POINTS FROM RECENT PEALS

THE usual title for the article, but the peals not 'so recent'!

This is not entirely my fault (I am covering the last quarter of 1959), because we are still, as I write, getting last year's peals published now and again.

Firstly, referring to my last article, I am grateful to those who corrected my mention of a peal at St. Werburgh's, Derby. I thought, at the time, that something was wrong there, for I had an idea that something had happened to the bells at that church. They were removed some years ago. The tower where this peal was rung was St. Werburgh's, Spondon, Derby—a village just outside the city.

Towers in the news in the period under review are led by Erith, the most prolific of all church rings. The 550th peal was rung here in October last, and we shall soon have the 600 up in two or three years' time at the present rate. Most peals in any tower last year were rung at the Bell Foundry, Loughborough: 62 peals in the year, which was a record even for them. I make the grand total here, at the end of 1959, 824. The lead in number of peals amongst 5-bell towers has changed during the period and our congratulations go to Marston, which has passed Warkton's total of 32—a lead which it had held for 30 years or so. Only one tower seems to have reached three figures in the last quarter of 1959—Waltham Abbey. A claim was made for the 100th at Thurcaston, on November 28th, but I made it the 99th—I should be pleased to check this with the tower concerned. Fifty peals were accomplished at the following:—North Muskham, Willersborough, Trumpington and Rothwell. Several towers will reach their 50 with the next peal viz. Buckland (Surrey), Birch-in-Rusholme, Newport (All Saints'), Bowdon, Wenaston and Brenchley. I confirm the Chobham claim of the 25th peal on the bells.

Now for newly conquered towers. I confirm claims for first on the bells at Sibbertoft, Lowdham, Hartland, North Petherwyn, Marston Trussell and West Tanfield. I add to this list Great Thurlow, where the peal rung would appear to be the first according to my records, although unclaimed. I disallow the claim for first on the bells at Wath, Ripon. I have two peals there, in 1910 and 1929.

Several infrequent visitors to the peal columns have been noticed. As mentioned in the footnote, the peal at Drayton, Oxon, was the first for over 70 years. I had recorded three peals here, two in 1887 and one in 1888 (the last one). That is an unusually long silence for a 'conquered' tower. Four others have been heard for the first time in a peal since before the 1st World War—Bradbourne, whose only previous peal was rung in 1905; Whittlebury and Worfield, last heard in 1911 (in each case, the only peal I have come across); and Orsett, where I confirm the footnote of first peal for 46 years. Again, this was the only previous peal. Sherry and Redmarley D'Abitot (what a lovely name!) last appeared in the peal lists in 1922. At the former of these, five peals have now been rung—the first in 1902; at the latter, two peals in 1922 are the only ones I have.

Siddington and Newent come next—last heard of in 1926. There have now been three peals at Siddington—the first in 1902, and nine at Newent—the first in 1910. The peal at Brampton Ash was the first to be published since 1930 (eight in all now). The 'first peal for 26 years' claim at Upper Beeding should really have been 27 years, for the last one there was one of Bristol Major on May 21st, 1932. Before the first war, I have 16 peals here, mostly of Triples and commencing in 1894. Four of Major (Double Norwich, Superlative, London and Bristol) were rung in 1920, 1930, 1931 and 1932 respectively. It isn't usually the 8-bell towers where long silences have to be mentioned.

Another tower which has not been heard since 1932 is Wellesbourne Hastings, which had its only previous peal then. Strangely enough, it is another 8-bell tower which comes next. Paignton, Devon, has only had 3 peals, Grandsire Triples in 1928, Stedman Triples in 1934 and now London Major in 1959. Dymock (6) has not had a peal of Minor yet. Its three peals are Stedman Doubles in 1933 and Grandsire Doubles in 1935 and 1959. I confirm that the last peal at South Hackney was in 1936 (yet another 8-bell tower, with several peals in the past). Upton, Lincs, had its last peal in 1937. There was one before that, in 1933. The final tower with a peal silence of 20 years or more is Tarvin—two previous peals, in 1910 and 1939.

The following are footnote claims with which I disagree! The peal of Superlative at Bray was not the first in the method on the bells. One in the method was rung in 1901. Double Norwich was not the first of Major at Exminster—Double Norwich was rung there in 1951. Similarly, we have not recently had the first of Surprise at Withycombe Raleigh: Superlative was rung there in 1949. Clun Imperial Bob Major had been previously rung as Hedingham Bob on July 24th, 1957, so the latter must remain its proper name. Some of these points have already been noted in letters to the Editor.

Finally, one or two points of interest. The peal at Basingstoke, All Saints', was the first on the nine bells since the ones which caused such controversy in 1946. I didn't see any comments this time! At Long Stratton, it was the sixth consecutive year that a peal was rung on Christmas Eve—and the only peal in the tower each year, too! Then congratulations to Forncett S. Peter, which becomes yet another 5-bell tower to reach double figures.

BRIDGWATER ARTS CENTRE INVESTIGATES RINGING

An enthusiastic ringer on the sales staff of a local firm often tells of happenings in his ringing activities to his fellow workers, one of these being a keen supporter of the Bridgwater Arts Centre.

A free night occurred in their programme recently and an idea was put forward that the ringer mentioned might be able to arrange something to explain what bellringing was all about. Just a straight lecture was not particularly wanted so a meeting was arranged at West Huntspill on a recent Monday evening.

This tower, with its fine ring of six, was chosen, as it has a large ringing room and ample space beside the bell-frame, thus enabling the visitors to see the bells in action.

In the short time available Mr. C. Clarke, of Wembdon tower, endeavoured to explain the hanging and action of a bell and briefly how changes were rung. A single bell was raised, rung, set and lowered. Then all six were raised in peal. Rounds, call changes, some Doubles and Minor were rung with the differences explained as simply as possible. After a lower in peal, Mr. Clarke gave a few facts on bells and ringing in general. He was assisted by six other capable ringers, including two ladies, showing that the fairer sex could easily take part in the art. In fact, one rang the 23½ cwt. tenor excellently to one touch. Two courses of Triples and rounds on 10 were also rung on handbells.

The visitors said that they found the evening very interesting and that they would now know what to listen for when bells were ringing. No new recruits have been forthcoming up to the present, unfortunately.

Thanks are due to the Vicar of West Huntspill and the local ringers for allowing the use of their tower and bells for this meeting, unusual at least for this area.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD Newark District

A most enjoyable meeting of the Newark District, attended by approximately 40 ringers, was held at the Church of All Saints, Winthorpe, on March 19th. Many Plain and Surprise Minor methods were rung under the direction of the District Ringing Master, Mr. P. N. White.

