1963 — A MEMORABLE YEAR

IN the ringing calendar of posterity the year 1963 will rank as outstanding. Dwarfing everything else was the ringing of the extent of Major (40,320 changes) on July 27th/28th at Loughborough Bell Foundry Campanile in 17 hours 58½ minutes. The feat was regarded by many as outside the ambit of human endeavour. Robert B. Smith, the conductor, will go down to posterity. With him were two others—John M. Jelley and Neil Bennett—who had taken part in the 32,704 peal; but the late selection of a 17-year-old grammar school boy, Frederick Shallcross, was a surprising yet justified selection. He is certainly no longer 'an up and coming youngster.' This peal has not ended long length attempts. There have been quite a number with mixed results.

In a year when new methods were a weekly occurrence and Spliced Major Surprise a regularity in various parts of the country, another peal we feel will be quoted in the future is that of 143 Spliced Minor methods rung at Castle Eaton on December 2nd, conducted by Anthony R. Peake. It was the culmination of a succession of spliced multi-Minor peals.

Before leaving peals—there was another 1,000-peal ringer in Jack L. Millhouse, of Lincoln, and also the 1,000th peal rung in a tower, the Bell Foundry Campanile at Loughborough. In these 1,000 peals, 770 ringers had taken part and 60 different methods were rung.

While 'the Exercise' side of ringing is flourishing, judging by the number of peals and quarter peals published, mention should be made of the many performances associated with the death of President J. F. Kennedy. Ringers expressed the nation's sympathy in a remarkable manner. Gratifying is the flow of recruits, judged by sales of the Central Council's publication Beginners' Handbook, which reached 1,681 copies.

It has been a good year for English bell-founders. The focus of their achievement has been the provision of bells for Washington Cathedral. A carillon of 53 bells with a Bourdon bell of 10½ tons was sent across the Atlantic, and also a ring of ten bells which were opened on October 20th with an English instructor in charge. This and a new ten for Groton School constitute a challenge to America to take up change-ringing. The influence of this country was seen in another way. Mr. Frederick Sharpe, who this year completed six years as President of the Central Council, to be succeeded at Great Yarmouth by Canon Gilbert Thurlow, was invited to America as the guest speaker at the eighth convention of the American Guild of Handbell Ringers. Although as an exponent of handbell ringing he holds a unique position, in this country his selection as President of the Central Council, which is primarily interested in the change-ringing side of ringing, was because of his expert knowledge of church bells, both historically and as exemplified by the work of the Towers and Belfries Committee. Tunc ringing on handbells has not a place in the Central Council activities, and we do not think it will be generally acceptable unless handbell ringing plays, as it does in many American churches, an integral part in the music of church worship.

Probably the most important addition in this country was the new 12 at Tewkesbury on April 5th, with a tenor of 27 cwt. Two other eights were at St. Peter's, Harrogate, and St. Clement's, Hastings; there were new bells at Thames Ditton and other minor rings.

The Central Council meeting at Great Yarmouth will be remembered not merely for the Vicar becoming the national President but for the last address to the Council by Mr. E. H. Lewis. In it he recalled a speech he made 50 years ago. His knowledge has added new principles in bell hanging. For 27 years he was national President, and ringers from all over the country attended the memorial service at St. Giles', Cripplegate, on November 2nd. Of Mr. Lewis it can be said he portrayed to Church leaders a new conception of English ringers that has brought about a different relationship between the incumbent and the belfry.

There were other deaths of note: Thomas H. Taffender, for 50 years Master of the London County Association; A. Charles Hazelden, convener of the Biographies Committee of the Central Council; H. W. Lidbetter, Frank Oakshott, Wilfred J. Newman and Lewis W. Wiffin. One most keenly felt was that of Derek Ogden, aged 30, president of Manchester University Society. Ireland had its loss by the passing in the belfry of St. Patrick's Cathedral of T. McMorran.

Social activities were very numerous. There were three tours in Ireland, Pipe's Pilgrims in Southern England, Wilfrid Williams' in Devon, Cambridge University Guild in Cornwall, the Clerical Guild in West Midlands, Tom Lock's in the North East, and many others. What was, however, very impressive was the Coventry Cathedral rally on April 20th, attended by 1,600 ringers. Much has been omitted of 1963 happenings; but memories will be refreshed by the publication later of 'The Ringing World' Index, and readers will then be able to place in their own relative importance the different happenings of the year.

LET'S DROP IN ON SOMERSET

The city of Salisbury is notable in that its Cathedral has the highest steeple in the British Isles and the emptiest tower. Salisbury, nevertheless, was chosen as headquarters for a ringing tour in Wiltshire and Somerset during the second weekend in November, by two minibus loads of hopeful ringers from Kent and Surrey. They left on Friday evening and after an evening meal at a Chinese restaurant in Guildford reached their final destination at about 11 p.m. All slept soundly that night, except Hilary Martin who woke up around 3 a.m. to find her room full of green dragons; but these quickly disappeared when Bob Hinde arrived on the scene.

The weekend's ringing commenced on Saturday morning at Warminster where, under the leadership of Stewart Kimber, we rang Plain Bob, Bristol, Stedman and Yorkshire. Despite good reports of the bells at Frome, our second tower, they were not really above average, the rattling of the tenor being particularly disconcerting. But with Colin Tester encouraging us, we rang London, Grandsire, Rutland and three leads of Bristol.

The bells of Evercreech must be almost equally well-known to ringers and non-ringers alike, and we thought they sounded just as nice 'in the tin' as it were, as 'from the can.' It could be said that our party was divided into two camps—the self-confessed exponents of Royal and Maximus and the protagonists of Minor and Major, with a small overspill from each to the other—and following a well-struck touch of Grandsire Caters, the Royalists, led by Frank Darby, took hold for London. After some initial crashing around, in which Nick Martin figured prominently, all seemed to be going well but, about half-way through the course, a fire-up occurred and Mr. Darby reluctantly advised his men to surrender. Then, with the assistance of some recreant Roundheads, half a course of Cambridge was completed, and we attempted to lower in peal, but again Nicholas failed to make the grade, this time on the treble, and he retired in some confusion from the tower before the tenor was half-way down.

We acquitted ourselves well on the cool eight at Dicheat, and rang Plain Bob, Six Spliced, Surprise and a touch of Stedman and then, with Nick standing beside him, notling sagely from time to time, Stewart Kimber demonstrated the manner in which bells should be trebled down in peal. Bob Hinde had arranged a sandwich lunch in the nearby Manor House Inn, and we all enjoyed beer, cider, sandwiches, pickled onions and Cornish pasties, at half the usual prices.

The most notable tower, as far as the Minor ringers were concerned, was the 36 cwt. six at Queen Camel, which had been anticipated with the greatest pleasure, and courses of Cambridge, Plain Bob, Little Bob and Double Caave were rung. Dave Manger and Andy Macve rang this heavy tenor with their usual consummate skill, but we could not fail to observe the evident distress experienced by the unhappy Mr. Martin when he tried. The fine old Abbey at Sherborne was next on our programme and on the loud and heavy eight we rang successful courses of Plain Bob, London and Grandsire, and ended with three leads of Bristol.

The church of Wimborne St. Giles will of course be familiar to those ringers related to Lord Shaftesbury, for it stands on his land. Although we were not actually welcomed by his Lordship, nor were we invited back to the ancestral home for evening cocktails afterwards, our visit was nevertheless worth while, if only for the pleasure of ringing the bells. We didn't have much time here, but managed a good touch of six Spliced Surprises, and then some Plain Bob.

After Wimborne, our party split up, one vanload going to the practice at St. Thomas', Salisbury, and the other to seek much needed nourishment. Strangely enough, however, we met again later, quite accidentally, in the local Chinese nosh bar: all except Dave Manger (and friend) who disappeared into the wilderness in search of less exotic food.

Sunday was Remembrance Day, and we rang at St. Paul's, Salisbury, before attending the Remembrance Service at the Cathedral. After lunch, we left Salisbury and made a quick dash to Winchester Cathedral where we were due to ring at 2.30 p.m. Stedman Cinques was not very successful, nor was Cambridge Maximus (despite the strong contingent of College Youths), but we managed Grandsire Cinques and rounds. Our last tower was an unscheduled grab at Farnham, where we were allowed to join the local band for Evensong ringing.

This was an excellent weekend, enjoyed by all. Bob Hinde's organisation (and driving) was faultless and we are indebted to him for the trouble he took to ensure that all went smoothly. We should also thank Colin Tester, Stewart Kimber and Dave Manger, who shared the driving. J. D. F.

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Although the first snow of the winter had fallen only a few days previously, a small but representative gathering of ringers was present when the annual meeting of the Chesterfield District was held at Old Whittington on December 14th. Ringing to suit all tastes took place on the light (5 cwt.) six before the company of over 25 adjourned to the Church Hall for an excellent tea prepared by the wives and friends of the local company.

The secretary's report, at the business meeting, showed a welcome revival of interest during 1963, with over 35 new members. The chairman, Mr. F. Adams, indicated his wish to retire, as he had been in office for almost 20 years. Accepting his resignation with reluctance, the meeting unanimously decided to mark his long period of service by electing him an honorary life member.

The District Committee for 1964 was elected as follows: Chairman, Mr. D. Cooper (Bolsover); committee: Mr. G. N. Goodall (Dronfield) and Mr. C. J. Hughes (Old Whittington); Ringing Master, Mr. A. Keller (Bolsover); secretary, Mr. M. Phipps (Chesterfield). Following the election of Stephen and Paul Stanton (Clowne) as ringing members and Mr. A. Smith (Staveley) as an honorary member, the meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Rector, the Rev. J. L. Davies, the local company and ladies for providing tea. Most of the company attended Compline before further ringing was enjoyed until 9 p.m.

Next meeting: Staveley, January 11th (provisional). M. P. P.

THE NORWICH ASSOCIATION

As Loddon bells were only available during the afternoon, the evening ringing took place at Raveningham, a nearby five bell tower, at the Eastern Branch's meeting on December 7th.

The service, which was held at Loddon, was conducted by the Vicar (Canon C. R. Ninham), the lesson read by the Association president (Mr. N. Golden) and the organist was Canon Gilbert Thurlow.

The short business meeting was presided over by the Branch chairman (Miss D. Lidbetter), who proposed the vote of thanks, which included Mrs. H. W. Barrett and her helpers for an excellent tea.

Mr. G. Walpole, the Ringing Master at Norton Subcourse, said he hoped that work on rehanging the six bells would be carried out in the near future. The chairman congratulated Canon Thurlow on being appointed to the Residentiary Canonry of Norwich Cathedral, and reminded members that the Branch annual meeting was being held at Great Yarmouth, February 8th. N. P. J. C.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Three new members—the Misses Bevan, Pidgeon and McGinty—were elected when the Western District of the Guild met at Radstock on December 14th. Miss S. Lewis was transferred to the Midland District.

The vote of thanks was proposed by Mrs. De Jong to the Rev. N. E. Mitchell for conducting the service, to Mr. Carter and the ladies for an excellent tea. H. K.

LONG LENGTH ATTEMPT CALLED ROUND

The attempt to call the longest peal of Royal 'in hand' at Marple, Cheshire, on December 14th, was called round at 13.320 changes, which took 7 hours and 2 minutes to ring.

Ringers settled down and the first 10,000 changes were perfectly satisfactory, but afterwards we began to miss the odd dodge. Rather than pass the existing record with a peal that would give us the slightest doubt about its superiority we shortened the peal after the 7th part. The peal was conducted by Neil Bennett. BOB SMITH.

TOWER GRABBERS' CHANCE

An esteemed reader suggests that if we publish a list of leading peal ringers for the year we should also consider printing a subsidiary list of people who have rung in 100 towers during the year.

I feel that the "tower grabber" should have his efforts publicly acknowledged in "The Ringing World" just as the peal grabber, he writes.

After taking part in several very enjoyable expeditions to lesser known towers, I am more than ever convinced that such outings do an immense amount of good. They help to keep certain towers in ringing order, when they might otherwise become "unringable" through lack of use. From remarks passed at the time, local people are delighted to hear their bells being rung—perhaps for the first time for several months. Such outings also give youngsters an experience on a wide variety of bells and an added interest to their ringing.

[To give tower grabbers a chance we will publish in February a list of those who have rung in 100 towers or more during 1963. Write name, tower, number in 1963, total in brackets. We do not want lists of towers.]

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The A.G.M. of the Chew Branch was held at Wrington (10) on December 7th, when ringing preceded the Association service, conducted by the Rector, the Rev. B. Lee.

Tea was served to some 40 members and friends in the Village Hall, after which the business meeting was chaired by Mr. H. W. Knight. The secretary, Mr. D. Yeo, reported a slight rise in membership, which now stood at 208, including three associate members. All affiliation fees had been paid.

Officers elected for 1964 were as follows: Chairman and Ringing Master: Mr. H. W. Knight; vice-chairmen: Messrs. C. Bishop and L. Derrick; secretary: Mr. D. G. Yeo; reporter, Mr. J. Brain. The Rev. J. Ramsey (Easton-in-Gordano) and J. Webb (Ubley) were elected members. Subject to permission, the April quarterly meeting will be held at Long Ashton, with practice meetings at Portbury (January), Barrow Gurney (February) and Weston-in-Gordano (March). The proposal to hold the 1964 striking competition at Nempnett Thrubwell on May 23rd was approved. The Branch supported the nomination of Mr. G. W. Massey, of Frome, as peal secretary, with effect from the next Association A.G.M. at Minehead.

In giving details of Branch peals and quarters, Mr. Brain mentioned the creditable performance of the Portbury band in ringing the first peal on the bells since 1907.

College of Campanology Registrar Killed

Mr. David Peter Jones (23), motoring home on December 17th to his widowed mother, Mrs. E. H. Jones, for the Christmas vacation from Shrewsbury School, where he was serving on the teaching staff, was tragically killed within a few miles of his Portsmouth destination, in circumstances in which it appears he was entirely blameless.

He had been for some time the registrar of the College of Campanology, having taken up ringing while at Oxford, where he gained an honours degree in physics.

He was a devoted teacher, and had been torn between continuing in his post and going to Sussex University next summer to take his Doctorate of Philosophy.

A former pupil of Portsmouth Southern Grammar School, he, like his elder brother John, won an open scholarship to Balliol. He was a gifted musician, playing piano and organ. He made rapid progress in ringing, and was a member of the Portsmouth Cathedral Guild; to which he had introduced his mother, who learned to ring there, and has become the Guild secretary.

The College extends its sympathies to the family. Mr. Jones' death means a loss not only to ringing but also to his profession.

MR. NORMAN A TOMLINSON APPRECIATIONS

The death of Norman A. Tomlinson removes from our midst one more member of a Ringing Society, at Christ Church, Southgate, which in its hey-day reached a level of performance at the least comparable with any other then local band. Apart from continuously regular Sunday service ringing the Society rang, on April 17th, 1926, a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal, in those days no mean achievement: Norman ringing the sixth. He rang his first peal of Plain Bob Major at Southgate on September 28th, 1905, in which year he commenced his lifelong membership of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild. Of this body he was Ringing Master, North and East District, from 1924 to 1929. In this latter year he married Miss P. A. Upsher, a ringer from nearby Edmonton, who took part in the first peal of Stedman Caters rung by the Ladies' Guild.

Norman died on December 16th, 1963, aged 77 years, and was buried in Southgate Cemetery, within sound of the bells he loved for so long. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells over the open grave by A. W. Coles 1-2, M. F. Lock 3-4, T. J. Lock 5-6, H. G. Hart 7-8, whilst S. G. Peck (Southgate) and R. Newman (Holloway) were also present. A memorial touch on the tower bells will be rung at a later date.

To his widow and daughter, members of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild extend their sincere sympathy in the loss of such a faithful and long standing fellow member.

T. J. L.

Norman was born 77 years ago, and entered the ringing room in his early teens. With such men as Sid Wade, W. Pickworth, the brothers Millar, J. H. Armstrong, G. Bester and A. Glasscock in attendance, he soon made progress in the art of change ringing. After the First World War Mr. and Mrs. George W. Fletcher, W. Bowden and John Nash were very regular ringers at Christ Church with him. From the outset he was in with a good band. He always tried to pass on to others who were not so well versed in the art, the knowledge he had and consequently was often found on practice nights at St. John-the-Baptist, Barnet, All Hallows', Tottenham, St. Mary the Virgin, Monken Hadley, or for any special ringing.

From his very early years, he was a member of the local lodge of the Manchester Unity Independent Order of Oddfellows, but his health was so poor during the last few years of his life that he was obliged to give up all his activities and was seldom seen in the ringing or lodge rooms. He leaves a widow and one daughter to mourn his passing, not to mention those who knew him so well. The ringing fraternity can ill afford to lose such people as Norman, but time passes on and waits for no man.

MR. JAMES FREDERICK GEORGE

By the sudden death of Fred George, at the age of 76, Ilkeston has lost the valued services of an old and esteemed ringer. Fred was admitted to the Nottingham General Hospital three weeks ago for an operation, and after making a good recovery was on the point of being discharged when he suffered a fatal heart attack early on Sunday, December 8th.

He was a ringer at St. Mary's for nearly 60 years and, although not a prolific peal ringer, he had about 60 peals to his credit for the old Midland Counties Association. His main concern was for Sunday service ringing, and he could always be relied upon to attend twice every Sunday unless prevented by illness.

On the formation of the Ilkeston District of the Derbyshire Association in 1946, Fred was elected chairman, and held this office with credit for six years.

The Ilkeston ringers and his many friends in the District, mourn the loss of a very sincere friend and servant of the church.

The funeral was at St. Mary's on December 13th, followed by cremation at Derby, and to mark the sad occasion the bells of St. Mary's were rung half-muffled by members of the Ilkeston District.

MR. P. L. PARSLow

Percy Parslow died at his home in Watford on December 16th: he would have been 77 next month.

Learning to ring at Mitcham, he came to Watford a few years before the First World War and joined the band at St. James', Bushey, in the days of Bertram Prewett. He had thus been a ringer at Bushey for some fifty years.

In his day, Percy was an excellent ringer, particularly in Stedman Triples. Except for the annual outing he rarely went out ringing, and had rung few peals: the most notable probably being the only peal of Original Triples, which was rung at Bushey in 1926, conducted by Maurice Hibbert. He was a most regular attendant for service ringing on Sundays, travelling over three miles each way, generally by bus, in all weathers. Last year he suffered a severe accident, in which his arm was broken, but as soon as he could get about he returned to the heltry, some weeks before he was able to ring. He rang for the last time the day before he died.

Percy was a quiet, modest man, and a very likeable character. By his passing the band loses not only a link with the past, but also a very faithful supporter. The deepest sympathy is extended to his widow and family.

C. W. W.

SCARBOROUGH, YORKS.—On Dec. 14th, 2.160 Plain Bob Minor (tenor cover): G. Beach 1, W. Fay 2, E. P. King 3, M. King 4, S. Wright 5, B. Sutton 6, F. D. Murray 7. Half-muffled as a token of respect for the late Vicar, Canon D. Oxy Parker (d. 12-12-63).

QUEX PARK SOCIETY

A cold, crisp day saw the annual meeting of the Quex Park Society recently. Arriving early afternoon in the square we were met by the mini and taken over to the tower, which was just as well, as the footpath, so long known to generations of ringers, has now fallen to the endless need for more building land. One was hoping that the fire was going, and we were not disappointed, half way up the chimney as usual. As someone remarked, it was all right after we had burnt the birds' nests out.

Two attempts for a quarter of Stedman failed during the afternoon, it was then decided that it was tea that was required. Enough to feed twice as many as there were there. It must have been the tea, the quarter was rung immediately after. Tony Bridges calling his first quarter in good style. It was soon decided that more refreshment was wanted and so we got down to the serious business of the day, the meeting.

Birchington Bert Luck was the bartender, and Canterbury Bert Luck the chairman of the meeting. The business was transacted in the usual serious manner, there being one or two discussions which were more than interesting. Jack Russell was reappointed secretary and captain. Tony Bridges vice-captain, Ted Milstead steeplekeeper (after all he works on the estate and can keep a handy eye on things).

Regret was expressed that Frank Carter was moving to Warwickshire before the end of the year. Frank said that he would be sorry to leave as he would miss all the ringers, and above all being present at the annual meeting, which, he said, must be unique in the country.

By this time we were getting suitably warmed by the fire and the refreshments, so the rest of the evening was given over to singing, this year with an increased orchestra, three recorders instead of two. All the old favourite songs and carols were done—with great gusto! Two members got in some furious practice on the handbells for the staff party at the Mansion nearer Christmas, the rest of the party telling them how to ring them or what to ring. We had to leave at ten o'clock, but were warmed on our journey by the lusty singing still coming from the tower.

OUTING

ST. WENDREDA'S, MARCH

Four towers in South-West Lincolnshire were visited by March ringers during their traditional Christmas outing on December 21st. The first was Witham-on-the-Hill, home of Lincolnshire's mightiest oak, with a circumference of 45 feet. An enjoyable hour was spent on the bells, which have been recently rung, before moving on to All Saints', Stamford. This church has been largely enriched by Americans whose ancestors emigrated from Stamford. Tea followed in an old-world restaurant.

Uffington Church has recently spent several hundreds of pounds on its bells, and these proved to be a popular ring. In the churchyard lies a 10-year-old boy who fell from an ass in 1815. The inscription on his tomb reads:

Farewell relations, tutor all:

And take warning by my sudden fall:

Let your whole life sincerely pious be,

For who can tell how soon you'll follow me.

Ringing concluded on the melodious six at Deeping St. James, where the party was met by the Rector and local ringers. Included in the ringing during the outing were Kent and Oxford T.B., Cambridge and Norwich Surprise. Happy New Year to incumbents and those who met the party.

Long Length of Yorkshire Royal

Dear Sir,—As I have never met Mr. Ainsworth, I am therefore in no position to judge his integrity, even if I wished to do so. It may interest him to know, however, that I follow the activities of a few of this generation's young ringers with keen interest, he being one of them, and in most cases I have gained a good impression. In his own case my impression of him has been gained by his activities with the Birmingham ringers. I have known these ringers, past and present, since the late 1920's and have rung several peals with them, plus other occasions. Their standard of ringing I know to be very high and this was especially so in the 1930's and immediately after the war. They would not tolerate bad striking, especially in peal attempts. So my impression of Mr. Ainsworth has been a good one, though in fairness to myself I must state I have not visited Birmingham since 1952, but see no reason to believe their standard has deteriorated in any way.

Having said this, let us now come to the reason for this correspondence, that of the attempt for the long length of Yorkshire Royal and the ringing of two ordinary length peals when this attempt had failed.

Seven courses rung before deciding the standard of ringing was not good enough, followed immediately by proudly proclaiming the ringing of two ordinary length peals. I ask you! Surely Mr. Ainsworth did not expect such a statement to get by without being questioned? If two peals could be rung at a satisfactory (to them) level of ringing, what presented them from making another attempt that day for the 21,000 changes, as there was plenty of time? I cannot really accept this statement and instead of Mr. Ainsworth stating—I quote—'If W. J. is a ringer of experience he will know, etc.' I am going to suggest the fault lies in that it was the result of his own inexperience (a phase we all go through when young) in not selecting a band who could at once settle down to a rhythm on any ring of bells, light or heavy, ringers who knew the method from A-Z, and who could at once put themselves right if by chance they made a trip. There are plenty of ringers today with all these capabilities!

Now I will make a suggestion. If Mr. Ainsworth is contemplating making another attempt for this long length, he should make it on a ring of men's bells. This will—if successful—take a couple of hours or so longer, but he will be well compensated by having something well worth listening to as well as having done something well worth doing.

Think it over, Mr. Ainsworth.

I can visualise the ghost of bygone stalwarts of Loughborough Parish Church walking the heltry floor when these attempts are on, and the bells above quietly humming their version of a current song:

'Where have all the ringers gone,
Gone to the Foundry every one.
When will they ever learn?' etc.

I do not intend to pursue this subject any further, but hope to ring a good twelve bell peal with Mr. Ainsworth and enjoy a pint of beer in the 'local' afterwards, where I am sure we shall both gain a little more experience or, at least, think we have.—Yours faithfully,

WALTER JUDGE (W. J.).

Oxon.

Youngest Peal Conductor

Dear Sir.—In reply to the inquiry of Mr. Geo. Fry concerning the youngest peal conductor, I believe the honour belongs to either Roderick W. Pipe, of Grundisburgh, or Donald L. Mills, of Bures.

D. L. Mills commenced bob calling aged 12 and conducted his first peal just after his 13th birthday. Being an important time of his education his composing and peal conducting was curtailed, but in spite of this he managed to conduct Major, including several Surprise methods from all eight positions. He had the pleasure of being proposed to the College Youths by a well-known back-ender when he was 16 but also had the disappointment of attending a well-known tower on practice night and was not allowed a rope.

Whilst writing might I suggest that the Central Council compiles an 'In Memoriam' of all peals and quarters to present to the family of the late President Kennedy. Done by hand, it would be even more impressive; the cost to be met by subscription. The Americans have been more than generous to our restorations: let us prove our gratitude.—Yours faithfully,

L. D. MILLS.

Bures, Suffolk.

Nomenclature

Dear Sir.—I hope that nobody would be able to ring Belgrave Maximus as a 12th place lead end method as suggested by Mr. John E. Cook (page 812). He means, of course, that not many people could ring it by knowing that the half-lead is firsts place and not elevenths as in Yorkshire.

I entirely agree that a name used in a peal of spliced should stand when the method is rung to a whole peal, and changing names makes the keeping of records somewhat difficult as has been amply proved in the past. The point in his third paragraph has been adequately dealt with to most people's satisfaction by the rules on extension, as the recent controversy over the name Durham has shown.—Yours sincerely,

D. G. SIBSON.

The Old Clock Tower, Hackney

Dear Sir,—Perhaps other readers will be interested to learn of the clock bell in the Clock Tower, Hackney.

It is approximately 2 feet 3 inches diameter, supported by a wooden headstock on a wood frame. Around the bell is the inscription J. WARNER & SON, CRESCENT FOUNDRY LONDON. 1857. whilst on one side of the bell is a Royal Coat of Arms with the word PATENT underneath.

Has anyone information about the Crescent Foundry, etc. Sad to say, the bell is not working as the public in the vicinity disagreed in having to hear the hours struck.—Yours sincerely,

L. B. J. HUNTLEY,

Secretary.

St. John-at-Hackney Ringers.

St. Clement's, Hastings

Dear Sir.—Well done, Hastings, with a new ring of eight instead of the old steel bells. For the sake of the record may I point out that the steel bells were installed in 1863, and all of them bore the same inscription: 'Cast steel Naylor Vickers and Co. 1863. E. Reipe's patent.'—Yours sincerely,

WM. SHEPHERD.

Addlestone, Surrey.

Burslem Delight

Dear Sir,—The method rung at Attenborough on November 23rd is not an extension of Burslem D.M., for the following two reasons.

When the treble dodges in 7-8, a completely new sub-section, 14-14, is introduced, which is not present in Burslem Delight Minor.

In all extensions of Minor methods with 5ths place at the half-lead, the pivot place of the Major must be 7ths under the treble.

Perhaps this obvious complete disregard for Central Council Decisions on Method Extension can be rectified immediately by a change of name.—Yours sincerely, Windsor. FRANK T. BLAGROVE.

Unknown Articles

Dear Sir,—Mr. Hudson's essay, 'Campanology—Art or Science?' raises an important question. Since the war there have been many individual attempts at programming various computers for different tasks—it seems there could well be more rapport between the people having valuable access to these instruments, since there is so much that can be done and is being done in certain quarters.

Further than this, I think young or would-be composers and dabblers in figures would benefit from a more complete knowledge of what has already been achieved (and even attempted) in the way of ringing theory, whether general or specific. What would aid this would be a series of reprints of age-old essays, letters and articles which have appeared in 'The Ringing World' over years and years and which, without a lot of searching and copying, remain unavailable.

These reprints could well be accompanied by comments from an eminent present-day composer who specialises in the field in question. All too rarely do such articles appear—the last I recall was Halls and Carlisle's on 'Composing Cambridge'—which could well be followed by many others. How many people, I wonder, are aware how to call a peal of Spliced 'Cambridge-up' ringing Middleton's and 'making it up as they go along'—getting a true peal?—Yours, etc.,

Chalfont St. Giles. G. B. THOMPSON.

Lapsed Members

Dear Sir,—For as long as I have been a ringer and long before that, the 'lapsed member', to use an Irishism, has been with us. I should imagine all ringing Guilds and Associations when they hold their annual meetings make some reference to the number of lapsed members yet I cannot recall any motion being put forward to consider how this wastage can be reduced.

I do not suppose, for a moment, there is a simple answer as the reasons for 'dropping out' are many and varied. In these enlightened days it should not be impossible to do something about it. In the main I think the chief cause of loss is due to the inability of 'instructors' to 'put it over.' It is surprising the number of recruits who are unaware of the advantages of being a ringer and the pleasures they can experience through the art—too many of us who have experienced these pleasures are apt to take them for granted and do not tell others.

The season for A.G.M.'s is approaching so might I suggest that Branches start some movement at their level which will reduce the number of lapsed members. Could we not have a Branch liaison officer who could contact our erring members, find out the reason for the lapse, then, if possible, remove that reason?

When we know the cause, perhaps we can find a cure but until we do find one the number of lost members will not be reduced.—Yours,

Loughborough

Christmas Day Broadcast

Dear Sir.—The Christmas broadcast was in my opinion the best so far produced. My hearty congratulations to all concerned.

As regards criticism, the ringing performance of Market Drayton was outstanding. It would be difficult indeed to emulate their performance.

Apsley End was to a degree disappointing and probably this was perhaps due to the 'slowing down' of the recording. The ten of Christ Church, Swindon, were rung too quickly, but despite this the standard was very good.

The remaining three (St. Patrick's, Coleraine, St. Teilo's, Llandeilo, and Dunblane Cathedral) were well received, with the Stedman sounding particularly good from Dunblane Cathedral.

In conclusion it was most disappointing not to have heard Lincoln Cathedral, and to emphasise this no reason was given for their exclusion by the B.B.C.—Yours, etc.,

K. R. DUNSTAN.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD North Dorset Branch

The annual meeting of the Branch was held at Mere on December 14th, and attended by 34 ringers, including visitors from Berkshire, Wiltshire and Somerset.

The fine-sounding eight were raised at 3 p.m. and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung until the Guild Office at 4.30 p.m., which was conducted by the chairman, the Rev. R. G. Chaffey Moore. The lesson was read by the vice-chairman, the Rev. R. A. Wells, and the address given by the Vicar, the Rev. N. E. E. Johnson.

Tea was followed by the annual meeting, at which the following elections were made: Chairman, the Rev. R. G. Chaffey Moore; vice-chairman, the Rev. R. A. Wells; honorary secretary, the Rev. R. N. Longridge; Ringing Masters, Mrs. M. Godfrey, Mr. W. C. Shute and Mr. Ben Ridout; committee, Mr. J. Ralph and Mr. E. Chant.

Grants for belfry repairs were approved for Gillingham and Margaret's Marsh. Meetings in 1964 were provisionally arranged for Sturminster Newton, Bourton, Thornford and the annual at Gillingham. An outing was suggested to take place in early September. An invitation from the Ilchester Branch of the Bath and Wells Association to have a joint meeting in the summer was accepted. The honorary secretary, in his report, said that membership had dropped from 145 to 140, but 17 new members had come in during the year; eight towers had defaulted in their subscriptions. Mr. Shute, in the Ringing Master's report, spoke of the regular Saturday practices, at which any ringer was welcome, and of methods concentrated on during the year, especially Double Court. The usual thanks were expressed and ringing continued at Mere, and also at Bourton.

FROM DERBYSHIRE INTO MID-WALES

Central Wales was chosen for the Gresley annual outing on November 16th. Very bad fog in the early stages caused considerable delay, made worse by dangerous icy roads, but brilliant sunshine broke through on entering Shropshire, enhancing the fine setting of Clive Church, set under its wooden sandstone 'Clyffe,' which gives its name to the village. Mr. Lloyd had patiently waited, and the noble six bells, a vintage Taylor ring with 25 cwt. tenor, one of the heaviest sixes in the country, were soon taxing the ringers' strength.

Considerable time was regained on the long run of 45 miles to the next tower, Llandinam, Montgomeryshire, the way lying through magnificent Welsh Border scenery, round the Breidden Hills dropping steeply to the Severn, the autumn colours lit by the bright sun. The little six (6 cwt.) at St. Llonio's Church were much enjoyed; the Rev. W. Parry and head ringer Mr. Weaver welcomed the party and inquired how change ringing was learned.

The valley was followed a few miles further to Llanidloes, where the pleasant and tuneful six (9 cwt.) of St. Idloes Church, a ground-floor ring, in another wooden-topped tower, were soon in action. Another warm welcome and best wishes for the tour came from the Rev. J. J. Williams before partaking of long-awaited lunch near the old Market Hall, which straddles the centre of this delightful Montgomeryshire town.

The storm clouds which gathered over Plynlimmon Mountain did not spoil the superb vistas from the mountain road as it wound its way up the Wye Valley to near the river's source, before dropping to the seaside capital of Central Wales. Heavy rain descended on arrival at St. Padarn's Church, Llanbadarn Fawr, Aberystwyth. The excellent Rudhall octave (tenor 13 cwt.) is housed in a massive square tower and the ringing room was one of the widest the visitors had seen.

Tea was taken on the promenade, but a rain-swept shingle beach and a line of foam were all that was seen of the sea. The rain gradually eased on the journey back to Newtown, Montgomeryshire, where once more the Rector and ringing secretary, Mr. H. Corfield, added to the series of welcomes which seem so characteristic of Welsh towers. Unfortunately, repairs had just commenced to the brick tower of St. David's Church, which was encased in scaffolding. On attempting to raise the 7 cwt. tenor it displayed curious behaviour. The bell was found to be jammed halfway up with its stay trapped by some injudiciously placed scaffolding. Some brute force soon freed the bell, but of course it could not be rung. Notwithstanding, the best striking of the day was accomplished on the front five of this easy-going ring; so all were satisfied.

It was not far over the hills to Church Stoke, where members of Mr. Shuker's team received the visitors warmly, and a last good ring was had on the very nice five (tenor 8 cwt.) rung from a whitewashed ground-floor room that seems more in keeping with a Georgian house than the usual type of ringing chamber, the ropes falling around a rather lugubrious piece of furniture—an ancient bier! The 90 miles home went smoothly, and arrival was well before midnight, after a long but memorable day.

THE MUG IN NORFOLK

LONG ago (three years to be precise) the Manchester University Guild took to the lakes and plains of Norfolk on a ringing tour. Last winter it was suggested that we should invade Norfolk again in August. Indeed, why not? The tour, as of old, was divided in two. The first week was spent cycling to towers and the second at more leisurely (?) paces sailing to towers on the Broads.

Our rendezvous was St. George's, Colegate, Norwich, on a fine Saturday evening. Ringing began after a prayer. In spite of a limited number of arrivals we were able to start with Stedman Doubles, Bob Minor, Cambridge Minor and Grandsire Doubles. Signing in at Norwich Youth Hostel marked the beginning of our 'acquaintance' with 'Mister Warden'. A pack of Wolf Cubs, like ourselves temporary residents, provided entertainment for all.

The following morning we joined local ringers for service ringing at St. Peter Mancroft. The touches were mostly of Stedman Caters, finishing with 'quick' rounds on 12. Some had gone earlier to assist ringing at St. Giles'. After ringing we were more than glad to have coffee in the City Fire Station at the invitation of Mr. Bird. This refreshment did much to boost our morale for the 13-mile 'trek' to Reedham. Our journey was interrupted for a snack lunch at the Leg of Mutton inn. At Reedham we racked our brains for five-bell methods and three miles further on we did a little better on the six at Halvergate. More than once the thought was reiterated 'Who said Norfolk was flat?'. The Acle new road proved an exception and with the help of a following wind we made record speed into Yarmouth.

It was a joy to ring on the 12 bells at St. Nicholas' for Evensong. After the service it was worth staying a little longer to look at the church's beautifully restored interior. As we were too late to receive a meal at the hostel we descended, rather unintentionally, upon a restaurant-cum fish shop in the town. Full of high spirits we visited the Pleasure Gardens for an hour.

Those who saw the early light of Monday morning also witnessed a little band of brave (?) souls led by John Baldwin plunge into the North Sea. A few strokes, a few splashes and a quick rub down with a sandy towel in a gusty wind made at least one individual mutter to himself, 'Is this the life?'. The ritual was observed on all three mornings during our stay in Yarmouth.

FOR THE B.B.C.

The first tower was Gorleston, followed by St. Andrew's, Lowestoft. At Pakefield a man from the B.B.C. arrived and said that he wanted to make a film recording of us ringing at Kessingland for the evening newsreel. When we arrived at St. Edmund's there, sure enough, were two men with a camera and tape recorder. Upon instructions from these gentlemen we were filmed while pedalling at high speed through the lych-gate. Other 'shots' included our entry to the tower and our efforts in the ringing chamber. The standard of striking had not been too good that morning but everything else went well just then and a couple of spanking touches of Bob Minor seemed to put things right. The president of the Nottingham University Society made us welcome at this, his home tower.

John B. and Jean were to be captured later and return with the cameramen to the studios in Norwich for an appearance in the newsreel programme. Our last official visit for the day was to St. Mary's on the private estate of Somerleyton Hall. There was a rush back to Yarmouth for the newsreel programme.

Tuesday morning saw us grinding our way from Yarmouth (in fine weather, for a change) along the A143 over the Haddiscoe marshes to Beccles. The tower of St. Michael and All Angels seemed rather 'open,' with sight-seers wandering to and fro while we were ringing but it was nevertheless enjoyable to ring Caters on these bells. At Bungay John Soanes put us through our striking paces by calling some changes in true Devonshire style.

After ringing Raveningham at Raveningham we pedalled back to the hostel at Yarmouth.

In the morning we said our turahs (a Mancunian's adieu) to the hostel wardens and pushed onward along the now familiar route to Haddiscoe, where at St. Mary's both a touch and a plain course of Haddiscoe were rung. At Lodden, too, we were able to enjoy the sunshine after the ringing. We polished our London Minor at Bergh Apton, and the spiral staircase hidden from view behind the tower at Shotesham confused some. Our return to Norwich Youth Hostel was accomplished in a steady downpour of rain. 'Mister Warden' seemed pleased at the prospect of a re-acquaintance with 'them ringers'!

On Thursday we turned our attention westwards of Norwich by ringing St. Remigius Bob Doubles at Hethersett, and Ellingham at Great Ellingham. A few who arrived early at Walton began to get the bells up after being told by a local inhabitant which bells were the treble and tenor. 456123 was heard a few moments later: apparently the local was mistaken. Success was achieved after the third attempt.

On Friday we cycled northward to Stratton Strawless, Marsham (where one lady cyclist gave herself and everyone else a scare) and Aylsham, where Bob Royal and Grandsire Caters were rung after a poor start. We arrived at Salle, our last tower for the day, in pouring rain and found the bells rather heavy going. The journey back to Norwich (and civilisation) was also rather heavy going.

THE FLEET SETS SAIL

After mending a puncture for Jean in a horse trough by St. John-de-Sepulchre, Saturday marked the big occasion when we were to show our skill (or lack of skill in most cases) in handling yachts. In a fleet of five 30ft. gaff-rigged vessels we eventually set off from Wroxham to make our way, using motors, to Wroxham Broad.

We moored our boats close together for the night in what seemed a sheltered corner of the Broad. John B. was up first (as usual) and we could hear his voice wafting cheerily across the water while he sailed his dinghy in a strong, blustering wind. It was not long before we heard demands for help from John clinging to his now upturned dinghy. There was a general rush to get cameras.

In such strong winds not even our most experienced hands dared to hoist the mainsail, so we all moved on to Malthouse Broad, using our jibs. After an essential stop at the Swan, by Horning Ferry, we arrived without mishap in Ranworth Broad in time to ring for Evensong. It is a small world, for we were joined by a party of Kent ringers, who were also 'yachting' about the Broads.

Next morning we set off towards Ludham Bridge. It was fine early on, and so we all dared to hoist our mainsails, after seeing Jim and his crew do this without mishap. While making our way to the appointed destination we often lost sight of each other and this helped us all feel slightly less embarrassed when certain incidents occurred. One such incident involved several cruisers, two yachts and a pleasure steamer, when two gentlemen from Essex managed to coil a considerable length of mainsheet round their propeller after running aground in some reeds. A few minutes later another Essex gentleman, identified as John Boyack, was seen steering his crew into the same reeds. It is a small world indeed.

The heavy five at Ludham taxed our remaining strength. At Ludham Bridge there were some first sailing lessons in the dinghies, notably those of Edward and Jean. Cries of 'Blow harder' were heard. Still heading northward we reached Barton Broad where, after a cloudburst, all brave souls led by Jim and David toddled through quagmire and muddy lanes to All Saints', Catfield. We were joined by locals, who helped us ring a variety of five-bell methods, including Norwich Surprise Minor and All Saints.

Through fine drizzle peculiar to Manchester we 'meandered' for several miles to the Acle Bridge. From there it was but a short train ride to Yarmouth, and so the practice night at St. Nicholas' was a must. A highlight of the practice for some was the Cambridge Maximus. Acle was our last tower of the tour on the Thursday morning. The return voyage was interrupted by another visit to Malthouse Broad for the night. Our last day on the Broads was perfect, weatherwise, with a fresh wind blowing. Lunch was marred because we moored by a wasp nest, although Edward did his best (or worst) as chief swatter.

The Guild would like to thank local ringers for the use of their bells, the wardens of the hostels (not forgetting 'Mister Warden') and John B. for his unflagging effort in organising the tour.

FRANK I. HAIRS,
R. S. ANDERSON,
W. G. WILSON.

EDITOR: T. W. WHITE.

Mr. Neil Bennett informs us that regarding the attempt for the long handbell peal (21,600 Plain Bob Royal) he called it round at 13,320 changes because 'we considered the standard of ringing did not come up to the very high standard required in any peal. Everyone was in very good spirit throughout, and we hope to make a further attempt some time in the next two years.'

Overheard at a Tyneside dance: 'I dance by place notation!'

The bells of Holywood, Belfast, will not be available for about four months, as they are being rehung.

Because of the tenor ringer being taken ill the peal attempt at St. Mary Bourne, on December 11th, was called round at half way. We hope Frank is now better.

The year 1963 is certainly a memorable one in the life of Mr. R. B. Smith. Not only is it the year of his marriage and the year of his conducting the extent of Major but now he has rung his 100th peal on ten bells. This was during the attempt for a long peal of 21,600 Plain Bob Royal, called round at 13,320 changes.

A prominent member of the Humphrey Perkins Campanological Society, Rupert A. Clarke, of Birstall, Leicestershire, is to be congratulated on ringing his 100th peal. Rupert, who will be 17 shortly, will be given a place at Birmingham University if successful in his three 'A' levels. Fifty-seven of his peals are on handbells (conducted seven), and in his ringing he has received the greatest encouragement from Mr. B. Stedman Payne.

In the semi-final of the Christmas shove-ha'penny championship at 'The Loggerheads,' Shrewsbury, Fred Owen, captain of St. Mary's met Fred Beddow, captain of St. Chad's. 'Somebody'd got to drop a "clanger" and it was bound to be Fred,' comments 'The Shrewsbury Advertiser.' And it was Fred (St. Mary's) who dropped the 'clanger.' Sadly he reflects that you just can't give Fred (St. Chad's) two in the top bed at a critical point in a match and get away with it.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Twelve-year-old Christopher Ricketts, in spite of jamming his finger in the door of the car taking the band to St. Bride's on December 17th, gallantly carried on to score his first peal in good style. The band, consisting of five boarders and one resident master of Cowbridge Grammar School, wonder if there are, or have ever been, any other bands from any school in Wales who have rung a peal or peals.

Miss W. Mortimer, of 11, Norman Avenue, Elland, is the new honorary secretary of the Archdeaconry of Halifax Guild.

The annual meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association will be held at Stroud on April 25th and will be attended by the Lord Bishop of Gloucester.

The attempt for 11,520 Yorkshire Surprise Major at Clent on Boxing Day failed after 2½ hours due to a shift course, writes Martin D. Fellows.

Mr. E. C. Shepherd's editorial 'Second Best,' in our issue of September 27th, has been sent to all secretaries of Ringing Societies in the area of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.

A very enjoyable evening was spent by ringers of Clowne, Derbyshire, and their families at a Christmas dinner in the Rectory Barn on December 21st. This was followed by games and dancing. The company sincerely thank Mrs. Stanton, for her effort.

An interval of 32 years before a pupil rings a peal with his instructor must be very unusual. When Philip Corby was taught to handle a bell by George Richardson at Langdon Hills, call change ringing was the order of the day. Efforts were made to introduce change ringing in the early 'thirties, but did not meet with much success. These two ringers moved away and learned change ringing, and after this long time have achieved their ambition to ring a peal together. The occasion was very appropriate, being the 90th birthday of George's mother, Mrs. E. M. A. Saunders, who for many years kept the post office at Langdon Hills.

THE TELL-TALE OF 1963

SOME views about peal ringing were expressed in a front page article last September, but your annual reminder to readers to send in their peal totals for 1963 for inclusion in the tell-tale prompts these further reflections. There are those we know who regularly ring more than the 25 peals in a year, which is the minimum number you suggest for inclusion in the list, but who do not send in details because they do not wish to be included. And yet, of course, the separate peal details have been published throughout the year, so the facts can be ascertained by the use of a little time and trouble by anyone interested. To my mind the list is a useful complement to the recording of peals rung for the various Associations, prepared each year by the Central Council, but perforce not published until many months of the new year have gone.

It is normal, at the year's end, for the staff of a weekly or monthly journal to look back, and take stock, and to summarise for their readers some of the events of the year that has gone. With the limited resources of our paper it is a good thing that some of this work is done by the Records Committee of the Central Council and that this other part, the tell-tale, can be achieved by the voluntary help of those primarily concerned.

As one who has never before made the list, having usually, for these days, modest total of about 15 peals a year, I have always found it interesting to see new names coming into the list, and new conductors, and new ringers of handbell peals. These are the people on whom the Exercise will depend to a great extent in the years to come for leadership in the often difficult task of maintaining bands for service ringing; of providing officers and leaders of our Associations and Guilds; of helping new recruits over the hurdles of their first peals and quarter peals and of setting targets at which those beginners can aim. It will be said of course that our leading peal ringers do not all do all these things at present, but I believe that the exceptions are few. The large majority of the names that will appear in the list in due course will be those of ringers who ring regularly for services and support many of their Association meetings. And teach beginners, though how they manage to find the time for it all I often wonder.

Now for a personal note. My own first, and in all probability last, appearance in the list is due mainly to the efforts of other members of the Exercise. On a summer outing or during the Central Council week-end one visits a new tower. Being impressed by the bells one says (casual like!) 'I'd like a peal here sometime.' The tower captain just happens to be in earshot and some weeks later a peal attempt has been arranged. And probably some refreshment after it. To all those people and to all the other friends who regularly invited me to stand in their attempts, thus making my 1963 total possible, my grateful thanks.

W. G. W.

They Gave up their Practice and made a New Page in Village History

THE traveller along the main road between the Hertfordshire towns of St. Albans and Barnet passes the prominent 15th century tower of St. Giles' Church, South Mymms, in Middlesex. Since the time of Napoleon this has contained six bells and these were rehung with the back three recast at Whitechapel in 1893. A few years later, the ringing gallery was removed and soon after the First World War, the then Vicar silenced the bells, after a slight mishap to one of them. So they remained during his lifetime.

Recently, under a new Vicar, the Rev. E. P. Clare, the tower was restored and, one autumn day in 1962, Roger Durrant, of Cheshunt, in the course of his work on church clock maintenance, asked permission to try the bells. This was readily given and, after hard work with spanners, grease and a set of old ropes, the bells rang out for Harvest Festival. Interest was roused in the village and Ralph Bootman, the organist and ex-ringer, gave a few lessons before leaving for another post. In February, help came from St. Albans when a regular Thursday practice was started on silent bells.

A full team of beginners was immediately formed of all ages, from young Harvey Sillis to Dick Owen, a young 60-odd. Very many hours of steeplekeeping were put in by Jeff Fost (under the guidance of Geoff Dodds), including a memorable trip to Mears—"Do you sell spare parts for bells?"

May came and the home team rang their first rounds on open bells as the 'service touch' at the first ringing meeting in the tower, before most of them took their places in the choir. Later came some minor repair work by Mears, the start of change ringing at the St. Peter's, St. Albans, practices and, by Harvest Festival, Sunday ringing started, one year after the bells were first rung again for a Sunday.

Recently, the Vicar has been seriously ill in hospital, but is now out and about on light duties. One practice night, he came into the belfry and asked very nicely if the ringers would forgo just one practice, at the end of November. Momentary disappointment was seen, but not voiced, so, with a twinkle in his eye: "Good, I'm so glad, because that is the night of the first annual South Mymms ringers' dinner. I hope you can all come."

THE DINNER

Came the night and, at 7.30 prompt, several cars arrived at the Waggon and Horses, Ridge Hill.

First surprise! How many ringers' dinners begin with several glasses of Bristol Cream Sherry? Ten South Mymms ringers and eleven visitors then took their places, the visitors being the Vicar and Mrs. Clare, the two churchwardens, five of the St. Albans instructors (three of them girls), a trustee (?) and a silversmith (?). A delicious meal followed: oxtail soup, chicken with mountains of good things to go with it, trifle, an excellent French white wine—the glasses were never allowed to become empty—Blue Stilton, biscuits and coffee.

"I give you the Queen!"

"The Queen."

The Vicar then rose.

"Ladies and gentlemen, I expect you are wondering how all this came about and why this lovely silver tankard is here in front of you."

Two months before, the Vicar received a phone call from a London bank. Did he have any bellringers? "Yes." Were the bells rung regularly? "Yes." "Oh, in that case, we can go ahead with the bequest."

In 1924, Joan Bruce Robinson died at the tender age of 10½ years. Her father, Mr. A. Bruce Robinson, purchased a tankard out of her savings and incorporated this in his will, made in 1929. Eighteen years ago, he died and his executors (the London bank) began the lengthy job of meeting the terms of his will. Many benefactions came to the church, including funds for the restoration of the tower. The bequest for the ringers came fortunately just after ringing was resumed. The terms include—

The silver loving cup is in front of the Vicar. The five instructors from St. Albans are on the right.

(1) There shall be an annual dinner for the South Mymms bellringers, for which a sum of £10 is to be used. It is to be free for the bellringers, but visitors shall pay part.

(2) There shall be two bottles of Bristol Milk provided.

(3) The cup is to be on the table at the dinner and a visitor shall propose the toast 'Prosperity to the Ringers' to be drunk from it.

(4) The cup is to be inscribed with the six bells of South Mymms and a chosen verse by the famous Vicar of Morwenstow, Parson Hawker. (Also added are the words 'The Joan Bruce Robinson Memorial Cup'.)

(5) The bells shall be rung muffled before midnight on New Year's Eve and 'open' afterwards.

So, that explained the 'trustee' and the silversmith.

The Georgian lidded tankard was most beautifully made by Robert Ginnes in 1724, is of solid silver, weighing 44 oz, and has been valued at £750.

The Vicar, as first 'visitor,' proposed 'Prosperity to the Ringers' and the cup was passed round clockwise as a loving cup, in the ancient ritual, where the drinker and the previous one stand back to back and the next person stands facing the cup, ready to receive it. This was once a precaution against stabbing in the back. The cup was filled with a very fine punch, rumoured to be 50 per cent brandy! The evening drew to a close with handbell ringing, excited conversation and examination of the cup, before the company dispersed through the driving rain which was hardly noticed by anyone.

The next Sunday morning, ringing stopped early and the ringers gathered round the grave of little Joan Bruce Robinson in the churchyard, to honour her memory. Now for the last condition in the bequest. All through December muffles were being made and the special technique of half-muffled ringing practised, for, with the passing of the old year and the welcome to the new sounding for the first time since little Joan died, South Mymms will remember her and the verse inscribed on the cup:

'Come to thy God in Time,

Thus saith their pealing chime.

Youth, manhood, old age past,

Come to thy God at last.

G. D.

PREB. ANDREWS HONOURED

The Exercise will extend its congratulations to Preb. J. H. B. Andrews, of Chittlehampton Vicarage, Umberleigh, North Devon, the president of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers and secretary of the Guild of Clerical Ringers, who has been appointed a M.B.E. in the New Year's Honours List.

Preb. Andrews' award was made mainly in recognition of his services as chairman of the Barnstaple Youth Employment Committee for several years, but in many other directions he has done notable public service, not least to the Exercise in Devon.

Important Notice

We regret to announce that Mr. J. E. Jeater, the accountant to 'The Ringing World,' was admitted to Truro Hospital on Christmas Day suffering from internal haemorrhage. The latest news is that he is making satisfactory progress and hopes to be home next week.

In consequence, there is a delay in dealing with correspondence and the dispatch of receipts. New subscribers can enrol at 'The Ringing World' Office, c/o Woodbridge Press, Ltd., Guildford, and renewal subscriptions and changes of address can also be sent there. If any new subscribers have not yet received their first copy of 1964, will they please write to the Editor.

OBITUARY

MR. JOHN CRAGG

One of the last remaining foundation members of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. Mr. John Cragg, of Caythorpe, Lincs, died after a short illness on December 19th in Grantham Hospital, aged 84 years.

A man of fine physique and character, he was a grand ringer in every way. Excellent at the heavy end, seldom was he known to make a mistake. He had a stern but lovable way of demanding the utmost from the band.

John was a member of a ringing family and he led the Caythorpe belfry when they had one of the finest bands in the county. In the early days of the Guild he rang in many peals with the Rev. A. Lew James. His first peal by a local band, in which he rang the seventh, was Grandsire Triples on February 11th, 1903; one of his last was 50 years later on the same bell to the same method.

He was always present for Sunday ringing and whenever visitors came to Caythorpe for peals or outings he ensured that everything was in readiness and gave them a warm welcome. In cricket he will be remembered for his fearless batting and he had several broken bats to remind him of his prowess.

Many villagers and ringers were present at the funeral service on December 23rd to pay their respects to this fine gentleman. Members of the Lincoln Cathedral Company rang a course of Grandsire Triples at the graveside standing: P. A. Sharpe 1-2, J. L. Millhouse 3-4, John Freeman 5-6, John Walden 7-8. A memorial peal of Stedman Triples was rung on December 28th. So passes another good and faithful servant. Caythorpe will never seem the same without John Cragg.

J. W. and J. L. M.

MR. ALLEN ROBINSON

The funeral service took place on December 27th at Mirfield, Yorks, of Mr. Allen Robinson, the last of the older generation of Mirfield ringers. His association with the tower extended to almost 60 years, and during this time he had held the offices of secretary, conductor and tower keeper. He was 81 years of age.

Mr. Robinson joined the Yorkshire Association in 1900 and had visited more than 100 towers in his native county. He had rung two peals for the Yorkshire Association and was a life member. His father, Mr. Benjamin Robinson, rang at Mirfield for over 60 years.

Taking part in the half-muffled ringing at the service were Miss S. Armitage, Messrs. I. Walker, C. Thornton, W. Bawcutt, D. Moffett, P. Broughton and C. Armitage (conductor).

MR. TOM SAUNDERS

The sudden death while attending an Oddfellows' Club meeting on December 20th of Mr. Tom Saunders, of East Peckham, Kent, will be deeply regretted by members of the Kent County Association and other friends. He recently attained his 80th birthday and was looking forward to his golden wedding in 1964.

Owing to a painful affliction in one of his legs for about 12 years he was prevented from active ringing, but his interest in the affairs of the Exercise was unabated. Indeed, at the time of his death, he had been tower secretary at East Peckham for 53 years, and previous to that was secretary at Hadlow from 1906 to 1919. He was also secretary of the Tonbridge District of the Kent County Association from 1941 to 1946. He rang about 200 peals, his last being at Hadlow on January 28th, 1950, which brought my total with him to 125. I am sure he will never be forgotten by those who knew him.

He had a most remarkable memory and he loved to sit and talk about the amusing incidents he had had with his ringing friends.

To Mrs. Saunders and the family we tender our very sincere condolences in their bereavement.

The funeral took place at Tunbridge Wells Crematorium on December 31st. Many ringers attended and a course of Grandsire was rung by four Tonbridge District members—Mrs. S. M. Dobbie 1-2, T. E. Sone 3-4, W. H. Dobbie 5-6, G. Fry 7-8.

T. E. S.

CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST

Expressing his disappointment at the Christmas Day broadcast, Mr. James Hedgecock, 17-year-old conductor at St. Thomas' Church, St. Helens, suggests that the Scots, Welsh, Irish, and people from other areas of the country could do with a few lessons on how to strike bells correctly from the Liverpool Branch of the Lancashire Association of Change Ringers.

His letter concludes: 'I sincerely hope that this standard of ringing is not common, and I would appeal to the B.B.C. and I.T.V. to give the true impression of what good, well-struck ringing sounds like at Christmas. There are usually well-struck bells on the Light programme at 8.25 each Sunday morning.'

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX GUILD

The annual meeting of the Guild was held at Elland, on December 7th, and was moderately well attended. After Evensong, conducted by the Rector, the Rev. J. R. Howarth, the business meeting took place in the Parochial Hall. The Guild's chairman, Mr. P. Birkett, took the chair, and the secretary, treasurer and Ringing Master presented their reports for the past year.

Officials elected for 1964 were: Secretary, Miss W. Mortimer; Ringing Master, Mr. R. Senior; treasurer, Mr. A. W. Bond; committee: Messrs. F. Linfoot and H. Quarby and Miss A. Flather. Members expressed their gratitude to Mr. D. Smith for the work he had done for the Guild during the past three years, while he held the post of secretary.

It was decided that the next meeting should be held in March, the tower to be announced at a later date. Ringing was resumed after the meeting until 9 p.m.

MISS P. A. SAUNDERSON MARRIED

Bell ropes were hung in the porch of All Saints' Church, Sandon, Herts, on December 14th, for the wedding of Miss P. Anne Saunderson, a local ringer, and Mr. Christopher Worboys, of the Ashwell tower. Both bride and bridegroom also ring at Baldock. The bells were rung before and after the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. J. Catterick.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a full length dress of white brocade (made by herself), and a short veil. Her sister June and Miss Margaret Hatchett were the elder bridesmaids, and two-and-a-half-year-old Maureen Mabbitt also attended. Mr. Rodney Worboys was best man.

A reception was held at Sandon Village Hall and the presents included a canteen of cutlery from fellow bellringers.

A SILENCE OF TEN YEARS BROKEN IN DEVON

The picturesque village of Oakford, high above the valley of the Exe, some seven miles from Tiverton, has a ring of eight cast by Mears, with a tenor of 12½ cwt. During the past 10 years various attempts have been made to obtain permission to ring the bells and various reasons were given why the bells should not be rung.

In July the Bishop of Exeter put Oakford under the care of the Rev. R. G. Herniman, Rector of the East Devon group of parishes, and he readily gave permission for an inspection. Debris from birds was removed from the tower and an inspection carried out. After a few more visits, and the use of much oil, a party of four ringers from St. Peter's, Tiverton, went on December 14th to tidy up and try the bells singly, and decided to ring them on St. Stephen's Day.

A representative band on December 27th rang the bells for two hours under the guidance of Messrs. F. D. Mack and H. W. Ware. There is still much work to be done, but everyone was delighted with them and it is hoped that the local ringers will now keep them going.

Visiting ringers should apply to either the Rev. R. G. Herniman, of Washfield, Tiverton, or to the Ringing Master of the N.E. Branch of the Devon Guild, who has been appointed steeple-keeper. Ringing by visiting bands will be limited for the time being until everyone is satisfied that ropes and fittings are satisfactory.

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the North Staffs Association was held on December 7th at Stoke Parish Church Hall. The Ven. George Youell, president, was in the chair, and the following officers were elected: Chairman, Mr. G. W. Biddulph; vice-chairman, Mr. A. W. Hall; secretary, Mr. G. C. Beech; treasurer, Mr. A. D. Steele; Ringing Master, Mr. W. H. Pickett.

Sixty-two members sat down to a first class meal, kindly supplied free by the Rector of St. Peter's Church, and ably waited on by wives of Stoke ringers and their lady ringers.

The Archdeacon thanked the ringers for their attendance and the work they did; he also paid tribute to the hard work put in by the retiring secretary, Mr. J. G. Burton. Reviewing the year he said the most memorable thing in his mind was the dinner for the 80th anniversary of the Association.

'The Ringing World' was thanked for their very full coverage of this event.

After tea ringing recommenced, ranging from Grandsire Triples to Bristol Surprise.

HEREFORD CATHEDRAL SCHOOL SOCIETY

On December 30th, the Hereford Cathedral School Society rang a peal of Doubles in five methods at Much Dewchurch. This was the outcome of several practices and quarter peals during the past six months. At the annual general meeting, held a few days previously, it was reported that monthly practices had been held regularly at towers in the Hereford District, and an outing had been organised. Thanks were due to Messrs. G. T. Cousins and J. W. Hope, for their help to the Society in making these a success.

M. C. W. Sherwood was elected Master for 1964 in place of J. F. I. Turney, who did not seek re-election, and it is hoped that progress will be maintained during the coming year. The Society, which was started in the 1940's, has among its Past Masters J. C. Eisel and M. P. Moreton.

Standard in Long Length Peals

Dear Sir.—It is strange how people will write about matters of which they know little. I fail to see how the conductor or organiser of the record attempt at Loughborough can, in this context, 'owe' anybody anything, and as I was neither, but simply a grateful participant in the event, I should like to record some of the facts.

The band that rang the normal length peal of Cambridge Royal was not the same as that which had attempted the Yorkshire Royal record; neither (obviously) was the band that rang the peal of London Major the same as that which had taken part in the above-mentioned two events. The ringing in the two peals was far better than in the record attempt.

It is no light matter to undertake a peal attempt which is likely to last about 11 hours. Have your correspondents no nerves? We have—and they showed. That 'stand' was called when it was called was the correct decision; it was, rightly, one man's decision, but agreement was, I think, unanimous.—Yours faithfully,

LESLIE BOUMPHREY.

Seaton, Workington.

Multi-Spliced Peals

Dear Sir.—As the only surviving member of the band that rang the first spliced peal of Treble Bob Minor in 35 methods at Norbury, Cheshire, on Tuesday, December 4th, 1923, I tender my heartiest congratulations to the band who, just 40 years later, rang one in 143 methods at Castle Eaton, Wilts. I know full well that if any other members of the Norbury band had been alive to-day they, too, would have added their congratulations.

Forty years ago it was thought that five methods per 720 was the maximum that could be obtained and the 35 method peal was successful only after much hard work. Since then great progress has been made and to-day a similar peal seems to be insignificant.

When we accomplished our peal Mr. John S. Goldsmith was wholly behind us but to the 'die-hards' spliced ringing was nothing more than a stunt and would lead nowhere, many of the 'great ones' of the day ridiculed it and poured scorn on our efforts. What a difference to-day. 'Spliced' peals are commonplace and I wonder how many who ring them appreciate the efforts of the pioneers.

JOHN P. FIDLER.

Loughborough.

President Kennedy's Death

Dear Sir.—I am sorry to see that a man whom I respect and admire should take part in the degrading 'we were first to ring for President Kennedy' race.

Does it really matter who rang first to commemorate this tragic event? The fact that some ringers were fortunate enough to be on the spot at the time is of no credit to them. That they immediately put their skill to such use is indeed praiseworthy—but no less credit is due to those who followed as soon as they could, be it next day, next week, even next month. To indulge in argument as to who struck the first note sullies the good intentions of those taking part and reduces the Exercise to the level of an egg-and-spoon race.

I wish no offence to the persons concerned. It is merely my opinion that values are in danger of being badly distorted here. The important point is that the bells were rung—not who got there first.—Yours faithfully,

D. A. BRAY (Mrs.).

Whitchurch, Tavistock.

Adelaide Town Hall Bells

Dear Sir.—There are two points in Mr. Russ' interesting account ('R.W.' December 6th, 1963) that call for comment.

Firstly, he is not correct in stating that there are only three town halls possessing rings of bells. In addition to the three he mentions, the Town Hall of Berwick-upon-Tweed, Northumberland, has had a ring of eight bells (tenor 21 cwt.) since the latter part of the 18th century, although they are now unringable owing to their own poor condition and the precarious state of the tower. A detailed report of these bells appears in the 1947 volume of the 'R.W.'

Secondly, the fact of the third bell being the lightest of the ring is not unique. There are several similar instances of this in the U.K. and to quote but one example from the bells in this locality, Blaydon-on-Tyne has a light ring of six, in which the third is the lightest bell, the weights being: treble (G sharp), 3 cwt. 3 qr. 17 lb.; 2nd (F sharp), 3 cwt. 2 qr. 27 lb.; 3rd (E), 3 cwt. 2 qr. 26 lb.; 4th (D sharp), 4 cwt. 0 qr. 23 lb.; 5th (C sharp), 5 cwt. 0 qr. 7 lb.; tenor (B), 6 cwt. 0 qr. 27 lb.—Yours sincerely, K. ARTHUR.

Newcastle upon Tyne.

Society of Wessex Scholars

Dear Sir.—As was to be expected, the controversy over the formation of the Society of Wessex Scholars has begun with a vengeance.

On examination, is your correspondent, Mr. David E. House, really qualified to express an opinion? It is unfortunate that the name 'Wessex' was selected as part of the title of the Society, which is intended in no way to be territorial. Nevertheless, Wessex does cover a considerably larger area than that of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

Mr. House states that the fruits of bad teaching can be seen in belfries all over the country. If this is so what is his complaint about the formation of the Scholars? The Guilds and Associations have done wonderful work over the years, a fact which no ringer can deny, except perhaps Mr. House, who seems to have overlooked the possibility that the seeds of the fruit of bad teaching and ringing were sown by the members of these Associations. I personally do not believe this to be the case. Many good ringers have been taught by poor teachers which seems to point to the fact that good ringers are born and not made. Conversely, there are many bad ringers who have been taught by excellent teachers.

Without wishing to bring in personalities I must say that I have in writing a statement made by an officer of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild to the effect that the objects of the Guild have been very much neglected. Perhaps this is the reason why so many bells in this area hang silent through lack of ringers and teachers.

Come along now, Mr. House, get your jacket off and tackle a job of work that is well worth doing. I'm quite sure you would be most welcome to help out in the towers where only indifferent Grandire Doubles are rung. Your own Guild, of which I have also been a member for 18 years, would surely benefit from your efforts. Alternatively, come and join the Scholars, who have openings for good teachers.—Yours faithfully,

FRANK C. W. KNIGHT, M.A.

Winchester.

Dragging through a Peal

Dear Sir.—Whilst not wishing to enter into dispute with Mr. House on the aims of the Wessex Scholars' Society, I must challenge his use of the phrase 'Dragged through a peal' when he refers to membership.

I have heard this term used before by the so-called expert ringer. I would remind David that when he rang his first peal at Whitchurch none of the more experienced ringers that day thought of it as dragging him through; indeed we were only too pleased to help him to ring his first peal (as I am to help any first-pealer) and he did not disappoint us, as he rang very well.

I would like to see this term banished from ringing (it is used far too often) and a little more tolerance shown to beginners and ringers attempting their first peal or first in a new method. We all have to learn but I hope we don't have to be dragged through. I am sure the Wessex Society don't intend to drag anybody through; their aims rather are to assist beginners.

Our Guild is short of teachers: the more teaching that can be done by this Society the better. I would point out to Mr. House the objects of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild under Rule 1:—

'Encouragement of ringing for divine service, cultivation of change ringing and the preservation of church bells in an efficient condition.'

If this is being done, what does it matter who does it? And in our Guild's area there are plenty of towers that not only need encouragement but also maintenance of bells.

As the members of this Society are also members of the parent body, I would say, 'Carry on the good work until all bells in the area are rung regularly for at least one service on a Sunday.—Yours sincerely,

GEOFFREY DODD.

Highclere.

Congratulations to 143 Spliced Methods Ringers

Dear Sir.—As one just living across the border, I feel I must add congratulations to Tony Peake and company, on their excellent achievement in ringing a peal of Spliced Minor in 143 methods.

I have had the pleasure of meeting all the ringers who took part, with the exception of Mr. Hurcombe. Anthony and Brian have been known to me since the commencement of their ringing careers.

The synopsis referring to Brian Bladon is slightly incorrect, where it purports him as being a Ringing Master in the Salisbury Guild. He is in fact Ringing Master, Swindon Branch, the Bristol and Gloucester Association.—Yours sincerely,

T. A. PALMER.

Hon. Sec., Marlborough Branch,
Salisbury Guild.

'Now All Bob'

Dear Sir.—In addition to the ringing expressions explained by Mr. Frank H. King in your issue of December 20th is the word 'Bob.' Chambers' Dictionary states 'the float of a fishing line, which pops up and down.'

In olden days, perhaps, the treble ringer, when about to lead at back stroke, would say, 'Now all bob,' signifying all dodge. I have heard the same when ringing Bob Maximus at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich. The current use of 'bob' is worth interpretation.—Yours truly,

GEORGE E. SYMONDS.

LETTERS—Continued

Yorkshire Tail Ends

Dear Sir.—Mr. Moreton's observations about the difficulty or otherwise of handling Yorkshire ends may be applied to ordinary tail-ends as well. Both types of tail-end are liable to swing about when held more than a few inches from the end, and I think Yorkshire ends are rather safer when they do; I would rather be hit in the eye by a nice soft tail-end than a hard one of rope! Ordinary tail-ends can also twist in the single part below the sally as well as Yorkshire tails.

I, too, have noticed a lot of single bell practice in Yorkshire, but it seems to occur at towers without Yorkshire ends as well as those with. Such practice is not more necessary with these ends than with ordinary tail-ends, the previous experiences of other ringers ringing any particular bell during a meeting should be enough to tell one whether a rope is long or short and adjust accordingly. Indeed, one of the advantages of a Yorkshire tail end is the ease of adjustment. What could be more simple than just tying or untying a knot? I agree with the criticism of the lack of a proper grip at handstroke on new ropes. Many people find it a problem with this type of tail-end. However, I think it is one which can be overcome with experience on these ropes as can the problem of poor grip if one has to get hold above the sally. I find these ropes delightful to ring with after some experience with them and would certainly recommend them to any tower trying them for the first time.—Yours, etc., J. B. PICKUP.

Accrington, Lancs.

'Abominable Ends'

Dear Sir.—His statement, by one so greatly appreciated as Mr. Wilfrid Moreton, is beyond my comprehension. I do ask Mr. Moreton if he has never before noticed, at the various meetings he attends, the knots. Have a look at the indifferent ringers who never try their length, which, to me, is far more haphazard than what I have been brought up to.

Mr. Moreton mentions the undignified single-bell practice. But it is far, far better to have the undignified single bell put right instead of a lot of undignified bells in the matter of coursing.

He states that a common result is that hand-stroke is rung with one hand, which in my mind is fallacious. My experience is that 90 per cent. of Yorkshire tailenders let their bell rise to a more upright position at back. In support of this I say, 'Carry on in your own undignified way of single-bell practice, for it leads you to command your own bell, which I am sure gives more contentment to the rest of the band, as the sound of your bell is far more important than undignified haphazardness.'—Yours, etc.,

JOSEPH BURGESS.

Friezeand.

The peal rung at Clifford, Herefordshire, on November 10th, was for the Hereford Diocesan Guild.

LONGEST PEAL OF MINOR

By the Conductor, BRIAN J. WOODRUFFE

ON December 28th, the Bell Foundry Campanile at Loughborough was the scene of another long peal record when 21,600 changes of Spliced Treble Bob Minor in 60 methods were rung in 9 hours 44 minutes.

The peal, which was rung for the Chester Diocesan Guild, is the longest of spliced ringing—the previous longest being 13,440 Spliced Surprise Major rung at Norbury in 1961, also for the Chester Guild. In number of changes the peal is equal fourth with the 21,600 Bristol Surprise Major also rung by the same Guild in 1950. The longer peals are the 22,400, 32,704 and 40,320 Plain Bob Major.

The peal commenced at 9.40 a.m. at a steady pace of 20 minutes per extent, but gradually quickened with the 7-pull dodging in the fourth and fifth extents. The first 'peal' of 5,040 changes came round in 2 hours 18 minutes, slightly faster than anticipated, but it was found that the bells were easier to strike and handle at this speed. During this first part the ringing was a little uneven due to these reasons but by the time the Delight groups of methods were reached, the band had settled down well and it was a real treat to enjoy some excellent six-bell striking.

The halfway-point was passed at 2.30 p.m. and the difficult methods had been rung. From then on it was simply a case of standing there and working through the groups of methods one by one. Around about the 7-hour mark the first signs of mental tiredness were beginning to show and the ringing suffered by becoming slightly uneven and mistakes crept in. A few grumbles from the conductor and extra-loud calls stirred the band and within a surprisingly short time the ringing was back at its previous standard. Experience has shown that long peals have relatively poorer patches of ringing, but as soon as these are over the ringing can be even better than earlier (e.g. in the extent of Major in July, 1963, the worst ringing was around 27,000, but the best was between 30,000 and 35,000). Thus it was in our peal, with the best ringing coming as the previous record was passed at 18,000 changes.

From here to the end it was not so plain sailing as expected. The ringers of 5 and 6 found that their wrists would not bend and their bells felt like a ton weight and more. This was no doubt due to the excessive amount of dodging that had been done and in view of this fact the 28th and 29th extents were called so as to include as much Oxford T.B. as possible to avoid the triple dodging in the methods of the group (Kingston, etc.). The end of the peal came without further incidents at 7.24 p.m.

Afterwards, several members remarked that the peal had been a much tougher proposition than expected and it seems that this is due to the fact that it was a peal of Treble Bob and the continual dodging allowed no rest. However, all were satisfied with it and were thankful that after years of waiting the record is at least 'out of the way,' for the time being, at least.

The ringers would very much like to thank Paul Taylor for allowing them again the use of the Foundry bells for the attempt, and also to thank all those who sent and gave their best wishes for the peal.

'Thanks be to God which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.'

(I Corinth, xv, 57.)

LAUNTON HANDBELL RINGERS

The Launton Handbell Ringers included in their Christmas programme a recital of Christmas music at Church House, Witney, in aid of the Freedom from Hunger Fund. They were directed by Mr. Frederick Sharpe, who gave a brief description of the bells and music.

The recital was divided into six sections devoted to popular traditional carols, mediæval, those for the provinces, foreign, modern and Christmas hymns. Seventy-six bells were in use.

Other pre-Christmas recitals given by the Launton Ringers were two in London (one at Cecil Sharp House, to the English Folk Dance and Song Society), three in Oxford and seven others.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

The second annual dinner and social of the Bingham District was at the Jubilee Hall, Whetton, on December 20th. There were 73 ringers and friends present, and an excellent meal was served. The entertainment, given by younger members of the District, proved very enjoyable. All Districts were represented, and everyone had a good evening out, thanks to David Clarke, Mick Exton, and Whetton, Bingham and Holme Pierrepont ringers making the evening so successful. R. B.

DEDICATION*ST. JAMES', WEST TEIGNMOUTH

Whilst ringing was in progress on a Sunday evening in March, 1962, at St. James', West Teignmouth, a bearing of the tenor bell snapped, which resulted in the bell falling into its pit on one side.

Subsequently the Parochial Church Council launched an appeal for £5,000 to restore the bells and tower, and in July, 1963, the bells were dismantled and removed to the Loughborough Foundry for retuning, etc. Messrs. Taylor and Co. have now quarter turned and retuned the bells, and have rehung them in an iron frame with completely new fittings, so that they now are a real joy to ring.

After the evening service on December 22nd last, they were rededicated by the Lord Bishop of Crediton, after which Stedman Triples and call changes were rung by members of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers assisted by the local ringers. A. L. B.

WOBURN, BEDS.—On Dec. 11th, 1,260 Grand-sire Triples; K. Jackson (first away from tenor) 1. A. Jeffs 2, A. Kershaw 3, P. Williams 4, H. B. Whitney (first of Triples as cond.) 5, R. Cadamy 6, R. R. Churchill 7, R. Atkins 8. First quarter for 8. First 'inside' 2 and 3. Half-muffled in memoriam Rev. T. N. Gunner.

TWO FIVE-PART TABLES

By JOHN SEGAR

About fifty years ago I read an article by an expert of that time about the proof of peals in five regular parts. He said if no falsehood had been detected after examining three parts the peal would be true. He did not know that all five parts can be proved by using a five-part table. Here is a peal and its proof, and also a false touch.

23456	W	M	H	W	M	H	23456	W	M	H	W	M	H
64235	—	—	—	T	5	6	43652	—	—	—	1	4	4
36245	—	—	—	2	2	2	26435	—	—	—	9	6	4
43265	—	—	—	7	7	7	42635	—	—	—	4	4	5
26435	—	—	—	6	6	4	62534	—	—	—	5	3	3
32465	—	—	—	9	9	9	45623	—	—	—	5	3	1
63425	—	—	—	E	E	E
42635	—	—	—	4	4	5
34625	—	—	—	X	X	X
62345	—	—	—	3	3	1

The peal is true, no figure occurs twice in any of the three columns. The touch is false in all columns.

Some peals have these part ends 34562, 45623, 56234, 62345, 23456. It does not matter which is first, the others will follow provided the first is not rounds. This means the peal and the touch can be proved by table 'A' below.

TABLE 'A'

TABLE A					W	M	H
34562	45623	56234	62345	23456	1	T	4	2
534	645	256	362	423	2	7	7	3
453	564	625	236	342	3	5	T	1
43652	54263	65324	26435	32546	4	9	8	5
643	254	365	426	532	5	X	3	6
364	425	536	642	253	6	2	E	4
65432	26543	32654	43265	54326	7	6	X	8
465	526	632	243	354	8	1	1	9
546	652	263	324	435	9	E	6	7
56342	62453	23564	34625	45236	X	3	2	E
356	462	523	634	245	E	4	9	T
635	246	352	463	524	T	8	5	X

This table makes it easy to find any one of the sixty courses. In seconds place methods a bob at Wrong causes us to leave course 23456 and enter course 52436, which is in line T. The scale for a bob at Middle is 43652 so we leave 23456 line 1 and enter 43652 in line 4. The scale for a bob Home is 42356. Thirty-six transpositions will be required to complete the columns or forty-eight if we add a Before column.

I turn now to the second table, a much larger one because it has 360 course heads with the seventh in all positions. When used for Surprise Major there are a large number of transpositions for bobs and a still larger number for the false course heads. Cambridge Surprise has fifty-six F.C.H.s against each of the 360 courses in the table. It is because there is a way of reducing the work to one twelfth of what might be expected that this article is being written. The table printed above will be used for the explanation of this time saver.

Reduction No. 1. Write out again the twelve courses headed by 23456 with really big figures so that after cutting up with the scissors the vertical strips are not too flimsy.

There will be five perpendicular strips with twelve figures on each. Arrange them so that the top row reads 52436. This is the scale for a bob at Wrong. Across the strips you can read the twelve answers and errors are impossible.

Find the numbers in the table and enter in column W. Arrange the strips so that the top row reads 43652 and complete column M. Arrange the strips so that the top row reads 42356 and complete column H.

Reduction No. 2. From the twelve rows in the table make six peals: 1 and 7, 2 and 8, 3 and 9, 4 and X, 5 and E, 6 and T. Any pair will do as example, but I give two.

	W	M	H		W	M	H
Row 2	7	7	3	Row 4	9	8	5

Difference 6 6 6 6 6 6 6 6

It will be seen that the difference of six is constant between all pairs of rows and in all calling positions. Half length strips could have been used for the top half of the table. Then by adding or subtracting six the lower half could have been filled in without searching for the course and its number. For the small table one set of half length strips is required, but for the hundreds of transpositions necessary for Surprise Major with the tenors parted two sets are required. Readers who need help in preparing the 360 course table are invited to apply to me. (See advert.)

All possible part ends for five part peals will be found below.

A	B	C	D	E	F
34562	34625	35264	35642	36245	36524
45623	46532	56342	54263	65324	64235
56234	65243	64523	46235	54632	45362
62345	52364	42635	62534	42563	52643
23456	23456	23456	23456	23456	23456

Write the five members of a group in row 1 of your new table. The twelve courses headed by 23456 must be copied on this and all other tables. Copy also the W and H columns leaving the M column to be worked out later. Fill in columns 1 to 4 guided by column 5. You are now ready to prove any peals of this type.

Some readers may know that table 'A' can be used to prove all peals of this type regardless of the part-end, making tables 'B' to 'F' unnecessary. This is a complication outside the purpose of this article, which is to show how to reduce the work to one twelfth when composing peals of Surprise Major with the tenors parted, such as my 22,080 of Bristol and other record lengths.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

The peal of Yorkshire Royal at Llandaff Cathedral was the first peal of Surprise Royal by a South Wales band and is an indication of the progress now being made in this area.

The many ringing friends of Miss Evelyn Steel will be sorry to learn that she is in the Russell Ward of Bedford County Hospital, after falling down and breaking her thigh. She is making satisfactory progress and can get about the ward with the aid of a special frame.

We are asked to make a correction to the report of the multi-Minor peals. Brian Bladon did not conduct the first peals of London and Bristol for the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association but the first six peals by members of the Swindon Branch of that Association.

The Dulwich Handbell Ringers this Christmas collected the magnificent sum of £320 for the Greater London Fund for the Blind. The leader, Mr. Arthur H. Coombs, informs us that the Society has collected over £3,000 in the past 17 years, but this year's was the biggest ever collection. The Society were out for 18 consecutive nights before Christmas, ringing in over 100 Dulwich streets.

