The quarterly meeting of the West Dorset Branch was held at Hawkehurch. on July 16th. with visitors from Leicester. Hampreston. Charminster. Sidmouth. West Buckland. Crewkerne and Thorncombe. and the president of the Devonishire Guild (Rev. E. V. Cox).
Methods rung were: Grandsire and Stedman Doubles. Plain Bob. Little Bob. Single Oxford. Kent. Cambridge and London Surprise Minor. with rounds and call changes intermixed with screntific touches. The service touch was of Cambridge.
Canon C. C. Cox conducted the Guild office and the Rev. O. L. Willmote read the lesson. Two of the new hymns. written by Canon Cox. were used at the service and were much appreciated. The collection amounted to 22s.
Teas were provided and served by the P.C.C. in the new primary school. a delightful building of modern design.
Mr. C. W. Powell took the chair owing to the unavoidable absence of the chairman. Rev. J. S. Arthur. and Mrs. E. G. Panncll acted as secretary owing to the indisposition of Mr. J. T. Barrett. The chairman thanked Miss Greenshield for ably playing the piano for the service and gave a warm welcome to Rev. O. L. Willmott. who had been very ill but who had now recovered
It was agreed that the Guild festival at Wimborne had been enjoyed. The next quarterly meeting was fixed for September 17th. at Broadwindsor. and practice meetings: August 26th. at Hawkchurch. and September 15th, at Lyme Regis.
The secretary reported that a telegram had been sent to Mr. and Mrs. W. C. West on the occasion of their 40 th wedding anniversary. The chatrman then thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and church. and for arranging the teas with the P.C.C.. and for the ladies of the Council who served the teas.
In reply the Rev. Thompson said it showed how pleased Hawkchurch was to have the meeting there by the ladies serving the teas! The meeting was then closed and ringers returned to the tower.

THE COUNCIL: SOME IMPRESSIONS

BY A NEW BOY

AT Folkestone, Sir Arthur Heywood's name was mentioned during the debate on some proposed rule amendments. It is quite likely, of course, that his name may rarely miss a mention at this annual ringers' conclave which he inaugurated some seventy years ago, but, to a new member, Heywood's name conjured up some thoughts and reffections. Did Sir Arthur really visualise the Central Council becoming the important body it is to-day with approximately a dozen committees working all the year round on every possible subject of concern to the Exercise? This committee work would seem to be most thorough. An old member opined that it 'had been a dull Council'; he seemed to regret the absence of 'fireworks' in debate; nevertheless, such a remark surely paid tribute to the sound work of the various committees. It must be remembered that there were some one hundred and forty members present, each of whom had had the various reports to peruse for some days prior to the meeting, therefore any weakness in this work most certainly would have been revealed.

What a huge field is covered by these committees - from Broadcasting to Peal Boards, from 'The Ringing World ' to Belfries and Ancient Bells. Sir Arthur Heywood could not possibly have visualised the existence of a Broadcasting Committee, for instance, and, although he may have dreamt of a ringers' magazine in some form or other, he could not have foreseen that, but for the action of the Central Council, we should probably have lost our ' Ringing World.' So Heywood's vision has done much to secure John Goldsmith's enterprise for many years to come, to the benefit of all ringers.
' You never know what the Central Council will do,' muttered another veteran member as the result of a vote became known. Unwittingly, he was paying a tribute to the Council-the meeting was a quiet one, but it was not asleep! and was ready to amend as well as to endorse the recommendations put before it.

Two old friends met in the H.Q. hotel during the evening prior to the Council meeting and were discussing old times and mutual acquaintances. 'Let me see, now,' says one, 'does his son ring?'--Long pause -then, 'Well, he pulls a bell.' One gets the impression that valuable work is being done all the time for the well-being of the Exercise and for all members, for the one who merely 'pulls a bell' as well as for the 'umpteen method splicer.'

The Exercise has not always been held in the highest esteem, but through the medium of its Guilds and Associations this status has been raised so that to-day the bellringer is accepted as a skilled churchworker and his work of some national significance. The reception accorded to the Central Council year by year by Church and Civic Authorities testifies to this.

Much of this improvement and progress has been brought about by the Central Council itself and the work of its several committees, as well as the endeavours of many keen individual ringers. The seeds sown by Sir Arthur Heywood have yielded an abundant harvest, and we should do well to reflect at times on the work of the older 'Servants of the Exercise.' Younger ringers, accustomed as they are to ringing new Surprise Methods almost daily, should remember that much of the pioneer work was done when, to quote the late Mr. George Williams, 'You had to comb the county to get a decent band for Grandsire Triples.'

These are a few of the impressions and reflections of a new member after attending his first Council meeting. Old councillors may smile at them; nevertheless, they are recorded in the hope that first impressions may have some value.

HANDSWORTH, STAFFS

Handsworth ringers' outing. on July 9th, began early in bright sunshine and with all the passengers settled the coach was soon speeding on its way. The first call was at Eastwood where a few adjustments had to be made to the ropes before ringing was comfortable, but the bells proved to be worth working on and provided fine tone when well struck. The next stage of the journey was quite long and diversion was provided by ringing handbells. We arrived at Loughborough Bell Foundry in the middle of a torrential rain shower and were welcomed by Mr. Paul Taylor, whom we were very pleased to meet once again. After a short tour of the foundry we ascended to the base camp of the bell ringers' Everest and tried oul hands on the bells. A touch was rung on the back eipht by the ladies but during an attempt for London the bell proved altogether too much for one of the front end ringers who proved to be an expert at catching his sally after the bell had bounced from the stay.
After lunch the party went to Loughborough Parish Church where the magnificent bells were fully sampled by all and the final course of Yorkshire would have pleased even the most critical listener. There is no doubt that Loughborough and John Taylor and Co. can be justifiably proud of this ring of bells. At nearby Shepshed the writer's favourite touch of Grandsire with Queen's. Tittums and plenty of $4-6-8^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$, etc., was being attempted when we here told we would have to stop due to a sick case very nearby. We returned to Loughborough for tea. Our final ringing stop was at Sutton-on-Trent where the very pleasing 12 cwt . eight were rung to a variety of methods. This tower was almost like playing a home fixture and all acquitted themselves well. A stop was made on the way home for the inevitable, but welcome refreshments. which we all felt we had earned, before reaching our starting point at about 11 p.m.

Our thanks are due to Mr. J. J. L. Gilbert. for making the arrangements and kecping us to the schedule, and to ali incumbents and tower captains for the use of their bells.
D. H.

OUTINGS

BECCLES, SUFFOLK

Beccles ringers and their friends from neighbouring towers for their annual outing on July 16 th went for their ringing to Terrington St. Clement. in the far corner of Norfolk, where they found another detached tower. A few touches were rung on the ten at Wisbech before lunch. Then back into Norfolk. ringing at Hilgay, Downham Market and Northwold and finally on yet another detached tower. this time in Suffolik. at Elveden.

For this most enjoyable day sincere thanks are accorded 10 Mr . F. C. Wigmore, of Wisbech, and Mr. E. Mastin, of Downham Market. and to incumbents and tower keepers.

DUNHOLME AND SAXILBY, LINCS

Towers south of Lincoln were chosen for this year's outing on July 9th. After ringing at Nocton. Blankney and Martin. during the morning, we journeyed across to Hough-on-the-Hill, where, at the kind invitation of the Vicar. we had our pienic lunch on the vicarage lawn. Hough. Caythorpe and Fulbeck bells were rung during the afternoon. and we then made for the George Hotel. Leadenham. for tea.
Wellingore and Waddington, in the evening. completed a day of good six-bell towers, the one exception being Caythorpe. where they have a good eight-bell ring. Methods rung ranged from rounds to Cambridge.
At 9 p.m. We were sitting down to dinner at the Horse and Jockey: Waddington, where, after the 'last course had been ' brought round,' we were able to look back on the 'major,' 'delights of another successful outing. Since we 'ran out quick, in the morning we had been 'dodging' about. i making places." some of us had never made before, and generally having a right royal time.
Thanks go to Stan Smith. to those who provided the transport. to incumbents and members of local bands who met us. H. C

STORRINGTON, SUSSEX

Favoured by perfect weather, Storrington ringers and friends enjoyed their annual outing, on July 16th, in East Sussex and Kent. Towers visited were Alfriston, Brede, Kilndown. Hartfield. Danehill and Wivelsfield. Lunch was taken at Whitegates. Westfield, and tea at Hartfield. On the whole the bells and ringing were good. Touches of Stedman. Bob Minor and Grandsire were rung. Thanks are accorded to incumbents and ringers who met the party.

HUNTS DISTRICT

The 11 th annual outing of the Hunts District of the Ely Association was in North Oxfordshire, on July 2nd. The weather was fine and warm without being too hot, and quite a pleasant day was spent by a company of 35 members and friends.

We had a preponderance of youth and it was a fine experience for them. The variety of rings was marked and ranged from the six little bells of Tetsworth to the $19 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. of Great Milton. In addition. we rang on the eight at Thame and the sixes at Garsington and Wheatley. Our ringing may not have been high class. by some standards. the majority being Plain. interspersed with Treble Bob and a little Surprise. but we are plain and ordinary folk and enjoyed what we did ring. At all of the towers we were met by local ringers and had the pleasure of ringing with some of them. A veteran of some sixty years of ringing joined us at Great Milton in a touch of Grandsire.
The experience of ringing among the timbers of Wheatley was amusing, and climbing through the trap-door. at Tetsworth was very tricky.

Thanks are due to incumbents, to local ringers, to Harold Peacock. who once more arranged the trip. and the gentleman from Oxfordshire. without whose assistance the trip would not have been possible.
R.F.B.

A feature about the 100th peal rung at Thurcaston, Leics, was that Mr. Ernest Morris rang the same bell as he did when the first peal was rung on the bells on April 17th. 1920. In 1920 a transposition of Parker's 12 -part was rung; this time it was a variation. The 100 th peal was a birthday compliment to Auntie Beattie ' (Mrs. Ernest Morris).
As a result of meeting short at Macclesfield. on July 9th. the band had to be content with London Surprise Major. Mr. F. Dunkerley kindly stood down.

The band who rang in the peal at Long Sutton, on July 23 rd. would like to associate with it the name of Mr. Paul Field. who was unable to stand in, owing to family illness.
Next Saturday (August 6th) the University Association start their ringing week with headquarters at Wirlow Grange. Sheffield 11. A comprehensive programme has been prepared for the occasion by Phyllis Holborn and John Seager. and Mr. York-Bramble has produced a new method for the tour. There will be peal attempts at Bolsover. Chesterfield and Handsworth.
During the ringing of a quarter peal attempt at Oundle, Northants, on July 26th, a pigeon, which had been listening to the ringing with obvious pleasure from the window sill. decided to enter the ringing chamber. The band are unable to discover whether the bird intended to register a protest against ringing Minor with two covering bells or was carried away by the excellence of the striking. At any rate the quarter came to grief but was successful at the second attempt.
The ringing of peals at Morpeth Watch Tower by visiting ringers, thus interferring with the ringing of the 8 p.m. curfew by Miss J. Armstrong. is commented upon by 'Saggerston " in 'The Morpeth Herald. of July 23nd. "It seems extraordinary that the team did not notify Miss Armstrong. states the article. So now the curfew. disheartened. is silent on most nights." These breaks in traditional customs are regretted

GOSSIP
At High Valley Farm. U.S.A.. a new step in the history of change ringing in America was taken on July 17th, when a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung " in hand." to the memory of Mrs. Margaret Shurcliff. This is believed to be the first quarter peal rung 'in hand' by natives of the United States of America. Our congratulations. Some years back there were handbell peals rung in Venezuela, but the performances were not by natives of the American Continent.

The Rev. David G. Brunning informs us that he is carrying on his disputation with Mr. C. R. Chad Coussmaker on the subject of Confirmation privately.

There will be a course on . The Art of Bell Ringing.' at Grantley Hall, Adult College. near Ripon. Yorks. from Friday evening March 17th to Sunday evening March 19ih. 1961

In memory of the late Mrs. 'Flo' Field and to complete the ring of six, a new treble bell is to be installed at Long Sutton. Somerset. The dedication (which will be advertised) should be early in 1961.

We hear that the Kent veterans were successful in their peal of Grandsire Triples. at West Malling, on July 2nd. The iotal age of the band was 570 years and their membership of the Kent County Association amounted to 440 years.

The band who rang the peal at Ringstead. Northants. desire it to be associated with the tercentenary of the Royal Society, who have been presented by H.M. the Queen with a silver bell to be rung at all future meetings of the Society.

During a Saturday ringing practice at Exeter Cathedral. a visitor left behind a small Kodak Brownie 127 camera together with a canvas case. This has not been claimed and would the owner please write to N. Mallett. 61. Butts Road. Heavitree. Exeter. when it will gladly be returned.

ESTABLISHED

40 YEARS ON

On July 20ih, 1920, six ringers met at All Saints Church, Melbourn, Cambs, 10 attempt a peal of 5,040 Plain Bob Minor. Th s they accomplished in 2 hours 44 minutes. The same band met again on July 20th, 1960, and rang a quarter peal in the same method, each ringing the same bell with the same conductor. The band was: $S$ Reed 1, A. E. Austin (cond.) 2, C. Gouldihorpe 3, J. W. Ward 4, E. G Hibbens 5, F. Harper 6.

Messrs. Reed, Gouldthorpe, Harper and Ward belong to the local band, the 1920 peal being their first. They still ring regularly for Evensong, at Melbourn, on alternate Sundays. Mr. Austin now lives near Newmarket, while Mr. Hibbens, living in Cambridge, rings at Great St. Mary's, with the Canibridge Youths.

During the late 1920's and 1930's Messrs. Austin, Ward and Harper rang many peals of Surprise Minor in the six bell towers around Canbridge. Mr. Hibbens is well known as the conductor of many peals of Major.
May the writer conclude by suying with what pleasure he listened to the well struck quarter peal rung by his old friends.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Annual Meeting At Chelmsford

"HE 81st annual meeting of the Essex Association was held in Chelmsford, on Whit Monday. The proceedings started with the annual service in the Cathedral. conducted by the Provost (the Very Rev. G. E. Ciordon). assisted by the Precentor (the Rev. J. A. Morley). The Archdeacon of Colchester (the Ven. A. V. G. Cleall). preached the sermon. The Master (Mr. R. C. Heazel) read the lesson.

The Master was in the chair for the annual meeting which followed in the Chapter House
Mr. R, C. Heazel. who had been nominated by all districts, was re-elected as Master of the Association, and he thanked the members for their contınucd support. Mr. H. Turner, of Shenfield. was elected Deputy Master, and the name of Mr. F. V. Gant was the only one submitted for the onerous post of honorary secretary and treasurer. Messrs. F. Gioddard secretary and treasurer. Messrs. F. Goddard together with Messrs. J. Crawley. P. Eves and C. Smith. All were unanimously re-elected

One of the most pleasing duties at the annual meeting is the rewarding of long and faithful service by the conferring of life membership. This was conferred upon Mrs. C. Roberts and Messrs. E. J. Blower, C. Button. G. Camp. E. G. Cottis J Jennings, E. Leggatt. D. Sellars. F. Smith and G. Waterman

After the Master had closed the meeting, the company adjourned to the Cathedral Hall for lunch. when the Archdeacon was the chief guest.

REVIEW OF THE YEAR

The annual dinner has now firmly established itself and oncc again was held in the Shirchall. early in October. It was a very enjoyable evening. Unfortunately the president, the Lord Bishop of Chelmsford. was unable to be present owing to a throat infection. but the ever-present Provost. with his lady, supported the Master at the top table. The guest of honour was Ernest Morris. of Leicester. and the Association is grateful to him for coming and also to Mr. J. Chalk for making his visit possible. Entertainment was provided by Dr. Armstrong Gibbs, Miss Joan Edwards and Mr. E. Bailey, with Mrs. Cole at the piano. A feature of the evening was a very well struck course of Grandsire Caters by Messrs. Turner. Eves. Egglestone and Symonds. with Ernest Morris taking a pair as well.
Membership now stands at 956 ringing members, with 226 honorary members. There are 116 lowers in union.

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE - No. 32

MR. G. W'. PIPE Victoria, Australia.
Mr. George W. Pipe. although the youngest member of the Exercise to be included in this series. has undoubtedly. by his hard work and enthusiasm 'down under,' earned himself an honoured place in it. He is carrying the torch and preaching the gospel of good striking in Australia with such effect that the standards are improving out of all recognition.
Despite the difficulties of great distances between places of ringing- 500 miles is quite an ordinary journey-Double Norwich. Stedman Triples, Grandsire Caters and Bob Royal are rung regularly. and our peal columns now frequently carry records of successful peal attempts. George Pipe being the young man who is at the back of all this.
He was born in 1935 at Staines. Middlesex the son of Cecil (Jim) Pipe. Educated at Woodbridge School (Suftolk), and learned to ring at Grundisburgh, in 1944. At the early age of ten he had rung peals of Bob Major and Cambridge Surprise Major, and by the time he had reached the mature age of twelve he had rung peals of London and Bristol Surprise Major! At eleven years of 'age he conducted his first peal-Bob Major Hy the time he was 13, he had rung peals of Stedman Cinques and Cambridge Maximus at Ipswich. conducted by C. J. Sedgley. For the latter peals he was rewarded by that great ringer, $F$. J. Tillett, with two bright halfcrowns! At the age of 15 he had rung 100 peals. all on tower bells. He assisted his father to turn in Exeter Cathedral tenor to a peal of Major in 4 hours 41 minutes, when he was 19. His peals total is 266 of which he has conducted 104. Truly a remarkable record for one so young.
George married Diana Matthew, in 1956. and they have one daughter, Sarah. He is not only brilliant in his ringing. but also good at his job (engineering). His ability was soon recognised by his employers. and he was appointed to the Australian subsidiary firm of Ransomes. Sims and Jeffries, to become works manager of their organisation. His disposition is very friendly and pleasant, and he has a way (like his father) of getting on well with people. One of the things he is particularly proud of is the successful accomplishment of a quarter peal of Maximus in Australia with $10^{\circ}$ firsts ' in it. His ambition is to see first class belfrymanship, and to hear first class striking in all Australian towers; and the formation of one Australian Association with all towers and bells in good order. If we are not very much mistaken. George is the boy to see that this comes about. We wish him every success in his efforts, and he is such a lovable chap that we feel sure his fellow ringers in that far away country will rally to his support.

JAFUS.

PEAL RINGING

Peal ringing showed a slight increase-70 against 64 in 1959. The conducting was shared by 26 members, headed by F. B. Lufkin 16. H. W. Egglestone 9. A. R. Andrews, H. Turner 6: one peal was rung silently. Some 180 members took part in the peals ( 158 in 1958). 14 scored their first peal ( 12 in 1958) and 96 scored their first in the method (128 in 1958)

The following rang 15 or more peals for the Association: H. W. Egglestone 21. D. A. S Symonds 20. F. B. Lufkin 19, U. W. Wildney 16.

Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung by the Cambridge University Guild. at Saffron Walden: Kent Treble Bob Major, by the University of London Society, at Leyton, and London Surprise Major by the College Youths. at Woodford.

Personal congratulations go to F. B. Lufkin on ringing his 450 th peal. Outstanding in the year's performances are of course the two peals of Minor rung by J. E. G. Roast and his band who raised the number of methods spliced into a peal. first to 51 and then to 60 For the first tince for many years handbell peals have been recorded and congratulations go to H . Egglestonc and his band. An excellent performance was the peal of Cambridge, rung at Halstead - silent and non-conducted.

Quarter peal ringing again shows a slight increase. 187 being recorded as against 181 in 1958. New towers included in the list were Orsett. Great and Litle Horkesley. Epping and an increasing number from Waltham Abbey. but. of course, pride of place must go to Rayleigh. where this enthusiastic band scored 31 quarter peals in 13 methods with 6 conductors. Walthamstow rang 17 . Altogether 51 towers recorded quarter peals. This is a fine effort and is indicative of the strength of service ringing in the Association

SURVEY OF TOWERS AND SERVICE RINGING

Rings in the Diocese. 174; Ringable, 146. Towers in union with the Association, 111: Towers making returns for the period requested. 89: Towers where no information as to the service ringing. 4; Towers where no ringing is taking place,

OBSERVATIONS.-For the month under review 21 towers rang for Matins and Evensong, 9 towers for Matins only and 8 towers for Evensong. that is to say. all ropes fully manned
Of the towers in union it can generally be said that the attendance is quite high, averaging 75 per cent regular ringing for Sunday morning and 80 per cent for Evensong.

At 25 per cent of the towers within the Diocese ringing is irregular. In certain cases the bells are only rung by visiting bands, or when a request is made by the local Church authorities. or when some enthusiast musters up a band in order to arouse local enthusiasm

Let us clean out the belfries that are too often cluttered up with pigeons' nests and other refuse and let us also clean out our ringing chambers and make them fit places to entertain visitors and friends and indeed a fit place for the worship of God.

Let us in our ringing strive for constancy in all we do so that it may be realised by everybody that to be a ringer involves strength of character. reliability and firmness of principle. By so doing, we shall have the satisfaction of "s something attempted. something done." bringing joy and inspiration to all we meet along life's path.

PLACE NOTATION

By WILFRID G. WILSON

I. AM grateful to Mr. Burles for his reference to me in his letter on the above subject ( R.W. July 8th. page 467). I am not sure that I am necessarily the right person to explain place notation. but I agree with him that it needs doing, having also known people to whom it is a complete mystery. until someone sits down with pen and paper and works out an example for them. So here goes.

The first thing to realise is that the only work that makes a method, instead of a plain or treble bob hunting course, is the placesthat is those parts of the ringing when one bell occupies the same position in two consecutive rows. And all that makes one plain method differ from another. or one treble bob method differ from another, is the number and position of those places. When you ring a method, you have normally learnt all the dodging as well as the place making, but in a plain hunt method all the dodging is caused by the place making. And in a treble bob method this is also true. except that when the treble dodges it has to have a bell to dodge with.

So if we can devise a system which tells us which places are made and when, and so long as we know the path of the treble, then we can put down the essentials of any method in a kind of shorthand. This is what enabled A. J. Corrigan to print the hasic factors of so many surprise methods in his booklets for sale at an economic price. And because of these booklets his name has become associated with the system of place notation. But it has actually been used by some people for many years-either for written work or to enable the experts to ring difficult methods doublehanded. In the Jatter case all they learn of each method is the position of the places, and either dodge or hunt when their own bells are not concerned in those places. If you look at the surprise methods printed in your ringers' diary you will see that the places are indicated against the first half lead and the first lead end of each method. That is place notation and if the figures of the lead were not also printed, they could be worked out.

The simplest form of place notation is one which shows row by row what happens relative to the preceding Row row. For the sake of 112345678 brevity and simplicity let us take as an example a plain method - Double Norwich Court Bob Major. Here is the first half lead of the method. We want to indicate what happens between each row to give us the next row.
Let us make a little 946283751 table to show this.
Betweer Row What happens Shown by 1-2 Each pair of bells

\text { 2-3 } & \text { 4ih place made } \\

$5-5$
$6-7$
3rd & 6th places made no places
sth place made no places
At the half lead end 1st place is made 1

* First place is also made. but if it were not the path of the treble would have to be altered. Therefore there is no need to show it as 14. though we can if we wish.
If as in this case the method is a regular one. the second half of the lead is the same as the first. but backwards. So that while we can write down the first half of the lead as $\times 4 \times 36 \times 5 \times 1$. we know that the second half will be $\times 5 \times 36 \times 4$ and we shall come to the first lead end. Eighths place is made at the lead end. so we can say so. And if we want to be very helpful, so that our reader knows he has worked it out correctly, we can also say-lead end is 8674523.
There are all sorts of variations to this and there is no law which says that all our experts must use the same system. So there will always be differences in the way the notation is given. There is similar confusion over the way callings are indicated in some methods, i.e.. $x$ in Stedman Triples means two bobs, six changes apart; in major it can mean a bob before. Sometimes the figure denoting the lead end (or lead head) place is given at the start. Even the same person uses variations. In the first series of surprise major methods, issued by Corrigan. Cambridge Major is shown as 38, 14, 1258, 36. 14, 58, 16. 78-lead end 2. In part ' C.' published later, he shows the same method as 38.4 . 1258. 36. 14.5.16.7 $\rightarrow$ with a group letter to show it is a seconds place method. Spaces (which I have shown as commas) are used instead of $x 10$ show the lack of places and certain first and eighths places have been omitted because all surprise major methods have them at those rows

These differences and the puzzlement they cause suggest that we should make our place notation as full as possible, consistent with simplicity.
On page 472 of the 'R.W.' referred to above, there appeared under the heading of Harthill Surprise Major the following place notation : $-38 \times 14 \times 1258 \times 36 \times 12 \times 58 \times 56 \times 1$ 2nds place. L.E. 7856342. 4ths place bob.
This should give us all we need to learn and ring this method. Now. without I assure you, any prior knowledge or preparation, let us apply what we have written above and us apply what see if it works.

This is manifestly wrong 12345678 as row 4 makes the treble depart from its regular $38 \quad 21354768$ depalt from its reguiar 38 hob hunting path. X 12537486 treble But a moment's thought. 1415234768 or a count of the number of rows indicated either by $x$ or by figures, will suggest that the method probably starts. as most do. with x . Mr. Critchley, whose name appears. probably took that for granted. So we try again :
If you use
squared paper and write in the path of the treble first. then you will be much less likely to make a mistake. But it is not essential.
Starting from rounds change each pair of bells to produce row 2 . In row 3 make 3 rds and 8ths place and change the other pairs. Row 4 change all pairs. Row 5 make lst and $1 \overline{67284351} 17$ 4ths places. Row 6 change all pairs. Row 7 make Ist. 2nd. 5th and 8th places. Row 8 change all pairs. And so on to row 17 when we make Ist place at the half lead end. You now have enough to produce the 'blue line.' but to assure ourselves that we are still on the rails and hecause many of us find it easier if we have a complete lead written out. continue this for the second half of the lead. working backwards. Start with $x$ at row 18 and continue $56 \times 58 \times 12 \times 36 x$
$1258 \times 14 \times 38 \mathrm{x}$ and seconds place at the lead end. If you have now got 17856342 you will have it right first time.

Many of us never need to use this notation. we want the 'blue line.' But it is very useful to save printing costs and space in our paper. as you will see if you look at earlier copies which had columns of figures in them. And it has one other advantage. If. to learn a method. you have to produce from this place notation first a half lead or a full lead, as we have done above. and then by joining up the figures get your 'blue line,' you will find that you have almost learnt your method and you know quite a lot about its construction.

I hope Mr. Critchley will excuse the use as an example of the method he sent in and still more do I hope that he will not write to say I have it wrong!

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The Salisbury Branch meeting, on July 16th at Enford. with evening ringing at Fittleton and Netheravon attracted visitors from Wellington (Somerset). Southampton. Kingsclere, Wareham. and even Ashtead. Welcoming the ringers at the service. the Rev. D. G. Timothy said that in his 30 years' ministry, at Enford. it was the first time the Guild had visited his church for a meeting. and he hoped they would come again soon.

At the beginning of the business meeting Mr. Harold Roles asked for a minute's silence in memory of Mr. Harry Prout. formerly of Melksham and Corsham, who died on July l1th, while at a practice. in Britford Church. Harry came to live in Sidisbury a year ago and had soon won the respect and affection of the Salisbury ringers. His cheerful smile will be very much missed. hut his passing was as he would have wished. quietly in church with his friends. while sitting cut between touches at a practice.

Certificates of proficiency were handed to Mrs. Bush. Michael Carter. Denis Chalk. Howard Smith, and Patricia Phillimore. Ivan Behan and Peter Bushell. the last three being young members of the Enford band. who had scored their first quarter peal that afternoon before the visiting ringers arrived.

The ringers' wives provided a very good tea in the School. the proceeds going to their Belfry Fund. A move was then made to the two neighbouring towers in the valley of the Wiltshire Avon (both sixes), and touches in a variety of methods. including Cambridge and London. were brought round.

I LOVE YOU

I love the way you ring-
The sweeping effortless swing, the muscles rippling-
The calm, unworried stare.
I love the way you strike a bell-
The clear and dulcet sound immaculately alone within the peal-
The beat just right.
I love to see you call-
Making the other ringers obey your Slightest whim. clear-cut commands guiding the uncertain-
With a confidence sublime.
I love you for your knowledge-
Methods coming from your longue.
Cambridge. London or any one of those great screeds-
Competently produced.
I love you for yourself-
No matter that your nose is big.
Your eyes protrude you wear a wig-
You ring-that's everything!
I LOVE YOU

RINGING MEETINGS

Dear Sir.-If it can be said that to a large extent the success of a ringing meeting is governed by the number of ringers present then would it not be as well for secretaries of Guilds and Associations and their respective branches to give some thought to this problem of attendance?
Most ringers would. I think, regard it as a must ' to attend meetings of their own Guild and branch. but the problem is to discover when these meetings are to take place, so that well in advance the dates may be noted down in the diary. In many cases the only way to find out the date and place of the next meeting is either 10 attend the previous one (not always possible) or else to await the appearance of the notice in The Ringing World. about a fortnight before the meeting is due to take place. By that time the date in the diary has probably been taken by another fixture. not necessarily ringing.

There may be other ways of discovering the required information. For instance, some secretaries send reports of their meetings to 'The Ringing World,' although a greut many do not. Even when reports are sent many of them contain no clue as to the date and place of the next meeting.
So far I have only spoken of the difficulties attending the territorial ringer, but the problem becomes even greater for the ringer who likes to attend meetings outside his own territory. Before he makes a fixture of this nature he ought to be reasonably sure that there is no other meeting which has a prior claim on his services. Secretaries. I feel sure, are always glad to see visitors at their gatherings. and the more they can do in the way of prior publicity the more attractive their meetings will be
Now the ringer who is prepared to travel is often a peal ringer also. and from my own experience as a moderate peal ringer I find my Saturdays tend to get booked up with peal fixtures many weeks ahead. Looking down The Ringing World columns at the notices of meetings I have often regretted that I could not attend a certain meeting because 1 already have a peal fixture which I would certainly not have arranged on that date if I had known about the meeting.

If I have made my point, is there something which might be done to improve the situation? It is the practice of some Guilds or branches only to choose the date and place of the next meeting at the previous meeting. In a great many cases the towers could be visited regularly in turn, and it then becomes a simple matter to fix a rota and to publish details in advance. These details could be published in the notice columns of . The Ringing World.

Would your readers agree with me. I wonder, that advance publicity would go some way to increase the attendance at ringing meetings.Yours sincerely.

Kennington, Oxford.

FIRST PEAL OF PLAIN BOB MINIMUS
Dear Sir. With reference to the claim made in your issue of July 15th. for the peal of Plain Boh Minimus. at High Wycombe, on June 29 th. I have $t 0$ point out that a peal in the method was rung on handbells at Marple, on July 30th. 1938. by the brothers Jocelyn and Ivan Gardiner.

This peal was followed by others, both on lower- and handbells, and it was the advent of the Second World War which stopped progress. Both the participants are still living: Jocelyn is farming in Norfolk and Ivan is on the staff of Reading University. (Reading University Guild please note.) I understand that neither do much ringing nowadays.
Finally, may I plead with those who make claims to read. The Ringing World more carefully for in your leading article of June 17th you recall the peal to which I refer.Yours faithfully.

BECCLES CHURCH

Dear Sir.-Re your note in Belfry Gossip as to the damage to our campznile tower, at Beccles, by lightning or June 14 th , I am pleased to be able to state that the damage was not serious and actually we only had to cancel one practice night and. much to our regret. the proposed visit of two outing bands due that week
The diocesan architect examined the damage two days later and said that it was only superficial and that ringing for short periods was quite safe. so our very enthustastic tower keeper spent a very hot Saturday afternoon clearing up the debris and the dust from the bearings (his wife tells me he 'made himself into an unrecognisable mess in the process). and normal ringing was resumed on Sunday morning - Yours truly.

HANDBELL RINGING AND SPLIT MINDS

Dear Sir.-Following one or two recent references to handbell ringing and split minds. I note Mr. Staniforth's remarks in your issue of July 22nd with interest, and I would assure lim that the Leicester ringers are by no means on their own in this respect.
However. I think that this technique does make for harder work than that outlined in the Central Council's publication Change Ringing on Handbells. The basis of this is to know what internal places are being made. and to work one's bells accordingly.

Thus. for example, in Double Norwich. fourths place is made for the first whole pull of the lead, thirds and sixths for the next. and fifths for the next. The half lead is a plain hunting half lead (i.e. no internal place is made), and then the above places are made again in the reverse order. The lead end again is a plain hunting one. The places affect the working bells as follows: each odd place (thirds and fifths). made right, causes the bells below the place 10 do one dodge. while these above the place continue with a plain hunting path: each even place (fourths and sixths), made right, causes the reverse of this. i.e. the bells above the place dodge, and those below continue to plain huni. At the half lead and lead end no internal places are being made. so that all bells. except those leading and lying behind, ring whole pulls of a plain hunting path.
There is. of course, much more to it than is shown by this simple example. but it is all set out in the Council's publication.

As an example of the advantages of this method over the 'split mind" or "two blue lines' technique. I should like to refer to the recent peals of Spliced Major rung by Messrs. G. E. Feirn. J. Freeman. J. L. Millhouse and myself. To ring such a peal in 50 methods by the blue lines. it is necessary to learn seven individual leads of each of the methods. a total of 350 leads, and to be able, at each change of method. approximately every $20-25$ seconds. to select any two of them and ring them.
Using the "place " technique, it is necessary to select, at cach change of method, one place notation out of fifty-a much smaller choice. (Indeed, all that has to be learnt are 50 place notations, as against the blue line of 350 individual leads.)
When ringing by this method. there is no need to know the blue lines at all. and in fact. of the 50 methods rung. I only know the blue line of some half dozen or so. which I had previously rung on tower bells.

This brings me to a further point: those people who ring handbells by two blue lines are invariably ringing methods that they have previously learnt for, and rung on, tower bells. and they have not adapted their technique for handbells. Conversely, methods which I have first learnt and rung ' in hand. I still ring by the places when I come to ring them in the tower-thus, although I have rung a peal of Winchester Bob Major on tower bells. I could not draw out the blue line of this method.
In view of the decline in handbell ringiag, and the need to interest young ringers in this aspect of change ringing. might I suggest a series of articles be published by one, or some, of the notable handbell exponents.-Yours sincerely,
A. ROBIN HEPPENSTALL.

ANGLO-AMERICAN TOUR

T HE last few days of our American friends stay in England were spent among the Somerset. A week's the with headquarter at The Crown Hotel. Glastonbury, had been arranged by Frank C. Price. the first part of which was to be spent with our visitors

On Saturday, July 9th, the programme began and history was to be made. Under the most able conductorship of two 'locals' the young men from across the Atlantic rang in their first quarter peal. Russell S. Young. the initiator of this great adventure. also rang a quarter peal. but it was not his first. The details of these very creditable performances-being two quarter peals of Stedman Doubles-are as follows: All Saints'. Ashcott: S. Parkman Shaw II 1. John Chilcott (cond.) 2. Dennis Dix, Jun. 3. Robert H Gardiner, Jun.. 4. Daniel A. Goodenough 5. Thomas Sibley 6.
St. Marys. Shapwick: Christopher C. Angell 1 . St. Mary's. Shapwick : Christopher C. Angell 1.
David H. Thorne 2. John Hill (cond.) 3. Michasl St. J. Smith 4, Alan W. Cross 5, Russell S. Young 6.

The remainder of the party successfully managed a comparatively easier task-ihat of ringing a peal of Plain Bob Major at Street After the ringing everyone gathered at headquarters and following dinner settled down to a social evening consisting chiefly of tonguewagging, handbell ringing (conventional and unconventional). listening to the tape recorder. beer bottle walking and the tasting of table waters of Somerset. The party were especially honoured to have as guests Bill Marsh and Bill and Hilda Kingcott. of Wrington.

WELLS AND WRINGTON

On Sunday the party visited Wells and rang five Spliced Surprise at St. Cuthbert's, for Matins, and at the Cathedral. for afternoon service. The midday meal was preceded by the all too short but thirst quenching hospitality of Aunties Bea and Jean. sisters of Bill ('Somerset') Coles, who was on tour with us. Bishop Wilson, Assistant Bishop of Wells and ex-Bishop of Trinidad, honoured us by his presence in the ringing chamber of the Cathedral where he gave our overseas friends. the 'be-knighted ringers from London' and all others a warm welcome.

We rang for Evensong at All Saints". Wrington. and to cheer our leader on for the days to come we met his wishes by ringing a course of London Surprise Royal-a very worthwhile effort. After the church service, which was attended by most of the party, we began to feel that we had been bestowed the freedom of Wrington and we certainly had part of it at the generous invitation of Bill and Hilda Kingcott, who opened their doors for more kind hospitality

Monday morning arrived and we were destined to go to the seaside. Ours was a journey to ring at Bridgwater. followed in the afternoon by a peal of Grandsire Caters, at Minehead, where we had the pleasure of meeting Jack Pugsley, hale and hearty at 88 years young and for 60 years ringing master at this his local tower. During this peal the American ringers and the remainder of the English contingent rang on the six bells at Selworthy, near Porlock. After tea we next visited Taunton and ascended the tower of St. Mary Magdalene and rang on the comparatively light ring of twelve. Even if the front four trebles are the trickiest to handle we think we managed touches of Cinques quite well. Following this we kept another sacial engagement at the Staplegrove Inn with Arthur Reed. George and Evelyn Coles and the Vicar and his wife of St. John the Baptist Hillingdon.

Still fresh. even from late nights, our travels on Tuesday took us along more side roads to Wedmore. where the 30 cwt . tenor swings in a central tower. The Vicar came into the ringing chamber and extended to us a very warm welcome. Our next stop was at Conyresbury where the sizable tower surmounted by a tall spire contains an eight bell ring with the tenor 35 cwt .. a ground floor ring. By special request four Spliced was rung here and was recorded on the tape. Our American friends. by keeping the most generous invitation and promise. were ringing at Ditcheat at this time. In the afternoon our peal resilted in merely an ittempt. It was on the magnificent bells at Yatton and London Surprise was rung for two hours 40 minutes when.

FAREWELL TO AMERICAN VISITORS
To complete the day's programme we rang on the octave at Backwell and this was followed by the clicking of many cameras and in turn by another session in one of the hostelries at Wrington. It signified the departure of our visitors from overseas, who were due to have a tour of the Continent. Our impressions of them and joy we had in their company cannot adequately be expressed in writing but we do regard their visit as providing a unique and wonderful experience which we would not have missed. To the Master Russell S. Young. we offer congratulations for his initiative, courage and application in carrying through this great adventure.
Bert Gogle received a surprise during this session. that a most suitable present as this was his birthday. Arriving back at the hotel at Glastonbury, at riidnight. we put paid to a birthday cake which had been sent from Norwick for the occasion. Dennis Knox also had a similar surprise. for his birthday soon followed.

On Wednesday our first call was at Mells where, after ringing. the Vicar conducted us around his interesting church. Associated with Mells is Litile Jack Horner and in the Horner Chapel is a most unusual but beautiful equestrian statue in bronze by Sir Alfred Munnings on a stone base designed by Sir Edwin lutyens. Our second call involved crossing the county boundary to Trowbridge. where we successfully rang a peal of Stedman Cinques. During the evening among other methods was rung Spliced Plain and Little Bob and Erin, on the octave at Frome. Bill Coles excused himself from this visit in order to spend a short while with Joe Dyke talking and playing back on the tape recorder and it was gratifying to hear that Joe shows decided improvement in health.
The following day we commenced our ringing at Ditcheat followed by ringing at Shepton Mallet, both good rings with tenors well over a ton. In the latter church we were shown the underside of the nave roof to have 350 different carvings, dating from 1450. and the pulpit which has been carved from one piece of stone. After midday refreshment. we departed for Evercreech. where on these well known bells we rang a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal. In the evening we rang on our heaviest six at Bruton (tenor 25 cwt. 3 gr.). The fourth is a 15 th century bell and all are hung on plain bearings. but all swing well as may be assumed when it is mentioned that Mr. White is teaching a very youthful band there.

VENUS CHOSE SATURN

On Friday, with everyone still tireless and enthusiastic. for in practically all of the towers the bells were both raised and lowered in peal we first visited St. Andrew's. Cheddar, and then Axbridge. where in the central tower of St. John the Baptist one of the Iadies was put in charge of ringing on the six bells Venus chose Saturn Treble Bob Doubles, which was very creditably performed. and then commanded that one of Saturn's male descendants should ring the tenor behind a ladies touch of Grandsire Doubles. We next visited another church dedicated to St. Andrew-perhaps the patron saint of Somerset-at Banwell, where a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was achieved. The third St. Andrew for this day was at Chew Magna. where we rang this octave with a 28 cwt tenor to touches of Triples and Surprise Major. Even if the Qucens Arms is not so well known to ringers as the bells of Chew Magna we finished the day there with some good refreshments and handbell ringing.
For our last day we rang a morning-cumafternoon peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Martock. and then said good-bye to Somerset in order to ring on the heaviest eight a! Sherborne Abbey. This concluded our feast of ringing on some of the finest bells in the country
Our one regret was that young Michael J Palmer, of Hilingdon. was unable to be with us as previously arranged. due to his admission to hospital the week before.
Our sincere thanks are tendered to the Deans and incumbents, who gave us permission to ring on the bells and those who were able also to give us a welcome. and to those who met us. Special thanks to Tom Lock. the tour secretary, and Frank C. Price. the organiser

CLEWER AND WINDSOR, BERKS
The ringers of Clewer and Windsor and their friends had an enjoyable outing to Somerset and Wiltshire, on July 9th. The towers visited were Twerton-on-Avon. Chewton Mendip. Midsomer-Norton. Westbury (Wilts) and Bratton.

At the last named tower a touch of Bratton Slow Course Minor was rung : a method which had been devised for the occasion by one of the party on the coach journey between Midsomer-Norton and Westbury. Other ringing during the day ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Major
The ringers wish to cxpress their thanks to the incumbents. the ringers who welcomed them and to the steeple keepers, whose work was manifested by the excellent 'go" of the bells and the carefully kept ringing chamber at every tower visited.

LECKHAMPTON, GLOS

Ringers from SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Leckhampton. went on a coach outing, the first for many years. on July 9th. There were 31 people in the party. of whom 18 were ringers from our own church and five from the next door parish of Charlton-Kings. The towers visited were Kemble. South Cerney, Meysey Hampton and Coln St. Aldwyn.
The party included many more learners than 'experts': nevertheless some of the ringing, was of good standard, and methods rung included Plain Bob and Kent and Cambridge Surprise Minor. At Meysey Hampton. Evensong was said with the Rector. Rev. W. E. Harley. The outing, enjoyed by all. ended with refreshments at the New Inn. Coln St. Aldwyn.
We are very grateful to all ringers and clergy who made this year's outing possible. Our youngest ringers are two boys, aged 12 ; the oldest is Mr. Fred Pratt, now in his 87th vear. The tower captain is Mr. Charles Richings.

SHEFFIELD CATHEDRAL

On July 9th. with four cars for transport. a $6.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. start was made from Sheffield and King's Lynn was reached by $10 \mathrm{a}, \mathrm{m}$. An hour's ringing at St. Margaret's (10) followed There was ringing at the detached tower of East Dereham, before an excellent lunch.

Then to Yarmouth to be welcomed by the Vicar, the Rev. Gilbert Thurlow. The new bells were very much enjoyed. After tea at Yarmouth a short run to Norwich to ring on the twelve at the beautiful old church St . Peter Mancroft
Methods rung during the day included Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Caters: Kent Major. Royal and Maximus. Cambridge and Double Norwich. etc
Summary of the bells: King's Lynn, a nice old ten. some a little odd struck perhaps. East Dereham. a grand octave. Yarmouth, rather quiet outside, but a good way to start new ring, very easy go: the little bells require 3 pull or two to get the feel: congratulations to the founders for a fine job. Mancroft. a great ring. why don't they make few rings like these nowadays? We did not really do justice to them.
Leaving Norwich at 7 p.m. most of us were home about midnight. Our thanks go to local people for their co-operation. Distance covered. 345 miles: perhaps a record for a company outing. Quite an adventure.

THE TOWERS OF THE FENLAND

By T. A. BEVIS
(Continued from page 469) TERRINGTON ST. JOHN ${ }^{1}$ CHERE are many curious towers throughout the land and one of thesc must surely be that strange and unorthodox sentinel at Terrington St. John. Norfolk.

By all rights it is detached from the church. although at first glance the tower's slender proportions contradicts the previous statcment. It will be noticed. however, that a peculiar structure rises between the tower and the church. and this does, in fact, attach the former to the latter.
the exterior by way of a gallery exposed to all weathers. Continuing to ascend one enters a second vaulted passage leading to the nave roof and also to the stairway in the tower. It will be noticed that the tower stairway begins at the level of the church roof.

There is a pleasant ring of six bells (tenor 10 cwt. 3 qrs. 21 lbs. in F sharp). cast by Thomas Osborn in 1784. All with the exception of the treble are inscribed with the name of the then churchwarden. Thomas Wardle, who was probably a benefactor.

THE CHLRCH OF TESRINGTON ST. JOHN.

It is a 'priest's house' and it was supposed to serve as a temporary lodging for the Vicar (most probably from Terrington St. Clement) in the event of floods. when oft-unruly elements were detrimental to travellers in the treacherous marshlands.

This interesting structure is unique in design and with the church dates from the 15 th century. The house consists of a ground floor chamber. II feet by 9 feet, and a small. vaulted chamber above is reached by climbing a newel stair. Over this room a vaulted passage gives access to the tiny ringing chamher in the tower which is entered from

An Inventory made during the reign of Edward VI stated that this lower contained three bells at that lime. weighing 4.5 and 6 cwts. There were four bells until 1784 in which year they were recast to form part of the present ring. The fifth had remained cracked for many years until 1899 when it was recast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. It was again recast in 1947 by the same founders, who at the same time retuned and rehung the bells in a two-tier steel frame.
An ancient church account book is still preserved in which may be seen the original

- An Agreement made the 12 th day of January. 1784. by the Churchwardens and Overseers and other Parishioners of the Parish of Terrington St. John in the County of Norfolk, and Mr. Thomas Osborn, of Downham, in the said County. Witnesseth that he the said Thomas Osborn is 10 run and compleat a good Peal of Six Bells so that the weight of the same do not exceed forty-five hundredweight. He, the said Thomas Osborn, is to run down the old bells and new cast the same towards the said peal and is to be allowed one pound eight shillings $p$ hundredweight is to find good and sufficient clappers for the said six Bells at the rate or price of ninepence to the pound, and also to make a new frame of good sound oak and hang the bells in a workmanlike manner for the sum of fifty pounds. And further he do agree to save and indemnify the said Bells from any harm or hurt by fair ringing for twelve months. .
The first peal in the tower was rung under the auspices of the old St . Edmundsbury and Ipswich Association on February 1st. 1923, and consisted of 5.040 changes of Plain Boh conducted by A. R. Price.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH. ELY

The impressive west tower of Ely's magnificent cathedral casts its shadow over the colourful ' Green ' towards the Norman church of St. Mary, considerably detracting from the latter building's interest. Nevertheless. St. Mary's Church is well worth a visit and there is a very good ring of eight bells. To the observer the steeple is plain to behold, its smooth appearance due to an application of cement in 1829. the proportions and preparation being a secret which died with the work man who prepared it.

Originally there were six bells. Five of the present ring were recast and two added by Edward Arnold (cousin to Joseph Eayre). of St. Neots. in 1781 . The oldest bell bears the date 1670. and another was cast in 1767. A smaller bell, known as the 'Horse Bell' was supplied by Arnold in 1788 . It has been eroneously described as a sanctus bell, but was actually used during the early hours of the morning to call up Ely's horsekeepers.

The treble informs us: 's Bells Recast and 2 added by Subscription and Rate A.D. 1781.' and the second is inscribed Trinity Parish Gave Me.' Number three appears to have been given by Matthew. Bishop of Ely: - ECCLESIAE S. MARIAE DONAVIT MATHلAS EPISCOPUS ELIENSIS MDCCLXVII.

The patriotic fourth intones God Bless the King and Queen and the fifth murmurs I to the Poor and Needy am a friend. for whose relief I call you to attend.' The unfortunate ringleaders in the Littleport Riots-which cccurred in the late 18 th century-may well have heard the dismal tolling of the sixth bell as they passed St. Mary's Church on their way to the gallows. How many of them would he aware of that bell's inscription: ' May our rich good and happy be. and all our poor peace and plenty see. (The Riots were inspired through the shortage of food.)

The seventh is inscribed: Thos. Pell Esq. gave me 1670. and the tenor ( 17 cwt .0 qus. 25 lbs . in E) carries a common inscription: I to the church the living call and to the grave I summon all.

Rehung in 1938 by Messrs. Taylor's, the bells are rung from the ground floor. and this space is also utilised as a choir vestry. A peal of 5.024 Kent Treble Bob Major, rung at St. Mary's Church on February 23rd. 1884. by members of the Society of Cumberland Youths, was the first in that method in Cambridgeshire

It is a great pity that Fenland's well known shrine-the cathedral at Ely. dedicated to Etheldreda-has not a ring of bells. It is certain. however. that there were six bells prior 10 the great restoration in the second half of the 19th century. Four of these have been retained and two act as clock bells. the largest (approximately 12 cwls.) inscribed: 'Henry Penn made me 1723.' The cathedral had two bells in the 14 th century, named 'Bounce' and 'Peter." and great works in bell casting were carried out during that century under the supervision of the "Flower of Craftsmen: Alan de Walsingham. the designer of the unique lantern tower

OBITUARY

MR. FRANK SKIDMORE

THE news of the death of our Master. Frank Skidmore. came as a very great shock to the members of the Gloucester and Bristol Association. He had been ringing at St. Ambrose for Matins and Evensong on Sunday. July 17th, looking as fit and well as he ever had, and in the small hours of Monday morning he was taken from us. There is now a great void, for who can replace such a man?

He joined the Association in 1911, having learned to ring at Stapleton, at the age of 19 . For a number of years we knew little or nothing of his activities, except that he served in the first world war. but from 1928 until his death his career is almost a history of the G. & B. Association. Chairman of the Bristol Branch $1929-30$ was his first office. secretary of the Branch 1930 until it was divided in 1934. lower secretary of Sl . Ambrose 1929-54, auditor to the Association 1945-49 and for a short time during this period he acted as treasurer, the only office he never held. He was also representative on the Management Committee for the Bristol Rural Branch 1945-49.
For iwelve years. 1948-59. he was one of our representatives on the Central Council and almost the whole of the organisation for the meeting of the Council in Bristol was carried out hy him. In 1950-51 he was Ringing Master of his Branch. and he had been a vicepresident since 1949. He became geveral secretary of the Association in 1950, filling that office for six years. then in April last year he was made Master and before his re-election for this year he was presented with an armchair as a token of the esteem in which he was held.
A measure of his popularity, and of the respect which our members had for him, was that over 100 were present for the funeral service at St. Ambrose. on Thursday, the majority of the branches being represented and letters of apology were received from the Archdeacons and others who were unable to get to Bristol.
In a short address. the Vicar of St. Ambrose (the Rev. H. M. W. Hocking) said of him that he was a perfectionist in all that he undertook to do. the standard of ringing had to be high. no bad striking would be tolerated, and it was largely by his efforts that St. Ambrose bells were kept going so well. But he was also a great churchman. a member of the Parochial Church Council for many years, where he would be missed. They must not be sorry for him. because they knew where he had gone. to higher service, but only sorry for those left behind.

When Frank became Master and I general secretary almost his first instruction was never to leave the belfry office cut of the annual report, and to take all steps possible to ensure its use. 'I have been." he said. "into a number of our towers where they do not start with prayer both for practice meetings and service ringing, and it is all wrong. Do what you can to get it put right. Let us remember that whenever we meet, as a lasting memorial to his wishes.
The bells of St. Ambrose were rung halfmuffled before the service and again after the muffles removed.

CHARLES ROUSE.

TOWERS OF THE FENLAND

There is evidence to the effect that this impressive tower-supported hy eight of the largest timbers (fro feet oak trees) from Bedfordshire-contained four hells at one time. rope-marks having been found in the woodwork. An industrious 181h century topographer has written: "The Lanthorn ... is a masterpiece of architecture: when the bells ring the woodwork shakes and gapes, which is no defect but the perfection of architecture. and exactly falleth into the joints again.'

MR. FRANK SKIDMORE

ALBERT E. LOCK

AN APPRECIATION ${ }^{\circ}$
Albert Lock was one of the finest ringers I cver knew and I have never met one whom I respected and admired more. Latterly, I had only met him infrequently but no visit to the Central Council or the Abingdon area was quite complete without a chat with Albert Lock. Whether in his home in East St. Helen's Street. in his stonemason's yard, in the belfry or anywhere else it was always worth while hearing what he had to sav in that heautiful mellifluous voice with its rich Berkshire accent.
To anyonc who has ever lived in North Berkshire. Albert Lock was the "Boss and no ringer in that area over a very great number of years can have failed to have benefited from his patient and untiring labours. In an area so seattered and so poorly served with public transport only a perennial enthusiast with a stout heart could carry on for so many years without despairing. But an enthusiast throughout his long life Albert Lock remained and those of us who knew him are the richer for
I never knew him when he was not teaching some beginners somewhere. To keep on keeping on is perhaps the hardest craft of all for a ringer to learn and Albert Lock was the master of his craft as none other I have known. I shall remember him as the man who was everything a ringer should be and I am grateful for having known him.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD  West Lindsey Branch

Although some 40 ringers attended the West Lindsey Branch meeting held at Saxilby, on July 16th. the number of member towers represented was disappointingly small. Evensong was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. H Dight). the singing being led by the church choir. many of whose members are also ringers.

The business meeting followed an excellent tea in the Schoolroom and was presided over by the Rev. H. Dight: the chief item of interest being a report of the Central Council meeting by the Ringing Master (Mr. G. E. Feirn).

Referring to the recent death of Archdeacon Marsden. Mr. J. M. Blaikie spoke of his many years' service as president of the old Northern Branch and the meeting then stood in silent tribute to his memory.
Ringing continued during the evening in a variety of methods up to London Surprise.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Northern District

As ringers and friends came to the meeting at Knebworth. on July 3rd, they were greeted hy a truly rural setting. In pleasant weather a cricket match was being played nearby. the smell of the hay drifted across. and behind all the imposing mass of Knebworth House.
After an hour's ringing. the Rev. D. L. Hewells conducted the service, with Mr. J. Pluck at the organ. At the business meeting which followed tea in the Lytton Hall. Mr. J. Mayne. Ringing Master of the Middlesex Association, was chairman. Mr. Robert Dymond, of Welwyn, was elected a member; Mr. C. A. S. Harwood remains as Ringing Master.

The arrangements for the August meeting Here altered: only Wallington will now be visited. Some anxiety has been expressed in the past that any individual member can spring * a proposition at the annual general meeling without having given notice other than to the honorary general secretary of his intentions. This was discussed, and it was finally decided that the District Committee should meet to discuss this important matter.
Many Surprise methods were rung later, and it was considered a very successful meeting.

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION

The North Wales Association had an attendance of 40 ringers at tis annual meeting at Machynlleth. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Leslie Evans).
Officers elected were: Rev. J. Knighton Jones. Rhyl. president: Mr. F. R. Evans. Wrexham, Ringing Master: Mr. W. Cathrall. Wrexham. secretary and treasurer: Mr. D. H. B. Millward. Buckley. Central Council representative. District secretaries are Mr. L. S. Gdiffiths. Llandudno (Bangor and Rhyl): Mr. Millward (Wrexham): District instructors: Mr. L. S. Griffiths (Bangor and Rhyl): Mr. F. R. Evans (Wrexham).

The autumn meeting will be at Rhyl and the next annual meeting at Portmadoc. The Asseciation decided to make grants towards the restoration of Barmouth and Beaumaris bells.

REDEDICATION

WOODBLRY, DEVON

On the evening of July 19 th . in the presence of a large congregation. the bells of St Swithun's Church. Woodbury. were rededicated by the Right Rev. W. A. E. Westall. Bishop of Crediton The Vicar, the Rcv. A. E Ormond, ofliciated at the service.
The cight bells (tenor 23 cwt .). have been retuned, the seventh recast and all rehung in a new frame which has been fitted lower in the tower. The work has been carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank and the cost of over $i 2.000$ has been raised in a little over 12 months by the villagers. The improvement is most marked and the oscillation of the tower latrgely eradicated.

TALGARTH, BRECON

Accompanied by the Rev. I. J. and Mrs. Richards. who acted as pilot and joined the party at the first tower, Blaenavon. the memhers of St. Gwendoline's Church. Talgarth. had an enjoyable ringing trip into Monmouthshire and Glamorgan, on Wednesday, July 13th. 13th.
Before lunch at Newport. touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung at All Saints' Church. In the afternoon the sixes at St. Mellons and Rumney were visited but the highlight of the day was Llandaff Cathedral. Tea was provided by ladies of the Cathedral. who were thanked by Mr. W. Chick. and afterwards the party attended Evensong before going to the tower. Members of the Cathedral band joined in the ringing and this enabled some of the party to ring their first touch of Caters. The party would like to thank. through the medium of "The Ringing World: those who met them and incumbents for the use of the bells.
D. H. B.

NEWBURY AND ANDOVER

A party of about 20 ringers, from Newbury and Andover districts. enjoyed a half-day ringing tour to Adderbury. Banbury. Bloxham. and the lightest ring of six in the world. at Home Farm. Balscott, on July 16th.
The rricky six of Mr. Jarvis, at Home Farm. Balscott. wifh a tenor of 134 lb. were (in our opinion) rung reasonably well. We also saw furiher proof of Mr. Jarvis enthusiasm in the form of a new frame and an entirely new ring of bells. with a tenor of about 2 cwt . Methods rung during the day included Grandsire. Plain Bob. Kent. Stedman and Double Norwich. Incumbents and tower foremen are thanked for their helpful co-operation

Leicester Diamond Wedding

Mr. William H. Clarke. of St. John-theDivine. Leicester. and Mrs. Clarke. celebrate their diamond wedding on August 8th. A neal in their honour will be attempted later in the month at St. John's.

Late News

We regret to record the death of Mr Charles Henry Woodberry, of Wolverlcy Worcs. on July 13th. aged 75 . Mr. Woondberry represented the Worcestershire Association on the Central Council from 1936 until 1944.

THE STORY OF THE KENT VETERANS' PEAL

THERE is no doubt that for nearly 30 years there have been a sufficient number of members in the Kent County Association with 50 or more years of continuous membership to warrant a peal attempt, but the thought never occurred to anyone until 1954 when Mr. F. S. Macey, of Sutton Valence, who had attained his 50 years' membership that year. mentioned it to the writer.

Various names were suggested, but the difficulty then was to find a conductor of sufficient experience to justify making the necessary arrangements. The late Mr. F. W. Richardson was approached, but owing to indifferent health he had to decline; so it was decided to wait a year when Mr. Louis Head, of Maidstone, would complete 50 years' membership.

However. no serious attempt to arrange the peal was made until last year, when it was realised we were five years older than when it was first moooted, and an attempt was arranged at Linton last October, when a telegram, two hours before the start, told that one of the band had been taken ill. Fortunately Mr. Gosling, of Boxley (a member since 1904), had come to listen, but felt unable to stand three hours, so a quarter peal was rung instead.

When another attempt was suggested, two of the band (Mr. Unwin and Mr. Walter) felt that they too would be unable to stand the time, but it was realised that Mr. Grensted, of Sittingbourne, and Mr. Spice, of Bromley, had unfortunately been overlooked. and also that Mr. Sone would qualify in 1960, so the peal was again arranged at Linton on July 2nd.

Here disaster nearly overtook the band again, when Mr. Head was informed the day before that a case of serious illness near Linton Church would preclude any ringing there. This caused him to make a hurried journey to West Malling to see whether the attempt could be made at that tower.

Permission to do so was immediately given by the Rector and Mr. Carter, captain of the local ringers, with the happy result the peal was successful, and one in which those taking part can be justifiably proud. It was never in doubt from the start; but the greatest honour must be accorded to the conductor. Mr. Louis Head. who again showed the complete master of Holt's Original he has always been acknowledged to be.

GLORY HOLES

RECENTLY in a remote church of the Truro diocese some dusty boards were discovered, which on cleaning turned out to be the old Royal Arms, dated 1660. It may seem astonishing that such treasure could find a place in which to lie for at least a considerable number of years, since such arms ceased to be valued, were it not for the fact that every church would appear to have some sort of similar glory-hole. Organs are very much disposed to collect odds and ends behind themselves-such things as coverless hymn books. tattered hassocks spilling their intimate contents over the floor, brass candelabra, once the joy and pride of a brass-cleaner's soul. At one time such odds and ends were kept partly at bay by the necessity of providing a lurking-space for the blower, on whose scope for movement the vital parts of a service might depend. But now the tide sweeps right in, and the flotsam and jetsam are in greater supply since ecclesiastical taste decrees simplicity rather than a full display of the brassworker's art.

Then there are the middles of towers. Many a parish whose ringing chamber is immaculate and whose bells almost shine possesses a tower-middle where anything might be found. It was in fact in such a space that the Royal Arms mentioned above were discovered. No rector of that parish had even been suspected of Republican tendencies, it was just the way of disposing of dilapidated stuff common to Anglican parsons and church cleaners. In towers unfortunate not to possess bells, it is sometimes the habit of the lower parts of the tower stairs to collect a mass of old jam jars, etc., from the harvest decorations. It was once the lot of the present writer to place an unwary foot on descending such a stair, and to be propelled as from a rifle barrel into the church to the accompaniment of a shower of such reminders of the breakfast table. ...

The drawer in the table by the door is a fruitful source for knick-knack hunters. With the key of the tower (if not under the mat) there will be such trivia as the left-over magazines for Jubilee Year (Queen Victoria's), foreign coins rejected by keen-eyed churchwardens, a single glove hopefully awaiting a blessed and joyful reunion, some woodworm dust from the table top, and a couple of old pens once associated with the visitors' book but now relegated to cross-nibbed despair.

And so forth. All very typical of the ways of Ecclesia Anglicana. One would like to know what are the corresponding junkholes of the local chapel, or the Papal church. I am sure they must have them. The ecumenical movement might look into this.

RINGERS' OUTINGS

ST. PAUL'S, BEDFORD

July 23rd will long be remembered by those who took part in the splendid outing organised by Bryan Pattison.
The long journey to Norwich was broken by a welcome stop for coffee, after which we went straight to the famous tower of St. Peter Mancroft. where various touches were enjoyed. finishing with a course of London, on the back eight, which was struck with almost mechanical precision
Next stop was Great Yarmouth, where, under the guidance of the Rev. Gilbert Thurlow. the magnificent Parish Church. the largest in England, is now almost completely restored.
Here on the splendid ring of 12. a halfcourse of Cambridge Maximus was rung in grand style, but the high spot of the day was probably the touch of five Spliced Major, on the back eight.
A cross-country trip brought us to Beccles. whose detached tower contains a fine ring of 10. which were made good use of after which came Stradbroke, another 10 , and then our last tower, the fine eight at Diss.

This party was composed almost entirely of ringers. and good ringing seemed to be the keyrote. the touches mentioned being quite exceptional.
With lovely weather. excellent meals, bells worth ringing and a party of ringers with the ability to do them justice, and on top of all this the slide-rule-perfect arrangements of Bryan Pattison. this outing was indeed one to remember
Our grateful thanks are extended to the incumbents of the places where we rang, for their kind permission, and also to the local ringers, who welcomed us.
A. G. R.

BIRMINGHAM UNIVERSITY SOCIETY
Birmingham University Society had an outing to the Warwick and Leamington area. on July 2nd. After the first tower, St. Nicholas: Warwick. we were met by Mr. GarnerHayward. who joined in the ringing on this very fine Taylor eight. This was followed by lunch and then on to Sherborne. where there is a very rough ring of six. which we were not altogether sorry to leave and proceed to Wellesbourne, which church contains a much more amiable set of six.

At Whitnash we were met by Mr. Hawley. aged 95. who joined in the ringing. Tea was had in Warwick and then on 10 Lillington. our last tower and the only other eight of the day. Transport was provided by three cars. two of recent years and one of 1929 vintage, which carried over half the party of eleven for most of the day. Methods rung were: Plain Bob Major: Plain Bob and Grandsire Triples: Plain Bob. Cambridge, Double Court. Little Bob. St. Clement's. Double Oxford and Kent Minor: and Grandsire Doubles.

Thanks are due to Mr. Alan Collings, who arranged the trip so ably and to the incumbents and ringers of the towers visited.
C. A.C.

BRISTOL CATHEDRAL GUILD

Five towers near Bath were visited by Bristol Cathedral Guild during their outing on July 18th. At the late Canon Ellacombe's tower. Bitton (8). several touches of Grandsire and Stedman were attempted, but striking was better in call changes and rounds. Bob Major was well struck at Twerton-on-Avon. and on the heavy six at Priston, several good touches including a half-course of Cambridge.
Mrs. Palfrey met the party at Corston (a fine Taylor eight). where Stedman was finally attained and a musical touch rung Ringing for the day ended at Marksbury, with touches of Grandsire. Stedman. Kent and Cambridge. Thanks are extended to the incumbents and to C. J. R. for arranging the towers.
J. R. G.

ST. KEA, TRURO

An early start was made by St. Kea ringers and friends on their annual outing. on August Bank Holiday. The coach was accompanied by the Vicar. the Rev. W. H. Biscoe. in his car. Two more cars joined us at St. Austell. car. Two more cars joined us at St. Austell. including Mr. D. Burnett. Ringing Master of the Guild.

The first tower was Lanneath, a mellow six ( 8 cwt.). where some good Cornish rounds were rung by our young ringers. A short ride brought us to Pelynt church. where the pastoral staff of Bishop Trelawney is displayed in the church. Rounds and Plain Bob were rung on the pleasant six ( 13 cwt ).

We had lunch at Looe and then after the coach had successfully negotiated a traffic jam we arrived at the most anticipated church of the trip-St. Germans. The ringers admired the twin towered Norman church (tenor $13 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) and rounds. call changes and a good touch of Grandsire Triples were rung
The next tower was St Stephen's-by-Saltash (6. 16 cwt .), where the ringing chamber is on the first floor of the spacious tower. Many climbed the spiral staircase to the doorway from which one could look down on the bell: ringing Grandsire Doubles: and also climbed to the parapet of the tower which commands a wonderful view
After tea in Saltash we rang on the newlyrestored ring at SS. Nicholas and Faith. The tower of this unusually shaped church is in the place of the north transept and has to be entered from outside the church. Some wellstruck rounds and Grandsire Doubles were rung on these bells. The final tower visited was St. Mellion (6, 7 cwt ).
All were agreed that the trip, which had taken us over 170 miles and 16 hours, was very enjoyable. We would like to thank Clement W. Jose for making the arrangements, the various incumbents for allowing us to ring and all those local ringers who turned out to greet us.
H. J. P.

WOLVEY, WARWICKS

Wolvey bellringers outing was held on July 23 rd. and our ringers were joined by other; from Market Bosworth. Tamworth. Kenilworth. Hatton. Siretton-under-Fosse and Harbury. A start was made at 12.45 p.m.. the first tower heing Priors Marston, where we found a rather noisy ring of six bells. Here we had to wheel the church bier from the belfry into the churchyard, to make room for the ringers.

The next tower was Cropredy. where the bells are soon to go to the bell foundry to be tuned and rehung. They proved to be in need of this attention. but despite this. some good ringing was enjoyed on these heavy going bells. Middleton Cheney was the prize piece for the day. the tenor being $22 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. which, with thirty feet of rope before the first guide. provided us with some excitement. One of our ringers accepted local ringers: challenge to ring the tenor up. properly clappered. single handed. Needless to say he failed.

Tea, at Banbury, was very welcome after the heavy bells at Middleton Cheney.
Although everyone had more than enough to Although everyone had more than enough to eat. We left with a miscellaneous collection of Banbury cakes. peanuts and sweets. At Steeple Aston. our conductor was given the task of producing certain well known changes in a touch of Plain Boh Minor, and failed miserably to do so. He spent the rest of the evening writing out coursing orders on the hack of his programme. and appeared to have composed a 720 in order 10 accomplish his object. The bells went quite well to Cambridge and Kent, and were a welcome change to the heavier ones of the afternoon.
The last tower was the light six at Lower Heyford ( 7 cwt .). These were in very good condition. and an hour's ringing proved very enjoyable.
We returned home feeling very satisfied with the day's ringing and offer our sincerest thanks to the incumbents, who so readily allowed us to ring. and to the local ringers who turned up to keep us in order.
H. M. W.

The Family Spirit At Chepstow

During July there have been two ringers' weddings at Chepstow. On July 9th, Patricia Jones married John Morgan and on July 23rd Joyce Johnson married Clive Bryant, thus bringing the number of married couples in the band to three!
Relationships seem to abound in the tower: in addition to three marricd couples, there are one set of brothers, one set of sisters, one brother and sister, one father and daughter, and numerous cousins! Odd persons seem the exception-and they appear eventually to marry each other!
Peal attempts were successful after both weddings and now, who knows where Cupid will strike next?

24 Years' Silence of Bells Broken

Inkberrow. Worcestershire. villagers were agrecably surprised to hear their bells rung on July 16th, as they had not been rung since the funeral of King George $\mathbf{V}$ in 1936!

The bells had previously been rung from the ground floor. but when the church organ was installed in the ringing room all ringing ceased. despite the fact that the bells were rehung in 1928.

On July 16th. three young ringers from Wychbold and Droitwich climbed the tower, oiled the bearings. tightened every bolt visible and adjusted the ropes so that ringing could take place from the chamber immediately beneath the bells.
At the Vicar's request this activity was a carefully guarded secret, even to the extent that the bells were raised with the clappers tied so that the first ring heard could be a touch on the six bells. Ringers were present from Badsey. Hampton. Hinton. Packwood. Stourbridge. Wychbold and Droitwich. Ringing included rounds. Double Court Bob Minor. Cambridge Surprise.

The bells went reasonably well, in spite of the short draught, and the fact that the sallies on the two trebles stuck in the holes in the beams! (a condition which has now been remedied). The bells were cast by Taylors in 1868 with a tenor of 10 cwt .2 qr .4 lb . in G . and are of excellent tone.

It is pleasant to feel that the bells are once more ringable in this magnificent 13 th century church. Mr. A. Brazier: of Badsey, has arranged for the bells to be rung monthly by his band. until such time as a band can be formed in Inkberrow.
C)ur thanks are due to the Vicar for allowing this venture. and who has now heard the bells for the first time in his 17 years as incumbent of St. Peter's

> P C. and A. D C.

HANL.FY, STAFFS

East Shropshire was visited by the Hanley ringers for their annuat outing on July 16 th. The day was dull and Cheswardine, our first tower. was reached in good time. Here the light cight were put to good use.

Unfortunately, at Stoke-on-Tern we failed to do justice to the very Itght six. Afterwards we were invited to tea by Mr. Frank W. Morgan. a local ringer, and enjoyed an exceptional repast.

This was followed by tea at the ' Elephant and Castle. Grinshill. and after a short journey we arrived at Clive. The heaviest six in Shropshire. The best ringing of the day was in this tower and the time passed all too quickly. Ringing for the day concluded at Moreton Corbet. Where the excellent this light six was much appreciated.
Thanks are due to incumbents. local ringers and Mr. Charles A. S. Webb, who made all the arrangements.

The popular young secretary of the St John's. Hillingdon. Guild. Michael J. Palmer, is in hospital and likely to be out of ringing for some months. He would no doubi welcome letters and visitors at Ward E. Cubicle 9, Harefield Hospital, Middlesex.

Mr. Ranald W. M. Clouston has just completed the inspection of his 200 th tower in Suffolk.
The peal of Delight Minor, rung at Fulmer, on June 8th. was named Alderbourne (not Aldbourne, as printed).

Mr. A. R. Bridge, secretary of the North East District of the Suffolk Guild is moving to Nayland, at the end of August. He is willing. however. to carry on his duties until the end of the year.
An order for " The Ringer's Diary, addressed to Messrs. Wiggers and Hodgers. 37 High Field Gardens. Andershut. England. has been received at the proper address from Uppsala. Sweden.
Who is the South Yorkshire ringer whose other hobby is steam traction engines? .. Who regularly leaves his steed parked outside the tower with oil parking lights on practice nights. Let's hope he remembers to "bank up" before standing in for a peal.
An 'Open Day' at Rotherham Parisih Church. on July 9th. produced $£ 40$ for the repair fund. The High School Handbell Ringers rang tunes in ine churchyard and a small charge was made for admission to the tower. where ringers explained points of interest. In the evening the visitors were able to watch the 10 bells rung to various methods.
On Saturday, July 16 th. ringers from the villages of Dorchester-on-Thames and Warborough. Oxfordshire, spent a very enjoyable afternoon at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry. They would like to thank the Master Founder, Mr. A. A. Hughes, for allowing them to look around the foundry and for giving them such an interesting talk about church bells and handbells.

GOSSIP

 In honour of the 85 th birthday of Mr. W. WilsonDobb, vice-president of the East Derbyshire & Notts Association, a peal of Minor was rung at Selston, Notts, on July 13th. When the three bells at Selston ware augmented in 1905. Mr. Wilson-Dobb joined the East Derbyshire and Nots Association. and although he does not now ring he takes a great interest in the affairs of the Association. He learnt to handle a bell at Silston, when a boy of 15 .Now that peals of Minimus are recognised by the Central Council, will Mr. Ronald Dove include in his excellent production four-bell towers? asks an enthusiastic tower grabber.

Bristol Cathedral Guild are very fortunate in having three members of the staff who are keen change ringers and it is largely due to their interest that an outing is arranged on an average once a term.
With the peal of Minor at Laverstoke-cumFrefolk. Mr. Geoffrey K. Dodd has rung peals on every ringatle ring of bells in the Andover District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. from four bells upwards. No other ringer has, so far, this record.
From 'Ringing Towers' we learn that 'things are beginning to move again in Hobart. Tasmania. A quarter peal has been rung 'in hand' of Doubles and also two 360 s of Plain Bob Doubles on tower bells. We look forward to hearing more about the hells of St. David's and Holy Trinity, Hobart.
The peal at Old Swinford. Worcs, by a band with an average age of $16 \frac{1}{2}$ years will be remembered by all. Despite a cement mixer's cfforts to drown the sound of the bells, a well-struck peal was scored. Proceedings were enlivened by the steeplejacks at work on the tower coming to watch the ringers and afterwards shutting the tower door. which made the bells almost inaudible. The peal was the first blow of Reverse Canterbury Pleasure Bob Minor by all the band.

ALPHABET FOR BEGINNERS

By T. J. LOCK

OBSERVATION BELL.-Compositions of peals rung these days are, with possibly the singular exception of Holt's Original. set out on paper with the calls and all the working bells noted in relation to. or in the relative position of, one particular bell-usually, the tenor. This bell is the observation bell.' If, for instance, the composition requires a Bob to be called at Home, then the Boh would be called at the time the tenor bell is in its Home position. Look up Parker's Twelvepart peal of Grandsire Triples and you will find that the composition can be called with either the second. the sixth or the seventh bell as "observation.' It may be that the starting off points will be different in each case but, nevertheless, the composition is the same. Some conductors have no direct need of an observation bell-they do not learn the peal composition by the way usually set out on paper-they transpose the composition into coursing order, or into lead ends and course ends.

OPEN LEAD.-Depending upon which part of the country you are in or which part you have been taught to ring, will decide whether you ring your bell with an open lead at handstroke or not. Also. I might add, it will decide whether your open lead is wide or not so wide. Ringing with a close handstroke lead entails each bell to be struck at the same interval of time one after the other. It would be similar to the ticks of a metronome, being without any pause whatever in the rhythm. Ringing with an open handstroke lead entails the rhythm 10 be broken only by the bell which is leading and, remember, it is the handstroke alone which is, open - the backstroke is always "closed.: So the ultimate effect of open lead ringing on six bells is that each striking at handstroke and backdistances of time apart. then a pause of one x . then $12 \mathrm{x}, 1 \mathrm{x}, 12 \mathrm{x} .1 \mathrm{x}$, and so on. On eight bells it would. in similar terms, be $16 x$, 1 x , $16 x$. Ix. and so on.

Generally speaking. in the West Country towers, where call changes are rung, there is no onen lead: in districts and towers where odd-bell methods. with tenor covering, are rung the open lead is not so pronounced: and in six bell and other towers where evenbell methods are rung the open lead is the widest. But. do not forget. it is often only a matter of a fraction of a second which makes for all this difference.
OUT OF COURSE.-Please do not read this as "Out, of course." which is the wife's answer to a visitor who has called to see her peal ringing husband! Whilst © Out of Course, has been described as the nature. or inherent peculiarity. of a row (of changes) when by an odd number of transpositions. place by place. the figures composing it can be brought to rounds-further information can be gained by referring to the complementary term. In Course. which was dealt with in a previous article.

OUTINGS.-This is not a technical term but 1 hope it will not be received as being out of place in this alphabet. No doubt, quite a number of readers have not yet even had the opportunity to arrange an outing but. issuming the chance will come one day the following remarks are intended to be helpful. Should the chance never turn up and you are always just a member of the party, please remember that although you carry no responsibility in the organisation of the outing you can quite easily carry the responsibility in the disorganisation of it. Kcep strictly to the programme. he punctual. carry out the wishes of the organiser. do nothing that would cause delay and put on your best bshaviour.

There are no rulcs governing the arranging of. and conduct on. outings but everyone is expected to comply with etiquerte. I. personally, apply to the tower secretary or correspondent for his incumbent's permission to ring the bells expressing the hope that it is also acceptable to the local band. If there is no known tower secretary I apply direct to the incumbent expressing the desire that the local band would be in agreement if per-

MR. SAMUEL SCATTERGOOD

Chesterfield.

Mr. Samucl Scattergood bears a very honoured name. for he is in direct line of descent from Samuel Scattergood, who was Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths in 1685 , and also a personal friend of Fabian Stedman. Sam is a very likeable man. a good mixer, and is very popular in Derbyshire. He has worked hard and long to raise a band capable of ringing the fine ring of ten at Chesterfield.
At this famous church, with the crooked spire, the bells were silenced in 1925, owing to the instability of the spire, but prior to that many peals had been rung by Arthur Knights and his contemporaries. It was not until 1946 that. on the advice of Sam Scattergood. the bells were recast and rehung in a steel frame by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank and much work was done to make the mission is given (I have had only one 'ticking off for such a desire). If 1 apply for a peal attempt I quite often state a full peal. and also the Association for which the peal would be rung.
One's conduct and manners cannot be too high when on an outing and it is preferred that everything is left as it is found. If you shorten or lengthen a rope put it back as it was: if the bells were down when you arrive leave them down when you go; if a rope is tied for chiming, say, by the verger, then tie it back again. and tie it securely! Of course. never leave litter and always report damage with an offer to pay the cost of repair. It is my custom to write a letter of thanks to each tower which has been visited.
OWNERSHIP OF BELLS.-As such. there is no direct ownership of bells-this sounds a bit Irish but they will understand! There is, however. sufficient legislation to make it clear that a bell ringer has no authority in the purchase. control. maintenance or disposal of any bell. In fact. most ringers. even when in their ' own ' ringing room. are invitees with the permission of the incumbent who has control over the rights of access to the belfry. Bells should only be rung with the incumbent's consent (though happily this is often implied!) and they must not be rung against his to accord with Church law. To complicate sibility of the church fabric and ornaments. on which they have to give an annual report. The churct wardens also have the custody of the keys of the belfry-so this is one very good reason why ringers should become churchwardens, surely!
crooked spire safe. Whilst all this work was going on. Sam was busy teaching youngsters who were to form a completely new band. and they the bells were rededicated in 1947, they were able to ring all 10 bells. Sam was appointed Ringing Master by the Archdeacon of Chesterfield, and under his direction the bells have been rung regularly on Sundays ever since.
He was born in 1904 at Old Whittington. commenced Sunday school and day school there at the age of 5 years. and has unbroken service in church work to the present day. He learned to ring on the four bells there in 1919, and after they were recast and augmented to five, he conducted a peal of Grandsire Doubles which was the first by all the band. rung at first attempt. This peal was on the occasion of King George V and Queen Mary's silver jubilee, in 1935.
Sam has always been prominent in ringing affairs in Derbyshire and was district secretary of the Chesterfield District of the old Midland Counties Association. He assisted the late W. Lancaster in the preliminary work and formation of the new Derbyshire Association. and acted as secretary of the Chesterfield District in 1947-8. He is also an active member of the Sheffield and District Society. and an out-county member of the Yorkshire Association. It is his great pride to be a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and the Society is equally proud to have him as a member-indeed it is most fitting that a man with such an illustrious predecessor should hold an honoured place in its ranks.

By profession he is an engineer's buyer, and having served an apprenticeship in a large engineering works was appointed buyer in 1936. He was responsible for the purchase of machinery. cutting tools and equipment for the production of all types and sizes of bomb. shell and shot. from two pounder to two thousand pounder. He is as thorough and reliable with his work as he is with his ringing.
For the past 10 years he has spent two evenings a week belping and instructing learners in neighbouring towers with a view to attaining proficiency in Sunday service ringing. He has rung more than 60 peals, from Doubles to Royal. His great love, however. is ringing for Sunday services, and he is never so happy as when he is surrounded by a belfryful of eager youngsters who want to become Sunday service ringers.

JAFUS.

Exeter Cathedral Bells  To Be Rehung

The Council of the Friends of Exeter Cathedral have agreed to meet the cost, estimated at $£ 910$, for rehanging some of the bells of the Cathedral and doing work to the others.

The Council had previously agreed that $£ 260$ should be spent on the bells" chiming apparatus.

The Council also agreed to obtain an estimate and full report upon work necessary to the organ, Archdeacon E. F. Hall stating that the mechanical action would have to be overhauled as it had not been done since 1933.

SILVER WEDDING

The silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. C. Gudgeon was a happy occasion. on July 27 th . with a peal on Northop. Flintshire. bells. followed by supper at which they were the genial hosts to the band. Afterwards came handbell ringing and the showing of slides of colour photographs taken during a trip through Shropshire. Montgomeryshire and Staffordshire. earlier in the year. Their wedding was at Worsley. Lancs. where Mr. Gudgeon was then a regular ringer, but unfortunately the bells at that time were at the Loughborough foundry. The band extend to them every happiness in the years ahead.

KIDDERMINSTER AND SYNTHETIC BELLS

THE petition from the Vicar and church wardens of St. John's Church, Kidderminster for a faculty for the installation of 'synthetic' bells at their church was heard by the Chancellor of Worcester Diocese, Mr. E. T. S. Boydell, at a Consistory Court held at Worcester or: July 23rd. The hearing was adjourned, after lasting nearly three hours, the Chancellor stating that he would only grant a faculty in the most exceptional circumstances.

The Chancellor said that although there was no formal appearance in opposition to the petition. it had not secured the approval of the Diocesan Advisory Committee or the Central Council for the Care of Churches.

Ald. F. C. Adams. who represented St. John Church, said the parishioners looked forward with considerable excitement and anticipation to the installation of recorded bells as a gift from their benefactor. Sir George Eddy. who would defray the cost as an act of thankoffering for reaching his $82 n$ n birthday. Continuing he said the tower and steeple were part of the original church built in 1840. It only had $9-12$ inch brickwork. and. in the opinion of architects. was not strong enough to take a ring of bells capable of being swung.

The parishioners would like such bells but cannot afford to have the steeple strengthened or rebuilt." said Ald. Adams. - The tower is all right for the one existing large bell and the small ting-tang. We cannot find a bellringer to ring the large bell and it is only being tolled for services on Sunday by a youth who charges 5 s . to perform that service.

MOURNFUL SOUND

I think it is a most mournful sound-as if someone were being buried rather than calling people to church. The worst effect is on patients in Blakebrook Hospital, the grounds of which are on the opposite side of Bewdley Road. I should think anything would be better for them than this mournful tolling.

Kidderminster has probably never experienced such unparalleled prosperity as the town enjoys at the present time. and people are less prepared than they used to be to take on voluntary jobs such as bellringing or do anything of that nature. The churches even find it difficult to get male choristers.'
The speaker pointed out that the Parish Church of St. Mary and All Saints had an excellent ring of 12 bells. which had been virtually idle for years until Sir George Eddy arranged for them to be electrically operated and had chimes installed. The only time the bells were rung by hand was when teams of visiting bellringers came along. usually on Saturday afternoons.
Referring to the argument that synthetic hells were something unworthy in the sight of God. Ald. Adams said if that were accepted it would be rather like saying that a church which could not afford an organ ought nol to have a harmonium!

' NEXT BEST THING

He hoped that the stage had not been reached at which the Church of England ceased to move with the times, and he suggested that the outcry against recorded bells was 'notional rather than rational.' He realised that the Church Assembly deprecated the introduction of recorded bells. but said it would be wrong to deprive St. John's of 'the next hest thing to rea! bells.
The Chancellor: I shall not hold myself bound by anything said by the Church Assembly or the Council for the Care of Churches. and I don't slways accept the advice of the diocesan committee, grateful though I am to receive it.

Answering the bellringers objection that gramophone bells would deprive them of the pleasures of campanology. Ald. Adams said that was not the case in Kidderminster because bells could only be rung there when a band was collected from all parts of the diocese.
When the Chancellor suggested that gramophone bells could be an awful nuisance. Ald. Adams said there was the mechanical safeguard of volume control: if there were a complaint it was only a question of turning a knob to get it as quiet as one wished. He asked the Chancellor to allow the prayer in this petition.

RETROGRADE STEP

Aling
The Chancellor read a letter he had received from the Worcestershire Changeringing Association which criticised the proposed installation of recorded bells as 'a retrograde step,' and stated: 'Calling for no human endeavour, they can only be described as an unworthy sham.
The Association claimed that its view that recorded bells were 'wrong in principle 'was shared by most church organisations. but the Chancellor said he would not attach nearly as much weight to the bellringers objections as if they had appeared in person.
Sir George Eddy supporting the petition. said he did so purely on humanitarian grounds.

To support his contention that there were bellringers to be had in Kidderminster, Sir George read a letter from Mr. Keith Salter, who was captain of the former St. Mary's band of ringers.

NO RECRUITS

The question of finding bellringers is a sore one with me,' wrote Mr. Salter. "For 15 years I tried to keep St. Mary's bells going with new recruits, but none stayed long enough to be any use, and I have given up any idea of recruiting a band again.'
Sir George told the Cbancellor that as a result of the electrical apparatus installed at St. Mary's the bells there were ringing within a matter of minutes of the recent birth of the new Prince, because they only had to be switched on.

The Chancellor: One of the criticisms made is that a gramophone apparatus is often used for wholly inappropriate recordings or passages of music.

Sir George: We can give an absolute guarantee that nothing of the sort would occur at St. John's.
Preb. S. F. Linsley, as patron of St. John's living. said he wholeheartedly supported the innovation.

NO LOCAL OBJECTION

The Rev. W. A. Trippass. Vicar of St John's. said a similar apparatus at St. Michael's Church. Stourport. was installed when he was Vicar in 1938. Notices had been posted or the church doors at St. John's to ascertain if there were any objectors. and there had not been any.
Mr. W. A. Greenway, of Messrs. Godwin. Clist and Greenway, architects, reported that he had inspected the tower at St. John's and it would be unwise to install proper bells. The walls of the tower were only 9 inches and considerable strengthening would have to be done. The room was 11 feet by 11 feet and there would be considerable vibration if bells were installed. He estimated that a considerable sum of money would have to be spent to make the belfry suitable for a small ring of bells.

The Chancellor, in summing up, mentioned several parishes where similar bells were functioning, but said he was not satisfied in his mind that in this case every avenue had been explored in regard to the installation of church bells.
The cost of installing bells and strengthening the tower would be considerable but he would like the Parochial Church Council to investigate the matter still further.
At one church the 'Messiah had been rendered on Christmas morning, with the recording of a marriage service. and objection had been taken to this.
Mr. F. C. Adams after consultation, agreed to the deferment sine die, and the Chancellor said he would sit again if the occasion arose.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

North East District

A meeting of the North East District was held at Southwold. on July 23 rd . The attendance was low in the afternoon perhaps because of a meeting on the same day in the next district. Thanks to our friends from over the border and some Sheffield ringers staying at Lowestoft, more varied ringing was obtained in the evening ranging from rounds to Cambridge Major and Double Norwich Court Bob Major
The service was taken by Canon A. D. Thompson. of Walberswick and Blythburgh. who quoted in his sermon the story of the spider in the roof of the cow shed. The spider came down onto the floor and cast away his thread which would have taken him back up to ihe roof. In consequence he was trodden on by the cows, the moral being that we must not give up our bell ropes if we are to survive.
After tea the chair was taken by Mr. P. Bedford. who gave a warm welcome to all present. The district secretary, Mr. A. R. Bridges. announced that the proposed outing $t 0$ Lincolnshire had been cancelled owing to lack of support-a great pity after all the preparations.

The election of new members shows that youth is in the fore-Vernon Bedford. John Marjoram. David Blomfield. Terence Page. Paul Muttitt and Marion Branch were ratified as junior members. Mr. Robert Preston. of Nottingham. and Mr. John Aire were ratified non-resident life members. John R. Knights was also elected a junior member and Mr. G. R. Weshy, of Saxmundham. an honorary member.

Mr. John Blythe. general secretary and treasurer. said that in selecting the place of the next meeting something would need to be done at a higner level to avoid a clashing of dates. The district secretary said that the dates for 1960 were chosen in January and had been published in "The Ringing World. but little notice appeared to have been taken. It was agreed that the next meeting be held at Beccles. on October 23nd. with a practice meeting it Wickham Market and Marlesford on September 17 th. The district secretary gave notice that as he was now working at the British Legion Hospital. Nayland. it would be wise for the District to elect a new secretary as he would be moving to Nayland at the end of August, but was willing to carry on until the end of the year. Mr. P. Bedford thanked the secretary for all he had done for the District, and said that they could not have had a more keen and hard working member and he would be greatly missed. He also thanked the Vicar. Canon A. D. Thompson. the organist and Mr, R. S. Payne for arranging the meeting.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SPLIT MIND FOR HANDBELL

RINGING
Dear Sir.-I ant pleased that some correspondence has resulted from the series Alphahet for Beginners. Whilst most of mine in reply could be dealt with at the conclusion of the series. I feel that the Handbells article is more of a current matter.
I acknowledge with appreciation the references of Peter J. Staniforth. but he calls for other handbell bands to make a reply.
So, in answer to F. I. and E. L. Hairs. my last sentence in the article starts. Much more can be read in. ... Change Ringing on Handbells. If they would open page four of this booklet they will see how much I have quoted. On my part. I considered I had sufficient licence to use the words. The experts say when it is known that the authors of the offending words must have been approved and accepted by the Central Council as being amongst the leading handbell ringers of the time (1949). before members of that body voted and agreed to expend money in the printing and distribution of the booklet. As regards what 1 could have explained under the letter ' $E$. the suggestion is so extravagant that I would rather not have made any such attempt! The last paragraph of this letter is just not appreciated or understood by me. and I consider it to be irrelevant.-Yours faithfully.

RINGERS' SERVICE AT WORCESTER CATHEDRAL

Dear Sir.-The report in July 29th • Ringing World of the Ringers Sunday. at Portsmouth Cathedral. prompted me to write about similar service which we held at Worcester Cathedral on July 3rd
As with the Portsmouth service. ours also was a great success. The service was combined with the 6.30 Evensong and was previously announced in the Cathedral notices and the local press. Visitors were invited to the tower and ringing commenced half-an-hour early at 5 oclock. The number of people who took the opportunity of the visit greatly exceeded our expectations: in fact we were cyerwhelmed since at least two hundred people must have ascended the tower. They were conducted to both the ringing chamber and the bell chamber and were given a few words of explanation. Also present were the Dean. the Very Rev. R. L. P. Milhurn. and several members of the chapter and their families.

During the service which followed, the first lesson was read by one of the ringers and the Dean offered prayers for the Cathedral Guild. It had been hoped that the address would be given by the Rev. Albert Webb. Chaplain of the Worcestershire Association. and a kcen ringer. Unfortunately. he was not able to be present. the address therefore being given by Bishop C. E. Stuart. a member of the Chapter and a great friend of ringers.
Afterward: the Dean said how pleased the was with the success of the occasion and which we hope will become an annual event for the Cathedral Guild of Ringers. Certainly. the enthusiasm and interest shown was in marked contrast to the controversy in the local rress last November after a peal of Stedman Cinques.-Yours faithfully.

ST. MARTIN'S, YORK

Dear Sir.-The ring of eight bells of this church was described in your issue. dated April 23 rd. 1954. They were cast in the York foundry of Edward Sellers, in 1729-30, and not by Rudhall. as stated by Mr. J. W. Clarke. After the fire which destroyed the church in the blitz of 1942 the bells were placed in the south aisle. the roof of which remained. Access could only be obtained through the south door which was kept locked or by climbing through a window.
Several bells were broken and the others were cracked in the fire. All that now remains is the tenor ( 15 cwt .) and the crowns of four other bells. It is evident the thieves broke the bells up into small pieces before removal.

A start has now been made with the work of restoration of the lower and of the south aisle which is to be a chapel-of-ease. The site of nave and north aisle is to be cleared and laid out as a rest garden.

At one time it was thought it would be possible to restore the bells as a ringing peal but money is not now available and the latest plan is 10 install a frame for a ring but with only one bell for the time being. No doubt the value of some of the bell metal would have gone towards the cost of the new frame.

The church is in the main shopping street of the city and the church authorities could have sold the site for a six figure sum but instead decided on a scheme of restoration which would preserve for posterity a bit of old York, and a riverside landmark. and at the same time satisfy the requirements of the War Damage Commissioners.
The York Minster Society rang a peal of Kent T.B. on the bells in 1888, but the bells had not been rung during this century. However. I remember hearing them being chimed to hymn tunes some 25 years ago.-Yours sincerely.

HAROLD WALKER
Clifton, York

Dear Sir.-With reference to Mr: J. W. Clarke's letter in The Ringing World of July 29th. may I point out that the details he gives are incorrect. Five of the eight bells were cast by Edward Sellers, at his foundry in Jubbergate. York. in 1729 . and were the gift of as Mr. William Thompson. In 1730 Sellers added two treble bells. and at the same time recast the old tenor. The new trebles were provided by the Minster ringers and friends. at a cost of $£ 5910$ s.

Thus there is no question of their being Rudhall bells
I saw these bells the morning after the hlitz: four were whole and the remainder in pieces. All the bells were inscribed and hung in three tiers before they were destroyed. -Yours faithfully.

COVENTRY GUILD

Dar Sir.-The recent article by Mr. Henry Allen is interesting, but somewhat inaccurate. The founding of the Warwickshire Guild did not take place as he describes. The simple story is that in 1907. whilst I was living in Coventry. I wrote a letter to the Bell News. suggesting the formation of a Guild 10 cover the county of Warwickshire. This suggestion was taken up emhusiastically by Hervey Reeves, the editor. and, encouraged by this. I toured the county (on a bicycle) to test reactions and work up interest.