A short service was held, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. B. Houghton, who welcomed the ringers to his church, and based his sermon on St. Dunstan, the patron saint of ringers. A most enjoyable tea was arranged and served by the local ringers and wives in the Village Hall.

At the business meeting, one new member, John Raithby, of Newark, was elected. Barnby-in-the-Willows was confirmed for the meeting on May 21st. Further ringing to suit all tastes then took place up to 8.30 p.m. W. L. E.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

A very happy and successful meeting was held in the little five-bell tower of SS. Peter and Paul, Black Notley, on March 19th. Sixty-eight members attended from 27 parishes.

An enjoyable service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. B. R. McAllister, and the singing was led by the choir and organist. Mr. Pratt, the District Master, read the lesson. The tea was arranged and given by the local ringers, their wives and friends.

At the business meeting one new honorary life member was elected and three new ringing members. It is hoped that the next meeting will be held at Dunmow, on May 14th.

Mr. Pratt expressed thanks to all who had helped to make the meeting such a success and thanked the many ringers who had supported him by their attendance.

The bells of St. Michael's, Braintree, were also available to ringers from 3.30 to 4.30 p.m.

PER ARDUA AD CAMPANOLOGIA

One evening last October a group of ringers were gathered outside St. John's Church, Devizes, and during conversation three of those present realised that they were from R.A.F., Melksham, a few miles away. From this meeting, an active ringing fraternity at the camp grew. Following requests on the camp loudspeaker system, sufficient ringers and ex-ringers were gathered, and with the Padre's backing, bellringing was officially recognised by the camp authorities as a sports afternoon activity.

Handbell ringing, both tune and change-ringing, is practised, and every Wednesday afternoon the band go out to local towers where various Doubles and Minor methods are rung and learners taught.

Last Christmas a tape-recording was made of several carols which were played over the camp broadcasting system prior to the Christmas leave period. It must be admitted that the otherwise good handbells sounded like kitchen utensils when recorded and broadcast!

In February a trip to London was arranged where some ringers and friends visited St. Paul's Cathedral and bells, then proceeded to St. Clement Danes' where an hour's ringing was greatly enjoyed.

A sense of achievement was felt when a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung on the six bells at Seend recently.

Unfortunately, Melksham is a training camp where personnel only stay for periods of three to six months and the band is likely to suffer fluctuations of membership in the future.

Cape Town is enduring its hottest summer for 20 years and with the thermometer at 107 degrees, local ringers decided to hold over their complimentary quarter peal to H.M. the Queen on the birth of an infant Prince for a week. The day before it was rung the city 'enjoyed' a temperature of 102 degrees, and the tenor man was really wet through.

The ringer of the third in the quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles at Bosham on March 6th (see page 210) was Susan M. Haddelsey.

Will 'Junior' please send his name and address. We cannot entertain for publication an article without knowing the name and address of the sender.

Despite the cartoon in the issue of March 18th, Mr. Gerald C. Hemming informs us that the bells of Evesham bell tower went as well as could be expected while ringing for morning and evening service.

Shebbear College, Beaworthy, is in the news again this week with the College Society's first peal. The members are anxious to know if this is the first peal by an all-resident school society.

Congratulations to Mr. T. J. Lock, the popular secretary of the Middlesex County Association, on ringing his 600th peal. The method, Double Norwich Court Bob Caters, rarely makes an appearance in our columns these days.

The last steam engine for British Railways has been taken into service and has been named 'Evening Star.' At that great railway centre, Swindon where the engine was built, a peal of Evening Star Delight Minor was rung at St. Mark's Church to commemorate the event.

Mr. P. Amos calls our attention to the weight of Norton tenor—19 cwt., as given by various authorities. This tenor measures 44½ inches and he suggests its weight is from 15 to 15½ cwt., as the canons have been removed. The five bells by Hugh Watt, dated 1640, have never been recast. There is a legend (not stated by Mr. Amos) that St. Patrick was born in this parish.

BELFRY

GOSSIP

Outstanding personality at West Bromwich is Mr. Albert Mills, who on March 19th called a quarter of Grandsire Triples (his own composition) for his 80th birthday. He joined All Saints' belfry in 1896 and his long service was recognised by a gathering of some 80 parishioners and the presentation to him of a cheque by the Rev. C. Holroyd Baker, honorary secretary of the Society.

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar C. Shepherd took place in 1934 and not as given on page 193. Apologies from all concerned.

Mr. Geoffrey K. Dodd points out that in his recent letter 'Captain's in Control,' the tower in question was not Newbury or in Hampshire.

On Sunday, March 15th, 1921, Rev. H. A. Smith-Masters conducted his first service as Vicar of Hagbourne, Berks, and 39 years later his ringers met together to honour the occasion with a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples. Later in the evening he joined them at the Fleur-de-Lys to talk over old times, and, of course, it was 'drinks all round'!

Mrs. A. D. Barker deserves a special mention in this column for being the first person to circle her home tower, Stoke Poges, to peals. Since 1948 she has been a familiar figure at Central Council meetings, although not now a member, and a wider circle than the Oxford Diocesan Guild will, we are sure, desire to join in general congratulations.

Mr. Norman Chaddock sends a reminder of the course in bell ringing to be held at Grantley Hall, Adult College, Ripon, from Friday, April 22nd, to Sunday, April 24th. The course includes lectures by Mr. Frederick Sharpe, Mr. Norman Chaddock and Mr. W. F. Moreton with ringing at Ripon Cathedral and Wath Parish Church. Most sleeping accommodation at Grantley Hall is in private cubicles with some double and single rooms. Men and women of all ages are welcome. Applications to attend the course should be made to the Warden. Inclusive cost, 2 guineas for residents in West Riding, 3 guineas others.

ALPHABET FOR BEGINNERS

By T. J. LOCK

We introduce with this issue a new series of articles dealing with terms and words met in change-ringing which will be of great help to beginners and also to many other readers. This list has been compiled by a member of the Central Council, who would like in the preparation of this glossary to acknowledge the help given by other well-known ringers.

ACOUSTICS.—I would suggest there is more ringing than is necessary which suffers through bad acoustics in the ringing chamber. Appreciating in the first instance that such major works as rehanging bells at a different level, erecting a new soundproof floor, blocking up or enlarging window openings, inserting a lantern light in the flat roof of the tower, etc., are out of the question, you will find quite a lot can be done to improve the sound in many offending cases. Where ringing takes place on the ground floor there is an economic limit on the draught of rope for proper bell control in addition to the difficulty a ringer has in hearing his bell strike. Where ringing takes place directly underneath the bells with a short length of rope and with only a boarded ceiling in between a ringer has an equal but different difficulty—excessive noise. In the first instance the ringer would do better nearer the bells, and in the second, he would do better farther away. No solutions are offered here because both causes and cures can be decided only upon investigation into each particular case. In other words, the problem in two cases might be exactly the same, but the treatment to cure might be quite different. For deadening sound, sawdust, cork chips, layers of felt or sacking, rock wool, aluminium foil or fibre glass could be used but for increasing sound additional openings in the floors above the ringing chamber, opening of trap doors, blocking up openings to stop the sound from going outside or sound troughs might be the answer. In some towers there is an appreciable deadening of sound when the sally goes through the hole in the ceiling—why not form one or more holes adjacent to overcome this distracting condition?

