

ANOTHER EPOCH

AFTER remaining at a selling price of sixpence for five years. 'The Ringing World' to-day makes its bow to the public as an eightpenny newspaper. The force of circumstances that necessitated this change has been fully explained to our readers. We hope that our subscribers, who now number over 5.700 a week. will accept the new price and continue to give their full support. This last year we have had the pleasure of increasing our circulation by 200. the biggest increase for some years. The reason we emphasise this is because the editor has in front of him a letter written by one who prides himself on having been a member of a Diocesan Conference, which reads:
'The Ringing World' is fast heading for extinction and eventual bankruptcy-as I for one have foreseen for several years. A new outlook is needed if not a new committee and a new editor; some no doubt will say 'and I agree'! I have ceased taking it for over a year for reasons similar to those aired by Mr. John Brain (page 693), but I still see it when a friend who does take it and myself walk into the same shop, he to buy his 'Ringing World' and myself to buy other journals.
Had this critic been a regular reader of *The Ringing World' he would have seen that the position is far from bankruptey. The capital account of the journal, as presented at Southport, showed a credit of $£ 4.522$. At the end of 1958 the Central Council had investments at cost of $£ 4,362$ and cash at bank and in hand of $£ 1.493$. When the present editor took office in 1946 there was a balance on the capital account of $£ 1.046$. In that year the total cost of producing the journal was $£ 1,395$; last year it was $£ 6,457$. The difference has not gone on the editor's salary, but in the continued rise in production costs.
If the Exercise shares the opinion of this critic there will be an opportunity at Folkestone next Whitsun to change the composition of the editorial committee and to instruct the new committee to appoint a new editor. The constitution of the Central Council is democratic; the great majority of its members are the elected representatives of the affiliated Guilds and Associations. It is for them to say how they wish the journal to be run; the committee is elected by them.
The whole of this additional cost of 2 d . a week is not being absorbed in production costs. The committee are giving the Exercise a larger journal. While the number of pages remains the same, the length of each page is being increased by one inch, and this is the equivalent of a page and a half reading matter each weck. On special occasions, such as the Central Council meeting the committee are prepared to increase the issue to 24 pages. This weekly addition will be very valuable to the editor, and should provide space for feature articles, which he hopes that those with special knowledge will submit.
When an editor declares that his publication cannot be improved, then it is time for him to consider resigning his office. There is no question-as some of our correspondents have pointed out, that 'The Ringing World' can be improved. Taking advantage of the increased space available, with this issue we introduce the first of what we hope will be a long series of articles, 'Servants of the Exercise.' With the big influx of new readers with young recruits in our belfries, it is only right and proper that they should know something concerning the men and women who have not only brought change ringing to its present status but have by their influence and example added to the dignity of ringers as servants of the Church. Ringing, like cricket. is not restricted to one section of the community: people of all classes of society find a lifetime fellowship through service in the belfry.

Periodically the editor is accused of not taking an interest in the younger ringer. This week we give the first of our tips for beginners, written by a noted peal ringer, who has travelled extensively in the country and observed many of the prevailing faults of young and indifferent ringers. Don't dismiss them lightly: they are the secret of good handling, the basis of ringing.
Another important article introduced this week is 'Stedman for Beginners,' by Mr. Wilfrid G. Wilson. With the late Mr. Ernest Turner, Mr. Wilson in his younger days was a pupil of the late Mr. J. Armiger Trollope, the second editor of this journal. Both these pupils captured Mr. Trollope's enthusiasm for many sides of ringing. The late Mr. Turner completed certain of Mr. Trollope's revision of the Jasper Snowdon series of text books. Mr. Wilson's gift as a clear and simple writer has been dmonstrated in many ways. His roneod booklet for beginners met with an exceptional demand, and when the Central Council decided to revise "The Beginner's Handbook," they appointed him to the committee, and he provided much of the text. We feel certain that 'Stedman for Beginners' will make a strong appeal to young ringers and will also be read by others. To-day at meetings one comes in contact with young people priding themselves on ability to ring Surprise but floundering hopelessly with Stedman. which for bell music is some of the best, particularly in the estimation of the outside public.

To all our readers-critics and friends-we wish them a happy and prosperous New Year. Ringing in this country is in a good heart; we have some splendid and enthusiastic youngsters. who we are certain will carry forward the torch. May 1960 see good recruitment and better Sunday ringing throughout the land.

SURPRISE METHODS

Details of first peal performances of regular Surprise methods are readily available in Corrigan's Collection and "Campanalogia." Also most of the leading composers have a complete list of performances and will supply any information required. Only a bare outline of its development of Surprise ringing will be given here.
Cambridge Surprise Major.-The original Society of London Youths rang a false peal of 5.088 at. St. Giles-in-the-Fields on January 30th, 1780. Due to arguments within the Society. the band joined the ancient College Youths, and rang a false peal of 5,152 , also at St. Giles', on February 23rd, 1783.
The next known peal was 6.048 at Sheffield on November 5th, 1787. J. W. Snowdon assumes that this peal was false. The method was then picked up by the Keighley Society. who rang 5.152 on February 23rd, 1810, but they afterwards found this peal to be false, and rang 5.376 on August $18 \mathrm{th}, 1811$, which they clained to be the first true peal in the method ever rung in the North of England. Snowdon assumes that this latter peal was false, but makes no mention of the first peal at Keighley.

The first peal in the method known to be true is 5,600 at Benington on February 11th. 1873, by the Benington Society.
Superlative Surprise Major- 5.152 at Huddersfield on November 5 th, 1821 . by the St . Peter's Company. It was rung after a peal of Treble Bob Triples; total time live hours and fifly-six minutes.

New Cambridge Surprise Major.-6.720 at Huddersfield on February 13th, 1822, by the St. Peter's Company. Rev. C. D. P. Davies incorrectly refers to this as a peal of Cambridge rung with singles, and gives the peal at Burton-on-Trent on April 20th, 1887, as the first peal in the method.

Cambridge Surprise Royal.-5,400 at Wakefield on October 26th, 1822 , by the Wakefield Society.
Superlative Surprise Royal.-Shipway's extension was rung at Wakefield on January 16 th. 1825 , but the peal was false. So the Wakefield Society rang another 5,400 on March 27th. 1826. Another extension, referred to as No. 2 version, was rung at Beddington on November 21 st , 1935, by the Surrey Association.

London Surprise Major.-Shipway states that London had been practised by the ancient College Youths in the $1780^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$. Presumably by the band which rang the false peals of Cambridge. The first peal was 5,280 at St. Andrew's, Norwich, on November 17th, 1835 , presumably by St. Peter's Company of Norwich Scholars.
Surprise Methods to 1920.-Up to 1880 there had only been 17 peals of Surprise. The $1880^{\circ}$ s saw the start of a rapid increase in Surprise ringing, with such bands as the St. Paul's Society. Burton-on-Trent, taking the lead. The Burton ringers rang their first peal of Superlative in 1884 , Cambridge. New Cambridge and London in 1887. In 1886 they rang the first peal of Burton Superlative S.M. In 1897 Gloucester S.M. was rung at Gloucester and the irregular Oxford S.M. at Brighton. Norfolk S.M. was rung at Brighton in 1898.

Bristol S.M. was rung at Brighton in 1901. and 1903 saw the first peals of Yorkshire S.M. at Ranmoor. Sheffield, and New Cambridge S.R. at St. Magnus', London. Peterborough S.M. was rung at Bolsover in 1904.

In 1907. Southgate S.M. was rung at Southgate. being then known as the Rochester Variation of Superlative, and the College Youths rang the first peal of a variation of London Surprise Royal.
The first peal of Cambridge S. Maximus was rung at Ipswich in 1908, an account of which can be found in the R.W. $\therefore$ page 245, 1958. In 1913. Brighton S.M. was rung at Waterloo Road, and Guildford S.M. at Guildford.
Surprise Methods. 1921 to 1950.-During this period a further 169 Major, 26 Royal and 19 Maximus methods were rung to peals.

Surprise Methods. 1951 to 1958. -In these eight years no less than 200 Major methods were rung to "first peals." Also 15 Royal and 9 Maximus methods.

This concludes, to the best of my knowledge. the schedule of first peal performances of methods on seven or more bells. It may be that someone has details of a performance in a method not listed above. or even an earlier performance. If so. I would be pleased 10 receive details, in order that the list of First Peal Performances may be made as complete and accurate as possible. The schedule is believed to be complete to September 30th. 1959, with the exception of regular Surprise methods. The schedule proper starts on page 699. 1958, and is continued on pages 767, 67, 202 and 651.

BELFRY

 Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, an appointment he has held with great efficiency for 27 years. His successor is Mr. R. Luten, 169, Cheney Manor Road, Swindon.The Witney and Woodstock Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild have agreed that a standard charge of 10 s .6 d . a rope be made for wedding ringing.
The peal at Erith on November 13th (see page 751) was Mr. W. A. J. Knight's first peal of Surprise Major, and his first in the method.
Mr. J. R. Worrall. who was at Shafteshury School. Bisley. Surrey, until its closure. has now a teaching appointment in Germany at Prince Rupert School, Wilhelmshaven.
The influence of a new vicar at Bampton. Oxon. who came from a Devon parish with a good band of call change ringers, is being felt. Their striking under the leadership of Mr. Jack Hellinger is improving.

We hope to publish our annual feature of leading bell-ringers of 1959 at an early date. Will those who have rung 25 peals or more kindly submit details. showing number of peals rung on tower- and handbells and the number conducted

Mr. W. Mann, who learnt to ring at St James, Benwell. Newcastle, before the war has rung his first quarter in distant South Australia. While on duty for five months at the Weapons Research Station. he obtained some ringing at Adelaide-at St. Peter's Cathedral. His departure is much regretted by South ^ustralian ringing colleagues

Mr. D. Miller, of Old Cleeve. Somerset, just back from Christmas Island. took part in a welcome home quarter peal on December 14th.
The Sunday service band at St. Thomas' Church. Stourbridge, are making progress. They rang a quarter peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major on December 13 th as a welcome to the new Vicar.

GOSSIP

 Encouraging news comes of Northleigh. In iwo years a band of 16 ringers has been established, starting from scratch. For quite a time they have an unbroken record of ringing twice on a Sunday. Their Christmas dinner at the Fleece Hotel was an excellent meal and afterwards the band provided their own entertainment in the form of songs, tunes on handbells and dancing.Owing to repairs to the spire, the bells of Christ Church, Swindon, are out of use.
Clanfield, Oxfordshire, ringers at their annual supper presented their captain, Mr. George Clarke. with a silver stand and house bell, as a mark of their appreciation of his services.
Ringers from Handsworth. Birminghamı, and elsewhere. who had a very pleasant time ringing at ten different Shropshire towers on December 12th, would like to thank Elizaheth Yardley for making all the arrangements.

Evidence of ringers taking an active part in church life-and there are many-comes from Burghill, Herefordshire. At the annual church bazaar the ringers had their own stall of cut flowers, pot and autumn bedding plants, which brought in $£ 7$. This will help towards the cost of the hire of a coach for their summer outing.

Mention was made in 'Belfry Gossip " on December 4 th of the augmentation of Belton. Lincs. bells from four to six. This refers to All Saints', Belton, Isle of Axholme. The other Lincolnshirz Belton is near Grantham and here the five bells are unringable. There is another Belton in Rutlandshire.
Members of the Theological College Ringing Guild at Salisbury were joined by two ringing friends from Salisbury towers in order to ring a farewell quarter peal to one of their brother students, Mr. Michael Lewis, of South Petherton, Somerset. Who was to be made deacon by the Lord Bishop of Taunton at Stogursey Priory on December 20th, to serve in that parish. Mr. Lewis learned to ring at Salishury through the activities of the Ringing Guild at the College. and is the first of the present "new recruits; there 10 ring a quarter peal.

Malta's Cathedral Had Its Bell Carols

> The six bells at Malta Cathedral are hung dead for chiming. In the first week of December 'The Ringing World' received a request from C.ISgt. K.J. Reed. of 40 Commando, Royal Marines, to be supplied with carol and hymn tunes for six bells, so that they could be rutig for Christmas. It was essential that they should reach him by December 17 h .
> Thanks to the good services of Mr. Frederick Sharpe, president of the Centtral Council, and also Mr. S. G. Poniling and Miss Margaret Smith, of Milford (Surrey) C. of E. Junior School. two sets of tunes-one of ten tunes and the other of six-reached Malia on December 11th. In his letter of thanks, C./Sgl. Reed states: "The girls who chime the bells are so very thrilled, as I am. On Saturday they just couldn't get up to the tower fust enough. It is my ambition, of course, 10 get them imerested in the real art of change-ringing, so that on their refurn to U.K. they will have a true desire to learn. We now have enough tunes for all seasons of the Church year, which is wonderful!'

SUNDAY SERVICE LEAFLET

A four-page leaflet summarising the Sunday Service Survey presented to the Central Council last Whitsun, in which an appeal is made for the sympathetic and active interest of the clergy in the ringing of church bells, has now been sent to bishops, archdeacons, etc., in England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland, rural deans in England, all Scottish and Irish towers with rings of hells, and several other important people. In the addressing of envelopes, Mr. Norman Chaddock. the convener, had the ussistance of Messrs. Lufkin, Moreton and Gray. Guild officers can obtain copies from Mr. N. Chaddock, 17, Herringthorpe Grove, Broom, Rotherham, Yorks, upon sending a stamped addressed envelope.

Always ring with a tight rope, remembering you have a rope in your hands and not a stick. Adjusn the position of your hands on both sally and tail-end to give the longest pull possible.

BALDOCK RINGERS' DINNER

Baldock ringers and their friends met again

 for dinner at the Rose and Crown on December 12 th. After a good meal and the loyal toast, Canon Brenchley welcomed the visitors, in parlicular Mr. W. Ayre, who comes from Leverstock Green, where the Canon was once curate.Mr. E. Nichols replied on behalf of the visitors, saying that many people who heard St. Mary's bells and loved them never answered their call.

After the Verger's speech. Mr. Ayre proposed the toast of The St. Mary's Guild of Bell Ringers. He was deputising for the president of the Hertford County Association, Mr. G. W. Debenham, who was ill. Mr. Ayre reminded his listeners that Baldock had not always been at its present high level of attainment, and the reason why the Guild had achieved so much in recent years was because people gave of their hest continually.
In reply. Mr. E. G. Buck mentioned some of the highlights of the past year: 18 quarter peals rung for Sunday services: Miss K. P. Hutton's marriage to Mr. D. Salisbury: the Kimpton cup competition. in which Baldock entered two teams, the ' $A$ ' team being second by only four points. The real test would come when the tower repairs would make ringing impossible, but it would be an opportunity for the members to go out and help other towers during this time.

As was usual, handbel! ringing completed a most enjoyable evening.

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE - No. 1

We commence this series in the hope that new entrants to the Art of Ringing will be enabled to get to know more about those who are serving the Exercise through the Central Council and in other fields. The particulars given are by no means a full picture of their activities, but it is felt that, brief as they are, our newcomers will be glad to have them.

EDWIN HLGH LEWIS, M.A. (Cantab.)
HDWIN HUGH LEWIS was born on June 13th, 1881, and is the youngest son of the late Canon J. D. Lewis, Vicar of St. Ann's, Nottingham. He was educated at Charterhouse (winning a scholarship at the age of 12) and at Trinity College. Cambridge (Mechanical Sciences Exhibitioner, 1903).

In 1909 he married Miss A. J. T. Richardson, daughter of the Archdeacon of Nottingham. They had four sons and three daughters, of whom three sons and two daughters served in the Royal Navy, one son and one daughter being lost on active service.

Mr. Lewis has had a distinguished business career, commencing at the Liverpool Silver and Copper Company at Widnes, after having taken his degree in Engineering. After ten years' service with this company he joined the Glasgow Iron and Steel Co. Ltd. as under manager, becoming works manager in 1916. In 1927 he became general manager, controlling six collieries, an iron works, a cement works, an ammonia works, a limestone mine and an iron ore mine.

He was president of the West of Scotland Iron and Steel Institute, 1922-1926, and was one of the first Fellows of the Institute of Fuel. In 1929 he joined the board of directors of the Tunnel Portland Cement Company, and of Messrs. F. L. Smidth and Co. Lid. He retired in 1951, but still holds his seat on the Board.
In 1917 Mr . Lewis was elected as lay representative of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church. Wishaw to the Diocesan and Provincial Representative Church Council. He was made churchwarden in 1921 and elected lay elector in 1922, in which offices he served until leaving Scotland in 1929

LEARNED TO RING 60 YEARS AGO

He learned to ring at Trowell, Notts, in 1900. and joined the Cambridge University Guild in 1901, acting as their representative on the Central Council from 1908 to 1936. He was elected president of the Central Council in 1930 and served in that office until three years ago. In 1951 he was made a life member. Those who had the privilege of serving on the Central Council will remember how admirably he presided over the meetings, how fair and discerning he was, and the highly efficient way he piloted the proceedings to satisfactory and amicable settlements.

Mr. Lewis was Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths in 1937, its tercentenary year, and presided at the 300th annual dinner over a company of over 400 , which included the Lord Mayor of London. the Duke of Argyll and the Bishops of London and Kensington.

Since 1912 he has been the leading member of the Council's Towers and Belfries Committee and has done invaluable work in advising on bell restorations. In 1914 he presented a survey of his investigations into the horizontal and vertical forces exerted on a tower by bells, disproving the previously accepted theories of the late Lord Grimthorpe. This work has been publicly acknowledged by the late Sir Arthur Heywood, the leading firms of bell-founders, and the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings.

Mr. Lewis has rung 270 peals, and taught bands of ringers at Widnes and also at Brasted, Kent.

JAFUS.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION Eastern Branch

On December 5th the Eastern Branch licid its winter meeting at Gorleston-on-Sea, where despite the quite unjust reputation levelled at - the bleak East Coast ' regarding such gatherings at this time of the year. some three dozell members and friends attended.
The service was conducted by the Vicar and Rural Dean. Rev. E. L. Corbell, the Lesson heing read by Rev. Giles Galley. In a brief talk instead of a sermon the Vicar said it $\psi$ as the first meeting in his parish since there were again two towers in the borough with bells ran allusion to the new ring at St. Nicholas". Great Yarmouth) and he was happy to take the opportunity thus afforded him of Fublicly thanking those Yarmouth ringers who since the war had journeyed to and fro to supplement his own ringers Sunday by Sunday. and practice nights. He was further glad to say that a happy reciprocal arrangement exists. whereby ringing at both towers takes place at least once a Sunday.
A hot meat-pie tea followed, this being the climax of considerable effort by Miss Barbara Smedley and three young lady learners of the local band and was much appreciated by all.
Mr. Derek E. Carr. of Lowestoft. was reelected a ringing member and Loddon was the chosen venue for the Branch annual meeting on February 20th.
From the chair Mr. E. R. Goate mentioned the main event which had occurred in the Branch since the last meeting, namely the opening of the new ring at St. Nicholas'. Great Yarmouth. and he moved that the Branch's appreciation of the efforts of all concerned in the organisation of that opening be recorded in the minutes. This was seconded by Mr. G. Howlett and carried.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Vicar. Mr. Mayland, and the organist. and Miss Smedley and her helpers.

RINGERS IN HOSPITAL

We regret to learn that. as the result of an unfortunate accident. Mr. Bernard F. L. Groves, of Marple, Cheshire, is in Withington Hospital. His ringing friends at Brookfield Church. Gorton. wish him a speedy recovery and hope to see him ringing again in a very short time.
Mr. J. R. Cooper, the Ashford District Ringing Master, was involved in an accident on his motor-cycle when returning from ringing a peal at Cobham. He suffered a fractured skull, and has spent Christmas in Ashford Hospital. He is, however. on the mend, and hopes to be out soon. Mr. Tom Cullingworth, the pillion rider, escaped with minor injuries.

LETTERS TO

PEALS ON 'FOREIGN' TERRITORY
Dear Sir,-Regarding Mr. W. C. West's letter criticising a peal band for ringing a peal for the Oxford Diocesan Guild in a tower affiliated to the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, would he, or someone, please explain to me why this was rank bad manners'
If an organisation, such as Reading Football Club, take 11 of its members to Collingbourn Kingston and plays a game of football, it is still playing the game for Reading F.C. If six of them stay and ring a peal there they are stull ringing as members of Reading Football Club, or as members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. They should be just as welcome as members of the Oxford Guild to pursue their hobby of change-ringing among their hosts as to enjoy their other one of playing football. Surely they need not be compelled to join the local Football Association to play any Wiltshire teams? Why should they as ringers be obliged to join the local Association if they wish (or are invited) to ring a peal in another area?
Perhaps someone would tell us how this idiotic convention began, and why one cannot ring a peal among brother ringers of another locality without being branded as ill-mannered if it is not credited to them.

Surely it is time such a narrow interpretation of ringing 'freemasonry' was abolished, and visiting bands were welcomed to pursue their hobby with their own colleagues for their own Association if they so desire.
Territorial Associations were never meant to be divided from each other by "iron curtains." They only exist to make a workable organisation for the benefit of bell-ringers and bellringing, and such narrow and petty notions as are suggested in Mr . West's letter are quite out of place among real bell-ringers.-Yours truly.

Slough, Bucks.

THE PEAL AT EVESHAM

Dear Sir, - I was surprised to see the report of a peal of Yorkshire Major rung at Evesham in 3 hours 13 minutes (page 751).

It would be impossible to strike this 35 cwt . at this fast speed. It is a pity that several young ringers try to ring heavy tenors faster than they are capable.-Yours, etc.,

Dorking, Surrey.

EARL SHILTON HANDBELL RINGERS
Dear Sir.-I am sure readers would like to know a little of the activities of the Earl Shilton handbell ringers.
Ringers in Leicestershire will know that Billy Sturgess. Percy Coe and Ernest Chesterton. under their leader George Newton. have been together for about 30 years. They are all members of the Earl Shilton Farish Church tower.
As conductor of the Earl Snilton Male Voice Choir. I have been responsible for arranging concerts. both of a secular and sacred nature, for several years. throughout Leicestershire and Rutland. The handbell ringers have been included in many of these programmes, particularly this year. when we have given 18 concerts. Everywhere we go, tut particularly in the rural areas. the ringers are most enthusiastically welcomed.
Their most attentive audience was a 300 strong gathering at Leicester Prison on a recent Sunday, and the welcome they received would have done credit to Leicester City on a Saturday afternoon. None of the quartette were recognised by the warders :-Yours faithfully

THOMAS C. BELTON
Earl Shilton, Leics.

PEALS AND PERSONAL ACHIEVEMENT

Dear Sir.-The contents and financing of The Ringing World' are rightly receiving considerable attention in vour columns. Perhaps the following observations will cause the Editorial Committee some thought and possibly find other supporters.

My original reflection was that cult of round numbers.' for want of a better phrase. is becoming too prevalent in ringing. We have the parallel situation in sport where 100 wickets or 1.000 runs in a certain time is given much more prominence than 99 or 999 wickets. runs or what-have-you. You. sir. actively encourage this type of thing by asking for the - leading peal ringers " to declare their totals of 25 or over.
Let me state here that I am not against anyone ringing 25 . 50 or even 100 peals in a given time. provided that this does not constitute their major reason for wishing to ring them. However. I very much fear that. just about now. quite a few ringers up and down the country will have decided that. come 'hell or high water.' they need ' $n$ ' peals before December 31st in order to qualify for the 'league table. No doubt these required peals will be rung but will they be rung for the glory of God and his Church? I doubt it, although the Christmas spirit will be invoked

One could continue in this vein but if anyone's conscience is stirred I shall have made my point. It is ringing for the wrong motives if every performance completed or tower visited is simply another digit on the addition to a meaningless total. Whether the Rev. F. E. Robinson or George Williams were of this frame of mind or not in ringing 1.000 peals is beyond my knowledge but I suspect they were not.
The obvious remedy for this state of mind is to cease the publication of the list of - leaders. The information may still be conveyed by footnotes 10 peals and anyone interested can do their own totting up. I will await the cry of "sour grapes' from the outraged!

Improvement to our publication.- This subject was discussed locally recently and several interesting topics were mooted. I will leave aside the problem of payment for peal pub-lication-though why Mr. Robinson specifies his donation as covering the cost of printing his letter ${ }^{\text {" }}$ is beyond me. Most journals pay their contributors, not vice versa.

It was suggested that we. as a body of ringers. were remarkably ignorant of the lives of our fellows when not engaged in ringing. In fact the really interesting aspects of many ringers lives only appear in the obituary notices! Why not establish a series of P1ofiles * of the present leading personalities of the Exercise on the lines of those in. The New Scientist or "The Observer. etc? Cooperation of those involved is an essential part of this type of thing but it would add enormously to the human interest in the journal and this is the factor which influences sales figures.-Yours truly.

JOHN H. GIL.BERT.

Bristol.

NOTE:- The story of humanity is built up by personal achievement-whether religious. social or sporting. There is nothing wrong in having a dedicated sport. The leading peal ringer of today has spent his life in the service of the Church. We shall continue to publish our table of leading peal ringers: it is associated with our art. stimulates interest and presents a valuable indication to those who come after of the place of change ringing in the social life of the country.-Ed.

PEAL RINGERS AND FEES

Dear Sir,-II had no intention of writing again on the subject of finances of the 'R.W.' hut after reading Mr. Butler's letter 1 seem to have little alternative.

First, may I say that Mr. Butler seems not only to have missed the whole point of my letter, but he seems to have constructed another point which 1 certainly never attempted to make, i.e., that peal ringers and service ringers are " of a different breed," and I cannot imagine how this suggestion can have been read into my letter.
I do not know what Mr. Butler's "age of intolerance' may be, but 1 don't believe 1 have yet reached it, and I am certainly not an anti-peat-ringer, on the contrary; but the idea of something for nothing doesn 'i happen to appeal to me, and I do not understand how persistent peal ringers can expect hour after hour of pleasure from the use of equipment which someone else has paid for and then have the brazen effrontery to expect their efforts to be published. and all for nothing. Really, Mr. Editor, how mean can we get?

It has been argued that peals are rung to the 'glory of God,' and for the good of the Exercise, but I think few of us really believe that they are fung for any other reason than the pleasure and self-gratification of the ringers concerned.

Finally, sir, my letter was not intended to he an attacki on peal ringing, but rather a suggeslion to improve the financial position of the 'R.W.: ; and if any ringer wants to put any other construction to it, he must do so.-Yours fatithfully,

MONTAGUE J. SOPER
Potters Bar, Middlesex

MUSIC IN COMPOSITIONS

Dear Sir,-I was surprised to see such an experienced ringer as Arthur Ramsbotton sending in to the valuable columns of your journal a composition for a peal of Romney, Hythe and Dymchurch Surprise Maximus which contains two simultaneous bobs at the third and fifth part-ends with no matching single to turn the tenors back into course. It should be apparent to anyone with any sort of musical ear at all that the music of this method lies in the roll-ons at the course-ends, and this is entirely ignored in Mr. Ramsbottom's composition, as can he seen from the skeleton below:-

241638507 T 9 E
42618305 T7E9 XXL (Winter)
4628103 I5E79
648201 T3E597
68402 T1E3 957
68402 T1E3957 X (Away)
From the position of the back bells throughout the peal it is quite plain that this is just another instance of peal ringing for the sake of it, without any appreciation of the music behind the composition. We should all. I think, remember that the true purpose of ringing is 10 call the faithful to worship and that. while for us the Exercise is both a hobby and a recreation, our prime duty lies in regular support of the work of our home tower, and especially in encouraging the youngsters to learn the nohle art. In this way there would he fewer silent towers up and down the country. - I remain. sir, yours faithfully,

ALFRED RAMSDEN.

Beckingham. Kent

P.S.-A single at the seventh lead-end rollowed by two singles per part would bring up Tittums every 14 changes with Queens at least once per course. If any of your readers are interested in this composition (my own) I shall be pleased to give any help I can.-A. R

KEEN CHURCHGOERS ESSENCE OF RECRUITING

Dear Sir.-I was greatly interested in your leading article. 'The Sampling of Youth.' concerning youth and bellringing, and noted the oft used phrase: 'You can't get the young ones to stick it nowadays.
Three years ago bellringing at March was at all extremely low level: only four or five adult ringers displayed an interest in Sunday service ringing, and on occasions we were not in a position to ring at all. Practices were quite out of the question.

Yet. for months I had endeavoured to train young people. male and female. in the art of ringing bells. but after a few weeks of progress they drified away and we were back where we started. It was most discouraging.
Nevertheless, we who were interested persevered. and at this present time after two years of struggle-and beginning from scratch is a struggle-there are now 20 keen ringers in our town. and recently I have had the unhappy task of turning would-be ringers away ?
During the past two years our six bells have been rung faithfully and consistently. twice on Sundays and for practice, and there no longer exists the possibility of the bells embarking upon a prolonged silence.
I have learned during the past few years that one must use one's discretion in forming a team of youthful ringers. Whereas at one time I accepted all and sundry. now I no longer do so.
Firsi and foremost. our youngsters are keen churchgoers, and that probably is the key to our success. I have found through experiena that it is us ally those who show litule or no interest in church affairs who inevitably discard any interest in bells. It would also appear beneficial. as in our case. where possihle to establish a nucleus of young people who have received. or are receiving refined education, for generally speaking they are more stable and possess more intiative than some who. for better of worse. are imbued with that wanderlust. come hither. go thither. quality. It is, I feel essential that would-be exponents of the art be chosen from the congregation.
I have tried recruits from all walks of life. and after a month's trial. or longer. I ask the pupil if he or she is interested in the art; usually I am aware long before if they are not. and, that being the case. politely inform them that their efforts and mine are a waste of time.
There are eight boys and seven young ladies at our tower. To increase their inlerest we have formed a club. and most of the youngsters pay in a small amount weekly. which logether with occasional remuneration in ringing the bells for weddings. is banked. and is later distributed to them on the occasion of our annual outing. or otherwise as they wish. We also keep an attendance registerand all attend regularly-and any late arrival is also noted with friendly interest.

We are now engaged in playing carols on the handbells. and the proceeds are to be used in repairs to these bells in the New Year. It is our ambition 10 raise the total amount required, and if possible to augnent the number of handbells in our possession. Our youngters are even considering holding a sale of work for that purpose.
I deem it important that our ringers visit and ring the bells at other churches whenever possible and to that end we have arranged a half-day's outing in the near future. fing a quarter peal during within sight-to ring a quarter peal during the New Year. Another eagerly-awaited event is the pealing oi the bells by six pupils of March Grammar School on the occasion of that school's annual service at our church. This was achieved for the first time this year.

It is most satisfactory to see our young people mixing well with the remaining five old hands. Resentment is non-existent on borh sides when our ringing-gallery is invaded by a crowd of enthusiastic youngsters, the majority of whom are members of the Ely Association.

During this last spring and summer we have trained a team of ringers at a village church a few miles away, and this winter those bells are pealing out regularly on Sundays and Tuesdays, manned by youngsters-and the not so young-who are memhers of that church's congregation.
Looking back, 1 would say that young people-in any organisation-must be given the opportunity to feel they are really wanted. Give them something to do-even if it is winding the church clock-create a live atmosphere. not centred entirely around bells. and youth will not let you down.
It is essential, however, that they follow the example of senior ringers and join tha congregation in worship, and not walk away from the church after ringing the bells. Both habits, when practised, will stick, but the latter, as far as bellringing is concerned, is the heginning of the end. If young people truly understand the Church and all it stands for. then whatever may come: television. cinema. juke-boxes and courtship-they will rerely fail to be on time to ring the bells. and be proud of it .

And last but certainly not least, the greatest asset is to have a sympathetic and understanding clergyman. We have.-Yours sincerely.

NOT EXTENSIONS

Dear Sir.-The first part of Mr. Mayne's letter is correct. in that Lyme and Whitwick Surprise Royal do not conform to the C.C. report on method extension. The same applies to Gainsborough Surprise Royal. rung it Lichfield on December 29ih. 1956.
Unfortunately, more chaos might arise since the extensions given by Mr. Mayne also do not conform to the C.C. report. A brief glance will show that his extensions both violate rule 6 . which states that a front extension may not become effective before a sub-section containing continuous places in 12. Mr. Mayne's exing continuous places in 12. Mr. Mayne s exSurprise Royal is an extension of Cambridge Surprise Major.

Lyme and Whitwick do not extend to Royal in agreement with the C.C. report. but I do not think the C.C. would claim the right to rename the methods. It is only necessary to state that they are not extensions.- Yours sincerely.

LADIES GUILD PFAL OF 1958

Dear Sir.-I have made a check and find that there is only one peal for the ahove Guild rung in 1958-the peal of Minor you mention, at Ash.
I must have nut down Plain Boh Major anstead of one method of Minor. - With apologies. Yours etc.. WAL.TER AYRE

WHERE 1HE PROFESSOR SLIPPED UP?
Dear Sir.-I read with great interest the suggestions made by Professor Dodge to improve The Ringing World and whilst he makes some good points I fear that I must (with great trepidation) disagree about his proposed prize. $H$ his generous offer states I will name an irregular Minor method . . . and undertake to get a band to ring a PEAL of it. The opinion of the Professor on peats of Minor in UNE nethod is well known so I feel that a mistake has made when he made his offer.

Far too many peals of Minor in one method are rung loday, and the time has now come when a peal in seven methods should the the standard which all ringers. young and old. should attempt to reach. The Minor peal columns in The Ringing Worid present a very drab appearance for the academical standard is deteriorating rapidly.
Unhappily our good ringers are doing little to help for well-known names are seen each week in performances which are of little merit. e.g.. peals in one, two. three or four methods. A peal is occasionally printed showing iive crack ringers and one novice achieving 5.040 of Bob Minor-his or her first-but seldom do we see the same hand ringing a peal in seven methods !
In 1912 a Mr. McKell. of Gargrave. had placed on the agenda of a Yorkshire Association meeling a resolution stating. No peal of Minor in less than seven methods be recognised by the Association. but at the next meeting he withdrew his resolution, for what reason it is not known. A rather drastic resolution. but Mr. McKell probably detected a change in Minor peal ringing for although very few peals were rung in less than seven methods the rot was beginning to set in and today in Yorkshire less than ten per cent of the Minor peals are rung in seven or more methods. a deplorable decline in six hell ringing.

A peal rung at Cawthorne in 1932 in seven methods is recorded as having, four firsts. amongst the ringers. myself included: the question of a peal in under seven methods was not even considered in those days and many sheets of paper were covered to achicve success not forgetting the use of chalk on steel flag sheets down in the coal mines at snap time.: Be constructive is the adage of our mentor. Professor Dodge, so herewith are seven - regular' methods for those who prefer 10 ring within the pale: College Exercise, London Scholars: Sandai. Kingston. Kent. Oxford and Bob Minor. All these methods are without complications and will lead 10 others very similar in construction.
As full slow work methods such as Oxiorl are an advantage when novices are standing in a peal. I suggest Woodbine. New London, Duke of York. Oxford and Kent, Logether with London Scholars and Sandal. The first three are described by the purists as "irregular " but have full slow work and a knowledge of these methods will quickly leud to augmentation of the repertoire.

Although I feel strongly that Minor peals should be rung in seven or more methods I do not agree that a rule should he made to ensure this. as there are odd occasions when necessity demands a relaxation. such as an attempt by the local band. always a praiseworthy effore.
In conclusion. I look forward to 1960 when the Minor peal columns hegin to show PRO-GRESS.-Yours faithfully.

STEDMAN FOR BEGINNERS

By WILFRID G. WILSON

1. THE METHOD.

In my booklet for beginners, since incorporated in the Central Council's 'Handbook for Beginners.' I dealt with Grandsire and Plain Bob-both based on the plain hunt and therefore fundamental to change-ringing. 1 did not attempt to deal with Stedman because. in spite of my present heading. Stedman is not a beginner's method. The last edition of 'Stednam." by J. Armiger Trollopz. in the Snowdon xerics (1938) has been out of print for some years. It is. I believe being rewritten, but publication today, with relatively small sales. is difficult and 1 know many young people have asked for a book 10 help them with the method. It may, therefore, be worth while to fill in the gap and 1 will try to do so on the simple lines adopted for the other mehods. :o far as this is possible.

I shall assume that as you, the beginner, hatve reached the stage of wanting to learn Stedman you will already have learnt to ring Grandsire and Plain Bob, so that you will not need an explanation of plain hunting, or dodg ing, or leading or lying, or the necessity for calling bobs and singles so that the order of the bells may be changed to enable more than a plain course to be rung.

The first thing helpful to know. however, is that there are two ways of plain 123 hunting. One is the forward hunting. which you learnt on three. four or five bells when you first started change-ringing.

And the other is called, by contrast. backward hunting. The only real difference hetween these two ways of hunt ing is that. in the second example. hecause the treble starts off by staying on the lead for the handstroke before hunting up (and the other bells have to fit it with this of course) the whole

213 pulls at lead come at hackstroke and handstroke instead of handstroke and backstroke. On paper and in theory the difference is slight but when carried out in the tower this difference seems considerable-as anyone first trying to ring London Surprise will find out

The whole theoretical basis of Stedman is founded on this difference. There is no bell doing a plain hunt all the time. as is the treble in Plain Boh. And there is no additional bell in the hunt as in Grandsire. In the plat course all the bells (be there 5. 7.9. or 11) do the same work.

2. STEDMAN DOUBLES

The basis of Stedman Doubles is that the three bells which happen to be in the front do a plain hunt for the whole possible six changes. While this is going on the two bells at the back dodge with each other in the 4-5 position. At the end of the six changes (which reasonably enough are called a six) one of the front three bells will change places with one of the back two. and then another six changes will be rung on the new front three (two already there and one new one), while the two hells at the back dodge with each other And so on. But the sixes (that is the sets of three-bell hunting on the front) must consist of alternate forward and backward hwnting. You may wonder why the method can't be made easy by having the sixes all of one kind of hunting or the other. When you have come to the end of this chapter and have learnt. I hope, how to write out Stedman Doubles, then you can experiment and will see why we must have the two kinds of hunting rung alternately. You will find that with all forward hunting sixes, you have a plain course of only 18 changes and some of the bells never leave the front work. So it does not make a mathematically regular method. With all backward hunting sixes your plain course will have thirty changes. but it will be another method Erin Doubles. Except that in Erin rounds is the last row of a six and not the fourth row as in Stedman.

So if we want to learn Stedman we must accept the harder way and put up with the alternation of the two kinds of hunting on the front. We can however, avoid the continued description of these sixes as either forward or backward hunting if we learn that a forward hunting six is called a Quick six and a backward hunting six is called a Slow six. You will see the reason for these names later but for the moment remember just that the sets of six changes on the front hells are alternately Quick and slow sixes

Stedman Doublef
Plain Course
Now for another difficulty which you will think is contrived specially to confuse you. The plain course from rounds does not start with either a Quick six or a Slow six. It starts in the middle of a Quick six. That seems silly, but if you examine closcly the first twelve changes of the plain course you will see that the last six of these are the reverse of the first six -just the same as the second half of a lead of an ordinary method is the reverse of the first half. In other words the first twelve changes are in effect the first lead of the method. That is for the theorists, but there is one lucky chance that comes out of it. The first two changes in Stedman are exactly the same as the first two in Grandsire. So you will not need to ask - How do I start?

Now examine the plain course of Stedman Doubles. As we have just seen, it starts in the middle of a Quick six. with the first two changes as in Grandsire. This brings us to the row 23145 and from this row we will see how the method is constructed.

\begin{aligned}
\mathbf{S} & =\text { Slow six } \\
\mathbf{Q} & =\text { Quick six }
\end{aligned}

32154
31245
The row 23145 is the end of the Quick six. To get the first row of the next six we change the pairs of bells in the 1-2 and $3-4$ positions. This gives us 32415 and has the effect of putting a new bell ( 4 in this case) into the work of the front three and in its place, at the back, putting the bell that left the front work (in this case the treble).
Now write out the six changes on the three bells we have left in the front. But this six is to be a Slow one. so we write out the six changes in the form of backward hunting. While this is going on the back two bells dodge with each other and at the end of the six we shall reach the row 34251 .
As before, to get the first row of the next six, we change the pairs of bells in the 1-2 and the $3-4$ positions. which gives us 43521 . This also has the effect of putting a new bell ( 5 in this case) into the work of the front three and. in its place at the back. putting the bell that left the front work (in this case 2). Now write out the six changes on the three bells in the front-but this six is to be a Quick one. so write out these six changes in the form of ordinary forward hunting. While this is going on the back two bells dodge together and at the end of the six we reach the row 34512.
If you continue to write out this alternate series of Slow and Quick sixes exactly as we have done the first of the series. you will find that you will get back to the row 23145 after four more pairs of sixes. Two changes before that you will have had rounds. just sixty changes from the start of the plain course
We have written out that plain course in a logical way, based on the theory of the method. Quite simple to do with pencil and paper and many of us think that if we had started our method ringing in the tower by using this same way, we should have found that we were less likely to make mistakes. We should certainly have found it easier to ring a pair of handbells to the method-and the experience of those experts who ring the higher methods doublehanded bears this out
But we nearly all learn our ringing by what has come to be known as the blue line method. That is by following the path made by one of the bells among the others. It may well be true that the interest and pleasure experienced in following this path among the other bells is one of those things which makes change ringing attractive
So let us look again at our plain course of Stedman Doubles and follow the work of one of the bells. Let us take No. 4 which, after a dodge in 4-5 down in the first two rows, enters the front work at the beginning of a Slow six. Here is the path it takes-the horizontal lines are drawn at the places where one six ends and the next begins. It starts its work as one of the front three bells with Thirds place. Then hunts to lead (two blows-back and handstroke, known as leading wrong); one blow in seconds place and leads a whole pull thand and back-known as leading right). This block of work is the First Whole Turn (lead wrong, one blow in seconds. lead right).
Then make thirds place. Then lead at handstroke only -known as First Half Turn. make thirds place. Lead at backsirake only-known as Last Half Turn.

Makes thirds place. Then lead a whole pull right. one blow in seconds, and lead a whole pull wrong. This work is known as Last Whole Turn. Then make thirds place and leave the front. having been there for five whole sixes.
All this work is collectively known as the Slow, and the bell doing it is said to go in Slow, 10 be in the Slow and to go out Slow. As we have seen, the work consists of first and last whole turns, with first and last half turns in between them. Thirds place is made at the start and finish of the Slow and in between each of the four parts of $i t$.

If we continue to follow the path of No. 4 , we find it dodges twice in 4-5 up. lies a whole pull in fifths. and dodges twice in 4-5 down. Then it enters the front work again. But this time it has come in at the beginning of a Quick six and hunts straight down to lead a whole pull and then hunts straight out again. This piece of work is known as Quick work and the bell doing it is said to go in Quick and go out Quick. Now we can see why the alternate sixes are known as Quick and Slow sixes.
After Quick work, the 4th now dodges twice in 4-5 up. lies a whole pull and dodges twice in $4-5$ down. This brings it back to the start and if the ringing continues it would go in Slow again.
So we have two kinds of work in the front -alternate Slow and Quick work. In between each of them come double dodges in 4-5 up and 4-5 down. There are five bells and each one has to do Slow work (five sixes). Quick work (one six) and dodging up and down (two sixes each time)-making ten sixes. 60 changes, in all.

You will have learnt already that there are 120 possible true changes on 5 bells. so we have to find a way of inaking an alteration somewhere in the 60 changes of the plain course so that we can add in the other 60 changes. In Grandsire Doubles the 120 changes are ohtained by use of bobs and singles. In Plain Bob Doubles they are obtained by the use of bobs alone. By contrast. in Stedman Doubles they can be obtained only by the use of singles.
Bobs are not used in Stedman Doubles. There is a very simple reason for this. though I have never seen it written down before. In Stedman on any number of bells. the bells in the front are never affected by calls. In Doubles this means that only the two hells at the back can be affected. And you will know by now that a boh always alters the position of three hells (it may affect more than three. but only alters the coursing order of three). A single alters the position of two bells. so singles it it must be.
If any pair of bells dodging at the back can he made to change places with each other. it will the possible to ring the other 60 changes and then change the same two bells back again to complete the 60 changes of the plain course. and thus obtain the extent of 120 changes. The single is made in the middle of any six (Quick or Slow) and the second single must te made in the middle of a six which is ten sixes ( 60 changes) away from the first single.
Here is the first six of the plain course. It happens to be a Slow six, but that doesn't matter for this purpose as it is the hack two bells that are to he changed. Making the single in the middle of the six we get the result shown here-that is, we have changed bells 1 and 5 over. treble which has just left the front and done one of its 4-5 up doiges. makes fourths place. does one dodge in $4-5$ down and goes back into the front work again. Note that it goes in the same way as it has just come out. If it has just come out Quick it goes in Quick. If it has just come out Slow it goes back in Slow. That is because instead of staying behind for two whole sixes it goes back in front after one six only, thus upsetting its regular alternation of Quick and Slow.
The other bell at the back (the 5 th in the example) has already done its double dodge in $4-5 u p$ and has done one dodge in $4-5$ down when the single is called. It lies a whole pull (over the bell making fourths). does a single dodge in $4-5$ up. then lies a whole pull and during the next six dodges twice in 4-5 down before going into the front. Note that it also goes in the same way as it came out. This is because it has been at the back for three whole sixes. which similarly upsets the regular alternation of its Quick and Slow work.

At any one of the ten sixes of the plain course a single can be called and. so long as the second single is called ten sixes later (on the same pair of bells) the extent of 120 changes will be produced. Other 120's can be obtained by various combinations of four singles, each two of these four acting on the same pair of bells, but the ten diflerent extents with two singles in each will be enough for our present purpose.

South Forest Branch

Visitors from Chepstow, Bristol, Gloucester, Liss (Hants) and Kirk Ella (East Yorks) were among those who attended the annual meeting of the South Forest Branch held at Lydney on December 12th. The Rev. G. R. H. Smith. who conducted the service. also presided at the meeting

The secretary in his annual report said the branch had a paid-up membership of 56 . with more subscriptions to come in. A presentation of a handbag. wallet-purse and compact had been made to the past branch secretary. Mrs. Stafford. A peal was rung in honour of Mr. W. Beard completing 50 years as a ringer at Ruardean. The report and accounts were adopted.
Officers re-elected were: Chairman, the Rev. G. R. H. Smith : hon. sccretary. Mr. H. M. Coombe: Ringing Master. Mr. R. Thomas. Elceted junior members were Jane Harrison. Stewart Turner. Michael Hoult. and John Hoult, all of Lydney. The next ordinary meeting will he at Clearwell, followed by an evening meeting at Newland on January 23 rd.

The ladies who had served the cea. which included piping hot mince pies and sausage rolls, were called in and personally thanked by the chairman. Ringing continued until 9 p.m.

HARPENDEN BELLS AND RINGERS

The resolution took effect, for in 1907 a peal was rung with seven local ringers and Mr. W. Newell from Berkhamsted taking part. Mr. Newell used to walk over from Berkhamsted to instruct the ringers.

Though peals were rung occasionally by visiting bands, it was not until 1913 that the first all-local peal was rung. The marble tablet commemorating this is in the belfry: Mr. A. Day and Mr. W. Hill were among those who participated, and are still active members. Unfortunately this peal is still the only ali-local peal to have been rung in Harpenden.

LADIES IN THE BELFRY

After the outbreak of the war in 1914 the band began to go one by one to serve their country. In 1916, with members depleted, a rather new (and i suspect not too popular) event look place: several ladies started to learn. one being the step-daughter of the Rector (Rev. Kean M. Pitt). When the war was over, the ladies drifted away! One of the ringers did not return-Mr. O. Luxan. 10 whose memory a half-mullied quarter peal was rung. The returned ringers and their friends enjoyed a good meat lea in the Rector's room after ringing a quarler peal in celebration of the end of hostilities. Several of the ringers were married after the war, and each was presented with a bell-shaped inkwell in silver.

David Dellar, who for 28 years had served the ringers as secretary, was involved in an accident, which resulted in his death. A highlyesteemed member of the band, he was sadly missed: a stone tablet to his memory was placed in the belfry. In 1937 the death of "Ben" Jarman, who had been captain of the ringers for 30 years, deeply affected the band. Ben. had served on the committee of the Hertford County Association lor many years and was president in 1926. A half-muffled quarter peal was rung to the memory of "our beloved captain. Later the memorial screen was placed in the church and dedicited by the Rev. P. G. llandford.

Christmas Day Broadcast

Dear Sir.-Congratulations to all who look part in the Christmas morning ring ing, but why; oh why, coutdn's we have had well-struck rounds on that hecumiful sen at Blackburn instead of wery badly struck changes? I though all the other ringing was excellent-as weds the playing of the chime at Si. Andrews, Fite

The second ring brodutcast. described as that at Lady St. Marjs. Wareham Dorset, was certainly not the bells of that tower, I am sture! Instead, we heard some excellent Grandsire Doubles on light six, tenor. I would say: about 8 cw t in A. I wonaier what happened 10 Wareham bells, and I am wondering if allone could say just which bells we heard in their plase!-Yours sincerely PETER N. BOND.

Tunbridge Wells.

MR. SAM JONES OF ECCLESTON
In spite of the fog which enveloped the Cheshire countryside several members of the Chester Diocesan Guild from various parts of the diozese managed to reach the village of Eceleston for the celebration ol Mr. Sam Jones binety-first birthday, on Saturday. December 12th.

A well-struck louch of 4,200 Boh Triples was brought round on the fine ring at St. Mary's Church before the party made its way to Mr Jones cottage. Here Sam, looking not a day older. and in high spirits. welcomed his guests and soon led the way to a table laden with good things. It can be truly said that full justice was done to this magnificent feast and the great moment came when Mr. Sam Jones jun., rase to propose the toast Many happy returns.'

This was duly honoured in a fitting manner with congratulations and good wishes from all present. after which chairs were drawn to the fire and a pleasant hour was spent in talking of peals and towers, bells and ringers. Such conversation there must always be when ringers are gathered together.
All too soon the time came to say farewell Coats were put on and with renewed good wishes the visitors reluctantly left the cosy room for the fog outside.

Burghill, Herefordshire

For the sezond successive year. the ringers of St. Mary's Church. Burghill. Herefordshire, together with members of the choir, were entertilined to dinner by Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Hoddell on December 15th.

The socirl evening which followed was contributed to mainly by the chow, under the direction of the Viear (Rev. R. G. Benson) bui a sclection of popular Christmas hymns and carols was played on handbells by four of the ringers-Miss S. Beavan 1-2. Niss D. Chander 3-4. H. G. Chandler 5-6. B. Beavan 7-8-9.

The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

A PEAL RINGER LOOKS BACK ON 1959

AS we welcome 1960 and an enlarged 'Ringing World,' it is well to record some of the achievements of 1959. The usual number of new methods have been rung, with the Willesden band prominent, and old ones revived by different bands. Once again the Loughborough Bell Foundry was well to the fore as the most popular tower.

The first notable event was probably the four Surprise peals in a day rung by Cheshire men, and Basil Jones became the first one-armed ringer to accomplish more than two peals in a day.

This was closely followed by an enterprising band, under the leadership of Robin Leale, spending a week-end in the Channel Islands and ringing two peals on the sixes at Alderney and Vale Parish Church, Guernsey, for a Guild of their own choice - 'The International Ringing Association.' These peals set the sparks flying in the correspondence columns and for at least two months there was a steady flow of letters on the subject, mainly relating to Winchester and Portsmouth Guild peal fees owed by Mr. Leale's party for peals rung in 1958. A witty letter by Mr. Leale finally ended the dispute.
Of the peal tours, the three bands visiting Ireland in succeeding weeks, arranged respectively by Mr. A. P. Cannon, Mr. Wilfred Williams and Mr. J. W. Cotton, were conspicuous for a wealth of good peals. Mr. F. E. Dukes worked strenuously in making the local arrangements and the hospitality was on a scale for which the Irish are renowned.
The Universities were well to the fore with their weeks. From a peal point of view Cambridge had one of their best weeks in recent years. The Universities Association week had little to record in the way of peals, but, with their headquarters in a Durham castle, Mr. Dennis Bayles arranged a really thrilling ringing tour of Co. Durham and Northumberland. Manchester University Guild had a successful week-end peal ringing in the Lake District; Oxford University have appeared fairly regularly, Bristol are full of life and London have good peal ringers in their ranks.

We live in an age when youth is very much in the limelight for enterprising peal ringing. Youth all over the country have extended congratulations to Mr. Brian Woodruffe's touring party, whose average age was $17 \frac{1}{2}$ years. They toured Somerset, Dorset and Devon, and their peals included Bob Major on the heaviest eight at Sherborne Abbey and two peals of Spliced Surprise, one being on the beautiful bells at Chewton Mendip. Two companies had each 13 peals during their week-Mr. G. E. Fearn's in Devon and Mr. T. J. Lock's in Yorkshire. Mr. A. P. Cannon's went one better with 14 in Sussex.
their enthusiasm for attempting seven peals in a day. The Everest of long lengths - the 40,320 - is still attracting aspirants. Three different bands have made attempts at Loughborough Bell Foundry. The bands competing were organised by Mr. Stephen Ivin, Mr. Pat Chapman and finally, one of Double Norwich Court Bob Major, by Mr. Brian Woodruffe. Some 28,850 changes were reached by Mr. Ivin's band before the attempt was abandoned.

However, Mr. Robin Leale's band were successful in ringing a record length of Cambridge Surprise Major at Quex Park, although a later attempt to ring a record length of Bob Royal was not successful.
When the Peals Analysis Committee check up their totals, a feature of the year will probably be the increase in tenbell peals. London Surprise Royal has become very popular and peals in this method have been scored all over the country by many different bands, amongst them being several by the well-known Birmingham band, which was the first in the method in that city.

Outstanding among the dedications was the new ring of 12 at Great Yarmouth, which took place at the latter end of the year. The dedication ceremony was largely attended by ringers from all over the country, and the excellent arrangements for ringing and the beauty of the bells were the subject of many comments. By a coincidence, at the same time and on the same day the 10 bells at Carbis Bay, Cornwall, were rededicated. Both these churches have as their incumbents vicars who have done much to advance the Exercise-the Rev. Gilbert Thurlow and the Rev. A. S. Roberts. Surrey welcomes the recasting of Farnham bells.
It was Lancashire who were hosts to the Central Council for their 1959 meeting, and the gathering at Southport was one of the most successful in the annals of the Council. Members and their ladies were hospitably entertained to dinner. The meeting was a long one. 'Ringing World' finances, a regular topic in our correspondence columns, occupied much attention ana a peal levy was defeated. But 1959 will always be remembered for the presentation of the Survey on Sunday Ringing. One outcome that has been manifest since the presentation of this report has been the strong missionary spirit in different parts of the country in the attempt to reduce the number of silent towers. Those undertaking this work of training new bands rarely get a mention in our columns; many deny themselves the joys of peal ringing to fulfil this essential work. A glance at the quarter peals in any issue indicates that a steady stream of young men and maidens have essayed the first step on the path of change ringing progress. Yes, Southport will live in memory and may the spark there kindled never be quenched, because recruitment and proper training are essential for the progress of the Exercise and the fulfilment of the real purpose of our calling, that the

In this tower were rung two quarter peals for Evensong during Advent in conjunction with organ recitals for the World Refugee Year. There werc two first quarter peals and a first 'inside.'
Without a Vicar for $12 \frac{1}{2}$ years under a suspension order, St. John-the-Divine, Leicester, is to have its present priest-in-charge, the Rev. W. B. Williams, inducted to the living on January 14th. On the following Saturday a neal of Grandsire Caters will be attempted to commemorate the event. which, if successful, will be recorded on a lablet in the lower.

GOSSIP

 Handhells play an im portant part in the teaching of music at Blaydon East Secondary Modern School, thanks to the enthusiasm of Miss Paxton and Miss Oliver. At the end of term carol service handbells opened the proccedings by rounds and Oucens, followed by 'Good King Wencuslas.' Later there was handbell accompaniment to the singing of 'While Shepherds Watched,' The First Noel' and 'Jingle Bells.'With the peal at Branston, Lincs, on Boxing Day, Mr. Ronald Applewhite has circled the tower.'
The new band at Dore, near Sheffield. started regular ringing this Christmas with the hells open.
Mr. Colin A. S. Harwood celebrated his 21st birthday by calling his first peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major, at Biggle.wade, on December 19th.
In a peal of Grandsire Doubles at St. Nicholas", Nuneaton. it was the first peal by five of the band. Mr. Ernest Wilson. who wals conducting, was also ringing his first peal.
'Happy birthday, twins,' was said by Willesborough ringers on December 19th to Rita and Rosernary Gower by a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor. They are now 21, and rang their first peal of Surprise.
New South Wales ringers arranged for a ringers' pienic at the Royal National Park on December 13th especially for Ann Brown, who was due to leave Australia on December 28th for approximately five months overseas.
There is good news concerning Mr. Edgar Shepherd's visit to a specialist. Nothing was found wrong with his heart or circulation and he was able to ring for Christmas. He is waiting a little while before starting peal ringing again.
Miss Jean Sanderson has compiled a most interesting booklet on the Church of St. Nicholas, Norton, Hertfordshire, which adjoins Letchworth Garden City. The story of the bells is carefully traced back and we hope to deal with these at greater kength.

CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST

Dear Sir, - This year's Christmas Day broadcast of bells, though not without its faults, gave a fair indication of what comes out of those of our towers which can muster a full team. It was pleasing that all towers had a fair length of time on the air. Listeners would notice the error in announcing cight bells in one case when only six were ringing. This indicates the casual way in which this programme is organised and there is much to be said for a properly vetted recorded programme in place of or to augment the live broadcast.
It was a joy to listen to St. Donard's, Belfast. Credit is due to the ringers for their excellent striking, the founders for a lovely ring of bells and the local sound engincers for so successfully reproducing the pleasant combination. Well done. Ireland. Thanks, also. on all the other ringers whose efforts produced all enjoyable programme for us.-Yours, etc.

TALGARTH HEARI TWICE

Dear Sir, - Your readers may have heen surprised to hear only six bells being rung at Warcham on the B.B.C. programme on Christmas morning.
In fact, Wareham bells were not broadcast at all, and Talgarth was on the air twice. We were ringing some very nice Grandsire Triples ind it was not until we stopped ringing at 9.30 a.m. that we discovered what had haopened.-Yours sincerely,

CHRISTOPHER T. BROWN

Dear Sir,-I hope my beginners will not get a false impression of the standard required as a result of listening to some of the Christmas hroadcast.-Yours faithfully

Tips For Beginners - 2
If you hare difficulty in hearing your bell amongst the others you can help to rrain yourself by noticing when a bell strikes in relation to your pull when ringing it singly. Persuade the captain to let you ring the five-minute bell to enable youl to practise this.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at St. Mark's, Swindon. instead of Christ Church, where the bells are still out of use due to repairs to the spire.

After 27 years as secretary, Mr. W. B. Kvnaston retired and was warmly thanked for his services to the Branch. Although working away from Swindon for much of the time, the Branch hopes to see him often at the monthly meetings.
Officers elected were: Dr. H. Craig, chairman: Mr. R. Luten, secretary: Mr. V. Griffin, representative on Management Committee : and Mr. W. H. Trueman, Ringing Master.
During the next quarter, meetings will be held at Purton, Rodbourne Cheney and Siratton St. Margaret.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Rochester District

Some 60 -odd members of the Rochester District attended a by-meeting at St. Mary's Pirish Church. Newington, on December 12th. A short ringers' service was held, conducted by the Rev. J. E. Holland. Vicar of Newington. Tea was partaken in the School, kindly given by the local ringers. There being no business, the Vicar welcomed the Association to Newirgton, and Mr. A. Dunk. on hehalf of all present, moved a vote of thanks in the Vicar, also to the local ringers and ladies of Newington for giving the tea and making the meeting a success.

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE - No. 2

MR. F. SHARPE

(President of the Central Council)

Mr. Frederick Sharpe is one of the greatest living authoritics on hells and in recognition of his abilities he was clected a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries in 1953. This unique distinction will undoubtedly strengthen his hands in the discharge of his duties as President of the Central Council, and, through him, the prestige of the Council will be enhanced.

He learned to ring at Launton under the supervision of Mr . Richard Castle and rang his first peal at Bicester in 1922. He struck up a friendship with Richard White, of Appleton, in 1925, and, from him, acquired a vast amount of practical knowledge of bells and bellhanging. He is not a prolific peal ringer, having rung about 30 peals ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Stedman Caters. He is adept at ringing two tower bells and has taken part in many quarter peals in this way, also at rising and falling double-ltanded.

AS AN AUTHOR

He collaborated with the late H. B. Walters, the well-known author of many books on bells, and has since published several of his own, including 'The Church Bells of the Rural Deanery of Bicester,' 'Church Bells of Berkshire.' 'Church Bells of Radnorshire' and Church Bells of Oxfordshire:

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Chapel Allerton, Lceds, have rung their first quarter by a local band. It included three first quarters.

Will Mr. H. Jones, who sent Mr. Jeater a cheque for $£ 18 \mathrm{~s}$. drawn on the Midland Bank, Cleckheaton, please forward his address, as he failed to fill up the subscription form.
The date of the West Lindsey Branch meeting is January 16 th. To those who went to Gainsborough last Saturday the hon. secretary and 'The Ringing World 'tender apologies.

Where a handbell, wanted for an important concert in America, cracked just before the great day, the director of the choir sent the bell by air mail to the Whitechapel Foundry and had it back inside a week. reports ' Over tones,' the journal of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers.
Corrections.-The peal of Minor rung at East Woodhay, Hants, was on November 27 th and not November 20th, as printed. The Deal of Bob Major at Aldermaston was rung on October 24th and not September 24th. Will conductors please submit peals early to avoid errors in dates.

He has served the Oxford Diocesan Guild with distinction. Joining in 1920, he became a member of the committee in 1922, hon. secretary of the Bicester Deanery in 1928. and Deputy Master in 1951, which office he still holds.

He was elected an honorary member of the Central Council in 1939, and in 1946 was made a member of the Towers and Belfries Committee, becoming convener in 1952. He has visited, reported and advised on on hundreds of towers all over the country and his services as a lecturer on all branches of the art have been in great demand. In 1954 he was elected to the important office of honorary librarian to the Central Council, and relinquished this office on being elected President of the Council three years ago.

Mr. Sharpe is 54 years of age. He married, in 1935, Miss E. J. M. Evans, of Trenewydd, and has one daughter, Elizaheth. He is a builder by profession.

Won St. Paul's Bells By A Game Of Dice

The bells of old St. Paul's, London. were once put up as a prize in a game of dice. They were won by Sir Gerald Parfridge; but his success was hardly to be envied, for the loser was Henry VIII, and Sir Giles was executed a short time later-the penalty (it was said) for earning the monarch's displeasure.

WOOLTON YOUNGSTERS IN

 THE NEWSMr. E. L. Humphriss has a very promising hand of teenage ringers at St. Peter's Church. Woolton. They provided a well-illustrated feature article for 'The Liverpool Echo and Evening Express. On Christmas Eve they made their traditional round of the district, ringing carols on handbells. "The Liverpool Weekly News, also had individual pictures of five of the band in action, headed: "These are people who really enjoy the art of camnanology.'

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD

Despite rainy weather, 20 members and visitors from Bushey, Southampion, Reading Newhury. Thatcham and Bucklebury attended the Andover quarterly mecting held at Woolton Hill, which tower has a light six, on December 19th. A special feature was the carol service during which the carol 'Ding, dong, merrily on high' was sung by the Andover quartet.

Mr. A. W. Alleston presided at the business meeting, when the branch annual meeting was fixed for Andover on January 23 rd, and the next quarterly meeting on April 2nd at Abbot's Ann, with Amport and Thraxton. In the evening ringing took place at Highclere. and included touches of Double Norwich Court Bob Major and Cambridge Surnrise Major.

A RINGER'S RHYME

The Birmingham Post,' in its issue of Nov. 28 th , features an article by C. V. Hancock on - Ringers' Rhymes, and History in the Belfry. The article quotes a notice in the belfry of Salford Priors Church. Warwickshire, referring probably to the tenor:-

Oft as this Bell with Solemn Toll
Speaks the Departure of a Soul.
Nor would the thought Distressing be
If next it were to Toll for Me.
At the meeting of the South Forest Branch (page 13) Mr. L. H. Jones was re-elected Ringing Master and not Mr. R. Thomas as appeared in the report.

LETTERS TO

THE FIRST PEAL IN AMERICA
Dear Sir, - In Mr. Ogden's interesting article on Lancashire handbell ringers of the mid-19th century, he quotes from Mr. Scott Parry's book, 'The Story of Handbells,' that Ringers remained in the States long enough, however, to ring the first successful peal in this country (U.S.A.) on Sunday, June 9th, 1850, on the ring of eight bells at Christ Church, Philadelphia.'
I have not yet read Mr. Parry's book and so am not sure whether he himself implies that the peal band was drawn from the party Barnum took from Lancashire in 1847, or whether it is Mr. Ogden who has assumed this to be so. In fact, the band was composed of five London ringers, three English residents of Philadelphia, 'an American being engaged to manipulate the tenor.' (The method was Grandsire Triples, Holt's Ten-Part, in 3 hours and 15 minutes.) In 'The History and Art of Change Ringing. Mr. Ernest Morris lists the band, showing two men on the tenor, and this is no doubt correct.
How the five London ringers came to be in America is related at some length in 'The Bell News of January 13th, 1900 , wherein appeared an article in support of an appeal on behalf of James Hewett, of Gosport, whose composition of the extent of Grandsire Caters, it may be remembered, was published in these columns a year ago. Briefly, the story is that in 1850 P. T. Barnum applicd to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank to supply him with a party of handbell ringers for a tour of the United States. The firm referred him to the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, who selected five men, the best known of whom was Henry W. Haley, who was subsequently to call the peal. (Like his contemporary and rival, John Cox, Haley was at other times a College Youth; it can fairly be said that one Society could not contain both at once.)
Their engagement was for 12 months, and after a successful time in New York they moved on to Philadelphia, where their stay was cut short by the arrival of the famous singer, Jenny Lind. Later the party visited 'most of the principal towns in the United states.'
To revert to the 'Lancashire Handbell Ringers,' their activities were not confined to America. In 'A Great Adventure,' his account of the tour of Australia in 1934-35, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith quoted some extracts from a manuscript notebook written by William Shenton, an Englishman who had settled in the 1850's. One of them is as follows:At that time, 1863, the American Civil War was raging, and all the cotton crops were destroyed. This caused a great amount of distress in the cotton spinning districts of Lancashire, and George Coppin brought out the "Lancashire Handbell Ringers" as a speculation. Among that band of eight men there were at least two capable change ringers and we had them among us occasionally; With their assistance we used to run through a six-score of Doubles easily. On September 11th. 1863. the following appeared in "The Age " newspaper:-
"Yesterday the Lancashire Handbell Ringers, assisted by the ringers of St. James' (then the Cathedral at Melbourne) rang on the bells of that church several peals in the Grandsire method in the art of change ringing, being the greatest achievement ever accomplished in any of the Australian Colonies. The ringers were: E Norman, treble; Wm. Christfield 2: J Whittaker 3; Peter Mills 4: Wm. Shenton 5 ; T. Davis, tenor. Conducted by Wm. Christfield."

THE EDITOR

Probably those who went to Australia were a different band from the American party of 1844 and 1847 , but it is interesting to see that the name still survived 16 years later.-Yours sincerely,

'SWISS BELL RINGERS ${ }^{*}$

Dear Sir.-I was most interested in the article by T. Ogden in your issue of December 11 th re 'Swiss Bell Ringers.'

Recently I read a book by Arthur Meeken - Far-away Music '). This tells about family life in America in the mid 19th century, and mentions a band of 'Swiss Bell Ringers; but does not state where they were ringing. At the time of reading this I thought that it might be a band using cow hells-I never even thought that they might be real handbell ringers!

As a matter of interest. we have, at Christ Church, Crewe, a set of 37 handbells. These have recently been reconditioned by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. (Loughborough), who have made a most excellent job of them. We are now trying to make up a good band of youngsters to ring tunes on these bells. and with some success. I am glad to say!-Yours faithfully.

CALL CHANGF, RINGER'S REQUEST

Dear Sir,-I wonder if "The Ringing World could be made a little more interesting to service call change ringers. It would improve the sales, as it is not every ringer who can grasp method ringing. Except for two or three, we have never had in our tower in the last 50 years any ringers other than those who ring call changes and as far as I can see it will continue the same.

We have ten members in our band and I take "The Ringing World ' to the tower, but they are not interested. "Nothing for us, they say, and one lady member's comment was There is not even a children's corner.'
I first took "The Ringing World ' in 1913 but I have had breaks through the same thing For years now it has been in my door at ? a.m. every Friday and it would be nice to have a few more articles in common. 1 guess there are many more towers of the same mind.

Wishing you better luck in the New Year.Yours faithfully,

REG E. PELLETT.

PRICE INCREASES-A POINTER
Dear Sir.-A lad who has just rung his first quarter peal and is a subscriber to "The Ringing World is conducting an active campaign in our belfry for more readers of . The Ringing World' and we hope shortly to have at least two more subscribers.

For my part I would like to point out to those who object to the price increase that before the war the magazine cost $4 d$. Prices generally have more than trebled. so that for 8d. we are still doing very nicely. Even national dailies with their vastly increased advertising revenue stand at $2 \frac{1}{2} d$. compared with 1d. pre-war.

WILIIAM PARROTT.

Epsom.
Dear Sir,-I have followed with interest the question of the increased price in the cost of our 'Ringing World.' particularly as I am one of those who, having retired from the business world, is obliged to live on a fixed income, which becomes relatively smaller as the price of commodities increases.
To me, the position is crystal clear, as it would indeed be hard to find another journal which could afford to devote approximately one-third of its available printing space to completely unremunerative matter, because that is, in fact, what it amounts to-six or seven pages filled with peals and quarters, which hring in, at the best, a few miserable shillings from the very few who bother to send in any contribution whatever, but which is. nevertheless. 'Gratefully Acknowledged.'
It would only be a matter of common sense, as well as fair play to the vast majority of vour readers. to impose a small charge on the publication of peals and quarters; and if this was done (as has already been urged) at the rate of 1 s , per rope for peals, and $6 d$. Der rope for quarters, it would probably solve the problem for years to come.

The leader in the recent issue makes the plea 'Think of something big, somebody,' and the above solution is, to me, and to the great majority of your readers, the only sensitle one, and is only fair play.-Yours. etc..

FIRST HANDBELL PEAL FOR LINCOLN GUILD

Dear Sir, - I was interested in Mr. Lunn's letter in which he gave details of a peal of Grandsire Triples rung 'in hand, 50 years ago for the Lincoln Guild. It was not, however, the first handbell peal rung for the Lincoln Guild, as he states. But it was the first handbell peal rung in Lincolnshire. The first handbell peal for the Guild was rung at Bolsover. Derbyshire. The details are as follows:--

CAMBRIIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILDS PEALS FOR 1958

Dear Sir, I note from the Summary of Analysis of Peals for 1958. published in "The Ringing World' of December 11th, that only one peal of Major 'in hand' has been credited to the Cambridge University Guild. whercas at least two were rung-Plain Boh on May 16 th ( Ringing World. May 30 th) and 13 Spliced Plain methods on November 28th ("Ringing World.' December 19th).
Micht I suggest that the Guild librarian checks his records with those of the Peals Analysis Committee to correct this inistake.Yours faithfully.

FOR THE LAST WORD IN ROPE-HANDLING YOU MUST HAVE

CREDITING PEALS TO ASSOCIATIONS

Dear Sir,-I do not intend to comment directly on the Collingbourne Kingston incident, because I know nothing of the people or circumstances involved. Mr. West's letter does, however, raise a point which has appeared in various forms recently, upon which I hold strong views. with which I'm sure some will disagree but which are genuinely held, nevertheless.
It seems to me that there are several very good reasons why a peal should be credited to a Guild different from the one of which the local company usually become members. In my view the peal should attach itself to the Guild whose members rang it, not to the Guild in whose 'district' it is rung. If this were not so, no non-territorial Guild such as the Universities Association or Police Guild would ever be able to ring a peal, for, whereever they went, they would still be ringing in a tower in a locality where some other Guild normally practises. Similarly, the College Youths, Cumberlands and various University Guilds would be tied down to a mere handful of towers. But it goes further than this.

If 12 ringers who regularly, week by week, plied their art in Lancashire towers and were members of the Lancashire Association, were to ring, say. a peal of Plain Bob Maximus at St. Peter Mancroft, how in all conscience could the Norwich Diocesan Guild claim to have rung that peal, even if the 12 Lancastrians were 'out-county" members of that Guild? Not a solitary Norfolk man would have turned even a single bell! To claim the peal as a performance of the Norwich Diocesan Association would, to my mind, be a flagrant misuse of the systen of 'out-county' membership. which was surely designed to cover the case of the odd visitor who rang with a local company. (I hasten to add, in case of misunderstanding, that I am on very good terms with the Norfolk men. and use this purely as example.) There scems to have grown up a curious idea that we ring peals for Associations. Surely it has been pointed out by very many Masters at ringers' dinners to the point of cliché (and with apparent agreement) that we ring bells (and peals) to the greater glory of God for His Church, the bells are rung by Guilds.
Nor is this just an academic point with little practical importance. for this current practice has had unfortunate results. Many consider it courteous to credit peals rung in another Guild's territory to that Guild visited. but, in fact, it can turn out to be quite the reverse of courteous, though few local men would complain, if only to preserve the traditional hospitality to visitors. In not a few cases local men have been prevented from ringing the first peal of some method or other in their own Guild's annals because some visiting band has already done it for them. It may be that Guild $A$ is strong and has some quite advanced members, whilst their neighbours. Guild B. consider themselves fortunate if they can master one or two standard methods. If. then. a band of Guild A men take advantage fof their out-county membership of Guild B, and ring a peal of London Surprise Major on Guild B's territory and claim it as Guild B's first. the local men are for ever harred from ringing thei- own first peal of London. I could quote a number of concrete examples of this, kind of thing happening, but I won't. because i hold no antagonism to the bands concerned. nor do I wish to give any impression of inhospitality. I merely state that in my example it would be happier if the peal were credited to the visiting Association (Ouild A). Io difficulties but I mixed bands can give rise be credited to the Guild which supplies the predominance of practical men on the ropes. In, however, the peal lours which have now become very much part of ringing activity, it must frequently happen that the band on the ropes possesses an impossible collection of allegiances. I don't think it is any solution to say that such a peal should be entered in the peal book of the local tower Guild. Would it not be much more sensible to call it a Non-Association peal? For that is exactly what it is no particular Guild can claim that its indigenous members bave rung it.
In the end each case must, of course, be decided on its own merits, because one always comes across a state of affairs that does not fit anybody's rigid ideas, but I think that if peals were claimed as the performance of any particular Guild in the manner I have tried to indicate. thes unhappy arguments about avoiding peal fees, or accusations of bad manners and so on. would disappear. Yours sincerely,

PHILIP J. H. HUDSON.

THE PEAL AT COLLINGBOURNE KINGSTON

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. W. C. West regarding a peal rung on a recent Sunday at Collingbourne Kingston, Wilts. by members of the Oxford Guild. Yes, we were all aware that this fine, good-going ring of six is in the Diocese of Salisbury, and the tower affiliated to that Guild. Personally, I think all neals should be rung for the Guild or Association to which the tower is affiliated. but there could be arguments against by visiting hands.

A few years ago I took part in a peal for the Salisbury Guild at a tower situated right in the cenire of Oxford. Probably more rank bad manners,' but nothing was said ahout this.

PRINCIPLE SHOULI) BE IDECIDED

Dear Sir ,-One can in some ways sympathise with Mr. W. C. West over the peal at Collingbourne Kingston. He gets very few Deals to write in his Guild's book (19 in 1958), and no doubt one of three Surprise Minor methods appeals to him.
However, is it not time the Exercise decided upon a principle for such peals? As far as I can see, and for five years I was resident in the same branch of the Salisbury Guild as Callingbourne. none of the members of the band are resident members of the Salisbury Guild. Therefore they had no reason to ring a peal for this Guild. and, being Oxford Guild members. decided to ring their neal for that Guild, irrespective of venue. Surely this is only common sense. and I can determine no bad manners whatsoever in their performance. Yours sincerely.
P. J. JOHNSTON.

THOUGHT PROVOKING

Dear Sir,-If my memory serves me well, on the last occasion I wrote to you I was in conflict with a member of the Council Council and you 'lost' my last letter; it was very short, I'll admit. He had the last word, iclling me that "if I wasn't there I had no right to criticise,' I have, of course. since then been there' and met many C.C. rineers, all jolly nice people. and I now know why the College of Campanology was not acceptable. I thought at the time how helpful it would be to people like myself, in interesting young people in their aim to ring well. Easily half the Central Council I met have need of the College. Their striking was, in say the best of it, just bad; their bell handling no better.
In the matter of "The Ringing World, it is undignified to see such squabbling over who should pay. I am not a peal ringer, hut peals must go in, though they waste an awful lot of space. I do not think peal ringers should pay extra; peal ringers are already milched in some towers, and where the hells are not so good. If 'not so good' covers one after another peal being 'stood up,' and if 'milched'. covers a few shillings 10 join an Association, and another few shillings for the privilege of ringing in that particular tower, peal ringers pay more than enough. in fact. if they will only get together and pay nothing to anybody. there would be more good peals rung and fewer 'stick it for the sake of sending it up' peals. I think ever so many peals are published because the ringers feel they must subscribe to these funds.
In the matter of 'The Ringing World. finance: The paper belongs to the Central Council. I fear that if they hang on to it, ringers will get what it is now expected the C.C. always gives ringers. Ringers in the past have been most generous. Why not the C.C.? Call for a board of governors or quarantors to subscribe a guinea or a couple of guineas. 500 or 1,000 ringers to guarantee their paper, not the Central Council's paper.
Some years ago I wrote to you re correspondenti, and within weeks the request to appoint correspondents was hefore the branch as coming from the secretary. I was sorry ahout that hecause the idea was spoiled. Correspondents should have been accepred by invitation, and assisted in what is interesting and what is not of general interest. For example, some people know how to raise money, that would interest all of us at some time or another, and reports on work done everywhere, honest reports. would help us to spend it wisely. Work in progress reports would be of interest. Tours and outings would interest only if they have a background of gencral interest. historical or geographical perhaps.

May I close, sir, by wishing you a very happy and prosperous New Year. and by wishing (that having now taken to heart that I should be there before criticising) many members of the Central Council will profit by reading somebody's handbook on how to handle bells. real bells, not tiddlers. With compliments.-Yours very faithfully,

LaUNTON HANDBELL RINGERS

FOUNDED by Mr. Frederick Sharpe, the Handbell Ringers of St. Mary's, Launton, are known to many ringers, as they have given recitals all over England and Wales. This Christmas season they have given 21. They have also given performances in the Cathedrals of Gloucester, Peterborough, St. Albans and Oxford during the past year.

Our photograph, taken outside of Derwen, Launton, Mr. Sharpe's residence, just before a B.B.C. recording on Wednesday week, shows, left to right: Hardiman Scolt (B.B.C. interviewer), Stephanie Gilpin, Fiona Sherwood, Evelyn Sayer, Elizabeth Sharpe, the Rev. C. P. Sherwood, Patricia Steeples, Peter Allen and Frederick Sharpe, with Mrs. Sharpe in the background.

The recording was broadcast in "The Eye Witness, programme of the B.B.C. on Saturday, December 19th. The first two minutes described how handbells were used, the team and its activities. The next three minutes wer occupied with an interview with Mr. Sharpe, in which he described the bells, their age, origin, founders and history. He mentioned that many had been horse and house bells in the 17 th and 181 h centuries. The interview ended with the team playing ' It came upon a midnight clear.

The recording was also used in all 'Overseas Newsreels during the Christmas season. Some five carols were recorded.

OBITUARY

MR. H. E. TAILOR

A founder member of the V.W.H. Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. Mr. H. E. Taylor, of Gainsfield, Buckland, Berks, died after a long and painful illness on December 182h. aged 74. He was a member of the Faringdon band for very many years.

The funeral service at Littleworth Church was held on December 21 st , at which representatives of the .V.W.H. Branch acted as bearers. Handbells were rung at the graveside. Among those present were the Rev. L. Street (Branch chairman), Mr. R. F. J. Gilling (hon. secretary), Miss M. R. Cross (general secretary of the Guild).
A quarter peal of 1,260 Grandsire Doubles with $4.6,8$ covering was rung at Faringdon the same evening by J. Strawford (Faringdon) 1. M. Edney (Hinton Waldrist) 2. E. Caple (Marcham) 3, J. Hunt (Buckland) 4, F. Whipp (Faringdon) 5. D. Vincent (Faringdon) 6, C. I. J. Pearce (conductor, Faringdon) 7, C. Timms (Stanford) 8.

Another quarter peal to his memory was rung at Buckland on December 23 rd by C . Timms 1, M. Edney 2, J. Strawford 3, J. Hunt 4, C. I. J. Pearce (conductor) 5, J. Moore 6, D. Vincent 7, M. Willis 8.

MR. J. E. PROCTER

Another of the band which made ringing history at Pudsey in the early part of this century has passed away in the person of John Ernest Procter, who was laid to rest on Christmas Eve. He was 76 years of age and a life member of the Yorkshire Association.
Ernest Procter was one of those who, under the leadership of the late Pratt Cordingley, determined to break away from the traditional Treble Bob of the West Riding, set their ambitions high. Those ambitions were realised when they had rung peals of Cambridge, Superlative and London Surprise Major.
Ernest was a sound, reliable ringer and an excellent striker, capable either at the light or heavy end, with a style that was a joy 10 watch. In his dress he was most immaculate; he always came into the belfry looking as if he had just stepped out of a bandbox, and his rope splicing was as neat as his appearance. He was by no means a prolifis peal ringer, in fact he rang only 19 peals, but that modest total includes London, Bristol. Superlative, Cambridge and Pudsey Surprise Major. After 57 years of prompt and regular service in the belfry his practical ringing came to an end two and a half years ago, but he retained his interest to the last by listening to the bells each Sunday.

And so another link with the past is broken. Another of the old band has gone. But the memory of Ernest Procter, a staunch and willing colleague, will remain. The bells of Pudsey Parish Church were rung fully mufiled as a token of the sadness which is felt at his passing.
W. B.

RINGING THE OLD YEAR OUT AND -

(College of Campanology Paper-No. 2/59)
Not every incumbent and band of ringers approve of muffled ringing before midnight on these occasions: but where this is in favour they have not always the necessary muffles. Again. quite often the lay-out of the bells in their frame is such that the removal of the mulfles from bells in the raised position would be uttended by risk of accident.
A suitable contrasting effect of before and after midnight ringing can be achieved otherwise. however, by 'selective rings, as indicated below. The notes of the bells in the rings are given in sol-fa notation. The bells selected for pre-midnight ringing provide the effect of music in a minor key, and are indicated by their sequence numbers below the sol-fa line. For comparison, the normal numbering of the full ring is given above the sol-fa line.

The principles observed in the selective rings for the pre-midnight ringing are
(a) The normal tenor is omitted, but the bell next above it is always included and is always rung as the tenor to cover: in other words it is not turned in.
(b) The selected bells are rung as slowly as is compatible with good striking.
(c) The changes are rung in whole pulls.

In five-bell towers, 'Singles, rung with 4th covering are advised. In six-bell towers Plain Bob Minimus with 5th covering. In eight-ten- and twelve-bell towers an odd-bell method, preferably Stedman, with the last bell covering. is advised.
For the after-midnight ringing the whols ring, or as many of the 'back' bells as can be manned, are employed and tapped rounc at their best pace.

This article was intended for publication in time for the recent New Year ringing. but missed the post. It is published as of possible use on future occasions.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

On November 28th. after a period of 13 years. the Southern branch held a meeting at Quidenham. The rector. Rev. W. M. Harper-Mitchell. who warmly welcomed the Branch. conducted the service and gave an interesting address.
Dr. P. H. A. Jonason. Branch chairman. presided over the meeting, supported by the president. Mr. Nolan Golden, and the general secretary, Mr. W. Love. Among items the meeting discussed were the forthcoming increase in the price of "The Ringing World and the recent rehanging of Attleborough bells. where the circle is still said to be rather poor.

The annual meeting of the Branch will be at Diss on February 6th. where the special method will be Yorkshire Surprise Major. The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Rector, Mr. Burrows (the organist) and the ladies who kindly served the tea.

STEDMAN FOR BEGINNERS

3. STEDMAN TRIPLES

In a plain course of Stedman Triples the only additional work to be learnt is that after the double dodge in $4-5$ up. you have to dodge twice in 6-7 up, lie a whole pull behind and then dodge twice in 6-7 down, before going on to dodge twice in $4-5$ down. You do this double dodging in 4-5 and 6-7 up and then in 6-7 and 4-5 down between your Quick and Slow work. and again between your Slow and Quick work.

So long as you only ring a plain course, therefore, the only difficulty you will find in progressing from Doubles to Triples is that of sceing the additional ropes and finding your way among them. If you have already reached the Grandsire Triples stage then this should be easy.

But if you want to ring more than a plain course you will have to cope with bobs and singles and, what is often a cause of difficulty, you must forget for the time being what you learnt about the single in Stedman Doubles.
In Triples, the calls are made at the changeover from one six to another and they are made by the back three bells. The four bells nearer the front, i.e: the one leaving the front work, the one entering it and the two that are remaining there, are completely unaffected. At a hob the bell which was dodging in 4-5 up makes fifths place at the six end and then dodges twice in 4.5 down before going in to the front work again. What it really does is to ring Stedman Doubles (i.e.. $4-5$ up twice, lie whole pull in fifths, 4-5 down twice and in the front the opposite way to which it came out).

3241576
2345167
2431576
Because this bell-which is said to make the bob-makes fifths place. the bell which would have left 6-7 and gone into $4-5$ has perforce to stay in 6-7 for another whole six and it has three additional dodges with the bell which had just dodged twice in 6-7 up. If there is no call at the next six end. this bell proceeds from 6-7 down to 4-5 down and thence. after its double dodge. into the front work. But as it was delayed up at the back for one whole additional six it will reach the front a six later and will go into the front work the same way as it had previously come out. It will have been away from the front for an uneven number of sixes, and thus for it the regular alternation of Quick and Slow work will have been upset.
Similarly the bell which stayed in 6-7 up for an extra three dodges will make sevenths place at the six end. dodge twice in $6-7$ down and then proceed to $4-5$ and thence after its double dodge go into the front work. As it also was delayed a whole additional six at the back it too will go in to the front the same way as it had previously come out.
But as it is possible to call a bob at any of the six ends. it may well be that a bob will also be called at the next six end. This will cause the new bell which was in 4-5 up to make the bob (fifths place) then double-dodge in $4-5$ down and go in the front. as in a plain course of Stedman Doubles. The two bells which had just finished the three additional dodges entailed by the previous bob will do 4 three more before proceeding one of them to $4-5$ down and the other to lie behind and then dodge in 6-7 down. The result of these two consecutive bobs is that the two bells behind will each have been delayed for two additional sixes. This will not affect the regular alternation of the Quick and Slow work. and they will proceed to go in either Quick or Slow just as if no bobs had been called.

Very often touches and peals of Stedman are lost because the man ringing the bell coming down from the back to go into the front work does not know whether he should go in Quick or Slow. We must look further into this so as to get all the help we can. We ought always to rely as much as possible on ourselves and not on what the other bells are doingthey may be themselves in doubt and relying on us. So it is most important to know ourselves, from our own work, which way we are to enter the front work. If we remember that we came out of the front work a Quick bell, then we know that if no bobs are called we shall enter the front work again a Slow belland vice versa. And if while we are in 6-7 any bobs are called we must count them. If there are an even number the regular alternation of Quick and Slow work is not affected, so out Quick is followed by in Slow-and vice versa. If. however, an odd number of bobs is called. then the regular alternation will be upset (so far as our work is concerned) and out Quick will be followed by in Quick, and out Slow by in Slow.
But we are all fallible people and cannot always trust our memories. There may well. in Triples. be four or six or even more bobs called while we are in the 6-7 up or down positions. nr both of them. and unless we are also conductors knowing the composition we can easily lose count. So we must look for other guides to rell us which way to go in.
If you are dodging in 6-7 down. glance at the bells in the front, and notice how they are leading. If their whole pulls on the lead are at hand and back stroke, then that is a Quick six. The next six. while you are in 4-5 down, will be a Slow six and you will then go in Quick. Conversely, if the whole pulls on the front are at back and hand stroke. then that is a Slow six and as you will enter the front work two sixes later you will go in Slow.
If you are unable while in 6-7 down to notice the method of leading, apply the same process while you are in 4-5 down. If the three bells on the front are ringing a Quick six (i.e. leading hand and back) then you go in Slow. And vice versa.
Another help is to keep an eye on the bell which was dodging 6-7 down with you when you were $6-7 \mathrm{up}$. It will do its $4-5$ down dodging while you are in 6-7 down. It will enter the front while you are in $4-5$ down. If your first blow in fourths at the beginning of the dodging is over that bell, then that bell is making its thirds place, having gone in Slow, so you will go in Quick. But if your last blow in fourths at the end of the dodging is over that bell it will have been Quick bell. and is on its way out again. You will pass it and go in Slow.

Another point you may find useful is that when you reach $4-5$ down you will dodge with the bell that has just left the front. If you saw that it had come out Quick. you will know that you will go in Quick. If you saw it making thirds place as it came out Slow you will, after the dodge. go in Slow.

THE EXTENT OF MAJOR

By J. SEGAR
The Central Council has made some rules about attempts for record lengths, as Mr. W. G. Wilson reminded us recently. One is that the composition must be published in 'The Ringing World.' If interested, we can prove it and consider if it would be our choice for a similar attempt.
Some readers may think a composition of 40.320 changes takes a long time to put together. We require 120 courses for the extent with the tenor together 13.440 changes, which is the basis for the extent with the tenors parted. If the peal is in 12 parts there will be ten courses in a part. A table with three noughts and two crosses in each row has ten rows. The noughts represent six changes in 234 and the crosses two changes in 56.

When using the table for Plain Bob the boh scales are W 52436. M 43652 and H 42356. The single scales are W 53426. M 63452 and H 24356. Fill in the column for bobs at $W$ and check for errors. 1 goes to 2, 2 goes to $X$ and $X$ goes back to 1 . Other sets of three are 475 and back to 4 and 698 . This accounts for nine rows and the odd one is 3 which remains 3 at a hoh. Other columns are tested in the same way.

|  |  | Bobs |  |  | Singles |  |  |
| :--- | :--- | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  |  | W | M | H | W | M | H |
| 1 | XOOOX | 2 | 3 | 2 | X | 1 | 1 |
| 2 | OXOOX | X | 8 | 3 | 2 | 7 | 3 |
| 3 | OOXOX | 3 | 9 | 1 | 3 | 9 | 2 |
| 4 | XOOXO | 7 | X | 3 | 4 | X | 4 |

| 9 | XOXOO | 8 | 1 | 7 | 6 | 3 | 7 |
| OOOXX | 1 | 6 | X | 1 | 4 | X |  |

Here is a simple arrangement of the skelctons using calls at Wrong and Middle only.

W M It is true and complete and starts from and finishes with row $X$. The next step is to fill in the figures because the first part-end must not be rounds. In some cases, without disturbing the figures, we can choose between a bob or a single: in others between a plain and a singlc. Our first part-end must be one which will eventually bring up all the others, not necessarily in this order: 34265, 42356. 23465. 34256, 42365. 43256. 32465. 24355, 43265. $32456,24365,23456$.
A column for Befores is not included above because they cannot be used in an extent, but readers can add this column when composing or proving peals of normal length.
In 'The Ringing World.' November 6th. Mr. Shepherd's article has a twelve-part peal which can be proved by my table.
Here is a little homework. Suppose you have to conduct a peal which will take 20 hours to ring, giving plenty of time to forget how far you have got. What calls, within the limits imposed by the skeletons printed above, do you think are the easiest?
More homework. Find a similar set of skeictons for Double Norwich, with calls at 1 and 4 only.

DEDICATION

BABWORTH, NOTTS

On St. Stephen's Day the first peal was rung on the new bells at Babworth, Notts. This ring of six by Taylor and Co. were dedicated only four days previously, on December 22nd, by the Lord Bishop of Southwell (Dr. Russell Barry).

The three original bells at Babworth, which were cast by Samuel Smith of York in 1691, had become unringable, and Mr. R. M. Wood, the people's warden, organised an appeal for the restoration of these bells. Three new bells were given by Mr. J. P. Ellis, the General Society of Mayflower Descendants and the Barron Bell Trust, while the original three bells have been taken down and recast. The six bells, now mounted in a metal frame, provide a delightful ring and further add to the ringing amenities of the borough of Retford.

Ringers in the town and surrounding district can now ring on four nights of the week, and Wednesday has been chosen for Babworth practice night. At the moment Babworth has only a small band, the members of which are already making good progress as they have been learning for the past six months at nearby West Retford

THE BELLS
The weights and inscriptions of the bells are as follows:-

Treble ( 3 cwt .).-John Taylor & Co., Founders, Loughborough. Christian, thy call ring clear to serve our God, whence came with gladsome grace and voice Edith Pickwell Ellis. beloved wife of Percy. He hath put a new song in my mouth. 1959.
Second ( 3 cwt . 1 qr. 6 lb ).-John Taylor & Co., Founders. Loughborough, 1959. To the glory of God and in memory of Richard Clyfton, 1586 1605. 'A grave and revered preacher ' (William Bradford).

Third (4 cwt. 6 lb .). -John Taylor & Co. Founders, Loughborough. To the glory of God this bell was given by the Barron Bell Trust Emma Barron. Founder. H. W. Eldred, K. C Walrond. E. R. Pennell, Trustees. 1959.

Fourth ( 4 cwt 1 qr .6 lb .).-Venite Exvltemvs Domino 1691. SS Ebor (Taylor Shield). Recast 1959.

Fifth ( 6 cwt .23 lb .).-Gloria in altissimis Deo 1691. SS Ebor
Tenor (7 cwt. 1 qr. 14 lb .)- In ivcunditate soni sonabo tibi Domine 1691. SS Ehor.

THE DEDICATION

During the dedication service the Babworth ringers were all singing in the choir and the bells were rung by representatives of the North Notts District from the towers of East and West Retford, Ordsall and North Wheatley.
In his address the Bishop expressed his admiration for the magnificent effort made by the parish in raising the money necessary to install the ring, and pointed out how fitting it was that the work should be completed just before the great festival of Christmas-a festival more associated with bells than any other. He recalled that it was exactly 14 years since he had dedicated a ring of six for the Rector's father at Ramoton, and it was therefore appropriate that the Rector's father was acting as his chaplain at the dedication of bells for his son's parish.
After the dedication ringers from various towers kept the bells ringing in a variety of methods until 9 p.m.
The first peal on the hells was rung oni Boxing Day. conducted hy Mr. Richard Hobbs. The bells will he available from 2 to 4 p.m. on January 9th-the day of the annual general meeting of the North Notts District.

The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and edilor until his death in 1942.

200 YEARS ON

ON January 1st, at the Bull's Head Hotel, Shelthorpe, a dinner was given to the employees of John Taylor and Co., to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the baptism of the first of the long line of Taylors to cast bells. Robert Taylor, who was born in 1759 at Riseley. Bedfordshire. was the son of William Taylor, the village grocer. He was apprenticed to Edward Arnold, a bellfounder at St. Neots, and in 1784 was in charge of the foundry when Arnold went to Leicester. At the age of 27 he cast his first complete ring of five bells for Bletsoe Church, Bedfordshire. In 1821 he started a bell foundry at Oxford, and the tenor bell of the three at Foston, Lincs, has on it 'Taylor and Sons. Oxford and St. Neots.' He died and was buried at St. Ebbe's Churchyard, Oxford, in 1830.

His elder son William Taylor, born in 1785, at a very early age began to assist his father. The bells of Newton-in-the-Willows and Braybrooke have inscribed on them ' $W$. Taylor, 1806,' and one can picture the parental affection of a 11 -year-old boy helping to make the moulds and the proud father putting his name on! Significant, perhaps, is the inscription on the five bells at Calverton, Bucks, 'W. and J. Taylor, Oxford, church clock and chime makers.' William died in Oxford in 1854 while working on the chiming machine for Bowdon Church, Cheshire.