Very little interest or help came from the town of Warwick. whilst Rugby was most enthusiastic, and Nuneaton definitely hostile. At Rugby. Arthur L. Coleman was tower secretary. I had many conferences with him. and we arranged a meeting at the Dale Temperance Hotel. Warwick. in 1907. when the new Guild was formed. In order to capture a little support from Warwick. we elected Mr. E. H. Adams as first Master.
Mr. Allen seems to have got the facts mixed. The Mr. Matthews he mentions was John D. Matthews, who was not working for Messrs. Mears. He was a linotype operator, engaged on The Warwick and Leamington Chronicle. Later. he became Mzster of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. Mr. A. L. Coleman was elected first secretary of the new Guild. and in a year or so Nuneaton became a strong centre of ringing activity in Warwick. shire. Those two great ringers. Harry Argyle and Tom Chapman, proved to be staunch supporters. Warwick became more co-operative. and Rugby was making rapid progress with Surprise methods under Joe Fenton.
In 1908 the Guild rang its first peal at Stoke-in-Coventry-which I had the honour to conduct. Mr. Adams called the first peal of Bob Major. at Bedworth. a little later. The arrival of a young curate at Shottery (Rev. C. C. Cox). gave a great fillip to the new Guild's activities-and he took part in several of its first performances. conducting Treble Bob Major and Stedman Caters. He was closely followed by Adolphus Roberts and Frank Pervin. About 1910 my work took me away from Coventry-and on leaving I was presented with a magnificent tea service by the Guild, at the Dale Temperance Hotel. Warwick. The whole story can be read up in the columns of the old. Bell News.-Yours sincerely. J. FRANK SMALLWOOD.

BELTON, ISLE OF AXHOLME

Dear Sir.-In the article on points from recent peals. by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead. which appeared in 'The Ringing World' on July 29 th. it states that the peal at Belton. with the footnote that reads. First on the bells which have been augmented from 4 to $6^{\circ}$ cannot be claimed as first. The reason given is that Dove gives Belton as a 5 bell tower and that a peal was rung on these bells in 1911.
I would like to point out that Lincolnshire has two Beltons, one near Grantham, which is the one that Dove gives as a five oell tower and still has five bells, the other Belton is in the Iste of Axholme and is about 16 miles east of Doncaster. Besides these two Beltons there is a Belton. Rutland. and a Belton near Great Yarmouth.

The Belton. Isle of Axholme. had its four bells tunad. quarter lurned, and rehung on ball bearings in a new steel frame in 1955. hy Taylor's. of Loughborough. In October, 1959 two new trebles were added to complete a ring of six. The first peal on these bells: was in January, 1960. being a peal of Minor in seven methinds. conducted by George E. Feirn. Since then two more peals have been rung, one in May and one in June. making a total of three. Yours faithfully.
(Ringer. Belion. Isle of Axholme).

OBITUARY

MR. C. H. WOODBERRY

North Worcestershire has lost a well known ringer in the person of Mr. Charles Henry Woodiarry, whose death occurred on July 13 th . at the age of 75

He learned 10 ring under h:s father, the late Mr. John Woodberry, at the beginning of the century, in Wolverley, near Kidderminster, and was a member of the Kidderminster band for nearly forty years until the ban during the war years put a stop to his ringing activities: After the war. chiefly due to his business demands, he never really got going again although. until the last two or three years. he was still turnirg up at meetings. and practices in various rarts of North Worcestershire. whenever he was able to do so.

His peal io:al for the Worcestershire Association was 77 . of which he had conducted 21. Datails of his peals fer other Associations are not at present available.

He represented the Worcestershire Association on the Central Council from 1936 uatil 1944. and was also a pas: Master of the Dudley and District Guild.

The funeral was at Wolverley, on July 16 th and the spacious church was filled almost to capacity. The very beautiful floral tributes numbered over seventy.

The sfx bells were rung half-muffled by members of the Association, who were among his oldest friends, and the pre-service ringing included the 'whole-pull and stand, while the cortege was approaching the church. After the interment handbells were rung over the grave by John Lloyd. Clifford Skidmore and Bernard Ashford. followed by further ringing on the tower bells.

Charlie.' as he was familiarly known, will iong be remembered for his invariable good loumour. his fund of anecdote in connection with many bygone ringing 'characters' and his .Quaker Touches. In these, to quote Charlie, anyone who could do so called a hob 'when he felt like it," after which. upon a given signal. Charlie would proceed to call the bells round in a surprisingly short space. He could do this cqually well in Plain Bob. Grandsire or Stedman, although the former sometimes took a little longer if someone had parted the tenors for him.

MR. ALBERT E. LOCK  AN APPRECIATION

To the memory of Albert E. Lock, of Abingdon, the following members of the Sutton Courtney. Berkshire. band rang a halfmufled quarter peal of 1.260 Grandsire Doubles: Walter Webb 1. John Barnes (conductor) 2. George Allam 3. John Greenwood 4. Willian Hewes 5. Gcoffrey Leyland 6.

This tribute was fittingly rung on July 12 th. in the beautiful village where Albert Lock was born. baptised and lived for several years. and it was on these bells that he learned to ring. Amongst us there are ringers who. for one reason or another. seldom ring at any tower but their own. but Albert Lock was far from being one of these; his evenings were spent visiting villages in the neighbourhood and giving a hand io struggling bands. imparting to them instruction and encouragement.

Sutton Courtney was one such place where ringers have benefited from his help. not only earlier in the century but more recently. for two years ago when the local branch of the Church of England Men's Society provided a number of recruits to ring Albert Lock paid occasional visits to help with instruction. In fact only a few weeks prior to his death. at the age of 81 years. he was ringing the fifth of this not-so-easy-going ring to Plain Bob Minor, thus enabling the band to progress from Doubles to Minor. He was indeed a great help to us in Sutton Courtney and we were never tired of his endless supply of stories related in "The Swan." after practice:. In Abingdon, where one of the Sutton ringers. Mr. Armitage, has his office. Mr. Lock was a frequent visitor and here too his discussions on ringing and ringers will be missed

Mr. Lock will be greatly missed: we are very grateful for the assistance and encouragement we have received from him and we are proud and pleased to have shared his company. May he rest in peace.
'THE Archdeacon of Surrey (the Ven. A. J de C. Studdert) is here seen dedicating the recast bells of St . Michael's. Aldershot, on July 16th. With the Archdeacon is the Vicar, the Rev. T. H. Dart. The captain of the ringers. Major F. J. Bragg, stands on the left and next to him is Mr. J. P. Fidler, the representative of the founders, Messrs. John Taylor and Co.

The rededication service began with the singing of Compline. by members of the local chapter of the Guild of Servers. During the singing of Psalm 150 the churchwardens led the clergy to the bell tower where they were met by Major Bragg. who has been a ringer for 40 years.
The founders' 'representative then handed the rope of the tenor bell to Mr. F. G Lesiter, churchwarden, who in turn handed it to the Arclideacon. After the dedicatory prayers the Archdeacon in turn handed the rope to the Vicar.
As the clergy returned to their places the new bells were rung. In his sermon the Archdeacon spoke of the place of bells in Church worship.
July 16 th was observed at St. Michael's as a gift day for the bells. the Vicar standing at the church gate to receive the offering of parishioners. These and the collection at the service amounted to over $£ 70$. A welcome surprise for the Vicar was a promise of $£ 50$. a final gesture, which completely liquidated the cost of "ecasting.
After the service there was further ringing. the locai band being joined by ringers from Farnham and neighbouring churches. [Illustration by courtesy of . The Aldershot

MR. PETER CROOK IN CANADA

Dear Sir,-During my flight over Canadx I had to change places at Calgary. and whilst waiting for the next. I rang up Miss Judy Midgley, of Calgary. Unfortunately she had another engagement I would have enjoyed meeting her and seeing the new ring of eight in that town.
It is my intention to visit Victoria and Vancouver, but the weather here at present is not suitable for ringing. Wednesday, this week, was 100 degrees, Thursday 99. It has not beell below 90 in the day time since I arrived on June 28th. I am about I2 hours journey by train or bus and about one hour by air.

I had a request to visit a former Lancashire woman. Mrs. Ellen McTaggart. nee Ogden. and formerly of Moorside. Oldham. Lanc's. What an interesting woman she is! A highly trained nurse, now retired, she has spent the last 47 years moving around Canada. She has worked in many hospitals but she had a great love for the wild. north places beyond the railways, where she had to travel on horseback. sometimes away from home for many days.

When I mentioned that I was a ringer from Larcashire and that I knew her brother. John. tears filled her eyes. she was so overcome. She informed me that when her two brothers began to learn to ring at St. Thomas Church. Moorside. Oldham. Lancs. she also learned to handle a bell. and her one desire now is to hear those bells again. She is 77 years of age and not well. and thinks she could not stand the long journey in her present state of health.-Yours faithfully.

PETER CROOK.

BAKEWELL BELLS RESTORATION

After a silence of five months. the bells of Bakewell. Derbyshire. are ringing again. Examination earlier in the year had disclosed that the wooden headstocks were rotting and it was decided to replace them with steel ones. The bells have now been rehung. with modern fittings and the bells quarter turned. The result is very satisfactory and Bakewell folk may feel justly proud of their bells. The work has been carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co.. of Loughborough. Many congratulations were received by Mr. Arthur Fidler, who carried out the restoration.
On Saturday. July 30th. a large and representative hody of ringers from all parts of the county attended a brief reconsecration service in the belfry, which was conducted by the Vicar of Bakewell. the Rt. Rev. G. Sinker. Assistant Bishop of Derby. After the prayers the local band raised the bells and rang the first touch of 360 Bob Minor with two bells covering. Then the visitors took over the inging and touches in methods from Grandsire to London. Bristol and Spliced Surprise were rung. Generous refreshments were provided in the Parish Hall. and a happy time was enjoyed by all present. Ringing throughout the day was organised by Mr. J. F. Smallwood. Messrs. John Taylor and Co. were represented by Mr. J. Fidler.
Since the break up of the old Midland Counties Association. Bakewell ringing has not been so prominent as it was, but it is hoped that now the bells are restored the local company will become participants in the activities of the Derbyshire Association

BOLSOVER RINGERS VISIT LIVERPOOL

In accordance with tradition, one of the hottest days of the year. June 25th. Was chosen for the annual outing of Bolsover ringers. with Liverpool as the objective.
At the first tower. Lymm. Cheshire. the heavy bells presented some difficulty and although the striking was not up to the recognised standard another record was created by ringing a touch of Stedman Triples. with Bolsover ringers in the band. This was mainly due to the presence of 'Jafus.' who stayed two nights in Bolsover to ensure heing available for the outing. Under his influence several of the Bolsover hand have been temporarily converted to Stedman and one shudders to think what John Flint would have said if he had heard the tenor not being turned in. The light eight at Halewood were a welcome change after Lymm.
A substantial lunch was enjoyed in very comfort::ble conditions at the Strand Hotel. Liverpool. and the coach then conveyed the whole party to Liverpool Cathedral. Ringing had been arranged for a special service and Mr. J. Ridyard kindly agreed to allow members of the party to join the Cathedral ringers for a short time. It is obvious that considerable practice is needed to enable ringers to perform satisfactorily under the existing conditions at the Cathedral but those who rang were very grateful for the opportunity and the experience. The non-ringers were much impressed by the grandeur of the huilding. Several members of the party took advantage of an invitation to ring for a wedding at St. Nicholas
The bost ringing of the day came at Woolton. in which several young ringers of the local hand joined in. The interior of the church was really beautiful and the young local ringers were obviously very proud of their bells.
High tea was taken at Prescot. at which the party were joined by Mr. Hesketh (junior) and Mr. Mawdsley, who had kindly arranged for evening ringing at the Parish Church. During the meal Mr. H. T. Rooke expressed the thanks of the party to Mr. A. B. Cooper for organising the outing. A short break was made for Evensong, said by the Senior Curate of Prescol. The bells at Prescot proved to be in rather a rough condition and much energy was required to strike the heavy end.

AUNIQUE event took place at the Parish Church of St. Mary. West Malling. on July 2nd. Thought to be the first by such a distinguished trand of one Association, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by eight members of the K.C.A.. all of whom have been members for 50 years or more.
Mr. Louis Head conducted and called Holt's Original. from No. 7. He has now called this particular composition 40 times and has rung 107 peals for the Association.
Mr. Edwin Barnett. of Crayford. rang the treble. this peal being his 590 th. No. 2 was in the hands of Mr. Joseph E. Grensted. who records 108 peals and was the oldest at 78 years. He rings at Borden. Sittingbourne.
Next on the third was Mr. Thomas E. Sone, of Paddock Wood. who is well known in ringing circles and is the member of the band with most peals to his credit (645).
Mr. Percy J. Spice, captain of Bromley, has rung 187 peals and rang number 4
The fifth engaged Mr. Frederic S. Macey. who journeyed from Sutton Valence. Although he has no bells in his home church he has rung 85 peals.

Mr. Stanley. B. Dobbie. captain of St . Michael's. Sittingbourne. chose the sixth bell for the peal. He is unable to quote the exact number he has rung. but can confidently speak of 300 plus.

Mr. Charles E. J. Norris travelled from Chatham. where he is captain of St. Mary's. He is proud of having rung in 187 peals. On Saturday he rang the 12 cwi . tenor.

The time taken was 3 hours 7 minutes and waiting to congratulate the baud were the general secretary. Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher. the local captain. Mr. Peter Carter. and members of his band-Miss P. Walter and Mr. K. Wallis. Mr. R. T. Sills. district secretary, was in attendance before the commencement.
A splendid tea. befitting the occasion. was provided by Mr. Peter Carter and family at their home. During the meal it was unanimously agreed to dedicate the peal to the memory of the late F. M. Mitchell. of Milton-next-Gravesend. for 17 years general secretary of the Kent County Association. It is hoped to erect a peal board in West Malling tower to commemorate the occasion.
The paal was to have taken place at St . Nicholas'. Linton. but had to be transferred owing to illness adjacent to the church. Itllustration by courtesy of 'Kent Messenger.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

The third quarterly meeting of the Ashford District was held jointly with the Kent branch of the Ladies' Guild at Cheriton on July 23 rd . The Association service was conducted by the Vicar. the Rev. Cyril Munt. who has recently been inducted to the living after the somewhat stimulating experience of being curate for five years to the flock which numbers Mr. Pat Cannon among its company. Mr. W. Chandler. who in addition to heing captain of the Cheriton ringers is also choir master, was at the organ. The choir was in attendance. The visitors enjoyed an excellent teh. ini the nearby school.
Al the business meeting the secretary gave the apologies of Mr. Tom Cullingworth, which stated this was the first meeting Mr. Cullingworth had missed since the war.
Speaking on behalf of the district. Mr. J. R. Cooper extended a cordial welcome to the Ladies' Guild. Mrs. Mitchell responded. Mr. Cooper also said how pleased members were that the Rev. C. Munt. a competent changeringer. has now returned to the district as priest-in-charge of churches which contain such fine rings as St. Martin's, Cheriton, and St. Nicholas: Newington.
After the votes of thanks the gentlemen adjourned to the tower. where the ladies joined them after completing their own deliberations.

Lewisham District

Fifty members and friends attended the Lewisham District quarterly mecting at Downe on July 23 rd. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. L. G. Vedy). Mr. M. Pound. a member of the local band. played the organ and the lesson was read by Mr. E. Barnett.
After tea at the business meeting 17 new members were elected. This number included nine Downe ringers., thus bringing the tower back in union with the Association. The Vicar, while fulfilling the office of chairman. expressed sincere thanks to Mr. A. S. Richards and the West Wickham ringers for their help in making this possible.
Ringing, which ranged from rounds to Surprise. was under the leadership of Mr. 1. H. Oram. District Ringing Master.

ESSEX RINGERS' PEAL TOUR IN DERBYSHIRE

RRGANISED by Mr. Joe Roast a successful peal tour in Derbyshire started from Chelmsford on June lith. during which seven peals were scored out of eight attempts (see page 442). Headquarters for the week was the Temple Hotel. Matlock Bank. The failure was Cornwall Surprise at the Bell Foundry after two hours when one of the band became faint and had to set up his hell.
Arriving at headquarters in time for dinner, this was followed by a welcome to Derbyshire by Mr. Burley Morris. the genial secretary of the Derbyshire Association. and Messrs. Bullen, Smallwood and Woolley Sunday was a quiet day with ringing at St. Giles'. Matlock. for morning service and sightsceing in the afternoon and ringing Grandsire Doubles with extremes at Ilam. The great ouslaught started on Monday with ringing at Wirksworth. Youlgreave and Great Longstone, before lunch at Bakewell.

KEEPING UP MORALE

The peal attempt was at Tideswell, justly termed - The Cathedral of the Peak
Having lost the first peal of the tour it was cssential to the morale of the party that we should be successful here. Consequently Geoff kept his tie on-- Never rung a peal without one - and Peter wore his bright red shirt- Never lost a peal in it -and John wore a look of profound wisdom! Anyway. the Juck of the red shirt and the tie held and John kept a watchful eye on the procecdings. and Bristol was brought round. the lirst peal on the bells for many years.

It was on the programme to visit Alfreton on Tuesday morning. but due to a recent mishap there we were unable to ring, and so our first stop at Ripley was extended and a local coftec shop well patronised. Although the scenery in the area is not very inspiring. llkeston bells are well worth a visit and we spent a pleasant hour on them hefore lunch.
In the afternoon the non-pealers heard a real of l.ondon Minor start off at a steady pace at Sandiacrc, hefore skirting Nottingham to ring on the quiet little five at Farnsfield. The rest of the afternoon was spent exploring the glorious wooded countryside at Clumber. and in the Dukeries, and although we did not catch a glimpse of the legendary : shadowy man that winds a shadowy horn. we did find a tea shop that may well have been run by his descendants!
The successful pealers enjoyed a bachelors tea-and helped with the day's washing up-at the Vicarage Ali meeting logether at West Hallam later. we rang a few short, touche; and the evening conclurled with a very crosscountry tour to Matlock!
After ringing at Crich. on Wednesday morning, we took the road through Chatsworth Pask to Hathersage. where Little John is buried in the church vard, and thence to Eyum. tragically famous as the Plague Village The easy going six bells here were put to good use before partaking of lunch at Grindleford and then the party split up for the afternoon

JAFUS WAS LISTENING

One group. dedicated to the art. scorned the paths of idleness and returned to the Temple where John officiated in a peal of Plain Bob Major, on handbells. The remainder of the party admired the view from The Surprise. visited the Derwent and Ladybower Reservoir. wandered through Edale in the High Peak and came over Rushup Edge. and e.icthually all mut again at Darley Dale in the evening to ring a peal of London. consctous of the keen car of Jafus, who aficruads reprimanded the last lead defaulter

On Thursday we visited Belper. Dufticid. and Ashbourne. where the bells are rung from the crossing. withn some seventy feet of springy iopes. Burley Morris showed us how to ring these tricky bells and a touch of four spliced was successfully accomplished.

In the afternoon a peal in fourteen Surprise Minor methods was rung on an excellent little six at Brassington, while those not engaged in the ringing walked in Dovedale. At Bradbourne (another good six in a fine Norman tower) we were met by the churchwarden. who did a brisk trade in draw tickets in aid of the local church heating and roof repair fund.
A good start was made on Friday, at Ashover. probably the best eight of the week. then to North Wingfield. and afterwards to the famous ten under the crooked spire at Chesterfield. Unfortunately. due to a misLnderstanding. there was no one to unlock the tower door for us. but our dampened spirits were revived when a notice of Friday evening practice was discoveled and we decided then to return later.

A GALA PERFORMANCE

The peal attempt in the afternoon was at Clay Cross-fifty-six Minor methods-the new boy of the multi-minor band very capahly ringing the third without a stay. Many ringers have remarked upon the rather unusual style of Egglestone, and during the week we had occasionally scen the deft flick of the rope sending the sally across the rope circle. and the neat side step. but here at Clay Cross. his fellow peal ringers were treated to a gala Ferformance-the full Quasimodo routine. II was all there. complete with the dreadful facial contortions-the step dance. the upturned tail end. the rope circling the body. the truculent flourish of the sally, and the haymaker sweep. Despite all this an excellent jcal was rung. with the tenor bell always in place-a masterly performance!

The non-pealers spent a restful afternoon in the grounds of Chatsworth House. joining together after tea to ring on the excellent eight at the recently fire gutted church at Bolsover. Later in the evening we returned to the Chesterfield practice and we were very pleased to have the opportunity to ring on the fine ten.
Our last full day was spent in the High Peak area. Starting off at Buxton. we rang on the merry little eight Fairfield. and then proceeded to Castleton. where we found an eight of most peculiar tone.
Geoff. who was wearing an open-necked shirt. hid purchased a lie in Buxton espectally for the afternoon peal attempt, and so a peal of Stedman Triples was successfully brought round. at Hope

Canon Hooley. who admitted knowing nothing of change ringing. nevertheless proved to have a very good ear for picking out the changes. He had been cutting grass in the churchyard throughout the peal. and he had noted that we rang three 'sets' of changes. and then changed places. each 'set consisting of sixteen notes and then a pause!

A high tea at the Peveril Restaurant. in Castleton. followed. and an excursion then made 10 the Winnats to climb the steep cliffs of the gorge.
Back at the Temple later in the evening the handhells were put to work again and ringing ranged from Minor on the 'ragged' six. 20 touches of Stedman Triples. Bristol and Grandsire Caters.
Sunday morning dawned bright and clear and after pausing for a few group photographs outside the Temple we were off to Derby Cathedral. where a 'bobbed' course of Grandsire Caters concluded the ringing side of the lour and we turned homewards.
Our thanks are extended to the local secretaries. Mr. Morris and Mr. Taylor. whose co-operation and advice in the planning of the tour ensured that all went smoothly. to all the incumbents and ringers who met us and welcomed us to their towers. Io our navigators and drivers. and particularly to Joc Roast. the hard-working organiser-long may he lead us to fresh fields and pastures new.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

The Mansfield District meeting at Mansfield Woodhouse. on July 16th. was attended by 28 ringers representing nine towers. The Rev. R. S. Bennett (Vicar) conducted a short service and local ladies provided an excellent tea in the Turner Memorial Hall.
The Vicar presided at the business meeting when a silent tribute was paid to Mr. H Prout formerly of Warsop. who died the previous Monday, at Salisbury. during a ringing practice. Later. Mr. H. T. Rooke paid a tribute to his memory mentioning his enthusiasm towards ringing and his strict punctuality whatever the occasion.

The Rev. H. Pettinger. of Mansfield, was elected a ringing member and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Kirkby-in-Ashfield, on September 24th. After the customary votes of thanks, ringing was continued until 9 p.m. in a wide variety of methods, ranging from rounds to London Surprise

'RING OUT THE FALSE, RING IN THE TRUE,

THE 14th report of the Central Council for the Care of Churches, entitled 'Both Old and New' (Church House Bookshop, Great Smith Street, S.W.1; 3s. 6d., by post 4s.), indicates from its title the twofold function of the Council. The more familiar aspect of their work is the preservation of ancient churches, their fittings and furnishings, but they are called upon to encourage the architect and artist of today to give of their best in the service of the Church.

Our Central Council of Church Bellringers have a very firm ally in 'the Four C's' with regard to mechanical devices to simulate bell music. An article, 'Ring out the False, ring in the True,' sets out the strong condemnation of artificial bell devices. Their view is 'To use a potentially great source of new musical expression to provide an inferior substitute for an existing instrument with its own long history of development is a distasteful misapplication of a gift of God.'

The use of something false in connection with worship is what is disturbing,' continues the writer. 'The tradition of calling people to prayer by the ringing of a bell is a very ancient one, and since the art of change-ringing has developed, two distinct factors have become involved: the music of the bells and the offering of their personal service by a band of ringers.

- The Church is dependent on the goodwill of ringers throughout the country, a very close-knit fraternity. They most strongly deprecate these mechanical simulations (electronic or gramophone type). As, save in the case of a few cathedrals, they are all volunteers, and have therefore no selfish interests to serve or safeguard, there seems good reason both to give weight to their condemnation of these substitutes on musical grounds and to avoid alienating their sympathies, for the sake of the majority of towers in which real bells still need ringers.'

Much has been made of the economic factor in regard to these installations. The writer points out that the life of electronic apparatus is very limited and depreciates, and maintenance (including the use of electricity) must be reckoned with. 'The life of a well-cast bell will be anything up to six centuries: a major overhaul of framework, wheels and headstocks and quarter-turning of bells will be needed only once a century at most. and running repairs, and maintenance can be done by the ringers themselves.' Personally. we think major overhauls of bells are needed more frequently than once a century. At present we have only 19 th century installations to base our conclusions on, but the great advances in the bell-founding art and the hanging of bells in recent years encourages one to think that the writer's comments in the report are not an overstatement.

On the attitude of the general public to bells, the report states: 'While orthodox ringing is generally protected from complaints against it as constituting a public nuisance, by its long establishment as a national tradition linked to custom, literature and convention, as well as to religion. and also as the recognised pastime of a group of members of the local community, mechanical devices cannot expect the same toleration. They really deserve no more indulgence from the public than the neighbour's over-loud radio, or the street loudspeakers of election campaigns. If their use leads to applications for injunctions against mechanical substitute bells, it may then be a short step to objection being sustained against real bells.'
The article is equally severe on gramophone bells, and points out that there is a temptation to misuse this type of apparatus by employing it for unsuitable purposes. A London church aroused some criticism by broadcasting the royal wedding service over the house-tops: a Gloucestershire church played a chorus from ' Messiah 'at midnight to welcome the birth of Prince Charles.

In regard to churches that have no tower. and the provision of a tower and a ring of bells is out of the question on financial grounds, the writer points out that the only possible alternative is some kind of artificial bell apparatus. In one modern church the gable roof from a porch has been removed and a small tower built above it to contain a chime of bells operated from a manual keyboard. This chime of eight bells has a tenor weighing 4 cwt . and having a diameter of 2 ft . 3in., and in 1957 cost $£ 860$, and the tower approximately another $£ 500$. The solution has given great pleasure locally and the appearance of the church has also been enhanced.

ST. GILES', LINCOLN

After a week of grey skies and heavy showers it was a relief to wake up on July 16th to sunshine and a clear blue sky. Soon after nine o'clock a coachload of ringers and friends from St. Giles' was speeding gaily along Ermine Street, bound for St. Nicholas Thorne, our first eight of the day. Here ringing, which included Stedman and Cambridge. was curtailed because of a wedding.
We were then bound for Hedon, another eight, over in the East Riding, so during this longer stage of our journey some of the party decided to eat. Unfortunately, the first few bites had no sooner heen taken than the 'bus passed a large field in which 'muck-spreading was going on, and after that the sandwiches seemed to have been penetrated by the smell! At Hedon we were greeted with the news that there was about to be a funeral, which made some of us wonder what next! In the waiting that was necessary before ringing, some seemed to find an attraction down at the 'Station While others preferred just to gaze on the splendour of the church, 'The King of Holderness.' Again our ringing time had to be shortened, but we were able to include a short touch of Spliced Surprise.
A shorter step took us to Patrington and tho Church of St. Patrick, 'The Queen of Holderness, our third eight. Happily, here there was to bo neither funeral nor wedding, but the various hazards of approaching the ringing chamber caused much amusement. For all except the youngest member of the party, who just ducked his head and ran, it was necessary to bend double and waddle along this sort of pig trough in the transept roof. Ringing here ranged from Plain Bob to a touch of London.
From Patrington we travelled to Beveriey, when the intervening journey saw the handbells brought into use, and our youngest. with great determination, showed himself capable of hunting the treble. Tea was first on the programme for Beverley which, in view of the 41 cwt . tenor waiting at the Minster, was essential. It was at the Minster that two of the fairer sex. because of many previous remarks, endeavoured to ring up the tenor. They managed to get it chiming before it was taken from them, hut when up it was found to he wrong side and had to be rung down again! ... Ten minutes later we were able to begin. After ringing, Great John, the hour hell, was viewed with much awe, followed by mistrust whenunexpectedly for some-it began to strike six. and at least one person literally jumped! A walk to the other end of Beverley brought us to the line Church of St. Mary, where we had more 10 -bell ringing, including some Cambridge Royal.

The final tower of the day was Holy Trinity. Kingston-upon-Hull, where the recently-augmented 12 are rung from a well-spaced circle in a spacious ringing chamber. Here Mr. J. A. Freeman called a touch of Stedman Cinques.
The journey home. interrupted by a stop at Goole for the usual 'fish and four,' was coloured by renderings of all the old favourites until we were all too tired to sing any more. When we arrived home it was already Sunday.
Thanks for a successful outing are due to all incumbents, to our guide from Hull, and to Mr. J. L. Millhouse, our organiser.

SELBY AND DISTRICT

A bright, sunny Bank Holiday Monday and seven rings of bells attracted a small convoy of vehicles to Burton-on-Stather in North Lincolnshire, where a perfect octave was soon being rung to some of the best Grandsire Triples of the day. The first tower 'conquered.' we passed on to Winterton, where the bells were already up.
A pienic lunch was enjoyed by the side of the Humber, with some of the ringers watching a yacht passing through a lock. Immediately one of our members decided that he was a better sailor than the owner of the yacht, so shouted instructions on getting the boat out of the lock, thus being called 'Captain Cook' by his fellow ringers for the rest of the day."

Further ringing took place at Barrow-onHumber and both churches at Barton-onHumber where, after 'Captain Cook " managed to kick over a bottle of milk. an excellent tea was appreciated. Filled to capacity with salad, ice cream and cakes, the convoy then set out to Goxhill and Scunthorpe, where further ringing was thoroughly enjoyed before returning home.
Thanks are due to the local bands for the use of their bells, and to the ladies at Barton-on-Humber for a delicious tea. A. G.

CHELSFIELD

Eleven ringers from Chelsfield, West Wickham and Crayford, plus one 'foreigner' from Surrey, had an enjoyable outing in South West Kent and East Sussex on Whit Monday.
Ringing started at Goudhurst (8. ienor 25 cwt ). where the bells were regarded as rather a handful, and these were followed by the five at Ewhurst and the pleasant six at Northiam. After lunch came Beckley and the tunefut anti-clockwise six at Wittersham. More anti-clockwise bells followed at Stone-in-Oxney, to be followed by the lovely eight at Appledore, where members of the Central Council dropped in.

The unique five at Brookland, with its wooden detached campanile, fascinated all. The bells, rung anti-clockwise, are difficult to handle and so loud that the conductor, yelling lustily from the other side of the belfry, could not be heard. Ringing ranged from rounds and call-changes to Cambridge and London Surprise Minor. Incumbents, local ringers and organisers are all sincerely thanked.
D. C. M.

HANDSWORTH, BIRMINGHAM

Ringers from Handsworth, Birmingham. would like to thank most cordially all incumbents and tower captains who allowed the use of their bells for the annual outing held in Shropshire on July 9th. The ringers visited Newport. Hinstock, Market Drayton. Whitchurch, Prees. Hodnet and High Ercall, and all certainly seemed to enjoy themselves.

Members not only of the Kent County Association but the Exercise at targe will BFIFRY desire to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. John Willis. of Folkestone, on their golden wedding anniversary. For more than 60 years Mr. Willis has been a member of the Kent Association and for some years he has guided the Association as chairman and also as a vice-president. The Central Council is also indebted to him for his valuable work on the Biographies Committee.

Congratulations to Mr. John J. L. Gilbert on ringing 100 peals on the bells of St . Mary's. Handsworth. He believes that he is the first person to ring 100 peals in a Yorkshire tower.
The following was overheard in a Northampton belfry on practice night. Instructor to learner: 'No, no-don't do it like that. Look at the captain and do it like him. Oh! no. He's doing it as well.'
A maiden occasion took place at Leverton, Lincolnshire, on August 6th, when the first peal on the bells was rung by a band who had never rung a peal before. The occasion is unique in ringing history. The method rung was Plain Bob Minor.

The Syston District's peal week is becoming an annual event and seven peals to record this week by a young band plus the everyoung Mr. Ernest Morris is no mean achievement. There are those who sat at home and just cooked and the peal band would like to thank the two Mesdames Payne for all the extra meals they provided

Last year at St. Peter's Church, Freshford. near Bath. the Rector. the Rev. Francis Pollard. started to train a band of young ringers. They have now rung regularly, both for morning and evening service, every Sunday, for over a year. Recently, during Matins, the following were officially admitted members of the Parish Guild of Ringers: Miss Susan Axford. Peter Newman, John Axford, Michael Dunning, Duncan Hallam, John H. Green and Gerald Newman. They have also been elected members of the Bath and Wells

On August 4th. to mark the occasion of the 60th birthday of H.M. the Queen Mother. the bells of Winchester Cathedral were rung to rounds and 'queens ' and fired in 3 instalments of 21 times and another 60 times to record Her Majesty's age. Ringing took place at $7 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. under the captaincy of Mr. George Noice, and the local band were assisted by two from Southampton. who had to rise in the early hours to take part.

Mr. Robin G. Leale's tour started on August 13th and ends on August 27th. The Lake District: Northumberland and Durham are being visited by the party of 12 .

Dr. F. H. W. Crabb, principal of Emanual College, Saskatoon. Canada. is home on a short visit after five years absence. On July 31 st he rang for morning service at Luppitt. Devon. and the following evening rang his first quarter peal.

The peal rung at Tunbridge Wells, on August 5th, was arranged as a silver wedding compliment to Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Ladd; and was also rung on the birthdays of the conductor and F. H. Hicks, of East Grinstead, Sussex.
The peal of Stedman Triples, at Northflect. on August 6th. was arranged and rung as a farewell to Regimental Sergeant-Major Hubert (Dick) Furminger. who for the past twelve months has been attached to St . Botolph's tower. Dick is leaving next week for service in Malaya. The band and all ringers in the area wish him 'bon voyage,' and look forward to the time when he will be in their ranks again.

To avoid meeting clashes the Sheffield Society has a two-year fixture card ( 24 towers) and meetings are all on the first Saturday of the month. By arrangement, the Barnsley Society hold their meetings on the second Saturday, the Southern District of the Yorkshire Association on the third Saturday (quarterly only), and the Doncaster Society on the last Saturday. Each Sheffield Society member has a copy of the fixture card and can plan accordingly.

METHOD NOMENCLATURE  By JOHN R. MAYNE  TREBLE BOB METHODS

By the term 'Treble Bob' I refer to all those methods in which the treble does a treble bob hunt. This includes all Surprise methods. Another more specialised meaning for the term 'Treble Bob' will emerge later. Now. the column of figures printed is the first half lead of Yorkshire Surprise Major. It has been divided into groups of four changes. called 'sections,' corresponding to the four blows which the treble makes in each dodging place. (This procedure is useful for the purposes of proof.)

| :---: | :---: |
| $\begin{aligned} & 26143857 \\ & 62418375 \\ & 26148735 \\ & 62417853 \end{aligned}$ |  |
| $\begin{aligned} & 64271835 \\ & 46728153 \\ & 46271835 \\ & 64728153 \end{aligned}$ |  |
| $\begin{aligned} & 46782513 \\ & 64875231 \\ & 68472513 \\ & 86745231 \end{aligned}$ |  |

The positions where the treble hunts from one dodging place to another (i.e. the boundaries between sections) are called 'cross-sections. For the purposes of the definitions about to be explained, the positions where the treble lies behind and where it leads are not considered as cross-sections. At every cross-section at least two bells must lie still. One of these places must be made above the path of the treble, and one below, otherwise the treble would make a second dodge in the position where it had already dodged once. There are usually a number of possible positions for these cross-sectional places. For example, when the treble passes through 2-3 in Yorkshire Surprise Major bells lie still at lead and in fourths. But there are other possibilities : viz. 1 and 6 and 1 and 8 . Similarly, the places which could be made at the second cross-section are 16, 18, 36 and 38 , and also if more than two beils lie still. 1236 and 1238 are possible. (This excludes 78 lying still.) The places 1 and 8 (lead and lie) are called 'external places,' while the other places are called 'internal' places.
We are now in a position to define the terms used for various classes of Treble Bob methods.
(i) If there is at least one internal place made at each cross-section, the method is a Surprise method.
(ii) If internal places are made at every cross-section except one, the method is a Delight method.
(iii) If no internal places are made at any of the cross-sections, the method is a Treble Bob method. That is to say, lead and lie are the only places made at the crosssections.
(iv) All methods not covered by the above definitions are called Exercise methods.
A few minutes will show the reader that there are no Exercise Minor methods. but there are Exercise methods on all higher numbers of bells.
It will now be seen that the incidence of a Kent slow work has nothing whatever to do with the classification of the method. Flamstead is a Surprise method because seconds and thirds are made while the treble goes through 45. The fact that one bell leads at the same time is incidental.

Mrs. I. M. Richards. Llanarth Vicarage. Llanarth, near Raglan. Mon. writes thanking those who responded to her appeal for postcards. She is still far from her larget and very anxious to get her bells ringing again.

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE No. 34 JOHN P. FIDLER,

Loughborough

Mr. J. P. Fidler is prohably the best known ringer in the country, for his work takes him amongst bells and ringers in all parts of the British Isles. It might he thought that he sees so much of bells that he would be inclined to seek his relaxations in other fields, but not so, for he is as keen on ringing and ringing inatters as the best (or worst) of us. He was one of the pioncers of Spliced Minor ringing, probably the result of coming under the influence of that very exacting task master,

MORPETH CURFEW

The 'Morpeth Herald' seems to have a weekly feature on peal ringing interrupting the 8 p.m. curfew. Mr. N. I. Wright, who participated in the recent peal. has replied to the challenge of 'Saggerston," and pointed out that the curfew has been missed six times in the past 12 months and 20 times in the pasi nine years. on account of peal ringing.

Permission for peal attempts at the Watch Tower has to be ohtained from the Town Clerk. It seems obvious that the correct procedure is for the Town Clerk and/or the conductor of the peal to notify Miss Armstrong. 21. Duncan Gardens, Morpeth. of forthcoming attempts.
Since the recent dispute, Miss Armstrong informs us that she has not rung the curfew, but her brother Fred has every night, except on July 25th. when he could not get into the tower because of the peal in progress.
Whether peal ringing should supersede on a few nights the traditional curfew is a subject which could he debated at length. Mr. Wright points out that on a working day it would be impossible to start the peal carly enough to complete it hefore the curfew hour. The arbiters are the Morpeth Town Council.
Mr. Wright concludes his letter: 'I hope the air is now clear for curfew to ring nightly at 8 o clock, and to be joined on occasions by its seven musical sisters!
Miss J. S. Armstrong writes informing us that on August 10 th peal ringers rang on well after 8 p.m., thus preventing the curfew being rung. She and her brother Fred have decided never to ring the curfew again.
She adds that the visit of Mr. Clive Smith and his party on August 11th during their fortnight's tour gave great pleasure; they enjoyed night's tour gave great pleasure; they their visit and the $W$ atch Tower bells.

Rev. A. T. Beeston. John was so keen on splicing that he wrote a series of articles in The Ringing World on Method Splicing. which were eventually published in book form.
He was born in 1897 at Hazel Grove, Cheshire. and educated there and at Salford Royal Technical Institute. He learned to ring at St. Thomas", Norbury, in 1914. but his ringing was interrupted by service in the Army when he enlisted in the 9th Highlanders. The Royal Scots. saw service in France. and was transferred to the King's African Rifles, serving in East Africa. At the conclusion of the war, he returned to ringing and rang his first peal. Minor in 7 methods. in 1920. In 1923 he took part in the first peal of Spliced Minor in 35 methods.

In 1926 he joined the staff of the well known firm of bell founders at Loughborough. as technical representative, and still serves there in that capacity. He has carried out no less than 3.500 bell inspections. and during the last war. with one assistant. he dismantled the bells of Si. Mary Redeliffe. Bristol. in the interests of safely. He also played a prominent part in the salvage of the bells at St. Sidwell s, Exeter, and St. Nicholas'. Bristol.

Bein, such a busy man he has not been able to build up a huge peals total, but he has. however. managed to take part in about 120 peals. He has one son. Arthur, who. of course. is a ringer. and also a practical bell engineer.

John is an honorary member of the Central Council. and has done very useful work on the Peal Boards Committee. He possesses a very keen sense of humour, and can tell many interesting stories of ringing and ringers he has met in his travels. Like most Northerners. John is very forthright. hates humbug, and is not afraid to call a spade a spade. but underneath a rough exterior there is a heart of gold, and this is appreciated by ringers generally. Whenever he turns up at a ringers' meeting, he is a popular figure, and he is always made welcome.

JAFUS.

EWELL RINGERS MARRIED

Ringers at St. Marys, Ewell, were sorry not to be able 10 ring for the marriage on August 6th of a popular member of their band, Miss Maureen Candy, to Mr. Graham Quincey, of St . Ives, Huntingdonshire. For the wedding took place at St. John's Church. Stoneleigh. Ewell, where the bride was baptised and confirmed and where she was captain of the 1st Stoneleigh Company of Girl Guides who, after the ceremony, formed her guard of honour.

Looking lovely in a wedding dress of white brocade. the bride carried a bouquet of orchids. lilies-of-the-valley, white roses and stephanotis. The three bridesmaids wore dresses of lilac taffeta and nylon, with coronets to match. Their bouquets consişted of orange roses, gerbras and carnations. The bride's elder sister (chief bridesmaid) was responsible for the beautiful floral decorations. The two younger bridesmaids (sister and cousin) have both started to learn ringing.

The fully choral service was conducted by a former vicar of St. John's, the Rev. J. M. Evans, now Vicar of Walton-on-Thames and a good friend of ringers: he even suggested a run over to his tower ten miles away for a ring during the wedding reception. with the bride and bridegroom and a party of guests!

Maureen first became interested in ringing while at Bishop's Stortford College about five years ago. Since then she has been a regular ringer at Ewell, where she recently rang in her first quarter peal of Stedman, in pleasurable anticipation of the happy event. She will be greatly missed in the tower.
Graham, with whom Maureen first started corresponding when he was in Hong Kong, has also rung at Loughborough and Ewell : they both hope to continue when they settle down to farm life at Great Witchingham, Norfolk. The honeymoon is being spent in Guernsey.

A LEICESTERSHIRE TOUR

D
URING the first week of August a three days tour of Leicestershire was arranged by Mr. Brian G. Warwick. honorary genera secretary of the Lcicester Diocesan Guild and Ringing Master of St. Thomas', South Wigston. primarily for the South Wigston band, who were accompanied by friends from Cosby. Blaby and St. Margaret's, Leicester.
Monday dawned bright and clear and the first tower was St. Peter's. Oadby, where the six bells were rehung three years ago. The bells, despite the tong draught. certainly go well. On to Great Glen (6, well. On to Great Glen ( 6 tenor 9 cwi.). where we were met by the local Ringing Master and secretary of the Marke Harborough District (Mr. L. W. Allen). The journey to Foxton ( 6. tenor $13 \frac{\mathrm{t}}{\mathrm{cwt} .) \text { ) proved }}$ rather tiring as the Church of St. Andrew is at the top of a steep hill. These bells are seldom rung and the Vicar had asked for a report on their condition. Our opinion was that they 'go' all' right but a drop of oil would certainly make things a lot easier. An easier ride followed-two miles downhill to All Saints. Lubenham (5, tenor 8 f cwt.). Here we had lunch in the churchyard before trying these bells, which are one of the best rings of five in the Diocese. We had a warm welcome from Mr. W. Carter. the Ringing Master. Who has quite a large number of ringers round him.
A mile over the border into Northamptonshire brought us to Marston Trussell (5, tenor 86 cwt .), recently rehung by Taylors. Back in Leicestershire we went to Husbands Bosworth. where the five bells (tenot 14 cwt ). at All Saints' certainly need some pulling. At North Kilworth (a minor five. tenor $11 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.). we were welcomed by the Vicar. who gave the cyclists a welcome glass of lemonade each. At the neighbouring church of South Kilworth (5. tenor $13 \ddagger \mathrm{cwt}$. .) the bells are rung from the porch and anyone entering the church has perforce to pass through the circle. These bells require a lot of ringing and some ringers were noticed walking across the floor for their sallies! Our youngest member (Keith Bodicoat, aged 12), proved that it is easy to treble down if the rest keep in their right places.
Our last tower on Monday was St. Nicholas', Stanford-on-Avon. The parish is in Leicestershire and the Leicester Diocese but the Church is actually a few yards over the Northamptonshire border. Here is a good ground floor ring of five (tenor 12 cwt .) hung anti-clock wise. Being Bank Holiday the church was full of visitors paying a visit to the nearby Stanford Hall, who watched the ringing with interest.

CHURCH IN A FIELD

After the rather large proportion of five bell towers on Monday we looked forward to Tuesday, which was made up only of sixes and eights. A cycle ride of 8 miles brought us to Peckleton. where the Church of St . Mary is situated in a field. Here we were pleased to see Mr. E. A Hall looking very fit and well. despite his 80 years. A mile away is the Church of All Saints. Kirkby Mallory. with a beautiful ring of six (tenor $7 \frac{\mathrm{cwt}}{}$.) which is spoilt by the ropes being too low and ton long. Here we were welcomed by Mr. F. R. Deacon.
The next tower was the main 'titbit' of the week-the octave at St. Peter's. Market Bosworth. The tenor here is $14 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. and very similar to South Wigston and just as good in tone. Mr. H. Hollis and Sergeant J. W. Rawson met us and some of the cyclists (not realising that they were talking to a policeman-in plain clothes-were nearly in trouble for admitting riding down a one-way street the wrong way!).

On to Stoke Golding. where once again we had lunch in the churchyard. Here Mr. H. Hill had left everything ready and we enjoyed this ring of six (tenor $9 t \mathrm{cwt}$.). which was famous for peals of Minor many years ago. At Higham-on-the-Hill we met the Vicar and Rural Dean (Rev. E. L. Fisher). who is a nephew of the Archbishop of Canterbury and himself a ringer. Despite the Vicar's remarks we think that Stoke Golding bells are just a little better than Higham's six (ten $10 \frac{1}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$.). Nevertheless we certainly enjoyed them and the visit enabled the organiser to have his first ring on the bells.
A ride of 6 miles brought us to the Church of SS. Simon and Jude. Earl Shilton (8, tenor $11 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$.). rung from a ringing chamber, which. without doubt, is the best kept in the Diocesc. It is certainly a credit to the Ringing Master (Mr. G. A. Newton) and his ringers.
Two miles downhill brought us to Thurlaston (6. tenor 15 zwt .). In the absence of the Ringing Master (Mr. J. Taylor-who we were sorry to learn is ill in bed) we were met by Mr. G. Pickering and his daughter. After we have finished ringing on these bells the village Post Office opened specially to sell drinks and ice-cream! The last two towers for Tuesday provided the lightest and heaviest rings of the week-St. Michael and All Angels'. Croft (6. tenor $6 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.). and St. Mary's. Broughton Astley ( 6. tenor $18 t \mathrm{cwt}$.). We were welcomed by Mr. F. Watson at Croft. At Broughton Astley most of the party felt that they had had enough for one day as when the organiser proposed calling at Cosby on the way home (their practice night) he found no seconder!

IN CHARNWOOD FOREST

It was just as well that Wednesday was scheduled to be a day of rest. The wind was rough and it was quite cold. Thursday was a good day for cycling and with renewed energy we had the most enjoyable day of the tour. despite the fact that our route lay over the very hilly Charnwood Forest area of the county.
Our first call was at Kirby Muxloe. where in the Church of St. Bartholomew. there are five bells with a tenor of $7 \ddagger \mathrm{cwt}$. In the small ringing chamber we had some good ringing on these excellent bells. Next to Groby. which has a even smaller ringing chamber. Here we were met by Mr. V. Geary and other members of his family. This was a famous tower for Minor methods in days gone by and we did not really do justice days gone hy and we did not real to these hells (tenor $9 t \mathrm{cwt)}$.
Plenty of time had been allowed to reach Copt Oak as there are many hills (steep ones. too!). The writer's red mini-car going up one hill was likened to a lady bird crawling along as viewed by the cyclists on the hill behind. Both Copt Oak and The Oaks are two of the most widely scattered parishes in the Diocese. Both churches are in the midst of nowhere although they are only 3 miles apart. At Copt Oak we met the enthusiastic ringing Vicar. the Rev. F. R. S. Byfield (who. incidentally, is chairman of the Loughborough District). and the writer had the privilege of ringing Little Bob with him. which he specially requested. Due to his enthusiasm there are often up to 18 ringers at Copt Oak on their practice night. We enjoyed these six bells (tenor $9 \frac{1}{f} \mathrm{cwt}$.), but one or two needed a bit of pulling!
Before we rang at The Oaks (6. tenor $10 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.). we had lunch. These bells are very good but as they are immediately overhead they are very noisy. From The Oaks we had a glorious downhill ride to Old Woodhouse. where at the church. delightfully named St. Mary-in-the-Elms. we rang on the six bells
(Ienor $12 \frac{\text { cwt.). Next to Woodhouse Eaves }}{}$
(6. tenor 10 f cwt .), and then again downhill to Swithland. These were the worst bells of the day. Up to the end of 1959 they were virtually unringable but due to the combined efforts of Mr. F. Bindley, of Thurcaston, and the locial band they can at least now be rung. although the $12 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. tenor is certainly a handful. The rope comes down a shute and the sally is inclined to stick in it with disastrous results. From Swithland to Thurcaston. where Mr. F. Bindley was waiting to welcome us. Here the bells are rung regularly by a band of girls. We did not enjoy our visit here as much as we thought we should. The eight bells (tenor 10 cwt.) are rather peculiar and need some time to get used to.
As this was the last day arrangements had been made for dinner at Blakeshay Farm. Newton Linford, and we all enjoyed the excellent threc-course meal provided after we had climbed to the farmhouse. To finish the day we rang the five bells at Newton Linford (tenor $7 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cWt}$.), and we had what was probably the best ringing of the week there.
In all 28 towers were visited. and although no one learned anything new all were able to consolidate what they were supposed to have been taught and in this respect the experience was invaluable. It also enabled the writer to visit some isolated towers which otherwise it migh! not have been possible to visit for a long time. Thanks are due to all tower captains and incumbents and it is worth noting that out of all the towers asked for there was not one refusal.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Rochester District

On July 16th some 40 members of the Rochester District attended a quarterly meeting held at Eastchurch. Isle of Sheppey. This tower contains a ring of six bells. tenor $12 \pm \mathrm{cwt}$. Ringing before and after the service ranged from rounds to London Minor, under the leadership of the District Ringing Master Mr. G. A. Naylor. The ringers' service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Wilkinson. Vicar, who welcomed the Association to his parish. The lesson was read by the Rev. Dr. Pollard, from Bath.

Tea was partaken of in the new Village Hall. followed by a very short business meet ing, the Vicar presiding. Five new members and one honorary member were elected.
Mr. A Dunk, of Stockbury, moved that the three members from the Rochester District who rang in the veterans peal should be congratulated. They are
Mr. C. E. J. Norris (Chatham). Mr. J. Grensted and Mr. S. B. Dobbie (Sittingbourne). The vote of thanks to all who had helped in the meeting was moved by Mr. F. J. Cheal.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FALSE COURSE ENDS

Dear Sir,-We are indebted to Mr. Corrigan and all other workers involved in the publication of collections of Surprise methods, and those who publish new Surprise methods in "The Ringing World.' There is, however, one aspect of them which is disappointing to the prospective composer, namely. in the recording of the falseness of the method, which is virtually useless.
It is evident when these methods are derived the falseness (tenors together) has been worked out completely, yet in the publications only the F.C.E.'s are quoted, without mention of the leads where the falseness occurs.

For example, suppose a method has the following F.C.E.'s-

34562 & 52643 \\
62345 & 36524 \\
46325 & 65243 \\
52463 & 46532

Then these are either published in full or are referred to by code letters, e.g.: $p, q, s, r$, w. $\mathrm{v}, \mathrm{t}, \mathrm{u}$. This doesn't help the composer very much, and unless he attempts to obtain a composition using full courses (which is in many cases impossible) he must go through the work again to determine in which leads the falseness occurs.
It would, cf course, be quite simple to use a code to indicate the lead falseness: for example, $34562(2 / 3)$ could mean that the course 34562 has its third lead false with the second lead of the plain course 23456.

Again, the information san be condensed further, since it is only necessary to quote one member of an F-set (Maurice Hodgson's terminology) to identify all the members. Thus if the full information is

34562(2 / 3) & 52643(5 / 3) \\
62345(3 / 2) & 36524(3 / 5) \\
46325(6 / 5) & 65243(3 / 5) \\
52463(5 / 6) & 46532(5 / 3)
\end{array}

this could be shortened to $34562(2 / 3), 52643$ (5/3) or even further to p 2/3, w $5 / 3$.

I hope we shall soon see a much fuller classified coilection of Surprise methods : if so, would the authors please bear this point in mind? Yours sincerely,

Derby.

CONGRATULATIONS TO HALIFAX

Dear Sir.-May I be allowed, through your columns, to congratulate the band and their conductor of All Souls', Halifax on ringing the peal of Six Spliced Surprise Major on July 23rd ('R.W. : page 524)? This is a remarkable achievement for a Sunday service band, and I think deserves special mention.-Yours, etc.,

HOSPITALITY IN IRELAND

Dear Sir,-I would like to take this opportunity of thanking all those who treated my party and myself to such generous hospitality on our recent brief visit to Dublin. I would strongly recommend any ringer planning a holiday to visit the Emerald Isle for beautiful scenery, fine hells, and a welcome second to none, preferably notifying the friends across the water of his intended visit.-Yours sincerely.

PEALS OF MINIMUS

Dear Sir.-I would like it to be made known that there is at any rate one ringer who objects to the recognition of performances on four bells as peals.

The acceptance of peals of Minimus without comment at the Central Council meeting, and the lack of criticism since in "The Ringing World," is a regrettable sign of apathy in the Exercise. It could not have happened 50 years ago without an uproar.
In fact, was not one of the arguments against allowing 5 - and 6 -bell performances as peals that, if they were allowed, 4-bell peals would follow? Well, they have: and sure as fate, 3 hell peals will follow too unless the acceptance of 4-bell peals is rescinded.
The argument that 4 -bell performances can be as difficult as peals on higher numbers is invalid, as it could quite well apply to, say, a peal of Stedman Singles on three bells or, if anyone was crackpot enough to try it, an arrangement of 2,520 extents on two bells.
The real point is that the acceptance of peals on four bells allows a much lower minimum standard.

It is not that there is no value or interest to be gained from ringing four or even three bells, but to afford extended performances on them the same acclaim as received by peals on higher numbers makes nonsense of peal ringing.

It is not long ago that a similar lowering of standards occurred when single-handed handbell peals became acceptable. A general trend of this nature would be the end of changeringing, as who is going to trouble to attain that not worth attaining? -Yours sincerely.
P. H. WHITAKER.

Coleraine, Co. Londonderry.

CAN THIS PEAL BE RECOGNISED?

Dear Sir,-Can the peal of Plain Bob Minimus on handbells, 10 which the Rev. Mr. Melville refers ('R.W.: July 29th), legitimately be called a peal, in view of the fact that peals of Minimus have been recognised by the Central Council only this year?-Yours faithfully.

A FALSE PEAL OF ST. CLEMENT'S

Dear Sir,-I wish to withdraw the peal of St. Clement's College Bob Major conducted by me at the Bell Foundry, Loughborough. on January, 4th, 1960 . The composition, a 5,008 by Sir Arthur P. Heywood, is false, there being a repetition in the second and tenth courses.
This peal appears in the Central Council Collection of Peals. Section II, on page 266 (No. 23). This means that the peal of Double Oxford Major rung at Duffield on October 8th, 1886, is also false.
I am indebted to Mr. R. F. B. Speed for calling attention to this.

I presume that the peal in full $(5,280)$, and by omitting three consecutive Homes ( 5,056 ), would be true: it appears that the falseness occurs solely in the use of the short course Middle. Before. Wrong.
Perhaps the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead will amend his records at Duffield and the Bell Foundry accordingly.-Yours faithfully, Leicester.

NAMES FOR TEA

Dear Sir.-It would be interesting to know the experiences of tea organisers at ringing meetings, as 10 whether there is any relationship between the number of names sent in and the number of people presenting themselve: for tea.
Despite various reasons given by people who tail to send in their names, but who attend the meeting, these reasons are more often than not mere excuses for sloth and lack of courtesy towards the hosts who go to immense trouble to give a real welcome to visiting ringers.
The hosts are often given a great deal of genuine worry and sometimes suffer financial loss as a result of this thoughtlessness and unkindness on the part of a large proportion of those attending meetings.
The corporate meal and opportunity for social exchanges is an important part of any association meeting and it would be a pity to see this custom replaced by ringers going off in small groups to take their chance in waiting at various eating establishments for a poorer meal, which would usually cost double that charged for subsidised teas provided by local companies.

Conversation which I have had with numerous hosts at ringing meetings indicate that the experience of a friend of mine, whose tower was recently involved in providing tea for about 50 ringers, and for which only one ringer in four had bothered to send in their names, is a commonplace experience.
The nosts are usually too anxious to make everyone comfortable and hesitate to complain. so it is up to all of us to remember the common courtesies of life and send in that card for tea when we know we intend going to a ringing mecting.
Since I feel I am voicing a general feeling and have attacked no one in person. I will sign myself. Yours etc.

KIDDERMINSTER AND SYNTHETIC BELLS

Dear Sir.-With reference to the report of the proceedings at the Worcester Consistory Court, contained in .The Ringing World on page 546. and particularly to the reported comment of the Chancellor as to the Worcestershire Association not being represented before him in person: I should like it known that the question of personal appearance was very carefully considered by the officers of the Association, who. rightly or wrongly. thought the better way of dealing with the matter was by written representa-tion.-Yours truly.

Rotherham Girls' High School

On July 28 th girls from Rotherham High School once again rang for their annual service at the Parish Church. Assisted by the Ringing Master and three of the local band they rang Grandsire Triples. Bob Major. Cambridge Minor. Stedman Doubles and call changes on ten. All the ringing was of a high standard

This event probably marks a break in the tradition of the last few years since most of these young people are moving on to college or university this year. Intense training has been going on at the Parish Church to provide against the temporary loss of about six of the Sunday service band, who are expected to go to college or university this autumn.

ST. IEONARDS CHURCH.

LEVERINGTON
TINDOUBTEDLY one of the loveliest steeples in Fenland is that at Leverington. The 14:11 century tower has four recessed polygonal turrets from which springs it delicately ribbed spire. the base of which has been boarded over. This has an effect of enhancing the music of the bells-which are, in any case of fine tonal quality. St. Leonard's Church has a magnificent interior: a vast area lit by impressive windows, one of which portrays a medizval Jessie Tree.

There are six bells originally cast by Lester and Pack in 1752: since then they have been overhauled and introduced to the melting pot on no less than three occasions. Osborn and Dobson recast the second in 1808, and the treble and third were recast by Taylors in 1871. as were the fourth. fifth and tenor in 1924 when a teak frame was supplied
The bells possess no outstanding inscripticns. The fourth is inscribed Te Deum Laudamus (We praise Thee O God): Sursum Corda or Lift up your Hearts intones the fifth. and the tenor ( 15 . cwt. 2 qr. in $F$ ) has inscribed: Kyrie Eleison (Lord have mercy). They are rung from the ground stage.

WISBECH ST. MARY

This village has no direct link with the barough of Wisbech. being situated approximately four miles from the latter and three miles from Leverington. The church is spacious and the somewhat unimpressive tower contains a pleasing ring of six bells, rung from a platform constructed above the vestry.
Five of the bells were cast by Osborn, in 1803, and in 1955 these were rehung with the addition of a treble. by Messrs. Taylor and Co Inscripions have no special interest. the second warning all to Give no offence to the Church. and the fourth Long Live King George the Third -a repetitional procedure from Osborn's establishment at that time. The tenor bears the names of the then churchwardens and weighs 10 cwt . 2 qr .15 ib

The first peal in the towes was rung on Sunday. April 22nd. 1956. and comprised five methods conducted by Ernest Mastin
A sanctus bell suspended from the chancel cote has a much travelled history. It was recast in memory of a captain of the Royal Norfolk Regiment. and the original fittings consisting of headstock. clapper and three imall portions of bell metal inscribed Nichalai Anno. '1618' have been preserved and are attached to the chancel wall
The bell was abandoned by German troops who had occasion to hurriedly withdraw from Plaegstrret Wood. Belgium, in the early days of the First World War. It was adopted and used as a gas alarm by the 32nd Royal Fusiliers, and was afterwards presented to their Chaplain. the Rev. Canon Mowbray Smith. M.A. who for several years was Vicar of Wisbech St. Mary.

SS. PETER AND PAUL. CHATTERIS

A curate at Chatteris. over 50 years ago. possessed keen observant powers, and kept records of the everyday life of a small town (famous for carrots) in connection with its ancient parish church. He was the Rev. H. H. McNeice, and the gentleman in question may well have been inwardly amused or outwardly disgusted ' with the antics of belfringers in churches up and down the land in those good or bad old days.

The old office of blessing the bells gives us the best conception of the ideal to set before the ringers. he writes. 'After the Reformation the belfry seems to have ceased to be part of the Church. A separate door outside the church was generally substituted for that leading into the nave. To ring for a service and also attend was unexpected and unlooked for. The belfry became a solt of club on ringing nights. when the friends of the ringers indulged in the fragrant weed and a certain amount of beer. The pipes and mugs were hung up as fitting ornaments side bv side with the records of the members.' The curate sadly concludes. 'Chatteris defined in no aspect from the usual run of belfries.

Erected in the 141 h century the tower of SS. Peter and Paul rises in three stages. and is of slender proportions. The winding stairway is so very narrow that it is doubtful if a person turning the scales at 15 stone would be able to ascend! Neatly arrayed with numerous peal records the panelled ringing chamber-which has a wall tablet to the memory of two ringers who did not return from the last war-provides a most beautiful aspect of the garden with which the church is surrounded. with glimpses of handsome trees and the lown's war memorial.

Older (and not so old) members of the ringing fraternity will remember Mr. J. 'Pop' Abrams. who was captain at Chatteris for many years. Widely experienced at breaking-in horses. he would tell of how. when St. Peter's Church possessed five bells, a meeting was called to explore ways and means of raising sufficient money to purchase a new tenor bell. - At the mesting (attended by many parishioners) we had a "whip-round " and the result put us well on the way to buying a bell.'

For many years the tower contained five bells, and between 1726 and 1728 they were in constant need of repair. Joseph Eayre recast these in 1735 but. strangely, the wellpreserved accounts makes no mention of payment to Mr. Eayre for his work. and the founder was frequently a resident at the ancient George Inn. opposite the church.
A mug made of bell metal is inscribed. The 5 th bell was broken in 187(?) and recast in 1887. but it was not satisfactory. During the restoration of the church in 1910-11 the whole ring was retuned and the 5th recast. and a new bell added by Taylors. of Loughborough ${ }^{\text {- }}$
Despite the fact that the bells have not received a major overhaul in 60 years, they go remarkably well. Four of them are inscribed with Eayre's favourite if unpoplar inscription: Work itself is pleasure. The treble bears a Latin inscription to the effect that With its sweet nature may it live a useful life: may the bell be pleasant sounding with its clear voice.

MR. MORRIS J. MORRIS

To the new generation of ringers in St Martin's Guild Morris J. Morris can be little more than a name or an occasional glimpse of recent years of a brisk, upright nonegenarian. standing in the Bull Ring to listen to the ringing for Matins, or brought by Mr. Ingram to spend an hour at the Henry Johnson Dinner. But it is a striking and awesome thought that well before the birth of this present century Morris J. Morris was a leading figure in North Wales ringing and an important factor in the spread of change ringing in the northern part of the principality.
It is, however in Birmingham that we knew him, and it was in Birmingham that he made his name as a remarkable ringer and striker. and as a partaker in some of the most notable feats the Guild has accomplished. He rang in the first peal of Cambridge Twelve. rung by St. Martin's Guild: in the 1922 handbell peal of Stedman Sextuples: and in the brilliant non-conducted peal of Stedman Cinques in which a draw was made to decide which pair of bells each performer should takc. This was a time of extensive (one might almost say feverish) handbell activity, and the number of competent exponenis of the art was so great that the handbell group took it turns to act as umpires. In all this Morris J. Morris was deeply invoived. and his magnificent ringing of $11-12$ to Stedman Cinques will long be remembered by those who saw it. As handbell ringers of Cinques know quite well, the success or failure of this branch of the art rests largely on the maintenance of the beat, and it was here that Morris excelled. Imperturbably, firm as a rock in storm and stress. he brought his tenor precisely where it should be and his llth in its exact course. and many a situation has been eased or saved by the firm uncompromising gesture of his right hand. This may. indeed. seem a small thing to enlarge and emphasise. but all competent handbell ringers. especially on 12 bells. will know the value of such a man on the back end.
Precision was Morris J. Morris' notable feature. His speech had that attractive Celtic articulation, his dress was correct. his moustache perfectly pointed. his umbrella in its right place: and ab he rang. his bell was in its right place too. and his short sturdy figure moved not a limb nor his face a muscle until touch or peal came to an end. In debate and argument he was forcible and uncompromising.

While an excellent exponent of Surprise ringing he took a great interest in what he called the real musical methods, and experimented boldly in the composition of Grandsire and Plain Bob. A great number of the touches in the Central Council Handbook of Grandsire Caters came from him. and among his peal compositions of Grandsire Caters is a celebrated 5.057 in short courses that has become a minor classic. His manuscript contributes to the revelation of his character, for the precision we have insisted on is expressed once more in the beautifully written lines of figures and the extreme neatness of the setting-out

In the ringing chamber of the Church of St . John. Portmadoc. there hangs a portrait of Morris J. Morris. It shows him. a young man. with his magnificent Celtic profile. his rather military moustache. and his general air of alertness and intelligence. North Wales will remember his work with gratitude. and we who were privileged to know him and ring with him uill remember with humble admiration the example he set us in regularity, punctuality, and a nigh standard of ringing

THE LATE MR. HARRY PROUT
In response to a number of friends of the late Mr. Harry Prout, whose obituary appeared on page 518. we are pleased to publish his photograph

His daughter. Mrs. Hilda K. Willcox. of 8. Newcastle Street. Warsop. Mansfield. Notts expresses thanks through our columns for the many letters of sympathy and the beautiful wreaths sent from various ringing fraternities.

MR. SAMUEL WARD

An old member of the St. Mary's. Stansted. Essex. band. who had travelled much in his life to Canada ind Australia. Mr. Samuel Ward died on July 27 th after a short illness. He was 83.

In his early years he was a ringer at Manuden. near Bishop's Stortford. and while there took part in two peals. one being in six methods. which was conducted by his brother-in-law. Mr. George. Prior, a member of a well known Essex ringing family.
Prior to the firs! world war he went to Australia accompanied by his wife, and refurned there several times, the last being some six years ago. It was on one of these voyages that he ivas pleased to meet the famous band of ringers. led by the late Mr. W. H. Fussell. and this meeting is recorded in . The Great Adventure. by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith. He had Adventure, by Mr. J. also been to Canada.

To his memory a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells half-muffled on August 3rd. at Stansted. Those taking part were A. Warboys 1. H. M. White 2. R. Hayden 3. H. Watts 4. H. Bird 5. F. Tharby 6, F Bird (cond.) 7, E. Rochester 8.

MR. W. J. PRESCOTT

All those who were fortunate enough to have known Mr. William James Prescott, tower master of Bath Abbey, will regret to learn of his death, after a short illness, on August 7th at the age of 81 years.

Bill. as he was affectionately known to his fellow ringers and associates, joined the Abbey band in 1910, and served as tower master there for over 20 years. He is known to have rung nearly 300 peals, the majority of which were accomplished in his native county of Somerset. At one time secreiary of the Bath Branch, he was later elected an honorary life member of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association.
Two of his proudest moments were associated with Sir Winston (then Mr.) Churchill. The first was the fact that he was the last surviving member of the band of ringers who rang at St. Margaret's, Westminster, over 50 years ago on the occasion of Sir Winston's wedding. and secondly when he was presented to him at the Sp: Guildhall in July. 1950. when Sir Winston received the Freedom of Bath.
Of a quiet, assertive disposition. 'Bill' was renowned as the perfect lower master, being gently persuasive yet absolutely thorough in all his many accomplishments. One of his outstanding qualities was the unflinching service $h$ : rendered to the young learner.
The funeral service. conducted by the Ven. E. A. Cook, was well attended, and a special prayer of thanksgiving offered for the long life of a great Christian gentleman. Those present included representatives from the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, the Bath Branch, and associate members from various towers in the county. The interment took place at Haycombe Cemetery, where a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells at the graveside by S. A. Read 1-2, H. W. Knight (Wrington) 3-4. R. O. Fry 5-6. W. H. Hurford $7-8$.
As a final farewell, a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters was successfully scored, half-muffled, at the Abbey Church of SS. Peter and Paul, by the following members of the Bath Branch: Mrs. D. Evans 1. S. A. Read 2, C. J. A. Brown 3. W. Brown 4. H. D. Taylor 5, G. J. Hawkins (conductor) 6, J. Hallett 7. W. H. Hurford 8. R. O. Fry 9. H. Merritt 10.

We shall always remember "W. J. for the grand ringer and conductor that he was. a friendly tower master with a charm of his own, and above all a staunch and sincere churchman.

OBITUARY

THE LATE MR. G. N. PRICE'S PEALS
We are indebted to Mr. C. F. Sayer, dibrarian to the Herts County Association, for the list of peals rung by the late Mr. G. N. Price, of Oxhey. Herts, who died on February 25th, 1959. Of his total of 472 peals, no less than 458 were rung hetween the years of 1893-1913. He also rang four false peals and two others not good enough to be recorded.
In 1901 he called Holt's Original at Oxhey, the average age of the band being $18 \frac{1}{t}$ years, and in 1902 he called the first peal on the Alexandra hell's in the Queen's Tower. Imperial Institute, South Kensington, for the coronation of King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra. During a week's tour of Devon and Cornwali in 1903 he rang nine peals, and in 1905 he rang three peals of London in 24 hours, and later on three peals of London in three counties in one day-some performance for those days.
His 100th peal was Stedman Triples. nonconducted. at St. George-the-Martyr's, October 31st. 1901, and the one hefore that was also Stedman Triples. conducted by the Rev. F. E. Rohinson, and was also C. F. Winney's 350 th peal. In 1906 he rang two peals of Double Norwich at Arklow, Ireland, conducted by George Williams. He called the first peal of London Royal at St. Dunstan's. Stepney, on November 11th, 1907 .
Another first he called was Stedman Triples at Sherborne Abbey, on May 20th, 1907, in 3 hours 35 minutes. The peal note states that by ringing this peal the tenor man, Richard $\mathbf{T}$. Hibbert, had now rung a peal on the heaviest ring on 8.10 and 12 bells, so he did his share on the 46 cwt . tenor.
During the 1909 peal tour of Norfolk and Suffolk, late September and October, he rang eight peals-the last was at Pulham-after which he cycled home to Watford, just over 100 miles, which was good going in those days: he certainly earned his peals the hard way. For his 400 th peal he called 5,0000 Stedman Caters at St. Peter's. St. Albans, on June 22nd. 1911.
But his greatest feat was when he called a different peal of Stedman Triples. Caters and Cinques from each pair (' in hand') of bellis. He was the first to accomplish this feat, and also called Carter's Odd Boh peal of Triples from each pair: all the peals of Caters and Cinques had the turning course at the end, thus enhancing the difficulty of the performance.
Appended is the list and the dates.

MR. E. C. MARLOW
Another link with the past has been severed by the death of Mr. Edward Charles Marlow. of Warminster, on July 11 th. He was 85 years of age and a man of varied accomplishments.
Known affectionately in ringing circles as - Old Ted. he had been a keen local ringer for many years. His great passion in life was bellringing, which he learned at Codford. Wilts, in 1900. He was a regular Sunday service ringer at Warminster at 80 years of age, and was presented with a silver watch in appreciation of his services spanning over 30 years. on behalf of fellow ringers and friends. During this time he held office as captain, vice-cuptain and steeple keeper. Except for occasional breaks, his ringing career extended over a period of 55 years.
He taught many young people to ring, and himself learned to ring Stedman at the advanced age of 62 . Good striking was always one of his strong points. He had retired from active ringing owing to ill health, but still showed a great interest in ringing in general. His great hope was to hear the rehung Warminster bells ringing again, but this was denied him by four days.
Handbells were rung at the graveside by members of the local band, and a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung at Corsley in the evening.
N. K. and P. R.

REDEDICATION  WARMINSTER, WILTS

The bells of St. Denys', Warminster, were rededicated by the Rev. John Freeman. Vicar of Warminster, at Evensong on Sunday, July 31st.
The bells have been retuned, reclappered and rehung on ball-bearings by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. of the Whitechapel Foundry

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

OPERATING through 11 branches, with a total membership approaching 1,000 ringing members, the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, whose summer festival is to be held at Welford on September 3rd, occupies an important place among the Guilds affiliated to the Central Council. Many regard the Midlands as being in the forefront of ringing, with such centres as Birmingham and Leicester, but the Peterborough Guild has a worthy record of the main purport of ringing, i.e., for Sunday service, although there are towers. like in all Associations, where conditions need improving. Commenting on this in his last annual report, the general secretary said just over 100 forms were returned as the result of the Sunday Service Survey, and these revealed situations ranging from very good to poor, some of the latter being due to the bad state of, the bells and fabric.

Under its present title, the Guild is in its 26th year, but organised ringing goes back very much farther. Its forbears were the Raunds, Wellingborough and District Society, formed in July, 1883, which by the end of that year had 63 members. The name was changed to the Central Northamptonshire Association in 1895, and by the end of the century it was affiliated to the Central Council. A conspicuous member of the Council was the late Mr. Fred Wilford, who served for 32 years. He was also general secretary of the Guild for 14 years. The decision to form a diocesan guild followed a meeting at Wellingborough in 1923, addressed by the Bishop of Peterborough. When the Diocesan Guild was formed the following January two other ringing societies were absorbed-the Oundle and District and the Peterborough and District. which was then a member of the Central Council. The county of Rutland is in this diocese, but it was not until 1933 that a Rutland Branch was formed, which has at present 11 towers possessing Guild members. Another was created in 1930, when the Towcester and District Society sank its individuality to become a branch of the Guild.

The present Master, Mr. Patrick I. Chapman, in his report for 1959 writes encouragingly, and regards the year as one of consolidation and progress. He had visited nine of the 11 branches and was impressed by the increased attendances and the enthusiasm displayed by the large number of teenage members present. This, he states, is clearly the result of a lot of hard work by a considerable number of people. He makes one good point, which we trust will be considered by other Guilds. Many parishes are actively concerned with the Diocesan Stewardship Campaign, and he urges these parishes not to miss the apportunities thus afforded of recruiting beginners from puople who want to offer their talents in the service of the Church.

With a total of only 67 peals, the year under review was not prolific, but there were three first peals in the method for the Guild. These were Spliced Surprise in six methods, rung at Daventry, Double Bob Major at Wicken and Grandsire Minor at Cogenhoe. The Master, in congratulating some 20 members who rang their first peal, expresses the hope that they will go on to ring many more. He adds: 'Our chief purpose is to ring bells for service, but it should also be borne in mind that only the best we are capable of giving is good enough. The only way to attain our highest capabilities is by continued and prolonged practice, and the regular ringing of peals is the best way of doing it.'

It is interesting to recall that in the early days of the Guild a gold medal was presented to the member who had rung 100 peals. This was discontinued in 1914 and a new rule passed that a certificate which bore a photograph of Peterborough Cathedral be awarded to all members ringing their first peal. The rule still operates. The year, however, saw one 'gold medallist in spirit.' Mr. Ernest G. Orland, president of the Guilsborough Branch; but two other members passed ringing milestones-Mr. Percy D. Baldock his 150 th and the Master his 250th peal.

The general secretary, Mr. G. W. Jeffs, in his report mentions the continued good work of the Bell Restoration Fund, with grants of $£ 30$ each to Desborough, Marston Trussell, Woodford and Collingtree, and $£ 20$ to Creaton. The fund is healthy, with $£ 61513 \mathrm{~s}$. 10d. to its credit at the end of the year. Marston Trussell bells have been restored after a long period of silence. In the Northampton Branch report mention is made of the excellent work of Mr. George F. Roome and his helpers in overhauling and restoring to ringing order the fine ring of eight bells at St. Mary's, Easton Neston. in the Towcester Branch. This tower had been unavailable for many years owing to the ill health of the late Dowager Lady Hesketh, and to ring here is a great asset to the Branch.
Good luck, Peterborough Diocesan Guild, during 196061; may lapsed members be few and the steady work of recruiting new members continue.

The visit of H.M. the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh to attend the thanksgiving service for the completion of the restoration of Llandaff Cathedral was marked not only by a quarter peal but general ringing throughout the day, in which the Cathedral band were joined by prominent members of the Diocesan Association including the general secretary, both branch secretaries and the Llandaff Branch Master. After the thanksgiving service. Nicholas Simon, aged 14. a Cathedral ringer. was presented to the Queen.

The many friends of the well known Notts and Derbyshire ringer Miss D. M. Murfin will regret to learn she is ill in hospital. and wish her a speedy recovery. Her address is Ward 1 . City Hospital. Derby.
Miss Ann Vowles, who has only been ringing for three months. came in at the last moment and rang the treble very well for her first quarter at Maldon. Essex. on August 10th. A peal attempt of Treble Bob had been planned but the party niet short.

Mr. James E. Burles, of Barrow-in-Furness. writes thanking Mr. Wilfrid G. Wilson for hi:; excellent article on 'Place Notation.' The Editor would also like to thank Mr. A. YorkBramble and Mr. John Mayne who also contributed articles on the same subject.
The peal of Stedman Cinques at Reading. on August 13 th. shows the result of earnest endeavour. B. Shackleton. H. Woolven, Janet Livingstone. M. Hatchett and David Livingstone all scored their first peal on 12 bells. and R. G. Hooper conducted his first of Stedman Cinques. H. Woolven had never before rung a touch in the method. A good effort!
Very satisfying progress has been made by six school children at the seaside tower of St . Michael's. Teignmouth. Devon. They have all recently rung quarter peals of Grandsire Doubles on light sixes in the neighbourhood and are now ringing the lighter bells in their own tower to Grandsire Triples. The help given by many visitors at this season is much appreciated.

GOSSIP

The Mayor of Tamworth (Councillor C. A. Walton) has launched an appeal for $£ 850$ to provide two treble bells to complete the octave in the Parish Church of St. Editha, Tamworth. This is 10 commemorate the recent celebration of the 400th anniversary of the granting of the town's Charter of Incorporation by Queen Elizabeth I and the observance of the 1.000 th anniversary of the death of the patron saint. Editha. It is hoped to have the bells installed by the end of the year.
Mr. Roland F. Eccles rang his first peal at Eccles. Lancs. July 27th. His personal footnote is: First by Eccles, at Eccles.
Mr. D. J. Hunt has now rung Stedman from Doubles to Cinques. "The family' was comr pleted on August 8th with Doubles at Si. Mark's Church. Bristol.

Mr. Richard C. Ingram. who compiled the list of the late Mr. Morris J. Morris peals. published last week. informs us that the deceased gentleman conducted his first peal at Perry Barr, in 1920.
Following the peal at Send on August 12th. in honour of the wedding of the only son of the Vicar, the band were entertained by the Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Sylvester. The peal was postponed for a week so that they could hear it.
The University of London's summer week is now in progress with headquarters at Fircroft College. Selly Oak. Birmingham. The party numbers 42 . For the first seven days ringing is in Warwickshire, but for the last week-end the party move into Worcestershire and Staffordshire. Three peal attempts are scheduled.

Those who rang the peal at St. Mary Redcliffe. Bristol, for the University of London Society, wish to associate it particularly with three members of the Society: Dennis Beresford (the conductor), whose daughter was born on July 15th: Ranald Clouston, whose daughter was born on July 25th: Roger Keeley, who was ordained deacon on the day after the peal.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

AS OTHERS SEE US

In their scries of Portraits of Personalities. The Church Times ' of August 12 th honours our president. Mr. Frederick Sharpe. We append this delightful pen picture of Frederick Sharpe, which we feel should have pernianant $\backslash$ record in our columns.
Knowing about odd things is always a distinction, and Mr. Frederick Sharpe happens to know more about bells than any Englishman living. He is the president of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers. Besides this he has been a chorister for forty-seven years. a server and sidesman for forty-two, a church councillor for thirty-five. captain of the ringers for thirty-three. churchwarden for twenty-eight -and also a lay reader. His record at Launton. in Oxfordshire, may not be unique, but it is certainly outstanding. and his work as head of his family building firm leaves him with less leisure time than many men. In the workshop and study in his garden are the records of over two thousand towers which he has visited. often in parishes with bell problem; which he could help to solve. There are also books-several of his own writing, the scripts of hundreds of lectures. photographs, models, plaster casts. the set of sixty-six handbells which he has collected and the tools with which he tuned and restored them. All this is evidence of that historical knowledge which has made him a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries and of the practical experience of ringing bell-hanging and tower design which has made him president of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.

To this work Frederick Sharpe brings the balanced judgment of an historian, the practical approach of a craftsman and an acute ear for music: but perhaps more precious than these. he has the manner of an enthusiast rather than that of a specialist. He never pontificates on this subject. but passes on his knowledge of the subject with lucidity and charm, and he is always ready to do so.

Another Attempt At The Extent Of Major

 In an address to the Dorking Rotary Club on bell-ringing Mr. A. P. Cannon announced that the next attempt to ring the extent of Major at the Loughborough Bell Foundry would be on December 3rd. They regarded the feat of ringing the 40,320 changes as the Everest of ringing.FIRST PEAL ON LIGHTEST SIX
As will be seen from our peal columns. the first peal on the lightest six in the world was rung on August 7 th at Home Farm. Balscote. in 2 hours and 25 minutes. The band was an all local one from the Banbury and District Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild and the peal in three Doubles methods was conducted by Mr. E. E. Pearson. of Dedding. ton.

Mr. Jarvis is perhaps now the unique holder of a ringing record, namely that of ringing his first peal on his own bells. He set a good steady beat with the tenor right from the start. and kept them going at the correct speed to hear these carillon tuned bells at their best. He is without doubt a. Master of his own He is without doubt a Master of his own bells and whether it be tenor or treble (or one in each hand) sets a standard in handling which is unequalled.

When these bells were first installed by Mr. Jarvis in 1951 the go was far different from that of today. and it was quite an achievement even to get a 120 of Doubles round. But due to many major alterations over the past few years they now go and handle more like tower bells. Mr. Jarvis hit done all his own bell hanging ever since they were cast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

After this successful peal all were entertained to a farmhouse tea which was provided by Mrs. Jarvis and Beryl. and during this the peal was re-rung over again many times in conversation. Our thanks are due to Mr. Jarvis for allowing us the privilege of ringing this unique peal. and also 10 our conductor who kept such an "eagle eye on all our happenings throughout the forty-two $120 \%$.

JOHN ASHLEY FREEMAN,

Lincoln.

The story of Mr. John A. Freeman is a story of real Lincolnshire tenacity, against many difficulties. and of real pioneer work in the great county of Lincolnshire, and to John A.. together with that other great personality Rupert Richardson, must go the credit for huilding up a strong centre of good ringing in that part of the country.
Born at Market Deeping, in 1884. he went to school there and learned to ring a bell at the age of 12. The curfew was rung there in those days. and the sexton was only too pleased to allow the hoys to do his job for him. Local ringers. however. were not quite so helpful. and not much encouragement was forthcoming for the youngsters.

After serving his apprenticeship in the joinery trade. at Ewerby, he moved to Lincoln. and almost lost inierest owing to lack of progress, rut fortunately in 1906 he was invited to join the band at St. Peter-at-Arches (now St. Giles'). and came under the influence of Rev.
H. Law James, who conducted John's first peal. Kent T.B. Major, in 1908.
In 1911 he was elected Master of the company, and in that year he conducted his first peal of Stedman Triples, the first peal to be rung in the city by a local band. In 1914 he was elected to the Cathedral company, where at that time the bells were chimed only for service. He was instrumental in starting regular ringing for service. and eventually the frist peal ever to be rung by the Cathedral ringers was successfully accomplished. Stedman Triples. with John as conductor
During the period 1924-1928 the Cathedral was restored, and ringing there was suspended -but under John's influence the band kept together and regularly practised London Surprise Major on handbells-single handed. The result was that they rang the first peal in this method by all the band and by the Guild at Washingborough, in 1928, again with John conducting.
When the Cathedral bells were restored and augmented, he rang the tenor to the first peal of Cambridge Maximus, which was the first by all the band and by the Guild. This was conducted by Rev. H. Law James. In 1929 he was elected Master of the Cathedral company. and still serves in that capacity.
John conducted the first of Stedman Cinques. again first by all the band. at the Cathedral. and also the first of Grandsire Cinques by all the band: 1934 saw him conducting the first peal of Bristol by all the band, and first in the method by resident members. In 1937 he conducted the Lincoln Guild's first peal of Spliced in 4 methods. in 1938 its first in six methods, and in 1939 its first in 10 methods. The greatest achievement, however, was in 1947 when he conducted a peal in 22 Surprise methods-all first peals in such methods by all the band. In 1947 he also took part in the 14.144 London Surprise Major, at Heydour. In all, he has rung 280 peals, of which he has conducted 122.
John is a good churchman, having served as chorister at St. Peter-at-Gowts. and also as a member of the P.C.C. He served on the Central Council from 1940 to 1960 . In 1947 he succeeded the late Rupert Richardson as Master of the Lincoln Guild. and under his able guidance there is no doubt about the future of ringing in Lincolnshire-for when John A. feels like relinquishing the reins. which we hope will not be for a long time. he has brought up two fine sons who are prepared. as is their father. to serve Lincolnshire and the Exercise.

JAFUS.

A YORKSHIRE PEAL WEEK

'WHIS began at Royston on August 2nd. where a good beat on the somewhat difficult bells was soon established. Unfortunately we were prevented from scoring our peal in 17 Minor methods. as an over enthusiastic ringer from Todmorden saw fit to break his rope during the fifth 720 . Undaunted by this early set-back. we made our way to Pontefract. where Yorkshire was scored. The heat of the day and some pungent farmyardtype smells from outside the tower, however, did their best to put us off.
The next day saw us visit Crofton. The bells are a really handy ring of six. rung from the chancel. and a decent peal of Bob Minor was scored. This was not entirely without incident, however, as the gradual disintegration of the conductor's rope conjured up visions of the previous day's disappointment being repeated Geoff Townsend and Ken Park. of Wakefield. spent the day with us. and acquitted themselves well both here and at Campsall in the afternoon. where the odd-struck hells found Spliced Plain and Little Boh well to their liking.

Both attempts on Thursday finished ingloriously. so the less said about these the better! It must be mentioned, however. that two-thirds of Pitman's 4 -Spliced was rung in a most creditable manner at Harthill, and it would have been very appropriate for Eric Critchley to score this for his 500 th, he having called this complex composition some 30 times. As it was. he had to wait till the next day, when Cambridge Major was scored it Bolsterstone. For Friday afternoon it had been decided to ring seven T.B. Minor methods at Cawthorne, and Howard Scott seemed so keen to keep sober for this attempt that he even refused a second cup of tea at lunchtime!! In spite of the hilarity that crept in'o the proceedings at this juncture. the Cawthorne peal turned out to be the best of the week. Saturday was the last day, and the fated 17-Spliced Minor peal again went down the spout. at Wentworth, due to a miscall (no names mentioned!).
For the final attempt of the week. the 'oldfaithful tower of Conisborough was on the programme. Originally, it had been intended to ring the writer's present ohsession. Ashtead S.M. As everybody was feeling slightly weary by this time. the attempt was abandoned in favour of the more familiar Double Norwich, which turned out to be its conductor's only peal success of the week
Our thanks go to Eric Critchley for making the arrangements, and incumbents and local ringers at the various towers for having everything in readiness. Roll on next time!

By T. J. LOCK

PEAL.-A peal is a performance not occasioned by all ringers. and because it is regarded by the Exercise as a creditable achievement there are several rules and conditions laid down by the Central Council which each peal band and ringer is. by duty bound and honour. required to comply with. otherwise the performance is not recognised.

Peals of Doubles. Minor and Triples shall consist of at least 5.040 true changes. whilst peals of Major. etc.. shall comprise not fewer than 5.000 true changes. all and always io be rung without interval.

PLACE,-In addition to dodge, another essential condition of change ringing in order to produce anything more than a plain course of Original is what is termed ' making a place. You will recall that in dodging the bell is kept moving, forward or backward. from one striking position to the next. but when making a place the bell is kept in the same striking position for twa or even mare blows. The first lead end of a plain course of Plain Bob will show the third bell striking twice immediately after the treble-the third is making seconds place, which is two blows in the second striking position. Look at the bobbed lead end of the same method and you will find one bell striking two consecutive blows in the fourth striking position-this is making fourths place. And. incidentally. on this particular oceasion the bell is also known to be " making the boh."
More than two blows are made in the same place, in a few methods. and Grandsire and Kent Treble Bob are no doubt the best known. It is when making a single in Grandsire that one bell strikes four consecutive blows in the third striking position and it is when making a bob in Kent that one bell strikes four consecutive blows in the fourth striking position, in both cases over two different bells as you will soon learn.

PLAIN HUNT.-A bell which plain hunts is one which changes its striking position at every stroke. except of course when leading and lying one whole pull. and hunts in a forward direction the whole time. All bells in Original are plain hunting bells, but only the treble in Plain Bob.

FLAIN LEAD.-For definition see the Central Council Handbook. It is otherwise the rows of changes between one treble lead and the next, and being without interference of any call.

PLAIN METHOD.-The requirement of a Plain Method is that the treble must be a plain hunting bell.

PRINCIPLE.-In change ringing there is an accepted difference between a Method and Principle. And a Principle is a collection of rows which form a perfect round block in which every bell does the same work: no bell moves up or down more than one place at a time; no bell lies more than two consecutive blows in any one place. Stedman is the most commonly rung Principle.

THE CENTURY TOGETHER

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bowden. who each completed their 100 peals with one of Grandsire Triples at Henbury. Bristol. The peal also enabled Mr. Bryan Huddleston. the tower master, to score his firs peal on eight bells. As his work prevents him from standing in peals on Saturdays. he has had to wait patiently for some 30 years for the opportunity. Incidentally, the peal was the fastest on the bells. If anyone knows the correct weight of the tenor, the band would be grateful for the information. The weight given is as quoted by folk lore."

AN OUTING FROLIC

Miss Carpenter takes the first pull on the new ring at Wisley Lock during the recent Putney outing.

PUTNEY OUTING

Putney ringers had their second outing of 1960 on July 23 rd when, joined by friends from Wimbledon and Kingston. they visited Surrey.

At the first stop Merrow (6). highlights of the ringing were London and York Minor. The eight bells at Worplesdon were found to be rather hard to strike well. Then came Old Woking (8) before a pienic lunch at Wisley Lock.

The low-light of the day was Kent Minimus at Ockham (5)-does the Central Council realise what it has let us in for! Hersham (8) proved to be a ring to our liking. After tea Esher (8) was visited and here a course of Superlative was nearly brought round. Our tired best was tried and at East Molesey (8). The return journey was hroken at The Swan. Thames Dition. where handbells were rung on the river bank. Thanks are accorded all clergy and Ringing Masters. who made such an enjoyable day possible.
A.C.

DARTFORD AND DISTRICT

The visit of Dartford and District ringers for their outing to Essex on June 18th was the first to that county for over 10 years.
Ringing took place before lunch at Brentwood and Braintree. followed by an excellent meal at Mounts Restaurant. Braintree. In the afternoon the bells at Sible Hedingham and Finchingfield were enjoyed before tea at Great Bardfield. The evening ringing was at Great Dunmow and High Ongar.
The date coincided with the outings of the first four towers, but they all made arrangements for our visit. which were much appreciated. We hoped they enjoyed their outings as much as we did. Thank you Essex. including clergy and tower keepers.

OUTINGS

MELTON MOWBRAY

August 13th was the day that 35 members and friends of St. Mary's Society, Melton Mowbray. logether with the Vicar (Canon Clarke), went on their annual ringing tour. The towers visited were: SS. Peter and Paul. Wisbech: St. Edmund. Downham Market; All Saints. Hilgay; SS. Peter and Paul, Swaffham: and St. Margaret. King's Lynn. Many of the local inhabitants thought that the Pied Piper of Hamelin was with us, as one of our members insisted on dashing around blowing a - pitch pipe to find out what key the bells were tuned to.
However, the ringing was good and improved as the tour proceeded but the condition of our bus did not. When the party reached Marham. it gave a gasp and rolled to a stop: the radiator was dry. so a large drink of water was needed to revive it and enable it to reach King's Lynn a little late.

The return journey to Melton Mowbray was fraught with frustration: the bus got thirstier and thirstier (and so did the ringers). until it finally refused to start after stopping for a drink. Not to be outdone the back-enders went round the 'back-end" and pushed: the engine revived. coughing and spluttering and the journey continued with clouds of steam bellowing out behind. It seemed as if Stephenson's Rocket had come to life, for the bus certainly consumed more water than petrol. Nevertheless. our bright hopes were short-lived. for a few miles further on the engine groaned and died. Who suid have an outing on the 13th?
A search found a nearby fish and chip shop together with a friendly hostelry. Some of the party adjourned to the Blue Boar, at Eye, to oil the bells' and whilst the remainder sat in the bus singing 'A bide with me. fast falls the eventide' and 'Rescue the Perishing. By $11.15 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. the relief bus arrived and go next was called. Melton was reached in the early hours of Sunday morning.
The cry on our next outing wilt undoubtedly be 'Has anyone got a gasket?' Our grateful thanks are extended to all incumbents, ringers. and caterers who made possible an excellent day's enjoyment.

GRAPPENHALL BRANCH

Two coaches were in use for the Grappenhall Branch outing on July 16th, one leaving Frodsham at $7.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and the other Runcorn at 7.30 a.m. Both met at Stafford, where Bob Warrilow met the party, and ringing attempted included a half-course of Cambridge Royal and Kent T.B. Royal.

Penkridge, a good eight, had the longest draught of rope between ringer and ceiling that we have encountered. It is a pity that there is no service ringing on such good bells.

Lunch was taken in the New Market Restaurant in the shade of St. Peter's. Wolverhampton. The new church at Tettenhall has a nice ring of eight, and we were pleased to be informed by the tower captain that they had a regular service band. Old Swinford was difficult to find-it is a suburb of Stourbridgeand we had to curtail our ringing here to be on time for tea at Kidderminster.
On the homeward journey we made two calls -at Malvern Quatt, a very pleasant six, and at Bridgnorth. where the Vicar joined in the ringing. Methods rung during the day were Cambridge, London, Kent, Plain Bob and rounds. Home was reached at midnight. Thanks are accorded incumbents and tower captains, and to Mr. C. Raddon in organising the outing, a job he has done-with the exception of the war years-for 30 years. We hope he will carry on with the good work. W. A.

LETTERS TO

DEGRADING THE STANDARDS
Dear Sir.-May I offer my congratulations to those members of the Leicester Diocesan Guild who have recently added further to the great achievement of that Society by establishing a new record length of Minimus (non-conducted. moreover). I would suggest. however. that they have over-estimated their achievement by four changes.

Since the Council decided to accept performances of the required lengih upon tour bells as peals. there have been several such puhlished. Now, I suppose, there is some shght excuse for recognising as a peal the appropriate performance in a four-bell tower (although why anybody should want to ring peals in these places is beyond me). but in my opinion peals of Minimus upon handbells are a complete and utter waste of the time and the very listle effort required to ring them.
Such stunts do nothing to enhance the reputation of the participants throughout the Exercise at large, and serve only to degrade the standards set by more responsible ringers. -Yours faithfully.
Coventry.