ASSOCIATIONS.—Could you really imagine the position of ringing today if through the past three hundred and more years each local band rang exclusively in its own Parish Church? No, and neither could I. Probably, in the olden days when travelling was so limited, contact with other ringers was restricted to neighbouring parishes, but it was at least the beginning of some 'organisation' within the Exercise. This organisation has developed to the extent we know today through the formation of Associations (including, within this term, of course, Guild, Society, and Council). Much hard work has been necessary to build up these Associations, and to verify this statement just have a word with some of your Association's officers. Moreover, you will probably be told that to hold office is itself a thankless and unrewarding job because some ringers are unsympathetic and unreliable. And you will often find that the ringer who is prepared to criticise is the one person who could not, or by reason of various excuses would not, help to fulfil the objects of his Association. These objects usually are, amongst others, the recognition of a bell-ringer as a Church worker and the advancement of the art of bell-ringing. The several Associations are doing much to encourage and advise in the promotion generally of the art of bell-ringing but at the same time without affecting the relationship of an incumbent and his local band. Only a very few, being non-territorial. Associations have direct control of ringing in the tower. Your Association could, undoubtedly, benefit from your help so why not do some more giving and taking, more even than giving your annual subscription and taking the receipt? Attend meetings and help to improve the standard of ringing, assist the officers, who, remember, are doing their job voluntarily, and see to it that as far as you can manage the Association is achieving its objects.

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE - No. 14

MR. ALBERT WALKER.

Vice-president, St. Martin's Guild.

So many well deserved words of praise have been written in these columns about Mr. Albert Walker, of Birmingham, that it is difficult to find new ways of expressing the deep feeling of affection that exists in the Exercise for him. He has been called 'Mr. Greatheart,' and on the occasion of his diamond wedding anniversary not long ago, 'Mr. Birmingham.' Such has been his enthusiasm that he has travelled the country far and wide, and he is known to thousands of ringers—indeed there can be very few who have not had the pleasure of meeting him, and appreciating his dynamic personality, and great friendliness.

Mr. Walker was born in Birmingham in 1876, and when his father's employment took him to Taunton, he became interested in bells and ringing. At the suggestion of his fiancée he took up the art and learned to ring at St. Mary Magdalene Church, ringing his first peal (Grandsire Triples) in 1896. He joined the St. Martin's Guild in 1897, and returned to Birmingham in 1900. That city, which had enjoyed great prominence in ringing in the earlier part of the nineteenth century, had struck a bad patch, and was without a conductor. Walker, with no one to instruct him, took up the challenge, and learned the art of conducting Stedman the hard way. Anyway, he learned it so thoroughly that as an exponent in calling Stedman Cinques he has never been surpassed.

The St. Martin's Guild has never in its history possessed a more able, loyal or conscientious member. He has served it as Master for many years—often resigning to enable a younger member to serve in high office. He has never spared any effort to enable an aspiring conductor to reach his goal, and his willingness to help in writing out touches and peals has been appreciated by many. He is now an honoured vice-president of the Guild.

Mr. Walker is just as capable on handbells as he is on tower bells, and was responsible for the great handbell revival which took place in Birmingham over 40 years ago, during which very many peals of Stedman Cinques were rung, also Grandsire Cinques and K.T.B. Maximus, culminating in that great performance, the first peal of Stedman Sextuples ever rung, which he conducted. One outstanding peal on handbells was a non-conducted one where the pairs of bells were drawn for out of a hat held by James George.

Mr. Walker, now in his 84th year, is still capable of conducting a really tricky peal of Stedman Cinques—indeed he did so just after his 83rd birthday, and he is still planning yet another peal for his next. In all he has rung 851 peals, of which he has conducted 337. He has rung no less than 554 peals on twelve bells, a record which has never been surpassed by anyone, alive or dead. Mr. Walker has been a member of the Central Council for 28 years, and served on the Broadcasting and Carter Ringing Machine Committees.

JAFUS.

Durham University Society In Teesdale & N. Yorkshire

The first full scale outing for the Society was held on March 12th, 9.30 a.m. being the departure time from Palace Green in the shadow of majestic Durham Cathedral. Bishop Auckland, on the western limit of the Durham coalfield, was the first tower of the day. Here the back six were raised in peal and Bob Major, Kent T.B. Major and Stedman Triples rung on the 12 cwt. octave.

On further into Teesdale we found a beautiful 15 cwt. ring of eight, at Staindrop, where we rang Double Norwich, Stedman, Grandsire and Oxford Bob Triples, followed by a good lower in peal. This tower was the 500th for one member.

Some preferred a liquid lunch in Barnard Castle, but, at the suggestion of a would-be Stedman ringer from King's, eight of the party rang a quarter peal of Stedman Triples on the 17 cwt. eight to enable the said ringer to score a quarter of Stedman at his 22nd attempt! After the quarter Stedman, Bob Major, Double Norwich and Grandsire were rung.

We then crossed the River Tees into North Yorkshire, but were met with a setback at Cotherstone as the tower was locked. A house to house tour eventually discovered the local captain, and we found a rather unusual ringing chamber with a huge clock case dominating the scene and hiding the 2nd away in a 2 ft. gap. The shorter ringers were at a decided advantage when ringing this bell. On raising the 7cwt. six, we thought we had stumbled across a West Country tower with single ended ropes, but realised that the tail ends had never been tucked in at all and consequently there was about 3 feet of spare rope at backstroke. After some rounds and Kent Minor we beat a hasty retreat to Barnard Castle for tea, where some members are claiming a world record of 80 minutes in waiting for service! This made us very late at Gainford, where the Vicar made us welcome. Cambridge Minor was rung in a hurry here!

Back again into Yorkshire to Richmond for the last tower of the day. Here a course of Cambridge Major was rung in almost immaculate style.

Our thanks to Mike and John Thorley in making the arrangements and to the incumbents for the use of their bells. We also hope that our guests, Billy Robson and George Carr, enjoyed their day with us.

