partaken of at the Vicarage, kindly prepared y ladies of the prish. The Yicar expressed his delight in welcoming the ciuild to Bickenhill, and remarked tiat what atruck him most as the good fellowship which existed among ringers and the philosaphy rhey showed in overcoming disappointments. When the Gund paid its next visit to Bickenlall, which he hoped would be in the too distant future, the Vicar said he would promise the use of tha bells, as anyone who was ill mould bo taken to the workhouse, wea if be were the sick persou.
Mr. I. H. W. White (Coventry) thanked the Rev. G. Hood for the great interest he had teken in the visit of the Guild and for his hospitality at the tea. He had great pleasure ju proposiog the Vicar as an homprary member of the Guild. The ladies, too, were thanked for arranging the tea und for looking after the comfort of the ringers. Permission had been obtained to ring the bells of Hampton-inAulen Ghurch during the ereaing, and thither the members wended their wiy, some on wheels by road, others on foot across the fieles\({ }^{\text {a }}\) " country \({ }^{13}\) mile and a half,' as some remaried upon arrival it Hsanton. For about an hour and \(s\) half the six bells were kept going to various methods, imcluding Grandsire, Stedman, Kent, Thus Court, Gambridge and London.
Thus ended a most enjoyable meeting, which proved that, as far as Guild meetings are concerned, disappointments can be turned into pleasures by the reception accorded by the incumbent.

\section*{TO LEAD, OR NOT TO LEAD?}

The article which appeared in this column a month ago, describing the action of the Midland Counties Association, in laying down its own rules as to what, in future, the association will record as a peal, as a 'lead and a chalm lenge ' to the Central Council, elicited two replies which we regret it has not been possible to publish until to-day. They are both arguments justifying the attitude of the Council in adopting a 'do nothing' policy on this question of what should constitute a peal. Obviously, of course, we do not agree that it is wise of the Council to refuse to express an opinion on this subject even though it be a thorny one. If the Council had never laid down any rules governing peals it might have been a different matter. But almost from the days of its inception the Council has, and rightly so, concerned itself with the standard that should be required for peals. It has not hesitated from time to time to lay down rules, and these rules are to be found in the official "Decisions" under the heading of 'Conditions required for peals.'

Our point is that the Council, having set up a standard -a minimum standard if you like-should not be afraid to amend these conditions as and when required. Our previous article did not attempt to suggest what those conditions should be, but to emphasise the need that the Council should be the body which should define the regulations and thus lead the Exercise, instead of being led by it. It will be far easier for the Council to retain the lead which it has set in the past than to regain it, once the associations have established their own standards for peals -standards which might possibly be extremely difficult to reconcile.

Unless the standard of peals is to fall, there can surely be no objection to specifying a minimum, but once lose the hold upon a standard of some kind and chaos may creep in which will undo all the good which forty years of work has done in the way of creating uniformity in the Exercise. If the Council is to wait indefinitely upon circumstance; if it is to wait to see which way the cat jumps, then it cannot be said that the Council is any longer the head of the Exercise, and the existing 'conditions' required for peals would be better expunged from the Decisions." Either they exist to unify practice or they are useless; and unless the Council is prepared to move with the times and amend its rules where necessary and reinforce its own definitions when called upon to express an opinion, its operations lose the force of authority and the Council will lose prestige among those who only have a superficial knowledge of its work but look to it to give a lead to the Exercise.

NORTHEREN BRANOH ANNUAL MEETTNG.
The annual meeting of the Northern Branch was held at Grimsby on Saturday, May Sist, and, taking into consideration liat this is one of the extreme districts of the branch, there was a good attondance. Arnong the towers represented were Bigby, Branston, Burton-on-Stather, Fisham, Gainsborougl, Grimsby (St. Andrew's and St. James), Kellingholme, Eincoln (Cathedral), Scotherne, Scunthorpe, Thorntun Curtis and Ulceby. The Rev. J. Barber, of Great Coates, and Mr. and Mrs, Richardsou and Mr. G. Ladd, from the Ellog Deaneries Brancls, were also present. Tho two rings of eight werc available, and kept going to various methods during the afternoons and evening, rounds being also rung for the learuers. The bells at St. James' were rung half-mulfted as a tribute of respect to tho late Arehbishop Lori Davidsou.
Service was held in the Parish Church, the Vicar, Rev. H. It. Burrows, oficiating and giving an nppropriate address. Mr. In. Rushby, one of the local ringers, presided at the organ, and the singing was led in a most efficient manner by the choirboys. Mr. F. Fi Linley, president of the Northern Branch, read the lesson. This was followed by a course of Graudsire Caters in the chancel by the followine : Mrs. R. Richardson 1-2, F. S. W. Butler 3-4, R. Richardson 5-6, H. Marcon 7-8, C. W. Taylor 9-10.
Fifty-eight members and friends afterwards saf down to an excellent tea. in the Church House.
Mr. Linley presided at the business meeting, and was supporked by the Vicar of Grimaby, Rev. H. I'. Parry, president of the Grimsby Distriet, and members of the committee.

An apology for absence and good wishes for a successful meeling was read from Mr. J. A. Freeman, Northern Branch Ringing Master. The balance shect and secretary's report for 1929 were passed, and the whole of the officers reappointed. Two new members, Messrs, G. Atkinson and H. Cawkwell, Thoraton Curbis, were elected. The arrangements for the next antual meeting were left in the hands of the gencral secretary.
A suggestion was made that the number of bells, with name of correspondent for each tower, should be inserted in the nest report.It was decided to beave this matier in the lands of the commiteen.
In a sery witty and hamorous manner the Rev. Burows gave the branch a most hearly welcome to Grimsby.
Mr. Linley proposed a comprehensive vote af thanks to the church authorities. for the use of the bells, the organist and choirboys for their services, tho eaterers for the splendid tea provided, and al others who had it any way helped toward making the meeling such a sticcess, at the same time making reference to tho excellent manner in which the boys of the choir had rendered their assistance at the service.-This was carried and tesponded to by the Vicar, who alluded to the loyalty of his ritugers as churchworkers.

A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the business, after which further ringiug look place, and a very successful meeting brought to a finish.

\section*{ALDERSHOT'S ACTIVITIES,}

Dear Sir,-Aldershot may well be called a nursery for ringers.
Four ycars ago tho Aldershot band was broken up, leaving only four of the old band to carry on. These, inslead of taking things lying down, looked round and roped in three chorboys and threo girls whose ages then ayeraged 13 years, all of whom have smeo rang a quarter-peal. To-day the Aldershot band is I7 strong, and is, I think, one of the yeungest und kecnest bands in the country.
It is not at all a strange siglit to see as many as thirty at one of their Friday night prattices. Everyone gets some ringing, some in rounds and same being conched in changes, according to the stame they have reached.

No meeting in the district is complete without the Aldershot band, who make their presence felt, especially at tea iine.
How many other towers are there, I wonder, who devote threcquarters of their practice night to helping learners from other towers, and so to lelping change ringing along in this country? Yours faithfully,
E. BRIGG

Sile，－It is good to sit and think．I do somotimes，and perhaps my subject may be the leading article in＂The Ringing Worla．＂Week by week we get a topic to consider，and without doubt every single article interests some members．It would be absurd to state that the whole Exerciso reads，mayks，learns and inwardly digests every one，and it is，ulsorefore，all to the good that we have such a diversity of topios．Sometimes it is highbrow for those that can appreciate it．Mare ofter it is a plain－spoken piece of advice，or oven，perhaps，a rap over the knuckles of mare or less severity，a gentle word of warning or a generous word of praise．I repeat，it is good to sit and think．It is，however，better to take action．
Consider for a while the first of the second thousand，＇Peals and Peal Ringers．＇Fere is food for thought to begin with．What does it show？Loss ringers？Less enthusiasm？Less opportunities？Ap－ pacentiy less something．Should we be content with less？It is good fo sit aud think．It is better to take action．What action？I would suggest that the object to attain should be to change the degree of comparison fram less to more in each of the above．That will be sometling to altain．However，as everyone knows，this will mean sparle work for some．How many？Why not all．Many hands make lighb wark．It is good to sit and think．It is，however，better to take action，－Yours sincerely，

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN !THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of charches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

Mesars. Taylor and Co. installed a peal of cight at Creat Baddow in 1924. Since that time they lave jehung the peal of eigat at Great Dunmow, mamented the peal at Great Berdfietd to complete the octave, and the peal at Great Euston to six, nud now the Loughborough Company is to instal another new peal in Essex. This is to bo a fine new ring of eight, tenor approximately 15 ewt., at Great Holland Parish Church.
The first peal at Winchester Gathedral was rung forty-five years ago to-day, when Mr. F. G. Diwe conducted a peal of Grandsire Triples and Murray Hayes performed a herculean task in keeping the lenor goiag.

Jasper Snowdon was born at Ilkley on June 18th, 1844.

\section*{A DEAN'S APPEAL FOR MORE RINGERS.}

At the annual conference of the Rochester Diocesan C.E.M.S. held at Chathar on Saturday week, the Dean (the Fen. Donald (Thalbot) appealed for more bellingers.
'I am informed,' he said, 'the it is becoming inereasingly difficult to enrol young men as bellringers. This is a great pitif, because bellringing is one af our proud national possessions. You won't find it anywhere elso in the world. I appeal to you members of the socioty to interest yourselves in it so that this possession will not be losk. Bellringers are as important in the worship of God as the men in surplices. The riuging of church bells is worship.

\section*{THE PEAL AT PORTSMOUTH}
'lhe peal of Double Norwich Major rung at St. Mary"s, Porizea, and recorded elsewhere in these columns, was rung at the special request of the Viear (Rev. G. C. L. Lunt) to welcome past members of the clergy staff, who were assembling during the Whitsuntide for a great reunion at Portsmouth. The Archbishop of Canterbury (Dr. Cosmo Gordon Lang), a former Vicar of Portsea, was unable, owing to medical advice, to preside over this gathering of nearly seventy elergy, but those present during the week-ead included the Bithops of Soulhwark and Kingston, Bishop Norman Lang, Canon Southam (Chesten Cethedral), the Vicar of Fareham, the Fector of Beaculnsficld and several other prominent clergy. The company were also favoured by the presence of the Bishops of Winclaester, Portsmouth and Southampton.

\section*{VISIT TO OXFORDSHIRE TOWERS.}

The Heyford bellringers had a most enjoyable outing on Saturday, May Jrd, when they journeyed by bus ihrough Wootton, Bladon aul Cussington, ind ulging in their art in each village; then on through Eyusham to Oxford, where they enjowed a good tea, and rang al St. Giles' Church before leaving. Iliey reached Islip at six oblock, and reng there, and then at Ambrosden, Launton and Middloion Stoney, and returned home at 9.45. It is hoped this outing will be the foremaner of others. The arrangements ware in the liands of the caplain, Mr. F'. Pritchett. The ringers wish to thank all those who so kindly belped, and the various incumbents for the use of tho bells.

\section*{ELECTION OF A NEW PRESIDEN'T.}

The first session of the uewly-elected Council was bold by the courtesy of his grace the Archbishop of Canterbury in the Guard Room at Lambeth Palace; London, on Thesday, where there was an attendance of nearly one huadred members.
The chair was taken at the oulsct by the retiring president, Garon G. F. Coleridge, and the Council was welcomed on behalf of the Archbighop (who is now away by the sea recuperating his health in view of the forthcoming Lambeth Conference) by his secretary, the Rep. A. Sargent.
Canon Coleridge then informed the Council that he felt compelled through advancing years to retire from the oftce of president, and as there had heew only one pomination for the office he declared Mr. E. H. Lewis, who hat for many years bean a representative of Cambridge Universily Guild, elected.
Mr. Lewis took the presidential chair amid applause, and cheers baving been given for Ganou Coleridge, on the call of the hon. secretary, Mr. Lewis acknowledged the honour done hirn by bis election to the aftice.

MR. E. A. YOUNG.

\section*{Re-elected Hon. Secretary and Treasurer of the Council}

No nominations having beon received for the offees of hon. secretory and treasurer and of librarian, Mr. E. Alexr. Young aud the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn were re-elected to the respective offices. Mr. Young stated that during his contemplated absence from England Mr. W. A. Cave had kiddy undereaken to carry on the work.
The Hon. Seeretary and Treasurer presented the accounts, E summary of which lins already been published, and these, having been aunited, were adopted, as were also the accounts of the librarian, who presented the following report:-

\section*{ONLY MODERATE SALE OF PUBLICATIONS.}

The hon. librarian's report for the year ending April 30th, 1930, was as follows: This has been an uneventful year, both for the hibrary and the sale of publicafions. Few books have been bourowed, Bnd the only adition to the library has been the peal composition hoals of the late Mr. John Carter, which were presented by the hon. Eecretary. As to the publications, shortly before Easter the revised issue of 'Rules for a Local Company' cnme from the printers, and notice of its heing on sale was at once given in "The Ringing World,' lut up to the present only a few copies have been sald, though it bas been much in demand while it has been out of print. The new issue of "Minor Methods' has not yot rembed the lîhrarian. Where las only been a moderate sale of other publientions, amounting to £4 16s. "5d. The book 'On the Preservation of Bells, ete., is in the process of revision preparatory to reprinting, for which it should the rendy before long. The cost of advertising and postage was i9 10s. 6d., so that there was an adverse balance on the year of et 14 s . 1 d .
The following honorary members were re-chected: Rev, C. D. P Daties, Alderman J. S. Pritelatt, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Messrs. J. A. Trollope, J. Griflin, E. A. Young, J. S. Guldsmith and C. F Johnston. The Rev. A. T. Beeston, the other retiriug hon. member, did not seek re-election
The Hon. Secretary reported on various matters that find come before the Standigg Comnittee, the measlemy of which were reelected, with the addition of the 'conveners' of committecs who were not already members.
The Rev. H. S. T. Riclardson, reporting for the Peals Collection Committee, which was reappointed, stated that the work now in hand and almost concluded was the proof of peal of Treble Boh wifla tenors parted.-Mr. G. R. Newton raised the question of having tho whole of the theble Boh Peals Collection ande more readily avail. able for use by printing it, but it was pointed out that the questien of printing costs was to come up later on another committee, anu] the mater would lave to be left over for a time. The committee's report was adopted.
The Literature and Press Committee's repnrt was read by the Rev. F. L]. Edwards and adopted, and the commitlee re-clected with the addition of Mr. C. H. Eoward.

\section*{MINOR METHODS COLTECTION TO RE PRINTED.}

The most important question in the Metheds Committee's report was that of printing the collection of Minor methods. The Roy. H. Law Janies explained that the lolal cost of priming the wark as it stood would be about \(£ 68\), and to muke it pay they could not publish it at less than 3 s. \(n\) copy. The committon suggested that if the cost was too rawh to mable the Council to publish the whole at once, te should be published in two paris-one consistiog of the methods and the other of the compositions.

Mr. Trollope said the commithe hat gane chrefully through the transcript, and if the volume wos to be what they wanted to make it they could not cut it down by so mueh as a comma.
Many suggestions wete made as to what should be done to bring the cost of the work within reach of all ringers, including cuting down the contents, dividing the volume inta a greater number at sectious, giving only half-leads of the methods, and issuing it in several parts, but eventually Canon Coleridge moved a resolution to priut the book as it stauds, and sell out stack held by the Gouncil in order to cover the cost. An amemiment moved by Mr. P. J. Johnsan Yorkshire) to issue the work berially having been die feated, Canon Coteridge's motion was carved by a large majority.

The commitice were re-elected with thanks for their gerwices.
After lumbl, the Council dealt wilh the reports of other commitiees. That of the Analyses Conmittee, already published, was adopled, and the commititee thanked for their work and re-elected.

The indivitual reports of the members of the Thwerg and Bolfries Committee was of cansiderable interest, The committec have revised the pamphlet on the 'Preservation of Bells, Frames and Fittings, and it would shortly bo ready for printing. The Rev. C. W. O. Jeakyn, the hon. secretary, and Major J. H. H3. Hesse qeferted to the work done in belfyy inspections during the year, and the President, arising out of an inspection he made at Bannet, gave a luch? and instruetive address in regard to the ngeotained starins and stresges on towers extused by the rituring of bells.
Rev, C. W. O. Jenky moved that the report be adopted and the revised edition of the book printed as soon as possible.-Ganon Elsee seconded, and tho motion having been carried, and the commitee elected, Mr. F. E. Dawe suggested that the expense of printing shonld be met by subscriptims from among the nombers of the Council, which he offered to head witla st donation of two guineas. Severn] other members at onco offered to contribute, and the sum necessary is likely to be forthcoming in this way.
The Records Commiftec's report was read and adopted, and the Rev. A. T. Beeston having retired from the Council, the other members, the Rev. H. Law Jnmes and Mr. 'I'. Herwey Teams, were reelected, mul Mr. Gearge Grover (Guildfori) added to the committee.
Tho Legal Committee, laving eompleted its wort last year, was discharged with thanks for its services, but Aldermen Pritehett was asked to hold a watching brief for the Council in caso any legislation detrimental to ringing should be introduced. The Hes: H. Drake offered to defray the cost of printing the committen's report, whiela was a very valuable one, to make it necessible to those who ought to be in possession of it, athd his offer was accepter with thanks
The members of the Coumeil, stond for a few moments in silence to mark their regret at the death of Mr. F. A. Milne, a member of the committec, and as a token of sympathy with tho relatives,
The Broadeasting Committee, having completed its work, was discharged with thanks for its services.

\section*{THE NEW PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL}

MR. E. H. LEWIS' NNTEREBTING CARELR.
At the meeting of the Cetral Council, on Tuesday, Mr. Edwin Hugh Lewis, one of the homorary members, was elected president in succession to Canon G. F. Coleridge. The Conncil is fortanate in securing the services of such a capable chairman, for Mr. Lewis comes to the offce with wide experience gained ilhrough his association with impordant industrial undertakings, as well as an expert knowledge of linging.

Born on June \(13 \mathrm{Kh}^{\prime}\) 1881, at the Ficarage of St. Anm, Nolfingham, the youngest son of Canon J. D. Lewis, Mr. Lewis was educated at Cordwalles Schoal, Maidenhead, Charterhouse and Trinity College, Camhridge. He first leaml to handle a bell and ring call changes when Canon Lewis was appoinfed Rector of Trowell, Nottinghamshire, in 1900 . He joined the Cambridge Euiversity Guild on entering Trinity College in 1901, and was a contemporary of the Revs. \(H\). S. T. Richarison and B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake. His first peal was 5,024 Bols Major at St. Andrew's, Cambridge, on June 17th, 1902.

After taking his degree (Mechanical Sciences Tripos) in 1904, M Lewis was appointed assistant manager of the Eiverpoal Silver and Copper Co., Ltd., Widnes, and lived for two years in Liverpoal, ringing during that period at various churches in South Lancashire.
In 1906 he moved to Frodsham, Cheshice, and rang regalarly at Si. Lawrence's Church, where fhere were then six betls by Rudhall. He took charge of the belfry when two trebles were added in November, 1911. In the meantime lus had tuaglat a hand at St. Paul's, Winnes, where cight bells hatd heen hung in September, 1907. Mr. Lewis married 131909 the daughter of Areladeacon Richardson, Rector of Southwell, aud sister of the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson.
In 1914 he was appointed assishant manager of the Glasgow 1 mn and Steel Co., Ltd. Wishaw, Lanarkshire, in 1916 wouks manager, and in 1927 general manager. While at Wislaw lue was responsible for starting up the cement works, where cement was made ns a sirle line from the slag from the blast fumaces.
Last year he was invited to join the boards of directors of the Tumel Portland Gement Co., Litd., whose works are at West Thurrock, Essex, and of Messus. F. L. Snidth aud Co., Lid., who frie associated with F. L. Smidfh and Co., A; S, of Copenlagon, the wellknown engineers and makers of cement making machinery. result he took up residence at Brasted, Kent, in November last.
Mr. Lewis is a member of the West of Scotland [ron and Steel Instilute (filling the important post of president, 1922-26), the from and Steel Institute (member of Council, 1922-26), the Institule of Metals, the Ceramic Socicty, and the Institute of Fuel, of which he was appointed one of the first Fellows in 1928.
Until May, 1929, he was lay elector, lay vopresentative and cluychwartien of St. Andrew's Church, Wishaw, and chairman of the Wishaw Local Employment Commithee from its inception.
There was, of cotrse, little appertunity of ringing in Scotland, even if business activities had permittcd, bui Mr. Lewis was able to aitend oceasional meetings of the College Youtlis (of which he has been is member for 27 years) when in London attending meetings in conmettion with iron, steel and cement trades.
Mr. Lewis has rung 154 peals ( 26 on bandbells) from Minot to Maximus. He has been a representative of Cambridge Uuiversity Guiki on the Central Council since 1908. A few years before the War he ealled the attention of the Council to activities of the Commitiee, of whieh lie is a member, and ho contributed to Sir Artiar Heywood's book, 'Bells and Belfries,' much valuable information on straius and stresses, the resulh of scientific investigation and calculation.

\section*{BELL RESTORATION AT CHURCH OAKLEY, HANTS}
the peal of six hells at Ghurch Oakley, Hants, lave recently been retuncd, quarter turned and reluung with new headstocks nud ball bearings by Messrs. Gillette and Jolinston, of Croydon. The hells were rededicated an Wednestay, June 4th, by, the Roctor, the Rer. G. H. Jeudwine, at a simple hut dignifed scrvice, of which the maim note was praise and thankspiving, the local band ringing a touch of Grandsire Doubles after the vededication and before the sermon. In the course of his sermon the Rector paid a tribute to the skill witli which the bells had been removed and rehung and to the work of the local band of ringers, and appealed to his people to answer the 'Come' of the bella by 'We will go to the Hoase of the Lord.

A uumber of other ringers from other parishes attended the service, including Mu. George Williams, the Ringing Master of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, and at the conclusion of the service they got busy in the belfry and kept filie bells going till late in tie evening.

\section*{RULES: FOR PEALS}

\section*{To the Editor}

Dear Sir,-No doubt many of your readers will hearlily agree wilh wour recent Jeadiug article, "A Lead and a Challenge, but there is itwhear side to the matter. Change ringing is not like many other things-it has no vital need for a wrivten code of defnite and precise rules. In cricket, or foobball, or bridge, or tennis, or billiards-in all theso num all linges like then, you must have a set of zules which prowide for every possible citeumstance turd which antuth not be broken. Wibhout then you would speediy have disagrement and anarchy, and no game would be possible. It is not so in chango ringing. Its essential rules are implicit in the art itself, because the art is based on one or two broad and strong principles. You cannot have change ringing unless you du keep to these rules, nind therefore, broadly speaking, you cannot (at least, not seriously) break them. The proof of this lies in the fact that during two and a half centuries ringing began and developed without either a node of agreed rules on any central authority to make or enforce thems. Every rule in ringing which matters arose spontaneously; it was nover laid down by authority nor deficed. And yet ihroughout its history ringing renamed and must remain essentially the same thing-
You never' Iad, and never can have, one set of rules for ringing in one part of the country and another in anotier, in the same way liat the primitive foabball has split into \(A\) ssociation and the different forms of Rugby football. The fact that wo have 'call changes' and eross peals. does not affect this.
The principles on which peal ringing is based were summed up by the ancionts as Trud and Completeness, Now it does not require any delmition to chable fingors to understand what is meant by a true and completa peal of Grandsiro Triples or Bob Major or Superlative. Indeed, any attempt at defnition would rather tend to cloud the issue than not. Tha instinct of ringers, which is really the accumalated experience of the Exercise in these things, is a safe guide. It is far mote likely to be sound than the considered opinions of any individuals, however eminent. Only in a very narrow borderland is there uny ground for mocertainty. Our poals must be true and they must be complote. To this rule there is no exeeption; but there is a little uncerlainty as to what truth and completeress mean in a wery small mumber of cases. It is here that peaple are so very anxious to rush in with definitions, and here that definition is mach maro fikely to do lavm than good. For proof-twenty-five years ago spliced ringing was formally illegal. It was not merely forbidden by the preeise wordiug of the adopied rule; if it had been sabmitted to the judgmeat of represontative ringers it would have been condemned. Just that elass of men who now want to bar the Bankes James arrangement of Gambridge Minor and the Morxis arrangement of Grandsire Doubles woald them lave tried to bat spliced ringing if the question had been raised. Bat the men who started spliced ringing followed theil instinef, thinking mothing and caring nothing for the formal rule, but leeling that here was something which was a natural development, a new and precious gift for the Exercise's treasury. And so it was firmly established lnfore anyone bethaurht themselves as to whelbat it was formally lugal or not. And, of course, onee eatablished the formal fule was inpotenf againsf i
So, too, it would havo been with these five and six bell composifons if the question had not been raised in an acute farm before it hat beeri shown br experience whather they are good or bad, useful or alherwisg. The discussion Jas perhaps delayed the final seitlenent. but this al lerist is certain, that the result depends not on any atbempla at making rules on definivions, but on whether, in the long un, the instinet of the Exercise approves or condemns them, whether has six-hall ringers want them or not. And I certainly, for one, feel strongly that any attempts (mainly by eight-boll ringers) to forbid them, and so prevent them being put lo tho only fair and satisfacury test, ato clean contrary to the best interests of ringing and of endivicise.
Individuril] associations, of course, have the right ant the duty to theide what shadara they shall exact for the peals they book, though that dufy should not be carried out in any narrow and pretisan spirit. But the Gentral Council must look at these things minmper the progress of ringing or seek to restrict the litise definition Hamper progress of ringing or seek to restrict the liberty which proctse dules. What we do want is a fuller understanding of the grast anelangeable principles on which our art is based. If we pui our trost move in the instinct of the Exercise and less in individual opinion we shall not go far wrong-Yours,

\section*{A LEAD AND A GFALLENGE."}

Sin,-If [ an mot able to support the line you bave taken up in Your arficie rith the above title, you may say \(I\) anm not consistent with the policr we both thought the right one on momenclature. The reason, hownern, is this. As long as thore are kiffering lames, and clifforing techaical herms in the Exercise, the dovelopment of the shance of change ringing will be hindered. Only a central body can riconde such matters, and, as you righuy point ouli, it is the duty of the Central Council to do this. It is nol, howower, its duly to decide all such questions. it is within its power nod its duty to say that some questions are urgent, and should be decided at once, while others ouglit to be postponed. Now momenclature was and is an urgont question, and sonc decixinn had to be made. The Council deckled Jast year that the question of peals of Minot was not is gues. bion which ought to be settled at present.
There aro several good reasoms for this poliey, besides thoso which have so far been produced. For instance, there has never beon any uniformity of standards among the difenont sacielies, and I do not myself see any reason why thero should be, as long as they are mat more olosely federated han is zow the case. This may, as you say, diminish the athority and prestige of itre Central Council. But in these matters this authority and prestige cio not matter, if tho Conncil is right in saying that the time lo decida these questions has not yet arrived.
Again, one admires the action of tho Midaun Counties Associalion. They have takon a self-denying coutse which may injure flem considerably, beause they have the courdge of their apinious. But il is vary much better that this experiment should bu tried by one society at a time, than by the whole Exercise. If the questionable compositions cease to be guestioned, and are often rung it is fairly cortairs that the society will retrace tts steps-a fairly easy mater. But what is cusy and advisable for one or more someties may bo neilber easy nor advisable for the Centrial Cometil.

Again, tako my own chac. As I have beveral limes said, I do nol hold any very strong opinion on the mabter al issuo, and felt it woll to get the opinion of the Guild of which I ans secretary. It was becordingly well discussed at tho largest meeting the Surfalk Guild has ever had. Not s single voiee was rajsed ngamst these compositions. The only opposition to a motion in support was from a member who thought the discussion was premature-practically the semo opinion as the Central Council ultimatelg expressed. Now it is possible, though not very probable, if the Central Council had decided differently, that we should have found oursclwes chit git from then. Such a result can never oceut now. It is cloarly wiser for a central body to avoid decisions which may exelude any of ils conslituent societies.

Yoir say that the M.C.A. knew what inoy wanted, and that the Coural Council could lave done the same. But that is just what they could not do. No doubt what you netunlly mean is that the M.C.A. had a suffacontly large body of favourable members to carry the resolution in question. The Gentral Commeil, however, had not. Moreover, such a decision could be mario by a saciely by a marrove majority. It would be fulito for the Conneil so to nol. As long ns there is an influential minority in favour of eartain compositions, those compositions would be rung whatever a majority of the Council might pass. By obslinately or Lyvanrically using a majority in such an event the Gouncil might sptit the Exereige, or to might givo the questionable compositions the very fillip which it did not wish to, but it could not prevent the tido risilig, it its rise was due.

It is also fulile to argue about it higher staudard, while some of us are convinced that the compositions in question actually are of a ligher standard than the others. To enlarge the field of operations is mot necessarily to admit inferior specimens. They may be better. The primeiple underlying the iden of 'red tape' is that quality is better than quantity. Fortunately this is not always the case.

\section*{ANNUAT MEETENG PROVOKES KEEN INEEREST.}

The annual general meeting of the Guild at Emmouth on Whit Monday was atiended by nearly 200 mumbers from all parts of Devonshire. A service was held in the fine church of Holy Trinity with populaw hymns readered by the full choir, the lesson being read by the president of the Guild, and an appropriate address given by thir Rov. J. Dauglish, IR.D., Rector of Eympsione, who spoke of the delat of gratitnde which churchgoers owed to the ringers. The ringing of the belle, he observed, was inseparably bound up with Englisil religion, and in these days, when Sabbath observance was so generally neglected, the call from the helfry was a challenge to those who disregarded the chureh services in their pursuit of pleasure, Therefore, fe thought, the work of the ringers was anore effective than any sermon; and the ringers themsclves might take to theart the message of thair bells, to practise what they preached.
Dinner was served in the Church Hiall for 209 members and friends, the arrangements being carried out to perfection by a lndies' committee of Exmouth Hospital under Mrs. E. V. Cox.
The president (Rev. E. S. Powell) presided over a meeting which Wha animated and lenglty. The annual report and financial statemanl werc adopled.
The zeport of the genernl committee of the Guild was as follows A particularly encouraging feature of ilse year lass been the attend atce and intercst shown at ilte many meetings which have been held From the reports received from the vatious branches it would ap pur liak the Guild gencrally has been marking time during the year 1929, and has not made sueh advance as might be expected fo keep pace with the times. Only fifteen peals have been rung, compared with twenty-seven in 1928. While peal ringing is not the sole aim of the Guild, it is undoubtedly an index of progress, and this falling off, together with a decline in mombership, are factorg that give the comthitheo some ansiety. The commitee dosire to impress on all memhers that the Guild is a live organisation, and as such it must be either progressive or retrograde. Every single member can do something to help forward tho work, but if any are apathetic then the burden laid on the officers to carry on the organisatiou is uuduly inereased. The monthly Cathodral practices have been sadly neglected, and the committee would urge all, who can, to attend theso practices to necyire an insight into twelve-bell work.
Jline statement of accounts showed tiat the balance in hand was inercased during the year from 55010 s . 8 d , to \(£ 53 \mathrm{l} 6 \mathrm{~s}\). 1 d .
A proposal for an alteration of the rules governing the election of president of the Guild and chairmes of branches was abandoned.
A further proposition for attering the rule limiting the period during which the annal general meeting should be held was deferred until the next general meeting.
The Rew. F. S. Powell was re-elecled as president, Mr. T. Laver as general secretary, and Mr. T'. J. Stukes was elected general treasurer in place of Mr. T. G. Bartlett, who was cordially thanked for his ten years' sorvice as treasurer.
Mr. W. J. Southwood and Major C. F. Jerram were elected vicepresideats with those already on the committee.
Fer the affee of representative on the Central Council five nominaions were received for four vacancies, and, on a ballot being taken, The Rev. E. S. Powell and Messrs. Mursh, Shephard and Woodley were declared elected.
lt was resolved that a sub-committee be constituterl to congider a praposal to provide a permanent memorial to the late Rev. Maitland Kelly, in recognition of his lifelong nad self-sacrificing devotion to tho Guila.
Plgroulh was sclected as the venue of the annual meeting in 1931.
One life member aud three associate members were elected.
propesal by Mr. Southwood that a special committee be appointed to examine certain alleged defects in the Guild's oxganisation ras defeated
The general committee was authorised to arrange a partition of the Fxater and North Devon Branches so as to constitute the area in the Denories of Holsworthy and Torrington a separate branch.
A vote of confidence in the Rev. IS. S. Powell as president, proposrd by the Rev. J. V. Gox, was carried with acclamation, the prosident in responding being visibly affected.
The keen intercst shown by this large meeting in the proceedings would appear to belie the allegation that the Guild has reached its declino.

\section*{JUBILEE OF TRE SONNING DEANERY BRANCH} Fo the Editor.
Dear Sir,-In your account of this, in your last issue, you report me-quite correctly-as referring to a paper, read by the Rev. H. G. Sturges in 1879 to the deanery chapter, as being productive of the Sonning Deancry Society.
I have, however, since learnod, on excellent authority, that the paper in question, of which I hold the original, was read by the fuy i. H. Hart Davis.

This paper was handert to me by Mr. Hart Davis, a fow yenrs before he died, with some words of explanation which left uo with tho impression that it was the work of Mr. Sturges.
I have been informed, also on good authority, that Mr. Sturges did read a similar paper to an informal meeting of clergy it about this time.

I write this as giving some reasou, I hope, for my words at the jubilee meeting, and for the benefit of those who in after years will be searching after truth.-Yours truly

CYRL W. O. JENEYN

\section*{TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD. \\ \section*{TRURO BRANCE MEETING.}}

St. Newlyn East, Cornwall, possesses a aice ring of six, tener 9 cwt, rehung about four years ago by Messrs. J. Taylor and Con, on luill bearings and in a new frame, when the present treble was added. The church, a beautiful edifice, possesses a fine screen. The Vicar, the Rev. M. May, M.A., extonded a wery hearty welcome to the fifty or sa ringers from 'Truro Cathedral, Perranzabuloe, Illogan, Redruth St. Gluvias and St. Budech, who athended a Truro Branch gathering on Safurday, and the result wis a very happy mecting enjoyed by all. The bells were started before two o'clock by the local band, and were kept gaing until late in the evening

The service was canducted by the Vicar, who also gave the address, He was assisted by the Rer. W. H. R. Trewhella diocesar aepre tary), who read the lessons. A splendid tea, provided by the Ficar and Mrs. May, was thorouglily enjoyed, a vote of thanks being proposed by the Rev. W. H. R. Trewhella and seconded by Mr. A. S. Roberts (district secretary)
It is hoped to hold the mext meeting of the brancin at Truro an Saturday, November 1st, when it is hoped the Lord Bishop will gire the address.

\section*{A LOSS TO TRURO CATHEDRAL RINGERS}

By the death of Mr. W. S. Sitwell, which took place suadcaly on Saturday, May 31st, Truro Cathedral ringers have sustained a geverc loss. Although it is seven years since Mr. Sitwell had a serious illness, which compelled him to resign the Mastership of the Costredral ringers and give up active ringing, he had aways laken a keen interest in their work, und at the time of his death held the position of Fiec-Mister and treasurcr.

Mr. Sitwell was the senior pariner of the firm of Messrs. Sitwoll and Harvey, solicitors, and held many appointments, being secrotary to the Dilapidatians Board, legal secretary to the Bishop of Traro, and Diocesan Registrar.
On Sunday, June lst, the Cathedral bells vere rung falimnufted in his memary, and after the evening service a touch of 504 (trandEire Triples was rung by Miss L. Willoughby I, Miss E. J. C. Augwin 2, A. S. Roberts 3, F. W. Marshall 4, W. H. Southeard (couductor) 5, W. E. Minoos 6, W. H. Sleeman 7, P. Webb 8.
The funeral took place at Kenwyn Church on Tuescapy, June 3yd, when the Rev. W. H. R. Trewinella, Messrs. W. H. Southeard and A. S. Roberts represented the Cathedral ringers. A wreath was also gent from the band.

\section*{AN ESSEX VISIT.}

The ringers of St. Mary's Church, Burnham-on-Crouch, noompanied by the Vicar (the Rev. D. L. Williams), visited St. Nicholas Church, Tillingham, Essex, on Tuesday, May Sth, and spent a mast enjoyable evening. The Burnham ringers, by getting the Tillingham ringers to ring with them, helped them with the first stages of chango ringiag. They also very much admired the grest keenness showa by the Tillingham ringers, which is ever geeded by those about to take up change ringing.

The ringers, of whom there were nineteen, were afterwaris entertained to refreshments by the Vicar (the Rev. C. G. Gardner). The Buraban ringers would like, through "The Ringing World," to tender their hearticst thanks to tho Rev. C. G. Gardner for hil kind hospitajity and allowing them the use of the bells, and alyn to the Tillingham ringers who attended and gave them such a cordial welcome.

\section*{AN INTERESTING MEETING.}

The Central Council meeting in Lonklon last week had many points of interest about it. To begin with, it wats held in historic surroundings, for, by the kindiness of the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Guard Room at Lambeth Palace was placed at the Comneil's disposal and the deliberations were thus carried on in an apartment that has seen many important conferences in the history of the Church of England, and from the walls of which the portraits of a long line of Primates gazed down upon the assembly. Before and during the war the Council's usual meeting place in London was the Church House, Westminster, but thanks to the initiative of Mr. E. A. Young, the hon. secretary, the last three gatherings in the Metropolis have been held successively in the Jerusalem Chamber at Westminster Abbey, the Mansion House, and Lambeth Palace-a privilege which the Council has not been slow to appreciate. This year's meeting attracted an attendance of ninety-six members, which equalled the total of the r927 London Assembly-easily the record attendance at a Council meeting. As is usual at the triennial meeting, the election of a new Council produced quite a number of nembers who came fresh to the central body, and although at this first appeatance they may have felt themselves among many stranters, they will rapidly find in the Council-for all its divergencies of opinion-that same pervading spirit of brotherhood which characterises the Exercise to so marked a degree, and which, to no little extent, is one of its most attractive features.

The agenta provided the Council with a full day's work, and it can be said with satisfaction that something was really accomplished. There bave been meetings when there has been liftle to show for all the talk that has taken place, but if for no other reason than for the decisions to print and publish three important works, the Exercise has gained from last week's meeting. The gathering, however, will probably be best remembered from the fact that it was the occasion of changing the pilot. Canon Coleridge, who has guided the deliberations of the Council for nine years, resigned from the presidency, and Mr. Edwin H. Lewis was elected to the office. Everyone was happy to see the Canon apparently so completely recovered from his illness, but they could not resist his decision that the time had arrived when a younger man should take over the work. The Council will, of course, still have the bencfit of Canon Coleridge's advice and experience, for he remains, as he has done since the formation of the Council, a representative of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and we hope he will long be (Continued on page 390.)

spared to take his share in the deliberations of the Council. The Council is more than fortunate to have as his successor in the chair Mr. Lewis, whose qualifications for the office are unexcelled among the members and indeed in the Exercise. His vast business experience, and his great knowledge of ringing and of matters relating to the technical side of bell hanging will be a great asset to the Council. His tactful handling of the meeting last weck: and his extremely valuable contribution to the report of the Towers and Belfries Committee convinced everyone, if conviction were needed, of the wisdom which led to putting Mr. Lewis forward as Canon Coleridge's successor.

\section*{LEIGESTER DISTRICT?}

A quarterly meeting was held at Fallaton on Safurdar, and a specirl bus conveyed a party from Leicester, passing througin some very fiue country en route. Tea was held at the Fox Hotel at which a party of 17 yerc present. Afterwards a short business meetiog was hed. The local vice-president, Mr. A. J. Harris, made reference to the sad bereavement of Mr. Ronald Russell, of the Hallatoa band, ly the sudden death of hif fither on the previous Tuesday, aud asked the meeting to stand for a few moments in silence as a token of respect.
The Rector, Rev. F. S. Fultham, was elected an hon. metnber of the association.
The provisional arrangements for the combined meeting with the Finckley District ait Sautil Wigston and Wigstoz Magna, on Sirsurday, July 19th, were ratified, and it was decided to hold the nerb quarterly meeting at Foxton on Saturday, September 6th-
Before tea, a well-struck 360 each of Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor was rugg half-muffled on Hallaton bells.
About 6.30 p.m. the bus conveyed the ringers to Beltou, jus inside Rulland, where the rest of the evening was spent. The follow: ing meftods were rung on the six bells: Grandsire, Plain Bus and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Stedman Slow Cotrse, Cambridge Surpilse, Canterbury Surprise and York Surprise Minor.

A mecting of the Southern District of the Surrey Association was hold at St. Bartholomew's, Horley, on Saturday, June 7ih, when ringers from Redhill, Roigrater, Uharlwood, Merstham, Buckland, Burstow, Godstone, Limpsfield Chart, Cravley, Turner's Hill aud thc locs band made good use of the bells. The service was conducted by the Rey. H. T. Lewis (Vicar), who welcomed the visitors to Horley. Immediately after the service, rimgers numbering about 25 sat down to a good tea bt the Six Bells Inn, provided by the Vicar, who presided over the usual business meeting. The ratification of Mr. E. G. Swift as a vinging memher, and the Rev. G. Steer, of Limpsfield, as an honorary member, was confirmed.
The next quarterly peal to be altempted is Grandsire lyples at Horley, to be conducted by Mr. O. Sippetts. The next meeting is to be beld at Oxted in Augtrst.
A very hearty vote of thauks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for his address af the service, and for his hospitality in providing the tea; also to Mr. H. Bashford, of Reigate, for presiding at the organ during the service. The ringers returned to the tower again for further ringing, where good practice was had in the standard methods, and rounds for the begmoers.

\section*{FAREWELL TO A VICAR.}

At Yorktown, Surrey, on Saturday, after an abortive atfempt for a peal, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung as a farcwell to the Vicar, the Rev. R. Curwen, who is exchanging livings with the Vicar of Wintersloe, wilta; J. S. Goldsmith 1, W. Viggers 2, I. Marchmant, \(3_{3}\) F. Ewens 4, F. Nye (conductor) 5, B. Hawkins B. i. Munt 7, K. J. Eunt 8 .

\section*{EAST DERBYSHIRE AND NOTTS ASSOCIATION．}

The quarterly meeting of the above association was beid on Satur－ day，June \(14 t h\) ，al Grich．Favoured will fine weather，this old Derbyshire village，with its famaus Crich Stand frebuilt as a war memorial to tho momory of the fallen members of the Notts and Derby Regt．），and its beautiful ring of eight bells，attraeted a good number of ringers from Alfreton，Ashoyer，Blackwell，Derby，Mans－ feld Woodbouse，Morton，Melbourne，South Normanton，Ripley， Selston，Sutton－in－Ashfield，Heanor，Worthongton，and the local band， The bells were raised about two oclock，and were kept going uutil service，which was conducted by，the Vicar（Rep．H．E．dones），who gave an address and warmly welcomed the visitors on this the first wisit of the association during his incumbency．
Tea was served in the schoolroom，followed by the business meet－ ing，it which the president，Mr．Wilson Dobb，presided．
A resolution was passed，insiructing the secretary to advertise ald meetings in＇The Ringing World＇during the next year．One gentle－ man expressed the opinion that，unless this course is adopted，the associntion appeared too conservative，as non－members did not know of the meetings．It was loped that more ringers would be induced to subseribe to＇The Ringing World．＇
One new member was elected，and the business concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar，organist and ladies who catered for tea．Full use was made of the bells until 8 p．m．，and another pleasant meeting was brought to a close by a good lowering of the bells in peal．

\section*{TRURO CATHEDRAL JUBILEE．}

On Sunday，May 18 th，for 10 a．m．Sung Eucharist，at the Gathe－ dral Church of St．Mary，Truro，a quarter－peal of Grandsire Triples in 55 mins．：Miss L．Willoughby 1，Miss E．J．C．Augwin 2，J．Sedgley 3 A．B．Roberts（conductor）4，F．W．Marshall 5，W．H．Southeard 6， W．F．Sleeman 7，N．Williams 8．Rung to commence the week of thatksgiving services，which took place each day，and which were at－ teaded by the various deaneries，to commemorate the jubilee of the laying of the foundation stone of the Cathedrai．Service ringing was also done each evening（Monday excepted），and after the evening service of Sunday，May 25th，another quarter－peal was attempted， bat failed to come around properly．

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION．
VICAR BEATEN BY • MATEPMATICAL TABLES．\({ }^{3}\)
A meeting of the above was held at Jarrow on Saturday，June 14tin，when there was a fairly good attendance．The bells of Christ Church were kept going with Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major and Grandsire Triples．

After a splendid tea a short meeting was held，presided over by Mr．E．E．Ferly（president of the association），who meationed thati he had had a letter of apology for non－ntfendance from Mr．E． Burnett，vice－president，who had moved oul of the association area to Kirkby Stephen．The President said lie was sorry the association had lost such a useful member，but they hoped he would soon bo back amongst them agrin．
Mr．J．W．Parker noved a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells，and the Rev．H．W．Dobson，replying on buhalf of the ineumbents，said no thanks werenceded as the considered it an honous that the ringers should come to his church．He would always wel－ come them．He was always interested in the hellry，and although he wished he could ring，these＇mathematical tables＇had him beat， the various dingrams being quite a puzzle to bim．However，he hoped to to be able to take it up some day．

Sunderland was proposed the next place of meeting on Snturday， Aurust 16th．
After the meeting，the vingers went to St．Peter＇s Church，where Kent Minor and Bob Minor and a silent touch of Stedman Doublas were rung．They rehurned to Christ，Ghurch for Grandsire and Sted－ man Triples，Although the meeting could have been bettait abteuded， it was an enjoyable one to those present．

\section*{WYCOMBE RINGERS VISIT GLOUCESTERSHIRE＇TWELVES＇}

A very pleasant and enjoyable time was spent by membors and friends of the Figh Wycombe belfry on Whit Mondry．＇l＇he party，to the number of 33 ，left the chair town about 8.30 ，and made Witney the first call．Abont an hour＇s stay was spent here，and then tho journey was resumed to Cheltenlam，arriving soon after noon．Afer a＇free and easy＇luuch，the twelve bells were set going，and after－ wards a move was made for Girencester，where the twelwe－bell ling （the second oldest peal of twelve in the country）were all in readiness for the lingers．After a first－class knife and fork ten，and several good touches on the bells，the homing course was commenced at 7．15．This was safely nergotiated，and＇stand was called at Wycombe at 9.45. The ringers desire very heartily to lhank Mossis．John Monk，W．＇I． Pates and F．J．Lewis for iheir willing help and kindness，thas add－ ing much to the day＇s pleasure．

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD."
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

Still another ring of eight by Taylor and Co, of Loughborough, is to be installed in Lancashire. Walkden Pariph Church is to have a fine new peal of eight bells, with tenor approximately 18 cwt , , bo be hung with modern fittings in a new cast-iron framework. This tax peail is to replace an older and lighter one.

A NEW VENTURE YN ESSEX.
The North-Western Division of the Essex Association held a. nidweek meeting at Dunmow on Wednestay, June 4th. This gathering was arranged solely for the benefit of those who are unable to attend the meetings held on Saturdays. Ideal weather prevailed, and reprosentatives arrived from Braintree, Harlow Common, Stebbing, Littla Munden, Bishop's Stortford, Fulbourne, Stapleford, Canbridge, Felsteđ, Royston, Great Easton, Brackley, Melbourn, Sudbury, Sible Hedingham, and Great Bardfeld. Very onjoyable touches were ruag during the afternoon.
Service was held, sad afterwards 42 ringers were seryed with tea in the adjoining chureh rooms.
Thero was no business meeting, but Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the Association) complimented the officers upon the success of their venture. He expressed his grest satisfaction at seeing suel on ina atitendance. He thankeal the Viear for the use of the bells and for Jis most appropriate address at the service. He also thanked the local band for the courteus mamer in which they had receired tho mecting, and for the excellent toa which they had provided. -Mr . Finch voiced his appreciation at the suceess of the meeting, and Mr, Lawrnece, of the Herts Assaciation, said he was most interesled in the idea of a mid-week mebting. He was surprised to see such an attondance.
It is haped to loid another of those meetings at Hoddesion in Delaher.

the oukset, the retiring president (Canon G. F. Coleridge) congred the chair and opencd the proceedings with prayer.

THE ARCHBISHOP'S WISH,
The President then said ihey were greatly indebted to the Arehhishop of Canterbury for hig great kindness and courtesy in puting that historic roam at their disposal for their moeting. At the end of e meeting a formal vote of thanks would be passed to His Grace for his kindness, but it it had been possible he would have been present ho weleome them. His frace, however, was away, trving to regain for the most strenuous monh or six weeks that any Archhishop could eyer engage in-the meeting of the Lambeth Conterence beginning in July. They would all devoutly wisl and pray Tor his recovery, that he might be able to preside over that great grameng. As the Arehbistop could not bu present, tho was represented by one of his chaplains, Mr. Sargeani, who had very kindy ofiered to welcome the Council that day (applause).
The Rev. A. Sargeant said the Archbishop would bave wishod, if he possibly could, to welcome the Council in persont, but in any casu" had he been well ersough, it would have been rather dificult as he would lave been engaged at the great reunion festival of past annd present elergy at Portsea Pavish Church, where le was once Vicar. Even that great pleasure, however, lad benl laken away from him, and le was mow brying to get his strength back ill preparation for the Lambeth Conference. He did not, however, want them lo begit their meeting without some word of welcone, and on the Arehbishop's belialf he hed to give them a most cordial and hoarty welcome to Lambeth, and he hoped they would usc bots the Palace and tha gardens to the fullest extent possible. Mr. Sargeant went on to mention that in the historic room in which they were gathered that morning the 312 Bishops who cume for the conference would hive their lunch cvery day. The room liad seen at great many interesting galberings, and there were few, he knew, which the Archlishup woukid more cordially welcome to Lambeth' than their owan meeting that day. The Arclaishop spent a very happy day down at Canterbury witi the Kent Association at Easter, and they would remember his words botll in the Cathedral pulpit and at the funcheon. The Arclibishop was very glad on that occasion to hrve the opporlunity of paying some tribute to the very great work which the Rev. F. I. o. Helmore had done in the diocese of Carterbury and the whole county of Kent, because there wore few men in the annals of their crafl who had done more for it, to keep the interest in it alive and to keep it on the right lines and in close and intimato touch with the ghurah which their craft served. Many of thera knew Mr. Helmore, and would appreciate the work he had done (applsuse). On behalf ol the Archbishop he extendef to them a hearty welcome, and thanked them for the work they did for the Church.

THE NTEW PRESIDENT.
The President next stated that, as they kness, he falt it incumbent upon him to ask them to let him resign the post of president, which he had held for the last nine years. He was not doing it lightly ans without very greaf consideration. He knew it was the wish of a great many that lez should continue, but, as they knew, two years ago be had to uadergo two serious operations, agd fittle more thas two months ago be was at death's door with pneumonia and iuflanmation of the heart as a result of 1 . Thank God he lad anade a most wonderfol recovery from both, and he looped he might be spared for many years to be of use to the Exercise (applause), alhough not as their president. He had to consider age more than anything else, and he had to consider that if he was renominated this year lie would be close on 76 by the ean of the session, and, although ringers did not get into their prime until they were eighty (laughter), he folt the had passed bis grime, nod it was very necessary for the good of the Exercise that a younger member and a very responsible member shouldi be electod in his stead. In addition to the reason of age, if be got a cold he beeme a triffe deaf, and that was absolutely fatal to a chsiman of any kind. He was really a little surprised, when it got known that le did not offer himself for re-election, that there were not at least half a dozen nominations sont in for a new president. As a matter of fant only one liad been sent in, and he (the speaker) was thankfu! to know that the person rominated was a man who was held in tho greatest possible respect not only in the Exercise but also among outside bodies lika the Sociefy for the Preservation of Ancient Buildings. It was perfectly marvellous how these learned men-in their way (laughter)-hung upon tho words which fell and bad fallen from the lips of the Council's newly nominated president, who was one of the most able men In his profession (applause). Big firm after big firm had souglat his services, and although he was in Scotland with one grest concern, ho had now come to London, which was the lub of the Unirerse and the hub of the ringing universe. He did mot fink the Conncil could possibly do better than to allow lim to give ticm the name of Mr . セ. H. Lewis, of Gambridge Eliversily Guild, irrend and delighiful companion of all who knew him, and one who, he was perfectly certain, would carmy on the traditions of the Central Council as they had been carried on for the pasi forty jcars (applause). In the name of the Counci] to would induct Mr. Lews into the presidential chair (applauso).
Mr. Lewis then look the clasir amid cheers.
The Fon. Secratary asked the members, as a sight mark of their love, affection and respect for the retiring president, to give him a hearty cheer. That ancient hall hat resounded to many a cheer given to ancient captains, but he was sure that none world he more sinece than that which they wauk give to their own retiring captain (applause).
Three rousing cheers, hed by Mr. Young, were then given for Canon Colerifige, who briefly acknowledged this expression of the members' fecling for him.
The new president, on rising, was received with laud applause, and thanked the members for the honour which they had done him in not sending in any other mominations, thereby electing him without opposition. He felt thac lie was not quite as well qualified as ho might be for the office, and he would ask them to bear with him and (Continued on page 398.)

remeaber that fifteen years of his life, as far as ringing was concerned, had been alaost a hlank, because he had bepn an exile in foreign' counary faughter). Husiness had necessitated his firing in Scotland, and if onc lived there a little while one jnew it was a foreign country, and the inliabitants of fhat coutrtry werc very careful to point it ont (laughter). There was very little ringing there except it two or three towers, which it had beet difficult for him to get to, so in tlat roppect he felt he was not quite as fully qualied as lie might he. That day he saw many facos he did not recognise. That might be a slight advautage, because it was necessary for a chairman ta be strictly neufral, and he might have been rather prejurliced one way or the olther an certain gupstions which they nad been debaling Jecently. Before lee sat down lee wotid like to add his personal tribute to their late president. He lad seeu in their ringing paper all the things Canon Coleridge land done for the Exercise, and lie realized how very difficule it would be to follow him and the previous oecupants of the chair. So much dit laf fuel it, that he would like the steeplekecper" to fetch a bax for lim to stand on so that he might plysically ant in mulner ways reach the tail end of the rape (laisghter and applause)

OFFTCHALS RE-ELECTED.
The Presiclent announced thal no nominations for the office of sectediy load been received, and therefore it must be the wish of the Council that their excellent secretary and treasurer, Mr. Young, should carry on as before (applause)

Mr. Young, in thanking the members for their renewed confenence, said he was becoming ane of the old soldiers. His doctor had told? him to go easy, hut he was lofh bo give up these duties in connection with the Council. They were pleasurable ones and were the more pleasurable because he knew they met with the approbation of the membera. He had thought of giving up on this oceasion, and had haped that ia certain gentleman would hava been elected in his stearl. He (the secretarg) was going away for a good part of the yeat, from autumn to spring, and hig absence was one of the diffienlties in the way of his reelection, but their friend, Mr. Cave, realising the difficulcy, hat offered, and he (Mr. Young) bad accepted his services as deputy while he was awaty. He wished to thank Mr. Gave for his kindly offer.

The Hesident suid the Council would be glad to hear of the arramgemots made to carry on in Mr. Young's absence. Phey would hovo been sorry if Mr. Young had not been ahle to cerry on tine post he had occupied so weli. Proceding, the President said there wom no nominations for the office nf hanorary librarian, so here again it was ohviously the wish of the Council that the Rev. C. W. 0. Jonkyr should carry ou, and they could not possibly do botter than have him in that position (applayme).
"The minutes of the last meeting, having been printed in "Tlae Ringing World, were tnhen as read, and ware proposed for adoption by Mr. 1", J. Johnson, seconded by Me. W. 'F. Cockerill.

Mr. O. T. Coles ruised the question of the accuracy of one paragrapli relning to the amondment proposerl by Mr. W. Willson to the Methods Conmittec's report, and ashed that the words incluoded in Mr. Wilsonis amendment relaliag to cerlain compositions, on the eround that thes are hopelessly false" stould be included in the minutes. - 'lhis was agreed to and fle minutes, as amended, were adopted.

\section*{THE COUNCIL'S LAW REPORT.}

To the Editor.
Deur Sir, -Whilst appreciative of the geterous offer of the Rev. H. Dreke to defing the cost of prinling the report of the Council's Iegal Committee, and of the necessity of it being ohtainable in pampliet forms, I would suggest that alfialed associations shond weprint it, ia their annual repor's. At least two have alrcady done this (the Lancashire and Middesex), and it would be within the means of most associations to sparg the three or four pages necessary. The advantage of this course is that the report would be given the widest possibie circulation.-Yours faithfully,
C. T. COLES.

\section*{DEATH OF PUDSEY RINGER.}

On Wednesday, May 28th, the bells of Sit. Laurence's Chumeb, Pudsey, rang out fully muffed to mark the passing of Mr . Willitm Birke, who was laid to rost that day in the cemetery near the tower where be learnt to ring and where for many years he was a regular member of the baud.
Mr. Birks, who died at Blackpool at the early age of 50 years, had becn a respected member of the St. John's company there for somee time, and the wreallis included one from that company and one from the ringers of Pudsey. For some years previous to leaving Pudsey to trke up his residence at Blackpool he was 'mine host' at the W Gross Hotel, and many happy ringing gatherings were held inere during hig tenancy. Fver a man of genial temperament, be will be missed by many of his fellow-ringers.

Although not a prolific peal ringer, he rang some 14 pealg in mathods ranging from Bob to Cambridge Surprise iajor. Like bil fathou before him, he was a good striker, and whatever he rans he could be relied upon to ring well. As a last token of respect io his memory, the bells of Pudsey Chutelt were rung fully muffled on Sumday, June 1 st, and a well-stinck quarter-pea] of London Surpise Major ( 1,344 ehadges) was rung for evensong by the following wera bers of the lacal company: Prate Cordingley 1, Samuel Warit 2, 1 . Gecil Booth 3, Rowland Mycrs 4, William Baton (conducio George Ambler 6, John Ambler 7, J. William Cordingley 8 .

\section*{MR, W. R. MADGWICK'S 100 PEALS.}

\section*{ANNUAL MEETING AT CIIELMSFORD. \\ SUPPORT FOR 'THE KINGING WORLD.}

The 51st annual mecting of the Essex Association was held Cbelmsford on Whit Monday, there being a large gathering of riugers from all parts of the diocese. The day's proceedings were carried througli with marked enthusiasm, testimony being bonne to the record pusition in numbers held by dite association, and the infuence it exerted. In the morning, service was held at the Gathedral, where Ganon w. E. R. Marrow, Sub-Dean and Rector, offefated and delivered the address, the Rev. W, Lindsay, Rector of Ingrave, read the prayers, and Mr, C. IT. Howard, Braistrec, read the lesson. Thre assaciation's form of serviee, will their special hymns, was used. A collection for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to el 10 s . 6ai Canon Morrow, in his address, welcomed the ringers to that annual service in the Cathedral, and satd he wished to recognise in a small way the contribution they paid to the church life of the diocese. Thes called the faithful to worship, they worked unseen to a great extent, for the congregations took everyihing as a matter of course, and harely thouglit of the men in the towers. But le recognised bugers as a very important brabch of church life. There were many congregations who, if the bells ceased, would then ask why the bells were not ringing. There was an oid Irish proverb that some prople never hear the bell until it lias stopperi, which meant that some things were only valued when ibey had disappeared. Then there was the comfort which the bells conveyed to the sick, aged and infirm. As hellingers fulfilled their duties, they must also consider the measure of theis belicf in God. Having chosen bellringing as a hobby or pleasant oceupation, the mind and heart should go lecper. Were the ringers attracting people to church by their lives, which should he as living epistles? The expression should not be merely external and material, but the life should be sanctifien by spiritual emofion to witness for what it possessed. To be admitted to the fellowship of the ringers should be admission to the joy of a bervice which was perfect freedom.
Luncheon followed at the County Hotel, there being 85 members prosent.

\section*{RECORD MEMBERSHIP.}

The Master presented his report, in the course of which he referred the successful celebration of the association's jubitee and to the holling of the Cenlasal Conncil meeting at Chelmsford last year. With regard to the district meetings, all these gatherings had been atcenced and much propaganda worls had been accomplished. membership hat increased to 1,140 , exceeding the record of last yetr by 76. There were now 101 towers affiliated, showing an incresso of sight.

After referwing to the lasses by death, the report dealt with the restorations. At, St. Osyth, ihe ming of six had been rehumg and the whde band there had joimed the association and were making pragress. Throngh the generosity of Canon Paynter, the ring

Thirly-one rang their frst peal, sixty-seven members it was the first peal in the method.
of Spliced Surprise Maximus was the first to he rumg by peal of Splieed Surprise Maximus was the first to he rung by association or band. The peat of Superlative at Writtle was IF in honour of tha Jubilee by officers of the association, and is firgs allicers' peal.
Sotwithstanding the much heavier expenditure incurred in the jubilee celebrations and the cost of sntertaining the Central Council, e association had been able to meet all liahilities, without engeneral \(u\) pan the reserve fond, leaving a balance in hand on the with it an increased amount from subscriptions, \(£ 22\) 4s. 6d. (ineluding some arcars), against 256 lk . 61 . for the previous year. The income, 217 7s. 7d., to the Bell Restoration Fund showed an inerease against x12 0s. 9 cl for 1928 . After making grants of e11 11 s ., they carried forward in thris account 527 12s. 50 ., a very creditable result.

In summing up the year's work, the Master added, they had overy reason to be satistied with their position. The appeal made in tho last report, asking members to wisit outlying towers to give assistance, had been put inte practice in all districts. The addition of seven towars and the increase in meabership was in some measure due to this venture.
In conclusion he tendered the best thanks of the association fo the geremal secretary, district afteers, and the commattee for all they had done to make the jubilee yerr the most suceessful and interesting in its history
Upon the proposition of Mr. A. Saunders, scconded ly Mr. R. Heazel, the report and balance shect were adopted.

\section*{OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.}

Ganon Morrow took the chair temporarily daring the eleetion of a Master for the ensuing year. Mr. 'T. Faulliner proposed the re-election of Mr. G. H. Howard, and said the commitee had considerent this question, and quickly eame to fhe unanimons conclusion to recommend that Mr. Howard be asked to cantinue in the office (applause) Ma: Howard had served the association faithfully for 21 yeurs, and this would be the 22nd year of his election and ve-clection. During that period ihe association fad made tremendous strides, and its honour and prestige could not be surpassed. Mr. Howard hatl carried outh the duties in a kindly way, which had won the respect, admiraton and affection of nll the members, and he had no hesilation in propasing that Mr. Howard should be re-elected Master for at least another twelvo months.-Mr. G. R. Pyc seconded the proposition, which was carried with applause.
Canor Morrow said it was a great pleasure for him to be associated with the demision of the association, for the mombers were fortumate in having such on distinguished ringer to preside over thef fortunes for another ycar (applause)
Mr. Foward, in reply, said he was extromely obliged for the renewed confidence, and would endeavour to serve the association to the best of his abilities in the coming year. He joined the association in 1895, and in the 46 years he had attended all the anmun moetings exeept one (applause). He was thankfal that he had had good health in boing able to do it, and hoped that the privilege might continue (hear, hear). He thanked the district officers for their loyal support, which made the work of the association so successful. The report presented this year was the best the ussociation ever had. There had never before been so many members, nor had there been so many peals rung dy district meetings beld. The assaciation was very much indebted to the officers for all they had dome (applause).
Mr. F. J. Pitstow, Safiron Walden, was unammously reatected lon. secretary and treasurer, and the commitees were re-eloctad. The five District Masters were appointed a comniltoe to administer the Bell Fuwd, with Mr. A. laver hons. sceretary. The following mrants were made to bells restomations: Ingrave \(24 \mathrm{4s}\), Larla Golne nad Bocking fi 3 s , eadi. Tlie following now nombers were eleoted: Rev. C. S. Trimble, Fryeming, Mr: H. C. Tweed, Brentwoot, hon, memibers; Mr. R. Futson, Maldon, stt. Mary's, life member; Mr. W. G. Heaster, Gillingharn, non-resident life memher; Messrs. G. Argent, I. Gibbons, F. Marlin, F. Tarloum, and W. Eady, Belchamp St. Paul's, ringing members.
Mr. L. Wr. Wiffen, Braintree, said he wisled to bring up the question of "The Ringing World and the positnon it oceupied in regard to ringers. He pointed out that it rested with the ringers to make a larger circulation for the paper, which could then be sold for 2d., on even less. He asked members of the Essex Association to do what they coukt in taking "The Ringing Warll' (hear, hear'). He said the ringing paper crealed a good deal of interest in ringing (hear, hear'). Mr. Butler said be wished to suppart the refcences do ' The Ringing Worle, because he recognised the great value the paper was to ringers. The paper was honestly worth 3 d , because of the information it gave of use to members of the different towars. 'The Ringing World "has worth its price ten times over because of the different meetings arvertised in that papes:
The Master said he wished to congratulate the editor of "Tlwe Ringing Woyk apon the isaue of the thousandth number of that paper, and he supperted what Messrs. Wiffen and Butled had said as to the value of 'The Ringing World" to ringers. He hoped the members would tako the paper, and so increase its sale. There was a custom in some patishes to lake one copy of "The Jinging Wortd" for the use of the tower, but if ewery ringer would take one it would greatly increase the circtation. By creating a larger salo for 'The Ringing World ' they cottd expect the price to be reduced, allhough 3i. per week was rot tog much for a paper so waluable to ringers. It was the only paper in existence which devoted the whole of jes columns to ringing matter. The Naster moved: "That this meeting af the Essex Association pledges itself to do its utmost to increase the ciomlation of "The Riuging World " in future." Mr. R. Heazel seconded, and this resolution was carried unanimolas!
The Master, in thanking Carion Morrow and the incumbents for the use of the bells atit the several chtrehes, said Chelmaford was the best ringing centre in the Eastern Cotunties, and he did not know a town in England where there were more towers available in an immediate neighbourhnad, and where the whole of the bells were in such good ruging order (hear, leart).

\section*{DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD}

A HUNDRED MEMBERS ENTERTAINED AT HAGLEY.
Ath extremels surcessful meoting of thio Dudley and District Guild was jutd at. Hagley on Snturday, June 7th, alont 100 members and friends baing prasent. Touches of Grandiare and Slerman Triples were rusg in tho aftamoon at St. John-the-Haptist's Church, which stands in the lovely park surrounding Hagley Hall, and service was conducted by We Rector (Rev. foblert Kinnsi, who preached from the text, 'I was glat whell they saitd unto me, we will go into the House of the Lord.'
The members enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. H. Mason, af foodrest, who entertained the company to tea in the Hall Barn, the hosi und hostess, whon pursonally supervised the arisagements, tueing fasisted by a mumber of jady fivetads. After tea, tha Sedgeley litmelbell eingers contributed selections.
The innsiness meeting which followed was presided over hy the Ifestor, who was supported hy Mr. imm M[rs, Masoli, Mr. J. Goodman, Jtn., Mr. H. Sheppard and Mr. S. .7. Huglies.
Mr. Mrson extended a hearty welcome to the visitors, and nroposed He Rev. R. Burns its an lion. member of the Guild. Their desire wits, he said, to secure the active interest of all clergy whose charches hali towers with bells in tile area of the Guild. Mr. Buras lad rentibect them many acts of kindness. He also proposed as an hon. momber Mr. F. Robinson, the people's warden, of Hagley. The oledtions were unabimously agreed to, and several new ringing members waro elected.
At the suggestion of Mr. Mason, it was decided ta contribute to the memorial, which is to take the form of a elergy desk and choir stalls, to the late Dr. Gray Maitiand, Vicar of Dudley. Mr. Mason pointed ut that althongh their Guid was one of the very few, if not the only one, that had a membership subseription of only 6d. per year, they had very antisfactory liunnces, and lie thought they would clusire to be associated wifh his memorial movement to one who jaitiated some 20 years afge the ground plan for the formation of the Guild.
It was mentioned that the Guila land a credit balance of \(274 \mathrm{~s} .1 \frac{1}{2}\) d. , and one guinen was woted to the memorial fund.
Salisfaction was expressed that the Hagley band had joined the liuild, and the promise of every assistance in acquiring the art of change ringing was made to them.

The coming Central Caumcil meeting was referred to by Mr. Skelding, and Mr. Hughes (the representative) said he would welcome sny mundnte the members might, give hint. In bis opinion the Guild should uphold tine rulings of the Coumetl.
Jt. was decided to give Mr. Hughes a tree hand, Mr. Mason remarking that the Guild cauld woll leave their interests with him.
Sympathy was expressed with Mr. Round (Netherton) in bis recent serious aceident, and good wishes for his speedy recovery.
On the motion of Mr. Mason, thanks were expressed to the Rector for allowing the use of the tower, for arranging the use of the Hatl Barn for the tea and mecting, and also for the very lappy service they had had. He also thanked the ladios who hed assisted Mrs. Wason in the lea arrangements. The Rector replided, and added his personal thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Mason fot their generosity in providing the tea. Mr: Price. . Thanks to Mr. and Mis. Mason was formally moved by Mr. Masun saind it was a greal plensure for Mra. Mason and himself to do what they could in thes way. Thoy' only passed this way onee, nad to do anything thoy could was their greatest happiness (applause). He hoped it would not bo lobg before the Guild again visited Hagley, and gave them another opportunity of welcoming them ats on that day. In his earlier days he did a good deal of change lingiag, end derived thuch plensuta from it, and he should always value the friendships he formed. Apart from the att itself, membership of a haud of church bellringers should also quicken fheir interest ins and love for church wark. Thare were cases in whioh ringers confined their activilies to fle tower, and were nol associated with the gencral work of the chureh, but tinese instances were fewer than formerly, tnn? there were cases in which their ringers were also members of rhureh choirs and other parts of church organisations. Hagloy was mord fortunale in this respect than some, and the object of the Guild was nol mercly to make rivgers, but ringers who were interested jat church work. Whenever this was achieved it was something which was very grabifying.
After the meeting, some of the ringers again adjourned to the tower and rang several touches on the poal of eight, while the remainder of the parly spent a very enjoyabla lime in Hagley Park and grounds.

\section*{THE COUNCIL'S JUSTIFICATION.}

We remarked last week that if for no other reason than that a considerable programme of publication was decicled upon, this year's meeting of the Central Council was productive of work of real value to the Exercise. The 'Collection of Minor Methods," which in past years has given rise to some lively debates, first in regard to nomenclature and afterwards on the question of what should be recognised as a peal of Doubles and Minor, is at length to go to the printers; there is to be issued a revised edition of the booklet on ' The Preservation of Bells and Fittings,' and, in addition, the Council decided upon the publication of the report of the Legal Committee, which was presented last year and which is an authoritative review of the laws affecting church bells and of the legal position of ringers in their relation to Church authorities.

The republication of the 'Collection of Minor Methods' has been long delayed, and its appearance in the near future should be welcome to the five and six-bell ringers, for whose benefit the Methods Committee have taken untold pains and spent a vast amount of time, to give them not only a new print of an old work, but to amplify its scope and make it, within its limits, exhaustive. To such an extent has the old book been expanded, that the cost of production had serionsly to be debated by the Council, which, of course, has not got unlimited resources. Having, however, made up it mind that it was able to afford the outlay, the Council undoubtedly did the right thing in deciding to publish the complete work in one volume, and when it makes its appearance we hope the Exercise at large, and not only the six-bell men, will support the Cotncil's enterprise and quickly buy up the edition.

The other two publications which are to be issued are to be published largely, if not entirely, without cost to the Council, thanks to the generosity of some of its members, and through them ringers and others interested in bells will have at hand two important and valuable pamphlets. The immediate appearance of both of them might not have been possible had it depended upon the Council's funds, but by the private action referred to delay has been obviated, and it is in the best interests of the Exercise that it has been. Those who are fond of asking what is the good of the Central Council would do well to ponder upon whether the Fxercise would have been anything like so well off for text buoks and printed information, if therc had been no Council? Who would have undertaken the issue at any price-let alone cost price-of the many useful books which the (Continued on page 406.)

Council has been able to bring out? Who would have been prepared to shoulder the risk-let alone the workof publishing such books as "The Glossary,' the collections of peals in the various methods, and the collections of methods themselves? No one but a body like the Central Council could have entertained it; and in what the Council has done in this direction alone can be found full justification for its existence. This part of the Council's work has advanced the interests of the Exercise to an enormous degree.

\section*{GIRENOESTER RRNGERS' ANNUAL OUTING.}

The annual outing was held on Whit Monday. The first stop was Ledbury, where the party were met by Mr. Dance. Tlie bells, a fine peai of eght by Fudhall, were raised in peal. Several touches of Stedman and Grandsire were brought round. Shaveru was the mext place of call, fifer a spleudid ran over the Malvern hills. Woreester was then tisited, where the company, who were met by Mr. Jefiries, were formatate ju geting pormission for a ring on the Cathedral bells, and touches of Grandgire Cinques were rung. The gext move was to Perahore, where, on arriving, the company partook of tea at the Angel Hotel. At Evesham they were met by Mr. J. D. Johnson, and several touches were rung on the bells, a fine poal of ten. After a short shop at Cheltenham, home was reached at 10.30 p.ms. The |lanaks of the ringers are due to the Dean of Worcester, Rev. Earaegy, of Lecibury, and the Vicar of Eveaham, for the case of the lielis, and to Messrs. Dance, Jeffrieg, and Johnson, who mat the company and helped to make the outing sucla a success. The ringers also wifn to thand Mr. F. Edwards for the excellent arrangements which made the outing so successful and enjoyable.

\section*{SC. MARY-LE-TOWER SOCIETY'S LONG DAY.}
'l'lee ahove society held their annuai outing on Saturday, June M1st. Arriviny at Braintrea by 8 a.m., where breakfast whs waiting at lie Nug's Head, Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Essex Aescciation, end Mr. Lewis W. Wifien, welcomed the visitors, both standiny in ta a course of London Surprise Major. This was followed by a cnurse of Cambridge Surprise Major ou the 'all of a family' bells at Great Dunmow, at Bishop's Btorffard a well-struck course of Cambridge Surprise Royal and a course of Superlative Surprisu Majar al St. Mary's, Harlow. After dinner at the Green Dragon, a splemdid course of Cambrilge Surprise Maximus wis rung, and was repeated at Chelmsford, where the visitors were again met by Mr. L. W. Wiffen and other members of the Essex Aesociation, who had just rung a peal of Superlative at Galleywood. Double Norwich, St-lman, andor Grandsire were also rung at each steeple. All agreed this was en outing par excellence, ebout 150 miles in 18 lours.

The society thank all incumbents and stecplekeepers for having everything in readiness.

TRURO CATHEDRAE RLNGERS VISIT EXETER.
Although most of the Truro Cathedral ringers have many towers to ring at before they complete the 137 or so with a ring of bells in their own county of Corawall, it has long been their deaire to visit Breter Cathedral and ring on the noble twelve. This was tle main objective relected for the aunual outing on Whit Monday. Sonn after 7 a.m., the appointed time of depariure, a party of twontygeven was en route for Exeter, 'Truro's neighbouriag cathedral city. Lunch was enjowed in picnic style, and Exeter was reached at 12.30 p.m. The party arrived at tho Gathedral at 12.45 p.m. precisely, us arcanged, and were welcomed by Mestrs. Gardner, Davey and Truman. They were soon in the ringing chamber, and sfter puiting the bollsun rang rounds on the twelye, Grandsire Triples on the back ant 'Thomas' eights, and also the "Stamord ' ten to rounda, the two youngest members, aged twelve and fourtecn, acquitting fhanschus splendidly. One monters if they are the youngest to ring in this tower, at least on the twelve 4 a a ring, these bells are certainly wonderful, and after one visit it would certainly be very unwiso to say that the mach praised 11th is a better bell than Grandison, the tenor, or the two trebles. After a lurried look around the interior of the Cathedral, the parts made for St. Sidwoll's, where they were welcomed by the Rector, the Rev. A. Lanyon Owen. They found a pery handy ring of ten, which, as the numerous peal boards in the ringing chamber suggest, have been used to the fullest mivantage. Aricr a pull the ringers bade farewell to Mr. Gardner, who mado them feel quite at home at this tower also. The next place wisited was Torquay. Here no ringing was done, but a couple of hours enjoyed in the sun. The party arrived at Traro again at 11.30 , tired, but neverthelegs chathering of the 200 miles thet had been covered, the places visited and the ringing done.
Thanks are especially due to the Dean of Exeter and the Rector of St. Sidwall's for the use of their bella, Mr. Gardaer for acting as pilot at Exetel and ahoming the ringers to view the Gathedral bells, and the Dean and Chapter of Truro Cathedral for agnin nakjng such a long journey possible.

BISHOP STORTFORD COMPANY'S DAY OUT
On Whit Monday, the Bishop's Stortford company and friends to the number of 30 had their rnnuad outing, when chey rang at Watford and Tilehurst in the morning, end after lunch at Resding rang at St. Mary's and Caversham, before proceading to Hatficle. Tray reached home at 11 p.m. after a very enjoyablo day, and wish to thank all those who welcomed tham and had ererything ready et tho various towery which they visited.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN \(\leq\) THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELERY GOSSIP.}

The ring of tea bells at St. Michnel's, Coventry, wore rugg for the last time on June 28th, 1885, the previous peal on the bells laving been rung two years carlier. The risk of damaging the fabric of the beautiful spire was the roason for ceasing ringing, and the bells liaro now been formed into a cariflon. The 'batile' in the Consistory Gourt against breaking up the old bells is still fresh in the memary of the majarity of our readers.
Elijah Roberts, one of the greatest exponents of 'tapping' that the Exercise has known, tapped a peal of Stedman Cinques ail Birmingham on June 30 th , 1883, the peal being conducted by Fintry Cooper.
The first peal of Grandsire Ciaques 'ju hand " was rung abi Birmiug Lame on July 2nd, 1886.
Mr: Noel E. Hope was ordanined at Chichester Cathedral last week and is taking up a curaey at the Chupeh of St. Mary Magdalen. St. Leonards-on-Seat
Mr. W. L. Guteridge, of Stoke Poges, is lying in Windsor Hospilad, having been involved in a serions mototecycle accident al Gerrard's Cross, as a result of which his left leg is broken.
The poal of Stedman Triples rung at Staplehurst on June 7bit was the 50 th peal together by Mr. and Mrs. F. Baler and T. E. and C. F. Sone.