PORTSMOUTH'S EXAMPLE  \section*{COMMENDED}

Dear Sir,-With the shortage of learners these days, there is only one way to make people interested in ringing. It is not to take them to the bells but to take the bells to the people. This was done at Portsmouth Cathedral on July 17th (' R.W: of July 29th), where there was a ringers' Evensong. The tower was open four times during the day for everybody who cared to ascend the stairs, and during Evensong handbells were rung in the nave. As is their custom, a "coffee hour' is held in the Church House after the service, and the ringers chatted among the congregation, with a result that two people are now wishing to learn.
Now if this could only be done in other churches throughout England, not only would the normal churchgoer know what ringing is like but there would be the odd one or two who would like to start learning. and the ringers would not be referred to as people who come out of a hole in the wall. as I heard once. after the service has started. and distracting their attention.
I have noticed as I have been going around various towers that ringing flourishes where there is a ground floor ring and everybody can see what is going on. Even in churches where there are no ringers, a team can go out and ring the bells and ihen use handbells during the service, and possibly 3 sermon on the sub-ject-as that given at Portsmouth-could be preached. When recruits are found arrangements can be made on the same principle as has been adopted by the Surrey Association.Yours sincerely.

RECRLITMENT

Dear Sir.-Owing to the industry of this South Devon seaside resort being mainly connected with holidaymakers. and the consequent departure of young people after leaving school. great difficulty had been experienced in the past in keeping up a band of ringers at St. Michael's Church.
In Advent, 1958, several very young Confirmation candidates expressed a desire to learn to ring. Some doubts were then entertained as to the possibility of teaching them on the rather heavy bells, some of which are oddstruck and rather awkward to ring (tenor $22 \frac{1}{4}$ cwi.). However, after great perseverance, six young people have just rung quarter peals of Grandsire Doubles, and they regularly ring the front bells 10 Triples and the heavier bells to call-changes. The quarter peals were rung in nearby towers with light bells in villages which are too small to support bands of ringers and where the bells are rarely heard.
Great credit is due to these six schoolchild ren, who usually come to the church four times on a Sunday-once for early Communion and three times for ringing.
This letter is submitted in the hope that it may be helpful in places where recruitment is difficult. It is ten years since I retired and came to ring in Teignmouth, and it is very gratifying to me that we now have such a satisfactory state of affairs in the belfry.Yours faithfully,
E. M. ATKINS

Teignmouth, Devon.

NAMING OF SURPRISE METHODS

Dear Sir.-With reference to 'Alphabet for Beginners, page 265. Extension of Methods. Norwich Surprise Minor extends to all even numbers of bells, in three different ways

Probably the best extension is the static extension, like Kent and Oxford T.B.. viz.:

- $34-14-12-36-34$ -
- $34-14-12-36-34-38-34-34$
$-34-14-12-30-34-30-34-30-34$
$-34-14-12-3 t-34-3 t-34-3 t-34-3 t-34$
In all cases the half-lead and lead-end places are as in Kent T.B.

There are two expanding extensions of the method, viz.:-
-34-14-12-36-34-
$-34-14-12-36-34-58-56$ -
$-34-14-12-36-34-58-56-$
$-34-14-12-36-34-58-56-70-78-$
$-34-14-12-36-34-58-56-70-78-9 t-90-$ and

-34-14-12-36-34-

-34-14-1256-36-3478-58-56-70-78-
$-34-14-1256-36-3478-58-5690-70-78-9 t-90-$ Half-lead and lead-end as Kent T.B.

Might I point out that many people who are trying to compile a list of methods rung to peals do not possess a copy of Corrigan's Surprise Major. Also, that those who are just starting to 'collect methods find it necessary to start with new methods and gradually work backwards. Also, Corrigan's Collections have been so messed around by some condyctors that we cannot always rely on the names in that collection. The fact that Foxearth is 8ths place Feering is of no use to a beginner if he hasn't got Feering. Are we to assume that Romford. Birmingham and Shoreditch are as given in Corrigan's? Is Northolt the same as the method rung five years ago in a peal of Spliced? Methods have been rung in spliced and then the name changed when rung to a peal. Hillingdon Surprise Royal is not the extension of Hillingdon Surprise Major given in Corrigan's. This means that the name of Hillingdon S. Major will have to be changed, since it has not been pealed. Royston again!

Can we have the place notation or C.C number of every new method when it is published, and not some time after: also. will conductors and others please ary to use the names with the methods given in Corrigan's. and stop causing more confusion by needlessly (or carelessly) using a different name for a method named in Corrigan's, and also needlessly (or carelessly) using names in Corrigan's for other methods? - Yours sincerely.

HANDBELL RINGING

Dear Sir--Mr. Heppenstall's letter on handbell ringing exactly sums up the way I have always done it: like him. I never learn the blue line of a new method for handbell:

To my mind. the whole foundation of handbell ringing is to master thoroughly the combined work of 'positions' of the various pairs in the plain hunting course, the number of these being equal to the number of pairs of bells involved Thus in Major there is (1) the coursing position, rung by $1-2$ and $7-8$; (2) the $2-3$ position. rung by $2-3$ and $6-7:(3)$ the $3-4$ position, rung by $3-4$ and 5-6. and (4) . opposites. rung by $4-5$. It helps to study these by combined diagrams showing blue lines of both bells: and the bells should then be rung as one unit and be made to help each other as much as possible until the performance becomes quite automatic. Only much practice can achieve this: it was. I think, my hardest fence when learning: but anyone capable of learning to ring at all can do it, only providing he is ready to try.

The mathod of ringing by the places then follows. Mr. Heppenstall described this very clearly and pointed out its advantages in his letter. He and his band have certainly given ample demonstration of what can be done!

Handbell ringers are sometimes regarded as people with rather abnormal talent: this was particularly so in my younger days when far fewer ringers realised how it was done. Remarks such as 'It must be twice as hard as it is in the tower. though gratifying to vanity, really do not represent the true state of aftairs! [ once heard of a man who could write two entirely different letters simultaneously with a pen in each hand: now he must have had an abnormal 'kink. I do not think the average person could do this. however hard or long he tried-I know I could not. The idea that to be able to ring handbells one must have such a kink is one that, I am sure. puts many people off trying.

Handbell ringing depends very much on rhythm and preserving the pattern. and cellapses much more easily than tower bell ringing. For thi, reason I always try to tie my bells up by knowing their individual course bells. and. in Surprise. by trying to ring them from lead to lead, as ringers do in the tower. London Surprise is particularly liable to rapid disintegration: and it is also very easy in this method to cros; one's pair without knowing it It was. I am sure. owing to this that William Pye said. 'Don't let your left hand know what your right hand is doing. This saying seems to have been adopted as a sort of rule by some ringers, and, because it was said by a very great ringer. has been given much more weight than it deserves. I think it has done much harm. Not only does it perpetuate the myth that one must have rather an abnormal mind. like the man who could write two letters at once: but it also suggests to the learner that it is wrong for him to learn to ring by position and link his bells together as a pair. It is not an original saying. for it comes straight out of the Sermon on the Mount (St. Matthew vi, 3). and was intended to govern cur attitude to almsgiving and not as an instruction on how we should ring handbells! In the latter connection I wish it could be forgotten and never heard again.
Finally, I deprecate the use of the word expert.' There are so many bogus experts about in all subjects today. one might almost say 'quacks and have done with it. In is good sense it jndicates a man who knows all about his subject and has finished learning; but I think that the great attraction in ringing is that one can never reach this stage: there is always something more to learn.

DOUBLE NORWICH FOR THE BEGINNER

By WILFRID G. WILSON

I INTRODUCTION

NoORMALLY. the four standard methods are reckoned to be Grandsire. Stedman Plain Bob and Kent (or Oxford) Treble Bob. We have dealt. at various times, with three of them and you may, therefore. think it would have been more reasonable to deal next with Treble Bob. But if you, as a learner. learn Treble Bob next or if you, as a teacher teach Treble Boh next, you will find that the obvious follow up from that will be a Surprise method. probably Cambridge. You will have learnt the treble bob hunting and. attracted by the name of Surprise. you'll never look back.

And that would be a great pity. There are many good ringers to-day-you meet them at every Association practice-who cannot or do not ring Double Norwich. And there are many more who cannot conduct it, though they can probably ring and perhaps cal several Surprise methods.
Double Norwich is or should be the step before Surprise Major ringing. It is, musical it is simple and it is one of a very large number of Plain Major methods which are almost completely neglected. Yet they are interesting to ring and have many advantages over Surprise methods. For one thing courses are half the length so you can get more variety. For another true composition is as easy as it is in Plain Bob-there are no false course ends to worry about. The regular coursing order of the bells is retained, as in Plain Bob. but with the added advantage that the dodging at the front and back gives you more time 10 see the coursing order Jasper Snowdon, in the preface to his book on Double Norwich, written tn 1884, says. "This method is. I consider, the one to which each ringer should turn his attention after mastering the four standard methods.

II THE CONSTRUCTION OF SIMPLE

METHODS

From this point onwards you will find it worth while 10 have pencil and paper handy. 1 am convinced that just reading anything to do with figures is not nearly so useful as if you make the effort and write them out and work them through for yourself.
To help us to understand the basis of Double Norwich Court Bob Major let us go back to Plain Bob and see what it is that forms the method out of a plain hunting course. You can't ring Double Norwich on six bells. but we will use six for our examples at first. for simplicity. At the end of the twelve changes on six bells (a plain hunt) we produce a new series of figures. instead of coming in to rounds. by one bell making seconds nlace over the treble and leading againi.e. instead of 123456 we have 135264.

And if we do this for five lead ends we have a coutse of Plain Bob Minor. At each of these lead ends the treble has been made to course or hunt between a different pair of bells. Hence, each of the five leads is different. But. you will say, the treble has a fixed path so how could we have moved it to between another pair of bells? What we have really done is to make one of the working bells. which was coursing in front of the treble. stay twice in one place (seconds) and then go behind the treble. The other bells, not being able for the moment to continue their hunting because of the place making bell. have dodged and then continued their hunting. There are live working be'ls and if we make this alteration five times we come back to our plain hunting order-rounds
We could equally well have made our alteration at the half lead end-when the treble is at the back. Instead of $645231 \quad 645231$ 654321 we could have 462531 . The bell which was last when the treble got to the back. that is hunting in front of the treble. makes fifths place under the treble and then goes behind it. The other bells dodge once (in $1-2$ or $3-4$ ) because the place making temporarily upsets their plain hunting path.

We have nuade an alteration which is similar in effect to the lead end alteration of Plain Bob Minor-but at the back at the half lead end instead. Five of these alterations will bring us back to the plain hunting course again and we have a plain course of Reverse Bob Minor.

Now let us see what happens if we put both these alterations into operation in one method. Here is a lead with the 123456 place made at the half 214365 lead end when the treble 241635 is at the back and at the 426153 lead end when it gets to 462513
the front again. 645231 half
We sec that we have 462531 lead moved the position of the 645213 place reble in relation to the other 654123 bells once at the half lead 561432 and again at the lead end. 516342 So we have, in fact. 153624 lead end reached the same lead end 156342 place as we would get in Plain Bob Minor after two leads. Do this five times and we come back to rounds, having now got a course of Double Bob Minor.

III COL'RT PLACES

The alterations dealt with in the last section are made by ordinary lead end or half lead end places. But we can equally well make such alterations by making a bell pass from one side of the treble to the other in the middle of the work. If you examine this example you will see that all 123456 the bells are plain hunting. except that the bell (3) hunting in fron' of the treble in the first hali of the lead 423165 stops in fourths place until the 243615 treble catches it up. then crosses it. makes thirds place and hunts up behind it. And when the places are being made some of 465123 the other bells have to dodge 641532 because the place interferes with 614523 their regular hunting path. (The 165432 black figures denote internal alteration.)

In the second half of the lead the corresponding internal places are made. The bell hunting in front of the treble (5) makes thirds place, lets the treble pass it, makes fourths place and follows the treble down Again some of the bells have to dodge while the places are being made

We have two sets of places in our lead and as with Double Bob Minor, we produce the lead end 156342-the second lead end of Plain Bob Minor. These internal places are called Court Places.
If you make these Court Places in five successive leads you will produce a plain course of Double Court Minor. Then if you draw the blue line by joining up one of the figures throughout the five leads you will find that you have quite an interesting looking method-though a quite simple, regular one If this was an article on building up methods, we could go on to consider what happens when we add to this last method sreonds place at the lead end or fifths place at the half lead end. or both. Or what happens if we have half of our court places in the first half of the lead and the remainder in the second half-and so on. We would have quite enough methods to be getting on with. But if we have written enough to show what Court Places are and how they make an alteration with the same effect as an ordinary internal place, then we are ready to look at Double Norwich.

NORWICH DIOCESAN

A very enjoyable meeting of the Northern Branch was held at Yaxham. on July 23 rd. Abcut 30 members and friends sat down to tea which was given by the local ringer's.

The chairman (Mr. A. G. Bason) welcemed the president. Mr. F. N. Golden. after his sccond spell in hospital. The president. whe seemed well and truly back to his normal self, read a poem relating to a peal board in Yaxham lower. much to the amusement of all present. He emphasised the importance of these old peal boards.

Mr. A. Twyman, of Bowdon, Cheshire. was elected a N.R.L.M.. and fellow members were present from Bowdon. Cheshire, and Epsom. A very interesting address was given by the Vicar, the Rev. D. F. J. Rutt. In the absence of the Ringing Master. J. R. Smith. the bells were kept going from rounds to London Surprise. under the guidance of C. F. Goodman. Next meeting October 15th. at Reepham. ## BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

On August 13th ringers from the Biggles wade District held their monthly meeting a Northill The Rector. Rev. T. A. Frost. conducted the service and welcomed the visitors to his church

Mr. L. Bywaters was Ringing Master for the afternoon and he also took the chair for the business meeting, which followed tea. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Sandy, on September 10 th. A joint meeting with the Ely Diocesan Association had been arranged for Septeriber 17th at Si. Neols.

Mr. A. Smith said that Mr. C. E. Jeffries had been proposed as a non-resident life member of the Association, prior to 3 peal at Maulden. and this was duly ratified.
More visitors arrived when ringing was resumed and during the short interval, which was caused by a rope breaking. the company were entertained by handbell ringing. S. P.

GuILDFORD GUILD ASSISTANT SECRETARY WEDS

EMMANUEL, PLYMOUTH, RINGERS IN SOMERSET

A telegram from the Vicar and Mrs. Young, on holiday in Scotland, extending good wishes for the day, was read before Emmanuel ringers set out on their annual outing on July 16th at $7.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. The idea was to get well beyond Exeter before stopping. This we did, and although there was a short stop for coffee two miles from Honiton, Crewkerne was reached on time and we received the congratulations of the Rev. Mr. Marshall. He and his wife joined us in a louch or two.
Traffic congestion was met at Yeovil, and this meant cutting the lunch period to be at the church on time and have an hour's ringing on the splendid ten. The fine eight at Milborne Port (tenor 29 cwt .) followed. before we had tea at Wincanton. We could not ring at Wincanton because of a broken gudgeon pin to the seventh, but Mr. Chilcott, the captain, kindly arranged for us to ring at Ditcheat, where we had some fine ringing.
Castle Cary was reached about 41 minutes late, but the captain there was waiting for us, he hiving heard of the slight change of programme. This was a grand finale to a grand day.
A most cordial welcome was accorded us at every tower. Mr. Chilcott was very upset that we could not ring at Wincanton as he had arranged the tea. He has a personal interest in Emmanuel as towards the end of the war, when stationed at Mount Batten, he rang with us on a number of occasions.
H. H.T.

I SSISTANT secretary of the Guildford Diocesan Guild. Miss Winifred Rosemarie Hide, only child of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Hide. of 8 . Crondall Lane. Farnham, was married Farnham Parish Church on August 6th to Mr. Geoffrey Hugh Chapman. a ringer and server at St. Michael's Church. Aldershot. The Rev. E. Wood officiated. and the bells were rung before and after the service by Farnham and Aldershot ringers.
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length white brocade dress with full-length veil held in place by a coronet of orange blossom. The bridesmaids were Ann (the sister of the bridegroom). Muriel Woodger and eight-year-old Janet Denyer. Mr. Gordon Williams was best man.
At the reception. the health of the bride and bridegroom was proposed by Mr. C. W. Denyer. Master of the Guildford Diocesan Guild. Handbells were rung at the reception and the honeymoon is being spent motoring on the Continent. Presents included a week-end case and tray from Farnham Parish Church ringers and a pyrex set from St. Michael's. Aldershot. ringers.

Unfortunately. Ashendon Church has only three bells-one of those being cracked-and so 10 mark the occasion six friends attempled and were successful in ringing a quarter peal at nearby Wotton Underwood tower. where the bride has been a ringer for several years.

A CHESHIRE WEEK

Reporting on his successful peal week in the Cheshire area. Mr. Brian Harris writes that for the fourth year running a week's ringing has heen held to help some ringers in the area to practise some of the simpler Surprise methods.
They had also one first pealer in a peal of Grandsire Triples and a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob for a change. David Ilewellyn. from Cardiff. joined the party and. as the footnotes show, made quite a lot of progress.
Only one peal was lost-Bristol Surprise-but. comments Mr. Harris. Perhaps we were a little rash to attempt this on a Friday evening!'

DICTURED here are Mr. Cyril A. Wratten. captain of St. Mary's Cheltenham, tower. and his bride. Miss Margery A. Birch. formerly of Truro after their wedding at All Saints' Church. Hartley. Kent. on July 30 ith . Wish them is Mr. Alan Carveth. the best man: the Rev. R. A. Williams. formerly of Truro, officiated.

The bride. who was given away by her father. wore a short dress of white broderie anglaise. The two hells of Hartley were chimed and handbells rung as the happy couple lefi the church. After a recention at Hartley Rectory, the bride and bridegroom left for a honeymoon in Guernsey. Their home will be 36. Waseley Road. Cheltenham

Peals in honour of the occasion were rung at Stisted. Essex. and Kenwyn. Truro.

B.ARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Nine towers were represented at the monthly meeting at Eastwood. near Rotherham. on August 13th. Mr. Noel F. Moxon. who presided at the short business meeting. thanked all responsible for the excellent arrangements and the warm welcome. The next meeting. the cup contest. will be at Hoylandswaine, near Sheffield. on September 10th.

THANK YOU

Congratulations and thanks to the veterans of the Kent County Association. and I would like them to know that I appreciate vely much the dedication of their peal to the memory of my husband. Thank you!

A WEEK-END IN DERBY

AREA
The fortunate few who were privileged to take part in the August Bank Holiday weekend tour in Derbyshire. organised by Mrs. E. A. G. Bowden. will long remember it as a period of intense activity and enjoyment.
The main party assembled on Friday evening. July 29th. at Breadsall Rectory, where Mrs. Bowden's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Grime. held open house, and the earlier arrivals had the pleasure of joining the ringers at nearby Duffield in their weekly practice.
The following morning, the real business commenced. with a peal of Yorkshire Major at Crick, which was brought round in grand style. Lunch. at Ashover. was followed by a really fine peal of Double Norwich, which brought hearty congratulations from a prominent local ringer and the Vicar of Ashover. who invited us to the Vicarage for refreshments.
But a mere two peals was hardly enough to satisfy the enthusiasm of these lads and lasses, so we made a dash for Bakewell and were rewarded with a touch or two on the newly rededicated eight bells.

On Sunday morning we joined in the service ringing at Breadsall. and rang touches of Stedman. Cambridge and London. and in the afternoon a peal of Superlative was scored at Darley Dale.
The carly part of Bank Holiday was spent in a sort of treasure hunt. but eventually we found our objective-that architectural gem. the Church of the Holy Angels. Hoar Cross. and here we spent a pleasant hour on the very fine six bells.
A quick 'pull , at Church Gresley preceded lunch. after which came the last peal attempt of the tour. at Loughborough Parish Church. But here came the anti-climax. for this band. with a fair blend of talent and experience, just could not settle to Cambridge Royal and in spite of the gallant efforts of our conductor. D P. Jones, we had to bow our heads and steal away from the lower after about an hour's indifferent ringing.

However. three peals from four attempts was not bad going and all agreed that a most enjoyable and successful time had been hadwe evan enjoyed the more-or-less continuous search for the lost camera. the property of John Hunt. (What a name for a never-rest expedition!) At Loughborough we said our 'good-byes. hoping to meet again soon, and in the meantime we shall never forget the wonderful hospitality of the Rev. and Mrs. Grime. nor the welcome we were given by the incumbents of other places. where we were not only given permission to ring. but were even provided with refreshments after peals!

Yes, a memorable week-end indeed. spent among those lovely hills and dales, where we always found a welcome, enjoyed ringing on some excellent bells and renewed acquaintance with many old fricnds, including "Jafus." and that dynamic personality. Mr. C. E. Jeffries.
Finally, may I say, on behalf of us all:
Thank you. Elizabeth!'

MARSTON RINGERS' DAY OUT

The Thame-Aylesbury area was selected by ringers of St. Nicholas: Old Marston, and other Oxford friends. for their outing on August 6th.

After lunch at Thame, an hour's ringing took place on the eight bells of Long Crendon. followed by a visit to the five bell tower of Nethet Winchendon, where the Vicar and tower captain joined in the ringing. Other towers visited before a pienic lea were St . Nicholas. Cuddington. and SS. Peter and Paul's. Dinton. the heaviest ring of the day.

The long draught at St. John-the-Baptist's. Stone. caused some initial difficulties and at the last tower. St. Mary s. Haddenham. the Vicar welcomed the party. A tired hut happy company made it: way hack to Oxford. For their help in making the tour so successful thank: are accorded incumbents and tower captains.

OBITUARY

MR. P. H. MARSHALL
Yatton. Somerset. ringers will sadly miss. both in the tower and church. a faithful member of the band. Mr. P. H. Marshall, who passed away after a comparatively short illness

The funeral on August 8 th was conducted by Preb. G. A. Beechey (Vicar), and was well attended as "Harry' was held in high esteem as honorary secretary of the ringers. deputy churchwarden, church councillor and sidesman He was also a prominent member of Yatton Bowling Club. The lesson was read by the captain of the ringers. Mr. H. A. Price (lay reader).

As a fitting tribute to a well-loved member a plain course of Grandsire Triples. on handbells. was rung by Mrs. Kingcott. Mr. H. W. Knight. Mr. W. Kingcott and Mr. D. Yeo (branch secretary) in the church at the end of the service

KNIGHTS' KNAVES TOUR

August Monday saw 'Knights" Knaves again on a day's tour, although this year a few in the party could not be called. Knaves. The coach started from Willingham at 7.45 a.m and proceeded to Apsley End. Hertfordshire. there to be met by D. E. R. Knights, who had arranged the tour. Also waiting to welcome the party was Mr. W. Ayre and local members, and these fine bells were soon going to a varicty of methods.

Langleybury was visited before lunch at Watford. Then on to Bushey, Harrow Weald and Stanmore, with a fair selection on Major methods.

Tea followed at Edgware, after which we went to Elstree and Edgware to conclude the day's ringing.
Ringing at all the towers visited was thoroughly enjoyed, and the excellent "go' of the bells much appreciated
Our organist friend, who made the journey with us. enjoyed playing the organ at six of the churches. Leaving Edgware about 10 p.m.. Willingham was reached in the small hours. Thank you. Don. for another enjoyable day and also thanks to incumbents and ringers who met us.
H. S. P.

OTHER BELLS

wHEN we return to our own tower after outings or ringing excursions. we often hear the remark: 'lt's good to be back. I like our bells best.' It is not usually the tone of the bells but the familiar handling that we find comforting, though knowing which bell is which also counts. The odd spacing or circle of ropes in some towers is often confusing. Many are the bands we have scen getting hopelessly confused on our left-handed ring, but that is an extra difficulty which is fortunately rather rare.

Why is it almost safe to say that no two bells run alike? Surely with modern bellhanging they should be very similar, apart from weight-but they are not! However, the instructor is right when he says that any ringer with correct technique of bell control can ring any bell within the limits of his physical strength. And the foundation of that technique is so simple-a long, straight pull at backstroke.

Examine the factors making bells different to handle:-

1. Length of Draught.-A long length of rope always increases the difficulty of handling, especially with light bells. In dry weather the ropes are very elastic and give a springy non-positive feel to the weight of the bell. The long draught also aggravates the amount of the shortening of the ropes in wet weather.
2. Height of Belfry Ceiling.-The ideal height is such that the sallies just disappear at backstroke. With higher ceilings in ground floor belfries it is usual to have sally guides, which counteract the tendency for ropes to drift out of reach, but usually they produce a considerable rattle which makes listening difficult. In any case, extra care must be taken to pull the backstroke well in. When the ceiling is too low there is a tendency for the sallies to lay on the floor above if the ringer is slack in his pull.
3. Weight of Bell.-Any bells under 5 cwt . need careful ringing. Bumping the bell off the stay is the most common fault, and this may be avoided by catching the sally high and keeping the rope's end short so that the body must be lifted on to the toes before a bump can occur. On heavy bells the pull must be judged very accurately, for if overpulled the bell will require more checking than the ringer is capable of. Economy of effort is essential. Ringing a heavy bell is a fine art. and good striking can only be maintained if the 'back bells ' are well handled.
4. The Hanging of the Bell--Modern hanging is seldom other than in ball-bearings, which naturally reduces the effort needed to ring heavy bells; but a bell properly hung in plain bearings is sometimes more pleasant to ring. Some old heavy bells are very long waisted, and the headstocks being attached to 'canons ' instead of the modern flat boss makes for much leverage against the ringer and also much slowness in striking. The modern arched iron headstock tucks up the bell. greatly reducing the pull required, though producing complications in 'clappering up,' which have to be solved by specially counterbalancing the clappers. The use of the straight 'Hastings' stay with ' $S$ ' guide instead of the old-fashioned curved stay and slider makes no difference to the feel of a bell, but the old style is more liable to be deformed and cause the bell to set awkwardly deep at one stroke.
5. Acoustics.-Many good rings of bells are unpleasant to ring owing to their being either difficult to hear or too loud for the conductor to be able to make himself heard. The ideal is to have an intermediate room between the belfry and bell chamber. When bells are close above and sound-deadening materials are put in, the volume of sound fluctuates when most of the sallies are in the rope holes at backstroke. The rattle of ropes in sally guides has already been mentioned as a nuisance in long-draught towers. Modern bells have so much more "breath' in them than old ones that they are seldom difficult to hear, but in some cases the hum and harmonics produced swamp the top notes and make the sounds indistinct.
You are probably not so fortunate as to be in an ideal tower, with the best of bells and ringing conditions, but if you ring well and do justice to your tower and bells you will gain much personal satisfaction and give pleasure to the many people in the parish who like the sound of their bells-A. W.

 and his and his band at Hambleden. Bucks, on August 19 th. In all 113 individual plain course methods were rung. The record for Minor methods is 126. rung in a peal of 6.480 changes. Congratulations!The peal at Rickmansworth on August 20th of Southwell Surprise Major was rung after meeting short for Royal.

Mr. L. Willders, of Lineoln, has 'circled" Bassingham tower to peals, compieted on August 14th with the treble to Cambridge Surprise Minor.

Mr. J. E. Jeater will be away from home from September 5 th to 17 th . Correspondence requiring immediate attention should be sent qo the Editor at Guildford.
Mr. Adrian J. Tumber, of Bishopstoke, writes expressing his thanks to Middlesex County Association ringers, particularly the Master (Mr. John R. Mayne), for their hospitality during his recent visit
A plaque recording the quarter peal of Grandsire Caters rung half-muffled in memory of the late Ernest J. Jelley will be unveiled and dedicated in the ringing chamber of St . John the Divine, Leicester during the practice night on Thursday. September 8 th. by the Vicar, the Rev. W. Basil Williams. An invitation is extended to all who wish to be present.
In expressing his apologies, to all concerned. Mr. A. James Poynor withdraws the footnote to the peal rung at Ratby. Lincs. on July 25th (see page 554) in which he stated that he believed the band to be the youngest to ring a peal of Major. His thanks are due to Mr. Ernest Morris, who gave him a cutting of the peal in the same method rung at Crayford on April 21st. 1934. The average age of this band was just over 15 years and the peal was conducted by John J. L. Gibert, who was then $15 \frac{1}{2}$ years. The amended footnote of the Ratby peal should read: 'Youngest band to ring a peal of Major for the Guild.'

Mr. Trevor Vendy, of Mar ket Harborough, with the minimum of help and expen diture. has recommissioned the five bells at Ashley, Northants, which for 41 years have been unringable. His work was proved by the first quarter peal there on August 6th.
Many ringing friends who visit Cornwall wil! be pleased to learn that Jan, Sangwin has. by ringing his first quarter of Stedman, achieved an ambition of 30 years, when he first learned the method.
We hear that whilst Mr. Gordon Halls, of Derby, is over in New York and Los Angeles on business for Rolls Royce, his wife, Pat. has slipped over to Paris for a holiday. Sauce for the goose, etc.!
Flying back to the States today is Mr. Russell Young, of Groton School. Massachusetts. His two months' visit to this country. the second year in succession, has brought him into contact with a large number of ringers who have been charmed with the American ringers. Last Sunday Mr. Young rang at Holy Trinity and St, Mary's Churches, Guildford, and in the evening at Hillingdon.
Although the date of the diamond wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clarke. of Leicester, was August 8 th the peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal at St. John the Divine. Leicester, in honour of the occasion was not rung until August 20th, owing to some of the band being on holiday. Mr. S. Harrison visited the couple to tell them of the attempt and was gratified to learn that the family celebration coincided with the rearranged date.

Whilst the recent quarter peal was being rung at Dean Prior. Devon, after the institution of the Rev. J. W. Timms to the benefice. several members of the congregation watched the progress of the ringing with great interest. At the conclusion the new Rector expressed his thanks, and gave a message to the ringers from the Lord Bishop of Plymouth, saying that his Lordship regretted not seeing the ringers personally because the quarter peal had already commenced.

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE COMMEMORATED

A remembrance week-end was held in Hampshire to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the death of Florence Nightingale, and this culminated in a special remembrance service held at the Church of St. Mary, Southampton. on August 14th, which was attended by members of the staff of local hospitals, the British Red Cross Society and the St. John Ambulance Brigade. The service also commemorated the 100th anniversary of the founding of the first: Nightingale training school for nurses.

The Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild co-operated with the anniversary and rang five peals and a quarter peal over a wide area of Florence Nightingale's home country, i.e.. Bishopstoke, Christchurch Priory, St. Mary's. Southampton. Winchester Cathedral and Brightwalton. Berks.

The peal at Bishopstoke was of particular interest. A new method.' Nightingale Treble Place Bob Major, was found for the occasion by Mr. Frank Blagrove. Mr. R. Roger Savory, who conducted, had to use two different calls.
The quarter peal was rung at Romsey Abbey, the nearest ring of bells to Florence Nightingale's resting place at East Wellow. This consisted of 1,260 Grandsire Triples, and was rung prior to the Sung Eucharist on August 14 ih by Miss C. White 1, C. M. White 2, M. D. G. Northway 3, H. J. Page 4, D. Greenlaw 5, C. Redwood 6, A. W. Fry (conductor) 7, L, F. Cobb 8.

The bells of St. Mary's, Southampion, were also rung previous to the memorial service.

Soothes Away The Worries

As a very busy business woman, 1 have to do most of my 'chores' in the evening. I always save the quiet jobs in the garden, weeding, transplanting, etc., until Thursday because that is the local church bellringers' practice night, and the peaceful, 'far-from-this-troubledworld' sound soothes away the worries of the week. -Mrs. M. James, Sale, Cheshire, to 'Woman's Weekly.'

BEDFORDSHIRE RINGERS MARRIED

Two well known Bedfordshire ringers, Mr Stephen Ivin and Miss Avril Thackray, were married at All Saints* Church. Houghton Conquest, on Saturday, August 13th.
The bridegroom. who attended Bedford School and later studied at Merton College, Oxford, is the only son of Mrs. M. Ivin, of 26. High Street. Houghton Conquest, Beds.

The bride, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Thackray, of 79 , Spenser Road, Bedford, is a former pupil of Dame Alice Harpur School. Bedford, and subsequently atttended the Leicester College of Domestic Science.

Father Francis was the officiating clergyman.
Miss A. E. Lloyd, a college friend, made a charming bridesmaid and the best man was Mr. P. Border, whilst Messrs. J. R. Taylor and J B. Long acted as ushers.
About 30 guests were present at the reception at the White Hart Hotel, Ampthill.
As the ceremony proceeded, in this beautiful old church, those of us whose minds tended to wander probably recalled the time, about 12 years ago. when the bridegroom first became imterested in campanology and how. in no time at all. he handled a bell with the skill and assurance of a veteran.

His progress since those days is well known to all who are interested in ringing, but not all of us. probably, realise how much he has done for the advancement of change ringing. and many of us. who smugly pride ourselves on our regularity. overlook the fact that we could render far greater service to the church if we had a fraction of Stephen's penetration and persistence.
and persistence. If say that his charming bride is a lovely ringer I am in no danger of being wrong (whichever way I am interpreted!) and neither Boh Singles nor Surprise Maximus is any trouble to Avril!

As this young couple set out on the great adventure, their numerous friends wish them every happiness and many years together.

MR, C. W, DENYER

Master, Guildford Diocesan Guild.
Charies William Denyer was born at Tongham. Surrey. on March 25th. 1911, and a year later the family moved into Aldershot, where their father. Mr. William Denyer, was employed in the printing trade. Charles was educated at the local C. of E. school and later at Farnborough Technical (now Grammar) School. The light ring of six bells at Aldershot was augmented 108 in 1920, and the 3 young Denyer children. Grace (13), Nancie (10) and Charles (9). were the first three recruits to learn handling the new trebles under their father and C.Q.M.S. George Gilbert.
In 1924. at the age of 13, a local peal of Grandsire Triples at Aldershot enabled Charles to ring his first peal, although his sister Nancie had scored a peal of Plain Bob Major a year before-the youngest lady to do so and a record which stood for many years. Peal ringing is not his chief ambition in ringing. however, as the modest total of 90 on tower bells proves. On his 20th birthday he conducted his first peal (one of Minor) and his total conducted now is 25 . In each of these there has been one or more first pealers or first in the method. In addition he has rung two handbell peals-one of Minor with the late J. S. Goldsmith (Mr. Goldsmith's last peal) and one of Grandsire Triples with the late A. H. Pulling.

The Guildford Diocese was formed in 1927. and a year later Mr. Denyer was elected secretary of the Farnham District. a post he held until 1948 when he succeeded to the office of District Ringing Master. On vacating that position five years later he was made a vice-

AN APOLOGY TO  MISS ARMSTRONG

In regard to the recent controversy over the ringing of the curfew at Morpeth Watch Tower. Miss J. S. Armstrong has received the following letter from Mr. J. Ainsworth:-

I would like to say on behalf of the persons who have rung peals on Morpeth bells recently that we were not aware of the inconvenience we are causing you. We sincerely regret that the whole business had to come to light in the public press. Finally, nay I say that I hope you will ring the curfew for many years 10 come.'
Visitors from Surrey and Hertfordshire rang at the Watch Tower on August 23 rd for half a hour.
president of the Guildford Guild and in 1958 was elected Guild Master. This year he has aiso been elected to the Central Council. He is able to ring double-handed on tower bells, and has completed two quarter peals-one being at Hersham. where Mr. W. Simmonds rang 1-2 and himself 3-4 and Mr. Tony Price 5-6 to Bob Minor. The other double handed quarter, of Grandsire Triples, was at Farnham earlier this year.
Like his late father, Mr. Denyer is a printer, having been apprenticed as a compositor to Messrs. E. W. Langham, The Herald Press, Farnham, in 1927. During the last war he served for five years in the Royal Artillery (Searchlights) and spent a short period in Norway. In 1942 he met Miss Edna Page. serving in the A.T.S. and they were married at Screatham. in April, 1943. At the close of hostilities Mr. and Mrs. Denyer first made their home at Aldershot, but moved to Farnham in 1949, when he was promoted to works manager of The Herald Press. Their son Michael (10) and daughter Janet (8) are hoth learning to ring at the St. Andrew's Parish Church. Farnham, where their father is now captain of the local company.
Apart from ringing activities which occupies most of his leisure hours he finds time to cultivate a large garden complete with greenhouse and beehives. As a boy and later as a man he sang in the choir at Aldershot Parish Church and served on the Church Council there. At Farnham he is a sidesman, a member of the P.C.C. and on the Church Restoration Committee, which included the recent recasting and rehanging of the eight bells.

Mr. Denyer comes from a family of bellringers, for his maternal grandfather rang call changes at St. Peter's Church. Ash. for over 50 years. In addition to his late father, the family ringers now include his wife and two children, two sisters. two brothers, two brothers-in-law, a sister-in-law, three nieces and two nephews, all of whom live in and around Aldershot and Farnham. His lifelong friend. Mr. William ("Delight ") Viggers has shared in his active life as for together they have been cubs. scouts, choirboys, church councillors. and of course, ringers. Incidentally, Bill Viggers is also a printer!

HUMOROUS HUMUS

(Inspired by a recent Yorkshire outing. for Clare's benefit.)
Discussing crops the other day
Some words of wisdom came my way,
1 heard a hymn to humus sung:
Ah yes, my boy, you can't beat dung.
Use it. and you'll never fail
To grow the finest curly kale.
Onions that burn your tongue
Thrive when fed on lovely dung.
Spuds-like footballs-sweet peas, 100.
Come your way if only you
See that roots or seeds are sprung
From the whiffy, niffy dung.
Now farmers know the worth of nitrates,
Slag, salt. lime and superphosphates.
But since the days when they were young
They've all believed in rich dark dung.
Our village church amid the green,
Presents a charming sylvan scene,
And when the Matins bell is rung
What's the message? Dung, dung, dung.

NOT NEWS

Dear Sir.-I suspect that the composition. published on page 584, for Osgathorpe Surprise Major is not original. It is a shortened version of the 6.496 which I obtained (for York Surprise Major) some time in 1950. At that time I understood that it was not new but I' do not know to whom it should he credited. Mr. C. J. Sedgley perhaps?-Yours faithfully,

RAVING RINGERS' 1960 TOUR OF KENT

A Minima Ad Maximus

A FTER a rather hectic tour of South Wales in 1959 the Ruving Ringers chose a slightly flatter location for the 1960 tour. Saturday, July 23 rd, saw 14 Ravers bravely battling their way through the holiday traftic jams, following the various courses across England towards Rochester. Unfortunately only six Ravers arrived on time at the Cathedral but eventually another carload came in sight and we were able to set the ten ringing to Caters and Royal. During a touch of Royal a very out-of breath telegraph boy arrived in the belfry with a telegram for the Ravers. It was addressed to "The Belfry. Rochester Cathedral.: Congratulations to the G.P.O. for quick work. Unfortunately the telegram bore the alarming news that the remaining carload of Ravers was puncture bound two hundred miles away with best part of the equipment and provisions for the week. Not knowing exactly where the next meal might come from the Ravers took no chances and dined well before making their way to the camp site which was in the shadow of Barham windmill, just off the A2 from Canterbury to Dover.

COMPLETE AT 1.30 A.M
The tents that had arrived were soon erected and the party sat down in the middle of the field to cards. Dusk fell and as the night wore on those who had beds to go to left the card circle. Only three were left, huddled round the "Tilley. when at half past one the last car arrived bringing the remaining tents and bedding and, most important of all, the chief cook.

Although 65 towers were scheduled for the tour. an easy start was made on the Sunday with only four towers, including service ringing on the ten at Leeds ( 20 cwt .) and Maidstone Parish Church. We had a little difficulty in leaving Maidstone as a couple of handcuff happy police officers were anxious to arrest two female Ravers for jay walking. The Kentish population are so good that they hadn't had a conviction for weeks!
Monday morning dawned bright and clear and the party set off for the first full day's ringing in an assortment of vehicles ranging from a Riley to a Vespa. A good start was made on the six at Bekesbourne and nine towers were visited during the day ending at St. Laurence-in-Thanet. where we joined the local ringers at practice.

By Tuesday morning the full complement of ringers had arrived and the completed party consisted of 14 ringers representing eight counties. Tuesday's programme consisted of eight towers including Ospringe, where the tour photograph was taken with the Master in full regalia. In the evening we joined the Cathedral ringers at Canterbury and had a most worthwhile evening's ringing including Grandsire and Stedman Cinques and Plain Boh Maximus.

Wednesday saw the Ravers heading seaward and the eleven towers visited that day included Deal and Dover, where we joined the local ringers for practice.

AMONG THE SKULIS
Nine towers were visited on Thursday. a good start being made at Elham. where a well struck course of New Cambridge Major was brought round. The Ravers considered Hythe's to be the best bells of the day. Several Ravers spent an even better time amongst the thousand skulls stacked in the crypt and when the time came to leave it was difficult to tell which was which. The day's ringing ended at Folkestone. where we were made most welcome at the practice and enjoyed mixed ringing.
Friday was a day mainly of sixes and a variety of Minor and Doubles methods were rung. meluding Norwich. Cambridge and London. Grandsire and Stedman. The only eights of the day were Ashford and Wye, where the ringing was most enjoyable, despite the fact that 'Wye' Surprise never did quite come round.

Saturday's ringing centred in and around Canterbury and began at St. Alphege's. where we had to burgle our way into the belfry due to a lost key. Lunchtime, spent at Whitstable. provided an excellent opportunity for some of the party to take their annual footbath to the great interest of the local holiday makers and the even greater amusement of the writer who chased the barefooted ringers with a crab. The day's ringing was concluded with a visit to Quex Park, an article about which has recently appeared in this journal. Here, with the aid of local ringers. we rang Grandsire and Stedman Cinques and Caters

The journey to Sunday's first tower was very short as we rang for morning service at Barham, where we were joined by three Girl Guide ringers camping locally. After an excellent sermon by the young Rector we moved to Canterbury for lunch. During the afternoon we visited the beautiful villages of Appledore and Wittersham and the day's ringing ended at New Romney for Evensong. A leisurely drive along the coast road to Folkestone gave us a chance to take a last look at the Kent countryside. then we headed back to camp for the Ravers annual conference. The conference lasted well into the right though the writer can report little of its happenings. due to the fact that she fell asleep around midnight
Monday dawned bright and clear and hectic packing activities were only interrupted by a short sudden deluge. which conveniently soaked the tents as they were about to be packed up. Only one tower was arranged for the day but. owing to traffic difficulties. only eight Ravers managed to get to the sixty-fifth tower of the tour.
Having had a most enjoyable tour in Kent. the Raving Ringers would like to extend their sincerest thanks to the incumbents and tower captains of the churches visited and to the Kent ringers who were so helpful and hospitable. We would also like to say a big personal thank you to Chris Clarke and Dennis Bowen who put so much work into organising this year's excellent tour.

THAT'S ALL, STAND.

By T, J. LOCK

"Q ${ }^{0}$
Q SET.-The term Q Set was coined by W. H. Thompson to denote the interrelation of sets of rows. A definition is that it is a series of rows representing disconnected leads or sixes which require to be all treated alike in composition. i.e.. either all bobbed or all plained or. as in Stedman Triples, a certain group hobbed and an equal group plained. As the application of $Q$ Sets is in connection with compositions you are advised. if you wish to know more of the subject. to study a copy of W. H. Thompson's papers or to seek the benefit of some such knowledgable composer.

QUEEN'S-is the change in which the bells represented by odd numbers strike successively in their natural order. followed by those represented by even numbers also in their natural order. As 13572468 on eight bells and 1357924680 on ten bells.

QUESTION.-When is a ringer not a ringer?
Answer-When, without proper reason. he does not do his duty by taking part in Sunday service and practice ringing.

QUICK BELL.-Stedman's principle is composed of two parts. a quick six and a slow six. And a quick bell is one that having completed its double dodye in 4-5 down commences a quick six by hunting straight down to lead and, having led one whole pull, hunts straight up into $4-5$ again. In other words. it is plain hunting to and from lead after the double dodge in 4-5 down.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WESTERN CANADA'S GREAT WELCOME

Dear Sir, -I came out to Canada to visit my daughter, who lives in a very large fruit-growing district in a valley in the Rockies. This week was the first time the daytime temperature was helow 90 degrees for 54 days--give me English rainy weather!
Bearing in mind what Jim Bennett, of Grundisburgh, had said, that if I met the ringers of Victoria and Vancouver I was in for a real royal time, I made the journey to Victoria with my daughter-a ringer in England-by air. We left at $7 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on July 29ith and landed at Victoria Airport at 10.15 a.m. Here we were met by Mr. Izard and conveyed by him to a motel he had kindly booked for us.
The day following. the ringers from Vancouver were visiting Victoria to ring on the fine bells of the Cathedral. After ringing standard methods, we were conveyed to the country cottage of Mr. Izard, jun., which is situated at a beautiful spot by the sea. Here we were entertained to a meal-some had a swim-and then handhells, until it was time for the Vancouver party to get the boat. A most enjoyable day.
On Sunday my daughter and I assisted in ringing for Cathedral services, during which we had some good striking. Mr. Izard, his son Arthur and daughter Margaret are all ringers. We had no time to relax, as before we left at $4.15 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. on the Monday either father Izard or Margaret would take us to interesting places. This was a ringing outing never to be forgotten. I was privileged on August 13 th to take paro in the Vancouver ringers' visit to the Benedictine Monastery. Westminster Abbey. Mission City. The Abbey is situated on a hill overlooking the Fraser Valley-a real beauty spot. The tower, which contains ten bells, is of unusual design, and the ringing chamber can be entered from either the outside or inside. The monks joined in touches and afterwards provided us with tea.

Back the 45 miles to Vancouver, and here I was provided with supper, hed and breakfast by one ringer. On the Sunday morning we went to ring at the Cathedral of the Holy Rosary. Another ringer entertained me to lunch. another to zea and a third took me in his car for four hours sightsecing. Yes. Jim Bennett. hospitality of the highest order. Thank you. West Canadian ringers!-Yours faithfully.

BIRD SONG WITH BELLS

Dear Sir.-On a recent Sunday morning the owner of a lape recorder fulfilled a longstanding promise to come and make a recording of our bells at Burghill before Matins

Later when the recording was played back to the band each member had an opportunity to assess the quality of his ringing. What also surprised me was the wealth of bird song coming continuously from the taps. during the periods when the bells were silent. Previously 1 had not heen aware of the amount of bird song in my garden and in the lane beyond. How many countrymen. I wonder, are deaf to the hundred and one melodious sounds produced by the various members of nature's orchestra: the rustling wind in the trees. the running water in the ditch. the bleating of sheep, the mooing of a distant cow. the songs of the cuckoo and other birds. One may well profit mentally from a few moments of quiet. listening to the symphonious strains coming from nature's orchestra.-Yours faithfullv.

FOLR BELL PEALS

Dear Sir.-In the issue of the "R.W. of August 19th. Mr. P. H. Whitaker, of Coleraine. states there is at any rate one ringer who objects to the recognition of performances on four bells as peals: May 1. through your columns, inform this gentleman that there are at least TWO.
1 raised this question a fortnight ago at our district meeting of the Suffolk Guild. and pointed out. in almost exactly Mr. Whitaker's own words. now that the door is opened to four bell peals. soon we should. most likely be hearing of "peals on three. Unfortunately cur district C.C. representative was unavoidably absent. and I'm wondering whether or not every member of all the Associations present at the Council meeting were in agreement with the recognition of peals of Minimus? If they were. well. it's surprising. I think.

All are entitled to their own opinion (or should be). but my own. for what it is worth (probably not much). is that performances on four bells should not be recognised as peals by the Central Council or included in the analysis. - Yours truly and respectfully.

JAMES BENNETT.

Grundisburgh.

FALSE PEAL OF DOUBLE OXFORD

Dear Sir.-I find I also have called the 5.008 of Double Oxford (peal 23, C.C. Collection) at Washingborough. Lincolnshire, on Septemher 24th. 1958. With apologies, to the band I withdraw this peal. number 3.556 in Lincoln Diocesan Guild report. - Yours faithfully.

PEALS OF MINIMUS

Dear Sir,-Mr. P. H. Whitaker may rest assured that at least one other ringer agrees with the views on "peals ' of Minimus expressed in his excellent letter in "The Ringing World of August 19th.

In fairness to members of the Councit. however. it must be said that at the end of the meeting some doubt existed as to whether they had voted in favour of recognising such peals. There was a certain amount of confusion when voting on the Methods Committee's report, and the Standing Committee's recommendations arising from it, took place.

The answer would seem to be for a motion to be placed on the agenda for next year's meeting to the effect that the Council decline: to recognise peals of Minimus. This would provide a more satisfactory test of nembers opinions.-Yours faithfully.

E. A. BARNETT.

OWNERSHIP OF BELLS

Dear Sir,-Mr. T. J. Lock's 'Alphabet for Beginners ' is a valuable mine of information ; it has taught me many things which I would not have lighted upon otherwise.

However, I must disagree with his statement. in "The Ringing World of August 12 th , that there is no ownership of bells. Like all the goods and chattels of the church, bells and their ropes are in the legal ownership of the churchwardens, who are for this purpose a kind of corporation at Common Law.

This view was expressed by Sir William Blackstone in his 'Commentaries on the Laws of England" ( 1765 , seq.), and the point was neatly illustrated in 1835 in the slander case of Jackson v. Adams.

Adams alleged that Jackson, a churchwarden of the Devon parish of Stoke Gabriel, had stolen the parish bell-ropes. The judge ruled that since Jackson was a churchwarden he was the legal owner of the bell-ropes, and in the eyes of the law it was impossible for him to steal them.

The churchwardens ownership of bells is a bare legal title only, it does not confer on them al! the normal rights of ownership, and. as Mr. Lock points out, bells may only be rung with the incumbent's consent. The responsibility for the care, maintenance, preservation and insurance of bells is now in the hands of the Parochial Church Council.-Yours faithfully,

NORMAN R. PHILLIPS.

A MYSTERY ELUCIDATED

Dear Sir.-The publication of the 5.042 of Yorkshire Surprise Maximus by Peter Border in your issue of August Sth has elucidated the mystery of how this number was obtained

In consultation, Mr. C. J. Sedglev considered that the 'twisting' was achieved in quite the beginning of changes, thereby bringing up the middle lead, cutting out about half a course; this would obviate the use of the single.

In the early ' 30 's, two 5.040 's of Cambridge Surprise Maximus were rung at St. Mary-leTower. Ipswich-one by ringing Primrose at the first lead bringing up the Wrong, the other by calling the tenor 6ths. 7ths and home.

Referring to peals of Treble Bob hunt Maxi mus, all different numbers of changes up to 5.280 have been rung at the 'Tower church. including 5.088 and 5.184 of Rochester Surprise Maximus.-Yours sruly.

DOUBLE NORWICH FOR THE BEGINNER

When we come to write out 12345678 figures with eight bells-or to 21436587 ling changes on them in the lower-we find that we can can make places or dodge in different positions. thus producing many different methods. But we will now confine ourselves to using the one very -that we have learnt about in The last section. Examine the figures of this lead. The treble is plain hunting throughout. except for the Court Places and consequent dodging.

The bell coursing in front of the treble (3) makes fourths place. crosses the path of the treble. makes thirds place and then courses behind the treble. While it is making fourths place the bells in $5-6$ and $7-8$ have to dodgethey can't get through otherwise. While it is making thirds place, the bells in $1-2$ dodge for the same reason. That completes one internal set of places. By this time the treble has reached the $5-6$ position and the next set of Court Places has begun. The new bell coursing in front of the treble ( 5 , because 3 has now gone behind it) makes sixth place. crosses the path of the treble, makes fifth place and then hunts behind the treble. Note that before it started these places, 5 had had to dodge once in 5-6 because of the first set of places. And note that the bell concerned in that first set (3) had to dodge in 3-4 after them because of the second set of places. While 5 was doing its sixth place the back two bells had to dodge and while it was doing its fifth place the first four bells (in 1-2 and 3-4) had to dodge.
That completes the second internal set of places, so that when we come to the half lead end the treble has been moved two positions relative to the other bells. Instead of being between 2 and 3 when it started. it first got between 3 and 5 and then between 5 and 7.
Now do just the same pieces of work in the second half of the lead. The bell coming down in front of the treble (7) makes fifths places. crosses behind the treble and makes sixths place. While it is making fifths, the hells in 1-2 and 3-4 dodge. While it is making sixths, the bells in $7-8$ dodge By this time the treble has reached the $3-4$ position and the next set of Court Places has begun.
The bell now in front of the treble (8) makes thirds place. crosses behind the treble, makes fourths place and follows the treble down to lead. While it is making thirds place the bells in 1-2 dodge. While it is making fourths place the bells in 5-6 and 7-8 dodge. We have made two more sets of Court Places-that is four alterations in all in the lead-and. as we would expect. our lead end is the same as the fourth leard end of Plain Bab Major-18674523.

$V$ THE WORK OF THE METHOD

Now that we have seen how our method is constructed let us see what the work of one bell comprises. And although it is not essential. the best way for most of us to do that is to produce what has become known as the 'blue line.' That is. the path of one bell the
To do this. first of all write out the complete plain course-seven leads each constructed exactly as our lead shown and described above. I know that this is not necessary, but you will find it very well worth while. The repetition. on different bells but in corresponding parts of each lead. of our four sets of Court Places will fix the basic idea of the method firmly in your mind. When you have the whole seven leads written out, draw a line from beginning to end through the figures representing one of the bells. Let us say you choose the second. Here is the path of that bell. described in words because of the difficulties of print. But if you can see on paper and later in your mind the actual shape of the line you will find it much easier to learn.

THE WORK OF THE SECOND

(a) Laad; two dodges in 1-2 up; dodge 3-4: dodge 5-6; two dodges in $7-8$ up and a whole pull behind. This is called Treble bob losll up.' Note that it starts after the treble's whole pull on the lead. that you pass the treble as you (and it) go through 4.5 in between your single dodges in 3-4 and 5-6 up and that. as you finish your whole pull behind. the treble comes up to take your place at the back.
(b) You hunt away from the back in front of the treble. So when you get to fifth place you start Court Places in 5-6 down - nake fifths, cross the treble's downward path. make sixths and then dodge in 5-6 down. This is called 'Near places from the back."
(c) Hunt down to the front, dodge twice in 1-2 down, lead whole pull, dodge twice in $1-2$ up and then hunt up. This is called 'Full work on the front.?
(d) As you leave the front to hunt up you will leave one bell behind you and then the treble. When you reach 5-6 dodge once and make sixths. By this time the treble will have caught you up, so you cross its path, make fifths and follow it to the back having made Court Places in 5-6 up. This work is called 'Far places from the front.'
(e) You will reach the back after the treble and lie a whole pull; dodge twice in $7-8$ down; once each in $5-6$ and $3-4$ down ; twice in $1-2$ down and then lead. This is called "Treble bob bell down' and is the exact reverse of the work in (a) above. Note that it starts after the treble's whole pull behind, that you pass the treble as you (and it) go through 4-5 between your single dodges in 5-6 and 3-4 and that. as you finish your whole pull on the lead, the treble comes up to take your place.
(f) You hunt up in front of the treble. When you get to 3-4 you make Court Places there. Fourths place, cross the treble's upward path, thirds place, dodge 3-4 up and then hunt up to the back. This is called - Near places from the front.'
(g) Hunt up to the back, dodge twice in 7-8 up. lay a whole pull behind. dodge twice in $7-8$ down and hunt down. This is called 'Full work at the back.'
(h) As you leave the back to hunt down you will leave one bell behind and then the treble. When you reach 3-4, dodge once and make thirds. By this time the treble will have caught you up so you cross its path, make fourths place and follow it down to lead, having made Court Places in 3-4 down. This work is called 'Far places from the back, and brings you to the end of the course.

> Now we can summarise these pieces of (a) Treble bob bell up.
(b) Near places from the back (i.e. in 5-6).
(c) Full work on the front.
(d) Far places from the front (i.e. in 5-6).
(e) Treble bob bell down.
(f) Near places from the front (i.e. in 3-4).
(g) Full work at the back.
(h) Far places from the back (i.e. in 3-4).

If you have neither the time nor the patience to write out a whole course to get the blue line - or you feel it unnecessaryyou can produce it from the lead given above by tracing the path of the second up to the lead end. 2 is then in 7th place. so next trace the path of 7 from the start to the end of the same lead. 7 is then in fourth place. Back to the start and trace the path of 4 : then 5 : then 6 ; then 3 ; then 8 and you will be back to 2 again.

VI AIDS TO RINGING
Now let us see what we can find out by looking at our full plain course which will help us to keep right while actually ringing. 1. Althougli the treble does a plain hunt you will notice that, unlike in Plain Bob, it does not follow the bells in the same order as it hunts down as it did when hunting up. This and the fact that many ringers ring this method entirely by the position of their bell when they pass the treble means that you need an experienced treble ringer, not a beginner 2. When you are in the front (1-2) or at the back ( $7-8$ ) all your dodges are double ones. You can always tell when you have a double dodge bafore the whole pull (front or back) because the treble comes to you and your whole pull must be just before it arrives: or when you have a whole pull first (front or back) and the double dodge after, because the treble will be there when you arrive and you must have a whole pull to allow it to get away and another bell to arrive. At all the other times you will be doing full work (front or back)-that is a double dodge each side of your whole pull.
3. In the middle (3-4 or 5-6) you only have single dodges-one in each place if you are doing treble bob work and you pass the treble in $4-5$ between them. At other times one dodge in the position of your Court Places. 4. If you are doing near places (from the front or back) you have a single dodge after them and then plain hunt all the rest of the way up or down.
5. If you are doing far places you have the single dodge before them. having plain hunted from the front or back until you reach your places.
6. The double dodging. front or back, is caused by both sets of places. The single dodging in $3-4$ and $5-6$ before or after places is caused by the set of places in 5-6 or 3-4 respectively.

If you are left behind by the treble. either in the front or at the back, you are treble bob bell up or down
8. Of the two bells which were dodging together and which left the front or the back immediately before the treble. the first one away goes to far places. preceded by a dodge. The next one away does the near places, followed by a dodge.

Many ringers, having learnt what is involved in full work. trehle bob work and far and near places, ring Double Norwich almost entirely by two or three of these eight aidsespecially by the last two. But there comes a time when the treble goes wrong and then a knowledge of the 'blue line' is indispensable. (To be continued)

SUFFOLK RINGERS' OUTING

Ringers from two popular Suffolk towers -Stratford Si. Mary and Higham-with friends. spent an enjoyable recent Saturday in Lincolnshire.
After ringing call changes and standard methods at Kirton-in-Holland the journey was continued to Boston. The many steps at Boston Stump were negotiated to ring on the Taylor ten and enjoy the view including the frightening but impressive hole in the floor.

After lunch Bennington bells were rung to methods. aptly including Lincoln Surprise. followed by visits to Frieston and Fishtoft, both with gigantic towers, as is typical of this lovely county.

On the way to Spalding one of our most ardent tower visiting enthusiasts. quite by accident. heard Surfieet bells ringing. On approaching Mrs. Richardson. who was meeting the Stowmarket ringers. We were invited to return and ring these pretty twelve after visiting Spalding. Mr and Mrs. Ted Chapman joined in the ringing at Spalding and helped us to lose Spliced. On our return to Surfleet. another attempt was made at five Spliced with the assistance of Ron Noon. which was unfortunately augmented to eight Spliced when the unworthy conductor had to use Plain methods to 'get them home.' Ringing also included Bob Royal and some very good rounds. on twelve, by the learners.

Thanks are extended to all clergy and local ringers and to Walter Bailey for arranging yet another successful outing.-L. N. M.

LADIES' GUILD ANNUAL MEETING

OBITUARY

REV. A. D. H. ALLAN

NCE again the attendance at the annual general meeting of the Ladies Guild showed an increase, and the bells in the eight towers open during the day in and around Bath were kept going in a variety of methods. We are sorry that some did not get a ring at the Abbey, and would tender our apologies for the broken stay to the band which followed us. Those who witnessed the incident will be glad to know that the ringer concerned was not put off by this mishap and appeared in his own tower the following day with only a few bruises to show for his long drop!

The Guild service was held in the Abbey at 3.30 p.m.. conducted by the Archdeacon, the Ven. E. A. Cook, who welcomed the Ladies Guild to Bath.

Tea had bee: prepared at St. Mary's Mall by members of the Western District. a wonderful meal to which everyone did full justice: but it was noticed that this year the men did not take the strong hint about washing up afterwards.
Mr. Alan Lee, the secretary of the Bath Branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, was present at tea, and welcomed the Ladies' Guild on behalf of the Association. He wished them a successful meeting. and safe travelling for those who had journeyed a long way in order 10 be present. The Guild last visited Bath in 1936. and Mr. Lee hoped it would not be another 24 years before they came again.

The president (Mrs. P. Staniforth) thanked Mr . Lee and also voiced the thanks of the Guild to the various incumbents who had given permission for their bells to be available, to the Archdeacon for taking the service and for his interesting and challenging address, to the organist. and to Miss Johnson and her committee for making all the arrangements for the meeting and catering for the tea. She also thanked the men for their support. and espe cially for their help in ringing the heavier bells.
At the husiness meeting which followed, Mrs. Staniforth was re-elected president, and a very hearty vote of thanks was accorded her for the work she had done in the past yeur. The other officers were also re-elected, viz.: Miss D. Colgate secretary, Miss J. Beresford treasurer and Miss A. Bitiley auditor. The president expressed the good wishes of the members to Miss Bailey on her recent engagement With reference to the election of officers, it was felt that perhaps some members did not realise that nominations could he sent in even though the proposer and seconder might not be able to attend the meeting, and it was suggested that at the next annual meeting an additional rule should be considered to the effect that each District should send in its nominations for all officers by a certain date. Mrs. E. A. Barnett also proposed that a rule should be added that a certain sum should be paid to the Central Council representatives, as she felt that some members might not like to be nominated because they could not afford 10 attend the meeting.

FINANCES HEALTHY

In her report the treasurer pointed out that the balance sheet was very healthy. the excess of income over expenditure being $£ 1717 \mathrm{~s} .8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}$. (We have had that halfpenny for some years now, and shall be quite suspicious when the treasurer manages to lose it.)

Mrs. T. Lock, of the Central District. asked if the Guild would like to replace the peal board, which commemorated the first peal of Stedman Caters rung by a ladies' band, and which had been destroyed when the Church of St. Clement Danes, in the Strand, was blitzed. The 35 th anniversary of this peal would fall on January 20th, 1961, and it was therefore agreed that, subject to the approval of the incumbent, a new hoard should be provided and a meeting held on Jinuary 21 st for the dedication of the hoard. The ten ladies concerned, all of whom are still alive (and active), will be asked to ring the service touch at this meeting.

Opinion, however, was not so unanimous, regarding the subject of a dinner to mark the 50 th anniversary of the founding of the Guild. Some felt that the dinner to mark the 40th anniversary, which had been held in Leicester, was so successful that they would like to go to Leicester again. Others felt that London was a more convenient venue. and on being put to the vote the result was in favour of London. A sub-committee was appointed and asked to make provisional arrangements, to be discussed at the next annual meeting

Where will that annual meeting be? That was some .ing which could not be decided as unfortunately it was not possible for the District concerned to be represented at the meeting, and although the District secretary had sent detailed suggestions the members at Bath put forward yet another possibility: hut as soon as the arrangements are agreed the venue will be announced in 'The Ringing World.

OBITUARY

MR. MORRIS J. MORRIS  AN APPRECIATION

I was indeed very sad to read of the "passing of this grand old ringer as I have many happy recollections of enjoyable evenings sment here in Leicester with him.
Mr. M. J. Morris was a commercial traveller and his car held every type of button-all sizes, shapes. and materials-in a bewildering variety. He used to visit Leicester wholesale firms of tallors, haberdashers, and any who used buttons of any sort. His visits were usually about every 6 or 8 weeks for a couple of days. and invariably he would send me a message to meet him it the White Hart Hotel, where he always stayed. and we would either go to a bell practice or the picturcs that evening

Mr. Morris gave me many compositions some of which I called of Major. Caters and Cinques, and as Mr. Shepherd has said all these were 'written in beautiful lines of figures of extreme neatness of the setting out.
I rang a number of peals with him at St. Martin's. Birmingham, and one of my best handbell parals was in 1924, when H. J. Poole. George F. Swann. Albert Walker. Ernest Morris. James E. Groves, Morris J. Morris rang a splendidly struck peal of Stedman Cinques umpired by Tom Russam. who ticked off every course as rung. Mr. Morris had often expressed a desire to ring a Morris peal. but this never came into fruition, as we of that 'ilk' lived so far apart.
Morris J. Morris was one of nature's gentlemen and who, in all he did. in speech. dress or action, was a model of neatness. precision and exactness. The Exercise is poorer for his absence. but richer for his having taken the splendid part he played in it.

FARINGDON RINGERS' OLTING

Ringers of Faringdon. Berks. accompanied by friends from Stanford-in-the-Vale. Shrivenham. Hinton Waldrist. Buckland. Clanfield and Highworth. had an enjoyable outing on August 20th. Towers visited were Bourton-on-theWater. Evesham. Painswick and Watermoor (Cirencester). An excellent teit was provided at Evesham. Thanks are accorded to incumbents and tower captains for the use of the bells.

The death occurred at Southmead Hospital. Bristol, on August 12 hh , of the Rev. Alexander Dean Hugh Allan, in his 87th year, following an operation. He was at Oriel College. Oxford. taking his degree in 1896 and ordained in 1898 to the curacy of Chard. He became a housemaster at Reading School in 1900 , and in 1907 was appointed headmaster of Wimborne Grammar School. In 1929 he left Wimborne and accepted the living of Cromhall. where he remained as Rector until 1951. He was taught to ring by the late Rev. F. Llewellyn Edwards and was a member of the Salisbury Guild. A member of the Clerical Guild. he participated in a number of their ringing week tours.
There were but two bells at Cromhall. Glos. during his incumbency. but his interest in ringing remained alive, and he gave talks on bells and ringing. It was as a result of a talk to a Girls Club in 1944 that he set about the task of raising enough money to get a ring of six bells for his church. At the same time he started to teach bands on other $b=l l$. mainly at Wickwar, and he and his pupils became members of the Gloucester and Bristol Association. and the Association had a two two bell tower in its repart soon after with 15 members. Almost at once his worth was recognised and he became chairman of the Wotton Branch. which office he held until his retirement in 1951. In November. 1948. the six new bells were dedicated. and opened by a hand taught by him. The Association made him a vice-president the following year.
In 1951 he retired to Weston-super-Mare and it was here that he was interred in the cemetery on August 16th. after a service a Christ Church taken by the present Rector of Cromhall. Rev. W. F. Burlton. who said of him. He was not only a good man of God a cherished parish priest. but also a skilled and keen bellringer. an active Mason of high office and a hymn writer and poet who did all this and much clse to the Glory of God and for the good of his fellows, whilst also being a devoted family man whose Christian home was a bright beam of love and example.

The Gloucester and Bristol Association was represented by the Rev. W. F. Burlton and Preb. Urch represented the Bishop of Taunton and the Rural Dean. A peal was rung at Cromhall the same evening by a Wotton Branch band. When in April. 1956, the preReformation bell. which had been retained in the six at Cromisall. cracked he painted a large nuniber of water colours to be sold 10 help replace poor 'St. Michael.' who had called the people to worship for over 500 years. The pictures were sold. and a new bell was made, fittingly called A. D. H. Allan. so his name will live on in Cromhall, and elsewhere, when the hymn. Again, O Lord, we bless Thy Name; which he composed for us, is sung.

NAMES FOR TEA

Dear Sir.-As no one else seems to have done so may I venture to reply to X.Y.Z. Some years ago when I took over the secretaryship of our branch, the relation between names set in and numbers attending was rather vague (perhaps 14 names so we would add 8 for luck). I have sometimes mentioned how many names had been sent (and added that 1 expected sume people's consciences were pricking!). and our own members are very conscientious about this now. I also take the precaution of sending the notice in to the 'R.W.' a fortnight before and a week before. but not the day before a meeting. to avoid visiors from other parts saying It's a fine day: where shall we go to grab a tower? Oh. I expect they will have put on enough tea for a few extra.
All the same. I sympathise with X.Y.Z. and his (or her) caterers and hope the correspondence will help some who have been thoughtless over this matter to think of the work that many ringers' wives and others cheerfully undertake in order 10 do us proud at a ringers meeting, and co-operate hy sending that card.-Yours sincerely. $A . ## INTO CORNWALL WITH MISS WYMAN'S PARTY

FIOR many years the tours arranged by Miss Wyman have been a regular annual feature in these columns. This year Cornwall was visited during the last week of July, with headquarters at the White Hart Hotel, Launceston.

The programme on Monday opened at St. Petroc's, Bodmin, the largest parish church in the county. Mr. A. Harman, the Ringing Master for the morning, welcomed the company and expressed wishes for a happy tour. Grandsire, Cambridge, Yorkshire and Double Norwich were rung, and Miss Kathleen Powell, a promising young ringer from Leatherhead who was holidaying in the area, was able to participate. The second tower on this glorious day was Egloshayle, a suburb of Wadebridge, where Superlative and Stedman were added to the list.

Two very nice eights-St. Columb Major and St. Enoder-were visited during the afternoon, with Mr. Young as Ringing Master. An unusual mishap occurred at St. Enoder, when the toggle of the Hastings stay on the second got fast behind the block, leaving the bell set and immovable, thus reducing ringing to the back six. After tea, Bristol was added to the list on the light eight at St. Columb Minor.

An unexpected pleasure was to receive that, evening during dinner a visit from the lady Mayor of Launceston, who wished us a happy holiday. Unfortunately, owing to the full programme, we were not able to take advantage of her offer to see the town mace, charter and other historic documents. At the Bell Inn later in the evening we found a set of 12 handbells hanging behind the bar. Permission to ring was readily given, and touches of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major followed. Mr. Fred Collins loaned us his set of eight, and on these handbell touches were enjoyed during the week.

Tuesday was another five-tower day, under the mastership of Mr. L. Stilwell and Mr. Cheesman. A traffic jam, the only one experienced during the week, delayed arrival at Phillack. Ringing at Penzance was limited, but included three leads of 'Yorkshire Glory' (Kent T.B. to the uninitiated). The afternoon was spent at Gulval and Carbis Bay, and at the latter tower the Rev. A. S. Roberts made everyone feel very welcome; he joined in the ringing. and later entertained us with tea. - The light eight at Tuckingmill brought the ringing of the day to an end.

The leafy lanes of the West Country on a rainy day, when travelling in an 8 foot coach, can play havoc with a ringing tour programme, and this was our experience on Wednesday, when Mr: and Mrs. F. E. Collins joined us for the day. Mr. Daniels was Ringing Master. Our first tower was Lifton, just over the Devon border, where Stedman and London went very well indeed. Back in Cornwall, the narrow lanes caused a change of programme, the six at Lanreath coming before lunch and the eight at Lansallos after: Fowey had to be missed. At Lanivet we met the Vicar, who afterwards acted as our guide to Lanhydrock, where the church is in lovely parkland. By ringing here, Mr. Collins has rung on the bells of every ringable ring in the county.

Seven tower were scheduled for Thursday, with your scribe in charge. The first two were in Devon-Appledore, a light eight, and Hartland, the tallest tower in Devon and Cornwall, which was well worth a visit. Kilkhampton, Stratton and Marhamchurch filled the afternoon pleasantly, and before dinner at Launceston the six at St.. Thomas', and after dinner the eight at St. Mary Magdalene's. To the delight of the local ringers, there was a half-hour of handbell ringing in the vestry.

There was a long journey on Friday to Redruth, with Mr. Clark in charge. The light six at Sennen were a pleasant unterlude on a fine afternoon. Tea was at Land's End, and then back to the heavy eight'at Prohus, where we had some of the best ringing of the week and were congratulated by the locals on our lower in peal.

Four towers in Devonshire were listed for Saturday. Ringing on the grand ten at St. Andrew's, Plymouth, with Mr . Rapley in charge, had to be curtailed owing to a wedding. The 195 steps to the churchyard at Buckfastleigh were, quite an effort after lunch, but we all made it and enjoyed our stay. Mr. A. Cutler was in charge here and also at Buckland, which was Mr. Len Stilwell's I, oooth tower. Bovey Tracey was our last tower of the day, with Mr. Oakshott in charge. Travelling over the moors to our headquarters, there was a short stop at Becky Falls and a passing glimpse of the prison.

Homeward bound on Sunday, we had a short ring at Crediton for morning service, a picnic lunch nutside Taunton and tea at Hurstbourne Priors. After the meal, Mr. E. Rapley expressed the party's indebtedness to Miss Wyman, and presented her with a handbag as a slight token of appreciation. There was also a presentation to the driver, who had done so much to make the tour a success, and this was made by Mr. Daniels.

In giving thanks for this week to be remembered; I should like to mention not only the Rev. A. S. Roberts for tea at Carbis Bay, incumbents and local ringers, but also my fellow travellers. I have learnt a lot, both about ringing and my fellow men. I don't want to list it all; but in saying 'Thank you' I hope I shall meet you all again and enjoy once more the pleasure of your delightful company.

STRATTON ST. MARGARET, WILTS

Stratton St. Margaret ringers could hardly have selected a worse day for their outing than August 27th, and their objective to towers in the Wotton-under-Edge district took them to Dursley, which had earlier had the experience of a whirlwind. The start was delayed for half-an-hour to enable some ringers to change their clothes after being caught in a thunderstorm. A further delay occurred when only a short distance from the first tower. Stonehouse : a swan, apparently mistaking the wet road for the river, landed in front of the coach! Mr. Price was waiting to greet us, and we soon had the bells swinging.
The 'go' of Slimbridge bells was much appreciated, and Canon Thomas gave us a warm welcome. After ringing at Upper Cam, a gale and torrential rain were experienced en route for Dursley, where we had tea before ringing on the eight at St James Church. The last tower was Wotton-under-Edge, where the re-cently-rehung eight were a joy to ring. During the irip, methods rung included Cambridger and London Minor, and Cambridge and Double Norwich C.B. Major. With a strange sense of humour, the coach driver called at The Trouble House on the way home.

The trip was organised by Mr. Oram, with Mr. V. Griffin as Ringing Master. Our thanks are sent 10 incumbents and lower secretaries.

IN THE FYLDE AREA

Ten towers in the Fylde area were visited by a party of ringers from the Furness and Lancaster Branches on August 27th, and despite the interference of an enthusiastic 'speed cop, an enjoyable afternoon was spent.
Methods rung included Plain Bob, St. Clement's, Litlle Bob, Kent and Oxford T.B.. Grandsire, Stedman, Cambridge and Double Norwich.

Thanks are due to Mr. T. F. Metcalfe, tower secretaries in the Fylde area and, last but by no means least, the coach driver. R.W.D.

OUTINGS

BAWTRY AND TICKHILL

Saturday, August 20th, saw the first combined outing of Bawtry and Tickhill ringers. The first objective was the Bell Foundry at Loughborough, where a very interesting hour was spent looking around the Foundry, under the guidance of Mr. P. Taylor and Mr. J. P. Fidler. Although eagerly looked forward to, our attempts at ringing on the Foundry bells were far from being praiseworthy.

After partaking of a packed lunch we proceeded to Hathern, where we found a very pleasant ring of six, the bells being half-muffled as a token of respect to the Vicar and his wife, who lost their lives whilst attempting to save their dog from drowning in the sea. A pleasant hour was spent at Bunney and at Cotgrave, where we had a warm welcome from the Vicar, the Rev. Mr. Wakefield. who for 19 years was the Vicar of Bawtry. Tea was provided by Mrs. Wakefield and other kind helpers. and this was thoroughly enjoyed. A pleasant hour was spent on the bells, which we found very easy going. During this time our nonringing friends visited the Rectory gardens.
After Cotgrave we did not settle down as well at Whatton-in-the-Vale, but there was a marked improvemient at Bottesford, and everyone agreed that this was 'the tower of the day." Our final call was at Balderton, a light, very good-going six. Methods rung during the day ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise.

Thanks are extended to all the incumbents and ringers who welcomed us to their towers. to Messrs. Taylor, 10 Mrs. Wakefield and her helpers for providing tea, and to all those who in any way assisted towards making the outing a success.
A. W. and A. H.

HENLOW, BEDS

Organised with quiet efficiency, as usual, by Mr. L. H. Bywaters, this year's outing of the Henlow ringers took place on August 27th, when they visited the Berkshire area.

The first tower, Dorchester, Oxon, was reached in good time, which meant that a cup of coffee could be enjoyed before ascending the tower, where good use was made of the easy-going ring of eight.

Next came Abingdon, whose splendid parish church has a ring of ten, and where we were pleased to meet Mrs. Lock, who welcomed us in her gracious manner. A very good lunch was enjoyed here before going on to Harwell. This lovely ring of eight was much enjoyed by all, after which we went on to Wantage, birthplace of Alfred the Great, on the fringe of the famous Vale of the White Horse. An excellent tea was taken here before journeying on to Blewbury, another good ring of eight.

Perhaps the best ringing of the day took place at our last tower, East Hagbourne, and well it might be, for these bells are a delight. to ring-an excellent example of what a ring of eight should be!

The thanks of all are tendered to the incumbents wherc we rang. to the local ringers who made us so welcome, and to Mr. Bywaterg for his splendid arrangements.
A. E. R.

PACKWOOD, WARWICKSHIRE

Packwood ringers and friends choose Worcestershire for their day's outing. There was some fine ringing on the beautiful bells of Stoke Prior and Hanbury. The young ringers had difficulty in controlling the bells of Upton Snodsbury. due to the great length of rope. but short touches of Bob Minor were brought round. Other towers visited were Witton. Broadwas, Inkberrow. Grimley, Wychbold and the day finished with some fine ringing on the delightful bells at Ombersley. Thanks are due to incumbents, to Paul Cattermole and members of his band and to all tower captains for allowing us to ring their bells. R.E.T.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. George Gilbert, of Burnham, Bucks, was admitted to

BELFRY
Cliveden Hospital on August 5th. He is in Ward 9, and his many friends will join us in hoping that this sojourn will be the means of his recovery and ultimate return to the belfry.

A loss to ringing in Marple, Cheshire, is the departure of Mr. Bernard Groves to live in Maidstone, Kent.
Eight peals from eight attempts were scored by Mr. A: Patrick Cannon's party during their Lake District tour.
Mr. Ernest G. Hibbins had a "golden' peal at Trumpington, Cambs, on August 21 st. It was rung on the 50 th anniversary of his first peal. Congratulations!
Mr. F. E. Collins has rung in every ringable tower in Cornwall. He completed his record by ringing at Lanhydrock when he joined Miss Wyman's tourists for a day.

- Gillian Schofield, of Bradford, deserves congratulations,' writes Mr. W. Eric Critchley. - for although she is still a schoolgirl, she rang Pitman's 4-Spliced Surprise like a seasoned veteran at Harthill on August 27th.' Well done!

Bidford-on-Avon ringers express their thanks to the London University Guild for their kind gesture in leaving a donation in the belfry after their visit on August 25th. Such thoughtful actions leave behind happy memories.

The quarter peal of Stedman Triples at Stratton was rung following a thanksgiving Sunday for a successful record church fete, visitors from Cardiff, Colchester, Rye and Yeovil taking part in the ringing.
Mr. W. Butler has produced an excellent number of 'The Ringers' Magazine for the August quarter. 'Bells in Law Reports,' by Norman Phillips, and 'Church Architecture, by John F. Williams, are two good articles. The Editor also makes a valued contribution with 'Bell Founders' Marks.' It is all very readable.

GOSSIP

There will be no more ringing at Exeter Cathedral until further notice. It is expected that work on the bells will take at least until Christmas.

The Universities' Association have only one peal to record from this year's Week-Yorkshire Surprise Major, at Bolsover.

Cheshire ringers' tour of Worcestershire, organised by Mr. Basil Jones, resulted in 11 peals. There were two failures. Story next week

The Warborough and Dorchester (Oxon) bands would like to thank Mr. Frank Absolom. for the help he has given them in the past and also calling the quarter peals.
With the peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Leicester Cathedral on August 29th. Mr. Harold J. Hazell, of Enfield. completes Cambridge from Minor to Maximus. It was his 75th peal.
A colour film unit was in action at St . Mary's. Watford. practice night on August 30th. Members of the local cine society took action shots of ringers and bells for inclusion in a film of Watford to be shown to the public in the Town Hall on October 11th.
While the product of the University of London Society's summer tour in Warwickshire was only two peals and three quarters, it was most enjoyable. For one couple in particular the occasion was memorable-the announcement of the engagement of Mr. D. E. Sibson and Miss Jane Langton. Every happiness!
The Central Bucks Branch has lost a sincere friend by the death of its chairman, since 1958, Canon C. E. Last, Rector of Great Horwood. Canon Last died at sea. A memorial service was held at Great Horwood last Sunday. An appreciation of his services will appear in our next issue.
The convencr of the Editorial Committee (Mr. J. Frank Smallwood) rang in a peal of Yorkshire Surprise, at Darley Dale, on September 1st, in honour of his 76th birthday. The peal also honoured Mr. Herbert Langdon's 79th birthday on the following day.

THE WHITE CHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD IN CAMBRIDGE

 assembled in Cambridge once more, on August 20th, for its annual ringing week, this time at Wilflete House, a new Clare hostel on Castle Hill.Some of us arrived on Saturday night, including the peal committee, who were soon in full session deciding our fate (so they thought) for the next week. The hostel, we found. was very modern and very comfortable, but had a number of obvious faults: the plumbing and the midnight handbell ringing were both universally audible, the latter especially so, as we were ejected from the dining-cum-common room at 11 , and had to adjourn to a bedroom.

The ringing got oft to a fine start on Sunday morning with Stedman Cinques at Great St. Mary's, despite the sex discrimination at break-fast-two eggs and three rashers for the men, one egg and two rashers for the women. At Trumpington, where we were met by Miss Willers, the bells were rung well, before we dispersed to meet again after lunch at St. Andrew's. A pleasant afternoon was spent ringing at Caxton and Bourn, before dinner.

The week's first peal band set off early on Monday for Elveden, where a peal of Rutland was successful, although there was some disappointment afterwards when it was found that the attractive house with a swinging sign and a car park was only the estate office. Stretham and Soham were visited by the rest of the party, a number of whom were due for a peal at Mildenhall in the afternoon. With this in view. junch was sought in Ely, but the wrong caft. was picked, where the service was lamentably slow. Moreover, the peal committee had excelled itself, and when ten ringers finally assembled at Mildenhall half-an-hour late, to ring a peal of Cambridge Royal, there was na conductor. However, yet another peal of Boh Royal was quite competently brought round. Meantime, there had been ringing at Fordham, Burwell and Swaffham Prior before we all reassembled for dinner! The evening was very pleasantly spent.

FIRST FAILURE

Tuesday brought the first of a succession of failures: after two-and-a-half hours of Pitman`s 4 -Spliced at St. Neots, the tenor man gave up because it was not going too well-a great disappointment for all concerned. This was partly assuaged by an excellent grill at a small hotel before joining the remainder of the party. They had been to Long Stanton, Over and St. Ives before lunch, and the whole assembly visited the Hemingfords (Grey and Abbots). Huntingdon (All Saints') and Godmanchester before returning to Cambridge for dinner. Three of us had been requisitioned for an Ely peal at Trumpington in the evening, and a peal of Bob Major was duly scored there. After dinner some visited the local practice at Old Chesterton, while others attempted a handbell peal of Double Norwich. The latter failed after half-an-hour or so, but a good practice was had including methods up to London and Rutland.
The Corporate Communion was the first appointment on Wednesday, when a number attended Mass at the neighbouring Church of St. Giles, celebrated by the Vicar, with the president assisting. After breakfast a peal band set off for Stansted Mountfitchet and rang a peal of Yorkshire, despite some misgivings about the coursing order being back to front from time to time. Others were regaled with ringing at Sawston and Ickieton hefore lunch at Great Dunmow. The party were reunited at Great Dunmow Church after lunch, going on to Gieat Bardfield and Thaxted-a day of ground floor rings. which gladdened the hearts of the older memhers and produced some of the week's better ringing.

1961. WEST SUSSEX

After dinner, the meeting held in the hostel common room considered two or three important matters. First, it was announced that the reprinted Guild History was ready and could be purchased from the officers. Second, it was

MR, WALTER AYRE

Hertfordshire Association.

Mr. Walter Ayre is yet another member of the teaching profession who has given long and useful service to the Exercise. His work on the Peals Analysis and the Peal Boards Committees is well known to the Central Council, and, it is hard to conceive how such work could be better done. The peals analysis requires continuous and very alert attention, and there is little that escapes Walter's eagle eye.
He was born at Barton-on-Humber in 1891. went to school there, and progressed to Hult Grammar School and the Municipal College, Grimsby. After a period as pupil teacher. he took up a post as teacher at Gainsborough in 1911. He joined the Army at the commence-decided to hold the 1961 Guild week in West Sussex, under the guidance of Brians Price and Threlfall, subject to the usual accommodation problems. Thirdly, and most importantly, it was decided, on the suggestion of the president and on the strict understanding that he himself had no intention of retiring as yet, to elect a vice-president, and the office was at once well filled by Bill Ridgman.

Subsequently more handbells were indulged in and a touch of Spliced Surprise (albeit probably false, but nevertheless ably called round at backstroke by the conductor) was rung.
A suggested peal attempt at Trumpington on Thursday morning was called off due to lack of support and to the local peal there two days previously, and so the full party were able to do justice to St. Neots. Eaton Socon and Biggleswade in the morning. Lunch in Biggleswade preceded ringing at Baldock, Barkway and Royston, although a peal hand for Stedman Cinques at Great St. Mary's was detached after Baldock. The peal, regrettably, was not a success, and after an hour-and-three-quarters ${ }^{\circ}$ average ringing came to grief at a single. Bene't's were visited in the evening, and some confusion was caused here by the man who asked onc of the ladies to join him in the Bath!

UNFORTUNATE MISHAP

Lavenham for a peal of Bristol-a pleasant thought ; but the peal band here on Friday
ment of the Great War, serving in the artillery in France and Belgium, After completing further training at St. Mark's College he was appointed headmaster at Caythorpe in 1921, and then went as headmaster to Leverstock Green in 1922, in which post he remained until retirement in 1957.
He learned to ring at Barton, and rang his first peal, Minor in three methods, in 1911. This was quickly followed by a peal of Kent T.B. Major at Hull, and by 1918 he had commenced conducting. His first 12 -bell peal was at Southwark, to which he rang the tenor. He had joined the Cumberlands, and was contemporary with John D. Matthews, who conducted his first peal on handbells (Bob Royal). He took part in that Society's first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus, and also a peal of Stedman Caters at the Imperial Institute, South Kensington. In 1948 he was elected Master of the Cumberland Youths.
Mr. Ayre also served as District secretary (Western), Herts Association, from 1923 to 1947, and was made president in 1935. Under his guidance and leadership the Apsley band, which he joined in 1932, has rung peals in up to 32 Surprise Minor methods. His peal total is 763 , of which he has conducted 417 .

His other love is music, and he possesses a resonant bass voice. He ran a successful choral society up to 1939 , which won cups and certificates at various festivals. He has been a member of one choir or another since he was 9 years old, and since 1944 has been a member at St. Peter's, St. Albans. His Sundays must be very busy, for before going to sing at St . Albans he rings at Apsley for service. He is often called on to read the lessons, and sometimes intones the service. He has taken an active part in local affairs, and joined the Special Constabulary in 1926, now being Superintendent in that Force.
Walter was a frequent visitor to Surfleet when Rupert Richardson was alive, and one of the exploits they got up to was to ring a handbell peal in hed. One on a boat and another on a coach whilst touring! They even contemplated ringing a peal whilst sitting in a large tree, but Mother 'put her foot down, and the idea was dropped. It can be readily understood by any. one who knew Rupert (20) stones or more) that he would have required a pretty strong branch to support his weight. Yes. Walter has enjoyed his ringing and his music, and we have enjoyed his humour. He is still in the prime of life, and going strong.

could not make it go, and contented themselves with a quarter of Yorkshire before joining the rest of the party at All Saints., Sudbury. One driver had a most unfortunate mishap involving an old lady getting off a bus, which prevented him and his passenger from ringing at the first tower, Cavendish; but they reached Long Melford in reasonable time to join in the ringing there before continuing to Sudbury. There was time to look round the shops after lunch before we moved on to Bures. Here the clapper of the tenor broke-though we gathered it was a new one, only a few months old-after only one lead of our first touch. We were therefore reduced to the briefest of rings on the front seven: but after a little telephoning, we were lucky enough to get permission to ring at Stoke-by-Nayland, a most acceptable substitute. The last but by no means least tower of the week was Clare, reached through a cloudburst, hefore making our way back to Cambridge for the final dinner. The evening was happily spent in the Lion, in charge of the (self-transposed) - President of Vice.

As is the way with peals on the last Saturday morning, we could not ring Spliced at St. Andrew's, and so we adjourned once more. looking forward to Guild week next year and to Cambridge again in 1965.

The Guild's first woman secretary, Frances Secker, and her co-organiser, Hilary Muirhead, earn our very warm thanks for another memor: able Guild week.

BRISTOL UNIVERSITY SOCIETY IN KENT

TOLLOWING successful 'ringing holidays in Cornwall (1958) and the Isle of Wight (1959), this year's cycling tour was arranged in Kent. The party, all members of the U.B.S.C.R., included Michael and Brenda Sprackling, Jane Cook. Angela Grainger, Beryl Abbott, John Baldwin. Roy Blackler, Terry Jones, Mike Austin and Pat Bird. Although only two of us remained from the original Cornish tour. Alan and Pauline Smith were able to join us for the day when we assembled at Canterbury on August 14th, and we commenced ringing at the Cathedral for Evensong. We enjoyed these bells, ringing various methods on eight and ten and a bob course of Grandsire Cinques. After attending the service and having a quick tea. we joined the local company at St. Dunstan's, and again at tended service before making our way to Canterbury Y.H.
On Monday we really got down to business. Nine towers were visited in all, starting-through John's kind efforts-at St Stephen's (Hackington) and St. Alphege's. where a slider fell out. After Sturry (6) we took lunch, and the now-traditional darts match - "East v West -was commenced The six at Littlebourne were not quite as bad as we had been led to believe, and here we were shown around the wardamaged church. Wickhambreaux (6) has a fine ring, and both Wingham (8) and Goodnestone (6) were enjoyed. At Bekesbourne (6) we opened the church to find it full of gas. This meant one quick ring at a time, then dashing out for a breath of fresh air! Our engineer diagnosed a leak and rurned the supply off at the mains! In the evening John took us to his home tower at Whitstable, where we were made most welcome at the local practice.

RAISE BELLS
On Tuesday we were joined by Peter Newing and party, travelling by van and motor scooter. They were most helpful in getting bells up before the flagging cycle party five at Thanington had such ! The mino Michael that he left the correspondence for the day's towers behind. However. Chartham (6) and Chilham (8) were both found successfully, although Selling (8) produced a rare chase for the key, and first evidence that Kentish folk can't tell their right from their left! Boughton-under-Blean went well to Major, but by the time we had found the elusive Faversham Church (8) (having carried our bikes over a railway footbridge!) we were tiring, and the ringing was not what it' might have been. However, a rest and tea put things right, and we improved at Ospringe (8), with its quaint saddleback tower

Hollingbourne (6) was our first call on Wednesday. followed by Leeds (10), aptly described as 'a bit lumpy.' However, we managed Grandsire Caters and Yorkshire on the back cight. At Chart Sutton (6) we were pleased to ring with Mr. F. S. Macey. of the Kent Veterans, before going to Boughton Monchelsea (6), where ringing takes place in the chancel and the choir stalls have to be removed. At least one member of the party, elated by the thought of the long hill down into Linton, shot to the bottom before realising he had passed the church half way down. He was glad he climbed back - this eight was too good to be missed. At Marden (8) 2-Spliced came round. This is believed to be the first touch of Spliced Surprise rung by the U.B.S.C.R.

Whoever thought of putting a 25 cwt . tenor in a tower right at the top of a hill at Goudhurst had no thought for weary cyclists! We didn't stay long, and the traditional blood and thunder was enjoyed all the more in the nearhy inn! The warden at Goudhurst Y.H

must have wondered why the sound of distant bells across the valley had such a startling effect on his hostellers that evening! We eventually traced the ringing to Kilndown, where the local ringers made us most welcome on a wonderful six.

DOOR IN ORGAN CASE!

Had we known on Thursday that Horsmonden Church was not in Horsmonden. we could have saved ourselves five miles of hard riding. Still, this eight was worth finding. At Brenchley a touch of 3 -Spliced Surprise came round. Tonbridge (8), Shipbourne (6) and Ightham (6) were visited during our first hard rain. At the latter tower great concern was caused by the fact that no entrance could be found to the ringing chamber, but after making contact with the Rector we found a cunningly-concealed door in the organ case! Disappointment followed at Seal Chart. where the church was locked and no one met us. However, we were made very welcome at Seal (6), and after ringing we enjoyed a fine dinner (with wine!) in a nearby hotel. It was voted to make this a regular feature in future years.

Friday was a day of disasters for the writer, occasioned. he feels, by the needless slaughter of spiders by others in the men's dormitory at Kemsing Y.H! A torn tyre meant that he only just reached Sundridge (6) after a mile's walk, that he missed Brasted (6) altogether. and that for the rest of the day he limped along on a bicycle that sounded as though it would fall apart at any minute! However. Westerham (8), Limpsfield Chart (6), with its exterior iron ladder. Limpsfield (6) and Oxted (6) were all enjoyed to a variety of methods during the afternoon. Lingfield (8) was paid a quick visit after tea. Did the seventh have a stay or not? The day's ringing came to a close at Edenbridge (a delightful eight rung from a gallery). Crockham Hill Y.H. was the scene of our 'last night' sing-song, and two of the ladies were most annoyed when their night attire mysteriously disappeared!
On Saturday morning we rang on the pleasant eight at Sevenoaks before making our final farewells. Our chief memories are of the large number of good rings visited ; of the morning coffee breaks-most acceptable: of how, traditionally, 'West' won the 'arrows" match: and of how we always seemed to be on the heels of the Raving Ringers! (But we, did find some towers they hadn't visited.) We must alt thank Michael for his first-class organisation and also all local ringers and incumbents for their welcome. Next year we may visit Essex -any other ex-U.B.S.C.R. member want a ringing holiday '?

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

About 30 visitors attended the first meeting to be held by the Association at Wittersham. on August 27th. The service was conducted by the Rector, Canon H. A. Hodge. who welcomed the visitors to his beautiful old church. Afterwards tea was enjoyed in the Village Hall.

The business part of the meeting was very short. Six new members were elected to the Association. Mr. T. Cullingworth expressed the thanks of the gathering to the Rector, to Mr. Marshlain (the organist), the ladjes who prepared and served the tea, and to Mr. K. Hamilton. captain of the Wittersham band, for making all the arrangements

Even in the Ashford District Wittersham is tut a little known tower. and most of the vistors were enjoying their first visit. This is rather surprising as the late Mr. P. Hodgkin described the tenor ( 16 cwt. ) as one of the finest for a six bell tower in Kent. The "go of the bells has much improved lately, probably due to the care and attention they have received in the last year from Mr. Hamilton and his band.

A small but select gathering finally dispersed about $90^{\circ}$ clock
C. T. H.

The peal of Stedman Caters at Croydon on August 13 th was rung as a 21 st birthday compliment to Norman Stecre, and in honour of his engagement to Heather Talbot, both members of the local band. The tower captain is now looking forward to arranging the wedding peal.