Probably the forerunner of a School Campanological Society was the ringing of the bells of St. Nicholas', Bradfield, Yorks, before the Bradfield Secondary Modern School's carol service by a member of the teaching staff, an old scholar, a parent and two scholars. It is hoped that next year the school will provide its own team of six. At neighbouring Ecolesfield, for the second year running, the bells of St. Mary's Church were rung for the junior and senior grammar school carol services by past and present scholars.

Dear Sir,—In answer to Mr. L. J. B. ### 'MARCH' OF PROGRESS

A milestone in steady progress of ringing at March St. Wendreda's was achieved on December 29th, when the final quarter peal on the bells for 1963 was rung.

For three months, local ringers have practised hard to 'break through' the intricacies of Cambridge Surprise. Bearing in mind the maxim 'Nothing without endeavour,' a team was finally rewarded in the ringing of a well struck quarter, which included an extent of Cambridge.

It was the first extent in the method in the tower by a team of local ringers since January 1st, 1824, when March men rang a 720, a 360 and a 240.

Five ringers in the recent quarter peal had not rung an extent of Cambridge before.

The first quarter peal on record at St. Wendreda's materialised in 1819, and was followed by extents in various methods. No other quarters were rung until 1949, and from that year 30 in Treble Bob and plain methods have been rung on March bells by March ringers. These include 23 'first' quarters. No less than 16 young people have rung their first quarter peal since 1960. Two full peals—one in recent years—have been rung on the bells by local ringers (13 in all having been rung at the tower).

A recent inauguration is monthly practices. Regular practices take place on Mondays and, of course, all are welcome to ring. Outings are considered to play a vital part in maintaining interest, and the local ringers have rung bells at about 100 churches.

The new year will see one or two members attending college, etc., but a core of 15 will remain, this number including several boys and girls who are busy ringing rounds, call changes and disentangling the early stages of method ringing.

FRANK I. HAIRS,

R. S. ANDERSON,

W. G. WILSON.

EDITOR: T. W. WHITE.

For many years a ringer at Hinton-on-the-Green, Mr. F. Barnes, celebrated with his wife their golden wedding. In honour of the event a peal of Plain Bob Major was rung at Hinton, in which his daughter and son-in-law participated.

Known to his ringing colleagues as 'the One Armed Bandit,' I. P. Unsworth has now rung a quarter peal with two hands.

At the age of 81 Mr. J. Smith Eastland has rung his first peal of Triples at Worksop. This was his second peal; his first was rung in 1913.

For the fourth year, but not in succession, Mr. G. E. Symonds and family have rung tunes on two octaves of handbells at the Christmas carol service in the Church of St. Mary-over-Stoke, Ipswich.

Two quarters have now been scored by the Holy Trinity Society, Wandsworth, which is progressing well in the field of change ringing. Any visitors will be welcome to ring on this fine Taylor octave (1923) on the practice nights—Tuesday, 6.30-8 p.m.

When a certain young lady at St. Giles', Newcastle, Staffs, made a mistake in some Stedman Doubles on a practice night she was jokingly given 50 lines—'I must learn to make a Stedman Single.' To everyone's surprise they were done—in English, French, German and Latin. She can make the Single now, too!

On December 28th, at St. Peter's, St. Albans, Mrs. K. M. Darvill rang a peal at her first attempt, 24 years after starting ringing. She was to have attempted one in 1940, but because of the wartime ban on ringing this attempt could not take place. Also in the peal were her husband and two sons, one of whom was the conductor.

The quarter peal at Merriott, Somerset, should have had three ringers taking part who celebrated their birthday on December 22nd, but an hour before ringing Alan C. Best met with a minor road accident and was unable to reach the tower. The conductor would like to thank Mr. H. E. Turner for standing in at short notice.

BELFRY GOSSIP

It was significant that as the peal of Grandsire Cinques at St. Woolos' Cathedral, Newport, Mon. came into rounds, the lights in the public house opposite the Cathedral came on. This was Bill Hibbert's first attempt for a peal on the bells, where, in 1895, his 'dear old dad' called the first Association peal on the original eight.

Mr. P. R. Harris, of Ipswich, would like to thank all those who were so hospitable during his stay at C.T.S. Stone, especially Mr. B. G. Key and Mr. R. Balls.

Mr. Howard Howell, of Penn, Wolverhampton, scored his 600th peal when participating in the peal of Grandsire Triples at Willenhall, Staffs, on December 21st.

Mr. Frederick Sharpe's manuscript on Guernsey bells is now with the printers and will be published in the New Year. He has visited all the 18 churches there and has photographs and rubbings of most of the bells.

Wroxham (Norfolk) ringers have handed over £66 to the Parochial Church Council towards the cost of quarter-turning and adding near bearings to the bells. Money has been raised by handbell ringing, the sale of Christmas cards and the proceeds from a model railway.

Another generation of the famous ringing family of Pye made his appearance in our peal columns in the issue of December 20th. Fourteen-year-old William E. E. Pye, son of Mr. E. W. Pye, rang the fourth bell to a peal of Plain Bob Major at Grundisburgh. His achievement is all the more meritorious as he was handicapped earlier by polio, which left him with a partly crippled leg.

The House Magazine of I.C.T. for December contains an article written by Miss Jean Sanderson entitled 'Ring Out, Ye Bells.' Jean justifies her position as a 'Ringing World' correspondent by an easy-to-read introduction to ringing, which she describes as 'an absorbing and very rewarding occupation.' Norton Church, where she is ringing instructor, and two other pictures give a personal interest to the article. Her post with I.C.T. (Engineering), Stevenage, is librarian.

A BELLFOUNDING TRANSACTION IN 1312

A RECENT perusal of some of the published archives of the City of London yielded an interesting item concerning bells. It would appear that, in mediæval times, the potters or makers of metal pots in some cases carried on the business of bell founding. Perhaps some of the unkind critics of the tone of their bells affected to detect some resemblance to the noise given out by their pots!

However, we learn from a translation of an entry in Latin that in 1312 (in the time of Edward II) an agreement was recorded between Richard de Wymbisshe, potter and citizen of London, and Sir Ralph, Prior of the Church of Holy Trinity in Aldgate and the Convent of that place, for the making of 'one bell, good, entire and well-sounding, and as nearly in tune, to the utmost of his power, with the greater bell of the church aforesaid. And the said bell was to weigh 2,820 pounds of good and belitting metal, every hundredweight thereof containing 112 pounds; the same to be ready by the feast known as St. Peter's Chains (August 1st) next ensuing.' It is evident that the good prior knew what he wanted and laid down quite a rigid specification.

By way of bond, or recognisance, the Prior agreed that he would 'redeliver unto the said Richard the great bell which he had formerly made for the use of him and his Convent, so soon as the same Richard should commence founding the bell aforesaid, upon view by the Lord Prior, or of such of his people as he should appoint.'

It is pleasing to note that Alan de Middleton, Canon and Saint, subsequently acknowledged that Richard had fully satisfied them as to his workmanship. The Priory of Holy Trinity stood just north of Aldgate, in what is now Mitre Square, and the site is covered by the warehouse and offices of the International Tea Co., on the wall of which a plaque records the fact. We may speculate as to what became of the bells, but as we know that the site was granted to Sir Thos. Audley no doubt the building suffered the same fate as most monastic houses at the Dissolution in 1531, when the materials of stone, glass, etc., were sold after demolition and used by the Tudor nobility in the erection of magnificent new houses.

It would be interesting to know if Richard de Wymbisshe is the earliest London founder of whom we have knowledge, and perhaps someone among your readers can inform us. However, as Aldgate is within a very short distance, of Whitechapel, it is reasonable to assume that bell founding was carried on in this district before the establishment of the present Whitechapel Foundry in 1570.

200 YEARS OF RINGING AT LEEDS PARISH CHURCH

By RONALD H. DOVE

THE belfry at Leeds Parish Church contains two manuscript books—just a couple of very thick, stiff-covered 'exercise books,' not particularly remarkable to outward appearances save perhaps that both are over a hundred years old, but appearances can be deceptive, and study of either book makes fascinating reading.

One is the minute book of St. Peter's Society, the other the cash book which records all payments to the ringers over and above their 'wages' since 1841, when the present church was built.

Both books were entrusted to me some time after I had become leader of Leeds Parish Church in 1947, but apart from an occasional glance through them I had given neither book the study it deserved until recently.

BREAK IN TRADITION

As reported in 'The Ringing World' some months ago, the traditional 'Mayor's ringing' was dispensed with after 200 years duration on the flimsiest of excuses, such as that the sound of the bells did not carry all over the city or that the public would not know why the bells were being rung, etc., and the incident derived much publicity.

So did the sequel reported under the headline 'Ringers' Angry Silence' and described as a 'strike,' when the bells were missing before the civic service on the following Sunday. Maybe it was unchristian, as I was told, but it was none the less satisfying to know that the protest had not gone unnoticed.

Turning, however, to less sordid matters, the Press wanted to know all about the origin of the custom, they even took a photostat copy of the earliest entry, but apparently considered that a picture of the leading citizen had greater front page appeal.

We get an indication of the poverty which must have abounded in this overwhelmingly squalid town of a century ago by the rule that . . . Every member shall present himself in as clean and decent attire as his circumstances will admit . . . yet despite this poverty another belfry rule of 1864 lays down how much aspiring learners must pay for the privilege. Commencing with ten shillings deposit and further sums on ringing a quarter, a half and a full peal, the learner paid thirty shillings in all, a goodly sum in those days.

I think they had got something there, since recruits would be far less likely to throw away what could have cost them the equivalent to many weeks' or even months' wages. I have often felt that learning to ring is made too cheap and is valued accordingly to-day, and the prevalent attitude when the pupil loses interest seems to 'stay away and let him find out.'

FIRST PEAL IN 1742

It is not known how long there have been bells at the Parish Church but we are told that in 1742 Mr. Harrison, of Barrow, in Lincolnshire, increased the bells from six to eight, and within six weeks the local company rang 5,040 Grandsire 'Tripples,' the first peal ever rung in Leeds.

Some 20 peals on these bells are recorded, among them such intriguing sounding names as 'Peace with America' and 'College Double Tripples,' and the board recording the longest then rung in Yorkshire, a 10,080 Oxford Treble Bob in 1790, is in an excellent state of preservation and hangs in the present tower. Three years later a 5,088 in the same method was the last peal on the bells, which gave place to a ring of ten whose life was of even shorter duration, a mere 40 years.

Although there are accounts of the Leeds company taking part at the openings of new rings over a wide area—even at St. Cuthbert's, Darlington—surprisingly there is no mention of the visit to Aberdeen in 1858 to open the ring at St. Nicholas', as mentioned on page 732 and the leading article on Dec. 6th, 1963, for this must have been quite an event and must surely have been fresh in the mind of the compiler of the records from which I quote.

LEEDS OLD PARISH CHURCH

ASHTON RINGERS' OPENING PEAL

It appears to have been customary to open new rings with a peal and while the Leeds company rang many such inaugural peals, for instance at Guiseley, Wetherby, Halifax Holbeck and elsewhere, yet when it came to their own new bells in 1798, after ringing the opening course of Grandsire Catons, they handed over the tower to the Ashton (Lancs) Society, who rang 6,000 in the same method in 4 hours, 43 minutes.

How many men rang the tenor in the Ashton peal is not recorded, but for their first three peals on their new bells also for the opening peal on the new eight at Halifax shortly afterwards, the Leeds men required, or at least they had, two men for the tenor.

They 'manfully performed' a peal of Bob Royal Catons in 1803 and in 1818 their 'true and complete peal of Stedman Catons, 5,079 changes,' is recorded as 'the first five thousand ever rung in Yorkshire in this intricate method.'

Following the example of Leeds, Wakefield Old Church went in for a ring of ten in 1817. The honours on this occasion were shared by seven companies who took their turns by ballot. The Leeds company evidently considered themselves the best and in support of their claim quote an extract from a Wakefield newspaper, . . . but in raising and settling the bells the Leeds ringers certainly shewed their superiority and themselves perfect masters of their profession.' The Halifax, Sheffield and Wakefield bands rang 2,520 Treble Bob, Leeds 2,519 Stedman Catons, Liversedge 2,520 Plain Bob Royal, while Oldham and Huddersfield merely 'jumbled out.'

THE NEW CHURCH

In 1840, perhaps the most famous of all the Vicars of Leeds was appointed, Walter Farquhar Hook, later Dean of Chichester, and almost immediately set about building a new church to his own liking. From the photographs, the old church appears to be superior to its successor, but according to the history of the church it was not only inconvenient, particularly for the Eucharist, but was becoming unsafe.

Times were hard in what were known as 'the hungry forties' and the most rigid economies had to be enforced when the present church was built with the result that save for the spacious sanctuary which, incidentally, would make an excellent setting for a High Mass, and a lofty, albeit a not over strong, tower, the building has little to commend itself.

Whilst it is rather open to question whether even a 36 cwt. tenor should have been hung in such a tower, it was commendable that the ringers were consulted and their wishes, even if misguided, were met, and the new ring by Thomas Mears had the distinction of being both the first complete ring of 13 cast, also the first ring to be transported by rail. The cost was £1,200, and it was raised entirely by voluntary subscription.

FIRST OF CINQUES IN YORKSHIRE

When in 1842, on the first anniversary of the bells, Sam Smallpage called a peal of Grandsire Cinques, it is recorded: 'The above gentlemen have therefore had the honour of completing the first peal of Cinques ever rung in the County of York. The peal was rung by Mr. C. Oliver of London and the most able judges agree that it is the best finished piece of work ever known in the annals of bell hanging.'

The 'most able judges' or at least the Leeds ringers soon revised their opinions, however, for barely two years later we read that they . . . left Leeds for York at the request and sole expense of Messrs. Mears of London . . . and after describing in detail the harmonious evening spent at the Cross Keys in Jubbergate, the report continues . . .

'The following day the Minster was thrown open for the first time since the late fire and with permission of the Dean the Leeds ringers after morning service rang a beautiful touch of Grandsire Cinques. The bells were then ceased in course—a performance of no ordinary merit. The inhabitants can be justly proud in having the finest peal in the Kingdom.'

That was not all, for while part of the company returned home, the remainder proceeded by the Ebor packet to Selby on the Monday, saluting the inhabitants of each village 'with a merry peal on the handbells' then, on arrival at Selby, rang 'to the delight of the good people of Selby in good style, three peals—Kent T.B., Oxford T.B. and Plain Bob Minor and were afterwards regaled by a good supper at the Churchwardens' expense.'

A visit by Henry Hubbard, 'author of a treatise on the Art of Change ringing and a former member of the Norwich Scholars' who 'ably conducted' a peal of Kent T.B. on the light eight is the only entry for 1859 but 1863 and 1864 both brought a crop of special ringings.

FIRE IN ESSEX CHURCH

St. Andrew's Church, North Weald, Essex, was badly damaged by fire on January 7th. The tower and bells were saved, the only damage here being that the ropes were burned off and part of the floor under the bells. Although the bells have been put out of action for the time being, the ringers hope to ring them again before too long a period.

OBITUARY

MR. JAMES BUTLER

We regret to announce the death of Mr. James Butler, M.A., B.Sc., at his home, 2, Bemerton Gardens, Kirby-le-Soken, Frinton-on-Sea, Essex, aged 72 years.

A Past Master of Cambridge University Guild, Mr. Butler had been a lifelong ringer and a member of the Essex Association. A member of the scholastic profession, he taught in London and in Berkshire. Some 33 years ago he went to Kirby on appointment as senior maths master at Clacton County High School, a post he held for 20 years.

He took a deep interest in Kirby Church and belfry, and besides being a sidesman and church councillor was a regular attender for service ringing and practice. As a result of illness he had to give up ringing four or five years ago, but was always interested, particularly in the progress of the youngsters, most of whom went to his school. He leaves a widow, three daughters and two sons, one of whom lives in Australia.

The funeral service was held in Kirby churchyard on December 31st, and all branches of the church and his school were represented. The tower bells were rung half-muffled after the interment as a last token of respect to a truly Christian gentleman. R.I.P.

AN APPRECIATION

Jim Butler was four or five years junior to me at Cambridge. A late-comer, I think his residence was broken by service in the Army in the First World War. When he returned he helped to revive the University Guild, after losses of ringers like W. D. James, and he became Master. I met him when I returned to Cambridge for week-ends and rang several handbell peals with him, and also met him at many of the annual Guild ringing weeks.

He lived in my house for a short time while teaching in London, and he helped at St. Augustine's, Kilburn. This, I think, was typical of him: he was always ready to take a rope and help out wherever he happened to be. The last time I saw him was during a ringing week I arranged for the Guild in Devon some 10 years ago. I certainly have lost a friend. E. M. A.

MR. TOM SAUNDERS (East Peckham)

AN APPRECIATION

It is with sadness that I write about the passing of Mr. Tom Saunders, for it was with him that I rang my first touches of Plain Bob and Single Oxford, and a lot of us younger ringers were indebted to him for getting us the use of East Peckham bells for a lot of our earlier peals.

Tom learned to ring at Hadlow and his first peal was rung there over 50 years ago. For this achievement a local person had a medalion made, which he always wore on his watch chain for all to see. He was secretary at Hadlow for four years and at East Peckham for 53 years. He rang in 133 peals, of which I believe over 100 were Kent Treble Bob. But it is in the capacity of secretary we owe him most, for he took over during the war years 1941-46 and kept the Tonbridge District together.

Although he hadn't taken part in active ringing for some time (his legs did not allow him to get about as he would have liked), he always turned up at the annual District meeting and followed happenings in this journal.

He was for most of his life a gardener, and at the time of his death secretary of East Peckham Gardeners' Society and a past secretary of the Oddfellows, at whose meeting it was he collapsed. G. F.

MR. G. P. GARNER

The death took place on Christmas Day, after a good deal of suffering, of Mr. George P. Garner, who had been associated with Barwell (Leics) belfry for 51 years, being a past vice-captain and a sidesman.

Mr. Garner, who was 74, for many years held a managerial position, with Messrs. George Ward Ltd., the Barwell shoe manufacturers, and was one of a greatly respected family of church workers in the village.

He joined the old Midland Counties Association in 1912 and rang his first peal the same year. For the Leicester Diocesan Guild he had rung 11 peals; in his earlier days he conducted several peals of Major. The day of his funeral was the 14th anniversary of his last peal—Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

Mr. Frank Measures, president of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, attended the service, and this was followed by a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples with the bells half-muffled rung by the Barwell ringers. His widow shares her bereavement with two daughters. T. C. B.

600 PEALS BY MR. H. HOWELL

With the peal of Grandsire Triples at Willenhall on December 21st, Mr. Howard Howell, of Penn, Wolverhampton, completed his 600th peal. These have been rung in 129 towers in 14 counties for 19 Associations with 546 different ringers (476 peals for the Archdeacons of Stafford).

CHRISTMAS DAY AT WASHINGTON CATHEDRAL

Following the 11 a.m. service, the new Mears and Stainbank ring of ten at Washington Cathedral, D.C., was rung open for the first time by an all-Cathedral band. The lower eight bells were rung in rounds, Queens and Tittums, and though the striking was somewhat uneven, all the ringers managed to keep their places and even to 'stand'—a major achievement!

'But most important,' writes Richard R. Dirksen, 'the sound which came forth from our tower, though poor ringing by any standards, was a joyous noise and a most wonderful welcome to Christmas. It is our hope that with continual practice we can learn to make music with this most wonderful instrument.'

A gift of recordings has been received from Harry Parkes, of Whitechapel Foundry. 'We hope that one day some of you may hear a similar tape from our tower,' concludes the friendly letter.

LIKENED UNTO BETHLEHEM'S RINGING!

Ringers at St. Patrick's Church, Coleraine, consider their local newspaper ('Northern Constitution') gave them a back-handed compliment in its 'Spotlight.' This read:

'I liked the broadcast peal of the bells of St. Patrick's Church on Christmas morning. Their tone and rhythm compared more than favourably with those of cross-Channel contemporaries and their music had a striking similarity with the peal from the tower of the Church of the Nativity, Bethlehem. St. Patrick's ringers are congratulated on their performance.'

THE LADIES' GUILD

The Kent Branch held their meeting jointly with the Tonbridge District of the Kent County Association at Westerham on January 4th. The bells were rung for an hour and a half before the service. After tea we held our business meeting in the church.

Mrs. Mitchell, who took the chair, expressed her pleasure at being back after her visit to Canada. Two new members were elected. Our next meeting was arranged for March 7th at Eastchurch, jointly with the Rochester District of the K.C.A. Also discussed was the possibility of some members from the District attending the Guild annual meeting at Macclesfield in July.

Business concluded, we rejoined the gentlemen for more ringing. I. M. P.

RESIDENTS PETITION POLICE TO STOP BELLS

Residents of Shaw Street, Culcheth, have petitioned the Lancashire County Constabulary asking them to stop the bells of Newchurch Parish Church, near Warrington, as the ringing keeps their children awake in the evening.

The Rector (the Rev. John G. Preston) pointed out in 'The Liverpool Daily Post,' that the bells had been ringing from the church belfry for 300 years, without a previous complaint. Everything had been done to reduce the noise, particularly on the side of the belfry facing Shaw Street.

From a police correspondent we learn that the police have no jurisdiction whatsoever over church bells, which can only be restrained by a court injunction or, of course, by order of the incumbent.

He suggests that perhaps the petition was handed to the police for the purpose of seeking advice.

Methods Committee's Rulings

Dear Sir,—May I bring to the notice of the Exercise the following unanimous decisions of the Methods Committee:

(1) That the names of the methods rung in the peal of Spliced Surprise Major at Ashover on July 13th, 1963, should obtain for all future peals in them.

Consequently the peals by the Leicester Diocesan Guild of Moira Surprise Major on August 26th, 1963, should be renamed Purbeck Surprise Major and that of Ob Surprise Major on September 16th, 1963, should be renamed Oxney Surprise Major.

The committee wish to draw attention to this decision and to remind conductors that when a method is rung for the first time in a multi-method peal the name then given obtains for all future performances in, or including, the method.

(2) That the peal rung at Claybrooke on May 11th, 1963, and published as Dunelm Surprise Major should be renamed New Durham Surprise Major in accordance with the announcement made at the Central Council meeting, 1963, regarding the names of the extensions to Royal and Maximus which were rung first.—Yours faithfully,

C. KENNETH LEWIS,
Convener.

Methods Committee.

Bells and the P.C.C.

Dear Sir,—I was interested to read Mr. W. O. Caythorne's letter on page 828, in which he asks, 'What jurisdiction, if any, has a Parochial Church Council over the bells and activities of ringers of a parish church?'

The shortest answer, I believe, to this question is contained in one sentence of the rules of our own belfry, which were compiled in the year 1939 by our Rector of the day, i.e.:

'By law, the control of the bells and therefore of those who ring them belongs to the Rector.'

However, during the past 14 years, as a member of our own P.C.C. and at present captain of our own band of ringers, I can never remember the ringers being controlled in any way other than the rest of our church workers. It is, however, always a source of amusement to me that we ringers, unlike the organist, who also comes under the control of the Rector, carry out our duties with this rule constantly displayed before us.

As I hope shortly to start teaching our own Rector the art of ringing, I can say that, for a period at least, he will be under the control of a ringer!

Regarding the refusal of Rickmansworth's P.C.C. to allow the ringers permission to raise money for repairs to a cracked bell, then this could become a very different matter. There is a difference between control of the bells and repair or alteration to the bells. Most incumbents would refer a matter of this kind to the P.C.C. In fact for most major work a faculty or Archdeacon's certificate would be required.

It would not be proper for me to pass an opinion on Rickmansworth P.C.C. as they may have a very good reason for refusing such permission.

Your correspondent may be interested to know, however, that any parishioner is at liberty to apply for a faculty or Archdeacon's certificate for repairs, additions to, or removal from a church or churchyard.—Yours faithfully,

F. W. HUTT.

Byfield, Rugby.

Bells and the P.C.C.

Dear Sir,—In the absence of any reply from more learned readers, may I comment upon Mr. Caythorne's letter on page 828 with regard to 'Bells and the P.C.C.'?

It seems that the question of when bells shall be rung depends entirely on the incumbent, except for divine service when he has, apparently, no jurisdiction to prevent them from being rung.

With regard to the repair of the bells, or indeed any matter, such as an alteration to the control shuttering system which involves the expenditure of church funds, the authority is vested in the P.C.C. It was formerly the duty of the churchwardens to maintain the fittings of the church in repair, at the cost of the parish. The liability for the 'care, maintenance, preservation, and insurance' of the goods and ornaments of the Church has now, however, like that for the repair of the same, been transferred by the Measure of 1921 to the P.C.C.

Mention should be made of the provision of the same Measure requiring the P.C.C. to submit to the Annual Parochial Church Meeting, for its approval, a report on the fabric, goods and ornaments of the Church.

A parish church belongs not to any one generation, nor are its interests and conditions the exclusive care of those who inhabit the parish at any one period. It is in entire conformity with this aspect of the parish church that the law has forbidden any structural alterations to be made in it, except those which are approved by a disinterested authority in the person of the 'Ordinary.' Such approval is given by means of the grant of a faculty by the Chancellor of the Diocese. The Faculty Jurisdiction Measure, 1938, clearly contemplates that an application for a faculty should be supported by a resolution from the Council. It therefore seems to follow that the alteration of the shuttering of High Wycombe bells is subject to the consent of the P.C.C. even though in this case a faculty may have already been granted for the original project.

With regard to the final paragraph of Mr. Caythorne's letter, it is difficult to believe that the Rickmansworth P.C.C. have really refused permission for the ringers to raise money to repair a cracked bell, as reported on page 800, unless they feel that through such efforts the raising of funds for a more urgent matter would be jeopardised.

There is nothing to stop any outside agency from contributing towards the cost of the repair of the cracked bell, and to apply to the Ordinary for a faculty for the bell to be removed for repair.

The granting of a faculty lies entirely within the judicial discretion of the Ordinary, and the consent of neither the incumbent, nor the churchwardens, nor the parishioners is strictly necessary to the making of a grant, but the views of these persons (especially those of the incumbent), are entitled to the greatest consideration.

One cannot imagine, however, any P.C.C. refusing a sympathetic hearing to anyone graciously offering to help in the repair of the bells.

As Phillimore expresses it—'the duty of parishioners to keep their church and its fittings in good repair is now a moral one.'—Yours faithfully,

THOMAS C. BELTON.

Birstall.

Long Peal Attempts

Dear Sir,—Having read the interesting exchanges in recent weeks about long peals at the bell foundry I would like to make the following comments:—

(1) The 10 bells at the foundry are not suitable for long peal attempts other than by a band which gets regular practice on the 10 bells there.

(2) The conditions at the foundry are ideal for attempts on the back 8 and that is the reason for the number of attempts.

(3) Ringing a long peal of Minor on the back 6 is not the snip one or two people might imagine, and the recent long peal there was planned because we could not guarantee a warm belfry anywhere else at Christmas time! I found that 9½ hours Minor ringing on the foundry back six much heavier than 11½ hours at Worsley as far as wrist work is concerned.

(4) Loughborough Parish Church bells are not available for a long peal as enquiries were made over two years ago without success. However, Mr. Judge may be pleased to know that our next long peal attempt, on Easter Monday, is on the 12 at Birmingham Cathedral.

I notice that Mr. Blagrove is once again on his 'high-horse' with regard to Method Extension and Contraction. It's a pity that a band choosing a respectable name has to change it while names such as Llanfair P.G. and Ob are allowed to stand.—Yours sincerely,

ROBERT B. SMITH.

Macclesfield, Cheshire.

Standard Important in Record Peals

Dear Sir,—I was distressed to read Mr. Judge's second letter in 'The Ringing World' re the long length of Yorkshire Royal. I had hoped that the initials 'W.J.' were duplicated in Oxford ringing circles, as I have always held Mr. Judge in highest esteem, and read with interest what he has previously written, always finding good advice and instruction.

With regard to the ringing on that day, I may say that all the honours go to Mr. Ainsworth. It is no easy task for a conductor, having collected a band from far and near containing men who had previously rung with him in fine style a record of Yorkshire Major, to tell them that they are not up to the mark. May I stress that the ringing in those seven courses would have been acceptable to a great many conductors, and could not be termed bad by any stretch of the imagination. Neither had the umpire nor any other member of the band made any complaint about the standard of ringing.

In my opinion there is a difference between record peals and ordinary peals. In ordinary peals the minimum standard is that acceptable by the conductor, but a record peal is rung to surpass a previous peal and a spirit of competition is introduced. The conductor must now make sure that the standard is at least that of the previous record. This is what Mr. Ainsworth had in mind; he felt we had not hit the standard of the Worsley peal, with which I can agree, and therefore called a halt.

May I say once again that Mr. Judge is being unjust in trying to condemn Mr. Ainsworth for being honest.

Since there are so many ringers today capable of ringing a record of Yorkshire Royal, perhaps Mr. Judge will oblige by arranging an early attempt and thus give Bob Smith an excuse for capping it.—Yours faithfully,

BRIAN HARRIS.

Werrington, Peterborough.

LETTERS—Continued

Yorkshire Tail-Ends

Dear Sir,—I am very pleased to read that 'R. L.' and his team are fitting ropes with Yorkshire ends and I am convinced that they will enjoy great comfort from them. The length of rope between the billy and sally is determined to some extent by the diameter of the wheel and the rope makers will vary the ropes according to instructions; they will also omit the large knob at the end, which is entirely unnecessary.

One thing missing from Mr. Moreton's letter is the heading 'This is an order,' for it reads like a War Office directive. However, I find there is nothing in his criticism that I agree with, especially the point which he makes on the tendency to move the hands off the billy on to the single rope when ringing a heavyish bell. I have never tried climbing up a rope when ringing and have now lost the ability to attempt it. Furthermore, I can find no trace of this hand movement on the tail-end in the Central Council handbook.

Regarding the trial of bells before a touch in a tower where there are Yorkshire ends, surely difficulty is also experienced in 'bare back' towers. How on earth can it be found necessary to adjust a tail-end or use a box if the bell is not tried for length? More time is wasted at a meeting adjusting a tail-end than tying or removing a knot. At Wakefield Cathedral I saw a well-known ringing instructor take a bell and after a few acrobatic but undignified rounds he had to stand his bell and lengthen his rope. I see no objection in trying a bell for length, provided that two bells are not struck together; in fact a novice should definitely have a trial pull, as there is nothing more unnerving than to discover that the rope is too short and endure the glare of the 'experts'.

Mr. Moreton states that when sallies are new, many ringers find it difficult to get all the fingers round the main sally. We have never experienced any difficulty with this problem, even with young learners, although I can imagine it would not be easy for one who had one hand smaller than the other.

To return to the Central Council handbook, which states on page 9 'that the tail-end must not be so long that it impedes your vision or hits your face,' how can we adhere to this if we follow Mr. Moreton's advice of not trying for length or climbing up the rope?

May I suggest to ringers who are contemplating the purchase of new ropes to try Yorkshire ends and ring in comfort, but if money is tight the 'bare back' utilitarian ends must suffice.

In conclusion, it should be realised that our mentor, Jasper Snowdon, favoured the Yorkshire end.—Yours faithfully, NOEL F. MOXON.

Cawthorne, Barnsley.

Holt's Original in Kent

Dear Sir,—In reply to the letter from Mr. Holliss, on page 844, the number of times Holt's Original has been rung at St. John's, Deptford, for the Kent County Association is 40 (conductors: W. J. Jefferies 24, F. W. Richardson 8, E. B. Crowder 7, the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore 1). This tower tops the list, with Lewisham coming second, with 23 peals. In all, the peal has been rung for Kent in 64 towers.

I regret to say that my previous statement of the number of times the Original has been rung for Kent was incorrect, as I now find it should be 378, and 59 conductors.

In the 1931 Kent County Association Report, Peal No. 3,541 should be marked 'Holt's Original'.—Yours faithfully, T. E. SONE.

Brenchley, Kent.

Union Doubles for Election Year

Dear Sir,—It is good to see some changes of method in the Ringers' Notebook and Diary, 1964.

Is it significant that Union Doubles is included for election year. I note that no one runs out at a bob. I suppose if one did, they all would! Bob's all right for the extent?—Yours, etc., J. K. FOOT.

Rugby.

Double-handed Tower Bell Peals

Dear Sir,—In reply to a request by George Fry regarding 'People who have rung two tower bells to a peal,' the following list may be of assistance.

Place Notation

Dear Sir,—In answer to A. H. Kemp, perhaps he would like to look at the following:—

58 x 36, 14.58 x 12.38, 14 x 14.58, 16 x 34.5, Lead End.

A2/B5, 8/D3, 6/E1, 4/F5, 8/H1, 2/I3, 8/J1, 4/L1, 4/M5, 8/N1, 6/P3, 4/Q5, Lead End.

Both are the same method, i.e., Cricklewood Surprise Major.

Does he really think his system is easier? As it can be seen, it takes up a lot more room, and I found typing it out tricky, and it would be very easy to trip up when doing so.

I must admit I agree with Mr. Kemp, if the Lead End is included it is a help in checking. I find the first four place bells (i.e., 1573) is enough.

I am sure there are plenty of ringers who will help him if he finds trouble with place notation.—Yours faithfully,

GEOFFREY R. DREW

Arle, Cheltenham.

Christmas Day Broadcast

Dear Sir,—I was rather surprised to read that Mr. Hedgecock was disappointed at the Christmas Day broadcast as I for one enjoyed it very much and I feel that the remarks passed are in very poor taste.

The bells on the Light Programme on Sundays from Evercreech are a joy to listen to but are being rung by a representative band from the area while I presume that most of the bells on Christmas Day were being rung by members of the local bands, and they were all trying to ring at their very best. In my experience some ringers cannot help being nervous when being recorded, even on a tape, and make mistakes that would never normally occur.

If any of the ringers who took part in the broadcast have been upset may I say carry on with your ringing and take no notice of such remarks.

Letters of Mr. Hedgecock's nature do not do any good, but will only upset people, and even if he thinks his area can do better than others it is not wise to state so as even 'the mighty fall'.—Yours sincerely, ALAN F. LEE.

Bath.

Dear Sir,—I have just read Mr. Dunstan's letter in a recent 'Ringing World,' concerning the Christmas Day broadcast. I would say that as conductor of the touch of Grandsire Triples at Dunblane Cathedral, it is a little disappointing to hear it interpreted as Stedman by Mr. Dunstan. I had not thought that the striking was as bad as all that, although it was not perfect by any means. For those who are interested, the touch was 167 Grandsire, composed, I believe, by John Carter. Written shortly, it is: P S P S B S P P P B B P (round at handstroke).

A possible explanation of the exclusion of Lincoln Cathedral was that the broadcast did not begin until nine minutes past nine, as the News was late finishing, and the B.B.C. cut into the programme in order to end at 9.30 a.m. John Snagge referred to Apsley End as the third St. Mary's to be heard, when it was in fact the second, Lincoln Cathedral, however, is dedicated to St. Mary.—Yours faithfully,

M. J. MARRIOTT.

Elstow, Beds.

Dear Sir,—I am afraid I disagree with Mr. Dunstan in thinking the latest Christmas broadcast to be the best so far produced. I have recordings, on tape, of the last three or four years' and on comparing them I do not think the 1963 broadcast in general reaches the standard of some other years. However, we cannot expect every year to be an improvement on the previous one.

There is no doubt that Market Drayton bells were very good indeed, as also were Dunblane's, but I thought the microphone was placed in a very unfortunate position at Swindon, making judgment very hard to pass.

It was most disappointing not to hear Lincoln Cathedral, which we might have done had the broadcast been 'live.' I think this is a small price to pay, though, considering the improved standard of the recorded broadcasts even if, as this time, it has to be curtailed.—Yours faithfully,

D. C. MANGER.

Chelsfield, Kent.

Right-place Surprise Major Collection

Dear Sir,—The demand for our collection has been so great that very few copies of Volume I remain unsold. Since at present we cannot afford the time to make a second impression, anyone who wants a copy should write to us as soon as possible.

We thank those who have pointed out our mistakes, and we will send a full list of corrections to you for publication in the next few weeks.—Yours faithfully,

A. S. HUDSON,
J. W. McLENNAGHAN.

Rang Together for Fifty Years at Redruth

MR. H. SEYMOUR

Mr. E. S. SEYMOUR

ON December 31st two brothers, Messrs. H. and E. S. Seymour, completed 50 years of faithful service ringing at Redruth Parish Church. Their ringing started as schoolboys and perhaps it was traditional as their grandfather was a ringer at St. Austell and their father captain at Redruth in 1900. Both are also servers; Mr. H. Seymour is a sidesman and his brother churchwarden. Another of their interests is freemasonry, and they both took part in the only Masonic peal rung by a local band in Cornwall.

The brothers are also keen members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade. Mr. E. S. Seymour obtained the rank of County Officer of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem and was made a Serving Brother in 1954; he is also a member of the Executive Committee of the Friends of the Camborne and Redruth Hospital Society. The brothers are employed by the Climax Engineering Company in Camborne.

The members of Redruth Church hope they will both be able to serve for many more years.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Bath Branch

The annual meeting of the Bath Branch was held at St. Michael with St. Paul's, Broad Street, on January 4th. Ringing up to Double Norwich and Cambridge was enjoyed on the octave until the fully choral service. The Vicar of Twerton (the Rev. L. A. B. White) officiated, and the sermon was preached by the Rev. R. Kinsey (Twerton).

The secretary's report stated that 1963 had been quite a successful year, with some towers having increased membership. Peals in the Branch had dropped by one to 16; these included two for the late President John Kennedy. Congratulations were offered to Mr. Edmund King, on ringing a quarter peal on his 80th birthday.

Officers elected for 1964 were: Chairman, Rev. L. A. B. White; vice-chairmen, the Revs. E. Rowe, E. Sargent and F. Pollard; secretary, Mr. Alan Lee; treasurer, Mr. T. J. Milsom; Ringing Masters, Messrs. H. Parfrey and J. Owen.

Among the 80 people present were the general sec. (Mr. G. Salmon), and the secretary and Ringing Master of the Frome Branch, Messrs. Chivers and Beck. The Branch is to send in the name of its secretary, Mr. A. Lee, for nomination to the post of peal secretary of the Association.

Six new members were elected, two each from Weston and Keynsham, and one each from the Abbey and Batheaston.

EXHALL DELIGHT MINOR

The method is a variation of Pontefract. Thirds place Delight method (11.A. C.C. Collection, 1961). The work in 3-4 and 5-6 being the same. The pair in 1-2 do a T.B. slow work together, but dodge at the half-lead! 2nds place L.H.=42635. B. Lead=64235. Rung as a 5 040 at Exhall-by-Coventry on January 1st, 1964, and provisionally named Exhall Delight. W. A. STOTE.

EAST RIDING RINGERS' ANNUAL DINNER

On December 28th 46 ringers and friends attended the annual dinner at the Lairgate Hotel in Beverley. East Riding towers represented were Beverley, Cottingham, Howden, Kirk Ella, Sutton-on-Hull and Walkington; and in addition ringing friends from St. Chad's, Headingley, and Warwick were also present.

The dinner was preceded by afternoon ringing at Hedon, Cottingham and St. Mary's, Beverley. After an excellent meal, colour slides of the summer ringing tour, together with other outings during the year, were shown. An interesting movie film of Hull Fair, complete with sound track, thrilled the company.

It was decided that the Whit Monday outing in 1964 should be to towers in the Wharfedale area, and that the next annual cycling tour should be centred in the Vale of Evesham. A proposal for a visit to the Bell Foundry at Loughborough also proved popular.

Our thanks are due to Christopher Brown for making all the arrangements, and to the incumbents and local tower captains for the use of their bells. I. N. G.

ROUGHAM'S GOOD YEAR

St. Mary's, Rougham, had a very good year in 1963, ringing 48 720's of Minor in 20 different methods. With one exception, the band rang twice each Sunday, two midnight services and four early Holy Communions and every Thursday practice. Members contribute 2/6 a month for new ropes, and last year spent £25 on a new set.

The 720's rung were: Plain Bob 9, Ipswich 7, Cambridge 6, Netherseal 3, Kent T.B. 3, Oxford T.B. 3, Bourne 2, Norwich 2, Double Court 2, Double Oxford 2, one each of Single Court, Woodbine, Grandsire Minor, Oxford Bob, Reverse Canterbury Plain, Hereward, St. Clement's, London Bob and College Single Reverse.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

N.E. District Annual

St. Leonard's-at-the-Hythe, Colchester, ringers were the hosts for the annual meeting on January 4th. It was heartening to have a robed choir of over a score for the service. Here 11 choristers and the organist are ringers.

The honorary District secretary (Mr. F. H. Erith) reported at the business meeting that 24 quarter peals had been rung during the year and seven members rang their first quarter. Fifteen peals had been rung (one by a non-local band), that at Shrub End, Colchester, was the first on the bells and that at Little Horkesley the first on the bells in that tower. The following four ringers had rung their first peal: Peter Pitt, St. Leonard's; Jennifer Andrews, Thorington; Clive Hughes, Ardleigh; and Susan Wenden, Great Bromley.

It was resolved to ask the Dedham Church Council to restore the historic peal boards, which are degenerating in the belfry. The bells here have been unringable for over 70 years.

The Master, Mr. Frank Lufkin, said he felt optimistic about the future because there were so many young people present. He admonished them to enjoy their ringing, so that they would become better ringers.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to Mr. F. Oliver, head ringer at St. Leonard's, and other helpers for their splendid organisation and tea. F. H. E.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The annual meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch at Paignton, on January 4th, was well attended and there were visitors from the Exeter and South-West Branches. The ringing consisted of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major, with rounds for the less experienced. The Vicar (Preb. J. W. G. Molland) conducted the service and heartily welcomed the members.

The business meeting, with Mrs. D. E. Hood in the chair, followed tea in the Parish Hall.

The secretary (Mr. D. J. Roberts), in his report, said it had generally been a great year. Only five quarter peals had been rung. Visiting ringers had rung four peals, past and present pupils of Torquay Schools rang a peal of Grandsire Doubles at Torre and a 'wonderful' peal of Grandsire Triples had been rung at Buckfast Abbey in memory of President Kennedy. There had been a drop of eight members during the year.

The officers were re-elected as follows: Chairman, Mrs. D. E. Hood; secretary and treasurer, Mr. D. J. Roberts; Ringing Master, Mr. W. Simmonds; and committee members, Miss M. Russell, Messrs. B. E. Bartlett and A. Goss, with votes of thanks for their past services.

Three new members—K. Rogers (Dartmouth), P. Bruin (Paignton) and R. Caffney (Babbacombe)—were elected; and it was decided to send a message of good-will to the general secretary, who was indisposed. Discussion took place regarding future meetings at Buckfast Abbey, and the possibility of a week-end course on ringing. The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Vicar, organist, the ladies' tea committee, and to Mr. J. Kelly, of Paignton, for making the arrangements.

Next meeting: Teignmouth, April 4th.

The Old Clock Tower, Hackney

Dear Sir,—Perhaps other readers will be interested to learn of the clock bell in the Clock Tower, Hackney.

It is approximately 2ft. 3in. diameter, supported by a wooden headstock on a wood frame. Around the bell is the inscription: J. WARNER & SON, CRESCENT FOUNDRY, LONDON, 1857. On one side of the bell is a royal coat of arms with the word PATENT underneath.

Has anyone information about the Crescent Foundry, etc.? Sad to say, the bell is not working as the public in the vicinity disagreed in having to hear the hours struck.—Yours sincerely, L. B. J. HINKLEY

Secretary.

St. John at Hackney Ringers.

SHEBBEAR COLLEGE'S APPEAL FOR PARISH CHURCH BELLS

Shebbear College, North Devon, has a Change Ringing Society of 30 members and a substantial waiting list. On January 1st they launched an appeal to raise £1,000 to rehang the bells of Shebbear Parish Church, and already all Old Boy members of the Society have been informed by post. Present members are running a fete-cum-sale in Shebbear Village Hall on January 25th.

The Master (John L. Queen) writes that the Society is divided into four groups. The first team are making a start with Double Oxford and Cambridge Minor; the second is making good progress with Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob Minor, and the junior team can now plain hunt on six bells. There are also the beginners.

The boys come from all over England and for this reason many Guilds do or will see something of them. Perhaps some of these Guilds would find it possible to help us with some small contribution, indeed some already have, for which we are most grateful. To all who feel that this is a worthwhile cause we appeal for help as generous as possible.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD Bingham District

When the Bingham District met at Shelford on December 14th, they found the church was in keeping with the wintry weather—extremely cold. But there was a very warm welcome from the curate (the Rev. Mr. Widdowson). Ten towers were represented, and a special welcome was given to four young ringers from Cotgrave. Mr. F. Bradley was Ringing Master and ringing continued until 8 p.m.

The service was followed by tea in the Chapel Room, and the business consisted, in the main, of arranging for future events, viz.: Bingham for the annual in January, Willoughby-on-the-Wolds for February, and a joint meeting with Newark Branch in March, probably at East Bridgford. R. B.

OUTING*BROMHAM OUTING

On December 14th the Bromham ringers, with friends from several other towers, enjoyed what is, presumably, the last outing of the year, when they visited North Crawley, Chicheley, Newport Pagnell, Lathbury, Sherington, Weston Underwood, Olney and Yardley Hastings.

On this trip, great variety was enjoyed—variety of bells, of methods, scenery and, indeed, of weather! But one thing remained constant, the standard of ringing was good all through.

Oh, sorry! there was just one exception. Lathbury, where a quantity of building materials had to be removed from the bell chamber before we could ring at all and, judging by the 'go' of the bells, I should say the bell frame was removed, too!

Many thanks to incumbents for the privilege of using their bells, and also to the local ringers for meeting us and making us so welcome, and a final 'thank you' to Miss K. Rivett for her excellent arrangements.

Mr. Alan Ainsworth, while only a recent arrival in Birmingham, has had the honour of being elected Ringing Master of the St. Martin's Guild. Alan had a long record of being in office with the Durham and Newcastle Association, including the vice-presidency of one of the Branches.

The bells of All Saints', Caddington, Luton, which have been unringable for 120 years, will be dedicated tonight (January 17th) at 7.30.

The Bicester tower will feel the loss this week of Mr. and Mrs. M. Thurmott, who are leaving Bicester for Bradford, Yorks.

The letter, 'The Old Clock Tower, Hackney' (page 4, issue January 3rd), was written by L. B. J. Hinkley and not Huntley.

The quarter peal at Cheriton, Kent, on December 30th was rung by six girl ringers from the Folkestone band, all under 20. Jane Hough (aged 14) conducted her first quarter.

Rotherham Parish Church ringers raised £17 for church funds by ringing carols on handbells in Rotherham churchyard on Saturday, December 21st. An attempt for a peal of Stedman Caters at the Parish Church was lost after 2½ hours.

The peal in 40 Doubles methods rung at Whetstone on December 27th was a birthday compliment to Mrs. H. Needham (wife of Whetstone's Ringing Master) and Mrs. G. Charlton (wife of Croft's Ringing Master); and also on the 26th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. H. Stitson, of Croft.

Apocryphal record length peals being up to standard, a correspondent asks why, if the ringing in the record Royal handbell attempt was 'not up to standard required in any peal, 'Stand' was not called instead of the ringing being called round and a peal of 13,000 odd being claimed.

Mrs. Garner, of Barwell, wishes to thank Miss Armstrong, of Morpeth, Northumberland, for sending the local paper and letter to her late husband during his long and painful illness. This followed an item in Belfry Gossip recently. Considering the two had never heard of each other previously, this column has been the medium through which Mr. Garner's distress was made a little easier.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The 50th anniversary of the Bicester and District Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was on December 13th and it was celebrated by a quarter peal of Grandire Doubles at Brill. A founder member is Mr. James Marriott, of Launton, who, until a few weeks before Christmas, was ringing regularly at Launton and Caversfield. A peal of Plain Bob Major was rung at Bicester on January 4th.

The Oxford Diocesan Guild's annual festival will be held on June 27th.

The memorial service for Mr. E. H. Lewis on November 2nd was held at St. Michael's, Cornhill, and not at Cripplegate, as was inadvertently stated in our issue of January 3rd.

We are pleased to state that Mr. J. E. Jeater is back home from hospital and is heroically tackling a post of over 1,000 letters. The good wishes of many friends are much appreciated.

Mr. John David, of St. Peter Port, Guernsey, asks if it is common practice in England for sets of three bells to be hung for ringing, rather than chiming, as at one time all the three bell towers in Guernsey, except perhaps St. Martin's, were so fitted.

Suggestion made at Baldock dinner for getting variety when only only three turned up for service ringing. Begin 1, 2, 3. Treble set, crossed over to 4 and the bells sounded 2, 3, 4 for a while. Second stood and went to 5, so it was 3, 4, 5, then 4, 5, 6. The process was reversed, and another member of the band came rushing up the stairs shouting: 'Whatever's happening?'

The ringers in the peal at Exhall-by-Coventry on January 1st would like to associate with it the name of David S. L. Lloyd, who not only gave valuable assistance in ringing the method (Exhall Delight) on practice nights but rang the treble to the quarter on November 11th, and also stood in the abortive peal attempt on December 23rd. He and Anne, his fiancée, were married at their home town, Bridgend, Glam., on December 28th. Through 'The Ringing World' the band offer their congratulations and best wishes for the years to come.

PEALS AT LOUGHBOROUGH FOUNDRY

By DEREK P. JONES

HAVING frequently rung at the Loughborough Bell Foundry campanile myself, I am constrained to comment upon the recent correspondence regarding the standard of peal attempts there. I have held Mr. Walter Judge in great respect (almost amounting to awe!) for many years, and his opinions are well worthy of attention, but I feel that in this case he is not conversant at first hand with some difficulties often encountered on this delightful ring of bells, which are so readily placed at the disposal of visitors by the kindness of Messrs. J. Taylor and Co.

There are many rings of bells, old and new, in Britain where any band of reasonable ability could hardly fail to settle to a good rhythm almost from the word 'go'; the bells lend themselves to it. Unfortunately this is not usually the case at the Foundry. A picked band of excellent strikers and safe method ringers, who could probably ring almost a perfect peal on a ring of ten with tenor say 25 cwts., would just as probably fail to perform anything like so satisfactorily at the Foundry. They would be aware that not all was well, but despite much effort to improve and get a beat, it might elude them for a considerable slice of their peal. Something like this must have happened in the record attempt that was under fire; rather than score a peal that did not give them real satisfaction in retrospect, they rightly chose to stop. The extended practice they had had, and probably a discussion in the interim on the technique required, enabled them to settle down to ring two peals of a much better standard afterwards. To my mind this course does not betray inexperience, but a mature outlook on their ringing by those concerned.

I have been in attempts at the Foundry where I have tired my heart out to help to hit a beat, and others have been doing the same, yet it never quite came for ages; then suddenly it would appear from nowhere: the ringing would click into gear, often with a noticeable quickening of pace, and a most satisfying period of highly rhythmical ringing would ensue; but why it did not come before could be quite baffling.

At risk of criticism, I would venture the following ideas as to why this difficulty occurs. Firstly, it is the great degree of bell control needed to handle the lighter bells well, a kind of wrist-action akin to handbell ringing. Secondly, the very fast rate of striking which these bells seem to demand if the ringing is not to appear 'aggressively slow'; and thirdly, following upon this, some problems of odd-struckness in the case of at least three of the bells. This is not so serious that on a heavier ring it could not be easily corrected by a careful ringer and be of no consequence; but when 5,000 changes are being rung in not much over two hours, any gap, however slight, appears like a gaping hole, and disrupts the rhythm in a shattering way. The ninth has literally to be driven hard at backstroke, and conversely the tenor at hand, or else it is 'left behind'; this can require as much effort, mental and physical, to achieve, as to correct odd-struckness on a much heavier bell. Again, in quite a few peals which never quite 'hit the jackpot,' the fault could be traced, I suspect, to the 4th not being brought along quite quickly enough at handstroke, thus leaving an unsuitable gap at lead, a guaranteed destroyer of rhythm.

It is wrong to sneer at peals at the Foundry, and compare those who go there unfavourably with those who ring theirs on so-called men's bells. Being able to heave a lot of metal around is not the be-all-and-end-all of the ringer's art; qualities of skill, mental concentration and self-discipline equally worthy of commendation are required to ring a good peal at the Foundry. It is also a mistake to speak of the Foundry bells slightly in terms that suggest there has been nothing worth listening to when you have done your peal; they are extremely musical, and when the rhythm is really established, a sheer delight to ring under. Unfortunately this is bottled up in layers of brick, and little can be appreciated in the street outside. The latter circumstance is, of course, the reason why they are ideal for long lengths; it would be most unfair to the listening public, and harmful to the cause of ringing, to attempt such long and frequent peals at most church towers as are the order of the day at the Foundry, thanks again to the kindness of J. Taylor and Co.

I hope this will help to clarify the position a bit for readers who are not privileged to be able to visit Loughborough easily.

200 YEARS OF RINGING AT LEEDS PARISH CHURCH

The marriage of the Prince of Wales and Princess Alexandra in March was marked by intermittent ringing from early morning until 11 p.m., when after a Royal salute the 'bells were ceased firing.'

Another ringing marathon in 1864 followed the accouchement of the Princess of Wales at 9 p.m. The following day merry peals were rung up to midnight by order of the Mayor and Corporation.

Scarcely had this ringing died away before there came the 'gratifying intelligence that the Lords of the Privy Council had decided to recommend Leeds as Assize Town for the West Riding.'

Five months later the Order was signed by H.M. the Queen at Windsor and, so says our historian, immediately not only the Parish Church bells, but those of St. John's, Bramley, Burley, Headingley and Hunslet rang out and the great Victoria bell at the Town Hall for good measure.

This is the only reference to the four bells at St. John's, Briggate, where to-day the president of the Yorkshire Association is Vicar, while the Victoria bell, the 4-ton hour bell at the Town Hall, has not been considered safe to swing for many years.

Why there should have been such ecstasy over the matter is difficult to understand but apparently it was so.

THE FIRST ASSIZE

The first Assize and the preceding procession to the Parish Church are described in detail, even to the names of the convicted murderers, whose execution at Armley Gaol provided entertainment for, says the report, 100,000 spectators.

The writing at this time indicates a less educated hand and I suspect the writer may have meant 10,000, or perhaps even 1,000, for I cannot imagine that something like three times the number of a Headingley Test match could have assembled round the gaol, although we may take it there was quite a crowd.

And whilst on the subject of entertainment, not that it was at all funny at the time, I quote in full a faded newspaper cutting, yellow with age, pasted in the book and bearing a pencilled date, October 27th, 1868.

'SINGULAR ACCIDENT IN THE LEEDS PARISH CHURCH

'On Sunday evening last a large board commemorating a peal of 1818 and weighing about one hundredweight fell on the heads of Mr. Gawkrödger and Mr. Lockwood, who were knocked down and much injured about the head although not seriously.

'The chamber was so filled with dust that the other ringers could not at first perceive what had taken place and made their way out of the room as quick as possible, thinking the whole fabric was coming down, but only to return and find the two individuals laid prostrate underneath the large board.

'As there are five other boards of a similar description in the tower, a strict examination will take place so as to avoid a repetition of a similar accident for the future.'

'SECULAR' RINGING

One wonders whether permission was ever sought for the frequent 'secular' ringing which took place on every conceivable pretext. And how did the ringers differentiate between the various candidates who paid different rates for ringing at the declaration of the poll?

Special ringing marked the opening of three railways from Leeds between the years 1846 and 1849 (ought we to pay muffled tribute to them when Mr. Beeching closes them?), while the passing of Sir Robert Peel's Corn Law Bill and the Free Trade Festival likewise were considered worthy of ringing and even the Indian Mutiny did not escape. 'Ringing for the Indian Mutiny' was not so callous as it appears at first sight, as it transpired that the tenor bell was tolled (muffled) for two services on the Public Fast Day, W. Gawkrödger and S. Priestley receiving five shillings each for their trouble.

Six months later Peace with Russia, signed in Paris, honoured in Leeds on April 1st: two months later Grand Illuminations in Leeds in honour of Peace with Russia and finally the Public Entry of the 4th Dragoon Guards on return from the Crimea netted altogether £16 19s.

RANG AT MIDNIGHT

Visions of a clandestine burial in the dead of night are conjured up by the entry: '1830, July 5th. This day being the funeral of His Majesty George IV (which took place at midnight),' but reading on it appears that after evening service 5,000 New Treble Bob was completed 43 minutes after midnight. As 'muffled peals was rung during the day' into the bargain the report concludes '... it was scarcely possible to pay a higher degree of respect for the deceased King than was exhibited at Leeds.'

Like the wedding of the widow Bold in Anthony Trollope's 'Barchester Towers,' the opening of the new ring of eight at Holbeck in 1871 'went off with great éclat,' which is more than can be said of the occasion 60 years later when the Warner eight of 1871, recast by Gillett's into a lighter eight, were opened, an event which may have influenced to some extent the ultimate decision upon Leeds bells the following year, but that is another story.

After 90 years without attention by the bell-hangers, Leeds bells had become very hard-going and the recasting and rehanging of these bells was the 'plum' bell restoration of 1932, the year in which Ripon Cathedral and Boston 'Stump' bells also went into the pot.

THE GREAT MISTAKE

The authorities were given conflicting advice. Taylor rightly advised a lighter tenor of 30 cwt., whereas Gillett's, backed up by an 'independent advisor,' specified a 43 cwt. tenor with at least two bells hoisted. The churchwardens were solid on the idea of a tenor comparable to Beverley Minster, why one can only speculate, and in placing the order with Taylor they insisted upon a heavier tenor. This was the worst possible advice from every angle—structural, musical and practical.

It is a recognised fact that a ring of bells which has been crammed into a tower with the proverbial shoehorn never sounds as well as one which has 'breathing space'—I am told on good authority that the bells from Bishop Ryder's do not sound quite as good in the smaller tower at Harborne—and this is why, in my opinion, our 'light eight' (tenor 17 cwt. in F) heard outside is musically superior to the twelve, magnificent though the twelve undoubtedly are, especially now that we have had the louvres blocked up completely.

Even in those days the Leeds ringers were for the most part ageing with no young blood whatsoever, so it required no stretch of imagination to foresee that before long ringing at Leeds Parish Church would become a serious problem.

NO TOWER FOR LEARNERS

Heavy bells, a rocking tower—the tower sways when only one of the light bells is turned over—and a long draught of rope are encouraging neither for pupil nor instructor.

How gladly would I exchange all 13 bells for a lighter ring such as the Bradford 10 were it within my power to do so but I fear such a flight of fancy must ever remain a dream and one must be reconciled to slopping away indefinitely on heavy bells, a lasting memorial to incompetence.

The problem of Leeds was not unknown for when I came to Leeds 30 years ago the late president of the Yorkshire Association told me that the Association expected me to teach a service band at Leeds 'one day.' It is one thing to make specious promises but quite another when it comes to fulfilling them.

When the bells were recast and rehung in 1932 they were cluttered up by no less than 45 hammers, which by degrees have now been reduced to eight (six for the clock and two for chiming).

The Ellacombe chimes fell into disuse and after an accident with the tenor bell which, perhaps a little unjustly, we were able to attribute to the Ellacombe hammer, we were allowed to dispose of it to defray the cost of a new set of ropes.

Then the carillon, a huge double-barrelled affair, likewise got into disfavour by playing three verses of a hymn at 11 o'clock one night, then its huge weight became jammed at the base of the shaft in which it is now walled up, and as the machine stood over the hatchway and had to be dismantled to allow a passage-way for the clock when it was converted to electric winding, it was decided not to replace it, which relieved us of a further 26 hammers.

I mentioned an accident with the tenor which was a parallel of the story of the battle lost for want of a nail but in this case it was the tenor bell lost for want of a split pin.

THE TENOR CRASHES

One practice night in 1949, the bells in rounds before the last touch, which was to be Grandsire Caters, there came a thud of a heavy clapper falling and before someone had the presence of mind to call 'Stand' there followed a deafening roar (it was the 42 cwt. tenor landing on her side of the floor)—the tenor man bounded for the door still holding the tail end—I can recall the scene vividly.

By one chance in a hundred the clapper had become lodged cornerwise across the Ellacombe hammer and the base girder of the frame, in which position it stopped the bell in full flight and something had to give way. The 'something' was the headstock, which snapped across, while the offending clapper was merely slightly bent and the bell unscathed.

I am quite certain that had we had Gillett's bells tuned right up in the crown, as we could so easily have had—then the bell would have broken away at the shoulder, as happened in several cases—one I can call to mind, where a broken stay was believed to have become jammed endways against the frame.

As with most towers, our fortunes have ebbed and flowed—at the moment they are somewhat on the ebb—but we are fortunate in having a promising and most probably the youngest conductor in the history of the tower, not that 'Norving' appears to have noticed him.

Whether Leeds will ever regain its past tradition is purely a matter of conjecture—and hope. I am reminded of the proverb—I can't remember where I heard it— which runs something like this, 'Aim at the sky and you may hit the top of the trees.'

B.B.C. APOLOGISE TO LINCOLN

At the annual meeting of the company of ringers of the Cathedral of the Blessed Virgin Mary, at Lincoln, held on January 7th, the Dean (the Rt. Rev. D. C. Dunlop) read a letter from the producer of the Christmas Day bells broadcast apologising for the exclusion of the Cathedral bells.

The letter explained that originally on Christmas morning the news had been allotted five minutes. A decision was taken to extend the news in order to cover more fully the Lakonia disaster and it was not possible to put back the Queen's speech, which followed, therefore the beginning of the programme was cut to the exclusion of the Cathedral bells. The letter intimated that if at all possible Lincoln would be included next year.

The Cathedral company were well satisfied with this letter and its somewhat obvious explanation, writes Mr. G. Paul, the honorary secretary.

KIDDERMINSTER REVIVAL

Readers will be pleased to hear that the St. Mary's Society, Kidderminster, has been re-formed. The 12 bells, after several years' silence, are being rung regularly on Thursday evenings. It is now hoped that ringing, morning and evening, will commence on Easter Sunday, provided the newcomers to the Art will be experienced enough to undertake the duty. Many thanks are due to the ringers from neighbouring towers, too numerous to mention, who appear on Thursdays to help achieve this aim.

Though the ropes are at present unfit for peal ringing, it is expected that in the very near future this will be put right, and applications for the bells for this purpose will be met as far as possible, but peal attempts are being restricted to one every two months.

BALDOCK RINGERS' DINNER

The entry of several young men dressed in extreme 'Beatle' style, with appropriate hair cuts, surprised those waiting at 'The Rose and Crown' for Baldock ringers' annual dinner to start on December 21st. They were not, however, ringers, but a group known as the Rolling Stones, who had had a mishap on the way to an engagement in London.

The traditional dinner was excellent. Canon Brechley welcomed the visitors from other towers, then Miss J. Sanderson proposed the health of the Baldock Guild. 'Baldock is one tower where you can always be sure of a welcome,' she said, 'and an opportunity to meet and make friends. You may also find yourself ringing methods you did not expect to, but there cannot be much wrong with a Guild which can supply two presidents for the County Association.' She commended the work of the Guild in teaching learners and said most towers in the area owed a debt to Baldock for help so generously given.

Mr. E. G. Buck, in his reply, thanked the visitors to Wednesday practices, who not only received help but helped the Guild. They had seen their oldest member elected president, and by all reports he was making himself known throughout the county as no other president had done for a long time. Congratulations were given to Mr. and Mrs. C. Worboys, newly married.

An announcement: Annual outing, Nottingham area, June 27th. J. S.

50 YEARS AGO

'R.W.' January 23rd, 1914.—

In these days when so much attention is being paid to the restoration of bells, it is not often that one hears of two men being required to get one bell through a peal: still more rare is it, happily, that two bells each required two men. Such, however, was the case at Wigan, in a peal which we record this week. There were two men for the 7th and two for the tenor, which is 28 cwt. We hope if, as one may suppose, it was the 'go' of the bells which caused so much effort to be required, that the church authorities will speedily have this condition of affairs remedied.

UP AND COMING YOUNGSTERS—No. 13

NICHOLAS W. H. SIMON,
Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association.

Wales has many beautiful churches and cathedrals, most of which have a ring of bells with a band of keen and warmhearted ringers always ready to welcome a visitor. Encouraging for the future is the presence of youth in most of the belfries. Llandaff Cathedral is one, and here in charge is a ringer who, in a very short space of time, has achieved a very creditable record. He is Nicholas Simon, son of the Bishop of Llandaff.

Nicholas was born at Llandaff on February 19th, 1946. He is now at Llandaff High School reading 'A' level economics, history and English, with a view to going to a university. He learned to ring at Llandaff Cathedral, starting at the age of 14, and was taught by two well known ringers—Mr. Nevil James, captain of the Cathedral band, and Mr. M. I. Yeoman, of St. John's, Cardiff. Ringing three times each Sunday for services gave him an excellent opportunity to become proficient.

He succeeded in ringing his first peal at the first attempt, when he rang the treble to Plain Bob Major at the Cathedral, the peal being conducted by Bryn Taylor. His first peal as conductor was Plain Bob Major on handbells at his home, 'Llys Esgot,' Llandaff, on November 8th, 1961, and his first as conductor on tower bells was in the same method on December 26th, 1961, at Whitchurch, Glam.

It is now less than three years since Nicholas started to learn to ring and his determination to reach the heights has already gained for him a total of 47 peals—33 on tower bells and 14 on handbells. Of this grand total he has conducted no fewer than 21.

His ambition, which, if achieved, will require a great deal of hard work and devotion, is to maintain regular Sunday service ringing at Llandaff Cathedral equal to the best in Wales in both striking and methods. This brilliant youngster, who has recently been elected captain at the Cathedral, states that he prefers the music of Grandsire and Stedman Caters to that of any Surprise method.

Wales can be justly proud of Nicholas Simon, who has gained for himself a record worthy of congratulations from the whole Exercise. NORVING.

A YORKSHIRE BAND THAT WON THROUGH

The peal of Bob Doubles at Walkington, East Yorkshire, is a remarkable achievement for members of the local band. It was the first peal at the first attempt for all the band, and the first on the bells. The standard of the ringing can be judged from the fact that there were no mistakes made which required correction by another member of the band.

The bells were installed in March, 1959, and are a light but very tuneful ring of six. At first progress with ringing was slow, there being no experienced ringers in the small parish, but within two years the first 120 of Doubles had been rung. Only two of the original ringers remain, most of the present team having been taught in the last three years. Their success is largely due to the efforts of the tower captain, Miss Joan Gray, who leads an enthusiastic and loyal band of 13 ringers. The majority of them are teenagers, and all take an active part in the life of the church, holding offices ranging from chorister to churchwarden.

The achievements of the Walkington ringers are outstanding. The bells have been rung every Sunday since their installation, and all the ringers except the latest recruit have rung quarter peals. Six of them have called quarter peals. Most of them are members of the Beverley and District Ringing Society and participate enthusiastically in social events. The band now have quite a repertoire of Doubles and Minor methods, and can ring Kent Minor for Sunday service. Some of the ringers can now ring Treble Bob Major, and one can competently ring a 2 ton tenor.

The Walkington ringers deserve the congratulations of the whole Exercise.

IN A GUERNSEY MUSEUM

The Lukis and Island Museum at Guernsey contains the notebook of W. C. Lukis, which gives details of the bells in about 400 towers, particularly Wiltshire. The information given is number of bells, inscriptions, diameter of tenor and the weight of the tenor deducted from a table in the back. The notebook can be inspected, writes John David, of Clifton, Guernsey, but cannot be taken from the building. There is a reference to two other volumes, but no trace of them in the museum.

A SUSSEX-KENT WEEK-END

The combination of 21 towers in two days and a 6 a.m. start in the middle of winter would be enough to deter most people but 11 ringers possessing more enthusiasm than sense left Putney on December 7th for a Sussex-Kent tour.

Ian Smith, who helped with the arrangements, met the party at Battle and there was an inauspicious start at Dallington followed by a rough half-course of Cambridge at Burwash (eight bells). Ringing deteriorated at Heathfield but on the pleasant sounding eight at Uckfield we scored our first touch of Double Norwich. Diana Gough and Tony Bishop joined the party at Ringmer.

After lunch ringing improved at John Goldsmith's church at Southover, with Grandsire and Royal and two courses of Duffield Royal. At Pevensey, we heard about the black magic orgy at Westham. We were expected at Westham, although we did not ring there, and it was when the Ringing Master went supposedly to meet us that he discovered the desecration. We thus had a flattering allusion on the front page of 'The People.'

Following tea at Hastings we were privileged to ring on the new Taylor eight at St. Clement's and, at the Ringing Master's request, we were recorded ringing a touch of Stedman Triples for broadcasting on New Zealand radio. The recording commenced with chiming the fourth bell, which was given by the citizens of Hastings, New Zealand. A superb course of Bristol at Battle closed the day's ringing.

On the icy roads next morning Margaret Frost had a magnificent skid and we reached Hawkhurst five minutes before the service. A course of Bristol came to grief through a broken rope at Goudhurst, and methods up to Yorkshire were rung at Cranbrook. After a fine lunch at the George, Cranbrook, came Kent's heaviest eight, at Tenterden, where ringing included Putney and Bristol Surprise. Our first of Superlative was rung at Rolvenden but the finest ringing of the outing was London Surprise Major at Lydd. The outing finished at Iden. Because of running into fog at East Grinstead our arrival at Putney was delayed until 1.30 a.m. Included in our grateful thanks are Margaret Fort and Ann Horsford, our tireless and often maligned drivers. # Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir.—As Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, I feel I must also comment on the new Society of Wessex Scholars. I did not know anything about it until I was approached by Mr. Knight asking me to support his request to the Dean of Winchester that the latter be president of the Society (the Dean having said he would consult me on the matter before deciding), and enclosing a copy of the rules. The Dean himself suspected that there might be a clash between the two and I was bound to say that I feared it would be so, and that I hoped he would not accept, since he is patron of our Guild. This advice the Dean has accepted. However, I am not one who wants to dampen enthusiasm, and so here is a copy of the relevant part of my letter to Mr. Knight.

'First of all, may I commend your enthusiasm and zeal. The objects of the proposed Society are excellent and quite laudable. However, my sincere hope is that you will feel able to do all these things within the sphere of the Diocesan Guild, for I see no reason why they should not be, and actually, the Objects are nearly all mentioned in the Rules of the Guild, even though some may have been rather neglected.

'You will, no doubt, have gathered this from the Dean of Winchester, who consulted me on the matter, for when it came to the Rules of the Society, it is quite obvious they would cut right across the Guild's organisation and that would be a great pity. To try to run meetings at the same time and in the same place as the Guild (for that is what it would mean at times) would be most unfortunate. Surely it would be better to ensure the success of the District meetings by bringing all your enthusiasts to them (the Winchester District meetings I have been able to attend have not been too successful—the annual meeting, at which I had to take the chair was, quite frankly, the poorest attended of all the Districts).

'There is certainly plenty of scope within the Guild and I should only be too happy to back you up in anything you do to promote the interests of Sunday service ringing within its organisation. But at a time when we are trying to promote unity within the Churches and are realising that we are weak through disunity in the Guild, for I am certain that is what it would mean even though I am just as sure that is not your intention, any more than it was the intention of John Wesley to break away from the Church of England, but it happened just the same. So I do hope you will reconsider this and see what you can do to make the Winchester District more flourishing. I am sure it can be done with your help.'

Alas, as Mr. Knight's letter in 'The Ringing World' shows, my plea has been completely ignored. I think I know why, but it wouldn't help to say so.—Yours faithfully, Southampton. K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

Kettlethorpe Surprise Major

Dear Sir.—Would you please correct the place notation of Kettlethorpe S.M. in a recent edition, and note the peal was composed by John R. Ketteringham (not conducted). Correct notation is:

x38x16x56x16x14x38x56x18. L.E. 1648.

2nds Place L.E. 4ths Place Bob.

—Yours, etc.,

Lincoln. JACK L. MILLHOUSE.

P.S.—We thank correspondents who have pointed out the error in the submitted copy.—Ed

Copying Error?

Dear Sir.—The notation of the method Kettlethorpe given in 'The Ringing World' of January 10th, 1964, page 27, is actually that of Umberslade. In the Hudson and McClenahan Collection these are consecutive methods and so this looks as if it is a copying error. The lead-end 16482735 corresponds correctly to Kettlethorpe (No. 0462).

Umberslade is:

—38—6—56—16—14—3—16—1

L.E. 1573. 2nds.

I assume Kettlethorpe is intended as:

—38—6—56—16—14—3—56—1.

L.E. 1648. 2nds.

They differ in one place only.

Now that this new collection is available, I would advise that in copying notations from this book your readers take the trouble to place a straight edge below the notation to be copied. Otherwise this kind of error will be common, and will be especially dangerous for the following reason.

It is most likely that errors will occur towards the end of the line, since here the eye has more difficulty in relating the rows to the numbers at the beginning. Obviously errors in this part of the line are almost certain to result in writing down either the method immediately above or the one below, because in many cases the only difference of notation occurs in the last few places.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN R. MAYNE.

Harrow.

DON'T BE AMONG THE 200

Considerably more than 200 postcard reminders are sent at the January quarter to those who have not paid their subscription to 'The Ringing World.' Please try and save Mr. Jeater or the Editor this extra work. Remit to either—without delay.

Tail-piece to Tail Ends

Dear Sir.—The Yorkshire tail-end is an outmoded if traditional device, of little practical use in modern change ringing.

There is no doubt that this tail-end is clumsy in use and detracts from an easy, neat and economical style of handling both on light and heavy bells. The majority of ringers will agree with this view, but the small minority who wish to perpetuate this anachronism will no doubt wax vociferous, substituting empty words, evasions and half-truths for lack of real argument.—Yours, etc.,

RICHARD E. PRICE.

Thrybergh, Yorks.

Adelaide Town Hall Bells

Dear Sir.—May I say thank you to Mr. Brian B. Hullah for his kind remarks ('R.W.' page 860) regarding my article on these bells and for pointing out that the horizontal stay and vertical slider device Warners used on the sixth is not unique.

Readers will, I am sure, be pleased to hear that we have brought the authorities round to our way of thinking. They have agreed that the bells should be rung on certain civic occasions, the first of which is expected to be the visit of H.M. the Queen Mother to open the Festival of Arts here in March. Furthermore, they are allowing us a monthly practice, which completely casts away any shadow of doubt about future ringing.—Yours sincerely,

RONALD K. RUSS.

Adelaide, South Australia.

America's Gratitude

Dear Sir,—Many members of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers have noted through the pages of 'The Ringing World' the great number of peals rung in Britain in memory of our late President, John F. Kennedy. I have been asked to express our deepest gratitude to all those change ringers who participated in these peals. Through your bells you spoke our mutual sorrow and, in so doing, you strengthened the bond of friendship and love between Britain and America.—Yours, etc.,

JAMES R. LAWSON,
Editor, 'Overtones.'

Grounded?—No, Never

Dear Sir,—May I crave a small space to protest at the criticism of my helmsmanship implied in Manchester University ringers' account of their Broads tour?

The melee of (as we now learn) University boats was such that I was forced to abandon my tacking course and pass through the chaos on motor, pausing while doing so to accept a courteous invitation from a yacht struggling in the reeds to ring that evening at Ludham. I firmly deny going aground in those reeds.—Yours faithfully,

A. JOHN BOYACK.

Westcliff-on-Sea, Essex.

Sunday Service Records

Dear Sir,—Having read with great interest 'Tower Grabbers' Chance,' on page 2 in the January 3rd issue, I am all for having the leading tower grabbers list published, but what about the non-peal or tower grabbing ringers—namely the Sunday service ringers? Could they not have a chance to let the Exercise know of their achievements?

I am sure there are many ringers who do not care for peal ringing or go on ringing tours, but they are always at their post every Sunday ringing for Matins and Evensong, and other special occasions.

Our church—St. Faith's, Gaywood—has such a band, and we are proud to say that we only missed one service in 1963, which means that some of us rang for at least 100 services.

I may add that we have missed only seven services in the last three years.—Yours sincerely,

C. TOVELL.

Gaywood, King's Lynn.

Mr. Cook's Nomenclature

Dear Sir.—Whilst supporting much of what my old friend John Cook says in his letter in 'The Ringing World' of December 6th, I fail to understand why he thinks 12ths place Belgrave Maximus would present much difficulty.

Had Mr. Cook stayed in his native county he would have found the bells run round in one lead. Perhaps he will explain his Leicestershire variation of this!—Yours, etc.,

Lincoln

J. L. MILLHOUSE.

Warner's Foundry

Dear Sir.—I was interested in the letter about the clock bell at Hackney, as I have in my possession a smaller bell, presumably from the same foundry. This bell, which was hung for chiming only in a local mission church, is about 11 inches in diameter and is inscribed: J. WARNER & SONS, LONDON, 1883. Stamped on the crown are the figures 20.—Yours faithfully,

P. R. COVENEY.

Universities Association Dines in London

THE New Year opened briskly for the U.A. with another successful visit to London on January 4th. A closely-knit schedule of towers kept those who arrived during the day constantly on the move. The complexities of parking and one-way systems were an ordeal, but Phyllis Holborn's itinerary was invaluable, since it contained such directions as 'Take a No. 6 bus.' The driver of this vehicle must have been amazed to see in his mirror a crocodile of ringers' cars following him from Bethnal Green to St. John of Jerusalem, stopping in line behind him at every bus stop. St. Andrew's, Holborn, bells were enjoyed when rung at a reasonable pace; St. Matthew's, Warwick Grove, have marked clapper-knock to help establish a beat; Spliced Surprise on the meaty bells at Lauriston Road came to grief when some of the band mistook the conductor's cry of 'London' for 'Cambridge,' strange to relate.

Ringling at St. Giles', Cripplegate, was followed by a short service, conducted by the Vicar, Rev. E. L. B. C. Rogers, and then members made their way to 'The Victoria,' Buckingham Palace Road, where the 1964 A.G.M. was held in what must have been a record time of 15 minutes. Thirty new members were elected. The 1964 summer tour in the Lake District and the 1965 tour in County Durham were discussed, and it was decided that the 1965 dinner will be at Bristol.

Seventy members and guests sat down to dine, and later, after the loyal toast, Mr. P. M. J. Gray proposed the toast of 'The Church,' after drawing a mind-picture to illustrate how in the present day it is frequently the case that the bells, the ringers and the active part of the Church are in three separate places.

In his reply, the Rev. E. L. B. C. Rogers, Rector of St. Giles', Cripplegate, explained how his church will eventually come into its own when the area becomes a residential part of London, but relies at the moment on the tourist trade to swell the funds, since many famous people have been connected with St. Giles'. He reminded us that the Church consists of the clergy and people, and listed in order of importance: the clergy, the change ringers, the call change ringers and the rest. After suggesting that, in the interests of church unity, Methodists should be encouraged to have church bells, he stated that his own observation of the company at dinner assured him of success for the ringing of the immediate future.

Mr. E. A. Barnett, secretary of the Central Council, proposed the toast of 'The U.A.' He asked whether the U.A., which he thought must be nearing its majority despite hostile criticism in its infancy, contributed all it ought to the Exercise as a whole, or whether its members should perhaps apply themselves more to the mundane tasks in ringing as well as to the learned tasks.

The president, Mr. Paul Taylor, in welcoming the assembly, pointed out that members from nearly every university society were present, and underlined the necessity for getting together, rather than forming watertight compartments. He thanked Mr. Barnett for gently putting the U.A. in its place, and went on to mention that one could enumerate only about thirty really active members. He recalled with deep regret the deaths during the past year of the first president of the U.A., Mr. E. H. Lewis, and of Mr. Derek Ogden. Mr. Taylor concluded by thanking Mr. Rogers for officiating at the service, and Miss Phyllis Holborn, who had organised the ringing with success.

The remainder of the evening passed all too quickly, but will be remembered by many for the faultless performances of Cambridge and London Surprise Major 'in hand.' Finally we went our ways looking forward to U.A. dinners, peals and tours of the future.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION Biggleswade District

There was a good attendance at the annual meeting of the Biggleswade District at Biggleswade, on January 11th, and the bells were kept ringing to a variety of methods during the afternoon. The Vicar, the Rev. J. H. Dominey, conducted Evensong, and Mr. J. Long played the organ.

Forty-two members and friends were present for tea provided by local ladies. The Vicar presided at the business meeting, when the following officers were elected: Chairman, Mr. L. Bywaters; secretary, Mr. M. Major; Bell Repair Fund treasurer, Mr. G. Mayes; committee, Messrs. T. Harris, M. Locket, P. Mehew, R. Sharp; Press secretary, Miss A. Alexander; organist, Mr. P. Rogers.

In his report, the secretary (Mr. M. Major) said that 20 peals (including three on handbells) had been rung in the District during 1963, only one less than in 1962.

After the meeting the ringers adjourned to the tower, where ringing up to spliced was continued.

WARMINSTER'S ANNUAL DINNER

The fifth annual dinner was held on January 11th at the Bath Arms Hotel, Warminster, and 31 ringers and friends enjoyed an excellent meal. The gathering was presided over by the tower captain, Mr. Norman Knee, and the company included the Vicar, the two churchwardens and visitors from North Bradley and the nearby parish of St. John's, Boreham. Mr. and Mrs. Perrett and daughter were absent through illness, and indisposition also prevented the attendance of Warminster's very good friends, Mr. and Mrs. Pearson, of Haslemere.

During the evening the company were entertained by tune and change ringing on handbells, some dancing by the younger members of the band, and a display of magic by Mr. K. Lawrence.

This modest function seems to improve each year, and congratulations must be extended to Mr. P. Roynon, who has been responsible for the arrangements.

MRS. E. KNIGHT

The death of Mrs. E. Knight, the wife of Mr. H. W. Knight, on January 4th, at the age of 75, was a great shock to her many friends. A member and secretary of the All Saints', Wrington, band for many years, Mrs. Knight had not recently been a regular ringer, due to indifferent health. Even so, she was very keenly interested in ringing activities and was always willing to help in any way she could.