The ring of ten at Iruzo Cathedral were dedieated twenty yeara ago last Saturday (June 21st, 1910). Amongst the many noted ringers present were the Revs. J. F. Hastings and E. V. Cox, Messrs. J. R. Newman, C. H. Hattersley, B. Prewett and 7 . Stavert, of whom some aro fallon asleop. Methods rung were Stodman and Grandsire Caters, Kent Treble Bob Royal and Rab Royal.
Of tho prescut company, only one member aan remember this grent day. Next year the 'coming of nge' of the bells falls on a Sunday, and it wauld be splendid if the present keen bend conld (perhaps with assistance) repeat these mellods.
The order for the recasting of the peal of eight at Ilfracombe Parish Church nad the rehanging with new fittings in a new castiron framework has been entrusted to Messrs. Taylor and Co., Loughborough.
At a meeting of the Council of the Library Association, on Eridny last, Mr. J. S. Pritchett was appointed honorary legal adviser to the association in place of Lord Mncmillan, who had resigned on boing raised to the peerage as a Lord of Appeal in Ordinary.

The balance sheet was adapled on the motion of Mr. Hughes, seconded hy Mr. Paddon Smith. The auditors were also thanked for their work.
The Librarinu presented his report (already published in 'Tlio Ringing World'), and added that while the book, "Motel Rules for a local company, was out of print be han several applications for copies, the since the revised issue had been completed, very fow applictitions for it had been received. It was a most valuable little work, which was published at 6d., and he hoped the nembers of the Council would do their best to secure its sale, so that the copies were not left upon his shelves.
Replying to Mr. Goles, the Librarian said he was always plensed to schd out the Council's publications 'on sale or return' to responsible afferale of an association, but last year very little return in cash was received from this source. The report was adopted.-At a later point in the meeting the Librarian stated that the amount roceived for the sate of publications by associations was 4s. 9a.

\section*{HONORARY MLABBERS RE-ELEGTED.}

The following honorary members retired from office this yoar, hud were re-elocted on the motion of Mr. A. L. Coleman, seconelem \(\mathrm{I} y\) Mr. J. George: Rev. C. D. I. Davies, Alderman J. S. Prikhreth, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Messis. J. A. Trollope, J. Griffi, E. A. Yonng, J. S. Golksmith and C. F. Juhnstou. The Rev. A. T. Beeston alsu retired, but did not seek re-election, and the vacamy thas created was left open in case of emergency.

\section*{THE CARTER RINGING MACHINE.}

Hhe Comulil came next to deal with the report of its varibus counmittees. 「'lhe Hon. Secretary, for the Standing Committen, sairl Lhore was verg little to report. They had lad hamecting that morning and an interim meeting last November. He lad done bis best to obtain cheap travelling facilities for members of the Council, and many ut thern had availed themselves of the opporturity, but they land nat: sold the one hundred tickets which ilne uniter railway companios stipulated they slould do. It therefore remained to bo sees whethery they would grant thent ilie same facilities next year. With regard to his trustecship, with the Rev. Davies, of the Cavter ringing machine, he lad to report that on the previous Sunday for the lirst time the machine was officially inspected by mentbers of the Council and ringing friends, about 20 of whom assembled in the Science Musoum at Sotath Kensington. The machine was set working, athl lue explajaed it. They had serapped the old batiery of gongs and hat gol a new set of bells, given hy Mr. Huglies. Those whe connednd electrically with the machine, which, unforthately, was in some respects begimning to show signs of wear. Two fticnds of thelw, Mr. George Fardom and Mr. Shamma, had devoted many hours trying to see what could best be dane to adjust the worring parts. Oin Sunday it almost rang a plain conme of Stedman Ciugues, but st did not. come round. That, of coln'se, was disappointing, but there was the machine; it was in good hands, and if they conte only alford at sonne? Thy to ley out 815 or 220 and overland the mathise and have sume of the cams and elicks renewed, it would be as good as it was in dear old Mr. Carter's time. Continuing, Mr. Yanng said the members of the Slanding Committec who were up for re-election were Gar:on Goleridge, Revs. C. W. O. Tenkyn, Cianon Elsee, C. D. P. Dapies, II. Law James, Alderman Priteheld, Messrs. Cockerill, Hugles, Grifth, Foung, Cave, Coles, and Paddon Smith. The Rev. A T. Beeston, being no longer it mernber of the Coumeil, cuald noti be re-elected.
Replying lo a question, Mr. Foung snitl the president wrs tu ekofficio member:
On the motion of Canon Baker, seconded by Cunou Flace, the report was adopted, and on the motion of Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, seconded by Mr. W. Willson, the Standing Commitiee were re-elected, widi the addition of the conveners of commilteeg who were not already members of the Standing Cammitiee.

\section*{TREBLE BOB PEAL COLLECTION.}

For the Peal Gallection Commitee, the Ruv. H. S. T. It world be a very good thing to do, but he thought ihe Colneil as a Council coalrl hardly undertake the publicestion of any individual's compositions. Some opinion was expressed that the collaction of Stednan Caters und Cinques compositions slotuld lie published.
The Hou. Secretary said the suggestion was not received in formal Lerms, and het simply sent the hetiters on to Nit. Richardsom.

He believed there were about 122 pietures altogether. The work, flomen what he had heard and secn of \(i t\), would lae of intense interegt to cwery rioger. It wonld be dather expensive, hut he hoped that ringers who could not aftord to purchase it would ask the Jibrary Gommalteo of their ows lown to olytain it and pist it in be public librery. The book would contain a great deal of soumd knowledge which had sever beep put before ringers before. Library committees of town coumelis were only too glad to have gusgestions.
A momber remarked that the commiteos report contained no roforence to the complaints made in the press in regard to a peal of Donbla Norwicts Royal rumg at hostmanstet lasi fear, and which mponsiged the great need there was of eare in regard to ringing poals in elabrehes meat hospilals.

The report was adopted an the mation of wr. P. I. Johnson, secouded hy Mr. J. Georgu, and the commintee was re-eleeted ns follows, with the addition of Mr. C. H. Howard: Rer. F. LI. Edwards, Messrs. The suh-commitee who had revised the rules for a local company (Rew. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Ganon Elsee, Mr. Elwell and Mr. Wilde) was dissolved, and tho committee thanked for the work they had done.

\section*{THE COLLECTION OF MTNOR METHODS}

The Rev. H. Jaw James, reporthig for the Methods Committee, said the Council would remember they arranged a year ngo to print the "Collection of Minor Methods," but this lad not yet been done because the expense of printiug the book was so great in its full form that the publication could only be done at such a price that there would be, they, were afraid, very little sale for it. As they liad got so near to the bime when the Council were going to meet ugain, it was decided to wait and ask the Gouncil whether they would publish the whole thing af a cost of something like fifb, or would divide it into two portions and pablish it in two parts, the first part consisting of the methods only, and the second part consisting of the compositions. In view of the cost, to make it pay the charge world have to be ahout 3 s . per copy if it were printed in one parl. Mis. A. P. Smith asked if the committee had got an estimate of the cost of printing it in two parls? If not, he strggested that matter should be deferwed until they had done so.
Mr. J. A. Trolloge said the question of obtaining an estimate was not the committee soh; that belonged to the Standing Gomrritleo. The Methods Committee's jab was to prepare tho hook, which did, according to the standard which they set down for themselves It was to be a complete book, and it was exlatastive. Mr. Young oblaired for the Standing Commituee an estimate for printing, and the committes demurred to the cost. The Methods Coramittee to the conclusion that if they were going to print a book like for the six and five-bell ringers, they must mot have a book so that people could not huy it, and they decided that on the whole would be better to divide it into two portious. It could not be divided into equal parls. The first part of the book would be a litlle lass than two-thivds of the whole, and would contain a lead the six-bell mothods which were cansidered to be regular, selection of five-boll methars; also the amended list of alternative names, the alphabetical list of tho methods, and one or twa other things. Amang the methads, there was a complete list of Alliance antl Little Minor methods, which were now very little rung, bud which would intronuce a new stiyle of six-bell ringing. The mittee enonidered that they could not omit so much as a single comma, if the thing was to be understood and usefal and exhanstive The sccond part consisted of the compasitions and the appendix which they were last year anthorised ta include.
Mr. Willson suggestod that before any expense was incurred, the societies should be approached and asked for a guarantee to takf a certain number of copies, otherwise they waud saddle the Comneil with an expense equal to two years' income.

\section*{DEVIZES BRANCH.}

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at the Parigh Chureh of St. Michael and All Angels, Urehfort, on Saturtiay, June 7th. Ringing during the aftomoon was followed by the Guild gerviee, conducted by the Ber. G. E. Lewis (priest-in-elarge), whan also gave an interesting alduens based on Daniel iii. 5. Miss Edward; was the organist.

Tea followed in the New Hall, which has been erected entiroly by voluntary labour by the residents of the village.
A short business mecting followed, Ni. C. D. Heginbotham presiding. He extended a hearty welcome to the visitors, Messrs. George Popnall, of Bedwellty, Mon, E. Woadroff and N. Allnutt, Swindan. On the motion of the Chairman, a vote of thanks was pased to the Rev. G. E. Lewis, to the organist and to those who prepared tho tea.
Ringers were present From Urchfont, Aldbourne, Bratton, North Bradley, Devizes St. John and St. Mary, Meiksham and Trowbidge, and touches of Grandsire Dowhes and Triples, Stedman Triples and Flain Bob Major were ruing during the day. Ringing also took place at Marlzet Lavingtion.
Urehfont possesses a perl of eight bells fenor 21 cwt. The following description of the church is from Higliways and Byways of Wiltshire': 'The noble chureh of St. Miehael is a remarkably fine decorated work not too well restored, and yet by no means spoilt, for much of it remains untouched. A thirteenth-century ehurch seems to have stond here, and this was rebuilt in the carlier balf of the fourtenth, first the transept, then the chancel, then the south aisle, then in the fifteenth century the nave was attached and porch, and, last, the tower was added. The most interesting part of the claureh is the chancel of three bayg, with its lieavy buttresses and great stoue vatilu.'

\section*{NEW PEAL OF IO FOR IRELAND.}

INSTALLED AT WEXFORD BY CROYDON FOUNDRY
Five manths ago Messrs. Gillett and Iohnston, Lid., were asked to examine the bells at the Church of the Immaealate Coneeption, Wexford, and lo zeport an their candition to the Res. John Sinnoti, a aministrator.
The hells consisted of a diatonic eiglst, tedor 29 cwit., hung for ringung, with a fat second lung dead for tume playing. The tenor was cracked, and the others so badly ont of tume that it would have been impossible to retuve them satisfactorily. The frame, in two tiers connceled one to the other, was of extraondinary heighi, being some 22 feet from the botlow sills to the bearing points of the top tier.

It was evident kliat the bells had nol been rung for many years owing to these conditions, and as a result of the long inaction the fitfings had become eilapidated and dangerous. Eventually it was depided to recast all the bells into a ring of ten, and hang them with new filtings thronghout in a new metal frame, and to provide a chaming apparatus so that the hodle could be cither rung or chimed, and tha order was given on condition that the whole contract was inished by May 25th.

The tower of the Church of the Immaculate Conceotion, Wexfert, where the new ring of ten bells has been opened.
The whole work has now been carried out, the metal of the old peal being distributed througliout the recest peal, the tenor of which weighs over 31 cwt .
It wes on Sutulay morning, May 25th, juse three months after the neder had been given, that the bells were inaugurated by chiming for the mid-day Kass, while in tho cvoning at the close of the annual hrea meks' men's mission an hour's demonstration of chiming and thae playing was given by Mr. S. R. Roper, the represeatative of the hill founders.
Theve was an assembly of 7,000 men in the precincts of the church, and lhe lieantiful tone of the bells evoked the admiration of the ealme audinue. A furtiser demenstration was given on Friday, May 30th, when the Papal Numeio, tlie Must Reverend Paschal Robinson, O.F.M., visited Wexford to receive the freedom of the harough. This ceremony tack place in the churchyard before a crowaded astembly, and the enthusinsm of this Irish Catholic community was a ruost impressive spentacte to the privilgged visitors.

From the vingers point of view, however, Whitsun Saturday nod Sunday were the great days. There is hot a single ringer within 20 miles of Wexford, and accordingly arrangemonts wero made to bring a representative band from Dublin. The tinging was arranged primarily for the purposc of testing tho tuwer undor ringing condithons, and aiter a few short touches the architect expressed himself thorouglily satisfed that the ringing bella had no effect on the stability of the tower, and considered that the frame provided ali that engingering principles demanded. After this test a quarter-pend of Gimudsire Caters ( 1,331 clagnges) was rung in fifty minutes by: P.C.R. S. F. Murphy I, G. G. Landoff \(2, G\). Lindafi (conductor) 3. T. McMortan 4, W. H. Wilsan 5, L. Lutman 6, J. A. Attinsan 7, A. L. Murray 8, G. Wimot 9, J. W. Townley 10.

Among other ringers Laking parl in the proceedings were Messis. Lyych, Eogan and Kennedy, of Dublin, S. R. Roper, of Croydon, and Lungley, of New Ross. London ringers will recognise in the lnstnamed an old Rochesier Row ringer, and it is hoped that he will consent to beach a band to ring the new balls.
The volume of sound of the bells proved a revelation to the peoplo in Wexford, and one old gentlemau could scarcely believe that tho ten bells could be rung by ten men, as he slated that the old wight bells required 77 men to ring them. The 'go' is all that can be desired, while the beautiful tone of the bels is a delight both to thue inhabitants and fingers alike. They fico promotuced to be equal, it noti superior, to any ring of tem an Ireland, and Messre, Gillett ant Johnston, Ltd., are to be heartily congratulated on this fatest. example of their craft.
The Dublin ringers wish to plane on record their aynureciation of being chosen to earry out the opening ringing on these bells, and their thanks are due to the Rer. John Sinnott, and the founders who defvayed the entire cost of their visit.
It is hoped to attempt a peal on the bells in the near future.

On Saiurtay, Tune l4th, a wedding took place at SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Lavenlam, between Ma William R. J. Poulson, a Well-knowa ringer, and Miss Elizabetla C. Mills, bolh of Laweaham. The bride was given away by ber hrother. Mis. Lawrence Poulson, brothee of the bridegroon, and also a ringer, aeted as best man. As the happy pair left the church, the bells were thrice "tirent," followed by a mary totreb of Girandsira Triples. The bridegroom, who is rlopuly conductor at Lavenham tower, has rung upwards of 100 peals, and has a large circle of ringing friends in Essex and Sumoth. He is an adept, whether at the big' ar "litile t ent, his striking heing an exampla for any young ringer. Mr. and wrs. Poulson were the recipients of many useful presents, including one from the Lavenlam ringers.

\section*{CLEVELAND AND NORTH YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.} PRESENTATION TO HON, SECRETARY
The anbual mecting of the Gleveland and North Yorkshire Association ledd it Nortiballerton on Whit Monday was a record in more ways than one
The athendance was greater than that for many years past, representatives aticuding from Middlesbrough, Skelton, Ormesby, Stocktom, Dirlington (St. John's, St. Cuthbert's, and Holy Trinity), Selby, Thirsk, Ripon, Sharow, Tadeaster, West Hartlepool, and the lacal liank, in acklition to a visitor from the Lancashire District.

All had gathered to do homotas to the ever-popular and enthusiasie secretary, Mr. Thomas Metealie, whe, on that day, celebrated the \(215 t\) anmpersary of his appointment. The presentation, consisting uf a fold watch and chnin with ringer's badge, and also a cheque for \(\mathcal{E} 65_{\text {, }}\) was made at tlae Primrose Cafe, when over fifty membera and friends wete prysent.
The president, in proposing is vate of thanks to Mr'. \section*{COUNCIL COMMITTEES & THEIR WORK}

We referred last week in this column to the decision taken at the Central Council meeting to issue almost immediately three publications of importance and value to the Exercise. These publications, and others of similar nature, printed by the Council, are, of course, the work of committees, of whose labours, going on continuously behind the scenes for the benefit of the ringing fraternity, very little is heard. The Council meets but once a year; the labours of some of the committees go on unceasingly. Take, for example, the work of the Analysis Committee. From year's end to year's end it occupies no inconsiderable portion of the leisure hours of three or four people, who, with painstaking zeal, dissect the information which appears in every peal report, collate it and annually present to the world those tabulated statistics which are of so much interest to those who care to study them and make comparisons with the records of earlier years. To some ringers such details, perhaps have no appeal. They may wonder why so much trouble should be taken; but even though the great majority of ringers were to take but a passing interest in the Analysis, the committee's work is more than worth while if only for the information which it assures to future generations.

Then take the work of the Methods Committee. That has a more direct bearing on the future of ringing, and, in the eyes of ringers, probably, a greater present value to the Exercise. We may not all agree with every view which the committee holds on various points of detail, but everyone who contemplates all that has been done in the last thirty years or so must appreciate the sacrifice of thought, time and labour which successive members of this committee have given, not only in their efforts to reduce the previously existing notions of the method construction to some sort of order, but to open up to all ringers the opportunity to extend their practice and expand their knowledge of method ringing. Years of study and work are compressed into the 'Collections' of methods which are published in the Council's name, and but for this committee's labours a great deal of what is now common knowledge or readily accessible information might never have been available to the ordinary ringer.

Then, too, there is the work done so unostentatiously by the menbers of the 'Peals Collection' Committee. In the early days of the Council some of the results of their labours appeared in print in the shape of 'Collections ' of peals in plain odd and even bell methods. For a long period now work has been proceeding on peals of Treble Bob, and volumes of typed figures lie in the Coun(Continued on page 422.

cil's library. Every one of these peals lias had to be proved, and, in addition, a large number proved lave been discarded for one good reason or another. The average man in the beifry has no idea of the tedious and exacting nature of a task like this, and where would it have been possibie to find men voluntarily to undertake it, but for the stimulus given by an organisation which represents the whole Exercise.

And one might write thus of all the Council's committees; of the practical. work done by the Towers and Belfries Committee, which is made up of men of scientific and practical qualifications, from whom even architects and the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings are able to learn something. The Legal Committee, dissolved at the last meeting because its work had been comipleted, has drawn together all the strings of the law as it relates to bells, bell ringing and ringers, and the committee's labours have produced a recital of legal information which would have been very costly to obtain in any other way. And so the work goes on. There may seem to some people little result from the deliberations and discussions of the Council; the debates may sometimes appear to lead nowhere, but the practical work is done by the committees, and a realisation of what has been accomplished ought to convince even the most indifferent that the Exercise without the Council would be very much like a ship without a pilot, drifting through uncharted seas.

\section*{NORTHERN DISTRTCT.}

The annual meeting of the Nortbern District, held at Handsworth, Sheffield, on June 14 th, was very well altended. Ringing took plach before the choral servieo held in the church. Mr. Baker, tho Rector, gave a very interesting speech, and Mrs. Bakel presided at tho organ. Tea wes served in the sehoolroom. Mis. Scott, of Rotherlian, proposed votes of thanks to the Rector, Mrs. Ifaker, the ladies for preparing tea, and tire gentlemen for assistiog in the belfry.

At the business meeting, Mrs. Baker, all honorary member of the Guild, was in the chair. Minutes of last meating and the otatement of accounte and secretary's roport weye passed. One naw momber was elceted, Miss M. Higgins, of Handsworth. 'Ho following officials were eleched: Mrs. C. Ryder, of Rotherham, vice-president; Miss N. Gawthorme, of Handsworth, hon, secretary; ind Mrs. Wolstencroft, Manchester, Miss Burchnall, Sutton-ou-Treat, Mre. Scott, Rothorham, and Miss E. Smith, Narton, Shefield, on the committoc. Mra. J. Cotterell, Bradford, and Miss Lewis, Nuneaton, Warwickshire, were elected for the Central Commitlee (subjcet to their consenb).
The next threa meetings are: Sutton-on-Trent on September 20th, a joint mesting with the Lincolnshire District; December, al Miles Platbing, Manchester; March, at Daybrook, Notts, if the local authoritios will agree. 'The next, amual meeting is fixed for Handsworth, Sheffield.

It was tecided that the question of dividing tho Northern Districh be brought befora the Central Commititee, owing to the impossibility of members in outlying districts attending the mectings.

Miss Burchnall proposed a vole of thanks to Mrs. Baker for takimg the chair. The bells were kept going in rarious methods till 9.30, when the bolls wore lowered in peal.

\section*{ESSEX ASSOCIATION. \\ NORTHERN DIVISION.}

A mecting of the Northem Division was held at Wethersfield on Salurdiay, Juno 14th. A service was held ut the church at 4.30 , ut which the Vicar officiated, aur Mr. Howard, Master of the Essex Association, read the lesson. 'The Vicar, in his address, spoke of the great service the ringers renderen to the church. Tea was toell arranged in the school, followed by tine usual businces meoting with Mr. A. A. Saunders, Digirict Master, in the chair. 'lwo new memivers were elected, and it was clecided to hold the next meeting at Sible Hedingham on Scptember 13th. Mr. Howard said it was very gratifying to have such g good abilenamee at that meetiag. He thanked the Piear for the use of the bells and his excellent addross. The Vicar himself was a ringer, and Wetlicrsfield was to be congratulated on laviug such a nice peal of bells, which were in excrilent order. The tcnor was a very ancient bell, being originally cast, in 1623 . Corfinuing, Mr. Howard said a peal was rung during the week, being the frrst evor known to have heen rung on the bells.
The Rev. Smith, in jeply, gave the visitors a very hearty welcome, pred he catcoded an invitation to others. He apprecinted the thanks accorded him. Various methods, neluding Treble Boh and Surprise, were rang during the aflernoon and eveaing.

\section*{I.EYTONSTONE RINGERS IN BUCKS.}

The annual outing of the St. Tohn-the-Baptiat, Leytonatone band was hold on Jume 2ist arri 22nd, a very enjoyable time boing spent in North Hecks. On Fridity ught, June 20th, the party travelled to Bechehiey, where arrangmantif for a brief stay had been very kindly made by Messrs. W. and H. Sear. The irst stop ou Satar day was tha Church of SS. Peler amal Paul, Newport Pagnell. Here tho party found a good ring of night, with tenor 21 cwt. Ringing is done on the ground floor, and. considering the long draught, the bells went very well, and some gooti touches of Grandsire and Stedman Trinies werc rung, also a course of Cambridge Surprise Major. North Crawley was next visited, where at the Chureh of St. Firman hange a very good peal of six. Hore s 720 Wells Surprise was rung, aleo 240 Durham. The next place was St. Mary's, Wonghton, "Etsis church is well crict for, and the belis, a light ring of six, were soon going to Bevorley Surprise, a yourl 720 being the realt. \(A\) toucl rif Crmbridge, then on to Simpson St. Nicholas. Hero was found anohier well-going peal of six and a very intercsting old charch. A 720 Norwich Surprise and a touch of York were rung.
After lunch, Sheniey St. Mary was visited, and a good 720 Southwell Burprise was rang on the ring of six, also 240 Cambridge, then wn to the Charch af Sit. Mary, Whadion. Here, 240 of Ipswich and 240 of Cambridge were tung, At Winslow, SE. Laurence's Church coulains a grand ring of six, tenor 19 cwt approximately, but, arriving late, only 240 London and a tauch of Plain Bob could bo attempted. Tua over, the ringers were soon on the road to Nortll Marston. The Clureh of St. Mary contains another handy ring of six, where Mi. T'. Fiulkner ably conducted is 720 of Kent Treble Bobs after whicla 240 Lendou was rueg. The last placa of eall for Saturday was Swanbourne. The Chureh of St. Swithin contains another wellgoing light riag of six, which wore soon going to Surfleet Surprise, in gooul 720 being the result, with 210 of London.

On Sunday morning the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Bucking. ham, was visited. Here there is a grand church, a splendid peal of eight bella tenor 27 cwt ., and a spacious ringing room, and beils that went wall. A good three courses of Stedman was conducted by Wr. E. Smith, then a course of Kent Troble Boh. Afterwards, the party journeyed to Woughton again, where the lowal ringers invitied them to have anolhev pult, and six of the members rang a 720 hondon Surprise. Sunday afternoon saw the party at the old-worlid village of Otd Bradwell. At this anciont and well-kept chureh the Viear, Rev. Conway Ditwies, and losal ringers were met, and on the landy wall-going riug of six a good 720 fpswich and 720 York Surprise wero well rung.
Buforo returning home, a visit was paid to the Parish Church, Bletchlay, where the brothers Bear may well be proud of their handy ring of eight, tenor 16 cwt ., which go well. Tauches of Stedman Triples and Superlative were rang, making a grand finale to the outing. The thanks of the party are dau to the various clergy for readily granting permission to ring, and to the many local ringers, also to Mr. W. Sear and brotleer, who made the arrangements for such an enjoyatgle auting, whish will be long remembered by all who took part.

\section*{GAINSBOROUGH RINGERS' OUTING.}

The tenth oonseputive amual muting of the Gainstorouglt Parish Church Guild took place or Whit Monday, With eyery prospect of a fine duy, the members, with thair friends and rolatives, travelled in it 35 -senter bus for Husi, via Buothferry Bridge, Howden and Goole, and at 10.45 the first stage of the journey was completed.
At Hull they were mot by Mr. J. Chamberlan, one of the ringers at Holy t'rimity Clurch, Mr. and Mrs. MeGuinees, Mr. H. Marcon and Miss Norton, Lincoln, and Mr. R. Daniels, Stamford, who had mado the journey by motor-cycles and car. The party werc also given a hearty welcome by the Vicar. Owing to service, ringing was homited, but there was sufficient time to havo a few touches on the splendid ring of ten bolls. Proceeding to Beverley, the grand rings of ten at both the magnificent Minster and the fine Church of St. Mary wero at the disposal of the ringers auring their wisit.
Mr. W. Gilson, one of the Miaster ringers, joined the party at tea, aftor whichs the journcy was continued to Goole Parish Church, which contains a woll-going ring of eight bells. Here, as at Hail and Beverley, they were welcomed by gome of the loca! ringers, including Mr. J. Drake. After an hour's ringing, the hells were lowered.
Parting then with the Lincoln and Stamford friends, the homeward doarney was commenced, and Gainsborough reached ubaut 11 p.m. During the trip, the friends and relatives were able to indulge in sight-seeing, but not so for the ringers. With ther it was a case of bus riding and bellringing, with the climbiug of innumerable steps thrown in, but it is gratifying to be able to state that everyone had a most pleasant and enjoynble time. The best thanks of the ringers are due to the jucumbents for the use of the bells, to those who gave them such a hearty welcome ai the tarious churches, and all others who helped toward making the day's proceediugs so successful.

\section*{PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR}

PUBLICATION IN :THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive pbotographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.
The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.
Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.
Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{WEDDING BELLS}

On Tuesday, June 24th, at Wootton, Northampton, libe bells of the Parish Church rang out marily during the afternoon and evening to celebrate the wedding of Mr. H. C. Frost and Miss A. E. Kightley. The service was conducted by the Rector, Canon '. . Dodson, assisted by the Rev. J. P. de Putron, Yicar of KingsthorpeMr. Frost has been a member of the local band for a considerable number of years, and has been a regular service ringer. The ringers, to appreciate bis services, presented him with a silver bell inksind suilably engraved. The reception was held on the lawn of the bride's home, the ringors being invited, and they made full uhe of the handbells and brought round some good touches.

\section*{SERIAL PUBLTCATION BUGGESTED.}

Mr. P. J. Johuson said that he was not at all sure whether, owing to the cast of printing, the time hat not come when the Gouncil should conaider the advisability of publishing this and other books in s serial way, instead of sinking, as in this case, two years' income ill it once for a very problematical sale. They liad a huge mass in the collection of peals of Treble Bob which the vast majority of ringers would never sce
A Member: And do not want to.
Mr. Johnson said Itat might be so, but if they were going to pablish ihese things at prohibitive prices they were going to defeat their wn object. They had made a collection of these things which ahould be material for the Exercise to work on, and le thought the fime had come when, instead of some of the disputes which they found in the correspondence calumas of "The Ringing World, they migint obtain the publication of something of more use to the Exercise. He put this forward as a suggesion, and he thought the time would come in the near future when the Council would have to do this to conserva their funds.
Mr. J. S. Goldemith suggested that it would be possible substanlially to cut down the material in the new book without ancrificing its utility. He referved particularly to the large number of Alliance and Little metnods which had been introtuced, and thought that these would be sufficieutly vepresented by a few of the best examples. If they had not enough money to publish the whole, they must cull their coat according to their cloth.
Mr. Trollope said the ringing of Alliance methods was a new hing for yingers, and they put them in in order that ringers should have in the book evarything they wanted. Thesa methods weve not rung now, but the idea was that they should be rang in the future. He hoped the Council would not agree to leaviag out any single method that had now been included.
Mr. Harker asked if they could not suve money by publishing the sheletor diagrams instead of the figures. Would that not considerably relluce the cost? ('No.')
Mr. E. M. AtEins said ihat they could save on the cost by puiblish. ing only half a lead of each method. Anyone who knew anything aliout methode could easily white out the ofther half.
Mr. Trollope: We are not publishing this book only for those who understand methods.
Rev. H. Law James said that when iney published the first edition they purposely omitted all the 'bobs ' and ' singles, but distinetly stated how they were made. Which they were preparing this now book they were asked to add the bobs and singles of every method, because the six-bell ringers could not understand it without. It was foot tho comrittec's fault. Fe would be perfectly willing to cut them all out, but his six-bell friends told him, No, we want them, please.' If they wanted thern, they must pay for them.
Mr. J. Hunt said he wis the person who suggested in the Council mesting that the bobs and singles should be included with the mothods, but all he asked for was one page showing how the bohe were made in every class of method. It was not necessary for the committee to exceed their instructions; by doing so they were prowilling this book at a price which would be prohibitive for the sixbell ringer. He suggested they should cut out the compositions and give anly examples of the bobs and singles. They could then poblish the book at a much less price.
Mr. 'Trollope said he did not think that eutling out the bobs would Mr. Crollope said he did not wery much reduce the price.
Rey. E. S. Pawell said that the thing most six-bell ringers wanted was the methods. It was the conduetors who wanted the compositions. The commitfee could not give any guarantee of what the cost of the methods alane would bo; probably they would not cost more thin 25 ., and surely that was not too much in these days.
IT. Cave: On a technical pointi, can you get, a 720 of an Alliance Minor enethod?
SIr. Trollope: Of course not. The Alliance methods have to be ined in conjunction with the Little methods, and in this way your can make up an extent.
Row. E. B. Powell said the splicing of Alliance and Little methods wes something which would enable the six-bell ringers to do what tan been done at Willesden on eight bells.
The President suggested that it should be left in the haris of the Sumding Committee to proceed with the printing of a section or the whole of the book with a money limit, if they liked, say, 535 or \(\mathbf{E 4 0}\), othorwise they might be left for another twelve montins without anything being done, and certainly there was a demund among six-bell ringors for this revised edition.
Mr. Trollope said he would rather that tho actual sum of money was not mentioned if it were left to the Standing Committee. The committee ought to be left with a certain amount of latitude.
The Rev. H. Drake suggested that if a limit were imposed, it should be a limit on the price of the book when sold, and he suggested it should be not more than 2s, a copy.
Mr. T. Faulkner asked whether the committee were not authorised ast pear to publish the biook?

Mr. Faulkner: Then why haven't you done it?
Mr. Trollope: Because the Standing Committee stnod in the way.
Rev. H. Law James: The Standing Committee Jave to prodish: the money to pay the bills.
Mr. Faulkner said that he took the riew that there was a grent demand for this book, and whether it cost 2s. or 3s. they wore nuve likely to sell a larger number of tha complete book than of a portion of it. They must do something for tho six-bell ringers. Tthey suht the whole of the copies of tio first adition, nand now that they were giving them a new and fuller edition, there would be a very groat demand which would justify their advonturing some of the mumey which they had in tand.

THE COMPLETE WORK TN ONE VOELTME.
Ganon Coleridge said there was no doubt about the deramml for this book, and he for one would like to sec the whole book pulsisised at once, and he did not see winy they should not do it. They had raised the subscriptions of the members, which brought in 810 or £12 a year more, and they had \(£ 70\) invested, hesides another \(£ 50\) in hand. He thought it would be a very good thag if they published the whole book at once, and he moved that its publication in lull be proceeded with, and that stock be sold out for the purpose of meeting the cost.

Mr. Faulkner seconded. It Jad been said, lie remarked, that there was no business in it. Personally, he thought it was good husiness, they must speculate something

Rev. E. S. Powell: Do you mean, published in two purts or ano: Ganon Coleridge: One pari.
Mr. W. Willson deprecated selling their stock. He did not cmsider it was good business to dispose of their crpital.
Mr. Johnson moved as an amendment thiti the wark should the published serially. Fe was entirely in sympathy witlo the resolution from tire point of view that he believed that the whole of the material should he placed before tho Exercise, and he believed also that the Methods Conmittee themselves would be hitterly disappointed if that were not done. But lie also felt that they, as a Council, had no right to sequestrate the whole of their resources in one particular direction. They ougbt, however, to do something the six-bell man, who were all importanl bury of the Exercisa, Rev. E. S. Powell: The Major men hare just had their Fhar methods published for them.
The President: Do you mean that we should get into tonch with the ringing paper and ask finem to pulalish the methods?

Mr. Johnsan said that was the spirit of his mmeadment. What the Council wanted to do was to get the whole of the methods platerl before the Exercise, and the only object of publishing them in a book was for that purpose. His amendment was to get it tluough at a much lower cost.

A member asked if it was Mr. Johnson's intention to pay "Thae Ringing Wortd ' to do this, and also how long he thought it would be before the whole thing was eompleted.
Mr. Jolnson said that was matter for arraggement. He did not suggest that they should ask anyboty to do it for nothing, but, done in the ray which he guggested, he thought the cost would he less and would be sptead over a greater perind.

Rev. H. Law James asked if it was the intention of the ameniment that the book should be published in the nowspaper or published in 6d. parts in the same way tiat Mr. Robinson's book in ringing whs published?
Mr. Johnson said he was prepared to accopt the ider fhat it should be published in 6d. parts.
Mr. A. H. Pulling said if they clamged more than 15. 6il. they would go beyond what most riegers could athord.
In the course of further discussien, Mr. Cave said they could reduce the cost per copy by having double the rumber, and lie asked if it was thought that the demand wonld justify having 1,000 insterd of 500 copies.
Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn said, from the amount of coples of nlr books which he held as librarian, be should not recomment thr: Council to oriter any more than 500 copies of any work in the future.
Mr. Johnsan's amendment was then put to the meeting aml re. feated.
Crion Elsee then spoke in favour of publishing the work in lwo Folumes, one at 2 s . and one at ls . 6d., instead of in one volumg at 35.

Mr. Faulkner said the resolution as it stood was plain and straightforward. This book was long overdue to the siz-bell ringers, and he did not think that another 6d, or 1s on the cost would afed the sale of the book very much, Something had been said about sequestrating the funds of the Council, hut what were the funds for if not for the use and benefit of change ringing, and this book pould benelit change ringing very substantially.
The Rev. H. Drake supported the idea of printing in two portions, but Ganon Goleridge's motion on being put was carried by a large majority.

On the motion of the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake, seconded by Mr. Coles, the committee, consisting of the Revs. H. Law James and E. S. Powell and Messrb. J. A. Trollope and E. H. Lewis, were reclectea with the best thanks of the Council for the work they har done.

\section*{THE ANALYSES COMMFTTEE.}

After the [qnuthen interval, Mrs. Fletciner presented the report of We Analygis Conmifiee (which has been printed in The Kinging Work' 'J, and, subject to the investigation of a point raised by Mr. Sharaant with regard to the peala rang by the Bedfordshire Associntion, this was adapted, and the committee elected as follows: MrsF'lether, Mesarg. G. R. I'ye, C. Deat and G. W. Flotcher. Mr. George William, who harl beca for many ycars on the commitiee, slit nut geek to he ru-elected, and Mr. Coles asked if any roagon could be given for the resignation of Mr. James George who was could be given for the resignation of Mr, dames Georgo who was fraswering was fartheoming.

\section*{ANOTHER USEFUL PDBLCATMON REVISED}

I'lee Rev. C. W, O. ifenky made a statement with regard to the work of the Thowerg and Helfries Cammitee. During the year, he suld, the cummittee had hem carcying out the rovision of the publicition on "Tlise Preservation of l3elts, Frames, and Fittings.' This look was originally brought out in 1891, anal there was now orly one member of that Committee still alive, and he was with thern that day. He referred to Mr. F. E. Dawe (hear, heav'). The committee haf raken great pains with this revision, and it was now in 1 ppescript. There were certain small alterations to be made, chiefly th do witll the question of cannons on old bells, and he was happy lis say thut they were now in a better position to denl with this more in faccordance with the wishes of those who wanted to retain wid eannons Han they used to he. That was one of that thinge in which an alyance lard been made in the last year or two. Mr. Jenkyn added that there was now no reason in any place for it to be said chat the bells were sa noisy in tha belfry that they could nat be rung nourfarinibly, or that some were so faint that they conle not los leard, or that outside there was so much moise that the bells were a mulsanie th the public. All these things, as a resulh of thoip work in the lase frw years, could be cured, and it would be foulad in this yoviser hook how these thiges could be dealt with. They liad kept as Car as thoy could to the ald took, hut a certain monount of this was out of date and had had to be antirely cewritten, while a certain number of mew discoveries had hat lo be included. They Jad folt it wise to eliminate Suction 5 , which was a sort of scheriule which gave the prices of various peals of balls acoording ta the weights of the tenors. If anyone was going ta have anew ring of bells they could always gel estimates from the learimg hell fommerg, and it was rually a waste of time and space tus gel out ligures which, in a few yenrs' time, might he quite wrong. They progosed to leave that seelion out altogether. It might have heen of vaiue nt some time, hut not in the last few years. Confinuing, Mr. Jenkyn said with regatrd to the other work rone by membors of the committee, he had been quite busy in his uwn diotorae, find the thiel work lie had houn engaged in was the rehanging and augmentalion of the pual at foradiag. All who had been to that church wore agreed that it was as near perfection as posibible, hoth as rofards tho ringing of the parl and the sotud inside and outside the fower. Ha thonght that all nfembers of the committee could report from different parts of the oountry that they were getting far noarel the state of things which they all desined to see as regrarded tha hangiug of bells inside tine lower and the sound of the holls inide nix ont. Mr. Jenkyn conchard by wemarking that after the diseussion on the printing of the Minot Methots be ought porhaps to be almost silent on blac question of printing this book, but 110 was not going to be. At the mament, however, he would leave
Major J. H. B. Hesse said the principal work in which he had bewn engaged during the year lian berra the rostoration of the bells in Wuslitegtom, in Sussex, where lis hud a good tight for the faculty. He woul in the end and got the joblone as lie wanted it. He had two other jobs in view, in one of which the architoct and limself had come to loggorieads, nind he tid not know what would come of it
The Hon. Sceretary said that all he had been called upon to do during the year was to advise the hev. Teape in the case to which the had already reforcen. He thonght that the work of this eammitthe would in itself, justify, if necessary, the existence of the Council. *The mombers of the commiltee were always there ready to advise wilh their expert kowhedge.

\section*{THE PEALE ANALYSIS}

Dear Sir,-With reference to the tatestion raised by the represontaliwo of the Bedfordshite Association at the Central Council mealing mgarding the thmber of peals eroditod to his society in the aunlysis, we lave gone casefully into the mater and find that only 27 peals upperea its "The Ringing World' under the Godfortshito Association, and not 28 as stated at the meating. A peal of Minaj rung at Sandy on Novemhrl 2nd, 1929 , which appears iu the Budfordshire report, was publisled in "The Ringing Worlh, No. 972, November 8th, page 709, under lho Ely Diocesan Guidal and Beals Associntion, and was therefore crefiled to the former society in the analysis.
A slight eror occurred in printing the anslysis, whereby two peals of Dauble Oxford ware printed on wrong lines. The peal credited to line Bath and Wolls should go to the Bedfordshire Association, and Ho no to tho Cambridge University Guide to the Chester Diocesnn Gutd. This does moi, however, afted the Lolals, Yours faithtully, on hehalf of the Analysis Commiter, EDITH K. FL ©TCHER.

To the Editor.
Sir, -In tie instalment of your report of the meeting of the Central Coancil contained in your lasi issue 1 notice on page 413 that ' the Standing Committee were re-elected with the addition of conveners of committees who were not already members of the Standing Committee.

It will doubtless be found useful from time to time at mectings of the Standing Committee to have the presence of someone who can report as to the work of any one of the other committecs where such olher committee or committees are not already represented, but I think that cere should be exereised leat the Standing Committee should in this way grow to an unwieldy aize. Hitherto it has been kept within workahle limies, and it would be a pity were it to become larger than is really nceded. I do not for a moment suppose that underlying the election of these now members there is the slightest idea that the Slanding Committee has any powers of supervision over other committees and their work. It lus none such whatever; at least, it certainly had none when I was lion. secretary. The work of the Standing Committee is to manage within recognised limits the work of the Council as a whole. It is not concerned with the work of other committees, which are responsible directly to the Council, and to the Gounefl alone, and it is, of counse, up to them to safeguard their rights and position in this respect. Mr. Trollope wrs perfectly right when ho said (see page 414) that the question of obtaining an estimate is one pertaining to the Stunding Committea. The Methods Committiee do the work, and when that work is finished report to the Conacil, and the Council through its Standing Commiltee see to the question of publication.

CHARLES D. P. DAVIES.

A quarterly meeting was held at Litughton on Sathoday, June 2lat, 26 memhers altending from the following towers: Chiddingly, Einsthourne (All Saints", St. Mary \({ }^{\text {tis }}\) and St. Saviour's), Hellingiy, Huthfielt, Southover and Ringmer Ringiug commenced about three oclook, and the bells were kept going during the afternoon and evening in various methods from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor. The Vicar, the Rev W. A. Pearson, visited the lowor, and welcomed the ringers

At, the business meeting Mr. W. D. Smith occupied the cliais, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The usual vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bolls, and also to Mr. Brott, the leader of the local ringers, who had everything in readiness. After the meeting, the marnbers redurned to the tower and kept the bells going merrily until about eight a'clock.

\section*{WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.}

A very successful meeting of the Christhatch District was held t Brockcalurst on May 17 th, when thirty members were present from Christehureh, Eymmgton, Lymdhurst, Ringwood, Brockenhurst, Bishopstoke and North Stoneliam. The charch at Brackeninurst is of great age, and was mentioned in Domesday Book. Farmerly four bells lung in the tower. Thege were sugmented to six in 1924 by Messra. Mex's and Stainbank, one of the new, bells being in memory of the New Zenland soldiers who died at Brockenlumst Hospital for Now Zealand soldicis during the war, and were lsurier at Brockenhurst. This bell was given by the parents and friends in Nem Zealand.
During the afternoou and evening good use was made of the light ring (the tenor is only 41 -cwt.), and touches of Grandsire and Stedran Doubles, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major were rung.

A splendid tea, provided by the generosity of the Vicar (Rev. W. A. Haslam) was cojoyed, and at the business meuling that followed the new band at Lymington were elected members of the Guidd.
It was decided to hold two special meetings-Lymington on Wednesday, July 30 th, and Lyndhurst on June 21st, and the next quarterly meeting at Ringwond on Soptember 13 th.

\section*{FESTAL RINGING DAY AT WHITTLESEY DEDICATION OF AUGMENTED PEAL.}

Campanologists from a wide surrounding district comprised the reater part of a large and grateful congregation who assembled for the dedication ceremony of the rehung and augmented peal of bells at St. Audrew's Church, Whittlesey, on Saturday afternaon. The service, at which the Rev. D. A. Slewart, R.D., of St. Peter's Church, warch, officiated, was a simple and impressive one, and brought back to many present precioug memories of a magaificent band of ringers of a fermer generation.
The two gaw beils, which liave brought those in the tower 31 to a peal of eight, are the gift of Mr. Charles. Aveling, J.E. of Southport, in memory of his father, Mr. William Aveling, who was one of the leaders in the rapid progress of this douglity and enthusiastic band, and to whom campanologists throughout a tride ares acknowledge their lasting gratitude. Expression was given to this feeling throughout the interesting proceedings, which included a parochiel tea after the service, a reanion in the belfry, and an informal dinner af the Falcon Hotel in the evening, at which Mr. Clarles Aveling was the host. The latter then surpassed his previaus munificenes by presenting the ringers with a fine set of handbells.

\section*{A MEMORADLE DINNER.}

A dimuer, given to past and present ringers by Mr. Charles Aveling at the Falcon Hotel on Saturday evening, was a memorable meat, the specohes, though few in number and brief, being cinaractorised by felicitous references to a former generation of Whittlesey ringers, of whom there are but few now liviag, and a solicitute that others as capable might be found to continuo the art when the time cames for present ringers to content themelves with the handbella at home.'
The chair whs taken by Mr. Charles Aveling, \(\mathrm{J}^{\mathrm{J}} \mathrm{J}^{3}\). who whs sug ported by the Rev. L. L. Chaplia, Mr. J. Boyce, J.P., and Mr. W. Nenl, G. H. Wade, W. Slatar, W. Smith, Josoph Duddington, J. Hardy, A. Harper, E. A. Scolt, B. Walker, and F. E. Collins (of the Btalt of Messes. Gillott nud Johnston). The oldest Whithlesey ringer present was Mr. J. N. Duddington, aged 84, who was a nefed exponent of the urt, in the seventies, and the only absentee was Mr. R. Burbidge, who was seriously injured in a regrettable road neeident that afternoon. Pleasing Larmony was ably renderal by Messrs. H. Brown and C. Rawson.

\section*{THE SPEECHES.}

Following the loyal tonst, the Chairman, who was received with cheers, proposed trac tonst of "The Ringers of Whitulesey, and sairt his first message raust be from his mother, whose finel words before he left Sonthport were that she hoped they would have a very pleagant cyening.
' Some may wonder why you are prosent toniglat. You need nof wonder. I have been looking for an ocemsion for many years to ment the ringers of Whitlesey, end I have only just found the octusion. \({ }^{\text {h }}\) Mr. Aveling, proceeding, said that nothing had givan hims more pleasure than to invite them-r pleasnre with which he desired to associate his mother (npplause). If there was one oceasion- Ihat gine had enjoyed it was the ammal dinner of the ringers at the housn just across the coad (epplause). At that time le was a youngster and used to play the handbells in the kitchen, getting into trauble for not striking correctly (laugliter\}. In proposing the toast of tho ringets, be wishen to inciude those who had gone beforc (henr, hear'). They lad left a good set of ringers to crary on, Hu maz older than many present, the majority of whom he ricl not know, but le was glad to see his old frienfs, Mr. Duddingtan mul Mr. E. Mounticid, who, like himself, had changred in foriy years. Nothing would keep Mr. Mountiold's falfor out of the belfry when the bello were ringing, and, indeed, he went up when he could scarcely crawl. He was also glad to sea his own cousin, Mr. Harry Lofevre (applause).

Mr. Aveling remarked that lic woudered whether bolltingers realised the joy they were giving to other people, porhaps miles away from where they were pulling the roper. Though he had been away for over forty years, lle sound of the bells made il a real homeconing for him, and there was nothing more lovely than the lint with childicod's days (henr, hear'). Fe hoped they would see that those younger than they would be trained in order that they mighl: carry on and give the joy to Futare gencrations that was being given to this. He feared to think of what was coming to the lovely Erglish countryside; they were getting a lot of ribbon dwellings until thay were driving between town and town. They had to go away before they could appreciate the beauty at home, and of this beauty the sound of bells was a pert. Throagh the ringers of the past lhey were what they wore loday (cheers). He coupled with the toast the nance of Mr. Jiamos Oldield (applause).
M\%: James Oldifed, of St. Mary's, Whittlesoy, in the course of an able reply, said lie thougit the toast should have been responded to by one of the St. Andrew"s vilugers, for that wis their day. The majority of them woudd think about past ringers with mingler? reverence and regret. The standatil of ringing to-day was higher than when he was a boy, and he recelled how several of them had slarted at St, Mary's with the late Mr, Smith, and by harcl practice had accomplished a little chining. The heiglt of their ambition then was to be ahle to ring the tonor behind when they were chiming. He recalled being able to do s few call chaoges, one of which was Jackean's, and also that there had been a disagrement with the Vicar or the wardens, and the ringers dropped aut. In thoso days they were Mesars. Rawsou, Jesson, Knight, Woodhouse, G. Clark, E. Clark and ahhers, and lnter, an attempt was made to form a boys (Continue on page 432)

\section*{PORTSMOUTH RENGERS' ENJOYABLE OUTING}

The St. Mary's, Portsmouth, ringers held their anmusl outing on Saturday, Jume 14th, and were favoured with glorious weather. Laving headguarters shoyty afier & a.m., the party travelled to Roading via l'etersfich and Alton. However, on arriving at Alton ats excellent course of Cambridge Major was being rung, and on etaquiry if was found to be the St. John's, Cropdon, ringers on their rutitgg. A few wosds of greeting and gond luck were exchanged, and bin party contimued their jowney to Reading. On arriwal here al move was made to St. Eanrence's Church, where Mr. E. G. Foster liad everything in seadiness. These are inded an excellent rimg of twelve, wilh it heantiful ringing whamber. Some rountis were rung on the twelto and also Stedmun Caters and Cambridge Surprise Major. A move was next made to Henley-on-Thames, and after an interval at Shiplake for dimer and refreshments the tower was reached shortly after 2 p.m. Mr. W. Appleby was there to welcome the pirty. Snme enjoyed astroll over the hridge and by the river, whilat athers climbed the steps and rang louclies of Stedman Triples, Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Major. An excellent view oi the Regatta course was obtaned from the top of the tower and also of the surronnding river and country. On leaving here, the journey was continucd wia High Wycombe to Beaconstield, where the local band was there to meet tice pisitors and alsa had everything in readiness. Owing to the draught of rope this was somewhat different to the ofher towerz, but being used to it at Porismouth, some pood toucheg of Stedman, Boh Major, Cambrígg and Superlative were rulag. An excellent mont tea was partuken of at the Royal White Harl Hotel, after which some touches on handbells were rung on the vicarage lawn, whilst others visited the spacious garden. Vory reluctanty a move was made to Slough, the last dower to he visited, where Messis. Bafeman and Fussell met the hand, and touches of Stedman, Double Norwich and Cambridge were rung on this excellent eight. After hidding farewell, the return journey was started via Windsor and through the Great Park past huge clusters of rhatodendrons, Ascot race course, Bagshot and Farnhant, and home was reached at midnight after an excellent and most successful day. "Ihanks are due to the various incumbents and to those who met the ringers and helped to coniribute to the day's enjoyment.

term. Mr. Oldielk tad many other interesting memorjes of bite ringers of thos days, with which he delighted bis audience, snd arked that the greatest glimutus to chamge ringing was that given by the Rov. Colin Bell, Vicar of St. Mary's. It was a fascinating subjent, and the more they knew about it the more they wished to know. Ho had never attended the litile strppors over the road, but he recalled how the late Mr. Joho Lefevre promised the ringers a guine when they could ring 720 changes of Bob Minor, and how he was waiting tat the tower choor after they had accomplished it to hand each man his guinea, and how they had turned it into !iquid refreshment (laughter). Fe asked both bands of ringers to get together in good time and 'hang their bells about' to give their host a real feast of oollringing (applause)
The Rev. A. E. T. Newont, proposing the toast of 'Mr. Clarles Aveling, enid ho had seen five new chambers made; three were in his father's lime as Vicar of Axminster. At Kilmington be had seen some churchwardens' accounts for the years 1585, 1587 and 1588 for rehanging and making a new chamber, for the purchase of a Bitle and for an officirl celebration of the viatory oper the Spanish Armads. The Bible cost 895.: the new hell chamber cost just ower 100 a (instead of \(8 & 00\) ), and the Armata celebratjons cost in drinks for the ringers 112s. (laughter). He supposed the life of an oak bell frame was ahout three or four hundred years; whether their teak frame would last langer only time would prove, but he thought it was impervious to the ravages of the death watch beetle. Thanks to the grnerosity of one man the bells at St. Andrew's had been completed (applause).
Mr. Charles Aveling, briefly raplying, thanked the Fev. A. E. T. Newmen, and pointed out, amid laughter, that of the amount expended in drink a large proportion of the 112s. would have gone in fayation He hoped they would always have vicars and churchwardens who were interesten in the bells, and that the ringers of St. Androw's and St. Mery's would always remain good friends and pass from oge belfry to the other (bear, hear').

\section*{PrISENTATION OF HANDBELLS}

Mr. Aveling requested the ringers to perform a few changes on the handbolls. It transpired that these land formerly belonged to the Whittlesey ringers, and had come into the possession of Mrs. Willinm Areling, who gave them to leer sen.

After a round by Messrs. W. Hardy, J. King, J. Barrett, J. ORAdiald, W. Smith and A. Neal, Mr. Aveling asked the rimgers of Whitilesey to accept them, a generoue gesture that drew prolonged sppleuse.
The procecdings closed with the National Anthem.

PERMANENT RECORDS IN THE BELFRY
\(A n\) interesting event in the local ringing world took place in the belfry of Finedon Parish Church on Saturday, Mey 3lst, when it beautiful tablet recording four peals recently rung there was wil. veiled. Ringing commenced about 4.30 , and continued until six, when the Vicar (the Rev, A. G. Bagshaw) went into the belfry to conduat the dedication service. Before doing this he gave a very jateresting account of the histary of the bells in the tower, with the dates of ensting, and the inscriptions thereon. He then proceeded to read the dedicatory prayers, and in the presence of Mr. G. J. Pearson and Mr. J. Cuttell, churchwardens, and a goodly company af ringers be naveiled the tublet. He afterwards spoke in very high terms of the local band, and said how much both he and the churchwardens appreciated their loyalty and services. The service concluded with the Blessing.
On behalf of the local band, Mr. J. R. Hensher thanked the Viean for allowing them, in the first place, to put the tablet in the belfry, and alsa for his services in connection with the dedication.
Further ringing was afterwards indulged in until about eight o'clocts.
Of the peals recorded on the tablet the first is a peal of Double Norwich rung May 29th, 1926, conducted by Mr. A. Y. Tyler, al Irtinlingborough, the rest being lacal men; the second a peal of Grandsire Triples by the local band, and conducted by Mr. J. It. Main; the third a peal of Bob Major by the local band, conducted by Mr. J. R. Kensher; the fourth another peal of Double Norwich in which five of the local members taok part, including the-conductor, Mr. G. Basford.
Amongat those present at the ceremony were Mr. G. Black, gonemal secretary, and Mr. J. Niekerson, secretary of the Thrapston Branch, who also took part in the latter peal of Double Norwich.

By the kind permission of Rev. Canon Elnor, a bye-meeting of the Canterbury District was held at St. Mary's, Dover, on Saturday, May 31st. Owing to m meeting taking place in the Dover Parish Room, which almost adjoins the elurch, the bells were not apailable until after 4 p.m. Twenty-six members were present, representing the following towers: Canterbury Cathedral and St. Aphege, Littlebourne, Wickhambreaux, Deal Walmer, Wingham, Drabourne and the lounl tower. Numerous short touches were rung in the usual methods until 5 p.rn., when the ringers adjourned to the Cosy Restaurant, where Canon Elnor had provided a splendid tea for tho visitors. Ganon Elnor presided, and in a speceh in answer to llue hearty vote of thanks, welcomed the ringers to Dover.
The Church of St. Mary, owing to its position in the fown, smong the slops and picture houses, is not an ideal tower at which to hold a ringing gathering, and the Vicar gave his permission for the use of the bells with a request that no 'long touches' should he rumg. However, the meeting was quite a successful one, and the Vicar romarked that he thought the shopkeepers should lave no cause to complain.
The ringers were very glad to welcome to the meeting Canon \(F\), J. O. Heinore, who in a speech arter tea paid a warm tribute to the clergy of the county for their hospitality and kindly encouragement to the members of the gsgmiption
There was no necesity for a busimess meeting, and the ringors then adjourned to the fower for some further 'short touches.

\section*{YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION SOUTHERN DIVISION.}

The anmal joint meeting of the socicties in the Southern Division area was held at Conisborough on Saturday, June 21st. An excellent feature was the good striking which was uplith throughout the afternoan and evening. The towers represcalod were Doncaster, Ecclesfield, Shefticld Cathedral and St. Marie's, Rammoor, Rawmarsin, Ark sey, Wortiey, Norton, Killamarsh, Worksop and Gainsborough. A short service conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. Lee, was very much appreciated, as also were the services of the organist and choir. At the business meeting, the Vicar presiding, the minutes of the annual meeting wero read and conlirmed. The arrangements for the next meeting in September were left in the secretary's hands. Votes of thanks to the Vicar, etc., were heartily carried.

\section*{A WELCOME AMALGAMATION}

A word of congratulation is due to those who have successfully negotiated the amatgamation of the Towcester and District Association with the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. The Towcestor Association has been in existence for many years, operating in a portion of Northamptonshire, and in its carlier days uniting a number of towers which were, to sone extent, at a loose end as far as organisation was concemed. The formation of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild out of the Central Northants Association and one or two 'frasments. within the diocese provided an opportunity for the creation of a single diocesan unit, which was the great objective of those who advocated amalgamation in 192.4, but it fell short of complete achievenent, by the disinclination of the Toweester Association to join hands at that time. Now, however, wher counsels have prevailed and the members of the Towecster Association have resolved to become an integral portion of the diacesan organisation.
In these days, when the tendency among ringing: societies is towards dioctsan status, small territorial organisations operating independently within the sphere of a diocesan association may be a very decided disadvantage-the territorial society may be tooked upon, undeservedly perhaps, as something existing for objects quite apart from service to the Church, while the clincesan organisation lacks the strength and prestige of a fully representative association. Where a territorial society is supplementary to the larger diocesan association it can, of course, serve a useful purpose, but if it exists in a condition of rivalry, or even of passive isolation, the object of the diocesan organisation in providing a united body of church workers is definitely hindered. Many of the present associations are the outcone of the amalgamation of smaller societies and the suceess which has attended the union of forces has been so marked that comment upon it is needless.

The benefits which have been derived in olher parts of the country will doubtless manifest themselves in the Towcester district as the result of amalgamation with the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. Not only will the Guild find an added strength, but ringing in the Towcester area ought to receive a welcome impetus from the energies of the larger organisation, and, we think, an increased dignity and prestige. This joining of hands will, we hope, aiso lead to a considerable revival of activity in the newly acquired distict of the Peterborough Guikl, and promote the interests of ringing generally in that part of the county of Northants. The amalgamation is one which will be welcomed by all who have at heart the interests of the Diocesan Guild.

EDGBASION RINGERS' EXCURSION.
The Eagbaston (Birmingham) "ingers, together with their friends, Jat theit mumul outing on Saturday, June 28th, under the joint leadership of Mr. Harry Willsers and Mr. Freemantle (sexton).
A slat was ruade al 8 A.m., the first port of call being St. Michael's, Ponkridge, Stianordshire. The bells (tenor 10 owt.) were suon ringing out Stedman Triples. The party then proceeded to St. Marys, Staford (tenor 18 cwl.), where Stedman Caters and Cambridge Major wcre lung. Whichurch, Salop, was reached at midday. The bolls were pulled up more or less in peal. Hardly tad the band commenced to ring changes when the surong man of the party gave an axtra hard pull al the secoud rope aud broke it. This untortunately ended the ringing liere.
The larning point of ihe Lour, viz. Chester, was reached about 2 p.m., where the parly were met by Mr. H. W. Wide. \(A\) very nice hoi lunch was served at the King s Head 2 efreshment House, and when tho "inner man" had been satislied a starth was made for lecteston (St. Mary's, tenor 26 s cwt.). These bells were indeed a pleasure to ring upor and to heny, and Loudon Major, Double Norwieh Major, and Stedman Triples werc very much onjoyed. On the Why back towurds Birmingham, wia Wrexham, a call was made at Showshury for tea, after which the party were privileged to ring on the line bells at Si. Chad's, where a touch of Stedman Caters was rung on the ten back bells and some rounds wn the twelve hells.
The one adveuture of mate an the way back was lack of petral Fhout two miles outside Shifnal, but this difficnlty was soon got ower, much the the relief of some members of the party. Home was renched nt about 11.30 , after a very enjoyable tiay's outing. The ringers wisin to express, through "This Ringing Worla,' their thanks rad appreciaition to the various ineumbents for the use of their bells, and the towerkecpers and others who helped to make the outing the success it was.

\section*{HUGHENDEN RINGERS TRIP.}

The ringers of Hughenden, Bucks, participated in most enjoynble ouling on a receut Saturday. Lenving the home tower at 10.30 , the fist call was at Eadtenhan, but untortunately a funeral prevented ringing there. A look round the church, however, was extremely interosting. At Buckinghan, after refresting the inner man, gome boorl touches were vung on the fine pral of bells. Stony Stratford was Lien visited, and some enjoyable ringing indulged in. Nowport Pagnell alao have a very nice peal, aud anolher pleasurable half hour was spent both in ine tower aud at the tea table half hour was spent both in ihe tower aud at the tea table. Wobutn's line riag, was next sampled, and some good touches enfraal call the assislance of tho lalented band at this chareh. The Tho ringers would like to take this opportunity of heartily thanking the Vhars and 'brother strings' at the various towers. Everyboriy ghwe the visitors a hearty welcome, and everjthing went off woll ; the wenther was perfect, the country all around beantiful, and the drives between the churches very onjoyable.

\section*{FINGHLEF RINGERS VISI'I CAMBS}

The anmual outing of Finchley ringers was licld ons Saturdgy, June 28th, when they visited Cambridgeslime. Amiving at Melbourn, the party were welconed by the Vioar, who canducted them to the tower. A bentitiful peal of six was get going. Lunch was partaken of at peat of sis, which had not been rung for some time, was made use of, At Stapleford the barty were welcomed by the fican and the lovely little six were soon ringing. Phea was provided at Trampinglon. Hearly votes of thanks werc passed to fle enptain, Niv. F. A. Braker, and to the warious Ficarg and steeplekeepers for in good order and go laving everythiug iu readioess. The bells are in good order and go well. Several tielhods were rung including Infort aud Kent Treble Bob, Double Court, Double Oxford, Cullege

\section*{HALIFAX AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.}

\section*{SIX-BTHLL CON'jlestr}

The annual meeting, toycthor with a six-bell contest, took place at Sandal, near Wakefield, on Saturdas. The draw in tho competilion resutted in the teams being plated in the following oraier for ringing: I Earlshenton, 2 Holmlirth, 3 Maltham, 4 Sheltey, 5 Stumbant, 6 Hatley, 7 Liversedge, 8 Fritzinad. Tlue length of touch was 600 changes iu any ruetbad, with three leads, or one pinin course far practice. Earlsheaton, for not taking their proper position, wero penalised 30 faults fad allowed to ring last. There wis some very good jinging.
The day was beantifuly finc, and the pieturesquo suranadings, especially the Castle Grounds, were delightiul. A compary of aboub one bundred sat down to tea, which was provided its the Parochial Fall. The organisers were again put to no lithle inconvenience frum the fact that many had not notnied theiv intenfion to be present. In a small willage, tea cannol he provided at a minute's notico.
Ringing ceased nhout 8.30, and the meeting was held immediacely aiterwards, Mr. Farnshaw (Meltham) occupying the chair.
The sucerary read the bulance slinet on behalf of the theasurer, Mr. F. Salmons, who was unavoidahly absent. "he President, its moving the adoption of the balance shoet, remarked that the nssociation was in a very healtily condition, ant if the members would keep the payment of their subscriptions morg up to date, things would go even more smoothly.-Ms. W. Reyner (Saudal) seconded the balance sheed, which was adonicet unanimotusly
Mr. Enmshaw was me-elected president, Mr. F. Salmons treasurct, and Mr. L. Hargreaves seeretary.
The President moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Vionr (Rov. A. Audley Parry), the churchwardens, and the larlics, for making the contest such in great success.
The Viear, in reply, said how plessed he was to welcome the ringers to Sandal. It was most gratifying to him when he saw such old Friends as Mr. Robinson and Mr. Reynel with them, as they wero with him when he cance to Sudisl cloge on 21 years ago. In his opinfon beltringers were preaching the Gospel just as much as he was. He was pleased to see such a number of young men and also young ladies present, and he asked them to stich together with ons accord, and encourage tho young mon to continue with the art.
Mr. Reyner, referring to the Vicar's remark about sticking together with ane accord, said a.gentieman recently making a specelt stated that ho did not care whether it was succord, concord, or any other corri, as long as the cord was strong enough to keep them together. He (Mr. Reyner) thought it mighti bo made to apply to tho mambers present.
The judges, Mr. J. Broadley (Bradford) and Mr. W. Iate (Batley). her gave their decision as follows
Holmfirtl (Oxferd Treble Bob), 130 fuults ; tolal 130.
Mettham (Oxford), 162 faults ; Latal 162 .
Slacley (Oxford), 202 faulk, 10 perally; total 212.
Stairland (Kenth, 170 faults, 10 penalty; lotal 180.
Batley (Duke of York), rung ouk.
Liversedge (Kert), 90 faults, 10 pemally; Latal 100.
Friezland (Oxford), 178 faults, 10 penalby; Lotal 188.
Earlsheaton (Oxford), 223 faults, 40 penatty ; tolal 263
Liversedge were declared winners of the cup, and Mr. F. Hodeson (conductor) was leartily congratulated by the Vienc. Tliey must have rung very well indeed to be placod first, he said, as there lani been such good rivging.
It was resolvad that the secretary should wrilie to Longwond with regaret to the mext contest.
Mr. Reyner suggested that nexli ymar there shotld be a great Yorkshire rally of ringers, to be heid, say, at llkloy, in which all the associations in Yorkshire should tho inviled to tnke part.
meetiug of hanks forges and chaiman elosed a very enjoyablo meeting.

Great Riuging Day " at Safiron Walden, celebrated on June 27th, was once again well attended, and also favoured with fine weather. This year's amiversary, the 307th in the histary of the socioty, opened at 9 a.m. with the local havi maging some well-struck Stedmath Oaters. A nomber of visitorg from all prols arrived during the day, and many old frionds mel onoe again. Stedman Cinqueg was rutg immediatoly before the service, which begran mit 12.30 p.rn. The Vicar, the Rev. Dr. Huglaes, conduated the service and preached the sermon, after which all adjourbed to the Rose ana Crown Hotel, where an exellent lunch was served.
The bells wore kept going all the afternoon and evening, touchas in various mothods being rung, and a plain course of Cambridge Royal just failed to came romm. Between lae ringing the visiturs wera able to sit oul ia the sam on the leader roof of the churef, from which a fine view of the town and the surrounding country can be seea.
At the conclusion of the ringing in the evening, all sedjourned to the Cross Keys Fatel, where the handbells were lrought out, Grandsite Calers and Rob Major being the naethods rung.

I'HE FROPOSED MLMOREAL, TO THF゙ LATY PRESIDENT.
In the words of the president, one camot, think of Duffield withwht connecting with it memories of the late Sir Arthur I. Heywood, Sov it was here that he had one of his seats, amf in the days of the nasociation's carly activities did so much io encourage the art. Here it: was on Satardry, tume 28ih, that the Midand Counties Associatimn held its quarterly meeting, which, needless to say, attracted a Infge conconse of ringess from many parts. The ten bells were fopl going during the aflemoon, and atain after the mectiag, but thre writer canmot vouch lor any of the methods rumg as, owing to a heavy unamb of delail work, few of the committec were able to get to the lawer.
The committee met in the Church Thall and were most pleased to favo with then Mre. Chamhers (widow of their beloved late president), who eame aperially to assist in choosing a suitable memorial to her lusband. The mimutes of the anmual meeting were lirst read, and then the hon. secretary explained that the five selected committee men had ruet is St. Peter's, Derty-where the late Mr. Chambers was for over 20 yeners tharobwarden-and there had met the Wiear and churehwiden. They hat nadeavorard to dix on a suitable memorial, hut ibe Vieat heing emplutic against cither a mural fablet or gtained-rinss window, the ehoiee was very small. grincmes: (a) To erect pews at the west-end of the chtroch replacing the ebtits at present there, or (bj to put in two oak cupboards under the tower for the reception of hymand arayer books. The nommitted, with Mrs. Cliambers, tieliberated a long time ons this, Mr. J. L. Lewis Cockey having kindly olbtaned drawings and estimates of euphonrds. No one seemed kindly disposed to either suggestion, Whe first being two large an momertaking, the second nat in keeping as a suituble memorial. Eventually it was decided to have a tablet erceled eitirev in Derby Cathedral ar Littleaver Church, Tut first to allow Mrs. Chambers to consull her hrather, who is a elergyman, no the matter.
Rogarding National Savings Cerlificaies invested in the mame of the lata Mr. Chambers, the Hon. 'Treasurer explained that negotiations with the solicitors had not yet heen completed, and itis matter wis left over until the next meeting.
At the tea which followed, rhout sixty ringers and friends were preseut from Bulsover, Chesterfielf, Derby, Dore, Leicester, Loughborougis, Nottinglandiand elsewhere, After tea, tive general business mueting was held, the chair being taken by the presiclent, Mr. E. Denizon T'aylor. Ihe was supported by the vice-president (Mr. J. (iriffin), the hon, tredsuter (Mr. Waliaee), the hon. Secreiary (My. E. Marisi, Mrs. Chambers, the Viear of Duffich (Rev. Dr. Ir win), and tho churehwarcien (Mr. F. Wright).

\section*{HEADING TEE P]AL LIST}

The fresidett comanented on the fact that the W. C.A. forain topped the list of peal ringers for the past year, which certainly was a good sign of at liealthy life. Fre also wished, on behalf of the members of the association, to congratulate "The Ringing Worki on itg ore thousandtla issuc, especially the editor (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith) on his splondid editorials covering the whole period without a break. Fe also said how pleased all were to welcome Mrs. Chambers unomgst thom once more, and paid ar great tribute to her late hasband's ellouts for and un behalf of the association duriug his afleo as prosidenl. He welomed the presence of ithe Victr and churchwarelen of Duftield, the former of whom they were all glad to know had reeently become an hon. momber. The President also alluded to the conneatian Duffeld would always have with the memory of the late Sir A. P. Heywood, who did so much to encourage the ant, not anly for the M.C.A. (as its sceand president), but for the ringing world ad large. He was the founder and first president of the Centrel Gouncil, aptly described by M1. Strnest Morkis as 'the ringers parliament.
The minutes of the anmal mecting were read and passed with acelamation, and arising flovefvom the Hon. Secretary explained the result of the special committee's deliberations in respect to fhe memmial to the late Alderman Chnmbers. He then asked Mrs. Chambers if she would care lo say a few words to those present, which she most graciously did under the stress of great enotion. She said how grateful and tonched she was that the members of the association should suggest erecting a memorial to her dearly-helowed lushand, their president, and she har come specially to the meeting to he of service to them if she could in any way. She berself intended placing a memorial in the campanclogical world to commemorate their presiclent, who, as all knew, worked so hard for them. Mrs. Chambers also said she would be quite willing to cooperate with the association if they so desired, and as Mr. MIorris had so simply explained their suggestions, she would consult her brother and give them an carly reply as to his views on the matter. She lhanked the members mosi kindly for their cordial welcome to her, and they would understand what a twial it was to loor to come, as on every occasion she had accompanied het husband. 1t was, however, greatly eased by their great kindness, which she approciated very much.
An admirable report on the proceedings of the Gentral Council was given by Mr. William Willson, who gave an outline of most of the business fund Mr. J. H. Swinfield also spoke on the motiter
New members confirmed in their election since the last meeting were 16 ordinary, 4 honorery, and 4 life.
Mr. W. E. White proposed a hearly vote of thanks to the local committee for the urrngements made for the meeting, and to the ladies for catering so excellently. The Rev. Dr. Irwin, Ficar of Duffield, suitably veplied with a witty little speach.

\section*{A BELFRY ENDOWMENT FUND.}

Duffield Church, with which Siir Arthur Heywoed was 50 intimatoly masociated, is espocially favoured by having a belify andowment tune instituted by Sir Arthur and eswalished in 1891 . It consists of \($ 5005\) per cent. Midland Railwny Gonsolidated prefercnce stock, the object of the fund being to give the ringers socioky an improved position in the parish by providing them with an assured salary, independent of the vote of the ehurch anthoritice, also to cusure at all times o sufficient sum of maney in hand to koep the hells ath ringing chamber in perfect order, withotit any diaw unor the Ghureh Expenses Fund. His hope in thtus endowing the belfy was that the proper ringing of the bells for the gunday services would be thereby guaranteed, while the proviso, coutained in the trust deed, that only half the salary be paid if falf-pull ringing deterionaled into rounds or call clrange ringing, is intended to encourage future generations of ringers to preserve scientific clange ringing. The fund provides for the payment of e2 per ammum to each of not more than oight oflicial ringers, and 81 to eacla of not more than two deputy ringers, and fl to the steeplekecper for his care of the belfrys and 6d. for cach service at which only one hell is rung. The fumd also provides the cost of booking peals and of a new book when necessary. Ally balance may be devoled to payment for ropes, muffles, ail for bells, lightug and warming the rimging chamber, treatises on change ringing, repaiving bells, bell frames, sound sluuters, belfry stairs and doors, painting and refuruishing the ringing chimber, etc.
Prior to 1720 there were four hells at St. Alkarundi's Church, Duffictd. In that year two trebles were added, while at various times subsequently the original four were recast. I'his riag of six was replaced by a peal of eight (tenor 17 cwt.), chat by Taylor and Co. in 1884 and in 1887 , to commemorate the jubilee of Queen Wictoria £wo more were added by Siy Arthur Heywood.

HOW PII LAMPG SAVED TEE SETUATION.
Ott readers wifl have read with interest in our issue of Jone 27 th of the ringing of the first peal in a coal mine. This was achieved by the Neweasle Cathedral Guild in tle West Oramlington No. 2 pit of the Hartey Main Coal Co., Ltd, the ringing tnking place in a new sean 441 fecf below the surface. This performance (n peal of Grandsire Caters) rataks with oflier unique achievements such as tha peal rung on the Irish Sea, the pen rung in a railway train, and another rung while the porformers wete in bod. It is interesting also to note flust Mr. W. H. Barber, who conducted the peal in the coal pit, also took part in the peal rung on the sea.
The rimgers in the mine were Messrs. John Anderson, W. \(H\). Bartuer, W. J. Davidson, R. S. Anderson and Adam Deas, and the referees Messrs. J. E. R. Keen and Oswald Simm.

On arriving at the pit head ahout 4.30, on Saturday, Jume 21st, the riggers were met by Mr. Simm and Mr. Wilson (colliery under menager). After the group had been photographed, they were oonducted to the lamp eabin, where every man received a small pit lamp. Jhese lemps proved the salvation of the peai. From the lamp ruom the party procecded to the engine room (where all cirartetles and matches liad to be deposited before deseending), theu into the cage, which was carefully and quickly lowered to the low main seam. Then with heads down and backs bent, they proeecded flirought the galleries, and soon reached the "pingintr chamber," where the walla were of solid 'black ditanond.'
A prompl sturt was made, and the belis rang out clearly and lively uuti] the \(18 t h\) course was jeached, when suddenly out went the electric liglat, and darkness prevailed. However, within a second ou" two the pil lamps, whiel hand been lefl on the 'roadside' were placed in the centre of the riugers by some of the small audialce, and alblough this was a poor substitute it saved the situation, and the ringers were able lo carry on in the semidarkness.
Mr. Wilson, realising, however, the importanee of a good light, immedintely tiespatehed a math to 'dit out' the company's electrician from his home in Cramlington, anh, ufter what scemed like a year, Hough it was roally 50 minutes, the eloctric liglat cays again streamed out, much to the relief of all, and especially of the worthy conductor. Ahout 40 minutes later the peni was broughi successfully to an end, and ufter the peal a course of Stedman Triples was rung by: J. E. R. Keen 1-2, W. J. Davidsan 3-4, W. F. Barber 5-6, Oswald Simm 7.8.

The ringers lake this opportunity of thanking Mr. Wilson end Mr Simm for making the meaessary arrangements and having everything in readimess for the peal.

\section*{DEATH OF OLD SURREY RINGER,}

On Thussday, June 26th, the death took place of Mr. Gearge Snyer, of Asticad, aged 81. George Sayor was it motable riuger nbout Suirrey fifty odd years ago. He was the last surviver of the colebrated peal by four frothors and four eldent sons rung at Epson Parish Church sixiv-one ycars ago, whish is recorded in the lowor Fe also took part in the first pat for the Witehester Gujk at 5. Nicalas", Guidford, which is recorded there, also the lirsh peal on Ashtead bols, on April 5th, 1874. Duving the pust tweraty-five yeurs he did very lithle ringing. He had a short revival on the 50 th annwersiry of the opening of Ashand bells by ringing the thirat fathessly to a yeal of (irandsire 'J"riples mu Jotember 29th, 1923; and on April 5th, 1924, the 50th amniversary of the first freal on the Ashtemd bells, he again rang the thide wheh was his Inst peal.
 Touches of Gruudsire Triples were ruag lulit-mufled belore ant after the service by the following: W. Messam, A. Dean. (i. Matriner (Leatherhead), J. Benms (Lwall, J. Crawford (Bpsom), W. Cook, G. A. Cook, W. H. Corbett, D. Auscomine (Ashtead)
The Rector of Ashtean, Rev. E. J. Austin, wishes flo undersigned Lo thank the ringers who took part in the nbove ringing, also to express how much he admired the excellent staiking and the deep impressiveness of half-muffled ringing.