LIGHTEST BELLS

Dear Sir,-When reading - The Ringing World of August 26 th. I noticed the peal rung on Mr. C. Jarvis' light six. which 1 see is claimed as the lightest six hung for see is claimed as the lightest six hung for ringing.
I wish to publish a quarter peal of Plain Bob, rung of May 27 th on our ring of six bells. the tenor of which weighs 107 lbs ., as against Balscote's 1 cwt. 22 lbs.
These bells have been collected over a period of 14 years from various sources and were tuned in April, 1959. by the kindness of the directors of John Taylor. Loughborough. and now form a very pleasant little ring from which we have had much pleasure with our friends and many visitors.
We hope to attempt a peal on them before so long.-Yours faithfully,

HANDBELL RINGING

Dear Sir.-Mr. Woolley's letter on the above subject causes me to confess that until recently I had not heard about blue line, neither had I seen the book Change Ringing on Handbells." published by the Central Council. Perhaps this is because I am a Victorian and tune ringing was more popular in those days. but wher i came to Surrey in 1902 a few keen young man , including myself. commenced change ringing double-handed. and we soon realised the vast difference between tower- and handbell ringing.

Whatever way you look at it peals or touches in hand are a greater mental task and are more easily lost: so much more skill and concentration is needed when a pair is handled. Like my old friends. Mr. and Mrs. Hairs. who rang many peals 'in hand' with me. I would like to know who the experts are? We have had men who thought they knew everything about everythin.. but they were always in a hurry when testing time came along. You strike the right note. Mr. Woolley, when you say there is always more to learn. - Yours sincerely.

MARKET BOSWORTH BELLS

AN APOLOGY
Dear Sir.-I must apologise for a very grave error which crept into the account of 'A Leicestershire Tour on page 562 of the - R.W. of August 19th.

It concerns the quality of the bells of St. Peter's. Market Bosworth, which I said were - very similar to South Wigston and just as good in tone. What I really meant to convey was that Market Bosworth's are similar in weight to South Wigston's but are vastly superior in tone When Messis. John Taylor and Co. added three trebles to the old five a few years ago a first class job was done and they rank as one of the finest rings of eight in the Diocese. It will be noted that we regarded them as the main 'titbit' of the hicek.
1 am most sorry for this misconception and I hope that the local ringers (and orhers in the Diocese) will be able to forgive me.Yours faithfully.

THE EDITOR

AGAINST FIRING BELLS
Dear Sir,-I read in * The Ringing World of August 19th that at Winchester Cathedral the bells were rung to Queens and rounds and instalments of firing. What a pity the fatter was included. even for recording our Uueen Mother's age!

While I. as a ringer. appreciate the effectiveness and skill required to fire a ring of 12 bells well. its appeal to the majority of the general public is nil I remember a few years ago listening to the ringing for a wedding at Petersfield. when following a short touch of Triples the bells were fired and. although done reasonably well. a lady standing near by exclaimed. 'Oh! what a shame the ringers have all gone wrong.'
I for one think firing should be discouraged. After all no good music is produced by bells being fired.-Yours sincerely.

MORPETH'S CURFEW

Dear Sir,-In view of the interest in the curfew at Morpeth Watch Tower, I append a copy of my father's notes concerning the curfew :-

The seventh is the curfew bell. William the Conqueror is credited with the institution of the curfew, though it was in existence in Saxon times, but he caused it to be vigorously enforced in order to prevent the risings that were hatched around the village fires at night.

It was rung at 8 oclock, and then both fire and candle must be quenched. The law of curfew was abolished by Henry I in 1100 . but the custom was still kept up in many places. It is claimed that in Morpeth it has been rung without a break all through the centuries.'

COMPOSER'S RESPONSIBILITY

Dear Sir.-The composition on page 584. and referred to by Mr. A. T. W. Cleaver. on page 593, is by Gabriel Lindoff and it is capable of many variations. Whilst on the subject of composition. is it not up to the budding composer to find out for himself the things mentioned in Mr. D. R. Carlisle's letter on page 563? If he did it would at least give him a good knowledge of the method he was working on.-Yours truly.

IN FAVOUR OF MINIMLS

Dear Sir.-I am quite sure that the members of the Central Council were right to vote in favour of the Methods Committee's report and the Standing Commitfee's recommendations 'that recognition be given to peals of Minimus.' The committee members concerned had given this matter very considerable thought and attention: any attempt to reverse this decision. by general motion or otherwise. will. I think. be defeated.-Yours faithfully.

PEALS OF MINIMUS

Dear Sir.-In reply to Mr. Peter Border (whose letter appears on page 579 of the 'R.W.' of August 26th). I am quite sure that the peal of Minimus on handbells credited to the Leicester Diocesan Guild cannot be regarded as a great achievement by the Guild and the members of the Guild who rang it deserve no congratulations.

I think it is true to say that the Leicester Diocesan Guild has been the leading Guild for peal ringing each year since 1948 and I should hate to think that we (or any other Guild for that matter) should achieve this by virtue of having such peals in our total.

Presumably the peal of Minimus, rung during 1959 was accepted by the Central Council at Folkestone because there is nothing about Minimus in the Central Council Handbook. I should like to propose at the 1961 meeting of the Council that peals of Minimus should not be recognised but I should be glad to hear the views of other readers first.-Yours faithfully.

> BRIAN G. WARWICK
> Honorary General Secretary.
> Leicester Diocesan Guild.

Dear Sir.-Whilst many ringers will share Mir. Border's views on the ringing of peals of Minimus 'in hand." it seems a pity that he should air his views on this trivial matter in such a sarcastic manner. Especially so is his reference to the achievements of the Leicester Diocesan Guild some of which. for instance peals of Cambridge Maximus 'in hand and Spliced Surprise Maximus. have yet to be equalled by him or anybody else.-Yours faithfully,
Rothley. Leics.
GEOFFREY M. BREWIN

Dear Sir-I would like to thank Mr. Border for his congratulations, relating to the establishment of the new record length of Bob Minimus. To be congratulated by a ringer of his standing is indeed a rare honour. I would also l:ke to thank Mr. Border for pointing out my limitations in the mathematical field. For the error of four changes I hereby offer apologies in profusion. And for that error alone.
On the subject of this and similar performances, being a waste of time I'm afraid I must beg to differ from Mr. Border. Perhaps Mr. Border could suggest a better way in which two men could occupy themselves for 1 hour 25 minutes.) The mere fact that these performances are beyond him does not necessarily mean that they are beyond those whose outlook is somewhat broader than his own. I certainly consider it to be no more a waste of time than composing peals of Yorkshire Maximus with singles. The C.C. Handbook says. in its section. The Council's Decisions, (e) Methods, etc., Calls.' 'Singles in Treble Bob methods may be used only when a desired -result-cannot-be obtaiped-by. Bobs.' I fail to see what result Mr. Border desired to obtain, but if it was merely to obtain a peal of Yorkshire Maximus of normal (approximately 5.000 changes) length. then I know, as well as I am sure Mr. Border musi know. that this can be obtained by bob; alone. I. for one, would. therefore, consider that the handbell peal of Bob Minimus in question. for all its error of four changes, was far less a waste of time than Mr. Border's peal of Yorkshire Maximus. Probably far more legal, ioo.

I think by far the best policy Mr. Border can adopt on this subject is one of "live and let live. - Yours sincerely.

DOUBLE NORWICH FOR THE BEGINNER

VII BOBS AND SINGLES

Many bands, who can ring plain courses of Double Norwich quite well, are unsuccessful with touches-as soon as bobs are called they get lost-and with singles that's the end Equally many conductors, quite at home with Surprise methods, know little about conducting Double Norwich. Which is a pity, because calling and making calls in the method are really quite simple.
With almost all the methods rung today the calls are made on the front three working bells, and if the back bells are affected at all (as in Kent or Bristol) they dodge and then repeat the previous lead. In Major methods Double Norwich is the chief exception. The bob is made on the three bells which are at the hack at the lead end. But if you realise that the bob is made almost exactly as in Stedman. you will probably find it much easier.

In Stedman Triples the bell dodging 4-5 up makes fifths place and then dodges 4-5 down. The pair of bolls in 6-7 dodge three extra times. In Caters or Cinques the pair of bells at the back ( $8-9$ or $10-11$ respectively) dodge three extra times. while the bell in 6-7 up or 8-9 up. respectively, makes the place in front of the dodging pair and thon dodges down.

Now apply this to eight bzlls as in Double Norwich. The bell which is treble bob bell up has dodged in 3-4 up and is dodging in 16847253 5-6 up when the bob is called, 18674235 It makes sixths place and becomes the bell which is treble loob bell down. After the place it dodges in 5-6 and then 3-4 down. Meanwhile the two bells which were dodging in $7-8$ when the bob was called do three more dodges there-one at the lead end, behind the bell making sixth place. and then two more-the normal two dodges at the back at the start of a new lead
This table shows the effect on the three balls.

The lead ends in Double Norwich at which (1) 8674523

6482735
(4) 5738264

(6) 7856342
(5) bobs can be called without affecting the tenors are the first. fourth and sixth. You will see from

2345678 that at those three leads he front bells which These three lead ends correspond respectively to the W, M and H of Plain Bob Major. The bells affected by the bobs are actually also the same ones
If you call a hob at the fifth lead end the back two bells will be 7 and 8 and they wil dodge together at the back. So a bob then will bring up the course end in five leads. This corresponds to the Before in Plain Bob but instead of adding one lead to the course its effect is to shorten the course by two leads

Now if you apply your favourite touch of Plain Bob to Double Norwich, changing bobs W to bobs at 1 : bobs $M$ to bobs at 4 ; bobs $H$ to boh at 6 and bobs Before to bobs at 5. you whi have a corresponding touch of Double Norwich. The only difference will be that if you have bobs at 5 instead of Befores the touch will not be so long-three leads, 48 changes. less for each.

Some examples: Two course touches 224 changes-W and $H$ iwice becomes 1 and 6 twice ; M and H twice becomes 4 and 6 twice Three course touches ( 336 changes)-3 W becomes 3 at $1: 3 \mathrm{M}$ becomes 3 at $4 ; 3 \mathrm{H}$ becomes 3 at 6.
The popular 240 changes of Bob Major called B, W and M or W and M. B becomes a touch of 192 changes called either 1 and 5 4 or 4.1 and 5.
Double Norwich Court Bob Major is very musical. it has sufficient work in it to be interesting and it is a gateway to many more Plain Major methods. It deserves to be rung much more thar it is and will well repay the bands which make the effort to learn it.

|  |  | Plain Lead | Bob Lead | Next work |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| (a) | Bell doing treble hoh work up | Double dodge in 7 -8 up | Make 6th place | Treble bob beil down |
| (b) | Bell double dodging in 7-8 up at start of full work | Whole pull hefore double dodge 7-8 down | 3 extra dodges in $7-8$ up | Near places from back |
|  | Bell double dodging in 7-8 down | Treble bob bell down | 3 extra dodges in 7.8 down | Far plazes from back |

If you ring the method by watching for the treble. then if you are one of the back two bells you continue dodging until the treble comes up. You will knov by whether you have to go down first or second of the two whether you will go to far places or near places

At a single sixth place is made as at a bob and the two bells dodging at the back stay behind. But at the lead end, instead of 16847253 a dodge. they lie still behind 18674253 -making sevenths and eighths places (just as in Stedman) and then have the normal two dodges at the start of the new lead. They will have changed coursing order with $\in$ ach other and will therefore either proceed to near instead of far places or vice versa. In fact the bell which made sevenths (called making the single) will be the one to come away last and therefore makes near places from the back.

VIII FOR THE BOB CALLER
A short note which will perhaps help one of your band to be able to call touches. so that you can get out of the plain course. For details of how to 'conduct' Double Norwich see 'On Conducting.' now being reprinted by the Central Council.
In Plain Bob Major calls are usually made so as not to affect the tenors ( 7 and 8) or at least to keep them coursing. They come at four leads of the course-the first. sixth and seventh leads. called respectively Wrong (W) Middle (M) and Home (H). or at the lead when 7 runs out and 8 runs in. giving you an extra lead in the course. This lass is called Before (B),

HALIFAX ASSOCIATION

Five teams entered for the draw at the annual meeting and six bell contest at Hoylandswaine, near Barnsley. on July 16th, but unfortunately Thornhill were incomplete when their turn came to ring and were disqualified Mr. T. W. Hilion, of Darfield, was the judge Order of ringing: Shelley 30 faults rang out: Cawthorne 21 faults: Friezland 50 faults rang out: Meltham 51 fauks. Cawthorne were declared the winners.

In his comments, Mr. Hilion said the whole of the afternoon's ringing had been marred by trips and. worse still. I wo of the teams had broken down with the test piece. Thus it was not a satisfactory afternoon's work.
Votes of thanks were accorded the churchwardens, Mr. and Mrs. Whitehouse. for providing an excellent te3, Mr. Trevor Tarbutt. for the arrangements. and the judge.

At the business meeting the audited balance sheet showed a loss on the year of $£ 112 \mathrm{~s} .3 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}$. due to a drop of $£ 3$ in subscriptions. Mr. J Burgess appealed to members to meet their arrears and recruit new members. when possible. The officers were re-elected and Mr . Hilton was appointed officigl judge. An appeal for donations to the Alfred Pulling memorial bell at Guildford Cathedral was left to individual members. Further ringing concluded the meeting.

YAXHAM RINGERS

There was five ringers in Yaxham did dwell. They went into the steeple to ring the five bells: And for twenty peals they did all pull down. Saying the first man that lost it should pay a crown.

The first peal they pulled for was Steadman's Slow Course.
The bells they went well, but the third she was hoarse.
The alieration of hunts was rung off very plain. There's not five more ringers can ring them again.

There was little Charles Meachen, the treble did ring
She was a small bell, but so well she did sing. He stroke her so well he ne er made a clamour He stroke her as if she stroked with a hammer.

There was young Chamberlain Bulwer rung the second you know.
She was a small bell, but how well she did crow ;
When they pulled down. if the bells made a clap.
With his right foot, he began for to scrap.
There was Stradling John Hudson, the third he did ring
She was a split bell, but he swung her well in;
There he stood stradling steered like a pig.
And his hair stood as upright as if he got on a wig.

There was Jerry Smith, the fourth bell did ring, She was a large bell and he swung her well in:
There he stood champing. and ne'er made a smile.
The bacco juice running from his mou:h all the while.

There Major Boulter. the tenor did ring.
She was a large bell. and he well pulled her in ; He stood underneath her, just like an old block, And he made them all start. when he called a bob.

There was William Stringer, the candles did snuff
He kept a snuffing. till he thought 'twas enough
There he kept snufting, and began for to steer, For he was so dry. for the want of his beer

On the first of December. the year $\quad 23$.
These peals were rung off, you plainly may see ; Go into the steeple look upon the hoard.
You see all the names they can afford.
These ringers went on with their hearts full of glee.
They said if they got it. they'd have a good spree ;
They stroke them so well they never made a clamours,
They stroke them as if they were stroke with hammers.

CONSTANTINE, CORNWALL, RINGERS' OUTING

The dull. wet weather did nothing to daunt the spirits of Constantine ringers on their annual outing on August 13 th . Twelve ringers and four learners, accompanied by the Vicar and other friends, made an early start by coach for the Penzance area.
The morning's ringing was at St. Hilary's Gulval (a very pleasam eight) and Sennen After lunch. the twisty road was taken to Zennor, where we were met by the Vicar (Rev. G. L. Clowes). who escorted us to Towednack where we found a tuneful eight. Carbis Bay. Lelant and Phillack.

Carbis Bay was the highlight of the day, and it was the first time the band had rung on ten bells. Fun was had in trying to master the four light bells of this ring. On the homeward journey the sun broke through and marked the end of a very enjoyable day. Grateful thanks are accorded incumbents and local ringers, who turned out in the rain to greet us.

THE TOWERS OF THE FENLAND

By T. A. BEVIS

ST. MARY'S, WEST WALTON

It would not be in order to conclude this series of articles appertaining to the bells and towers of Fenland without briefly mentioning the spiendid Church of St. Mary. West Walton.
The campanile is architecturally superb, and is understandably one of the very finest 13th century towers in Great Britain. It has arches opened on all sides, and consists of two lofty storeys with shafted lancet arcading continued round angular turrets, each of which is crowned with a substantial, crocketed pinnacle. The belfry windows are exquisite and occupy practically the whole of the second stage. An exterior triforiun: is an unusual feature: a passage pierces the thickness of the walls and on each side three arches divided by shafts are open outwards

There are five bells, but these are, unfortunately, unringable. The oldest bells was cast by John Draper in 1620. Thomas Norris, of Stamford, made the fourth in 1629, and inscribed it: "Let all things be dono to the glory of God.' The second bell dates from 1693 and also came from the Stamford foundry. being cast by Tobias Norris. who probably supplied the treble (1699). The tenor (11 cwt.) was created at Peterborough by Henry Penn in 1708.

Well established in North Cambs, the versatile Norris family provided bells for Tydd St. Giles (1625). Walpole Si. Andrew (1622), Upwell (1661) and Elm (1673).

Matthew Norris, of Leicester, was the forerunner of the famous Lincolnshire foundry, and his son (Tobias) was honoured with the Freedom of Stamford in 1607, becoming one of the Capital Wardens of that town. Thomas Norris succeded his father. Tobias, and was 'Conduit Master' for many years. He also served in 1656-57 as Chief Magistrate and as Alderman, the style of Mayor not then being adopted.
St. John-the-Baptist Church. Parson Drove, has the only unringable bells in the Isle of Ely. They are five (tenor 12 civt.) and were cast by Osborn in 1787 . The fourth bell implores "Percute Dulce Cano' (Strike (me) I sing sweetly).

ALL SAINTS: WALSOKEN
Walsoken has one of the finest 12 th century churches in East Anglia, with Late Norman arcades profusely decorated with typical chevron ornament. Tall trees hide the tower, built during the Iransitional Norman-Early English period.
Standing beneath this venerable pile, in a space allocated to the ringers, one commands an impressive vista of nave and chancel, altogether quite outstanding
The six bells (tenor 13 cwt 2 gr .7 lb . in F) are a complete ring by Thomas Osborn, and are dated 1795. They were restored with the spire in the late 19 th century by the children of the late Mr. R. Young, an M.P. for North Cambridgeshire. The bells were then suspended from an oak frame positioned high in the tower, which was more recently found to be detrimental to the ancient structure.
It became necessiry for the hells to be rehung, and this was carried out in 1956 by Mears and Stainbank. In addition to swinging in a steel frame (with aceommodation provided for two new trebles at a future date). the hells are also located in the former ringing chamber. 20 feet below the louvres, thus restoring balance 10 the stecple. The result of lowering the instruments tends, from the exterior, to stifte them, yet this has, nevertheless, a pleasing effect on the ear.
They were rededicated on November 4th 1956. by the Archdeacon of Wisbech. Ven. J. P Pelloe. who is no stranger to the ringing fraternity.
The bells bear common inscriptions peculiar to the age in which they were created, hut the fifth. like its sister at March, bears false testimony in that it utters ' Our voices shall with joyful sound make hills and valleys eches round.

All Saints Church possessed three hells in the reign of Edward VI, and these are recorded as having turned the scales at 6,9 and 11 cwl . In his will (November 27th. 1556) Rohert Martyn, of Walsoken gave 'to the Shotynge of ye gret bell. iijs. iiijd.

ST. MARY'S, WESI WALTON.

1 nus we near the end of this "tour" of Fenland. and reaching into the hat draw out the last of those great churches. many of which must at present remain unmentioned.

ST. MARY MAGDALEN, WIGGENHALL

This sturdy mediæval church has a ring of six bells, originally cast in 1767 by Lester and Pack. of London. Number three of the old ring was put into the melting pot in 1841. During 1952 all six bells were recast and rehung in a steel H -frame by John Taylor and Co.. two spare bays being provided for future augmentation.
The inventory of Edward VI mentions three bells, of 8.10 and 11 cws .

Rung from the ground floor, the present hells (tenor 10 cwt 3 qr .22 lb . in G) retain their ancient inscriptions, No. 4 stating: 'At proper times our voices wo shall raise, in sounding to our Benefactor's praise. The fifth bell has a reply for some who easily complain: "Tho' much against us may be said: To speak for ourselves we are not afraid '!

One cannot help wondering if it were these hells-and their musical qualities are goodthat helped to inspire that 18 th century gentleman who, we might imagine, could tolerate the sound of bells no longer and, snatching his quill and parchment, wrote in a testily manner:-
Ye rascally ringers, unmusical foes
Disturbers of those who seek to repose :
How I wish for the peace of these lands
That ye had round your necks what ye hold in your hands.

Other churches difficult to omit are Tilney All Saints' (a fine quality six), Long Sutton (a delightful eight), and a host of others

They share with those already introduced to these pages the distinction of: belonging to the Fenlands, the glorious sunset of which sithoueftes the noble fanes against an awe-inspiring background-a vast, colourful plain-by which the master huilders of old devoted their skills to an ohvious advanlage mrovided by the nature on the latid

OUTING

BURGHILL, HEREFORISSHIRE

For their annual outing on June 18th. Burghill bellringers visited towers in four counties A pleasant. early morning run towards the Black Mountains took them to Clodock (Herefordshire)-an ancient church founded (circa 520) and dedicated to a British King. St Clydawg. Stedman. Grandsire and Plain Bob went smoothly on the six bells (Taylor. 1953)
An hour's coach ride through Monmouth shire to Christ Church. Ebbw Vale. followed. Here a very fine ring of eight ( 25 cwt ) gave the tourists much pleasure. "Not unlike the back eight of Hereford Cathedral.' observed member of the band. Grandsire Triples went like clockwork but-through no fault of the three members of the local band who rang with us-touches of Stedman Triples failed to come into rounds.
Three churches in Breconshire-St. Mary's Brecon. St. Mary's. Bronllys, and Si. Gwendoline's. Talgarth. provided some good ringing The tower of St. Mary's, Brecon. was surrounded with scaffolding and men were at work repairing the fabric when we arrived but the Dean had previously very kindly given us permission to ring there for 45 minutes.
The detached tower at Bronllys stands about six feet away from the N.E. of the church and houses a ring of six. At Talgarth (6) we had tea before ringing. Kent, Plain Bob, Stedman. Grandsire and rounds were rung during our 40 minutes' $\cdot$ visit.
Next al longish run to Old Radnor, where at the Church of St. Stephen-the-Martyr (6) we found nice-toned, easy-going bells.
Our last tower was at St. Andrew's. Presteigne. Here the ringers were the guests of the Rector, the Rev. E. G. Benson, a former Vicar of Burghill. who had met and joined the band in Hereford that morning. The excellent octave provided some good ringing. Courses of Stedman and touches of Grandsire went well. Some of the young memners of the Rector's band rang with us here.

Thanks are expressed to the incumbents, lower secretaries and captains for permission to ring, for help in arranging the tour and for the friendly welcome awaiting us at each ower
F. M.

SWANSEA AND BRECON GULLD

At the quarterly meeting of the Southern District held at Gorseinon on September 3rd. a presentation of a watch from the parishioners was made to Mr. William Dobbins. in recognition of his long service, 46 years, to this tower. Tribures to Mr. Dobbins' faithful service were paid by Canon Morris. the churchwardens and Mr. D. Lewis, of Cadoxton. The company of 40 ringers included Miss Margaret Lewis. of Kingston-upon-Thames. and Mr Lionel Hughes. of Hertford. Canon Morris, assisted by the Rev. Gereant Hughes. conducted a short Evensong. Tea was kindly provided by Canon Hughes and churchpeople of Gorseinon. who were thanked by Mr. T. Roderick. Ringing ranged from Grandsire to Cambridge Surprise Major

BRISTOL SURPRISE

IN H. G. Wells' entertaining fantasy, 'The New Accelerator ' (which, by the way, should be read by anybody who has enjoyed Folkestone Leas), the narrator opens his story with the remark: 'Certainly, if ever a man found a guinea when he was looking for a pin it is my good friend Professor Gibberne.' The unfolding of the fantastic little drama justifies the comment, and the comment serves to remind us that many important discoveries in this world have often been either accidental or else by-products of some other line of investigation. Examples of these may be found in the history of changeringing, and it may be noted how often the significance of a discovery has not been fully realised until some considerable time has passed. The origin and first appearance of Bristol Surprise illustrate this point.

Towards the end of the 19th century there was a great revival of activity in the theoretical field of change-ringing and a manifestation of much enterprise among leading ringing bands in a desire to break away from the existing standard methods. Surprise ringing of the time was confined almost entirely to Superlative, Cambridge and London, and the first of these enjoyed a popularity that has since considerably diminished. A number of clever composers of the time were, however, busy behind the scenes, and much new material was already born and much more conceived. In 'The Bell News' of December 4th, 1897 , Frederick Dench published Brighton Treble Bob, a method which he explained was to provide an improvement on Kent, and for which he claimed the distinction of being the first Treble Bob method with a lengthening lead and a clear proof scale. A peal in this methor does not appear ever to have been rung, and the method itself has lapsed into obscurity. But in the long line of changeringing tradition it has importance in that it led directly to the appearance of Bristol Surprise.

On December irth there came a letter from that very shrewd investigator and innovator, E. Bankes James. He pointed out that Mr. Dench's method had not a clean proof scale and that no method up to that time had been published showing the combination of lengthening lead and perfect freedom of composition. He went on to say, nevertheless, that many such methods were to be had, and that in seeking for Gloucester Surprise he had como across a whole group bearing a strong family likeness.

As an example of what he contended, he published a lead of what we now know as Bristol, although he appended no name to the figures and left it purely as an illustration, so that we do not know whether or not he appreciated just what he was offering to the Exercise.

Bankes James added at this point some remarks on the classification of methods that should be interesting to us who are so used to what has now become accepted in method nomenclature. He says: ' I would distinguish Treble Bobs from Surprise methods by a rigid adherence to the bell in the Slow (as in Oxford and Kent) in the former. And again, no method should be classed under the title of Court Bobs in which consecutive places are made. This, of course, is only my personal opinion.
The personality and achievements of Bankes James are apt to be somewhat obscured by the more prominent public activities of his brother, Law James, hut we now see him as a brilliant investigator and student, reaching out far beyond the times in which he lived.

The important figures published by Bankes James attracted no immediate attention, and it was more than three years before the first peal of Bristol was rung. On March 22nd, Igor, the famous Brighton band, under their remarkable conductor, George Williams, rang 5,088 at the Church of Peter in three hours and nine minutes. In 'The Bell News' of April 6th George Baker, who rang in the peal, republished a lead of the method, commented on its qualities, and concluded his letter with the assertion: ' For complexity in ringing, all the band agree that Bristol Surprise stands first, and London Surprise must for ever take a back seat.' Time has proved the worth of Bristol, and whether or not George Baker was right there can be no doubt that the method, first put forward to demonstrate an academic point, has achieved a popularity that perhaps its author himself did not foresee.

Entering St. Margaret's
Church, Whitnash. for her wedding on Aug. 27th. Miss E. A. Trindall passed through th A. Trindall passed through the ringing chamber, which had been decorated for the occasion. The bride was one of the original band of postwar ringers at this church and had lately been secretary. After the ceremony she returned to the ringing chamber to start a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor, which was successfully brought round.

To mark the christening of Andrew John Housden at Burwell, Cambridgeshire, a handbell peal was rung by the father and godfathers and umpired by the two godmothers.

Starting to ring in February, Valerie Ford and Martyn Fordan, of Tewin, Herts, rang their first quarter on August 3lst. Congratulations!

The Rev. R. P. Farrow has resigned the living of East Lulworth and left the district. His address now is Ramsey Hall, Byron Road, Worthing. Tel. Worthing 580.

The band who rang the peal at Stapleton, Bristol, on September 3rd, would like to associate it with the memory of the late Mr. Frank Skidmore, who learnt to ring on these bells. which are hung anti-clockwise.

Mr. Wilfred Williams has now conducted a peal of Surprise in each county in England and Wales and is the first ringer to do so. The last was Co. Durham.

A peal attempt of Yorkshire Surprise Major at East Grinstead on July 30th broke down after nearly three hours ringing. The attempt had been arranged as a compliment to Miss June Clements and Mr. Dennis Mitchell, who were married that day at Worthing.

Mr. Walter Ayre informs us that his first peal as conductor was Bob Minor at Thornton Curtis, Lincs, on October 19th. 1912, in which there were four first peals. He adds that he tried hard to persuade the conductor of his first peal at his home tower, St. Peter's, Barton-on-Humber (April, 1911), that he wanted to call his own first peal, but he would not budge.

GOSSIP

By ringing the tenor to the peal at Aspenden on September 3rd, Mr. F. Aldridge has become the first member of the local band to ring a peal at Aspenden since October, 1746. when a peal of Triples was rung by a resident band.

Mr. John C. Baldwin expresses his thanks to ringers of Newbury and district for their hospitality during his stay there.
Mr. A. Patrick Cannon has now rung 99 peals of Double Norwich Court Bob Major in 99 different towers.

Mr. Michael Hobbs, of St. Ambrose's, Bristol, while on holiday in the New Forest organised a quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor at Brockenhurst on September 2nd.

Mr. P. Newing, of Littlebourne, Canterbury, is entering Rochester Theological College. On August 23rd he and John C. Baldwin, with friends, rang three quarter peals-3t Chislet, St. Nicholas-at Wade and Minster-in-Thanet.
The Church of St. Andrew. Puckington. near Ilminster. Somerset, has lost its tower captain by the death, on August 29th, of Mr. Harry Bungay, aged 80. To his memory a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung on September 1st.
The ringers of St. Peter's, Pentre. Rhondda. wish to thank all persons connected with the following towers for the hospitality extended to them while on annual outing to Somerset on September 3rd: St. Andrew's Banwell: St. Mark's, Mark; St, Cuthbert's, Wells; St. Andrew's, Burnham ; St. Mary's, Wedmore.
Richard Brown, of Kessingland, Suffolk, was unfortunate, whilst on holiday in Lincolnshire. in losing a peal of Minor (his first on six) on September lst at Whaplode. Having rung two extents each of Oxford T.B., Kent T.B. and Plain Bob, his rope broke 130 changes from the end of the third and last extent of plain. The band were sorry to see him go away emplyhanded after ringing so well, and wish him greater success in his next attempt.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

GOLDEN JUBILEE OF BUCKFAST ABBEY BELLS

$I^{\mathrm{N}}$September, 1910, the Community of Buckfast Abbey received from the late Sir Robert Harvey, of Dundridge, near Totnes, the munificent, gift of a ring of 14 bells. These bells, cast by Warner, with a tenor of 28 cwt . in D flat, were solemnly blessed on Michaelmas Day, 1910. The bells were first hung 'dead ' in the old Abbot's Tower. In autumn of 1920 the tower of the present Abbey Church was sufficiently advanced for the bells to be hoisted into position and hung for ringing. The bells were hung in what is now the ringing chamber and were rung from the lantern gallery; an experience which many visitors found disconcerting as there was a sixty foot drop from the gallery to the chancel pavement. The bells were first rung by a band from Bucktastleigh for Christmas, 1920. Only one peal was ever rung on these bells; in 1930 a peal of Stedman Cinques, conducted from the tenor by the late Mr. William Pye. In 1935, with the commencement of the completion of the tower, the bells were taken down and sent to Mcssrs. Taylor's foundry, at Loughborough. Here they were recast-considerable metal was added so that the present tenor is 41 cwt . in C. In Maroh. 1936, the 14 bells roturned to Buckfast. together with a new bourdon bell - 'Hosanna,' which weighs $7 \frac{1}{2}$ tons, and strikes F , a fifth below the tenor of the ring. All fifteen bells were rehung on steel frames and were first rung for Easter, 1936.

Since the hanging of the original bells in 1920, the community band had always rung call changes, until in 1955 the Rev. Oswald Mowan, U.S.B., became captain of the Abbey band. Greatly encouraged by the late Mr. J. E. Lilley, the Abbey ringers made a determined effort to master halt-pull ringing. In the last few years great progress has been made, due mainly to the help received from members of the Devon Guild, among whom special thanks are due to Mr. E. M. Atkins, of Teignmouth
Two years ago one of the community rang he treble to a peal of Grandsire Triples, at Wolborough, and six of the Abbey band rang a quarter of Plain Bob Doubles without any outside help. During the present year three of the community rang in a peal of Plain Bob Minor and in a quarter of the same method, whilst in the last few weeks four of the community have rung in two quarters of Plain Bob Triples. The same four monks are also enthusiastic handbell ringers and ring touches of double-handed Plain Bob Major.

Since the bells were hung in their present permanent home, six peals of Stedman Cinques have been rung on them, also one of Grandsire Cinques and one each of Yorkshire and Cambridge Surprise Maximus, and one each of Plain Bob Major and Minor September 29 th of this year will mark the golden jubilee of the Blessing of Buckfast Abbey bells. It is to be hoped that the event will be marked by at least one more peal, in which some at least of the ringers will be members of community.

MR. WILLIAM B. CARTWRIGHT Master,

Worcestershire and Districts Association.
Mr. W. B. Cartwright is a most valuable member of the Central Council. His advice and help, often sought, are uagrudgingly given, and he has piloted the Council through many a knotty problem. He is a solicitor of the Supreme Court, practising in the city of Birmingham, and is held in very high esteem in the ranks of his profession. The story of his progress is fascinating and shows what can be done by sheer hard work and perseverance.
He was born at Selly Oak, Birmingham, in 1900 and was educated at St. Mary's and Bournville Schools. He entered a solicitor's office in 1915. and by hard work qualified. passed his final examination, and was admitted as a solicitor, in 1940. This year he is taking part in the American Bar Association's annual conference and also the Commonwealth Law Conference at Ottowa.

Mr. Cartwright learned to ring at Selly Oak in 1919, and rang his first peal at Harborne. Birmingham. in 1920. This was Stedman Triples, conducted by the late George Pigott. Bill Cartwright has always been unswervingly loyal to the Worcestershire Association. and early in his ringing career he conducted many peals of London and Bristol Surprise Major. His work prevented him from building up a huge peals total, but he has, nevertheless, achieved a total of 272 , of which he has conducted 105 . He served the Association as Ringing Master of the Northern Branch from 1922-1924. and as secretary from 1934-1936. He was made an honorary member in 1937, and was appointed Master in 1956. which office he still holds.

Elected as Central Council representative in 1951. he was soon preferred for service on the Standing Committee, where he is able to give invaluable help and guidance. He is a good churchman, and has held a number of offices at St. Mary's, such as churchwarden, sidesman, and secretary of the P.C.C. for well over 20 years. He has done nearly everything. except take a service, and has even played the organ! Since 1922 he has served as Ringing Master at St. Mary's, ringing regularly for service there. He is married and has two children.

Such men as Bill Cartwright are the salt of the Exercise and we count ourselves fortunate to possess him in our ranks. He is remarkably modest and unassuming, a shining example to all of us.

LINIERSITY OF LONDON

HOR the second year in succession the University of London Society was fortunate in finding accommodation for the annual ringing week which combined comfort with scope for the youthful mind of the company to find expression. Situated on the outskirts of Birmingham, Fircroft Theological College forms part of the Cadbury Trust, and adheres strictly to the Quaker temperance ideals which were written in when the Trust and the Bournville village were first established.

At this headquarters some of the more notable ringers of the area stepped from the pages of 'The Ringing World' and joined us for dinner on the first evening. For those of us who had not previously done so, it was a pleasure to meet Messrs. George Fearn, Frank Perrins, Edgar Shepherd and William Cartwright, who later joined in ringing handbells with members of the Society.

Having settled in, we began our programme in earnest on Sunday. when bands were dispatched to aid or impede various of the Birmingham towers, and two quarter peals were scored. The afternoon of Sunday was something of a lull before the Warwickshire countryside was stormed, and gave us an opportunity to be good tourists and visit places of interest in the area.

During the memorable week which followed. our routes took us as far east as Rugby and south-east to Coventry, Leamington, Warwick and the lovely town of Stratford-on-Avon with its equally-lovely bells. Here we disguised ourselves as cultured human beings and, contrary to the forebodings of those in whom the disguise was most thinly applied, spent a most enjoyable evening in the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, watching "Twelfth Night.

SOCIETY RINGING WEEK

The itinerary was planned to select bells of quality rather than to achieve a large total. and in this we were highly successful and generally managed to do justice to the bells by selecting bands for each touch rather than issuing a general invitation to "catch hold. The technical highlights of the week were courses of London Surprise Royal, Glasgow Major and various touches of Spliced up to a maximum of nine methods. Four peals were attempted, of which two succeeded, a slightly higher proportion than the previous year.

On Tuesday morning we were entertained on the Bournville carillon by Clifford Ball, B.Mus.. who gave a most impressive and energetic recital and showed us 'the works' as well.

Friday night of a U.L.S. tour is traditionally party night, and proves a most successful way of reaching that final stage of exhaustion which a week of late nights and climbing steps just. fails to produce. As usual, to the continued amazement and admiration of the entertainments committee, members accepted the most fiendish forfeits the aforesaid committee could devise, and emerged in good voice for the equally traditional sing-song which both ends the party and begins the next day.
The week concluded with a night in Dudley and. after a final dinner there, we were entertained by Dennis and Margaret Layton at their new home in Kingswinford. Thanks are due to Dennis and Margaret for all their work to arrange the week and make it a success, and also to all correspondents and local ringers who met or helped us in any way.

CHESHIRE RINGERS IN WORCESTERSHIRE

GATURDAY. August 13th, found us bound for Walsall. the main body of the party having assembled at Macclesfield, before calling at Newcastle to pick up Fred Wilshaw. The delightful bells at Walsall sounded well to the music of Yorkshire Maximus, which was John Worth's lorth peal on 12 bells; incidentally, he has a fine record of having rung over 100 peals on each of $6,8,10$ and 12 bells. On leaving Walsall it was raining quite heavily, but it had eased a little when we stopped in Birmingham for a meal, before continuing on our way to Great Malvern, where we were to spend the week.

We awakened on Sunday in time to see the early morning mist rising from the surrounding lowlands, revealing some truly magnificent countryside, in which the Malverns' sit like miniature Himalayas. Breakfast over, we made tracks for the Parish Church at Malvern Link, where we enjoyed ringing for morning service. After lunch, a leisurely ride was made to Hanbury, where 'the youngsters, rang a peal of Cambridge Major in 2 hours and 59 minutes. We didn't meet any of The Archers.' of course. but the bells alone at Hanbury are worth 3 hours of any peal ringer's time. Meanwhile. the critics in the form of Messrs. Jenkins. Morris. Wilshaw and Worth had listened until "the rains came down,' then they departed to ring for Evensong, at Dodderhill, another fine Worcestershire eight. Dinner at cight was 'par excellence' and it was at this point we were joined by Denis 'Umbala', Mottershead, making our number for the week up to 13 .

Clent was the tower for our first attempt, Yorkshire, on Monday and we found that these bells moved along quite well, with very little effort. Those who had missed the morning attempt left Clent to go swimming at Stourbridge, but they returned in time to hear us come round. Time for a quick meal, then on to Hartlebury, where a peal of London was successfully accomplished on a ring of bells which have been returned to the 6th and as a result blend very well. After dinner the more energetic members of the party took to table tennis and handbell ringing.

BROKEN ROPE

It was an early start for us on Tuesday morning as we had to travel to Birmingham, to attempt a peal of Bristol at Erdington Abbey. Here we suffered our first loss of the week when the rope on the 6th bell broke after 1 hour and 50 minutes enjoyable ringing. Our attempt at Birmingham St. Martin's was not due to start until 5.30 p.m. so we, spent most of the afternoon 'window gazing.'
We were late starting. which necessitated rather We were late starting. which necessitated rather fast ringing and a peal of Cambridge Maxinus was brought round in 3 hours and 32 minutes. We joined several of the well known Birmingham ringers for refreshment in the local. before returning to Great Malvern "and so to bed.
The following morning. Wednesday, we travelled in brilliant sunshire to Salford Priors and subsequently rang a peal of Bristol. which was followed by refreshments in the nearby inn. We were due to attempt a peal of London at Mickleton in the afternoon, but with the exotic weather continuing (and sunbathing in mind) we were destined to ring for not more than a quarter of an hour. Returning to the hotel. there was time to go swimming in the open air pool before dinner, which in turn was followed by one or the other of the two more leisurely pastimes (depending upon the taste of the individuals concerned!!!).
Just to prove to ourselves that we were still capable of ringing London we rang a 'tenors parted ' peal in the method at Norton (Glos), on Thursday morning. The tower is set in most pleasant surroundings and the bells have unusual interest in that the treble and second have the same strike note

THE HIGHEST RING

The members of our party who had not been ringing at Norton remained at Malvern on Thursday morning. hence they travelled directly to Upton-on-Severn for the afternzon peal attempt. which was to be Pudsey. Leslie called a delightful composition by Arthur Knights to a brisk peal, in which incidental $6-5$ 's seemed to appear from nowhere. There was time for us to visit Stoulton, near Worcester, where we rang on the lightest ring (tenor 108 lbs .) of six in the world. also we were able to have a pull on the six at the Parish Church. It was a dash back to Malvern, where we arrived just in time for dinner. Surplus energy was once again used up on table tennis and handbell ringing. John Worth showed us that he can still move round a table tennis table at great speed.
Those listening to the peal of Bristol at Badsey on Friddy were alarmed when it was suggested that th: ringing should be interrupted so that an inspection of the tower could be made by an architect. Fortunately 'Arris.' using a little decorum, was able to persuade the architect to postpone his inspection, and the peal was completed without further ado. Great Hampton bells were one of the most pleasant surprises of the week and gave us tho trouble in completing a peal of Lincolnshire in 2 hours and 55 minutes. We had a meal in Evesham, and with an hour to spare we accepted the invitation to ning on the 12 at the bell tower, where we enjoyed a half course each of Yorkshire and Cambridge Maximus. We rang on the majestic eight at Pershore Abbey in the evening. where some had to pluck up courage to go into "the cage for the first time! ! After ringing at the Abbey we had a ring on the six at Pershore. Highlight of the evening was when Ted rang with the very young local ringers. the sum total of their ages not adding up to his age: and he still showing us how to ring tenors! !
Saturday arrived all too soon, we set out for Bromsgrove, where we scored a peal of Cambridge Royal. We were more than pleased to learn that. by a pleasant coincidence, the peal was to celebrate the binth. on the previous evening, of a son to the Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Pilkington.
Our thanks are extended to all incumbents. tower captains, and ringers who- had made this tour possible: to Mr. Basil Jones, for his superlative arrangements, and to Messrs. Dunkerley. Worth and Jones for the use of their cars. It all passed so quickly, but time always does when you're having fun.

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX GUILD

A meeting of the Guild held at Marsden on September 3 rd was very well attended. Ringing ranged from rounds and call-changes to Bristol, Superlative and other Major methods, with one or two rings with the ten going. Quite a few learners attended and the committee were pleased with the result. A short service was held in the Lady Chapel of this 'Colne Valley Cathedral.' conducted by the Vicar of Marsden. who gave a warm welcome. A fine tea was provided by the local ringers, and quite a lively business meeting followed in the School Room Ringing was had until the late evening, and handhell ringing followed. Next meeting pro-

NEWS FROM VANCOUVER, B.C.
On July 30th. members of the Vancouver Society of Change Ringers were guests of the ringers of Christ Church Cathedral. Victoria, B.C. The group travelled on the Tsawwassen service linking the two cities, from sales south (chaw-wassen), 20 miles south of Vancouver to Swartz Bay, 25 miles north of Viotoria.
Touohes of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung at this first visit of the Vansouver group to Victoria. Visiting ringers were Mrs. Sally Luttrell, Mrs. Frances Bodie, Miss Maureen Good. Mr. Anthony Collins. Mr. Ronald Hyatt, all of Vancouver.
Other visitors were Mr. Fred Westlake, of Port Coquitlam, B.C., Mr. Peter Crook, of Botton, Lancashire. and his daughter, Mrs. Paines, from Kelowna, B.C.

Later, at the beautiful Brentwood home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Izard. the group enjoyed a buffer supper and a plunge in Brentwood Bay.

A second outing was held on August 13 th when both the Vancouver and Victoria groups journeyed to the ten-bell tower at the Benedictine Monastery, Mission. B.C. On this trip the Vancouver group were accompanied by their Ringing Master. Mr. Edwin Lee. formerly of Newark. Nots. Visitors from Victoria were Mr. E. W. Izard. Miss Margaret Izard, Mrs. Mary Barlow. Mr. Arthur Izard, Mr. Douglas Boniface and Mr. Ved Donaldson. Other visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Harold McDonald. of Ireland. Mr Westlake and Mr. Crook. Touches of Plain Bob Minor, Grandsire Triples and Caters were rung. An attempt was made at Stedman Caters. Guests were received by the Rev. Father Dunstan, Ringing Master, of the Abbey. Members toured the Abbey, after which tea was served.

A SHALFORD WEDDING

A romance in Shalford (Surrey) tower was sealed by the wedding at the Parish Church on September 3rd of Mr. Alan Charles Arthur Hunter. only son of Mr. Leslie C. Hurter (captain of the tower) and Mrs. Hunter. of Chilworth, and Miss Pamela Ann Purdue, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Purdue, of Shalford. Both bride and bridegroom are keen ringers, and the bride is also Sunday School superintendent.
The Vicar and Rural Dean (Rev. W. R. Horth) officiated, assisted by the Rev. Cadoc Davies. Thd bride was attended by three child bridesmaids. Mr. Paul Butler was best man and Michael and Peter Johnson groomsmen. The reception, attended by 100 guests, was held at the Parrot Inn, Shalford, and the honeymoon is being spent at Dunsford. Devon.

MR. ARTHUR HARDING  AN APPRECIATION

It was with deep regret that I read of the passing last month of Mr. Arthur Harding, as I well remember him coming forward to help the South and West District of the Middlesex Association. A few of us found plenty of spade work to do in the District, and one of my rewards was a peal of Kent Major with Arthur in his own tower of St. Mary's, Ealing. in February, 1910. He proudly told me it was the first peal of Major on the bells since 1798!
Arthur was fond of Major on the tenor or seventh. and he loved good striking: but what a wonderful record of service in his own tower. 60 years! One could write at length about Arthur, but the wards 'well done' were never more deserving, and he will not easily be forgotten.

NIGHTINGALE T.P.B. MAJOR

Dear Sir,-With reference to the Florence Nightingale peals, I did not produce a new method. Nightingale T.P.B. Major. This method was first produced by William Sottanstall and pealed at Liversedge in 1868 . The method is an example of a class in which the work of the treble consists of dodging and place making (without plain hunting).

Students of change-ringing will know that, strictly speaking, a "place " is made internally, and that the original word for dodge was bob. For these reasons I think these methods could be all grouped under the heading Treble Place Bob.
Below are half-leads of each type of method in this group. As will be seen from their false course ends, peals in these methods are very difficult to obtain. Nightingale T.P.B., which is the first example below. has 12 f.c.e.. and when Mr. Savory asked me to produce a simple composition I found it easier to use both 4ths and 6ths place bobs.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL AND PEALS

 OF MINIMUSDear Sir.-Having never attended a Central Council meeting. one can only wonder how they must be run after reading Mr. E. A. Barnett's letter on the voting for or against recognising peals of Minimus.

Surely the matter of whether or not peals of Minimus should be recognised was important enough to deserve a vote of its own: obviously Mr. P. H. Whitaker and Peter Border thought so from their recent letters, whilst Mr. E. A. Barnett was in complete agreement with them from the start. as it was on his guidance that the first peal of Minimus in five methods was published as a Miscellaneous Performance.

I am in complele agreement with Peter Border. When two Surprise ringers ring a peal of Plain Bob Minimus on handbells, there is a degrading of the standards, and it is on this basis that the motion should be based.

I am sure that when the Standing Commitree recommended that Minimus peals be recognised shey had in mind ringers of 4 - and 5 -bell towers who may wish to ring peals, certainly not handbell ringers who wish to anuse themselves for an hour or so.

If. as now seems to be the case, the Central Council have to discuss the same motions year by year, there is still hope for Erin and Saturn Treble Bob Doubles, not to mention 9-bell peals. Put them all on next year's agenda and let us test members opinions once again.Yours sincerely, GEOFFREY K. DODD.

Highclere.

COLLECE OF CAMPANOLOGY ANNUAL MEETING

The reunion this year, at Staines on Augsut 27th, although not a triennial elective meeting, took the form largely of a conference on the miany matters of importance now arising in College activity. Attendance, though not large, included members from districts up to 300 miles apart.

The vice-president (Mr. Harry Miles) presided. Messages of good wishes and/or apologies for absence included the president (Mr. Ernest Morris), the College chaplains, the belfries consultant (Mr. Frederick Sharpe), the carillonneur of Chicago University (Mr. James Lawson), the Misses Marie Cross. Marion Lidgey and Kathleen Knight (the retiring registrar), and others at home and abroad. Acknowledgment of gratitude was made to Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Shepherd, who kindly made all local arrangements for ringing and for the meeting. and generously provided attractive refreshments.

To fill vacancies arising from retirement, Professor R. 1. Brocklehurst (Somerset) was elected as a governor. Comdr. C. F. Jackson, R.N.. registrar, and Dr. R. G. T. Bennett press and public relations officer: Other officers continue as hitherto, with registrar's office remaining at 40, Parkstone Avenue. Southsea.

THE ANNUAL REPORT

The annual report showed steady progress, the 100 th membership registration having been effected during the year. Other interesting results for the year included (with numbers in brackets as totals since foundation-less than 40 per cent. so achievement is probably of a higher rating all round) correspondents 6 (19), tutors 6 (38), examiners retired 1 (15), College representatives in 29 counties in Britain, and in Eire, Northern Ireland, U.S.A.. Tanganyika, Southern Rhodesia and-awaiting confirmation -New Zealand: schools of ringing now affiliated 2, learners instructed 143 (581). learners helped 187 (431), centres of instruction 44 (125), courses run 12 (34), lalks and lectures given. including one B.B.C. broadcast, 61 (131). Efforts to advance the work of ringing training and practice in 1960 ) are recorded in a list of some iwo-dozen interesting varying activities. Participation in a municipal arts and crafts ex. hibition, with a ringing stall" and handbell demonstrations and a lecture, proved most successful. The belfries consultant gave valuable help and advice during the year. The report features the standard of instructional work being carried out.

Courses.-Three types are now being run: (1) The "serial" 10 - or 12 -session introductory course in bell-handling and control in the ele-

PEALS OF MINIMLS

Dear Sir.-Now that the Central Council has committed itself to the recognition of peals on four bells, will it please-to prevent further lowering of the standard of ringing-take steps as soon as possible to obviate peals on itree and two bells? - Yours faithfully.

CHAS. J. SEDGLEY.
Ipswich.
Dear Sir,-I should be very grateful if Mr. J. M. Telley, who recently asked for suggestions as to a better way for two men to spend 1 hour and 25 minutes than in ringing a handbell peal of Minimus, would communicate with me at my home address.-Yours sincerely, ments of change-ringing: (2) The week-end residential course in two or three ringing subjects: (3) The one-day instructor's course in elementary training. The numbers of courses quoted above are mainly of type (1). The first of type (3) course was given successfully by the College in Bristol in March last. The College also assisted, through one of its tutors, in the Oxford Diocesan Guild's course at Bigwood (type (2)). A College type (2) course is being considered for next spring in the South Midland area.

The report also emphasised the need for reporting activity and for correcting any false impression that the College is anything but altruistic in its work and publicity, and was adopted.

STATEMENT OF ACCOUNTS

The bursar, Surgeon-Captain A. Lawrey, detailed the accounts. which showed a credit position of about double that of the preceding year. hut stressed the need for co-operation of all members in prompt payment of dues and prompt response to notices, etc., to avoid unnecessary postages and other expenses, since the organisation is entirely voluntary. The statement was adopted.
A reissue of the College Constitution, revised to correct minor points to date, was authorised. Copies will go automatically to new members, and to old members on application, enclosing 3d. postage. In respect of the rising status of the College, proposals were discussed for its public recognition. These are to be initiated in part immediately, with consideration later of the remaining proposals, depending on the maintenance of College achievement.

AFFILIATION TO CENTRAL COUNCIL
At its foundation the College Constitution enjoined its loyal adherence to the Rules and Decisions of the Central Council, to the support of 'The Ringing World, and it provided for application for affiliation to the Council. but as to the latter only when the College should be demonstrably attaining its objectives and its numeric qualification for membership of the Council. As the College is now entering its fifth year of progress. it was resolved to consider such application at the close of the year.

Sales of recently-issued 2 nd edition of Part I of the Ringers' Manual of Reference were reported as "steady. It was agreed to sponsor the publication of Part 11- Method Structure in Change Ringing, which it is hoped to issue by the end of the year. booking of copies being invited. The other six 'Parts.' in various states of notes, etc.. by specialists, are to be issued as soon as circumsiances permit. It was resolved that one or more pamphlets, as interim publications in lieu of the complete 'Parts,' shall be issued, starting with one on Part IIIPractical Method Ringing.
Resolved that leaflets be issued as follows: Leaflet ' N '-A revision of old leaflet No. 3, on the organisation and work of the College for the Exercise (Information): Leaflet M On the nature of the Parts of the Manual of Reference, but specifying the relevant Central Council and other publications, recommended for College study and practice ; Leaflet ' C On the three types of course now being run and/or sponsored by the College. Type (1) course being detailed as to initiation and checking to completion.
The next reunion was proposed for London on Saturday, September 30th. 1961, when the triennial elections will be held.

ROVING & RINGING IN FIVE COUNTIES

(14th innual tour of the Society of Roving Ringers, July 23rd-August 1si)

$I^{1}$T had been a week of thunderstorms and as Saturday approached we crossed our fingers and walted anxiously. We werenit to know then that the 1960 tour was to be one of the driest ever: in fact, we were not to don our cycle, capes until the final Saturday, and then only for a few minutes

Because ratlway time-tables were not devised for our convenience alone, only half of us arrived on time at Newark and we contented ourselves with sorne pleasant Grandsire Caters. Nineteen assorted ringers took part in the cour including one young lady. whom we cour including one young lady. whom we lound was regarded by the Y.H.A. as - juvenile Six yowh hostels were visited and the appsarance of that at Southwell assured us (ilat our Sunday morning duties would be casily disposed of. Accordingly, we arrived at the Minvier on time. The difnculties of ringing on this an:i-clockwise eight are appreciated by many, but the local ringer present assured us that the exriking in at least our intial touch of Grandsire had not been beaten by touch of Grandsire had not been beaten by a visiting band. Spurred on we attempied Cambridge-with regret! Some of us attended norning service and the rist adjourned to the ringers' room for handbell ringing. We prefer to think that the course of Grandsire Cinques came to grief purely because of the choir's efforts in the same building.

SUNDAY'S MEAGRE RATIONS

Food is alway, difficult to find in the countryside on Sundays and all we could scrape together for lunch were a couple of pieces of bread each, some cheese and an of us for the rest of the week but the proprietors of Evenden's Enterprise, had not then opened shop. However. we were assured that one pint equals 250 calories and made do accordingly.

We were due to ring at Bingham after lunch bu: the vestry key had unfortunately been taken out for an afternoon spin. However, lhrough the kindness of the locals. we eventually rang at Whatton (6), instead. We were now oehind schedule as we crossed the tip of Leicestersnire into Lincolnshire and arrived for evening service at Barrowby (6). feeling rather peckish. The Vicar had kindly offered refreshment afterwards but the hostel meal had already been booked and we regretfully had to decline. However, having been given precise instructions as to the quickest approach. we all stayed untll immsdiately before the sermon.

On Monday morning the Cambridge Royal at Grantham gave a good start to the day although our Master soon realised that attention to striking, particularly of the little bells, would be the order of the week. Billinghorough followed and, to the metronomic accompaniment of the clock pendulum, we rang our first London on this light eight. From here we could see the Stump-our destination the following day. As expected, good striking was again lacking at Surfieet, our only twelve, and after some indifferent Stedman and Grandsire we resorted to Bob Royal. Left to our own resources we had no lit?!e trouble in removing the "drum" mechanism at Holbeach and ringing here was greatly curtailed. By a sroke of genius Mr .
Joint Secretary had arranged two nights at the local ' Do it yourself ' hostel. Have you ever slept in a courtroom? Not every hosiel can boast a coffin in the vaults. a theatre, a cinema. and a gymnasium all rolled into one.

BOSTON STUMP

Without saddlebags now we started on Tuesday for Algarkirk (6)-pronounced quite differently-another anti-clockwise ring in the midst of the transepis. At Kirton-in-Holland we accomplished our first full courses of Brisiol and Double Norwich with. incidentally. the treble up the wrong way! We have still to decide how many steps there are to the top of Boston Stump but none of us felt inclined to make the journey downwards to listen to the outside effect of the half course of Cambridge. At Sutterton, after ascertaining we could ring neither Spliced nor sizire. On reflection some may suggest that the quality and variety of this years ringing was not difficult to surpass, but at least one veteran was heard to say that no tour had been more enjoyable.

We passed the 100 mile mark on the way back to Holbeach and when we left on Wednesday morning, not without regrets, the Warden and his encourage raised no objection to our small memenioes of the visit. Before ringing at red-bricked St. Paul's. Fulney (8) at the approach to Spalding, we relaxed in the sun on the banks of the Welland. The mere 15 cwt. of the tenor at St. Mary and St. Nicholas*. in the heart of Spalding. gives little indication of the majestic tone of this eight but, although they are easy to ring even from the ground floor, the difficult hearing produces a tendency to rush these bells. We followed the Welland south-west and collected more midges than we care to remember as we headed for Market Deeping (6). The metal facings bridging the very worn steps coupled w :h the narrow siaircase required carefu negotiation as we entered the chamber here The local capiain, who, incidentally, conducts a peal of Spliced every birthday, called us off to a good course of London,
We were now leaving the Fens-perhaps two days there on bicycles are enough-and after exchanging greetings with several hundred black sineep we net the Al-and the trafficin Stamford. The mellow six at All Saints are rung from a spacious chamber whose decor is second to Hone, and our first touch of Double Court was again called by the locals.

GRAND SOCIAL EVENING

The thought of a mere 20 miles the follow ing day spurred us onwards as we tackled the climb south into Northamptonshire and the hostel at King's Cliffe. The warden(ess) here had planned a grand society evening (until 10.30 p.m.!) and so after the usual nightcap pleasantries, we redescended upon our hosts in jovial mood. To Uncle Victor's music we did our best with the Slow Bobtrot, the Sixscore Reel. and the extent of Highland Surprise, and we only hope the unfortunates who had by chance chosen to share our roof that night enjoyed it as much as we did.
Even the voice of the warden's daughter would have been lost in the local tower (6) next morning and it seems that ropes too have ears because one decided there and then that its working days were over. The rest of Thursday was to be spent in Rutland and Thursday was to be spent in Rutland and, as we entered through the fields of golden barley, we realised how well the weather was treating us. We found the bells at Edith Weston (6) still half-muffled (back-stroke) from the previous day's ringing at the inierment of the old Vicar. To appreciate the delightful echo effeot of ringing in whole pulls (we kept this to Plain Bob). one might advecate the repetition in the echo of any trips arising at handstroke! Shopping at the court for lunch and the baker's van arrived just at the right time-and, one might add, at the right place too!

LANDLORD A RINGER

The Cuckoo. at Wing (our first five), opened specially for the occasion: as well as having been a ringer for 40 years the landlord appeared to have the monopoly of several of the village's industries. From here to Glaston (6) and so to Uppingham, the second town and the other eight of Rutland. The long draught gave the usual difficulty but our course of Rutland was respectable by any tandards.
Rutland may be small but it has its quota of shont. sharp hills and we were glad to reach Loddington hostel just over che border in Leicesiershire. Two unfortunate circumstances led to our first accident as we again approached the hostel later that night. Firs:ly, the "local' was not local enough and. secondly. the Y.H.A. Handbook warned us about the wrong hill! A few kicks and a subsequent professional three and sixpennyworth soon put right the buckled front wheel, but one can only hope that our Sherwood member involved will steer well clear of his merry 'Woe-men in future.

We had not looked forward to breakfast at 7.30 on Friday. but we were soon glad to be out 'en bloc' (or so we thought) in the inviting sunshine. and Mr. Joint Secretary again showed his brilliant organsing powers by arranging our 22 mule get-off-tor-coffeeonly morning on this particularly glorious day. In keeping to the valleys we found ourselves opening no fewer than seven gates and finished up struggling into Northamptonshire along the mire of a cart-track. It couldn't have been a more suitable day for a puncture and. sure ensugh, in between the gates and the mire we had our one and only Thrapston's was our only eight of the day and, paradoxically, although tnere were but two fives to come. th.s last full day together was one of the most enjoyable. We entered Hunsingdonshire and climbed away from the main road into picturesque Leighton Broms wold. There is litule pleasure in ringing a heavy " long-draughted" five on a "sticky" af.ernoon but-who knows?-someone migh be listening. somewhere. This parish has had no Vicar of its own for many years, and $£ 500$ is needed to rehang the bells. But the church with its two pulpits is kept spick and span by the local farmer's wife (a churchwarden), and the former was not long in showing her appreciation of our ringing on her birthday. The 'fee' her eligible daughter ('I hope I shan't be here next time you come ') brought found its way by popular consent into the alms-box and the pallon of lemonade waiting for us outside was indeed welcome. Our Master asked the young lady to convey our birthday greeting to mother and, permission having been volunteered, we departed over the farmlands and through the undergrowth towards Brampton (5).
On this trip our (hitherto) lively junior had a litle trouble with her sweater and as a result found herself sampling the road surface at close quanters. However, we eventually reached Houghton Mill (No Smoking) and passed our last night together over the sound of rusining waters. We exhausted our limited of rusining waters. We exnausted our limited indulgence of the Warden) and began to look forward to next year when some industrious member hopes to publish a Hostel Harthology - perhaps incorporating a Guide to the Juke Boxes of Britain (?)
The drift homewards started on Friday everning but was more than offset by the weekenders (i.e. trousers and skiris), whose arrival gathered momentum as Savurday progressed. From Godmanchester (8) and Spaldwick (6) we passed the Three Shire Stone and entered Northamptonshire for the last time. As we approached Higham Ferrers (8), we reluctantly put on our capes, although not for long, and eventually arrived at Wellingborough (8), with only ten miles to go. We cycled these last few of our 250 miles against the wind dreaming of the luxurious hot baths waiting for us at The Angel and The Ram, in Northampcon. and as our weary bones descended irto the soothing waters, our tour of 1960 was virtually over

1961 REUNION-SHREWSBURY

After dinner that night we decided to hold our 1961 reunion in Shrewsbury and we look forward to our cine enthusiasts reminding us there of the things we did when we thought no one was looking
The rest of the week-end was spent ringing at eight towers in and around Northampion (at least some of us were up and about by 7 a.m. on Sunday). where we received many warm welcomes. In particular it is worthy of note that Easton Neston (8) are again ringable due to the untiring efforts of local ringers. who have spent many hours working on these bells. A very good course of London at Moulton on Bank Holiday Monday afternoon brought the whole proceedings to a close

Refusal to give permission to ring is virtually unknown today but we aould never take for granted this privilege. which is so unhestatingly bestowed and we do appreciate the co-operation of all the incumbents and locals at the 36 towers visited this year. Our two join secretaries again excelled themselves in carrying through the complicated arrangements without hirch and the maps and guides and assortmens of muki-coloured pins may again rest for another six months or so.

ST. CUTHBERT'S CHURCH, DARLINGTON

- Ring forth. Holy Bells, Ring forth from your Tower,

With music that rells, of Christ's saving power.
Proclaim" Christ is Risen" Exalted and Crowned And hath opened death's prison, And set free the bound.'
HOR over seven-and-a-half centuries the bells of St. Cuthberts have rung out over the town of Darlington, and at no time is their message more becoming and welcome to Christian peop!e than at Eastertide.

Built in the later years of the 12th century. the early church would no doubt have a low central tower with a single bell. When the spacious belfry and tower were added, nearly two centuries later. four bells would be introduced. In pre-clock days, people relied on the bells to tell them the time of worship, and for centuries the bells of the parish church were the only bells heard in the town.

The church records abound with references to the use of the bells. It is of interest to note that when the King's Commissioners visited St. Cuthbert's in 1553, to purloin what was of value. for the 'King's Highness use.' they left at the church-' four belis in the stepell; a sance bell, two hand bells, three sacring bells. and a little bell that the clock smyteth on.

The bells were used extensively during the Stuart regime, and they proved an expensive item in the churchwardens' accounts. One ttem in 1630 is for 'Soape to the belles 2d; but it is quite evident from the subsequent expenditure that more than soap was required The next year a new headyoake for the Great Bell "-six feet long and 26 inches square-was brought from Elm Park. 16 miles away. at a cost of 15 s .

17th CENTURY RECASTING
In 1633 the Great Bell had to be cast anew, the bell founder and his men coming to Darlington to do the work. They set up a furnace near the church, and used 100 lb . of metal at 8 d , a lb . 100 lb . at $7 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}$. a $\mathrm{lb} . .75 \mathrm{lb}$. at 7 d . a lb . and 24 lb . of 'Pewther' at IId. a lb . When the casting was successfully accomplished the churchwardens expressed their entire satisfaction by giving the bell founder and his men 7s. to go and enjoy themselves for the rest of the day.

The local ringers were certainly broadminded in those changing times. In 1632 they received 2s. 3d. for ringing for Charles I. but 19 years later the Presbyterian Vestry paid them 5 s. for ringing to mark the defeat of Charles II at Worcester

In January, 1753, a notice was brought before the parishioners as follows: - Whereas some of the bells of the Parish Church. Darlington. are broke and cracked, and others so disproportioned in six. and now hang so badly. that they are at present of little use. and the major part of the parishioners are very desirous to have a new and compleat set of a Ring of 6 Bells. Now we whose name: are hereby subscribed do hereby severally promise $t 0$ pay into the hands of Mr. Francis Holmes, of Darlington, afforsaid; on or before March 25, 1755. the several sums set down below.

Among the subscribers were the Earl of Darlington, $£ 21$; the Duke of Cleveland, $£ 1010 \mathrm{~s}$.: John Pease, $£ 22 \mathrm{~s}$., and the total was $\{1635 \mathrm{~s}$. 6 d .. a substantial amount in mid 18 ih century currency.

A record of August, 1755 , states:. Darlington nas lately completed a New Ring of Bells, with Chimes, by subscription. The Bells were cast by Lister of London, and at the same time the chimes were added by J. Harrison, of Barrow: It would seem that at that time four old bells were recast and two new bells added. USES OF BELLS
The bells were used on many occasions in those early days. The 'Passing-hell' was tolled by the sexton immediately after every death in the town, even if it occurred at midnight. This melancholy procedure was to invite the prayers of the parishioners for a soul passing into eternity.
Spencer records the story of old Willie Hall. who lived in Church Row. who on hearing the 'Passing-bell' made his way to the belfry and inquired. Who are you ringing for now? The sexton being exasperated by Willie's constant inquiry, reported. I'm ringing for the death of Willie Mall! This so upset the old man that he never inquired again. and soon afterwards the bell colled for Willie himself.
The 'Sacring-bell' was used during the solemn parts of the Mass and was last heard in St. Cuthbert's on November 17th. 1569. at the time of the . Northern Rebellion. It would seem from the inventory of 1553 that. in addition to the small bell used inside the church a larger bell. in the Sancte-bell-cote. was used to inform outsiders of the progress of the Mass.
The Curfew-bell. was rung for many generations at 8 p.m.. and the "Funeral-bell" was used for centuries. when the churchyard was the only sepulchre in the town. A church bell was rung in case of fire, and this continued until 1864

RINGERS ON STRIKE

A local paper of May, 1860, records the following-. Tell it not in Yarm. whisper it not in Stockton. that at a recent confirmation service at Darlington-Darlington the conventional. the respectable-no peal of bells was rung. The brass-bell was sulky, the tenor bell was gruff, the treble bell was cantankerous. and all were silent. The reason-because there was no funds to pay the ringers.
At the great restoration of the church (1863-5) the bells were taken down and five of them recast. For some time the authoritics had been desirous of providing a ring of eight bells. When the market lower was being built at that time. Mr. Joseph Pease (of the monument) made a gift to the town of the clock with its bells.

When the first iwo bell arrived they were found unsuitable. and on being informed that these bells were just what was required to make a ring of eight for St. Cuthbert's. Mr. Pease very generously gave them for the church belfry
The name of the donor was inscribed on the bells. and the full ring of eight was first heard on June 22nd. 1866. which was Mr. Pease's 67th birthday
This was a 'Bell Festival' for Darlington. Ringers came from Leeds. Ripon and Masham. to assist in the event. The Darlington amateur ringers led off at 6 a.m.. the professional band taking up the ringing at 9 a.m. After a good dinner at the Bull's Headwhen a toast to Mr . Pease was honoured with acclamation-inging was resumed until 8 p.m. Crowds gathered near the church to hear the music by the increased ringing of - Sweet Chiming Bells

NEW YEAR CONSTERNATION
A former Vicar. the Rev. T. E. Hodgson. who considered the age old custom of ringing the New Year in as nonsense and an antiquated custom. ordered the ringers to cease their activities at 11.45 p.m. on December 31st. 1880. This caused great consternation on the High Row. where a large crowd waited in vain for the "Midnight Peal': when it was not forthcoming they jumped to the conclusion that ancther strike had disturbed the harmony of the belfry.

After being silent for 30 years the carillon was restored by Sir J. E. Backhouse and his brother Charles. in 1907, in memory of their father. Edmund Backhouse, who was the first M.P. for the Borough

In 1937. under the Barron bequest, all the bells were recast at Croydon, and afterward; rehung on iron frames with ball bearings. The present captain. Mr. T. Cooke. has given over a quarter of a century of service 10 the church. His wife and daughter are also active members of the band

THE CARILLON WORLD

ENGLISH bellringers invariably take a passing interest in carillons and, while the art of a carillonneur differs materially from the art of change ringing, the common use of a bell, although in a different manner, provides a link. There is big news in the carillon world in the retirement of Kemel Lefevere, who for the past 33 years has been the foremost American carillonneur. His position of carillonneur of the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial carillon at the Riverside Church, New York, has meant that he has been in charge of the largest and heaviest carillon in the world, with 74 bells and a bourdon of 20 tons.
As a recitalist, teacher, lecturer, composer and author, Dr. Lefevere has done more to promote the European art of the carillon in the New World than any other living carillonneur. He will sail to his birthplace, Belgium, on September 3oth, but he has promised to return to New York in July, ig6I, to give carillon concerts.
His successor is James R. Lawson, carillonneur of the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel and Mitchell Tower chimemaster at the University of Chicago for the past seven years, and he takes up his appointment on October Ist. Mr. Lawson is known to many English ringers. In 1959 he made an extended tour of this country and Europe and met a number of the leaders of our art of change ringing. He returned to America imbued with the spirit of introducing change ringing at the Mitchell tower as a subsidiary. At Chicago he had established an extensive library on all branches of ringing.
A man of initiative and energy, Mr. Lawson has received the approval of the Board of Trustees of the Riverside Church for the transfer of the headquarters of the Societas Campanariorum (Society of Bellringers) from Chicago to New York, and from here his various publications and bell music will be published and sold. On the 2ist floor of the Riverside Church will be housed not only the library from Chicago but also the Margaret H. Shurcliff Memorial Library of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers. The Campanological Museum will be moved to the zoth floor and this will be further developed.
Associated with Chicago University there was a carillon school, and Mr. Lawson plans to establish a similar institution at the Riverside Church. The quarterly bulletin of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers will also be issued from this centre by a new Editorial Board. In 1964, the year of the next World's Fair in New York City, it is hoped that the Riverside Church may be the host for a great national festival of handbell ringers and also an international congress of carillonneurs.

THE NAVIGATRESSES

IF the feminine of actor is actress, then presumably the feminine of I navigator is navigatress. . anyway, that is what we had-two of em-on Saturday, September 10th, when the Tewkesbury and District Branch set off to tour some of the hest towers in South Wales.

The tour started off as all tours start off-bleary-eyed and slightly bemused ringers, whose usual hours of rising, in the main. were much later than 6 a.m., staggering in silent protest to their seats on the coach. Not even the self-appointed wag could summon a flicker of a smile at that early hour of the morning. However, after much shunting from one point of the district to another we got under way, and made our first call at Chepstow. St. Mary's (10). We enjoyed ringing here and also on the light six at Penhow, St. John's.

And then to Newport, All Saints* (8). It was in Newport, after apparently going round in small circles, that we had the first niggles of doubts as to the abilities of our 'navigatresses.' hut when we did arrive our patience was amply rewarded by the excellent bells. After a most pleasant lunch at Newport we went to Caerphilly, St. Martin's (8). Here again we had a delightful ring on the well-going bells.

It was from Caerphilly that our troubles of navigation really started. Whether it was that our navigatresses were unable to read the Welsh signposts, although to the uninitiated the problem did not seem great. we do not know. Suffice to say that the "navigatresses " were joined by navigators, confusion was added to confusion and chaos to chaos. We found ourselves attempting, apparently, to go down coal mines and to climb unclimbable hills.

We were trying to get to Ebbw Vale, but I doubt if anyone can now tell the route we actually took. The instructions we received from the helpful Welsh seemed only to complicate matters further. There was considerable argument between the "navigatresses" and navigators as to who was right. Wheever was right. we found ourselves going up and up, reaching dizzy heights which, it was obvious from the expressions of sheer amazement on the faces of the natives and the startled expression of mountain sheep, had never been reached by a coach before. There were times, as we passed through mountain mist, when some of us wondered whether we were not in orbit; others called for oxygen, while others pointed out that the parachutes were in the boot of the coach.

There was one point when those in charge decided that yet another wrong turn had been taken and that we would have to reverse. "Anything behind?' called the long-suffering driver. "Nothing. was the reply, not even the road. On we pressed, praying fervently that the coach would not break down, as it was very apparent that apart from mad English bellringers and mountain goats, the hills we were on were uninhabited and seldom visited. We were all now suffering from euphoria caused hy the rarified atmosphere. It had just been decided to form a people's committee to take over the running of the coach when signs of civilisation appeared. Believe it or not, we had come to a main road.

Eventually we found ourselves, rather later than expected, at Ehhw Vale. Christ Church (8), and we hope the kind lady who met us will. if she reads this, forgive our ironic laughter when she remarked: "Indecd to goodness. I thought you must have got lost,' We were most grateful to her for waiting for us. At Ebbw Vale we had a most enjoyable tea, and Mr. T. Stewart, our oldest travelling member, took the opportunity of expressing thanks to our Ringing Master, Mr. T. Newbury, for arranging the outing. Mr. T. Brazier. on behalf of the Evesham District ringers, who had joined us, supported the thanks. Our last tower call was on the most excellent ten at Abergavenny. St. Marys. How we delighted in these bells! Perhaps these were the pick of the bunch. although Ebbw Vale's, or indeed any of the other towers, were of very high quality and very well worth visiting.
Our hour of return was rather early in the morning, and the writer learnt later that one of our "navigatresses "had had the misfortune of being locked out and had slept in her car for the rest of the night.

Our thanks go to all the many incumbents, secretaries, stceple keepers and others who corresponded with us, met us and generally looked after us.

Guildford Drocesan Guild has had a big disappointment. Last October they made arrangements for their annual dinner, and confirmed these in March when they were told there would be a slight increase in the price of tickets. Now they are confronted with not only a 2 s . increase in. the price per head but also a 10 guineas hall fee and starting time delayed. The terms were regarded as excessive. A search for an alternative venue in Guildford and other towns has not been successful, and the dinner for this year has been cancelled.Thanington, Kent, had its peal on the bells on September 3rd.

A maiden peal was rung at Holt, Wiltshire, on August 30th. It was the first peal by all the members of the band.
Mr. D. J. Hunt writes strongly discouraging attempting the peal of 5,184 Plain Bob Major composed by Mr. Brian Downes ('R.W. August 19th). "To have 18 courses of a peal with 8-7's at back-ugh!'
Mr. David Cubitt, who has contributed frequently to our columns on the history of ringing in Wakefield, has moved to Norwich. We wish him every happiness in his new appointment.
Mr. Brian Threlfall writes calling attention to two errors in the report of the Cambridge University tour. The peal at Stansted should have read Cambridge. The peal attempt at St. Neots which was lost was 'going too well" and not 'not going too well,' as appeared.
Another of Mr. James H. Musson's pupils-13-year-old Roger Asher-makes his first appearance in our peal columns with a peal at Silk Willoughby, Lincs, on September 3rd. 'A most creditable performance," writes the conductor.

Mr. E. A. Barnett, hon. secretary of the Central Council, had a nasty fall from a ladder into his greenhouse while painting his house at Crayford. Cuts to his arm and hand necessitated hospital treatment. Sympathy was sent to him from the Veterans" gathering in London on Saturday, with thanks for arranging for ringing at St. Clement Danes".

cast in the Home Service on Monday. September $26 t h$ at Monday, September 26th, at 3 p.m. is the harvest thanksgiving service for the Blind, from Little Berkhamsted Parish Church, Herts. The three bells, all cast before 1552, and hung in a wooden steeple. will be heard before the service. The Rev. J. Shep-heard-Walwyn, who is blind. will conduct the service; the preacher, the Vicar (Rev. H. G. Bawtree-Williams), was formerly blind, and the lessons will be read by two blind people-Mr. William Sharp (aged 83) and Mrs. Peggy Jackson. The congregation of blind people will be drawn from all over the county.

We apologise to all concerned over the error in the 'Contents' on page 585 concerning the wedding at Houghton Conquest. Alas, a case of mental aberration.

Among those who rang in the quarter peal of Grandsire Triples at Blacklands, Hastings. for the baptism of Jill Susan Downing were her father, two grandparents, two godparents, an uncle and aunt. Her parents were ringers at this church and now reside in Watford.

Bells will be heard prior to the harvest thanksgiving service to be televised by the B.B.C. from Sherborne Abbey. Dorset, at 6.30 p.m. on Sunday, October 2 nd . The preacher will be the Bishop of Sherborne, the Rt. Rev. V . J. Pike. The captain of the ringers is Mr . Percy Lambert.
Can any reader supply the old inscriptions in ochrous red on the white plaster of the north wall of Imber Church, on Salisbury Plain? This church is War Office property. The inquiry comes from a member of a party of archaologists, who thought the figures indicated early examples of change-ringing. The possible date is 1682 .
Mr. Ernest Morris gave a talk on "The History and Romance of the Bells, to the Leicester Rotary Club on September 12th. This Club is one of the largest in the United Kingdom. with over 150 members, the majority of whom were present and much appreciated Mr . Morris's discourse.

RAISING.-To listen to Raising (and lowering) as it should be done, visit certain lowers, particularly in Devon and Cornwall. I would imagine that in this part of our country as much attention is given to raising and lowering as is given to the remainder of the ringing. whether it bo round, call or change. 'Raising in peal' is wher all the bells, hanging freely with their mouths downwards, are swung higher and higher until all swing the full circle so that they can be set up, at the same time being caused to strike continuously in rounds. Of course, one, two or more bells may be raised at a time. There are two ways of raising a bell, one being the wrong way! This will he explained later
REGULAR METHOD.-Not all methods which have been composed, even if they have been based on a principle, are accepted as regular and, as such, are not recognised. At the same time, it would be difficult to express in a few words what a regular method is There are one or two essential conditions such as, every working bell must do the same work: no bell must move more than one place at a time; a method must be truc within itself. It would be better to test the regularity or otherwise of a method by trial and error i.e., can a bell lead for three or more blows, can the treble be made to dodge in 2-3: can this be done; can that be done? If the reply is in the negative then the method would not be regular.
REVERSE METHOD.-A Reverse method s one in which the places are made at the same distance from the treble's lying behind as they are in the original of the method from its leading. Study Reverse Plain Bob when you will most probably have the effect of turning Plain Bob round about or upside down. In many cases the methods have distinctive names; for instance, Reverse Hereward Bob is known as Pershore Bob RIGHT:-This term has the same meaning as. and is often used instead of, Home
ROLL UP.-Even if the allegation that ringers when in their own company can talk only about ringing is true, you will rarely hear this term mentioned in conversation The occasion when 'Roll up' or 'Roll 'em up is most often called. or even shouted, is when the ringing is a bit rough and the conductor is giving his command. It has been known that the delinquent ringer or ringers wake up, as well! A roll up is taken to be when the back bells are struck in their natural order, as in rounds, and most usually occurs at. just before or just after a lead end. The lowest number of bells to which the term is applied is eighi, when the fifth, sixth, seventh and tenor are struck in this order, but if the lead end 13245678 came up that would be a roll up as well. One could say that a roll up on ten or twelve bells would be when the back bells from either the fourth, fifth, sixth. or seventh onwards are struck in their natural order-there is really no hard and fast definition.
ROPESIGHT.-Ropesight is the power of noticing the rope and finding out and following the right one. and it is the faculty of being able to pick out the bell which has to be followed that is the foundation of all change ringing. This last sentence is quoted from the Jasper Snowdon Change Ringing series 'Ropesight.' copies of which are still obtainable. The power of noticing the ropes comes naturally with experience. and whilst it may seem at first to be beyond you, you sooner or later acquire a field of vision that embraces all the ropes. Moreover, ropesight is gained by a certain amount of elimination to the extent that if say. you were ringing the second bell to a plain course of Plain Bob Minor and you had just finished your lead. the fourth would come to take you from the lead. You sight the fourth and strike alter it. you then sight the sixth and strike after that. By this time you can forget about, or eliminate. these two bells which then leaves the fifth. the third and the treble. You sight the fifth and strike after that. eliminate it. and so yo's repeat with the remaining two bells the third and the treble.

MR. CECIL W. HIPE Suffolk Guild

Thirty-five years or so ago, Mr. C. W. (Jim) Pipe was the lype of young man who could be guaranteed to set the young ladies' hearts afluttering. Tall, fair, and extremely goodlooking, he had a physique and bearing which only service in the 1 st Life Guards could provide. He greatly enjoyed his five years' service in that Regiment, especially when on Horse Guard in Whitehall. No doubt he was one of the much-photographed guards who create so much interest for the sightseers visiting London. He had personality, too, which proved to be very useful later, when he raised, single-handed, a sum of no less than $£ 1,300$ for the repair of Grundisburgh Church tower and the rehanging and augmentation of the bells from eight to ten.

Born at Hasketon, Suffolk, in 1906, he joined the church choir at Grundisburgh when 8 years old. Seeing the sexton raise the tenor bell for a death, he went up the next day, tied a sack round the clapper and raised a bell by himself without breaking the stay. He invited his friends to ascend the tower to see the bell upside down. Then he taught five other boys to

WEDDING OF MR. GEOFFREY PEARSON

Mr. Geoffrey Pearson, of Worsley, Lancs, was married to Miss Jane-Ann Hedges. of Headcorn. Kent, on September 3rd, at SS. Peter Headcorn. Kent, on September 3rd, at SS. Peter and Paul's Church. Headcorn.
Ringing friends of the bridegroom were joined by the bridegroom and his best man. Mr. Alan Pendlehury, for a touch of Stedman Triples before the wedding service, and rang out the happy couple with a course of Bristol Surprise Major. A peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major was then competently performed, and the ringers were afterwards entertained by the bride's parents and the bridegroom's mother and brother Alan himself a ringer

Unfortunatcly, the bride and bridegroom had already departed by this time (by devious route) for the Channel Islands, having listened to part of the peal prior to joining the train at Headcorn Station.
The couple will be living at Little Wilbraham Cambs, following the honeymoon.
ring, and they went around to various towers ringing. None of them broke a stay and they paid good attention to the matter of striking. His first peal, Bob Major, rung in 1920, was conducted by Mr. G. E. Symonds, and his second peal was conducted by James Motts.

His service in the Life Guards took him to London, and he soon came under the influence of the College Youths. in which Society he served as junior and senior steward. On returning to Grundisburgh, he took up insurance work in 1931, and also became actively interested in the affairs of the Suffolk Guild, serving as general secretary and treasurer from 1946 to 1957. He was elected as their representative on the Central Councit in 1946, and in 1957 was made a vice-president.

Jim Pipe has rendered yeoman service in Suffolk, and has spent many hours in belfries other than his own, oiling, repairing, splicing cleaning, etc. He has inspected many rings of bells, giving advice which has often led 10 rehanging and improvement. He has given many talks on bells and ringing to various bodies such as Rotary Clubs. He has taught scores of youngsters to ring, including his two sons, George and Roderick, who are both brilliant conductors.

His wife, Sylvia, is one of the foremost lady ringers in the country, and she conducted the peal he is most proud of-Spliced Surprise in four methods-from a non-observation bell. His peals total at the beginning of August was 463. of which he has conducted 50 . He has organised many ringing tours in all parts of the country - who hasn't heard of 'Pipe's Pilgrims '? One of his theories is that the number of changes required for peals should be reduced. Another, much more practical, is that more attention should be given to the control of noise from all towers. His pet saying is that if he had not given half his life to ringing he would be a rich man! However, we sup pose he has thoroughly enjoyed it all, and we are glad to have such a man in our ranks As captain of the Grundisburgh band, he has maintained regular service ringing twice every Sunday, and regular weekly practices

JAFUS.

MISS DOREEN DUTTON MARRIED

The marriage took place on August 6th between Mr. John Hunting and Miss Doreen Dutton. The ceremony was solemnised at the Parish Church of Emmanuel, Southport, where the bride first learnt to ring.

The bridegroom, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Hunting, of 40, Skampton Road, Leicester, studied at the Leicester College of Technology and Commerce, and later qualified as a teacher at Loughborough Training College. An up-and-coming football referee. he is learning to ring.

The bride, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dution of 26, Links Avenue. Southport, was educated at Southport High School for Girls and the City of Leicester Training College. Doreen, who is a county hockey and cricket player, still finds time to enjoy midweek and Sunday ringing at Leicester Cathedral, where she is secretary of the Cathedral Society She is also a member of the Roving Ringers

The Rev. B. F. F. Crane officiated at the service, in which the choir was led by the organist, Mr. A. E. Salmon.

A white figured lace ballerina-length dress with tiered net bustle back was worn by the bride, who was given away by her brother. Mr. Derek Dutton. Bridesmaids were the Misses Margaret Forrest, who is a ringer at Emmanuel Church. Hilary Corlett, a school friend, and Brenda Keir, of Bedford. Mr Ronald Kenrick. Ringing Master at Emmanuel Church. was best man, and groomsmen were Messrs. George Waterhouse, David Bromilow and Donald Holt.

After a reception at the Bold Arms Hotel, Churchtown, the honeymoon was spent in the Austrian Tyrol. Their permanent address is 3, Ashbourne Road, Wigston, Leicester.

KENT RINGERS

N Sunday, August 14th. a party of ringers from Kent were joined by ringers from Somerset and Birmingham for a week's tour of Somerset and the Dorset coast.
Ringing started at Yeovil with an unsuccessful attempt for a quarter peal of Bob Royal. Most of the party seemed unused to heavy hells ( 40 cwt .), but more was to come in the afternoon when we joined the local band in ringing for Evensong at Wells Cathedral ( 10 , 56 cwt .). Another ten was visited in the evening, Evercreech ( 21 cwt .).
The tour started in earnest on Monday morning on the very pleasant eight at Clevedon (St. Andrew's, 14 cwt .). Ringing commenced with a good course of Cambridge Major, followed by Stedman and Grandsire Triples. After this the eight at Blagdon (1912 cwt .), with rather a long draught, proved a little tricky, but Double Norwich was rung quite successfully.
Unfortunately, the party lost two of its local male members for the afternoon. because they had to make hay while the sun shone! Meanwhile the eights at Banwell ( 23 cwt .), Winscombe ( 17 cwt .) and Cheddar ( 23 cwt .) were visited by the remainder.

A VISIT TO THE CEILING

Tuesday dawned bright and clear. and ringing eventually started at Langport ( 17 cwt .). a pleasant six, which were rung to Stedman Doubles, St. Clement's, Plain and Littic Bob and Surfleet Minor. We were a little worried at first because, after raising the hells and being asked to stand, the ringer of the second was lifted nearly to the ceiling. Fortunately no damage was done-the slider had slipped the block, and subsequent ringing, though brief, was enjoyed. At the next tower. Curry Rivel. a well-toned eight, Bob Major. Stedman and Cambridge were rung without mishap.
We lunched at West Coker, where an enthusiastic stalwart considered it well worth a pint of ale to run and fetch the keys and raise all the eight bells ( 14 cwt .) so that the afternoon's pealers would save energy. Ringing here was necessarily brief before a peal of Bob Major was attempted at Martock ( 25 cwt.). This was successfully (though unintentionally) brought round at the halfway stage, since the two and three changed courses.
Meanwhile the 'enthusiastic stalwart' was not a little disconcerted to arrive back at the Dormobile to find it enveloped in a smoke sereen, produced from a rather burnt leg of lamb.

Crewkerne ( 8,22 cwt.) was visited after tea, and the party was joined hy Harry Gaylard. of Yeovil, and the local tower captain. This fine Taylor eight was much enjoyed and was rung to Yorkshire. Little Boh. Siedman and Grandsire.
Wednesday was a day by the sea. The first lower was Lyme Regis, where lack of parking facilities delayed one carload. and the first touch was of Minor. Subsequently these bells were much enjoyed. Thence to Bridport (8. 21 cwt.). where we were watched hy two French schoolboys. We envied the local ringers. there being no shortage of diverse hostelries all along the road, one of which had a sign depicting the belfry of this church.

RUNG KNEELING

The next stop was Burton Bradstock ( $6,10 \frac{1}{2}$ cwi.), where our ' enthusiast ' was again bribed to fetch the keys. The ropes and sallies were so low here that. after fetching six hassocks. a touch of Bob Minor was rung-all ringers kneeling! After quenching our fiery thirsts at a pleasant local inn, we made our way to the beach for a swim and some lunch. Unfortunately, this was the point of departure for one of our Birmingham ladies, who had to return to work.

After a long stop for tea in Bridport we visited Beaminster, with a pleasant, rather heavy Bilbie eight ( 25 cwt.). The party seemed to lack energy or inspiration. despite a restful afternoon. as we didnit really do these bells justice

A SUCCESS

Thursday morning was booked for a peai attempt at Drayton, and after repeated warnings from the organiser not to be late, we were all amazed andmot a little amused when he eventually arrived three-quarters-of-an-hour later after getting lost trying to find another Drayton. A peal was successfully brought round in 3 hours 2 minutes, details of which appear elsewhere.
After lunch we rang on the pleasant, though a little heavy, six ( $17 \mathrm{cwt}$. ) at Stoke-sub-Hambdon, and the rather noisy six at Norton-subHambdon ( 18 cwt. ). Crewkerne was again visited for tea, and we then had a brief ring at Merriott ( $6,12 \mathrm{cwt}$.), omitted earlier in the week due to lack of time. The last bells of the day were at South Petherton (8,23 cwi.) in a fine octagonal tower. Resources of energy had been considerably exploited by this time. and this and the long draught combined to produce little striking worthy of these bells.
The final day's ringing started at Bruton, on a melodious hut heavy six ( 25 cwt ) : nevertheless. Cambridge Minor, Grandsire and Stedman were rung. We were rather late at Charlton Horethorn, as one car had to retrace a mile to collect the spare wheel from a local garage. We were not very impressed with this eight (14 cwe.), and soon made our way to Castle Cary, where we enjoyed the eight ( 15 cwt ), although only Plain Bob. Grandsire and Stedman were rung. The tour finished in the afternoon by ringing at Chewton Mendip, on a very fine eight $(24 \mathrm{cwt}$.). Litton, a rather noisy six ( 11 cwt .), and Hinion Blewett, a tuneful five ( $9 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.),
Our thanks are due to the organiser and ati the local incumbents and tower captains who allowed us to use thein bells and who met us.

TALGARTH RINGERS IN THE MALVERN HILLS

The ringers of SI. Gwendoline's Church. Talgarth, were joined by ringers from places as far afield as Brecon. Glasbury, Gilwern, Eardisley. Old Radnor and Llandrindod Wells for their annual ringing tour, which this year. on August 31st, was in the Malvern district. Ledbury, the first lower, was reached shortly after $10 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m} .$. and here the party were joined hy the Vicar of Llanarth, the Rev. Ivor Richards. Touches of Grandsire. Bob Major and Stedman Triples were rung on the fine ring of eight (tenor 24 cwt.). housed in a detached campanile. At Dodderhill, touches of Grandsire. Bob Major and Stedman were rung at the Church of St. Augustine on the ring of eight $(18 \mathrm{cwt}$.). These hells went remarkably well and were enjoyed by all.
Thence to Droitwich. where the party split up and went their several ways for lunch. In the afternoon two towers were visited-St. Mary de Wych. Wychbold, where touches of Grandsire, Stedman. Bob Minor and Kent were rung. and St. Marys. Hanbury, situated in a position of pre-eminence on top of a hill.
The party returned to Worcester for tea. The heavy rain spoilt an otherwise perfect day. At Tarrington the ringing was brought to a premature end when the clapper of the fifth bell fell out after touches of Stedman and Bob Minor.
The trip was organised by Mr. D. H. Bennett. the Talgarth Ringing Master, to whom the thanks of all are due for arranging five excellent rings of bells.

OBITUARY  CANON C. E. LAST

Great Horwood ringers will sadly miss in the tower a faithful member of the band, for Canon Charles Edward Last, the Rector for the past seven years, took as much interest in the west end of the church as the east.
His death at sea was a shock to his wide circle of friends, especially after hearing that the voyage to some extent had done him good. His voice had failed him for two years, and after trying treatment in various hospitals without success, he was invited to Singapore for Chinese treatment. But he died before reaching the harbour.
Canon Last was the son of the Rector of Launton. His early years in the ministry were spent in the Carlisle diocese. In 1956 he became Rural Dean of Mursley. When he first came to Great Horwood his ringing was limited to a plain course of Grandsire Doubles. but he made rapid progress and was soon able to master five methods. He became chairman of the Central Bucks Branch in 1958. As well as a keen ringer he was a fine bass singer.
Great Horwood Church was filled to capacity on Sunday, September 4 th, for the memorial service. The service was conducted by the Rev. A. Dilworth (Vicar of Whaddon) the lesson read by the Rev. C. L. G. Hutchings. R.D., and the address given by the Bishop of Buckingham (the. Rt. Rev. R. M. Hay). Prayers were led by the Ven. Gordon Savage, and the service closed with the singing of the Nunc Dimittis.
Previous to the service his fellow ringers at Great Horwood rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles, the band consisting of Miss J. Emery 1, E. Barrs 2. F. G. Edmans (captain) 3 F. Gregory 4. M. Jamieson (conductor) 5, K Moore 6. As the service concluded a shor touch was rung by officers of the Oxford Diocesan Guild and the Central Bucks Branch Those taking part were H. L. Roper (librarian) Miss M. R. Cross (general secretary), D Wheeler (secretary, Central Bucks Branch). F Gibbard, F. G. Edmans and D. Wheeler.

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE MR. ERNEST J. JELLEY

On September 8th. at St. John the Divine's. Leicester, before a good company of ringers and friends, a plaque commemorating a halfmuffled quarter peal of Grandsire Caters to the memory of the late Ernest J. Jelley. of South Wigston (who was a great helper at this church). was dedicated by the Vicar (the Rev. Basil Williams).
A perfect course of Grandsire Triples on handbells followed, rung by John J. Jelley 1-2. Sidney Harrison 3-4, Ernest Morris 5-6. Russeli S. Morris 7-8.

Both before and after the ceremony the ten bells of St. John's were rung to a variety of methods, in which all attending took part.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MR. PETER BORDER'S REPLY
Dear Sir,-I was glad to see in your issue of September 9th the various comments provoked by my letter on the subject of handbell peals of Minimus.
!n reply to Mr. Brewin, I would say that if he were to take the trouble to re-read my original letter, he would find that the sarcasm of which he complains refers entirely to the footnote accompanying the peal in question. I did not intend (and I do not believe that I did) ta slight the Leicester Diocesan Guild in general at all.