John Taylor, the youngest son of Robert, born in 1797, also went into the foundry, and from 1822 onwards bells were inscribed 'W. and J. Taylor. Oxford,' as well as 'R. Taylor and Sons.' He set up his own bell foundry at Buckland Brewer. Devon, in 1825, and there cast the heavy six for Hartland in Devon. He had a pride in his craft. The second of the ring of eight he cast for Penkridge, Staffs, had this inscription:

To speak with mellow tone but ne'er to swear,
John Taylor taught us with a father's care.
Clappers: screws: wheels: and all kept well in place.
Then for an age quite sound this tower we'll grace!'
An important date in the history of the firm is 1839 , for in that year John Taylor came to Loughborough to recast the parish church bells. In Pack Horse Lane he found a convenient centre for his trade, and decided to settle there. In 1842 he cast the first 'Taylor Ten' for Newark Parish Church. He died in 1858.
John William Taylor (1827-1906), the eldest son of John Taylor, at the age of 15 rang in a peal of Grandsire Triples on the third at Loughborough Parish Church. On the death of his father he and his brother Pryce Jemson Jones Taylor (1835-1862) carried on the business, and their bells were mostly inscribed 'John Taylor and Co., Loughborough.' In the year 1858 he began building his bell foundry in Freehold Street and Chapman Street.
There are on record a number of times when he disagreed with the Hon. Edmund Beckett Denison, who was regarded as an eninent authority on bells. In particular.
of bells which was being planned for Worcester Cathedral, for on writing to the Rev. R. Cattley he says, 'I should dread the result at Worcester of such a peal to eclipse all others,' Denison got his own way, and Taylor had to cast the bells to his specification. The resultant ring of bells fully justified John William Taylor's forebodings, but it was left to his son, many years after, to remodel and recast the bells, resulting in the present noble ring.
John William Taylor II. (1853-1919) had the proud dis, tinction of going to London at the age of 25 to receive the order for the largest ring of bells in the world, the 12 bells for St. Paul's Cathedral. Three years later, father and son completed their work there by casting and installing 'Great Paul'- truly a masterpiece of bell founding.
His brother. Edmund Denison Taylor (1864-1947), after being apprenticed to an iron founder in Leicester, was in 1884 in the Loughborough foundry, and was soon busy superintending the casting of bells and bell frames. In 1894 the Rev. A. B. Simpson visited Loughborough and became a constant visitor. The problems of the 'trueharmonic' bell were solved, and in 1896 the first ring of tuned bells ever made was installed in Norton Church.

In 1906 John William Taylor I. died and the foundry was carried on by the two brothers, John William and Edmund Denison. 'Their fame and success increase as the years go by, and they enlarge their scope by turning their attention to the building of carillons. This opened up great possibilities, both in the Old World and the New, and Taylor carillons are to be found spread over the world just as are Taylor peals.'

The third and fourth sons of John William II. enter the scene as they become old enough, namely Pryce Taylor (1891-1927) and Arnold Bradley Taylor (1894-1916), the latter being killed in the Great War. Pryce rejoined his uncle (his father died in 1919), and the business was carried on by the two of them until 1927, when Pryce died while on a business trip to Canada. Mention should be made of Gwendoline Taylor (1894-1942), third daughter of John William II.. who, until her marriage to George Frederick Mears in 1923. assisted her brother and uncle in bell tuning, and the 47 bell war memorial carillon in Loughborough bears witness to her work.
The present head of John Taylor and Co., Paul Lea Taylor, was born in 1914. and started his career as a bellfounder under his uncle. It is to him that we are indebted for the information in this article, which is taken from his booklet, 'Two Hundred Years of History.' Under the heading of 'Paul Lea Taylor' appears this appreciation: 'It is with the wish to do honour to his forbears that he has written these few notes about them and to show that from somewhat small beginnings, where the family of Taylor took control, the business has continued to develop

The Director of Religious Broadcasting (North Region) would like to be informed of special events in the North the hanging of a new ring of bells or the restoration of an old historic ring. Will ringers please communicate with Mr . Norman Chaddock, member of the Central Council Committee for Broadcasting and Television, 17, Herringthorpe Grove, Broom, Rotherham.
The 'Johns' have done it again with a peal at Farnworth, Lancs, on December 27th.

Any claims for the first quarter in 1960? Packworth, Warwickshire, started theirs at $12.20 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on January 1st.
Mr. Brian G. Warwick has rung 500 peals for the Leicester Diocesan Guild.

The peal of Plain Bob Major rung at Sutterton on November 28th, 1959, was a Lincoln Diocesan Guild peal.
Correction to peal rung at Dronfield, Derbys. Page 2, January 1st: The name of the treble ringer is Michel H. Paulson, and not as printed.
The dinner that Rickmansworth ringers are holding on January 30th is arranged for a two-fold purpose-to promote greater fellowship and to provide money to rehang Rickmansworth's ring of 10 .
Roger Overington, son of the Dean's verger at St. Paul's Cathedral, has rung his first quarter peal-at Southwark Cathedral. We shall hear about this from the Provost of Southwark at the next College Youths' dinner.
At Sevenoaks on New Year's Day after the traditional 12 strokes at midnight on the tenor, the bells went off into a course of London Surprise Major. Was this the first course of London in 1960?
By the peal of Stedman Doubles at Wateringbury, Kent, on January 2nd, Arthur G. Mason, Trevor A. Cross, Thomas Cullingworth and George J. Butcher, complete the Stedman family-Doubles to Cinques-in peals. A previous attempt for this peal was lost owing to the treble rope breaking about 48 changes from the finish.

The 720 of Oxford Treble

 Bob was specially included in the peal at St. James',GOSSIP Tong, in memory of George Bolland. This gentleman was quite famous in these parts as a six-bell ringer, and he left a sum of money in trust so that each year, on December 28th. a 720 of Oxford, his favourite method, should be rung. Even the most generous minded person could not describe Tong bells as good, either in tone or 'go,' but they were loved by the old band and over 50 peals have been rung on them.
The peal at Gillingham (see page 18) was rung in 2 hours and 46 minutes, and not as printed.

Mr. Ernest Weatherby, from Los Angeles, writes sending New Year Greetings to ringing friends, and states that he is in good health and is still working.
Melbourne Cathedral rang for New Year's Eve Stedman Caters, Grandsire Caters and Cinques and Double Norwich Court Bob Major, plus the usual methods.
We are sorry to learn that Mr. F. N. Golden, president of the Norwich Diocesan Association, is in Ward 7 of the Norfolk and Norwich Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter King, of Prittlewell. Essex, are leaving on January 16th for two years in Nigeria. A farewell date touch was rung on Prittlewell bells on January 3rd. Bon Voyage and many happy experiences!
A peal attempt in honour of the wedding of Miss Margaret Pitstow. daughter of Mr. and Harold Pitstow, in Rhodesia. was lost at Banstead on Deccmber 12 th after nearly three hours' ringing.
The Rev. E. H. Fenwick is leaving Benfieldside, Co. Durham, this month, after holding the living for 21 years. In 1957 he was instrumental with his ringers in having the bells rehung. At Lapworth the five bells there will present him. with another challenge in that line. His daughter, Angela, has learned to ring and she will doubtless urge him on with the task. Ringers in Co. Durham wish him and his family well in their new home.

A CELEBRATION DINNER

200th Anniversary of Baptism of First Taylor Bellfounder
On New Year's Day, 1760, Robert Taylor was bapised at Riseley, Bedfordshire. He was the first Taylor to become a bellfounder and to mark the 200th anniversary Mr. Paul L. Taylor, the fifth generation of hellfounders and the present head of John Taylor and Co.. gave a dinner to his employees and their ladies at the Bull's Head Hotel, Shelthorpe.

Present with Mr. and Mrs. Taylor on this memorable occasion were their three children, Sarah Margarct, Frances Edith and John William Taylor (IV.). Other members of the family present were Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Dickens (brother-in-law and sister of Mr. P. L. Taylor), Mr. G. F. Mears, Mr. and Mrs. L. Nohre, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Denison Taylor and Miss Rosemary Taylor.
After the toast of 'The Queen' a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by P. L. Taylor, C. Harrison, R. Edwards and H. Marcon. The toast of "The Taylor Family ' was proposed by Mr. John Eccleshall, to which Mr. Taylor replied.

Mr. John Fidler, the toastmaster, read out greetings, cables and telegrams that had been received, including one from the president of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers and also one from Mrs. Scott, sccretary of the Central Council for the Care of Churches.
Apart from the professional entertainment, Mr. Taylor and Mr. Colin Harrison provided tune ringing, four in hand. The accompanist was Mr. Fred Spicer, who is employed in the joiners' shop of the Foundry.
The appreciation of the guests to Mr. Taylor was ably expressed by Mr. Colin Harrison. The dinner was a great success and in the words of our correspondent, "We all enjoyed ourselves hugely.
A booklet giving notes concerning the various members of the family during the five generations, prepared by Mr. P. L. Taylor, was an appropriate souvenir of a happy occasion.

Tips For Beginners - $\mathbf{3}$

As a further aid to hearing your bell. notice at first the sound of it when you are leading. later when you are in the last place, unsil presently you will find you can hear it all the time.

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION

Nearly 60 ringers attended the annual meeting of the North Staffordshire Association held at Stoke Parish Church on December 5th. The service was conducted by the Rector (Preb F. A. R. Chapman), who also kindly entertained the Association to tea in the Cinurch Institute
The business meeting was presided over by the Archdeacon of Stoke-on-Trent (the Ven. G. Youell). who welcomed the newly: elected treasurer and secretary and thanked the retiring officers for their services to the Association in the past. The meeting stood in remembrance of the Rev. J. B. Frith, one-time Rector of Swynnerton and member of the Association.
Eight ne N ringing members were elected and Mr. G. Hall. of Brown Edge, was elected hon. life member, having been in the Association for 50 years.

SERVANTS OF THE  EXERCISE - No. 3

Before the war it was a constant argument which was the largest parish church in the country, Coventry or Yarmouth. Well, St. Michael's, Coventry, has gone, to be replaced by a modern Cathedral-so Yarmouth must be left with the honours.

Mr. Thurlow is far too busy to have much time available for peal ringing-but, nevertheless, he has about 100 to his credit, which include London Surprise Major at Helmingham and Treble Bob Maximus at Bow. This latter was on the Croydon ring and was probably the only peal of Kent Treble Bob on them. He took part in a peal of Bob Major on handbells at Trinity College, Cambridge (his first peal) and the band included the present Astronomer Royal.

JAFUS.

REV. GILBERT THURLOW, M.A., F.S.A.
(Vice-President of Central Council)
There is no more energetic member of the Exercise than the Rev. Gilbert Thurlow. His dynamic and forthright personality inspires all who come into contact with him and it would be hard to imagine anyone more suitable to become a future president of the Central Council.

Mr. Thurlow was born in 1911 and was educated at Felixstowe, Felstead. Selwyn College (Cambridge) and Cuddesdon Theological College, Oxford. He was appointed assistant curate at All Saints', Wokingham, in 1934, and in 1939 became Precentor at Norwich Cathedral until 1958. He was Rector of St. Clement's and Vicar of St. George Colegate, where he converted an old ring of three into a ring of six in 1950.

From 1952 to 1955 he was also Vicar of St. Andrew's, Norwich. In 1955 he became Vicar of Great Yarmouth. and everyone knows how energetically he tackled the enormous job of restoring the famous church and its bells.

Critic's Praise

'As one of "The Ringing World" critics in 1959, may I say that No. 1 of 1960 has left me agreeably surprised. If this issue reflects the shape of things to come, I think your circulation figures will rise, even at the increased price.

I congratulate you on the first of a series of "Servants of the Exercise." which is good and. strange to say, this was one of the very things which our local quarter ped baind were asking for in one of the many discussions about "The Ringing World." Good work. Keep it up.'-J. B., Bristol.

Memorial To Cecil Ebberson

Friends and ringing colleagues of the late Cecil Ebberson propose placing a memorial plaque in the belfry of Dersingham Parisin Church. It is thought that some of his many friends in other Associations would like to be associated with the N.D.A. in perpetuating the memory of one who was loved and respected by all who knew him. Donations can be sent to : W. Love, General Secretary, Norwich Diocesan Association of Ringers, 52, Spencer Street, Norwich, Norfolk, NOR. 64P.

Miss Monica Collins, formerly of Guildford. is at the Bush Nursing Hospital, Bright, , iter and Mrs. George Pipe while they were on holiday in N.E. Victoria. Uunfortunately when they called she was the only nurse on duty.

It was London University Society and not the Universities Association that had the tour in Durham last year. The error in our last issue is regretied.

Mr. Roger Fry has entered the Faversham Ward of Salisbury General Infirmary for an operation. He expects to be in hospital for about three to four weeks and out of ringing for about six months.

Mr. Harry E. Good, of Ewell, is for the second time in nine weeks a patient in Epsom District Hospital. He underwent an operation at the beginning of November, but his recovery has not been as rapid as expected. He hopes to be able to return to ringing again fairly soon.

The retirement of the Rev. J. A. Burness as Rector of Heimingham, Suffolk, after 30 years in office, will he regretted hy many ringing friends. 'Not once,' writes our correspondent, 'did he refuse ringing at his tower.

On New Year's Eve at St. Ebbe's, Oxford, honour was done by a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major to the 89th birthday of Mr. W. H. B, Wilkins. He still attends St. Ebbe's whenever possible and would like to wish all his friends a happy New Year.

Mr. Dennis Jeanes, who is GOSSIP working in London, travelled down specially to Backwell. Somerset, on New Year's Eve to attend the annual ringers' supper and the ringing afterwards. He returned to London by the $4 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. train-fortified by feasting and ringing for any travelling unplcasantness.
The peal rung at Marston, Oxford, on December 19th was the 33rd peal on the bells. This is believed 10 he the greatest number of peals rung in a five-bell tower.

Congratulations to Mr . Bruce Wakefield on winning an open scholarship in physics to Pembroke College, Oxford. A peal in honour of the announcement was rung at South Cerney, Gloucestershire.

Mr. G. N. Sloan, secretary of the Christchurch, New Zealand. Cathedral Society of Bellringers sends Christmas and New Year greetings to all ringers on behalf of the Society.

The six youngest out of 11 ringers present were chosen to ring in the New Year at Alford, I incs. The band was Malcolm Smith (9). David Maulthy (12), R. Brailsford (14). Miss B. Willoughby (14). R. Willoughby (16), G. Willoughby (17). Average age $13 \frac{1}{2}$ years.

On the occasion of his 55th birthday Mr. L. G. Brett chose 5,008 Double Norwich b. Edgar Wightman, which had 55 courses and 55 calls. Mr. James Bennett, jun., is welcomed to the Helmingham band again.

GOLDEN WEDDING FESTIVITIES AT DARLEY DALE

On December 28th the Darley Dale (Derbys) ringers and their wives were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Smallwood, of Heather Brae, South Park Avenue, Darley Dale, to a dinner and social held at the Grouse Hotel, Darley Dale, on the occasion of their golden wedding. Members of their family were also present, including Mrs. Smallwood's sister, Mrs. Trow, who was hridesmaid at their wedding. Songs. handbells and ringers' yarns were part of the evening's entertainment.

Frank Smallwood came to live at Darley Dale some two years ago and in that time his valuable help to the band of St. Helen's Church is very much appreciated. His very dry wit and to all late-comers to the belfry who are 'found' has earned him the title of 'Uncle Frank.' He has also found time to take part in the activities of the Derbyshire Association and he is much in demand to stand in for peal attempts.

Although no special ringing was done by the locals, apart from the extra ringing for the Christmas season with Frank taking part. methods rung during the week were Bob Minor and Major, Kent Treble Bob Minor and Major, Cambridge Minor and Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples.

On New Year's Eve a new method, Little Stedman Triples, was rung, invented by Mr . H . E. Taylor, one of the local band. It consists of double dodging in 4-5 and 6-7, then Quick work only, treble and second making thirds round the Quick bell.

Best wishes and thank you, Frank, from all the Darley ringers.
G. H. P

Mr. Smallwood learned to ring at Bishop Ryder's Church, Birmingham, when a boy, and it was in this church that he married Miss Sarah Phyllis Gilbert. Apprenticed into the printing industry, among the appointments he has held are superintendent of the colour printing department at Bemrose and Sons, Ltd.. Derby, works manager at Bolton, Sir Isaac Pitman's at Bath and the Staple Press, London. After more than half-a-century of print, he retired over ten years ago. He has lived at Darley Dale for about two years.

A versatile ringer, he probably enjoys most Stedman Cinques, and his peals include the first at Exeter Cathedral and 5,019 Stedman Cinques at St. Paul s Cathedral. He also rang the tenor to the first peal on the ten bells at St. Andrew s Church, Derby, on August 2nd, 1924. One memorable occasion among many in his ringing career was ringing at Westminster Abbey for the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II. and for this service he holds the Coronation medal.
A staunch and enthusiastic member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, he was Master in 1951. Since 1951 he hás been convener of 'The Ringing World Committee and has guided its destiny with consummate skill through a difficult period. He joined the Central Council in 1939, being elected an honorary member: since 1951 he has represented the Ancient Society of College Youths. It is perhaps natural that such a noted personality as Mr. Smallwood should have been in the national limelight. Three times he has appeared on T.V. and many times on radio.

Mr. and Mrs. Smallwood have two daughters Dene living in Edinburgh and the other in

Universities' Association Annual Dinner

A GREY, damp day greeted the Association in Birmingham, but our welcome was, as usual. cordial as we made our way round the towers on the programme. We visited Selly Oak before lunch and, despite the secretary's gloomy circular, the ringing chamber seemed as full as usual. After lunch Harborne, with a smaller tower, seemed even more packed, though the tinging did not appear to suffer unduly. Howcver, the 12 bells at St. Philip's were a different proposition, and despite the reinforcements from a Central Council committee, whose members very inopportunely chose the same day to meet, the ringing was not of a high order. Few accepted the kind invitation of the St. Martin's Guild to visit their meeting at St . Martin's; those who did got some good ringing, but missed the service at St. Philip's.
Some 45 members sai down to an excellent dinner at the Imperial Hotel, under the chairmanship of the president. Mr. E. H. Lewis. Unfortunately, no guests were present owing to an organisational misunderstanding, and as a result the speeches were of limited extent. Mr. P. L. Taylor (vice-president) proposed the health of 'The Universities Association.' and the secretary, D. J. Roaf, replied with the customary iccount of the year's activities, which included the summer tour held last year at Pulborough. Sussex, and the ringing of four peals.

Mr. A. York-Bramble welcomed the visitors. and Mr. Albert Walker thanked him and exrended a hearty welcome to the Association on this their second visit to Birningham.

A NEW PRESIDENT

At the business meeting the most important item was the triennial election of officers. Mr. Lewis restated his firm wish to retire, and thanked the Association warmly for their support during his term of office, which had lasted since the formation of the Association some 15 years ago. He commented that he had been somewhat unsure about the value of the Association on its formation, but after his experience as president he had no hesitation in saying that it had fulfilled a definite need, and he wished it well in the future. Mr. P. L. Taylor was elected to the presidency and, on assuming the chair, thanked those present for their kindness in electing him.
There were two candidates for the vice-presidency, and after a vote Mr. W. F. Moreton was declared elected. Notice was given of a proposition to amend the rules so as to allow of Mr. Lewis being elected an honorary vicepresident in recognition of his service to the Association.

No desire was shown to change the day-today management, and Mr. D. J. Roaf was reelected to serve as secretary-treasurer. Miss M. R. Cross agreed to serve as Central Council representative. subject to her home commitments.
There appeared to be some disagreement between the secretary and the auditor over the accounts, and they were not available for discussion: however, hoth seemed to agree that a profit had been made on the year, and it would only be necessary to decide on its magnitude.
This year's week, it was announced, would be in the hands of Miss P. J. Holborn and Mr. 1. Seager, and would he in the Sheffield/Derhyshire area from August 6th to 13 th. Next year's dinner we agreed to hold in London on Saturday, January 7th, and for the 1962 week the Shrewsbury area would be investigated.
Twenty-eight new members were elected, and after the close of the meeting the usual convivial period was enjoyed by all. B. D. T.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Tonbridge District
The Kent District of the Ladies' Guild have in recent years established a custom ot holding their meetings jointly with the various Districts of the Kent County Association.
On January 2 nd the New Year was given a good send-off when the ladies, many of whom are members of the Tonbridge District. anyway, turned up in good numbers to the District meeting at Sevenoaks.

Due to the absence of the Rector, the Rev. E. M. T. McLellan, it was not possible to hold a service, and at the end of the afternoon ringing a company of 40 sat down to tea in the Church Hall, which was followed by a business meeting presided over by Mr. E. A. Barnett, a vice-president of the Association. A comprehensive report of the November meeting of the general committee of the Association was given by Mr. B. V. Collison. This indicated that the strong feelings of the District, as expressed at earlier meetings, with regard to the lateness of last year's annual reports and the lateness in starting the arrangements in connection with the Central Council meeting at Folkestone in 1960 had been conveyed to the general committee. It had also been agreed that the annual dinner of the Association would be held at Aplin's Restaurant at Sevenoaks on either September 24th or October 29th.
Miss Janet Buss, of Sevenoaks, was elected a member of the Association, and Mr. Peter Bond. the Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, expressed the hope that many ringers would be able to attend the Society's annual dinner on February 6th.

After the usual votes of thanks the gentlemen returned to the tower and the ladies' meeting took place under the chairmanship of Mrs. F. M. Mitchell, vice-president. Meeting arrangements for the year were settled, the next being at Chelsfield on April 23rd. From the ringing point of view it was a very good meeting, but for the District secvery good meeting, but for the District secretary and organisers somewhat disappointing in that so few of the District members seem to have the time, or perhaps the inclination, to make the effort to come and join in an occasion that is intended primarily for them. Perhaps better District support may be hoped for at the meeting at Penshurst on April 2nd.

RAMBLING RINGERS' 1959 TOUR

The tour began at Shrewsbury and ended at Pershore, Bristol being the southernmost point. In all, approximately 120 towers were visited. well over 50 ringers taking part. The ringing on the whole was good, and in the middle week it bordered on the excellent.
The annual meeting was held at the Ostrich at Bristol, with the Master in the chair, and the south-east was chosen as next year's tour area.
A pleasing facet of the tour was the influx of new members: this is a healthy sign and we hope that it may long continue.

METHODS RUNG
Maximus.-Kent. Plain and Little.
Cinques.-Stedman and Grandsire.
Royal.-Cambridge. Kent, Plain and Little. Caters-Siedman and Grandsire.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST

Dear Sir.-1 was interested in Mr. Peter Bond's letter, and would like to give my opinion of the ringing. It did not come to us in the order published in the 'Radio Times, but as follows.

Blackburn. - I agree, 'very badly-struck changes. I would add that it was a complete muddle. I could not confirm that ten bells were ringing. What a difference between these and the Evercreech ten (when they put on the 10 bell record) on Sunday mornings at seven minutes to 9 on the Light programme! It is then that I put my wireless set on loud and open my windows for the benefit of my neighbours in case they have forgotten!
Wareham.-Mr. Bond says that those broadcast were "certainly not the bells of that tower.' 1 agree. The announcer (Stuart Hibberd) gave out that we were to hear eight bells, then out rang six. I would describe the striking as very fair.

Belfast,-Good striking.
Beaconsfield.-Very good striking-the top of the programme. (By the way, what a pity we were given only those few rounds at the midnight service, Christmas Eve!!

Elkstone.-Bad striking.

Fife (carillon). - Well played. Two nice tenors, down to D. I think. But I don't like tunes on tower hells. It's no good-it just can't be done: the harmonics and overtones just make my stomach swim, especially if the player attempts chords.

Talgarih.-Good striking.

Bethiehem.-Well, they are just Bethlehem bells sounded in the way which is the custom there, apparently; but what a din!
So we began and finished by clashing. It is a pity because, this year, each tower was broadcast long enough for us to listen and study, whereas, as a rule, we are beginning to make up our minds what we are listening to and then comes the fade-out.
Some say that at Christmas time these broadcasts should be by the everyday bands at the towers fortunate enough to get into the list.
Although I appreciate that some ringers. especially the young ones, would want to be in t. I think that only good striking should be ailowed on such an occasion, and if a ringer in the usual band is not able to strike properly with certainty, he should be replaced by one who can. Further, that if the tower cannot fix up all good strikers, another tower should take its place for the occasion.
We should remember that the ringing is going into homes all over the British Isles, and deyond. and we want to please, not aggravate. While some people would not notice any dif. terence between the Blackburn and the Beaconslield broadcasts, many would: and there are people, some music lovers, who hate the sound of church bells. We don't want to increase therr number!
An hour's good ringing can be spoilt by hapwizard lowering of the bells afterwards. That's the last sound of that hour's ringing left in people's ears. What a finale!

I would further suggest that. if a tower is to is hroadcast at any lime. not only Chrisimas. and the ringers are not certain good strikers in quicthod, they would do better to stick to fairly quickly-called call-changes-even rounds, for I hell certain that the principal thing in tower hell ringing is this-WHAT DOES IT SOUND iIKE OUTSIDE?-Yours sincerely.

CLAUDE RUSH.

[^0]Dear Sir,-It is surprising that Mr. Peter Bond, who usually expresses himself so positively and with seeming authority on the musical qualities of bells, should not have recognised that the six bells introduced as those of Wareham, Dorset, in the Christmas Day broadcast. were identical to those later introduced as the six bells of St. Gwendoline's. Talgarth, Wales.
There was audible during both periods these bells were broadcast a background of noise which did not seem like the local echo of Talgarth bells. In this background there was detectable the note of $\mathbf{E}$ or $\mathbf{E}$ flat. As this corresponds to the note of Wareham tenor, it seems possible that Wareham bells were, in fact, being broadcast simultaneously with those of Talgarth, although, due to technical trouble, perhaps, most imperfectly.-Yours faithfully,

RINGERS AS CHURCH OFFICIALS

Dear Sir, -In the ringing chamber of Yatton Parish Church, Somerset, during the ringing out the Old Year and ringing in the New, among the company present were: The Vicar (Preb. B. A. Bcechey) and Mrs. Beechey, the assistant priest and his wife, two churchwardens, two deputy churchwardens, a lay reader and threc servers. Of these, six are members of the band of ringers.

I believe this to he a wonderful representa. tion of the church's interest in the ringers and oh ! that it could be more general throughout the land.-Yours faithfully
H. A. PRICE.

FEELING AT HOME IN A NEW JOB
Dear Sir,-Ahout a month ago I was transferred to another offise at my employment. The first thing was to sec a bell about two cwt. sitting on the floor. My boss is an organist and said he was glad to welcome me with the bell after secing my ringing hadge on my coat.
My joh was 'Firms' and the first one I dealt with was for 'Cambridge,' the next was 'Salter,' the surname being the one of my Ringing Master. The following 'Steadman' and last "Lewin," who is the Ringing Master at Hucknall.

I began to wonder if they were trying to make me scttle in my new abode, or remind me of two minds and two thought. As long as they don't 'surprise' me and call be "Bob. I don't mind, because I am 'Single and ....-Yours faithfully,

West Bridgford, Notts. A. HENSON.

A FALSE COMPOSITION

Dear Sir,-I wish to point out that the composition of Little Boh Major by John R Ketteringham on page 16 of The Ringing World " is false. The second lead of the 11th course of the first part repeats with the sixth lead of the fifth course of the second part. And, of course. likewise in all four parts. Also, the reduction of ' A ' to produce a 5.000 is false. The sixth lead of the fourth course of the reduced part repeats with the second lead of the 24 th course of the same part.-Yours sincercly, NORMAN SMITH.

Burnley, Lancs.
Mr. John R. Ketteringham writes admitting the falseness of the composition and expressing his sincere regret to all concerned. Before submitting the composition 10 . The Ringing World' he had it checked by one who is regarded as an authority, hut apparently the error escaped him.

Doctor's Verdict To 85-Year-Old Ringer

For 70 jears a ringer and for 56 years at Sheffield Carhedral. Mr. Sidney Palmer, How 85. when he caught a chill recemly was warned by his family and friends ' Betler retire.

The strain of two 45 -minule spells at the Cathedral each Sunday, they said. would be 100 much for hin.

But Mr. Putmer decided to take medtical advice firss. And. 10 his surprise, his family doctor advised him to comtinue.

The doctor thinks I'm fit enough to carry' on,' he told the 'Sheffield Star.' 'I was defighted to hear the verdict. I enjoy bell-ringing too much to want to give up after all these years.

So this life member of the Yorkshire Association. who has rung 271 peals for the Association, continues 10 set an example to the- Exercise in his Sunday service ringing.

FIRST PEAL PERFORMANCES AND PEALS OF MINOR

Dear Sir,-For the sake of accuracy and in no sense of criticism, 1 would point out to Mr. Blagrove that the peal rung at Rotherham on April 18th, 1881, was not Spliced Caters and Royal in the present day accepted sense of the term. but was a collection of touches in the methods named, each touch starting and ending with rounds. The reason this performance is not included in the list of false compositions in the Yorkshire As sociation's annual reports is that it is felt that no one would repeat the performance under the impression that it is true.
In connection with Mr. Moxon's letter on page 11 of 'The Ringing World, part of which deals with the ringing of peals of Minor in less than seven methods, it is true that the resolation of 1912 stating "No peal in less than seven methods be recogoised by the (Yorkshire) Association stood in the name of the late Mr. John McKell, of Gargrave but the real power behind that resolution was the late Mr. George Bolland, of Tong ("King of Six-Bell Ringers, as he was often referred 10 ), who had very strong views on what a peal of Minor should be.

I remember, in my very early days as a member of the General Committee of the Yorkshire Association. being at a meeting of that committee when George Bolland made a very impassioned speech in which he sought to disqualify a peal of Minor rung in. I believe, three methods. Not only was Mr. Bolland against any peals of Minor with less than seven different methods, he even sug. gested that peals which consisted of a mixcure of Treble Boh methods and Plain methods should not be allowed. In his opinion they ought to be either one or the other, never both.
George, however. lost the day. There were too many on the committee who would have suffered a reduction in their peal totals if he had had his way.

Recognised standards were different in thow days and one wonders how Mr. Bolland would now have reconciled one of his cherished performanoes-a peal of 6,000 Trehle Boh Minor in 25 different methods, rung at Tony and conducted by him. That peal consisted of 25 touches of 240 . each method starting and ending with rounds, but then, it was rung way back in the 1880 's. before soliced ringing was even thought of.-Yours faithfully

Pudsey, Yorks.

WILLIAM BARTON.

THE FAST PEAL AT EVESHAM

Dear Sir,-I must remind friend Cannon that we have 36 cwt . all but 8 lb . of tenor at Evesham. I must also remind him that if it is impossible to strike this bell properly in 3 hours and 13 minutes then it must be impossible to strike peals of Surprise Royal at Birmingham Cathedral in 3 hours, 8 , 10 and 11 minutes with a $31 \ddagger \mathrm{cwl}$. tenor, which is considered not an easy bell 10 turn in. It must also he impossible to strike Cambridge Royal at St. Martin's, Birmingham, with a 37 cwt. tenor.

As I have not taken part in a fast peal at the Cathedral I cannot give an opinion, but 1 did ring in the peal at St. Martin's in 3 hours and 17 minutes, and I can assure 'the Canon' that the tenor was never out of control. With $14 t$ stone and 6 ft . 3in. of 26-year-old Peter Border hanging on the rope, if any of that band never ring a worse rope, if any of that band never ring a wo peal than that one they will be fortunate.

Now, Pat, you must he fair in your criticism. After all, you hold the record for the fastest peal of Major at Pershore Abbey (Cambridge Major in 3 hours and 10 minutes). You know I heard the first hour of that peal as I was in the lower and the ringing was good. Before the start of that peal one of The ringers asked me which of two of the bells ran dry first: I told him he would know when it happened. One ringer told me that he heard the last part of the Pershore peal and the ringing had deteriorated and he got the impression that the band, or at least some of them, were getting tired. This. of course, was understandable at Pershore. as no doubt the two bells had run dry by then.

To return to Evesham. About a year ago George Fearn rang the tenor in Lincolrishire Major in 3 hours and 26 minutes. Like all wise ringers George gave himself time to find out what he could do with a strange bell before he applied the pressure, thereby losing time in the first part of the peal, otherwise the time would have been much less.
Stephen Ivin started off at a fast pace right from the rounds and all the others went with him and enjoyed the fun. and only one member of the band expressed displeasure at the end of the peal. As I do not profess to be a heavy-bell ringer myself. I am able to take a detached view, and credit must be given when it is due.
For my own part I am not too keen on this dirt track racing and much prefer a speed to match the weight of bells being rung, but I enjoyed myself by watching Stephen Ivin applying his 21 years of 14 stone to the job. so don't crilicise these youngsters. Pat, hut let them enjoy themselves in their youthful exuberance, and I can also tell you that I'll bet you have rung many a worse pcal than the one at Evesham. As you are on the waiting list for a peal on our back eight, we must get you fixed up as soon as possible. and if it is rung in less than 3 hours and 30 minutes it will have 10 be classed as an unnatural performance and must, therefore, not be published as a peal.
Anyway. Pat, hest wishes for 1960, with plenty of good, fast peals.- Yours. etc..
G. J. HEMMING.

Evesham.

LEAVE THOSE WHO KNOW TO JUDGE
Dear Sir, - I was distressed to read my friend A. P. C.'s letter re the peal of Yorkshire at Evesham. This is a personal attack on Stephen Ivin-a very had start to 1960. Mr. Cannon. and I hope we shall see no more such childish comments this year. Mr. Cannon says, "It would be impossible to strike this 35 cwt . tenor at this fast speed. As an eye witness of Mr. Ivin's performance. I can say that it was struck, and well handled. I find it difficult to resist the temptation it being New Year's Day, and he content with telling anyone who doesn't know that Stephen Ivin is at least as canable as Pat Cannon, and leaving them to judge for themselves from the neal columns rather than rely on letters to the Editor.-Yours sincerely, PATRICK I. CHAPMAN.

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. A. P. Cannon's letter relating to the peal of Major rung at Evesham, it seems to me a great rung at Evesham. it seems 10 me a great offered, in his own peal-ringing efforts years ago.-Yours faithfully,

HERBERT G. ANDREWS.
Kingston-upon-Thames.
Dear Sir,-I cannot recall having rung with the tenor man under criticism, but I am sufficiently familiar with other members of the hand to be confident that the striking would be at least of acceptahle standard for them to continue for 3 hours and 13 minutes.

Mr. Cannon should know by now that age and ability are not synonymous. -. Yours faithfully,

HANDBELL RINGERS RAISE £230 FOR

 THE BLINI)Dear Sir.-I am nol a bellringer, much as I should like to be one, but I take and enjoy your paper very much and I am wondering if it would be of interest for readers to know that here in Dulwich I have two teams of handbell ringers. We are attached to Emmanuel Congregational Church, and whilst we do not do change ringing we do a lot of tune ringing, and at Christmas we tour all the local streets collecting for the blind. We have just handed in a cheque for $£ 230$ collected this Christmas for the Greater London Fund for the Blind and, in all. have, during the last 13 years, raised nearly $£ 2.000$ for this fund.

Another matter: Has anyone any information as to whom the bellis of the Alexandra Ring. Tmperial Institute, Kensington. are used? Is it possible ever to hear these bells, and when were they last rung? Wishing you every suc-cess.-Yours very truly.

METIODS SECONDARY TO RHYTHM

Dear Sir.-I was sorry to read Mr. Moxon's stilted views on numbers of methods in peals of Minor. His possible rule that seven should be the minimum number allowed is ridiculous: far more importint is how peals are rung, even if only in one method.
If more attention was paid to the striking of our ringing (which is what the puhlic have to listen to) rather than to the number and intricacy of the methods rung (in which the public are rot interested) then we should be getting somewhere.

A clash of two bells in a call change tower in the West Couniry will hring winces of nain and sharp words from the caller or captain. a state which is all hut ignored in many method-ringing areis, Rhythmical ringing will appeal to a rhythmical public and help the flow of recruits. apart from making a good impression on their attitude to the Church, the primary function of the bells. Yours faithfully.
Selhorne. Hants.

A Lincoln Ring Restored

On November 28th the ring of six bells at Coningsby, Lincs, wa; heard ringing once more after being silent for 25 years. In the presence of a larec congregation the restored ring was rededicated by the Bishop of Grimsby. About 30 ringers took part in this service after having been ringing for service at their own churches. The work of rehanging has been carried cut by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank and all expressed their delight at the 'go' and tone of the bells. Ringing took place for one hour after the service. Mr. S. Sharland represented the bellhangers.
$A$ grant of $f \in$ had been made from the Eastern Branch of the Lincoln Guild to this restoration.

OBITUARY

MR. A. R. MILES
For nearly 70 years a ringer at St. Dunstan's, Mayfield, Sussex, and for 50 years captain of the tower, Mr. Arthur R. Miles died on September 28th, aged 88 years. Owing to a major operation in 1957 he had to give up active ringing, but his interest was maintained until the end of his life.
A lifelong member of the Sussex County Association, Mr. Miles served on the District Committee for 30 years. He was also a memiber of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. His peals numbered 34 and included all the standard methods and several of Surprise. At his request the bells were rung open at his funeral on January ist.

MR. FRED STUBBS

The death occurred on December 23rd of Mr. Fred Stubbs. of Riunds, Northants, who dicd in Wellinghorough Park Hospital following an operation.

The funcral at Raunds was attended hy the local ringers, representatives from Raunds Conservative Club, of which he was a founder member, and of Messrs. John Horrel and Son, boot and shoe manufacturers, where previously Mr. Stubbs was a foreman. The Parish Church bells were rung half-muffled in the evening.
Joining the Central Northants Association in 1894, he rang his first peal (Bob Major, bv the Raunds St. Peter's Society, at Titchmarsh) in 1896 and it is believed he rang 100 peals. mostly in the standard Major methods. It was as a Sunday service ringer that he will he best remembered, and before the last war he was a familiar sight standing outside the rower on Sunday evenings finishing his pipe before entering the belfry. He was also a sidesman and parochial church councillor for many years.

In 1949 he resigned the office of treasurer of the Thrapston Branch of the Peterhorough Diocesan Guild and so ended a period of 35 years in office either as secretary, treasurer or committee member.

At the Thrapston Branch meeting on JanGary ${ }^{2}$.nd the Guild general secretary, Mr. G. W. Jeffs, paid a warm tribute to his memory, and the assembly, which included the Guild Master (Mr. P. I. Chapman). together with Messrs. P. Cannon, R. Leale and others stood in silence.

STEDMAN FOR BEGINNERS

Human nature being what it is, there will be times when you have failed to remember which way you should go in and have forgotten to use any of these guides. There is one last resource. which you can use rather than go wrong. But you should not rely on it. as so many ringers do. It is known as the A-B trick. As you enter the front work you will be striking over two other bells: Call them $\Lambda$ and B. You go over each in turn. If that hrings you into seconds place you are a Quick hell and will lead next. But if. having followed A and B you are still in thirds place. you are a Slow bell. You then strike over A again and then lead at back and hand strokes to start your first whole turn. This method not only puts you completely in the hands of the two bells we have called A and B-if they are hesitant you will get no help from them- but. certainly if you are ringing a heavy bell, the striking will be upset because you will not know beforehand whether you are hunting down or making thirds place. so will not be prepared with the correct pull.
You will see. therefore. that if you can't keep count of the bobs while you are at the back and so be sure. independently of the rest of the band. whether you will go in Quick or Slow. there are several ways of finding out in time. If you are one of those fortunate people who can hear what the other bells are doing on the front-instead of. or as well as. seeing how they are leading-you can find out by ear wheller the six being rung is a Quick or Slow one. But many of us find that ropesight is casier than relying entirely on the ear.
Now for ringing touches of Stedman Triples we must also learn how to make a Single. Like the bob. it comes in Triples at the changeover of the sixes and not where we learnt it did in Doubles. You will have found in Grandsire and Plain Bob that. whercas a Bob affects three bells. a single affects only two. This rule still applies. At the six end. when a single has been called the bells in the fifth. sixih and seventh positions lie still. that is make fifths. sixths and sevenths place respectively. At a plain six the bell in sevenths would have done a whole pull there. so that hell is unaffected. At a boh the bell dodging in 4.5 up would have made fifths and then dodged in 4-5 down-and at a single it does just that. The other bell at the back is the one which has just dodged in 6-7 down and would have gone into $4-5$ down. Instead at the change of the sixes it makes sixths place and dodges up twice with the bell which had just made sevenths. It then. if there are no more calls. makes sevenths and dodges twice in 6-7 down.
The bell which made fifths will have been auay from the front for two whole sixes and will therefore go in the opposite way to which il came out. The bell which lay behind was unaffected and so will have been away from the front the normal four sixes, and so it will also go in the opposite way to which it canne out. The bell which made the single (sixths nlace) will stay hehind for two additional sixes. making six in all away from the front. so will likewise go in the opposite way to which it came out.

4 THE SLOW WORK IN DETAIL.

When you have got as far as this in your ringing of Stedman. you will find that many touches and peals come to grief-often you or aother member of the hand will suddenly be 'lost. usually when in the front work. Or, when a hell is coming in to the front. either that one. or one of those already there. is not sure of his work. You will lind it useful to go tack to the beginning and study the Slow work carefully. Notice where the handstrokes and treckstrokes come and uhcre the change over hetween the sixes takes place in relation to the Slow worl Slow work

POINTS TO NOTICE

1. Your thirds place at the start of the Slow work is made at hand and backstroke.

After passing through seconds place vour lead at the stasting of the first whole turn will he wrong (back and hand).

3. One blow in seconds and complete the first whole turn with a lead right (hand and back). NOTE.-This lead is the start of a Quick six.
4. Thirds place will be at back and hand.
5. The first half turn will be one blow at handstroke. NOTE. -This is the start of a Slow six.
6. Thirds place will be at hand and backstroke.
7. Your last half turn will be one blow at backstroke. NOTE.-This blow completes the six which was started with the first half turn. During this six your work has heen 1st, 2nd. $3 \mathrm{rd}, 3 \mathrm{rd}$. 2nd. 1st. This is the exact reverse of the work of a Quick bell which is 3rd. 2nd. Ist, 1st. 2nd. 3rd. and is the difference between the backward and forwarding hunting dealt with at the beginning of these notes.
8. Thirds place will be at back and handstroke.
9. Your lead at the start of the last whole furn will be right thaind and back). NOTE.This lead is the end of a Quick six.
10. One blow in seconds, and the completion of the last whole furn with a load wrong (back and hand).
11. Thirds place will be at hand and back before leaving the front at the changeover between the sixes.
12. The thirds places have not only alternated with the other parts of the Slow work. they have also been alternately places right and places wrong
13. In the middle of the first whole turn you made one blow in seconds while a bell (call it X) led one stroke as it did its last half turn. When you led one stroke in your first half turn. bell X was the one doing its last whole turn. and leading before and after your blow on the lead.
14. When you led once to do your last half turn another bell (call it Y) was doing its first whole turn and led before and after your one hlow at lead. In the middle of your last whole turn. when you do one blow in seconds, that same bell. Y. will do its first half turn.
15. When you are a Quick bell your lead will be right (hand and back) in the middle of the six. Before you led the bell doing its first whole turn will have led right. and after you led the bell doing its last whole turn will lead right.

No one is expected 10 learn all these things at once but if you look for them and gradually learn them while you are ringing you will find not only that it will be easier to keep your own bell right, but also that you will know what the bells you work with are doing. You will also find when you are dodging at the back that a glance at the bells in the front will tell you when the six end is coming and therefore when you move to the next dodging position. This latter is especially useful when ringing Stedman double handed.
When you reach this stage you will be ready to start conducting Stedman and will realise that this is not so difficult as it once seemed. But by then you will no longer be a beginner so this must conclude my article. If there are any parts of these notes which remind readers of the Snowdon 'Stedman.' my excuses are that my copy is out on loan. but some similarity is not unlikely as I had a hand in writing it before the war

THE EXTENT OF MAJOR

In a previous issue a skeleton table for composing and proving twelve part peals was introduced. There was also the proof of a peal of Plain Bob. the figures of which were held over. My selected calls for these skeletons include one single only in a part. After the fourth Wrong the coursing order is 8765000 or 8756000 and this is the clo to omit the bob at Middle and call the Single at Wrong. The coursing order when there is an omit at Wrong is 8760500 or 8750600 .
$\begin{array}{cccccc}13.440 \text { Plain Boh } & 13.440 & \text { Double Norwich } \\ 23456 \mathrm{~W} & \mathrm{M} & 23456 & 1 & 4\end{array}$

| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 64523 | - | - | 62354 | - | - |
| 56342 | - | - | 45263 | - | - |
| 45362 | - |  | 36542 | - | - |
| 35246 | S | - | 24635 | - | - |
| 23654 | - | - | 54236 |  | - |
| 62435 | - | - | 63452 | - | - |
| 46523 | - | - | 25364 | - | - |
| 54362 |  |  | 46523 |  |  |
| 34265 |  | - | 32645 | - | - |

Both to be repeated eleven times calling Single in sixth and twelfth parts instead of the last bob.
Perhaps someone knows who composed these a few hundred years ago. When writing the skeletons of the Double Norwich peal use two crosses for 2.3 and three noughts for 4.5.6. The part-end skeleton is now number seven in the table.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION  Blackburn Branch

This year the Blackburn Branch annual meeting was held at St. Peter's. Burnley: The ringing started with Surprise-for all in the ringing room and especially for the Ringing Master, who, on commencing to lead the eight up in peal, discovered that only the hack seven needed raising! An enjoyable afternoon's ringing followed, and visitors from many 'foreign' parts were welcomed. After an excellent tea. provided by the Burnley ringers, the business meeting opened with Mr. R. Leigh in the chair. The report and balance shcet caused no controversy. Mr. N. Smith was clected Ringing Master for the next two years. and the acting secretary. Mr. J. Pilkington, having failed to disguise himself successfully, was elected for the remaining year of office as secretary. The secretary and Mr. R. Leigh were appointed to serve on the Association Committee. A rota of towers for meetings during the year is to be worked unon hy the Branch officials. and a suh-committee was appointed to organise a menorial to the late Mr. Charles W. Blakey. More will be heard of this when negotiations on the form and place are completed.

More ringing followed the votes of thanks. methods ranging from Plain Bob and Grandsire to Superlative and Yorkshire Surprise. Unfortunately a touch of three Spliced Plain Major containing four Plain Major methods came to an untimely end.

A SUSSEX TOWER'S CAROLS

For some years past the Wadhurst, Sussex. bellringers have toured the streets during the Christmas period playing carols on handbells, the collection averaging about $£ 15$ each year. At first this was put in the ' Death Watch Beetle' Fund, but after the bells had been rehung a belfry fund was created and all sorts of things connected with the ringers have been purchased-a belfry clock, a carpet, a new flag for the tower.

Last year's collection was used for the tuning and overhauling of the handbells by Messrs. White, of Appleton, and the work in hand at the moment is the provision of lock-up cupboards for the bells and the printing of the tower peal records. This ycar; illness and the weather caused two 'blank' cvenings and the collection amounted to only $£ 95 \mathrm{~s}$., but those who did hear the bells all spoke of the great improvement in tone since their overhaul.
One of the features of this carol ringing is the hospitality shown by many people; at one house this year we found waiting for us hot coffec and a cake in the shape of a bell. while at another we were 'guinea pigs' for a Christmas present of home-made wine.

ANNUS IRAE - 1. KIDLINGTON

AREADER, browsing through Volume 17 of ' The Bell News,' will inevitably light on a series of controversies that once startled the Exercise, awakened the apathetic, and caused grave concern to the more cultured and delicate-minded ringers of the time. The first squall came suddenly in the month of April, 1899, and the storm, gathering to itself a succession of ancillary cyclonic disturbances, lasted, with uneasy periods of quietude, until April of the following year. Into these twelve months were crowded some of the bitterest recriminations, hottempered accusations, and inelegant forms of attack that the ringing fraternity has ever seen.
On April 3rd, 1899. William Pye conducted at Erith a record length of 15,072 Double Norwich Court Bob Major. Just over a month later James W. Washbrook and his band rang at Kidlington 17,042 in the same method, and Mr. Pye visited the Oxford village to hear the attempt that was to surpass his own fine effort. In "The Bell News' of June 10th he made known his opinion of the performance in no niggardly terms. He condemned the ringing as bad, accused Washbrook of cutting out four courses of the composition, and called upon ringers to reject the peal as a record in the method.

Washbrook, of course, denied these serious allegations and took comfort in the congratulatory letters that appeared alongside Mr. Pye's indictment. The attack was renewed, and the catchment area of the correspondents widened to draw in temperate letters from people like C. E. Borrett and A. C. R. Freeborn, and a majestic, if tactless, interposition by William Willson, of Leicester, who attempted to state the opposing cases and to sum up in the manner of a judge. This earned him a severe snubbing from William Pye, together with some injudicious reflections on Mr. Willson's competence as a ringer. This delighted Mr. Willson, who always loved a rough and tumble, and the battle continued in a far from elegant fashion.

Mr. Willson stated in round terms that he needed no grooming from Mr. Pye in the art of ringing, and declared his motive to be an impartial establishment of truth. In his heart he greatly resented the reflections made on him and in his mind he determined to seek opportunity for retaliation. This, as we may see later, he found, or thought he had found. The Kidlington contest was now taking on a pattern, and an anti-Washbrook school was fully engaged with an anti-Pye school. William Barber was responsible for a letter in mild defence of Pye, a letter that led Plain Speaker, the gossip columnist of 'The Bell News,' to hint that W.H. B.'s communication had been inspired in other quarters. Mr. A. Pye attempted to imitate Mr. Willson's magisterial presentation of the case, only to be snubbed in his turn by Plain Speaker. By this time private communications were being exchanged, each side jockeying for position, and Washbrook invoked the aid of Mr. Hounslow and the Rev. F. E. Robinson. An interposition by Gabriel Lindoff showed a mildly pro-Pye attitude.

On July 29th there came, as might have been expected, a declaration by the band that rang the peal, and in the same issue the Editor announced: 'We have received another long letter from Mr. W. Pye on the long peal at Kidlington. Perhaps he will call at our office in connection therewith.' Meanwhile, on July 22nd, the Editor, shaking his head sadly, had planted his tongue firmly in his cheek and, deeply deploring the tone of the correspondence, printed letter after letter, and in what he called a reluctant reference to the great topic of the day, was able to announce that the circulation of the paper had considerably increased.

With a final letter from Mr. Pye the correspondence closed, the Editor having yielded to pressure from influential sources. But the leader of August 5th provided tantalising hints of further disputed peals and of the possibility of other awful disclosures. These were indeed to come, and when they did so they were fully exploited. Kidlington was but a beginning.

And now what of these men? A year or two later Pye and Washbrook met in Ireland. Goldsmith. in a short but dramatic passage. has recorded his apprehension at the thought of the meeting, and his relief when these two great men greeted each other in friendly fashion and so proved once more the generous nature that was the true foundation of their characters. Willson was, a few years later, to be the instrument that made the Kidlington dispute meaningless, and he it was who, at the prompting of a generous admiration, uttered spontaneous praise of the handbell peal of London Surprise rung by the brothers Pye and William Keeble. These were magnificent ringers. men of stout heart and indomitable courage, and their great deeds live for ever. Shall we, with all our faults, judge their frailties harshly?
E. C. S.

Though not 'as weak as a robin' a ringer at Whatley, Somerset, was knocked down by a wren during the Christmas 11nging. Poor Jenny had crept into the room below the bells and must have flown into a moving rope. The sally dropped behind the unfortunate ringer, who was thrown into a corner, luckily with no damage beyond bruises.
The first quarter peal by a local band at Bawtry, Yorkshire, was rung on January 3rd. Congratulations, and many more.
The boys' paper 'Eagle' for Jan. 2nd had a full-page article on Ringing-in the New ' by Ernest Morris. It is illustrated by six nicelyproduced photos of hells and ringers.
The new hon. secretary of the North Stafiordshire Association is Mr. J. G. Burton, 71, Bagnall Road, Milton, Stoke-on-Trent. Mr. A. D. Steele is the new hon. treasurer.
Mr. Albert Lawton has retired from the captaincy of St. Peter's, Broughton. Staffs, His successor is Mr. H. Roberts. The Post Office, Wetwood, Eccleshall, to whom visiting bands should write.
Teams of handbell ringers from Rotherham Parish Church and High School by ringing carols in a market stall on December 19th collected $£ 22$ from the public for the Church Repair Fund. A further $£ 7$ was raised by other carol ringing.
The third peal at Little Shelford, Cambridge. on the bells will be the last before the bells are rehung. The ringers have raised sufficient money to provide a sixth bell. The church has nearly completed its share by raising money to have the bells rehung, the present frame being regarded as unsafe.

Putney ringers were set a task during a service of Nine Lessons and Carols. Before and after the carol, ' Ding, dong, merrily on high,' they had to ring twelve rounds and six rounds between each verse. Tension in the belfry was at breaking point. Would cach ringer 'Stand'?

GOSSIP

The Christmas collection of Great Glen Handbell Ringers amounted to $£ 73$ 13s. 1d. This Society has been going since 1926 and this year donations have bcen sent to Dr. Bamardo's Homes $£ 25$, Wireless for the Blind 115 , Imperial Cancer Researcli £10, National Spastics Society $£ 10$, World Refugee Fund $£ 10$, Bell Repair Fund $£ 3$.

The new hon. secretary of the Kettering Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild is Mr. Marray A. Coleman, of 16, Greening Avenue, Rothwell.

Mr. D. Haynes, a former secretary of the Kettering Branch, has been recently ordained to serve in the Rochester Diocese.

A quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor was arranged for Mr. H. Pitstow at Cape Town. He is sailing home on the 'Athlone Castle, after his eight weeks' stay in North and South Rhodesia.

At the annual ringing of the Northern Branch of the Norwich Diocesan Association Mr. David Heighton was congratulated on heing awarded the degrees of M.B., Ch.B.. by Bristol University.

Visiting ringers from Dore, Harthill and Thrybergh helped to make Rotherham ringers ${ }^{\circ}$ party a huge success on January 6th. Thirtyeight ringers and friends attended. Pat Walker and her helpers prepared a sumptuous repast between games and dancing organised by Susan Chaddock and Raymond Woodward. Mr. Norman Chaddock acted as M.C.

The last time the local band at St. Osward's, Oswestry, scored a peal was in 1932 and now they have rung two in a week-end. Success came after repeated failures by the young band to honour their Vicar, Preb. A. R. Vincent, on his appointment as a Prebendary of Lichfield Cathedral and a Proctor of Convocation. Miss Valerie Lee rung the treble to her first peal on the Saturday and her "first inside" the following day-both faultess performances.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

ESTABLISHED

Reason For A Peal

The outsider would gasp with astonishment that ringers from London and other places would journey to Rothwell in Northamptonshire, 10 ring a peal to commemorate the 100 th anniversary of the return of Fyodor Dostoyevski to St Petersburg after ten years' exile in Siberia. Dostoyevski visited England in 1862 and 1863. While the main theme of many of his novels was the problem of human liberty and of the justification of Ciod, to commemorate with a peal a man who died in 1881 and had little association with this country is strange. Only ringers can understand such action.
If the truth was admilled, we believe that the band met primarily to ring a good peal of Superlative, and the reason for the peal was an afterthought of one of the brainy members of the party. Young readers will find Dostoyevski's work hard going to reat, bit he is said (1) have influenced European literature more than any other single writer.

O.B.E. FOR BOLTON RINGER

For his skill and management in the en gineering section of the Wynscale Atomic Station. Mr. Titus Barlow has been appointed an Officer of the Order of the British Empire. When his duties permit he is a ringer at St. Mary's Church. Deane. He has rung a number of peals in various methods but his peal ringing activities have had to be curtailed.
In memory of his father, Titus Barlow, who was a ringer at this church for over 50 years and a stalwart of the Lancashire Association. Mr. Barlow gave the tenor to the church when the bells were recast in 1957. His sister paid for the seventh in memory of her mother and the third bell was provided by other members of the family.

To honour Mr. Barlow's name appearmg in the New Year's Honours List a peal was rung on Deane bells this month. The hand and met them at the conclusion. The inger of the treble, Miss Elaine A. Richardon, comes from Lincolnshire and is a niece of the late Mr. Rupert Richardson. She is now in Bolton on a course for nursing.

COURSES IN BELL-RINGING

Dear Sir,-At the last Central Council meet ing the Sunday Service Ringing Committee was asked to investigate the possibility of obtaining the co-operation of education authorities in the establishment of courses in bell-ringing. One week-end residential course, which will include two members of this committee amongst its tutors, has been arranged, and it is known that some progress is being made in the establishment of other similar courses at one or two centres during 1960. Information of any other courses arranged is sought so that overlapping may be avoided and as large an area as possihle catered for. Exchange of ideas between various organisers could also be most helpful.
I should be grateful to receive information ahout dates, location, syllabus, area catered for, charges. of any projected courses, either by letter to "The Ringing World ' or to me.
In order that an overall picture may be obtained of the extent to which local education authorities have provided evening classes in hell-ringing this winter. I shall be pleased if all concerned in such classes will send me information about them. Copies of suggestions for a syllabus for evening classes in bell-ringing are qvailable from me (stamped addressed envelope. please).
Though we will give all possible help as regards courses in hell-ringing, we feel that it rests with Associations to initiate action where desired. either by contacting their local education authority or seeking information from this Committee.-Yours, etc.

NORMAN CHADDOCK. Convener. Central Council Committee on Sunday Service 17. Herringthorpe Grove, Broom, Rotherham.

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE - No.

MR. EDWIN A. BARNETT

(Secretary of the Central Council)

Mr. E. A. Barnctt comes from a ringing family and married into a ringing family. His grandfather (termed Grandfather Barnett by those who knew him) rang at the famous tower of St. Paulinus', Crayford, for 43 years, and his father (Long Teddy) has rung af the same church for 65 years.
Young Teddy, who first saw the light in 1918 , began his ringing career at a very early age and rang his first peal in 1929, when he was 11 years old. When he was 12 he conducted a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major. By the time he was 13 he had rung peals of Surprise Major in the four standard methods and had conducted a peal of Cambridge Major from a working bell. The peal was the last io which Grandfather Barnett took part. At 14 he was ringing peals of Spliced Surprise Major and Cambridge Royal. At 15 he was conducting peals of Yorkshire and Pudsey and at 17 he was calling peals of Bristol. He conducted the first peals ever rung of Painswick, College and Pulford Bob, Erith. Little Bob Royal and Canterbury Pleasure Triples.

On handbells he was equally brilliant and his peals include 6,240 and 13,664 Double Norwich-which is the record. In the field of composition he has distinguished himself by producing many fine compositions, and his knowledge of this subject is colossal.

During the last war he served in the R.A.F. and at its conclusion he was attached to the Air Ministry. He suffered a serious illness, which curtailed much of his peal ringing activity, but it is most pleasing to note that he takes part in an occasional peal. and up to date he has rung 615 peals, 449 of them on tower bells ( 181 at Crayford) rung in 100 towers. conducted 121; and 166 on handbells.
In 1942 he marricd Olive. daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs, and glanddaughter of thec late Frank Bennett. They have one daughter, Jean, who, of course, has learned to ring at Crayford.

Mr. Barnett was elected to the Central Council in 1945 as Kent County Assoctatıon representative, and served on the Biographies, Methods and Peals Collection Committees. In 1952 he was elected secretary of the Central Council and he has impressed everybody by his efficient handling of its affairs. He has produced (in conjunction with C. K. Lewis) the Central Council's Handbook-which has proved to be invaluable io all members of the Council. In 1957 the Kent County Association honoured him by electing him vicepresident.

Peterborough Diocesan Guild - Kettering Branch

The annual meeting of the Kettering Branch was held (for the first time for seven years) at Burton Latimer on January 9 th. There was an attendance of over 40, including several visitors. The Guild service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. R. W. Sharpley), the lesson being read and the Blessing given by Canon G. F. Turner, president of the Guild.

An excellent tea was served in the Conservative Club (' we never had it so good!') by friends and relations of the ringers, and this was followed by the lengthy business meeting. The president welcomed the visitors, who included the Guild Master, Mr. P. I. Chapman, and Major Sansome, who has recently joined the diocese as adviser on Christian Stewardship.

The president paid tribute to the life of Mr . M. A. Turner, whose death occurred recently in the U.S.A., and those present stood in silence as a token of their respect. Sympathy was expressed to his brother, Mr. R. F. Turner, of Kettering, who replied briefly.

The new peal certificates were on view, and Mr. Ginns. of Weldon, said that one of his band, who had gained one, was training for the Ministry.

Although it was decided not to hold midweek practices for the Branch during the winter months. there was a heated discussion on the lack of help heing given to isolated bands such as Rushton. Stoke Albany and Geddington. Mr. Austin agreed to get some information before the next quarterly meeting which, it is hoped, will be at Weekley on April 2nd. The next A.G.M. will be at Desborough on January 14ih, 1961.

The officers for 1960 will be changed in two respects from 1959. Mr. Austin, as Central Council representative, is now ex-officio on the general committee, and his place is taken by

Mr. A. Frost. The secretary-treasurer for the past three years, Miss S. R. Collins, resigned, as she may be leaving the district during the year, and was replaced by Mr. M. A. Coleman. Paying tribute to her work for the Branch. the president thanked the retiring secretary for her services and wished her success in the future.
Three new members from Burton Latimer were elected, and Thorpe Malsor tower became affiliated to the Guild.

Ringing took place on the bells of St. Mary's at speeds to suit all tastes: there is a divergence of opinion as to the, best speed for this 10 ewt . ring. Methods up to Bristol were rung, and it was encouraging to see the younger generation trying their hand at new methods.

Tips For Beginners-4

If a bell is odd-struck it will be quick at one stroke and slow at the orher. A common fault is to correct the slowness at the one stroke but to forget to 'keep the bell off " at the other stroke.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Visitors from County Durham, Lancashire and Lincolnshire were among the company of 40 ringers at the winter meeting of the Eastern District, held at Hull on January 2nd. The Vicar (the Rev. R. Iliff) conducted the service and gave an address. Mr. H. Walker presided at the business meeting, when Pocklington was selected for the next meeting (possibly April 2nd). A collection for the Association's Bell Repair Fund realised $£ 1$ 2s. 3d.

HOW TO BECOME THE 'COMPLEAT' RINGER

Or A Bucks Course On Bell-ringing ATHOUGH the weather-to say nothing of the lecture room!-was cold enough to chill the ardour of the most enthusiastic novice. or of any other grade of ringer for that matter, about 30 , later swelling to 40 , turned up for the one-day instructional course organised by the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. More would probably have been attracted to High Wycombe Guildhall on January 9th had they known in advance that the Central Council's prestdent and No. 1 lecturer, Mr. Frederick Sharpe, and its No. 1 adviser on beginners, Mr. Wilfrid Wilson, were to be chief speakers.
With the aid of a bellrope neatly wrapped round the lintel of a door, Mr. Arthur Barker, Oxford Guild treasurer, explained for the benefit of both beginners and local instructors how one should learn and teach bell handling. Later a practical demonstration was glven in Wycombe belfry.
Mr. Wilson's theme was the best approach to the hurdle of how to learo the rudiments of sclentific change ringing. He emphasised that one must not be dogmatic about thesc things and carefully developed his subject so as not to offend either the Plain Bob or the Grandsire schoois of teaching.
Success in launching a young ringer into plain hunting, he said, was assured by making things as difficult as possible for him. such as changing the method, or calling bobs, of starting off from anything but rounds. He then taught us 'Flying Dutchman,' a system of ringing for beginners which always kent the bells in a coursing order helpful to both ringer and conductor, and had the great merit that rounds could be brought up when required. apart from which they would never appear.
He insisted that, in teaching heginners, we must, to quote his own words. 'avoid , "using technical terms-words like "dodging," for example, He didn't lead us up the garden.' but took us upstairs one at a time, allowed us only two steps on the landing and then brought us straight down again. He even perpetrated the heresy of advising us to make, our young people into 'tower snatchers.' His justification was that a young ringer in a new tower among unknown ringers and on strange bells wil! do his utmost to put up. a good show for the sake of his own prestige and the reputation of his tower. Returning to his home tower he argues to himself, ${ }^{1}$ am used to these bells: I can do better here -and he always does. Therefore, all you possesslve instructors. don't keep your youngsters tied to your apron strings or accompany them everywhere they go.
Wilfrid next showed us how to play the game 'Beat the belfry clock.' He explained how. by switching from Plain Bob to Little Bob or Double Bob, we can alwavs beat the clock just in time for service. Conducting. too, was child's play. After completely filling a hoard with W's. B's. M's. H's and columns of abstruse mathematics. he reduced them all to algebra and converted abe to bea or cab. By anplying this elementary algebra to peals of Plain Bob, Kent, Double Norwich or Cambridge, they were reduced to two-a-penny. Unforturately he omitted to say what to do if we are no good at algebra.

ABOUT BELLS

Mr. Fred Sharpe destroyed our spiritual complacency by confronting us with alt the things we had not done with our bells. Had we examined the crown staples to sce whether at any moment a bell might fall in two halves. at any moment a bell might fall in two halves.
being split open by the expansion of the staple due to rusting? Had we looked lately to see how much deeper was the dent in the bell where the clapper struck, or would we prefer to buy a new bell?
Had we attended to the rust on the rolled steel joists below the bell frame? Only recently one church had to have its girders renewed through such shameful dereliction of duty. The cast iron frame, apparently, was not such a load on our conscience, as this couldn't deteriorate quite as rapidly. That was about the only crumb of comfort Mr . Sharpe could feed us. Did we realise that such an apparent trifle as where the ropes fell might, or might not, bring the tower down on our heads?

Mr. Tim Glass, of Windsor, who has spliced more ropes for Her Majesty's telephone service than there are changes in a quarter peal. deftly demonstrated both the long and the short splice. PALUDIAN.

Peal Ringers Of 1959

Will those ringers who rang 25 peals or more during 1959 please send details to the Editor as soon as possible.

To relax our poor overworked brains after so much concentrated listening and assimulation it was most gratifying, as well as amazing, how well they functioned when responding to the call for a half-course of Cambridge Royal.
We had all learned something, from the greatest to the least, and a great debt of gratitude is due to Tony and Doreen Cox for all the stuff work and publicity which made such a successful day. This was a splended 1s. 6d. worth. and if the next Oxford Guild course at Radley, from Friday evening, April 29th, to Sunday afternoon, May 1 st, is as good, we'll be there-even if we are lectured to in a refrigerated room. PALUDIAN.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Ashford District

Wintry weather kept the attendance down to about 30 ringers at the first quarterly meeting of the year at New Romney on January 9th. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. F. S. Martin). The Rev J. Green read the lesson and Mr. K. Tullett was at the organ. Afterwards tea was enjoyed in the warm and cosy atmosphere of the Victoria Arms. Five new members were elected. Mr. T. Collingworth acted as Ringing Master, but members had an "off day' as far as Major ringing was concerned.

Another Tower Reclaimed - St. Peter's, Jarrow

MENTION of the town of Jarrow-on-Tyne conjures up in the minds of many people two very contrasting impressions. The first is of the Venerable Bede and the early Christian Church in this country, with its message of joy and hope. The second is of the depression of the early 1930's and its associated hunger marches-a story of sorrow and despair

These features of hope and despondency are not without relevance in present-day Jarrow, and especially so in the parish of St. Peter. The parish church, dating from 1881, is brick built with a slender south-east tower and spire, and is situated close to the banks of the River Tyne. The tower contains a ring of six bells (tenor 8 cwt.), cast by Warners in 1883, and ringing was regular from their earliest days to the outbreak of the last war. In that time 11 peals were rung on these bells, and the tower was a happy hunting ground in the 1920 's for that well-known character the late 'Uncle Joe" Sikes.
During the last war the spire became a casualty when the cable of a breakaway barrage balloon became entwined round the weathercock and tore off the lop portion. The spire has not been entirely restored and is now permanently truncated. In addition, with the termination of the war, Jarrow began a period of prosperity and renewed hope, and a great scheme of building development was begun, involving the demolition of great tracts of old property, much of which was situated around St. Peter's Church. so that where formerly the church was surrounded by dwelling houses it now stands in an almost desolate waste. As a consequence. the population of the parish has greatly diminished and the small but faithful congregation is now largely 'gathered.'

With all these vicissitudes in the church's life it is not surprising that the bells of St. Peter's have been silent for the past 20 years and the local ringers have dispersed. Until recently, there had been doubt as to whether the tower would still be strong enough to support further ringing and whether the bells themselves were in a fit state after such a spell of disuse. Following a private discussion between certain officials of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, Mr. C. N. Lea (vice-president of the Eastern District) made contact with the St. Peter's P.C.C. and offered to make a survey of the tower and bells with a view to restarting ringing and teaching a new local band. The P.C.C. showed themselves agreeable and extended a welcome to the proposed visit. Thus on a Saturday last July Mr. Lea, ably aided and abetted by the president and one or two Association members, made an exploratory visit to St. Peter's tower and found that apart from an accumulation of dirt, a few slack bolts and a lack of ropes. the individual bells were in a ringable condition. The tower and bell frame appeared to be quite sound and free from movement. A further visit with a working party was then arranged, and on November 2lst a party of volunteers, complete with spanners, lubricants and bell ropes, set to with a will to make up for a lack of over 20 years of maintenance on these bells. After two to three hours the work was completed, and the pleasing ring of six rang out for the first time since before 1939 with touches of Bob Minor and Cambridge Surprise.

The success of this venture did not end here. however. for the enthusiasm of the visitors had proved contagious, and several of the parishsioners, including two former ringers at the church, came to see and hear the ringing. resulting in a request for still further visits from the Association both to ring and help train local ringers. The first of these took place on December 16 th, when three locals were given their first introduction to the wiles of a bellrope, and the instructors were enabled to ring a quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor, the first quarter on these bells for over a guarter of a century, as follows: Mrs. C. N. Lea 1 J. E. Anderson 2. C. N. Lea 3. G. S. Deas 4. E. N. Harrison 5, J. A. Ainsworth (conductor) 6.

Further instructional visits and an Association District meeting are now planned, and these, it is hoped. will be mercly the forerunners of a revival of organised ringing at this tower. Thus one more "unringahle" ring has been rescued from the slough of despond, and in this aspect of its witness, at least, St. Peter's. Jarrow, can face the future with hope.

STEDMAN DOUBLES

Dear Sir,-Isn't Mr. Wilson on rather shaky ground when he says, in his first article on Stedman, 'In Stedman on any number, the bells on the front are never affected by calls, and deduces from this that the single normally used is the onry call possible in Doubles? Isn't he just describing how people choose to ring Stedman?

He means, I suppose, that the front work is the characteristic feature of the method and so should be left intact-as it is, by the two accepted types of calls, for Doubles, and for higher numbers. But one could also say that the dodging, in blocks of six blows, was the feature to be kept-and this would require a different call for Doubles.

A better argument would be that all possible calls rearranging three bells lead almost inevitably to falsity, unless singles are also used. And singles would be needed anyway to bring in the out-of-course changes, and they produce 15 extents without any need at all for bobs. In Erin, on the other hand, a bob is needed: it brings up four blows in thirds, and needs singles immediately before and after it.

I remember seeing one old ringing book-I think it was Troyte's 'Campanologia'--describe the regular Stedman Doubles single as on the second and third, not the third and fourth blows of the six (and this is where it should be made. if the call is given. as it often is, at handstroke, on the first blow of the six). Does anyone still ring it this way and when was the modern hand-and-back single introduced?-Yours. etc

JOHN G. PUSEY.

DUPLICATIONS IN SURPRISE MAJOR
Dear Sir, - Whilst compiling a numerical place notation index of Surprise Major methods, I have come across the following apparent duplications:-
(a) I find that Cudham and Derwent, which both have seconds place at the lead end have the same place notation. viz
$\times 56 \times 4 \times 56 \times 36 \times 34 \times 5 \times 34 \times 7$
The eighth place version of this is Chelsfield
(b) Braunstone and Wye (also both seconds at lead end) are denoted as:-
$\times 38 \times 4 \times 58 \times 16 \times 12 \times 3 \times 14.56 .7$
The eighths place version of Wye is Donisthorpe.
I think that Cudham and Derwent appear in A. J. Corrigan's Collection, but not Braunstone. If one of your readers could clarify me on these method names as to which is recognised I would be extremely grateful.

I would also like the figures of the following Surprisc Major methods: Apsley, Arnesby Evenlode, Hale, Lyminge, Northolt and Queslett.-Yours faithfully.

AUGMENTING HANDBELL RING

Dear Sir.-Thanks very much for the letter from Mr. Amos. I had hoped that my short note might bring some response. The little piece in the 'Belfry Gossip' didn't mention anything about the sort of bells.

I had three very small bells (top $C$ natural. F. sharp and $G$ sharp) recast and made from three of the type mentioned by Mr. Amos, 10 augment an octave of handbells. The cost of these was $£ 87 \mathrm{~s}$., which shows why I was astonished at the luck of Mr. Amos. No, am not a betting man and I am always willing to give what I can to good causes. I hoped that my letter would be written in the spirit in which it was written, i.e., wishing 10 know more,-Yours faithfully, A. BIGLEY. Irthlingborough.

PERSONAL ACHIEVEMENT WORTH PAYING FOR

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{I}$ am taking advantage of the concession to postal subscribers because feel that, morally, the solution to the financial difficulties of "The Ringing World must ultimately lie in a charge per bell for all peals published in full-no charge when the details are published in the usual form, but omitting the names of the ringers.
I have been a service ringer for many years but except for a few handbell peals as a boy, I have not yet rung a tower bell peal-much to my shame.
Had I done so I am sure I should have derived pleasure and some satisfaction in seeing my achievement reported. Those ladies and gentlemen who ring peals and whose performances are recorded should pay $6 d$. per bell. Although most of these ringers are unknown personally to me, I follow their activities with some interest and marvel at their keenness, power of endurance and con-centration.-Yours faithfully.

MORE NEWS FOR SERVICE RINGERS

WANTED

Dear Sir,-I wish you to accept my best wishes for your heatth and happiness during 1960. also to accept enclosed cheque as a slight contribution to the finances of "The Ringing World, which. I trust, are improving.
I am one of those rather sceptical about the raising of the price to 8 d . per copy; it appears the willing horse is being whipped further. I am afraid it will not increase production.
As an old selvice ringer, 73 years' experience with only about 40 peals to my credit, I often wish there was just a little news published of interest to service ringers. whom I estimate number 80 per cent. of ringers of this country. Is this worth con-sideration?-In all sincerity
G. H. WILLIAMS.

LOYALLY SUPPORT COUNCIL'S POLICY

Dear Sir,-I am glad Mr. William C. Boughton found my recent humble contribution mildly amusing but I must protest vigorously when he describes it as a feeble red herring.
I was not, I repeat not, writing about the cost of 'The Ringing World' or the method of finaneing its future publication. Perlaps before Mr. Boughton favours us in future with his comments he will at least afford to your correspondents the courtesy of reading what they have written.
As a matter of academic interest only, I would also be glad to know how Mr. Boughton has been able to find out how much or how little I, or any other peal ringer, contribute to the funds of the churches at which I ring.
As to the financing of 'The Ringing World.' may I cmulate the pharisaical sup eriority of Mr. Boughton and say, with great virtue, that I shall loyally support any future financial policy that may be democratically decided upon.-Yours faithfully,

OBITUARY

We regret to record the deaths of Mr. Alfred Gear, of Redhill, on Jantary 6th, aged 75, and Mr. George M. Rashbrook. of Colchester, on December 30th, aged 85. Appreciation tributes will appear in our next issue.

FINANCE

Dear Sir,-"But this I say, he which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly, and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also hountifully. Every man according as ho purposeth in his heart, so let him give, not grudgingly, or of necessity, for God loveth a cheerful giver.
I have been made thoroughly sick and tired of the recent grumblings in "The Ringing World ' by certain people with regard as to whe should be responsible for the payment of the extra money required to maintain the publication of our journal. They all seem to have been in a similar vein, i.e., the extra money must come 'as long as we don't have to pay it.' If anybody considers that their ' Ringing World, isn't worth another 2 d . per week then I suggest that they haven't got the interests of ringing at heart, but purely 'How much pleasure can we get for how little expenditure.
Some years ago Mr. Southwood asked if he could come to Cheshire to ring two peals at his convenience, these being duly arranged and rung, at Norbury and Macclesfield respectively. From his letter it scems that h only rings peals when he feels like ringing one; rather a selfish attitude. I might also suggest that Mr. Southwood purchases the - Central Council Handbook, price 2s. Gd. in which he will read that it is a rule that all peals rung must be published in "The Ringing World.
Regarding the payment of 2 s . 6d. per rope for all peals rung, as suggested by Mr. Lee, in the same edition of "The Ringing World' (December 25th. 1959), it could be that there would be a large number of peals not published, or rung as Non-Association peals, in order to avoid paying this levy. Apart from this fact, it does not seem to be fair to me that one part of the ringing exercise should be responsible for the finance of The Ringing World.' If this were the case then the would have every right to call it the 'Peal Ringers' World,' then only subjects relevant to peal ringing would be published in it. As it is, only 28.125 per cent. of 'The Ringing World' of December 25th, 1959, was taken up with the peal columns, which, as stated, is cheaper to print than the remaining pages. Mr . Broughton said that everything was provided "free, gratis and for nothing.' On the face of it this appears to be true. but on the whole peal ringing can become more costly than the great majority of common soorts. e.g., football. cricket, cross-country. Travelling expenses, correspondence, etc., can run away with a very large percentage of one's money. This is particularly true for teenagers and university students, this being one of the reasons that we use youth hostels when on ringing tours.
The answer lies in what ringing means to each individual. Well, is it worth another 2d.? I think so. After all. what would you spend it on? A cigarette? Onc-seventh of a pint of best mild? A half-mile bus ride? Yours, etc. Morple, Cheshire. ROBERT B. SMITII

OLDEST BELL IN HERTFORDSHIRE

Dear Sir.-Whilst welecning the article on Harpenden hells ilnd ringers. I mist point out a misleading statement in the onening paragraph (page 777). The oldest bell in the county cannot be the 15 th century bell mentioned as several 14th century bells exist: e.g.. at Hexion. Westmill. Little Berkhamsted. Wyddial, etc. Full details can be found in 'Church Bells of Hertfordshire, by North and Stahlschmidt. The vast majority of ancient hells mentioned in this book are fortunately still intact.-Yours faithfully.

CHRISTMAS TIME IN ESSEX

THREE BELLRINGERS OF BENTLEY COMMON, ESSEX.-The Misses Barbara Fisher, Lorna Doone and Sandra Airton bring out seasonable fare for their dinner and social held on December 5th. Ringers and friends from Ingrave and South Weald joined them for a very enjoyable evening.

AMERICAN SCHOOLS RING TOGETHER

Kent School. Kent. Connecticut, were hosts to ten members of the Bell Ringers' Guild from Groton School. Massachusetts, lor the week-end of December Sth.

When Groton arrived the bells were muted so that the ringers would be able to get the feel of the bells without ringing open. Then the Kent band proceeded 10 demonstrate their skill on eight bells, ringing plain hunting and Grandsire Triples. The Groton hand also rang on Saturday night.
The two bands combined for Sunday ringing $t 0$ ring all of Kent's ten hells. This was the first time for over two years the ten hells had been rung.
These two schools are the only institutions in the United States to carry on change ringing.

West Lindsey Branch

So successful was the dinner and social evening which marked the inauguration of the West Lindsey Branch just over 12 months ago. that there was a keen demand for a similar event to be held this year. This took place on January 2 nd at Lea Institute and was attended by some 80 members and friends. The emphasis was on entertainment rather than formal speech-making, and the annual meeting had, therefore, been arranged as a separate occasion at a later date.

Following dinner the Haxey handbell ringers entertained the company with a selection of well-known tunes. The secretary (Mr. G. L. A. Lunn) then gave a light-hearted explanation of ringing terms, illustrated with amusing tableaux staged by memhers. Dancing took place later and a number of narty games, organised by Mr. D. G. Crosby. provided amtisment for everyone.

Conveniently close at hand, Lea bells were available during the afternoon for those who cared to ring.

KINGSBURY, WARWICKSHIRE

On December 12th another page was added to the history of the 11 th century church of SS. Peter and Paul, situated on a hilltop in the mining village of Kingsbury, near Tamworth. Deputising for the Archdeacon of Aston, who was indisposed, the Rev. J. W. Bennett (Vicar) dedicated a new treble bell. A large congregation, which included about 50 ringers, attended.

In bis address the Vicar said the inscription on the bell was a fitting recognition of the efforts of Mr. G. H. Lane, the tower captain, his family and fellow members of the band. For some years various efforts had been made to raise money to enable the ring in this ancient tower to be increased to six hells.
The opening touch of 108 Boh Minor was rung by the local band: J. Basford 1. S. Perry 2. I. Smith 3, D. K. Lane 4, W. G. Lane S. G. H. Lane (conductor) 6. After tea, kindly provided by Kingshury ringers and friends, the hells were at the disposal of visiting ringers til? $8.30 \mathrm{p.m}$.

John Taylor and Co., who cast the existing five bells in 1849 and rehung them on ballbearings in 1921, have supplied the new bell. Kingsbury now has a very good ring of six. with tenor 16 cwt . in E . The treble is 2 ft . $6 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{in}$. in diameter in C sharp, weighs $5 \frac{\mathrm{cwt}}{} \mathrm{cw}$. and shows an inscription, ' 1 Came By Many "Lanes": with the founder's name and the year.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

When the annual meeting of the Bath Branch was held at St. Michael's, Broad Street, Bath, on January 9 th, members stood in memory of the late secretary, Mr. Sealy Woodburn, and a vote of appreciation of his services as Branch secretary since 1939 was recorded in the minutes. Mr. Woodburn will be especially remembered for the way he encouraged young people with their ringing.

The Rev. E. Rowe was elected chairman and the Revs. Sargent (St. Michael's). L. White (Twerton) and F. Pollard (Freshford) vice-chairmen. Mr. Alan Lee is the new secretary and Mr. Terry Milsom succeeds Mr. T. Hayward, treasurer since 1952, who may be leaving Bath. Nineteen new members were admitted-iwo each from Twerton and Corston, three from St. Michael's, five from Keynsham and seven from Freshford.

The service at St. Michael's was conducted by the Rector, with the Rev. E. Rowe (Vicar of Weston) as preacher.

Dorking Ringers' Annual Supper

For the ninth successive year the annual Supper of the Dorking ringers, held on New Year's Eve, was again very enjoyable. The Vicar (Canon K. D. Evans) presided over a company of 40 . Welcome visitors were the Rev. C. Marshall, ringing curate at Leatherhead, and Mr. Frank Oakshott, of Epsom.
The catering arrangements were again ably arried out by the Misses E. Clear and $\mathbf{B}$. carricd out by the Misses E. Clear and B.
Dowling, assisted by other ladies. After the supper the Rev. C. Munt, priest-in-charge at Ranmore. kindly showed a film strip. in colour, of scenes of local interest, including. of course, the ringers! This was followed hy tune playing on handhclls by six young members of the band. who, during Christmas week, collected $£ 10$ for the Church of England Children's Society. They also won the cup. for the second vear. at the Dorking Festival of Music and Drama.
It has been a successful year, under the captaincy of Mr. F.. G. I.. Coward. during which six quarter peals have been rung, including two of Stedman Triples, and eight bells have always been rung every Sunday

ROVING RINGERS' LAKE DISTRICT TOUR

THE 1959 tour of the Society began on July 25th, when about 20 cyclists met at Heversham for ten days' ringing in the Lake District and Lancashire. We had expected the cycling to be harder than we had had in East Anglia in 1958, and soon found this to be so; the going was at times hard, particularly when protesting members of the weaker sex had to be goaded up seemingly endless hills! However, we all completed the 250 miles of the tour ; in fact we finished with more ringers than we started with. Our only mishaps were a buckled wheel and a dozen or so punctures, though our map readers were occasionally at fault, causing at least one tandem pair to pay a visit to the shores of Wastwater and another small party to tramp across the lesser-known parts of Wasdale. As is usual, we stayed in youth hostels, and it was evident that many experienced hostellers were in the party, particularly when jobs were being allocated!

Although, for some, it had been a day's journey to reach Heversham, we all arrived in time for the ringing, which started with a course of Cambridge by members from the "cider counties,' led by our Master, Michael Horseman. Our evening was spent in Kendal. though we were unable to ring here because the bells were receiving attention from the bell-hangers, We set off next morning to ring at Crosthwaite, where we were warmly welcomed at the Communion service by the Rector. As we had no ringing fixed for the afternoon, our attention was directed toward other pastimes-at least one party went out rowing on Lake Windermere in the rain, and someone else said they had been hill climbing! The magnificent ring at Ambleside had been put at our disposal by the local ringers for Evensong; but although we enjoyed our Stedman and Cambridge, we did not really do justice to these bells. Our evening gathering at Ambleside Hostel enabled the choir to have its first full session, though the male voice section were later to fall foul of the warden for singing after hours.

FILMED IN 'RAIN HATS'

Monday morning's first tower was Bowness where, after some Bristol, our Master called some St. Clement's Triples. Our journey across the ferry lowards Hawkshead was marred by heavy showers; however, it gave our cameramen plenty of scope for filming us in our ' rain hats.' We were welcomed at Hawkshead by the Rector. who joined us in our ringing on the excellent eight, where methods rung included a good course of London. The earlier part of the afternoon was spent toiling upwards to the Cumberland horder-our progress being sufficiently slow to enjoy the scenery. Once over the border. we made use of the easier gradients down 10 Keswick, where carlier arrivals just missed heavy rain. It was still raining when we reached Crosthwaite Church, though it did not dampen our ringing, as Bristol and 4 -spliced went well on this ground flool ring. Our overnight stay at the riverside hostel at Keswick was a pleasant one; the walking club strolled down to Derwentwater during the evening, whilst the less energetic patronised the alehouses.
On our ride to Cockermouth next morning the seemingly fortunate gent who passed us in a truck had actually had his cycle wheel run over. We found Cockermouth bells to our liking and managed to ring Pudsey and 5 -spliced. After lunch we visited Bridekirk where, as was fitting, a wedding was about to take place, and we were able to "fire ' the bells after the ceremony. Ringing at Aspatria was not up 10 standard, perhaps due to the long draught: however, we made good use of the tall tower to gain a view of the Scottish coast. We then returned to Cockermouth where, after a few hardy souls had taken a dip in the river, we joined the local ringers for practice.
A cloudy sky threatened our morning ride to Arlecdon, hut the rain stayed away fortunately. and we enjoyed a good hour's ringing at this well-kept church. Our ringing on the heavier bells at Cleator Moor suffered as a reheavier bells at Cleator Moor suffered as a result of an excellent lunch. though we made up for this by some good Stedman and 6 -spliced at Egremont. Our route now took us away from the industrial area towards the quiet coastal village of St . Bees, where, on the slow-turning eight at the Priory, we included Oxford Bob Triples in our repertoire. Our journey to the hostel at Netherwasdale was truly one of contrasting scenes-from the giant atomic station at Windscale to the remote hillside farm that was our destination.

HARDEST CYCLING

We greeted John Slater on Thursday morning with ' 21 Today" and other well-known songs; our Oxford member also celebrated his birthday, which he claimed to be a very doubtful 22 nd. The day proved to be our hardest for cycling and we failed to reach Broughton $m$ time despite a liberal time allowance. The long climb over Birker Fell, coupled with a series of punctures, caused one small party to arrive in the back of an Army lorry. We straggled into Barrow in twos and threes (though a few people had made use of British Railways), and we were grateful to two local ringers who made up the first band. We gathered ourselves together again for the short ride to the third "Furness tower-the ten at Dalton. where we rang Stedman and Cambridge. We were thankful for our enforced train ride across the estuaries to Arnside. This also gave one railway enthusiast a chance to ride on the footplate. An extra tower had been arranged for us in the evening by our friend from Heversham, and a large number crowded into his Land Rover for a visit to Silverdale.
As we had hooked for two nights at Arnside. Friday's trip was in the form of a circular tour (minus saddlebags!) over easier-going ground We visited the 6-bell towers of Beetham and Burton-in-Holme, where a local ringer joined us for some York Minor. At Kirkby Lonsdale. in the afternoon, two members-much to their discredit-had a lesson in tandem riding around the churchyard. Although the route to Hornby was straightforward, one party made a start towards Carlisle, but having realised the error of their ways rejoined us at this octagonal tower for ringing. Once again the Land Rover awaited us at the hostel, this time for a visit to Milnthorpe, which was much enjoyed.
We arrived in Lancaster on Saturday morning and met the first of the 'week-enders.' We did not find the bells at St. Mary's particularly easy to ring. After lunch we made our way through the busy traffic to our week-end headquarters at Preston, visiting three more towers on the way An attempt to ring Double Bob at Garstang fired out: however, we did better at Bilsborrow where London and a ladies' long touch of Grandsire Triples were rung. Our last tower was Broughton, where a good course of Norwich Minor was rung. After dinner at the Bull and Royal that evening a short business meeting took place, at which we voted Birmingham as the venue of our reunion in February. 1960

TENOR CLAPPER FELL OUT

The tower of St. John's at Preston is very conveniently situated, enabling late risers to have a ring before morning service. Unfortunately the seventh was out of action, so ringing was restricted to Major and Caters with the tenor turned in. We were again unfortunate when, during the ringing at the Catholic Church at Bamber Bridge, the tenor clapper fell out: however, late arrivals had a short ring on the front six. We were greeted by the Vicar at Leyland, where we rang for Evensong, and our ringing here included Cambridge and Yorkshire Royal.

We rose fairly early on Bank Holiday Monday in preparation for our homeward journeys. Our final towers were the eight at Higher Walton, and Blackburn-the only cathedral of the tour. A number of local ringers met us here, and after an unsteady start settled down to some good ringing, which ended with three courses of Stedman and the ten bells lowered in peal.
In conclusion, we should like to thank all those who helped to make this a pleasant and successful tour. including all incumbents and tower captains: in particular, thanks to our friends from Heversham and Cockermouth who helped us on our way. A word of thanks also to our Master for keeping us in order, and to our secretaries who did a wonderful job, and can be said to have scored a success the first attempt!

ANNUS IRAE - II. AFTERMATH

LOOKING back to the events of sixty years ago it is not difficult to perceive how the accusations and disclosures that followed the Kidlington dispute were the outcome, directly or indirectly, of that classic contest. William Pye did not forget Willson's intervention and William Willson did not forget Pye's contemptuous references to his ringing prowess. Neither could feel charitably inclined towards the other, and neither could restrain the wish that something could be found to discredit his opponent. It was Willson who led off on September 2 nd with a violent attack on a peal of Stedman Caters called by William Pye at Bermondsey. With what now seems a perverse desire to aggravate the situation, 'The Bell News ’ headed the letter, 'The bogus Bermondsey peal.' Again the storm burst, and this time with great bitterness and an absence of restraint, and the matter was complicated by Plain Speaker's mysterious reference to a letter from Tom Newman, of Caversham, which could not be printed because it would reopen the Kidlington wounds.

Once again it needed influential suggestion, and a letter from C. E. D. Boutflower deploring the tone of the correspondence, to bring the affair to an end. But more was to come. At the end of the year a peal of Stedman Cinques at Bristol, rung in just under three and a half hours, raised a controversy emanating from the Ipswich district, where 'W. R.' maintained that peals of Cinques could not be rung in the time given. Despite a widening of the discussion, the right of the matter scemed to be with the Bristol ringers, for whom the opinions of F. G. May carried great weight; and the most interesting and instructive part of this argument will be found to lie in George Daltry's letter of February 24th, 1900. This expresses some very thoughtful views on weights of bells and speeds of ringing.

The Bristol controversy was (in its setting) a mild interlude, and before it was settled the rumblings of a more dreadful storm were apprehended in Plain Speaker's columns, where there appeared rather more than a hint that the first peal of Treble Bob Royal to be rung in Ireland had proved not to be a peal at all. The peal, in which William Willson took part, had been conducted by Washbrook a year or two before, and rumours were now going round to the effect that the composition was false. Alas, it was so. The peal had, in its concluding stages, been called into the Plain Course by two bobs at Middle, and in the absence of a bob or bobs at Home to start the peal, this necessarily rendered the composition false. A letter from Gabriel Lindoff, published on March 24th, left no doubt about the matter, but two things turned what might have been a genuine mistake into a minor scandal: the alleged placing of some irrelevant figures with the Association under whose auspices the peal was rung, and the fact that a considerable number of folk in England seemed to have been aware that there was something queer about this performance and yet had done nothing to bring the truth to light.

To Mr. Pye, of course, it seemed that the enemy was delivered into his hands; Washbrook and Willson were at his mercy. Willson was silent, and it was some weeks before Washbrook could be brought to offer any sort of explanation. Before he could do so, Tom Newman got his head into the open and chose this moment to cast a doubt on Washbrook's record length of London Surprise, rung in 1896. Newman asserted that during that peal T. Payne set his bell and someone else pulled it off for him. Subsequent correspondence showed that there was little evidence to support this accusation, and the Oxford folk, led by the Rev. F. E. Robinson, arose, as may be supposed, in a body to defend their reputation and their achievement. Washbrook was able to mitigate the Treble Ten embarrassment by a justifiable defence of the record London. Mr. Tom Newman's intervention was futile, and his case died; but there was yet one more burst of fury in this year of wrath, and it was directed against William Pye by Mr. T. H. Taffender, who attacked a peal of Treble Twelve rung at St. Michael's, Cornhill.

The exchanges that followed were crude and hardhitting, and it may here suffice to say that of one letter the Editor remarked: ' We have taken the trouble to tone this letter down a little., and of an epistle from the other protagonist: 'We have felt compelled to eliminate a sentence from this letter.' It was clearly time to call a halt, and a measured, considered appeal from Canon Papillon in 'The Bell News' of April 28th expressed what all rightthinking ringers had in mind. The columns of the paper were closed forthwith to this and all allied disputes. The great year of wrath was ended.

MR. FRED NEWCOMBE

Mr. Fred Newcombe, a member of St. Peter's Society of Change Ringers. Tiverton, for upwards of 50 years, and one of the oldest members of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, died on January 16th in Tiverton District Hospital, after a short illness very cheerfully borne, at the age of 87.

During his long service to St. Peter's Society he was steeple keeper for over 25 years and also conductor. As a peal ringer he only rang a few. but he was very proud of the ones he rang at St. Peter's, some of which he conducled. He gave up ringing shortly after his 80th birthday, but until then he was a regular service ringer.
The funeral at Tiverton Cemetery on January $20 t h$ was conducted by the Rector (Canon R. C. Worsley). The St. Peter's Society of Change Ringers and the Guild of Devonshire Ringers were represented by Mr. W. H. Ware. A wreath was sent by the local ringers in memory of a very good friend and ringer. The bells of St. Peter's, which he loved more than any others. were rung half-muffled to his memory by James D. Upion (captain) 1, G. W. Hollis 2, G. Court 3, Miss B. Hollis 4, T. Gill 5, G. Emmett 6, J. Rowsell 7. W. H. Ware 8. So passes another member of the Exercise who will be always remembered by his many friends.

May he rest in peace.
W. H. W.

MR. GEORGE M. RASHBROOK

With the passing of Mr. George M. Rashbrook on December 30th, at the age of 85 years, one of the last links with ringing at St. Peter's, Colchester, at the end of the last century has gone, the only surviving member now left, to the writer's knowledge, heing Mr. R. W. Stannard, of Barking.

A faithful ringer there for 65 years, George probably learned to ring at St. Peter's at the end of the $1880^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$, and rang his first 720 Minor there in 1891, conducted by Mr. Stannard. His first peal, 5,050 Oxford Treble Bob Major.