For many years Mrs. Knight made herself responsible for the lunch and tea provided at the Bath and Wells Association annual general meeting. This was an enormous task, particularly just after the last war, when rationing made food very difficult to provide. She also busied herself in Deanery and, of course, her own tower affairs.

Mrs. Knight was a vice-president of the Western District of the Ladies' Guild from 1945 to 1956, and became an honorary life member. She will not only be missed by her family but by her many friends in the ringing world.

The funeral service was held at Redhill Church, which is in the parish of Wrington, on January 9th. Four members of the Wrington band, M. Board, H. H. Yeates, W. H. Kingcott and M. M. Collins, acted as bearers. The church was crowded, many hands being represented, and there were numerous floral tributes. Handbells were rung by Mrs. W. H. Kingcott 1-2, Rev. R. O. Fry 3-4, W. H. Kingcott 5-6, M. M. Collins 7-8.

The following memorial quarter peals were rung:

BACKWELL, SOMERSET.—On Jan. 9th, 1,260 Stedman Triples: D. G. Yeo 1, G. H. Pullin 2, P. J. Gardner 3, J. Brain 4, M. J. Horseman 5, L. Derrick 6, J. H. Gilbert (cond.) 7, J. Lott 8.

PORTBURY, SOMERSET.—On Jan. 10th, 1,260 Stedman Doubles: U. James 1, R. Fry (cond.) 2, B. Goodliffe 3, G. Skelly 4, M. Horseman 5, R. Goodliffe 6. First of Stedman for 1, 3 and 4.

WRINGTON, SOMERSET.—On Jan. 9th, 1,349 Grandsire Caters: Judith Kelly 1, H. H. Yeates 2, Mrs. R. Ball 3, A. E. Ferris 4, H. G. Bird 5, Mrs. H. Kingcott 6, W. H. Kingcott 7, E. T. Lee 8, Rev. R. O. Fry (cond.) 9, H. M. Ball 10.

RAVING RINGERS' REUNION

The Society of Raving Ringers held their annual reunion week-end, centred on Deddington, Oxon, on January 3rd. At the supper on Saturday a recorded message was received from Ron Russ, a Past Master, now living in Adelaide, together with recordings of the bells of St. Andrew's, Walkerville, Adelaide Town Hall and the world's second heaviest eight—the majestic bells of St. Peter's Cathedral. A keen member made recordings of these three Australian rings.

The ringing started at Great Tew on Saturday morning, followed by Swerford, where the tenor required much effort to ring. Hook Norton and South Newington, The Bristol and Yorkshire at Hook Norton were exceptionally fine. After lunch at Banbury came Cambridge Royal and the Parish Church, Cropredy, the recently augmented ring at Farnborough and Radway (5). While ringing at Bloxham in the evening Tony Mann broke the tenor clapper, a suggested result of eating too many Banbury cakes!

On the Sunday morning Matins was attended at Deddington after ringing, and at Home Farm, Balscote, in the afternoon the Society rang the first-ever course of Grandsire Caters on the bells. Evening service ringing was at Adderbury.

On behalf of the 20 'Ravers' present Chris Clarke and his helpers were warmly thanked for making the reunion possible and so enjoyable.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Northern District

The year 1963 was not a good one, though better than 1962, stated the annual report of the Northern District, presented at the A.G.M. at Baldock on June 4th. Fewer meetings were held, but attendance did not improve. A District practice at Stevenage was successful, and it was hoped that other towers would try this.

The District lost through death: Canon L. P. Smith (associate member), Mr. C. C. Stubbington (frequent visitor to meetings) and Mr. I. Werrett (Norton). The District will miss Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Marks, of Knebworth, who are moving to Kent. Two of the new members elected were the first Ashwell ringers to achieve membership.

Eighteen peals were rung, in which 52 ringers took part. First peals and first of Major 'inside' were rung by Andrew Mayes (Norton) and Michael Trigg (Hitchin). There were 80 first in the method, which gave an idea of the variety rung. A big increase in quarter peals—28 compared with 15—was reported, with 67 ringers taking part. Congratulations to Mr. H. S. Bonnett on election as Association president and Miss Ann Sanderson and Mr. C. Worboys on their engagement were expressed.

District officers elected were: Secretary and treasurer, Mr. E. G. Buck; Ringing Master, Mr. C. A. S. Harwood; press representative, Miss J. Sanderson; General Committee, Mrs. Agg and Mr. G. W. Critchley; District Committee, Messrs. A. R. Agg, T. Hatchett, L. B. Scoot, D. Taplin and Mr. and Mrs. Worboys.

Canon Brencfley conducted the service, and an excellent tea was prepared by the wives of ringers.

Next quarterly, Stevenage, March 7th.

St. Albans District

The December meeting of the St. Albans District was held on the Saturday before Christmas, right in a town centre, Barnet. As the Vicar said in his short welcome, the Christmas shopping crowds probably thought it appropriate that the bells should be ringing. They certainly reminded those of us who slipped out to shop that fighting with jostling crowds, not forgetting plenty of good will, of course, is not the chief reason for Christmas.

At a short business meeting, with Mr. S. Huckle in the chair, it was decided not to accept an invitation from the Hatfield ringers for February, as the Vicar had expressed some doubt because the meeting fell in Lent. Sandridge bells are to be applied from, Ringing ranged up to a shaky course of Bristol, the special method, but was, on the whole, a little too fast for the bells.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN

Frome Branch

A cold day, with forecasts of snow showers, did not deter 70 people from attending the annual meeting of the Frome Branch at Chewton Mendip on January 11th. Ringing commenced on the now famous eight at 3 p.m. and continued until 4.30, when the service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. P. Kingdon. During an excellent tea, arranged by local ladies, Mr. Harry Sanger played a tape recording of Chewton bells used by the B.B.C. in their programme 'Ring out, wild bells.' This was much appreciated.

The secretary, in his report for 1963, commented on the progress in the Frome area by young and old alike, and stated Sunday service ringing was well maintained. While his report revealed a drop in membership, 10 new members were later elected.

The officers elected were: Chairman, Rev. A. G. Durston; vice-chairman, Rev. R. Fookes; secretary and treasurer, Mr. E. J. Chivers; Ringing Master, Mr. R. G. Beck; Assistant Ringing Master, Mr. F. Savage; Press correspondent, Mr. T. D. H. Robertson. The meeting closed with Mr. R. G. Beck proposing the vote of thanks, which included a special mention of Mr. H. Baber, the local captain, for making arrangements.

Ringing from rounds to various Surprise Major methods continued until 8.30 p.m.

MUGS IN WHARFEDALE

ON Friday, November 1st, 13 members of the Guild left Manchester for our autumn tour in a 40 seater coach. John Pilkington joined us at Burnley, and we soon came to Skipton. The ringing on the lovely eight was among the best of the tour, being up to six Spliced Surprise Major. Sunday stragglers made up the party to its full numbers here and we caught a bus to Burley-in-Wharfedale. Ian's cheerful assurance that it was only 1½ miles to the Y.H. was taken at its face value, but it wasn't until three-quarters of an hour later, after a strenuous uphill climb, that we eventually reached Burley Woodhead Youth Hostel.

The first tower next day was Guiseley, and Ian's bland assurances that it was only 2½ miles away were treated rather sceptically. 'Plus 1.5 fudge factor,' someone muttered. After hard walking for 1½ hours, we arrived at Guiseley and rang for an hour and a half. Here we were joined by Edna Poulter and some of Ian's Yorkshire friends.

After a pleasant walk to Otley, we caught a bus to Ilkley. Although the standard of ringing was not quite so good here, we did not disgrace ourselves. At Addingham, the only six bell tower of the tour, an attempt at ringing a closed handstroke course of Oxford T.B. Minor was made, just to show Gordon Benfield we could do it. And he was forced to admit that we could—he only counted 117 faults in 120 changes! Back at the Y.H. that night, a Hallowe'en dance was greatly enjoyed, at which various members demonstrated how not to dance the shake. A course of Bob Minor on handbells went down well with the other hostellers.

Sunday morning saw us back in Ilkley, ringing for morning service. We then went by bus to Bolton Abbey and walked through the beautiful countryside along the River Wharfe until we came to Barden towers, where we had lunch. Attempts to push the Ringing Master into the Strid were happily unsuccessful! We made our way by various routes to Grassington, and yet another bus took us to Skipton.

After ringing for and attending Evensong at Skipton, a quick visit to a pub occasioned the classic remark of the tour. Whilst the relative merits of various kinds of music were being discussed, the name of Palestrina came up. 'Oh, is he like Liberace?' asked Christine, one of our newer members. Luckily the other members of the Guild were narrowly able to avert the immediate strangulation of the girl by forcibly restoring the Ringing Master in his chair.

The journey back followed the same pattern as the outward journey and we arrived back in Manchester worn out but content.

For the way in which the tour was arranged, we extend our thanks to Ian Goldthorpe; it must surely have been among the best autumn tours the Guild has even had.

IPSWICH AWAKE!

Ipswich shoppers were treated to a change in the medium through which they heard traditional Christmas carols played on the Saturday before Christmas last. In place of the normal Salvation Army band playing on the Town Hall forecourt during the afternoon, three bands of handbell ringers from St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, St. Mary's, Offton, and St. Peter's, Henley, played carols over a loudspeaker system for four hours, whilst other local ringers collected for the St. Mary-le-Tower Bell Restoration Fund. Including the ladies who supplied tea throughout and after the ringing, some forty ringers, mainly from the South Eastern District of the Suffolk Guild, took part. A total of £67 6s. 6d. was raised. Special thanks go to Howard Egglestone for organising the afternoon's proceedings.

With the peal of Plain Bob Major rung at the Loughborough Bell Foundry on Jan. 6th, the 'Monday' band has come to an end. It began on Monday, June 2nd, 1958, and practically every Monday since an attempt for a peal has been made at the Foundry. The band was first formed out of a 'Wednesday' band which had been meeting each week since May 4th, 1955. Naturally various changes in personnel have taken place, but the most significant feature has been the large number of new Surprise methods rung. The band will always be grateful to Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. for the use of their bells (and garage!) over such a long period, and it is almost quite true to say that the Leicester Diocesan Guild would not have rung the most peals per year if it were not for the facilities offered at the Bell Foundry. It is, however, hoped to form a 'Tuesday' band, with a nucleus of ringers at present in the 'Monday' band.

The peal of Stedman Cinques at Wakefield, reported on page 25, was rung on Friday, December 27th, and the ringer of the tenor was R. Gordon Corby.

Practices have been resumed at Marple on Mondays and the first peal on the augmented bells was rung by past and present members of the band on January 11th.

Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd has been appointed to the Salisbury Diocesan Advisory Committee on Faculties and the Care of Churches to assist in giving advice on bell matters.

The band which rang the peal at Whittington-in-Lonsdale, on December 28th, wish to express their gratitude to the Vicar and Mrs. Griffiths, for their hospitality after the peal. Also to the two amateur bell hangers, for their morning's work in getting the bells fit for the attempt.

Reporting on the ringing meeting-cum-party of the Durham and Newcastle Association at Chester-le-Street, on January 4th, the honorary secretary writes: 'Most things went off quite well and this included the electric light.' No wonder that Evensong at Chester-le-Street the following day included the hymn 'The people that in darkness sat.'

BELFRY GOSSIP

After the peal of Stedman Caters at St. Margaret's, Westminster, on January 11th, the comparative youngsters (average age around 60) who made up the rest of the band warmly congratulated Mr. Reuben Sanders, who rang the sixth and whose 90th birthday occurred the following day. They were particularly glad that, having missed last year's peal through illness, he was able to take part on this occasion and ring both his bell and the method with the care and accuracy for which he has long been so well known.

The quarter peal at Rotherthorpe, Northants (see page 40), contained six extents of Reverse Canterbury Pleasure and 41 of Plain Bob.

With the peal of Stedman Doubles at Locking (page 28) Messrs. Eric T. Lee and Hector G. Bird completed Stedman from Doubles to Cinques. It was the first peal of Doubles for Mr. Bird, and not Mr. Lee.

Mr. Derek P. Jones writes that the Christman broadcast was a good advertisement for our art. The Market Drayton ringing was so 'superlative' that he was enthralled and late for his own tower that morning!

The peal of 21 Spliced Surprise Royal methods rung at Rotherham, Yorks, on January 11th, was the most methods rung to a peal of Royal. Two new methods—Haslemere and Inveraray—were rung for the first time.

Through indisposition, the peal to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the formation of the Bicester Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was postponed from December 14th until January 4th. This was not altogether inopportune as it enabled Jane and Maurice Thurmott to ring a peal with friends from Wicken, Northants, and Bicester immediately prior to moving to Yorkshire.

Spalding belfry began 1964 in a somewhat depleted state. As his many ringing friends in Lincolnshire and elsewhere already know, 1963 saw the temporary 'retirement' from active ringing of that able and popular stalwart, Stan Bennett. Now Ron Noon has a leg in plaster since an accident at work and is just hobbling about. A glance at the births column last week indicates the domestic commitments which prevent the Chapmans from doing much ringing at present.

Chief/Tech. Frank Reed (one time of Hereford Cathedral), now stationed at R.A.F. Episkopi, in Cyprus, had a brief visit to England in late November. In a matter of seven days he travelled over 5,000 miles, but he found time to visit his friends in the Hereford and Forest of Dean area. He was able to take part in a quarter peal of Oxford Bob Triples at Lydney, before returning to Cyprus.

THE PROFESSOR AGAIN DISCOURSES

WITH the intention of pursuing further his epoch-making documents on 'Common Fallacies connected with Change-Ringing,' I called once again on the Professor. He was, however, in a loquacious and discursive mood, a condition I ascribed partly to his habit of protracting the festive seasonal spirit and partly to the occasional visits he made to the decanter on the sideboard.

Don't misunderstand me; the Professor is no toper. It requires but little encouragement (liquid or otherwise) to unloose the strings of his garrulity, nor, I hasten to add, does this encouragement (liquid or otherwise), in any way impair the clarity of his judgment, the soundness of his arguments nor the tenacity of his tenets.

We discussed several topics, disposed of them, and eventually arrived at the record-breaking Spliced Minor peal.

'What did you think of that?' he asked.

'A magnificent effort,' was my considered opinion.

'Truly so. But what is happening to the purists? Here is a peal, hailed as the greatest Minor achievement, which contains all the haberdashery of six-bell methods; which includes single-change methods and irregular ones with a treble that dances up and down its devious path in eight different ways. Is there a word of protest from anyone on the Central Council? Any outcry from outraged orthodoxy? A scathing epistle from you about single-change methods or one from C. K. Lewis about irregular ones? Too much milk and honey in "The Ringing World" nowadays; that's what there is!'

'You can't expect me to moan about single-change methods when the peal includes irregular ones, especially after I have made such a song and dance about the ostracism of the latter!'

'Which is a tacit admission from you that single-change methods are as good as irregular ones. Or are you prepared to waive your objections because some of your precious extents are included?'

Really, he would infuriate a saint. I changed the subject.

'Which do you prefer,' I asked. 'Yorkshire ends or rope-ends?'

'There are arguments for and against both, most of which have already been advanced in the "R.W." I have prepared a mathematical formula together with certain statistical information in the form of graphs which tend to show that, by and large, Yorkshire ends are better for practice and Sunday service ringing, and rope-ends for peal ringing. Indeed I am inclined to think that the increase in the number of rope-ends in use corresponds closely to the increase in the number of peals rung.'

'Did you hear,' he chuckled gleefully, 'that a well-known protagonist of rope-ends a few years ago rang a peal on a "tuft-end" and being, as is well-known, averse to trying his bell beforehand found that he had to ring the peal on the bare rope above the tuft. The result was, according to one eye-witness, "the prettiest pair of hands he had ever seen in his life".'

'Indeed,' I said politely.

'"Like raw meat," was I think his verdict! If there is any moral in that you can unearth it for yourself, but I am hardly surprised at this gentleman's objection to Yorkshire ends!'

'With regard to trying bells beforehand,' he went on, 'perhaps it is undignified, but did you know that it used to be common practice at one time at the rehearsal of a team on a strange ring one or two weeks before a contest for a ringer carefully to adjust the length of his rope and then pull it across to the belfry wall where he would make a mark so that when he returned on the day of the contest he would have an immediate check of its length?'

'Perhaps,' I observed, 'it was because the ringers went to so much trouble that the standard of striking was so high.'

'Mebbe.'

We talked of other things too, but perhaps I can leave these discussions till later.

It struck me on the way home that a new or freshly spliced rope affixed in the interim would play havoc with the system of the mark-on-the-belfry-wall-method-of-adjustment ringer.

1963 WAS A GREAT YEAR FOR PEAL RINGING

Mr. Neil Bennett, of Ashton-under-Lyne, who is the secretary of the Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association, is the leading peal ringer of 1963. This has been a great year for him as regards ringing as he rang the third in the extent of Plain Bob, the 13,320 Plain Bob Royal 'in hand' and also 21,600 Spliced Treble Bob in 60 methods.

Neil has rung about 300 peals, conducted 60. He started ringing in 1954 at Ashton-under-Lyne. First peal, 1956, Ringing Master at St. Peter's, Ashton, since leaving University College of Wales, Aberystwyth, in 1960.

Closely behind him is Mr. Roderick W. Pipe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Pipe, who has scored heavily in peals during his attendance at Birmingham. Roddy is the leading conductor of 1963 with a total of 61. John R. Mayne is No. 2 on the list of conductors with 55 out of his 81 peals, followed by Mr. Jack L. Millhouse with 53 out of 68.

The leading lady ringer is Miss Susan Funnell, of King's Norton, Birmingham, who is 18 years of age. Her total of 60 peals consists of Maximus 11, Cinques 2, Royal 8, Caters 1, Major 36 and Minor 2. Although she was taught to ring by her sister at the age of nine, her peal total at the end of 1962 was only 13. Susan acknowledges her great and rapid advance during 1963 to the help of Birmingham ringers.

The second lady is Mrs. S. Kathleen M. Baldwin with 55 peals. Her husband was in all her peals this year and they included 30 'in hand.'

Tenor Crashes at Wedding

During ringing for a wedding at Hoyland, near Barnsley, the largest of the three bells crashed and wedged itself in the bell tower six feet lower down. The bellringer, Martyn Taylor, luckily escaped with a showering of dust and plaster.

The Vicar (the Rev. Wilfred Clark) thinks that a subsidence may have been the cause of the bell falling.

According to Mr. N. F. Moxon, the bell is 28 ins. diameter, and reports give its weight about a ton.

The gravity of such an accident is a warning. Bells and fittings should be frequently inspected and an adequate insurance provided for ringers and bells.

Bell Accident at Finchampstead

His many friends in the Oxford and Guildford Guilds will be sorry to hear that Mr. William J. M. Parker, captain of Sandhurst ringers, met with an accident while attending to the bells at St. James', Finchampstead, where he was helping the locals at practice.

He is at present in Blagrove Hospital, Reading, with an injured foot and it is unlikely that he will be home for several weeks.

We all wish him a speedy recovery. B.C.

50 YEARS AGO

'R.W.' January 30th, 1914 —

Editorial.—The question of inter-affiliation is really taking definite shape and coming within the region of practical politics. As has been already recorded, the Llandaff Association will officially bring the matter to the notice of the Central Council, the Worcestershire Association have considered the subject, and now the Warwickshire Guild have debated it at one of their quarterly meetings and are to discuss it further at the annual meeting. This, of course, is the way to get the matter ventilated and to ascertain the real feeling of ringers on the subject, and doubtless now that the ball has once been set rolling other Associations will follow suit and weigh up the pros and cons in order that their representatives when they go to Winchester at Whitsun may have behind them the knowledge that they speak with the full authority of their members'....

CORRECTION

Inadvertently there were three errors in the report of the Northern District, Hertford County Association (page 62). The date was January 4th, Miss Ann Sanderson and Mr. C. Worboys were congratulated on their wedding and elected to the District Committee were Mr. C. Worboys and Miss J. Sanderson. These were not made by our correspondent, to whom we apologise.

POINTS FROM 1963 PEALS

By Canon K. W. H. FELSTEAD

SINCE it is many months since I last sent an account of the things I notice in bringing my card index up to date, this article will cover most of the peal ringing of 1963. As usual, Loughborough Bell Foundry has had most peals in the year—57 have appeared so far and there is a chance of one or two more since they don't always appear when rung. The same is true of Birmingham Cathedral where, for a church, I have recorded the astonishing number of 49 peals last year. So quite likely the 50th may be printed soon. Not many authorities would allow so many attempts in a year! Recently, this Cathedral passed the 400 mark of peals rung since 1881 (when 'Bell News' first was published). Of these, 378 have been rung since the last war! There had been only three this century before that war.

Ashton-under-Lyne, S. Peter's, also had a high number of peals last year—nearly 40. Sometime last February this tower passed the 250 peal mark, but this included all rung from the time of the first peal in 1872. Another 250 pealer is Hethersett, which reached the total on November 8th. The first peal here was in 1891. No tower passed the 200 peal mark but S. Nicholas', Brighton had its 150th peal since 1881 (there are earlier peals here though). Centuries have also been scarce recently and there is only one to mention this time—Overseale on August 7th. The first peal was in 1920 and I see that 39 of the first 50 peals were of Triples. During the last 10 years there has been greater variety.

Quite a few towers have reached their half-century—some claimed as such and some not. They are Barking (Suffolk), North Bradley (where I made the 50th April 20th not May 24th), Chorley (S. Laurence), Morpeth, Preston, Packwood, Great Holland and last, but no means least—Marston, which now will ever go down in history as the first 5-bell tower to reach this total. They've all been rung since the last war, mostly in the last few years, for the tower was not even mentioned in the list of 5-bell towers I gave which had had 10 peals in 1955! Congratulations to Marston ringers!

20 FIRSTS IN TOWER

The number of unpealed towers has been reduced quite handsomely since last I wrote—some 20 new names having appeared in the peal lists. I confirm the following claims for first peals—Norton Bavant, Bridestowe, Cranfield, Heydon, Hemington, Little Horkeley, Farnborough (Warwick), Chirbury, Chelmerston, Ripe, Cattistock, Cardigan, Hathersage, Selborne and Gedling. Of these, Cattistock deserves mention as being one of the very few 8-bell towers which hadn't previously had a peal. It was the last to be conquered in Dorset. Little Horkeley was a war-destroyed ring. There had been one peal (in 1935) on the old bells. First peals unclaimed are Horningssea, Puriton, Lapworth, Ascott-under-Wychwood, and Ruabon. Two towers had claims for first peals which is not so unless the bells had been recast in the meantime. Wykeham had a previous peal of Grandsire Doubles in 1913 and Shrewton had a peal (Bob Minor) in 1929.

Mention of these peals rung many years ago brings me to my usual next subject of towers which have had to wait for a long time for another peal to be rung. The longest wait this time was at Portbury where I confirm that the only previous peal rung there was in 1907. Two other towers besides Wykeham (above) have not been in the peal lists since 1913. They are Emmanuel, Clifton and Appledore (Devon). In both cases they are the only previous peals. Although Easton Neston had eight peals between 1910 and 1920, there haven't been any more until the recent one. Milton Malsor last had a peal in 1924, the first on the bells being in 1923. Shaugh Prior's only other peal was in 1927. Those last appearing in 1929 include Shrewton (already mentioned), Silverdale (the claim was first peal for 25 years—it was actually nearly 35 years!) and Fowey. This last tower had a claim for first of Major on the bells. This is not so unless they have been recast. The first on the bells (in 1913) was Bristol Major, the only other peal before the recent one being the 1929 one of Grandsire Triples.

At Stoke Goldington, I confirm that the peal last year was the first on the 6. There had been just one on the 5—in 1932. I fear the peal at Bledington was not the first on the bells—Grandsire Doubles was also rung in 1932. Three towers last appeared in 1933—Meavy, where the first peal was in 1929, Tuebrook and Whittington (Lancs). Tuebrook is the case of a tower being much more popular in the past than at present. Before the first war, 18 peals were rung between 1873 and 1912. In the 20's, eight more were rung and in 1931, 1932 and 1933 one each year. Then silence for 30 years. Thus the tower is unlike most mentioned in this section which usually have only had one or two before. This is the case with Great Missenden, for instance, which had had two peals before the recent one—in 1930 and 1934. The last time a peal was rung at Witham-on-the-Hill was also 1934, where I confirm the one last year was the first on the recast bells. The old bells also had five peals between 1890 and 1909. Bideford and Buckden have been peal silent since 1935—the former had also had a peal in 1921 and 1933 whereas it was the latter's first peal on the bells in 1935. Four places last appeared in the peal lists in 1937—Barlborough (first in 1914—six peals in all now), Lenham (seven peals from 1898 to 1937), Workop (16 peals on the old bells from 1885 to 1937) and Hoghton. This last tower is another 'Tuebrook'. There were 12 peals from 1888 to 1913 and 34 from 1920 to 1937, including 28 in the 1920's. I hope the recent peal shows an interest in ringing there again.

BETHNAL GREEN'S UNUSUAL POSITION

In 1938, the following towers had their last peals before the ones last year—Ipswich, S. Matthew's, Reddish, Hooe, Bridgwater, Tetbury, Altarnun and Monk Sherborne. Of these, the '38 peal has been the only other one at Hooe and Monk Sherborne, whilst there was also one in 1937 at Altarnun. Ipswich, S. Matthew, has now had nine peals—six between 1933 and 1938: Reddish had 55 from 1897 to 1938; Bridgwater 18 from 1896 to 1938; Tetbury 11 from 1894 (three that year) to 1938. Two other towers have not been seen in the peal columns since before the last war. In 1939 was the only previous true peal at S. Denys (I said 'true' because a false one was rung in 1951). Bethnal Green, likewise, had its last peal that year. Here, however, is a famous centre of the past. I have recorded 91 peals before 1881 and there were 84 from 1881 to 1914, but only 10 since the first war from 1920 to 1939. There can't be many towers with a peal total approaching 200 that haven't had one for nearly 25 years.

I noticed that the peal at Newton Longville was only the second since 1919—there was one in 1955 and that at Rochester S. Margaret was the second since 1925 (one in 1948). I believe the peal of Grandsire Caters at Soham was the first of that method there since 1830! There have been very few peals here for a 10-bell tower. It was good to see Barton Segrave appear once again. At one time it was second amongst the 5-bell towers but has dropped back recently. Perhaps we shall see it creep up again now.

A few final notes. I confirm that the peal of Norbury T.B. Minor at Chapel-en-le-Frith was the first rung in that method and that the peal at Berriew was the first on the 8 (there had been one of Grandsire Doubles in 1951). The peal at Churchill, Somerset, revealed that a peal had been rung there each year since 1952 (except 1953)—just one peal per annum—and all between September 12th and 16th with the exception of the 1957 one which was on October 1st. Although Acceington bells were augmented in 1954, the ringers still must remember its 6-bell days! On August 11th, the 100th 6-bell peal was rung there and actually, since augmentation there have been nearly as many 6-bell peals as 8-bell ones and these days they seem to predominate. The grand total of peals is now 164. Of course, there are only two or three 6-bell towers which have reached the century mark.

RINGING IN CALGARY IN 1963

Considerable progress has been made in the art of campanology in this Canadian outpost of ringing during the last 12 months. This is due in part to the increase by 300% of the number of English trained ringers associated with the tower. The writer and his wife, by dint of some judicious 'wangling,' persuaded his employers to arrange a transfer for him from Ottawa, a distance of some 2,500 miles. They, with Judy Midgley, late of Plymouth, comprise the English trained contingent.

With this large number of comparatively experienced ringers, the locals under the leadership of Judge E. R. Tavender and Mrs. Freda McQueen, are making rapid progress in unravelling the mysteries of change ringing. All members of the band, which now numbers some nine or 10 regular attenders, can plain hunt on all numbers up to eight, and progress is being made in Plain Bob.

In addition to these ringers, we have four Boy Scouts who we hope before the end of 1964 will be up to the standard required for the Boy Scout's Badge. Will these boys be the first Canadian Scouts to qualify for this honour?

Unfortunately, not many English visitors have even been seen in this tower. They would be made most welcome. Practice is usually on Mondays at 8 p.m. Mountain Standard Time. If any ringers are ever in the vicinity they can contact me by phoning 244-1165 (or 262-2101 business hours).

How about a few participants in Great Adventure II coming round this way in 1965? We only need five to make us up for a peal of Cambridge Major. J. M. SIMPSON.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The 50 members who attended the Ashford District meeting at Biddenden on January 11th heard the recently-retired Rector (the Rev. J. B. Allen) praise the local ringers who last year rang for every service. He conducted the service, and a Folkestone ringer, Miss A. Barber, was organist.

Tea was enjoyed at the Chequers, and at the business meeting the hon. secretary reported a decline of about 80 in membership and £20 in revenue. Thirteen new members were elected. In his vote of thanks, Mr. Alan Berry, the Ringing Master, mentioned the services of Miss Carole Wood, secretary of the Biddenden ringers in making the arrangements. C. T. H.

Method Naming

Dear Sir,—Your issue of January 17th contains a number of controversial items on method naming which require comment.

Methods Committee Rulings:—

I am glad that the Methods Committee has at last given a ruling on the recent undesirable and ungracious practice of renaming methods previously rung in spliced peals, but I question the wisdom or justice of retrospective action in this or any other matter where firm decisions have not previously existed.

The committee has had previous opportunities in recent years to pronounce on this subject, and it is unfortunate that it has reacted so slowly in this instance. Assuming that its recent decisions are ratified by the Central Council, may we be assured that retrospective action will also be taken in other similar cases so that, for example, Loughborough College will revert to Smith, and Elford Surprise to Lindoff's London? If not, it is surely illogical to change Ob, Moira and the atrocious example from the same stable rung at South Wigston on December 31st, which was called Guernsey in the peal of Spliced Surprise Major at Ashover on July 13th, 1963.

If the committee is intent on retroaction, may it also be confirmed that the names given to new methods in the peal of Spliced Plain Major at Heptonstall on October 29th, 1960 ('Ringing World,' November 18th, 1960), including the confusing Nelson College and other unsuitable names, are now permanently accepted.

'Datchworth' Surprise Major:—

I am surprised to find Mr. Knox and his band indulging in the game of multiple naming of methods, but if the notation given for the peal at Knebworth on December 7th, 1963, is correct, this method was first rung as Victoria Surprise Major at Loughborough Foundry on November 27th, 1958, conducted by Mr. D. P. Jones ('Ringing World,' December 12th, 1958, refers).

'Exhall' Delight Minor:—

If my interpretation of Mr. Stote's letter is correct, the notation for the method rung at Exhall-by-Coventry on January 1st, 1964, is: 34—34, 6—12—123—12—3 lead head 42635 (2nds). This method is named Alderbourne Delight Minor and was first rung at Fulmer, Bucks, on June 8th, 1960, conducted by Mr. J. R. Mayne, and details published in 'The Ringing World' of June 24th, 1960.

There is no excuse for such duplication of names, and no conductor uncertain of his facts should name a method without taking advice from a suitable source.—Yours sincerely,

GEORGE W. MASSEY.

Frome, Somerset.

Note.—Mr. Roger Savory also writes asking for clarification.

Scotland's Problem

Dear Sir,—I have followed with interest the letters about the Christmas Day broadcast and am glad to see that others also feel the comments were not in very good taste. Probably the youthful critic has no idea of the ringing conditions in Scotland where, except for Edinburgh and Dundee, ringers have to make long, expensive journeys to visit other belfries.

Surely the real purpose of the Christmas Day broadcast was to allow the bells of the different areas to be heard—not as a ringing competition.

There are more important things in life than good striking—good manners, for instance.

C. SNOWDEN.

Kingham, Fife, Scotland.

Victoria Surprise Major

Dear Sir,—I wish to state that the method published in 'The Ringing World' on January 17th as Datchworth Surprise Major is in fact Victoria, which was rung at Loughborough on November 27th, 1958.

I apologise to all concerned, and can offer no excuse for not checking the method before ringing it.

However, Mr. Dennis Knox has produced a shorter composition for this method. His composition is as follows:—

	W	5/4	M	H
23456		5,280
54326	x	—
63425	—	x
34625	—	x	—
42635	x	—	—
36245	x	—	—
64235	x	—	—
23465	—	x	—
43265	—	x	—
62345	—	x	—
23645	—	x	—

Twice repeated.

Shortened to 5,088 by omitting 5/4 and M in the 5th and 6th courses of two parts.

Yours sincerely,

G. W. CRITCHLEY.

Knebworth, Herts.

Standard in Record Peals

Dear Sir,—I am surprised that anyone could fail to appreciate that I was misquoted in 'Belfry Gossip' on January 3rd, and I had hoped it would not be necessary for me to enter this discussion.

What I actually said was that 'the standard of ringing did not come up to the very high standard required in any record peal.'

Perhaps a few more words of explanation are needed: The band decided that we would not pass 15,840 changes unless the standard of ringing was manifestly better than that achieved by Daniel Matkin and his band in 1953. After 12,500 changes I consulted the band about the quality of the ringing and they agreed that we should not go past the record. But the ringing was perfectly acceptable by normal standards, and we had no hesitation in deciding that the 13,320 changes we rang were a true and viable peal.

In reply to 'S.I.' (December 20th) I would say that there certainly is 'an implicit assumption that the standard of ringing for a long peal should be higher than that acceptable for a normal length.' I seem to recall that he stopped an attempt on the extent of Major some years ago after 29,000 changes 'because somebody missed a dodge.' I venture to suggest that if he did not himself make the same implicit assumption in peals of normal length, his peal total would not yet have reached double figures.—Yours sincerely,

NEIL BENNETT.

Ashton-under-Lyne.

Peal Correction

Dear Sir,—I find that in a report of a handbell peal rung on January 7th, 1964, at Stratton St. Margaret I have named one of the methods incorrectly. The method named as Lydiard should be Tankersley. I would be grateful if you would correct this and delete the notation following the peal.—Yours faithfully, ANTHONY R. PEAKE.

Swindon.

Appeal to Wessex Scholars

Dear Sir,—I read Mr. Knight's defence of the Society of Wessex Scholars, in your issue of January 16th, with mixed feelings. It is no doubt true that the Wessex Society will do the Exercise some good, for any attempt to teach beginners is praiseworthy. However, Mr. Knight missed one point of Mr. House's letter (in the December 27th issue) that the meeting of the Wessex Scholars at Overton was arranged on the same day as a meeting of the Winchester District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

Mr. Knight should also get his facts right about ringing in the Southampton District. If he could come to a meeting of this District he would hear of the work being done by Mr. House and many other members of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild in the field of instruction.

Mr. Knight failed to mention the real reason for the founding of the Wessex Society. He states that he has been a member of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild for 18 years and must therefore realise that his members could teach beginners and remain loyal to the Guild instead of insulting it, and drawing support from its meetings in order to persuade people to pay ten shillings and join a society which appears to have injury to the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild as one of its aims. This is backed up, too, by the fact that the Society was formed although Mr. Knight knew that the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild needed some support.

Come along now, Mr. Knight, get your jacket off and tackle a job of work well worth doing the right way. I'm quite sure the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild will welcome you back and you'll find there are openings for good teachers within the Guild—it would certainly benefit from your efforts.—Yours faithfully, MALCOLM M. POWELL.

Southampton.

Wessex Scholars' Secretary Resigns

Dear Sir,—I would like to publish my resignation as secretary of the Wessex Scholars, and to state the reasons that have led me to this course of action.

When the Society was founded, it was hoped that by inviting the persons capable of teaching from a wide area we could get the silent towers of the south ringing again. It was also envisaged that we would work in harmony with the existing territorial associations.

It has become fairly obvious that this has not worked out. The main reason for this is the fact that our meetings sometimes clash with other Guilds. This can easily be remedied by holding our meetings mid-week. My work is such that I am only in the south at week-ends, hence by passing the post to a 'full-resident' this will be made possible.

I am very proud of being a member of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild and wish to hold no part in anything that may harm this body.

The Wessex Scholars is a good thing, but is possibly a little premature. I think it would be at present better served as an affiliated part of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, but still having its officers elected by the members of the Society and being open to all eligible ringers from anywhere.

I hope my resignation will not unset too many people but my first allegiance is to my Mother Guild.—Yours, etc.,

ANTHONY R. CARTER

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

The annual meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held in St. Martin's Church Hall, on January 4th, with the Master, Mr. Richard C. Ingram, in the chair. The Master extended a hearty welcome to Mr. Vice-President J. Frank Smallwood, Mr. John S. Mason and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Critchley, whose presence was greatly appreciated.

Six young ringers of St. John's Church, Perry Barr, were elected members of the Guild: the Misses J. Nicholl and S. Chew, and Messrs C and M. Androlia, R. Tibbets and N. Hale. The tower elections, as life members of Miss Mary R. Crossthwaite, of Preston, and David J. Allen, of Exhall, were ratified.

A proposition to add the name of the Provost of Birmingham, the Rt. Rev. Bishop George Sinker, to the list of vice-presidents met with unanimous approval. Bishop Sinker has proved to be a good friend of ringers and has accepted the invitation to preside at the forthcoming Henry Johnson Dinner.

To the Guild's regret, Mr. John Pinfold relinquished the office of Ringing Master, after serving for 12 years in that capacity. Young ringers who come to St. Martin's practice night will have cause to be grateful to Mr. Pinfold for his advice and help so freely given, and it is pleasing to know that it is not his intention to discontinue his Tuesday evening attendances.

Fortunately for the Guild, Mr. J. Alan Ainsworth, of Newcastle on Tyne, has recently taken up residence in Birmingham, and in a short time his outstanding ability as a ringer and conductor has proved him to be admirably suited to qualify as Ringing Master. Mr. Pinfold had the pleasure of proposing Mr. Ainsworth as his successor, a proposal which met with unanimous approval.

The other officers of the Guild were all re-elected, which appears to indicate that the members were satisfied with their services.

The annual Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner will be held at the White Horse Hotel on March 7th.

Next quarterly meeting: Solihull, April 4th.

TREASURED HANDBELLS

Apropos the mention of record handbell peals in the issue of January 10th, Mr. R. Beale, of Taunton, writes that the bells used in two of these peals are housed in a beautifully carved case (made by the late Mr. H. Bungay, ringer) in St. James', Taunton, ringing chamber.

The bells were purchased from the relatives of the late Mr. Jim Hunt, one-time captain of St. James', by the Taunton Deanery and installed as a perpetual memorial to a very great ringer.

The tenor bell is inscribed, 'World's Handbell Record, 31st Aug., 1912. 19,738 changes Stedman Caters. 9 hrs. 32 minutes. A. F. Shepperd, A. H. Pulling (cond.), W. Shepperd, J. Hunt, F. Blondell.'

The peal was rung at Guildford for the Winchester Diocesan Guild. It was proposed to start at 12 noon, but because one of the band could not get away it was delayed to 2 p.m. At 11.30 p.m. a bob at 16 was omitted and the bells ran round at 19,738 changes. That was the only place in the peal it could be done.

OBITUARY

MR. JAMES BUTLER AN APPRECIATION

I wonder how many of the older ringers remember Jim Butler. When I first knew him he was a 'Hagbourne Chap.' The ringers at Hagbourne have always been known as the 'Hagbourne Chaps.'

Jim might have been at Cambridge when the 1914 War broke out; however, he soon enlisted and eventually received a nasty arm wound, and his arm never really recovered its normal strength, although Jim never complained. We who knew him realised that he would never enjoy his ringing as he had previously done.

When ringing was getting into its stride after 1918 he and another 'Hagbourne Chap' came to Caversham many Monday evenings to attempt their first peal of Stedman Triples, but were unsuccessful. After 24 attempts Jim Napper eventually rang his first peal of Stedman in his native tower (called by my 'dear old dad') but where Jim Butler rang his I do not know.

I did, however, ring a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major with Jim at Hagbourne in 1923, called by his friend of Cambridge days, the late W. H. J. Hooton. I shall ever remember Jim's very quiet 'Thank you, gentlemen.' to the band which included some very well known (at that time) ringers.

He was always the same quiet, unassuming but very lovable 'Hagbourne Chap.'

W. HIBBERT.

MRS. EMILY KNIGHT AN APPRECIATION

The whole of the Bath and Wells Association will regret the passing of Mrs. Emily Knight, and the fact that she was so utterly modest that she received no high honour in the Association, although no one was so deserving of it.

None can forget her tremendous work in the difficult post-war years when she procured food and had it transported to the annual general meetings of the Association, thus making a surprisingly inexpensive meal possible. No service that she could do for ringing and ringers was too much for her to undertake.

Her personal kindness to me was always evident. I remember in particular a period during the last war when a friend and I, both at the ends of our tether through overwork and having only one common interest—that of walking and love of the countryside—spent some time in the cottage in the woods overlooking the Bristol Channel. She and Herbert, her husband, were so extremely kind to us and we went home better in health, not so much because of our brief holiday, but because of the joy of simply living with them.

During my long and tiresome illness, she and Herbert visited me at every opportunity and I shall remember them so long as I live.

J. T. D.

RECRUITING LEAFLET

The Central Council has issued a pamphlet suitable for exhibition in church porches and other places setting out the thrill of ringing.

Canon Gilbert Thurlow, our president, the author, tells what ringing has to offer—a close and happy fellowship in service of the Church. 'You can ring bells,' he writes, 'which rang for Waterloo, for the Spanish Armada's defeat and away back to victory of Crecy, 600 years ago. Yet it is a modern science too. At the bell foundries you can see the latest scientific methods used for casting, tuning and hanging bells.'

'Learning to ring is about as hard as learning to drive a car. You can pick it up easily, yet keenness is needed to do it well.'

At the foot of the pamphlet is a space for times of service and practice ringing, and the names and address of the head ringer.

These recruiting leaflets should be in every tower. They are 3d. each or five for 1s. obtainable post free from Mr. R. F. B. Speed, Four Winds, School Lane, Stretton-on-Dunsmore, Rugby, Warwicks.

WARMINSTER'S LOSS

The Warminster ringers will suffer no small loss in the departure of Mrs. Tambling, wife of the Rev. P. F. Tambling, Vicar of Boreham and Rector of Bishopstrow. Mr. Tambling has accepted the living of Zeals with Stourton, and will be inducted early in February. The lady was better known to the Exercise as Miss Anna Sellors, and when up at Oxford was associated with the notable circle that included John E. Spice, William B. Leese and Margaret Tutt. With them she enjoyed some considerable peal ringing activity both on tower- and handbells.

Family life has curtailed her ringing activity, but recently she has been of considerable assistance at practices and Sunday ringing at the Minster Church, and has provided a valuable addition to the three-weekly Surprise practices in the district. Zeals is not too far away, and we are all hoping that she will still be able to attend some of these gatherings for advanced ringing.

As a farewell touch a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on the Minster bells on January 19th by N. Webber 1, P. Roydon 2, Mrs. Tambling 3, L. Hawkins 4, E. C. Shepherd (cond.) 5, E. Norris 6, N. G. Knee 7, T. Mallard 8. E. C. S.

BARNSELY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

At the service held in connection with the annual meeting of the Barnsley and District Society, conducted by the president (Canon A. P. Morley), the hymn 'The day thou gavest, Lord, is ended' was sung in memory of Dan Smith, it being his favourite. Mr. Noel F. Moxon was at the organ.

Twenty towers were represented and all the officers were re-elected at the business meeting. Three new members—H. Burton (Slapham), J. Hiner and J. Cook (Rawmarsh)—were elected. The Society decided to have an outing in May; the vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. Andrew King (Wentworth).

Next meeting: February 8th, Ecclesfield, near Sheffield.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD Loughborough District

A large plaque of bell metal on the vestry floor of Loughborough Parish Church is inscribed 'Their sound has gone out to all lands.' This was the basis of the address given by the Rector at the service which preceded the annual meeting of the Loughborough Branch. Materialistic things, he argued, could be used to emphasise the religious point of view, and as the voices of the choir or the preacher rarely penetrated beyond the walls of the Church, ringers, while unseen, were strong and loud witnesses to those outside. They should keep this fact before them and always be ready to improve the application of their art.

All enjoyed the splendid tea provided by local ladies in the Fearon Hall, but none more than the table of youngsters shepherded by the Rev. M. C. Melville.

The business meeting was prefaced by a speech from the retiring chairman, who said that as this was the first meeting of another year they must 'look forward' and not only hope but strive to make it one of great advancement. Commending Mr. J. P. Fidler's letter to 'The Ringing World' on lapsed members, the chairman favoured the suggestion of a liaison officer. If Mr. Fidler had been present he would have asked him to undertake the responsibility for his own Branch!

Officers elected for 1964 were: chairman, Mr. H. O. Over; secretary, Mr. Melvyn Stevens, 91, Parklands Drive, Loughborough, with Miss V. Lacey, retiring secretary, acting as his assistant; committee, Mr. W. Hall and Miss Lacey. Nominations for Guild officers favoured an en bloc proposal of those serving.

Under A.O.B. a ringers' festival to be organised by Hathern ringers on May 16th was discussed. Its object is to support the fund to augment Hathern bells from six to eight and so far the ringers have raised about £200, or a third. By full support they felt the half-way mark would be passed. Contributions from N.U.T.S., Ramblers, Rovers or any others interested would be welcome.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Devizes Branch

The Devizes Branch at its annual meeting at Melksham, on January 4th, Mr. N. Knee presiding, reported a most encouraging year, the secretary (Mr. A. Knight) stating the membership had risen to 260 with one return to come. Ten meetings had been held with an increase in number of younger members present.

Twenty peals had been rung—an increase of five and there had been two new conductors—Mr. D. Stillman (age 15) and Mr. D. Bailey. Quarter peals numbered 40 and most of these were rung for services.

With regret, the branch accepted the resignations of the Ringing Masters—Mr. S. Grant and Mr. P. Harding after 20 years' loyal service. The new Ringing Masters are Messrs. D. Nibbs (Holt), G. Heath (Urchfont) and E. Norris (Warminster). Other officers were re-elected. Six new members were elected from Urchfont, Holt and Devizes.

The curate (the Rev. Mr. Gray) conducted the service and after the usual vote of thanks ringing continued at St. Michael's, Holt and Seend.

Bellfounding Transaction in 1312

Dear Sir,—Mr. Cyril W. Hancock makes an interesting contribution regarding ancient London founders and I would say that although Richard de Wymbish was recorded as a 'potter' from 1303 to 1315, he was in business from 1290 to 1315.

Aldgate was the centre of the industry in the Metropolis, where names appeared 1280—1300. The Wymbish family, who came from Essex, cast many bells over a large area but Richard, probably the eldest, appeared to have the largest business, and their quarters were at Aldgate. Probably Richard's oldest bell still in existence can be found at Goring, Oxon, cast about 1290.—Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

Addlestone, Surrey.

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The bells of the twin parishes of Sawley and Long Eaton were available for the quarterly meeting of the Derby Diocesan Association on January 4th. The service at Sawley was conducted by the Rector, Rev. J. B. Hurst, and an excellent meal followed in the Church Hall, prepared by wives and friends of ringers.

A minute's silence in memory of Mr. J. F. George preceded the business meeting. In a report on the financial position the treasurer (Mr. J. Woolley) said the situation was comfortable at the moment, but he deplored the many subscriptions owing. Mr. G. Halls, secretary of the Bell Repair Fund, reported a record balance of over £200. Seventy-three P.C.C.'s had subscribed to the fund.

The election of Messrs. W. Simpson, E. Fletcher and F. Adams as hon. life members was carried with acclamation. Tickets for the annual dinner at Derby on February 8th were available and the Association's striking competition will be held at Horsley on May 30th. The evening ringing was at Long Eaton, where the bells had been restored by the joint efforts of the officials of the Bell Repair Fund and the Sawley company.

Exhall Delight Minor

Dear Sir,—With regard to the peal of Exhall Delight Minor rung on January 1st at Exhall-by-Coventry, I would like to point out that this method has already been rung to a peal. From the details which Mr. Stote gave in 'The Ringing World,' page 38, the place notation is: 34 x 34.16 x 12 x 1236 x 12 x 3. 2nds L.E.: 42635.

My records, however, inform me that in fact this method is named Aldbourne Delight Minor, and was rung to a peal at Fulmer on June 8th, 1960.—Yours faithfully,

M. F. LOCK.

Exeter, Devon.

N.B.—The Editor thanks other correspondents who have pointed out the duplication.

Trinity College, Dublin, looks like being another University with enthusiastic ringers. Leading personalities are Charles Reede, 25, O'Connell Avenue, Berkeley Road, Dublin, and Miss Marilyn Bernard-Smith, at 6, T.C.D., Dublin University. Marilyn, according to 'Irish Bell News,' has unearthed Ann Sadler from Preston, Rutland, Anthony Vere-Hodge (Kent) and Jane Fletcher (West Kirby). Practices are held at St. Patrick's Cathedral, St. George's and Drogheda.

Grantley Hall, Yorkshire, Ringing Course will be held on September 25th-27th. Details later.

We have received a correction to the quarter peal at Rothersthorpe (see page 40). It was in two methods—Reverse Canterbury Pleasure and Plain Bob.

Mr. Roger Twigg, Northenden, Manchester, has been appointed a verger at Lichfield Cathedral. A farewell quarter was rung at Northenden, where his departure is keenly felt.

Inadvertently, in the article 'A Bellfounding Transaction in 1312' (page 33), Alan de Middleton was described as canon and saint. It should be canon and sacrist.

The golden jubilee of the Chelmsford Diocese was commemorated by special ringing in towers of the Essex Association on January 21st. Quarters were rung at Chelmsford Cathedral, Bentley Common, Great Holland and other towers.

On Christmas Eve the Wollaton (Notts) company of handbell ringers visited various local establishments, ringing carols and other popular tunes on their newly renovated handbells. This resulted in a collection of nearly £15, which was sent to Oxfam.

At the annual meeting of St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich, the following were elected: Alan R. Bridges, Master; Leslie N. Melton, Deputy Master; Charles J. Sedgley, treasurer; R. John Munnings, auditor; John F. Tillatt, steeplekeeper; George E. Symonds, 57, Mornington Avenue, Ipswich, secretary for the 43rd year.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Re Mr. John David's query in Belfry Gossip, January 17th, there are three bells hung for ringing at St. Stephen's, Ipswich. These were rung for a wedding during last century. The best man, being completely ignorant of ringing, sent a gallon of stout for the three ringers.

A peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major was rung on Boxing Day at Warminster by the Ancient Society of College Youths. Details next week.

At Cheswardine on January 18th, George Morrall not only conducted his own first peal on eight, but it was also his father, Mr. Ernest Morrall's, first on eight.

At Cranfield, Beds, the first recorded quarter by local ringers took place on January 12th. The band, all of whom are under 20 except the conductor, tackled Bob Doubles for the first time last April.

Lincoln ringers desire to congratulate Mr. W. Dove on his first quarter peal. He became interested just two years ago, travels into Lincoln (about four miles each way) for his ringing and is regular for Sunday services.

The peal at Stoke D'Abernon on January 6th is believed to be the youngest ladies' peal (average age 16 years 10 months). The name of Mrs. Susan Newman should be associated with this peal, as she taught each member of the band to handle a bell.

'O Lord, if we thy praises due from our minds let slide, then let our dexterous hands forget the echoing bells to guide.' A ringers' prayer in 'Overtones,' the magazine of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers. This year is the Guild's 10th birthday, Founder's Day being May 24th.

A motion to amend rules to permit ringing members of Stanmore and South Mymms to enjoy privileges of resident members will be submitted to the A.G.M. of the Herts County Association. These Middlesex towers will be inington Avenue, Ipswich, secretary for the 43rd daries becomes operative.

'COMPLETE COLLECTION OF RIGHT-PLACE SURPRISE MAJOR METHODS'

THIS publication, by A. S. Hudson and J. W. McClennahan, has appeared at a time when the publication of all Surprise Major methods rung to peals is under consideration by the Central Council. With such a publication there are two points to be considered: firstly, whether there is a demand for such a work, and secondly, the degree of technical accuracy attained.

Before considering these, it is necessary to describe the work briefly. This publication is a list of 5,137 place notations (arranged in a somewhat unusual order) which produce 9,106 methods. It claims to contain all the right-place Surprise Major methods producing plain bob lead-ends, and containing not more than one double change in a half-lead. The reason why this last restriction has been imposed is obscure, because at least ten methods with two or more double changes in the half-lead have been rung to peals, and three of these—Ullesthorpe, Zelah and Wychwood—feature not uncommonly in the peal columns. Consequently, this cannot be considered to be an exhaustive collection of even right-place methods, though presumably, within the limits set out in the foreword, it is complete.

Of these 9,106 methods some 232 have been rung to peals, so there is plenty of scope left for those wanting new simple methods. However, it must be said that a large number of them have unattractive features. Firstly, over 1,000 contain eleven-pull dodging in 7-8, and a similar number have eleven-pull dodging (or minor 1-2 variations) in 1-2. Secondly, there is a considerable number of methods which contain 87s at backstroke in the plain course, for example 250-259 and 1803-1827. It is not the purpose of this review to discuss the relative merits of the methods, and it must be left to the individuals concerned to decide what is worth ringing. It will be interesting to see how many of these methods are in fact pealable, when the second volume is produced, containing falseness incidence.

The question of whether the Exercise requires such a publication is a difficult one to answer. It is exceedingly unlikely that all these methods will be rung, and if a number of methods is required it is a comparatively simple task to produce them without reference to such a publication as this. The publication of such a collection surely involves some degree of responsibility to the Exercise, in that it should seek at least to maintain the present standards, if not to improve them. In the past we have had articles and correspondence on lowering the standards when some of these slight variation methods have been rung, and here is a large collection of methods, many of which have dubious qualities, as shown above. The production of this on the grounds of completeness is no justification for making inferior methods generally available: it can easily lower the standards. Surely what the Exercise really requires is firstly, a collection of methods already rung to peals, and secondly, if a collection of unring methods is required, one containing right and wrong place methods of varying degrees of difficulty on the lines of A. J. Corrigan's Surprise Major Methods.

The second point on technical accuracy is much easier to answer. It is an impossible task to check whether all the methods do produce plain bob lead-ends: obviously, any method will be checked before it is rung. The naming of methods in this book has produced both inaccuracy and inconsistency. A complete list of corrections is given on Page 91 of this issue. The only comment to be made is that it is a pity that the collection was not sent to someone with a filing system for checking before publication for, once again, errors are perpetuated in print and will inevitably give rise to controversy in the future. It seems a pity that the now accepted lettering for lead-ends has been ignored and a new system of figures and blank spaces substituted.

At first sight this seems to be a rather disparaging review. It is only fair to say that the compilers have obviously spent a lot of time producing it. Most of the printing is clear, but the stencils for pages 44-47 have got interposed as the page numbering is correct but the method sequence is not. The volume is well bound and has a good strong cover. Undoubtedly, anyone who tries to keep records will require a copy: its value to the Exercise as a whole is debatable and considerable selection of methods chosen for peals will be required.

Roving Ringers Recall Cornish Summer Tour

ON Saturday, July 27th, 13 ringers assembled at the Church of St. Maddern (8 bells) at Madron, near Penzance, to commence the 17th annual tour of the Roving Ringers, which was to take us through over 200 arduous but enjoyable miles of picturesque and varied West Country scenery in blazing sunshine that burnt us red and raw within the first day.

Those who met at Madron had little time for introductions before setting off on bicycles for the big youth hostel just outside Penzance. However, one young lady soon made her name by leading three innocent ringers over a 'short cut'—least said the better, but they did eventually arrive in time for the evening meal! Nine more joined that evening, bringing our members to 22 and creating a situation unique in the history of the Society in that there were 15 members on their first tour.

Sunday morning saw some enthusiastic ringing for the morning service at St. Mary's, Penzance (8) and lunchtime found us at Mousehole, where we tackled our first Cornish pasties. Our first courses of London and Cambridge were at Paul (6), and then we enjoyed a lazy afternoon swimming and sunbathing at Sennen Cove.

The Vicar at Sennen (6) was astounded to find lady ringers in the party and a ladies' touch was promptly organised. He retreated, baffled, to the vestry from which he emerged a little later to take Evensong and to preach a sermon specially prepared for our visit. Following the evening meal at Land's End Hostel we all trooped down to the pub and, led by our popular vocalist, engaged the regulars in a battle of songs.

FIRST CASUALTY

The 11-mile run to Zennor (6) the next morning produced our first casualty, when one of the girls collected some cuts and bruises on a steep hill. Fortunately she was not badly hurt and was able to join in the ringing here, which included good courses of Cambridge and London, Stedman and Double Norwich. The light, fast bells at Towednack (8) followed before a brisk ride into St. Ives. Beer, cheese and pickles fortified us for the four-mile climb to Carbis Bay (10), where we rang amongst other things a touch of Erin Caters. Another two miles took us to Lelant (6) before concluding the day's ringing with some Yorkshire and Little Bob at Phillack (8). The scorching sunshine and hard cycling was beginning to make itself felt to those who were not used to the saddle (most of us!) and after a most welcome dinner at Phillack Hostel the evening was spent applying cream.

Tuesday followed gently with a three-mile run to St. Gwinar (6) followed by 11 arduous miles to Helston (8), where the effects of the hard ride were all too apparent in the ringing. Fortified by lunch, the 12 miles to St. Gluvias (8) were taken in our stride and the ringing improved. It was here that a certain gentleman knocked himself out in a 'grave' accident in the churchyard but the nurses in the party soon had him on his feet again and no ill effects were suffered. Perran-ar-Worthal (6) was the last tower that day and after settling in at Truro Youth Hostel the bells at the Cathedral showed it was practice night and many of us went to steal a ring before our appointed visit the following afternoon.

Early next morning another Roving Ringer joined us as we set out on a 39-mile circular tour, ringing at East Newlyn (6), St. Columb Minor (8), Crantock (6), Perranzabuloe (6) and finishing at Truro Cathedral (10), where a half-course of Cambridge Royal was easily accomplished on these fine bells.

Thursday was notable in more ways than one. Firstly we rang our first course of Cornwall at Kenwyn (8) and at Probus (8) the fourth lost its clapper with fortunately no damage to bells or fittings. It was being rung by who else but the lady of 'short cut' fame.

SOUND ENGINEERS PROTEST

After lunch, ringing at St. Austell was nearly brought to an abrupt halt by an antagonistic policeman on point duty outside the church. Matters were not improved when two sound engineers came storming up to the porch (it was a ground-floor ring) and accused us of interfering with the testing of some delicate equipment nearby. All three, however, soon became so interested in the intricacies of change ringing that by the time it had all been explained to them we had rung the bells down and were ready to leave.

The prospect of a 10-mile ride to Lostwithiel in the blazing sun was too much for some, who disgraced themselves by catching a train, but all was forgiven when we received an enthusiastic and friendly welcome from the local ringers at Lostwithiel (6). They challenged us to join them in ringing the bells up and down the Cornish way—which we did.

Lostwithiel Hostel was to be our home for two nights, so Friday was another circular tour, taking us to Tywardreath (6), Fowey (8) and Llanallos (8), where we had planned to have lunch. To our dismay there was neither shop nor pub within three miles and after a makeshift snack it was decided to miss out the next tower, eight miles away, and have a leisurely ride to our last tower of the day, with a cream tea en route.

Saturday was our last day of cycling and it was with mixed feelings of relief, and sorrow that we set off for Lanhedock (8) and Lanivet (8). Lastly, Bodmin (8), where we did justice to the bells before cycling the three miles to Bodmin Road Station, where we caught a train to Exeter.

THE WEEK-END

Our arrival at the hostel, which was to be our base for the week-end, caused much consternation amongst the management as 23 bicycles were manhandled into the cellars, and 23 hot and tired bellringers rushed to the nearest baths. After much hunting for matches and reading of instructions, hot water flowed freely, and what a transformation it produced. Were these people sitting down to an evening meal in their smart suits and pretty dresses, really the same ones who had cycled those hot and tiring 200 miles? Other members joined us for dinner.

In the president's absence, the Master took the chair at the usual meeting and thanks were given to the secretaries for organising such an enjoyable tour and to Cyril for arranging the week-end towers around Exeter. Derek thanked Don Cobb for 'mastering' with such patience and efficiency, and it was decided to hold the annual reunion at Bath during the first week-end in February. The evening concluded with the traditional sing-song.

On Sunday, cyclists became drivers and we spent a happy day service ringing at Exeter Cathedral (where members rang a half-course of Cambridge Royal), Ottery St. Mary and on the wonderful ring at Tiverton.

The touring party consisted of Richard Fentiman, Rosemary Blyth, Fred Ellis, John Slater, Don Cobb, Sally Cobb, Mike Austin, Derek Astridge, Marilyn Gibbs, John Hayns, Diana Prynn, Roy Mills, Roy Ward, Stephen Wooller, Geraldine Piper, Roger Ashmore, Cathleen Heeney, Cynthia Edbrooke, Alan Ellesmore, Alan Luxford, Jennifer Smith, Valerie Mellish and Adrienne Gibson.

We all went our separate ways on Monday morning with memories of a most friendly and instructive holiday. The Society expresses its grateful thanks to incumbents and captains at the churches we visited, without whose co-operation the tour would not have been possible.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Mr. J. I. P. Davis, who for the last 35 years has been associated with the Wimborne Branch, resigned the post of hon. secretary, which he had held for ten years, when the annual general meeting was held at Poole on January 25th. Tributes to his work were paid by Mr. L. J. Lockyer (chairman) and Mr. A. D. Davis (chairman of the Christchurch Branch of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild). His resignation was due to pressure of work and he would no longer be free on a Saturday. Mrs. J. A. Robertson is the new hon. secretary.

Other officers for 1964 are: Messrs. L. J. Lockyer, chairman; C. E. Bishon, vice-chairman; H. I. Pitman and R. G. W. Robertson, Ringing Masters; C. Burt and G. W. Elmes, committee.

Provisional meeting programme: April 11th, Wimborne St. Giles and Cranborne; May 23rd, The Gussages; June 27th, Swanage; August 22nd, Kingston; September 26th, Canford Magna; annual general meeting, Wimborne.

The Guild Master, the Rev. R. N. Longridge, gave the address at the service conducted by the Rev. B. B. Bell (Rector). Mesdames Davis and True provided an excellent tea. Ringing was at St. James', Poole (10), afternoon and evening.

TEN RINGERS WANTED FOR WASHINGTON DEDICATION

Appeal for £1,000

The 'Times' of last Friday (January 31st) carried the following paragraph:—

'BELL RINGERS APPEAL'

The Dean of Washington, the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre, wants 10 first-class change ringers from Britain to ring the bells of Washington Cathedral on Ascension Day, May 7th, when the Cathedral's Gloria in Excelsis Tower is being dedicated. The reason is that the local band of enthusiasts in Washington are inexperienced and do not feel able to do justice to such an important occasion.

The Dean has so far raised $1,600 towards the cost of flying the bell ringers from London. To help him to achieve his aim a British appeal with a target of £1,000 is being launched by Mr. Douglas Hughes, of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, 32 and 34, Whitechapel Road, London, E.

This brought the Dean's wishes to the notice of the public before it had become known to ringers. This is understandable, because the task of financing this venture, which has been developing for some time, is a much greater problem than selecting 'ten first-class ringers.'

The question of selection is one about which the Dean spoke to me during his last visit here. He would like a representative band, and to this end left the matter in the hands of the Secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youths and myself.

No decision is however, likely, until the fund grows to a point where it would be safe to assume that the total cost is within reach. Mr. Wayne Dirksen, Associate Organist and Master of the Belfry, on behalf of the Dean, asked whether I might help to achieve this.

I feel that the ringing Exercise as a whole should feel proud that Dean Sayre has asked for a band from this country to take part in such an important domestic event in the history of Washington Cathedral.

I trust we shall not fail him for lack of financial support.—Yours sincerely,

DOUGLAS HUGHES.

London, E.1.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

Monmouth Branch

Seventy ringers from 22 towers energetically used the fine ring of ten bells at Abergavenny on January 11th on the occasion of the Monmouth Branch annual general meeting. There was a warm welcome from the Vicar (Canon H. R. Sproule-Jones) at the Guild service, with Mr. Ron Ward, younger son of Mr. George Ward, the tower leader, as organist.

An excellent tea was provided by the Abergavenny ringers and served by their wives and friends. The Rev. Roy Hallet (Vicar of Caldicot) expressed the sincere thanks of the company. Mr. Ron Ward and the choir members were thanked by Mr. F. Hannington, and Mr. Jack James thanked the Vicar.

At the business meeting the secretary was re-elected and Mr. Jack James entered his second year of office as Master. New members were elected from Abergavenny, St. Woolos Cathedral, Rumney and Blaenavon. It was reported that Bassaleg bells were back in the tower and had been rung at Christmas. Progress was reported from Machen and Abergavenny. Surprise practices are to be arranged by Mr. W. Thompsett.

Meeting places for 1964: Llangattock—Vibon—Avel. Nash and Usk.

ST. LEONARD'S, BILSTON

Possessors of Dove's Guide will know that the Church of St. Leonard, Bilston, Staffs, although with a ring of eight, has for a number of years, been without a fifth. In 1954, at a meeting held at the tower, the fifth was broken in the crown. A short while later the bell, minus a crown and fittings, was placed in its pit on two beams, while the headstock and clapper, still with the crown attached, were placed on the belfry floor, and this is where they have lain since.

The church has a long and interesting history, this being the third church on the site, and the inside of the present 'pepper box' tower incorporates part of the structure of the mediæval building. Hung in the old tower was a ring of four bells. One of these was bought by Sir Thomas de Erdington from the monks of Much Wenlock Abbey, where there was a bell foundry. It was inscribed:—

'I am called ye Curfew belle,
I ryngen att VIII or more,
Too sende ye alle too bedde,
And waken ye up att IV.'

The bells, together with other church items, were later sold into lay hands during the reign of Edward VI and were never returned. In 1826–27 the enlargement of the church took place, and between that time and 1909 St. Leonard's had a ring by Rudhall and William Dobson, of Downham Market. In 1909 James Barwell recast the ring and hung it in the 1827 frame.

In 1929 the seventh was recast by Mears and Stainbank because it was cracked.

Sunday, November 10th, 1963, was St. St. Leonard's patronal service and during Evensong the recast fifth was dedicated. It was almost ten years since the bell was broken and now, once again, the octave is complete.

During the silence, after the prayers of dedication, the eight bells were rung in rounds for one minute by the teenage band. After the service the bells were kept going until 9 p.m. by visitors from Wolverhampton, Tettenhall, Penn. Coseley, Wednesbury, Aldridge and Lichfield Cathedral.

The new bell has been cast by Mears and Stainbank and is inscribed on the soundbow: 'Recast 1963. Mears, London.'

The bell was a gift from Mr. and Mrs. C. Legge, former parishioners, who now reside at Torquay.

Practice night is Friday and visitors are especially welcome. The secretary is Mr. John Wellings, 142, Bunkers Hill Lane, Bilston, Staffs. R. M. H.

FIFTY YEARS A PRIEST

Canon H. A. Hayden, Vicar of Farnborough, Warwicks, has completed 50 years as a priest and the event was commemorated by a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor on these bells on January 12th.

After service as a chaplain to the Australian Air Force in World War I, he went to St. Nicholas', Warwick, in 1923 as curate and was later Vicar. During his ministry it was his ambition to have the bells ringing again but the eight were silent until 1957, when it was decided to have the bells recast and rehung. The money came in quickly.

When he went to Farnborough he was faced with five bells very much out of tune and in a very bad condition. Dr. Corydon-Budge approached him as to a suitable memorial in the church to his wife. At the Canon's suggestion a new treble was added and the old five retuned and hung in a new frame. They are a very pleasant six and although the Canon left a good eight at Warwick he gets much pleasure from hearing Farnborough bells calling the local people to church every Sunday.

Richard de Wymbisshe

Dear Sir,—May I offer one or two observations on C. W. Hancock's article about ancient London founders.

In the London of the 13th and 14th centuries, as now, the bellfounding area was to the east, taking in Aldgate and Portsoken Wards. It is in this area, in 1310, that the name Billiter Lane first appears. The word 'Billiter' is most likely a corruption of 'Bellitere,' a maker of bells. This name, coupled with the appearance of the surname, 'Campanarius' (bellfounder), for a Sheriff in Guildhall documents makes it highly likely that bellfounders were in existence by the end of the 13th century.

Concerning the family of Wymbish, we learn that they originated in the Essex village of the same name. There were four of them, Michael, Richard, Ralph and Walter, the last of whom dropped the 'de' from the surname.

Michael, the earliest, is mentioned in deeds dated 1297, and also 1310, when he appears to have died. There were two bells by him at Bradenham, Bucks, both inscribed in ornamented Gothic capitals:

† MICHAEL : DE : WYMBIS : ME : FECIT

For all I know these bells may still exist. It seems that Michael is the earliest London founder of whom we have knowledge. Richard's career runs about parallel with Michael's, though he is a little later, around 1300—1313. There is no doubt as to his being a founder.

Ralph, the next in date, has left no evidence of his trade. No bell by him has as yet been located.

Walter presents a slight problem. It is perhaps possible that he is identifiable with one gentleman who was alive in 1287—8, but more likely he was the last of the family, as he styled himself plain 'Wymbish,' and not 'de Wymbish.' Only one bell by him is known to exist, at Kingston-by-Lewes, in Sussex. The lettering used is entirely different from that of his predecessors, indicating that he did not directly inherit the founding business.

Mentions of Wymbish will be found in as much detail as is known in 'Church Bells of Buckinghamshire' by A. H. Cox, and in 'Surrey bells and London Bellfounders' by J. C. L. Stahlschmidt. I believe Deedes and Walters' 'Church Bells of Essex' may possibly prove useful as a source, but I have not had time to verify this.

From the evidence available, it seems that this family is certainly the earliest known founding family in London.—Yours faithfully, LEICESTER. ROBERT E. HARDY.

'Others Might Follow'

Dear Sir,—By the absence of replies to the Vicar's letter in the issue of December 6th, it now seems that we are the only tower where visiting ringers forget the Belfry Fund! We have a slot in our tower door with 'Belfry Fund' written above it, but hardly ever do our visitors find it.

We nearly always meet and welcome visitors and they have their hour's ringing. While the Ringing Master is thanking us, the others rush out, not even signing the visitors' book. Despite this, non-ringing friends always find the box for church expenses.

Is it because our bells are not too good? It would be nice if we could hand to the P.C.C. a little towards the cost of ropes from the Belfry Fund. The Grundisburgh ringers are to be commended for giving as they did. A fine example.—Yours sincerely,

REG PELLETT.

Woodchurch, near Ashford.

Yorkshire Tail Ends

Dear Sir,—The motto of Durham & Newcastle Association is 'Ars Incognita Contemnitur,' which, being interpreted, means 'An unknown art is despised,' and I suspect that this can be applied to much of what is written and said about tail ends.

I was brought up ringing on Yorkshire tail ends but do not claim to have any special preference, being quite happy when ringing either kind. In fact when I hear ringers saying that either kind is no good, I suspect that they have not properly acquired the art of handling a bell rope.

I suppose it is like eating peas. If your parents properly taught you the art of balancing them on a dinner knife, you should not have much difficulty in performing the same feat on a dessert knife.

I know of instances where towers have changed from Yorkshire tail ends to plain ends, not because of any handling difficulties but in order to save money, as the additional cost of a set of ropes with Yorkshire tail ends is considerable.

Undoubtedly Mr. Price is quite right when he says that the majority of ringers will agree that the Yorkshire tail end is useless, but I would hazard a guess that the majority of ringers have never seen the Yorkshire tail ends, let alone rung on them.—Yours faithfully,

F. HODGSON.

Darlington, Co. Durham.

Burslem Delight and Union Doubles

Dear Sir,—In the last paragraph of his letter (page 36), Mr. Smith condones the disregard of Central Council Decisions. It would appear that his education in Leicester was incomplete. He failed to take note that if the Leicestershire ringers make a mistake about Method Extension they will admit it when their errors are pointed out, and comply with the requests of the Council. A worthy example.

Burslem is a respectable name and can well be used as Burslem Bob, Imperial, College, Court, Surprise, Exercise or Treble Bob Major. But Burslem Delight Minor does not extend. Therefore, no Burslem Delight Major.

The work of the Records Committee is difficult enough as it is, with the almost complete lack of co-operation shown by most Association secretaries, without making it harder by having to keep checking on the incorrect naming of so-called extensions. The work of the Methods Committee includes helping the Exercise in the correct interpretation of Council Decisions. Any non-compliance with the Decision on Method Extension is due to violation or ignorance. Both should be corrected immediately. Perhaps Mr. Smith favours a return to the jungle of approximate extensions.

Ob no longer stands; if he objects to Llanfair P.G. perhaps he would suggest a limit on the number of letters per name. Llanfangel-rhydeithon Surprise has already been named Guernsey Surprise Major.

The bob given in the 'Diary' for Union Doubles permits of 28 different extents. —Yours sincerely, FRANK T. BLAGROVE.

Society of Wessex Scholars

Dear Sir,—This Society was formed with every good intention and with the furtherance of the Objects of the Exercise in mind but it appears that many ringers are offended by its formation.

Although I am urged by many to continue this work I feel that in order to avoid further friction it may be a good thing to withdraw the project, at least temporarily. This I do with apologies to all those who have been offended. If the esteemed ex-secretary will condescend to return all the Society's documents and records to me I will refund all subscriptions to members who have joined the Society.

One good thing, at least, has come of our efforts. I personally have made many new friends, among which are many of those who have taken umbrage. To those I offer my thanks for their tolerance and understanding of my motives which, after all, were only to get the many silent towers ringing again. It is my earnest desire that all members of the Associations will go all out to do this. There is a difficult job ahead for all those who are able to tackle it but it is well worth doing and those undertaking it will be well rewarded by their efforts—and I do speak from experience.—Yours sincerely,

FRANK C. W. KNIGHT.

Winchester.

Note.—In view of Mr. Knight's decision, other correspondents' letters on this subject will not be published.—Ed.

Edward Bilbie's Clocks

Dear Sir,—Recently I had the opportunity of examining a 30-hour clock made by Edward Bilbie. Chewstoke, unusual in design, built in a cage form with the hammer striking on the inside of the bell. I should appreciate any details about this clockmaker, who may have been connected with the bellfounders.—Yours faithfully,

W. F. MOXON.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

Despite wintry conditions, thanks to the hospitality of the Vicar, local ringers and friends of St. Paul's Church, Burton-on-Trent, a most successful meeting was held on January 18th. After ringing on the famous ten and holding the Society's form of Evensong, the party sat down to a fine tea provided by the ladies connected with the church.

A substantial list of new members was elected as follows:—W. Weston, C. W. Bowen, C. T. Collins (Lichfield Cathedral), the Misses M. Painter, V. Styles and S. Frost, Mrs. V. Gall, H. Hood and G. Wilson (Aldridge), P. G. K. Davies and M. McEvoy (Bilston), R. J. Lees and H. Butler (unattached), Miss J. Toon, Miss M. Woolley and M. Webster (Burton-on-Trent). Non-resident life members (confirmed): Miss C. Littlewood, R. J. Ballard, P. A. Halls, D. W. Parkin, N. Sherratt, D. Latham, W. Sherratt, G. A. Halls and K. Richards.

A striking competition in which ringing will be restricted to either Plain Bob Doubles (with cover) or Plain Bob Minor is to be held on April 11th at 3 p.m. (Tower to be announced later.)

The annual dinner will be held at Cannock on November 7th.

Next meeting: March 21st, possibly Bilston (not Church Eaton).

Thank you, Burton, for your welcome.

SURREY ASSOCIATION*Southern District

Interest was centred at the annual general meeting of the Southern District, held at Reigate on January 18th, on the election of District officers. After a ballot, Mr. T. Bird emerged as the new Ringing Master, replacing Mr. A. Streeter, who had held the office for four consecutive years.

In giving the programme of meetings, the secretary (Mr. G. West) announced the re-introduction of combined practices to assist struggling towers. These would be held at each tower concerned on the first practice night in two consecutive months, beginning in February.

The Rev. A. G. Tomblin conducted the service, there was an excellent tea and Mr. W. Parrott, Northern District secretary, called attention to the social evening at Christ Church, Epsom Common, on February 8th, and the striking competition at Ashted on April 25th. Methods rung ranged from Superlative Major to Grandsire Royal.

Next meeting: March 21st (quarterly), Dorking (8). K. G. S.

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION*Chesterfield District

In spite of the bitterly cold weather the District's first meeting in the New Year, held at Staveley on January 11th, was attended by some 30 ringers from no less than 11 towers. Under the supervision of the District Ringing Master, Mr. A. Keller, the 18 cwt. octave was put to good use in quite a wide variety of methods before an excellent tea.

The Rev. D. Jenkins, who is himself a ringer, took the chair at the business meeting. The secretary (Mr. M. Phipps) reminded members that the two winning teams of the District would compete in the final of the Association's striking competition to be held at Horsely on May 30th.

Following the election of Miss Margaret Leigh as a member, Mr. J. Newman concluded the meeting with a comprehensive vote of thanks. Ringing took place until shortly after 9 p.m.

Next meeting: District outing to Association dinner on February 8th. M. P. P.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION*Lewisham District

The Lewisham District was very fortunate in its choice of St. Mary's, Woolwich, for its quarterly meeting on January 25th, since no church could be better equipped for such a gathering. The galleries have been closed in and in one about 60 members and friends enjoyed an excellent tea, and they then had to walk only a few steps to the business meeting in the comfortable lounge on the opposite side of the church.

An hour and a half's ringing preceded the service, which was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Nicholas Stacey), and the organ was played by Mr. John Portis.

New members from Greenwich, Lewisham and Woolwich were elected at a short business meeting, at which Mr. A. G. Hill took the chair. This was followed by a return to the beiry for further ringing under the leadership of Mr. D. Manger, Ringing Master. M. R.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD*Central Branch

After an absence of seven years the annual general meeting of the Central Branch was held at Harmston on January 11th, a fact commented upon by the Vicar in his welcome. There was a good attendance with visitors from as far afield as Worcester.

After tea Mr. J. Freeman presided over the business meeting. The secretary presented the accounts and commented on unpaid subscriptions for previous years. Officers elected included: President, Canon M. H. R. Syngé; chairman, Mr. J. Freeman; Ringing Master, Mr. J. L. Millhouse; secretary-treasurer, Mr. S. A. Chambers. Towers for meetings in 1964 were agreed upon at Nocton, Ewerby, Eagle, Welton and Dunholme, and the annual meeting at St. Giles', Lincoln, in January, 1965.

The meeting agreed to support a contribution towards Lincoln Cathedral Restoration Fund. Members stood in silence as a mark of respect to Mr. J. Cragg, of Caythorpe, a foundation member.

Ringing in the tower in the evening included Spliced Surprise Major. S. A. C.

Elloe Deaneries Branch

The Branch president, the Rev. D. Graham Jakeman, conducted the service at the annual general meeting of the Elloe Deaneries Branch at Spalding on January 11th. Ringing also took place at Fulney. Lady ringers served an excellent tea to some 50 members.

The officers of the Branch were re-elected and the meeting programme adopted, including the cricket match/ringing festival (details to be published later). London Surprise Major and Oxford Bob Triples were among methods rung. D. J. J.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD*Portsmouth District

The annual meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at Portsmouth Cathedral on January 11th and was attended by 35 members and friends representing the majority of the District towers. The service was conducted by Canon E. S. C. Lowman, after which tea was served in the Cathedral House.

For the business meeting the District chairman, Mr. H. A. Nobes, presided. New members elected were:—Ringing: P. R. Denton (Portsea), Cdr. M. Laborda and T. Green (Curdrige), the Misses M. Washington, B. Curtis and S. Prickett (Alverstoke). Compounding: A. R. Andrews (Colchester), A. R. Baldock (Eastbourne), A. R. Bridges (Ipswich), A. R. Millidge (Putney), Joan Beresford, P. Beresford and D. Beresford (Dartford), Claudia and William Critchley (Knebworth), J. Hill (Uxbridge).

Towards the cost of rehanging Tichfield bells it was agreed to send a donation of two guineas.

Practice meetings are to be continued during 1964, the next being at Curdrige on February 22nd from 2.30 till 5.30 p.m. Votes of thanks were passed to Canon Lowman and the Cathedral authorities.

Next annual meeting, Portsea, February 6th, 1965. L. D. D.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD*Bingham District

All the young members were provided with a free tea when the Bingham District held its annual meeting, appropriately at All Saints', Bingham. A company of 50 sat down after a shortened Evensong conducted by the Rector (the Rev. H. A. Kirtton).

At the business meeting a minute's silence was observed for those who had died during the year—Canon Wilkinson (late chairman), Messrs. Bramble (Oxton) and Simpson (Cotgrave).

The secretary was pleased to report regular Sunday ringing and progress in over 75 per cent. of the District towers. Membership had increased to 89 and elected at the meeting were Messrs. N. Ogle, P. Ogle, R. Sentance, J. Smith and Miss K. Smith (Cotgrave).

Officers elected were: Mr. D. Clarke, chairman; Miss R. Blackman, secretary; Mr. N. W. Harrison, Ringing Master; Mr. B. Buswell, Deputy Ringing Master; Mr. H. Hanson, committee.

Mrs. Bradley proposed that a record be kept of any progress of ringing in the District and suggested that the new methods for the meeting at Willoughby-on-the-Wolds on February 8th be St. Hilary's Bob and New Bob.

The Rev. J. Pickworth Hutchinson has resigned as padre and is succeeded by the Rev. F. W. Stepherni, of Cotgrave. R. B.

Newark District

Brightest facts of the secretary's report, presented at the annual meeting of the Newark District on January 18th at Newark, were the re-forming of bands at two towers and that most of the bells were in good condition. Five new ringing members were elected—three from Southwell and two from Newark.

District officers elected were: Chairman, Mr. F. W. Midwinter; hon. secretary, Mrs. C. W. Reed; Ringing Masters, Mr. A. E. Chilton and Mr. J. Pratchett; committee member, Miss G. Burchnell. The vote of thanks included the curate (the Rev. Mr. Stone) for taking the service, and the ladies for preparing tea. The recently inducted Vicar, the Rev. E. J. Kingsnorth, was elected a vice-president.