With reference to Mr. Jelley's letter, I could indeed suggest many ways in which two men could occupy themselves for 1 hour and 25 minutes. However, as the peal report shows that a Mr. K. B. Townsend was also engaged for the same time, perhaps it would be better if I suggested an occupation for three?

Mr. Jelley has also seen fit to raise comment upon an entirely irrelevant subject, viz.. peals of Yorkshire Maximus, to which I will take the opportunity to reply. The whole point of using the single at Wrong in such a composition is to obtain a peal of approximately 5,000 changes without disturbing the coursing order of the back bells. Of course, I am aware that 5,040 can be obtained by the use of bobs alone, but only at the expense of rather peculiar music while the necessary juggling is being done. claim no originality in conception for this de vice : in fact, the idea is quite well known, but to the best of my knowledge it has not previously been employed to shorten peals of Surprise Maximus.-Yours faithfully

PETER BORDER.

FIRING, AT WINCHESTER

Dear Sir,-I believe the 'firing' of the bells at Winchester Cathedral for the Queen Mother's birthday must be a local custom, because it took place when I visited the Cathedral with a touring party a few years ago, and on a Sunday, morning at that. It was an experience I don't wish to share again, and judging by the faces of some of my colleagues. I was not alone in this respect.

Firing " is by tradition associated with festive occasions, and whilst this custom at weddings. and to some extent on national occasions, is deep-rooted and likely to remain so, I think the practice should be used sparingly, and not used simply as a sort of supporting act of the "you're happy down there. so are we-just listen type.

Prolonged 'firing is unnecessary, whatever the occasion, and has nothing to commend it. At best it is a bad habit, lacking in imagination, and at worst a rather crude demonstration which shows a negative approach to the situation. What is worse. it leaves a sense of bewilderment as well as a had impression on the non-ringing public, especially those living nearby, who are often enforced listeners anyway. These people can be our best or worst amhassadors, and in my opinion they are more likely to react favourably to the sound of a well-struck quarter peal. This. hy contrast, has the merit of being a far more tolerable, as well as a more practical demonstration. and more fitted to the occasion. whether it is a national one or as a compliment to a distinguished birthday.-Yours sincerely.

Backwell. Somerset
JOHN BRAIN.

'FIRING ' OF BELLS

Dear Sir,-In his recent letter with regard to the "firing of bells. Mr. Gauntlett quotes the case of bells heard 'firing " reasonably well. Whilst 'firing cannot be defended on strictly musical grounds, there is no doubt that this traditional form of salute can be extremely effective provided that it is performed only with absolute precision.
The effectiveness of 'firing ' is entirely due to the contrast between it and the preceding rounds or changes. The resounding crash, preceded as it is by a dramatic pause and then when repetition of this mighty sound is stil expected, the bells breaking out into the cascading thirds of the Queens change. cannot fail to impress even the unaccustomed ear of the layman. However, the essence of this effectiveness is contrast, and the prolonged 'fir ing of bells can only detract from the listeners appreciation of the performance. Possibly the hest arrangement is two bursts of 'firing ' each of seven whole pulls, preceded by and ending with rounds, with the possible inclusion of Queens between the two salutes. although it eften requires considerable physical effort to hreak fluently into that change immediately after 'firing.

The attainment of good 'firing: like al things worth while, is not easy, particularly as the opportunities for intentional practice are few: but our art would be the poorer if one should never again hear a sonorous ring im maculately engaged in the performance of this inimitable salute.-Yours faithfully,

Selsdon, Surrey. IOHN CHILCOTT,

THE LIGHTEST RING

Dear Sir.-I read with interest in . The Ring ing World: dated September 9th, of Mr Arthur Jopp's claim to the lightest ring of six in the world. thus relieving Mr. Jarvis of this proud title.
At the present lime Mr. Jarvis can claim ownership of the lightest ring of six on which a peal has been rung; I therefore wish the footnote of our Balscote peal to be amended accordingly.
May I, on hehalf of the Balscote band, wish Mr . Jopp and his ringers every success in their attempt to claim this unique record from Mr . Jarvis.
The best of luck, Mr. Jonp, and may we read of your success in the not-too-distant future.-Yours faithfully.
Deddington. Oxford.

FIELDS FOR COMPOSITIONS

Dear Sir.-The composition rung to Osgathorpe and published in the "R.W. of August 26th is not merely a reduction of the 6.496 but a different composition. As proof of this the longer peal is false to Southport. the first named of the published list of methods to which the 5.152 is true. There are many other methods which have the f.c.e. 26543 in combination with the York group of f.c.e.: all of which are false to the 6.496 but true to the 5.152
On the subjeat of Surprise Major composiions. it is a great pity that so much time is wasted in trying to find new avenues in the built-up areas of Yorkshire and Pudsey, when there is so much badly needed development required in the wide open spaces so ahly being done by such composers as Dick Speed. Stephen Ivin and Dennis Knox. I have hundreds of good methods for which there is no composition: a few of them have recently been rung to peals composed by the ahove-named. Yours, etc.

Settling An American Argument

A statement made by Professor Price. of the Unisersity of Michigan, before a convention of sound experis, that the socalled technique of 12 -tone composition and serial writing, starled by Schonberg and other composers aboul 30 vears ago was not modern but had been used in English change-ringing for about three centuries, was challenged by members of the audience.
To settle the argument. the Professor wrove 10 Mr . Paul Taylor for recordings of typical English church bell music. These recordings were made by Leicester Cathedral band on September 12 th , in charge of Mr. Herrick Bowley
First was rung on the back six of the Cathedral bells rounds, reverse rounds (654321), Queens, rewerse Queens (642531) ottwards' (342516), the first 38 changes only of Oxford T.B. Minor, Stand' being called at the reble's hackstroke dodge in 5-6 halfway whough the second lead.

Then on 12 bells rounds, reverse rounds, Queens, reverse Queens, 'outwards' and the first lead of Bob Maximus (omitting the dodge and running round at the treble lead). This was followed by set changes on 12 bells especially' designed by' the Professor for musical effect.

For good measure, rounds on 13 (including the flat 6th!), and as requested Grandsire Doubles (back six). Triples Caters and Cinques, and a bobbed course of Grandsire Triples on the Stelfex eight were ring.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Canterbury District With Ladies' Guild

Summer came at last for the joint meeting of the Canterbury District and the Kent Branch of the Ladies Guild at the Church of SS. Ethelburga and Mary, Lyminge. on September 10th. This was a delightful setting in a very beautiful old church with many historical associations.

A large number gathered to ring on the re-cently-restored eight. Unfortunately, the meeting was marred by an accident 10 a visitor. when she fell in the church, necessitating her removal to hospital. We hope that she will soon be fully recovered.
The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. F. G. A. Luckett), who has recently come to this parish from Pluckley

After an ample tea in the Village Hall, the Canterbury District held a short business meeting. under the chairmanship of Mr. J. Willis. A number of new memhers were elected, many of whom were young ringers from the local tower. The next District meeting will be the annual on October 8th. Mr. Luck welcomed the Ladies' Guild, on behalf of the District. and thanked all those responsible for the success of this meeting. As Mrs. Mitchell had to make an unexpectedly early departure (though she was able to return later in the eveningl. Mrs. Barnett responded for the Ladies' Guild. thanking the Canterbury District for their welcome and congratulating them on the excellent attendance at their meeting, which could not he entirely due to the presence of the ladies. The next ladies meeting will be on October 15th at Milton-next-Gravesend

Further ringing was enjoyed during the evening, and a ladies touch of Stedman Triples was achieved.

LAKE DISTRICT & NORTH-EAST TOUR

ERIDAY, August 12th, saw the managemen of the King's Head Hotel, Loughborough rolling out the red carpet for two carloads of peal-hungry tourists, comprising a Metropolitan contingent in the shape of Jill Neal Smith. escorted by Messrs. Dibben, Deason and Leale, followed eventually by the Provincials, these heing Anne Garnett chaperoned by Messrs. Munday, Bagworth. Castledine and Harwood The receptionist seemed surprised that break fast was not ordered for 5 a.m., but was even tually convinced that the guests were not yet tired of life and therefore had no intention of performing at the Foundry next day.

At Old Glossop (8) on Saturday morning they were joined by Ralph Edwards and Pat Cannon, whose respective wives had also come along to keep them in order. Some brisk touches were rung on these pleasant bells, without overturning the stayless treble and second. In rather depressing weather the convoy proceeded through the Lancashire countryside (viai Ashton-under-Lyne, Oldham and Rochdale) to St. Peter's, Burnley, where Mr. Norman Smith met them and a peal of Yorkshire was rung on this excellent eight. Later in the evening the Lake District was entered, and the Skelwith Bridge Hotel, near Ambleside, became the headquarters for the next four days.

'CANNON'S FOLLY'

On Sunday, ringing for Matins on the majestic eight at Ambleside was followed by an expedition, which was intended as a relaxing scenic tour but will probably go down in history as 'Cannon's Folly': transit of the infamous Wrynose and Hardknott passes involved the nego:iation of continuous 1-in-3 gradients clinging to the edges of awesome precipices, and the destination was reached with chronic palpitations and molten grease dripping from the hub-caps. Two touches of Bob Major sufficed at the tower in question. Despite coming home the easy way, some were still too late to ring for Evensong at Langdale (6). and are grateful to Mr. Birkett for allowing ringing after the service.

On Monday morning the peal attempt was at Sedbergh (8), where they were pleased to meet Mr . Gardiner and hear, something of Mr. Woodhouse and his famous ringing machine. 'The tenor king " masterfully brought Middleton's round for the umpteenth time.

Ringing in the afternoon was first at Orton, a pleasant eight. whose ropes have seen better days: the eight at Kirby Stephen, rung from the ground floor in a most impressive church; and Appleby (6), another ground floor ring. The day's ringing concluded on the fine eight at Penrith, where one who knew not his own strength neatly bisected the tenor slider at the conclusion of the rise, thus disgracing the party, who were, however, somewhat compensated by his subsequent short (very short) period of quiet meditation.

'A GERM

Tuesday dawned to the sound of dismal wailing from those of the party stricken by a localised outbreak of plague: they received scant sympathy, however, from our 'medical officer, who confidently, but somewhat vaguely, diagnosed ' a germ' and prescribed bed and no peals. The morning peal was on the excellent light eight at Hawkshead, where the hand were pleased to ring with the Vicar and Mr. Shuttleworth. In the afternoon some bold hearts ventured on to Lake Windermere, whilst others remained idle until the time came for ringing at Bowness (8) and Brathay (6).

On Wednesday morning. Cambridge Royal at Dation-in-Furness was lost at the halfway stage through an error on the part of the conductor: however. he can at least claim credit for craftity shifting the blame on to shoulders more accustomed to bearing it. Ringing after lunch was at Ulverston (6). Broughton (a good eight) and Millom (6). Later some of the party rang an extent of London Minor at Kirkby Ireleth and returned to Skelwith Bridge via a route which. to the amazement of the driver (but not of the navigators), involved a further crossing of the Wrynose Pass.

On Thursday morning ' goodbye ' was said to Skelwith Bridge, with hopes for better weather elsewhere. At Crosthwaite Mr. Brownrigg recorded the first five minutes of the peal of Lincolnshire: it is to be hoped that no one who subsequently hears it will think that it was all like that! The afternoon was free: whilst some climbed mountains, others swindled the local stamp dealers, and all eventually met again at the Globe Hotel, Cockermouth. Ring ing in the evening was at Bridekirk (6) and Cockermouth (8), where Mr. Roger Wettenhall met the party. The first touch of Spliced Surprise was rung on the bells.

FOLLOWING "BOND'S BASHERS

Friday was an energetic day, with a peal of New Cambridge on the excellent eight at Cleator Moor to set the ball rolling: those not ringing were kindly entertained to tea by Mr . and Mrs. Tembey. After lunch we rang on the eights at Arlecdon and Hensingham, another pleasant but very odd-struck ring. Frequent reference to visitors' books in this area gave the impression that preceding the party was a company referred to locally as 'Bond's Bashers perhaps we left a better impression. Evening ringing was at St. Bees (8), Egremont (where Derwent Surprise Major went well) and Workington, where the eight have recently been rehung and our medical officer challenged A P. C.'s opinion of women in the belfry by turning in the tenor io Spliced.

After saying goodbye to Anne Garnett, Mrs. Cannon and Mr. and Mrs. Edwards on Saturday morning, those remaining made their way to Aspatria. As this was to be the first peal on the bells, we decided on a dead cert, with the result that the well-known music hall turn of Cannon and Heywood put on a three-hour show. Although, contrary to popular belief, these bells go extremely well, their quietness in the ground floor ringing chamber detracts from their appeal. The afternoon was spent at sunny Silloth. At Thursby, Hector Bennett joined for the remainder of the tour: the six here certainly needed some ringing, and we were very grateful for the subsequent refreshments at the Vicarage. The last tower of the day was St. Stephen's, Carlisle, where Mr. Butterfield met us and later joined us at the Red Lion Hotel.

RICHARDSON & STARLING LTD

The Timber Decay Advice Bureau Dept. R.W.,
HYDE STREET, WINCHESTER Head Office: Hyde Street, Winchester

On Sunday morning, after ringing for Matins at Carlisle Cathedral, both cars set their separate courses for Scotland, and some hours later entered the fair city of Edinburgh, where the master in charge at Fettes College was probably surprised to receive two parties of tower-grabbers within half-an-hour of each cther: the tower key not being available. neither was successful. We rang for Evensong at both St. Cuthbert's and the Cathedral, and are most grateful to Messrs. Wilson and Raine for accommodating us at such short notice Another two hours driving brought us ta Berwick-upon-Tweed. England, where we were pleased to see Marion and Alan Ainsworth and Eric Harrison, who were to complete the party for the rest of the tour.
The responsibility for the arrangements here passed from the writer to Alan Ainsworth, and the resulting outbreak of fanaticism meant two peal attempts on Monday. In the morning Bristol was rung on England's most northerly ringable bells-the musical eight at Bamburgh the back-enders had to work hard here. After lunch a Cannon knock-knock gained permis sion for us to ring at Embleton (6), after which the writer handed over his notebook to A. P. C and headed for southern climes.

After ringing at Embleton we said goodbye to Jill and Robin, and continude to Alnwick to book in at the White Swan. The band that went to Rothbury, a pretty village set in the Northumbrian hills, scored a good peal of Yorkshire on a somewhat noisy ring, watched by a lady who stood in the belfry for over two hours!
Tuesday morning started with fine weather and our first tower was the famous Watch Tower at Morpeth, where we were welcomed by Miss Jennie Armstrong and Mr. Nicholas Wright: we rang a fast course of London on these modern Taylor bells. Mr. Wright accom panied us to Cramlington (a line, heavy six and Whitley Bay (8), home of the famous Gofton family, where we rang Rutland.

ONE OF THE BEST

After booking in at the Rex Hotel, a substamial lunch prepared us for one of the best peals of the tour-Cambridge Royal at North Shields: the bells here are a handy ring by Mears and Stainbank, and have been a ten since 1878. Although, as usual, there were some odd-struck bells, a brisk beat was maintained throughout, and we finished an excellent peal in the fast time of 3.2 .

Coming out of the tower we were greeted by that well-known Cheshire and Suffolk leg-puller. David Vincent, and enjoyed a pleasant hour in the 'local." during which the subject of bellhanging was the chief topic! "Bor Deervud came to Newcastle Cathedral practice. where our 12 -bell ringing was not distinguished, but we finished with a good course of London on the back eight.
On Wednesday, the frequent wet weather returned. We rang at Newburn, a noisy and heavy six, Newton Hall (6) and the well-known Hexham Abbey, where we rang Bristol and Superlative on a fair ring of fixed vintage. We continued to Allendale. set in lovely country where we found a first-class Taylor ring, cast in 1910. The Vicar welcomed us at the church. and a very fast peal of Rutland was well rung in 2.29. Arriving back at Whitley Bay, we en joyed the generous hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Capey, parents of Marion Ainsworth. who had prepared a sumptuous supper for us. Their kindness was much appreciated.

BOTH FEET OFF THE GROUND

On Thursday another peal of Cambridge Royal was rung, at Gosforth on the northern outskirts of Newcastle. This was also a big day for the maternity hospital next door to the church; we understand that our "fastest on the bells " was not the only record broken. Although the bells are generally a very fine ring. the toggles on 2-3 tend to stick a little, with the result that Bill Deason was able to demonstrate his unusual skill at ringing with both feet off the ground on a number of occasions.

After lunch we visited St. George's, Jesmond. where we rang Lincolnshire and Spliced, and then to Fenham, where Mears and Stainbank cast one of their best rings in 1930. Here we were joined by Kenneth Arthur and Alan Ainsworth's sister, who joined us for a touch of Stedman. Once again we were delighted 10 enjoy northern hospitality, this time at Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ainsworth's. Alan's parents, for a grand tea. An extra peal for the evening was something out of the ordinary. The tower was Gateshead, a fast-moving ring, where three of our band joined five Tynesiders and Alan called a complex peal of Stedman Triples by J. W. Parker.

Friday brought us to our only day in County Durham, where our first job was to ring a peal of Lincolnshire at Chester-le-Street, an oldstyle Taylor ring. After lunch we visited parts of the county which are mainly industrial but still preserve some scenic beauty. First was Lanchester, a very fair ring of six, and then Tanfield, scene of the annual ringers' cricket match. As this was the writer's 2,325 th tower, he decided to try something new (for him), and called nine leads of spliced four including London. The band decided he'll be out of the beginner's stage very soon now!

At Benfieldside, where the six are hung in two tiers in a very small tower. we were met by Mr. C. T. Lamb, who had kindly also arranged the next two towers. These were the two eights at Blackhill, where we found a fair ring at St. Aidan's and some fine, modern Taylor bells at St. Mary's. In the evening we attended the practice at Consett, and were later most generously entertained to supper by Mr. and Mis. Norman Errington.

THE FINAL PEAL

The last day of the tour arrived and. after a free morning, we met at Newcastie Cathedral where, with the assistance of George Deas. We rang a very good peal of Bob Royal. Alan Ainsworth making a fine job of the 37 cwt . tenor. To encourage him in his task he was presented with a gramophone record token before the start. with our very grateful thanks for his excellent arrangements. Thank you Alan, and also Eric for the use of your car
After spending Saturday night in Boroughbridge, we rang on Sunday morning at Sher-burn-in-Elmet, where the writer was pleased to meet some old friends. So, after a fortnight. we returned home. having covered some 1.700 miles with ringing in 59 towers and passing through 23 counties. We shall always remember the North of England for its wonderful scenery and the kindness and hospitality of its ringers.

BARNSLEY DISTRICT CUP

CONTEST

Four teams entered for the cup contest on September luth, held with the monthly meeting at Hoylandswaine, near Sheffield. Two new teams entered-Ossett and Wentworth-the latter including Canon King and his two sons. The test was 720 changes, with Mr. Tom Hilton as judge and his sen as marker.
Results and order of ringing were: Wentworth 121 faults. Shelley 55 . Cawthorne 49 , Ossett 101. The cup was presented by Mr Fred Wigmore, a member of the Ely Diocesan Association. Receiving the cup on behalf of Cawthorne. Mr. Wilfred Broadhead recalled that 34 years ago he helped Cawthorne to win it. Mr. Edward Atkinson thanked the judge and marker, and all who had helped with the meeting.

An excellent tea was served in the Church Hall, and the next meeting was fixed for Hemsworth, near Pontefract, on October 8th.

Mr. H. Chant has adapted and increased Mr. C. K. Lewis 22 methods of Minor in an extent to 25 . It was rung in a peal at Thry bergh, Yorks, on September 2nd

EAST RIDING RINGERS' SUMMER TOUR

HOR their summer tour, the East Riding
Ringers decided to visit towers in the more scenic parts of Yorkshire. Ten ringers from churches in the East Riding took part, and were joined from time to time by other ringing friends. Most of the party assembeld at Malton Youth Hostel on Friday, August 26th.

On Saturday, ringing took place on the octaves at Malton and Norton before a pleasant ride through the Vale of Pickering to Wykeham, where we were joined by our tenth member, who had cycled from Middlesbrough that morning. Here we rang a variety of Doubles methods on the five bells, which stand in a separate tower at the entrance to the churchyard. Scarborough was covered in mist when we arrived, and the bells had competition from a fog horn on the pier. A wet ride over the moors brought us to Boggle Hole, where we spent the night.

Bcfore the Sunday morning service we made the tower at Fylingdales sway nicely to Stedman and Grandsire Triples. The Vicar, in his sermon. thanked us and appealed for a 'local crew ' to ring the bells. We arrived in Whitby after lunch to ring the famous. Bells of St. Mary's prior to the annual blessing of the fishing boats in the harbour below. Here we had a large audience as many thousands lined the quaysides for the service. After riding across the moors in a thunderstorm, we arrived at Saltburn in time to ring the heavy octave for Evensong. We attended the service and were given permission to ring the hells again hefore proceeding to the local youth hostel for the night.

A - STRONGARM * HOUSE

The following day was spent in the Clevelands, and we soon arrived at Marske, where we were able to ring the back fivet of this very light six to a variety of Doubles methods. The fine octave at Skelton was put to good use. and after lunch we were pleased to find that Guisborough has a lower where two of the six bells are provided with seats for ringing! Here we tried some Reverse Canterbury Pleasure Boh Minor in comfort! The six at Stokesley proved very awkward to ring, but we all liked the fine octave at Carlton, where we rang Cambridge and Grandsire Triples. At Whorlton two of the local band joined in a course of Grandsire Doubles before we ascended the steep road over the Hambletons via Scarth Nick to Osmotherley, where we spent the night at a 'Strongarm house. We were awakened at regular intervals throughout the night by a two-bell clack chime at the nearby church.

Tuesday started fine, and assisted by a back wind we soon arrived at Thirsk, with its impressive church. Here we were ioined for the day by ringers from York and Bradford: Stedman Triples and Cambridge Minor were rung. After taking the wrong road, we eventually arrived at Kirby Wiske, where we rang the delightful six before having our packed lunches in A. B.'s garden. Bolton-on-Swale bells were not considered suitable for peal ringing, but by using 'brute force ' we were able to knock out some Bob Minor. Catterick had a curious assortment of ropes, but the bells were somewhat better than the previous tower's. At Richmond courses of Cambridge and Yorkshire Major were rung before a pleasant ride up Swaledale to Grinton Youth Hostel, where we stayed the night. In the local inn we learned that Grinton bells are the finest in the North.
The following morning a quarter peal was attempted before leaving Grinton, but this came to grief due 10 intruders. A short ride over the moors brought us to Middleham for our second visit this year. A short detour was made to ring at East Witton, also for a second visut by the band. This concluded the ringing on Wednesday, and a Icne. hard ride up Coverdale and through Upper Wharfedale brought us to Linton, where we spent the night. After supper, our Ringing Master proved his skill by cycling across the forded river in the dark for a pint of ale.

AN ACCIDENT

On Thursday, three of us were involved in an accident. one cyclist being taken to hospital. With depleted strength. we managed to ring at Gargrave. Skipton. Kildwick. Addingham and Ilkley. The 'Yorkshire tail-ends' characterised the ringing that day

Rain accompanied us when we left Burley Woodhead Youth Hostel on Friday, but we were cheered up by a well-struck touch of Kent Major at Otley. Ringing was difficult in the confined space at Collingham. After a visit 10 Kirk Deighton tower, we cycled to York for the night

The last day of our cour beg.n. after an early start, with a quarter peal of Doubles at Pocklington. A second quarter peal was rung at Nunburnholme. After ringing at Mrket Weighton the team split up to wend tieir various ways home. This ended a very succeisful holiday, in which we cycled over 350 miles and visited 32 towers.
Thanks must he accorded to Ian Goldthorpe and John Rank for organising the tour, and to all incumbents and tower cavtains for their cooperation and the use of their bells. J. I. B.

WAITING TO RING

PICTURED here are the ringers of St . Curig's, Porthkerry, Glamorgan, waiting to ring for a wedding. The church will only accommodate 70 people, even when chairs are placed under the tower at the west end where the ringers stand. These chairs are removed while the register is heing signed so that the bells can greet the happy couple leaving the church.
This tower has eight senior and six junior members. Like Chepstow. it is a family tower, and includes a father and son. father and daughter, brother and sister, and three sisters (two twins). The average attendance on Sundays is 11 for this 6-bell tower, and ringing includes a variety of Doubles and Minor methods.

An outing was held in May, with ringing at Llangibby, near Usk, Staunton and Newland (Forest of Dean). and Marshlield, near Newport. [Photo by courtesy of

OUTING

To N.W. Bucks and District

A very enjoyable day amongst the 5- and 6hell towers of N.W. Bucks and nearby Oxon and Northants was spent by a small party of ringers on August 27th.

Two of the local band met us at Wotton Underwood, which is approached by a milelong road in very poor condition; unfortunately one carload arrived late, but managed a quick pull before continuing to Brill, another ground floor six of quite pleasant tone. Two fives followed. Ludgarshall and Piddington, which Whites, of Appleton, have recently rehung Mr. E. H. Jones welcomed us here. It was a long drive to our next call at Souldern, where the sallies often catch in the rather small rope holes: however, the bells 'go well, and a rapid iob course of Cambridge was enjoyed. Croughton Church possesses a fine ring of five by Taylor's (1924), and we were pleased to have one of the locals join in a touch. Orfe more visit hefore lunch was to Brackley, an old six rehung and retuned by Mears to make a good $13 \frac{\mathrm{cw}}{\mathrm{cw}}$. ring. Although ropesight is difficult. due to the ropes hanging in two straight lines. a course of London was successfully brought round.

A longer lunch interval than intended caused us to be late at most of the afternoon towers. The first two were fives-Eventey, a light, poortoned ring, and Tingewick, a 'lumpy' ring, rung from a gallery. Our pull at Hillesdon was very short as the key arrived late: however. we were able to admire the fine church while wait ing-regrettably, the hells do not match the church. The Rector and his wife met us at East Claydon, and before we raised the bells in peal the Rector recited the Oxford Guild Office. Then on to North Marston, 10 find another good Mears six of exactly the same weight as Brackley's : the Vicar met us and related some of the interesting features of his church and its history. Granborough's five were sampled prior to a break for tea.

Another gallery ring was found at Swanbourne ( $6,14 \mathrm{cwt}$.). while our last ground floor six was at Mursley, a very musical ring The Vicar and one of the old ringers greeted us at Drayton Parslow, having a six which are very rarely heard, though again a tuneful ring The final tower was Wingrave: the bells require a lot of effort-it is hoped to have these rehung in the near future.

As the party included ringers from as far apart as Staffordshire and Kent. a prompt de parture soon after 9 p.m. was advisable. but not hefore agrecing thit it had been a successful day. Thanks to all those who had readily given us permission to ring at their various towers.

THE NAME OF SNOWDON

THE mention of the name of Snowdon straightway brings to mind that excellent series of ringing text books which still forms the vade-mecum of the average ringer.

Jasper Whitfield Snowdon, who originated the series, had a deep and extensive insight into all aspects of changeringing, from elementary instruction to the composition and proof of complex methods. An even greater gift which he possessed was his willingness and ability to impart this knowledge to others, with a clarity of written expression which few writers achieve. Though many books on ringing preceded his, Jasper was the man who really popularised the ringing text book, and his introduction of standard diagrams was an original and progressive step.

Whilst some of his written works are designed for beginners, others form the foundation on which many modern composers build up their systems of composition and proof in advanced methods.

Jasper Snowdon, born at Ilkley in 1844, established a competent local band there and was instrumental in the augmentation of the bells from six into eight. On his initiative the Yorkshire Association was established in 1875. and he served as president from then until his untimely death in 1885.

- The Exercise and the Yorkshire Association were fortunate that the good works begun by Jasper were able to be developed and completed by his brother William, who became second president for 25 years. Aided by his wife, Laura, and the Rev. C. D. P. Davies. he effected the completion and publication of Jasper's manuscripts, thus preserving these valuable works for future generations.

William Snowdon was noted for his punctual and regular attention to service ringing and to the affairs of the Yorkshire Association. He was esteemed as a perfect gentleman, holding the view that 'ringing makes all men equal.' In all that he did he was supported by his wife Laura, who, until her death in 1941, continued publication of The Snowdon Series. Their daughter. Margaret E. Snowdon, then took over the responsibility of the books.

This gracious lady is still an ardent church worker at Cartmel Priory, and during the years after 1941 she has, aided by such men as the late J. A. Trollope and Ernest C. S. Turner, seen that the books have been thoroughly revised, brought up to date, and republished.

In 1959 she handed over care of the series to a younger person, Mrs. Winifred Turner, who can be relied upon to ensure their continuity in the future. Although the books have moved with the times, they still have the hallmark of the illustrious name of Snowdon.

It is fitting that such names should be remembered, and on October 22 nd this year members of the Yorkshire Association of Change Ringers and friends from many parts of the country will. on the occasion of their annual commemoration dinner, gather at Rotherham to pay tribute to Jasper Whitfield Snowdon and other past officers of the Yorkshire Association.

A BELL FOR THE MISSION FIELD

7 HE seed was sown in the autumn of 1959 when Father Cox. of the U.M.C.A., home on leave from his new church. St. Michael's. M'twara, Tanganyika Territory, ascended the detached tower of St. David's Cathedral one practice night to see the ringers and tell them what a fine ring of bells they had. In conversation, it transpired that his church had not a bell, and his people were summoned by a hammer being beaten on a tractor wheel!

The ringers decided that they must try and find a bell for M'twara Church. Mr. Frederick Sharpe was consulted. and through him they learnt that Mr. F. A. White, the bell-hanger at Appleton, had one for sale, cast in 1848 by William Taylor, of Oxford. The price was $£ 45$, and a deposit was paid to secure the bell.

To raise the money the ringers took on various jobs in their spare time, such as potato picking, pruning and rooting out nettles. Another gave a part of his B.B.C. fee for a broadcast. and there were also personal gifts. Then it was decided to make the appeal to a wider circle. A collecting box bearing the story of the M'twara bell was placed in the Cathedral to attract the sympathy of the many visitors. The Dean. however, had a more appealing idea-placing the box on the top of a huge old bell which stands in the nave, a reminder of the sad old days when the Cathedral bells had cracked. A coffee morning in the City Hall finally completed the task.

On September 14th St. David's ringers heard from Father Cox, expressing his thanks and saying how much he was looking forward to the early arrival of the bell. which will be going out from Central Africa House with a priest who is soon leaving for this diocese.

After countless attempts, Mrs. Pat Halls has at last BELERY scored her first peal of Stedman Triples. The credit for

We were pleased to note that Mr. Nolan Golden conducted the peal at Loddon on September 10 th in honour of the silver wedding anniversary of his old friends Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Barrett. It was at Loddon Church that they were married, and after the peal the ringers and friends were most hospitably entertained in the Church Hall.Leverton, near Boston, has had its first peal rung on the bells. The performance on August 6th was by a band all of whom had not rung a peal previously. Congratulations!

The extents of Broadwas Bob included in the peal of Doubles rung at Broadwas-onTeme, Worcs, on September 12th, consisted of Norfolk Doubles with plain bob leads replaced by Reverse Canterbury plain leads.
An interesting note regarding the peal of Bristol Surprise Major at Bristol Cathedral on September 9th is that the last peal of Bristol in the city was at St. Stephen's on September 12th. 1925.
The new Vicar of Hersham, Surrey (Rev. F. H. Hargraves), showed his appreciation of the band who rang a peal in honour of his induction by entertaining them to refreshments. A much-appreciated gesture

To welcome the Coventry Guild to Whitתash for their quarterly meeting tomorrow (Saturday) will be Mr. F. W. Hauley, who reaches his 95th milestone today. He hopes not only to participate in the ringing with ocher veterans but also to read the lesson at the service.

Miss Catherine M. Powell, of Stoke D Abernon, gave another example of her accomplishments when she called her first peal of Major at Esher on September 17th. Every call was in its correct place, and her ability enabled Mr. A. P. Cannon to ring his 800 th peal! Catherine is the first lady to call a peal of Major for the Guildford Guild. Mr. Cannon's peals have been rung in 616 towers with 1,259 different ringers. He has conducted 412 peals.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

ESTABLISHED

VETERANS STILL FORGATHER NINETY-FIVE-YEAR-OLD Mr. F. V. Sinkin came from hospital on September 17 th to attend the veterans reunion at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, London. The 37 other male veterans present accorded him a hearty welcome. This year's gathering was honoured by ladies, and qualifying for the veteran distinction were present Miss Evelyn Steel, Mrs. E. M. Mitchell. Mrs. Hairs, and in the background. superintending the tea. Mrs. E. E. Davis.
For five years these gatherings have been organised by the originator, Mr. A. W. Coles. The planning of this year's function was in the capable hands of Mr. John Euston, and when the future of these gatherings was discussed there was a unanimous wish that they should be continued and that Mr. Euston should make the arrangements
In the afternoon there was ringing at $S t$. Lawrence Jewry, St. Clement Danes and St. Botolph's. The bells of St. Olave's. Hart Street. were also available, but not sufficient ringers attended. A short service was conducted in St. Botolph's Church by Prebendary H. H. Treacher, who is retiring from the living after some $10 \frac{1}{2}$ years in office. As in previous years. he came to the tea table, and in a short speech of welcome told the gathering that it was "his last time." I know the value of these gatherings, of getting together and having a good old natter.' He congratulated Mr. Sinkin on being present, and hoped that the fellowship St. Botolph's had to offer would be continued in years to come.
The story of this year's gathering was told by Mr. Euston. First he had a word of appreciation for Mrs. Davis and her helpers for the excellent tea.

Pressed to reply, Mrs. Davis said it was a great pleasure to have them all. 'Some of us,' she added, "feel we are veterans as much as you are.'
Mr. Euston read out a long list of. apologies. Among them were Messrs. A. A. Hughes, the Leatherhead contingent, Maynard (Walthamstow), Wainwright (Southgate). Alf Poole (Horley), Brinklow and Bert Aldridge (Bexley), Jim Bennett, Stephen Hoare, Gilbert Goodship. William Shepherd, Dr. Taylor and Canon C. Carew Cox.

DEBT TO VETERANS

Not a veteran himself. Mr. Euston had complimentary things to say to the veterans present. If one glanced through "The Ringing Worlds ${ }^{\text {a }}$ until 1930. they would read of their achievements in peals. He did not think the ringing today was better than what they achieved. (A voice: "What about Minimus?') It was also to these veterans that they owed Sunday ringing, and it needed to be more encouraged. The reason he was so interested in these veterans' reunions was because they did all the work for the foundation of ringing today. It was not then easy travel, but meant walking miles.

The 38 veterans present that afternoon made an average age of 74 . The following, who had died since the last reunion, were remembered: Bill Wenban. Bill Langdon. Bob Grimwood. Fred Mitchell, Frank Skidmore, Albert Lock. of Abingdon, and Miss Stella Davies.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Jack Euston for his work in organising the gathering was proposed by Mr. S. Howard.

JOHN FREEMAN

Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

Mr. John Freeman is a man held in high esteem by the Exercise and the Central Council. Quiet and thoughtful. he is never noisy in debate, but when he does speak he is listened to with much respect. Like his father, he is solid and reliable, and his sound common sense ensures that his contributions to discussions on the Standing Committee are of the utmost: value.

Born at Lincoln in 1919, he was educated at Lincoln School, and later qualified as a Public Health Inspector. He is also a member of the Institution of Municipal Engineers. He learned to ring at Lincoln Cathedral in 1934, and in just over a year conducted his first peal, Stedman Cinques, a really remarkable achievement for one so young. His services to the Lincoln Guild have been outstanding, for besides being a member of the Guild's committee, he represents that body on the Diocesan Advisory Committee, and has been Central Council representative since 1948. Such a useful man would naturally find his way to the Standing Committee, and in 1954 he was elected to both that and' the Towers and Belfries Committee.

His ringing performances are outstanding, and amongst many notable achievements are the record length of 14,144 London Surprise Major, which he conducted, a peal of 5,016 Stedman Cinques in short courses throughout. called from a non-observation bell. and a "John ' peal of Cambridge Maximus, rung by College Youths, which he also conducted. Other notable peals were 'silent' Spliced Surprise Major in four methods, 'silent' Stedman Triples at Gainsborough, Spliced Surprise Major in 32 methods, Cambridge Surprise Major ' in hand, 'H. Law James' seven-part peal of Stedman Triples and Erin Triples, all of which he conducted. He also took part in the first peals of Surprise Major in 16 and 22 methods, and peals of Spliced Plain Major 'in hand' in up to 50 methods. He has conducted peals on all numbers from 6 to 12 , both on tower- and handbells.
His peals total up to July was 355, of which he conducted 198. Of the total, 84 peals have been on handbells, rung by the "blue line method. The foundation of the handbell ringing was laid in the period 1937-39, when John, his father and brother used to practise daily John Freeman is a very likeable young man: his quiet modesty has endeared him not only to ringers in Lincolnshire but to the Exercise generally.

JAFUS.

THE WEDDING AT TEWIN

The wedding of Miss Audrey Bailey, one of Herlfordshire's best-known ringers. to Mr . Ronald Short, secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, at St. Peter's Church, Tewin, Herts. on September 17th, was a very happy occasion.

Ringing for the wedding was first by the bride's Tewin friends, followed by the Somerset contingent. A choir solely of bellringers sang for the service conducted by the Rev. Blamire-Brown, prest-in-charge, with another ringer (Mr. Garrod) as organist. The best man was Mr. H. Best and the bridesmaid Miss M. Christie.

During the signing of the register Tewin ringers rang handbells from the choir stalls, and formed an archway with handbells as the bridal party left the church. Ringing after the service was by members of the Hertfordshire County Association.
The reception was held in the School Hall, Tewin, after which the bride and bridegroom left for the Cotswolds for their honeymoon. Mr. and Mrs. Short are making their home in Bridgwater. Hertfordshire's loss is very much Somerset's gain.

Northern District

About 45 members from 18 towers attended the meeting at the Church of St. Nicholas, Witham. on September 10th. The Vicar (Rev. R. D. Black) welcomed visitors and conducted the service. Mr. Osborn was at the organ. After the service, the Vicar conducted the ringers round the ancient church, pointing out some of the historical features.

An excellent tea was arranged by wives of the ringers and was served in the Church Hall. At the meeting, two new members were elected, both of Sible Hedingham. Wethersfield was chosen for the next meeting, and November 19th the proposed date. M.E. M.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

Week-end Ringing Course

To spend a whole week-end learning and talking about bells and ringing was a new experience for almost all of the 30 people who were at Hartpury from September 16 th to 18 th. On reflection one realises that although the Association has held hundreds of meetings of its members over the years, this is probably the first one where the agenda has been entirely devoted to ringing rather than to procedural details of running the Association (i.e., election of officers, place and date of next meeting, etc.).
This is a strange fact when you think about it, for surely the spreading of knowledge about bells and ringing and the teaching of ringing are also subjects with which any Association should be concerned? At any rate, all of us who were at Hartpury for the week-end learnt something we did not know before about the history of bells, method structure, ringing instruction, care and maintenance of bells, belfry organisation and conducting, and we became the more useful ringers for the knowledge. What we also realised was that there was a great deal more besides that we ought to know and do not, and that there are many others in our Association who would also like to know more. so we hope that this course will have started something and lead on to other courses of a similar or different type.

One thing is certain-that getting to know some more about ringing in such pleasant surroundings as those at Hartpury was a most en joyable experience for us all.

Mr. Paul Cattermole, in a peal at Wychbold. introduced Wychbold Pleasure, which is Dedworth with the plain lead-ends rung as Reverse Canterbury. He states that a search of old 'Ringing Worlds' has not revealed another name for this variation.

BRIDGE THAT GAP!  By B. D. PRICE

THE Central Council have dealt admirably with teaching a beginner to handle a bell, and many books have adequate expositions on method ringing, but there is a gap between the beginner ringing call-changes and blue line ringing, which is not in practice bridged by a graded set of exercises for the learner. This (these) article(s) are an attempt to bridge that gap.

It is quite obvious to the ringer who travels about that there are fundamentally different approaches to change-ringing. At one extreme are ringers who learn a string of numbers, can only ring a limited repertoire of plain hunt. plain courses, etc. Many cannot strike their bell well because the ropesight on which they depend does not give sufficient notice for proper bell control in changes. There are next those who learn a coursing order, and can adjust it at calls for simple touches, but still rely on memorising numbers. It is more likely than not that a ringer in either of these categories cannot hear his own bell, or the rhythm of the changes, but rings purely by ropesight. and the finer points of striking bells of different weights are unknown. Most rely on the tenor for leading, and hence cannot ring evenhell methods

Then there are ringers who have freed themselves largely from numbers, but rely wholly on such mnemonics as first, last, near, full. far.' Finally the blue line ringers who ring by rhythm and a knowledge of their own position in that rhythm, with ropesight as an aid.
It cannot be doubted that the biggest single factor in arrested progress is the lack of hearing one's bell, and hence of hearing the rhythm of the changes. The two faculties of rhythm and ropesight must be united at the earliest possible stage for the beginner, and a too rapid transition from call-changes to plain hunting avoided. The beginner so often falls into a struggle for numbers. or just ropesight without rhythm, and rhythm is acquired by accident rather than by design on the part of the instructor.

The graded exercises to be explained were invented for a special need-that of training beginners in a way which would obviate a local tradition of learning by numbers, but they have proved very successful over a short period and are set down here for others to try. The cardinal point is not to move the learner's bell too far at once (plain hunting is too difficult in this respect) so that he has time to digest the important matter of rhythm. and to acquire the sheer physical skill of cutting in and 'holding up without taxing his brain at the same time. One does not give a car driver his first lesson on gear-changing in a busy street!
All the exercises are on even numbers, and no cover bell tolerated, as 'leading of the tenor is but a special case of learning numbers. This does not. of course. rule out oddbell ringing later. Use the "blue line " method from the start. Emphasise rhythm and picking out one's own bell. Tackle each exercise a little before the last one is done correctly (i.e.. well struck), and run quickly through them all at each practice. The sequence will be found very useful for starting a band from scratch.

Exercise 2. All dodging

Ring these two exercises continuously. Use the traditional 'Go next time, and "This is all' from the start. Extend to six and eight bells, but prudently.

Not as artless as it looks, as 1 and 2 when leading have to lead by rhythm since the bells behind are different.

The more experienced ringers on 1 and 4 . Those on 2 and 3 still make places, but have to look for different bells. Add 5-6 dodging if desired.

Exercise 7. Little Bob.

This is a bigger step, but the treble ringer is just making places. and in practice it has been found that dodging gives more time for thought than plain hunting. Extend to six later.

Exercise 8. Treble Bob Hunt.
2143

Everyone dodges with two bells alternately. and passes another. Extend to six later.

Exercise 9. Double Bob (on four only).

2143  $\begin{array}{llll}24 & 1 & 3 \\ 4 & 2 & 1\end{array}$  2431  4213

The treble hunts (a more experienced ringer!). The others dodge as in treble bob hunt except with the treble, when they make places.

Exercise 10. Plain Bob on four.
The gap is now bridged!
If this system were to be adopted in a thriving belfry, beginners could have ten to 15 minutes devoted to them with experienced ringers helping, and the rate of progress would be correspondingly quicker. Fundamental differences in the teaching of early change-ringing are so vital that the Central Council should set up a committee of enquiry to resolve the matter, and save in the future the tremendous waste of energy which I am sure occurs now.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

The Guild summer festival again proved to be an attraction for many ringers on September 3 rd. Visitors from far and wide swelled the numbers of members to something like 120 at tea in the Parish Hall at Welford. They were given a hearty welcome at the service in church by the Rector (Rev. H. G. Withey) and also by the Guild president (Canon G. F, Turner) at tea.

The Guilsborough Branch, in which area Welford lies, went all out to provide ringing to suit everyone with an imposing array of 18 towers. In this historical part of the country is Naseby, scene of the battle between Charles I and Cromwell on June 14th, 1645, and marked in a field nearby with an obelisk. In the church was seen Cromwell's table.
Two recently-restored rings-Marston Trussell and Cottesbrooke-were ' on show;' and enthusiastic appreciation of the work done at each tower was heard many times. For their work in preparing for such an extensive day's ringing the Guilsborough Branch officers and members were thanked by Mr . E. Nobles, seconded by Mr. M. Coleman, after tea, and included in the thanks were the Rector of Welford, the organist. and the ladies who provided a tea suitable to the occasion.
A number of 'new towers' were added to the list of some of the younger members, what were out in great strength.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

Northern District

A quarterly meeting of the Northern Disrtict was held at West Hill. Wandsworth and Putney, on September 3rd. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. at West Hill. under the direction of Mr. Norman Bagworth.
The service to the Association's form was taken at Putney by the Curate (Rev. J. Mason). who joined the company of 27 ringers at tea in the New Church Hall. This was in true Putney style, and once again those present were the guests of the Putney ringers.
The routine business meeting concluded with voteg of thanks to all who had made the meeting so enjoyable, with special reference to Mr. Whelan, of Wandsworth, for arranging the ringing there, and to Mr. Tony Clayton for so ably organising the meeting at such short notice.
Ringing for two hours on the Putney bells, under the direction of Mr. F. E. Collins, concluded a happy day.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE RESTORATION RINGERS

Dear Sir,-After reading your publication about the efforts of young people renovating disused towers, I would like to inform you of the efforts of six ringers, whose average age is only 16. who bave. during the past three months, restored the ring of bells at Halling which have been silent for 28 years.
Under the able captaincy of R. G. Rye, the six members of the young band climbed the tower steps and spent a week of hard work and spare time oiling the bearings, cleaning the tower, painting the frame, replacing broken stays. and clearing $1 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. of dirt from the tower's three rooms. The band restored the tower in a week so that the six bells could be rung for the Whitsun services.
Later, the 'Restoration Ringers," as they are now known, taught a band of local inhabitants to ring, and now that the Halling band are progressing steadily, the ringers are set to move across the other side of the River Medway to the neighbouring parish of Wouldham to teach change-ringing to the Wouldham band. and it is the Restoration Ringers wish to ring a peal soon.
It is also hoped that the towers of the Kent County Association which are not normally rung at will. in the near future, he heard regularly after a few visits of the Restoration Ringers.
The thanks for the success of the ringers efforts are due to the incumbent of Halling and the Rev. R. Godfrey (incumbent of Wouldham). who both agreed to the idea.-Yours raithfully.

BRIGHTON TREBLE BOB

Dear Sir,- The reference to the late Mr. F. Dench ahd his producing Brighton Treble Boh. also that a peal of it was never rung, is inleresting: but one of his compositions he inlended for the method was rung at Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk, on August 28th, 1911. Here is the footnote to a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major rung at Bury on September 29th, 1912: - This peal was rung to replace a peal rung by the same band on August 28ih. 1911. which was afterwards proved to be false in several places. Mr. F. Dench having published the composition in 1897 as a 5.056 of Brighton Treble Bob and not intending it for Kent.
It was rung on handbells by $F$. Dewell $1-2$. H. A. Turner 3-4. A. E. Moore 5-6. F. J. Levitt 7-8. and conducted by A. E. Moore. Who is still living and recently celebrated his 78th birthday. He is a skilful ringer and con-ductor.-Yours. etc..

IMBFR CHLRCH INSCRIPTIONS

Dear Sir,-The late Miss Edith Olivier, $\bar{n}$ iltshire writer and historian, who lived at The Daye House in the grounds of Wilton Park, near Salisbury, had a copy of the 17th century table of changes painted on the walls Imber Church, as she once showed it to me. If I remember rightly, she also told me that the Wiltshire Archzological Society had some records on the matter. I understand that her niece now lives at Wilton, and it is possible that Miss Olivier's papers have been preserved, so an inquiry there might be suc-cessful.-Yours faithfully,

EDWARD G. CAPLE.

NO RIGHT TO CRITICISE

Dear Sir,-In almost all societies and fraternal organisations-sad to say, in the Christian Church itself-will be found a certain minority of folk always ready to pour contempt upon their fellow men

The ringing fraternity is by no meansi an exception, judging by recent correspondence in The Ringing World on peals of Minimus. It would he interesting to know how much time and patience has been given for the benefit of learners by Mr. Border and his fellow critics.

As Ringing Master of St. John-the-Divinc's. Leicester, for the last 14 years, I would like to point out that we now have a first-class band of enthusiastic youngsters, loyal and regular attenders for both Sunday service and practice ringing. The lads all share in the running of the belfry, conducting, etc., which has produced a wonderful fellowship, second to none.
Whilst in no way wishing to be disrespectful to the Leicester Guild, I contend that one's duty to one's church takes priority to that of any Guild. Little help came from the Guild as a whole during the years when we were struggling for existence.

The two persons (one a local ringer) who rang the much-criticised peal of Minimus have done a great deal of spadework for our benefit by constant attendance at practice and by arranging 6 -bell peals for our youngsters, although good Surprise ringers themselves. No doubt the 15 -year-old (also a local ringer) derived a certain amount of pleasure from it. It was rung after Evensong.
I am a person of straight speaking, and would point out that if permission is given by me for a so-called 'stunt' to be performed in my own belfry, which in my opinion would contribute lowards this fellowship, it is not within the province of Mr. Border or anyone else to shoot their darts of sarcasm at those concerned. Personally, I couldn't care less for his opinion or what he says. There is far too much of this kind of snobbety among ringers. which in some cases is the cause of depleted bands and empty belfries.

1 am sure that many ringers who knew the late William Willson, for many years Ringing Master of St. John's, will agree that he would have resisted in the strongest terms any attempted interference in the affairs of his belfry.
Let us not waste any more valuable space in - The Ringing World on petty arguments. Let Christian spirit prevail.-Yours sincerely,

Leicester.

ONE-MAN PEALS NEXT!

Dear Sir,-Having read the letters in recent issues on the ringing of peals of Minimus, no one has mentioned the greatest danger to our art. One man could ring a peal of Minimus on handbells, thus destroying our argument that recorded bells, etc., do not call for a team effort.

This would also give the enthusiast a chance to pile up his peal total and to stop even more people from sending their names to you with more than 25 peals at the end of the yearYours sincerely,

Baldock, Herts.

AGAINST 'FIRING' BELLS

Dear Sir,-I would like to endorse Mr. H. Gauntlett's views concerning the 'firing; of bells, although not wishing to alter any traditional practice on royal occasions. How long has it been usual to "fire " the bells in royal salute? Perhaps someone could trace the history of this practice for us, then we should be better able to judge whether 'firing the bells on royal occasions is justified. I suggest it would be betten to leave the firing of royal salutes to the guns! -instruments made for that very purpose.
The late Mr. Sam Hector used to refer to the bells hanging in Trowbridge tower as those musical instruments.: I consider that *iring * bells produces a hideous noise: why use our ' musical instruments' for such a purpose? I am sure any wedding party would prefer some nicely-rung changes on the bells.

One other point: the late Major C. C. Hughes D'Aeth, one-time Master of the Salisbury Guild, convinced me that the practice of - firing ' the bells of St. Peter's Church. Bournemouth, was fraught with some danger to the bells and fabric of the tower. I should explain that the tower is a long and slender one in design and is surmounted by a spire as high as the tower itself. The bells are hung to swing in one direction, i.e., east and west. To "fire" such bells is ' like giving a man a terrific punch in the belly," was Major D'Aeth's forthright way of putting his view.-Yours faithfully.

ARTHUR V. DAVIS.

Dear Sir.-With reference to the notice advertising the service of dedication of the Cecil Ebberson memorial, the Norwich Diocesan Association wish to thank the many friends of the late Mr. Ebberson who have subscribed towards the cost of the memorial.

The memorial is a tablet. 12 in. $\times 17$ in.. executed in Hopton Wood sione, and is being erected in the belfry of Dersingham Parish Church. The lettering is as follows:-

In grateful memory of
a ringer at this church for thirty years and Ringing Master of the Western Branch of the Diocesan Association
1953-1959.
Yours sincerely.
W. LOVE.

General Secretary and Treasurer.

COMPOSITION FOR EIGHT METHODS

Dear Sir,-May I he allowed to make a small correction to the composition on page 616? It is really a composition of Lincolnshire, and the 43265 F.C.E. should not have appeared. It was used for New Cambridge and will go to all eight methods with the F.C.E.-Yours faithfully.

Ipswich.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION  Biggleswade District

The Biggleswade District's monthly meeting at Sandy on September 10th was not very well supported, only eight District members being present. Visitors from the Bedford District and Middlesex increased the number to 12 The service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. T. Colls), with Mr. R. Ward at the organ. Tea was arranged at the King's Head. and this was followed by the business meeting. with Mr. B. Sims in the chair. Methods rung ranged from Plain Bob to Norwich Surprise.

PIPES PILGRIMS' NORTH COUNTRY TOUR

1 SMALL but an enthusiastic party left Grundisburgh Green at $5.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on Sunday, July 31 st, for the North Country. After an uneventful journey, Sleaford was reached at 9.45 a.m., and after ringing for Matins the party was augmented by several old faces and some new ones.

An early light lunch was well received at Grantham, and further Pilgrims nearly completed the coach's complement. Grantham ringers very kindly arranged ringing on their fine ten the previous evening for those Pilgrims staying overnight.

Tea was taken at Kingston-upon-Hull after a very long journey. The recently-augmented 12 at Holy Trinity was the objective afterwards. and while all had their turn in ringing, which included Stedman Cinques and Cambridge Royal, those not ringing were able to enjoy the wonderful view from the church roof, from which can be seen three cathedrals. A cross country route through York brought us ta Boroughbridge where. after an evening meal and an enjoyable social hour, we retired, very sleepy, to bed.

Monday morning was bright and sunny as we lefl for another cross country journey to Lake Windermere, which was viewed in all its glory from the coach windows. Ample justice was done to a chicken salad luncheon at Dalton-inFurness, and at St. Mary's Parish Church, almost adjacent to the hotel, all were able to enjoy a good hour-and-a-half's ringing on a grand ten.

IN THE LAKE DISTRICT

Sightseeing was to follow, with Coniston Water the objective. A brief halt was made on the west side of this lake for the enthusiasts to rake photographs before carrying on to Ambleside for tea and further ringing on the heavy eight (tenor 32 cwt .), which are a joy to the listener. It was here where many were caught without protection when a cloudburst descended. Journeying on past Rydal Water and Grasmere Lake, our night's resting place was the Rothay Hotel. Grasmere. This charming hotel is in extensive grounds in a beautiful fell-land setting, and is owned by the Rev. Mr. Dand (a former vicar of Woodbridge) and Mrs. Dand, who were known to many of the party.
We were sorry indeed to leave Grasmere on Tuesday morning, but all enjoyed the sightseeing drive through Kirkstone Pass and along one side of Ullswater. Lunch was taken at Keswick ind was followed by a visit to Derwent Water before proceeding to Cockermouth for an hour's ringing on a modern, very pleasant light eight hy Mears and Stainbank. It was here that we were met by Roger Whetenhall, who joined us in ringing. After tea the party proceeded to Cleator Moor 10 ring on a delightful 21 cwt. eight. Here the only touch of Spliced Surprise of the week was rung.
Headquarters for the night was the Abbotts Court Hotel, St. Bees. After refreshments, some took a stroll to the beach. while others found their way to the town to sample the local waters. The Church of SS. Mary and Bega is within easy walking distance of the hotel, and so early ringing did not mean early rising. The party also visited the light eights at Egremont and Workington during Wednesday morning.

STEEPLE-KEEPING WORK

After lunch at Workington the coastal journey to Silloth was pursued. Whilst most of the party enjoyed an afternoon by the sea, a few valiant members, under the direction of Ron Edwards, ascended the tower in an attempt to put into order a ring of bells silent since 1928 and now declared unringable. With limaited facilities. the gallant few achieved the impossible, which included almost the rehanging of the seventh. Ropes were put on and after tea the bells were raised very carefully one by one before the ringing of several methods on a most pleasant 23 cw . eight which only needed rehanging. What a pity to find such fine bells never rung.
On 10 Carlisle to ring on the peculiar eight at the Cathedral, and the 14 cw . ground floor eight at St. Stephen's, before seeking out our night's resting place-the State-owned Red Lion Hotel.
Thursday morning took us right across country to Newcastle upon Tyne. The party was privileged to see parts of the ruined remains of the historical Hadrian's Wall en route. Our first ring of the day was on the recentlyaugmented ten at Gosforth, where we were me: by Dennis Bayles, who kindly piloted us for the rest of the day. Lunch was taken at Whitley Bay, but a heavy mist prevented us from viewing the sea.
The pleasant 17 cwt . eight at St. Paul's were put into action immediately after lunch. Although a giant pendulum swings across the ringing room, our efforts were not thwarted and the standard was fairly high. More ringing was to follow, at Tynemouth, on a fine ten in a large tower. The journey to Roker included a ferry trip across the Tyne. the coach almost filling the space reserved for vehicles.

AT ROKER

After tea at Roker we said farewell to Dennis Bayles hefore we found our way to the Parish Church of St. Andrew, a modern church which had the appearance of being built on prison lines, with a grey, forbidding look. The bells. a modern ten by Gillett and Johnson, are magnificent, rather loud but ideal from the ringing viewpoint. No excuses for poor striking can be offered here. The ringing included a course of Double Norwich Caters and a fine touch of Grandsire Caters to end with.
On down the coast to West Hartlepool, where we were greeted by Fred Hodgson and two of his learners. Ringing here ranged from rounds to Cambridge Royal, before we left to continue to Middlesbrough for the night. It was on the snooker table at the Star and Garter that the so-called experts proved to be not as good as they thought when coming up against two beginners who won all their small change.
On Friday morning the Church of St. Cuthbert, North Ormesby, eluded us for a while. When it was eventually found, our efforts were rewarded by some good ringing. An early lunch was taken at Darlington so that as much time as possible could be devoted to ringing on the glorious eight. Journeying back down the Al we turned off to visit the very old church at Bedale, where the tenor is a pre-Reformation bell and does not quite reach the intended note of D natural. However. the bells are well worth a visit.
The fourth ring of the day was at Ripon Cathedral. A delightful ten here, but what a pity that the ninth shouts above the others. Satisfactory ringing was followed by a delicious tea before, like Turpin, we rode to York where, unlike Turpin, we were privileged to ring at the Minster. What a glorious sound these bells make outside, but how disappointing to the ringer. for they can be hardly heard inside the lower. Three leads of Treble Bob Maximus were followed by Stedman Cinques and Caters.

PRESENTATION

After the evening meal. Arthur and Mrs. Barker suitably conveyed the appreciation of all 10 Jim and Sylvia Pipe for their untiring efforts and usual efficient planning to ensure a happy, carefree week for the party. A pair of garden shears was presented to Jim and a wrought-iron plant pot holder to Sylvia. Our driver, who had sportingly entered into the spirit of things, was also presented with a cigarette lighter as a token of our appreciation. On Saturday morning we rang at Epworth on a. very pleasant ground floor eight before carrying on to Gainsborough, where a course of Gainsborough Surprise Maior was brought round. At Grantham, sad farewells were made. The nucleus continued the journey back to Grundisburgh. reached at $9.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., after covering 1.100 miles in seven days.
It had been a most enjoyable holiday, and our heartiest thanks are due to our organiser for his excellent arrangements, which must have entailed endless hours of hard work.

WORCESTERSHIRE YOUNG RINGERS
Worcestershire Young Ringers from Wychbold and Stourbridge had a 10 -day cycle tour embracing six counties, which started from Worcester on August 2nd. The first tower was Powick, having the heaviest six in Worcestershire.

The first full day was spent in the Avon Valley and included Berrow, having the best five in Worcestershire, Tredington, a half-timbered tower with a good five rung from round the font, and Bishop's Cleeve with bells really worthy of the fine church.
St. George's, Didbrook, on the Thursday morning, had some unusual features. The ropes hang just inside the main enirance, with four in a straight line on one side and the tenor on the other side of the doorway. To complicate matters the 'circle' is anti-clockwise. The day was spent in the valley of the Windrush River, the Slaughters being lovely villages, with a fine ring of nive at Upper Slaughter. A wonderful welcome was received from the ringers of Stow-on-the-Wold when we joined them at practice, and every member of the team tried the 30 cwt . tenor,
A good quarter of Doubles was rung at Bledington on Friday before journeying to Bourton-on-the-Water, where the lovely eight bells were rung to call-changes and Doubles. Saturday was spent in the valley of the Thames, and among the towers visited were Great Rissington. Windrush. Coln St, Aldwyn and Meysey-Hampton. At Ashton Keynes we were rather disappointed at the narrow dyke which is apparently the Thames.
The lovely five at Cricklade were much enjoyed before attending morning service. In the afternoon we rang at Preston and Ampney Crucis, where 2 and 3 have exactly the same note, and for Evensong a good quarter at Ashton Keynes.
Three people were needed to get Purton tenor up the right way on Monday, and after these lovely oells Lydiard Millicent and Rodbourne Cheney seemed very light. The Vale of the White Horse was visited on Tuesday to ring at Shrivenham and Uffington. Wednesday started with a good quarter of Minor at Lechlade. and later at Leafield the Vicar entertained the party to a sumptuous tea. Thursday was a very wet day. A good new ring was found at Enstone.
Great Pollright, having a minor six which had not been rung for several years, was the first tower on Friday. At Sutton-under-Brailev the five are rung from the church porch, and the ropes of 1 and 3 fall about $1 \frac{1}{2}$ inches from the walls! The last day's programme was only two towers-Henley-in-Arden and Studley. with some of the best ringing in Spliced Doubles and Minor.
Thanks are accorded to local ringers and incumbents.

STONE, STAFFS, RINGERS' OUTING

St. Michael's, Stone, outing this year was into Shropshire. Good ringing, including Stedman and Plain Bob Major, opened the ringing programme at Church Stratton. The long climb of 136 steps to the ringing chamber at Ludlow Parish Church was well rewarded. although ringing was resiricted 10 half-an-hour owing to the nearby hospital.

After lunch the border was crossed into Wales, and at Knighton. Kent T.B. Major. Plain Bob and Grandsire were all brought round. The curate met the party and joined in the ringing at Bridgnorth, and at Newport, the last tower, local ringers had everything in readiness. A good fall in peal ended 3 plezsant tour. To all who contributed to the success of the outing sincere thanks are returned.

ST. COLUMB MAJUR. CORNWALL.-On Aus. 18th. 1.344 Plain Bob Major: C. A. Lewis (first on eight) 1. J. K. Foot 2. R. C. Warburton 3. R. G. Morris 4. R. E. Tallis (jun.) 5. M. C. Hugher 6. M. S. Hart 7. P. S. Bennetl (cond.) 8. Rung on the Packwood ringers tour as a birthday compliment to Miss Pamela M. Turner, non-touring secretary.

JAMES GEORGE RUMSEY  AN APPRECIATION

Jim Rumsey has been described in the Suffolk idiom as "a good owd ringer.' He was indeed: safe, a good striker, could ring any bell as required: had one ambition, which was to be punctual in attendance and of use when he arrived.

Born in Holborn in 1882, he removed to Debenham as a boy of seven. One of six brothers and sisters, he and they became members of the church choir. Later on Jim joined the ringers, who at that time were under the leadership of William Grimes. With Alfred W. Grimes, William C. Rumsey (a cousin) William J. Groom and others joining about that time, a new era commenced in Debenham tower. The old saying that Debenham bells if pulled off and left to themselves would ring Bob Triples came to an end.

In 1897 Jim rang his first peal. Bob Major. This was followed in succession by peals of Treble Bob, Oxford, followed by Kent, the 'correct ' order in Suffolk in those days, and Double Norwich. About the time the writer joined the tower, Superlative Surprise was being considered. After much practice, and a few peals with outside help. the first Surprise pe al by the Sunday band was rung, Jim ringing the tenor. This was in 1907. The signwriter who wrote the peal board put the words "weight 20 cw : directly beneath the name James $G$. Rumsey, which caused Jim-who had a fine sense of humour-to remark that he had no idea he weighed so much.

In 1911. some time after his marriage, he removed to Leiston, and worked for many years for Richard Garrell and Sons, agricultural engineers. Recommencing where he left off at Debenham, he was soon a member both of the choir and the ringing society, and thus became connected with the Bailey family, then going ahead smartly under the conductorship of that remarkable man, Charles F. Bailey. Service ringing, combined with a succession of peals in a good selection of Surprise methods, some of which were rung for the first time. with occasional visits to other towers in East Anglia, made up the rest of Jim's ringing carreer.

The Leiston men did much handbell ringing with the success which is now history, but Jim took little part in this, ringing two peals only. Later in life he took up the duties of sexton and verger, and his devotion to this work gained him the appreciation of both clergy and congregation.

Failing health compelled him to retire and also to give up ringing, his last peal being aporopriately enough rung at Debenham in 1950. In his declining years, his wife having predeceased him. he owed much to the devoted care of a sister, being often in pain and weak. ness.
He was interred in Leiston Cemetery on August 29th. Tollowing a service in the church, at which his two remaining sisters and a brother, with brother ringers present, listened to a moving tribute by one of the clergy. In the evening the Leiston band rang muffled bells to mark the end of a dedicated life. P.L.

MR. GEORGE GILBERT

We regret to announce that Mr. George Gilbert, of Burnham. Bucks, died early on Friday morning at the Canadian Red Cross Memorial Hospital, Taplow. He was 73
The funeral service was held at Burnham Parish Church yesterday at 3 p.m.

Briefly announced in our last issue. Mr. Tom Riley died on August 30th in Haslemere Hospital after a few days' illness from coronary thrombosis. He was 59

- Tommy Riley had been connected with the ringing at St. Peter and St. Mary's Church. Liss. tor 40 years, and at cimes he was the only ringer. He never reached great heights in change-ringing, but endeared himself to many by his hard work behind the scenes. especially in organising outings, special ringing and the like. For many years he was tower secretary: he was also a keen member of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild.

Besides ringing, he served the community in other directions, such as being treasurer of the football club for 22 years, treasurer of the slate club and scorer for the cricket club. A great litule man and a true friend, he will be missed by many.

At the funeral service. the church bells were rung before and after by 12 ringers representing Liss, Petersfield, Blackmoor and Hawkley towers.

SHELLEY CUP CONTEST

The Shelley Cup contest, held on September 17th. Wis won by Cawthorne with 31 faults, followed by Meltham 34. Warsop 41) and Friezland 73. The test piece was 600 changes preceded hy 120 changes practice. Messrs. Percy Hawthornethwaite and Herbert Holbrook were the judges, and Mr. Albert Goldthorpe marker, Mr. Noel F. Moxon received the cup on behalf of the winners, and each member of the team received a jam dish.
Thanks to the Shelley ringers were voiced hy Messrs. Moxon. Harry Mann and Rooke, whose team (Warsop) were compeling for the first lime.

The meeting stood to remember Mr. Harry Roherts, of Kirkhurton, who commenced his ringing at Shelley before going to Kirkburton. He was a judge for the Halifax Socie:y for many years.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

An encouraging feature of the quarterly meeting of St. David's Guild, held at St. Mary's. Pembroke, was the number of young ringers present and the election of eight probationary members. The company present included ringers from Tenby, Burry Port, Carmarthen. St. David's. Llanelly, and the local band.

Following a service conducted by the Rev. T. C. Johns, the ladies of Pembroke provided a very nice tea in the Church Hall, and they were thanked by the Rev. I. J. Thomas, Vicas of Burry Port. The Rev. T. C. Johns presided at the business meeting, when it was decided to accept the invitation to hold the December meeting at Llandovery. A collection for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted 10 £ 11 s. Mr. H. Jenkins proposed a vote of thanks to the chairman, and the proceedings closed with prayer. A very good day's ringing was then concluded in the tower.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  North Dorset Branch

The quarterly meeting of the North Dorset Branch. held at Maiden Bradiey on Sepiember 10th. was attended by a larger nuniber than usual. there being 40 present from 13 towers, including visitors from the Bath and Wells Guild. Doubles and Minor were rung on the six hells before the service.

After an excellent tea in the Village Hall, the business meeting was despatched with reasonable brevity under the acting-chairmanship of the Vicar (Rev. J. Wright), who welcomed the Branch 10 his parish. The business included the election of a new member from Mere, and the decision to contribute is to the Guild funds in addition to the ordinary subseription. This was in response to a suggestion made at the annual meeting of the Guild last May.

Ringing was later resumed at Maiden Bradley, Horningsham and Bourton

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD Views On Minimus

For the September quarterly meeting of the Leicester Diocesan Guild a 6-bel! tower was chosen as the venue for the first time since the Guild was formed in 1946. It was undoubtedly a tremendous success, as over 50 members and friends sat down 10 tea, and the tiny village church at Twyford was competely filled for the service, which was taken by the Rev. A. W. Harrison, Vicar of Somerby.

During the afternoon, bells at Great Dalby (5) and Somerby (6) were available for ringing. At the business meeting, which was presided over by the president (Mr. P. J. Staniforth), a special welcome was given to Mr. Evander Littlewood. who has been ringing at Asfordby for over 60 years. The president presented eight certificates-live to ringers from Blaby, who are to have their five bells rehung by the end of the year. This tower now has 13 enthusiastic ringers who are learning to ring at South Wigston, Whetstone, and other churches.
After the routine items on the agenda had been disposed of, members were reminded of the annual dinner and social, which would be held on October 29th in the Shakespeare Hotel. Braunstone, on the outskirts of Leicester. The Lord Bishop of Leicester and the Provost of Leicester Cathedral (together with their wives) were to be the guests. Tickets (price 12s. 6d.) would be available from the secretary shortly. Ringing during the afternoon would be arranged by the Le:cester District committee
Under the itens 'Any Other Business,' memhers expressed their views on the recent peal of Minimus rung for the Suild. (PPerformance. please. © one member said!) It was moved by Mr. Harrison, seconded by Mr. Rowley, that 'the Guild ask the Central Council not 10 recognise peals of Minimus." This motion was eventually carried hy 26 votes to 1 .
The secretary then had the unpleasant task of reporting that he had received a telephone complaint from the Vicar of Copi Oak who, having granted a band permission for a peal at. tempt at his church, had waited two hours for them to arrive, and had had no message saying they were not coming or apology since. Mr. Harrison agreed to contact the Vicar of Coni Oik and find out more details of who the culprits were Miss Betty Smith, of Ashby Folville, requested that when peal binds sisited her church and altered the langth of ropes they should replace them afterwards. F.nally. Mr Day gave a warm welcome back to Mr. J. Harry Cook, the popular Ringing Master of the Melton District, who is recovering from an internal operation.

Thanks were expressed to all who had made the meeting so enjoyable.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  West Dorset Branch

About 30 members and visitors attended the quarterly meeting at Broadwindsor on September 17th. The bells were raised in peal, and methods included London Surprise Minor. The service was conducted by the chairman of the Branch (Rev. J. S. Arthur), Canon C. C. Cox read the lesson and the Rev. P. Smith gave the address.
Tea was served in the Reading Room, kindly given by Broadwindsor P.C.C. At the business meeting four new members were electedDorothy Symonds. Patricia Keats. Vivienne Denning and Michael Dawe, all of Beaminster. Mr. F. Wreford, who was elected a non-resident member prior to a peal, was duly ratified.
Notice was given of the dedication of the new sixth bell at Powerstock. Other meetings were arranged as follows: October 14th at Netherbury. November 18th, at Evershot. The annual to be at Lyme Regis on November 26th. The chairman thanked Broadwindsor for their hospitality, and Mr. Studley, Vicar"s warden. very humorousy replied.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD Sonning Deanery Hold Striking Competition

An innovation in the form of a striking competition among the towers in the Sonning Deanery Branch took place at St. Michael's, Sandhurst. on September 17th.

Six towers entered teams of six ringers, and the object was perfect striking, whether in rounds, call-changes, or a method. Two well known members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild-Major E. T. Bragg and the Master Mr. C. W. Denyer-adjudicated, and were in stalled in a schoolroom close to the church. Mr. Harold Smith, a Branch Ringing Master was in the tower to watch the ringing and give advice. while Mr. W. Parker marshalled the teams. In another schoolroom Mrs. Parker and her helpers provided tea from 4 till 6 p.m. which was much appreciated.
Each team decided to ring Grandsire Doubles. and some good striking was heard. As the last team vacated the tower the judges left the schoolroom, and in announcing their verdict gave a summary of the faults of each team and general comments on the ringing, which proved most helpful for future contests.
The results were: Sonning 38 faults, Hurst 44, Sandhurst 46. Easthampstead 62, Twyford 83 and Arborfield 96.

Mr. Smith thanked Major Bragg and Mr Denyer for their services. Mr. and Mrs. Parker for all the local arrangements, and the Branch secretary for his part in organising the event
A combined practice followed. It is hoped the contest will be an annual event. B.C.C.

THE BEGINNER

As a child I used to go out and sit on the church roof, while the men inside pulled the bell ropes. Even then I was aware that all the words my grandfather bellowed across the ringing chamber were not ringing terms; but I wasn't quite sure what they were. (They did not sound at all amiable.) Now I know.
As I stand holding the rope, arms stretched up, with sweating hands, palpitating heart, and weak legs, the terms from my childhood comes floating across to me, painfully clear, to mingle with the clashing of the bells and numbers desperately rushing through my brain: four, six. five, dodge, three, five, one, three, lead. Even as I think of these numbers am filled with a sense of guilt, and I think quietly, lest anyone should hear-because I am breaking the law. Ringing by numbers is just not allowed. I must ring by my position.
More clashes and we 'stand.' Hands, with skin like aged yellow parchment. blister bloated, relax: legs, trembling, sink to the wooden benches and a cool stone wall supports the back and helps to calm the exploding heart.
There is silence for a while: the body regains its composure and shredded nerves gather themselves together. Then. rueful smiles break across the faces of experts-and others. and someone suggests we try again.

This time an expert falters-in despair? We grin in gladness, and in doing so lose our flace again and. grin gone, blushing, pull the tell rope harder Place regained (with music and discord), we pull on.
Sweat-soaked. no nerves left. arms aching. overcome by tiredness and yawns, suddenly we find we have completed a course. place perfect (if a little badly struck). We brighten up and smile. ring 'simple rounds,' and stand.

On Saturday night. in some foreign village tower. a hardened ringer asks: "And what would you like to ring?'
And startled. the timid whisper, 'I'm only a beginnner. Like a worm to a beautiful butterfly.

LICHFIELD DIOCESAN RINGING FESTIVAL

SATURDAY, September 10th. was an historic day for the Diocese of Lichfield as far as ringing was concerned. On this particular day a Ringing Festival was held, embracing the three Archdeaconries comprising the Diocese of Lichfield. Three ringing societies were involved - the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, the Shropshire Association and the North Staffordshire Association. The whole venture was to be known as the 'Lichfield Diocesan Ringing Festival.'

To obtain a true background to the Festival one must go back to 1882 when the North Staffordshire Association was founded, followed closely in 1883 by the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford. It is interesting to read from the very first report of the latter Society, published in June, 1884, the following: 'As a Society had already been formed for North Staffordshire (the Archdeaconry of Stoke) it seemed advisable to found a similar Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford: We have reason to hope that ere long a Society will be formed for the Archdeaconry of Salop, and that the three will work together, and thus embrace the whole of the Diocese of Lichfield.' In June, 1959, at the Annual Meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, a proposal was put forward that an approach be made to the other two societies in the Lichfield Diocese with a view to holding an annual joint Ringing Festival. Such a Festival is to be held in the territory of each Archdeaconry in rotation.

There followed a considerable amount of correspondence between the three societies, and after a lapse of six months the final details were worked out. It was decided that the first Festival should be held in the Stoke-on-Trent area with the North Staffordshire Association as hosts. This was particularly appropriate, as this year is the 50 th anniversary of the establishment of Stoke as a city.

The day arrived at last, and the weather was kind. A sprinkling of ringers was soon in action at all the available towers in the area. Ringing began at $10.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. at Kidsgrove, where the delightful six bells were put to good use. Two more towers followed before lunch-Tunstall. Christ Church, with eight bells, tenor $10 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. of good tone, and Norton-le-Moors, an excellent 'Taylor' cight with tenor $12 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. There were no formal arrangements for lunch, and visitors made their own amongst the many cafes in Hanley.

During the afternoon three more towers were available: firstly the fine-sounding ten at St. John's, Hanley (tenor 18 cwt .), secondly the pleasant six at St. Mary's, Bucknall, where ringing during the afternoon was sandwiched between weddings, and lastly the headquarters for the day, St. Peter's, Stoke. Here the eight bells (tenor 20 cwt .) were fully employed, and some of the best ringing of the day took place. A short service was held at St. Peter's and was conducted by Preb. F. A. R. Chapman, Vicar of Stoke. In his address he welcomed members of the three societies to the Potteries. He had, he said. served in all three Archdeaconries during his time in the Ministry, and it gave him great pleasure to see so many ringers coming to Stoke for this Festival.

After the service tea was taken at Stoke Church Institute, where a salad meal had been prepared for visitors. Approximately 75 people sat down, but this in no way reflects the true attendance at the Festival as many made their own arrangements in nearby cafes. It is estimated that about 120 ringers from all parts of the Diocese attended during the day.

Following the tea the chairman of the North Staffordshire Association, Mr. G. W. Biddulph. extended a welcome to all visiting ringers. This was a new venture, he said, which had been an unknown quantity. He was, however, very pleased that it had been so successful and expressed the hope that it would be the precursor of many similar Festivals. Mr. D. J. Tranter, secretary of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, thanked the North Staffordshire Association for their hospitality, and Mr. Harry Poyner expressed the thanks of the Shropshire Association.

In the evening ringing continued at St. Peter's, Stoke, Christ Church, Fenton, with its ring of eight bells (tenor 14 cwt ), and St. John's, Longton, another 'eight' with a tenor of 15 cwt . As dusk fell ringers gradually dispersed and made their various ways home to all parts of the Diocese, filled with many happy memories of a very successful day.

We are all indebted to Mr. J. G. Burton and his many helpers from the North Staffordshire Association for a memorable day in the Potteries. The organisation and enthusiasm of everyone was first-class, and a very high standard has been set for future Ringing Festivals. We look forward with pleasure to meeting our new-found friends next year, when the Festival is to be held in the Stafford Archdeaconry.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The tower of St. Brandon's, Brancepeth, was crowded for a joint meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Association's Southern District and the North East Ladies ${ }^{\text {a }}$ Guild on September 24 th . The visitors found a ring of eight which was not easy to strike well, and the ropes of several bells badly needed adjustment. At one point we had the secretary of the Southern District kneeling on the trapdoor 10 ring the fourth.

The Rector conducted the service, and his sermon was one of the best the ringers had heard. He spoke of ringing as a gift of time and service, as a call to duty and as a bringer of joy to those who heard the bells. He is himself learning to ring.
At a meeting which followed tea. Mr. Kenneth Arthur, thanking the Rector and wardens for the use of the bells, descrbied the church as a gem, but referred to the fact that ringers there had never been members of the Association. He hoped this would be remedied when the Association got its scheme of instruction under way.

Miss Bertie thanked the ladies who had prepared the tea.
This was the District's annual meeting, and Mr. F. W. Cooke (Darlington) was re-elected Vice-president and Mr. Peter Rack (Egglescliffe) secretary. It was agreed to hold a joint meeting on November 26 th with the Yorkshire Assoclation at Richmond.
Ringing during the afternoon and evening included Plain Bob and Grandsire. Stedman, Triples, Yorkshire Surprise and Double Norwich, with rounds and call-changes for a number of beginners.

Brancepeth Church is one of the most attractive in the county, standing in parkland adjoining Brancepeth Castle, and having a great wealth of fine woodwork inside. E.P.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Visitors to the meeting of the South Wales District of the Ladies' Guild, held at Chepstow on September 24th, included Mr. and Mrs. Kortwright (Brockley) and Mr. and Mrs. R. Short, who were only able to stay for one ring.

The choral service was conducted by Canon Ernest Evans who, besides welcoming the Guild emphasised the invaluable services rendered to the church by lady choristers and lady bell ringers.
Tea was waiting in the Church Hall, and Mr . J. Pryor thanked all concerned with the preparations. Mrs. Audrey Bruton thanked Canon Evans for his kind welcome, and Miss Dilys Hulbert thanked the organist and choristers.

At the business meeting five new members were elected from Chepstow, St. Mellons and Llangibby. Mrs. Bruton reported on the annual meeting in Bath, and it was decided that the next District meeting would be in January.
The Cowbridge ringers, on their annual outing, joined in the ringing in the evening.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH

Very pleasant weather favoured the meeting of the Monmouth Branch, held at Llangibby on September $10 t \mathrm{~h}$. Some 45 ringers were present including visitors from Lydney and Hereford. Mr. George Ward (Master) arranged suitable ringing for all, and this varied from rounds to Spliced Triples and Surprise.

Cunon E. T. Davies, the well-known diocesan historian, conducted a very lively service with fine music, hearty singing and an inspiring address. The Rev. Ivor Richards read the lesson. Tea was enjoyed in the Church Clubroom. provided by the young Llangibby ringers and their mothers. Who were all sincerely thanked by the Rev. Ivor Richards.

New members were elected from Caerleon. Panteg and St. Woolos", Newport. Mention was made of restoration funds for Panteg and Llanarth, and any donations could be sent to the respective incumbents. It was decided to hold the Branch dinner on the last Saturday in January.

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD

The 13 th annual outing of the Guild on September 10 th was a great success. Some confusion over the bridges on Tonbridgel made us 15 minutes late at Kingswood, where all enjoyed the good six. Mr. Symonds welcomed Us at Ashtead. where Yorkshire would not go. There was a frantic search by one of the locals at Christ Church, Epsom, for the key, but the main attraction here was the garden in front of The Cricketers.

Some good Minor was enjoyed at Cobham, as was the tea awaiting us at Old Woking. Mr. Munday met us afterwards, and good touches were rung on this musical eight. The six at Stoke were put to good use.

The fine tenor voice of Ray Large added to the attractions of the homeward journey; but when a stop was made for refreshments the appeal of the juke box and dart board was such that it was well past midnight when - Ernie’ put nis car away. C.A.B.

Abstract

Cawthorne bell ringers have this year won the triple crown in contest ringing, \section*{BELFRY} viz.: The Halifax Cup, the Hoylandswaine Cup and the Shelley Cup. Previous teams with three wins were Friezland. 1949, and Silkstone, 1951. Liversedge in 1935 won four competi-tions-the quadruple crown. The weekly practice night at Winshill, Bur-ton-on-Trent, has been changed to Tuesdays, 7.30 to $9 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. All visitors welcome.

Here's a coincidence. Hitch-hiking to Canterbury during the Reading and Southampton Universities' summer tour, a ringer acquired a lift to Canterbury in the same ancient green car as last year and. what's more, the car's owner was also a ringer. The ringing of bells at Putney on St. Matthew's Day is of ancient origin, dating from a 17 th century will. This was observed by the ringing of a quarter peal on September 21 st. The whole band also attended a Corporate Communion in the morning. The three quarter peals of Grandsire Doubles rung at Nailsea were to mark the enthronement of the new Bishop of Bath and Wells, to congratulate Miss Audrey Bailey and Mr. R. D. Short on their marriage. and as birthday compliments to H. Hardwidge and Tony York. To the delight of Miss J. Armstrong. the Duke of Northumberland, when he was made a freeman of Morpeth, mentioned the curfew. Alas, a peal a few days later to commemorate the honour conferred on the Duke again disturbed the curfew. We hear that Miss Armstrong and her brother, Fred, have been chiming the Ellacombe set in lieu of the curfew. The Newcastle Cathedral Guild, with Triends. enjoyed a week-end in Yorkshire on September $17 \mathrm{th} / 18 \mathrm{th}$, highlights being the ringing at Bradford Cathedral on the Saturday and at Skipton for the Sunday morning service. The week-end was voted to be the most successful of recent years, with all thanks due to the secretary, George Deas.

GOSSIP
Reading Mr. Frank T. ing of Surprise methods, that many ringers did not possess a copy of Corrigan's Surprise Maior methods. Mr. Ernest Weatherby, of Los Angeles, has kindly sent to the Editor his copies to loan to ringers desirous of borrowing them. We thank Mr. Weatherby for his kind thought. If any reader desires to consult these volumes, will he send a stamped addressed envelope to the Editor. The books must be returned within seven days.
The ringers in the quarter peal at Ingham, Suffolk, were lucky to score it. as the rope broke as the tenor was being lowered.
Mr. Charles J. Sedgley makes a correction to his letter, 'Composition for Eight Methods ' (page 659). It should read: 'It was used for New Cambridge and will go to all B methods with b F.C.E.
During the absence abroad of the Rev, Oswald Mowan, all inquiries regarding the use of Buckfast Abbey bells should be addressed to the Rev. Paulinus Angold. Buckfast Abbey, Devon.

Mr. Leslie N. Melton, of Ipswich, asks us to state that in his report of a Lincolnshire tour he meant nothing derogatory 10 Mr . and Mrs. Ted Chapman when he said: "They helped us to lose spliced.
We are asked to state that the triennial elections of the College of Campanology will take place in 1962 and not 1961 as stated in the report on page 627 . The figures given in the college's annual report are based on a return of 40 per cent of the forms sent out.
The quarter peal of Plain Boh Triples by the St. Peter's Guild, Staines, the first for over a quarter of a century, is a landmark in the progress of the new Guild. The practice repertoire now includes Stedman, Kent T.B. and Cambridge Surprise (no Grandsire yet), and they hope to be ringing Surprise methods as a regular Sunday service feature by Christmas. Excluding the Master, the average age of the band is 15 years.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The autumn general meeting of the Association took place at Hull on September 17th, providing an opportunity for members to try out at Holy Trinity Church the most recent addition to Yorkshire's rings of 12 bells. Unfortunately, the attendance fell short of that of the corresponding meeting last ycar, one result being that little use was made of the charming ring of eight at Hedon during the afternoon, although the heavy six at Kirk Ella proved quite an attraction in the evening. It was generally agreed that an excellent splice had been made at Hull, the two added trebles blending beautifully with the noble ten, and quite distinct from some other recent augmentations in the county, adequately powerful through the simple expedient of not lacking in weight

Following an excellent tea at the Manor Cafe, the business meeting was held when, in the absence of the president, the chair was taken by Mr. Vernon Bottomley, supported by the general secretary (Mr. L. W. G. Morris), the hon. treasurer (Mr. G. Benfield) and the hon. secretary (Mr. W. E. Critchley).

An omnibus vote of thanks to the incumbents of Holy Trinity Church, Hull, Hedon and Kirk Ella parish churches was unanim-

THE NEW QUARTER

This issue is the first issue of a new quarter. We welcome the many new subscribers and remind those whose subscriptions are due that early payment saves much clerical work. Remit to Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro, Cornwall. Rate: 3 months 9 s . 6 d ., 6 months 18 s ., 12 months $£ 115 \mathrm{~s}$. ously accorded on the motion of Mr. N. Chaddock, seconded by Mr. L. M. Woodhead, and a similar vote of thanks to the respective local companies on the motion of Mr. E. Hudson, seconded by Mr. W. Barton. In reply, Mr. F. G. Reed kindly undertook to convey them to the appropriate quarters. There being no specific invitation regarding the next meeting, the chairman announced that the committee had recommended that it be held at Bradford Cathedral on January 21 st . if suitable arrangements could be made. Mr. E. Hudson moved and Mr. W. E. Critchley seconded that the committee's recommendation be accepted, and this was carried unanimously.

A LANCASHIRE APPLICATION

The chairman next reported that the committee had considered a letter from the secretary of the Blackburn Branch of the Lancashire Association, concerning two remote 6-bell towers situated in the extreme West Riding. He had correctly pointed out that these towers (Slaidburn and Gisburn) were more accessible to his branch, and sought to ascertain the opinion of the Yorkshire Association on the question of holding a meeting of his Branch at one or both of these towers. Following a short discussion. Mr. J. Seager moved and Mr. L. Drake seconded that no objection be raised, and that the secretary concerned be informed accordingly. This was carried.

It was unanimously agreed to accept all committee recommendations in connection with the report of the rules sub-committee, the only outstanding item being the tower affiliation scheme. The committee proposed to make inquiries from three Associations known to operate such a scheme, and to conknown to operate such a scheme, and to conof information gained.

The chairman reminded the meeting that the Snowdon dinner would take place at Rotherham on October 22nd, and appealed for loyal support in order to ensure its success.

On the motion of Mr. J. Seager, seconded by Mr. W. E. Critchley, the following new members were elected: Ian Campbell (Kirk Ella) and Paul Scrowston (Cottingham) as resident members, and as out-county members, D. G. Clift (Harrow). T. P. Edwards (Pentre Rhondda). A. H. Reed (Taunton) and Mrs. R. M. Border (Coventry). The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the chairman for the able manner in which he had conducted the business.

MR. FRANK I. HAIRS

Honorary Member of Central Council

Mr. Frank I. Hairs is prohably the first person a new member sees on entering the Central Council. For several years he has been in charge of the attendance roll, and very efficiently does he carry out his duties. He has a high respect for the dignity of the Council, and would be in the forefront were it ever necessary to defend its traditions. Never very wordy in debate, either in Council or Standing Committee, his contributions are listened to with great respect, for they are full of sound common sense.

It was a stroke of good fortune for the Central Council that he was elected to 'The Ringing World ' Committee when it was reconstructed some years ago, and his first-class knowledge of printing-he was a printer by tradehas proved invaluable to the Committee.
Born at Clapham in 1888, he learned to ring at St. Mary's and rang his first peal there in 1906. This was Grandsire Triples, conducted by J. W. Driver, of Fulham. Round about 1913 he formed a friendship with Miss Elsie L. Bennett, daughter of Frank Bennett, and their enthusiasm for ringing was such that on one occasion they cycled 30 miles, rang three handbell peals-Stedman, Grandsire and Plain Bob-and cycled 30 miles back, all in the space of 12 hours! In 1916 Elsie and Frank were married, and they rang a handbell peal of Stedman Caters at Guildford the same day.
Apart from being a most capable handbell ringer, Elsie was an accomplished swimmer, and on one occasion when they were out swimming together, Frank was taken ill, and Elsie saved his life by bringing him ashore unaided. Her prowess on handbells was recognised by the College Youths, who waived their rules and elected her a member. She is now, so far as we know, the only lady member of that Society. Frank and Elsie took part in the first married couples' peals of Grandsire, both on tower- and handbells, and Cambridge Royal on tower bells.
They were frequent visitors to Surfleet where. during the lifetime of Rupert Richardson, many ringers' parties were held, and many were the exploits some of them got up to-ringing handbell peals in bed, etc., etc.
Frank has always been a staunch supporter of the Sussex County Association, and acted as peals secretary (1931-1944), Central Council representative (1939-1950) and Master (19441949). In 1951 he was elected an Honorary Member of the Council, and: he serves on the Standing Committee and "The Ringing World ' Committee. His daughter, Olive Barnett, is the wife of the Central Council's secretary.
Frank Hairs' peals total is 560 , of which he has conducted ten. He has never been keen on conducting although quite capable of doing so. It will be seen from all this that Frank and his family have played an active part in building up the Exercise as we know it, and now that he has retired we can wish him many happy years of retirement; and perhaps he will now find time to settle down to a little steady peal ringing!

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS  Mid-Devon Branch

Over 70 ringers, representing Cornwall. Devon, Berkshire, Somerset, Dorset. Oxford and Surrey, combined for some good ringing, ranging from rounds to Stedman Cinques, when tho Mid-Devon Branch met at Buckfast Abbey on September 24th. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar of Buckfastleigh (Rev. J. W. Timms) in the Chapel close to the Abbey.

At the business meeting, which followed tea, Guild certificates were presented to Keith Fursdon and Neil Forrester, both of Torre. Confirmed as non-resident life members were $G$ Brewin. J. G. Newman. J. R. Taylor, J. G. Hernming. A. E. Rushton, G. Hemming, B. Pattison. P. J. Chapman, R. C. Noon, J. K Ward and Miss Gill McMurray.

The following were elected as new members of the Branch: J. Squance, L. J. Prowse (Torre): T. Canon, W. Force, Miss J. Manvell. Miss Milcham. Miss J. Moore (Paignton) ; Miss C. Dodridge. R. Hart (Dartmouth. St. Clement's) : Mr. Colquhoun (Teignmouth) and Rev. Brendan Prior (Buckfast Abbey).

The secretary said that with the new members the Branch now had a membership of 80 and that in three years a deficit of 15 s . had been turned into a balance of $£ 9$. It was proposed that the annual meeting should be held at Teignmouth on January 14th.
The chairman (Mrs. H. Hood) extended the best wishes of the Branch to the Rev. Oswald Mowan (captain of the Abbey ringers) for his visit to Rome, and thanked him for the use of the Abbey bells, a privilege for which the Branch was extremely grateful.

WESTON FAVELL BELLS REHUNG

Weston Favell, Northants, bells have been rehung by Messrs. White, of Appletof, at a cost of approximately $£ 350$, and at a try-out on September 23 rd a considerable improvement was noted in the 'go.' Previously the tenor. fourth and second were apt to drop. This has been remedied and the frame has been bolted to the main beams and single irons fitted to give added strength. Ball-bearings have replaced plain.
The bells are a minor five and take up all the room in the bell chamber: there is insufficient space for another bell. The oak frame. built for five bells only by John Over, of Rugby, in 1808, is still in good condition. It replaced an earlier frame, portions of which had done service since circa 1450 , when the tower possessed only three bells-a beam in the belfry of that date showing three rope holes is still preserved. In 1683 these three bells were recast into a four by the brothers Henry and Matthew Bagley

They were doubtless then a major four, and only a treble would have been needed to have made them into a major five. But in 1707 along came Henry Penn. of Peterborough, who altered the note of the third by bevelling the lip of the bell in order to add a tenor instead of a treble, obviously to sell more metal. And so Weston Favell became a minor five, and a minor five they will have to remain, in view of the major operation that would have been needed to have made them otherwise.

QUARTER-PEALING WITH  E. W. P.

Saturday, September 24th, was, most surprisingly, hot and sunny, and off we set to ring quarter peals
First came Toddington, with a quarter of Grandsire: second Dumbleton, with a quarter of Grandsire; third 'The 'Hobnails,' with sustenalice: fourth Beckford, with a quarter of (you'll never guess, Grandsire!). Last came Kemerton, and it was here that 'E.W. P. did his level bist to wreck the piece de résistance - a quarter of mixed Doubles with multitudinous variations Swinging his 17 -odd stone on the end of a short and springy new rope, he performed antics enough to keep a circus audience enthralled: the effect on the rest of the band was nearly disastrous. For a start, every time he stretched up on tip-toe at backstroke (oh, a graceful bird is the elephant!') a rift appeared amidships. Which he tried to cover up with one hand while endeavouring to control his mitransigent bell with the other. However, on receiving an assurance that the ladies would avert their eyes should the worst befall. he was able to concentrate on the bell; but many were the despairing passes he made at a sally that danced tantalisingly away from his grasp !

Now maybe we could have coped with these distractions but for the fact that only the conductor had any clear idea as to what we were supposed to be ringing. There are Doubles methods that are seldom encountered outside the Central Council's Collection, and now we know why. Such things as Reverse Canterbury plain course with All Saints plain leads as bobs. at the 6 nd of a long day, would discourage the best of men. Simall wonder then that E.. W. P. was reduced to uttering wild, despairing sounds and making faces at the conductor (and eyes at the treble), while the mirth that convulsed the rest of the band did nothing to help the striking. But all the best things come to an end, and the eleventh methodjvariation was triumphantly brought round despite all attempts at sabotage !

Our grateful thanks to Martyn Hawkes for arranging a most enjoyable outing, to the incumbents for the use of their bells, and to E. W. P. for providing the light relief.

