THE LIVERPOOL MEETING.

Another Central Council meeting has come and gone, and ringers will examine the proceedings to see what has been done. Many of those who read the reports of the meetings are apt to judge the results from the standpoint of their own particular interests. This view often leads to the idea that there has been little business transacted, because only those things which make an individual appeal stand out conspicuously in the retrospect, this reason there may be a good many ringers, and some members of the Council among them, who will not look upon the Liverpool meeting as one of the most interesting of the series or productive of results equal to some other similar gatherings. And yet, on the broader view, while the meeting lacked any great controversial development, we think it will be found that the proceedings were not entirely devoid of usefulness. For instance, definite steps were taken to come to grips with the question of the Council's constitution and a special committee appointed to go into the whole question, after the Standing Committee's vague and half-hearted attempt at revision had been rather badly muddled in its presentation to the Council. Then the difficulties which had held up the publication of the ' Collection of Minor Methods ' were smoothed out by a compromise which the Standing Committee had arranged, although at one point it looked as if their efforts in this direction were to be upset by a member of the Methods Committee. If the compromise robbed the meeting of a certain liveliness of debate, it made possible the immediate completion and the early issue of a long awaited and valuable publication. In addition, steps were taken to put in hand the next book of the series, which is to comprise the Triples Methods, and this, in itself, should prove of great practical use to ringers, and should encourage and extend the variety of seven-bell methods rung. Again, for the benefit of ringers, it was decided to prepare a work on the variation of compositions, which, in the absence of a register of these productions--which was generally considered to be impracticable-will be a guide and help especially to young composers venturing into, for them, an unknown field. And last, but not least, we may mention the action of the Council in setting the national seal to the scheme which has been promoted by 'The Ringing World' for the commemoration of the tercentenary of Fabian Stedman. Other matters were discussed and decided, and the routine business of the Council transacted, and if these things were humdrum and unexciting, the work done was nevertheless useful. The Liverpool meeting touched the affairs of the Exercise at many points; it may not have been of (Continued on page 354.)

outstanding interest, but it was well worth while. For those of the members, however, who found the proceedings duller than they would have liked, there was ample compensation in the manner of their reception and entertainment both by the Lancashire Association and the Lord Mayor of the city. Rarely, if ever, have the Council been so hospitably treated and their comfort so carefully studied.

WOOLWICH RINGERS ORGANISE A FETE.

On Whit Monday the ringers of St. Mary's Parish Church, Wool-wich, held a fete and gala in the grounds of the Royal Military Repository with the object of raising the money for the recasting of the church bells.

The opening ceremony was performed by Canon A. M. Pickering (Rector of Woolwich), who was supported by Messrs. B. Aldridge (Master of the ringers), C. Palmer (secretary of the fund) and G.

Acott (churchwarden of St. Mary's).

Musical selections were rendered by the Deptford Central Hall band, and displays were given by Miss Cassidy's dancing troupe.

There were various competitions, and the culminating event was a firework display by Messrs. C. T. Brock.

SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD.

SEVENTH ANNUAL RINGING COMPETITION.

SEVENTH ANNUAL RINGING COMPETITION.

The competition organised by the Swansca and Brecon Diocesan Guild, which takes place annually on the Saturday nearest Empiro Day, was held at the tower of St. Gwendoline's Church, Talgarth, Breconshire, on Saturday, May 23rd. The line peal of six bells were well rung, whilst the Union Jack flew gracefully at the most on the tower. The Guild was fortunate in that Mr. W. H. Fussell, of Slough, was once more able to fill the role of adjudicator, and his duties were carried out in a most satisfactory manner. The order of ringing, and the points obtained by the several bands, out of a possible of 240, were as follows:—

Linnelly, Ca	rmart	hen			444	4.1	207
	101 10						217
St. Mary's,	Breco						200
Gorseinen	4.1						 230
Cefn Coed			114	144			214
Talgarth			*11	114			 240

Talgarth therefore won the shield, despite the fact that there was a handicap of nine points for the local tower.

There was a company of about eighty ringers present, and all were entertained to a cold luncheon and tea at the Parish Hall. Dr. Gwyn Davies, the Vicar of Talgarth, presided over the gatherings.

Davies, the Vicar of Talgarth, presided over the gatherings.

Mr. Fussell, in delivering his adjudication after tea, complimented the ringers on such a good muster, and remarked that the standard of ringing was well up to the average of past competitions. The teamwere fairly efficient in the methods rung, and kept a fairly good compass. He had much praise for the way the Talgarth band had set about their task in the competition. In the raising of the hells there was no clipping, the changes were rung beautifully with 'hand' leads kept well open, whilst the falling of the hells was well done—the whole a highly satisfactory performance.