Most of the ringing was on a 10-bell basis, and visitors from Leicester and Cheshire were welcomed.

OBITUARY*MR. ELI VINCENT

The Swindon Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association has lost one of its older members. Mr. Eli Vincent passed away in St. Margaret's Hospital, Stratton St. Margaret, on January 20th.

Eli, who was in his 79th year, joined the band at St. Mark's, Swindon, in 1933, when he was made a member of the Association. In 1947 he joined the band at Christ Church, Swindon, and was a regular Sunday service ringer there until a few weeks before his death.

The funeral took place at Christ Church on January 23rd and, after the committal, 1,299 Stedman Caters was rung half-muffled to his memory by: R. Bladon 1, Miss S. Little 2, M. D. Penney 3, W. W. T. Daniell 4, W. H. Trueman 5, A. R. Peake 6, R. E. G. Luton 7, M. Stanley 8, E. Sutton (cond.) 9, R. J. Drewett (10).

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

More than 50 ringers attended the Chertsey District A.G.M. held in the beautifully restored church of St. Peter, Chertsey, on January 11th. A warm welcome was given by the Vicar, the Rev. G. S. Archibald, who conducted the service and preached on the Epiphany theme.

After an excellent tea prepared and served by the local ringers, the Vicar took the chair for the business meeting. In his report, the District Ringing Master (Mr. F. E. Hawthorne) said it had been a difficult year for the new officers taking over, especially in arranging meetings. He questioned the wisdom of all three officers coming from the same tower.

The District secretary (Mr. R. Capron) reported a drop of about 25 in membership, probably due to subscription arrears. Attendance at meetings was down by an average of about 14.

Meetings for 1964 were proposed at Esher, Old Woking, Send and Ockham, Thames Ditton, Weybridge and Chobham, with 1965 A.G.M. at Hersham.

The District officers were all declared re-elected. Mr. D. G. Blows was elected auditor in place of Mr. W. Shepherd, who wished to retire. He was thanked for his work by Mr. Hawthorne.

OPENING EVENING AT DARLINGTON

More than 35 visitors crowded into the belfry of St. Cuthbert's, Darlington, when the ringers held an open evening on January 20th. They were taken in parties to watch a bell being raised and lowered—and a special trip up the ladder was made by some of the choirboys, who wanted to be in the bell chamber when the tenor was chimed. The tower captain, Mr. T. Cooke, was in charge of the sightseers.

A brief explanation of change ringing by Mr. Fred Hodgson preceded a demonstration, and the visitors were also able to see a new recruit being taught.

The Vicar, Canon Peter N. Wansey, thanked the ringers for an interesting evening, and afterwards the ringers and their wives were entertained at the Vicarage.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION*Northern District

The Northern District at its annual meeting held at Coggeshall on January 11th decided to ask the Essex Association to consider changing its name to the Chelmsford Diocesan Guild. This was felt to be necessary and desirable in view of the changing boundaries of the county.

Mr. R. Suckling who presided, was re-elected District Master, Mr. Peter Wood was elected secretary and Messrs. R. Syder and R. Lindsell appointed committee members.

The next District meeting will be at Gestingthorpe, and it was decided to proceed with arrangements for the striking competition with Mr. T. Bird as M.C. and Miss H. Snowden and Mr. L. Mills as judges.

The Vicar (the Rev. L. W. Davey), who conducted the service, welcomed the ringers and said he was sure they would enjoy themselves, as Coggeshall had one of the best octaves in Essex.

A slight drop in membership from 179 to 167 was reported by the hon. secretary. The rededication of Kelvedon bells by the Bishop of Colchester will take place on February 15th. Thanks were expressed to all who helped to make the meeting such a success.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE*Western District

When the Western District met at Blackhill on January 18th they were pleased to find that the ringing chamber at St. Aidan's had been renovated with a new lighting system and the church had just installed a new heating system. During the afternoon ringing ranged from rounds to Surprise methods.

After service and tea, another variation of Surprise took place. Mr. W. Tyson, vice-president of the Western District, made a presentation of three bellringers' ties to Mr. C. Lamb, who had recently retired after three years of excellent and conscientious service to the Western District. Members present showed their appreciation of Mr. Lamb's work by hearty applause.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. A. N. Stubbs is still living at 29, Sutherland Place, London, W.2.

Regarding the peal of Minor rung at Collingham, Yorks ((see page 49), Mr. P. Bishop, of 12, Worple Avenue, London, S.W.19, asks for the notation of 'Southrepps Minor'.

After holding their annual general meeting for the past 30 years at Ranmoor, the Sheffield and District Society have decided this year to meet at Roitham on March 7th. New sound control now operates in this tower and the ringing room has been repainted and new linoleum fitted.

LEADING PEAL RINGERS*Supplementary List

	Tower	Hand Total
P. Meyhew	52 (3)	52
Edward W. Colley	50 (1)	50
Philip P. Rothera	27	27

Mr. Neil Bennett rang 101 tower bell peals, and not 100 as stated in our last issue. His total was 113.

Mr. L. Bournemouth informs us that the dearth of peals in Cumberland during 1963 was not due to any inactivity. 'We are now concentrating on higher things,' he writes, 'which is difficult with so few ringers and bells, but eventually, our efforts will be crowned with success.'

It was proposed to ring a peal for the 83rd birthday of Dr. C. J. Grimes, honorary Rector of Alwalton, Hunts, on January 6th. He was much distressed when an irate and abusive neighbour demanded that he should stop the ringing after about an hour. Dr. Grimes' final comment was that next year he will be 84 and would the ringers please then try again.

'What sort of mess would the ringing Exercise be in today if we had no Central Council to guide us,' asks Editor F. E. Dukes in the Editorial of the current issue of 'Irish Bell News'. 'Would we have only one name for each method? Would we have true peals only being rung and would we have the invaluable knowledge which appears in the Council's publications?' Before a united Anglican-Methodist service at St.
Michael and All Angels' Church at Blewbury a quarter peal of Grand-sire Triples was rung. The ringers included
Mr. Harold W. Dunsden, who has been a Methodist all the 30 years he has been ringing at Blewbury.

The Rev. A. Clayton rang the fourth bell in the quarter peal at Wollaston reported on page 58.

Norman Mallett, of Heavitree, Exeter, has now completed Stedman from Doubles to Cinques.

The quarter peal at Sopley, Hants (page 78), was the first in two methods for R. W.
Young, and not for the ringer of second.

An in memoriam handbell peal of Stedman
Caters was rung by Cambridge University
Guild to Mr. James Butler, who was Master 1914-15 and 1919-20.

The six bells at Kelvedon, Essex, have had their canons removed and have been rehung on ball bearings, complete with new headstocks, wheels, fittings, etc., by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. The company thank all who helped to 'raise the necessary.'

Mr. J. Segar, of 16, Green Lane, Skegness, has received many appreciative letters concerning his table of 360 Major courses. One reader writes: 'The article in the "R.W." is the best published for a long while. Many thanks.'

As a compliment to Mr. C. Glass on his 90th birthday, a quarter peal of Grand sire Triples was rung on the back eight of Exeter Cathedral bells on January 26th. For 50 years Mr.
Glass rang at the Cathedral and he was Ringing Master for 13 years.

Ringing in a 720 at Goldhanger, Essex, on January 23rd to mark his 78th birthday, was Mr. Arthur Appleton. He is the last of the band still able to ring which, under the late Mr. J. D. Buckingham, started change ringing at Goldhanger.

For the past three years a Ringers' Sunday has been held at St. Peter's, Weston Favell, Northampton. One was held on January 19th (following St. Anthony's Day), when hymns for bellringers composed by the tower captain (Mr. P. Amos) were sung.

BELFRY GOSSIP

After 10 happy years as secretary of the Northern District, Surrey Association, Mr.
W. Parrott has retired. His successor is Mr.
Nigel Steere, whose late father, Mr. G. W.
Steere, was for many years secretary of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths.

We regret to learn that Mr. Robin G.
Leale has had to go into hospital.

The peal at Greasley on November 30th (page 67) was dedicated to the Society of Sherwood Youths. The conductor sends his apologies.

St. Polycarp Doubles is a new 'Saints' peal.
It was first rung on the day of this Saint's Festival (January 26th). A convert of St. John the Divine, he was martyred at the age of 86.

The 50th anniversary of the first peal of Surprise Minor in the Oxford Diocese was commemorated on January 24th in the same church, Calverton. The same methods were also rung, viz: Canterbury, Chester, York, London, Wells, Beverley and Cambridge.

It was never intended to ring the peal of Minor at St. Peter's, Leeds, on January 22nd.
The fog descended and the transport did not get through in time to get the party to Kirk Deighton, where it was supposed to have been rung.

Although Mr. Ernest Denby is a driving instructor and approaching 60 years of age, this did not deter him from becoming a pupil in the art of bellringing at Mansfield just over two years ago. Now that he has rung his first quarter peal, at Morton on January 10th, we hope that he feels 'competent to ring' and that he will go on to ring his first peal and so 'pass his test.'

A wide circle of Lancashire friends will join in congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Albert Greenhalgh on their silver wedding. The occasion was honoured by a peal at Farnworth. Albert is one of those ringers whose names never appear in the annual list, but he has been the backbone of his own tower for 30 years and has trained dozens of learners in that time.
For service ringing and practice he is as regular as a clock.

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD

The East Grinstead and District Guild held their annual dinner on January 11th at the Castle Hotel, Tunbridge Wells, preceded by ringing at St. Peter's Church, Tunbridge
Wells, in the afternoon.

A company of about 60 sat down to a very enjoyable dinner, apart from the odd Yorkshire pudding. Speeches were made by Mr.
Raymond A. Large, who proposed 'The Church,' which was replied to by the Rev. J.
R. Missen (president). 'The East Grinstead and District Guild' was proposed by Mr.
Cyril W. Hancock. In his reply Mr. Brian E.
Jeffrey (chairman) gave a brief resume of the activities of the Guild during the past year.

After the speeches and a touch of Grandsire
Triples on handbells, the Rev. R. W. Lax West entertained with some magic, the highlight being when he hypnotised a lady member and left us all thoroughly mystified as to how it was done.

After the president had drawn the lucky numbers Mr. Raymond A. Large brought to an end a most happy evening with some fine singing, accompanied on the piano by Mrs.
Ladd. Thanks must go to all those who worked so hard to make such a happy evening possible. R. J. O.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The Marlborough Branch meeting at Mildenhall on January 18th was an unqualified success with attendance higher than of late.
Ringing was under the direction of the Rev.
Roger Keeley (Ringing Master) and the Guild service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev.
E. G. Courtman), with Mr. A. Keen at the organ. An excellent tea was laid on by the Rector and lady helpers, who did a fine job in coping with a company almost twice as big as expected.

Mr. W. A. Edwards deputised for the chairman at the business meeting, when a lady member from Chisleton was elected.

Next meeting: Presbute (subject to permission) and possibly St. Peter's, Marlborough, in the evening.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

A great variety of methods was rung at the N.W. District's meeting at Elvedon on January 11th, including Plain Bob, Grandsire, Little Bob, Kent, Oxford, Cambridge, Stedman, Ipswich and Norwich. Conducting was shared by Messrs. J. Paul, H. Fuller, R. and M. Rose.

The Rev. C. J. Newton Gates conducted the service and a splendid tea was served by Mesdames Paul, Fuller and Rose. Mr. L.
Wright presided at the meeting when the following meetings were approved:—February,
Fornham St. Mary (evening), March, Hopton
(evening), April, Rougham (quarterly).

The great services of Mr. Wright not only to that District but to Central Suffolk were mentioned by Mr. Lester, of Needham Market, in proposing a vote of thanks. Many new methods had been learnt and outings in the summer months arranged by him, he said.

RINGINGITIS—OR GALLOPING BELLMANIA

IT'S only a little over twelve months ago since the disease first struck at my young eleven years old son, who up to that time had been a fairly normal small boy.

In those days; on almost every fine Sunday during the summer it used to be our habit to pack up picnic meals and motor out into the country for the day. It was when returning from these trips that my wife and I realised something was wrong—for young Dave (usually the most reluctant to return home) began to worry about getting home 'in time for church.'

Now, in my experience, for any eleven-year-old boy actually to want to go to church is distinctly unnatural. When I questioned him closely about the matter it seemed that the whole thing had something to do with the ringing of church bells. Boys, of course, have always loved to make a noise—so it followed that this licensed noise-making would appeal, at least for a time. The obvious thing to do was to humour him, for surely he'd soon tire of bell jangling.

When, however, several weeks passed by and he showed no signs of losing interest, I made the fatal mistake of going along with him to the tower, to find out what it was all about.

Now, twelve months later, I'm still going, and enjoying it (for such is the strange power of this disease). I suppose I should have realised when I first mounted those spiral stairs and came at last to that magic place 'the ringing room' that here was a sensation much akin to those associated with 'messaging about in boats,' this being another chronic complaint from which I have suffered for years.

I watched the ringing fascinated—the puppet circle of shirt-sleeved ringers, with trance-like expressions, seemingly actuated by the darting bobbing sallies—the rattle of ropes in the guides—the sudden calls of 'Bob' or 'Single' and over all this totally incomprehensible movement, the obviously ordered pattern of sound from the bells somewhere high above.

Of course, I was taken up to see those bells—and, oh, the sheer magic of the place—a magic compounded of stone, wood, metal and mysterious shadow, where hung twelve slumbering bells, each rocking gently in turn to the touch of my guide, as he walked about the frame, touching here a stay, there a wheel, describing their weight and history. We returned to the ringing room and again I should have taken warning from the strange glint in the man's eye, as with chalk on blackboard he drew sorcerer's patterns of lines and figures to illustrate the principles of change ringing.

That first visit was followed by others, during one of which I was asked, would I like to 'try the feel of a bell.' That was it—the moment I took rope in hand, my fate was sealed.

Again and again I returned, for there always seems to be something new to learn, and well I remember the almost sensual pleasure when first you 'find the balance' and half a ton of bell is poised in perfect fingertip control. Less pleasant those moments of sheer terror when things go wrong and with madly flapping rope the usually docile bell becomes a savage monster obviously quite capable of pulping you against the ceiling. During those frantic seconds you decide 'never again'—until one of the ringers strolls across and, with a few deft pulls, subdues the beast.

So it goes on—but in my own case, somewhat slowly, for at the age of fifty one does not pick up completely new ideas quite so quickly. So my son gallops on ahead, seeming to pick up the idea instructively, while I have to work so hard at each phase—but doggedly determined to master each fascinating new aspect.

For those in middle age who would like to make the second half of life even more interesting and exciting than the first, may I recommend a visit to your nearest tower—if you are the right sort of person, infection and all that follows will be automatic. If, however, the years have made you a trifle pompous and self-important—then forget it, for humility of approach is vital.

Could you bear to see youngsters of fourteen and fifteen, who started ringing at the same time as yourself, ringing 'inside' to touches of Cambridge while you are still grappling with rope-sight and struggling desperately to ring a plain course of Grand-sire or Plain Bob, on the treble?

Can you take a 'ticking off' from an 18-year-old conductor, who has finally 'blown his top' at your pathetic attempts at striking? Or could you endure the resigned expressions of the regular band who have just suffered your attempts to prevent them 'ringing around you'?

If you can, then a whole new world of fascinating experience is open to you. You will be welcomed into the fraternity of change ringers, where age or status will count for nothing unless you have a real interest. When once it is seen that you have this interest—then even the greatest names amongst the select body of peal ringers will find time to patiently explain those particular mysteries which currently baffle you.

You will go to 'meetings,' take part in 'tower grabs,' and meet a whole host of fascinating characters, young and old. You will begin to speak a strange new language with mediæval sounding words like 'Caters' and 'Cinques,' 'Royal' or 'Maximus.' Or, if you're a handy-man, you'll battle with rope splicing, greasers, clapper bolts, sliders and stays.

The world will go on all around you in the same old dreary way, but you will be a different person, having acquired skills and knowledge about which the man-in-the-street knows nothing. When holidays or business trips take you away from home, you will find that 'Dove's Guide' becomes even more important than the A.A. book. You'll find yourself making detours to spot that tower at which you've been told 'there's a glorious eight,' and if it happens to be practice night, you can be sure of a welcome wherever you are, however humble your own abilities.

You regular readers of 'The Ringing World' will, of course, know all about it, unless in your own case perhaps the disease has reached such an advanced stage that you have forgotten some of the earlier symptoms. Therefore, before this happens to me, I put pen to paper in an effort to express my most grateful thanks to the whole company of ringers everywhere. E. H. C.

Cumberlands Welcome Their Latest 1,000-Pealer

THE more attractive surroundings of the Church House Restaurant, Westminster, drew a larger attendance to the annual dinner of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths on February 1st. Under the genial chairmanship of Mr. Dennis Beresford, the Master, proceedings went with a swing. It was a night of stories: the Rev. Meredith Davies, who is this year Mayor of Shoreditch, drew on his vast store of anecdotes, and this spurred on Canon A. G. G. Thurlow, the president of the Central Council, to be at his wittiest. Canon Thurlow had a field day. Not only did he ring at the towers open, but he went back to Great Yarmouth the same night, reaching home after 4 a.m.

There was a warm welcome for Mr. Jack Millhouse, that stalwart of the Cumberlands at Lincoln, who was accompanied by sister Betty. The Master, in his speech, referred to the peal of Cambridge Maximus that Mr. Millhouse arranged for the Cumberlands at Walsall, rung mainly by a provincial band. Jack was also congratulated on ringing his 1,000th peal, and the Master read out the distinguished list of Cumberlands in the ranks of the 1,000 pealers. They are: W. H. Fussell, James Bennett, Frank Bennett, George Williams, Alfred H. Pulling, J. H. Cheeseman, C. T. Coles, Keith Hart, H. E. Audsley and J. E. Davis.

MEMORIES OF THE PAST

It was an evening when due honour was given to the past. Mr. E. A. Barnett, who had been looking through some articles by James Armiger Trollope, recalled the names of Edward Osborne, who was secretary for many years, John Cox and Henry Halev. Another worthy was Augustus James Frost, who in the year 1838 turned in Bow tenor to a peal of Treble Ten, and at the conclusion the band rang a course of Stedman Caters.

In the 'Era' of January, 1851, appeared the following letter, quoted Mr. Barnett:—

'I might add, for the information of the ringers of England, that there is but one regular organised Society in London, viz., the London Cumberland Change Ringing Society, under the sanction and patronage of the clergy and influential laymen of the Metropolis.'

The Editor added: 'We insert this but we have our doubts of the Cumberlands being the only regular organised Society in London.'

Mr. Barnett supposed that the man who in the 19th century did most for the Cumberlands was George Newson. He was in the first peal to be rung with 'Edison's Electricity' in St. Martins-in-the-Fields. He also called what was known as the longest peal of Double Norwich. After Newson, the Society went into a decline until Jim Parker, of Edmonton, took over. It was his daughter, Edith (Mrs. Fletcher), who was the first lady to ring in a peal for the Society. The contribution of the Matthews family was also recalled. Mr. Barnett mentioned John D. Matthews and Cecil Matthews and how the tradition of service to the Society was now being carried on by Frank D. Matthews, the present secretary.

It would be wrong to assume that due regard was not given the Ancient Society of College Youths. The reigning Master, Mr. Jack Phillips, was present and in replying to the toast of 'The Visitors' he said although they were rival Societies he thought to-day they were more friendly than ever before, which was a good thing.

A TIP TO YOUNG RINGERS

'I have known Cumberlands for a great many years,' he said. 'I have many friends among them. It was mentioned that I had rung a peal at St. Martins-in-the-Fields, which did me the honour of ringing a peal in every 12-bell tower in London. My friends asked me how I wangled that peal. It was no wangle: it was through my friendship with the Cumberlands. It was well rung and was called by your Master at that time, Mr. George Cross.'

Mr. Phillips made a plea to young ringers to make up their minds which of the two Societies they would join and when they had joined to stick to that Society. People resigning from one Society and joining the other was the cause of a lot of ill feeling.

Mr. Frank E. Hawthorne, an old servant of the Society, proposed the toast of 'The Church,' in which he implored ringers, as part of the Church, to do their job to the best of their ability.

The Rev. Meredith Davies, who replied, had something encouraging to say to the ringers. 'I think the ringing of bells stirs the consciences of many people. I hope you will go on ringing for many years to come.'

We have enjoyed ourselves here, but remember we are here together as part of the Church which we are proud to inherit. Go forward step by step bearing that torch of integrity!

As a mark of appreciation to Mr. Davies' interest in the Society, the Master stated that he proposed to introduce a new class of membership—associate membership—and he would confer that honour upon him.

In a well-prepared speech, Mr. John S. Barnes proposed 'The Visitors.' He congratulated Canon Thurlow on the Canopy of Norwich Cathedral that had been conferred upon him; he had a word of sympathy with the Rev. R. Deasy, Vicar of St. Andrew's, Holborn, in the illness of his wife. Other clergy welcomed were the Revs. Gordon Blacktop (Thames Ditton), K. Gibbons (St. Martin-in-the-Fields) and Peter Bond. Mr. Tom Lock, as secretary of the Middlesex Association, was also warmly greeted. To this toast Mr. Jack Phillips and Canon Thurlow replied.

The Master, in his reply, said this year the Middlesex Association honoured the Society by inviting him to propose the toast to their Association. It was of particular interest to Cumberlands as it was in honour of Charles Coles, a distinguished member of their Society.

Apart from the peal of Cambridge Maximus at Walsall the Society had rung its first of London Royal (No. 3 Version), Bedminster Surprise, Cumberland Surprise, Eastcote Surprise, Seven-Spliced Surprise with all the work and Bob Minor by the Sussex contingent. A peal of Stedman Triples, non-conducted, had also been rung.

In conclusion, the Master thanked Mr. Frank Matthews for a 'tremendous job' in arranging for the dinner.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Salisbury District

The members who attended the annual meeting of the Salisbury Branch on January 25th at the Cathedral Hotel, Salisbury, received with great regret the resignation of Miss Y. Eloie, the Branch secretary, who is leaving the district to return to Guildford.

Canon L. Bartlett, Branch chairman, spoke of the great service and help given by her to the Branch and Guild during her 13 years as secretary, and presented her with a cheque from the Branch.

In her last report Miss Eloie said that three peals had been rung during 1963, and membership showed a slight decrease, but a new band to join was the Salisbury Theological College.

Officers elected were: Mr. H. A. Roles, chairman; Mr. W. F. Kelly, vice-chairman; Mr. G. A. Trimby, secretary and treasurer; Miss M. Page, auditor; Ringing Masters, Messrs. A. Haines, C. Haines, R. Jones and L. Page, together with Mrs. H. Abrahams and Mr. J. Baverstock on the committee. New members elected were the Martin tower and Mrs. M. Payne (Wilton).

Meetings arranged for the coming year are: February 22nd, Shrewton; March 21st, Chilmark; April 25th, Martin; May 23rd, Wilton; June 27th, Britford; July 25th, Downton; August 22nd, Tisbury; September 26th, Coombe Bissett; October 24th, East Knoyle; November 28th, Enford.

The service in St. Thomas' Church was conducted by Canon L. Bartlett, with Mr. Harold Roles as organist. Ringing in the evening was at St. Thomas' and St. Paul's.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD Guildford District

The bells of Holy Trinity, Guildford, are in a bad state. They have not had a major renovation since 1911. To undertake this and hang them on ball bearings will cost £473.

Announcing this at the annual meeting of the Guildford District, on Jan. 18th, the Rector (the Rev. M. Hocking) said Holy Trinity was loaded with debt and could not afford to undertake the work this year.

Miss Elizabeth Stevinson, the honorary secretary and treasurer, reported at the business meeting that the District had raised £123 towards the Cathedral bells and because of increased subscriptions the District balance, at £36, showed an increase of £5.

Mr. Leslie Hunter, District Ringing Master, reported that apart from meetings Surprise practices had been held at Holy Trinity and St. Nicolas', Guildford and Shalford, and the secretary had organised practices for learners. Saturday night practices at Shalford are to be introduced in the spring, and also at Chiddingfold.

The Guild Master (Mr. Douglas May) presided. A special vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Ponting and her ladies for the tea arrangements, and also to Mr. Ponting.

Farnham District

Proceedings took a lively turn at the Farnham District annual general meeting held at Farnham on January 25th with the Guild Master (Mr. Douglas May) in the chair.

Mr. T. Page, Ringing Master, complained that progress on the whole had been staggeringly slow, the reason being the apathetic and slipshod approach to ringing shown by an enormous number of ringers who were not prepared to study at home. There were two main causes of bad striking—bad bell control and the emphasis of good striking not being made known to recruits from the beginning. Recruits must be persuaded to listen from the first time of ringing rounds, otherwise it became more difficult to correct at a later date.

Thanking all the ringers who supported him and those who didn't, he expressed the hope that they would endeavour to do so in the coming year and ended. 'My special thanks go to the Surprise ringers for their willingness to ring with their less fortunate colleagues without too much pressure being applied.'

A lively discussion followed the completion of the Ringing Master's report.

Mr. C. W. Denyer said progress in ringing could not be measured in terms of peal ringing or 'Surprise' methods being rung. The fact that 70 ringers were present in that room and that 11 of the 15 towers of the District were represented disproved the assertion that a state of apathy existed.

Regarding the poor quality of ringing, Mr. Denyer said every tower had its 'off' days, but it was not possible for one or two officers to know what was the standard of 15 towers on each practice night and every Sunday in the year. Ninety per cent. of the towers rang twice on each Sunday, which was quite an achievement whatever the methods rung. One or two churches had an excellent standard of ringing in 'Doubles' methods—which could not be said of churches where more advanced ringing was attempted. The ringers, too, were active church workers and worshippers.

Mr. Page suggested that 120 changes unaided should be regarded as a qualification for membership. This brought forth protests and it was decided to leave the qualification to the local leader.

The District's 1964 officers are: Messrs. T. Page, Ringing Master; R. Clist, Deputy Ringing Master; D. Elsmore, hon. secretary; R. H. Mills, honorary treasurer.

The Rector (Canon H. R. Wilds) conducted the service and Mr. L. W. Cooke was the organist.

IPSWICH'S VETERAN RINGERS

A HAPPY picture from the Ipswich 'Evening Star' of two stalwarts from St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich. On the left, Mr. G. Symonds (88), who has been ringing for 77 years and has rung 220 peals. He has been secretary of the St. Mary-le-Tower Society since he came to Ipswich in 1920.

With him is Mr. Charles Sedgley (76). He started ringing at the age of 15 and joined St. Mary-le-Tower Society in 1909. With Mr. Symonds he was joint conductor. Mr. Sedgley's service to ringing includes 30 years' membership of the Central Council and Ringing Master of the Suffolk Guild from 1923 to 1956.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Rochester District

Many of the younger members had their first ring on the famous bells of St. Mary Magdalene, Gillingham, when the Rochester District held its quarterly meeting there on January 18th. Although the peal boards no longer remain, owing to woodworm, it was at Gillingham that Gabriel Lindoff conducted the first peals of Cambridge Surprise Major and Superlative for the Kent County Association in 1893. Some 75 members attended, the Rev. Peter Bond conducted the service and an excellent tea was provided by the local company.

Business at the meeting, with the Rev. P. Bond in the chair, included the election of seven new members and a comprehensive report from Mr. A. Dunk on the Association's committee meeting at Maidstone.

The votes of thanks included one to Mr. L. C. Harmer, captain of the Gillingham ringers, and those who provided tea. Mr. C. T. Osenton, District Ringing Master, superintended the ringing.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION Axbridge Branch

Visitors welcomed at the annual meeting of the Axbridge Branch, held at Weston-super-Mare on January 25th, included Mr. G. Salmon (general secretary) and friends from Bath, Keynsham, Pilton and Yatton.

Officers, elected en bloc, were: Chairman, Mr. J. Walton; vice-chairman, Mr. G. Prescott; Ringing Master, Mr. H. Hooper; secretary, Miss M. Legg. Eighteen new members were elected from Bleadon, East Brent and Weston. The Branch annual outing in May will be to Devon.

Preb. Turnock conducted the service and ringers and friends arranged tea.

Next meeting: April 25th, Bleadon. Practices: February 22nd, Wick St. Lawrence; March 21st, Congresbury. M. L.

OBITUARY

MR. C. G. WHITE

The death took place at his home at Appleton, Berkshire, on January 26th, of Mr. Cuthbert George White, after a brief illness. Youngest son of the late Mr. Frederick White, the well-known bellhanger, he was affectionately known to all as 'John.' He was born at Appleton on March 25th, 1886, and learned to ring there at an early age. He scored his first peal, one of Grandsire Caters, in his native village in 1903.

During the 1914-18 war John served in the Devonshire Regiment, and afterwards worked with his brother, the late Mr. Richard White, in the family bellhanging business. He was a chorister at the Church of St. Lawrence, Appleton, for almost 70 years, and held the office of parish clerk from 1907 to 1953. As a member of the Appleton Handbell Ringers from his youth, he rang with the team at a concert only a fortnight before he died.

'John' will be chiefly remembered for his great sense of humour and ready wit. In his company there was never a dull moment. His fund of humorous stories seemed inexhaustible. He will be greatly missed at the Fourth of March Festival, where he always sang several of the traditional songs.

Among his more noted peals were 10,043 Grandsire Caters, rung on November 19th, 1921, and the Grandsire Caters record peal of 16,271 changes, rung in 9 hours, 20 minutes, on December 27th, 1932, both at Appleton.

He was buried in St. Lawrence's Churchyard on January 29th, and fitting tributes to his life and work, and in particular to his great loyalty, were paid at the funeral by the Rev. Dr. Tyndal-Hart, Rector of Appleton. Afterwards a half-muffled peal of Grandsire Caters was rung in his memory in 2 hours, 57 minutes, as reported in our peal columns. He leaves a widow, daughter and three grandchildren. F. S.

'Exhall' Delight Minor

Dear Sir,—I am grateful to M. F. Locke, who gives the correct place notation of the method we rang on January 1st. He points out the duplication in a gentlemanly way, and is content to allow the matter to rest there. I am quite content to withdraw the provisional or temporary name we gave it to facilitate publication of a peal performance.

In answer to Mr. Massey, no conductor, whatever trouble he takes, can be 100 per cent sure that the method his band is going to attempt has never been rung before! Aldbourne Delight, although rung to a peal halfway through 1960, is not included in the C.C. Collection of Minor Methods dated 1961. I took the trouble to check back over my copies of 'The Ringing World' up to the beginning of that year, hoping they could throw light on the matter, assuming, wrongly of course, that the Collection would at least be comprehensive up to the end of 1960. Four of those copies are missing, but in spite of this I thought it advisable to have a go, if only to bring the matter into the open, which was the only way to dispel all doubt!

Had I called the method 'A. N. Other Delight' I may have received a letter from you, questioning the wisdom of publication under that title, and have no regrets about acting as I did. Duplication was not intended at any time. The method is well worth ringing, as it has the bells in natural coursing order in 5-6. We rang a good peal, and I only hope that the band who performed it in 1960 found the same pleasure in ringing it as we did.—Yours, etc., Coventry.

WILLIAM A STOTE.

Bells or Candles

Dear Sir,—Any money spent upon church bells in this the modern age is 'money wasted'—that is the opinion held in certain minds! It appears to be the opinion held by at least one clergyman in Warwickshire (according to 'Church Times' of January 31st), who begrudges money spent upon Bow bells.

A few weeks ago similar views were expressed to me by a Vicar of a church with only three bells, not far from here, in what is most decidedly one of the wealthiest parishes in the Peterborough Diocese. The church is situated in a park, which draws thousands of visitors every week-end during the summer, to whom six (or even five) good toned bells could mean more than the present three.

But, says the Vicar (and previous Vicars, except one who moved on), the money this would cost (the tenor of the three is only 7 cwt., and no money is needed for the tower which has been restored recently) would: 1 'Provide' (?) a priest for some overseas missions; 2 Help the hunger campaign for feeding starving children in China, Africa, India and elsewhere.

That sounds all very well, but would to God those priests (and laity) who argue like that would think the same about a suggestion to spend in 10 years £14 millions on extensions to that so-called 'Shrine of Our Lady' (that museum of candles, and all that is contrary to the second Commandment), situated as it is in one corner of the country at Walsingham, Norfolk. I could better appreciate their talk about 'wasting money upon bells,' hunger, etc. At least, believers and those who only occasionally worship are, by the bells everywhere (and not up just one tiny corner of the country), given a reminder (but not from derelict bells) of what the church is there for.

Weston Favell, Northants.

P. AMOS.

Advice to Parsons on Treatment of Ringers

Dear Sir,—For the past year I have been reading 'The Ringing World' with a good deal of interest, composed, in unequal proportions, of recognition and blank incomprehension. I am a novice in the Exercise and seem destined to remain so for the foreseeable future, despite the efforts of a most understanding band and captain. While reading in pursuit of another subject I came across an article in 'The Ecclesiologist' (February, 1866) which I feel may be of general interest.

In 1866 'C. H. W... M.A., Oxon' wrote: 'On my induction as Vicar to my living two or three years ago, I found that the ringing had been stopped by my predecessor in consequence of the very disgraceful conduct of some of the ringers. About a year after my residence a deputation waited on me to ask me to allow ringing to be started again.' To this he agreed, but only on two conditions. Firstly, the ropes were to be dropped to the floor of the church, and secondly, all the ringers were to sign a set of rules of his devising. Finding this acceptable, the Vicar called a vestry meeting and money was voted to put the bells in order; his rules were approved by the churchwardens.

Acting on sound tactical grounds the Vicar selected the ringers. 'Two I was not sorry to prohibit from touching the ropes, whose conduct in church had often been very offensive.' The advantage thus gained was put to good use—two more would-be ringers were admitted '... on a promise to abandon a custom of never attending the services, and chaffing the younger part of the female congregation at the churchyard gate.' To call this clerical blackmail would no doubt be uncharitable, but it surely carried with it the sweet smell of success. Sundays must have been rather dull subsequently, despite his boast '... from the date of their admission ... there are no idle chaffers at the churchyard gate.'

Many of the clergy of his time were convinced that the only hope for effectual control of unruly ringers lay in active participation, and 'C. H. W...' was of that mind. He learned to ring and within a year 'we had just begun to ring the 120 changes very creditably.' However, as he started so he meant to go on—'I was obliged to turn out one of the band for misconduct in the parish; a promising young ringer and a great favourite with the rest; but I felt it a matter of duty ...' One wonders whether he was a great favourite with the younger part of the female population as well, but it would be quite out of character to be told and consolation must be taken in the happy ending '... on the promise of good conduct for the future he was readmitted.'

Of ringers he says, with a final turn of phrase that would not have disgraced Macaulay—'If they are left to themselves, uncared for, or looked upon as outcasts and reprobates, what wonder if the proceedings in the belfry should still continue a disgrace to the parish, an annoyance to the parson and a crying scandal to God's house.'

The Camden Society, whose journal 'The Ecclesiologist' was, were enthusiasts to a man. For unbridled prejudice and spirited invective they have no rival now, but it would seem from the many articles on church bells and church bellringing that they had our best interests at heart. While many of us deplore the wrought iron communion rails, the stained glass and the acres on encaustic tile that are their legacy, we should perhaps be thankful.—Yours, etc.,

D. P. MORTLOCK.

Richard de Wymbishe

Dear Sir,—I was interested to read Mr. Cyril Hancock's letter on 'A bellfounding transaction of 1312.' In this he refers to Richard de Wymbishe, a potter and bell-founder.

At Burham, in Kent, on the banks of the Medway, there stands a very ancient church, which until about 30 years ago possessed three bells. Of these the No. 2 bore the inscription in Lombardic capitals:

RICHARD : DE : WYMBIS : ME : FECIT

The lettering and floral ornament are reproduced on Plate VII of Stahlschmidt's 'Survey Bells and London Bellfounders,' in which we find his dates as c. 1290 to c. 1315, and a good deal of information about him. Unfortunately, the Old Burham church became redundant, until 1955, and the bells have been removed to New Burham Church, but whether Wymbis' bell is still intact the writer does not know. Although only 25½ ins. in diameter, it was deeper in tone than the tenor, which was 29 ins. in diameter (cast by R. Phelps, 1734, who cast the treble in 1700). This was accounted for by the fact that it was abnormally long waisted. It was the earliest bell in the county with the founder's name.

It is interesting to note that the No. 2 at Chalk, near Gravesend, bore the Lombardic capital inscription:

XPE : PIE : FLOS : MARIE

in the same lettering as the bell at Burham, but with a saltire cross-fleur, and a two-dot, not a three-dot, stop, and was therefore probably cast by a later man. The Wymbis foundry lettering is known to have continued to William Schen, Peter de Weston and William Revel. Revel cast the tiny bell at Logfield, Kent, and de Weston the fourth at Bethersden, and the former tenor at Sutton-at-Hone, recast by Mears in 1862. He left a cousin, Thomas de Weston, and possibly the Chalk bell is his, but he died in 1347, after only two years' business and so, apparently, did the lettering, so it is doubtful whether there is any direct connection with Whitechapel. Chalk bells were rehung by Bowell's of Ipswich about 30 years ago, and the writer does not know whether the No. 2 still exists.—Yours faithfully,

Whitstable, Kent

DAVID CAWLEY.

Pyes and Morpeth

Dear Sir,—The name 'Pye' is very interesting to us. A schoolgirl friend who joined us was Maggie Pye; there are also two sisters at our school and Sunday School of that name. I have shown them recent 'Ringing Worlds' and Maggie was delighted to read them, especially December 27th (front page) and January 10th (pages 24 and 25).—Yours sincerely, JANE SKEE ARMSTRONG (Mrs.) Morpeth.

Complete List Wanted

Dear Sir,—The list of leading peal ringers is of interest to many, myself included. Would it be too much for someone with a passion for detail to provide a complete list for publication in place of the present haphazard arrangement?—Yours faithfully,

JOHN CAMP.

Jesus College, Oxford.

ST. PETER'S, MACCLESFIELD

By BARRY CORBISHLEY

ST. Peter's had a completely new ring of eight bells, tenor 7 cwt. 2 qr. 22lb., installed in 1947, and opened in May, 1948. Contrary to many expectations, they proved to have a delightful sound, and they are a joy to listen to. The instigator of this new ring was Mr. Fred Horsfield, who promised the P.C.C. that he would train a band of ringers in time for the opening. This he did, and the bells were heard in peal for the first time rung by his band. Since I was one of these 'youngsters,' I have always taken a particular interest in these bells, and when the 50th peal was rung here, I thought I would do a bit of a 'Felsead' on them, and also on those who participated.

This milestone took 12 years, all but a few days, and was brought about by 59 ringers, representing 18 Chester Guild towers, and aided by 12 'foreigners,' representing Lancashire, Derbyshire, Staffordshire, Birmingham, Bristol and Cornwall. The Macclesfield Branch contributed 26 ringers, of whom eight were from St. Peter's. At the present time (as far as I can find out), 26 of the 59 ringers only ring the occasional peal, say not more than one a year, on average; seven only ring occasionally, Sundays or any other time; 11 have given up ringing altogether (five of these from St. Peter's); and three have passed on to richer pastures. This leaves 27 who, I presume, can be called regular peal ringers.

LEADING RINGERS

The most peals rung by one person were 41—pretty good going. This was 'Joe' Whitaker, a one-time prolific and accomplished peal ringer, and tower instructor at St. Peter's for the last ten years. Close upon his heels was John Worth with 39, with Basil Jones next, who rang in exactly half of them. At the other end of the scale, 28 people rang in only one peal, and 11 in only two. Of the conductors, John Worth easily came top, with 24—practically every other one. Ken Lewis was the next with 15, but no one else called more than two. Only three people managed to 'circle' the tower. Joe was first, in the 16th peal, which was rung two-and-a-half years after the opening. Wilf Stevenson soon followed, and the peal which achieved this was also his last on the bells. He also gave up active ringing soon after, but I would not like to say whether there is any connection between these facts. The only other person to 'circle' the tower right up to the present time is myself, although several are very near.

The bulk of the 50 peals were rung by a band from Norbury (Hazel Grove), the well-known centre of ringing. Though not always the same eight ringers, Thursday night at Norbury was responsible for at least half the peals, and probably more like 30 of them. That J. Worth and C. K. Lewis between them conducted 39, with odd ones by others of their band, should be sufficient to show this. As is only natural, the other group of ringers to ring a number of peals on the bells were the 'locals.' The majority of these were in the early days, due to the promise of the local Branch of the Guild to help train a band, to Mr. Horsfield, and to the first St. Peter's ringers, who had grown up with the bells. This was followed by National Service, and within the space of two years all the opening band were in the Forces, and around the same time Mr. Horsfield moved to a job in another town, so moving the clock back four years, to the beginning, but lacking the appeal of a brand-new ring of bells. The bells are not silent, I am glad to say, but there is the usual struggle for ringers. None of the lads who went in the Forces returned to be members of St. Peter's band, and only two (one of them myself) kept up ringing during or after National Service, even though several of them still live within sound of the bells. This is evidenced by the fact that the first 19 peals included 10 of Plain Bob, and only three Surprise, whereas the following 31 included 26 Surprise and spliced Surprise peals, the first 16 of them successively.

VARIETY OF CALLINGS

While I have not been able to obtain full information on the peal ringers, over 30 different trades and professions are represented. The teaching profession is best represented, and students of a diverse number of subjects are almost as numerous. Here is a cross-section of the public who get involved in peals and peal ringing: motor mechanic, printer, salesman, shop keeper, nuclear scientist, window cleaner, engineers of all kinds, silk printer, weighbridge attendant, basket maker, reporter, decorator, typist, farmer, and farm worker, accountant, all the building trades, company director, tatter, postmaster, chiropodist, clerk, monumental mason, club steward, railwayman, policeman, architect, secretary, housewife, etc., etc. There were ten girls or ladies, of whom three were married, and five have since married.

As usual, Saturday was the most popular day for peal ringing (29), but Fridays (20), were very popular, particularly in the first three years, when there were more Friday evening peals than Saturday peals. The reason for this was the learners' peals, when local ringers could help out, and which at the same time did not interfere with the Saturday arrangements of the 'professionals' at Norbury. In spite of Lent, March was the month with most peals. Of the later years, though, there were no peals in Lent, as the Vicar with the baby didn't like those either, but this time for religious reasons. The present incumbent seems more favourably inclined towards the bells. All the winter months, and up to April were popular months, perhaps because it is a warm town tower, all these averaging one every other year. The greatest number of successful attempts in any one year was seven, in 1956, while in 1954 there was only one, but these must both have been exceptional years, as most seem to have stuck to the average, i.e. four-five.

VARIATIONS IN SPEED

The variation in the speed of peals is remarkable. The first ten peals all took over three hours, the first three taking 3.25, 3.20 and 3.23 respectively. All these cannot be blamed on learners, as over half (27 to be precise) of the first 50 peals took three hours or more. Of the remaining 23, three were peals of Minor. All of the last ten of the 50 were under three hours. The fastest peals were two at 2 hours 41 minutes, but these have since been beaten twice, with one at 2.36 and one at 2.30. However, very few peals are under 2.45, and the average seems to have settled at about 2 hours 50 minutes. For a new, very easy-going ring, with a tenor of only 7½ cwt., this seems slow, and various reasons have been put forward. Some say it is big wheels, others long bells. Some attribute it to the deep tone for the weight, others put it down to being on the loud side in the ringing chamber. I personally think that acoustics have a lot to do with it.

For those who like a peal analysis, here it is: Plain Bob—11 (ten in the first five years), Spliced Surprise—four to 22 methods, eight, Cambridge—six, London—five, Double Norwich—three, Yorkshire, Bristol and Grandisle Triples—two of each, and one each of Kent Treble Bob, Oxford Treble Bob, Stedman Triples, Hanbury, Glasgow, New Cambridge, Macclesfield and Superlative. There were three peals of Minor, in five, seven and 35 methods. Quite an impressive list, when you think about it. For instance, how many towers have a peal of Glasgow? All peals were rung for the Chester Guild.

Well, that is about it. If you think that three years is a long time to collect the information and write these notes, you are right, because my interest came only in spasms.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ringling at the St. Albans District annual general meeting on January 18th was at St. Peter's before tea and the Abbey afterwards, and ranged from rounds on eight with 'harmony' provided by the rest to Yorkshire Royal and Bob Maximus. The Vicar (the Rev. W. A. Bradley) conducted the service at St. Peter's, and Mrs. Darvill and helpers provided tea.

The 'grand old man' of the area, Mr. Walter Ayre, was voted to the chair for the business meeting. The Misses L. Austin and P. Bligh-Cheesman, of Wheathampstead, were elected members. The secretary (Mrs. Coburn) presented the accounts. The District Voluntary Bell Fund, at £58, continued to rise because all the towers were in good repair and well maintained.

Mr. G. Penney was elected Ringing Master and Mrs. Coburn re-elected secretary. After a ballot the committee emerged as Messrs. R. G. R. Brown, J. D. Chamberlain, J. G. Cull, G. Dodds, G. Penney, K. J. Walpole and Miss C. M. Rimmer.

The Lent outing on March 21st is to Coventry Cathedral. Names, with 5/- deposit, to be sent to the secretary as soon as possible. A car rally is to be held on October 24th and a District dinner is being contemplated. J. D. C.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN

All the officers were re-elected at the annual meeting of the Wellingsborough Branch, held at St. Peter's, Irthlingborough, on January 18th. Mr. A. Gibbs, of Rushden, thanked the Rector (the Rev. L. Vernon Rogers) for conducting the service and his address, and all who had helped make the meeting a success. He accorded a special welcome to the member of the Press present.

BRISTOL UNIVERSITY COMING-OF-AGE DINNER

THE 21st anniversary dinner of the University of Bristol Society of Change Ringers, held on January 25th, was the biggest and best so far. Everything helped to make it so, including the weather. For some, the week-end started early with arrivals in the fog on Friday night.

All the towers open on Saturday were packed, viz.: Emmanuel (Clifton), St Stephen's, St. James', the Cathedral, St. John's, St. Mary Redcliffe, Christ Church and St. Michael's. Ringing was up to Spliced Surprise Major, Stedman Cinques and Cambridge Maximus. The service in St. Michael's Church was conducted by the Rev. F. C. Vyvyan Jones, musical assistance being given by Society members.

At the 149-strong dinner, the toasts of 'The Queen' and 'The Church' were honoured on the call of the president, Dr. R. J. Brocklehurst.

The secretary, Miss J. D. Phillips, in welcoming the visitors, referred to the occasion as being a record dinner, the 30 in the annex party alone being only six less than at the first dinner. A welcome was extended to the guest speaker, Mr. Edgar Shepherd: the Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association (the Rev. F. F. Rigby); the Rev. F. C. Vyvyan-Jones and to representatives of other University Societies—Oxford, Cambridge, London, Liverpool, Southampton, Birmingham, Manchester and Reading.

Replying on behalf of the guests, Mr. Edgar Shepherd said it was a pleasant change to be on the receiving end of a dinner and to experience such hospitality. Ringers need never feel lonely: it is a brotherhood and whatever denomination and wherever one goes there is a welcome. He said this was particularly so in Bristol—a city of so many great names and traditions, where much good work for ringing had been done in the past and was still being done today.

On behalf of the University guests, Mr. John Camp, of Oxford, explained that he was speaking under false pretences as he was no longer Master at Oxford. He referred to the great success of the dinner, illustrating the unique position held by the Society in ringing circles.

A YEAR OF ACHIEVEMENT

The Master, Mr. D. M. Sawyer, in a report of the activities of the Society in the past year, said six peals had been rung, including one of Bristol Surprise Major that morning.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION Cary Branch

At the annual general meeting of the Cary Branch at Castle Cary on January 25th a membership of 197 full and 11 associate members with two new towers affiliated was reported. An act of remembrance for two members who had died (R. Higgins, Castle Cary, and F. J. Hillier, Wincanton) and a former Branch chairman (the Rev. J. F. Holt) was observed before the business started.

Officers elected were: Chairman, the Rev. G. S. Robinson; vice-chairman, the Rev. O. H. Skipwith; Ringing Master, Mr. D. M. C. Hill; secretary, Mr. L. McCreddie. Mr. Alan F. Lee was nominated as Association peal secretary.

One new member from Castle Cary, two from Evercreech, three from Henstridge and one from North Cheriton were elected, and Association certificates were presented by the chairman (the Rev. G. S. Robinson) to Patricia Adams, Susan Edwards and Barbara Randall (Evercreech) and Patrick Beer (Bruton).

Meeting places for 1964 are (subject to permission) Corton Denham, Cucklington and Charlton Mackrell, with next year's annual at Ditchet.

The chairman's invitation to visit Charlton Horethorne for a Branch Corporate Communion in October was accepted.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar (the Rev. H. E. R. Everett) and the organist (Mr. T. Trowbridge) in connection with the service, the ladies for an excellent tea, and the local tower captains.

and a long length of Grandsire Caters attempted. Three coach outings had been held, one jointly with Reading University and one with the Bristol City Branch, the former enabling them to play 'Hunt the coach at closing time' in Swindon.

A summer cycling tour in Surrey and Kent had enabled some people to learn to cycle and all to enjoy ringing and youth hostelling, in spite of the rain. Recruitment drives at the beginning of the autumn term had yielded some very good results. Cupid 5 had resigned through old age and pressure of grandfather activities, and Cupid 6 has taken over. Between them they had achieved the remarkable total of five weddings and three engagements. Social aspects of the Society had not suffered, with cinema outings and skittles receiving full attention, not to mention goings-on in coffee bars. Handbell practices had been progressing well with the prospect of a peal soon—the first since 1955.

Drinking, handbells and chatting continued until about midnight, slides of Devon and Antarctica being shown for those interested.

The ringing on Sunday was of a very high standard and most people on departing vowed to come again in 1965.

VICAR'S 'AT HOME' TO RINGERS

An old custom has been revived at Mansfield Parish Church by the Vicar holding an 'At Home' to the ringers and their wives. There was handbell ringing by the captain and his wife and also by many of the company of tunes and carols. A recording of the ceremony of the installation of the new ring at St. Mary-le-Bow was a novelty and one of the highlights of the evening was the Vicar (the Rev. A. M. P. Watson) singing: 'When I was a fair young curate.' As a mark of appreciation the Vicar's wife was presented with a bouquet of freesias.

35 YEARS CONDUCTOR AT A CATHEDRAL

A noted leader of ringing in Edinburgh has retired from the conductorship of St. Mary's Cathedral. Mr. Charles Raine has held this post for 35 years and his total service to the tower is 40 years.

At a largely attended social evening, which included a buffet supper, held at Darling's Regent Hotel, Edinburgh, he was presented with a fitted suitcase by Miss Kate Branson, who has succeeded him as conductor. Miss Branson paid tribute to his long and unselfish service and expressed the pleasure of all the ringers that he would continue to give his support to the belfry.

Contributions to the presentation came from past and present ringers and some of the choir and clergy. As a boy Mr. Raine was a chorister. In his thanks Mr. Raine said he could not recall any period when the enthusiasm and numbers in the belfry had been greater. He was happy to be continuing among them.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION Northern Branch

The resignation of Mr. W. Love as chairman was received at the annual meeting of the Northern Branch at Norwich on January 18th. A tribute to his work was paid by Mr. Nolan Golden and the meeting extended its sympathy to Mr. Love. Mr. G. Sayer is the new chairman.

Other elections were: Messrs. C. Bird, secretary; P. Adcock, Ringing Master; W. Clover and B. Willgress, standing committee. R. Duesbury, W. Hohl, D. W. Pardon, C. Sayer and R. W. Wiles, branch committee. New members elected: Mr. Hammond (Honingham), Mr. J. Hohl (Mattishall, Burgh) and D. Mortlock (Norwich).

Meetings (subject to permission) for 1964: April 11th, Wroxham; July 18th, Honingham and Mattishall; October 24th, Reepham and Salle; annual branch meeting, January 13th, 1965, at Wymondham. Striking competition, March 14th. About 35 sat down to tea.

DAVENTRY TO HAVE A RING OF TEN

Daughter is to have a ring of ten bells and a comprehensive order has been placed with Messrs. John Taylor and Co.

The old wooden frame, wherein the present eight bells hang anti-clockwise, is to be removed and a new metal frame for ten bells installed. The present treble, second and fourth bells are to be recast and two new trebles added to complete the ring of ten.

The ten will be hung clockwise. Of the ten bells, eight will have been cast by Taylor's, as the third, seventh and tenor were recast in 1951, 1915 and 1908 respectively. The remaining two old bells were tuned by the same firm in one of these schemes, so by the end of the year there should be a first-class ten.

The local company of ringers have undertaken the task of raising sufficient money to pay for recasting two of these bells.

COVENTRY DIOCESAN GUILD Subscription To Be Raised

The Coventry Diocesan Guild at its quarterly meeting, held at Chilvers Coton on January 18th, decided to raise the annual subscription to 3s. 6d. for members over 18 and 2s. 6d. for those under that age.

The secretary, in moving the change, said that the Guild had been living long enough on the generosity of a few members, and he thought it was time that the subscription was raised to a realistic amount. As this would alter the rules it was proposed that it should be confirmed at the annual general meeting.

The Dinner Committee reported that this had been arranged to take place at the Lockhead Canteen, Leamington Spa, on March 14th. Members were advised that a letter had been sent to all tower secretaries asking them to see that the maximum support was forthcoming from each tower.

An interesting item proposed was that the Guild should purchase a duplicator and typewriter to cut down the cost of producing the annual report, and do other work where a duplicator would be useful. The total cost would be about £35 for both items.

Welcoming the visitors, the president (Mr. Frank E. Perrins) gave a special welcome to a past secretary of the Guild, the Rev. M. C. C. Melville. The annual general meeting will be held at St. Nicholas', Warwick, on April 18th.

The ringing before and after the meeting was arranged to cater for all tastes, and it was good to see so many young members present trying the ten bells of Chilvers Coton.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD Melton District

Some 30 members and friends attended the service at the annual general meeting of the Melton District on January 25th. The ladies of the District provided a splendid tea and the profit went to District funds.

The past year was reviewed by the chairman and the secretary in her report. Officers elected were: Chairman, Mr. J. H. Cook; secretary (re-elected), Mrs. M. Stimson; committee, Messrs. R. H. Cook and A. J. Stimson; Ringing Master, Mr. R. H. Cook. The present Guild officers were nominated en bloc. After the usual vote of thanks to the ladies, ringing continued.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Four boys — pupils of Arnold School, Barton-le-Cley—rang 720 Bob Minimus at Silsoe, Beds, on January 18th as a last tribute to Mr. J. Delaney, B.A., a master at the school, who died suddenly on January 12th. The boys taking part were M. Butt, T. J. Capon, A. G. Harris and T. R. Harris. On several occasions scholars have rung at Barton Parish Church, under the supervision of Mr. H. Mann, for the end and beginning of term services.

Congratulations to the Oxford University Society on ringing their first peal of Surprise Maximus. The peal was rung at St. Giles', Cripplegate, conducted by Mr. Stephen Ivin.

The peal at Farnworth, Lancs, on January 1st was rung as a compliment to the Vicar (the Rev. P. A. Wrigley), on his appointment as an honorary canon of Manchester Cathedral.

Mr. C. T. Lamb has recently retired after 12 years as secretary of the Western District of the Durham and Newcastle Association, and not three years as was inadvertently stated on page 95.

Liss, Hampshire, has lost a keen member, Miss Susan Ellenor, with the rest of her family, has gone to Singapore. Unfortunately an attempt for a farewell peal of Doubles on January 25th came to grief after 44 minutes' good ringing. Susan, however, knows that the best wishes of the band go with her.

The peal at Tanworth-in-Arden was rung to the memory of the late Canon D. W. Lee, M.A., Vicar of Tanworth for 33 years, who died on January 9th. It was by his efforts that the bells were recast and augmented. Canon Lee was Canon Emeritus of Birmingham Cathedral and Rural Dean for ten years.

Here's a Sunday service record. At Halesowen Parish Church, Worcestershire, there has been ringing for every Sunday service, both morning and evening, since the lifting of the ban during the Second World War. Only on one Sunday were the bells silent at the request of serious illness of a nearby resident. 'We are very fortunate in having quite a keen band of ringers,' writes the secretary, Miss Molly Tromans.

Owing to a cracked bell Rickmansworth ringers were invited to join Slough in a quarter on February 2nd. Four came, but one could not participate having a badly cut finger. A further joint quarter has been arranged, and the gardening enthusiast has undertaken not to 'play' with his secateurs just before the attempt.

The Collection of Right Place Surprise Major Methods by A. S. Hudson and J. W. McClenahan is now sold out.

We are now informed that the peal at Llantrisant (page 99) was not the 50th together by Roger G. Harvard and David J. Llewellyn.

Having been silent for the last 15 months, the six bells of SS. Mary and Margaret's, Norton Subcourse, Norfolk, are to be quarter turned, retuned and rehung in a steel frame with completely new fittings by John Taylor and Co.

The Rev. Peter T. Robbins, Vicar of Charing, Kent, writes disclaiming the achievement attributed to him in the footnote to the peal of Cambridge Minor at Little Chart on Boxing Day. Alas, he still needs Royal and Maximus peals to complete the Cambridge family.

It was 30 years ago that the Rev. M. C. C. Melville attempted his first peal of Stedman Triples. He finally scored one on February 1st at St. Thomas', South Wigston—by ringing the tenor! Congratulations to Rupert A. Clarke, of Birstall, who also achieved his first of Stedman. The peal was also a sixth birthday compliment to David Andrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brian G. Warwick.

Great Glenn handbell ringers had a record collection this year of no less than £125 5s. This has been disposed of by grants to the following charities: Dr. Barnardo's Home, £25; Wireless for the Blind, £20; Freedom from Hunger Fund, £15; National Spastic Society, Imperial Cancer Research, C. of E. Children's Society, Lord Mayor's Holiday Home Fund, British Association of Hard of Hearing, each £10; Great Glenn Evergreen League of Friends, £5. The balance of £6 5s. was voted to the Bell Repair Fund. Last year's collection amounted to £106.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

Northern District

The six bells of Thames Ditton attracted many ringers to the Northern District's A.G.M. The service, however, was at Kingston Parish Church, with the Bishop of Kingston giving the address. His theme was the mathematical exactitude of bell ringing and the perfection of worship that ringers should strive to attain.

At the business meeting the committee's report for 1963 was presented. The highlight of the year was a social evening organised by the Putney band. It seems that such an event will have a permanent place in the District's calendar. Another encouraging event had been the introduction of a system of instructional towers. Splendid progress could be seen in the young people attending these courses in elementary change ringing.

Although 35 new members were elected during the year (six as a direct result of the instructional courses), membership showed a drop of eight to a total of 232. Thirty-one people were recorded. C. F. Mew being the leading ringer with nine, and also the leading conductor with seven. Eleven members rang their first peal.

The election of District officers resulted as follows: Master, F. E. Collins; honorary secretary, N. Steere; assistant secretary, B. Bull; auditor, R. F. Layton; committee, N. Bagworth, C. Mew and Miss M. Lewis.

At the conclusion of the business Kingston bells were kept going for the remainder of the evening.

Next meeting: Practice at Merton and Mitcham on March 7th. N. G. T. S.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

Central District

It was unanimously agreed at the annual meeting of the Central District, held at Eye on January 25th, that a framed photograph of Mr. Claude Rush, with a suitable inscription, be hung in Eye ringing chamber in recognition of his work for the restoration of Eye bells.

The District secretary suggested that summer meetings should take the form of visits to other districts or counties. Although the idea was approved, it was felt that quarterly meetings were designed to be held within the District so that there is an even spread of ringing throughout the county.

There was only one change in the officers for the coming year. Mr. Herbert Mitson had retired from the position of chairman through ill-health. His work during the past years is much appreciated. The new chairman is Mr. Harold Leathers. Mr. Leslie Brett joins the committee.

Meetings for the coming year: April 25th, Stradbroke (10); July 25th, Helmingham (8) and Framdesen (8); October 31st, Thornham (6) and Wickham Skeith (6); January 30th, 1965, Palgrave (8). Practice meetings: February 29th, Brandeston (8); June 6th, Finborough (6); September 19th, Cotton (8); November 28th, Redgrave (6).

Thanks to learned neighbours from the South-East District, some excellent ringing took place in methods such as Yorkshire, Cambridge, Superlative and Stedman. The Rector (Canon Lee) is thanked for taking the service and for the use of the bells. E. H.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

South-West Branch

The A.G.M. of the South-West Branch at St. Andrew's, Plymouth, on January 25th was a great success, a company of 60 ringers from a very wide area—as far as Launceston and Chepstow—being present.

The chairman (Mr. H. H. Thomas), in opening the business meeting, expressed delight of all that the Ringing Master, honorary secretary and honorary treasurer, Mr. T. G. Myers, was able to join them at the service, tea and meeting. He extended the Branch's best wishes that he would soon be able to take his place in the belfry, following his recent illness. Mr. Myers said he very much appreciated all the letters he had received from well-wishers all over the county.

The honorary secretary reported that the Branch remained steady with 81 members and he thought a little missionary work could bring this to 100. Miss Yvonne Porter, of St. Andrew's, had rung in 191 churches during the year, and for the first time in the history of the Branch a lady, Mrs. Margaret Bould, of Tavistock, headed the list of peal ringers with 25 peals and 25 quarters. Her husband, Mr. Roy Bould, had rung 24 peals and 28 quarters. Mr. Fred E. Day was continuing his good work as a 10 bell peal conductor.

A Guild certificate was presented to Miss Jarvis (Yealmpton). New members elected were: non-resident, Messrs. Sweet (Chepstow), D. Burnett (Truro), Miss F. Richards (Penryn, confirmed), Mrs. A. Grant (Lamerton), Miss P. Warden (Launceston), Miss Ruth Cundy (Tavistock). The Vicar of St. Andrew's (the Rev. Mr. Cavell) was elected an honorary member.

All retiring officers were re-elected as follows: General Committee, Messrs. J. P. Sims (Emmanuel), R. Bould (Tavistock) and D. Wheeler (St. Andrew's); Ringing Master, hon. secretary and hon. treasurer: Mr. T. G. Myers; auditor, Mr. H. O. Thomas (Emmanuel); chairman and Press officer, Mr. H. H. Thomas (Emmanuel).

The usual thanks were passed to the Vicar of St. Andrew's for conducting the service, to Mrs. Chaff and her helpers for an excellent tea, Mrs. Willis (organist) and the ringers of St. Andrew's for all they had done to make the meeting so successful. H. H. T.

HOLME PIERREPONT, NOTTS.—On Jan. 26th, 1,260 Minor (Single Oxford and Plain Bob): D. Barker 1, R. Marsh 2, R. Blackshaw and J. Dowse 3, J. Heaps 4, G. Dawson 5, M. W. Harrison 6. Conducted by M. W. Harrison and J. Heaps for Evensong. Also on Feb. 2nd, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: W. G. Matls 1, R. D. Marsh 2, J. Dowse 3, R. Blackshaw 4, J. Heaps 5, M. W. Harrison 6. Conducted by J. Heaps and M. W. Harrison. For Evensong.

THO: PURDUE FECIT

BY THE REV. JOHN SCOTT

KEEPING a ring of big bells in working order has never been an easy job, and in the 17th century, when heavy, long-flighted clappers could drop all too easily on their leather baldricks and strike a bell on the lip, and chiming-hammers were not well understood, the mortality rate of big bells—at least in Exeter—was considerable. So that in 1675 the Dean and Chapter found that they had a job at the Cathedral which would test the skill of any founder living—the recasting of the 4 ton Peter bell. 60 cwt. 'Grandisson.' 2 ton 'Stafford' and 28 cwt. 'Cobthorne,' 'the Tenor or Greate Bell of the small ring.' The 'small ring' was the six in E flat of which the present fourth, 'Birdall,' was the treble; the back eight at this time was not a true major eight, as the second of it was the present flat sixth; its notes were in fact the front eight of a 12.

To give them expert advice the Dean and Chapter called in a certain Mr. Beavis, whom they had sometimes consulted about the organ. He must have been Exeter's resident musical expert; and it may have been through Mr. Beavis' recommendation that the Dean and Chapter decided to commit the recasting to one Thomas Purdue, of Closworth in Somerset—a tiny place which the Chapter clerk can't have heard of because he spelt it 'Colesworth' and had to correct it, presumably at Purdue's instigation.

Thomas Purdue was at this time 47, in the height of a career in which he could draw on the accumulated skill and experience of a great-great-grandfather, great-grandfather, grandfather, father and two uncles, all of them bellfounders of no small reputation. He himself may perhaps never have tackled such a task as this, but his father had cast the great 36 cwt. tenor at Queen Camel and the family between them had many big bells to their credit. So into Exeter, with a little caravan of animals bearing his equipment, came Thomas, to sign the Dean and Chapter's articles with his initials and seal them with his seal: for recasting the Peter bell, Grandisson, Stafford and Cobthorne for £260, including the cost of their rehanging by Purdue's hanger, Thomas Hart of Long Sutton. In addition to the contract price another £20 was to be awarded if the bells should agree with the critical ear of Richard Beavis, Esq.

Purdue's foundry is supposed to have been in the Deanery garden, where a house was built at the cost of £12, the furnace was built, the casting-pit dug and the work begun. The four bells were lowered and weighed and broken up, and the cores, patterns and copes took shape in the casting-pit. Purdue took some trouble with the look of his bells always, and he took extra trouble with these special ones. On the inscription-bands he used a handsome frieze of roses; between the words he used his stop of five little stars in the form of a cross, except on the Peter bell, where he used coins instead until, in the upper band of the inscription which reproduced that of the old bell, he realised that he was not going to have room for it all on one line. 'EX DONO PETRI COVRTENAY EPISCOPI EXON' he stamped in—'The Gift of Peter Courtenay, Bishop of Exeter'—with a coin in each space; but for the rest he used only the little 'sprigs' with which the whole inscription-band was decorated; 'ANNO DOM 1484 [one coin here] PLEBS PATRIAE PLAVIDIT DVM PETRVM PLE—'. But even with all his economy of space he still had 'NIVS AVDIT' to get in somewhere, and he had no choice but to put the word and a half, rather cramped, in the space below 'EX DONO.' The great Devon bell pundit, H. T. Ellacombe, never noticed them there, and reported that the inscription, which means 'The people of the land applaud when they hear Peter more loudly,' was incomplete; and I believe that every other printed mention of the bell has been based on Ellacombe and not on the bell.

Below this band of inscription is another, bearing the customary Exeter formula, 'RENOVAT EX IMPENSIS DECANI ET CAPITVLI EXON ANNO DOMINI 1676 PER THO PVRDVE.' Here Purdue used only one coin-stop, after the date, and left himself with plenty of space to spare, which he filled in with some of his rose-frieze.

Purdue made one more mistake on this bell, the sort which most people make sometimes—he spelt his own name wrongly! One can imagine his fury when he found he'd stamped 'PVRVE' on what was perhaps his masterpiece, but he just had room to stamp a 'D' in the small space between 'R' and 'V.' 'Stafford' and 'Cobthorne' were decorated in the same way as the Peter bell, except that on them Purdue used no coin impressions and did not use the little sprigs around the letters.

Bell-founding must always have required a strong nerve, for the actual running of the metal is so quickly done, and so much can be made or marred in those few moments. This must have been so even more before the use of the iron cope-case, when the moulds were buried in their pit and nothing could be seen but the gutters leading from the furnace to the holes which allowed the metal to enter them. How did Thomas Purdue feel when, after all his months of careful work, he drove in the plug of his furnace? In the next minute or so his reputation would be immortalised or destroyed—yet he would not know which until the bells were out of their pit, and they would take a couple of days to cool. This was the great deciding moment of his life—yet Thomas Purdue was never a man to make much distinction between an important job and an ordinary one; all over Somerset you can find little bells in towers and bell-cotes of humble, remote villages which bear witness to the care and craftsmanship which he put into all his work, great or small.

Perhaps it was this unvarying habit of fine craftsmanship which made his major works so outstanding. For the four great bells which came out of Purdue's casting-pit were some of the finest ever cast by anybody. Though not as heavy as he has sometimes been reckoned—he is only 2 in. greater in diameter than Taylor's 72 cwt. 'Grandisson' and  $\frac{1}{4}$  in. thicker—'Peter' is a noble bell to hear, even when struck with a hammer. He may never have been swung since Purdue recast him—though there are gudgeons in his headstock there is no clapper nor any sign of pitting inside his soundbow—but one can guess that swung frame-high he would sound magnificent. 'Cobthorne,' now the ninth of the 12, 28 cwt, without her canons, is a bell of such nobility that were the 'Thomas eight' of which she is the tenor hung in a separate tower they would be rated one of the very finest in the world; and as for 'Stafford,' the eleventh, her power is amply witnessed to by the fact that 'Grandisson' needs more than three-quarters of her weight again to cover her adequately. There is a solemnity about her tone, grave yet gorgeous like a chorus from Bach's 'St. Matthew Passion,' which makes the C minor ten of which she is the tenor one of the most deeply-moving experiences in all bell music.

Richard Beavis, Esq., listening with expert lips pursed and expert ear cocked in the Cathedral Yard, deemed Purdue worthy of his extra £20: he'd have gone down in history as a prize nincompoop if he hadn't. But the Chapter were not happy about 'Cobthorne,' for she came out of the pit without canons or argent, and Purdue had to drill four holes in her crown and hang her with iron bolts. The fact that he was pioneering the modern method of hanging was lost on the Chapter; 'inasmuch that the said Cobthorne bell cannot be hung up by the canons or tenons and argent thereof, as the same was formerly, and still ought to be hung and as other bells are usually hung,' they got Purdue to sign an agreement that he would recast her if she should fail within 20 years instead of the usual year and a day. There was no need; 'Cobthorne' still hangs as Purdue hung her nearly three centuries ago.

Yet in addition to casting some of the noblest bells in this ring or anywhere else, Purdue brought the Exeter bells a step nearer to their present state by adding an entirely new bell with the note of A natural. This bell made it possible to get a true back eight in the key of B flat major, and bearing its founder's name still exists as the sixth of the 12.

Thomas Purdue was back in Exeter again in 1693, to recast the 'Doom Bell'—the present eighth—which had been cracked. By now he was an old man of 73 (though he lived to 91) and in partnership with Thomas Knight, whose initials later but not at this time appear on some of Purdue's bells. His 'Doom Bell' still survives, and like the others passed the critical ear of Mr. Beavis; Purdue was paid £49 3s. for the job. Of all the six bells which this great man cast for the Cathedral, only one has been cracked; his 'Grandisson' lasted only just over 50 years, and has twice been recast since. So, good reader, if you have delighted in the music of what may still be counted the world's noblest 12, and if you see a signpost on the Yeovil-Dorchester road reading 'Closworth, 4,' just turn aside and leave a bunch of flowers on the tomb of the man who more than any other gave sumptuous music to Exeter Cathedral.

DERBY 'BELFRYMANSHIP' AWARD

THE 12th annual and Sir A. P. Heywood memorial dinner was held at the Midland Drapery Restaurant, Derby, on February 18th. Prior to the dinner, which was attended by over 150 members and friends, ringing took place at St. Peter's, Derby, and other towers were visited by organised coach parties from the Chesterfield and Peak Districts. An excellent meal was served.

The guest speaker was Mr. John Freeman, of Lincoln, vice-president of the Central Council who was introduced by the M.C., Mr. G. Halls, instead of Mr. Frank Smallwood. The best wishes of the members were sent to Mr. and Mrs. Smallwood for a speedy recovery. Although Mr. Freeman was unable to be the guest speaker last year, Mr. Halls emphatically denied that he had been asked again because we wanted a peal of Grandire Cinques at Lincoln Cathedral. However, one of Cambridge Maximus wouldn't be refused!

After thanking Mr. Halls for his welcome, Mr. Freeman assured the company that he was very grateful for the second invitation as he was very rarely asked anywhere twice! Continuing, Mr. Freeman wondered why we had dinners in memory of such men as Sir Arthur Heywood, Jasper Snowdon and Henry Johnson. Although they were all excellent ringers, composers and conductors, he felt sure it was more because of their outstanding characters. In conclusion, Mr. Freeman said that although he, too, regretted Mr. Smallwood's indisposition, he was not sorry he was absent as he would far rather be shot down in flames for exceeding his allotted ten minutes than in a cloud of snuff!

The formal part of the proceedings ended, the company eagerly adjourned to the next room for the highlight of the evening—namely, the presentation of the award of 'Capita Magnissimus' to the most worthy belfryman. The deeds and/or misdeeds of this year's contenders were then portrayed by the general treasurer, Mr. J. C. Woolley, in the lengthy preamble, at the end of which the award was presented, much to his extreme astonishment, to the treasurer himself!

The citation read as follows:—'Until you suddenly realised that our Association awarded each year to its most prominent belfryman the honour of "Capita Magnissimus," you, Joseph C. Woolley, had taken little more than a passing interest in bellringing. However, you soon abandoned all your other interests of pigeon keeping and tame flea training and concentrated all your efforts into winning this honour for yourself by making yourself noticed as often and as much as possible.

The first step in this direction was taken when you subtly bribed your way into the post of Association treasurer, from which position you managed to fiddle the finances so successfully as to convince half the members that an increase in subscriptions was inevitable. Although you had only convinced half the members you didn't seem to care as you had obviously decided that if half the members paid twice as much, the others need pay nothing at all!

Another way in which you brought the name of Joseph C. Woolley before the eyes of the ringing fraternity was by becoming "reporter extraordinary" to our monthly newspaper, the "Belfry News." By clever journalism—little short of libel—you utterly destroyed the public image of so many ringers that your name is not only revered but feared throughout all Derbyshire!

'One is tempted at this point to ask what "C" in Joseph C. Woolley stands for—is it Joseph "Cunning" Woolley or Joseph "Campanologist" Woolley? Whatever the answer, after to-night it will be Joseph "Capita Magnissimus" Woolley, for you have worthily upheld all the traditions of "Derbyshire Belfrymanship" and thoroughly deserve this award.'

After the medal had been solemnly presented to him, the Association choir sang the 'Capita Magnissimus' anthem, which was followed by a rather comical rendering of the song 'Where have all our husbands gone?' by a choir of peal ringers' wives. Dancing was then enjoyed until 11 p.m., when the exhausted but very happy company made their various ways home. As usual, our grateful thanks are due to Gordon Halls, Denis Carlisle and David Marshall for once again organising such a successful and immensely popular function. M. P. P.

RINGERS FOR WASHINGTON APPEAL

Towards the appeal for £1,000 to enable 10 selected ringers to fly out to Washington for the dedication of the central tower of Washington Cathedral, just over £107 has been received. Donations have ranged from 5s. to £50.

The Dean of Washington (the Very Rev. F. B. Sayre), who is an enthusiast for English change ringing, has so far raised just over $2,000 towards the $4,500 dollars he has asked for. This will about cover the air fare.

The opportunity is exceptional for the advancement of change ringing in the United States. There is little doubt that a service of this character will be broadcast extensively and a picked band to present the best of English ringing will enable a proper appraisal of our methods to be obtained. It will also be of the greatest encouragement to the novice band at Washington Cathedral.

Donations should be sent to Mr. Douglas Hughes, c/o Westminster Bank, St. Mary Axe, E.C.3

SHERWOOD YOUTHS SOCIETY

The annual general meeting of the Society was held at St. Mary's, Nottingham, on January 18th and was marked by the retirement of the Master, Mr. F. A. Salter. His service is outstanding as he attended the 1924 meeting when the Society was revived, and at one time or another had held every office. To show appreciation the members conferred on him their highest honour, that of life membership. Mr. R. A. G. Benfield was unanimously elected as his successor.

The secretary, Mr. P. Nix, and treasurer, Mr. W. Nichols, were re-elected, and a new post, that of assistant secretary, was instituted, to which Miss A. Henson was elected.

Arising from the secretary's report relating to the bi-monthly meetings, it was decided to hold some of them further afield. Meetings in Leicestershire, Derbyshire and North Notts are under consideration.

The questions of membership badges and the printing of an annual report were left with the secretary to report back on the costs involved.

Ringing both at St. Mary's and St. Peter's in the evening was enjoyed by the 35 members present.

TOWER GRABBERS OF 1963

For the first time, at the request of a well-known ringing personality, we publish a list of those who have rung in more than 100 new towers in 1963. The leader is Mr. A. D. Leach, of West Molesey, whose list reads: 12-bell towers 5, 10-bell towers 16, 8-bell 71, 6-bell 154, 5-bell 22, 4-bell 8, 3-bell 1. If the four and three-bell towers were deleted he would be level with Mr. C. Barrie Dove, of Leeds.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Mansfield District

The annual meeting of the Mansfield District, held at Mansfield on January 25th, was a great success from both the business and the social point of view. The splendid eight at St. Peter's were handled to a wide variety of methods, suiting all tastes and capabilities under the sure guidance of the District Ringing Master, Mr. H. T. Rooke.

Following the service and an excellent tea, the District chairman, Mr. S. W. Fossey, presided over the business meeting. Messrs. J. Anthony, P. Anthony, M. Woodhead, J. S. Brown and the Misses H. Grinter and M. Thompson were elected ringing members, the Rev. D. A. G. Brinn, of Kirkby-in-Ashfield, an hon. vice-president, and Mrs. M. Amos, of Mansfield, a N.R.L. member.

The officers were returned en bloc and Mr. F. Adcock took over as Assistant Ringing Master—a post which circulates annually. A highlight of the meeting was the presentation to Mr. Douglas H. Rooke, who retired as secretary the previous year. This was in appreciation of his work during the first five years of the District's formation.

Approximately 60 ringers attended during the day and ringing continued until 9 p.m.

Next meeting: Kirkby-in-Ashfield, March 21st.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Northern Division

A very successful and encouraging annual meeting was held at Horsham on February 1st, the weather being spring-like in contrast to that of 1963. The service was conducted by the curate (the Rev. S. Matthews). Owing to the very large attendance tea had to be in two relays of thirty each.

At the business meeting the Master of the Association presided and welcomed back the Divisional secretary, Mrs. E. L. Hairs, after her indisposition. All the officers were re-elected with the exception of Mr. A. Butcher (auditor), who stated that he could not hold office as he did not agree with the new set up of the Association's finances. Mr. G. Jennings was elected auditor in his place. It was decided to hold a striking competition later in the year.

Under 'any other business' a lengthy discussion took place on the subject of membership fees, and it was agreed that the subscription of 5s. per member as well as £1 5s. per tower was excessive, and a resolution to that effect was to be sent to the General Committee. Ringing continued until 9 p.m. under the direction of Mr. G. Francis (Ringing Master).

THE LIGHTEST RING OF BELLS IN THE WORLD

By F. D. MACK

ON September 7th, 1963, this miniature ring of bells was first opened in my garage at Exmouth. It represented an ambition conceived more than five years ago when a set of horse bells was given to the writer. The bells are the back six of an original ten or twelve cast by R. Wells, of Aldbourne, Wiltshire.

Their clapper arrangement was that of old-fashioned house bells, with a heavy ball suspended on a soft iron wire from a cast in staple. It is believed that the bells are more than a hundred years old, since R. Wells went out of business in 1835. Although the tone is not up to that of modern handbells, it is good and clear. The weights, diameters and notes are as follows:—

Treble	14 oz.	4.35in	E flat
2	14½ oz.	4.56in.	C sharp
3	1lb. 3 oz.	4.97in.	B
4	1lb. 4 oz.	5.21in.	B flat
5	1lb. 8 oz.	5.60in.	A flat
Tenor	1lb. 10½ oz.	5.96in.	F sharp (size 19)

PREVIOUS EXPERIENCE

The writer had had some experience of model bell hanging and even lashed one to the banisters of a certain flat in Bristol at one time. The problems of making such small bells ringable were at least partly solved well in advance. As anyone who has tried it knows to his cost, the most difficult part is that of making a tiny bell clapper correctly.

The clappers have been turned from aluminium alloy for lightness and each one is counterbalanced with a piece of 3/16th inch flat brass strip. A considerable amount of experimenting with clapper length, pivot point and weight of each counterbalance was needed before each new bell was clappering satisfactorily. Even now, some of the bells are slightly odd-struck and much more time will have to be spent to achieve perfection. Most of the clapper work was completed at home during 1962.

The winter session 1962-63 of woodwork classes were needed to make all the wheels, headstocks and pulleys. The material used for the wheels was half-inch plywood and the shapes of the spokes and soles were cut out of solid wood to give greater strength and truer shape. The shrouding was shaped from one-eighth inch hardboard tacked on afterwards. A spare piece of boat-building teak was employed for the headstocks, into which the silver-steel gudgeons were set. Nine rosewood pulleys have been used and these were roughed out at the class and finished at home.

HANGING

It was decided to hang the bells on a metal frame. Accordingly one, was designed to give a reasonably compact size without too cramped a circle of ropes. The frame is made of aluminium angle, using 'L' and 'T' sectioned members screwed down to a baseboard of Weyroc flooring measuring a mere 36in. x 17½in. This baseboard, which forms the 'ringing chamber' ceiling, is fixed in turn to an angle iron frame firmly bolted into the garage joists, which support the floor of a bedroom above. The bearing blocks are made of aluminium alloy with oiling holes to allow for the addition of the castor oil lubricant from a hypodermic syringe.

The bells are fixed by machine screws to two-inch mild steel washers which are screwed to the headstocks. This facilitates the quick removal of a bell from its headstock if servicing is needed. Felt pads are placed between the bells and their supporting washers.

Only one stay has been fitted (to the 3rd) and this is easily removable. It has been found that the bells can be controlled more easily without stays, and it enables the bells to be 'set' by letting them right over at hand-stroke.