NAVIGATRESS.
Afterthought.-If E. W. P. really wants to know the route we took from Caerphilly to Ebbw Vale. a fortnight ago, the above-signed will be only to pleased to tell him. The shortest way it may not have been. but lost were we? Never! Indeed to goodness, no! -N .

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

Despite the counter attraction of 'open day at lacal R.A.F. stations, some 60 ringers altended the West Lindsey Branch meeting held at Messingham on September 17th. Evensong was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. P. M Freeman), who gave an interesting address in which he stressed the importance of ringing from the right motives.
Following tea in the Church Hall, a business meeting was presided over by the vice-president (Mr. C. H. Baker), when four new members were elected from Messingham. An application for membership from ringers at Dunholme was not accepted. Mr. J. M Blaikie proposing that this tower should first make a formal request to the Guild committee to be Iransferred from the Central Branch. The Secretary (Mr. G. L. A. Lunn) pointed out that an alteration to the existing boundary in the Dunholme area would result in a more equitable distribution of towets beiween the two branches

After votes of thanks. a return was made to the tower where ringing continued until 9 p.m.

A 'FIRST' IN A STAINES TOWER

The St. Peter's Guild of Ringers, Staines, scored a 'first' of a different sort on Septen)ber 10th, when the first marriage between members was solemnised at St. Peter's Church. The bridegroom was Mr. Edgar Thomas Skipsey, the popular assistant Ringing Master, and his bride Miss Jean Elizabeth Williams, the secretary/treasurer of the tower. The bridegroom is also an assistant Scoutmaster, and the bride has been a Sunday School teacher at St. Peter's for some years.
The Vicar (Rev. R. W. Carter) officiated at the choral service. The bride was given away by her father and was attended by four bridesmaids, who included her sister, Margaret, and the bridegroom's sister, Linda.

Ringing friends from Stanwell joined with St. Peter's ringers to celebrate in the traditional manner, and the bells were 'fired' as the bridal couple left the church.

A reception was held at the Anne Boleyn Hotel. after which the happy couple honeymooned at Torquay. The Guild presented the couple with a set of front door chimes

bUSHEY HEATH OUTING

An early start was made on September 17th by the Bushey Heath bellringers and friends for their outing to the Isle of Wight, which was reached by $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Four towers-Newport. Carisbrooke, Brading and Ryde - were visited. and ringing included rounds. Grandsire Triples. Stedman, Boh Major and Kent T.B.

After an enjoyable day the party returned by the $7.30 \mathrm{p.m}$. ferry, during which some members found to their discomfort that it is very unwise to sit on the windward side of a boat in a fairly choppy sea. A very tired and happy party arrived home at 12.15 am . Thanks are extended to all those who met us at the various towers.

OUTINGS  MARLBOROUGH BRANCH IN

 WYE VALLEYFavoured by a glorious spell of fine weather. the annual outing of the Marlborough Branch on September 24 th was an outstanding success The two coaches, one in charge of the popular secretary Arthur Palmer, and the other the no-less-popular chairman, George Newman, met at the rendezvous, Chisledon. after picking up their loads.
The objective was the Wye Valley, with Ross-on-Wye as the focal point. The morning ride through the Cotswolds and the magnificent view over Birdlip was much enjoyed to the first tower. Huntley, where touches of Grand sire and Bob Minor were safely negotiated. It was only a 15 -minute run to Longhope, and here we were greeted with the news that a wedding was to take place shortly. We duly greeted the blushing bride with our very best efforts. Incidentally, the churchyard at Longhope was the best any of the party had seen
After lunch at Ross, the ring of eight at Bridstow was our first objective. The journey resulted in Arthur's coach missing the route. but after retracing their path for two miles the tower was reached. Owing to local difficulties, ringing was not possible at Fay, but we were privileged to have a full afternoon at Bridstow, with touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Bob Minor and Grandsire Triples. Tea was taken at Ross, and we left at 6 p.m. for Weston-under-Penyard. A stiff climb from the main road was well rewarded by a beautifully-toned six (tenor 10 cwt .) hung on ball-bearings, and some delightful ringing was accomplished. It was not until 7.30 p.m. that we left on the homeward journey, with a stop at Cricklade for refreshments.
Our heartfelt thanks include not only incumbents and tower keepers but Mr. Swain, of Ross-on-Wye, for his excellent feeding and ringing arrangements.
W. A. E.

INTO N.W. OXFORDSHIRE

Ringers from Old Marston were joined by friends from St. Giles' and St. Aldate's. Oxford, Radley. Wolvercote, and Stanton (St. John's) for a half-day outing to the Chipping Norton Branch area on September 24th
Ringing started on the somewhat noisy bells of Enstone, where various Doubles methods as well as Plain Bob and Kent T.B. Minor were enjoyed. The huge tower at Spelsbury, with the bells hung in one corner, provided a novelty, and at Chadlington a good start was made with a very quick 120 Stedman Doubles. It was a hungry party that had tea at Chipping Norton and heard the last part of a very good peat of Plain Bob Major.
Before ringing at Great Roliright ( 10 cwt ), members of the party who were not courting visited the Rollright Stores. The bells are very lumpy and out of tune, and those ringing five and six had a very trying time until a local ringer mentioned that the bells had been rung up the wrong way. The last tower was Swerford (5), where the long draught presented a little difficulty to the beginners.
Methods rung during the day were Grandsire. Stedman. Reverse Si. Bartholomew, Reverse Canterbury and Plain Bob Doubles. Plain Bob and Kent T.B. Minor. Thanks are accorded the organisers, incumbents and tower captains.
E. R. V.

HUNITUN, DEVUN,-On Sept. 16th, 1.320 Plain Bob Minor: Jennifer Davies (Reading) 1. Helen Nevin (Southampton) 2, B. Grainger (Nottingham) 3, F. Sage (Reading) 4, A. Y. Griffin (Cambridge) 5, J. R. Taylor (Cambridge, cond.) 6. Rung by members of the Universities' Association camping in Devor.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BOND'S BASHERS

Dear Sir,-As one of the participants in this year's tour of the St. Christopher's Society, I feel that the above title, applied to our party by Robin Leale in his article on page 644, is far from justified. It should be mentioned that none of the local ringers we met in Cumberland complained of any poor ringing on our part: if any such remarks were made behind our backs,' then surely such criticism is not worthy of notice.
We also took tape-recordings of our ringing on the tour which will show that we did not bash -unlike those who rang in the peal at Crosthwaite. apparently!
I look forward to our tour next year with plenty more good ringing, and hope'Mr. Leale's party will be equally fortunate. - Yours sincerely,
Lee, S.E. 12 .
IAN H. ORAM.

Dear Sir,-The term 'Bond's Bashers' in the account of a Lake District and North East tour in this week's 'Ringing World ' is, I strongly suspect. R. L. 's quip and not that of anyone on the spot. If he had known I was the rabbit of the party so opprobriously referred to, he could have indulged his alliterative leanings in the singular. I will say this, that I heard other members of our party in some of the best striking I have had the pleasure of listening to.
But the crux of the matter seems to me to be in the next phrase. We have a saying up here that 'too much of owt's good for nowt.' A well-struck peal is pure delight to ringers. cither performing or listening (so far, I've only listened), but from my observations and inquiries it is 100 much for most people, and I should be surprised. therefore, if R. L. and his friends, however good their performances. left behind a better impression than we did, for a successful quarter at Inverness was our longest attempt.
I count it a privilege to have been invited to tour with Peter Bond and his friends, who are now more to me than names in "The Ringing World.' My car is at their disposal for future occasions, and I hope to repay their unselfish help and do better next time.
There is a reference to the fine ring here on the next page to his account, and if ever R. L. comes to try it I shall be honoured to join him in a touch of Plain Bob or Grandsire. In the meantime he can count me a Bondsman. -Yours sincerely.
A. BASHFORTH.

Kirby Wiske, Yorks.

'FIRING' AT WINCHESTER

Dear Sir,-I remember the touring party mentioned in Mr. Brain's letter coming ta Winchester Cathedral on August 4th a few years ago. The late Mr. Lampard wrote to Mr. Brain. the leader, saying we had to ring the Cathedral bells for a royal birthday that morning at 9.15 and that the Cathedral band would carry out this duty, and after that the visitors would be free to ring until the time of the service at $10.25 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. The visitors took over with one or two locals to help. and all 12 bells were rung. No long and disgruntled faces were seen!

We have never had any complaints about the 'firing of bells for royal birthdays. In Winchester we have to do as we are told, so I expect the 'firing will continue.-Yours truly.

Winchester.

FIRING, OF BELLS

Dear Sir,-When I lived in the shadow of Winchester Cathedral I considered it an honour to be invited to take part in early morning ringing on occasions of national rejoicing. Firing notwithstanding. the reaction of my neighbours whose bedrooms fronted the Cathedral green. was: "Bells? we never hear them."

What, in passing is wrong with local custom? It will be a dreary day when statutory orders are issued by a central authority, and birds of passage like myself have to produce their certificates of competency to ring.
I am. sir, yours faithfully.
J. MERRITT, Lt.-Cdr., R.N. H.M.S. 'Lion.

A QUESTION OF COMPOSITION

Dear Sir.-I was very interested to learn another criterion for determining the originality of a composition (see page (643).

I should be even more interested to know how a composition which contains the whole of the courses headed by 26543 and 23456. for instance (as does the 5.152 Osgathorpe). can be true to methods having 26543 as a f.c.h. -Yours faithfully.

ANTONY T. CLEAVER.

A BEDFORDSHIRE WEEK-END IN SOMERSET

At 5 a.m.. on September 17th, ten enthusiastic ringers from Bedfordshire set out for what was to prove a most enjoyable tour of Somerset.
Reaching Evercreech a little before 10 o'clock. the main party were joined by the Hertfordshire contingent of three, who had travelled overnight, and Philip Mehew, who probably has a magic carpet - he always seems to turn up when there is any ringing to be had!
The pleasant ring of ten at Evercreech made a suitable beginning to a splendid day's ringing. A short journey brought us to Chewton Mendip. where the very tuneful ring of eight was a real delight. Next came Chew Magna (8) and Wrington (10) before tea at Yatton, followed by an hour's ringing on the fine eight bells of St. Mary's Church (where the oldest bell, the seventh. has been in service for 509 years!) and the last tower of the day, Long Ashton.
Throughout the day a good standard of ringing was maintained, and if there were moments when things didn't go quite as they might have done amends were made by some quite immaculate touches, notably the Yorkshire at Chewton Mendip and the 5 -spliced at Yatton. It was a real pleasure to have 9 few local ringers join us for an occasional touch.

Saturday night was spent at Bristol where thanks to the co-operation of Mr. D. J. Hunt. excellent accommodation had been reserved. and on Sunday morning our attentions were divided between Si. Mary's. Redcliffe. Bristol Cathedral and St. Stephen's. Some of us were also privileged to have a pull at St . George's before leaving Bristol (again. thanks to the good offices of Mr. Hunt).
The return journey was completed in sum-mer-like conditions. Somerset will be remembered for its beautiful scenery. its noble churches and its fine bells. and above all for churches and its splendid hospitality: and our sincere thanks are due to the incumbents and local ringers who gave us such a hearty welcome. For a splendidly arranged trip. our sincere thanks are extended to the organiser, Ron Sharp

SCHONBERG AND RINGING

Dear Sir. - The reported comparison by an American professor of change-ringing with the 12-note music of Schonberg and his followers ('R.W.', page 643) is interesting but founded upon a misunderstanding.

Schonbergs method of composition invalves the use of all 12 notes of the chromatic scale (on the piano, all 12 notes, black and white. within an octave). These notes are arranged by the composer in an arbitrary order (a socalled note-row'). A piece of music consists of repetitions of the chosen note-row. which is subject to variation only in pitch. rhythm. or by some of its notes being combined into chords. The 1? notes must always be played in the same order or in one of two closely related orders, in which the row is either inverted or reversed.
Change-ringing shares with 12 -note music the principle that each note must sound once only in each change (or repetition of the noterow), but it is based on a quite different idea. Whereas in 12 -ncte music the order of the notes is fixed and the pitch and rhythm varies. in change-ringing the pitch and (we hope) the rhythm is fixed, and the only variation is in the order of the notes; to ring according to Schonberg's theories would involve restricting the number of changes used to four which are closely related, while varying the striking and including - firing. A further point of contrast is that whereas 12 -note music is always based on the notes of the chromatic scale, each note being accorded equal importance with is fellows, change-ringing is based on a diatonic scale which may fall short of or overshoot the octave mark according to the number of bells. and in which. as in diatonic music generally. the botiom (tonic) note is of prime importance. The praiseworthy efforts of the Leicester Cathedral band should certainly settle the argument. but not. I fear. in Professor Price's favour.-Yours, ctc

B.B.C. AND BELL RINGING

The following letter has been sent to Mr . Roy McKay, Secretary. Head of Religious Broadcasting, Central Religious Advisory Committee.

Dear Sir,-To all bell ringers-and thousands of listeners-the most nauseating announcement of any week must be the bland announcement: Out of over 40 t hours of broadcasting, there might be some items you have missed, or would like to hear again.

Yes, out of the 400 hours of some utter bilge. many would like to hear something more than five seconds' two whole pulls and a half pull-five whole seconds-of those lovely bells of Ashbourne Church last Sunday, the nicest music in existence-bell music.
The five seconds was a sheer insult to the producer's intelligence, and to the ringers, after so much preparation.
The message of the belts is just as important as any other part of the service. Can you wonder that people get not only annoyed but thoroughly disgusted? - Yours sincerely. Crewe.

PEAL FALSE

Dear Sir,-I regret to say that the peal of New Cambridge Surprise Major on page 616 is false. As the note states, it is true 10 methods with F.C.E.'s 24365 and 43265: 43265 is always associated with 32465 , and this composiion is only true with a very limited class of methods with this F.C.E. New Cambridge is not one of them.- Yours sincerely.

ST. CHRISTOPHER'S SOCIETY TOUR

SIXTEEN ringers from eight counties made up this year's party for a tour of the North of England and Scotland during the first fortnight of August
The official assembling point was Kirkby Lonsdale, Westmorland, on the evening of Saturday, July 30th. However, on the way up several of the party had a pull at Leigh, Lancs, and at Westhoughton and Blackrod. Ringing at Kirkby Lonsdale was considerably curtailed as the tenor clapper fell out in the first touch but fortunately the necessary tools were available to enable it to be replaced; those not ringing found a very interesting church to occupy them.
After a stormy night Sunday dawned bright, and saw us ringing for morning service at Crosthwaite and after Matins at Bowness, where a rope had to be spliced. A long cross country run followed, eventually bringing us to Orton, having a good Taylor eight: regrettably, there is no local band here, but this is an ideal tower for peals as the bells are very quiet outside. A notable feature in the church is three old bells, dated 1637, resting on the old wooden frame. Ringing for Evensong was on the octave at Kirkby Stephen, and the final call for the day was Appleby, where the guides provided some awkward moments

BELLS WORDSWORTH HEARD
Bank Holiday Monday's first tower was Shap, having a light six with a very low ring ing room ceiling. Bampton's five gave several of the party their first encounter with 'Yorkshire tail-ends' which, with extremely long ropes, made ringing rather tricky. The Church of St. Andrew, Penrith, is built on Classical lines: the tower contains a good eight (tenor $18 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), on which a course of London was brought round. After lunch, a trip out to the remote, fortress-type tower of Great Salkeld where the fine-toned six are somewhat odd struck. Returning westwards. we came to 'the other ' Crosthwaite, just outside Keswick: a pleasant Warner eight rung from the ground floor. A very scenic ride then took us to Grasmere, where we rang the three bells that Wordsworth is reputed to have heard. Many offers have been made to have these increased but all have been refused for sentimental reasons.

Several of the party were able to 'complete Westmorland at Langdale; then back into Lancashire for a most enjoyable pull on the recently-augmented ring at Hawkshead. Ulverston (6) was the first call next morning, and York Minor was achieved. The Warner eight at Barrow need a lot of ringing, due to 'tower wobble, "but most of the touches were respectable. Having answered the call of the inner man, two very good Taylor rings were to be found at Kirkby Ireleth and Broughton-in Furness. Re-entering Cumberland, we visited the good $13 t$ cwt. Warner six hanging in the central tower of Millom, and concluded the day on the 'musical box' at Egremont.

SILLOTH BELLS SELDOM RUNG
Due to some error, we arrived at St. Bees the following day the same time as Pipe's Pilgrims; however, all was resolved satisfactorily, and we enjoyed both the bells and the fine Priory church. Three Taylor occtaves ensued: Cleator Moor, Hensingham and Arlec don. Bill Stote joined us for the day at Cleator Moor, where a course of Rutland was rendered on this majestic $21 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$. ring. We were met at Cockermouth by Roger Wettenhall, who joined us on the pleasant Mears ring, before we adjourned for tea. For a change, a 6-bell tower followed at Bridekirk. The ground floor eighl at Aspatria produced mixed feelings, and certainly a mixture of methods, among them Duffield, Grandsire Major and St. Simon's Triples! One more call that day-Silloth: the bells had not been rung for quite a few years, but fortunately Pipe's Pilgrims had visited the tower earlier in the day and carried out one or two repairs, so that we only had to put five ropes on.
Thursday was our last day in Cumberland and included a visit to Thursby, where we were entertained to tea and biscuits by the Rector and his wife: it is hoped to have the six bells rehung in the near future. St. Stephen's, Carlisle, bells are rather tricky to ring as they hang in two tiers, with considerable movement in the top tier. An excellent lunch was enjoyed before the long climb to the belfry of Carlisle Cathedral: it is advisable to have the seventh up wrong here. Our final call in England for the day was Brampton, where the bells have recently been rehung by Mears and Stainbank. The night was to be spent in Kilmarnock, and en route the inevitable visit was paid to the blacksmith's shop at Gretna Green!

GRAND SCOTTISH SCENERY AND BELLS

Our arrival in Scotland caused a drastic reduction in numbers of towers, but this was made up to some extent by being able to admire the scenery and visit more places of interest on the journey without the plaintive cry of "We're late!' The first ring in Scotland was at Glasgow's Episcopal Cathedral: here there is a noble 32 cwt. Taylor ten, which must surely rank as one of the best rings for its weight in existence. Mr. Stafford, the local secretary, and the Provost met us after our ring here and expressed pleasure at our visit.
Several miles away is Paisley, and at St James' Kirk there is a grand Taylor eight, spoilt only by being hung rather high up causing the tower to rock. The physical effort of ringing here was more than rewarded by the music of this 22 cwt . ring, which some compared with Chewton Mendip. The secretary of the ringers here, Mrs. Caldwell, and her husband then entertained us to a really mag. nificent meal, which will be remembered for many years to come. A moonlit drive along the shores of Loch Lomond brought us to our halt for the night at Arrochar

The drive on Saturday morning to our one and only tower was extremely picturesque. The one tower was the famous one of Inveraray; the last time these bells $\left(10,41 \frac{1}{2}\right.$ cwt.) were heard was in a peal several years ago. The bells hang in a detached tower buil by one of the Dukes of Argyll, and we had to fit our own ropes before ringing. This ring is one of Taylor's masterpieces, both for tone and' 'go,' but what a tragedy that they're not rung.

A QUARTER PEAL AT INVERNESS
Sunday morning saw most of the party at the Episcopal Church in Fort William, which has four bells hung for ringing. Then a drive along the side of Loch Ness to bring us to Inverness, whose Cathedral stands northsouth. These bells have no local band either, and were last rung three years ago by a visit ing team from Edinburgh: the octave (tenor 20 cwt .) is by Warner and not noteworthy. A quarter peal of Yorkshire was rung for Even song (see 'R.W.', page 575) and we rang again after the service, and were pleased to welcome a visitor from Hugglescote, Leics.
Monday must have been unique in ringing ours-no towers at all! Back to normal next day, commencing with the two Dundee eights both from the Whitechapel Foundry. The Old Steeple is unusual, for here there are three churches under one roof. Alloa's lighter octave is a little odd-struck, and another Taylor ring was enjoyed at Dunblane: here the bells (tenor 243 cwt.) were originally hung for chiming only, but in 1952 were converted to a ringing ring. Unfortunately our time here was curtailed by faulty chime hammers.
Our final day in Scotland found us descending on Edinburgh, with a pull first on the Mears octave at Leith, which are badly in need of attention. After driving along famous Princes Street. we reached the Classical style Church of St. Cuthbert. where a fine Taylor octave sounded well in a variety of touches. Another Taylor ring at St. Marv's Episcopal Cathedral, with Mr. Raine waiting to greet us: we found this 41 cwt . ten very disappointing in the tower, but certainly better outside The final much-awaited call was to Fettes College ( $5,2 \frac{1}{6}$ cwt.): numerous extents of Doubles were sampled, once we had accustomed ourselves to the 'front end.' The bells hang in a small turret and are completely open to the elements, and can be seen from outside in the grounds; half of the ringing chamber fioor folds back to reveal a staircase.

MORPETH'S 'MUSICAL BOX

We started our onslaught on Northumber land on August llth, commencing at historic Bamburgh, where the tower ascent is by a square spiral.' Embleton was reached with gratitudo by the 6 -bell ringers-our first six for a whole week-and the fortified. vicarage noted On exploring the tower at Alnwick the bells were found to be in a deplorable condition: we hope it will not be long before they are re hung. It took us half-an-hour to find the tower key at Rothbury. Great pleasure was derived from another Taylor ' musical box' at Morpeth Watch Tower, where Miss Armstrong made us very welcome. What a pity the bells of Hexham Abbey are not as good as the church! However, to make up for this we journeyed out to Allendale, with a jolly 10 cwt Taylor peal, where a new band is in training
Friday's first call was to Newburn-on-Tyne where the jovial Vicar greeted us. We again had a long wait for a key-at Gosforth (a noble ten) before visiting another ten at North Shields. Two more Taylor rings at Whitley Bay, home of the well-known Gofton family, and here we were joined by David Vincent, on holiday in the area: and the good, heavy six at Cramlington. Alan Ainsworth met us at the only 12 of the tour, but unfortunately we were not capable of any methods on the 12 . Blaydon-on-Tyne has six bells by Blews, and we also visited South Shields ( $8,9 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.). Congratulations to the Durham and Newcastle Association for getting Jarrow bells going again-a Warner six beneath a truncated spire. A fine Gillett ten at Roker's modern church preceded our visit to the collegiate church of Chester-le-Street, to be met by Denis Bayles and some of the local band: a good 19 cwt . octave here. Houghton-le-Spring (8, 12 cwt .), having an interesting church, concluded the day's activities.
LONG CLIMB AT DURHAM CATHEDRAL Saturday was our last full day: all three towers in West Hartlepool were on the programme. the best being St. Aidan's 14 cwt . octave, though the ten at St. Oswald's Church sound well rung at speed. After lunch, a short pull at Heighington; then to Gillett's bells at Bishop Auckland, which are in need of attention. A long cross-country drive brought us o the industrial district of Consett-quite a fair course of Bristol here-and thence to Blackhill. First to the R.C. Church (a good Taylor eight, tenor 16 cw .), then a pull at Benfieldside, thanks to Chris Lamb, the District secretary, before returning to St. Aidan's, Blackhill, where the ringing chamber is approached by a vertical wooden ladder. The Norman chancel arch was noted at Lanchester (a tuneful six of various dates), and lastly Tanfield, renowned for its cricket matches. where Kenneth Cheeseman met us.
Sunday morning ringing was at St. Nicholas*. Durham, and Brancepeth, a fine church in a park, where the party stayed to Matins. A special treat awaited us in the afternoonringing for Evensong at Durham Cathedral (8, 30 cwt .): while the bells are an old ring of average tone, the opportunity of a ring here is rather rare. The bells hang right at the top of the central tower (a climb of some 250 steps) of this magnificent cathedral, so that the tower sway is considerable: however, several good. short touches were achieved. Moving south, a visit was paid to Northallerton, where a scheme is afoot to rehang the bells: and a last call at Kirby Wiske. having enjoyed an excellent tea s guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bashforth.
So ended another year's tour, and certainly was extremely successful. The bulk of the organisation was in the capable hands of Clive Smith, while John Allen arranged most of the accommodation. To them our grateful thanks: and many thanks also to all the incumbents and tower captains, and especially a word of appreciation for the generous hospitality extended by the Caldwells at Paisley and the Bashforths at Kirby Wiske.

Thank you, everyone, for a grand tour!

'TANFIELD,' 1960

In country churches old and pale 1 hear the changes smoothly rung And watch the coloured sallies fly From rugged hands to rafters high As round and back the bells are swung. 'Church of England Thoughts, -Jahn Betjeman.

sUCH similar thoughts were in the minds of many visitors at the fourth of this series of revived meetings of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association on July 16th, when the cricket match-President's XI versus Vicar of Tanfield's XI-was played on the old village cricket ground for the last time. Before next year's game, the field will have been sacrificed to the insatiable demands of the house builders. and yet another tradition will have been lost to posterity in the cause of progress.
Under the captaincy of the new president (Mr. T. Cooke) the visiting team had a distinctly 'southern' look this year, while the Vicar's team reflected a more northern flavour than usual. While umpires G. Wall and F. W. Cooke went to the wicket, and scorer Master Tom Wright took up his stand, the captains tossed for innings, and on making the correct call the Vicar elected to bat first. The home side made a good start with some sparkling batting by Errington, but when the first wicket fell at 17 the good work was not maintained, and the side was all out for 37 runs in 18 overs.

During this innings, most appropriate background music was provided by a voluntary on the chiming bells of nearby Stanley Parish Church. Whether this had been specially arranged by the Vicar of Tanfield to divert the attention of his opponents has not been confirmed!

At the interval between innings, the mobile shop of Maison Lea was much appreciated by the spectators, and Monsieur Charles was kept busy distributing orange slices to the two teams. Incidentally, the proceeds of this little venture netted $£ f$, which was donated to the new Education Fund of the Association
The president's team then went in to bat fult of confidence, but were shocked by a keen attack, which brought about the fall of the first four wickets for only 11 runs. The ninth wicket fell with the total at 33, and victory lay in the grasp of the Vicar for the first time. Then a dark horse from Yorkshire came in and like a worthy 'tyke' commenced some lusty hitting, which produced a winning hie with a 'six' into the garden of mine host of the Peacock. Thus once again the "ashes? were snatched from the hands of the home side.
Following a sumptuous tea, served by Mrs. K. W. Cheeseman and her helpers in the Vicarage, the president voiced the thanks of all present to the Vicar (Rev. R. Race) and Mr. K. W. Cheeseman for their efforts in planning the arrangements once again, and to the umpires, scorer and lady helpers for their respective services. He also wished the Vicar better luck next time in his attempt to win the trophy. The Vicar suitably replied and extended a welcome to all for next year's event.

As is now the custom, the ringing side of the programme followed, and the eight bells of St. Margaret's Church were smoothly rung to a variety of methods, under the direction of the Ringing Master (Mr. K. Arthur), while a handhell contingent made music in a room at the Vicarage. Finally, those of a reminiscent frame of mind made an adjournment to the Peacock, where past glories of cricket and ringing were replayed and rerung

IN MEMORIAM-JOHN THOMAS

May I say how grateful we are to our visitors for the beautiful ringing which preceded this service. It is almost two years to the day since Mr. John Thomas died in this belfry. and we are glad to welcome his widow, loved ones and ringing friends, who have come here to remember one who dedicated his life to, and did so much for, the noble art.
Such were the words used by the Rev. H. F. Heal, Vicar of Painswick, to a large congregation at Evensong on September 18th. The visiting ringers consisted of nine members of the Hinton-on-the-Green band with two friends. and a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters was rung, with Miss V. Barnes and Wm. J. Newman scoring their first quarter on ten tower bells and the latter his first as conductor.
The band was: Miss V. Barnes 1. Mrs. J. Thomas 2, Mrs. P. Harris 3. R. Harris 4. H. F. Raxter 5, J. D. Johnson 6. Wm. J. Newman (conductor) 7, P Harris 8, J. E. Newman 9 and H. Plumb 10 .

The ringing concluded with a plain course of Grandsire Caters, with Richard Newman making his first acquaintance with ten bells, and the falling of the ten bells in peal.
Once again, our gratitude to the Vicar and local ringers at Painswick for the welcome and the privilege.

OBITUARY

MR. LUTHER J. HONESS

With deep regret we record the death of Mr. Luther 3. Honess at Pembury Hospital, on September 28th. after a stroke, at the age of 79 years.
He came to East Peckham 30 years ago. writes T. S., and was a regular Sunday service ringer until a short time ago. Luther made many friends in the Tonbridge and Maidstone districts and hild been a member of the Kent County Association for over 50 years. He had rung some 250 peals. of which we had rung 150 together and was always willing to help a learner through his first peal.

I shall miss my old friend very much as during the past year, when well enough, he came over from Hadlow, where he had been living with his daughter. to spend the day with me.
The funeral took place on October 1st, at Boughton Monchelsea. near Maidstone. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside on handhells by F. S. Macey $1-2$, T. E. Sone $3-4$. W. Dobbie $5-6$. Mrs. W .
Dobbie $7-8$. Others present included Mr . and Mrs. W. R. Manser, J. T. Medhurst and myself (T. Saunders) to pay a last tribute to a true and faithful friend.

CANON H. V. WILLIAMS

The many friends of Canon H. V. Williams were distressed to hear that he had passed away in Leicester Royal Infirmary, where he was admitted eight weeks previously, at the age of 72 .
During his ministry in the Leicester Diocese he had served at Hugglescote, Hinckley. Earl Shilton. St. John-the-Divine (Leicester). Countesthorpe. Barwell and Buckminster, where he continued to live after his retirement in 1958.

Perhaps it is no coincidence that all these towers. during Canon Williams ministry, were renowned for their high standard of ringing and loyalty, for he was keenly interested in all ringing activities. and could be relied upon to expound with no little knowledge and with a fine sense of humour upon the art of campanology, wherever ringers were gathered sogether.
He will be remembered with affection, as a wise friend and counsellor. by all who knew him as a parish priest, as he will also be remembered with gratitude by the wider public. who had benefited through his theological insight, both in meeting house and pulpit.

MR. CHARLES GALE

A ringer of 60 years' standing. Mr. Charles Gale. has died. For the past three years he had been a member of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. ringing at Wyke Regis. Weymouth. He started ringing with the Little Munden Society of the Herts County Association.
To inis memory a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Faith's Church. Havant, on September 25th. The band was Margaret E. Jones 1. David S. M. Jones 2. Henry Allberry 3. Geoffrey Miles 4. Morgan Marshall 5, James Hasted 6, Alan Sturgess (cond.) 7. Norman Bridger 8.

CRAWFORD CUP CONTEST

The contest for the Crawford Cup took place at Babworth on September 10th. Five teams took part. being Warsop. Sutton-onTrent. Ordsall. Bawtry and West Retford. The judges were Messrs. H. Chant and J. P. Fidler. and the test piece 360 changes.
Fifty ringers and friends attended and tea was had in relays in the school. The judges gave the result as follows: Ordsall. 94 faults: Sutton-on-Trent. 121: Warsop.
Retford, 294, and Bawtry. 153.
The cup was presented to Mr. F. Flint. of Warsop. hy the Rev. E. F. Jessup. Vicar of Babworth.
It was decided to visit Worksop on Novemher 12 th, with the consent of the Vicar and invite the Chesterfield District to join. Five non-resident members and two from Misson were elected. The Bell Fund collection was f 13 s . The usual votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar, judges and ladies for providing tea and ringing again took place until 8.30 p.m.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The Eastern Branch was able to have a full scale ringing meeting at St. Margaret's, Lowestoft. for the first time in 21 years, when the members went there on September 17 th.
The distance from the church to any suitable meeting place was too great hitherto, but a most helpful suggestion from the Rector, Rev. W. Westwood, and the kindness of Sister Riley, in charge of the nearby Church Army Home, resulted in a wonderful tea being provided in very pleasant surroundings.

The service was conducted by the Rector and the meeting was presided over by the branch chairman, Mr. E. R. Goate, and the ringing arrangements were in the charge of the branch Ringing Master, Miss D. E. Lidbetter. Miss Marion Cook, of Pakefield, was elected to ringing membership of the Association.

The venue for the next meeting, on December 3 rd , is Gorleston.
The members were very pleased to see the Association president, Mr. Nolan Golden, at the meeting after his recent illness and he in turn thanked them for their many good wishes when he was in hospital. The secretary was asked to write to Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Barrett to congratulate them on their silver wedding anniversary.

Yotes of thanks were accorded the Rector. Mr. Mitchell the organist. Mr. Coleman the local captain and Sister Riley and her staff for the many ways in which they each helped to make the meeting such a success.
A well-deserved collection was taken and donated to the Church Army Home.

MR. GEORGE GILBERT

TTHE death of George Gilbert, of Burnham, has removed a great personality from ringing circles, and the Oxford Diocesan Guild has sustained a severe loss. Ever an individualist, George Gilbert made clear his views on politics, High Church practices and the Central Council's decisions regarding methods. He was a staunch Conservative. He abhorred Anglo-Catholic ritual and would not ring for the monthly Sung Eucharist service but only for what he termed the Church of England services (Matins and Evensong), which he regularly attended.

He believed in ringing what he liked, especially if the method served a useful purpose, and frequently declared that the methods experts ruled out methods without Plain Bob lead-ends because they were lost when ringing them! We did not agree with all George preached, but much of his argument was based on common sense.

A master of teaching youngsters, George used methods systematically. For instance, he taught Plain Bob, then Reverse Canterbury because it contains Kent places; thus leading his pupils into Treble Bob. As he had no time for ringers with exalted opinions of themselves, he kept his pupils from Surprise ringing because he felt so many young ringers considered they were in a select class once they. could ring Cambridge Surprise and, as Wilfrid Wilson says, 'never looked back' but rather 'looked down' on those who were not Surprise ringers. He probably recruited and trained more young ringers than any Oxford Guild instructor, especially ladies, as he always declared that it was a waste of time training lads who would most probably be lost to ringing when claimed by National Service demands.

A former sergeant-major in the R.E.'s, he was a martinet in the belfry. Two examples will suffice from the writer's experience. One practice night a stranger walked into his practice at Burnham, immediately doffed his jacket and took a rope. 'You can put your coat back on,' said George, 'and ring when you're invited to.' George once arranged a seven-method peal of Minor for a young lady ringer to score her first in seven methods. Towards the end of the fifth extent George rebuked one young ringer for bad striking-he had actually missed a dodge! -- and the victim retaliated by criticising George. 'Stand!' yelled George. 'That will teach you to keep your mouth shut.' The tragedy was that George had been clipping. as latterly he had grown rather deaf, but when he rang on a noisy ring of bells his striking was immaculate.

Having done so much peal ringing in his earlier days with Alfred Pulling, he knew what 'good striking' really meant, and insisted on it. He was far more concerned about perfect striking than advancement in method ringing, and his pupils progressed slowly but certainly accurately. Although he often offended people by his brusqueness, they all recognised that he was out for the best only, and would not be satisfied with less, and he was respected for it. Had this not been so, he would not have built up the bands at Burnham which, just before and after the war, were among the best in the Oxford Diocese.

Ringing was almost his whole existence. How he worked till he achieved his objective in providing Burnham with a new ring of eight, when the church also had to have a new organ, a new roof and a new floor! How pleased he was when some youngster rang his or her first peal. or first in a method under his guidance, sometimes being rewarded with a kiss if a lady. How greatly was a meeting enlivened when he was on his feet. How loyally and enthusiastically he supported the 'Cumberlands,' and how many members he gained for that Society. How generous he always was, and how he disliked 'spongers.' How much we learned of the ringers of long ago over a pint of beer. How we listened to his stories, as if we had never heard him relate them before! How he hated fast ring-ing-he always said that a bad ringer could not ring properly slowly, and he made his pupils ring wide.
And now George Gilbert has gone, but there are many left who will remember him for the rest of their ringing career, as they have all something to thank him for. Despite his eccentricities he was indeed a true servant of the Exercise, and gave an inspired example of selfless devofion to our Art and its pursuit at the highest level. Night after night he would cycle miles to help struggling bands on their practice nights. When he saw a tower ' getting on its feet' he would desert it for some other where there was a greater need of help. He must have spent pounds on taking youngsters to meetings or arranging peals for them. Little wonder that, as his young lassies at Barnham took their last look at his coffin, many a tear fell, as they had indeed lost a devoted ringing 'father.'
The highest tribute actually came from his Vicar when, at the funeral service, he said George Gilbert always gave the bells an exaggerated importance. George believed in their importance, and ever strove to make his an example to his Guild and their ringers dedicated people.
May his shining example long live on and inspire: us who are left to 'Go, and do likewise.'

PALUDIAN.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Dorchester Branch

The autumn meeting of the Dorchester Branch was held at Lition Cheney on September 17th where 30 members had a most enjoyable time. The service was conducted by the Rector (ihe Rev. A. Lynch), who gave a most inspiring address on the old characteristics of English life compared with that on the Continent and said what he missed most of all was the ringing of church bells.
Following tea, which was generously given by parishioners. the meeting was conducted by the chairman. the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth. The next meeting (annual) will be held on January 21st at St. Peter's, Dorchester. Practice meetings were suggested as follows: - Leigh, Piddletrenthide, Litton Cheney. Frampton, Upwey, Wyke Regis, Fordington, at fortnightly intervals commencing October 8th.
The Branch promised to help Rev. A. Lynch and Litton Cheney members to re-form their band, and to give them all the help and instruction possible.
The chairman extended a vote of thanks to the Rector. the ladies who served tea, and all who helped to make the meeting such al success.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The autumn quarterly meeting of the Eastern district was held at York on October Ist. when about 30 ringers from 14 towers were present. Members attended choral Evensong at the Minster, and an excellent tea was served in the Railway Institute.
Mr. A. E. Sellers (vice-president) presided at the business meeting when Mr. Alan Sheppard (Sherburn-in-Elmet) and Miss Sheila James (Hull) were elected members. Pocklington was selected for the next meeting. To the vote of thanks. the Rev. A. J. McMuller (precentor at the Minster) and Mr. H. Walker replied.

JOINT MEETING AT WEST WICKHAM

It was the turn of the Lewisham District of the Kent County Association to be hosts for the annual joint meeting with the Northern District of the Surrey Association. The venue chosen was West Wickham and a most fortunate choice it proved for the afternoon was sunny, thus showing the setting of the church to best advantage. Those who had not rung at the tower before found the bells to be as at the tower betore found the bells to be as good as reputed, and methods from Ringing, which was under the charge of Mr. Ian Oram, was followed by the K.C.A. Service form led by the curate, after which tea was served in nearby Coney Hall. For this was served in nearby Coney He the west Wickham ringers and the tea was rather unusual in that it had been prepared by the gentlemen. After the usual votes of thanks a return was made to the tower where more ringing was enjoyed by all. The large and representative contingent from Surrey look forward to being hosts as successfully at next year's meeting.

Western District

The Western District of the Ladies' Guild held their annual outing on Sepiember 10th. A departure was made from the usual custom of hiring a coach and several members kindly made their cars available, an experiment which made their cars available, an proved to be very successful.

Ringing took place in four towers:-Evercreech. Shepton Mallet, Wedmore and Rowberrow, and a pienic tea was taken en route. Thanks are due to those friends who so efficiently organised in record time a never efficiently organised in record time

During the afternoon members were joined by friends from the Swindon area and also visitors from London and Halifax. Our thanks go to all those who met us at the various towers, and to the incumbents who made their bells available.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

A very successful meeting of the S.W. Branch was held at Modbury on September 24 th , when about 30 ringers assembled to ring Grandsire. Stedman. Kent and Cambridge on the very fine heavy ring of six bells ( $17 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.).
Those present included the president of the Guild (Prebendary Cox), and a number of friends from the N. and N.W. Branches of the Guild, atso two holiday-makers, one from Kent and the other from King's Lynn.

Ringing was under the direction of the Ringing Master (Mr. T. G. Myers), of St. Andrew's, Plymouth. The short business meeting was presided over by the chairman, (Mr. H. H. Thomas). Emmanuel. Plymouth. Ringing continued until about 8.30 , the Vicar giving us his kind permission to ring as long as we wished.
The annual meeting of the branch will be held on January 28th at Lifton, if circumstances permit.

The ringers of the Church of St. Mary, Stafford, paid a compliment to their head ringer and his wife Mr BELFRY 1. Warriow, by ringing 1,350 K Mrs. Richard on the occasion of their silver weddin. Royal of the band-Messrs. F. R. Wiggins and A. E. Garbelt-took part in 1.260 Grandsire Triples rung on their wedding day in 1935 .
Congratulations to Mr . Wm. Love, general secretary and treasurer of the Norwich Diocesan, on ringing his 100 th peal.
Mr. J. E. Jeater has received a cheque for 3/- drawn on Lloyds Bank, Soham. Cambs, without a signature or other means of identification. Will the sender please apply to the editor for its return.
A novel experience of Hanbury, Worcs. ringers during their outing to the Forest of Dean was ringing by candlelight at St. Mary's Church. Litton. All agreed that the lovely new six were the best bells of the day
There was an amusing incident at the Leeds and District Society's meeting at Drighlington on October 1st. when a gentleman from Newcastle wandered in He had been obviously celebrating and his remarks conveyed that he thought all ringers were a grand lot.
The band who rang in the peal of Spliced Surprise Royal at Evesham on October 1st regret that they were unable to inform a wellknown Birmingham 'listener to peals' of their intention to ring in the morning. He was most disappointed to learn that the peal had been rung when he arrived.
David Eames (15), the young vice-caplain at Church Gresley, Derbyshire. was commended by the other ringers on his skilful handling of the 30 cwt . tenor at St. Neots. Hunts. which he covered to a quarter of Plain Bob Triples, mairtaining a good steady beat with no apparent difficulty. It was his first on eight and he felt he would be safer 'behind.' an opinion which was justified by his performance. A week later he covered 1.260 Doubles on the 28 cwt . tenor of the fine six at Hoar Cross, Staffs, again an immaculate performance.

GOSSIP

 The Rev. G. M. P. Hamilton. Religious Broadcasting Organiser, North Region, has sent the following reply to Mr. W. F. Stenson. of Crewe, regarding his protest over the broadcast of Ashbourne bells (see page 675) :-- Dear Mr. Stenson,- Thank you for your letter. I am sorry you felt so strongly about the bells at Ashbourne Parish Church. All good wishes.Miss Joan Beresford is climbing the psal ladder. She rang her 300 th during Mr. T. J. Lock's Oxfordshire tour. During the tour Mr. Wm. Rogers also rang his 300 th .
There was a happy gathering after the peal at Walsall on October 1st, in honour of the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hughes. At the 'celebration' party the toasit Best wishes for the next 25 years of wedded bliss' was drunk with enthusiasm.
The peal at Fulbeck, Lincs, on September 24th was a special occasion as it marked the 56th anniversary of the first peal on the bells. Participating were two of the ringers of that first peal band-Mr. George Scott, now 83. and Mr. Harry Barnes. They both put up a fine performance.
Buckfast Abbey bells were solemnly blessed on September 29th. 1910. To mark the 50 ih anniversary the monks rang ten bells to call changes in the morning of September 29th and again in the evening of the same day. A peal attempt of Plain Bob Triples had been arranged for Oclober 1st further to mark the occasion, but due to the indisposition of one of the Abbey band a quarter peal had to suffice.

Mr. Brian G. Warwick writes that in connection with the report of the Leicester Diocesan Guild quarterly meeting on page 661, he had been asked by Mr. Sidney Harrison, of St John-the-Divine's. Leicester, to state that the motion that The Guild ask the Ceniral Council NOT to recognise peals of Minimus' was not proposed by him but by Mr. Colin Harrison. of Loughhorough.

MR. T. J. LOCK'S OXON TOUR

AFELY forecasting that there would be no heat wave during the first week in September and knowing that travelling would involve only relatively short distances, and these being mostly on the level, the party, organised by Mr. T. J. Lock, looked forward to a leisurely but interesting tour in the northern part of Oxfordshire. It turned out that none was disappointed.

On the way to headquarters at Chipping Norton, on September 3rd, one band commenced the programme with a peal of four Spliced Surprise Major at Bicester whilst another band found the bells at Deddington amenable to a five thousand odd of Ashtead Surprise Major. There was no sense of urgency on the first morning either, for we joined in the ringing and Matins at the local Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin. During the afternoon and evening our time was spent in the city of Oxford. where streets were closed and preparations were being made for St. Giles' Fair. Ringing was shared at St. Ebbe's and St. Giles', at the latter a quarter peal being rung for the Patronal Festival.

With preliminaries of introductions and reunions over, the first weekday started with a peal of Rutland Surprise Major at Kirtlington, which marked the first year of married life for Dennis and Mary Beresford. Those not otherwise engaged were able to ring on the octave at Woodstock. Ambrosden was visited after lunch and on these bells a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in six methods was registered, whilst the remainder found pleasure in ringing at Piddington (5) and Brill (6). The parish church of Piddington is dedicated to St. Nicholas. and the local inhabitants may have heard, for the first time, their bells being rung to a touch of St. Nicholas Doubles. It was certainly the first time that some of the band taking part had rung the method.

A DAY OF HEAVY RAIN

On Tuesday we set out in heavy rain, which continued through all the hours of daylight, but interest and surprise took our minds away from climatic conditions. We were privileged to ring on the very recently restored eight at Shipton-under-Wychwood, but unfortunately found at Brailes a condition about which we had been warned-the chiming apparatus was being repaired and it was not possible to swing the bells. Whilst a few of the party went off to buy some stamps, three enthusiastic members rang, among others things, a course of London Surprise Minor on handbells.

Although we feared we may have interrupted him during his lunchtime, we called on Mr. Jarvis at Home Farm. Balscott, who most kindly opened up his 'tower' to allow us the experience of a ring on his six bells-the lightest six in the world yet to be rung to a peal. The one peal attempt arranged for this day was at Banbury and the band made good use of this delightful ten in completing a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Royal. During the reaping of this success the overflow of the party rang on the heavy six at Middleton Cheney.
The middle day of the tour also bore its - light and shade,' the morning passing quickly with successful peal attempts at Burford and Witney and, for the seven remaining members of the party, a thoroughly interesting tour around a blanket factory. London Surprise Major, at Kidlington. was the scheduled peal attempt for the afternoon. but sentiment prevarled. Although permission had been given in writing, we were advised that the next peal, the 150th on the bells, would be rung by a potentially local band. Accepting regrets from the local incumbent and hoping that William Judge, the tower captain. would soon recover from his recent illness. we then joined forces again with the rest of the party, who had been ringing at Islip.

AT LAUNTON AND CAVERSFIELD
For the evening we visited two towers: the first at Launton. where the president of the Central Council welcomed us and led us up the straight and narrow way of an iron ladder which alone gives access to the ringing chamber: and the second at Caversfield where a pleasant ring of five is in a church which stands on ground with a known history dating back to the year 903 . To pay homage on this ancient site we rang a touch of Original Doubles.

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE - No. 42

MR. J. J. L. GILBERT Yorkshire Association
Mr. John J. L. Gilbert is one of the staunchest stalwarts of the Yorkshire Association. He is of a quiet, modest and unassuming disposition. but he is the type of man that gets good results, and many of those who have received their instruction from him at Handsworth, Sheffield, have much for which to thank him. A thoroughly reliable ringer himself. he seems to have that priceless gift of being able to instill his ideas into his learners, and many of those who have come under his

On Thursday, the habit of ringing a peal in the method named after the county of our tour was continued at Kingham, during which time the others had a ring at Stow-on-theWold. This was followed, after lunch. by one band ringing a peal at Bourton-on-the-Water and another band doing likewise at Churchill. The peal in the Gloucestershire tower marked the fourth year of married life for Dennis and Sybil Knox.
The last full day, Friday, was programmed to be the fullest of all the days. Four peals were attempled and all four completed with the usual high standard of performance: Spliced Surprise Major in four methods at Chipping Norton and Yorkshire Surprise Major at Hook Norton in the morning, with Ealing Surprise Major at Great Tew and Lincolnshire Surprise Major at Bloxham in the afternoon. The day was finished by ringing the octave at Adderbury

A LEAKY ROOF

Saturday morning arrived all too soon and with a depleted company we journeyed once again into Gloucestershire in ring at Moreton-in-Marsh and then to add to the peal list with Spliced Surprise Major at Blockley. Here, however, as the bells were found not at all easy to ring. also to our ears considerably out of tune and, in addition. a noticeable amount of dampness due to leak in the belfry roof. any attempt for a peal was abandoned. We reported these conditions to the Vicar before we left hut the leaky roof had been repaired prior to our visit

Having completed another itinerary and nothing more to do than find our way home we all agreed that the week had been most enjoyable and successful and that. whilst opinions naturally reflected the more desirable qualities of one ring of bells compared with Qthers. the bells which we had been privileged to ring were an extremely good collection for such a short period.
Our sincere thanks are due to all incumbents. tower secretaries and others who met us or influence have risen high in ringing circles, and are a credit to him.
John, himself, at an early age came under the instruction of another fine Yorkshire ringer, Fred Watkinson, who was responsible for the installation of the very handy ring of eight bells at Handsworth. Fred Watkinson, having obtained the bells, then set about building up a good band of ringers. which eventually became capable of ringing Surprise methods. His advice and help were often sought, and never in vain, and it is obvious that his example had its effect on John Gilbert.
It was natural that when Fred Watkinson relinquished the post of Ringing Master at Handsworth, John should be chosen to succeed him.

Born in 1914, he joined the choir at Handsworth when seven years old, and by the time he was aged 12 he had been taught to ring by Fred Watkinson, and rang his first peal at this age. For his 13th birthday he took part in a peal of Double Norwich, and in the same year conducted a peal in that method. By the time he was 15 he had taken part in peals of London, Cambridge Royal and Stedman Cinques. In 1934 he conducted the record youngsters peal of Plain B6b Major, at Crayford. His peals total is 259. of which he has conducted 59 . These include 38 different Surprise methods, and the record peal of 53 Spliced Surprise. He is connected with the lectrical industry, and is a wayleaves officer.
He is a good Yorkshire Association man, and has been, for 22 years, secretary of the Southern Division. So keen were they to have him as secretary that the office was kept open whilst he was serving in the Royal Signals during the war. That old Yorkshire warrior Sid Palmer, of Sheffield, carried on for him during his absence.
John Gilbert is also Ringing Master of the Sheffield and District Society, and to see him in action during one of their meetings is an an inspiration. His encouragement of the youngsters wants seeing to be believed. So long as we have such men amongst us we need not fear for the future of our art.
who did anything to ensure us the pleasures of this year's tour, and whilst it would be so easy to mention names we would add that we remain very pleased and grateful 10 have received a warm welcome.

MINIMUS AT STANFORD DINGLEY

The peal at Stanford Dingley will no doubt add a little more fuel to the fire for the Minimus critics who are so determined that the Central Council must alter the present rule that allows 4 -bell peals.

Ringing his first peal was Mr. Bill Cummins. the local captain, who has an enthusiastic local band consisting of 12 members who regularly ring the bells for every service and are already considering the raising of sufficient money to add two more bells.
Mr. Cummins now claims the distinction of being the first local ringer to ring a peal on four bells. no doubt other members of 4-bell towers have rung peals but not on their own bells.

An unusual feature at Stanford Dingley is that the ropes hang more or less in a straight line and this and a long draught make them tricky to handle.

We now look forward to seeing the next peal on the bells being rung by the local band, or will it have to be a performance? This we shall have to wait until next Whitsun to find out.

WILFRED WILLLAMS' YORKSHIRE PEAL TOUR

1WE peal columns of this paper have already given some impression of Wilfred Wil liams' 1960 deal tour. It would, however, be out of place to commence a commentary on this latest and successful venture without first paying 1 ribute to Wilfrid Moreton, who ar ranged all the Yorkshire towers. All the bells were excellent and gave us much enjoyment. for which we are most grateful.
The advance guard assembled at Loughborough on Friday, August 19th, in readiness for Saturday's attempts at Shepshed and Derby. Once again we enjoyed the feminine charm and quiet dignity of Ruth Border, and also welcomed for the first time one of Birmingham's bright young men in the person of John Anderson. Six Spliced were well rung at Shepshed and this proved a good omen for the afternoon attempt. 'Our man from Suffolk; joined us at Derby and was soon showing us that, among other things, shirts are used to cover clocks. At Derby Cathedral and with the aid of another of Birmingham's bright young men a good peal of Spliced Surprise Royal was successfully brought round Surprise Royal was successfully brought round.
This was the first time that a peal of Spliced Surprise Royal featuring all the work for each bell had been rung in this church and it was therefore fitting that it should be recorded for the premier ringing society.

HEADQUARTERS AT BRADFORD

After two such successes the tour could be said to have got off to an auspicious start which was duly celebrated and then a star was made for Bradford and the Northgate Hotel, which, with the exception of one night, was to be our headquarters for the week. A notable absentee was a celebrated vintage Morris but the two and a half litre Riley added greatly to our mobility and showed its paces by regularly disappearing the wrong way down a one-way street.

Sunday morning saw us at Far Headingley, where we rang for morning service then on through the North Riding and the rain for County Durham where on an extremely pleas ant eight at Staindrop our conductor passed another milestone by calling an excellent peal of Bristol. A two hour run into the unending rain across the Pennines brought us to Sedburgh, home of the late G. F. Woodhouse of Ringing Machine fame. Here we spent the night im preparation for another pilgrimage to Ambleside

Monday saw us away early crossing Windermere on the ferry boat via Bowness and we were soon at Hawkshead, the scene of our morning attempt. A warm welcome awaited us here from the Rev. $R$. Lindsay, himself a keen ringer, and he assisted us in rising this pleasant ring. Yorkshire was rung at a speed too fast for comfort and those facing the church had their concentration continually disturbed by the large crowd of visitors who continually thronged the building. Following lunch Graham said farewell, having to return to his practice.

FAILURE AT AMBLESIDE

The afternoon's attempt was on the fine heavy eight at Ambleside. the scene of an unfortunate fajlure two years previously. Alan Capstick had everything in readiness and a start was made for Rutland. which to those outside soon settled into an excellent beat It would. however, have required considerable effort on the part of the back-enders to score a peal. The tenor clapper broke recently and the repair has left the bell extremely wide at backstroke. the conductor being far from satisfied with the ringing. It was a great disappointment to the listeners when a miscall brought 'Stand' after one hour and 46 minutes of excellent ringing. Descending the tower we were very pleased to see Mr. and

Mrs. Tony Price, who were on holiday in the district. and to have Tony ring the tenor to a course of Double Norwich

Following this failure an early start was made for Bradford, stopping en route for a snatch at Gargrave with somewhat disastrous results. Tuesday morning saw us retrace our steps over much of the previous night's route to the ancient Lang Kirk of Craven or, as it is better known, the Parish Church of Saint Andrew. Kildwick. Char lolte Bronte had a long association with this church. which is distinguished by an extremely long nave. Tine Kildwick Cope is housed here and in the cower hangs a fine eight by Taylor, dated 1914.

THE POLICE LISTENED

This was our first meeting with Yorkshire tail-ends, also the profusion of boxes of varying heights on which to stand. Rutland was soon under way and after a false start some serious ringing was heard. Two hours later two police officers were seen to have the cars under observation and we had fear of charges for parking offences or disturbing the peace. but on being approached it was found that they were having a discussion on the quality of the ringing.

The afternoon saw us at the fine church of the Holy Trinity. Skipton. with its equally fine bells. It was necessary to splice and move ropes here and while this was taking place we were invaded by a keen young reporter from "The Yorkshire Post." After two attempts to cover the clock with a certain shirt. Bristol was soon rolling out and how grand it sounded from this fine ring. The later editions of .The Yorkshire Post, reported that we were on our annual tour of England and unexpectedly to the ears of people began playing Bristol. Leaving Skipton we made our various ways to Otley where Harold Schofield had kindly arranged a practice and where we were much impressed by the abilities of the younger Schofields, Gillian and Barry.

The return journey to Bradford revealed that our bell-hanging friend has other than poetical talents when he joined the Coventry Bass Trio in a rendering of 'On Ilkley Moor baht 'at.' Back at our headquarters we were very pleased to have Leslie Morris join us and have the latest news of the Cheshire ringers tour in Worcestershire

INCESSANT RAIN

Wednesday proved the longest day of the tour with distances of almost 50 miles between cowers, the almost incessant rain making our task less pleasant than usual. London was well rung on the magnificent eight at Birstall, a little too slow for some but nevertheless very much enjoyed by others. The composition used here contained a Before in each course and is little rung nowadays. There is a large painting of a coat of arms in this ringing chamber but the shirt has not been made which could cover this and we are sure that among those staring figures our shirtless one could see his wife.

The local hostelry. The Black Bull. contained much of interest especially to the Celts as the famous Jimmie Wilde once fought there. It was also once the district courthouse and the old dock and judge's bench are well blended into what is now a pleasant lounge. Ir was into the rain we went on a two hour un to the magnificent Minster Church of St Peter, Howden. This is surely one of the finest examples of ecclesiastical architecture in a county renowned for churches of beauty and dignity and stands in a class which in cludes the Minsters of York and Beverley. Selhy Abbey and Ripon Cathedral.
Much of this great church was destroyed in a disastrous fire in 1929 and the bells, a glorious eight, were recast in 1931. The bells are hung low down in the vast tower, and as there is a tremendous amount of glass can easily be scen from the street below; many people stopped to watch as the peal was being rung. London was again the order and this was duly brought round, notching Arthur's 300th

LARGEST RINGING CHAMBER

The new twelve at Hull Parish Church had been made available to us for the evening but unfortunately owing to our late arrival. we were unable to make the most of this very pleasant twelve. This must be the largest ringing chamber in the country with an area of 1,440 sq. ft .
At a late hour we faced a journey of something like 70 miles to Bradford. and with Ruth revolting against the stock supper of fish and chips we reached Leeds before finding the required steak. We understand that the Riley failed to pay at Selby toll bridge and had its number taken.
Thursday saw the enforced departure of one of your chroniclers, thus reducing the party to ten; however, Lincolnshire was soon knocked off at Sowerby on a Taylor eight recast in 1954. Lunch was taken at Sowerby Bridge with our bell-hanging friend disgracing himself by drinking a pint mug of tea
In the afternoon we ascended the steep hill to Heptonstall with its fine view of Calderdale. Eight Spliced was attempted on this fine eight but stopped after 20 minutes with the bells right: the conductor thought he had miscalled. A second attempt stopped after a further 20 minutes and this time the shirt on the clock received the blame. We must have been overawed by the great record of 17.824 of Oxford Treble Bob rung here in 1927 as after a Jong discussion it was unanimously decided against a further start. so we visited Elland where it was practice night and enjoyed some fast ringing.

YORK TENOR CLAPPER CRASHED

Friday morning saw an attempts for London Royal on the fine ten at Ripon Cathedral but this would not go so with a change of conductor Cambridge was substituted. We should like to record this as a compliment to Canon D. M. M. Bartlett who was 87 the previous day. An afternoon attempt was scheduled for Birstwith. but with a visit to York Minster also on our programme, it was decided to abandon the peal attempt and a practice for Eight Spliced was substituted. We were joined at York by Miss M. E. Wilkinson and Leslie Morris and rang Stedman Cinques. and half a course of Cambridge Royal, but unfortunately in the third lead of Cambridge Maximus the ball of the tenor clapper flew off. hitting the fifth and causing this bell to drop like a stone. It was a miracle that no further damage was done. The ringing concluded with London on the Minor Eight. That evening we were treated o a real Yorkshire supper of black pudding Our last day had arrived all too soon with peal attempts at Northowram and Bradford Cathedral. At the former the tower houses an eight by Gillett and Johnston. dated 1913. Eight Spliced was successfully brought round here while in the afternoon Pudsey Royal was rung on the beautiful ten at Bradford Cathedral. Leslie Morris joining us in this as Arthur wanted an afternoon off
So ended our peal ringing programme and there followed a social evening at our hotel in the best Yorkshire tradition which ended in the early hours with Jim's speech of thanks and farewell to our hostess. Mrs. Taylor
We cannot finish this commentary without asking. Where did the Guvnor sleep this night?' Was he too exhausted to reach his room after receiving Harold Schofield's full sales treatment? The tie would have been a fitting present after such an effort

PEALS OF MINIMUS
Dear Sir.-With regard to Mr. Peter Border's letter on page 634. although he states that he did not intend to slight the Leicester Diocesan Guild in his original letter. the fact still remains that he DID do so. No doubt Mr . Border will find some consolation in the fact that the Leicester Guild have passed a motion asking the Central Council NOT to ecognise 4-bell peals.
I am completely at a loss in understanding Mr. S. Harrison's letter on page 659 in the issue of September 30th. Just what bearing the list of the achievements of his tower have on the subject of 4 -bell peals. I fail to understand. No doubt there are many more ringers up and down the country who could suggest a better occupation for all three and I think it is quite obvious to all what the answer is. As for 'no right to criticise, surely any person or persons who perform publicly or who advertise their performances must expect criticism (if it is constructive). After all. we criticise other musical performances (e.g. symphony concerts) and who doesn't criticise the sermon?-Yours faithfully.

THE COLLEGE ALSO HAD THOUGHT

Dear Sir-The manner of teaching the early stages of change-ringing that Mr.B. D. Price advocates in his recent article has already been adopted by the College in its Ringer's Manual of Reference-Part I: and first published in 1956 . Exercises based on this principle and described in the above handbook lead the pupil from solo bell control through the three elements of change-ringing. i.e.. place-making, dodging and plain hunting, and combinations of these. to the simplest method. Plain Bob. Professional teaching experience of ringers has led them to adopt these methods. which have proved sound and these methods, Which have proved successful in practice.-Yours etc..

5,152 OSGATHORPE

Dear Sir.-In my letter relating to the FCHs of the above composition. I inadvertently gave 26543 as the course to which it is true. This should have been 25634. one of the FCHs of Southport. The 5.152 is wholly true to the following six courses-25634. 24365 , 32546. 46253. 53624 . and 65432 . The 6.496 composition is only true to the last five.Yours sincerely.

HALLING BELLS

Dear Sir. With regard to the letter from R Crane ( R.W.. September 30th), the bells of Halling. Kent, have not been silent for 28 years. I have rung there on two occasions since the war. the last time heing April. 1954. on an outing arranged by the late John $L$. Morris.-Sincerely yours.

MR. GEORGE GILBERT

AN APPRECIATION

Dear Sir-I would like to pay trihute to George Gilbert as a ringer. I think he was perfection as far as striking and ringing were concerned. I was trained by him over 30 years ago. and belonged to the Burnham band when he founded it. And one was always welcome at Bumham tower.-Yours faithfully.

POINTS FROM LETTERS

Dear Sir.-May I be permitted to make one or two comments on recent correspondence Ownership of bells. One further commen on the interesting letter from Norman Phillips (page 595). Both he and Mr. Lock would no doubt henefit to know that although at other times bells may only be rung by consent of the incumbent, or churchwarden in the case of a vacancy in the living, this does not apply to ringing for Sunday service, or any Divine service. According to Church Law, not even the priest can prevent the bells being rung on these occasions.

4-bell towers (Leicestershire). In case there are any Minimus fans thinking of writing to any of the towers mentioned in Ernest Morris's list of 4 -bell towers. may I say that 1 have taken services at many of these churches, and I can say that the majority of bells are not ringable, and may need a lot of attention to make them safe for ringing.

Belfry conduct. No doubt many ringers in their travels during holiday time find much in other towers to be commended, and ideas to be 'borrowed. but an experience which was mine conjured up memories of the words - Belfry Reform which are still part and parcel of the aims of some Guilds and Associations today. and which up to now I have considered to be out of date. I had taken part in a touch for Sunday morning service and we were resting. when one of the ringers began to hand out cigarettes to all present followed by a general 'lighting up
Has any other ringer had this experience?
Finally I cannot understand why captains do not advertise their times of ringing, both for services and practices, outside the tower for the benefit of visitors. Only at two towers have I come across this foresight - Lincoln Cathedral and Barwell (Leics.) - Yours faithfully, THOMAS C. BELTON.

IMBER CHURCH

Dear Sir. With reference to Imber Church, the ring of bells has been removed some time and are being held for the new Church of St. Francis at Salisbury. The mural painting of Changes. I think. is being taken care of 1 remember attempting a peal at Imber between the wars and this painting was getting the worse for wear' and some figures were hardly visible: but I understand it is being taken care of by the Wilts Archaeological Society and you can rest assured it will not be lost.-Yours sincerely,
W. C. WEST: Hon. Sec.

Herts County Association

Baldock Church was most beautifully decorated for harvest festival on October 1st. when the Northern District met there. Canon Brenchley conducted the service, with Miss D Bate at the organ, then the ringers continued to a more than adequate tea provided by the Hives of the local ringers.
Canon Brenchley took the chair at the business meeting, when the revision of rules was discussed, and Mr. Charles M. Timbury, of Pirton. was elected a member. The next meetings will be evening ones, at Stevenage and at Royston, with the annual district meeting at Hitchin on January 28 th , not the first Saturday, as is usual. Canon Brenchley also gave news of Baldock tower's restoration. involving the removal of the concrete on the outside. strengthening the lower internally. and a new weather-vane. It is hoped that this work will be shared next spring.
Ringing continued afterwards in methods to please everyone. The attendance at the tea was disappointing. but quite a number came for a short while.

OBITUARY

During the las war he was chief Civil Defence warden at Brewood.
On the day of his funeral. September 30th a half-muffled peal was rung to his memory on Brewood bells

MR. CHRIS H. HAWKINS

We regret to announce the death of Mr . Chris. H. Hawkins of Llanelly, suddenly on October 4 th. He was one of the founders of the St. David's Diocesan Guild and had for many years been its secretary. For the years 1949-50 he was a member of the Central Council. The funeral service was at Llanelly Parish Church on October 7th

MR. JESSE W. HARRISON
The death occurred at Amersham Hospital on September 19,h of Mr. Jesse Harrison. at the age of 79. Mr. Harrison, who had been: faithful member of the band at St. Mary and All Saints. Beaconsfield. since 1926 . had been in failing health for some months

He began ringing at the age of 13 at St Mary and All Saints' Church. Dunsfold. Surrey. He was elected deputy foreman at Beaconsfield in 1934. an office which he held until his death.
During his 66 years as a ringer. he rans 100 peals. most of them being rung for the Oxford Diocesan Guid. but his last peal was rung at his old home, Dunsfold. He was once heard to say. in a joking manner. that he took 30 years to ring 10 peals in Surrey. but rang 30 peals within 10 years of joining the Oxford Diocesan Guild.
The funeral took place at St. Mary and Al Saints*. Beaconsfield, on September 22nd. An "in memoriam' quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in the evening. with the bells half-muffed by the following members of the local band:- H . Wingrove (cond.) 1 Gwen Reeves 2. Dorothy Fletcher 3, Ann Shiels 4. R. Broadley 5. M. Broadley 6. A Bridges 7. S. Hatfield 8.

Leeds And District Society

A pleasant meeting was held at Drighlington on October 1st. and the fine ring of bells was kept going to 3 variety of methods under the direction of the ringing master. Mr. 1. Slack The large ringing chamber enabled the 20 members present to move about freely with out disturbing the ringing

The routine business concluded with vole of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens and to Mr. Maurice Brown for his excellent arrangements. Next meeting: Hunslet Church l.eeds. Oetoher 29th.

West Wictham Ringers' Outing

A route along country lanes was chosen for an outing of is young ringers from North West Kent and Surrey on August Bank Holiday.

Towers visited were Ash-by-Wrotham. Wrotham. Yalding. Hunton. Boughton Monchelsea. Chart Sutton. East Sutton and Headcorn. It was in the early hours of Tuesday that the pariy arrived home. Methods rung ranged from Grandsire and Plain Bob to Cambridge, Norwich. Ipswich and London Surprise

Sincere thanks are extended to incumbents and local ringers who made us so welcome.

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION HONOUR MR. J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE

THE Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild have decided to hold their dinners triennially and at each of these to honour the memory of a famous ringer who had been a member of their Association. The first of these dinners was at Ealing Town Hall, on October 1st, and was to the memory of Mr. J. Armiger Trollope, who for many years lived in Ealing and was at one time a churchwarden of the Church of Christ the Saviour. It was at this church that Christ the Saviour. It was at this church that a short service was held prior to the dinner. On medical advice the president (the Rev. G. C. Taylor) could not attend and the chair was taken by the Rev. R. Deasy, Vicar of Harrow Weatid. Supporting him on the top Harrow Weaid. Supporting him on the top table were the Mayor of Ealing (Ald. Mrs. A. Murray). the Mayoress (Mrs. Hugh Murray), Mr. T. J. Lock (general secretary), Mrs. Cock, Mr. E. A. Barnett (hon. sec. of the Central Council), Mrs. Barnett and Miss Barnett. Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wilson, Mr. F. W. Goodfellow (treasurer), Mrs.
Goodfellow. Mr. J. R. Mayne (Master) and Mr T. W. White.

The toast of 'The Association' was proposed by the Mayor of Ealing, who expressed her rleasure at seeing so many lady ringers present. She thought they could say to the gentlemen 'Anything you can do we can do better. At any rate they could do it just as well. The gentlemen had allowed them to hold such offices as Mayor which was traditionally a male office.

Mr. John R. Mayne, Master of the Association, who repled, said regarding the ladies they were delighted to have them in the belfry as they were to have them in the office of Mayor. He would suggest that marriages were made in heaven, but proposed in the belfry.

This was the first of a series of triennial dinners: in each of these they hoped to commemorate a Middlesex Association ringer of bygone times. That night they were commemorating a ringer who lived for many years in Ealing-Mr. J. Armiger Trollope, and it was due to his untiring work that a iremendous amount of detail about ringers and ringing of past generations was known.
That night they were thinking of those who had gone before and if they were to think had gone before and if they were to think more of that subject they would enrich the present appreciation of their art; they would put the present into its true perspective and finally see their work in relation to the future. Many of the achievements of the present were not new, they had been done ringing in its true perspective with that of the past.
in felicitous terms Mr. W. H. Coles proposed the toast of The Visitors' and in a special welcome to Mr. E. A. Barnett he said. - We rejoice that you are bringing prestige to the name Teddy Barnett, which has been a household word in ringing circles for 100 years.
Mr. Barnett. who replied. said that though technically he was a visitor he had been a member of their Association for 25 years. At under duress, as he was at Bentley Priory for four years and his bans were called in their chairman's church.
Mr. W. G. Wilson, speaking to "The Life and Work of J. Armiger Trollope.' said he was born at East Dereham. Norfolk, in 1876 and educated at King Edward VI Grammar School. Norwich. and it was while he was at school that he learnt to ring. In those days youngsters were not encouraged to ring: they sat in the belfry and that was all. Trollope and three or four lads decided to teach themselves to ring and they made a set of handbells from basement bells used in a large mansion. They rang peals on these bells and mansion. They rang peals on these were admitted to the Association:

CENTRAL COUNCIL MEMBER AT 21 In 1897 when he was only 21 he was elected a member of the Central Council as a representative of the Norwich Diocesan Association. This was very exceptional. to be elected at that age. "Mr. Trollope was. to my mind. an outstanding example of a complete ringer: he was good in every aspect of the art? His peal record was between 500 and 600 , which is not considered high in these days, but was high then At one time he had rung a greater variety of Major methods than any other ringer.
He was a talented conductor. He was a member of the famous band which rang Spliced Surprise Major, in from three to 12 methods. It was pioneer work which led the way to others. In 1900 he was elected an honorary member of the Central Council and at that time he was appointed by the Council as their representative on Plain Bob Major. Any problem of Plain Bob Major was referred to him. He was made a member of the first Methods Committee and later became its convener and was responsible for technical books, the first being in books, the first being in 1907.
He came to Ealing in 1904 and set up his home in Lammas Park Road with his sister, as he was a bachelor. He joined the Ealing Amateur Photographic Society and was silver medallist. Before the first world war he was a member of the Waterloo Society meeting at St. John's. Waterloo Road. Later. he did some of his ringing at Willesden and Ealing.

SNOWDON SERIES

In addition to his work for the Methods Committee his services were enlisted by Miss Margaret Snowdon in connection with the Snowdon series of ring books started in 1880.
In 1938 he published 'Stedman.' If that book was still in print today hundreds of copies would be sold. Later, he published 'Standard Methods, which had since been reprinted. At the time of his death he was in the middle of writing a book on Grandsire. His friends and pupils-Ernest Turner and himself (Mr. Wilson) - completed that book and it was published in his name

Besides these books for the Snowdon series he wrote many others. The Central Council library had a ten volume history of London bells and ringing, which was beautifully written and whenever a church was mentioned there was a pen and ink sketch of it. In addition there were records of the London Ringing there were records of the London Ringing ringing in the provinces in the 18 th century. There were also two volumes on Surprise Major Methods, four volumes on the work of method construction, which he (Mr. Wilson) thought the College of Campanology would find useful. Another volume contained hundreds of articles he had written for 'The Ringing World,' between 1930 and 1946. Those books formed a library in themselves. In 1937 he published 'The History of the College Youths, in connection with the tercentenary of that body. That book was highly prized but it was only a small part of the 10 volumes he had written.
During the war when there was a ban on ringing and in consequence no peals, quarter peals or meetings. he kept . The Ringing World 'going. Writing at times the whole of its contents. He had heard people say. No other man could have done it.' In his writings he had the ability to make his stories of the past live; everything he did, he did wellhis photography, his writings. his drawings. His handbells were hung on a Gothic style triptych which he made in 1912 .

PERSONAL EXPERIENCES

'I first met him at Christ Church. Ealing, and a few weeks after I introduced him to about ringing. He regarded us as his boys and we regarded him as a kind of father. Although he was a member of a famous band ringing most advanced technical stuff. he came and rang with us every Sunday and helped us al! he could: nothing was too much trouble.

I rang 46 peals with him and of those peals he only conducted 10 . Ernest Turner and I were only youngsters. The first peal Ernest were only youngsters. The first peal Ernest bells. We each called in turn extents and the seventh nobody called. Mr. Lock. the present secretary of the Middlesex Association. probably does not know that in the first peal he rang-Bob Major-Mr. Trollope. who was calling. composed the peal as it went along. calling. composed the peal as it went along.
Mr. Turner afterwards became secretary of the Middlesex Association and I myself was an officer of the Association for 20 years.'

Apart from ringing, Mr. Trollope was a man of broad education and for a time he was a warden of Christ Church. Ealing. He was a victim of the pre-war slump and was His loss in that respect was the Exercise's gain because during the many months he had no work ho spent most of his time in the work he spent most of his time in the British Museum or at home writing up the results of his research. That afternoon at Christ Church they remembered him in their prayers. Let us now praise famous men

HIS EDITORSHIP

Mr. T. W. White, in a tribute, said his acquaintance with Mr. Trollope was weekly during the period of his editorship. He had an ottice at the Woodbridge Press next to his (Mr. White's) own and naturally as a tower secretary they talked ringing. I wa amazed at his encyclopadic knowledge of ringing in all its departments, the patience of his research into the early history and above all his search after truth.'

During his editorship I reported for him the Central Council meetings at Birmingham and Norwich. I didn't know when I went with him to Norwich that that would be his last Council meeting. He was then a sick man and his collapse at the meeting during the debate on "The Ringing World" was one of the most painful scenes I have ever witnessed.

And what was the cause of Trollope's parting with the editorship, apart from health reasons. It could well be summed up in the words of Ernest Turner. "He steadfastly refused to allow its pages to be used to satisfy the personal vanity of a minority." It would be so easy for him to conform but he would not.

Personally I can say I went to Norwich with a special friend: I left without his friendship. Jim thought I was in the plot for his downfall. I knew of the resolutions on the agenda, but beyond that I was not a party. I don't think Jim ever forgave me for accepting the editorship. I wish my last meeting with him had been happier

Long after I am gone and passed into anonymity, Jabez Armiger Trollope will be remembered. His writings on London churches and ringing societies will remain as a permanent record not merely of historical scholarship but to the memory of a great little man who sought after truth and was unbending in his convictions for what he regarded as right. It seemed as if he looked on many of the generation of ringers around him and said: Vanity of vanities, all is vanity.
The company then stood in silence to his memory.

The speeches were concluded with a vote of thanks from the chair to the incumbents of Ealing churches and to the dinner committeeMrs. Elsie K. Hart. Messrs. F. W. Goodfellow. E. H. Kilby. C. F. Neal and T. J. Lock. During an interval in the programme here was handbell ringing by F. W. Goodfellow 1-2. Miss Joan Beresford 3-4, F. Price 5-6. J. R. Mayne 7-8.

HOW BURNHAM BECAME NATION FAMOUS FOR RINGING

GEORGE GILBERTDIED 23rd SEPTEMBER, 1960 AGED 73 YEARS

$\mathrm{H}_{\mathrm{O}}^{\circ}$OW totally inadequate this plate inscribed upon his coffin seemed to all those who able man! George Gilbert gave his soul to ringing, and his pride was in those whom he had successfully launched into the belfry to serve their God loyally on Sundays with a standard of ringing which was worthy of their lofty vocation. What a blessing the coin fell the right way when he left the army in 1926. It was his proud boast that, having successfully demanded time to train a team, he won the Army's rifle shooting trophy for his unit of the R.E.'s. an unheard-of performance for such a regiment. On his retirement he tossed a coin to decide whether to throw in his lot with the belfry or the shooting range, and the result every ringer knows.
Mr. George Gilbert was born on March 11th. 1887 and spent his early years at Rainham. Kent. He rang his first peal at Bobbing. Kent. on May 23rd, 1903 , for the Kent County Association. It was conducted by William H. B. Wilkins. who shared in many of his early peals. and. like himself. gravitated to the Oxford Diocesan Guild, where both became notable figures. George Gilbert often referred to his debt to Mr. Wilkins. who happily is still with us. George had an intense love of a good peal of Minor and the rhythm of Minor ringing. This was not surprising. as every one of his first twenty peals was in seven Minor methods, of which peals was in seven Minor methods, of whe he rang the treble to the first three only.
His first peal as conductor was not until June. 1914. when he called a peal in seven Minor methods at Seale. Surrey. by which time he had served long enough in the Royal Engineers to have reached the rank of corporal. We then hear little of him till 1920 no doubt due to his service in the Great War

LONG PEALS

Retiring from the Army in 1926. at the age of 39, with the rank of C.Q.M.S. he returned to Rainham and reappeared in the peal columns of The Ringing world. In April of that year he rang the 7 th to what should of that year he rang been a peal of 22.033 Stedman Caters at Leeds. Kent, but, owing to a miscall, the attempt ended when about 6.000 changes had been rung. He also siood in the attempt the same year to ring 14.144 London S. Major at Warnham. Sussex. but that, too, came to grief in the 15 ch course. He did. however, participate in two successful long peals. viz:ticipate in two successful long peals. viz:-
11.008 Double Norwich at Erith on February 26ih. 1927, and 9.600 Double Norwich Surprise Major at Holy Trinity Cathedral, Guildford, in April. 1931.
Of his 'stunt ' peals one must mention his participation in the first 'Services ' peal. comprising an Army. Navy and Marines band. at Gillingham in January. 1914. He stood in two -George' peals-London S. Major at Gravesend in October. 1927 and Bristol S. Major on St. George's Day. 1930, at St. George's. South wark. The latter was the first 'Name' peal of Brisiol. He also rang in the first peal of of Brisiol. He also rang in the first peal of Reinham Forward Bob Major-in company Reinham Forward Bob Major-in company with the late J. Armiger Trollope. in May. 1927-which turned out to be a false method He was not addicted to Surprise ringing, and his collection of 21 different methods was due firstly to those he rang with the late Alfred Pulling during the latter's heyday and those he rang with Mr. Alan Pink in the Windsor area in the 1930 . . George Gilbert always held that Surprise methods were much over rated. and mainly Cambridge " mucked about. and he never bothered to become proficient as a conductor in them. He would teach his Burnham band methods galore. but never Cambridge as he preferred his pupils to , remain humble. and feared for Surprise.

PEALS WITH LADIES

During his long service at Aldershot his talents as a teacher of ringing came to the fore. and Aldershot tower became prominent in ringing circles. Many well-known personalities in that area owe their ringing careers to George Gilbert's solid foundations. Among others. he piloted Gieorge Grover, the Denyer and Charlie' Denyer, Jack, Bragg and William Rogers through their first peals. With the Misses Mills and others he participated in iwo peals with seven ladies. The first. at Shiplake. near Henley-on-Thames, was of Kent Treble Bob. in May. 1930, and George rang the tenor. It was this peal which led him often to sign himself. Henry VIII.' The other similar peal, Grandsire Triples, to which he rang the ith, was at Goring-on-Thames in December of the same year. Miss Stella Davis. of Bucklebury (reecntly killed in a road accident) took part in both these peals.
In 1923 he came to reside in Maidenhead, Berks. where he followed his trade as a carpenter. but. as the Vicar of Burnham mentioned at George's funeral, he was not just a tradesman, but a craftsman. The writer remembers the immaculate way in which he did some work entrusted to him at Burnham Church. One remembers. too. how he used his skill in the service of others. Many has been the time when he has seen some poor old widow's fence or garden gate falling to pieces. and he has gone along in the evening and repaired it-out of his Christian charity.

AT BURNHAM

Now a member of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. he was soon on the look-out for a tower to serve. although he had already begun arranging peals to help beginners. In April. 1932. he was appointed ringing master at Burnham, and it was here where his life as a ringer reached its fruition. Very soon the old paid band disappeared. as his first act was to have it !aid down that all ringing should be voluntary. Within two years he had built up a band of young lads who. at the ages of 12 or 13 years. had commenced their pealr.nging careers

Unhappily, several of these died on war service during the second world war, and after the war. with the call to National Selvice continuing. George began recruiting girls. But any obstacle. When the bells were to ring again. Burnham would be ready: so George removed the clappers from his bells, carried on with his instruction of some very young girls -he liked to recruit them at nine or ten years of age-and by July 1944. their names were beginning to appear in 'The Ringing World with their ages. 14 or 15, in brackets alongside.
Naturally, many of these were lost to his tower as they. one after another. took on the responsibilities of marriage. but George struggled on with little or no outside help. It was noticeable that when he had a first-class hand and visitors could be offered a wide choice of methods, he had plenty of visitors. but latterly, while he had been building up another band almost from scratch. he had had no support. But that is the way of the world ! While he was a skilled instructor. he maintained a rigid discipline in the belfry, but his pupils loved him for all that. or they would not have stood by him for so many years.
The one thing about which he was really blunt was Sunday service ringing. If a youngster failed to turn up on Sunday morning-it may have been the parents' fault-she received the have been the parents faut-she received the length of George's tongue. Occasionally he was too outspoken. and when he said. 'If you can't turn up on Sunday, then stay away altogether.' a youngster would take him at his word. and stay away for good.

During his ringing career George Gilbert conducted the first peal of no less than 91 ringers. Of these 25 were Burnham ringers Of his 548 peals. he conducted 325 and one was non-conducted. Of the 325 he conducted there was a 'first peal' or 'first in the method' in no less than 248. another wonderful record It was these figures which were his pride and joy. and we must not underestimate their signiflcance. He was a great tenor ringer, having rung 248 peals on tenors in 68 towers, In his own lower at Burnham he rang in 111 of the 159 peals rung on the bells. which indicates his tremendous personal contribution: 63 of these were on the tenor, and of the 56 peals he rang on the six hells at Hitcham (on the outskirts of Burnham), 51 were on the tenor. He was not a 'tenor basher,' and would deliberately slow down the ringing if a peal started racing as he loved slow ringing and had taught his pupils so to handle their bells that they could 'stroke' perfectly when the inging was slow
George Gilbert was an enthusiastic and loyal member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths for whom he rang 47 peals and made many new members. He served for a time as their Central Council representative, only resigning because, he said. he could not afford to continue. as his Society could not afford to subsidise its members
His greatest memorial at Burnham is the new ring of eight. He inherited, a ring of own description). and he worked like a Trojan to raise the $£ 1.800$ required. He insisted on the new ring being all on one level. so the weight of the tenor had to be reduced from 16 cwt . to $12 \frac{3}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. His enthusiasm was such that the whole village was behind him, and a great series of village efforts wiped out the debt. George Gilbert's name is inscribed on the tenor bell, and how it deserves to be there, lor his were the inspiration and effort which put the bells in the tower.

DEATH AND LAST PEAL

The last peal in which he participated was Plain Bob Triples at Burnham, conducted by himself, on January 8th this year, and in it, naturally. were two 'first peals.' George was obviously ailing, and his doctor forbade him in February to ascend the belfry stairs. His interest and care for the continuance of the ringing of Burnham's bells never waned, and he always came to the tower and listened outside-often looking after Cliff and Angela Blundell's iwin daughters meanwhile in a most fatherly way while they rang.
He managed the organisation of the towet, until two months before his death. when he was taken into hospital. His decline hecame rapid and his death on September 23rd was happy release in the eyes of his friends. whom he never lacked during his sojourn in Cliveden Hospital.
At George Gilbert's funeral on Thursday. September 29th. no less than 15 towers in the branch were represented. The service was conducted jointly by the Rev. J. Wildman (Vicar of Burnham) and the Rev. E. W. Perkins (Rector of Slough. and chairman of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Guild). The Vicar paid a tribute to George Gilbert's work at Burnham over nearly 30 years and stressed how he had kept the bells ringing for services, and his work in having the bells recast.
He was laid to rest by the belfry door, four feet from the tower he served so faithfully. and a course of Grandsire Triples, preceded by some 'whole pulls and stand: was rung over the grave by A. D. Barker 1-2. R. Dean 3-4. C. Swift 5-6. and E. D. Poole 7-8.
Wreaths were sent by the Oxford Diocesan Burnham. Hitcham. Bray, Boyne Hill, Cookham and Slough towers. Ringers present reresented the following towers:-Amersham. Marlow. Nettlebed, Windsor. Farnham Royal. Bray, Boyne Hill. Stoke Poges. Langley, Old Windsor. Hitcham. Slough. Cookham and Burnham, and Mr. A. D. Barker (gen. treas.) epresented the Oxford Diocesan Guild.
George Gilbert is departed, but his work lives on. He was a friend to many, an inspiration to all. a great ringer and craftsman with a pride in his work in both spheres and a servant of God. He leaves a widow and one son-his elder son died on active service during the war-and we tender them our sincerest sympathy. May he rest in peace.

RINGING, RAILWAYS AND BOATING

In two cars driven by the curate and the ringing master, the youngsters of Gresley, whose ages otherwise range from 12 to 15 , covered 172 miles on their annual outing, ringing at five towers in four counties, and adding railways and boating to the enjoyment of ringing

All the bells visited were of excellent tone and easy to ring and the lads acquitted themselves well. attempting rounds and Plain Bob Doubles. The destination was St. Neots, Hunts, but on the way there Great Glen, Leics ( 6,9 cwt.). and Keysoe, Beds ( $5,17 \mathrm{cwt}$.) were visited, met respectively by Mr. L. Allen and by Mr. Stapleton. Though the band thought Keysoe bells (a grand five of long draught under a tall spire) a little heavy, the Vicar, the Rev. J. M. Boyd Roberts, was impressed and wished they could all come to live pressed and wished they could all come to live borough Railway Locomotive Dept., where the Franco-Crosti type freight locos. aroused much interest, three still heing fitted with the special preheating water tube.
After lunch at St . Neots, most spent time watching the expresses dash through the railway station on the East Coast main line. Two. however, ascended the beautiful pinnacled tower, reminiscent of Somerset, and, joined by ringers from Bromham, Beds, Stamford. Lincs. and Brampton and Great Staughton. Hunts, rang a quarter of Bob Triples in 55 minutes on the majestic Taylor octave. The Gresley vice-captain, David Eames, excelled on the 293 cwt . tenor, handling it with skill and precision that won the admiration of the older ringers. The Beds and Ely Associations' joint meeting followed, and the others from Gresley joined in some ringing and the tea, being welcomed by Canon L. Galley. They also found time for over an hour's voyage in three motor boats on the Ouse.

The long journey home was broken by rings on the pleasant 5 -bell towers of Upper Dean. Beds ( 11 cwt .). and Grafton Underwood. Northants ( 7 cwt ), not to mention the essenifal fish and chip supper. All had such a good day that they have planned something even more ambitious for next year!

'EXERCISING DIFFERENT METHODS

Lord, give me a steady hand and watchful eye, (In the tower)
That no man be hurt as I pass by' (Addition for the road).
Naturally I suppose a Ringing Driving School's Principal gets the job of teaching his fellow ringers to drive. Ringers from the same tower, others met on visits, at meetings The friendliness and the atmosphere that exists in the towers crept into the School's instruc tion cars, also some of the jargon of the Exercise.

To have a number of ringers on the books at the same time induced quick snappy comparable instructions like, 'Careful with that last bit of the clutch. No, don't bring it up too far or too quick, you'll break the stay. No, no dodging, that is only when stationary or nearly so. From top come first into third. then secoonds'..Or, when slowed down by an obstruction ahead, 'Make seconds and lead again!'... Hold her like holding your bell up" (First gear engaged, clutch slipping for a second or two) - Let him (pedestrian) go first.'

Once when entering a large roundabout and intending to turn right... Look there's your chance, between the loriry and the bus ! make the lorry your course bell and the bus your after bell'. ... 'No, make sure the gear lever is in neutral before using the stamer, like making sure where your bell is before pulling.'

Look to! That is around you before moving away; like when its Treble's going, Treble s gone; ... Or like in the early stages, when there were muddles, things happening too quick to be able to record in detail. "Bring em' round. stand, and start again!
-Steady, steady. you're pressing the acelerator pedal too hard, you re ringing the bells, here! (Making her pink) 'Ringing Minimus

How can I ring Minimus with a Morris Minor?"
one of the cars.

After 23 years of driving instruction, this made quite a change and we all enjoyed it, with $98 \%$ passing the first time.

A CAMPANOLOGICAL CRUISE  FROM READING

The dank river mist had already cleared, and the blue sky promised a fine day, on the morning of September 17 th , when a small party of ringers, mainly from St. Mary's, Reading, boarded the 'Treleague' at Lower Basildon.
The 'Treleague,' a shapely 56 ft . pinnace with a tall brass funnel, under the command of Cap'n Cheeseman, that much respected veteran of the Upper Thames, was to be our conveyance for a novel outing.
We 'steamed ' through Goring and Cleeve locks, passing many a magnificent riverside mansion, backed by the Berkshire Downs on one side of the river and the Chiltern Hills on the other. At the 'Beetle and Wedge' we hove to for refreshment, whilst coffee was served on board, and it was all that we could do to restrain one would-be tower-grabber from diving in when the bells of South Stoke could be heard ringing across the water. We arrived on time, at Wallingford, our first port of call. Mr. Jack Berry met us at St. Mary-le-More, and led us up to the tower to tap round ' some Stedman and London on these eight good old bells.

On returning to the boat, we found that the galley had prepared an excellent five course funch for which we were all very grateful. Between Wallingford and Dorchester. the Battle of Britain flying display at Benson aerodrome was very much appreciated. We finally dropped anchor under the shadow of the Wittenham Clumps, and walked across half a mile of muddy fields to Dorchester Abbey. Most of us made use of the opportunity to view the Abbey whilst the remainder struggled with the complexities of the combination lock on the belfry door. Fortunately the Vicar came to the rescue in time for us all to have a short ring on this pleasant octave.
Back on the boat again, the apple barrel was pitched into whilst the kettle boiled to provide a very welcome hot cup of tea in the rather cool evening. Although we were a little late leaving Dorchester, we passed through Goring Lock before sunset.
Thank you, Cap'n Cheeseman, for a very enjoyable day. We'll come again next year if we may.

WINDSOR CASTLE BELLS

PROBABLY no bells have a closer connection with the Kings and Queens of England than those in the Curfew Tower of Windsor Castle. Part XVII. of 'The Church Bells of Berkshire,' by Frederick Sharpe, F.S.A., is devoted exclusively to this tower, the bells of which hang in a massive oak frame, dating in part from 1497. The five largest bells have swung in the same pits since 1612, and their mediæval predecessors probably did the same. There is a persistent tradition that the tenor bell, now 26 cwt ., at some time weighed 36 to 40 cwt . While Mr. Sharpe and other writers can find no documentary evidence to support this theory, which was stoutly upheld by a former towerkeeper, it would have been possible to hang a bell of this size in the space now occupied by the three smallest bells.

The first St. George's Chapel was erected in the 13th century, and a writ issued in 1243 was for the provision of a stone turret at the front of the chapel to house three or four bells. This was erected in probably a similar fashion to those at St. Paul's Cathedral and Salisbury Cathedral, and four bells obtained from Master John de Seynt from surplus metal which remained after the casting of the great bell at Westminster. Of John de Seynt nothing is known.

Accounts for tha years $1352-3$ reveal that a belfry was erected on the roof of the chapel, but whether bells were hung in this belfry and proved a failure, or whether this scheme was abandoned in favour of another, is not known. Some seven years after the erection of the belfry on the chapel roof, a stone tower, known as 'Belfry Tower,' was erected and bells in it from about 1360 to 1475. These were a ring of four, George, Mary, Jesus and John, and the great clock bell, Edward. In 1378 ten ringers were paid for ringing the bells for three days on and after St. George's Day.

In 1475 King Edward IV. issued a patent for the removal of the bells to the Clewer or Curfew tower. The tenor bell, Jesus. was recast in 1598 by Richard Eldridge. of Wokingham and Horsham, but this bell was short lived, as in 1612 the Dean and Chapter called in John Wallis, the celebrated Salisbury bellfounder, to recast the five bells and to add a larger tenor to them to form a ring of six. The new tenor was to be made out of the large clock bell, Edward. Although Wallis was an exceptionally fine craftsman, five times he melted down and remade the bell, and, according to the Dean and Chapter, each time it 'sounded badly and always became worse.' In spite of all his endeavours, Wallis could not produce a bell to the satisfaction of the Dean and Chanter, and it was sold for $£ 115$ 6 s .10 s ., its weight being 29 cwt .3 qr .18 lb . This left the tower with the five smallest bells of an incomplete ring of six. In 1623 the Chapter decreed that a new great bell be made, and this is the present tenor. It bears the date 1614 and the initials of John Wallis, but there is no record of its purchase or the bellfounder's name. The date on the bell, writes Mr. Sharpe, remains a mystery. Some have thought that Wallis kept the old bell and resold, or gave it back to the college after a lapse of ten years. While agreeing that to make the Dean and Chapter a present of it would be consistent with what we know of his character, the writer is sure that Wallis did not keep the old bell.

In the Curfew Tower to-day there are two bells cast by William Whitmore in 1650 -Wallis's treble of 1612 , which is the third and also the second. Thus in 1650 there was a ring of eight, and no further alterations were made until 1741, when the treble was recast by Thomas Lester, of Whitechapel. and four years later he recast the fifth, which was again recast at Whitechapel in 1898. The present ring accordingly is three bells dated 1612 , one 1614, two 1650, one 1741 and one 1898.

The bells are chimed for the daily services by means of an Ellacombe apparatus, and are rung on special occasions by a band of ringers appointed by the Dean and Canons. Five peals are recorded on tablets on the walls. The oldest, 5,040 Union 'Trebles,' is dated February 21st, 1748. and was rung with two men on the tenor (Will Cock and Berry Manley). The second is 'a true and complete peal of 5,040 Grandsire Tripples,' rung by the College Youths on April 10th, 1787, called by James Worster from the second. On this occasion there were two men on the seventh and two on the tenor. The other three are contemporary with the present time. On May 6th, 1935, 5,056 Bob Major was rung, conducted by Mr. E. S. T. Farr. with Mr. A. R. Pink on the tenor; on June 8th, 1946, 5.040 Grandsire Triples. conducted by Mr. N. V. Harding. in commemoration of Victory Day; and on May 9th. 1951, 5,040 Grandsire Triples, conducted by Mr. L. Stilwell.