\section*{PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR} PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.
Will each tower secretary be good enoligh to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

The Towtester and District Association has joined the Petcrborongh Diocesan Guild as from July Ist, 1930 , and will now he known as the Towcester Branel of the Guild. The Towrester Association had roughly 100 members and nearly 20 towerg, so this amalgamation should lad to a considerable increase in the Guidd's activities.
The recast peal of eight (temot 22 cwt ) for St. Mary's Parish Church, Penzance, has now been iusialled by Messrs. John Tuylor and Co., af Leugliborough. The dedication is to take place is ine middle of Auguse, notice of which will appear in our columns in due colare.
In connention with the Middlesex and Hertford joint meetimg at: North Mirmms, on July 19th, Mr. C. T. Coles asks us to glate that cheap day, return lickets ure issued by the L. and N.E. Railway to Brookman's Park and Potter's Bar stations from King's Cross and immediate stations. Convenient trains from King's Cross are the 2.11 to Brookman's Park (change at Finsbury Park) and the 2.30 to Potter's Bar. There is also a frequent service from King's Cross to High Barmet at cheap fares, thence by the St. Albans bus.
Fxactly one hundred years ago next Tuesday a peal of \(5,000 \mathrm{Nev}\) Treble Bob Royal was rung af Lecds. The • New' Treble Bois is what is unw known as Kent.
The first peal of Frin Eaters was rung at Narth Shields on July 12th, 1909

\section*{NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION}

Ou Gaiurday all exoedingly delightful meeting of the North Staffs Association was held at the beautifal village of Swynnerton in glorious wealher. About thirty members attended from Uttoxeter, Leek, Stoke, Burslem, Brown Edge, Kidsgıove, Norton-le-Moors and Norton-iu-Hales (Satop). As lue village is situated some thrce and a half miles from the main road, the Rector (Rev. J. B. Frith) with his usina kindness conveyed the nembers from the main road to the church in relays in his motor-car, this mode of procedure being "epeated on the return jouracy
The tower contains a nice ring of six bells (tenor ahout 11 ewt.), which were freely used during the afternoon and evening. Tea was generously provided by the Rector, and, after this had been disposed of, Mr. J. Wh. Wheeldon (Norton) proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector, not only for groviding tes but for the very good work he was doing for the association. Without doubt, he said, lue Reator of Swyanerton was the most popular clerical secretary since the late Rev. J. W. Alston, about thirty yeurs ago. Fie also congratulated the Rector on the great progress he had made in his ringing since the meeting there last year, especially considering the geographical isoletion of Swynnerton from other towers.
Mr. S. Churton (Stoke) seconded the vate of thanks, which was supported by Mr. F. A. Ridgway (Leek).
Ringing was kept up until 8 p.m. in many different meflods, and concludeat by a splendid "dron" in raunds, the band being heartily congrafulated when they got outside by the other ringers who hal stayed to listen to \(i t\). This concluded one of the most suceesstivl meetings of the year.

\section*{AN INTERESTING EXPERIMENT.}

The Prosident, in a valuable entribution to the Towers and Belfries Commitlee's report, faid that during the year two interesting cases latid come \(19 p\) as far as lie was concerned. One was the case of Barnet, where the archilect asked for information as to the smourt and diretion of the forces sel up by ringing the bells in the tower. That was the first time he bad heard of an architect asking this question, which was the first question any arehitect should ask when he had anybing to do with the rehanging of the bells. He (hlo President) thought that was in step in the right divection. There was another inleresting point. The architect himself suggested a reinforced concrele silf round the tower, built into the wall, fo carry the frame and make sure that all the forces set up by ringing the bells were properly transfered to thn tower as a whole and not to odd stones fin tha tower: The architect asked him to design a suitable beam. He got out the design and had it checked by a firm associated with his company, and lae believed thal beam was now in place. It was a cuntinuous reinforced beam right round the tower, built into the walls with strengthening pieces across the comers. Another matter which camo before bis notice was from the Society for the Protection of Aucient Buildings. They were considering a frame in which, while some of the bells swurg in the usual way, parallel to the walls of the tower, oulura swung diagonally. The society asked the guestion on a general principle, was it an advantage to arrange for bells to swing diagonally in a tower or the contran? That raised an interesting quastion. It was some seventeen years, he believed, since he gave the Council a general statement on the problem as it then stoorl, and he would like to restate that to some extent now. They knew now what wore the fores which they had to guard against, and they know that those forces should be trausfered to the tower in the most rigid possible way spread as far as possible over the whole of the walls. The amount of the forces was not really serious, ljecause it was, generally speaking, less than the wind pressure on that portion of the tower above the leells in any reasonably stiff wind, so that the actual force, if properly transferred, was thot tht all serious. The danger was in the period of these forees-becuuse were regularly recurring forces-retting in thine with the natural heat of the towey at which it ewtung normally as an elastic body. In this case they might get a much greater movement of the tower gradually built up, and that might do very serious harm to the tower. One-thing that could be done to guard against this Was to be sure that the direction of the forces was so arranged that should best stand up to then-bhat was to say, that the perfecty symmetrical square towor, the stiffiness diagonally nortlu-west to sotulh-east was exactly the same as the stifness morth to soulh or from east to west. There was 10 getting from that, provitied that the actual masonry of the tower was sound, so that the tower was a whole piece of masonry and not separated into parts by a series of cracks.

\section*{ERFECT OF OPENINGS IN 'OOWER WALLS.}
'Ihcre were, however', 110 towers completely symmetrical, uniform and wi Wout openings in the walls, so they had to consider the queslowers where parts of the walls wore cut anvay. The relative stiffuegs of any sechon of a tower cold be accurately calculated. Fe waud not go jnto details as to how it was dore, but it was guite simple, Let them, howeyer, take as an example a tower lift, square inside, with walls, Jft. thick. If they cut away \(10 f\), of the casit and the west walls, as in the case of a western fower with an open arch and west window, the stiffiness of that section of tho tower from norll to south was reduced to nearly \(1 / 50\) th part of what it would be if would be onere continuous all round, and the stiffuess east to west wond be oure-halif of what it was with the walls contimuous all and in the other direction to about one-half, the diagonal stiffness aras less than one-third of what it was in the original complete tower. If lhey went a little further and assumed at tower arch apening and west window opeuing 14 feet wide, so that they had walls left ou the thrth and south sides 20 feet long anti 3 feot thick, the stiffness of the section east and west was about iwo-ffifths, and the stifferss worth nued south wis less than one one-hundredth part of the complete gection of the tower. He mentioned that as a practical example, bechuse it was one of the commonest types of tower which they met Willi, and semed to show that the heavier bells should be hang to Swing east and west, if they wanted finem to swing against the greatist gtifness. When they came to buttresses and other portions of the church which supporter the tower, the problem berame more complicated, but still lo a large extent could be calculated. If to Lawer which fo had given as an example they put at cach corner wo huthresses 3 feet wide and 2 fect in depth, they fnercased the stifiness by approximatiely 50 per cent, and if in that case they had a 10 feet opening in the morth and south walls, they would bring the gast and west stiffers hack to the figure of the ariginal complete tuwor wilhout buttresses. The north and soulla stiffiess would be ahont twice what it was without buttresses. It was only right to pond out that in certain pathoular cases a section of a fower might be stiffer in a diagonal direction, as in the case of Northaw. There the Lower rests on two walla, one on the west and ond on the south side, with a single pillar in the north-east comer, and it had been confumed by measurement that the tower was stiffest in the northwest to sonth-east diruction, the nethal mowencme of the tower in difforent directions varying directly as the foree npplicd, and inversely as the caleulated stiffuess. These principlos had been npplicd to Bacuet tower, which had been somowhad dumaged by the way in which the bells were arranged to swing, and partly, it was alleged, by the heaty thafice on the roads on earli side of the fork whate the chuth stands. This would be mon'e serious on atcount of the contparatively shallow foundations, and also probably an accornt of the nathat wator level in tho ground behag lowered by drainage, whith in these days was nore olaborate than formorly. The two heavicsl bells origimally swung on the west side of the towor in \(n\) morth and south direction, and tho ropes were hume on apposite sides of the wheels, so that they got the worst possible arrangement. for the tower. It was aiffeult to do anylhing thach in the way of rencranging the bells in the frame, but the whale liame was being tumed ninety degrees, so tilab the tenors woul swing east and west next to the notth wall of the tower, and he wothed to looking forward with considerable interest to the rosult in regard to the movement of the tower when the bells have been so rehung.
This speech by the president was followed by the members will the losest interest.

COS'I OF BOOKETH TO BF MET VOLINNTARICY
The Rev. G. W. O. Joukyr juroposed the ndoption of the mpart, and maved that the revisen pdition of the pamphlet on 'The Preselation of Bells, Frames and Filtings, be patned as soon as pessible Canon Elsoe seconded, and seid the revised book watud be of great ase to those who were members of diocesan ndyisary commiteces
The report was adopted, and the Rev. H. Drake, hi propnsing the re-election of the cammittee, viz., Revs, C. D. P. Davies and C. W. O.
Jenkyn, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Nessrs. E. A. Yaung and E. H. Lewis, asked whebluer it would not also be possibile to inclade in the book Mr. Lewis' pape
The President said he did not know if it could be conveniently palslished in the report, but it mighl be published later.
The Rov. E. H. Powell seconded
Mr. F. E. Dawe said he dirl not agree entirely with all the functs of the Council being expended on one subject, but lie thoughe that part of the cost of publishing the hook on the Preservation of Bells might be met hy subscriptions among the members liwitsclves. Hu had sometimes been asked what whe bhe gool of the Central Goumcilp Heve was an opportunity for them to show that they wore of same good to the Exercise. ESy having a sulbseription list lar tho publication of this interesting nabter lusy would be alme to meet part of the cost at any rate, and lie was sure the great majouty of the Council would be glad to subseribe. De would be ploasod to shart such a fund with a couple of guincas (henr, lioas).
Rev. C. W. O. Jenky satid he was gad Mr. Dawe liad made this suggestion. Mr. Dawe had spoken to him about it that morning, mad lo told him that the same idea was in his own mind. He would be glad to back up the suggestion with a subsuription at i wa guineats, because he thought it was going to be a book which would be very useful to the Exercise.
A number of other members intimated Jieir willinguess to entrihute, fand the Presideni. asked them tu communicale with the socretary. From the promises, it appeated as if the book would be printed without cost to the Council.
The Rev. E. S. Powell suggestad that the book shouid include the chapter Irom Sir Artilur Fhywoad's book wrifteas by Mr. Lewis. Tt would lae an extremely valanble thing to the Exercise as a whole, as Sir Artlitu's book was now out of print

The President said if thoy would lesve it iu the hands of tho nonamitiee they would see what they conld do in the way of publiontion. The motion to print the book out once was oarriod.

LEGAL COMMITT'EE'S IREI'ORT P1O BE PRINTED.
Alderman of. 太. Pritchete, on helialif of the Legal Committee, said that no reforence had heen made to them during the year. The work which the committee was appointed to do was completed when the repurt was presented at Chelmsford last year. "the only thing now to do was to discharge the committeo with thanke for their services, and he moved accordingly (laughter). Mr. A. ©. Smith seconded.
Rev. H. Drake sair he plid not think the work of the committee fud fitished. Thure were one or two things which might erop \(u p\), and lhey ought to keep the committee in existence, even if there was no work for them io do. There was one thing to do, and that whs to publish the repart. The committee's reporit ought to be printed. They had just lieard a good deal about the cost of printing, but Itia reporl wabld mol cast very muel, and he would he glad to stand the expense of it (appiause). It was a most important thing that there slagald be samething in print to pat before people who might fatise any point covered by tie report Alderman Pritelelt said he was now the only member of the committece. Mr. Elwell was to langer a member oî the Council. Mr. Milno bad died, mud he did men see that it was any good to keep the commitee alive, anless there wrs something for it to do. Fe himself saw no further wark for it.
Rev. F. J.l. Edwards said one of the duties they requesterl the commitee to undortake was to kecp ast eye on legishation which might be contemplated, and it was for thal purpose that they necied trained lawyers to watel over their interests and communicate with the Slanding Committee in ense of any emorgency. The committee had delinet Llue law ra it stood so fat, but something else might arise.
The Iresident said one thing they had not referred to, and that was the unfortunate deals of Mr. Milne. He thought they ought to laka that opportunity of noticing that fact, and of expressing their regel and stmpathy wilt the relafives in the ustual way.
Tho member's thereupors bose and stood in silence for a few mamenls
The President anded that he world propose that the commitee, As suggestod, be discharged with thanks for their gervices, and that Mr. Pritchett be asked to retain a watching brief for the Cotneif on miny now legisintion which might be proposed. If he would do that, and if at any time lie wanted fassistance, the Standing Committee wauld give him permission to co-opt anybody fe wanted to help Alderman Tritchett said be would be happy at all times to advige the Comeil on all legal matters so far as his ability exterted (applanse).
The Tresident said they showd thank Mr, Drake for his offer to print the report of the commitfee, which was so very valuable (ap-

\section*{AUGMENTATION AT ALMELEY. HEREFORDSHIRE}

Serwice at the Church of St. Mary, Almeley, on Sunda
June 2gth, was a momorable one for the large conguation that was prescht to wilness the dedication of a new troble bell to the menory of Mrs, C. 「. Funt. Tise cercmany was performed by the Lord Bishop of the Diocese (Dr. Linton Sraith), who afterwards proached an eloquent setmon on the uses of bells.
Tlie five bells in this tower had done duty since the peat 1733. having been cast at the eclebrated Rudhall foundry. Some fime ago the question of adding a treble was brought forward, and in durs course the scheme was to be proceded with. In November last, Mrs. Cecelia Teresa Hunt passed away, and when the question of a suitable memorial to her was suggested to the Yicar by her velatives, he at once thought of the cxtra hell, and this was agreed to, as she had heen an loo. member of the Cliford Distuict ever sinoc the division of the Hereford Guitd into districts.
The new bell, which weighs 4 cwt. 3 gr. 6 lib., and bears lhe simple inscription, 'Cecelia Teresa Hunt, 1929,' was cast al the Whitechapel Foundry, and makers an excellent splice. In addition, the two back bells have heen put on ball bearings, and four of the original five have also had now heads of the latest type put on the olappers. Angle piates liave beon fited in every eomer, and verical bolts put throtugh all the struts of the frame. The whole cosl has been borme hy the relatives of the deceasen lady.
Ringers were present at the dedication servion from Lyonghal, Norton Canon, Slaunton-on-Wye, Kingstone, Lardisley and Madley; A lew rounds wene rung duting the service by the fodal hand and also after the service, the district secretary (Mr. J. P. Fyelt) ring ing the new treble. The bells were then thrown open, but a 720 of Boh Minor failed to materialise, although conducted by the Guid Master, Mr. C. Edwatds.

\section*{ENCOURAGING BELL RESTORATION}

Few associations devote so much money to the restorntion of bells as the Oxford Diocesan Giuill, which on Saturday, at the annual festivai, voted three domations of five guineas each to supplement gifts of over ten pounds alrealy given by the branches in which these towers are situated. Last year twenty-five guineas was voted for similar purposes, in addition to amounts given by brancles. It is small wonder that restoration work in the diocese of Oxford is constantly aud steadily maintained. The Master, who is dioccsall adviser in these matters, is kept well employed in maling inspections and giving advice, and he reported last year that he had dealt in this way with exactly a dozen towers; and that in ten other cases work had been satisfactorily completed. This, in one year, is a record of which the Guild may be proucl, but it is unlikely that it would have been anything like so grood, had it not been for the inspiration which the Guild itself gives by backing up its advocacy for elficient restoration with practical help where it is necded.

The Oxford Guild is, of course, not alone among the associations in contributing to restoration schemes. Many of them devote funds to this excellent purpose, but none, we believe, has a record quite equal to the Oxford Guild, who dip their hands into both pockets, as it were, by accepting as the best recommendation for a grant from the general fund, a prior grant from the branch coffers. Financial restrictions prevent many of the associations from following the example of the Oxford Diocesan Guild -they would have the opportunity if they had the funds -but it is interesting as well as gratifying to see the gradual spread of the restoration fund idea. A proposal is now on foot to establish a fund in the Bath and Wells Association and other societies have it under contemplation, so that eventually, we anticipate, it will be a recognised feature of the work of all associations. And, even at the cost of some small sacrifice on the part of ringers, the project is one to be commended, if for no other reason than that it helps to prove to church authorities that ringers are ready to put something into their work as well as take something out of it-Hat their desire for the preservation of bells is something to which they themselves are prepared to contribute. It is one of the ways by which ringers can show that their interest in bells is not one-sided or their activities outside service ringing purely selfish. By their contributions to restoration schemes, therefore, associations are doing useful work in more ways than one, but there is another direction in which we wish they could use greater infuence, and that is in ensuring the maintenance of bells in good condition. (Continucd on page 454.)

We believe that nuch expense could, in the long run, be saved to church authorities by a proper system of supervision. At present expert advice is seldom called in until the bells are entirely, or almost completely, out of ordera condition which systematic and competent inspection would often have avoided. But that is another story.

\section*{STOURBRIDCE RINGERS' TOUR.}

On Saturday, July 5 th , the ringers of St Thomas' Churel, Stourbridge, witla their wives and [riends, had their annual ouling, the party numbering twenty-three. Proceeding by motor charahane at 1.45 p.m., via Bromsgrove, Headless Cross and Alcester, Stuplford-on-A von was reached by three o clock, after a most delightful cun in glorious sunshine. Here the party broke up into groups to visit the various places of interest in Shakespeare's town. The aext rave was万. run to Leamingion, where a capital tea was served at Ballingar's Restamrants and was thoroughly enjoyed. After a walk round the town and hhrough the Jepson Gardens, the party went an to Warwick, where, at St. Mary's Church, they were met by Messrs. Aclams and Bond and several of the local lingers, and adjourned to the tower to ring on this fine peal of ten, fouches of Grandsite Caters, Grandsire Triples and Stedman Triples being accomplished. The party left at nine a'elock for home, which was reached after in most enjoyabie run. The band wish to fake this opportunity of expressing their thanks to the Vicar of St. Mary's, Warwick, for allowing then permission to uge the bells, and to Mr. E. H. Adams aud the locai ringers for having everything in readiness and for their kind assistance. Best thanks are also due to the churchwardens of St. Thomas' for making the oufing possible, and to Wr. J. W. Smith, secretary of the band, for so capably carrying out the arrangentents to the complete satisfaction of all.

\section*{MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION CRITICISED. \\ SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD'S RESOLETION.}

The annual meeting of the society for the Archaleacomry of Staf ard was held at Lithfield on Saturdny, July 5th. Although the at tendance was not as great as might have been expected, yet the number mounted up to nearly seventy. As his was not the year for he use of the Cafinedral bells, St. Mary's (eight) and St. Michacl's (six] came in for extra attention. Tea wns lad in the wade Street Schoals, which lad been prepared under the supervision of Mrs. Cresswell, who, together with many willing helpers, waited at table. At'er the 'crocks had been cleared, the genctal meeting followed, when the Rev. II. S. Cresswell (Vicar of St. Mary's) was invited to take the chair. An apology for absence was recelved from the Ven. Hugh Bright, Archdeacon of Staford.
The report and statement of accounts were passed and ordered to be printied. Next came the clection of oflicers. For the position of Ringing Master, Mr. Wm. A. Cooper, of St. Peter's, Wolverhampton, was clected to succed Mr. John Perry, retived.
The hon, secretaries were re-elected. Messis, Joseph Timms, of Thaworth, and Frank Hallsworth, of Walsall, each winh 44 yesars mentrossifp to their credit, were elected as lon, ringing members.

At this juncture a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. J. Perry for his servies ruring the year us Ringing Master; also to the athitors. Mir. Perry, in acknowledging the appreciation of his services, e thoped his successor would get as much pledsure from the the coming year as he himself lad done in the past.
The following places were seloctcd for mectings during the coming Tinvile in Soptember; Coseley and All Saints', Wess Bromwich, were put forward for the January meeting, and, upon being pud to the vote, the latter was declared ennried; Burton in April; and Lichfield for the annual meoting in Junc.
. Eerry raved the following resolution: That the member of the Society of Change Ringers for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, assembled to-fay at Lichtield for their annual meeting. express reat surprise at the action of The Midland Counties Association who, their mecting held on Easter Monday last at Burton-on-Prent, passerl a resolution stating that in fulure the association area shall comprise, among other dioceses, the Diocese of Lichfield. Sceing that this diocenc has already a fowishing sociely in each of the thee areladeaconrics that form the cliocese, of whicl out own society is one, it is considered that an alteration like this is not fair to our own society, and will not be beneficial to the Diocese of Lichfield, and will also have a tendency in future of creating a spinit of competition and antagonism between the various socicties, instend of a apirit of brotherhood. We respectfully ask the Midland Counties Esociation to reconsider its decision.?
ML: R. P. Brindley seconded the molion, and it was supporsed by Hessrs. T. Colelough and H. Kuiglat.
Mr. Brindley appealed for assistance to the bell restoration fund Brindiey appealad for assistance to the bell restoration fund
Edithas Chureh, Tamworth, and it was agreed that one uinea should be forwarded.
A vote of llanks to Mrs. Cresswell and her helpers, also to the hairman, was carried with applause. The chairman replied in happy mood, and said he would pass on the expression to his wife. NNCREASE IN TEAL RINGING.
The committee in their report recorded thai successful meetings add been held during the year: at Lichfield, with a fair attendance; t Wombourn, with about 80 present; at Wolverlamplon (St. "eler's), with upward of 100 ; at Cannock, also with a very fair masier. Ab the latine three places tea was generously provided. Bell restorations had been made both at Penn and Lapley at hae latier mastorations had been made botlat Penn and Lapley; at the latter phee it was lioped to lave an additional bel: placed in the near uture, thereby completing a ring of six. The number of peals rung doring the ycar was considerably larger than had been the case of laterears, those in the Grandsire method being of greater proportion than isual, the cause of which was not far to seek, as several 'first pealers ' lad made their debut. One of the young members, \(H\). Boswoll, of St. Peter's, Wolverliampton, had rung no less than 28 peals during the year, which was a record for any individual mensher for twelve months. The peals were as follows: Doubles (three methods) 1, Grandsire Doubles 7, Triples 28 , Gaters 3, Cinques 1,

Triples 1, Stedman Triples 4, Gaters 4, Cinques 2, Kent Treble
h Miror 1, Plain Bob Minor 1, Major 2, Cambriage Surprise Major , New Cambridga Surprise Majov I, Superlative Surprise Major 1; total 58.
The commiltee regretied to record tho loss tive society had susnimed lurough the death of the Rev. Thomas W. Wilkes, who, it would be remembered, most ably filled the affice of elerical seeretary and treasurer of the society for scversl yonrs, until tailing health catsed him to give it up; of Mr. Joseph Key, Lichicid, who was the sole survivor of the original members; of Mr. Thomas J. \section*{DECAYING STONE WALLS. \\ HOW TO PROTECI TEEM.}

\section*{To the Edilor.}

Sir,Althongh I am secretary of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, I have noticed in "The Ringing World' a letter from Mr. Lord wibl regard to the decay of " modern" stone walls. Mr. Lord asks a difteult question. Tho decay of stoncwork is due to inpurities in the air, and it is the prevention of these inpurified that is the only real way to preserve stome.
The question is really parallel to the lypothetical one which fodLows: 'I have a piece of copper in an acid hath. I want to be athe: to see the copper, but I do not wath the acid to eat inlo it. Can you adivise me how his may be provented?' The answer is: 'Remove the acid.
Of course, it would be possible to preserve the sirweture of the tower by covering it with properly made plaster; on the other hand, most people to-day would hold that to do so would make it a disagreeable sight, and there would he other objections. As long as the stone is exposed to the polluted air it will suffor.

The Society for the Protection of Ancient Huildings and those who have the care of Government ancient huildings, under the 1913 fet, and, I believe, also the Depariment of Selentific and Industrial Researeh, are all of opinion that litile can be clane with colourless stone preservatives when they are applied to stone which alrondy shows signs of decay. I can call to mind a namber of eases wher's stone has been treated in this way some years ago, and where, aftor a shord periad of apparent hardening, tha decay is rapidly aueoleratied. The ouly preservative which does mo harm at all to the stonc, and which, if it is reapplied at intervals of five and len ycars, does definitely act as a preservative, is limawash.
It was always uged by medioval builders as a covaring coat for gll their stone buildings-cathedrals, parish churehes, coltages and barus. The chemists aflim that the lime has an affinity for the sulphur in the air; but in cases where the practice las been continued the protection aceorded by the wash is atisfactory.
There are, however, a good numbor of people who dislike limewah because it changes the colour of a buileing. It is trua that there is this change, but it is a change from one beaty to another. Everybody is agreed that mediaval mason work is beautiful; that thm meu who worked the stone then knew what thoy were about; it may llecrefore be presumed that the gleaming whiteness of a towor was a quality our great predecessors likod; and it may be held that the treatment is technicaliy sound because these much-admired builders employed that method.

In addition to a limewask treatment, and, indeed, as a neenssity before it, the joints belween tho stones must either he known to bo sound or he made so. Everything should be done to secure that the neid laden rain stall run off the buiteling and not soak into it.
I might add that Heary VII.'s Chapel at Weslminster Ahbey, and the cloisters there, have lately been completely limewasied; and, further, when Professor Lelhaby wns asted to give an address to the society this year, he devoled limself almost entiraly to its use as a protection to stone work.-Yours bruly,
A. R. POWYS.

\section*{THE CANCELLED MEETING AT SOHAM.}

\section*{To the Editor}

Sir, With reference to tha account in your lask lasue of an Bly Association meeling held at Solam, wilh regard to cancelling, I mot some of the commithee at Cambridge, and with thom and bhe general secrelary discussed the situation, as I could not afteud mygelf. In my letter of permission to hold the meating it was a condition that we must make good any repair needed afler ringing, should it the caused by us, biso that an official of the association must to present. It was left to mo to da the best \(I\) could, aurl I had to cancol the meeting. I cancelled the notice in your columns by wire, but unfortunately no further reforence was made to it in Belfry Gossip or elsewhere. In reply to my appeal, "Please by and Let me know, etc., I received one postcard, to which I replica, I wired to three and sent about a dozen posteards. Before the next meeting I hope those who intent ta tue present will buy a prony stamp and postcard and send to me. Should the meeting to cancelled I shall then know to whom I muat reply, Some come if the wealam is suitable and cverything is eusy. Wero there more at this moenthrs than at the "anmal'? I think not. I am in wo hurry to say there were enough to ring Caters, let alone Royal. I th not know who sent you the report, and I care less. In closing, may I apologise to all those who did really travel auch a long distance and had unnecessary expense (I had some) and disappointment. I was disappointed. I have yet to have a pull at Saham. There will be a mecting again shorily. I will appeal now to others to lielp. Make the postman husy; it only costs a penny to write to my new address-Yours inulys

\section*{THE CENTRAL COUNCIL}

\section*{HUNORARY MEMBERS INVITED TO SUBSCRIIE}

The Council then dealt with the motions on the agenda paper, the first heing ono which stood in the mame of the lon. secretary: "That the Council do furbher revise the incalence of the annual subscription. Mr. Young gairl thal when tie matier was brought up last year il came up towarda the end of a meeting iv which they had spent scveral liours over another subject; and consequently it was rather rushed through, without the consideration which the Council Hatally ufforded; therefore, in order to altow the matter to be better ventilated, he put it on the agenda again this year. They would remember that. last year he proposed that the subscription, which was then 2s. 6id. pue member for each representative of an association, should be raised to 5 s., and that honorary members should pay 55 . The former was agreed to, but the intter proposal was rejected. The remult had been that their funds had been increaged by the clouble fee to the extent of some el or 28, and if theyleft it as it was they world be that much better of every year. #ut in wiew of the difficulty which some of fle associations had in finding moncy, he had heard it angegesled that 5s, was too rauch, and his suggestion now was that, for the first two members of ary ussemiation, 55, each slould be paid, and for the thind or fourth meaber 2s. Gid. only. With reesard to the honorary members, he was quito nwaire that they came there without remmenation, a fact which indicated that lheir hearts wero in not ranly did they eonsider it a privilege, bul that they would also be prepared to pay 5s. if that fee were imposed upon them. He, therefore, moved that in Fhlure, where there were three or four repregentatives af an associstion, the fee for the third and fourth should he 2s. 6d., and that honorary members should pry 5s. a year. As far as the finances of the Connmil ware concermed, they would be thout where they wore now-what they last on the swings they would make up on the roundabouts. He was asking the honorary members ten do something which would in a way make up whal they lost in the case of somelies who reluried three or four members. There were 17 secieties who returned four members, and on then they whuld lose about fis There were five who returned tireo members. they had fifteen fonorary members, and 5s. from each would noarly recoup tho Council.-The Rev. F. Li, Edwarde seconded.
Aderman l'ritchelt said, as an honorary member, ho would like \({ }_{4}{ }^{3}\) go one helter than Mr. Young, and therefore be made the followong proposition: 'That honorary members be invited to subseribe not uss than 58 in cach ycar." ITn saik "invited," because that would mecessitate no alteration in their rules. A copy of the resolufion could be gent to every honorary member at some time daring the yanr, and lee was quite sure that everyone would respond. In many eases they wauld be prepared to give more than 5s. towards the funds of the Council. He for one would bo willing to subseribe a guimea, because he felt it was a great honour to be an honorary membor. He had been one now for a great many years, and he had nover atabseribed anything, which was rather on his eonscience, and ha would be glat to matie ap for last time (langhter). He had put tho Council to some expetise. The olher daty he liad a letter from the seectily, which cost \(I \frac{1}{2} d\). 10 send and which enabled him to save 10 s . on his railway fare. A subseription to the Conneil would be a goad way of repaying the kindness. His proposition did not mern any alieration of the rules, and gave an honorary member the opportunity of subscrihing a sum of not less than 5s., or mothing at alt, necarding as he thouglat fit.
Mr. W. Willsn seconded the amendment, and the Rev, R. \(P\). Parrow remaried that he would support it on the ground that it was pleasure to hear of a lawyer putting his hand into his own pocket (Iaugliter)

The Hon. Secretary said he was prepared to accept the ameadment proposed by Alderman Pritchett.
Row. E. S. Powell moved that there should be so alteration in the present scale of t'ees for the association representatives. Had the proposal been put forward in its present form at Chelmsford it would have had something to cammenti it, bul now the change lad been made it would learl to confurim and uncertainty if they made a fresli scale.-Mr. Sedgley seconderd.

Canon Eisce said that one thing lad not been mentioned, and that was that the honorary members came to the Council always at their own expense, whereas by custam the exponses of the ordinary membars were paid by their associalions. He was rather anxions that no one slond be shat out from the howour of being an honorary number of the Council by considerations of expense, and if he had to pay a subseriphon in addition to his own expenses, it was possible that it might, slaut out ane ar two.

The Rey. F. S. T. Richardson and hajor Hesse spoke in favour of the subscription of honorary memhers being computsory, but \($ 1 \mathbf{r}\). Pulliug opposed the principle of asking honorary members to pry alylhing.
Ganon Caleridge said flue nssociatious relied upon honorncy memfrom becoming bankrupt. He thought the members of the cound were in the same position. It was a great privilege to be an honoray member, and he thought everybody ought to pay. Whether hey used the word 'shall 'or "may' was another thng.

Mr. James George fivoured the use of the word 'shall." There were fow, he said, who would not be willing to pay a small sum for the pleasure of aftending their enjoyable meetings.
Mr. Gave suggested that the guestion of honorary members' subsoriptions should be dropped, because lie thought, after what had been said that day, subscriptions from the honocary members would be forthcoming next year without any request.
The President divided the motion for the convenience of voting, and the portion relating to the reduction of the ordinary represenlatives fees in the casa of the third and fourth members was defeated, while that with regard io honorary members, as put forwayd by Alderman Pritchett, was carried.

\section*{THE GOUNC1L'S RULES}

The Hon. Secretary, in recordance with a motion which stood on the ugenda, initiated a disedssion on the subject of alteration in the rules of the Contral Council, as suggested in "The Ringing World" of October 18th, 1929. He said that last year there was. & considerable ventilation of ideas as to what might be done to irnprove the Council and make it more usoful. As a yesult of this, he expected to be inundated with ald sorts of proposals and motions, but when the time came to issue the agenda for this year they could imagine his surprise when he found that there seemed to be a conspiracy of silence, for some reason or other. Fe felt it was a pity that something should not be done to ventilate the grievances, and he had some correspondence with his predecessor, the Rev. O. D. P. Dayide, who knew fhe Council so well and how to get over the diffoulties. He (Mr. Foung) had been very much indebted to him whenever there had been any point be desired to have cleared up, amd Mr. Dayies had said that he thought it would be a good thing to put down a motion which would enable them to see where they were with regard to these grievances. On Oclober 18tl last year an article appeared

The Ringing Worla' from an anonymous contributor pulting forward certain suggested alterations to the rules. At first glance it loaked formidable, but he found on examination that there was not very mueh in it. The main poinh seemed to turn largely on the fuestion whether the Council should have a purely advisory position, as it han now, or whether it should put the Exercise more into honds. As some of them might remember it was feemed by Sir Arlhur Heywood and those who founded the Council that they would be wise in maintaining themselves as an advisory body, and he had notied that when Mr. Devies wis secretary he labled his motions in words which made it clear that the Council shouldi adrige this or that. Did the Couneil now wish lo say that the associations must do so and so? If the associations and guilds did not fall in wilh the Coumcil's rules ar suggestions, whal were they going to do about it? It them. Anotlier point raised was unter Rule \(\mathcal{Z}_{2}\) by wheh the Council was to cossist of representative members under a certain schedule numbers. Under the suggested gew rule, it was proposed that recognised socicty could apply for nffiliation, but that it should scribe to an undertaking to recognise and observe the ruling of the Council. If they did not do so, he supposed there was no ohject in their subseribing, but if they refused to subscribe he supposed d.hey would be autside the pale. That seemed to he the primary thing. Anolher point was that instead of the Council being constitutad for three ycars, as they were at present, they should be on a yearly basis with a meotimg every third your in Lonclon. He did not know that that would make very much difference, but lie thought that if a man was only elected for one yoar they might not get to know his work, for it was only after a period of years on the Council that they were really able to recognise a man's value. He should prefer if they could strike a lime of agreement in endeavouring to draw the bonds belween the Council and the associations a little closer. dad not think it would be of laarm to the Council if they triet get their rules observed, and he believed Mr. Gave had a motion to bring forward on this subject. If he did so it would go a long way towards ventilating the position mat perhnps cnabling them to yeach a decision next jear

\section*{UNFAIR CRITICISM.}

Mr. Cave sad some of the criticisms which had been levelled at line Council were not fair, and some werc actually untrue. For instance, Ringing World,' said: 'The rules of the Council stated that no member should vole until the associntion he represented had paid the fee of 2s. 6d., and upon this ruld being crrried out, a further rule stated that the representative would he in member of the Council and not necessarily a representative of his associntion.' The latter part of this was not true, but it had not been contradicted, and they magt inagine the effect of this upon a reader who, of course, took it as being true. If they would refer to the rules they would seo that thas latter part was a note to Rule 2 defining the word "Member," and meant that associations might, if they thought fit, appoint any persun to represent them, whether a member or not. This nate came about in this way: While ho was acting as assistant secretary of the (Contiaued in next columa.)

Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, he discovered that one of the representatives had not paid his subscription for two or three yoars, and by the rules had ceased to bo a mumber of the association. This was brought to the representative's notice. He refused Lo pay, but he attended the Central Cunncil meeling at Exeter, whare the question was brought up and decided, as they saw in the note to Rule 2. The association accepted the ruling and did not elech anyone to take ihis representative's place until his period of acrvice was up, an example that the Gloucester and Bristol Association might was hp, have followed last year. Then they had heard a lat about the member who was instructed to do one thing, thhough his own feelings prompted him to do the opposite. Most of the people he \(\mathbf{M r}\). Cave) had spoken to about it had blamed the merober for saying what he did, and upheld the chaiman in his ruling; and he was with them. This member was not the first, and probably he would not be the last, to do for an association what lie would not do for bimself. He (the speaker) did the same thing three years ago when proposing Bristol for the 1928 mecting of the Council cntirely against. his own feelings in the matier. Another instance was that of a resolution passed at the annual meeting of his association held at Prinswick ju 1925, and which was to have been put to the meeting at Ipswich it 1996. There was no authority from the l'ainswiek meeting to put it on the Council's agenda, but the assaciation having passed il lie was quite willing to support it in their mame. Thre fact that the chairman of the Council would not allow it to be put was the fault of the secretiary of the association; the necessary alteration in the wording was pointed oul to him before he sent it to the Conncil

AN INVIPATION TO ASEOCLATIONS.
Mr. Cave, continuing drew attention to what he described as another instance of unfair criticism, in which it was stated: "That the five and six-bell ringers hat had their entlusiasio damped by the continued bartering of what they could ring and what they must not, and tha efrect of that upon the Gloucester and Bristol Assomition Wes a drop of from 14 to 8 peals upon 5 and 6 bells during tinc last year.' Mr. Gave said it was nothing of the kind. In 1927 there were 17 peals (not 14) on five and six bells, whirleon of which were Donbles, seren conducted by ane and the same ringer. In 1928, of the oight peals, sis wore Doubles, only one of which was conducted by him-a drop of six, due to one man alone. Of course, the 'barliering " referred to was the Council's discugsions on Mr. Bankes James' Cambridge Minor and the various 240's and 360's of Doubles. The secrefary of the Gloucester and Bristol Association was in fivour of admitting them, and the (Mr. Cave) was against it. If the association had rung any of these, one coukd have understood it, hat the fact was they had rung none of them, cillaer before or siuce. Mr. Cavo ndded that the assaciations had always sent flseir representatives to that Council to thrasla out ringmg matters so that they might benefit from the deliberations, and also to shide by their decisions. Although many associations had no reference to the Counci in their rules, these decisions had been eccepted as law. For example, ho woukd vefer them to page 20 of "Rules Hud Decisions, where H wns stated: "That Bob Triples and Granelsire Mujor are not worthy of boing practised. Thoday peals in thes, molhods were practically unheard of. M\%. Gave theu mowed: 'Thaf in arder to bring ringitg societies into closer cammunion and co-operation with tho Central Council of Church Bellringers, every affliated socioly be reguested to include in its rules words to the following effect: "That this society Je affiliated to the Central Gouncil of Church Beliringers and layally carry out the rutes and decisions thereof." He thought that if this reschation was passed it, would strengtinen the loonds betwees the Council and the associatious
Mr. Young seconded the motion, remarking that the Onuncil could not amend its rules withoul proper notice printed in tho Rgenda, but they could pass a resalution which was advisory. This resalution cecommended their offiliated socicties to tako a certain action, and he thought it would belp to meet some of the erificiams. Rev. F. Law James thought that the two words at the end of the motion 'and decisions' should be takon ont. He had not the slightest objection with regard to tho mles, but when they cano to the decisions it was anotice question (latginter). The Council wort nat like the M.C.C. in regard lo the laws of cricket. The laws of oricket could be altered, but the laws governing change ringing coutd not-for instance, they could not get move Itan six changes an threo bells. They were not dealing with on bling like crickef; they ware dealing with a science. From time to time they found out that thome were points and old decisions which lade got to go. On the seientific side of change tinging they had to do wilh facts and not with theories. A scientific theory was like a clothes line-if they zut too much weight on it, it would break. Thoy could not ask associations to abide by decisions which in a tew years time might be oul of date.

Alderman Pritchett said it was no use a society being aftilialed to the Council anless the sociely was prepared to accept its rules. He suggested a slight alteration to the form of the motion by substituting the words abide by instead ot carry out, and this wns accepted by the mover

\section*{PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR} PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the belis, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be grood enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSEP.}

The Bislop of Liverpool has promised to speak it the ammal mecting of the Lancashife Association on September 27 h .
Mr. W. Griffn, of Walsalt, writing on Saturday night, said: 'Re the peal of Maxinus just fimished, I can only say it acted as a real Lonic. A really splendid peal; fine striking from start to linish!
It was, in \(n\) way, an 'All-England' team that rang the peal, and one would bave been surprised at anything else but fine shriking from such a band. It is not always the case, however, that prase is givan where praise is due.
The old peal of six bells at Hope Parish Church, Derbyshire, all of which weve cast by Daniel Herlderley in 1733 (tenor approximatoly 15 owt.) is to he rehang with modern fittings in a new framowork designed for cight bells by Messrs. Tayior and Co., of Loughborangh. It is not yet definitely decided whether the two trebles, required io complate the octave, will be put in hand ab the same time.
At Surrey Assizcs, at Kingston, E500 was awarded to the widow and 2100 to the daughter of the late Mr. Alwyn Charman, a ringer of Cranleigh, Surrey, who, while wheeling his cycle, was killed as the result of a collision between a motor-cycle and a car
The bells of St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, were ppened by the College Youths with a peal of Grandsire Cinques on July \(28 \mathrm{th}, 1798\).
Next Monday is the seventh anniversary of the record prul of Treble Bob, 17,280, in the Kent Variation, rung in ten hours, as Over, Glicshire.
The death of Mt. I. G. Shade, in a motorear accident, took place on July 19th, 1926.
The ringor of the 6E1 in the peal at Wilby, guftolk, on July Gih, was John W. Ward.

\section*{AMERICAN VISITORS.}

MR. WARREN STURGIS, JUN., QUALIFIES FOR A.S.C.Y. Mr. Warrell Sturgis, of Groton, U.S.A., with his son, E. Warren Sturgis, who are on a visit to Europe with Mrs. and Miss Sturgis, paid a 'flying' visit to London recently from Paris. Mr. Sturgis, sell., is a master at Groton College. He was initiated into the art of ringing by the late Dr. Nichols, of Roston, Massachusetts, and is keenly interested in maintaining ringing at Groton, where he ieaches students the art. When at home, Bob Major is practised on bandbells in the family circle.
The recent visit to London was largely made to emable 3 . Warren Scurgis, jun., to qualify for membersinip of the Ancinnt Society of College Youttis, which his father joined some years ago. The qualification for membership is ability to ring a quarter-peal in a standard mothod, and this Mr. Sturgis, jun., did on July thh by ringing \(7-8\) to a 1,330 Grandsire Triples on liandbells in admirable style. The band was: W. Roughton 1-2, C. F. Winney 3-4, H. Langdon 5-6, Wruren Sturgis, jun., 7-8. He was elected a member of the societ,y on July 8 th. The other ringing done during the visit inchded 672 Stedman Triples at St. John's Church, Wilkn Road, in which father and son took part. It was regretted that the visit was so short that a peal could not be arranged. Mr. Warren Sturgis, who is 17 years of age, is a toorn ringing enthusinst, and the College Youths look forward to the opportunity of ringing a peal with him al some fubure date.

\section*{OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD}

\section*{FFSTIFAL AT OXFORD}

The annual festival, the 49th, of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, was leed at Oxford on Saturday, and, as usual, attracted a large and representative gathoring of members, who assembled for service in Girist Churcls Cathodrah, where tipe Rev. F. E. F. Probyn, Yicar of St. Andrew's, Oxford, gave a strikimg atdress.

The zusiness meeting was presided ovor by the Master (Rev. C. O. Jenkyn), who was supported by the hon. trensurer (Mr. A. Wright), the secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) and Canom G. F. Coleridge, about 120 members heing present from all the branches. A number of apologies for absence had heen received, and the Secretary read an extract from that received from Ganon Norris, who desired to remind the Guild how rauch they ought to appreciate the Master for the work he did in advising and luelping in bell restoralion work throuthout the riocose (applause).

Tho Master, in his report, refered to the unmetous towers in the diocese in which bell restoration was either contemplated or comDleted, and drew attention to the fact that in four of the latter might be found excellent examples of what could be done by careful modern turning. Newhury and St. Laurence's, Reading, were as good as many of them helieved they might be; St. Mary's, Reading, were in great deal better than most of them thought possible: Thateliam, with two twebles added, were a surprise even to the founders themselves. As a fitting crown to a gear remarkable for restoration work, came the ring of twelve for Berkshire by the addition of two trobles to the ter ati St. Lauteace's, Reading. The raising of \(#\) fund for these two bells was undertaken by Mr. Hibbert and himself, rusd right well were they backed up by members of the Guide and their many ringing friends throaghout the country. In the matter of peals, the Guila showed a slight improwement both as to quantity and quality. For the latter, they were chiefy indebted to Mr. George Martip and his friends. The yroung Central Bueks Brandi was doing well, owing to the untiring efforts of the hon. secretary, the Rev. J. F. Amies. Towers were beginning to press into it. On the whole, the branches were in a decidedly healthy state.
The secretary's report recorded that the Guild was steadily inaressing in mumbers and in useful activity. The number of towers alliliated was now 205, an increase of four from last year. This was duc to the growth of the Central Bucks Branch, owing to the indefatigalyle work put in by Rev. J. T. Amies, the branch secretary. The hon. members had increased by 12 , and now stood at 221 , while inging members had increased from 2,015 to \(2,222\).

A SOUND FINANEIAL POSITION.
The Trensurer reported that the staterment of accounls sliawed a Lalance of 51584 s . 11d., as compared with \(514595,5 d\). the previous The income was Ele3 5s. 3d., and the expenditure £lil. THie Hmount received from tile branches was \(88975 .\), being \(5533.6 d\). In excess of any previous year. The balances beid by the branches was E172, a dectease of \(£ 21\) on the previous year. The balance sheets showed tlant it considerable sum had been given in grants for the restoration of bells-a worthy object and one which should be enouraged. The amount received from hon. members showed a deerease, aud the subscriptions received by the general Guild wero only沾 155 . as compared with E15 7s. 6n. fin 1924. Considering that the Restoration Fund depended somewhat upon hon. members subseriptions for a portion of the income, it was haped that every effort would be made to inerease the number. During the year grants lape been made from the Restoration Fund amounting to eiz6 \(5 s\). balance of \(£ 36195\). 6d. was brought forward, ancl thanks were to the North Bucks Branch who gave a donation of \(E 5\), and to Master for one of \(£ 1\). The fund had now a balance of feg 11fl., which it was hoped would meet atl demands for this year. fund, started in 1924 with \(£ 10\), has, since that time, made amounting to 852 , without in any way reducing the general Purds. The inoome from the sale of anmual reports was only f3 7s. reports were sold at sixpence per copy, and only 134 members ppoared to want one. The net cost was eightpence-lialfpenmy; 325 printed for those who desire to buy one. The demand appeared be pery small and getting less. It would be a question for the committee to consider whether it was worth while printing any copies beyond those actually required for the officials and hon. mernbers. During the past four years the general funds of the Guild lat increased 20 per cent. This meant a gradual increase of 5 per per annum. Taking into consideration the position of many atulation who were making no progress, it was a matter of con The reports of the Master, hon. treasurem and secretary, having ready been issuef, were taken as read and adopted. Tho Hon. reastirer pointed out that the \(£ 8975\). received by fhe general fumd from the branches was the largest ever received in the history of the Guild, The branch balances amounted ta \(£ 172\). With regard to the reration fund, which hat a balance of 92810 s . IId. at the end the Feat, a special donation of \(£ 10\) 10s. had been reccived from the Master and socretary. The fund had voted \(£ 10\) 10s. to the augmentution of St. Laurence"s bells, but as sufficient was received Whblinut this amount, it was returned to the fund. After paying

The grants recommended for this year, they would lave a balance of fed to carry forward, and in uddition there would be the interest on investments, the collection that day of \(£ 30 \mathrm{~s}\). 2ld., and they might expect to get about \(£ 6\) from honorary memberg.

THE SECRETIARY'S SALARY.
A resoltution was next brought forward: "Thai the goneral sectetary's salary shall be s10 per annum.' "Hihs was moved by Mr, A. D. Barkor, who, replying to the Master, said it was a private motion, and did uot come from his lranth (Enst Berks und South Bucks). He moved it because lie thought ii miglit be of interest to the Guild to discuss it
There was no secouder, abd the motion, thorefore, fell to iba ground. The presenk salary of the secretary is \(£ 20\).
The Masler was re-clected with acelamation, on the motion of Canon Goleridge, seconded by Mr. W. P. Rotsh. The Rov. C. W. O. Jenkyu, in acknowledgment, thanked Canou Norris for lis letter, and said that he woukd go on doing his best for the Guild, for the preservation and restoration ot bolls in the diocese, and for the furtherance of the art and science of change ringing.
The hon. treasurer and secretary were also re-clected, the latter romarking that if there was any dissatisfaction or loss of confidemee in bim, that was the time to nomimate a new semetary. ff he did the work again, he would continue to do it in his own way. The question of salary did not worry him one bit. The election was catried antid appiause.
Mr. Hibbert eqused a good deal of langher in neknowledging his re-election by remarking in his charaeleristic wuy, I shall make a lot of mistakes if I live, and I hope I shall live long enough to make hundreds.
The Master said he must express the great gratitude he fell in having two such able officers as the treasurer and secrelary. Fie need not tell them, for they had already shown they realised it, that the Guild was most fortunate in having two such men, who were alwayg out to do their best for the Guild and for every bramel. Thay were willing to sacrifice time and anything else required to give help to a branch. They could not do impossibilities, and he personally valued the Guild's expression of gratitude for their services (applause).

The twelve elected members of the commiltee were re-elected en bloe, as follows: Messre. J. F. Barlow, J. Evans, C. Cablawall, G. Holifeld, W. Hibbert, senr. G. Martin, Miss V. Robinson, Messrg, R. White, A. D. Cullum, H. Sear, J. W. Wilkins and Miss S. Devis,

The coufimation of 172 members clected sineo tho lust mectitir was also agreed to.
The committee reemmended that the festival in 1931 be hekl at Oxforst, and the Master pointed out that it would bo ine jubilee of the Guild.
On the motion of Mr. Barker, seconded by Mr. R. 'II. Hibhert, the recommondation was agreed to without discussion, and with it a proposal that the Master be invited to preach at the servics.

\section*{RESTORATION GRANTS.}

Thise commitiee reommended that a grant of \(£ 55\) be made towards the restoration of the bells at Gomertom, and \(£ 5\) 5s. to Harwell. At Somerton, it was stated, the bells badly need relnaging, and Messrs. Taylor and Co.'s estimate has been accapted. The bells were to be hung in two biers bocause it was desined to add lwo trehles to make a ring of eight. At Harwell the holls were in a had state of "epair and had to be rehug. Tlasir condilion had been comemmed, amd the bells could not now be used at all. -The grants were agreed to.
An application was also recetved for a trant for Slandlake. At this chureli the shape of the tower added to the difliculties. It is is round tower, with a peal of six hung in two tiers in flimher frame, and the tower had been cut away to accommodate it. 'The Mrasier' srid it was a deserving case.

The Yicar (Rev. Lovett) spoke in support of the applisaliont. The cost of the work, he said, would he ahout 5260 . They had raised about \(£ 160\) in the parish (hear, hear), but he had made up his mind that they ought not to tregim the work until they lad all the money in hand. The present frame was anting as a battering ram on tho tower, bath the bells, when rehung, would be in two liere in an iron frame. He appoaled for the help of the Guild, because ha was gfraid the parish by its own efforts could not raise all that wos requireti.
The Witney and Woodstock Branch lied voted lwo gnimeas, and the Guild now voted a further five guinens.
A motion, "That the traveling expenses incurred by members of the commitiee in aitending committee meetings shall be paid hy tha general Guild, applications for same to he made to the general secretary after such meeting, was moved by Mr. A. D. Barker. He said the motion was infender to apply lo the f welve elected members. He said that certain of these had previously heen branch representatives, and as such hat been paid their trevelling expenses by the branch. When they became 'elected' members they were, in a sense, promoter, but loat their privilege.

At the suggestion of Mr. A. J. Wright, the motion was amended to read 'that the treasurer be authorised to pay the railway fares of the twelve elected members, athe in this fatm it was agrecd to.
LOSS ON REPORTS.
Mr. Harker then maved that "The branch secretary shall inform the general secretary in January each year the number of annual reports his branch will require; these io be supplied free.' Mr. Barker reforred to the fact that only \(£ 378\). was received last year from the sale of reports, which appeared to show that only 134 momhers wanied one. In 1924 it was decided that branels secre tarios should inform ibe general secretary in Jamuary of each year of the number of copies the branch required, and these should be supplied to the brabch at 8d. a copy, the copies for hon. members being supplied free. For two ar tliree years several branches pain for their reports, but last year he believed anly two branches paird.
The Hon. Treasurer: All paid for them that lat them.
Mr, 13arker, continuing, suid the treasurer complained that only a small win was received from the sale of reports. His point was that he did not get all the money lo was entitied to from this source. If reports were lo be free for some branches, let them be fice to all He mentioned that during the last five jears e126 5s. Bd. had been spent on prinling reports, and only \(£ 252 \mathrm{~s}\). had been reveived for their sale. He compared the cost of the 325 copies printed with Uhe cost of 750 copies printed at a less price for another society of which le wats member, and said that on the scote of economy fhey should frke finto consideration the cost as well as what they received.
The FIon. Treasurer suggested that the motion was out of order in view of the motion passed, adopting the treasurer's report, togother with the slatement of accounts and the recommendations con tained thereit.
The Master said it was before the committee at their last meeting and wotild not come before them iagain until next April.
Mr. Barker said if tho motion was out of order, it should have been pointed out before, so thaf ho might have saved his breatli ansl the members' time.

The Marar said when it came to the quostion of altering rules it Was much better if the matiter was brought before the commitiee firsh of all, but if it came before the anmual meeting he had no right to stop it. According to the report of the hon. treasurer, which bad been carricd, the whole question would be gone into at the committee meeling mext April.
Mr. H. Miles said the treasurer's report whs not read, and conceivably the point was lost sight of by members. Fe thougint it should have been pointed out if if was out of otder

The Master sad members had had ample time to know what was in the reports. If they wanted them read, that could be done, but it would take up mum more time.
Mr. Burker said, arising from the discussion at the committee mecting, he wrote to tho treasurer for cerfain information, which was not, howover, fortheoming. He frad, therefore, no alternative but to bring the matter up. If they had this 'hole aud cortar' business with their finances they would not know where they were.
The Treasurer snid Mr. Barker asked for information relating to live years without giving any reason for asking for it. If Mr. Barker expected hiar to dive into documents for liva years simply to satisfy his curiosity-well, ho was not going to do t . If he trad given him a reasonable canse he would lave done it. As far as he knew, all the reports that had gone to the branches had beem paid for. Some brancles had only taken two or three topies, but thoy had always paid for them

Mr. 'I'aylor said that as they lost 822 last year on reporte, was it necessary to print sa many? Was there nu means of cutting it down?
The Master said the whole question of the reports would be gone inte by the committee next \(A p r i l\); and the meeting accented this colurse

\section*{THE CENTHAL COLNCIL}

Canan Colevidge gave a report of the meeting of the Central Cauncil, but before lio did so the Master expressed the delight of the Guitd at having the Canon amongst them again after his serions illness. He also said a circular had been received from the Gouncil asking the Guild to add to their rules a dause to the effect that the Guild should be affilinted to the Council und loyally abide by the \(r\) ules and decisions thereaf. Thal, said the Master, was a matter which would havo to be considered by the committee.
Canon Coleridge thamked the racmbers for the letter of sympathy he received from their secretary at the timo of his illness. Of the several hundred letters he received, there was none he prized more than that from the members of that Guild. Camon Coleridge's review of the business transacted at Limboth I'alace was followed with interest. He referred to his own resiguation of the office of president, and said the did not think it possible to got a better president than his successor, Mr. E. H. Lewis, who was a good ringer, a most capable engineer and one who spoke with great muthority at joint meetings of lingers find the Socicky for the Protection of Ancieat Builaings. IL was sometimes difficuit to talk to people with fads of their own (laughter). This society had the idea that bells should always be hung in a wood frame that springs well and gives to the bells (laughter). Mr. Lewis had been able to put them right on points like thut. Referring to the "Collection of Minor Methods,' that it was decided to print, Canon Coleridge said it was lite restult of years of labour, and would be

RINGING COMPETITION WON BY WATH.
The annual ringing contest of the Sheffield and Distrint Sueiety was held at Beighton, on Saturday, Jtly 5 th, and was attonded by ahout 60 members. The contest was for'six beils, and as may teams competed and rang in the following order: Eeclesfeld, Sr. Marie's, Killamarsh, Wath, Soulb Amstou and Bradfeld. Messis. J. Brearley and G. Lewis were the adjudicators, with Mr. A. Stape ley, of Beighton, as mavker. The contest commenced about 3.15 p.m., and concluded about 6 p.m., when the company retired to the Church Institute for tea.
The presentation of the award and the business meeting follownd tea, presided over by tle Rev. R. Clarke, who is otheiating at Beighton in the absence, on holiday, of the Vicar.
The meeting was opened with a short address from the chairman, who then called upon the adjudiantors for their report. Mr. J. Brearley, in declaring wath company to be the winners, said the ringing on the whole had been very fair, He then submitted ihe restils, which were as fallows: Emlesfeld, 163 faults; St. Marie's, 168; Killamarsh, 111; Wath, 88 ; South Auston, 131 ; and Bratield 138.

The ehaiman then presented Mr. A. Panther, of Wath, with the society's silver cup. Mr. Panther, in acknowlerging tha applause, said he was very plensed his team had been suceessful, but hoped that next year would see more entries for the contest,
Mr. J. W. Champion, of Watin, then proposed, and Mr. C. Severa seconded, a hearty vote of thanks to the judges for the excellent manner in which they had carried ont their duties. Whis was carried unanincously Votes of thanks to the Vicar far the use of the bells, to the ladies for providing a splendid tea, and to the local ringerg for laving everything in readiness, were then carvied, thas bringing to a close a happy and most enjoyable meeting.

The ringers then returned to the tower for further ringing.

of the utmost value to all ringers, and especially to six-bell ringers The book was so volumidous that some members were afraid it would be beyond the reach of many ringers, and it was therefore suggested it should be published either in two parts, or in sixpenuy numbers, which would he a most expensive way of daing ft, and would take a long time to complete. Liventually it was decided to publish it in one book at a cost of abont 3 s . If any six-bell ringer coufit riot aftord that sum, he suggested lae should apply to the Patochal Church Conncil. They had to provide copies of the diocestar services book for the use of the choir, so they ought to find a cony of the new Minor Methods Collection for the use of the ringers in the belfry (hear, hear). Better still, let the ringers ask for six copies, and if they did it iu a wice way they would probably get them. The guestion of the alteration of the rules of the Council was dincussed, continuen Canom Coleridge, and the ontcome was the suggestion contained in tho letder from the secretary, alteaty read. The mese ing was an excellent one in every way, and one in which mendous lot was done for tho good of the Exercise.
The Master, in thanking Canon Coleridge for his report, spoke of the work of the committees of the Council. He ceferred the members to the article on the subject which renently appeared in "The Ringing World,' and said he bad never fully vealised all that the committees did until he had himself heen engaged on the revision of one of tle publications. Same of the vommittees were at work throughout the year, and people who grumbled that the Council did nothisg overlooked the work which the commititees did.
The Master then proposed a vote of thanks to the Dean and Chap ter of Christ Ghureh and to the preacher mad organist.-Alderman J S. Pritchett, who geoonded, said it was a great privilege to meet in that venerable building. They met undev auspices second to none in ringers' gatherings througlout the land, and they were greatly indobted to the Dean for making such arrangements for their comiort, Continuing, Alderman Pritehett expressed the deep regret which the members of the Central Council felt at the retirement of Canou Coleridge from the office of president. They felt it as a great loss, but they had an excellent successor in Mr. Lewis, who, he foll sutc, would in due time earn for himself a large measure of the affection which they all had for Canon Coleridge (amplause).
This concluded the business, and the members then proceded to the magnificent dining hall of Christ Chureh, where thay partook of lunchoon, under the presidency of the Master, who proposed the toast of 'Clurch and King,' which was cordially drunk, the National Antlem being sung. Vinally there is no other loast at this gathering, but Mr. R. T. Hibbert said he took it upos himself to propose 'The health of the Master.'.-This was cruuk with enthustasm, the company giving it musical honours. The Mater, in reply, congratulated tile Guild upon such a goed muster al a time when, in an agriculural area such as theirs chielly was, so many of the members were husily engaged on the land. Ho reminded fhem of next year's jubilee celebration, which, he saif, he hoped they would make worthy of that great Guild.

Afterwards the members proeened to the various clurch and college towers, where they engaged in ringing for wome houst before the close of an interesting and enjoyable day.

\section*{REPRESENTATIVES CRITICISE CENTRAL COUNCIL.} GUILDFORD GUILD MEMBERS' REPORT.
A featuro of the mecting of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guidd, at Woking on Sahurday, was the presentation of a joint report by the three representatives of the Guild an the Central Council, which reviewed the principal matters that catrie before the meeting at Lambelh, and on one or two items contained same outspokela ctiticism. "The Council," said the report, "after a long discussion and consideration of various amendments, decided to print the "Gullection of Minor Melhods" at a cost of about & \(7 \%\). Whis book is a complete collection of Doubles and Minor methods, including Aliance and Little Minal methods. Your representatives woted against this heavy outlay of the Council's funds for the following reasons: The cost of printing the hook represents two years of the Council's nel income; the priated copies will lave to be sold al abost 3 s . each to repay the expenditure; if the state of six-bell ringiug lihoughout the country can be judged by the standard in our own Guild, there are very few companies in the country to whom the book can be of any practical use, and we are afraid there will be little dernand for the book, and the result will be a dead loss to the Council of botween £60 and 570 ; we think the price of the book too high for many individual ringers to buy it, and the peal reports do not show that there are many companies who have exhaustorl the methods given in "Slaudard Methots." The Council is, however, now commitied to the printing of the book, nud we think that athemo should be drawn up to minimise the danger of the work being left on the Gounoil's hands. We suggest that the various ringing organisations should themselves purehase outright not only this hook but all the Cameil's publications and resell them to their members. The various ringing bodies get the benefit of the Council's publiections, and in our opinion should bear sume of the risk of the less oll sales.'
Referring to the proposal that hon. members sbould pay an anmual subscription to tho Council, the report said: 'After considerable discussion it was deeved to invite bon. members to subseribe an aumunl sum. We voted against the suggestion that hon. members slowuld pay or be invited to pay anything. Hon. members are elected the Council either because of their expert knowledge of some purticular subject, or because of the services they render to the Encrcise. They give what is of ten valuable time, and are put to no litile expemse in atteuring meetings of the Council, and your representatives wansiter it "check ", that any subscription should be demander or invited from them.'
'We are all of opinion,' contiumed the report, 'that the fees payable by associations to the Central Council should he calculated on the mumber of the anmual menbers of each assaciation and not, as at piosent, ou the number of representatives elected on the Council. Frr exsmple, onc of two associations with over 450 members might elect four representatives, as allowed by the rules, and pay al annamily to the Council, sud the other might elect only one representative and escape will an annual paynent of only 5 s.
discussion ensued an the various points raised in the report, and the members expressed general approval of the line takon by theit representalives, who were condially thanked for their teport.
"hine meetiug was presirled over by the Fen. G. M. Davies, who had conducted tho service in the absence of the Vicar (Canon \(G\). Askwilh), and tea was served in the Church Hall, a bountiful mend, in which bowls of cherries were a feature, having been provided by party of ladies. Arcledeacon Davies was supported by Admiral T! Walker (hon. treasurer of the Guild) and Mrs. Walker, Mr. G. L. Grover (district secretary), and Mr. R. Hayes (District Ringing Master) te of sympatly and condolence was passed with the relatives f the late Ven, Ronald Trwin (Archdencon of Darking), who was a unember of the Guild.
Mr, Ranee, of Worplesdon, was olected a member, and a vote of hanks was accorded tu Canon Askwith, Ven. G. M. Davies, the Dignist and the ladies who hat arranged the tea.
During the aflernoon and evening, ringing took place on the Pirish Church bells, the methods ranging from Minor to Surprise

\section*{HIGHAM FERRERS RINGERS' TRIP.}

The ringers of Higham Ferrers, with a lew friends, includiag Mr. Chapman, lale of Manchester, had a most enjoyable ouling titray. July I2th. The first call was at Newport Pagnell, whole, afley, two short touches, ringing lad to stop through illness close to the church. At Stony Strafford, several touches were rung, in some of which part of the local band joined. After tea at Leighton Buzard, an hour's ringing was enjoyed on the peal of ten.

\section*{SURREY RINGER'S SUDDEN DEATH}

The death tonk place on Tunc 17th of Mt. Charles sleet, of Othershaw. Surrey, who died suddenly, ab the age of sixty years, while following his occupation of landseape gardonds. He had been a Minger al Ottorghaw for twenty years, and bofore that was abtohed to the Choblari band for about the sarne period. Decensed never missed his turn of Sunday fingring, and alwayt atlended ou proctice uight. He took parti in a peal attompt a monlit ago, which? unfortunately was lost by the tenor rope breakiug in the tast 720 changes.

The interment took place on Saturday, June 28th, and the Vicar, in the coturse of his radiress, paid a glowing tribute to the decessed for the services rendered hy him es a most regular and keen charth worker.
Atnong the floral tributes was a large bell wreath from his fellowringers. After the funeral, 360 Grandsire Doubles was rang wilf nuffled bells by: F. J. Chaffer 1, D. Sleet (cotductor) \(2, \mathrm{Miss}\) D.多let 3, Miss M. Thompton 4, 1. Hancock 5, 1. Wullace 6.

\section*{GUILDFORD GUILD'S SUMMER FESTIVAL.}

Ringers of the Guildford Diocesan Guild were favoured with glorious wenther on the occasion of their summer festival held on July 5th at Egham and Staines. This locality, with its three almost perfect peals of eight within easy distance of each other, and situnte close to a beautiful streteh of the Thanes, is an ideal place for a sumnaer mecting.
The belle at Egham were set going early in the afternoon, and at 4.30 a short service was Jeld there conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. A. C. Tranter, who gave an extremely interesting address, in which ho spoke in glowing lerms of the heauty of hell music and of the scrvices to the Chareh of bells and ringers. Seventy-nine members (ineluding the Master, Major J. H. B. Hesse, and the hon, treasurer, Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O.), and visitors from Egham, Banstead, Old Woking, Othershaw, Adershot, Bagshot, jpisom, YorkLown, Cohhmm, Farnborough, Lentherhend, Furnham, Haslemere, Hawley, West Clandon, Dorking and the Cathedral Churoh, sat down to a splendid Lea in the Chureh Hall.
At the end of the tea, the Master thanked the Vicar for welcoming he Guild to Egham and for his address, amel apologised for the allsence of the hon. secretary, wi. J. S. Goldsmith, who was unable a be prearnt. Aflerwards, some of the party went back to Egharn iower, and others crossed the 'ocean' and did their best to put joy into the hoarts of the inhahitants of Middlesex by making good use of the bells at the Parish Church and at St. Peler's, Staines.

RINGING PARTY'S GREAT TIME IN HERTFORDSHIRE.

\section*{At Whitsuntide, by sundry and devions ways, a party of Yorkshi} ringers, with Heir wives aud relations, and heated by Mr. T. Maude, of Pudsey (who with his nisual untiring enthusiasm liad at last got his team tagetter), arrived at \(S t\). Albans for the week-end. The local commitlee, consisting of Messrs. G. W. Cartmel and F. P. Debenham, land arranged headquarters at the Ver House Hotel, which, standing in delightiul gromus, same aeres in extent, with the River Ver flowing through, made an exeellent resting place during the weok-end. The paty were mel by Mr. Debenham on their arrival on the Saturdiny. He very kindy gave all particularo-of the programme, but, to the great regret of everybody, ringing was unobtainable at the Cathedral on the Sunday owing to the ravages of the death-watcla beetle having been dotacted in the belfry foor. This magnificent pile, containing varying styples of architecture from Saxon onward, is a most imposing structure, and was a great attraction to all.
Sundny morning saw the party"al St. Peter's Church, where the handy ring of ten were set going to various methods, following which the more staid members were introduced to a variety of deep sea fishing, which at once attracted their envy and admiration. More night he said, but ns the proprietor is very jealous of the patent, those who desire further knowledge must apply direct. Suflicient to say, that this part of the proceedings was most popular, and rejuvenated those interested iu a manoer somewhat startling.
A visit whs paid to Bushey Parish Church to ring for evensong, and the light eight wercemade full use of. As the Church of Si. Stephen, close to the Ver House Hotel, has a peal of six (temor 15 cut.), permission was sought and most courteously given for a pull there on Mondny morning. This church is a fourticenth-century building, with the bells in a wooden tower, and the riuging room on the ground floor, at the west end, opening direct into the charchyard. With the heavywcight' on the tenor, the bells were set going to Oxford, but il was a novel experienoe to ring in relays in order that the nonringers might go out to watch the tower vock. Cordiad and hurrierl ihtanks were "ecorbed to the local conductor, and tracks were made for Hatield. 'Tight Bells' were soon found there, after which a visit was paid to the Parish Charch for a pull on the ring of ten. Lunch was sorved al. the One Bel] Hotel in a most bountiful fashion, andi the writer commends this house to travellers, both for confort, quality and sarvice. A move was next made to North Mimms, where, amid sylvan surroundings, the light pent of eight (tenor 14 cwt.) were minoyed for a long perion. While in the noighbourlood a visit was paid to Hatfonlt Houst, the fine park and the magnificent Elizabethan mansion being greatly unjoyed and appreciated.
St. Albans was reached by a tired but happy band. Truesday saw the break-up of the visit, some journeying homeward, others travelling Loward London for the Central Council meeting
This sketch would be inconplete without menlion being made of the bounliful hospitality of Mr. E. ㄲ. Debenham and his family on two evenings, though, to the great regret of everybody, their kind host was confined to bed with a severe chill. Despite this handicap, however, he insigled onk he engagement gomy forward. To Mr. Gi W. Cartmen, kind thanka are atue for his groal trouble in making all arrungenents, and also to Mr. W. H. Buckingham for an interesting innowation. The fine scenery, kind reception on all sides, the fine churches, and late hours will live long with all who took part in this latest and most enjoyable of the Forkshire itineraries. The party consisted of Messrs. T. Mande, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cotterell, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Sherwood, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Johneon, Mr. and Miss Naylor and Mcssl's. A. C. Feariley, W. Idle, C. Pratt, R. On Saturday, the monllily meeting of the Noltimghasi District was held at Coiston Basscti. The bells, a very fine peal, with temor of 224 ent., were set going, but as the local ringers wore busy in the hay felds the bells had been somewhat neglected, and unlil one gentleman hrought an oil can from his car the bells did not like being pulled about. About 25 members turned up, and the halis were kept going in various methods until aboul 8 p.m. Mr. J. J. Jackson, of Ruddington, paid a visit, and raug in some nice touches of Stedman, which everyone enjoyed. About twenty sat down to tea at the village inn. Colston Basgett is a charming villago with a very pretty little church, tower and spire. The ola church and rums were visited by most of the party, and the oll wooden headstooks of the bells were viewed with interest. Favaured with glorious weather, everyone enjoyed this outing.

\section*{DOUBLE LITTLE BOB.}

Sir,-In 'The Ringing World' of last week I wote that a peal of Double Little Boh Major was runl at Handsworth, Sheffield, conducted by Mr. G. Lewis. I would like to point out to Mr. Lewis that a peal in the same method was first rung at Crayford, and appeared in "The Ringing World" of March 21st, last, under the name of Erith Little Bob. The ligures of the methorl and peal wore sent at the same time, but have uot appeared. Mr. G. H. Cross some years ago gave me two 'Little' methods unnamed, the present one under discussion and its companion method, Dartford Little Bob, rung at. Dartford on February 21st, 1925, the figures of that method mud the peal appearing in 'The Ringing Wowld' the following week. -Yours,

\section*{THE COUNCIL & THE ASSOCIATIONS}

The relationship between the Central Council and the associations has been much discussed in our columus from time to tine. We have always been in favour of a closer tie between the two and for that reason we are glad that: the Council decided to approach the associations with a request that they will adopt some resolution by which, in effect, they would pledge themselves to be afliliated to the Council and abide by its rules and decisions. As we have more than once pointed out, some of the associations ind guilds have already included such a decision in their rules, but the majority make no reference to the subject, and some, ith the past, have deliberately refused to acknowledge the Council in any such way. We hope that this fresh approach by the Council will lead to a general acceptance of the principle that the Council, which is an assembly elected by the associations, deserves the loyal support of those who appoint the members, and that the decisions, come to by the Council, incorporating as they do the considered opinion of the most representative body of the Exercise, should be accepted and recognised.

Whether we like it or not, the Council is growing more and more into a body which is expected to represent, and where necessary, carry out the wishes of the associations. There are still members who prefer the atmosphere of the Council to be that of a body of perfectly independent action, that is to say of an organisation setting itself up as an authority but responsible to nobody and living on the hope that its decisions will be acceptable to the Exercise. That may have been all right in the early days, before territorial associations themselves had found their feet, and before the Council really knew the part that it should play in co-ordinating the practice of ringing and matters appertaining to it. But times have changed, and the majority of the associations do not now pay affiliation fees and travelling expenses merely to give a favoured few of their number an interesting holiday in some distant city, fhere to settle to their personal satisfaction any questions that may be put before then. If that were so, reluctance to recognise the Council's rulings could well be understood; but in these days associations, for the most part, take a different view of the position. Where they have opinions on any subject which may be before the Council, they expect those opinions to be represented by those whom they elect, and it can only be by a recognition of this principle in the Council that loyalty to decisions of the Council can be expected from the associations. It seems to us that the two things must go hand in hand and when, later, the Standing Committee review the existing rules it must bear this (Continued on page 470.)

aspect in mind. Associations can only be expected to give their full allegiance, if the Council is composed of association representatives and rot, as in the view of some members at present, of members who, once appointed, represent themselves only. If this is made clear, there is not one of the constituent bodies who would, we imagine, decline to pledge their loyalty while alfiliated to the Council, for, as the point was aptly put, the associations themselves expect loyalty from their own members, and it is, therefore, not too much to expect them in turn to be loyal to their own central organisation.

Chelnsford ringers jad theip outing on Saturday, July 19th, when the partig, nambering lwenty, left Chelmsford at oight o'clock lor a tour in South-Esst Sufolk. About a mile from Colchester the main which will live. for ever in so many of joln Constable's piturees. About 9.45 the party reached Hadieigh, where it was proposed io have the first pall Here, 100 ther met the Tors Colpe bent were apparently making a similar itinerary. By the kindness Dean's wife, soma short touches of Stedman and Grandsire wer on this funeful peal of ciang解 moved on, pleased to have been able to inspeet the church and market, where touches of Grindsire, Stedman and Double Norwiph were rung on the fine peal. Pushing on through peaceful cosnatry lanes, catching a glimpse here and there of pretty littlo village churches mesting in the trees, Stonham Aspal was reached, wilh its Lower topped by a wooden aage, in which hang ten bells, the gife of a former riaging squire. The bells were soon going to Grandsire Caters in very tureful fashion. & welcome lunch at the Red Lion, Debeoham, hađ been arranged for by Mr. Rumsey, & local ringer, who met the party. After lunch, the church was viewed, but the bells could not be rung owing to the tower being cracked. A move was then made to Framsien, another village with eight bells. Fare Grandsire, Stedman and Cambridge Surprise Major were rung and onjoyed. The next charch visited was Helmingham, where touches of Bob Major, SuperIative and Grancisire convinced the company of the prettiness of its ring of eight. Here they took leave of 'Mr. Rumsey and pushed on to Henlef, where the Rev. W. C. Pearon, himself a ringer, met them. On this light peal of eight, some touches of Stedman and Fent Treble Bob were enjoyed. Then to Ipswich and tea. This was enjoyed about 6.30 p.m., and the party afterwards adjonrned to St. Mary-le-Towev for tonches of Stedman Cincues gnd Cambridge Royal-a fitting end to the riuging side of the day. Leaving Ipswich about 9 p.m., Chelmsford was reached aboul 11, everyone agreeing that the trip lad been a most delighint
one. one.

\section*{M.C.A. AND LICHFIELD DIOCESE.}

\section*{To the Editor.}

Dear Sir,-Re Mr. John Perry's letter in your issuc of May 23 vd lasi, and your report of the amual mecting of the Society for the Archdeaconty of Staftord,' held July 5 th, and 'the Midland Counfies Association of Clange Ringers for the Dioceses of Derby, Leicester, Lichifield and Southwell, I do not think Mr. Perry or any member' of his soticty meed apprehend any alteration of policy by the Ye. C.A., or a desime to extencl its area following on the addition to

When the M.C.A. Was formed, \(n\) part of one of the original rules eed as follows: ' Ringers not resident in the counties of Derby, Stafford, Noltingharn and Leicester', may become non-resident memhers, etc., under certain conditions, \({ }^{\text {a }}\), and this rule still exists, so that we are not elaiming any new territory, but we want it to be known by the clergy anrl others that we are, as we profess to be by the objects of our association sef forth for many year's in nur annual reports, a boty of clumehworkers. Hitherto I am ulraid this has been to a great extent lost sight of
Our uction has the support ancl sanction of all the four Bishops concerned, the Bishop of Lichlield writing on 1 uly 3 rd, 1929, as follows: "I can see no reason why you should not add to your title the words "for the Dioceses of Derloy, Leicester, Lichfield and Soubhwell." Such a titic does not imply that you are the only ringers' assaciation connected with the Liclilield Diocese.'
I am glad to know that there is q flourishing society in each of the three archdeaconries forming the Diocesse of Lichfield.
We have considerable overlapping by assomiations in all parts of the courtry, the nounties of Derby, Sitalford, Leicester and Nottingham being no exception, but \(I\) annnot see any harm being done so long as whe are all striving to make the best of our art and exercising it for its proper use and not merely as a sport or pastime. We are not poaching on others' preserves,' 'acting in direct opposition to what Chnrcli and our associations stand for, hat I do hope we are upholding the teachimg of the Clumeh to which some of us, at least, proud to belong.