Tips For Beginners—14

When ringing Stedman (or any other method), if you are making thirds place from the front and are returning to lead, there are two bells below you when you are in thirds and they are trapped by you from getting above third's place. Thus, having realised which these two bells are, there is no need to look for any other bells before you return to lead.

OBITUARY

MR. G. H. MYERS

Plymouth, and indeed the West Country, has lost one of its best-known ringers by the death on March 14th of Mr. G. H. Myers ('Harry Myers' to all his old friends), at the ripe old age of 88. He had not rung for about 2½ years when his health began to fail. For many years he had been in business at 79, Regent Street as a watch and clock repairer, jeweller and engraver, the business being now carried on by his eldest son, Mr. Tom Myers. He is survived by his widow, three sons and a daughter. The sons are equally well-known ringers and are members of St. Andrew's band. Mr. Tom Myers being the Ringing Master and hon. secretary of the S.W. Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers.

The funeral on March 16th at St. Andrew's Church was largely attended, many ringers being present, including Preb. E. V. Cox (president of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers), Mr. M. Atkins (hon. secretary), Messrs. R. Bould (Tavistock), M. D. Hood (chairman, Mid-Devon Branch, also representing Mrs. Hood), W. G. Hiscott (Liskeard, formerly of Plymouth), D. F. Farnham (captain, Plympton St. Maurice), H. Adams (captain, Stoke Damerell), W. H. Marks (St. Budeaux). Emmanuel was represented by Messrs. J. P. Sims (captain), H. H. Thomas (hon. secretary and chairman, S.W. Branch), J. L. Blegg, W. Collier, H. O. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. George Godard, Messrs. A. E. Perkin and H. N. Rogers; St. Andrew's band by Miss Y. C. Porter, Miss M. J. Marks, Messrs. Gluyas, A. Mitchelmore and Couchman. Also from St. Andrew's, and in addition representing the Ancient Society of College Youths, were Messrs. F. D. Wheeler, H. W. Milford, S. F. O'Shaughnessy; and from Emmanuel, Mr. F. E. Day; Messrs. A. Westcott (formerly captain of the old Charles band), C. Sangwin (A. S. of C. Youths and N.W. Branch of the Guild and Stratton Branch of the Truro Diocesan Guild).

The service was conducted by the Vicar, Preb. Cooper. The half-muffled ringing before and after the service was under the direction of Mr. W. G. Lavers, of Plympton St. Maurice, an old friend of Mr. Myers. Floral tributes included those from his loving wife, children and grand-children, the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, the S.W. Branch, the ringers of the churches of St. Andrew, Emmanuel and Plympton St. Maurice. Interment took place at Ford Park Cemetery, where handbells were rung at the graveside by Messrs. W. G. Lavers, M. Atkins, M. D. Hood and R. Bould.

There are few less qualified than I to give some account of the activities of this grand old veteran of the art, as I did not have the privilege to meet him until ringing started towards the end of the last war. With the information given to me by his family I will endeavour to give some account of his achievements; but to convey in full all the experiences in the world of bell-ringers of one who had been a ringer for 76 years and had rung well over 100 peals would require many columns.

Mr. Myers was a great disciplinarian: the method had to be well rung, the striking had to be good, and if anyone thoughtlessly walked into the belfry with hat on, whether friend or stranger, he would be told: 'Take that hat off. Don't you know where you are?' To know him was to respect and admire him for the great ringer he was.

In 1903 he was appointed as the first captain of the Emmanuel Church Ringers, and took part in the first peal rung there. In 1912 he was elected leader of St. Andrew's band, and until 1920 he held both offices, when the duties were taken over at Emmanuel by one of the local band. He remained captain at St. Andrew's until his death.

One of the great events was a full day's ringing on the occasion of Queen Victoria's golden jubilee in 1887, for which he received the sum of four shillings, and until 1957 he had not missed a single royal or civic occasion when the bells were in demand.

At the time of his death he was the oldest member of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, and was elected a vice-president in 1945, having joined the Guild in 1891. Towards the end of the last century he became a founder member of the Truro Diocesan Guild, and in 1940 he was elected a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths. He had rung peals for each of these three Guilds.

At the time he had to ease up on his ringing he had rung on every ringable ring of bells in Devon, and there is no doubt that many of the very outlying churches were taken in on a series of Wednesday afternoon trips, perhaps three or four each summer, with old friends who included Preb. Cox, the Rev. W. H. Smale, of Petrockstowe, Mr. F. C. Smale, of Okehampton, who for a number of years arranged these excursions, which were always a great joy to Mr. Myers, and several others.

THE LOG BOOK

Amongst treasured possessions of Mr. Myers is the 'log' book, dating from Easter, 1898, of the Three Towns and District Branch, of which he had been secretary and treasurer. The three towns were Plymouth, Devonport and Stonehouse, and it was not until after the first world war the area came into the S.W. Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers.

He had been in first peals at a number of churches, including St. Andrew's and Emmanuel. He was in the first peal of Grandshire Caters at Charles Church, comprised wholly of a local band in 1901, when it was the first of Caters for all ten ringers. He had 'circled the towers' in peals at St. Andrew's and Emmanuel. Although of small stature he had turned the tenor (35 cwt.) in for Bob Royal at St. Andrew's, the first to be rung and which he conducted.

He resided in Truro for about 18 months when a young man, but he deserted the delectable Duchy to return to his native 'town,' though he never lost his love of Cornwall and its bells, and was for a time the recognised ringing instructor of the Guild.

The log book contains accounts of a number of happenings in the early part of the century. A band went to test the new ring at Emmanuel when the seventh and tenor were reported to be not up to standard. Another occasion was when a band, at the invitation of the Vicar, journeyed to St. Mellion, just over the Cornish border, to take part in the dedication of a new ring of six. They had had several touches and then decided to go for a quarter peal of Grandshire Doubles. About 700 changes had been rung when the Vicar came and stopped them, insisting that the ringers must be exhausted and that they come for refreshment. There is an account of a peal at St. Charles' in 1904 when, after ringing about 3 hours and 10 minutes, suddenly one of the ringers, a Mr. Hendy, fell forward flat on his face and died instantly. Mr. Myers attended the inquest, when medical evidence showed deceased had an enlarged heart.

From 1914 the Myers have been responsible for the maintenance of the church clock at St. Andrew's, with its carillon. He had also for a number of years been responsible for the clock at Customs House on the Barbican.

What a record of devotion to the art of change-ringing! It is difficult to say just how much influence this little man had in bringing change-ringing to the area, but it is known that in the very early days he had been almost threatened with annihilation by the call-change and round ringers.

This must be a record of continuous service hard to equal, and it is sad when advancing years bring to a close the activities of such a man; but it remains that whilst most of us want to live long, none of us want to grow old.