Last January Mr. Basil Langton, of New York, visited Barcombe. Sussex, belfry and, with permission. tape recorde ands surprise, and told the company Sunday, October 9th. and toid the company that the recording had interested his friends in America very much. On this occasion he took another tape recording and photographs of the band ringing 120 Grandsire Doubles. He is also taking to America a copy of the Central Council's handbook.
We regret that an error occurred in the serial numbers of publication in the last four issues. These should be 2,579, 2.580, 2,581 and 2.582. The current issue is 2,583 .

We regret to hear that Mr. J. W. Parker. who is living with his daughter, Mrs. G. W Fletcher at Caister-on-Sea, recently had a fali and is now seriously ill.
The repair work in the belfry at Debenham. Suffolk. has resulted in a smart appearance. The bells were heard at their best during a peal of Yorkshire last Saturday.

Pulborough bells have recently been overhauled by Messrs. John Taylor & Co.. and a false ceiling put in the ringing chamber. They are now a pleasure to ring.

A pair of black gloves were left in the belfry of Tonbridge church on October 1st on the occasion of the annual meeting of the Tonbridge District and a gentleman's raincoat exchanged for a lady's!. Will owners please contact Mr. Walter Dobbie.

Two young ladies of the Guildford Guild are freshers at Durham University-Miss Sally Buchanan, of Chobham, and Miss Janet Cleeve. of Guildford. A farewell peal was rung for Miss Cleeve at St. Mary's. Guildford. who has had a previous acquaintance of Durham with St. Christopher's Guild.

The quarter peals rung at Chelsfield. Kent. appeared under the heading West Wickham, on page 670. The error, on our part, is regretted. It was a case of assuming that the West Wickham address of the sender was the tower where the performances took place. Will senders of quarter peals, please, write reports in accordance with the published style.

RELFRY GOSSIP

In the attempt, in Hampshire and Berkshire, for five peals in a day in five different towers last Saturday, only four were rung. The attempt for Yorkshire at Highclere, reports Mr. A. Patrick Cannon, was lost after Iwo hours through a miscall.

The peal rung at Dickleburgh. on September 27th (see page 685), was for the Norwich Diocesan Association.

Presiding at the Conservative Parly conference, at Scarborough, was Cclr. Ted Brown, a Tottenham trade unionist, who according to the Press, hoped to ring at St. Mary's Scarborough, before the end of the conference.

Mr. D. E. Griffin informs us that the peal at Oxendon, on September 24th (see page 669). was the llth peal on the bells. The 10th was rung on May 7th, 1960.
In a Midland Week of peal ringing Mr. G. E. Fearn and Mr. Jack L. Milhouse each scored 10 peals and Mr. John A. Anderson nine.

Two new trebles have been added to Packworth. Warwicks, church. These were dedicated on September 18th by the Bishop of Aston. and a peal of Plain Bob Triples rung the same day.

The weather caused a disappointment to the ringers of SS. Peter and Paul. Ash, near Sevenoaks, on September 30 th , as they intended ringing a quarter peal for the Harvest Festival, the birth of a second daughter to Mr. Guy Jones (a locab ringer) and for the first anniversary of the Rector's appointment. There is a silevr lining to every cloud, and success may not long be long delayed.

Just over $£ 200$ has been received to provide the Alfred H. Pulling memorial bell at Guildford New Cathedral. The Executive Committee of the Guildford Diocesan Guild have to place an order for the bell in consultation with the architect. Sir Edward Maufe. at an early date, if it is to be in time for the consecration on May 17 th in the presence of H.M. the Queen. Considerably more money is. however, required. Donations should be sent 10 Mr. C. W. Denyer, 15 Crondall Lane, FarnAam.

NATIONAL POLICE GUILD

I EICESTER, where the annual meeting and 1.1 dinner of the National Guild of Police ringers were held on September 24th, has a very special place in the history of the Guild, for it was here that it was formed in 1931, largely through the initiative and enthusiasm of the late Harold J. Poole (ex-Inspector, Leicester City) and ex-Chief Inspector William Bottrill (Metropolitan). So it was with a feeling of being at home' that members and friends from Bedford, Bristol, Cornwall, Leicester (City and County). Liverpool, London and Manchester assembled.
The London contingent, because of an early start and a fast run up the M.1, and in spite of some faulty map reading by an ex-R.A.F navigator, were able to ring on the fine eight at Monks Kirby, Warwickshire, a much-appreciated privilege. Ringing in Leicester was at St. John-the-Divine's, the Cathedral, St. Margaret's and All Saints', some of it good and some indifferent. It was very pleasant to be met at St. John's by Herrick Bowley, Master of the Cathedral band, who was with us for the rest of the day and who at one stage was seen to be standing behind the Master of another quite-well-known Society, reminding the latter when to call the bobs in a touch of Stedman Cinques.
The business meeting was held at Leicester City Police H.Q., with the president, ex.-Sgt. E. C. Turner, in the chair, supported by our indefatigable secretary, P.C. John Smith. The routine business was soon disposed of, and the president then vacated the chair for the election of officers. Regularly each year Mr. Turner says 'The job should go round,' and just as regularly he is re-elected, this year being no exception. John Smith was re-elected secretary/treasurer, with Sgt. Jack Rawson to keep an eye on him in the capacity of auditor, and there were two changes in the committee, which now consists of Messrs. T. R. Butler, G. Amor, C. E. Willmington, N. S. Bagworth, H. R. Woods, B. Walshaw and A. Pearce.

Several new members were elected, and it was decided that if possible the 1961 meeting would be held in Grantham on September 23 rd.

HONORARY LIFE MEMBER

A most pleasing feature of the business meeting was the election of ex-Chief Inspector Bottrill as an honorary life member, an honour which he richly deserves. Mr. Bottrill, who retired from the Metropolitan Police over 20 years ago and who now lives in Luton, has done much for police ringing. In 1912 he took part in the first peal by a band of police officers, which was conducted by P.C. Charge, bet ter known to the Exercise as the late Cornelius Charge, a brilliant composer. Mr. Bottrill also took part in the first peals of Stedman Cinques and Cambridge Major by police officers. On the formation of the National Police Guild in 1931, he was elected the first president, subsequently served as vice-president, and conducted the first tower bell peal by the Guild.
The members heard with regret of the death of ex-P.C. Fred Digby, first secretary of the Metropolitan Police Guild and a founder member of the National Guild, who also took part in the first tower bell peal by the Guitd.

Under the genial chairmanship of the president, a company of about 60 members and friends assembled at dinner, at which the guests were the Archdeacon of Leicester. the Chief Constable of Leicester and Rutland and the Chief Constable of Leicester City, and their ladies. So ended a most enjoyable day.
It is felt that there must be many ringers in the Police Service, or who have been associated with it, who have had no contact with the Guild. There are two classes of members (a) Full members, i.e.. those who are serving or have served in the Police Service as regular officers or full-time auxiliaries (Special Constabulary or War Reserve), and (b) Associate members, i.c., past or present members of the Special Constabulary or cadets. Any ringers who are so qualified will be warmly welcomed to the Guild, be they "scientific or call-change ringers. The secretary, P.C. John A. Smith, 17, Glen Way, Oadby. Leicester, will be glad to hear from prospective new members. J. P.

MR. BURLEY P. MORRIS

Secretary, Derbyshire Association

Mr, Burley Morris, the popular secretary of the Derbyshire Association, had no easy task when he succeeded Mr. Ben Cooper, of Bolsover, for Ben had served the Association during its formative years, and was very conscientous in carrying out his duties. It is always a big job to follow a good man, but Burley has taken up the task in a very enthusiastic way, and is already proving himself worthy of the trust placed in him
He had not been in office long before he discovered that a very nice ring of six bells at Bradbourne had not been rung for several years; so, roping in a few helpers, he went there and cleaned the place up, got the bells going again, and they proved to be very pleasant to ring upon. At present he is putting in many hours of really hard work, instructing a band at Chelmorton, where recently a new ring of five bells was installed. Such is the enthusiasm there that they are already raising funds to install another bell, and the local ringers may be sure that they have the support and goodwill of the Derbyshire Association.

LEICESTER GOLDEN WEDDING

Sixty years ago the late Mr. Josiah Morris, of St. Margaret's, Leicester, said to his son Ernest: 'It's about time you learned to ring; come to the practice and bring a friend. Ernest brought his school pal Fred Staniforth, and they both were taught together at St . Mark's (8) and St. George's (6), Leicester

A few years later the Staniforth family migrated to Kibworth, and Fred attached himself to the local band, becoming their leader. The two pals, kept in touch, and in due course Ernest Morris called the first peals at Kibworth on the six and later the eight bells after augmentation. He also became Fred's best man in 1910, and conducted the wedding ringing.
To mark the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Staniforth. a quarter peal of Plain Boh Minor was rung by W. A. Bolton - Ernest Morris (conductor) 3. A. Martin 4. W. Allen 5. N. W. Bolton 6. A. S. Bolton 7. A. Behagg 8. It is noteworthy that besides . Morris. A. Martin also took part in the original wedding peal 50 years ago!
Apart from being captain of the ringers, Mr. Staniforth is also people's warden, and was a former treasurer of the church. He was formerly a textile manufacturer at Leicester.

Burley Morris was born at Warkton. Northants, in 1912, and was educated at Warkion and Kettering Grammar School. He learned to ring at Warkton when he was 14. and rang his first peal there in 1928. At this time the famous Irthlingborough band was making ringing history, under the late $\mathbf{A}$. $\mathbf{Y}$. Tyler and Walter Perkins. Burley soon found his way there, and rang a good number of peals with them. He also did a lot of ringing at Kettering with David Nichols, another Northants enthusiast, and also such celebrities as C. W. Clarke and Miss Evelyn Steele. He always remained loyal to his own tower at Warkton, ringing regularly for Sunday services. and he called his first peal (Grandsire Doubles) at Weldon in 1930. He is postmaster of Ashbourne, Derbyshire, where he very soon made his presence felt, and soon got the ring of eight bells going regularly for Sunday services. He gets on very well with the clergy, too-a good point for a secretary.

When he was in Northants he served the Peterborough Guild, firse as a committee man. then as Central Council representative, then as auditor and finally as Master, from 1955 to 1958. His peals total to date is 181, of which he has conducted 44 . Burley is very proudt of his membership of the College Youths, and was frequently to be seen in London before he moved to Ashbourne, During his service with the Royal Signals in the 1939 war, his duties took him to Barnet, and he married Miss Mary Swift. Whilst in the district he rang his first peal of Bristol at Barnet, and also a peal of Spliced Surprise in four methods with the famous Bushey band. Burley is of a very friendly nature, and there is no doubt that under his enthusiastic leadership the Derbyshire Association will continue to make good progress.

JAFUS.

SILENT BELLS RING OUT AGAIN

On Sunday morning, October 2 nd, the church bells in the tiny Hampshire village of Sydmonton, near Newbury, were heard for the first lime for many months when they were rung by a band of ten ringers from Reading. Overton. Kingsclere and Baughurst. The occasion was the harvest thanksgiving, at which the preacher was the Bishop of Southampton.

The church, dedicated to St. Mary-the-Virgin, is beautifully situated in the grounds of Sydmonton Court, and from the tower there is a fine view towards the Hampshire Downs. The bells are six in number (tenor about 8 cwt .), and this is believed to be only the fifth occasion this century they have been rung, the village being too small and too isolated to support a band of ringers of its own.

As is only to be expected, the bells go badly. although they are by no means unringable. They are very noisy inside the ringing chamber. but when heard from outside they have quite a pleasing tone. Grandsire Doubles was the only method rung, but the striking was good taking all things into consideration, and the three young beginners from Kingsclere, in particular, handled these difficult bells extremely well. During the service, both the Vicar and the Bishop expressed their appreciation of the ringing. Afterwards the ringers were entertained to refreshments by Lt.-Col. Kingsmill, of Sydmonton Court, a gesture which was much appreciated.

One young resident of Sydmonton, seeing ringers in action for the first time, has expressed a keen interest in learning the art of change-ringing, and may be able to persuade friends to learn also. With some attention to the bells, and the promise of help from outside. there is every prospect that the bells, even if not rung every Sunday, may at least be heard more often in the future than they have been in the past.

ST. MARYS, EWELL, RINGERS' OUTING

The annual outing of St. Mary's, Ewell. ringers took place on September 17 th and no rain marred the enjoyment of the excursion into Sussex and Hampshire, where we were scheduled to visit seven towers. Unfortunately, one of these, at Midhurst, had to be cancelled owing to the funerat of the verger.
Our destination was St. Mary's, Petworth. where the 14 th century tower has had two steeples, the first said to have had a perilous list before being removed in 1800 and the second, condemned as being dangerous, was demolished in 1947. This tower has a ring of 8 (tenor 18 cwt .) and the bells were soon ringing merrily to rounds and touches of Grandsire and Plain Bob, by our mixed company, whose experience ranges from 5 months to over 50 years. Those of our numbers most junior in years and stature were somewhat handicapped here by the lack of boxes on which to stand but perhaps these had been used to send the pigeons eggs to market! Certainly the carpet of pigeon feathers on the steps to the ringing chamber deadened the sound of our footsteps.

On then to the delightful village of Easebourne, to visit another church of St. Mary, with its 8 bells (tenor 11 cwt .). Ringing here from ground level allowed our friends an unimpeded view of operations which they fully appreciated. Our organist, whilst enjoying his own 'touch ' on the organ, had to be asked to modify his efforts as they made it difficult for the ringers to hear the results of their own! Continuing our journey through Sussex on into Hampshire, brought us to Portsmouth, where we all enjoyed an excellent lunch before visiting the Cathedral. Here, the heaviest ring of the day (ienor $25 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), augmented to 10 in 1957. caused not a little difficulty to at least one of our learners who had previously not rung on more than 8 . An attempt at not rung on more than 8 . An attempt at Double Norwich Court Bob also proved too ambitious, but a most enjoyable session was held before moving on to our third church. dedicated to St Mary at Portsea, where calamity overtook us. The stay of the third of this fine ring of 8 fractured, causing a shock to the ringer and so affecting two timid members of the party that we crept from the tower and calmed our nerves by joining those of our friends who were being conducted round this imposing church by the kindly and informative resident organist

Back now into Sussex and the town of Arundel where we all partook of an adequate and welcome tea, followed by a leisurely walk up the hill, past the castle, to the Church of St. Nicholas with its ring of 8 (tenor $13 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.). where two of the local ringers joined us for a while. This church would appear to be unique in that access to the tower is from a stairway behind the altar.
Our last tower was yet another church of St. Mary. at Billingshurst. and here we found an indication that winter is nearly upon us for the church was already heated. The bells (8. tenor 12 cwt .) did not go as easily as those in most of the towers we had visited and some of our learners were again grateful for timely assistance and advice from the more experienced. Here 100. one of our lady members was observed at one time to be gallantly coping with the second in a touch of Grandsire from what appeared to be a most uncomfortable perch on a very small block of wood ! A total of 50 people were carried in two coaches on the outing. of whom 21 were ringers and learners. and we say a really hearty thanks to those behind the scenes who organised the trip. Although it was a rather lengthy trip (from 7.15 am . to $10.30 \mathrm{p.m}$.) so well was everything organised that we were only 15 minutes late on arriving home. We would like to express our gratitude to all incumbents and tower captains for the use of their bells.

LETTERS

FIRING AT WINCHESTER

Dear Sir,-Could I be allowed a further rief comment on this subject, and at the same time rectify a slight inaccuracy contained in Mr. Noice's letter published in a recent ivue.
First. I was only a member and a very junior member at than of the party which visited Winchester when the firing under discussion took place. I have no doubt that Mr Lampard made all the necessary arrangements quoted with our organiser, but I was not personally involved in any way. I wish to stress this point. because the implication could be drawn as a criticism of local arrangements from the leader of a visiting band. which in this instance is mistaken.
Secondly, my opinion on firing is a purely personal one, and is directed at its practice generally. The fact that this particular incident look place at Winchester is irrelevant: I used it merely to illustrate my point.
1 respect the right of every tower to do as it pleases to accord with local custom, but I see no reason 10 withdraw dispassionate criticism of the practice of prolonged firing. whether it sakes place at Winchester or anywhere else.-Yours faithfully,

TOUR REPORTING

Dear Sir,-May I make a plea for a hetter tandard of sour reporting? Generally these are well written and interesting. A few are not worth the space occupied. The almost exclusive use of Christian names in the text reduces the interest of the article immediately. The reporter uses a pseudonym or just his initials often. Humorous asides are inserted, meaning nothing to the majority of readers. If a genuinely amusing incident occurs. let it be reported in full. These faults are tiresome and irritating as reports of tours and outings should be made to interest the Exercise in general and not only that the few participants can see their exploits in print.

Perhaps, sir, some cutting at editorial level may improve the standard.-Yours faithfully. Sheffield. RICHARD E. PRICE.

COMMENT ON PEAL TOLRS

Dear Sir.-I find it very difficult to understand how ringers can send in a whole page of peals without something to accompany it appearing under 'Gratefully Acknowledged.' To those who are complacent regarding the finances of the "R.W. I would say that it will be next January when we shall see the real effect of the rise in price!-Yours faithfully.

RINGING AT WALBERTON

Dear Sir,-The unwelcome publicity given in the national Press to our tower at Walberton gives a completely wrong impression of our relations with the Vicar. The peal which was rung earlier this year was arranged by Mr . Booker with an imported band. without the knowledge or permission of the Vicar, and Without informing residents living near the church. who righty object to three hours" ringing without warning. No one objects to the bells being rung under normal circumstances. We had a home division meeting iwo days after the Vicar's induction last Mirch: there has been one peal attempi since. and numerous visiting parties. No one is "locked out of the tower, and visiting parties and peal attempts through normal channels are welcomed. Yours, etc., B. D. PRICE. Tower Captain.

Reading & Southampton Universities' Tour Of Kent

1 FRUITLESS tower grab by a few Reading ringers based on Holmbury youth hostel started off this year's tour on Thursday, June 28th. By Friday evening our numbers had increased by the arrival of some of the South ampion crowd. so we managed call-changes on Ockley's pleasant six. Great plans were made with the help of 'Dove, for some ringing on Saturday during the cycle ride from Holmbury to Kemsing youth hostel. Not all our plans came to fruition but we did ring at Buckland, Limpsfield and Brasted.
Sunday was the official beginning of the tour. We were all to meet at Canterbury Cathedral at 2 p.m. This meant a long, hot and dusty cycle ride for the advance party and also most of the others. It was on this morn ing that Adrian found a large and beautiful map of Kent lying in the middle of the road and this was used throughout the whole week

With great enthusiasm we set off on Mon day morning 10 St. Stephen's. Canterbury where we rang some Duffield by unpopula request. St. Alphege's bells were enjoyable. rung well to London Minor, and also their handbells. In glorious sunshine we ate our pienic lunch before hurrying of to Whitstable where we were given a very pleasant welcome Sturry was the next tower and here some Undershaf: Doubles came round.

MASTER ' ATTACKED
An unusual evening was spent at Canterbury youth hostel. The warden had kindly borrewed some Beethoven, Chopin and Tchai kowsky records and we listened to these while cooking sausages for the next day's lunch. It seems that a tour never passes without the S.U.G. master being attacked in some way This year Adrian found his sleeping bag tied up with string and. jumping to the wrong conclusion about the culprit. woke up Fred from his peaceful sleep to get his own back
Tuesday was dull and drizzly. One bright spot was the sight of Geoff. climbing down from his dormitory on the second floor by means of a rope fire escape. We arrived at Quex Park feeling rather wet and cold so consequently we didn't do justice to the bells. Grandsire Doubles sounded quite impressive rung on the front and back six simultaneously We were fortunate in being joined by the Rev. Stanley Evans at Birchington and rang some worthwhile Kent. At Margate some Stedman came round after two bobs. The ride to Ash-next-Sandwich was a very rough one but the fine heavy six were worth visiting Owing to a slight mix-up over youth hostel accommodation we found that we had to cycle to Doddington before ten o'clock. stopping at Canterbury for a meal on the way. We were so hungry after the gruelling cycling that when we found a cafe we ordered three to four different meals each. It was quite a task for the proprietor to produce them all with two gas rings. Doddington youth hostel was reached at last just after ten o clock. The men were amused by their dormitory. a shed in the garden. and a notice saying. Leave door open for extra ventilation
Wednesday was much brighter. Cambridge went well on the light eight at Hernhill. The Waterloo-lower church of Faversham and Teynham were also visited before lunch Sittingbourne's magnificent ring sounded well to Yorkshire. Borden's we found rough and difficult to manage. and a plaque in Tunstal belfry aroused interest: .. To the glory of God. and in commemoration of his having resided in this parish since his birth here. the chiming clock was placed in this tower by Charles Edward

A COLLISION

Lenham. Harrietsham and Leeds were visited on Thursday morning. Lenham's newlyrehung eight being particularly enjoyable. While cycling towards Maidstone. Helen and Brian collided and came off their bikes. scattering lunch all around them. Fortunately it was the only accident of the week. We split into two parties to make sure we all got a ring in the full programme of sixes in the afternoon-East Farleigh. Wateringbury and afternoon-East Farleigh. Wateringbury and Wrotham with good ringing on good bells.
It was once more pouring with rain on Friday as we worked our way through Seal,

Sevenoaks, Tonbridge. Tunbridge Wells, and by the time Rotherfield was reached a thunderstorm was raging. It began to clear up as we approached Mayfield, the last tower. Brian jumped off his bicycle to run up a hill when we were about $4 \frac{1}{2}$ miles away from Blackboys youth hostel. Someone promised him a pint of best bitter if he should run the whole way and before long this offer was increased $102 \frac{1}{2}$ pints of bitter, lunch the next day and a packet of crisps. With such a prize available he managed the run easily but was not too bright the next morning

Four people joined us on Saturday for our ring at Waldron. Hailsham and the East bourne towers. The tour had come to a close at last and we said goodbye to several of the party at tea-time. The few that were lef made their way to Alfriston youth hostel and were fortunate enough in getting a ring on Alfristons pleasant light six after supper.

Our thanks are due to all who made the tour successful; the local ringers for their welcomes and the Southampton Guild for their careful arrangements. It is rumoured that next year's tour will be on four wheels. not two but whatever form it takes, we look forward 10 it being as happy and enjoyable as the 1960 tour.

WEDDING AT MARKET HARBOROUGH

The wedding took place at St. Dionysius' Church, Market Harborough, on October 8th, between two of the local ringers - Rober Bindley and Gillian Coates. The bridegroom s a committee member of the Market Harborough Branch of the Leicester Diocesan Guild. and the bride a member of the Parish Church choir and also a Sunday School leacher

As the couple left the church, 120 Grandsire Doubles with 7. 6, 8 covering was rung, in which two of the younger members of the band (R. Carr and R. Martin) took part. This was immediately followed by a quarter peal of 1,260 Grandsire Triples, by the following: N Spencer (first on eight) 1, A. Martin 2, F. Wallington 3, D. Griffin 4, R. March 5, E Martin (first of Triples) 6, G. Hollick (conductor) 7. A. Millward 8

NEWS FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA

On July 30th Dr. Alan Batten, who was a ringer at his father's parish church, St. Mary's, Swynnerton, Staffs, was married to Miss Lois Dewis in St. Philip's Church, Victoria, B: Dr. Batten is on the staff of the Astrophysical Observatory, and has been a regular ringer at Christ Church Cathedral since coming to Victoria a year or so ago. The parents of hoth the bride and bridegroom travelled by air from England to be present at the wedding, and the Rev. G. C. Batten, of St. Mary's, Swynnerton, took part in the marriage service.
After the wedding reception Dr. and Mrs. Batten left by the afternoon steamer for Vancouver, and thence by rail to Banff: as they boarded the steamer they could hear the ringing of the Cathedral bells. It was a unique occasion, as the bells of St. Mary's, Swynneron, over 6,000 miles away, were also being specially rung for the occasion of the wedding. Mr. Peter Crook, of Bolton, and his daughter Mrs. Paine, who were then visiting Vicloria, took part in the ringing and also rang again for the morning and evening services the next day, July 31st.

On Sunday, September 18th, Wing-Commander and Mrs. J. S. Mason arrived in Victoria. The wing-commander, a previous Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, rang at Christ Church Cathedral for the evening service, and those of Victoria ringers who had the pleasure of meeting and ringing with him were the Misses Patricia and Margaret Horne, Margaret Izard, Mrs. Barlow, Dr. Batten, Arthur Izard and E. W. Izard.

On Wednesday, September 28th, Mr. W. B. Cartwright visited Victoria and rang touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples at Christ Church Cathedral with Miss Margaret Horne. Miss Margaret Izard, Dr. Longridge. Dr. Batten, D. Boniface. J. V. Donaldson and E. W. Izard. The Victoria ringers very much appreciated having the opportunity of meeting and ringing with Mr. Cartwright, a member of the Central Council. Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright were on a tour with other members of the British Law Society attending conventions in the U.S.A. and Canada, and were only able to spend Wednesday night and Thursday morning in Victoria before continuing their journey.

RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD

Bristol was the venue for this year's autumn meeting, held on September 24th. It was a remendous success, as about 50 members and friends sat down to tea after their ringing activities. Letters from 26 other members were re ceived, explaining their inability to attend. Mr O. Whittaker. the joint secretary of the Staft Association, and Mr. Bastin, the president of the Brisiol Branch. also apologised for nonattendance

Ringing commenced at 11 a.m. at St. James (10). the oldest church in Bristol, and continued for an hour, under the guidance of the Master. Mr. Bert Kynaston. After a short break for lunch. Christ Church (10) was on the programme, and Mr. Fidler popped in here to join in a course of Bob Royal. The next on the list was the lively ring of ten at St. Ste phen's, and afterwards the grand 12 at St Mary Redcliffe, where Kent T.B. Maximus was brought round

During tea. which was held in the Staff As sociation Institute. Temple Meads Station, Mr Truman. the president and acting Master of Gloucester and Bristol Association, welcomed the Guild to Bristol. and expressed a wist that everyone had enjoyed the ringing in the city.

Mr. Arthur Bennett, who made the excellen arrangements for the day, was thanked by the Master, who was supported by Mr. Sid Foskett.

Two new members were elected. Members and friends were then reminded by the Master of the 1961 annual general meeting at Darling ton on April 29th. After more ringing at St Philip's (8), all made their separate ways home.

KENT COUNTY  ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

A year with an improvement in almost every aspect of the District's activities was noticeable, reported Mr . C. T. Hillis at the annual meeting of the Ashford District, held at Ashford on October 1st. Compared with last year, 42 more practising members had subscribed ( 38 new members), 28 towers had subscribed, including Lympne, Great Chart and Mersham. which had rejoined, nine meetings had been held, and two more annual meetings were held for the first time by the Association, at Lympne and Wittersham. Service ringing had been well maintained. Twenty-three peals had been rung in 19 different towers, compared with ten in seven different towers. Five members rang their first peal-an increase of three.
All the officers were re-elected, as follows: Mr. C. T. Hillis, secretary: Messrs. J. J. Batchelor and A. Berry, District representatives: Mr. J. R. Cooper. Ringing Master. Mr. J. Willis thanked them for their past services. Tweive new members joined the Association.
Thanks were expressed to Canon N. G. M. Sharp for conducting the service, Mr. J. R. Cooper, the organist, to the Ashford ringers and the Mothers' Union for their kindness in providing and serving the tea. and to Miss Margaret Jones, secretary of the Ashford band. for her excellent local arrangements.

Maidstone District

The annual meeting of the Maidstone District was held at All Saints". Maidstone, on October 8th. During the service, which preceded the meeting. Canon Bennett mentioned that this would be the last time he would be able to officiate as he was leaving Maidstone to take up an appointment near Minehead. He would welcome any visitors to his new living, the church of which has a ring of ten bells. After a sumptuous tea, provided by the band of All Saints', Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher took the chair for the meeting.

The District secretary (Mr. R. L. Sills) presented his report for the past year. Particular note was made of the visit to Frinsted, this being the first meeting there for 25 years.

Two new practising members were elected. one for All Saints' and one for St. Michael's, recently reopened under the captaincy of Mr. Martin Howe. Also welcomed as a non-resident life member was Mr. C. C. Clarke, of Deddington. Oxford. who recently spent a week's tour amongst Kent towers.

Mr. R. L. Sills, Mr. P. Carter and Mr. A. Waddington were re-elected as District secretary and District representatives respectively. Mr. P. Town being asked to carry on as Ringing World' representative
A suggestion that too many meetings were held during the year caused discussion. Mr. Waddington pointed out that three years elapsed between visits to each tower, and that any reduction in meetings would extend the time required to complete the roster: but he would prefer that the February meeting be transferred to June, when better weather should be enjoyed. This was carried.
Dr. Hatcher announced that the annual general meeting of the K.C.A. would be held next Easter at Maidstone. The following provisional. programme of District meetings was agreed to: January, Harrietsham: March, Staplehurst: May, Ulcombe: June, Yalding and Nettlestead; July, Headcorn: September. Hollingbourne; October, Maidstone; November. Bearsted Proposals for the July coach tour were Surrey. Bucks, East Essex. or a mystery tour to county X. Voting gave Bucks 11 votes 10 mystery tour 10 . It was decided to hold a District party next Eastertide. following the successful venture during March this year.

The meeting closed with Mr. P. Carter proposing thanks to Canon Bennett, the organist, and All Saints' ringers for their welcome and lovely tea.

Tonbridge District

The annual meeting of the Tonbridge District was held at Tonbridge on October 1st. Ringing began in the afternoon and was followed by a service, conducted by Canon Bewes, who has recently come to Tonbridge. Canon Bewes welcomed the District and kindly provided tea at the Rectory for the whole company, with the assistance of members of the Tonbridge band.

The annual meeting followed tea, with Canon Bewes laking the chair. Miss Colgate told members that she did not wish to stand for reelection as secretary, and Mr. P. Corby expressed the feelings of all present by thanking Miss Colgate for her devoted service over the past seven years to the District. Members were then asked to put forth suggestions for the secretaryship, and Mr. Walter Dobbie was elected. Miss Colgate and Mr. B. V. Collison were elected District representatives and Mr. Stanley Jenner Ringing Master. Mr. Collison thanked Canon Bewes and all concerned with arranging the lea and meeting. Members then returned to the tower, and ringing continued in various methods until later in the evening.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The standard of ringing at some practice meetings. unfortunately perhaps, is not always very high, and the solution to the problem does not appear readily to be apparent. but I feel sure anyone who attended the combined meeting of the Western and Southern Divisions of the Sussex County Association at Steyning on October 8th will agree that the standard of ringing. taken as a whole, was exceptionally good. The Ringing Master had splendid control, and if any attempted method appeared to be heading for disaster a halt was called and a fresh start made.
Here every kind of ringer was catered for. from tho learner to the more experienced, and the programme included rounds, call-changes. Grandsire Triples. Stedman, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Brisiol. Cambridge and Superlative.

A combined meeting of this nature certainly appears to attract the more experienced ringer, whose presence is so lacking at most ordinary practice mectings. If. then, this is a solution to hetter ringing. then let us by all means have more combined meetings and enjoy the precence and services of the experienced ringer in helping to solve the problem of bad striking. Congratulations to the organisers for an enjoyable meeting.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GULLD

Presentations of a dressing table set to each of the two lady treasurers (the Misses Hazel and Cherry White), who at the end of the year retire from office, consequent upon their removal to South London, were made at the meeting of the Andover District at Longparish on September 24th. The presentations look them completely by surprise, and were in appreciation of their services.
A good crowd of members enjoyed ringing on the pretty six bells until service time. The Guild service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. Agg Lage) and this was followed by the good Longparish te.. Mr. A. W. Alliston presided at the meeting, and a long discussion took place over the annual report, members feeling there was much room for improvement -too many peals and too little of interest to the average ringer.

In the evening ringing took place at Hurstbourne Priors and St. Mary Bourne.

THE IRISH ASSOCIATION

Mr. W. Pratt, the president, and Mrs. Pratt attended the summer meeting of the Eastern District held at Drogheda on September 17th. The bells of St. Peter's Church were put to very good use for change-ringing, with only threc spells of call-changes.
A welcome break at 5 p.m. was for tca, kindly provided by the wives and lady ringers of Drogheda. Of necessity, primus stoves had to be used to boil water. In this sphere Walter Bovenizer and Billy Graham gave Trojan service. At tea the visitors were welcomed by the ringing rector of St. Peter's. the Rev. J. E. McKeon, who mentioned his pleasure at the regular attendance of the ringers and his delight in seeing grammar school pupils back again in the tower.

Mr. Pratt replied for the visitors, and Mr. J. T. Dunwoody also expressed his pleasure at heing present. After tea touches of Plain Bob Major were rung on handhells by Messrs. W. Pratt. J. T. Dunwoody, H. Brown and F. E. Dukes.

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD

The East Grinstead and District Guild held a most enjoyable meeting at Capel on October 8 th. This had been arranged with doubts on the part of the secretary, with the usual lack of post cards for tea, and with a very wet and windy day the outlook was not very promising. However, 22 turned up to enjoy this handy six until tea time.

A bountiful meal, arranged by Mrs. Penfold. was served in the Capel Laundry canteen, and this was followed by the business meeting. Members stood in silence to the memory of Luther Honess, and later congratulated the Guild chairman (Mr. E. Brunger) on his marriage to Miss Jenny Langston on the previous Saturday.

After the usual votes of thanks, most of the company made their way round the lanes to Newdigate, where they were welcomed by the Vicar (Rev. D. Bruce-Walker). Mr. Harman had kindly oiled the bells, which were put to good use until 8 oclock.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

About 50 members attended the quarterly meeting of the East Devon Branch at Stockland on September 17th. The Vicar (Rev. Mr. Drury) conducted the service. At the business meeting Preb. E. V. Cox presented six certificates: two new members were elected. The next quarterly meeting will be held at Buckerell-with-Feniton on January 14th. Monthly practice meetings have started.

A PEAL AT STOKE DOYLE

Of more than passing interest is the peal at Stoke Doyle, near Oundle. Northants, as the bells are one of the few remaining complete rings cast by Thomas Eayre, sen.. a bell-founder at Kettering from 1717 to 1757 . None of the bells has been recast since they were installed in the church. then a new edifice, in 1727. They are a sweet-toned ring, but now begin to require the attention of the bell-hanger. Stoke is a small village of just over 100 souls, and the last time the bells were rehung was in 1896.

Several attempts to ring a peal on the bells during the last three years have failed, but a half peal was brought round in March. The peal. recorded in our columns, was the first on the bells since 1923. In the 1920-30 period the belfry was a hive of ringing activity, a family named Ilankin. with others. heing the main inspiration. But death and removals robbed it, and ever since very little has been heard of Stoke Doyle.

OBITUARY

THE REV. R. A. AGG
The sudden death of the Rev. R. A. Agg. Rector of Crayford, on October 7th, at the early age of 52 , has deprived ringers in general and those of Crayford in particular of a very good friend. He himself had not gone beyond learning to handle a bell and ringing rounds, but his father had been a ringer in their native county of Gloucestershire and his son and two daughters had learned to ring soon after he became rector not quite two years ago.

Mr. Agg was keenly interested in all that went on in the belfry, which contributed in no small way to the advent of a large number of young people to the band, now about 20 strong, and we had hoped and believed he would be there to encourage us for many years to come. Our sympathy goes out to Mrs. Agg, Elizabeth. Margaret and' Christopher in the grievous loss.
E. A. B.

MR. CHRISTOPHER H. HAWKINS

Not only the ringers of St. Ellyw's Churchi. Llanelly, but many other friends will miss a great character in Mr. Chris. Hawkins, who at the age of 60 passed away suddenly whilst working in the greenhouse at his home on October 4th.

Chris.', as he was known to everyone. was a 'live wire' where ringing was concerned He had been captain of the ringers at St . Ellyw's for many years. a teacher of changeringing and a member of the Central Council Chris. had an endless store of energy, and in the early post-war years became a founder member and the first general secretary of St. David's Diocesan Guild.

At the inaugural meeting held at Carmarthen I well remember Mr. Pat Cannon saying that to succeed first there must be a spirit of unity and secondly plenty of hard work. If it was hard work then Chris. did his share, and in the end obtained the support and goodwill of the Bishop and clergy of the diocese. Mr. Hawkins was a regular Sunday service ringer. and encouraged others to do the same. He had many peals to his credit. and was always willing to pilot a 'first timer' through to the end.

The funeral service took place at the Parish Church of Llanelly on October 7th and was well attended. To his memory and to pay a last tribute to a faithful friend. 1.440 Minor ( 720 Kent Trehle Bob and 720 Plain Bobl was rung, half-muftled. on St. Ellyw's bells by Gwyn Thomas 1. J. Arthur Hoare 2. Ralph Skudamore 3. David J. Lewis 4. Trevor Roderick 5 Gwyn I. Lewis (conductor) $6 . \quad$ J. A. H.

THE REV. C. E. WARD

The older ringers of East Sussex have lost a good friend by the death of the Rev. C. E. Ward, who held the living of Salehurst from 1912 to 1953. Mr. Ward learnt to handle a bell and could ring rounds and call-changes. but could never master the intricacies of change-ringing. He rarely refused an application for visitors to ring on this tuneful octave, and for years Salchurst has been a popular tower. A peal for his 90th birthday was rung on August 22nd. which he heard and enjoyed. After his funeral on September 29th the hells were rung half-muffled to his memory

CANON E. H. F. CAMPBELL

Canon E. H. F. Campbell. Rector of Bray and a past-president, died on August 18th. reports "Irish Bell News." He was responsible for the rehanging of Bray hells on hall-bearings and on a steel frame shortly after he became rector some 17 years ago. He always had a short chat and a few jokes with the ringers hefore they started to ring on Sunday morningi. The bells of Bray Parish Church were rung muffled on the Sunday morning following the Canon's death.

HANBURY, WORCS

Some good rings among glorious scenery were found by Hanbury ringers during their outing to the Forest of Dean. The first tower visited St. Catherine's, Leigh, contained heavy bells These were certainly not ladies' bells, as severa of the fair sex found as they tried the fourth The lighter six of St. Mary-de-Lode, Gloucester, 'go' quite well, but were of poor tone After lunch several of the party explored the Cathedral and admired the splendour of the cloisters. Afterwards came Little Dean bells which do not go too easily but were enjoyed.

A ride of great beauty took the party beside the Severn to Lydney, where Grandsire Triples was rung on easy-going bells. During tea at Lydney the Rector expressed the thanks of the visitors to Miss Margaret Eachus for arranging the outing. Narrow byways took the party to Ruardean, having a good ring of eight, and then in the dark io Linton, where candles had to be borrowed from the pulpit before the lovely new six could be rapped round. All agreed that these hells, in a church without electricity, were the best of the day. Home was reached at $10.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

PAUL.

SAWLEY and LONG EATON, NOTTS

On October 1st, 12 ringers from Sawley and Long Eaton spent a very pleasant afternoon and evening in Leicestershire, in spite of had weather.
The first tower was Breedon-on-the-Hill. where a course of Cambridge was among the methods rung. At Market Bosworth the bells had been rung up before our arrival, and one of the local ringers helped us in ringing rounds, Bob Major and Grandsire and Stedman Triples. This easy-going ring was enjoyed.

After tea Kirkby Mallory was visited, and some slight difficulty was experienced with the long draught, although Boh Minor and Cambridge Surprise Minor were successfully brought round. Anstey was the last tower of the day, and several local ringers were waiting here to join us in ringing methods ranging from rounds to Spliced Little and Plain Bob Major.
Thanks are expressed to incumbents, tower captains and our organiser, Ringing Master and bus driver. David Marshall. J. M.

FRAMSDEN AND DISTRICT

An enjoyable half-day's outing was that arranged by Framsden and District ringers on October 8th. At Soham (10) there was a long delay in finding the key. Some 25 of the party went sight-seeing at Ely, while the others visited Littleport. The quietness of the bells caused comedian Fred 'to remark that they ought to be crossed with Wilby. After a bounteous tea at Ely, the journey was continued to St. John's, Peterborough. Ringing ranged from callchanges to Spliced Surprise and Cambridge Royal. Many thanks to all who helped to make this one of the best half-days ( 14 hours). L. G. B.

A LEARNERS' TOUR

For the third year running, a youthful band set out on a week's cycling, youth hostelling and bell-ringing in Suffolk and Norfolk, most of the towers heing miles away from towns. We felt the true hostelling spirit at Thetford. where we cooked our meals in the converted railway station, slept in the waiting room and ate in the booking office. As with all Y.H.A. members, the bad weather was only part of the game
The method rung was Plain Bob, starting with Minimus and ending with Minor. We also practised raising and lowering in peal. but it may well be that this is better done on tied bells until proficiency is achieved. Most of all our thanks are due to A. J. Hebley. V. A. Perry, L. Melton. P. Newing and H. Clayton. who gave much time and even more H. B. M

THE ROAD TO NEWBURY

THE heavy traffic going to Newbury on October 1st was not all race-bound. The day coincided with the autumn general meeting of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and as this was the first time the Guild had visited Newbury this century, and because of the popularity of these meetings, there was a very large attendance. To some it meant a journey of over 70 miles, and while the majority came by private cars, enterprising branches organised coach parties. In the morning, and again in the evening. the towers of the Newbury Branch were available for ringing, except those closed for repairs.

For some of those attending it was not merely a. meeting but in a measure a pilgrimage, for the Newbury Branch was always closely associated with two of the Guild's most outstanding officers-the Rev. C. W O. Jenkyn; a Master who died in office in 1932, and Mr. R. T. Hibbert, general secretary from 1917-1946. The three towers, so closely associated with these two men, lie within the boundaries of the branch. East Garston, a typical Berkshire downland village, was well loved by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, and in the churchyard he lies buried. His death took place at Newbury while listening to the newly augmented ten. East Ilsley was the birthplace and well-loved home of Mr. Hibbert.

To East Garston in the morning came ringers by coach and car to find that ringing had been delayed because of a funeral. Some took the opportunity of the delay to visit another tower: others did what many ringers have done before them, adjourned to the local inn to eat their lunch, play darts and ring handbells until such time as it was possible to ring. May it be recorded, that for once the fairer sex did not have all their own way in their match against friends from north of the Thames in spite of assistance from two of the Witney and Woodstock stalwarts.

The bells at East Garston do not go as well as they should, and proved to be a difficult task for the inexperienced. As the writer watched the younger ringers handling and managing these bells she thought of how C. W. O. Jenkyn would have delighted particularly in the performances of two of them-one in his early twenties, who rang with the precision of a master ringer: the other a small 12 -year-old redhead, who handled the treble with a perfect style. Both these ringers had been taught by people who had been closely influenced by Mr. Jenkyn in their youth, and to whom he had always been an ideal.

To East Ilsley during the evening came a large number of ringers, many of whom paid silent tribute to R. T. Hibbert, for it was here that he learned to ring, and from here as a young man he walked over the downs to Drayton to attempt peals with the first Master of the Guild, the Rev. F. E. Robinson. This long walk was made in all kinds of weather-snow, rain or sunshine-and one wonders how many would tackle the walk to-day in the hope of getting a peal. On this occasion there was a long queue waiting at Ilsley to ring, and this gave a chance to exchange a friendly word with fellow ringers who are rarely met with because of the size of the Guild.
One coachload made a final call at Drayton, a church so full of ringing history because of 'Father' Robinson's great enthusiasm. This church has now been fully restored after the fire which gutted much of the building two years ago. If the experts of the end of the last century could have been present what would they have said of eleven-year-olds, both boys and girls, ringing and discovering that many of them had been taught by a girl of 18 whose enthusiasm was the driving force in a North Oxfordshire tower, where, although the population is meagre. the bells are rung with great regularity Sunday by Sunday!

There is no doubt that these three great ringers-F. E . Robinson, C. W. O. Jenkyn and R. T. Hibbert-whose lives covered 65 years of the life of the Oxford Guild, would have rejoiced in two things. Firstly, that the Guild is training many of its young ringers well, although to-day's methods may not be the same as those exercised in their time, but the results are there and the prospects for the future hopeful. Secondly, that there is a greater friendship between the various branches of the Guild and a better understanding of each other's difficulties and problems.

In the first half of the present century it was only the Guild officers who had any deep understanding of the problems of the various branches-some urban, others a mixture of town and country, others purely rural. To-day, by such meetings and visits as this paid to the Newbury Branch, ringers from all over the Guild have an opportunity to see the other side of the picture and to discuss with local ringers the problems which face small downland villages and rural communities. where there has been a sudden influx of population due to Government projects or new industries. In this way each gains strength and courage to tackle their own problems anew.

 broadcast regularly, at about 8.50 a.m., just before the Light Programme opens on Sundays at 8.55 with the weather report. A few minutes from one of a series of five peals is broadcast each Sunday in rotation. Last Sunday. part of a peal of Grandsire Caters was heard. Following comes Stedman Caters Stedman Triples, Double Court Minor and Double Norwich Court Bob Major.Miss Jacqueline A. Roberts is the first lady to ring a peal at Pershore Abbey.
Beaminster. Dorset. ringers are busy making calendars in aid of the restoration of their bells.

Miss Sandra E. Chesterton, who is only 15, has conducted her first quarter peal at Aylestone. Leicestershire. A pupil of Mr . Russell S. Morris, she has been ringing just over three years and has rung 20 peals.
The band in the peal at Rolvenden. Kent, on October 15 th , would like to congratulate Mr. William Button, the tenor ringer, who came over the border from Sussex. to complete the circle' of this tower after a lapse of 25 years. The peal was rung as a 92 nd birthday compliment to his mother.
We regret to learn that Mr. R. L. Piron, honorary secretary of the Bedford District. is in the Allen Daley Ward. St. Charles' Hospital. Ladbroke Grove, W. 10 . He expects to be in hospital for a few weeks.

Mr. G. Dodd wishes to thank all incumbents and tower captains for the use of their bells for the record attempt to ring five Surprise peals in a day, especially those who allowed the bells to be rung in the early hours of the morning.

An unexpected and welcome visitor to the recent joint Kent/Surrey meeting, at West Wickham, was Mrs. Barbara Van Asselt (nee Mitchell). on holiday from Bahrain, and staying with her parents in Penge. Mrs, Van Asselt began ringing at West Wickham, and on removal to London rang many peals with the Willesden band before her profession took he: to Bahrain.

An Erin epidemic is at GOSSIP present raging at Stafford, but xperienced - Touches on touches has been both Triples and Caters in this delightful but sadly neglected method will be much appreciated by Robert J. Warrilow. 197, Tixall Road, Stafford.

The peal rung at Purleigh on October 1st (page 685). was for the Essex Association.
The peal of London Royal at Birmingham Cathedral, on October 13th, was Mr. John Pinfold's 800 th peal. Congratulations.
In the list of peals of the late Mr. George Gilbert. the 9.600 should read Double Dublin Surprise and not as printed (see page 693).
Mr. D. E. Griffin writes that the peal at Oxendon. Leicestershire, rung on September 24th. was the 11 th on the bells. The 10 th was rung on May 7th, 1960.
To the list of peals rung on Windsor Castle bells, reported in our last issue. should be added one rung on February 19th this year for the birth of Prince Andrew.

Mr. Patrick Cannon informs us that the proposed attempt for 40,320 Plain Bob Major at Loughborough is postponed until the New Year. There is, however, notice in this issue of an attempt on November 4th, at Over, by Mr. John Worth's band. The best of luck!

The peal at St. John's. Cardiff, on October 6th. was rung to mark the unique association Mr. G. F. Mitchell has had with this church. Here he was christened in 1881, confirmed in 1896 and married in 1909. As a youth he chimed the curfew and he has served the church as a sidesman for over 40 years.

The Snowdon Dinner at Rotherham. last Saturday. was a big success with an attendance of over 150 . The speeches were interesting. witty and, at times, provocative: the tune ringing of the Esclesfield Handbell Ringers reached a height of brilliance unheard of previously by most of the company. There was only one regret. Mr. John Gilbert, the joint organiser with Mr. Norman Chaddock, was through a heart attack unable to be present.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Canterbury District

A good attendance of 120 ringers, representing 27 towers, was recorded at the annual District meeting of the Canterbury District at St. Dunstan's, Canterbury, on October 8th. Four towers were available in the afternoon and the Cathedral in the evening.
The Rev. A. L. Lawler conducted the service at Si. Dunstan's, and the collection of nearly $£ 3$ was donated to the Belfry Fund of the church. Ringers supplemented the choir; Mr. Basil Milner was the organist.
The business meeting in the Parish Hall was presided over by Mr. J. A. Russell. The han. secretary laid emphasis on the decline in memhership; this, however, was soon reversed during the election of 28 new members. Service collections taken throughout the year amounted to $£ 1317 \mathrm{~s}$. $11 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}$. . with the exception of $£ 2$. which was donated to the County Benevolent Fund; the remainder went to church funds. Financially the District was better off. The motion for acceptance of these reports was carried unanimously.

All officers of the District were returned on nomination.

The Ringing Master's report was received with enthusiasm. Although Mr. D. A. Chapman criticised the striking, definite progress had been made in the District with two first peals on the bells and seven first peals by members. Surprise methods were more evident in the peal columns and District peals had exceeded last year's total of 15 , with two months of peal weather to explore. Chislet (6), Thanington (5) and Eastry (5) were now in union. The 100th pela on Si. Stephen's bells was successfully brought round, and this commemorated the retirement of the Rev. A. Barnes after 24 years as rector.

Mr. B. J. Luck (vice-president) thanked the clergy of Canterbury for the use of the bells. also the organist and the ladies for providing the tea.

THE NORWICH ASSOCIATION

The Southern Branch held a meeting at New Buckenham on October 8th. Unfortunately a wet afternoon rather spoilt the attendance, but good use was made of the bells by those present. The service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. H. Whitwham). Dr. P. Jonason presided over the business meeting, supported by Mr. W. G. Saunders (Ringing Master) and Mr. C. F. Phillippo (Branch secretary). It was decided to hold the annual meeting of the Branch at Bunwell on February 4th.

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE - No. 44

to ring peals in advanced methods. He is proud of the fact that never, during all this time, was a peal lost through a broken rope. He was content to be considered ninth man, but was always willing to stand in where necessary.

Born at Monmouth (England) in 1885, where his father conducted the first true peal in the county in 1886, he moved with his family to Crayford in 1889, and taught himself to ring at bell there. When he was 10 years old the hand was re-formed, and he was roped in as one of the band. His first peal was rung in 1899 when he was 14 years old. Throughout his life he has served the church at Crayford, having been a ringer for 65 years and chorister for 35 years. He has served on the Parish Church Council and is now a sidesman.

His peals total is 591 . of which he has conducted 17. These latter have been either Stedman Triples or Double Norwich. In addition he has taken part in three non-conducted peals -Cambridge, Superlative and Double Norwich. His first peal of Double Norwich was rung at Erith 60 years ago, conducted by Wm. Pye, with whom he rang many peals in later years, as he also did with Frank Bennett when he resided in London.
Some of his peals are of outstanding interest, such as 16 peals from Grandsire to London. rung with three generations of his family; his first of Cambridge Maximus at Canterbury, when someone turned out the light and the last three courses were rung practically in the dark: the 500th peal at Crayford, which he conducted : a peal at Monmouth on the 70th anniversary of the first true peal conducted by his father: and the recent Kent veterans' peal at West Malling. Although he did not take up handbell ringing until he was 50 years of age. he has since rung 52 peals on 8 to 12 bells. one of which was a 6,240 of Double Norwich.
Edwin Barnett possesses a remarkably retentive memory, evidence of which are his very useful contributions in the columns of this paper on many matters.

His service to the Kent County Association as District representative and committee man will always be remembered with gratitude, but his service to the Exercise, in providing them with such an efficient secretary to the Central Council, will be remembered even longer.

JAFUS.

THE ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at Aston on October 1st, when welcome visitors attended from Worcestershire and Shropshire.

Before commencing the ordinary business the Master (Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd) referred 10 the passing of Morris J. Morris. Mr. Morris was a very old member of the Guild and had taken part in some notable performances, including the peal of Stedman Sextuples rung on handbells. A minute's silence was observed as a tribute to his memory.

The following ringers were elected as resident members: Mr. and Mrs, D. J. Atherley (Aston). Peter D. Warren (Solihull), Barrie Hendry (Edgbaston) and Roger J. Gay (King's Norton). The tower elections, as life members. of the following were ratified: George $E$. Evendon (Malvern), Mrs. Avril Ivin (Houghton Conquest). Brian Harris and Basil Jones (Stockport), Bernard F. L. Groves (Maidstone), William H. Dowse, Frank Osbaldiston and Robert B. Smith (Marple), Dennis Mottershead (Wilmslow). A. Robin Heppenstall (Gainshorough) and David T. Darby (Leicester).

The meeting formally decided to hold the Henry Johnson commemoration dinner on March 4th. 1961, and the secretary was authorised to invite the usual guests.

A notice of motion was placed before the meeting that a proposition would be made at the annual meeting that the annual subscription be raised to 5 s . It was decided to hold the annual meeting in the city on January 7 th.

On behalf of the members the Master expressed thanks to the Aston ringers for their work in making secure the tombstone of Henry Johnson.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD

The annual meeting of the Penzance Branch was held at Ludgvan on October 8th, when about 70 turned up on an afternoon when the rain came down in torrents. In fact one way out of the parish was flooded when some set out for home. This did not detract from the pleasure of ringing on the pleasant six bells. which were recast by Messrs. Taylor and Co. about two years ago.

The service was conducted by the Rector (Canon R. de C. Murley) who. in his address of encouragement and welcome, referred to the fact that it was the Guild's third visit to Ludgvan during his incumbency. He remembered that on the second occasion he was ill. but he was thankful to be quite well again. and hoped to go on for a few years yet. The Rev. A. S. Roberts (Branch secretary) read the lesson. Other clergy present were the Revs. P. S. Gagg (Lelant), A. J. Vincent (Kenwyn) and G. Ruming (curate. St. Mary's, Penzance). Mr.. D. Burnett (Diocesan Ringing Master) was also present. A collection for the Branch Fund amounted to $£ 211 \mathrm{~s}$.
After a splendid tea, the meeting voted Mr. H. Miles to the chair in the absence of the Branch chairman (Miss Eileen Symons). The secretary (Rev. A. S. Roberts) reported a halance in hand at the end of 1959 of $£ 348 \mathrm{~s}$. 8 d .. and the meeting endorsed his action in sending $亡 2 \mathrm{2s}$. 10 Madron towards the recasting of the cracked seventh hell. The officers, with Mr W. Wood (Gulval) as auditor, were re-elected. Gwincar, with the bells of Phillack and Lelant was chosen for the spring festival. Mr. H. Miles proposed a vote of thanks to Canon Murley, the local ringers and the lady helpers. Ringing continued in the evening.

ALPHABET FOR BEGINNERS

SALLY. The thick, soft part, approximately three feet long, which is woven into the bell rope and which hangs at about eye level, is known as the sally. Without her we ringers would not know what to do! The sally is usually of one, two or three colours, its threads being interwoven with the strands of the rope and giving the effect of spiral colour bands. The derivation of sally is not known. But remember, she likes being caught hold of quite firmly with both hands nearly touching each other.

SCISSORS DODGE.-This is a term restricted to double-handed handbell ringing because it concerns two bells in one pair of hands. although the work of the bells is, of course. similar to those in the tower. We will assume you are ringing 3-4 to a course of Plain Bob Major and that you have reached the third lead-end. The third bell has hunted from the back and will be dodging in 5-6 down, whilst the fourth has hunted from the lead and will be dodging in 7.8 up. The process of crossing the bells during coursing and dodging in adjacent positions (or vice-versa), necessitating as you will see striking the bells in successive positions (6-7) at one stroke and then in positions with two other bells in between ( $5-8$ ). the whole being repeated, has, I hope you will see, a scissors-like effect. There are several forms of: scissors dodge and in addition to Plain Bob. they occur in Double Norwich Court Bob. Kent Treble Bob and London Surprise. The essential condition of a scissors dodge is that the two bells concerned must be coursing in opposite directions.

SHORT COURSE.-This is a touch where a course end is reached in less number of changes than is contained in a plain course of the method rung. You need only look in a text book or diary which gives a selection of touches in different methods to see the several ways in which it can be done. A short course cannot allow any one of the bells to do all the work of the method.

SINGLE.-You have already been intro duced to the ferm Single, and as with the term Bob, I will give a few figures at a lead-end to illustrate the effect of this call. Using six bells-

|  | Plain lead | Boblead |  |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  | 315264 | 315264 |  |
| lead-en | 132546 | 132546 | hand stroke |
|  | 135 | 13256 | back stroke |

By using one more Single (iwo in all) at the proper time, the number of true changes in a 6 -bell plain method will be extended from (6) to 120 . But why only two Singles when it was previously mentioned three Bobs? Because just two bells (the second and the fifth in the above illustration) change places at a Single. so the second Single would put them hack in their plain course order, whereas three bells the second, third and fifth in the illustration under Second, third and fifth in the illustration under Single in Plain Bob is to cause one bell to make thirds place and another to make fourths place, instead of dodging in 3-4 had it been a plain lead, and which means that the order of striking at the lead-end, as you will see from above, is 132564 and not 135264

SIX.-A six merely means a block of six changes, which need not begin or end in rounds. As there are no recognised methods on three bells, a six can appear only in a Principle -Stedman being the most popular. And in this particular Principle the ringing is nearly always commenced in the middle of a sixpresumably to make things easier and not more difficult!
SLOW BELL.-A slow bell in Stedman's Principle is one that having completed its double dodge in $4-5$ down commences a slow six by hunting down to lead, striking two blows in thirds-otherwise making thirds place-on its way. It then leads one whole pull, strikes one blow in seconds and returns to lead one more whole pull (collectively known as first whole turn). At this point the quick bell, previously referred to, takes the slow bell from lead. A slow bell in Kent and Oxford Treble Bob is one that, having dodged in $1-2$ with the treble. consecatively leads and makes seconds place until the treble returns.

SPLICED.-Spliced ringing is the term used when there is more than one method rung in a touch. Spliced Minor ringing was introduced about 50 years ago, but even twenty years later there were only one or two bands in the whole country who were not other than really struggling hard with Spliced Maior. In fact. Spliced ringing was viewed with apprehension by many ringers for a number of years, and opportunities to ring it were very limited. Nowadays there are occasional reports of Spliced ringing on any number of hells from six to 12 , but a different approach is necessary for splicing and ringing Minor methods compared with splicing und ringing on a greater number of bells. Basically, spliced ringing is ringing one method up to the lead-end when. for the next lead. another method is rung, and so on, although it must be mentioned that changes of method do not occur at every lead-end.
SPLICING.-The splicing of a rope is usually given to the handyman of the helfry. It is not a complicated work of art that need be restricted to the few, but some people can make a really neat job of a splice. One could say that it requires a certain amount of patience, application and skill. Splicing is the operation of joining two ends by means of neatly " marrying the several strands of the two ropes together in the identical way the ropes were made. There is, generally, in use the short splice and the long splice. Quite recently a series of articles on the splicing of bell-ropes appeared in the 'Ringers' Magazine.

STRIKING.-Bad striking of the bells is a justifiable cause for complaint on the part of the listening public, and I should think it is the reason for more shudders to run down the hacks of other ringers than anything else. The music of the hells simply cannot be produced if there is any bad striking. And good striking, in itself, is simple to attain. Of course, it needs much practice and concentration, and one could admit that some hells are particularly difficult to strike properly, but it can be done. There is no doubt that after bell control you. as a beginner. must concentrate on the striking of your bell. I would suggest that your progress, with particular reference to striking. can best pass through the following stages: Rounds. call-changes, plain hunting plain methods (being the easier and straightforward). Treble Bob and Surprise. including the more difficult plain methods. Moreover. I have no doubt that long touches are better than short louches, quarter peals are better than long touches and peals are more beneficial than quarter peals. I hope you will always remember the maxim that rounds struck well is much more preferable to any Surprise ringing struck badly.

SURPRISE METHOD - This class of method is the one in which the treble bell his a treble bob hunt and an internal place made a treble bob hunt and an internal place at every cross-section in the half lead.

OBITUARY  MR. GEORGE GILBERT APPRECIATIONS

As one of the 91 of the ringers whose first peal was called by the late George Gilbert may I pay tribute to a great ringer.

This peal took place at St. Michael's. Basingstoke. in 1924. when he was attached to the R.E.'s, as C.Q.M.S. That year the autumn manceuvres took place on Basingstoke Common, and the ringers at Basingstoke received much assistance from him, during his stay there.

George Gilbert would probably forgive anyone for making a mistake, but bad striking he would not tolerate under any circumstances.

In the belfry, a sergeant major at times. perhaps, but outside he was of a most kindly disposition.

Headington, Oxford
H. BADGER.

It was our practice night at St. John's. Devizes. Wilts, just after the 1914-18 war. when into the belfry came a very smart warrant officer of the R.E. That was my first meeting with George Gilbert; he helped us with Grandsire and Stedman Triples and we youngsters were greatly impressed. Ten years elapsed and the writer found himself at Chalfont and a near neighbour of George.
The able pen of 'Paludian' has told the Exercise of George's great achievements at Burnham. I would like to tell of his visits in 1959 to our Chalfont practices and the great help he gave to my young band. He continued to visit us after his fall. and it was obvious to all he was a sick man. Came the New Year and George continued to ring and arrange peals. On February 13 th I met him in Burnhım. leaning heavily on his stick. he told me he was under doctor's orders to have his feet up. but would feel better with his feet under the tenor rope. I believe this peal attempt was his last (Oxford Treble Boh Major): the attempt failed after 2 hours 40 minutes of good ringing. Just before the end George said. What lovely music, are you all listening? Let us all continue the music. it would be his wish. Goodbye. George.
E. G. SWIFT, B. R. MASTERS.

MR. HARRY HOLGATE.

The St. Margaret's Society. Barking. has been deprived of a very good friend by the udden death, on October 2nd, of Mr. Harry Holgate. aged 78 years
Harry learnt to handle a bell at Romford. Essex. prior to 1913 and used to ring there with the Pye brothers. but he never got beyond ringing the tenor behind, which he did with competence.
Owing to business commitments (Harry was a wheelwright by trade) he moved to Barking after 1913 and joined the local company. Sunday by Suaday he took his place on the tenor until ill-health necessitated his resignation prior to the second world war. A quarter peal was rung. on Octoher 9th. to his memory.

MR. JAMES PARKER

We regre, to record the death. last Saturday, of Mr. James Parker, at the home of his daughter. Mrs. G. W. Fietcher. The White House. Caister-on-Sea. Norfolk, aged 94 years. A great ringer and composer in his day. Mr. Parker was a member of the Central Council. representing the Sussex County Association from $1894-96$ and the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths from 1897-99 and again from 1906-47

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SMOKING IN THE BELFRY

Dear Sir-Mr. T. C. Belton has visited a tower where they smoke, and asks if anyone else has come across smoking in the belfry. I have seen it many times but not so much in recent years. There are three or four callchange lowers within seven miles of here where smoking still occurs on practice nights.

Some 12 years ago I was on a ringers* outing to South Shropshire, and at one tower we noticed ashtrays provided for the ringers. When, however, I went there with a peal band last year, 1 did not notice any, so they may have been taken away.
well remember at a tower close to home there used to be an enamel spittoon, because some of the old ringers used to "chew.' This was taken away many years ago.
Towards the end of 1914 I cycled over to a 4 -bell tower one Sunday morning for a ring. They kindly allowed me to ring the tenor to 20 minutes of rounds, during which time the captain rang the treble with his hat on and his pipe in his mouth!-Yours sincerely,

E. V. RODENHURST.

Whitchurch, Salop.
Dear Sir,-Reading Mr. Belton's 'Points from Letters (page 691), he asks if any other vingers have experienced smoking in belfries. Whilst my wife and I were on holiday in North Devon last year, we were most fortunate to meet a local call-change ringer, who arranged much 'local style * ringing for us. During our conversations this subject was mentioned, and when we were ringing at St . James: Arlington, we actually experienced this.
The ringers had kindly agreed to stay on after the service to allow us the pleasure of ringing. Directly on reaching the belfry after the service, the "locals" proceeded to roll and light their cigarettes: when all had enjoyed the ir fill, ringing commenced. We came across this hahit in other towers while on our visit, hut which ones I cannot now remember.

We spent our holiday again this year in North Devon, and I remember quite well the ringers 'lighting up' in the helfry on completion of ringing for Evensong at North Molton. I believe 1 m correct in saying that such practices are not uncommon in lowers in North Devon.-Yours faithfully.

PEALS OF MINIMUS AND 4-BELL TOWERS

Dear Sir.-I fail to see what it matters, or What it has to do with those who don't want to ring peals of Minimus themselves, whether others do or do not. After all. ringing is a free thing. and none of us gets paid for ringing peals, so why all the fuss? It is a dog-in-themanger spirit to dictate and say because they don't want to ring Minimus no one else shall! Is it not better to give encouragement to 4 bell ringers and 4 -bell towers rather than to discourage them? Encouragement may one day start a scheme for adding a fifth or a sixth bell. The closed shop principle will never achieve that, nor will the looking upon Guilds as "trade unions." Like the late Mr. George Gilbert. I believe in the rights and liberties of the individual. and if I wanted ta ring something I certainly would not ask any Guild's consent whether 1 could or not, as recent peals of Grandsire Minor and Grandsire Maior have proved. Ringing needs many more of the George Gilbert lype!-Yours faihfully.
P. AMOS.

BRIDGING THE GAP

Dear Sir,-Mr. Brian Price's article, "Bridging the Gap.' in "The Ringing World 'of September 29 th puts forward some most original and helpful ideas. The various methods we employ for getting our beginners from the round-ringing stage to the simpler changeringing methods do. I feel, need some examining and developing. It is a big step from rounds 10 methods, requiring as it does the ability to ring your bell to three distinct rhythms at will. To my mind, Brian Price's technique has some virtue in that it is possible for the beginner to learn to do each successive small step really correctly in a comparatively short time By contrast, starting off by hunting the ireble to, say. Grandsire Doubles does tend $t 0$ mean that the beginner spends a fairly prolonged period of being able to do it somehow before attaining the goal of being able to do it properly (there is also the additional danger, of course, that having learnt to do it somehow he will continue to do this and more advanced types of change-ringing "somehow" for the rest of his days). On the other hand, I personally think Brian Price has put rather exaggerated emphasis on ringing without a covering tenor. At any rate, his article has prompled me to try some of his exercises in my own tower, and so far they have been well received, but it is 100 early to say whether they are going to be successful.

I do, however, find the letter that this article has provoked from Mr. Bennett of the College of Campanology alarming. Mr. Bennett and others in the College may believe that their methods of teaching change-ringing are good, but to write this into a manual as the way to teach seems to me the height of folly, and I cannot believe that it is good teachnig practice. Do we understand that all students of the College have to be taught change-ringing by this method, and that all tutors must use it regardless of the circumstances? Are all students to be taught the same way in country churches and city cathedrals, in well-established bands and newly-formed ones, on heavy-going bells and light ones, whether they are teenage girls or middle-aged men. in Northumberland and Cornwall, in Herefordshire and Kent, by instructors with university degrees galore and those whose schooling hats been the hard way? Surely not: hut if the College's manual of instruction does not mein this I do not know what it does mean. All of us who try to teach people to ring welcome new ideas and suggestions. such as in Brian Price's article. but we know that we have to adapt them to our own circumstances and constantly experiment to make sure that every learner who goes through our hands has the best possible opportunity of becoming a good ringer. Only one thing is universally right-perfect striking.
It would have been much more helpful if Mr . Bennett could have given us actual details of how some of his students have gone on in learning by these methods with a critical appraisal, backed by four years of experience. of how this and other methods sompare in various circumstances.-Yours faithfully.

PEAL WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir.-I wish to withdraw the peal rung Brampford Speke, Devon, on May 21st. 1960 (' R.W.: page 397). since it did not accord with Central Council regulations. I should like to extend my apologies to all concerned and in particular 10 the "first pealers 'in the hand. _Yours sincerely.

FIRING ' OF BELLS

Dear Sir.-As another naval ringer, and one who was taught to ring at Winchester Cathedral by that most painstaking and meticulous of teachers, the late Mr. Wilfred Andrews. I must endorse entirely the sentiments expressed by Commander Merritt in your issue of October 7th.
As an historian I must also support his plea for the retention of local customs. In far 100 many cases nowadays there are, by a process of steady erosion by the forces of so-called progress, until, after a lapse of years during which the custom has been stifled, it is resurrected with much pomp and ceremony as a part of a vaunted revival. Surely the reason for the survival of these customs is that they remain a part of the life of the village, sown or city, which serves to differentiate it from its neighbours. In this age of television uniformity it is desirable to keep these local customs alive and to preserve them from the "quaintness of a tourist attraction 10 which they can so quickly degenerate.
Finally. I must agree that 'firing ' is just as much open to criticism for bad striking as any other method of ringing bells. Siriking cannor be attained without practice. and the curtail. ment of it to a few occasions would produce an even worse clangour during 'firing than can be heard many times a day in this island. I um, sir. yours faithfully.

OWNERSHIP OF BELLS

Dear Sir. With regard to Mr. T. Belton's Icter, page 691. R.W. concerning the ownership of bells. I should like to draw his atiention the section of The Opinions of the Legal Board. published by the Church Assembly. under the heading Bells and Bellringing.

The control of the church bells and hellingers belongs to the incumbent and not to the incumbent and the P.C.C. jointly Surely this presupposes that the bells can only be rung at any time with the permission of the incumbent.-Yours faithfully.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM AUSTRALIA
Dear Sir,-It was quite a thrill to read in your issue of September 2nd of a peal being rung on the lovely bells of Long Clawson. Leicestershire, after an interval of 33 years, I send my congratulations to Mr. Brian Warwick and to the members of his band upon their success in an ambitious peal of 27 methods. with a change of method after each extent. This is a great achievement on strange hells with a long draught of rope, where the ringers stand in the church between the choir stalls, it distance of 41 feet to the ceiling, and no sally guides.

Long Clawson's is my home tower. where I learned to ring as a boy half a century ago. I also had the honour to take part in the inirst peal to be rung on these bells (November 12 th , 1927) during my last visit to England. This peal was conducted by Mr. Ernest Morris. The fourth bell is pre-Reformation (circa A.D. 1400) and the tenor is 191 cw . This tower needs an extra treble 10 become a lovely six.
In this same issue of R.W. Mr. Ernest Morris gives a list of 23 towers in Leicestershire each with four bells. May I suggest to the executive officers and members of the Leicester Diocesan Guild that they give serious thought to a campaign of publicity and persuasion to add another bell to some of these towers. and to increase other towers from five to six hells? - Yours sincerely.

LETTERS-Continued

COLLEGE YOUTHS' PEAL AT DERBY
Dear Sir,-Of the 12 peals rung in four counties by Mr. Williams' touring band, only one was not rung for the appropriate territorial association. This was the one rung at Derby Cathedral. I was rather puzzled by this pointed departure from form, but I had no complaint for I do not hold the view that peals should always be rung for the Association in whose territory the tower lies

However, my altitude changed when I read the report of this tour. The implication is that the peal rung at Derby Cathedral was notirung for the Derbyshire Association because it was considered that this Association was far 100 insignificant to have a peal of Spliced Surprise Royal added to its records.

By having the peal recorded in the College Youths' peal book. Mr. Williams and his band will presumably continue to enjoy the admiration of their colleagues every time the book is passed round.

When it is copied into this book I suggest a foornote such as: Rung as an insult to the Derbyshire Association.- Yours sincerely.
Derhy.
G. A. HALLS.

APOLOGY OVER FALSE PEAL

Dear Sir,-I have an apology to make to the ringers in the peal of New Cambridge at Henley on August 8 th , and I do so most profoundly for, of course, it is false. It is the more regrettable as, in the course of nearly 60 years' ringing, it is the first false peal in which 1 have rung and the first false composition of mine to be rung. It happened that when we decided in the belfry 10 ring this composition to New Cambridge we were under the impression that 24365 was the only f.c.e. 1 forgot about the other two. In spite of this, however. the fact remains that it is true to Lincolnshire for which it was originally composed. and 10 B methods with b f.c.e.
Thanking you.-Yours faithfully

LINE FAILURE IN ASHBOURNE BROADCAST

Dear Sir-Your correspondent W. Frank Stenson is reported in your issue of October 7th as complaining to Canon Roy McKay Head of Religious Broadcasting, about the very short time that the bells of Ashbourne Parish Church were heard by listeners on Sunday. September 25 th. prior to the harvest festival that we broadcast from there in the North Home Service.
The explanation is that there was a brief line failure which compelled us to cut short the hroadcast of the bells., We much regretted that we were in consequence only able to broadcast a few seconds of the peal on these tine hells, instead of the minute or so that we usually give on these occasions.- Yours faith fully.

UNIVERSITY OF WALES SOCIETY

A well-attended meeting of the U.W.S.C.R. was held in Brecon on Oetober 15th. Before the meeting a wide variety of methods was rung on the pleasant ring of six bells at St . David's Church. Llanfaes. We were very happy that our president, the Bishop of Swanses and Brecon, was able to join us at tea.
The Rev. I. J. Richards (vice-president) conducted the business meeting. Mr. Michael Day. Miss Gillian Graney. Mr. Richard Hedges and Miss Mollie Tilbury were elected members and Mr. Trevor Lewis Ringing Master. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Llanbadarn Fawr. Aberystwyth. in late February, if possible.
After the meeting further ringing, ranging from rounds to Yorkshire and Double Norwich, was enjoyed on the good ring of eight bells at St. Mary's, Brecon. Later, most of those present went to Llanfeigan where, in this very isolated tower, we rang several methods by the light of four candles and an oil lamp. on a sruly beautiful and easy-going octave.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD TO RAISE SUBSCRIPTION

WHE Oxford Diocesan Guild, at its autumn annual general meeting, held at Newbury on October 1st, decided to raise its subscription by Is. to 3 s .6 d . This was the first time the Guild had visited Newbury this century, and the presence of some 200 members, many of whom came in coaches organised by their respective branches, was an indication of the healthy spirit prevailing.
At the outset, the deputy Master (Mr. Frederick Sharpe) presided, as the Master had been held up by the heavy traffic proceeding to Newbury races. He was supported by Mr. A. D. Barker (treasurer), Miss M. R. Cross (secretary) and Mr. H. L. Roper (librarian).

The matter of the subscription followed on a report on finances by Mr. A. D. Barker, who said the 500 copies of the $1958-59$ report had cost $£ 103$ 10s. (4s. 2d, each). He wondered how many of those who voted for the report had bought one. Unless all the copies were sold there would be a delicit. He had paid $£ 6310$ s. towards the cost and was asking for Branches 10 send in the money they owed for reports.
A resolution was moved by Mr. A. Diserens and seconded by Mr. P. Pearce that the subscription be raised to 5 s .

Mr. A. R. Pink said the rule governing the subscription had been so worded as to appeal to the generosity of members.
Mr. W. Birmingham pointed out that raising the subscription by $2 \mathrm{~s}, 6 \mathrm{~d}$. would give an income of $£ 200$, which was more than the Guild needed. To this Mr. Barker replied that as the Branches would take half the subscription this would lead to an increase of $£ 80$ to $£ 100$.
Mr. H. L. Roper contended that the report should stand on its own feet. He supported the proposal that there should be an increase $10 \mathrm{5s}$. He was shocked at the way ringers managed their own affairs from the tower level to 'The Ringing World' level. The idea that the Guild could not pay its bills was dreadful.
An amendment was submitted by the deputy Master that the subscription be raised to 3 s . This was strongly opposed by Mr. B. C. Castle. who said it would be impossible to run the Sonning Deanery Branch on one shilling per head.

Eventually the meeting accepted the amendment of the hon. general secretary that the subscription be raised to 3 s , and that the extria shilling should go to Guild funds. This should hring in $£ 100$.

A NEW BRANCH

Mr. Donald Wheeler (Central Bucks) gave a report on the progress being made towards the formation of a new branch for the Aylesbury
The hon. general secretary stated that when the project was first mooted, it was decided that there should be a probationary period of iwo years, and she felt this should be adhered 10. Mr. Wheeler agreed 10 this course

80 TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE GUILD
Miss Cross said there would be a Branch secretaries ${ }^{\circ}$ meeting in November to discuss the celebrating of the 80 th anniversary of the Guild. She asked for suggestions to be sent to her or to the Branch secretaries.

OBITUARY

The meeting stood in silence while the Master reported the following deaths: Mr. A. E. Lock, for 39 years hon. secretary of the North Bucks Branch: Mr. G. Gilbert (Burnham). Mr. J. Harrison (Beaconsfield), Mr. T. Mitchell (Braywood) and Canon Last (chairman, Central Bucks Branch). Tributes were afterwards paid by the Master to Mr. A. E. Lock and Mr. J. Harrison. and by Mr. W. Birmingham to Mr. Gilbert.

APPLICATIONS FOR GRANTS

An application was received from West Hanney, supported by the North Berks Branch, which had made a grant of $£ 20$. for the rehanging of their bells which had been silent for 30 years, and also to rebuild the tower. The first stages of the tower had been completed and the bells rehung. The cost of rehanging was somewhere in the region of $£ 1.400$, of which $£ 700$ had still to be paid. Since the restoration a new band had been taught, in a large measure due to the work of Wantage members. As a result the ringers at West Hanney were all members of the Guild. Upon the suggestion of Miss Cross the meeling desided to thank Wantage ringers for their work. Although the hon. treasurer said there was anly $\pm 89$ in the bank, of which $£ 60$ was due to be paid out, the meeting approved of a grant of $\pm 40$ to West Hanney
Notice was given that the following towers were due for hell restoration work: Aston Clifton. North Leigh and Marsworth. Grants had not been paid to South Newington or Arborfield as the work there had not been in spected by an officer of the Guild. This was to be done as soon as possible.

CENTRAL COUNCIL REPRESENTATION

The Master reported that owing to the death of Mr. A. E. Lock there was a vacancy in the Guild's representation. Mrs. A. D. Barker, a former menber, was the only nominee. and she was elected

The Rt. Rev. Robert Hay, who had retired from the office of Bishop of Buckingham, was elected vice-president.

On the proposition of Mr. G. Edmans, it was decided to hold the autumn meeting for 1961 at Bletchley Memorials are proposed to he elected at Bucklebury for Miss Stella Davis and at Abingdon for Mr. A. E. Lock. In neither case has anything delinite been suggested.

Miss Cross said she had received a request from the Guildford Diocesan Guild, asking for support for the A. H. Pulling memorial bell, to be placed in Guildford New Cathedral. She asked members to do all they could to support.
The Guild service followed in Newhury Parish Church, at which the Rector preached At the tea which followed he was thanked by the hon. librarian. who also thanked the organist, incumbents and ringers of lowers visited, and Mr. H. Lawrenson, hon. secretary of the Newbury Branch, on whose shoulders had fallen the organisation of the meeting.

NORTH SHROPSHIRE RINGERS IN NORTH WALES

The ringers of St . Oswald's, Oswestry, were joined by others from neighbouring towers for their annual outing into North Wales on September 24th. The party left Oswestry at 8.45 a.m.. and the opening touch. Stedman Triples, was rung at Llangollen (tenor 16 cwt ). After call-changes, Cambridge Major was attempied. but it was too early in the morning for some of the band.

The trebles at Ruthin proved quite a handful, but Bob Major and Erin Triples were rung The company separated for lunch at Denbigh and proceeded to Rhyl ( 17 cwt. ). A wedding interfered with the programme, but after the locals had rung Queens and Tittums and 'fired' the bells. there was an opportunity to ring Plain andi Litule Boh and Kent Treble Boh.

At Rhuddlan the bells could not be heard in the ringing chamber hecause of the rattle of ropes: nevertheless a course of Cambridge Minor was rung. Unfortunately we were behind schedule on reaching the delightful six at Abergele, and had only a short ring. The last tower was Llandudno. where the bells went like tops and courses of Cambridge Major and Double Norwich were rung. Thanks are accorded to local ringers and incumbents, and 10 John Thomas for organising such an excellent tour. C.S.

UNIVERSITIES' ASSOCIATION TOUR

WHEN Dermot Roaf distributed the tour this year's U.A. week I was told to provide a report. Some kind souls said. Good, it might be amusing for a change. This places a heavy responsibility on the scribe but here, for hetter or worse, is my fading recollection of what took place between the 6th and 13th of Augus: last Alt top class reports always have a quotation in verse. I do not intend to lower any siandards so

Beneth this stone, a lump of clay. Lies Uncle Peter Daniels
Who. early in the month of May.
Took oft his winter flannels. - Anon
As perceptive readers of this journal will have noticed. this year's tour was based at is the Shefficld Diocesan Conference House and we were gratified to discover that the warden was the same good lady who looked after our wants on the Rugby week in 1955. The house stands on the western boundary of the city, half a mile from the Peak National Park

Proceedings commenced with ringing on the bells of Breadsall church. just outside Derby.; and the majority of the participants assembled under the tall spire after journeys which. if added together would cover the whole length of the country. More or less united the cars moved on to West Hallam where the light eight were raised with a rapidity that surprised the middle-men and 4 Spliced Surprise was rung for the first time. Tea-own initiative' came next in Heanor before ringing on the eight and departure to Sheffield.

The first evening at Whirlow Grange was devoted to settling in activities. the croquet equipment was duly tested and certain local landmarks were investigated. Our organisers estimate of distances proved 10 be in error hy a factor of four. This lessens one's faith in the judgment of those who travel by car. On Sunday, as usual. bands were deployed to assist in service ringing at local towers
(6 off). Those who visited All Saints'. (6 off). Those who visited All Saints'.
Pitsmoor. duly remarked on the multi-laddered ascent to the ringing-cum-clock room and we were sorry that rearrangement of the A.G.M. prevented a visit during the practice night. Apart from ringing. Sunday afternoon provided opportunities for visiting local beauty spots, caving, thunderstorms. etc., etc.

TO BELFRY VIA BROOM CUPBOARD

Opportunities to get lost en route to the first tower on Monday morning were gratefully seized but eventually all reached Bolsterstone, above the Sheftield lakes.' York produced an enormous tape-recorder with miniature spool of tape and was rewarded with interminable rounds on eight instead of Superlative. Yorkshire tail-ends were encountered for the first lime at Penistone, and more Major methods were indulged in before adjourning to a pub at Wortley for a sandwich lunch. The president. Paul Taylor, joined the party there and we regretied that he could only be with us for one day. Across the road the parish church holds a Warner eight and the ladder to the somewhat neglected belfry was ascended from the broom cupboard.

Wath-on-Dearne and Ecclesfield provided more eight-hell ringing and glimpses of that nart of the coal industry that works the Barnsley seam. Dick Price took time off from his anaesthetics to meet the party at Ecclesfield and ring Cambridge. etc.. and Norman, John and Susan Chaddock left us until later in the week. A trip across the city of Sheffield to Dore (8) sorted out the navigators before supper.

The A.G.M. was held that evening with the president in the chair. Minutes of the January accounts for 1958/59 were adopted. Some correspondence with Mr. Peter Kirk. M.P.. about the Noise Abatement Bill had produced an assurance that ringers were not liable to be prosecuted under its provisions.
motion that ex-presidents, shall automatically become vice-presidents, was carried and Mr. E. H. Lewis was welcomed back into office. Mr. R. F. B. Speed was re-elecied as eight universities were also elected.

The 1961 dinner will be at the Victoria Hotel. London. on January 7th. Plans to hold the 1961 summer tour in Shropshire had failed and. after discussion. Marie Cross and Geoff Dodds undertook the organisation of a tour in the Hertfordshire area. Accommodation has since been booked at Pendley Manor. near Tring. An invitation 10 Manchester for the 1962 annual dinner was left for consideration iri London. The 1962 tour would take place in Shropshire if accommodation could be found.
The secretary thanked his helpers, especially Phyllis Holborn and John Seager for their work in organising the Sheffield week and it is appropriate to add the thanks of all who took part. Their efforts in providing us with bells and scenery were much appreciated.

On Tuesday morning the "bread and butter" peal band scored with Yorkshire at Bolsover -where repairs to the burnt-out church continued during the ringing. The larger party went 10 Great Longstone (6) and Youlgreave (8. 26 cwt.), where. apparently. non-regular tenor ringers took two touches of to recover. After lunch the six in the Norman tower at Bradbourne were kept going long enough to allow the returning pealers to make a snatch. They had despatched the secretary to Greece via Chesterfield Station and Cambridge and it was remarked that the best way to journey between the latter two places by rail was to start from somewhere else!

The next tower was Ashbourne, where the eight long ropes down to the crossing caused some bother and the ringing did not do justice to the bells. The interesting cruciform church at Wirkworth was the scene of the only mishap of the tour when the reble stay gave up the ghost after one touch. Proceedings were delayed somewhat and this allowed due appreciation of the architecture.
Post-supper exercises included visits to the practices ai Staveley and Bolsover and a fairly slow handbell peal of Bob Triples. This was rung in the reverberant vestry of the Church of the Holy Spirit. which adjoins Whirlow of the Holy Spirit, which adjoins Whirlow Grange. and our corporate Communion was held in the church on the Wednesday morning.

MALE KNEES

As a result of Wednesday's sunshine three pairs of male knees made their appearance. thus maintaining U.A. traditions but without the dire consequences suffered by Uncle Peter Daniels. At the first tower. Dronfield. ringing was delayed whilst the local doctor finished off his morning surgery. Some interesting cross-country navigation brought all cars safely to Darley Dalc, where Pudsey made a welcome change of method. Jafus was there to meet the visitors and guided them to the Grouse Inn where lunch was topped off with peaches and was therefore memorable.

Visiting local ringer.-I brought this over. We thinh it has a befter tone than your lenor.

Duffield was reached exactly on time and various ten-bell methods rung. An ill-fated band left to attempt Cambridge Royal at Chesterfield but the peal was set-up after an hour due to poor striking. A great shame on this fine bells but perhaps Grandsire Caters would have gone better. As compensation the 'experts' were able to sample the excellent bells at Ashover by rejoining the main party who had rung at Crich meanwhile.
Practice night at Handsworth proved a popular attraction and it was demonstrated that ringing is not feasible with thirty people in this tower. However. John Gilbert was able to meet his namesake for the first time.
Thursday morning saw another peal-band lose 4 -spliced at Handsworth after reaching the half-way mark. Non-pealers visited Ranmoor for ten-bell ringing under the direction of "Sir" and then went on 10 the pleasant six at Wentworth. Yorks. Ranald Clouston. however, took time off to "grat the only tuning fork factory in England.

REAL' BELLS

The rest of Thursday provided the first real bells of the tour as far as the West Countrymen were concerned. St. George's.
Doncaster. came first. followed later by Rotherham Parish Church and Sheffield Cathedral for practice night. Conisbrough and Eastwood. Rotherham. towers were also visited. Norman Chaddock's spotless belfry with its many notices to the visiting public (e.g. No Exit in the windows) was in great contrast to the grime at Eastwood. The practice of holding 'Open Days' at city church towers has much to commend it and if the public can be persuaded to make the chimncy like ascent to All Saints' belfry then they will go almost anywhere!
Another lower. Thrybergh. was scheduled but the death of a local lady led to the substitution of a peal in memoriam at the request of the local band. This was rung by a mixed band for the Yorkshire Association led to our indifferent i2 bell ringing at Sheffield Cathedral-or just lack of practice? Either way we were grateful to the local band for their welcome.

At breakfast on Friday. Mr. Lewis gave a brief outline of the local history of the area to be visited Eyam, with it's associations with the Great Plague, provided a pleasing six and the usual reaction to Cambridge coming round with a single. At Tideswell there was time to examine the wood carvings bifore some ringing which was generally below the normal standard. Attempts to ring A. Y-B.'s new type method were abortive and only spliced four went well.
Excellent scenery and bright sunshine prevailed and the little village of Chelmorton was invaded for lunch before the new ring of five bells (8-3-24) was sampled. Albeit. rather loud inside these are very good. Next came Buxton and Nonsuch was eventually rung at Fairfield after a certain amount of belfrymanship had eliminated both the author and the cleric from the band. Burbage (6) was also visited and. finally. Castleton.
The remainder of the tour is described by a man who wasn't there and, like Alex Atkinson's description of America in "Punch. this gives great scope for details. I had planned a wholly libellous description of the usual social evening and am disappointed to learn that no such function was held this year. People actually went ringing instead homewards in saturday. instead of departing many persons went tower grabbing. Wingerworth. Clay Cross. Tibshelf. Blackwell and Whitington were reported to me and there mady be others. Our thanks go to all those who opened their towers to the U.A.. to the organisers and to our hosts at Whirlow Grange. Roll on next year in Herts.
Finally, in deference to the letter in a recent R.W.' from one mentioned earlier, I will admit my identity.

Billy, The Little Church Bat

High up in the steeple
Away from all the people.
Lives Billy, the little church bat
He can hear the church hells ringing
And the choirboys singing.
And joins them with his squeaky chitter-chat
One night from out the steeple
A noise woke all the people.
It was Billy, the little church bat.
He had made a frightful clamour
By hanging on the hammer
Of the hell with the big. loud clap.
From an old novel. sent by A. Henson. West Bridgford. Notts.

HARDINGTON MANDEVILLE RINGERS' OUTING

Milking done by 7 a.m., the Hardington ringers, plus friends, set off for a day's ringing in Hampshire. Rain, floods and the failure of a garage to keep an early appointment with our coach driver for fuel made our arrival at St. Michael's. Southampton. well over half-anhour late. However, we found the Vicar seated at a table in the porch receiving gifts, and having welcomed us to the belfry he returned to the "receipt of custom
Our next tower was close at hand. and we all enjoyed ringing on the ten at St. Mary's. This was the first of many churches that we found heing decorated for harvest-Constance Spry really has nothing on what the average English parish can produce in the way of floral arrangement when it comes to harvest festivals.
Our next two towers were the eights at Shedfield and Fareham: somehow or other we found time to eat our picnic lunches between these two towers.
At Portsmouth the ringers and non-ringers parted company, the ringers making their way to the Cathedral. These hells were greatly enjoyed, and we also commended the industry of the man who had written out Holt's Original. which we saw framed and hanging on the wall.
After tea we made our way to the harbour to catch the ferry to Gosport. Naturally, the ohvious happened-some were left behind. However, they caught us up in good time to ring at our last tower. Alverstoke.
Our thanks go to incumbents and to the local ringers.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

SoO much of ringers' thoughts and writings are in retrospect that the future at times receives very scant attention. It was indeed strange that at the Jasper Snowdon commemoration dinner at Rotherham the concern of the speakers was not of the achievements of the past but of the model and form future ringing should take.
The aims and objects of the great territorial Associations formed in the second half of the last century have been achieved. The Church has recognised the office of bellringer as a servant of the Church ranking in parity with the choir. In fact the dual role of ringer and chorister prevails among a large number of our brethren and sisters today. Ringers in no sense confine their work to the belfry. They are to be found in the ranks of churchwardens, licensed lay readers and parochial church councillors and Sunday School teachers, and it is an exception today to find a tower where at least one member does not hold responsibilities for other sections of church work. Yes, it can truly be said that ringers as a body are integrated into the life of the parish and form a part of the Church Militant.

To a limited degree this has always been the case. Perhaps when the Guilds and Associations were being formed leadership was frequently in the hands of the clergy, not merely from an administrative point of view but in the development and advancement of our art. Today, except in such offices as president or branch chairmen, the clergy do not lead on the practical side, and at the moment we can only recall one Guild where the Master is in Holy Orders. On the Central Council itself we have only two clerics with big responsibilities-the vice-president, understudying the duties of chairman, that in the course of years might devolve on to his shoulders, and the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead as convener of the Methods Committee.

Mr. Philip Gray, in his speech at the dinner. created rather a surprise by stating that one in six of the members of the Central Council possessed either university degrees or their equivalent from professional bodies. We do not dispute his calculations; with the expansion of university and higher forms of education since the war this is not surprising. There was a time when the old-stage ringers who were masters of the art of peal ringing regarded many from the universities as 'waistcoat pocket' ringers. Whether the change of dress of the modern young male has meant that the phrase had met with a normal death or the great contribution the universities are now making in the shaping of the advancement of the Exercise renders it unnecessary we do not know. But this fact prevails, and we hope it always will continue, that the fortunes of education, rank or position count as naught inside a belfry. It is the ability of the man (or woman) by his handling, striking and dependability in the method being rung that counts, and by that yardstick he is judged in the eyes of his fellows.

Because of this guiding principle there is a responsibility placed on the universities to produce worthy practitioners in the Exercise. We believe with the modern trend of education that from their ranks will eventually come the Guild executives and leaders in individual towers. But make no mistake, a 'Professor Dodge' will only succeed in giving leadership in the belfry if he has assimilated a profound knowledge of human nature that gets the best out of his team and presents ringing in such a form that the striving after perfection is constantly in the minds of the whole company.

A suggestion was made at Rotherham that in the reframing of the objects of Guilds and Associations particular attention should be paid to silent towers and those where the bells are not rung properly. In tackling the problem of the silent tower the co-operation of the incumbent is essential. It is very largely through his agency that the would be band is recruited. For a tower to succeed an experienced leader is necessary, whether from the parish or outside. There are cases, not infrequently reported in our columns, where a band has started on its own absolutely from scratch. We admire the enthusiasm and pertinacity, but with the right leader progress is much quicker. The success of the Exercise has been built up by enthusiastic leadership. There are ringers who wherever they go have the knack of building up a company, and these are the real servants of the Exercise. Thus in the problem of tackling the silent tower the selection of the leader is of paramount importance. It is not merely 'know-how ' but the ability to teach and hold the keenness of the recruit in face of other distractions to win through.

Those who made the journey to Rotherham from afar could not fail to be impressed that here was a proper cradle for ringers. Young people in large numbers are in this part of Yorkshire joining our ranks, and one tower captain informed the writer that he had been able to put in his tower a band of Girl Guides for one service and Boy Scouts for another. The Sunday service ringing the writer heard was good. Sheffield Cathedral band rang for Matins Grandsire Cinques. Plain Bob Maximus. Stedman Cinques and Little Bob Maximus with hardly a trip and a perfect rhythm that brought out the majesty of the tenors. It was indeed cathedral ringing as it should be, setting a standard that keeps Yorkshire amid the foremost towers of the land. Yes, the spirit of Jasper Whitield Snowdon is still alive.

On Sunday. October 23rd the Freshford Church Bellringers' Guild, Somerset, held the Rev. Fervice, conducted by the Rector Me Rev. Francis Pollard. who is also Tower Master. The secretary. Mr. J. Harvey Green. presented five new candidates. The Rector then admitted Ruth Brown as a probationer; and L/A. Royston Newman. Roger Bishton. Robert Parsons and David Dawe as members of the Guild. The bellringers' office hymn was then sung. The Guild now consists of fourteen members and two probationers.

Three octogenarians ringers took part in a quarter peal at Aughton. Lancs-S. Flint (81 years). W. Rimmer (82) and J. Marsh (83).