ROPES

The question of roping turned out to be a problem. Two well-known bell-rope manufacturers were approached and their quotations were £9 and 10 guineas respectively for a set of six. This was obviously going to make the project much too expensive. Some hemp line 3/16th inches in diameter was obtained from Grays, of Exeter, and three hanks of thick rug wool (red, blue and white) were then purchased in Taunton. The sallies had to be made by winding wool round the strands of rope until they were both about a foot long. The result is quite pleasing and effective, making the sallies half an inch in diameter. The total cost of the wool and line was about £1 10s. with enough left over for at least one more set of ropes. Each sally took about two hours to complete.

The ropes hang in a circle 26 inches across, round a neat mushroom-shaped electric lamp in the centre of the ceiling. The distance between adjacent ropes is reasonably even, varying from 11in. to 14½in. The garage inspection pit has been used to give leg room. To ring, one sits on a cushion on the floor, feet dangling in the pit. It has been found that the sitting arrangement does not cramp one's style but helps to give the steadiness of hand needed to control the ropes.

VISITORS

We have found that most ringers can handle any of the bells quite adequately after 15 minutes' practice and several non-ringers do very well after a surprisingly short time. So far, some 65 ringers have signed the visitors book coming from as far afield as Shropshire, Yorkshire and the Home Counties. Methods rung include Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman, Kent and Cambridge. We have not yet attempted a quarter or a full peal but hope to do so when the weather warms up a little. The speed of ringing is about 40 changes per minute, which would give a peal in roughly two hours.

PORTABILITY

The frame and bells are easily portable and can be taken down and transported in the back of the writer's estate car. The ring of bells has been used for one lecture locally and the writer is quite prepared to take it along to any not too remote point if it will help any belfry or lecturer in explaining the art.

Another novel feature is that the bells are small enough to be used as handbells. At the moment no suitable clappers have been made for this, although the leathers for handles are ready to be fitted. A future footnote might be 'First bells to be rung "in hand" and by rope.'

To any ringing enthusiast, who is keen to have his own ring of bells, I would say, try your hand at 'do-it-yourself' bell-hanging. It has afforded immense pleasure in solving the special problems involved and my wife and I anticipate many hours of delight both ringing and welcoming visiting parties of ringers.

In conclusion, if any ringers are passing through the area at any time, please do not hesitate to call in at 7, Bapton Lane (off the Hulham Road), Exmouth, Devon, to have a go on our 'lightest ring.'

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Biggleswade District

The ringing was generally of a good standard when the Biggleswade District met at Clifton on February 8th. Mr. G. Mayes, the Ringing Master, saw that everybody had a good ring.

Mr. P. Rogers was at the organ for the service, which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. E. Hall.

An excellent tea, prepared by the local ladies, was enjoyed by 33 members and friends. The Vicar took the chair at the short business meeting, when Mr. Bywaters announced that Kent would be the venue for the annual outing on May 9th.

The ringing during the evening was varied and included the special method, London Surprise Major.

Next meeting: Atlesey, March 14th.

Letters to the Editor

The American Visit

Dear Sir,—I think that to spend £1,000 on sending 10 ringers from Britain to the United States just to ring at Washington Cathedral will hardly help to forward the interest of change ringing abroad. The local ringers will gain only by watching the experts but if an expert were sent for three months they would be sufficiently proficient to ring for the dedication themselves. On many a great day the simple method rung well has been appreciated just as much if not more than a more advanced method.—Yours faithfully,

E. M. COLLINGS (Mrs.).

Solihull, Warks.

Note.—We disagree with this point of view. To hear the bells properly rung, broadcast and recorded throughout America will be the finest introduction on a big scale to change ringing possible in U.S.A. To the struggling enthusiasts in Washington, it will give them a new conception of our art.—Editor.

Central Suffolk's Plight

Dear Sir,—What has happened to Suffolk ringers? The Central District of Suffolk has made very little effort during the past year to further the art of change ringing. The number of peals rung is a good indication of the effort being made, and if it wasn't for outside support the number would have been non-existent.

Apart from efforts made at Wetheringsett, Brandeston and Barking, life in the District bellfries would have disappeared altogether. 1964 is the jubilee year of the St. Edmundsbury Diocese. What are the ringers going to contribute? Is it not possible for each District member to ring at least one peal or even a quarter peal during this year?

Are the ringers who remain prepared to sit back and watch the art die altogether? How many ringers are prepared to bring those silent but still ringable bells of Suffolk back to life?—Yours, etc.,

E. HOTINE.

Wattisham, Ipswich.

Not all Members

Dear Sir,—I regret to have to inform you that the Surrey Association is unable to accept the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major rung at St. Mary's, Putney, on October 5th, 1963, in its records, as a number of the band were not members at the time it was rung. We are very sorry to disappoint our young friends from Putney who were in it and who are so pleased to ring for the Association and who do so much for it. I regret, too, that I have not been able to find the address of the conductor so that I could extend to him the courtesy of a personal letter before writing this one.—Yours faithfully, Epsom.

WILLIAM PARROTT.

'Boiled' Tenor Rope-end

Dear Sir.—During the past few weeks the rope-end of the Bushey tenor had become abnormally stiff and difficult to handle. The solution to this was overcome by C. W. Woolley, who cut the end away and took it home for boiling! This was successfully accomplished and then spliced together again. Incidentally, C. W. W. informed me that the 'soup' wasn't too ropy!

The first peal on the 'boiled' rope-end was duly rung—eight spliced on February 6th. I would venture to say that this is a precedent in the art of campanology.—Yours etc.,

K. R. DUNSTAN.

King's Langley, Herts.

Method Naming

Dear Sir,—As conductor of the peals of Ob, Moira and Llanfihangel-rhydeithon Surprise Major rung by the Leicester Diocesan Guild during 1963, I would like to comment on the letters published on page 36 (January 17th) by C. K. Lewis, page 76 (January 31st) by G. W. Massey, and page 92 (February 7th) by F. T. Blagrove.

I note that the Methods Committee decided that the names given to methods rung in the peal of spliced at Ashover on July 13th, 1963, should stand. Now surely it is up to the Central Council either to accept or reject their decision, and F. T. Blagrove (in his usual 'high-handed' manner) is quite wrong to say that 'Ob no longer stands.' It most certainly does stand and will do until the Central Council ratify the Methods Committee decision.

Before the meeting of the Central Council I would like the Methods Committee to pronounce its findings on the peal of Spliced Major rung at Heptonstall on October 29th, 1960, some methods of which have since been renamed. Surely what applies to 1963 must also apply to 1960. Both were rung before the Methods Committee decision. If retrospective action is to be taken over the 1963 peals then it should surely also be taken over the 1960 peal and I quite agree with G. W. Massey on this point. Previously, when decisions of like nature have been made, they have not been retrospective.

Members of the Exercise will perhaps realise that a band which rings the first peal in a method has the right to name it. If a new method has been rung in a peal of Spliced it is obvious that a full peal of it has not been rung—only touches. On the other hand, the peals of Ob and Moira did have the desired effect in stirring the Methods Committee into action. I shall be quite prepared to rename the methods if action is also taken with regard to the 1960 peal. If not, then I suggest that if the Central Council ratifies the decision it should operate as from Whitsun, 1964, and that Ob, etc., be allowed to stand.

In conclusion I would like to thank Mr. B. J. Woodruffe not only for giving us so many Superlative variations but also for suggesting the name of 'Ob' by which to call one of them.—Yours sincerely, BRIAN G. WARWICK.

Corrections

The peal of London Surprise Major at St. Mary's, Reading (see page 97), was rung on Sunday, January 12th.

The peal at Gayton (page 100) was rung on January 11th, 1964, not 1963.

'Yorkshire' Tail Ends

Dear Sir,—Although this correspondence, followed by the nebulous remarks of Professor Dodge, has gone on long enough, I hope you will find room for this warning in your journal.

Do not be misled into purchasing the above type of rope by correspondents who—

(a) Have never rung a heavy bell with a Yorkshire tail end; or

(b) If they have they have not handled the bell properly;

since it is well known to experienced heavy bell ringers that it is necessary to take up rope at backstroke, when the bell's swing has to be severely cut down.

Moreover, many youngsters and ladies, having hands, and not shovels, find great difficulty in grasping the billy and sally in one hand together, the distance round the latter, when fairly new, being in the region of eight inches until squashed in one's grip.

The most satisfactory method of trying bells before a touch, or especially before a peal, is to ring rounds until a satisfactory beat is established, each ringer noting whether any adjustment to the rope is necessary. Such rounds are not offensive.

On relatively light rings of six, such as those in the Barnsley area, one can get by satisfactorily in closed lead ringing with Yorkshire tail ends.

On higher numbers and where there is a heavy tenor or great difference in weight between trebles and tenor they are best avoided.

The above conclusions have not been deduced in the quiet meditation of my 'cell,' nor from theoretical formulae or graphs, but from practical experience and observation of all kinds of conditions and ringers in six, eight and ten-bell towers.

To anyone thinking of changing over to Yorkshire tail ends, except for light bells and a small number, take my advice and don't; their supposed advantage is just another Yorkshire tale.—Yours,

Rotherham.

N. CHADDOCK.

St. Mark's, Venice, Bells

Dear Sir,—Whilst making a short stop in Venice I took the opportunity of visiting St. Mark's Campanile, which is open to the public. I must confess, however, that I took the lift to the top, otherwise there would have been an ascent involving about 200 steps.

The belfry contains five bells, apparently ranging from about 12 cwt. to about 40 cwt. Whereas the shaft and ball of each clapper has similar proportions to their English counterparts, the flights are nearly as long as the shafts and only a little less in diameter than the clapper balls.

The bells have four plain canons each and are similar in shape to an English pre-Reformation bell. Unlike an English bell, from the lip of the sound bow extends inwards horizontally for four to eight inches, then turning sharply upward to form the inside face of the sound bow. Chips are missing from the lips of all the bells, I would think suggesting damage rather than an attempt at tuning. The top of the tower has been strengthened with concrete and the bells hang from this in a steel frame, chains extending upward from each wheel to, presumably, electric motors.

The carvings on the headstocks are of similar style to the designs accompanying the Latin inscriptions on the bells. Hence although the bells have been rehung and quarter-turned at some time, the headstocks would seem to be original. I would be interested to learn more of these bells if anyone has details. Mr. W. Fleming, on a long stay in Venice on the 'Cannamore,' could perhaps spend a little more time on them than I could.—Yours faithfully,

PAUL ELSWORTH.

FURORE OVER UNKIND REVIEW

Dear Sir,—It is a sad but unfortunately true fact that while there are people in this life who are willing to do a little hard work, there will always be those who will sit back and do nothing but issue destructive criticism. I refer to Mr. Sibson's rather unflattering comments on the new Surprise Major method collection.

It would seem rather obvious to me that a demand for this publication exists, or the first edition would still be on the shelf, unsold. I would refer Mr. Sibson to page 37 of 'The Ringing World' (1964) where he will find in the compiler's own words whether the collection was popular or otherwise.

As for technical accuracy, can Mr. Sibson honestly say that he can pit his wits against a computer—in this case, as it happens, two were used—and hope to win? A correctly programmed computer, and I hardly feel that the compilers are fools enough to attempt a programme without exhaustive initial testing, is capable of producing the correct result every time, and in a fraction of the time it would take a human brain to calculate. It is for this reason that computers are used—speed and accuracy. It is a very simple task for a computer to check lead-ends and find a Plain Bob coursing order in them.

While it is a pity that errors on the non-technical side have slipped in this is, remember, the first collection of its kind ever to be produced, and errors are inevitable. As Mr. Sibson says, the compilers have quite obviously spent many hours producing the collection and much credit is due to them for this.

I feel that the merits of the methods contained in it can only be judged by individual bands, who may wish to ring some of the new methods in it. There are people in the Leicester area I know of who will most surely welcome the great variety of new, albeit 'stagnation' type methods, and will probably produce a peal a week in a new method. I also know of others who would examine the whole construction and falseness very carefully before attempting a peal. The lowering of standards and the dubious nature of methods is inherent, not in the collection, but in the Exercise. Those who have no standards will not need this collection to lower them, whilst those who have will, I hope, adhere to them.

To all those who have in any way assisted in producing the collection I feel we owe a debt of gratitude that can only be paid back by showing them that their work is not like a hydrogen bomb in irresponsible hands that can destroy all the good it ever set out to do.—Yours faithfully,

ROBERT E. HARDY.

In Defence of H. and M.

Dear Sir,—After reading your leading article this week I feel that Mr. Sibson's review of the 'Complete Collection of Right Place Surprise Major Methods' by Hudson and McClenahan is, to say the least, a little harsh in its criticism. Thank goodness he liked the cover and binding; I was beginning to wonder why I bothered to buy a copy at all. Fortunately I purchased mine some time ago or H. & M. would have been 7s. 6d. worse off.

Despite the errors in method naming (now corrected) this is a very useful publication; the fact that a large number of the methods are not worth ringing is surely no reason for two or three people to sit down and select a few hundred methods they consider we ought to ring.

Does Mr. Sibson really think we are all itching to rush out and ring methods with 11 pull work in, and if some do, what standards would be lowered? All this talk from time to time about lowering standards gets rather monotonous and doesn't really mean a thing. It certainly looks as though the two young men from Cambridge have done in a few months something that the Exercise have waited years for the Central Council to produce. There must be hundreds of ringers who would like to get their hands on a copy of 'Corrigan,' but as far as I can see they must go on liking.

I hope ringers won't be taken in by this review and will reserve judgment until they have a copy. It is obviously not a work that will interest all ringers any more than the 'Compositions of Stedman, Caters and Cinques,' but to a certain section it will prove invaluable. Let us encourage people when they do a service to the Exercise and perhaps we will get more of what is so urgently needed—ringing publications.—Yours faithfully,

J. E. G. ROAST.

Danbury, Essex.

'Unkind and Ungrateful'

Dear Sir,—It seems to me both unkind and ungrateful that the first exhaustive comment in 'The Ringing World' on the Complete Collection of Right Place Surprise Major Methods should be in the form of a front page criticism. Firstly, whether there is a demand for such a collection is not a relevant point! If anyone wants it, it is now available; if they do not, they need not buy it, and it is to the credit of those responsible that they have made it thus. If all libraries contained only books which had been asked to be written by the general public the choice of reading matter would be very limited indeed!

The fact that a complete collection will contain a vast number of methods with 'long' dodging on front and back is so obvious that it need not be stated. The authors did not invent the nature of methods, they merely used it. Besides, in the paragraph above that criticism Mr. Sibson was apparently asking after methods with firsts and seconds made throughout the lead, saying that the restriction on these methods was obscure. Perhaps he prefers a pair of bells to be leading and making seconds together for 22 changes rather than dodging. Perhaps even some similar work in 7/8?

If the availability of rubbishy methods in print happens to lower the standard of methods rung, then that is the fault of those who choose to ring them, not of those who make them available. Such methods have always been a temptation anyway to the man with pencil, paper and a little knowledge of method construction, so the position is not really worse. On the other hand, if I felt like ringing a method with 11 dodges behind, lots more on the front and long places in the middle (e.g., Cray, one of the standard 12) I could consider it my own business.

The publishers of the collection should not have to be advised to consult someone with a private filing system: this mythical long promised Central Council collection of named methods is long overdue. Why is so much valuable, useful, technical information only available to people who have worked it out for themselves? Ringing research as a whole is being run on very selfish, inefficient lines with a result that duplication of work must be going on all over the country.

I would like to make one more comment before closing. Why is there so much importance attached to the name of a method when the whole system of nomenclature is so trivial? What properties of a method are indicated by names like Llanfair P.C., Amsterdam and Finsbury (wherever that is)? Can we not have a rational system of nomenclature based on place notation so that the name indicates the nature of the method?—Yours, etc.,

Beeston, Notts. E. SHUTTLEWORTH.

OBITUARY

MR. E. G. TALBOT

A man endeared to all who knew him and highly valued by his friends died on December 4th in Mr. Edward G. ('Ted') Talbot, of Beddington.

His ringing ability was above average, being one of the young and enterprising band who with Charlie Kippin rang the first peal of Spliced Surprise Royal during the early 1930's. He was one of the first to bring a tape recorder on an outing. An example of his friendliness was bringing his car last June to the veterans' meeting.

For 35 years he was with the Royal Insurance Company and was held in high regard by his employers. In all he did he set a high example for us to try and maintain.

JOHN ENSTON.

MR. EDWARD H. FINCH

By the passing of Mr. Edward ('Ted') Finch, of Stapleford, Cambs, at the age of 82 years, the Ely Diocesan Association has lost one of its oldest members. Although practically unknown to the present generation of ringers, he was very active in the 1920's and early 1930's as a member of Mr. A. E. Austin's band that rang many peals of Surprise Minor at Stapleford and other six-bell towers. His number of peals for the Ely Association was 47 but he also rang a number for the Essex and Hertford Associations of which I have no record.

Of recent years he had been something of a recluse and was only occasionally seen at Association meetings. He was present at the opening of Haslingfield bells about two years ago and was heard to remark, 'I have been waiting for this day for 60 years.'

The funeral took place at Stapleford Church on February 8th and was attended by a number of his old ringing friends. C. W. C.

CANBERRA'S CHIMES

A Sydney correspondent sends a correction regarding the report on December 20th last as to eight bells to be installed at St. John's, Canberra, as a memorial to Lady De L'Isle. The possibility of ringing bells was explored before the choice fell, regrettably, on a 'chime' of bells to be operated by a keyboard manual.

There are several stipulations covering the gift. Among them are the bells be chimed on: (a) Each anniversary of Lady De L'Isle's death, and (b) Lord and Lady De L'Isle's wedding anniversary.

Strong List of New Members

Despite the one-day strike by the Midland Red buses, which have a virtual monopoly of Leicestershire, the Guild's quarterly meeting at Loughborough on February 8th was very well attended. Ringing was available at Castle Donington, Diseworth, Kegworth, Hathern, Shepshed, All Saints' and the Bell Foundry, Loughborough. The service was at All Saints' Church and tea was served in the Fearon Hall by Miss C. Doggett and helpers.

At the business meeting the Loughborough District chairman (Mr. H. O. Over) formally welcomed the Guild to Loughborough. The president (Mr. F. K. Measures) then presented certificates to 30 new members who had requested them. This was a record number.

Following the minutes, the secretary announced several decisions of the General Committee. £28 had been granted from the Bell Repair Fund to Skeffington, where the five bells were being rehung and a frame added for a new treble. The dinner in 1964 would be at the Shakespeare Hotel, Braunstone, on November 14th, and the chief guest would be Mr. John Freeman, of Lincoln (vice-president of the Central Council).

The committee had also decided that names of members who owed one year's subscription should be included in the report (thus reversing a decision made in 1961) in accordance with the rules, but that any such members who did not appear in the tower list sent in by the tower correspondents would appear as 'Other Members.' Later in the meeting a proposal was announced that Rule 3 should be deleted entirely. The effect of this would be that any member who had not paid his annual subscription by December 31st in any year would cease to be a member; and that if he wished to rejoin he could do so by becoming a new member again. This proposal would be voted upon at the annual general meeting on April 4th.

The annual general meeting arrangements were announced. These included ringing in the towers in the city of Leicester with a service in the Cathedral at 4.15, when the address would be given by the new Provost (the Very Rev. J. C. Hughes) and tea in the Alderman Newton Boys' School, adjacent to the Cathedral.

The secretary thanked tower secretaries for their co-operation in sending in their tower reports in good time for publication in the annual report, which would be available by the middle of March. District secretaries were asked to distribute as quickly as possible so that members could have them in time for the annual general meeting.

A YORKSHIRE SUNDAY MORNING BROADCAST

Although Cottingham, East Yorkshire, ringers had a month's notice of the broadcast of the morning service on February 9th over the Northern Region of the Home Service, it wasn't until nine o'clock the previous evening that the producer could be contacted and permission to ring obtained. Many frantic last-minute phone calls had then to be made to secure a band for the 9.45 a.m. service ringing.

The arrangement was for ten minutes' ringing before the broadcast, giving an opportunity for the ringers to warm up and for the producer to position and adjust a microphone in the churchyard. No ringing was to be broadcast if it was windy or raining. A buzzer in the ringing chamber, normally operated by the organist, was to be the signal for ringing to start and finish. It was here realised that the latter signal might result in 'Stand' having to be called in the middle of a touch.

On the morning of the broadcast all eight ringers assembled in good time but unfortunately only six of the local team could be contacted and outside help had to be obtained. Bob Triples was selected as all were familiar with it, and the tenor covering would assist leading and striking. When the starting signal eventually came a good touch was rung and, after a few rounds, another started. In the middle of this touch the second signal came and 'Stand' was called with the bells in changes, causing a few clashes.

A tape recording connected to a portable radio recorded the actual broadcast for later study. On the recording, the programme began with the announcer introducing the service, with Bob Triples in the background. The bells were then brought up to full volume for 20 seconds and finally faded out to be replaced by the organ. A microphone inside the church picked up the sound of the bells, which blended quite pleasantly with the organ. Unfortunately the fifth and tenor didn't stand at the first attempt and did so only just in time before the organ music stopped.

Other ringers faced with the prospect of a live broadcast would find an extra ringers with a radio of assistance, as he could inform the team when the bells were on the air. As few as a dozen changes may be broadcast and repeated plain hunts could be brought round at the first opportunity after 'going live' and sound more effective than the middle of a touch.

Cottingham ringers hope that other ringers, through this article, can get an idea of the difficulties and excitement involved in a live broadcast. J. I. B.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD

The nine bells at All Saints', Basingstoke, were very popular for Grandsire Caters and Plain Bob at the annual meeting of the Basingstoke District on January 25th. Over 60 members attended and seven parsons from the District with the Master of the Guild, Canon K. W. H. Pelstead.

St. Michael's bells were also well used and it was here that the Guild service was conducted by the Rev. N. J. Woodhall, R.D., and the address given by the Rev. K. C. Davis.

Six new members were elected at the business meeting presided over by Canon F. A. Sanders. Other business included thanks to the ladies for the excellent tea at low cost.

Next quarterly meeting: Yateley, April 18th.

BURSLEM DELIGHT

The Editor has received a letter from Mr. H. Poyner attempting to justify the method rung at Attenborough on November 23rd, 1963, as an extension of Burslem Delight Minor.

Maximus:

-3T-, 14-, -12-, 1T, 34-14, 5T, 14-14, 5T, 14-14: 5T.

Royal:

-30-, 14-, -12-, 10, 34-14.50, 14-14, 50, 14-14: 50.

Major:

-38-, 14-, -12-, 18, 34-14, 58, 14-14: 58.

Minor:

-36-, 14-, -12-, 16, 34-14: 56.

All with l.e. 12, viz., 18604T2F3957, 1867492735, 18674523, 156342.

The Maximus contracts to the Royal by the removal of one of the 14-14 subsections. This gives an irregular three lead course method, and therefore adds nothing to the discussion.

The Maximus and Royal now contract to the Major by the removal of another subsection 14-14, and Mr. Poyner therefore claims the Maximus as an extension of the Major. This does not in fact conform to the Decision on the Construction of Extensions.

The Maximus, Royal and Major now contract to the Minor by the complete removal of all subsections 14-14. Mr. Poyner claims that this is a proper contraction, and therefore the Major as rung is a proper extension of the Minor.

But the Minor is obtained by completely removing the 14-14 subsections and therefore surely the Minor is an entirely different method. London III Surprise Royal contracts to London Surprise Major by the removal of the 14, 58, 14 subsection. Does this mean that London III S.R. is a proper extension of London S.M.? Spalding College Major contracts to Reverse Bob Minor. Is Spalding C.M. a proper extension of Reverse Bob Minor? Because 'X' Major can be shortened into 'Z' Minor is no justification for saying that 'Z' Minor extends into 'X' Major.

Homework for students: Discuss the following family:

Dorchester Branch

Holding their annual meeting at St. Peter's, Dorchester, on January 18th, the Dorchester Branch had an address at the Guild service from the Master of the Guild, the Rev. R. N. Longridge, on William Barnes, the Dorset poet, and his works. He mentioned that his statue was outside St. Peter's Church.

The Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth (Branch chairman) presided at the meeting, which followed tea. A report, brimming with activity, was presented by Mr. R. H. Duke (honorary secretary) of fortnightly Branch practices throughout the year, a peal of Grandsire Triples, a host of quarter peals, including one at Cattistock for the silver wedding anniversary of the Branch chairman, a good representation at the Guild festival at Beaminster and the many tributes paid to the late president John F. Kennedy. Membership now stood at 141 ringing, 14 associate and 4 honorary, making a total of 159.

Officers elected were: Chairman, Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth; vice-chairman, Canon E. B. Brooks; honorary secretary and treasurer, Mr. R. H. Duke; Ringing Master, Mr. J. W. Rose; Deputy Ringing Masters, Mr. A. J. Slade and Mr. E. H. Amey; assistant honorary secretary, Miss B. J. Dyke; committee members, Miss P. M. Boalch and Mr. R. Sturmev.

It was agreed to hold meetings during the year at Fordington (April 25th), Wool (July 4th) and Wyke Regis (September 19th).

New members were elected as follows: P. J. Cox and R. and J. Hill, St. Peter's, Dorchester, D. Cox and J. Dommeth, Frampton, J. Gerrard and G. Walbrin, Piddlehinton, and A. Brooks, Fordington. R. H. D.

The peal at Newton-Not-tage, Glamorgan, by local ringers on February 9th has an unusual sequence. There have been two other strictly local peals—in 1910 and 1937—and there is a gap of 27 years between each.
It is up to those responsible to not let another 27 years lapse.

A novelty about the peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor at Dornev, Bucks, on February 8th, was that Mr. F. T. Blagrove, the conductor, used the eight different compositions available.

Mr. Harry Waterfield, of Holme Hale, Norfolk, who is a G.P.O. employee, fractured a bone in his foot when a telegraph pole fell upon him. His friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. Walter Ayre informs us that the peal of Spliced Surprise Minor rung at Apsley End
(see page 100) should read: (3) Beverley and Surfleet (six changes); (4) Cambridge and Primrose (twelve changes).

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. K. Lock, widow of Mr. Albert E. Lock, of Abingdon, is in the Radcliffe Infirmary, Oxford, where she has had an operation. Mrs. Lock has appreciated so much the kindness of ringers in visiting her and writing to her and hopes they will accept this as her thanks, as she is unable to reply to them.

In a letter to the Editor Mr. G. Nelson Sloan, of Christchurch, New Zealand, sends his congratulations to the conductor and those 'who rang in that wonderful performance of 143 methods spliced . . . An accomplishment like this shows just what change ringing is.'
Nelson was sorry to have missed Bishop G. E.
Reindorp, when he visited Christchurch Cathedral. He was away on holiday at the time.

Those who want to advance on six-bell ringing will find the week-end course at Hereford Training College (April 3rd to April
5th) most helpful. Subjects include Spliced Doubles and Spliced Minor with three sessions in the tower. Beginners are also being catered for and something new is tune ringing on handbells. The lecture team is Messrs. F. T.
Blagrove, F. Sharpe, W. F. Moreton and C. A.
Wratten.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The quarter peal of Grand-sire Cinques rung at Christchurch Priory was in farewell and 'au revoir' to two members of the band. Mr. Frank Southwood has taken an appointment necessitating his removal to Islington, and very shortly Mr. Roy Crampton will leave for an 18-month tour of duty in Ghana. Mr. Crampton is on loan by the British Government to the Government of Ghana as a technical expert in aviation. These two ringers will be very much missed at the Priory and they carry with them the good wishes of many members of the church in their new spheres. The ringers of the quarter peal are all members of the Sunday service band at the Priory.

The composition of Stedman Caters on page 88 was No. 1, as rung on handbells at Cambridge, and not No. 2, as rung at Isle-worth.

After ten days in bed, Mr. F. W. Midwinter, of Newark, is now recuperating from mumps.
The last time he had to call a doctor was 26 years ago, when he had measles! Hopefully (?)
he adds: 'I haven't had chickenpox yet!'

It is pleasing to note that Tessa Hollis (aged 13), daughter of the Vicar of Rotherham, rang her first peal within a year of learning to handle a bell. We look forward to reporting further progress soon.

From Jamaica Mr. H. Falkner, of the College of Technology, Kingston, writes that many peals classed as in memoriam to President Kennedy were arranged before his death and 'it ill-befitted the occasion to convert them in a secondhand kind of manner.'

A practice meeting at Dean Prior Parish Church, Devon, on February 8th, coincided with the wedding of a member of the congregation, Miss Pauline Watts, who was married in the afternoon. Many people expressed their appreciation at hearing the bells, which are seldom rung.

More tower entries are required for the Twickenham and Richmond Music Festival to be held at Isleworth Parish Church on March 14th at 2.30 p.m. The test piece is 250 or more changes in Triples or Major; composition to be given to the adjudicator, Mr. Wilfrid Wilson. Entries to Dr. D. J. Neal Smith, 93, Cole Park Road, Twickenham.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

West Dorset Branch

Whitchurch Canicorum lies in the Char Valley, with its large church, fine ring of eight and a 90-foot tower. The West Dorset Branch held its quarterly meeting here on February 8th, when 32 members and visitors were present. The Guild service was conducted by the Rev. G. V. Syer (vice-chairman). An excellent tea was provided and served by Whitchurch ringers and their wives.

Mr. W. C. Powell (Branch chairman) conducted the business meeting and gave a warm welcome to Canon Carew-Cox (president of the Guild) after his illness, and took the opportunity to ask him to present ringing certificates to two junior members of Lyme Regis—the Misses Angela Quick and Jennifer Rice. Canon Cox, in his reply, said he was now fit to take a 'rope' but not for a very long 'touch'. It gave him great pleasure to present the certificates and he hoped these two junior ringers would go on from strength to strength.

Methods rung: Rounds, Grandshire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major. Yorkshire was the service touch.

A coach will be arranged for members to attend the Guild festival at Marlborough.

Next meeting, Symondsburys, April 18th. Practice meetings, Symondsburys, March 11th; Bridport, April 8th; and Lodors, May 13th. All towers subject to permission to ring.

THE LADIES' GUILD

South Wales District

The South Wales District held its annual meeting at St. Mary's, Swansea, on January 25th, when 45 ringers and friends were present. The service was taken by the Rev. Edward Hunt, who extended a warm welcome to the Guild from Canon Harry Williams, the Vicar.

Tea was served in the lovely room adjoining the Lady chapel by Mrs. Whitworth and her helpers. These ladies were thanked by Mr. John Owen, Miss Dilys Hullett thanked the organist and the Rev. Edward Hunt was thanked by Miss Kathleen Watkins.

At the business meeting Mrs. Catherine Coles was elected vice-president. Committee elections were: Branch, Mrs. A. Whitworth, Mrs. A. Bruten, Mrs. W. Griffin and Miss D. Hullett; Central, Mrs. L. Taylor and Miss K. Watkins. It was decided to try to hold meetings at Caldicot on April 18th and St. Mellons on October 31st.

The five bells at St. Mary's, Swansea, were enjoyed well into the evening.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

West Lindsey Branch

On January 18th the West Lindsey Branch held its annual meeting at Gainsborough. Many towers were represented at All Saints' Church and at the social evening that followed. The two special methods, Bob Major and Cambridge Major, were in frequent demand.

The service was conducted by Canon J. E. Roberts, Vicar and president of the Branch, after which tea was served in All Saints' School by lady ringers and their friends.

At the business meeting routine matters received attention and Branch officials were re-elected en bloc. A short silence was observed in memory of Mr. Duffield, a regular Sunday service ringer of Owston Ferry, who died recently.

The highlight of the social evening was the showing of the film 'Ringers Wanted,' and the silence during the screening was just as much a tribute as was the applause at the end.

Next meeting: Owston Ferry; annual outing to Coventry.

• YOUR MOST OBLIGED, HUMBLE SERVANT, WM. EVANS'

By the Rev. JOHN SCOTT

IN the year 1729, the Dean and Chapter of Exeter Cathedral again decided that something really must be done about the bells. In the first place, three of the ring in the south tower were cracked, including 'Grandisson,' the tenor, and the Nine O'Clock Bell, the 8th of the ring, which had been given by Bishop Oldham in the early 16th century. In the second place, it was long past the time when the Cathedral should have a proper ring of ten. There were ten bells in the tower, but they weren't a ring of ten; nine in B flat and the odd bell, called 'Pongamouth,' which gave them a light six, in E flat; in fact the treble of the nine, John Birdall's bell, was probably not rung except with this light six. Now that they were doing something about the cracked bells, they might at last get a real ring of ten.

The founder whom they called in for the job was William Evans, of Chepstow, who, with his father Evan, had already made a name for himself with several excellent jobs in Devon. Evans' first proposal was to recast the three cracked bells, and also the 3rd and 4th (now the 6th and flat 6th of the twelve), although the latter were sound. Why he wanted to recast the bell which Purdue had added to make a true back eight is hard to tell, but that is what he proposed, at £1 8s. 0d. per hundredweight, and to rehang the bells for another £70; with extra metal to replace wastage and a little more added, he estimated that the job would run out at £391 14s. 10d., the Dean and Chapter to provide a site for the 'Foundry' and materials for building and roofing it. Evans expected that the job would take eight or nine months.

These proposals for some reason the Chapter did not accept; certainly they did not agree to the recasting of the 3rd and 4th, and a meeting was arranged, at which they could discuss it with the founder. On the table was a set of draft proposals, on a folded sheet of foolscap which still lies in the Cathedral library, covered with the alterations, marginal notes and alterations which were written into it at the meeting. And the very first sentence solves one mystery. It has always seemed likely that the Cathedral bells became a true ten with a flat 4th, in addition at the time of this work by Evans; yet the present 3rd, which completed this ten, is inscribed, 'Recast 1729.' If she was recast, she must have been in the Cathedral before; and if she was there before, why did the Dean and Chapter ask Evans to make the bells up to a true major ten? Here is how the new proposals began: 'To Recast the Three Cracked Bells;—and then, scribbled in in a different hand during the meeting—'and the Little Nine O'Clock Bell which is now in the One-Bell-Tower.' The 'One-Bell-Tower' is clearly the north tower, where 'Peter' hangs, and this 'Little Nine O'Clock Bell' must have been the last survivor of the four smaller bells which hung there before the Reformation.

And this is how Eyans added a bell new to the ring, and yet a recast of one of the Cathedral's own.

The Chapter went into every clause in detail; a note in the margin records the amount of extra metal allowed for waste in three of Evans' recent jobs, at Roseash, Cruwys-Morchard and 'Chimleigh,' in answer to another note between the lines—'if anything should be allowed for wast; and then how much?' Evans' proposal for an allowance of £5 per gross hundred or less—in other words an extra £5 for any amount over the round hundredweight—is crossed out and above it written '£5 per gross hundred'; the Chapter drove a hard bargain. One suspects that Evans may have tried to persuade the Chapter to supply the site and materials for his 'Foundry' by minimising the cost of doing it this way, saying that it would cost no more than £15 or £20. If so, he was nicely hoist with his own petard, for the Chapter crossed out that section and wrote in that he was to have a flat £25 and erect his own foundry on his own rented site. And he agreed that, if any of his bells should within one year 'be Spoiled or Crack'd in fair Ringing or Chimeing; he recasts and makes it good as at first.'

And so the work went forward, and the bells were cast; but Evans, perhaps through lack of experience with such very big bells, ran into trouble; he ran out of metal when the nine o'clock bell was run. In a letter to the Dean he asked for some help in casting her again—a very nice letter too, for Evans unlike some founders of his time was a literate man with a nice hand. Telling of 'the hard fortune I had in casting your bells, especially 9 O'Clock Bell,' he 'can't say but that you have paid me v. honourable according to my first a/c given in...' but explains that 'I was stunted to an impossibility as to weight, unless I had lessened them, which would have prejudiced them v. much & trusting to your Honours I ventured to keep them strong Bells and notwithstanding I have over-run'd my contract as to the addition of Mettal, yet there is not a pound too much in either of them.' He has left, he says, a note with Mr. Webber of the amount of metal involved (the note is here, next to the letter in the folder), and says that as for the waste he is 'very well satisfied to stand in't, and as for the other if you please to consider me I shall be for ever obliged to you and always remain, Rever'd Sir, your most obliged Serv't to comm'd. Wm Evans' (with a cheerful little squiggle underneath).

Oddly enough, the Nine O'Clock Bell, now called 'Oldham' and the 10th of the twelve, the bell which Evans had to cast again, was the most successful of the four. 'Grandisson' and 'Fox' were the only bells in the tower which were considered below the standard of the others in 1902, and they were recast by Taylor; 'Grandisson,' which weighed 62 cwt. as cast by Evans, had half a ton added to her metal and is by no means too heavy for Purdue's magnificent 11th; probably here too Evans was 'stunted to a (near) impossibility.' And the 'Little Nine O'Clock' was cracked in 1915 and had to be recast, taking the name of the then Dean, 'Farle.' But Evans' 'Oldham,' 33 cwt. without her canons, still holds her head high in her exalted company, and remains a monument to William Evans' happy issue out of all his afflictions.

TWO REDEDICATIONS

CADDINGTON BELLS RING AGAIN

Caddington, Bedfordshire, celebrated an important event in its history on January 17th, when the newly-restored bells of All Saints' Church were rededicated by the Bishop of Bedford, the Rt. Rev. John Trillo.

For 133 years this pleasant-toned ring of six (tenor 9½ cwt.) had been unsafe for ringing, and for the last 25 years even chiming has been impossible.

In 1949 a gift of £100 by the Vicar's warden marked the beginning of a movement for their restoration. The task was a formidable one for, in addition to the recasting of the 3rd and 5th bells and the retuning of the other four, a new metal frame, supported by steel girders, and the necessary fittings were required, not to mention the complete reconstruction of the ringing chamber!

Despite increased costs, the Vicar and parishioners were determined that their bells should be heard again, and success has at last crowned their efforts. Expert ringers praise the excellence of the completed job.

To a 'capacity' congregation the Bishop of Bedford gave a most inspiring address, in which he revealed a considerable knowledge of bells and the art of change ringing. For the actual ceremony of dedication the Bishop, with the Vicar and churchwardens, made the short climb to the belfry, then followed the usual opening rounds but on the word 'Stand' one unfortunate ringer failed to set his bell at the first attempt, which brought from the Bishop the humorous remark, 'He pays!'

After the service, whilst the unfamiliar sound of the bells spread over the village, refreshments were served in the nearby Church Hall, and, for the ringers who took part in the actual dedication, what the Vicar called 'traditional' refreshment! (In Caddington there appears to be a general belief that bellringers require large quantities of beer.)

HISTORY

Caddington bells have a very interesting history. As early as the beginning of the 15th century there appear to have been four bells, and in 1640 a new oak frame, designed for six bells, was installed, but the other two bells were not added until about 1710.

In 1776 the bells were rehung, but only six years later they were taken down and sent to Whitechapel to be recast.

The re-opening was made the occasion of great rejoicing and an item in the churchwardens' accounts reads: 'Widow Pateman's bill for victuals and liquors, £2 6s. 6d.' 'Beer for the ringers' appears as a frequent entry in the accounts for the 18th century. The recast and rehung bells did not remain in a satisfactory condition for very long, and individual bells were recast in 1808 and 1819, also various other repairs were made at this time.

In 1829 William Mellard was appointed Vicar and (I quote): 'He lived like an old-fashioned country squire, drank his bottle of good port every day and left the parish, bells and all, to go to ruin, and the congregation became Non-Conformists.'

To-day Caddington has a very fine ring of bells, which are a joy to handle, and a well-appointed ringing chamber, but there are no local ringers, though there has been a splendid response to the Vicar's appeal for recruits and it is hoped that, with the help of experienced ringers from outside the parish to act as instructors, the deficiency will soon be remedied.

ST. MARY'S, KELVEDON

Over 100 ringers and friends were present at the service of rededication of the bells of St. Mary's, Kelvedon, Essex by the Bishop of Colchester on February 15th. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. C. Elers), who read one of the lessons, and Mr. Alan R. Elliott the other. The Bishop gave an address. Local ringers rang a short touch on the bells immediately after dedication.

The work on the bells was very extensive and was carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. It included rehanging on ball-bearings with all new fittings. Those present included Mr. Pannell, a trustee of the Barron Bell Trust, and his wife, Mr. W. A. Hughes and the Master and secretary of the Northern District of the Essex Association.

Following the service, a buffet tea was served in St. Mary's Hall. The Bishop thanked all concerned for their hospitality and said he always enjoyed coming to Kelvedon. Mr. A. R. Elliott replied, saying how pleased Kelvedon people were to have the Bishop with them. He thanked those present for making the afternoon a success and those who had helped to raise the money for the work. The only disappointment was the absence of the tower captain, Mr. J. Elliott, through ill-health, as he had done much in the past to keep the bells ringable and to have them restored.

Ringers then returned to the church and the bells were kept going until 8.30 p.m. The gathering was very representative, including ringers from Essex, Suffolk, Sussex, Herts and London.

THE WASHINGTON DEDICATION

We hope next week to publish the names of the ringers invited to fly to Washington for the dedication on Ascension Day of the Gloria in Excelsis Tower in the Cathedral.

This epoch making event in ringing is contingent upon a worthy contribution towards the expenses being forthcoming from this side of the Atlantic. At the present moment just over £300 has been assured. Donations should be sent to Mr. Douglas Hughes, c/o Westminster Bank, St. Mary Axe, E.C.3.

RINGING IN DEVON DURING 1963

Devon can safely be regarded as one of the most popular counties for bellringing as well as for spending a well-earned holiday. It has many glorious rings of bells, the main ones being the 12's at Exeter Cathedral and Buckfast Abbey. There are, in addition, two rings of ten, 86 of eight, 246 of six and about 36 of five. Of all the ringers in the county, however, only one-fifth are 'scientific,' the remainder ringing call changes. The former are attached to the Guild of Devonshire Ringers and the latter the Devon Association of Ringers.

The 'Half Pull' fraternity have not been idle during the past year. It has been a successful year for the Guild as far as peal ringing is concerned, the total number being 26. This includes Mr. W. Williams' Tour and a tour organised by the South West Branch, which was 100 per cent. successful, as all the seven attempts arranged were accomplished. In November last the world was shocked by the assassination of President Kennedy: the only peal rung half-muffled for this occasion was one of Grandsire Triples at Buckfast Abbey, but a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters was rung half-muffled at St. Andrew's, Plymouth.

There was a steady influx of visitors for ringing holidays. These included the Shalford (Surrey) Ringers' tour and successful ringing week-ends organised by Messrs. Arthur Pearson (Wombourne) and Alan F. Lee (Bath).

In addition to the annual general meeting at Exeter and various Branch meetings a number of members have organised whole-day and half-day excursions. This is a useful means of helping the less experienced.

The Devon Branch of the Ladies' Guild, which was formed in 1962, must not be overlooked. It held three successful meetings, the autumn meeting at Tiverton being an outstanding success.

INSPIRING RINGING COURSE AT IPSWICH

Fourteen members of the Suffolk Guild and two members of the Essex Association assembled at Belstead House, Ipswich, on Friday, January 31st, for the first course on the art to be held within the county.

After dinner, Mr. L. E. Last, the organiser, separated the ringers from the French Speaking Course and launched into the subject of bells, their uses and origins. The lecture was designed to be given to the general public to encourage any would-be ringers who had no idea of our art. The idea was that the quality of the lecture would be discussed afterwards to improve the overall layout and texture.

The course instructors, Mr. Wilfrid Moreton and Mr. Norman Chaddock, arrived later in the evening, unfortunately a little too late to give their views on Mr. Last's lecture. Mr. Chaddock emphasised that the course would be based on 'Teaching the Beginner' and gave some idea of what he expected of us during the rest of the course.

Mr. Chaddock was the first lecturer on Saturday morning, his theme being, 'How to teach a beginner and to keep his or her interest in ringing for many years to come.' He implored his hearers not to let a beginner sit idle in the ringing chamber at any time. When not ringing, the learner must be given something to work out on paper. Mr. Chaddock explained in great detail the methods he has used to encourage the learner with the use of handbells.

Mr. Moreton interlaced the lectures with Mr. Chaddock's and explained what a competent ringer must know before he should actually instruct a beginner on change ringing. In effect an instructor should be a capable conductor before he attempted to ring and 'put right' at the same time. Mr. Moreton based his lectures on Plain Bob, method construction and coursing orders and their variations due to calls.

Mr. Ranald Clouston explained the pitfalls of insufficient care and maintenance to bell mountings and frames, examples being given from many of the towers in Suffolk known to virtually all the students.

The short service on Sunday morning was preceded by four Suffolk Guild ringers ringing a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells. Mr. Chaddock and Mr. Moreton concluded their lectures during the morning.

Throughout the whole course there was a surprising interest shown by the other course, to such an extent some took part in handbell ringing under the eagle eye of Mr. Last. There was always a request for handbell demonstrations and these requests were fulfilled after meals before the sitting broke up.

To conclude, Mr. Cecil W. Pipe proposed a vote of thanks to the instructors for a most interesting and inspiring week-end. E. H.

ST. CHAD'S, SHREWSBURY, 50th ANNIVERSARY

There is sure to be a big gathering of ringers on Saturday, May 30th, at St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, to mark the 50th anniversary of the rededication of the recast and rehung 12 bells. The ceremony was performed by the Dean of Lichfield (Dr. Savage) on Wednesday, May 20th, 1914, in the presence of a large congregation.

After the dedication the bells were rung to a course of Grandsire Cinques by the local band. Of these, there are two survivors—Mr. G. Scarlett (aged 94) and Mr. W. R. Stockdale (aged 82). Later in the evening the 39 cwt. 2 qr. 7 lb. tenor was turned in by the late C. R. Lilley to Kent Treble Bob Major.

On the 50th anniversary it is hoped that many visitors will attend and a special welcome is extended to all who in the past have been 'locals' at St. Chad's. The tower will be open at 3 p.m., a short service will be held later and local ringers are hosts to tea in the Parish Room. In the evening the tower will be open from 7 to 8.30 p.m.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD Leatherhead District

Because two of the bells at Leatherhead were out of order, the District annual general meeting on February 1st was transferred to Ashstead. About 40 members and friends were present, but only eight of the 15 towers were represented. Apologies for absence were received, however, from 10 of the younger members who were attending the annual reunion of the Society of Roving Ringers. Five new members were elected.

The District Committee's report showed that 41 quarter peals had been rung by Sunday service bands during 1963 at 11 different towers. The sum of £5 5s. had been donated towards the cost of the restoration work at Leatherhead and the Cathedral Bells Fund had risen to £192. It was subsequently reported to the meeting that a further £62 had been collected, mainly as a result of carol singing by the Ashstead band.

The District Master, Mr. A. P. Cannon, was nominated for election to the Central Council following the death of Mr. A. C. Hazelden. C. W. M.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Marlborough Branch

Two towers that have not been visited by the Marlborough Branch for several years—Preshute and St. Peter's, Marlborough—were chosen for the February meeting. Judging by the attendance the choice was attractive and visitors from Bishop's Cannings, Devizes and Swindon were welcomed.

Ringing started on the six at Preshute, with the Rev. Roger Keeley in charge. Despite some complications with two stays, ringing was enjoyed. The Rector (the Rev. R. D. Horton) conducted the service.

At the short business meeting which followed tea at Marlborough, Captain Mansfield-Robinson gave a résumé of arrangements proposed for the Guild Festival to be held in Marlborough in May. Details are to be worked out by the local committee.

Ringing at St. Peter's was under the direction of Mr. Richard Ingles, Master of the Marlborough College Ringing Society, whose members make a valuable contribution to Branch activities. St. Peter's eight bells, considered unringable for many years, have, during the past year or so, been overhauled through the initiative of Captain Mansfield-Robinson, R.N. (Ret.) and are now in regular use. They provide the Branch with two octaves, the other being at Aldbourne. The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. T. A. Palmer (hon. secretary).

March meeting: Pewsey, with Ramsbury as an alternative (both subject to permission). W. A. E.

50 YEARS AGO

'Ringing World,' February 20th, 1914.

For the first time in history the Exercise can boast of having in its ranks a Lord Chief Justice, Lord Justice Cherry having been elevated to the position of Lord Chief Justice of Ireland. He has reached this exalted office after a distinguished career, both in law and politics, and the Exercise will join in congratulating him upon reaching one of the highest offices open to his profession.

The recent performance which we noted at Newcastle Cathedral, where a visitor from Gosforth raised the tenor (37½ cwt.) in 5 min. 35 sec., recalls the occasion when Mr. James H. McCracken raised the tenor single-handed at Edinburgh Cathedral (42 cwt. 2 qr. 21 lb.) in exactly two minutes, timed by Messrs. W. R. Fife, J. R. Robertson and J. Whitson. This was on January 25th, 1911.

TO GO TO BUCKINGHAM PALACE

MR. G. WILTON-JONES.

Congratulations to Graham Wilton-Jones, of Watton, Norfolk, in gaining his gold medal in the Duke of Edinburgh Award Scheme and on becoming a Queen's Scout. He is shortly to visit Buckingham Palace to meet the Duke of Edinburgh.

Taught to handle a bell some years ago by Mr. Charles Banham, of Caston, Graham is now a member of the Watton band, led by Arthur Potter. He is also a chorister and server at this church. Another member of the band is his brother Ian, and his sister Dorothy (now Mrs. Berry) was until her marriage.

Graham is in his final year at Hamond's Grammar School, Swaffham, studying for his 'A' Level certificate. On his 'O' Level certificate he has eight passes.

Four times a year the boys from Hamond's Grammar School file across Swaffham market place to a service in the Parish Church, and Graham is one of the pupils who, on their own initiative, ring for these services.

He leads a full life for his ringing is shared with Scout activities, ornithology, cycling and keeping cacti.

200 PEALS FOR THE TRURO GUILD

By taking part in a peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Dennis on January 25th the Rev. A. S. Roberts has become the first to reach a total of 200 peals for the Truro Diocesan Guild. All but two of the peals have been rung in Cornwall, and these exceptions were at Hatherleigh and Emmanuel, Plymouth. The Cornish towers comprise the two ten-bell towers, which have both been 'circled,' 39 rings of eight, 23 of six and three of five. The methods were as follows:—

Royal.—Pudsey 1, Oxford Treble Bob 1, Plain 2.

Caters.—Grandsire 9.

Major.—Cambridge 5, New Cambridge 1, Double Norwich 2, Kent Treble Bob 8, Canterbury Pleasure 2, Plain Bob 32.

Triples.—Stedman 2, Grandsire 75, Plain Bob 6.

Minor.—Four methods 3, Cambridge 1, Plain 16.

Doubles.—Four methods 4, Grandsire 30. Total.—200.

OBITUARY

MR. ARTHUR DIXON

The tower captain of St. Andrew's, Heckington, Lincs, Mr. Arthur Dixon, died peacefully at his home on February 7th, aged 79.

A keen ringer and church worker, he joined the Heckington band in 1909. His first peal at Heckington was in 1912. Much of his time was spent teaching young ringers; he enjoyed their company and had much patience with them.

Five years ago he was presented with a silver tea set in recognition of his 50 years as a bellringer. Ill health prevented him from ringing for the last 18 months, but his interest in ringing was still keen and he continued to take 'The Ringing World.'

The funeral service took place on February 11th in the presence of a very large congregation. In the evening the bells of St. Andrew's were rung half-muffled as a token of respect by some of his ringing friends from the District.

MR. E. H. FINCH

In our last issue we reported the death of Mr. Edward H. Finch, of Stapleford, Cambs. On February 13th some of his old ringing comrades met at Stapleford and rang the bells half-muffled to his memory. Those taking part were Miss K. Willers, Messrs. J. W. Ward, F. Harper, T. R. Dennis, J. G. Gipson, C. W. Cook and A. E. Austin.

Mr. Austin writes that previous to 1919 Mr. Finch had travelled in America and Canada, working in the building trade. At one time he was living in London, and used to speak of his association with the late T. H. Taffender. He was a good ringer and liked to hear bells well struck. 'I took part in all his 56 peals,' he concluded.

His peals were rung between November, 1920, and December, 1932. They were for the following Associations: Ely Diocesan 47, Hertford County 7, and Essex 2.

Details are:—

Major.—Cambridge Surprise 2, Superlative Surprise 2, Double Norwich 1.

Minor.—Surprise: Seven methods 17, London 9, Cambridge 4, York 2, Wells 2, Durham 2, Surfleet 2, Beverley 2, Annable's, London 1, Immanuel 1, Netherseale 1, Lightfoot 1, Berwick 1, Plain and Treble Bob 6. Total 56.

HORNCASTLE RINGERS' DINNER

The Guild of Ringers at Horncastle Parish Church, which now numbers 15 active and regular members, held its annual dinner on Shrove Tuesday at the Black Swan, Horncastle. The Vicar (the Rev. Arthur C. F. Davies), an honorary life member of the Worcestershire Association and a member of the Universities Association, presided over a good company of relations and friends.

In proposing the health of the local Guild, the Vicar made special reference to Mr. Charles Towell, one of the oldest members, who had recently celebrated his 80th birthday, who had that week-end reached the age of 70. He also referred to the devotion and hard work of the captain, Mr. Horace Bennett, who during the past five years had instructed many young men and women in the art of change ringing. 'In the years ahead there should not be any shortage of ringers in St. Mary's tower. In fact, if things go on as they have done in recent months, the next thing we shall need will be a few more bells!' concluded the Vicar.

A programme of games, which the committee had organised with care and forethought, was enjoyed by all.

A Patent for Casting Bells

Dear Sir,—The word 'Patent' on the bell in the Old Clock Tower at Hackney, described by Mr. Hinkley in the January 17th issue, is no doubt a reference to Letters Patent No. 2319 of 1853 granted to Frederick Warner of the house of John Warner and Sons, of The Crescent, Jewin Street, City of London, and John Shotton, Foreman, for Improvements in the Manufacture of Large Bells.

The specification states: Heretofore in casting large bells it has been usual to build up a core and to coat it with loam, which, when dry, has been covered with hay bands or other material and faced with loam, such covering, when dry, representing the intended bell in thickness and device; and from this as a pattern a loam mould on a suitable frame has been taken, which mould (after being removed from the core and the pattern of the bell taken away) has, when dried, been used together with the core for casting the bell.

Now by your invention, in place of making the outer mould from a pattern bell produced on the core, we employ a vessel (preferably one of cast iron) perforated with numerous holes, and of a size somewhat larger than the intended bell, within which we apply a coating of loam, and by a suitable strike (which is caused to move round as is well understood) we produce the desired form of mould. And we would state that, although an ordinary core may be used, we prefer to have the core made of a hollow iron casting perforated all over with holes and coated with loam. The loam is made by a strike or template made correctly to represent the reverse of the interior of the intended bell. The core and the external mould being thus produced are dried and then placed correctly together, and the bell is to be cast in the ordinary manner.

M. HODGSON.

'Boiled' Tenor Rope-end

Dear Sir,—Visitors to H.M.S. 'Victory' are shown the unravelled rope ends which did duty in Nelson's time as dinner-napkins for the ratings and were reputed to end their service in the stockpot. In case some friends who know of the long-established naval traditions in my husband's family hesitate, after reading Mr. Dunstan's letter, to risk our hospitality, I should like to assure them that the tail-end-tasting ceremonies are not held at meal-times, and that participation in them is quite voluntary ('He can't tell Yorkshire from Bushey!').

I am also asked to explain that the whole rope came home: though only the end attached throughout was boiled. It spent a night drip-drying out of the bathroom window, with the rest of the rope coiled menacingly in a corner (see 'The Speckled Band') and finished up wreathed round the towel rail, in deference to my first memory-laden cry—we have washed sallies before now—'Not in the airing cupboard!'—Yours faithfully,

MARGARET D. WOOLLEY.

Bushey Heath.

The Duke of Edinburgh's Award

Dear Sir,—I am endeavouring to find out how many boys and girls have chosen ringing as their pursuit for the above award, and I should be grateful if those who can provide information on the matter would let me know.—Yours faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT,
Hon. Secretary.

Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.

Mr. Knight's One Mistake

Dear Sir,—As secretary of the Andover District and a member of the Guild Executive, I contacted the secretary of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild to find out his objection to the Wessex Scholars. The only objection was the clashing of meetings. What has never been explained is the reason for the Overton meeting which was arranged by Mr. Knight so that he could explain the objects of his Society to myself and other Guild members of the Andover and Basingstoke District with a view to gaining our support, and at a future nomination meeting enrolling us as members.

Mr. Knight made his mistake in his selection of the date. His original date was the previous Saturday to our meeting date, but on my advice he cancelled his notice already sent to 'The Ringing World' and unknowingly 'jumped out of the frying pan into the fire' by clashing with his own District meeting. As it happened only two Winchester District members were present and none present would have attended the Guild meeting except Mr. Knight and his secretary, Mr. Carter.

I feel Mr. Knight has been forced to dissolve his Society by the pressure of young members of our Guild and Canon Felstead condemning him on one mistake. Mr. Knight had in fact organised, and I emphasise the word organise, because it is organisation that is needed to ring the bells of the silent towers on Sundays and to teach bands from scratch to ring their own bells. There are three towers in this area who have asked for help—Dummer, Monk Sherborne and Thruxton. I cannot undertake this as I am already out five nights and on Sunday ring for three services.

I feel sure that the Rector of Dummer would agree. The Guild had been approached regarding this tower, promises made and nobody put in an appearance because there was nobody to do so. Mr. Knight's Society would have fulfilled this had it been allowed to flourish.—Yours sincerely,

G. K. DODD.

Woolton Hill.

'Hagbourne Chaps'

Dear Sir,—With reference to my friend Bill Hibbert's appreciation of the late Mr. Jim Butler in 'The Ringing World' (page 77), Jim rang his first peal of Stedman Triples at East Hagbourne, Berks, on July 30th, 1919, conducted by Herbert Langdon. It was also the first of Stedman for Jack Dearlove, and my first peal. My father taught all three of us to ring. We were all 'Hagbourne chaps!'

With Jim's death Herbert Langdon and myself are the only survivors of that band. And what a lovely peal that was! It was well struck with not a single mistake and the only words spoken were the calls. Bill's 'dear old dad' rang the sixth and the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn the seventh.

Incidentally, these two stalwarts, who considered my father to be one of the best teachers in the Guild (he had rung many peals with the Rev. F. E. Robinson and J. W. Washbrook) commissioned him to teach the Blewbury band Stedman (12 lessons at 2s. 6d. each). This he did but the 30s. was not forthcoming until Mr. Jenkyn and 'Tom' Hibbert had seen the Blewbury band ring a quarter of Stedman and made sure that he had done the job properly!

Bill's father, by the way, walked from East Ilsley to Hagbourne and back (five miles each way) to get my father through his first '500' of Grandsire. That was back in the 1890's. They were lifelong friends.—Yours faithfully,

T. F. EAST.

Sandown, Isle of Wight.

Times Have Changed

Dear Sir,—For some years, we have had in our ringing room a photograph taken in 1906 of the 'Old East Derbyshire and Sheffield Society of Change Ringers.' Almost a hundred ringers appear on the photo, nearly all mature men. There are no real youngsters and no ladies. It was taken on the occasion of a ringing meeting at Sheffield Cathedral. (I wonder whether there will be 100 ringers at the Sheffield and District Society's annual meeting at Rotherham on March 7th next?)

It has only been possible to identify about half those appearing on the photograph (which is in excellent condition). These include some notable characters such as George Lewis, well known for his musical compositions; Clem Glenn, who trebled the size of the Y.A. real reports in his active peal ringing days; Albert Nash, who, despite terrible burns to his hands in an accident causing loss of some fingers on both hands, was an immaculate ringer of bells up to 35 cwt. and a brilliant conductor; S. F. Palmer (Sid), who rang for 70 years in a life spanning several ringing generations—what a wealth of stories and information he could disclose of ringers of 50 years ago and more, and what a pity it has not all been set down on paper. Then there is John Thorpe, of a family of ringers giving great service to Sheffield Cathedral, the Hattersleys, the Knights, Bob Harrison (father of Collin of Loughborough), Jack Brothwell and John Flint and many other notables.

Only two of those identified are still alive. A. P. Knights and Francis Ward. Perhaps they will join us at Rotherham on March 7th and help us identify the remainder, and so help us preserve links with the past.—Yours sincerely,

NORMAN CHADDOCK.

Rotherham.

New Points on Yorkshire Tail Ends

Dear Sir,—I have read with interest the correspondence on Yorkshire ends but I feel sure they have not made these points:

Plain ends are more adaptable to individual ringers, by taking the end either up or down. With Yorkshire ends one must either use knots or boxes.

Plain ends are affected by the weather much more than the Yorkshire ends.

The Yorkshire ends seem to come down from the back stroke slightly more neat than the plain ends do. They are all right at a tower where each ringer has his own bell and no meetings held there.

The plain ends are cheaper than the Yorkshire ends and they can be sliced when they are showing signs of wear, whereas the Yorkshire ends cannot be sliced.

From these points you will see that both Yorkshire ends and plain ends have their good points and bad points. Perhaps plain ends have a few more good points than Yorkshire ends, but it is utterly ridiculous to say that Yorkshire ends are useless. As the saying goes, one man's meat is another man's poison.—Yours, etc.,

M. BROWN.

Drighlington, near Bradford.

Yorkshire Royal at Winton

Dear Sir,—People are so used to the fact that the 1064 was not the first peal of Yorkshire Royal on the bells. This was rung by a young man touring Somerset, of which I was a member, on September 5th 1034, conducted by William Williams. Incidentally it was the first in the county and for the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association.—Yours, etc.,

F. W. ROGERS.

IN DEFENCE OF A HALLOWED SHRINE

Treasured Possession

Dear Sir, — Never did I think our paper could be used by such remarks (totally uncalled for) as those made by Mr. P. Amos. As regards the Shrine of Our Lady of Walsingham, which is known the world over, we who go there gain great spiritual uplift and happiness from it. I might add that the Shrine authorities had not at the time of the clergyman's remarks in 'The Church Times' made an appeal for the new extensions. The truth of the matter is that if sacrificial giving was practised more (and by a great many so-called loyal Anglicans) there would be adequate funds for all our needs.

As regards contradiction of the Second Commandment, I would tell Mr. Amos that we do not worship images, figures, candles, etc., but express a great love of Our Lord's Holy Mother, the same love and devotion which prompted our forefathers to build and dedicate our lovely old parish churches up and down our land to Our Lady.

Finally, I must remind Mr. Amos that we are still living in a free country, with freedom of religion as one of our treasured possessions; also we are free to spend our money as we think fit. There will be those who will support new bell funds, those who will support the Shrine funds, those like myself who have supported both.

Yes, let us indeed have all the great rings of 12 we can, but please do not begrudge money spent on the work of the Church both in this land and overseas.—Yours faithfully, Farnworth, Lancs. JOSEPH THORNLEY.

A Great Power

Dear Sir,—I was disturbed to read the letter on page 108 from Mr. Percy Amos under the title 'Bells or Candles.'

It seems that Mr. Amos has taken two completely unrelated cases—Bow Bells and the Shrine of Our Lady of Walsingham—in order to launch a private campaign against certain religious practices. 'The Ringing World' is not the place to give vent to unkind feelings towards a particular school of thought within the Church, especially when the case in point is connected in no way with the Exercise.

I do not deny that I am in sympathy with the practices carried on at Walsingham, and therefore deeply resent some of the things Mr. Amos says. However, many of his remarks are untrue or unjust. The money is to be spent to provide extra accommodation to pilgrims to Walsingham and not for any ends that the majority of people would regard as being frivolous. The remark about the Second Commandment displays an attitude which would have been quite justified when directed against medieval superstition. Article xxii rightly condemns the 'worship' of images and the like, but the Church has never advocated 'worship' (latreia) in this context. It is right that we should treat statues and relics of the saints with respect, but certainly not with 'worship,' which is due only to God. I suggest, then, that Mr. Amos should find out what really goes on at Walsingham, and realise that its witness is a great power within the Church.

W. G. WILSON.

A Protest

Dear Sir,—I must protest at the letter of Mr. P. Amos on page 108.

He quotes the opinion of a priest on a housing estate in Warwickshire whose letter appeared in the 'Church Times' of January 31st, that he begrudges money spent on the restoration of Bow Bells.

I have reread the letter and I cannot find a single word which mentions the bell restoration or the money spent on them. What he does do is to comment on the final appeal for £50,000 to complete the restoration, which has already cost £350,000, and these are his words: 'prompts at least one parish priest to speculate for whom the bell tolls.' He is appealing for a similar sum for his church and points out that this is where the similarity ends.

How very true indeed, but 'The Ringing World' is not the place to comment on matters of this nature. If Mr. Amos is a regular reader of the 'Church Times' he would find some very interesting correspondence in following editions which do indeed support the view of this priest, including a letter from the Rector of St. Mary-le-Bow himself.

As a ringer myself I feel moved to agree with the decision of the Vicar Mr. Amos mentions in his letter. Thank God some priests in our Church give thought to their priorities.

In London alone I know of many churches where in years gone by the parish spent great sums on a ring of bells; they are indeed lucky if they get their bells rung once a year now. Is it any surprise then that the clergy are given to priorities as stated in the letter of Mr. Amos?

I find the third part of his letter reeking with religious prejudice and his own theological point of view. This is not the sort of thing we want to find in 'The Ringing World' I am sure!

But I feel bound to comment on his remarks. I think I am right in saying that at the time of the appeal for the 'Shrine of Our Lady of Walsingham' (which is far from being a 'museum of candles,' although it does have a great many things of interest, including the candles, as tens of thousands of faithful people can testify from their own experience of a pilgrimage to it), a positive howl of protest arose, and, one might add, from the Catholics of the Anglican Church who use it.

—Yours faithfully,

MALCOLM FERRIER.

Lewisham, London.

England's National Shrine

Dear Sir,—Mr. Percy Amos has, I suppose, a perfect right to his own opinions, and to express them, as long as he confines his opinions on bells and bellringing to that subject alone in the columns of 'The Ringing World,' but when he goes out of his way to make a most ill-mannered, ignorant and arrogant attack on England's National Shrine of Our Lady of Walsingham, I (who am one who is privileged to be a member of the Society of Our Lady of Walsingham) feel bound to make the strongest protest.

Mr. Amos has, presumably, visited the Shrine (museum of candles, he rudely calls it) at some time or other as a captious critic, and has been too proud to do other than remain so. I will remind him that thousands have made their first visit in a spirit of criticism, and have remained to pray.

I have not the time to go into the history of the Shrine through the ages, save to record the fact that Our Lady, the Mother of God, made her appearances there to the lady Richeldis as far back as 1061. If Mr. Amos has visited the Shrine he could well have parted with a few shillings in payment for a book or two on the history of the Shrine and the pilgrimages.

More and more (thank God!) pilgrims and visitors throng the Shrine each year, to beg the intercession of Blessed Mary, the Mother of God, for the needs of them and their loved ones, and to thank God for favours and blessings received through the intercession. Hence the urgent need for extensions to both Shrine church and the Hospice for the accommodation of pilgrims, who stay there for long or short periods for pilgrimages or for spiritual reasons.

So, when next Mr. Amos and similarly-minded people visit the Shrine, let them do so in a spirit of humility and with a genuine desire to draw closer to God. I will assure Mr. Amos that he, and others, will be prayed for at 6 p.m. At that hour daily, ever since the year 1922, without a break, the Rosary and Intercessions and Thanksgiving are offered, and the first Mystery of the Holy Rosary is always 'for all those who have visited the Shrine today.'

Kettering.

C. J. T. GARDINER.

'Glorification of God'

Dear Sir,—I hesitate to take the trouble to reply to Mr. Amos, for any such undertaking is almost bound to bring upon its author a shower of abuse, either through your columns or the post!

I agree, as no doubt do most of your readers, that anyone who holds the views expressed by the vicars in question needs to do some rethinking. Of course these other causes should have first call on our giving, but in our enthusiasm it is easy to forget that we should also employ a proper proportion of our resources in the glorification of God in our churches at home, in their building, furnishing and ornaments. It must not be a case of 'either—or,' but of both.

The church mentioned by Mr. Amos has spent large sums in recent years on works of restoration in face of strong criticism from some of the energetic and outward-looking members of the congregation, and no doubt the recently-appointed Vicar was merely expressing the feelings of his people. Knowing that parish as I do, I am sure that the majority of the congregation would think the same way about the proposed expenditure at Walsingham, but I am also quite certain that anyone with a purely 'C. of E.' attitude to the Virgin Mary, and who has visited the Shrine Church, could not fail to agree that this wonderful place merits a great deal of support and interest.

But if we want to tread the paths of controversy, surely we can find something a little more closely related to ringing.

Daventry. PATRICK I. CHAPMAN.

Note.—This correspondence is now closed as it is inappropriate that aspersions should be cast on those holding different opinions regarding religious beliefs and practices. It is not for us to dictate how Christians should spend their money. There is a lesson from the box of alabaster ointment.—Ed.

LETTERS—Continued

A Handbell Story

Dear Sir,—This week I received a letter: 'We are going ahead with the order to recondition your 12 handbells on the terms agreed.—Yours faithfully, John Taylor and Co.'

Behind this lies a little story which I offer towards the occasional correspondence about handbell ringing in schools.

At Newport (Essex) Grammar School for Boys we made a tiny start on Bob Minimus, single-handed and for 20 minutes twice a week. This was in the Christmas term, 1962. The handbells were very kindly loaned by St. Mary's, Newport. But they were needed back for Christmas carol ringing. Thaxted had three sets of handbells so I now asked for a loan of their least valuable set. They were willingly lent but out of 12 bells only two were intact, two were cracked and the rest had missing parts.

St. Mary's lent us their bells again in the New Year but we still had our problem for Christmases to follow. So I tried Thaxted again. Would they sell us their unusable set for £5 for a school... with money problems? To our everlasting gratitude they did.

My husband took one look at them and said: 'I hope you are prepared to find £40 to get them put in order! He was right. After trying all kinds of underground methods amongst our friends to get even six usable, we drove, on the foggiest day this year, to Loughborough to see our own (Brent Pelham) new tower bell cast and taking with us the 12 handbells for expert treatment.

The reason all this has been possible is that my headmaster and colleagues on the staff are in support of the particular mental activity required for double-handed method ringing. We hope to have the bells in May and we will raise the money somehow!

This school also contributed to its own Christmas carol service ringing on tower bells. Michael Camp, of Thorley, was the only boy at the time able to ring but we had the support of his father, Mr. Tom Camp, Mr. Heazle (Master of the Essex Association), Mr. H. White, Mr. F. Bird and myself. Now one of the masters, a New Zealander returning home in the autumn or New Year, is learning to ring. He and his wife (Lindsay and Heather Nash) are picking it up quickly and should be the means of bringing more boys into contact with the Exercise.—Yours faithfully,

G. GOODMAN (Mrs.).

Brent Pelham, Herts.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Southern Branch was held at Diss on February 1st and was attended by over 50 members and friends from 26 different parishes in Norfolk, Suffolk and Essex.

The special service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. L. O. Kenyon), who also gave the address.

In the absence of the chairman (Dr. P. Jonason) Mr. Nolan Golden presided over the business meeting at which all the officers were re-elected. Five new members were elected to the Association.

Ringing, which continued till 9 p.m., ranged from rounds for beginners to Superlative Surprise Major for the more expert. C. F. W. P.

The Ever-open Door!

Dear Sir,—May I, for the benefit of any band who might be tempted to leave the belfry door unlocked when starting for a peal, relate the following true story?

Having obtained permission of the Vicar, we arrived at a certain Bedfordshire church possessing an excellent ring of eight bells (which, unfortunately, through the shortage of ringers, are seldom rung) and were admitted by a local ringer.

Before starting for a peal of Yorkshire Major we agreed with the local ringer that the door should be left unlocked so that in the event of illness, or any such urgent cause, we could be contacted and the peal abandoned.

Now the Vicar of this parish is new to the district and was formerly the incumbent of a church with no bells and, quite naturally, understands nothing about peal ringing, though he does understand the duties of a host, and after some half-hour's ringing he entered the belfry, wearing his very broadest smile, and gave us a very hearty welcome!

With a cheery word for everyone he meandered around the belfry for some time (obviously enjoying the novel experience of being in the company of a group of people who didn't talk too much), but eventually the call of parochial duties deprived us of his company. This, of course, was quite understandable, and no one would have dreamed of complaining!

The peal went merrily on for about another two hours, by which time the Vicar, having got through the bulk of his morning's work, began to feel guilty at neglecting us for so long, and conceived that we must be in need of refreshment. Presently, therefore, the door opened again, and the Vicar made his second appearance in our midst, this time carrying two large bottles of orange squash and a cup! This caused something of a stir, and the minds of some ringers tended to wander a little, which caused the conductor to issue several sharp commands, by which means he kept things going on the correct lines. The Vicar, under the impression that this special act was put on for his benefit, was quite obviously delighted!

By various hints and gesticulations we eventually managed to convey to the kindly Vicar that the matter of refreshment could be deferred for the present so, placing his burden in a convenient spot so that we could take a drink if and when disposed, he once more took his departure.

The peal was completed, to the great relief of all, for during the final course or two everyone had felt a certain apprehension, expecting any moment to see the Vicar re-enter (this time, perhaps, bringing eight plates of fish and chips!) in which case, who knows what might have happened?!!

LORD WEYMOUTH SCHOOL GUILD

An ambition for heavy bells was noted on the outing of 12 members of Lord Weymouth School Guild, Warminster, on February 10th.

There was a surprise at the first tower, Stourton, Wilts. Unbeknown to the Guild, the Rev. P. F. Tambling, formerly of Warminster, was being inducted to the living of Zeals and Stourton that afternoon. There was a cordial invitation not only to partake in the ringing for the service with the locals, but also to stay for tea. The latter invitation had to be declined, but the kind thought was much appreciated.

How's yon crowd of lads going to ring the bells up? queried the captain of Queen Camel, as we arrived. This was accomplished in 'drips and drabs.' We then caught hold for Grandire and this turned out to be the best touch of the day. Two courses of Bob Minor followed the Doubles with Mr. Price turning in the tenor.

Tea was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Biggin, of Queen Camel, the dining room table almost snapping under the load of good things. The heavy six at Douling (24 cwt.) followed. Ales, many of the party were exhausted by previous labours, but rounds and Grandire were managed. The day concluded at Quarry Reach. N. R. W.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION*Western Division

Some 60 ringers and friends attended the annual meeting of the Western Division at Chichester on February 8th. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. on the bells of the Cathedral, followed by the business meeting, which was held in the spacious ringing chamber. The Master, Mr. R. V. Johnson, took the chair. Eighteen ringing members and 12 non-resident members were elected.

At the election of officers Mr. R. P. Wood again intimated that he would like someone else to be elected as Ringing Master as it was becoming increasingly difficult for him to put in the time which he felt he ought. The members reluctantly acceded to his request and he was warmly thanked for the many years of hard work as Ringing Master and for the instruction he had given to many of those present. Miss Keys, the retiring secretary, was also sincerely thanked for her work during her six years in office.

The following officers were elected:—Ringing Master, Mr. W. L. Weller; secretary, Mr. R. Wake; auditor, Mr. W. G. Challen; committee members, Mr. R. P. Wood and Mr. P. Stevens.

Mr. B. Mathews reminded the members that the 1965 annual meeting of the Association was due to be held in the Western Division. It would be the 80th anniversary of the founding of the Association and he asked if a dinner was possible. A committee was formed to go into the matter and perhaps put forward a proposal to the annual general meeting of the Association in May.

Members and friends attended Evensong in the Cathedral and this was followed by an excellent tea in the Marsham Restaurant at which the Dean (the Very Rev. Walter Hussey) joined the company.

Ringing continued until 8.30 and ranged from rounds to London Surprise Major. R. W.

BARNSELY DISTRICT SOCIETY

The Society visited Ecclesfield, near Sheffield, on February 8th, when 12 towers were represented. It was agreed to hold a committee meeting at St. Mary's, Barnsley, on March 7th and the next meeting at Eastwood, near Rotherham, on March 14th. The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. G. Pilkington, of Rawmarsh. Mr. L. Smith replied on behalf of the local company.

E. V. RODENHURST'S 700 PEALS

With a peal of Minor at Hinstock, Salop, Mr. E. V. Rodenhurst of Whitchurch, Salop, has in 50 years rung 700 peals. These were in 166 towers, in 21 counties, for 18 Associations. Details are appended:—

Doubles in one to six methods 20 (conducted 11).

Minor in one to 14 methods 115 (4).

Triples 36 ((23).

Major 297 (5), including 11 methods rung for the first time and four long lengths of Treble Bob.

Caters 60 (5).

Royal 42.

Cinques 22.

Maximus 6.

Handbells.—Doubles 1, Triples 1.

Total: 700 (48).

BURSLEM DELIGHT

The sentence at the end of the fourth paragraph (page 126) should read: 'This does in fact conform to the Decision on the Construction of Extensions.' However, I must point out that it does not conform to the Decision on Pivot Bell Sequences of Extensions.

Answer to homework: Above the treble all the methods are the same as Cambridge Surprise, with Cambridge order of lead-ends. Below the treble the Maximus contracts to the Royal, and the Royal to the Major, by the removal of a sub-section which contains no places—cf. Lyme and Whitwick Surprise. But the Major contracts to the Minor by the complete removal of such sub-sections—cf. Yorkshire Major to Cambridge Minor. Therefore the Minor does not extend to the Major, but the Major extends to the Royal and Maximus.

FRANK I. HAIRS,

R. S. ANDERSON,

W. G. WILSON.

EDITOR: T. W. WHITE.

Miss Janet E. Maybin, aged 13, who stood in a peal of Doubles in three methods at Ballylesson, Co. Down, on February 15th, is the youngest to ring a peal in Northern Ireland. There were two other first-pealers participating. Mr. J. T. Dunwoodv, who conducted, makes a weekly journey from Hollywood to teach this band, which has about six or seven young ringers not far off peal standard.

St. Mary's, Horncastle, Lincs, has six members of the Bennett family. Horace is tower captain.

The peal rung at Ruskington, Lincs, to honour Mr. George Scott's 86th birthday was also 'a get-well-quick' peal. George, at the time, was in hospital and the best wishes of many friends are extended to him.

Overheard from a 'car-less' ringer in a mid-Lincolnshire belfry: 'You know you would soon learn to hunt the treble if you took me to a few meetings on Saturdays.' There are no prizes for guessing the identity of this itinerant ringer.

Owing to health reasons Mr. Frederick E. Wilshaw, of Hartshill, Stoke-on-Trent, is retiring from ringing. For 20 years he has attended twice on Sundays (holidays and illnesses excepted), but latterly there has been no ringing through too many absentees. He retains many happy memories of ringing, meeting most entertaining and pleasurable company and visiting many places.

Congratulations to Mr. Herbert Rooke, the well-known Midlands tower captain, who recently got off course and neatly back again without any serious trouble. Driving his van along an 'A' trunk route recently he came across an island he hadn't seen before, and having missed the 'treble' or something, continued on. A lorry driver coming towards him shook his fist at him which suddenly made him realise he was on the wrong course; then a police inspector stopped him, put him right, then inquired about his eyesight! Luckily for him the inspector was not on duty. Herbert tells this story against himself.

BELFRY GOSSIP

In the peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus on February 8th, rung by the Cambridge University Guild, only one non-resident member, Mr. M. L. J. Jordan, took part. Six members of the band, the ringers of 3, 4, 6, 7 and 8, have now completed Cambridge from Minor to Maximus.

Men beware! The Ladies' Guild have a meeting at Goldington, Beds, on February 29th.

Correction.—The peal at Frome on February 1st was Stedman Triples as indicated in the footnote, and not Grandsire. (See page 130.)

It is hoped soon to form a Ringers' Guild at the University of Sussex. Catherine Powell, Mike Bew, Peter Corrigan and Peter Came are teaching learners with the kind help of the St. Peter's, Brighton, band.

The February issue of 'Belfry News' contains the second of three articles on 'Cracking Towers.' With diagrams, Mr. Gordon Halls deals with the problem of cracking towers in an understandable manner. It should be a circulation raiser.

The Witney-Woodstock Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild held their first dinner on February 7th at the Masonic Hall, Witney. Approximately 70 people attended. Handbells were rung by Susan and Alan Cartwell and David Floyd. Dancing and games were enjoyed by all. The Rev. P. Wilkins was in the chair.

Julie Clench and Carol York are the first lady members of Usk tower to ring a peal 'inside.' They accomplished this at the first attempt on February 8th, and had the additional distinction of ringing Holt's Original for their first peal. They are to be congratulated on the manner in which they rang throughout the peal.

Among the contributors to Mr. Douglas Hughes' fund to send a team of ten English ringers to the dedication of the tower of Washington Cathedral are the girls of Benenden School, Kent. There is a keen ringing society at this school; handbells are rung for services in the chapel and the girls also ring at the Parish Church.

BELLS AND CHURCHES IN AMERICA

As Washington Cathedral and American bell ringing are in the news, the Rev. Malcolm Melville sends us the following extracts from 'The Small Church,' by F. R. Webber, published in 1939. He found the book in a library at Washington, and was so impressed that he copied these extracts.

In America, for some mysterious reason, the churches are ominously silent. Just why Americans have neglected this highest and most effective form of dignified publicity is a problem that none can solve. American churches try frantically, by means of electric signs, illuminated crosses, outdoor bulletin boards and printed advertisements, to keep the Church before the people. But one set of tuneful bells, or one tower clock with its quarter chimes and resonant hour bell, is finer and more insistent publicity than all these other methods combined. It would be highly desirable were there a nationwide return to church bells, peal ringing and the use of tower clocks. Such things remind the populace throughout the day and night that a place of worship is nearby. Too often it is the town hall that sends its melodious message—of what—throughout the quiet evening air.