I man sort'y Mrr. Pesy and the members of his soeiety lave taken datirage, but let me again assure them that no unfriendly feeling was, or is, intended, and that no extension of triritory is contemplated. - Yows faithfully,

piley and Hempatead ringers and friends held their annual out20 whly 12th. This year the venue was Surrey, and the beautisemery Surrey luas, with its hills and dales and woodlands, is rprige to those who wisit the counly for the first time. The hills somewhat trying at times for the nleans of transpori on the Geasion of this excursiou. The lirst call was made at Eglam at 9. an., the residents wondering what was the matter, their bells inging thus carly un Saturday. (It was later learned that the Tical gave some of his parishioncrg a splendid excuse!) After ring-hand heen in progross a shart ime, the Vicar himself came to ferct that the Vicar and his bells were left behind. Things now took on a livelier aspect, as previous to ringirg at Egham the morning been cold, and by the time Cobham was reached everything was slould be. The Vical of Cobliam being unable to meet the rs, the curate and one of the local ringers did sa, to the pleasure veryborly concerned. After ringing for nearly an hour, a move manie to Leatherhead, where one or two of the party had their first pall on ten. A right royal dinner was pariaken of at the Inute, and, much refreshed, Rammore Common wus sought-first of unfortunately, im the wrong direction. However, after a contimand climb of mile after mile, the church was cventually found, and the splentid peal of eight goon put to good usc. The stairs to the belfry, which are numerous and elecp, caused several comments, but an ample reward was found wher the bells werc going. Leaving Ranmore, another hunt among the hills followed, this time for Kingswoor. It was eventually found, a little late, with ringers patiently rwaiting the purty. The visit here had to be cut short io order to anch Ifsom in time for tea. Passing the renowned racecourse, one wo wimers were 'spotted' and notes made! and then on to Wiahtis Restaurant, where a capilal tea wats guickly disposed of, Wiali great difficulty the party was persiaded to leave, but eventually they reached Kinggton, where the back eight of the ten were soon in use. 'These 'men's bells' were utilised for about three parts of an hour, and then the majority endeavoured to get to East Molesey in tume for a ting. This place wns eventually reaclied after taking geveral wrong toads, but the arrima was sn late that the conch was again headed for Kingston, where all the doings of the day were talked over ats ringers know how. The ringers lake this opportunity of thanking the various incumbents and towerkeepers for the use of helig and laving things in readiness, and also wish to apologise to any crioketers who, owing to them, were bowled, several stumps liawing been seen fring during tho day, and some of the excursionists inqugg been seen flying during tho day and wodered if they wore the cause of if all!

\section*{NORTH NOTTS RINGERS VISIT EDWINSTOWE,}

On Satnrday, July 12th, a mast enjoyable day was spent at Eflwinstowe, when members frun Buhover, Bulwell, Chesterfield, Cuikney, Collingham, Gainsbotottith, Mansfielel, Misterton, Nothingham, Orcisall, Suuthwell, Suttan-on-Trent, Sulton-in-Ashlelal, Treeton, Worksip and the local ringere made good use of the bells.

An oxcellent tea was served in the farisb Room, but owing to the absence of the Rev. F. G. Daty Lewis, Vicar, Mr. H. Haigh was askud to preside over the business meting. He was stipporled by II. Revill add R. W. Stockdalc, hon, sectulaties.

Arising out of the minutes of the lust meting, the Chaimull let. marked that he still held the opinion that a mishake had been mane in the cup contest rules at the last meeting.
The Rev. H. H. Skimuer, of Misson, Rud Rev. A. Doxey, of Ordsall, were elected vice-presidents, and Mr. J. C. Eursi und Mr. J. Pierrepont, of East Marklam, were matle parformang members.

A long discussion took placn on the subject of the place and date oi the next meeting, but it was linally decifled to hold it at Misson on July 26th. If ihe secretary conkl hat arrange this, Tuxford was chosen as the altermative.
The secretary read a letter from the Central. Comneil of Chureh Bellringess with regard to adopting a rule under which nssociations agree to loyally abide by the rules aud decisions of the Council, but the matter was left over until the assaciation's representafive could find the time to be present.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. 3. O. Day Lewis, to the caterers, and to Mr. F. Martin for all they had done to make tha meeting such a glorious success.

\section*{STROUD RINGERS IN BERKSHIRE.}

On Saturday, June 28th, the Stroud Rranch of the Glotacester anl Bucks Assaciation lad a poost enjoynbile day's onting. Leaving Siroud at 8 a.m., and travelling through Cirencester and Fairford, th halt was made at Wantage, where touches of Grandsiro and Stedman Triples were rung on the Parish Church bells. The nexl stopping place was Brightwell, where there is a landy peal of six, which were set foing to Grandsiro and Stedman Donbles and Cambuidge Minor, and aflewards the inhabitanls enjoyed hoaring the handoclls on the village green. The party then proceded to Wallingotd, where they rang Grandsire Triples and Bob Major, and went on to Bensen, anotlier peal of eighla, and rang touches in the same methods. The next call was Dorchester, with its fine old abhey and bells datjog 1320-1328. Here Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung. The aext. stopping place was \(\Delta\) bingdon, with its nice paal of ten, which were lieard in firandsire Triples and Caters. Stroud was eventually reached about \(10 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). 'the incumbents, for their kindness in granting the use of bells, and all the friends who met the risitors at the rarlous towets, are cordially thanked.

THE COUNCIL'S RLTES AND DFCISIONS.
Mr. J. A. Trullope seconded Mtr. Law James' amendment, that the words 'and decisions' shouk be omilted from Mr. Cave's motion, urging that there was no single rule in ringing which a hand had noti a perfect right to break if there was any sufficient roason tor it. The rifes they liad got were not restrictive; they did not say: ' You must met do this,' or 'You must do that." They were the experience built up through three centuries of change ringing, ant the difficulty was that when they enne to put hese things down in words they did not Whays say what they meant. They could not look at the rules of ringing as hard and fast things, but as at sort of standard. Mr. Trollope went on to illustrate his point hy referring to various developments ia method rimging, quatiog as one example a rule which said that a method should have as many plain leads in the plain conrse as thare were working belly, a rule which was now breaking down in view of spliced jinging, which was producing a difierent plain course altogether. The Comeil's rules and dexisions were nothing more than what was, in the opinion of the best people of the Exercise, the highest thing ai the lime lo aim at.
Mr. Coles supported the amendmeni, and pointed out that despite resolutions of the Council many peals had been rung which did not aceard will the Council's decisions
irr. W. Wilkon asked for what purpose did the members of the Chunci] come heve year after year Was it to make dectaions and be laughed at? If the rules were not to be acecpted they had better serap the book they luad already got. If they wore to have rules, the associations should abide by them.

\section*{CONSJDERED JUDGREENT}

Mr. P. J. Jolnnson said their rules and decisions were the considered judgment of those who came there as delegates of the associations. It had been very defnitely ruled on many oceasions that they had no rirect atsthonity over the associations, and that they simply came where as an arivisory bodr, but if they, as a Council, had no more courage than to doubt whether they should recommend the associations to earry out their decisions that they eame there to make, what were they there for? (hear, hear). There were some opinions which they could never reconcile, but the decisions which they came do werc the considered judgment of that body, and tlat being so they lated a right to expect that they would be accepted by the associations which sent them (heaty, hear).
Mr. J. W. Joncs satd lie stupportan the resolution on the ground flat associations expeeted their memhers to abide by their reles and recisions, mad they ought to expect the associations to abide by the rules and decisions of the Coumcil on the same ground.
Ganon Elsee hoped that neither who resolution nor the amendment wonld be earricd. He thought the Council would be well advised to romain th it always had been, an arlvisory and not a legislative body. Ea helioved inat lise decisions of the Gouncil would carry mare weight wills the associations if they remaned as they were. Fie Heught it was importanlithat they should raspect the independence of uach assoantion, Bul that: Hicy should nol try to lay down laws Hiat the associations were bound to carry out without any consideration by thoso who sent their representatives. He poinhed out as a parallel the Lambeth Couference of Bishops from all parts of the world, which was shartly to be held in that same haileling. Its deeisions would carcy immense woight wilts the whole Anglican consmunion but he believed that all through there woald be mo lave laid rlown. Opiniong would be oxpressed and certain resolutions carried, but the judependonce of ench church sendigg its Bishops to that conrerence wound bo respected. Fe hoped the Central Council would follow the same course, the course which it had adopted from the berinning, namoly, that, while it considerod thinge carefuity and gave considered opinions which ought to carry great weight with the constituent associations, il would refrain from laying down rules ant anying that the ussociations must abide by them.

The Rev. E. S. Powell thought that some of the mearbers were labouring under s confusion of though, and that confusion lay in tho question of the word 'rules.' They lad had a speech from Mr. Trollope ubout the rules of ringing; whet the resolution dealt with was the rules of the Council. They were not concerned at all in that resolution with the deeper question of the rules of ringiog. Whs it not true that the rules of that Council were things which were binding only on the Douncil, and as such could int no case be enrried out by the associations? Thes were not concerned with points auch as thoso raised by Mr. Trollope. With regard to the qucstion as in whole, lie felf rathor anxious on the matter. He supposed they all sympathised witl the idea Etat it would be a gnlendid bing if they could loe linked more closely officislly as well as unwhicially with the nssociations, but there was a great danger in trying to draw the cords too inght. Ho believed that the Midiand Cunties Association and the Forkshire Assacistion had recently, in denling with Spliced Minor and Doubles peal ringing, gone further 1 han that Council had gone in laying down that which they would be prepared to accept as a peal. If they put into their rules that they agreed to abide by the decisions of the Council, did it not imply that they also promised that they would not go further than the Council went? He was deliglated to see the Midland Counties Association make this experiment, and he wuuld look forward with a great deal of interest and a certain amount of enfertainment to see bow it worked out in praclice. If the Comeil adopted this resolution, did it mot mean that those who had gone further than the Council would liave to draw back?

Mr. Law James' amendment, on being put, was defeated, and Mr. Cave"s resolution was carried by a large majority.
Mr. Fatkner asked what the Council would do if an assotiation declined to act on the suggestion?
The President: Nothing it is mercly a request. You camnol do anything if they refuse to ret upon it.
Mr. Cave then moved. Tinat
Mr. Cave then moved: "Thaf n committee be appointed to consider, and, if thought necessary, to revise the rules of the Council and report to the rext moating.

Mr. C. T. Coles said the Midiand Counties Association within the last two years had already ignored the decisions of tho Council on thirly accasions in ringing peals which did not accord with the decisions of the Council which made it obvious that the rules of the Council were hopelessly out of date.

Alderman Pritchett suggested that the motion be altered to read: "That the Standing Commitlee be requested to consider, ctc." He did not think they wanted a special committee, but the Standing Committee, if they desired to do so, could delegate the work to a aub-committee. That seemed to him the proper way to approach the matter if it required consideration at all, which he was wery doubtful about
The amendmeat was accepted and the motion carried.

\section*{LIVERPOOL TOR NEXT YEAR'S MEETING.}

The Council next considored where they should meet noxt year, the Secretary reporting that the Standing Gommittee recommended that, as the meeting was due to be leld in the Nortin, it should take place at Ripoa.

Mr. T. J. Johnson urged the clams of Leeds, which, thaugh not a cathedral city, revertheless had many attractions to offer to tha Gouncil, including six excellent rings of eight and the ring of twolve belis at the Parish Church. The hutel accommodation and the railway facijities were excellent, and in all respects Leeds was a far more convenient place than Ripon.
Mr. Murphy offered the Council a very cordial weicome to Durblin, they wauld go.
Mr. G. R. Newton invited the Coancil to go to Liverpool, whose claims he cloquently pleaded.
The Presidents said that, while they appreciated the offer of the invitation to Dublin, they looked upon that city as being in the west, and its camos would have to be considered when the turn of the which, from the point of view of the Council, would require a geod deal of organisation to get there.
Oily the other three places were put to the vole, Ripon and teeds receiving 23 each, and Liverpool 34, so thant the last-named city will be the meeting piace in 1931
The Rev. H. Drake
The Rev. H, Drake laad given notice of the following motions: "That a collection of lantern slides be formed by the Council to illustrate ringing in its various aspects,' and 'Alt notices of motion to be laid before the Council shall be sent in the mames of either of medividual members, or of affliated societies, and shall reach the secretary in timo for them to be published a week before Eastier as a preliminary agonda. Within a fortuglat after Easter other resolutions may be sent to himb, but in this crase only in the naman of the socioties.' Mr. Dirake asked that these molions might be teforred to the Standing Committee to be considered by them when consider ing the other natters referred to them. This course was agreed

\section*{AN OUT-OF-DATE 'STATEMENT.}

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, in accovdance with notice of motion, celled attention to the Council's statement on "Regular Methods tained in the Rules and Decisions of the Council. He pointed out that tha statement did not cover the ringiag of "Little' methods, aud was contrary to Mr . Trollope's suggestion with regard to the altered conditions as the result of spliced ringing. The statement nppared to be out of date, and he mover: "Plat the Methode Committee be requested to review the Council's statement on regulur methods contained in \(R\) ules and Decisions, and leport to the next meating of the Council what, if any, amendments they consider are necessary in view of present developments in method ringing."
Mr. G. Grover seconded, and the motion was carried without discussion.
I'lue President proposed a formal vote of thanks to the Archbishop of Gatterbury for his courlesy in allowing the Gouncil ta use Lawbeth Palace for its meeting. I'lis was at once agreed to.
Canoc Elsep suggested that m message of greeting shoulat bo sent to a respected member of the Council who was laid aside by ill-health-Ftev. C. D. P. Davies.
Hev. C. W. O. Jenkyn seconded the motion, which was cordially carricd.
The Presidenl said ho understood there were present that day at teast four niginal membera of the Councit, Fia, Canon Coleriege, Canon Baker, Canon Elsee and Mr. J. Griffin (applause).

\section*{SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.}

A MID-WEEK MEETING.
A meetigg of the Central Division was held at Scaford on Wedmesdify, July l6th, when the attendance, though not large numerically, was a representetive one.
The belfry was open at 2.30 , and various touches were brought round, the ringing continuing till 4.30 , when a 白arvice was held, at which an interesting address on bells and their uses in various counaries, East and West, was given by tha Vicar of Scaford (the Rev. E. H. Phillips, M.A.).

A collection was taken at the service for the benevolent fund, and amounted to the useful sam of 10 s . 5el.
'Tea, provided by the kindness of Mr. T. Fisher, the Vicar's clurchwardon, was followed by the usual busioess meeting the Vicar being in the chair, supparted by Mr. T. Fishor, Mr. J. T. Rickman, Master, and Mr. K. Fart, acting as secretary in the unavoidahle absence of BIr. A. D. Stone. The agenda wat short, consisting principally of the election and confirmation of clection of new members. New memburs elcoted were Messrs. Alfred Lavender, Eric Osborne and William Hurst, Seaford. The election of Messrs. L. A. Tidy and J. Knight, jun., Limpsfield, and F. H. Dexter, Leicester, was confirmed. When this had been disposed of, Mr. Rickman proposed a hearty vole of thanks to the Vicar of Scaford for the use of the bells and for his helpful address, coupling with this the names of the host, M1. Fisher, and the organist; and ackmawledgments by these gentlemes brought the meeting to a close.

An adjournment was then made to the tower, where ringing was kept up till shortly after eighty the methods brought round ranging From Plair Bob to Cambridge Surprise.
(Oontinued from previons column.)
Oanon Caleridge praposed a vote of thanks to the presideat, and expressed the gratitude of the mernbers for the admirable way in which he liad conducted the meeting. This having been carried, the fresidont briefly replied, and the business terminated.
Aftor the meeting, many of the members took the opportunity of inspecting the Pialace, and later on thera was a large gathering af ringers and friends at Anderton's Hotel the headquarters of the Conncil during the week-ead), where an enjoyable sacial took place, musica! items and handbell ringing helping to pass a very pleasant evening.
Major J. H. B. Hesse asks us to state that he was not in favour of the hon. members of the Council being compelied to pay an anmunl subscription, as reported, but of Alderman Pritchett's proposilion that hon. members should be invited to stibscribe.

\section*{ON SUFFOLK AND NORFOLK BORDERLAND.}

On Saturday, July 5th, the St. Clement's Church, Ipswich, bellringers had their aunual outing, which took the form of a ringing tour on the Sufolk and Norfolk borderland. The first stop was an Catton (six), where the ringers are exposed to all the weather. Tho bella are a good peal. Thenext stop was at Bacton (位e), where, aftor repairing the ropes and several attempts, a course of Plain Doubles was scored, the 'going' being very bad. Leaving here, in run was made to Thelnetharn (five), where tho chutch stands in excellent. surroundings. The Vicar met and welcomed the party. Blo Norton (six) was the next stop, and the bells wero soon made use of. A wun was then made through very pretty country to Fast Elarling. Here was found \(n\) good ring of six, with tenor 12 cwt., in good ringing order. Ringing over, \(\mathbf{E}\) visit was paid to the Buti Hotel for dinner. At Kennigghall (eight) du course of Oxford Troblo Bob Major and Bols Major were scored. & mile run through an avenue of trees orought the band to the round tower of Quigenliam (eight), where some Bob Major was brought rourd. The 'going' of both these peals leaves raom for improvement. Quidenham Church, like Thelnetham, stands in vary pretty surraundings, in ode corner of the park. After a group photograph bad been taken by the secretary (Mr. \(F\). Bowell), a rut over Banham Moor brought the party to New Buckenlam (sir). At Tibenham there is a fine peal of six, with fonor 20 owt. Unfortunalely, owing to the very bed 'go' of tho bells, only a fow rounds wore possible. It lad been erranged to riug at Eye, but having lost much tirae at Tibenham, it was decided ta miss Rye, and go on ta Shelfanger (five). Here was found a very ummusicnt ring hadly in need of a tuner, but in fair ringing order. The return journey was via Diss and Norwich main read, home being reached at 10.30 p pim. The trip covered a distance of 85 miles, and everyone agreed that this, tho sixth auting, had been the best. Tlie company wish to thank all the incumbents for permission and arranging for the towers to be open ready.

St. Clement's, Ipswich, bells will not he available for ringing for some considerable time, ns the tower has been found unsafe, end all ringing has heen suspended since Whit Sunday until further notice. An appeal will shortly be issued for funds for the restoration of the tower, so that the bells may be rung, and any contribntions toward this work from ringers interested will be gratefully accepted, the parish being a very large but poor one. f200 is required for the tower and 8700 for the church. Any donations will be acknowleulged by the Rector.

\section*{PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR} PUBLICATION IN :THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.
Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

The peal of eight at Christ Church, Epsom, has now been reliung on ball bearings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., of Croydun, who have also overbauled the ring of eight at Westerhara, Kent.
The ring of six at Stiandish, Glos, are to be refung in a new castiron two-tier frame with complete new fittings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd.
A faculty has been gratited to rehang the bells at Godalming, Surrey, and another for the orection of an oak screen to the belfy at Haslemere, where at present the tower is open to the full view of the church.
Liverpool and district xingers will be mileased to hear that ihe heavy ling of six at Fuytan Parish Church are now being rehung with modern fittings in a new framework, and it is hoped to have the work complated early next month. The work is being carsind out by Messus. J. Taylor and Co.

A well-worn silver Bath and Wells ringer's pendant has been foumd loose in the post at the Bristol G.P.O. The owner may have the same on application to the general secretary, J. T. Dyke, Cliileompron, Bath.
Gravesend Corporation, who made a generons grant of one humbish guineas towards the recasting of the bells of the Parish Church, lase now voted fity guineas fowards the regtoration of the bolls of Milion-next-Gravesent, where, in addition, two bells are to be adeled to complete the octave to commemorato Mr. F. M. Mitchell's 2 2 st year as leader of the tower.
Waterford Cathedral bells, on which the first peal in Ireland was rang, were opened on July 26th, 1872. The peal was rung by a hand of College Youths on the following day.

An incideat which probably had a considerable effect on ringing, " centurg ago occurred on July 23th, 1785. On that day William Ghipway arrived in London from Beth.
The knowiedge which Shipway acquired while in London enabled bim to write his celebrated text book on ringing, whiel, published in 1816, was the best until the days of Jaspor Snowdon.

\section*{HOLT'S ORIGINAL NON-CONDUCTED.}

At Tonbridge, on Weduesday weok, HoIf's 'Original' was rage non-conducted. The only ather oceasion on which it has been this rung by the Kent County Association was at Aylesford on April 30 th, 1892.

The ringers at Tonbridge ware G. Edwards (Penshurst), F. 1i. Sone (Staplehurst), W. C. Pilman (Canterbury), W. W. Richardson. E. B. Crowder and W. J. Jeffries (St. John's, Deptford), G. It. Daynes ( \(\mathrm{B}^{2}\). Nicholas', Deptford), amd A. Relfe (Lamberlitursl. Messrs. Sone and Richardson have also called this composition yound the cimele.
Such interesting performanees always lead to inquixies, and we are now asked how many times has the composition been rung nonconducted," and who hes called it from all the bells? Can any of our readers oblige?

\section*{TABLET UNYELLED A' DORE}

A very pleasant mecting of the Peak District of the Midfand Counties Association was held at Dore, noar Shefleld, on Saturday, aver thirty ringers and friends being present from Baslaw, Bakewell, Bolsover', Derby, Dore, Fairheld, Grimshy, Handsworth, Hathersage, Sheffeld Gathedral and Trecton. The beautiful toned ring of eight bells (tenor \(11 \frac{1}{4}\) cwt.) were raised about 3 p.m., and were made good use of till mearly 8 p.m., Cambridge, Double Norwieh, Treble Hob, Plain Bob, Stedman and Grandsire all being tried, while learners also had plenty of oppostuaties in rounds or six-beli wethods.

An interesting ceremony took place at 3.30 p.m., wher Mis. A. J. Grabt, of Dere Moor House, who was uccompenied by Mr. A. J. Granl, managing dimector of the greal steel firm of John Browa and Compary, Ital, anveiled a beautiful oak peal tablet, commemorat ing the centenary of the church. In the absence of the Vicar, Mr. H. E. Bagge, Vicar's warclea, introduced Mr. and Mrs. Grant, and in asking Mrs. Grant to unreil the tablet, in a few appropliate remarks referved lo the ancient custom of erecting peal tablets, some of which, tating back centuries, sre now of great interest both bocally and nationally. The idea at Dore was to make the belfry a plate of history and to record for the benclit and emulation of Lhose that come after, not only these ringing performances (which in themselves were notable in that tiney required tremendous effort aud wonceutration), but, what was of more importance, to emphasise that these peals were rung to the honown and glory of God, as acts of praise and devotion, and that the tablets recorded something more than ringing performances hishorie ovents in the life of "ilu Church aud country. Mr. Baggs emphasized, too, that all the

masatiful records in the belfry had been provided without any cost the elurch, and that the band uf lingers now at Dore, many of very poung, were the stryivors of fifty or sixty people who g the last few yelrs had tried their hands the the art of ringing, froan onc cause or another had faded away, most of them ns ns they found that it needed real grit and perseverance to bocumea ringer.

Mus. Graut, in responding to the request to unveil the tablet, refrmern to the great interest in and love for the belle which they hud nt Dore Moor, and to the many pleasing and complimentary repmatren which the many frequent fisitors there of ten made concerning illetn, and to the compliment which had been paid her in asking lier o underake the unveiling

E, Lewis Cockey, peopie's warden, who conduelad the peal, proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Grant, who hat spectally luft suother engagement to be present there. He referred to the appreciation of the church authorities at their kinduess, and especially to the fret that it was due to Mr . Gumb that several additions ami mprovements to the bells themselves han? recenlly been carried oul. He added that the esteem and affection in which Wrs. Grant was held by those who came in contact with her at Dore Cliurch was coly equalled by that in whieh \(\mathrm{Mr}^{4}\). Grant was held in the great steel firm with which thoy bath had the homour to bo associated.
N1. Grant, in a few worcls of response, mmathed that this was lus first visit to a belfry. He expressed his appreciation of the beauifiul bells and fitiogs to the belfry, and fissured those present of his nterose in their work.
'Eho tnblet itself is an exceptionally fine piece of work, earried ont by ilr. H. W. Westlake, church decorator, of slatitield, whose son took patt in the peal. It is of solid ouk, about 5ft. by 4ft. atad lin. thick, fitted with 'Staybright' fasteners into tha walls, which will never rust or corrode. It rccords that on All Souls' Dey, 1929, a peal of Bob Majot wats rang-perticulars of which rppeared in "Itkt Ringing World' at the time-as an act of praise amm luankseivinn for the lives of the faithful departed, and especially those who in the preceding 100 wears had given of their time and means for the baihd ing and embelfishment of the church. 'Ithe peal was rung gisu th mark the contenary of the chacel, consecmed on August 28nt, 1829 , by Fenry Rymer, Bishop of Lichiteld ant Coventry, and to consmemorate the assaciatian of the church lifo of the viltare with the dioceses of Lichlield and Coventry, Liehficld, Southwell and Derhy. The names of the Vicar, wardens, organist and steeplekeeper tollow.

The ringing chamber itself had been specially wedecotated for' the occasion, and presenter a pleasing spectacle, being decorated with bunches of roses and carnations, proticled by Wrs. Cockey and Mris rhorpe, who with Mr. H. W. Wealiake and other mombers of the Church Gunneil were also present.
A lea was provided in the schools, fryanged hy Mra. Cockey, and was followed by a short barsiness meeting presided over by inr. Il E. Bagge, Vicer's warder. The next meeting was fixed for Castistur, probably on August 16th, and two new life memhers, Messrs. L. Haywood and \(R\). Pryane, of Trecton, were elected. Mr. W. Waltue treasurer of the M.C.A., in proposing n vote of thanks to tho war dens, Mrs. Conkey and the other ladies, refermed to iho splendid condition of the belfry and bells, and to the matny improvenemas which he notied sinee his lash visit mearly twenty yenrs before Another old friend, who received a warm welconc, wis Mr. Arllat Craven, who in days past has readered much help io Dote, and who everyone was pleased to note was well enolrgh to lave a sbott totuch or two before ter.

ANNUAL MEETING AT BRISTOL.
'I'le annual general meeting of the Ladies' Guild was held at bristol, on Saturday, July 12th. The attendance was not as large as asual. Ringing took place at St, Stephen's Church and also at the Church of St. John-on-the-Wall. A short service was held at the latter church, conducted by the Rev. D. A. Jaquet, Ficar of SS. James and John, who gave a most helpful address from the text, Well done, thou good and faithiul servant." After the serviee, the Vicar pointed out to the visitors the chief points of interest in the church, which has recently heen reopened after restoration.
The Guild members were afterwards entertained to tea at Carwardine's Cafe by the Bristol United Guilds. Before the business meeting, Miss N. G. Williams proposed a hearty rote of thanks to the Vicar of St. John's for conducting the service, and also to the Vicar of St. Stephen's for the use of the bells, to which Mr. Trquet replied.
Mrs, Richardson, of Surficot, thanked the Bristol United Grides for their hospitality, Mr. Williams, the chairman, replying.
At the business meeting the chair was taken by Miss E. Smith, vice-president of the Western District, in the absence of Wiss Steel, the president, who was prevented by an accident from atteuding. 'the succounts were presented, showing an excess of income over expenditure for the year of 24 ' 2 s . 42 d .
I'lie Secretary (Mrs. G. W. Fletcher) presented the following reporl: : Although, perhnps, wo might have hoped for a year of greater activity and mereased membership, which would have rendored the writing of this report a much simpler fask, yet we do not feel that wo have been unsuccessful in furthering the objects of the Guild. That there is atill work to be done goes without seying, and the aplendid lending article which appeared in "The Ringing World " some months ago should spur us on to further efforts. There is not the slightest doubt thet some of the present districts are too large to be worked sabisfactoril \(\overline{3}\), and there are stili parts of the country where no work is being doue. If we cen in any way remedy matters during the coming year we shall do so, but everything depends on the co-operation of individual mombers. All the districts have held meetings regularly, and the majority hava been well attended. Here again diliculties arise owing to the frequency with which some associations buld meetinge, and care has to he Laken to avoid clashing. Many joint meatings have been held with county and diocesan associations, and these bave proved a great success. There is undoubtedy a much higher standard of ringing among merabers, which is evidenced by the frequency with which their names appear in the peal columans of Thbe Riugirg World" in a great variety of methods. Two penls liave bcen rung for the Guild-onc of Bob Major at Buckiebury, and one uf Minor in Whrse methods at Gamston. The latter peal deserves special mention, as the conductor, Mrs. R. Riclardson, had only previsusly called one peal. We congrabulate the baods most heartily. The Western District has sustained a gevare loss through the death of Mrs. Willium Thomas, one of the Guild's most loyal members, and she will be very much missed. In conclusion, we extend to ali dislyict secretarieg our best thanks for their work, and again urge memhers to support them to the best of their ability.?
Miss Stect was re-elected president, and Mrs. G. W. Fletcher hon. gearehary und treasuret. Heicester was chosen as the place for the next arnual meeting.
Ringing look place after the meeting at St. Philip's Ghureh, the nethouls ranging from Grandsire Triplos to London Surprise.

\section*{SOUTHERN D1STRICE OFFIGERS RE-ELECTED}
'Ilie Southorn District of the Ladies' Guild held thetr annual meoting at Egham on July 5 th in conjunction with the Guildford Diocesan Guild's summer festival. After tea, with MIrs. \%. W. Fletcher in the chair, the basiness was got though quictly. Mrs. Walker, of Woking, wife of Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O., was elected an lonnerary member, and the officers were all re-elected, 4jz.: Miss Bruee (Worplostlon), vice-president; Miss Mills (Faraham) secretary; and Mrs. Hazelden (Guildford), Mrs. Whittington (Cranleigh), Mrs. Melville (Guidford) and Miss Fisher (Adershot), commitlee.

number of them are up to tho peal stage. A notuble fact is that anch momber of the band is a regular communicent, and that it is yory unasual for any of the band not to take part in the services fur whicly they ring.
One: might, perhaps, conclude by quoting the text used by. Bishop Ryder at the consecration of the church on August 22 nd, 1829 , as an expression of hope from now onwards, quite as much applicablo to the belfry as to the church itself: 'The glory of this latter house shall be greater than of the former, saith the Lord of Fosts, and in his place will I give peace, saith tie Lord of Hosis.' \section*{DOUBLE LITTLE BOB.}

\section*{To the Editar.}

Dear Sir,-In reply to the communication by Mr. E. Barnett in your last week's issue, I must frrt rectify one tittle mistake made by him. The credit of conducting the peal must go to Mr. F. Watkinsor, of Handsworth, to whom I supplied the method and composition, I should now like to explain how I came to name it Doublo Little Bob. I have always understood Little Bob to be Bob Minimus with Major lead-ends, and in the figures given below I would like to try and show that the method rung is the same as Double Bob Minimus. To work the Major method into the Minmus, one pair of bells at least must cross over in each lead. In this case, the Frd and Eth do this in the first leed, this constituting one set of 4th's place.

DOUBLE BOB MINLMUS. DUUBLE LITILE BOB MLAJOR.

As Plain Bob has been rung for ages, I did not consider any place uame was required. I therefore seat it to Mr. Watkinson as D.L.B. I hope Mr. Barnct will accept my explanation in the samo spirit as it is given, as I can assure lim it is given with the kiodest intention. I may add that ant block of 24 courses can be substituted for the first 24 In the peal (alter calling the bob before), thus giving a good variation of peals for conductors. With these remarks, 1 now leave it to the Excreise to judge whether it is Dotble Little Boh or Eritli, at the same time admiting that the band at Crayford bave the claim to the first peal ruag. - Yourd luly,

GEO. LEWYS
[Mr, Barnett has also written apologising for the slip in giving Mr Lewis' nume as the conductor instead of Mr. Watkinson's.-Ed. 'R.W.']

\section*{BARNSLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.}

The meeting and annual contest of the Barnsleg and District Association was held at South Kirkby on Saturday, July 12th. The derw resulted as follows: 1 Sandal, 2 Wath (A), 3 Darifeld, 4 Shelley, 5 Wath (B), 6 Felkirk. Owing to Sandal company not all being present at the appointed time, they had to take their burn last. Tea was served in the Church Institute at 5 p.m., about 60 being present.
Felkirk were mable to rajse a band, and only fire teams were loft to conpete. The contest finished about 7 p.m.
IIfe business meeting followed, and was presided over by the Rev. C. W. Handford (curate), in the absence of the Vicar. The judge (Mr. J, R. Brearley, of Bolstergtone) presented his report as followa:Wath (A), 111 faults; volal, 111
Darfield, 186 faults, 5 ponalties; total, 171.
Shellcy, 67 faults, 5 penaltics; total, 72.
Wath (B), rang out.
Sandal, 93 fatits; totial, 93
Shelley were therefore declared winners of the shield and six B.M. Leapots. Sandal, being second, received six sets of earverg. Wortley was selected far next place of meeting.
Mr. C, D. Potter moved a hearty vote of thanks to the clergy: the judge, those providing toa, aud the local company for the dulies so successfully performed.-Mr. W. Idle seconded.
Mr. W. Reyner, in supporting the motion, suggested that a day be set apart some time next year for a great riagers' rally, all llis essociations in Yorksinire to he asked to joill int.
'Ihe Rev. C. W. Handford, in reply, said how plessed he was to welcome the tingers and friends to Soutl Kirkby. He hoped to join in ringing, but being nis cight-bell ringer be would requive a litile more practice on six to make himself competent.
A few of the ringers afterwards adjourned to the belfry and kept the bells going until 9 p.m., which brought to a close an event marked throughoul by good spirit and an excollent soolal feeling.

\section*{BEQUEST FOR CURFEW}

A bequest lias been made to the parish of Sturminster Newton for the ringing af the chrtew. The testator, Mr. Fradevich Giles Symonds, a retired bank manager, who died on May 10 th, at the age of 83 , left estate of the gross value of \(\mathbf{2 1 4 , 7 0 7}\). By his will he left 8100 upon trust to pay the income to the Vicar and churchwardena of Sturniuster Newton towards keeping alive the sncient custom of ringing the curfew bell from Michaelmas Day io Lady Day, any gur plus to be paid to the Vicar for the sick and needy fund. He also lefl \(£ 200\) to the Vicar and churchwardens, the income to be paid an nually to the poov of the parish over the age of 65 years.

\section*{BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.}

\section*{SUCCESS ON A SHILLING SUBSCRIPTION.}

According to the report of the Master of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association for the year ended on May 3 lst last, the associntion had at that date 153 afiliated towers and 1,664 members-a decrease of three towers and an increase of 11 members.
The 48 peals rung was an morease of 12 on the previous year. The increase, adds the Master, is owing to the large number of peals of Grandsire Doubles. While Grandsire is a useful method, it should be remembered that Minor methods could be rung on six bells, and no good purpose was served by the samo band piling up peals of Doubles. The time could be better spent in the practice of Minor methods.
The year 1929 was successful financially, the income exceeding cxpenditure by \(£ 20\) Is. At the begnning of the year 230 was placed on deposit. They had now on deposit a sum equal to an average year's income, which put the association in a safo position, and a yoarly surplus was assured.
The committee had carefully considered the financial position of he association, and was determined to make a recommendation to the association as to the manfer in which the annual surplus should e used. If its recommondation was carried, now-affiliated towers would have a further inducement to join the association. It must not be thought, however, that the association was overburdened with richeg. It was one of the few associations which continued to work on a subscription of one skilling per member, and gave its reports free. It was only by the careful and economical working of the irranches by the local secretaries that the present satisfactory financial state of the association had been achicvecl.

\section*{DEATH OF THE REV. A. C. R. EREEBORN}

EIS SERVICES TO THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GULDD.
It was only lowards the close of the day that it became known to flose atbending the festival of the Oxford Guild at Oxford that Mr. 1 reeborn had passed away. For 39 years lie was Vicar of Kidlinglen, where he was successful in restoring his tower and bells, aod in gathering round him a failufit band of ringers, chief amone whom mene remembers such names as Harry Judge, Wiliam Bennett anci rederick Webb. All these have now passed to their rest.
Though not a ringer himself, Mr. Freeborn was always ready to elcome ringers and to encourage poal ringing, and among many pands rung at Kidtington in his time was the 17,000 of Double Norich, in which \(H\). Judge and W. Benmett toak part. When the Fitney and Woodstock Deaneries Branch of the Guild was started, enaly in this century, he was goad enough to accept the office of fhamman, and right well did le carry out his duties, until a few ears ago, when failing heatur compelled lime to resign both his fice and the living of Kidlington.
As a mark of honour and appreciation 10 was elected a vice-presint of the Guild, and as such he maintained lis interest in ringers mit ringing matters,
The figure so faniliay at Guild meetings was that of an old athte, and, indeed, in his younger days My. Freeborn was a runner of reat distinction. A strong and Kindly mat, and a devoted priest of he Church of God, may he rest in peace.

\section*{MALDON RINGERS' OUTING.}

On Saturday, June 2lst, members, with their wives and friends, hit Maldon by motor coach for a day's tour. The frst stop was at Sratford St. Mary for breakfast. The next halt was at Debenham, where, owing to the state of the tower, the bells are unringable. ye was the next place visited, with its grand peal of eight bells, hich were soon swinging to the bunc of Grandsire Triples and other ethods. After a brief inspection of this beautiful church, and a hat with the Vicar (the Rev. I. R. Yincerti), the coach was again arded, Norwich being reached at one o'clock. Here they were met Major E. Felce, of the Norwici Publicity Association, who took arge of the party Ringing was enjoyed at St. Peter Mancroft hanch for half an hour. Although the tenor weighs zhout two tons, le bells go lemarkably woll. Wymondham was reached at zbout 45 p.m. The massive westera tower in this abbey church contains grand peal of eight bells, which were used well in several methods. laldon was reached at midnight, after an enjoyable days outing. Thanks are due to Major Felce, whose services were of so much value Norvich, and to those who met the ringers at the towers of Eye, Sil, Peter Mancroft, and Wymondham.

\section*{WEDDING BELLS}

On Saturday, July 12th, at the Parish Church of St. Mary, Sandbinch, the wedding of Mr. H. Parker to Miss M. Devenport was shlemnised, and to mark the event elght riggers met at the church the afternoon to attempt a peal of Bob Major, which unfortumately came to grief after 2 hrs. 50 mins., nine leads from home, lhough the rope on the 5 th bell breaking. The ringers were: A. V. Rees 1, A. Booth 2, T. تurd 3, D. Smith 4, J. Tipper 5, W. Stevonson 6, W. Bennelt (conductor) 7, J. Worti 8. After the attempt the ringers sat down to an oxcellont repast, which was provided by the happy couple. Mr. Parker is the sectetary of the Nortliwich Branch of the Ghester Diocesan Guild.

\section*{GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD}

The Chertsey District of tho Guitdford Diocestn Guild held a ustful meeting at Weybridge on Saturday. Thes is obe of the few towers that has not yet been affilated to the Guild, but it is hoper that, as a result of the visit, the band may be reinforced and the tower brouglit into the Guild. The Viear (the Rev. E. I. Tritlun) gave the Guild a warm welcome, conducted service, gave a bomely but inspiring address, and aftorwards entertained the riagery to sumptuous tar in the Ficarage.

Adminal T. P. Walker presided over a lurief business menting, ai which the Vicar was lhanked for his kindness und hospilaliiy, and thanks were also extended to the organist und to the ladies who waited upan the ringers ut tea.
The question of the affiliation of the tower was discussen with the local representatives, and Mr. Maylor, the captain of the band, was clected a meraber of the Guila. Assistance in instuction in change: ringing was offered to the tower, and it is hoped that in the autumm the band will be recruited to full strength and regular practices established.

Mr. R. L. Newman, of Gt . Albans, was elecled as a non-residenl. fife member, and a vote of condolence anus sympathy with the relatives of the late Mr. C. Sleet, for 20 years a cinger of Oticrishaw, was passed by the members standing in silence.
The next meeting of the district will be ineld at Otterslaw enrly in October.

The ringing during the aftarnonn and evening wor fimited to Grandsire Dowbles and Triplos and Bob Minor and Major, but some very useful practice was put in, and "firsts' of Triples and Major were scored by some of the visitors.

\section*{KENT COUNTY ASSOCEATION.}

The summer meeting of the Tonbridge Dişbriet was Lold at Fever on Saturday, July 12 th , and was very well attended. In the absonce of the Rector, who was on holidey, the servico was conducted by Rev. H. C. Edwards, Vicar of Edonbridge, while Mr. Baker, organisi of Penshurgt Church, presided at the organ. Two cinurchwardens of Hever werc present, and also Ganon Cropper, Rector of Penshurst. After service, a move was made to Fevel Castle, permission to view this and the beautiful grounds haning been kindly granted by Major and Lady Violet Astor on the application of Mr. G. Edwards, of Penshurse. This privilge was much apprecimed by the mombers and their fricnds, who were much interested in all they saw.
Tea was purtaken of at the Henry the lighth Hotel, aud was followed by the husiness meeting, Rav. H. C. Jedwards presidiug.

Votes of thanks were passed to Rov. I. C. Ndwards, who had given up a cricket match to conduct the service, to the two churchawardens and Gamen Cropper for their attentance, to Mr. Baker lol his services at the organ, and to Mr. G. Diwarda fon his splendid arrangements for the meetimg.

\section*{A COMMEMORATIVE PEAL.}

The peal of Kent Treble Bob at Over, Cheshice, on Saturduy, was rung on the seventh anniversary of tho 17,280 of the same method, on the same bells and by the same band, standing in the game places. This is the first occasion that the band has been able to visit Over tower since ringing the long peal. It is also tha first peal in which Mr. R. Sperring has taken part since October, 1929, and the band Were pleased to note his wouderful recovery after his long and tryiny illness.
'Jhanks are dae to Mr. Sadler, of Over', who kindly mat the band and latd everything in readiness fol the peal; to Mr. FI. Lewis, of Ghestel, who very obligingly acted as ninth man, and to Mrs. Atherton, of Oyer, who entereained the bana to tea at the conclusion of the peal. It was agred by att that it was one of the most pleasanh. Solurd aty afternoons shent for some ling.

\section*{THE MINOR METHODS COLLECTION.} A COMPARISOA WTHE MUSIC.

\section*{To the Elitor}

Sir,-I have been wondming for a long time now as to when the enlsiged collection of Minor Methods would make its appearance, nnd I ans glacl la notice that at long last it has beon decided to have it printed. But I also observe that there is a division among the membere of the Contral Council as to the charge that should be made on each copy. Threc slidlings lass been suggested, and, personally, I alon't think that this is too much. Taking into consideration the number of methods involved, they would work out at legs than one-cightla of a penny each. Surely this is reasonable. On the avermge it takes aboul twenty-laree minutes to ring the full extent of one mictiod. If you were butying a copy of mussic for the piano which cecupicd the same amount of time to flay, the cost of this would far exceed the cost of the whole collection of Minor Melhods, and I for one wond certainly get as much pleasure in ringing that one method as the pinnist would acquire from his piece of music. This leads me to belicve that we ringers get our pleasures very cheaply, for what is linect than to luse a ring on good-going bells, with tive other hindred spirits swinging along at a nierry pnce which seta your blood tingling and makes life worth living? Bellieve me, if the pianist liad acces; to his music as clheaply as the ringer has fo his methods, he would go into raptures. By the practice of a little self-denial, cven the poorest ringer could procure his copy, which 1 can nesure him would be well worth while. How a ringer stin quibble at pariog 3 , for sucli a weallis of information as this book will contain is beyond the comprehension of yours sincerely,

\section*{HILLINGDON RINGERS IN SUSSEX.}

The thanal outing of the ringors of St. Johu-the-Baptist Church, Hillingdon, Middlosex, took place on July 5th. The day dawned with in cloudless sky, and spleudid weather continued all day. Leaving the clurch, the ringers, who, with friends, numbered twenty personts, sped along in the frosh morning air, seated in a very comfortable motor corch. Hanworth rerodrome was passed, annt the great array of guchincs about to start for the King's Cup air race proved of vast inlerest. Kingston, yisher, lovely Oxshott wonds, Thenthorhead and Dorking were quickly left behind. Shortly after mine, the parly arrivet at Warnam, so enrly that even the local ringers had mot reached the towrer. However, on the arrival of Messrs. Branch and Clarman, the hells were raised and toteches of Giranisime, Oxfort Johb, and Stedman Trigles. Plain Bah and Double Norwich Major whs rung. Peal borrds in the tower wete of speeial interest to the visitors, as the lale Harry Chandler, a native of Warnhata, who afterwards lived and died ai Hillinger, look part in and combucted many of the peals in question.
Pulborough was the next stop. Here Mr. P. F. Doick was waiting for the party. The church is situated on an eminence, and some very fine views were obtained from the top of the tower. However, the ringers of the party were somn at the ends of the ropes, and touches of Grandisire, Stedman Triples and Kent Major were reng. A confluetor musit have a good voice to be heard here; in fact, it wouki be good iden to hive " sergeant-major to call the bobs!
Bury Hill slood betwern the party and the objective of the day, flagnor. However, the trusty motor went up like a bixa (?), and tha seaside was reached shortly after mid-day. Lameh was partaken of immediately, and the excursionists then seyarated to spend the time ns they close. Talling, speed haating and icc-creatn consuming were among some nif the mnans resorted to to pask away the aftermonan. Boghor was left direetly tea was disposed of. Clichester, with its Cathelrul and campanile, Midhurst ank its lovely park, and Fetworth were passind, and Chidilingfold was renchecl according to programme. Fere the bells were ready, and warious Triple methode, iugether with Double Norwich Major were rung without delay. The teraperature of the belfry rose with the intricacy of the methods (whs it a coincidence?), and many parched throats had to be appeased before departure time. The Rector of Chiddingfold greeted the visitors, and the Vicar of Hillingdon, who accompanied his ringers, expressed the thanks of the party for the very warm welcome thial had beea extenderl.
The final journey was accomplished safely, the way leing chrough Godalming, Guidford and Staines. Much amusement was ennsed by the loud ery of \({ }^{\text {t }}\) Fish' from the buiding anglers whencyer water was sighted. Fillingdon was reacher at 10 p.m., and thus the day, crammed full of changing views and incidents, became but a memory.
The leat thanks of the visitors is accorded to Messrs. Branch, Doick and Luff, of Wharmam. Fulborough and Chiddingfold respectively, for having their bells ready, aam to the incumbents of those places for granting permission to ring.
ASHTEAD, SLIRREY.-On Thursday, Tume 18th, for practice, 1,280 Superlalive Surprise Major: [7, W. Newhery, J. H. B. Hesse, Miss Irese I. Hestie. (G. Marmer, J. Foyle, A. Smitl, G. Cook, A. Harman (colduntor)

SOU'H-WESTERN DIVISION AT PRTITLFWELL.
Probably owing to the distance, the fine afternoon and various counter-attractions, the meeting of the South-Western Division on Salurday at Prittlewell was not quite so well attended as usial. Nevertheless, twenty-two members and friends were present and made good use of this handy peal of ten during the afternoon and evening. After the service, conducted by the Vicar, Ganon EllisGowing, who gave up some of his valuable time to be prosent, tios husiness meeting was held, at which two new members were elected and Fornchurch selocted as the place for the next meeting.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the Vicar for allowing the use of the bells and conducting the service, to the organist for accompanying, to Mr. Blake and the fadies for providing the tea, and to the members of the local band for baving everything in readianss. This was eatried with acelamation, after which another visit was made to the tower, and the bells kept going until 8.30 p.m.
Members were present from Barking, Romford, Harlow Common Leytonstone, Orsett, Beniley, West Tilbury, Broomfield, with members of the local hand, end touclaes of Stedman and Grandsice Caters, Hob Rogal, Cambridge and London Surprise Major, Stedmau and Grandsire Triples were rung.
It is hoped to arrange the next meeting for September \(27 \mathrm{tl} \mathrm{l}_{\mathrm{j}}\) will ather district sccretaries kiudly note?

\section*{PRESENTATIONS AT ARDLEIGH}

The meeting of the North-Esstern Division at Ardleigh on Saturday week was in the nature of a birthiny gatherimg for Mr. Neulls, who invited the members to tea, a party of fortywseven sitting down after the customary service in church.
After tea, Mr. C. H. Howand (Master of the association), latif of the members, prosented the Viear and Mir. Neuth each with a set of pipes and a tin of tobaceo as a small token of appreciation of their generosity shown at the anmul gathering at Ardicigh the last ten years. Mr. W. J. Nevard (District Master) also vo the thanke of the members, whose gifts were greatly appreciated by the reeipients.
Much ringing was done on the bells during the afternon nuk vening.

\section*{SURPLUS FUNDS.}

Many association officials must have rubbed their eyes in astonistment when they read last week that the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association have made success upon a membership subscription of one shiling each, and wondered how it is done. It says a good, deal for the management of the Bath and Wells Association that they have not only paid their way, but have accumulated sufficient funds to be able to contemplate offering further inducements to unaffilated bands to join. The position of the association is such that an annual surplus is assured and the committee's chief concen at present is how these available funds can best be spent in the interests of ringing.

It is refreshing to find an association ready to spend its surplus in this way. Some organisations go on accumulating a balance and look upon the piling up of a big reserve as good policy. Others, of course, are not in this happy position, but while we agree that it is sound finance not to spend to the last halfpenny, ringing associations are not exactly on the same footing as business concerns, which have to be prepared for trade tluctuathons, to meet risks and to shoulder responsibilities. Ringers support their associations with their subseriptions in order that the art and the objects for which the organisations exist may be furthered, and it cannot be said that the hoarding of funds, for the sake of hoarding. helps this in any way. A balance sulficient to cover a year's liabilities ought to be enough to secure the Fonanial stability of any ringing association, and anything beyond that would be well spent in promoting the art.
We are quite sure that much more might be cone than is aiready done by many associations by way of instruction, not merely in the rudiments of ringing, but in helping those who already have some knowledge of it to acquire still more. There might, too, be more encouragement given to young ringers to attend meetings. Many of them can ill aftord to travel a distance and meet the other incidental expenses of a meeting and funds might often be usefully employed in this direction. Some associations already pay part railway fares, and this has proved a considerable inducement to ringers of limited means to support meetings which they would not otherwise attend. The encouragement of restoration work by grants to bell funds is another direction in which some associations might do more.

In these and other ways, surplus funds could be well ' invested,' and the results would probably be more beneficial than even the reduction of the amount of the annual (Continued on page 486.)

subscription．The funds of ringing associations are meant to be used，yet there are societies that are con－ tent to add year by year 10 their funds but show no initiative in using them to further the interests either of ringing or ringers beyond the limits necessary to keep the organisation together．Money judiciously spent is always a good investment，and ringing associations，libe other bodies，would find their return in increased progress．

\section*{HOLT'S ORIGINAL NON-CONDUCTED}

\section*{AN1) MEN WHO HAVE CALEED IT 'ROUND THE CIRCLE,}

The perfurmatee at flonhridge, where Holts Original was rung nou-conducted, as resorded in ous last issue, with the inquiry as to huw many linnes the compositinn lias been rung in this way, and humy many rimgera have called it from every bell, has brought a number of ruplies.

Imong the most induesting are the recollections of Mr. Challis F. Wimuey, who writes: Falt's Original was rung non-conducted for 1 hur frat time on October 23ru, 1884, at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, and if hant" for the first time on Mareh 11th, 1887 . About 25 years ugo it was rung by the Waterloo young school, with Messrs. Wilde, Davis, Barton and Co. C. F. Winney has called it all round on tower bells ant from each peen pair in theush. A racy story is told of a parson who fir one such peat on tower bells missed the sallie and has struck his most correct blow. On anather oceasion Mr. Tammer, sulf, who hat lost one ar two fingers from one hand, missed the andie just before the sicond single, and the bell sel up. The peal wis put on a fortnight later, and was ealled by Mr. James Pettit fitun the tenot; and lie tives completed the circle.' But he was not the lirst to do so. The weck before, Mr. Charles Hounslow, of Oxfard farme, finisied the calling of the peal from every bell, and thus was the first person to do so. That was over fifty years ago. Our friend James Wushbrook clid it, and, of course, the indefatigable Alfred Pulling has flone it, Where may be others.

Mr. Alfred Rowles, of Brierley Hill, writes: Congratulations to the band who rang it at Tonbridge, Kend, on July 16eh. It would be interesting to know if, besides boing non-conducted, the peal was rung strictly silgnt, and no sign or motion made by any person in order to koep the ringing going aud so secure the peal.
[ liad the ploasite of mating one of a hand who rang this compusition under these conditions, al Christ Church, West Bromwich, on November 20th \({ }_{1}\) 1909. The band stood as follows: J. Timms \(1_{2}\), Rev. C. C. Cox 2, S. Reaves 3, Rev. P. V. Cox 4, R. Pickering 5, A. Rowley 6, 1 . H. Reeves 7, J. C. Adams 8. Messrs. T. Miller and W. H. Godden, two well-known Birmingham ringers, acted as witnesses in the ringing chamber. The former, who has this particular methoi at his finger endis, checkod the ringigg from the figures of hot peal, while the lafter kept his eyes apen to see that there was Ho sign or motion made by any member of the band.
In answer to the question, who has called this composition from all the bells, the ringer of the Jrot nbove din so, and I think I am corredt in sayiag that each time lie eatled it it was on a differont peai of holls. I have also donc the same, but my peals were called at the churel to which I was attached as a ringer, viz., St. Martin's Parish Churah, Tipton, popialarly known as "The Black Country Pepperbox.' In conclusion, I mav add I have also called a peal of Bob Major and Kent Major from each bell at "The Pepperbox, cach peal a diferent eomposition.
Mr. If. I. Tucker, now of Chiehester, has called the peal three limes 'round the eircle, calling it from the tenor at Holy Trinity, Newington, London, on April 4th, 1885, for the Ancient Society of Cullege Youtls ; at St. Andrew's, Hertford, on July 4th, 1885, for the Fertfordshire Associntion; and at St. Michael's, Bishop's Stortford, an Decomber 26th, 1900, for the Essex Association. In all, he has walled the peal thinty-three times.
Mr. G. E. Symomds, of Ipswich, took part in the peat non-conducted on Junc 4th, 1898, at SE. John's, Waterloo Road, S.E. He lias called Hilis composition three times from anch working hell, twice from the rreble and once from the tenor.

\section*{BECCLES RINGERS' ANNUAL OUTING}

On Saturday, July 19th, the Beecles company of ringerg held their atmual outing, accompanied by a few friends from neighbouring towers. The weather at the starl was not very pleasant, but the 50 -mile run to Lavenham took the party quito out of the rainy area. At Lavenham, the party were met by Mr. F. Symonds and his son, and some short touches were rung on the fine peal of eight. Sudbury was the next piace, and arter lunch the visitors were met by Mi. A. Scotil, who taok them to St. Peter's and to St. Gregory's Churches for more ringimg. Unfortunately the grand penl at All Saints' Church conled not be rung owing to the recent fall of a beam in the tower, but it is hoped that the bells will soon be reatored to good going order. Then came tea, and after this a short run to Long Melford, where the local company met them, and the bells wero kept going until it was time to start on the long journey bome, which was meached about midnight, and everyone agread that this was ane of the hest outings yet bold. The methods rung during the day were Grandsire, Pain. Sledman, Troble Bob and Double Norwich, and a course of Cambridge Major at Sudbury with the help of some of the local band. The best thonls of the company are tendored to Mr. A. Symonds, of Lavenham, Mr. A. Scotl; of Sud bury, and Mr. Ambiose, of Long Molford, for their kind assistanco in waking tho arrangements, which made this day such a success, and to the incumbents of the churches visited for the use of the bells.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION A quarterly mecting of the Elandaff and Mommoull Diomesar Association was held at Lantwit Major on Saturday hast, ami proved a mosh successful aud pleasani one. The Vicar, Rev. Canon David beartily welcomed the members on arrival. The bells, a ring of sis, by Mears and Stainbank, were raised carly in the atternoon and rung in various methods. Serviee was beld th the line ald Parish Churel, the Canor officiating, and his address being much enjoyed.
Tea, which liad been vory gencrously provided by the Vicar and churchwardens, was followed by the business meeting, Canon Dawid kindly taking the claair.
Before reading the minutes of the previous moeting, the Hon. Secretary asked all present to stand as a last mark of respect to the the day following the lust meeting at which MIr. Martin attended.
Instructors reports and farious natters were discussed, ineluding the election of the whole of the whole of the Llanavth ringers, who wished to jain the association. Instruction is being given at that tower by Mr. Clift, of Usk. The whole of the Llantwit ringers also rejoisted.
The eircular letter vecoived from the lon. secretny of the Cential Council was read in regard to the proposal of inoluding in the rules of the association that it be affiliated to the Central Councia aud loyally abide by the Council's rules and decisions. The general feeling was in favour of such a rule, but the find decision will be fade at the next annual meeting to be held on December 26 fh.
The next meeting will be lield at Caerleon, with Tretetlin as an altemative.
The best thanks were given Canon David for his great interest in he bells, his ringers and his exceptianal kindness mud hospilalii
The bells were afterwards rung during ithe evening.

\section*{SURREY ASSOCIATION AND GUILDFORD GUILD MEET}

A most successful aud enjoyable joint meeting of the Guiliford Docesnn Guik (Leatherhead District) anत Survey Association (North-Westerin District) was held at Rammore Common on Saturday. Althourh the weather was very unsettled, at goorl muster, mumbering well over forty ringers, attended at this delightful spot and enjayed ringing on the grand peal of eight bolls, which going soon after threo o'clock to call changes and Graudsire I'riples for the beginners and progressen, as more ringers arrived, to Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise Major, the sttiking being all that could be desired. The Rector (Rev. G. F. Heslop) conducter ghori service, Mr. F. E. Darby kindly filling it gap at the last moment by playing the angan. 'lea followed, fresiflect ower by the Rector, and was thoroughy enjoyed by all, fhotgh it whe noticed that those on the open-air table cast anxious glances al the sky between mouthfuls of bread and butter and cake.
A very hearty vote of thanks was necordeti ho the Rector for the use of the bells nod conducting the service, also lo M1. Darby for playing the organ.-The Rector stitably replica, and ringing was then continued until nine o'clock and brouglit to a elose another very enjoyable joint meeting between these two associations.

\section*{THE FIRST PEAL AT TIDESWELL.}
'i'he first peal has now been rung on the tine peal of bells recentiy restored at the glorious Church of St. John-the-Baptist, ridoswell, Derbyshire, well named the Cathedral of the Peal;, a photo und deseription of which appeared in "The Ringing Warld some lithle time since. It was a source of great pleasure and satisfaction to the genial and enthusinstic Vicar (the Rev. R. Fletcher Edwavds) and the locals generally that one of their number, Mr. Giles Ghapman, who has had very little experience of aight-hell ringing, was able to rimg the treble through the peal. The peal followed a largely attented Fedding, and was listoned to with interest by scores of visitors to this historic spot. At its conclusion, the Vicar and several of the Jocals ascended to the ringing chamber to tender their congratulations, \(S_{r}\) and on reaching the church again the band gigned their games in the visitors' book with a note to the effect that they had just roanpleted the first peal on the bella. An interesting signature on the same page was that of Mr. Geo. Bernard Shaw, who had, howerer, signed hefore the ringing took place.

A substantial tica was provided by the Vicay and a number of ladies, who very kiudly attended to the wants of the band. The Ficar anmounced that be intended to put up a boand recording the peal in the ringing chamber, and suggested thrat it should be uthveiled on the lat Saturday in Septernber, when it was hoped to bold a Peak Distriet mecting there. Tlie only regret was the absence of the Rev. W. P. Wright, vice-president of the M.C.A., who was prevented by indisposition from ringing, and whose genial presence and racy anecdotes at the tea were groatly missed.
The haud would like thenk, too, Mi. Chapman, one of the wardens, who took them round the church and explatined its many beanties and items of interest.
The rimgers carie from the following towers: G . Clippman, Tidogwel:; G. H. Paulsou, Darley Dale: Miss Foulk, Dutlicid: A. G Wallace, Bakewell: W. Bingham, Dore; M. E. Wilson and S. E. Palner, Shefficl Cathedral: J. E. Lewis Cockey, Dore.

\section*{MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION. \\ DERBY DISTRICT.}

The second quarterly mecting of the Derby District was held at West Hallurn on Sisturday. About twenty members and friends attended, and good use was made of this light ring of eight bells. The rethods rurg ranged from Boh Majoi to Cambridge Surprise Major, under the mastership of Mr. E. H. Clarke.
'lhe Rector exlended a hearty welcome and expressed his willingness to become an honorary member. Afterwards, he showed a party of visitors round the beautiful grounds of the Rectory.
After the tea the business meeting was held, Mr. W. Wallace being voted to the chair (in the absence of Mr. F. Fletoher, vicechairmani. Two new honorary members were elected, viz., the Rev. G. H. Hartley, Vicar of St. James', Derby, and the Rev. W. Ratcliffe, Rector of West Hallarn. Mr. Percy H. Tate was elected to ach as Ringing Mastar at the next quarterly meeting, which will be beid at Belper.

\section*{BURTON DISTRIOF}

A ringing meeting was held on Saturday, July 12th, at Barton-under-Ntedwood. There was a fair attendance, inclucing representatives from Burton, Barton, Repton, Overseal, Uttoxeter, Melbouzne and Rolleston. The usual business meeting was held in the belfry, Mr. T. Meredith being elected chairman.
After discussion, it was decided to hoid the next meeting af Farbury on Saturiay, August 16tin.

A vole of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells.
During the afternoon and evening, the bells were kept going, and touches of Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, etc., were suecessfully brought round.

\section*{HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.}

A well attended meeting of the Western Division took place at Flamstend, on Saturday, when ringers were present from Apsley End, Hemel Hempstead, Harpenden, St. Albans, Linslaie, Berkhamstead, Redbuurn, Triug, Dunstable and the local compsoy. The methods rung ranged from Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor. A service was conducted by the Viear, who also presided at the organ.
At the meeting which was held at the Vicarage, the Vicar the Rev. T. C. Clare) welcomed the ringers, who, later, by great applanse, elected him an honorary member. Eight of the young band wero also elected ringing members.
After the meeting, nore ringing took plage, everyone being well pleased with the tone and go of this fine peal of six.

\section*{LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.}

A meeting of the Southern District was held on Saturday, July 19th, at Lewisham, thore being rather a sparse attendance, but soma good work was done, the bells being kept going from 3.30 to 8.30 under the direction of Mr. Mance, Master. Mr. Herbert (secretary) was away in the Isle of Wight, Mr. Mackrill Eindly filling the oflice pro tem.

A feature of the meeting was the fact that, although only 15 or 16 attended, Gambridge and Superlativo were lung, so it is supposed that most of tho ringers were 'highbrows.

There were no outstanding points in the tusiness meeting, and tho usual routine was quickly grot over.
Votes of thanks were accorded to Mr. Warnett (steeplekeeper) and to the Vicar for the use of the bells.

\section*{DUNSTABLE RINGERS' OUTING}

The annual outing of the Dunstable Priory Chureh ringers taok place on Saturday, July 12th, when they were accompanied by the Rector, Rev. G. C. Rolfe. Leaving Dunstable itt 8.15 a.m., the lirst part of the run was to Bicester, just over thirty miles awey- Ring. ing on the peal of eight (tenor 15 cwi .) was unjoyed, abd then lite journey was continued to Kidington, where, gfter an inspention of the fine old church, the belfyy was visiterl, and tauches rung. A move was made to Oxford for dinner, and this was an event which will long be remembered by all the party. The dinner had beon arranged by the Rector at his old college (Worceater), and tho privilege of using the live dining lall was much appreciated. The majority of the party spent the afternoon in the lovely grounds around the college, but six of the more energetic vigited St. Giles \({ }^{3}\) and New College to ring with members of bie Oxforit Guild who were in the city for their annul fostival. The party matt again for tea, and on the homeward journey tang at Thome and Haddenham. At Aylesbury, a socisl hour was spent, and Dunstable reached at 11 p.m., all agreeing that a more enjoybble day could not bagpent. A noteworthy feature of the outing was that every tower visited was reached dasd on scheduled time. The methods in which the ringers took, part during the day included Grandsire nnd Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Double Norwich, Kent Treble Boh, Camhidge and Superlative Surprise and Stedman Gaters, with rounds for the two juniors. The best thanks of the party are extenden to the clergy for their permission to ring, and local ringers who at oach tower met the visitors.

\section*{PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED. \\ PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN sTHE RINGING WORLD.'}

The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

From a preliminary notice elsowhere, our readers will perceive that the restored octave at St. Mary's Church, Penzance, is to be dedicated by the Bishop of Truro on Monday, August 25th. It is hoped that ringing friends who are visiting the West at that time will endeavour to be present.
The heavy ring of eight (tenor 30 cwt .) at St. Stephen's Ohurch, Elswick, Newcastle-on-Tyne, are undergoing a comprehensive schome of relanging by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.
Messrs. Gilletto and Johnston ate also restoring the ring of night ut Earls Colne, Essox, and rehangiag the peal of six at Illogan, Comwall.
The bells at East Grinstead, Sussex, are temporarily out of commission on account of repairs to the tower.
Another peal of Bob Minor has been rang on bandbells at Johannesburg by Canon G. H. Ridout and four sisters of St. Margare's Mission House. A few months ago we recorded their first peal, and now they have added a second one, ruag prior to the departure of one of the sisters for furlough in England.
By the peal of Stedman Cinkues at St. Margaret's, Leicester, the conductor, Mr. Ennest Morris, has now called peals of Triples, Calers and Cinques in both Grandsire and Stedman on these bells.
Some of the "old "uns" of the Worcestershire Association rang a peal of Stedman Triples last week. All were over 60 years of age, all have rung over 100 peals, and all are either past or present officers of the association-but the details of the peal lave nat jot come to hand.

\section*{LEWISHAN DISTRIGT.}

The quarterly mecting of the Lewisham District was held at St. Martin's Glurch, Eynsford, on Saturday, when some thirty meabers attended. During the afternoon and evening touches of Grandsite and Stedman Triples, Double Forwich, Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise were rung. Service was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. T. H. Groves, who gave an interesting and somewhat unusually prasented address.
After tea, the business meeting was held, with Mr. W. J. Jotiries presiding. The members congratulated those present who had taken part in the non-conducted peal of Grandsire Triples (Holt's origianb) on a splendid performance.
One new member was elected, and the election of two ringers previous to peals was confirmed.
St. Mary's, Lewisham, was selected for the annual district meebing in October.

Mr . F . W. Richardson proposed a bearty vote of thanks to tho Wicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service and for his address; also to tho organist for his services. This was carried unanimously.
The members then heard with interest of proposed improvements to the bells of SS. Peter and Paul's Chureh, Bromley.
At the close of the meeting, the members returned to the inwer for further ringing, finally dispersing at 8.30 p.m., after a successfal gathering.

\section*{DAUGHTER'S GENEROUS GIFT IN MEMORY OF HER FATHER.}

Haselbech a tiny parish with a total population of about 720 souls, situatel in some of the most celebrated Nocthamptonshire hunting country, has been unknown in the past to ringers, or, indeed, to any but a very limited world. It is, however, now likely ta claim attention in the Exercise in future from the fact that there has just been installed in its grey old tower a ring of eight bells, wich should prove not only the pride of the willage but a joy to Northamptonshire ringers and any others who may seek out this ald-worla spot. Haselbech has a more famous neighbour in Naseby, where Cavaliers and Roundheads clashed during the furmoil of the Civil War, but in recent years, at any rate, it has been fortunate in laving in its midst a family whose desire has heen to promote its wellbeing. About twenty-one years ago Faselbech Hall, which the church adjoins, was taken by Mr. Charlos Bower Ismay, emember of the firm who built up the fame and fortune of the White Star Line. Mr. Ismay died in 1984, leaving a widow and an only child, Miss Florence Delaplaine lsmay, who nave continued ta reside at the Hall. Mrs., Ismay has been the 'fuiry godmother' of Hasclbech, 'Miss Del, has been the idol of the villagens. On Monday of last week bells. These huve been saved by the use of a specially designet headstock, by which the canons are enclosed in a kind of eircula. box and the bell held to the stock by bolts which pass right through to the top of the casing. One of tho difficultios of relatiging vid bells without sacrificing the canons has thus been effectively owercome.
Owing to the confned space of the tower, which on the inside is litile more than ten feet square, the bells are loung in two lievs, the fourth, fifth, seventh and tenor being in the bottom frame, with the treble, second, tliird and sixth mounted over them. The frume itself is of irom carved on steel girdere, which are secured at their ends into the walls. In this way the tower has been roinforced, and the thrust of the swinging bells is counteracted by a strong and extremely rigid structure. The bell frame and clock chambor have both been lowered, and, as the ringing takes pluce on the ground floor, rope guides have been fixed, while the sound of the three small bels can be accurately regulated to suit tho riugers by the provision of sound pipes fittod with adjustable dampers. Glass sbields in the loutres lielp to regulate the sound of the bells outside the cowno and both inside and out they can be evenly heard. All the fittings are, of course, new, and of the most modern bype, and the bolls, beigg in ball bearings, run perfeotly. A new chiming apparatus hat

There were presentations of bitthday gifts, commemorative tree planting, tea for the parishioners, sports, entertainments and suzper for nearly 500 people from the two villagen of Haselbech and Naseby. But the chief event of a momorable day was the dedication of the new belle wifh which Miss Ismay has cudowed the church as a memorial to her father.

\section*{THE NEW BELJS.}

Hitherto the church has possessed four bells, cast in 1621 by Hugh Watte, of Leicester. Of these Nos. 2 and 3 were bells of excellent quality, and they have been relained in the new peal. No. 2 has been left watpuched, and the rest of the peal have been based upon it. No. 3 hax only to be slightly tuned, and the two are incorporated as Nos. 4 and 5 of the oetave. The nem tenor is 15 ewt. in F sharp, and the peal is a very fine one, reffechns the greatest erdit on the founders, Messrs. Gillett ancl Johnston, Lid., of Oroydon, who have performed their work with chatacteristic skill. The balaycing of the clappers has becn partieularly well done, and it is impossible to clistinguish the ofl from the new bells. \section*{THE DEDICATION゙.}

Ihere was a notable gathering for the dedication, which was performed by the Dean of Windsor (Dr. Arthur Baillie, G.V.O.), the service being conducted by the Rector (the Rov. A. G. Jackson).

During the singiag of the psalm, 'I was glad when they said uuto He, the Dear, clergy, churehwardens and choir walked to the belfry, and the churchwartens took the rope of the new tenor belt, handed it to the Dean, and requested hirn to dedieate the bella. The Dean reccived the rope wiih the words: ' 1 solenmly set apart and dedioate these bells to the glory of God and to the use of this chuteh, in nemory of Charles Bower Ismay, separate from all profane and unhalluwed uses.

Having delivered the rope to the Rector, with the command to - Hoke heed that they be ever and only used to His service and for His glory, \({ }^{2}\) :. Baillie offered prayer for thase wham the beils should summon to worship, for those pligitted in Christian failh and lave \({ }^{\text {s }}\) for whom the bells should ring, for the sick that the hells might be to them a reminder of the prayers of the chureh for the absent, and finally for the ringers of the bells.

Then the Rector chimed the treble bell, and a plain course of Stedman 'rriples was rung by a baud of ringers of the Peterborough to the fact that social thing may change, polifics may change, our whole position may be changed, but one thing is safe-meu will go ou fuding life in God through Jesus Christ. And so long as they do that, so long will they value the place which is set apart for them to come and exercise their fellowship with God. May God therefore bless this gift to you; may it be a begingiag of a time when you use more fully the great opportunities offered to you for life with God."
As the congregation left the church, two courses of Double Norwich Court Bob Major were rung on the new bells, and, later, three courses of Superlative Surprise. Those who took part in the rimging were Messrs. F. Wilford, T. R. Fenslier, W. Rogers, 马. G. Black (lon. secretary of the Peterborough Diocesan Guidd), C. Bird, S. 3. Lawrence, W. J. Dove, T. Tebbutt, B. O. Sodea, with Mr. C. F. Johnston, who was present to represent the founders, aid the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn.

\section*{RINGERE DAY.}

Owing to the festivitied, which, despite an aimost contimuous downpour of rain, were kept up until midnight, a huge marquee providing cover for everyone, the ringing was limited, but members of the Diocesan Guild and many wisicors had their opportunity an Saturday, when the bells were thrown opea, and nearly 150 ringers and friends were the wuests of Mrs, and Miss Ismay.
Ringing started early in the afternaon, and touches in a varicty of methoris were ruag from Grandsive Doubles to London Surprise Major. The Guild service was conducted by the Rector, the connregation filling the little church. Mir. F. Wilford read the Iesson, und the Rector gave a happy andress, in which he welcomed the Grild Haselbech bells, showing the special type of headstock on the 4 th and 5 th, which has enabled the canons of the old bells to be preserved.

Diocesma Guild, under the supervision of the Master, Mr. F. Wilford, of Northamplon, who had made all the arrangements for the ringing.
After tho Jymm, ' Hark, lark, my soul,' the Dean of Windsor' delivered an address. Jhney had just dedicaled, he safd; to the service of God a noble gift which had been added to their ancient chureh by at proishoger in memory of a parishoner. That gifi would mean a areat deal in the life of the vilage und neighbourbood. It was anly one gift in the long history of the church on which generation after generation had leit a mark. This reminded them of a remarkable fact, that througir all the history of this country the one fling that had withstood all olher changes had heen the Parish Church. There had been extraordinary changes of social conditions, extraordinary political changes, aud changes of opinion and outlook; things like the castle and the monastery had been swept away; yet through all the Parish Church had remained stable.
It was a tremendous thought, declared the preacher. People zaid lightly that the Claureh had lost ifs influence. They had said it a hundred times in centuries past. It was mot true. The sort of 'Goating' people who used to go to claurch through habit night not he going so much through habit to-day, but there were just as many people to-day who found in what the Church provided as much a source of life as ever.

As the bells of Haselbech ring out now,' conelucled the Dean, more richly and nobly than befora, hiey ought always to be witness

Lo Haselbent in conneotioh witio the groatest oocnsion which had ewer happened in the history of the bells of the parisin. Of all the appointmants of their eharches, he said, porlaps those which weve more closely linken with the lives of the people than any other were the bells, which marked the occasions of rejoicing and mourning in individual, parochial and national life. The bells called them an to the daty of worship, and, although in these deys tha faith of some people might have veceived some serious damage, the vaice of the bells was for ever reminding them of the great truths that existed. The hells would go down fram generation to generation gs something which linked them together, and he hoped they would be the means of leading many to God's House who would not otherwise come.
Afterwards the large party sat down to fea in the Village Frall, whose accommodation was so much overtaxed that a number lad to wait for a secoud sitting, and meanwhile sought to pass the time by further ringing. At the close of the tea, at which Mrs. and Miss Ismay, the Rector and Mr. C. F. Johnston wore present, Mr. Wilford proposed a vote of thanks to Mrs. Bower Ismay for her great kinduess in providing a sumptuous repast. In the words of one of the speakers at Monday's festivities, that also was a "great do," and they appreciaterl very much Mrs. Ismay's hospitality. Thoy also thanked Wiss Smee, who had had a great deal to do with the arthanked hiss smee, when had had a great deal to do with the ar(Continued on page 495.)
Wilford also thanked the Rector Eor the use of the bells, for the servico and for his address, also the Rev. J. White, of Pitsford, who had presided at the organ, and the orgau blower.

Mrs. Ismay said that ibey in Easelbech all felt that the thanks should be tha other way about. They ought to thank the ringer's for coming to euable them to hear the beatity of the new bells. The ringers had given them great pleasure. rliey owed a great deal to those who rang the bells, she added, for if there was ane sort of music in the country that an Englishman or woman learned to love, and which made tleir heart grow fender, it was the sound of the English chureh bells (applanse).
Mr. C. T. Johnston, on behalf of the ringers, tendered their congratulations to the dobor of the hells on her soming of age (appinase). It lad been the aim of all coneerned in the installation of the bells to put in a peal which shand be a model one for the belfry, and not only for the belfry of a vilage, but for a towa. Grent consideration and care lad been taken not only to provide for the camfort of the ringers, hut to study the comfort of the populalion who lad to listen to them from outside the tower (applause). Inonedling, Mr. Johnston appealed to the ringers af the diocese to assist in forming a bnod of riugers for Fiastlbech, In the first talk lue had with the Rector, Mr. Jackson was, fraukly, pessimistic as to beitug

The continuous changing of mehods makes it imporative that everybody should be on the alert, and a bad trip is impossible. Mr. Willinn Pye again proved himself a wonderful conductor, and mothing in the way of a mishap was allowed ka devolop.

It was the opinion of the whole of the babri that titis composition is muth moze difificult than tine ten-method ponl riug by thens it August lust, owing to the waty in which the methods are spliced togobler. splendid ring of eight. He land uothing but praise for the work dane by Messis. Gillett and Johnston, wha liad put in one of the thacst peals in the county and had given them a first-class joly (applause).
Tile riugers then returned to tho tower, where the rest of thre evening was spent in ringing touches, and the bells were lowered in peal as darkness hegan to gettle over the countryside.

For the villagers, lowever, the daj was not ended. Later nin, there was a display of firewarks which had been postponed fromi the ptevious Monday on account of the rain.
On Sunday aftemoon a hand of ringers from Northampton and Matret Harhoromgh revisited Hasobech and rang touches of Stediman Triples and Double Nowich Major before and after a childrean's spenial service.