His three sons continue at St. Andrew's, so we of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers are assured and sincerely hope the name of Myers will continue at St. Andrew's for many years to come. The ringing must continue, and our departed friend would be the first to say: 'Let there be no moaning at the bar when I put out to sea.'

MR. ALBERT D. STONE

Ringers who visited Brighton before the war will all regret the passing of Mr. A. D. Stone, of the St. Peter's band, whose funeral service took place in that church on March 17th.

Elected a member of the Sussex County Association prior to a peal in December, 1899, he became one of the well-known band who rang under the direction of George Attree, scoring many Surprise peals in new methods. In 1910 he became a member of the central divisional committee and secretary of the division from 1911 to 1922, which position he resigned on becoming general secretary in 1923. Two years after giving up this office he was elected hon. treasurer, in 1937, and held the position until failing health caused him to give up active participation in the Association in 1943.

Of the 300 peals he had rung, 292 were for the Sussex Association, mainly on heavy bells in spite of his slight physique. In 1926 he rang the ninth at St. Peter's to the first peal of London Surprise Royal in George Baker's No. 2 (the Brighton) version. This he considered to be the highlight of his peal ringing career, and was performed under the conductorship of his lifelong friend, Keith Hart, and with the local band of St. Peter's. Of his total peals 115 were rung in his own tower.

The bells were rung half-muffled as a tribute to his memory before the funeral service and after when the coffin was taken away. Those taking part were Miss Betty Stevenson, Mrs. F. I. Hairs, Messrs. F. I. Hairs (past Master), S. E. Armstrong (past Master), W. A. Riddington (leader of St. Peter's), G. North (secretary, Southern Division), B. North, F. Page, A. W. Bond, L. Stilwell (peal secretary) and L. Batting.

MR. FREDK. O. STEVENS

The oldest member of the Rutland Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, Mr. Frederick O. Stevens, sexton of SS. Peter and Paul Church, Preston, near Uppingham, died on March 17th, aged 89 years. Since the formation of the Rutland Branch he had been their representative on the Guild committee.

Except for illness, Mr. Stevens was most regular in attending branch meetings, although for the past three or four years he had been unable to ring owing to failing eyesight and difficulty in climbing the belfry steps. He would, however, sit in the churches, content just to listen to the bells and exchange a cheery greeting to all the ringers. By his passing the Branch has lost a true and loyal friend who earned the respect of all by his devotion to what he considered to be his duty—the furtherance of bell-ringing.

A wreath was sent from the Rutland Branch, and in the evening members gathered from many parts of the county at Preston to ring his bells half-muffled, a last token of respect to a great friend.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FAULTS IN COMPETITION RINGING

Dear Sir.—In reply to R. J. Carlton's Faults in Competition Ringing, I am a competition ringer and I do not plead ignorance, neither will Mr. N. Moxon, of Cawthorne, who I am sure, will reply.

To R. J. Carlton and others here is my suggestion whether they ring open leads, close leads, or Churchyard Bob (which I put as any other).

Firstly, we have our own Parsons, Wardens, Officers of the Church and the parishioners to consider and make them appreciate our services to them, as it is our duty to do. Now, R. J. Carlton, my suggestion to you, and all others who plead ignorance, is to have their own ringing recorded, then played back to them slowly. Stand and listen, try to count at an equal speed. If you do not find faults at first try again, eventually you will begin to realise the rhythm it should be and that is my explanation of a system.

I have a recording of our own Friesland bells which I would gladly let R.T.C. have to give unto him that which he does seem to desire.—Yours faithfully,

JOSEPH BURGESS.

THE FIRST PEAL AT SOUTH STOKE

Dear Sir.—It is with pleasure that I write to verify the letter of W. Simmonds, in your issue of March 18th. I conducted the first peal at South Stoke, in which W. Simmonds rang the fifth. To the best of my memory it was in 1924, and was in three methods, but the record can be found in the Oxford Diocesan Peal Book. The dates of four of the six bells were duly noted during our visit. The band included such stalwarts in Minor ringing in those days as George and James Abery, John Bower and Jim Smith.

Like W.S., I can vividly remember the locals peeping round the curtains with amazement and excitement during the last half hour of the peal. Also, there was only about one inch of the candles left to burn when we finished. The ringing created quite a sensation in the quiet little village at that time.—Yours faithfully,

E. TIGWELL.

Hook, Basingstoke, Hants.

EDINBURGH DELIGHT

Dear Sir.—The recent correspondence regarding Edinburgh Delight Minor overlooks one point.

A peal of Edinburgh Delight Major was rung at All Saints', Wigston Magna, on November 20th, 1948, conducted by R. F. Roe, in honour of the occasion of the birth of Prince Charles.

This method published in the 'R.W.' does not contract to Minor.—Yours faithfully,

T. E. HARROLD.

CAPITA MAGNISSIMUS

Dear Sir.—Each member of the Derbyshire Association committee, which annually awards the insignia of Capita Magnissimus, is sufficiently versed in Latin to realise their (deliberate) mistakes. On occasions such as our annual dinner we consider that the possession of a sense of humour is a far better qualification than a sound knowledge of Latin.—Yours sincerely,

G. A. HALLS.

DUPLICATION OF SURPRISE METHODS

Dear Sir.—I should like to comment on two points raised by your correspondents Brian J. Woodruffe and Denis A. Frith on the subject of Duplication in Surprise Methods in last week's 'Ringing World'.

First, Mr. Woodruffe states that '... Wye, ... Braunstone and Biddenden are mere variations of Yorkshire'. They may be variations of Yorkshire, but I fail to see why the belittling word 'mere' has to be used or why an exclamation mark has to be appended.

Second, Mr. Frith asks that if we ring a peal in these methods, we should not make a claim as to ringing the 'first peal' in the method, presumably because the differences from Yorkshire are so slight. These methods do serve a useful purpose in that they provide a relief from ringing pure Yorkshire all the time and even a good band has to keep its wits about it to ring these methods correctly. They also give composers something to think about, too. They are new methods—and worth calling as such.

With regard to the naming of methods raised by Mr. P. Amos in the same issue, I believe it is the desire of the Central Council that new methods should be named after places. Does it matter whether they have bells or not? In any case, Arnesby certainly has FIVE bells.

Nevertheless, Mr. Amos can take heart in the fact that previously I called a peal which contained no less than eleven 'Saints' methods. The most important thing about ringing is that the bells should be rung for the Christian festivals, to proclaim to the public the message of the Church.—Yours faithfully,

Leicester.