A Sunday morning in London is a thing never to be forgotten. Bells are ringing everywhere—not single bells, but fine rings of eight, ten and 12 bells. The band of peal ringers at the Abbey are sending forth bursts of melody, and in St. Margaret's close by the church tower is eloquent with the same music. Not far away we hear St. Mary's, Soho, and St. Martin-in-the-Fields, as we walk up Whitehall towards Trafalgar Square. Then come the rings of bells at St. Mary-le-Strand, St. Clement Danes and St. Bride's, Fleet Street. When we reach the foot of Fleet Street we hear the famous bells of Bow Church—to be born within the sound of which makes one a Cockney. The fine ring at St. Paul's is blending its voice with St. Dunstan's; St. Michael's, Cornhill; St. Helen's, Bishopsgate; St. James', Clerkenwell, and a score of others. . . . On Sundays and holy days, at marriages, at funerals, on at least one practice night in the week, and on numerous other occasions, one hears the music of the peal ringers. They put their bells through 'rounds,' playing a diatonic scale downward, over and over. Then, at the command of their leader, they break into most melodious 'changes,' weaving an intricate melody, perhaps the simple, unscientific 'Churchyard Bob' and the call-changes of the provincial village, perhaps a more difficult Stedman's or other complicated method.

Change-ringing is almost unknown in America, except at a few places such as Kent and Groton Schools, where the fine old tradition of our forefathers has been revived. Now and then we find a place, such as St. Trinity in Detroit, or two or three churches in Baltimore, where some persistent man has taught himself to play laboriously a few 'rows' by means of a hand clavier or an Ellacombe wall-chiming device. Such things, while better than no ringing at all, are but makeshifts. The day is coming, however, when our belfries will be vocal once more, and when our parishes will demand proper 'rings' of eight, ten or 12 properly tuned and correctly hung bells. These will be hung so that they may be rung up in peal, so that peal ringing can be practised on them, and so that one may have the thrill of hearing the bells lowered in peal, one by one, with the tenor or largest bell chiming, after all the others are silent, its call to worship.

* * * *

To play eight or ten bells from a hand clavier may be well enough as an emergency measure, but it is better to hang them in frames for correct ringing. Then organise a band of men and boys and teach them scientific ringing! There are old ringers from England living in America and pining for the chance to climb the belfry stairs and 'have a bit of a pull.' Such men will be only too eager to initiate any group of men and youths into all the mysteries of bobs, dodges, working up to first place and down to eighth's, getting into the hunt, and all the other things that the ringers must know. It's more manly sport than some of the things we do in our recreational rooms.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The bells of St. Andrew's, Enfield, rang out merrily over the market place as a party of 60 assembled for the annual meeting of the N. and E. District on February 8th.

Following a service conducted by the Rev. Graham Buston, Vicar and Rural Dean, himself a ringer who is found in the ringing room on Sundays whenever circumstances permit, justice was done to a splendid tea in the adjacent Church Hall.

The Vicar was in the chair at the commencement of the business meeting but was unable to remain throughout the whole of the proceedings, when his place was taken by the District chairman, Mr. H. G. Hart.

In presenting his report the secretary stated seven District meetings had been held during the past year with an average attendance of 38, whilst joint meetings had been held with the London County Association, the S.W. District of the Essex Association and the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. Thirty new ringing members had been elected and 25 non-resident life members. Special mention was made of the Spliced Surprise Major on handbells in four, five, six, eight and nine methods, conducted by J. R. Mayne.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Master, Mr. A. Cutler; Deputy Master, Mrs. H. G. Hart; chairman, Mr. H. G. Hart; secretary, Mr. E. H. Kilby; assistant secretary, Mr. D. T. C. Smith; auditor, Mr. J. R. Mayne. Messrs. D. E. R. Knights, C. F. Neal and S. G. Peck were re-elected to the committee.

Messrs. C. R. Bird (Willesden), P. Dias and A. Jones (Hackney), Miss Anne Luxon and Mr. M. Gilbey (Enfield), together with the Misses Jacqueline Hedges, Gloria Simpson, Carol Francis and Pamela Mills (Edmonton) were elected as ringing members, whilst Mr. Richard Ouston (late of Edgware), Mr. H. D. Butler (a staunch member of the Harrow Weald band for many years, who was leaving the district to reside in Sussex) and Miss Susan Smith (Fareham) were elected as non-resident life members.

A suggestion from the South and West District that a joint list of the meetings of each District be circularised to all towers in the Association was readily approved as being a helpful measure to all members and ringing friends.

Before a return to the belfry Mr. H. G. Hart thanked the Vicar, Mr. Eric Pask (organist), Miss Lesley Fletcher and members of the Edmonton County School Guild of Change Ringers for providing tea, and Mr. J. R. Dugan for local arrangements. E. H. K.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD Bingham District

To a meeting at Willoughby-in-the-Wolds, a five-bell tower, on February 8th, came representatives of ten towers in the Bingham District, but by evening there were present visitors from South London, Leeds, Derby, Sheffield, Melton Mowbray and Helsinki, Finland. Such is the magnetic attraction of ringing that over 50 people come to a five-bell tower!

Proceedings took the same line as at countless ringing meetings. A welcome came from the Vicar (the Rev. A. L. Hayward), who later conducted the service with his son John playing the organ. Then came a tea at Wysall Rectory, prepared by Mrs. Exton and helpers. At the business meeting Mrs. Harrison (Whetton) and Miss Palmer (Radcliffe) were elected members and the vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. Hanson.

The next meeting (March 14th) is a joint one with the Newark District: April meeting at Colson Bassett, with Little Bob Major and Oxford Bob Triples as special methods. R. B.

UP AND COMING YOUNGSTERS—No. 14

MICHAEL W. COLEMAN

The Oxford Diocesan Guild

The Oxford Diocesan Guild has for many years held a high place in the Exercise, always giving help and encouragement to its young members. It is not surprising, therefore, to find such keen and enthusiastic youngsters as Michael W. Coleman among them.

Michael was born at Adderbury West, near Banbury, on June 21st, 1944. He started school at the age of five at Adderbury C. of E. Primary School. It was there that he passed his 11-plus examination which took him to Banbury Grammar School. In 1960 he obtained his G.C.E. 'O' Level in seven subjects. A further two years' studying at the same school gained for him three 'A' Level G.C.E. passes in physics, maths and chemistry. At the present time Michael is at Birkbeck College, University of London, where he is reading for a degree in chemistry. He is also employed part-time at Thorn Electrical Industries at Enfield.

Michael started ringing in November, 1956, at the Parish Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Adderbury, under the watchful eye of Mr. H. L. Roper. In a very short time he became a member of the regular Sunday service band which at that time only rang call changes. The perseverance and patience of his tutor, who saw to it that he attended other towers where method ringing was practised, soon paid off dividends, for in October, 1957, he took part in his first quarter peal, ringing the second at Adderbury to Grandsire Triples.

Michael's first peal took place 18 months later, when he rang the treble to Plain Bob Major on April 27th, 1959, at the same tower. The peal was conducted by Mr. George W. Holland, of Mauds Moreton, Bucks. His interest in ringing grew and soon carried him into the field of conducting, and on November 18th, 1961, at Cropredy, Oxon, he rang his first as conductor, ringing the tenor to Plain Bob Minor. Michael now has a total of 54 peals to his credit of which he has conducted 13.

His ringing has not been without amusing incidents, one of which took place at a tower in North Wales on a Sunday afternoon. The Roving Ringers, who were touring the district at the time, had obtained permission to ring at this particular tower prior to a christening. On hearing the bells Michael dashed into the church hoping to get a ring, only to be confronted by the Vicar, who promptly asked in an ominous voice, 'Where is the baby?' He was informed later that he had been mistaken for the proud father!

The ambitions of this brilliant youngster are to become a really good conductor, to call Holt's Original and to ring a peal in over 100 doubles methods/variations.

A member of the Ancient Order of College Youths, and recently elected Ringing Master of the Society of Roving Ringers, Michael attributes his success as a ringer to the help and encouragement he has received from Mr. H. L. Roper, and more recently to the opportunities afforded to him by the Roving Ringers. Hence the fact that he has now rung in 542 different towers. A very noteworthy record. Congratulations and good luck, Michael. NORVING.

THE NORWICH ASSOCIATION

All officials were re-elected at the Eastern Branch annual meeting held at Great Yarmouth on February 8th. They are: Chairman, Miss D. E. Liddbetter; secretary, Mr. N. P. J. Cossey; Ringing Master, Mr. G. G. Walpole; Standing Committee, Mr. A. E. Crowe and Mr. M. Parker; Branch Committee, Messrs. A. W. Bird, C. Bailey, J. Forster, J. B. Gorrod and T. Brock.

The service was conducted by Canon Gilbert Thurlow, during which he dedicated a peal board. Mr. Angwin was the organist.

Fifty members and friends sat down to an excellent tea prepared by the local company. Mr. D. Long was re-elected a member of the Association and Mr. A. Cook promoted from probationer to ringing member.

Votes of thanks were accorded to Canon Thurlow, Mr. Angwin and the local company. Next meeting: Happisburgh, June 6th.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The February meeting of the St. Albans District was held at Sandridge, where ringing on the light six included Carter's Principle, the special method. It was found, rather to our cost, that the Central Council version in 'Doubles Methods' is the reverse of Snowdon's version in 'Standard Methods'.

The Rev. P. Handford conducted Evensong, and Mr. A. T. Hawkins, the tower captain, played the organ. Mr. Hawkins also served tea in the Village Hall, helped by local ladies. Miss Amy Coburn, our secretary, was in bed with appendicitis, and Mr. Cull, chairman at the business meeting, sent our best wishes for a speedy recovery via her husband, who had come to act for her.

Before the evening ringing, Geoff Dodds gave the first of what may be, if popular, a series of ten-minute talks on conducting. J. D. C.

THE WASHINGTON DEDICATION

As final approval has not yet been received from Washington, the names of the band selected to ring at the dedication of the Gloria in Excelsis Tower at the Cathedral on Ascension Day are being withheld from publication.

Towards the original appeal of £1,000, Mr. Douglas Hughes has received a little over £300. Donations should be sent to Mr. Douglas Hughes, c/o Westminster Bank, St. Mary Axe, E.C.3.

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION

Presentation to Retiring Secretary

Mr. J. G. Burton, the retiring secretary of the North Staffordshire Association, was presented with a transistor radio, subscribed to by members of the Association, at a meeting at Bucknall on February 1st. Some 40 members were present for ringing, service and an excellent tea provided by Bucknall ringers. From the Rector (the Rev. E. K. V. Pearce) there was a warm welcome.

Mr. C. W. Biddulph, chairman of the Association, paid a tribute to the work of Mr. Burton during his six years in office as secretary. 'He has made a first-class job of everything he has done,' was his appreciation. He asked the Rector to make the presentation.

Mr. Burton, accepting the radio, gave a short, witty speech, and then seriously thanked the assembly, and especially the committee, for the help and support they had given him. Ringing then recommenced and varied from rounds to Surprise until 8 p.m. G. C. B.

Some Memories of Record Peals of Double Norwich

BY EDWIN BARNETT

I read with great interest Mr. E. C. Shepherd's article on December 27th, in which he records record peals of Double Norwich of long ago, particularly the 13,440 at Romford in 1894, and the 15,072 at Erith in 1899.

It was my intention on the 70th anniversary of the 13,440 at Romford (April 18th) to record my memories of the peal, and the circumstances which caused it to be rung so quickly after the tragic failure at Brentwood (as told to me many times by my father, who was one of the band), but I have brought this forward, while Mr. Shepherd's article is fresh in readers' minds.

I was nine years old at the time, and well remember the disappointment of my father and Charles Wilkins (who was then living with us) on their return from Brentwood, and their surprise when, on a Saturday morning a fortnight later, a telegram arrived telling them to go to Romford the following Wednesday for the peal.

Benjamin Keeble, who used to write a weekly column in the 'Bell News' under the nom-de-plume of 'Plain Speaker,' and do odd reporting jobs for the paper, got to know that a band in the Midlands intended to go for the same peal on the following Saturday week. This information he passed on to Acland Perkins at Romford the same day (a Friday). Perkins, a great friend of George Newson, went that evening to the Cumberlands' practice at St. Martin's, to inform Newson of what Keeble had told him, together with the offer of Romford tower on the following Tuesday, if the band could be got together in time. Six of them were there and the offer of the tower was gratefully accepted. All that remained was to contact the other two and they met and rang the peal in (I think) 8 hours, 16 minutes.

The Cumberlands were, naturally, very proud of their achievement and had an elaborate peal card printed, which gave not only the usual particulars of the peal but the composition and some eight or ten verses by the late Samuel Slater, of Glemsford. I am unable to remember them all, but they began as follows:—

'April the eighteenth, eighteen hundred and ninety-four

Will be remembered by us all, now and for evermore,

For on that day as now we understand
Was rung a mighty peal by the Youths of Cumberland.'

Recalling the failure at Brentwood he says later on—

'Twas rung before, within a little span,

'Tis now the longest in the method ever rung by any man.'

Later still he works in the names of the band. I can only remember what he says of the first three:—

'Benjamin Foksett rang the treble so started this great peal,

And now he has rung it great pleasure he will feel:

Edwin Barnett rang the second, and did his equal part,

For Double Norwich Court is rooted in his heart.

The next upon this list has taken many pains

In ringing and composing, his name is Henry Dains.'

George Newson, the conductor, died almost exactly a year later from what we now know as appendicitis but for which at that time there was no known cure. Albert Pittam, who rang the sixth, died in Berkshire between the wars. Charles Wilkins, who rang the fifth, was the youngest member of the band and was to take part in the 15,072 at Erith in 1899. He died at Shrewsbury in 1944.

I was, in a small way, associated with this peal. Erith, as many people know, has a ground-floor belfry and in common with other such belfries peals have been lost there through people banging on the door.

I went over during the morning with my father and we stayed until the end. On our arrival we found the then steeplekeeper, John Garard, doing 'sentry go' outside to prevent anything like this happening to them. About lunchtime, father and he went off to get something to eat (or, perhaps, drink) and left me on duty until they returned. This was about an hour and a half, and I was very hungry by the time they got back. And, at the age of 14, I would probably not have been of much use on my own if an irate inhabitant had come along!

I have often wondered how bands were ever able to ring long peals at Erith, especially in those days, as there are no windows in the tower for ventilation, it has a very low ceiling and the only illumination then was two flat flame gas burners.

This was the first occasion that I met the brothers Pye, and thus began an association with them which lasted all their lives, and provided me with the happiest of memories.

In 1959 the present steeplekeeper at Erith, Mr. F. J. Cullum, arranged another peal of Double Norwich on the 60th anniversary of the original peal, in which I was pleased to take part, one of his band, Mr. George Butcher, kindly standing down to enable me to do so.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

A very successful meeting of the S.W. District, on February 22nd, with 21 towers represented, started the Bures week-end. The Ringing Master (Mr. L. D. Mills) had the easy task of being able to put on any method asked for from the 50 ringers in attendance: their ability ranged from call changes to London.

Worship in church was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Ian Dunlop), assisted by Dr. John Young, and commenced with Grandsire on handbells. The youngest ringer in attendance, 11-year-old Jeremy Dingwall, sang the solo. In his address the Vicar fully explained how all church work was worship.

At the business meeting, under the chairmanship of 'Our Sam' (Mr. S. J. Twitchett) the possibility of arranging a special type of service to be held throughout the District to help attract outsiders into the church was discussed. Members were asked to give this very careful thought and to discuss it more fully at the May meeting to be held at Clare. Miss Greta Spurgin, of Bures, was elected a member. Tea was provided by the lady members and parishioners.

One of the features was the first reunion of some of the old Bures band, who had their first ring together after nearly five years. A tape recording of the Yorkshire ringers is to be kept among the records of Bures tower. Considering the fact that some of the band had not rung any Surprise methods since they left, the recording is quite good.

For Matins on Sunday a good quarter peal of Yorkshire was rung with George and Diana Pipe in the band. It was conducted by Donald L. Mills as a birthday compliment to his mother. Ringing for Evensong by those able to stay brought to a close a very happy and memorable week-end, and as farewells were exchanged it was on everybody's mind 'When can we get together again?'

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

THE Bishop of Hull made the first presentation of the Albert Sellers Memorial Cup at the Society's annual meeting, held at Beverley on February 8th. This cup was obtained during last year to the memory of the Society's late president for annual presentation to the tower in the District judged to have mostly carried out the Society's object in the advancement of, and instruction in, the art of change ringing, both in its scientific aspect and as a branch of church work.

The first winners of the cup were the Walkington ringers and their captain, Miss Joan Gray, received the trophy on their behalf. In making the presentation the Bishop remarked on the youthfulness of the Walkington team and pointed out that they were young enough to repeat their success, particularly so when it was remembered that the cup was in memory of a ringer who was active when turned 80.

In announcing the winning tower, the Ringing Master (Mr. D. Johnson) mentioned the difficulty he had had in making a decision, as one of the two towers in the final reckoning was Kirk Ella—his own tower! As a member of the Kirk Ella team, the writer expresses sincere congratulations to the Walkington ringers and agrees wholeheartedly with the decision—on this occasion.

It was very fitting that the first holders of the cup should be a team with such a high proportion of young ringers, as no one was more delighted than Albert Sellers to see the growing influx of youngsters into the Society in recent years. He could usually be found amongst the younger members at meetings, encouraging them and making them feel at home.

The Bishop also gave the address at the service in St. Mary's Church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. S. Walker). He told the members that their bellringing was a part of the whole system of worship and evangelism in our Church, and referred to the days when churchgoing was the order of the day and father attended the service instead of going to the golf course. This was not so true today and there was more need than ever for the silver trumpets of Israel to sound to call people to worship.

The annual report appeared for the first time in booklet form, with notes from the towers in the area, and received a most favourable reception. Mr. Norman Castle and Miss Joan Gray were warmly congratulated on their idea for this enlarged form of report, and thanked for their hard work in putting it into execution, as the booklet is printed by them and their assistants of the Walkington Vestry (Newsletter) Press.

Fifty-three ringers attended the meeting, from 16 different towers as far apart as Scarborough and Scalby to the north, York and Huntington to the west and Ulceby (Lines) to the south. Afternoon ringing was at the ten bells at the Minster, and the town's second ring of ten at St. Mary's was rung in the evening. Seven new members were elected from Bridlington (three), Beverley Minster, Scalby, Selby and Walkington.

Mr. C. Hobson (Kirk Ella) and Mr. G. Pybus (Cottingham) were not available for re-election to the positions of Assistant Ringing Master and assistant secretary respectively, and Mr. H. Gibson (Sutton) and Miss J. Gray (Walkington) were elected to the respective vacancies. Mr. I. Booth (Cottingham) was appointed to fill a vacancy on the committee. Other officers and committee were re-elected.

Letters to the Editor

Mr. Knight now a Guild Officer

Dear Sir.—When Mr. Knight generously wrote his letter saying that the Wessex Scholars were 'disbanded' in the interests of greater unity with the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, I would have liked to have written to you publicly to thank him. However, I respected your footnote to his letter that you were closing the correspondence on the matter. Consequently, I am very surprised to read Mr. Dodd's letter last week which brings it up again and regret that it was published, for it gives a wrong impression of what is happening now. I hope you will, therefore, kindly allow me, as Master of the Guild, to write a few more words to conclude the whole issue.

When Mr. Knight kindly ended the Wessex Scholars in the interests of the existing Guild, we took immediate steps to see that his genius for organisation was not allowed to go to waste and at the annual meeting of the Winchester District a month ago I had the pleasure of proposing him as Deputy Ringing Master of the District, the Ringing Master (Mr. Tubbs) and the secretary (Mr. Brown) wholeheartedly welcoming him to this new office. Already they are making a survey of the area and have intimated that they are ready to help struggling towers on practice night, etc. Already, Mr. Knight has taken some of his ringers to help at a special occasion in one parish. I feel sure that something might be done at Dummer if requested.

I am confident the results will be even better than they would have been by the efforts of the Wessex Scholars alone, for now Mr. Knight has the backing of the Diocesan Guild and I feel sure that all our members will do all they can to help him after his generous gesture.—Yours sincerely,

K. W. H. FELSTEAD,
Master,

Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

Boiling Rope-ends not New

Dear Sir.—The recent boiling of a rope-end is not the 'precedent in the art of campanology' that K. R. Dunstan seems to think. I boiled a tail-end on more than one occasion years ago, not so much to soften it as to get rid of the sticky glycerine which a ringer of those days used to put on it to get a grip. Fortunately no one in our band uses any aid of this kind to-day. Moreover, this idea of boiling a rope-end is not original with me, either, for I got the idea from a still older ringer.—Yours faithfully,

P. LAFLIN.

Stockport.

Name Changed

Dear Sir.—Would the Records Committee please note that a peal rung at Ashton-under-Lyne on May 1st, 1963, conducted by the late Derek Ogden and published in 'The Ringing World' of May 24th, 1963, as a peal of Ashton Surprise Major, has been recorded by the Lancashire Association as a peal of Clerkenwell Surprise Major.—Yours faithfully,

J. P. PARTINGTON.

Ringling Secretary, Lancashire Association.

The Lightest Ring

Sir.—Mr. F. D. Mack's little ring of bells may be nearer 200 than 100 years old as, according to 'Church Bells of Warwickshire,' Tilley and Walter, 1st edition, 1910, page 77, Robert Wells worked the Aldbourne Foundry from 1764 to 1794, being joined by his son James in 1781, who carried on the business until 1825, when it was acquired by Mears of Whitechapel.—Yours sincerely, Harborne.

W. E. BOX.

Leading Peal Ringers' List

Dear Sir.—I should be extremely grateful if you would allow me to make the following points in your columns regarding the list of leading peal ringers:—

(i) Many people do not send their names for inclusion in the list of leading peal ringers because they wrongly feel it to be a form of exhibitionism.

(ii) The list at present is, therefore, incomplete and valueless.

(iii) Either a complete list should be published or none at all. Many people keep surprisingly full records of peals which have been rung. Is it not possible to ask for a volunteer to compile a full list?

Much the same remarks could be made about the list of tower-grabbers. However, it is an open question whether this list has any use whatsoever. While the ringing of 25 peals in a year gives some indication of keenness and ability, the fact that someone has rung in 100 new towers in the same period implies, to me at least, no more than a high degree of mobility.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN CAMP.

Jesus College, Oxford.

Burslem Delight

Dear Sir.—Your inability to find space for my article on Burslem Delight places me at a great disadvantage. F. Blagrove's reply gives a very poor account of my arguments. (Those interested in this matter are requested to turn to the Miscellaneous Publications advertisement I have inserted.)

His main criticism seems to be the non-existence of the 14-14 sub-section in the Minor method. My article justifies this at some length.

I expected him to attack the sequence of pivot-bells. I wonder why there is no mention of this.

Burslem Royal has indeed the misfortune to be a three-lead course method. This does not, however, make it any less a member of the same family.

Burslem Maximus is the strict extension of the Major. If F. T. B. reads his letter again he will find that he says it is not.*

London Royal III is a red herring. Nowhere in my article did I attempt to justify the disappearance of 14.58.14 sub-section.

The crux of the matter is my contention that extension and contraction are self-conjugate. F. T. B. speaks personally in his denial of this; there is no mention of this matter in the Report.

There are many more 12-bell methods than six-bell methods, so it is likely that several 12-bell methods may be found which contract to the same six-bell method.

If, as I maintain, extension and contraction are the reverse of each other, one might therefore expect to find Minor methods which extend in more than one way.

There are such methods. I have yet to hear of any explanation of this other than the one above. For instance, here is a form of Kent Treble Bob:—

16.34—34.16—12—16—12—16
18.34—34.18.56.12.56.18—12—18—12—18
10.34—34.10.56.12.56.10.78.12.78.10—12—10
—12—10

'Burslem Delight No. 2 Version' would seem to be a suitable name for the Major and higher stages of F. T. B.'s homework.—Yours faithfully,

H. POYNER.

* This was a typographical error which was subsequently corrected.—Ed.

An American View

Dear Sir.—Quite recently an American professor, a Nobel prizewinner, came to England to spend a year as a Fellow of an Oxford college. His wife, who has a discerning eye for the contrasts between the American and British ways of life, both within University circles and at large, and possesses also the ability to write about her impressions entertainingly, has written an account of their sojourn, and this was published in this country last year by Robert Hale, Ltd., who have kindly allowed me to quote the following extract, which will be of particular interest to readers of this journal:—

'Change ringing is a uniquely English art. It combines four or more bells of different pitch—Magdalen has ten—each of which is rung in a different pattern. The rhythms overlap, blending into a rolling, tumbling melody of sound that makes the heart lift and the spirit tingle any time you hear it. But on that particular Christmas Day in the morning, as we left the college, the clangour of bells overwhelmed us and enveloped us. They beat us to earth. They tossed us heavenward. Even the cold stars seemed to shimmer in the midnight sky, and the rapture was almost impossible to bear.'

The book, 'These Ruins Are Inhabited,' by Muriel Beadle, is of quite general interest, but will be especially appreciated by members of our University Guilds.—Yours sincerely,

A. R. PARGETER.

Tiverton, Devon.

The Lady had no Difficulty

Dear Sir.—I am willing to concede that Mr. Norman Chaddock's ringing experience has taught him that rope-ends are more suitable for heavier rings of bells but, as a native of the Barnsley area, I strongly resent his statement in his letter that 'one can get by satisfactorily in closed-lead ringing with Yorkshire tail-ends.'

Every effort is made to raise the standard of ringing to as high a level as possible and there is never any question of getting by with second best.

Furthermore, I learned to ring on Yorkshire ends and, although I have small hands, I have never encountered any difficulty in holding the billy and the sally in one hand.

I suggest it is a question of mind over matter rather than physical proportions of the hand and anyone who is capable of handling a bell correctly should be able to ring comfortably on Yorkshire ends if they approach the matter with an unprejudiced attitude.—Yours sincerely,

C. M. SAVILLE (Miss).

Neville's Cross College, Durham.

Tenor Ringer of 40 Years' Preference

Dear Sir.—I do hope that Mr. N. Chaddock is only speaking for himself when he states that a heavy bell cannot be rung properly with a rope with a Yorkshire tail-end.

I have been a tenor ringer for 40 years and to me the Yorkshire tail-end is far in advance of the plain. If, as stated by Mr. Chaddock, he has to take up rope at backstroke when the bell's swing has to be severely cut down, then in my opinion the bells are being rung much too fast. I have had the great pleasure of ringing with Professor Dodger many times, and to watch him handle a bell is to see perfection. I hope that Mr. N. Chaddock will read the letter on page 124. 'Boiled' Tenor Rope-End, and there is his answer.—Yours sincerely,

HARRY MANN.

LETTERS—Continued

Surprise Method Collection

Dear Sir,—I feel that the front-page article on page 89, on the 'Complete Collection of Right-Place Surprise Major Methods' cannot pass unchallenged.

The restriction of not more than one double change per half-lead is imposed to keep the collection down to a reasonable size. If this is not done 30,000 notations becomes acceptable, giving almost twice this number of methods. It would be virtually impossible to make a work of this size available from an economic point of view. Certainly about a dozen such methods have been rung but these will become available when and if the promised collection of all rung Surprise Major methods appears. An implication that the collection as it stands may not be complete can have no justification.

The article also criticises the order of arrangement of the methods. One finds it hard to imagine that a ringer capable of using this collection should find this a stumbling block. Surely too, such a ringer can be trusted to ensure that the methods of more dubious quality will not be rung. We live in a more enlightened age than one in which a complete work of this type should be suppressed for fear less standards be lowered. A work of Corrigan's type is certainly worthwhile as far as it goes, but after all, the first step in producing such a collection involves knowing what possibilities are available. I would add that at the moment I have a programme in the Manchester University Atlas Computer, to determine all possibilities, right- and wrong-place, though almost certainly it will never be published because of the vastness of the work (there are approximately seven million million notations to test).

So far as technical accuracy is concerned the chances of a mistake being made by the computer as to the production of plain bob lead-ends are minimal. If such a fault were likely to occur then it would be accompanied by some more obvious one such as the complete cessation of production of the methods or completely ridiculous notations.

With regard to the inaccuracies in the naming of methods, it is almost inevitable that a volume of this size will contain a few mistakes. If the corrections are prominently published in 'The Ringing World,' no lasting harm has been done. More confusion arises from mistakes within the pages of 'The Ringing World,' e.g., Moira and Oh are mentioned on page 20; attention was drawn on page 692 (1963) to the fact that these methods have previously been rung as Purbeck and Oxney. Again, it should be pointed out that the method given as Llanfihangelrhvdeithon (page 48) has previously been rung as Guernsey (page 51—1963).

Derek Sibson must be taken to task for perpetuating the ambiguous use of the term 'lead-end.' As far as I can ascertain there is no accepted lettering of lead-ends. The lettering system normally in use applying to lead-heads cannot be used in the collection, as in most cases two methods are defined by each notation. It requires little effort to write a—f and g—m by the appropriate lead-head in the table given on page two of the introduction.

I believe that this collection will prove to be valuable to the Exercise as a work of reference, and that its importance should not be underestimated.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN C. BALDWIN.

Manchester.

Collection of Value to Exercise

Dear Sir,—Three of your contributors in 'The Ringing World' of February 21st seem to me to have been severe on Dr. Sibson. Had I been asked to review the collection recently published by our two young Cambridge friends I should have refused. I understand that at least one well-known ringer did this. And if I had been over-persuaded my review would have been not unlike the one published on February 7th.

A book reviewer has two major duties. He should draw his readers' attention to the book under study and to its author, introducing both to the public. And he should give his own honest opinion of the value of the end product. If he does not do this last, he is only a writer of a publisher's blurb—an advertising agent. If the work appeals to him, the reviewer has an easy and pleasant task. Otherwise he must refuse the job, of face the issue fairly.

Dr. Sibson seems to me to have fulfilled these obligations admirably. He tells us what is in the book, to help us decide whether we wish to beg or borrow a copy. He regrets the mistakes and shows how some of them could have been avoided. We have too often had to regret mistakes in ringing publications because the corrections never catch up with the errors. He remarks that 'undoubtedly any man who tries to keep records will require a copy.' He then gives his views about the contents and says what so many ringers have said, without contradiction, for the last generation—that the Exercise needs a suitable collection of methods already rung and a selection of suitable unringed ones.

If any different kind of review to this had been submitted, I have no doubt you would have considered it for publication. Dr. Sibson's critics were favourably impressed but I assume did not submit a review of their impressions of the book.

These days any ringer who takes the time and trouble and risks his cash on publishing is to be congratulated. I think you will agree that I speak from experience. But it is little use bemoaning the fact that the Central Council, or anyone else, has not yet produced a 'mythical long-promised' collection. Any collection or publication about change ringing will only be published when one of us gives up sufficient time to produce it and finds the cash (or a backer with faith) to publish. The first of these criteria was met before the last war in the Trollope and Turner book on the Surprise Major methods (2 vols., 1,200 pages of manuscript, containing a collection of over 600 methods, each with diagram, compositions, false course heads, incidence of false-ness, etc., and 200 pages on the theory of Surprise Major methods). The second need—the cash—could not be met, so publication was not possible.

I was glad to note that the two authors have had the pleasure of a sell-out. Whether that proves the demand, as suggested by one of your correspondents, depends on the number produced. The Exercise has a nucleus of members who will buy any publication about our art, whether or not they intend to read or use it. It is the continuing numbers sold above this that proves a demand and it will now need a second edition before we can support that statement.—Yours, etc.,

WILFRID G. WILSON.

RINGING IN AUSTRALIA

According to 'Ringing Towers,' 1963 was a record year for peal ringing in Australia. No fewer than 15 peals were rung, 11 on tower bells and four 'in hand.' This was an advance of one on the previous best year, 1953. Important milestones were first peals of Cambridge Surprise Major and of Plain Bob Royal with a resident band, as well as the first of Stedman Triples 'in hand.' Three towers received their peal baptism — St. George's, Perth. St. Paul's, Burwood, and St. Peter's, Adelaide.

Quarter peals rung were: Tower 63 (1962, 61); hand 15 (53). Brian Lawes and Jack Roper conducted their first peals, while the records included 21 asterisks indicating 'first peal.' There were 13 first quarters, and Helen Henderson, Anne Cowling, Sidney and Harold McDonald rang their first as conductor.

OBITUARY*MR. WALTER CHARLES MEDLER

Mr. Walter Medler died at his home at Hevingham, Norfolk, on February 14th. He was taken ill at Buxton immediately after conducting a practice touch in which his wife took part on the evening of the 4th, and had just set his bell when he collapsed. During the next ten days he regained consciousness only for a few fleeting moments. It was the first time since he was 22 that he had had a doctor attend him in his 75 years.

The funeral service took place at Hevingham Church where, as a boy, he first gained on the five bells there his great love for ringing. Among the large congregation ringers were present from Aylsham, Buxton, Lammas, Marsham and St. Peter Mancroft and St. Giles', Norwich. As the bells are at present unringable, handbells were rung as the cortege entered and left the church, which, as Canon Marsham, a former Rector, remarked, Walter would have wished.

Elected a member of the Norwich Association on January 7th, 1907, Walter Medler had been a constant supporter for all those 57 years. Although he had rung some 200 peals he was essentially a service ringer and had given valuable service at Hevingham, Aylsham, Marsham and Buxton. He had a particular fondness for the latter tower, having conducted the first peal on the bells on April 1st, 1911.

Mr. Medler's peal ringing began at Hevingham, where on October 8th, 1910, he conducted his first peal. Ten days later he rang his first peal of Major at Marsham. He certainly enjoyed peal ringing, especially Minor, many of which he conducted. He was keenly interested, too, in handbell ringing and it was due to his support of Mr. Cyril Pooley's efforts that the writer owes his initiation to this neglected side of our art.

To Mrs. Medler we offer our deep sympathy in her great sorrow. She had been a constant companion for more than 50 years of her husband's ringing excursions and took up the art herself at the age of 60! N. G.

MR. GEORGE SCOTT

After a short illness, Mr. George Scott, of Fulbeck, Lincs. died on February 16th, aged 86 years. Since the age of 15 he had been a ringer and although he retired about seven years ago his interest in ringing still remained. His last appearance in the belfry was on November 5th, 1963, when he called a touch of Grandsire Doubles.

George was attached at one time to Leadenham tower and later he joined the Caythorpe band. It was in this tower that he rang his first peal on September 4th, 1904. In 1911 his name first appeared with the Fulbeck company. All his peals, which numbered 67 (conducted 35), were rung for the Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

The funeral took place at Fulbeck on February 19th. The bells were rang half-muffled immediately after the service by local ringers and a visitor (Mr. L. Willders, Lincoln). A half-muffled peal was rung on February 22nd by members of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild in memory of one who served his Church as a ringer so well and so faithfully for 70 years. J. W.

HON. BARBARA GIBBS, O.B.E.

The Hon. Barbara Gibbs, O.B.E., died at her home, Hunsdon Mill, Ware, on February 24th, after a long and wearying illness. She was a member of the Hertford County Association and the Ladies' Guild, and a regular Sunday service ringer at Hunsdon for many years. She had rung only one peal, and was undoubtedly better known for her work for the Red Cross and among disabled soldiers—her 'chaps' as she used to call them—as well as for her work for the Diocese of St. Albans and the Women's Institute movement. It was, however, lady ringers—Miss E. Chitty and Mrs. T. J. Lock—who had the honour of accompanying Miss Gibbs when she went to Buckingham Palace to receive the O.B.E. from the Queen. Miss Chitty writes: 'We who are left in the belfry miss her every service, as she was always there, even when she could not ring.'

The funeral, which was private, took place at Hunsdon on February 27th, and a memorial service is to be held in St. Albans Abbey.

ENGLAND'S FARTHEST EAST

By T. A. BEVIS

THE sound of Lowestoft's bells, ringing for the first time on St. Margaret's Day, June 20th, 1920, inspired the late Mr. A. E. Murton, for many years editor of the 'Lowestoft Journal,' to pen the following lines:—

St. Margaret's Bells, Old Lowestoft's Bells—

Their sweet notes rise and fall;

A message here, a summons there,

A worship call to all.

St. Margaret's Bells, Old Lowestoft's Bells—

They sound o'er land and sea;

The sailor hears, and hearing, prays

That home safe he may be.

St. Margaret's Bells, Old Lowestoft's Bells—

In sonorous melody

Their voices ring in anthem sing,

Gloria tibi Domine.

It may surprise some to learn that Lowestoft is England's farthest east. The town began to develop with the Tudor dynasty, and it is now a valuable fishing port with a four-mile sea-front—a joy to those who love walks and exhilarating sea breezes.

The town's dominant feature is the spire (50 feet high) of St. Margaret's Church rising from a 14th century tower attached to a building over 60 yards long and 20 yards wide, noted for magnificent windows and a wonderful new roof. The steeple is a welcome sight for fishermen homeward bound.

According to records the tower contained one bell for many years until the time when the present ring was installed. Of substantial proportions, this bell, inscribed 'I tell all that do me see, Newman of Norwich new cast me,' weighed over 17 cwt and was cast about 1730.

Long before that year the steeple housed five bells, four of which were apparently removed during the Commonwealth. The earliest record relating to Lowestoft Church at the Return of 1553, states 'Great Bells iij Sancts Bell.'

An account book kept by one John Tanner, gives the following, dated 1709: 'The Three Crackt Bells weh were taken down out of Lowestoft Steeple Decr. 1709 to be made into one weighd ys follows: First bell 4 cwt, 2 qrs. 27 lbs; E bell 5 cwt. 3 qrs. 18 lbs.; largest bell 6 cwt, 2 qrs. 25 lbs. . . .'

The new bell was to weigh precisely 18 cwt, but was found to be two cwt. short. Another entry states: 'The Bell at Church being split in May 1729 was new cast by Tho. Newman at Norwich Jan. 23rd, 1729 and weigh'd 17 cwt. 2 qrs. 7 lbs. NOTE: That for want of metal the Bell had but pieces of Cannons and those being cut off to hang it with Bolts ye bell now wants 25 lbs of the above weight.'

The present ring of eight bells (tenor 13 cwt. 2 qrs. 21 lbs in F sharp) was hung in July, 1920, and forms part of the memorial to those men of Lowestoft who fell in the Great War of 1914-18. A brass tablet on the north wall of the ground-floor ringing chamber records inscriptions on the bells, which were obtained by public subscription and by industrial presentation:—

Treble: Presented by J. W. Brooke Co. Ltd. Lowestoft, 1920.

Second: Dedicated to Lowestoft Fishermen Fred Spashett.

Third: The Drifter's Bell. Presented by the Lowestoft Steam Herring Drifter Co. Ltd.

ST. MARGARET'S CHURCH, LOWESTOFT.

Fourth: Given by Charlotte Sims in memory of her parents, two brothers and one sister.

Fifth: Trawlers Bell. Subscribed by the trade.

Sixth: The Gallant Dead 1914-1918.

Seventh: This bell is dedicated to the memory of Skipper Thomas Crisp, V.C., of the trawler Nelson who gave his life for his country August 15th, 1917.

Tenor: John and Sarah Breach. Given in loving memory by their sons and daughters. Dedicated by the Very Rev. the Dean of Norwich (Dean Willink) St. Margaret's Day July 20 1920 and first rung by the Norwich Bellringers Association August 5 1920. Evan Morgan, M.A., Rector, H. W. Bevan, C. W. Dance, Junior, Churchwardens.

The octave was installed at a cost of £1,600 by Messrs Taylors, of Loughborough. Mr. Thomas Sergeant was instrumental in raising the public subscription for the bells, and the ringers' screen, placed in the tower arch by his widow, is dedicated to his memory.

A large crowd attended the dedication ceremony, and present on that occasion were the combined choirs of St. Margaret's, St. Peter's and St. Andrew's, together with a company of the Diocesan Association ringers from Norwich who stood by their ropes. After the actual dedication . . . Prayers followed with a special reference to the message of the bells, and the sweet strains of a joyous peal rang out—St. Margaret's bells, the bells of Lowestoft Town heartening all who heard them for the first time.

The bells were rung to 42 changes of Grandsire Triples by Charles Borrett (conductor), Frederick Knights, Frederick R. Borrett, George H. Cross, Albert Rough, John Oldham, Frederick H. Knights and Arthur L. Coleman. At the conclusion of the service 288 changes of Kent Treble Bob Major and a touch of Bob Major were rung and the bells were lowered in peal.

A great many peals have been rung at St. Margaret's Church, 83 of which were recorded to the end of 1958 by the late Ringing Master, Mr. Albert Coleman. Other peals have materialised since that year and the total number may well exceed 100.

After the untimely death of Mr. Coleman at the beginning of 1963, Mr. Andrew E. Crowe was elected Ringing Master, and this gentleman is at present engaged training young people to ring the bells. Although finding it difficult to attract youngsters to the art, Mr. Crowe displays great hopes. One of the original band survives; he is Mr. Richard H. Coates, who regularly rings at Lowestoft. It is satisfying to the local team that the late Master's daughter — Margaret Coleman — is learning to ring, thus following the interest of her father.

Some ringers may recall that the band of the early twenties were trained by the late Mr. R. T. Woodley and a Mr. Friend, the former a member of the College Youths.

Mr. Crowe is appreciative of the help given by ringers who rang at Lowestoft in the latter part of the 1950's. They are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Chapman, who now live at Lincoln. Another ringer who gave valuable help is Mr. Harvey Meadows, who now resides at Wisbech.

Thomas Crisp, V.C., to whom the seventh bell is dedicated, was the skipper on an armed smack. While employed at its duties on August 15th, 1917, the ship was surprised by a German submarine, which fired a number of shells. The Lowestoft crew retaliated, but a German projectile pierced the bow below the waterline. Another shell was aimed at the 'Nelson', and this passed through the skipper and through the deck of the ship. With only five rounds left, Crisp, mortally wounded, ordered a message to be sent off for assistance, then told his son to throw all books overboard and abandon the sinking vessel. His crew made to lift him into the boat, but the skipper said, 'Tom, I am done for; throw me overboard.' His injuries were so terrible it was impossible to move him, so they left him on the deck of his ship, and 15 minutes later, as evening fell, the 'Nelson' went down, and with her a very gallant gentleman.

OBITUARY

MR. FRANK METHAM

After a long illness, we regret to hear of the death of Mr. Frank Metham, of St. Giles', Lincoln, who died on February 19th. When the bells were installed at St. Giles' Church in 1938, Frank, with his wife and daughter, learnt to ring with the newly formed band. He rang in the first peal in the tower in 1940. He was a regular ringer and very good helper in all things connected with ringing at St. Giles' until ill-health prevented him. Our sympathy goes to his widow and daughter. May he rest in peace. J. L. M.

The ladies of the University of London Society have something to be proud of—the ringing of a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major on February 15th at Tottenham. We hope that at the dinner which followed due honour was given to the occasion.

Miss M. Branch, of Fern Bank, Bungay Road, Halesworth, is the new secretary of the N.E. District, Suffolk Guild.

Miss Gillian Graney (Aberystwyth) is the first lady to become Master of the University of Wales Society. Her home is at Hemel Hempstead.

Mr. Alan F. Lee, of Twerton, Bath, has shepherded four of his 13-year-old learners through their first peal. He tells us that he has three more coming along and hopes to include them in a quarter soon.

A quote from the Rev. R. S. Brown, Rector of Berkhamsted, speaking at the annual dinner of the Western District of the Hertford County Association: 'Bells are the glory of the Church of England.'

Miss Monica E. Collins has accepted a new appointment at Adelaide as a children's welfare officer. Before leaving Melbourne two unsuccessful attempts for a farewell quarter of Kent Treble Bob Minor failed. The first was lost when her rope broke ten minutes from the end. Perhaps amends will be made at Adelaide with a welcome peal or quarter.
Monica was due to start her new job on March 2nd, and the following week-end two Sydney ringers are paying a fraternal visit.

In the quarter peal of Kent Treble Bob Minor rung at Sturminster Newton on Feb.
22nd to commemorate the 40th anniversary of the North Dorset Branch of the S.D.G.R.
the ringers of 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 were foundation members of the Branch, having formerly belonged to the Wimborne Branch, which, up to February 24th, 1924, covered the whole of East and North Dorset. Mr. W. Shute, the conductor, also a former member of the Wimborne Branch, returned to the county in 1925 (after spending some years in Essex) and has from that time been senior Ringing Master of the North Dorset Branch.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The peal at St. Andrew's Church, South Stoke, Oxfordshire, was rung, states the footnote, 'to mark the victory of Oxford United football team over Blackburn Rovers in the fifth round of the F.A. Cup.' The last football team to be so honoured was Aston Villa.

Mr. George E. Symonds writes to correct his peal total in the issue of February 14th. It is 456, including 36 on handbells, conducted 254.

At the dinner of the Society of Royal Cumberlands (see page 106) Mr. G. Paul, of Lincoln, who is single, was accompanied by his mother.

We are very sorry to miss from our peal columns Mr. Ron Noon, of Spalding, who for the past seven weeks has been laid up with a broken ankle.

Mr. E. V. Rodenhurst has rung 136 peals of Triples, and not 36, as given on page 142.
A creditable record of 700 peals deserves accuracy.

One enthusiast, Mr. E. J. Evans, of Bicester, not only records the towers he has visited but the number of times he has rung in each tower. His tower total of 45 will shortly be augmented by the purchase of a car.

The Misses Lynn Taylor, Peggy M. Butler and Betty M. Butler, ringing their first peal at Danehill, Sussex, are congratulated by the conductor (Mr. Frank H. Hicks) on the way they struck their bells, which helped to make a really first-class peal.

The quarter peal rung at Milverton on February 18th was also rung to the memory of
W. G. Gigg, who died on February 18th, 1962, by friends who still cherish his memory in the Taunton Branch. It was the first quarter since the bells were rehung.

Beverley and District Ringing Society have for the first time presented their annual report in booklet form—and very attractive it is,
with a cover containing drawings of Beverley
Minster, Patrington and Bridlington towers.
The 40-page report includes reports from towers as well as a record of performances.
Thanks should go to Mr. Norman Castle and Miss Joan Gray for a fine piece of work.

PRACTICE VERSUS THEORY

ONCE again I visited the Professor, taking with me 'The Ringing World' for February 21st.

'What do you think,' I asked, 'to the latest letter on "Yorkshire" Tail Ends by Norman Chaddock?'

'That his remark about the correspondence on this subject having "gone on long enough" is most apposite.'

This wouldn't do for me. I expected some searing sayings and soaring sentences. His apathy surprised me; perhaps he was losing his touch.

'There is certainly a lot of truth in what he says,' I suggested, hopefully.

'There is a certain amount of truth in what both sides have said. What is overlooked by the dogmatic Mr. Chaddock is that previous correspondents, at least two of whom are probably more accomplished ringers than himself, have come down on opposite sides of the fence. In reply to his jibe about "those in the Barnsley area," a retort that: "On relatively heavy rings like those in the Rotherham area, one can get by satisfactorily in open leads with rope-ends," would be just as objectionable and equally futile!'

I felt happier now; this was more like the Professor.

'If course there are, and always will be, I suppose, people who tend to deride those who are prepared to meditate quietly in order to sort out the grain from the chaff. "Theory," they maintain, "is all very well, but it is the practical man that gets things done." They overlook the fact that theory and practice are interdependent. Modern education recognises the importance of "theoretical formulæ and graphs" even if they do not, hence the growth in the number of technical colleges and establishments for further education.

'In bellringing the importance of theoretical work is probably as great, if not greater now, than at any other time in its history. Theoretical articles in the "R.W." are avidly received and consumed; consequently, the article by Mr. Seager which appeared a few weeks ago is of more importance than all the peals that were published in the same issue.'

I forebore to point out that this was dogmatism, but asked instead:

'Do you think that the courses on bellringing that are being held in various places are of any value?'

'Indeed I do. They show also that the Exercise is alive to the need for scientific and organised instruction, both practical (for the courses do not neglect this aspect) and theoretical.

'Tobias Matthey,' he went on, 'the great pianoforte teacher, wrote a closely-printed, 300-odd-page book on his method of teaching "touch" to his pupils; York-Bramble consumed almost as much space in the "R.W." on how to teach a beginner to handle a bell! Both pioneers received similar treatment: some people were dubious, others scoffed. But now no conscientious piano teacher is unacquainted with Matthey's principles, and anyone attempting to teach a beginner bell-handling would do well to make himself familiar with Y.-B.'s thesis.

'In general,' he concluded, 'it is the composers and theorists who win out in the end. Although the Pyses of bellringing are always remembered they are outnumbered by the Stedmans, Reeves, Thurstans and Trollopes. Annable is famous more for his compositions and his notebook than for the peals he rang, and I should hazard a guess that the name of A. G. Driver, who never rang a peal in his life, will be more familiar in 50 years' time than the names of those who rang over a hundred in 1963.'

He then retired to his cell, muttering to himself; but I didn't catch all he said: only the tail-end! It was something to do with Yorkshire!

STOWMARKET BELLS DANGEROUS

Mr. Oliver G. Barnard appeared on Independent Television on March 3rd and made a telling appeal on behalf of Stowmarket (Suffolk) bells. With the aid of a very good model of a bell and fittings, swinging a full circle in a frame, he explained how badly the bearings, headstock and wheels were worn.

The last time the bells were given a major overhaul was 70 years ago. Three times in the last 17 years the bells had been examined by representatives of bell foundries and each time they had reported the bells and their fittings were deteriorating.

'Since the last examination in 1959,' said Mr. Barnard in a Press interview, 'the condition of the bells has become considerably worse, so that now we feel it is too dangerous to ring them except on special occasions.'

On television he amplified this by stating that in spite of the poor state of the bells he had a hand ready to ring when the Queen's baby arrived.

Bell founders' reports have suggested that all the bells need retuning and two need recasting. They all need to be rehung with new headstocks, wheels and bearings. Only the oak frame is in good condition.

Mr. Barnard is captain of the tower and treasurer of the bell fund. About £1,200 is needed for the restoration work and towards this about £400 has been received.

The comment of the Vicar (the Rev. A. A. Muxlow) is: 'We have expenses all round and we find that the church is so heavily committed financially at the moment that it is a question of priorities.'

Raven's 'Church Bells of Suffolk,' published in 1890—about the time when Stowmarket bells had their last overhaul—gives these particulars:—

Treble.—Wm. Dobson, Downham, Norfolk, 1810.

Second.—Thomas Osborn, 1791.

Third.—John Darbie, 1691.

Fourth.—Pre-Reformation, probably not long after 1413.

Fifth.—Charles Newman, 1699.

Sixth.—T. Mears, 1823.

Seventh.—John Darbie, 1672.

Tenor.—Miles Graye, 1622. 'A very fine bell.' 24 cwt. in 17. C. R.

21 YEARS AFTER

Mr. W. Birmingham, of Slough, writes expressing his pleasure at having Mr. Aidan Boyack, of Westcliff-on-Sea, in the peal rung at Woodford, Essex, for his daughter's 21st birthday. At the time of her birth both were serving in No. 5 British General Hospital at Zerizer, near Bone, in North Africa.

It was also the first peal he had rung with both his son and his daughter participating. He thanks the Woodford ringers for the warmth of the welcome given to Elizabeth during her stay there, and also Mr. John Crampson for kindly consenting to conduct the peal.

Mr. Birmingham and Mr. Boyack send their joint good wishes to another bellringing member of their unit, Mr. Ered Sparkes, of Charlton Mackrell, near Taunton, and hopes he receives these via 'The Ringing World.'

DOUBLES LETTERS IDENTIFIED

In a peal of Doubles rung at Loughborough on January 31st (page 163) a number of methods with names unknown to the conductor were rung.

We are indebted to Mr. F. T. Blagrove for identity of the following:—

A is plain lead of All Saints with P.L. of Plain Bob as Bob—Newington.

B is P.L. of All Saints with P.L. of Canterbury as Bob—All Saints.

C is P.L. of All Saints with Old Bob as Bob—Marchington.

D is plain lead of Plain Bob with New Antelope Single as Bob—St. David.

E is Grandsire single as P.L. with Grandsire extreme as Bob—St. Augustine.

F is All Saints P.L. with Grandsire extreme as Bob—St. George.

G is Grandsire single P.L. with London extreme as Bob—St. Blaise.

There is a doubt about St. David. Perhaps the Peterborough Guild, who have rung the method, will confirm.

CO-AUTHOR REPLIES TO REVIEWER

SURPRISE MAJOR COLLECTION

Dear Sir,—I would like to reply to one or two technical points raised by Mr. Sibson's article and to add some comments of my own.

The reason for the restriction to methods containing only one double change per half-lead was the limitation of the collection to a manageable size. If methods with an unlimited number of double changes had been included, we estimated that the collection would have run to about 30,000 place-notations (very approximately). Such a large collection could not have been published for less than about £2 10s. I do not think that anyone would think the extra cost justified, bearing in mind, as Mr. Sibson himself points out, that only a few such methods are rung.

The 'now generally accepted lettering for lead-heads' was not used for two reasons. Firstly, the tabulating machinery easily available could not print letters; and secondly, since we did not know that the letters were generally accepted ('The Ringing World' does not commonly use them when publishing new methods) we made no attempt to find equipment which could. (The method names were typed in subsequently by hand.)

If Mr. Sibson would care to re-examine the order in which the methods are listed he will find that it is strictly numerical. A place notation x3458x—x—x . . . is numerically larger than x—x1458x—x . . . which itself is larger than x58x—x—x . . . containing no double changes, and so they come in the order printed in the collection. (Each position in the place notation denoted by a — above may be regarded as a 'digit' in the 'number' formed by the place notation, and the largest numbers come later.)

To forestall any further slurs on the accuracy of the computer, may I point out that the method number 3,000 does not exist (there is no method missing between 2,999 and 3,001)

but the fault does not lie with the computer. The method numbers were punched on to the method cards as a separate mechanical operation after the computation and No. 3,000 was accidentally omitted.

On more contentious ground, Mr. Sibson sometimes answers himself. He asks whether 'the Exercise requires such a publication' and goes on to say that 'if a number of methods is required it is a comparatively simple task to produce them.' It is simple, and inexpensively tedious; eminently a task for a computer to do, once for all.

A corollary to this tediousness may perhaps explain the 'lowering of standards' to which Mr. Sibson refers. (I put this forward merely as a hypothesis; others may not agree). Since it is so wearisome to discover a new method (only 5,000-odd out of 324,000 tested actually work, i.e., one in 60) anyone who finds any method at all may well be satisfied. Now that so many methods are available, there are bound to be more 'good' as well as 'bad' methods, and the effect may be the opposite of what Mr. Sibson fears.

More important, I feel most strongly with Mr. Shuttleworth (Letters, page 125) that the results of ringing research should be published, to prevent, as he says, needless duplication of effort. When the publication was well advanced we were told that Shirley Burton had already made, by hand, such a collection as ours. Who else had heard of it, let alone had access to it?

What about giving the Publications Committee a free hand, some money and a go-ahead convener, and letting them get on with the collation and publication of all this locked-up knowledge? I hope that this whole question of publication will be given an important place on the Central Council's agenda.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN W. McCLENAHAN.

FUN AND GAMES AT EPSOM

Following the success of last year's Surrey Association social evening at Putney, Epsom Common ringers decided upon a similar function on February 8th.

An hour's ringing on Epsom's eight preceded a short walk over the Common to the Parish Hall, where the local company was waiting to greet us and start the evening's festivities. They had in store a comprehensive programme of dancing and ingenious games. A 'guess the sound' competition included such odd answers as Mr. Pat Cannon eating celery! After the Gay Gordons and a game which got us all dashing around the hall at '2 hours 15 minute' speed we were only too glad to sit down and enjoy the splendid refreshments provided.

An indoor cricket match was played between Epsom ringers versus 'The Rest,' with Mr. Frank Derby doing a good job as umpire. Epsom won and the 'Kingston Cup' was presented with due ceremony to Mr. Parrott for safe keeping until next year.

All too soon came 'Auld Lang Syne' and a well-earned round of applause to the Epsom Common ringers, whose enthusiasm resulted in such an enjoyable social. A fitting close was Mr. Ted Collins (the District Master) inviting us to Croydon next year for what will be the Northern District's third social evening. B. B.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

About 20 members attended the annual meeting of the North-East District held at Halesworth on February 15th.

The Rev. G. Button conducted a short service, and after tea at the business meeting Mr. T. Brock, of Kessingland, was elected as an unattached ringing member.

New officers elected were: Mr. G. Goate, Ringing Master; Mr. R. Bickers, chairman. Re-elected: Miss M. Branch, secretary; committee, Mr. Bickers and Mr. Gibson.

Quarterly meetings were provisionally fixed as follows: May 23rd, Laxfield and Dennington; August 15th, Aldeburgh; November 21st, Saxmundham and Benhall; February 20th, 1965, annual meeting, Beccles.

50 YEARS AGO

'Ringing World,' February 27th, 1914.

Death has removed from the Exercise another of its shining lights, Mr. Nathan John Pitstow, of Saffron Walden, Essex, whose name as a composer is as widely known as that of any man of modern times. The sad event took place on Wednesday of last week, and the intimation reached us by wire just too late to include the news in our last issue.

'Ringing World,' March 6th, 1914.

The St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham cherishes many records in the ringing annals and now another record has been set up on the bells of St. Martin's Church—the home of the Guild. We publish this week the 100th peal of Stedman Cinques upon the bells, truly a unique record, for we should imagine that there is no other 12-bell tower where there has been anything approaching this large total of peals in the method. The first of them goes back to 1820 and what stalwarts in the art are recalled to mind when one thinks of those who, in the past, have taken a share in the building up of this record.

Gratefully Acknowledged

WASHINGTON CATHEDRAL BAND SELECTED

The following have accepted the invitation to go to Washington to open the bells on the occasion of the Consecration of the Gloria in Excelsior tower on Ascension Day:

Mr. John Chilcott, St. Paul's Cathedral.
Mr. Harold Pitstow, Westminster Abbey.
Mr. George Fearn, Birmingham Cathedral.
Mr. Peter Staniforth, Leicester Cathedral.
Mr. John Freeman, Lincoln Cathedral.
Mr. Wilfrid Moreton, Wakefield Cathedral.
Mr. Norman Chaddock, Convener, Sunday Service Ringing and Education Committee of the C.C. of C.B.R.

Mr. George Pipe, Convener, Overseas Committee of the C.C. of C.B.R.

Mr. Frank Price, of Crowthorne, Berks.
Mr. Harry Parkes, of Sittingbourne, Kent.
Mr. Harry Parkes is going at the request of Washington Cathedral, because of his work there last autumn in the initial training of all those who came forward to learn ringing.

Mr. Frank Price has over a period of years done much to foster change ringing in the United States, particularly with the boys of Groton School.

The band will probably leave on Monday, May 4th, and take with them the good wishes of the whole Exercise.

THE APPEAL

The breadth of the response to the appeal is interesting, although as yet it is too early to analyse. It is still open, and it is hoped more donations will be forthcoming.

Private individuals with no apparent connection with ringing have patronised it well: also many individual ringers, as well as the widows of past ringers.

A delightful letter with a donation was received from Benenden School, where the girls who have their own Guild of change ringers wish the band an enjoyable trip.

The appeal seems to have caught the eye of a few senior officers of the R.A.F., but only two County Associations have responded to date.

The Dean and Chapter of Westminster Abbey head the short list of ecclesiastical establishments who have helped to make the trip possible, but more may give when Chapter meetings due to be held during the month come round.

Several towers have had a 'whip round,' and in this respect it is interesting to note that if every ringer gave sixpence the fund would be oversubscribed.

So many seem moved to apologise for sending small amounts, yet it is on these small sums that the real total, now amounting to just over £370, is built.

Contributions sent to Mr. Douglas Hughes, c/o Westminster Bank, St. Mary Axe, E.C.2, will be gratefully acknowledged, and passed on to Dean Francis B. Sayre.

STOP PRESS.—Donations just arrived from Calgary, Alberta and Saigon!

GILLINGHAM (DORSET) BELLS TO BE REHUNG

The bells of St. Mary's, Gillingham, Dorset, are at present at the Loughborough foundry to be fitted with new headstocks, etc., and rehanging on ball-bearings.

The bells are a mixed lot with a tenor of approximately 24 to 25 cwt. in D.

Formerly a ring of six, two trebles were added by Mears and Stainbank in 1898. The remainder are as follows:—No. 3, by William Cockey, 1726; 4, John Wallis, 1607 (recast Gillett and Johnston, 1904); 5, T. and J. Bilbie, 1793; 6, William Cockey, 1722; 7, J. Kingston, 1826; tenor, William Cockey, 1726.

University of Wales Society's Rag Week Tour

THE University of Wales Society's Rag Week Tour began on Thursday, February 13th, with the ringing of a quarter peal at St. Padarn's Church, Llanbadarn Fawr, of 1,260 Grandsire Triples by the following band:—Gwen Storer 1, W. G. Thomas 2, Gillian E. Graney 3, Christine Hiscock 4, D. W. Beard 5, C. L. R. Bainham 6, C. A. Lewis (cond.) 7, J. B. Wilson 8. The bells were rung half-muffled in memory of the Rev. Gwilym Parry, late Vicar.

The following morning 13 people crammed into an 11-seater minibus and set off for Machynlleth. The bells here go very easily but their tone is poor and they are badly out of tune. We found the bells at Dolgellau, which had been rehung only four months before, very different. They are a musical octave but, alas, our striking could have been better. An attempt for a quarter peal failed.

Much difficulty was experienced before contacting the local tower captain for permission to ring at Barmouth. The bells, to most of us, were the best we rang on the tour. The easy-going eights at Portmadoc and Beaumaris followed. The last tower of the day was Bangor (Glanadda). These bells are almost inaudible in the ringing room and most difficult to strike well. Ringing here included touches of Oxford Bob Triples and Little Bob Major.

The Society's annual meeting was held in Glanadda belfry, an attendance of 90 members constituting a record. All five colleges—Bangor, Aberystwyth, Lampeter, Swansea and Cardiff—were represented for the first time at one meeting. The most important business was the election of Master and secretary for 1964/5. Miss Gillian Graney (Aberystwyth) was elected Master (the first lady to hold this office) and Miss Katherine Maylott (Aberystwyth) secretary.

Saturday was the busiest day of the tour as we visited nine towers, some of them separated by considerable distances. In the morning we rang at Llandegai, Llandudno and Abergele. All these towers have easy-going bells, ringing being reasonably good without being brilliant. After lunch we found at Rhuddlan the six bells completely tuneless and badly needing rehanging. Halkyn, the next tower, was a complete contrast; the bells have just been rehung and have a very pleasant tone. A touch of Cambridge Minor here produced probably the best struck ringing of the tour. From Halkyn it is only a couple of miles to Flint, where the light ring of eight (tenor 7 cwt.) is crowded into a very narrow tower. The proximity of the ropes made striking difficult but at least ringing on such bells requires very little energy!

The last two towers visited in East Wales were Northop and Mold and at the latter we were greatly impressed by the immaculate condition of the large ringing room. A good touch of Cambridge Surprise Minor was followed by a touch of Single Oxford in which three local ringers participated.

The last tower of the tour was at Gwen Storer's home in Llandrillo, Merionethshire. This is the only four-bell tower which the U.W.S.C.R. has yet visited. After ringing Plain Bob and Stedman Minimus we had a drink at the local hostelry and then departed for Aberystwyth.

This was the best attended tour of the Society so far (17 ringers) and ringing took place in 16 towers in seven different counties. Thanks are due to Tony Griffin for driving us so far so safely. C. L. R. B.

S.W. London Ringing

Mr. Michael J. Uphill sends the following corrections: Wandsworth, All Saints', 6.45—8.30; Holy Trinity, 6.30—8.15 on alternate Tuesdays. Uncertain if two Streatham towers are still practising. Chiswick, like Mortlake, has a struggling rounds band.

Additions: Twickenham, St. Matthew's (10). 7.30—9 Thursdays; Twickenham, St. Mary's (8), Wednesdays.

Another Light Ring of Six

Dear Sir,—Seeing the photograph in 'The Ringing World' and reading of Mr. F. D. Mack's lightest ring of bells prompted me to give some details of a ring of six which I got together and hung almost 35 years ago. The bells hang in an oak frame, the timber of which was sawn by hand from 3in by 11in. railway material.

The headstocks and wheels are of oak, the wheels being morticed and tenoned together in the traditional manner. Each bell is equipped with stay, slider and pulley box, and can quite easily be rung up to the set position. Plain bearings were fitted and the rope circle is 16in. The bells themselves are exact models of tower bells and are fitted with independent clapper staples.

The ring is in the key of A and on occasions has been loaned for bell restoration purposes.

Many visitors have seen this model belfry. The tenor bell, which is connected with a clock, sounds the hours.

Should any ringers or others interested be passing through our village please do not hesitate to give us a call.

The weights and diameters are:—
Treble, 1 lb. 6 oz.; 4 7/16th inches. Second, 1 lb. 8 1/2 oz.; 4 13/16th inches. Third, 1 lb. 12 1/2 oz.; 5 1/4 inches. Fourth, 2 lb. 9 1/2 oz.; 5 5/16th inches. Fifth, 3 lb. 11 1/2 oz.; 6 7/16th inches. Tenor, 4 lb. 2 1/2 oz.; 6 1/2 inches.

The bells contain some metal salvaged from a scrap yard at Easingwold.—Yours faithfully, J. B. HUTCHINSON.

Stillington, York.

New Churches and Bells

Dear Sir,—In the village of Scholes, near Leeds, it is proposed to replace the present church with a new one. The preliminary moves are now being made and an architect is to be appointed in the near future. It is intended that the new church will accommodate approximately 200 people and it is possible that a non-traditional building will be erected.

There is a strong feeling amongst the church members that provision should be made for the installation of a ring of bells (say a light six). It will be appreciated that the funds available will not permit building a tower in the normal manner but presumably bells can be accommodated in the most modern church.

I should be extremely grateful to any readers of 'The Ringing World' who have experience of installations of bells would let me know how the problems were surmounted.—Yours sincerely,

F. L. FLEETWOOD.

35, Nook Road, Scholes, near Leeds.

The late Dr. J. C. E. Simpson

Dear Sir,—Ringing friends of the late Dr. J. C. E. Simpson, Ph.D., D.Sc., may be interested to learn that a reference to his ability as a ringer is mentioned in an obituary to his book, 'Condensed Pyridazine and Pyrazine Rings' (Chemistry of Heterocyclic Compounds, Vol. 5, Ed. Weissberger, New York, 1953), written by his colleague, C. M. Atkinson.

Atkinson concludes his tribute to Simpson by saying '... and the early interest in campanology which he formed at Liscard developed during his life to such an extent that his intellectual and physical prowess were recognised throughout England.'

Such a reference must surely be unique in the Ringing Exercise.—Yours faithfully, GEOFFREY DAVIES.

Edgbaston.

P.S.—Dr. Simpson died in 1952 at the age of 44.—G.D.

Checking Names

Dear Sir,—I am sorry that Mr. Stote ('Ringing World,' February 14th) considers my remarks ungentlemanly, but I cannot accept without comment the off-hand way in which he dismisses the question of duplicated names. If more conductors adopted the same attitude, total chaos could ensue in method-naming, and this certainly would not be to the advantage of the Exercise. It is greatly to the credit of the vast majority of conductors that they take great care to avoid these errors, but nevertheless too many duplications still appear. Occasional mistakes are bound to occur but I still maintain that there is no real excuse for publication of peal reports of this type.

There are many ways in which the conscientious conductor can check his facts. He can apply to the convener of the Records or Methods Committee, an officer of the local Association, 'The Ringing World' or to a number of other people for guidance. Addresses of those concerned are readily available and, if an address is unknown, I am sure that you, sir, would not object to forwarding an occasional letter addressed c/o The Editor, 'The Ringing World.' Don't forget the s.a.e., of course.

It may be objected that this wastes time, but that doesn't matter, and in this instance the band had plenty of time to make inquiries while practising the methods.

Regarding the check Mr. Stote did make, I would point out that the 1961 Minor Collection does not include any 'single-change' methods. This is clearly indicated at the third paragraph of the preface on page 5. This omission is regrettable, because there are so few regular examples of these methods—five Plain, 10 Delight and 11 Surprise—and in place notation this information would have filled less than one page and made the collection of regular methods complete. Incidentally there are still some unnamed Delight methods.

Finally, I would point out that the method is correctly named Alderbourne, not Aldbourne. This difference may seem trivial but it is not impossible for the other name to be used for another method at a later date, and then further confusion will ensue. — Yours sincerely,

GEORGE W. MASSEY.

Frome, Somerset.

Quarter Peals for President Kennedy

Sir,—Recently I noticed an allegation against the numerous peals that were rung for the late President Kennedy's death by using this as a mere excuse for the peal because the ringing had been arranged some time before. I was one who took part in three quarters, all rung half-muffled, and two of which had been planned some time beforehand. But could I point out that we made a special effort to half-muffle the bells before ringing as we felt that open ringing would not have been appropriate on such a sad occasion.

I would guarantee that all those who rang in the week following this dreadful tragedy felt in their hearts a good measure of sympathy for Mrs. Kennedy and family and for this reason decided to ring their peal or quarter as an act of tribute, not as a secondary excuse. Ringers are humans, not callous robots and, as was reflected in this paper, all shared the world's grief at such a tragic loss.—Yours sincerely,

MICHAEL KING.

York.

Peals and Associations

Dear Sir,—There is an interesting point arising in the letter from Maj. R. Pateman and from Denis Bayles' recent article.

Surely in an age of supposed enlightenment and central (though negligible) surveillance, one would expect a less hidebound and parochial attitude than is generally found among Associations and Guilds, particularly some of the more out of the way.

It is quite obvious that peals are rung BY ringers, FOR Associations. After all, now that travel is easy, how many ringers can really claim to have been trained by one county?

How many peals are rung by 'pure' bands? Not many I think; why peals are still credited to Associations at all remains a mystery to me, except for records (which rarely really belong to the Association for whom they are rung anyway).

Next we come to the situation of a band of ringers who elect to hold a summer tour in some different part of the country ringing peals. Rarely are they all of one Association—what do they do? Usually join the Association(s) in whose territory they are ringing. Why should they? Out of some perverse sense of etiquette, I think—because the 'host' Association 'expects' it to be so!

This is quite ridiculous, the people ringing the peals should do so for whatever Association they mostly represent; if they are so widespread as to have no Association in common, then they have two alternatives—record the peals as 'non-association' or invent their own touring Society as a temporary measure.

The former is, I think, the better, the latter rather more traditional (though a tradition all too rarely observed).

Like Denis Bayles, I too await the day when touring bands are brave enough to ring peals for the Association they are representative of, or found a temporary peregrinatory Society. Even better, the day when peals are just rung BY bands and the Associations get on with teaching and administering aid where needed and to leave peal-ringers to their own devices.

How parochial Associations are can be gauged by the fact that recently the Lancashire Association set up THEIR library seven miles away from the Chester Guild library!—

Central Suffolk's Plight

Dear Sir,—With reference to Mr. Hotine's letter of February 21st, I fully agree with him that ringing in Central Suffolk is at a very low ebb. Mr. Hotine suggests that during the past year very little effort has been made to further the art of change ringing. I would hasten to suggest that a great amount of effort has been made by some Guild members and none at all by others.

It appears that a great barrier exists between method ringing and set changes—there are several towers where the latter ringing exists but are unfortunately not able to progress further, due partly to not enough change ringers in the neighbourhood and partly being content with set changes.

Mr. Hotine also suggests at least one peal per member for this year—this is more difficult than it sounds, first to get six or eight ringers in one place at the same time, and secondly to ring the peal. For instance, to date this year I have been in three peal attempts—two where seven ringers have met instead of eight, and one failure after ringing 2,000 changes.

I think this somewhat alters the picture painted by Mr. Hotine.—Yours sincerely, HAROLD W. H. LEATHER.

LETTERS—Continued

Grabbers List 'Futile'

Dear Sir,—What honour is there in being included in a Tower Grabbers List (see page 122)? To my mind this is a futile pursuit which serves no purpose to benefit the Exercise or Sunday Service ringing in general or ringers individually.

I am prompted to write these remarks because my own tower is obviously included in the total of a person who is very high up in your list. This person couldn't even hunt the treble through 120 changes on our 5 bells, and if that is the sort of standard that enables one to get near the top of this list then there is not much credit reflected on the other ringers mentioned.

I can see names belonging to some well known ringers and no doubt the ringing of the majority is of a high standard but the inclusion of the person mentioned above only emphasises the futility of publishing this list. I might just as well take two or three of my learners who can just about handle a rope and drive them all round the country for a few indifferent pulls or even rounds, and next year they could be top of the list! Yours faithfully,—

R. J. BROWN.

Bentley Common.

Tho: Purdue Fecit

Dear Sir,—The article by the Rev. John Scott brought back many happy memories of Exeter Cathedral bells, for I was born within their sound and, being a member of a ringing family who gave many years of service in the Cathedral tower, the article gave me great pleasure.

It is interesting to note that Taylors' cast two new trebles in 1922 and also recast the 3rd, 7th and tenor during this century, but the remaining eight have a range 1616 to 1729, which speaks well for our old founders.

Mr. Scott visited the Purdue tomb at Closworth a few years ago and took a good photograph of it, a print of which he sent me.—Yours faithfully, WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

Addlestone, Surrey.

The Bilbies

Dear Sir,—The Bilbies came from a small village about six to seven miles from here called Chew Stoke. They were bell founders and many of their bells are in Somerset. They also did clock making in their spare time and I have a 30-hour clock of Edward Bilbie, who cast our middle four bells in 1723. Thomas E. James cast the treble and tenor in 1793. They are good, clean castings.

The Bilbies of Axbridge were, so I am told, clock makers only. I could tell Mr. Moxon a good deal about both if I had the pleasure of meeting him. 'PEACEHAVEN.'

Finsbury

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Shuttleworth, Finsbury is a Metropolitan Borough to the north of the City of London. Among its parishes are St. James' and St. John's, Clerkenwell; the latter grew up around the Priory of St. John of Jerusalem, founded in the 12th century.—Yours, etc., A. BAGWORTH.

Wimbledon.

Service Ringing Records

Dear Sir,—May I be permitted through your columns to offer an expression of congratulation to the Halesowen band on their remarkable record of service ringing over the past 20 years?

We thought we were doing pretty well here at Saxilby, where we have almost completed an unbroken run of ringing for a thousand services in a little under ten years, and we can appreciate something of the loyalties, hard work and enthusiasm which have been in evidence at Halesowen.

May I suggest that 'The Ringing World' should publish a list of leading service-ringing bands on these lines?—Yours sincerely,

H. W. COX.

Saxilby, Lincs.

Note.—Such records deserve publicity. Any others?—Ed.

Suggestion for Central Council

Dear Sir,—Now that so many Surprise Major methods are being rung would it not be possible to issue some of these in a 'Standard Methods' form? Whilst not deprecating in any way the compilers of the 'Ringers' Diary'—I, personally, think their choice is excellent: even though limited by space—I think that there is little doubt that their publication through the auspices of the Central Council in a 'diagrams' form, with literally a 'blue line' would be welcomed by the Exercise in general, and this writer in particular.—Yours faithfully,

G. C. B.

Yorkshire Royal at Wington

Dear Sir,—Permit me to point out that the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Royal on February 1st, 1964, was not the first peal of Yorkshire Royal on the bells. This was rung by a company touring Somerset of which I was a member on September 5th, 1936, conducted by Wilfred Williams. Incidentally, it was the first in the county and for the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association.—Yours, etc.,

F. W. ROGERS.

Portsmouth.

To Ted Rodenhurst

Dear Sir,—Might I through your columns convey my congratulations to Ted Rodenhurst on the ringing of his 700th peal. I feel sure that his many friends throughout the Exercise will join me in the hope that he will long continue to ring with us.—Yours sincerely,

ROGER B. MORRIS,
Ringing Master,
The Shropshire Assn.

OBITUARY*MR. ERNEST HARRINGTON

Hever, Kent, lost one of its oldest inhabitants on January 28th when Mr. Ernest Harrington died in the Edenbridge Hospital, aged 89.

Mr. Harrington ('Ern' to his many friends) came to Hever as a boy of eight and began ringing when 16. Although he did not ring regularly during the last few years he retained his membership of the Kent County Association. His service to the local company included 50 years as secretary, during which time a good standard of ringing was maintained.

He began work with his father, who was then a blacksmith of some note, and he continued this craft at the old forge up to the time of his death. Some examples of the iron work produced there can be seen in Hever Church.

A large number of ringers and friends attended the funeral service on January 31st, which was conducted by the Rev. J. B. Collins. In the evening a half-muffled quarter peal was rung by the Edenbridge band. B. E. J.

MR. E. S. HAWKER

Mr. Eli Symonds Hawker, of Seaton, Devon, who died on Friday, February 22nd, at the City Hospital, Exeter, eight days after the death of his wife, was for over 50 years a ringer. Born at Musbury in 1892, he was leader of the Musbury band for 20 years before coming to Lyme Regis in 1936. His keenness and regular attendance soon enabled him to advance from Grandsire Doubles (the only method he had the opportunity to ring for 20 years) to standard methods. He was soon taking part in quarter peals of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major and ringing Minor methods up to London Surprise.

His first peal, Stedman Triples, rung at Lyme Regis on May 12th, 1937, was the first peal in the method by an entirely local band in the county of Dorset.

In 1943 his work took him to Seaton and for 20 years he was captain of the Seaton band and saw the augmentation of the bells from six to eight. Throughout his 50 years as a ringer he could always be depended upon to be there for Sunday service ringing and practice nights.

The funeral service and interment was at Musbury on February 27th. May he rest in peace. C. P.

MR. EZRA HOMER

Mr. Ezra Homer, of Rowley Regis, Staffs, who died at his home on February 28th at the age of 80, had been a Sunday service ringer at Rowley since 1902, but gave up ringing about five years ago for health reasons. Although not a prolific peal ringer he had been most helpful to learners who showed interest in ringing.

As a token of respect a half-muffled quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Rowley Parish Church on March 3rd, the date of his interment. The band was B. E. Woodall 1, H. Shilcock 2, Miss M. Tromans 3, H. Shuck 4, Miss M. Ellsmore 5, A. B. Ellsmore 6, T. Greenhall (cond.) 7, G. Chiswell 8).

ELEMENTARY 'IN AND OUT OF COURSE'

By F. AITCH

The number of changes that can be produced on bells is as follows:—

2 bells,	2 changes
3 "	6 "
4 "	24 "
5 "	120 "
6 "	720 "
7 "	5,040 "
8 "	40,320 "
9 "	362,880 "
10 "	3,628,800 "
11 "	39,916,800 "
12 "	479,001,600 "

The total number, or extent, of changes that can be produced on any number of bells is always an even number.

In considering the composition of these individual numbers on any number of bells, half of them are odd numbers and half are even numbers.

As an example. Take the six changes on three bells as numbers from one to six. There are three odd, 1—3—5, and three even, 2—4—6, to make the total of six.

Thinking in terms of changes on any number of bells, and considering the extent that can be obtained, half of these are odd, known as 'out of course,' and half are even, known as 'in course.' Rounds are classed as 'in course,' and an 'out of course' change is one which requires an odd number of pairs of bells to be changed to bring it into rounds. Therefore the change 214365 would be 'out of course,' as it requires three pairs of bells to be changed to bring it into rounds. An 'in course' change is one which requires an even number of pairs of bells to be changed to bring it into rounds. Therefore 214356 would be 'in course,' as it requires two pairs of bells changing to bring up rounds.

Changes can be classified under two headings, 'Simple' and 'Complex.' A simple change is one that is obviously either 'in course' or 'out of course.'

The change 21436587 is classed as simple, because it is obvious that four pairs of bells require to be changed to bring up rounds, so it is 'in course.' The change 85164723 is a complex one, as, unless you have a mathematical mind, you would require pencil and paper to work out whether it was 'in course' or 'out of course.'

When an even number is added to an even number an even number is produced. When an even number and an odd number are added together an odd number is produced, and when two odd numbers are added together an even number is produced.

So in analysing the first lead of Plain Bob Minor we discover:—

123456	'In course.'
214365	3 pairs of bells changed, adding odd to even, so 'out of course.'
241635	2 pairs of bells changed, adding even to odd, so 'out of course.'
426153	3 pairs of bells changed, adding odd to odd, so 'in course.'
462513	2 pairs of bells changed, adding even to even, so 'in course.'
645231	3 pairs of bells changed, adding odd to even, so 'out of course.'
654321	2 pairs of bells changed, adding even to odd, so 'out of course.'
563412	3 pairs of bells changed, adding odd to odd, so 'in course.'
536142	2 pairs of bells changed, adding even to even, so 'in course.'
351624	3 pairs of bells changed, adding odd to even, so 'out of course.'
315264	2 bells of bells changed, adding even to odd, so 'out of course.'
132546	3 pairs of bells changed, adding odd to odd, so 'in course.'
135264	2 pairs of bells changed, adding even to even, so 'in course.'

It will be apparent on perusal that the changes in Plain Bob Minor are alternately two 'out of course' and two 'in course.' The two changes when the treble leads are 'in course,' and these will remain so during the plain course, or whilst bobs only are called.

But as we know that we can obtain 720 changes on six bells, half of which are 'in course' and half 'out of course,' and we can see by the above figures that we only produce the 'in course' changes that are possible with the treble leading by bobs only, which in turn make it so that we only get 360 changes, which is only half of the possible 720 changes on six bells, singles are introduced, which cause the changes when the treble leads to be changed from 'in course' to 'out of course,' thus enabling the remaining 360 changes to be produced.

Another single will be required to return the bells to the 'in course' position before rounds can be produced.

It therefore follows that to obtain a full true 720 changes of Plain Bob Minor, an even number of singles will be required.

The reason why singles are not required to produce the 720 changes in a normal Treble Bob Minor method can be seen by a look at Kent Treble Bob Minor.

Here the treble is seen to strike at the lead four times during any one full lead, and if these four changes are analysed two will be found to be 'in course' and two 'out of course,' so the nature of the changes does not require to be changed by a single to produce the full 720 changes, as was required in Plain Bob Minor.