Prior to Mr. Fussell's adjudication, Dr. Gwyn Davies extended a very hearty welcome to the ringers to the parish of Talgarth, and expressed the hope that a return visit would not be long delayed. The adjudication over, Mrs. Gwyn Davies very kindly presented the shield to the captain of the Talgarth band (Mr. W. D. Griffiths), also certificates to the captains of Talgarth, Gorseinon (Mr. D. J. Williams' and Neath (Mr. Harry Boyce) bands. The three captains made suitable acknowledgment, and thanked Mrs. Davies.

The thanks of the ringers were heartily accorded the Vicar, Mrs.

The thanks of the ringers were heartily accorded the Vicar, Mrs Davies, and all the ladies who were responsible for the catering, by Minor Canon H. Gomer Davies (Brecon).—Dr. Gwyn Davies responded on behalf of himself and all who had assisted to make the gathering such a success.

Much credit is due to the parishioners, for through their efforts a sum of £22 2s. 6d. had been collected by various means to meet the expenses connected with the gathering. Warm thanks to Mr. Fussell expenses connected with the gathering. Warm thanks to Mr. Fussell for the manner he carried out his duties concluded a very happy meeting.

DEPTFORD BELLS HEARD AGAIN.

After remaining silent, with one or two exceptions, for about three cars, the fine old bells of St. Nicholas', Deptford, were rung for the Whitsun service on Sunday morning.

The revival of the bells, which came as a surprise to the people living in the neighbourhood, was due in a large measure to Mr. George H. Daynes, of Ashburnham Grove, Greenwich, who is a churchwarden of St. Nicholas' and a keen ringer. He has taken over the task of teaching a new band of ringers the art of change ringing, and Whit Sunday was their first attempt with the bells open.

Mr. Daynes is being assisted by two members of the church, Miss Jessie Colgate, a lady ringer, and Mr. William Marriett, of Deptford, and every endeavour will be used to ensure that this historic peal is regularly rung, especially for Sunday services.

GIRL'S FIRST 720.

Miss F. Humphrey, of Folkingham, Lines, who is only 14 years of age, rang her first 720 of Bob Minor recently, when she took part in an extent rung at St. Andrew's Church: Miss F. Humphrey I, Mrs. P. Humphrey 2. A. Scott 3, H. Gibbard 4, C. T. H. Bradley (conductor) 5, C. Wilkinson 6.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

SUBSTANTIAL GRANTS TO BELL RESTORATION.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held al Northampton on Whit Monday, and the proceedings were of an enjoyable and successful character. The Guild service was conducted at St. Peter's Church by the Rector, the Rev. E. V. Martin, who also gave a much appreciated address. Over eighty sat down to lunch at the Plough Hotel. The Master, Mr. F. Wilford, presided, and was supported by the Revs. R. C. Thursfield, J.P., E. V. Martin, C. J. Walkins, W. H. Foaris, C. H. L. Hopper, and E. C. Channer, Messrs, W. T. Wilson (treasurer), R. G. Black (secretary), and the following branch secretaries: Rev. R. Howes, Messrs. H. Baxter, T. Tebbutt and W. C. Moore. W. C. Moore.

The Master gave a hearty welcome to a party of ringers of the Oxford Guild, who were on an outing and ringing in Northampton during their short stay. It was pleasing to see among the other visitors Mr. J. Flint and party from Bolsover, and Mr. O. Sippetts, of Crawley, Sussex.

The report, which was adopted, shows an increase in membership and in funds. There are now 119 towers in union with the Guild, 107 honorary members, 731 ringing members, and 187 non-resident life members, a total of 1,025. There are now nine branches of the Guild. The Central Fund shows a balance on the year of £24 17s. 8d., and was worth at the end of the year £96 13s. 2d.

The Belfry Repairs Fund has a balance of £118 6s. 10d., an increase for the year of £8 2s. 6d. Nine applications for grants from this fund were received, and sums amounting to £62 13s. were granted to Moulton, St. Giles', Northampton, St. Edmund's, Northampton, Harpele, Wicken, Yaxley, St. John's, Peterborough, Corby and Stanwick.

A grant of £5 was also made towards the restoration of St. Benet's, Cambridge, from the Central Fund Account in connection with the Stedman Commemoration.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting in Northampton.

The usual votes of thanks were passed to the various clergy for the use of their bells, and to the Rector of St. Peter's for his ad-dress, to the Northampton Branch committee for arrangements made for the meeting, and to the Master for presiding

All the officers were re-elected with thanks for their past services.

One new rule was passed, viz.: 'That this Guild be affiliated to the Central Council and loyally abide by the rules and decisions thereof.'

Good use was made during the day of the various bells, and some good ringing was enjoyed by the members assembled up to London and Bristol Major and Cambridge Royal.

DEVONSHIRE GUILD.

RE-ISSUE OF INSTRUCTION BOOK CONTEMPLATED.