\section*{THE OUTING SEASON}

\section*{RINGERS EXPLORE THE COUNTRY.}

This is the season of the 'anuual outing;' and every weck-end sees a 'gencral post' among ringers, who by road or rail seek out new lowers in which to exerciso their skill. Below are some of the reports which have reached us, relling of happy days spent among the bells:-

\section*{AN ESSEX WELCOME.}

There is, perhaps, a no more enjoyable way of spending an occasional Satarday than by invading fresh towers and ringing with newfound frients. And if it happens to be anywhere in Essex you are assured of the pleasantest possible time with the minimum of trouble. So a party of thirteen from Diss and district found out on Saturdny, July 19th, when they allowed themselves to be projected into an almosi foreign terribory and to be persuaded to exercise themselves with the aid of strange ropes. Diss was left behind before 7 a.m. and in about a clozen miles the whole party sat on its allotted seat, digcussing the day's programme and other matters. Ardleigh was reached at nine, and courses of Troble Bob and Double Norwich rung, accompanied by various voluntaries by an enthusiastic organist, who may, or may not, have been the Vicar. Great Tey was reached with some difficulty, an arm of the law sady disgracing himself. Buth the tower was reached more or lass according to programme, and Mr. Percival, of the loeal band, met the wanderers. Here Treble Bot and a good touch of Plain Boh, with the young member of the local company, a complete master of the treble, was brought home. In flio touch was an extreme of ages, with a gap of sixtr-six ycars Braintree and lumeh were the objectives, and at the Nag's Head Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the Essex Assumiation) courteously met the party and gave them a hearty welcome to liraintree. It is impossible to express the gratilude of the visitors for the help given and kindness shown before and on the dry by this gentleman, whom the association are very fortunato ta brye at the head of such a live organisation. Braintrec's fine lithe ring impressed all who heavd and ruag them for the firsh fime, while the neat belfry contrasted strongly with some they had left behind. Treble Bob, Stedman, Double Norwich and Superlative were rung here to the satisfaction of everyone.
Coggeshall's eight were soon discovered and the church admired, as were some of tle bells, but it was felt that the frame and bearings could mutually be impooved. A conrge of Kent and one of plain Bob seemed to suffice the demands of the most enthusiastic. A move was then made to Kelvedon. Here old friends were met in Mr. William Keeble and Mr. ElFiott. It was not long before this grand peal, Fith its 21 cwi. tenor, was heard to advantage in Cambridge, while courses of Treble Bob and ame of London, in which the baby of the party rang his first on six, were begun and ended with rounds at tho sppropriate place.
Mr. Keeble accompanied the party to Colchester, where Day"s restaurant proved an atiraction. Proceeding to Thorington, a good peal of six was found, and if far superior gentleman in the person of Mr. William J. Nevard. Following touches here, Mr. Nevard was to direct the bus to Bromiey, but be soon lost himself in a cloud of dust of his own making. After an exciting chase, bis car was seen in the distanco crawling along to enable the chariot from Diss to catch up. Great Bromioy has many interesting features. First the hats high up on the east wall of the tower, with the dates when their owners, in answer to a higher call, had no further nced of them. Second, the grand toned peal of six recently rehung. Treble Bob, Plain and Cambridge were rung, the latter touch with Mr. Nevard handliag the 15 cwt tenor with wonderful ease. Handbells were produced at \(n\) yeighbouring place of refresliment, and double-bandea Grandsire Catera and Bob Major brought round. Mr. Nevard and his friend were leit ail too soon at 9 p.m., but home was then felt to bo sevoral miles off, and it was at 11.30 , with the trip mileometer registering 157 , that the last remajning ringer was disposed of at Diss.
Our heartfelt thanks to you, Mastor and members of the Essex Guild of the association, for the kindliness of your welcome! N. G.

\section*{NORTON RINGERS' OUTING.}

On Moudey, July 14th, the Si. James' company of Norton Church, near Sheffield, had their annual outing, Skegness being the venue. Accompanied by the Vicar, churchwardens, and other churchworkers, a siarl was made at 6 a.m. from the Vicarage, in a 30 -seater saloon coach. The first scheduled stop was at Gainsborough, whero a hearty wetcome by the Vicar, the Rev. Canon Round-Turner, and representativos of the ringers, was given to the visitors. The fine peal was soon going to the tune of Bob Major and touches of Grandsire, and whilst this was in progress, other members of the party were given an interesting tour of the interior. The ringing of the bells at the early hour of eight o'clock caused a lot of interest in the vicinity of the church. Resuming the journey through Louth, wherg so mach damafe was done by floods a little time ago, the beautiful spire of the Parish Church was an object of much interest. Skegness was reached about 11 a.m., after a pleasant journey, and, after refreshment aad been taken, the varions atticactions of the seaside were induged in, followed igy a reanion at 4 p.m. at the Savoy Hotel on the promenale, where all enjoyed a splendid tea. Thi 'course' being over, the Viear, the Rev. Mr. Pegg, M.A., said how pleased he was to be one of the party, and hoped that he would be present on many more events of like character. -Ho was sapported in his remarks by Mr. E. Hunstone, senior warden, who expressed his pleasure at heing able to be with them and, although eighty yesrs of age, looked forward to future occasions, as he always considered the ringers' outing the outing of the yesr. Mr. Swift (warleq) also made a humorous speech, and then, after a short stroll on the front, & start was made for home. Shortly after leaving Shegress a terrifie rainstorn was encountered, but the pariy wero well protected, and suffered no inconventence. Returning via Spilsby and Dunham Bridge, Norton was reached at 10.30 p.m., everyone being delighted with the day's outing, and wish, through "The Ringing World,' to thank all who coutributed to the peasures of a suecessful day.

\section*{You know our dales; you've driven by our streams on dusty} days?
Apart from the natives of the Pcakland of Derbyshire, very fow arc acquainted with the beaties of hill and dale in that district. The bellringers of Overseal St. Matthew's Church laad henred of Peakland, and so it came about that they decided io take a day's tour to see that of which they had heard so much. Since seeing, il is their wish that I slrould tell "The Ringing Ward " of their glorions tour in Peakland. Reach down your map then, and lett us go togetiler
Starting from Overseal at 7 a.m., we pass via Burton-on-Trent and Tutbury to Ashbotue, How many ringers know that it was here Moore, the poet, paid tribute to those ovening hells'? Bul wo must get on. Leaving Ashbourne by Fenney Beatley, we are soon 'out on top' in the bleak area lying betwean Ashboume and Bux. ton, a stern region of limestone walls and moorland. Passing on, we soon pass Newhaven House, and, reaching Parsley Hay, turn right to wiew 'Arborlow,' next to Stonehengc, the finest Drnid cirele in the land. Space will not permit a full account of this circle wilh works, of its history, antiquity, and the rites performed there ringers were deeply impressed, and after having rung a. 'peal' on their handbells, grudgingly trook their leparture vi Monyash to Bakewell. It was on this part of the route that guestions ns to fle brakes on the bus began to arise, but eveu these were forgotten, as will be seen later. Fassing through Bakewell to Ashford, we enter the beautiful dale of Taddington. Varied scenes of woodiand, streana and crag call forth the appreciation of the ringers as the bus steadily mounts up and up to Topley Pike at the head of the dale, Here a halt is made, and we decide to walk a little way down the slope, peeping cautiously over the wall on our right into the depths of Killer's Dale below. A train crawls along in the wale, like a toy on a mordel railway.
Our bus now takes us into beautiful Aghoood Dale, a typical Pealk land ravine, with craggy sides and well wooded. Emergivg from tho dale, we suddenly find ourselves in Buxton, where the far-famed ceremony of 'well dressing' is seen in all its splendour. We are impressed by the architectural grandeur of the Grescent Hotel, the Deronshire Hospital and other buildings bequeathed to the town by ono of the Dukes of Devonshire.

An hour quickly passes in Buxton, and, leaving it by Fairfied, after a sharp rise we find ourselves once more "out on top " crossing Eairfield Common on our way, via Dove Holes, to Castletor. Between Plumpton and Sparrow Pit we stop to Fiew the Ebbing aud Flowing Well-a geological puzzle, for this is the region of Derlogshire's geological mysteries. On our right is Eldon Hill with its mysterious Hole, on our left is bleak Roshup Edge, and mocking us in front scowls Marn Tor. Gradually we approach the Tor, and the rond winds steeply to the top of the slope on the side of the Tor Looking out of our bus, we see a road winding down, we see an sheer drop of apparently a few hundrent feet. Brakes are forgotten, and we are consoled by the fact that ' we have the bells, the parsom, and the sexton with us.' Bravely the descent is made, and to those who watch there comes one of those great thrills of which there are so many in Peakland. The town of Castieton lies below, the rreat Peak Cavern Jawns at as, and Peveril Gastle, that ancient stranghold of William Peveril, looks down as if to gas, 'I am ruler here, as once it was. A whole week may easily be spent in exploring around Gastifon. The Peak Gavern, Speedwell Mine, and Lie world-famous 'Blue John' mine are only a few of its attractions.
A good lunch at the Castle Hotel, a visit to the interesting Parish Church, and we leave, via Hope and Bradwell, for Tidesweh. It is here thit we inspect 'The Cathedral of the Peak,' and well it merils its title, being rich in architectural beauly.
Leaving Tideswell, we pass on to Eyam, famous in history for the bravery of its citizens in fighting a terrible plague. Read the book, "The Brave Men of Eyam, if you would innow something of their terribie ordeal. The church and Cucklet Delph bring back to us the scenes of those terrible days, and show the matchless fortitude of ils people.

Prom Eyam we pass down the beautiful widdleton Dale, and, after gassing through Beslow, reach Clistsworth House, one of our atatcly bomes of England.' Tidel in treasures of art, jt, stanis in a besutiful setting on the banks of the sleepy Derwont, a peaceful acene after the rugged scenes around Castleton. Beeley and Rowsley are passed, and soon we come to Haddon Hall, a grand old pile now oecupied by His Grace the Duke of Rutland. Its story has been often told around the romance of Dorotily Vernon.
Bnkewell is rancher, and a visit is paid to its magnificent church, which rears its lofty spire so as to impress all who enter the town. It holds the story of the families of Haddon, and is riel in history. We liave a puil on its ring of eight bells, which, together with those of Youlgreave, form two of the finest peals for miles around. From Bakemell we retrace our way by Haddon Hall, and pass on through delightful and pretty scenery to the top of Winster Bank. Our road now lies through the wonderful Wia Gellia, a richly-wooded ravine of six miles, to Gromford, the town of Arkwright's spinning days, and where his old mill still stands.
Our tour through a small part of the Peak is ended. We have left much unexplored, and pass on somewhat sadly through Derby and Burton-on-Trent to Overseal. But our tour lies not been in rain, nor will have been whilst memories of it remain.
'A thing of beauty is a joy forever;
Its loveliness increases.
It can never pass into nothingness."
And now, to other ringers who would visit the Peak District, I mondd wifer a few suggestions. If you are lovers of beautiful scenery, historical associations, and simple grandeur, then tour the Pealrlands slowly. But perhaps warning is unnecessary, for the Peaklands will not sillow you to hurry through them. Obtain the aid of some old resident, and you will be ghown and told more of the district and its honest, hardy folk than you could ever hope to find by exploring alone. G. J. NOTON.

\section*{SURREY RINGERS IN BERKS AND HANTS.}

Leathorhead Parish Chuych beliringers had their annual outing on July \(19 \mathrm{th}_{\text {, }}\) when, accompanied by friends from Ashtead, Cobham, Dorking, Ewell and Cropdon, the party, to the number of fourteen, started shortly after 7.30 a.m. The first place visited was Wargrave-on-Thames, Berks. The bells were raised, and short touches of Bob Major, Double Norwich Major, Kent Treble Bob Major and Stedman Triples were Iung, finishing with a course of Superlative Surprise Major. These bells are a neerly new ring of eight, taking the place of an older ring which were destroyed by fire in 1913, when much damage was done to the roof and other parts of the church. It will be remembared that this was oue of the churches that the 'Suffa-geiteg' fired during their 'Votes for women' campaiga. Leaving here at 10.15 , the next place of call was Thatcham, after a pleasant run along the almest level Beth Road. Here was found a ring of eiglit in perfect going order. These belis were only augmented from six last year, when the old ones were rehung and tuned and two trebles added, making an ideal octeve, with tenor 14 cwt . in F . Hhere was a little difficulty in obtaining the belfry key here, so some time was wasted, which necessitating the curtailing of ringing to very short touches of Bob Major and Double Norwich, finishing with a course of London Surprise, the bells being afterwards lowered in pen. After a few minutes ran the parly arrived at Newbury, where the church was much admired, it being a grand buildiag in wave the church was much admired, it being a grand building in 21 cwt, in D). They were cast at the wiltshire foundry of Aldbourne, but have recently been tuned by Mears, and are now acknowledged as one of the finest eights in Berks. Touches of Grandsirc aud Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Trebie Bob and Cambridge Surnrise Major were rung, and, in conclusion, the eight lowered in peal. After an excellent mid-day meal at the Two Brewers, Highclere, Hants, was wisited next. Here was found a good light ring of eight, on which tountes of Grandsire Triples, Kent Treble Bob and Double Norwich Major were rung. Bristol Surprise was attempted, but Without quacess, and the bells wers finally lowered in peal., Tho next call was at Basingstoke, but the belis at the Parish Gharch here wers nob so goed ar in such good going order as those tried earlier in the day. Neportheless, Grandsire Tripies, Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung. Superlative Surprise Major was tried, bat fatied, liarnham, the last stopping place, was reached at 6 p.m. Hero the first item was tea, and, as at Newbury, there was no failure with this part of the programme. After tea, ringing was indulged Bnh Major, Parish Chureh on a good ring of belle in a noble tower. hut London Surprise was arein and Stedman Triples were rung, was spent with the Farnham rin unsuccesgful. Afterwards an hour 9. 4.5 . All wogreed that them ringers, and Leatherhead reached about thanks of the ringors they had had an oxcellent day, and the best thanks of the riugers are given to tho varinus incumbents for permassinn to ring, and to all those who by virtue of their offee helped to make the day such a success.

HASTINGS RINGERS' VISIT TO CROYDON BEEL FOUNDRY.
On Saturday, duly 5th, the hellriugers, members of the cangregntion and choir of St. Clement's Church, Hastings, held iheir anmunl outing, and paid a wisit to Groydon and Windsor. The party, which numbered sisty, lefi it motor oonches shortly after serels, the first stop being made at Sevenonks, after which they prouceded through West Wickham to Groydon, which was meached int 10-45. Here at the Croydon Bell Foundry they were met by Mr. Cyril F. Johnston, who couducted the party over the works, where they saw the thew peal of 64 bells, which are being casi: for the Cticago University. Mr. Johnston trapped the betls, and the tome was a delight to ali. After explaining the way the bella are tumed on tho five-tome principle, Mr. Hollands, on behalf of the visitors, proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Johaston and his staff. Leaving Croydon, the party arrived at Windsor at 1.15 p.m., bub it was found that only two coaches had arrived, the third having been last seen at Stainus. However, promptly at 1.30 the coach, containing the ringers and choir with "The Harem King \({ }^{\text { }}\) at the front, pulited up before Windsor Casile. Fere, after laving partaken of lunch, the party wero taken over tho State apartments, 8t. George's Obapel, and the round tower, The party then proceeded to Guildford, which was renched at 5.45. Hero tea was partaken of at Ayers' Cafe.
After tea, Mr. G. Martin, on behulf of the ringers, woleomed the choir and members of the Ghurch Council who lind combined with them and made the day so successful. He snid ho hoped to seo then an many future occasious.

Mr. Follands, on behalf of the Rector and mardens, proposen a vote of thanks to Mr. G. Martin for all he had dono in making the success of the outing assured aad for all the trouble he had gone to in making the arrangements.
Musical honours followed, after which the party were allowed ara hour to view Guildford, and Hastings was reached shorty after inidnight, after having mede a stop at Newick at the request of many who wished to see that all were safo, including little Spuddy Tnylor, who fell out of the charabanc.
The ringers desire, througls 'The Ringing World,' to thank Mr. Cyril F. Johnston, the Vicar and secretary of the ringers of the Parish Church, Windsor, for so readily granting permission for them to ring, although, unfortunately, owing to the late arrival of the ringers af Windsor, it was impossible to take advantage of the opportunity, owing to the risit of the partr to the Gastle. Thanks arr also given to Mr. G. Martin for all he did to make the day the hes flat the ringers have erer had.

\section*{DOUBLE LKTTLE BOE.}

\section*{To the Eaitor.}

Dear Sir, There is a discussion going on in your celumes as to whether Eifh or Double Little Bob is the right name for a useliod. As a matter of fact, Erith only of these words is a anme. This other words are descriptions, or titles of classes. Double is not the name of a method, Little is not the namo of a metzod, eud Boh \(i=\) not the name of a method. If each of these descriptions is coured (a matter which I will not now go into), they mirhit be written in brackets, after the mame. Thus: Eritf (Double Litile Bob). Oi course, it does not matter which of the four words is used for calling or other purposes; but it is elearly absurd to discuss whetiser fthy one is entibled to give the method any of the three descriptions. Thas is a question of fuct, not of property.
HERBERT DRAKE.

\section*{A BIRTHDAY PEAL AT KING'S NORTON}

The peal of Siedman Catera rung at King's Norton on Saturtins was arranged as a birthday compliment to Mr. Geargo E. Fearn, alsi to his brother Henry, Fhose birthday was a few days previously. The start of the peal was delayed more than an hour through the "eleventh" man trying to get from Derby to Birmingham via Cheltenham. This added eighty miles to his journey, and he arrived just in timn fu take part in his first peal at King's Norton. Everyone, however, was mach relieved to see him turn up smiling. Tho delay, however, prevented Mr. J. Neal from takieg part in the peal, and Mr. Jame Bitterton filled the gap and rang the temor with charecteristic phe cision. The band and some "extras' adjourned after the peal to Bull's Head for a very substantial ment tea, kindly provided by Mr George E. Fearn, and congratulatory apeeches ended a very happr evering

\section*{DEAN BATE'S KINDLY THOUGHT FOR VISITING RINGER'S.}

The SI. Andrew's Guild, Earls Colne, lehd their first annual outing on Siturday, July \(19 t h\), when 15 memhers journeyed by motor earch to various paris of Suffolk. Leaviug home at 8 a.m., the frst call wus mate at Hadleigh, and although information had been reecived that nu linging could take place there owing to the illness al the Derns (ilie Very Rev. H. N. Brte), He kindly consented on Lie arrival of the party to allow the use of the bells, for which the risitors were most grateful. At this tower the Chelmsford company worn met and were given the first offer of the ropes. At Finborough, which was Hext visited, the Eurls Colne ringers found the peal of six in reatiness, and much eajoyed their short slay there. Whe next exll was Sluwmarkel, where they enjoyen some good ringiag, also a anpital lunch at: the Gordon Dining Rooms. Procbeding to Henley, they were mel by the Ruv. W. C. Pearson, who joined with the visitors in several touches on tho light ring of cight. The final call wat made ot Jpswich, where they spent a very pleasant timo with 1he members of St. Murgaret's company. The day was most suceessful, and the eowrtesy received at every church was very mucl apprecinted. \section*{THE PRESERVATION OF BELLS.}

In a recent article on this page we suggested that church authorities might, in the long run, be saved a great deal of expense in the matter of bell restorations if some plan of systematic and competent inspection of belfries could be introduced. Theoretically, we believe, the inspection of bells and belfries is part of the duty of Rural Deans, but there are very few instances in which these gentlemen give practical effect to this portion of their duties. In a perfunctory way they may inquire about the bells when they make their official visit to a church, or they may not. The answer which they receive may or may not be accurate, although given in perfect good faith, because, unless the church has a band of ringers who are really jealous of the condition of their bells, the church authorities themselves often do not hear of any defects until something serious develops. it is not the same with other furnishings of the church. If the organ goes wrong, even to a small extent, the organist quickly sees to it that steps are taken to carry out the necessary repairs. Yet in how many instances do the ringers at the first signs of something out of order up above, show sulficient concern to bring the matter at once to the notice of the churchwardens? They are not infrequently content to put up with the increasingly bad going of the bells until the times arrives when the bells are no longer ringable and a considerable scheme of restoration becomes necessary. If this is not immeddiately possible the bells become temporarily silent, and, in some cases, unhappily, permanently so. It is the old story ol the stitch in time.

What, we feel, is needed is the appointment in each Rural Deanery of a competent person whose business it should be to inspect the bells and their fittings in every tower and amually make an official report, with any recommendations that may be necessary. In dealing with restoration schemes, many diocesan authorities already recogrise the value of having an advisor who is an expert upon bells and, we believe, it would be found of even greater advantage if the betls could be kept under constant supervision. There are, of course, many steeplekeepers who can and do maintain the bells in their charge in the highest state of efficiency, but there are a far greater number who consider their duties discharged when they have greased the bearings, or spliced a rope. Indeed, they realise little the importance of going over the nuts which hold, the bells to, the stocks, or, in the case of a wooden frame, of tightening up the bolts. An officially appointed 'inspector,' who on his visits to a tower could give authoritative advice on things of this (Cantinued on page 502.)

Church Bell Rode and Clock Rope Manutacturer, 64, LEWISHAM PARK, LONDON, S.E. 13 Late of BERMONJSEY and PECKHAM.

Hater to Et. Paul': Cathedral, Wentminater Abbey, Imperial Inatitube, Canterbary, Edinburgh, St. Albans, Lincoln, Durham, Peter doragh, Melbourne (Auntralis), Rocheater, Dublin, St. Patrick'n, Maphenter, Durban, and Worcester Cethedrale, ote, otc.

Muflers, Ringing Mats, Matting, Flag Lines, etc., etc.
kind to ignorant or neglectful steeplekeepers woukd, in al very short time, more than recoup the church authorities for any expense that might be incurred. Many bells would thus be kept in an cfficient condition for many years longer than they often are, and heavy restoration schemes almost indefinitely postponed. How the appointment of such experts could be brought about it is rather difficult to suggest ; but the subject might be opened up if ringers who are members of Ruri-decanal Conferences would bring the matter before these bodies. And in this connection let us make it plain that we do not refer solely to bells hung in peals for ringing, although they are our main concern, but all church bells hung in towers. It is often the twos, threes and fours, which are irreplaceable from an antiquarian point of view, which are the most neglected.

Yeoril Pibish Church Guild went for their annual totir on Baturday, ifaly 12th. The first place to be wisited was theignmouth, where towelns were rung on the bells of St. Michael's Church. Luach and tea were partaken of at Torquay, and during the afternoon touches of Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, and Boh Major were rung on the bells of St. Mary's Church. The return journey was marle ria Exeler, where the bell's of St. Thomas' Chumelh werc rung. The tour was atiried out under the leadership of the conductor, Mr. J. E. Baker, and the tea was provided as usual by Aldorman W. E. Tucker, the Mayor, who is the parish warden, and Mr. J. Goodehild, the steward of the Guild.

FIRST SECTION OF A COUNTY SURVEY
The completion of the detailed history of the eharch belle of England is a Elow process. The task is ona which appeals only to the antiquarian who, to be suceosinit in the work, must also combine the qualities of a steeplejnek and nerobat. Tlae collection ai informotion regarding bells in towers where ringing is practised is, of course, a nomparatively simple matter, but it is in chumes where thme nre one, two, or three bells, hung in almost innceessible bell loris, that the difficulties chiefy arise, and it is among these that the mosi interesting specimens of ancient bells are often found, for the situplo reasou that there has not been the same inducement to recssting ins there has been when such bells formed purt of a peal used for yinging Slow y the exploratinn of the ehurch towers is going an. Several counties hrve, of course, been completed, others are payly done. Nu exhaustive survey of the hells of Notinghamshirc, however, bas yel been made, but the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, Ftector of Ordsall, and nu enthusiastic ringer, is dojng valuable work it this direction in the northern part of the cotnoty, antil the result of his labours is being published in instn]ments hy the Thoromat Society. The first instalment, which appeared in the "Tratsactions' of the Socicty for 1929, lats now heen reprinted in book form. It deals with the bells in the ruat deanery of Puxford, which is in the Archdeaconry of Newarte, and covers 22 churches. It is admarably printed, and is accompanied by a mumber of plates on fart paper illustrating tha. lettering and shields fand on the old bells. Then inseriptions an all tho bells urn given, with ample descriptions of all the more interesting specimens, and math information relating to old practices.

BELTRY ' CHEESES.'
There was, for insiance, the interesting custom which formerly existed in the parish of East Drayton in comection wilh wuldings. After the bamus were published for the first lime, the ringers used la ring a special peal when the service was over. On the wedding day the bells were rung immediaiely the registers were signed and at later. rals throughout the rest of day. The wedding party hromght up is the belfry a large plum loaf of six or eight pounds weight and a cheese. Very often these were calrian by the "hest man.' All thr: schnol children paraded to the tower at the same time, and the olleat ainger distribuled a piece of the loaf amd cheese to each child, in thos order itu which they stood in school. The ritgers also received £I, which it was the custom to spend in equal shares at the two villur: imms. A final peal on the bells was tung at 6 a.m. fle next moruilg. Then, if all had been carried outs in the above mamarer, a riug was painted on the belfry walts, in red oelne, with the initial of the bride and bridegroom and the date. There are nearly a himdred stueh vings in the helfry, the first dated 1 r77 and the last 1865.
Traces of similar rings could be seen yents ago hi Thoswell mid Lanebam on the tower walls, where locally they weye known na cheeses.'
Riaging always took place at East Draton on Clurisimas, New Year and on November \(5 t_{1}\), and on eacla of these occasions the vingever received thlb. of candles, ta pint of cil and 2 s . firl., atd na one ocension in the chumeh mecounts there is a charge of 2 s . 6d. for ral ochre.
East Drayton, also, is one of the parishes in whicis thrue is a plot. of land hela for the provision of bell ropes. It beare the mame
- Boll String Close, \({ }^{\text {a }}\) and the tenant, who is nstally the parish olerk, has it rent free on the condition that le provides new thell rours when mecessary. At Lavelian there was formerly a small plot of land called the 'Bell Holt,' where osieys and rushes were grown amb the sale of theso was used to provide a fund for the ringers and now boll ropes wifen necessary. Whother this is still done, or', if not, why the practice was discontinumd, the author docs not tell us.
Kirton lost two of its bells by theft mauy years ago. in the Inrentory of 1552 there were "iif bells in the stopyll," and they mained until 1843, when, according to Wliite's 'Directory of Natts, sacrilegious thieves broke into dlis church and enrried off the communion plate and surplice. AhouE a fortnight after this a seconil risit was paicl to the saered edifice, and one of the bells, which land been broken, was taken liy these high mottled thieves.' 'The story in the village is that two bells were stalen llom the tower and thrown ino the pond, where they remained for gome time, and wert afterwards carried oft and sold.
The first section of 'The Church Bells of Nattinghamahire,' which can be obtained at Is. Gd. per copy from the Rav. R. F. Wilkinson, Ortsall, Retford, Notis, is an interesting little volume which shows that the work is heing done with thoroughnegs and knowletige. It is lroped to publish at least one soatinn coveriug a riural doanory each year. Tlue next will be Mansfield Deanery, which will be followed by Retford.

\section*{ACTIYTTHEG IN THE BANBURT DISTRICT}

The annual meeting of the Banbury Branch of the Oxford Diocesan fiuld nttracted a hig gathering to Banbury, where the new [pal of ten bells was available. Riugers were present from Northampton, Swindou, Burford, Oxford, Barburr, Adderbury, Deddington, Lower Heyford, Dun's Tew, Greal Tew, Somerton, Cropredy, Slenington, Warmington, Wicken and Coventry, and Messrs. Taylor's work was spoken of in terms of high praise by all who rang oil the bells. Service was conductrd by the Vicar (Rev. Canots Jones), and the tiddress was gived by the Rev. J. A. Fittigren, who based an inspiring adfless on "Is it worlih while?" He said that perthaps some of them noticed the two large beams which lay outside the charch as they eame in. They were taken out of the belfry when the bells were put in. He was lookiug at them one day when a man came along and, after hearing what the new bells had cost, said, 'Is it worth while? It will Bll be the same in a hundred years time.' Well, there were many people who said that, and he wratrod them that afternonn to think about that utterance. People said that sort of thing aud thought they were uttering a truth of experience, and went even further and acted upon that principle. It might seem Shal they were right, becange a man might drop down with sickeess and pass away, and though his grandeliildren might remember him his greatmgrandehildren would not, and his deeds would not remain in the memory of his friends. Take, for justance, the bellringers of that chureh a hundred years ago. How many of them could even remember their names? That scemed to be the fate, these people would argue, willt respect to their instifutions, customs, fashione and build-ings-that they passed right away. And a great mass of ordinary things and perbons did seem to pass out of existence, so that they might think they were only sult of those immediately behind and those in front of them. If, liowever, they thought for a moment or two about the statement that it would all he the same in a hundred yarss time theg would see that it was untrue, and that it was in most cases un cxcuse for a lazy and indolent life, the taking of the line of least resistance, which whs the wrong line. They were the lieirs of the ages, and heliered that nothing could be lost.

Having emphesisod the need of cveryone doing lis best and atmost For beauty, humenity, goadness and brotherliness, the preacher asked, What coula ther, in their bumble way, fo as members of the Christian Church-and bellringers in that Ghurch? Men had a right to expent a good example of them, in the first place in their family home, the practice of pationce, and the setting of an example of temperato and holy living. And a gond example, too, ontside the home. Think of the liarni done whon a bellringer, who rang others to church, did not go to church himself, and whose conduct was no higher than that of the man who profesced no religion at all. Their St. Mary' - ringers had a glorious peal of ten bells. The Parochal Charcls Conneil might have been content with Iess, bub after mucl adviee they had done their best, and the result was something to be prond of. Those bells would ring out for many generations and delight the minds and touch the hearis of countless men and women ant lift bheir hearts to God. If that sort of mind should be the slandard in all they put thpir henrts to, then the world would be a lomter place in a hundred years' time for their traving lived in it in the carly wears of the 20 th and the last vears of the 19 h centin

After the service, tea was purtaken of at the Church House, and Fas followed by the anmual meeting of the branch. The Rev. \(C\). F. Cholmondeley (president of the branch) was supporterl by the hon. secretary (Mr. R. R. Lewis), Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Guild), Ganon Coleridge, Rev. Canon Jones, Rev. Wr. E. MacFarlane (vice-president of the branch) and Mrs. MacFarlane, Rev. G. Barr, W. Pots, Mr. R. T. Hibbert (Guid secretary) ant Mr. A. J. Wright (Guild seeretary).
Mr. Lewis presented the balance sheet, which showed the year was Elarted with a balance in hand of 870 s. 8yd., hank interest was 1 s . 7 d. , linging membera' subseriptions cane to ed 17 s . Gil., and honorary members' \(£ 2\) 10s., making a total income of sit 9s. 9fd. On the exmenditure sine grants of El to Deddington (secoad) and 22 to Somerton had been made, and \(£ 3\) 13s. 9ri. forwarded to the general A teasuren. These and a fow incidental expeuses made a total of e7 19 s .9 d , leaving a balance of \(£ 5 \mathrm{ls} .7 \mathrm{~d}\). in the Post Office Sarings Bank and cash in the treasurer's hands of \(£ 18 \mathrm{~s}\). \(5 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}\). The accounts had been audited hy Mr. Millor. Mr. Lewis observed khat el of the cash in hand had been promised the linnbury Restoration Fund.
The accounts were adopled.
Mr. Lewis then read his reporl as seeretary as follows: In making n few oluservations on the wear's working I would poink out lhat two towars have heen added to our list-Streple Astou hy transfer from the Witneg and Woodstock Brameh, and Shenington by the election of two new members. The Rev. J. W. S. Walker honorary member of Steeple Aston, I regret to state hus resigued. While you will note an increase of members' subscriptions to the amount of 188 . Gol.. I must point out that there are far too many asterisks against the names of members in this year's report Honorary members' subseriptions have also increased hy 5s. Six new members have been elected during the yent. One peal lias heen rung by members of the branch with tite assistance of Mossrz. Holifield, senior aud junior, of Appleton, namely, a peal of Grandsire Triples at Adderbury on \(\mathrm{D}_{\mathrm{m}}\) cember 26th; while memhers have lakea part in several attempta Since our last annual meeting Banbury bells have been completeí and were dedicated by the Archdeacon of Oxford (Bishop Shaw) on Palm Sunduy at evensong. the now have a line light peal of ten, and onls need keenness and the porseverance of the ringers to accomplists some fine hell music. The bells, I am sure, can be rated as ong of the finest peals in the diocese, if not in the whole country. Ded. dington bells are in the hands of the bell banger's, and should soon bo ready for dedieation. Somerton, too, if not already started upon, will soon be put in hand. These two facts alouc should be an encouragement to greater offorts in the art of clange ringing. Tho branch has made granis to 52 lo each of these towers. As a branch we are most fortunate in the fact that we have been entertained to Lea at three of our meetings during the year. While the meetinga have been fairly well attended, there is much room for improvernent. I feel that there is not the same kenness as when the branch was first formed. Perhaps this can be attributed to the fact that three of our towers have been out of commission. I would like to mention the fact that 1 have been greatly encouraged by the help of our chairman and Mrs. Cholmondeley. They are almays in aftendanse at oul meetings, and I am sure put themselves to much inconvenianer on our behaIf. As to the future, I would ask members to make every effort to he preseat at the meetinge, and pay their subscriptions in Janary when they ate due. By so doing they help all their offieers, both branch and general guild, and conduce to that good followship necessary to every good effort (applause).

\section*{The report was adopted.}

\section*{MORE KEENNESS FOR SUNDAY RINGING NEEDED.}

Mr. Lewis read an appeal on behalf of St. Mathlews', Harwell, Berks, where 8600 was required to carry out the work of reatoration, and, owing to other cxpenses in the parish, it was necessary to raiso a large part of this outside.
The meeting roted 51 to the appeal.
The Rev. C. F. Cholmoudeley was re-elected president, and the Rev. O. W. O. Jenkjn congratulated the branch on having such a chairman, and said he hoped ho would receive the backing of all the members.

The Rev. W. E. MacFarlane was re-elected vice-president.
Mr. R. Lewis was re-elected hon. scerctary, and thanked the members for their rentewed confidence. He would do his besi, and asked them all to do likewise. He said there was not enougli keenness for Sunday gerrice ringing. Ab ove or two towers he visited for Sunday serrice ringing he only found the ropes balf manned. It was not good encugh. Sunday service came before anything else (hear, hear). Mr. Milfer was re-clected uuditor, and Messrs. H. Baggett ant J. Simons representatires to tho general committee of the Guild.
Mr. Leslie Malings, of Duns Tew, and Mr. Albert Grant, of Lower Hevford, were elccted new members.

BELL \(12 E S T O R A T I O N S\).
Tho Chairman congratulated the branel on the meeling that day, and spoke of how they were favoured by the presence of the Master, the seovetary and treasurer of the Guild, and also Canon Coletidge. The Req. C. W. O. Jenkyn congraiulated the branch on its yrar's work and on being able to make grants to two towers. He also congratulated the secretary on his excellently composed report, and all those who hat been concenned in ohtaining that delightful ring of ten bells in the Banbury tower. There was onf one thilg to be done now, and that was to make the acoustic conditions perfect.
Canon Coleridge was called upon, and alluded to the work two Central Council did for ringers. He mentioned two books which were shortly to be published. One was on Minor Melhods, to be issued by the Central Council. He recommonded them to approach their Parochial Ghurch Councils with a riew to their obtaining volume for the ringers at eacil church. The other was a book to be published by Mr. E. Norris, of Leicester, and would be a completo history of ringing and ringers, and would form a monumental work. Concluding, he said it had given him very, great pleasure to come to Banbury, where he had nol been on ringing matters since the days of the late Camon Porter. The bells then were in a totally different condition to what they were now, and he congratulated all coacerned ou the work which had been carried out.
Mr. A. J. Wright, the Guild treasurer, observed that zo would have pleasure in a few days in sending a cheque towards the resiomtion of the Banbury bells. During the past five years tho towers in the Banbury Brancl had received f20 out of the f60 he had got together for restoration purposes. He referred to the number of members who had not paid theiv subscriptions, and hoped that next year that would be remedied.

Mr. Miller proposed that each tower appoint someone to oollect the nembers' subsciptions and lave them ready to hand to hr. Lowis at the Jarluary meeting. This was seconded by Mr. Scarrott and carried.
Mr. Hibbert, the Guild secretary, said the Banbury bells were an exceptionally fire peal, as were also Adderbury and Gre日t Tew, and when Deddington and Somerton had been restored there was an reason why the members should not make a name for themselves. He urged them to back up thair secretary, who had done splendid work since the branch hegan to toddle.

\section*{SUPPORI BY THE AUVISORY COMMITTEE.}

Mr. W. Potts proposed a comprehensipa vote of thanks to Canon Jones for the use of the church and tower for the service and ringing, to the Rev. J. A. Hultgren for his excellent address, to Mrs. Palmer for ber accompaniments on the organ, and to the Rev. C. F. Cholmondeley for his services in the chair. As a member of the Oxford Diocesan Advisory Comrattee, he was acquanted with the very great movement thero was for the advancement af ringing in that diocese. All at onco there scemed to have been a ciovement to put bells in order, and at every meeting they got appeals. The committee was giving the movemert its heartiest support, but he did not think they could do it without the raluable advice of the Master of the Guild. He was their bechincal advisor. During the last three years their debt to Mr. Jenkyn had been simply inestimable. As it member of the Banbury Parachial Church Council he was pleased with the coramendations which had been passed upon their bells. Thej would give satisfaction to the ntembers of the Parochial Chureli Council and the town of Banbury as a whole. They were pleased with them themselves, but they were glad to have \(t\) as the expert knowledge of those in that room. He alluded to how the Parochial Churel Council was helped in the matter by the band of ringers and notably by their secrefary, Mr. Lewis, who attended meetings and gave invalunble advice, which thes glady followed, the result of which they had seen. The books Canon Coleridge had recommended should find their way to the Banbury beltry. He was glad to know that that Tural Deanery had been ao successiul in securing so large a proporfion of ihe Guild funds, and he did not think they lad done yet, as there was another belfry not fay from Banbury coming along for freatment, and the generosity they had received in the past gave him encouragement to hope it wauld also be helped (applause).
\(\mathrm{M}^{2}\). L. Clifton seconded the wote of thanks, which was accorded with acclamation.
(anmo Jones, in reply, said lue was glad to see such a good compary and to welcome them to the parish and belfy and Church House. He was not a ringer, but lie lived within fifty yards of St. Mary's, so he claimed to know all that could be known about the sound of bells (Izughter). Ghey wete glad to linve liad Canon Coleridge and Mr. Jenkyn with ibem. They found their advice at all times most helpful. \(\Delta 5\) chairman of the Parochial Church Council he would be very glad to benefit by the suggestion of Canon Coleridge, and he would see that copies of the books should be in the belfry, and he hoped the ringers would read them.
This concluded the meeting, and members of the company then adjourned to tho lower, where more ringing was inculged in, Grandsinc norl Stedman Caters, Keul Treble Bob and Carmbidge Surprise Roya being rung.

\section*{WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD}

A meeting of the Southampton Districh was held at Bishopstoke on Saturday, July 26th. The bells were available during the afternoon and eveniag, and tea and the business meeting were held at the Anchor Inn, presided over by Mr. Qeo. Williams, viep-presidenl and Ringing Master, supported by Mr. F. W. Rogers, Mls. G. Pultitget, Mr. F. T. Bayley, and Capt. W. Linter. Others present wete trom North Stoneham, King's Somborne, Porlsmouils, Overton, Swatinorg, Titchfield, Portsea, Bath and Bishopstoke. It was deciden to hold the next meeting at Nelley Abbey on Saturday, Oatober 4th.

A vote of thanks was passed to a friend for kindly defraying the cost of ten, and to the Rector of Bishopstoke (who was unable to bo present) for the use of bells. The methods rung were Graudsire and Stedmen Triples, Boh, Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge, Superlative and London Surprise Major.

\section*{PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT.}

A very successful meeting of the Portsmouth District was hekl at East Meon on Saturday, July 19th, when nearly 40 ringers were present from Bramshott, Blackmoor, Enst Mcon, Petersfield, Portsmouth (St. Thomas' and SI. Mary" \({ }^{\prime}\) ), North Stonelam, Ryde, Swan more and Titehfeld, also visitors from Balh, Rogate and Mr. J. W Trappitt (Alton)

Ringing commenced about three o'clock and contiused umil \($ .30\), during which time the Vicar (Rev. C. Beckwith) risited the belfry and welcomed the members. The Guild gervice was held in the Laty Clapel, the Vicar also acting as organist. A very helpful addrass was also given by him, based on the Rotary motto, 'Sarvice, Hot self."

An excellent tea was served in tho George Inn, which way followed by the business meeting, at which the Vicar presided. Mr. Alan R. Pink, late secretary of the Leathericad District of the Guildord Diocesan Guild, who now resides at Potersfild, was elected a ringing member and was warmly welcomed to the district.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Hawant, where the belly haye been recently restored, on §aturday, October 18th next.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rer. C. Beckwitlt for bis kindness in giving-permission to ring and for presiding at the meeting. In the caurse of his reply he said how much Ease Meon was indebted to the Guild for the valuable assisuance given to his ringera by instruction.
Tho ringers adjourned to the tower for Eurther ringing until 8 p.m. During the day the tinging ranged from Rounds and Grandsire Doubles to Superlative, Cambridge, London and Bristol Surpriae Major'.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN \(£\) THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

The 'touring' season hus begun. A 'week' is now in progrese in Lancashire, and there is shortly to be one in Somersot, while bext month a party will be peal ringing in Cambridegshire and Northants. It is said that, for some people, these tours are the only weeks of work they do during the year. But that may be a libel. Anyhow, two peals \(n\) day for a week may be looked apou as a holiday, but it isn't-entirely.
Half a dozen of the bend who rang the recorid peal of Cambridge Maximus last year celebrated the first amiversary on Augusi Bumk Holiday by taking part in a peal in the same method at Rearling.
A 'silent' peal of stedman Iriples was rung at Dratton, farks, on August 7th, 1899.
The first peal of Double Norwich in Wules was rung on Augusl. 13th, 1883.

Many happy returns of the day' to Mr. William Pye, who will reach his 60th birthday next Thursday.
The peal of Cambridge Maximus at Walsall was rung on July 12th, not the 5 th as published.

Wigan is famous for many things, including its pier, but few people know that it has been celebrated for its bolls. Phe foundry existed in the 17 th and 18 th centuries, and bells east in those days aro stil to be found in about bhirty churches in Lancashire, Oheshira ant North Wales.
The original firm was thet of James and John Scott. They were builiffs in 1627 , and in 1653,1688 and 1701 members of the anme family were Mayors. In the I8th contury the Scotts were suceeded at the Foundry by the Ashtons, who, in the order Talph, Luke and Ralph, carried on the trade for three-quarters of a century.

KHLLED WHILE RETURNING FROM TEST MATCH.
When returning from the teat match at Mauchester, on Safurday week, to his home at Whittle-le-Woods, Mr. Edward Byfield, Coxhead was killed, as the result of a motor-cycle accident, which it is be lieved was caused by a burst tyre. The deceased, who was 27 yeurs of age, was a ringer at Whittle-le-Wonds Farish Church, and was bu keen cricketer. He was secretary of the Whittle-le-Woods Gricket Club and captain of the second eleven.
Mr. Coxhead began his ringing with two or three ofther young men at the end of the Great War, in which three or four of the Whitile-lo-Woods riggers gave their lives. He was regular and conscientious in his attendance at hoth service ringing and practice, and a mosta reliable yinger in the standard methods, in most of which he had rung peals. He was of a cheery dispasiion, and will be sadly nissed, especially by his cricketing and ringing friends.
The funeral took place on Wednesfay week at Whitble-le-Woods Parish Church, the Rev. T. H. Priestnell officisting. Members of the ericket dub acted as bearers into tho church, and the ringera conFayed the coffin ta the grave. Among the raany fioral tributes was one in the shape of a bell from deceased's follow ringers.

\section*{THE OUTING SEASON}

\section*{MORE REPORTS OF PLEASANT DAYS.}

This is the season of the "annuad outing;" and every weck-end gees a "general post", among ringors, who by road or rail seek out new towers in which to exertise their skill. Below are some of the reports which hava reached us, telling of happy days spent atrortg the bells:-
The Higham Ferrers ringers, acconpanied hy Mp Harry Chapman, of Kingston, ant Messrs. C. Whitney and W. atd F. Whitmore, of Handeds, spent an enjoyable day when they risited the belfries of Nowpor. Pagmol, Stony Stratford, Leightoo Buzzard and Woburn an outing. Traveling win Wollaston and Olney, the first stop was made at Newpott, where loncies of Grandsire and Stedman I'riples were rung, but the loils had to be harricdly lowered owing ol aiglat, totaches of Grandsinc, Stedtman, PIn Bob, Double Norwich and Kent Trethe Bob Major were lurught round. Fi'hen along Watling Street, Lhrough beautiful Buckinglamshire country to Leighton Huzzard, where, after tea, the pen! af tenz (temor 26 cwt.) were laised, but after a courso of tranditu Gaters it was decided to conline finging to the back cight, as monu of the ringers were not fulty uequainted with ten bells. Prorecding to Whburs, the fine peal of eiglat in the beantiful Churdh of the Blessed llary were soon set going, and these were woted "tho bext af the day. Heve a course of Superlative was rung besides the usual methods. The party then Ermpelled home through Wohurn Park vin Ampulnill and Bedford, rriwing in Highan Ferrers fut 10.30 p.m. Thanks are due to the various jncumbents and steeplekecpers and to MLr. Geo. Randall, of Higham, who so ably erranged this outing.

\section*{LAVENHAM'S BENEDICTS BEAT BACHELORS.}

THe SS. Peter and Paul's Socioty, Lavenham, held their ninth annalal outing on Saturday, July 26th, under the leadership of Mr. Sbedman Bymonds. A start was made at 7.30 a.m., the firgt halt boing at Frambingham, where tho parby were met by Messrs. Maulden and Criokmer, Touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Kent Treble Bob were rung and a brief visit was also made to the old castle. The nexi call was Kelsale, where Stertmmn, Double Norwich, Kent and Superlative were zung. At 12 noom the party reaclied Leiston, the min olbjective of the day. Hore the ringers were met by the Messrs. liailey. St. Margarel's handy peal of eight were soon tapping off merry tounhes of Stedman, Plain Rab, Kent and Superlative. A competition in striking took place botween the society's single and martied bands, the latter winning by ane point. At Sizewell, Falcon lna, the party sat down to lunch. This event was also won by the married section by two plolints. An enjoyable hour and a linlf was afterwards apent on the beach at Sizewell Gap, where the Dulcet Handbell Quartette ' rendered some line old airs, 'four in hand.' At Pettistree, courses of Plain Holr amd Kent, were rung on the peal of ix. Afterwards the party wore entertained to tea at ihe Grange by Mrs. B. Taylor, a native of Tavonham. The last call was at Grundis hurgh, where the Rev. Sation (Rector') gave the ringers a hearty wolcome in the tower. The mathoils rung here werc Grandsire, Double Norwich, Kent and Oxford. Fome was reached at 10 p.m. when, for the eighth year in sucression, the same unanimous opinion was expressed, "that this was hetter than the last." The ringers wish to hake this opportunity of offeridg their thanks to all those who hefped to make the outing such an enjoyable onc.

\section*{HARWICH RINGERS IN SUFFOLK}

The ghual outing of St. Niclzolas' Guild, Harwich, took place on Saturday, duiy 26ih, when in glorious weather a visit was paid by charabanc to Sufalk. Galling first it Henley, the ringers were met by the Rev. W. C. Pearson, and the bells were sut going to Kout Treble Rob Najor and Grandsire Triples on this light ring of eight. The next stop was Helminghan, where the fine old church dates back to 1500 and contains a rery musical peal of eight bells. Touches of Keut I'reble Bob Major and Grandsire Triples were brought round. After inspecting the rery interesting church, a move was made to Framlingham, which was reached about 1.30 p.m. Mr. F. Watting, of Sammundham, here joined the party, and, lunch having been clisposed of, tracks were rade for the tower of St. Michael's Clurch, where a well-struck 576 of Kent and 504 of Grandsire Triples were hrought round out the fine old peal, the hells having been cast at various detes from 1583 to 1718. The church also possesses an organ which dates from 1574, and was presented to the church by Pembroke College in 1708. After an interesting visil to the Castle, the journey was resumed to Hasketon, the home ol M1. G. Thompson, captain of tie Guild, where tea was waiting. Tracks were then made for home, which was reached at 10.45 p.m. The Guild wish, through the medium of "The Ringing World," to thank the Ref. W. C. Pearson, of Henley, for grantiag permission to ring on tive bells, also Messus. Whiting and Last, of Felmiagham, and Mr. I. Hall, of Framlingliann, for meeting them and helping to make the tlay a success. They also thank Miss Phompson for arranging lhe ten.

\section*{AN ISLAND TRIP}

The ringers of St. Mary's, Putney, hetd their anmunl outing on Saturday and Sunday, July 19th and 20th. The direction chosen this year was Portsmouth and the Esle of Wight, and 6.30 a.m. saw the noble 14 packed into a local 'Ches.' and off via Kingston Bypass Road and the ald Portsmouth Road, complete with luggage and the famous handbells of 'He of the many initials.' On top of Hindlaead a course of Grandsirc Triples was tapped off in solema solitude before 8 a.m.-Have we macle a record? (I wonder)-bar 8.55 saw the party seated for brenkfast at headquarters, Madden's Hotel, Portsmouth. Having shown that, as a band, we have as hendthy an appetite as the next one, and bedrooms laving been allocated, we proceeded in leisurely fashion to lose a boat across for Ryde. However, in compensation, we were enabled to see the alriva! home of the battle cruiser, "Suffolk, from the China station, also Sir Thomas Lipton's challanger, 'Shamrock Y.,' which was then about to start for America, watching crowds voicing their hopes for victory and ithe return of "The Cen, Ryde was reached soon after cleven u'clock, and 'Old Joe' soon finding another charabane (a rather difficult job, as they are so small), we were on tour, taking the route to Brading, where an eight of about 10 cwt . wera at our disposal. Ringing was done in standard methods, Mr. Pain kindly obliging with keys. It was intended to put two refrectory persons in the ancient stocks here, but unfortunafely, or the reverse, as you look at it, the stocks were railed in. It was a case of 'On, Stanley, on, \({ }^{3}\) this being the 'Shuvver,' so via Sandown and Shanklin, throngin lovely lanes in delightful weather, occasionally 'hitting up' a piece of promerade, we went, reaching Godshill in time for a light lunch, afterwards proceeding to the quaint hilltop church, where we found a wedding in course of progress. Very appropriately the bells rang out for another happy couple, seemingly all the more so because of the music of a nice little six, smartly turning in a toucli of Bob Minor. These bells are by Llewellyn and James, a name not vor frequently met with among bells nowadays. A look round the very interesting church here, and we were hounded into our coach by the aforesaid Joe, and on the road to Carisbrooke, driving round the Castle slowly and admiring this ancient gtructure. Time woult not permit a close inspection, as we were duc to ring on the spleathirl eight here (tenor 25 owt.) by the Croydon Foundry. Several touches were enjoyed and the bells lowered, farewells said, and we were om boand for Ryde. Here a hearyish cight by Taylor were in contrast to the last peal, preferences being rather divided. After separuting the combatants, tea was had, and 'the foe person' sunounced that ho lad done with the party till supper time, so thoy could have the remaining part of the day to themselves. All went their weys, but caught a boat and arrived back at headquarters safely. Two abher "'Erbs' arrived at 11.50 , and after feeding were put to bed, and then, 'rest for the organiser.' Sunday morning saw the party at Alverstoke, where the local band welcomed them, a wery fine light eight by Taylor's being made use of. Various diversions till 5.30 were the order, but not much could be done is the way of sightseeing as the wenther became undone. It did aot, however, entively rlama the spirits of the party, a fire of raillery and chaff making up for much. Ringing for evening service was the last item, Thomas i Becket, where Mr. Buraett and lis men gave us a welcome, and the lovely 25t cwt. peal of eight were heard to advantage in standard methods. Borrowing a few locals, an almost 'Farltless" (capital \(F_{\text {, }}\) pleasc) course of Double Norwich was the outslanding feature of the whole trip, one severe critic remarking that Well woth while trarelling the distance to ring that alone. Home was the noxt objective, and, the weather by now having become more or less a deluge, we hadi a rather more difficult jounney to go through, arriving al Putney, tired hut happy, at 11.50 , one, whose name withhold, having to stay the nigit with Mr*. Samaritan. Thauks are due to gentlemen who met us at the towers with such courtess, were awarded, Mr. Cassell receiving the Iron Cross, while the treasurer was presented with a very nice and useful pipe, which I believe he knows how to use. Conducting was shared by Messrs. Elson, Malins, Casseli and Eerbert.

\section*{BOURNEMOUTH RINGERS' TOUR}
line annual outing of the ringers of St. John's Churein, Bournemouth, took place on Saturday, July 26th. Leaving Bonmemouth at 8.30, the first stop was North Stomeham, where the band was mat by the Master of the Guild (Mr. Gearge Williams), and touches of Graudsire and Stedman Triples and Cambridge Surprise were rung. The next call was ai St. Michael's, Southampton, where various touches were suceessfully brought round. After Junch, came an juteresting drive to All Saints', Dibden. After ringing liere, the party made for Lymington, wherc tea was partaken of at the church. Many excellent tauches were afterwards accomplished. Proceading to Miffori-on-Sca, many methods were rung on this beautiful peal of eight, whieh was the last call of the day. The liandbells were kept very busy on the homeward journey, Bowrnemoulh being reachen hy 11.30 . The ringers wish to thank all the incumbents at the churches risited for the use of the belle and the stecplekeepers for having the bella ready for them.

\section*{HASLEMERE RINGERS VISIT THAMESIDE TOWERS.}

The monual onting of the Faslemere, Surrey, ringers was held on July 19th, when, acwompanied by Miss Irene Hastie, of Leatherhead, Messrs. A. J. Bartlett and 31. Smithers (Clidedingtold) they spent an enjoyable day on the Thamesid. The first stop was St. Mary's, Srames, whero tonches of Grandsire, Plaiu Boh and Stedman were brought round. At Egham, touches of Stedman, Grandsire and lreble Bob were hrought iuto rounds, and the Yicar came to speed the pariug guests. At Windsor, an excellent lunch had heen prepored, and, arten 'full justice bad been done, Old Windsor Chureh was visiled, and touches of Plain Bob, Grandsire, Treble Bob and Stedmary were rang: Going next to Bray, the bells were raised, and Bob Minor, Grandsire Doubles and Treble Bob were rung, and this finished the ringing for the day. After an excelleat tea at the Crown Hotel, at the inwitation of the Master, a trip on the river to Baulter's Lock ancl hack was greatly enjoyed. The homeward journey was commenced, and home was reached about 9.30 p.m., after a anost enjoyable day. The company arranged to meet for a quarterpeal of Grandsire Caters on the Sunday evening, and this was rung in 48 mins. by the followind: Major J. H. B. Hesse 1, R. Haycs 2, B. Eltiott 3, F. Bowden 4, H. Furlonger 5, J. Bartlett (eouductor) 6, W. Eldridge \(7, R\). Overy 8 , M. Smither \(9, F\). Wicks 10 . This was W. Fintridge and H. Furlongers first quarter on an inside belf.

\section*{BEACONSEIELD RINGERS IN SURREY,}

Beaconsfield ringers bad their anuual outing on July 12th, when thoy visited some West Surrey towers. A start was made from the clureli folittle after 12 ochoek for Farniam, where they were net by the veteran Mr. Clapshaw, and the bells raised and sfarted to Stednum and Double Norwich. The bells and tower here are all that ciun be desired, and this accounted for the party being a bit late in gettiog away, Frensham was next on the list. Here there is a nice ring of six, but the time here had to be cut short to enahle the purty to catch up with the schedule, but all had a pull, Kent and Cambridge being rumb. Then away over Hindhead to Chiddingfold, where Stedman, Doula Norwith and a particularly good course of Gambridge were ruag. After tea, the party proceeded to Witley, Here conditions are not in favour of good ringing, but Stedman was attempted, and Bola Major was brought round. Proceeding to Godalrumg, the last tower oa the list, Stedman, Double Norwich and Cambridge were brought round, and the bells lawered. The inner man having been refreshed, a slart was made for home, which was reached at 11.30 p.tn-, all being agreed that a good half-day had been spent. The band wish to take this opportunity of thanking the incumbents and towerkeepers af the towers mentioned for the use of the bells and the trouble taken to make the visits a success.

\section*{PORTSMOUTH CATHEDRAL RINGERS' EXCURSION.}

The annozal outing of the ringers of the Celhedral Churcla of St. Thomas of Canterhary, Portsmauth, was licld ou Saturday, Juiy 12th, when, accompanied by az old friend, in ihe person of Mr. J. H. Blake, of Chichester, a start was made just before 8 a.m. in fine hut somewhat cold weather. The coute taken was via West End, Lyudhurst and Clitisteliurch to Poole, which was reached 30 minutes lato, tue to the rriver haring chosen the wrong road. Riaging took place at St. Tames Church, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples ond Bol Mrijor heing rutg. At Wiurborne, an excellent furch awaited the party at the Crown Hotel, but unfortunately time did not permit an inspection of the Minstar Church of St. Cuthberga, as the ringerg ware due at Wimborne St. Giles. On arrival, it was found that a wedding was about to take place, so, immediately after the ceremony, the bells rang out a message of gladness to the happy couple from tingers of another dionese. After touches of Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob, anil Kent Treblo Bob Major had been rung, a move was made to Salisbury. In the abseace of the Dean (who was tufortunately unable to be present in person), one of the resident canobs was waiting to welcome the party, and, together with a gride, pointed out the great architectural beauties and historic l'alics of the Cathedral. Tea was taken at the County Fotel, after which touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung on the sonovons actare et. St. Thomas' Cherch.
The homeward journey was made via Romsey, where a short stop only was made, and Portsmouth was agair reached at 9.45 p.m. The fampany would litco to give expression, through these columss, of their feelings of deep appreciation of the kindness nad courtesy Bhown them by the Rt. Rev. Lord Bishop Rardolph, D.D., and the camons and staff of Salisbury Gathedral, also to all the incumbents and steoplekeepers of chatares who contributed so much to the suctess of the day.

\section*{PRESTON BRANCH ANNUAL MEETLNG.}

A very successful mecting of the Preston Branch was held at Higher Walton on Saturdeg, August 2nd. The Jells, a handy peal of eight, were raised shortly before three o'clock, and were rung in various methorls tifl after 8 p.m. Members were present from oleven of the branch towers, as well as Messrs. Grounds and Lhooth, from Fitardish, and all present lad a pull, the tinging being of guite a high standiart.

Before commencing the business meeting, the Chairman, Mr. W. Slarples, referred to the tragic death of une of their fellow-ringers, Mr. E. B. Coxhead, of Whittle-le-Wonis, andi also to the death of Mrs. Hooth, the wife of Mr. J. Pooth, of Standish, who was present with them thet day. The Chairman pronased a yote of condolence with Mr. Coxlegd's relatives and also with Mr. Booth.-This was carried with the memhers standing in silence.
Arising from the minutes of the last meeting, ilhe Secretary read correspondence, and explained why the meeting which was to have been held tht St. Helen's, Garstang, latd been postponex. The explanation was accepted.
The meeting conthrmed the election of Arthur Townley Parker, of Chorliey, as a member of the association.
The place and date of the next meeting was then fixed, and the Secretary then gave a report of the branch's activities during the pear. Meetings had been held, he said, at Chorley Parish Church, Hoghton, Broughton, Samlesbury, Preston Parish Church, Brownedge, Leyland St. James, Penwortham, Whittle-le-Woods, and Chorley. They had also hele a joint meeting with the Fylde Branch ait St. Annes. At the meetings held at Hoghton and Preston Parisgh Charch, Mr. Wra. Taylor gave lectures which were much appreciated by all preseut, the subject being, "In and out of course in change ripging, and also aids to the young conductor. The meeting at Ereston l'arish Cluarch was a joint meeting, at which the Blackburn, Pylde, Wigan, and Bolton Branches were represented, and it is pronosed to hold a similar meeting at Blackhurn ahout the same time next ycar. On the whole the neeefings harl been fairly well attended, a fair number of other hranch member liaving been present. at varions meetings. The standred of ringing in the branch secmed rather better, if they juiged by the methods rung at the meotages ant the peals rung by the branch. The number of poals rang was thirteen, which was as large a number as ever. They liad been rung in seven differenl towers by thirty-four members, cleven of whom have rung their flist peal in one or more methons, while five had ramg their first peal inside in \({ }^{2}\) nifforent methorl. The methods rung Wirta: Plain Rob Minor 2, Minor in luree melhods 1, Cambridge
 Hoh Major 1. Local peals werc vung al Penwortham, Briadle and Whitthe-ic-Woods. In the locel peal of viner at Pcnwortham, Mr. E. W. Hutchinson was successinl in ringing his first paal: this at the ripe age of seveuty-three years. The peal of Minor at Preston was on the leaviest peral of bells rimy to Minor by the associa tion. Tho peat of Minor rang haff-mufled at Brindle was rung as a last taken of respect to Mr. J. H. Gartsicle, of Chorley, an old and esteemed ringer and cinurchworker. During the year, Mr. B. A. Knights liat completed his one hundred peals for the association, amp he was the first Preston Braneh membor to do so.

\section*{UNPAID SUBSCRIPTIONS.}

The bells at St. Helen's, Churchton, and Broughton had botis been in the hands of the foumbrs and hell hangets muring the year, andi the reports regarding both peals were very satisfactory- Subscriptions hat some in fairly well, although there wero one or two towers where they had not had a meeting recently, where the members had larger than last year, as sixteen or seventeen new members hat heen elected. hat they hasl lost one of two through dealh, among them M1. E. B. Coxhead, who was killed the previous week in a motor accident. They had also lost a few members intrough lack of interest, as well as members leaving the district. For valious reasons the anמual social was nbandoned this year, but it was to be hoped it would (tur) be revived.
The report was accepted, and the secretary thanked
Mr. Sharples gave a report of the committre meeting held at Sharples
Before the election of branch secretary took place, a proposal was put that the secretary be elected for two years, as it was thouglit it would bo bencficinl, as the committee men would then retire in alternate years.-On being put to the meting, the proposal was cnrried, und the retiring secretary was elected unanimnusiy, with a vote of thranks for his services, one of the supporters humorously suggesting that the secretary be paid the same remumeration es binge
The Secrelary thauked the members for their vote of thanis and for their renewed confidence in him.
A leiter whs then read regarding the Central Council's proposal that Hesciations sliould agree to ahide hy the rules and decisions of the Ceniual Council. The matter was disenssenl, anrl Mr. Rracley the Ceniral Council. -The matter was disenssea, anil Mr. Rracley

\section*{SKIPTON RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING}

Mr. and Mrs. William Downham Hillary, of Skipton, celebrated thejr golden wedding anniversary on July Bist, baving been married ath Skipton Parish Church in 1880 . Both are well known in Skipton, and recelved many congratulations apon the auspicious event.

Mr. Hillary has been a ringer at Skipton since 1878 . He is the steond oldest member of the band, his brotjer-in-law, Mr. Willian Billows, baving had two pears longer service. When Mr. Hillary joined the band in 1878, there was only a peal of six balla, und the ringers were Messrs. Wm. Trees, Joseph Barrett, J. Ingham, W. Pate, Joseph Thompon, Tom Harry grees, S. Watson, W. Holdsworth, Wm. Billows and himself. He has served under three Rectors -the Rev. P. C. Kidd, the Rev. H. L. Cook and the present holder ut the living, the Ref. R. S. Stoney; he has rung in honour of great events in the reigns of three monarchs-the jubilee of Queen Victoria in 1887, the Diamond Jubilee in 1897, and the coronations of King Edward and King George. He has taken part in 37 peals, including 6,048 , which was the record for the longest peal of Oxford rung in Yorkshire that time (1889). Jhe ringers, in addition to Mr: Hillary, were Messis. F. Anderson, J. Boothman, C. Langstreth (Gar grave), J. MeKell (Gargrape), and W. Billows (conductor).
Mr. Hillary can remember vividly the addition of the tro nuw bells and the rehanging of the old ones in 1887, to commemorute the Queen's Jubilee; and also when the bells were raeast and reluug teu yents ago. He also took pars with the Skipion ringerg in the reopening of the bells at Holy Prinity Church, Buynley aus Silsdea Parish Church. During the war, when a namber of ringers joined the lighting forces, their places were filled by four ladies, among them being Mr. Hillary's danghter, Miss Ada Hillary Mrs. Geo. Bottomley), who rang until 1922.
Mr. Hillary in 1879 joined the old Volunteers and served until 1901 wher lie retired with the rank of sergeant. For nineteen years h was a member of the Skipton Fire Brigade in which he attanerl the rank of superintendent.
ports neebings, and at, once time was regarded as the hest exponent of the long jump in the district. Hy also acguitled himself well in the sprint events, and was no mean performer in events over longel distances, as his sucesses testified.
For 47 years Mr. Hillary was employed as a painber with Messrs. G. H. Mason, and it was only as the result of a fall he suffered in 1928 that be retired and was prevented from completing half a cen tury of service with the firm.

Mrs. Hillary is a sister of Mrs. Thomas Bellamy, of Chapel Eill Skipton, who, with her husband, attained their gulden wedding rersary a few monthis ago.
Mr. and Mrs. Hillary have had five sons and four daugliters, they have eight grandchildren. One son, Thomas, who was a member of the Territorials, clied hefore the war, while two of his died during the war, Farace in England, from wounds receiv Gallipoli, and Harold, who had held positions with the Skiplion Brabshaw (Keighley) Golf Clubs and a similar appointment Camada, died in France
On the cve of the golden wedding, Mr. Hillary took part in quatter-penI of Grandsire Triples rung at Skipton Parish Clarreh honour of the event. The ringers were: W. Billows 1 , W. Birwhistle Garerave (conductor) 2, W. E. Townsend 3, W. Rrader, Gergrave 4, T. Gaviick 5, C. Langstreth, Gargrave, 6, J. Smilh 7, W. D. Fil lary 8.

\section*{THORNHAM RINGERS' OUTING.}

The members of the Thombam and Cotton company of ringers hal their annual outing on July 12th. The parly wont by molor fro Newmarket and then on to Wily Cathedral. The noxt cat was Haveshill, where an excellent dinner was provided for the ringers, who luter ring on the bells of that church. The next calks were Clare, Long Melford, Sudbury aud then Nayland, where the party stopped for tea and ringing. They then proceeded to Hadleigh and Ipswich but it was too late to ring on the bells of SL. Wargaret's. The tonches were conducted by Mr. G. Cattermole and Mr. B. Chilwers, and the ringers are grateful to the latter for organising the best outing they have had.

said as the Central Council was comprised of representatives electecl oy the associations it was only reasonable that the Council's decisions should be recognised and upheld by the associatious.
The feeling of the meeting was that as the Lancashire Association's -ules did not contain a yule governing the above resolution, a resolution to discuss the same at the anoual meeting should be sent to the general secretary.
Another item of interest was put before the mecting by member Who asked for information regarding the branch peal book. After discussion, the meeting instrucied the secretary to try end get the book to the next business mecting.
The usual vote of thanks to the church aubhorities closed the meeting.

\section*{NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION}

On Saturday, July 26 Lh, a visit was paid by members of the North Notts Association to Misson for the purpose of reviving the art of change ringing at that tower, and it is hoped the effort will prove succusiul. Menbers arrived from Branston, Edwinstowe, Eyerton, finmstom, Misterton and Ordsall, and a full company of local ringers was present.
Tea was served in an excelfent mamer, after which a busigess meeting followed prestided over by Rev. H. H. Skinaer, Wicar of Misson, who gave the associalion a most hearty weleome to his church.

The Hon. Secretary stated that during the past week he lisd been in communieation with the Everton ringers, and he was very pleased to say that they had decided to be reaffilinted with the association. It may be remembered that Everton was among the founders of the usgociation. The following members were duly elected: Messrs. S. Harrison, H. Searle, F. Searle, A. Smith, E. Smith, F. Smithson, G. Swindion and R. Welsh, of Everton, and T. Seamore, of Misson.
Ib was atatedt that the next meeting would be at East Markliam on a date to be fixed by the committee.
Votes of flanks were accorded to the Vical, the caterers, and all who had holped to make the meeting such a success from the learmers' point of riew. It is desirous that a few more towers should follow tho example get by the Everton band.

\section*{DEATH OF AN OLD BARNSLEY RINGER.}

The death of Mr. Wilfeen Richardson, of Barusley, at the advincod age of 84 years, has to be recorded with regret. A member of St. Mary's company fol over fifty ycars, lic was apways present for service ringing, and was a ready feacher of young ringers on pracsice nights. His ocetpation, that of warclouseman for Messis. Geo. Ginest, grocers, of Bansiey, did not permit him to go in for peal riaging away, but at home he was always ready to jois in for the benefi of ringing and ringers. He became a member of the Ancient Society of College Youtiss and the Yorkshire Association in the -Seventies, and also helped in the formation of Barnsley and Distriet Association in the ycar 1909. Owing to age and chronice rheumatism, his aclive ringing had to cease some years ago. He is the ast of the band that Mr. C. D. Potter ( (he first president of BarnsAssuciation) met if the tower at St. Mury's 54 years ago.

\section*{TAUNTON RINGER'S BEREAVEMENT}

We regret to announce the sudden deaih of Mrs. J. Burge, beloved fe of Mr. James Burgo, of Taunton. The decensed lady underwent serious operation a few years ago, but allhougla it was thought llat the operation was a very successful one, it left its mark brhind, and she sucembed on July 26th. She was laid to rest on August End in St. Mary's Cemetery amid many manifestations of esiteem and cegard. The first part of the secvice was held in St. Mary's Church, ihe Rey. W. H. Allen, Vicar of Broadway, officiatirg. As the cortege left ithe church, the grand peal of twolve was rung in rounds, halawed by twa courses of Stednan Cingues conducted by w. White, lle bells butrg helif-maffed. The band was made up of ringers from the thluee towms in Taumion. Amongst fhe many beautiful flomal fbates was oue frem the ringers of St. Mary's, where Mr. Burge has been conducter for over thirty yoars. Mach sympathy is felt for MrGiage and his daughter in their great loss.

\section*{THE CENTRAL COUNCIL'S PUBLICATIONS.}

It is admitted that one of the most valuable parts of the work of the Central Counctl is the printing and publishing of various books and pamphets in connection with the art of ringing. Some of these publications are the results of years of patient work, which would probably never have beer undertaken except by the incentive of some such representative authority, and would certainly never have passed through the press without the financial backing of a body like the Council. There is too much monetary risk in the printing of ringing literature for any ordinary investigator to undertake the work, but the Central Council is able to step in and serve the Exercise where private enterprise is unable or unwilling to shoulder the responsibility. The Council is representative of the Exercise, and what it does, by way of issuing publications, is therefore done in the name and on behalf, as well as for the benefit, of the Exercise. In effect, when the Council decides upon the issue or reissue of any work, it is carrying out the wishes of the Exercise as expressed through its elected representatives and in this way the whole of the ringing associations have a responsibility in promoting the sales of the Council's publications. The majority of ringers, perhaps, have not viewed the matter quite in this light, and it may be for this reason that in the past the sale of the Council's literature has been of no interest to them. But a little thought on the matter will enable them to see that through their associations they have a direct interest in the successful issue or otherwise of a publication, for it is through this channel that the bulk of the Council's money (derived chiefly from association fees) is expended-this quite apart from the individual interest which a ringer ought to have in the personal possession of any publication which will add to his knowledge of the art.

A few weeks ago the Guildford Diocesan Guile's representatives on the Council put forward to their members a practical suggestion for promoting the sales of the Council's publications. It was that every association should purchase a number of copies of the various works for re-sale on the ground that, as the various ringing bodies get the benefit of the Council's publications, they should bear some of the risk of the loss on sales. As a matter of fact the Council almost every year makes a loss on sales; the total number of publications sold does not defray the cost of advertising. This is not because the goods it has to offer are not worth buying, but because the article itself cannot be come by without a little trouble, and that is one of the things which many ringers (Gontinued on page 518.)

-we might almost say the majority of them-will not take when it comes to anthing affecting ringing. If these publications could be put right into their hands, instead of their having to write a letter and get a postal order, they would probably buy almost any of the books and pamphlets which the Council issue, but if it is left to their own volition, the thing never gets done. Of course, if they only realised what they have lost and are losing by neglect to purchase many of these books-not only those issued by the Central Council but by private enterprise as well-they would quickly make amends, but the diffently is they do not realise it. We believe, however, that a great deal could be done, if the associations would act upon the suggestion made by the Guildford Guild's representatives. It is true that publications can be had by associations on the 'sale or return' system, but this brings little grist to the mill-last year it brought in to the Council less than five shillings. If the associations purchased the goods outright there would be a keener desire to sell, and if the books were distributed through district officers there ought to be few meetings at which at least a few copies were not disposed of. We suggest that in the interests of ringing, as well as in the interests of the Council's business, which in the long run is the concern of the affiliated bodies, associations should seriously consider taking off the Council's hands a considerable portion of their stock. One other result of this would be to enable the Council to go on with the publication of further works in the interests of the Exercise.

\section*{PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED.}

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be griad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic posicards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand foe use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have recast the 4th and tenur at Havant, Fants, and rehung the 3ril and 4 th in new bearings. The next moeting of the Portsmouth Distriet of the Winchester and Ports. mouth Diocesan Guild is to be held at this tower.
Messers. Mears anid Stainbark ave also retuniug and reliangiug the peal of six at Whitstable, Kent.
Six ringers who were relayed in Reading for half an hour un August Bank Holiday were treated to some ' topping' Maylmus striking at St. Laurence's Church; in fact, they would lave hecu lietening yet had not their shepherd hounded them off to the estation to catch their train for a remote village in Berkshire, where they rang a humble pesl of Bob Major.
The seventh bell at Tenterden, Kent, heing out of action, owing to bearing trouble, no ringing is possible. Will intending visitotr pieagu note.
The ringer of the 3rel in the peal of Grandire Triples at Alserarent on July lith was WV. J. Nurton.
In our aceount of the veterans' peal at Worcester, Mr. W. Page's peal total was given as 111; whereas he has rung 188. This, how wor, does nat affect the aggregate total ring by the band.
A well-known ringer joined the tanks of the Benedicts on lank Holiday, when Mr. George H. Cross, formerly of Norwich, and now of Londont, was maryied to Miss M. L. Matton, wt St. Nicholas' Church. Chislelurst. The congratulations of their many friends will go out to the happy couple, who are spending their honeymoon in the West.
The peal of Kent lireble Bob Maximus at Norwich on Bamk Holidiry was rung in honour of the event, as was also a peal of New Cambridge Surprise Major at Erith on Saturday.
Somehody sat up late at Burton-on-Stather on July 31st, for we record this weck a landbell peal begun on that date and finisheil in August 1st, so that the ringing was spread not only over part of two days, but part of two monthis as well! It is the kind of performauce that cannot ver'y well be beaten unless some band will take an a peal that will need mote than in month to ring.
York Minster lias the uniqua recold of lowing had three potals uf twelve and a peal of ten in the course of its history. Its tower whe the first to contain a peal of twelve. That was in the year 2655 , hut in 1765 a new peal of ten to replace them was cast at Whitechapel, and these were opened on Angust 19th of that year. These bells wel's destroyed by fire in 1840 and znother ring of twalve roplaced tllem. These were succealed by the present glarious penl of twelve, cast at Loughborough.
The ringing 'week' in Lancashire and Cheshive onded on Sunday with a record of 14 successes in 16 attempts. The peals fucluled three of Double Norwich, four of Super'alive, three of Cambridge. one of Stednan Triples, two of Steduan Caters and one of Kent Treble Bob Regal. The two unsuccessful attempts were Stedian Cinques at Ashton-under-Lyne, lost after an hour and a lialf through a clange coursc, and Cambridge Major at Radelife, after an hour from the same cause.
The report of a peal rupg on Saturday at Ormesby has been sent without the number of changes.

\section*{BRATTON'S FINE CHURCH.}

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was lield at the Parish Church of St. James the Great (or St. Margaret), Bratton, Westbury, Wilts, on Safurday, August 2nd. Ringing commenced about 3 p.rn, and the Guild service was afterwards held, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Seymour Collett), Miss Hobbs being the organist. Tez followed in the Chureh Institute, to which 21 sat down.
A short business meeting was presided over by Mr. C. D. Heginlatton, and Miss M. Traylen and Mr. S. Davis, of Devizes, were electert members of the Guitd. Ringers, including Mr. J. T. Dyke, of Chidcompton, hon. secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Aesociation, were present from Bration, Dovizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Eiouthuroon, Thowbridge, Westburg, Warminster and Rowde. On tho wotion of the chairman, a vote of thanks was passed to the Yicar, tho organist and those who prepared the tea. The Vicar suitaibly replied and extended an invitation to those present to visit the Vicarage gardons.
Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doufles and Plain Bob Minor weco rung during the afternoon and eveniag, also a touch of Cambridgo Surprige Minor, which is believed to be the first touch of Canobindge on the bells. The following is a description of the bells:-

There ant mothing in all this connty finer in its way than this airy and spacious willage church of stome, a work as we see it af tho early of forur century. It is a cruciform building with fine cemberal tower of four stages splendidly ceiled, and consists of clerestorisd nave of two bays, with north and couth aisles, bransepts and chancel, with three doorways north, south and west of nave; the two formey alrangely far to the east, and the south doowsy haviny a porch. Tlie posilion of these two side doorways, perliaps, is due to the older church which eertainly stood here in Norman times, as the bowl (Continued in next column.)

'ГHE CENTTAL COUNCIL'S PUBLICATIONS
A pleasant meeting of the Fhrmham District of the Guidford Dincesan Guild was held at Hawley, an eight-bell tower, on Satnrduy. Hawloy is on the frime of the diocese, and is one of the half-ciozen tower, in Hompshire which come within the Guild's area. The church and bells are modaria and ideally situated for ringing. The surroundingy are zural, inut the bells, which are a uselul poal, with tenor alonts 16 cwt., would be improved outside if the sound wore better modulated by stopping up the slate louvres, which throw the sonnd down in a yather overpowering way in the immodiate neighbourthood of the church. Tliere is one other litile drawback in the fower, and that is closeness of some of the ropes to the walls. On Saturday a stalwary guaresman found that the easiest place from which to rimg the lemur was the belfry window sitl. Although the gathering was not it large one, most of the alistrict towers were reprosented during the day, includling Aldershot, Ash, Bagshot, Farmbobongh, Taraham, Aawiey and Yorktown, while there were also ringers from Woking and a wil. come visitor in Mr. Maurice Hibbert, of Busley, who, seeking en afternoon in the contry, sumeeded in getting it by landing al th railway station three miles from his objective, and finding us means of reaching Hawley except by walking.

The Guild's service was ennlteted by the fector, whe, in his nddress, emplasised the need of personal example in the lives of all thoge who served the churcli. \(A\) boumtiful tea was sarved in the Parish Room, and thoroughly enjoyed by the 23 who participated.