OBITUARY

was at Ardleigh, Essex, on April 22nd, 1893, conducted by Janes Motts, while his first 720 as conductor was on handbells on February $5 \mathrm{th}, 1894$.
A safe ringer and good striker on any number of tower- or handbells, his work as a master baker prevented him from taking part in many peals; however, he had rung about 60 including 14 of Superlative Surprise and the first peal of Bob Royal in Colchester on handbells in 1934, conducted by the late W. Keeble, with whom he rang many handbell peals. A peal of which he was especially proud was the grandfather peal of 5,088 Kent T.B. Major at Great Baddow, Essex, in 1935.
The writer had the privilege of conducting George's 80th birthday peal of Double Norwich at St. Peter's on March 13th, 1954, when he rang the third bell faultlessly. This was his last peal, as shortly afterwards failing eyesight and a broken wrist caused his retirement from active ringing, although he retained his interest in ringing matters, and was always ready to talk about bygone days. A member of the Essex Association for a great number of years, he was elected a life member several years ago, and was at one time tower secretary of the St. Peter's company. His wife predeceased him in 1958, as also did his only daughter some years previously. There are two sons left, one of whom lives in New Zealand; we extend our sympathy to them.
The cremation look place at Colchester on January 4th. Local ringers were represented by Mr. E. P. Duffiela, with whom George had rung many of his peals. A wreath was also sent from the Colchester ringers.
May he rest in peace.
H. J. M.

MR. ALFRED GEAR

For well over 50 years a member of the Surrey Association, and a keen ringer at St. John's, Redhill, Mr. Alfred Gear died on January 6th, aged 75 years. He had been an officer of the District for at least 30 years, and for the last 14 years treasurer.

At his funeral on January 12 th the Vicar (Rev, S. G. Dyer) praised him for his service to the Church, his Christian way of life, the many sacrifices he made for the benefit of others, and the high esteem in which he was held, both by his fellow churchmen and his business associates.

The mourners included ringers from Redhill, Reigate and Nutfield. A quarter peal of 1.260 Grandsire Triples was rung half-muflied in the evening.

MR. ISAAC FARMER

The Bath and Wells Association, and especially the Dunster Branch, have lost an old and much-respected member through the unexpected death of Mr. Isaac Farmer on January 8 th.
'Ike' had been a life-long member of the Association and was for many years the principal conductor in Dunster Branch. He was most regular in attending Branch meetings and St. George's Church. Dunster, on Sundays.
The local band paid their tribute at his funeral. On January 11 th and before the annual meeting of the Dunster Branch on January 16 th , members of the B. and W. Association rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples with bells half-muffled as a last tribute of respect. His death will be keenly felt by the local band as 'Ike' never missed.

 ringers again drew for places before the start The performance was an outstanding one as Messrs. Egglestone and Roast and Miss Snowden had not previously conducted a peal of London Surprise. The band was again indebted to Mr. Lewis Wiffen for umpiring in the cold belfry. Mr. Wiffen's unfailing enthusiasm at the age of 78 is a lesson to all. Why not put your name in the hat next time, Lewis?Congratulations to the well-known Worcester ringer. Mr. T. W. Lewis, on ringing his 500 th peal.
Another laggards" peal has been registeredone of Plain Boh Minor rung in bed at Marple, Cheshire, on January 10th.
Donations acknowledged this week include one for 7 s . 6 d . 'to reimburse for any loss through purchasing from a newsagent.' A thoughtful and much appreciated idea.
We are asked to state that the next meeting of the Kent District of the Ladies Guild will he at Lenham on March 12 th; the following one (mentioned in the ' R.W. 'last week) will he at Chelsfield on April 23rd.
Good progress by the Sunday service band at the Church of the Holy Cross, Daventry, is revealed hy the peal of Plain Bob Major on January 8th. The only outsider was the conductor, Mr. Bryan Pattison.
A new ring of six is to be shortly dedicated at Apsley, Nottingham, with a tenor of about If cwt . The frame is made for eight in this new church, which will be dedicated to St. Margaret.
At the opening-of-term service of Tudor Grange Grammar School for Boys, Solihull. the bells of the parish church were rung by hoys of the school in excellent style to Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles. Those taking part were Robert Henebury, James Clark, Roy Tallis, Iain Tingle. Maurice Hughes, Victor Nash and Roger Tallis. This is the first time that a Solihull school has provided its own hand of ringers for a school service.

GOSSIP

For his age of 86 years it is doubtful if there is a fitter ringer than Mr. Reuben Sanders. He rang the seventh at St. Clement Danes' to a peal of Stedman Caters faultlessly in honour of his birthday, and at the end he was as fresh as when he started. reports the conductor. May he be spared for many more good peals, is the wish of his almost numberless friends.

Since his arrival in Plymouth in recent months, Mr. J. L. Blagg has taken up ringing again after a break of nearly 30 years.

We note that Mr. George Gilbert, of Burnham, is still shepherding first-pealers through. He added another two names to his list on January 9 th.

Some good work is being done at King's Norton. Five first peals, one first "inside " and another first of Major should please any conductor's heart.

Mr, F. Hector Bennett, of Shrewsbury, must be proud of his band who rang a peal of Kenz T.B. at Newton. It was the first of Treble Bob for the other five ringers.
Owing to numerous complaints, ringing at the London County Association meeting at St. Mary-atte-Bow on January 16th had ta be curtailed. The District Master expresses his apologies to any of the company who did not get a ring.
Choir members of St. Andrew's, Preston, Weymouth, rang a quarter peal on January 17th to mark the occasion of the dedication of their new choir stalls by the Bishop of Salisbury. The ringing was of a high standard, especially of two junior members - Gerald Cornick and Sylvia Watson.

On November 15 th a peal was rung at Droitwich Spa by a band of average age 15 years 2 months. This was believed to be the youngest band to ring a peal for the Worcestershire Association on tower bells. However, on January sth, five of the same band, with a different tenor man, making a band of average age 15 years 1 month, rang a peal of Grandsire at Wychbold in 2 hours 37 minutes.

HAWKSHEAD BELLS

The January issue of 'Lancashire Life' conains an interesting account-well illustratedof Hawkshead tower and its ringers. The instructor at this tower is Mr. Nicholas Newby, who makes a round trip of 36 miles from his home at Ulverston every Monday to teach the band.
Captain of the tower is Mr. Robin Shuttleworth, who has been ringing here for 34 years. and Mr. Fred Coward, who joined the band in 1916, is still a ringer. The latest recruit is Mr. William Kenyon, a local hotel proprietor, and the youngest Christine Kirk, aged 12. A regnlar attender at the practices is the Vicar (Rev. Robert L.indsay), who enjoys his ringing.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

At the annual meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birminghan. the Master (Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd) reported a successful year of peal ringing. chiefly as the result of the resumption of ringing at the Cathedral. They had lost the very fine ring of eight at Bishop Ryders. where the church and tower are now in process of demolition, bul, on the other hand. they had gained a new cight at Bishop Latimer's Church, where hand of ringers is now heing trained.

The secretary and treasurer reported that due to the impending expense of a new peal book, a loss of $£ 20$ would be sustained. After several members had voiced their opinions concerning the recording of peals, it was decided that the present system (which dates from 1755) should be maintained and that a new peal book be purchased.
The following new members were elected: Miss Alma Greaves (King's Norton), Messrs, David J. Harrabin (Handsworth). Alan Burbidge and John C. Birt (Aston), C. D. Baugh, J. T Clarke, R. E. Henebury and Miss J. Shaw (Shirley) and Peter Bennett (Bearley). The following tower elections of life members were duly ratified: Miss Norah Bibby, Miss Margaret Swan. Mr. Gcorge H. Randles and Mr. John Walden. all of Lincoln.
The officers of the Guild were re-elected for the year 1960, viz: Master. Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd: Ringing Master, Mr. John Pinfold: trustees. Alderman Paddon Smith and Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd: auditors. Mr. Heary H. Fearn and Mr. Sidney O.C. Holloway: Central Council representatives, Mr. Frank E. Haynes and Mr. George E. Fearn: librarian. Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd: hon. secretary and treasurer. Mr. George E, Fearn.
It was unanimously decided to invite Mr. Rodney B. Meadows to occupy the chair at the Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner, which will be held on February 27th.
Solihull will be the venue of the next quarterly meeting, which will take place on April 2nd.

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE - No. 5

MR. FRANK W. PERRENS

(Hon. Librarian to the Central Council)

Mr. F. W. Perrens succeeded Mr. F. Sharpe as librarian when the latter was elected president of the Central Council, and he now adorns that bench of 'sombre and dignified' persons who face the assembled members at mectings of the Council. Born at Bloxwich in 1891, he was educated at the Central Scpondary School, Birmingham, and St. John's College, Battersea. He took up teaching as a profession, working at Willenhall from 1911 to 1915 , which was interrupted by service in the R.A.F. He then went to Sutton Coldfield and continued teaching there until 1920. That year saw his appointment at Coventry Technical College, where he served until 1954. Then he was appointed housemaster at Woodiands Comprehensive School, Coventry, from which he retired in 1956. He learned to ring at Willenhall in 1910 and. progressing rapidly, rang his first peal, Grandsire, at St. Paul's, Wood Green, in the same year. He soon commenced conducting and called his first peal, again Grandsire Triples, in the following year. On his removal to Sutton Coldfield he very soon took up association with St. Martin's Guild, where, at that time, handbell ringing was going strong.' His first handbell peal was Steaman Cinques, which was also the first such peal in the city of Birmingham. Whilst in that district he took part in the first peal of Bristol Surprise Major in Birmingham. When he moved to Coventry he joined the All Saints', Allesley, band, and was soon appointed Ringing Master. Under his able leadership that band made rapid progress and were soon ringing a variety of Surprise methods, and his band of Sunday service ringers were very proud when they accomplished a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in six methods.

Mr . Perrens is actively connected with the Warwickshire Guild (now Coventry Diocesan Guild), becoming its Ringing Master for a great number of years, and eventually its president, which office he now holds. He called the first peals ever rung of Lincolnshire, Warwickshire. York, Wigston and Stratford Surprise Major, and for the Warwickshire Guild the first peals of New Cambridge, Ipswich, Yorkshire, Staffordshire, Pudsey, Ashtead and Painswick Spliced Surprise Major, New Cambridge Royal and Duffield Major. He also called its first handbell peals of Stedman Caters and Cinques, and in addition to calling the Oxford Guild's first of Cambridge Maximus has taken part in the first peals in that method in many counties, including the first at Exeter Cathedral. In 1958 he took part in a peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Paul's Cathedral, London. His total now is 538 , conducted 215 .

On his retirement in 1956 Mr . Perrens and his charming wife, Elsie, made the journey to visit their eldest son, the Rev. Everard G. Perrens. M.A.. headmaster of a senior secondary school for Africans in Uganda. Their youngest son, Donald $F$. Permens. D.S.O., D.F.C., M.A., is head of the Science Department at Eastbourne College. JAFUS.

Spliced Triples' by J. Segar

This new publication by Mr. Segar deals with the slicing of the eleven "legitimate" twin hunt Triple methods. A wide range of touches is given, ranging from some of a few leads to quarter peals and peals.
This publication should prove valuable to bands who can ring Triples proficiently and want to try something different without going outside the scope of orthodox methods.
Copies can be obtained (price 6d., post free) from Mr. Speed. (See back page.)

Tips For Beginners-5

If. when learning to hum, you are able to find your way up bur have difficulty in finding jour way at the quicker pace necessury to come down again, remember that the bell you 'turn from the back' is your course bell, and you follow him down, leaving room for one bell between you until you get to second's place. If you follow the eyes of the ringer of your course bell you strike next after each bell he is striking after.

London County Association

Holding its annual meeting at St. Mary-atteBow on January 16th. the Northern District members heard from the District Master (Mr. J. Bullock) that the District was in a healithy position, but asked for more support by members at District meetings.

Officers elected were: Master, Mr. J. Bullock: secretary, Mr. L. W. Bullock; steward, Mr. B. Weaver.
Ringing concluded at $6.50 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and methods rung ranged from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

A resolution in favour of a national memorial to the late Mr. A. H. Pulling will come before the annual meeting of the Guildford Diocesin Guild.

There is a departure this year from the first Saturday in March for the Henry Johnson dinner. It will be held on Saturday. February 27th. with Mr. Rodney B. Meadows as the chairman

Mr. Brian Threlfall, of Bromley has, with a peal at Stepney, rung 100 peals of Surprise Major, and to reach the century has taken him almost 11 years. He has yet to complete the alphabet to Surprise peals-letters $g, i, j$ and $x$ are still outstanding.

Mr. George H. Randles and Miss Norah M Bibby were married at Lincoln on December 30th last. Congratulations from the Lincoln ringers on the happy occasion was marked by a peal of Gresford Surprise Major at St. Giles: Lincoln. The name of this new method was aptly selected by the newly-weds.

Choristers at Wychbold, Worcs, rang a quarter peal on January 17th. Of the band of 16 . no fewer than nine are choristers, two servers, and the tower captain is secretary of the P.C.C. - It is pleasant to feel that a keen team can be maintained at a tower with such unmelodious bells," writes our correspondent.

St. Mary's, Sunbury-on-Thames, revived a pre-war custom on January 9 th when ringers, servers, adult choristers and junior church teachers were invited to 'some viands and cider' by the Vicar and churchwardens. The ringers' contingent. numbering 26 , contributed to a happy evening, handbell ringing of tunes and change-ringing.

LETTERS TO

THE FAST PEAL AT EVESHAM

Dear Sir,-No doubt many of your readers who have read the correspondence under this heading will immediately say "What right has Pat Cannon to criticise a peal which he didn't even hear? : But those who know Pat really well and have taken part in peals with him performing on the tenor will know that he has few equals, if any, on that score, and it is doubtful if there is anyone living at this present time who has a greater wealth of experience at 'turning in ' heavy tenors than Pat, and through such vast experience he knows only too well that it would require more than a super man to strike a bell of 36 cwt . to a peal of Surprise Major in so short a time as that taken recently at Evesham.

Most of us know that Pat's tenor ringing is immaculate, and he has rung many fast peals and slow ones too; but whatever speed he has to ring his bell is always 'on the dot.' This cannot, however, be said in the case of Stephen Ivin's most energetic performance at Evesham, which struck me that as we had met short for Royal, rather than go away without a peal an attempt for Major was made with a 'get it over as quickly as possible, attitude, and to make matters even worse, the band was not placed too well, with the net result a very poor peal was rung. But the tenor man must not take all the blame for this as he didn't exactly have a star-studded band for such an occasion. However. I've no doubt that in say 20 years' time Stephen wil! not be so proud of such a performance as he may be today, as I've known of a similar incident before.
'Comparisons are odious,' so Mr. Hemming's letter falls completely flat. How can you compare a peal of Royal with a peal of Major?, and he should know only too well that Birmingham ringers have a technique of their own in the art of fast ringing; but I do admit that they overdo it at times, but that is another argument.
To my mind this record time ringing has largely been brought about by the absurd footnotes you have rather foolishly allowed to go, into print, such as 'Quickest peal of the bells.' Young ringers of today simply lap it up, and shis Evesham peal is just but one result of this. -Yours faithfully,

RALPH G. EDWARDS.
Birmingham..

FOR THE "CRITICS"

Dear Sir,-More than 11 column inches of precious space have been devoted to argument arising from an expressed opinion by one, not a witness, regarding the speed of a peal.

It is impossible to generalise, and the quality of such performances should be left judged by the ringers themselves or by witnesses and not allowed to become the excuse for correspondence which appears from time to time usually surrounding a small number of people who, it would appear, are not content with the notoriety they have achieved through the peal columns.

Such matter is not helpful, neither is it interesting to the great majority of your readers. - Yours faithfully, Solihull, Warks.

A THOUGHT AFTER EVESHAM

Some ringers rang a fast peal,
And Pat, who likes a joke,
Wrote a little letter,
Correspondence to invoke.
Well. I think this is the story,
'Cause I've heard our Pat before Drop a little "clanger
To make our tempers soar.

So I tell you not to worry At Patrick's little chaff,
For in reading this week's 'Ringing World I've had me quite a laugh.

BABBACOMBE BILL.'

LITTLE BOB MAXIMUS

Dear Sir,-May I commend the following composition on account of its musical qualities and simplicity?

Musical 5,280 Little Bob Maximus 234567890 et 6ths 5ths H 7ths W 46792305 TE8 - S S S -
Repeat 59 times, single for bob half-way and end. Calls on the 11 th. $8,0, E, T$ course throughout. Contains no T-E's at backstroke.

True also as 15,840 Plain Bob Maximus, when bobs may be substituted for the singles at 7ths and 5ths.

For a quarter peal of 1,320 omit all singles at 5ths, giving course-end 46752309 Te8. Repeat 14 times.

Yours sincerely,

PEALS, 'THE RINGING WORLD' AND ROPES

Dear Sir,-Much has been said and written of late about finances connected with the abovementioned items. Many advocate a charge for recording peals in "The Ringing World,' which would no doubt lead to peals not being recorded at all, for I am certain that although there are many ringers who attach far, far too much importance to having their names-and quite absurd, unnecessary particulars in some casesin print, I am equally convinced that there are many whe do not care one jot. Others advocate that the Associations and Guilds should help to finance 'The Ringing World,' but this would obviously lead to further increases in subscriptions, leading in turn to some loss of members, more particularly perhaps among younger ringers, which would be deplorable.

I would suggest to those who have the necessary authority-and I am sure this would include many ringers who have the welfare of the Exercise and 'The Ringing World ' at heart -to follow the principles we have adopted with success at Allesley. We charge each ringer of a peal two shillings: sixpence for the Guild peal booking fee. sixpence for the tower peal booking fee, sixpence for "The Ringing World and sixpence for the tower rope fund. Also, we always allocate at least 20 per cent. of any money we receive for ringing at weddings to our rope fund. with the result that we are able to purchase ropes when necessary without adding to normal church expenses.

The charge. I might add, applies to menbers of our own band as well as visitors, and no one seems to have the slightest objection to it, or if they have, they realise that their objection is so unreasonable that they have not the courage to voice it.

Of course, charges could vary according to local circumstances, but even if one half of our towers adopted the principle, it would prove a great help both to "The Ringing World 'and to local church expenses, without affecting ringing records or Guild membership.-Yours sincerely,
F. W. PERRENS.

Coventry.

FALSE PEAL WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir,-I wish to withdraw the peal of Surprise Minor in 22 methods, rung at Chalfont St. Giles on December 15th, 1956, as it is false.

I have for a long time possessed a cutting from 'The Ringing World' of August 2nd, 1936, page 495, which gives the figures of a 32 -method peal rung at Lamberhurst on March 2nd, 1935. In the peal at Chalfont St. Giles I used some of these extents.
I have recently been given some old volumes of 'The Ringing World.' In the issue of October 2nd, 1936, page 647, over a year after the original figures were published, I came across a letter in which it is pointed out that one of the extents was wrongly printed. The truth of the Lamberhurst peal is not in question, since it was only the printing of the figures which was wrong.
My apologies to the band: we shall have to ring it again! It only goes to show what far-reaching effects such misprints can have. I append the corrected figures of the extent in question. - Yours faithfully,

JOHN R. MAYNE.

PEAL WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir.-I wish to withdraw the peal rung at Creswell on September 26th, 1959, owing to the falseness of the composition published on page 16 of 'The Ringing World' for January 1st, 1960.

I apologise to the members of the band, the Derbyshire Association and the Editorial Com-mittee.-Yours sincerely,

JOHN R. KETTERINGHAM.
WHAT WOLLD THE VICAR SAY?
Dear Sir--Being the hon. secretary of the Branch to which Collingbourne Kingston tower belongs, I have been a little intrigued by the ensuing correspondence following a recent peal rung there. To date. has anyone thought of the feelings of the Rev. C.D. G. Swinterton (Vicar of Collingbourne Kingston), who gave permission for the peal to be rung? Had he known of the storm to be set raging, would he not have thought twice about this?

Let me say naturally my loyalty is with the Guild to which I belong. but if I remember rightly, my first peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Hungerford; the majority of the band belonged 10 the Salisbury Guild, and it was duly credited with it. When a lad at school. we used to play a game called tit-for-tat: we also learnt a portion of scripture from the 13 th chapter of Corinthians.-Yours sincerely,
T. A. PALMER.

Aldbourne, Wilts.

CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST

Dear Sir.-I find myself in agreement with he general trend of the criticism of the Christmas Day broadcast, and whilst conceding that those who took part in it were probably doing their best, their efforts were not such as to give a favourable impression to the public.
When bells are broadcast, it is a public performance, and as such it is as liable to receive criticism as the broadcasting of an organ or an orchestra. We, as ringers, naturally desire that when bells are on the air they should be at their best, and everything that is possible should be done to ensure this.
It seems to me, however, that every time the B.B.C. has anything to do with bells it makes a mess of it, what with fumbling announcers, mixed up engineers, crossed lines, etc. Even with the remarkably good ringing from Evercreech on Sundays they start either too late to allow a proper finish, or, if they start on time they fade out before the bells come round. It is very rarely that when the Double Norwich record is used that we have the opportunity of hearing J. Dyke's home-made single at the end. The Central Council appointed a committee 10 act as liaison between ringers and the B.B.C. That committee has been strangely silent during the correspondence on this matter. May I ask whether the B.B.C. consulted them about the Christmas broadcast? I should be surprised if they did, and I see no reason to alter my views expressed at the Council's meeting two or three years ago. I said then, and I repeat now, that the B.B.C. appears to have a know all' attitude and will not welcome advice from the proper quarter.
I should like to see our Broadcasting Committee asserting itself more firmly and hammering away untit we get better results.-Yours faithfully,

J. FRANK SMALLWOOD.

Matlock, Derbyshire.

LIVE RINGING WANTED

Dear Sir.-It is not so long ago Mr. N. Chaddock went to war about 'canned' ringing (and anything but live ringing is 'canned' ringing). and now in his search for perfection suggests that we have it for Christmas.
Is the Christmas ringing being turned into a ringing contest. with certain people setting themselves up as judges?
Christmas ringing is intended as a live broadcast to the public (with facts as they are) on Christmas morning in the natural surroundings land distractions) of the home. and not as recorded precision ringing which will please the ears of expert ringers and stand up to repetition on a tape-recorder in privacy-a method which must have been used for some of the derailed judgment in past years.
Not every hand (especially some in country places) is even interested in precision ringing.rours sincercly, Sheffield.
(Mrs.) E. D. KELLY.

WANT TO BE ON THE AIR

Dear Sir.-For over 55 years I have been atlached to Friezland Church, where service ringing and good striking is the main object. In 1935 I contacled the B.B.C. with a view to broadcast of Friezland bells. Perhaps because we are a Minor band our chances are jeopardised. I appeal to the ringing fraternity Who know us for a little support. We have a recent recording of our bells, and if we could set our hells recorded on the air it would be sreatly appreciated.-Yours fraternally,
J. BURGESS.

Friezland.

Dear Sir.-Without wishing to prolong the correspondence on this subject, may I say how much I am in agreement with the observations made by Mr. Rush in his letter which appears in the current issue of 'The Ringing World.' One cannot but wonder what, or who, induces the B.B.C. to pick where it does for occasions which should produce nothing less than top flight, ringing, especially when there are so many goad towers from which to choose. Is there no one who can ensure, as far as possible, that only towers where good ringing can he expected are nominated for special broadcasts? You can imagine the reaction to the - rough stuff, put over the air at Christmas in this part of the country, where good striking is the only criterion!
Mr. Rush concludes by remarking that the principal thing is . What does it sound like outside? ? I would add that one has no need to go oursidle a tower to know what is bad or good ringing!-Yours faithfully,

> B. E. BARTLETT. Hon. Secretary.

South Devon Ringers' Association.
Torquay.
Dear Sir,-Mr. D. P. Jones would do well to clarify his remarks concerning the Christmas broadcast. Does he think the standard of ringing too high for his pupils to emulate, or is he writing with his 'tongue in his cheek ? If he feels the performances were poor he should tell his pupils. who will (if they have regard for his views) henefit accordingly.

1 congratulate him on his efforts at Castle Gresley. I know the peal recently rung there would be an object lesson to his local boys.Yours sincerely.

Gnosall, Staffs.
B. G. KEY.

Dear Sir.-Whilst we appreciate the comments on the Christmas Day broadcast, let's be truthful about the quality of the ringing. Our old friend Peter Bond considers the quality of the broadcast excellent.

There was, to my mind, only one band who could be congratulated on good ringing, and those of our neighbours in Ireland. If this is the sort of stuff we are trying to educate the general public with, we had far better not broadcast at all.-Yours, etc..

RON BULLEN.

Darley Dale.

Dear Sir-This year's Christmas Day broadcast of bells was a decided improvement on previous broadcasts, and as all lowers were on the air for a little longer time than is usual we were able to appreciate the striking better.

While agreeing with the views of your correspondents in "The Ringing World.' I think that St. Mary's. Beaconsfield. should be placed first for striking-excellent in every change.Yours faithfully.
H. BADGER.

Headington. Oxford.
Dear Sir.-In reference the Christmas Day broadcast. I think it was quite the worst that has been put on the air for several years. The hest towers represented in that programme were St. Donard's, Belfast, and Beaconstield, Bucks. In a programme like this Christmas morning feature it is desirable that only the best of bells should be used to ring the greeting from each region. That, above all else, means that carillons and chimes are definitely out. Church bells were never intended to be chimed to any music whatever.-I am, Sir, yours truly,

PETER J. ROBERTS.
Barry, Glamorgan.

YORKSHIRE 'CARTWHEELERS' AND

 RHYTHMDear Sir,-I fear R. J. Corke has dropped a rather large brick, for Mr. Moxon and his friends are real experts at unbroken rhythm. One does not hear so much of the Yorkshire Cartwheelers as the West Country Call-changers but in their love of good striking they are very much akin.

Moreover, Mr. Moxon did not suggest it should be a rule that peals of Minor should be in seven methods, but that 6 -bell experts should aim at doing so.

I well remember that in Angmering. Sussex, there was row upon row of peal cards on the tower walls-all seven method peals, and learner as I was, I longed to be able to ring that Primrose. Violet. Woodbine, etc. So you see, sir. that even in Mr. Corke's own part of the country and mine it was thought that peals of Minor ought to be in seven methods.

In case Mr. Corke. should think I too sound pretentious, I had better add that my only peal for the Sussex Association was treble to Grandsire Doubles at Lyminster.-Yours faithfully.

Sheffield, Yorks.

Dear Sir, - In reply to the letter by Mr. Corke. Methods Secondary to Rhythm.: i should like to point out that the last peal in which Mr. Moxon stood in, rung at Silkstone on November 12 th . was rung in contest style with approximately 40 faults per 720 . If that isn't rhythmical closed lead ringing I should like to know what is.

It may be that we, the 'Cartwheelers.' have more Minor methods on hand, as we do not rely on the Central Council's Collection of Minor Methods.

I ask you, sir. what do people get from a peal of Bob Minor? If a person can ring an extent of Bob Minor, and strike it, in 14 days he can ring six more methods; and good striking is like riding a cycle, if you learn right you do it suhconsciously.-Yours faithfully.
-ARTFUL DODGER
Huddersfield.
THE SPIRIT OF GEORGE BOLLAND
Dear Sir.-I thank Mr. William Barton for the details he gives of the great endeavour the late George Bolland made to ensure that peals of Minor be rung in not less than seven methods. His spirit must have listened with mixed feelings to the peal rung at Tong on December 28th in four methods, although his much-loved Oxford was included. Perhaps some uneasiness was felt by the ringers, secing that the peal was rushed through in 2 hours and 34 minutes; George and his team usually took: about 2 hours and 57 minutes.

I am sorry $t 0$ learn that the striking standard aimed at around Barnsley is not generally known in Hampshire, and I do assure Mr Corke that we do not ignore rhythm, even in seven method peals for the participants are aluays ringers who consistently lake part in striking contests. - Yours faithfully,
N. F. MOXON.

Cawthorne, Barnsley.

PEAL WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir, - I wish to withdraw the peal of Spliced Surprise Minor rung at Lydiard Millicent on October 24th. 1959, as 1 understand the first extent to be false

My apologies to all concerned.-Yours faithfully.

RAVING RINGERS' REUNION

TwHE Raving Ringers made an energetic start to the New Year with their reunion tour in Hertfordshire during the week-end of January 2 nd- 3 rd.
Ravers from Gloucester and Cambridge assembled in Si. Albans on the Friday evening tut the main party, including representatives from Reading, Birmingham and Oxford did not meet until the first tower of the tour at Northehurch. Considerable difficulties were encountered in persuading certain Ravers 10 leave the M1, but when this was safely accomplished the programme of ringing commenced. Four eights were visited during the morning-Northchurch, Berkhamstead. Hemel Hempstead and King's Langley, and the touches included the Ravers' first successful unaided louch of Cambridge Major.

The party, which consisted of 13 Ravers. reassembled after lunch at Bishop's Hatfield and had their first attempt at ringing Royal and Caters. Touches of Plain Bob and Grandsire were successfully accomplished. Two sixes werc next on the programme-Essendon and the recently augmented ring at Hertingfordbury. After a good ring at SI. Andrew's, Hertford, the party parlook of an excellent tea, replenishing themselves for the heaviest bells on the tour, All Saints: Heriford. This tower was voted the best of the day. Ringing ended with a well-struck touch of Stedman on the light cight at Bengeo.

The reunion party followed at St. Albans. where the festivities lasted well into the early hours.
For morning service ringing we joined the Cathedral Socicty at the Cathedral. Our attempt at Stedman Cinques came to an abrupt and unfortunate end. but Grandsire Cinques was successfully brought round. After ringing, we inspected the bells and were photographed balancing precariously on the side of the bell frame.

Although the tower was not officially scheduled. we were grateful to be allowed a short ring on the six at St. Stephen's following a wedding in the afternoon. The last tower of the tour was St. Peter's, St. Albans. where we joined the local band for evening service ringing.

Our best thanks go to the people of St. Albans for their hospitality and to the incumbents and tower capiains of churches visited.

BICESTER. OXON.-On Dec. 16th. 1.260 Grandsire Triples: J. Alsworth (first quarter) 1. C. East (first of Triples) 2. H. Hatield 3. C. H. Kinch 4. W. Baggett 5. L. Busby 6, E. J. Smith (cond.) 7. E. G. Jones 8.

MIDLAND COUNTIES GUILD

Memories of the past were revived at the annual meeting of the Midland Counties Guild held at Burton on January 9 th and attended by 50 ringers and friends. St. Paul's, with such names as the Rev. J. H. Fish, Messrs. J. Jagger, J. Austin, J. Griffen, A. Wakeley and W. C. Wakeley, were pioneers of Surprise ringing in the latter part of the last century. The 'Wednesday' band of the 1920's were also famous: they rang 230 different compositions of Stedman Triples, all conducted by Mr. M. Swinfield.

Tea. prepared by the ladies of St. Paul's Church, followed the service conducted by the Vicar. The president, the Ven. E. Aldington Hunt, presided at the business meeting. when four new members were elected.
The secretary (Mr, J. W. Cotton) reported that 35 peals had been rung in 13 towers with nine conductors, Mr. D. P. Jones heading the list with 20 peals. Leading peal ringers were Messrs. J. W. Cotton 31 , D. P. Jones 24. R. J. Clifion 13 and D. W. Bunning 11 .

Officers elected for 1960 were: President. the Ven. E. Aldington Hunt: chairman, Mr. R. A. Welion: Ringing Master. Mr. G. H. Lane: treasurer, Mr. J. H. Brittan: secretary and Central Council representative, Mr. J. W. Cotton: auditor. Mr. T. Price: committee Messrs. S. H. Jones. D. P. Jones. W. J. Leach and A. Foster.

Two rules were amended and the question of a Guild peal hooking fee was referred back 10 the commitlee. Meeting cards for 1960 were distributed and the vote of thanks to all concerned with the success of the meeting was proposed by Mr. W. H. Curson.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

The very adverse weather affected the attendance at the quarterly meeting of the newly-formed North Eas! District held at Leiston on January 16 th. Nevertheless, ringing in the afternoon was of a high standard. with touches brought round of Cambridge Surprise, Double Norwich. Oxford Treble Boh Plain Bob and Stedman Triples.
Mr. P. Bedford, District chairman, presided at the business meeting. when a Distrist outing was discussed. A questionnaire is to be sent to lowers for ideas and suggestions. The next quarterly meeting will be at Bungay on April 2nd, with a practice meeting at Wenhaston and Blythburgh on February 27th.
GREAT BROMLEY, ESSEX.-On Jan. 6th. 1.260 Plain Bob Minor: Janet Semken (first quarter) 1. A W. Cole 2, A. Semken (first of Minor) 3, J. Gould 4. T. Cole 5, F. Erith (cond.) 6.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Northern Branch

The annual meeting of the Northern Branch was held at St. George Colegate on January 9th: 36 members and friends sat down to tea. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. G. W. Paget) and the lesson was read by the chairman (Mr. A. G. Bason).

At the business meeting the following were clected to hold office for 1960: Chairman, Mr. A. G. Bason: Ringing Master. Mr. J. R. Smith: hon. secretary, Mr. C. Bird; Standing Committee. Messrs. W. Clover and G. Sayer: Branch Committee. Messrs. P. Adcock, R. W. Balls, H. F. Carter, F. C. Goodman and D. Pardon. Dites of meeting for the year: May 141 h (Cromer), July 23rd, October 15th. A.B.M., January 71h.

Members elected were: F. Parmenter (Norwich), Miss G. Lamonte, Miss C. Hastings and P. Purslow (Cromer). J. Knights (Norwich), probationary member.

It was decided to hold the annual Ringers' Day at Wymondham on July 16th.

The bells of St. Ceorge's and St. Miles' were rung in the afternoon, and St. Peter Mancroft in the evening. Methods ranged from Plain Minor to Yorkshire Maximus.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Devizes Branch

About 40 ringers, including visitors from Chippenham, Swindon and Newcastlc, attended the annual meeting of the Devizes Branch at St. John's Church. Devizes, on January 2nd. In his address at the service Canon P. Sexty. R.D., thanked the ringers for their work and said nothing made him more depressed than 10 know of a tower with eight or six bells having nobody to ring them.
Officers clected were: Mr. A. Weeks, chairman: Mr. S. Grant, vice-chairman: Mr. E. Hitchins, secretary: Mr. F. Slatford, assistant secretary: Mr. P. Harding and Mr. S. Grant. Ringing Masters: Mr. L. Hitchins, auditor. Ten new ringing members were elected.

The next annual meeting is 10 be held at Trowbridge, the February meeting at Scend. the March meeting at Potterne and the quarterly meeting at Westbury. Votes of thanks were passed to the ladies for providing tea. and for the use of the bells at St. John's, St. Mary's and St. James' Churches.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The same team of officers was elected at the annual mecting of the Society, held at Barnsley on January 9 th, when 15 towers were represented. These are Mr. Noel F. Moxon. president: Mr. Harold Chant. treasurer: Mr. J. W. Buxton. secretary: Mr. H. Rusby and Mr. W. Womack, auditors. A suggestion was made that the annual outing be on July 2nd to North Lincolnshire. The next meeting will be at Earlsheaton, near Dewsbury, on February 13 th. Another suggestion was that when visiting a lower, a method with the name of the tower should be rung. Mr. Moxon asked for supnort for the ringers' course to be held at Grantley Hall, near Ripon, on April 2nd.
Canon A. P. Morley was thanked for conducting the services. and Mr. Eric Stainrod and the ladies for all arrangements.

Emmanuel Church, Plymouth

Emmanuel Church, Plymouth, has now a new look! The sixth, seventh and tenor hells have heen fitted with new gudgcon pins hy Messes. John Taylor and new ropes hung. Members have scraped the frame and it has been given Iwo coats of paint by Mr. Bill Collier, the cost being defrayed by the ringers. The captain, Mr. J. Sims, devoted a few days of his holiday to help Mr. Collier to give the belfry a 'spring clean' and the walls a coat of emulsion paint. Mr. Hill, a member of the choir. has supervised the treating of several panels for woodworm.
The ringers expressed their appreciation to Mr. Collier for his work by presenting him with a pair of gloves and a scarf.

TRIPLES FOR SUNDAY RINGING

By W, E. CRITCHLEY

If a band is limited to simple Triples methods because of either the weight of the bells or the capabilities of the ringers, it might be worth trying a type of splicing which has proved very popular in my own tower. It consists of Grandsire spliced with St. Clement's Triples, and has the following advantages:-
(1) St. Clement's as a method does not differ greatly from Grandsire, and the lead-ends are the same as Grandsire, though appearing in the reverse order.
(2) The length of a touch of the two methods spliced together can vary from 28 changes to a quarter peal, or even a peal.
(3) Short touches can be so arranged that all the best music is selected, with hardly any 'intermediate' leads
The following examples will illustrate the last two points. If the short touch of two leads is wanted, all that is needed is to call one lead of each method, when the bells will run round. As examples of touches utilising some favourite music, the following might be of interest. It will be noticed that a bobbed lead-end of St. Clement's gives a "repeating' lead-end something like Kent, with the bells in 567 in the same position as the previous lead-end.

5 times repeated, S. half-way and end. It will be found that there are many other short and musical touches which can be discovered by a little paper work. and although some of them may prove to be false, I myself do not consider this factor important so far as short touches are concerned.

CAMERA IN THE TOWER

INSTRUCTORS sometimes say that if only we could see ourselves ring we would benefit immensely. Some members of our Society were lucky enough to have this experience. A few weeks ago it was brought to the notice of the B.B.C. that the Bristol Cathedral School Guild of Ringers were to start ringing regularly for Sunday morning service at the Cathedral. Two cameramen came to a practice on Saturday, October 24th, and took sound recordings outside and film shots of the bells and of the ropes rising and falling. The next morning we came in at 9.15 . As soon as sufficient heavy-eyed ringers had arrived, the wheels (or spools) of the film unit went into action. The operations took rather longer this time, partly because there were two different cameras-one for the News and one for Children's Newsreel-and partly because no one (except the cameramen) was really wide awake. First we were 'taken' walking from the school across the green and into the cathedral. But there was more to it than that-we had to be talking amiably to our neighbours, with wide open smiles on our faces.
'Now,' said one of the cameramen to an unsuspecting ringer, who was rather smaller than most, 'we want you to be the tail-end Joey.' And the poor 'latecomer' had to run along behind us into the cathedral porch. There we all awaited further instructions. This time we had to ' march in purposefully' through the door and halfway up the stairs. When the last person had disappeared up them the cameraman was to shout and we were to back out again. Whoever heard of marching purposefully backwards down a spiral staircase? When we had achieved this the cameras were taken upstairs ahead of us. After a few minutes we heard a shout, 'Come up,' and did so. Halfway up, a film camera had been placed. We ignored it and walked straight on to the ringing chamber, where a second camera 'followed us in.' After prayers, said by John Hunt-an Old Boy of the school, who is now tower captain at the cathedral-the cameras seemed to be everywhere at once, and their operators seemed to have accomplished a tremendous amount by the time they left, three-quarters-of-an-hour later.

The next evening, about a minute of film was included in the West of England news bulletin, and a little more in 'Flashback' the following Saturday. The Thursday after that, 11 days after the filming, yet another version of it was seen on Children's Newsreel from London. This was much longer, but exaggerated the 'terrible dangers' of bell-ringing. We were told, much to our amazement, that one boy had been lifted four feet off the ground when a stay broke, and that the small mats on the floor act as "targets.'

All in all it was very enjoyable, and we should like to thank the ringers of the Bristol and Gloucester Diocesan Association for their time, patience and encouragement. It is largely due to their efforts that we now ring Bristol Cathedral bells each Sunday.
M. F. S.

SHEER FANTASY OF PLACE NAMES

WHEN I get my 'Ringing World,' I run quickly through the lists of peals and quarter peals to see where these feats have been performed. It isn't that I know many of the towers and hope to see news of ringing in surroundings familiar to me. It isn't that I have so wide an acquaintance among ringers that I expect to see an old friend among the successful bands.

It's just that there's an inarticulate poet inside me who shouts with joy at the loveliness, the strangeness-sometimes the sheer fantasy-of the names with which our ancestors added beauty to their habitations.

I try not to listen to the siren voices from Cornwall or Wales - names like St. Columb Major and St. Keverne would draw a man the length of England; and where but in Wales could one came across such a sesquipedalian jewel as Llangattock-juxta-Crickhowell?

Restricting myself to England proper, I rejoice in the polysyllabic euphony of Easton and Weston in Gordano, Compton Dando, Redmarley D'Abitot, Newington next Sittingbourne, Chewton Mendip and Marston Trussell, Burton on Stather and Deeping St. Nicholas, Chilvers Coton and Hoylandswaine.

Shakespeare himself might have named Hampton in Arden; there is a smooth, slipping-off-the-tongue prettiness in Silk Willoughby, a dignity in Queen Charlton, something a little faded and sad about Wistaston and, for an inland parish, a sound of the sea in that Mecca of Lincolnshire ringers, Surfleet.

Other names have about them an earthy rusticity, even a touch of the comic-Clowne, for instance, and Fobbing; and it is only proper that there should be bell-ropes in Pulham (St. Mary). Upham and Downham, Rougham and Lowdham, have their place in the list, and so do Ringmer and Rysper in Sussex.

Cogenhoe has in it the sound of an older England, and one wonders if Lydiard Millicent is at all related to Kirk Ella. Wanlip has a sad pallor about it, and Flookburgh, Gnosall. Berrynarbor and Bicker a touch of the unreal.

And Morpeth Watch Tower: are the peals rung there with a man standing at a northward-facing embrasure to watch for the border rovers sweeping down from the Cheviot? Sadly, no.
Blessed be our fathers who coined these delightful names, names which sound on the ear as native and sweet as the bells they ring there.
C. P.

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD DINNER

The annual dinner of the East Grinstead and District Guild was held at the Culverden Arms, Tunbridge Weils, on January 9th, when most of the 40 people present had a pull at St. Peters during the afternoon. Arthur Lewry's 'home-made' clock, the parts of which were beautifully made, was a great attraction.
After an excellent meal and the usual toasts the company were entertained by the younger members in a manner far more enjoyable 'than anything seen on stage or TV.' Songs and dueis by Ann Gcorge and Margaret Ladd, with Mrs. Ladd at the piano; some amusing contortions by John Warner with a guitar; miming to a rock ' $n$ ' roll record; a really fine Derformance by George Fry as a country yokel; and the final sketch in which the two husbands, Stanley Jenner and John Warner, complained that they had to stay at home sharpening tin openers.' Interval music was courses on the handbells. So once again the youngsters had shown how to do jt. Eric Brunger was in charge of the arrangements.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Appropriately, the Leicester District held its annual meeting on January 2nd at St. John-theDivine's, Leicester, as the vicar designate (Rev. Basil Williams), who conducted the service, was to be inducted the following Thursday. In his address Mr. Williams said how thrilled he was at taking over the living of St. John's after the long fight had been won to save the church from demolition. Local ladies served an excellent tea to a company of 60 members and friends.

At the business meeting Mrs. P. J. Staniforth was unanimously re-elected District chairman. other officers being Mr. J. P. Kesterton, hon. secretary: Mr. S. Harrison, Ringing Master; Mr. J. Jelley, committee member.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Perhaps it was the snow on the roads or it could have been the ringers' wedding that took place about the same time as the Luton District's annual meeting at Dunstable on January 16 th; anyway, the attendance was not so good as it should have becn. Ringing varied up to Double Norwich until 4.30, when a short service was held.

During the business meeting the secretary said that the District's subscribers had gone up from 106 to 130 , and considering only 14 towers were affiliated, this was a very good effort, but the attendance at District meetings was lower than in the previous year. As there was a loss on tea at three meetings within six months, it was decided that in future it would have to be a case of no name no tea, and if a person failed to turn up after sending a name they would be asked to pay 2 s . towards the cost. This is to be put on trial for six months.

The District chairman, Mr. P. Newing, the secretary, Mr. K. G. Spavins, and the treasurer of the Belfry Repair Fund, Mr. R. Churchill, were re-elected. The new committee of four is: Mrs. J. Sinfield, Messrs. Newing, Rushton and Churchill. The 1961 annual meeting will be held at Woburn.

THE LADIES' GUILD

A warm vote of thanks was passed to Miss D. Lester for her work as secretary of the Sussex District at the fifth annual meeting held at Brighton on January 9 th. Her successor is Miss L. M. Beeney, of St. George's Nursery, 7, Chelston Road, Tunbridge Wells. Mrs. B. Percy was re-elected vice-president and the committee consists of the Misses Apps, Everest, Downing and Stephens.

Ringing during the day at St. Nicholas' and St. Peter's ranged from rounds to Stedman Caters. There was an attendance of 35 and the service was held in St. Nicholas' Church.

UP FROM ZUMMERZET

Ably arranged by Audrey Bailey, a small party from Bridgwater and North Somerset visited a good selection of London towers on January 9th. Ringing started at S . Clement Danes' and included a good course of Boh Royal. At St. Lawrence Jewry the party were welcomed by Mr. A. A. Hughes and were warned that the Vicar would be listening for bad striking. We hope our ringing pleased him. The tone and "go' of these bells are no excuse for poor ringing.

A variety of Doubles methods was rung on the pretty five at St. Bartholomew's, Smithfield. followed by a visit to St. James, Clerkenwell, where ringing included a course of Yorkshire. An excellent tea, arranged by Mr. Bailey, preceded ringing at Shoreditch, where rounds were rung on the 12 , and Stedman and Grandsire Caters on the back six. At the last tower, St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, Mrs. E. Davis made us welcome, but the tower 'movement was not conducive to good striking.

Refreshments at an establishment recommended by our organiser concluded the visit. To Audrey and all who contributed to such an enjoyable day a sincere 'Thank you.'
M. J. H.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Meeting at the 5 -bell tower of Stratton Audley on January 23rd, the Bicester and District Branch had the pleasure of electing six memhers from the new band at Middleton Stoney. and learning that Middleton Stoney and Stratton Audley bells were now being rung for Sunday services.

The Branch president (Rev, J. H. B. Elkerton) conducted the service. which was attended by 35 members, and the address was given by the Rev. C. V. Bernard Haddelsey (Vicar). Miss W. M. E. Sharpe was the organist and the lesson was read by Mr. F. Sharpe. Mrs. Haddelsey provided tea at the Rectory.

Mr. Harold Pitstow will be in charge of the ringing at Westminster Abbey to anthe birth of the royal baby. Other members of the band are Alfred Peck, John Crampion, William Rawlings, Richard Deal, George Cecil, Jack Waugh and John Phillips. If the royal birth occurs between 4 p.m. and 11 p.m. they will ring the bells from $9-10$ a.m., between 11 p.m, and 9 a.m. at noon; and between $9 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and 4 p.m. at 6 p.m.

Will Mr. N. Dean of Marston, Oxford, please forward his address to the Editor, Holme Pierrepont, Nottingham, band rang 21 quarter peals last year. All but three were for Sunday services.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Frank Morgan, of St. Chad's Cathedral, Birmingham, on January 24 th, aged 63 years.

Mr. Roger O. Fry has now left hospital and is convalescing at Bath. His operation was completely successful. He hopes to reply 10 the many ringing friends all over the country.
We live in an age of initials. Will correspondents when writing to the Editor give their surnames and not just initials. Much time is spent in searching references for some identities, Useful spadework has been done on Saturday evenings in teaching a young band from scratch at Chaddesley Corbett by Mr. W. C. Boughton, of Clent, and his son. These bells have been practically silent for 20 years and it is hoped that the new band will be ringing changes by Easter.

Mr. C. Kenneth Lewis contributes to the January issue of 'The Ringers' Magazine, on Course Splicing in relation to composing Minor Extents. Of general interest is Miss J. Sanderson's article on "More Bells in Philately,' William Shepherd also contributes some of his reminiscences.

Tavistock Wolf Cub Pack Handbell Ringers have under the leadership of Mr. G. W. Grylls and his assistant, Mrs. Ford, been making a name for themselves. This Christmas season they have rung at 10 social functions for charitable purposes. They use a ring of 12 , size 19 ( F ), with three half-tones for tunes in ' $G$ ' and Lecturers at the Grantley Hall Bell Ringing Course, Chaddock, Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton and Mr. Frederick Sharpe. The course is intended for both advanced ringers and complete beginners. Fees (Friday night to Sunday night) $£ 22 \mathrm{~s}$. for residents of the West Riding, others £3. Particulars from the Bursar, Adult College, Grantley Hall, near Ripon. An early application is advised.

Aldershot bells are being dismantled by John Taylor and Co. on February 8th.

The peal at Twyford, Leics (see page 52), was 5,040 Plain Bob Minor and not as printed.
Mr. Dennis Beresford has succeeded Mr. Peter N. Bond as Master of the Society of. Royal Cumberland Youths.
The disastrous fire at Bolsover Church on January 14 ih destroyed a large part of the church. The spire was untouched and the bells are being rung as usual.
Mr. Ivan Page, of St. Patrick's Cathedral Society of Bell Ringers, Melbourne, has left for London by air. We are sure he will be welcomed in any tower he visits.
Mr. Fred. Price, of Bournemouth, writes regretting an omission on his part in his advertisement in our last issue regarding Sunday meals in July and August. The correct terms are given in this issue.

Mr. Alan J. Frost, of Kettering, has completed his first 100 peals. His peals are on all numbers of bells and include two of special note, 14,560 Yorkshire Surprise and Scientific Triples.

The band who rang the peal of Bob Major at Batley on January 16th would also like to associate the peal with the recent examination success of Doctor David Atkins of Batley, and offer their congratulations to him.
Surgeon-Lieut. John Killick, of H.M.A.S. ' Gascoyne,' whose home tower is St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh, rang his first quarter peal in Australia on January 17th. We understand that he is recruiting four of his best sailor splicers to attend to the ropes after a quarter peal was lost owing to a broken rope.

LEADING PEAL RINGERS OF 1959

MR. ERNEST MORRIS, of Leicester, heads the list of peal ringers for 1959 with a total of 90 . During the year he never missed ringing for three Sunday services and attended two of them, except during his fortnight's holiday, when he rang at Bournemouth. He has now passed the 1,850 mark for peals, and is leading living peal ringer.
Second on the list. and the ringer of most tower bell peals, is Mr. George E. Fearn, of Birmingham, with a total of 81 peals. He comes second in the list of living leading peal ringers, having passed the 1,600 mark.

The leading conductor is Mr. Peter Border, of Coventry, who conducted 53 of the 78 peals he rang. His wife, Mrs, Ruth M. Border, heads the list of women peal ringers of the year with a total of. 55. Miss Muriel Reay, of Birmingham, who rang her 500th peal during 1959, is second in the ladies' list with 30 peals.

Probably the youngest ringer in our list is Martin C. Faulkes, of Hinckley, who at the age of 15 has rung 27 peals. Dr. R. E. Price, of Sheffield, is just out of the list. One of his peals has this year been reported false. Our list includes six members of the Sunday service hand at Norbury, Hazel Grove.

A group of ringers in the 54 to 60 range have expressed a desire to keep their records private. We respect their wishes, but many of their ringing colleagues would as a matter of general interest like to know their totals.

MR. G. W. FLETCHER

(Life Member of the Central Council)

Mr. G. W. Fletcher's ringing career has been closely connected with the Central Council, and he was secretary for no less than 21 years. An the time he was elected the Exercise had not yet warmed to the idea of such a body. and was cold and sceptical about its work. This coldness was not improved by the dog-fights which were a regular feature of the Council's meetings in the early days, and older ringers will remember the battles royal between the Rev. H. Law James, J. A. Trollope, C. T. Coles and others. One prominent ringer once described the Council as This classical example of complacent futility!

When G. W. Fletcher teamed up with E. H. Lewis this state of affairs was soon altered.

Thorny problems were thrashed out in committee and the Council meetings were more dignified. Fletcher's great knowledge of procedure and his grasp of essentials enabled the Council to get through a tremendous amount of work in one day.
He was born at Southgate in 1896, and learned to ring there. His education was commenced at the village school and completed at evening classes in London. He became an accountant and worked in London for a number of years. In 1928 he married Miss E. K. Parker. daughter of the famous James Parker, and they were actively connected with the Middlesex Association, George becoming vice-president, a position he held for nine years.

On being appointed as secretary and accountant to Messrs. E. Lacon and Co. Ltd., Great Yarmouth, he took u'p residence at Caister-onSea, and soon became active in the Norwich Association, was elected chairman and later vice-president of East Norfolk Branch. He has rung about 300 peals (tower and handbells).

George N . Fletcher is one of the four men who saved 'The Ringing World 'from extinction. He, together with E. H. Lewis, A. A. Hughes and the late Rupert Richardson, took over responsibility for it on the death of the late J. S. Goldsmith, and together they financed the purchase of the paper from the executors. To George, who was ably assisted by Edith, his wife, fell the task of sorting order out of chaos, and this turned out to be a colossal task, which lasted the best part of two years. All debts were collected and paid over to the executors, and the paper was placed on a sound business basis. There is no doubt that. but for the rising spiral of prices, the action taken by Fletcher and his committee would have proved to be a profitable venture for. after the first two years after taking over, the Council was able to reimburse the committee, and was also able to make some small recognition of the work of George and Edith. Later on in this series we hope to say something about Mrs. Fletcher's work, for, as at hushand and wife team, their work made a profound impression on the Exercise.

Tips For Beginners-6

When you ring Plain Bob you meet the bells in the same order each time until they have been disturbed by' a call, except that the treble intervenes between each pair in turn. The same thing occurs in Grandsire except that the intervention is by the treble and the bell-in-the-humt.

Congratulations to Miss Elizabeth Tutty on the way she rang her first quarter peal at Newark on Christmas Eve. She is the first of the baid of new recruits to ring a quarter peal in the tower and it is hoped the others will follow very shortly.

Newark Parish Church Society Ringers have elected the following officers for $1960:-$ Master. J. W. Raithby: deputy Master. D. Simpson : hon. secretary, F. W. Midwinter ; hon, treasurer, H Stevenson. An outing to the Cotswolds is to be held in June and the Gopher dinner on the usual Friday in November.

ANONYMOUS GIFT OF £400 FOR REHANGING FUND

Only two days after the launching of an appeal for the rehanging of the eight bells at St. Mary's Church. Wotton-under-Edge, Glos, the tower captain (Mr. O. Mills) received a cheque for $£ 400$-four-fifths of the estimated expenditure.

This fine ring of eight, last rehung in 1902, was cast in 1756 by Abel Rudhall, of Gloucester. The treble and tenor were recast by Messrs. John Taylor and Company (who again have the contract) in 1902.
A further $£ 50$ has been added to the appeal fund through the efforts of the youthful band of ringers. For some time now they have collected waste paper, and at Christmas a band of them toured the town ringing handbells.

In years gone by Wotton-under-Edge was renowned for its highly competent team of ringers under the captaincy of Mr. Frederick Oakhill, now in his 80 's, a vice-president of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.

Eighteen months ago the present captain was faced with a problem of finding enough ringers for the rare occasions on which the bells were rung. He set to and trained a group of schoolchildren, all under 15 years of age. And now there is a team of nine who turn up regularly for Tuesday practice and Sunday ringing

It is hoped that work will start on the bells immediately after Easter. They will be rehung on heavy duty ball bearings, and in addition Messrs. Taylor will install new clapper bearings, rope pulleys (on bearings), etc.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

RINGING AND A COMPUTOR

Dear Sir,-I have lately been conducting a particular study in my spare time and would like to enquire, through the courtesy of your columns, if any of your readers have had thoughts in the same direction.
In the course of my work I prepare programmes for D.E.U.C.E., which is a general purpose electronic computor. This machine, in addition to its normal task of carrying out high speed calculations, can perform *stunts which are mainly used for demonstration purposes. These include playing noughts and crosses, playing tunes, and so on; in fact it can do anything, generally speaking, which involyes the use of logical processes. As change-ringing can be said to fall into this category, I have been looking into the question of making D.E.U.C.E. ring changes, and I would like to hear from anyone else who has considered this problem on this or any other computor.
I envisaged a scheme whereby the conductor selects the required method by depressing a numbered key, whereupon, after, one backstroke of rounds, the machine commences to ring the method. A bob or a single is called by pressing one of two appropriate keys, and as an aid to the conductor a warning light is automatically switched on on the backstroke preceding the lead-end. The machine stops when the changes come round and awaits the next method to be selected.
So far, Bob Major and Stedman Triples have heen programmed, and Double Norwich is in a state of preparation. but I foresee complications in some of the Treble Bob and Surprise methods.
The eight notes are produced by an adaptation of the D.E.U.C.E. music programme, which was very kindly lent to me for the purpose by its author. Mr. S. J. M. Denison, of English Electric Lid., Kidsgrove.

To those who (quite rightly) have a distrust of 'canned' bells, I would say this: Firstly, the sounds produced by D.E.U.C.E. are more reminiscent of a bass clarinet than of bells; secondly, the scheme is totally uneconomic for general use. The cost of the equipment is in the region of $£ 50,000$, and a fully-trained electronic engineer is required to be in constant attendance on the machine. Apart from that. the machine is far too versatile to use for this purpose alone.

This study is purely for personal interest, and I want to reassure ringers that there is no intention of trying to displace conventional bells and ringers.- Yours faithfully,
Lytham St. Anne's.
A. TOMLINSON

FIRST PEAL PERFORMANCES

Dear Sir,-Will those interested please note an important correction on page 651, November 6th. 1959. Aldeburgh should read Alburgh Court Major. Also the correct spelling of Cholmondeley is as written here. and not as on page 651 or 711 .
With further reference to Mr. Griffiths' letter. it should be noted that the C.C. Plain Major Collection does not contain all regular Plain Major methods. These are the figures of the regular Plain Major not included in the Collection, but given in First Performances.

B.B.C. And Christmas Day Broadcast

Mr. Henry Riddell, of Ourside Broudcasts (Sormd). B.B.C., has written, to the Editur regarding the correspondence in the issue of January 8th about the Christmas bells broadcust. He writes:I was naturally interested as I arranged this broadcast. I apologise for the fact that Talgarth was heard iwice and Wareham not at all, which is quite true. This was due to a mistake, over which I had no control.

The main reason for writing is tw contest Mr. Chaddlock's contention that the proxramme is organised in a caskal way: This is not true. I enclose a script used for the broadcast. This shows with what care it is ar. ranged and also the large number of people involved. A simple mistake by any one of these can lead to disorder, if not disaster.'
The script indicates the many people involved in a broadcast fom points se widely apart. The general instructions were very implicit and great care was taken in the timing.

LLANBETHIAN BELLS

Dear Sir,-For the past 14 years the six bells at Llanblethian. Glamorgan, have been sitent and ringers making inquiries about the bells have been put off by reports that the tower floors were unsafe.
Last July the key of the lower was procured and, on inspection, the bell frame and tower floors were found to be in good shape but the ropes were completely rolten. With the Vicar's permission, a very willing band of ringers from Cowbridge Grammar School cleared olit the tower floors and also the roof drains.
After oiling and greasing the bells were finally rung by the Cowbridge band, with borrowed ropes, in the second week in July. Perfect rounds could not be obtained owing to the odd-struck trebles, hut at last the bells were ringing.
The bells were not disturbed agatn till December 5th, when the South Wales Nomads held a meeting at Llanblethian. The hells were again inspected and, with the aid of more oil, the odd-swinging treble clappers were corrected, and when the bells were finally rung all present admitted that the bells had a remarkable 'go.'
A peal was attempted on the bells on Boxing Day but, unfortunately, it was lost. Since then the bells have remained silent and ropeless. The church authorities state that they cannot afford six new ropes, so a band cannot be formed at the tower.
I hope that in 1960 Llanblethian bells will be fitted with ropes and that soon the bells will ring out regularly on Sundavs. - Yours sincerely. R. J. LEE.
Chester.

A TEACHING POINT

Dear Sir,-During the course of teaching four 16 -year-old boys to handle a hell, we kept up the great enthusiasm hy a "challenge ' as to who could set their bell the greatest number of consecutive times (both strokes), using hlackboard and chalk. This was so successful I am passing on the idea; but perhaps it is widely used already?-Yours sincerely
Black Torrington, MRS. JOHNSTONE
Devon.

THE FAST PEAL AT EVESHAM

Dear Sir,-Mr. Geoff. Hemming's reply to my letter raises three points in his argumentpeals of Royal, weight of tenor ringer, and Pershore. We are not concerned with fast peals of Royal. but with one fast peal of Major with a 36 cwt . tenor, rung by one parlicular band. Most people know it is usual to ring Royal faster than Major, on the same weight of metal. The question of speed only enters in the argument in relation to how the peal was struck, and the experience of the tenor ringer. If tenor ringer ' $A$ ' likes to ring this tenor to Major, in say 3 hours 10 minutes. and competent witnesses say it was rung with clockwork precision. then I'll be the first to congratulate him, whoever he is.
My own preference for a peal of Major at Evesham would be from 3 hours 30 minutes to 3.40 to get the best out of these highly-tuned bells. and when Geolf. allows me to come. think he will agree that is about the right speed. Incidentally, I find that I've rung 11 differen $30-35 \mathrm{cwt}$. tenors to Major (no Plain Bob) at an average speed of 3 hours 33 minutes.
Geoff. also quotes a weight of 14 stone, as though it is an asset. With a few muscular exceptions, a heavyweight is often handicapped in fast ringing. Mr. Edward Jenkins, who has rung most of the tenors in the British Isles worth ringing, and many at a fast speed weighs only about $8 \frac{1}{2}$ stone! The secret of well-struck fast ringing is to have complete control of the rope at every stroke.

With regard to Geoff's. remark about Pershore. I would say that 3.10 is about the right time for these old style Rudhall bells. I wish he had stayed and heard the whole of the peal. These were a ring of bells where everyone had to work, and certainly the ringers in this band would not have allowed the striking to deteriorate.
However, in future, I have decided not to put the footnote 'Quickest peal on the bells. as although my fast peals have been rung on light tenors. it probably sets a bad example to some young ringers.-Yours etc..

AN INSIDE INCIDENT

Dear Sir,-It is a pity that Mr. Edwards should choose to attack the band who rang the fast peal at Evesham in such strong terms.
As he was actually invited by the conductor to set his bell at one point I fail to see how he can find any cause to complain at all.Yours faithfully.

PEAL RINGERS AND THEIR JOURNAL

Dear Sir.-If over the past five years a small donation (say 5 s .) had been forwarded with each peal report. I think it is safe to say that the 90 per cent. peal ringers journal nould not have been in financial difficulties, and this somewhat acrimonious correspondence been averted After all, it is normal practice for a service rendered to be paid for. Ever since its inception the 'Gratefully Acknowledged' column has week by week borne witness to one fact. and one fact alone. Surely there are some generous souls within the peal ringing fraternity who would be prepared to explain to their fellow peal ringers the difference hetween the terms meanness and dignity.
Donation enclosed to cover cost of inserting this letter,-Yours, etc.,

CREDITING PEALS TO ASSOCIATIONS

Dear Sir,-If it is satisfactory to do something simply because it has been done hefore then there is a course of action open to Mr. W. C. West which has a precedent in the county from which Mr. P. J. Johnsion writes. Mr. West, on this basis, need not be put off by the publication in 'The Ringing World' under the name of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, of the peal at Collingbourn, and could go ahead and enter it also in the records of the Salisbury Guild. In 1947 the Yorkshire Association did that with. two peals published in The Ringing World. of September 19th. 1947, under the name of the Durhat and Newcastle Association, and they hear the numbers 4.599 and 4,600 in the Yorkshire records. The peals were rung at West Hartlepool and Shildon in County Durham, and I have recently seen a statement from Yorkshire that the former was claimed as a Yorkshire peal only!
Before Mr. West takes this course, however, I wish to make it clear that I do not accept the view that simply because something has been done before it is necessarily right to continue $t 0$ do it. and in this case I do not see how a peal can be credited to more than one Association, and I am pleased to note that in the current correspondence no one has suggested as a solution the publishing of peals rung by visiting bands for boih Associations.
This was a solution altempted by a Durhan and Newcastle band which visited Yorkshire and rang a peal there, publishing it under the heading of "The Yorks Association and the Durham and Newcastle Association' ('R.W.', 1959. page 326).

A peal in its recording resembles a goal scored in football or a run scored in cricket. The ringer. like those players, is at any one time representing one society or team, although he may well be a member of several. Runs scored by Peter May are credited to Surrey or England or The Gentlemen and not to all three. orherwise the total of runs recorded for May pur together would exceed the total that he had scored. So too with the peal, it is credited to one Society or another and not hoth, or an individual's totals for various Societies when combined would exceed the true figure for his peal total, and the combined totals of the various touches would exceed the total number of peals rung.
Support is found for this view in the Central Council Handbook, 1956. pp. 21 and 22 :shall decide beforehand to which Associa-inote the singular] such peal shall be tion Inote the singular] such peal shall be credited." I believe that the "Rules and Decisions, 1927, used words to the effect that in future peals should be published under the name of one Society only. Earlier, when points were awarded for peals and these might have been shared, such a course was not permitted.
This view seems to be almost universally accepted in that. although there must be many instances each week of peals rung by bands with complete membership of more than one Association, it is only very rarely nowadays that one finds a peal with altempted dual nationality.
The lask of a peal recorder, as I see it, is not simply to include the maximum number of peals in his Society's records but rather 10 compile accurate and reliable records. The Central Councit has a Peals Analysis Committee for the compilation of the 'central accounts, and Where a Society is affiliated to the Central Council., surely it should endeavour to keep its own individual records (the 'pass books') in the with those 'central accounts." Adopting these principles, the peal published under Yorks and D . and N . is credited to Yorkshire only IC.C. Handhook. 1956. page 22), and I did not include it in the $\mathbf{D}$. and N . list athough 1 mentioned it in the discussion of the peal report That is the position as it stands at present in the $D$. and $N$. annual report for 1958-1959 which was recently printed.
Needless 10 say, this position is not accepted unanimously in the D. and N. Association, and I have also heen informed of comments from outside which say, in effect. that the Peals Analysis Committee's records do not matter so far as an individual Association is concerned. If this is so, one may well ask. What is the purpose of the C.C. Peals Analysis? : These outside comments had already extended this matter beyond a purely domestic issue, and there is involved here a fundamental principle affecting the records of all Societies.
The Central Council is today the owner of 'The Ringing World. It can now instruct the Editor rather than express hopes about his actions, and I feel that it should instruct him to publish peals under one Association only, with any sub-division (e.g.. a District of that Association or a special combination of ringers) shown in brackets thereunder. This would not be sufficient to prevent action such as mentioned at the start of this letter, and affiliated Societies would have to be instructed to publish in their peal lists only those peals that were then credited to them in. The Ringing World. If this suggestion does not reflect the general feeling of the Exercise today, then the other logical step is to suggest the discontinuation of the Central Council Peals Analysis.
I await with interest the observations of others while considering a motion for one course or the other to the next C.C. meeting. -Yours, etc.,

DENIS A. BAYLES.
Chester-le-Street.

PEALS OF CONVENIENCE

Dear Sir,-I would be grateful if you would permit me lo pen a few words in my defence, following a recent letter on 'Finance, by Mr. R. B. Smith.

Mr. Smith has stated that I asked for a couple of peal attempts in Cheshire some years ago. I would first state that it was not I hut a good friend who asked for these peals: and we shall always remember the cordial welcome given to us by the Cheshire men at Norbury and Macclesfield and the two excellent peals rung. Through their kindness and tolerance I was given the opportunity of ringing my first peal in a Surprise method, an opportunity seldom forthcoming in Cornwall. Need I mention that if any members of those peal bands should pay us a visit we will be only too pleased to offer them a similar welcome?

I notice, incidentally, Mr. Smith, that you took part in neither of these peals, but assume. nevertheless, that as I and my friend were on holiday at the time that we only ring peals at our convenience. This seems to me to be rather a narrow-minded attitude.
What your argument has to do with the one put forward by me I fail to see. I enjoy ringing peals and am prepared to pay for that pleasure. As for ringing for my own convenience.' I would state that $(a)$ I have taken part in, conducted and enjoyed. peals in which there have been one or two 'firsts. (b) spent many an hour teaching hell control, and (c) many a cold winter evening oiling bells and splicing ropes.
I hope we shall have the pleasure of welcoming you to Cornwall one day, Mr. Smith. Let us know when you are coming, and we shall he pleased to arrange a peal or two for your convenience. - Yours faithfully.

COMMEMORATING DOSTOYEVSKI

Dear Sir,-Your suggestion that only ringers understand the reason for the Dostoyevski peal is surely wrong-we don't understand it but we do tolerate it.
Your assumption that the member of the party who dreamed this up was brainy is also wrong-he isn't brainy, he's childish.

I diagnose here the "cult of personality, which in Dostoyevski's country today still leads to a trip to Siberia, but without a return ticket. -Yours sincerely.
A. WRIGLEY.

Chatham.
Dear Sir,-Surely the footnote to the peal rung at Rothwell on January 2nd reaches an all. time "low" in ridiculous footnotes?

Did the band honestly meet to celebrate the anniversary of this Russian writer's return from exile?
What was the incumbent's reaction when told that his bells were going to be used for this purpose? I'm sure the answers to these questions will prove most interesting.
Whilst church bells are rung for certain secular occasions, surely no right-thinking churchman would class this as such an occasion.

If ringers wish to celebrate such occasions 1 suggest they visit a secular tower for the purpose and in future keep their footnotes more in line with the original purpose of church hell ringing-to proclaim the glory of God.-Yours faithfully,

GEOFFREY M. BREWIN.

PEALS IN OTHERS' TERRITORY

Dear Sir,-Correspondence re peals in the territory of another Association reminds me that peals have been rung at Putney for Surrey Association. London County and North South wark Diocesan Association. Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, Devon Guild. Kent County Association, College Youths. Waterloo Society, London University Society. There may be others. At least three of them could have no territorial or other claim on Putney. - Yours faithfully,
A. CLAYTON.

STEDMAN DOUBLES

Dear Sir, - I thank Mr. Pusey for his interesting letter following my article, but I would point out that my subject was Stedman for Beginners," and in my first paragraph I wrote that I proposed to deal with the subject as simply as possible. Had I written 'Stedman for the Historian or 'for the Mathematician then Mr. Pusey"s points would have been relevant. but in 35 years I have not met them in any lower. so would not risk confusing beginners with them.

A secondary reason for writing articles for the • R.W: is to stimulate correspondence and further articles. However much we may complain about the contents of our paper (and its price) 1 am sure you. sir, will agree that those contents are almost entirely dependent upon our own efforts in supplying your copy. For that reason Mr. Pusey's letter is welcome, and to others who have written directly to me I have replied suggesting that they should address their comments to "The Editor.'

In view of Paludian's humorous account (page 58) of our activities at High Wycombe. I look forward with interest-and not a little apprehension-to further letters to you.-Yours faithfully.

WILFRID G. WILSON.

SOMETHING FOR CALL CHANGE RINGERS

Dear Sir.-A call change ringer from Kent asks for a little more of interest to call change ringers.

Those front page articles by the Rev. J. M. Scott are always interesting. Of course, they have rising and falling reduced to a fine art in the South West, the bells all strike off in one tightly compressed round ( pitch,' I think they call it) and after a few blows they all start to double-clapper in the same round, and not gradually joining in, as we do. It is very effective.

It is over 50 years since I became interested in bells and ringing. and at that time every village band for miles around rang call changes, and the majority still do. Some rang from boards or cards with the changes on, the conductor calling 'Change' three or four times a minute, so it takes close on 20 minutes to get through the 120 . Here they have 60 changes of Grandsire Doubles painted on a board, and the conductor reads out the ligures - $1,2,3,5,4$, etc.

In calling, some men change one pair at a time (the usual way), though some change two pairs as in Doubles. The best change-caller of the present generation I have met is Mr. Fred Whittaker, of Hinstock. He changes one pair at every handstroke, so he must feel a little dry after half-an-hour of ringing.

1 expect nearly all 8 -bell men know that from rounds 'Queens' is called up in six changes, and changing the pairs in. the same way Tittums 'comes in another six. Then with a slight variation in the pairs changed Whittingtons comes in another six, then rounds in another six, making 24 changes or a "short service peal." I don't much like 10 hear the second striking immediately in front of the tenor (7ths place) round after round, and this does not occur in this 'peal.'

The late Will Weatherby (brother of Ernest) used to turn the tenor in and call up Reversed Queens' ( 86427531 ), but the same effect can be had with the tenor covering ( 64275318 ). At one 6-hell tower I sometimes visited in the early days the conductor used to call the bells up behind in turn. This would come round in 20 changes, but by changing 2 and 3 instead of the final round it runs to 40 -another short service peal,' though the changes in this are not specially musical.

I understand the West Country men sometimes ring the 'sixty on thirds ; perhaps Mr. Scolt will tell us what this is.

At one tower I visited as a 'teenager' the band was composed for the most part of elderly men. They had a different w:ty of calling from any I have met elsewhere. "Up" and 'down. meant the opposite of what method ringers mean. Up was going up the scale towards the treble, and down was going down the scale towards the tenor. Thus Rise 3rd, down 2nd, produced 132456, then 'Rise 5th, down 4th.' followed by 'Rise 5th, down 2nd,' produced 'Queens,' and so on.

The captain was rather a severe old man, hut I got on with him quite well, and many years atter his death, his son told me: 'You know, my father thought a lot of you'; which I thought was quite kind of the old boy.

He was an old volunteer of Queen Victoria's time, and also in his prime very handy with his fists. This landed him in trouble on more than one occasion. Once when there was a row in the pub the police constable was sent for, but Sammy threw him out into the street, for which he went to jail for a term to cool down. When he came out the ringers rang a peal to celebrate his release, and for that they were all dismissed, hut were subsequently reinstated.

Those were the days!-Yours sincerely,
E. V. RODENHURST.

Whitchurch, Salop.

100 PEALS NEXT YEAR:

We had made a resolution.
A hundred peals next year.
We had planned it all minutely.
No doubts, it all seemed clear.
Then we thought wed have a trial.
Four weeks to get just eight,
We only managed one of them.
And that was second-rate.
We thought before we started
That we'd better go for tell.
Now we're wiser. although saldder.
And we'll never try again.
Have you ever had nine inquests Within just thirty days?
We are none of us on speaking terms.
We hope it's a passing phase.
We weren't just raw heginners.
Not young and angry men.
But possessing all our senses,
Optimistic, eager-then.
Everything: lost keys. missed 'buses.
Broken ropes, no ropes. changed courses.
Fusing lights. ladies with flowers.
And the interested vicars,
Rattles, bumps. excessive thirst.
Organs. passers-by who cursed.
Until at last. filled with doubt.
The final one-just fired out!
That's all there is to tell.
You want a moral-well?
PEAL BORED.
(Who is not a leading peal ringer).

ROYSTON SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir ,-I noticed in a recent issue of "The Ringing World: that a peal of Royston Surprise Major was rung at Royston on Boxing Dity. The footnote states that the method is not No. 269 in Corrigan's Collection which also hears the same name.

Could some more information as 10 the reasons he forthcoming, please? Has Corrigan's Royston been rung hefore or not? - Yours faithfully.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Lewisham District

Thirty-three ringers and friends attended the quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District. held at St. John's, Deptiford, on January 23 rd. After the service the Vicar (the Rev. W. G. Lee) joined the company for tea, which had been prepared by ladies from Bexley and Crayford and was served in the church hall.

Mr. E. A. Barnett presided at the business meeting. Fourteen new members were elected and two ratifications were made. Members were reminded of the annual meeting in the District on Easter Monday and asked to give their full support. It was decided to hold the next meeting, which will be a joint one with the Kent Branch of the Ladies ${ }^{\circ}$ Guild, on April 30th at Chelsfield. It was. however. agreed that wherever possible quarterly meetings should be held on the fourth. as opposed to the last Saturday of the month. In conclusion. votes of thanks were proposed to the Vicar and all who had helped in the arrangements for the meeting.

Ringing during the afternoon and evening Has under the leadership of Mr. I. H. Oram. District Ringing Master.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Guildford District

In the absence of the Rector through illness, the Guild Master (Mr. C. W. Denyer), assisted by Mr. A. C. Hazelden, with Mr. S. G. Ponting as organist, conducted the service at the annual meeting of the Guildford District at St. Nicolas Churen, Guildford, on January 16th.

The Guild Master also presided at the husiness meeting following tea at St. Nicolas Hall. Reporting on the past year, Mr. E. John Wells (District Ringing Master) referred to the losses to the District by the death of Mr. A. H. Pulling and departures of Mr. and Mrs. T. Mark White, Mr. D. Bentley, Miss Monica Collins and Mr. D. A. Kirk. Twelve peals had heen rung in the District during the past year and he congratulated Miss Janet Cleeve. Miss Margaret Smith and David Tubbs (all of Holy Trinity, Guildford) on ringing their first peals.
Mr. Hazelden, in a tribute to the late Mr. Pulling, said he first met him when he could just about ring the treble for Grandsire Triples. They rang some very fine peals together. A peal which was near perfect was one of London Surprise, the first for the Guild, and it took two years to learn. It was rung perfectly until the last lead, when the treble man missed his dodge in 5-6 down.

Officers elected were: District Ringing Master, Mr. E. J. Wells; Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. O. L. Warner; hon. secretary, Mr. S. G. Ponting; hon. auditor, Mr. J. Horsman. Mr. A. C. Hazelden was nominated as a vice-president of the Guild. Nine new members were elected.

The Professor Would Like To Know

why ringers who persist in ringing Minor methods with ' single' changes as an integral part of the method don't resuscitate sonie of the methods rung when change-ringing was in its infancy, as they can then wallow in stagnation to their heart's content, speing that most of the methods proceed entirely by' single" changes?

THE SUFFOLK GUILD  South-West District

The wintry weather and bad road conditions prevented many members from attending the meeting held at Lavenham on January 16 th , and even the chairman and secretary almost failed to get there, as their car skidded on the icy road and landed in a ditch. After several vain attempts to get it back on the road they were fortunate enough to have a furniture van come along. which duly towed them out, and so they arrived at the meeting a little late but undamaged.
It was gratifying to find that several other drivers had braved the weather, and altogether about 22 ringers finally arrived, and were able to ring these famous bells in methods up to Cambridge and Superlative Surprise. and including rounds and call changes for the learners.
A short service was conducted by the Rector (Canon H. W. S. Cotton), who, in his address. told us the history of a small bell believed to have been cast in 1350, which the church has recently purchased to hang in a turret for use as a service bell on weekdays.
At the business meeting the Ringing Master presented his report for 1959 and said that six peals had been rung in the District-a decrease of five.

The secretary reported an increase in menvhership, especially ringing membership. whicn had gone up from 63 to 73. Attendance at meetings had also improved and the amount subscribed to the Guild Bell Restoration Fund was a record so far.
It was decided to hold another supper and social at Lavenham this year, and October 15 th is the provisional date.

COLLEGE YOUTHS & CHALLIS F. WINNEY

ON Saturday, January 9th. a most pleasing ceremony was performed at the Church of St Clement Danes. Strand. when. in the presence of the chaplain-in-charge. officers of the Society and ringing friends. a memorial plaque to the late Challis F . Winney was unveiled by the Master, Mr. James G. A. Prior Following Mr. Winney's death in 1940. it was proposed by Mr. E. Alexander Young that a suitable memorial should be erected, and many ringing friends subscribed towards the project. A plaque was designed incorporating a life-like relief of Mr. Winney and a tribute worded by Mr. Young. This design was then cast in bronze.

Owing to the destruction of St. Clement I)anes by enemy action in 1941. it was not possible to place the memorial in that tower as originally intended. and it was housed throughcut the war years at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry. Recently Mr. A. A. Hughes brought the plaque to the attention of Mr. W. A. S. Lloyd, the architect responsible for the church. who welcomed a suggestion that it now be placed in the tower with which Mr. Winney was so closely associated.

So, on January 9 th, in a simple but dignified ceremony of which he would have thoroughly approved. the plaque was finally dedicated and now rests in its rightful home, as a worthy memorial to a splendid man and great London ringer.

JOHN CHILCOTT.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

The Southern District, at its annual mecting at Redhill on January 16th. clected a number of new officers. The 1960 team is: Ringing Master. Mr. A. Strecter: District secretary, Mr. G West: treasurer, Mr. A. P. Cannon: auditor, Mr. M. A. Northover: committee, Miss F. Hankey, Messrs. G. Olliver and G. Claik. The Rev. S. G. Dyer, who conducted the service, gave an interesting address on hells and their meaning to the Church. Ringsing reached London Surprice Major.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

West Lindsey Branch

Most member lowers were represented among the 50 or so ringers who were present at the annual meeting of the West Lindsey Branch held at Gainsborough on January 16th. Ringing took place during the afternoon on the bells of the parish church and the service which followed was conducted by the Vicar (Canon J. E. Roberts). After tea in the Old Hall. the vice-president (Mr. C. H. Baker) took the chair for the business meeting. in the absence of the president (Canon J. E. Roberts).

In his report. the secretary (Mr. G. L. A. I.unn) said that 23 new members had joined during the year. making a total ringing memhership of 123. Presenting the balance shect. he said the finances of th: Branch were in a very healthy state. The Ringing Master (Mr. G E. Feirn) reported that seven peals had bcen rung during the year, two members having scored their first ocal.

The following officers were elected:-Canon J. E. Roherts (president). Mr. C. H. Baker (vice-president), Mr. G. L. A. Lunn (secretary and treasurer). Mr. G. E. Feirn (Ringing Master). Mr. J. M. Blaikie (Guild representative). Messrs. J. M. Blaikie and M. L. Mann (auditors). Mr. M. L. Mann ('Ringing World correspondent).

Meetings for the year were agreed to as follows: February 20th. Kirton Iindsey: May $21 s t$. Belton and Epworth: July 16th. Saxilhy: September 17th. Messingham: Novemher 19th. I ca.

After some discussion. Rutland was chosen as the venue for the Branch outing to be held on July 2nd. Votes of thanks concluded the meeting and further ringing followed.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

 Newark DistrictThe standard of striking at the 15 th annual meeting of the Newark District, held on January 16 th, at the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, was of the best heard at the annual meeting for many years.

Officers elected were : Chairman. F. W. Midwinter; hon. secretary, W. L. Exton: Ringing Master. P. W. White : committee, J. D. Clarke and C J. Copp. New members elected were Miss D. Wright and Miss C. Pratchett (Southwell), and C. Town (Newark): non-resident life member, Miss 1. Richardson. Mr. A. Dent, of East Bridglord, who has had to give up ringing duc to an accident, was recommended for honorary life membership.

Wanthorpe was zonfirmed for the March meeting and Barnby-in-the-Willows for May. The Vicar (Canon J. H. D. Grinter) was thanked for laking the service, and the lady members of Newark P'arish Church Sociely of Ringers for providing a most enjoyable tea.

NOTTINGHAM DISTRICT

Ringers from Oakham, Humberstone, Rothley, Dronfield, Portsmouth. Desford, Matlock, Chellaston and Newark were welcomed at the annual meeting of the Notingham District on January 2nd. Mr. N. Pailing was elected Ringing Master for the ensuing year. He is probably the youngest member to fill this office. and he made a personal appeal to all members to give him their fullest support.

The February meeting will be held at St. Margarel's, Aspley (the new Taylor six), on the 6th instant.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

 St. Albans DistrictDespite the cheerless weather, about 40 memhers and visitors were present at the annual meeting of the Si. Albans District on January 16 th Ringing in the afternoon was on the ten at St. Peter's. followed by a short service conducted by the Vicar. Rev. A. M. Fergusson. Then all, except one unfortunate who was involved in a cycling accident but escaped serious injury, went to tea, which was in St. Stephen's Hall.

This was the first time the present young band at St. Stephen's has provided tea at a meeting, and the feast they prepared will long be remembered by the District.
At the business meeting, the president (Mr. G W. Debenham) was in the chair. Mr. R. W. Darvill of St. Peter's. St. Albans, was elected District Ringing Master in place of Mr. J. D. Painter. of Harpenden. who is shortly leaving the district. The Secretary, Mr. S. Huckle, of Hatfield. was re-clected, and the members of the committee were re-elected en thoc.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Frome Branch

With regret, the Frome Branch received the resignation of the Rev. N. Mitchell after three years in office as Branch chairman, at the anrual mecting at Midsomer Norton on January 9th. The Rev. A. G. Durstan, Rector of Hemington, a practical ringer, was elected his successor.

Other officers elected were: Mr. E. J. Chivers, hon. secretary and treasurer; Mr. R. G. Beck, Ringing Master; Mr. F. Savage, Assistant Ringing Master. Nominated for general secretary of the Association was Mr. Gwilym Salmon, of Wells, and as treasurer Mr. Eric Naylor, of Bath. Twenty-five new members were elected.
A report on the Central Council meeting last Whitsun was presented by Mr. H. J. Sanger, with particular reference to the increase in price of "The Ringing World ' and how to make it more attractive. A suggestion made from the meeting was a write-up of the bells and their history in every tower, with a photograph of the tower inserted in "The Ringing World ' in loose form, so that when completed they cculd be put into album form or bound as a book. (The suggestion is too costly; it would take more than six years to do Somerset towers, alone.-Ed.)

The service was conducted by the Rev. K. G. Scott. who was thanked, and also Mr. G. Stenner, the organist, Mr. Fred Savage for arrangements for tea, and the ladies who served it to the 65 members present.

OBITUARY

MR. R. GEORGE CLEMENS

The death took place on January 15th in the Camborne-Redruth Hospital, after an illiness of several weeks. of Mr. R. George Clemens, who had been living recently at Camborne. He had recently retired from farming.

George learnt to ring at Crowan on the original six there with the old call-change band, but after moving to Stithians joined the Redruth band and enthusiastically took up method ringing. He also became captain of the Stithjans tower when the six bells were installed there. He had rung several peals, mostly Doubles and Triples. At the time of his death he was secretary of the Truro Branch of the Diocesan Guild, and was present at the autumn meeting at Constantine. He was a Freemason. and was Steward of Druids Lodge, No. 589, Redruth.

The funeral took place at All Saints'. Tuckingmill, on January 191 h , the Rector of Redruth, the Rev. J. Ruscoe, officiating. There was a large attendance. Among the mourners were his father, Mr. R. Clemens (also representing the widow), and his two daughters, Mesdames $A$. and H. Martin. The Diocesan Guild was represented by the Rev. and Mrs. A. S. Roberts (Carbis Bay). Messrs. E. S. and W. H. Seymour (Redruth). W. J. Sanders (Tuckingmill). R. E. Bourdeaux and C.J. Roberts (Crowan), and Miss A. Hastings-Ince (Redruth).

On the following Saturday an attempt for a Feal of Oxford Bob Triples, half-mufiled, unfortunately failed at Tuckingmill close on halfway, through a miscall, but a quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung.

MR. A. W. FOXALL

With deepest regret we record the death of Mr. Arthur W. Foxall. a young Hughenden ringer. who was fatally injured when the motorcycle he was riding was involved in a collision with a stationary lorry near Caerwent on January 8th.

Arthur. aged 18 years, was the only son of Mr and Mrs. A. W. Foxall, who left South Wales to live in Buckinghamshire ten years ago. He was educated at Wycombe Grammar School and on leaving joined the staff at the Local Government Offices.

He commenced ringing in 1953 and was elected a member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild a year later. He could be counted upon to participate in all the local ringers activities. having a good attendance for service ringing as well as joining in outings and peal attempts arranged in the disirict. Arthur rang a total of 20 peals, ranging from Grandsire and Stedman to Surnrise Major. one of which-nonconducted Grandsire Triples-was the 300 th peal on Hughenden bells, and he circled the tower' last year.

Memorial services were held at Llangibhy and Hughenden. and the many wreaths included tributes from ringers of hoth churches. On January 13 th a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled at Hughenden and on the following Saturday a quarter peal of Stedman Caters at High Wycombe.

Swansea and Brecon Guild

Despite the wintry weather. 20 members attended the annual meeting held at St. David's, Brecon, on January 16th. After conducting the service the Vicar (Rev. D. R. Wilkinson) invited the ringers to tea in the Parish Hall

At the business meeting the officers were reelected. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Glasbury-on-Wye. It was proposed that' M1. Rees Price be elected an honorary life member for services to the Guild and tower. Mr. J. Williams moved the vote of thanks for the use of the bells.

THE PRIMARIES

IThas often been remarked how much may be produced from so little. Three states of matter-solid. liquid and gas-seem to provide the total of all tangible things: the whole vast range of the world's writings are made from an insignificant number of letters; the seemingly endless variety of musical tunes and textures, some simple and some indescribably complex, are built from a small number of related notes; and the painted pageantry of the angry sunset is compounded by the Master Hand from the three primary colours-red, yellow and blue.

Change-ringing, too, we may perceive, has its primaries -a trio of simple phenomena which provide and permit all the accepted movements of bells in their courses. and which, in their seemingly endless combinations, create complexities that could not be comprehended by a separate contemplation of each of the three fundamentals. The three primaries of change-ringing are of course, hunting, dodging and place-making; and just as letters and notes are joined to form words and musical phrases, so hunting, dodging and place-making may be joined to form conventional movements; and as words and musical phrases may again be placed in combination to form sentences and musical themes, so our conventional movements may be linked up to build methods. And out of this expansion of primaries into groups, and groups into sentences, there comes at last-in literature, music, painting. or any other art, including change-ringing-a progression towards an art form.

In the very early stages of his instruction the beginner in the art of change-ringing will be aware of the three fundamentals, hunting, dodging and place-making, and will find them used in many different combinations in their simplest form. Grandsire, Plain Bob and Treble Bob will show him no more than the very elemental use of this material. When he comes to study Stedman he will strike an interesting and unusual combination called a Whole Turn, and he will gradually learn to think of this conventional duty not as 'lead, one in seconds, lead' but as a whole. so that the mere words ' Whole Turn' convey to him the picture of the complete manouvre. Later, if he progresses to the Surprise methods. he will find this fragment of so frequent occurrence that ringers of London, Bristol and other methods call it simply 'Stedman."

The elementary study of the method Stedman will also force upon the notice of the beginner the small piece of gymnastics that used to be known as a Snap and is frequently now referred to as a Spike. This stealing in to take one blow at lead and then making off again-a movement so well known in Stedman-will again show itself as soon as the learner rings Bristol. and the ringer of Surprise methods soon becomes accustomed to a specialised form of speech used in reference to certain pieces of work. so that phrases such as 'spike fourths.' ' one-two-one. ' Stedman right,' or 'eight-seven-eight' become not only familiar, not only convenient, but actually indispensable if the learning and ringing of complex methods is to be facilitated.

Many ringers who have not proceeded beyond the four simple standard methods have never comprehended, or perhaps ever even thought to comprehend. that so much of the more complex methods is built only of the old familiar stuff, the dodging, place-making and hunting they know so well, combined and built into stereotyped 'phrases ' and used over and over again in endless different ways. Thus the famous Court places of Double Court become, by simple extension, the Double Norwich places, and the Double Norwich places, by a pleasing repetition, become the Cambridge places, and a half of the diagram of Cambridge places gives Yorkshire places. And these two latter. Cambridge places and Yorkshire places, carry their names with them into the innumerable methods in which they occur and of which they form the backbone.
There are among us many who have, for various reasons, never proceeded to the realm of advanced ringing: and to many of these it is clearly a matter for wonderment how certain practitioners can ever learn so many methods or assimilate matter of such complexity as that presented by the higher forms of ringing. The truth is. of course, that the material remains for the most part the same: it is the comprehending and learning of this familiar matter in new and varied form and the ringing of it with accuracy and confidence that mark the competent ringer of the higher methods. This competence is built on experience, and an important factor in growing experience is an appreciation and a utilisation of simple fundamentals.

Andover District Outing

Berkshire was the venue for the Andover District outing on November 14th. Ringing started on the popular six at Peasemore, followed hy Childrey and the heavy six at Stanford-in-theVale. Other towers visited were the good eight at Shrivenham and the unusual five at Great Coxwell. The outing was voted the best trip yet.

We regret to learn that Mr. C. W. R. Grimwood, of Hersham. a regular ringer at All Saints; Kingston-on-Thames. suffered a stroke on January 244 h . He is confined to his hed and not able to receive visitors. 'Old Bob, as he is familiarly known, will be 85 on March 1st.

Well-known ringers around Bedford, Mr. Colin Mann, of Flitwick, and Miss Mary Tysoe, of Bromham, were married at Bromham Parish Church on January 16th. After the reception a band of their ringing friends attempted a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples on Bromham's fine octave, but this came to grief after half-anhour's good ringing. Mr. and Mrs. Mann's future home will be King's Road, Flitwick.

GOSSIP

A peal attempt to the Harry Lofthouse, at Holy Trinity Church. Idle, on January 30th, came to grief when almost half way. Three of the local band-Michael. Sheila and Peter Bruce, all under 17 -stood in at short notice and made a good attempt. This was their second attempt at peal ringing.

One quarter a week is the rule at King's Norton, Birmingham. It is a tine contribution to the band's progress.

In the quarter peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Esher, Surrey, on December 26th (page 70), the ringer of the fifth was J. King and not J. May.

Those attending the Southern District Ladies Guild meeling next Sitturday should note that Witley bells are available in the evening from 6.30108 , and not as stated in The Ringing World of last week.

Featured in "The Guardian * of January 22nd was an article. well illustrated, re the Loughhorough Bell Foundry, written by Gcoffrey Moorhouse, entitled "Making the mouths of bawling brass.

ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS  New Master Appointed

ITHE Society's annual meeting took plate at St.-Martin-in-the-Fields on January 23 rd . Ringing during the afternoon was followed by in excellent tea in the St Martin's canteen under the supervision of the lady helpers. about $5(1$ ringers being present.
The business meeting followed in the Fellowship HaH and. in the absence of the Master. Mr. P. N. Bond. who had only recently lelt hospital after an operation for the removal of his tonsils, the chair was taken by Mr. F. J. Cullum. a former Master. Apologies for absence were received from Messrs. P. N. Bond (who sent best wishes to the new Master and thanked member; for their support during his term of office). H. Audsley. I. Oram. N. G. Stecre and R. Newman.

In his report. the secretary (Mr. A. W. J Butler) said that four peals had been recorded for the Society during the year: Stedman Cinques at Shrewsbury (conducted by Mr. I 11. Irancis). Stedman Triples at Swanscombe (by Mr. G. Butcher). Bristol Surprise Major at Aylesford lhy Mr. F.J Cullum) and Stedman Caters at Nottingham (by Mr. J. L. Millhouse). He hoped that the Society would improve on this during the large number of members who do ring peals regularly for their local associations.
Meetings had been held at Shoreditch and Hackney - jointly with the London County Association-Barnet. Chislehurst and the very popular joint one with the Middlesex County Association at St. Martin-in-the-Fields with ringing also at St. Giles-in-the-Fields and St. Margaret's. Westminster. The secretary added that he thought members should try and attend these mectings in rather larger numbers than was the case in some instances.
Practices at St. Martin's had been well attended. Twenty-eight new members had been elected during the year, one more than the previous year

LOSSES BY DEATH

The Society had lost by death some old and valued members: Messrs. R. Brown, A. C Chapman. C. J. Mathews, A. Miles and A H. Pulling. Sympathy was also extended to Miss Mabel Prockson on the recent death of her mother. Mr. Matthews had been a great stalwart of the Society in the past and at St. Martin's; Mr. Pulling. a member for nearly sn years. would be always remembered for his long peal of Stedman Caters on handbells which still remains the record length: Mr. Reg. Brown was a member of the secretary's home town band. St. Mary's. Southampton, and took nart in his first peal there. Grandsire Caters The meeting stood in silence to their memory
The (reasurer (Mr. F. E. Hawthorne) in his report said the slight drop in the Society's halance was due almost wholly to a deficit on the dinner: otherwise the finances were in a healthy condition

A discussion on the report raised the matter of increased subscriptions, which were still at the pre-war level. and it was thought that at any rate steepleage could he raised from 3 d . to fil. It was proposed that this be submitted ip the next annual meeting. Meantime. the question is to be put 10 members at the quaricrly meetings and their reactions sought.