This article has been written for the benefit of those who are seeking a simple explanation of the 'in and out of course' of changes, and if you are one of those persons you may like to put to the test what you have gained from it by finding out for yourself why it is possible to get the whole 120 of Plain Bob Doubles with bobs only, but in Grandsire Doubles you cannot get the 120 without the use of singles.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD North Notts District

Three towers were open at Reford on February 8th for the North Notts District's annual meeting. A short service was taken by the Rev. T. Womack and this was followed by tea in the Ebsworth Hall, provided by Mrs. W. Coates and other ladies, a company of 48 sitting down.

Before the meeting silence was observed for four members who had died. In the absence of the chairman Mr. H. T. Rooke deputised. The annual report was accepted and although there was a reduction of 27 members the accounts were satisfactory.

Officers elected were: Chairman, Mr. H. Smart (Workshop); secretary, Mr. H. Denman (re-elected); Ringing Master, Mr. J. Coates (Retford); committee, Mr. R. Brightmore (North Wheatley). Five new members were elected and the District Cup Contest was fixed for Gamston on July 11th. The collection for the Bell Repair Fund amounted to £1 13s 9d.

Votes of thanks were passed to the clergy for the use of the bells and the ladies for a very nice tea.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Ashford District

About 60 ringers and friends from some 20 different towers were present for the service and tea at the by-meeting of the Ashford District at Great Chart on February 29th.

The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. J. S. Tunbridge, who gave a short but interesting address. Mr. Miller, of Egerston, was the organist, and the lesson was read by Mr. L. Day, of the local band.

An excellent tea was enjoyed in the neighbouring Village Hall. The main item on the agenda of the business was the forthcoming annual general meeting of the Association to be held at Tenterden on Easter Monday. Five junior and two adults were elected to membership.

Mr. Alan Berry, the Ringing Master, voiced the thanks of the gathering to the Rector and the organist, to Mrs. K. Hobden for arrangements, and to Mrs. L. Day and her helpers for tea.

An enjoyable meeting concluded when the bells were rung down at 9 o'clock. C. T. H.

While ringing has been suspended at Darton, near Barnsley, for some time due to tower repairs and the need of a major overhaul of the bells, ringers from Barnsley and Cawthorne rang for the institution, by the Bishop of Wakefield, on February 18th, of the new Vicar, the Rev. John Scholefield, previously Vicar of St. George's, Sowerby.

The next Snowdon dinner is to be held at York on October 10th.

Mr. John R. Mayne, with a peal on February 27th, has conducted 100 peals at Wil-lesden.

When the peal at Caddington, Beds, was arranged it was hoped that the birth of a son to Princess Alexandra and Mr. Angus Ogilvy would suitably arrange itself. And so it did.

The band who rang the peal of Plain Bob Major at Stratton would like to congratulate Harry Stacey on calling his first peal, and also connect it with Michael Sinden to welcome him to the district.

A good sign of the times is the London County Association Master ringing a peal in the morning with the Master of the Cumber-lands and dining in the evening with the Master of the College Youths. Has this ever taken place before?

With reference to the paragraph regarding the retirement of Mr. Frederick E. Wilshaw, Mr. J. G. Burton informs us that ringing takes place regularly for Sunday services and on Tuesday evenings at Stoke-on-Trent Parish Church (St. Peter ad Vincula).

The first peal on the bells at Bottesford, Leics, rung 60 years ago, was Stedman Triples, conducted by the Rev. F. E. Robinson. The same method was rung on February 29th and was a 60th birthday compliment to Clarence F.
Briggs and 80th to Arthur W. Ward, both ringers for many years at Bottesford.

The Royal quarter had been completed at Luppitt, Devon, on February 29th, and the treble ringer called 'Three more, miss, then catch in rounds.' At the catch 40 feet of rope descended on the second ringer. The incident proved how fortunate the band was to complete the quarter.

BELFRY GOSSIP

With reference to our paragraph in 'Belfry Gossip'
(page 144) concerning the Bennett family of ringers at Horncastle, Lines, we learn from the 'Sheffield Telegraph' that this family team consists of Horace Bennett (tower captain), his wife, Edna, and children,
Jean (21), Joy (19), David (16) and Richard (10). The team get a guinea and a half under a local will for ringing on the anniversary of the Battle of Waterloo.

The ringer of the second in a peal of Minor at Chalfont St. Giles on February 22nd (page 164) was Ronald Snack, and not as submitted.

The Ladies' Guild paid a special tribute to Princess Alexandra. Eight of the members assembled at Leicester and rang a peal of Plain Bob Major.

Mr. Walter Ayre has rung 100 peals at St.
Mary's Church, Apsley End. There have been 106 peals rung here since the bells were installed in 1871. W. A. called the second in 1923 and has now called 89.

Mr. Roy A. Ward, of Houghton Conquest, Beds, informs us that he rang in 183 new towers last year, bringing his total to 1,160.
Of the new towers he rang all but two of the tenors and in all 338 individual bells. His towers were in 19 counties and comprised five twelves, 12 tens, 58 eights, 87 sixes and 11 fives.

For over 30 years Mr. David Vincent, of High Legh, Cheshire, has had the ambition to take part in a peal rung by all 'Davids' on St. David's Day. The attempt was at last made on March 1st, when six Davids started for a peal of Bob Minor prior to the Patronal Festival Evensong at St. David's Church, Newtown, Montgomeryshire. An enthusiastic reception to the venture was given by the Rector
(the Rev. C. Llewellyn Jones) and Mr. H. V.
Corfield, the tower secretary. Unfortunately the peal went astray after over 3,000 changes had been rung. It will be 1970 before the effort can be repeated on a Sunday. The band stood: David Perry (Gresley) 1, David Vincent (Knutsford) 2, David F. Moore (Blr-stall) 3, David Eames (Gresley) 4, David Bates (Wednesbury) 5 and David W. Parkin (Duffield) (cond.) 6. It is hoped that Mr. Vincent will yet achieve this worthy ambition.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION DINNER

After an interval of some years, the London County Association met at dinner on February 29th at the Alexandra Hotel, Clapham. To ensure a sell-out the number of tickets was strictly limited and they were almost all sold on the day of issue. While this meant that unfortunately those members who delayed their decisions were disappointed, it avoided the worry and financial loss experienced on a former occasion.

After ringing at St. Mary's (R.C.) Church, Clapham, an excellent meal was enjoyed, the Master, Mr. W. G. Wilson, being supported by all the officers of the Association. Set speeches were out, but the Master welcomed the members, expressed his thanks to the former secretary, Miss M. E. Powell, for making all the arrangements, which included the gift of a large cake in the shape of a bell, and his pleasure at the presence among the company of Mr. J. Phillips, Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and of Mr. W. Cook, immediate past Master. After Mr. Phillips had replied suitably, Miss Powell was presented with a dressing table set, subscribed for by all present.

The evening concluded with handbell ringing and dancing to the piano playing of one of the guests and to records. One wondered at one stage whether the Beatles had joined the Ancient Society or whether the Society had recently visited Merseyside. W. G. W.

OBITUARY

MR. SEYMOUR BARKER

A link has been broken with the ringers who, between the two world wars, did much to foster change ringing in the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association by the death on March 1st in Llandough Hospital, Cardiff, of Mr. Seymour Barker, aged 86 years.

Seymour came to South Wales at the turn of the century from Somerset, his first tower being St. Peter's, Pentre. He joined St. John's, Cardiff, in the days when Llandaff Cathedral, Whitchurch and St. John's bells were rung by one band, who rang alternately for services at these churches.

He rang his first peal on the tenor at St. John's in 1911: his record of peals for the Llandaff and Monmouth Association was well over 100, the majority being rung on St. John's tenor.

For over forty years, Seymour was tower keeper and captain at St. John's, and during that period the Thursday night practices became the Mecca for ringers from all over the diocese, and such names as Fred Chamberlain, Jack Pitman, Ernest Stitch and Jack Phillips spring readily to mind. These practices did much to improve the 10 bell ringing in the area. The bells were his life and he spent many hours amongst them, only giving up his ringing about five years ago, when he found the belfry steps too much to climb.

The funeral service took place at St. John's on March 4th. The passing bell was rung by W. Dare, and Mr. F. Hannington, Master of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association, represented the ringers. A quarter was rung by the local company on Sunday evening, and the bells were also rung half-muffled throughout the practice on Thursday.

Seymour Barker will never be forgotten in St. John's, his name is on the peal boards and in the peal book, but as one long associated with him I say his memory will always be perpetuated as St. John's bells ring out on all occasions. T. Y.

MR. ALAN R. MACDONALD

We regret to report the death on March 6th, his 80th birthday, of Mr. Alan R. Macdonald, of Skye, 5, Ardmore Road, Parkstone, Poole.

He was the youngest son of a former Rector of Norwood Green, Middlesex, where he taught a band of ringers. A lot of his early ringing was with the Middlesex Association. He was also a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths and later a member of the Westminster Abbey band. After going to live at Parkstone in 1945, he did much work for the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, not only with Poole Parish Church band but in other capacities and was a vice-president of the Guild.

On the outbreak of war in 1914 he returned from Canada and joined the Army. On his discharge in 1918 he joined the staff of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, where he became works manager. He retired in 1945.

The Wimborne Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild at its January meeting decided to ring a quarter peal on March 7th as an 80th birthday compliment to Mr. Macdonald, and also Mr. C. Percy. When the news of Mr. Macdonald's death reached the ringers they decided to ring as intended, and whilst still a birthday compliment to Mr. Percy, to ring it also as a thanksgiving for the life of Mr. Macdonald.

MR. ARTHUR F. WELLINGTON

By the passing of Mr. A. F. Wellington on February 24th at the age of 86, the East Grinstead and District Guild lost one of its very keen members.

Arthur Wellington came to Tunbridge Wells about 15 years ago from Bexhill, Sussex, where he had been in business for over 40 years. During his retirement he took a great interest in ringing and soon made progress, ringing his first quarter peals of Stedman Triples. Plain Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob and, at the age of 80, Double Norwich. He became treasurer of the East Grinstead Guild in 1952, an office he held with distinction till ill health forced him to retire in 1959.

Officers of the Guild attended the cremation service in Tunbridge Wells on February 28th and on March 6th a quarter peal of Grand-sire Triples was rung to his memory. E. J. L.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

The peal at Cawthorne, Barnsley, for the Royal Birth was also rung to mark the 55th year of the formation of the Barnsley and District Society.

Mr. Michael W. Coleman, featured in our issue of March 6th (page 154) is ringing master of the Society of Raving Ringers. He is not connected with the Roving Ringers as was inadvertently stated

The visit of the Chesterfield District of the Derby Diocesan Association to Wingerworth on March 14th will be the first for very many years. Visitors will, in addition to ringing, be able to see the new extensions to the church which when complete will have doubled the seating capacity.

Mr. Donald J. Beach, secretary of the Mansfield District, Southwell Diocesan Guild, is in hospital and last weekend underwent an operation. He is making satisfactory progress.

ORGANISED COURSE IN BELL RINGING

BY NORMAN CHADDOCK

THE progress of church bell ringing has from time to time been assisted by major influences, an important example being the growth of Ringing Guilds towards the close of the last century. The development of organised courses in bell ringing, supported and largely financed by various education authorities, could similarly have a profound beneficial influence on ringing in this present century. This development offers a new sphere of activity to established ringing organisations on whom education authorities depend for support in such ventures.

The week-end residential courses, usually held at some county adult college in an atmosphere of learning and culture and in comfortable and pleasant surroundings, have so far been the most popular; the one-day course is, however, proving very useful and convenient to organise.

The first week-end residential course was held in Essex in 1953, the next in 1959, since when about 15 such courses have been held in various parts of the country. Some of these courses have been elementary, some advanced and others a combination of the two, often providing a choice of two lectures throughout the course, or even for individual or small group tuition.

Over 30 different lecturers have been involved so far, usually three or four on each course. In some cases students have assisted with the tuition. Topics covered have been very diverse, and naturally some have frequently appeared. Towers, bells and fittings, initial instruction, elementary change ringing, rhythm and striking, method study and structure and conducting have been favourite topics. Composition and proof, spliced ringing (Plain and Surprise), belfry and guild organisation have also appeared along with other topics.

Theoretical sessions have been followed by practical sessions in local towers where the students have gathered not just for a ring, but to put into practice the principles learnt in the theory sessions. Tutors have used all kinds of practical and visual aids to illustrate their talks, such as photographs, charts, diagrams, models, handbells, tuning forks, slides, filmstrips, tape recorders, text books, gramophones and jigsaw puzzles. Use has also been made of the Central Council Library and Central Council Publications have often been on sale. Invariably, it has been evident that the tutors have devoted a great deal of time and thought in preparing their lectures and demonstrations and that these have been based on sound practical experience.

In view of the limited time, tutors have endeavoured to give students a vista of the lines on which they themselves should develop and study further, a particular topic. Duplicated notes and exercises for further study and guidance have been frequently given to students. Activity with pencil and paper and handbells has been a constant feature of lectures, which usually end with useful discussion.

It is the policy of some adult colleges, catering for about 60 students, to run two courses (for 30 students each) simultaneously but on subjects of widely differing appeal and to encourage mixing between those attending the two different courses —at meal times and between lectures. Sometimes, at the conclusion, each course has given demonstrations to the other of their respective activities. On one occasion a poetry and drama group were inspired to compose sonnets to the bells. Handbell ringing, especially prior to a short act of worship on the Sunday morning, has been an easy means of securing the interest of those on another course. Although there was little fraternising between the psychologists and the ringers, the latter got on excellently with the Irish country dancers. On one course, it was discovered that a double handed Stedman Cinques ringer was frittering away his time on an orchestral music course. Needless to say, a temporary transfer was, from time to time, arranged.

Ringers have found themselves bombarded with questions about church bells and bell ringing, discussion of which has tended to dominate the scene. This illustrates the propaganda value of such courses which are helping to enhance the position of bell ringing amongst the recognised arts. The college wardens take a close interest in what is going on and at their conferences will inevitably exchange ideas and views. Since there is pressure from many organisations for the use of their colleges they have the opportunity to be selective. Organisers of courses must therefore endeavour to make them so successful that students and college authorities will want to repeat them periodically.

Where such continuity obtains, a new problem arises. It would be relatively easy to arrange the subject matter of a once and for all course, but when a course is in its fifth year such as that at Grantley Hall, with a core of old students, besides newcomers, ingenuity is called for in meeting the needs of all students and preserving some progress and continuity.

And what of the students? Their ages have varied from 16 to 60 (both sexes). Some have travelled a total of over 400 miles to attend. Some have been unable to handle a bell properly, others have been experts in some aspects of ringing. One, who was blind, was expert on handbells. They have gained much from each other and from tutors at odd moments between lectures. Although many fellow students were but a name on the college notice board on the Friday evening, by Sunday tea-time they are established friends, who like you, came on the course hoping to find some guidance out of their difficulties and frustrations. Like you they go away encouraged and stimulated, and armed with some new techniques and greater breadth of vision. They themselves also feel that they have made useful contributions to the success of the course since students and tutors learn much from each other.

There is no doubt that the residential course appeals to a group of ringers, who, at their present stage, are not fully catered for by other ringing activities. Many of them are searching for ways of helping their own struggling bands and for this reason lectures have emphasised the teaching aspects of ringing, dealing not only with the subject, but with how successfully to put it over to recruits.

The continued growth of these courses can only be beneficial. Perhaps we may soon see a full week's course being pioneered, or a connected series of one-day courses on say four to eight near consecutive Saturdays.

BIRMINGHAM IN THE GOLDEN AGE OF RINGING

References at the Henry Johnson Dinner

THE suggestion that Birmingham, despite its great tradition, was now in its golden age of ringing was made at the Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner held at the White Horse Hotel, Birmingham, on March 7th. The thrill of the proper Maximus rhythm was mentioned by Mr. Alan Ainsworth, the Ringing Master, as a new experience which he did not think possible.

Bishop George Sinker, Provost of Birmingham Cathedral, who was accompanied by Mrs. Sinker, was a genial chairman. With him was Mr. R. C. Ingram, Master of the St. Martin's Guild, and Mrs. Ingram, and by his side Mr. G. E. Fearn, Guild secretary. Old friends in Canon and Mrs. Guy Warman were also present.

The loyal toast was followed by the chairman proposing 'The honoured memory of Henry Johnson,' which, as is customary, was drunk in silence.

Mr. Rodney B. Meadows gave the toast of 'Continued prosperity of St. Martin's Guild,' now in its 210th year. He called attention to the revival of the Birmingham flat joke type of humour, which he remarked was not known in the St. Martin's Guild. It was known in the days of Tom Mellor and perhaps by Henry Johnson himself.

What were the feelings, asked Mr. Meadows, when one came back to a city one had loved well in the past? When one came out of the station and saw St. Philip's, the first thing one did was to go to the telephone box and phone SPR 1025 and report oneself. He had a similar experience in West Berlin. On arrival he went into a telephone box and in front of him were the words: 'Fernsprech.'

PEAL OUTLOOK: ALL'S WELL

'How does the prosperity of this Guild appear from the outside? From 'The Ringing World' it seems that you are going through the golden age, with many experts in attendance, and from the peals outlook all is well. You ring many peals, some in ingenious methods and all too often you are judged by your Stedman Cinques, and tomorrow as we are ringing there will be critics listening to the course-ends with newspapers propped in front of them. Perhaps even now and then a pained expression will cross their faces.'

Most sincerely they all wished St. Martin's Guild continued prosperity. He hoped at a similar function in London they would give their support as they had with them three Past Masters of the Ancient Society (Mr. F. E. Collins, Mr. Wilfred Williams and Group Captain Stan Mason).

The new Ringing Master, Mr. Alan Ainsworth, in his reply, reviewed the position of the Guild and said a steady stream of peals came from St. Philip's Cathedral, and having come from foreign lands, he thought he could say that they were very good peals, but there was always room for improvement. As the result of their endeavours last year Miss Susan Funnell, of King's Norton, was the leading lady peal ringer, and Mr. Rodney Pipe the leading conductor and the second leading peal ringer in the national list.

12 BELL PEAL STANDARD

In the Thursday peals Mr. Fearn always tried to get 12 ringers and it was a privilege to ring a peal of Maximus with such a band. He had never before experienced the proper Maximus rhythm; he did not think it was possible, but having come to Birmingham he knew it could be obtained.

St. Martin's tower was known for its Stedman Cinques and they occasionally rang a course of Cambridge Maximus. The Cinques, however, was a tremendous tradition and they must never miss it on a Sunday morning. On Easter Monday an attempt would be made at St. Philip's for a long length of Cambridge Maximus and the band would include eight ringers who rang in the 40,000 at Loughborough.

The bells from Bishop Ryder's Church were now at St. Peter's, Harborne, and they sounded very well. It was a pity there was no shuttering. The bells would not be available for peals. At Perry Barr, valiant efforts were being made to train a young band.

From his experience of Birmingham there was one habit they suffered from—unpunctuality. Punctuality was a courtesy they owed to others and he would remind them of Winston Churchill's saying: 'Unpunctuality is a vile habit.'

The chairman, in proposing 'The Visitors,' recalled that when at Matlock he was invited to a banquet in the Methodist Church Hall on Ash Wednesday, and he was pilloried in the Press for attending such a function in Lent. He would remind them that they were now in the middle of Lent and his church calendar told him that the following day would be 'Refreshment Sunday,' so to any critics of his presence there he could say he was just a little early.

BISHOP'S LOVE OF BELLS

He coupled with the toast the name of Mr. Jack Millhouse, who came from the second finest cathedral in the country, Lincoln. He always found in his contact with their confraternity they were men and women of real fellowship. He was very happy to have this contact with bells and ringers, as for 32 years when he was a missionary in India he built a mud church and afterwards a fine cathedral: neither of them had a ring of bells.

When he came home to Derbyshire his first parish had bells, but they were unsafe to ring; then he went to Bakewell, where they had lovely bells. At the Cathedral there was a beautiful ring and on more than one occasion it was his pleasure to make the long climb to the ringing chamber to greet the ringers. He had already been in touch with Mr. Fearn to say that the bells in question would be available for Easter Monday. He was looking forward to the peal, but the following day he would be going away for a holiday!

He welcomed Mr. F. W. Perrens, president of the neighbouring Guild at Coventry, five or six ringers from Newcastle, four or five from London and others from Lincoln and other parts of the country. From Birmingham there were Canon and Mrs. Guy Warman, and they had also with them Mr. Paul Taylor and Mr. T. W. White.

Mr. Jack Millhouse, who replied, said having been brought up to regard Birmingham as the Mecca of ringing and having experienced their generous hospitality in the past he was very proud to be with them on the 76th anniversary of the Henry Johnson dinner, and to thank the chairman and the Guild for their welcome.

DISCOUNTING HIS 1,000 PEALS

The county north of Lincolnshire was not the only one with a professor of its own. Last September he spent a holiday with their secretary in Somerset and after a peal at Evercreech he told him that that was a 1,000th peal. Mr. Fearn told him that it would cost him a lot of beer. Later on he said, 'I have been thinking about those peals of yours and they include a lot of peals of Minor, but six bell peals did not count. You have also some peals on eight, 10 and 12 bells with the tenor behind. Don't do anything about those at the moment. I'll have a word with the Professor and let you know.'

Canon Guy Warman proposed the toast of 'The Ringing World' and said it encouraged fellowship and always had an interesting correspondence page to which he usually turned first.

The Editor, in reply, said that while during the past year he was confident 'The Ringing World' would show a profit, it would be a splendid one, probably in the region of £300. A substantial rise in labour costs was in operation throughout the year and while revenue had increased, economies had to be operative, particularly in regard to 24 page issues—and the instructions he had received were to limit these to extreme urgencies.

TWO PROPOSITIONS

The committee for 1964 was faced with two propositions—either to economise and cut to within the compass of income or to seek additional income so as to be in a position to produce a 24 page issue say once every six weeks.

If the latter should be the policy adopted then there were three possible sources to increase revenue and at the same time maintain an 8d. publication.

The first was in regard to postal subscribers. The present annual charge was 35s., which meant after deducting postage of 2½d. per copy a net revenue of 5½d. per copy. If the price was 36s. there would be an increase in the net income of £130 per annum, and every 1s. increase would give a corresponding increase.

The second was to make a general charge for all quarter peals. At the present time nearly 50 per cent kindly sent a donation. If all paid there would probably be an added revenue of £200 a year.

Another that might be introduced would be a flat rate of 4s. for 30 words in all classes of Notices. This might give another £50.

None of these increases suggested should disturb the Exercise or the readers. It would avoid the loss in the number of readers that did follow the price increase from 6d. to 8d. per copy. 'To feel happier we want about another £500 per annum; then we would be able to do justice to the big occasion, which is associated with the royal birth, and at the same time maintain regular features.'

TO TALK OF MANY THINGS

The concluding toast, that of 'The Chairman,' was proposed by Miss Muriel Reay. She gave a delightful parody with apologies to Lewis Carroll:

The time has come, the Provost said,
To talk to George of things
Like ringing peals on Saturday.
On other 12 bell rings.

Why can't you ring St. Philip's bells
More often than you do?
Why not attempt a long peal there?
Or better still ring two.

On Thursday nights you only ring
A peal on eight or ten.
What is the matter? Tell me, George.
Can you not find the men?

You often ring the same old tune.
Now tell me, George, please do.
What's wrong with methods such as Greek,
Or Macclesfield or Crewe?

You must persuade the ringers, George.
To ring the New Year in—
Although my neighbours may complain
About the midnight din.

I've heard you call some ringers poor—
Too slow at back or hand—
Why don't you practise every day,
And so improve the band.

When George heard this he scratched his head
And wore the hair away.
Wondering how he could find the time
To ring a peal a day.

Miss Reay concluded by saying in Birmingham they had very amicable relations with their clergy. They certainly had at the Cathedral. Whenever a band from another tower came to the Cathedral, they could be certain that the Provost would be there to welcome them.

During the evening a touch of Grandsire Caters was rung by Messrs. F. W. Perrens, Rodney Pipe, R. C. Ingram, Wilfred Williams and J. A. Anderson.

The evening was admirably arranged by Mr. G. A. Fearn.

LYTCHETI MATRAVERS, DORSET.—On Feb. 29th, 1.440 Plain Bob Minor: Mary E. Elmes (first of Minor) 1, R. G. W. Robertson 2, Juliet Wooders 3, M. J. Young 4, I. W. Blackwood 5, G. W. Elmes (cond.) 6. Both compositions consisting of singles only.

WASHINGTON BAND MEET IN LONDON

The ten ringers selected for the trip to Washington met on Saturday in London and had lunch together and received instructions for the trip. Afterwards they rang together on the back ten at St. Giles' Cripplegate. Before dispersing the team had their photographs taken in front of Westminster Abbey as the Washington authorities want these for preliminary publicity purposes.

Contributions, which now exceed £400, sent to Mr. Douglas Hughes, c/o Westminster Bank, St. Mary Axe, E.C.2, will be gratefully acknowledged and passed on to Dean Francis B. Sayre.

For letters see page 188.

FIRST LADY MASTER University of Wales Society

MISS GILLIAN GRANEY

The first lady to be Master of the University of Wales Society is Miss Gillian Graney (23), whose home is at King's Langley, Hertfordshire. She believes she is the fourth generation of her family to ring there: she started ringing about 10 years ago.

At Watford Grammar School, Gillian campaigned for several years for the privilege of ringing the bells of Watford Parish Church for the Founder's Day service. Eventually permission was granted and the outcome was the formation of Watford Grammar Schools Society, with Miss Graney as first Ringing Master.

She entered Aberystwyth University in 1960 and graduated last year. Her present appointment is a research assistant in the agricultural botany department.

In her first year at Aberystwyth a College Bellringers' Society was formed as part of the University of Wales Society. Gillian's second year saw her as Master of the College Society. In her third year she was secretary of both the College and University of Wales Societies. As the person who should have been Master this year is in Germany, she combines again dual offices—being Master of College and University Societies. The College band rings regularly at Llanbadarn Fawr.

Mainly because there are not enough experienced ringers in her area, Miss Graney has only rung about 11 peals. If other members have her enthusiasm, we feel certain that this total can be augmented.

THE LADIES' GUILD

The Central District held its annual meeting at Emmanuel Church, Streatham, on February 29th. Ringing before Evensong included a ladies' touch of Bob Major. We enjoyed the service in this subtly lit, beautiful church: this was followed by an excellent tea.

There were 18 members at the business meeting: the chair was taken by the president, Mrs. O. Barnett. Members stood in silent tribute to the Hon. B. Gibbs, who died the previous Monday.

Mrs. T. J. Lock was elected vice-president. Mrs. E. Savory being thanked for her excellent work this last year. Miss J. Spreadbury was elected secretary. Committee members: Mrs. R. Fardon, Mrs. H. Hart, Mrs. E. Savory, Mrs. Darvill. Central Committee: Miss C. Rimmer, Mrs. R. Darvill.

Methods during evening ringing included London and Bristol.

Next meeting: May 30th. Annual meeting: January 30th, Wood Green. R. D.

OBITUARY

MR. S. E. BENNETT

With the passing of Stanley Edward Bennett on February 29th, Spalding ringers have lost one of their most faithful members. He had not been able to ring since Christmas 1962, on doctor's orders, but often looked into the belfry on Sundays, when well enough, and attended branch and guild meetings, holding the office of branch ringing master up to his death.

His father was sexton and ringing master at Bicker for very many years, so it's no wonder that Stan learned to ring at an early age. But his first peal was not rung till 1923, one of Bob Minor at Bicker, conducted by his brother Albert. He moved to Gosberton in 1933 and was with the band there until 1936 when he moved to Spalding. He joined the band at the Parish Church, but his work did not allow him a lot of time for ringing, and it was not until 1944 that he rang his first peal of Major there, this being his 20th peal. From this date onwards he took part in an ever increasing number of peals on all numbers of bells, being very capable of good striking and ringing the method. It was in the winter of 1959, when the Monday band was formed and with his peal total at 260, that, as he used to say, his greatest thrill came, ringing a different Surprise Major method each week. His final peal total was 376, his last one being a peal of Ullesthorpe Surprise Major non-conducted.

A large congregation of relatives and friends attended the funeral service at the Parish Church on March 4th. The bells were rung half-muffled both before and after the service by ringers from a wide area. Cremation followed at Peterborough.

We extend our deepest sympathies to his wife and son, Maurice. Let us hope that we may all learn some lesson from his fine example of loyalty to his church and ringing and may his soul rest in peace. R. C. N.

MR. ALAN RONALD MACDONALD

The funeral service for Mr. Alan R. Macdonald was held at St. Peter's Church, Parkstone, on March 11th, followed by cremation at Bournemouth. Family mourners included Mrs. McCausland (niece), Mrs. Tadmam and Mr. McCausland. Also present were Mr. Douglas Hughes (representing Messrs. Mears and Stainbank) with friends from London: Mr. L. J. Lockyer, chairman Wimborne Branch (representing Canon C. Carew Cox, president Salisbury Guild); Mr. W. C. Shute, ringing master North Dorset Branch (representing Mr. W. C. West, general secretary); Mr. H. A. Mitchell, Mr. F. Price and other ringers.

Mr. Macdonald had given valuable service to the Salisbury Guild, particularly as its representative on the Diocesan Advisory Committee, from which he resigned only last year owing to increasing ill health. May he rest in peace. C. C. C.

50 YEARS AGO

'R.W.' March 13th, 1914.—

WHAT NEXT? Sir.—I think your correspondent 'Anxious' need not hesitate to claim his peal of Minor, seeing that a peal(?) has been published in 'The Ringing World,' in which one of the ringers taking part sat down for one or two intervals of rest. But what did that matter so long as the others jogged merrily on for the allotted time? This 'performance' will no doubt be duly recorded in the report of the Association concerned, and receive its quota of points for peals.—CYKO.

The Washington Selection

Dear Sir.—Now that the list of 'approved' ringers for Washington Consecration has been published may I ask in what way they are representative of the ringers of this country? Representative of the College Youths perhaps, and drawn from all over the country, but not of the Exercise as a whole. Where for instance (apart from Mr. Parkes, I believe, whose presence was specially requested) is there a member of the other historic society? The Cumberlands today possess ringers every bit as good as those going and whose standards are at least as exacting. Where is a representative of the ladies? As president of the Ladies' Guild I know of several who could certainly measure up to those chosen. One of the band has a wife who could equally as well have represented her Cathedral. (It may be recalled that the College Youths had one prominent American lady as a member of their Society.)

I have a number of good friends among those going and I'm sure they will realise my criticism is not personal—just that surely room could have been found for some 'outsiders' when it is remembered that nearly half the ringers in this country are ladies.

Nobody will have envied Mr. Chilcott his task in finding 10 ringers to go to Washington but everybody would have honoured him if he had risen above 'party politics'.—Yours faithfully, OLIVE D. BARNETT.

President, Ladies' Guild.

Eminently Fair

Dear Sir.—Most ringers will agree that an eminently fair and suitable selection of ringers to go to Washington, has been made. This must have been a most difficult task, and has been most ably performed.

These ringers will be admirable representatives of British ringing and are all deserving of their honour.

There are many ringers who, like myself, would dearly love to have been invited, but I am sure that all those, and ringers generally, will join me in wishing these ten ringers bon voyage and a pleasant week in Washington.—Yours faithfully, RICHARD E. PRICE.
Thrybergh.

Yorkshire Ends

Dear Sir.—I visited Accrington on March 5th to take part in a peal, and not, I can assure you, with the object of inspecting the tail ends which have provoked the recent correspondence.

Some of your readers will no doubt be amused to learn that these tail ends are, in common with many things at the wrong side of the Pennines, imperfect imitations of the genuine Yorkshire article.

Furthermore, with typical Lancastrian perversity, the ropes have been given a left hand thread, thus making it necessary to keep untwisting them throughout the peal.—Yours sincerely, VERNON BOTTOMLEY.
Northwram.

Peal List

Dear Sir.—We have decided to compile a complete list of those who ring more than 25 peals during 1964, for subsequent publication.

To avoid errors, will those who change their surnames during the year please let us know.—Yours faithfully, JAMES R. TAYLOR.

Peals and Membership

Dear Sir.—Following Mr. Parrott's recent letter concerning a peal at Putney and recalling the aftermath of Mr. R. Leale's North Wales tour, I would like to query the present basis on which peals are rung for a territorial association. At present the 'correct etiquette' is for a peal rung at a certain tower to be rung for the Association to which that tower belongs. This practice can claim two advantages: (1) No problem arises if a visiting ringer joins a local band in a peal; and (2) the Associations benefit financially from the life membership subscriptions of such visiting ringers.

However, this procedure has the great drawback that peals recorded for territorial Associations bear no direct relationship to the abilities of that Association's resident members. Why should a band from, e.g., Yorkshire, ring a peal for, e.g., the Devonshire Guild, merely because they are ringing in Devonshire and two members of the band are non-resident members of that Guild? The only reasons can be either courtesy (will the Guild be grateful if the peal is a bad one, or causes trouble?) or financial reasons. I suggest the reasons are predominantly financial since every Association accepts peals rung wholly by non-resident life members, but rejects them if the band contains a ringer who has not paid a life-membership subscription.

I feel that the attitude of the Exercise towards this question ought to be re-examined, and would submit the following proposals as a basis for discussion: (a) A peal should be rung for a local territorial Association only if at least half the band are resident members of that Association; otherwise the peal should be non-Association or rung for an appropriate non-territorial body. (b) Every ringer not a resident member of the territorial Association to which the tower at which a peal is rung belongs should pay a sum, i.e., 6d., to that Association for each successful peal attempt in its territory. Point (a) excludes peals by bands consisting wholly of visiting ringers, whilst allowing a minority of visitors to join a local band, and point (b) ensures that visiting ringers contribute towards the local Association. I imagine this approach would, in fact, increase the income of most Associations from visiting peal ringers.—Yours faithfully,

DAVID A. H. BENNETT.
Kensington, London.

—and some Teachers

Dear Sir.—May I add a word of thanks to Mr. Harold Chant for his tribute to those who in their particular field of ringing activity, apart from peal ringing, have for years, and in the face of some opposition, laboured purely for love of the Exercise and its art.

For the information of those who may wish to study the work on 'Bell Handling and Control,' indicated by Mr. Chant, particulars are given in an advertisement in this issue, under 'Publications.' We, in the College of Campanology, feel that we have our reward in the many kind tributes, from instructors and pupils alike, to our Part I of 'The Ringers' Manual of Reference.'

Part II, 'Method Structure in Change Ringing,' now nearing completion of a greatly protracted revision, should evoke even more interest, if it be found possible to publish, in the near future, a brief chapter-synopsis of the work.—Yours very truly,

A. YORK-BRAMBLE.
Southsea.

Naming of Methods in Peals

Dear Sir.—I view with some regret the recommendations to enforce that the names given to methods rung for the first time in spliced peals should stand for posterity. The following objections could be raised to this idea, particularly if the motion is to be made retrospective:—

(1) Large numbers of names are appropriated by one band or even one individual at one swoop. These are often used for fairly straightforward methods, that a local group might choose to ring for the first time at their own tower, and name appropriately, as has been the custom in the past. There will be few good easy methods left in time for such ambitions, which will then only be fulfilled by arduous practice in difficult methods that might be impracticable except for a team of Surprise experts.

(2) Some most unsuitable names have on occasions been used in multi-method naming exercises, particularly in the notorious example at Heptonstall a few years ago, one of which I have had the pleasure of ringing and suitably renaming since. I could say that I felt it my duty to do so, as the previous name was ridiculous, for a method, even though that name will go down in ringing history for very worthy reasons in another connection.

It is true that in the interests of statistical tidiness and avoidance on confusion it is desirable to have only one name published per method; it is therefore particularly incumbent upon those responsible for method naming that the names chosen should be appropriate and worthy and not make the whole business into a cheap adolescent farce.

When the Leicester Guild rang a number of new methods of Royal recently they were named after places in the county. I did think at the time that Leicestershire was cursed with a lot of ugly-sounding names, but otherwise the choice was quite justified. The same Guild has also used some Welsh names. There is no particular objection to this, except that they use up a lot of space in print, and one recent one was worthy of posterity in that, if my memory serves me correctly, it was that of the tower where the first 'five-in-a-day' was achieved. 'Oh' was not so appropriate, though one can envisage the motives for using this name. I would confess that, in pursuit of the 'Alphabet' quest, I was responsible for the choice of several names of Irish and Scottish counties, but these are good, fine-sounding names and quite appropriate to the traditions of method-naming after counties, famous cities and places where the peal was first performed.

There are plenty of good names left without scraping the bottom of the bucket for others.

I would add a last plea, one that has been repeated several times, that the Central Council would at last publish its 'Collection of Surprise Major Methods' obeying certain qualities, together with a list of names and performances... also with amendment slips at frequent intervals for those who do not have the time to keep a foolproof filing system. A similar publication for Plain Major, Royal methods, Doubles and Minor would also be very welcome and would avoid duplication, frustration and confusion.—Yours sincerely, DEREK P. JONES.

Burton-on-Trent.

Service Ringing Records

Dear Sir.—The bells at Clevedon Parish Church were dedicated on 30-9-1925, and apart from the war years, when ringing was banned, they have been rung twice on every Sunday since that date, three times on the great festivals.—Yours faithfully,

E. G. CAPEL.
Clevedon, Somerset.

STANDING COMMITTEE—MEMBERSHIP

The hon. secretary announced the names of the ex-officio members: Canon A. G. G. Thurlow, Messrs. J. Freeman, E. A. Barnett, F. W. Perrens, A. A. Hughes, H. N. Pistow, E. H. Lewis, F. Sharpe, G. W. ## AMENDMENT OF RULE

A proposed amendment to Rule 13 standing in the names of Mr. R. S. Anderson and Mr. G. A. Halls was withdrawn by permission of the Council.

MOTION

The following motion was, by permission of the Council, proposed on behalf of the Truro Diocesan Guild by Mr. D. Burnett in place of a motion on the Agenda paper and formally seconded by the hon. secretary in the absence of the original seconder:—

'That all chancellors be urged to ensure that in all faculty petitions arising as a result of quinquennial surveys of consecrated buildings, expert opinion has been taken in matters of bells, their frames and hanging, such matters being normally outside the usual work of the surveying architect; and when architect and experts are not in agreement, note to be taken of such disagreement.'

After debate, during which it was pointed out that the Council could not tell chancellors what they should do and the need for a more comprehensive book on the care and preservation of bells was stressed, the motion was referred to the Towers and Belfries Committee, with power to act and to co-opt if necessary, on the proposition of Mr. C. K. Lewis, seconded by Mr. R. S. Anderson.

PLACE OF NEXT MEETING

Invitations had been received from the Truro Diocesan Guild to visit Truro, the Peterborough Diocesan Guild to visit Peterborough and the Coventry Diocesan Guild to visit Coventry. It was decided by a majority to accept the invitation to Truro.

OTHER BUSINESS

The hon. secretary gave notice of motion to amend Rule 9 (Meetings of the Council) by substituting the words 'at a previous meeting' for 'at the previous meeting.'

Mr. T. J. Lock asked whether the Council would be prepared to take over from the Middlesex Association the publication of a booklet containing all Surprise Major methods which had been rung. On the proposition of Mr. F. E. Dukes, seconded by Mr. G. A. Halls, it was decided to refer the matter to the Methods Committee for consideration, with power to act.

Mr. G. Dodds proposed and Mr. W. Ayre seconded that Mr. Sharpe be asked to convey the good wishes of the Council to the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers during his forthcoming visit. This was carried.

VOTES OF THANKS

On the motion of the president, the thanks of the Council were expressed to the Mayor of Yarmouth, the Archdeacon of Norwich and the president of the Norwich Diocesan Association for their welcome; to the Lord Bishop of Norwich for officiating at the Holy Communion service; to the officers of the Norwich Diocesan Association, in particular the Master, the hon. secretary, Mr. H. W. Barrett (and Mrs. Barrett), the Ringing Master, Mr. F. C. Goodman, and to the captain and secretary of the Great Yarmouth ringers (Messrs. A. Wigmore and P. Newstead) for local arrangements; to Mr. G. W. Fletcher for his help in obtaining the use of a room for headquarters; and to local incumbents and towerkeepers for the use of their bells.

After the meeting the members were the guests of the Mayor and Mayoress at tea.

On March 8th, the Sunday Service band at St. Lawrence's Church, Hawkhurst, carried on a pre-war tradition, by ringing two quarter peals on the same day. It was the first time a quarter peal has been rung on eight bells by a resident band for ten years. Congratulations to all, especially Judy Bowen who rang her 25th, and to the other 'first' achieved in the quarter of Bob Major. Both quarters were rung as a birthday compliment to Mrs. S. G. Waters and a christening compliment to Master J. S. T. Waters.

The peal of Jedburgh Surprise Major at Pinchbeck, Lincs, on March 2nd was first in the method by all the band and Mr. Raymond Daw's 50th peal.

A few minutes after the birth of the new Prince, Biddenden, Kent ringers were unknowingly celebrating the event by ringing their first ever course of Kent Treble Bob Minor.

The band who rang the peal at Caythorpe, Lincs, on February 19th, wish to associate it with the name of the late Mr. George Scott, of Fulbeck, who died recently and was a founder member of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

St. Bartholomew's Church, Penn. has changed the date of the annual ringers' service from Advent Sunday to June 14th, as many friends had not been able to attend at that time of the year owing to inclement weather.

There will be no ringing at St. Michael's, Hathersage, Derbyshire, until further notice as the bells have been condemned as unsafe and dangerous to ring. It seems the bells will need quarter-turning and complete rehanging in a new metal frame before further ringing can take place.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. R. Peacy and their daughter Janet, from Willingdon, Sussex, were proposed members of the Kent County Association in the belfry prior to the peal, at Rainham, Kent. Apart from being rung in honour of the birth of a daughter to Princess Alexandra, it was an anniversary compliment to Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cheal and a birthday compliment to Mr. Percy.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Keith Fleming, of Bedford, is at present sailing round Australia in the M.V. Port Brisbane. He recently spent a few days in Adelaide, where he became the first ringer to score all three South Australian towers in one day. His visit was rounded off with a quarter of Grandsire Triples at St. Peter's Cathedral.

Mr. F. J. Sage of Luppitt, Devon, has left for Saskatoon, Canada.

The method rung in the peal at Westerham, on February 22nd, was Lincoln Surprise Major and not Lincolnshire as published on page 178.

In honour of the royal birth, a peal is to be attempted tomorrow (Saturday), March 21st, at St. Paul's Cathedral, London, at 4.30 p.m.

We are informed by Mr. Brian Bladon that the handbell peal at Swindon on page 181 is a hoax, and we accordingly ask for it to be expunged from all records.

Two of the members of the new band formed at South Mymms last February, under the direction of Mr. Geoffrey Dodds and helpers from St. Albans Abbey, rang in the quarter peal in honour of the royal birth on March 12th. It is over 40 years since a quarter peal was rung on South Mymms bells.

The Rev. A. Clayton informs us that quarter peal attempts will take place at Clapham Park about once a fortnight and that visitors to London should contact him at 152, Brudenell Road, Tooting Graveney, S.W.17, stating their capabilities. Quarter peals start at 2 p.m. sharp on a Sunday. Parties on outings should also contact him.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. Tom Myers, of Plymouth, has been confined to his house since February 10th. His spirits, however, are high and during the past couple of weeks he has made a little headway. With the warmer weather near at hand, and his determination to be up and doing, his friends are certain they will see a steady progress.

We are sorry to learn that the health of Mr. Frank Knight is giving him concern. He has been off work for three weeks and is having out-patient hospital treatment for adrenal glands. His doctor has advised him to leave Hampshire, a thing he is reluctant to do as he has made a lot of grand new friends in the Winchester Guild area.

EASTER AND POWER

By Canon C. Carew Cox

WHAT would you wish to be the outcome of your Easter greeting, of your Easter worship? What would you wish to convey by keeping the Easter Festival? What would you wish the tongues of the bells you handle to express? One ventures to say it should be nothing less than a persistent testimony to a spiritual power compared with which the world can offer nothing so uplifting, so hopeful and enduring.

It is not conceivable that any mere human being could ever with absolute confidence claim the mastery over all things created and over all peoples. Because sooner or later death will remove him from his pedestal and all his imagined authority will cease to operate. All history witnesses to the fact that those who seek for world power are but the progenitors of conflict. For world power must always be challengeable and those who would win it are never utterly sure of their ground. There will ever be someone who wants the same thing. 'From whence come wars and fightings among you?' wrote St. James. 'Come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members?'

But there was One who said: 'All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth.' 'Be of good cheer, I have overcome the world.' And that is the origin of Easter. The vindication of the power and authority of Jesus Christ, the Son of Man and Son of God, not only over all mankind, but also over Death and Hell. An authority which now is timeless. Defied and scorned as it has been, there is and has been no message more welcome to people compassed by mortality than the Easter assurance of this power which shall bring them through the gate of death and turn their sorrows into joy. And since the first Easter Day multitudes have lived and died in the knowledge and consolation of that power: while multitudes have yet to be convinced of it and their lives enlightened by it.

Committed to the Christian Church ought it not to form the background and impulse of every Christian ringer? Our church bells are just noisy playthings if we have anything less at heart. But with the Easter fact and Truth behind this particular service of ours they can become the heralds of unimaginable future peace. In their highest use they summon men to the worship of Him Who, by virtue of His own sinless life on earth and through His suffering and death on the Cross for the sake of Righteousness, could claim to be the 'Resurrection and the Life,' and to lead men out of the darkness of the tomb into the ineffable brightness of the Garden of Hope.

There is so much to do—more than ever in the world as we know it today, full of threatenings and fears and mistrust and violence. It cries out for emancipation from all that is devilish, corrupting and deadening. And without the fact of Easter that must be an unanswerable cry. Each Easter Day, then, should bring to Christian hearts and minds a deeper sense of this power of renewal they possess.

If there is something wanting in our belfries—lack of interest, or enthusiasm, lack of friendliness, any carelessness of performance, or whatever else—it is for us to pray for and strive to cultivate the freshness and strong promise symbolised by the Resurrection of Jesus Christ from the Dead. The gate He opened by His own self-sacrifice and labour and love is open to all of us and to all men. There is nothing now He cannot renew, nothing that cannot be changed into the likeness of the heavenly.

Glory, then, in this power of His as the power that liberates, 'delivers from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God.' So we who are the children of God have indeed the power to liberate from our inmost being, say, the kindly, generous thought; the helpful hand; the gentle word; the smile of encouragement; the will to duty, patience and perseverance; and every other virtue which is the fruit of the Spirit—just as exquisite melody is liberated from a stringed instrument by the soul of one who has the skilled command over his fingers. We are called in the power of the Resurrection to become 'new creatures in Christ,' people who rejoice in the spiritual skill at their command—ringers certainly. In our belfries and in all our associations with other ringers the opportunities are endless for proving our possession of this power, this Soul which can overcome all that tends to corrupt because it is illuminated with the 'Light that never was on sea or land,' which lives to justify the Immortal and to temper the natural with the supernatural.

Thus our Easter bells shall express all that wells up from the ringers' hearts, so nobly worded by Tennyson:—

Ring out false pride in place and blood,
The civic slander and the spite;
Ring in the love of truth and right,
Ring in the common love of good.

Ring out old shapes of foul disease;
Ring out the narrowing lust of gold;
Ring out the thousand wars of old,
Ring in the thousand years of peace.

Ring in the valiant man and free,
The larger heart, the kindlier hand;
Ring out the darkness of the land,
Ring in the Christ that is to be.

Washington—Both Sides of the Atlantic write

A View from Canada

Dear Sir,—I refer to a letter written by a Mrs. Collings of Solihull, in your February 21st issue that has just arrived, and which concerns problems of ringing in North America.

On the face of it, I must say that I am sympathetic to Mrs. Collings' point of view. £1,000 would be far better spent if an expert were obtained on loan for say six months (for that is the time to be purchased with such an amount), to teach the new ringers at Washington Cathedral, D.C., than the ten ringers to be imported on a 'one shot deal'! I sincerely hope that a competent but simple series of lectures can in any case be given by one of the band while they are there.

On the other hand, the key to any successful venture in North America is the magic word 'publicity.' This in the purely local context within the city of Washington, D.C., will most probably bring in a response from the typically generous American citizen of that city to where are not only the costs of the ten ringers covered, but there is ample surplus to then think about a temporary instructor. I admire Mr. Dirksen and his committee for taking this sensible gamble. Having gone through the whole of this business seven years ago in Vancouver, Canada (without the good fortune, either of a progressive Cathedral or a new ring of bells), I can assure you that one has to do anything to obtain the publicity—and after that one can settle down to do what one really wants!

However, I must profoundly disagree with the Editor's footnote to the letter, which has a typically European misconception of life in a continent as distinct from a country! I think Mr. Dirksen would agree with me that, unlike a small country, there is no real national focus on the capital city, except perhaps in times of national emergency. The bells in Washington's Cathedral will almost assuredly never be heard throughout America. The problem here is of the size of the U.S.A. (and Canada): one must not forget that Washington, D.C., is 3,000 miles from San Francisco, and there is far more affinity between say British Columbia in Canada and California in U.S.A. in practical terms than there ever is between either of us and our Eastern seaboard areas—for you see, the Rocky Mountains and vast prairies (even deserts in the south) separate us geographically—and this always caused an emotional separation too. In actual fact therefore, it will be fortunate indeed if Mr. Dirksen and his committee can manage coverage beyond their own city (which suffers a further disadvantage perhaps by not being part of any larger State), for all cities in North America have to be inward looking, just because huge distances usually separate them. One can only wish them all possible success in their efforts and all of us I am sure will do what we can to assist where possible.

It must be confessed that it is a tragedy of our age, where commercial interests allied to advertising have grasped the mass media here to where 100,000,000 persons were reputed to have watched 'The Beatles' on three consecutive Sunday evening T.V. shows, while a programme on a more appropriate Sunday theme scarcely can squeeze itself out of the city that generated it. I must confess, however, that even nationally owned T.V., such as we have in the C.B.C. in Canada, scarcely does better, for after all they inflicted 'The Beatles' on 18,000,000 Canadians at exactly the same times!—Yours very truly,

A. J. M. COLLINS.

Vancouver, British Columbia.

Lady should be included

Dear Sir,—Whilst not casting any reflections on those ringers nominated to go to Washington, U.S.A., I do feel that at least one lady member of our Exercise should have been included.

This, I feel, would do much to promote interest in ringing in the U.S.A. where church activities are much family affairs with the ladies taking the initiative. Probably the opening ceremony will be televised and what better nationwide advertisement could we have than to see both men and women of our Exercise participating. Is it too late to amend the present arrangements?—Yours faithfully,

M. PETERS.

Southampton.

Stand down for Wife

Dear Sir.—The Dean of Washington paid particular emphasis on the fact that he desired a representative band of ringers to open the Cathedral bells, but despite his request the selectors have, in my opinion, failed miserably in their duty in putting forward the names as published.

One important omission springs readily to mind, i.e. the exclusion of any female ringers, and in this connection Miss Joan Beresford and Mrs. Jill Stanforth surely warranted inclusion. I would go further and suggest that Mr. Stanforth should stand down in favour of his wife.

Whilst I am fully aware that any list presented would be open to criticism, I feel a more representative band would have resulted if Mr. E. A. Barnett had been approached for his advice and guidance; indeed it was discourteous that this was not done at the outset.—Yours faithfully,

HERBERT G. ANDREWS.

Worcester Park, Surrey.

Coaching at length preferable

Dear Sir.—I have to agree with both you and Mrs. E. M. Collings about the 'American visit.' It is only fair to say that neither her letter nor the reply contains the full story. The Washington learners do need coaching at length. Crash courses are not enough, especially if there is no going tower within 500 miles.

The Washingtonians did have a chance last October 20th both to see good handling and to hear good striking, at least when the Groton band was allowed to ring familiar touches of Stedman Triples. I will have to let our English guests vouch for this assertion.

As for an 'introduction on a big scale to change ringing in the United States,' the Groton bells were 'properly rung, broadcast and recorded throughout America' on a nation-wide hook-up last July 4th. True, we were allowed only a few minutes of plain hunting because the LP stereophonic recording had also to contain many other American bells, but who knew whether we were ringing Original Caters, as we jokingly call it, a peal of Spliced Surprise or rapid-fire stonies?

I am elated that the English ringers are coming to the United States. I only hope they will be able to visit our tower and ring a peal of Stedman Caters.—Yours sincerely,

RUSSELL S. YOUNG.

STONE RINGER'S 50 YEARS' SERVICE

A dinner was held at the Unicorn, Stone, on March 7th, to honour the 50 years' service of Mr. Willis Buckley to St. Michael's Parish Church, Stone. The dinner was attended by local ringers and their wives and friends, and guests included the Rev. C. A. Harris (rector), Rev. W. Goldstream (curate), Mr. R. Davies (churchwarden) and Mr. C. Harper (verger) and their wives. There were also present Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Key (Gnosall) and Mr. R. Hawkesworth (Brewood).

Following an excellent turkey dinner, Mr. H. Hodson, leader of the local band, presented Mr. Buckley with a wristlet watch from his fellow ringers. He mentioned his long and loyal service to the church, not only as a ringer but as a sidesman and former member of the P.C.C. and said Willis was a shining example of a service bell-ringer by his punctual and regular attendance and readiness to help learners. A bouquet of daffodils was handed to Mrs. Buckley by Stone's first lady ringer, Mrs. Glenda Rowley.

In thanking his fellow ringers for their gift, Mr. Buckley recalled the old days in a cold, damp and badly lit ringing chamber. He hoped he would enjoy many more years as a ringer in his retirement. Willis was 65 on February 27th and recently concluded 50 years' of service with a local boot and shoe company. The 40th anniversary of his wedding also takes place this year.

The Rector expressed the thanks of St. Michael's and conveyed a message of congratulation from Mr. E. S. Bowers of Disley, Cheshire, former churchwarden. The rest of the evening was spent in community singing with Mrs. Key at the piano and 'Barney' proving to be as fine a singer as he is a ringer.

To honour the occasion a peal of Stedman Triples, conducted by Mr. B. G. Key, was rung prior to the dinner.

FENLAND RINGING AUTHOR

Those who have enjoyed reading Trevor A. Bevis' articles on churches, the majority in East Anglia, will find entertainment in 'A Fair Fenny Island.' This is a selection of articles concerning the Fenlands, which he has contributed to 'The Cambridgeshire Times' and associate newspapers.

Born in Fenland, Trevor writes: 'With a fair amount of travelling at home and abroad, I have yet to see a sunset to better that of the Fenlands. The air is fresh and stimulating. On rare occasions it is possible to walk across a field and not see one's feet which are hidden in mist—yet the sunshine is all around. Such is the magic of the Fens. In my home town (March) I can stand on a certain road and see Ely Cathedral 15 miles away—like a ship in full sail through a golden sea of corn!'

'A Fair Fenny Island' is sold for 2/6. Mr. Bevis lives at 150, Burrowmoor Road, March, Cambs.

GRESHAM'S SCHOOL HAS RINGING SOCIETY

During this term, a Society of Ringers has started at Gresham's School, Holt, Norfolk. As there is only one usable ring of bells in the Holt Deanery, handbell ringing has been practised regularly and six boys can now ring Bob Doubles. All are learning to handle a bell at Holt Parish Church where the two bells are rung for ringing and go quite well. Visits have been paid to Wiveton where, with the help of Mr. W. West, the tower captain, and local ringers, strides are being made towards ringing rounds and call changes. The Society has rung its first quarter on handbells at the school.

LIVERPOOL UNIVERSITY SOCIETY DINE

About 60 members and friends assembled in the Philharmonic Hotel, Liverpool, on the occasion of the Liverpool University Society's annual dinner, on February 29th.

In the morning several peal attempts had been arranged, two of those by the visitors being successful. The Society's Dinner Day peal of Plain Bob Major, attempted at Bromborough, failed even to get off its feet, and thus avoided the traditional embarrassment of being miscalled. However, a quarter peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major was rung instead. Unfortunately a quarter peal attempt at St. Hilary's, Wallasey, was unsuccessful. There was general ringing in the afternoon at Garston, Childwall, West Derby, Tue Brook and St. Francis Xavier's.

At dinner, the Master, Mr. C. K. Cooper, welcomed the visitors to this, the third such occasion. Proposing the toast of 'The Church,' Mr. Cooper urged the Society to direct its attention towards Sunday Service ringing rather than peals. In reply, Canon G. C. C. Pepys, Rector of Liverpool, welcomed the presence of the members of the Society at Our Lady and St. Nicholas, and thanked them for their valuable assistance.

Mr. John H. Fielden then proposed 'The Visitors.' He mentioned representatives from the Universities of Cambridge, Oxford, London, Bristol, Nottingham, Manchester and Hull, apart from a good number of local Liverpool ringers and those from the Wirral. A large contingent from the Birmingham area again helped to produce a successful evening.

Mr. J. Brown, a ringer at Our Lady and St. Nicholas, replied on behalf of the visitors. He said what a grand lot of boys and girls the Society had and hoped that in general the friendship between University Societies and the local churches and ringers would be of benefit to both; at present and in the future.

FUTURE LEADERS

In proposing the toast of 'The Society,' Mr. A. S. Hudson, Master of the Cambridge University Guild, emphasised the role of University ringers as leaders of the Exercise and expressed the hope that it would be past members of such societies who, when they graduated, would go out and reduce the number of silent towers.

Mr. M. A. Phillips, in his reply, reported that the Society had flourished during the past year and standards had improved, resulting in the ringing of two peals. The social side of activities had also improved, to the benefit of all. Cupid had struck. He congratulated Mr. Michael Pilgrim and Miss P. Ann Freeman on their engagement; and also Mr. and Mrs. F. Anderton, both past members of the Society, on their marriage. The entire company added their good wishes.

Those still in Liverpool on Sunday morning turned up in force to early morning ringing at Our Lady and St. Nicholas' and afterwards rang for Matins at Everton. The ringing was brought to a climax in the afternoon as, by kind permission of the Dean and Chapter and the Ringing Master, Mr. J. Ridyard, we were allowed to join the service band for ringing at the Cathedral. R. J. S.

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX

The meeting held at Kirkheaton Parish Church on March 7th was very well attended. We were pleased to have with us Mr. E. Hudson, of Ripon, and Mr. A. Basforth, Kirby Wiske, also the youngsters of nine, eleven and twelve years.

After a fitting form of Evensong, conducted by the Rev. D. Wild, an excellent tea was provided by Mr. R. Senior and the local ringers in the schoolroom. At the close of a short business meeting, ringing was resumed. Kent, Oxford, London and Cambridge being among many methods rung. W. M.

JUBILEE OF THE SHEFFIELD DIOCESE

This will be celebrated on Friday, May 1st. The Bishop of Sheffield sent the following letter to Mr. J. Seager, secretary of the Sheffield and District Society:—

'Dear Mr. Seager,—The suggestion has been made to me by Canon King, of Wentworth, that the ringers in the diocese might be ready to help the observance of the diocesan jubilee on May 1st by arranging on that day for a ring on the bells in all the churches in the diocese that have a ring. I think this is a very happy suggestion and, needless to say, I warmly support it. I hope very much that it may be possible to put it into effect and that you will be able to use your influence as secretary of the Sheffield and District Society to encourage your fellow ringers to undertake such a pleasurable duty on an occasion like this. We should be much in their debt if they could see their way to giving general support to the suggestion.'

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT

Over 50 people attended the annual meeting of the Sheffield and District Society, held for the first time at Rotherham. Three towers were open, these being Whiston, Eastwood and Rotherham. A fair standard of ringing was maintained at all towers, a good course of London being rung at Whiston. At Rotherham the highlights included a half-course of Cambridge Royal, a very good course of Yorkshire Major, and an excellent touch of five spliced Surprise Major.

During the meeting the officers of the Society were elected for the coming year. These included: President and Ringing Master, Mr. J. J. L. Gilbert; President-elect, Mr. J. N. D. Chaddock; Secretary, Mr. J. Seager; Peal Secretary, Mr. N. Chaddock. Mr. A. King, of Wentworth, in his vote of thanks to the local incumbents and ringers, commented on the high standard of furnishings in the ringing chamber at Rotherham. J. C.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The six bells of St. Mary's Church, Sprotborough, near Doncaster, had been silent since soon after the war until November 9th last, when a thanksgiving service for the restoration of the tower was held and the ring of bells, augmented to eight, was hallowed by Canon A. Jowett, Vicar of Doncaster and President of the Doncaster and District Society, in the presence of Ven. C. O. Ellison, President of the Yorkshire Association, and other notable personalities.

The February meeting of the Southern District was not only the first meeting since this memorable occasion, it was the first meeting of the Yorkshire Association ever to be held at this tower. The attendance was by far the biggest at a Southern District meeting for many years, if not an all-time record, as 68 people sat down to tea in the Church Hall and many more attended just for the afternoon or evening.

A short service in the church was conducted by the Rector, Rev. John Lyth, who in a delightful address explained that the reason for the delay in getting the bells ringing again was due to the necessity for the tower repairs and the building of their fine new Church Hall to have first priority. He also gave some interesting information on architectural details in the church and their historical connections.

At the business meeting, the chair was taken by Vice-President Mr. Norman Chaddock. The following were elected to membership of the Association: David Hunton (Wentworth), Margaret Bun'ing (Dudley), Robert Bristow, Alan Mullinger and John Whitham (Bentley), Michael Metcalfe (Thorne) and John Smalley (Rawmarsh). The Secretary was asked to arrange the annual meeting in the Penistone area on May 16th. A collection for the bell repair fund realised £1 14s.

Mr. A. King announced that a celebration service was taking place in Sheffield Cathedral on Friday, May 1st, for the golden jubilee of the Diocese. J. J. L. G.

Cutting the Tenor

Dear Sir,—Whilst not wishing to enter into the perennial discussion about Yorkshire tail ends (about which I know very little anyway) versus rope ends, I feel the letter from Mr. Harry Mann (page 156) deserves a little comment. Whilst not professing to be a heavy bell ringer myself, I cannot see how any bell of more than about half-a-ton can be brought in at backstroke correctly without taking up the tail end a certain amount, especially when ringing on six. However slowly one is ringing, a bell's swing has to be cut down to dodge 'under' at backstroke, and by leaving one's hands in the same position on the tail end the effective pull at backstroke is considerably reduced with obvious results. The only explanation I can see to Mr. Mann's statement is that it applies to a very big tenor-ringer, or a very small tenor!

—Yours faithfully,

ROBERT C. KIPPIN.

Tenor Ringing

Dear Sir,—Mr. Harry Mann's letter, published in a recent 'Ringing World' (page 156), is an expression of an erroneous view held by a ringer whose ideas are those of the last century, not the present.

For Mr. Mann to claim that he has been tenor ringing for 40 years without having recourse to moving his hands along the rope proves either that the tenor he rings weighs about two hundredweights or that he would not know good striking if it came up and bit him.

To say that the need to move one's hands up the rope is caused by the bells being rung too fast is utterly ridiculous. The maximum speed at which bells can be well rung is limited only by the ability of the band to maintain good striking, and if moving one's hands up the rope contributes to good striking with the bells ringing at a certain pace, then this is quite obviously the right thing to do.

—Yours sincerely,

DAVID C. BROOKES.

In Defence of 'Grabbing'

Dear Sir,—Owing to the pressure of other commitments during the past year I managed to grab less than 100 towers. However, I do not agree with R. J. Brown (R.W., March 13th) that tower grabbing is futile and of no benefit and I have analysed the 112 towers that I grabbed in 1962. Forty-eight were grabbed on outings, 30 at meetings, 25 on local practice nights, five at Sunday service ringing time and four whilst attempting a peal or quarter peal.

To the tower grabber, tower grabbing is a competitive and enjoyable pastime and an expression of the 'collector's instinct' which is in us all. Outings are of positive benefit to the Exercise for they enable ringers from different areas to meet local ringers to the profit of all. The success of meetings is gauged by the attendance as well as the standard of ringing (but I consider that a meeting has failed in some way if there are not a few beginners wanting to ring some rounds). Tower grabbers dropping in casually to a local practice often make it possible to ring on all the bells instead of say the back six, and may also enable a beginner to have his first attempt at Bob Minor 'inside.' If the tower grabber grabs a tower in an attempt for a peal or quarter he is naturally pleased and I see no reason why anyone should begrudge him this harmless pleasure.

I hope Mr. Brown will take two or three of his learners who can just handle a bell for a drive round as many towers as he can. It will teach them a lot and I am sure they will be made welcome in most towers.—Yours faithfully,

J. V. CLARK.

Tail Ends and Leading

Dear Sir,—I welcome Miss Saville's reply to my letter on page 122 of the 'Ringing World' since it was not my wish to imply there was any intention of getting by with second-best ringing, the phrase 'get by' being intended to mean 'get by with Yorkshire tail ends.'

As in other districts there are teams in the Barnsley District which turn out meticulous six bell ringing, whether it be with Yorkshire ends or those of the normal type. It is a fact that less physical effort is needed to ring a heavy tenor in closed lead ringing than open lead ringing for the following reasons:—

If a few consecutive rows of say Treble Bob Minor be studied and the time intervals between one bell striking and this same bell's next blow be counted, it will be observed that there are the following intervals. (The open lead itself being counted as one extra time interval, equivalent to that between two consecutive bells.)

When hunting down—5 intervals.

When making a place—6 intervals.

When hunting up—7 intervals.

This is the same at both handstroke and backstroke with closed lead ringing, but with open lead ringing become 6, 7 and 8 intervals respectively at the handstroke.

When dodging or snapping, a 5 interval may follow an 8 interval, a variation of 3/8 in open lead ringing compared with 2/7 in closed lead ringing, in the time between two consecutive blows; the former being 5/56 or almost 10% more. Given a certain number of changes per minute, this involves the tenor ringer in a greater degree of holding up and cutting down in open lead ringing than closed lead ringing. I am not inferring by this that one type of lead (on six bells) is any better than the other but leave this to the taste of the individual.

Whilst Miss Saville's letter is, I think, fair comment, Mr. Harry Mann has evidently rushed into print without having properly read my letter since I did not state that a heavy bell cannot be rung with Yorkshire tail end. There are many tenor ringers who would put the bell in its place with any tail end of reasonable length. This does not mean that they would not prefer the tail end of their choice.

May I repeat what I said at the end of my last letter.

'To anyone thinking of changing over to Yorkshire tail ends, except for light bells and a small number—don't.'

I would include rings of six with tenor 13 cwt. or less as light rings.—Yours sincerely,

NORMAN CHADDOCK.

Rotherham.

Dear Sir,—As a postscript to the Yorkshire tail end dispute, here are some final thoughts.

The Barnsley area ringers have turned this discussion into a 'Barnsley versus the Rest' dispute, thus clouding the real issue. All ringers should ask themselves, dispassionately, this question:—

Which form of tail end will provide for the greatest number and diversity of ringers, the greatest ease and convenience in handling and adjustment, and provide the best economic investment?

Even the admirably analytical mind of the Professor (there is a psychiatric term for this personality) cannot deny the inevitable answer.

—Yours faithfully

RICHARD E. PRICE.

Thrybergh.

Service Ringing Records

Dear Sir,—We at Claverley have only failed to ring for one Sunday service since July, 1945. Thus for Matins and Evensong over these 18½ years and allowing for a few occasions when services have been cancelled, we have rung for just over 2,000 services. This figure does not include ringing for early services at Easter and Christmas or mid-week Harvest Festival services.—Yours very truly,

F. C. A. BENNETT

Claverley, Salop. (Tower Secretary).

OBITUARY

MR. WILLIAM LOVE

Within a month the Norwich Diocesan Association have suffered grievous losses in the deaths of two of their most active and dedicated members. Following on the death of Mr. Walter Medler, we now mourn the loss of Mr. William Love who died at his home in Norwich on March 2nd, after some months of suffering which he bore with fortitude and resignation.

The funeral service was on March 5th at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, and was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Frank S. Jarvis, who was assisted by Canon Gilbert Thurlow, President of the Central Council. The cortege arrived and departed to the sound of half-muffled touches on the bells. There were many ringers in the large congregation, which also included two directors and a number of employees of Mann, Egerton and Co. Ltd., where Mr. Love was wages supervisor. In an appropriate address the Rev. Jarvis referred to Mr. Love's sterling qualities. Cremation followed at St. Faith's.

Muffled peals have been rung at St. George Colegate, and St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, and touches at Diss and elsewhere in the diocese to a well-loved friend.

Mr. Love was taught to ring at North Elmham and joined the Association in 1922 while still a schoolboy. Next year at the age of 14 he rang his first peal, the treble to Grandsire Triples on his own bells. He was always a safe ringer, appreciative of good striking and a regular service ringer, for he was devoted to the Church. In all he had taken part in 104 peals, one of which was on handbells.

After the war Mr. Love settled in Norwich and joined the Mancroft company, which he served as secretary for some years. This he did so capably that he was the obvious choice for General Secretary and Treasurer of the Association when in 1955, on his appointment as Vicar of Yarmouth, Canon Thurlow relinquished the office. For seven years Mr. Love carried out his duties in an exemplary manner, during which period he travelled many hundreds of miles, for he rarely missed a meeting. He endeared himself to us all by his quiet, unassuming manner, his capacity for taking pains, his forthrightness and for his deep sense of responsibility.

We offer our heartfelt sympathy to his wife, who has been a familiar figure at our meetings and whose courage we have much admired.

N. G.

MR. ALBERT COUSINS

We regret to announce the death, on March 3rd, of Mr. Albert Cousins, of 54, Devonshire Road, Cambridge, aged 84 years.

Mr. Cousins went to Cambridge in the 1900's from Brighton, where he was a chorister and server at St. Bartholomew's Church. He was a friend of Mr. T. R. Dennis, of Cambridge, who first contacted him at St. Giles', where both sang in the choir.

In the art of calligraphy his work was outstanding: his illustrated manuscripts grace many libraries, cathedrals and churches. For many years he worked at the Fitzwilliam Museum, under the direction of his friend and mentor, the late Sir Sydney Cockerell.

It is to Mr. Cousins that the Ringing Exercise is indebted for writing and illuminating the roll of honour of ringers who lost their lives in the First World War. This is in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, in the corridor leading to the ringing chamber. The book is bound in royal blue leather and is described by those in authority at the British Museum as being one of the finest pieces of modern illumination ever shown.

GUILDFORD GUILD RAISING SUBSCRIPTION

GUILDFORD Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers, at its annual meeting in Holy Trinity Hall, Guildford, on Saturday, decided to increase its annual subscription to 5s. and for junior members 2s. 6d.

Mr. C. H. Kippin (Cove), the treasurer, in making the proposal, which was recommended by the Executive Committee, said: 'We are travelling on a shoe string.' He cited that the Guildford Guild was unable to pay the expenses of its Central Council representatives in full, or the Executive Committee their part travelling expenses. There were also economies in other directions.

The Master, Mr. D. A. R. May (Old Woking), who presided, asked the company to stand while losses by death were remembered. Messrs. F. Oakshott (Epsom), A. C. Hazelden (Guildford), G. Cook (Ashted) and R. H. Hutton (Guildford).

The Master paid a tribute to the work of Mr. Hazelden, as Guild librarian and representative on the Central Council since the Guild's formation.

Mr. W. Viggers (Aldershot) suggested that when the Guild Library was moved from St. Nicolas' belfry to the Cathedral tower a memorial plaque to Mr. Hazelden should be placed in the tower. The suggestion met with approval.

Mr. F. W. Housden (Shalford) was appointed the new librarian. An appeal was made for those having books on loan to return them so that the catalogue might be checked at the beginning of the new librarian's term of office.

CATHEDRAL BELLS

A disappointment was the response by the public to the appeal made last year for money needed to purchase the remaining bells for the Cathedral. The fifth had, however, been given by an anonymous donor in memory of a relative and now rested in the ambulatory of the Cathedral with the 'Pulling' memorial bell. Each district was endeavouring to provide one of the front four bells and therefore four further bells had yet to be provided.

The Master said he had received gifts of £15 and £10 from old ringers which he had forwarded to the District funds. It was decided to transfer money in the Appeal Fund to the Cathedral Bell Fund. The Leatherhead District had raised £192 towards their bell, Guildford District £124 10s. and Chertsey District £50 15s.

LOWEST PEAL TOTAL

Only 18 peals were rung last year, the lowest number since the formation of the Guild. There were 75 ringers taking part in 12 different methods in 14 towers with nine different conductors. Messrs. T. T. Page and E. J. Wells were the teaching conductors.

Major E. J. Bragg (Aldershot), peal recorder, said the leading conductor since the Guild was formed was the late A. H. Pulling with 334 peals. Mr. E. J. Wells was second with 90 and Mr. A. Harman third with 83. Most peals for the Guild had been rung in Holy Trinity Church with 197 followed by Hersham 41 and Ashted 38.

The report mentioned that during a District practice at Leatherhead, one bell fell into its pit and on investigation showed that the headstocks of this and another bell were cracked. Repair work was in hand. The meeting authorised the Leatherhead District's making a donation of £5 5s. towards the cost.

MEMBERSHIP

The Guild had a total of 718 members, made up as follows — ringing 648, honorary 70. District totals of ringing members were Chertsey 108, Farnham 155, Guildford 139, Leatherhead 122. There were 124 life and unattached.

Revisions of rules had been undertaken by a sub-committee and these were explained to the meeting by Mr. C. W. Munday and approved. By these alterations the Executive Committee were reduced from more than 30 to 19. Compounding members were to be known as non-resident and they would pay the same sum as ordinary members. Honorary members would be called associate members.

SAPCOTE'S 34-SPLICED SURPRISE BAND

BEHIND the ringing of the peal of Spliced Surprise Minor in 34 methods at Sapcote, Leicestershire, on February 15th, there is a fine story of perseverance which goes back some 16 months.

On October 2nd, 1962, Mr. Michael Brown, of Sapcote, fulfilled a ringing ambition when the Sunday service band that he had taught to ring succeeded in ringing a peal of seven Surprise Minor methods. He little dreamed that in 16 months almost the same band would achieve the distinction of ringing a peal in 34 Surprise Minor Methods — the minimum number of Surprise methods, from the four way table, obtainable in seven extents. This feat had only once before been performed by a Sunday service band. It is an example of the infectious enthusiasm of the conductor, Mr. Michael Brown, and his skilled leadership.

The progress of the band was gradual. The first step was to ring ten methods. This was rung at Sharnford, where Mr. John Vernon, of Stoney Stanton, joined the band for the occasion. The peal was Sapcote ringers' first of spliced—all the extents containing more than one method.

A very big step forward was taken by the peal of 21 Spliced Surprise Minor rung at Sapcote on December 22nd, 1962. Miss Jennifer Stratford, who rang inside in the seven Surprise peal, was on the treble and the rest of the band were in the same places as in 34 spliced peal, viz: Christine Stratford 2, Laurence Watkins 3, Brian C. Burrows 4, John Watkins 5, Michael Brown tenor.

Useful practice was put in during Christmas, 1962, when Martin C. Faulkes, of Hinckley, replaced Miss J. Stratford and peals of 11 and 18 methods were rung respectively at Leire and Broughton Abbey.

On February 16th, 1963, 24 Spliced was achieved at Sapcote with Miss Rita Stratford on the treble and the remainder being the 21 methods band. Another step forward occurred at Kirby Mallory on March 7th when Annable's London, Rossendale and Stamford were rung for the first time, the treble being rung by Mr. Frederick Watson, of Croft, and John Watkins and Brian Burrows swapping positions.

Thirty Spliced was reached on March 26th, with Mrs. M. E. Brown on the treble and the rest of the band as in the 21 methods. This was the first peal of 30 Spliced methods for the Guild and in the county. Two months later, the same band, except that Richard Clifton rang the treble in place of Mrs. Brown, rang 26 Spliced at Desford.

At this stage the band slowed down as regards peal ringing. A new 1440 of all the 11 Chester methods was being studied. Just before the New Year (1964) the band felt competent to tackle 34 Spliced Surprise. More than six attempts were made before on Saturday, February 15th, the ambition of 34 Spliced Surprise was achieved.

The credit does not go solely to the band. All the Sapcote ringers deserve to share in this glory of being the first Sunday service band in the Midlands to obtain 34 methods, as they forced themselves to ring difficult methods to give the peal band excellent practice. All feel that there is now no reason why 36 Spliced should not be obtained.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION

The Master drew attention to a course of instruction to be held at Moor Park College, Farnham, from July 17th to 19th in conjunction with the Surrey and Hampshire County Councils. The course would be divided into two groups—for beginners and those more advanced. Mr. Douglas Hughes was to lecture on bells and maintenance and Mr. W. G. Wilson on various aspects of practical ringing. There would also be another instructor.

The cost of the course was £7 per pupil. The County Councils were subsidising to the extent of £3. A reduction in the fee of £4 could be obtained by those undertaking full time education and those in difficulties. Applications for assistance should be made to the Master.

AMERICAN VISIT

The meeting congratulated Mr. Harold N. Pistow on being selected as a member of the English team of 10 ringers who are going to Washington Cathedral to ring for the dedication of the tower.

Mr. J. E. Beams (Ewell) proposed that the Guild give a donation of £5 towards the appeal fund to meet the expenses of flying the team to America. Mr. D. Herschell seconded.

In reply to a question the treasurer said they could not afford it, and Mr. Housden thought it was America who should find the money. The motion was dropped.

Proceedings closed with a vote of thanks proposed by the Master to the Rev. David Bentley, who conducted the service, Mr. S. G. Ponting, the organist, the ladies who had provided the tea and the incumbents of churches in Guildford open to ringing.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The band who rang the peal of Stedman Cinques at Painswick, which was arranged especially for the royal birth, would like to express their thanks to the Vicar
(Rev. H. F. Heal) and to the tower captain
(Mr. S. G. Goulding) for making the attempt possible. The band also feel honoured to have been elected honorary members of the Ancient Society of Painswick Youths immediately after the peal. These bells are only available for peal attempts to mark very special occasions.

Witney (Oxon) Ringing Society have found their first minute book, which covers the years 1868-1901.

Correction.—The peal at Lowestoft on February 29th (page 177) was the first of Kent T.B. Major for Mr. N. P. J. Cossey, and not his first peal of Treble Bob Major.

In connection with East Riding practice nights (page 174) we are now informed that the Hesse (6) practice is on Thursdays not Wednesdays, and North Ferriby on Mondays, and not Wednesdays.

The Davids' who met at Newtown for the unsuccessful peal attempt desire to thank Mr.
Derek P. Jones, who writes 'D.V.', not only made all the arrangements but also provided transport and camera!

The tenor wheel at All Saints', Wandsworth, is half wood and half aluminium. Are there any other similar tenor wheels as the band are anxious, with their peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major there on March 7th, to claim a first?

Permission has been granted for Rickmansworth ringers to raise the necessary £220 for the recasting of the sixth bell. Being a small band, they appeal for contributions, which should be sent to Mr. D. C. Bartholomew, 113, Ebury Road, Rickmansworth, Herts.

Shebbear College Ringing Society are energetically pushing their appeal for the bells of the village church. Their fete on January 25th raised £106. Nearly every boy in the school helped in the draw and prizes were donated by parents and business people. With cash donations the fund stands at £270 from which about £30 has been taken for a new set of ropes.

A peal was planned at North Stoneham on March 14th. Unfortunately the band was one short. Tom Chapman then volunteered to ring two bells, he having rung a number of peals in this way previously. The absence of gloves, which he invariably wears when ringing two tower bells to a peal, caused his hands to come unbearably sore, so much so that the peal was brought round half way.
Another attempt is to be made.

Despite his left leg being recently fractured and still in plaster, Mr. R. Short rang in a quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor at Shapwick, Somerset, for the royal birth and earned from the band a warm 'Thank you, Ron.'

Halfway through a quarter peal at West Hill, Wandsworth, on March 15th, an irate gentleman rushed into the belfry ordering the ringing to be stopped. The band, knowing this person to be a regular complainant, kept calm and saw the quarter through.

Mr. S. T. Price, of Stonehouse, informs us that 12 peals, rung on the bells of Bisley, Gloucestershire, since 1920, are published in the annual reports of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. Before claiming first peals on bells it would be well to check from authoritative sources.

Two Appleton ringers, Miss Stella Sergeant —cousin of Mr. Brian White—and David Woodward, who were married on March 14th were remembered with happiness during a peal at Marston, Oxford. David was formerly with this band and rang the treble to the record long length peal on these bells in 1958.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Corby rang their first peal together at Edenbridge on October 6th, 1945. They were therefore grateful to the local ringers for the opportunity of using the bells for the first peal together of themselves and their two children on March 14th, 1964.

It is some time since we have recorded a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major rung silent and non-conducted. Congratulations to the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association on their performance at Darlington on March 14th.

OBITUARY

MR. ALFRED HITCHENS

Former captain and a ringer at Ludgvan, Cornwall, for 54 years, Mr. Alfred Hitchens died on March 9th, aged 72. He was taken ill the previous evening on returning from church, which he loyally served, also as sidesman and a member of the P.C.C. For 49 years he was in railway service on permanent way engineering department, retiring seven years ago.

The funeral was conducted by the Rector (Canon R. de'C. Murley), and a large number attended, including his only son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hitchens, Mr. W. C. Osborne (local captain), Mr. R. J. Hosking and the Rev. A. S. Roberts (chairman, Penzance Branch of the Truro Guild). His son is also a ringer at Ludgvan and on the railway, being in the signalbox at Penzance.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

A graceful acknowledgment of the quarter peal card of Grandsire Caters, rung at Rotherham after the assassination of President Kennedy, has been received by Mr. Norman Chaddock from Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's private secretary.

The tower ringing side of the Twickenham and Richmond Musical Festival was broadcast on the B.B.C. Home Service on March 16th. Dr. Neal Smith, W. G. Wilson (the adjudicator) and F. W. Goodfellow were interviewed and there was also ringing. Hillingdon were the winners.