The Recter was thanlsed, on the call of Axhmital T. P. Walker, for the use of the bells and conducting the service, and thanks were tho extended to the ladies who plepared the tea, and to tho organist.

At the brief business meeting, over which Admiral Walker pre sided, as the Rectot had to leave for mother engagement, one anw manber was elected, and a discussion took place on the recomonendation of the Guik's Central Cauncil representatives that the Gumi should purclase, for resale to members, copies of some of the Coumeil's publications. The suggestion found favour, as it was thought that sales might be effected nt meetings if the publications were on view, whercas riugers would not trouble judivichally to send to the liburarian for them.
Major Gale (Hewley) was elected to fill a. vacancy on the Jxecutive Committee of the Guikd, caused by the regretted departure from the district of M: H. Tinsey (Seale), to whum it whs resolved to send a letter of good wishes on the new venture which he las umdertaken in Norfolk.
It was gmouncad that the next meeting would be held at Farmhorongh, where the bells have recently been inereased to six, and where this meeting watld have hecn held but for the recent denth of wne of the churchwardens.

During the day Grandsire and Stednan Triples, Bols Miner, Boh Major amt treble Bob Major were rumg. Major Gale and Admiral \({ }^{\text {'T. P. \section*{SOME 'EXERCISE'!}

If in one hundred jears' time our art is taken from us, we cen at lenst see to it that our ringing societies shall, afthough bereft of their bells continue as organised bodies down the pathway of time. Bera is a suggestion for what it is worlh; only we must organise at once.
I furaish an extract from 'Bengal Lancer' (Gollancz, Lhd.):
At Tughlakabad \(\qquad\) - we found the hereditary well-jumpers of the Moghul court still plying their profession. In 1922 some twenty of these men were alive, and all still active, including the eddest, who was ainety-nine,
' The shaft was eighty feet deep and only eight feet wide, so that if the jumpers had taken off with the slightest outward impetus they would have hit the sides and killed themselves. The only way to reach the bottum in safety was to step off as if going down a stair, and this the old men did.

One after another they went down, making a noise like popping corks."
(One side of the well is cut away in a ramp to water level with Give arches in the shaft which enable spectators to see the performers fash by.-Ep.)

The eldest well-jumper ceme up to us, wringing his wet, white beard.
"Sabib, what are we to do with our boys," he asked. "Government has forbidden us to teach them to jump, saying it is dangerous, and that they must be educated. Are they to sit in achools with idol-worshippers instead of learning our ancient craft?"
" Who is to know whal you leach them?'s
" "That is truc," he chuckled, "and on bright nights we do still show them how the trick is done, beginning from the bottom archway. But their heads are so full of this new tyranny of education that I doubt whether they will ever have our skill."
So, there you are! Let us catch and train the younger generation now. Alternate Saturdays for 'Youths' and "Cumberlands' at Tower Bridge, commencing from the low level. Jumps from the top span to count as a peal of Cambridge Maximus. Other bridges on the river to be allotted to the junior London societies.
A commitfee to be formed, known as "The Extinction Committee," to bring this most important question forward at the next annual meating of the Central Council.
May I add that our certificate will in no wny be affected, as the descent from campanalogy to Thames is very clearly depited thereon.
' COLLEGE YOUTH."

A. Includes the first neal ever rung by a Navy and Army band of riugers
B. Inclutes the record peal on 12 bells, also of Surprise.
C. The only spliced peats ever rung on 12 bells.

TOUGEES FROM THE PESL.
'Lhe lamous one-part peal of Grandsire Triples, known as 'Holt's Uriginal', which was, so far as is known, the first peal of Grandsire Triples composed with ordimary bobs and two ordinary singles only, is a composition that all Grandsice conductors should aim at calling. Thare was a time when it was recognised as an outstandmg performance fo call this peai; and it is still one of the best proofs of a conductor's ability to memariso a difficult composition, True, it is no uncommon achievement in these days-another sign of the advance of the times-and a week or two ago we published the yecord of the peal being rung "noncundueted.' It was not the first time it lad been rung in this way, bub whenever it is done it is a performance which ranks ligh among notable peals. But when all is said and done, there are a great many Grandsire conductors who rather shrink from calling the "Original; not because it is really beyond them, but because of the application that is mecessary to memorise the calling. It is sometimes overlooked that scores of touches of various lengths can be got from the peal, and that practically the whole of this 'one-part cau be learnt and practised piecemeal.
For instance, a stari can be made on the first five hundred or so, a Loneh of 545 being obtained by ringing the first 33 leads producing: 476552

\section*{WOLVERHAMPTON RINGER'S CYCLING FATALITY.}

It is with very deep regret that we have to record the death of Mr. H. R. Pickering, a very promising ringer at St. Michael and Alj Angels', 'Tettenhall, Wolverhamplon. His end came with tragic suddmners: He was cycling home on Satirday, July 26th, when he fell from his cycle in such a manner as to sustain fatal injuries, death taking place in the Royal Hospital, Wolverlampton, on Monday, Tuly 28th.
The funeral took place in the beautiful churchyard at Tettenhall \({ }^{1} 11\) Saturday, August 2nd, when six of his brother ringers carried him to the prave. The bells were rung lialf-inatifled for the service, and ngaia afterwarls, when the whole pull and slinul was rung 28 times, corresponding with the years of his age. Afterwards a peal of Grandsiro Triples half-muffed was rumg, which is recorded in the proper

AN ASSISTANT SECRETARY APPOIN'IED.
A very satisfactory meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held recently at Grundisburgh, at which fingers from a mamber of towers were present, and many different methorls were rung. But tho elief feature of the meeting was the reorganisation of the local band, under the gulance of ex-Sergt.-Major Plpe. Besides some poung begiuners, seyeral very old memberg rejoined the band, among tho best ringere being Mr. Clarke, now in his goth year, and his \(\operatorname{con}\).
'These also journeyed to Southwold, where an vory successful meeting was hek on Bank Holiday, August' 4 th . By kind permission of the Yicar, the bells of St. Fdmund's Church were at tho disposal of the ringers from midday; the methods rung wave Plain Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, aud Double Norwich ; and members and friends were present from Beccles, Grundisburgh, Leiston, Halesworth, Wrentham, Cambridge, Uffond, Landon and other ylaces,
The business meeting was held in the belfry, with Mr. F. C. Lambert, Halesworth, in the chair. Much sympatly wass expressed with the general secretary in his neryous breakdown, which eansiderably limited his powers. It was decided to elect an assistanu secretary, and the mantle fell on to Mr. C. E. Fisher, who, to the skisfao tion of all the members, promised to do all ho corsd to laelp with the work until such time as the sectetary had completely recavered.
After considerable discussion, it was deciced to divide the Southwold District info two parts, which would be absorbed into the oushibouring districts. Members from all the wowers concerned agreeing it was unanimonsly decided to join Sonthwold to ELalesworth, and Wrentham and Brampton to Beccles.
was agreed that the next meeting be held at Fressiugfield on Sepiember 27 th. After the usual voles of thanks, nembers adjourned to Chapman's Restaurant for lea, which was admirably Eerved.
On their way back members tried to visit the tower at Walluerswick, but as a service was being held, only the exterjar, togetler with the beautiful ruins and excavations, could be inspected. Then to Westleton, whare everything was locked up, A warmer welcome was net with at Middleton, where some local ringers joined the eotruany, including two ladies who are leaming to ring. Thete was only time for a few touches of Grandsire and Stedman here before the tingers dispersed.

\section*{PETERBOROUGE DIOCESAN GUILD}

The anmual meeting of the Peterborough Branch of bioc Pelerberough Diocesan Guild was held at Whittlegey on Monday, August 4th. Between 40 and 50 ringers were present from varinus parts of the country. A short service was held in St. Andrew's Chineh and was conducted by the Rev. A. E.T. Newman. This was followed by a tea and meeting, held at the White Lion Inn, the general secueviry (M: R. G. Black) presiding
The bells of St. Mary's and St. Andrew's Churches were kindy placen at the dispasal of the ringers and wore kept going during the day to various methods, vanging from Rols Major to Double Norwich, a most enjoyable day being spent lyy all.

\section*{KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

A meeting of the Ashiford District was held at, St. Martin's, Cheriton, on Saturday, August 9th, but would have heen poarly attended had it not been for visitors from Ganterhnry, Lewisham and Rockester Districts. Scrvice at 5 o'eloch was followed by tea in the SchoolYoom, kibully provided by the Chureh Council.

At the business meeting votes of thanke were pessed to the ledy organist and Mr. H. Beal. who kindly had everything in readiness. Roturning to the tower, the ringers were able to practica methode up torble Norwich, and the small meeting, which was noteworthy in laving present member's from four districts, was quite suecessful.

\section*{'BURFORD RINGERS AT EVESHAM AND TEWKESBURY.'}

The ringers of Burford, Oxon, had their amnal onting on Snturday, Julp 26th. Leaving the lovely litile Cotswold town behind at 8.30, they were soon at Moreton-in-Marsh, and the perd of eight penls at the Parish Church going to the tine of Grandsire and sitedman Triples. Thence to Chipping Oumpion, a fine eight, with 24 cmt . tenor, where gond ringing was enjoyed. A surprise call was made at Badsey, and, consent being readily given, the penl of eight (teaor 17.5 cwt .) were soon tinging out. A move was then made to Evobham, where a welcome lunch had been arranged, and Mr. J. 1). Johnson Wes waiting to welcome the visilors to the ball towet. A long stag could not be made, owing to the tenor heing required for a soul departed. Tewkesbury was the next place of call, and ringing on the beantiful peal of ton bells at the Abbey was much enjoyor. With the help of the Rev. E. G. Benson and Mr. 'T. Devereank, a coluso of Stedman Caters was brought round, being the first Caters rung by most of the visiting band. After tea at Tewkesbury the party liended for the Cotswolds again, calling at Northleach, where there is another fine peal of eight. Home was reached at 9.30 after plonty of exercise and a most enjopable day. The best thanks of the fingers are given throngh 'The Ringing Workl' to the varions incumbents foi permission to ring, and to those wito kindly met them at the lowers

\section*{SEVENTY.TWO YEARS A RINGER. DEATF OF A DERBYSHIRE VETERSN.}

Whe regret to announce the death, on 'Iuesday, August Sth, at the arvansed sge of 84 years, of Mr. Johm William Scott, of Tibsielf, Derbythire. The deccased was a nember of the East Derbyslure and Nol: Assmeiation since its formation in 1887, and had always faithfullo uttended its meetings until a few months ago. Always willing to give lis help and advice in the training of young ringers, he was known and heki in great esteem among ringers in a very large district. Borm in Co. Durhan, he commenced riuging at Winlayton at the age of 12, and thus hal the remarkuble recard of 72 years as an active finger, nearly 50 of which had been spent at Tibshelf as ringer, towerkeeper and clock attendant.
At the funcral on Thurgday, August 7th, the Vicar paid tribute to the blerlitg work of the deceased, and urged ali young ringers to take his life as an example. He was consistent in his work as a finger and consistent abo in his worship of God.

Mr. Scatt leaves one son, Mr. J. E. Scott, of North Shields, who is also an onthusiastic change ringer, and often takes part in peals in the North. The bells were rung at the funeral by fellow-members of th: associntion, which was represented in the cortege by the secretary (Mr. J. W. England), who received his early fraining at the capable landels of deceased. In the evening a muffled peal was rung, pattinulars of which will be fornd in the peal columns. John Willian Scoft was a remarlable man. May he r'est in peace.

They also wore necklets of pearls, Mr. Jack Brett-Smith, the bridegroom's brother, acted as best man.
As the congregation left the church Mendelasohn's 'Wedding March' was played by the Rev. F. F. Kevworth, who officiated at the organ. The local ringers fired, the bells and rang a touch of Grandsire Triples in honour of the event.
After a reception, held by the bricle's mother, at which over 40 people attended, the happy pair left for a honeymoon in Herrfowshire. Green silk marocain was the basis of the bride's going-away dress, ant she wore a hat to match.

\section*{RINGERS' WEDDING AT WINGFIELD}

The wedding took place at North Wingfield Chmreh on Satumiay, Atugust 9th, of Mr. Rert Wheeler, of Morton. and Miss D. A. Tarlton, danghter of Mr. J. P. Tarlton, of North Wingfield, hon. secretary of the Chesterfield District of the Midland Counties Association. Bolit bride and bridegroom are entiusiastic ringers at North Wingfield Clureh.
At the close of the eeremony 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung by local members and frjends. In the afternoon a peal of Double Norwich was attempled, hut came to grief. Various touclies were afterwards brought round hy a band of frieads from tho currounding districts, the bride's father also taking part.

At the Foly Gross Church, Morton, Derlysslare, for the wedding of Miss Lily Knowles and Mr. Vaughan Cox, a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Minor, recorded in our peal columns, was rung on Salurday. The brikegroom is a ringer af the church and the bride a sister of the conductor of the peal (Mr. F. W. Knowles).

\section*{WORSLEY RINGERS' TRIP INTO DERBYSHIRE.}

The amural outing of the St. Mark's, Forsley, bellingers took place on Saturday, August 2nd. The showery weather, in which the pary started at 7 a.m., did not damp the courage of the ringers, their wives and 'intendeds,' and frieuds from neighbouring towers of Walkden and Swinton. Tideswel! was reached by 9 a.m, and lunce was provided at the Stan Hotel, Atteryavds the ringers were grected it the church by the steeplekceper. Touches of Grandsire, Stedura, Kent Treble Bob and Bob Minjor were xung on the fino p.il recently placed in the tower by Taylor's, three members of the local eompany joining in with touches of Bob Mujor. Just before 11 n.m. the journey was resumed to Matock, the destivation. Handbels werc set going again to change ringing and tunes, and Matlock Has reached about noon, and after dinner the Parish Church was wisited. Here Mr. Paulson, the verger, was waiting for the party, and touches of Grandsire, stedman, Kent treble Boid and Plain Bob were rung. Mr. Paulson joiaing in. After a gooci spell at the ropes the party sucrit some time in a round of sightseeing. At tea time they received a wisib from the Ficar (the Rev. J. Reashaw) and his wife. The return journey was enlivened by the hazdibells and mouth organ solos, and after a call at Buxton, where an hour was spent, bome was safiely reached about \(10.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\)., all somewhat tired after a most enjcyable outing that will not be forgatten. Ylilirough the medium of 'Thie Ringing World, the party wisle to thank the towerksepers nf Tideswell and Matloak, the Vicars and churcliwardens for the use of the bells, and all those who heiped to make the outing such a plaaxant one.

\section*{A PEAKLAND EXCURSION.}

The Overseal ringers' first trip to Peakland, which was made last vear, aroubed such keen interest in the liills and dales of Derbyshire that this year the ringers planner a sinilar tour. The first point of interest to be reacled was the wonderíul church of Hoar Gross, nca: Burton-on-Trent. Built by the beneficence of Lord and Lady Meynel!Engrith, this church possesses features such as may be found in few churches of its size. Beautifully proportioned and rich in carving of wook and stone, its beauty holds one spellbound. Leaving Hoar Crows, the party passed on to the very old town of Abbot's Bromley, whre the ancient market hall is still intact. Its Tudor buildings take us back to the days of 'Bluff King Hal,' and mays are the good old tales of Abbot's Bromley in the 'good old days.' From here they writi in wia Wetley Rocks and Cheadle to Leek, 'the metropolis of to moorlands.' It saw mauch of tho struggies of the Stuart period, theiry a garrison town of Charles I. Its ancieut clurch has many isteresting features, including curious epitaphs.
After an excellent lunch at the Red Lion Hotel, the drive took tha company out of Leek to the top of Morridge, and, passicg via Onecote company out of Leek to the ade of Morridge, and, passing viatanecote arder to tatea a trip by the narrow gauge railway down the wonderful Manifold Valley. This valley is rich in caves and recently many relics, inchuing Roman coins, bave been unearthed. Leaving Hulme End, liez travelied on to the pretty village of Hartington. Nesting in Lhe walley, this rillage was beloved of Joln Cotton and Isanc Waiton, 'Thas Compleat Angler.' The road then lay by way of Olstonfield and Hopedale to Ilam, and 85 a thrilling experience the 'drop ' into Tiam compares very favourably with the 'suake' at Castieton. The sextan only wes with the party this time, but his services were not -equired, as the bus and driver were both equal to the task. Passing through Ilurn, the Isaac Walton Hotel was reached, and, after a goal tea, a ramble in beautiful Dovedale was enjoyed. Mayfield was then rencled, where the hells were tried. The old church, whth its bullet-scarred doorway and door, and striet Puritan severity, forms a matked contrast with the church of Hoar Cross. Leaving Mayfield, Mre routo lay through Ellastone and the old town of Uttoxeter to Tuthury, famous for its old castle. And then through Burton-onThenc to Overseal.

THE 18 \(\ddagger\) TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Cazillor of B4 Bells, about to be installed at Riverside Chtrch, New York, U.S.A

\section*{CHANGE RINGING'S CHANCE IN AMERICA}

The art of cliange ringing, which has had a precarious existence in America, is likely to receive a now impetus from a gift which is being made to the Kent School, Connecticut, U.S.A. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank lave in hand a ring of ten bells, with a tenor of 25 cwt ., which are to be hung for ringing in the new chapel tower, and an interesting and encouraging feature about the provision of the new bells is that change ringing is to be taught and is to be an institution at the school, so that there is a chance of ringing in America being at last set on a firmer basis, with a regular supply of ringers, who, it may be hoped, will go ont from the school and become missionaries ' of the art.
We believe this is the first time it has ever seriously been proposed that the art and science of ringing should be made officially part of a school curriculum, and the influence which it may have is not unlikely to have an important effect. The various efforts made in the past to get change ringing to take root on the American continent have all had very disappoiating results. The late Dr. Nichols, of Boston, did his utmost to encourage the practice in the towers in and around his own city, and not very long before his deatis he got round him a number of ringers from England in a further attempt to establish the art in the States. He founded the Boston Guild-af which his daughter is still the President-but the mentbers are so few and widely scattered that practice is seldom, if ever, possible. Mr. Warren Sturgis, ol Groton School, has also valiantly endeavoured to keep the flag fying, but the task has been a clificult and, for the most part, disappointing one.

The proposal at Kent School seems to offer greater possibitities. If the students can be interested in the art while at school a certain proportion, at any rate, may be expected to take away with them a love of ringing, and sow the seed in other places. There is always, of course, the stumbling block of distance, but let us hope that the students after their campanological "course ' will be able to raise in their own districts sufficient inlerest to get more bells installed. It is something, at all events, to know that at Kent School it is not only the bells that are to be provided. If change ringing is to be taught in the school, and made part of the training of the students, in the same way that they now indulge in sports- the Kent crew did well at Heniey this summer-there is the assurance that a supply of ringers will be kept up for this particular ring of belis. And it does not seem too much to hope that in course of time the art may spread far beyond the school and become fin America a really heality growth at last.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World ' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.
The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.
Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity otcurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey', and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

It is expected that the opening of the new peal of eight at Si. Davict's Cathedral will take place in about two months' time. IThese bells, with a tenor of 25 cw ., have been installed by Messers. Mears and Stainbank.
Messrs Gillett and Johnston, Lldd., have in hand tiae reanagiog of the peal of six at Fittleworth, Sussex.
Fittleworth is of special interest as regards bells, as it was in this parish that the late Canou Simpson, who spent some forty years in research on the subhject of the tones and tunes of church lells, resided.
The bells at St. Philleigh, in the Roseland district of Corawall, have now beed hung wilh oomplete new fitings in a new jrorr and steol frame by Messers. Giliett and Johnstou, Ltd., Nos. 1 and 9 Lells laving been recast. The fower, until receutly in danger of collopse, has now been complotely restored.
Renovations, cesting between \(£ 500\) and \(£ 600\), are being carried out to the interior of St. Martin's Parish Church, -Birmingham, which is being thoroughly clemed for the lirst time for 25 years. The belliry is being iucluded in the scheme.
Those who lisience ou Sunday evening to tho broadensi from this church must havo wondered wheu they beard only the front eight of tha twelve ringing. It was not due to absentee ringers, buti to an ribsentee clapper.
The peal of Oxford Treble Bob Winor rung at Morton, Derbyssing on August 9th, slould bave been credited to the East Derbyshire and Nottinglamshire Association.
The Bristol Uuited Guilös have issued gratis a leallet giving changes in the information contained in the last edition of the 'Tingers' Directory.' Natifications to enable the directory to be Eept up to date should be sent to the hon. secretary, Mr. E. Guise.
Henry Hubbard, who published a work on change cinging ahout the middle of last century, was horn at Norwich on August \(25 i l h\), 1807. On Augusi 24th, 1868, he conducted a veterans' peal at Guiseloy, in which the combined ages of the eight ringers wha 553 yrars.
The first tutu peal of Grandsire Triples was ruag at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, on August 26th, 1718. Grandsire Triples had been ' ye study of ye most ingenious mon of this age who delight in ye art of varlations, but all their projections have proved errors until it was undertook hy Johin Garthon, who, with long study and practice, havo perfectiy discovered those intricate medhods which wera hidden from the eyes of all the ringers in Eugland.'
On August 27th, 1814, a peal of 12,320 Trebie liob wns rung in 7 Lrs. 15 mins. at Otley, Yorks.
Benjamin Amable conducted a peal of Bob Major St. George at St. Georga's Church, Sauthwark, one hundred and eighty yeurs ago next Thurstay.

\section*{THE MANCHESTER TOUR}

\section*{NOLES OF A RINGING WEEK WITG THE LANGASHERE LADS. EY W. H. F .}

Preliminary arrangements for the tour in Lancashire and Chessire, the peal results of which were recorded in the last issuc of 'The Ringing World,' were negotiated at the Central Conncil meeting in London last Whitsun by Messrs. W. H. Shuker, of Pendletors, and Mr. F. Bennett, of Brighton, but a misurderstanding nhout headquarters being centred \(\begin{aligned} & \text { tu } \\ & \text { Stockport }\end{aligned}\) almost led to iis downfall. What promised to be a very ordimary venture proved most successful with 16 peal attempts in throo counties, 14 of which were well and truly hrought home, whilst some 20 ringers twok a rope in the various methods atiempted.
The programme started on Saturday, August 2nd, at New Mills, the horne of die Rev. A. T. Beeston, who lins hat unique personal experiences in the past of ringing tours. He kindly met us at the clurech ank saw us off at the station with 'one up' after a lunch which loft trehind a large "bone of contention. Ashton-inder-Lyne for Treble Twelve was io fallow for the afternoon performance at 4 p.zn. On the way, the 'managing director' nllowed his party to he divided, some sticking to the programme, others taking a sliort cut on local adviee, and as late as five o'elock several of the band were missing, owing to the Manchesicer holiday congestion of all rucans of transport.
A disappointing wait by those in the belfry for nearly one and a half hours was beguiled with touches on ten, and then the Bradford mer, Albert and Edward, had to leave-grumbling in Welsh, 1 he-lievem-or stay and be strauded for the night. On the arrival of the nhsentees athother team with local belp was raised for Sledman Cinques that ended in 90 minutes' ringing. St. Miciacl's tower (illustrated in this joumal a year ago) has a splendid ringing room, and I was a vorelation to the strangers to sen ils fittings and appointments; the peal tablotsoin the walls, worthy records of the pastThorpe 1858-1874, Woods 1911-1914, and the present world's record, Pye, 1829. It was, perbaps, just as well the fourists had an hour or twa to spare in such a room with all its history, to 'see and hear' of the fame of this fune campanile.
For over a century the citizens of Ashton have ever shown the greatest interest in its bells, and have gloried in ihe prowess of the hands who have made such mighty efforts. The recent little 'touch' of Maximus of nearly, twelve hours was a trite compared to the rimging of four days duration in 1819, of which more anon.

\section*{AN TNTERESTING RTNGERS' PARLOUR}

Near the churels stands the Church House. A fully liecused inn, it has been thee stene of many moted ringers' gatheringes and perhaps a few bicherings ever since the 'Eouse of Ashtoan' possessed ar peal of bells. In the ringers' parlour are pictures of the hand who callg the 16,000 Trehle Bol in 1883; nu excellent engraving of Wrexham Church (considered to be one of the seven wonders of Wales), the old print of the Royal rang at Manchester a hundred years ago; and tho Painswiek long peal of Kent Royal.
Fere the stewatd brought out the loving cup, holding a quart of liquor, engraved: 'Ashton ringers' tankavd, 1786,' the peal hook of the society, the first entry heing the Mnjor of 1883), and their set of handbells, 'presented to this company in 1886.' A valuable relic is \(n\) solitary liandbell (tenor size 20 , by H. Symondson, London), the only remmant of a set of twelve of former days, which is engraved: This peal was won at Liverpool by the College Youths of Asiton-mulder-Lyne, Junc 4th, 1814 .
should like to see this bell refitted and silver plated, mounted on an ebony stand to be used by the Master of Ceremonies on all fitting oecasions hereafter.
supper, certain members of the company preferred Cleshire Herese to the Lancashite brand, and some close \(\pi\) hottle of W.W.W.' in preference to ove of 'Gahriel,' just in the same way that some riugers prefer Grandsire to Siedman Gaters on handbells. 11. Snm Wood, now slightly indisposed, came to spend an hour with nni I am indebted to him for the loan of an interesting document which the Editor may issue as a supplement to this effusion.
Headquariers during our stay was in the Moss-side district of Manchester, a sloort tramway ride from the heart of the city, known as picendiily, wherc one could ensily resch the various towers we had to visit. To Mr. R. and Mrs. Bertha Davies, the tourists owe many thanks, Hely given to them personally, for their, help in turning Hartingtou Street, into an 'inquiry office.' The dozen men nsscmbleal during the weck were housed in several private quarters III this street, and if Bert was out Borthat was in to render all gssistance. There was little variation in the following routine: Rise i. 30 a.m., breakfast 8, tran corner 8.30, and Piccadilly 9.30. To this I may add that on ouly ond eveising did the wanderers present themselves to their respective landladies before 10 p.m., because they foumel a 'ringers' den 'at the Mitre Hotel, M.C.R., Hs close to the Cnhbedral as it is possible to be. The evening in question, Wednesiny. was spent in the 'inquiry office' with the Dapies family-all musical-and the only son a pianoforte artist of some promise, who, Whough senreely out of his teens, las gained tiwo noted distinctions \({ }^{104}\) examinations. Mr. Dennis, of Camlridge, also gave the party a shy and accompaniment, whilst gazing eanlestly at Mr. 'Rugby' Gcorge, which runs thus: ‘Whe was he born so beatuiful?'

In the course of our journeyings, we were destined to hany mure of this chaut, and the writer feels jenlous; it does not harmonise with his favourite liymn peal lines, 'All things briglit and beauliful, all creatures great and small.
Service rimeing at west Didshury an Suaday morning for 10.30 matius was thic order. This is Mr. R. Dhyies' tower, frosu which he is seldona absent on Surdays. Here he villed the first ponl on the bells with the local band, and has put in 66 peals lor the lancoshire Association nltogether. The verger kindy prosented the visitors willa a small brass bell engrayed as a solyenitr of this line octave by Trylor and Co., which were very kindly placed at our disposal during the week if required in energency. Aftor lameh, wo went on to the other side of the eity, Newelurch heing successimuly visited, and peal No. 2 finished in time for evensong. There is wo patron saint nanted for this churela, which celebrated its silver jubliter lash October. It was erected in place of the old building of 100 years ago, and then known as Newchurch, which was destrayed by fire on Sunday, April 19th, 1903. The tower coninins an excellein lightweirth ring of bells by Taylor and Co., a cosy belfry, comfortably furnisbed, which the Newchurch company make good use of, with no nearby houses to lead to grumblings at their practice. Methods up to Double Norwich are rung, and the Leatherbarrow family are in force, Mr. Joseph having scored over 63 peals for the association.
We were fortunate onough to find in such a rural districh an pace where the whole party could sit duwn to a meal int peace and phenty without previous notice to the caterer of the Harrow. At the same time "wireless" in the next roon was repeating the divine servico taking place nt, St. Guthbert's Ghureh, Edinburgh, so near nud yet so far.

ST. GEORGE'S EHURCH, STOCKPGRT. One of the finest churehes in the country.

\section*{HE TWO TENS}

A double event was brought off on Monday in the lown of Stockport, the 'first' at St. Mary's Parish Chureh with its massive squate tower and a circular belfry in stone, erected in 1817. Owing to oxcessive wibration the old tower was demolished, with parti of the church, in 1810-13. Stockport will always be associaled with tbe name of \(W \mathrm{~m}\). Gordon-of handbell music fane-who died on June 15th, 1915. He did much to advance handbell tume playing from music, and was a valuable lelp to the many leams compeling at the Balle Fuo Gardens, Manclester, competitions, which are now no longer hedd there. Why cannot these meetings be revived? A penl bonrt in the ringing ronm gives a short history of the bells, beginning with four in 1584. Additions were mado int 1683 and 1731 , and this yeul of six was taken to Marple Clmult in 1815, where they remain to-day. In 1817, Johm Rudhall, of Gloatester, provided the fower with at new octave, the temor afterwards being cracked. Taylor and Co. were called in in 2897 to rearst the tener ( 24 cwt ) athd supply two trebles, the latter at the expense of the Rector, Rer. W. Symonds, M.A., and Col. George Leal.
On the 4th bell appears the name of 'J. Rixon' (when Rudlalls hung the oight in 1817). He was a famous belhinger in his day. Fe died at Romilly, aged 95 years, and was buried at Stockport, De(Continued on mext page.)
cember 14th, 1851 . The 'Stockport Advertiser' of. Fuly 25th last luas an excelient account of the old dock and bells, with portraits of the latn: Mr. Wra. Gordon and the present hand of ringers, ant copies catit he obtainerl from the Edilol of that journal. Our party was inv debted to the towerkuepro, Mr. Wha Goudon, eldest son of tho late Mr. Wra. Gordon, for his athention to our needs and fixing ap lunch. Fe has been in clange sinee 1915, fucceeding his father, who filled tho office for about 60 years pleviously, At the present time six members of the faraly ere ringers at this church. A gravestone at the entrance to the churel records the death of George Smith, 2 ringer Here for 50 years, who died suddenly whilst ringing for service ou Jantary 10ih, 1836.
St. George's Charch, Stockport (onr seeond string), oceupies a bold pusition on high ground. It is a modern ehturch, considered to be the finest building, not being a cathedral, in England, with a wonderful tower and spire in the centre of a crueform plan 180ft. long by \(755^{t}\). wide, zad loalds 2,000 people. It was erected in 1896-7, and conscorated by the Lord Bishop of Chester. The back eight bells worr made to matel the octave of that cathedral. Here a good pea! of Kent Royal was rung with the faithiful couple' at each end instand of pairing off on the teuors. This maning of the ropes was dons to allew our 'young 77' to prove whether the gth bell would Enock him up or not. Another veinan, Hampshire 'George,' stood out and refused a joh as "strapper" to the "Terror" of the Crewe. On going to bed at Moss-side that night, there were sundry marmurfrges and twitterings, like birds wheng going to roost, which seemed to slyy. 'We've ladi a good day to-day,' without a pat on the back.

\section*{IN CHESHIRE}

Anoliner 'double ' followed on Tuesday at the parish chureles of St. Elizabeth, Redidish, and SI. George, Hyde. The former very mach resembles Boyno Hill Church, Maidenhead, with its elerestory naye and lean-to side aisles, a partly detached tower and spire buik of hrick, with mumerous lorizontal bands of stone and colonred brick in relief. Fere Mr. A. Barnes, whe has "70 up" for the assoctation, could not meet tis, but sent. a good depuly to wail on tes. It is a very smal! belfy for oight men to ring in, with scanty stern room, a light, ring of efglat, the treble having the reputation of losing the hitul a pend if not handicd carefully. On these tours a seasoned land ' is accustomed to take the rough with the smooth, and when wot? use the 'ring" it is for "belter or worse." It all depends, too upon how yon handle thers.

Hyde Chuteh is a repetition of Wintisor Parish Church, a square hariding, under a ono-span roof, with sqุuare tower at the west end, surmaunted wilh four corner pinnneles. It has a now ring of eight, highly tuned, and go 'too wel!" with the hall bearings on which they are lung. After this peal, No. A, the local band, with Mr. Tom Witale, entertaimed the tigifors to supper, brought out their handbells, and made us all at home with a hearty welcome and conglutulations. Ouly last May tha first Danble Norwich here was rang ly the local hand, and our party were glad to have an hou with them and to compliment Mr. James Shaw on his 55 years" service as n ringer at Hyde Church, and Mr. Tom Wilde, their conductor.
At cit. Bartholomew's Church, Radeliffe, we had a simple failure for Cmmbridge Major. It rested belween the Oxford and Cambridge mon, and needed the presence of tile late Bert Prewett to give the pulprits a "Jecture." Only laulf the week gone, aud two losses! It was getiog serions, hati no one knew then of the string of luck, or was il "concentration,' that was to Collow in all the ofler altempts. Rateliffe is another liue ringing tower, simiar to Fydo, and everything that a 'method' hand can wish for-tenor 15 kwt . The head riager, Ml. Emeston, left all in order with open daars, and we carefilly followed his inslructions and those in the Annual Report \({ }^{2}\) before leaving.
tormer inetmbont was Rector for 55 years, and was buried in the church, gged 85 3teats. \section*{A NEW PEAL FOR AMERICA. \\ CHANGE RINGING TO BE TAUGHT AT KENT SCHOOL.}

A peal of ten bells hung for ringing is to be installed at Kent Schaol, Connecticut, U.S.A. The bells, which are to have a tenor of 25 cwt ., are to be cast at the Whitechapel Foundry, and, all being well, will be opened on June ist next.

When they have been erected change ringing is to be taught and be an institution at the school.

The scheme originated, we understand, through the donor, who wished to present some belis to the school in the event of the proposed chapel tower being built. When on a visit to England, he heard some bells being ' rung, and was very much impressed by their effect.

He also heard about the Oxford and Cambridge University Guilds, and decided that if he did give the bells change ringing, should, if possible, be made an institution at the school.

Just about this time, his son, who is a student at the school, was one of those saved from an accident at sea, and the donot thereupon decided to give the bells as a thankoffering.

This gift and the circumstances under which the bells are to be installed will, we hope, lead to a revival of the art of ringing in America.

JOLNT MEETING AT EDMONTON.
Very Corlunate with the weather,' was the geaeral opinion of the risilors to Eamonton, numbering pearly sixty, on Saturday last, when adjoining districts of the Essex, Herts and Middlesex Associations met in a sociable and friendly gathering and, incidentally, to do a little ringing logether.
Ringing started carly at Enfleld (St. Andrew's) and Edmonton, and aht met at the lafter charch at 4.30 , where a short and beautiful service was held. The Rural Dean of Enfeld (Rey. E. Forbes) officinted (in the absence of the Viear on lolidays), and he was assisted by the Revs. Charlewood and Fiardy. Tbe sermon proached by the Rural Dean was calculated to cause his hearers to think deeply of the serionsness of their calliag. A feature of the service was an excellently rendered solo, 'I know ilat my Eedeemer liveth,' whicl was sung by Miss Dawzon, daughter of Mr. George Dawson, of the Leptonstone band.
ea, the Rural Dean presided, nnd he was supported by the other clergy, the organist (Mr. Chatfield), Mr. J. Parker, Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, Mr. W. Lawrence (Herts), Mr. E. J. Butler (Essex), Mr. A. W. Coles (Middlesex), Mr. C. T. Coles (Middlesex), Mr. A. Prior (Esses), and many other well-known ringers. At this stage an exeaedingly well-struck course of Stedman Caters was mung an handbells by Messis. A. H. Ward (Derby), G. W. Fleteher, Mirs. G. W. Fletcher, Messrs. G. R. Pye and J. Thomas.
There was no business meeting, but on belalf of the fifiddesex ringers Mr. C. T. Coles weloomed the visitors, exprossing great pleasure at lhe prosence of Enfield's new Rural Dean and the other clergy. W. Lawrence replicd on behalf of Herls riugers, and Mr. E. 3. Batler for Essex ringers. Mr. Butler also proposed a vote of rhauks to the clergy present for their interest in them, and to Miss Dawson for ilse very fine treat she had given them at the service. Coles scconded this, and included the Vicars of Enfeld and Edmenton, and the Rector of Tottenhem, who had so kindly allowed the use of their belis. Thanks were also given to the organist for his able issistance, and to Mr. J. Parker and Mr. W. J. Bowden for then help in making the roeeting an onjoyable one.
himself, and expressed great pleasure of his brother clergmanen and himself, and expressed great pleasure at being present to mect so many vingers. They had especially enjoyed tho beautifal handbeil ringing they had just listened to.
I. Parker responded on behalf of Edmonton ringers, and promiscd all prescut another cordial welcome on their next visit. Three peals of eight wore available for ringing during the afternoon and exening, and whilst the main body met at Edmonton quite a number risited St. Andrew's, Enfield, and All Hallows', Tottenham. The ringing all round was good, and included \(a\) great variety of methods. Spliced Surprise Major was very popular, and included som. 'first attempts,' whilst many others did well in their first conrsis in Surprise or other methods. In short, all tastes were

PEAK DISTRICT.
A very sucucsful meetiag of the Peak District was held at Casterton on Saturday last, about 25 riugers and friends being prosent From Bakewell, Casticton, Chesterfich, Dorc, Ecclesficld, Hathersage, Manchester, Norton, Shefiedi, and l'idesweli, and some goorl ringing was necomplisled in Oxford and Plain Bob Major and Grandsire and Stedman Triples, tearners not being forgotten in rounds and five and six bell methods.
A subslantial tea was pariaken of at the home of Mr. Payne, the sexton, close to the entrance to the famous leak Cavern. A short business meeting followed, presided over by Mr. A. G. Wallace, of Bakewell, in the absence of the Rer. W. l³. Wright. It was learaed with regret that Mr. Wright had not been too well recently, and the secretary was asked to write him and convoy the good wishes of those present and their regret at his absence.
One new life member, Mr. W. J. Moss, of Stretford, Mfarhester, was elected, and given a hearty welcome.
A cordial invitation to hold the next meeting at Trideswell on Safurday, September 2ith, had been reccived from the Vicar of l'ideswell, and if sars unanimously decided to accept, Mr. Giles Chapman, the Tideswell representative, being asked to convey the acceptance and thanks to the Viear.
\(A\) hearty vote of thanks to the local ringers was replied to by Mr, Payne, and coneluded the proccedings, some going back for Further ringing, others to enjoy the scenery and otber athractions of this fanous Peakiand village.

\section*{DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.} EASTFRN DISTRICT'S SUCCLSSFUL MEETTNG
A very successful menting of the Enstern District of the Durlam and Newcastle Diocesan Association was hetil an Saturday at Sunderland. Ringing was inciulged in at Bishopwearmoutil Church during the aftermoon, and then the ringers wended their way to St. Ignntius Institute, where a sulustantial tea awaited them
A short meeting was afterwards held, Mr. R. Pattison being voted to the clasir in the absence of the vice-president. Letters of apology were read from Mr. E. E. Ferry and Mr. J. W. Parker. Mr. Patison welcomed Mr. Milher, of Leytaustone, nad Mr. "Tom" Metcalfe, ot Middlesbrough, the popular secretsry of the Cloweland and Norlh Yorkshire Association, to the maceling on belalf of tlie association.
Mr. Ditchhurn moved a vote of thinks to the respective Ficars for the use of the bells, and Mr. Metcalfe proposed a wote of thanks to the ladies for such a splendid tea. Both proposals were carried with acelamalion.
This boing the last mecting before ihe annual meting in September, the following olficials werc jroposed for the coming year, subject to the epproval of the annual meeting: Mr. F. lafison, vice-prosjdent, and iff. F. Robson, secretary of the Eastern District.
Mr. Pattison, in thaking the mombers for their vote of confidence in him, said that lie mould do Lis Fery best for the Lastern District. He was rery pleased to he back at the mectings iagnin, after laving been away from them of late, kut it was good to know he had so many friends. He woulei try and make the Eastern Distriet, the best in the associntion.-Mr. F. Robson also thanked tho roembere, antl said he wouk heln the rice-president in anythirg appertaining fo hellringing.
The menting finished, the ringers went to St. Tgmatius' Church, and the bells were kept going until 8.3y p.m. "Rept going' are the right words for it, beenuse no sooner was one tonilh finished than mare ringers wore ready for the next. The methods riang were Bols Major, Kent Treble Bob Major, Grandsire Triples, Stedman Priples, Douhle Norwich. Superlative, Cambridge and Tundon Surprise, and alł the ringers had full enjoyment from the bells.
Ringers were preseuf from Whitley Ray, Newcrstle, Durham, Jarrow, Sundarland, Fartlepaol and Mitdalesbrough, and all were agreed that it was a most enthusiastio gathering and a really good meeting. And what can one want more than thri?

THE CHRONICLE OF AN ADVENTUROUS WEEK.
It required a train with two powerful ongines to convey a travelwarn trunk ( \(12 \frac{1}{2} \times 21 \times 2 \frac{1}{2}\) ) and itg well-known owner ('Old Bill') to Spalding Station, en roufe for Burflect, for the start of the 'Ringing Week; on Triday, August 1st. Saturday nfternoon saw tho arrival of the remainder of the party, who assembled for a happy reunion under the hospitable roof of Glyn Garth, the home of MI:, and Mrs. Rupert Richardson. A peal attempti after tes came to a sudden end about half-way, bat es two of the band lad attended a wedding earlier in the day, there was fonndation for a good cxeuse for not being able to ring. There were also rumours of a 'proposal' in the air, but it is expected that the gentleman concerned will be late, as usual.

The ringing for Sunday morning service at the Parish Churels was two well-struck touches of Stednaan Caters, with 'Old Bill' calling the 'bobs,' no ' conducting ' being required. Sunday aiternoon is not usually a good time for peal ringing, but the men folk managed to bring round a peal of Bob Major, whle the ladies continued thoir "little chat,' aIthough how they (the ladies) managed to do this with two of thern acting as "unpires' cannot be explninet by a mere male. Two of them cither did not talk-really talk-ol else they did not 'umpire -really umpire-for even ladies cannot do both 2nd's place trable lead.

\section*{BROADCASTING EFFECTS}

\section*{To the Edisor}

Sir,-It may interest Mr. F. Walker to know that the comparisor he refers to has already been made. St. Paul's Cathedral bells were brondeast Sunday afternoon, July 27th, and, althaugin 1 diseussed this wilb two well-known ringers who got wery indifferent results, I hat the ploasure of listening to the finest 12 -bell broadcast I have yet heard, far superior to any of the Simpsou-tumed bells (St. Pauls are Lord Grimthorpe's design, I believe). The reception was perfect the sixes could be beard quite distinetly. Doncaster ave very hard, 1 know, having rung one peal on them, and that quite enough. If possible, I will let Mr. Walker know the result of the Doncaster broadcast,-Yours traly,

\section*{RINGERS' WELCOME TO NEW CLERGY}

4 peal rang at Forktown, Surrey, on Saturday, was specially arranged as a welcome to the new Rector and curate. The Rector (Ruv. F. W. T. Waithman) was instituted by the Bishop of Guildlord on Sunday. The curate (the Rev. H. J. Percival Smilh) has been in the pirish only a few woeks. During itat itme, however; he has taken special interest in the ringers, and has begun to learn to ring. As thero is not a local peal riuging band at Yorktown, the company on Suturday was made up by five visitars, aud after the peal they were entertained to tea by the Rev. H. J. and Mrs. Percive] Smith at their residence. The Rector and Mrs. Waithman were miso present to greet the ringers, and at the close thanks were given to the hosts and the hape expressed that there wouk be a lang and linppy associntion between the ringers and the clergy of the cliurch

\section*{COMPTON MARTIN RINGERS' OUTING}

The ringers of Gompton Martio, with a few friends, including Mr . Thomas Whytt, had a most enjoyrble outing on Saturday, August Sth. They firsi called at Albbots Eeigh, where short touches were rung to give all a chance of a pull. Then Feston-in-Gordero, Portebuy', nud Clapton-in-Gordano were visited. Tea was had at Glapton, and afterwatds the tower of Nailsea was renched, and there the ringiug was concluded. During the outing, touches of Stedman, Crardsire, Bols Doubles and Minor were brought into rounds. The ringers wish to thank the respective Vicars for allowing the use of the bells, and their leartiest thanks are extended to Mr. Thomas Whytt and friends for their aftangervents.

attompt for Stedman Caters in the morning came to fr stop in the hurning conrse after some gank 'Eapping.' Another atherapt in the altornoou took the same road. Reluctantly, the band had to say fmowell to their " \(1-2\) man," that lady having to return home rather carlior thau expected. Jt was more unfortunate still from the ladies' point of riew, as they had not guite finished the 'quiet chats that coumenced the previous Saturday! A number of chicken had to be canght aftort supper, and it was during this operation that the host mot with a raishap witieh might have had more serious results, Whilst climbing dewn from a tree, whete he liad just caught three chicken, Rupert slipped and oatght his foot in a forked branch, causiog hinn to swing down with his foot held fast and his leg twisted. Fortunately, the other men wore at hand and managed to push Lim back to tie top of the bough, and thus releage his foot. Atter examination, nothing more serious was discovered than a twistabl leg, which, nevertheless, was rafher painful next day.

Sunday morning service ringing was not up to the slandard of the previous Suaday's. 'I'he 'bob caller' was there, but the 'conductor' Whs hardly awake. A later abternpt for Kent Theble Bob joined the "great majoriby" after about an hour-
Abother attemple at Kent Treble Bob on Monday proved too much link whether for the conductor or the band, it is not quite certain, 80 yoor old Plain Boblad la bo called upon again. Afterwards, bonsls were in use agein, but please don't mention the subject in public! Departure time arrived, and, despite the fact liat the luggage grid had been made larger and strengthened with a few odd lengths of girder, it was found impossible to get everything and everyhody in the car, so a public hire bus was called into service. Why oannot everybody travel wilh a trumk measuring \(12 \frac{1}{y}\) x \(21 \times 21\) ? But that was before il left Surlleet. When it did leave it fad probbeen sliretined a bit in several directions.
Fou cannoli sley at Glyn Garth without liaving a thoroughy jolly Lime, hence the parly's hearty thauks to Rupert and his very good lady for a most enjoyable weet, and what proved to be a happy remoron after three years of ups and downs for all. The hand have one regrel-that more interest in handbell ringing is not taken by rugers in genoral. When a bata only mect once a jear, without much practice belween, it is not so easy as at seams to ring several ruethoris.

\section*{COMMON SENSE BEFORE SENTIMENT}

Different people look at bells from different angles. Ringers look upon them as the instruments of their craft, which should be as perfect in sound as possible and as efficient mechanically as modern skill can make them. Antiquarians have an eye mainly upon bells which, from their age, have some claim to veneration as relics of a past age or as specimens of the handiwork of some longdeparted founder. Unfortunately, it is seldom that these two aspects can be brought into alignment and as a result there sometimes come into the public press statements which are given to the world as authentic, but which do not really fully represent both sides of the question. The antiquarian standpoint has recently been very ably put forward in 'The Times' by Mr. H. B. Walters, the well-known authority on that subject, but as we show elsewhere in a reply to some of his statements, he has not been, in our opinion, quite fair, either to present day bell ringers or bell founders. We do not believe Mr. Walters has intentionally misrepresented them; it is just that colouring of his review of the matter that arises from a natural bias for his own special subject.

Mr. Walters speaks of the 'fallacious notions' of ringers that bells are more easily rung in a metal frame than in a wooden one; and the 'modern mania' for enlarging rings of bells without regard to the number which the tower was originally erected to hold. He asserts that the reasons given for substituting metal frames for old wooden ones are often inadequate, and that "it is quite unreasonable-as has been too frequently done of late years-to recast older rings of bells (ante \(r_{7}-0\) ) wholesale, in order to have a peal tuned on harmonic lines. These and other similar assertions are sweeping statements which have gone forth to the world at large. They may be good propaganda for the antiquarian, but both directly and by inference they are calculated to create the impression that modern methods of bell hanging, based as they are upon sound engineering practice, are 'fallacious' and only used on ill-advised advocacy of the ringers. The 'modern mania' for enlarging rings of bells has lasted as long as bells themselves. From the very first days when bells were put into church towers, men have constantly planned to add to their number, and Mr. Walters probably knows this as well as, if not better than, anyone clse. He probably also know's quite well, if he thinks about it, that rings of bells of an older date than ryoo have not of late years been recast wholesale, in order to introduce Simpson-tuned peals. There have, perhaps, been a few isolated instances of seventeenth century bells being broken up, but to say there has (Contioued on page 550 .)

been anything like ' wholesale' recasting of bells of this date for the sake of Simpson tuned rings is very wide of the mark.

We have dealt elsewhere with other points in which we think Mr. Walters has done less than justice to the advances which have been made in regard to bells scientifically and mechanically, and cannot do more than add here that we think it is regrettable in an article which obtained the publicity which Mr. Walters secured, that modern ringers and bell founders were represented as ignorant people serving their own interests without a thought for those bells, frames, or towers which ate the veneration of antiquarians. As we have pointed out before, bells are not hung in church towers merely to be or to become objects of interest to archæologists. They are there primarily for use, and if they are past the stage of usefulness they must make way for something more efficient. If an old bell cannot be tuned and there is not sufficient money to replace it with new metal, what is to happen? Is it to remain a discordant blot in an otherwise perfectly harmonious musical instrument? Or, if a frame has reached the ricketty stage when it is beyond efficient repair and renders the bells unringable, is it to remain merely because of its age? And if it dicl, who among the hundreds of antiguarians would ever make a pilgrimage to look at it? Let us have common sense before sentiment.

SMALLER MEETINGS IN BLACKBURN BRANCH.
On Saturday, August 23 rd, the aunual meeting and social of the Blackburn Branch of the Lancashire Association was held at Church, near Accrington, where there is an listolic church. The bells, handy ring of eight, tenor 14 cwt ., which were reconlly augmented and recast, wera kept busy in the standard methods from 3 p.m. . 0 5.30 p.m. An adjournment was then made to the schools, where a bountiful tea was partaken of by upwards of fifty ringurs and friends. After tea, the curate (the Rev. J. Owen Holly, who oceupied the ebair, extended to the ringers a hearcy Churels Kirk welcome to the parish, which, be said, he knew from his own experienee dar ing the twelve months he liad been amongst them was a very ral thing indeed.
The gecretary (Mr. F. Hindle) presented his repart and balance sheet. During the gear meetings lind been feld at Blackburn (Foly T'rinity and St. Michael's), Burnley (St. Peter's), Padiham, Chureh Hoddlesden, Nelson, Oswaldtwistle, Rishton and Whalloy, but he was sorry to say the attendance on the average had not been good. Ten peals had been rung by the branch as follows: Grandsire Triples 1, Bob Major 3, Kent Treble Bob Major 4, Oxford Treble Bob Major 1, Minor in two melhods 1. 'The conductors were L. J. Williams (5), W. H. Hunter (2), and H. Intwistle (1), whilst T. Chambers and W. Aaron cogducted their tirst peals. With the exception of Mytton and Waddington, all the rings in the branch were now in first-chass order, and it was hoped that before long something might be done to these two almost unringable peals of six. The membership at present consisted of 24 life members and 115 ringing menlers, against 25 life and 125 ringing members last year-a loss of elevors on the yoar. Thore were still a few subseriptions owing, which the secretary hoped would be forthooming, 11 life members and 95 ringing members having already paid.

Arising out of a discusaion an the decreased attendance at branch meetings, Mr. L. I. Williams, of Church, proposed that in future branch meetings be held every secould month instead of every manth as at present. He thought that members who at present were cither umable or unwilling to atfend a meeting one Saturday in four might be able to do se once every twa manths, It was also thought liat the deploratie state of the colton trade was responsible for sowe of the members being unable to afford the journeys to the opposite and of the branch to that in which they resided.
The proposal wns opposod byt the secretary on the ground thai if they failed to get round to the towers somewhere near once wach year the subscriptions would fail also.
Mr. A. Tomlinson (Blackburn) also opposed the motion, remurking that he could not see how six meetings a jear, which would mean a visit to each tower only once every two and a half years, was going to improve mathers. He thought the whole secyet of in surcessful meetine sested with the ringers of the tower in whioh it was being leld. If all these lacal men would make it a point of honeur to attend when mectings wore berg held at their own tower, then it would be next to impossible for it to be a failure.
A number of merabers also spake on the question, and on the chairman putting Mr. Williams' proposal to the vote, the mation wres clefeater.
Mr. Wiksol (Blackburn) and Mr. Williams expressed the regreb wistit the hranch folt at the loss of hr. R. Hartley, of Burnley (who had taken ousiness at Ffeetwood), and extended to him and his wife the best wishes for their future success. Mr. Hartley has been a ringer at Holy Trinity, Burnley, for thirty-four years, was a pastRingiag Master of the brach, and served on the committee of the Lanes Association.
Mr. F. Hindle, Blackburla, was reappointed hon. secretary, and Mr. W. H. Funter, Burniey, elected to gerve an the committec of the assaciation. The following were elected ringing members: Messrs. T. Bailey and B. Sharples, of Clitheroe, and F. Coekshott, of Church. It was decided to hold the nexl finnual meeting at Whalley, in August, 1931 , and the next brateh meeturg at Clitheroe on Salurday, Oetober 4th, 1930.
The usual vote of thanks teminated the meeting, afler which fle evening was spent in music and dencing.

\section*{VISIT TO SOMERSET TOWERS.}

On Saturday, August 23rd, the ringers of East Brent and friends took their annual outing in lovely weather. Leaving East Brent aboul 9.30 a.m., with eleven aboard a very comfortable bus, a nice run was made Eo Muare, the first slopping place, then on to Ballonsborough, Somerton and Langport, where lunch was taken. Conliauing the journey, Middezoy, Chedzoy, and Puriton were visited. The methods rung duting khe day were Stodman and Grandsire Dodiles and Plain Bob Ninor. The vide through the lieauliful scenery of Samerbet and the ringing was enjoyed by all. Refreshments wera laken at Huntspill on whe retum journcy, where unfortunately no ringing could be done, as no arrangements had been made. Eust Brent was reached about 8.15 p.m., where short touches af Stedman and Grandsire Donbles were ang to finish up a very successful day Tlanks are due to the incumbents of the churches visited for the use of the bells, also to those who liad overything in readiness at ered tower.

NORIH－WESTCRN DIVISION．
A meeting was held at Halfeld Broad Oak on Saturday last．This tower had not been visited by the association for a number of yoars， and awing to the village being very much out of the way，and also to the very inclement weather conditions，not a very big muster resulted．However，the eight bells were rung duriag the ifternoon， and a service conducted by the Vicar（Rev．G．H．Hearn）was held in the church．Tea followed at the near－by Cock Hotel．
A briof business meeting ensued．Epping Upland was decided upon for the next meeting place，and tha following were elected ringing members：W．Negus，G．Pratt，A．Whitmore，C．Drury，W．Miher， R．Chambers，all from Chrishall．
It was aunounced that a mid－week meeting would be held at Hodescion on the first Wednesday in October．
Mr．G．Dent thanked the Vicar for the wse of the bells and for the serwice is church．The Rew．Hearn，replyigg，said it was his plasure to welcome the association to his tower，and hoped it would pot be long before they wisited him again．－Further ringing was con－ tinued in the ovening．

SOUTH－EASTRRN DIVISION AT MALDON．
A rary pleasant meeting of the South－Eastera Division was held at Maldon on Saturday，twenty－six zembers being present from Braintree，Great Baddow，Galloywood，Chelmsford，Feering，Burn－ ham－on－Crowh，Maldon，Ritteudon，Romford，Pritilewell，Gold－ hanger，Springliold and Fulham．After ringing from 2.30 untii 4．30， the zemberg attended service conducted by the Thev．A．G．Munsen （in the absence of the Vicar）．The lesson was read by Mr．C．H． Howard，Master of the association．
Ten was presided over by Mr．Howard，and at the business meet－ ing which followed one non－resident member was elected．It was arraged to hold the next meeting at Terling on October 18 th．
Mr．G．H．Howard proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar（Rev． J．1．Seymore）for the use for the bells，to the Rev．A．G．Munsen for his adelress，to the organist，aud to Mr．Elienger for accompany－ ing the organ on the tubular bells．The Vicar said it gave him great pleasure to weleome the ringers to Malan．Ringing continued until 9 j．m．，both at All Saints＇and St．Mary＇s phurches．

\section*{SUCOESGFUL MEETLNG AL＇SELSTON．}

A well attended meeting of the above association was hold al Sclston，Notts，on Saturday
Selston Church is a Norman building，in which the stonework is wondorfully preserved．The tower is a typically Norman structure： and contains a ring of six bells（tenor 12 ewl．approx．），which go＂ very nicely，but it cannot be said hat they nre particularly lunctu． The treble，second and fourib were added to ans existing threo in 1805 by James Barwall，while，of the three older bells the tenor（1704）is the only one which bears a date．The third and fifth are apparently older than this，and are rather hong in shape，with very fittle． lettering．
The bells woie raised about three o＇clock，and rung until the ser－ vica，which was conducted by the Vicar（Rev．P．A．Sharp），whas gavo an interesting address．After service，the company adjourned to the scbools for tea（rain having prevented tea on the Vicarage awn as arranged），and 35 persons had an excellent repast．
A brief mecting was held after tea，and sympathetic reference（u the death of Mr．J．W．Scott，of Libshelf，was made by the presi－ dent，supported by the Rev．J．H．Lewis，South Normanton，and the secretary．A vote of condolence with the relatives was passed by thr members reverently standiag in silence．
Nine new ringing members were elected，and one hon member，the Rev．P．A．Sharp，who gave the association a hearly welcome to his parish，which is also the residence of Mr．W．Dobb，president of thr association．

A vote of thanks to the Vicar，arganist and ladies for catering was proposed by Mr．T．Stimpson and carred ith a hearty manmer．－The Vicar and Mr．J．Rawson，churchwarden，responded．
The visitors then returned to the towor，and ringing took place until 8．30，when the breaking of \(n\) rope put an end to an enjoyable day．I＇he methods rung ranged from Grandsire Doubles to London Surprise，and learmers were not forgotiten．

Memberg were present from Alfreton，Blackwoll，Heanor，Mans－ field，Mansfield Woodhouso，South Nornanton，Sutton－in－Aslifield， Swanwick，Ripley and the local hand，while visitors wero welcomed from Eastwood，Gandiacre and Breaston，

The Editor of "The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be pul)lished at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to semd a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwartecl in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

By the denth af Mr. Arthu: Claven, of Sheffeld, which took place last week, the Exereise loses a well-known composer and the author of many methods.
The bells of St. Ives Parish Church, Funts, are being recsst at the Whitcchapel Foundry and reduced in weight. Yley are to lre hung with new fitings and frame work. The spire at this church fell in Ig18 through an airplane crasling into it.
Maurice Swinfield, the brilliant young conducfor, of Butlon-omTreat, has achioved a zemarkable record for the Midand Comptes Association. He has called one hundred peals for the agsociation, and no two of the compositions have been the same
The longest Handbell peal on record, 19,738 Stedman Caters, wes rung at Guildford on August 31st, 1912. It was conducted by Mr. Alfred Pulling, もbe othor ringers being Messers. A. and w. Shephord, J. Funt and F. Bluadedl.
The fust ten-boll peal in Scotland was rung at St. Marys Cathedra], Edinburgh, on August 31st, 1886, conducted by \(\mathrm{F}^{2}\). E. Dawe.
The first peal rung upon the bells of 'St. Michael's Church, Bi-hop's Storifort, was a peal of Grandsire Calers, 5,039, by the Jupior Society of Gollege Youtlis, on September 2ud, 1820, conduclन्व ly Henry Symondson, sen.

The nane of tho conductor and ringer of tenor in the pesil of Mingr at Willesborough on Augugt 16th wis E. S. Ruck.

The number of changes in the peal of Superlative at Dunmow on August 5 th was 5,056 , not 5,120 , as plinted.
The bells of St. Ghad's R.C. Gathedral, Birmingham, are to be broadcast on Sunday evening at 7.50. These bells are a ring which come through well when broadcast. They are luag four over four, athd epery bell swings by the windows.

\section*{A BIRMINGHAM WEDDING}

A young lady, well Known to many ringing visitors to Birmingham, is to be married at St. Martin's Earisly Ghurch to-morrow. Gile is Miss Winifret Edith Walker, only daughter of Mr, and Mu. A. Walker, of 81, Baker Street, Sparkhill, Birmingham, the bridegroom being Mr. Lestic Arthur Reynolds, also of Birmingliam. The lyike's father is the popular Depuly Ringing Master of St. Martin's Gaila, and nalurally the bells ft the famous churels will ring out in honnur of the event. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walker and their faughter will, join in wishing tho young couple 'health, happings and long life.'

\section*{DEBENHAM TOWER UNSAFE.}

ORACK IN WALLS THREE FEET THICK,
The famous tower of St. Mary's, Debenham, is ju a dangerous coudition, and tho Church Council have a scherme on hand for ifs resteration and also for the restoration of the roof of the church, which has got into a statio of considerable disrepair.

Debenham Church las lang been a favourite tower among ringers, and many fine performances have been achieved there, the most notable, of course, being the 16,608 Oxford Treble Bob Major, rung in 50 hes. 32 mins. on June 6th, 1892. The bells were cast in 1761 by Lester and Fack, the treble heing recest in 189I. The tenor, in addition to bearing the name of the Vicar and carate of those days, is alsa inseribed:-
- In Wedlock's bands all ye who join,

Your hands wibh bearts unilo.
So shall our tamefui torgues combine 'To land the nuptial rite.'
The tower and roof of the gave have been carcfully inspected by a well-known Ipswich architeck, and his report on the former will interest the many ringers who know this interesting clures. He sajf, with regard to the tower: "This is a very interesting structure, and of rather musual character, being entirely withant butIresses, and 23ft. square, though ouly 56ft. lifgh. The lower part of tho tower extibits long and slart work, and may be pre-Conquest, and the upper pait is probably early \(15 t / 1\) century.

This tower coutains a celebrated peal of eight bells, hang in an old wooden frame of extrnordinary construction, which allowed a lnyge smount of Interal mofement. T'o overcome this movement, wedges were placed between the fume and the walls, and probnbly this has been the cause of the failute in the helfry walls. The same trouble has accurred hefore, and two fron ties were placed ith tha walls of the belfry, both in the direction of cast to west. Tlle balls are not now rung, but it seems a pity that this celcbuated peal of (Continued in rext column.)

INTERESTLNG HELL INSCRIPTIONS AT OXTED.
A meeting of the Southern District of tho Surrey Association with held at St. Mary's, Oyted, on Saturday last, about Lhirty ringers and friends being present fram Follill, Reigate, Horley, Godstone, Linusfield and Limpsfield Chart, Mitcham, St. I'eter's Croydon, Londan, Crawley, Turner's Hill and Sovenoaks. The ringing during the after noon danged from rounds to London Surprise Minot. Strwice was :onducted by the Rector (tbe Rer. W. EF. Gibbons), who afterwarts took tho ringers to the Burnlam 'lem Rooms, where wenty-lhree siel down to ten. Jhis was followed by a busiuess meeting held in the vestry, the Rector presiding.
Mr. H. Jordan, of Reirate, was re-elected a mentrer of the associntion, and it was decided to hold the neyt meeting at Buckland ins October.
hearty vole of thanks to the Rector for his address al the service, for the \(11 s e\) of tho bells, and for presiding at the moeting, was passed, and thanks were also accorded ta Mr. A. Newnlam, the local secretary, for his assistance in making the armagements. This concluded the meeting, and the ringers returned to the town, wherv they put in some further good provete, the bells being lowered in peal at 8.45 p.m.
In the inventory of chutel goods made in Ilus roign of Eilward VI it is recorded that there were 'iijj bolles in the stenle.' In the fourth Year of Edwam VI.'s zeign there were 'sold unto one 'I'hamas 'Taxford, founder, one sauns bell poz \(x \mathrm{ll} \mathrm{lb}\), ij proeession iolls poz xyj ib , with as much other latten as weied in all togethor elxxsij lb for the sume of lvijs. ixd." In 1729, Rijulard Phelps plated a peral of tive in the tower, nud two of these had intoresting iuseriptious.
On the 4th was: 'Ricardus Phelps me Fecit 1729 . Ab amni fulgure defend a nos Domine." This inscription referved to a had storm in July, 1719, when the chureh was struck by lighining and the bells destroyed.
The tonor has this unusual inscription: 'Good Folks with one Accord we Gall to hear God's Word wo Honour to the King and toy to Brides do Sing We Triumplis Loudly Teil & Ring your Last liarewell. R.P. Ft. 1729.'
Tu 1923 a fund was raised for the restoratian of the bells, something like e600 loning received. The thim and fourth were recast by Monrs and Stainhank, and a new trehle adeled, all tho bells boing hang on inon headstocks. The ehurch contains an interesting list of Rectors from 1294 to the prosent day.

18th entury bells should not bo xting, and I bope it will he possible to redesign the frame and make it safe for Whens io bo used arsill.

A erack las now daveloper in the eashern walt of the tower, al the sonth-axst comer, of a very sorious characier, This crack is winte and loose, cxtending the whole beiglat of the belfry storey and elentu througl. the wall, which is liere 3 ft. thick. "this crack should lwe immedintely dealt with, and I recomanend cutting out so far as: is necessary to eloctively deal with it, bonding across will large stones at the back of the facing, and building up and grouting lie whale in cement, and making good the crack on the outside tince with masonry to matel the present. In adrition, I would recommend two inom ties, similar to thoge existing and jusi below them, extenting from soutli to north.

Thle other serious defect in the tower is the condilimn of the parapet. This is of rtressed some about 9in, thick, and rendered on the inner side in cement. Apparenty timere is no bed left to tho rajority of these stomes, and the whole parapat is thorefore loase, and sanie of the stones arc bulging out, in one case as much as Ithin. Inm afmid that nothing will avail but taking down the parapet, numbreing the stones and rebuidding exactly as hefore, bedeling all in wentut ntwl pointing in cement and stome dust. When this is done, the opportunity should be taken to insert a sonma new apron lashing, as the pragent ront cannot last a great many mome years withont abiention, num it would be a pity to disturb the robuilt parapel when this time comen. An appeal is made to members of the Exercise to help in the restaration suheme, and dowations can be sert to Mr. W. C. Rutnsey, Debenlam, Stownarket, SulFolk.

\section*{CRITICISM OF AN ANTIQUARIAN VIEW.}

An article on church bells which appeared a short time ago in 'The Times' newspaper from the pen of Mr. H. B. Walters, the celebrated antiquarian, who is perhaps the greatest living authority on the historical side of church bells, was received with mixed feelings in ringing circles, because, while much of what Mr. Walters said, such ats the eminent desirability of preserving medieval bells and his condemnation of the practice of 'clocking,' was a welcome restatement of the case, some of his other points were, to say the least, highly debatable. Mr. Walters' article occupied a conspicuous place in the Church and Empire Number of 'The Times, and was consequently widely read. The impression Which it made was, doubtless, correspondingly important. We are quite sure that Mr. Walters had no intention of misleading his readers, but in one or two respects he, shall we say, 'misinterprets' the attitude of ringers in the modern developments of bell hanging.
Mr. Walters is, for instance, ou! to prevent the removal of the old wood frames or the laying of violent hands upon any bell of venerable age. He attributes, at any rate by inference, the change from timber to metal frames to ringers who appear to hold the 'fallacious notion that bells arc more easily rung in a metal frame than in a wooden one, ' whereas the change is merely the evolution of mechanical efficiency. A bell when it is rung is a piece of moving machinery, and we imagine that no modern engineer would, for preference, place moving machinery in a wooden frame. Hence, ringers advocate metal frames where possible. What antiquarians do not seem to realise is that a metal frame is better than a wood one from the point of view of the stability of the tower. Without constant and careful attention, a wooden frame is likely to develop into a battering ram upon the tower walls and do serious damage to the fabric, while in the event of fire its presence is, of course, disastrous. Frames of good seasoned wood, saicl Mr. Walters, should last for at least two hundred years and many of those in our church towers that date as far back show no sisens of decay.' With regard to some old bell frames Mr. Walters is perfectly right, but where can wood seasoned sufficiently to last a couple of centuries be found in these days? When big bell restoration schemes are undertaken good, sound old wood frames are not wantonly sacrificed, but where a Irame has got to come out, it is cheaper, safer and far more efficient to put in a metal one.

Then Mr. Walters taiks of 'the modern mania' for enlarging rings of bells ' without regard to the number which the tower was ariginally erected to hold.' "Few ixell founders, for instance, seem to have realised,' he adds, ' that the magnificent towers of Somerset were intended to hold not more than five or six heavy bells and that great risks have been run by topping these with two or three lighter ones, an addition which the tower could not reasonably be expected to bear.' This is a reflection mour modern bell founders which is quite unjustified. To begin with, the enlarging of rings of bells is not a 'modern mania.' The enlarging of rings of bells has been going on for centuries, and while it may be true that it has proceeded faster in the last fifly or sixty years than it had done before, there has been ino period when the safety of the fabric has been more earefully or skilfully considered than in the last quarter of a century. Thanks to metal frames and modern methods of bell hanging, many towers have, indeed, been made actually safer with an additional number of bells than they were before the extra ones were put in.
Mr. Walters condemns the practice of applying Simpson tuning to old bells or recasting old rings because they lack this quality. 'English bells,' he says, 'have always been tuned on a different system and cannot be adafted to the Simpson method, though it may be quite suitable for new bells.' There are obvious reasons, of course, why old bells cannot be adapted to the Simpson method of tuning. The tone of a bell depends upon its shape and the old bells are, for the most part, of the wrong coutours to retune on the Simpson priaciple. But the old 'system ' was not a system at all in the sense that Simpson tuning is a system. All that the old English founders really troubled about was to get the strike note correct. The harmonics did not concern them, or, if they did, they knew very little indeed about correcting them. If they obtained a bell with its harmonics approximately correctand there are a few such old bells about-it was by a large measure of luck. Mr, Walters' atticle makes it appear that the Simpson principle is just an alternative to the tuning of these old bells-we dio not, of course, refer to the more modern bells scientifically tuned on wbat has been called the 'old style '-whereas- these ancient bell.s which he, and almost everyone else we imagine, is anxious to preserve, are just individual notes, approximating to the diatonic scale, but with little or no relationship in their harmonics.

Mr. Walters' article would have been more convincing to people with an intimate knowledge of bells had he been less anxious to condemn some of the modern ifieas and practices in regard to bells and bell hanging. In the archæological realm Mr. Walters speaks with authority, but he views modern methods and progress with the bias of the antiquarian. The difficulty in contesting any of the statements arising from an article such as that by Mr. Wallers is that it is almost impossible to obtain the same conspicuous publicity or even to teach the same body of readers. Last week a letter appeared in "The Times 'traversing briefly some of the points, but the original article, with all its inferences, is the one which will leave the most lasting impressions, and the letter which appeared in the correspondence columns is unlikely to be seen by a tithe of the public who read the original article.

\section*{GUILDFORD RINGERS' TRIP INTO KENT.}

The ingers of S. Nicolas Church, Guildford, had a very enjogable outing, the reventh of a serics, which has on every occasion been favoured by fine weather. The party trawelled by motor coach througli Dorking and Reigate to Godstone, a halt being there made to sing at the Parisla Glurela. Later, the journey was continued over the Sulrey horder to Westerliam, Kent. Fere they were fortunate in getting a chance to ring, as the bells were still in the bands of the bell hangers, the men kindly leaviug their work for a short lime, and the glorivus peal of eight were soon going. Westerham wis at once roted the 'tif-bit' of The trip. While vinging was in progless, preparations were mude al Stokes House for tea, which, to the joy of eweryane, was served in a lovely seduded garden, making it a great wremels later when the bime arrived for the journey to be resumend to Edenbridge. There Mr. J. W. Steddy was waiting Eor the party, and the bells were soon going in the standard raethods. Again the party wore very reluctant to leave a beautiful and perfectly going peal of bells, but time is an incxorable master, and departure could no lomer be delayed. Guildford was reached at about 10 p.m., everyone voicing their Lnanks to all who had contributed to ithe suecess and pleastre of the trip-

\section*{NOTES BY THE WAY.}

ARISTOCRATIC PATRONS OF THE EXERCISEDOUBTFUL TRADITIONS.

\section*{By J. Armiger Troleope.}

During the seventeenth and early part of the eighteenth centuries ringing was a fashionable sport. It was practised at Oxford and Cambrielge, and it attracted a good many of what are sometimes called 'superior class" people. Then it was forsalen by its aristocratic patrons. The social status of ringers declined and during the latter part of the eighteenth and a large part of the nineteenth centuries it was very low indeed. Those few ringers who had superior education and a larger income seem to have been rather ashamed of the company they found themselves in. Thus Squire Powell, of Quex Park, was very careful to say that the broadsheet of Stedman Triples issued by him was by an 'amateur of that art ' and many lesser men when their names appeared in records of peals and such like things would clap 'Esq. to the end of then, to show that they were not like other and common ringers-a bit of snobbery which survived till less than forty years ago.

As for the common ringers, though they knew they were nobodies and of low esteen, yer they liked to look back to the days when a ringer might have been somebody. It pleased them to cherish a connection, however shadowy and remote, witi people of social standing, and they fostered a tradition of the past social greatness of the Exercise.

Old men would tell with pride how in their young days, or mayhap in the days of their fathers, it was no unusual thing to see My Lord This or Sir Something That in the belfry. You will find a hint of this spirit in the history which the College Xouths print (or did print) in their book of rules. They give a list of 'names of eminence' from its ' time honoured roll of members.' Eminent as what? Who where Sir Richard Everard, Sir Henry Tulse, Sir John Bollis and the others? I profess I cannot tell. Secular history knows not their names, and they have macle no mark on the annals of ringing. But they were people of title and at a time when titles were less common and more esteemed than they are now.

There is a tale which has been printed many times during these last hundred and fifty years which tells how, once upon a time, when St. Bride's bells were ringing, all the gentry and fashion of the town would ride up and down Fleet Street in their carriages to listen. And, after one peal was rung at that tower, the band dispersed to their own homes each in his own carriage. The tale does not ring quite true. It has all the signs of being the result of a lively imagination working up and embellishing some vague tradition. Unless my notion of the old ringers is sadly at fault, they certainly did not disperse to their own homes after the peal, even with all the pomp and circumstance of carriage and horses.
I'eals were not commor things in those days, and the first peal of Bob Maximus was no mean achicverment. You may be sure they went, all of then, found to some coffce house hard by and hadl some refreshment. There they talked the peal over, and told each other what fine felliows they were, and generally enjoyed the only reward that a peal ringer ever gets-the salisfaction of having done something that takes some doing. And, alyylow, why carriares? why carriayes? London was a comparatively small place then. All the ringers would have lived within walking distance of the tower. People in those days did not use carriages to get about town. They went on their fect, or, if they were opulent and fastidious, ihey hired a sedan chair.

When Ben Annable, who called the peal, took a band down to Oxford for a week's ringing, it was not in carriages they went. They walked on their leet, all of them, except one, and he rode a horse. I should like to be able to give an account of Annable, what he was, and where he lived, and so on, but I have not the material. He was a great man, one of the greatest the Exercise has produced, by far the erreatest that ever belonged io the College Youths, and they owe to him more than to any other the position they hold in the Exereise.

Of one of his band, one of those who rang in the Bob Maximus at St. Bride's, I can give some account. He is in the College Youths' list of 'mames of cminence '-- John Hardham, a celebrated ringer and an extensive tobacconist in Fleet Street, the inventor of the smufl still called Hardham's 37,' a sound solid tradesman, but most certainly not of Society and the carriage lolk: Here is an account of him taken from a book by Leigh Hunt, called 'The Town,' which is a description of London during the eighteenth century. There is no reference to Hardham's ringing, and I imagine that belonged to his early days, before he achieved either money or lame.

On the same side of the way as Shoe Lane, hut nearer to Flool Markot, was Hirdlam'g, a colebrated snuff shop, the founder of which deserves notice for a very delicate generosity. He was numberer at Drury Lane Theatre, that is to say, the person who eounted the number of people in the hause from a hole over the top of the stagea practico now discontinued. Whether this employmeni led him to number snuffs as well as men, we cantot say, but lo was the first that gave them their distinctions that way. Lovars of "the pungenl grains of titillating dust "are indebted to lion for the famous compound eatitled " 37 ." Being passionately fond of thentrical entertainments, he was seldom without embryo Riclaurds and Hotspurs gtrutting and hellowing in his dining-room or in the parlour behind his shop. The latter of these apartments was adomed with heads of most of the persons celebrated for dramatic excellence, and to these be frequently referred in tho course of his instructions. There is one circumstance in his private character wlach deserves a most hanourable rescue from oblivion. lis eharity was excessive to an uncommon degrec, and was conveyed to many of jis objects in the most delicate manner. On account of his known integrity (for he once failed in business more ereditably than he could have made a fortune by it) he was of ten entrusted with the cart of paying little ancual stipends to unfortunate women ami athers who were in equal want of Jelief; and he lias been known with a generosity almost ursexampled to continue those ammatites long after the sources of them had been stopped by the deaths or caprices of tie person who at firgt supplied them. At the same time he persuaded the receivers that their money was remitterd to tinem as usual througla its former channel. Indeed, his purse was never shut, even to Chose who were casually recommended by his common acuuaintance. This admirable man died in 1772; and by his wild bequeatled the interegt of £20,000 to a female acquantruce, and at her clecease the principle, etc., to tho poor of his native cilly, Chichester.'

Part of the above was a quotation by Hunt from a book published in 1782 called 'Baker's Biographia Dramatica,' Reed's edition, Vol. I. This book apparently contains a biography of Hardbam. It would be interesting, if one could come across a copy of it, to see if there are any references to ringing and the ringers of the eighteenth century.