NEW MEMBERS

The following new members were elected Messrs. M. Elson and J. B. Webb (Lichfield). F W. Grocott (Sale). Miss Shirley M. Parsons (Cheltenham). Miss Margaret A. Swann (Lincoln). Messrs. H. Stevens (Newark). S. Adams (Nottingham). Miss Dorothy Borer (Sirood). Messrs. H. H. Furminger (Northfleet), and K Williamson (Sittingbourne).

The election of officers followed and Mr Dennis Beresford was elected Master of the Society. He thanked the members for their trust and said he would endeavour to carry out his duties to the best of his abilities. The Society had some very good talent among its members and it could look to the future with great hopes. The new Master then took the chair and the election of the other officers took place as follows: Hon. secretary. Mr. A. W. J. Butler: hon. treasurer. Mr. F. E. Hawthorne: senior steward. Mr. N. G. Steere; junior

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE - No.

Rev. Canon C. CAREW COX, M.A., A.K.C. (Master, Salishury Dincesan Guild)
Canon Cox. Through his earnest and sincere Easter and Chrismala messages, which have so frequently appeared in this journal, will be well known to most of nur readers. He is a very capable and enthusiastic ringer, and has successfully stimulated interest in our art in a part of the country which is anything but casy.

He was horn at Croxley Green. Hertfordshire, in 1882 , and was educated at St. Paul's Schoal. King's College. London (where he passed with honours in Theology), and graduated at University College. Durham, in 1908. He was ordained deacon at St. Paul's Cathedrat.

London. in 1909. and priest at Coventry Cathe dral in 1910

His first curacy was at St.atford-on-Avon and during his four years there he became actively connected with the then newly-formed Warwickshire Guild, serving as its secretary He took part in most of the first performances of the Guild and conducted the first peals of Treble Bob Major at Bedworth and Stedman Caters at Solihull.

In 1914 he moved to Dorset, where he ministered at Symondsbury and Milton Abbas, and afterwards for ten years at West Moors, and was Vicar of Lyme Regis for 26 years until his retirement in 1953. During his incumbency here he founded a change-ringing band which became capable of ringing Surprise methods. He was also responsible for recasting the bells into a musical eight. He conducted the last peal (Yorkshire) on the old hells and the first (Stedman) on the new.

He was elected chairman of the Wimbornc Branch. Salisbury Guild (1921-1959), and Master of the Salishury Diocesan Guild in $19+0$. He is also president of the Clerical Guild, in whose first peal of Stedman Caters af Warwick he took part, along with the late Canon Coleridge and other famous clerical ringers, in 1910.

Canon Cox first learned 10 ring at Stockland, Devon, being taught by his cousin, E. V. (now Prebendary) Cox, and rang his first peal at Hammersmith in 1904, which was a College Youths peal of Grandsire Triples. His first peal as conductor was Holt's Original, rung at Chiswick in 1907. He was frequently to be seen at practices it London lawers, and when he was at Durham rang peals at Gateshead with that great ringer W, H. Barber and the Gofton brothers.

He has rung 137 peals, conducted 55
Canon Cox married in 1917 Miss Margaret E. Robinson, of Kensington. In 1951 he was appointed Hon. Canon of Salisbury Cathedral. We hope he will continue to inspire us all for a long time with his messages at church festivals.

JAFUS.

Tips For Beginners - 7

When your ring Treble Bob you meet the same bells in the same places each lead, except that the treble takes the place of the bell doing the slow-work. Thus if bobs are called at consecutive leads you are sure of the bell to dodge with at the second bob since is will be the same bell you dodged with at the first bob

Chertsey District

An increase of 22 members. bringing the number to 111, was reported by Mr. R. Collins (District Ringing Master) at the annual meeting of the Chertsey District at Hersham on January 30th. 'A good year' was his comment. hut he was convinced that with hard work a lot of progress could be made in 1960.

Ail the officers were re-elected, namely: Mr. R. Collins, Ringing Master; Mr. J. King, assistant R.M.: Miss E. Loveland, hon, secretary, Mr. T. Maybrey replaces Mr. G. Talbot as third committee member. It was unanimously agreed to make a collection at each District meeting for the New Cathedral Bell Fund.

Mr. W. Shepherd thanked the Vicar (Rev. G. Williams) for conducting the service. the ladies who prepared tea, and the organist. Ringing continued till 9 p.m. in methods up to Cambridge.

LETTERS TO

THE BEAUTY OF PLACE NAMES
Dear Sir,- The delightful monograph on the beauty of place names, read today from a sick hed. has done me more good than all my doctor's pills, although I was surprised to know that someone else scans through the peal lists that someon else scans through the peal lists for what I have always thought was my own private joy.
Pride of place in my stored up memory of names goes to a village in Dorset; it probably has but one bell, as ' Dove' does not know it, and while I have collected guide books for years I have never seen it mentioned. It is Ryme Intrinseca, and the only entry I know comes in the Sarum Diocesan Directory which gives it as follows: 'Yetminster, with Chetnole and Ryme Intrinseca' - Yours faithfully.

UNHELPFUL EFFECT OF INDIFFERENT BROADCAST

Dear Sir,-I did not wish to enter further into the correspondence concerning the Christmas broadcast but, as requested, I must point out that I was sincere in my brief remark about its effeet on the training of learners. I would add that it was the longest period of hells I lave heard over the radio, and some of it (which was good and which bad has already heen pointed out) was the second worst I have heard, the worst being when a leading Surprise tower fired-out during a broadcast one Sunday evening before the war. I was at much the same age and stage of accomplishment then as some of the learners at the tower whose training I am required 10 supervise now, and the circumstances were similar. I had been advised by my instructor to listen to this performance "for my good, and was suitably appalled by the clashing: it might be excusable at a practice to try experiments and get in a langle, but never for broadcasts and special occasions, or Sundays for that matter. If there is a risk of bad striking if more than rounds are attempted, then even St. Paul's Cathedral ought to ring rounds! The learners at Elkstone at Christmas would have given a fair performance if they had only remembered this.

I duly advised the learners at Church Gresley to listen to the Christmas broadcast to further their interest, and was not surprised to receive adverse comments on my return, for even at their stage they know they ought to aim at precision ringing-the bells "going like pistons,' as I have heard it put. In our tower, where the bells are at present very loud for the ringers, anything else can be very painful to the ear. and I do not need to comment on the striking. they would not hear me if I did: Another striking advantage is that with only five bells the learner can quickly recognise his bell in the general rhythm. This may not he easy on higher numbers in a quiet tower.
I have digressed. however, and in conclusion reaffirm that yet another unhelpful aspect of bad broadcast ringing is that it sets a bad example to the learners: and goodness knows. we have enough trouble to prodace decent ringers without sahotaging the effort from within our own ranks.-Yours faithfully.
D. P. JONES.

NO CRITICISM INTENDED

Dear Sir,-I fear that my letter on page 44 has been interpreted as a personal criticism of the ringing standards of Mr. Moxon. I wish in assure him and any others that this was not in any way intended, and reflects bad writing on my part.-Yours faithfully.
R. J. CORKE.

Alton, Hants.

THE EDITOR
LACK OF GUILD INTEREST ALLEGED
Dear Sir,-It should not be necessary to comment on manners, particularly in ringing circles, but I feel that when a blatant example of bad manners is met with, for the good of the Exercise it should not go unnoticed.

On January 16th I visited St. Peter's, St. Albans, for the annual District meeting. After standing in the ringing chamber for half-anhour I was finally asked if I could ring, and during the time I spent in the tower no officer of the Guild took sufficient interest to enquire from which tower I came. It is certainly fortunate that I did not have to travel a long distance to attend this meeting, for in that case I should be more indignant than I am now.
We at Rickmansworth have been trying, during the last three years, to build up a 10 -bell band. This we are doing, but with little or no help from the Hertford Guild, apart from the kind friendship and generous help received from our neighbouring tower of St Mary's. Watford.

We consider that the function of a Guild is mainly to promote the art of change-ringing. and social intercourse, amongst change-tingers within the Guild. We feel that the Hertford Guild in no way has fulfilled this function.
In the last three years individual ringers from our tower have rung 45 peals: of these, 28 were for the Oxford Diocesan Guild, 9 for the Middlesex Guild and 8 for the Hertford County Association. Each of the peals for the Hertford County Association was conducted by a non-resident member. If it was not for the kindness of Mr. J. R. Mayne, of Harrow Weald. Messrs. F. T. Blagrove and W. Butler, of Windsor, Mr. W. Birmingham, of Slough. and Mr. A. R. Pink, of Oxford, we at Rickmansworth would still be ringing badly-struck Grandsire Triples and Doubles. To those mentioned above and to the many others who have in many ways helped we, as a tower, tender our most grateful thanks: and to the officers of the Hertford County Association I say pull your socks up!-Yours, etc.
M. HATCHETT,

St. Mary's, Rickmansworth.

EXTENSIONS OF WHITWICK ANI) LYME

Dear Sir.-I am afraid that Mr. Blagrove has misread Rule 6. If he looks again, as I understand it, he will find that the part he has quoted applies only to 'Expanding' and 'Double' extensions. Those which I gave were static ones. I am perfectly aware that these methods are related to Whitwick and Lyme Surprise Major in the same way as Yorkshire Surprise Royal is 10 Cambridge Surprise Major. I think I made it clear in my last letter that I do not regard them as satisfactory extensions, and this is precisely the objection which I have to them. Nevertheless, the report on method extension allows them.

The last part of Mr. Blagrove's letter is concerned with the methods already rung as Whitwick and Lyme Surprise Royal, which was the original point of this correspondence. I did not intend to imply that the Council should do the renaming itself. I think that the band should choose fresh names, a course which will be forced upon them if the Council merely states that these methods are not extensions. This, I presume, is also Mr. Blagrove's view.-Yours faithfully.

BEG TO DIFFER

Dear Sir.- The opinions of such prominent ringers as Mr. J. F. Smallwood and Mr. F. W Perrens merit our careful consideration. but find myself at variance with them as expressed in the correspondence columns of our journal on two widely different subjects.

Firstly, I hope the Exercise will not endorse Mr . Smallwood's scathing criticism of the B.B.C. The Corporation could easily attain near perfection in their broadcasts through the medium of "B.B.C. Recording' and, may I remind members that this footnote appears heneath most of the items in the Christmas Day and Boxing Day programmes, the chief exception being the bells and the church services.

Are not the B.B.C. possibly proving wiser than we who criticise? They wish to broad cast Christmas Bells, surely the critic who described Bethlehem Bells as just a din missed the romanticism of it all. Incidentally, I wonder how many members of the B.B.C. staff out on location, would welcome 'canned bells on Christmas morning !
Secondly, Mr. Perrens observes that if the Guilds and Associations were to assist the finances of 'The Ringing World' (as has been suggested). it would necessitate further increases in annual subscriptions resulting in loss of membership. particularly among the younger ringers. Why should this be so? I must say that I have found chief opposition to any increase of the subscription to my Guild to come from the older ringers.
The annual ringing member's subscriptions to the two local Guilds (Salisbury and Winchester and Portsmouth) are 2 s .6 d . and 3 s . respectively. i.e., about 1s. per year more than pre-war. Costs are more than trebled today, thereforc an annual subscription of 7 s . 6 d . or even 10 s . per year would not be outrageous. Perhaps if it cost us more we should value our membership more and also be able to support our important journal as suggested. without distress to our Guild funds.- Yours faithfully. ARTHUR V. DAVIS.

ANNUS IRAE,

Dear Sir,-As a postscript to E.C.S.'s two articles on 'Annus Irae,' and the part played by William Willson in controversies of that year, it may be of interest to recall that in later years he wrote in this journal that he would occasionally receive a letter from the Editor of 'The Bell News' - 'Dear Friend. The circulation is not so good. Can you kick up a row in the next issue? Any subject you like, only make it hot and strong. Mr. Willson added that he would duly oblige, the circulation would go up, and he would incur a certain amount of dislike. In view of Harvey Reeves comment on the circulation after the Kidlington controversy, this was perhaps one of the occasions. - Yours sincerely,

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

About 70 ringers, including visitors from the Bath and Wells Association, attended the annual meeting of the North East Branch at Tiverton on January 9 th. Membership was reported to be about the same, but the finances are very sound, with $t 513 \mathrm{~s}$. in the instruction account and $£ 55$ in the Branch general fund. Officers elected for 1960 were: Chairman. the Rev. E. E. Hughes: Ringing Master, Mr. A. G. Selley; secretary and treasurer. Mr. G. W. Hollis, of Roseneath. The Avenue. Tiverton. The retiring secretary and reasurer (Mr. W. H. Ware) was thanked for his seven years of service by the chairman and the Rev. Preb. E. V. Cox. president of the Guild. In the ringing the striking of many of the touches was well

IRELAND WAS CONSULTED
Dear Sir. - As the recent correspondence bout the Christmas Day hroadcast has now inquired ahout the position of the Central Council Committee on Broadcasting and Television I feel that, as a member of that committee. I must say a few words on the subject. 1 was consulted by the programme organiser from the Northern Ireland Region of the B.B.C about the choice of tower for this year's broad cast. and I nominated St. Donard's, Belfast. I therefore accept the full responsibility for the choics and the standard of ringing, as 1 ellsure beforehand that the tower chosen each year will reach the high standard of striking required. Now, critics, what was wrong with St. Donard's ringing on Christmas Day? Some have said in the correspondence that it was good. others made no mention. while others condemned the whole programme as bad. My view is that St. Donard's striking was excellent.
I am rather surprised that our friend of the black border. in previous years has no joined the fray this year. but maybe he has this time under his own name in view of the criticism at last year's Council meeting.

Some years ago, the B.B.C. asked the Television and Broadcasting Committee for a list of towers in each region whose striking was regarded as qualifying for broadcasting. I refused 10 give any towers for Northern Ireland as I felt that it was wrong to do so as it is well known that standards change from year to year: a tower may be good this year and had next year. through changes in membership. and that therefore the B.B.C should consult the representative for the area before any tower was broadcast to ensure that a high standard of ringing was maintained. This arrangement of consultation with the B.B.C has now worked exceptionally well over the years. and at the present my relations with the B.B.C. are excellent, with an understanding on hoth sides of each other's difficulties.
Recently all the Northern Ireland towers took part in a programme on bells on Christmas Eve. and the striking throughout the programme was good. We have endeavoured over the past ten years to raise our standards of striking by holding cup competitions. and although some of the experts may be opposed to such competitions there is no doubt that the standards of striking and ringing have been raised to a very high level as a result of the competitions. and this applies to the whole of Ireland as well.
Turning again to the question of general liaison with the B.B.C.. I have always felt that to get the matter put on a proper footing. the Commitiee should seek a discussion with the person responsible in B.B.C. Headquarters in London, as always one hears in the regions that while they agree with our views the: unity must consult London. I have always said that I have been willing to attend such it mecting in London and would suggest opportunity should be taken this Whitsun to arrange a meeting on our way back from Folkestone. Yours faithfully. JOHN T. DUNWOODY. Holywood. Northern Ireland.

THE KIDLINGTON $\mathbf{1 7 , 0 4 2}$

Dear Sir.-I did not hear the above peal in 1899. but I was not impressed with the correspondence which followed, and sincerely hoped i would remain a forgotien affair for all time: set for years afterwards 1 listened for many hours 10 Jim Washbrook and Bill Pye, two great friends of mine. in whose homes I spent many happy hours. Several times the Kidlington peal became a topic of conversation, and regret always seemed to me a matter of great regret that these two famous men should hecome bad friends over a peal of Double Norwich and 100 many people rushing into print.-Yours faithfully.
Addlestone. WILLIAM SHEPHERD

A REPLY TO MR. RALPH EDWARDS

Dear Sir,-The lines by Babbacombe Bill aptly sum up the correspondence re the Evesham peal (bad lad, Pat, to drop a clanger like that!). It was with some regret, however, that read the letter on the subject from Mr. Edwards. Yes. I am aware of the Birmingham ringers' technique, and I've managed to apply myself 10 it on numerous occasions-with credit or discredit I leave others to decide.

It is unnecessary for Mr. Edwards to tell us that Pat Cannon is one of the best heavy-bell ringers in the business. The foornotes 10 his peals tell us that. Some of Mr. Edwards" remarks on the Evesham peal were in bad taste, as he was the only disgruntled member of the band. He had the chance to set up-why didn't he? He says the hand was not exactly star-studded. Well, he did not reach the heights of stardom himself. He lacked ream spirit and said he could not care less, then he accused the rest of the band of putting up a poor show
He says the band was not too well placed seeing that he is a first-class heavy-bell ringer himself, why didn't he condescend 10 ring at the back end and try to keep things together? Perhaps if he had been on the tenor box instead of Siephen Ivin all would have been well. a good peal rung and all the hand would have heen stars
One does not expect Mr. Edwards to enjoy a peal at Evesham as he openly admits that he is unable to hear the bells owing to so much hum in the place. His criticisms have been voiced often and strongly of Evesham hells. Inside the tower acoustical experiments have heen carried out with a view to helping his indifferent hearing. Other suggestions he has made I shall carry out as soon as possible. In the meantime, any opinion or criticism he voices on ringing he takes part in at Evesham must be treated with reserve. I write this letter with sincere apologies to my brother, Mr. A. V. Hemming. - Yours faithfully.

Evesham。

Dear Sir.-One of the most valued functions of "The Ringing World" is 10 provide 3 medium for the freer exchange of views and ideas between ringers, and in this connection 1. like many others. would like to thank you for publishing the correspondence inspired by the Evesham peal.
Every reader must be interested in this correspondence, and some perhaps amused, elated. infuriated or. like my good friend Pat Chapman, distressed.
I. personally, was far from distressed to read the opening instalment, contributed by A. P. C. in fact I nearly laughed my head off, and so. I should think, did Stephen Ivin. Nor do I share Mr. Chapman's view that A. P. C.'s letter was badly timed. for after all. this is the season of pantomise!

My sympathy, however. is with Mr. Cannon in this matter, as having built up a reputation for fast peals it must be particularly galling to he beaten at his own game. and worse is probably to come!

But seriously, sir. how I wish that more ringers had the enthusiasm of either of the leading characters in this argument!-Yours sincerely.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD  Macclesfield Branch

The Ven. T. Clarke (president of the Guild) conducted the service at the annual meeting of the Macclesfield and District Branch, held at Macclestield Parish Church on January 9th.
In his address, the president lamented the number of silent towers in the diocese of Chester, and said how incongruous it was to hear from small country church towers distorted elecric recordings of the bells of St. Margaret's. Westminster. Only true ringing by virile men and women was worthy of the Church. Apart from rendering a great service they were engaging in a captivating craft, and they needed more volunteers who would be given the friendly, expert advice and training which the Guild was prepared to provide.
Tea was served after the service, and this was followed by the annual meeting, with Archdeacon Clarke in the chair. Mr. John Worth was unanimously re-elected as Branch chairman and Ringing Master. Mr. Harold Lonyon was appointed hon. secretary and treasurer, and Messrs. C. W. Lawton, E. Pimblott and M. Mottershead as representatives to the Diocesan General Committee Ringing at the Parish Church, containing the only 12 in Cheshire. following the meeting.

Crewe Branch

It was a welcome change for the Crewe Branch to be favoured with a fine day for their annual meeting on January 16ih. The attendance of 87 members, representing 20 lowers. had the pleasure of welcoming the Guild Master (Mr. J. W. Clarke) and the general secretary (Mr, H. O. Baker).

After the Guild Office and a thoughtful address from the Vicar (Rev. F. G. Gentry), the P.C.C. Kindly entertained the meeting to tea, which was served by the wives of Christ Church ringers, under the direction of Mrs. R. D. Langford.

The Vicar previded at the business meeting. In his report, the Branch secretary (Mr. W Kerr) stated that ringing meetings were continuing to receive good support, and that more peals had been rung than in previous years. It was regretted that four towers in the Branch were still not in union with the Guild, but it is intended to make an effort to remedy this unfortunate state of affairs. The total membership of the Branch showed a decrease, hut this was attributable to the fact that several memhers had failed to pay their subscriptions. This was also reflected by a less favourable balance in the Branch accounts, which were presented by the secretary in the absence of the treasurer Mr. W. F. Stenson).
The only alterations which resulted from the election of officers were that Mr. W. Kerr comhined the duties of secretary and treasurer and Mr. B. J. Ongley succeeded to the position of Ringing World " representative.

A JANUARY OUTING

Ringers from Andover and Reading areas were pleased to accept an invitation by Bruce Granger on Jamuary 2nd for a day-s ringing in Bedfordshire and Buckinghamshire
Some interesting bells were encountered These included the steel bells of Waddesion (6), Wing (6), with a long draught and 28 cwt . tenor, the ten at Leighton Buzzard, and finally the majestic eight at Wohurn. where the day's ringing ended with a course of Cambridge Surprise Major.

Mr. and Mrs. Granger kindly entertained the party to tea. and there was the well-known dish of "Bedfordshire Changes." which was served with all the traditional ceremony. Sincere thanks to Bruce and his parents.

A YOUNG LANCASHIRE BAND

YOUNG LANCASHIRE RINGERS. - Twelve months ago the belfry register at Westhoughton Parish Church, Bolton, contained the name of only one junior member. Today there are nine and cight of them have formed a team to ring for evening service, the first time being on November 22nd. Their ages range from 12 to 15 vears with an average of $15 \frac{1}{2}$ years.

They claim to be one of the youngest ringing teams in the country. The hand stood: Carol Knight (13) 1. Joan Farrimond (13) 2. Mary Hilton (12) 3. Anita Hilton (14) 4. Brenda Mort (15) 5, Brian Meadows (15) 6. Jeffrey Sawyer (13) 7, Ian Hunter (15) venor. The ninth ringer is Frank Taylor (12), a recent recruit.

Their regularity in attendance for Sunday service ringing and the Tuesday practices encourages their instructor, Mr. Albert Greenhalgh, the well-known Lancashire ringer, to anticipate that Westhoughton juniors will add lustre to the Exercise. A peal attempt is being arranged for March 19th. which will he Carol Knight's tirst attempt

GULLD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The annual meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch at Dartmouth on January 7th was attended by many ringers from South Devon. Ringing was under the direction of Mr. W Simmonds at St. Petrock's, Townstal. and St. Saviour's. The service at Townstal was conducted by the Rev. R. T. Urwin and the address given hy the Rev. N. 1: 1). Coleridge.
At the business imecting. Mrs. H. Hood. Branch chairman. presided, and the oflicers were re-elected. Mi. 1). J. Roherls (Branch secretary) reported an increase of membership by 16 to 69. A new hand of ingers had been tormed at Si. Saviour's. Torquay, under Mr. W J. Harvey

AROUND CANTERBURY

Organised by Peter Newing. F.S.A.. eight ringers in three cars visited towers around Canterbury on January 6ih. At Bekesbourne (6). with John Baldwin as Ringing Master, Cambridge wals rung. For Littlehourne (6). Nicholas Davies wis Ringing Master and Elizaheth Rogers ins self-appointed deputy. Unfortunately, at Wichhambreaux the striking did not match up to the immaculate ringing chamber, although Sid Wialters, the Ringing Miaster, was on home ground.

At te: at lithlehourne a tape-recorder was introduced, and after listening to some halfmufled Spliced Surprise Major from Ashford it was agreed that there was room for improvement in the party's finging at Wickhambreaux. Mary and Pauline were joint Ringing Mistresses at Goodnestone. The day's ringing ended at Barham. Over coffee at Canterbury it was decided to hold a similar outing at Easter if possible.

Thank You, Australia

Meryyn J. Bray. of H.M.S. ' Centaur.' writes expressing the sincere thanks of David W. Kerley and himself for the friendship and hospirality gilen to them by the ringers of Sydney and Melbourne.
1 hope if anty of them ever come to England I shall have the opportunity of meeting them again and helping 10 make them feel as weloome in our coumby as they made us in theirs, he concludes.

Their happenings in Sydnes were reported on page" 73. They arrived at Melbourne on New Year's Eive and made rapid combact with Mr. Roper to impuire about New Year's ringing. As a restulf they were ringing at Si. Paul's Cathedral from $8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. $101 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. The ringing ranged from rounds and call-changes to Grandsire Cinques, passing Stedman Doubles, Triples and Plain Bob Major: Just after midhight a course of Siedman Caters was rung.

As they were only staying two days a special practice was arranged for the foltowing eventing at St. Patrick's Cathe.Iral.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

E. Berks and S. Bucks 'Branch

Over 60 ringers attended the East Berks and

 South Bucks Branch meeting at Amersham on January 23 rd, when ringing ranged from rounds to London Surprise Minor. A course of Hull Surprise and one of Kingston T.B. were rung. but the temptation was resisted to splice them and ring Kingston-upon-Hull!The Branch chairman (Rev. Eric Perkins) presided at the committee meeting, at which a minute's silence was observed in memory of Arthur Foxall. a promising young ringer of Hughenden, who was killed in a road accident.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD Salisbury Branch

The Salisbury Branch held their annual meeting on January 23rd. when Canon P. J. Hayes welcomed nearly 50 members and visiting ringers 10 Sarum St. Thomas', and after the service joined the company for tea at the Church House.

The chairman (H. A. Roles) also welcomed the Rev. W. Uphill, for 17 years Branch seerctary fo: North Dorset, now retired and living in Salisbury, who his just undertaken the work of Guild librarian. The lapsing of Donhead St. Mary, Berwick St. John, Codford St. Peter and Woodford during the year (mostly due to the increasing age of the ringers and the difficulty of getting recruits in small villages) was offset hy the reaffiliation of Broadchalke, Coombe Bisselt and Tisbury, where there are new and keen young bands. In the case of the two tirst-named this is Imgely due to the encouragement of new vicars, themselves ahlo to ring. and a special tribule was Daid to Arthur Haines and the Wilton ringers. who have given a good deal of help in teaching the clements of change-ringing.

Seven quarterly or practice meetings kad been held during the year, visiting 15 towers, and a new venture had been a half-day Branch outing into Hampshire: it is hoped to run another, visiting North Wilts, this year. The Branch officers were all re-elected, and the following meetings are proposed, subject to confirmation: March 5th. Dinton (practice): April 23 rd . Tishury (quarterly): May 28 th or 21 st . Britford-with-Downton (p.) : July 16th, Enford-with-Netheravon (q.): September 10th. Woodford (p.): October 22nd, Amesbury-with-Durrington (q.); November 26ith. Broadchalke (p.): January 2lst, 1961, annual meeting in Salishury.

Ringing continued to suit all standards at both St. Thomas" and St. Paul's.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD North Lindsey Branch

A very successful annual meeting of the North Lindscy Branch was held at Barton-onHumber on January 23rd. Owing to unexpected difficulties at Grimsty. the place of the mecting had to be changed, and all are very grateful to Barton for making such excellent arrangements at short notice. There were 42 for tea, and several more came later on.
Canon H. Thackray presided at the meeting. The accounts showed a small surplus on the year and a balance in hand of $£ 2317 \mathrm{~s}$. Mr. W. Bramwell reported on the hell repair fund account.
Officers elected for 1960 were: President. Canon 1H. Thackray: secretary and treasurer, G. W. Moody: Ringing Master. J. Bray: Guild representative, IF Lord: Branch commiltee, A. Crowder, H. Hall and S. Neave: auditors, M. Walker and G. Dohbs. Five Branch meetings are to he held in 1960, and the next annual meeting will be at Scunthorpe.

Batton has two rings of eight, and there was ringing on the eight it St. Peter's in the afternoon. Alter Evensong at St. Mary's, conducted by the Rev. G. Sylvester (Vicar), there was further ringing on the heavier eight at this church.

JOINT MEETING AT STOCKTON

The joint meeting held hy the Southern District of the Durham and Newcastle Association and the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association at Stockton Parish Church on January 16th attracted a good attendance of members from both Associations, and there was enjoyable ringing during the afternoon and evening on this pleasant-sounding ten. Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters, Boh Major and Royal, and Double Norwich Major were the chief methods rung.
At tea the Vicar of Stockton (Rev, C. N. Wardle-llarpur) joined the ringers. IIe was thanked for the use of the bells hy Mr. W. Etherington and Miss D. M. Killingley, who also thanked the ladies who had provided the

Mr. Wardle-Harpur, replying, paid a tribute to the Stockton band for their diligence as ringers and their work as churchmen.

Mr. F. W. Cooke, vice-president of the Southern District, presided at the tea.

OBITUARY

MR. HARRY LOFTHOUSE

The death on January 26 th , at the age of 60 . of Harry Lofthouse was a great loss to ath who knew him.
He was a member of the band at etrist Church, Armley, Leeds, where he had been in his time church councillor and churchwarden, and was interested in many of the organisations at that church.
He had been a member of the Yurkshire Association since 1923, and for the past seven years been on the committee of the Western District. His peal total was a modest nine, hut he had done much work for learners both in his own and neighbouring towers.
He will be chiefly remembered by ringers in this area for his work with the Leeds and District Society, which remains today as a monu ment to his work and devotion to duty. He was its secretary for 30 years. resigning in 1953 since then he had served a term as president and also as vice-president.
He was cremated on IFcbruary 1st, and ringers from many neighbouring towers (even as far afield as Bradford and Sheffield) joined with relatives and other church workers in paying their respects to an old friend who was young in heart.
I. S.

AN APPRECIATION

It was with great sadness that I heard of the passing of Harry Lofthouse at his home in Armley. Leeds. on January 26th, at the age o 60 . Although he had not heen well for a few years. and his ringing activitics had therefore been curtailed. he nevertheless maintained his interest in all ringing matters, throughout. Harry Lofthouse and the Leeds and District Society of Change Ringers were synonymous. as he was its mainspring for almost 40 yearsas secretary and later as vice-president and president. and saw the Society grow from ia very small organisation to its present wellknown state. He was particularly proud of the fact that throughout this time the Society's subscription had not been allered from od. per member per year.
I first met Harry when I came to Yorkshire some 34 years ago- 1 was a little stranger in a strange land. and upon making inquiries as to the whereabouts of a certain Leeds and District meeting which had been advertised. I was given the necessary instructions and told to ask for Harry Lofthousc. as he would sec that I got a ring. However. I had no need to ask. for Harry noticing a strange face made me very welcome. I little thought at the time I would later work with him and know him more intimately. Thus a few years later 1 settled down in Armley and was privileged to work with Harry in various ringing activities and came :o appreciate his sterling character
He was a churchman through and through. and had been connected with Christ Church all his life-as a Sunday School te teher, sidesman. churehuarden and bell-ringer : in fact he could re found actively engaged on praclically every organisalion of the church. activities for his church. he somehow found lime to take a very active interest in numerous other organisations of the parish-youth club. football club. the photographic society and many others: as when 1 knew him it was aluays taken for granted that Harry had meetitge. conmmittees or some activities on practicilly every night of the week-yet he alway managed to find time to give a helping hand Wherever needed.
Men of the character of Harry Lofthouse are very rare indeed. Though not an ambitious peal ringer in the sense of the word. tie would always stiand in when he thought the occasion worthy. and it would be difficult to find a more loyal member of a church or tower. He will be greatly missed. but I am glad that I had the privilege of knowing and working with him. Countless others will feel as I do. that 1 have lost a most sincere friend.

MR. THOMAS TROLLOPE

The death of Mr. T. Trollope on January 15th, from pneumonia which developed after a serious fall, removes from our midst the oldest member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, in his 97 th year. He had been a member of the Guild since 1896
Thomas Trollope learnt his ringing at Middleton Stoney. in Oxfordshire, where, as a young man. he was head gardener at ' the big house: Later he settled in Oxford, and for many years was employed by the Education Authority as advisory gardening instructor for he schools in the district.
It was then that 1 first came to know him, for when I was quite at small boy Mr. Trollope often visited my father, who was headmaster of St. Frideswide's School in Oxford. I rememher that I felt a great respect, and no small degree of awe, in the presence of this dignified. bearded gentleman, who always held himself so rect.
Thomas Trallope never made much progress in the advanced branches of ringing, but his devotion to the art and his unswerving loyalty and service to the Oxford Diocesat Guild caned him the deepest respect and affection in the diocese. His influence at the general committee meetings the was a member of the committee for very many years and never missed a meeting) was always on the side of good sense. kindness and tolerance. He was a greal peace maker. and I believed he never said an unkind word to anyone. In the Oxford Guild we shall greatly miss Thomas Trollope, but we snall rementher with thankfulness his life and example.

MR. R. E. SMITH, EASINGVOLD

The death has taken place at Bank House, Fasingwold. Yorks, at the age of 90 . of Mr Reginald Ernest Smith. a ringer for well over 60 years at the Parish Church. and for the greater part of that time lower keeper and leader of the ringers. Lintil the last war he maintained a band of such strength that the bells were rung for two services every Sunday.

He began to ring when he left the choir, and during his lifetime taught many others to ring Keenly interested in hells. he kept everything in connection with the bells and fittines in irst-class order. Perhaps his greatest ambition was realised in 1950. when the bells were rewang and augmented from six to eight by the addition of two trebles.

He held the office of churchwarden for 40 years and took an active interest in the town's affairs. He was a playing member of the town hand. and was manager of the local branch of the Midland Bank. until his retirement in 936.

The funeral service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev, R. S. Hawkins, R.D.), assisted by Canon F. Richardson. vicar of Pocklington and former Vicar of Easingwold. The cight hells were rung half-mullied immediately before the funeral.

MR. FRANK MORGAN

The ringing band at St . Chad's Cathedral. Birmingham. has sustained a heavy loss in the passine on Imasy 24th in Summerfield Hospital. Birmingham, of Mr. Frank Morgan. aged 6.3 years.

Apart from service in the First World War. Frank's early life was passed in South Wales. where he learned to ring. his work bringing him to Birminghim, a few years prior to the last war. He then joined the band at St. Chad's
Of a quiet, unassuming temperament. coupled with a kindly and generous nature. he was well liked by all with whom he came into contact. Although he had rune some peals in his vounger days, his main interest was in the Sunday service ringing at St. Chad's, where his regularity of attendance and punctuality were proverbial. even when stricken with the painful illness that. in a few weeks, was to cause his death. He last rang on Sunday evening. November 29!h. for the visit of the Cardinal Archhishod of Westminster, although it was evident how ill he was.

He was interred at Witton Cemetery, Birmingham, on January 28th

SURREY ASSOCIATION

Northern District

A membership of 255 -an increase of onewas reported at the annual meeting of the Northern District, held at St. Peter's, Croydon, on January 23 rd. Quarter peals totalled 84 compared with 104, and peals dropped from 29 to 21. In the peals, 81 ringers took part, of whom 50 were resident ringing members Only four lowers entered for the striking competition and the standard was lower on the much more difficult bells at Esher. Collections at meetings for the Belfry Repatir Fund amounted to $£ 84 \mathrm{~s}$. 10 d .
Regarding the Sundiy Service Survey, we in Surrey are certainly no worse than the average state deseribed. Yet the state of ringing in the county is not what it ought to be or what it could be: we must not be bullied into it sense hat we can sit back and relax. On the other hand, ringing is not is dying art. as some would have us believe. The gencral state of affairs hats probably not altered much over the last 50 or 100 years.
The committee suggested creating a panel of volunteers (at least 12) to visit towers requiring help for a period of six weeks on their practice night, when a pirticular method would be pracised. This wats adopted, and tower captains are invited to discuss the schente.

Mr. F. E. Collini succeeds Mr. G. Peters as District Ringing Mister, and Messrs. F. W. Oatway and N . Steere join the committee in place of the Rev. C. Marshall and Mr. C. Champion

The Rev. R. W. Mowbrily conducted Evensong. and local ringers served a first-class meal.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD

Andover District

As an incentive for a membership drive. the Andover District at their annual meeting at Andover were offered a six months subscription to *The Ringing World to the tower that could produce mosi new members from the date of the meeting.

The Rev. P. K. Venner presided at the meeting. and a!l the ollizers were re-elected for a period of three years. The next annual meeting will be held at Whitzhurch, and it was decided to have a District outing to Salisbury in October The service was conducted by the Viear Rev. Dr. J. Machin).

MR. FRED SEAGER  AN APPRECIATION

The sudden death of Mr. Frederick Scager has brought to an end a very long friendslin of over 40 years-as I had just returned from the Fores-after the 1914-18 war. when Fred came to Shipley in 1919. We both rang at St. Patul's. Shipley. and soon lermed a very ciox friendship. which lasted until the last boh had been called

Fred was a grand ringer. especially at the leavy end and one had only 10 sec his cffortless styfe to realise his immense reserves of energy. He wals one of the safest neal ringers one could meet-ringing his first p-al for the Yorkshire Assuciation on Tuesday. liviruary 17th. 1920. this being conducted by the late I. B Kendall. of Shipley

After marrving and seltling down in the district. Mrs. Seager took up ringing and also joined the Shipley Company, heing a very welcome member of the Sunday service band. I had the pleasure of calling her first peal on May Ist. 1926. Liter. Fred's work look him to the Leeds District, where he was readily welcomed at the 1 eeds Parish Church. and continued until his death. Since his retirement just over 12 months ago he was able to devote a great deal more time to ringing, and enjoyed every minute of it.

With his passing. I have lost an old and valued friend. and my wife and 1 would like to express our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Scager and her sons David and Robert.

May he rest in peace.
E. H. S.

SERVICE RINGERS' NEWS One Million Changes At Willesborough

At their annual meeting the ringers of St . Mary-the-Virgin's. Willesborough, announced that in addition to ringing three peals, including the 50th on the bells. they had again topped the hundred thousand changes for service ringing in 1959. Their total of 116.053 brings the service ringing total since the beginning of 1955 to 593.885 . and the total since the beginning of 1949 to 1.035 .451 ! Since all of the ringers are resident within the parish. they are jusilly proud of this record.

During the year the following methods were rung: Plain Bob. Double Bob. Reverse Bob. Canterbury Pleasure Bob. St. Clement's College Bob. College Bob. Oxford Bob. Double Oxford Bob. Double Court Bob. Hereward Bob. London Bob. Horsmonden Bob. Cumberland Bob. Brentford Bob. Childwall Bob. Thelwall Bob. Lytham Bob. Wavertree Bob. Kent Treble Bob. Ovford Treble Bob. Kent and Oxford T.B. spliced. Kentish Delight. Oswald Delight. Old Oxford Delight. Cambridge Surprise. Ipswich Surprise and London Surprise Minor. Plain Roh, Reverse Canterbury Pleasure Bob. New Bob. Huntspill Bob. St. Simon's. Si. Martin's. St. Nicholas'. Winchendon Place Boh. St. Bartholomew's. Reverse All Saints. Union Bob. St. Faith's Slow Course, Reverse St. Simon's. Reverse St. Martin's and Grandsire Doubles. Total: 26 Minor and 15 Doubles.
Apart from a couple of Sundays when the weather was particularly bad Mr. Edward S. Ruck, in his 93 rd year, took part in the ringing each Sunday

LYNEHAM

At Lyncham. Wilts, the number of ringers capable of handling a bell for rounds is 25 , of whom two-thirds are teenagers. The six hells are rung twice on Sundays and on other festivals. Practices are held on Wednesdays
Call-changes were our only repertoire until recently. Now we have a band capable of ringing a plain course of Bob Minimus and Grandsire Doubles. We thank Mr. Goodwin, our captain, for all his encouragement. G. P.

SPLICED SURPRISE MAJOR TWO METHODS

BY P. G. K. DAVIES

Spliced Surprise is increasingly popular and it seems likely that this trend will continue. Indeed we have heard quite a lot recently about Spliced Surprise and in particular compositions of two Spliced. Spliced Surprise provides a vast field for the composer, and a difficult one, expecially where all the work is concerned. for the falseness and complications involved are extensive.
Two Spliced usually means Cambridge mixed with either Yorkshire or Superlative, the latter being commoner, probably because compositions have been more readily available. The 1950 Central Council Collection does not treat Yorkshire in its section on Spliced.

SUPERLATIVE AND CAMBRIDGE
No doubt it is now generally known that the arrangement given in the 1950 Collection for all courses called alike is false. As has been pointed out, provided that compositions of Yorkshire or Superlative with no reversals in 5-6 arc used (e.g., those compositions given on pages 24-30 of that Collection)-SCSXSCS runs true where $X$ can be either $C$ or $S$. In this Collection two peals are given which have all the work of these methods.

YORKSHIRE AND CAMBRIDGE
Firstly, those compositions with all courses called alike. Provided Middleton's or the reductions thereof are used, YXXXXXY runs true where X is either Cambridge or Yorkshire. Examples could be YCYCYCY or YYCCYCY. In these arrangements the calling must bc chosen at the beginning and the same onc maintained throughout. Short courses will be called as the ist, 2nd. 6th and 7th leads of the full course. The short course for YCYCYCY will be YCCY: the short course for YYCCYCY will be YYCY. All these callings apply only to Middleton's and the same arrangement must be used throuphout the peal.
There are several peals which contain all the work of these two methods. Mr. C. K. Lewis has arranged Middleton's thus:-

|  | M | W | H |  |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
| 43652 | - |  |  | CCYYYYY |
| 56234 | - | - |  | CCCCYCY |
| 23564 |  | - | - | YYCYCCY |
| 52364 |  |  | - | YYYYCYC |
| 35264 |  |  |  | $Y Y Y C C C$ |

Four times repeated.

This is reduced to 5,056 by calling before and home (CCCY) in place of the first three courses of one part only and it then contains 2,720 Yorkshire and 2,336 Cambridge.
A recent arrangement of the extension of Middleton's by Mr. Mark Lancefield can be found in the issue of this naper for December 20th. 1957.

All the work deals with full combinations and no 82 's can be obtaincd in three parts. An example is this, by myself:-

Twice repeated and contains 2.496 Camhridge and 2.592 Yorkshire with 77 changes of method.

Other methods have been rung to two Spliced but these are the most common and I hope some of this information will be of use to ringers interested.

CALLING THE CHANGES

$\mathrm{M}^{2}$R. RODENHURST's letter of February 5 th raises a matter which has often been in my mind. Most change-ringers bother very little with call-changes, and only ring them out of stark necessity either because they are visiting a call-change tower or because they have a band of learners and constant rounds are driving them mad. But call-changes properly used are based on principles as clear-cut and orderly as those governing scientific methods, and the instructor with a band of roundringers can give the listening public some good music and himself a lot of simple pleasure if he chooses to put his mind to it.

Readers will have to bear with me if this seems a little verbose and complex, but there is no technical terminology of call-change composition, so I've had to make up some and borrow the rest.
There would seem to be three basic operations in the composition of call-changes, which, for want of anything better, I will call the 'Hunt,' the 'Sequence' and the 'Dovetail.'
The Hunt is what it implies-the calling of one bell from front to back or from back to front. It is the basic (and only) ingredient in the simplest of all peals-the Plain Changes, in which the bell on the lead is called up to tho back until rounds is reached again. But by working two hunts in together you can achieve much longer and more interesting results. A very popular sixty is made by ringing the plain changes on the middle four bells of a six while the treble hunts up and down through them, i.e., treble to the back, change 2 and 3 , treble to the front. change 2 and 4 , and so on. If you call the bells into thirds ( 135246 ) before you start the sixty, Mr. Rodenhurst, you get ' sixty on thirds."

The Sequence is best illustrated by the most useful one, which is, on eight bells, rounds-Queens-Tittums-rounds. This is achieved, basically, like this:-

\begin{array}{r}
12345678 \\
13254768 \\
1 \times X 468 \\
13527468 \\
13572468 \\
\hline
\end{array}

In other words, changing the pairs from the sides to the middle, with treble (and tenor, of course) not affected.
Reverse the operation, and you get the sequence in reverse. This is the principle of many compositions from the six-single 168 of Grand sire the principle of many compositions itom the six-singere
Triples upwards. On six bells it produces a four-part sequence-123456

135246 (Thirds)
154326
The useful thing about this sequence is that it's packed with good music which is therefore available on a regular mathematical system. Combined with a Hunt. in the form of the Plain Changes, it produces The Queen's Peal, which is calling into Queens, ringing the plain changes from there back to Queens. and then reversing the sequence to take you sraight back to rounds. You could. of coursc, if you had the time, continue the sequence, and ring the Plain Changes on Tittums as well. On six bells, this combines with a Hunt to produce an excellent peal of 60 changes, which is known as the Cornish Sixties. The trehle is hunted up and down through the other four, and as in the abovementioned sixty one pair is changed when the treble is leading and one when she is lying, but in this case the inner pairs are changed in the Sequence. As generally called, the peal starts with the change $4 / 5$ : treble to the back; $2 / 3$; treble to the front $; 2 / 5$, gives thirds. The idea of starting like this is that it brings the treble to the front for thirds and Tittums and to the back for the back-change, and improves the music, but this sixty can be called with any bell in the hunt and will always come round. But beware of being too clever, and getting rounds after only four or five minutes, which may happen if you call it from a starting-point other than rounds.

The Dovetail may have some other name, but as far as I'm concerned is my own invention. It is most useful on more than six bells and consists, really, of the operation which brings rounds into Tittums, i.e., the dovetailing of the front four and the back four bells-

'Front bells' are 1234; 'Back bells' 567.

There, in 72 changes, you have some consistently good 8 -bell music, and a caller can go on ad-libbing on that theme for quite a long time without repeating himself.
There are, in fact, very few known "peals ' of call-changes in the West Country, and although those that there are are constructed on principley as clear-cut and regular as those of Plain Bob or Grandsire the Cornish Sixties is, in fact, very closely allied with Plain Bob Doubles), they are generally called not by system but from memory; I think that most people, for instance, calling 'Sixty on Thirds ' call the treble work by system but the inner work from memory, and I know callers of long experience who, making a false call in a peal of changes, cannot get the bells into rounds again.
It would be nice to be able to say that there are young call-change ringers in Devon and Cornwall composing new peals of changes, but if there are I have not heard about it. and the usual repertoire is generally sadly limited-partly because of the inffexible conservatisn of the competition-ringing fraternity, whose almost fundamentalist adherence to Sixty on Thirds and The Queen's Peal results in superlative striking but stultifies any progress in composing and ringing new and different peals.
I hasten to add that in most ways the competition-ringing organisations are not by any means behind the times or anti-progressive; but in this they certainly are, and it has resulted in a rather one-sided situation, in which many bands have been trained into superlative bellhandlers within the limits of their customary practice, and can do wenders not only on their bells but on other, different and often awkward bells, but their bellmanship stops dead at that. with no idea of the fun to be had, and the music to be made, in departing from the two or three peals of changes which they know.

I have met one or two young ringers who can call good peals of changes out of their heads, making then up als they go along, hut only very few, and many others who have the athility and the right temperament but just have never thought of trying or never dared to suggest it to their local bands. If any such, reading this, should take his courage in both hands and ask the ringers one practice night to let him have a try at calling a peal of his own, I shall be richly rewarded.
J. G. M. S.

SUNDAY SERVICE NEWS  ST. JOHN'S, HILLINGDON

St. John's Guild, Hillingdon, recently held their annual meeting, with the Vicar (Rev. F. C. Tyler) in the chair. F. W. Goodfellow (cap tain), A. R. G. Iwinn (treasurer) and F. C Price (steeple keeper) were all re-elected, but T. G. Bannister. who was unable to serve, was replaced by M. J. Palmer as secretary. Mr Bannister was thanked for carrying out his duties so conscientiously for six years.
In view of the importance of the Family Communion service at $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on Sundays. it was decided to ring for this service instead of Matins on the first and third Sundays in the month. On the suggestion of the captain, it was agreed that the Guild would take Cor porate Communion once a quarter.
Four peal attempts were arranged in 1960, including one in September to celebrate the completion by Mrs. F. W. Goodfellow of 411 years' membership as a ringer of the St. John's Guild. Perhaps this is unusual for a woman ringer, especially as Mrs. Goodfellow still rings in the tower in which she was taught to ring Can readers give similar examples?

ST. PETER'S, DORCHESTER

St. Peter's Society. Dorchester, at their dinner and annual meeting on January 30 h , at the Wessex Restaurant, presented the Rector. who is shortly going to his new parish at Motcombe. with a musical cigarette hox in appreciation of the interest shown in the ringers during his incumbency. The presentation was made by the lower captain (Mr. R. H. Duke). The Rector expressed his thanks for the gift and his appreciation of the part played by Mr. Duke and the ringers in the life of the church during his incumbency

Officers elected were: Master, the Rev. P. I Heaton; deputy Master (captain), Mr. R. H. Duke; vice-captain and treasurer, Miss B. J. Dyke: correspondent. Mr. G. R. Churchill Seven new members were elected-Messrs. P Slade, D. Shorto, F, Stoneham. N. Tucker, 1 Porter. J. D. L. Richards and D. Hide. Entertainment was provided by Mr. W. Crocker and the evening ended with a course of Grandsire rung on handbells by Mr. R. H. Duke, Miss B. J. Dyke and Miss W. S. Bongard.

Stone, Staffordshire, ringers made local history on January 30th by ringing a peal of Grandsire Triples. The only outsider was Mr. G. Arnold Moore of Newcastle-under-Lyme, the conductor. Congratulations go to two first-pealers-Christine Glover (15) and A. E. Purslow. The only all-local peal at Stone was in 1925. Mr. W. Buckley rang in both peals.

Bristol University Society have applied for affiliation to the Central Council.

Could anyone clarify the weight of the tenor at Dyrham. Glos? It seems lighter than $14 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt., writes Mr. V. Griffin, of Swindon. There is no weight or founder's name in the belfry.
A "father and son 'peal was rung at Salford Priors, Warwicks, on January 30th, helieved to he the first for the Worcestershire and Districts Association.

Mr. F. B. Lufkin rang the fourth bell at Ardleigh, Essex. to a peal on Jantary 30th. This bell is inscribed 'Thomas Lufkin, C. W.' and dated 1675. Is there any possible connection?

The peal of St. Clement's Major at Brough-ton-in-Furness (see page 51) was the first in the method by all the hand. It was in this lower that Mr. Nicholas M. Newby (the conductor) rang his first peal in July, 1927.

Correction.-In the peal rung at Kettering. ham, Norfolk, on August 16th, for the Norwich Diocesan Association, the hand stood as follows: William Clover 1, Miss Mary Maddison 2, Bevan W. Willgress 3, Henry Tooke 4, Thomas E. Spight 5, Geoffrey R. Drew 6. and not as printed on page 52 of "The Ringing World.'
Resulting from the retirement of the Vicar of Dean Prior, Devon, last year, the Church Commissioners are asking for an Order to unite the parish with Buckfastleigh. Dean Prior has an excellent ring of six bells, rung every Sunday at $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. by ringers from two neighbouring parishes, under the direction of Mr. A. L. Bennett, of Buckfasileigh, who has heen in charge of the tower since the living became vacant.

GOSSIP

Romsey Abbey ringers have achieved their principal aim for some time past in ringing a quarter peal of Stedman Triples. They are indebted to friends from Southampton-the Kippin family and Roger Savory in particular - whose monthly visits to practices have enabled them to learn the method.
The peal at Woolton, Lancs, on January 30th, was the lirst of Major on the bells, for 30 years.
Encouraging news comes from March, Cambs, where a quarter peal containing all ' firsts; except the conductor was rung on February 7th.

Mr. William Shepherd, of Addlestone, writes that he has taken 'The Ringing World from the first number in 1911, and The Bell New's since the early '90's.
Ringing at the annual meeting of the Northern District of the Hertford County Association at Hitchin was curtailed by the breaking of the clapper of the seventh.

The new band at Dore, near Sheffield, is improving rapidly since its formation last Seplemher, and ringing lakes place twice on Sundays. Several new members have joined since Christmas, hut all are sorry to lose one of the most competent memhers, who sailed for Australia on Fehruary 5th.
Carols on handhells, four-in-hand, were rung hy Cubs of the 102 nd Aylestone Cub Pack last Christmas, and the sum of $£ 142 \mathrm{~s}$. was collected in four hours. This was donated to the Refugee Year through Inter-Church Aid. Twenty handhells were used and the band were trained by their Cubmaster, Mrs. W. M. Warwick.

Chelmorton, Derbyshire, where the church is 1.209 feet above sea level, hopes to have the highest bells in the county on which a peal can be rung. The present four are at the Loughborough Foundry-three to be retuned and the tenor recast. A fifth hell will be added to the ring-recast from a bell formerly in Derwent Woodlands Church, which is now submerged under the Ladyhower Reservoir. A new frame is also to he provided, the work io be completed by June $26 t \mathrm{~h}$.

Limitation Of Service Of Ringing Master

Members of the Shropshire Association met for their A.G.M. in Shrewsbury on January 30th. Ringing at St. Mary's and St. Chad's ranged from rounds to Cambridge Royal and Stedman Cinques, and visitors were welcomed from Staffordshire, Herefordshire, Birmingham and elsewhere.

The retiring Ringing Master (Mr. Arthur Pritchard) reviewed the activities of the Association over the past year. The peal total was a modest one, but included Imperial Bob methods rung for the first time at Clun, High Ereall and Cheswardine. The first peal was rung on the new six at St. Martin's, near Oswestry, in July, and the six at Prees have been rehung by Taylor's. The meetings and Saturday evening practice meetings have been, on the whole, successful. The treasurer (Mr. F. Hector Bennetl) reported :ln increase of t15 in the halance in hand, and urged members to pay their subscriptions promptly.
A motion to limit the consecutive years of office of the Ringing Master to threc years was passed unanimously. The officers were then elected for 1960. Ringing Master and Central Council representative, Harry Poyner; deputy Ringing Master, Reginald H. Newton; secretary, Frederick A. H. Cattell : treasurer, F. Hector Bennett; auditor, Frederick H. Bennett. The newly-appointed Bishop of Shrewsbury (Ri. Rev. W. A. Parker) had previously agreed to become president, and was formally welcomed at the meeting.

After a lively discussion on the relative merits of a peal book (which, for safety, would have to stay in one place) and of printed reports (which members threw away or left lying to gather the dust). it was decided to buy a peal hook, to commence in 1960, and also to duplicate a report, in book form, for the years 1957 to 1959. Reports will be printed in future as offen as finances allow Fighteen new members were elected. including 14 from Whitchurch. In recognition of his help and encouragement to them over many years, the band of St. Alkmund's. Whitchurch, have elected Mr. Edward V. Rodenhurst their have clected Mr.

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE - No. 8

ALBERT A. HUGHES, J.P.
(Hon. Treasurer of "The Ringing World")
Probably no one connected with ringing is better known than Albert Arthur Hughes, for his work has taken him to many parts of the world. He was born in July, 1885, and was the eldest son of Arthur Hughes, bell-founder, of Whitechapel, London. After serving three years in the City, he joined his father at the Foundry in 1904. In 1910 he married Annie Lillian, only daughter of W. D. Smith, of Hackney (the Maister). Those who have not heard this lady's wonderlul musical performances on handhells will have missed one of the most delightful experiences possible.
Mr. Hughes took full control of the bell foundry on the death of his father in 1916, and

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION AT WAKEFIELD

Central Council Representation

 TUIE winter meeting of the Association was held at Wakefield on January 23rd, heing well attended by members and friends from each of the Districts. Good use was made of the musical ring of six at St. Helen's, Sandal Magna, during the afternoon, and following the meeting the fine modern ring of 12 at the Cathedral was at the disposal of members.The committee meeting was held during the afternoon. after which a brief service took place in the Cathedral, conducted by the Provost. Following tea, the business meeting was held in Brook Sireet Schools. the chair being taken by the president (Archdeacon C. O. Ellison), supported by the Provost (Very Rev. Noel T. Hopkins), the Bishop of Pontefract (Rt. Rev. G. W. Rins), the Bishop of Ponter ract (Rt. Rev. G. W.
Clarkson) the general secretary (Mr. L. W. G. Morris), the hon. treasurer (Mr. G. Benfield) and the hon. peal secretary (Mr. W. E. Critchley).

Mr. N. F. Moxon moved a vote of thanks to the Provost. also to the Vicar and churchwardens of Sandal, for placing their respective bells at the disposal of members. This was seconded by the president, who referred to the warm welcome the Association always received at Wakefield. The motion was carried with applause, and in acknowledgment the Provost of Wakefield said he regarded it as both a privilege and pleasure to welcome so large a gathering. Mr. J. W. Moxon replied on behalf of the Vicar and churchwardens of Sandal. A similar vote of thanks to the local companies for their excellent co-operation, and to the ladies who had so efficiently served tea. was moved by Mr. 1. Slack, seconded by Mr. V. Bottomley, and carried with acclamation.

On the motion of Mr. P. Birkett, seconded hy Mr. A. Smith. it was unanimously agreed to accept an invitation from Sheffield to hold the next meeting there on April 30th. The following new members were clected: Gordon Brook, Brian Carter. Roger Cronack. Richard Harker and John Sykes (Pontefract), Robert Young and John Cirson (Rotherhanm), Donald Murray (Scarborough), Authony Baxter (Pudsey), Dr. T. David Spencer (Doncaster) and, as a nonresident member, Peter J. Came, of Danbury, Essex.
The president reported that the committee had that afternoon considered in part the report of the rules sub-committee, but had deferred laking a decision in the matter of replacing Association badges until the next meeting, at which the peal secretary had promised to display his collection. In place of the former emblem the committee recommended the issue 10 new members of a booklet containing a copy of the rules plus a certificate of membership.

The committee also recommended the introduction of a rule governing the election of representatives to the Central Council in the following terms: 'Nominations shall be received at the September general meeting, and the election shall take place at the January meeting prior to the first meeting of a new Council.' The president explained that this could not operate this year, as quite obviously nominations would have had to be received at the September meeting last, but, subject to the approval of the meeting, it would become effective following the triennial period of the new Council due to be elected this year. Until then. representatives would be elected by the general committee as in the past. This was agreed.
at the present time is still in control of its activities, assisted by William and Douglas, his two brilliant sons. Possessing a flair for civic matters, he was admitted to the Livery of the Worshipful Company of Skinners in 1917, and in 1958 was presented with the honorary freedom of the Founders Company. He is chairman of the Board of Governors of Sir John Cass College, in the City of London, and is also chairman of the 17 th century Davenant Grammar School. Whitechapet. He is a lay magistrate in the Tower Division, London, and General Commissioner of Income Tax for the same division. For many years he has been warden of the Corporation Church (St. Lawrence Jewry, by the Guildhall) and churchwarden of St. Botolph's, Aldgate.
He learned to ring at St. Matthew's. Bethnal Green, under the late Matt. Wood (whose last peal he conducted) in 1909. Joining the College Youths in 1903, he was clected Master in 1914, and served during the war years until 1918 in that capacity. He was elected as College Youths representative to the Central Council, and later became an honorary member. He served the Ancient Society as treasurer for 40 years, hut resigned in 1956 on account of pressure of work in many capacities. In 1927 he formed and taught a band at St. Lawrence Jewry, where the heavy bells were rung every Sunday until the war broke out in 1939.
In his younger days his enthusiasm knew no bounds, for on one occasion he pulled up single-handed all the bells at Bow. Cheapside, which included the 52 cwt . tenor, prior to ringing that bell to a peal. He also rang the tenors to peals at Cornhill, Southwark, Wrington and Stepney, and in those days bells did not 'go "so well as they do today. He has no complete record of his peals, but they number about 200.
Mention must be made of his services in connection with this journal. When J. Goldsmith died he was one of a committee who took over the responsibility for the continuance of the paper, and shared the financial commitments to that end. He now serves as treasurer, and is always in evidence at meetings of 'The Ringing World ' Comnittec.

Tips For Beginners-8

If you are ringing Plain Bob and are not sure where to dodge, you can save a trip by watching the other bells. The one following the treble down is due to dodge $3 / 4$ down, the next $5 / 6$ down. and so on. If. for instance, you meet in $5 / 6$ the bell which is due to dodge $5 / 6$ down, you must obviously be due to dodge 5/6 up. The same system works in Grandsire, and on the higher mumbers of bells this is a more reliable way of kecping right than trying to remember the 'blue line.'

Mr. N. Chaddock next moved that Central Council representation be brought up to full permitted strength by filling the existing vacancy, and submitted a nomination. The president pointed out that it would not be in order to accept nominations at this meeting. but he would welcome the guidance of the meetings as to policy in the matter of appointing a fourth representative. In seconding the first part of the motion, Mr. H. Walker said he felt that an Association of this size should be fully represented as a matter of prestige. Considerable discussion ensued, and on being put to the vote the motion was carried by a large majority.

Mr. N. Chaddock reminded members of the course in bell-ringing arranged to take place on April 23 rd $/ 24$ th at Grantley Hall Adult College. near Ripon. The fee to resident members of the Association would be two guineas, and all applications should be addressed to the Bursar at the College. This concluded the business. following which further ringing was enjoyed.

COMRADE DOSTOYEVSKI

Dear Sir -In view of the comments which appeared in your correspondence columns on February 5th, I feel bound to make it known that the favourable notices which comrade Dostoyevsk1 received in connection with the peal which I called at Rothwell on January 2nd were originated neither by myself nor by Mr. A. P. Cannon, who submitted the peal for publication.

As a loyal member of the Conservative and Unionist Association I can only condemn what appear to be the first signs of subversive Bolshevik infiltration into the columns of 'The Ringing World,' and hope that none of your more impressionable readers will take this as a signal for the beginning of a fair shares for al! : movement in ringing circles. A friend of mine whose life-long moto has been You want the best tenors- ring them!" is already becoming apprehensive.

However, every cloud has its silver lining. and I am sure that many towerkeepers will be interested to hear that the leatherbound omnibus edition of the late lamented comrade's complete works. if firmly secured to the lower end of a new tenor rope after Sunday evening ringing, is guaranteed by the publishers to take all the stretch out of it by pratcice night ; also the 1892 edition, printed on rice-paper. tastes delicious.-Yours sincerely,

APOLOGY TO VICAR SUGGESTED

Dear Sir,-The band that rang the peal, apart from attributing it to some ridiculous anniversary, did not have the courtesy to invite any of the local band to ring in it, as is customary in this area when it is known that members of the local band are capable of ringing the method. In addition, they have caused the incumbent. who incidentally is the president of the Peterborough Guild of Church Bell Ringers, a certain amount of embarrassment, as the report appeared in the local evening paper with the usual and ohvious free licence of the democratic press.

The net result of this incident is that the Vicar of Rothwell being once bitten will be ewice shy in allowing peals in future unless under special circumstances. which seems a pity as only four peal attempts are at present allowed annually on this very fine octave.

Perhaps a letter of apology from the organiser to the Vicar of Rothwell might help to make an amicable conclusion to this incident. which with more adult thought and less adole:cent indiscipline at the time could have been avoided.-Yours faithfully.

BRIAN AUSTIN.

A PROMISING YOUNG CONDUCTOR
Dear Sir.-Great credit is due to F. Neville Pailing on conducting his first peal at the first attempt on January 16th (see 'R.W. January 29(h), especially as there were two firsts and two firsts of Major in the band, Neville is a month under 15 years of age. The way he handled the 141 cwt . tenor was something to be admired and the striking was everything to be desired throughout.-Yours faithfully,

RINGING AND COMPUTORS

Dear Sir, -I was most interested to read Mr. A. Tomlinson's letter on page 90, as 1 have been investigating the use of high speed digital computors as an aid to proving peals. The machine in my case is an I.B.M. 704, which is considerably larger than the D.E.U.C.E. and employs a different method of internal storage.

Much difficulty has been found in programming the streamlined methods of finding false course-ends, and 1 have had to fall back on to the system in 'Surprise Methods ' in the Jasper Snowdon series of books. A degree of success has been met here as the logic is very straightforward, but progress is slow in general because I cannot spend very much ime in programming and especially in running programmes due to high cost of machine time of the order of 30 shillings per minute - which is always at a premium.

Since the I.B.M. 704 has no sound unit, it is not possible to play the changes, and the prohibitive cost, I think. will prevent a mechanisation of peal proving. I can endorse Mr. Tomlinson's remarks with regard to allaying ringers' fears of automation in ringing and emphasise that these "dabblings " are just healthy interest of keen ringers fortunate to have access to 'giant brains,' which might bring to light some inreresting facts.-Yours, etc.,

GRAEME A. HUGHES.

Warrington, Lancs.

Dear Sir,-I don't think the idea of ringing by electronics with push buttons and flashing lights will appeal to many of us, but 1 am glad to hear of someone acquainted with both change-ringing and computors.
Can Mr. Tomlinson please tell us if D.E.U.C.E. or any other computor could be persuaded to ring through a composition, preferably in silence and faster than even A. P. C. or Stephen Ivin at Evesham, and grind to a halt with a very rude noise if any change comes up twice?

A new or old composition in any method. old or new, which can be programmed could be proved, change by change, once and for all, with no possibility of any falseness being overlooked. It would put an end to all those unhappy false peal withdrawal notices and could possibly prove useful in composition.

If a specialised computor, limited to the proving of peals and touches, could be designed and huilt, presumahly for a fraction of the cost of D.E.U.C.E. ( $£ 50,000$ ), would the Central Council be able to afford to operate one without putting up the price of "The Ringing World again? It would have to be impressed upon the operat or that Treble Chance is not a standard method, irrespective of the number of ' homes,' 'X's,' etc.-Yours faithfully,

West Wycombe.  Bucks.

Dear Sir-l was interested to read Mr. A. Tomlinson's account of his application of a computor to change-ringing, and I shall be glad lo know whether he could devise a programme for proving peal compositions at high speed. No doubt there are many conductors who would welcome an assurance of this kind against withdrawal of a complex peal due to hidden falseness, always assuming that access to a suitable computor is available.-Yours, etc.,

Winchester.

EXTENSIONS DO NOT CONFORM WITH

 RULESDear Sir, - The Methods Committee has investigated the points raised by Messrs. J. R. Mayne and $F$. T. Blagrave concerning Lyme. Whitwick and Gainsborough Surprise Royals and finds they are quite correct in saying that these extensions from the Major do not conform with the rules for extension adopted by the Central Council in 1953.
Consequently, it is the unanimous opinton of the Committee that these names should be changed and it asks the bands that rang them to rename them accordingly.

It will be noted that, again by Central Council resolution, unanimous decisions of the Methods Committee should at once be published and submitted to the next Council meeting for confirmation. This will be done in this case.-Yours faithfully,

K. W. H. FELSTEAD.  Convener C.C. Methods Committee. Souihampton.

A PRORLEM IN STEDMAN

Dear Sir, - Your readers may be interested in the following problem which I concocted, arising indirectly out of dealing with the K's of Stedman Triples composition.

Cut out thigty squares of card. of equal sizes, and by drawing the diagonals on each, divide them into four triangles. Colour the four triangles of each square with four different colours, chosen from five. There are thirty distinct ways of doing this, so colour each square differently with one of the thirty ways. Calling the colours $1.2,3,4,5$, and naming the four colours. say, clockwise, the thirty ways are

| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
| 1324. | 1325. | 1342, | 1345, | 1352, | 1354, |
| 1423, | 1425, | 1432, | 1435, | 1452, | 1453. |
| 1523, | 1524. | 1532, | 1534, | 1542, | 1543, |
| 2345, | 2354, | 2435, | 2453, | 2534, | 2543. |

The problem is to place them in a rectangle or oblong. five squares by six. so that the colours match where any two squares meet on an edge. and moreover each side of the rectangle is to be of one colour. It is possible. The enthusiast may then try the minety squares using six different colours, placing them in a rectangle nine by ten! This puzzle is curiously like composing a peal. though it has no direct significance.

A TEACHING POINT AT SOLTH WIGSTON

Dear Sir.-May 1, through your columns. reply to Mrs. Johnstone's letter on 'A Teaching Point.
We at South Wigston teach recruits by means of a wall chart showing progress. This provides competition and enthusiasm and is very successful. Down the left-hand side the recruits names are listed. Across the top are set the standards required: (1) Handle bell, (2) Rase hell. (3) Fall bell. (4) Set bell when required. (5) Ring rounds, (6) Plain hunt treble. (7) 'Inside Plain Bob. (8) Treble Bob. (9) Call rouch. (10) Conduct quarter peal, (11) Stedman, (12) Conduct peal.

This system has proved successful with school age recruits. At least three, but not more than six, is enough to work with. depending on the number of more experienced ringers to help.-. Yours sincerely,

A PLEA FOR EVEN BELL METHODS

Dear Sir.-I am only 100 painfully aware that 1 ant going to revive old issues in writing this letter. and possibly raise again a spectre that has not hatunted us for some time (except for a brief appearance three or four years ago) My excuse is that I have recently given some thought to two problems that must affect all ringers, that of helping the learners and of making our ringing - especially that of be ginners-a little more interesting.

I have for a long time strongly condemned the teaching of Grandsire to learners, and I would go so far as to say that more learners are lost to change-ringing in their early stages (and therefore to the Exercise) through trying to learn Grandsire than from almost any other cause. If this contention is correct-and I will try 10 show the reasons-then captains who teach Grandsire in their lowers as a first method are doing a disservice to their ringers and to the world of change-ringing at large.
Why then do I (and many others) feel so strongly about this? 1 am sure all the reasons must be well known although I have never seen them in print. Firstly, the beginner's earliest attempt at change-ringing will be 10 hunt the treble. He will generaliy learn this on five hetls as Doubles is the usual choice Now when he starts hunting "up he has only four pulls to make before reaching 5ths place thardly time to accustom him to the extra lifting of the bell necessary) and then his whole pull in Sths place is wrong, and I believe this is one of the major difficulties in odd-bell hunting (of course it occurs in other Doubles methods as well as in Grandsire). Secondly, he will find he meets the bells in a most peculiar order, even in the plain course. If he does understand that there is a second bell which is in the hunt, he will find it is constantly changing in a touch and confuses rather than guides. A wise teacher would put the learner on the second in a plain course. but the stme difficulties apply in the whole puil hehind. and the course is very limited in duration. Now even if the learner negotiates this first hurdle. he has to face the second and much more difficult one-that of ringing Grandsire 'inside.' The plain course is bad enough with odd place dodging. but in a touch no bell rings more than two leads and often only one: every hell except the treble and the bell hefore is affected in an unfamiliar fashion at a bob (and worse, every bell except the treble at a single): in fact it is mot Grandsire at all which is rung, and very unlike what the unfortunate ringer has learnt from the "blue line." The diticulties are no less when Triples is rung. and 1 would even dare to say that in most louches of Grandsire Triples the method is not tung at all. The complications of conducting Grandsire are also greater than in many other simple methods. and often the aspiring conductor's first attempts are on Grandsire-a lask from which he may well shrink after a few abortive attempls

Now I am fully aware that people will take me to task for this lengthy decrying of Grand-sire-they will point out the superiority of the music and other attributes. 1 am not disputing these. especially the former. about which i shall have more to say in a moment. But i am Irying to emphasise that it is not a method for the heginner. I am also well aware that it will never be ousted from the heginners" repertory talthough I have some learners familiar with Cambridge who cannot ring Grandsire) and it is 100 steeped in tradition. Perhaps then we can make use of it. and this will come litter
My piea to instructors is to make their heginners plain hunt on cven numbers (even Minimus with a covering bell is belter than Doubles). If the spectre of no hell to lead off is to be avoided it is better done by not having one in the first place. Secondly, it is better to start on another bell but the treble (e.g.. the second in the plain course of Grandsire Minor) and having ant experienced ringer on the treble. Next let Plain Boh be the fundamental meihod-it can be rung from four hells, upwards, extends naturally, and calls are the same on alt numbers-let learners be taught the plain course and the starts of the 2nd. 3rd and 4 th so that they know not only what to do next after a call but also why thow many of us were taught that in our early ringing days?). Then the old cry of "only a plain course, please," will disappear from our belfries.
There will remain a hard-core of Grandsire fans." and to them I suggest (and to experienced ringers also as a matter of interest) that they should try ringing Grandsire on even numbers. Oh yes. I know all about the four blows behind in the plan course, and a six at a call but, in honesty, how many of us (let alone thase listening outside) would worry in the slightest about this if the theoreticians had not made such a fuss? I have noticed time and again when Grandsire Minor ol Major has been suggested. all those ohjecting have admitted they have never rung it or heard it rung. It was good enough for Troyte. so why not for us? I am certain that if Siedman had invented it it would be rung in every tower today
It was after thinking on these lines that I asked the organiser on a recent ringing tour if we could ring Grandsire Minor. Major and and Royal during the day. Being an enlightened and unprejudiced man. and although an experienced Surprise ringer and conductor, he readily agreed. The resulting ringing was interesting to everyone, and there were no protests.
I mentioned Grandsire Minor above, and experience has shown me that it is useful to put heginners on the second and teach them to plain hunt from there. rather than on the treble (on which other bells depend and if wrong will upset them). Of course yout can get the same effect by calling three bobs in succession in Bob Minor. but the calls confuse and only three leads are available.

Grandsire Major 10 my mind is a most musical method. There is odd place dodging which even I (a confirmed even-bell ringer) will admit is most musical. The dodging which occurs when the tenor is behind provides a point of repose in the music which is emphasised when there is a call at home (i.e.. six hlows for the tenor)-a cadence at the end of a musical phrase from which the tenor once again leaves to take part in the changes. This cadential effect is more marked in Grandsire Major than in any other method I have rung. In Royal the eflects are even more marked, and the opportunity for composers 10 experiment with such combinations as 9980 . 4680, and 7960 at course ends with calls at home are endless. I have never heard or rung Grandsire Maximus-perhaps some enterprising 12bell band will ring it one day and not dismiss it without trial.
If the public is to he made interested in ringing it is the sound of it with which they are going to be mostly concerned. If we can make our ringing musical we are well on the way 10 winning some of them over II assume. of course. that striking is impeccable).

Grandsire-only bands have plenty of opportunity of increasing their scope and interest by ringing the method on even numbers, and it may even make them want to learn other orihodox even-hell methods. Other bands may find interest in trying the variation and still others find it useful for leaching. There are plenty of simple touches which can be exlended from those for Doubles or Triples.

Peals of Grandsire Minor, Major and Royal have all been rung in the last few years-if we cannot all manage more complex methods can 1 appeal for enterprise in the use of simple ones? And, please. no prejudice on highly controversial theoretical grounds.
I have taken up much of your space, and I hope what I have said will be thought about seriously. I awalt the comments and criticism of your readers. - Yours sincerely.

REISSUE OF FAMOUS RECORD

Dear Sir,-About 1937 a gramophone record was made of a louch of Spliced London, Bristol. Cambridge. Superlative and Ealing Surprise Major, rung on handbells by the famous band at Bushey (Messrs. H. Hodgetts, C. W. Woolley, H. G. Cashmore and F. W. Brinklow), who created so much ringing history in the six or seven years before the last war
The original pressing has long since been sold out but, thanks to the co-operation of the recording engineer and to some good fortune. I have been able to arrange for a reissue. This will be not in shellac but in what is called filled vinyl standard, which is a new plastic medium very much thinner and more durable than the old type. The price is expected to be between 15 s . 6d. and 18 s . (plus postage), according to the number ordered, and for this reason I ask those interested to write to me as soon as possible so that I can form some estimate of requirements.

Despite the speed of ringing. the touch is entirely free of trips, apart from one trifling mistake on the second side, while the standard of striking is one that few bands could hope to equal. let alone surpass, as all who have heard it will surely agree. This, therefore, is an opportunity not to be missed. I need hardly add that the members of the hand have no financial interest in the reissue.-Yours faithfully.
E. A. BARNETT. Hon. Secretary,

Central Council of Church Bell Ringers

BRISTOL UNIVERSITY SOCIETY REUNION

RISTOL. welcomed its guests for this year's reunion and dinner of the University Society on January 23 rd in a manner not uncommon to the West Country-with rain, and plenty of it. Nevertheless, more visitors than ever hefore were attracted there from all parts of the country.

The day began early for the peal hand, who were successful in an attempt for Yorkshire Major at Almondsbury. with David Heighton conducting. For the visitors and members not included in the peal was ringing at several of the city churches, namely. Stoke Bishop. Christ Church and SS. Philip and Jacob's in the morning. followed by the Cathedral and St. Mary Redcliffe after lunch. By the end of the afternoon so many people were present that even the spacious belfry at Redeliffe looked crowded.

For an hour before the service the six hells at St. Michacl's were rung. linishing with a yood touch of Stedmin. Highlights of the day's ringing, hesides the peal. were such methods as Bristol and Cambridge Major Grandsire Caters and Cinques, and London Minor. Owing to the sudden indisposition of the Rector (Rev. F. C. Vyvyan-Jones), the president of the Society (Prof. R. J. Brocklehurst) conducted a shortened form of service. The organ was played hy Dr. David Heighton and the lesson read by Mr. Ian Maycock. Various members sang in the choir.

The venue for the dinner was the senior common room of the University Refectory (by kind invitation of the president). where 94 guests sat down to an excellent meal. After proposing the loyal toast and that of "The Church.' Prof. Brocklehurst welcomed the company. He was specially pleased to see so many loyal old members and regretted the absence of the Rector of St. Michael's.

- GRFAT GEORGE • INTERRUPTS

Miss Jane Cook (secretary), who proposed

 'The Visitors, welcomed Mr. Piul Taylor, from Loughborough, and the Masters of Camhridge, Oxford and London University Socicties. She also had a special greeting for the Master of the G. and B., Mr. Frank Skidmore. Owing to another engagement the Bishop of Bristol (who has recently been made an honorary member of the Society) was unfortunately unable to be present. Mr. Paul Taylor rose to reply with an inceresting and witty speech,timely interrupted by "Great George ( (one of his own masterpieces) striking 9 p.m.

The toast of "The Society was proposed by Mr. Peter Langton (Master of the Cambridge University Guild), and he spent a short while in analysing the role of a University Society if it were to contribute fully to the Exercise.

The Master (Mr. Royston Blackler) replied, summing up the activities of the Society over the previous year. Ringing at St. Michael's had been maintained with faithful regularity, and quarter peals attempted there each Sunday evening. Assistance had also been given to St. Stephen's and early ringing at Redcliffe. In addition, the Society had manned the Cathedral bells for University services. As to the standard, it certainly was reasonable on six bells. but more practice wis needed on higher numhers. For this reason special 8 -hell practices had heen arranged as in the previous year. and members were encouraged io attend city practices.
Outings had been held twice a term. those hy coach being especially successful. In this respect, together with the marriage of Pauline Sprackling to Alan Smith, the Corthcoming weddings of David Meighton and Brian Wylde and the engagement of Brenda Riches to Michael Sprackling-to them all go the Society's con-gratulamons-it seemed that Cupid's arrows were well on target leven to the point of backfiring!!. Someone has even suggested that Cupid's activities be advertised in the Personal columns of *The Ringing World.

The official summer tour, held in the Chel-tenham-Cirencester region and blessed with good weather, had proved most enjoyable. Two unofficial tours were also held during the summer vacation, one being based on a puh near Shafteshury

The Master made the announcement that affiliation to the Central Council had been applied for.

FIRST PEAL OF CINQUES

Concerning peal ringing, ten had been successful since the last dinner, of which the most notable was that of Grandsire Cinques (first of Cinques for the Society) at Reading. Under the conductorship of David Heighton, the Society bad continued in the field of multiMinor methods, with peals in 3, 6 and 14 methods during last term.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Dorchester Branch

Thirteen lowers were represented at the annual meeting of the Dorchester Branch, held at Dorchester on January 1fith. The eight bells of St. Peter's were available hefore the Guild service. which was conducted by the vice-chairman (the Rev. E. B. Brooks) in the absence of the chairmatn. (the Rev. P. J. Heaton) who was unavoidahly absent owing the illness of Mrs. Heaton. Mr. Brooks spoke of bells with boatilul designs and inseriptions but reminded his hearers that. however fine the design. the bell was no use without a clapper, and Christians were no use without being good inside.
About sixty members sat down to tea at the Wessex Restaurant and Mr. Brooks look the chair at the meeting which followed. He mentioned that he nad a message of good wishes from Canon A. Helps. it former Vicar of l’uddletown. and well known among the older ringers.

The hon. secretary, Mr. R. H. Duke, said the membership now stood at 144. He expressed the sympathy of the members in the Rev. K. P. Farrow, whose wife had died recently. and waclcomed on behalf of the Branch the Rev. and Mrs. C. İ. C. Brinkworth. Who had recently moved to Cattistock, hoth of whom are ringers
It was hoped. said Mr. Duke. to augment the bells of Charminster from six to eight and great efforts were being made to raise the necessary funds. The cower repair fund at Si. Peter's. Darchester, now stood at $£ 1.000$ about half the sum needed.
Officers of the Branch were elected as fol-lows:-Chairman, the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth: vice-chairman. Rev. E. B. Brooks; hon. sec, and treasurer. Mr. R. H. Duke: assistant hon. sec.. Miss P. M. Boalch: Ringing Master. Mr. H. J. Ford; depuly Ringing Masters, Mr. A. J. Slade and Mr. J. W. Rose Twenty new nembers were elected from six different lowers. Meetings for 1960 were provisionally suggested for Preston in April. Bere Regis in Juns. and Lition Cheney in September. Forinightly branch practices were arranged. subject to confirmation. at Abbotshury. Upwey. Wyke Regis. Piddlehinton. Dorchester (Si. Peter's), and Maiden Newton. starting on January 30 th.
The Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth regretted that permission for peal ringing at Cattistock could not be granted until the existing louvres had heen altered. in order to control the sound of the bells more.
The votes of thanks were proposed by Mr L. G. N. Williams.

A large number of learners had presented a problem this year in providing a satisfactory practice for everyone in an hour-and-a-half per week. However, their keenness was surprising and very satisfactory progress had been made.

In conclusion, Mr. Blackler assured everyone that, as the leading article in .The Ringing World" a few weeks previously had staled. Bristol was indeed 'full of life' and would continue to be so.
The company then retired to the lounge for the remainder of the evening. In a lighter vein. old friendships were rencwed and memorics revived to the pleasant background of handbell ringing, thus bringing to a successful conclusion the 12 th annual reunion of the Society. Special thanks are expressed to Miss Jane Cook for the excellent organisation.

GLAMORGAN WANDERERS' WEST COUNTRY TOUR

Among the many cycling vouth hostel tours of 1959 was that of the Glamorgan Wanderers. not to be confused with the famous rugby club of that name. Their tour was through Somerset and Devon, the party consisting of Brinley Taylor, Jimmy Goodfellow. Tony Coombs, Geoffrey Sirickland. David Llewellyn, Robert Hughes, Adrian Hartley, Roger Havard and Alan Smith.

The tour started from Penarth on July 20th. by paddle-steamer to Weston-super-Mare. The roule taken the first day was via Bridgwater. North IPctherton. Norton Fitzwarren, Wiveliscombe to Bampton Youth Hostel in a converted malt house

Tuesday's journey in the hot sun 10 Exeter included a visit to the Tiverton tower, where the party were amwed at the heautiful tone and go of the bells, and Cullompton where, with the help of a local ringer, call-changes were rung on the ten. At Exeter the parly were very much at home on the light bells of St. Martin's.
The direction on Wednesday was via Honicon where, with the help of two visiting ringers. Stednaan Triples went very well, Yarconibe and Chard, to Ilminster, where the party were greeted by Mrs. Grabham and her two children. After ringing at Ilminster we made our way to Mrs. Grabham's farm: her hospitality was much appreciated. That evening. Staple Fitzpaine practice was ittended.
Fortified by a terrific farm breakfast, there was a 15 -mile ride to the first tower on Thursday at Somerton. Towers visited were Butleigh. Street. Glastonbury, West Pennard. Shepton Mallet and Radstock (where it was a great pleasure to meet Mr. David Hoare). It was a lired party that reached Bath, but not too tired to ring after supper at Si. Mark's Church.
Progress in ringing was indicated on Friday by Spliced London and Cambridge Surprise Minor at Marksbury, and Double Norwich C.B. Major at Chewton Mendin. Later came St. Cuthbert's. Wells. and Westbury-sub-Mendip. Resting place for the night was Cheddar Youth Hostel. and after supper the local ringers were joined in their practice.

The Saturday programme included Churchill and Congresbury, and it was at Yatton, after ringing some very good Kent T.B.. Plain Bob and Sicdman Triples, that the band split up.

The tour covered a distance of 280 miles and 38 towers were visited. The average age of the band was 17.4 years. The organisation of Mr. Tony Coombs was excellent, and to him, incumbents, ringers who met the party, and Mrs. Grabham, the party express their thanks.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

An attendance of over 100 ringers and friends at the annual meeting of the Farnham District on January 23 rd heard Major E.J. Bragg (Ringing Master) in his annual report state that the bells in all the towers in the District were manned on Sundays. Not every bell was rung, but a joyful noise was made from every tower. He appealed for an interchange of help between towers, which already existed between Hawley and Yorktown, and Aldershot and Seale

Mr. C. J. Beadle. the hon. secretary, said niembership stood at 186, and he looked forward to reaching the 200 mark.
District officers elected were: Major E. J. Brage (Rincing Master). Mr. W. H. Viggers (assistant Ringing Master). Dr. W. W. Wright (secretary). Mr. R. H. Mills (assistant secretary and (reasurer). Mr. J. Preston ('The Ringing World correspondent) and Mr. C. J. Beadle (auditor). Mrs. M. A. Welion and Mrs. T Page were elected members of the executive committec.
Mr. C. W. Denyer, the Guild Master, on behalf of the District, presented a cut-glass vase to Mr. R. H. Mills (District treasurer) as a silver wedding gift from the District.

A great altraction of the meeting was ringing and hearing the recently recast bells of farnham Parish Church, and Mr. P. L. Eldridge. of Winchester, commented that the transformation of the church and bells was wonderful. The Rector (Rev. H. R. Wilds) conducted the service, at which a collection for Farnham Church Restoration fund amounted in $£$ ? 10 Ns .

EXERCISES IN RINGING TUITION

OBITUARY  MR. FREDERICK SEAGER

Dear Sir, - Replying to Mrs. Johnstone's query (issue of February Sth) as to whether their idea of competitive bell-sctting is used elsewhere in the leaching of ringing, she and cthers may be interested to know that sonicthing rather like it is in use by tutors of the College of Campanology, and others in sympathy, as one of the 60 exercises described in The Ringers" Manual of Reference-Part I' (which details material for usc in planned training in bell handling and control in the clements of change ringing). And the results are surprisingly satisfying.

I have said •something rather like • because there are two important differences from her bell-selting competitioll. The first is in the exercise itself. In this the learner is required not to set tice bell. hut to hold it on the balance hetween the strokes. And he is put on to this exercise. with the bell still silenced of course. as soon as he is considered safe to handle the rope alone: in other words he is not thell allowed to go on just pulling at the rope to "get more used to ii " Instead he now concentrates on this bell-balancing excrcise until he is at least 80 per cent. proficient. (Say. a minimum of 8 balances in 5 whol:pulls.) Then. and not before, he is taught correct bell-selting. the instructor having always taken over previously to set the bell except of course when the bell has set accidentally. In this the learner is reqzired to stop the bell on the balance. pause. and then gently case it over on to the stay. He is taught that this is the way to set the bell at all times: in contradistinction to what must be admitted as a frequently-noied fault. i.c.. lelting the bell drop 'over the balance on to the stay.
Mrs. Johnstone speaks of a 'challenge.' but is not what she refers to rather in the nature of a learners' competition in maximum consecutive bell-settings? In the bell-balancing exercise. however. the learner accepts a real challenge to himself. that of at least 80 per cent. achicvement in hell-control. And this brings us to the second difference.
It is in the application of the exercise in so far as the learner is never permitted to ring. or attempt to ring, with others (no. not even in rounds!) until he has mastered this exercise. Rivalry of learners to pass this stage can tecome very keen indeed: and the difference in the improvement in the initial striking generally produced when they come on to ringing open ' with others is remarkable.
However. some of this improvement may be duc. in our cases. to another exercise which precedes rounds-ringing. i.e.. learning 'bellpatuse.' This is the recognition of the interval. varying of course from hell to bell. between the point of pull-off from the balance. (or 'top of the rise ') and the strike of the clapper. This is the first 'open or bell-sounding exercise the pupil gets. It evolves with another exercise- - bell-tone recugnition - and so on. But enough has been said to show that the maximum good of any such exercises lies in their proper integration. There is as much a science in ringing training, as in any other technique.
Mrs. Johnstone may he assured that her idea. though in modified form, has proved for some time past to be invaluable in any sound scheme of ringing training.-Yours very truly.
A. YORK-BRAMBLE.

Aspley, Notts

The new hells of Aspley. Notts. were dedicated on November 1st. 1959, by the Lord Bishon of Southwell and not as staied in .The Ringing World' of January 29th. The bells were rung in rounds by the young band being trained by Mr. H. Seagrave. The opening touch of 360 Kent T.B. Minor was rung by H. Seagrave 1. Kenneth Wagstaff 2. R. Carlisle 3, F. A. Salier 4. W. Nichols 5. D. Carlisle (conductor) 6 .

Fred Seager was a countryman, born in the village of libenham in Norfolk, and despite over forty years" exile in the West Riding he had lost neither his accent nor his love of his native country, to which he returned on every nossible occasion. the last quite recently to attend the opening of Great Yarmouth bells.

It is left for those better able than me to write of nis early years of ringing. for Fred was not one to boast of his achievements nor did he keep a record of his peals.
ilis peal of Surprise Major on Mancroft tenor when he was only twenty years old is still remembered and that his abifity was not diminished forty years on is horne out by his ringing the same hell in the Coronation peal of Little Bob Maximus in 1953.
A safe ringer and a splendid heavy-end man -and in this respect he had [ew peers-he wlll be sorely missed in roakshire and especially at Leeds Parish Church.
His death on January; 27th, barely iwentyfour hours after he had rung at Wakefield Cathedral practice. was tragic in its swiftness. and. as the told us quitc recently that he first fundled a bell at the age of eight. it brought to a close a ringing carcer of nearly sixty years.

Coming to Yorkshire after his wal service. he rang at Shipley from 1918 till 1938, when lie moved to Keighlcy. finally coming to Leeds in 1940.

All his working life until his retirement a year or so ago was spent on the railway, and his work as a guarl often prevented him from standing in peals, although he had 103 to his cicdit for the Yorksilire Association and he was a keen supporter of the Railwaymen's Guild.

Many towers were represented at his funcral al Leeds Palish Church on February ist when the bells were rung half-mulited. many of the company having to leave immediately to bisl farewell to another old friend. Harry Lofthouse, whose funeral at Armley almost coincided with Fred's.

In a the evening a memorial peal at Leeds was lost through a broken rope but a second nttempt three days later was successful. It was perhaps fitting that the hand included some who had rung with Fred at Wakefield and Bradford this favourite tower. I think) on the two successive evenings before his death.
Restrictions in ringing times coupled with a rather late start necessitated a quick p:al. bu* as one who enjoyed brisk ringing and coul:1 push a heavy bell along himself. I feel sure Fred would have approved what was probably the 'quickest peal on the bells.

At his own request his ashes were sciltered on the railway embankment clost to the Parish Church. within sound of the bells he rang so well and so often and near also to the permanent way over which he must often have ridden in his brake.

MR. C. W. R. (BOB) GRIMWOOD AN APPRECIATION

The death of Mr. Bob Grimwood of Hersham. Surrey. on February 8 th. brought to an end a long period of faithful service and sincere friendship both in and outside the belfry. He was a safe and reliable ringer, a good striker and one who always enjoyed the company of ringers in London and its surrounds.
His striking attracted the attention of William Pye and in later years Alfred Pulling, and Bob would often recall to me some of his experiences in peals on eight and ten bells with these and other conductors. He enjoyed listening to handhells and would often take a pair for a short touch either in private or in public.
We had missed Boh from our meetings fately hecause of failing health, but he will be remembered with gratitude as one who knew what was required of him, putting into his task the best that was nossible. Truly it can be said of him in simple word: " He was a good and faithful ringer.

FIVE FARTHINGS

BRISTOL - YOUR HOST

0N May 14th this year Bristol is holding a novel ringing festivala festival both for ringers and those for whom they ring. There

' ORANGES and lemons,' said the bells of St. Clement's, but 'You owe me five farthings,' said the bells of St. Martin's. Whereas the St. Clement's bells must have had rather a high pitch with a sustained ring in the first three bells of the change (124356?), the St. Martin's bells, by the same token, must have been rather more slow going, of a deeper tone and a less sustained ring. Say it over and one will perceive that the three bells making 'oranges' merge into one another, whilst 'and km - ons' stand clearly apart. 'You owe me five farthings' has a totally different ring about it and just could not have been inspired by anything like the same ring of bells.

That these rhymes of our childhood were really inspired by actual bells is hardly to be doubted. The rhyme first appears in print in 1744, and in that edition the Bow Bells said: ' I'm sure I don't know,' which calls to mind a heavy ring of five bells. A later cdition, appearing in 1760 , exactly 200 years ago, reduced that line to 'I do not know.' That was the line we used in our children's games. The music was the same except that the original fourth was left out. What a wealth of history that thought conjures up. Could it be that the fourth of the ring of five had cracked or otherwise become unserviceable?

Another curious alteration appears in the 1760 edition. Whereas the 1744 rhyme used the bells of St. Martin's to say 'You owe me five farthings,' in 1760 that couplet had heen changed to 'You owe me ten shillings,' said the bells of St. Helen's. Whether or not the bells of St. Martin's had fallen into disuse or whether the writer of the latter version was better acquainted with the St. Helen's hells and could not reconcile the music of the St. Helen's bells with the couplet ascribed to the St. Martin's bells is not known. One fact stands out very clearly. and that is that the two couplets describe two totally different rings of bells. In passing, it is of interest to point out that the Shoreditch bells seem to have the defective fourth just as did the Bow bells in 1760, but the Old Bailey bells seem to have been a very sweet-going ring in cyery way. It is not without interest to go through the whole story of this game in an idle moment and ponder on the music of all the various rings used in the various couplets.

As it was with the bells in the 18th century, so it is today. There is one ring of six which shall be nameless at the present-a delightful ring of well-tuned, easy-going bells, except that the tenor is exceedingly noisy. Laying behind, covering Doubles methods, it sounds very well and its dominant voice sets a rhythm and leads to good ringing. When it is 'turned in' to Minor methods it is altogether terrible and quite ruins the music: moreover, the dominant note, coming up at irregular intervals, upsets the striking of the other bells in some curious way. Possibly it could be turned in better by a deaf band. The simple fact is that Minor methods should not be rung on these bells.

No matter how bells are cast and hung, each individual ring has its own peculiarity, and what is unpleasant on one ring may be quite good on another. Equally, what is easy to ring in one tower may not 'go' so well elsewhere. The people who have to listen to the bells rather than ring them may be greatly affected by the idiosyncrasies of various performances without in the least being aware of the cause of their enjoyment or irritation. It is the duty of those who ring the bells to see to it that the bells are asked to perform only that which they can perform delightfully. Alas, it is a duty often sadly neglected. There is a real danger today of ringing the method and quite forgetting the bells. The first duty is to Ring the Bells.

are a great many people, besides ringers, who hear our ringing. There are the many people who rarely enter our churches but who like to hear the sound of the bells; there are the members of our congregations; and most especially, there are our clergy. We are inviting all the clergy of the Bristol Archdeaconry, whether they are from churches with bells or not, to come and see what sort of people ringers arc. what they do and how they do it. We hope to see many non-ringing visitors in our belfries on that day: but we are also looking forward to receiving visitors from towers all over the country, and we invite them to ring with us, to lunch with us and our Lord Mayor, to worship in our Cathedral with our Bishop, and join us in a social evening.
To the visitor, Bristol has much to offer and delight. What other British city can offer the sight of ships tied up in the city centre, or so majestic a view as the Avon Gorge with the supremely graceful suspension bridge spanning it like a spider's web? Where else can one, see such magnificent ecclesiastical architecture within five minutes' walk as the Norman Chapter House of the Cathedral, the Lord Mayor's Chapel. St. Stephen's and St. Mary Redcliffe? What other city of comparable size can offer such glorious country as that of Somerset within two miles of the centre? If you have never seen Bristol, you have a pleasure yet to come; if you have been before yous will surely want to come again.
And what of the bells? We have something for all tastes. Preeminent is the majesty of Redclife's 12 , and for 10 -bell ringers there are St. Stephen's, St. James' and Christ Church, all within earshot of each other. The eight at the Cathedral, hung only in December, 1958. is a delight to hear and a fine example of modern bell-hanging. Then there is the finc eight at St. Philip's, where almost every belfry fitting has been expertly made by the captain, Mr. Jack Brown, and the heavier eight at St. Thomas'. The light eight in the modern church at Knowle, the eight at Emmanuel in Clifton, and the heavy eight at Kingsdown are all within a short bus ride of the city centre. For the 6 -bell ringer there is the Lord Mayor's Chapel (one of the few rings of bells owned by a Corporation), the six at St. John-on-the-Wall (Bristol's ringing school), where you can ring with traffic passing beneath you, and the six at St. Michael's-on-the-Mount Without (where the flourishing University Society rings, and from which a magnificent view of the city can be obtained). A little way out of the city, you can try the six at Stoke Bishop (or stand outside and watch the bells through the glass louvres), ring the magnificent heavy Rudhall six at Westbury-on-Trym, or visit the lighter sixes at Brislington and Abbots Leigh.
The ringers in all these towers, which together raake up the City Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, are looking forward to seeing yout on May 14th.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Stockport Branch

The magnificent ring of ten bells was made full use of during the annual meeting of the Stockport Branch at St. George's Church, Stock port, on January 30th, attended by about 80 members and friends. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (Canon Wilfrid Garlick), known to a much wider circle for his broadcasts and articles. In accordance with custom, the service was held in the choir, which accommodates over 60 , and every seat was taken. Local ringers ${ }^{\text {a }}$ wives excelled themselves in the tea, which left even the most eloquent speechless.