LONDON SURPRISE ROYAL NEEDS TAG

Dear Sir.—May I remind Mr. Peter Border, the conductor of two peals rung at Birmingham and published in your last issue as well as several earlier ones, and also you yourself, sir, of the Council's decision in 1955 that it declines to recognise any method hitherto rung or published as entitled to the designation of "London Surprise Royal" unless the words "Stepney version," "Brighton version" or "No. 3 or Beddington version" be added.

I think it is safe to say, without the fear of reopening an old controversy, that it is generally agreed London Surprise Royal as a regular method does not exist. The version usually used—No. 3—has therefore no more exclusive right to this title than those rung at Brighton in 1926 or at Stepney in 1910, however near to or far from the ideal any of them may be.—Yours sincerely,

E. A. BARNETT, Hon. Secretary,
Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.

'MORE INTERESTING EVERY WEEK'

Dear Sir.—I have taken a ringing paper since 1895, the Editor then being Harvey Reeves. Although it was only one penny in those days and is now 8d., I consider 'The Ringing World' is well worth the extra money and gets more interesting every week.

I reached the age of 84 on March 17th and am now looking forward to my 60 years of married bliss, which will be on April 16th. On my wedding day I rang in a peal of Grandsire conducted by the late Alfred Lawrence, of Christ Church, Swindon.

I still keep up my ringing, attending on practice nights and for Sunday ringing at Wootton Bassett, where I have had charge of the ringing for 63 years. My best wishes to my ringing friends in all parts of the country.—Yours faithfully,

LOUIS A. WILSON.

These bells were a new ring of eight cast by Mears and Stainbank in 1936.

The ringers in the first peal were six of a party of London handbell ringers touring U.S.A. with 'Barnum's Circus.' They discovered a ring of eight bells in Philadelphia, cast by the Whitechapel foundry, by Lester and Pack, who also cast the Liberty Bell in 1754; other information of the party may be obtained from 'The College Youths', London, and must not be confused with the Lancashire ringers who returned to England in 1847.

In the second peal, Vancouver, the band were all Englishmen who had made residence in Canada. When Mr. Limpus arrived in Vancouver, at that time a non-ringer, he became interested in the Holy Rosary Cathedral bells and was instrumental in the recasting of the seven French bells into a ring of eight.

To conclude with a note of interest. The carillonneur, Mr. James R. Lawson, of the University of Chicago, U.S., is having the ring of 10 bells in the Mitchell tower restored and equipped for ringing after 20 years of silence.—Yours etc.,

A BELL RINGER'S ADVENTURE

IN my younger days bell-ringing was much more in fashion among the young men of Blanktown than it is now. Nobody, I believe, practises it here at present except the salaried servants of the Church, and the melody has been much injured in consequence. Some fifty years ago about twenty of us, who lived in the vicinity of the Cathedral, formed a club which used to ring every peal that was called for; and from continual practice, and the rivalry which rose between us and a club attached to another steeple, we became very Mozarts on our favourite instruments. But my bell-ringing practice was shortened by a singular accident, which not only stopped my performance, but made even the sound of a bell terrible to my ears.

One Sunday I went with another into the belfry to ring for morning prayers, but the second stroke we pulled showed us that the clapper of the bell had been muffled. Some one had been buried that morning, and it had been prepared, of course, to ring a mournful note. We did not know of this beforehand; but it mattered little we thought, for the remedy was easy.

'Jack,' said my companion, 'step up to the loft and cut off the hat'; for the way we had of muffling was by tying a piece of an old hat to one side of the clapper which deadened every second toll. I did as I was told and mounting into the belfry, crept, as I had often done before, into the bell, and began to cut away the muffler from the clapper. But the piece of felt had been tied on in some more complicated manner than usual, and I was, perhaps, three or four minutes in getting it off: during which time my companion below was hastily called away by a message from his sweetheart, I believe, but that is not material to my story.

The person who called him was a brother of the club, who knowing that the time had come for ringing for service, and not thinking that anyone was above, began to pull. I was just getting out when I felt the bell beginning to move. I guessed the reason at once—it was a moment of terror: but by a hasty and almost convulsive effort I succeeded in jumping down, and throwing myself on the flat of my back under the bell. The room in which it hung was little more than sufficient to contain it, the bottom of the bell coming within a couple of feet of the floor of lath. At that time I certainly was not as bulky as I am now, but as I lay the bell was within an inch of my face. I had not laid myself down a second when the ringing began. It was a dreadful situation.

Over me swinging an immense mass of metal, one touch of which would have crushed me to pieces: the floor under me was principally composed of crazy laths, and if they gave way, I would be precipitated to the distance of fifty feet, upon a loft which would in all probability, sink under the impulse of my fall, and send me to be dashed to atoms upon the marble floor of the church, one hundred feet below.

I remember—for fear is quick in recollection—how a common clock weight, about a month before, had fallen, and bursting through the floors of the steeple, had driven in the ceilings of the porch, and even broken into a stone altar tomb that was beneath. This was my first terror; but the ringing had not continued a minute before a more awful and immediate dread came over me. The deafening sound of the bell smote into my ears with a thunder which made me fear their drums would crack.

There was not a fibre of my body through which it did not thrill—it entered my very soul: thought and reflection were almost utterly vanished: I only retained the sensation of agonizing terror. Every moment I saw the bell sweep within an inch of my face, and my eyes (I could not close them, though to look at the object was bitter as death) followed it instinctively in its oscillating progress until it came back again. It was in vain that I said to myself it could come no nearer at any future swing than it did at first. Every time it descended I endeavoured to shrink

This amazing fictional story, that for its macabre qualities will make 'Nine Tailors' read like a fairy story, first appeared in the church magazine of St. Margaret's Church, Whitnash, Warwickshire, in August, 1859. We are indebted to the Rev. C. H. Gleave, the present rector, for bringing this to our notice and for the preservation of the old magazine, and to Mr. P. A. Oram, hon. secretary of the Southern District of the Coventry Diocesan Guild, who has been instrumental in providing us with a copy. May we add a word of warning: don't read this story late at night.

into the very floor to avoid being buried under the down-sweeping mass; and then reflecting on the danger of pressing too heavily on my frail support, I would cower up again as far as I dared.

At first my fears were about matters of fact. I was afraid the pulleys above would give way and let the bell plunge on me. At another time the possibility of the clapper being shot on me in some sweep, and dashing through my body, as I had seen a ramrod glide through a door, flitted across my mind. The dread, also (as I have already mentioned) of the crazy floor, tormented me; but these soon gave way to fears more visionary, and, of course, more tremendous. The roaring of the bell confused my intellect, and my fancy soon began to teem with all sorts of strange and terrifying ideas.