The 57th annual general meeting of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers was held at Plymouth on Whit Monday, when the bells of St. Audrew's, Charles, Emmanuel and Stoke Churches were well employed by members from Bridgerule, Combe Martin, Exeter, Kelly, Lifton, Littleham, Marland, Plymouth and Withycombe. A short service was held in St. Andrew's Church, conducted by Vicar (Ven. Archdeacon Daukes), who, in an address of welcome, mentioned that St. Andrew's bells, when recast 100 years ago, were said to have been augmented with metal from cannon captured from the Spanish Armada, and he thought it rather a pleasing idea that our own and our enemies' metal should be joined in ringing the message of the gospel of peace.

Following the service, luncheon and the business meeting were held at Goodbody's Restaurant, with the Rev. E. S. Powell (president of the Guild) in the chair, and the Bishop of Plymouth, the Revs. E. V. Cox, F. W. Moore, G. T. Trewellha (secretary of Truro Diocesan Guild), the general secretary (Mr. T. Laver), and 120 members

The annual report and financial statement for the year 1930, as published, were adopted, and the officers of the Guild re-elected, viz.: Rev. E. S. Powell, president; Mr. T. Laver, general secretary; and Mr. T. G. Bartlett, general treasurer.

It was resolved that the Guild should be officially affiliated to the Central Council of the Church Bellringers, and should subscribe a donation of five guineas to the Stedman Tercentenary Commemoration

 Λ proposal for the issue of certificates graded according to competency of members fell through for lack of support.

A sub-committee of four was appointed to consider the re-issue of an instruction book for six-bell hands, with power to act if deemed desirable.

For the next annual meeting two places were proposed—Bideford and Ottery St. Mary—and on a show of hands Bideford was selected.

The general secretary was instructed to send a letter of condolence and sympathy with Dr. J. Symons (president of Truro Diocesan Guild) on the loss of his wife, also to the relatives of the late Mr. T. J. Stokes, formerly treasurer of the Guild.

The president voiced the appreciation of the meeting at the presence of the Bishop of Plymouth, who was warmly applauded on leaving.

Mr. Charles Channing, who has been a member of the Pitminster, Somerset, band for 25 years, has rung his first peal at the age of 71.

He first learnt to handle a bell, when twelve years of age, at the Church of Hatch Beauchamp, Somerset. Most of his ringing life has been spent with eall change bands, but he has ever been a consistent and enthusiastic ringer and a valued member of any company to which he has been attached.

Thirty-nine years ago to-morrow the Norwick Diocesan Association rang the celebrated 15,608 Oxford Treble Bob Major at Debenham in

On June 8th, 1906, the Chester Guild rang the 16,800 of Kent at Mottram in 9 hrs. 40 mins. The agening of the bells at Kent School is a reminder that on June 9th, 1850, the lisst peal was rung on the American continent, when Henry Haley called Holt's ten-part peal of Grandsire Triples at Christ Church, Philadelphia.

ORDERLY RAISING AND LOWERING OF BELLS. To the Editor.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I think it is only fair to the many ringers, particularly in the West Country, who take a delight in raising and lowering the bells in peal, and who aim at a high standard in the practice of it, to submit a protest against the suggestion of Mr. F. W. Richardson that any official pronouncement should be sought to discourage it. Rather, one feels bound to ask why rising and falling in rounds is not more universally studied and practised. There is no more heautiful finish to the ringing than a well-struck fall. But, obviously, however perfectly a ringer may be able to handle his bell in rounds or changes, the raising and falling in peal calls for a special concentration and practice.

changes, the raising and rating in the control of the hells to be raised and let to admit that it is preferable for the hells to be raised and let down singly where the band is only likely to produce an unseemly jangle in peal. My object, however, in writing is to advocate strongly that ringers should be urged to master the art of raising and lowering in peal instead of being given an impression that the Exercise looks upon the practice with disfavour, and officially seeks to maintain it as the exception rather than the rule.—Yours faithfully,

RUNG WITH FIVE GENERATIONS.

To the Editor.

To the Editor.

Sir,—That a person should ring with five generations of a family must be so rare an occurrence that it is deserving of record. An instance occurred at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, on Tuesday evening, May 19th, when Mr. Robert H. Brundle rang rounds with Miss Phyllis Fillett, aged twelve, daughter of Mr. John F. Tillett. This makes the fifth generation of the family that Mr. Brundle has rang with, namely, John Naunton, Sam, Fred J., John F., and Phyllis Fillett. The first Tillett, Sam, was son-in-law of John Naunton.—Yours truly,

— CHAS. J. SEDGLEY.

THE GREATE BELL OF BREAGE, CORNWALL.