The business meeting which followed received the secretary's report, which made a special note that over 25 per cent of the membership consists of young people under the age of 18 . He appealed to these youngsters not to stand still or be satisfied with anything less than the best at all times, and said that if they did so then the Exercise would offer them pleasure and profit for the rest of their lives.

Forty-three peals had been rung in the territory covered by the Branch, and the membership and financial affairs showed increases. The officers for the ensuing year were elected and the retiring officers thanked for their services during the past year.

Further ringing was enjoyed after the meeting until 9 p.m.., touches in various methods being rung to suit all tastes.

AN APPEAL TO R.A.F. RINGERS

At a dinner given to the Yatesbury, Wilts, ringers, a fund was started for the replacement of the third bell, which is cracked and needs recasting. Many who have served at Yatesbury in the R.A.F. and enjoyed ringing the bells would. we are sure, like to give a donation. Gifts, which would be much appreciated, should be sent 10 Mr . L. Lee. The Manor, Yatesbury, Calne. Wilts.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

A nembership of 100 ringing members, meetings better attended, more young people coming along. Sunday service ringing maintained in most churches, were encouraging items for the annual report of the Northern District presented at the annual meeting at Hitchin. Mr. G. W. Debenham (president of the Association) presided.

The report also mentioned that Royston and Barkway had given their names to two Surprise methods rung for the first time in their respective towers. Twenty-one peals were rung, fewer than in 1958, but quarter peals were nearly double. Congratulations were expressed to Mr. Tom Scott, a member of the local band, for many years, and still parish clerk of Hitchin, on his 80 th birthday.

Elections: District secretary and treasurer, Mr. E. W. Buck; 'Ringing World' and Press representative, Miss J. Sanderson; general committee, Messrs. B. Scoot and R. Agg; District committee, Messrs. W. Brown, G. W. Critchley. B. L. Marks, M. Orme and Miss J. Sanderson; trustees, Messrs. A. C. Harris and J. S. Dear. Miss Elizabeth Willis, of Norton, was elected a ringing member. Mr. C. A. S. Harwood was elected District Ringing Master for the next three months. A number of amendments to rules were carried. The service was conducted by the Rev. C. N. O. Walsh.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Taking the service and presiding at the business meeting on January 15 th was the Rev. D. L. Haynes, of St. John's, Chatham, another able ringing parson in the Rochester District but without bells at his present church.

Three new members were elected and Mr. A. Dunk gave a full account of the K.C.A. committee meeting, where the District's motion to place a levy on peals was defeated.

Good news was received from Mr. T. Beaumont that Rochester Cathedral bells will be dedicated on February 20th. Despite the heavy fall of snow, 40 members were present.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Mansfield District

Visitors from as far afield as Loughborough. Oakham, Howden and Sheffield were among the 65 ringers present at the annual meeting of the Mansfield District at Mansfield on January 23rd.

Mr. S. W. Fossey (District chairman) presided at the business meeting which followed ar short service and tea, served by local ladies. New ringing members elected were J. C. Brown. A. Dennett, B. Jones and A. Munks (Mansfield Woodhouse), G. Gibson, K. Marriott and Miss M. Turner (Hucknall), R. Horner and T. Bethell (Pleasley) were elected non-resident life members.
Officers elected for the year were: Chairman. S. W. Fossey: secretary, D. H. Rooke: Ringing Master, H. T. Rooke: committee, A. Brown and D. J. Beach. Mr. D. H. Rooke was nominated as Central Council representative for the District.

A resolution requesting the general committee to circularise the Districts with a view to holding District cup contests next year with winners competing in a final in September was carried unanimously.

Ringing ranged from rounds and call-changes to Yorkshire Surprise and Oswald Delight. Next meeting, Selston, March 26th.

The band who rang the coming-of-age peal of Plain Bob Major at Coalbrookdale for Miss Rosaline A. Farlow would like to express their sincere thanks to Mrs. Farlow and family for their kind hospitality after the peal.

Harlington, Middlesex, which just over a year ago was a call-change tower, records a quarter peal, conducted by 17 -year-old Dennis Morgan (his first).
Mr. Nolan Golden is still in hospital and does not expect to be free for some weeks. However, he is being allowed home this week for a time, prior to a further operation. He thanks all who have written to him and hopes to return the compliment soon.

The peal of Tilstock Imperial Major, rung for the first time at Wem. Shropshire, is Peal No. 4, C.C.C. Plain Major methods for group - L' methods.

Regarding the peal of 5,040 Doubles rung at Nassington (sec page 118), there were 14 different extents rung. We regret that All Saints Doubles, the first to be rung, was omitted in making a correction.
Mr. Robert C. H. Sibley, formerly of Hardingstone, Northants, has taken over from Mr. H. O. Baker as secretary of the Chester Branch. Mr. Baker is now secretary of the Chester Diocesan Guild. Both are members of St. Mary-within-the-Walls tower at Chester.

Police Sgt. Henry Girt, who has served for more than 28 years in the Suffolk Constabulary, the last 11 years as divisional clerk at Eye, is retiring and is going to live at Hellesdon, Norwich. He and his son, Mr. John Girt, are ringers at Eye.

HE RANG IN WASHBROOK'S RECORD PEAL OF 1896

Prompled by the articles 'Annus Irae. Mr C. H. Exon, who will be 83 next month and is now in Watlington Cottage Hospital, tells the story of the record peal of 11,000 -odd of London Surprise Major at Depyton in 1896. He was then $19 \frac{1}{2}$ years of age, and to participate he went to work at Oxford previous to the peal at $3 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. He is the only survivor of the peal.

We commenced about $3.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. after the Rev. F. E. Robinson had said a prayer. We rang for a quarter-of-an-hour and then Washbrook called "Stop," as two bells had changed course. We started again and kept going until the finish; the striking was very good. Occasionally Washbrook reminded us to keep the leads open.

Once half way through I found a post or pillar behind me and leaned back to ease an ache in my back. Washbrook came half way across the tower; he thought I was going to give up. I think, so I stood straight up again and we carried on. I believe if it were needed he would have rung my bell as well as his own!

We went on until about 10.30 , and every bell set up when "Stand " was called. Everyone was smiling, but how quiet it sounded. We soon had the bells down, and the Rev. Robinson invited us to supper and told us we could go home in the morning.

Then someone said if we hurried we could catch the last train from Abingdon, which was two miles away. There was a scramble for collars and ties, and also shoes as some of us rang in our socks. I was the last out of the lower. It was pitch black outside and raining hard. I could hear footsteps and went after them, but it was the wrong way and I had to turn back. I tried to run and catch up with the others, but with the rain in my face 1 didn't arrive at the station until three minutes after the train had left.

There was nothing else to do but to walk the five miles to Oxford; the rain had then stopped. I had just reached Christ Church when "Old Tom" boomed out one. I nearly " jumped out of my skin." When in bed 1 was asleep at once, and got up at six the next morning to start the day's work, namely, bread making. The previous day it was $3 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$.

There was a dinner shorlly after to celebrate the peal, and a lot of nice things were said of us and we felt on top of the world. Now, in 1960 , I am the only one left of those who took part in the peal. In those days we only practised London, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise, but now there seem to be 20 or more Surprise methods rung regularly, and to ring a peal of London is as ordinary as Stedman used to be. Those were happy days!'

His brother, the late Mr. F. S. Exon, also rang in the record peal. His son, Mr. Douglas Exon, of Dorchester-on-Thames, writes that his father did not come to Oxford until he was 15 , and previously had not done any ringing, but at the age of $19 \frac{1}{2}$ he was able to ring a record peal to the satisfaction of Washbrook.

HELMINGHAM RECTOR RETIRES

Helmingham, Suffolk, ringers presented the Rev. J. A. Burness. R.D., with a shooting stick on his retirement as a mark of their appreciation of his friendliness during the 30 years of his incumbency.

Making the presentation on February 9th in the belfry, in the presence of 11 service ringers, Mr. L. G. Brett (captain) recalled that at the time of the arriva! of Mr. Burness as incumbent it was bells, bells and more bells at Helmingham. Within five years the band had created a record by ringing 30 different Surprise peals and became front page news in "The Ringing World: By 1938 thy had rung 46 Surprise peals. Had it not been for the co-operation of the Rector this could never have been accomplished. The Rectory was close to the church, and he had a family of small children, but not once did he refuse the bells. Afted the war-time ban a new band was formed, and more methods and Spliced Surprise were rung for the first time.

MRS. G. W. FLETCHER

(Life Member of the Central Council)

During the past 50 years, many ladies have taken up the art of ringing, and have shown varying degrees of brilliance, but Mrs. G. W Fletcher has demonstrated such a degree of proficiency in ringing and conducting that places her right in the forefront. She is the daughter of James Parker, the conductor of the famous Crawley band, who rang the record length of Superlative Surprise in 1894, which stood for 14 years. Now in his advanced $90^{\prime}$ 's, he is still quite alert and interested in ringing matters.

Mrs. Fletcher was born in Crawley, Sussex, in 1891, and learned to ring at Edmonton in 1908. In 1910 she rang her first peal, which was Superlative Surprise, and before very long was conducting peals in all the standard Surprise methods, in addition to conducting her first peal of Stedman Cinques at Birmingham in 1912. She is one of the very few persons alive who have rung a peal of London Surprise Major on handbells. This was in 1939.

FOUNDED THE LADIES' GUILD
In 1912 she founded the Ladies' Guild and served as secretary for 35 years. She then became its president, and held that office with great distinction for nine years. She served also as its representative on the Central Council from 1914 to 1952, when she was elected a life member. She holds the record for attendance, never having missed a single meeting since she became a member in 1914.

In 1928 she married George W. Fletcher, who was secretary of the Council for 21 years, and they proved to be an ideal husband and wife team in running the Council's business, proving themselves to have such a complete grasp of its affairs that roused the admiration of all who saw them in action.

She has served on the Council's Peals Collection, Analysis, and Biographies Committees, and is now convener of the Records Committec. Her peals total to date is 375 on tower- and handbells, of which she has conducted 126. She was never afraid of tackling a heavy bell for she rang the tenor to a peal at Chew-Magna, Somerset ( 32 cwt .), and the tenor at Lincoln Cathedral ( 24 cwt .) to a peal of Siedman Cinques in 1932, and made a tip-top job of each performance. The Exercise will always remember with gratitude her sharing of the work with George in sorting order out of the chaos which wats found when The Ringing World was taken over on the death of J. S Goldsnith.

JAFUS.

SHEFFIELD RINGERS WEDDING

Members of the local company at St. Mary's Handsworth, Sheffield, were prominent at the wedding of Mr. H. David Holland and Miss Pauline Eyre, which took place there on Fehruary 6 th. In addition to the bride and bridegroom, bridesmaid Miss Marion Archer and groomsman Mr. Ian Holland are also members of the local company. The remainder of the company turned up in full strength, and despite the absence of these four there were two ringers spare in the belfry. These two spent their time attempting to shower confetti through the belfry window on to the bridal party being photographed below, but their efforts were frustrated by an unco-operative photographer.

The bride wore a gown of ballerina-length white lace with net flounce embroidered with matching lace fleur-de-lys, a pearl coronet with white lace petals and circular veil, and carried cream roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss. Marion Archer and Mrs Pauline Staniforth, who wore lilac nylon bal-lerina-length dresses flocked with white flowers and whlte accessories, and carried white carnations.
The best man was Mr. Derek Holland, the groomsmen Messrs. Ian Holland and Colin Cain, and the ceremony was performed by the Rector, Canon H. Ferraby.

After a reception at the Norton Country Club the couple left for a honeymoon in London, and their departure coincided with the commencement of a peal of Spliced Surprise in their honour, which was brought to a successful conclusion. The bridegroom is in business in Manchester, and their future address is 7 Hollins Grove. Barkers Lane, Sale, Cheshire.

Tips For Beginners - 9

Rhythm is indispensable to good ringing. Make sure the number of notes laps through your head as each change is rung, even if at first you cammot hear your own bell. This is the first thing to concentrate upon when you go to a higher number of bells than you hawe previously rung ont. Failure to appreciate this point is the chief reason why some people never can acquire the art of 12-bell ringing.

FIRE AT EWELL TOWER

The interior of the 12 th century tower of the old St. Mary's, Ewell, Surrey, which stands some distance from the present church, was damaged by fire early on the morning of Feb. 7th, two timber floors being almost burnt away. A picturesque landmark of Ewell, the tower. built of cut flint and Reigate stone, with a Jater parapet of red brick. remained impervious to wartime bombing, though it did receive a glancing blow on its buttress.

The rest of the church was pulled down in 1852 against strong opposition; as a compromise, the tower was fitted out as a mortuary, but has been disused for many years.

The materials of the chancel and nave were used in the building of some cottages and many walls in the village, white the Communion table. font, screen, mural memorials and brasses were removed to the new church when it was built in 1848. The clock, bearing the name of John Thwait, Clerkenwell, London, 1799, is still in good working order.
The tower contained six bells, the oldest dated 1767, which now hang in the present church. Two trebles were added and the seventh and tenor recast in 1890 as a memorial of Queen Victoria's jubilee. All the bells were cast at Whitechapel.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EVESHAM BELLS

Dear Sir.-Whilst I would like to thank Mr Hemming for his efforts to aid my indifferent hearing, what most ringers would appreciate far more would be the lifting of the rule that exists at Evesham: "No Hemming-no peal. Such a condition is not only childish but very selfish. and if this could be knocked on the head we may have a chance of hearing Evesham bells to some greater advantage.-Yours faithfully,

LIVERPOOL, UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

Dear Sir,-I would like to take advantage of your columns to announce the formation of the Liverpool University Society of Change Ringers. For many years now. attempts have been made 10 form such a Society, with varying degrees of success. Now. at last, one has been formed, and Liverpool can take its place alongside all the other English universities, with its own Sociely. No longer may ringing students be deterred from entering this rapidly-expanding university, for lack of facilities.

At present our numbers are rather low, but membership is open to all past members of the University who would care to join, and who may do so (on payment of two shillings membership fee) by contacting the secretary at the Students Union, 2, Bedford Street North, Liverpool, 7.-Yours faithfully,

CALL CHANGES IN THE  WEST COUNTRY

Dear Sir. In reply to Mr. Rodenhurst's letter. I wish I could claim that West Country call-change ringers can make their bells all begin to double-clapper on the same round in a rise. but it isn't so. They all chime together in the 'pitch'. but begin to speak at the handstroke in turn-how quickly depends on the bells. But-and here is the main difference between this and 'up-country' rising in peal -when the treble gets her tongue at handstroke she should be so placed that it comes in its place after the tenor's backstroke; the other bells come in with their handstrokes in the same way, after the treble.
In a lower, where the "go" of the bells permits it, it is possible so to pull the bells in that they all 'lose their double' within a round or two of the tenor. This depends on (a) the tenor-man's being able to keep his hell double-clappering until the sally is in hand, and (b) some degree of telepathy which enables the rest of the band to know when the treble-man is going to 'pull in.' Properly done, this is delightful to watch and hearthe tenor-man nursing his bell down without ever a jerk or a snatch (and any of the other ringers can ruin this) and the sudden transition from the very light. quick double-clappering rounds to the emphatic slower chiming rounds as the belis are pulled in
In the West Country the calls are always (I think) made in the form 'Four to Five or Fourth to Fifth -to get 123546 from rounds. Many callers add the word . Lead. after the call when the changing pair is at the front. The tenor is very seldom turned in, as with a closed handstroke lead there is no point: you can get the same effect without. and it only makes things confusing. Good callers sometimes change pults is the general rule, and nothing is worse than somebody rattling out changes when the striking is bad and never giving anyone time to settle down. Some towers have cards. but almost always for the caller's use only.-Yours. JOHN G. M. SCOTT
Clawton Vicarage, Devon.

INVITATION TO MR. WEST

Dear Sir,-I have read with interest the number of letters relating to the peal of Surprise Minor rung at Collingbourne Kingston, and have noticed that all have been in favour of the band's decision 10 ring the peal for their own Guild rather than the one to which the fower belongs.

The latest letter on the subject, from Mr. J. A. Palmer, the local District secretary and an old friend of mine, puts the matter in a different perspective-that of the Vicar's feelings about it, and for that matter those of the local band.

As the organiser of this peal, 1 had fully intended sitting back and letting the whole thing die a natural death. I feel, however, that 1 must assure Mr. Palmer, the Vicar and his ringers that when applying for permission to bring a hand of ringers from Reading and district for this peal I certainly had not anticipated Mr. West's letter, accusing us of had manners.
Some years ago I organised a similar peal on the live bells at Shalbourne. Wilts, this tower also being in the Salisbury Guild's area. This peal was recorded for the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, but as it was only Grandsire Doubles it was not deserving of a letter from Mr. West.

Our eight bells at Highclere have had a good many peals rung on them, several for the Oxford Diocesan Guild and one for the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths. We have not yet had a Salisbury Guild peal, but if Mr. West. cares to bring a band we shall be delighted for him to ring one.
This correspondence, unlike so many other controversies, has proved of some use to the Exercise, if only to show that the old-fashioned ideas held by some people are no longer held by the younger generation of ringers. Times change, Mr. West

Incidentally. I strongly disagree with Mr. Vincent Hemming on his contribution to the Evesham dispute. These letters do make interesting reading to the majority of ringers, as I am sure they did in 1900 , when William Pye and James Washbrook were exchanging views. and do much to improve the value of our paper.-Yours sincerely, > Highclere, Hants.

LEST WE FORGET

Dear Sir.-I thank Mr. Southwood for making clear his true attitude regarding peal ringing, which was not evident from his original letter. I also thank him for offering to arrange some ringing in Cornwall for me. I hope I have the opportunity to accept some day.

However, the object of my letter was that the persons who objected to the extra cost of ' The Ringing World should hang cheir heads in shame. One must not be overcome by all this - smooth' talk hy such people, when they get their backs to the wall.-Yours faithfully.

Loughborough.

PLACE NAMES - RYME INTRINSECA
Dear Sir-Mr. E. G. Caple. of Clevedon, in his letter published on February 12th mentions Ryme Intrinseca, and suggests that the church has only one hell: in fact, it has three.

My wife was horn there, and the hells were rung at intervals all day on her 21st hirthday. beginning at $6 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. (A small barrel of cider was also consumed.) One of the ringers, who was also verger, is still alive and living at Ryme. -Yours faithfully.

CHRISTMAS BROADCAST

Dear Sir,-One would indeed be an optimist to expect our old friend A. V. Davis to agree with anything or anyone. He reminds me of the story of the Irishman who went abroad. and on arrival asked: ' Is there a Government here'?'. On being assured that there was, he said: "Well, I'm agin it!". His defence of the B.B.C. is almost pathetic. The fact is that the B.B.C. have not done any good to ringing with the broadcast under consideration. Mr. Dunwoody's letter emphasises my point that when the Broadcasting Committee is consulted the results are much happier. I am glad that he, at least, carried out the duties for which he was elected by the Council.
How do the rest of the Broadcasting Committee on this side stand? They do not break their silence-or is it they are saving their powder until Whitsuntide, so that they can blow up anyone who dares to utter a word of criticism?

We need more people on this committee who. like Mr. Dunwoody, are not afraid to stand up to the B.B.C. We want no more of this shoddy ringing at Christmas or any other time : and, if in order to get better results it is necessary 10 ' can it,' then by all means do so.

I find no fault with the 'canned' ringing we get on Sunday mornings on the Light programme. What I do complain about is that the B.B.C. must demonstrate their cleverness' by messing even that about.

Mr. Derek Jones is quite right in his remarks about the effect of bad broadcast ringing on learners, and his word 'sabotage ' is putting it mildly.-Yours faithfully,

J. FRANK SMALLWOOD

Darley Dale. Derbys.

A Ringer's Duty

The ringer's first duty is to aftend and be willing and keen to learn. A ringer also needs 10 integrate himself into The Exercise" by mixing with ringers from other towers; by ringing elsewhere at meetings, on outings, in combined practices, on holidays; by reading "The Ringing World " and "The Belfry":' From 'The Belfry,' the Maidstone District quarterl:.

PEAL AT ST. MARY'S, TORQUAY
Dear Sir.-On May 30th. 1887, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on the bells of St. Mary's Church. Torquay, by the following band: James Moss Ireble, Edwin Shepherd 2. Alfred Shepherd 3. William Munday 4, Ferris Shepherd (conductor) 5. William Gifford 6. Frederick Batchelor 7. Thomas Lake tenor.
For some time now I have been trying to find knowledge of the members of this band and reports of the above peal. There is no mention of it in any of the books obtainable in the Torquay Library, and I wondered if any of your readers could supply any relevant facts. William Gifford's name appears frequently in 'Among the Bells,' by the Rev. F. E. Robinson. and that is all I have been able to find out.
The bells of the above tower have been silent for 21 years now. and though a native of Torquay I have never heard them ring. I would therefore welcome some opinions of your readers who have rung and heard these bells.-

FRANCIS POLLARD. Rector and tower master. Yours faithfully,

84, Westhill Road, Torquay.

Hertfordshire Association Face Up To Allegations

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-I$ was sorry to read the letter from Mr. Hatchell. of Rickmansworth, in your issue of February 12 h , in which he alleges rudeness and lack of interest on the part of officers of the Herford County Association.

1 am not in a position to comment on the conduct of the Association's affairs in the Watford District, but as the officer in charge of the ringing at St. Peter's, St. Albans, on the day of the St. Albans annual District meeting, I should like to offer Mr. Hatchett my sincere apologies for any neglect he may have suffered. It is not always easy, in a crowded lower where there is a lot of coming and going, to ensure that everyone is being looked alter, and if Mr. Hatchett or anyone else at St. Albans was overlooked, it was entirely unintentional.
1 have always found the Hertford County Association 10 be a very friendly body, and as far as my own knowledge goes its officers have afways taken an interest in and been prepared to help young ringers and towers trying to build up a band: some, indeed, have given a great deal of time and energy in personal efforts to this end. I am sorry that this has not been Mr. Hatchett's experience, but he may be assured of a welcome any time he cares to visit my own tower.-Yours, etc.,

DESMOND PAINTER

Harpenden.

Dear Sir. -The indictment of the Hertford
County Association in your issue dated February 12th calls for comment.

The aims of this Association have been ably misrepresented. Rule I when quoted more fully slates that an object of the Association is the promotion of changing ringing, and of social intercourse amongst change ringers. by means of the various Annual and District Meetings." This, I submit, is as far as any Association can reasonably go. By holding meetings, the Association provides an opportunity, which might otherwise not exist, for ringers to meet socially and to improve their ringing. If ringers are not prepared to take advantage of such opportunity, I do not see that it is open to them to complain.
Your correspondent readily acknowledges the help of several well known ringers as well as that from the Watford band. It is at first sight difficult to see what exira facilities the Heriford County Association is expected 10 provide. If any tower wants to make further progress and requests outside help for this purpose. its members must be prepared to help themselves by getling out 10 other centres of ringing. Parochialism is the surest bar to progress.
If support is sought from an Association. then there is primary reciprocal obligation to support that Association. I should expect that your correspondent is a member of the Heriford County Association. if qualified for this. and regularly attends District meetings. be should hope also that in the future we may be spared from the irritating habit of addressing the Association by anything but its proper tule

It is tiresome to find a general condemnaion propounded on the hasis of a single experience. Notwithstanding my earlicr remarks. the allegation that members remarks. the allegation that members of the Hertford County Association to not assist struggling towers is easily will discover. if and when he realises that will discover, if and when he realises that Ase responsibilities of the Hertford County Association cover a wider area than that Within a three mile radius of Rickmansworth. - rours faithfully.

Baldock

Dear Sir.-I am instructed by the general committee of the Hertford County Association to invite Mr. Hatchett (and his band) to altend the next annual general mecting of this Association, which will be held it Watford on Saturday, April 23rd, when we shall be delighted to discuss his grievances.
We would also remind him that we have no record of any subscriptions paid by him as a resident ringing member since he came to reside in this county, and request him to rectify this matter. which apparently he has over-looked.-Yours faithfully,

> H. V. FROST, Hon. Gen. Sec..
> Hertford County Association.

Dear Sir-I feel that some answer is called for in reply to Mr. Hatchett's letter regarding bad manners in ringing circles (page 106).

While agreeing with him that bad manners should not exist in our circles, he is surely wrong to suggest this was so at St. Albans.
If he is foolish enough to stand in any belfry for half-an-hour without making an effort to ring, then this is his own fault.

Mr. Hatchett is more capable a ringer than I. but I would not have stood for such a time without a ring. I would mention that even in the Oxford Guild the Ringing Master does not 'canvass' everyone present to ring the touch he is putting on. No, he calls the method and those capable take hold. If every ringer waited for the Ringing Master to invite them to ring, many 'vacant ' half-hours would pass, resulting in little or no ringing taking place.

While being a service ringer at a tower in the Oxford Guild, I expect to be unknown to many at local meetings; I would expect this at St. Albans, too. Be honest with yourself, Mr. Hatchett. If little effort is put in by attending your local meetings, how can you expect to be known at the odd one or Iwo you do go to? from your local tower.

I would point out to Mr. Hatchett that the title of the county in which he rings is the Hertford County Association not the Hertford Guild: does it take more than three years for him to find this out?
In conclusion, I would suggest that Mr . Hatchett's criticism of the Association is unfounded; furthermore, if he changed 'we to 'I' he would be more to the point. -Yours faithfully,

DONALD R. BARTHOLOMEW.
Watford. Herts.

"Altar AND PEW"

Dear Sir,-Recently I canse across a small hook which may interest ringers throughout the country. It is a collection of poems, edited by John Betjeman, many of which have direct or indirect references to hells and ringers. lts title is "Altar and Pew, and it is published by title is "Altar and Pew," and it is published by E. Hulton and Company, Lid., Hulton House. Fleet Street, London, E.C. 4 ( 2 s . 6d. net).
References to Christmas bells on pp. 14-15. to some Dorset bells on pp. 38-39 and to bells in general on page 45 make this, to campanologists, an interesting collection-even if not noetically inclined.

Another value of this small book is the insight into the secret life of prayer of another servant of God in the Church's life and ministry -the vicar. It is ohvious that for a prayerless - vicar. as for a prayerless ringer, their ministry -and ours-hecomes just a man doing a joh, instead of God and man logether doing His work and calling to lif worship. - Yours sincerely.

CUT PEAL REPORTS

Dear Sir.-What with all the controversial correspondence, not to mention the first fout parges, in :The Ringing World: I sometimes leel that it should be more coirectly referred to as the journal of the scientific peat ringers. It no longer seems to apply 10 church bell ringers as such.
It is not mecessary for peals to be published. thus occupying nearly half the paper; the fact that they are printed is only to satisfy the vanity of a very small minority of ringers who take part in this pastime. Those who make a habit of peali ringing no doubt keep a record of their activities and the same peals are printed in the annual reports of the Associations concerned. If they must have them published, 1 would suggest they they be charged at the same rates is the notices on the back page. This would no doubl go at least some of the way to aid the financial side of The Ringing World: Quarter peals could have a fixed rate.

In case some of' the 'regulars " hasten 10 say that they are paying too much already for their peals, 1 would only add that their expenses are high only because they seem to insist on travelling such a long way from home to ring them. If they rang their peals in their own vicinity the money charged by the local towers would amount to a mere pittance.
I write this letter because I honestly think that if some sort of control could be had on the amount of space allocated to peal ringers a lot more room would be left for the lype of reading matter that would interest the overwhelming majority of readers who are not peal ringers. This in turn would not only make the paper more interesting but would no doubt help to increase the sales.-Yours sincerely.
K. G. SPAVINS.

COLLEGE ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Dear Sir.-The College of Campanology would like to share with your interested readers and with all its members the pleasure afforded to the governors and officers by the expressions of commendation being received for its work generally in the Exercise, and particularly for the recently issued second revised edition of Part I of the Ringers* Manual of Reference.
It is a source of much encouragement that ringers, often quite unknown to us. should express their appreciation of what they are experiencing. by sending small donations to help with this voluntary work: which includes the collection and dissemination of latest knowledge of the art and science of changeringing, and particularly, at the moment, in respect of instruction.

That the College, while supporting the acgis of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers. is able to function not in competition with, but complementary to. the territorial and "occupational societies-as now confirmed in the successive annual reports after more than three years working - is perhaps its greatest satisfaction. College membership implies full support of "The Ringing World: and we certainly advise every ringer to take the paper regularly: for this will lay a firm foundation for moulding the paper into what may satisfy the Exercise as a whole.
We would add that the general invitationput out when the College was heing founded$t 0$ all ringers (and especially those experienced in one or more branches of our art) to add their contribution in helping with the work -remains as always open. with cordial welcome. Information (siamped envelope) will be gladly furnished by the Registrar, 40. Parkstone Avenuc. Southsca.-Yours faithfully,

DOWN UNDER IN 1959

By GEORGE W. PIPE

Our circle of friends in Britain increases month by month; new ringers come to Australia's sunny coast, others make the trip back 'home. And so. as the year goes by, with more and more contacts in the Ringing Isle. we feel that 12.000 miles is not quite as far as it was. say, in 1934. So here's Australian Review. 1959. and greetings to all ringers everywhere.

SOUTII AUSTRALIA
South Australia has two towers, a six and an eight. for an area of over four times that of Great Britain! One caln imagine the limited opportunities of these ringers but undaunted both St. Peter's Cathedral. Adelaide. and St. Andrew's. Walkerville. have made great strides over the past 12 months. The enthusiasm of these two bands is unbelievable: from almost scratch St. Peter's now manages up to Stedman and Grandsire Triples (on an octave with a tenor of 41 cwt .) and Kent Minor is rung regularly on the front six and also at St . Andrew's.

The Cathedral recorded three quarters and Walkerville one, seven people scoring a first And here we congratulate C. Hervey Bagot on whom the main leadership in Adelaide falls, for immense keenness, and ability to pass on what he himself has picked up. Delight has been expressed at Miss Enid Roberts university appointment after a long sojourn in the bush. some 60 miles away. This will strengthen the growing company. Mention must be made of secretary Bill Pitcher's good work and his example of continually asking questions on ringing matters and adding literature to the helfries' libraries.
Membership of these towers stands at 11 for St. Andrew's and 14 at St. Peter's Cathedral and one of their aims for 1960 is particularly pleasing: the establishment and maintenance of consistently good striking whatever we ring.

NEW SOUTH WALES

Now on to New South Wales where the bellfounder (or the donor) has heen a little more generous! A feature of this State is its monthly publication for which Editor John Cummins is responsible. This valuable paper does much to unite Australian ringers.
It is said (forgetting Sydney's Harbour Bridge and Melbourne's River) that the latter gets the ringers whilst the former get the bells! Overlooking Melbourne's two lady ringers from abroad in the past two months Sydney have done it again with a new Taylor eight for St. Paul's. Burwood (a suburb), and the possibility of an eight or a ten at St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral. Congratulations to all concerned: no doubi Melbourne will be asked to register Burwood's first peal but. in all fairness. should the method be Double Norwich we feel we should reserve the tenor for an acquaintance in Dorking and ask that A. P. Heywood supply the composition!

The Sydney towers. too, have made progress, specially through their young ringers under the capable guidance of Tom Goodyer. Twenty-seven quarters from Doubles to Major and two peals of Triples were scored resulting in ten firsts and three new conductors. Methods practised over the year included Cambridge and London Minor. Kent and Oxford Major and Erin and Stedman Triples. Besides travelling inter-State themselves the Sydney ringers were hosts to a Melbourne party and two other very welcome visitors were Messrs. Bray and Kerley from H.M.S. Centaur who scored their first peal whilst on leave.
The two outposts of N.S.W.. Yass and Maitland. continue to keep the flag flying, Sunday services being a priority

TASMANIA

Across now to the Isle of Mountains. beautiful Tasmania and down south to Hobart Town. Here the two octaves of St. David's Cathedral and Holy Trinity sound out over the picturesque harbour. These bands, who have been unfortunate in having very few 'imports, make a valiant effort to ring Sunday by Sunday. Three Melbournians visited them last January and several Doubles methods and courses of Bob Triples were enjoyed. Their visit was repaid later in the year by Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Smith when Sid scored his first quarter of Triples. In traditional style the New Year was rung in at Holy Trinity. the scene of two peals some 25 years ago during the Great Adventure.

QUEENSLAND

AND WESTERN AUSTRAL.IA
The octave at Maryborough in Queensland (an outpost some 600 miles N.E. of Sydney) is rung regularly to call changes and St. George 's Cathedral. Perth. where the tower is reputed unsafe, chime the Warner cight Sunday by Sunday.

VICTORIA

Finally, to Australia's smallest mainland State. Victoria. At Ballaarat things are fairly quict. due to the sad lack of an experienced ringer. The fine eight at the City Hall are seldom rung whilst at St. Peter's the recast trehle is awaited for the light six. However. at a joint meeting there in June when Adelaide and Melbourne ringers joined the locals some good change ringing was enjoyed and Alex Herrman proved an admirable host
In the old gold-mining city of Bendigo hatrgs what must be the roughest eight in the world. No offence will be taken at this utterance for Warne Wilson. the tower captain, and his band who ring them, and well. too, twice a week, have every confidence that within a year or two their ring will rank with the best in Australia. High up in a very slender and tall brick tower there is much work to be done but things are on the move and if the writer may take this liberty may he appeal to all British ringers to support the Bendigo appeal when it is launched; these ringers deserve it.

And so to Melbourne (whose relative merits compared to Sydney's may be heard leaning against any old bar in either city!) possessor of the South's only twelve.
A year of contrasts for St. Paul's Cathedral ; bursts of enthusiasm and then troughs of very average striking and the "daily-round." Nevertheless. a year of many cvents and enjoyable mectings. Our range of methods has included Double Norwich and Cambridge Major. Stedman Caters. Grandsire Cinques and Bob Maximus and Plain and Kent Royal. One of Melbourne's weaknesses is its striking. which must be improved in 1960 , although a genuine excuse for part of this fault is the 'go' of the bells which have deteriorated in the past three years. Moves are afoot for a complete restoration and the Chapter, with much prodding from the belfry. are aware of its necessity

Four peals were recorded, a drop on last ycar, bui of higher standard. Kent and Bob Major were rung on tower bells and Kent Minor was scored on the six of St. Clement's. Yass. when a party made the journey to N.S.W. in November. Quarters included two of Bob Major with new conductors-Graeme Heyes and Hervey Bagot (Adelaide).

Our first 'event' was one of great value and pleasure-the visit of nine ringers from Adelaide in June. Journeying some 500 miles our friends gave themselves and us one of the best weck-ends ever with ringing at the iwo Ballatarat towers and the two in Melbourne.

THE PIONEERS OF 1934

Then. to mark the 25th anniversary of the Great Adventure, we were able to arrange a meeting of the three States. N.S.W.. S.A.. and Victoria, in Melhournc. A very large gathering paid tribute to the pioneers of 1934 and touches not previously attempted in Australia broke new ground. The highlights were a quarter peal of Bob Maximus at the first attempt with ten firsts and a handbell peal of Bob Major. A quarter of the same was also scored and a peal attempt of Bob Royal cane to grief after an hour and a half.

Graeme Heyes, the vice-captain at St. Paul's. carns thanks for his teaching beginners and if membership is any pointer then 1960 should be very successful.
At St. Patrick's R.C. Cathedral (Peter Richards now reclining at his Dartford, Kent. home after sterling work here) the new hand are making good headway. Miss Barbara Beeson has taken over and with help from St. Paul's useful material is coming forward. This second eight when renovated will be of great value, for lack of competition has encouraged complacency in the past
So that's the round for 1959: just one small point though! We are still hoping that Great Adventure II will eventually materialise and we can promise you all somethin good-fair dinkum!

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

The Society held its winter meeting in the heart of the 'Black Country' at Coseley on January 23rd. Once again adverse weather was encountered but in spite of this more than 60 ringers and friends made their way to this Midland town to enjoy the hospitality of the local ringers.
The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. D. Starkey) who welcomed the Society to Coseley after an absence of nearly ten years. After the service the members retired to the nearby church school where a bountiful tea had been provided. Our grateful thanks must go to the local band. their wises and friends who worked so hard to make this meeting such a success.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD

There was a good attendance at the annual District meeting of the Christchurch District, which was held at Christchurch on February oth. The Guild service was held in the Priory Church and was conducted by the Vicar (Canon R. P. Price). The preacher was the Rev, R. R. folliott Powell, assistant priest at Milford-onSea,

At the commencement of the annual meeting the District chairman (Rear-Admiral D. H. Everetl) welcomed visitors from Southampton and Abingdon. He then invited Canon Price to take the chair
In his annual report the District chairman (Rear-Admiral Everett) stressed the importance of members visiting oiher towers on practice nights. in order to assist those needing help and also to advance their own ringing ability. The secretary (Mr. W. T. Godfrey), in his annual report, stated that membership was now 113. 13 more than in 1958 and the highest number since 1948. In November, Breamore, a new tower with four bells, was welcomed into the District. Breamore has a very enthusiastic band, under the captaincy of Mr. Jack. Mussell. Reports from cight out of the 13 affiliated iowers showed that steady progress was being maintained in most towers but, most important of all, regular Sunday service ringing was being carried out in all towers except one.
During the course of the mecting. 25 new ringing members were clected. Among those elected were the Rev. R. R. folliott Powell, who has recently moved to Milford from Dorset, where he was the Rector of Evershot. the Rev. F. O. Brackley (Rector of Breanore) and the Rev. Mr. Flather, curate at Fordingbridge.
District officers elected for the next three years were: Chairman, Mr. F. Price; vicechairman, Rear-Admiral D. If. Everett: secretary and treasurer. Mr. W. T. Godfrey : secretary's proxy. Mr. L. Cobb: joint Ringing Masters. Mr. W. Cheater and Mr. R. Marlow: representative to the central committee. Mrs. I. Marshallsay: auditor, Mr. R. Hurst. The following meetings for 1960 were proposed, subject to confirmation: Quarterly meetings-June 4th. Sopley and Ringwood: September 3rd. Fordingbridge and Breamore ; December 3rd, St. Peter's. Bournemouth. Practice meetings-March 5th. Brockenhurst and Lyndhurst: May 7ih. Bournemouth: July 2nd, Hordle and Milford-on-Sea; November 5th, Lymington.
The new District chairman (Mr. Fred Price) proposed an omnibus vote of thanks, on hehalf of all members, to everyone who had helped to make the meeting a success.

SUNDAY SERVICE NEWS RAINHAM, KENT

St. Margaret's, Rainham, report that of their 29 ringers. 17 are teenagers between 13 and 17 Wears. Their ringing, twice on Sundays and at Wednesday practices, consists of plain courses of Grandsire Triples and Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor, in which many of the young ringers take part. Practices are held regularly on Wednesdays, and the band would like to acknowledge the patient and conscientious work of the captain, Mr. F. J. Cheal.

ST. PETER'S. BOURNEMOUTH

Mr. Colin Conway (captain) reported at the annual meeting of St. Peter's. Bomrnemouth, on Fehruary 4 th. that the bells had been rung three times every Sunday during 1959, also for special services and 12 weddings. The annual outing in Seplember was to Romsey Abbey. Petworth and Chichever, and a happy week-end had been spent with friends at Selly Oak. Birmingham. Handbell ringers on Christmas Eve collected $£ 138$ s. for the Church of England Children's Society. A broadcast service, two jumble sales and a peal of Yorkshire Surprise tere other events of the year. The treasurer's report showed that a halance in hand of 1113 s .8 d . had been increased $10 £ 35 \mathrm{ibs}$. Id. Colin Conway was re-clected captain, Eric Booth vice-captain and Doreen Dykes hon. treasurer. It was proposed to redecorate the belfry in 1960 and provide new linoleum for the floor. The annual outing was lixed for May 14th, the lile of Wight heing a possible destination.

OBITUARY

MR. FREDERICK SEAGER A TRIBUTE FROM HIS NATIVE COUNTY
The greatest contribution to Minor ringing in Norfolk took place in the remote village of Tibenham, in the south of the county, during the first 13 years of this century. Fired by the enthusiasm of the Manser and Snelling families, a company of young men rose to great proficiency to become the most accomplished band of Minor ringers in the country.

One of these young men was Frederick Seager, who began to ring at the age of eight and was still a schoolboy when he rang the treble to his first peal on April 18th, 1906. In November, 1908, he rang his first peal "inside ${ }^{\circ}$ at Long Stratton and, a fortnight later, Tibenham tenor to a peal, the first of many occasions on which he was to ring this bell, generally considered to weigh a lon. In 1910 the local band accomplished a peal in 14 inethods which was composed of half-extents, the idea of splicing into true extents being then acceptable only to a rew advanced minds. A peal in seven Surprise methods was rung on January 18th. 1912, to be followed in March by one in 21 plain and Treble Bob methods, each method being represented by 240 changes. The local men were now also gaining proficiency on eight bells during their visits to Pulham. This band was also making great progress. and previously to ringing the first peal on the augmented eight at Salle. it band equally divided between the two towers scored a peal of Trehle Boh Royal at Aylsham. Peals of Double Norwich, Oxford Treble Bob and one of Norfolk Surprise - the first hy a resident band-were accomplished. A peal of 7.200 in ten Surprise Minor methods at Tihenham rounded off a memorable year.

But 1913 was to prove to he a year of great achievement, the year when the Norwich Association rang 291 peals (a record still unbeaten). On January 23 rd a peal in 14 Surprise Minor in seven true extents was rung and claimed to be the first of its kind. Then followed at Pulham a peal of London Surprise, the first of six during the year. This was the first in the county by a resident band since the 1835 peal at St. Andrew's. Norwich. Then followed the first of Bristol in the county of Suffolk at Palgrave. More peals of seven Surprise Minor were rung, together with peals of New Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major.

After the first world war Mr. Seager went to Yorkshire to work and, marrying, made his permanent home there. But he often returned for a few days to his native county and was present at the recent opening of Great Yarmouth bells. Of his 111 peals for the Norwich Association. 53 were of Minor and 53 of Major. Of the peals of Minor, 40 were in seven methods. chiefly of Surprise, with a like number on Tibenham bells. The peals of Major were in 11 methods, while Mr. Seager rang also three peals of Royal and Mancroft tenor to a peal of Little Bob Maximus.

Mr. Seager's skill as a ringer was of a very high order. as the above sketch indicates, for he was ringing peals of Surprise Minor, London and Bristol Surprise Major when their performance was something of a rarity. He was always unperturbed, no matter how difficult the method. He was a natural tenor ringer and handled any weight with consummate ease. As a man he was a delight to know. He possessed a rich sense of humour, with never an unkind word for anyone. Above all, he had the great virtue of humility and was happy with beginner and expert alike. Our sympathy goes out to Mrs. Seager and her sons, for we know how much we shall miss him. He surely rests in peace.
N. G.

MR. C. W. R. GRIMWOOI) AN APPRECIATION

A twinkle, a pipe and a stick.
That is how we shall remember Bob.
For the last 15 years he had been a most regular nember of the Kingston-on-Thames band, and although he had to make a considerable journey, Bob was always there, despite fog. ice, snow and rain. Even a serious accident 18 months ago only incapacitated him temporarily. An injury which might have crippled him permanently was overcome hy his determination to get hack to his beloved bells.

Others can write with more authority of his feats in the past-he scarcely ever mentioned them to us. IIe wils always ready to stand in for any efementary methot for the sake of a learner.

We shall miss him sadly. We remember his words when we askel him if he would be there at the next ringing line: "All being well.'

Alas, all was not well. and Boh died on Fehruary 8th after a short illness. God rest his soul. G.C.G.

An Augmentation Appeal From Kent

First mooted in 1954. a plan to restore the four old bells of St. Margaret's Church, Addington. Kent. and add two new ones had to be postponed owing to urgent restoration work on the fabric of the church. The bell fund now stands at $£ 325$. An appeal for $£ 1.500$ has been launched by this village of 500 souls: Cheques, payable to 'Addington Bell Fund: should be sent to the Appeal Secretary, Miss Janet Lander. The Old Oast House. Aldon Farm, Addingion. West Malling. Kent.

A North Eastern band met with poor luck in recent Grandsire Triples peal attempts, but success crowned their efforts at Morpeth Watch Tower on February 10th, thus enabling George S. Deas. the popular secretary of the Newcastle Cathedral Guild, to circle the tower.

- BITTERNESS A GIGANTIC BLUFF!’

Dear Sir, - In 1913, when I went to live in Leicester, by what i had read and heard thought I was entering a campanological battlefield. Living in the shadow of St. John-the Divine's I naturally made my parish church my first choice. At that time three towers had regular bands-St. John's. St. Martin's and St. Margaret's. Roving members of these bands met at other towers for practice-SI. Mark's, St. Mary's and St. Saviour's. I never met any bitterness but a good deal of merriment.
I never heard of any bloodshed. W. W.'s ideas had a lot of the alpha and omega about them. If roused to battle, whoever got in his sights had a blast. Maurice Atkins was a frequent visitor to our tower, but when the Cambridge mob produced Little Bob, Billy's friendship was sadly strained.
As regards W. Pye, before and after the 1914 war W. W. fixed his party up for towers. This led to some comment as $W$.W. managed to stand in several first Surprise peals on the bells I recall that once they arrived in the strangest of vehicles-a bacon box on wheels. Severa nights in the ensuing week all hands were called out to fetch them home.
After the war we only rang on alternate Sunday nights, except for special occasions. On the intervening Sunday W. W. gave a 'grandstand ' performance of hymns and tunes. This led some residents to ask when we were ringing, What were we kicking up that rattle for?
One night I ventured up St. Martin's, expect ing to be devoured. Instead I found some friends whom I shall never forget. When the ladies joined us in ringing peals all was quiet on the Leicester front. W. W. had a tough time in early life, and he hoped to improve the outlook for his family. He had his wish, and he then did not forget St. John-the-Divine s by giving two trebles to make the ten. That was he crowning moment of his life. Some nights after we were having half a pint together and I asked him why he did not now go into battle. His reply was: "Well. Tom, when you get older you get mellower.' Had I said he had turned a good eight into an average te, he would have had his sword out.-Yours, etc.

SURPRISE MAJOR MFTHODS

Dear Sir.-This is in reply to Mr. Pattison.
(I) Cudham and Derwent appear in Corrigan's Collection (the first edition, at any rate) and are, as Mr. Pattison says. duplicates of the same method. The correct name for the method is Derwent: it has not been rung to a peal and so could be renamed. Derwent with out 2nds is Chelsfield.
(2) Braunstone and Wye are different methods.

They are as follows, using Corrigan's notation of letters for the lead-heads.

\text { Braunstone : } b-38-4-58-16-12-3.56 .14 .56 .7

Wye: $\quad b-38-4-58-16-12-3-14.56 .7$
For completeness-
Biddenden: b-38-4 58-16-12-3.56.14-7
The eighths place versions of these are:-Braunstone-Frolesworth. Wye-Donisthorpe. Biddenden-Edmondthorpe.
(3) The other methods asked for are:-

Apslep: $\quad b-58-6-58-36-14-3-34-7$
Arnesby: New Cambridge without 2nds
Evenlode: d 56-4-56-38-14-5-36-7.
Hale: This method is Belvedcre; sec R.W.' of November 26th, 1948.

Lyminge: $\quad \mathrm{c}-36-4-56-38-34-5-36-1$.
Northolt:
Queslett:
f-58-6-12.58.36-12-5-36-7.
There is a misprint in the notation of this method where it appears in the 'R.W.' of July 29th. 1955.

If Mr. Pattison would like any more information he has only to write to my home address. Yours faithfuily.

THE NATION'S FELICITATIONS

THE safe deliverance of Her Majesty the Queen of a second son on Friday, February 19th, was expressed, as it should be, by the ringing of church bells throughout the length and breadth of the country. The bells gave tonal beauty to the expression of the nation's felicitations, and also indicated the warmth and affection with which Her Majesty and her family are held.

This issue is an indication of the manner in which the ringers of Great Britain gladly fulfilled their duty in conveying the news. The record we publish is splendid, but in no sense complete; probably another two weeks will elapse before the true picture can be presented. So heavy have been the post bags arriving at 'The Ringing World' office that the performances recorded in this issue relate practically to reports received in the first three days and are confined to peals and quarter peals.

Most of the ringing recorded was by Sunday service bands. Three new methods were added to the long list, and two of them were very appropriately named-Edinburgh Delight and Sandringham Surprise Major. The third was Aspenden Surprise Major, named after the village in Hertfordshire where this method was rung for the first time.

There has been an exceptionally good press for the ringers. 'The Times' on the following day gave a picture of St. Paul's Cathedral bells being raised prior to ringing on Friday evening, and the bells of Westminster Abbey were mentioned in almost every national newspaper. Notoriety came to the little Wiltshire village of Broadchalke. They were ringing within three minutes 15 seconds of the wireless announcement. According to our records, the first peal for the baby prince was rung by Oxford University Society; they started within half an hour of the news being broadcast. The peal was rung on the heavy bells of the University Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin and took three hours and 32 minutes to accomplish. In view of the time taken there might be other peals that finished earlier.

The centuries old tradition of ringing bells for a royal occasion has. in our opinion, been fully maintained. The art of our forefathers is still practised with diligence and enthusiasm, and on such occasions as this gladly accepted by the populace at large.

This special occasion in the annals of British ringing has been marked by the publication of our first 24 -page issuc, and will serve as a memento for generations to come. Such a publication has only been possible through the generosity of the many bands who sent donations with their performances.

SOME BELLS OF ABERDEENSHIRE

MANY of our readers do not conline their interests to the practical side of bell-ringing. In most lowers will be found one or two members with strong antiquarian interests: there is a celebrity who walked miles for the pleasure of measuring the tenor and duly recording the same. As regards the counties of England, the records of hells are almost completely covered, although most of these require revising to incorporate the constant recasting and additions to rings of bells to enable them to fulfil their mission to the community.

Much of Scotland, however, can be regarded as virgin (erritory. Mr. Ranald W. M. Clouston has with diligence surveyed and recorded the bells of Renfrewshire, Dumbartonshire and Stirlingshire. The late Dr. F. C. Eeles had collected a considerable amount of data on Scottish church bells which had not been published. The field work for this was undertaken between 1890 and 1913. The county where the survey was most near completion was Aberdeenshire. Mr. Clouston has steeped into the breach, checked wherever possible the date and provided missing links. The Society of Antiquaries of Scotland published this record in their Proceedings in 1956-57: these have been reprinted and the first part is now published by Mr. Clouston (price 3s. 6d. from the author, 1, Canons Close, Radlett, Herts).

Frequently in the news is Crathie Parish Church, because of its associations with the Royal Fanily. Here there is a chime of four bells, cast in Munich in 1894; they are hung. 'dead' and are sounded by clock hammers. Dr. Eeles' comment is that the bells are very foreign in character. long in the waist, thin and angular, with four large canons each. There is an error in the inscription on the tenor:-

> " We praise thee o Lord.

Presendet by Beatrice Princess Henry of Battenberg."
Crathie Parish Church. however, has an example from an English foundry in a disused bell, thought to have been recast by Richard Phelps, of the Whitechapel Foundry, in 1736.

At Balmoral Castle there are three bells with a total weight of about $14 \frac{1}{3}$ cwt., cdst by John Warner and Sons in 1856. They are used for quarter chimes with the largest as an hour bell, which was made from the pattern for the fourth quarter bell with Big Ben in the Palace of Westminster, and exactly half the size. It is an octave above the Westminster bell, note $B$, and weighs $7 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.

There is a good sprinkling of Dutch bells in the survey and, as so frequently, a reported case of vandalism. At Dyce, the church now demolished contained a bell which came from an older church and was cast by Michael Burgerhuys, of Middleburg. Holland, in 1642. During the last war the bell was perforated by a riffe shot, and after the war the roofless building was acquired by the County Council so that an existing soundpit could be enlarged. At this time the bell was still in place, and it was considered too expensive to remove before demolition was commenced. The hell was completely lost when the fabric was blown up. This action is justly condemned by the author, but we have douhts if it will ever be conveyed to the official who perpetrated ihis outrage.
In the birdcage belfry at Daviot is a bell originally cast by John Mowat, the Aberdeen founder, in 1753, and recast hy Warner's in 1924. The original hell was a gift to St. Coim's Church, Daviot, by Gco. Paul. and tradition says that the donor made it a condition of his gift that the bell should be tolled, free of all expense other than the rineer's fee, at the funerals of all persons bearing the name of Paul and born within the parish; and to this the following rhyme refers:-

For Paul's name
And Paul's bairns
And a' that lie
In Paul's arm.
In these days, when so many new churches are anxious lor bells, it is noted that the chime of eight bells in the central tower of Dunecht House, the residence of Lord Cowdray, is now disused. This octave, with a tenor of about 12 cwt ., was cast by John Warner and Sons in 1911 in commemoration of the coronation of George $V$.

College Youths honoured Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hughes on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary with a peal at St Ciles'. Cripplegate, on February 13 th .

We deeply regret to learn that Mr. G. H. Myers, of Plymouth, is gravely ill. The latest news is that he has rallied and is much better.

Si. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham have scored their first peal of 12 Spliced Surprise Major.

The band who rang the peal at Merriott, Somerset. on February 13th would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Turner for their kind hospitality alter the peal.

Past and present officers of the Leeds and District Amalgamated Society rang at Armley. Yorks, a peal to the memory of Mr. Harry Lofthouse, their secretary for 30 years.

Miss S. Hurst is the second Girl Guide from Great Horwood tower to gain her ringer's badge. Four more guides are making good progress.

Mr . Oliver Mills. in calling his first peal at Wickwar. Glos, on February 17th had his 13-year-old son Piul ringing his first peal on the lenor.

The Universities Association are holding their ringing week from August 6th to 13th. The tour will be based on Whirlow Grange. near Sheffield. An attractive list of towers has been arranged.

Dr. D. J. Neal Smith after eight years and numerous attempts has just succeeded in ringing a peal in his home tower-All Hallows'. Twickenham. A week later he got his first in the tower in which he learnt to ring-St. Catherine's. Feltham.

Visitors to Hitchin will be pleased to note that the seventh clapper, which has broken three times in the last two years. two of the occasions being local annual meetings, has now heen replaced. The local band achieved their first quarter for nearly two years 10 mark the Royal birth.

Mr. Len Stilwell went to Pulborough. his birthplace and where he learnt to ring,
GOSSIP to attempt a peal of New Cambridge Surprise Major for his 70th birthday on February 20th. Unfortunately this was unsuccessful and the company did honour to the day and the new Royal Prince with a quarter of Stedman Triples. After the ringing the Rector and churchwardens provided a birthday cake, suitably decorated, and other refreshments. To drink the toasts there were two bottles of champagne.

The pal at Harmondsworth (page 64) on January 6th was the first peal on the bells for 22 years.
Mr. H. Rumens, the veteran of the Walthamstow tower. informs us that he has taken every copy of 'The Ringing World ' since its inception.
A number of branches of the Oxford Diocesan Guild are making grants to those members who will be attending the Guild's course at Radley.
Regarding the peal of Pudsey Surprise Major at the Loughborough Bell Foundry on January 30th, this was the 200 th peal of Mr. John Underwood. The asterisk should not have been against the name of Mr. John M. Jelley.

Luton Parish Church ringers for the Royal event, according to the Luton Saturday Telegraph." rang a quarter peal of • 1,259 Change Grand Cicators.' Writes our correspondent: "Something for the highbrows to get their teeth into.'

Canon Last. Rector of Great Horwood. Bucks, and chairman of the Central Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, took part in his first quarter "inside" at Great Horwood on January 31st. When he came in 1958 he could only ring a plain course of Grandsire: now he has mastered four methods. He is the first Rector of Great Horwood to be a ringer and the first branch chairman to ring a çuarter.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

The Royal Birth grave  Ringers the opportumity to show their ability

THHIS issue of "The Ringing World' is being devoted very largely to the recording of the ringing which took place on Friday, February 19th, and subsequent days to express the happiness of the nation on the birth of a son to our gracious Queen. Elizabeth II.
The story we present is very different from that of the national or provincial Press. It is presented as viewed from the belfry, told to ringers and largely ahout ringers

In the Metropolis on Friday evening there was ringing at St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey and the Parish Church to Buckingham Palace, St. Martin-in the-Fields. From the Curfew Tower of Windsor Castle on that evening Mr. F. T. Blagrove called a peal of Parker's Twelve-part of Grandsire Triples. For the conductor there was additional personal happiness. as 48 hours previously he became the father of his first child

First Bells

In the village of Broadchalke, near Salisbury. the bells were being rung for the birth of the Prince three minutes and 15 seconds after the announcement was made on the wireless. The Broadchalke ringers (a new and very keen band. recently affiliated to the Salisbury Diocesan Guild) think they may have led the country in ringing.

This was certainly before the Westminster Abhey bells were ringing. As they were being raised a B.B.C. commentator gave over the wireless that he could hear four of the Abbey bells heing rung 10 a peal. The royal quarter peal at the Abbey was not rung until the following day and, as is usual, the method was Stedman Triples.

Before leaving Westminster we must record an unusual happening at the neighbouring church of St. Margaret, where royal occasions are always faithfully observed. On the Sunday the ten bells were rung to a quarter peal, and the hand included Brian Story, from Basingstoke, who was ringing his first quarter on ten. By a chance coincidence his brother Robin also rang his first quarter on ten on these bells, and this was also a rayal occasion, on May 15th, 1954. Both these quarters were Stedman Caters and were conducted by Mr. W. Hewett, one of the famous London veterans.

First Peal

Oxford University Society can probably claim to have rung the first peal for the royal baby. A start was made about half-an-hour after the radio announcement at the University Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, and the peal of Surprise Minor was completed in 3 hours and 32 minutes. This was the first peal rung in full term on the bells since 1952. when a fullymufled peal was rung for the death of King George VI by a band of undergraduates, as was the case in the present peal.

One of the early peals was at St. Mary's, Slough, and Plain Bob Royal was rung with double significance. The same day as the royal Prince was born. Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Blundell, two members of the hand, had the gift of twin sons.

New Methods

Worksop. Nolts, ringers must have been inspired to essay Edinburgh Delight Minor for their peal attempt as a tribute to the most popular father in the land. They succeeded and have the honour of ringing the first peal in the method.

Another appropriate new method to be recorded is Sandringham Surprise Major. This was rung at Spalding on February 19th.

Mr. Jack L. Millhouse, at Lincoln, also had something new for the Lincoln Diocesan Guild with a peal of Berkshire Surprise Major, selected especially because Windsor Castle is situated in Berkshire.

In recent years the Hertford County Association have added extensively to the naming of Surprise methods. As their contribution to the royal occasion they presented Aspenden Surprise, named after the tower in which it was rung and conducted by the versatile Claudia $\mathbf{A}$. Critchley.

Two Ladies With 600 Peals  This week we record that two ladies have rung their 60uth peal - Mrs. J. Thomas, ar Hinton-on-the-Green, on February 15th, and Mrs. F. J. Marshallsay, who conducted a peal of Grandsire Triples for the royal birih on February 191h in her home tower, St. Peter's, Bourremourh.  The record of the most peals ring by a lady was held by the late Mrs. Phyllis Poote, with 677. These two ladies have mosi peals by those of their sex now living.

‘jinxed’ Bells

Perhaps the most notable Royal Baby pcal was at Sully, Glamorgan. This ring was augmented to five in 1880 and hung in a poorlybuilt wooden frame. Between the bad design of the frame, the wear and tear and the death watch heetle. these bells are in none too happy a condition: indeed. Messrs. John Taylor and Co. have recommended that they be rung as little as possible.

However, the Rector felt that the ringers were justified in having what will probably be the final peal attempt. There have been many failures in the past on these 'jinxed' bells, and it was most gratifying that the first peal on them was brought round without a hitch.
Working on his bell, as in fact all the band had to, was Alan Thompson, who had never rung a peal or a quarter before. He made a notable start. An interested spectator was 12-year-old Keith Havard, who has started ringing. He sat in the ringing chamber throughout the peal without moving or speaking.

From Cumberland the greetings were given by the hells of Cleator Moor, where a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung. This was the first peal by local ringers of the Cumberland and Westmorland Asivociation on the bells since 1935. The peal also marked the 50 th anniversary of the recasting and attgmenting of the bells.

Youngest Conductor

We think John S. Clark, of Chapel Allerton. Yorks, who celebrated his 14th birthday on February 19th. can claim to be the youngest to call a quarter peal for the arrival of the royal baby.
There are. however, other young ringers in the news. Twelve-year-old Marion Greaves, who has learnt to ring since her father came to Rougham, Suffolk, as rector last Septemher, put up a very creditable performance in her first attempt for a quarter peal. Her companion; June Wright (13), also rang her first 'inside.' This was rung before they had had tea. They then went on 13 miles to ring at Preston St. Mary. We shall hear more about these young enthusiasts.

West Hartlepool had four teenagers ringing their first peal on the same day. It was a proud moment for Mr. W. Maughan, the tower captain, who conducted. when he said: 'And that is all.'

Pat's Contribution

Trust Mr. A. P. Cannon to find something unusual for the occasion. He rang two peals in Oxfordshire on the Saturday. The one at South Stoke, where four of the six bells date from 1633. was the first peal on the bells. Local appreciation was expressed to the ringers by Mr. Tozer, the churchwarden, entertaining the band at the village inn. Both he and the Vicar (Rev. R. E. Price) congratulated the band on their splendid striking.

The Evesham celebrities went to Mickleton. Gloucester, for the happy event. Here Mr. Gerald C. Hemming called Cambridge Surprise with a band that contributed five footnotes.

From Devon

In the little church at Luppitt, Devon, a meritorious performance has been submitted by the local band, who rang their first peal. It contained five first peals, including the conductor's (Mr. C. Churchill).

On February 20th a picked team of members of the South West Branch of the Devonshire Guild of Ringers visited the church of St. Martin, Lewannick. Cornwall, which has a lovely ring of six, the tower overlooking the Cornish Moors.

The team succeeded in ringing 5,040 Grandsire Doubles and throughout the peal some good striking was done. After the peal they were entertained by the captain and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Martin, and the team extend grateful thanks for their hospitality, which was very much appreciated.
The bells of Wiveliscombe, Somerset. were 'fired' in a royal salute prior to the ringing of a yuarter peal on February 19th.

Another company to express their felicitations by a peal by their own band was that of St James-the-Great. Shirley. Warwickshire.

Cathedral Peals

Cathedrals in which peals were rung were Birmingham, Bradford, Bristol. Chichester, Derby, Guildford, Leicester, Lichfield. Southwark and Worcester. Quarter peals were rung at Gloucester and Manchester, and for the Roman Catholic Church from Buckfast Abbey. where three of the monks took part.

The peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Guildford was a "feather in her hat for sixih former Janet Cleeve, who rang the zhird-probahly the most difficult bell in the cower.

While on cathedrals. we note that a quarter was rung at Rochester Cathedral. where the hells have just been rededicated. It was conducted by Mr. W. A. J. Knight, who was celebrating his 6Sth birthday.

Writing about birthdays reminds us that the peal at Lavenham. Suffolk, on February 20th was conducted on his birthday by Mr. Maurice T. Symonds.

Theological College Students

Two members of Ely Theological College joined ringers of St. Mary's Parish Church. Ely, in a spontaneous quarter peal on Fehruary 19 th Other members of the College band in training had helped in the celebration by ringing in rounds and call-changes, and for them it was their first public ringing occasion

The St. Mary's band consists largely of teenagers who have been trained during the past Iwo years by Mr. J. W. Pickett, Ringing Master, and who ring Grandsire regularly for Sunday services. Mr. Barry Bass was the teenage representative in the birthday quarter, and the band included two veterans, Mr. E. G. Pipe and Mr. George Vale. Mr. Vale, who started ringing in 1898 has an ambition to continue ringing until 1967, when he and his father between them will have completed 100 years' service in the same tower.
Ely Theological College has included ringing as an extra-curricula activity for the past two years, under the instruction of Mr. Pickett, Mr. John Warwick (College Ringing Master last year) and Mr. Peter Hirst (College Ringing Master). The Rev. John Vine, acting principal, granted two of the College ringers leave of absence from their evening's study in honour of the occasion.

The College's

Congratulations

The College of Campanology sent the following telegram, signed by its president:-

- For your Gracious Majesty and H.R.H. the Prince Philip, on this most happy occasion of, and for, the birth of the new Prince. with their humble duty in loyal greeting, and with their offering of all best wishes, the Officers and Members of the College of Campanology take pleasure in the privilege of celebrating, with other ringers, this joyous event by the special ringing of church bells throughout the land.'
The following gracious reply from the Private Secretary has been received:-

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh sincerely thank the Officers and Members of the College of Campanology for their kind message of congratulations on the birth of a son to Her Majesty and His Royal Highness.'

Rang Two Bells

Mr. T. Chapman. who conducted the quarter of Grandsire Triples at Bishopstoke. Hants, on February 19 th, rang two bells-the second and third.
At Stafford Mr. Brian Wylde composed a guarter of 1.259 Grandsire Caters for the soyal occasion, which was successfully called by him.

At Burford, ringing in a yuarter peal in honour of the event was Mrs. C. Hall and her datughter, Brend:t, who started to learn the art in January, 1959. Her son, B. W. Hall. was also ringing.
Quick off the mark to announce the birth was Sapcote. Leicestershire. Within 17 minutes of the news beiny received by radio a band was collected, the flag hoisted, the bells raised, then - fired, followed hy 120 Plain Bob Minor. A guarter peal was rung in the evening.

The quarter of Grandsire Triples at Charlion Kings, near Cheltenliam, on Fehruary 19th was the tirst by a resident band for 23 years. Two young ringers were ringing their first quarter and another her first "inside.
Two peals were rung hy the Richmond band at Breniford in the week of the irrival of the royal hahy.

Also Thoughts On  Football

Although the quarter peal rung at Sheifield Cathedral was to celebrate the birth of the new Prince, there were other celebrations among the Cutlers. The success of the Wednesday and the United in the fifth round for the F.A. Cup increased the urge to celcbrate. There are foothall fans to be found in belfries.
Christ Church, Epsom, lost heir peal attempt for the royal birth and had to be content with a quarter peal.

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE - No. 10

MR. A. C. HAZELDEN

Convener, C.C. Biographies Committee

Mr. A. C. Hazelden was born at Sevenoaks on May 24th. 1876 (Queen Victoria's birthday), in the days when little schooling and long hours of work were the lot of most youngsters. His parents used to jokingly say that the bells were being rung specially for his birthday, not Queen Victoria's! He left school seven weeks before his 12 h birthday, and began a period of fulltime work, which continued until his retirement in 1944.

He first learned to ring at Sundridge, but in 1987 his work took him to Seal Chart, where there was a change-ringing band taught by the late F. G. Newman. He obtained more experience in the art by attending practices at Westerham and Tonbridge, and rang his first peal at Seal Chart in 1900. This was in three Minor methods, conducted by the late Tom Groombridge.

In that year he moved to Guildford and was soon ringing with such men as Jim Hunt, A. H. Pulling and Charles Willshire. He rang many peals with them, including the first of Stedman Caters by a Guildford hand, the first of London Surprise by the Winchester. Guild and the first of Bristol Surprise in Surrey. He has no complete record of his peals, but they total about 200.

His work in Guildford was in motor engineering, and in 1919 he was put on the salaried staff of his firm, and subsequently handled valuable contracts for many English cities and other great cities all over the world.
In 1927 he helped J. S. Goldsmith to found the Guildford Diocesan Guild, and when in 1932 a Diocesan Guild library was commenced, he became its librarian and still holds that position. He was elected to the Central Council in 1930, and in 1939 was placed on the Biographies Committee, becoming its convener after the deaths of W. A. Cave and J. S. Goldsmith. Mr. Hazelden has a fund of amusing stories of the older generation, including one of the late Challis F. Winney, who called the first peal of Stedman at Ranmore Common. In 1902 he went to Ashtead to call Lates' Oncpart. After ringing three courses, Winney called 'Stand.' He then sat down and said: I shall have to learn this peal.' After a few minutes study the ringing recommenced, and a fine peal resulied!

JAFUS.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

The Beds and Northants District of the Ladies Guild have appointed Miss Kathleen Rivett as Secretary in the place of Mrs. Anne Stainshy, who recently left the district. Mrs. Mary Mann succeeded Miss Shelagh Collins as Vice-President.
The Calverley St. Wilfrid's (Yorks) tower looks as though it will soon have a team of. Peters. There is Peter Dawson the secretary. Peter Lumley, Peter Clayton (who two weeks ago rang his first 720 to qualify for membership of the Yorkshire Association) and a new recruit in Peter Walker who is at present learning bell control with rounds and call changes. But you should see the confusion when someone shouted. 'Lead, Peter."

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Five new members were elected at the monthly meeting of the Barnsley District, held at Earlsheaton, near Dewshury, on February 13th. A warm welcome was extended hy the Vicar (Rev. D. Baldwin), who presided, and at the conclusion of his first meeting with the Society, in responding to a vote of thanks to the excellent tea and local arrangements, hoped the Society would come again. He had just started to take up ringing. The next meeting will be at Crofton, near Wakefield, on March 2nd. During the meeting the members stood in silence in memory of Mr. Harry Roberts, of Kirkburton, who died on January 9th. A tribute was afterwards paid to him by Mr. J. W. Buxton.

Tips For Beginners- 10

If in ringing Plain Bob Major you have acutired the knack of recognising your course bell and your after bell, you can apply this experience to Double Narwich. On the front or at the back you only meef your course bell, or your after bell. or the treble. As the wreble never dodgess you can always be certain when and with whom you dodge at the from or the back - your course bell before lying. your alier bell after lying.

Rochester Cathedral Bells Rededicated

The rehung ten at Rochester Cathedral were rededicated and declared open by the Dean (R: Rev. W. Stannard) at the close of choral Evensong on February 20th. A company of nearly 50 was present at tea, when the Dean gave a welcome and said he hoped to meet the ringers on many future occasions.
The tower was open to all in the evening and about 60 ringers look advantage of this. Methods ranged from Grandsire and Siedman Caters. Plain Bob Royal to rounds for learners The bells were voted a wonderful joh, and the thanks of the Cathedral band were extended to John Taylor and Co. in the person of Mr. J. P. Fidler, who was largely responsible for the design.

THE RINGING OF CHURCH BELLS FOR SUNDAY SERVICES

EXTRACTS FROM A REPORT BY THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

TTHE importance of the latily in maintaining the C'burch's life is being stressed today more firmly, and in perhaps a greater variety of ways. thitn ever before.

The purpose of this document, which is heing sent to the Bishops, Archdeacons. and other leading Churchmen of England, is to draw attention to a great and honourable fraternity (mainly consisting of laymen and laywomen. within the Church). which has been serving for many centuries.

It could be giving far hetter service than it is today. Although it is well organised and well led. its leadership and its Church connection could be much improved. The compilers of this document would be grateful if you lind it possible to co-operate with them in attaining such improvement.

The thousands of bells in our churches form one of our most valuable assets on the mere financial level. The ringers of England. numbering ahout 40.000 . form an immense human potential. The sound of Church bells seems to touch the hearts of Church folk and of ol 'siders more than any other ecclesiastical voice. Are we using this great power as well as we might? Will you be good enough to help us to make better use of it?

THE BACKGROUND TO THE REPORT

It has heen suggested that bellringing in this country is a dying art. This is not so, but there are still too many churches where the bells are not heard regularly. or where the standard of tringing is poor.
The Central Council of Curcch Bell Ringers recenily set up a sub-committee to investigate. hy. means of Nationall surrey, the exem tol which thio belle in our schurches are cerequarty runge for service on Sundays: to find what dificulties prevent regular ringing in siome places. and to sugesil possibie methods of improving service ringing tiroughout the conntry.

But there is, need for an positice and Itfanice antimamion of why the bells are hung in towers. why they are rune for evicice and what parit ihey, ploy, in the churchis ifie and winess: It does stanly manter that some becles arce no rung on Sundy, Unless tingect. clecery and conereations all cuually hold this convecion the druving force is is lacking:

IMPORTANT ASPECT OF THE PROBILEM The Bells

Bells which are difficult to ring, and poor helfry conditions. are very serious handicaps which are often difficult to overcome. They make it impossible to teach newcomers and thus prevent the formation of a hand of ringers, or cause the slow loss of the existing band. In spite of the enthusiasm and efforts of the local ringers to maintain the bells in a ringable condition. the services of a bell hanger may be required. Local Association Officers and the appropriate Officers of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers are qualified and willing to give voluntary advice on these matters on request. The Secretary of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers will be pleased to answer any enquiries.
Thie Ringers
One of the most important points is obtaining a good leader for a band. He should be a good ringer. able to insist on high standards of ringing and conduct, and regular and nunctual attendance. He should. if possible. be a good instructor and he should be a good churchman.
A flourishing band is usually one in which the regular recruitment and training of learners continues. In these days of frequent removals and National Service. and losses due to marriage. shiftwork, homework and night school. regular recruiting is essential. and bands which have no time for beginners. or no capahle instructors. will sonn hreak up. Though recruitment from within the Church is preferable. it should be remembered that many young people are brought into the Church via the belfirv.
It is likely that local ringing associations can do more than they have done hitherto bv helping in the teaching of beginners if they are asked to do so
A flourishing band is also one which has a sense of helonging to the Church and parish. Friendly and close relations between ringers and incumbent and Church officers. and with the whole congregations are a tremendous encouragement to the ringers. One of the things often mentioned hy ringers in the survey was the need to foster and sometime. improve these relations.

The Church

Fncouragement and active help from incumbent. Church officers and congregation are needed by every band. On a larger scale. helter contacts between Ringing Associations. Deaneries. Archdeaconries and Diocese: would enable help to be given to those towers where the hells are seldom or never rung. Publicity in Church newspapers. Diocesan magazines and parish magazines is invaluable.
WHAT THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS IS DOING NOW
(a) Preparing a booklet on belfry organisation, recruitment. relations with the rest of the parish, etc. This hooklet will 引list olfer I advice on reliable and tried methods of establishing a hand of ringers where none at present exists.
(h) Establishing contact with Theological Colleges through the local ringing Guilds and Associations to provide periodical lectures on bells and their care and use and. if desired. tuition in hell ringing for students at Theological Colleges.
(c) Offering advice 10 any individual or orgunisation who asks lor guidance on any matter concerning Surday service any matter concerning Sulday service ringing.
(d) Investigating the possibility of ohtaining the co-operation of Local Education Authorities in providing courses in hell ringing. Such courses could cover all aspects of Church bell ringing or be designed 10 suit local needs.

Your Help

If your require advice or assistance to start or improve ringing in your parish. get in touch with your local association of ringers. If you have any unusual or insuperable difficulties, or comments. or questions. please write either to your local association or direct to the Secretary of the Ceniral Council of Church Bell Ringers at the address helow.
Any suggestions you can make to improve Sunday service ringing will he gratefully received.

NOTE.-We have received many requests for copies of this report that was very widely circulated to bishops and other Church officials. including theological colleges, and as the supply of leaflets is exhausted the report is published for record and general interest.-Ed.

JOINT UNIVERSITY MEETING

There was a good attendance of members and visitors at the joint meeting of the Sheffield University and Leeds University Guilds held on February 20th. Ringing took place at Pontefract in the afternoon, when the eight bells of All Saints' were put to good use in a number of meihods-Plain Boh. Grandsire. Litlle Boh. Kent, Stedman. Double Norwich and Cam-bridge-the highlight heing a touch of Stedman, duly recorded for posterity by a member's laperecorder.
After tea in Pontefract a move was made by c:ar and hus (for the less fortunate) to Wragbv. Much to everyone's anlusement and the joung conductress's ohvious discomiort, one member. slating his destination, was charged hali fare. It did not speak much for the beard he has taken great pains to cultivate these past few weeks!
Ringing took place on the pleasant six of St. Michael's, situated in the grounds of Nosteli Priory. to the usual methods, plus touches of Double Oxford, Cambridge. St. Clement's and Merchants Return. Proceedings came to an abrupt end when Sir Rowland Winn, twelfth baron of Nostell and Lord-in-waiting to the Queen, entered the belfry, and assuming we were ringing for the royal birth, and no serious attempt being made to inform him otherwise. invited the Sheffield secretary to accompany him to the pub for a crate of ale as reward. John. remariking it was not every day he was invited to ride in a lordship's car, obediently complied.
Thanks are due to the people who met us and to the secretaries for excellent arrangements. and not the lea:t in Sir Rowland! K. A.

The Rector and ringers of Ash. Surreyknowing that the ringers of Aldershot had no bells-sent them the freedom of Ash tower on February 20th so that they could ring in honour of the Royal baby. The offer was gratefully accepted.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NOISE ABATEMENT BILL

Dear Sir-I read in 'The Guardian' last week that a Noise Abatement Bill was before Parliament and that it had received a second reading. There was a list of exempted noises but I did not see Church Bell Ringing on it. I wonder what the position will be if the Bill is passed in its present form? No doubt the Central Council is guarding our interests for it would be awful to wake up one morning and find that an Order in Council made under the Act prohibited all peal ringing for example. It could happen. you know
At present we have a legal right to ring for reasonable periods. but it would be all too easy for these rights to be accidentally extinguished by later legislation. - Yours sincerely, WILLIAM PARROTT

Epsom.

LLANBLETHIAN BELLS

Dear Sir.-I was most interasted to read the letter forwarded by Mr. R. J. Lee, of Chester. concerning the bells of Llanblethian Church.

Mr. Lee was the driving force behind his very youthful band of workers, which did such excellent and efficient work on these bells and the tower. both inside and out. for wihch the church authorities were very grateful.

However. I must correct him when he says that. "the church authorities state that they cannot afford the cost of six new bell ropes. It is possible. that he was told by someone locally, words to that effect. but at no time during recent years has the question of six new bell ropes been discussed by the local church authority

This church has at present one or two major problems on its hands. and until these have been dealt with. the authority concerned feels that it cannot for the time being embark upon anything further which will entail added expense.

The Rev. E. O. T. Lewis, Rector of Llanblethian and Vicar of Cowbridge, has read the correspondence about these bells. and has asked me to convey his sincere thanks to Messrs. Joseph Bryant. Lid.. of Bristol. for their very generous offer in an attempt to raise the necessary money for six new bell ropes. But he regrets that this offer and others he has received cannot be accepted at present.-Yours faithfully.

THE ROTHWELL PEAL

Dear Sir, -- It is, of course, true that the band concerned did not travel to Rothwell purposely to honour the memory of any Bolshevik revolutionary. It is hioh time that this practice of thinking up a footnote for a peal report, usually after the peal has been rung. ceased. I do not wish to suggest that all commemorative footnotes originate in this way: obviously they donil but if there must be a footnote. at latst let it be one which does not offend in any way

If this particular footnote was taken seriously: it would be nothing more or less than sacrilegious. the bells having heen dedicated to God. to be rung to His Glory and for no other purpose. This footnote could be reasonably interpreted as an ascription 10 the Glory of Satan!
We are fortunate in having Canon Turner. the Vicar of Rothwell. as our Guild president. He is a priest who understands ringers and their ways better than most of his brethren. but he should not be expected to tolerate such behaviour as this. When, as in this case. the newspapers get hold of such stuff. nothing but harm is done to the Church and the cause of ringing.

Mr. Brian Austin criticises the hand for not inviting the local ringers 10 take part in the neal. This criticism should be levelled at the organiser. if anyone, but I would not like members of other Guilfs and Associations to think that we in the Peterborough Diocese will only welcome them for peals if we are included in the band!-Yours sincerely.

PATRICK I. CHAPMAN
Master, Peterborough Diocesan Guild.

A READER'S QUESTIONS

Dear Sir.-I would be grateful if someone could tell when the last peal and last quarter peal were rung at St. Matthew's, Lightcliffe.

Also. could someone please tell me whether it is in order or not to ring bells muffled on a Sunday, and whether it is correct or not to fly the Union Jack on State occasions. in preference 10 the St. George's flag. from a church tower? I have heard arguments on both sides of both these questions.

For those who wish to keeep. Dove's Guide up to date. here are a few points about some local towers. I regret to say that for nearly a year there have been no bands at St, John's, Cleckheaton, and Christ Church, Liversedge (both listed as practising on Mondays). The bells of St. John's. Bradford. are unringable. On visiting Saltaire Congregational Chapel. I discovered. to my amazement. that the bells have disappeared. It appears that they were sold for scrap in about 1948. -Yours faithfully.
G. D. ARMITAGE.

PEALS OF MAJOR AT WOOLTON
Dear Sir.-With regard to the note printed in "Belfry Gossip. stating that the peal of - Bob Major rung at Woolton. Lancs.. was the first of Major rung on the bells for 30 years.

I took part in a peal there of Oxford Treble Boh Major ' on March 15th. 1947 this being my first pail of Major. I rang the 2nd.

The peal also included R. G. Edwards and was conducted by the late J. C. E. Simpson. It was, I believe. rung half muffed. - Yous sincerely.

RINGERS AMONG STAFFORDSHIRE GIRL GUIDES

TEBRUARY 21st (Sunday) will be remembered with much pleasure by the people of Cannock. Staffs. For on this day the bells of Si. Luke's Church were rung by a band of girls who are all members of the 1st Cannock Troop of Girl Guides. The only help given was by a member of the local band ringing the tenor.
The girls, before attending the service of Holy Eucharist. rang the bells in Rounds. Queens and Call Changes. They then rang again for Mattins, which was attended by about 500 Girl Guides and Boy Scouts. This parade was 10 celebrate the Jubilee of the Guides. (1910-1960)
Some of the girls started to learn bell ringing last September and the remainder joined them in November. All are now showing every promise for the future. Two are now able to ring Grandsire Doubles without any assistance. They all are now hoping to qualify for the Guide's Ringing Badge.

Those in the picture are (left to right) Susan Devy (12), Shelagh Guthrie (13). Judith Homeshaw (15). Jenny Wilkes (13). Marion Bird (13). Diane Allman (15). Margaret Guthrie (14). Christine Yapp (13). Ann Griffiths (13). Sandra Borley (11), and Mrs. P . Griffiths (Guide Captain): Also in the picture is G. Bradbury, captain of St. Luke's Ringers, who, together with Messrs. A. Armstrong and E. Borley, taught the girls.

RINGING AND COMPUTORS

Dcor Sir, - Like Messrs. Tomlinson and Hughes, I have also played around with the use of an electronic romputor in conncction with change ringing. In my case the computor concerned was yet another type, the Ferranti - Mercury. As an exercise for myself after attending a coding course for the machine, I outlined a general purpose programme to get the computor to print out any number of changes given certain basic data. These comprised the half-lead of the method given more or less in place notation. the places made all cach half lead. and. if required. the composition of the touch and the method of making the bob singlc. Because of cost considerations. I have not had the opportunity of running the programme ilirough the computor.

Although it proved to be a relatively simple matter to programme a computor to print out the changes in a touch. there is obviously linle point in pursuing this aspect of ringing and computors. other than for personal interest among those with knowledge of ringing and computors.

Like Mr. G. A. Hughes. 1 then went on to consider using a computor for proving peals. Again this could easily be done, given time and money. but would probably be slow in lerms of the rate the machine can work at if required. I feel. therefore that it would not be practical politics at this stage to consider using a computor to prove any peal submitted. This is really only using the commutor's capabilities in a destructive sense. as if it composition fed into the machine proves false. this fact will just be indicated and nothing further done about it.

There are, I feel certain. other ringing problems in which a computor could be used with great advantage. The sort of thing I have in mind is the compilation of the complete list of Surprise Major methods in place notation, together with their false course ends. It should be possible to feed the computor with a programme that would enable this to be done purely automatically. including working out what place has to be made when the treble is lying in order to give Plain Bob lead ends. How useful would such a list be even if it had to be restricted. say. to those methods that only restricted. say, to those methods that only contained places made right'? It might also be possible to use the computor 10 composc peals of a somewhiat stereotyped kind. which woud be constrained to be true. This approach might have its uses with peals of Spliced Surprise by producing a number of simple peals on the London/Cambridge/London basis using different callings and methods.

Although the cost of computor time is usually very high. it may at times prove usually very high. it may at times prove possible to obtain a limited amount of free time on one. if it is lightly loaded. and the owners feel that the particular use envisaged will hring them some prestige. I therefore feel that this matter should be considered carefully by some Central Council body, nossibly the Methods Committec, to decide in what way the capabilities of a computor could be best used to further the progress of change ringing. Advice would be required on wint could or could not be done by the machine. and I am sure that any of those who have contribu:ed to this correspondence will be willing to assist in formulating a list of ohjectives. Once the most potentially rewarding problems have been decided. it would then be possible to make a firm approach to the owner of a computor to see if it would be possible to use it if it is free at any lime. Then the real work of preparing the actual programme for the machine concened could start.-Yours faithfully.

Middlesbrough. P. W. B. SEMMENS.

Dear Sir-I have followed with great interest the recent correspondence on Ringing and Computors, since. while learning to programme a Ferranti : Mercury computor. I wrote a change-ringing programme as an exercise. This provided facilities for printing and for 'ringing the changes by the appropriate selection for control switches, and - rang rounds until a " 90 ' signal was given, coming to a halt when rounds again came up.
It is comparatively simple to programme methods in the same way as mary are published. i.e.. by giving the places made at each change in a half-lead. and also compositions in the same notation as is normally used, with spliced compositions only being sliphtly more complex in programming.

On the question of proving compositions. however. the picture is rather more gloomy. Most of the large digital machines have memory stores large enough to "memorise every change in a peal as it is formed in the computor, but to compose cach change with each of the preceding changes would require a prohibitive amount of time. since. for example. to prove a peal of 5.040 changes by this method over twelve million comparisons would be required! Considerable parisons would be required! Considerable by comparing each change only with changes commencing with the same bell. but. even so. the cost would be considerable. Comparison of lead-ends only would improve things considerably. since in this case the number of checks woud be a great deal smaller. and the computor need not work out each change. hut could be programmed to "prick" only lad-ends.

Unfortunately I must confess I know nothing of the systems of checking involving false course-ends. but I have no doubt these would reduce the time required considerably.
Incidentally. for those who may know the - Mercury computor. my trial programme used the Autocode ; system for producing the changes, and conventional machine instructions in . PIG 2, code for producing the musical tones on a loudspeaker, and I can assure Mr. Harris that it is quite simple to produce the "very rude noise he requests on this machine, as was discovered inadvertently by a friend (also a ringer) investigating the use of musical tones in showing the stage reached in a complicated computation. much to his discomfiture and the other programmers present when the error was discovered during a test run!-Yours sincerely.

Abingdon. Berks

S. A. SCOTT.

Dear Sir.-Mr. A. Tomlinson is not alone in his application of changeringing to a computor. One of the engineers of International Computors and Tabulators Lid.. Mr. C. W. Gardiner. programmed one of the computors at Stevenage for Plain Boh and Grandsire. The programme was written 10 test the line-at-a-time printing machine which forms : part of the computor. consequently no effort wis made to produce a musical note, although it would be possible to do so.

As there is no musical sound the process can hardly be described as ringing, but the programming is very intricate. At the lead end a duplicate row is printed alongside. and if a call has been made. the word Bob or Single is added. It is possible to insert calls of the appropriate type as and where they are wanted. 1 could go into greater detail if either the Editor or Mr. Tomlinson wish to know more about the programming techniques.

This wis done partly for pleasure, hut proved of practical usc.
The Information Processing Division of Standard Telephones and Cables. Ltd. used a bell-ringing demonstration at the first Computer Exhibition in November. 1958 . I did not see this, but a leaflet was brought did not see this, but a leaflet was brought back, from which I quote: This demonstration is intended to show that there is a strange connection between a number of problems being tackled on computors, though they have, at first sight. nothing in common... The leaflet explained the essential rules. and showed Singles and Minimus, but the geometric figure on display was apparently showing Douhles by means of lights at the corners of this figure.

To this problem of finding all possible routes are allied problems in secmingly unconnecled fields... When we can say that the paper data tapz being used to run the bell ringing programme has been prepared from a calculation within the computor then we shall have a!so solved part of a number of apparently unrelated problems.
I wrote to Newport, asking for some additional information. but have never had a reply.

In the case of the I.C.T. computor the instructions were fed to a high speed memory drum, and tape was not used, the computor doing all the calculations and lesting against the instructions. - Yours, etc.. J. SANDERSON (Miss)

THE EVESHAM PEAL

Dear Sir.-There is no such rule operating at Eveshan as Mr, Edwards suggests. There never has been. The words 'childish' and - selfish must be very familiar to him as no doubt he can recall one occasion when he did not offer to give up his rope in a tower in which he had rung quite a few peals to enable another ringer to ring a peal in the tower for the first time. What could be more childish or selfish than that. If he has forgotten the occasion I can refresh his memory by private letter.-Yours truly.

AN ALDERSHOT APPEAL

Dear Sir.-The ringers of St . Michael's, Aldershot. have committed themselves to raise the money for the recasting of at least one of the bells. $A$ ringer who was taught to ring at Aldershot has kindly sent a subscription and suggested that perhaps other ringers who were taught here might like to associate themselves with the work.
Also the two trebles are inscribed 'Soldiers" Bells * and were give originally by soldiers in memory of the fallen in the First World War. The military authorities are providing the moncy for the recasting of one of these bells: : perhaps some of the soldiers or exsoldiers who have enjoyed ringing with us during their term of service in Aldershot would like to contribute towards the other onc.--Yours faithfully.

RINGING AT WAKEFIELD 1827-1850

By DAVID CUBITT

Oh how those evening and those morning bells
Resound most sweetly through those Wakefield dells
And how enchanting are they now to me, Those Wakefield bells which ring so charmingly
They tell to me their tales of former days. How can I then but sing their meed of praise?

John Hewitt-Impromptu Lines.
IN the years immediately following the opening of the fine Mears ring of ten bells in 1817. William woodhead built up a band at the Parish Church of All Saints Wakefield, pre-eminent at the time: but after 1826 his name disappears from the reporls of peals in which Wakefield ringers took part. and though others who had rung with him in the first peais of Cambridge Surprise Royal in 1822 and Superlative Surprise Royal in 1826 remained active ringers. the 'golden cra of ringing at Wakefield was over.
On January 20th. 1827, the day of the funeral of the Duke of York, the tenor bells of both All Saints' and St. John's Churche: were tolled at intervals (for ringing the tenor at St. Johns, Proctor Hewitt, Father of the author of the lines at the head of this article, received 5 s .). At $110^{\circ}$ clock that night. the time of the actual interment. St. John's ringers began a muffled touch: and there was mufted ringing at both churches the following day.
The Mears eight at St. John's, however, recyuired altention and the commissioners of the church--then actually a Chapel of Ease to th: Parish Church-paid Messrs. Graham and Haigh $£ 469$ 9s. 9d. for repairs to them. William Woodhead 16s. 'for altering the Bells' and reimbursed Mr. Ashton what he paid the Ringers of the Parish Church on Examining the Bells $\mathfrak{\text { ll.-.-d." The old St. John's ringers }}$ were discharged. heing given $£ 210 \mathrm{~s}$. 6d. 'for ringing 5 Sundays before another Set was fixed upon." In August. 1827. Wakefield ringers competed unsuscessfully at Birstall in a prize ringing which lasted $2 /$ most 24 hours: nor did they appear among the prize winners at a ten-bell contcst at Halifax on April 8th. 1828.

Two peals were rung in 1829. The first was on Sunday: July 19th, the anniversary of Gcorge IV:s coronation, when nine of the All Saints' Society with William Goodier, nf Huddersfield. rang a peal of 5.000 Kent Treble Bob Royal in 3 hours and 17 minutes, composed and conducted by James Hewitt. The second was a peal of 5.112 Grandsire Caters. rung on August 17th in 3 hours and 12 minutes, bv six All Saints’ ringers. three from l.eeds and Thomas Brook. of London. a member of the Seninr Colleme Youths. who conducted a comnosition of a Mr. Marshall, a Junior College Youlh.

BELLS FOR ELECTIONEERING

Henry Brougham -later Lord Brougham and Vaux-eneased in canvassing the countr nrior (a the 1831) election, emoloyed the All Saints' Society to announce. early on the morning of his annearance in Wakefield, the time he would address the townsneople. As a local writer put it: The hells were rung hefnre six oclerk in the mernins: and the cood people of Wakefield jumped out of their beds and assembled in large numhers in the Corn Market to listen to the thrilling socech which Henry Brougham delivered to them in his usual flowery and impressive

There was continuous agitation in the autumn and winter of $1830-31$ for pariection of the first and second Reform Bills The Government resigned when the third Bill was in jeopardy; but the Grey Ministry was reinstated by the King with authority to create such a number of peers as would en sure the passing of the Bill. • The Waketield Journal' of Friday, May 8th, 1832, reported that 'When the news of the recall of Earl Grey arrived in Wakefield by the mail on Wednesday evening, the utmost joy was diffused: a band of music paraded the town : the worthy Vicar of Sandal ordered the bells of his church to ring a merry peal: the Vicar of Wakefield did not follow his example; this, however, did not signify
In the Lords. opposition to the Bill was withdrawn and it received the Royal Assent on June 7th. When the news reached Wakefield 'the bells of the churches in the town and neighbourhood immediately poured forth their melodious pcals . . . The bells at Wakefield ceased their thankful chime somewherc about midnight : those of Sandal. however determined not to be outdone, were ringing out through the night, and were sounding gaily several hours after daybreak on the following day. - ' Wakefield Journal.' (Sandal Magna, then a village a couple of miles south of Wakefield, is now within the Wakefield city houndary. A ring of six hells from the Whitechapel foundry was huns in Sandal Church in 1812.) Shortly after the passing of the Great Reform Bill. the local reformers held a festival in Wakefield and the hells were rung for the event: and when. on December 5th, Daniel Gaskell was returned unopposed as the first Parliamentary representative for the borough. they were heard throughout the day.

THE FUTURE QUEEN PASSES BY
The sound of bells greeted the Duchess of Kent and her daughter-the future Queen Vic-foria-when they passed through the town on September 14th. 1835, on their way south from Harewood House. Their coach was scheduled to stop for a change of horses at the White Hart Inn. where the local geniry were assembled: hut to their chagrin it swept past them and out of town.
Joseph Tebbs died on February 14th. 1836, aged 68 years, and was buried in the gravevards of Leeds Parish Church. He was an outstanding ringer and composer in his day sometime landlord of the Old George. Meadow Lane. Leeds, for many years sergeant-major in the Leeds Volunteers and Militia, and an old friend of Wakefield ringers in general and of William Woodhead in particular.
In 1837 there was ringing for the Princess Victoria's coming of age. for the death of the King. her uncle. on the day she was nroclaimed Queen, and on the days of the horough and West Riding nomination meetings in connection with the General Election. A most serious riot broke out at the West Riding nomination meeting and resulted in lass of life.