The bell pealing above, and opening its jaws with a hideous clamour, seemed to me, at one time, a ravening monster raging to devour me, at another, a whirlpool, ready to suck me into its bellowing abyss. As I gazed upon it, it assumed all shapes: it was a devouring eagle, or rather, a Roc of the Arabian story-tellers, clapping its wings and screaming over me. As I looked upwards into it, it would appear sometimes to lengthen into indefinite extent, or to be twisted at the end into the spiral folds of the tail of a flying dragon. Nor was the flaming breath or the fiery glance of that fabled animal wanting to complete the picture. My eyes inflamed, bloodshot, and glaring, invested the supposed monster with a full proportion of unholy light.

The air, set in motion by the swinging of the bell, blew over me, nearly with the violence, and more than the thunder of a tempest, and the floor seemed to reel under me as under a drunken man. But the most awful of all the ideas that seized on me were drawn from the supernatural. In the vast cavern of the bell, hideous faces appeared, and glared down on me with terrifying frowns, or with grinning mockery, still more appalling. At last I thought that the devil himself, glaring on me with eyes of infernal lustre, made his appearance, and called on me to curse God and worship him, who was powerful to save me.

This dread suggestion he uttered with the full-toned clangour of the bell. Strenuously and desperately I defied him and bade him begone. Reason then for a moment resumed her sway, but it was only to fill me with fresh terror, just as the lightning dispels the gloom that surrounds the benighted mariner, only to show him that his vessel is driving on a rock where she must inevitably be dashed to pieces. I found I was becoming delirious, and trembled lest reason should utterly desert me. This is at all times an agonising thought, but it smote me then with tenfold agony. I feared lest when utterly deprived of my senses, I should rise, for I was every moment tempted to do so by that strange feeling which calls on a man whose head is dizzy from standing on the battlements of a lofty castle to precipitate himself from it, and find a death instant and tremendous.

When I thought of this I became desperate. I caught the floor with a grasp which drove the blood from my nails, and I yelled with the cry of despair. I called for help—I prayed, I shouted, but all the efforts of my voice were, of course, drowned in the bell. As it passed over my mouth it occasionally echoed my cries, which mixed not with its own sound, but preserved a distinct character. Perhaps this was but fancy. To me, I know, the echoes of my cries then sounded as if they were the shouting, howling, or laughing of the fiends, with which my imagination had peopled the gloomy cave which swung over me.

You may accuse me of exaggerating my feelings, but I am not. Many scenes of dread have I since passed through, but they are nothing to the self-inflicted terrors of that half hour in the belfry. The ancients conceived that one of the spirits in Tartarus was doomed to be for ever under a rock, which every moment seemed to be descending to annihilate him—and an awful punishment it would be. But if to this you add a clamour as loud as if ten thousand furies were howling about you—a deafening uproar, banishing reason and driving you to madness—you must allow that the bitterness of the pang was rendered more terrible. There is no man, firm as his nerves may be, who could retain his courage in this situation.

In twenty minutes the ringing was done. Half of that time passed over me without power of computation; the other half appeared an age. When it ceased, I gradually became more quiet, but a new fear seized me. I knew that five minutes would elapse without ringing, but at the end of that short time the bell would be rung a second time for five minutes more. I could not calculate time—a minute and an hour were of equal duration. I feared to rise, lest the five minutes should have elapsed, and the ringing be again commenced, in which case I should be smashed, before I could escape, against the walls or frame-work of the bell. I therefore still continued to lie down, cautiously shifting myself, however, with a careful gliding, so that my eye no longer looked into the hollow. This was of itself no slight relief. The cessation of the noise had, in a great measure, the effect of stupifying me, for my attention, being no longer occupied by the chimeras I had conjured up, began to flag. All that now distressed me was the constant expectation of the second ringing, for which, however, I settled myself with a kind of sullen, stolid resolution, I closed my eyes and clenched my teeth, as firmly as if they were screwed in a vice.

At last the dreaded moment came, and the first swing of the bell extorted a groan from me, as they say the most resolute victim screams at the sight of the rack to which he is for a second time to be bound. After this, however, I lay silent and lethargic, without a thought. Wrapt in the defensive armour of stupidity, I defied the bell and its intonations. When it ceased I was roused a little by the hope of escape. I did not however, decide on this step hastily, but putting up my hand with the utmost caution, I touched the rim. I thought the ringing had ceased: it still was tremulous from the sound and shook under my hand, which instantly recoiled as from an electric jar.

A quarter of an hour probably elapsed before I again dared to make the experiment, and then I found the bell at rest. I determined to lose no time, fearing that the bell for afternoon service would catch me. This dread stimulated me, and I slipped out with utmost rapidity and arose. I stood, I suppose, for a minute, looking with silly wonder on the place of my imprisonment, penetrated with joy at escaping, and then rushed down the stony and irregular stairs with my utmost speed, and arrived in the bell-ringers' room.

This was the last act I had power to accomplish. I leant against the wall motionless, and deprived of thought, in which posture my companions found me, when, in the course of a couple of hours, they returned to their occupation. They were shocked, as well they might be, at the figure before them. The wind of the bell had exoriated my face, and my dim and stupified eyes were fixed with a lack lustre gaze in my raw eyelids. My hands were torn and bleeding my hair dishevelled, and my clothes tattered. They spoke to me, but I gave no answer; they shook me, but I remained insensible; they then became alarmed and hastened to remove me. He who had first gone up with me in the forenoon met them as they carried me through the churchyard, and through him, who was shocked at having, in some measure, occasioned the accident, the cause of my misfortune was discovered.

I was put to bed at home, and remained for three days delirious, but gradually recovered my senses. You may be sure the bell formed a prominent topic of my ravings, and if I heard a peal they were instantly increased to the utmost violence. Even when the delirium abated my sleep was continually disturbed by imagined ringing, and dreams were haunted by the fancies which almost maddened me while in the steeple. My friends removed me to a house in the country, which was sufficiently distant from any place of worship, to save me from the apprehension of hearing the church bell going; for what Alexander Selkirk, in Cowper's poem, complained of as a misfortune was then to me a blessing.

There I recovered; but even long after my recovery, if the gale wafted the notes of a peal towards me, I started with nervous apprehension. I felt a Mahomedan hatred for all the bell tribe, and envied the subjects of the commander of the faithful the sonorous voice of their Muezzin. Time cured this, as it does the most of our follies; but even at the present day, if by chance my nerves be unstrung, some particular notes of the Cathedral bell have power to surprise me into a momentary start and tremor.

ODE TO A LOST RINGER

In 'Ringing Worlds' long past we saw,
Full oft in many a peal.

The name of Wratten, bold in print,
His fame was very real.

But now, alas, no more we see
That well remembered name,
The lad we used to know so well
Has given up the game.