The Greate Bell Of Breage, Cornwall.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was interested in your extract from a book, 'Breage in the Eighteenth Contury,' which is being prepared by Canon G. H. Doble, regarding the above. This bell was supposed to weigh about 25 cwt., and was, as you remark, dated 1771. It had the inscription, 'The people desire many bells, but one sufficeth God.' There was also a smaller bell of the same date. The statement, however, that this 'Greate Bell' was recast into a peal of six by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston in 1928 is not correct, as these two bells were recast by these founders into a chime of eight, tenor 6 cwt. 0 cr. 10 lb., note C. It is a great pity that such an interesting bell should have been lost for ever to be replaced by a chime.—Yours faithfully.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

A general meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at Halesworth on Whit Monday, when upwards of sixty members and friends attended from Beccles, Earl Soham, Stowmarket, Wrentham, Framlingham, Sibton, Bungay, Norwich, Diss, Lodden, Redenhall, Badingham, Ufford, Leiston, Blaxhall, Benhall, Blyford, Henstead, Huntingfield, Wissett, Maldon, Chediston and London, twenty-six towers being represented. The bells were available throughout the day, and ringing also took place at Chediston, Wissett, and Wenhaston, methods from Bob Major and Grandsire Triples to London Surprise Major being rung. Tea was provided at the Swan Hotel, when fifty-lwo sat down, but some difficulty was experienced owing to the fact that only about twenty-six had sent in their names.

At the business meeting which followed, Mr. Orford, of Halesworth, was voted to the chair, and it was decided to hold a meeting at Beccles on August Bank Holiday. Several new members were elected, and thanks were accorded to the chairman for presiding, to the various clergy for the use of the bells, and to Mr. F. C. Lambert, the energetic district secretary, who made all arrangements for the day.—The chairman and Mr. Lambert suitably responded.

Members then again visited the tower, and the bells were going until a late hour.

THE STEDMAN TERCENTENARY.

FUND NEARLY £275.

We publish below the second list of donations and promises for the furtherance of the scheme to commemorate this year the tercentenary of Fabian Stedman. A sum of nearly £275 has been reached - a magnificent achievement as the result of about a month's work. But at least £350 will be needed-more could be well and usefully expended-and it will require all the effort of the Exercise to raise the balance so that the work can be completed before the summer is out. Time is pressing and individuals and bands who wish to be identified with the scheme should lose no time in sending in their contributions. It is only when the money has been secured that any definite steps can be taken to put the work in hand-that is why we ask ringers to forward their donations now. Contributions should be sent to:

The Editor,

' The Ringing World,' Woking, Surrey, and will be acknowledged in these columns. The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild) is treasurer of the fund.

The management of the scheme will now be in the hands of a committee, and a letter has been addressed by the President of the Central Council to the Rector formally asking for permission to carry out the proposals and inviting the appointment of representatives to act on the committee with the representatives of the Council,

A SUSSEX DISTRICT'S DECISION.

At a meeting of the Western Division of the Sussex County Association, held at Rudgwick on Saturday, a resolution was unanimously passed that the Division should do all in its power to support the Tercentenary Fund by an appeal to the individual towers.

CHILDREN AND STEDMAN.

At the village church of Kington Magna, Dorset, the custom was established by the present Rector's grandfather of observing Whit Sunday as a Sunday School anniversary, and having recitations and sacred song rendered by the children at the evening service. This year occasion was taken to bring the Stedman Tercentenary to the notice of the village congregation. At one point in the proceedings six boys with handbells took their stand on the chancel steps, three of whom recited in order the following paragraphs:—

(1) England has been called the 'Ringing Isle.' It is only in the British Isles that scientific ringing is regularly practised. Just 300 years ago a famous change ringer was born at Cambridge.

(2) His name was Fabian Stedman. He used to ring at St. Benet's Church. The same belis are still hanging in the tower.

(3) He composed a very musical method. It is called, after his name, 'Stedman's Principle.' On six hells it hegins like this.

The opening changes of a course of Stedman Doubles were then rung, a little boy of seven being entrusted with the covering bell, after which the remaining three boys repeated Scriptural references to the golden bells on Aaron's robe.

RINGER'S MOTOR-CYCLE ACCIDENT.

Mr. Alan R. Pink, of Dorking, Surrey, was involved in an accident on Whit Monday in Cornwall. He had attended the annual meeting of the Devon Guild at Plymouth, and was proceeding to St. Merryn of the Devon Guild at Plymouth, and was proceeding to St. Merryn to meet the Truro Cathedral ringers, who were on their annual outing, when it appears he ran into the back of a car which pulled up rather quickly. He was unfortunately badly cut and bruised, especially on one leg below the knee, and is at present at the home of his parents, Rosewastis, St. Columb, Cornwall. It will be several days yet before he will be able to return to Dorking.

Mr. Pink was to have taken part in the peal of Grandsire Caters rung at Truro Cathedral on May 29th, and the band have to thank Mr. R. A. Watts for filling the vacancy at short notice.

THE BELLS AT KENT SCHOOL, U.S.A.

RINGERS PRESENT AT THE DEDICATION.