\section*{OVER, CAMBS, TO HAVE EIGHT BELLS.}

\section*{FUNi' OPENED.}

At a meeting of the Parochial Church Council held al Over, Crmbs. on Thusday week, it was decided to apers a lima for the augmentation of the bells to a peal of eight. Thw scheur has already found sumport. Anyone interested rand desiring to halp the fund should forward subscriptions either ta the Viear (Rev. F. G. Weston), the wardens (Mr. H. Edwards and Mr. Harty Asplin), or Mr. Willian T. Ginn, hen, secretary of local compary, Chain Roaid, Over, Carabs. Any sum; smatl or great, would be gladly weleomet. Over \(£ 2,000\) lins been spent on the church in recent yerris, which makes the appeal for outside lielp all the stronger.

Over is a very strong centre of change ringing in the Tily Diocesc.

Come fill up the can and fill up the glasses,
Hure's health to the Lancashire lade and the lassics. BOLTON BLESSED WITH BELLS.
Bulton, the home of the president of the Laticashire Association, tho Rev. Cinon Elsee, M.A., is a town blessed with bells and toffee. Jhore ito eight octaves, but we contented ourgelves with two only. Thle first tower, St. Peter's, is very finely proportioned. There are over one hundred steps an all to the ringing room (91 from fhe foor of the church). A local reporter came to inguire what the bells were ringing for As the writer was on door duly, the inquirer was duly jnformed, und a colume of matter appeared in Lite "Bulton Journal" with at portrait of the ringers grouped in the belfry as they completed their peal.
Fortune favoured us in the search for lumeh, and the oldest licensed house in Lancashire was inspected. It dates from a.d. 1254, and is named 'The Man and Scythe.' A number of relies are to be sect, jucluding a chair in which the seventh Earl of Derby sat just before his execution on October 15th, 1651. Townspeople call it the oldest licensed house in England. I have personally visited three others wittin two years, viz,, at Finedon, Swansea and Chiddingfold. All thege claims seem to confirm the beljef that it is a good thing to be sut antiquarian, especisily if lue is fond of the sold.

The 'double' came round in tho afternoon at Foly Trimily Church. Here is an excellent peal of cight, cast by Mearg and Stainbank is 1920, Lenor 17 ewi. 1 qu. 4 lb . in E ( \(\Omega\) replica of Slough), which replaced a peal of theirs destroyed by fire. The oripinal ring of bells was opened on Easter Sundry, 1877, and in the porch hangs a photograpts of the band who rang the fiest peal on them. In this belfyy ithe late H. W. Jackson put in a life's work ( 65 years), joining the Laticashire Association on July 1st, 1876, when he had alveady rung several peals with friendly teams. With our thanks to the towerkepper, we took seats in a stately saloon car that carried us back to Pecadilly aud Moss-side.
W:ll reforence to the above two performances, all agreed that as cortsin member of the team was well tuned on the Simpson principle, judged by his true striking-in other words, he was a "sound beau."
In our liavels it was regrettable to hear of the urgent neat of employnent in the textile Irades throughout Lancashire, one of the two counties in England with the largest list of 'uncraployed.' We found a number of ringers affected by the present trade conditions.
THe two towers for Friday were Bolton Deane, once a suburlb of Bolton, end now included within ats boundary; and Westhoughton, further afteld. The facile motor coach agnin carried the pariz sfifcly to and from the city of Manchestor. The tenors at each of these towers are much the same weight, viz., 14 ewt., and both peals fonn useful octaves for Major practice Messrs. Barlow, Righy and Worsley ( 183 up ) have bere cach carried on good work for tho Lancashire Assaciation in tho pesti.

Dean Church tower, at the west end, is open to the nave, and bas a thigers' gallery, reached by a slep ladder, with trap door. It was some time before the band settled down to the quick running and irregular chappering of this octave.
Foolpaths in this chureliyard, hike mast of the old parishes in this part of England, bave been paved with ancient headsiones bearing the anmes of many old Lancashire families. Here is the versc copied fram ane to the memory of Mary Roardman, 1806:-

\section*{DAY IN MANCFIESTER}

Tambester was the centre planmed for the last day of the tom on Siturday, with Prestwiel in the monning and the Cathedral in the evening for the jirale. St. May's, Prostwich, was found to be a fonuliful stone building, jighly furnished, with its architeetural elevations in excellent repair. The bells are a rally fine-toned ring of cight, running easily, and the Stedman rung bere gave the tearn a welrome chonge after so much Major ringing. The hend ringer kindly mot us, and after falling in poal, to allow Mr. Shepherd to ring, lonked up, wishing us a lappy ending to our tol
For tfee afternoon, "t "touch or two on the famous ring of ten (lenor 52 cwt.) at the Jown Hall was very kindly arranged by Mr. F. Page, a privilege which everyone appreciated, although only hale the party accepted for 'blistering' reasons. At this tower there are two ringing broihers, counterpart of the Pyes of Essex, without being related. I believe bolf Gcorge and Willinm have had to explain to friends that thoy were not in the Ashon long length. 158 per cert. on their ordinary shares. I think my readers will be quite safe in backing up both hirms.
Meeting at the Cathedral at five o'clock, several of the wellknown Mancheater men received the visitors in the belfry, mul wished them every guecess. After the peal of Stedman Catera, as recorded in the peal colunns, a couvivial gathering was held ot the Mitre, where we were reminded of the ancient history of this Landsome huiking by a parqgraph in the local evening papers as follows: 'Originally the Parish Clutch of Manchester, the Gathedral is dedicated in honour of St. Mary, St. George, and St. Denys. It was in its earlicst years the church of a Rectory, but was collegiated in the teign of Henty V. by roynl charter. This foundation was dissolved by Edward VI. and its property jmpropriated, the buildings being leased to the third Farl of Derby. Queen Mary reinstated most of the officers and granted tho church a frosh charter, mond her successor; Queen Ehizabeth, granled still another. In 1635 liwe foundation was reconstituted by Charles I. as the King's College of Clurist in Mianchester.'
As to the bells, installed by Messrs. Giliett and Johmston, they are a most musical peal, go woll, and are quite worthy of the handsonpe tower in which they are installed. We all felt highly honoured by the permission to atitempt a peal upon them. The honours of the Lancashire Association so far scored in this belfry have included all the first peals of Royal in Guandsire, Elain Bob, Kent and Dxford Treble Bob, and Cambrikge Suxprisc, ns well as Grandsirc and Stedman Caters-no mean list of achievements.

Of the eighteen towers at which the party rang during their lour, only three possessed the additional feature of a spire. If would sem that the fastion set by the Cathodral of a plain battlementod square tower with comer pimacles has been followed in the sturrounding country. In the course of our conviwis, it was ascertained lhat Washbrook's grave was neglected, and there was 110 headstone to mank his restiag place at Pendlaton; fhat death in the belfry has occurted in Jancs soveral times, among them the following instances: Masscy, in 1911, at Manchester, just as rounds came ap in a peal he had conducted, dropped read; and Schofeld, in Oldiam belfry, died whilst ringing for Sunday serviee. In referring to these sad inets, I may quote the brief text which is to be seen on the tamb of facts, I may quote the lorief fext which is to be seen on the tomb of the late George Fordham, a noted jockey, at Slough: "Tis thr: pac Llinti kille.

THE KEY TO SUCCESS.
The hour of good-night and good-byo arrived too soon for most of the company; it was good to be with the veterans who have helped on the asseciation to its jubiles. During the evening an opportanity was made to thank Mr. Slucker and the lads \({ }^{3}\) of Lancashire fo their willing help to emable the 'way of the ringer" to be pursued with success. Not a bari-going bell, not a single rope slizanded, nor a belfry key missing. No wonder the men of the North are leen on a belfry key missing. No wonder the men of the North are kecn on

HOMNEY MARSH GUILD DISCUSS THE STATE OF THE BFLLS
The Augut monthly mecting of the Guild was hold at Kennington on Saturday. Ringing commeneed ent 2.30 , and a slort service was heln in the chuteh at 4.30 , the address being given by the Rev. J. A. Whod (Vicar), whose subject was the Guild's first rule, Unity and good fellowshtp." Tea followed in the Chureh Room, dispensed by a conmitlee of ladics. The Vical welcomed the compury to Kenningond was unanimously elected to preside at the business meeting withich followed. Two hon. members aud three ringing nembers were elected, and Rye, on the chafrman's casting vote, was chosen for the next meeting.
Then ensued a very animafed discussion on bells and bellhanging, particularly in regard to Eennington bells. It transpired that about EGO had heen paid for putting the bells 'in order,' and it was the unamimous opinion of the ringers that all the bells now want is a Lwll hanger \({ }^{2}\) to take them in hand. The tenor, dated 1602, weighs 12 cwhe but wants a 40 cwt . pull. The fifth ( 9 cwt .) is in the same 12 chor tho fourth is dated 1794 . It is 77 cwt., and the best brd goer" "in the tower. Mhird \(6 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt., 1602 , second 1807, treble 1883 , which was apparently the last date ou which a 'real bell' hanger ' did nuthing at this tower.
fir. Porey Page, captain, and his band of young tingels, were highly comenended for their efforts to carry on in face of such diticullies.
The Guild Master, Mr. C. W. Everett, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Vicar for presiding, said how pleased the Guild was to have Viears and their wardens at their mectings. It showed that they Were really takiag an interestin heir ringers.
The Yicar, it r'ply, showed that he and his Church Council were ranly a live body, and all felt that, in time, Kennington bells will e in going order.
return was then made to the tower, and Oxford, Stedman, and Grandsire methods, with rounds for heginners, were rung until 8 f.m., when the bells were lowered in peal. The towers represented wore Asblord, Willesborough, Tonterden, Rolvender, Stone, Ganterbury, Wye, Charing and Kenningtan.

\section*{THE SUCCESS OF DISTRICT MEETINGS}

The business of maintaining the attendance at district meetings is as difficult a matter in some parts of the country as the getting and keeping ol new ringers, and the experjence of the Blackburn Branch of the Lancashire Association, reported last week, is by no means exceptional. In some areas district meetings are always highly successful; in others, so far as numbers are concerned, they camot by any means be thus described. The causes are various. In counties like Lancashire, doubtess the industrial depression is having a serious effect on ringring meetings. Men who are unemployed cannot be expected to travel away from home for the purpose. There are, however, districts in which there is little unemployment among ringers, but where ringing meetings are poorly attended, and in these cases it must be attributed to lack of interest.

On the other hand, a small attendance does not necessarily mean a useless meeting. A great deal of good in instruction can be done at gatherings where the numbers are limited, provided the right material is there. Indeed, while success is often, and for some reasons rightly, judiged by the size of a gathering, more actual proyress is frequently made where there is only a moderate attendance, if it includes ringers in both elementary and more advanced stages. There is much truth in the contention that more good is done by getting beginners through their first touches than by any number of courses in Surprise methods rung by experts, although no one, we think, will deny the experts the pleasure of a course or two in advanced methods if they take their share also in helping the novices in the simpler things.

Another standard by which success may be judged, is by the attraction which the meetings have for a varied circle of members. Unless, periodically, all the members of a district are drawn to the meetings, no plan of campaign can be said to be entirely successful. Officials know only two well that the backhone of their meetings is a certain nucleus of enthusiasts, who can be relied upon to be present. With them comes at varying fringe of occasional visitors, but unless at least the majority of members of a district can be brought into this "fringe ' with something like regularity it cannot be said that the work of the associations in this direction is being accomplished with complete success. The remedy is indeed, hard to find, and for the most part it must rest largely with the ringers themselves. One speaker at the Blackburn meeting, however, seems to us to have put his finger on the pulse of the matter when he suggested that the secrel of a sticcessful meeting was that the local band (Continaed on page 566.)

should make it a point of honour to attend when the meeting is held at their own tower. This is very little to ask of a ringer, but it would have a marked effect upon the meetings, especially in districts like those of the Lancashire Association, in which an endeavour is made to visit every tower once a year.

'the village of west Monkton, which lics four miles norlthenat of Taunton, boasts a fine fower and at yom peal of six bells (tenor 20 cwt .) - It has, however, been a luborious task for the past twenty years to ring these bells, bul they have thow been restored by a Ifaly, Miss Rose, who has generously defrayed the whole cosi of relanging the bells in ball loearings, strengthening the beams, tie bolts, ete, the contract having been earried out in a workmunike manner by Messis. Moars and Stainbank. A party of lingers irons Taunton, at the request of tho Rector, tested the bells and found everything in good going order. Several six-scores of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Canaridge Surprise Minor were brouglst round. The refreshments afterwards were very uewptatle the the close of one of the hotiest days of the yeal.

\section*{UXBRIDGE RINGERS' OUTING.}

St. Andrew's ringers, Exbridge, hat their amual half-day auting on Saturday, August 23 rd, necompanied by friends from St. John's, Hillingdon. A start was nade just after two o'clock, the route taken being via Beaconsfield, Boyne Encl and Miarlow to Henley-on-Tlisines, which was reached half nu bour in front of sehodule. tn this spare time sonie visited the tawa while others lad a thip an the river. The inturior of the clateli was visited, where the old Clancery Room was of interest. It dutes back to the 14th century. Mr. White, the steeplekreper, met the visitors, and touches of Stedman Triples, Plain Botu and Kent lreble Bob were rung on the tine peal of bells. Proeceding via Shiplake to Soming, an excellonk tea awaited the parly a' the Bull Hotel, and afterwards ringing was indulged in at the charc ou a good ring of bcils. Touches qf Grandsire. Sledman, Oxford Boh Triples, and Plain Bob were rung. Lenving this benutiful little spot, the journey was resumed to Hurst, whele a guarterly meeting of the Sonning Deanery Branch was being lyeld, nind a cordial welcome was received. Several excellent touches were rung with the members of the braneh. The homewuril journey was made though Maidenhead and Slough, Uxbridge being rcaclicd shortly after ten o'clock, eifter a very enjoyable at ermoon. The hand wish to take this opportunity of thanking the incumbents and lawerkeepers of the towers mentioned for the use of the bells and the traulle laken to mako the visits a success.

\section*{HOLIDAY THOUGHTS.}

\section*{BY O.P.Q.}

Bellringing is in seriotlö ath: you hate only to try it once to leatr Dhat, Fry to be fundy at ihe shate lime that you try to catch the flying satly, and you lessun will more that likely be a peremptory pies of course, wheu yoll are tearoing to lumille a rope you can be fiamy, and look funmy, too, willout trying. And so can your inmifudnet, it you happen to let gel the rope und the cod of it gets entaxgled will the gas bracket, or the clock pendulum, if thet happrons la switg in the vinging clumber, But what I mean is, whens serionts. "I'ry uad tell ihe cond netur in the middle of a peal of Superlithon itat last funny stary you heard, and see what Lappens! Ten to one something will. Suppose, for instance, Mr. Tom Coles Lad saint to Mr- William Pye in the middle of the eleven-method Spliced Surprise peal: 'I saly, Bill, have you heard that one about ?? Would Bill smile and siy; ' No, whal is it?' Not ab bit; at any vate, nol just like tiat.

No, you have got to be desperately it earnest when you are change riaging, and that is why 1 dontt believe in going for peal ringing hulidays, Jiancy having to be dearl serious for half your waking hours while on your holidnys, sud spending the other half in one mad rush to smap rip your muals and in geting from one tower to anollier! Of course, some people like this kind af thing-thed may be becanse it is the only lime they really work-and, of those who do Jike il, it seems to me that the older they get the more they like it, if you understad what I mean. If you don't, look down the names, in \(a\) recent issue of "The Ringing World, \({ }^{2}\) of those who took part in Lbat tour in Lancashice amd Cheshire. Some of them were riagjng beforo most of as were borm. Of course, I won't mention names, berase the question of age wilh some folk is a tender point, but it won't bo many ycals before two or three of then reach tho octogetariausibre! And iher, I suppose, it will be itree peals a day for in fortuight, instead of two \(\pi\) day for a weok.

Fhi can't we do samething to enliven the proceedings when we are peal ringing? I know there is enteriainment to be got sometimes from watching other people's faces, but then, you can get tired of othrr people's faces if you have to look at them for three hours. Aud I know that some conduaters eutertain the band by doing a 'horn pipes when things look like going up the pole towards the bitter-or should it be tha sweet-end. A fso I am awaye that ringers necrsionally put up syncopaled music with the bells, which, of course, is really that foter. But these things cannot always be relied upon to relieve the ledmen of flis monotonous concentration. Why not introtuce clook golf, on table tennis, or oven billiards? I'd give anyIhing to seo Mr. James Slacplierd ringing a tenor with one hand and paying ping pong with the other, or Mr. Ted denkins calling a peal of London and trying to "put" ain the same time. Or' why nol occasionally try u little community singing? Some of the old songs could nuile well be adapted to lbe purpose. For instance:-

Pull, brothers, pull; the bells run fast,
A routse end is near, and the single's pas

\section*{D'ye ken Jim George with his noat so gay,} D'ye ken Jim George at the close of the day D'ye ken Jim Gearge at the end of the fray With a peal for his beak in the morning?

The sound of the bells kept the from my bed,
The striking was grand, it went to my head,
But we cannot repont what the neighbours saidFor the ringing thadn't stopped since morning.
Or, for those who are on a peal-ringing tour:-
The dusky night rides down the sky and ushers in the morm;
The ringers join in glorious ery, and iender hands they scorn. 'lhen peal-hunting they will go, l'enlthunting they will go.
I am one of those who are not good judges of bells. I never was aud never shall be. But I an a patriot; a 'parochial palriot,' if here is such a thing, and I like the bells of the church where I first learned to ring'. Bome people call ibem only 'a middling old lot, but their music is ever sweet to me. I know that if one is to he in thane, as it were, with modern thought, one has got to be a Simpsonite; but I ann nol much gone on the harmonics and the hum, which (I sey it with bated breath) often obliterates the sound of the individual bells when thoy have been elaborately tuned. While rambling on my lolidays recently I stumbled upon the ancient village of Trapps-Trapps is not its pioper mame, but it will do for ray preseat purpose. It was practice night for the ringers, and I strollent into the tower. It was only roumds nud call changes they were ringing, hut eren to my acmitiadly indifferent ear these bells weren't intels of a colliectian. "Olid pots" most poople wotald have enlled them, and they wouldn't have been far wrong. Later on, over a mug of buer at the Cornstalk, the local foreman waxed almost eloquent about his bells. He was a 'parochial pattiot,' his bells were ever sweet to \(\lim\), and he had not much use for Simpson tuning, either. This is what ine told me, although he did not pitt it quite in this form, and you bave gol to allow a little poctical, and other, license:-

I've rung at Litile Puddleton; I've pulled the bells at Rudd;
I've tried "en up at Applecombe, and at Slapton-in-the-Mud ln fact I've rung in lots of towers; more'n any of our chaps But of all the belfs Ive ever card give me the bells of Trapps.
Now Trapps is down where I was born and where I larned to ring
There ain't no bells for many a mite, to touch 'em when they
Though they be old, they lovely be, when we chaps strike 'em tound,
And when we ring for weddings, they make a merry sound.
They rouses all the jackdaws that nest up in the fower,
And Susan-that's Squire's dairymaid-says they turns the milk all sour ;
And Farmer Giles's bull goes mad wien he hears the belis ring
And Parson, he just says a prayer, when he knows that we're about.
But tilat don't matter, not a bit; 'tis well that all should heed,
For on our tenor bell "tie widt: 'Jesus bee oure goode spede.
Go we be fond of our swcet bells that swing in Trapps' old tower
And every week we practises and rings em by the 'out.
They say the treble's out of tune with all the other five,
But does it matter if it don't hum like bees round a hive?
Tho second onee was used, they say, upon a big sea boat,
And 'gainst the others it don't seem to be quite the right note
The third's a topper, that it is, it's tone is real cloice,
But since the clapper broke lask year the bell has lost its woice.
The fourti is cracked from crown to tip, but still it rings out well,
The fifth, perhaps, ain't half as good, but 'tis a glorious bell.
The tenor's got a hole in her, just where the clapper hits
I often wonder who it was walked off with all the bits.
But that was many a year ago, before my father rung :
The tenor'll last a long time yel; the hole's filled with a burg
So now you see why down at Trapps we're proud like of our bells; There's noue, I say, can beat 'en 'twixt London town and Wels; And if ever you are passing through our village by the stream, Just stop and try our bells, my friend; they're graud; ther'ra just a dream.

A celebrated cricketer interricwed wilk regard to the dropping of Cliapman from the last test match team clescribed limi as an 'If-or,' and went on to explain that he was a hatsman who might knock up \(\pi\) lot of runs 'if"_. I don't know whether the suid celebrated cricketer is right or not, because I don't know anything much about first-class cricket, except what they tell iss in the newspapers, and you cen't always rely on that, but I do know there are \(\pi\) great many "If-ers" of another sort in the ringing Exercise. There's the man, for instance, who will come to practice only if it suits fim, and the man who turns up for service only if he knows there is going to be a full company present. There is the man who will attead the distriot meeting if his favourite football team is not playing at home that day, and the man who will only stand in a peal if he is asked to call it. There is the 'if-or' who lets his bell flop about and spoil the stulking, and the "if-er" who keeps a whole band from progressing, becanse he is too lazy to look up a new methorl. Yesthere are lots of 'if-er's' in ringing-lots more than are mentioned here-and with most of them it is not a case, as it is with a great oricketer, or a great ringer, of oceasionally shriking an 'off day' it's just a had habit with him.

What shall we do with the 'If-ers,' when they won't come, up to scrated?
What shall wo do with the 'If-ers' when they spoil the resh of the batel.
With the slirkers who mess up the workers, and those who come atong late:
Wilh tine slackers who think nothing matters, if only geven meet 'stead of eiglt;
Who stay away when they're wanted, aud frequently blight our hope,
Or spoil alf the striking because they've no liking to phall at the end of the rope?
They ouglit to be tarred and feathered, or boiled in a vat of oil;
Or sent down for years to Dretmoor, where prisoner's have to toil.
If I could, I would make it still stiffer, the sentence should at the crine-
But, perlaps, 'tis as well 'If-ors' don't get a 'spell; for I'm only an 'If-es' at rixume.

\section*{CAMBRIDGE YOUTHS' SUMMER OUTING.}

After a lapse of many years, the annual outing of the Cambridge Youths was revived recently. Favourod by fine weather, the party, ten strong, left Cambridge shurtly before 2 p.m. for Ely, reaching the alhedral city balf an hour later, Here the melodious peal at St. Mary's were soon set going to touches of Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Major. Littleport was next visited, and touches in various methods attempted. The tenor rope, however, could not gland the rough bandling of one of the heavies, and parted before a tonch of Bob Major could be brought home. After a stretch of 121 miles through tho fen country, and roads suggesting the 'rocky roat to Dubliu 'in parfs, Mildenhall was eventually reached at 5 p.m. Hert the party were wolcomed by Mr. P. Fordham, and an excellent tea partaken of at Messrs. Hagger's Restaurant. After tea, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Kent and a course of Gambridge Surprise were brought round on the fine-toned peal at St. Mary's Church. Leaving Mildenhall soon after 7 p.m., the party made for Newmarket, where they were met by Messirs. F. C. Turner and R. Sharpe, and ringing was indulged in on the exquisite six of St. Mary's unti] 8.30 p.m. Headquarters was reached at \(9.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\), everybody agreeing that in most enjoyable lialf-day had been spent. Thanks are due to all the incumbents for the use of the bells, and to al ihose who so kindly welcomed the visitors.

\section*{BY COMBE AND SEA.}

Et. Sidwell's, Exeter, ringers had their outing on August 16th, when they went by motol coach to Braunton, Georgeham, and Combemartin, at all of which places they found rings of eight in excellent condition. Georgelsam belfry is on the noisy side, and much improvement could be offected by a ceiling and layer of sawdust. The methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major, and some good striking was done. Apart from tho bells, the visitors were mucl interested int the ancient features of Bramntou Churefl-remarkable bench ends, Armada chest, palimpsest brass, and emblems of St. Brannock, the patron saint; Georgebam's beauti-frilly-kopt churchyard and tho Easter sepulchre in the church; and Combemartn's sereen and tower. The inland and sea views between Braunton and Combemartin were greatly enjoyed. At tea the Rector (He Rev. H. Lanyon Owen) expressed the pleasure he felt at being alile 10 share in the trip after his recent ilness. The arrangements were made by Mr. E. Shcplerd, while assistance as pilat was rendered by Mr. A. H. Haywerd, of Combemartin, who, with Mr. J. G. Sonderg, of the same place, participated in the ringing.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The Editor of 'The Ringing World ' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs shouid be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

Messrs. Mear's and Stainbank have just recast the treble and tenor of the ring of six (tenor 25 cwt .) at Stogursey, Somerset. The other bells have been retuned and the whole relang in an oak frame Few ringers can have rung two bundred peals in oue tower, hul Mr. Edwin Barnett, sen., scored bis second century at Crayford last Saturday.
One hundred years ago next Sunday, the College Yauths rang a peal of 6,144 Oxford Treble Bob Major at St. Peter's, Walworth.
Jahn Eolt called a peal of Bob Triples at St. George's, Suutliwark, an September 9 ith, 1750. It was one of a series of twembene peals which Holt rang with the Uuion Scholars over a perion of about five years from 1747 io 1752 . He was their leading conduelor, for he took part in every one of the socicty's peals duving ilat time and called them all but one.
On September 10th, 1741, the Crowfield Society of Ringers rang at Gafhrine"s Triples, "behtg the jirst true peal that evor was pricket with two Doubles only.' This peal, it is senerally accepted, wis Jolun Garthon's peal of Grandsire, first rung at Norwich in 1718.

\section*{A YOUNG CONDUCTOR}

\section*{To the Editor.}

Denr Sir,-Regarding a peal of Stedman Triples rung al BuckJamel, Berks, ou Saturday, August 9th, and published in your issue of the 15 th, I note the conductor is named Richard Post. His present age is \(16 \frac{1}{2}\) years, and \(I\) wonder of any younger ringer ias benter that performance? Tle tenor is given as 17 ewt., and I see that he rang the 7 th in the pead. Surely same fent for a strepling youth? Pcrhaps some of your readers may know of an equally Foung conductor. I would like to know, and I am sure thab "Tthhy" himself would, toa.-Yours, etc.,

\section*{RINGING AT CASTLETON.}

Ringing at Castletou, Derbyshire, where a peal attempt was made ou Saturday in menory of the late Mr. Arthur Craven, is untortunately at a low ebb now, only rounds and a few call changes being rung by the local band, but between 50 and 100 years ago there appears to lave been a good band there, and it is believed that meals were rung. Mr. G. R. Payne, of Gastleton, possegres some vety interesting ringing hooks by Sotcenstall, Shipway and others, with interesting newspaper cuttings relating to ringing performances al Shefficld Gathedral and elsewhere in the early mineteenth century; prosing that there whs keen interest in change ringing at that tirme. It is loped that with the infuence and lielp of the new Peak District of the M.G.A. this interest may in the near future he jevived.

\section*{RING OF EIGH'l RECAST AND REHUNG}

After a silence of twonty-fipe years, the bells of St. Mary's Church, Ponzance, huve been restored, and thus has been consummated a scheme for which Dr. Jom Symons, Ringing Muster of Trum Dis cesan Guidd, has laboured and waited so patiouty. Tho work, whieh has consisted of recusting and rehanging the whole peal, has tien splendidy carried out by Wessrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughhorongh, the cost linving been about \(£ 1,000\), of which one humired pounds has stitl to be raised.
Thice dedieation of the bells tonk place on Monday week, the cercmully belmg performed, in thu presence of a large congregation, oy the Lord Bishop of Truvo. The serviee was attended by the Mayor ard members and officials of the Corporation, and opened with the National Anthem. After a prayer and lesson, the Bishop, with Canoms T. F. Madrell, Jemings und F. R. Cam (Ficar) proceded to the tower, where the churchwardens lanted the ropes to the Bishop and reppested him fo dedicate the bells. This his Lordship did in the folluwisy terms: Be pleased, \(O\) Heavenly Father, to ac-

The Bishop then turued to the Vicar, and, plaring the ropes in his hands, said: Receive these bells that have bieen solemmly set apart from all profane mad unhallowed uses as a sacwd trust comanited unto Thee as tho appointed minister of Clirist in this Church, and take care that they bo ever only useri in God's service ant for His grory
Then followed a prayer granting * that whosover shall he ealled by thu suand of these bells may enter unto Jhy gates with thanksgivjng; that whasoever by reason of siekness of other necessity be hinderd from coming inlo the house of the Lord may be reminded of the prayems of Thy Chureli and rejoiee in the communion of saints; that those who in their daily calling shatl hear the sound of these meils bey dum nearer in spirit to Thee, the forl of their salyalion.'

\section*{HOLY ENSTRUMENTS.}

The nddress was given by Canm H. R. Jemings (Vicar of Madron), who based his remneras on Numbers x. 2: 'And the Lord spake anto Moses saying: Make ilne two intumpets of silfor, that thou mavest use them lor the ealling of the assembly Havius briefly traced the development of the bell to its present use in the churels, Cauon Jemnings said: Hells are booked on as luoly instro menta with a holy message, and are solemuly blessedi-as thats lolls have been blessed lodey-for God's service. Una though you liand bells cevorywhere in Christian lands, yet it is only in England that you fiad than properly rumg. La many places beils aris mang anyhow, jangied wilhuut system or method, jush to maka maise, Ju other places bells are chimed by a machine from a keytmand: bat in lingland the bells are wing to bring out all their music. You can leat thens, over thiles of country spreading Hzeit sweel mazie, and gimag heir message-their messuge to all within reach of the sotud. English bollingers take a pride in this art. If it be only simple tound ringmg, they do it as well as possible. In that special nett of ehmage ringing the music comes even sweeter, with the thrasmands of varintions you ear get from a peal of eight, without reperthey may silngle onc. The system ealled by quaint English names-such as Grantsire Caters, Stedman and Surpuise-displays the fullest beauty, the sweetest musie, the highest skill in the use of the bells, myuirtur physical strength, concentration of lbought, mental alertness nm? constant practice on tite part of thase whomg. \section*{INTERESTING PLACES VISITED BY SLOUGH RINGERS.}

The band of sunday service vingers of St. Mary's, Slough, visiled Hertfordshite on theit anmual outimer and marle good terc of the fatuteen soater kiudly placed at their disposal by tha church authorities. Mreeting ab tho chuteh at 8 atm, fhej effected an early shart. via Denhmmand Rickmansworbl to St. Abuns, where tho plain' portable \({ }^{2}\) lunch at noon became monger visible. The famous Abley was examinerd with interest. Here tho sikne bells \({ }^{3}\) are waiting for restoration work in the tower to be completed before the "death wateh' beetla does further damage. The Saturiay markeb proved interesting. "The ancient clock tower was inspoeted, Hs was also the adjoiniug inn, tho Fleur de Lys, where King John of France was dotained for a while in 1356: A medieval clock tower, almost unique in England. It contains a largo Curfew Bull drting from 1335 . T'ho adjacent Freneh Ruw was occupied by the Daupliots Troops 1216.'

Incidontaily, it may be here meal ioned thet Dr. Harwood, in his valuable history of Old Windsor, refers to this King's whr in England. After boing taken prisoner, he was placed in the dungeons of the Curfew Tower at Windsor Castle.
The party restmed their joumey through Wathotrd to Liton, hirityfive miles, where Brothor Blackburn was on daty at the towor, Mr. King being engaged olsowhere. Here there was considerablo fag wagging and public rejoicing going on to welcome lU.R.f. the lrince of Wales. At the church there were more rejoicings, a considerable number of young canples hasteming no to tho atar with the wediding ring so that the 'tounhes' rung on tho bells would appear to have touched up averybody the right why for oltec.

The retaria journey to Slotagh was taken via Toddington, Wing and Stoke Mandeville, and at each tower some musical tonches were rung to the satisfaction of all. Thadington hells are a mellow peal (lenor 22 cwt.), the Church of St. George standing in an old-world village which was lett with regret. Passing through Leighton Buzzurd, with its ten hells, the company little dieaned that another bani from Finedon whs there the sanie afternooy, or the two companies might lave been "spliced," to their mutual happiness. Wing, witll its heavy ring of six (tenor 29: cwt., one of Warucr's fimest castiags), was enjoyed, as was the scenery of Norlt Bueks wieped from the parapet of the tower top. The county towil of Aylashury was passed through, before reaching Mandeville, where the Vicar kindly met tho party and rang in several of the touches with his visilors. Tea was partaken of at the Bull before another 'good pull,' and then off towards home through Wendover, past, the Goombe Fill, with its county war memorial slanding up boldly against tlue fading light of evening. Approaching Slough, the hanebells wero packed away, after giving the youngsters a touch or two in which 'tittums' came up, on the spring seats, more often than the "Quem's' change. Needless to say, a voto of thanks wns acclamed luy the parly for those who hat afforded them a good day's holiday, with fine weather throwis in for nothing, except many thanks, to the clerks of the weather' and the towers they rang in.

\section*{STAFFORDSHIRE RINGERS VISI'T SPONDON.}

On Snturday, August 23rd, a party of ringers Erom Milton, near Stoke-on-Trent, visited Spondon, nud on nurval were jomed by several memberg of the local band. The sim bells were kept goin in various methods until 6 p.m., when there was min interval of one hour for tea.
Included in the touches rung were two courges of Eondon Surprisa, 720 Cambridge (believed to be the Cirst on the Lellas), 360 York, 720 Plain Bob and courses of Oxford and Kont Troble Hob, all conducted by Mr: J. E. Wheeldon, of Milton, Other riugers taking part were Messrs. J. Walley, W. Corlield and C. S. Ryles, of Millon, and W. Slater, F. Coxan, J. Bailey, C. M. Coxon, J. Cope iud W. \section*{DEATH OF MR. T. HERVEY BEAMS.}

\section*{PIONEER WORK IN DORSET.}

We much regret to record the death of Mr. Thomas Hervey Benres, of Bradipole, Dorset, assistant hotr. Secretaty of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, and one of its representatives on the Central Council, who passed awny last week. Mr. Bcanns, who was a retired schoolmaster, laad been in failing health for some time.
Forty years ago Mr. Beams was at Scaford, Sussex, and filled the office of hon. हecretary of the Eastern Division of the Sussex Association. For some yeats, under his gundanec, the division flourished, and many cujoyable meeting in those distant days are still rememberef. Afterwards Mr. Beams removed to Leptonstonc, where he was associated with the six-bell band at St. Joln's Cinurch, and about tweaty-live years ago he went to Bradpole, where lie had resided ever since. while there be introduced clange ringing into many towers where it had nol previously been practised, anti was respousible for geting many ringa of bells yestored and olhers augmented.
The dealh uf Mr. T. Hervey Beams, writes a correspondent, inGiels at serious lass an the Salishury Diocesan Guild, for which The hath done yeomall service during the past quarter of a century. On laking up his work as head toacher at Bradpole School, Mr. Beams at once set atout the introduction of change ringing in West Dorsct. Under his personal imstruction one tower after another has adopted method ringing, while a large number of the parishes in the district liave had their hells restored or augmented. He was always ready 10 pul his experience fund skilled advice at the disposal of Church sulhorities, and would travel to any part of the county to iuspeet belfries and make recommendations as to restoration.
For upwards of twenly years Mr. Beams acted as assistant secrelary to the Guifa, and in that caphcity did excellent work. During i.wo periods, what the present secretary had occasion to be alsoad for some lime, Mr. Feams took the gecretarial duties entirely on his shouklers, and he was at all times willing to undertake any work that might he required. IL was on his initiative that a Guild hadge was designed and adopted, and until the last year of his life the sale and distribution of hadges was entirely in his hands. The war memorial to ringers in the Cathedral was also organised by Mr. Heams, and be had the satisfaction of completing the required sum of \(£ 200\) within four months of his lamented death. His forceful personality and energetic adrocacy of any policy conceived in the interest of ringing were conspicuous fcatures of every business meating, and, as far as the present writer yemembers, he never missed an attondance cither at tho Guild festivals or at the committce meetings.
At tho funeral service in Bradpole Ginurch on Thursday week, the general secretary of the Guild (Rer. F. Llewellyn Edwards) officiated, The Vicar of Bradpole and the Rector of TBridport assisting. A large number of Freemasons were present, as well as many ringers, including the Mastor of the Solisbury Diocesan Guild and representatives of all tho Dorset hranelies.
Addressing the large gathering, the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards referred to Mr. Beams' ine record in four spheres of activity-as a schoolmaster, a churchman, a ringer and a Frcemason. Dwelling especially on his scrvices to the cause of ringing, he emphasised the fact that the restored and tugmented peals of bells for nany miles round wauld hear perpetual testimony to his skill and devotion, while the establishment of change ringing in West Dorset was cntirely the resule of his good work.

\section*{NEW BELLS AT NORTON, STAFFS.}

\section*{RECAS'l RING DEDICATED.}

Norton Parish Clurch bells, all six of which have been recast nul relhung with modem fittings, were dedicated on Sunday, August 24ih, hy a former Rector of Norton, the Rev. J. Kenwortly \({ }^{2}\)-Browne, now Rector of Paulerspury (Nortiant(). The presentation of we new bells to the parish was performed by Mr. Joha E. Whecidon, leader of the ringers of Norton.
The Rector of Paulerspury was the preacher at the morning ielvice, and before beginning his discourse he remarked that when he entered the church the previous night he thought he had never seen a more beautiful church that Norton possessed. He spoke of the message of bells. Bells, he said, were used in the earliest dnys mentioned in the Bible, in worship in the wilderness, for we ruad that little golden bells hung from Aaron's robe. Perlaps the mest important message was the great message of faith, for bells proclaimed our faith and belief in God. A third important message, which would be best realised by the bellinger himself, was the message of co-operation, for one man might throw a whole peal wrong- There had heen co-operation between the Rector and the parishioners of Norton to get the bells vecast. Only co-operation between capital and labour, master and man, could bring prosperity to Eugland. Bells were rung on mady different occasions, but thero was ane bell which was rung for everyone-tha passing bell. Jis message might be one of the end of a life of faith, and like the bells on Aarou's robe it would proclaim the entry of another soul into the holy place.
A special service was also lield in the evcning, when the Rector (the Rev. J. G. Hamlet) was the preacher. Both serrices were preceded and followed by short touches.
The recasting and rehanging work has bean carried out by Mesars. J. Taylor and Co., Loughborough, and a representative of the tirn (Mr. J. P. Fidler) was present in the charch during the service and also took part in a touch of Iandon Surprisc. THE 18 \(\ddagger\) TON RINGING BELL, the Bourdon of the Carillon of 84 Bells, about to be installed at Riverside Cafrce, New York, U.S.A

\section*{PLANS FOR THE COMING MONTHS}

The approach of longer evenings and the curtailnent of hours which can be spent in outdoor occupations, when suspended ringing practices will be resumed and ringers think of returning from playing fields and gaten to the bellry, is the time when all who are eager to improve their skill in ringing or to see the atrt advanted should make their plans. Without some crystallised scheme to promote progress, there is little hope of tuming the opportunities of the coming months to fullest advantage. Even those who have been able to maintain their practices during the summer would do well to lay pians for the winter-to have some definite object in view; to determine on some new stage of advancement. But in those towers where there has been a lapse of practices, perhaps for months, a real attempt at reorganisation and a 'plan of campaign' are almost essential, if next summer is to see the company any further advanced than the last.

The summer hiatus frequently results in one or more of the indifferent ones dropping out atougether, and these gaps should be filled at the earliest opportunity. Moreover, it ought not to be left to one member of the bandusually more enthusiastic than the rest-to do all the ¿donkey work' of teaching new hands to handie albel. This is a task in which all should share: and it ought to be no matter of casual interest either. Unless a company is at full strengith, and cat ring all the belts alt the time, half the interest groes out of ringing, and it is this, more often than not, that results in the eventual dispersal of a band. The filling of the ranks, then, should be the first matter for attention, and where there is already a band capable of change ringing there should be a definite intention of groing on to a new melhod or methods. There is no excuse in these days that the ladder of progress is difficult to climb; the steps have been made both short and easy for those who have hitherto got no fartier than Grandsire or Plain Bob. The Centrat Council's Collections of Methods come to the aid of everyone, and any band of average intelligence that is ringing Bob Major, for instance, to-day ought to be ringing Double Norwich before the winter is out, for they can reach it by easy stages if the complete jump is too big to be taken all at once. But whatever position a band may have reached, there is always a step forward that can be made, and no company worthy of the name will take up the winter's work without the detemination to reach a new standard by the time practice is again interrupted.
In every tower, whether shorthanded or not, there ought to be a relay of recruits taught; where change (Continued ou page 582.)

ringing has got but a precarious hold, the band should determine to get a good grip of it, and this can only be done by the loyal support of everyone, both by study outside the tower and retyular practice in the belfry; where competent bands already exist, let them set out to ring methods in a higher category or add to the variety of what they ring. If this spirit of aspiration and performance were generally to prevail, the work of the coning months would put the Exercise in a much sfronger position, and ringers themselves would find an even greater interest in the art.

\section*{A GLIMPSE OF THE PAST.}

\section*{A COUNTRY BAND OF RSNGERS A GENTURY AGO.}

A ghmpse of the ringers and ringirg in an old country market town a hundred years ago is providel by the following sketch which appeared in a series of reminisucnces of "Our Parish, written by a resident of Ifrilsham, Sussex, half a eentury ago. He discussed the changes that had taken place since his boyhaod, and we get quite an interesting and, doubuless, true picture of the coaditions that prevailed in that country belfry in those days.

Looking back,' he wrale, 'wo may note other' features ant changes. To begin with, our church ringors. Then, the master Irndesman thought it mo degradation, hut rather an honourable disfinction, to be one to minister (on the riglits of the belfry. To be a ringer wha a prixilege. I remember but one new hand, and he carrifed his elechion by furce of prescriptive right and family interest. Fis fanher had been one of the fralernily, and a brother stood then foremose man as Iealer. Each bell lad its regular hand. There was the hatter, glover, shoemaker and blacksmith in succession, and fow others-ndid men Eotake fturn as oceasion required, and one, Tho atreet driver. who was always nceded to fetch the beer from the tayern. They were all professionally earmest, devoted men, and, fo clo them justice, as a rule-and what rule is not more or less broken? -thes wre sober mell. Kht, the potent god, bred of malt and beps, at dimes got possegsinn of the buin, and then was the time to take note of the work of the features and lips as the ropes fiew up and down. No wedkling was allowed to go by unrung or uncared for. On practice nigiats and rare occasions they would freat the outsicle world with a set of changes. Four bells allowed but little variation, yot with the steady andi oven pull of the tenar by the tall blacksruith, George Haggett, and the clear uncring lead of the hatter, Srmuel Jenner, the old-fashioned pesl was considored to be eclipged by the clange of four-and-twenty. The groat treat of tho year was, when foas a boy, to he awakened on Christmas morning by the ently clater of the belis, and to lay awake watching until midnight on New Yoar's Eve to hear the old year rumg out and the new year rang in; and during the whole of my life l have never once ypon these nemsions heen beyoud the reach of the gladdening sound. I lase hoped to live to hinar a fullor peal. I liave impordumed those in audinority mpon the subject, bul wilh no suecess, to add a sixth. Our old ringers would yearly make a house-to-house call and accept any gratuity as an acknowledgment for their serviees. What master 1.rudesmen mow amonges hs would do ithe like?

The writer of 'Our' Parish' died in the year 1889 without seeing the accomplishmont of his wish for ant augmented ring of bells, but enrly in the following year the betls were rehung in a new fame nad Lhree trobles wore added to anake a ring of eigit. The five original bells were cast by Joln Hodson, of London, in 1663, but the menond of them was recnst in 1688, and the third in 1768.

\section*{LONDON & SURREY ASSOCIATIONS AT BEDDINGTON}

\section*{HFAT WAVE MEETTNG}

A joint meeting of the London Courty and Sirrey Associations was held at Healdingtors on Saturlay, August 30th, in delightfully lot weather, so hot, indeed, that it is feared that many people were afraids to venture. About 3.30 , one, coatless and hatless, strolled arross \({ }^{3}\) endington Park, finding sulficient shade to preveni himself being melted, and, on appronching the fine ohd elurch, in whiel hang an excellent peal of ton bells of about 18 : ewi., of which everyone has or ought to havo heard, musie came filleving through the trees. 'Alı! yes, that's Stedman Triples, and then 'That's all' came up, and ant wail the bells again to Grandsirc. The coatless one rcached the belfy at the conclusion of that touch. He was accorded a hearty welcome, inasinuch as he scemed ready stripped for ringing. Up to ter time various toucles were rung, but the company died not swell so much as woth antiopated. Tea was partaken of at the Hurvast Home, a party of 20 sitling down, and lingering snd chating for hit afterwards.
The tower was revisited for an hour or so, and the company returned to the 'Home' for a social hour, under the directorship of Mr. C. Kippen, who, witli the carillon" (by the way, one gentieman said Charlie had got the bells all mixed up), set the party comnunity singing. Other items were well executed by the same Charlie, accompanied hy Messrs. Darby (piano) and wills (con certina). Songs were sung by Mrs, Darhy, Mr. Bemard Wells, Mr Herhert ard A. N. Other. He of the no coat, having a long way to go, hoft the party still enjoying themselves.

Thnaka are due to the Rector for the use of the bells and to Mr C. Kippen and Mr. D. Cooper for the splendid arrangements.

\section*{A. VISIT TO MOTTRAM.}

On Salurday, September 6th, eight of the ringers of Minnow Parish Church had an onting to Motiran (Cheshire). They were met on Grival by Mr. B. Goddard, and rang tonclies of Treble Bob, Plain Boh and Grandsice Triples. After tea a return was made to the belfry and a quarter-peal of Bob Major was rung: Stephen Parry 1 , Walter Stafi 2, John Fittoll 3, George Stafi (conductor) 4, John H. C. Masser 5, Joha C. Bennett 6, Albert Buckley 7, Andrew Sitieboltom 8.

\section*{IRTHLINGBOROUGH RINGERS' LONG TREK}

For once in a while the weather belaved quite decentiy, and at a.m. promptly a merry party of hasbunds and wiwen, swerthearts and bachelors left "the Boro" for "the good old anmual." The Fiucdon contingent was picked up in due course, and at Bartor Searrave the last member of the party came aboavd: perfectly solyer in spite of his name. Good roads and a capable driver made a very pleasant journey thraugli Leicester and Loughborough to the first Stop, Beeston, reached a little jn front of the scheduled time. A hearly welcome by Mr. Albert Goppock and Miss Thompsun fthe former an old friend of some of the company), and sonn the handy peal of eight (19马cwt. in F) were mervily riging fo London, Superlntive, Double Norwich and Stedman. Through lavely scenery, deep cuttings and avenues of silver beech and firs, amother 17 miles was then covered, and Mansfield veachert once more before schedale. The party were met by the veteran, Mr'. 'T. Bettison, and Ms. C. Carr. The bells of SS. Peter and Paul's Chuch (teanr 140wt.) were raised, and, in spite of the meed of attention by a bellhanger, Bristol, Superlative, Double Norwich aud Stedman were rung. The interesting old chime barrel, still in use, was inspected, and then the company sat down to ar excellent repast at the Swan Hotel. Mr, W Perkins presided, and M1. Bettison and Mr. Carl were the guests of the compary.

Aiter lumeh, the party agnin took to the roan and made for Bolsover, where the Church of Bs. Mary and Lawrence undoubtedly possinses one of the finest peals of eiglit in the country (tenor \(14 \frac{5}{4}\) cwt.). The Fisitors were unanimous in their appreciation. Messrs. E. Robins and Jim Moss met the fourists on their arrival, followed by the well-known conductor, NH. Jolm Flint, and an old friend in Mr. Arthus Knights, who came from Cliesterfield with a great desire to meet the big little Andy' of Artleborough.
Camon Paget, the Vicar, also canse into the belfry amal gave the visitors a hearty welcome. Great interest was taken in the peal boards recording peals of Peterbarougl, Pudsey, Rutiand, Narfolk, Lomion and Bristol Surprise, which hang in the belfry. Well-shruck touches of London, Bristol mad Superlative Surprise, Double Norwich and Stedman were all successfully brought round.
The ladies, in the meaname, paid a visit to the historic Bolsorer Gastie with its magnificent avehitecture (partly in ruins), and the house with its wonderful and priceless paintings now being renovated and restored. The old sexton's knowledge of epitaphs grendly interested some of the parfy. Tca followed, kindly aryangod by Mr. John Flint, the company then being angmented by Mr. J. Brothwell, who motored over from Rotherham
A hearty wote off thanks was accorded to Mr. Flint and the ladiea who arranged the tea on the proposition of Mr. W. Perkins, senonded hy Mr. T. Hensler, and Mr. Tlint hriefly responded. Then oft again to Cresswell, in the heart of the colliery district ant the fome of the famous Cresswell Colliery Band. Messrs. A. Knights, J. Flin! and J. Brothwell accompanied the visitors and took parl in the ringing at the Chareh of St. Mary Magetalene (tenor 17dewt.). Superlahive, Loudon, Cambridge, Double Norwich and Stedman were rung on this very merry peal and heartily enjoyed hy all who tonk a rope. Arter refreshment at the neacest bosteiry, "good-bye " had to he said to all at 7.45 p.ni. for the long trek home. The silver-tones vocalists opened their lungs and to a very musical accompaniment the party went through Warsop, Mansfick and Bradmore to the villare of Costock, where a most enjoyable honr was spent in singing and handbell ringing until 'Time, gentiemen, please,' sent the company speeding home. The organisation of the outing was splendid and reflected great credit ons the secretaries. Songs, glees, lisming chornses and 'yarns' enlivened the homeward journey and conchasd a thoroughily enjoyable onting. T. R. ㅍ.

\section*{MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION A 'TROPTCAL' MEETING}

A meeting of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Assuciation and Lomalon Diocesan Guild was laeld at St. Peter's, Stnines, on Salurday, Auguse 30 hh, in tropical weather, and the number attending was very small for the riverside church. Ringing commenced abaut 3.30 with shart touches. A service was conducted hy the Fienr (the Tiey. Dr. W. H. Flecker') and the singing was led by the organ.
After service the company adjournen to the Parish Hall for tea, the Vienr presiding, supparted by Mr. J. F. Hunnisett and the hon. secratary (Mr. W. H. Hollier). The Vicar gave the Quild a most hearty welcome again to his parish.
The Vicar vacated the chair after tea, and the business meting whs presided over by Mr. Hunuisett. St. Jolin's, Hillingdon, was announced for the October meeting, on the second Saturday in the month, and the usual notice will appear in "The Ringing World.' At the request of the Vicar, touches were rung on the handbells by Mesars. W. C. Parker, E. S. 韭urner, L. Wilson (Swindon) and E. J. Coater a laearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Ficar for conducting the service and the welcome he gave to the Guild, to the organist, to the hostess (Miss Mackie) and her assistants, and to Mr. G. Wahmsley and Mr. W. C. Parkes, of the local band. This concluded the mecting, after which St. Mary's tower was visited, but little rimging was done owing to tile heat. I'le seats in the chnrclyard proved a great boon to some of the company on this ocoasion.

\section*{A RINGING WEEK IN LINCOLNGHIRE,}

The annunl ringing week was held this year in Lincolnshire, headaluarters being at Surfleet Vicarage. It was unfortinate that 13 members only wera able to attend, some of whom were unable to take part in meal attempts. However, a peal of Stedman was rumg at Winshimgborougin, and some good practice was obtained at Heckington, Ewerby, Surfeet, Pinclibeck, Fulney, Croyland, Lincoln Cathotral zuI Spalding.
Those present were ithe Rews, H. Law James, E. Bankes James, Comon F. J. Elsee, C. W. O. Jenkyn, H. S. T. Richardson, R. H. Whitford, B. F. Sheppard, E. G. Bensoh, and Messss. J. T. Rickman, F. M. Akkins, F. E. Haynes, W. H. J. Hooton and A. G. G. Thurlow. Next year the Guild hopes to meet in Hereford, and it is hoped that mare members will be able to come.

\section*{ANOTHER 'OLD BLLL' AT SURFLEET}

Anober 'Old Bill,' with a few ringing friends, spant a pleasant week-and at Surfeet recenty, at the kad invitution of Mr. and Strs. fupert Rieharlson. The host had arranged an attrective ringing programme, which was enrried out with a haudred por ent. success. It was left to the host to whoose the mathods, nux, as lie considered 'Londan' a tuxury, London it was. The first item on the progrmmane, a peal at Spalding, was brought round in just aver three hours. Next diay Gambridge Roysa and Stednnn Cutars at Surflech for mommeng service were followed by an carly dinner and a peal of Stednan Triples "in hand." One of the umpires went to sleep, to the olvious envy of the \(7-8\) man, who wanteal to do likewise. Only the knowledge that a peal had to be rung that dny made him keep awake.
This poal erabled the other' Old Hill' to complete the full cirele of dates as conductor, a worderful achievement.
After tea, a run to Holbeach was stiggesteri, where a course of Lomdon was rung for 'practice, as only a peal had been ring the day before. The hostess pleased the party by ringing in this course, and is ronsidered a good recruit for a peal in the method. The best thanks of the hant are due to the Holbeach ringers for allowing them to ring. Next dny two more peals of Jondon were rang at Kirton-m-Hoiland and Sibsey, which brouglat the ringing programme to an end. Back to Surfleet for tea, and a short talk with a few members of the Dansbridge University Guid, who were just arriviag, befora sharling for London-the town of that name, not the method-whim was reached the same night in Rob's turty stecer.
The sincere thanks of the party are accorded to Mr, and Mrs. Rupert Richardson fol their ushal hafailing and generous kindnessed. A stay al Surflect is always plensabli, and departing time alwayb comes much too quickly.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELERY GOSSIP.}

Mr. William Pye has set up yet another recond. He is the tirsu to conduct a peal un every one of the 366 days of the year.

History was made at Drayton, Borks, ou September 17th, 1896, when tite-Oxford Guild rang a peal of 11.328 London Surprise Blajor, conducterl by .J. W. Washbrook. That record has since bern exceeded, bust at the time it constituted a big slep forward in the leneth oblained in the method. Nothing over 6,048 had previpusly been rumg.

\section*{SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD.}

A very pleasant meeting of the Southern District was held at Sketty on Saturday, when, no doubt on account of the wet weather, the attendance was not as good as nsual, only about 16 wembers heing present from Aberavon, Cadoxton, Morriston. Swansea, and three very weleome wisitors from Pentre Rhondda. The gorwic was conlucterl hy the Fer. Canon H. J. Stewart, who gave those preaut n very interesting adderss, and extended a bearty welcome to the Guild. Tea followed in the Clurch Hall, provided by someone unknown, and enjoyed and appreciated by all.
The business meeting, with the Rev. Cavon H. J. Stewnot in the chair, was wery short. Swansea was chosen for the December mening, which will he the district annual.
A vote of tharks was aceorded to the unknown donor of the tea, to the Rev. Canon I. J. Stewart for conducting the service, for the use of the bells and his kindness to the Guild members, to thr organist for presiding at the organ, and to the ladies for their kind help at the tea table. The Canon, in reply, said it was a plas-ury to have the ringers there, and he would be always pleased to do his best for them at any time when they came to Shetty. The nuethods vunt were Graousire and Sterman Triples and Kent. Treble Boh Major.

An invitation was accepted to ring in Swanson on the way home, when Girandsire and Stedman wero rung, and tho bells lowered in peal nbout 9 p.m.

\section*{DEATH OF MR, W. R. BOND, OF CRAYFORD.}

The death oceurred on Sritirday, August 23 xd , of Mv, W. R. Botad, a faithlal and valued member of the hand at Crayford for over 30 years, who passed away at the age of 47 . He attended practice an the previous Tuestay evening, when he said he felt a litule off coloul". The next day lic went to Landon, but cellapsed on Londan Britge platform. The railway afticials telophoned to Mris. Bond to meet him at Crayford. The doctor advised him to go to bed and rest which be did, and he appeared quite ing itht and comfortable until Fridia, when lie beenme worse, and, despite the efforts of the local foctors ant a specialist, he passed awny in the early bours of Saturday mornillg.
He was nevel what one might call 'peal hungry.' He would always come if reguired and was always liappy to sfand out, and, what is more, he wonk always come at a mimute's notice if a band found themselwes a man short when ready to start for a peal. Almost his last peal was one of these occasions when a bend melt sluort in a weighlouring parish. 'Bill' was ralng up, atad half an hour leter the bells were going and the peal rung. Such was his disposition.
He always regaved his Sunday ringing as a duty, and everything else had to take second place. His peals, of which he lad mo recort, mumbered between 70 and 80 , ranging from Grandsive to Donble Norwieh. One of thene he was always extremely promal of, viz., what \({ }_{r}\) apparently, is the quickest peal of Triples yet rung ou tawer bellsStedman at Crayford on Angust 30th last yoar in 2 hours 14 mintates, to which he rang the tenor.
The fineral took place at Crayford on August 28 th , and winfled peal was rumg to his menory on furust 30 th, as yecorded in last week's issue of "Tho Ringing World." He leaves a widov and two chilairen to towurn their loss
On Sundry morning, Canon Genlge, the blind Rector of Grafford, on his sermm refmrer to Mr. Bonds death. They were at that fime, he sairt, clenloring the law of Mr. W. R. Bond, whom they had just laid to reat. ant who hacl been called away at an canly age. Fie haxl foumd in Mr. Boml a kimi personal fricad, and his passing left them all the poorer.

\section*{BIG ESSEX PARTY IN SURREY.}

Gioriuns watiker favouren the Loughton and Wondiord ringers on saburday week, when with their friend. and members of the Wanstead hand, 51 in all, they toured some of the most charming parts of Surrey. An early start was nade in orrter to avoid the congested slaffis of the Metropolis. For a time tho chief topic of conri:ation was the tropical stom that had disturbed the slumbers uf, nost of the party, The marvels of the Lonton traffic, however, sooh seized the attention, and the carefin and speedy mampulatinn of the super coaches bronght forth striking comparisons from those in tie party who had tuken their early outings in brates and horsedrawn vehicles. Jondon Bridge, ever attractive to Whe passers-by, was \(600 n\) left behind, and once beyonk the 'Elephant and Castle, thoughts of the first pull began to arise. The conntry aspect gradually began to predominate, especially as the conches approached Sanklown Park.
The first halt was made at Cobham. Mr. W. James welcomed the ringers and led the way to St. Andrew's Church, where several tnithes of Plain Bob, Grandsire Doubles and Kent Treble Boh were rung on a light nusical six. Ringiug is done from the ground floor of the Norman tower, built of rublule in pudding stone, the walls lueing 3ft. Bin. thick. The doorway in the south aisle has interesting igzag aud billet mouldings, whilst the oak tracery in tle porch is 14 th century work. Historical associations are connected with the north-enst inantsw, hailt about 1800, probably by the monks of 1292, all ilae titiles of Coblam Chureh were paid over to the AbberDuring the las: century much las been done to restore and beantify the church. All the windows are of gtained glass, whilst a large oil painting of Abrahan preparing bo sluy Isae adorus the Ghildren's Corner.

A quick נtוn was then made to Cliddingfold, via Ripley, Guildford, Gonalming, Milford and Witley, the laudseape at Ripley and Witley heing most picturesque. Mr. A. J. Bartlett and Mr. T. Atwell weiromed the party at St. Mary's Church, but time would only allow shopl touches of Arandsire and Stedman Triples on a light wellsounding eight, which contains one of the few pre-Reformation hells found in Surrey. The chureh developed as the place prospered, a Royal Charter in 1300 establishing it as a market town. The tower. shanted and mamposing. was probably built in the \(15 t_{\text {la }}\) century, and raised 14ft. in 1870. The ringing foor is reached by soing up a stairway in the church and passing through a trap door, pis unusual and awkward contrivance. The nawe pillars are high and massive. Mary pained giass windows, chiefly menorials, give the interior a reverential tome, \(A\) lancet window near the tower is filled with many pieces of ancient, glass discovered in the neighbourhood. a rather extensive librars is sef up at the back of the church clearly indicating that Chidingfald thelieves in an educated congregation. The churchamp las many interesting tombs and memorials, the one attracting considerable attention being the gravestone set up in memory of Arthur Stedman, blacksmith, who died in 1766 . The epitaph reads

My bellows, too, have lost their wind.
Mr fre is out, my forge decey'd,
And in the dust my vice is laid.
My coal is spent, my iron gone,
My nail is dirove, my work is done."
Dinuef was inken at Haslemere at Burgess' Restaurant, where the fare fund imely attention reffected the greatest credit on the managevess, Mise E. Pincolt. The Pnvish Church was visited, hut there was a gemeral rerret dat nermission whs not granted to use the thells, a well-reputed peal of tetu.
The last laft was made at Staines, after passing throngh such interesting places as Hindbend. Churt, Farnham and Bagshot. Ter was served in the Parish Eall, Mr. E. W. Butier welcoming the parli, the good fare provided being arnecciatert. At the conclusion o hearly vota nf thanks was proposed hy Mr. J. Shalk (Wanstead) and carried with acclamation to the organisers of the outing, Mr. Thorpe (Lounghton), who hat cnergetically guided the party over a tang ronte. St. May's tower, built by the famous Inipo Jones in Tris. mas yisited, and seweral touches of Sterman and Grandsire Mon and Kent Trehle Boh were rung on a good gofng and wellrulick retnirn to the ponches followed, for the sun lian already ant, and? the mogramme liad been completrd. Jovons moments had heen spent, fresh acarnaintances made, old priendships strengthened, and hopes expressent that all might be saared to partake in tho next anmual outing. All nffer their sincere thanks to the incumbents of the variaus parishes for the uge of the bells and torthe ringers who mreeted the party.

\section*{ACCIDENT IN UXBRIDGE BELFRY.}

Mr. T. Smilh, ringer and towerkcener of St. Androw's Church, Trbidgre, Midalisen, met with a nainful accident in the belfry on The ladeler lendinc for After winding the church clock, he slinped of mjuring his riths, He was taken to Uxhridge Cotage Hospital and is progressing fevourably.

\section*{A HAPPY REUNION.}

The more we are together, The merrier we'll be.
Thirty-two years ago this August a. heterogeneous ' band of ringers went to Shrewsiary. Another sudi band, at the invitation of Mr, W. W. Worthington, of Lighligk, wet at St. I'muls, Burton, un Sabuday, August 30th, and, afier the usual exchange of greetings, motored off to Monk's Kirly, Leicestershira-a splendid cun. On arrival an inspection of the chnirch was made-always an interesting item at ringers' outings-hiren to the bolfry, where touches of Stednan man Double Norwich were the order. A bund was then made to find a tombstone, recording the name of a man who lad, so Billy hmulh said, 40 chikiren. Anyhow, the stome was not found, and wo made off to Claybrooke. After ringing Stedman Triples, the writer askerl young Jim George to call a tateh of Dublale Norwich in honour of a loving friend, Miss Winifred Walker, who lad just been married at St. Martin's, Jituinghnm, dn that day. Then we drope off to 'The Land of Carraway Seed Sop'-13urhage-where again Sterman and Double Norwich were the orker, Next a short drive brought us to the junction of roads where stands an ancient monument to mark the exact centre of Finglad. The country must hava warper a lat since it was placed there, as Merriden is clamed as the centre

All aboard again; off we go to 'The Tin Hab, Hinckley. Why it thus called a do not know, but I lave licard this:-
\begin{aligned}
& \text { Jeb the Hinckley pump } \\
& \text { Trake a hep, stride and jump } \\
& \text { lf ever I cense to love. }
\end{aligned}

Only a very shart time was lelt ta have a tomeli here. Geveral of the local ringers welcomed tha, which was much appreciated. Then rather a long xin ta the home of the Squire of Mapla Hayeg, Lichfield, who took young Jim with him to lave a "buick one" beforg the rest astimet, hat we soon answered the eall. A stroll ponned the heautiful gardens and grounds, which looked a perfect pieture, and then dinmer, the next and most important item, as the "fuv." enlied it. Real old English fare, the rest of the evening being spent in handbel ringing, young Martice 'ringing' a touch on the piano with young Jim calling. The best thanks to the Squire wus propozerl by Mr. J. Jaggar, seconfed by Mr. J. George, and carried with acclamation, Mr. Worthington's reply hearing ont the lines at the hoad of this report. The arrangements for the happy rembion wore thagght filly mate by Mr. Warthington and Mr, J. Swinfold with every success.

\section*{A DAY IN "OUR OWN COUNTY.}

BY A BERKSHTRE MAN
On a recent Monday the rangers of St, Laurence's, Reading, with the Viear and a few friends, buet at the tower at 8 a.m. for their annual outing, and spent it in their own connty of jerkshire, Hagbonrne was the first stop and the glorions peal of eiglnt wers somy rollitg round Lo Stedman Triples athd Grandsire. Then on to Abingdol, where the nobie churoh, with five nisles, was much adjmired. Here a service was in prograss with a wedding to follow, so ringing was cartailed. Anyhow, two touches of Grandsire Gaters woro brought round on the fine len, and cveryone lud a pull. Then to that "mecea' of all Berkslime ringers, Appleton, where some of the poungsters could not believe that ten bella could bo hung in the tower they were looking at across the meadows. An exceljent lunch was laid under a spreading chestrint tree and enjoyed the more, hecause our friend and 'master', the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, arrived just in time to sit down with us. Then to tho lower, where, with the help of some of the ' 20,000 ' velerens, Stelmar Gaters and Grandsire Gaters were bromght romm on this tualy wonderiul neal. Next, to Drayton, where the Rev. F. F. Rohinson lived as Vical for so many yents. Grandsire and Stodman went well here, and Miss Vera Rohinson, who was with the party, was able to point out manv specimens of her late father's hardiwark as a carver in the chnir stalla and organ case with which he onriched the church. Then over the glortous Berkshire Downs to East Ilsley with (to cptato the Vienr's accomit in the parish magazine) "its red roofs and howering trees lying in a steep hollow of the hills.' As the fimo was \(6 \mathrm{j} . \mathrm{m}\). . tea was the first necessity, and the youngsters still lalk of the feed they had under the roof of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hibbert (brother to their rincing, master). This viliage was eflebrated for many vears for the training of rachorses and its shecp fairs

Thsley, remote unon the Berkshive Downs,
Clams these distinetions a'er her sister towns
Far famed for sheep nad wanl, though not for spinners
For sportsmen, doctors, publicans and simmers.
The climb ub to the church after such a tea was ration trying. hut after Sterlman and Grandsire Pribles and bwo touches of ronh Major, several made the ascent of various ladders to the ton of the tower and enjoved aglorious view over the rollitg downs. At 9 p.m. we left 'home' for our homes, one stop being made at the top of "Applenie Fill ' for a last look over a piece of beautiful countryside. Everpane expressed the opinion that it was a very fine fap's autine, and the bope that they may be abla to visit the same places mad the same meonle again. The 'Old Man' was very pleased at the way the chilkiren "shaped" at the various towers.

\section*{A LIBRARY FOR EVERY TOWER.}

There ought to be in every well-appointed belfry a bookcase stocked with volumes concerning bells and bellringing. The output of works of interest to and instruction for ringers proceeds steadily, and all who can afford to do so readily purchase the books for their own library shelves. But the majority of the members of the Exercise are not in a position to obtain all the works that come from the press, although many of them are almost essential to one's ringing education. Collectively, however, a great deal could be done, and the funds of the local company, or a small subscription from each of its members, would secure most of the volumes as they appear without any great strain on either. Several of the associations have libraries which serve a useful purpose, but these cannot be of quite the same utility as a collection of works ready to hand in a tower.

An extremely useful and interesting library could be built up in course of time, and it should not only contain the textbooks on ringing which are already in circulation. These should be but the nucleus. There are many volumes of great interest dealing with bell history, as well as works of reference, which should find their way into the tower bookcase, and the gradual building up of the library would prove a source of interest to the ringers. It is probable that in many towers a beginning could be made by gifts or loans from members, and only recently a practical suggestion was made by Canon Coleridge that, in regard to two forthcoming volumes, ringers should get their Church Councils to buy them. Where Church authorities are able to assist in this way, the start of a library will be made considerably easier, although most ringers who have had dealings with Councils are rather sceptical as to the outcone of applications for funds for this purpose.

However this may be, the ringers at every tower ought to make an effort to begin a library. The standard works on method ringing, association annual reports for reference, and the bound volumes of "The Ringing World' should form the basis of the collection; new works as they are issued could be added, and volumes of bell history could be acquired as opportunity offered. With every new tower library more ringers would have at hand a means of extending their knowledge, which individuals cannot, except in a limited number of instances, hope to acquite. Co-operative effort can do great things, and a pooling of resources, if nothing more, would help to make a useful start. The first step in a matter of this kind is the most important, and often the most difficult. But once a start is made, ringers themsclves will be anxious (Continued on page 598.)

\section*{TABLET UNVEILED.}

A happy littie gathering of Jerks and Bucks ringers took place at the Parish Church of St. Mielaael and All Angels, Fughendon, on Sntarday, September Cth, for the uaveiling of a peal tablet erected in the belfry recording 'one more' peal of London Surprise that has been achieved in this historical tower. The Vicar the Rev. G. Herburt Jones, M.A.), the ehurchwardens (Major Coningsby R. Disraeli, D. L., J.P., and Mr. William Pearsons, witls abont two dozen ringers and friends from neighbouring towers, were present, representing St. Albans, Fillingdon, Iver, Reaconslield, Chalfont, Wycombe, Maidenhend, Farnham, Slough, Old Windsor, Cooklam and Harrow, etc. Proceedings began with in musienl ' llourisly, of Stedman Triples on the tower bels, couducted by Mr. P. Martin, wlon the bell ropes on the tower bells, couducted by Mr. P. Martin, whon the bell ropes wore lcoped together and the company arranged round the belfry. The Ficar then offered up a dedicatory prayer, followed by nothor in Which all heartily joined. Major Disrael was next invited by the towerkeeper to expose the tablet-which had previously been covered with a pair of green curtains-by pulling a light cord having a small sally. In doing so the Major briefly referred to the performace recorded on the peal board, which was rung last November as a welcome to the new Ficar, and expressed hig hope, on behalf of the dhumwardens (and the ringers), that the Vicar and his wife and family would be spred for many years to live and work amongst them in the parish.
In reply, the Vicar thanked the churchwardens and the ringers for their peal of welcome to Hughendon, also for the handsome tablet presented to the cluret recording jt. He admitted that he hinself was also a ringer, bot parochial dutios in the past had prerented his following up the work of the belfir.

Mr. J. Evans, C.C., and M: W. F. Fusselt, on belalf of the visitors, thanked the Yicar and wardens for their presence in the laelfry, and a Louch of London Surprisa Najov was then rung to seal During cercy.
Druing the remainder of the evening, from 6 to 8 p.m., othor nuches were rung to Cambridge, Superlative, and Bristol Surprise Major, relieved by Douhle Norwich and Stedman, so that overyone could enjoy a short pull. The team whose names appoar on the 1ablet were all present, and rang a course in the same order and method, viz., W. Henley, Mrs. Mayne, W. F. Fussell, W. Welling, J. Erans, F. Wingrove, G. Martin and C. C. Mayne Fughendon tower lias a long association with the Oxiord Diocesan Guid. Here a good many ringers throughout England (for the past fifly yenrs) have scored their 'Jirst' in a peal of Stedman or Major, mind these lines may surve to remind them of a happy visit to St. Winhal's tower in the days of their yonth. It possesses a welithe peals rung on the bells since they wore incrensed to an of all in 2881 as ang on the bells since they were incrensed the late Earl of Beaconsficld.

The churchwardenst accounts go back to 1885 , when there was a ring of four bells, and amongst the interesting entries may be found the following items:-
1688.-I paid Ringars for Gunpowder Treason, 2s. 6d.
691. - For a Bushell of Malt for Ringers, 4 s .
1694. -Payed for Ringing ye Bell on Queen's burial day, Is. 6d.
1702.-Paid Grove for Mali for the Goronation, 7 s .

1705,-Paid Wright for 2 Bushoils of Mult, 6 s .
1717.-Two Qarterts of Tobacco spent on Ringing Dres, Sd.

\section*{NOR'ITH BUCKS HRANGH.}

A quarberly mooting of the North Bueks Branch was held at Maids Morelon on Saturday, September 6th, this being the flrst fime for a good many years that a meeting hud been held. The attendance was very good considering that the place lies rather wide of the adivities of the brancl. Aluout twenty-five members were present, and the ringers were weleomed by the Viear (IJon Rov. 0. Worne), who has only been in the parish a few monthes. It was his first experience of a tingers' meeting, ns lie had never previously been at a church where there was in full peal of bells.
Service was held, conducted by the Vicar, who in his aderess to the riggers said that it was a grent delight to be able to address them. Althaugh be knew nothing whatevar ahout bells, it was very interesting to know that such arganised brnaches of ringers existed, and for the good work that must result, and he hoped to see more of such meetings. Thea was served in the Pariald Hull, and a very pleasant time was spent, the Vienr, by lis vory witty stories, Jeeping the ringers highly amusect.
The Secretary (Mr. W. Seur) thanked tho Vicar fot his wery warm welcome to tha branch, and for making suds a successfint menting. This was very suitahly respouded to, and further ringing then took place, the methods ranging from Grandsire and Stedman Doubles to Cambridge Minor. OLher members visited Huckinghan to vilag on the peal of eight, and a conrse of Cambridge Major was brouglit round.

\section*{CAIPPTNG NORTON DEANPRY}

The autumn mecting of the Chipping Narton Deanery Branch of the Oxford Dincesan Guild was held on Saturday, Seplember 6th, a large number of ringers being presenf. The Guild's special form of serviee was used, and was conducted by tho Rev. F. C. Freeman, assisted hy the Rev. Nind. The address wits etren by Archdercon Crosse. Ther was held at the Bull Hotel, with upwards of forty sitting down. After tea, a slorl business meeting was hold, presided over by the chairman (the Rew. E. C. Freman).
Votes of thanks wera passed to bibe Vicar of Burforl and to Archdeacon Crosse for preaching suchs an interesting semmon. Churchill was propesed for the spring meeting.
Visitors were present from several of the neighbouring branches, and a very bearty welcome was extended to them.
The ringers afterwards visitod the bell fonndry of Mr. Bond, and were slown the most interesting art of ball ensting, which he hat n process.
Further ringing afterwards brought to a close a most enjoyable day.

Recent references in these columns to touches from and the calling of Holt's Original have brought us several inquiries as to the best way of conducting this famous peal, and a well-known ringer deals with this subject in the article which follows.
However you approach it, Holt's Original is not an easy peal to call. I make no comparisons between it and other difficult compositions, but in the view of most poople who are competent to judge there is nothing which taxes the ability of a conductor of Grandsire Triples more than John Holt's one-part. And yet every Girandsire Triples conductor ought to make the calling of this peal a goal to be reached sooner or later. The mastery of the calling requires at fair amount of concentration. There are a hundred and forty-eight bobs and Iwo singles, and they have just got to be learnt from begiming to end; there is no regularity about their positions, or even any 'blocks' of calling which recur to help the memory. Nevertheless, every average Grandsire conductor ought to be able to master it. To some men the calling of this peal comes as easily, when conducting, as saying the alphabet and, what one can do, others who give the necessary application to the task ought also to he able to accomplish.

What is the best way of learning the peal? That is the question which chiefly seems to concern those who aspire to calling it. I have heard of people who have set it to verse, and of one well-known conductor who went to at memory-training institute to have a system of mnemonics, adapled to it. This system was such a profound 'secret' that it died with the conductor-the authors, of course, having forgotten all about it. Unguestionably, to my mind, the best way of learning the peal is by the bells 'Betore.' I have known conductors who have learnt it by making one particular bell the 'observation bell,' but that has its drawbacks, because the conductor is then almost sure to find himself limited to ringing that parficular bell every time he wants to call this composition. Another conductor, I remember, called it by learning the number of leads between the bobs. There are, in my opinion, decided disadvantages in this method, such as the added mental effort which is necessary and risk of error in counting the leads from one call to the next while the ringing is in progress.

By calling the peal from the bells 'Before,' one has a simple guide to the places of all the loobs. In case it is necessary to explain to any reader what is meant by bells "Before,' I might here say that a bell is said to be called 'Before' in Grandsire, when it is going to make third's place-the one place in Grandsire not affected by a bob. The conductor who can see the least bit further than the work of his own bell can watcll the bell which has to be called 'Before' gradually working into position. Assuming that he has two or more leads to run before the (hol) is called, each time he passes the bell in question he will find one other bell less between it and the treble, until, when the bell to be bobbed has dodged in \(4-5\) up, it will be followed, up and back to the lead, immediately by the treble, and the bob is called when the bell 'Before ' leads. In bricf, the bell which is coming 'Before,' is coursing in the lead before the bob immediately in front of the treble.

The first thing to do then, when starting on Holt's Original, is to learn the bells 'Before.' Now there are two ways in which these may be treated. You may lean the whole 150 off by heart, as they occur, or you can reduce the number of bells to be memorised by calling certain of them 'Before with a double.' This expression means that a bob has to be called at two conseculive leads; that is to say, when the bell comes 'Before' and again at the next lead when it will dodge in 6-7 down, or 'Wrong;' as this calling position is known. By memorising the doubles, I always think, the risk of confusion when calling is reduced, and any system which lessens the chance of a 'mix-up' of the bells is worth adopting.
It is quite certain that when you set about learning the peal, however you learn it, you will automatically reduce the calling to 'groups.' I don't know whether any two conductors ever group the bols in exactly the same way, and each new aspirant will probably make up his own grouping. In other words, he will make his own 'parts,' although there will be no similarity between them.

Then there is another thing to do, and one in which, again, conductors are likely to follow their own inclinations, and that is to pick out certain landing places in the peal where one may be certain that the bells are right. The ideal conductor, of course, is he who knows if the bells are right from beyinning to end, who can transpose the coursing order from start to finish as he goes along, and who can actually anticipate in his own mind the change which will be effected in the coursing order by the next bob. But all conductors of Grandsire have not reached that stage-if they had there would be no need for this article-and therefore it is well, in calling a peal, that they should have certain points where they may be sure whether or not the bells are right. Incidentally it should be remembered that one advantage of calling Holt's Original by the bells 'Before' is that if there is a stift course by any pair of bells except and and 6th (which are not called 'Before' until the last four leads), sooner or later, and sooner rather than later, a bell which should come 'Before' will he found to be in the hunt, from which position, of course, it is impossible to call it 'Before.