COMPLAINTS OVER SERVICE RINGING

In a letter published in the 'Wakefield Iournal of May 4th, 1838, a church ratepayer complained thus of the scrvice ringing at All Saints': 'I understand that the rineers at the old Church. engaged with the Wardens 10 rine as formerly (sic) on Sundays. for a certain salary-if so they are not entitled to he paid. There is an old hook helonging to the Church, where is an agreement to ring the ten Bells and to commence at particular neriods in the morning and afternoon, and the ringers themselves had rules, with certain nenallies. aptinst any zheentee, even to the minule of the clock strikine. What is the case now? Not a Sunday are the ten hells raised together and very seldom more than six. sometimes 7 or 8 , hut these not till 5 or 10 minutes after the stated neriods have elapsed, and then about 20 minutes after another and another bell raised. What follows? Why, they are iarring hell against bell for another 20 min utes. which is one of the greatest anmoyances that can be Worse was to follow. for on February 15th the following year a letter from 'Veritas' was printed lamenting 'the extraordinary period when the bells cease to be rung for the holy purpose of calling the parishioners to serve their Maker and he silent for three months at a time, only to be called into action by a chance wedding or bridal appearance, with the hope of a drunken swill with the money ex-tracted'-but not for such had they heen called into action on December 6th. 1838, for that evening muffled bells were rung in memory of John Wilson, a woolbuyer and member of the All Sainis' Society, who had died threc davs earlier.
Wakefield ringers entered for a prize contest at Huddersfield on Sunday, October 27th. 1839, to commemorate the third anniversary of the onening of the Parish Church therc after rebuilding. Ten teams entered and Manchester and Halifax were the winners.

ROYAL OCCASIONS

William Pulleine had now taken charge of the All Saints' Society and brought new life to it. The Qucen's marriage to Prince Albert of Saxe-Cohurg Gotha on February 10th. 1840. was marked hy a date touch- 1.840 Kent Treble Boh Royal-conducted by Pulteine. At Rothwell, near Leeds. on Sunday, Mav 3rd. 1840. iwo peals of Kent Treble Bob Major were brought round. The first consisted of 5,056 changes rung by the Wakelield All Saints Society in 2 hours and 59 minutes. conducted by Pulleine: the second of 5,0188 changes rung hy a joint Rothwell and $i. John's. Wakefield. band in 3 hours ind 3 min utes, conducted by Benjamin Ely, of Rolliwell. Ouecn Vicloria's first child was born on November 21st. 1840. Two days later a peal of 5.000 Kent Treble Boh Royal was rung at Wakefield by the All Saints. Society. The ocal was composed 'expressly in honour of the hirth of the royal infant' by its conductor, William Pulleine: it was. however, a recomposition of a peal hy W. D. Crofts. The christening of the child was celebrated with 'merry peals.

LORD GRIMTHORPE

The two successful candidates for the West Riding in the election of 1841 -one was Edward Beckett Denison, later Lord Grim-thorpe-were chaired. as was then the custom through Wakefield on the result of the poll heing annolncert, and when the prozession nassed the Parish Church the rinqers. as the local paper nicturesquely put it. "fired volleys of steeple shot.
A peal of 8.000 Kent Treble Boh Maior was rung at Rothwell in 1841 hy three local ingers. three from Wakefield and one each from Leeds and Bradford. The comnosition was by Hugh Wrieht, of Leeds, and the conductor Benjamin Ely. The Wakeficld paper of July 23rd remorted: Many amatcurs who were present on the nccasion expressed their high aporohation of the performance and declared it to he a peal worthy of remark in The annals of chanec ringina. Roth the Wakefield Journal and the ' Leeds Mercury. gave the date of the performance as Mondav. Iuly 19th, hut a peal hoard in the tower gives Sunday. July 18th.
Benjamin Ely and William malleine inined the Leeds ringers at Leeds Parish Church on May 1st. 1842 for the first peal of Cinuues in Yorkshire. 5.148 Grandsire. composed and conducted by Samuel Smalloage. who was later presented with an inscrihed snufthox recording the event. One Leeds nane: gave the time taken very exactly as ? hours and 43 minules and 9 seconds. arding. - Numerous practitioners and lovers of this healthful exercise were in attendance from the surrounding country, all of whom expressed themselves highly delighted with the performance, and the musical and varied tones of this fine neal of hells.: The new 13 hells for, St. Peter's had arrived in Lpeds from Whilechanel on lanuary 21st. 1841, hut it was some months before they were officially opened.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

On February 20th, while London was still rejoicing at the news of the royal birth, the London County Association held its annual general meeting.

During the afternoon ringing took place at the Church of St. John, Waterloo Road, for those who preferred eight bells, but here the ringing was unfortunately curtailed by a broken rope; for those who wished to try a higher number and a greater weight Southwark Cathedral tower was also open. Here ringing ranged from rounds on 12 to touches of Kent Treble Bob Maximus and Stedman Cinques. Members and visitors then took part in the evening service at the Cathedral. which was sung by the choir of St. John's. Redhill.
A buffet tora was served in the dining hall of the Chapter House, and after this the meeting was held in an adjoining room. The chair was taken by the Master, Mr. T. H. Taffender. All existing officers were re-elected for the ensuing year except for the post of assistant secretary No. 2 which, being previously vacant, is now held by Miss M. Powell.

The accounts were presented by the auditors, Messrs. A. D. Barker and F. E. Hawthorne. who incidentally are treasurers of the Oxford Guild and the Cumberlands respectively. The meeting referred to the financial position of 'The Ringing World,' and it was agreed that at donation should be made from the funds.
In the Master's report, which was read by the general secretary (Mr. H. W. Rogers), it was stated that during the past year five peals had been rung-all on ten bells, 20 new members had been elected and five members were known to have died. Four general body meetings had been held, with ringing at eight churches, and the monthly practices had taken place at St. Mary's, Lambeth. The meeting then stood for 30 seconds' silence to the memory of the deceased members.

After various other business items, votes of thanks were expressed to the Provost of Southwark and to other clergy and steeple keepers concerned for the use of the bells. It appeared that handbell ringing is at a low ebb in the Association as the only entry for the Dawe handbell cup was from All Saints', Isleworth, who won it last year. As there were no other entries. this team decided to withdraw in the hope of being able to compete with some other teams next year

After the meeting, ringing took place at the Church of St. George-the-Martyr, Southwark. for about an hour-and-a-quarter before everyone departed in their various directions.

OBITUARY

MR. J. E. TURNER

Mr. John Edmund Turner, who died on February 7th, aged 58, had given very faithful service to his native village, Hambledon, Hants. Herc he worked as a gardener in private service.

At the age of eight he was in the church choir, at 13 he was in the belfry, and then followed 35 years of regular Sunday service ringing for Matins and Evensong. As captain he taught many to ring, and it was with great regret that ill health necessitated his retirement both from ringing and work.
His other services to the village included membership of the P.C.C., and vicar's warden. seeretary of Hambledon Cricket Club for 30 years, a founder member of the Hambledon Brass Band (1919-1933) and a special contable.
Of a quiet, unassuming temperament, coupled with a kindly and generous nature, he was well liked and respected, and bore his affliction with great fortitude.
The Vicar (Rev. S. Nason) conducted the funeral service, and he was buried in the churchyard near the church and bells he loved so well. On Sunday. February 14th, a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung to his memory, with the bells half-muffled, by the local band. comprising Mrs. C. H. Turner, E.S. Lawrence, Mrs. F. Hall, R. J. Turner, C. H. Turner and S. J. Harding.

WELSH VETERANS TRIBUTE TO THE QUEEN

IN honour of the Queen's accession. six L veteran ringers rang a quarter peal of 1.260 Grandsire Doubles at Holy Trinity Church, Llandudno, on February 13th. All the ringers had more than 60 years' experience, and were conducted by Mr . Lewis S . Griffith, of Llandudno. 'Everything went without a hitch; we could have gone on much longer,' said Mr. Griffith at the end of the 45 minutes.

(78) and Walter Grinsell (75), both of Llandudno.

Asked what fascinated them about bellringing, Mr. Powell said: 'Can't really saybut we always turn up at the least excuse.' All said that they spent holidays at towns where there are bell towers.

The veterans, all members of the North Wales Association, regretted that fewer young people were interested in campanology. 'It is a satisfying hobby,' said Mr. Powell, 'but I suppose many young people think it would tie them down too much.'

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

The fourteenth century all-wooden tower of High Halden, with its fine ring of six bells. was the meeting place of some 35 members of the Ashford District on February 20th.
The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. A. R. Gore-Brown. Prayers for the Queen's Majesty and the new royal baby were specially included in the service. Mrs. E. Knight was at the organ. An excellent tea was enjoyed at the Memorial Hall.

At the business part of the meeting eleven new members were elected to the Association.

Ringing was of a high standard, and was under the direction of Mr.S. R. Cooper, the Ringing Master. The highlight of the day was the touch of spliced London and Cambridge which eventually came round.

THE LADIES' GUILD  Southern District

The annual meeting of the Southern District was held on February 13th at Chiddingfold, Surrey, when the adverse weather probably kept members away. At the business meeting Mrs. Hawthorne. of Thames Ditton, was elected as vice-president and Mrs. Christine Harbott ( 20 , The Street. Ashtead) is to continue as secretary. Ringing ranged from Rounds to Cambridge and thanks are due to the Rector of Chiddingfold for conducting the Guild Service and for the use of his hells. Also to the Vicar of Witley, where ringing was enjoyed until 8 p.m.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT

An enthusiastic group from the Todmorden area attended the Sheffield and District Society meeting on February 6th at Ecclesfield, when a good standard of ringing was maintained in methods up to Yorkshire Surprise Major, During a discussion about the Course to be held at Grantley Hall, Mr. D. N. Stables, who had attended other courses there, strongly recommended anyone interested to apply as early as possible as places on the Course were rapidly being filled.

The possibility of holding a ringing festival at Rotherham and district towers on August Bank. Holiday was discussed. It was the unanimous wish of the meeting to send greetings to Mr. H. David Holland and Miss Pauline Eyre, two members of the Society, who were married that day at Handsworth, Sheffield.

LIGHTCLIFFE, YORKS

St. Matthew's, Lighteliffc, refute the allegation that ringing is a dying art, since their hand was formed in September, 1958. Ringing takes place twice on Sundays and practices on Wednesday. Although the present repertoire is only rounds and call changes, the band of eight ringers and two probationers are hopeful of better things and are grateful to Mr . Harry Renshaw, of Brighouse, for his help on practice nights.

The first formal meeting of the company was held on February 17th at the Vicarage with the Vicar in the chair. Officers elected were: Ringing master, Tony Southgate: deputy ringing master, Carol Marsden; steeple-keeper, David Hooson; secretary, Geoffrey D. Armitage.

PERSONAL

- P TEACHER IS TAUGHT

Sir,-As a beginner. may I, through the medium of your columns, show my appreciation and thanks for the tolerance and patience of the company of ringers at the Parish Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Mansfield, Notts, during the last two months: during the first forinight to Mr. J. Robinson (captain), for personal tuition in his own lime, and afterwards at the practice nights to ALL the members. I realise now I must have taken a considerable amount of their time. in which they would have used to practise methods it's apparently going to take me years o learn.-Yours sincerely.

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

A year of continued progress was reported at the annual meeting of the Beverley and District Ringing Society, held at St. Mary's Church, Cottingham, on February 13th. The adverse weather conditions affected the attendance, but 27 ringers were present.

Tlec eight bells were rung to a wide variety of methods during the afternoon and evening, under the guidance of the Ringing Master. Mr. J. M. Harrop. A short service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. Mark Green), who warmly welcomed the Society. Tea was served in King Street Rooms, and was followed by the annual business meeting, at which the president (Mr. A. E. Sellers) took the chair.

The paid-up membership of the Sociely has now reached the century mark, representing 24 lowers. Thirteen new members joined the Society during the year, and there has been in improvement in the financial position, a greatly increased balance being carried forward to 1960 . Mr. Harrop was congratulated on the constructive criticism of his Ringing Master's report, which called for an improved standard of striking and suggested how this could be achieved.
Officers elected were: President, Mr. A. E. Sellers (Beverley Minster): vice-president, Mr. H. Parker (Bridlington): Ringing Master. Mr J. M. Harrop (Howden) ; assistant Ringing Master. Mr. D. Johnson (Kirk Ella): secretary and treasurer. Mr. K. Kirk (Kirk Ella) : assistant secretary, Mr. I. Goldthorpe (Kirk Ella) : committee, Messrs. F. Dale (Hessie), R. Ducker (Sutton-on-Hull). J. Parker (Bridlington). © Robinson (Sutton-on-Hull) and A. Taylor (St. Mary's, Beverley).
Thanks were accorded to Mr. F. Wilkinson (Pocklington), who retired from the committee after 12 years' service.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Southern Branch

The annual meeting of the Southern Branch at Diss on February 6th was altended by over 50 members and friends from Norfolk and Suffolk. The Rector, the Rev. L. O Kenyon. conducted the service. Dr. P. Jonason reading the lesson and Rev. Ivan Bailey. formerly a ringer at Diss. gave the address. Dr. P. H. A. Jonason presided at the meeting, supported by Revs. L. O. Kenyon and Ivan Bailey, Mr. W. Love (general secretary) and Mr. H. W. Barrett (Association Ringing Master)
In his review of the year Dr. Jonason spoke of the need to recruit more members. and also hoped that ringing to celebrate the royal birth would lake place in as many towers as possible. The Ringing Master and Secretary also gave reports on the year's activities.
The officers elected for 1960 were: Chairman. Dr. P. H. A. Jonason: Ringing Master Mr. W. G. Saunders ; secretary, Mr. C. F. W. Phillippo: Standing Committee. Messrs. F. C Arnold and H. Fuller: Branch Committce. Miss B. Syrett and Messrs. H. Moss. L. Last. F. Roper and C. R. Catchpole.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Rector, to Rev. 1. Bailey and Mr. A. G. Harrison for arranging the meeting.

Ringing ranged from rounds to Yorkshire Surprise and continued till 9 p.m. Next meeting Pulham St. Mary on April 23 rd.

'ALL YE PARTIES WERE WOOLCOMBERS'

By ERNEST MORRIS

THE record of a peal of St. Blaise Doubles to mark the Festival of St. Blaise, (p. 117) is interesting and worthy of more than a passing notice. St. Blaise or Blasius (died A.D. 316) was Saint, Bishop and Martyr. According to legend he was Bishop of Sebaste, Cappadocia, and suffered martyrdom under Licinius by being torn with an iron comb and then beheaded. He thus became the patron saint of weavers and woolcombers, and in Western art appears in the vestments of a Bishop, and his peculiar emblem is an iron comb, such as used by woolcombers. Three churches in England are dedicated to him, and his name appears in the calendar of the Book of Common Prayer. He is specially honoured in Yorkshire, and in Bradford his festival (February 3rd) was high-day with processions and pageants.

In the old Leicester Scholars' peal records it is stated that on April 4th, 1807, Annable's peal of 5,040 Bob Major was rung at St. Margaret's, Leicester, conducted by Thomas Sibson, and 'all ye parties were woolcombers.' One wonders if, after the peal, they adjourned to the 'Woolcomber's Arms,' which still carries on its business and is only about a hundred yards from St. Margaret's Church.

Our old friend Woolley and others, by name Woolford, Woolman and the like, doubtless are descendants of those who followed this staple trade. Its importance is shown in the presentation by Edward III. to the Chancellor of the Exchequer as a reminder that the seat of England's greatness and future prosperity was to be found in the wool trade. In those early days wool was exported in sufficient quantities as to be taxed to produce 74 per cent. of the country's revenue.

Certain churches are called 'wool churches,' and the reason is that they were either built or restored by the wealthy merchants of the wool trade. In the Cotswold, for instance, the famous churches of Cirencester, Northleach, Chipping Campden, Fairford and others all owe their glory to the wealth created by the trade. Thus the Grevels rebuilt Chipping Campden; the Fforteys, Northleach; the Tames, Fairford; while the noble church of Cirencester, with its tall embattled tower and three-storey porch, owes much of its glory to the woolstaplers, whose memorials in brass and stone may be seen in nave and chancel.

The famous church of Lavenham commemorates on its tower the Spring family of woolstaplers, who did so much for the church and charities. and many other instances might be noted, such as the Burton chapel in All Saints', Loughborough, and the Wyggeston hospital, schools and charities in Leicester.

THE PRACTICE

READING 'Country Neighbours,’ a book by David Green, I found an interesting description and conversation concerning an unnamed belfry in north-west Oxfordshire (writes Miss Marilyn Bell) which I thought might interest ringers. The excerpt is originally from 'The Countryman.'

The quotation is as follows:-
.And so back to the ringing room, where all five ringers have arrived and are ready for practice. "Is it get up and go through or get up and stop?" Captain asks them. "Gct up and stop." pipes Treble, a small man, nervous. "Get up and stop it is, then." agrees Captain, "we're all out of practice," and spitting on his hands he seizes the striped sally and takes his stance, one unlaced boot a little before the other. (Captain is tall and lean. about fifty, with an air of knowing what he's about. The others tense: he is relaxed.)

There is a great clash and then another and another as all five heave on the ropes to peal the bells and get them up, so that for a minute discord flies out over the quiet fields. This is the bells' time and for a while the ringers give them their heads. Yet underlying the clamour you hear Tenor (Captain's bell) steadying, calling them to order, and sure enough in a little while a steady rhythm sets in.
"But just as all seems well and the ringers in stride there is a sudden "Stand" from Captain and the sound falls off and dies. "Right through now?" he asks. "Ah, but what if I mistake?" demurs Treble. "Follow your table and you can't go wrong.", Captain tells him, pointing to the columns of figures on the wall," but keep orf the red numbers. them's mine." So sallies are grasped again and serious work begins.
' Number Three, a young blacksmith. looks cheerfully confident now, as who would not with biceps rising to hillocks beneath the snowline of rolled sleeves as he strains on the rope. But for style we look to Captain, erect, manifestly at ease, his sally shooting through the ceiling with a convulsive wriggle to vanish completely, as does none of the others, at every alternate stroke. I have to watch it.

Again the bells cease, and "Where's young Bob?" someone asks. "Dunno," says another; "he'll come if he hears us though." And swift on his cue Bob enters, slipping in quietly from the spiral stair. He is sixteen, fair, bronzed, aglow with health. But ah no, he couldn't take a rope, not up to it, he says. (Nonsense, we can all see you're itching to.) Five voices insist and at last., still protesting he'll never do it. he is persuaded. "You'll do it.", says Captain. "you've done it afore, now haven't you?" "Ah," agrees Bob doubtfully as he takes over Treble, "but I forgets, see?"

For the third time the bells ring out and for a round or two all goes well. For Bob, though, you can sce it's fearful concentration, with arms strained, lips parted and every now and then a wild glance over the shoulder as though he sees Time overtaking him... Looks are exchanged. Bob's bell is out of control now, the ringing in chaos, "Stand!" roars Captain and then, "What's the matter. Bob?" Bob is confused. "Shoulda' rung that bit twice, eh?" "Ah, that you should." "I needs more practice see?" "Come, try again then " ship with W.W. was ever strained. W.W. called his first 8 -bell peal, and Mr. Atkins well remembers making a special journey to see him during his last illness.Mr. J. P. Blond has 'completed the circle' of Blewbury tower.

At last all goes sweetly and one pictures some ancient campanologist in a distant village nodding approval. On a morning if it isn't the barnyard cockerel it is often a bell that wakes us.

Mr. John R. Mayne was the most successful conductor in 1959 with 55 peals, and not Mr . Peter Border, as was inadvertently published.

Mr. David Lamb, of the Beaconsfield tower, is leaving for Hong Kong for three years. A farewell yuarter was rung on February 21st.
The peal for the Royal birth at Stratton St. Margaret was also associated with the 82 nd birthday of Mr. T. Moulden, a local ringer.

By ringing the treble at Gosberton to a peal of Bob Minor on February 23rd, C. Harold Whitton completed the circle.

Will the sender of the peal at Blaisdon, Glos, on February 6th, please forward his name and address for the extra copies ordered.

When our Oundle correspondent sent in a report to a local newspaper of a quarter peal of Plain Boh Minor it appeared in print as "Bob Junior.'

Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton informs us that the Alliance methods Snodland and Swanscombe were mistakenly named by his band Adwick and Scawthorpe on November 3rd, 1955.
In the peal of 5,040 Doubles rung at Nassington (see page 118) there were 14 different methods rung, not extents as was inadvertently written.
The ringer of the third in the peal of Yorkshire S. Major at Cheadle on February 10th (page 131) was Miss Margaret Ross and not as printed. The conductor sends his apologies.
Before leaving to take up a new appointment as Rector of Melton, the Rev. L. R. Manthorp is anxious to clear the debt of $£ 100$ on Wenhaston, Suffolk, bells, which were rehung about three years ago. He appeals to all people interested in Wenhaston or in bell-ringing to help.

GOSSIP
Mr. Ernest Morris has only 100 peals to go for his 2,000 th. His 1,900 th was rung on February 22nd at Overseale. Ringing landmarks have been passed by Mr. Joseph W. Cotton's 700th and Mr. John A. Acres' 600th.

Bromsgrove bells were rung at 4.30 p.m. on February 19th by a band consisting entirely of pupils of Bromsgrove County High School.
The peal of Edinburgh Delight was rung at Warsop, as stated in our peal columns, and not Worksop, as mentioned on page 159.

At Luppitt, Devon, the Vicar was asked by the parishioners if they got their quarter peal of 'Bob Martin's.' Shades of 'Grand Cicators '!

By ringing the sixth at Sevenoaks to a peal of Stedman Triples for the Royal birth, Mr. E. J. Ladd, of Tunbridge Wells, has 'completed the circle.

Jafus apologises to Mrs. E. K. Fletcher for saying that she rang the tenor at Chew Magna. This should have read 'Wedmore, 35 cwt.; Memory plays some peculiar tricks!

A coat and scarf were left hehind after the meeting at Iver on February 27th. Will owner contact Vicarage, Iver, or A. D. Barker, Slough 23260.

All Saints? Church, Braywood, Slough, where a quarter peal was rung in honour of Princess Margaret's engagement, is shortly to be pulled down. We understand that several applications have been made to purchase the bells.

It is not very often that Frank Smallwood is lost for words, but the Derby folks recently took him so completely by surprise in conferring their order of 'Capita Magnissimus ' that it left him completely speechless.

Mr. Norman Chaddock, of 17, Herringthorpe Grove, Broom, Rotherham, would welcome information regarding the Sunday Service Survey that appears in diocesan, deanery or parish magazines, in order that his committee can assess its impact. Duplicated copies can be obtained from him if a stamped addressed envelope is enclosed.

Weston Favell. Northants, bells are to be rehung. Probably the last quarter on the bells before this is done was rung on February 291h to the memory of the Rev. R. B. Disney, one time assistant priest in the parish.
The band who rang the peal of Plain Bob Minor at Tewin, Herts, on February 27th, wish to associate the name of Miss Audrey M. Bailey, who unfortunately had to stand down at the last moment through illness. Thanks are due 10 Mr . T. J. Lock, who kindly took her place at short notice.

Members of the University of Bristol Society who rang a peal for the wedding of Miss Audrey Flower, daughter of the tower captain of Timsbury, would like to thank her parents for their hospitality after the peal and to wish Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins every happiness.

Apart from being a peal of Royal congratulations to the Queen and Princess Margaret. the 5,007 Stedman Caters rung at St. Peter's, Brighton, on February 27th, was a farewell to Canon David H. Booth on his appointment as Archdeacon of Lewes.

The band of St. Mary"s. Cheltenham, would like to associate with their Royal peal for the Queen's second son the names of Susan Elizabeth Marshall, born to David and Sheila Marshall (both members of the hand) on February 1 Sth, and Julie Mary Beard, daughter of David and Sally Beard. of Northampton, born on February 14 th . Prior to his marriage and subsequent move from the district. David Beard was a regular member of the St. Mary's Sunday service band.

MR. R. F. B. SPEED, B.A.

(Hon, Assistant Librarian of Central Council)

Although a comparative new-comer to our art, Richard F. B. Speed has distinguished himself by his brilliant performances and there is little doubt that we shall witness a good deal of his great ability in the not too distant future.

Born at Surbiton, Surrey, in 1926, he was educated at Eastbourne College and at Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge. By profession he is an Electronics expert, and is in control of the Electronics Laboratory at the G.E.C. Telephone Works, Coventry. In 1952 he married Miss Anne B. Stockdale, and they now have a family of two boys and one girl.
He learned to ring at Radley in 1943 under the tuition of Miss Maric Cross, and rang his first peal (Grandsire Triples) at Epsom in 1945. He became associated with the famous Willesden band. and whilst with them he rang and conducted many Surprise Major peals including one in 1956 which was Pitman's peal of Spliced Surprise in nine methods, in which all the bells do all the work of each method. This was only six days after publication of the figures and was the first such performance. He has rung peals in no less than 90 Surprise Major methods, and has also composed peals in a wide range of methods. including the record length of Cambridge Surprise Major (with Singles). Another very fine performance in which he took part was the then record peal of Spliced Surprise Major in 25 methods conducted by Walter F. Judge. His peals total to date is 390. of which he has conducted 169.

Mr. Speed was elected Master of the Cambridge University Guild 1946-1947, and he represented the Middlesex Association on the Central Council 1954-1957. In 1958 he was elected an Honorary Member, and has assisted the Council's Librarian, Mr. F. W. Perrens. with the distribution of the Council's publications. JAFUS.

Record Length Altempt Notice

Dear Sir,-This is to give notice to the Exercise that, by kind permission of the Vicar of Kirby-le-Soken (Rev. J. W. Thomas), an attempt will be made to ring 22,400 changes of Plain Bob Major at the Church of St. Michael. Kirhy-le-Soken, on Saturday. April 9ih, starting at 8 a.m.

The composition is the 13,440 by J. A. Trollope. No. 191 in C.C. Collection, with the tenor called three times $\operatorname{sih}$ in each course of the first four parts.-Yours iruly.

FRANK B. LUFKIN

Tips For Beginners-11

> Court places as in Double Court Minor or Double Norwich are a significant feature in change-ringing. You make the further place first and step back to the nearer place. This lesson well learned will help later in Cambridge, Superlative. Yorkshire and mumerous orher Surprise methods.

First In The Country

Inner story of how Broadchalke, near Salisbury, came to be the first tower to ring for the Royal Birth tells of careful planning by Mr. David Hitchings (31), poultry farmer, who is tower secretary.
He had a radio set installed in the brooder house. Two of his young em-ployes-Royston Jenkins (19) and Raymond Chalk (16)-are also ringers.

Immediately the news was recaived they rushed out of the hen house, jumped into Mr. Hitchings' car, and on the way picked up Roberi Fry and Mr. Chalk, the postmun. There were also other reserves in the village.
Three minutes 15 seconds after the announcement they were ringing, and continued for 30 minutes. In the evening the bells were also rung for an hour.

MR. CHADDOCK'S REPLY TO B.B.C.

Mr. Norman Chaddock sent the following reply to the B.B.C. regarding the criticism of the Christmas Day Broadcast:-

Dear Mr. Riddell,-Mr. White, the Editor of 'The Ringing World,' has passed on to me your letter and enclosures about the Christmas Bells' broadcast commenting on a letter of mine which appeared in 'The Ringing World ' on January 8 th last.

On the whole, my letter expressed appreciation for an enjoyable programme and, in particular, complimented the ringers and sound engineers for the excellent broadcast from St. Donard's, Dublin.
One part of my letter did refer to an error in that particular broadcast. I also had in mind other similar broadcasts when 1 used the phrase 'casual way.' Perusal of your enclosures impels me to admit that I was perhaps a little unjust in using this phrase. I do not wish it to be thought that I am unappreciative of the technical difficulties involved in such broadcasts and would like to say that but for the error you mention, I personally think that this last Christmas Bells broadcast, as far as the B.B.C. is concerned. was an improvement. For instance, increasing the time 'on the air' to two minutes for each tower is a welcome step in the right direction.

An improvement in the quality of bell broadcasts could be obtained if there was more consultation with those responsible for the ringing of the bells to be broadcast. The position of the microphone is of paramount importance as sometimes particular bells in the ring being broadcast have been almost inaudible. or in other cases too loud, this completely spoiling the effect. Echo effects from surrounding buildings may also impair the quality of a broadcast. Tests should be made before every bell broadcast to ensure that every bell in the ring is clearly audible. The services of a competent ringer are needed for such tests, From correspondence in 'The Ringing World' subsequent to my letter, you will see that some ringers themselves are not able to agree on the selection of towers. though most responsible people consider that there should be some safeguard that the quality of the bells. rhythm, and striking, should be good.

The Central Council of Church Bell Ringers* Committee on Television and Broadcasting (of which I myself am a member) are anxious to help the B.B.C. on any matters concerning Bell Broadcasts and would like to see increased co-operation in this respect.

I am sorry that my letter appeared overcritical and trust that a better understanding may result from the exchanges of views.-Yours sincerely, (Signed) N. CHADDOCK.

Derbyshire Association Honour Mr. J. Frank Smallwood

THE only safe thing to predict about the Derbyshire Dinner is anything may happen! and it generally does. Formality is thrown to the winds-and the impression your reporter gathered was that those two arch-conspirators Gordon Halls and Denis Carlisle, spend the whole of the time between one dinner and the next plotting and scheming who the next victim for their good natured banter and leg-pulling shall be

Only one serious note was struck during the evening, when Mr. Norman Chaddock (who had been warned that if he exceeded his allotted time, he would be shot down in flames) proposed the toast of " The Memory of the late Sir Arthur Heywood.' He reminded his audience that it was their parent organisa tion-the old Midland Counties Associationthat gave the Exercise this fine ringer and gentleman, who was responsible for setting up the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers. and much of the progress which had been made in Derbyshire was largely due to the good work done by Sir Arthur. Peal ringing activity was not always a true measure of the state of Sunday Service ringing in a particular area. but there was ample evidence that this most important sphere of our activity was not being neglected, and he was glad to note the valuable contributions made by the Derbyshire Association to the recent survey of Sunday Service inging. He felt that Sir Arthur would have welcomed this Survey, and the efforts to foster closer relations with the clergy. He stressed the need for toleration for beginners and the less able type of ringer, and to make them feel that they were wanted. It was not so much what they rang as how they rang. The toast was honoured in silence.

This serious business having been disposed of. fun and games were then the order of the day. Competitions of extraordinary variety took place-and one in particular convulsed everyone present. The competitors were all male. and their orders were to iurn their coats inside out and roll up their trousers They then had to balance a waiter's tray on their heads, keep a tennis ball between their knees, and then traverse the length of the room at speed holding a lighted candle It is hot certain who won-but whoever he was he was a hero! Then the Derbyshire Association Choir went into action-this time with a competent conductor. the brother of Denis Carlisle, who last year did everything hut conduct.

CAPITA MAGNISSIMUS

The great moment of the evening came with the conferring of the insignia of the Most Noble Order of Capita Magnissimus to the most worthy belfryman of the year in the Derbyshire Association. The honour was accorded Mr. J. Frank Smallwood, and the citation read:-

In conferring this award upon you, we have borne in mind the excellent example which you have at all times displayed before ringers of all ages.

We admire particularly that ritual which you carry out before starting a peal. First you take a pinch of snuff, and after administering a pound or two to each nostril you liberally seatter the remainder over your waistcoat and over any unfortunate ringer who strays within your orbit.

- Next you gently anoint your hands with your own preparation of glycerine and senna pods-this ensures easy and regular movement throughout the peal. Finally, without a hair out of place, you fling some last-minute insult at the conductor, catch hold of your rope and condescend to ring with the waiting band.

Your reliability in peal-ringing is beyond question. If you are calling a peal the hand has every confidence that, with a clear and audible voice, you will call' a!! the bobs except the last one. If the peal looks like being successful, you can always be relied on to set your bell as opening time approaches.

You will recall one incident last year during a peal at Matlock. It was necessary to ring by candlelight at this primitive lower. Your fel low ringers thought you unusually bright on this occasion until they realised your trousers had caught fire from an overturned candle. There was a most warming experience for you.

You are very proud that you have recently completed 50 years of married life. However, the committee can give you no credit for this -on the contrary, they consider your hardworking. long-suffering wife, 10 whom they offer their deepest sympathy, is far more deserving of a medal.

Your recent endeavours on behalf of "The Ringing World." which culminated in a popular price increase of 25 per cent., have, in the opinion of the selection committee. done more than anything else to secure you the award of the medal. They have also ensured that the year of your golden weding is really a golden one.
The 'insignia' of this 'most noble order was then placed round the victim's neck, and it is a point of honour that all those who have received this honour shall wear it at every Derbyshire dinner. It is a circular cardboard plate with a humorous drawing of the secipient This year it depicts a Scrooge-like figure sitting at a table counting up pennies!
About a hundred guests took part in this happy evening, and they enjoyed excellent fare, beautifully cooked and served, and an evening brimful of good healthy fun. To those two arch-villains, Halls and Carlisle, our hearty congratulations and thanks.

50 YEARS' PEAL RINGING WITH KENT COUNTY

During Mr, T. E. Sones` 50 years' membership of the Kent County Association. he has rung 487 peals and conducted 305 for this Association: a further 153 peals (conducted 48) have been rung for 16 other Associations, making the total 640 and 352 conducted.
He sends his compliments to all who have taken part in these peals, and especially to his very old friends whose names do not now appear in the peal columns of "The Ringing World -Mr. H. Baker (197), Mrs. H. Baker (140), Tom Saunders (125), Luther Honess (101). A. Relfe (85) and Mr. F. S. Macey, who stood in his first peal in 1911.

INSTRUCTORS' COURSES INITIATED

Following on the successful pioneer course in ringing at Dillington House last year, and its decisions on courses generally as reached at its last-held convention. the College of Campano logy is launching its No. 3 type course-Instructors One-day-on Saturday next at Bristol. at Christ Church (City) belfry.
With local arrangements made by the Bristol University Society, the latter becomes the first University Society to have such a course. Its president, Professor R. J. Brocklehurst, who will be in the chair for the opening, is also an honorary tutor of the College. City ringers are invited.
Applications for courses to be arranged are invited and welcomed and should be made to the Registrar, 40, Parkstone Avenue. Southsea.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Sonning Deanery Branch

The ringers of the Sonning Deanery met at St. Paul's, Wokingham, on February 20th, for their annual meeting. After an hour's ringing the service was conducted by the Branch chairman (Ven. H. T. Shaw) and the sermon was preached by the Rev. Harcourt Trevor, Vicar of Warfield. Tea was served in the Church Room and the chairman presided over the business meeting, at which about 60 members were present, together with both the Master and deputy Master of the Guild.

The Branch Secretary reported a slight decrease in membership but that with one exception all towers had a good Sunday service band and most practised regularly each week. Combined practices each month were well attended. and thanks were due to the Ringing Masters for their work during the year. It was also reported that Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough. had dismantled the six bells of Arborfield prior to rehanging, and $\pm 20$ was voted from Branch funds towards the cost.

The Master (Rev. C. E. Wigg) urged all young ringers to put duty to their tower and church before pleasure, and spoke of the forthcoming week-end course to be held at Radley. The deputy Master (Mr. F. Sharpe) mentioned that on his visits to the Sonning Deanery he had, on the last three occasions, inspected one of the towers and reported on the condition of the bells and tittings, and asked ringers to do their share in bell maintenance with oil can and spanner, and so save the church many pounds for repairs.
The bells of both St. Paul's and All Saints churches were open for ringing during the evening. and many young ringers from Arborfield and Sandhurst had their first experience of 8 bell ringing.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

A meeting of the West Lindsey Branch, held at Kirton Lindsey on February 20th, attracted some 50 ringers, including visitors from Branston, Dunholme. Burton Stather and Scunthorpe. The service in church was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. W. D. Davies).
At the business meeting, presided over by the vice-president (Mr. C. H. Baker), five new members were elected. These included three from Hibaldstow, where plans are in hand to augment the existing three bells to a ring of six

On the suggestion of the secretary (Mr. G. L. A. Lunn), it was agreed that a telegram conveying loyal and affectionate greetings should he sent to H.M. the Queen, following the good news from Buckingham Palace the day before Further ringing followed in the evening. ranging from rounds to Surprise methods.

SOCIETY OF ROVING RINGERS

A party of nearly 40 met at Birmingham on February 12 th for the 12 th reunion. Ringing took place at King's Norton, Northfield, Selly Oak, Aston, Erdington (where local ringers kindly provided tea) and St. Martin's.

Dinner was held at the Market Hotel, At the meeting which followed, the following oflicers were elected: President. Bill Kingcott: life vice-president. T. Mark White: Master. Cyril Lewington: joint secretaries. Audrey Bailey and Michael C. Austin: treasurer. Bernard Ongley: recorder, C. Lewington

It was unanimously agreed that the summer tour be held in the Lincolnshire. Rutland, Leicestershire area
On Sunday, ringing took place at the Cathedral, St. Martin's, Edgbaston and Bishop Latimer's Church

Sincere thanks are extended to the incumbents and ringers of Birmingham for their warm welcome.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FATHERS' AND SONS' PEALS FOR WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION
Dear Sir.-The peal of Plain Bob Major rung at Salford Priors, Warwickshire, on January 30 th by four fathers and sons was not the first father and son peal for the Worcestershire Association. A peal of plain Bob Major, at Si. John-the-Baptist. Worcester, on November 16th. 1946, was rung by four fathers and sons as follows:-

John Morris. treble. Edward Large 2. James Woodyatt 3, William Lewis 4. Denis R. Morris Gcorge E. Large (cond.) 6, Reginald Woodyatt 7. Thomas W. Lewis, tenor.

The four fathers rang $1,2,3,4$. and their sons 5.6.7.8.

This peal was not claimed as a first. I helieve a father and son peal was rung on the six bells of Kempsey, near Worcester, some years before.-Yours faithfully.

THE LATE JOHN CARTER

Dear Sir.-In order to complete the material required for an itlustrated pamphlet about the Carter Ringing Machine. I am anxious to obtain a good original photograph of the late John Carter with his machıne in front of him. Such a picture appears in Mr. Ernest Morris ${ }^{\circ}$. History and Art of ChangeRinging, and was also published in The Model Engineer' in March. 1925 . but neither Mr. Morris nor Messrs. Percival Marshall are able to help
If any reader has such a photograph, I would be very grateful for his help.- Yours faithfully.

BELLS AND ST. CECILIA

Dear Sir, - Whilst reading same correspondence on " The Patron Saint of Gardeners which appeared in recent issues of a gardening periodical the thought came to me, Is there a patron saint of bellringers?
St. Cecilia. I know is the patroness of musicians and good bells rung by experts produce good music but it would be interesting to know if any association or band of ringers has. in the past, adopted St. Cecilia or any one of the other saints as the patron of our art. Maybe one of the lesser known siints was in some way associated with, or interested in bells or bell-music (though not in modern change-ringing of course). Perhaps Mr. Ernest Morris or one of your clergyreaders would be kind enough to give me some enlightemment on the subject. Yours truly.

Burghill. Herefordshire.

THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD

Dear Sir.-Though no fault of the compilers of 'The Ringers' Notebook and Diary 1960 the details of the Stafford Archdeaconry Socicty. (page 14) are incorrect. Please read as under:- Ringing Master. E. Malin: Deputy, j. B. Dinenage: Secrecıries. Rev. C. Holroyd Barker. The Vicarage, Swindon, nr. Dudley: D. J. Tranter, 36. Seven Acres, Aldridge, nr: Walsall. Assistant, C. M. Smith. Fosseway, Talbot Avenue, Strectley, Sutton Coldfield, Warwicks.

In addition maly I take this opportunity of saying that I shall be happy to assist any ringer ( $s$ ) intending to visit this area in the future. for peals or outings, and point out that our scenery is not all Black, or industrial, and that we have some excellent peals of bells on which 10 ring.-Yours

CORNISH RINGING

Dear Sir,-I thank the Rev. J. G. M. Scott for his interesting front page article (February 19(h). It appears I was wrong in saying the competition bands of the South West cause their bells all to begin to double-clapper on the same round in a rise. I think I got this idea. from an incident that occurred to me about 11 years ago.

I had recently come out of hospital after an operation and was sitting hy the tire one afternoon, feeling weary and depressed. I turned on the radio, hoping for something cheerful. Now it so happened that a programme depicting life in a Cornish village was being broadcast: nearly every aspect of village life was portrayed. and of course they had to have the bells. It seemed to be a ground floor pull for'I could hear the ringers walking about the quarry floor (one or two had hobnails) and talking among themselves.
After a few words by the announcer, I imagined the ringers swayed their bells slightly, for when the captain stamped his foot they all struck round in a perfect "pitch." This was followed by about four rounds of clappering on one side only. Then the captain shouted. Gio in a loud voice, and immediately all six bells commenced to double-clapper on the same round without fail, and away they went in a perfect rise till the bells were well above frame height, when they were faded out. I do not remember the name of the village. 1 would say the tenor was round about 12 cwt . in G or F sharp.-Yours sincerely.

PEAL AT ST. MARY'S, TORQUAY

Dear Sir.-In reply 10 Mr . Donald Roberts re the peal on May 30th. 1887, I hope the following information will help him. All the band were known to me and six of them were from Exeter: Mr. W. W. Gifford came from Salisbury and Mr. Frederick W. Batchelor hailed from Plymouth. Messrs. James Moss, William Munday and Thomas J. Lake were well-known ringers in Exeter, but Mr. Munday moved 10 Birmingham shortly after the Torquay peal.

Mr. Gifford was a bank manager in Salisbury and for many years gave splendid service to our art in various ways. Mr. Batchelor had two titles in ringing circles: Sir, verbally, and Esq. in print: but his name seemed to fade rather quickly in Devon Guild circles in the late " $80^{\circ}$ s.
A few details of the three brothers Shepherd are: Ferris (my father). born April 30th, 1857. died Anril 22nd. 1921, aged 64: Alfred (my uncle), born 1860, died February 25th. 1902. aged 41: Edwin (my uncle), born July 1lth. 1862. died July 22nd, 1946, aged 84

It would take many columns of our paper to aequaint Mr. Roberts with many other items of interest concerning the hand, who did a lot of spade-work in Devon, but if he would like to write me direct I shall be pleased to supply urther particulars. - Yours sincerely.

CHARGE FOR ROPES

Dear Sir,-l would welcome Mr. F. W. Perrens" suggestion in "The Ringing World of January 29th of a small charge for ropes. All vicars saddled with a ring of bells should impose a charge of 2 s . per rope for all peats altempted, the money 10 go lowards the cost of new ropes. Ropes are dear, and after all, peal ringing for pleasture or otherwise is dirt cheap. - Yours. etc.,

Rotherham.

BETJEMAN AND BELLS

Dear Sir,-Mr. Denson's recommendation in your issue of Fehruary 26th, of 'Altar and Pew. edited by John Betjeman, prompts me to draw the attention of ringers to John Betjeman's Collected Poems," published by John Murray (15s.).

Collected Poems abounds in references to bells, change-ringing and ringers. If John Betjeman is known as the poet of suburbia, the Church of England and Oxford. he is equaliy entitled to be known as the poet of the Exercise.

In his poem, 'Bristol. for instance, he writes

Ringers in an oil-lit belfry-Bitton? Kelston? who shall say? -
Smoothly practising a plain course, caverned out the dying day
As their melancholy music flooded up and ebbed away.
And later on :-
. . over leagues of hills and dells
Was the mathematic pattern of a plain course on the bells.
Again, in "Myfanwy at Oxford : Her Myfanwy? My Myfanwy. Bicycle bells in a Boar's Hill Pine. Stedman Triples from All Sitinis* steeple. Tom and his hundred and one at ninc.
Bells of Butterfield, caught in Keble, Sally and backstroke answer 'Mine!
Church of England Thoughts contains this stanza:

In country churches old and pale I hear the changes smoothly rung And watch the coloured sallies fly
From rugged hands to rafters high As round and back the bells are swung.
The opening lines of The Dear Old Village illustrate John Betjeman's acute observation of ringers and their foibles:-
The dear old village! Lin-lan-lone the bells (Which should he six) ring over hills and dells, But since the row about the ringers' tea It's lin-lan-lone. They're only ringing three.
There are many other campanological references in 'Collected Poems,' and ringers will find the reading of it both rewarding and en-tertaining.-Yours faithfully.

5,024 YORKSHIRE SURPRISE MAJOR

A TRANSPOSITION

Dear Sir.-The composition of Romford Surprise Major on page 128 of . The Ringing World is a transposition of a peal of London by 11. Law James, given on page 59 of 'Surprise Methods.

Inadvertent acts of piracy of this type can often be avoided if the peal for an Bths place method is ransposed so as to give the corresponding peal for ands place methods. in which form they are usually more easily recognised. This is especially true of peals on it simple plan. such as this. which hears more ihan a family resemblance to Middlecon's! - Yours sincerely. RICHARD F. B. SPEED

TURNING COURSE OH  STEDMAN CINQUES

Proposing the toast of . The Memory of the late Henry Johnson. Ald. A. Paddon Smith said while he never knew Henry Johnson personally. he had the pleasure of lalking and ringing with many men of the older gencration who knew and rang with him. He was a very good ringer-a good man at the end of a rope, but his fame was as a composer. His peals were beautiful musically. He was the first man to come forward with the idea of putting the turning course in the middle of a peal instead of towards the end as was common until then. Many peals were lost because of that. Men had become accustomed to ringing in the Tittums position and then when they were tired the change into handstroke position caused the peal to be lost.

He was a wonderful man and on his 72nd birthday rang in the then record length of 9,238 Stedman Cinques on February 28th, 1881. It took six hours and 48 minutes to ring. In that peal were Amos Cresser ireble. Job Joynes 2. Henry Johnson jun.. 3. C. H. Hattersley 4. S. Reeves 5. Henry Johnson 6 John Dunn 7. Juhn Buffery 8. John James 9, F. H. James 10. William Hollsworth (cond.) 11. T. Reynolds tenor. Reynolds then weighed 22 stone and he weighed 18 stone when he died.
Johnson's tombstone was in Aston Churchyard and by the goodwill of the Vicar of Aston it was one of the very few remaining upright. It had this inscription:

Abstract

ngland stone is erected by the ringers of Johnson to whose ability and perseverance the art of change ringing is greatly indebted. Born at Lichfield 1809, died at Aston, 1890. do it with all thy might", The toast was drunk in silence.

CONTINUITY

The toast 'Continued prosperity to the St. Martin's Guild was proposed by Canon F. F. Guy Warman. Vicar of Aston, who quoted George Elliot's words that appeared on the toast list:

You must remember. it is not only laying hold of the rope

You must go on pulling.'
The Canon said he was a curate of the church George Elliot wrote about-Shepperton Church. Tied up with continued prosperity was continuity. The point about continuity was that it was not exactly the same as ever before. There was a famous Greek philosopher who said. 'You can't step in the same river twice.' Continued prosperity did not mean the same prosperity of 20, 30 or 50 years. With continued prosperity there must come change, because if there was no change it would be merely static-something with no life.

In the Ringing Exercise there was a very ordered continuity. If the continuity was not continuous the peal came to an end. In the St. Martin's Guild there was a continuity of personnel. Each year at that dinner they met those who had been in the business many years. and some just starting.

The most important was the continuity of service and for many years in Birmingham and its neighbouring churches there had been the continuity of service by the bell-ringers. and as a clergyman he would like to say how much they were in their debt. There was nothing so pathetic, said the Canon with emphasis. as old ringers trying to bring back the former glory on five bells. and then later we hear eight. ten or twelve
It was this continuity of service they desired in wishing prosperity to the Guild.

CATHEDRAL BELLS COMPLAINT

The Master. Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd, in reply, said they were losing one tower-the old church of Bishop Ryder and its bells but at the same time they were gaining one with eight at Bishop Latimer's church.

During the past year the Cathedral bells had come back into action after being silent for many months. About the middle of the year they suddenly began to ring peals on them and one of those peals was Stedman Cinques conducted by their old friend Albert Walker. He was very much impressed by his control: he did not use an easy composition but one with a complicated turning course. Ringing in that peal was a great privilege. They also rang during the year four peals of London Surprise Royal.
Sad to relate there had been a complaint about the Cathedral bells. In the Birmingham Post' of the previous day there was a serious complaint headed "Silent bells." A gentleman who lived in his borough of Solihull had written complaining that the Cathedral bells were not rung for the birth of the Royal Prince and stated. It is high time Birmingham stopped lagging behind the rest of the country:" Commented Mr. Shepherd: "We must really ask Mr. Fearn to take notice of this complaint and ring more peals at the Cathedral.
There was one thing he would like to mention-how much the Guild owed to their very talented lady members. Miss Elizabeth Yardley rang her first peal of Stedman Cinques in an excellent way and they all knew what an accomplished ringer was Miss Diana Perrens. Then there was Mrs. Ruth Border who came the 20 miles from Coventry on the back of her husband's motor cycle to ring with them, and finally there was Miss Muriel

Reay, who had now completed over 500 peals of which more than 75 were on 12 bells. (Applause.)
There were two things which he as Master of the Guild was particularly proud of. St Paul wrote. If it be possible, as much as lies in you be at peace with all men.' St. Paul was a practical man and he knew that times would arise when hard words would be said. They in that Guild did not quarrel among themselves and he was very proud that they lived at peace with one another.
The second was the very hearty welcome they gave to visitors at the Bull Ring and it was a great joy to hear the Ringing Master. Mr John Pinfold. in his courtly manner say, What would you like to ring.' to the visitor. You can ring anything you like. It was very nice to offer anything from Grandsire to Spliced Surprise.

THE VISITORS

Mr. Ralph G. Edwards, who proposed the toast of ' The Visitors.' had something complimentary to say to the many guests present. In a reference to the chairman he recalled Mr. Meadows speech at the Henry Johnson dinner of 1951 when the Lord Mayor was present and he referred to the smoke of Birmingham as 'Dante's Inferno.'
Speaking of Mr. John Worth he mentioned the record peal of 21.600 changes of Bristo Surprise rung at Over ' on real bells.' a quip at the next extent of Major attempt at Loughborough. In a welcome to Mr. Alan Ainsworth and the Newcastle contingent, he called Mr. Ainsworth 'an accomplished conductor who had done what very few had in calling Carter's Odd-bob peal of Stedman Triples. There were words of welcome tos the lincoln ringers and a special reference to the marriage peal of Desford Surprise Major for Mr. and Mrs. George Randles-Desford was Mr. Randles' birthplace Speaking of Mr. Paul L. Taylor, Mr Edwards said. We are sorry he has come to Birmingham and taken away a modern Taylor ring but we hope he will be in a position to bring it back into the city.' Of his friend Mr. Pat Cannon, the speaker said There is not a tower in the country you can go into in which Mr. Cannon is not known for some reason or another. " Jafus " told me one day he is a second Jimmy George with a difference-Cannon has a sense of humour.
lo Mr. Wilfred Williams. past master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, there was this compliment. 'During this year as Master he brought the standard of ringing in the Society to the highest level it had attained. Another London ringer, Mr. Robin Ieale, was congratulated on ringing a peal of Scientific Triples while Mr. Philip Mehew was referred to as "the glamour boy" of the Exercise after the chairman.

The Rev. Cecil H. Smyth. of Bishop Latimer's Church, in reply mentioned the completion of the raising of the $£ 2.000$ for the bells of his church. despite certain opposition from the Diocesan authorities. On the night of the peal on the bells for the birth of the Prince he was out in the parish and called at various public houses. There was not a word of opposition to the ringing of the bells. He hoped that those who rang for service at his church would not be those who rang and went awar but would stay for what they were ringing for.

SUBSCRIBERS PLEASE-   NOT BORROWERS

   NOT BORROWERS}The toast of 'The Ringing World was proposed by Mr. F. E. Collins. He appealed strongly to narrow the gap between the 20.000 ringers who were members of affiliated bodies and the 5,600 who were subscribers 10 the journal. There were 100 many people borrowing 'The Ringing World ' he said.
The Editor in renly said despite the increase in price the circulation was still in a better position than a year ago. The past week had

HURSTPIERPOINT'S SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE

On February 13th a social evening and entertainment was held at the Parish Room Hurstpierpoint, Sussex, in honour of long service by four members of the local band.

The local ringers made all arrangements and invited their clergy, members of the Parochial Church Council, officers of the Sussex County Association, representatives of 14 neighbouring towers and representatives of other church or ganisations in the parish.
Four bronze plaques had been cast specially from a design by a ringer. The centre-piece is a bell with three interlocked circles to represent the Holy Trinity to which Hurstpierpoint Church is dedicated. Around the bell are raised letters, reading: 'Hurstpierpoint Ringers,' and underneath: 'Faithful Service." The lower part consists of a raised and polished oblong, engraved with the words: Presented to G. H. Richardson with grateful thanks, 1898-1960). The other three were similar but with the names G. S. Mansbridge, 1911-1960. C. W. Diplock. 1898-1959. J. C. V. Dearlove, $1935-$ 1955. (Mr. Dearlove also rang for many years before coming to Hurstpierpoint in 1935.) Each plaque was mounted on a polished oak base by one of the local ringers.
The highlight of the evening was the presentation of these plaques by the Rector (Rev. T. R. Franklin), supported by the Rector's Warden (Mr. J. Denman) and a vice-president of the County Association. Mr. S. E. Armstrong. All three, logether with others spcaking from the floor of the hall, paid tribute to the wonderful service given to their church by these four gentlemen over such a long period of time. Mr. I. Denman also presented signed copies of 'Coronation Chimes,' a book on the history of the local bells, printed when they were rehung for the Coronation. These books were from the Rector and churchwardens.
The presentation was followed by refreshments arranged by the ladies.
A very fine spirit prevailed throughout the evening as the more active played games, and later all were entertained by handbell tunes rung by the local band, excellent change-ringing tiy the band from St. Peter's Church. Brighton. Mr. Jack Markwick, a comedian from Crawley, songs by Mr. George Austin. from Hove, Farmer Giles' by Mr. Bernard Cornish. from Portslade, and a twins act by the local joint captains.
It was good to see ringers from many towers mixing with the local churchpeople to honour such a fine record of service by four " servants of the Exercise.

for him been particularly strenuous. Two mornings that week he had had over 100 letters 10 deal with. It was revelation to him of the place the paper held in the affection of ringers of England
From time to time there had been criticism of the gratefully acknowledged column. Through the generosity of those who had sent donations with their peals and quarter peals. they were planning to give in the next issue one of 24 pages. the largest number of pages ever given. That issue would present an amazing picture of how the ringers of these islands honoured the birth of a second son to Her Majesty the Queen. They did what the people of this country expected of them.
The concluding toast of 'The Chairman was submitted by Mr. Paul L. Taylor. The chairman in his acknowledgment thanked the Guild for the privilege of presiding over such a distinguished gathering. He thanked Mr . D. S. Anderson for his songs and his accompanist. Miss Margaret Bunn.
During the evening there was handhell ringing of touches of Stedman Caters and Grandsire Caters.

MORE ABOUT THE HERTS ASSOCIATION GRIEVANCE

Dear Sir-I acknowledge the helpful replies to my letter in 'The Ringing World' of February 12 th from Messrs. Painter, Castledine and Frost. As Mr. Bartholomew was once a member of our band at St. Mary's, Rickmansworth, but left under unfortunate circumstances. I am unable to acknowledge the contents of much of his letter. If he would care to furnish me with his address. or come and see me, I will give him an adequate answer.
If the Hertford County Association is content to arrange nothing more than haphazard monthly meetings on a first-come, first-served basis, when anyone can ring precisely what he likes, then my previous letter was in very bad taste and I apologise to all concerned. But is this the sole function of a ringing Society? I certainly do not think so.
The points raised in the letters referred to above are three-the interpretation of the words Guilo and Association: the rules or aims of a particular Association : and the fact that 1 have not paid any subscription as a resident ringing member Firstly, it was pointed out that I used the word Giuild when I should have used Association. in reference to the Hertford County Association. This was done deliberately, because I understand the word Association to mean a group of people combined together with a common aim, whereas I understand the word Guild to mean a fellowship of people with express desires to create and maintain certain religoous and secular beliefs. In this respect the word Guild is much more suited for describing groups of ringers gathered together, whether or not it is the otficial title of the organisation referred to.
Secondly, that I misrepresented Object II of the Association by quoting in part only. To enlarge on the fourth paragraph of my previous letter, I maintain that a Guild or 'Association visits different towers to enable the local ringers to gain marked benefits from the touches arranged. For two consecutive years our own ringers rang nothing more than rounds, and therefore they lost what interest they had in the Association concerned. Strong criticism was also made because we had abandoned Grandsire as a useful method, but when Plain Bob Triples or Caters were requested, this was denied.
Thirdly. that I have not paid a resident ringer's subscription. When I first came to the county and found that relationships between local ringers and the Association were nonexistent, I decided to wait until someone took sufficient interest in us before consenting to annual subscription. As Mr. Frost has now become interested in us, this fault will be rectified.
I shall have no grievances to put forward at the Association annual meeting, but rather suggestions which 1 think will improve relationships.
We have been criticised for taking more out of ringing than we put in. This I deny. We arranged during 1959 a full programme of events, which culminated in a dinner in January. Other than our own ringers. one person only from the Hertford County Association was present, although we have good support from other ringing fraternities. During 1960 we are going to arrange even more attractions, including a lower open day, a trip to the Whitechapel Foundry and various social gatherings. Is anyone from the Association going to be interested this time? -Yours faithfully.
M. HATCHETT

Rickmansworth, Herts.

THE LADIES' GUILD

The asnual meeting of the Midiand District was held on February 20th at All Saints Church, Leicester. All the Guild officers were re-elected. Miss I. B. Thompson once again being the vice-president for the ensuing year. About 30 members and friends were present. and the bells were put to good use during the afternoon and evening. One new member was efected. The next meeting will be held at Melton on April 30th.

OBITUARY

MR. C. W. R. GRIMWOOD AN APPRECIATION
So dear old Bob has gone, and it was with deep regret that my wife and I read of his death on February 8th. Bob joined the King-ston-upon-Thames company during the time I was secretary of that tower, and he remained a staunch and regular member of the band until I left to return to Norfolk. Irt spite of his long journey from Hersham, he seldom failed to attend for Sunday service ringing or on practice nights. He was cqually at home with the proficient or the most raw recruit and always gave of his best. He was delighted when invited to call a 'touch.' but above all was a first-rate lower member
I spent many happy hours in his company, and many times he related to me his experiences and the 'dodges' he got up to so that he could ring with W. Pye and company, in London. when he should have been at work
I shall remember always with gratitude his help to the Kingston company and myself, and as has already been said. he was a good and faithful ringer and friend. May he rest in peace.
H. W. BARRETT

Norwich Diocesan Association.

MR. KEN SHERMAN

Mr. Ken Sherman. for 35 years a member of Ghe Newbury Branch of the Oxford Dioces:m Guild and of the Brightwation tower. died suddenly on February 25 th. Ken was known to a wide circle of friends, as he often drove coaches for Oxfordshire ringers' outings
The funeral service was at Brightwalton on February 29 th . and in the evening five men1. bers of his tower, with Mr. C. J. Hibbert. rang quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles with the bells half-muffed. The band was: P. J. Sayers 1. Cyril J. Hibbert 2. Gordon Hedges 3. John Bracey 4, Arthur Sayers (conductor) 5, W. J. Sayers 6 .

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Thirty-ithree ringers attended the quarterly meeting of the West Dorset branch at Burton Bradstock on February 20th. The fifteenth century church was much admired. The Guild service was conducted by Canon C. C. Cox, and Canon A. R. Dittmer. the Rector. gave the address. The organ was played by Mrs. Pope. one of the visiting ringers.
Mr. C. W. Powell. the branch vice-chairman. presided at the business meeting. Canon Cox gave a brief account of the formation and running of the Guild Library. The secretary announced that the Guild Festival would be held at Wimborne on May 14th. It was decided to run a coach and to make it a branch outing. The next quarterly meeting is to be at Whitchurch Canonicorum on April 23 rd and the method Double Norwich.
In the absence of Mr. D. Bishop, who was indisposed. Mr. H. Keeley was in charge of the ringing, which included London Minor: A warm welcome was extended to the visitors from whe North Dorset and Wimborne hranches. with a special word for Mr. W. Shute.

NEW TOWER AT HIBALDSTOW

There can be few parishes of comparable size able to match the recent achivements of the Lincolnshire village of Hibaldstow. Under the energetic leadership of the present Vicar (Rev. F. Insull), a new tower has been added to the church, at a cost of over $£ 4.000$. replacing one which fell down in 1875. Fortunately. the three bells survived undamaged and these have now heen installed in the new tower. with space for a further three bells. It is hoped to complete the ring of six in the not too distant future.
Although the official opening and dedication of the new tower does not take place until March 26th, the bells were rung for the first time on Sunday. February 7th. by a team of ringers from Brigg. A few days before this. when the last of the bells was being rehung. a film of the seremony was made hy the B.B.C. and shown on the Northern news T.V. programme.

THEY ALSO SERVE...

TWE back page of 'The Ringing World ' may be said to resemble in some respects the front door of the house in which we dwell. For the front door is the first object to catch our eye as we return home, and the back page gives us our first glimpse of our journal as we take it from the postman on Thursday morning. And as our portal opens to present us with domestic comfort and refreshment, so the back page leads us to the experiences and reflections of the columns of the paper. And to carry the analogy a little further, it may be reasonable to suggest that the back page becomes as familiar to us as the front door, so that unless some startling change takes place or some novel feature is added, we may spend less time in the contemplation of this part of the structure than we do on the matter within.

Yet however little we may be urged to sit and gaze thoughtfully at our own front door, there are moments of reflection when, perhaps, we have exhausted the interior of our paper, and we find that the back page presents itself in a new way and with new trains of thought. Among such trains of thought there is one arising from the familiar list of ringing publications advertised week by week. These valuable works are, as we all fully realise, gifts provided for us by devoted and unselfish lovers of the art, and the public presentation and distribution of these books and pamphlets must be carried out by another unseen and even less rewarded band of workers. Among these one cannot fail to notice the ladies.

Three distinct sets of ringing publications present themselves on the back page of 'The Ringing World.', These are the Central Council publications, 'The Ringers' Handbook' and the Snowdon series; and each of these groups serves to remind us of the arduous labours and consistent devotion of a number of talented ladies, some of whom do not appear in the forefront of the Exercise's weekly pageant. It is impossible to look down the list of Council publications without some thought of the difficult and delicate task of providing a beginner's handbook, and of the part played by Miss Marie Cross in the completion of the job. Here, too, although there is no hint of it on the page, is a silent tribute to the monumental labours of Mrs. G. W. Fletcher. Who can compute her hours of typing, of checking, of proof reading, of collating, that have attached to her unseen work on publications and the business of the Council? Innumerable folk might bear witness to the many fields in which her help has been sought, but perhaps only Mr. George Fletcher could adequately estimate the immense value of the services his wife has rendered to the Exercise.

The name of Mrs. E. S. Powell and the notice of 'The Ringers' Handbook ' turn our minds to this accomplished dady ringer and to her husband and his valuable work on the Central Council. And surely his text book, a reflection of his own integrity and good sense, is among the most attractive of all our rich store of writings. Its matter is sound, its progression logical, and there is a brightness about its setting, both in words and figures, that makes one eager to turn the pages.

The Snowdon books have for long been associated with our lady friends. From the time of her husband's death in 1915 until 194I, Mrs. Laura Snowdon kept alive the publication of the famous works of her brother-in-law Jasper, and her daughter, Miss Margaret Snowdon, has from 194r until recently not only guaranteed continuity of the existing books but has also published revised editions of 'Stedman ' and 'Grandsire.' In a letter to a correspondent in January, 1956, Miss Snowdon paid affectionate tribute to the memory of her Uncle Jasper, whom she was just too young to remember. The kindly nature of this gracious lady is reflected in the intimate short preface she wrote for 'Grandsire '; from her to Armiger Trollope's great friend and colleague, Ernest Turner, is a natural transition, and the remembrance of the genius of Ernest Turner is continually before us through the name of his wife, who holds the Snowdon publications in her care.

These random thoughts, arising from the contemplation of the back page, serve to remind us of that great cloud of unseen witnesses behind the activities of the Exercise. The flame that Edith Parker kindled at Cubitt Town in 1912 has become a great glowing light, in which our ladies of the ringing family shine both before the public eye in their practical deeds and in the back-stage green rooms and workrooms, where at times they may seem only to stand and wait.

Members of the Selby and District Society had an unusual experience when they went to Nunburnholme in the heart of the Yorkshire Wolds to ring a peal in honour of the Royal birth. Upon oiling the bells they found the stays on the treble and second broken and the electric light out of order. The bells were rung up in peal and immediately went into changes for the peal of Minor. Upon completion, the bells were at once lowered in peal and the word 'stand' was not used. Compliments to the ringers of the treble and second.

In ringing in the peal at Brant Broughton, Lincs, on January 23rd, Mr. W. L. Exton rang his 100th peal for the Southwell Diocesan Guild.

Mr. Frank Oakshott, who has been ringing for 50 years, has now conducted his first peal and rung his first peal on six bells (at Esher).
A recording was taken of part of the quarter peal rung at Quedgeley, Glos, on February 2 Ist, to be taken by Mr. F. Winter, father of the treble ringer, when he sails for Australia.
In connection with the Mission to Radstock, Somerset, the bells are being broadcast from the Parish Church on Palm Sunday before the service at 7.45 . Although there is a resident Surprise Minor company, the method to be hroadcast will be Grandsire Doubles.

Change-ringing at Buckfast Abbey took another step forward when four of the monks took part in a quarter of Bob Minor to celebrate the Royal birth. It is hoped that the monks will be able to ring a full peal to celebrate the golden jubilec of the bells, which occurs in the autumn this year.
The band which rang the peal of Plain Bob Major at Lichfield Cathedral on the occasion of the recent Royal birth would like to associate Messrs. Edmund Malin and Francis A. Sedgwick with it. Having 'stood by' all the week, they were unable to make "the night." In contrast, Clive M. Smith apologises for their meeting one short through lack of news of the event until too late- To think I missed $3 \frac{1}{2}$ hours of that Taylor masterpiece, he writes.

BELFRY

GOSSIP

Mr. David J. Marshall, who youngest conductor, accordds we have received, to call a peal for the birth of a second son to H.M. the Queen. The peal was rung at Staverton by Daventry ringers.

The peal at South Cerney, Gloucestershire, on February 26th, was the first by a local band. The peal rung at Dinton, Buckingham, on March Sth, which Mr. A. P. Cannon claims as a first on the bells, was on a left-handed ring with the back five dating from 1682. The treble was added in 1897.
Six single men rang a 'Leap Year Day quarter at Abbot's Leigh, in which every call was a single. The tower, 100 , has celibate associations. There is uncertainty about a repeat performance in 1964.

Mr. Gerald C. Hemming's band had been practising Westminster Surprise Minor for several weeks with the leap year date in mind. By a happy coincidence they were able to ring this method at Middle Lituleton on February 29th in honour of the Royal birth.
The peal at East Bridgford. Notts, on Fehruary 20 th, had originally been fixed as a compliment to Mr. A. V. Dent, the local tower captain, upon his retirement from a lifetime of ringing. However, the arrival of the Royal baby the day before altered things, and it is hoped to ring a peal for Mr. Dent before long. Members of the band learnt with regret that Mr. Dent was ill in hospital at the time, and wished him a speedy recovery.
The peal at North Muskham, Notts, on February 13 th, was rung by members of the Newark Parish Church Society, and was the first to be recorded by the Society, founded 1898. In this peal the Master of the Newark ringers (Mr. J. W. Raithby) rang his first peal of Doubles, and has now rung Stedman from Doubles to Cinques. Another feature of this peal was that Mr. Bernard Plummer rang his first peal on the bell he helped to collect money towards when the bells were augmented to six in 1935. Mr. Plummer started ringing again in 1958 after a lapse of nearly 20 years.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY AT DINNER

On January 30th a cold, wintry day greeted the 56 members and guests who made their annual pilgrimage to London for the University of London Society's Dinner, During the afternoon, ringing was enjoyed at St. John's, Deptford, and at St. Mary's, Lewisham.

The dinner was held at the Mitre Tavern, Chancery Lane, and after proposing the loyal toast the President, Mr. Philip Gray, welcomed the guests, amongst whom were the Masters of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and of the Oxford, Cambridge and Bristol University Societies.
Mr. Roger Keeley took advantage of his last opportunity to propose 'The Church.' He welcomed the Rev. Maurice Dean, the new Rector of St. Olave's, Hart Street, congratulating the Bishop on his excellent choice.

Replying, the Rector confessed that this was his first after-dinner speech, but his experience in the pulpit seemed to stand him in good stead. He thanked the Society for ringing the bells of St. Olave's regularly, and recounted some amusing stories at the expense of varicus colleagues. In a more serious vein, he expressed his pleasure at the signs of revival in the Churcl of England. and indicated the part the Universities could play in this.

The Master of the Society, Mr. Michael Lakin, proposed the health of the guests. After a brief summary of the Society's activities during the year, he spoke about the smaller University Societies, which were, in his opinion, sadly neglected by the 'big four.' Although the Universities' Association could do a lot to remedy this, much could be gained by discussion at annual dinners, with representaives of the smaller societies attending.

The response was made by Mr. Jim Prior, the Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths.
The toast "The Society" was proposed by Mr. Peter Langton, Master of the Cambridge University Guild. He spoke about the important part played by the University Societies in training future leaders of the Exercise. Such societies should endeavour to give their members a sense of proportion between peals and Sunday Service ringing.

At this point Mr. Alan Thirst learnt that he was to respond, and so fortified by the greater part of a bottle of Beaujolais he thanked Mr. Langton for his good wishes and those who attended for their support.
The secretary. Mr. Marcus Barton, gave details of the Whitsun and summer tours (to be organised by Peter and Denis Layton respectively).
The company then adjourned to the lounge, where many happy memories were revived, to the background of the newly acquired set of handbells. Thanks go to the organisers, Messrs. Marcus Barton and Michael Rose, for a most enjoyable day.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Leatherhead District

The annual meeting of the Leatherhead District on February 6th was the introduction to such a gathering of the new Vicar (the Rev. Kenneth Ball). He gave the address at the service, which was conducted by the Rev. C, Marshall.
Tea and business followed in St. Nicholas' Hall, Leatherhead, youth being well represented in a company of 60 . Mr. F. Oakshott is the new Ringing Master in place of Mr. H. V. Young. now residing in Somerset, and Mr. D. May filled the vacancy on the general executive conimittee. Several new members were elected.

A suggestion was made that the Alf Pulling memorial should take the form of a bell or hells in the ring for the new Cathedral, and a collection for them realised £1 10s. 6d.
Speaking in reply to the usual votes of thanks, the Vicar said how much he had enjoyed his first meeting, and he hoped to be meeting the ringers again soon.

MR. EDGAR C. SHEPHERD, M.M., Master of St. Martin's Guild.

The teaching profession has provided the Exercise with many brilliant minds, but none more so than that of Edgar Shepherd, of Solihull. His splendidly written articles in this journal have met with universal admiration, and he is held in high regard by ringers everywhere. Mr. Shepherd has made valuable contributions to every department of ringing. He is a first class ringer, and a reliable conductor. His compositions, especially of Grandsire Caters, are well known, and his literary work is outstanding.

Born in Birmingham in 1898, he was educated at Solihull School and Springfield Training College, Moseley. He served in the Cheshire Regiment in France during the 1914-1918 war. was twice wounded, received the Military Medal, and was discharged disabled in 1918. He learned to ring at Solihull in 1914 but his war injuries prevented him from taking part in tower-bell ringing until 1921. His first peal was Grandsire Doubles on handbells in 1918, by a self-taught band He moved on to advanced ringing under the late James E. Groves and Albert Walker and rang his first peal of Stedman Cinques at the Bull Ring in 1923. He commenced teaching in that year at Long Eaton, Derbyshire, and joined the ringing band at Beeston, Notts, ringing in the first peal of London in the city of Nottingham, and the first in the county by a local band.

In 1926 he returned to teach in Birmingham and in 1932 was appointed Headmaster of Shirley School. In 1935 he was appointed Headmaster of Sharman's Cross Junior School when it was opened, and has served in that capacity for 25 years. He has been actively connected with Solihull Parish Church for 53 years as a chorister and ringer. He was deputy ringing master for 20 years and ringing master for 7 years. Most of his peal-ringing has centred in and around Birmingham, his advent being at the time when there was tremendous handbell activity in that city. He took part in peals with many of the famous Birmingham men such as Tom Miller, Tom Russam, J. E. Groves, etc., and with some like Albert Walker, still living.

The end of World War II saw a great revival of peal ringing in Surprise Methods in Birmingham under the energetic leadership of George E. Fearn, and in this Mr. Shepherd played an active part, particularly in Surprise Royal and Maximus methods. One peal of which he is particularly proud was a handbell peal of Stedman Cinques rung in the Lord Mayor's Parlour at Birmingham with the Lord Mayor (Alderman A. Paddon Smith) taking part. In all he has rung 546 peals, of which 170 have been on twelve bells. Mr. Shepherd has served the St. Martin's Guild in various capacities, being elected Master in 1949, VicePresident in 1951, Librarian in 1952 and Trustee in 1957. He was elected an Hon. Member of the Central Council in 1951 and was made Convener of the Literature and Press Committee in 1954.

In 1944 he married Frances Joyce Finley, a member of an old Solihull family, and they have one daughter Mary, who is at present reading English at Bedford College, London University. Amongst his many contributions to this journal are Grandsire Caters, history of the Method; Double Norwich Caters, proof; St. Martin's Youths; History of the Tower and Bells of Solihull; a handbook on Grandsire Caters, etc., etc. JAFUS.

Tips For Beginners-12

A common difficulty is to learn not to continue sfaring as the rope you have already 'found.' As soon as you have found the bell you have to strike over this time, start looking immediately for the one you have to strike next.

CUMBERLAND YOUTHS AT DINNER

The Master's Optimistic Note

THE posiponed annual dinner of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths held at Deacon's Restaurant, London, on March 5th. was a very successful function. The new Master. Mr. Dennis Beresford, was a witty chairman and struck an optimistic note in his speech of the great opportunities in front of the Cumberlands today and the encouraging attendances at their practices. Mr. Frank Matthews was the secretary to the dinner committee

Supporting the Master and Mrs. D. Beresford were the Rev. G. Blacktop, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. and Miss Barnett, Mr. J. Prior (Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths) and Mrs. Prior, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Mathews, Mr. W. Winterton. Mr. and Mrs F. Hawthorne. Mr. I. Oram, the Rev. Fraser.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Audsley, Mr. and Mrs. F Cullum. Mr. and Mrs. H. Rogers. Mr. and Mrs. P. Humphries, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kirkby, Mr. and Mrs. M. Baxter. Mr. and Mrs. J Raithby, Mr. and Mrs. W. Exton. Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Francis, Mr. and Mrs. R. F.

Messrs. A. Butler, P. N. Bond, P. Beresford, N. Steere, R. Ling, J. Cooper, A. Cutler, E. Furbank. J. Hawkins, I. Zass-Ogilvie, M Lewis, B. Jeffery, C. Dennett, J. Warner, S Jenner. B. Baker. R. Capron, D. Leach. B. Brockington and T. W. White
The loyal toast was followed by that of The Church' proposed by Mr. E. A. Barnett. who said he could never get enthusiastic about the $\sin$ of divided Christendom. The Rev. G. Blacktop. Vicar of St. Nicholas*, Thames Ditton, expressed the hope. to the enjoyment of the company, that Mr. Barnett would never get enthusiastic about any $\sin$.

A CHURCH ACTIVITY

Mr. Blacktop said the most happy position about bellringing was that people rang bells not merely to practise their skill but as members of their church and it was one of the church's activities. While that remained there was no fear of the tools of their craft not being regarded as the accepted equipment of the Church to be provided and maintained by the Church. He thanked the ringers for their work in the life of the Church.
Mr. Ian H. Oram in proposing 'The Society " said the Society, like many others. had a chequered history in its early days. Before 1746 they were known as the London Scholars and Trollope, years later, expressed doubt that the bells of Shoreditch were rung to welcome the Duke of Cumberland as he did not enter London by that route. The 18th century was a period when the Cumberlands held the record lengths of Stedman Caters and Cinques and Treble Bob Maximus.
In 1872 the Society elected Henry Dains as secretary, a composer of great merit whose compositions were still popular today. One of the most popular of the members was Jack Goldsmith. the founder of 'The Ringing World.

Dealing with recent times Mr. Oram mentioned that the Society's joint meetings with the Middlesex Association were very happy occasions. He hoped that it would not be long before they had a second meeting with the College Youths. The prospects of the Society in 1960 were very good. They had elected Mr. Dennis Beresford as Master: the

MR. DENNIS BERESFORD

Beresford family had been prominent ringers for many years and it was a great privilege to have one of them as Master.

The Master in reply said he had some diffidence in occupying the chair especially when one considered the calibre of previous Masters in the post-war period such as George Cross. Herbert Audsley, who had rung over 1.000 peals. Fred Cullum, with over 300 peals rung at Erith. and Peter Bond with his great height. It was perhaps appropriate that he as a graduate of London University should be Master of their Society which started as the London Scholars.
It was well to remember the achievements of the Society and to note the rivalry between the Cumberlands and College Youths. Such rivalry was an excellent thing provided it was not accompanied by personal animosity

THEIR DEBT

Remembering their 200 years of existence and the famous names associated with the Cumberlands, he was sure they felt, as he did. that it was a great responsibility to maintain the traditions of the Society. People who had learned their ringing through the Society should remember what a debt of gratitude they owed to the Society. They should put back into the Society what they had learnt and in doing so their Society would flourish. He thought at the present time they had one of the best opportunities they had ever had for building up. the Society as they would like to see it. They were having excellent attendances at their practices and if they had equally good attendances at their meetings he was sure they would succeed.
Proposing the toast of 'The Visitors" Mr. F. J. Cuntum had a special word of welcome for the Master of the College Youths and also Mr. Hawkins. It was also a great delight to have with them year by year their friends from Newark.

Reminiscing, Mr. Cullum said when he started to ring he used to walk to Crayford to ring Grandsire Doubles and he was pleased to ring it! It was to those old ringers that they owed their success and he remembered in particular the late Mr. Barnett. the grandfather of the secretary of the Central Council.

Mr. J. G. Prior in reply said their dinner clashed with a meeting of the College Youths.

He had attended the start of the meeting but when he mentioned that he had been invited to the Cumberlands' dinner they said, ' Of course, you must go.' He thought it was a very good thing that the Master of the College Youths and the Cumberlands attended each other's dinners. It was not so many years ago when such a thing would not have been thought of. Their dinner would be on November 5 th but he promised them that there would be no 'fireworks.' He brought from the College Youths best wishes for continued prosperity.

NEARLY A CUMBERLAND
He owed a debt to the Cumberlands. It was Frank Matthews' grandfather who made him ring his first touch of Stedman Cinques. It was with great trepidation that he stood in as previously he had only rung Stedman Doubles. With the many members of their Society that he knew in those days, it was a surprise that he did not become a Cumberland.

Mr. T. W. White also replied
The concluding toast. that of "The Master, was proposed by Mr. Frank Hawthorne.

During the evening the beautiful singing of a quartette from St. Martin's Singers was much appreciated. A course of Stedman Caters was rung by E. A. Barnett 1-2, P. Beresford 3-4. D. Beresford 5-6. Miss Joan Beresford 7-8, and P. N. Bond 9-10.

MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY'S RECORD HANDBELL GIMMICK

The time was $7.55 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on February 29th. A group of furtive figures could be seen in Piccadilly Gardens, Manchester. Placards were being erected. 'What's going on?' thought. the citizens as, peacefully, they made their way to work. Some stopped to read the posters: - World Record, 12 Hours Non-stop.' At last the mystery was solved. Three students from Manchester College of Science and Technology were about to embark upon a marathon hand-bell-ringing session with a view to facilitating the extraction of money, by their colleagues, from the innocent bystanders, thereby augmenting the University Rag collections for local charities.

At 8 a.m. the ringing started, the sun came out, and people stared. During the morning several extents of Bob Minor were rung and several were lost; then came the first great spectacle of the day. Not being professional ringing record-breakers, the three tintinnabulators had decided to partake of meals at the normal times, suitably assisted by their keepers, whilst still ringing rounds. This really drew the crowds, and there was a great increase in the activity of photographers

The weather was less kind in the afternoon, and frequent trips to the shelter of the bus station (still ringing, of course) helped to relieve the monotony, as did short periods of rounds. call-changes and Grandsire. As darkness descended. so did more rain. and the choice between getting soaked or ringing in the bus station, where the bells could not be heard ahove the noise of engines, eventually resulted in an agreement to stop ringing after 11 hours instead of 12 .
What were the rewards of this great performance? A world record (if anyone denies this we can probahly restate the facts in such a way that it is!), six severe cases of "Bell-ringers" Elhow: and plenty of money in the hoxes for Manchester charities.

The thanks of the organisers go to the ringers (C. J. Maretti 1-2, T. Taylor 3-4, J. Pilkington 5-6), their guardians and feeders (Alf, Barry, Vasit, Jean, Rosemary). Manchester Corporation, for the use of their garden. and the Police, for turning a blind eye.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NOISE ABATEMENT BILL

Dear Sir.-Mr. William Parrott's letter is timely and very much to the point. Once hefore. in 1925, beliringing, was similarly threatened hy a society calling itself. The Society for the Prevention of Public Nuisances.' who sought to introduce a Bill into Parliament having for its object the suppression of church bellringing. The then Editor of 'The Ringing World,' the late J. S. Goldsmith, in his leading article on October 30th, 1925, commented:

The anti-this and anti-that people, even though they be few in numbers. can very easily make a big noise... and hope to persuade Members of Parliament that. in the case of their Society, the clamour of the few represents the views of the many.

At the same time it is well that the Exercise should prepare for eventualities. There is always the risk that by backdoor methods. and without those chiefly concerned having any knowledge of what is happening until it is too late, some clause or Bill may be smuggled through Parliament which would jeopardise the right of the Church to the use of and control over its bells. Not only is it necessary, therefore. that the Central Council should, especially under the present threat, keep an extremely vigilant look out for any Parliamentary attempt to suppress the ringing of church bells, but should get into order and ready for immediate action an efficiently organised counter attack.'
Sound advice then, and equally so now. being well summed up in the title words over the article quoted from-VIGILANCE AND ACTION NEEDED.-Yours truly,

Heaton. Bradford

NEW METHODS FOR ROYAL BIRTH

Dear Sir.-For the benefit of those who like to keep precise records, the peal of Edinburgh Delight Minor rung at Warsop. Nottinghamshire, for the Royal birth was not the first in the method. This was rung at Cuddington, Buckinghamshire, on May 4th, 1957.

Sandringham Surprise Major was first rung at Warfield. Berkshire. on May 27th. 1936. and so your leader is not correct in suggesting that the peal at Spalding was the first in this method.-Yours faithfully.

JOHN R. MAYNE.
Harrow.

CHARLES W. BLAKEY

 MEMORIALDear Sir-I shall be grateful if. through your calumns I may draw the attention of ringers to the Charles W. Blakey Memorial Fund. Mr. Blakey will be remembered with affection by many ringers throughout the country. and the members of the Blackburn Branch of the Lancashire Association. of which he was secretary until his death in October last. feel that there are many who would like to join with them in providing a lasting tribute to him.
The intention is to place in the helfry at Rishton, where Mr. Blakey learned to ring. either a marble plaque or a tahle hearing an inscribed brass plaque to his memory. Anyone wishing to join in this appreciation should send donations to me.

THE ROTHWELL PEAL

Dear Sir.-lt amazes me that Mr. Chapman should profess ignorance of the intended footnote to the Rothwell peal when the organiser informed me of the intention at least a month before the peal. and I was not in the least connected with it. If his principles are so high he should have stood down from the peal.
In looking back, through the pages of -The Ringing World ' we see many 'secular' peals. including those commemorating Oliver Cromwell. Julius Caesar. and this week, the Royal Birth. If one of our fraternity, obviously of great literary knowledge. should wish to commemorate a great literary master by ringing a peal 1 see no reason why not when considering the other footnotes. In fact it is a lot better than peals rung merely to allow a man to 'circle a tower' 10 times, etc. Peals are by far the best way of practising a method and striking, and so the more we ring the better is our standard likely to become. The best of luck to everyone who attempts peals, whatever their reason.
The criticism Mr. Austin introduces is a parallel to the other correspondence we are reading concerning Evesham. The choice of band is entirely up to the conductor or organiser. and the permission for the bells is the incumbent's prerogative. so any conditions laid down by the local ringers are purely selfish.
Incidentally, one cannot connect Dostoyerski with the policy of atheism pursued by the U.S.S.R.-Sincerely,
R. J. JOHNSTON.

RINGING AND COMPUTORS

Dear Sir,-About two years ago it fell to my lot to deal with a large switching circuit employing electro magnetic relays. Inevitably. I considered the application of such circuits to the composition of peals. Since there is no likelihood of the device being built, I confined myself to specifying the necessary hehaviour in terms of Boolean algebra. At the rate of four multi-contact relays per calling position per course, composition of onepart peals in T.B. Major methods with tenors together would require 960 relays; auxiliary circuits for displaying the results, restricting the output to peals with desired qualities or of desired lengit. and so on. would increase the number to 1.200 or more. This estimate assumed that adjustments to cater for the order of leads. fourth or sixth place bob, and internal falseness, would he pre-set manually. I sketched another circuit for working out false course leads from the first-half lead of a method, the rows being fed into the device manually, a pair at a time.

There is no doubt that special computors can be readily devised to solve particular finging problems. The difficulties mentioned in recent correspondence suggest that general purpose computors. though versatile, are inherenily clumsy.-Yours sincerely.

PEALS AT ST. MARY'S, TORQUAY
Dear Sir--With further reference to Mr . Donald Roberts inquiry, there is a memoriai tablet in marble to Mr. W. W. Gifford in the ringing room at St. Martin's, Salisbury, recording his services to that belfry: if I remember rightly. it says that he died at Blackford in Somerset.-Yours faithfully.

FAULTS IN COMPETITION RINGING
Dear Sir,-Recently reference was made in the correspondence columns of "The Ringing World' to a peal being rung 'at about 40 faults per 720. and much has appeared recently ahout making : The Ringing World appeal to the Sunday Service ringers.
Every ringer I have addressed hereabouts. many of considerable peal experience, about the scoring of faults in competition ringing have pleaded absolute ignorance. If you were to commission an article. or series of articles. on the scoring in competition, whilst it may not further the cause of competition ringing. would it not give peal ringers and service ringers alike a system of assessing the value of a touch or peal? Most of us. I am sure. are striving for better striking. and whilst 1 believe that the rules demand closed leads surely they must be adaptable to open-lead ringing.

If you feel an article would not command sufficient interest I. personally. would be grateful to be put in touch with someone who could explain the system to me.-Yours faithfully,
R.J. CARLTON

POINTS ABOUT CHURCH FLAG

AND MUFFLED RINGING

Dear $\operatorname{Sir}$,-I read with interest the letter by C. D. Armitage concerning the correct flag 10 be flown from a church tower. I was informed many years ago on good authority that the St . George's Cross is the most correct to be flown from a church tower, and this I think is generally accepted. The Union Jack, however, is not incorrect, and particularly for State occasions. such as a Royal Birthday. Her Majesty's Accession. etc.. this has been our practice here for many years.

At regards muffled ringing on Sundays. this I think is generally accepted as being very much out of place. The late Rev. H. Law James, at one time Master of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, expressed opinion on this subject and reminded us that every Sunday was a perpetual Commemoration of the Resurrection: therefore open bells on Sunday please!-Yours faithfully,
C. T. H. BRADLEY

Folkingham, Lincs

FIRST PEAL AT SOUTH STOKE

Dear Sir.-I regret having to bring news of what will be a disappointment to Mr. A. P. Cannon. I took part in the first peal at South Stoke. Oxon. in the early twenties. I have not kept a record of my peals so cannot give full particulars. I think it was my second peal and was Minor in three methods. my first peal having been on October 20th. 1920. five days after my 17 th birthdiy.

The Oxford Diocesan Guild Peal Book should have the record. I well remember the local ringers looking at us with some amaze. ment with their heads peeping round the curtains during the later part of the peal. -Yours faithfully. W. SIMMONDS.

CAPTAIN'S IN CONTROL.

Dear Sir.-The Evesham Hemmings need have no fear of being accused of being childish. We have a tower in this area where no peals are allowed unless the local captain conducts. It is a very rare tower where few peals are rung.

I only wish they would move to this district and bring their Evesham bells with them. we could do with ringers of their enthusiasm in these parts to add a little life to those already here.-Yours sincerely.

GEOFFREY K. DODD.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

The Elloe Deaneries Branch elected new officers at their annual meeting at Spalding on February 27 th. The Rev. R. W. H. Nind, who conducted the service, is leaving after Easter to take up a mission posit in Jamaica, and in his place the Rev. G. Jakeman was elected president. Mr. M. Bennett asked to be relicved of his post as secretary and treasurer, and Mr. B. B. Tyrell was clected to fill the pasition. The accounts showed that the Branch was in a healthy position. Quarterly meetings were arranged for Crowland, Quadring, Lutton and Donington.

SUNDAY SERVICE NEWS WYCHBOLD

At the beginning of 1959 the St. Mary-deWyche. Wychbold, company was practically non-existent, there being only five regular members for six bells. In February and March 14 youngsters were taught to handle a bell, and ten are still in the company.
Under the captaincy of Mr. Arthur D. Cook, steady progress has been made. On September 27 th two of the beginners rang in a local quarter for harvest festival. Since that date eight local quarters have been rung and five beginners have scored their 'first.' Members of the choir (which includes ten ringers) have also rung a quarter. By invitation, a quarter has been rung at St. Peter-de-Witton. Droitwich Spa, the first on the bells for several years.
Two of the young ringers rang their first peal on November 14th, and on December 16th, to mark the 70th anniversary of the casting of Wychhold bells, a peal of Grandsire was rung by a band of an average age of $15 \frac{1}{2}$ years, which included four local ringers. The target for 1960 is a peal of Minor by a local band.

OBITUARY

MR. WILLIAM C. LAMPARD

In the death of Mr. William C. Lampard on February 21st, the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild lost one of its oldest and most faithful members. Mr. Lampard, who was aged 85, was one of the members of the first change-ringing band to ring regularly at Winchester Cathedral under the late Mr. W. H. George. At the time of his death. Mr. Lampard was captain of the ringers, and in his 70th year of service as a ringer at Winchester Cathedral. Under his able tuition. many of the boys attending Winchester College learnt their early ringing. Mr. Lampard was also for a time the honorary secretary of the Winchester District of the Guild.
The funeral service, held in Winchester Cathedral on February, 25th, was attended by many civic dignitaries of the city of Winchester, including the Mayor. Prior to the service the bells of the Cathedral were rung half muffled by a representative band of he Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. At the graveside handbells were rung by members of the Cathedral band.
A memorial quarter peal of Grandsire Cinques was rung by members of the Guild on March 2nd at the Cathedral.-R. R. S.

APPRECIATIONS

Winchester Cathedral has lost a very dear friend in Mr. William Charles Lampard, captain of the ringers, and associated with them for 69 years. He died at the age of them for 69 years. He died at the age 85 on February 21st as a result of a fall.
On the previous Sunday he was hale and vigorous; his ropesight was keen and his mental alertness was unimpaired as he called the changes. His innate dignity and courtesy, blending with a natural instinct for service and kindliness., made him a beloved leader and a delightful companion. As a boy from 1884 to 1890 he was cducated with the Quiristers at Winchester College. He excelled in his youth at cricket, football, and swimming: and his love of healthy exercise strengthened his fondness for change-ringing. in which he instructed countless newcomers with patience and cheery encouragenent
He was a first-rate creative craftsman as a woodcarver : and many churches were adorned with screens and stalls, which he had made. His regularity and punctuality were of the highest standard: and the 119 worn steps leading to the ringers' chamber in the 12 th century Norman tower bear the impress of his long years of faithful service.

Among the many ringers who have learnt with sorrow of the recent death of Mr . Lampard are those Wykehamists who learnt to ring at Winchester Cathedral while the College bells were out of action. During the years when Wilfred Andrews was in charge at the Cathedral, Mr. Lampard. then his deputy, was always ready with help and advice to us learners; and latterly during his own term of office he had taught many more himself.
In his young days he had been a 'Quirister,' or College choirboy, and fortunately for us remembered that time with great pleasure. He rang on the College bells on the few occasions that they were rung this century before their recent rehanging, and had helped frequently ince then: and the recent peal there would have been impossible without his teaching and encouragement.
Unfortunately, most of us learnt of his death too late to do more than send flowers to his funeral ; but we shall all feel that we have lost a very good friend. B. D. T. and D. J. R.

MR. J. HLRRELL

We record with regret the death of Mr. Jim Hurrell, of Elthanl. Kent, at the age of 82 . For many months past he had been in indifferent healih, and had just recently been admitted to Farnborough Hospital.
Jim Hurrell commenced ringing on the old six at Eltham, and helped maintain the band when the bells were increased to eight in 1924. ILe was very keen on tinging quarter peals for services, and always gave a warm welcome to visiturs at practices or on Sundays. His son, Frederick J. Hurrell, soon acquired his father's interest in ringing, and has held the position of captain for several years past.

Though primarily a Sunday service ringer, Jim had rung some 56 peals, all in the Lewisham district. His first was Holt's Original at Deptford in May, 1913, and the last-the same com-position-at Eltham in January of last year. The list includes Grandsire (which makes up half the total), Plain Bob, Stedman and Treble Bob. Over 20 of his peals were rung on Eltham bells.
The funeral was held on February 18th at the Eltham Crematorium and was attended by relatives, friends and ringers from several neighbouring towers. A half-muflled ywarter peal was unfortunately unsuccessful. Sympathy is extended to his wife, daughter, and son Frederick

May he rest in peace.

THE VEN. ELLIS NORMAN GOWING AN APPRECIATION

The Vicar of Prittlewell made a very rich contribution to the work of God in Essex. He was a native of Australia, where he was ordained, and came to the 'Old Country,' as he called us, in 1909 or 1910, and served for some time as curate at St. James-the-Less'. Bethnal Green. When the vicar of that church (John Edwin Watts-Ditchfield) became the first Bishop of Chelmsford in 1914, he became the Bishop's chaplain, and in 1917 became the Vicar of Prittlewell. Remaining so until his death on March 2nd, he served the Church in Essex as Canon, Rural Dean and Archdeacon of Southend, and undoubtedly his influence was felt in every department of Church work in Essex and did much to establish the new-formed diocese of Chelmsford.
He took an active interest in bell-ringers and the belfry. He was elected an honorary member of the Essex Association in 1920; later vicepresident and life vice-president. When in 1929 the ringing at Prittlewell fell to a low state, he led the new recruits by learning to ring himself, and was very proud of his one and only performance, that of a quarter peal of Plain Bob Major, rung on March 14th. 1929, at Prittlewell. Many ringers will remember his words of wisdom when asked to preach at annual meetings. his interest in the ringers and the belfry on his visitations as Archdeacon and visits as Rural Dean. The belfry to him was an important part of the church.
He was a man of simple faith. a friend to every man and woman with whom he came in contact, a man of great tenacity. perseverance. sometimes impatient of procrastination and bureaucracy in high places, and yet listening to the advice of the humblest man in whatever council he found himself.
He leaves a memorial in the Parish Church of Prittlewell. which he has heen instrumental in restoring wholly, including the tower and belfry and the furnishing thereof. the church schools adjoining. and the daughter churches of Southend and District, which he founded.
Sadness fills our hearts in not having his earthly presence, hut gladness and thanksgiving to God for his friendship and all his work for the Church in Essex. May we try to follow his example.
F. B. L.