The dedication of the new bells at Kent School, Kent, Connecticut, U.S.A., referred to in our last issue, took place on Saturday, May 2nd, on the occasion of the annual meeting of the Fathers' Association. The service was conducted by the Rev. F. H. Sill, headmaster, and was broadcast by means of a megaphone from the belfry.

The bells, a ring of ten, tenor 25 cwt., in the key of D, are hung for ringing in the tower of the School Chapel. They are the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Humphrey as a thankoffering for God's blessing on their son. When the family were travelling to England two summers ago their boat ran aground within sight of land. It happened that their son was taken ill, and an operation was necessary that could only be performed if he were taken ashere immediately. The secident made this possible.

The ceremony began with the Lord's Prayer, followed by other prayers for blessing on those who ring the bells and those who hear them, and terminated with the Benediction of the bells themselves. Immediately following the Benediction, the bells were rung by a band from Groton School, Mass., and Boston, and including Mv. A. A. Hughes, of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry.

The ringing consisted of call changes on the ten, and touches of Grandsire Triples conducted by Mr. Isnac Attwater, who has been appointed ringing instructor to the school. The arrangements for the moting greater appreciation of the science and art of change ringing. Father Sill, who presided over the first part of the meeting, temporarily appointed various members of the school to positions on the Guild, which, on the advice of Mr. A. A. Hughes, is to be called 'The Kent School Guild of Bellringers.'

Father Sill then left the meeting in the charge of Mr. Sturgis and Mr. Hughes. Mr. Sturgis addressed the meeting on the advantages and attractions of change ringing, and added that if any member of the group should ever visit England and enter a tower where change ringing was practised, he would be certain of a most hospitable welcome, especially if he said he came from America.

Mr. Hughes also spoke, and extended, on behalf of the College Youths, a hearty welcome to anyone visiting London, and also promised to introduce them wherever it might be most convenient.

The Guild afterwards elected the visiting ringers as honorary

A school concert was held later in the auditorium, and some courses of Grandsire Triples on handbells were most enthusiastically received.

The following morning a well-struck touch of 840 of Grandsire Triples was rung on the tower bells, conducted by Mr. Attwater.

Mr. Attwater's pupils are very keen indeed, and have made wonderful progress in the short time they have had for practice. Everything, so far, points to this installation being a live factor in promoting interest in scientific change ringing in New England.

THE FORMATION OF A RINGERS' GUILD.

Immediately following dinner, with many guests and parents present, Father Sill held a school meeting, and, after speaking of the special occasion, read a letter of congratulation from Mr. W. T. Cockerill on behalf of the Ancient Society of College Youths. The following cablegram from Lord Rothermere was also read:—

'My sincere congratulations to Father Sill, yourselves, and all at Kent School, and wishes for infinite pleasure from the ringing of the bells.

Subsequently, a meeting of all ringers present was held in the head-master's study, to organise a Guild to enable them to unite in pro-

The bells were heard by a large audience, and everyone was enthusiastic in their admiration of the tone and the effect in change ringing. The work was carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank of the Whitchapel Bell Foundry, and the erection was supervised by their bell hanger, Mr. John Thomas.

FAREWELL TOUCH AND PRESENTATION.

A 'date' touch of 1,932 Grandsire Triples was rung in the tower of St. Mary's, Tenby, on Thursday, May 21st, by: Miss R. Cecit Williams I, R. H. Jenkins 2, W. Smith 3, T. Yeomans 4, T. Griffiths 5, Rev. F. A. Oswell 6, H. L. Jenkins 7, J. H. Williams 8. Composed by H. L. Jenkins, conducted by Rev. F. A. Oswell.

After the touch, the captain, Mr. R. H. Jenkins, presented the Rev. F. A. Oswell with a silver inkstand in the shape of n bell on his leaving for the diocese of Monmouth, as a mark of the ringers' appreciation of his five years' association with them in the tower.

THE LORD MAYOR'S CIVIC WELCOME.

Precisely at eleven o'clock the Lord Mayor of Liverpool (Alderman Edwin Thompson), accompanied by the Bishop of Liverpool (Dr. David), entered the Council Chamber and took the chair amid applause. He was supported by the president of the Council (Mr. E. H. Lewis), the hon, secretary and treasurer (Mr. E. Alex, Young) and the hon, librarian (Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn).

the hon, librarian (Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn).