But apart from this check upon the accuracy of the ringing, it is as well to have some well-marked and readily observed places where the position of all the bells can be seen. For this purpose some easily recognised changes, and not too many of them, should be selected. They mark the intervals of the peal and, nothing else, it is always a comfort to the conductar know definitely that the bells are still running in their proper order. From what has been written it will be seen that the 'make up' for the calling of the peal rests largely with the conductor, but I give below the wa which I set out the peal and group the calls, together with the landing places which I make. It should noted that the latter do not always come at a call : it may be one or more leads alter the call indicated by the

The following are the bells 'Before,' and the letter after a figure means that that bell is called 'Before with a double.'

If space permits, I hope later to give a table by which the conductor, who desires to ring portions of the peal for practice, may obtain touches of varying length from any part of the composition.

\section*{GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUIED.}

Alhough the weather on Saturday and the inaccessibility of the willage might easily have resulted in the Guildford District meeting nt Dunsfold being a double 'washout,' lhanks to over twenty enthusiasts who came from the local company, \(S\). Nicolas \({ }^{3}\) and the Cathedral Church, Guidford, Cranleigh, Croydon, Faslemere, Old Woking, Godalming, Seale and Aldershot, this was not the case.
Various touches of Treble Bob, Plain Bob and Doubles were brought round on this light ring of six, and the usual forme of gerrice was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. E. Hollins), whose informal athiess was much appreciated.

As the secretary was unable to think of any busimess matters for discussion, in place of the usual meeting after tes, the Rector conducfed the ringers round the ancient and interesting church, snd pointed out the various 'show' items, from the gancluary knocker on the seven liundred ycars' old door to the "port, starboard and steln scuppers, by which in days past the water was swept out of the church after the floor had beea washed.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World ' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting infornation about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP.}

St. Marytle-Tower, Ipswich, where much ringing history has been made and the pioneer spirit in Maximas methods developed, has just bad added one more new performance to its records. Tlise enterprising band, under Mr. Georgo Symonds' conductorship, rang a preal of Pudsey Surprise Maximus, on Saturday-the first ever.
As the footnote to the peal intimates, this is the eleventh Maximus method in which a peal has been rung by the society within the last ten years. There have been peals rung of Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Forward, Dufteld, Cambridge, Now Cambridge, Superlative, Yorkshire and Putsey, and in neaty, if not quite all of these, the đistinguished veteran, Mr. Robert Bruntle, has takeu part. Saturday's peal was in celebration of his 79th birthday.

Visiting ringers will he welcomed at Hazelbeech, Northants, where there is n new ring of eight bells. In aur notice columns the Rector of this little country perish invites applications.

The dedication of the new peal of bells at Walkden Parish Church, Lancs, is provisionally fixed for December llth at 3 p.m.
'The first peal on the naw ten bells' at Grantham was rung on September 19th, 1775. Although the bells were new, it took thirteen men to ring them to a peal-two on the ninth and three on the tenor. The bells couldn't have been on ball bearings.
Matt Wood, the famous old ringer of Bethnal Green and St Paul's Cathedral, who died in 1912, was born on September 22nd, 1826.
The attention of any ringer proposing to attend the Ohurch Congress at Newport, October 4th to 11th, is directed to an announcemont in our notice columes.
We hear that a very successful start was made with the Northants ringing weck, the frst four nttempts resulting in two peals of London and two of Bristol Surprise.
Mr. F. Wilford, the popular Master of the Peterborougl Diocesan Guild, celebrated his 60th biriliday on Monday. It is not too late to wish him 'many happy returns.'

\section*{EATON SOCON CHURCH RESTORATION, TOWER ALREADY REINSTATED.}

Energetic moaburcs are being taken for the restoration of the Parish Church of Eaton Socon, Beds, klestroyed by fire some few months ago. The contract for the rebuilding of the church on the origin⿻l already been restored at a cost of 51,300 , the ringing floor, clock floor, tell-cage floor and new roof having all been reinstaled in best Englisis onk and masanry, under the pians and direction of Messra. Richardson and Gill, architects, of London. The Parochial Church Council are now cousidering the question of the bolls, and we hope it-will be possible for the tcstored peal to be ready when the chareh is reopened.

RESTORATEON FUND APPEAL.
As stated in the last issue of "The Ringing World," the ancient bells of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Bromley, Kent, are being restored by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, afier over 157 years of service. They are, as is pretty well known, a peal of eight by Thomas Jannaway, 1773 , and alI intact. There lawe been well over 200 peals rung on them, including some famous ones-a 12,176 of Bob Major in the year 1783, the first peal of Feal Double Bob, and one which has always sfood without dispute to be the first mufled peal rung in the kingdom, to the memory of Wm. Chapman, the leader of his day, and a famous ringer. But of late years, tho bells have got more and more out of tune, and clappering and going vely badly, so that a thorough restoration is much overdue. The work has now been placed in the bands of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who are going to retune and reclapper the whole peal, rehang in ball bearings, with wew wheels and some new beadstocks, and strengthen the frame witl vertical bolts and anglo phiates, with their assurance that it will be a good sound job, and that the bells will tune up into an excellent peal. The estimated cost is approximately ex250, and as money is difficult to raise at present in Bromley, owing to tho fact that e 300 has just, been spent in cleaning and redecorating the church, the local ringers (the Society of Bromley Youths, established 1773) linve promised to try to raise a portion of the required sum, and hereby appeal to all ringers, and cspecially to their ringing friends who have rung peals on the old bells, or nuy who may have rung on them, kindly to assist them in this matter. Auy subscription, however small, woulcl by gratefully received and acknowledged at the close of the appeal by:-

This snall Xorkshire willage had a red-lettor day on August 23 rd, when the opening of the augmented ring of six bells to eiglit bells at the Prish Clurch of St. Alkelda took place. The church itself is a most interesting building, dating from the welfth contury onward, atud well repays in tour of inspection.
Originally there were only thee bells at Giggleswick, hut in 1860 these were augmented to six by Messrs. Mears aud Stainbank, of the Whitechapel Foundry, The musent auguentation was made poesible, and a long-standing ambition tulfilled, by a bequest of \(£ 250\) made recently by Miss E. M. Bryning, the two new bells being intended as memorials to her late uncle, Mr. T. E. Fobter.
To the great disappointment of all concemed, the Viear of Giggleswick was unable to take part in the procectings owne to a sudden illness, rand the conduct of the service devolved on the Rov. C. U Marshall, the president of the Yorkshire Association.
After the introductory prayers, a procossion was formed to thu: belfry, where tho bell founder (M1. C. F. Johnston) handed the hell ropes to the churchwardens, who in tiurn handed titem to the president for dedication. After the dedication, the ropes were handen Lo the steeplekecper, Mr. J. Hodgson, and while the choir and clergy returned to the chancel the following rang a tew rounds on the balls H. J. Johnson I, Mis. J. Cotlerell 2, R. Thamas 3, C. E. Lawson 4 J. Cotterell 5, G. Robinsou 6, L. Simpson 7, W. O. Talhot 8.

Following the service, a bountiful tea was provided, and ringing nelulged in until a late lotur.
The tenor weighs \(10 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt. in the key of \(A\) flat. The bells got splendidiy, and are a great credit, to the founders, both for rumning and tone.

\section*{JOHN BRIANT,}

\section*{NFW BIOGRAPHY OT THE HERTEORDSELRE WORTITY.}

Mr. Herbert C. Andrews, the hon. sucretary of tho East Eerts Archaological Society, lats done a Ereal service in puilishing a volume npon John Brinant, the ITratford tell Founder and elorkmaker, ihe curaterany of whose death was suilably cummemorated last year. Antiquarians have been at pains to search among the old beils in the charehes of this conntry in order to give us something of their histary, bul we know very litire of the founders of past centuries. Specimens of their handiwork remain; but of the men themselves our knowledge is of the seanliegt. Of John Brianl, bowever, we now have a mesit interesting hiography, which gives us a close insight into the character af this old Hedfordshire worthy, who cast over 400 luells, which were to be found distributed over lialf the counties of England and even in Ireland, and whose turret clocks were among the beat in the worlai, but who died in the shelter of the 严解lborougli Hmshouses al St. Abans. He was a man who was mever satisfied that the best had been achieved; he was irequently experimenting to improve his crait; he was indalgent with lis customers, when they were unahle to pay for the work he had done, and he toak a philosophical view of life. When an admirer of his genius and industry expressed regret that he had not acquired a competency to rau a enrriage, it is sajd he huntly replied, 'I don't want a cervage; I'm satisfen wilh the station of life that God inas placed me in. I've tajoyed more real plansure in my favourite pursuits than the wealth If India could affort, Holn Briant enjoyed tho confidonce of chuteh atuthorities in many phetls of Paglatil, and the Doan and Chapter of Lincoln cousulted lim on tho jectsting of 'Great "hom: whon that bell hecame cracked ut the heginning of the last antary. A letiel on this suljeet which \(I_{k, ~ w r o t e ~ i n ~ J a n u a r y, ~}^{1820}\), is worth quoting. It is an illuminating fommaent, fealiug wilt the tasting oi hig bella in ilhose days:-

Dear Sir, -I received your scoond letter duly, find now proceed to nnswer it. It would be of no use whatever to drill any hole-rely apon it, no more good would result from such an experiment that making the excision you mentioned in your first. (This was an inquiry whetiner any lemparary inprovement in the tone would be uhtrined luy cutting at piece out of the bell as far as or a little heymm the orack.) It is in truth n cracked bell, and my experience of now more than upwarids of half a century has mever seen any remedy applied to olre, although frequently attempted, nor do I entertain the least prophetic knowledge I ever shall; and I shoud the exticmely somy that any friend of mine should ramee an attempt to effect what 1 feal convinced is impossibte to be accomplished.

In reply to the naterial guestion conlaned in your first letter, as to the probable expense, and the most eligible place to recast the hed) at, I offer the following as my opiaion after the most mature deliberation. It is now upwards of a century since a bull of this maguitude las been fonnded, consequently no living experience denivalue from founders concerned in them is now awailable to guide us. We must, therefore, place our contidence for success in the accouns that has been handed down to us by others, aided by our hondond this will concur in giving the most decided preference to London fol this reasons: Wa know that there thare is a furnace of sufficient unpacity that las beed proucd over and orer agan, and has at all times been capable of producing that heat to the metal which is the desideratam for msuring a gos bell; and allow me to rymind you heal is of all things what we bave moss to combat with \(r\) stuceess.
I have no fexy of good article with a proved furarce; but the great uncerlainty of effecting at enst with a new one is greatly decreasing the probability of success. Not that ithink it wholly impossible: and did I teel myself equal, as I have had so considerable experimen in building furnaces Troth for myself and others, \([\) should have had дo repagnance to make an atempt; but the anxicty and care ft would create upon my mind would be so groat as lo divest ruk of that equaninnty I find necessary fo retain at my advaneed rents.

Fxelusire of the great risk of a good east in a new furmace, there would be a great deal of aditional expense in consequence. A proper limmat would cost noout \(f^{6} 60\), besives which there would be many modental and becessary expeuses in a new place of casting, all of which would be avoided if founded in London: and the cxperse to he consideled againgt this is the amont of carriage. Whether water rampage is available, \([\) camot tell-prohably nol. If so, and laud carriage is resorted to, you can bo supplied with a new bell before ilic old one is removecl, and the seme conreyane that hrings the new

Io Lincoln can warry the old one back to Lonrion. 1 lave made somo inguiry as to the probable amount of the carriagu, and, from the hest information I cats oblrin, it would he less in propertion than one to twa as ta the erection ai a furnace. But umder erery consideradion Landon is the preferable place; nor in there another furnace ow in England suffient to contain the requisite guantily of neetal. In confimation of my onimion upon the difference of a new and and recesting three times, produced the worst of all great bells in England. St. Paul's, which was recenst in 1709 in Lomlon, turaed out a good one the frst heat-ilue proved furnace in London heing capable of producing the requisite inteuseness of heat, but which the new furnace at Oxford conld not effocl after three attempts. And in a work of this meguitude I submit, wilh great deference, no experiment ought to be tried; yet, if the Dean and Chapter shuuld desire to have it founded in their Cathedral, sa far as my best judgment and experience might be rendered usefal, it would be one of my highest gratifications to promote their wishes.

It would be impossithle, got having particularly noticed the groinerl roof where you propose to take this stupendous bell up and flown, and also some other matters commeded with it, to state any thing like an accurate sum, but 1 think the operation of recasting will be from 8200 to \(£ 250\).

In underfakings of this nature, which so seldom occur', I am exceedingly happy inat it is to be effected by so liberal and learned a body as the pregent Dean and Clapter of Lincoln, as upan thair arrangements everything depends; and 1 entertait 110 doubt a proper regard will be had to obtain the greatest excellence, in preference to adopting a system that has of iate been resorted to by inferior bodies, to induce persous contracting to execute their orders at 50 low a price as to sacrifice all other considerations, of which there is Eutable instatice recently at Liverpool.
Having myself declined founding, I lope readily to receive assent, as well us of those concerned, that I am not iufluenced b any other feelings in this affar', than a most ardent desire to be in strumental in producing as good a bell as the old one, which was the mosi superjor great bell in Engand, nad in the attainment of which ohject I lope I shall not be found to shtink from any exertions. On the subject of new or an oid furnace 1 have personally conferred with Mr. Mears, Lhe Lantion fouvder, whose opinion and mine are in unison in this respeot. Should it, he thought well shall be bappy of an oppertunity to rxamine the place, and tu fer with you upon may further steps in this husincss, of which you will be pleased lo let me know, Any commutication for the suceceding three weeks will find me if addressed to King's College, bridge, where I am going to fix a new burret clock.
Brinnt's advice was not immediately followed. The experiment of cutting a piece out of the bell proved a failure, and the bell was eventually recast in 1834, fire years after Briant's death.

The story of Briant's life and work is adminably told by Mr- Andrews, who also gives us some mo less interesting dotails of sume of his various foremen and bell tuncrs. One of these was Robert Trylar, whose name, although he was not strictly an assistant of Briant, appears on an 1816 bell at Riseley, in conjunction with Briant's. He scrved an apprenticeship with Edward Amold at St. Neots, and toak over the foundry at his death in 1800 . Lader the firm becamo R. Taylor and Son. They remored to Oxford in 1821, and latar to Laugliborough, where they laid the foundations of the present famots tusimess. Triant's own business was Iaken over by Messis. Mearan of Whiteclapel.
Mr. Andrews has make a comprelemsive survey of Briant's work, and derotes a chapter to his stamps and inseriptions, gives a chrnmological liat of his bolls and a county list with details of vecastings and other information concerning then and the clocks the facturad. Phis work, as far as we know, is the firsl devoted to a single hell founder, and it would be a great addition to the biblingraphy of bells if historians oould be found to bring to fight for us the story of othor old members of the bell founding craft. This volurne, which has been admirahly prinfed by Wessus. Wm. Cartmal and Sons, of St. Albans, is illustrated by a number of piates, and is published at 6 s. 6d.

\section*{FAIRFORD RINGERS' EXCURSION}

On Saturday, August 30th, the Fairford ringers hedd their anmul ouking. Learing Fairford at 7.35 , they reached Prestbury al 8.50 , and there they were met by \(M r\). I'. Pendry, and the nice eight bells were set going for about an hour. Proceeding to bury Abhey, the party were met ty ilse Rev. F. G. Benson and an old friend and late ringer of Fairford, Police Inspector Hastings. The lovely peal of ten was soon going to Grandsire Jriples and a course of Graidsire Caters. Going on to Upton-on-Severn, the company enjoyed a splendid hot lunch, which had been kindly ranged hy Mr. C. Camm. This was very much enjoyed. Steps were made to the church, where ringing took place on the peal of cight. Ledbury was reached later, but on this ring of eight the ringing wes not good, ns the ropes were new and stretched a lot. Arriving at Newent, ex-Scrgt. J. Williams had a splendirl tea awaiting the party. On the nice peal of six bells, Grandsive and Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob Minor were rung. Barnwood, where there is a lovely light pral of eight, was the last stop, and the party were recewed by Mi". Waite and his two sons. Grandsire and Steduan Triples and Bob Major were rung. Mr. Waite had kindly arranged for supper, and, after a satisfactory repast, the tables were cleared and the bandbells were set going to tousbes and tume making, a very enjoyable wind up to the outing, Fairford being reached at 11.20.

\section*{EAST DERBYSHIRE AND NOTTS ASSOCIATION.}

A quarterly meeting of the East Derbyshive and Noits Association was lreld at Kirkby-in-Ashfield, Notts, on Saturday. Althougly it was a rery wet and dismal afternoon, the merting was well attended, and several visitors were welcomed. Good use was made of the five bells (which were rehung and augmented from three to five in 1927) natil the service, which was condreted by the Vicar (Rev. J, Smith). Ter in the schoolroom was followed by the business meeting, and the Viear extended a hearty welcome to the association, and expressed his delight in mecting an old friend in Mr: H. Hagla, of Worksop, who was for many years the secretary of the North Notts Aspociation. Six new members were elected, and Mr, Ashman, of Crich, exteaded an invitation to all ringers to visit Crich, Derbyshire, on Suturday acxt, when a bond, recording the first peal on the bells, sine their augmentation, will be dedicuted.
Several items of business were disposed of and the meeting concluded with a hearly vote of thanks to the Vicar and local workers who provided tea, and Mr. G. Rawson, a visiting member, who offiiated ant the organ.
Further ringing took place until 8.30 in a mumber of methods. Mombers were plesent from Blackwell, Crich, Kirkby, Morton, Soutly Nomanton, Ripley, Sclston, Sutton-in-Agluteld and Tibshelf

\section*{LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

A MIXTURE OF METHODS AT HOLJOWAY.
A meeting of the Northern District of Whe London Counliy Association was held at St. Mary Magdalene's, Holloway, ol Saturday. owing to the inclement state of the eloments, where were silil only a feqpresent at 4 p.m, when a start was made witi Stedman Triples. The rain having ceased before the fouch, the ablendance showed sigus of increasing, and before long theme tras ant expert band in the tower, fund good ringing was done uf sill 5.30 p.m., when an and journment was made for tea. The latter was served at lyons, and altogether seventeen sat down to do it justice.
The tower was revisited at 6.30 p.m. and a short business mecting hed, tho only important item being the election of a Disirict Ringing Master, which position laarl been vacant since the resignation of Mr. F. E. Allewzy, in January last.
Mr. John H. Crampion, of Woatiord, was elected to fill this office. He usual votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar and steeplekeeper for their kindness in allowing the ringing, and also to the young man who opened and closed the tower, end who was also put througl' his frost course of Grandsire Triples on the treble. There being wo further business, the claimman's lammer was put brok into its cage, and the meeting was closed. By this time, a large number of the leading lights of Loumbn ringing circles were prescnt, and a course of Cambridge was rung. The bells having got over this and a course of cambridge was rung. Ghe bells having got over dins Double Nouwich and Plain Bob Major. Superlative was then cssayed, and a very good course rung, the best of the evening. London having already lyeen rulg during the afternoon, Bristol Surprise was attempted and brought round in very good style. rhis enconvaged stifi further efforts, and, after some more Graudsire Triples, a course of Xorkshire Stuprise Major was rung. It was then decided toring Bome Major, and a course of London to conclude the meeting, ut, alter the Boh Major, news was brenglat flat two old ladies living near the church had, made loud complaints ahout the ringing, and the Master, decruing prudence the better part of valour, flecided the proceedings without ringing the Jundou. The most suemeting of the distriet for some consincrable time was sucmeting of the district for some considerable time was thus to a close. The attendance wns moderate, about 25 peing but the standard of ringing (bolh methods and striking ) was here heing ten different methods rung, and it is believed to first time that Bristol and Yorkshive Surprise have been rung arthern District meeting.

\section*{A DIFFICULT PROBLEM.}

According to a correspondent, a situation has arisen in an Essex tower, which has occurred from time to time in other places and which requires handling with tact and care. It appears that there are sufficient ringers to ring the bells, but some are change ringers who want to make headway in the art, others are not change ringers and have no desire to learn. The result is a division in the camp which threatens to leave the bells unrung for services. There are not enough change ringers fully to man the bells on Sundays, and the others will have no part in it if for a substantial portion of their time they have to 'sit out' and watch the efforts of the change ringers. Our correspondent invites advice from those competent to give it, and we imagine there will be considerable diversity in the replies which may be expected. Whether, however, there will be as many satisfactory solutions of the problem remains to be seen.

It ought, of course, to be borne in mind, as our correspondent points out, that the essential use of bells is for service ringing and in any step that is taken it should be the aim of everyone to maintain the ringing on Sundays. The question is not an easy one to settle, and it seems to us that in a case of this lind there must be concessions on both sides. The non-change ringers ought to pat no obstacle in the way of their colleagues who want to make headway by practising the art and the change ringers, while making every effort to induce the rest to see the extended interest which can be obtained from change ringing, ought to consider the positions of the old ' stoney' men.

If, prior to the coming of change ringing they have rendered long and loyal service to the Church within the limits of their talent and opportunity, they ought to receive the greatest consideration, which, in the end, would probably well repay itself. If the two sides can meet in good will a compromise ought to be possible. If the 'stoney ' men will definitely not entertain learning change ringing and their past services and present numbers justify it, they ought, in our opinion, to be given facilities to share in the ringing. If it cannot be agreed to share the same periods allotted for ringing, would it not be possible for alternate practices and alternate Sundays to be allotted to the two groups, with the clear understanding that if indivicuals of one side desired to join in the ringing of the other they should be entitled to do so? In this way the conflicting forces might be brought closer together ; in any event there should be sufficient give and take between the ringers to ensure that the bells are fully (Continueti on pago 614.)

\section*{THE SEVEN NINETEENS.}

Sir,-As ona who has called the above peal several times, I was very much interested in the article which appeared in "The Ringing World of September 19th. I remember the second time that I rang The peal, I asked the then conductor, the late Mr. H. W. Haley, how to learn to call the peal, and he told me: 'Seventeen nineteens and ono seventeen, including the two Singles," When I got home I gat out my 'Reeves, Jones and Blakemore's' book, and on pages 58 and 59 I found the peal juse as he told me, in what may be termed eight paris, although not all the same length, but with the same number of calls in the firsi seven parts, and from that I set to work and loarnt the "bells Before' all off by heart. I have always called it that way. Tlie part ends or division ends are an fol lows:-

Fours truly,
I. J. TUCKER.

\section*{ANOTHER HENTM.}

Sir, In connection with your aricle on Holt's Origial, may I be allowetl to pass on the adrice given to me by Mr. C. Willshire, now of Craada. It is by far the best way to leam the bells Before at the Doubles, then as soon as you call the previpus hob to the Double vou will know whether your bwo next bells are right.- Fours,
A. H. PULLING.

\section*{SET TO VERSE}

A correspondent, referring to the fact that some ringers get the calling of Holt's Original to verse, writes that in one of the jesuea of 'Campanology' in 1897 a writer suggested the following means of learning the peal, which, witł him, had proved very suecessĩul:-

Get out the bells "Before" in "common meter verse form," (hat is, eight in the first and third, and 6 in the second and fourth lines, figure boing equal to a syllahle, as for iustance:-O-God - our - help - in - a - ges - past
\begin{gathered}
5 \\
0 \text { ont - hope }- \text { for - years - to - come, } \\
4
\end{gathered}
\]
\[
\begin{gathered} \text { And } \\
7
\end{gathered}-\frac{\text { our }}{}-\text { e - ter - nal }-1 \text { home. }
\]
- If you continue this treatment you will find it runs to five verses and a small bit, which I call the "Amen," thus:-
7.4.4.3.3.5 2s.5.6.35.

> 645327 234675 734265 257465 275346.

On working out the caling on the abore system, our corresponifent got the following result, to the air of ' \(O\) God, our help in ages past ':-

\section*{A JOINT MEETING AT PORT SUNLIGHT.}

A combineri meeting of the Wirem Branch of the Chester Dioosan Guild and the Lirerpool Branch of the Lancashire Association was held at Christ Ghurel, Port Sunlight, on Saturday. There wis a fairly good attondaner, considering the wet day. Amongst those present were Rev, T. Webster (minister in charge of Clirist Church), Messis. A. I. Jarvis (secretary, who had made all the arrangements), J. G. E. Simpson (general secretary, Chester Diocesan Guild), Claude Davies (Eecretary, Liverpool District), and about twenty-six ringers. There was some good ringing kturing the afternoon, including touches of Stedman Triples, Grandsire Triples, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, and Bob Major. An exchllent tea was provided and berved in the art gallery, Mr. Jarvis acting as host.
The Rev. T. Webster gave the ringers an hearty welcomo to Port Sunlight. He was very pleased to see them and to hear them ring. Tho band at Christ Church wewe making good progress, and he thanked Mr. Battle for his great assistance to the learners.
Mr. Bracklebank proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Webster and Mr. Jaryis for their kind welcome, for the use of the balls and for the tea, which was very much enjoyed. Mr. Davies seconded the motion, and invited those present to the anaual meeting and serrice of the Lanenshire Association to be held at Liverpool on the 27th inst. The vote of thanks laving been carrina wilh acclamation, finging was carried on until ciglat o'clock.

\section*{EDGWARE BELLS RUNG AGAIN.}

On Saturday, September 20hn, the Finchley band wisited the Parish Church of St. Margaret, Fdgware, Middlesex, where the bells have beeu silent for the past ten years. Finding the bells ringable, 720 Keai Treble 13ob, 360 Oxford Treble Bob, 360 Double Court, 360 Plain Bob, 360 Grandsire Doubles, 360 Oxford Bob, and a plain course of College Single were rung, the following ringers taking part: L. Tubi, B. Tubb, F. Tubb, F. Cherrett, E. Bonfield, W. Warren, F. Barker (conductor).

\section*{LEICESTER RINGERS IN LONDON}

The members of St. John-the-Divine's Society, Leicester, held theit gunual outing on Saturday, September 13th, when they paid a visit to London. The riagers, with their wives, reached the Metropolis at \(1.10 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). Although there was a heavy downpour of rain, this failed to damp the spirits of the compary, as by means of the Underground railway the various destinations were possible. A wisit to St. Paul's Cathedral was the first iters on the programane, and a profitable hour was spent within its walls, many of the company regishering their first visit. Leaving the Cathedral, they went down Ludgate Hill, where the bvidge came in useful for shelter, what time 'Jupiter Pluvius' did his dammedest. Then on to St. Clmment Dines, Surand, where, thanls to Messrs. T. H. Taffentler and W. D. Grainger, the bells were at the ringers' disposal. Stedman and Grandsire Caters were rung before cosing down. Five oclock saw the party at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, the famous church of hroadzasting, where the use of the twelve bells had heen kindly obtained for the Midlanders by the Master of tho Cumberlands, Mr. J. D. Mathews. Here several Leicester friends, now residents in London, joined the party, and with thoir help Stedman Ginques and a course of Carnbridge Royal were rung. Dimer was served at the well-known Coventry Restaurant, Rupert Sirect, Piccadilly, when twenty-eight Were glad to sit down, but very loth to get up. Six courses were succossfnlly negotiated before 'the coming lome, after' which votes of thanks to the respective incumbents and custorians aforesaid were moved and carried with acclamation. The remainder of the time ab the disposal of the party was spenb at various places, some looking on the silsery Thames by night, some going to an exhibition, and the remainder to Madame Tussauds, where some fun was caused by certain indiviNuals' inability to distingutsh the living from the 'dud. Filevel p.m. saw all the party ad St. Paneras, and after a non-stop run of 100 miles, in a well upholstered saloon, reached home at 1.10 a.m., well sutisfied that this outing was the best up to date.

\section*{JAMES WASHBROOK'S GRAVE.}

Dear Sir, -In your isste of August 29th last, your correspondent, W.F.F., writing of the Manchester tour, says it was ascertainet that Washbrook's grave was neglected, and there ia we headstone to mark his resting place at Pendleton. As an udmirer of Washbrook's abilities I ask, cannot something be done to mark luis last resting place? I am fully aware of the memorial to his memory nt St. Ebbe's, Oxford. Could the Lancashire Association undertako the erection of a suitable stone fyy appealing through your valuablo paper for subscriptions? I am willing to give my mile.-Yours,

A NOYIGE.

\section*{RETIREMENT OF THE REV. H. E. WORTHINGTON, M.A.}

As reported in our peal columns, a farewelt peal was arranged and rung to mark the retirement from the ministry of the Rev. F. F. Worthineton, M.A., who has for the last thirty-thred yearg been Rector of Seals (Overseal and Netherseal). He has been a great friend of all ringers, showing the greatest interest in the art. If was for many years an hon. member of the Midland Counties Asso. ciation, and rarely missed attending a meeting in his district. Ho is the cousin of Mr. W. W. Worthington, M.A., J.P., of Maple Hayes Lichfield, the well-known ringer and donor af a number of bells it the Burton District of the M.C.A., of which he is vice-president. The Rev. F. E. Worthington is retiring to Hook Norton, nem Banhury.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED
PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about them.

Pictures should, for preference, be pholographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photograplis may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to send a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the \end{abstract} sender should enclose his name and address.

\section*{BELFRX GOSSIP.}

The recast ring of eight bells insialled with new frame and fitting at St. Matthew's, Holbech, Leeds, was dedicated on Siturday, ami the happy eveat was celebrated with true Yorkshire ringers enthusiasm.
The perl at St. Luke's, Wolverhamptan, besides being ruyg hy all local ringers, is notable for the fact that the ringers of the treble, 2and, 3rd and tenor have only beort ringing seven montlas, and are only 16 years of age. Great credit is, therefore, due to then. It has not heen found possible to arrange the mecting at Friblegdon on Wednegday, October 1 sti, for the Tissex and Horts Assuciations, and a meeting will bo held instead at Harlow Common.

A parly of tourists are peal ringing this week in Min-Wales.
Mr. Tony Price, a ringer well known in the Eastern Countica, who is now residing in Muntreal, is to be matried on Monday auxi. Septemher 29th, to Miss Agnes Watson, who has gone out to Caruda for the event. It would he a liappy expression of the good wishes of his numerons fricnds if a peal in honour of the wedting could be rullg.
The Rev. H. Drake, of Efford, hon. scevetary of ithe Suffolk Dzild and Mrs. Drake were involved in a motor accident on Saturday, when the car which Mr. Drake was driving came into collision with a motor coach at cross-roads at Shooter's Hill, Woolwich. Mrs. Drake had to be taken to Woolwich Hospital.
Mr. Edwin Gibls, an old College Youlh and a member if Sl. Paul's Calhedral band for many yeurs, is in Tho Elms Nursing Home at Crayford. Athough le is suffering severely from arilnitis, he is very cheerfu].
Mr. Gibbs was one of the hand of College Youths who lost at peal of ten thousand odd of Stedman Cinques in the homing counse ot Cornhill. Before becoming a College Youth, he was an membur of the Royal Cumberlandz, and rang in the 8,896 of treble Both at Highgate.
A correspondent seeks information as to the quickest peal of Doubles that has been rung. Now, you record breakers, let us leear from you!

\section*{A COMBINED MEETING AT HORSHAM}

Owing to its having to the postponed from its ariginal date, the combined roeeting of the Westera Division of the Sussex Association and the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on Saturday week unfortunately clashed with the others, and thiz, combined with the had weather, made for a small attendance at the line old Parish Church of Horshamo. The well-known peal of eight, however, were set going soon after three o'clock, and Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Kent and Douhle Nowich were rung belore the service, which was conducted by the Vicar, and his nddress whs on rather an unusual suhject, viz, the Guila's service farm and ils prayers
Ahout twenty ringers sat down to tea at the Queen's Head, and, as the weather improved, a few noore afterwards put in an aperarance, and emabled Londan and Bristol Surprise to he added to 11 w methods rung before the close of this first combined meeting of thege distriets.

\section*{CUDHAM'S LIGHT RING OF TEN.}

\section*{FIFE NEW BELLS WFIGH 15 CWT}

The lightest peal of ten bells lung for ringing in a church tower this conntry was dedicated on Sunday aflernoon at the Parish Church of Cudham, Kent, and, in addition to the large congregation of parishioners who gathered to take part in the proceedings, a great many ringets assembled to hear and try this unique peal. The grauch, trlich has two aisles of unegual length, and a tower susmourted by a spire, lies on the strmmit of a steep ridge, tha clmoh up fa which, from one side at any rate, is a serere test for tho wind of the pedestrian and the vitals of a motor-car. The hill is long, and in places the gradicat is one in threc, and is frequently the scenc of hill-climbing coatests. One such was in progress on Sunday afternoon when sorae of the visitors artived. flhe church is thus well siluated for a peal of bolls. There are few neighbouring loones, most of the villagers who use the church Iiving in the valley far below, white the most papulous part of the parisi is nearly two miles away nu Biggin Hill. [p to fifty years or so ago, there were four bells in the tower, one, probathly of pre-Roformstion date, inscribed, - Ora Pro Nobis, Suncte Paul, and the others casi by Jobn Hodson in 166\%. Then, it is recorden, some "village icliow" broke the teaor bell in endearoming to celebrate a wedding, and for a lime ouly three sound bells remained.

In 1890 Messrs. Taylor and Co. recast the tenor and relung the four bella in a frame constructed to told siz eventuelly. In 1920 , M-sser, Mears and Staialuarl added a treble, making at ring of five. Abut two years ago there was a desire to fill the vacant pit, and a bull was cost in 1929 at Groydon for tho purpose. Mcanvhile a powninent parishoner, in the person of Mr. Rolle Richards, died, and by a bequest, whicla presumably was to brve turned the older ring of five into an octave, lae left a sum of money for three new hatls and a tower clock witin guarter chimes. The result has been that a further bell has been provided from the bequest, and Gudham nuw has its rery light peal of ten, whose total weight is less than 44 cut.
'flhe work has been carried ont by Messirs. hillett and Johnston, Hotho, in spite of the lack of metal possible in wiew of the weigitis of the existing ring, bave provided some very fine bells, whose notes are clear and powerful. Nothing was done to the other five, whicin, as stated, aro a 'mised' lot, but the result is certainly a pJeasing poul of ten, always, of conse, hearing in mind the weight. Tho four maller bells are carvice in a separate frame over the other six, and he gpace in the ringing room is mather conlined, the towar being onjo aluout 11 ft . squarc. In the ringing room, too, thele is too much notse, as the bells are immediately overhead. It is hoped that samething may be doge to mitigate this, otherwise riaging conditions will now be altogether gatisfactory. The following are the partieulars of the bells, the weights of which will be examined with juterest:-

The tablef recorts the gifts in the following words: "Tho the glory of God and in memory of Emma Jane Richarde, the wife of Rolla Riehards, who departed this life on the 6th Junuary, 1912, ant also in memory of Rolla Richards, who departed this life on the 23rd April, 1929, and by whose generosity this church las feen enriched by the gifi of three hells, and a clock, and by improvements to the organ. \({ }^{2}\)
After the ringing, which included touches of Caters and Royal, many of the visiting ringers were entertained to tea by Mr. Johnston, hasty preparations being made ait Knockholt, about two miles away, which was the nearest point at which refiesliments could be obtrined. Those ringers who were nble to take lea nuth appreciated Mr. Johnston's kindness and hospitality.

\section*{REOPENING OF A NOTED ESSEX PEAL}

\section*{BOCKING BELLS RETENLD AND REEUNG,}

Deqpile the inclement westher, a large astembly of ringers athforded the reopening of Backing bells on Siturday wek. For an hont previous to the service the rain came alown in torrents, but in anite of the adverge conditions the spacious editice was filled to its mpacily. The service began wily the hymn, ' City of God, how hroad and far." The Rer. 7: P. R. Clark, assistant curate, officiated. Thi- lussan (Numbers a. I-ID) was read hy the aged Dean, the Very Liv. J. S. Brownrigg, who is in his goth year. The sermon was preached by the Lord Hisliop of Chelnasford, who expressed his appreciation of the stececssiul efforts made by the parishioners in rehanging their noble ring of bells. THe collection, 516 4s. Gol., was for the hrll fund. Onis a fow pounds are now needed to complete Ine e470 to free the fund from debt.
Imandiately after the servico the bells were rung by the local company, follewed by 48 Cambridge Surprise by a selected band, conducted by Ar. W. Keeble. \section*{TROUBLES IN THE TOWER."}

\section*{DIFFICULT PROBLEM AWATTKNG SOLUTLON.}

Sir,-In a village near Ipswich there is a peal of eight bells and about twenty men capable of ringing them. Four or five men hava acquired the art of change ringing, naxd the remainder have advanced no further than call changes, amd yet there does not appear to be a regulas band to ring all the hells for the Sunday service. This semars to be a deplorable state of affails, which is certainly truc, and there is not the slightest doubt that things will be much worse before many weeks have passed.
The position is this: Unkil a few monibs ago, there was a regular band of call change ringers, who performed the dulies of Sunday service ringing, and now, after or rest of twenty yeirs or so, the ofo change ringers have stepped in with a view to creating change ringing. One of these gentlemen may be described as 'tauchy,' and will not take part in any call change ringing, which, to my, mind, is perfectly ridiculous. Two or three of the 'Gravestone' ringers are anxious to get on, and the rest do nof wish to bofher about it, and they have discontinued going into fhe tower, explmining that they have to sit out and watch five or six bells being rung to change ring ing, which is not so musical as their own method.
The Rector, who was a regular ringer, and who had great pleasure n joining the call clange ringers, is also among the 'sitiers out,' and, if asked to ring, the touchy one walks out. This kind of thing may lead to the breaking-up of the band.
Every Tucsday evoning a practice is held, which has so far proved successful to a eertain extent, heving heen reinforeed by periodica? visits of ringers from Ipswich and district. Several 720's have been rung with five of the local band taking part, there being four good insiders ' and two treble mern, who appear unable to ring a working bell. This difficulty may probably be overcome in time, bis both parties wish to ring, and there witl shortly be a crash.
The whole business appears to be childish in one way, but most cerbinly sevious in another, eonsidering that all these men, who are interested in the art, will in all probubility wash their hands entirely of the interests of ringing.
Bearing in mind that change ringing must be given ewery chance, Sunday ringing is most esseniial-a mocessity which ringers must put before their own ideals, and which is really tho origan of bells and bellringers.
A mecting is shortly to be called, anci the ringers will ixe swmmoned to attend to discuss affairs and come to an undersbanding.
I would appreciate guggestions from ringers which may overcome these difficulties, and which [ may put forward at the coming moeting, loping they may smooth out matters, and once again gef mpon ts feet the bigh aame of which this old bower was ouce proud.Yours faitlifully,

GECLL W. PIPE

\section*{PEAL BOARD UNVEILED AT CRICH}

An interesting gathering of Nottg and Therbyshire ringers place at Crich, Derbyshive, on Saturday, for the dedication tablet, recording the first peal rung on the bells since recasting augmentation to eight in 1988. The bells are a wery nice octave the weight of the tenor being \(12 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cw}\). in F sharp. They we in motion sharbly after three o'clack, and several touches brought round before the cormony. Sorvice was conducted in church by the Vicar (the Rev. H. E. Jones). After prayers and the singing of the 150th Psalm, the elergy and churchwardens proceeded to the tower, where the tablet was unveiled by Mrs. H. E. Jones, the wife of the Viear.

Dedicatory prayers were then oftered by the Rev. R. O. Wilson, Vicar of Old Brampton, and formerly of Crich, who afterwards preached the serman, and two suitable hymas werc heartily sung by the congregation.
The ringers then adjourned lo tho schoolnoom, where they enjuyed the hospitality of the churelwarden (Dr. H. J. Rankin), who had provided a splendid tea
A vote of thanks to the clergy, Dr. Hankin, Mis. Jones and the organist was proposed by Mi. E. Ashman and seconded by Mr. W. Drake.
The Vicar, in reply, welcomed the visitors, aud congratulated th hand which took part in the peal. He hoped that samething else worth recording would be accomplished in the near future.

The Rev. R. O. Wilson expressed his pleasure at being present, and said how he had enjoyed the task, when at Crich, of assisling aise the funds for the reasting of the bells.
The doctor was ohviously pleased with ererything, and the company returned to the tower for further ringing. Although the gathering was not so large as expected (owing, no doubt, to the inclement weather), some good ringing was heard in the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain. Bab, Double Norwich, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major. The peal recorded on the hoard was one of Grandsire Triples, and was mang on January 26th, 1929, by the following: Mresses. G. Asliman, w. \(H\). Buston, F. F. Hill, W. A. Prusons, W. E. Drake, J. Joord, F. G. Fretweil and E. Ashman. The board is of oak, with the leftocing neatly executed in gold leaf. It is the first peal board in the bolfry.

\section*{REOPENJNG OF EARLS COLNE BELLS.}

EXCELLTNT WORK BY MESSFS. GILLETT AND JOHNSTON. The bells of Earls Colne, Essex, were reopened on Sunday, Septem ber 14th, after being silent for nearly two months, when if was found mecessary to have the frame restored and some of the bells rehung. This work was entrusted to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who lave completed it to the greatest satisfaction of all. It re flects great credit on the firm. A special word of praise should be given to Mr. Bert Newson, who was responsible for the rehanging of the bells. Tha frame has been strengthencd with tie bolts and steel brackets, and the back six havo been rehung on ball bearings.
The local company opened the ringing at \(10.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). for servict, and during the day visiting ringers from thirteen parishes were present and enjoged touches in various methods up to London Surprise Major
A service of thanksgiving was held at 3 p.m., conducted by the Tricar (Rev. O. L. Matlin). The Rer. Thomes (White Colne) was also present. The Rev. T. H. Curling, Rural Dean (Halstead) gave au excellent address, and Mr. C. F. Howard (Master of the Essex Association) read the lesson. A large congregation attended this service, and an effort was made to rase the remaining fis required for the bell fund. During this and the evening services the collections exceeded the amount required, and it is most gratifying to all who have assisted in raising this funt in so shorts a time to feel that he bells can now be rung free of debt.
The Viear kindls entertained all visibing ringers, togelher with the local company, to tea at the Vicarage.

\section*{A RESTORATION AT SOUTHFLEET, KENT}

The ring of six old bells at Southfleet Church, Kent, hare been heard again afier a silence of, it is said, at least a hundred years. Three of the bolls were cracked and lave been welded.

Tho present church at Southffeel was builb ahout 600 years ago, on tho site of a much older church, which, in burn, was built on the foundations of a pagan templo.
'lhe rededication of the bells was performed in the presence of a large number of villagers by the Rev. Ganon Wheatler, Vicar of Si. Margaref's, Rochester. Mr: Mitchel, of Milion, Gravesend, was in charge of the band of ringers at the dedication service. These hells had not bean rung within living memary because throe of then were badly cracked, but the Rector, the Rev. J. I.I. Jones, who came to Southfleet three or four years ago, mado nin his mind that the peal should be restored. A restoration fund was oponed for the repair of the church, and part of it was earmarked for the work to the bells.
The cracked bells have been restored by a scicntilic welding process operated by Barimar, Ltal, of Landon, aud this portion of the work has proved highly successful. The bells have been relang, and the iron clapper staples, which were believed to be the cause of the cracks, have been removed duting the procoss of repair.
The bells aro a ring of six, tho tomor hawing been cast by Richard Phelps in 1736. He also cast the 3rd in 1705, while one of the others was by 'Withelmas Carter' in 1610.

In the history of the Exercise certain mames stand out pre-eminently, and are likely to retain theif honoured place as long as the art of change ringing is practised in these isles. The name of Fabian Stedman, the Cambridge printer, is at the very foundation of the art; that of Benjamin Annable, the London baker, whose influence on ringing two centuries ago made a lasting mark, was cut early and deep in the Exercise. One hundred and seventy years ago this week-on September 2gth, 1760 , to be exact-another who was destined to take an outstanding place in the Exercise, first saw the light-William Shipway, the Bath cabinct maker. These three are the commanding figures in the early development of change ringing, and they 'blazed the trail' over which other explorers have travelled to open up lands unknown to these pioneers. The records of the Cumberland Youths, had they stood alone, would have shown Shipway to be a good ringer and a competent composer and conductor. But he has left us something beyond this. His 'Canspanologia, \({ }^{\text {a }}\) published in 1816 , was the crowning of his life's work. It was for two generations or more the best text book available for ringers, and it reveals an extensive knowledge of the science such as is possessed by comparatively few, even to-day,
In this twentieth century one of the regrets which we have is that we know so little of most of the celebrities of the past. Of those, who with their contemporaries, have gone from us, it is regrettable that we have but the scantiest knowledge. Their names are to be found in the records of various old societies, but we know little of the men thamselves. Shipway, however, is in some degree an exception. In his 'Campanologia' he gives us a biographical note which is of great interest to the student of ringing history. He tells us the date of his birth in Bath and the circumstance which introduced hion to a knowledge of ringing. He was apprenticed to a Mr . Handcock, a cabinet maker, who was appointed sextor of the Abbey, and thus Shipway gained access to the steeple. He formed an acquaintance with the ringers and soon became attached to the art, which he apparently took up with avidity. It gripped him so completely that, although the company to which he belonged was able to ring Treble Bob Royal, and was 'a respectable and able band of ringers,' Shipway was not satisfied with the progress that was possible and therefore he teft Bath for London, where, he knew, there would be greater scope. He reached London in July, \(\mathbf{1 7 8 5}\), and took a prominent part in the activities of the Cumberland Youths. To this it is possible to add that, with the exception of a few (Continued on page 630.)

JOHN NICOLL.
Churoh Bell Rone and Clook Rope Manutacturer, 64, LEWISHAM PARK, LONDOM, S.E. 13 Late of BERMONNSEY and PECKHAM.

Maker to St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey, Imperial Insti. tute, Ganterbury, Edinlurgh, St. Albans, Lincoln, Durham, Peter borough, Melbourne (Australia), Rochester, Dublin, St. Patrick's, Manchester, Durban, and Worcester Cathedrals, atc., etu.

Muffers, Ringing Mats, Matting, Flag Lines, etc., etc.
years spent in Kent, when he was engaged as instructor at Quex Park, after the installation of the Ting of twelve bells in the Waterloo tower, Shipway remained to the end of his days in the Metropolis, dying in 1843 at the advanced age of eighty-three years. His seventy peals included some outstanding performances, but it is for his 'Campanologia' that his name has come clown to us and will be handed on to posterity. He spent four years in its preparation, working presumably on the foundation provided by 'The Clavis,' and when it appeared in 18 i6 he was able rightfully to claim that it was 'the most complete Treatise ever published on the subject.' The Exercise owes a good deal to the man who was born at Bath just 170 years ago.

BRANCH SECRETARY GOMPLAINS OF POOR ATTENDANOE.
The autumn meeting of the Reading Brazch was held at Oher bendon on Saturday, September 20th. The weather was not very kind, but twenty risitors braved it, and the bells were set going at 3 p.m. A tingers' service was held at 5 p.m. conducted by the Ficar the Rev. St. George Edwards). Afterwards, all sot down to a splendid tea, very kindly given by tho Vians, who is a keen and eathusiastio ringer. The tubles wero beatifully decoraled with flowers.
After a rote of thitnks had becn passed, the sccretary spoke of the poor attendances at the brench quarterly meetings, and sug gested they should not the continued. The chamman and Ficnr hoth diangreed will him, and said they wore a greal help to the country towers.
Thte bells were agaiu sct going, and touches of Stedman, Plaize Bab, and Treble Bob were rung, with axcellent striking.
The meeting was on the whole very successful, and the lacal ringers especially liad a really good, long and enjoyable practi
The six bells of Ss. Peter and Paul's Clurelt, Glieckenten, are an excollont little ring, the tenor weighing 11 cwt. Two bolls are by Legter and Pack, and four by Mears and Stainbank. They were last restored in 1899.

\section*{HOW CUDHAM BELLS WERE AUGMENTED.}

It will perhaps be of intercst to the Exercise to know how Kent came to possess another peal of ten-the smallest hung for ringigg in any chucch tower in the country, aud which, as recorded in our last issue, have just been dedicated at Cudham. In the yeare 1918 -13-14 a gentlemnen used periodically to visit Crayford Church, mad thus came in fouch with Mr. E, Barnett, sen., he parisil clerk. During one of thesc visits he mentioned that white he was glive his menns would not permit, but that he would like, at his deatli, to leave some money to Cudlam Church in memory of his wife, and he nsked Mr. Barnett's advico is to bow he shoud leave it. Mr. Barmotits advice was this: 'Well, there are fire hells at Cudlam: leave it to agment them to six, and, if you bere sufficient to leave to augment them fo eight, so much the betler.' He promised to consider it, and wend awny. His nex visit was a day or two before war broke out when the told Mr. Batuct fhat he had definitely rarmarked a sum of money in his will to do as ha suggested. What 'that litite work in season' will sometimes do!

NORTR-WESTERN DISTRICT AT HERSHAM.
A meeling of the Narth-Western District of the Surrey Assaciation was held at St. Peler's, Hersham, on Saturday, September 27th. The matendance was somewhat smaller than anticipated; nevertheless, atry enjoyable time was spent by the ringers, who attended from Ihantead, Beckenham, Beddington, Groydon (St. John's and St. Peter's), Harsharr, Jeatherhead, Mitcham (Christ Church and SS. Pater and Puul), Walton-on-Thames and Woking. Ringing commenced about 3.30 , and a short service was conducted by the Vicar, Who gave a very interesting address. Tea followed in the Church House, sistecn sithing down bo an ample and enjayable meal (twentytive thying been catered for). The Vicar of Hersham (Rev. E. Russell Brittain) presided over the business meeting, at which thirteen new ringing mombers were elected, including the ontire band at All Saints', Benlilton, and aIso Admirga T. P. Walker, of Woking (hon. (ronsurer of the Guidford Diocesan Guild).
Mr. F. Woodiss reported that Benhitton hand required an official instructor, and this metter was referred to the district committee, with full powers to appoint whom they thought fit, and report at tho reat discrict meeting.
The Secretary also reported that le harl received a very kind invitation to the district to tea at tho nest meeting at Mitcham by the Christ Church company. He therefore asked members to make a special note of the date, Saturday, November 29th, and turn up in gend atrmbers.
A very Learty pote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the Gells and conducting the service, to the organist and to Mr. A. Wookrow for making the necessary arrangements.
'flhe tower was again visited, and good practice wrs obtained in all the standard methods from rounds to Cembridge and London Surprise Major. It was very disappointing to the district secretary that so. Cew attended this meeting, after the prouises of support he received at the anuan district meeting when this fower was proposed, hut he hopes members will make amends by a special effort on Norember \(29 t h\) at Mitcham.

The meeting of the Western Division at Tring on Saturday, geqtember 20th, was hampered by the inclement werther. Only sizteen jingers attiended from Apsley, King's Langley, Leighton Buzara, Lirslade, Luton, and several of the lacal company, Ringing in tho sfandard methods was indulged in, and a capilul tea was partaken of at the Museum Cafe. Afterwards handbelt vinging was induiged in before returning to the tower for more ringivg, which was kept up until 8 p.m.
The Chureh of SS. Peter and Paul, Tring, is a massipe structure in the Perpendioufar style of architecture, daling from the fourtoenth century. In the tower hangs a peal of eight bells (tenor 24 cwt in D). The dates and founders of the bells are as follows: 3rd and 4 th by Ellis Knight, 1636; 8th 1622, 6th and 7th 1624, by Robert Oldfield; tenar 1695, Chandler. These old six were rehung by Laster and Pack in 1752, and again rehung and trebles added in 1882 by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. Tho bells Egain need the attention of a bellhanger.

\section*{NEWCASTLE CATHEDRAL RINGERS VISIT EDINBURGH.}

The Newcastle Cathedral Guild members took adwantege of their annual outing to visit their riuging friends in Fdinburgh on Soplerriber 20th, and spent the meek-end with thera, returnigg on Sundej, the 21st. They had a rost enjoyablo trip, despite the weathar, whirh was wretched on the Saturday, but pieasant on the Smodey. Thanks to the great kindness and good altaces of Mr. G. Gleveland Ellis and Mr. W. O. S. Hentheote, who arranged for ringing at St. Cubhbert's on Saturday evening, when exoellont touches of Sterlnan ebiples and Double Norwich were breught' round, and on Sunday, when Stedman Catars was rang at the Cathedral Church of St. Mary in the morning, and Stedman Triples and Double Norwich were broaght round in the eveniag at St. Cuthhert's, the ringing portion of the outing was amply satisfed. In addition there was much handbell ringing. Mrr. Stephen H. Woor, of Glasgow, joined in all the ringing on Sunday.

As everyane knows who vișits Fdinburgh, it is a city of hills and Etairs, in spile of which the party, under the guidance of Mr . Heathcote, managed to see most af the gights, including tho magaifient war memorial, amd visit sueh places as the Forlh Bridge, Granton and Leith.
The party were accompanied by their popular Ringing Master, Mr. C. L. Routledge, and the mrrangements wero made ank earriad out hy the hon. हecretary, Mr. Artisul Payne.

PICTURES OF CHURCH TOWERS FOR PUBLICATION IN 'THE RINGING WORLD.'
The Editor of 'The Ringing World' will be glad to receive photographs of churches, with a view to their future publication when suitable occasion arises.

The photographs should be accompanied by brief particulars of the bells, with their inscriptions and dates if possible, and any other interesting information about thern.

Pictures should, for preference, be photographic postcards, and, where there is any choice, the tower should be a feature.

Obviously, of course, all the pictures cannot be published at once, the object of getting a collection being that the photographs may be ready at hand for use when fitting opportunity occurs.

Will each tower secretary be good enough to sent a photograph of his own tower? It should be forwarded in an envelope for protection, and addressed to The Editor, 'The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and the sender should enclose his name and address.

The ringing tour of Miri-Wajes was completed last Saturday at Ellesmere. Ten towers were wisited by eleven nembers of the North Wales Association, the Welsh elergey giving them a hearty weleone. Of the foutteen peals attempted, thirteen were succesful. The only failure was at Dalgelly, with about 40 ming. more to ring, to materp is "hirhest possible" for the week.

Our recent article on 'Holt's Original and how to call it," lias been a frwitful sowre of discussiun anoong ringers, the 'ould 'une' as woll as the youngsters having talked it over, but, of course, with the knowledge gained by experience behind then. We feit' that, even at a ringers' wedding party the other day, it was one di the topies that helped to pass an enjoyable evening.

The first peal of Stedman Caters on the bells at Fulham was ang on Oetober 3rd, 1819 , and the first peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields wrs rung on October 6th, 2788.
The ringer of the treble in the peal at Northop, Flintshire, an September 20th, was Thomas W. Coodwin, not Woodhouse, a recorded. The peal at Waverton ou August 23 rd was muny for the Cheter Diocesan Guild. May we again ask correspondents to thow over theit peal reports before sending then?

Beltingers are wanted for St. Catl's Cathedral-Melbounto, AtsLralia, not London. Most of the ringers there are vaterans. The Master, Mr. J. M. Guest, is 84 , and has rung since he was 11 . Fis "offisider " is Mr. J. L. Murray, now 68, who has been a ringer" since he was 17 . They think it is time some younger member月 wore traiued, and they are appealing in the belbourne press for voturteerg.

\section*{THE 'STONEY' RINGERS.}

\section*{To the Editor}

Dear Sir, Is it true to sny the most beantifui music possible from an octave of bells is when they are in the Queen's innd Tikinms positions?

Well struck (and you can sll take your hats off to the stonny men, for they do strike), these clamges are all obtainable with 4.6 .8 or 7.4.8. covering. Why cannot thay all 'have a go'? All the clever hnes have to do is to ring 120 of Grandsire and let the rest cover. In this way they please themselves, the Etoney man, the Viear, and, hast but not least, the general public, who dearly lore to hent the goad folk ealled to prayer and praise in hatmony, which is ley preferable to "Jammering pieces oft each otincr' in some hadly siruck oamplicated method. Yours truly,

Ј. W. 15.

\section*{ANOTHER FINE PEAL FOR NORTHAMPTONSHIRE,}

On Saturday week tise augmented peal of eight bells and a now elock at Irchester Parish Church were dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Peterthorough in the presence of a crowded congregation, which included about eighty ringers from a wide area, The service opened with the lymm, We lowe the place, \(O\) God,' and from the first moment that spirit scemed to dominate the soul-inspiring service. The lesson was read by the Rev. B. E. Owen, R.D., Fical of Higham Ferrers. After the hird Collect, the Bishop dedicated a heautiful processional cross given by a parishoner, also it momorial tablet to tho late Vicar of Irchester, and subseribed for by the parishioners. The choir, robed clergy, the churchwardens, followed ly the Bishop, then formed a procession to tho belfry, headed by the processional cross. After reading the tablet recording the gifts, The Bishop handed the rope of the treble bell to the Vicar, who gave two or three strokes upon il. The dedicatory prayers were then said, the bell was immediately raised, the other seven having been proficusly unised, and the bells started off with a few excellent Fonnds, followed by a splendidly struck course of Stedman Triples by the following members of the Wellingborongl Branch: A. Martin I, J. Cbapman 2, W. Perkins 3, G. Braforid 4, J. Garratt 5, J. R. Main B, A. Y. Tyler 7, O. Payne 8. The bells wore then straightway lowered in peal, and the nev clock dedicated, It had previously been ret el ahout a minute to three oclock, and the Bisliap, by releasing a cord, stated it again, and the Westminster chimas and Frotr allowed to slrike. After the dedicalory prayer, the procession relurned to the chancel, when the Hallolujali Chorus was renreblumed to the the choil.

The Bisbop then gave an excellent addross, in the cotrse of whieln ho sain it wras a great day for Irchester in receiving these magnificent gifts, and lae appealed to them not to lide them away as in a museum, but to treasure them and use them to the glory of God and of Blis Chanch.
Al the elase of the sorvice, the eight menbers who opened the peal fad the privilege of raising the bells and ringing a well-struck totach of Stedmar Triples.
A pablic tea was afterwards held in the schoolroom, nued again thero was a crowded 'house." It was a kind thourint on the part of the Ficar to make preparation for the large body of ringers in one of the clossrooms, and this was much apprecialed. Trea over, a fey glort speeches were made.

The Jishop, nsked to say a fow words, said he had already lutd his say in church, aud he did not fhink it necossury to say any mure except that it was a great pleasure to be with them on such an occasion us this, and that he had enjoyed the ofternoon.

Mr. L, learsous, one of the churchwardens, proposed \(\{\) volw at thanks to the Fislop, und, in cloing so, said be was a farmer, funl as they were famous for grumbling and grousing he hat one ion this occasion, and it was this, that they did not lave their Bishon will them of cen enongh.-Mr. Barber, secretary of the Wellingborough Braneh of the Peterborough Guild, seconded the vote ol blanks, and said ho felt honoured by the privilege, and he would like to congratulate the Vicar, churcliwardens and ithe good prople of Irchester on receiving these magnilicent gifts which had jush hanm dedicated by the Bishop, especially in regard to the ugmentation and rehanging of the bells. He especially thanked his lordship for conning to Irehester un a Saturday afternoon, as by so doing he hurd made it possible for such a number of the members of the Guild 10 ablend and lake part in that beautiful service of dedication. On behalf of those members, he siocerely thanked the donors of those glfts. He also said he felt sure all would agree when he gaid than great credit was dne to Jiessr's. John Taylor and Co. for the way in which they had carricd out their work, and for the excelleni splite of the three new bells, It couln be trublifaly said that [fchusler now possessed one of the tinest peals in the county. Some eighteen months ago the Rer. G. F. Westacott, president of thr Wellingbotough Branch, invited the Vicar of Ircheater to adidross it quertenly meeting, and during flat address ho said that, althourls the bells at Trehester haci not been rung for twenty-five yonrs, fie hoped it, would be possibie to do so in the near future, and thare they were that ady tuking parl in that great event. Ene thanked the Vicar for the great part that he had played in the scheme, foud played so well. He also appealed to those aboul to take up tho work of ringing these bells, aud hoped they would look upon iln: work a.s a duty and a privilege as well as a pleasure. Fic wishod them every success, and hoped they would become not onty gwol clange ringers, but also regular Sunday service ringers, and, ubnve all, loyal and true churchmen. He had very great pleasurc in seconding the vote of thanks to the Bishop.
Amongit those present were the Rev. C. R. Westacott (president of the Wellingborough Branch), Rev. R. C. Thursfield (presiant of the Kotiering Bramels), Rev. (3. (i. Thompson (Vichar of Wollastmo),

\section*{DEDICATION OF A PEAL TABLET AT MACCLTSTIELT}

During tha meeting of the Macelestioted Brameh of the thestor Diecesan Guild at Christ Ghurch, Macelesficld, on Saturday, Sopucusber EOth, the Vicay (Rev. S. J. IF: Sharples) dedicaled a peal Lablel recording a local peal of Grendsire Triples. Following tea, which was partaken of in the schonl, a short service was hold ins the chapol, and the Ficair gave an interesting hatk on the history of the charcia, which he satd was one of the finest examples of an English dimed in the country, Affer the hymn, the Vierr, followed by the ringers and friends (who numbered ahoul fifty), proceeded to the stairense leading to tha tower, where file tablet has heen fixed, aud lhust carriod out the dedication.

Mr. J. Narbary, secretary of the branch, congratulated the Clinist Church jingers on ringing tho peal, and said it was a feat for "strong', men of indomitable spirit to ring a peal on these eight bells, owing to the great sway of the tower.

A short touch of Grandsire Triples was then rung by the hath stamdigg in tho same order.
The tower, which is brick burite and is 120ft, higla, is reputan /a sway \(2 f t\) on cifler side of centre when the bels are rung. They are a fine peal of eiglt, with tenor \(23 \frac{1}{4}\) ewt.

\section*{TOWER BUILT OF SHIP'S TIMBER.}

GUILDFORD GUILD MEER AT QUAINT BELFRY.
In the diocese of Guildford there are just a few parishes which are: in the county of Hampshive, and one of these is Farnborough, better known throughout the country for its connection with Army aeroniutics. Farnborough has neror taken any conspicuous place in ringing annals, but its lower is of more than passing interest lo ringers, while fts bells, in years gone by, wera a source of 'amuspment' to those who attermpted to ring them. There is nothing imposing or oroamental about the tower, and were it not attached to a chureh a passer-by would hardly suspect that it was a belfry. It was crectel about three hundred years ago, and its stritcture consists crainly of old ships timbers. At each coraer is a massive vertioal member with its base embedded in concrele, and with dwarg supporting buttresses. These uprights may lave been oak trees 'squered up" for the purpose, bul there are indications in them that they also, like the cooss braces and tie beans, came from a ship-breaker's fard. From their condition to-day, after a lapse of eenturies, there is no question that these limbers were veritable 'hearts of oak.' It is hardly likely that there had bean any previous tower at this chtreh, for when it was added the west window of the church was blocked tup. Part of this window arch now forms a door from the galiery into the rirging room. There are other belfries of similur construction in Hampslire, notably at Yateley and Binsted, and the reason, of course, is found in the comparative proximity of Portsmonth and Sonthampton Water, where in those days the huilding aurl breaking up of wooden ships was a prosperous trade, and fram which cartage would lave been a fairly casy matten. Externally, Faraborough tower is uninteresting. It is covered with modorn oak weatlier-boarding and a slated roof.
The first bell that the tower contained, as far as is known, was east at Reading by Fenry Knight in 1619. Another bell bore the inseription, 'Prayes the Lord, 1633,' and snother, 'Love God, 1638. William Etdridge, of Cliertsey, was the fouader of one bell in 1699, probably to replace an oldel one, as it was the thitd of a litile ring of four. None of these bells remains to-day. They were (with the exception of William Eldridge's bell) recast in 1887, when a treble was added. At that time the old four bells hung in a line, so that the ropes hung in a straight line. The treble was away in a corner. In 1922 Messrs. Gillett and Johnston recast the 4 lh and rehung the bells in a modern steel frame for six, and in 1928 filfed the vacant pit with another treble. And so the bells stand to-day, quite e nice ittle ring, without modern Luning, with a tenor of 64 cwi., and going so lightly that they reguive delicato handling.
Tle first mecting which the Guildford Diocesen Guild lias helil at the clurch took place on Saturdsy, when nearly !hirty ringers were presenl from Aldershot, Farnham, Faruborough, Frensham, Hawley, Woking and Worplasdon, and excellent practice was pul in with Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Rob, Kent and Oxford Treble Boh and Gambudge Surprise Minor. Canon Challacombe, the Fector, welcomed the ringers in the tower, and subsoquently conducted the Guild service, at which the singing was led by the organ, in whicir Mr. T. A. Stroud, organist at Frensham and oge of the Gaild members, presided, one of the lingers acting as "blower.'
Afte toa at the Jubileo Hall, the Vicar presiden at the busizess meeting, when apologies were mado for the absence of the District Ringing Master (Mr. R. Hasted), owing to the iltness of hiis wife, and the Guild treasurer (Admiral T. P. Walker).
The meeting discussed the question of the sub-division of the district for the purpose of organising combined practices on the lines at. present operating in the Guildford District. II was resolved to group Hawley, Yorktown and Bagshot, with Me. H. Hunt ag convener; Atcershot, Ash, Farnborough and Seale, with Mr. W. Figgers as convener; and Farnham, Freasham, Crondall and Bentley, it being left to Farnlam tower to appoint a convener.
A cordial vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector, the organist and the 'blower,' the two former leaving it to the last-named to respont. Thanks were also given to Mr. Gasson and members of the ncal band for the arrangements made for the mecting.
The evening, up to eight o'elock, was deroted to further ringing, in the course of which some well-known members wrestied with the difficulties of making singles in Stadman Doubles, and others strugglod with the vagaries of Canbridge Minor; while some found it easier to bump the stays than to keep the bells off them. Bat evoryone fully enjoyed the proceedings.

\section*{DEATH OF A PENDLETON RINGER,}

We regret to amounce the death of Mr. Joseph Jowe, who, after a long illness, passed away on Seplember I4th on tho eve of his 60th birltaday. Mr, Lowe, who was a coaler, was kecnly interested in the new bells at Walkden, where he lived. He started as a ringer at Worsley, and, whon the old hand died out, he trausferred his affections to Pewdleton, where he altended as long as he was able. A. ways n keen strikel, woe betide anyone who was 'boiler making,' as he called it
The deceased was laid to rost at Walkdon, whon ringing friends acted as hearers, and the landbells were rung over the grave.

\section*{BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION \\ ANBRIDGE DEANERY DISCUSSES NON-PAYMENT OF SUBSCRIPTIONS.}

A rery successinl meeting of the Axbridge Deanery Branch was lsed at Axbridge un Saturday, September 27 th, thirty-cight menbers afteading from Weston-super-Mare, Bleadon, Congresbury, Murk, Uphill, Biddisham, Winscombe, Cheddar, Gompton Bishop Bumham-on-Sea, Axbridge, East Brent, West Pennard, Ubley, Loxton, Churchill, Compton Martin; Blagdon, Banwell and two visitors from Dursley and Gornwall. The peal of six were kepl going from 2.30 till 4.30 , when service was held in the church conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Owen Thomas), assisted by the president of the deanery (the Rev. Powys-David, Ficar of Bleadon). A splendid tee was provided at the Lamb Hotel, after whieh the business meeting was held, the president taking the chair.
It was agreed that the next meeting, being the annual, should be held at Burnham-on-Sea on Saturday, January loth. The Vicar of Axbridge expressed a desire to become an hon member, and his lectian was carried with applause
A question was asked the secretary why Congresbury bad been umitted in the anmual report, and comment was made that, though they were a litite late in payment of the subseriptions, the rules thotrd be waived and they should have been enteren.
Ay apen but very reasonable discussion took place on the sabject, wh various suggestions, one being that unpaid towers should be eutered with black mark. The Secretary expressed the riew wat some members did not appreciate the fact that until the secretary of a branch had received names and payment from respective towers lic conld not notify or help the general scoretary, whose no small task it was to publish a legitimate report. The seoretary suggested that in the event of non-payment of subsoriptions, should the towor concerned be able to furnish a reasonable excuse for delay, that tower should be included, but reports should bo withheld until payment was forthcoming. Memhers, however, must not assume thet such a poliey would automatically be adopted, as Rule 7 most be athered to until fle association thought fit to alter it. In conelusion, the Secretary emphasised the fact that no blame was attacherl to any secretary for noz-appearance of names in the reports providing sulberiptions for the year had not been paid, and that it was most miforlunate for all concerned that a discussion of that character hould be enteret upon. To put a black mark under towers who had ont pairl would, he felt, be absolutely disregarding the true spirit and endeavours of the assacintion.
The secretary was later asked to forward, on belalf of the meeting, it vate of sympathy to the Ficar of Brawell in his serious
Furlher discussion tooli place regarding the first annual dinner o be heta at the Cairo Fotel, Weston-sapor-Maro, ou Saturday, Tovember ISth. Consiclerable enthusiasm was shown, and there is he prospect of a really great social success.
Fotes of thanks were passed to the Ficar and organist for their kird help. the Vionr stitably respording for both.
The geveral secreliary, Mr. J. T. Dyke, sent a letter af apology for his inability to attend. Further ringing at Axhrige and Cheddar terminated what everyone agreed was a gool meeting.

\section*{RECORD' PTAE AT STANWELL}

A party of young ringers, whase average age was belween 18 and 19 years, started from Hillingdon Church on Saturday afternoon, and, after sheltering onen from a downpour of rain, reaclated Bed font at 3.30 , where they were joinen by bwo more from Faling. This church is of Angla-Saxon origin, most of it thought to have locen standing at the time of the Norman Conquest. The tower is of later date, with a small wooden tower top and spire. The bolls are a rather falso striking peal of six, anti go fairly well, the tonor being about 12 cwt. Touches of Stedman, Grandsire and Plain Boh Doubles and Bob Minor were rumg. Aftor the ringing, the Yiear's wife said they were very pleased to liear the bells again, as il had heen *ges siuce they were lase rung.
Stanwell, with its leaning spire, was reanhed at 4.30, nud here the band were met by thiee lonal ringers. After having a laok at the countryside from the top of the tower, the musical peat of five (tenor \(13 \mathrm{cwt)}\). by Menrs, were set going to Ciraudsire and Stedman Doubles and Bob Singles, with call ohanges to give the locals a ring. A board in the helf'y records the reeord poal or the hells. This was twa hours' call changes ly the local band with two men ous the tenow. Peal ringing would be rather difficult owing to the tremendous noise of the bells.
Harmondsworth was the last place risited, and alter refreshing themselves the ringors obtained the belfry key from the Tive Bells, and various methods were rung, inoluding a course of Grandsire Minor.

\section*{JAMES WASHBROOK'S GRAVE \\ To the Editor.}

Sir, - Yn answer to your corrcspondent re the late Mr. J. W. Wasttrook'g grave, there is nothing to mark it in P'lilips Park Cemetery, which is five miles from Pendleton and over a mile from Miles Platting, which two towers be most frequently attended. I am afraid the time is not opporture to ask Lancashire to subscribe to a stone. When the national appeal was made, we had the matter before us and decided to support that scheme, which we did to the sum of over £20. Since then we have had two mare local appeals, but if it is thought desirable, the commitice might take the matter up again. Whilst he was iu Manchester, Mr. Washbrook was not atitached to any tower, bnd turned up anywhere as fancy dictated atached to any tower, Bnd turned and his work would let bim.-Yours,
W. H. SHUKER,

Secretary, Lancashire Association.

\section*{SOMETHING SHOULD BE DONE}

Denr Sir, \(\operatorname{Tn}\) reply to ' \(A\) Noviee,' regarding the grave of the late James W. Wasthbrook, which was mentioned in the aceount of the Laucuskire vinging tour, an error seems to have been made, as the grave im stated to be at Pendlaton. This is not so. Mr. Washbrrook is buried at Philips Park Cemetery, Bradforö, Manchester. I believe Mr. I. Hall (hon. seerotary of the Manchester Branch of the Lanes Association) visits the grave quite frequently. I agree with 'A Novice' thatis something sloutld be done.--Yours

ㅍ. LONGDEN

\section*{PENDLERON WOULD CONTRIBUTE}

Dear Sir,-May I be allowed to correct the mismaderstanding that hite been cansed by the communication of 'W.F.F.' a few weeks ago. Hr was evidently misinformed, as James Washbrook is buried in Bradford Road Cemetery, Manchestor, and not at Pendleton. I might add that if the suggestion of 'A Novice' is taken up by the hancashire Association, Peudleton ringers will be only too pleased to contribute to the selleme.-Youra failhfully, CAPETOWN PRIEST RENEWS OLD ACQUADNTANCESHIL.

The Rev. F. F. do Lisle, who is in England for four mouths' holidny fram Capetown, and is renewing his acquaintance with ringing after an absencen of more than a qunter of a century, asks if there are any ringers still fiving whn tonk part in an attempt at a peal of Grandsire Triples at All Hallows', Barking, in, he thinks, 1881.
- The lati Rev. H. A. Cockey collected a band of College Youths so that I might ring a peal wilen 1 was twelve years old,' he writes. Anongst them were Mr. C. F. Winney, Murray nud Sam Hayes. We did not get the peal, not because Mit Winney or Murray or Sim Hayes (or eypn I) znade mistakes but beenuse the guageon of the treble broke after one and a half hours. However, I did get a penl soon after, but where it was I don't rememher.
- Since those tar-oft days I managed to ring some 25 peals of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters, Oxforal and Kent Treble Bob and Royal, nud one or two double-handed peals, including Holt's Original ns conductor.
- I lave heen in South Africa twenty-six years, and mast plead guility to having done no ringing. There is a nice little peal of eight at Woodstack, close to Capeiown, butt only one or two change ringers.

Howerer, my old enthusiasm has revived, through meeting several old ringing finends. Mr. Wimney and the other College Youths

\section*{DEATH OF MR. GEORGE SALTER.}

\section*{OLD KIDDERMINSTER RINGER PASSES AWAY IN IRELAND.} It is with regret that we rocord that Mr: Gearge Saller (brotleer of Mr. T. J. Salter, of Kidderminster' died at Waterford, Ireland, on Tuesday, Seplember 23rd, in his 62nd ycar. He commenced to ring at Wolverley, a six-bell tower, in 1884, and joined the Kidderminster hand in 1887. He rang his first peal, Grandsire Triptes, tim October 10th, 1888, which was reputed to bo the firat peal on the hells by a local band since 1765. He took part in the first perls of Stehman Triples, Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge and Landon Surprise for the Wornestershire Association.

He left Kidderminster for Bangor in 1907, later moved to Dullin. and finally settled down at Waterford, where for some years lie was in charge of the Cathedral beils. Fe took part in the first peals of Stedman Caterg and Bob Royal rung in Irclanel, his total numpler of peals being about eighty.

\section*{MORE 'ADVICE' ON BELLS.}

In a recent article we referred to the manner in which the well-intentioned but, in our opinion, sometimes mis directed endeavours of antiquarians, in regard to chureh bells and bell hanging, are passed on to the public as if they were the purely expert and only proper ciew of the way in which restoration work should be approached. The gentlemen whose primary mission in life is to preserve ancient rings, irrespective, it sometimes seems, of whether or not they have outlived their original objent and their utility, seem able to obtain the widest publicity for their recommendations, both through a variety of organisations and the public Press. They are able by the means at their command-we do not blame them for availing themselves of it-to reach the people who, su far as they are concemed, really matter and they are thus left, almost without the possibility of contradiction, to carry on their propaganda to a degree which, unless something is done to counteract it, may some day make the necessary recasting of bells, and indeed of any restorkttion work on modern lines, extremely diflicult to promote.

The latest excursion into the realm of 'atlvice" in connection with church bells comes from the 'Central Council for the Care of Churches.' It has just issued its fonth report upon ' The Protection of our English Churches, in the course of which many matters, from the distempering of walls to the use of foral decorations and the rebuilding of organs, are dealt with. We, however, are concerned only with the reference to bells, and this is the 'advice' which is given: 'In all cases where alterations to bells, bell frames or their supports are concerned the Central Council regard it as essential that tho, advice of an architect skilled in work of this kind be sought in the first instance, belore any bell founder is asked to visit the church. The hope is expressed that? diocesan advisory committees will carefully recommend available architects in each locality whom they know from experience to be competent to deal with towers and bells." This quotation is taken from "The Times review of the Council's Report.

It will be a sorry day indeed if all bell restorations are to wait until an archited skilled in work of thi, kind ' is called in. We say it with no distespect to the profession, but, with extremely few exceptions, architects do not know the first thing about bell hanging. Bell hanging is not an architect's job at all ; it is an engineering job, and the sooner those folk who are so ready to give advice realise this the better. The Central Counci! for the Care of Churches may be competent to express an opinion upon the asthetic taste displayed in the (Continued on page 646.)

JOHN NICOLL.
Church Bell Rove and Clock Rope Manutacturer, 64, LEWISHAM PARK, LONDON, S.E. 13 Late of BERMONOSEY aad PECKHAM.

Maker to St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey, Imperial Insti. tute, Canterbury, Edinburgl, St. Albans, Lincoln, Durham, Peter boroligh, Melbourna (Australia), Rochester, Dublin, St. Patricir's, Manchester, Durban, and Warcester Cathedrals, etc, ete.

Muffers, Rlnging Mats, Matilng, Flag Lines, etc., etc.
erection of memorial tablets or stained glass wingows, but it is quite obvious that their knowledge in regard to bells is of an extremely limited kind. Where is the architect who could be called in and, without the atd of a bell founder, say whether it was possible to retunt a bell; how many architects, without consulting a be'l hanger, could tell at Parochial Church Council how te rectify a bad groing ring of bells, and what the possibite cost would be; and how many could competently design a bell frame throwing the minimum of stress upon a tower while retaining the necessary circle for the rupes and the proper facilities lor ringring the bells? These are some of the simplest problems which bell founders have to deal with, but unless an architect has proved his competency in those things he certainly cannot be said 10 be 'skilled in work of this kind." Bell hanging is not. simply a case of patting sirders into a stone structure to carry certain dead weights. As we have said before, bells are moving machinery and the man to be called in in the first instance is the bell engineer. The free advise which is issuing in such a prolific strean just now through various chamels-although it may be largely from one source-will eventually have a reaction on bell restoration work unless something is dene 10 qualify it. Cannot the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers bake some step to reach 'those whomatter' and tell them the bald truth about these things?