MR. ALLAN LUKE TOWNEND

Allan Townend passed away at his home suddenly on Sunday. February 28th, after ringing for morning service at his own beloved Parish Church of St. Michael, Mottram. The funeral service and burial took place on March 3rd and was attended hy a large congregation. His bells. which he loved so dearly, were rung half-muffled before the service hy the local band and friends, under the leadership of Mr. John Heap; who had been a particular friend of Allan's. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells over the grave by Dorothy M. Heap 1-2. Frank Osbaldiston 3-4. Trevor Taylor 5-6, John Heap 7.8
If was fitting that in the afternoon a halfmuified peal of Bub Major was rung by a band consisting mainly of students of the University of Manchester, where Allan himself graduated

TRUE OR FALSE?

A Questionnaire by Professor Dodge (With a foreword by his amanuensis)

IHAVE great pleasure in presenting another series of searching, and edifying, questions given by the Professor. I have persuaded him to include some that will be of interest to the not-too-advanced, and hope that his answers will be perused with the attention which he devoted to compiling them. As in a questionnaire of this kind one can be only right or wrong, I leave it to the reader's own conscience as to whether his answer is right or wrong because of a wild guess or a shrewd surmise!
(1) It is possible to be conducting a peal of T.B. Major, make a miscall, and still under certain circumstances ring through without falseness.
(2) The first 720 of Plain Bob Minor was published in 1702.
(3) It is not possible to call a peal of T.B. Major without first knowing the calling.
(4) A Bob in Plain Bob alters the lead-ends from tve (In-course) to -ve (out-of-course).
(5) There is no Roman Catholic church in the British Isles which contains a ring of 12 (ringabie) bells.
(6) The first published 5,040 of Grandsire Triples turned out to be false.
(7) All methods rung today are symmetrical between leadheads and lead ends.
(8) At one time a 'single' in Stedman Doubles was made on the front.
(9) Uniess turned from the lead by the treble, the bells one leads from (or off) in Plain Bob Minor and Major are, respectively, the 2nd and 3rd. and 3rd and 4th bells which will be met when hunting up.
(10) There have been only two peals of Original Minor rung.
(11) One of the greatest heavy-bell ringers of all time went to a ringing meeting on his first birthday, where the mecting meeting rose and sang. 'Happy Birthday.'
(12) The first published regular Surprise method was 'Primrose.'
(13) There is a system whereby Cambridge Surprise may be rung from Minor to Maximus without knowing the 'blue line.'
(14) Two only of the following bells are hung for ringing in peal: 'Great Tom,' 'Great John.' 'Grandison,' 'Great Peter.' 'S. Dunstan.' 'Major,' and 'Litle John.'
(15) Working from memory is, unfortunately, the only way to write down the lead head of any lead in the plain course of a regular method, given the bell on the front with the treble.
(16) It is only necessary to write out half a lead of a method to discover whether it is 'regular' or otherwise.
(17) The method 'Crown Bob.' which appears on some old peal boards is false.
(18) The system of proving by 'course-ends' was invented by Jasper Snowdon.
(19) That it is impossible to have a 5.040 of Grandsire Triples without a "single " was first proved by a non-ringer.
(20) When ringing a heavy bell it is necessary to strike more closely to the small bells.

ANSWERS

(1) True. George Lewis was once conducting a peal of T.B. Major and made a miscall about two-thirds of the way through the peal. He informed the rest of the team as they were ringing and offered to insert the alternative calling for the course and run the risk of ringing a false peal. The team agreed to carry on and after the peal was finished George sat down in the belfry to prove it. The peal turned out to be true although, of course, the length was different from the original!
(2) False. Stedman in 'Tintinnalogia' (1688) gives an ' 18 -score ' which he doubles by singles,' although these are made in 256 as opposed to the 'single' used today which is made in 234.
(3) False. If the calling consists of Bobs W. B. M. H., then it is possible to call the peal by memorising the courseends (heads), provided that it is known which courses contain a 'before.'
(4) False. Only a 'single' does this.
(5) False. Buckfast Abbey contains a ring of 12 bells.
(6) True. In the first edition of 'Campanalogia' a 2,520 is given which the authors state will run to 5.040 when doubled by singles. Unfortunately when this is done the composition is false.
(7) False. e.g. 'Grandsire.'
(8) True.
(9) True. (The Professor apologises if he has impinged on 'Tips for beginners.')
(10) False. There has never been a peal of Original Minor rung.
(11) True. This happened at the February meeting (this year) of the Barnsley and District Society, at Earlsheaton, when Adrian M. Moreton was one year old.
(12) False. Cambridge Surprise (Minor) was the first. Although Primrose Surprise appeared in the same publication, ('Campanalogia '). it was the 'irregular' version which was, however, recognised as the standard version until comparatively recently when a 'regular' method filched its name.
(13) True. It works quite well for Minor and Major, is less efficient as the number of bells increases and is precarious in Maximus where the treble is liable to be missed owing to the welter of ropes-and sounds.
(14) False. Only 'Grandison' (Exeter Cathedral) is a 'ringers' bell. All the others are hung 'dead.'
(15) False. Write down the coursing circie (e.g. in Major 2468753 ). clockwise, and starting from the required bell, zigzag across the circle beginning anti-clockwise. (There are other ways.)
(16) Truc. Using the coursing circle of the previous answer. select the half-lead pivot bell fi.e. the bell making the place at the same time that the treble lies behind). and if the method is 'regular,' the bells that are crossing at this juncture should make a series of parallel lines on the coursing circle.
(17) True. This early attempt at 'splicing' consists of consecutive leads of Oxford T.B., College Pleasure T.B. and College T.B. It appeared in the first edition of -Campanalogia " and thereafter disappeared.
(18) False. Snowdon clarified it in his 'Ropesight.' but it was given carlier by Sir Arthur Heywood in 'Dufficld,' a book on the method of his own invention.
(19) True This was W. H. Thompson in his famous treatise on 'Grandsire ' (The Thompson Papers), who also introduced the term 'Q-sets,' by means of which he carried out his proof.
(20) False. The interval of striking is the same for all bells; the interval of pulling varies.

The Ancient Society of College Youths' peal at Buck. fast Abbey on March 12th was Mr. Herbert C. Spencer's 50th peal of Stedman Cinques on tower bells. Members of the band would like to acknowledge his kind hospitality at heing entertained to tea after the peal and also to express their thanks fo: the facilities accorded to them at the Abbey.
A reader inquires whether there is a firm in the West Country which makes handbells?
Associated with the peal for the Royal Prince at Stanwell, on February 20th, was a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blagrove, visitors to the tower, on the birth of a son.
Mr. William Stonnard, of the Norman Tower Company. Ipswich. had the misfortune to drop a piece of red hot iron on his foot during his work as a blacksmith. Treatment at the West Suffolk General Hospital was necessary. but we are pleased to learn that he is now ringing again.
After ringing the first peal of Double Norwich on the hells of Wellington, Somerset, the band were entertained 10 an excellent meal at the home of Mr. Patrick J. Bird. The band through the medium of this journal. would like 10 express their thanks to Mr . and Mrs. Bird.

Wychbold, Worcs, is becoming prominent in our columns. Lindsey Gittins was the fifth member of their band to ring his first peal since November, 1959. The local tower captain, Mr. A. D. Cook, rang, on March 13th, his second peal of Doubles, separated by 17 vears. Comments a church member: 'Our ringers are not just keen; they are mad!:

The team which rang a peal on February 20th at Lewannick succeeded in ringing another peal of 5.040 Grandsire Doubles on March 5 th on the musical five at Coryton. Devon. A few minutes after the peal had been comoleted, when the bells were being lowered, the lhird bell rope broke! The tean hopes to ring a peal at St. Michael's, Brentor, in the near future. It is believed that no peals have been rung before, either at Coryton or Brentor.

GOSSIP

The Royal birth was heralded in Sydney on Saturday: February 20th, by St. Mark's, Darling Point, ringing froms 2.45 to $3 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. (as soon as the news was received). St. Jude's rang from 8 to $9 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and St. Mary's from 8 to 9 p.m.
The ringer of the fourth in the peal at St. Mary-de-Wyche. Wychbold. on February 6th (see page 133) was Martin D. Fellows. and not as submitted.

Mr. P. G. K. Davies would like to point out that the arrangements of bobs for his compositions of Spliced in five parts are old peals of Superlative.
The band who rang in the peal at Burford, Oxon, on February 20th, would like to thank Mr. arid Mrs. E. Shackleton. of Siow-on-theWold, for entertaining them for the week-end.
For the ANZAC week-end, St. Paul's Cathedral band. Melbourne, hope to visit Adelaide to ring on the heavy octave and the light six at Walkerville.

The band. who rang the peal at Dunkerton. Bath. on Fehruary 27th, would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Butt for their hospitality after the peal.
Last Saturday the president of the Cen!ral Council. Mr. Frederick Sharpe, addressed the Canterbury Archazological Society on the history of bells. His talk was followed by a recital on handbells by the Launton Handbell Ringers.

The Witney and Woodstock branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild have passed the following resolution: That this branch make a donation to the World Refugee Appeal, made un of thom the branch funds and the proceeds of an appeal for one shilling from each branch member.

The Primate and Anglican Archbishop of Sydney, Dr. H. R. Gough, will dedicate a ring of cight bells at St. Paul's Church: Burwood Heights, Sydney, on Aoril 3rd. The hells from the Loughborough Foundry arrived on March 6th. They cost $£ 3.500$ and the installation £700. Ringers for St. Paul's are heing trained at All Saints" Church. Parramatta.

MARCH THE FOURTH'  AT APPLETON

AMONG the Appleton ringers and their friends a special day has crept into the calendar. It is a "movable feast?" and it is quite common in North Berkshire to hear an enquiry as to when 'March-the-Fourth' is in any year
This year 'The Fourth' was on March 5th. and on that day the village of Appleton. and all friends of the Appleton ringers, celebrated the 142nd anniversary of the installation of its first ring of bells.
The festival followed the traditional pattern. It hegan with a peal attempt in the morning, which unfortunately came to a sudden. untimely end after just over $1 \frac{1}{2}$ hours' good ringing. The peal failure, however, gave some an opportunity of visiting the hellhanging workshops of Mr. Frank White, before enjoying the customary hospitality for which his sister. Phyllis, and he are noted.

In the afternoon visitors came from all directions, to meet old friends, and ring the Appleton bells. From nearby Oxford. from Gloucestershire and Bristol. from Ilsley and Hagbourne on the Berkshire Downs, from Faringdon and the Vale of White Horse, came regular 'Fourth-of-March' visitors. From Hampshire came Bill Hibbert. keeping his 41st 'Fourth'; while from Witney and the Oxfordshire villages across the Thames came many of both sexes and of all ages to this lovely Berkshire village. And this year the traditional snow and ice were missing-the

Peals For The Infant Prince

We are now in a position to assess the ringing for the birth of the Roval Prince to H.M. the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh

A total of 140 peals was rung, including one in Australia and iwo in Norfhern Ireland.

This is a very' fine tribute. Comparaive figures are: Birth of Princess Amme. 49 peals: birth of Prince Charles. 155 peals; marriage of the Queen and the Duke of Eidinburgh, 162 peals.
weather was delightful-as warm as the best day in spring. From Abingdon came the well-known secretary of the North Herkshire branch of the Oxford Guild, and his wife to join once again in the celebrations. with other officers of the Guild.
It was good to meet again Fred White, who rang the Appleton tenor through the record peal of Stedman and Grandsire Caters, and Cuthbert White (perhaps better known as John) who rang in the Grandsire record, and to see, and hear, the next generation of the White family ringing Caters together with thowe few Appleton ringers who are not Whites.

At four oclock the company sat down to a meal in "The Thatched Tavern." (which, by the way, has never bern thatched). The tavern was sarained to capacity. hul somehow everyone managed to get ill. Mr. Frank White, and Dr. Tyndale-Hart. the new Rector of Appleton. attending the celebrations for the first time, welcomed the visitors. Mr Frederick Sharpe spoke of the anniversary and its significance and paid tribute to the distinguished records of the Appleton Society of Ringers. Sir Basil Blackwell, a regular visitor on this occasion, wished the Society and its members every success.

The traditional Fourth-of-March song was sung by the President of The Central Council. who was keeping his 35th 'Fourth' that day There was delightful handbell ringing by members of the White family. Who also lapped. a course of Caters to the delight of the visitors.
March-the-Fourth at Appleto:t is noted for the informal social gathering which takes place in the evening, and at which many traditional folk songs are sung. The usual singers. Cuthbert and Harry White. Bill Hibbert and Edward Sneller. Alf. Webh and the ladies from Haghourne entertained the company in their customary excellent manner; but, this

MR. A. J. PITMAN

Hon. Member, Central Council.
Mr. A. J. Pitman's contribution to the art of ringing has been most useful and timely. The rapid progress made in ringing advanced methods during the last 30 years, and the inevitable development into the field of spliced ringing. created a necessity for reliable com-year. there was a welcome addition to their number. We were privileged 10 welcome as a guest the captain of the ringers of Ambridge. fom Forrest (Mr. Bob Arnold), and his wife and daughter. His other wife he hastened to explain, not "Pru." Tom entered wholeheartedly into the proceedings, and delighted the whole company by singing some of his traditional songs. songs in which everyone joined in each chorus. And so ended the 142nd 'Fourth. and, as we parted to wend our ways home. our thoughts began to turn to the next anniversary. This should the a special one. for it also marks the centenary of the augmentation of the Appleton hells to ten.

May friendship and freedom this day much abound.
May mirth and good humour go jovially round:
May the young and the old. the grave and the gay.
Rentember this is our March-the-Fourth Day.

Tips For Beginners- 13

When ringing Stedman, remember if you strike a point blow at lead the bell wou rouk off must turn you again. Learmers often tend to look for a different bell, but obviously if you have struck only one blow at lead the onver hell has not had time to get away:

News From Canada

Encouraging news has been received from Christ Church Cathedral. Victoria. British Columbia. Grandsire. Sicdman and Treble Boh are rung regularly. The three grandsons of Mr. Edward Izard are members of the company and one of them recently rang his first quarter.

The monks at the Mission City Monastery are assiduous in their practising and now ring Plain Bob Minor. positions, and Mr. Pitman, seeing this need promptly set about the joh of filling it. His reputation in this field stands very high, and a very large proportion of the peals of Spliced Surprise Major have been produced by him.
Born in 1887 at Bridgend, he attended Baglan Church School. leaving soon after he was 12 years old. He learned 10 ring at Baglan in 1899. where the highest achievement was Grandsire Doubles. Serious ringing began for him at Aberavon. where they could ring Grandsire Triples. He was soon appointed conductor, and this started him off composing musical touches for Service ringing. He conducted his first peal (Grandsire Triples) at Aberavon in 1914 and in 1931 his band rang a local peal in the same method.
Mr. Pitman studied the Snowdon Series of books, obtaining knowledge which enabled him to form the ideas which led to his brilliant compositions. He was elected Master of the Swansea and Brecon Guild and represented that Association on the Centril Council from 1928-34. He is now an Hon. Member. Opportunities for ringing the advanced methods were not frequent at the time he lived at Aberavon, and most of his peals have been in the four standard methods. He did. however, ring Cambridge Surprise Major at St. George's. Southwark. in 1937. and Superlative later at Warfield. In 1928 he took part in a Past Masters' peal of Stedman Triples at Cardiff, and a peal of Spliced Oxford Bob and Grandsire Triples at Bridgen J. which was the first peal of Triples rung with bobs only. His peals total is about 200. of which he has conducted about 100 .

JAFUS.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Mrs. E. L. Hairs is back in harness for the Sussex County Association, havling taken over the secretaryship of the Northern Division.
Mr. T. J. L.ock's annual tour will be in Oxfordshire this year-from September 3rd to 10hh.

From l'enarth we learn that it was Ruth Havard who sat through the peal at Sully. and not Keith Havard as submitted by our correspondent. (See page 159.)

The City of L.ondon is to have its only six tell lower at St. Vedast. This ring will have a tenor of 18 cwl . and Messrs. Mears and Stainbank hope to install them in about: month's time.
A party of ringing enthusiasts from Groton Schools. U.S.A.. is spending about six week: in this country this spring. The College Youths and the Middlesex Association are taking them in hand with the ohject of bringing their ringing and striking up to British standards.
A tablet recording the peal of Grandsire Caters commemorating the restoration of the parochial status of St. John-the-Divine. leicester, is 10 be dedicated in the church next Sunday during Evensong. hefore being placed in the ringing chamber.

Oxford ringers will remember Miss Renatil Buchthal. She was marricd in Sydney on February 21st to Mr. Peter Tankard. Miss Buchthal was a welfare officer for Dr. Barnardo's Homes in N.S.W. When her work permits she intends to ring at St. Mary's Cathedral, Sydney.

Limpsfield. Surrey, ringers had the honour of having their hells broadcast on Feb. 19th after the $60^{\circ}$ clock news. It was the start of a peal attempt in honour of the Royal birth. Unfortunately the attempt failed after 2 i hours ringing, but amends were made the follouing day.

Newcastle-upon-Tyne ringers are very oleased with the progress of Alan Patterson and Jackie Thompson, of Cramlington. Alan rang his first peal two days after his 16 th birthday at his own tower. Ihis keenness is exemplified by his Sunday programme-a considerable walk to catch the $7.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. hus into Newcastle, then walking two and a half miles to ring at St. James. Benwell, and afterwards ringing for Matins at Newcastle Cathedral.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD AND NEMORIAL TO MR. A. H. PULLING TO BE ASSOCIATED WITH NEW CATHEDRAL

D
EFINITE interest was shown by the 150 members altending the annual meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, held at Harvey's Restaurant. Guildford. on March 12th. in the provision of a bell or bells for Guildford Cathedral as a memorial to Mr. A. H. Pulling.

The provision of an appropriate memorial to Mr. Pulling had been considered by each of the four districts of the Guild Mr. C. W. Denyer, the Master, who presided, said he was going to hold a meeting of the four district ringing Masters to consider the memorial.
The original suggestion was that a lift should be provided to the tower and he had been in louch with Miss Iredale, the Cathedral secretary. A letter from Miss Iredale stated that the architect. Sir Edward Maufe, was overseas recuperating from pneumonia. The architect thought that 'a chair' might be provided half-way up the tower.
The Master said the question of a bell or bells had also been considered. and he had received a letter from Miss Iredale stating that the Cathedral Council welcomed wholeheartedly the interest and understanding of the Guild. It seems from the investigations that I have made' (the letter continued) 'that much the most significant contribution which could be made by your Guild would be in providing a ring of bells which will be needed by the Cathedral. I am told that probably 10 bells would be required and that the cost of these might well be in the neighbourhood of £8.000.

We should be very grateful to your Guild if they would explore the possibility of making the gift of the bells for the Cathedral their particular interest and concern.

BELL FOR CONSECRATION

The Master said his idea was that the Guild should provide a bell that could be used immediately the Cathedral was consecrated that might he incorporated in the ring of bells that would eventually be provided. He moved, and the Guild agreed. that a meeting of ringing masters with the Guild officers be held within the next fortnight to consider the launching of an appeal for a memorial to Mr. A. H. Pulling. The Leatherhead district had expressed the view that a bell on which Mr. PPulling's name was inscribed would be the best memorial.

Mr. F. E. Collins said he was sure there were many throughout the Exercise who would like to contribute.

Aulhority was given by the meeting for the Guild Committee to act. The annual report showed that the Cathedral bell fund stood at $£ 148$.

The annual report stated that the Guild had a membership of 672 ( 581 ringers. 91 honorary). The Chertsey district was forging hhead and now had over 100 members. Whilst the Farnham district had a record menberthe Farnham ship of 184.

TRIBUTE TO MR. PULLING

The death of Mr. Alfred H. Pulling was a great how to Guildford. the Guild and the ringing Exercise. His infuence and ability in peal ringing in particular. together with his forthright speaking on matters appertaining to striking and Guild affairs. put him in the forefront of his colleagues. and the Guild was grateful for his service to the world of ringing. An appeal for funds for a suitable memorial to him was printed with the report.

The recasting of the bells of St. Andrew's, Farnham, had given that church a ring worthy of its fine tower, and St. Michael's, Aldershot, had now followed suit and sent its bells to the foundry for recasting. At Ashtead, where the bell frame caused some curtailment of ringing, a temporary repair was to be followed-it was hoped-by a major operation later in the year. Ranmore, too, had received reports from the bell founders, and the unsatisfactory condition of the five at Stoke D Absrnon had also been discussed by bell founders and the Church Council.

The following officers were elected; Master. Mr. C. W. Denyer (Farnham) ; hon. secretary and ireasurer. Mr. S. T. Russell (Ash); assistant hon. secretary, Miss W. R. Hide (rarnham): hon. auditor, Mr. P. G. Sherwood (Ash) : liaison officer with the Surrey Associalion. Mr. J. F. M. Maybrey (Claygate) ; representatives on the Central Council of Church Bellringers. Messrs. C. W. Denyer, W. H. Viggers (Aldershot). H. N. Pitstow (Banstead) and A. C. Hazelden (Guildford); ${ }_{\text {librarian, }}$ Mr. A. C. Hazelden; badge secretary, Mr. G. S. Joyce (Farnborough); peal recorder, Major E. J. Bragg (Aldershot).

MORE PEALS RUNG

The peai recorder reported that 36 peals were rung for the Guild during the year, an increase of 14 over 1958 . They were rung by 119 different ringers, Mr. E. J. Wells (Guildford) was the leading conductor with nine peals. Miss Jill Lane (Merrow) was the first lady 10 conduct a peal of Surprise for the Guild. Mr. S. Ponting (Guildford) rang his looth peal and Mr. A. P. Cannon (Dorking) his 700th.

Major Bragg said the ringers of Aldershot were raising money to provide a bell. Four of theirs had been paid for and they had promises for three more. The Guild decided to vote three guineas towards Aldershot bells and a similar sum for Ashtead bells.

APPROACH TO SURREY ASSOCIATION

The Executive Committee submitted to the meeting the following recommendation: That a sub-committee of the Guild consisting of the Master. General Secretary, and two representatives of each District. meet representatives of the Surrey Association to exchange views 10 see if any way is open for associating the work of those two bodies as one Guild.
Submitting the recommendation the Master said he suggested that the general secretary be the convener. The recommendation was selfexplanatory and did not commit anyone. The recommendation was carried.
Presenting the report of the Dinner Committee the Master said the last dinner was very enjoyable and for the first time the dinner paid its way. He hoped for an even higger attendance this year and the date had been fixed for October 8ith, at Guildford.
Mrs. Harbutl made an appeal for lady memhers to make kneelers for the Cathedral. The Cathedral authorities had two designs incorporating the Guild badge.
In the afternoon the Guild service was held in Holy Trinity Church. conducted by the Precentor (the Rev. Paul Faunch). A rohed choir of ringers led the singing. with Mr. $. G. Ponting as organist. Ringing took place during the afternoon and evening at Guildford churches and also Shalford.

AN APPRECIATION

A H. PULLING
I have been waiting for a more abler pen than mine to describe A.H.P. prior to the 1914 war. There are many, I know, who saw this expert as a Ringing Master of the old Guildford branch of the Winchester Diocesan Guild (before it was split into three Dioceses). A.H.P. would see to it that the veriest tyro had his pull. and gave him or her every encouragement. On the other hand he always reminded me of the expert drill instructor who could shake a band of bad strikers into shape quicker than anyone I ever knew.
As a conductor in any method he had very few equals. and I was a constant visitor at Holy Trinity practice every Tuesday during my term as ringing master at Aldershot-hoth pre- 14 and post- 14 war. I never took a pupil of mine to Trinity until I was satisfied with his striking. Again, even here in Burnham I use Trinity as a model which I have always tried to equal.
From pre- 14 war until I left the district in 1926 any peal that was rung at Trinity 3-20 for Major. $3-15$ for Triples was equal to or even better than any organ or orchestra with such ringers as C. H. Dobhie. Geo. Steere, Oliver Sippetts, Harry Hutton, John A. Cole. W. T. Beeson. S. H. B. Hesse. C. N.
Burdock. Fred
Rogers. Ted Duffield, etc. We have met at a lower and asked what is the method. Alf would say London. The band would reply. ' Rang that last week. We'll go up for Bristol if you like or Surrey or Dublin. but not for London.' He always took it in good part.
After any peal no sooner were we out of the tower than 'Little un, (Alf's pet-name for Mrs. P.) would be waiting to inform us for Mrs. P.) would be waiting to inform us that tea was laid on and waiting. I have never rung peals like them before or since, the nearest approach (not methods advanced but for striking) have been with my pre-'39 war boys' band and post-'39 war girls' band here in Burnham. Alf rang peals here with both bands and always gave the kids a pat on the back. telling me afterwards that they were gems.
I'm so sorry no one has said a word about A.H.P. but $1 . \mathrm{m}$ sure anything as suggested by Guildford Diocesan Guild in the nature of a national memorial would be backed by hundreds of his past ringing friends in every part of the British Isles. God rest his soul, and give us more men like him, is the prayer of Burnham. Bucks.

> GEORGE GILBERT.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

It was an opportune selection of All Saints: Crofton, for the Sociely's meeting on March 12 th . The bells have been silent here for a long time. The new Rector. the Rev. G. Slater, was delighted to meet the ringers and in his welcome he expressed the hope that he would be able to get the bells ringing again. The meeting was arranged by Mr. Noel $F$. Moxon and he was thanked for making the arrangements.
The business was largely arranging for forthcoming events. These include : next meeting East Ardsley. nr. Wakefield. April 9th: shield contest. Felfirk. near Barnsley. June 11 th cup contest. Hoylandswaine. September 10th.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DICTIONARY' METHOD OF

 CLASSIFICATIONDear Sir,-The usefulness of Corrigan's short form of describing Surprise Major methods is now generally accepted, but it has one drawback in that it does not lend itself to the classification of the methods so described. I therefore write to suggest a slight adaptation of his method, which will enable each method to have a unique group of letters to identify it, and these groups of letters can be listed in strict dictionary order.
The work would involve giving every method at present known its appropriate 'word.' and I should be pleased to collaborate in doing this. After that. every method produced can immediately be given its 'word' and entered in its correct place in the dictionary, together with its name, when known, and its f.c.e.'s. Any duplication would at once be apparent.
1 enclose a table showing the proposed let-tering--Yours faithfully,
T. G. HAWKINS.

DUPLICATION IN SURPRISF. METHODS

Dear Sir,-For Mr. Pattison, Cudham and Derwent S.M. are the same method: this slip has been corrected hefore. The method has been rung as Derwent in Spliced S.M. peals.
The next method you give is Wye.
Braunstone: - $38-14-58-16-12-38.56 .14 .56 .7$. Its 8 ths place is Frolesworth.
Apsley: $58-16-58-36-14-38-34-7,2$ nds. 5738.
Arnesby is 8ths place New Cambridge.
Evenlode: -56-14-56-38-14-58-36-7, 2nds, 8674. By Hale, do you mean Haley?
Haley: -58-14-56-36-34-38-16-5, 8ths, 5738.
Lyminge: -36-14-56-38-34-58-36-1. 2nds, 7856.
Northolt: $\quad-58-16-12.58 .36-12-58-36-7$. 2 nds. 4263.

Queslett was given by the $16 / 6 / 55$ Birmingham company as $-58-1458-58-38-34-58-16-5$ 2nds, which gives a lead-head of 18346725 .
For what it's worth. Gloucester S.M. has heen given in two notations, both with Plain Boh lead-heads. Which? Also, two companies have rung the first peal of Wicken S.M.; again two different notations. Which?
But please. Mr. Pattison, if you ring Wye. Braunstone. Rugby, etc., have the decency not to say it is a "new method for you (if such he the case). When Doubles ringers have been instructed to announce traditional arrangements as "variations. it is hypocritical for an experienced hand to ring, say. New Cambridge Maximus and claim a first in the method for themselves.-Yours faithfully.

LADIES AND HEAVY TENORS

Dear Sir,-With reference to the note in Belfry Gossip' in your issue of March 11th concerning Mrs. E. K. Fletcher's peal on Wedmore tenor, this bell weighs 30 cwt . 51 b ., according to 'Dove,' and not 35 cwt :, as published.

I believe I am correct in saying that only two ladics have succeeded in ringing heavier belis than Wedmore tenor to peals. Miss Hilda G. Snowdon rang the 33 cwt . tenor at Exeter Cathedral and shortly afterwards, in January, 1954. Miss B. Enid Lloyd Roberts rang the 35 cwt . tenor at Westbury. Wilts. It was my privilege to witness the latter performance, which. although something of a record, was published at the time without comment.-Yours, etc.,
R. J. BOWDEN.

Family Ringing At Upper Clapton

The Stoke Newington and Hackney Observer,' in its Observer Diary, calls attention to the strong family element among the ringers of St . Matthew's, Upper Clapton. The captain is Mr. Dennis Neal, and in the band are his wife and his brother Charles and his wife. Another family is Mr. J. Hales. his son John and daughter Naomi. Another father and son are Mr. Charles and Donald Grey. There is also the people's warden, Mr. R. K. C. Wilkins, and his wiff. The 'baby' of the tower is Jim Steele.
St. Matihew's bells were rung for the birth of the Royal Prince

SPLICED SLRPRISE MAJOR RECORD

Dear Sir.-Further to Mr. Barnett's recent letter in your columns concerning the re-issue of the recording of Spliced Surprise Major, I have heard this recording on many occasions and I am always very impressed with the very high standard of striking and also the auality of the recording.
The second engineer responsible for this has obviously made a very good job of reproducing the excellent ringing for which Messrs. Cashmore, Brinklow, Woolley and Hodges are so well known.
I. feel sure that there will be a ready demand for this recording.-Yours faithfully,

Pinner. Middlesex.

THE LATE MR. H. E. WILLS

Dear Sir-Many ringers in the Croydon area will regret to hear of the death of Mr. Harry Wills on March 5th.

Mr. Wills came to Barnby Don ahout 1943 and immediately joined the local hand. The local ringers endeared themsclves to Mr. Wills and soon realised he was too modest to speak of his achievements in the ringing and sportine worlds.
If any singe: can provide us with news of a very fine gentlemar it will help us to learn what we have suspected for a long time. that Mr. Wills was indeed a man of no mean achievement.-Yours faithfully. Barnby Don. Doncaster.

THE GRIEVANCE IN HERTFORDSHIRE
Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. Hatchett's letter on page 181. particularly the part directed io me dersonally, I am sorry to read that the cannot acknowledge much of my last letter published in these columns. I look forward to hearing from bim and have furnished my address with this letter, as he requested.
I will be pleased to learn from him the Unfortunate circumstances under which I suppnsedly left the band of St. Mary's, Rickmansworth. Firstly I would point out to Mr. Hatchett, I had left St. Mary's band hefore he became resident at Rickmansworth, and, secondly, the circumstnces were these:-
1 resigned from the choir at St. Mary's to ioin the choir of a Watford church, which. I would mention, has no bells. Although ceasing to be a full member of the Rickmansworth band. I continued to attend practices resularly.
In November of 1956 I was invited to assist with the instructional ringing at St. Michael's, Chenies, where the ringers had been change ringers from cards until some time before this, I accepted this invitation and have been attached to Chenies tower ever since.
Mr. Hatchett may recollect that while I was resident in Rickmansworth up to the time of my marriage last year, I attended Sunday evening ringing whenever my duties as a professional ambulance man allowed me, as we only ring for morning service at Chenies. I have also stood in many quarter peal attempts with him at St. Mary's and attended their annual gatherings, the dinner this year being one of the few I have missed, owing to my duties. Had 1 left the tower under any unfortunate circumstance, I can assure him I would not have taken part in any of the ringing or social activities mentioned.

To finish on a more general note, I am surprised to read of Mr. Hatchett's remarks saving that relationship between the band and the Association were non-existent when he first came to Rickmansworth. This was not so when I left Rickmansworth's band. If this was the case, surely this should have been brought to the notice of the Association straight away, not commented on in 'The Ringing World' three years later. - Yours faithfully,

DONALD R. BARTHOLOMEW.
14. Kelmscott Close

Watford. Herts.
Dear Sir.-I should like to ask Mr. Hatchett why he considers himself so important that he should wait until the Association takes on interest in him before he pays his subscriptions.
I would also point out that relations between the Rickmansworth ringers and this District of the Association have always been most cordial. far from heing nom-existent as Mr. Hatchett suggests.
Mr. Hatchett has charged the Association with not taking any interest in Rickmansworth. or perhaps this should read not taking any interest in Mr. Hatchett. but I would inform Mr. Hatchett that a meeting of his own District was held on March 5th at Bushey which was. as usual. advertised in this paper for two weeks. but Mr. Hatchett was not present nor did I receive an apology for absence, which, in view of recent allegations. one would have expected.
Now Mr. Hatchett. may I ask you who is not taking an interest?-Yours faithfully. G. W. SEAMAN.
(Hon. Sec.. Watford District)
P.S.-On looking through my records I find that Mr. Hatchett has attended one District meeting in the last two years, this heing the meeting at his own tower last year. G.W.S.

LETTERS-Continued THE PATRON SAINT OF RINGERS

Dear Sir-In reply to the query by Mr. F. Morris, this subject was brought up some years ago, but opinions were somewhat divided. My own choice would be either St. Anthony or St. Dunstan for these reasons:-
In 1945 I wrote a long series of articles on 'Bells in English Life-Uses and Abuses,' and therein mentioned a lot of references to sanctus, Saints. Sacrying. Wackerel and other uses for the small ting-tang commonly in use in the 16 th century onwards. Many items are quoted in Churchwardens' accounts for their uses and upkeep. Occasionally, this bell is referred to as the 'Tantony bell" or Saint Anthony bells, the name being derived from the emblem of that Saint-a bell attached to his tan-staff, or suspended from the neck of his accompanying pig. The small bell at Lichfield Cathedral is so called, so was one at Lamport. Northants, and another at Weedon Bec in the same county. The writer found one at Wigston Magna. Leicester.
Again in 1552 the Sanctus bell at Oldham, Lancs, was called the "Anthem' bell. In 1528 the Churchwardens of Leverton. Lincs. paid 'for a litil sanct antony hell jd." and at lamport (above mentioned) in $1747,9 \mathrm{~d}$, was charged for 'a Tantony bellrope.' The small bell attached to the necks of cattle in Northants used to be called 'tanthony bells." At Great Oakley the bell is known as 'tintanv' which may be derived from St. Anthony or ting-tang.

St. Dunstan, who died in 988 , was an English Saint. son of a West Saxon noble. He was horn at Glastonbury where he later became Abbot (945) and in 957 Bishop of Worcester. In 950 he was Bishop of London and in 961 Archbishop of Canterbury. He is also credited with great skill as a metal worker, and cast a bell which for many years after his death hung in Canterbury Calhedral. Two bells cast under his direction were at Ahingdon and here also were two more by St. Ethelwold. the founder of that Monastery. These bells have. unfortunately, disappeared long since.-Yours etc.,

ERNEST MORRIS

I.eicester.

PLAQUE AT WORCESTER CATHEIORAL
Dear Sir.-May I offer some information in reply to $\stackrel{F}{ }$. Morris regarding a Patron Saint of Bellringers.

Apart from St. Cecilia. I suggest that St. Dunstan has the closest connection with bellringers: is he was repuled to be a bellmaker. I helieve he is also accepted as the pitron saint of Metal Workers.

During a visit to Worcester Cathedral last year. I remember seeing a window or plaque stating that St. Dunstan is the Patron Saint of Rellringers. - Yours faithfully.

THOMAS C. BETTON.
Birstall. L.cics.

A CLAIN FOR ST. CATHERINE,

Dear Sir.-May I, in reply to Mr. F. Morris inquiries about the "Patron Sains of Bellingers suggest St. Catherine?

For the evidence to support this claim I have studied the inscriptions on medizval bells. It appears that most bells which are inscribed with a saint's name, other than the saint to which the church is dedicated. are inscribed Sancta Katerina Ora Pro Nobis (St. Catherinc. Pray For us) or a variation of the above.
An explanation of this is that the wheels (or half-whecls) by which bells are swung resemble the wheel on which St. Catherine was intended to be broken.
Perhaps someone can corroborate this theory?-Yours faithfully,

GEOFFREY D. ARMITAGE.
Halifax, Yorks.

Dear Sir, - Your correspondent, Mr. F Morris, surely must be new to the Exercise. for the question - Is there a patron saint of bellringers?' has been raised in 'The Ringing World' several times previously. No definite one is designated; St. Anthony, St. Dunstan and St. Paulinus have all been claimed by various opinions on the subject.

St. Cecilia is named on a bell at Roade, Northants, cast as recently as 1952, showing that she was recognised as the patron saint of music, and several peals have since been rung there on her festival (November 22nd).

That raises yet two other points:-
(1). Names of methods. Why on earth when anyone gets out a new method they cannot choose a saint's name for it instead of names of towns and viltages like some in Leicestershire with only three bells to name a Surprise method-why Bruntingthorpe and Fdmondsthorpe or Arnesby with only three bells-gets me guessing!
(2). It may be argued, does it matter what name is used? But my good old friend. Mr Ernest Morris, has surely exploded that argument in the leading words of his worthy article on your front page of the March 11 th issue.

I have known Ernest for 33 years and rang my first peal with him as long ago as May 1927. Never have I known him to make but the best either in writing or ringing, which accounts for why his books are so much in demand and his articles appreciated. We who rang the peal of St. Blaise Doubles may be scoffed at by certain biased minds, but at least we did attempt to associate the saint (as we oft-times do other saints) with the festivals of the church.
Recently we rang a peal in 14 saint-named methods. Prior to that we rang a peal of St Peter's Doubles at my own church of Si. Peter. Weston Favell. Shortly we hope to ring one of St. Martin's in a church dedicated 10 St . Martin: another to St. Nicholas in at chuich dedicated 10 St . Nicholas.

All Saints Doubles was rung similarly by menibers of our Guild. And on April 30th (festival of St. Miles Gerrard and St. Francis Dickenson) we hope to ring the first ever of St. Miles Doubles. Later we hope to ring one of St. Peter and St. Paul Doubles in a Church of SS. Peter and Paul. Last Decemher 29th we were unlucky in not ringing one of St. Thomas and Canterbury, 10 commernorate St. Thomas of Canterbury. St. Vedast Doubles on St. Vedast Day and St. Alphege Doubles on the festival of Si . Alphege are other hopes in the offing All these saints days can be found by looking them up in nnropriate hooks.
These efforts, I night add. have interested the clergy wherever we have gone. and are surcly far more in keeping with the true purnose of the Church than ringing a peal for the return of some notorious Bolshevik!-Yours sincerely.
P. AMOS.

Weston Favell. Northants.

P.S.-Some time ago we rang a peal of St. I_eonard's Doubles within the festival of St. Leonard, as will be recalled, and is now re-corded.-P. A.

A REPLY TO MR. SMALLWOOD

Dear Sir-In Mr. Smallwood's letter I was a little mystified at the introduction of the rather ancient joke about the Irishman being agin the Government. At first it seemed to be like "the flowers that bloom in the spring." i.e. to "have nothing to do with the case.:

On seca7d thoughts. however. it dawned on me that there were some members of the Exercise who might favour the formation of a Government of bell broadcasts (towers. ringers and methods, selection of).

Twas a sobering thought and one that seemed to justify the Irishman's attitude.-

Derwent is as given, and I believe it was formerly known as Cudham, but perhaps someone else could confirm this.
The figures given in (b) are those of Wye which. together with Braunstone and Biddenden, are mere variations of Yorkshire! The 8 ths place variation of Braunstone is Frolesworth.
Mr. Pattison might be interested in the following duplication of names:-
Boveney, previously known as Hove. There is now another Hove (sea Corrigan's).
Ashtead, previously known as Preston
Withyham (in Corrigan's) has been rung to a peal and named Nettleham.
Zetland, first rung Bushey. Herts, February 4 th , 1939, was rung at Birmingham in ahout 1955 as Stechford.
The figures

Hornchurch (in Corrigan's) has been rung to a peal as Macclesfield hut with 4 ths place bobs.

Shoreham (in Corrigan's) has been rung to a peal and named Knossington. Earlier names for this method were Ewell and Denton.
I hope these will be of use, and 1, in turn. would be grateful if he, or anyone else for that matter. could supply me with the figures of (a) Little Herefordshire S. Major, (b) Northchurch S. Major, and (c) Heythrop S. Major.-Yours faithfully,

DERWENT SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir.-Mr. Mayne's statement that Derwent S.M. has not been rung to a peal is. I suppose, irue. The 'Derwent' of Corrigan's Collection has. however, been rung in at least four peals of Spliced Surprise, the first of these heing on February 13th. 1954, at Handsworth, Sheffield. Presumably it could not be renamed now.-Yours sincerely.

28 T.B. METHODS IN A PEAL

Dear Sir,-In July. 1958, I conducted a peal of Spliced Treble Boh Minor in 28 methods tall rung without previous practice) at Taxal, Derbyshire. Since then I have had several requests for the 'Surprise ' methods rung in the peal. so to prevent further correspondence and, I hope, to stir up interest. I have written all 28 ous below in place notation. These methods were termed "irregular" since they did not possess Plain Boh lead-heads, i.e., 35264, 56342. W4523 or $\mathbf{4 2 6 3 5}$, but have since been recognised by the Central Council. Several ringers will sill state that the methods are not worth ringing but, to us, these were a welcome change from the "standard oncs !
Here then are the methods (all 4ths place bohs): -

ARE THEY KNOWN?

Dear Sir.-While doodling recently invented (?) the following methods and wondered whether or not they are known: if not I should like to name them as shown.

I should also like to appeal for information about the figures of the methods rung at Willeshorough in their million changes (Feb. 12(h) issue as I have no knowledge of such methods as Horsmonden Bob. Cumberland Boh and others.

Also the 720 composition by Mr. Chant in March 4th issue contains Little and Alliance Minor methods as do the associated peals, of which I have no knowledge. and as I am doing a little quiet 'research into methods I should be interested in the figures of these methods.- Yours faithfully,

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX GUILD

At their adjourned annual meeting, held at Brighouse on March Sth, Mr. A. W. Bond stated that having held the position of secretary for nine years, and. in view of his business commitments. he had been forced to look round for a worthy successor. Mr. D. Smith was elected to the office, but Mr. Bond intimated that he was still willing to act as treasurer and also to assist Mr. Smith in every way. This was approved by the meeting, who also elected Mr. F. Linfoot as Ringing Master and Mr. J. Pearson as chairman.
Presenting the annual report, Mr. Bond said two-thirds of the meetings were very successful and ahout is methods were rung. Altendances varied from 18 to 36 , and 14 new members were elected during the year. The financial position was sound. Three new members were elected.
Members stood in silence in memory of Mr. Harry Roberts, who had died since the last meeting. It is hoped to hold the May meeting at Sowerby

FRIEZLAND VETERAN'S 70th BIRTHDAY

Mr. Joseph Burgess, of Friczland. celebrated his 70th birthday and his 55th year as a ringer in a right royal fashion on March 12 lh. He marked the occasion by entertaining about 30 of his fellow ringers who had heen attached to his own tower and also ringing friends from Meltham. Mossley and Roughtown.
Leaving Friczland at 2 p.m.: three towers in the Rochdale area were visited. the party returning home for tea. Tributes and congratulations were extended to Mr. Burgess for his services to his own church and the help he had given in other towers. Councillor Arthur Farrand (a ringer) made a presentation to Mr. Burgess of an inscribed fountain pen. and expressed the hope that he would enjoy many more years in the art from which so many had benefited.

Before ringing Friezland bells in the evening. upon the suggestion of Mr. Edward Earnshaw. President of the Halifax Associttion. the company stood in silence in respect and memory of Mr. Harry Roberts, of Kirkburton.

By DAVID CUBITT

8.000 SPLICED KENT AND OXFORD

- The Wakefield Junior Company of Change Ringers ' rang, at the first attempt, 8.000 Spliced Kent and Oxford Treble Boh Major, composed by William Hudson, of Sheffield, and conducted by William Milnes in four and a half hours at Liversedge on Easter Monday, 1843, only a matter of weeks after the tirst peal of Kent and Oxford Spliced-5.60) changeshad been rung. James lirth of the then relebrated liversedge company acted as timekeeper. Benjamin Thackrah, ot Dewshury Sammuel Barraclough, of Birstall, and Thomas Diwson, of Bradford -all noted West Riding ringers-were among those present who expressed their high approbation of the ahove Derformance - -Wakeford Journal. At Rath well on Sunday, August 20th, 1843, a select hand of ringers from Wakefield. Leeds and Bradford rang a peal of 5.088 Kent Treble Bob Major in three hours, composed by William Hudson and conducted by William Scott, of Wakefield.

A peal of 5.056 Kent Treble Bob Major at St. John's. Wakefield, composed by Joseph Tebbs and conducted by Henry Senior, was rung by St. John's Youths on Sunday, Fehruary 18th. 1844. Later this year a separate ecclesiastical disirict was assigned to St. John's.

HANDBELL RINGERS

There was quite a vogue for handbell ringing in the West Riding in the 1840's. though when the Touring Campanologian Band of Handbell Ringers performed in Wakefield on December 8th. 1843. they had but a small audience-a larger one came a couple of days later when the adnission price was reduced. A local group calling themselves the Wakefield Handhell Ringers met at the Fleece Inn. The landlord of which was Joseph Sugden, who had rung in lower bell peals in the 1820 ss, including those of Cimbridge and Superlative Royal. - After dinner the ringers rung many :ets of quidrilles and wallzes, and several favourite airs among which was rung the "Royal Irish." with variations. to the great surprise of the iwo old veterans Mr. W. Booth and Mr. W. Hudson (of Shelfield) and also Mr. J. and B. Thackray (of Dewshury), who were present on the occasion and expressed themselves greatly gratified with the performance, and declared that the evening lited heen to them like one of the old times in ". Merry Wakefield "- Wakefield Journal.

Two days later thev went to I.eeds to sample a new set of 32 handhells which had been bought by the landlord of the Spinners Arms for the use of the St. Peler's Society of Ringers. Later a band of handhell ringers was formed at Bradford: they celehrated their lirst anniversary on Octoher 17th. 1848. with a dinner, followed by lune and chatige ringing, concluding with the Morning Hymn.

AFTER PRISON PEAL

A Wakefield ringer. Joseph Paul Healey, joined nine Rotherham ringers - calling themselves the United Societr of Rotherham Ringers - -for a peal of 5.007 Siedman Caters. composed by Join Lates and conducted by Thomas Gay at All Saints'. Wakefield. on May 17 th . 1846 . There is a story current, both in Wakefield and Rotherham. that some or all the ringers had heen released that day from Wakefield Gaol--then the House of Correction' for the West Riding-and, having been joined by their friends. celehrated regaining their freedom by ringing this peal.
John Sugden died on February 11th. 1847 aged 55. and sometime hetween 1847 and 1850 the death occurred of Proctor Hewitt, a tailor and draper in Westgate. Wakeficld. and :a former member of the St. John's Youths
The new Taylor ring of ten hells at Bradford was opened in September. 1846, with a prizeringing in which both Waketield Societies competed. the St. John's Youths coming away with the second prize.

When it was announced on August 5ih, 1847, that George Sandars was the successful candidate for the borough in the General Flection that year, All Saints' bells were 'fired' 134 times. heing the number of votes he secured over his opponent: and the following day, when he was 'chaired.' the hells of both churches were 'fired' 392 times, the number of votes cast in his favour, after which the ringers retired, as they expressed themselves in their honest, homely language - grateful for the kind manner in which they had heen treated by the committee of the new member:. "Wikefield Journal".

A WAGES DISPUTE

On Sunday, July 8th, 1849. The All Saints' ringers issued an utimatum to the churchwardens that unless their remuneration was doubled they would from that morning cease ringing. The wardens could do nothing immediately and at a vestry meeting held the following Tuesday it was decided in consequence of the resolution of the ringers the helfry be closed for the present. The peremplory nature of the request had irritated the wardens; but at a time when payment for ringing was gereral, it can be said on behalf of the ringers that their salary had been reduced considerably since 1827 . The churchwardens accounts for that year show quarterly pay ments of $£ 132 \mathrm{~s}$. 6d.: in $1848, £ 10$ was the nayment for the year; in $1849 £ 10$ was paid each half year.

A peal of 5000 Kent Treble Boh Royal, composed by Charles Firth and conducted by Willian Scott-both of Wakefield- was rung at All Saints by seven of the All Saints' Socicty and three of the Leeds company in 3 hours and 35 minutes on March 4th, 1850. The -Wakefield Journal commented that 'the peal does the greatest credit to the Societies, and revives in us the spirit of bygone days, performances which can never be forgot by the Leeds and Wakefield ringers of the last twenty years.' Another of Firth's compositions - 5.184 Kent Trehle Bob Major-was conducted by Scott at Barnsley on Sunday. March 30th. the hand consisting of five Wakefield and three Barnsley ringers. A couple of months later the Barnsley Society came to Sandal and rang a peal of Treble Bob Minor in seven methods--Oxford, Violet. Duke of York, New. London Pleasure, London Scholars I'leasure, City Delight and Arnold's Victory.

Unfortunately no peal books of either of the Waketield Societies-assuming. that is, that any were in fact ever kept-are extant and most of the information for this article has been culled from newspaper reports, which often refer with longing to the great days of ringing at Wakefield and to the times when the town was truly "Merrie Wakefield. Some interesting points do emerge from a study of ringing during this period - the appearance of new local composers and conductors, the predominance of Kent Treble Boh, the popularity of Sunday as a day for ringing peats, the number and variety of exira-ecclesiastical oc-casions-some have heen mentioned--on which the ringers were employed, that the peal of 8,000 Spliced Treble Boh in 1843 was the first neal for Joseph Paul Healey, then a 17 -ycarold apprentice shoemaker, yho was to ring in neals of over 10,000 changes as well as in many of more conventional length. that the peal at St. John's in 1844 proved to he the last on the bells. which had. therefore, a peal history of only 50 years.

UNIVERSITY OF WALES SOCIETY

Witi this year's inter-college Eisteddfod the Society celebrated its first birthday. Nine members met at Aberystwyth on Fehruary 17th. cight of whom attempted an evening peal at Llanbadarn Fawr. The light eighi ran quite comfortably to Grandsire Triples for just over two hours, when the conductor, as is his wont, went to sleep. A premature call wrecked the chances of a peal, hut the hells were called round in two courses and the band had to be satisfied with a long touch. Handbell-ringing in the 'Dragon' and a look-in it the marathon table-tennis match concluded the proceedings for the night.

The following morning, the band made their way northwards in three cars to Machynlleth. with its light. slatelike eight in a vast slate church in a town of slate throughout. The Vicar. the Rev. A. E. Evans. welcomed the band at the church. but warned them of the confusion that would pervade the lown when the bells were rung. The imminence of the Royal hirth had gripped the Welsh populace who half-an-hour later. were prematurely rejoicing at the event
The local captain. Mr. Davies, was not disappointed. however. as he was enabled to ring his first touch of Grandsire Triples since 1914. and very well he managed, 100. A course of Stedman and three leads of Bristol were executed. Cader Idris surmounted, and we were in Barmouth. With rain and galeforce winds

The church stood massively above the town. hard against the mountains. dripping wet. High in the tower was found a magnificent Mears eight with a 22 cwt. tenor. After fitting ropes. and raising the bells, a start was made for a peal of Bob Major. The glorious. seldom used bells rang majestically for 35 minutes. when one of the lower's own ropes snapped with sea-air and disappointment ensued. On resplicing, a course of Double Norwich was struck, some slow-struck Minor also. and the bells rung down Disappointment was short-lived, however, for Mr. Harris took us to the hall where the good ladies of the M.U. had laid a sumptuous spread of Welsh cakes and hot tea by the gallon.
By now the storm had given way to snow which fell like a silent portcullis on Cader and barred the way home. The coast road was still clear. howevar. and the band went their separate ways, the Swansea contingent doing the 120 miles in a furniture lorry in 51 hours flat.

The Society is indebted to Mr . Harris and his ladics. Rev. A. E. Evans, and Mr. Davies for a day well spent.

ECCENTRIC BELLFOUNDERS OF THE MENDIPS

By RONALD BAILEY

THE Bilbie family started business in Chew Stoke. a West Country village. in the 17th century, and continued until about the tine of Waterloo. The earliest of their church bells. aptly enough, is to be found at Chew Stoke (1698). Bilbie bells are encountered in Bristol, occasionally in Willshire, and all over Somerset. Hardly a Mendip village is without one or more of them. Their largest product seems to be the two-ton tenor bell in Yeovil parish church.
In or about 1745 the second Thomas Bilbie. freemain of Bristol. broke away from the Chew Stoke husiness to start the West of England Church Bell Foundry at Cullompton, in Devon. He was in business for 42 years. and supplemented his activities with the making of lead snow-boxes. cisterns. pump faces and similar articles. many of which still exist in that neighbourhood. An unverified story tells how the last of the Devoh Bilbies destroyed himself on failing to tune a bell to perfection.

LEGENDS OF THE BILBIES

In Devon alone there are said to be 350 Bilbie bells. The Cullompton business was sold to the Pannells in 1813, and they continued it until 1855. The last of the bells from Chew Stoke foundry are at Wedmore and Chew Magna. both in Somerset and dated 1801.

Stories of the Bilbies abound in their native village. Tradition has it that they were a yueer. eccentric. clannish family. living very much to themselves in almost gipsy fashion. It is said that they let their hair grow lank and long until it was half way down their backs. Whether they practised a lot of mumbo-jumbo nonsense to impress the clergy and churchwardens. or whether they really had trade secrets unknown to others, it is perhaps futile now to argue; but they sedulously surrounded their craft with an aura of mystery. and it cannot be denied that there are tonal qualities in their bells that place them in a class of their own.

PRODUCTION PRELIMINARIES

When a parish invited the Bilbies to provide a new bell, and especially when an entirely new ring was needed. a member of the family would arrive in the village and settle himself at the inn. He would seemingly loiter around for several days. undertaking nothing more strenuous than an occasional climb to a hilltop. Back in the village inn he would be very weather-wise, talking of the morrow's wind or rain. Then one day he would announce that conditions were just right, and he would ask for the ringers to be at the church before sunrise.

Before daybreak the bell-maker would make for the nearest pond and. no matter whether it was summer or winter. would strip off cverything except trousers and boots and wade into the water until it was up to his neck. Standing motionless until the last ripple had died from the pond's surface he would then give a signal to the ringers to peal the existing bells.
Having correctly attuned his ear to the needful peal the hell-maker would return to Chew Stoke and the family would set to work. Sometimes they spent weeks in preparing the metal ingredients and the moulding loam. Calamine. which was plentiful on Mendip. was said to be one of their secrets. while the loam contained clay. Jung, hair and 'zummat that can't be spoken of.'

CASTING RITUALS

The Bilbies specialised in tenor hells and these. it was asserled. were always cast in tune without the use of tuning forks and with no chiselling away of hits from the sound how. The hells were cast either at Chew Stoke or in the churchyard below the tower in which they were to hang. But wherever the casting was done, it was not without its ritual. It was always done on a calm night, at a time of full moon. and after the midnight chimes of the church clock had faded away.
The Bilbies did not object to spectators: indeed, they seemed to welcome them. though the need for absolute quiet was insisted upon, and observers were posted along any approach roads to ensure that no cart rumbled noisily upon the scene to upset the texture of the molen metal. The casting process always ended with buckets of water being thrown on the fire-not to put it out. as the Bilbies explained. but so that the fire, for one brief moment, would flare up hotter than ever, and - that's just what we do want.

TRADITIONS

That their talent was something akin to genius no one will deny: and the Bilbies themselves were in no way modest about their achicvements. They inscribed their hells with blatant self-advertisements and disparaging allusions to other bellfounders, and the phraseology was often naively rustic. For example, at Bruton we encounter:
Once ld a note that no one could bear But Bilbie made me sweet and clear.
And at Keynsham
I value not who doth me see
For Thomas Bilbie casted me.
Although my sound it is but small
I can be heard amongst you all.
A story often told at Chew Stoke is about the time when the Bilbie brothers. having put the melting pot on and got everything ready for making the bell. adjourned to the inn. While they were away their sister came out of the house, and finding the metal just right for casting. poured it into the mould and produced a perfect bell. The brothers, on their return, smashed the bell and recast it. "They felt." it is said. "that no woman should have credit for casting a maiden bell.

THE LADIES' GUILD

West Midlands District

An excellent meeting was held at Allesley, near Coventry, on March 5th. The weather was springlike and the crocus and snowdrops round the church made a gay show.

The Rector. Canon Hughes, conducted the service and a fine tea was provided by the local ringers. Mrs. Evelyn Bowen proposed a vote of thanks to Canon Hughes and the local ringers for their warm welcome and the ladies in particular who must have had 10 work hard 10 provide the tea. On behalf of the Coventry Guild and local ringers. Mr. F. Perrins, welcomed the visitors and wished the Ladics' Guild success for the future.

At the husiness meeting the election of officers took place for the coming year. Mrs. Ann Speed was voted as new vice-president The retiring vice-president. Mrs. Evelyn Bowen. has been in office for three terms and has been a tower of strength to the District. giving help and advice 10 the secretary and the benefit of her ringing experience to all. We wish her well in the future.

In the absence of Mrs. Speed the chair was laken by Mrs. D. Beamish. The secretary and treasurer's position was voted to Miss Mary Funnell. Central Committee members and District Committee members were then voted in.

The meeting ivas well attended by 40 -odd ringers and the fine ring of bells put to very good use.

Western District

The annual meeting of the Western District was held at Earmanuel, Bristol, on Marcl 12th. when chere was a good attendance of members with visitors from other parts of the country.

The scrvice was conducted by the Rev. H. R. Oakley who kindly deputised for the Priest-in-charge. Tea was provided by ladies from the church and grateful thanks are due to them for a splendid meal.
At the business meeting the vice-president expressed the pleasure of all those present at the unexpected visit of the Guild President. Mrs. J. Staniforth. accompanied by her husband. Mr. P. J. Staniforth, whose presence was a great asset to the ringing.
The following officers were elected:-VicePresident. Mrs. H. L. Parfrey: secretary, Miss B. Johnson: Committee: Mrs. A. Bennett. Mrs. M. de Jong. Miss N. Williams and Miss R. Webb.

Five new members were elected: Miss $S$ Lucas. Miss A. Lewis. Miss C. Ellis (all from Warmley). Mrs. R, Jones (Warminster), Miss N. Carter (Bristol). It is hoped that the June meeting will be held at Portishead

DIARY OF A BRISTOL RINGER OF 100 YEARS AGO

By FREDERICK C. JONES

There has recently come to light the diary of a young Bristol ringer. Alfred Armey, who lived at Old Park. St. Michael's. It is a quarto size account book of some closely-writsen pages, covering the years 1851 to 1857.

Arney was apprenticed to the craft of Irapbuilding and wheelbarrow making. and Mr. Frederick C. Jones, the lecturer in Bristol history for the W.E.A.. in an article in the Bristol Evening Post.' states that he appears to have shown greater partiality to the art of bellringing than to his honest trade.

Mr. Jones writes:-

Bellringing was to him almost an hilarious occupation and there is hardly a local belfry which he did not climb to ring the bells, or cut his lame in stone or lead. Mary-le-Port. Redcliffe, St. Nicholas', St. Michacl's, and a dozen other towers are mentioned.
He rang the bell at the Cathedral on the taking of Sebastopol in the Crimean War. I went. he writes. up to the Cathedral belfry in the morning: in the afternoon to St. Mark's belfry in College Green: and, in the evening. to Lodge Street Chapel.'

Bellringers at that time must have had remarkable thirsts. for he speaks quite casually of beer drinking prior 10 a service, which may account for his statement that on one occasion when at the Cathedral with two other youths they had an accident with the tenor bell: the rope caught in the wheel and broke it. and injured the hammer of the clock.

NATIONAL HABIT

Heer drinking. it must be remembered. however, was a century ago a national habit, and even the - Red Maids, had their cups for breakfast. After the bellringing, young Arney tells us he would stroll out to Westbury to gather primroses, or to the fields at Old Park to pick cowslips. or to watch the haymaking on St. Michael's Hill.

Among the inns to which he makes reference are the Griffin. Robin Hood. the. Blue Bowl. Boar's Head Tavern in the Market. the Wheatsheaf, the Raven, Mary-le-Port Street, - White's by the Dnwns,' and the Crown in Wine Street.

Attending church services, apart from bellringing. would seem to have taken up much of his time. and he invariably gives the name of the minister or curate who preached. the text and title of the sermon, and (often) what he himself, a young man in his early what he himself, a you

The local churches must have been well patronised. for the diary sometimes reports: Well attended or 'full to overflowing.'

OLD THEATRE

Thus he records: - I went this morning to St. Mary-le-Port and was put in a scat. In the afternoon... 1 went 10 the Latter-Day Saints' Chapel in Thomas Street, and in the evening as far as the Terminus Railway and back to St. Matthias Church. It was wet all day:

Arney's interest in church is very sincere for he mentions sadly under Sunday, August 6th. 1853: 'They are pulling down Old Bedminster Church.

That the life of the working man was not all drudgery is evidenced by the gusto with which he writes that he went with Uncle and Aunt to the Assembly Rooms to see Professor Boscow: to Congresbury Fair. to the Museum. Park Sireet and the Victoria Rooms, to the Zoological Gardens and Hotwells. and to the Old Theatre 10 sec . The Will and the Way. Queen Mah." The liorly Thicves and Uncle Tom's Cabin.

CANNON FIREI)

Christenings and marriages are to him a great delight for he visited Henbury to see the marriage of . Miss Way. daughter of the rector. to Mr. Edwards. of Redland Court. She is about 20 and he about 48 . Great arches of evergreens and flags were everywhere.
On another occasion we find him at Ashton when Henry Grenville Upton Smythe came of age. There was a large bonfire and gala besides a dinner for the tenants. Seven large cannon fired volleys. Several triumphal arches were thrown across the Ashton Road. and there were illuminations on Ashley Hill and College Green.'
Club walks by friendly societies are mentioned frequently, and it would seem that the entire inhabitants of Bristol turned out to see their Whitsuntide parades.

Among clubs recorded are: The Clifton Benefit Society, the Spring Garden Club, the Hibernia, and the Oddfellows. They must have been an inspiring sight with their banners (one of which Arney carried). their music, and their long poles bearing the brass emblem of their particular club.

Amid his colourful activities. Arney was a champion walker. He thought little of walking from St. Michael's Hill to Keynsham in $1 \frac{1}{4}$ hours: or in early dawn at four or five in the morning. setting out to reach Congresbury in four hours 40 minutes.

He was obviously a believer in the oldfashioned Christmas, and his entry for Christmas Day. 1856, is typical of many.

CHRISTMAS BOXES

I-deft Bristof this morning at six oclock and walked to Wrington. Arrived at 11 oclock. It snowed all the way.'

In the afternoon 1 went to Wrington Church, and in the evening went with Uncle Joseph to have a peal on the bells.'

Joining with the local ringers to which his uncle belonged, he spent Boxing Day parading round the parish and collecting their money (Christmas boxes). From Wrington they walked to Redhill, where they rang the handbells at the Darlington Arms, where there was a fight among the ringers about their money.

The next day he walked across the fields to Congresbury, and in the afternoon helped to ring the bells. following this up. some 24 hours after, by a ringing in Yatton belfry.

90 ft . HIGH

News of unusual events travelled quickly in the o!d Bristol of last century. so that we find him on Monday. August 28th. 1854. clcaning himself up ' (chis is his phrase) after his day's work and walking in the evening to the Downs to see a woman walk on the titerope.

The rope set up near the top of Black Boy was 90 feet high and three hundred feet long. In the presence of hundreds of spectators the poor young, woman, when half-way fell off. the rope being too slack.
The next month we are told that the writer went with two friends to Horfield to see Mrs. Dunn who aims at walking 1.000 miles.' One wonders whether the lady ever reached her destination!

The diary elsewhere mentions a fine race on the Bath Road between two runners for a wager of $£ 10$.
As a variation. Arney rids himself of surplus energy by climbing to the top of one of the towers of the Suspension Bridge, and goes out to Bath Bridge where, watched by a concourse of idle onlookers, a man is drawn in a lub by four geese above the water.

SEVERE WINTER

The winter of 1956 must have heen severe in Bristol. Against February 18 th he records: The Float (Hloaling Harbour) was frozen over. There were hundreds of people walking on the ice.

I fell in. and a man pulled me out.
The winter must have been a terrible one for the soldiers fighting in the Crimea, but three months later. on May 2941 . suspense turned to jubilation over the news that the war had come to an end.

The diarist terms it a day of rejoicing. There were luminations in the town, and a band of music at the Angel Inn in High Street and in the Old Market. I had a halfholiday. The Regiment of Somerset Militia came over from Ireland by the packet. They paraded on College Green. and were dismissed.

Alfred Arney's Diary comes to an abrupt end early in 1857. Were there other diaries that are lost? We do not know! The city's annals are silent as to his subsequent exploits.

UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL SOCIETY

IV
'E departed from tradition in two ways on Wednesday. February 24 th. when we held a cycle outing. Firstly, this term's outing is always held on the Wednesday of Rag Weck, but this year Rag Wednesday unfortanately coincided with Ash Wednesday and it was necessary to bring the outing forward a week: and secondly, we always have good weather and his time it rained almost continuously during the afternoon and evening This did not seem to deter our members. and some dozen of us started out from our usual rendezvous-the Victoria Rooms-at 1.45 p.m. We were pleased to have so many freshers with us on this occasion.
The fir:lt tower-Clapton-in-Gordano ( 68 cwi .) was reached in good time by a ride through Somerset countryside, which is remarkatly pretty-even in the rain. The ringing was not of a very high standard and this was to remain the order of the day (with one or two exceptions), but we enjoyed the hells. The next lower was the five in East Clevedon. preceded by a ride down the Gordano Valley, which we were able to appreciate to the full as the rain had temporarily stopped. After ringing, we invaded a pleasant cafe for tea and the atmosphere became quite hilarious. Fortified by an excellent tea we set of for Yatton-a ride which proved $t 0$ be very strenuous. the wind being in the "strong to gale-force" region and against us.

The eight at Yatton (tenor 12 cwt .) are very fine indeed and although we didn't really do them justice we enjoyed ringing. Our thanks to Mr. Price for meeting us and for taking us up to see the bells whilst in motion.

TREPIDATION

Congreshury (8) which we approached with some trepidation as the tenor is 35 cwt . (a bit heavy for a cycle outing) was next on the list. No one had the courage or the energy to turn the tenor in and so we were limited to Triples. We had heen led to believe (by one of our senior members who was unable to join us owing to the demands of his patients) that shese bells were "buckets," but this was found not to be the case, much to our delight. On leaving the church we found our bicycles tied together. The gate at the bottom of the church drive appeared to be padlocked and, suspecting a practical joke. an energetic member of the party had manhandled some six or seven cycles over it before it was realised that the gate was not locked after all and the remainder were able to make a more orthodox departure.

The last tower of the day. Backwell (8. 17 cwt.) where we joined the local practice, was reached by 8 p.m. after a ride in the rain. which was again falling in carnest. In spite of everything some of the best ringing of the day was had here, and we are grateful to the local ringers for allowing us to invade their practice.

A further halt was made at an inn to fortify ourselves for the long ride home, and we were able to steam hefore a lovely fire prior to going out in the rain again. Everyone wis checrful on the way home and in spitc of the fact that some of us lacked hack or frout lights. we all arrived home safely. tired and hiappy. We wish to thank all the incumients and tower captains for allowing us to ring. and Miss Jane Cook for her excellent organisation. There was a suggestion that she should clean all our bikes for us as Somerset lanes are notoriously muddy. as one of our members who had no front mudguard will have callue to remember

NORWICH DIOCESAN

The Eastern Branch again went to Loddon for the annual meeting on February 20th and, contrary to expectations, the weather was quite spring-like. First arrivals were welcomed by the Association Ringing Master, 'Bill' Barrett, who was in the throes of a spot of belfry maintenance, after which the handy eight were soon being rung to suit all tastes, under the capable eye of Miss Doris Lidbetter, Branch Ringing Master.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (Canon C. R. Ninham), the lesson read by the Branch secretary, and the organist was the Kev. Giles Galley.
An excellent tea followed, with the ubiquitous ' Bill' as caterer-cum-waiter, in company with Mrs. Barrett and Mrs. Steward.

The meeting was presided over by the Branch chairman (Mr. E. R. Goate), and the business proceeded briskly. Members heard with regret the news of two of their number who could not be with them through illness - the president ( Mr. Nolan Golden), who had just left hospital, and Mr. Harwood, who had caught a chill.
Officers elected were: Chairman, Mr. E. R Goate; secretary, Mr. P. G. W. Newstead; Ringing Master, Miss D. Lidbetter; committee Messrs. A. Bird, C. Bailey, J. Forder, J. Gorrod and B. Willgress; Association committee representatives, Rev. G. Galley and Mr. W. Duncan. Michael Barker and Richard Brown were elected to ringing membership, and Arthur Coopec and Miss Gloria Wilson as probationers.
The next meeting will be held at Acle on April 9th (to be confirmed).

Western Branch

Thirty-five members, representing 16 towers, attended the annual meeting of the Western branch, held at Fakenham on February 27th Ringing was under the supervision of the Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. G. A. Cooke. The service was conducted by the incumbent. Rev G. F. Grey, and the lesson read by the Rev. A. N. Ainsworth.

Tea was prepared and served in the Church Rooms by friends and relations of the local band.
A letter of apology was read from the President, Mr. Nolan Golden, who was unable to be present owing to his indisposition. The chairman, the Rev. R. G. Dodson, paid tribute to the efforts of Mr. Golden on behalf of the Association. and all members of the Western branch wished him a speedy recovery from his operation.
The chairman also thanked all officers and members for their work during the past year. The following officers were re-elected : Chairman. Rev. R. G. Dodson; Ringing C. Tovell.

It was agreed that an interim meeting be held at North Creake on April 23 rd , and the next quarterly meeting at Necton with Holme Hale on May 28 th. Holme Hale on May 28 th.
Votes of thanks were given to the Vicar, the organist, the focal band. and the ladies who prepared and served tea.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The quarterly meeting of the North Dorset Branch was held at Shillingstone on March 5 th. when 34 ringers were present from 14 towers. including a high proportion of young ringers. Ringing was conducted by Mr. W. C. Shute, who. as usual. saw to it that cveryone had plenty of ringing.
In his address during the Guild Service, the Rector of Shillingstone, the Rev. P. Grubb, mentioned that he was a relative of the original C. Mears. the bell founder. It was nice therefore to know that his church has such a fine ring of six bells, though not cast by Mears: they are Loughborough bells, rehung in 1929 on ball bearings, tenor 16 cwt .
At the business meeting after tea, Compton Abbas ringers were congratulated on ringing a quarter peal on the occasion of the birth of the Royal Prince. It was hoped to ring a peal for the Branch in the near future, the Rector kindly offering Shillingstone tower: this to be in honour of the royal birth.
Ringing was resumed afterwards. Okeford Fitzpaine and Childe Okeford also being open.

MIDLAND COUNTIES GUILD

First Meeting At Church Gresiey

Although it was said that the Guild or its predecessor had never met in a S-bell tower, the February meating at Church Gresley, with its old five, amply justified the innovation, as over 40 attended from 16 towers, crowding the small chamber to capacity
At a short service the Vicar (Rev. K. Roy Upton, who has learnt to handle a bell) spoke of the message inscribed on the tenor-

I sweetly tolling men do call

To taste on meats that feede the soule. [1639.
After a good tea, prepared by the Mothers Union, the Vicar recounted the history of the tower (it was depicted on the locally-made tea plates) and thanked the ladies.
The new chairman (Mr. R. A. Welton) took charge of the business meeting, and the Guild president (Ven. E. Aldington-Hunt, Vicar of Burton) presented the retiring chairman (Mr. William H. Curson) with a pen and pencil set. Mr. J. W. Cotton, the hon. secretary, said that he had known Mr. Curson for 40 years, originally as a cricketer, and as a ringer since the mid-twenties. In 1931 they had participated in the pilgrimage to the Menin Gate, Belgium. He had been chairman since 1947.

Mr. Curson, thanking the Guild for the gift, said he was pleased at the success of the 5 -bell meeting, and gave encouraging advice to the young Gresley band, saying that five bells had their own magic to the discriminating ringer.

The president then presented Guild certificates to two Gresley ringers-Mr. D. P. Jones and David Eames (14), the first local hoy to ring a peal. Three more were elected to Guild membership-David Perry (12), Ian Measures (13) and Albert Baxter (14); also Miss Margaret Squires, of All Saints': Burton. Mr. Upton presented attendance prizes to Graham Freeman (14) and I. Measures. The president thanked him for the welcome the Guild had received on their first visit to Gresley.

OXFORD GUILD'S WEEK-END COURSE

This course to be held at Big. Wood. Radley, from April 29th to May 1st. is organised by the Oxford Diocesan Guild as a result of its Sunday Service Survey and as part of its efforts to improve the state of Sunday Service ringing within the Diocese and to provide more instructors and leaders. The course is planned for those who wish to learn more about ringing and for future instructors in elementary ringing.

The instructors will include the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg. Master of the Guild: Mr. Frederick Sharpe, President of the Central Council: Wilfred Wilson, author of "Notes for Beginners' and 'On Conducting': Wilfrid Moreton, well known as a conductor and instructor. and Arthúr Barker, honorary treasurer of the Oxford Diocesan Guild.
Instruction will be so arranged that both those at elementary stages and those seeking more advanced knowledge will be catered for. Subjects considered will include bell handling. elementary change ringing and conducting, composition and proof, bell maintenance and the history of bells.
Big Wood is a Holiday Camp, four miles from Oxford and Ahingdon, on a 'halfhourly ' 'bus route from Oxford to Abingdon (Route 14). The sleeping accommodation is provided in well built one-room chalets which are of three sizes. single, double and family. the latter holding up to four persons. They are simply furnished and have sprung divan beds. There are good central washing facilities, with hot and cold running water, baths and showers. Visitors should bring baths and showers. Visitors should bring their own towels. There is a social club on the site.

The cost for the weekend (both tuition and full board and aocommodation) will be £ $3 \mathrm{3s}$.
Further information can be obtained from: Miss M. R. Cross, The School House, Radley, Abingdon.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT
The annual meeting of the Sheffield and District Society was held on March 5th at St. John's Church, Ranmoor. Eight of the ten bells were raised in peal promptly at 3 p.m. and the meeting began with a musical touch of Grandsire Caters. Ringing ranged from rounds to London Surprise Major and Cambridge Surprise Royal. Over 50 people sat down to tea, 16 towers being represented.
The business meeting was presided over by the Rev. Mr. Needham, who has recently been inducted to the parish. Mr. D. Stables was thanked for volunteering to bring the Society's peal book up to date as everyone was impressed by the specimens of his work. Three towers indicated that they would accept block membership under the Society's new rule, which provides that towers may pay a minimum block subscription of 1 s .6 d . per rope for whole tower instead of 1 s . per individual member.

The President. Mr. H. O. Chaddock. expressed his firm intention of resigning and as members had not had time to consider nominations for this office it was decided to elect a new president at the cup contest meeting on May 7th. Thanks were expressed to Mr. H. O. Chaddock for his services as president during the past ten years.
The four vice-presidents elected were Messrs. N. Chaddock, F. Brunt. S. Scattergood and H. Rook. Mr. Philip Coote, of Rotherham, was elected assistant secretary. The remaining officers were unchanged.
The secretary, Mr. J. Seager, again appealed for more co-operation in notifying for teas at meetings. The secretary's report indicated that the Society's finances were very satisfactory. Eight new members were elected. Next meeting at Wortley on April 2nd.

OBITUARY  MR. H. E. WILLS

Mr. Harry Edward Wills died on March 5ih, two days after his 80th birthday, after a short illness He came to Barnby Don from Croydonl about 1943 and soon became endeared to the local ringers. A more pleasant and generous ncan would be hard to find, and as his main ringing took place before coming to Baraby Don. nothing is known of it. due to his modesty. He was a most reliable scrvice ringer. even when his health began to fail. until a year or so ago, when it became impossible for him to attend.
He will be missed by the local ringers for his personality alone.

May he rest in peace.
R. F. L.

MR. ALBERT STONE

The funeral took place on Thursday week at Brighton of Mr. Albert Stone. Eighty-four years of age he was probably the last survivor of the famous Brighton band of the beginning of the century. He gave useful service to the Sussex County Association. serving for some years as secretary. Old colleagues of Mr . Stone rang a touch of Stedman Triples halfmullled at St. Peter's Church for the service.

SHEBBEAR COLLEGE SOCIETY
Shebbear is situated in a remote corner of North Devon. where the average age of most bands is considerably nearer 40 than our 14. The sight of a group of boys ringing their bells is sometimes too much for these seasoned Devon ringers and although the boys cannot hope to approach the generally very high standard of striking expected of local bands. they achieve a level which is considerably better than anticipated.

As is inevitable when starting from scratch. progress has been slow but nevertheless steady striking and general handling have improved at every step. When a main band of eight had become proficient in ringing rounds. call changes were rung until they had graduated to a longish peal with the bells changing at every hand-stroke. The next step was to take the boys in threes and learn to plain-hunt on three bells. The idea soon caught on and before long plain-hunting courses on five bells were rung quite successfully. Four people then learnt Plain Bob Minimus and before the end of the school year a quarter peal in this method was rung. The striking at this stage left much to be desired but progress was made at every practice.

New Quarter Starts Next Week

This is the week to become a postal subscriber or renew your subscription.

Rates: Three months $9 / 6$, six months $18 /-$, twelve months $£ 1 / 15 /-$

Remit to Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greystones,

Cusgarne, Truro, Cornwall.

At the beginning of the next term another quarter peal of Minimus was rung with a rearranged band and this resulted in a great improvement in striking and general competence. Now Minimus is left behind and Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles have both been rung this term.

In addition to the main nucleus of comparatively competent ringers there are about 14 at the rounds and early call-change stage and these are catered for at a separate practice.

The most rewarding feature has been the way in which all concerned have attended practices and Sunday ringing and it is a rare thing for anyone to miss either. This has resulted in an extremely happy and flourishing school society which is rapidly becoming, known all over Devon. The Headmaster has known all over Devon. The Headmaster has been most co-operative towards the society and this has certainly played a large part in its success. The Vicar and villagers of Shebbear have also been most longsuffering: their forbearance at times must have been tested to the limit.

Outings have been arranged and carried out successfully on several occasions. Thirty churches have been visited in Devon and Cornwall. The boys have visited Exeter Cathedral twice and rang the middle eight very creditably at the last November practice. During the autumn term a party of eight visited Truro Cathedral and Kenwyn and rang at both churches for Sunday service. Another outing this term concluded with ringing on the beautiful eight of St. Peter's, Tiverton, for Evensong.
On. February 27th, the first quarter peal of Doubles was rung in celebration of the birth of the Headmaster's grandchild. It is birth of the Headmaster's grandchild. It is hoped that a peal of Grandsire Doubles will be scored hefore the end of this term and this will do much to instil confidence and a sense of achievement.

The secretary (Ian R. Slee) would be very pleased to hear from other school ringing societies and perhaps a joint meeting could be held some time in the future.

FANATICS TOUR NORTH ESSEX IN THE MURK

On an even more horrible day than usual. a number of young ringers from Bedford. reinforced by colleagues from Reading and elsewhere, converged by all forms of powered transport on North Essex. By 9.45 a.m., most had found their way to Bishops Stortford. With the uncertainties of hitch-hiking your correspondent missed this tower, but it is rumoured that all 10 bells were put to good use: Stedman and Grandsire Caters, and Cambridge Royal all came round.
By Great Dunmow the transport had sorted itself out and the beautiful, mellow bells ( 8,21 cwt.) were very quickly put in action. The learners had some useful Triples and Kent. while the more experienced revelled in Cambridge and even some 5 -spliced! The bells were much appreciated.

High speed driving got everyone to Bocking in good time. The handy, musical 8 (18.3.16) sounded very pleasant to Bristol and Yorkshire. Double Norwich came round, but Grandsire Triples came into rounds by some very un-Grandsire changes! A nice warm hostelry across the road thawed the party out and provided an excellent meal.

All too soon, the transport was off again, bound for Halstead. There was a delay while a funeral was concluded, and in consequence ringing was limited to half an hour.
The lovely village of Castle Hedingham with its half timbered houses was much admired in spite of the drizzle. The bells ( $6,12 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) were a good match for the village and the large ground floor ringing chamber held everyone while Double Court. London, etc. were brought round. Darkness had descended by the time Finchingfield was reached. But the party could see the result of the restoration in progress. The mellow eight ( 18 in E) soon rang out to London, Yorkshire. etc.

The weakness of some navigators (and the drivers) was exposed on the corkscrew route to Thaxted for tea. One car load claimed to have seon another car belonging to the party pass them in opposite direction! Anyhow the majority arrived in good time and descended on the Swan Hotel, where mine host responded gallantly

The glorious eight (15-0-2 E flat) need no further description and were much appreciated by all. Perhaps the flood lighting made some ringers nervous. for not all the touches were as good as they might have beeen. Yorkshire. London and Spliced Plain and Little Bob all sounded good but some Oxford Bob Triples caused an unmerited amount of chaos.
All too soon the party set off for Newport by some fiendish side roads. Everyone arrived in one piece and these overpoweringly noisy bells (6. 14-2-17 in F) were rung to Cambridge. Plain. Little. Plain and finally some Spliced Minor in x methods which came round. to the experts amazement!

Farewells were said and the party broke up to disperse to all points of the compass until the next university term. Belicve it or not. the local hostelries did not get much trade that night-heaven knows why!
Many thanks for painstaking organisation to Jennifer Davies. and of course to all the local ringers and incumbents who so politely put up with such a wild mob.

CAMPANAMANUAL.

POINTS FROM RECENT PEALS

'THE usual title for the article, but the peals not 'so recent'! This is not entirely my fault ( I am covering the last quarter of 1959), because we are still, as I write, getting last year's peals published now and again.

Firstly, referring to my last article, I am grateful to those who corrected my mention of a peal at St. Werburgh's, Derby. I thought, at the time, that something was wrong there, for I had an idea that something had happened to the bells at that church. They were removed some years ago. The tower where this peal was rung was St. Werburgh's, Spondon, Derby-a village just outside the city.

Towers in the news in the period under review are led by Erith, the most prolific of all church rings. The 550 th peal was rung here in October last, and we shall soon have the 600 up in two or three years' time at the present rate. Most peals in any tower last year were rung at the Bell Foundry, Loughborough: 62 peals in the year, which was a record even for them. I make the grand total here, at the end of 1959,824 . The lead in number of peals amongst 5 -bell towers has changed during the period and our congratulations go to Marston, which has passed Warkton's total of 32 -a lead which it had held for 30 years or so. Only one tower seems to have reached three figures in the last quarter of 1959-Waltham Abbey. A claim was made for the 100 th at Thurcaston, on November 28th, but 1 made it the 99th-I should be pleased to check this with the tower concerned. Fifty peals were accomplished at the follow-ing:--North Muskham, Willesborough, Trumpington and Rothwell. Several lowers will reach their 50 with the next peal viz. Buckland (Surrey), Birch-in-Rusholme, Newport (All Saints'), Bowdon. Wenhaston and Brenchley. I confirm the Chobham claim of the 25 th peal on the bells.

Now for newly conquered towers. I confirm claims for first on the bells at Sibbertoft. Lowdham. Hartland. North Petherwyn. Marston Trussell and West Tanficld. I add to this list Great Thurlow. where the peal rung would appear to be the first according to my records, although unclaimed. I disallow the claim for first on the bells at Wath, Ripon. I have two peals there, in 1910 and 1929.
Several infrequent visitors to the peal columns have been noticed. As mentioned in the footnote, the peal at Drayton. Oxon, was the first for over 70 years. I had recorded three peals here. two in 1887 and one in 1888 (the last one). That is an unusually long silence for a 'conquered' tower. Four others have been heard for the first time in a peal since before the 1st World War- Bradbourne, whose only previous peal was rung in 1905; Whittlebury and Worfield, last heard in 1911 (in each case, the only peal I have come across); and Orsett; where I confirm the footnote of first peal for 46 years. Again, this was the only previous peal. Sherry and Redmarley D Abito! (what a lovely name!) last appeared in the peal lists in 1922. At the former of these, five peals have now been rung-the first in 1902; at the latter, two peals in 1922 are the only ones I have.
Siddington and Newent come next-last heard of in 1926. There have now been three peals at Siddington the first in 1902, and nine at Newent- the first in 1910. The peal at Brampton Ash was the first to be published since 1930 (eight in all now). The 'first peal for 26 years' claim at Upper Beeding should really have been 27 years, for the last one there was one of Bristol Major on May 21st, 1932. Before the first war, I have 16 peals here, mostly of Triples and commencing in 1894. Four of Major (Double Norwich, Superlative, London and Bristol) were rung in 1920, 1930, 1931 and 1932 respectively. It isn't usually the 8 -bell towers where long silences have to be mentioned.

Another tower which has not been heard since 1932 is Wellesbourne Hastings, which had its only previous peal then. Strangely enough, it is another 8 -bell tower which comes next. Paignton, Devon, has only had 3 peals, Grandsire Triples in 1928, Stedman Triples in 1934 and now London Major in 1959. Dymock (6) has not had a peal of Minor yet. Its three peals are Stedman Doubles in 1933 and Grandsire Doubles in 1935 and 1959. I confirm that the last peal at South Hackney was in 1936 (yet another 8 -bell tower, with several peals in the past). Upton, Lincs, had its last peal in 1937. There was one before that. in 1933. The final tower with a peal silence of 20 years or more is Tarvin - two previous peals, in 1910 and 1939.
The following are footnote claims with which I disagree! The peal of Superlative at Bray was not the first in the method on the bells. One in the method was rung in 1901. Double Norwich was not the first of Major at Exminster . Double Norwich was rung there in 1951. Similarly, we have not recently had the first of Surprise at Withycombe Ralcigh: Superlative was rung there in 1949. Clun Imperial Bob Major had been previously rung as Hedingham Bub on July 24th, 1957, so the latter must remain its proper name. Sume of these points have already been noted in letters to the Editor.

Finally, one or two points of interest. The peal at Basingstoke. All Saints', was the first on the nine bells since the ones which caused such controversy in 1946 . I didn't see any comments this time! At Long Stratton. it was the sixth consecutive year that a peal was rung on Christmas Eve and the only peal in the tower each year, too! Then congratulations to Forncett S. Peter, which becomes yet another 5-bell tower to reach double figures.
K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

BRIDGWATER ARTS CENTRE INVESTIGATES RINGING

An enthusiastic ringer on the sales staff of a local firm often tells of happenings in his ringing activities to his fellow workers. one of these baing a keen supporter of the Bridgwater Arts Centre.

A free night occurred in their programme recently and an idea was put forward that the ringer mentioned might be able to arrange something to explain what bellringing was all about. Just a straight lecture was not particularly wanted so a meeting was arranged at West Huntspill on a recent Monday evening.
This tower, with its fine ring of six, was chosen, as it has a large ringing room and ample space beside the bell-frame, thus enabling the visitors to see the bells in action.

In the short time available Mr. C. Clarke, of Wembdon tower, endeavoured to explain the hanging and action of a bell and briefly how changes were rung. A single bell was raised, rung, set and lowered. Then all six were raised in peal. Rounds, call changes some Doubles and Minor were rung with the differences explained as simply as possible. After a lower in peal, Mr. Clarke gave a few facts on bells and ringing in general. He was assisted by six other capable ringers. including two ladies. showing that the fairer sex could easily take part in the art. In fact. one rang the $23 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. tenor excellently to one touch. Two courses of Triples and rounds on 10 were also rung on handbells.
The visitors said that they found the evening very interesting and that they would now know what to listen for when bells were ringing. No new recruits have been forthcoming up to the present. unfortunately.

Thanks are due to the Vicar of West Huntspill and the local ringers for allowing the use of their tower and bells for this meeting. unusual at least for this area.
R.D.S.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD Newark District

A most enjoyable meeting of the Newark District. attended by approximately 40 ringers, was held at the Church of All Saints Winthorpe. on March 19th. Many Plain and Surprise Minor methods were rung under the direction of th: District Ringing Master, Mr P. N. White

A short service was held, conducted by the Vicar. the Rev. B. Houghton, who welcomed the ringers to his church, and based his sermon on St. Dunstar. ihe patron saint of ringers A most enjoyable ıзa was arranged and served by the local ringers and wives in the Village Hall.

At the business meeting, one new member, John Raithby, of Newark. was elected Barnby-in-the-Willows was confirmed for the meeting on May 21st. Further ringing to suit all tastes then took place up to $8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

A very happy and successful meeting was held in the little five-bell tower of SS. Peter and Paul. Black Notley. on March 19th. Sixiy-eight members atended from 27 parishes,

An enjoyable service was conducted by the Rector. the Rev. B. R. McAllister, and the singing was led by the choir and organist. Mr. Pratt, the District Master, read the lesson The lea was arranged and given by the lecal ringers. their wives and friends.
At the husiness meeting one new honorary life member was elected and three new ringing members. It is hoped that the next meeting will be held at Dunmow, on May 14th

Mr. Pratt expressed thanks to all who had heloed to make the meeting such a success and thanked the many ringers who had supported him by their attendance.
The bells of St. Michael's, Braintree, were also available to ringers from 3.30 to 4.30 p.m.

PER ARDUA AD CAMPANOLOGIA

One evening last October a group of ringers were gathered outside St. John's Church, Devizes, and during conversation three of those present realised that they were from R.A.F., Melksham, a few miles away. From this meeting, an active ringing fraternity at the camp grew. Following requests on the camp loadspeaker system, sufficient ringers and ex-ringers were gathered, and with the Padre's backing, bellringing was officially recognised by the camp authorities as a sports afternoon activity.
Handbell ringing, both tune and changeringing, is practised, and every Wednesday afternoon the band go out to local towers where various Doubles and Minor methods are rung and learners taught.
Last Christmas a tape-recording was made of several carols which were played over the cump broadcasting system prior to the Christmas leave period. It must be admitted that the otherwise good handbells sounded like kitchen utensils when recorded and broadcast !

In February a trip to London was arranged where some ringers and friends visited St. Paul's Cathedral and bells, then proceeded to St. Clement Danes where an hour's ringing was greatly enjoyed.
A sense of achievement was feit when a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung on the six bells at Seend recently.

Unfortunately. Melksham is a training camp where personnel only stay for periods of three to six months and the Gand is likely to suffer fluctuations of membership in the future.

Cape Town is enduring its hottest summer for 20 years and with the thermometer at

BELFRY

 107 degrees, local ringers decided to hold over their complimentary quarter peal to H.M. the Queen on the birth of an infant Prince for a week. The day before it was rung the city 'enjoyed' a temperature of 102 degrees, and the tenor man was really wet through.The ringer of the third in the quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles at Bosham on March 6th (see page 210) was Susan M. Haddelsey.
Will 'Junior, please send his name and address. We cannot entertain for publication an article without knowing the name and address of the sender

Despite the cartoon in the issue of March 181h, Mr. Gerald C. Hemming informs us that the hells of Evesham bell tower went as well as could he expected while ringing for morning and evening service.
Shebbear College, Beaworthy, is in the news again this week with the College Society's first peal. The members are anxious to know if this is the first peal by an all-resident school society.

Congratulations to Mr. T. J. Lock, the popular secretary of the Middlesex County Association. on ringing his 600th peal. The method, Double Norwich Court Bob Caters, rarely makes an appearance in our columns these days.

The last steam engine for British Railways has been taken into service and has been named 'Evening Star.' At that great railway centre. Swindon where the engine was built, a peal of Evening Star Delight Minor was rung at St. Mark's Church to commemorate the event.

Mr. P. Amos calls our attention to the weight of Norton tenor-19 cwt., as given by various authorities. This tenor measures $44 \frac{1}{2}$ inches and he suggests its weight is from 15 to $15 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt., as the canons have been removed. The five bells by Hugh Watt, dated 1640. have never been recast. There is a legend (not stated by Mr. Amos) that St. Patrick was horn in this parish.

GOSSIP

Outstanding personality at West Bromwich is Mr. Albert Mills, who on March 19 th called a quarter of Grandsire Triples (his own composition) for his 80 th birthday. He joined All Saints' belfry in 1896 and his long service was recognised by a gathering of some 80 parishioners and the presentation to him of a cheque by the Rev. C. Holroyd Baker, honorary secretary of the Society.

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar C. Shepherd took place in 1934 and not as given on page 193. Apologies from all concerned.

Mr. Geoffrey K. Dodd points out that in his recent letter 'Captain's in Control,' the tower in question was not Newbury or in Hampshire.

On Sunday, March 15th, 1921. Rev. H. A. Smith-Masters conducted his first service as Vicar of Haghourne, Berks, and 39 years later his ringers met logether 10 honour the occasion with a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples. Later in the evening he joined them at the Fleur-de-Lys to talk over old times, and. of course, it was 'drinks all round '!

Mrs. A. D. Barker deserves a special mention in this column for being the first. person to circle her home tower, Stoke Poges. to peals. Since 1948 she has been a familiar figure at Central Council meetings. although not now a member. and a wider circle than the Oxford Diocesan Guild will, we are sure, desire to join in general congratulations.

Mr. Norman Chaddock sends a reminder of the course in bell ringing to be held at Grantley Hall, Adult College, Ripon, from Friday. April 22nd, to Sunday, April 24th. The course includes lectures by Mr. Frederick Sharpe, Mr. Norman Chaddock and Mr. W. F. Moreton with ringing at Ripon Cathedral and Wath Parish Church. Most sleeping accommodation at Grantley Hall is in private cubicles with some double and single rooms. Men and women of all ages are welcome. Applications to attend the course should be made to the Warden. Inclusive cost, $\frac{2}{3}$ guineas for residents in West Riding. 3 guineas others.

We introduce with this issue a new series of articles dealing with terms and words met in change-ringing which will be of greal help to begimners and also to many other readers. This list has been compiled by a member of the Central Council, who would like in the preparation of this glossary to acknowledge the help given by other well-known ringers.
ACOUSTICS.-I would suggest there is more ringing than is necessary which suffers through bad acoustics in the ringing chamber Appreciating in the first instance that such major works as rehanging bells at a different level. erecting at new soundproof lloor, blocking up or enlarging window openings, inserting a lantern light in the flat roof of the lower, etc., are out of the question, you will find quite a lot can be done to improve the sound in many offending cases. Where ringing takes place on the ground floor there is an economic limit on the draught of rope for proper bell control in addition to the difficulty a ringer has in hearing his belt strike. Where ringing takes place directly underneath the bells with a short length of rope and with only a boarded ceiling in between a ringer has an equal but different difficulty excessive noise. In the first instance the ringer would do better nearer the bells, and in the second, he would do better farther away No solutions are offered here because both causes and cures can be decided only upon investigation into cach particular case. In other words, the problem in two cases might be exactly the same, but the treatment to cure might be quite different. For deadening sound, sawdust, cork chips, layers of felt or sacking. rock wool. aluminium foil or fibre glass could be used but for increasing sound additional openings in the floors above the ringing chamber, opening of trap doors. blocking up openings 10 stop the sound from going outside or sound troughs might be the answer. In some lowers there is an appreciable deadening of sound when the sally goes through the hole in the ceiling-why not form one or more holes adjacent to overcome this distracting condition?

ASSOCIATIONS.-Could you really imagine the position of ringing today if through the past three hundred and more years each local band rang exclusively in its own Parish Church? No, and neither could I. Probably, in the olden days when travelling was so limited, contact with other ringers was restricted to neighbouring parishes, but it was, at least the beginning of some 'organisation' within the Exercise. This organisation has developed to the extent we know today through the formation of Associations (including. within this term. of course. Guild. Society, and Council). Much hard work has been necessary to build up these Associations, and to verify this statement just have a word with some of your Association's officers. Moreover. you will probably be told that to hold office is itself a thankless and unrewarding job because some ringers are unsympathetic and unreliable. And you will often find that the ringer who is prepared to criticise is the one person who could not. or by reason of various excuses would not. help to fulfil the objects of his Association. These objects usually are, amongst others. the recognition of a bellringer as a Church worker and the advancement of the art of bell-ringing. The several Associations are doing much to encourage and advise in the promotion generally of the art of bell-ringing but at the same time without affecting the relationship of an incumbent and his local band. Only a very few, being non-territorial. Associations have direct control of ringing in the tower. Your Association could. undoubtedly, benefit from your help so why not do some more giving and laking, more even than giving your annual subscription and taking the reccipt? Altend meetings and help to improve the standard of ringing. assist the officers. who, remember. are doing their job voluntarily, and see to it that as far as you can manage the Association is achieving its objects.