The Lord Mayor, in welcoming the Council to Liverpool, said he was brought up to the old saying that small boys were to be seen and not heard. It seemed to him that companologists were fated always to be heard and not seen (laughter). There was no body of people in the world who, in his opinion, got less recognition for the work they did than campanologists. It was, he admitted, one of the professions about which he knew lamentably little, but whenever he paid a visit to the belfry as a boy the thing that astonished him most was how the people ringing the bells were not pulled up to the ceiling (laughter). It gave him very much pleasure, as Lord Mayor of Liverpool, to welcome them to the Town Hall, and he was glad to have the privilege of being able to lend them that Council Chamber for their deliberations. Continuing, the Lord Mayor said it had been his privilege to see the largest bell in the world, that at the Kremlin in Moscow, and also the other great bell in that city, which weighed 126 tons. One of the most beautiful sounds which one could hear, however, was a really good peal of bells on the English countryside, while another was the chiming of the carillon at Bruges. English bells, well rung, had always struck him as one of the most beautiful of musical sounds that one could hear, and he wished they had more appreciation of bellringing in this country than they had. He hoped by their deliberations that day, the art of bellringing might be a little better known in Liveropool than it was at the present time, and if they could do anything to encourage Liverpool to adopt bellringing more than it had done in the past, their meeting that day would be well spent. He welcomed them most sincerely, and wished them well spent. every success (applause),

'ECHOES OF A VANISHED WORLD.

'ECHOES OF A VANISHED WORLD.

The Bishop of Liverpool said he was grateful for the opportunity allowed him to take a share in the welcome extended to the Council, and at the same time to give some expression to the gratitude that all churchpeople and, indeed, many others, felt to them for their part in the service of administering the 'sacrament of sound.' That gratitude, he felt, was generally taken for granted, and, indeed, in the fellowship of the Church they were not exacting in the giving and receiving of thanks, but there were occasions when it should be recogceiving of thanks, but there were occasions when it should be recognised, and that, he thought, was one of them. It was in their minds yesterday, when they were listening to the music the ringers were drawing from the tower of St. Nicholas', and which, floating high and strong above the clanging of the trams and the hooting of motor horns, fell upon their battered ears like the echoes of a vanished and quieter world. It was the privilege of ringers to maintain a peculiarly English tradition, and to adopt and even extend it in the changed circumstances and needs of to-day. He was particularly interested in two of the subjects which, he understood, would find places in their deliberations. The first was the care of bells and the education of churchwardens and others in administering that care. Churchwardens were men of goodwill, but they were very busy men, and, for the most part, they were, if he might say so without insultinguorant in this matter—and so was he, and so were most people. Any suggestions which the Council could make which would tend to increase the practical care of bells by the clergy and churchwardens, he, for his part, would welcome very much and would, in that diocese, draw special attention to them. In the second place, he believed the Council were going to consider the question of making themselves the Council were going to consider the question of making themselves recognised as churchworkers. 'Some of us,' said the Bishop, 'feel that bellringers stand a little bit outside the fellowship of what we call church work, and I and my brother Bishops are anxious to do what we can to improve their status and to take them into the practical fellowship of the Church. I am eager, therefore, to hear what suggestions you have to make to us upon that point. I hope your conference will exhibit that same harmonious team spirit which is the very essence of your heautiful art' (applause).

CHANGED TIMES.

The President thanked the Lord Mayor for his welcome to Liverpool for the use of that heautiful room in which they had met. was the first time the Council had mot in Liverpool, and they appreciated very much indeed the splendid arrangements which had been made for them and in which the Lord Mayor had taken so noble a part (applause). They were very grateful also that the Lord Bishop should have come there to offer his welcome, although they were heshould have come there to offer his welcome, although they were heginning to feel that they could demand as a right the presence of the Church authorities at their meetings, because during the last 40 or 50 years the position of ringers had entirely changed. Generally they could consider they were looked upon by the Church authorities as effective clurchworkers. If often used to be said in the 'bad old last of the tribundant of the characteristics as the control of the characteristics. ' that ringers would more often make their appearance in church days' that ringers would more often make their appearance in the heliry. They were thankful that in these days they had quite a number of the clergy who were among their best ringers, and a number were there that day applause). They felt that they could almost demand as a right that the Church authorities should recognise them and come and look them up in the belfry and at their meetings. They were very grateful to the Bishop for coming among them that day, and felt that he had accorded them a great houser. Continuing, Mr. Lewis said he felt very happy that that meeting was in Liverpool, because his own family had been connected with Liverpool for three generations. His greatgrandfathers used to sail their own ships pool, because his own family had been connected with Liverpool for three generations. His greatgrandfathers used to sait their own ships out of the port of Liverpool, and one of them was married in St. Nicholas' Church. He himself had lived in Liverpool for two years. In those days ringing was very dead in the centre of Liverpool. Therewas no ringing at St. Nicholas' Church, nor was any ringing allowed on the peal of ten bells then in the old pro-Cathedral of St. Peter. What ringing there was was more in the suburbs. The best ringing was probably at Tuebrook and a certain amount in other towers. To-day they were very thankful that that was changed. There was a To-day they were very thankful that that was changed. The was a splendid hand ringing at St. Nicholas' in the centre of the town. That was, he thought, largely due to the great strides which Liverpool ringers had made. It was only fitting, therefore, that the Council should visit Liverpool as some recognition of the enterprise of the local ringers (hear, hear). The President concluded by again thanking the Lord Mayor for his civic welcome and the Lord Bishop for his presence. his presence

ELECTION OF A NEW SECRETARY.