Mr. Alan Paton, who had done so much to get a local band to ring rounds at the service of rededication of Micheldean, Forest of Dean, bells (8) on March 14th, was in hospital when the ceremony took place. All present send him their best wishes for a speedy recovery.

On March 12th boys and old boys of Rotherham Grammar School again rang the bells of the Parish Church prior to the annual Founders' Day service. Grandsire Doubles on the back six and call changes on the back seven were rung. Due to the intervention of chicken-pox the band unfortunately met one short. However, there were several favourable comments on the ringing, by listeners. All the ringers except one (from Thrybergh) learnt their ringing at Rotherham.

At the suggestion of the Vicar, an ancient peal board from the tower of St. Mary's, Eastbourne, has recently received the attentions of a professional picture restorer. He has revealed the somewhat dingy figure of a Muse at the head of the board to be in rich colours. Dated 1818, the peal commemorated is of 'Mr. Jno. Holt's Grandsire Triples' by the Brighton Society of Change Ringers. Members of the congregation will be able to inspect the results of the excellent restoration, before the plaque is returned to its place on the belfry wall.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Northern District

A successful meeting of the Northern District was held on March 7th at St. Nicholas', Stevenage. Because of a wedding, ringing did not begin until 4 p.m. The Rev. E. A. Gaskell conducted a service, with Mr. S. Boorman at the organ, and an excellent tea was provided by the Misses Smith, of Stevenage Bury—free.

With Dr. Gullick in the chair, the business meeting was held, and the following were elected members: Messrs. L. Cooper and S. J. Gullick (Stevenage), and the Misses K. Anderson, K. Harding and C. Walms (Hitchin). A report was given of the General Committee meeting, and arrangements for the A.G.M. on April 4th, centred on Bishop's Stortford. Local arrangements were that there should be two practice evening meetings at St. Ippolty's and at Wallington in May and June, with the next quarterly meeting at Knebworth in July.

As the Bishop's Stortford District was unwilling to nominate anyone for the office of president for the coming year, the General Committee has recommended Mr. W. Critchley of Knebworth. His election would mean that the Northern District had supplied two consecutive presidents. J. S.

BREAK THAT SILENCE!

THERE must be times when most of us can recall passing by one of the unringable towers in the county where we live, and listened whilst members of the party advanced their various theories or gave statements of fact on why the bells were no longer heard.

Perhaps they are quite unringable after years of neglect, and what man started the birds and the elements continued, guaranteeing between them an effective silence.

Worse still, perhaps the bells are unringable by repute. Dark hints are made, although memories are a little hazy now, about the vicar in 1930, or was it 1932?, who pronounced the tower unsafe, stopped the ringing, and locked the belfry against all comers.

Another opinion blamed the architect, who didn't like bells anyway and had persuaded the vicar that a silent tower was preferable to a cracked one. Since then the ropes had rotted, the bells had received scant attention, and the present incumbent thought sympathetic was not really enthusiastic about a major overhaul when the cost of renovation was known.

Whatever the reasons for silent towers there is plenty we can do in our own small ways to prevent the list being added to, for the quotation 'Prevention is better than cure' is never more apt than it is to this context. The question needs tackling partly at diocesan and partly at branch level, where group action can be most effective. Any keen branch member knows his towers; he can say where bands are good, bad, or non-existent, and it's common knowledge which towers have casual bands that ring only at festivals, or those which ring outside the local Association.

Whatever the state of ringing in the towers concerned, monthly practice meetings should be the golden rule in branches wherever possible, so that all towers are visited with reasonable regularity. Although the tendency in some Associations is to hold quarterly meetings only, this leads to the temptation to tour the 8-bell towers, with only rare visits to the sixes. Generally speaking, visits to the more outlying towers can be measured in years, which gives time for radical changes to occur.

I even call to mind a visit last year to a meeting where the Vicar welcomed the Association in question for the first time in 25 years! This is just not common sense, apart from being a bad advertisement for an Association. Regular meetings should be an accepted fact in branches, not an event so unusual that the W.I. and the Mothers' Union turn out in force to provide a free tea!

Sometimes arguments are put forward that this or that tower is not a member of the Association and therefore should not be visited. This is surely a very negative outlook especially if the bells at the tower are usually silent. An Association has a duty territorially as well as to its own towers if it has the interests of the Exercise at heart. Who knows what might result from a meeting of this sort? It could rekindle interest if there were the remnants of a band left in the village; better still, it might even produce recruits. And it would show that the Association cared about the tower. Far more important, at least the bells would be rung sometimes, the link between the Association and the incumbent would be retained, and those who live there reminded that the village possesses a ring of bells.

In these days of changing population a tower too long silent can be very difficult to reclaim. There are all too many people who move from town to country who consider bells an unnecessary nuisance, even on Sundays. What can be better ammunition to bolster their phone calls of protest to the Rector than the argument, 'I've never heard this row in the three years I've lived here—you must stop it!' Yes, we as ringers may trot out the old argument about the bells being there first, but you have to ring them regularly to prove your point!

Provided local branches do their share to save towers from silence, should the Association as a whole take any action? It seems to me that at this level the study should be concentrated on bells said to be unringable, or quoted as such. A small committee might well be set up to ascertain the true facts. An organised survey, deputed to responsible branch officials, might well produce some surprising results, and not least provide an up-to-date answer to the questions, why are the bells unringable and could they be put right without a major overhaul? Obviously a survey of this sort would pose many problems, but it would be worth the effort.

My last word is again to the thousands of ordinary branch members up and down the land. Don't ignore silent towers. Go there for meetings, go there for quarter peals, and, if you can, arrange to take a band over to ring for Sunday service now and again. I have found from my own experiences in each case that the welcome has been warm, the pleasure expressed at hearing the bells genuine, and the feeling that in your own small way you are contributing something towards the aims and objects of the Exercise a most rewarding one indeed.

'COUNTRYMAN.'

LONDON UNIVERSITY SOCIETY AT DINNER

RINGERS turned out in force and converged on the centre of London on Feb. 15th for the ringing preceding the 19th annual dinner of the University of London Society. Of the towers open St. Lawrence Jewry and Bow proved the most popular, where few of us managed to ring more than once, and we even considered auctioning the ropes when members and friends (and yet more friends) kept turning up in never-ceasing convoy! The new Mears bells were well rung for all that and a fairly wide range of touches was brought round without mishap.

So to dinner, where our numbers dropped dramatically to just over 70! When the food, suitably punctuated with wine, had been enjoyed, our president, Philip Gray, proposed the toast of 'The Queen,' after which he introduced the guests, representing the Church, the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and the University Societies of Bristol, Cambridge, Manchester and Oxford. He expressed his regret that Mr. A. A. Hughes, who was originally responsible for our association with St. Olave's, Hart Street, and Canon Mortlock, Rector of St. Vedast's, Foster Lane, were not able to be present.

'The Church' was proposed by Dennis Layton, a long-standing member of the Society (in more ways than one), who ably discussed the Church's position to-day—her needs as well as her many and great qualities.

The Rev. Powell Miller, former Rector of St. Olave's, replied, illustrating with personal experiences the numerous changes which have altered the Church during the last half-century. He mentioned in particular a noticeable decrease in the length of sermons (could this have been a gentle hint to remaining speakers?).

Having hastily rewritten his speech, Alan Thirst proposed 'The Visitors.' A warm welcome was extended to Jack Phillips (Master, College Youths), Dennis Beresford (Master, Cumberland Youths), Rev. Powell Miller and Rev. Maurice Dean and other guests. A special welcome was made to Captain Marybelle Nissly, from U.S.A., who did a great deal in starting the U.S.A.F. handbell band. The Universities Societies were tactfully welcomed in alphabetical order, including Sheffield University, which was also represented. He referred favourably to the Cambridge University Guild's recent publication and advised Andrew Hudson not to be too concerned about 'one of our members' controversial review of it.

In his reply, Mr. E. F. P. Bryant, Master of the Manchester University Society, took up the point of ringing publications and suggested that such works as 'Stedman,' 'Ropesight' and others so greatly needed by the Exercise and now, sadly, out of print, should be reprinted and further works added.

We then decided it was high time somebody proposed our Society. Roger Ashmore, Master of the Oxford University Society, nimbly stepped into the breach and, while not entirely forgetting the Oxford University Society, ably fulfilled his commission.

Alan Frost replied, mentioning several of the more outstanding peals rung by the Society since the last dinner, including the all-ladies' peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major rung that morning and conducted by Miss Dianna M. Lawless. In addition to ringing accomplishments, he noted that Cupid had not been much in evidence during last year's hard winter but that the mild winter this year appeared to have lured him forth. We are contemplating our summer tour with some interest!

UP AND COMING YOUNGSTERS—No. 15

MICHAEL J. FELLOWS

Worcestershire and Districts Association and Dudley and District Guild

The happy smile of probably the youngest Guild Master in the country, Michael who was born on December 3rd, 1947, was elected Master of the Dudley and District Guild of Change Ringers in September, 1963, when he was 16 years of age. He lives at Stourbridge and is at present a pupil at King Edward VI Grammar School in that town.

His home tower is St. Thomas', Stourbridge, where his father and brother are ringers and here he was taught to handle a bell in 1958 by F. V. Nicholls. He rang his first peal in November, 1959, and to date has rung 123 of which he has conducted 24. His list includes three peals of Cambridge Maximus and three of Stedman Cinques. For encouragement and opportunities for peal ringing he is especially grateful to Clifford Skidmore, George E. Fearn and Geoffrey Hemming.

Michael is a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths and his ambition is to ring a peal on what he regards as the finest 12 in the country—in Worcester Cathedral, his favourite method is London Surprise Major.

With such a promising start and leadership conferred upon him so early in life, many will watch his graduation and hope to see him take his place as a worthy fellow of the Exercise.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

North and East District Visit
Willesden

Following an enjoyable hour's ringing on the bells of St. Andrew's, Kingsbury, the North and East District met at Willesden on March 14th for their monthly meeting.

The Rev. G. C. Oakley, Vicar and Rural Dean, conducted the service and gave a short but inspiring address, with bells as his theme. It was a great thrill, he said, to hear the sound of a bell when he was trudging through the jungle in Borneo in the early days of his ministry, to find later that it was only a piece of metal or railway line suspended from a tree being struck with a piece of wood by a native. The tone, however, was mellow and reminded him of home.

At the business meeting the provisional election of Mrs. Margaret D. Woolley and Miss Sara K. D. Woolley, of Bushey Heath, as non-resident life members was ratified. The treasurer and assistant secretary of the Association arrived in time for tea and were congratulated on their success in the tower bell contest held that afternoon at Isleworth in conjunction with the Twickenham Music Festival.

Mr. H. G. Hart proposed a vote of thanks for the Rev. G. C. Oakley and the Rev. F. G. Springfield (Kingsbury) for the use of their bells; to Mr. Cleverley for accompanying at the organ, and to Mrs. Golding and her helpers for providing an excellent tea. Thanks were also extended to Mr. A. Cutler (Willesden) and Mr. G. Ellis (Kingsbury) for having everything in readiness at the respective towers.

Ringing continued in a variety of methods until 9 p.m. Perhaps the most conspicuous touch was one in which each rope was in the hands of a member of the fairer sex.

E. J. K.

In conclusion, Captain Marybelle Nissly expressed her thanks to the Society and to the English ringers who have agreed to ring the bells of Washington Cathedral on Ascension Day at the dedication of the Gloria in Excelsis tower.

We extend sincere thanks to Miss Pauline Fennell and all the other overworked members who made the 19th annual dinner such a great success.

BELFAST GIRL RINGER DESIGNS CHURCH WINDOW

Secretary of the ringers at St. Thomas' Church, Belfast, is Miss Patricia Robinson, a 20-year-old student at Belfast College of Art.

Patricia is studying stained glass window designs and her fellow ringers were always asking her when she was going to do a window for the church.

Eventually, she submitted a design for the window which was approved by the Bishop, the Select Vestry and, of course, the Society of Bellringers. The window portrays St. Paulinus, a bishop in Italy, who presented the first bell to the Christian Church. The phoenix at the bottom is a symbol of the early Church.

Patricia says: 'I prepared the window and I was offered help by the bellringers to instal it in the belfry. But one day, assisted by Elizabeth Stanley, who was home on vacation from the Royal College of Music in London, I put it in myself. Elizabeth and I just thought we would show the boys what we could do!'

Next term she is making a tour of English cathedrals to pick up ideas about stained glass designs. Among the dozen cities she will be visiting are York, Coventry and Canterbury.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD North Dorset Branch

Appropriately the quarterly meeting of the North Dorset Branch on March 14th was at Sturminster Newton, as it was here 40 years ago that the Branch was formed, the actual date being February 16th, 1924. A quarter peal was rung by founder members on Feb. 22nd to commemorate the occasion.

The Vicar (Canon C. S. Green) welcomed 34 ringers, including visitors from Somerton and Dorchester, and conducted the Guild service.

Tea at the Red Rose Cafe was followed by the business meeting, at which six new ringing members were elected and one honorary member. The ringing members were Messrs. F. Write and R. Parker, Mrs. D. Crocker and Miss J. Crocker from Somerton, and T. Bleathman, Okeford Fitzpaine. The honorary member elected was Mr. W. Lodder, Belchalwell. Proficiency certificates were awarded to D. Corben and A. Frampton.

Notice was given of the Guild festival at Marlborough on May 9th, and of the joint meeting with the Ilchester Branch of the Bath and Wells Association at Trent on May 2nd. A proposed Branch outing to West Dorset and East Devon towers on September 5th was also discussed.

Standard methods up Cambridge were rung and ringing also took place at Durweston after the meeting.

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

Very heavy rain affected the attendance at the Beverley and District Society's meeting at Kirk Ella on March 14th; nevertheless, 41 ringers had an enjoyable afternoon and evening, and were warmly welcomed by the Vicar, Rev. J. C. H. Wilson.

A new appointment in his native Lincolnshire has unexpectedly deprived the Society of the services of Mr. Harold Gibson, Assistant Ringing Master, after he had been elected to that office the previous month. His letter of resignation included a proposal for his successor to be Miss Janet Porter (Sutton), who was elected to fill the vacancy.

Five new members were elected—from North Ferriby (2), Kirk Ella, Tadcaster and York Minster.

Next meeting (provisional): Hedon, May 16th. K. K.

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION Chesterfield District

Although March 14th was obviously the start of the monsoon season, this did not deter representatives from over half the towers in the District, together with visitors from as far apart as Nottingham and Crewe, attending the first meeting of the Chesterfield District to be held at Wingerworth.

After a conducted tour of the new extensions, which when completed will have trebled the seating capacity of the church, a wide variety of Doubles methods was rung in spite of the rather long rope draught of this pleasant five. Following tea, which was appreciated even more than usual, the company made their various ways through the rain to North Wingfield, where the 17 cwt. octave was put to good use.

At the business meeting members paid tribute to the memory of Mr. R. W. Blythe, of Wingerworth, a ringer for over 60 years. The District chairman, Mr. D. Cooper, concluded the meeting with a hearty vote of thanks to the clergy, local ringers and to the lay reader at Wingerworth, Mr. F. Shaw, for his conducted tour of the new extensions.

Next meeting: District outing to Association A.G.M., April 4th. M. P. P.

LAKE DISTRICT SECRETARY RETIRES

MR. N. M. NEWBY

The resignation was received with regret at the annual meeting of the Furness and Lake District Branch, held at Dalton-in-Furness on March 14th, of Mr. N. M. Newby as hon. secretary, a position he has held with great faithfulness for 27½ years. Mr. Newby proposed as his successor Mr. Thomas F. Metcalfe, of 29, Station Road, Flookburgh. No other nominations were received and Mr. Metcalfe was elected.

The Ringing Master, Mr. J. Bagnall, presided and many members spoke in appreciation of Mr. Newby's work. The hope was expressed that Mr. Newby would still be active for many years to come.

The votes of thanks included good wishes to the Vicar of Dalton for his speedy recovery, the service being abandoned because of his illness.

THIRD BRISTOL FESTIVAL

A big feast of ringing is promised by the third Bristol Festival to be held on Saturday, May 30th, when 25 towers will be open. The other two festivals have been attended by 150-180 ringers: a warm welcome awaits visitors this year.

The ringing arrangements are: 12 noon, Cathedral service conducted by the Dean; 1 p.m. buffet luncheon, Hawthorn's Hotel; 7.30 p.m., social gathering, University Senior Common Room. It is hoped to arrange visits to the Cathedral central tower to see the old 10-bell frame, which now contains four bells and also to the University tower which houses the 9½-ton clock bell, 'Great George.'

Ringing programmes will only be issued with lunch tickets (7/6 each) and these are obtainable from D. J. Hunt, 58, Gordon Avenue, Whitehall, Bristol. This is being introduced to enable those to attend lunch to have a fair chance of ringing at all the towers available.

OBITUARY

MR. F. E. CORFIELD

Ringers in South West London, and at Wimbledon particularly, will regret the passing of Mr. Frank Corfield on March 12th at the early age of 57.

Having undergone two major operations he had been prevented from ringing for the last few years but kept closely in touch with all activities.

He was by profession an architect and surveyor and after the war he left his native Alsager, in Cheshire, to take a post with the War Damage Commission in London, where he became chief assessor.

On coming to live in Wimbledon in 1951 he soon endeared himself to the ringers at the Parish Church and by his constant zeal and patient encouragement he helped to build a strong local band who became prominent in the quarter peal columns in the mid-fifties.

He was always ready to give assistance to any struggling tower and was a most accomplished conductor. He will be remembered most perhaps for his ever-ready wit, which did much to foster joy and good fellowship with all who came in contact with him.

We extend our deepest sympathy to his wife, Alice, and thank God for his devoted service to our art.

A quarter peal was rung in his own tower on March 22nd and particulars appear on another page. J. T.

Harry Stalham Commemorated

Behind the peal commemorating the late Harry Stalham who died on November 29th, W. A. Riddington tells an interesting story.

A few days before his death, the writer paid a visit to Harry and found him sitting comfortably in his chair smoking his beloved pipe. Talk naturally revolved around bells, ringing and peals, and Harry said: 'Let's make it Double Norwich on March 17th. Time we rang Norwich for my birthday.' The request was followed by a promise, but it was only two nights later that the news that Harry had left for good was received.

The promise was not forgotten, and it was duly honoured by ringing an almost perfect and beautifully struck peal of Double Norwich.

As the homing courses came up, I thought of the profound joy it would have given the Sussex veteran and of his verdict, "Splendid peal." Yes, we did this long-standing personality of Sussex ringing real proud in commemorating his 91st birthday. As we left the church, Mr. H. Stalham, junior, was waiting to say "Thank you" to all those who took part. A nice gesture.

Peals and Membership

Dear Sir,—I agree with some points made by Mr. David Bennett on this subject and deplore the attitude of Associations which try to make money out of visiting ringers.

Mr. Bennett is, however, adrift with his finances because if a non-resident ringer made a contribution of 6d. for each people he rang he would, if the peal was published in a report, cost the Association a little over 6d. for each peal.

The cost of printing peals in the annual report of the Derby Diocesan Association is approximately one shilling for each name and this is the peal fee for that Association. This is not a rule but a gentleman's agreement.

Each year a N.R.L.M. rings a peal for the Association his name, address and peal total is published, and this entails a further cost which I assess would be adequately covered by a life subscription of 2s. 6d.

Because of this I have proposed an alteration to rule, which would reduce the N.R.L.M. subscription to 2s. 6d. This proposition will appear at the A.G.M., and since the Derby Association is a lively and progressive body I think the proposition will be carried.

On the other matter we, in this area, accept peals rung by visiting bands for our Association as the compliments that they are intended to be.—Yours, etc.,

D. R. CARLISLE.

Risley, Derby.

P.S.—I think the Washington selection is excellent.—D. R. C.

Bisley Peal

Dear Sir,—When a peal of Belvedere Surprise Major was recently rung at Bisley, near Stroud, Glos, the local ringers who met us were of the opinion that there had not been a peal on the bells since 1920. Consequently the peal was claimed as the first on the bells for 44 years. It has since been pointed out to me that there was a peal of London rung there on September 5th, 1938, by a touring band and conducted by C. Ernest Smith.

It might interest readers to learn that this is a ground floor ring which was originally a 'six.' When the two trebles were added they were hung in a completely separate chamber at the base of the spire, about 12 feet above the old 'six' and with a floor cutting them off. As a result it was literally impossible to hear them inside and it was just like ringing six bells with wide gaps. However, a week before our visit a very efficient amplifying system was installed. A microphone was fed through to the 'trebles chamber' and a loudspeaker with adjustable sound control hung high in the ringing chamber. It is now possible to hear all eight perfectly and if you weren't told of the amplifier you would never know the difference.

I would also like to take this opportunity of thanking the Vicar and local ringers for their hospitality in entertaining us in the Vicarage.—Yours faithfully,

D. JOHN HUNT.

Bristol.

The Washington Selection

Dear Sir,—I was somewhat surprised to read the letter (in the issue of March 20th) from O. D. B., but at the same time I agree with all that was said, as do a good many more ringers.

Apart from the selection of the band (not an enviable task), what has ruffled a good many is the fact that the Washington authorities expect the ringers of this country to find a cool £1,000 for their glorification! If the occasion is so important to them I should have thought it would have been an easy matter to have raised that amount from among their own people. £1,000 could be used to far better advantage in this country.—Yours, etc.,

F. I. HAIRS

Groombridge, Sussex.

Are not all Lists futile?

Dear Sir,—So far as I am aware there was not intended to be any more honour in being included in a tower grabbers' list than in qualifying for inclusion in a list of peal ringers.

Personal statistics are of very little interest other than to the individual concerned, and that applies to the occasional lists which appear under the title 'Mr. So-and-So's Hundred Peals.'

In that respect, therefore, all lists are literally 'futile,' but that does not mean that they should not be published if space permits.

The instance which Mr. Brown cites of the 'scruffy' ringer who piled up a big score of towers (page 173) may be perfectly true, but the pursuit should not be condemned because of one poor ringer.

Although I would prefer some term other than 'grabbing' or 'snatching,' both of which savour of bad manners, I can quote specific instances where my visits to supposedly 'unringable' towers have been the direct cause of the bells being rung.

I disagree with Mr. Brown that all 'tower grabbing' is futile and, in my opinion, taken in moderation it can be both pleasant and profitable.

Unlike peals which can be checked if one so desires, there is no proof of individual tower totals, although what satisfaction can be derived from cheating or including threes and fours is difficult to imagine.—Yours faithfully,

R. H. DOVE.

Leeds.

Chilvers Coton's Record

Dear Sir,—May I suggest that the tower of All Saints, Chilvers Coton, Warwickshire, be included in a list of towers where Sunday service ringing has continued without a break since the lifting of the ban after the war? Also, in the recollection of the oldest ringer, the bells have been rung regularly for two services each Sunday as well as on festive occasions since the augmentation from three to eight in 1908 until the ban.

The church was destroyed by enemy action in May, 1941, but the tower and bells escaped. During the restoration two more bells were added, at the expense of the ringers and friends, and the church and bells were dedicated in May, 1947.

The present band of 18 members consists of nine under the age of 21 with the remaining nine over the age of 40. The Vicar, the Rev. R. R. P. Rigby, has frequently expressed surprise and pleasure that such a wide age range has been blended into a loyal and happy band of regular church attenders and communicants.

The standard methods are rung in Triples, Major, Caters and Royal with Surprise Major and Royal.—Yours sincerely, DOROTHY E. BEAMISH.

Team Spirit

Dear Sir.—Halesowen, Worcs. band consists of 19 members under their tower captain, Mr. Tom Greenhall. Out of this number a double band of Stedman Triples can be produced. This, to my mind, is a supreme example of team spirit by the band, and patience endured and time given by Mr. Greenhall. What a wonderful example they are putting before us when so many of our church bells are silent through the lack of ringers!—Yours sincerely, East Brent.

HECTOR G. BIRD.

Lancashire's Library

Dear Sir,—I must protest most strongly at the tone implied in the last paragraph of the letter by G. B. Thompson (March 13th).

G. B. Thompson should know that the Lancashire Association's library was not placed in our tower from any sense of parochialism but to the 'Glory of God' and in memory of a great ringer, leader of this tower, and one whom G. B. Thompson would do well to emulate.—Yours faithfully,

FRANK BARRACLOUGH.

The Cathedral, Manchester.

Peals and Associations

Dear Sir.—What a pity Mr. Thompson cannot be a little less spiteful, and a little more charitable, about Guilds and Associations instead of treating us to such a display of childish petulance. What nonsense it is to paint touring bands white and Associations up and down the land black as if each were a race apart, instead of remembering that we are all basically members of some Guild or the other.

Peal tours are organised purely for the enjoyment of those taking part, and long may it be so. However, a touring band will naturally wish to go to the best rings in the area they visit, and no doubt organisers rely to some degree on local Guild officials for help in fixing peals at towers which will give them the most enjoyment. In these circumstances I imagine most bands are quite happy to ring their peals for the Association concerned without any feeling of being 'expected' to. Presumably Mr. Thompson is more concerned about having to pay affiliation fees, but again, most tours concentrate on one or at the most two counties, so it won't cost him much.

Having said that, I agree that touring bands should ring their peals for the Association of their choice; have any tried it yet? It gives a truer picture of an Association's own peal activity, as well as saving space and money on the annual report. How often is a 'first' in the method for the Association' rung by tourists, so that some future resident band is denied the chance of achieving a 'first' themselves?

Peal bands should make some contribution to funds in any case, part from the peal booking fees. After all, the payments to instructors and other aids to ringing in the area for which your correspondent expresses so much concern do not come out of thin air, so why should visitors be exempt?

Mr. Thompson next wonders why peals are credited to Associations at all. Strange as it may seem, some of us are proud of the Association we belong to, and it gives us a great deal of satisfaction to ring a peal for it, especially if it's a good one. Perhaps if you are a prolific peal ringer over a wide area you tend to remember only the quality of the bells and the peals rung, in which case Association boundaries mean nothing at all. The point is understandable but, in my opinion, regrettable. Maybe the layout of peals in 'The Ringing World' could be both economised and improved, but surely not to the extent of draining away all the colour and merely replacing them by a mass of clinical statistics. What real gain is there in that?

In conclusion, if Mr. Thompson leaves the Lancashire Association to regulate its own affairs and takes a little more interest in his own he will be surprised how much good work he can do and it may even cause him to revise his opinions about their worth generally, and wonder how we should carry on without them.—Yours sincerely,

JOHN BRAIN.

Backwell, Somerset.

Grandsire or Plain Bob?

Dear Sir,—During my many years as a ringer I have attended many ringing meetings and ordinary tower practices. At the large majority of these I have found that Grandsire Doubles are used to introduce change-ringing to beginners who eventually graduate to Grandsire Triples. My own personal experience of teaching has proved to me that the Plain Bob method has a great many advantages over the Grandsire method. I have many times heard Grandsire described as a 'dead-end' method. That is as it may be but I would be most interested to hear the views and opinions of your readers on this matter. Should it be Grandsire—or Plain Bob?—Yours sincerely,

FRANK C. W. KNIGHT.

Winchester, Hants.

LUPPITT AND THE QUEEN

Luppitt (Devon) planned to honour the birth of the third son to H.M. the Queen with a peal of Grandsire Doubles on March 11th, with each of the four 'inside' ringers calling a quarter peal.

Unfortunately a miscall in the first quarter, which was extended to bring up rounds, prevented the full peal being claimed. The other three quarters were successful, the time taken being 3 hours 5 minutes.

The ringers were: G. Crabb 1, J. Sage 2, Miss M. Sage (conductor 2nd quarter) 3, E. Broom (conductor 3rd quarter) 4, C. Churchill (conductor 4th quarter) 5, W. Broom 6.

BARNESLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

When the Barnesley District Society met at Eastwood, near Rotherham, on March 14th Mr. Fred Fisher was congratulated on having such a clean and decorated tower. In reply Mr. Fisher said he hoped, with a new Vicar in May they would have some ringers. Sixteen towers were represented.

It is hoped the annual outing on May 9th will be to North Yorkshire.

Next meeting: April 11th at Sprotborough, near Doncaster.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD Newark and Bingham Districts

March 14th was wet and dreary, but this didn't deter over 50 ringers from attending the joint meeting of the Newark and Bingham Districts at East Bridgford. Much of the woodwork in the body of the church and the tower is being removed because of extensive damage caused by death watch beetle, and although holes in the ringing room ceiling made the six bells noisier than usual, the recent rehanging was evident in the 'go.'

Lowdham's five bells and Gonalston's stay-less four were available in the afternoon, and at 4.30 everyone gathered at East Bridgford for Evensong, conducted by the Rev. F. Stepherni, Bingham District's chaplain.

Tea was very welcome on such a miserable day, and afterwards each District held a very short business meeting. In reply to Mr. David Clarke's welcome, the Newark District chairman, Mr. F. W. Midwinter, said he hoped that next year the Newark District could be hosts at a joint meeting. The ladies were thanked for preparing tea, and ringing continued in the evening at both Lowdham and East Bridgford.

YORK MINSTER BELLS

The restoration of York Minster bells is now complete and, as briefly announced in our last issue, were dedicated on Wednesday of last week. To those who knew the bells before they were taken in hand and who heard them on the occasion of their opening were greatly struck with the vast improvement effected in their tone by the retuning which has been carried out. After being returned to the Minster the bells were rehung with the most modern fittings, including the Warner patent self-aligning, self-lubricating oil-bath and oil-ringing design of bearings, which eliminate all shock to the framework and, consequently, to the tower.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Western District

The annual meeting of the Western District was held at Blagdon on March 14th. Although dissatisfaction was felt that so few ladies attended good ringing was enjoyed, which ranged from rounds to Cambridge Major.

At the business meeting, members stood in silence as a tribute to the memory of Mrs. H. Knight, a former vice-president and much-loved member of the Guild, who had passed away earlier in the year. Mrs. Parfrey was elected vice-president and Mrs. de Jong secretary, while Mrs. Eyles, Mrs. Bennett, Miss Johnson and Mrs. Smith were elected to the committee. One new member was elected.

Next quarterly meeting, Banwell, June 13th, with practice meetings at Chilcompton and Bathampton in April and May. M. de J.

A champion of footnotes might well have put something as follows under the peal of Bob Royal rung at Carbis Bay on March 14th — 'Rung after meeting with two bells short for Maximus.' It happened that a band of 12 turned up so the Vicar and Bill Theobald were happy to listen from various vantage points!

EAST ANGLIA'S LAST BELL FOUNDER

By TREVOR A. BEVIS

THE last bell foundry in East Anglia, that of Alfred Bowell, closed its doors to bell-work in 1939 on declaration of World War II, but remained open for munition and general engineering until 1950, in which year all activity on those premises was terminated by Council decree.

Mr. Bowell was an energetic and enterprising man and, like many other citizens of his day, was not afraid to tackle anything new. It is to his credit that he was entirely self-taught in the art of bell-founding. He hung his first bells in 1894, a part of his career which served to whet his appetite further in this direction, and he cast his first bell in 1896.

In the year previous, while not yet 21 years old, Alfred Bowell married a young lady from Great Bromley, Essex, the ceremony taking place at St. George's Church.

SHIPWRIGHT—RINGER

From 1896 to 1939 the founder cast about 400 bells, no mean feat when considering that he personally poured metal into the moulds of each one. In the early years of his business he cast numerous sets of handbells for many parts of the country but gave it up as he considered this side of the trade unprofitable.

In order to outline the history of the Ipswich foundry it is necessary to turn back the pages to 1852, in which year the late Mr. Bowell's father, Henry, a native of Great Bromley, moved to Ipswich at the age of 22, commencing a seven-year apprenticeship as a shipwright at a local shipyard at which he was employed for several years. The decline of sailing vessels and the growing popularity of steamships, however, brought about a major slump in shipyards all over the country and Henry Bowell, who was, incidentally, a ringer, applied his hand to bell-hanging, being concerned with this branch of the trade only. The shipwright-ringer, who was quite at home on all numbers of bells, was a member of St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich. He died in 1911, aged 81.

His son, Alfred, did not relish having to hang bells manufactured by other firms: therefore he decided to enter the honoured realm of bell-founding through the formidable process of trial and error. This go-ahead man did practically everything himself in connection with bell-casting—but did not make ropes! All his knowledge was obtained the hard way, and by observing other firms' work of outstanding merit.

Although not yet having attained his majority, Alfred Bowell undertook a substantial job of rehanging, in a new oak frame, the octave (tenor 23 cwt.) at Stowmarket, Suffolk: this work also involved the placing of steel girders to support the spire.

FORGING IN KITCHEN FIRE

The founder, who was educated at a Board School, did necessary forging in the kitchen fire of a house opposite where his foundry was later to be established. His son, Frederick, was born at this house in 1896.

Shortly before the turn of the century Alfred Bowell obtained some premises 'across the road,' which were originally erected in 1845 as a day school, then later used as a Wesleyan Chapel. He built his first workshops in the playground and eventually installed a 1-h.p. gas engine. In 1905 he obtained the chapel complete and converted it into the present works and fitted it with larger machines. A house was built on the site of his first premises in 1907 and here in 1940 at the age of 66 he died. His wife died two years later, also aged 66. Mr. and Mrs. Bowell are survived by an only son, Frederick. The death of a daughter, while not a day old, born in 1913, was keenly felt by both of them.

In July, 1914, Mr. Bowell was entrusted with the work of rehanging the heavy ring of eight in the Minster Church of St. Denys, Warminster, Wilts. Owing to the commencement of hostilities this job was not completed until 1915. It was then that the Government decreed that all bell work must cease for the period of the war; accordingly Alfred Bowell undertook munition work on sub-contract from a large and well-known engineering firm.

In 1916 the founder received an order to rehang six bells in a steel frame with extra bays at Thurcaston, Leics. At the time that tower had poor foundations and the bells were hung for chiming only. While foundations were being provided the bells were removed to Ipswich and remained there until 1919: in 1920 Mr. Bowell added two new trebles to complete the octave, which is well known in view of the great number of peals rung on it.

TESTED BY CATHEDRAL ORGANIST

A rare challenge materialised in 1922, when the founder received an order to recast the six bells of All Saints' Church, Maldon, Essex, which has a unique triangular tower. An extra disused bell was obtained in order to add a little more weight, and the complete six were tuned by Mr. Frederick Bowell on a tuning machine made by his father. The contract for this work stipulated that the bells be inspected and tested in the foundry by the then organist of Chelmsford Cathedral. The musician made favourable comment upon them.

Mr. Bowell's bells never exceeded a ton. The heaviest cast by him were the tenor (19 cwt.) for Turvey, Beds, and a tenor (recast, 19½ cwt.) for Dennington, Suffolk. In 1922 the founder cast a complete ring of six (18½ cwt.) for Smarden, Kent. The same year saw him rehanging six bells in a new frame at Kirby-le-Soken, Essex, to which he added two trebles in 1923. The latter-mentioned bells are well known by members of the Exercise in that a record peal of over 22,000 changes was rung on them in recent years. Heavy bells rehanging by Alfred Bowell included the 30-cwt. tenor of St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, and one of the same weight at Tenterden, Kent. The lightest bells rehanging by him were at Ford End, Essex—a ring of six (tenor 4½ cwt.). His work took him to churches in many counties of England—from Herts to Lincs, and Somerset to Kent and Sussex. He cast bells for churches in East Anglia and the Home Counties.

Understandably, business allowed very little time for peal ringing—the founder rang approximately 25—but he rang the bells of 763 churches over a very wide area. Mr. Bowell was a life member of many Associations, and he and his father were College Youths. Alfred Bowell was one of the few change ringers to ring a bell in the famous ground-cage at East Bergholt, Suffolk—a ring of five manipulated by hand. He had also rung at the Imperial Institute and at Quex Park, Kent. His first peal was of Plain Bob Major 'in hand' (ringing 7-8) at the age of 17, this being followed by his first on tower bells, Kent Treble Bob Maximus, at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich. Mr. Bowell was actually one of a band of ringers who rang three peals of Maximus in the space of a week—two at Ipswich and one at Cambridge.

Despite the calls of his trade this 'man-of-metal' was always very willing to help learners and he enjoyed ringing the bells of his parish church, St. Clement's, Ipswich. Mr. Bowell rehanging those bells—six in number—which had been cast by an Ipswich founder, John Darbie, in 1660/80. Mr. Frederick Bowell was captain at this tower for many years.

CHURCH CLOCKS

A part of Mr. Bowell's business not generally known was the renovating and rebuilding of church clocks. As with the bells much of the work in restoring clocks and chimes received his personal attention. At Halesworth, Suffolk, the founder removed the ancient clock, cut it in half and made all new sections, patterns, castings and added the Westminster chimes and hour-strike—a vast improvement to the original ding-dong chime.

From 1896 until the year of his death Mr. Bowell attended the carillon machine at St. Clement's Church. He also inspected a similar machine in the clock tower at Orwell Park, Nacton, Suffolk, which played ten tunes on hemispherical bells. This apparatus had been condemned by a London firm but the Ipswich founder made new parts for the carillon, which performed for 21 years until the house was evacuated. Finally neglect put it out of action.

Mr. Bowell's foundry received slight damage during World War II. Due to its close proximity to the docks the premises experienced narrow escapes from enemy bombs. On one occasion eight people were killed and 12 houses were destroyed in a nearby road.

Mr. Frederick Bowell recalls a remarkable escape in this raid when a shop he had just visited received a direct hit. At the same time the Church of St. Mary-at-the-Quay lost its organ and much of the interior was badly damaged, leaving the tower with its musical ring of bells intact. It was the only air raid on this country carried out by an Italian aircraft, which was later forced down and the pilot taken prisoner!

PAST FOUNDRIES

Nowadays there are few, if any, small bell-foundries in the realm. Bellfounding eventually became a trade in which demands declined, and only well-established companies survived. Some readers may recall to mind once-familiar names: Stokes, Aggett, Day and Son (hangers), Bond of Burford, Llewellyn and James, Carr, Barwell, Moore, Holmes and McKenzie—all founders, not forgetting Warners and Gillett and Johnston.

In reality the Ipswich foundry received its unhappy warning of impending closure in the dark days preceding the last war.

Alfred Bowell had poured metal into a mould, shaping a bell—his last—for a church in the Isle of Ely. General opinion has it that this particular bell is a poor example of the work of which Mr. Bowell was capable. Indeed the founder himself admitted that due to very trying circumstances imposed by a difficult clergyman, this was the worst job in the whole of his career. The installation of the bell together with its five companions was cheaply undertaken by a wandering bellhanger of poor repute—with poor results.

Nevertheless the tenor at St. Mary's Church, Doddington, bemoans not only the passing of a noble and ancient craft at Ipswich, but that which was the final link in hundreds of years of bellfounding in East Anglia.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION Biggleswade District

Taking into consideration the appalling weather conditions, there was a surprisingly good attendance at the monthly meeting of the Biggleswade District at Arlesey on March 14th. Miss U. Rix was Ringing Master, and a good selection of methods was rung.

The Vicar, the Rev. B. Edgell, conducted a short service, and also took the chair at the brief business meeting, which followed to in St. Peter's Hall.

More ringers defied the pouring rain in the evening when ringing ranged from rounds to London Surprise Minor. Both the special methods, Little Bob and Wells, were successfully rung at least one during the evening.

Next meeting: Blunham, April 11th.

AN ULSTER FANTASY

Here is a tale of a lad named John
Who went to try his luck upon
The bells, which he had often heard
While other folk were being interred
Or going to church, or getting married,
So being curious, he tarried.

They welcomed him with open arms,
Extolled the him the many charms
The dodgy art of ringing proffered,
And kindly their tuition offered.
We'll try your backstroke first, they said,
Which made young Johnny scratch his head
Surely they thought the poor lad dim
When he exclaimed 'I cannot swim';
Small wonder then he felt a fool
When told there was no swimming pool.

The next command was 'Catch hold sally,'
And, being young, he did not dally.
Regretfully the plan misfired,
A nasty scratch the lad acquired
The thought to him had not occurred
That sally might not be a bird.
Still nothing daunted off he went

Throughout the merry months of Lent,
Soon ringing rounds was his delight,
You'd hear him any Wednesday night
In there with all the saintly band
To exercise head, heart and hand.
You'll have to hunt the treble next
They said, the lad was sorely vex'd,
This surely was another jape, a
Yoicks, tally ho and all that caper.
Occur in church this never should,

Still hunt they said, and hunt he would
With spurs and crop and trusty nag.
Six couple of hounds with tails awag,
He duly turned up for the hunt,
The hounds behind, the kids in front,
Cheering him up the belfry stairs,
The bell ringers were saying their prayers.
To hunt the treble was his aim,
And so he did with might and main.
It was some time before he found
The treble had not run to ground,

In fact there was no hunt at all,
They drew the line upon the wall.
The disillusioned lad looked glum
And thought the whole thing very rum,
When at the last it all transpired
That horse and hounds were not required.

You'd think that after such a start
Our new recruit would have lost heart.
But not a bit of it, e'er long
He'd call them right and put them wrong.
Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob
Would run around inside his nob.
Wrong, three times before, middle and home,
Which only just fits in this poem,
He'd call for you as soon as wink
(Excuse me while I take a drink).

Well now we come to the sorry bit,
Those of you standing had better sit.
The Vicar at the A.G.M.
This year spoke from the chair—ahem,
Inviting our young friend to be
The foreman of the belfry.
And, risen to this dizzy height,
You'd find him any Wednesday night,
Encouraging the young to be
A better bellringer than he.

And so a finish to the tale,
They say he strayed beyond the pale
To count the southern region's rabbits
And make a study of their habits.
They say he's keeping tracks of things
With numbered bells instead of rings.
When danger on the meadow ripples,
The rabbits run off Grandsire Triples,
And later when the all-clear sounds
They reappear again—in rounds.

What a posy! The first day of spring was heralded in at Tangle, Hampshire, by a peal of nine method-variations of Flower Doubles. These were Kingcup, Honeysuckle, Wallflower, Violet, Primrose, Buttercup, Bluebell, Cowslip and Daffodil. We guess that the majority of our readers will be completely mystified.

The footnote to the peal of Stedman Caters at Bedford on March 7th should have read: 'First peal of Stedman Caters for the Diocesan Guild by a band resident in the Diocese.'

Was the stamping of a lady's feet during the ringing of a touch at a Southwell Guild meeting associated with some of the younger members softly chanting the refrain from 'Bits and Pieces'?

Subbing some copy relating to Halesowen tower on the morning of the Grand National, the Editor quite innocently put up the heading 'Team Spirit.' This was too good a tip for the linotype operator setting the copy to ignore. After leaving work he promptly backed this horse and won over £2!

Conductor of the 'flower' peal, Mr. G. Dodds, acknowledges the help of Mr. R. Jones, of Marston, on producing most of the flower methods from different sources. All are the original names of the method/variations. He hopes to publish all these Doubles variations in 'The Ringing World' in the near future.

We hear that the Witney and Woodstock Branch supper and social evening was a great success with a company of 79 enjoying soup, turkey and sweet in the Masonic Hall. Robert Clow, of Tackley, and Mrs. Holden, of Northleigh, laid on an entertainment. The 'lapping' of Alec Cantwell, Susan and David Floyd was well done.

From the current issue of 'Belfry News' we learn that the General Committee of Derby Diocesan Association are recommending a donation from general funds towards the cost of sending 10 ringers to Washington. It is hoped to recoup this donation by collections at District meetings.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Congratulations to Mr. Eric Godfrey, of Addington, Surrey, who at this time last year was learning to handle a bell. He has now rung two peals and 20 quarter peals (including 11 of Surprise Minor)—all 'inside'—in 13 methods (conducted one), and is now imparting his enthusiasm to three young learners.

Mr. Godfrey W. Taysom, by ringing the 2nd to a peal of Bob Royal on March 14th, has now 'circled' Carbis Bay tower.

A meritorious performance is the ringing at Bottesford, Leics, on March 14th, of a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major, non-conducted and strictly silent.

Congratulations to Leonard Stilwell, of Worthing. By ringing the second in the commemoration peal of Double Norwich at St. Nicholas', Brighton, he becomes the first ringer to 'circle' the three rings of 10 bells in Sussex. Stick to it, Len. One day we might have a ring of 12!

Raymond J. Adams, a member of Winchester Cathedral band, who rang his first peal at North Stoneham on March 20th, is leaving with his parents for Worcester, where his father has been appointed head verger at the Cathedral. Raymond looks forward to going to a new twelve with a 42w. tenor.

In the In Memoriam peal at Dunholme, Leics, on March 18th to William G. Goude, his fellow churchwarden was a ringer and also the secretary of the C.E.M.S., of which the deceased ringer was chairman. There were also three representatives of neighbouring churches in the band.

'The Burton Observer and Chronicle' in its '50 Years Ago' column of March 5th recalls an appeal from ringers of St. Paul's Church, Burton, to assist them to add four more small bells at a cost of £230 to augment the ring to 12 bells. Mr. R. H. Dove informs us that the appeal did not materialise but two trebles were added about 1922—one as a gift of the late W. W. Worthington and the other as a memorial to three ringers killed in the 1914-18 war.

PHYSICAL ASPECTS OF RINGING

By GILES B. THOMPSON

THERE are many misconceptions over the practical skills in ringing. A bell is hung in such a way that its potential energy when raised and just displaced from the balance is sufficient to get it up to the balance on the other side; this ignores the bearing friction and that due to ropes, pulleys, etc., which may be relatively great in certain cases. Thus all the 'effort' needed in ringing is that to overcome the frictional forces alluded to above, to keep the rope in a state of tension so as to have a better control of the succeeding stroke, and to manipulate the bell beyond the point of balance. The best part of the stroke to supply any extra force is at the end of the downward pull. To facilitate this, should it be necessary, it is best to keep the hands and arms as close to the body as possible, thus moving the rope parallel to the body.

Bells that go badly for such reasons as loose headstocks, wheels, bad bearings, etc., obviously require a certain amount of 'lugging around' and the greater amount of effort needed to ring them should be supplied by using the back and shoulders; beyond this the body-weight may be used in whole or part by dropping at the knees rather than bending the waist. The best way to learn is by watching good, graceful ringers in action.

The varying weights of bells demand differences in style for success. Many people fondly imagine that a man six feet tall, three feet broad and 15 stone in weight is ipso facto a good man for the back end. This fallacy is quickly exploded if one considers the correlation between physical size and useful effect among generally acclaimed heavy-bell ringers; indeed great size is often a disadvantage in today's vogue for quicker ringing.

The heavier a bell the less is its rope friction in comparison with its weight, and thus the more they are able to 'ring themselves.' Skill is more important than strength in this branch of ringing, as in so many things, since the heavier bells should set the speed and provide the beat.

Light bells, particularly in higher numbers, are another special skill field, as the shorter period of rotation necessitates them being held up on the balance for comparatively long periods. It is essential to ring them to the balance quite accurately as over-pulling may result in them bouncing off the slider and under-pulling will prevent them reaching the balance. This is a more delicate skill than in ringing heavy bells and requires a sounder judgment of accuracy in striking by ear; the slower the ringing the more this is so. (In fact, one wonders whether some bands persist in slow ringing because they wish to show how well their front-enders can strike!) Complaints about ringing too quickly are at times heard from members of the 'slow' school. Surely, if the front-enders are not really capable of striking properly at a slower speed then it is better to accelerate to a speed in which they can stroke comfortably. After all, ringing can be speeded up quite considerably without discomfort to the back-end and with little loss of accuracy in the striking as the back-end is only limited by the period of the tenor's rotation.

Two words in the previous paragraph are among the most important in the whole of ringing: by ear. Ringing is an activity producing an aural result and its effect can only be judged by the ear. Thus 90 per cent of our sensory checking of ringing accuracy should be by the ear, the eye serving only as the crudest judge and for checking others and in conducting. People with exceptional talent are able to check everything in ringing by ear alone.

A good style in ringing is not only desirable to prevent the distraction of others by antics, but to ring the bell in the most efficient way. This will avoid wasting useful energy or getting unduly tired or cramped when ringing for longish periods. Make full use of the arms, and the shoulders and back when needed, but save the use of the body-weight as a final resort in cases of tiredness.

The variations from normal which take place during method ringing are required in order to move the bell up or down one place rather than leaving it in the same position as is the case in round ringing. How often does the rhythm break when a band goes off into changes? Usually the slowing down that occurs is due to the second ringer not* pushing the handstroke out into first place:

21436587
24163857

etc.

and the even bells drifting to the lead causing the odd bells to hold up too much. Of course if this is pointed out the opposite state of affairs will often obtain and is possibly worse:

12345678
2 1436587
2 4163857

etc.

When going up it is necessary* to ring slightly over the balance; and when coming down, slightly under.

Beware of getting a bell too far below the balance when coming down to the lead, and being unable to turn it away from the lead and getting into the back of the previous change. Similarly do not over-emphasise the cutting and holding when dodging. If a backstroke is cut too low when dodging up in even-bell methods (handstroke in odd-) it is often the case that a strong pull is given which over-compensates for the drop resulting in the following stroke being too high. The opposite case of this is doing nothing at all about a dodge and staying four blows in 34's place—halfway between the limits of a 3-4 dodge!

* Advisable rather than necessary, since the effect can be achieved by holding the bell on the balance.

Diocesan Cross passes through Suffolk

To mark the jubilee of the Diocese of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich a special cross and arrows is passing from parish to parish and will arrive at Bury St. Edmunds in June.

The cross, the gift of the Readers of the Diocese, was designed by Mr. Jack Penton, a Suffolk artist, and was made entirely by Suffolk craftsmen. The silver cross rises through a gilt crown, bearing four gilt balls pierced with arrows—commemorating the martyrdom of King Edmund. The ebony staff is inlaid with silver fillets bearing the names of every parish in the diocese. The whole is surmounted by the Star of Bethlehem. Altogether a very beautiful and impressive piece of work.

During the progress around the diocese the cross and arrows spent some three months in the area covered by the South-Eastern District of the Suffolk Guild. A special effort was made by the ringers in the district to make sure that all the bells in the district were rung on the actual day that the progress visited the parishes. Of the 26 usable rings in the District, 16 were rung to quarter peals. Special ringing was arranged at Bredfield, Woodbridge, Otley and Hasketon as well. Special ringing at Copdock was cancelled at the last minute because of heavy fog.

The 16 quarter peals were rung by a grand total of 51 ringers. Of the quarter peals worth special mention those at Grundisburgh, Tuddenham, St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, St. Matthew's, Ipswich, and Rushmere St. Andrew and Offton were rung by the local bands. Two youngsters rang their first quarters. Neville Whittell took part in nine of the quarter peals.

PAMBER PRIORY DEFIES ALLCOMERS

Since writing the first account of the ringing of the four bells hung in the Priory Church at Pamber, near Basingstoke, a number of visiting bands have tried their hands at ringing on these bells, the claim made by the writer as having the longest free draught in the country having been confirmed by two of the visitors with over 2,000 towers to their credit.

The bells were rung for service shortly after they were reopened by a mixed band from Thatcham and Highclere. Ringing consisted of chiming and ringing them halfway up in peal. The Rector, in his sermon, made a special point of thanking the team for their interest in the bells.

A week or so later a band from Thatcham and Newbury spent a full evening changing two of the old ropes for specially spliced ones, which made the bells easier to handle, but even so a dozen whole pulls were all that was managed before the bells either went over or came down.

The next band, mainly from London, including the tenor king, Mr. Pat Cannon, who had come specially to turn the tenor into Minimus, were no more successful, rounds on four being all that was achieved before a couple of bells going over completed the effort.

Another party, also from the London area, fared no better, whilst local ringers from Longparish had difficulty in raising the bells and had to be satisfied with ringing them halfway up.

A local party from Kingsclere finally rang the longest length of rounds at the third attempt on March 21st. The first resulted in a broken rope, the second in a bell going over, and at the third 21 full pulls in rounds with all the bells striking correctly and a further 30 of uneven rounds was the longest the bells have been rung by any visiting band.

The writer challenges any band to ring proper changes on these bells, in fact the first band successfully to ring a plain course of Minimus, he will buy them beer all round.

LONG LENGTH OF GRANDSIRE CATERS

Dear Sir,—I give notice that on Saturday, April 11th, at the Bell Foundry Campanile, Loughborough, the University of Bristol will attempt to ring a peal of 24,119 Grandsire Caters, starting at 8 a.m. The conductor will be Tudor P. Edwards, and the composition by Albert M. Tyler is appended.—Yours sincerely, PATRICK J. BIRD.

Kingswood, Bristol.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Conductors' Practice

On February 29th the St. Albans District held the first of its special conductors' practices at St. Stephen's, St. Albans. About 15 young people, mostly in their teens, attended and everybody called at least one touch, several for the very first time, of either Plain Bob or Grandsire. The more advanced had the bells 'mixed up' for them and they then had to call them round. It was thought unfair to burden the District Ringing Master with any out of course meetings so Mr. R. D. R. Brown was Ringing Master for the evening.

VISIT TO COVENTRY

The St. Albans District went by coach to Coventry to see the new Cathedral for their third annual Lent outing. Those who felt that they should be able to read an easy message in everything were not very pleased but those with more open minds were thrilled, chiefly by the boldness of the church and its adornments. We stayed to Evensong but the service was rather a disappointment as participation by the congregation was kept to an absolute minimum.

Before returning home we rang on Stoke St. Michael's pleasant fast-going eight. At Harpenden, where Mrs. Coburn, the secretary and organiser, left the coach, Chris Rimmer made a valiant and fairly successful effort to gain everybody's attention for a vote of thanks.

The Ten to represent English Ringing at Washington

The band selected to ring on Ascension Day at Washington when the Gloria in Excelsior tower is dedicated, photographed outside Westminster Abbey. From left to right Messrs. Wilfrid Moreton (Wakefield Cathedral), Frank Price (Crowthorne, Berks, previously in America with Groton School), Harold Pitstow (Westminster Abbey), Harry Parkes (Sittingbourne, gave Washington ringers first lessons), John Chilcott (St. Paul's Cathedral, London), John Freeman (Lincoln Cathedral, vice-president Central Council), Norman Chaddock, Rotherham, convenor Sunday Service Ringing and Education Committee, Central Council), George E. Fearn (Birmingham Cathedral), Peter Staniforth (Leicester Cathedral), George Pipe (convenor of Overseas Committee, Central Council, formerly Melbourne Cathedral).

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD

Appropriately, the East Grinstead and District Guild held its annual meeting on March 14th at Coleman's Hatch, where the Guild president, the Rev. J. R. Missen, is Vicar. He conducted the service which followed the afternoon's ringing, and the recently-elected vice-president (Canon T. F. C. Bewes, of SS. Peter and Paul's, Tonbridge) read the lesson.

Tea was taken in Church House with over 70 sitting down to an excellent meal prepared by Mr. J. Ryman and his helpers. An interlude was provided by a course of Grandsire Triples on the handbells, before the business meeting was held.

During the year the Guild visited Leigh and Tonbridge (23 attending), Coleman's Hatch (50), Oxted and Limpsfield (13), Cowfold and Lower Beeding (14), Fletching (15), Brasted and Sundridge (33), Nutfield and Godstone (29), Horsham (38), Horsted Parva and Maresfield (31). The route for the annual outing was chosen and will be held in October.

Officers elected were: President, the Rev. J. R. Missen; chairman, Mr. B. E. Jeffrey; vice-chairman, Mr. J. E. Warner; secretary, Miss Margaret A. Ladd; treasurer, Mr. C. W. Hancock; Central Council representative, Mr. E. J. Ladd; committee, Mr. G. Fry, Mrs. Ann Jenner and Mr. S. Jenner.

The chairman congratulated members on their attendance at meetings during the past year and especially at this annual meeting, with the highest attendance since the founding of the Guild in 1927. He commented on the number of younger people who were supporting the Guild each month. Over all, it had been a very encouraging year. Ringing continued at Coleman's Hatch and Witherham until 9 p.m.

NEARLY £450 RAISED FOR WASHINGTON VISIT

Mr. Douglas Hughes writes on behalf of Dean Sayre to express grateful thanks to all those ringers who, individually and in groups, have contributed so generously to the fund and thus helped to secure the success of the visit of 10 English ringers to Washington to ring for the opening of the Gloria in Excelsior tower in the American Cathedral.

Nearly £450 has been raised here, enough to cover three return air fares, and this, Mr. Hughes feels, is a worthwhile contribution. The remainder has been found among friends and well wishers in the United States.

The heartening theme throughout has been the universal expression of goodwill in the letters from donors both to the band and to the work they will do during their short stay.

They leave on Saturday, May 2nd, at 11 a.m., and their itinerary commences immediately upon their arrival at Washington.

An intensive training programme for the resident ringers is being prepared and this will occupy much of the time. The band leaves Washington on Saturday, May 9th, in the evening, and returns via Boston, Mass., where they hope to stop and ring at Groton School on the Sunday.

They will arrive back in London early in the morning on Monday, May 11th.

50 YEARS AGO

'THE RINGING WORLD,' APRIL 10th, 1914
Bomb at St. Martin's. — The famous Church of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, London, well known to ringers on account of its ring of 12 bells, was seriously damaged on Sunday night by the explosion of a bomb, attributed to the militant suffragettes.

LONG LENGTH LOST AT BIRMINGHAM

The attempt to ring 16,368 changes of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham, on Easter Monday, March 30th, 1964, regrettably failed after approximately 10,700 changes in 7 hours 39 minutes. The band assembled at the Cathedral at 8.40 a.m. and were welcomed by the Provost and Mr. George Fearn.

Several Birmingham ringers and many from other parts of the county were also there to wish the band success. After three 'false starts,' due to the rope of the second slipping wheel, a fresh rope fitted and part of the stay of the second removed, the bells went into changes at 9.28 a.m.

The ringing was excellent for most of the attempt, a rather slow rate of striking (by Birmingham standards) of 22½ minutes per course, or 3 hrs. 45 minutes for a normal peal, was maintained throughout. Several visitors, including Mr. Walter Judge, from Oxford, and Mr. Roger Fry, came to listen to the ringing during the day.

Each course was carefully checked and timed by the umpire, and all went well until 5.07 p.m. Suddenly the tenor rope slipped wheel, which made it impossible to control the bell and brought an abrupt end to a very creditable performance. The bells were stood up at 5.07 p.m.

I am sure the band are not disheartened by this unfortunate end to a very gallant attempt, and that another attempt may be arranged later in the year.

JOHN A. ACRES.

Another 'Bellringer' for America

Dear Sir.—As one who has had the good fortune to be invited to go to Washington I am loth to enter into correspondence on the question of the choice of the band.

However, I think it is regrettable that it should have been left to a Lincolnshire local newspaper to disclose to the Exercise the identity of an 11th 'bellringer,' details of whom are given in the enclosed cutting.

All I can say, after reading it, is 'What a full life some bellringers lead!'—Yours sincerely,

JOHN FREEMAN.

Lincoln.

Note.—The newspaper cutting refers to 'Black Bellringer' of Thorn, stock bull in Osmond and Sons Ltd.'s Barnoldby herd, Grimsby, having been sold for export to the United States. This famous Aberdeen Angus bull was sold by his Perthshire breeder, Mr. Alan H. B. Grant, for 17,000 guineas. 'Black Bellringer' leaves early in June.

Tenor Ringers

Dear Sir.—I would like to answer Mr. Robert C. Kippin with a few statistics and so let him judge for himself (letter, page 204). I weigh 13 stone, height 5ft. 9in., chest (normal) 42½in, age 7. I have rung tenor bells of various weights, ranging from the six cwt. tenor at St. Mary's, Carlton, to the 41 cwt. 1 ur. 20 lb. tenor of St. John's, Beverley.

The letter of Mr. David C. Brookes, of Putney, was a real tonic. I have never been bitten yet and, without boasting, but by the grace of God, I have had the great privilege of ringing the tenor in many ringing contests for various bands.

The last contest I rang in was the Barnsley and District Association Open Shield Contest held at Wortley on June 8th, 1963. By the way, I rang the tenor for the winning band, the test being 720 changes: we rang Oxford.—Yours sincerely,

HARRY MANN.

Silkstone, near Barnsley.

Brotherhood of Ringers

Dear Sir.—'Ringing is a great joy and a service to the Church of which one can be justly proud' (Donald A. Franks, 'R.W.' page 188, 1963).

'Ringers are now recognised as office bearers in the church, and their work is more clearly seen as an offering of praise to God. Their hobby... is no less dedicated to the worship of the Creator...' (Edgar C. Shepherd, 'R.W.' page 305).

'...give credit to brilliant youngsters' (peal at St. Neots) (E. Jobling, page 437).

'...generosity... was a true act of Christian friendship towards a fellow bellringer' (C. Pluckrose, page 645).

'...may the bells give pleasure to the ringer' (page 691, Rev. F. F. Rigby).

These quotations are not taken from old 'Bell News' copies but from 'Ringing Worlds' of 1963. I could choose many, many quotations from past issues referring to the 'Brotherhood of Ringers.' Much of the recent correspondence in 'The Ringing World' has been far from brotherly, in fact some of it has been hostile, not to mention sarcastic letters and petty things. May I suggest that some of this is cleared up? If ringers have to be unpleasant, surely they can choose some different way than publishing childish letters in 'The Ringing World.'—Yours sincerely,

MICHAEL J. UPHILL.

Isleworth, Middx.

Legal Query

Dear Sir.—I would like, through your columns, to enquire about the legal position when one tower lends a set of ropes to another and the borrower fails to return them.

No documents were signed regarding this loan, but the situation was known by at least a dozen people when the loan took place.—Yours faithfully,

DAVID KING.

Cheshunt.

Technical Literature

Dear Sir.—I entirely agree with Mr. McClenahan (page 170) that the results of research should be published.

To avoid duplication of effort, especially tedious non-intellectual effort, notification of lines of research should be given at an early stage. This can speed up progress by enabling others to make contributions and can act as a spur to the author himself. In scientific circles, such a facility is available through periodicals in which advances are communicated and discussed. Consolidation of results in a formal textbook is deferred until the work is, for the time being, complete and generally accepted.

In our case, the only practicable forum for technical discussion is 'The Ringing World,' but outbursts of activity have been short-lived. on the excuse, I suspect, that few readers are interested in such articles. The increasing number of readers reaching university standard nowadays suggests that a greater proportion would make use of any space earmarked for theoretical subjects. I suggest that an average of one page per issue should be reserved for this purpose throughout the year and that matter to fill it should be actively sought.

If this were done, the publication of books by the Central Council could justifiably be confined to established and finalised subjects, particularly reference books of fundamental data. Even judged on this restricted basis, the Council's output so far is lamentably low.

Where, for instance, is the collection of all methods ever rung? It has been an obvious necessity ever since Corrigan's booklets appeared, even if it was not obvious before. At the annual general meeting of the Middlesex Association last year you, sir, proposed publishing a list of all named Surprise Major methods as an interim measure prior to publication in book form. Why was this not done? The delay is inexcusable since, according to the Central Council minutes on page 190, the Methods Committee were given authority to proceed.

Why is there no textbook on the fundamentals of ringing theory such as proof, q-sets, and composition? Such a book or series of books is obviously needed.

A less obvious omission is the Collected Papers of J. A. Trollope, which could readily be taken from the files of this paper and would partly offset the lack of a comprehensive textbook.

And now that Hudson and McClenahan have shown the way, the Council have the opportunity to continue their work by commissioning a computer to produce all Surprise Major methods with places wrong.

If lack of money hampers the Council, it is their own fault: they should charge economic prices. Abnormally low prices might attract sales of household necessities under highly competitive conditions, but are ludicrous for specialised books addressed to a small public, and appealing to only a minority of that public. The last balance sheet (June 21st, 1963, page 410) implies that it will take two years' income from sales to recover the 1962 expenditure on book printing, and only one (which cost them next to nothing) was a new title, the others being reprints. If the Council are determined to subsidise the mythical ringer who cannot afford ten or fifteen shillings for a book, the affiliation fee should be increased to compensate for the falling value of the pound. I would have thought, however, that any cases of hardship could best be dealt with at family or association level rather than by selling all books too cheaply. It is significant that charitable contributions to 'The Ringing World' nearly equalled the expenditure on books, so that subsidies seem to be going round in a circle and are presumably unnecessary.

Whatever solution is adopted, there are signs of an increasing determination by ringers interested in technical aspects that their requirements shall be met. If those in control of the Central Council will not satisfy the demand, they ought to announce their refusal at the Whitsun meeting, in order that other sources of supply can be investigated without delay.

MAURICE HODGSON.

Chesham.

LLANDAFF & MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

THE annual general meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association was held at All Saints', Newport, on Easter Monday, when about 100 members and visitors were present, including one of the highly respected Past Masters, Mr. A. J. Pitman, and his wife, who had travelled from Leamington for the meeting.

The service was conducted by the Rev. I. J. Richards, assisted by the Rev. R. Hallett, both practising members of the Association. In his address Mr. Richards drew attention to the prominent part that All Saints' Church and its members had played in the history of the Association, it being the home tower of that great stalwart of the past, Mr. J. W. Jones.

An excellent tea had been prepared by the ladies of the parish and this was followed by the meeting, at which the chair was taken by the Rev. I. J. Richards, supported by the Master, Mr. F. J. Hannington.

The chairman paid tributes to the following members who had died during the year: Seymour Barker (Cardiff), Robert E. Coles (Cowbridge) Leonard H. Jones (Monmouth), W. Lambert (Pontypridd) and Mick Trickey (Llangibby). The meeting stood in silence to their memory.

Arising from the minutes, the Master thanked the members for the presentation made to his wife, on his behalf, at the last meeting on completion of his 17 years as hon. secretary.

ARCHBISHOP'S THANKS

In his report, the hon. secretary, Mr. M. J. Pryor, reported that all Branch meetings had been well attended and the accent on youth foretold well for the future of the Association. The Monmouth Branch held a successful meeting at a four-bell tower. The new extensions to St. Woolos' Cathedral, Newport, were consecrated on October 16th, and members rang the bells for both the afternoon and evening services on that day. A letter had been received from the Archbishop of Wales complimenting the Association on the work it was doing and thanking the members for the ringing for the consecration services.

The secretary congratulated the ringers at Usk and Llandaff Cathedral for the fine work they had carried out to improve their ringing chambers. In accordance with the policy of the Central Council contact had been made with St. Michael's Theological College, Llandaff, and a lecture on 'Bells, Bellringers and Change Ringing' had been given to the students, and it was hoped to repeat this lecture at two-yearly intervals.

During the year Mr. John Phillips, who was Master of the Association in 1931, was elected Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and it is fitting that the Society has accepted an invitation to hold the 1964 Provincial meeting in Cardiff on Saturday, June 6th.

47 PEALS

During the year, 47 peals were rung and the list reveals a steady improvement in the standard, covering a very wide variety of methods. The peals include the first peal of Surprise Royal rung by an all-resident band and peals by the Sunday service bands at Whitchurch and Llandaff Cathedral. Mr. David Llewellyn has continued his work of compiling a card index of all peals ever rung for the Association and had answered numerous queries concerning past peals. The secretary thanked the Branch secretaries for their great work during the year.

The hon. treasurer, the Rev. I. J. Richards, presented the accounts, and in his report stated that: 'This is the first year's working after our decision to increase the annual subscription to 3s. Though it did not meet with the approval of all members it has proved acceptable to the majority and is partly responsible for the slight increase in our balance. But I must hasten to repeat what I have so often said at our annual meetings, but which seems to be taken for granted, no claim for expenses was made by our representative on the Central Council who was able to attend, nor by the Association's officers other than postage and printing. They deserve our best thanks. They set a splendid example to us by their devotion to the affairs of the Association.'

The reports were adopted and the officers concerned thanked.

Mr. Jack James, of Monmouth, was elected Master for the year and invested with his badge of office by the retiring Master, Mr. Fred Hannington. The hon. secretary, hon. treasurer and hon. auditors were re-elected and thanked for their services.

A motion to revise the Association's Form of Service was defeated. Miss Ann Thomas, of Rumney, was congratulated on becoming a Queen's Guide.

The appointment of official instructors was discussed but it was felt that this matter was better left in the hands of towers adjacent to those requiring such service and that learners should be encouraged to attend practices other than at their own towers to further their skill.

The next annual general meeting will be held at St. John's, Cardiff, on Easter Monday, 1965.

The meeting concluded with the usual votes of thanks to all who had assisted in ensuring the success of the meeting.

Ringling on tower- and handbells took place both before and after the meeting in a very wide variety of methods. M. J. P.

CUMBERLAND BELLMASTER RETIRES

At the annual church meeting of St. Kentigern's, Crosthwaite, Keswick, the tower secretary, Mr. J. W. Brownrigg, when reporting on the bellringers, said a rather sad milestone had been reached in the history of Crosthwaite belfry by the retirement of the bellmaster, Mr. Tom Hogarth, after 40 years in that office and 60 years as a ringer. The Hogarth family had been connected with the belfry for nearly 100 years and he hoped Mr. Hogarth's health would allow him to continue the associations for many years to come.

The Vicar, Canon F. H. Marshall, then presented Mr. Hogarth with a stainless steel bowl, engraved with a bell and suitably inscribed, made at the Keswick Industrial Arts. He said it was a token of their appreciation of his long and valuable service.

On the proposition of Mr. Hogarth, Mr. J. W. Brownrigg was unanimously appointed the bellmaster.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Marlborough Branch

The quarterly meeting of the Marlborough Branch was held at Pewsey on March 21st and attracted an attendance of over 30. The easy-going six of pleasant tone at the Church of St. John the Baptist were put to good use throughout the afternoon and evening under the direction of the Rev. Roger Keeley (Ringing Master). Ringing was also provided for two weddings. The Guild service was conducted by the Rector (the Ven. C. A. Plaxton), who is a change ringer and gave an appropriate address. The Rev. A. R. Woodford (curate) was organist.

Tea was taken at a nearby hotel and the business meeting followed. In the absence of the chairman (Mr. G. Newman) the Rev. R. Keeley presided. An apology for absence was read from the hon. secretary (Mr. T. A. Palmer), who was in bed with a severe attack of lumbago. A letter of sympathy and best wishes for his speedy recovery is to be sent him. The statement of accounts for 1963 showed a slightly increased balance in hand.

Subject to permission, towers mentioned for future meetings were Aldbourne, Ramsbury and St. Katherine's (Savernake Forest). As a measure of the enthusiasm now prevailing in the Branch, a proposal that in view of the Diocesan Festival being held in Marlborough in May, the meeting for that month should be dispensed with failed to find a seconder! This is all to the good, and the number of young people present augurs well for the future. W. A. E.

OBITUARY

THE REV. G. C. P. HILTON BRIGGS

The village of Cookham, Berks, suffered a tragic blow in the sudden death of its greatly beloved Vicar, Rev. Peter Briggs, on March 26th. Fr. Briggs was a great friend of the ringers, as were also his wife and family, and he never failed to visit the belfry every Sunday to greet his ringers, a duty many other clergy might emulate. A half-muffled peal to his memory was rung on April 4th, and his family were waiting in the belfry to express their thanks, and visited the band afterwards to ascertain whether the attempt was successful.

The late Vicar's son and daughter can both handle a bell. Ringers who have been to Cookham can testify to the warmth of the hospitality extended to them by Mr. and Mrs. Briggs at the Vicarage. He will be sadly missed by villagers and ringers alike. W. B.

AN APPRECIATION

The prime mover in having the bells of Holy Trinity Church, Bengoe, Herts, recast as a war memorial was the then Rector, the Rev. G. C. P. Hilton Briggs. It was fitting that these bells should be rung half-muffled to a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles on the day of his death.

Although not a ringer, Mr. Briggs was particularly keen on keeping the bells ringing and he never failed to visit the belfry at least once a week. He showed the same interest in the bells of Holy Trinity Church, Cookham-on-Thames, where he had been for the past three years.

THE BELLS OF BALE, NORFOLK

THE village of Bale, standing one mile from the Holt-Fakenham road, is rarely visited, except perhaps by those interested in the 15th century glass in the church. Ringers certainly have not made a point of including it on outings in recent years. The Church of All Saints stands at a cross roads, its 60 ft. tower dwarfed by the massive bulk of Bale oaks. During the last six years the church has been restored by the village, and on Palm Sunday a service of thanksgiving was held. At this service the ring of five bells was rededicated.

Few rings can have had a more chequered history than these. Legend supposes them to have been stolen from the neighbouring village of Gunthorpe. In the 16th century inventories of church goods we find at Bale: 'iij bells, the largest by estimation x cwt.' Of the three, the treble was recast in 1647 and the tenor in 1658. In 1839, Thomas Hurry, of Norwich, was commissioned to augment the bells to five. This he did by the addition of two trebles to the existing three. These were not stolen from Gunthorpe, but had been brought from the Church of St. Michael-at-Thorn, Norwich. By 1902 repairs had become necessary. It would seem that the work was entrusted to the Cooper Steam Digger Co., of King's Lynn, for the third of the five was recast to their order in that year by the Loughborough Foundry.

Later, in the same year, the second was recast, again by the Loughborough Foundry, to the order of the Farmers' Foundry, of Ryburgh, who, it seems, carried out the re-hanging. Thus the bells have hung since 1902, but by the 1930's the bells were considered difficult. Tales are told of bands unable to contend with the rough 'go' of the bells and the phrase 'grindstone bearings' has been applied. In recent years they have been regarded as unringable and are so listed in the report of the Norwich Diocesan Association of Ringers, and in 'Dove'.

In the 1950's an attempt was made to resurrect the bells, but after cleaning up, patching wheels and general renovations, efforts were thwarted when the bearings of the tenor broke and the bells wedged obliquely across her pit. The bells were again silent and unringable until this year.

In January of this year an inspection of the tower revealed the tenor with broken bearings and the first four with very stiff bearings. It was then decided that, if possible, an attempt would be made to rehang the tenor and renovate the other four bells. The work was undertaken by boys from Gresham's School, Holt, who, under the supervision of a master, carried out the necessary work, cycling in all weathers to Bale in their spare time. Much practical help and encouragement was given by the Rector, the Rev. R. G. R. Stone, and the churchwarden, Mr. D. Hammond, an old Greshamian.

On the first visit, a snowy January day, large M. & G.N. railway sleepers were sawn into convenient lengths, hauled by hand to the bell chamber and placed under the unsafe tenor. On a further visit the bell was eased by ropes and crowbars back to her rightful place. Wedges were inserted between the sleepers and the bell and the canon straps slackened off, the bell resting on the sleepers. After removing the headstock and lowering it to the ground, the gudgeons and broken bearings were removed and the stock sent to Whitechapel. Mears and Stainbank fitted new gudgeons and ball bearings and returned the stock to Holt. After conveyance to Bale the stock was carefully hoisted to the bell chamber.

The bearings, mounted on oak blocks made at the school workshop, were screwed down using immense coach screws which took 2½ hours to insert. The canon straps were replaced and the bell remounted on her headstock. The wedges and sleepers were removed and the bell was now swinging from her own bearings. The fittings were finally replaced on March 20th, 1964, and with much trepidation the bell was raised for the first time and found to run amazingly well. Thus for the first time the bells could safely be rung. The first four bells, had, by now, been attended to, the stiff bearings eased with liberal doses of oil and the garter holes redrilled to ensure easier handling.

During the 125 years since the purchasing of the secondhand bells, the ring has been repaired by the Cooper Steam Digger Co., rehanged by the Farmers' Foundry and now, in 1964, restored by a team of schoolboy enthusiasts.

REDEDICATION, PALM SUNDAY

The bells were rededicated on March 22nd, 1964, in the presence of a fairly large congregation. As the rehanging had been done by boys, it was fitting that the congregation should include several masters from Gresham's, one of whom played the organ. Lessons were read by two boys, Nigel F. Briggs and Peter N. Mackley, both of whom had taken part in the work of rehanging. The Rector, after giving an account of the work done, proceeded to the tower, where five ringers waited, and performed the dedication. After prayers the tenor was rung alone and then the dedicatory rounds were rung by Gresham's ringers. Those taking part were Paul Cattermole 1, Richard A. J. Bower 2, W. M. Benedick Young 3, Andrew Sawyer 4, Paul S. Royds-Jones 5. In his address the Rector thanked the boys for their untiring efforts and rejoiced in the fact that it was once more possible for Bale bells to ring out to the glory of God. In the congregation were Mr. F. C. Goodman, Ringing Master of the Norwich Diocesan Association and Mr. T. Owen, Master of the Western Branch of the Association. After the service the bells were rung in rounds and their help was very welcome. It is very pleasing to feel that Bale is once more on the ringing map.

DETAILS OF THE BELLS

Treble.—Date 1710. Weight C 4½ cwt. Note D. 'Charles Newman made mee 1710.'

This bell, a rough casting, originally hung in the tower of St. Michael-at-Thorn, Norwich, and was brought to Bale in 1839. St. Michael's, badly damaged during World War II, has been demolished and it is pleasing that the voice of one of its bells should still be heard.

Second.—Date 1902. Weight 5 cwt. 1 qr. 15 lbs. Note C. 'Nobis: Succurre: Michael: Gabriel: Raphael.' (On waist) 'John Taylor and Co., Loughborough, Recast 1902.'

The original bell, whose inscription has been copied in the recasting, was made by an unknown founder in c. 1440 and first hung at St. Michael's.

Third.—Date 1902. Weight 5 cwt. 3 qr. 12 lbs. Note B. 'John Brend made me 1647' (on waist as second bell).

This bell had been cast in Norwich by Brend and was recast in 1902.

Fourth.—Date c. 1480. Weight c. 7½ cwt. Note A. 'Hac in conclave Gabriel nuc pange suave' (in Gothic black letter).

By Brasyer of Norwich, this bell is a beautiful casting and of fine tone.

Tenor.—Date 1658. Weight C. 9¼ cwt. Note G. 'Elias Brend made me 1658.'

The bells hang in an oak frame of 1902, the first four on plain bearings installed in 1902, the tenor on 1964 ball-bearings. The bells are rung from the ground floor and run quite well.

GAINSBOROUGH WEDDINGS

This Easter has been a busy time for Gainsborough, Lincs, ringers with two special weddings at All Saints' Church. On Easter Monday Miss Rosemary Ann Roberts, daughter of Canon J. E. Roberts, president of the West Lindsey Branch of the Lincoln Guild, was married to Mr. Adrian John Crispin Gray. Canon Roberts deputised for the Bishop of Grimsby, who was indisposed. Among the bridesmaids was the small daughter of the Rev. P. M. Freeman, one-time curate of All Saints' and now Vicar of Messingham.

Both the bride and bridegroom at the next day's ceremony are accomplished local ringers. They were Miss Delia Ellen Smith and Mr. Alastair Robin Heppenstall, M.A. Another Gainsborough ringer, Miss Pauline Bull, was a bridesmaid.

The bells were rung before and after each ceremony by the local band.

Representatives from nine towers in the Eastern Branch of the Norwich Diocesan Association met Canon Thurlow at St. Nicholas', Great Yarmouth, on March 21st to attempt a farewell peal to him on leaving the parish and Branch. Four changes after the start a loud crash sounded overhead and the fifth change had a gap where the tenor should have struck!! An immediate stand and investigation revealed a broken clapper, but fortunately no other damage as it flew out. An attempt for Major was then made on the Gabriel eight, which came to grief after two hours. In spite of these setbacks the best wishes of all the band go with the Canon to his new duties.

The names in the photograph of the Sapcote band (page 206) should read left to right and not right to left.

We are asked by the hon. secretary of the Beverley and District Society to state that the practice night at Hesse is Thursday night and not Wednesday, as erroneously stated in the Society's annual report.

A complete set of cuttings of the 'In Memoriam' ringing for President Kennedy was sent to Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy shortly after publication by Mr. R. D. Short. He also received an acknowledgment.

A smile from 'Belfry News.' Conversation heard between learner and her parent. Parent: 'I heard you ringing for service. You were the last to finish?' Learner: 'No, I wasn't. I finished before everyone else.'

To mark the 120th anniversary of the first peal of Stedman Triples in Yorkshire, at Rotherham Parish Church on February 27th, 1844, a peal in the same method was rung by the Sunday service band in this church on March 22nd.

The three officers of the Winchester District—Mr. P. Tubbs (Ringing Master), Mr. F. C. W. Knight (Deputy Ringing Master) and Mr. D. B. Brown (hon. secretary)—were amazed at the number of keen youngsters that were forthcoming at their beginners' meeting at New Alresford. They are looking forward to their next practice at Micheldever on April 14th at 7.30 p.m.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Julian David Duggan, captain at St. Andrew's, Enfield, rung for a few minutes prior to his wedding on March 21st, to Miss Lesley Marion Fletcher, a fellow ringer at St. Andrew's. A full choir was in attendance and during the signing of the register, two anthems were sung, one having been specially written for the couple by the organist, Mr. Eric Pask. The Vicar, the Rev. Graham Bixton, officiated, with the Rev. Michael Bourdeaux. Miss Rosalind Fletcher was bridesmaid to her sister, and Mr. Keith Murray best man. The honeymoon was spent touring the West Country and South Wales.

Miss J. S. Armstrong informs us that she rang the 'Ellacombe' at Morpeth Watch Tower for the birth of the royal prince.

The peal at Kirkburton, the first of Minor since 1938, was the first peal for Hedley Burton, a native of the village, now living at Crawley, Sussex.

An 85-year-old bronze bell in a disused church at Millport, Island of Cumbrae, Scotland, is to be shipped for use in a new church at Melbourne, Australia.

Mr. R. D. Short, of Bridgwater, informs us that it was his arm that was in plaster and not his leg when he rang the quarter peal mentioned on page 208. He sends the correction in case his ringing friends might be thinking he has had another accident.

The peal rung at Kildown on March 21st was only the third peal ever rung for a wedding in the history of the church. After the peal the band joined in the reception at the Village Hall and the evening was very much enjoyed. Much fun and laughter came when Mr. Reginald Lambert demonstrated the twist.