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE - No. 14

MR. ALBERT WALKER.
Vice-president, St. Martin's Guild.
So many well deserved words of praise have been written in these columns about Mr. Albert Walker, of Birmingham, that it is difficult to find new ways of expressing the deep feeling of affection that exists in the Exercise for him. He has been called "Mr. Greatheart,' and on the occasion of his diamond wedding anniversary not long ago, Mr. Birmingham.' Such has been his enthusiasm that he has travelled the country far and wide. and he is known to thousands of ringers-indeed there can be very few who have not had the pleasure of meeting him, and appreciating his dynamic personality, and great friendliness.

Mr . Walker was born in Birmingham in 1876, and when his father's employment took him to Taunton, he became interested in bells and ringing. At the suggestion of his fiancée he took up the art and learned to ring at St. Mary Magdalene Church, ringing his first peal (Grandsire Triples) in 1896. He joined the St. Martin's Guild in 1897, and returned to Birmingham in 1900 . That city, which had enjoyed great prominence in ringing in the earlier part of the nineteenth century, had struck a bad patch, and was without a conductor. Walker, with no one to instruct him, took up the challenge, and learned the art of conducting Stedman the hard way. Anyway, he learned it so thoroughly that as an exponent in calling Stedman Cinques he has never been surpassed.

The St. Martin's Guild has never in its history possessed a more able, loyal or conscientious member. He has served it as Master for many years-often resigning to enable a younger member to serve in high office. He has never spared any effort to enable an aspiring conductor to reach his goal, and his willingness to help in writing out touches and peals has been appreciated by many. He is now an honoured vice-president of the Guild.

Mr. Walker is just as capable on handbells as he is on tower bells, and was responsible for the great handbell revival which took place in Birmingham over 40 years ago, during which very many peals of Stedman Cinques were rung. also Grandsire Cinques and K.T.B. Maximus, culminating in that great performance. the first peal of Stedman Sextuples ever rung, which he conducted. One outstanding peal on handbells was a nonconducted one where the pairs of bells were drawn for out of a hat held by James George.

Mr. Walker. now in his 84th year, is still capable of conducting a really tricky peal of Stedman Cinques-indeed he did so just after his 83rd birthday, and he is still planning yet another peal for his next. In all he has rung 851 peals, of which he has conducted 337. He has rung no less than 554 peals on twelve bells, a record which has never been surpassed by anyone, alive or dead. Mr. Walker has been a member of the Central Council for 28 years. and served on the Broadcasting and Carter Ringing Machine Committees.

JAFUS.

Durham University Society In Teesdale & N. Yorkshire

The first full scale outing for the Society was held on March 12 th. 9.30 a.m. being the departure time from Palace Green in the shadow of majestic Durham Cathedral. Bishop Auckland. on the western limit of the Durham coalfield, was the first tower of the day. Here the back six were raised in peal and Bob Major. Kent T.B. Major and Stedman Triples rung on the 12 cwt . octave.

On further into Teesdale we found a beautiful 15 cwt . ring of eight, at Staindrop, where we rang Double Norwich. Stedman. Grandsire and Oxford Bob Triples. followed by a good lower in peal. This tower was the 500th for one member.

Some preferred a liquid lunch in Bamard Castle, but, at the suggestion of a would-be Stedman ringer from King"s, eight of the party rang a quarter peal of Stedman Triples on the 17 cwt . eight to enable the said ringer to score a quarter of Stedman at his 22nd attempt! After the quarter Stedman. Bob Major. Double Norwich and Grandsire were rung.

We then crossed the River Tees into North Yorkshire, but were met with a sethack at Cotherstone as the tower was locked. A house to house tour eventually discovered the local captain. and we found a rather unusual ringing chamber with a huge clock case dominating the scens and hiding the 2 nd away in a 2 ft . gap. The shorter ringers were at a decided advantage when ringing this bell. On raising the 7cwt. six. we thought we had stumbled across a West Country tower with single ended ropes, but realised that the tail ends had never been tucked in at all and consequently there was about 3 feet of spare rope at backstroke. After some rounds and Kent Minor we beat a hasty retreat to Barnard Castle for tea. where some members are claiming a world record of 80 minutes in waiting for service! This made us very late at Gainford. where the Vicar made us welcome. Cambridge Minor was rung in a hurry here!

Back again into Yorkshire to Richmond for the last tower of the day. Here a course of Cambridge Major was rung in almost immaculate style

Our thanks to Mike and John Thorley in making the arrangements and to the incumbents for the use of their bells. We also hope that our guests, Billy Robson and George Carr, enjoyed their day with us.

Tips For Beginners-14

When ringing Stedman (or any other method), if you are making thirds place from the front and are returning to lead, there are two bells below you when you are in thirds and they are trapped by you from getting above third's place. Thus, having realised which these two bells are. there is no need to look for any other bells before you return to lead.

OBITUARY

MR. G. H. MYERS
Plymouth, and indeed the West Country, has lost one of its best-known ringers by the death on March 14th of Mr. G. H. Myers ('Harry Myers to all his old friends), at the ripe old age of 88 . He had not rung for about $2 \frac{1}{2}$ years when his health began to fail. For many years he had been in business at 79, Regent Street as a watch and clock repairer, jeweller and engraver, the business being now carried on by his eldest son, Mr. Tom Myers. He is survived by his widow, three sons and a daughter. The sons are equally well-known ringers and are members of St. Andrew's band. Mr. Tom Myers being the Ringing Master and hon secretary of the S.W. Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers.
The funeral on March 16th at St. Andrew's Church was largely attended. many ringers heing present, including Preb. E. V. Cox (president of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers). Mr M. Atkins (hon. secretary). Messrs. R. Bould Tavistock), M. D. Hood (chairman, MidDevon Branch, also representing Mrs. Hood). W. G. Hiscott (Liskeard, formerly of Plymouth), D. F. Farnham (captain, Plympton St Maurice), H. Adams (captain, Stoke Damerell) W. H. Marks (SI. Budeaux). Emmanuel was represented by Messrs. J. P. Sims (captain) H. H. Thomas (hon, secretary and chairman. S.W. Branch), J. L. Blagg, W. Collier, H. O Thomas. Mr. and Mrs. George Godard. Messrs. A. E. Perkin and H. N. Rogers; St. Andrew's hand hy Miss Y. C. Porter. Miss M. J. Marks Messrs. Gluyas, A. Mitchelmore and Couch man. Also from St. Andrew's, and in addition representing the Ancient Society of College Youths. were Messrs. F. D. Wheeler, H. W Milford. S. F.O Shaughnessy; and from Emmanuel. Mr. F. E. Day ; Messrs. A. Westcot (formerly captain of the old Charles band). C Sangwin (A.S. of C. Youths and N.W. Branch of the Guild and Stratton Branch of the Truro Diocesan Guild)
The service was conducted by the Vicar, Preb. Cooper. The half-muffed ringing before and after the service was under the direction of Mr. W. G. Lavers, of Plympton St. Maurice. an old friend of Mr. Myers. Floral tributes included those from his loving wife, children and grand-children, the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, the S.W. Branch, the ringers of the churches of St. Andrew, Emmanuel and Plympton St. Maurice. Interment took place at Ford Park Cemetery, where handbells were rung at the graveside by Messrs. W. G. Lavers, M. Atkins, M. D. Hood and R. Bould.

There are few less qualified than I to give some account of the activities of this grand old veteran of the art, as I did not have the privilege to meet him until ringing started towards the end of the last war. With the information given to me by his family I will endeavour to give some account of his achievements: but to convey in full all the experiences in the world of beil-ringers of one who had been a ringer for 76 years and had rung well over 100 peals would require many columns
Mr. Myers was a great disciplinarian: the method had to be well rung. the striking had to he good, and if anyone thoughtlessly walked into the belfry with hat on. whether friend or stranger, he would be told: *Take that hat off Don't you know where you are? To know him was to respect and admire him for the great ringer he was.
In 1903 he was appointed as the first captain of the Emmanuel Church Ringers, and took part in the first peal rung there. In 1912 he was elected leader of St. Andrew's band, and until 1920 he held both offices, when the duties were taken over at Emmanuel by one of the local band. He remained captain at St. Andrew's until his death.

One of the great events was a full day's ringing on the occasion of Queen Victoria's golden jubilee in 1887, for which he received the sum of four shillings, and until 1957 he had not missed a single royal or civic occasion when the bells were in demand.
At the time of his death he was the oldest nember of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers. and was elected a vice-president in 1945, having joined the Guild in 1891. Towards the end of the last century he became a founder member of the Truro Diocesan Guild, and in 1940 he was elected a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths. He had rung peals for each of these three Guilds.
At the time he had to ease up on his ringing he had rung on every ringable ring of bells in Devon. and there is no doubt that many of the very outlying churches were taken in on a series of Wednesday afternoon trips. perhaps three or four each summer, with old friends who included Preb. Cox. the Rev. W. H. Smale. of Petrockstowe. Mr. F. C. Smale, of Okehampton, who for a number of years arranged these excursions. which were always a great joy to Mr. Myers, and several others.

THE LOG BOOK

Amongst treasured possessions of Mr. Myers is the $\log$ 'book, dating from Easter, 1898, of the Three Towns and District Branch, of which he had been secretary and treasurer. The three towns were Plymouth. Devonport and Stonehouse, and it was not until after the first world war the area came into the S.W. Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers,
He had been in first peals at a number of churches, including St. Andrew's and Emmanuel. He was in the first peal of Grandsire Caters at Charles Church, comprised wholly of a local hand in 1901, when it was the first of Caters for all ten ringers. He had circled the towers in peals at St. Andrew's and Emmanuel. Although of small stature he had turned the tenor ( 35 cwt .) in for Bob Royal at St. Andrew's. the first to be rung and which he conducted.
He resided in Truro for about 18 months when a young man, but he deserted the delectable Duchy to return to his native town. though he never lost his love of Cornwall and its bells, and was for a time the recognised ringing instructor of the Guild.
The log book contains accounts of a number of happenings in the early part of the century. A band went to test the new ring at Emmanuel when the seventh and tenor were reported to he not up to standard. Another occasion was when a band. at the invitation of the Vicar journeyed to St. Mellion, just over the Cornish horder. to take part in the dedication of a new ring of six. They had had several touches and then decided to go for a cuarter peal of Grand sire Doubles. About 700 changes had been rung when the Vicar came and stopped them insisting that the ringers must be exhausted and that they come for refreshment. There is an account of a peal at St. Charles' in 1904 when after ringing about 3 hours and 10 minutes. suddenly one of the ringers, a Mr. Hendy, fell forward flat on his face and died instantly Mr. Myers attended the inquest, when medica evidence showed deceased had an enlarged heart.
From 1914 the Myers have been responsible for the maintenance of the church clock at St . Andrew's, with its carillon. He had also for a number of years heen responsible for the clock at Customs House on the Barbican.
What a record of devotion to the art of change-ringing! It is difficult to say just how much influence this little man had in bringing change-ringing to the area, but it is known that in the very early days he had been almost threatened with annihilation by the call-change and round ringers.

This must be a record of continuous service hard to equal, and it is sad when advancing years bring to a close the activities of such is man; but it remains that whilst most of us want to live long, none of us want to grow old.

His three sons continue at St. Andrew's. so we of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers are assured and sincerely hope the name of Myers will continue at St. Andrew's for many years to come. The ringing must continue, and our departed friend would be the first to say: 'Let there be no moaning at the bar when 1 put out o sea.
H. H. T.

MR. ALBERT D. STONE

Ringers who visited Brighton before the war will all regret the passing of Mr. A. D. Stone. of the St. Peter's band, whose funeral service took place in that church on March 17th.
Elected a member of the Sussex County Association prior to a peal in December, 1899, he became one of the well-known band who rang under the direction of George Attree, scoring many Surprise peals in new methods. In 1910 he became a member of the central divisional committee and secretary of the division from 1911 to 1922, which position he resigned on becoming general secretary in 1923. Two years after giving up this office he was elected hon. treasurer, in 1937, and held the position until failing health caused him to give up active participation in the Association in 1943.
Of the 300 peals he had rung, 292 were for the Sussex Association, mainly on heavy bells in spite of his slight physique. In 1926 he rang the ninth at St. Peter's to the first peal of London Surprise Royal in George Baker's No. 2 (the Brighton) version. This he considered 10 be the highlight of his peal ringing career, and was performed under the conductorship of his lifelong friend, Keith Hart, and with the local band of Sc. Peter's. Of his total peals 115 were rung in his own tower.

The bells were rung half-muffled as a tribute to his memory before the funeral service and after when the coffin was taken away. Those laking part were Miss Betty Stevenson, Mrs. F. I. Hairs, Messrs. F. I. Hairs (past Master) S. E. Armstrong (past Master). W. A. Riddington (leader of St. Peter's), G. North (secretary. Southern Division), B. North. F. Page, A. W. Bond, L. Silwell (peal secretary) and L Batting.

MR. FREDK. O. STEVENS

The oldest member of the Rutland Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, Mr. Frederick O. Stevens, sexton of SS. Peter and Paul Church. Preston, near Uppingham, died on March 17th. aged 89 years. Since the formation of the Rutland Branch he had been their representative on the Guild committee.
Except for illness. Mr. Stevens was most regular in attending branch meetings. although for the past three or four years he had been unable to ring owing to failing eyesight and difficulty in climbing the belfry steps. He would. however, sit in the churches. content jusi to listen to the bells and exchange a cheery greeting to all the ringers. By his passing the Branch has lost a true and loyal friend who earned the respect of all by his devotion to what he considered to be his duty-the furtherance of bell-ringing.
A wreath was sent from the Rutland Branch. and in the evening members gathered from many parts of the county at Preston to ring his bells half-muffled, a last token of respect to a great friend.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FAULTS IN COMPETITION RINGING

Dear Sir,-In reply to R. J. Carlton's Faults in Competition Ringing. I am a competilion ringer and I do not plead ignorance, neither will Mr. N. Moxon, of Cawthorne, who. I am sure, will reply.

To R. J. Carlton and others here is my uggestion whether they ring open leads, close leads, or Churchyard Bob (which I put as any other).

Firstly, we have our own Parsons. Wardens. Officers of the Church and the parishioners to consider and make them appreciate our services to them. as it is our duty to do. Now, R. J. Carlton, my suggestion to you, and all others who plead ignorance. is to have their own ringing recorded, then played back to them slowly. Stand and listen. try to count at an equal speed. If you do not find faults at first try again. eventually you will begin to realise the rhythm it should oe and that is my explanation of a system. I have a recording of our own Friezland bells which 1 would gladly let R.T.C. have to give unto him that which he does seem to desire.-Yours faithfully.

THE FIRST PEAL AT SOUTH STOKE

Dear Sir.-It is with pleasure that I write to verify the lelter of $W$. Simmonds, in your issue of March 18 th . I conducted the first peal al South Stoke in which W. Simmonds rang the fifth. To the best of my memory it was in 1924, and was in three methods, but the record can be found in the Oxford Diocesan Peal Book. The dates of four of the six bells were duly noted during our visit. The band included such stalwarts in Minor ringing in those days as George and James Ahery. John Bower and Jim Smith.

Like W.S.. I can vividly remember the locals peeping round the curtains with amazement and excitement during the last half hour of the peal. Also. there was only about one inch of the candles left to burn when we finished. The ringing created quite a sensation in the quiet little village at that time.Yours faithfully.

EDINBURGH DELIGHT

Dear Sir.-The recent correspondence regarding Edinburgh Delight Minor overlooks one point.
A neal of Edinhurgh Delight Major was rung at All Saints'. Wigston Magna, on November 20th. 1948. conducted by R.F. Roc. in honour of the occasion of the birth of Prince Charles.

This method putlished in the $\cdot \mathbf{R}$. W. does not contract to Minor.-Yours faithfully T. E. IHARROLD

CAPITA MAGNISSIMLS

Dear Sir.-Each member of the Derbyshire Association committee. which annually awards the insignia of Capita Magnissimus. is sufficiently versed in Latin to realise their (deliherate) mistakes. On occasions such as our annual dinner we consider that the possession of a sense of humour is a far hetter qualification than a sound knowledge of latin.-Yours sincercly.

DUPLICATION OF SURPRISE

 METHODSDear Sir.-I should like to comment on two points raised by your correspondents Brian J. Woodruffe and Denis A. Frith on the subject of Duplication in Surprise Methods in last week's 'Ringing World.'

First. Mr. Woodruffe states that ... Wye. Braunstone and Biddenden are mere variations of Yorkshire!' They may be variations of Yorkshire, but I fail to see why the belittling word 'mere' has to be used or why an exclamation mark has to be appended.
Second. Mr. Frith asks that if we ring a peal in these methods. we should not make a claim as to ringing the 'first peal' in the method. presumably because the differences from Yorkshire are so slight. These methods do serve a useful purpose in that they provide a relief from ringing pure Yorkshire all the time and even a good band has to keep its wits about it to ring these methods correctly. They also give composers something to think about, too. They are new methods-and worth calling as such.
With regard to the naming of methods raised by Mr. P. Amos in the same issue. I believe it is the desire of the Central Council that new methods should be named after places. Does it matter whether they have bells or not? In any case. Arnesby certainly has FIVE bells.

Nevertheless. Mr. Amos can take heart in the fact that previously I called a peal which contained io less than eleven 'Saints, methods. The most important thing about ringing is that the bells should be rung for the Christian festivals, to proclaim to the public the

LONDON SURPRISE ROYAL NEEDS TAG

Dear Sir.-May I remind Mr. Peter Border. The conductor of two peals rung at Birmingham and published in your last issue as well as several earlier ones, and also you yourself, sir, sof the Council's decision in 1955 that it declines to recognise any method hitherto rung or published as entitled to the designation of "Landon Surprise Royal ". unless the words Stepney version. ". Brighton version $\because$ or "No. 3 or Beddington version " be added.
I think it is safe to say, without the fear of reopening an old controversy, that it is generally agreed London Surprise Royal as a regular method does not exist. The version usually used-No. 3-has therefore no more exclusive right to this tite than thove rung at Brighton in 1926 or al Stepney in 1910, however near to or far from the ideal any of them may he.Yours sincerely.
E. A. BARNETT. Hon. Secretary.

MORE INTERFSTING EVERY WEEK

Dear Sir,-I have taken a ringing paper since 1895. the Editor then being Harvey Reeves. Although it was only one penny in those days and is now 8d.. i consider "The Ringing World is well worth the extra money and gets more interesting every week.

1 feached the age of 84 on March 17 th and am now looking forward to my 60 years of married hliss, which will ha on April 16ih. On my wedding day I rang in a peal of Grandsire conducted by the late Alired Lawrence, of Christ Church, Swindon.

I still keep up my ringing, attending on practice nights and for Sunday ringing at Wootton Bassett, whero I have had charge of the ringing for 63 years. My hesl wishes to my ringing friends in all parts of the country.-Yours faithfully, LOUIS A. WiL.SON. 169. High Street. Wootion Bassett. Wilts.

These bells were a new ring of eight cast by Mears and Stainbank in 1936.

The ringers in the first peal were six of a party of London handbell ringers touring U.S.A. with 'Barnum's Circus.' They discovered a ring of eight bells in Philadelphia. cas by the Whitechapel foundry, by Lester and Pack, who also cast the Liberty Bell in 1754 : other information of the party may be obtained from 'The College Youths: London. and must not be confused with the Lancashire ringers who returned to England in 1847.
In the second peal. Vancouver. the band were all Englishmen who had made residence in Canada. When Mr. Limpus arrived in Vancouver, at that time a non-ringer, he became interested in the Holy Rosary Cathedral bells and was instrumental in the recasting of the seven French bells into a ring of eight.
To conclude with a note of interest. The carillonneur. Mr. James $R$. Lawson, of the University of Chicago. U.S.. is having the ring of 10 hells in the Mitchell tower restored and equipped for ringing after 20 years of silence.-Yours etc..

A BELL RINGER'S ADVENTURE

IN my younger days bell-ringing was much more in fashion among the young men of Blanktown than it is now. Nobody, I believe, practises it here at present except the salaricd servants of the Church, and the melody has been much injured in consequence. Some fifty years ago about iwenty of us, who lived in the vicinity of the Cathedral, formed a club which used to ring every peal that was called for: and from continual practice, and the rivalry which rose between us and a club attuched to another steeple, we became very Mozarts on our favourite instruments. But my bell-ringing practice was shortened by a singular accident. which not only stopped my periormance, hut made even the sound of it bell lerrible to my ears.
One Sunday I went with another into the belfry to ring for morning prayers, but the second stroke we pulled showed us that the clapper of the bell had been muffled. Some one had been buried that morning, and it had been prepared, of course. 10 ring a mournful note. We did not know of this beforehand but it mattered little we thought, for the remedy was easy.

Jack,' said my companion, 'step up to the loft and cut off the hat'; for the way we had of muffling was by tying a piece of an old hat to one side of the clapper which deadened every second toll. I did as 1 was told and mounting into the belfry. crept, as I had often done before, into the bell, and began to cut away the muffler from the clapper. But the piece of felt had been tied on in some more complicated manner than usual, and I was. perhaps, three or four minutes in getting it off : during which time my companion below was hastily called away by a message from his sweetheart, I believe, hut that is not material to my story

The person who called him was a brother of the club, who knowing that the time had come for ringing for service, and not thinking that anyyone was above. began to pull. 1 was just getting out when I felt the bell beginning to move. I guessed the reason at once-it was a moment of terror: but by a hasty and almost convulsive effort I succeeded in jumping down. and throwing myself on the flat of my back under the bell. The room in which it hung was little more than sufficient to contain it. the hottom of the bell coming within a couple of feet of the floor of lath. At that time I certainly was not as bulky as I am now, but as I lay the bell was within an inch of my face. I had not laid myself down a second when the ringing began. It was a dreadful situation.
Over me suinging an immense mass of metal. one touch of which would have crushed me to pieces: the floor under me was principally composed of crazy laths. and if they gave way, I would be precipitated to the distance of fifty feet. upon a loft which would in all probahility. sink under the impulse of my fall. and send me to be dashed to atoms upon the marhle floor of the church, one hundred feet below.
I remember-for fear is quick in recollec-tion-how a common clock wcight, about a month before, had fallen. and bursting through the floors of the steeple, had driven in the ceilings of the porch. and even broken into a stone altar tomb that was beneath. This was my first terror : but the ringing had not continsed a minute before a more awful and immediate dread came over me. The deafening sound of the bell smote into my ears with a thunder which made me fear their drums would crack.
There was not a fibre of my body through which it did not thrill-it entered my very soul: thought and reflection were almost utterly vanished : I only retained the sensation of agonizing terror. Every moment I saw the bell sweep within an inch of my face, and my eyes (I could not close them. though 10 look at the object was bitter as death) followed it instinctively in its oscillating progress until it came back again. It was in vain that I said 10 myself it could come no nearer at any future swing than it did at first. Every time it descended I endeavoured to shrink

This amazing fictional story, that for its. macabre qualities will make Nine Tailors read like a fairy story. first appeared in the church magnzine of Si. Margaret's church, Whitnash, Warwickshire, in August, 1859. We are indebted to the Rev: C. H. Gleave. the presem rector, for bringing this to our notice and for the preservation of the old magazine. rimd to Mr. P. A. Oram, holl. secretary of the Southern Disirici of the Covenry Diocesan Guild, who has been instrumemal in providing us with a copy. May we add a word of warning: don't read this story' late at night. into the very floor to avoid being huricd under the down-sweeping mass: and then reflecting on the danger of pressing too heavily on my rrail support. I would cower up agann as far as 1 dared.
At first my fears were about matters of fact. I was afraid the pulleys ahove would give way and let the bell plunge on me. At another time the possibility of the clapper being shot on me in some sweep, and dashing inrough my body, as I had seen it ramrod glide through a door, flitted across my mind. I he dread, also (as I' have already mentioned) of the crazy floor, tormented me: but these soon gave way to fears more visionary, and, of course, more tremendous. The roaring of the bell confused my intellect, and my tancy soon began to teem with all sorts of strange and terrifying ideas.

The bell pealing above, and opening its jaus with a hideous clamour, seemed to me, at one time, a ravening monster raging to devour me, at another, a whirlpool, ready to suck me into its bellowing abyss. As 11 gazed upon it. it assumed all shapes ; it was a devouring eagle, or rather, a Roc of the Arabian story-tellers, clapping its wings and screaming over me. As I looked upwards screaming over me. As I looked upwards into it. it would appear sometimes to lengthen into indefinite extent. or to be twisted at the end into the spiral folds of the tail of a flying dragon. Nor was the flaming breath or the fiery glance of that fabled animal wanting to complete the picture. My eyes inflamed, bloodshot, and glaring, invested the supposed monster with a full proportion of unholy light.

The air, set in motion by the swinging of the beil. blew over me, nearly with the violence. and more than the thunder of a tempest, and the floor seemed to reel under me as under a drunken man. But the most awful of all the ideas that seized on me were drawn from the supernatural. In the vast cavern of the bell. hideous faces appeared. and glared down on me with terrifying frowns. or with grinning mockery, still more appalling. At last I thought that the devil himself. gliaring on me with cyes of infernal lustre. made his appearance, and called on me to curse God and worship him. who was powerful to save me.
This dread suggestion he uttered with the full-toned clangour of the bell. Strenuously and desperately I defied him and bade him begone. Reason then for a moment resumed her sway, but it was only to fill me with fresh terror. just as the lightning disputs the gloom that surrounds the henighted mariner. only to show him that his vessel is driving on it rock where she must inevitably be on a roch where she must inevitably he dashed to pieces. I found I was becoming delirious. and irembled lest reason should utterly desert me. This is at all times an agonising thought. but it smote me then with tenfold agony. I feared lest when utterly deprived of my senses. I should rise. for I deprived of my senses. I should rise. for I sirange feeling which calls on a man whose head is dizzy from standing on the hatulements of a lofty castle to precipitate himself from it. and find a death instant and tremendous.
When I thought of this I became desperate. I caught the floor with a grasp which drove the blood from my nails, and I yelled with the cry of despair. I called for help-1 prayed. I shouted. but all the efforts of my voice were, of course, drowned in the hell. As it passed over my mouth it occasionally echoed my cries with itsially echoed my cries, which mixed not win its own sound. but preserved a distinct me. I know the echoes was but fancy. To sounded as if they were the shouting, houling. or laughing of the fiends. with which my imagination had peopled the gloomy cave which swung over me.
You may accuse me of exaggerating my feelings, hut 1 am not. Many scenes of dread have I since passed through, but they are nothing to the self-inflicted terrors of that half hour in the belfry The ancients conceived that one of the spirits in Tartarus was doomed to be for ever under a rock. Which every moment seemed to he descending to annihilate him-and an awful punishment it would be. But if to this you add a clamour as loud as if ten thousand furies were howl ing about you-a deafening uproar, banishing reason and driving you to madness-you must allow th.ll the bitterness of the pang was rendered more terrible. There is no man, firm as his nerves may be, who could retain his courage in this situation.
In twenty minutes the ringing was done. Half of that time passed over me without power of computation; the other half appeared an age. When it ceased, I gradually became more quiet, but a new fear seized me. 1 knew that five minutes would elapse without ringing. but at the end of that short time the bell would be rung a second time for five minutes more. I could not calculate time -i minute and an hour were of equal duration. I feared to rise. lest the live minules. should have elapsed, and the ringing be again commenced. in which case I should be smashed. before I could escape, against the walls or frame-work of the bell. I therefore still continued to lie down, cautiously shifting myself, however, with a careful gliding. so that my eye no longer looked into the hollow. This was of itself no slight relief. The cessation of the noise had. in g great measure. the effect of stupifying me. for my attention, being no longer occupied by the chimeras I had conjured up. began to flag. All that now distressed me was the constant expectation of the second ringing, for which. however. I setted myself with a kind of sullen. stolid resolution, I closed my eyes and clenched my teeth. as firmly as if they were screwed in a vice.
At last the dreaded moment came, and the first swing of the bell extorted a groan from me. as they say the most resolute victim screams at the sight of the rack 10 which he is for a second time to he bound. After this. however. I lay silent and lethargic, without a thought. Wrapt in the defensive armour of stupidity. I defied the bell and its intonations. When it ceased I was roused a little by the hope of escape. I did not however. decide on this step hastily, but putting up my hand with the utmost caution. I touched the rim. I thought the ringing had ceased: it still was tremulous from the sound and shook under my hand. which instantly recoiled as from an electric jar
A quarter of an hour probably elapsed bafore I again dared to make the experiment. and then I found the bell at rest. I determined to lose no time. fearing that the bell for afternoon service would eatch me. This dread stimulated me. and I slipped out with utmost rapidity and arose. I stood. I suppose. for a minute. looking with silly wonder on the place of my imprisonment. penetrated with joy at escaping. and then rushed down the stony and irregular stairs with my utmost speed. and arrived in the bell-ringers' room. This was the last act I had power to accomplish. I leant against the wall motionless. and deprived of thought. in which posture my companions found me. when, in the course of a couple of hours, they returned to their occupation. They were shocked, as well they might be. at the figure before them. The wind of the bell had excoriated my face, and my dim and stupified eyes were fixed with a lack lusture gaze in my raw eyelids. My hands were torn and bleeding my hair dishevelled, and my clothes tattered. They spoke to me, but I gave no answer; they shook me. but I remained insensible; they then became alarmed and hastened to remove me. He who had first gone up with me in the forenoon met them as they carried me through the churchyard, and through him, who was . shocked at having, in some measure, occasioned the accident, the cause of my misfortune was discovered.

I was put to bed at home, and remained for three days delirious. but gradually recovered my senses. You may be sure the bell formed a prominent topic of my ravings, and if I heard a peal they were instantly increased to the utmost violence. Even when the delirium abated my sleep was continually disturbed by imagined ringing, and dreams were haunted by the fancies which almost maddened me while in the stecple. My friends removed me to a house in the country, which was sufliciently distant from any place of Horship. to save me from the apprehension of hearing the church bell going; for what Alexander Selkirk. in Cowper's poem. complained of as a misfortune was then to me a blessing.

There I recovered: but even long after my recovery, if the gale wafted the notes of a peal lowards me, I started with nervous apprehension. I felt a Mahommedan hatred for all the hell tribe, and envied the subjects of the commander of the faithful the sonorous voice of their Muezzin. Time cured this. as it does the most of our follies; hut even at the present day. if by chance my nerves be unstrung, some particular notes of the Cathedral bell have power to surprise me into a momentary start and tremor.

ODE TO A LOST RINGER

In 'Ringing Worlds' long past we saw, Full oft in many a peal.
The name of Wratten. bold in print, His fame was very real
But now, alas, no more we see That well remembered name,
The lad we used to know so well Has given up the game
Tis rumoured that he's signed the pledge, And given up all vice.
What ails the lad? we want to know. T'aint really very nice.
His clapper's mute, his rope is snapped, His stay all bent and broke.
His wheel no longer turns about. What's up with the poor old bloke?
One time we used to see him stand Before the parlour rail.
Twas naught to see this hearty lad Sink pints of good strong alc.
Tis said that he has gone to naught, A shadow of his self,
No bells, no beer, no football pools, He must be in bad heath.
No doubt you're wondering what's occurred To bring this lad's decline.
The poor chap. one dark night, got caught Hy maiden's fair design.
A warning to you bachelors gay:
A churchyard's not the place:
Stity in the lower and lock the door,
That way you'll ne'er lose facc.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY AT DINNER

O N Saturday, March 5th. the annual dinner of the Cambridge University Guild was held in the Hall of Selwyn College.

The day was much too pleasant to be wasted in peal ringing, and it was possibly in view of this that, despite very kind encouragement from the Vicar, the conductor of the band which was trying to ring Stedman Triples at Icklcton saw the light after 40 minutes and miscalled it. Having rung a quarter of Bob Major to keep out of mischief until opening time, the band returned to Trumpington to lend a judicious ear to the peal of eight-spliced Surprise which was going on there. Ifearing that it was good, they sat in the Red Lion until the peal came round a little later. to the deserved satisfaction of all concerned.

For those who wished to bolt their lunches, Mr. Roaf was on display at St. Bene't's for an hour, after which the ringing chamber at Great St. Mary"s was crammed io capacily. It should he explatined that Cambridge was holding a Fiesta Day in aid of the Refugce Appeal, and one young man who was sitting in the shadow of Si. Mary's, solemnly playing a clarinet. was nearly blown away when the 12 were pulled off. He is believed to have gone elsewhere.

The ringing at the Roman Catholic Church was interrupted. surprisingly briefly. by a wedding, but reached a higher st andard than ustal, including Double Norwich, Bristol and London. This was courtcously, and ruefully, attributed to the visitors and the older members.
St. Andrew's was the last tower open. and ringing included Yorkshire and London, though certain figures were by this time conspicuously. if understandably, absent.

87 AT DINNER

The second remarkable feature of the day was immediately evident at sherry before dinner, and it was later stated by the secretary that no fewer than 87 people sat down to the very satisfactory dinner. Later, after the loyal toast. the president (Rev. A. C. Blyth) welcomed the guests and visitors, presented with regret apologies for absence from Canon A. L. Woodard and Mr. J. H. Fielden. and observed that, under conditions of some secrecy, the Guild had contrived to ring a 4 -bell tower for a wedding. This, he suggested, added some weight to the assertion that the Guild was flourishing.
Mr. S. E. Darmon. proposing the toast of The Guild, revealed that he had asked himself why the Guild continued to exist. (Perhaps after our afternoon's activities the same question may have been asked elsewhere in Cambridge.) He finally attributed its present flourishing state to the degree of contact between resident and non-resident members, stressing the importance of Guild Week in this connection, and also to the great good fortune of the Guild in its two presidents. both past and present. This proposition was strongly and audihly supporled.
Mr. P. H. Lington, the Master, confirmed in his reply impressions of the present state of the Guild by quoting a resident membership of 52. of which 22 were new members. The Guild rang for four services on Sundays, and learners were encouraged to assist regularly at Trumpington. Two practices were held each week and also two muffled practices for learners: special mention was made of a system of entering individually the progress of learners each week, which had enabled the large numbers to be instructed with economy and purpose. The number of peals rung over the year was slightly below average, but the achievements in terms of methods wats felt to offset this to some extent: peals had teeen gained in two new plain and two new Surprise Major methods-Wymondham and Winchester, and Cornwall and Glasgow. A peal of Bob Royal 'in hand, nonconducted. had also been rung. Outings and local meetings of the Ely Diocesan Association had been very well attended, particularly by learners. As his personal proof of the present state of the Guild, said the Master, he took the fact that, before a recent attempt for a peal of cight-spliced Surprise, a prominent resident peal ringer had been found practising on a lashed treble at St. Andrew's.

The secretary, Mr. J. R. Taylor, proposing the toast of "The Guests,' welcomed representalives of the Oxford University, University of London and University of Bristol Societies, and the Master and a not unfamiliar member of the Society of Cambridge Youths. The latter he complimented on their ability to ring not only the bells but also the tower of Great St. Mary's.

Replying for the guests, the Master of the Oxford University Society (Mr. A. Stubbs) congratulated the Guild on its achievement in the neal of eight-spliced Surprise rung earlier in the day, but gently delended his own Society by reference to their own achievement in the peal rung for the recent Royal birth. He wondered why no similar attempt had been made by the Guild.

As usual, the company proceeded after dirner to the Tower Room for beer, libel and handbells until a suitably late hour. On Sunday there was no shortage of ringers and ringing was interesting. By the evening. however. the residents were again in possession after what was agreed to have been a most successful and enjoyable week-end.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Maidstone District

The meeting of the Maidstone District at Lenham was enhanced by the presence of the Ladies' Guild and members of the Central Council. This combined meeting had good support from both Societies and resulted in a congregation of 63 at the service. conducted by the Rev. O. F. R. Strictland. Other visitors before and after must have brought the total attendance to a good century.

Unfortunately Mr. A. Waddington, the District Ringing Master. was indisposed, and the role was ably filled by Mr. Reg Sills, the District secretary.

The Vicar in his address drew a simile of bells to 'Praise Him on the Loud Trumpet' and in more modern theme to the cook house call of 'Come and get it.' He looked on bells ringing for service as a call to all people to come and get the spiritual substance offered by the Church.
He also thanked those present for ringing the bells. giving the people of Lenham an opportunity of hearing their rehung bells for which they had worked so hard. A new band is being formed locally and the bells now ring for most services.
After the business meeting Mr. P. Carter thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and his most interesting address, also Mr. J. Manktelow, the local captain, for his assistance with the arrangements.

Rochester District

There was a very happy gathering of some 60 odd members for the Rochester District by-meeting at the little village church of St. Bartholonew, Bobbing, on March 12 th.
The Vicar (the Rev. F. L. Talbot) conducted the ringers' service at which a collection was taken on behalf of the Kent County Association Belfry Repair Fund. Tea was kindly given and served in the Village Hall. The District secretary. Mr. T. Barton, in proposing a vole of thanks, especially mentioned the vicar. churchwardens and lady helpers for their hospitality and very warm welcome.
Ringing on the six bells was under the leadership of Mr. G. A. Nayler, District Ringing Master

THOUGHTS FROM THE WEST COUNTRY

NOW that we have settled down to the fact that our 'Ringing World ' is costing us more, and the many opinions have been expressed regarding what should or should not be done regarding peal charges and the general contents of the paper, ' What do we do?'

At the present time only about 15 per cent. of all ringers take our paper, and if we include those who share a copy it would probably be reasonable to say that only a quarter of the ringing fraternity read it, which leaves three-quarters who do not. It has been said many times, and it is very true, that if we could get a much larger circulation we should soon achieve financial stability. It is equally true that with its appeal value at the 1959 level, and with circulation as high as it has ever been, the saturation point under these conditions had more or less been reached. With the increase in price and the additional inch of space per page, it is possible to widen the appeal of the paper a little. To some extent this has been done, and there is the additional promise of larger copies on special occasions.
Now, therefore, is the time for us all to do everything possible to interest new readers; even with its present small additional appeal there must be quite a few possibles. This, however, is not our main opportunity; we have pointed out that the responsibility for this paper rests with every ringer who is a Guild member, and this is where our opportunity is.
Very soon now, every Guild and Association in the country will be holding annual meetings; there will be thousands of ringers at these gatherings who at the moment do not take, and have no interest in. "The Ringing World.' At the same time there will be many present who, whilst taking the paper, have never contributed to it in any way or influenced others to take it. So this is what we can do.
The minutes of every forthcoming meeting should include the item. 'The Ringing World,' and among others the following points should be raised and fully discussed.
(1) How can the paper be improved to make it of greater interest to attract the ordinary service ringer who does not take it?
(2) Having obtained views on (1), what can the company present do about it personally? Who has a good ringers' story to tell in dialect? Who is there present who is capable of writing a good article, but has always hidden his light under a bushel? There could be many who have, for one reason or another, never taken part who could become valuable contributors. Other ideas may well come to light which could be useful.
(3) Having in mind the limits of our present expansion, what can be done to provide extra finance and so allow these improvements to be made to attract extra readers? There are a number of ways of doing this, including the following:-
(a) Guilds and Associations could make an annual contribution of, say, $£ 15$ each: 75 such contributions would produce $£ 1,125$ per annum, with which much could be done, and it would mean that in effect all ringers were helping.
(b) A charge could be made by 'The Ringing World' for the publication of peals. This is a very thorny one but it has many supporters, and we should do well to have the subject freely discussed at our meetings and cleared up once and for all. Another course which could be adopted in this respect is that individual Guilds and Associations should make a charge on all peals rung for them toward 'R.W.' funds. If this could be generally adopted it would probably be the better course of the two, as it would not interfere with the function of the paper.
(4) What are the possibilities of obtaining a wider range of advertisements? It would be very difficult for - The Ringing World ' Committee to do very much about this, but the people on the spot could make a substantial contribution. Trade and business in the country are at a high level of prosperity. The ringing fraternity embraces all walks of life so must include many who are enjoying their share of this. Many firms are keenly interested in the social activities of their employees, and the suggestion here is that Associations might make an effort to enlist the interest of these people and obtain advertisement material. covered by a worthwhile contribution to the paper's funds.
(5) That every Guild and Association should appoint an official 'Ringing World' officer who could be responsible for promoting the sales of the paper, collecting reports and the like, and with a reasonable local knowledge encourage suitable people to submit articles of a general and technical nature. This last could be most helpful. He could also be responsible for the distribution of complimentary copies of the paper at meetings as an aid to sales.

Lastly, this being the year of election to the Central Council, the newly-elected members would have the full views of their membership on the subject, and when at Folkestone ' The Ringing World ' comes up for discussion, they would be able to speak and vote in accordance with the final conclusions of their Guilds.

JUDGING RINGING CONTESTS

By HAROLD CHANT

INN view of the request by Mr. R. J. Carlton in last week's • R. W: I would like to submit a few observations on this subject. Several years ago 1 made similar ones, but as they have been forgotten. I suppose, by everyhody except myself. I will recapitulate them with. perhaps. additional words of wisdom.
The ideal judge must have a quick ear and an inborn sense of rhythm: be preferably a good striker in order 10 detect the faults of others and be able to maintain his concentration for long periods; he must be the soul of integrity: have, if possible, a background of masical education; be impervious to defamatory remarks about his judgment: deliver his decisions unafraid. with the aplomb and finality of a despot: be able to criticise without fermenting rancour and encourage without patronage.
The ideal judge must be, in fact. such a paragon of virtues that it is doubtful if he ever existed. I have, however, known several good ones.

MARKER DESIRABLE

It is better if the judge serves his apprenticeship by 'marking.' For the benefit of the uninitiated a 'marker' is one who writes down the faults as the judge calls them out. By doing this he can get an insight into the method of assessing the faults and can ask questions of the judge between intervals of ringing. Sometimes the answers he receives are more them revealing-but that is another story.

A judge should never do his own marking. Even the most conscientious judge would be distracted by the faults on the paper before him. perhaps mentally adding them up and/or comparing them with the number of faults acrued by previous teams. Personally, I like to sit, or occasionally stand. in such a position that I cannot see the faults going down, and so be able to focus all my attention on the faults being made- Where there are two judges they should judge half of the test piece each, changing over at a time estimated to coincide with half the length of it. Each may mark for the other.
It is advisable that they stick to the same half of the test piece for all the teams in the contest so that any discrepancy between their standard of judgment may be confined to the same portion of the test piece. Furthermore, seeing that with many teams, some ringing on bells on which they may have had little or no previous practice as a team. most of the faults occur in the early stages. a difference in the standard of judgment at this vital stage would give a distorted picture of the positions of the teams in the final resul.

COPY OF RULES

There should always be a copy of the rules of the contest in the judge's room so that penalties imposed for breaches of technicalities may be set down on the paper of each team as they occur. Nothing is more embarrassing either for the judge or the participants than for the judge to announce the winner only to discover that hecause of some infringement, either known or unknown to him, his Team number $1^{\prime}$ is not "Team number 1" after all. For this reason he must be informed of any infringement of the rules which, unknown to him. have added penalties, before he makes his announcement. Such an infringement might be. for instance, the penalties imposed by some Societies when a ream is not ready to ring in the order in which it is drawn. a contingency of which the judge must be. by necessity, ignorant.

For obvious reasons he must know before his incarceration how many teams are entered in the contest. and be informed of any change of number that occurs in the meantime, as he may otherwise either be sat watting for a mon-existent team to ring, or be half-way to the meeting to deliver the goods when the bells begin pealing merrily in the hackground as another team takes the ropes: both of which events I have experienced.
With regard to setting down the faults. the marker should be instructed to make a gate of each group of five, the fifth fault of each group drawn diagonally across the previous four. This facilitates addition. Some judges use an ordinary piece of note-paper for each team. but for many years now I have used the following system, which I can recommend

MARKING SHEET

Prepared duplicated sheets (foolscap size) have spaces provided for: (a) The name of the Society. (b) date. (c) team number, (d) length of test piece. (e) time taken. (f) average time of teams ringing through. (g) faults. penalties and total. (h) judge's remarks.

A large portion in the centre of the page is taken up by the spaces for faults and is divided into rectangles. one for each minute of ringing. On the left-hand side the minutes are shown 1-9, $6-10$. etc., and on the righthand side a space is left for the cotal of each five minutes of ringing. so that these can be easily totalled up.

The marker moves from rectangle to rectangle as the minutes progress and marks with one eye on a watch or clock

By this method it is possible to see at a glance how the striking of a team has improved. (or otherwise) as the test piece moves tong minute by minute. Two pencils are also provided for the marker, a red one and a hlack one. If any serious trips or blunders occur. caused (say) by someone getting lost. the judge shouts 'Red' and the marker then transfers to the red pencil. When the jumble is over the word 'Black' ensures that normal faults are marked down. The team can afterwards, therefore, discover the cost of Young Willies missed dodge in 3-4 down!
This gives a new meaning to the phrase In the red, which the wife of a ringing friend of mine attributes to the artistic temperament of her bank-manager. whilst her husband has not the heart to disillusion her!

FAST RINGING AND GOOD STRIKING

It is a matter of a few moments only to estimate the average time and enter this on each team paper, but it is worth the trouble involved as the teams concerned can then compare times with each other discovering. nerhaps, to their surprise that it is not necessarily true that the faster six bells are rung the better they sound. In this connection I have pointed out on a previous occasion that fast ringing and good striking are not necessarily synonymous. Neither of course. is slow ringing but to attempt to push the bells along at a speed in excess of the "natural. rhythm of the bells is. in contest ringing at any rate, courting disaster. Contest ringing is not peal ringing and nobody. least of all the judge. is interested in the fastest test piece on the bells and where ringers are keyed up to concert pitch the slightest irip may mean catastrophe. If the bells are moving too quickly. correction becomes more difficult as the hells come tumbling down at backstroke. Nevertheless, I have judged quite a few contests where the fastest touch has won, the reason being (I hope) because the team has produced the best striking: but 1 have judged many others where they have not

In the space allowed for 'Remarks' the judge is at liberty to express his opinion either of the test piece as a whole or to criticise individual bells. With regard to the latter. it is wise not to be too scathing, and of late I have even refrained from singling out individual bells as it is possible that the guilty party is a sensitive learner, who may be discouraged by being, as it were, corrected in public. In any case. this criticism can frequently be obliquely directed and the little bells crowding the tenors' when the treble has been chipping the heavy bells should be sufficient cue for a wise captain to deliver a little homely advice. especially if, as should be the case. he has already mentioned the fact whilst the ringing was in progress.

ASSESSING FAULTS

Explaining the manner of assessing the fauls is a more difficult matter, as much of it is learnt only by experience. There is no doubt that the standard varies hetween one judge and another. which. so far as I can see. doesn't matier a great deal so long as contests judged by different persons are not compared in order to assess the standard of ringing in different occasions and frequently on different bells.

I once heard a ringer state that in one contest his team had accomplished 10 minutes of faultless ringing, whereas I have found that it is extremely rare to scan a fault sheet and discover a blank space denoting a minute of faultless ririging.

How does this come about?

A fault may be taken as a tolerably savage 'clip' between two bells: say about half to a quarter of the normal interval allowed for accurate striking. A gap of similar proportion is also accounted a fault. although as the bell following the gap-maker frequently clouts the principal offender the fault is thereby made self-evident. The closing up of an open lead in open-lead ringing merits the same penalty.
Judged by these standards. close-lead teams such as Cawthorne. Shelley or Friezland with their meticulous regularity and open-lead teams of the calibre of Warsop or Handsworth would frequently have blank spaces on their score-sheets for the aforesaid 10 minutes. and so in order to sort them out it becomes necessary to allocate in addition to the complete faults mentioned above. sub-divisions of faulis or so-called divisional faulis.

USE OF FRACTIONS

Personally I use $\frac{1}{2}$-faults and $t$-faults (having rejected. after trial. $\frac{t \text {-faults), and collect them }}{}$ in the following manner. I have in front of me a sheet of note-paper. down the centre of which I draw a line. On one side of this line I collect the $\frac{1}{3}$-faults and on the other the $\frac{1}{2}$-faults. Three $\frac{t}{}$-faults complete a triangle and two $\frac{1}{2}$-faults made a cross, and as each triangle or cross is completed I call out one. which the marker sets down in the usual manner. From this it can be seen that even in the "faultess " minute it is possible for a team to have collected $1 \frac{1}{6}\left(\frac{1}{2}+\frac{1}{4}\right)$ faults. without having them marked down on the paper. In view of this it is only fair to point out that it is possible for a team to have all its minute-space containing faults and still have almost two minutes faultess ringing. when. for instance. a fault has occurred at the front end of one minute space and the hack end of the next.
Faults should be always marked down singly even when they are called out in twas. Calling faults in twos at a jumble in Minor ringing appears to be traditional. I have marked for many judges and co-judged with many more and I don't remember at any time a three being uttered. I suppose the practice springs from the reasoning that in any given change at least four people should know what they are doing, and that if three or more people are lost the chances of them righting themselves in a contest are very remote. Most conductors would probably stop the ringing anyway, unless the hand was comparatively new to contest ringing and he wanted them io go forward to gain experience. In any case after a succession of "twos' last ing for half a minute the team would have no chance of winning when the first team would finish with $40-50$ faults.

Whatever the reason for the 'twos.' I have always continued to give this number for each of a succession of such martial music-two for each big bang. as it were-and shall continue to do so unless I can find a suitable reason to the contrary.

NO SYSTEM INFALLIBLE
In spite of these elaborate preparations and precautions. one still has sometimes the feeling. especially when the number of faults separating the leaders is small, that it is possible that the leading team may not, after all. be the winners. No system is infallible. and knowing that I have done the sorting out to the hest of my ability, I have never allowed these feelings to interfere with my sleep!

If the judge is accustomed. as many judges are. to ringing both open- and closed-leads. there is no difference in assessing the faults in either or both.

Concerning the question of judging ' ${ }^{\text {rising }}$ and falling I have had no experience. I would very much like to hear the views of anyone who has judged such a contest.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The monthly meeting of the Sheffield and District Socicty at Wortley on April 2nd was quite well attended and methods ranged up 10 Bristol Surprise Major. It may be truly said that ringers at this tower are back-room boys, since entrance to the tower is by means of a difficult wooden ladder. which is reached through what appears to be a cuphoard door in the wooden wall of the vestry at the base of the tower.

After tea in the local school a well struck touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by J. J. L. Gilbert. N. Chaddock. J. F. Smallwood and J. Seager. This was taped and played back with pleasant effects.

At the short business meeting memhers were reminded that the next gathering was the cup contest at Beighton on May 7th, when it was also hoped to choose a new president. Three new members from Rotherham were elected and after tea ringing continued until 8 p.m.

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD

The 33 rd annual meeting of the East Grinstead and District Guild was held at Coleman's Haich on March 19th. when there was a good attendance of both old and young members. The bells were put to good use until 4.45. when the service was held, conducted by the president, the Rev. J. R. Missen. who. after tea in the Church Hall. took the chair for the business meeting. He was supported by two vice-presidents-Messrs. J. W. Ritson and B. V. Collison-the latter causing some amusement. when he called the chairman to order on three occasions. Two new members were elected: Denis Davey, of Tunbridge Wells. and Martin Hollyman, of Edentridge.

The balance sheet showed a healthy state of affairs, there heing the sum of $£ 70$ 11s. 5 d . in the bank. while the Oliver Memorial Fund showed a balance of $£ 27$ 18s. 7d.. of which $£ 5$ was granted in Edenbridge towards new ropes.
All the officers were re-elected. with the exception of the Central Council Representative. Mr. E. J. Ladd being elected vice Mr. Bassett. A change on the committee was the election of Mr. B. Jeffery, vice Mr. C. Tester.

Barcombe in April and East Grinstead in May were chosen for future meetings. while an outing into Surrey was arranged for September 10th. A suggestion that the venue of the dinner be changed, was, after discussion. left to the committee to decide. The peal book was discussed. and Miss Margaret Ladd agreed to bring it up to date.

At the last annual meeting. Mr. A. Relfe had offered his books to start a library, and Mr. and Miss Margaret Ladd announced that they would house and distribute the books. This ofier was gratefully accepted. and it was agreed that the books be insured against fire and theft
This concluded the business and after Mr. C. Hancock had proposed a hearty vote of thanks to all concerned in making the meeting a success. memhers returned to the tower for more ringing.

AROUND PETERBOROUGH  AND STAMFORD

Meeting outside Weston Favell Church on April 2nd. a party of 12 joined the local ringers to visit towers around the Peterhorough and Stamford areas. The start was slightly delayed owing to a wedding. for which the bells were rung.

A 40 miles run brought the party to Woodston. This church. dedicated to St. Augustine, possesses a light six in a small tower which looks hardly big enough for three bells. How Gillett and Johnston's managed $t 0$ get six in it. is a masterpiece. The ground floor belfry is equally small. Everyone enjoyed the bells, and the pleasure of meeting Mr. Hoare (the local captain) and the Vicar (the Rev. Harry Nesbitt).

On to Glinton with its unusual spire, which goes straight from the top of the crocketed tower to two-thirds of the way up before it begins to taper. Photographers could not resist taking a picture before going inside 10 raise the glorious toned six-easily the best in East Northants from a point beyond Titchmarsh. Pews temporarily put in the belfry had to be hauled out and put back before and after ringing. The church is one of few dedicated to St. Guthlac-the saint who originated from nearby Crowland Abbey.

After tea Maxey was the next tower. What a contrast now that these bells are rung from the ground floor, as they were 100 noisy when rung upstairs. Nevertheless they are a good six. Mr. Frisby, the churchwarden. welcomed us.

West Deeping was the last belfry where Mr Black (the local captain) was waiting with a welcome. This is a fine church with an equally fine steeple as well as a very nice ring of six (the 1.050 th tower the writer has rung in).

Methods rung ranged from Plain Bob Doubles to Cambridge Minor. The outing was organised by Mr. P. Amos.

Another remarkable performance by the Sussex veteran, Henry Stallard, in ringing, on his 88th birthday, the sixth to Grandsire Triples, at St. Nicholas'. Brighton, is recorded this week. Once again a faultless effort goes to the credit of "Harry," who rang superbly throughout the peal. In the peal was Mr. 'Jim' Riddleston, who commenced his ringing activities some 40 years ago, and rang his first 'inside.' Incidentally, this was his second peal. Congratulations!

The peal of Holland Bob rung at Great Holland on March 5th (see page 204) was the first in the method and is No. 263 in C.C. Collection.
Mr. M. Hatchett, of Rickmansworth, informs us that his band hope to raise, during the next six months, the number of Doubles methods rung to a peal from 105 to 140 .
Ringing on the excellent light eight at Sharow, near Ripon, is likely to be curtailed for some time, as the wooden frame is in a dangerous condition. The bells are to be rehung in an iron frame, and this, with other restorations to the stonework of the early 19 th century church of St. John, is to cost ahout $£ 3.000$ of which $£ 500$ is in hand.

Mr. John Euston, of 28, Fairmile Avenue, Streatham, S.W.16, is arranging a veterans (those 65 and over) reunion in London on June 18th. Mrs. Davis has promised to arrange tea at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, as before. Help from the younger generation in regard to transport would be much appreciated. Veterans able to attend are asked to write to Mr. Euston.
Following the failure of a peal of Kent Treble Bob at Sherburn-in-Elmet, on March 26th. the ringers attempted and were successful in ringing a quarter peal of Stedman Triples. This was the first in the method by all the band, and was rung in honour of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Simpson. of Shipley. It was faultlessly conducied by 17 -year-old John Rhodes, of Culverley.

GOSSIP

 to the Communion service to (B.B.C.-tv.) from there on Easter Day, April 17th, at $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. The Bishop of Bristol. the Rt. Rev. Oliver Tomkins, and the Dean, the Very Rev. D. E. W. Harrison, will both be taking part in this service. The captain of the ringers is John Hunt.Mr. David W Brunning conducted the peal rung at King's Bromley, Staffordshire (see page 208), and not Mr. Eric Edginton as was inadvertently stated.

Mr. John Chambers, son of Mr. Cyril Chambers. of Durban, South Africa, has qualified as B.Sc.(Eng.). He sails for England on April 20th and is planning to take a two-year graduate course

The bells of St. Paul's Church, Durban, were rung for the visit of the Prime Minister. Unfortunately as Mr. Macmillan passed the church the bells were silent due to a wedding, otherwise he would have heard Plain Bob Minor with the tenor covering.

Mr. P. Chapman, Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, was present at he funcral of Mr. Frederick O. Stevens, whose death was reported in our last issue, representing the Guild, and the Rev. W. F. Rowley represented the Rutland Branch.

A successful and enjoyable Surprise practice was held at St. Mary's, Ewell, on March 26th. Twenty ringers from nine towers were present. Methods rung were Cambridge, Superlative, Yorkshire. Bristol and the special method chosen for the evening, Ashtead.

The peal of Grandsire Triples, rung at Aberavon. Glam. on March 26th, coincided with the conductor's and Mrs. Roderick's 28th wedding anniversary, both in date and day. Rosemarie Jones. who rang the treble, is sixteen, and is from the six bell lower of Newton-Nottage. Previous to the peal she had only rung short touches of Triples at quarterly meetings. Nevertheless. she rang quarterly

ALPHABET FOR BEGINNERS By T. J. LOCK

B'

Last week we introduced a new series of articles dealing with terms and words met in change-ringing which will be of great help to beginners and also to many other readers. This list has been compiled by a member of the Central Council, who would like in the preparation of this glossary to acknowledge the help given by other well-known ringers.
BACK CHANGE.-When the bells strike in the order of rounds reversed-with an option on the tenor, such as 543216 or 654321 -this is known as the back change.

BACKWARD HUNTING.-The opposite to this is, as you may correctly presume, forward hunting-for which see later in the alphabet.

Backward hunting can most simply be described by using Original as an illustration. When you make the first change in Original $\rightarrow$ say from 123456 to 214365 -it is made at handstroke, which means that the first and subsequent odd numbers of changes are all made at handstroke. It follows that the second change-2 2163 5-and subsequent even numbers of changes are all made at backstroke. But if you reversed this system and started ringing the first change at backstroke and the second change at handstroke, and so on, you would be doing what is known as backward hunting

There are many methods with no backward hunting and, generally speaking, one could say that only the advanced and more difficult methods have this condition. For a method to be composed of all backward hunting it is not possible, thank goodness, simply because the treble is always considered to be a forward hunting bell.

BEFORE.-There are several occasions during ringing when a Bob or Single may be properly called, but, of course, these occasions must be •labelled' for recognition purposes. And the label gives the position of the tenor, or other observation, bell at the time of calling. Before' is the label given to a call when the observation bell is about to be taken off the lead by the treble. In a seconds place method (e.g. Plain Bob) the observation bell hunts away from the treble, instead of making seconds place over itsee bell 3 in the Bob lead following. In a six, or an eights, place method a Before does not affect the work of the bell taken off lead by the treble because it naturally hunts away from the treble, but it does affect the work of two or more bells at the back.

BOB.-The principle of change ringing is that the order in which the bells are struck at any particular handstroke or backstroke will not be the same as at any other handstroke or backstroke. If the bells are struck in the same order in any change there is what is termed 'falseness.' Falseness, in this accepted term. and particularly in bell-ringing and other Christian activities, is to be deprecated (I am trying to make a distinction in that. for instance, falseness in teeth is to may people very acceptable!). However, means of overcoming this condition is to introduce the callings • Bob' or 'Single' (for which see later in the alphabet).

Employing six bells the greatest number of different changes you can possibly produce is 720. but as there is no method on six bells in which the plain course contains all of the 720 changes. we introduce the time honoured Bob and Single. I am sorry I cannot tell you the origin of these terms.

A few figures at a lead end will illustrate the effect of a Boh. still using six bells.

Plain lead Boblead
315264315264
$132546 \quad 132546$ hand stroke lead end $135264 \quad 123564$ back stroke
312546215346
By using two more Bobs (three in all) at the proper time the number of true changes in a six bell plain method will be extended

MISS EVELYN STEEL

President, Bedfordshire Association.

Those ladies who now enjoy the art of ringing have much to thank Miss Evelyn Steel for. She was among the first ladies to take up the art, and she has given many years of her long life in helping to develop its best traditions. She was born at Woodsetts in Yorkshire in 1879, where her father, the Rev. H. A. Steel, was Vicar for 39 years.
In her young days bcys were sent to public schools. and the girls had a governess at home, so that was how she received her from 60 to 180 . The effect of a Bob, as you will see by the figures above, is to change the places of three bells-as illustrated at the lead end they are 2, 3 and 5. The 2 (or second) bell runs in to lead and takes the place of the third, the third bell runs out from lead and takes the place of the fifth and the fifth bell makes a second blow in fourths place. which, incidentally, is known as 'making the Bob.' Thus the bells will strike at backstroke in the order of 123564 instead of 135264 .
A Bob, as well as a Single, must be called by the conductor at the proper time. In a method it is usually called during the second change before the lead end although in Grandsire it is called during the third such change and there are at least two further variations. In a principle, such as Stedman, it is made at the end of a six, although in Stedman Doubles it is made in the middle of a six.

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

March 26 th was a cold but sunny day and approximately 20 members attended the meeting of the Leeds and District Society held at Hunslet Parish Church. The ringing on the eight bells was enjoyable

Tea and business followed and the officials elected for the year were: President. Mr. Tom W. Strangeway: vice-presidents, Messrs. I. Gibson. L. Drake and A. Cole; Ringing Master. Mr. Irvin Slack: secretary. Mr. Douglas Thorp; auditors, Mr. Roger Lumley and Mr. Keith Williamson.

The vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens was expressed by Mr. W. F. Moreton, seconded by Mr. C. F. Sutcliffe. Mr. Arnold Cole replied on behalf of the local company.
education. Their home in Yorkshire was very near to some good golf links, and Evelyn became very proficient at the royal and ancient game-winning the Yorkshire Championship for ladies no less than five times. She also played for England in 24 international matches against Scotland, Wales and Ireland
She learned to ring in 1908 at Oakley Beds, rang her first peal (Grandsire Triples) in 1911, and took part in the first peal ever rung by an all ladies band. In 1914, on the day before war was declared she rang inside bells to Double Norwich and Superlative both on the same day. She served for many years as president of the Ladies' Guild, and was elected president of the Bedfordshire Association in 1946.
Miss Steel recalls that in the early days of her ringing it was uncertain what sort of reception ladies would receive in belfries, and the Vicar of St. Paul's, Bedford, 'didn't think it nice for ladies to ring-because the men rang without coats '! In contrast at Oxton, Cheshire, the Vicar warmly welcomed her saying - it was as good as having a curate in the belfry,' and he hoped she lived near Miss Steel had a severe upbringing in ringing for she rang with men who insisted on a very high standard of striking, and during her career has come under the influence of such men as A. E. Sharman of Dunstable. Walter Perkins. of Irthlingborough. A. H. Pulling, G Lindoff and $H$. Tysoe.

All her life she has been a regular Sunday Service ringer for she maintains that this is the most important side of ringing, and she has, by her example and determination, guided and enthused many ringers on the path they should tread. She has rung, in all, 260 peals.

JAFUS.

DURBAN WELCOMED PRINCE ANDREW

News from Durban this week tells of the bells of St. Paul's Church being rung for the Royal birth on February 19th. The announcement of the birth came over the air at about $6.5 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and at 6.15 the bells were going to Bob Minor with the tenor covering. After a break for a peal, various touches were rung from 8.15 to 9.30 . There was half an hour's ringing the following morning to give people going to work an opportunity of hearing the bells-Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles.

Tips For Beginners-15

If in ringing a long touch or peal you find you make too many mistakes, a great aid to concentration is to listen hard to every blow of your bell.

Manchester University Guild on the ramp arts of Edinburgh Castle. The Ringing Master is in the centre wearing his 'cap of office.' [Photo by John Soames.

After a Lakeland safari what more natural than a Scottish expedition? Sixteen bodies in three cars left Manchester University about eleven o'clock on Friday, February 4th, for the North: by noon one car had not even passed through Salford-and never did! A broken rear spring necessitated the acquiring of another car and causing an hour's delay. no lunch and arrival in Carlisle half way through the ringing at St. Stephen's, where for the first of many times we were asked if we were ringing for the then expected Royal birth.
Grandsire at the Cathedral finished our ringing for the day before travelling to Edinburgh Youth Hostel. The occupants of one car got the spine-chilling impression they were in the right-hand lane of a dual carriagewayespecially on meeting two lorries in line abreast bearing down on them with headlights hlazing! They were right-but one lorry was overtaking the other and the future left-hand carriageway was still under construction. The hostel's temperature caused Barrie to declare that he would wear his socks in bed and not let them walk the floor and Jim insisted on wearing his "cap of office even in his applepie bed.
Next morning. the cars having been defrosted. We sel off for Leith. The second church proved to be the one with bells and this rather roughly-going, eight provided a sharp contrast to the fine ring at St. Cuthhert's, Edinburgh. It is a pity that our Stedman and London were not quite so highly polished as the ringing room! A quick look round the Castle (where we lost Jim), a quick lunch and westwards to St. Mary's Cathedral (where Jim eventually arrived via two other cathedralesque churches) for Caters and Royal on the 32 cwt . ten. A misguided tour of the city subsequently brought us to the de- "light'ful five at Fettes College. After nearly breaking the stays. we nearly broke our necks clambering onto the roof to inspect the bells in their turret.

A sharp run to Glasgow was suddenly spoilt by a Clydeside fog-thicker than hostel porridge! One driver upon asking his way was isked in return 'Are ye sober?' whilst another after being attacked by a meandering lamppost. pulled into the kerb to enquire the way of a passer-by-who quickly retreated into the shelter of a shop doorway! However a tram conveniently loomed up out of the fog and was then 'tailed.' and led us, not as was half expected into the tram shed, but to our destination.
Sunday dawned clear and bright-everywhere, that is. except in Glasgow, where the fog persisted although visibility was much better. The grand ten at St. Mary's Cathedral were soon going to Stedman, Bob Royal and Cambridge and all too soon we had to finish hefore the service. Here we were pleased to meet the local ringers and Mr. E. Boumphrey (whose exhortation 'Ring what you like so long as it is good!" ought to be a Guild mottol and Alan Sharples, a fugitive from . The Drizzle. from ' The Drizzle.
No amount of ' proof ' of the invalidity of a forged union would induce our happy pair to be wedded at Gretna Green-despite the anvil chorus around them. Pussing en route the second original blacksmith's shop. the culture vultures descended upon Walton Village hoping to find parts of Hadrian's Wall. Knowing the kleptomaniac tendencies of some of the party, it is perhaps as well that we couldn't find the Wall! After persuading the local hostelry 10 provide sixteen teas it as many minutes notice. the last ringing of the week-end was for evening service at Brampton. prior to the journey south for supper in Kendal and 'home' by eleven.
The group would tike to thank local incumbents and ringers for the use of their hells. the S.Y.H.A. Wardens for their tolerance. Jim for (just about) mastering us and Derek and Ron for organising the week-end-not forgetting also those drivers round the bend(s): Derek. Barrie and Bat.

LET LOOSE IN AFRICA

Mr. Victor Sheppard, of Cape Town, has brought the information in his article (pages 157 and 173, 1959) up to date and made certain corrections.
CAPE TOWN.-The R.C. Cathedral: One bell. approximately 25 cwL ., given by the Marquis of Bute. who required it to be of sufficiently deep ione to carry the Angelus to the ships in Table Bay. The Latin inscription shows it to have been cast by Sheridan. of Dublin. in 1870.

Dear Sir.-In reply to Mr. Armitage re St. Catherine, a virgin of Alexandria, who suffered martyrdom in the fourth century, and who is represented with a wheel:

At Holt. in Wiltshire. where the church is dedicated to St. Katharine, this patron saint is seen in the east window with a spiked wheel. On the belfry door are carved six bells surmounted by the date of 1475, the year in which the tower was deemed to have been erected. The door is modern for it bears the date of 1914. also a wheel. Prior to 1678 or thereabouts the ringing of the bells upon the sally was practically unknown because of the half-wheel system which prevented halfpull ringing.-Yours sincerely.

NOTATIONS WANTED

Dear Sir-In reply to Mr. Woodruffe's request for details of Little Herefordshire, Northchurch and Heythrop Surprise Major. 1 am enclosing the notations of the first and last: unfortunately i have no record of Northchurch.
l.ittle Herefordshire :
$\times 58 \times 16 \times 58 \times 38 \times 12 \times 36$ 2nd's place l.e. 4263857.

Heythrop:
$\times 38 \times 14 \times 58 \times 1236 \times 14 \times 38 \times 34 \times 18$. 2nd's place le. 4263857

Heythrop is the "New Cambridge" variation of Fordham Surprise. by which I mean that the Ind's place at the 9 th change of a lead of Heythrop appears at the 7 h h change in a lead of Fordham
With regard to Mr. Hawkins" suggestion that Surprise methods (and presumably any other type of method) be given some form of letter coding for reference purposes, this seems to me to be quite unnecessary. It is quite a simple matter to maintain a list of methods in notation order. For example. Whitwick. Lyme and Rugby would follow one another thus:-
(b) 38-14-58-16-12-38.14-12.78 Whitwick
(b) 38-14-58-16-12-38.14-34.78 Lyme
(b) 38-14-58-16-12-38.14-56.78 Rugby.

To convert all the places into letter values seems an unwanted complication.-Yours faithfully.

A SURVEY OF OVER 50 YEARS AGO

Dear Sir--Pages 175 to 178 of Sir Arthur Heywood's baok. Bell Towers and Bell Hanging (1914) make interesting reading just now in view of the recent survey.

These pages run as follows:-
'A Report upon the Condition of olir

Church Bells, 1906

The Central Council of Church Bell Ringers. in view of the dilapidated condition of many "rings" of church bells, decided some time ago to institute an inquiry with the object of ascertaining, as far as possible. the number of cases of neglect. and also of collecting information in regard to belfries and ringing generally. The results are given below. It should he stated that the inquiry only extended to "rings" of eight bells and upwards. these being by far the most important. To have included " rings " of five and six bells, would have been too extensive an undertaking, but it may be concluded. with a fair probability of accuracy, that at least as great a proportion of the smaller " rings  are in need of attention as has proved to be the case with the larger.

It is by no means certain that there are not some "rings" of eight which have estaped the attention of the Council. as they have had to rely mainly on lists of towers furnished by the various County and Diocesan Ringing Associations, whose areas, although fairly covering all the English Dioceses. yet do not wholly do so. The omitted towers. however, cannot be more than a small fraction.

The Council issued circulars addressed to the representative ringers of 1.055 towers. Each circular contained a list of questions with a request that these should be carefully answered. and the accuracy of the answers vouched for by the signatures of two of the leading ringers of the tower.

To the 1.055 circulars. 940 replies were received. The information thus obtained is tahulated below.
(1) In 89 per cent. of the towers the bells are ". pealable" (i.e. can be rung through 5.000 changes). In 11 per cent the bells are not " pealable. In 6 per cent. of the towers the bells are unringable.
(2) In 22 per cent. of towers " clocking is allowed.' This consists in pulling the clapper against the bell. Whereby innumerable bells have been cracked.) (Earlier in the book I had read that an 1892 committee's report to the Central Council showed that any sexton or steeple-keeper who allowed clocking should be sternly warned by the churchwardens, and if he disregarded the warning he should be dismissed-or at least. he deserved to be dismissed. I wonder how many churchwardens know whether or not any clocking was taking place in the 1890s. I guarantee not many know today! C. R.)
(3) In 4 per cent. of lowers one or more bells are reported dangerously worn by clapper and. consequenily. need quarter-turning.
(4) In 8 per cent. of towers repairs have been urged on the church authorities. (ln only 27 per cent. of the cases where repairs have been urged has anything been done.)
(5) In 3 per cent. of towers the authorities are reported to look thoroughly after the bells and belfry
(6) In 3 per cent. of towers workmen who were not professional bell-hangers have been employed on repairs. usually with injurious results.
(7) In 21 per cent of towers the bells are in iron frames. which are in all ways preferable, particularly in regard to economy of repair.

- (8) In 7 per cent. of towers a chiming apparatus is fitted.
- 19) In 77 per cent of towers there is scientific change-ringing
(10) In 58 per cent. of towers there is Sunday ringing for two services; in 10 per cent. of lowers there is Sunday ringing for one service only. In 13 per cent. of towers there is Sunday ringing occasionally. In 19 per cent. of lowers there is Sunday ringing never.
(11) In 77 per cent. of towers there is a regular practice night.

In respect of the above particulars. it may be remarked on No. I that experience unfortunately shows that of "rings" returned as fit for peals. not a few can scarcely be properly deemed so. Undoubtedly. there is considerable ignorance on the pari of church authorities of the value of their bells. and of the risks incurred by neglect of proper repairs.
Whatever may be the changes in the general pattern after fifty years. I am sure the lastmentioned still stands.-Sincerely
Felixstowe. Suffolk.
CLAUDE RUSH

AN APPEAL FROM KENT

Dear Sir.-I would like to draw the attention of your readers to the courageous efforts being made by the small village of Addington. Kent. to raise sufficient money to restore their bells and to add two new hells to give a ring of six. In 1954 the existing four bells were taken from the tower and the decaying timbers removed and it was then that the Bell Fund was started. But if the money is to be obtained in a reasonable time. the appeal must be widened

If enough people respond. even in quite modest degree. the target of $\pm 1.500$ will be reached. and among those to whom the appeal is addressed are the great family of ringers. Here are some quotations from the attractive appeal leaflet:-

We appeal to all ringers wishing to see Addington again among the towers where bells ring each Sunday to the glory of God; to all hell lovers interested in the preservation of an English art which through the centuries has evolved its own characteristics and qualities: 10 all Margarets wherever they may be.

The Highway Magazine of September. 1954. gives the following note on Addington bells: The three larger of the four Addington bells were cast by John Wilnar. of Borden, the second in 1635. the third in 1602 or 1620 and the tenor is undated. The treble was cast in 1710 by Matthew Bagley, of Cripplegate. London. The Bagley family came from Chacombe in Northamptonshire. and Matthew's work was more in casting cannon than bells. While casting a cannon the metal exploded from the mould and caused him and his son such injuries that they hoth died two or three days later.:
Contributions to *Addington Bell Fund may be sent to The Appeal Secretary. Miss Janet Lander. The Old Oast House. Aldan Farm. Addington. West Malling. Kent.

St. Margaret's. Addington. is quite a lovely church. and it is our hope that the bells will be ringing hy Christmas. and that in 1961 we shall be ahle to welcome many a visiting ringer.-Yours sincerely.
E. S. JOHN HATCHER
P.S.-Perhaps you would venture to organisc a combined contribution from your tower'? -E.S.J. H.

A BOOMERANG FOR THE PROFESSOR

Dear Sir.- 'Professor Dodge,' in his laudable attempt to educate us, really should be more careful in compiling his questions and answers! (See 'True or False' on front page of issue of March 25th.) For example his answers to questions 4 and 7 show some confusion over the term 'lead-end,' and are demonstrably in error. In oider to lessen the risk, to those he calls his 'not-too-advanced' readers, of their being misled by what he has said. the following facts are adduced:-

Taking question 7 and its answer, first: here he implies that 'Grandsire' is an example of a method not symmetrical between lead-heads and lead-ends.' (His words in quotes.) Reply:-
(a) Grandsire is a twin-hunt controlled method. and in such method designs the division or parting between the 'leads or divisions' (a Central Council termy of the method is-(quoting) 'midway between the whole pull of the first hunt and the whole pull of the second hunt. What is the authority for this? The quotation is from the Central Council's 'Handbook -page 24. Rounds. in Grandsire, then, is a lead-end row, not a lead-head row. This is shown in the figures alongside. where the 31524 simplest stage. Doubles. has 13254 been chosen: but the same is 12345 l-e evident, and true, of course, for all stages of the method. (In

2 415 single-hunt controlled methods, e.g. Plain Bob, the parting position is in the row-interval above.)
(b) The symmetry about the Link (or, if preferred. the 'dividing line ') between the leads' is seen to be perfect. But what about the structure insidz the leads themselves?
(c) Taking the first lead of the plain course, for example. the lead-head row is seen to be 21354 and the ensuing lead-end row is 12534 . (This is the part to which his question 7 refers.) The structure pattern of all rows between and including these rows is entirely symmetrical about the Junction or half-lead. consisting as it does of all plainhunting and nothing else. (To check this graphically, enter the figures on squared paper, then draw over them the 'grid-pattern. which gives a perfect 'trellis work.' Fold up at the half-lead or Junction line and hold up in a strong light. The grid-pattern of the 2 nd-half lead is seen to be a mirror image of the lsthalf lead.) The essential fact that emerges, then. is this: The structure of a lead in Girandsire is all plain hunting and nothing

NEW CCMBERLAND SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir-Could one of your readers please supply me with details of New Cumberland Surprise Major, rung at St. Paul's. Burton-onTrent. on May 2nd. 1901.

The use of the prefix "New' suggests that there is a Cambridge Surprise Major also. Perhaps someone can help here, too-Yours sincerely.

JOHN M. JELLEY.

NOTE.-Neither New Cumberland nor Cumberland Surprise Major is listed in Corrigan's Collection of Surprise Methods.-Ed. else, and is therefore entirely symmetrical What of the place-making and dodging then?
(d) This, as we have already seen in the rows inset above, is symmetrically placed at the linking of the leads, occurring. in fact, precisely at the particular row-interval that comes between the two divisions or leads; so it comes wholly into neither lead but provides an entirely symmetrical link-up between them. But what about calls?
(e) Here, on the other hand, the imposition of Bobs and Singles in Grandsire (unlike as in many other methods, e.g, as in Plain Bob) is NOT symmetrical. But this does not upset the symmetry of the structure of the method itself. Why? Because. quoting - Calls are not part of any method, but are only means of passing from one course to another and may be made at any place within the lead: What authority is this? Again, the Central Council's Handbook. this time page 26.

Considering, now. the Professor's question 4 and answer. Here he refers to the effect of Bobs and singles in Plain Bob on the phase or character of the rows (positive or negative) at the parting of the leads, his words being - alters the lead-ends. The implication is quite wrong. The fact is that in Plain Bob, it being a single-hunt controlled method. the division or parting-line between its leads comes between the two rows when the treble is actually leading. So that in these methods rounds occurs at a lead-head row-different from the Grandsire type. And the position of the calls is different. too. being in the same row-interval as the plain-lead place-making and dodging. i.e. at the 'Link.' Accordingly the Lead-end rows (quoting the Professor) at these positions are not affected at all, since they precede exactly the lead-head row, which is the one affected. From this it is seen that neither the Bob nor the Single (as his answer implies) affects the nature of the lead-end row: and only the single changes the nature of the lead-head row. and of all other rows thereafter.

If 'Professor Dodge.' himself. cared to take the advice he gives at the end of his article. i.e. regarding the lowest scoring group. the College would. I'm sure. be pleased to help him!-Yours very truly.
A. YORK-BRAMBLE.

SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE

Dear Sir.-Mr. Denis A. Frith has certainly stated something which has needed stating for a long time: I refer to the last paragraph of his letter in 'The Ringing World' of March 26th-it is hypocritical, when Doubles ringers have been instructed io announce TRADITIONAL arrangements as "variations," for Surprise Major and Maximus ringers to claim mere variations of Yorkshire, New Cambridge. ctc.. as new methods.' What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. I was always old!

If April Day is Plain Boh. then Braunston is Yorkshire in my judgment.-Yours sincerely.

APPRECIATIONS

With deep regret I read of the passing of Mr. G. H. Myers. I first met him some ten years ago at St. Andrew's, Plymouth. He was a man who was outspoken as to the rights and wrongs of change ringing, yet, on the other hand, he was a very modest man in his capabilities as a ringer. I remember in 1953, when he was 81 years of age, how he handled with much ease and comfort a 35 cwt tenor to a touch of Kent T.B. Royal. This, I thought was a remarkable feat for a man of his age.

I feel sure that the name of G. H. Myers will long he remembered in the West Country towers, especially at the churches of St . Andrew and Emmanuel. Plymouth. Through the columns of "The Ringing World." may 1 offer, on behalf of many friends, sincere condolences to Tom. Will and Fred.

ALAN WARD.

Threc memories : one the writer's own: two stories-legends almost-told in Devon village towers.

Practice night at St. Andrew's, and a touch of Stedman Triples half-way through as footsteps. slow but very steady, very firm, near the top of the stairs and a small brown figure halts in the doorway. The touch over and the bells stood up, there is a spontaneous silence : one knows that the man in the doorway is the one who speaks first, and so he does, eyes twinkling. His comments on the ringing is witty, sometimes caustic, always good-humoured and always the fruit of tremendous knowledge and experience: the small brown figure has a presence in which even a total stranger can recognise the Elder Statesman of the tower.
Practice night at a remote country six-bell tower. a tower known for its heavy and awkward-going tenor: a small, middle-aged man. a scientific ringer from the city, comes in and is offered a ring. Amused glances go round as he takes off his coat and takes the tenor. which a local ringer twice his weight can hardly rise in peal. Go-here they go -and the walchers by the wall wait for the clatter as the tenor gets under. She doesn't: she goes up perfectly, driven and mastered by the classic co-ordination of that small frame and twenty years later they still tell of it.
They still tell. too. less proudly, of the time when that small figure appeared in a tower where the Dark Ages of ringing still reignedand after one peal one of the local band lit up a cigarette. "And didn' he let go! He went across to in and trimmed in down proper -trimmed in to the truth of music he didn know where to put hisself! He was at proper Churchman. sure 'nough.

MR. JOSEPH HODGSON

Many ringers, especially in Yorkshire, will be sorry to hear of the death, at Liversedge on March 29th. at the age of 84 . of Mr. loseph Hodgson, better known as the father of Fred Hodgson.
Although no: a ringer himself. he was at one time a fairly regular attender at ringing meetings with his three sons, Fred, Herbert and Jimmy. Many happy hours were spent by both him and his wife at ringing meetings, and there was nothing he enjoyed more than a visit to a ringing contest to hear the competing teams. and listen with a critical ear to the ringing.

Cremation was at Park Wood. Elland. on April Ist.
He leaves a widow, three sons, and two daughters.

LATE NEWS

The funeral of Mr. Robert J. Andrews, of Addlestone. Surrey, took place on April 2nd.
Two Slough ringers. Mr. David Livingston and Miss Janet Adamson, were married at Slough Parish Church last Sunday

SURPRISE MAJOR QUERIES

Dear Sir.-I would like to thank all those ringers who have supplied me with information on certain Surprise Major methods, both through 'The Ringing World' and by personal communication.

In reply to Mr. Frith (' R.W.' March 25th) his query about Hale (not Haley) and Queslett is answered by Mr. Woodruffe in the same issue. Re Gloucester Surprise Major. I have only the following information to offer
Gloucester

MX. $\times 34 \times 4 \times 58 \times 36 \times 12 \times 5 \times 34 \times 1$

New Gloucester
MX. $56 \times 56.4 \times 58 \times 36 \times 12 \times 5 \times 34 \times 1$

Gloucestershire

F $\times 34 \times 4 \times 12 \times 16 \times 34 \times 5 \times 34 \times 7$.
For Wicken I have the following notation:
A. $38 \times 58.4 \times 58 \times 38 \times 12 \times 5.14 \times 14.5$.
( $x$ indicates 4ths place hob)
where $M$ is the 8ths place lead end 4263857 F the 2nd place lead end 4263857 . and A the 2nd place lead end 3527486 .
Why. Mr. Frith. should anyone wish to ring poor versions of Yorkshire, such as Braunstone and Wye, which. apart from being extremely horing and tedious at the half lead, also introduce extra false course ends to that of Yorkshire? Rugby, on the other hand. is more interesting although it, too, has extra false course ends. Mr. Frith might say the same about someone who rings a peal of Olney Surprise Major for instance. This is pure Bristol below the treble and Chelsea above! In his estimation. therefore. anybody who has rung peals in the last two methods cannot claim a first for Olney, but can presumably claim a first of Bristol and Chelsea combined! (This is ludicrous to say the least!) Anyway. Mr. Frith, if you study the peal columns a little more closely you will see under my peals just the opposite to my 'Jack of all Trades' friend Pat Cannon's habitual treatise of his statistics. I suppose here I should withdraw the footnote to a peal of Falmouth which 1 called at Maulden two years ago as I'd already called a peal of Cornwall at Daventry arlier that year. I hope Mr. Frith can remember the names of each method when called a multi-Doubles peal and doesn't use 42 pennies as an aid to determining the numbers of extents rung!
In reply to Mr. Woodruffe. Oxfordshire and Netherton have certainly the same place notation, but I was under the impression that Nethertion was the 8ths place version of Oxfordshire. no indication as to the occurrences at the lead end being made at the time of publication of Netherton. This I have noticed on several occasions and have then had to wait until the composition was published to find out. Please. conductors. will you put that right in future as there can be two variations of a method at the lead end in all but two cases? I think Macclesfield was renamed Hornchurch shortly after a peal under the former name had been rung
I would suggest that Mr. Thompson borrows a copy of the Central Council Collection of Doubles and Minor Methods wherein he will find most of the information required. (I say borrow as it is out of print at present.)
Finally to Mr. Hawkins. who has conceived an alarmingly complicated system for classifying methods. Using Corrigan's Place Notation. each method already has its own unique group of numbers which identify it. (Why waste time and also incur a further chance of making a mistake in transposing the numbers to letters as he demonstrates?) Assuming each method is written out in place notation on a separate card. 8ths place version of a 2nds place method being on the same card. my method of classification is as follows. (Rounds is the zero row.)
(I) Take all the ' A ' methods (i.e. 2nds at C. E. giving 3527486 ). This constitutes one Group.
(2) Take the methods in group A where places are made in obtaining the first row from rounds. A variety of these places are availahle. e.g. 34, $36,38.56 .58$. As shown these are already in numerical order. Thus to place group A methods in numerical order for the first set of places a method such as Hillingdon (i.e. 38 at lst change) would be in front of Birkhall ( 58 ) but behind Chatteris (36). If all the pairs of bells change at the first row (i.e. x) then such methods in group A come after such methods as Chatteris

(3) Now take methods in group A where 3 rds and 8ths are made at the 1st row, and arrange these in numerical order for the second row. More often than not such methods will have all pairs changing at this row. so you must now procced to row three and arrange the method for this branch of group A in numerical order for row three. This is carried on to the half lead.
(4) Repeat for the other branches in group
(5) Repeat for the other groups B. C. D. E. F. and M understanding that groups G. H. J. K. L. are the eighths place versions of groups B. C, D. E. F. There is no 8ths place version for group A. nor is there a 2nds place version for group M.
A typical series of examples would therefore be as follows (some methods have been omitted to make the example clearer):
Eastcote
F $38 \times 58.6 \times 12 \times 36 \times 14 \times 3 \times 14 \times 3$
Crofton
F $56 \times 38.4 \times 58 \times 36 \times 14 \times 3.14 .36 \times 7$
Albion $F 56 \times 56.4 .56 \times 56.38 .14 \times 14.5 .14 \times 14.5$
Cobham F $56 \times 56.4 \times 58 \times 36 \times 34 \times 3.14 \times 14.5$
Edgware $58 \times 56.4 \times 56 \times 38.14 \times 14.3 .16 \times 16.7$
Excter
F $58 \times 58.4 .58 \times 58.36 .14 \times 14.3 \times 36 \times 7$
Gloucestershire
F $\times 34 \times 4 \times 12 \times 16 \times 34 \times 5 \times 34 \times 7$.
Campsall

\text { F } \times 36 \times 4 \times 58 \times 16 \times 12 \times 5 \times 36 \times 3

Hanbury
F $\times 36 \times 4 \times 58 \times 16 \times 14 \times 3 \times 16 \times 3$
Eastcote would be to the front of this list in a filing cabinet and Hanbury at the rear. A close scrutiny of this will show the general principles used.

At first sight this seems extremely complicated. and indeed it would be a momentous task to sort out 500 or so methods from a jumbled heap. However, by arranging the cards in numerical order in their respective groups as the methods are being written out the task is much simplified. I hope this may be of use to Mr. Hawkins and possibly others. be of use to Mr.

BRYAN PATTISON

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

The afternoon of March 19 th was cold but fine when the Society held its quarterly meeting tin the north of the Archdeaconry, at Alrewas. It was well attended, and the bells of the fine old church of All Saints were soon ringing out over the village and countryside. All tastes were catered for with methods ranging from Grandsire and Stedman Triples. Plain Bob Major, to various Surprise Major methods, with rounds and Queens for jearners.
A short service was held in the church and conducted by the Curate (Rev. H. Brigham). who deputised for the Vicar, absent due to illness. In his address Mr. Brigham spoke of the part hell-ringers played in calling people to church. He said nothing was so characterisas a ring of hells: it rang for Christmas and inspired us when ringing for midnight service and to celebrate historic events.
Later tea was enjoyed by more than 60 mem bers and friends in the Church Schools. The local Press showed considerable interest in the meeting and a number of photographs were taken before the company sat down. Mr. Fisher. on behalf of the local band, said how pleased they were to have the Society at Alrewas once more. The secretary, after tea, announced that the new Archdeacon of Stafford Nen. Basil Stratton) had consented to become president of the Society, and he felt sure that members would be delighted to hear of this. They would have the opportunity of meeting their new president at the next annual meeting.

Ringing continued after tea until 7.45 p.m Altogether it was a successful meeting, and thanks must go to Mr. Wealthy. Mr. Dolman and their lady helpers for making it so
D. J. T.

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION

Nearly 60 members of the North Staffs Association attended the meeting held at Leek on March 19th. The meeting was arranged to coincide with the date of 100 years ago when the Sharratt family commenced their long association with Leek belfry. Mr. Edwin Sharratt started in March. 1860. followed by his son Edgar in 1900 and grandson. Edwin. in 1914, who is the only member of the family still ringing. The Vicar of Leek (the Rev. George Youell). who is also the President of the Association, offered the congratulations of the company and expressed the wish that Mr. Sharratt would spend many more happy years ringing.

SOCIETY OF GLAMORGAN WANDERERS

On March 19 th the first meeting of the Society of Glamorgan Wanderers was held at Llandaff Cathedral with an attendance of approximately 30 members and friends. The Society was formed in July, 1959, when nine of the members toured Somerset and Devon for a week on bicycles and rang at approximately 40 towers. The average age of the members is $17 \frac{1}{2}$ years.

Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. with a short touch of Kent Treble Boh Major, and during the afternoon rounds. Plain Boh Major. Kent Trehle Boh Major. Cambridge Surprise Major. Dauble Norwich Court Bob Major. Plain Boh Royal. and Kent Trehle Bob Royal were rung.
Ringing ceased at 4.30 p.m. and a business meeting was held during which three new members were elected. It was decided to hold a fortnight's tour this year commencing on Sunday, August 21 st . and also to hold another meeting of the Society on either May 21 st or 28 th . pending the date of the Llandaff branch meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association in May.

The members then rang for Evensong at Evensong from 6.30-7.30 p.m.

The Society would like to thank the Dean of Llandaft for the use of the bells and a room for the business meeting. Also Mr. Rohert Hughes for making all the necessary arrangements at the Cathedral.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

Tewkesbury Branch

A most enjoyable meeting was held at Beckford. Glos, on March 5th, when many visitors, including one ringer from Australia, were welcomed.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Vokes. who gave an inspiring address. An excellent meal was provided by the ladies of the church. At the business meeting which followed it was agreed that for the annual outing the Ringing Master (Mr. E. T. Newbury) should arrange a trip to towers in South. Wales. An interesting report of the activities of the Management Committee was given by Mr. Alf. Pulley and the accounts for the previous year were approved. It was agreed that the next meeting should be held at Chaceley.

After the business meeting certain members had the enlightening experience of hearing a recording of their ringing efforts, made by the Vicar. who stated that he proposed to usc the recording for background purposes in a production of a play.

Nothing daunted. however, an enjoyable meeting was concluded with ringing which ranged from rounds to Surprise methods.

THE EASTER VENTURE

HARDLY a week passes without one or more obituaries in this journal; never a day without a long list in the daily papers of people departed this life. The shadow of sorrow lies always over our world. The fact of Death is inescapable-one thing which has never been tempered or changed by the philosophies of the ages, nor disproved by the cleverest logicians. Systems of ethics, fathered as by Aristotle, may point to Happiness as the greatest good of man, but can never screen men from the sadness involved by death. All such systems remain in the realm of the temporal. And in any attempts they make to pierce the veil they only take refuge in a doctrine of the 'Unknowable.' So their followers wander through the mystery of human existence and find no rest for the soles of their feet.

But over and over again in these obituaries tributes are paid to what this man or woman has accomplished; to something which they have contributed to the world's movement; to the uplifting of their feilows; to the triumph of the spiritual over the animal nature; and to a faith which no spectacle or threat of mortality has been able to weaken. Something which lives on after them, inspiring courage and effort, witnessing to the truth

> 'That men may rise on stepping stones Of their dead selves to higher things."

For the fact of Death, real as it is, has been eclipsed by the great historical fact of the Cross of Jesus Christ and His Resurrection from the dead. And in the process of that eclipse the Cross with all its agony and darkness and sorrow must come first. That can never be glossed over, or forgotten, for it was, and is, for all time the revelation of the Way of God for the redemption of human life. The Way of God-can never again be imagined as the way man might wish it to be-a path of glorious sunshine. and not rather a way of suffering and the bearing of the Cross. But now, in the light of Easter. Christian disciples faced with the Cross breathe the air of eternity: they are conscious of being touched by that Wisdom which to the ordinary man is folly. Now in the Cross is mirrored the reality beyond all that is earthly:

> O world invisible, we view thee, O world intangible, we touch thee, O world unknowable, we know thee, Inapprehensible, we clutch thee.'

Easter, then, points us to the real understanding of the way of accomplishment. The Resurrection is the proclamation of the truth that though the steep ascent to Heaven has to be climbed 'through peril, toil and pain,' the value of such experience has an enduring quality, and emerges into the glory as of a lovely flower breaking forth from the seed which had to die to bring it to birth.

Thus, on Easter Day, we are not merely commemorating a unique event in history - an Act of God which freed His Son Jesus Christ from the fetters of death. He does not remain a lone figure on a distant horizon. By virtue of His Risen Manhood He brings men on to the new and living way towards God which He has trodden ahead of them for that very purpose. He is the leader of all men towards the gate of Heaven which by His own obedience and travail He has opened to all believers. He is, indeed, the undying hope and ever-present joy of all who follow Him and share the grace of His onward movement.

The bells of the Christian Church, then. on Easter Day are echoing the 'Reveille' of the open Heaven. Awake, they call, and arise to the dawn of ventures beyond the corruptible! They are the Sursum Corda to a travailing and floundering humanity. The Son has accomplished ' the work which the Father had given Him to do,' and in His Name and through His Word the victory of faith is sure. 'In the world ye shall have tribulation; but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world.' "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but My Words shall not pass away.'

May we who ring the Easter bells take this to heart afresh. Progress, whether it be in the technicalities of our art, or in its social ideals, is beset with difficulties and frustrations: and sometimes that has meant, and can mean. a dropping off the path, an abandonment of effort, or a turning to other interests which seem to offer less discouragement, more kudos, and to make fewer demands upon one's patience. Well, that is simply a misunderstanding. perhaps desertion, of the Cross making it a barricade to enlightenment: whereas the true Christian conception of its nature in one's life is that expressed by Thomas a Kempis: 'If thou bear the Cross cheerfully, it will bear thee, and lead thee to the desired end, to wit, where there shall be an end of suffering: though here this shall not be." And Easter is the ringer's incentive, through all the apparent drudgery and humiliation of failures, through every shadow, through any checks to concord, to tread with unshakable faith the new path to the ultimate triumph of the Spirit of Christ, by Whom and in Whom all our service here shall be glorified.