The president then took the chair, and, prayer having been offered by the Lord Bishop, the business of the agenda was proceeded with. The first item was the election of an honorary secretary and treasurer. The President said they would remember that last year Mr. Young expressed his desire to retire, but was persuaded to slay on for another year so that there should not be a change of two officials (president and secretary) at one time. They were very grateful indeed to Mr. Young for holding on, but he was auxious now to retire and, although they had pressed him, they felt they could not retire and, although they had pressed him, they felt they could not press him further, and therefore it was their duty to elect an hon-sceretary and treasurer in his place. Only one nomination had been received, and that was Mr. G. W. Fletcher (applause). Before putting that to the meeting, he thought they should express their thanks to Mr. Young for the work he had done since the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies retired. They appreciated his work very much indeed. He had been a most efficient secretary, who had done everything he possibly could to further the interests of the Council. The vote of thanks was carried with applause, as was also the election of Mr. Fletcher as Mr. Young's successor.

Mr. Fletcher thanked the Council for having given him the great privilege of serving them. They must realise that he could do very little unless he had the support of members, and he hoped he would receive the same support as was given to his predecessors. Would they help him to be a worthy successor to them? ('Yes' and applause).

plause).

Mr. E. A. Young said it fell to his lot, with the passing of the years, to say farewell to them as their honorary secetary. He had filled the office for ten years, and he had filled it, as far as he was concerned, with great joy and pleasure. That it had received their commendation was a further joy to him. They had always looked upon him as one of their brother ringers, but in spite of his lack of qualifications and skill in the exercise of their art, he had, perhaps, been able to serve them in other ways, and that had been his reward. He extended to his successor a hearty welcome. Mr. Eletcher been able to serve them in other ways, and that had been his reward. He extended to his successor a hearty welcome. Mr. Fletcher would have his support as long as he could give it to him. The office had been held by excellent men before them. Their light came down to them, and in it they felt strength and support. He could only conclude by saying 'Farewell and many thanks' (applause).

The minutes, having been printed, were taken as read and approved.

The President referred to the deaths of the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, a former secretary, Canon Baker, one of the first Council, and Mr. T. Hervey Beams, and the members stood in silence for a few seconds as a mark of respect.

Apologies for absence were received from Major J. H. B. Hesse, Rev. W. P. Wright, Messrs. T. Metcalfe, R. ti. Black, W. J. Nevard, C. H. Howard, H. G. Bird, W. Storey, W. T. Cockerell, Clark, J. D. Matthews, H. Barton, C. E. Borrett, N. Golden, S. F. Palmer and S. Rev. W. P. W. C. H. Howard, Hillier.

The statement of accounts, presented by the hon, treasurer, showed that the year began with a balance of £54 8s. 11d. The receipts inthat the year began with a balance of £54 8s. 11d. The receipts included £14 3s. 6d., contributed towards the cost of publishing the book on 'The Preservation of Bells,' £3 15s. from konorary members, £29 15s. from affiliation fees, £2 8s. 1d. from sale of publications, and £5 from interest. The expenditure, which amounted to £61 15s. 9d., included £52 10s, on account of printing, and £2 14s, 6d, on the Carter Ringing Machine, leaving a balance in hand on general account of £47 14s, 9d.

The accounts were adopted.

THE SALE OF PUBLICATIONS.

The accounts were adopted.

THE SALE OF PUBLICATIONS.

The Hon, Librarian reported that during the year Mr. A. J. Trollope had presented to the library the result of some of his historical research work. It dealt with the College Youths, 1756-1788, and gave an account of many famous peals and the making of the 'Clavis.' Mr. W. W. Willson had kindly put the matter into typewritten form. There was still a constant demand upon the historical records of the library, and from time to time upon its other possessions. As regards the sale of publications, it had been the best year since 1925-27. For the first time since then he had a profit to show on the year's working, amounting to £2 8s. Id. Various things might account for that, and he would put first the appearance in the advertisement in 'The Ringing World' of a certain amount of new stock, which people had been waiting for. When orders came in for this, they usually brought an order for one or other of the older books at the same time. The new stock consisted of the revised book 'On the preservation of bells,' and also sheets of certain methods in large type, which were sent to him from the secretary's office with certain other things. These sheets of Grandsire, Stedman and Cambridge were quickly sold, and with the president's leave he had some more printed. Another ceason for their comparative prosperity was the action of the Guildford Diocesan Guild in purchasing outright over two pounds' worth of publications. He trusted this lead might be followed by other societies. It was for members of ringing societies that these works were published, and if was perhaps not realised that, apart from the contents of the library and such things as cards of instruction and books for sale. On this point he wished to say that he was approached by the secretary of the London County Association with a view to advertising the Gouncil's publications in the new Rule Book which the association was issuing. He liad, of course, to reply that books for sale. On this point he wished to say that he was approached by the secretary of the London County Association with a view to advertising the Council's publications in the new Rule Book which the association was issuing. He had, of course, to reply that he had no authority to do this. He thought it was a matter that the Council should consider with reference to the future.