'Tis rumoured that he's signed the pledge,
And given up all vice.
What ails the lad? we want to know.
'Taint really very nice.

His clapper's mute, his rope is snapped,
His stay all bent and broke.
His wheel no longer turns about.
What's up with the poor old bloke?

One time we used to see him stand
Before the parlour rail.
'Twas naught to see this hearty lad
Sink pints of good strong ale.

'Tis said that he has gone to naught,
A shadow of his self,
No bells, no beer, no football pools,
He must be in bad health.

No doubt you're wondering what's occurred
To bring this lad's decline.
The poor chap, one dark night, got caught
By maiden's fair design.

A warning to you bachelors gay:
A churchyard's not the place;
Stay in the tower and lock the door,
That way you'll ne'er lose face.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY AT DINNER

ON Saturday, March 5th, the annual dinner of the Cambridge University Guild was held in the Hall of Selwyn College.

The day was much too pleasant to be wasted in peal ringing, and it was possibly in view of this that, despite very kind encouragement from the Vicar, the conductor of the band which was trying to ring Stedman Triples at Ickleton saw the light after 40 minutes and miscalled it. Having rung a quarter of Bob Major to keep out of mischief until opening time, the band returned to Trumpington to lend a judicious ear to the peal of eight-spliced Surprise which was going on there. Hearing that it was good, they sat in the Red Lion until the peal came round a little later, to the deserved satisfaction of all concerned.

For those who wished to bolt their lunches, Mr. Roaf was on display at St. Bene't's for an hour, after which the ringing chamber at Great St. Mary's was crammed to capacity. It should be explained that Cambridge was holding a Fiesta Day in aid of the Refugee Appeal, and one young man who was sitting in the shadow of St. Mary's, solemnly playing a clarinet, was nearly blown away when the 12 were pulled off. He is believed to have gone elsewhere.

The ringing at the Roman Catholic Church was interrupted, surprisingly briefly, by a wedding, but reached a higher standard than usual, including Double Norwich, Bristol and London. This was courteously, and ruefully, attributed to the visitors and the older members.

St. Andrew's was the last tower open, and ringing included Yorkshire and London, though certain figures were by this time conspicuously, if understandably, absent.

87 AT DINNER

The second remarkable feature of the day was immediately evident at sherry before dinner, and it was later stated by the secretary that no fewer than 87 people sat down to the very satisfactory dinner. Later, after the loyal toast, the president (Rev. A. C. Blyth) welcomed the guests and visitors, presented with regret apologies for absence from Canon A. L. Woodard and Mr. J. H. Fielden, and observed that, under conditions of some secrecy, the Guild had contrived to ring a 4-bell tower for a wedding. This, he suggested, added some weight to the assertion that the Guild was flourishing.

Mr. S. E. Darmon, proposing the toast of 'The Guild,' revealed that he had asked himself why the Guild continued to exist. (Perhaps after our afternoon's activities the same question may have been asked elsewhere in Cambridge.) He finally attributed its present flourishing state to the degree of contact between resident and non-resident members, stressing the importance of Guild Week in this connection, and also to the great good fortune of the Guild in its two presidents, both past and present. This proposition was strongly and audibly supported.

Mr. P. H. Langton, the Master, confirmed in his reply impressions of the present state of the Guild by quoting a resident membership of 52, of which 22 were new members. The Guild rang for four services on Sundays, and learners were encouraged to assist regularly at Trumpington. Two practices were held each week and also two muffled practices for learners: special mention was made of a system of entering individually the progress of learners each week, which had enabled the large numbers to be instructed with economy and purpose. The number of peals rung over the year was slightly below average, but the achievements in terms of methods was felt to offset this to some extent: peals had been gained in two new plain and two new Surprise Major methods—Wyndham and Winchester, and Cornwall and Glasgow. A peal of Bob Royal 'in hand,' non-conducted, had also been rung. Outings and local meetings of the Ely Diocesan Association had been very well attended, particularly by learners. As his personal proof of the present state of the Guild, said the Master, he took the fact that, before a recent attempt for a peal of eight-spliced Surprise, a prominent resident peal ringer had been found practising on a lashed treble at St. Andrew's.

The secretary, Mr. J. R. Taylor, proposing the toast of 'The Guests,' welcomed representatives of the Oxford University, University of London and University of Bristol Societies, and the Master and a not unfamiliar member of the Society of Cambridge Youths. The latter he complimented on their ability to ring not only the bells but also the tower of Great St. Mary's.

Replying for the guests, the Master of the Oxford University Society (Mr. A. Stubbs) congratulated the Guild on its achievement in the peal of eight-spliced Surprise rung earlier in the day, but gently defended his own Society by reference to their own achievement in the peal rung for the recent Royal birth. He wondered why no similar attempt had been made by the Guild.

As usual, the company proceeded after dinner to the Tower Room for beer, libel and handbells until a suitably late hour. On Sunday there was no shortage of ringers and ringing was interesting. By the evening, however, the residents were again in possession after what was agreed to have been a most successful and enjoyable week-end. P. B. H.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Maidstone District

The meeting of the Maidstone District at Lenham was enhanced by the presence of the Ladies' Guild and members of the Central Council. This combined meeting had good support from both Societies and resulted in a congregation of 63 at the service, conducted by the Rev. O. F. R. Strickland. Other visitors before and after must have brought the total attendance to a good century.

Unfortunately Mr. A. Waddington, the District Ringing Master, was indisposed, and the role was ably filled by Mr. Reg Sills, the District secretary.

The Vicar in his address drew a simile of bells to 'Praise Him on the Loud Trumpet' and in more modern theme to the cook house call of 'Come and get it.' He looked on bells ringing for service as a call to all people to come and get the spiritual substance offered by the Church.

He also thanked those present for ringing the bells, giving the people of Lenham an opportunity of hearing their rebung bells for which they had worked so hard. A new band is being formed locally and the bells now ring for most services.

After the business meeting Mr. P. Carter thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and his most interesting address, also Mr. J. Manktelow, the local captain, for his assistance with the arrangements. P. M. T.

Rochester District

There was a very happy gathering of some 60 odd members for the Rochester District by-meeting at the little village church of St. Bartholomew, Bobbing, on March 12th.

The Vicar (the Rev. F. L. Talbot) conducted the ringers' service at which a collection was taken on behalf of the Kent County Association Belfry Repair Fund. Tea was kindly given and served in the Village Hall. The District secretary, Mr. T. Barton, in proposing a vote of thanks, especially mentioned the vicar, churchwardens and lady helpers for their hospitality and very warm welcome.

Ringing on the six bells was under the leadership of Mr. G. A. Nayler, District Ringing Master.