The Librarian added that there had been placed in his hands that morning the report on 'The law affecting church hells,' which was prepared by Mr. Pritchett, the late Mr. Milne and Mr. Elwell. The printing was authorised at the last meeting, and for this they were indebted to the generosity of Mr. Drake. In presenting the statement of account of the sales of publications, showing a profit of £2 8s. ld., the Librarian said the amount received from the associations who had publications 'on sale or return' was 14s. 3½d. With regard to the method sheets, the Librarian said he had been asked by a ringer for Double Norwich printed in the same way. As two plain methods could be put on one sheet, the Standing Committee suggested they should also include Cambridge Court. With regard to the question of advertising in the London County Association's rule book, he did not know what the Council felt about it, but he did not think it was for the Council to advertise in Guild reports; it was rather for the Guilds to help the sale of publications by putting in an advertisement free, as some associations already did. With regard to the action of the Guildford Guild, he hoped it might be rather for the Guilds to help the sale of publications by putting in an advertisement free, as some associations already did. With regard to the action of the Guildford Guild, he hoped it might be generally followed by other societies, because it would enable them to get their publications circulated more than they did and bring out further publications for the benefit of the Exercise.

The President said he authorised the printing of the method sheets, and they seemed to have met with a ready sale.

Mr. P. J. Johnson said he spoke with some diffidence, but he wouldered why they proposed to print a little known method like Cambridge Court. It was very little practised, and the sheets might become another burden on the librarian.

The President said it was more economical in printing these sheets to print two plain methods on one sheet, and to add Cambridge Court would probably cost very little more than to print Double Norwich alone, and there was a demand for the Double Norwich. The reasons Mr. Johnson advanced were the very reasons for printing Cambridge Court. It was a method that deserved to be much better known than it was.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith endorsed the remarks of the librarian with regard to the advantages to be gained by associations purchasing the publications outright. The Guildford (fuild looked upon their purpublications outright. The Guildford (fuild looked upon their purchase as an investment of capital for educational purposes. The publications were for the education of ringers, and they would find a more ready sale if they were actually shown to the ringers at meetings. The purchase outright by the associations would reimburse the Council and enable other similar work to be taken in hand. He proposed that a discount of one penny in the shilling he allowed to associations on the purchase at one time of not less than one dozen copies of the Council's publications,—Mr. W. A. Cave seconded, and said the Council would save this in postages,—The suggestion was adopted, and the action of the president in authorising the printing of method sheets confirmed. of method sheets confirmed.

The report of the librarian was then received and adopted.

The Rev. H. Drake said he had written a short article, which was to appear in 'The Ringing World' that week regarding the liability of church authorities to obtain faculties for the moving of bells. If the Council would give him permission, he would like to have these notes reprinted, and he would ask the librarian to slip them into the copies of the book on 'The law affecting church bells.' He would be happy to bear the cost.

The President said they were grateful to Mr. Drake for his offer, which he was sure the Council would accept with thanks.

This was agreed to.

SUSSEX ASSOCIATION AND CENTRAL COUNCIL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The circular of the Central Council, dated July, 1930, which was read to the meeting of the Sussex Association, stated: 'Of course, it is not mandatory, and if one or more societies prefer to differ from the majority of their fellows it would not necessarily mean severance from the Council.' It is obvious, then, that the Council acknowledges the right of the members of the Sus-ex County Association to decide against the suggested addition to their rules if they prefer to do so. Then why should they be taken to task by the editor of 'The Ringing World,' who also styles the Master's remarks as 'blank neasense.' The editor, as a representative of the Central Council, ought to have more wisdom.

A. D. STONE,

Hon, General Secretary.

[The Sussex Association has, and doubtless will continue to exercise, the right to decide what it shall do, but 'The Ringing World' also claims a right to comment upon matters of public interest to ringers. The 'blank cheque' argument was described as 'blank nonsense' because, in our view, it was—just blank nonsense.—Ed., 'R.W.']

GIFT OF HANDBELLS.

On Whit Sunday, in the tower of St. Mark's Church, Glodwick, Oldham, twenty handbells, formerly belonging to the late Mr. Isaac Schofield, who passed away just twelve mouths ago in the above tower, were dedicated to his memory by the Vicar (Rev. W. Sellers), who spoke a few appropriate words about Mr. Schofield's life. He hoped the handbells would be a useful asset to the tower, and would be used by the young ringers for years to come.