Shenstone Church, which is near Lichfield. Staffs. is to have an additional two bells installed by next Easter. thus making a ring of five.
Birmingham ringers had an enjoyable weekend in South Wales on October $15 / 16 \mathrm{hh}$, with peals of Bristol Surprise at Usk and London Surprise at Ebbw Vale.
The late Mr. George Gilbert was a very good friend of the University of London Society. To his memory the Society rang a peal at Burnham, on October 22nd.
We hear that the recent trip to England by boys of Groton School. Massachusetts. had paid great dividends in terms of knowledge. rhythm and good striking. We will be eternally grateful to all our English friends who helped us.' writes Mr. Russel! Young.
Mr. Harold B. Scholfield. of Bradford. Cathedral, had five of his young people in a half peal on October 25th. Their respective ages were $12.12,15,15$ and $15 . \mathrm{It}$ is a pleasure to see the next generation taking their places.
Owing to the difficulty of public transport to Great Hale. Lincs. where the next meeting of the Central Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild is to be held on November 12th. lifts from Sleaford or Heckington will be provided for anyone who informs the secretary. Mr. S. Chambers, 64. Goldsmith Walk. Lincoln.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Ratby cum Groby. Leicestershire, are fortunate in their new Rector, the Rev. Peter R. Blackman. who is an accomplished ringer, having spent five years at Aylestone, where here is a ring of eight. He will now have two rings of bells in his charge. In a peal in horour of his institution were the president. secretary and treasurer of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, and also three others from Aylestone and one from Ratby.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. F. Denty, of Twyford.

The quarter peal rung at Southover (see page 719), was rung as a compliment to Mr . Ernest H. Fuller, on his 90th birthday.

The silencing work has been completed in Church Gresley belfry. Staffs. with woodwool slabs and the noise is no longer overpowering to the ringers.

Faced with raising $£ 4.000$ for the rehanging of their bells. Beaminster. Dorset. Ringing Guild are holding an open day on November 19th. Details advertised next week.

The Rev. C. Holroyd Barker, who has been clerical secretary to the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford for 44 years, has tendered his resignation.

Three nombers of the recently formed St. Stephen's Society. Westminster. took part in the quarter peal of Bob Major at their own tower on October 20th. It is understood that this is to be the first of many quarter peals to be rung on these bells.

Mr. E. Barnett writes: 'Another peal at the Curfew Tower. Windsor, was omitted from the article in the issue of October 21st-one of Grandsire Triples, by the Cumberlands. nearly 70 years ago. which was conducted by William Barron.

Mrs. J. I. Anderson (née Scrutten) thanks ringers of Christ Church. Ealing, and neighbouring towers for their beautiful uedding gift of a chiming clock and also for the quarter peal that made her wedding day memorable.

WORCESTERSHIRE & DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION ANNUAL DINNER

$\mathrm{N}^{\mathrm{o}}$OT so many as in the past few years, but still a substantial gathering of 156 mem bers and friends were present at the 23 rd annual dinner, held at the Guildhall, Worcester on October 8 th and presided over by the Very Rev. R. L. P Milburn. Dean of Worcester and president of the Association. He was supported by Mrs. Milburn ; Mr. D. Beacham (vice-chairman) and Mrs. Beacham; Rev. R M. Powell (Kempsey) and Mrs. Powell; Rev M. H. Richards (St. John's, Worcester) and Mrs. Richards ; Rev. H. L. Davies (Cradley); Rev. A. M. Moreton Jackson (Leigh); Mr J. D. Johnson (general secretary) and Mrs. Johnson.

The iist of apologies was rather unusual including several who make a point of never willingly missing the event. Among these were the Master (Mr. W. B. Cartwright), who is in Canada and U.S.A. in connection with his profession. The attractive menu cards contained the caption: Greetings from Canada -Here's hoping you all have a very pleasant evening.-The Master.
Other apologies were from the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, the Right Rev. C. E. Stuart the Revs. L. J. Birch (Chaplain) and A. W Webb (vice-president), and Messrs. G. J. Lewis and R. R. Savory The task of seating the gathering was again unobtrusively carried out by the inree stewards-Messrs F. Hyde, T. W Lewis and J. J. Stanier.
Following the loyal toast. the toast of , The Worcestershire and Kindred Associations' was submitted by the Rev. R. M. Powell. who said he could not claim any vast knowledge of the ringing of bells. but he was fortunate in having a parish with a loyal band of ringers and he was grateful for them. He spoke in praise of the Association for all the reforms they had brought about and congratulated them on their great work. Concluding, he felt that their heartfelt sympathy would go out, that evening. to their Chaplain. the Rev. L. J. Birch. evening. to their Chaplain, the Rev. L. J. Birch, and to Mrs. Birch, in their recent loss through the tragic death of their son.

THE FOCAL POINT
Responding. Mr. Hugh Neill extended a welcome to visitors from no less than 10 counties and also said how gratified they were to see so many clergy present. He himself was especially grateful to the Rev. M. H. Richards. at whose cluurch he had the privilege of teaching to ring a young band of scholars from King's School. Personally. he felt that from King's School. Personally. he felt that Worcester should be the focal point of the Association and the standard of ringing in the city reflect :ite health of the organisation Through lack of practice this year. things had not gone quite according to plan, but the lapse was only temporary and they were now returning to noimal. The attendance. however, that evening reflected the enthusiasm in the Association. and a proof that it was still going strong.

The toast of 'The Chairman ' was proposed by Mr. D. Beacham. who reminded the gathering that it was in the unavoidable absence of the Master that he had this honour. as vicechairman, an honour accorded to him as being representative of the younger generation
The Dean. in reply, remarked on the number of young ringers present, and how agreeable it was to see young and fresh faces year by year. 'I can't help reflecting.' he continued. hou your hells ring out. year by year. the course of human life and I think this is a very significant and happy fact. It is with a feeling of pride that 1 stand before you and pay tribute for your devotion to a difficult and really worthwhile art in which difficult and really worthwhile art in which you are highly skilled
After the toast list a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells by members of the Hinton-on-the-Green band: Miss V.
Barnes 1-2. W. J. Newman 3-4. Mrs. J. Thomas 5-6. J. D. Johnson 7-8. Mrs. P. Harris 9-10 With the addition of $\mathbf{R}$. Newman. the same band. with one bell each. rang 120 Grandsire Doubles by changing places. This caused no little amusement to the company, and quite a surprise to the band. for the fact that it came into rounds.
An excellent musical entertainment was provided by Henry Hall and his party and the evening concluded with 'Auld Lang Syne the evening concluaed with Auld Lang S. J. and the national anthem.

became a Minor enthusiast, and of his 180 peals, 40 of which he conducted, over 100 have bean peals of Minor. Of these, only six have been in less than 7 methods.
His other peals have ranged from Minor to Maximus on tower bells, and Minor to Royal on handbells. He was one of the band at Felkirk which. in 1929, rang no less than 252 extents of Minor in 252 methods. In 1931 he took part in a peal of 10,800 Surprise Minor in 15 methods at Rotherham, winich he believes is the longest length of Surprise Minor yet rung. He learned much of his theory from Mr. Gcorge Lewis, and has contributed many useful articles to the pages of this paper, including • Random thoughts on Bob Major and T B. ## FOUR PEALS OF SURPRISE IN ONE DAY

An attempt to create a new record by ringing five peals of Surprise Major, in five different lowers, with five conductors, nearly came off on October 15 th. Four peals had been duly rung and with only six courses of Yorkshire to finish a miscall foiled us. Arrangements for the towers were very ably carried out by Mr. Geoff Dodd and a strong band was assembled together. On Friday evening. October 14th. SIX of us stayed at the Old Mill Hotel. Aldermaston. A start was made at Aldermaston, at 3 a.m.. for Cambridge. with bells fully muffled. Two of the local atomic guards wondered why the bells were sounding so early! Breakfast was served at the Old Mill. at 6.10 a.m.. by Mrs. E. Arlott, whose husband used to be the local ringers' captain.
A short run brought us to Stratfield Mortimer. where the bells were already up. thanks to Mrs. A. Cowdry and Mr. J. Taylor. We commenced ringing at $7.10 \mathrm{a} \cdot \mathrm{m}$. and Rutland was duly brought round. Before starting at Thatcham. we had time for a short snack. and slight delay was experienced in the tower through finding two clappers still tied after practice. An excellent peal of Lincolnshire was scored. starting at 11.15 a.m.
By this time we were all ready for lunch. hefore continuing to Bucklehury. where we were met by Mr. A. Hawkins. It was a sad reminder that last time we came here on September 20th. 1958. we were entertained to coffee by the late Miss Stella Davis. Superlative was duly brought round. starting at $3.12 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. To save time, we had our lea (no drinks!). in the form of sandwiches. on our way to Highclere, and starting at 7.18 p.m. all felt fit and confident that we should score No. 5. However, after 2 hours of Yorkshire a miscall was a big disappointment. It certainly shows that progress today demands a high standard, when a band is disappointed with only ringing four peals!

However. thanks to the very generous hospitality of the local Rector, the Rev. T. Lewis, and his wife. we soon cheered up, and were glad to be sitting down round a cosy fire. eating sandwiches and drinking beer (the first all day!). Mr. G. B. Evans. a local ringer. also played back a tape recording of our ringing.

Special mention must be made of the excellent rjinging of Mr . Reg Rex. one of our very active one-armed ringers. He would have been quite happy to have started again, after 13 hours 45 minutes ringing and over 24,000 changes behind him

Grateful thanks are extended to all the local clergy for kindly allowing the attempts. and especially to Dr. $\mathbf{R}$. Payne, of Aldermaston Also to Mr. E. J. Munday, for providing the necessary transport. and Malcolm Cloke's very useful motor cycle. It is hoped to have another attempt in the New Year

Controversy At Durham &

YHE Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association acknowledges its dual allegiance by holding its annual meeting alternately in the two dioceses. This year it was the turn of the younger diocese and the meeting was held in Newcastle, on October 1st. Ringing was available in the morning at Gosforth, and in the afternoon at Jesmond. Fenham and Newcastle Cathedral.

The service was held in Newcastle Cathedral. The Provost, the Very Rev. N. M. Kennaby, conducted the service and gave the address. He said that the bells today took on the role that had been given to the silver trumpets in the lesson from the book of Numbers and were used for calling together the 'congregation. The "congregation' in that context embraced the whole of Israel-the people of God. So today the bells call to all the people of God-to all who have been baptised-but as with Christ's call of old some respond and some do not. Mr. J. L. Keen played the organ and the collection for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to $£ 47 \mathrm{~s} .8 \mathrm{~d}$.

The tea and business meeting were held in the vestry of St. John's, where the catering was most efficiently carried out by members of St. John's Drama Society. This arrangement provided a first class meal at a reduced price for the ringers, while raising funds for the Drama Socjety through the voluntary labours of its members.

NEW PEAK IN PEAL RINGING

The president, Mr. T. Cooke, welcomed the company of almost 80 and expressed appreciation of the warmsth of the welcome that he had received in visiting the districts. The various reports on the year's work were presented and adopted. In these the secretary reported that meetings had been well supported and that peal ringing, which had reached a new peak, was largely accounted for by a handful of ringers. The area had had an unusual influx of visitors during the year. The treasurer reported an increase in the balance in hand from $£ 108$ 14s. 11 d . to $£ 1234 \mathrm{~s}$. 7 d .. in which the general fund had gone from $£ 77$ 13 s . 3 d . to $\mathrm{E} 87 \mathrm{7s}$. 11 d ., but he warned members of forthcoming heavy demands for printing. peal report showed that 56 peals had been rung in 27 towers with one on handbells. Of the 71 ringers taking part, II scored their first peal but no new conductor had appeared. Leading peal ringers were J. A. Ainsworth 42 , E. N. Harrison 36. G. S. Deas 35 and J. E. Anderson 27. There were 15 conductors but J. A. Ainsworth's 24 was well ahead of all the others.

SCHEME OF INSTRUCTION

Last year the office of Ringing Master was created and the meeting heard a report of the first year ${ }^{\circ}$ efforts directed towards the formulation of an efficient scheme of instruction for the Association. The problems had been discussed by a panel and a sub-committee had teen enirusted with formulation of some details. Alongside the attempts at an organised scheme many individual eftorts had done valuable work. especially in ending the long silence th:t had prevailed at St. Peter's. Jarrow

The trustees were able 10 report that the property of the Association was safe and sound. The election of officers saw all the retiring efficers re-elected. thus making the list for 1960-61 as follows: President. Mr. T. Cooke : honorary treasurer, Mr. F. Ainsley: honorary secretary and editorial secretary, Mr. D. A. Bayles: honorary auditor, Mr. J. F. Bird; Ringing Master, Mr. K. Arthur; trustees, Messrs. W. N. Patk and N. I. Wright
District officers.-Northern: Mr. J. A.
Ainsworth (vice-president). Mr. G. S. Deas honorary secretary); Southern: Mr. F. W. Cooke and Mr. E. P. Rock ; Eastern: Mr.

Newcastle Annual Meeting
C. N. Lea and Mr. W. F. Sheraton: Western Mr. K. W. Cheeseman and Mr. C. T. Lamb. Peal referees: Messrs D. A. Bayles, W. J Davidson, R. Park and W. N. Park.

VOLUNTARY PEAL LEVY

Mr. J. A. Ainsworth had submitted a motion calling for the institution of a peal levy of 6 d . per rope to be incorporated in the rules. The general feeling was in sympathy -with the aim of raising more money from those who caused the increased printing costs, but most disagreed with the motion as it slood and Mr Ainsworth withdrew the original motion substituting an appeal for voluntary contributions from peal bands. This was adopted and will be printed in the annual reports.

Meetings for 1961 were arranged as follows Social function. Chester-le-Street. January 6th : half-yearly meeting. Whitley Bay. May 13 th: annual meeting. Sunderland. September 30th.

Fifteen new members were elected, including six from Jarrow. and eight belfry elections were ratified.

PEAL SECRETARY RESIGNS

The peal report for 1958-59. which had been adopted at the A.G.M.. 1959. Was raised again and much discussion took place on the question of whether the peal rung at Nortork. Yorks, and which would be credited by the Central Council to the Yorkshire Association only. should be included in the Durham and Newcastle records. A motion to include was eventually carried by 27 votes to 18.
Mr. Bayles then announced that cool and careful consideration of this possibility had led him to the conclusion that this new policy would leave him no option but to resign forthwith as peal secretary and as peal referee. He had not mentioned this inside or outside of the debate lest he be accused of trying to hold a pistol to their heads' but he formally resigned those two appointments.

The president, after a vote expressing full confidence in Mr. Bayles as peal secretary, asked him to reconsider his decision. Mr. Bayles replied that he was not prepared to append his signature to any peal report which violated his principles and therefore there could be no question of withdrawing his resignation. but he was prepared to continue for a short time in order to tie up the loose ends and publish the annual report for 1959-60. wherein the peal records would he confined to the peal report for 1959-60 presented and adopted at that meeting.
There was no further business and the members were able to spend a short time in the belfries of Newcastle Cathedral and St. Mary's. Gateshead, before ringing ended for the day.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The quarterly meeting of the Banbury and District Branch was held at Sandford St. Martin. on October 22nd. about 40 members and friends being present. The proceedings were marred by the sudden illness of the incumbent. the Rev. W. F. Malcolm. who had been taken to hospital earlier in the day, but that very good friend of ringers. the Rev. K. G. Packard. came at short notice from Lower Heyford and conducted the service. At the business meeting a sub-committee was appointed to make arrangements for the annual dinner of the branch on January 21 st , and the next meeting was fixed for January 14th. at Swalcliffe, with ringing at Tadmarton, after tea.

In the church porch on the Sunday. 1.344 Plain Bob Major was rung by J. J. Cummins 1-2. Margaret E. Goodyer 3-4. T. W. Goodyer (cond.) 5-6. W. D. Watson 7-8. A further quarter attempted on the Sunday. collapsed A warm 'Thank you' goes to Maitland people for such a feast of bellringing.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Chew Deanery Branch

The quarterly meeting was held at Nailsea. on October 15th. Ringing preceded the Association form of service. whoch was conducted by the Rector. Rev. E. Guy Hammond, and some 40 members and friends then enjoyed an excellent tea prepared by the Nailsea lady members.

The Rector took the chair at the business meeting which followed tea and new members were elected from Portbury. Portishead and Long Ashton, also one lapsed member from Winford was re-elected. It was decided that. provided permission was forthcoming the annual meeting should be held at Backwell on the first Saturday in December. with Yatton as an alternative. should it prove difficult to arrange tea at Backwell. The practice meeting for November was fixed for Kingiton Seymour.

The usual votes of thanks to all who had contributed to such an enjoyable meeting concluded proceedings.

CORPORATE COMMUNION

Some 19 members attended the half-yearly Corporate Communion at Barrow Gurney, on October 23 rd . and this pleasant octave was set ringing soon after 7 a.m. The ringers attended the Parish Communion at which the celebrant was the Vicar. Canon J. B. Sturdy and those who attended are grateful to both the Vicar and the authorities at the adjoining Barrow Court, now a teachers" training college, for providing breakfast for the party.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

COLLEGE YOUTHS' PEAL AT DERBY
Dear Sir--As the person largely responsible for writing the report of Wilfred Williams 1960 Peal Tour. I should like to make some chservations in reply to the letter under the above heading from Mr. G. A. Halls.
The paragraph concerning the Derby Cathedral peal does not conform to the copy supplied by me. It has been subjected to the editorial blue pencil, and does not read that it was the first ever of Spliced Surprise Royal. containing all the work for each bell. etc.. as was intended. instead. it states that it was the firs: time in this church.
1 was not at Derby when the peal was rung and compiled my notes from details given me verbally. Unfortunately. those original notes were accidentally destroyed and I was faced with the task of writing the whole account from memory. Being somewhat pre-College Youth I thought it fitting that this first: should be recorded for the College Youths. Perhaps, however. it was tactless of me to refer to them as the premier singing society. No doubi many people, including Mr. Halls. disagree with this expressed opinion, and. of course. they are perfectly entitled to.

Finally. I should like to point out to Mr. Halls that I am entirely responsible for the composition. ideas and opinions expressed in this particular report. It was never my intention to offer any slight or insult to the Derbyshire Association. If and when an apology becomes necessary I shall gladly proffer it to the officers of the association. I feel. however. that Mr. Halls has launched rather impetuously into print without true knowledge of the facts.-Yours faithfully. DONALD G. CLIFT
Harrow. Middlesex.
Dear Sir.-Mr. Gordon Halls should have made himself more familiar with tour history hefore rushing into print. He would then have known that a College Youth peal attempt has been arranged on most of my tours during recent years. There was. therefore, no departure from usual custom, and nothing unique in ringing the Derby peal for that Society. He is also quite wrong in stating that it was the only peal not rung for the appropriate territorial association. The peal at Staindrop in County Durham was rung for the Yorkshire Association and not the Durham and Newcastle.

Mr. Halls makes an even greater mistake hy assuming that a professionally written volume like the College Youths peal book is passed round. It would not surprise me to learn that he is firing bullets made by a well known member of the Ancient Society and the Derbyshire Associgtion.-Yours faithfully.

WILFRED WILLLIAMS.

London.

Dear Sir-We fear that Mr. G. Halls is a little piqued because the College Youths will riot admit him into their Society. Obviously Mr Williams did not intend to insult the Derbyshire Association: if he had the peal would have been rung for the South Derbyshire and North Leicestershire Association.Shire and North

WINDSOR CASTLE BELLS

Dear Sir-Apropos the account of Windsor Castle Curtew bells, one wonders what is the - inside story of the 1650 augmentation, tor story there must be, when one considers the set up.

Charles Stuart had been sent to the scaffold twelve months betore. his son was a fugitive and 'Old Noll' firmly established as Protector of the English Republic. yet somebody has sufficient : pull somewhere to carry through an extensive bell restoration in a Church of England building in an ex-royal residence, all of the last three, bells, churches and royal palaces, absolute anathema to the powers that be and they in the first flush of authority. Perhaps Mr. Sharpe would like to enlighten us. if possible, as 10 how it was done--sincerely.

Harborne. Birmingham.
P.S.-I should be plessed to know from whom a copy of Church Bells of Berkshire. Part 17. containing the Windsor Castle account, can be obtained.-W. E. B.

GRATEFULLY ACKNOWLEDGED

Dear Sir.-The list of tower names. which appear week by week under Gratefully Acknowledged. is one item in 'The Kinging Acknowledged. Is one tem in ine Ringing and may it grow even longer!
Looking through the last ten issues of the R.W.: commencing August 12 th -October 14 th . I find some very interesing information about peals, quarter peals, etc.. and the ringers who peais. quarter peals, etc.. and the ringers who in the : G. Ack.

Looking at the quarter peals, etc.. I found that out of 495 published 236 subscribed to - G. Ack. and were responsible for £33 13s. Ild.. the details being :

THANK YOU, CORNWALL

Dear Sir--Having just returned from a short haliday in "The Delectable Duchy" (the first many years), may I through the courtesy of :The Ringing World' say a big Thank you to all those ringers who made me so very welcome. Their unfailing kindness was very much appreciated.-Yours sincercly.

TWO WHITE 'GHOSTS'

When the young band descended Church Gresley belfry, recently, an excited furmoil floated ap to the ringing chamber.

Bluntly the ${ }^{\text {n }}$ Ringing Master shouted down to enquire about the fuss. The odd reply came back- 'two white ghosts were trying to break into the tower.
This brought from Mr. Derek P. Jones the obvious rejoinder not to be ridiculous, but on going down to find out for himself, the Ringing Master was staggered to find that two whlte staggered to find that two whlte strangers were in fact trying to get in and were holding the lads at bay
They were, however, frisky peat GOATS that had sirayed into the churchyard, their consciences leadia them to seek refuge in the church.

MINIMLS RINGING

Dear Sir.-I was interested to read Mr. P Amos letter, in your issue of October 28th, as I have theen thinking along somewhat similar lines re the Minimus controversy. I feel that we ringers should encourage ringing in four bell towers for the very reason stated by Mr . Amos-that the kindling of enthusiasm may one day lead to an increase to five or more bells. Wie have such an example in this county. In the tiny village of Leire love of ringing was bred in a four bell tower, and his resulted in the addition of two more hells. I well remember approaching the church on the night of the dedication service. It was only the sound of Plain Bob Minimus that floated out from that little tower. Bui what a sound! The striking was exemplary and constituted a lesson to many of us who ring on higher numbers

I have instanced this case as an example of the potential effect of encouragement in a four bell tower. Admittedly, the question of four bell peals did not arise, but I feel we should ask ourselves-would the banning of four bell peals constitute an encouragement to a four bell iower. or not?

In conclusion. I note that according to Mr . T. C. Betton many of the four bell towers in leicestershire are out of action. and whilst I would not dispute this statement. I do feel that in many cases a thorough examination might prove otherwisc In some towers the bell are apparently unringable. and unfortunately they stay that way for various reasons. The rings of four bells at the following churches in Leicestershire are certainly ringable: Peatling Magna. The tone of the last two rings (approximately 16 cwt . and 13 cwt . tenors) is beautiful. although i doubt whether either are rung regularly. Has any ringer information regarding the other Leicestershire four bell towers.-Yours faithfully
Cosby. Leics.
JOHN B. BENNETT.

COMPARISONS WITH THE PAST AT SNOWDON DINNER

Problems Of Ringing In This Age

COMPARISONS were made at the 28 th annual commemoration dinner to the memory of Jasper Whitfield Snowdon and past ofticers of the Yorkshire Association with the present age, at Rotherham. on October 22nd. Mr. Philip Gray, who replied for the guests. set before the assembly, of over 150 . the need for a revision of the objects of most ringing associations.
It was an occasion when Yorkshire excelled in its hospitality. The president (the Ven. C. O. Ellison). who presided. gave a lead in friendliness. The arrangements were made by Mr. N. Chaddock and Mr. J. J. L. Gilbert and 11 was with great regret that the company learned of the indisposition of Mr. Gilbert. The highlight of the evening was the handbell tune ringing of the Ecclesfield handbell ringers. who by their performance must rank in the forefront of this class of entertainmeit.

Supporting the president and Mrs. C. O. Ellison on the top table were Bishop G. V. Gerard (Assistant Bishop of Sheffield). the Revs. Canon H. Ferraby, Canon A. King, C. A. Edwards. G. Hollis and J. K. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett. Mr. and Mrs. N. Chaddozk. Mr and Mrs. W. E. Critchley, Mr. and Mrs. Alec Marsh. Mr. and Mrs. H. Bagot, Messrs. G. Benfield. E. Hudson, P. Gray. W. M. Batton. L. W. G. Morris and T. W. White.

The president preceded his welcome to the guests with apologies from the Archbishop of York, the Bishop of Sheffield, Mr. Frederick Sharpe. Miss Margaret Snowdon. niece of Jasper Snowdon, and Mr. A. E. Sellers.

WHO IS LOSING HIS TEMPER

Archaeacon Ellison had a special greeting for the Rev. Gerald Hollis, who, next month, will become Vicar of Rotherham. Mentioning the presence of the edtor. he said, "I think The Kinging World ${ }^{\circ}$ is a most interesting paper. I am not a scientific ringer, but I am interested in the art I start with Beltry Gossip and then turn to the correspondenze page to see who is losing his temper. I don't tempered body but some are apt to get excited. 1 hope. Mr. Editor, you will encourage the use of the blue pencil.
To. Mr. Ben Birkett, who will be 81 hefore Christmas. the oldest ringer present. there was a special round of applause. The secretary was asked to convey the company's sympathy to Mr. John Gilbert.

The Rev. C. Edwards. senior curate at Rotherham: also gave a welcome to the visitors mentioning that Rotherham was very proud of its church. with its long record of worship throughout the centuries. it. choir and Mr. Chaddock ard his loyal team of ringers. whose ringing was no less praise and worship.
Mr. E. A. Barnett. honorary secretary of the Central Council. submitted the toasi of - The late Jasper Whitfield Snowdon and pait alficers of the Yorkshire Association. He sugeesed that for the benefit of the younger jingers a synopsis of Jasper Snowdon and what he did should be printed on the buck of the menu card. His writings in the Snowdon series of ringing books were unrivalled, and Mrs. Turner, who was now selling these book; told him recently that she was arranging for the reprinting of one of the books.

IMPROVEMENTS

It was invidious for him to mention the past officers. many of whom were known personally to many of those present. Whit would they think of the Exercise today if they could be with them? They would find many things which were an improvement. One thing. in panticular. was the report of the Sunday Service Ringing Committee. of which Mr. Chaddock was the convener and Mr. Gray a member. Whatever ringers of the pist might have thought of Sunday service ringing. those of today consider it as vital. They were all agreed upon that. and that it created a better relationship with the clergy.
The corollary of their better relationship with the church was that they must not pride themselves that ringers of today were of a slightly better type than those of the days they were thinking about. Another thing was that public interest in their art was greater than it ever was. As secretary of the received. not only from this country, for information about ringing for articles. One he remembered was from the B.B.C. German service: another from a Swedish gentleman who was writing an article in Swedish about ringing.

There were many other things that were better: one was the elimination of the abuse of prize ringing -he knew that in that part of the country they still had ringing contests and he was not criticising them. He remembered the articles he read in. The Bell News about the prize ringing contests at Liversidge which began at 6 a.m. All the leams rang half a peal and the contest went on to 4 or 5 the next morning. Well, we are glad to say good-bye to that.' remarked the speaker.

FAULTS OF TODAY

Some of the things we do today are, perhaps, not what they did. For instance, in the early days of your Association peals of Minor were almost always rung in seven methods. and anything less was regarded as "beyond the pale." This week's "R Ringing World" contains seven peals of Plain Bob Minor. There may be very good reason; for those peals. but they are a lowering of the standard. And when we come to of the standard. And when we come to Minimus-well!

Another thing is what is known as tower grabbing. It seems rather futile rushing round the country, rushing up the belfry, raising the bells, ringing for a few minutes. lowering the bells and rushing off to another lower about three miles away.
At a recent ringing meeting the incumbent told him :hat on a Bank Holiday he had refused requests from three bands for permission to ring. nonc. of whom had had the courtesy to get in touch with him before the day. That gave ringing a bad name.

The toast was duly honoured.

GREETINGS

Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton was entrusted with the toast of. The Visitors" which he submitted witily. The clerical visitors duly honoured were Bishop G. V. Gerard (Assistant Bishop of Sheffield). the Revs. C. Edwards, G. Itollis. Canon King. Canon Ferraby and J. K Dixon.

The Hug of Affection.- Clare, of the Raving Ringers, reveals to the rest of the company outside Burmarsh Church during the recent tour of Kent where her true happiness is to be found.

Anyone attending the Central Council meeting, he said, would think Mr. Barnett had had the latter in Mrs. Barnett, whom they were pleased to have with them. To. Mr. and Mrs. Smallwood he would say his initials were 'J.F.S.' and anyone would see them in 'Jafus. He remembered the lesson in geography Mr. Smallwood received after their peal it St. Woolos". Monmouthshire is in England and not Wales.
In his greetings to Mr. and Mrs. Halls, of Derby. Mr. Moreton styled Mr. Halls as half a composer. He did not know whether he put in the wrongs and middles and left his assistant the homes! Associating Mr. Philip Gray's name with the toast. he said Mr. Gray spent several years in Australia and when he came back 10 these islands he saw ringing here in a new light. Mr. Gray collected a good deal of information for Mr. Chaddock in the Sunday Service Survey
Mr. Philip Gray in his reply said Yorkshire made a special appeal to him in his profession as a metallurgist. He came to Yorkshire in 1948 with the Society for the University of London and stayed at llkley. During that week he rang his first peal of London Surprise in Jasper Snowdon's lower, which was the first peal of London by a university band.

INFLUENCE OF UNIVERSITIES

One of the features since the war had been the advance of ringing by the universities, and he was very proud of his positton as president of the University of London Society. Before the war there were two university societies; today there were 15 and he estimated that there were now twice as many university peals rung. Today one in six of the Central Council members had university degrees or their equivalent. There were also a great many ringers today who had been to secondary schools. Ringers today were of a very different type from those Jasper Snowdon knew. If this lype of person did not have some impace on ringing after the expensive education they had had. which they as ratepayers had paid for, then it was a waste of payers had p
The world of ringing that Jasper Snowdon knew was very different from today. It was in his day that the associations were created and later the Central Council. It was one of the greatest events in the history of ringing in forming associations, like the Yorkshire. There was not a single tower in the British Isles that could not be a member of a society and take a part in formulating ringing.
If they looked at their rule book they would find amongst the objects that their association existed for the promotion of ringing as Church work, belfry reform and the promotion of scientific ringing. Today the status of the ringer was very much higher than it wis then and now practically all ringers were recognised as Church workers. Belfry reform really meant reforming the ringers. It was a very urgent topic then. When they saw some of the rules put up in belfries and fines for drinking. smoking and swearing. they smiled. but they were a very necessary thing in the towers of those days.

NEW SENSE OF PURPOSE

He thought those original aims had been achieved and that their association had lost some of their sense of purpose. It might sound presumptuous but they should ask ' Where do we go from here-' There were still far too many towers where the bells were not rung or not rung in a fitting way for Sunday service, and too many where the care and maintenance was at fault. They could not be satisfied with this and as an association they must take more responsibility and try to do something. How could inefficient towers learn? How could they put these things right? There were the Jasper Snowdon book; but not everybody could learn from books. Those who had been taught by skilful ringers knew that this was not so. Should they not devote their time on Saturday afternoons to belfry towers with a struggling band? Should they not run special courses of instruction in towers, where they wanted to learn? Could they not improve on their methods of teaching change ringing? Did they make sure that (Continued on next page) all the clergy knew they existed and who their officers were? When they elected new officers did they send the deacon or Rural Deans?

They had that day a very fine organist. and they reached a point when they should ask where did they go from here. He would like to see added to their aims and objects the promotion of bells and knowledge of the teaching of ringing.

The chairman said that the Yorkshire Association had several of the points raised by Mr. Gray under consideration. They were revising their objects and many of these would be included.

The evening concluded with a vote of thanks to the president. proposed by Mr .

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD ANNUAL DINNER

$\mathrm{T}^{\mathrm{H}}$HE annual dinner of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at the Queen Hotel Chester. on October 8th. when a company of 139 sat down. The guests were the Dean of Chester (ihe Very Rev. M. McCausland Gibbs) and the Rev, and Mrs. J. M. Lloyd
After the loyal toast had been drunk the proceedings commenced by the Dean proposing the toast of . The Chester Diocesan Guild. In the course of a lively speech he referred to his association with the Cathedral of St George. Cape Town. during which time the old tower had been taken down and the bells were outside the tower. On arrival in Chester he was welcomed by the bells and very much appreciated it but he found later that he received, as Dean, a bill for the ringing!
He went on to refer to the many different occasions on which bells are rung. in times of joy and in time of sorrow, and he trusted that the sound of the bells summoning people to the worship of God would always be heard He considered bell ringing to be one of the world's great arts and wished the Guild continued success and prosperity

The Master of the Guild. Mr. J. W. Clarke replied and mentioned that this year's festival had been recorded on tape, including the Lord Bishop's address and that this tape would be placed in the Guild library. He followed this with many humorous stories and concluded by assuring the guests that the Guild was advancing and doing well.
The toast of 'Church and State' was entrusted to Mr. C. W. Lawton, who dwell on the part the Church has played in the life of the country and how the State has gradually taken over its nlace in education, law. hospitals. etc. Nevertheless. the Church had still a great nart to play in the life of the State and he felt that they could be honded together more closelv than they had been in the past. but the Church's intention and leadership must be clear.

CHOOSING A HOUSE

The reply was given by the Rev. J. M. Lloyd. who made the point that one of the few things the State did in the Church was to appoint the Dean and he thought all would agree that they had a good one. He went on to mention how when faced with complaints about the ringing of the bells in a previous parish he had suggested that it was just as unwise to choose a house near a church (if you did not like bells) as to choose one near the gas works. He trusted that Church and State would continue to co-operate for a long time Mr. Denis Mottershead. in proposing the toast of "Our Guests and the Ladies.' welcomed them in the name of the Guild and said that meeting together as a Guild gave opportunity for the interchange of ideas and the formation of friendships and taught them to work as a team. not only in the Guild but throughout the country. His speech was liberally sorinkled with quotations from the works of Robert Burns and it would appear the Burns philosophy would repay study by more ringers
Mrs. Millington in her reply said how delightful it was to be entertained instead of as is usually the case of the ladies doing the entertaining. She mentioned the great interest there was in handbell ringing in the Women's Institutes, a remark which some present hrought rather dangerous since it might mean reversal of the usual roles. i.e. husband waita reversal of the usual roles. i.e. husband waitwife from a bellringing practice. She was grateful for the courtesy of the belfry and on behalf of the lesser creatures she was pleased to see so many learning to ring and forming great friendship
During the course of the entertainment songs were given by Mr. N. A. Parry and Dr. I. B. Terret and Mrs. A. Potts provided musical interludes. Handbell ringing comprised Grandsire Caters and Triples. Bob Major and Oxford Treble Bob Major and was arranged by the Treble Bob Major and was

THREE SHIRES TOUR BY BEDFORDSHIRE RINGERS

On October 8th some 15 keen members of the Bedfordshire Association and their friends arose early, except for the organiser, who set up a new world record by being in the coach four minutes after rising from his slumbers! However, we were on time when we stopped at Brackley for refreshment and for one member to have a much-needed shave! We arrived Middleton Cheney. and the heavy and melodious bells were soon being put through their paces. A pleasant walk from the main road brought us to the Parish Church of Great Tew, where it was necessary to light the oil amps to enable us to see to ring. After a good ring and a look round this interesting church. we were soon wending our way to Witney. A very pleasant three-quarters-of-an-hour was spent here and, after a good ring down, we ravelled to Burford, where lunch awaited us

Following lunch, we continued our journey to Moreton-in-the-Marsh. where the bells were joy to ring. On arrival at Pershore the cage was viewed with awe by some. but the undaunted soon had this lovely eight ringing to a touch of Stedman. The recent relanging here has greatly improved the handling. and the magnificent tonal qualities were it rich reward for the hazardous ascent.
A very satisfying tea was taken in the picturesque village of Broadway, after which we travelled to the fine eight at Bloxham. All voted these the he: $i$ bells of the day, and although time was short, good use was made of this fine octave. The last tower was St. John's. Wicken. where some of the local band joined us. Home was reached at 11.30 .
Ringing throughout the day ranged from rounds to Cambridge Major and, as should be the first consideration on all outings. the striking was good. Our thanks to those whe met us and allowed us to ring, and especially Keith Fleming for his efficient arrangementseven though he does need a new alarm clock!

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Lewisham District

Over sixty members and friends met at St. Marys. Woolwich. for the annual meeting of the Lewisham District on October 22nd. The eight bells were kep: going during the afternoon and evening under the able guidance of Mr. I. H. Oram. District Ringing Master
The service was conducted by the Rector. the Rev. N. Stacey: Mr. Martin. local ringer. played the organ: and the lesson was read by Mr. E. Barnett.
An excellent tea was followed by a rapid business meeting. In twelve and a half minutes. and in addition to the usual business. he Ringing Master was re-elected to serve for the following year: Miss Cannon was e-elected and Miss Inman elected to serve as district representatives: and the secretary was re-elected. The meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for his inspired and uplifting address. his warm welcome and his expeditious chairmanship of the meeting.

REV. MALCOLM STRACHAN

With regret we learn that the Rev. Malcolm Strachan. Who took over as Ringing Master from Mr. Warren Sturgis at Groton School. Massachusetts, has died suddenly. A good and enthusiastic ringer he was wholly responsible for the survival of the Exercise at Groton until a heart attack three years ago. Among his pupils was Mr. Russell Young, who recently roured England.

OBITUARY

MR. JAMES PARKER
The passing of Mr. James Parker at the age of 94, recorded in our last issue, recalls many memories of the days when bellringing was not quite so simple as it is now. Bands of ringers in advanced methods were few and far between and means of transport difficult.
James Parker was born at Pulborough, Sussex, and commenced his ringing at Charlwood. Surrey, After leaving Charlwood he went to Storrington. Sussex. where he taught the call-change hand to ring Doubles. When he was married in 1888. the ringers for the first time rang 120 Grandsire Doubles without his assistance. Later he went to Crawley, Sussex. where, when he joined the band. Grandsire Triples was the top method, and when he left, seven or eight years later, the band. under his tuition, had progressed to London Surprise Major. His greatest achievement there, of which he was justly proud, was the record length of Superlative Surprise Major of 9.312 changes. which he conducted. This record was held for 14 years.

In 1897 he moved to London and soon joined the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and was closely assoclated with Henry Dains. He was Master of the Cumberland Youths in the early part of the century. When he moved to Edmonton, in 1900, he became Master of the Parish Church ringers and Master of the Parish Church ringers and seldom missed Sundio service ringing. which he considered the most important duty of a ringer.

He represented the Sussex County Association on the Central Council from 1894 to 1896 and later the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths from 1897 to 1899 and from 1906 to 1947 when he retired to make way for a younger man.

Of his three children, two sons and one daughter, Edith. the last named, was the only one to take up ringing seriously, and doubtless to say he followed her career with great less to pride.

He had rung 365 peals from Minor to Maximus. of which six were handbells. His last peal was at Bradford. Cathedral, in 1939.

The cremation service took place at Norwich and the service was conducted by the Rev. Giles Galley.

AN APPRECIATION

James Parker did much good work for the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild. He was a member from its formation by a union of the Middlesex Association and the South and West Middlesex Guild in 1897, and was one of those forming the first Central Committee, so that without doubt he was amongst those who formed the rules of the present Association, rules which ever since have not been materially altered.
At All Saints", Edmonton, where for many years he was captain of the ringers, he gained the respect of a loyal and progressive banda local band which could at that time compete with any other in the country. The striking was of a high standard and no visitors were necessary in the ringing on Sundays and practice evenings of touches of Spliced Surprise Major in up to eight methods-truly pioneer work.
James Parker conducted the fourth peal for the Association-Superlative Surprise Major, at Southgate, in 1897 -and this method could have been his favourate for he conducted the then longest length at Crawley. Sussex, and also rang a course at the farewell gathering at Edmonton in 1942. when he left to reside near Great Yarmouth. Another commendable tribute, to him, was. of course, the introduction to the helfry of his daughter, Edith K.. who apart from her quite outstanding performances on tower hells and on handbells was a foundation member of the Ladies ${ }^{\circ}$ Guild.

We owe to James Parker a great deal for his successful work and high endeavour and the Exercise would benefit with more like him.

SELF-CENTRED?

THE main grievances against Victorian ringers, of drinking, smoking and swearing in belfries, are more or less a thing of the past. There are isolated incidents such as have been recorded in recent letters of smoking in belfries, but according to our experience this is in no sense a general rule. Conduct in belfries today is good and fitting to a building consecrated as God's house. But don't let us develop into a sanctimonious attitude about such things. Spurgeon, the great Baptist divine, once.commented that he found tobacco an aid to holiness, and many a writer, including the Editor, will not hesitate to light a pipe as a help to stimulate thought.

The great thing to remember is that with very few exceptions we practise our art in God's house. Although the ringing chamber is invariably very distant from the altar, in every part of the building there should be a consciousness of His Presence. We cannot disguise the fact that ringing in many of its phases is a sport. The sporting element is disguised at times under the words 'the Exercise,' but nevertheless much of our ringing in peals, quarter peals and at meetings is prompted by the sheer pleasure we get from ringing bells. After all. it would be a very poor outlook for ringing in general if we only rang from a sense of duty. There may be some who do like the sexton tolling his bells, and others with a grudging sense of disciplined duty, but the glory of England's bells would never have reached its present state of rich beauty in cadence and rhythm if those who rang did not revel in the music and find a sense of immense pleasure and satisfaction when the performance reaches a high standard.
We have referred in the past to ringing as a dedicated sport or art. The association of the Exercise at large with Sunday service ringing and the recognition by many ringers and clergy that ringing for service is an act of worship and praise lifts ringing on to a higher plane. If the purport of all our enjoyment was primarily directed towards this purpose then perhaps all the critics would be silenced. The fact remains that we love ringing very largely for its peculiar fascination. We love touring the country and ringing in strange towers; we love testing our mental and physical ability in peals; we love the comradeship of fellow ringers and hearing anecdotes of the past. Indeed, we have become a community in many ways estranged from the rest of mankind. The other people, to some of our enthusiasts, are just incidental to life.

Is such a picture of ringing true or untrue? If life is self-centred in ringing, although some of that ringing may be reserved exclusively to His purpose and the work of His Church, is there not a danger of a sanctimonious halo about our art? There are ringers today who regard their Sunday service ringing as the omnia and termina of their worship. The impelling call to worship with the rest of the congregation has no part in their spiritual worship. We do not condemn them, although it is an oft-repeated theme at ringers' services. What we do condemn is an utter indifference to the Church and all it stands for. Without that recognition the belfry is turned into a secular gymnasium. Enthusiasm must be limited: it must never reach the stage when the only things that matter in a church are the bells and their music.

Practically all of the church bells in our land are hallowed and dedicated. In most dedication services a warning is given against the profane use of bells. This does not mean that the ringing of a peal is a profane act. It only becomes profane when those who ring are not conscious that the instruments that give them pleasure are provided as part of the Church's offering. And as bells ring out over town and country they bring the message to mankind of his Church on earth. In all peal ringing, even for pleasure, it is an offering to the Almighty. Because of the sacred character of the instruments it behoves us all, whether for service or practice, to give of our best. A second best or indifference is no good.

And finally, remember that bells can be false gods. We are all bounded together through our Guilds and Associations into the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers. The significant word is 'Church.' That does not mean we are ringers of bells in a church. No, the title goes far deeper, implying membership and servants of that Church. We cannot as a body remain aloof; we love our particular form of service as a kind of offering that relatively few have the ability or privilege to make, but at the same time we share in the common membership. We must see our ringing in a true perspective with the rest of Christ's Church. The belfry must not be a fraternity unto itself but a part of the living Church. Let us not be the one talent man of the parable, keeping all our ability exclusively to ourselves. There must be a willingness to trade or to work so as to increase that talent. That work might take us to other offices of the Church and mean the sharing of our love for the bells with a far greater love that of His Church and the great duty entrusted to it of bringing His Kingdom on earth.

Long lengths of Minor are rare in these days. One of 12,240 changes was rung at BELFRY Ashbocking. Suffolk, on October 29th. It consisted of 17 extents in 17 different methods and was completed in 6 hours 31 miputes. Mr. F. B. Lutkin, who had participated in a number of long lengths, conducted.

The band who rang the first peal on Dauntsey, Wilts. bells report that they are a very pleasant-ioned ring on ball bearings.
Exning, Suffolk, ringers have great hopes in their latest recruit, 14 -year-old Irene Cross, who rang her first quarter ( in hand') on OLtober 30 th.
The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Goodman, of Costessey, was marked by a peal at Mulbarton church. where they were married. and in a hospitable manner aflerwards at their home.

The peal of Doubles on page 717 stated to be rung at St. Augustines's Church. Locking, Somerset. should read the Church of St.
Leonard. Shipham. Somerset. Apologies are sent by our correspondent for the mistake.
When a peal was rung at Buxton. Norfolk, as a welcome to the Rev. A. K. Birch, the newly-inducted Vicar, he recorded part of the peal and afterwards played it back for the ringers to hear. They were not ashamed at what they heard. It was a joy to the band having Mr. W. C. Duffeld peal ringing again after a lapse of so many years.

The Vicar of Hagbourne, Rev. H. A. SmithMasters, asked the tower secretary what the ringers were going to do for Ringers* Sunday. Quick as a tlash (and without thinking!) he replied that three quarters would be attempted -one for each service. Thus it was that the ringers, casting reproachful glances at the malefactor, assembled at 7 a.m. on the Sunday. A good quarter of Grandsire Triples was rung, following which all the ringers attended Holy Communion. Stedman Triples was attempted for Matins, but this unfortunately came to grief due to a missed call one course from home. To finish the day, a quarter of Plain Bob Major was rung for the special Ringers' Sunday Evensong; this included four parts in the method.

Records are given in the GOSSIP July issue of 'Ringing Towers' of peal and quarter peal totals for each year since the formation of the New South Wales Association in 1946. Peals total 32 ( 26 tower and 6 hand) and quarter peals 425 ( 331 tower, 94 hand). The leading peal ringer is $W$. Rowe with 18 , followed by T. Goodyer 15, R. Ferris 14 and J. Duncan 11.

Our newer universities are in the news this week with peals from Nottingham and Reading University Societies.

The ringer of the 2nd in the quarter peal of of Grandsire Triples, on October 15th. was Maria E. Kirby and not Maria Thoday as printed on page 743.
The work of restoration of the tower of St. Nicholas', Kenilworth. is now completed and the bellhangers have commenced the work of rehanging the bells. They hope to have them ready for ringing by the end of the month.
Fifty-four sacks of twigs, stones, bottle tops and rubble, carried there by jackdaws, have been removed from the bell chamber of Repton Parish Church, states "The Church Times.'

Mr. E. L. Humphriss had great satisfaction over the peal he conducted at Woolton, Liverpool, on October 22nd. Seven of the local St. Peter's Society scored their first peal. They are all teenagers, four being still at school and three started work this summer.

Great credit is due to the four 'first-timers, in the peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal at Bradford Cathedral. on October 29th, all of whom really did their stuff; particularly Master Barry Schofield. who at the age of 12 years earned full marks by not making a single trip.

Four anoi=nt bells have recently been rehung at Spofforth Parish Church, Yorks, as the resuit of a memorial benefaction of 1.000 guineas. It is thought that the bells may contain metal from bells used at the Trinitarian Priory, Knaresborough, and at Fountains Abbey, This third and tenor bells were cast by William Oldfield. of York. in 1609.

KIMPTON CUP CONTEST

THE first Hertfordshire ringing competition was held at Kimpton in October, 1959. following the rededication of the bell's after rehanging; the trophy was a solid silver cup given by the Kimpton Guild of Change Ringers o mark the occasion
Kimpton was the meeting place for the second event which took place on October 22nd. A rainy, dismal afternoon did nothing to dampen the spirits of the 6 competing teams that gathered outside the tower just before 3 o"clock to draw for order of ringing. With the two judges safely 'locked away' the first team drawn were soon ringing the 'test piece,' 360 Minor, own choice of method. Meanwhile, teams who were to ring later, together with other ringers and friends, were able to partake of light refreshments in the Memorial Hall. and here also were available darts. table tennis and billiards. which were put to good use throughout the afternoon.
All leams successfully completed ringing by $50^{\circ}$ clock and in the time remaining betore tea the bells were open for general use. The judges were 'released' and had the opporcunity to try the bells. Their verdict was not an easy ring.' However, the competing teams would have had difficulty in faulting the judges!

Over 70 ringers and friends sat down to an excellent tea in the Memorial Hall. Among the distinguished ringers present were the president. Mr. W. C. Hughes, and three past presidents of the Hertford County Association, and Mr. A. E. Rushton, president of the Bedfordshire County Association. After teit the Vicar of Kimpton, Rev. C. W. Lawrence, welcomed the company and said it was a great thing in the life of the church that the bells should ring out their message and it was a joy to see so many ringers. some young and some not so young, gathered together on his occasion.
Mr. T. J. Lock, in introducing the judges, Miss Hilda G. Snowden and Mr. Ralph Edwards, said he thought there could be no one except the veriest beginners who did not know of the achievements of these two eminent ringers.

JUDGES' COMMENTS
Miss Snowden, in her remarks, said that the ringing generally had been of a very high order: the principal faults were erratic leads and the little bells 'clipping' the big bells, two of the teams did not seem to settle into a good beat and she felt the ringing was a litule slow with some teams.

Mr. Edwards supported these remarks and also said he was surprised that no team had made full use of the two minutes allowed for rounds; a peal band would often ring rounds for a full five minutes before starting their attempt.

The teams who entered, methods rung, and marking were then given as follows: Apsley End (Cambridge) 44 faults. North Mymms (winners last year) (Cambridge) 49. Baldock (Cambridge) 58. Hatfield (Pla in Bob) 101, King's Langley (Plain Bob) 115, Kimpton (Plain Bob) 154

The Kimpton Cup was then presented to Mr. R. E. Sheppard. of Apsley End, who said he felt that it was regular Sunday service ringing together as a band that had helped his team to success.

Mr. J. G. Cull. on behalf of the competition committee, thanked the judges for their services and they were each presented with a box of chacolates as a small token of appreciation. Mr. Cull also expressed the thanks of the Kimpton Guild to the North Mymms band who, as first holders of the cup. had generously had it beautifully engraved with a suitable inscription
Mr. A. V. Good, secretary of the winning tearo, invited the company to Apsley End for the 1961 competition.

The very enjoyable social evening which followed included a smoking concert. during which several well known ringers displayed their talents in other directions. Included in the programme were songs from Mrs. Kathleen Lock and entertainment at the piano from Martyn Jordan, of Tewin. All the ringing had been tape recorded and during the evening teams were able to hear their efforts played back. The ringers other needs were adequately met by some of the Hatfield team. ably led by Mr. Stan Huckle, who served behind the bar. J.G.C.

MR. JOHN WILIIS

Kent County Association

Whether we describe Mr. John Willis as a Kentish man or a 'Man of Kent it is an undoubted fact that he has niade a considerable impact on the ringers in the great county of Kent. He is yet another member of that honoured profession-the teachers, which has provided us with so many reliable stalwarts who have carried the torch so well stalwarts wh and so long.
Such is the estimation in which he is held, that when Mr. E. H. Lewis left Kent, Mr. Willis was appointed a vice-president and succeeded him as chairman. He is modest and unassuming, but firm and efficient in conducting the affairs of the Kent County Association.

Born at Egerton in 1883. he was taught to ring in 1896 at Charing by the late William Spice, to whom he is eternally grateful for introducing him to an art which has given him much happiness all through his life. He rang his first peal (Grandsire 1 riples) at Quex Park in 1902, and nobody could ever accuse him of suffering from 'pealitis' for his total stands at the very modest figure of 25 . He seems to have been more adapted for administration then peal ringing and he has given all through his lite most valuable service as an administrator not only in the field of ringing-but also in other fields-and has earned for himself the highest regard of his fellows. He is now one of the members of the K.C.A. with longest service, having joined it in 1896, and he became a committee member in 1910.
He held teaching appointments at Faversham and Canterbury and in 1912 left Kent on becoming head of Pondsbridge C. of E. School. Huntingdon. In 1915 he went to Fortyfoot Bridge School, Ramsey, and stayed there for over 30 years, until retirement in 1945 . He went to live at Folkestone. and at once resumed his activities in the K.C.A. Reappointed to the committee in 1946, he also served as trustee. Then in 1951 he was elected as Central Council representative, and, as stated above, vice-president in 1953.
In 1952 he was appointed to serve on the Biographies Committee, and at once set about the task of bringing the work up to date, by writing up the details of careers of over 300 deceased members of the Council. Owing to the illness of his wife, he did not seek reelection in 1957. but offered to carry on with his work in connection with the biographiesand was promptly made an honorary member. Amongst other offices Mr. Willis has filled are: Honorary secretary of Hunts County Teachers' Association for 27 years, a service recognised by the presentations of a gold watch and cheque in 1923, and a further cheque for $£ 50$ on retirement; member of County Education Committee; East Anglian representative, National Union of Teachers' Executive; honorary secretary, District Hospitals Committee, Ramsey; governor, Peterhorough Memorial Hospital; member of the Urban District Council, Ramsey ; vice-chairman, District Youth Committee, etc.. etc. In Freemasonry he has served with distinction being W.M. of Arlwyn Lodge 3535 : Pr.. Gd.. Std. B.. and P. Pr.. S.G.W.. Northants and Hunts: and W.M. of Shorncliffe Lodge 4330. His whole life has been one of service to his fellows, and the Exercise will wish him many more happy years of retirement.

JAFUS.

RECORD LENGTH FAILURE

A telegram was read by Mr. F. Sharpe at the dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths on Saturday that the attempt for the 40.320 changes of Plain Bob Major at Over that day failed at 11,000 changes. The news was received with regret.
We have since heard that the attempt failed in the 100 th course after $6 \frac{1}{8}$ hours' ringing.

The band stood as follows: B. F. L. Groves 1. F. Dunkerley 2, C. K. Lewis 3. B. Jones 4. J. Worth 5. E. Jenkins 6. R. B. Smith 7. B. Harris 8.
The umpires were $H$. O. Baker, D. Mottershead. P. Laflin and R. Boumphrey.

WANTAGE RINGERS' ' THANK YOU'

An attempt was made, on October 29th, to ing J. J. Parker's Twelve Part peal of 5,040 Grandsire Triples on the bells of the Parish Church. Wantage, as a tribute to the Rev A. C. A. Chetwynd-Talbot before his departure from the parish. The ringers were Ian Stoter. K. Leach (conductor). Jim White, A. R. Wooker, A. E. Fullbrook, David Stoter, A. R. Wood and H. White.

Some 5.040 changes were rung in 3 hours 4 minutes. but owing to the fact that a shift occurred during the last quarter-hour. the effort unfortunately could not be counted as a true peal. So far as is known. this is the first time that a peal has been attempted by the Sunday service band at Wantage, and the ringers were particularly pleased to be able to make this effort as a 'thank-you' to Fr. Talbot.

BELL RINGING CLASSES IN DERBYSHIRE

A series of 12 evening classes on bellringing is being run by the Derbyshire Education Committee, on behalf of the Derbyshire Association, at Scargill School. West Hallam, with Mr. Gordon A. Halls as instructor

The attendance each week is about 14 and fortunately for the instructor all the pupils can handle a bell. The two hour class comprises one hour of practical ringing at West Hallam church, and one hour of the theoretical aspects of change ringing.
Lectures have so far included bell founding and tuning. method structure and place notation. others will deal with touches and peals, how to write them out and prove them and finally, a little talk on elementary composition. Recently the class visited Loughborough Foundry and that night doubles its strength. An interesting tour of the foundry finished up with ringing on the campanile.

College Of Campanology

Of the two new officers, recently appointed. the Registrar is Mr. D. P. Jones. of Balliol College. Oxford, and whose home is in Southsea: while th: Press and Public Relations Officer is Dr. R. G. T. Bennett. of Harwell. and formerly of the Christchurch (New Zealand) Cathedral band.

The College hopes shortly to announce details of its next week-end residential course to be held in the South Midlands, next spring. The course will be suitable for both learners and instructors and reduced terms will be available for local students,

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GULLD ANNUAL DINNER & SOCLAL

The annual dinner and social of the Leicester Diocesan Guild was held on October 29th, in the Shakespeare Hotel, Braunstone, Leicester. For some years past, criticism has been passed regarding the venue for the annual dinner. but this year everyone appeared to be satistied with the arrangements made. Although situated only two miles from the centre of Leicester the hotel proved to be a little difficult to locate, but the three or four late-comers were served.
Promptly at 6.30 p.m.. Mr. J. P. Fidler, toastmaster, called for the company to be seated. The chief guests were the Lord Bishop of Leicester and the Provost of Leicester Cathedral. together with their wives. Supporting the president (Mr. P. J. Staniforth) and his wife were the vice-presidents (Mr. P. L. his wife were the vice-presidents (Mr. P. L.
Taylor and Mr. F. K. Measures) and their wives. general secretary (Mr. B. G. Warwick) and Mrs. Warwick. the peal secretary (Mr. J. A. Acres), the treasurer (Mr. Ernest Morris), the trustees (Mr. Cives. Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Fidler) and their wison and Mr. P. Fidler) and their wives. Mr. and Burton and Mr. F. W. Perrens.

PRESENTATION TO PEAL SECRETARY

After an excellent meal came the formal part of the proceedings. First of all, the Lord has just retired as peal secretary, with a picnic has just retired as peal secretary, with a pinenic of all the hours of painstaking work which he has put in for the Guild. This gave the Bishop an opportunity of speaking to the Guild, but as he spoke last year he was able to keep his remarks quite short on this occasion. Mrs. Williams (the Bishop's wife) presented Mrs. Burton with a bowl of fruit.
In reply. Mr. Burton thanked the Guild for their gifts. He hoped that more young ringers would take up the theoretical side of ringing and suggested that the Guild organise a study group with which he would he happy to assist.
The toastmaster then announced that a touch of Spliced Surprise Major on handbells would be rung by Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Staniforth. Mr. A. Ballard and Mr. J. A. Acres. This consisted of a lead each of London, Superlative. Cambridge. Superlative and Yorkshire and was practically faultless.
The toast of : The Leicester Diocesan Guild was proposed by the Provost of Leicester. This was the first occasion he had been present and he expressed great pleasure at heing invited. He made reference to Mr.
He P. L. Taylor and the famous bell foundry. stating that he first came across Taylor's bells when he was Vicar at Holywood in Ireland. He also mentioned Ernest Morris and the fact that Ernest had rung more peals than any living ringer, having rung his 1.960 th peal that same morning. He ended by saying that the clergy did appreciate the help given to the church by the ringers.
The president replied to the toast on behalf of the Guild. He thanked the Bishop and the Provost for their speeches and their wives for their attendance.
A short recital of handbell tunes was then given by three members of the St. Thomas". South Wigston, band.
Mr, C. Harrison proposed the toast of 'The Visitors. These included Mr. and Mrs. L. Walmsley and Mr. and Mrs. Crossthwaite (Leyland, Lancs). Mr and Mrs. H. Poyner (Shrewsbury), Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith (Southrepps, Norfolk). Mr. F. Hinds and his party of six members from the North Leicestershire and South Derbyshire Association. and Mr. F. W. Perrens (Coventry). librarian of the Central Council. Mr. F. W. Perrens replied on behalf of the visitors.
The social evening that followed was all present thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Abstract

Bells On The Queen Mary Mr. W. B. Cartwright, the honorary solicitor to the Central Council, returued from his visit to the United States and Canada on the Queen Mary. On the Sunday morning he went to the service conducted by the Staff Captain in the first-class lounge. Passing along the promenade deck he was surprised to find a seaman trying to knock out some rounds and queens on a set of tubular bells. © If I had been a bit earlier,' he writes, ' 1 might have tried to show him how to do it,' At the Riverside Church, New York, he met Dr. Lefevere, the carillonneur mentioned in a recent front page article is 'The Ringing World.' Dr. Lefevere is a carillonneur at Bournville. As a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright he started his afternoon's recital by playing the National Anthem!

DORSET RINGING FESTIVAL

The annual ringing festival took place at Blandford Forum Parish Church on October 29th. when some 60 ringers and others were present. Unfortunately, the ringing was restricted by the collapse of two stays, but that still left 6 good bells on which Doubles and Minor methods. as well as rounds, were rung.
At the service in the lovely Restoration Church. which was conducted by the Rector. the Rev. H. G. Goodall., an address was given by the Master of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. Canon C. Carew Cox. His text was appropriate. 'Seek, that ye may excel.' As progress was expected in all men s activities. he said. so in the art of ringing we should not be content with a fixed level of proficiency. but always be préssing on to a higher standard.
The tea was presided over by the Mayor of Blandford. who was accompanied by the Mayoress and Deputy Mayor. In welcoming the ringers the Mayor said that church bells always spoke to him of joyful times, whether Christian Festivals or Royal occasions: he was glad to know that ringing was a growing art, and he hoped it would continue to flourish in Dorsel. Later, the Mayor visited the tower and watched the ringing with great interest.

This festival is the result of a bequest by a late citizen of Blandford. Samuel Francis Pond. who left money for the curfew to be rung every day, and for an annual ringing competition. Dorset ringers felt that competing for a prize was not in keeping with the spirit of ringing. and that a festival in which all would compete to ring their best would be equally agreeable to their benefactor: and so it remains, the money being spent on the expenses of the festival and the tea.

A SOLIHULL TRIBUTE

On October 30th the ringers of St. Alphege's Church. Solihull. Warwickshire. paid a tribute to Mr. P. W. Harrison on the occasion of his 80 th birthday. which took place on the following day. Mr. Harrison has served Solihull church for a great number of years. and it is mainly due 10 his devoted service as Rector's warden and treasurer of the Parochial Church Council that the finances of the church have been for so long in a healthy condition. A great lover of the bells, and 2 firm believer in the part they play in worship.
Mr. Harrison has never ceased to champion the cause of the ringers. and it was due to him that the custom of the Pancake Bell on Shrove Tuesday was resuscitated.
In appreciation of Mr. Harrison's services 1. 280 Plain Bob Major was rung by: W.
Leeson 1. C. Dale 2. V.W. Rigg 3. A. Walker 4. T. Warner 5. R. Cann 6, E. C. Shepherd (conductor) 7, C. Bragg 8.

ALPHABET FOR BEGINNERS

By T. J. LOCK

"T"
TITTUMS.-The Tittums change on eight hells is 15263748 , and on ten bells is 1627384950 , and as you will observe it causes the lighter of the bells to strike alternately with the heavier bells. It is one of the most musical changes there are and the ear can stand its repetition at succeeding strokes, as one may get in call change ringing. You could work out for yourself the Tittums change on twelve bells, and when you have got it, it would be worth playing on the piano.

There is also the Tittums position but in practice it occurs only in odd-bell ringing. If the bells were put in the Tittums position in even-bell ringing it would mean parting the tenors from their natural positions and would produce some unpleasant and unnecessary musical changes. The bells when in the Tittums position are made to course down to lead in the order of 7.8.9. in Caters or 7.8.9.0.E. in Cinques.

TOUCH.-As soon as a conductor calls the first bob or single the ringing is transformed from what would have been a plain course into a touch. In other words a touch in ringing is when the bells have been turned over from their plain coursing order. And. of course, a true touch is when the bells are brought back into rounds without repetition of any of the changes. A touch, you will recollect, can in some methods be so short as to contain less changes than the plain course jtself.

TRANSPOSITION-To quote an example of this term I would refer you to Thurstans Four Part peal of Stedman Triples. Sir Arthur
P. Heywood moved or adapted the calling slightly so that the bell unaffected by extras and omits is the treble. This composition is now known as Heywood's Transposition of Thurstans' Four Part.

TREBLE BOB HUNT.-A bell which treble bob hunts is one which dodges in every pair of adjacent positions as it progresses from front to back and from back to front.

TREBLE BOB METHOD.-This class of method requires the treble bell to treble bob hunt and no internal places to be made at any of the cross sections in the half-lead.

TUNING OF BELLS.-The note of a bell comprises five recognised tones-the strike. the "hum" (an octave below strike), the - nominal' (an octave, above strike). the 'tierce and the 'quint.' a third and a fifth above strike respectively. The sketch shows their positions on the stave when the strike note is $G$.

The actual tuning of bells is done. so to speak, behind the iron curtain of the foundry and is a secret which has been jealously guarded for generations. It has been said. however, that there are well over eight hundred known ways of tuning a bell, from small to large no doubt, but it is presumed some ways are not quite so successful or convenient as others. Should you hear reference to bells forming a maiden peal it indicates that, when cast. they each produced their correct note and thus did not need to be tuned.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FALSE PEALS
Dcar Sir.-.On checking through the figures of my arrangement of the 50 Pluin and Little method peal. I find there is al repetition of changes in the leads of Cambridge Court and Hastings Litte Bob.
1 therefore wish to withdraw two peals, one rung 'in hand at Burton-on Stather on March 11th. 1951. and the other at Lincoln on May 11th. 1951. and the other at Lincoin on May 31 st . 1960 . I tender my sincere apologies 10 holh band:

This mears that the peal in 46 methods rung in hand at Burton-on-Stather, on Fehruary l9th. 1951, is now the record for handhells for Major. The figures for the 50 Major methods were published in "The Ringing World shortly ifter the tirst peal wis rung.-Yours sincerely

SMOKING IN BELFRIES

Dear Sir.-How nice for some North Devon ringers to he able to smoke in the belfry! Herhaps, that is where the ashtrays went, that disappeared from South Shropshire. 12 years go.
Might I suggest that some of our more prosperous lowers extend this ideat by having pelevision sets installed for those waiting their lurn 10 ring.

Come to think of it. perhaps. we could even suggest to P.C.C.s that coffee and biscuits are served in church during the sermon!-Yours faithfully.

NOTE. White smoking is forbidden in the ringing chamber of Holy Trinity Pro-Cathedral. Guildford. ash trays are provided in the room helow. which is used as the Provost's office, and have been used.-Ed.

BRIDGING THE GAP'

Dear Sir.-I regret that Mr. Gray found my lelter alarming. I appear, unwittingly, to have given the impression that the College wishes io impose some totalitarian and sterile Liniformity on the methods of teaching ringing. This is emphatically not the case. This is brought out in the 'Manual itself. where it is made quite clear that different treatments are necessary for different circumstances. and that the tutor must always be ready to adapt his teaching.

Whether the principles are sound and sufficient. whether the exercises illustrate them properly, whether. in short. the "Manual succeeds or fails in its purposes are things on which ringers who have read it and tried out its proposals will naturally hold their oun opinions. To stigmatise it is worthless and foolish merely because it attempts to present a graded set of exercises for the learner while commending Mr. Price for doing so docs not appear io be consistent.Yours etc.

- HENRY VII

Dear sir.-The passing of George Gilber? was mourned by all ringers. and the articles about him in recent Ringing Worlds have heen most interesting.

I well remember the sensation caused when he rang the peal with seven ladies at Shiplake in 1930. Owen W. Porter, who was captain of the Shiplake tower at that time, gave him the name of "Henry VIII" and by that name we shall always remember him.-Yours faith. fully,

PEALS OF MINIMUS

Dear Sir--From the letters that have appeared since my original one on the subject of peals of Minimus, it seems probable that the majority are, in fact. opposed 10 -bell peals heing recognised. It is, of course, up to us who have feelings on the matter to put them forward at meetings of our own Associations so that our representatives can take action at the next Central Council meeting.
Mr. Amos puts forward two arguments typical of those in favour of 4 -bell peals. I should like to comment briefly on these: Firstly, there is no objection to performances of any length on 4 -bells: the objection is to them being recognised as "peals." This objection is not dog-in-the-manger. but comes from a wish to preserve standards before they become so low as to be meaningless.

Secondly. it seem. unlikely that recognition of 4-bell peals will encourage the augmentation of 4-bell rings. Far more likely that the 4 -bell ringers will be content to go on ringing 4-bell peals. Perhaps if six-bell performances had not been recognised as peals. more six-hell rings would have heen augmented to eight!-Yours sincerely.

STAINDROP, CO. DURHAM

Dear Sir.-With reference to the letter from Mr. Malls. page 724. I wish to point out that Staindrop is in County Durham and the Diocese of Durham and it is difficult to see how the Yorkshire Association is in the case of a peal rung there the appropriate territorial association.
It is not a new thing for peals rung in County Durham (or clsewhere for that matter!) 10 be appropriated by the Yorkshire Association, but in this case Mr. Williams was forced to adopt such a course. as insufficient of his hand were members of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association to comply with our rule concerning helfry elections of the others.-Yours sincerely.

A further point about your report. You state, correctly, at the beginning that the meeting decided to raise the subscription to 34. 6d.. but at the end of the section of the report dealing with this matter it is stated that it was agreed to raise the subscription to 3 s .:-Yours faithfully.

RINGING COMPETITIONS

Dear Sir-While the memories of another successful ringing competition at Kimpton, Herifordshire, are still fresh. I would like. througin your columns. to submit a few points in favour of such gatherings with a view to promoting discussion in your paper.

The interest shown by, and the number of. eminent ringers-often trom other Associations -present at these functions leads us 10 suppose that many more competitions would be welcome: instead of heing the exception they could almosi be the rule.

The objects of our local Association. the Hertlord County, are given as:
(1) Belfry reform.
(2) The promotion of change ringing and of social intercourse amongst change ringers within and around the county by means of the various annual and district meetings.

Most worthy objects they are, interest and social intercourse are promoted by meetings and also by peal attempts. However, we consider that ine inclusion of ringing competitions into the present Association activities would be welcomed by most members and be stimulating to the Exercise in general and 10 Sunday service bands in particular.
We submit that competition ringing-for no financial reward-has the following points in its favour.
(1) A condition of entry is that the band must be entirely and without exception composed of service ringers local to one tower.
(2) The improvement in the standard of striking and knowledge of the chosen method by a band practising for a competition is considerable.
(3) The limited social arrangements for a peal attempt or a meeting just will not do. Bearing in mind that only one team is in the lower at a time arrangements for the remainder must be adequate. Wives and friends must be catered for. The evening. 100 lends itself to informal entertainment, handbeli ringing and that beloved pastime of all ringers -beer and chatter.
(4) Young ringers there for the day really do hear good striking, good handbell ringing -rare in some areas-and see the freemasonry of ringers in action.
(5) A tape recording made during the afternoon and played back during the evening when there is leisure to listen critically often convinces us that we do not strike as well as we ought.
In conclusion, may I repeat that the purpose of this letter $i_{i}$ to promote discussion on this topic. Are we right to continue and encourage competitive ringing? Will it corrupl the good things of the Exercise? Will competitions not endure so long as traditional peals and meetings? Could their scope be made wider? Could the local competitions lead to a national final?-Yours sincerely.

LETTERS-Continued

Dear Sir. When the footballer or footbal supporter surveys the official league table at the end of the season he will find that that record agrees with all the individual records of the clubs in that league and he would think it ridiculous if that were not so
Once again the Central Council, through its Peals Analysis Committee. has produced its league table' in the Peals Analysis for 1959 (p. 706 - R.W.'), but no ringer should be so naive as to think that this will agree with the individual records of all the affiliated societies or associations in their own reports. I know that these often begin their year at some time other than January lst (as this analysis does) and I do not refer to apparent discrepancies resulting from comparison of different periods of time. After making these adjustments I understand that there are associations. such as Chester Diocesan Guild, where the figures will agree as a result of a deliberate policy but there are others, such as the Yorkshire and Lancashire Associations, where the figures will not agree as a result of a deliberate policy and any resemblance will be entirely coincidental.
As peal secretary of the Durham and Newcastle Association my figures would have accorded with the official - league table but that policy has recently been rejected and I have therefore taken what I believe to be the only honourable course open to an accountant who is instructed to falsify his accounts and resigned the position
The earliest relevant publication of the Central Council that I have seen is the Rules and Decisions publication of 1927 and on p. 31 of that we read

BOOKING OF PEALS - With a view to the regulation of the records of peals in Peal Books, the Council has passed the dollowing resolution :
.. It is desirable. when a band of ingers belonging to more than one Association meet to ring a peal, that they should decide beforenand to which Association such peal shall be credited and that for the future no peal shall be published under the name of more than one Association " (1893).'
The other resolution deals with performance of new peals and is not relevant to this discussion. In the Central Council Handbook of 1956. pp. 21 and 22, the spirit of this earlier publication is clearly preserved, although the wording is slightly different.
I know that there are a number of people who share my view that it is completely nonsensical to have different and discordant records. Indeed, the only defence that I have heard is that it has been done in the past. in spite of the Council's campaign almost from its inception against that sort of thing! Onc obvious course is io bring all records into line with the official central records and this I sought to do at Folkestone earlier this year. There 1 was surprised to learn that the Central Council cannot be expected to give any instructions to its affiliated societies (although Handbook p. 11 these shall subscribe 10 an undertaking loyally to abide by the rules and decision; of the Council ') or to he Editor of the paper that it owns!
In the Handbook of 1956. p. 31. we read of the work of the Peal Analysis CommitteeThis work of analysis is a valuable piece of recording and demands from the committee great care and aceuracy:
While we have affiliated societies which say in effect that they do not 'give a rap for the Central Council's records and will continue to compile their own differing records where it suits their own purposes 10 do so is there any justification for the claim that the Peals Analysis is a valuable piece of recording Does it in fact serve any useful purpose?

I must make it quite clear that this criticism is entirely limited to the system and is not in any way an attack on the persons who have produced this analysis
The full extent of the discrepancies is hard to assess for peals may appear in more than one association report. although published in - The Ringing World under one association's name only. e.g. see my letter earlier this year on p. 91 (February sth)-Yours sincerely.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD FESTIVAL AT ST. EWE

More than 100 ringers attended the festival of the Mid-Cornwall Branch of the Truro Diocesan Guild. held at St. Ewe. Various lests were arranged by Mr. H. Lander (St. Stephen's). and 14 first-class certificates were awarded. Mr. J. Keatte (St. Merryn) was the judge. Among those present were Mr. W. H. Southeard and the Rev. A. S. Roherts (vicepresidents), the Rev. J. R. Jose and E. Thomas, Tea was provided by local ringers wives and helpers and the festival organisers were Messrs. D. Burnett and H. Lander.

TRAFALGAR DAY DINNER

When Sir Christopher Furness kindly proposed to give a dinner for the ringers of Truro Cathedral. It was suggested that this should be held on Trafalgar Day, because it was to Cornwall first of all that news of the Battle of Trafalgar was brought by the schooner Pickle to Mounts Bay, only a few days after October 21st. 1805.
Thus on Friday, October 21st, at the Brookdale Hotel. Truro, a company numbering 25 niet for a sumptuous dinner. Those present included the Dean (the Very Rev. H. M. Lloyd). Sir Christopher Furness, Mr. Guillaume Ormond (organist). Mr. W. H. Southeard (Master). Miss H. Penrose (vice-Master) and Mr. A. Davidson (secretary).

Sir Christopher. in a short and witty speech expressed his pleasure at being in the company of the Cathedral ringers. and gave some amusing and suitable remarks with reminiscences concerning Truro and its Cathedral.
The Dean proposed the toast of the evening Lord Nelson and told the company that young Horatio was the son of a Norfolk clergyman. and in his early years could possibly have pulled the bells in his father's church tower. At the age of 12 Horatio went to sea and had a very distinguished career in the Navy, becoming a captan at the age of 21 years. Nelson was 47 years of age when he died at the battle of Trafalgar. He was probably the greatest admiral England ever had.
Mr. W. H. Southeard proposed the health of the host. Sir Christopher Furness, and said that out of a total of 50.000 ringers in England he felt that it was a great honour that the ringers of Truro Cathedral should be given such a splendid dinner.
Bellringing. he said, was an art. sometimes unrecognised by people in general. But this evening the company were delighted to accept the hospitality of one who greatly loved and admired church bells, especially those of Truro Cathedral.

Following the speeches an entertaining hour was given by Mr. Peter Penwarden, the magiclan. and the evening was brought to a close with some very pleasant and suitable remarks from Mr. Alan Carveth. on behalf of all the ringers present.

CRANTOCK, CORNW ALL

On October 29ih the ringers of Crantock with friends from Si . Columb Minor. Si Mawgan and St. Breock. Wadebridge, had in afternoon's ringing in the Camelford area. The three cars met at Tintagel to ring on the six in the church on the top of the cliff. It was one of the few lovely days of this autumn and Tintagel looked beautiful.
From there we went back to Camelford and into the lanes to find Advent. This church is in a field and has no road to it. Advent has a beautiful tower with eight small pinnacles: there are five bells which are the lightest ring in Cornwall (tenor $3 \frac{1}{\text { cwt.) }}$ and the best oi the county's seven fives. We began with Bob Minimus and ended with Grandsire Doubles The captain of Advent ringers. Mr. F. Bartett greeted us just before we left which we much appreciated

Later we joined the Launceston Branch Festival at St. Breward. where we had tea, at tended the service and had a ring on the hells, being joined by three change ringers from St. Mary Magdalene. Launceston. On the way home we called in at St. Breock.
Wadebridge, and rang several good touches on the recently restored six.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

On October 15 th the Society held its quarterly meeting at Walsall. It was a typical autumn day, duil and dry, but this did not deter members from visiting this Biack Country ' town.
The meeting began in an unusual manner with a carillon recital on the bells of the Town Hall given by Mr. C. M. Smith, assistant secretary of the society. This was followed by ringing at St. Michael's Church. Rushall, a little church amid the fields just outside Walsall. For an hour the six bells of this church (tenor $7 \mathrm{cw1}$. ) were put to very good good use. Afterwards the gathering of ringers moved to St. Matthew's Chureh, where the magnificent 'Taylor' twelve were soon booming out over the roof lops. It is always a pleasure to ring in this well kept belfry: the bunch of flowers in the corner added a delightful finishing touch for the occasion. Ringing for all comers was arranged by the Ringing Master (Mr. E. Malin)-rounds for the learners. Grandsire. Stedman, Plain Bob, Surprise Major and Royal.
A short service was conducted by the Rev. Vernon S. Nicholls. In his address he said how very good it would be if everyone could learn to say 'thank-you. He would like to say 'thank-you' to his own ringers and the thousands of other ringers throughout the country for the faithful service they performed each Sunday.

Tea followed in the Church Institute, where about 80 members and friends enjoyed an excellent meai. During the business meeting the lay secretary, Mr. D. J. Tranter, read a letter of resignation he had received from the clerical secretary, the Rev. C. Holroyd Barker. He had. he said, been clerical secretary for the past 44 years and had been a great servant of the Society. In recognition of his service the committee had unanimously proposed that he be made an honorary life member of the Society. A fund is to be set up and it is hoped to raise enough money to enable a suitable presentation to be made to him.
Ringing continued on these fine bells after tea. Altogether ii was a most successful meeting. due in no small way to the hard work and enthusiasm of Mr. and Mrs. G. W.
Hughes. the local band and their many helpers.

RECORD GATHERING AT STAMFORD

The joint meeting of the South Lincs and Peterborough Diocesan Guilds held at Stamford on October 29ih attracted a gathering of over a hundred ringers. which is a record for either Guild.

The bells of All Saints" and St. Martin"s were set in motion about 2.45 p.m. and rang tcuches from rounds for the beginners 10 Spliced Surprise methods until 4.15 p.m. when a service was held in All Saints* Church, conducted by the Vicar. the Rev. E. F. Wright.

After tea, at the White Heather restaurant. ringing continued at boih Sramford churches and also Castor and Wansford until ahout 9 p.m. The counties from which the ringers came were: Lincoln. Ruiland. Derby, Northampton. Leicester, Huntingdon and Norfolk.

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION

In honour of the birth of a son (Michael Charles) to Dr. E. V. Woodcack. a keen member of the Hope band. members of the North Wales Association met at Hope. Flintshire. 10 ring a quarter peal of Minor. on October 17th.
As the treble rope broke shortly after the start. it was decided by the eight ringers present to ring two 720 's with rounds while a change of ringers was made. Two excellent extents were rung-Plain Bob (conducted by (conducted by William Cathrall)
Those taking part were: W. H. Lewis and Harry Price (Hope), F, R. Evans and W. Cathrall (Wrexham), B Jones and B. Griffiths (Mold). D. H. B. Millward (Buckley) and C. Gudgeon (Flint).

BRIEF SURVEY OF  HUNTINGDONSHIRE

Over 400 Bells - 39 Founders

By T. A. BEVIS

HUNTINGDONSHIRE is a small county, compressed between two great rivers-the Nene and the Ouse. To the north are the low Fenlands of which the shire forms a small part. but its most attractive scenery is found in the pleasant. undulating countryside: litlle hills capped with centuries-old churches; lazy streams meandering peacefully through rich. green meadows.
Due. perhaps. to its unassuming nature the county is not often seen to the lore in news appertaining to bells and bellringers. The bells. naturally, are there-over 400 of them-and there are a number of enthusiastic campanologists. several of whom are well known in neighbouring shires and beyond. One of the most interesting features in Huntingdonshire's bell-lore is its wealih of bells which represent no less than 39 founders, a surprising revelation when considering the size of the county.
As far as can be ascertained the earliest founders are represented at Water Newton and Bury, Jolin Rofford and William Roflord each providing a bell to those respective churcies. Johni a Londoner. was appointed Royal Bellfounder in 1367, and he died about 1390 .
Next we have W. Dawe, who had a peccllar hathit of inscribing his work with. William flounder: His real name very rarely occurred on his work. and he is represented at Abbots Ripton. where the treble is inscribed (translated): - Of its favour heaven is chary to the man that loves not Mary.
Dawe's establishment flourishcd from about 1381 to 1418. and it has been suggested. with some ruth. that another person of the sume name in the same ward of Londons the same name in the same ward of Londen's East End carried on practice as a a dresser of white leather. $\mathrm{It}_{1}$ is possible that they were father and son. At any rate it is reasonable to assume that for the sake of identification the bell-man styled himself as identilication the bell-man styled himself as William ffounder. Three bells at Great Paxton, Grafham and Great Staughton may also be Dawe's work. although he may have had a partner at that time. as indicated by later bell stamps.
John Michell and Roger Landon are two worthies who are found at Chesterton: the latter expired shorly after 1495. Michell succeeded him and it is believed that he cast a bell for Old Weston.
Ellington. Chesterton and Overton Longueville saw bell installations carried out by John Walgrave, who is repuled to have been William Dawe's foreman. John's bells are numerous throughout the country, and the founder appears to have been prosperous.
John Danyell was an excellent founder. but he was not merely contented in that capacity alone. It has been recorded that he supplied wine to King's College. Cambridge. at about the time he ended hisc career its a man of metal: Danyell provided a bell for Haddon metal. Danyell provided a hell for Haddon, church. and was succeeded by Henry lordan, church. and was succeeded by henry Jordan, inscribed one 'Sancla Anna Ora Pro Nobis.' His slamp is comprised of the cross-keys and a dolphin-the badge of the Fishmongers Company. of which he was a member. He enjoyed a prolific period of activity between the years 1442 and 1468. and several of his bells, remain.
Will'anm Culverden, of London. did husiness at King's Rivon: and is found from 1513 , 10 1523. Culverdens rebus consists of a shield depicting a bell surrounded by seemingly meanningless symbols and lelters atiore is usuaily a bird on the shield. possibly a pige nn. Culver is Old Englist for pigeon. hence the appearance of the bird in the founder's riddle. His bells are rare. 18 having survived the ravages of time. most of these in Suffilk.
Buckden's treble was made by Thomas Bullisdon. also of London, who was casting bellis in. 1500 . His father wils Muyor of bells in 1500 . His father wis Muyor of London and M.P. for the City in 1492 ? Bullisdon cast a complete ring of five for the old Priory Church of St. Bartholomew the Great. Smithficid. and these earned him the Great. Smithfield. and these earned him

Robert Oldfield may be represented at Denton, a bell in the church tower bearing a shield with the letters R. O. S. (Robert Oldfield. of $\mathrm{S}-(-$ ?). Oldfield's family hailed from Nottingham. and this founder also installed bells at Buckworth. Catworth and Stilton.
The foundry at Leicester managed by Newcumbe and Watts sent several bells into the fair county of Muntingdonshre and several still exist. mostly in pairs at Little Stukely. Buckworth. Easton. Winwick, Fletton. Frarcet. Great Stukely, Upwood, Conington and Houghton.
This founder delighted in his quaint inseriptions, e.g. Remember the Pore and Nede (ureat b,ukely). and at Upwood we are reminded. A Peletente Harte is Giood. Buckworth implores Geve God the Prease and "Cieve Thanks to God Alwais." while Winwick concludes with Prease Ciod Only.
At Keystone, Watts comes out with • Feare the Lora. and a very encouraging inscription ' Kememoer the Ende!' and 'Coni, Com and Preay:
Litte is known of the founder John Greve, who cast a bell tor Kimbolton church in $15 \%$ and one tor Abbotsley (1575).
The opening years of the 17th century saw mucn activily at Newcombe and Watts premises, ana Newcomoc provided the treole second and third for All samns', Huntingdon, in louk. Watis despached bells to ureat staugnton and Kimbolton in 1633 and 16.34, respectively, and cast a complete ring of rive tor spalawick in 1638. Watts' Dells are numerous in Northants and are supposed to excel in fine tonal quality.
Richard Holdfield's abode was probably at Cambridge. He may have heen a relative or Kobert Ulafield. for both used the same stamp and often the same inscriptions. I he former cast bells tor Hilton in 1604, Litule Stukely (1607). Woodstone (1608), Little Paxton (1610), Everton (1611), ana wyton (1612).
William Hausley, of St. Ives, created four bells for the church at Houghton. one inscribed: Man Taketh Paine but Giod Giveth cinine (gain). He is also represented as Fenstanton ( 1620 ). Offord Darcy (1620). Great Stukely (1622), Broughton (1624), Wood Hurst (1624). Wyton (1626), and tour bells at Holywell (dated 1625).
It. is interesting to note that the then popular Stamtord foundry, under the Norris family, sent no less than 47 bells to Huntingdonshire. Tobias Norris expired on November 2nd. 1626, and is buried in one of Stamford's churches. Hunts has 12 of his bells. the earliest at Orton Waterville, 1606, and the latest at Stanground. 1622.

Thomas Norris carried on the business after John's death and cast about 24 bells for the county. dating from 1628 (Hamerton) to 1679 (Brampton): his most notable bells are at Leighton Bromswold ( 1641 ). the tenor inscribed Esme Cathertua.
Tobias III (baptised April 25th. 1634) is buried at St. George's Church. Stamford. This founder has been described as a plain man who believed that the less said the better." Consequently he produced bells with only an occasional scroll or initial as testified by those at Water Newton. Great Gidding and Holme.
Eleven bells were sent to the county by James Keene, of Woodstock. who died in 1654 His bells are found at Swineshead (1629). Old Hurst. Offord Cluny. Everton and Bramplon. James was succeeded by his son Richard (who has no hells in Hunts). and after the latter's death the foundry was closed.
For nigh on forly years John Draper carried on the business of bell founder at Thetford. Norfolk. His death occurred in 1644. Draper made only two bells for Huntingdonshire and these were installed at Colne. Said to be a good founder. he enhanced his reputation as such by marrying a sister of John Bend (also a founder), and between them the two men endeavoured to build an active concern against the then growing reputation of Colchester Graye.
It seems ironic that Miles Graye's son made a bell which was hung at the side of Draper's bells at Colne in 1654! Miles cast hut one bell for the county and this was installed in 1632 at Bluntisham. Something like 80 of his instruments are still to be found from 1605 to 1646 . He died in 1649. : weak in body and crazed with age. but yel in pfect mind and memory. leaving two sons. Christopher and Miles 11.

The former is represented at Hailweston (1665). Everton (1681). Yelling (1660). Pidley. curm-Fenton (1675). and Offord Darcy (1676) Miles II made bells for Abbotsley (1653). Buckden (1654) and Colne. naturaily (!). (1564). This founder. like a good many others of his day, possessed a nomad-like streak. haviny lived in Suffolk. Bedfordshire and Cambs. Hc finally setted down in Suffolk and expired in his father's old town. Colchester. in 1686 leaving a shilling cach to his six children.
Bryan and William Eldridge had their businesses at Chertscy. Surrey and they provided bells for Great Gransden (i658) and Kimbolton (1660).

Charles Newman, of Haddenham (Cambs). just managed to gat his nose into the picture with two bells at Colne and Bury. respectively (both dated 1700). Most of his work is to be found in Suffolk. He. like Miles Graye II. pessessed nomadic habits and was also estab lished at King's Lynn.

Lichfield Cathedral has 10 bells. eight of which were cast by Henry Bagley, of Ecton in 1688. He also appears in Hunts with bells at Bythorn (1682) and Kimbolton (1702).
Richard Chandler died in 1755 and is described in a bur al register as a poor bell founder.: this prciumably from a financial point of view. Chandler had his foundry at Drayton Parslow. Bucks. and he produced bells in 1688 and 1699 for the Huntingdonshire villages. Ellington and Diddington. respectively.
Three bells were provided for churches a Great Paxton (1721). Keystone (1733) and Brampton (1741) by Thomas Russell. of Wootton. Bedfordshire. Apart from casting bells he also enjoyed the additional occupation as a clock and watchmaker-not an unusual sideline for a founder in the 1700 's. His bells are found from 1715 to 1745. in which year he died.

KETTERING RINGER'S LONG SERVICE RECORD

October 1st was a red letter day for Mr R. F. Turner, Kettering's veteran ringer-. He celebrated his 80th birthday and also his 60 years' as a ringer at the Parish Church. He joined the new band. formed in 1900, and is the only survivor
An attempt for a peal of Little Bob Royal (Mr. Turner standing in) was lost after $1 \frac{1}{4}$ hours through a shift course. In the band was Mr. G. C. Goodman. of Kingston-onThames. formerly of Kettering. who learnt 10 ring here under Mr. Turner and others.
After the ringing the Rector, Canon H. G. L. Roberts. and the ringers were entertained to tea by Mr. Turner in the Parish Room. The Rector paid tribute to Mr. Turner's long service, loyalty and regularity for service ringing. and wished him health and strength to add to this wonderful recorđ̃. He also extended to him birthday greetings from the company present

Mr . A. H. Idle. captain of the tower. also added his tributes and thanks to Mr. Turner for his hospitality Mr. Turner was captain of the tower for well over 30 years, and many years ago did good service as branch secretary of the Keltering Branch of the Central Northants Association, the forerunner of the Peterborough Guild. He now is always willing to help out in the surrounding towers. He is a real Servant of the Exercise.

Society Of Sherwood Youths

The meeting of the Society of Sherwood Youths. held at Hucknall. on Octoher 29th. was attended by about 45 members and visitors. Methods rung included Superlative, Bristol. 1.ondon. Stedman and Spliced Bob meihods. A free tea was provided by the ringers of Hucknall. and a short service was conducted by Canon Thompson. Amongst the visitors were Mr. Scattergood. from Chesterfield. and another ringer from the same tower.

OBITUARY

MR. TOM MILLINGTON

The death of Mr. Tom Millington in hospital on October 23 rd came as a great shock to all his ringing friends in the North Wales Association and in the Chester area.

He had been a ringer at Hope for many years, and his enthusiasm and ready smile were an inspiration and encouragement to all who had the pleasure to meet him. He was most regular in his attendance at meetings and often his car arrived. bursting at the seams, with those he was always 'giving a lift' to. He attended our last monthly meeting at Wrexham. on October 12th. but he was not able to take part in the ringing.
Recently he gave up farming on his own account and took a post with the Forestry, Commission. to keep him out of mischief.
To his widow we express our deepest sympathy and trust it won't be too long before she joins us again at our practices. R.I.P.
D. H. B. M.

REFLECTIONS ON A GREAT EVENING

VERY man has during his life the experience of at least one good news story,' the late Lord Northcliffe once remarked. And what a collection of good news stories the assembly of 175 ringers and non-ringing friends could have told at the 323rd anniversary dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

There were some present whose great life story has yet to be told, for the College Youths, despite its tradition being well-rooted in ringing history, does not scorn youth. Any male 14 years of age or over who has rung a quarter peal is eligible for membership. The Ancient Society would never have collected such a sprinkling of real hoary veterans of 50 and 60 years' membership without them, and while these were being honoured with a dignity that befitted their age, more than one of the assembly was making a mental calculation that in five, ten or 15 years he would have earned this respect. Of the 60year membership class, there were only two present. One was George E. Symonds, of Ipswich, whose reputation as a 12 -bell ringer and composer stands high. As a composer, like the late Jimmy George who was evolving new peals and compositions to the very end, George Symonds still derives pleasure in this part of the Exercise.

The other was Mr. E. G. Fenn, who since the last dinner had had a peal rung in honour of his golden wedding. He will go down in history as the Master of the College Youths during the eventful years of the last war, when in the City of London ten rings of bells were lost by enemy action, three in East London and five in other parts of the Metropolis. Years of sorrow and anguish to those who loved bells, for in addition the 'Coffee Pot,' the traditional meeting place of the Society, was blitzed. But Ernest has lived to see a great rebuilding and restoration of City bells-indeed the problem before the ringing societies of London today is to find teams to man the new bells.

A smaller number than usual stood up to acknowledge 50 years' membership-but they all bore famous names whose memory will be perpetuated in the history of London ringing as bridging the early decades of this century. There was Albert A. Hughes, a master of anecdote of London ringers and ringing, and one of the greatest College Youths of all time. Except the secretaryship, he has held every office in the Society. The Whitechapel Bell Foundry was the wartime home of the Society-nay, it was more than that. the repository of many of the bells from the bombed churches, except those buried beneath rubble and debris. And now as the post-war bells of London ring out from St. Clement Danes', St. Lawrence Jewry and other towers, attentive ears listen and say 'Hughes' glory.' In the old woild and the new the Whitechapel Foundry is known in connection with bells and with another famous family firm, John Taylor's, of Lough-borough-the two great survivors of bell-founders' art in this country. With confidence we can say England gives the world its best bells.

Another colourful figure, who with reluctance stood to acknowledge his 50 and more years' membership, was Mr. Alfred H. Peck. For 20 years he was secretary of the Society. Born at Bedford, where he learnt to ring, he is particularly proud of the fact that he went to John Bunyan's school. He inherited all John Bunyan's love of bells but never his fear that because of the wickedness of ringing the bells would fall down on him! His long years of faithful service at St. Paul's Cathedral, particularly on the heavy end, will long be remembered, for it is no light undertaking to come up from Reigate, in the heart of Surrey, to ring Sunday by Sunday. There is something very likeable about Alf Peck: the number who wanted to show their friendship by drinks as a tribute of affection was staggering. All the good-humoured bluntness that characterised the old London ringer is part of his makeup; whether blame or praise, it came straight from the shoulder.

Sitting opposite Alfred Peck was sleek, grey-haired Henry Hodgetts, whose appearance belies his advancing years. 'The safest ringer I ever knew,' commented Alfred, and then proceeded to tell stories of their long association with London ringing, both in peals and on great occasions in the City. Among their many bonds was the ringing of Bow bells for the recording of the B.B.C. time signal, probably 25 years ago. There is only one other survivor of that band-Herbert Langdon, and his absence from.the gathering was regretted.

Finally, as we look at this great Society, we see the burden of responsibility passing to a much younger generation. Although no word of appreciation was said, everyone present was conscious of the contribution made to the success of the evening by John Chilcott, the secretary, who since assuming office three years ago has had conferred upon him the conductorship of St. Paul's Cathedral band, one of the outstanding positions in the Exercise today. And those who rang so meticulously the bob course of Stedman Cinques 'in hand ' were, with one exception, all of his generation. Leadership of the Ancients for the next few years will be in the hands of young men. The old men of the past will sit back-no, not to criticise, but to smile with satisfaction in the knowledge that the torch carried so valiantly, and at times under great difficulties. is being held aloft by young men who are not only masters of their craft but are imbued with the spirit of keeping the College Youths in the forefront of change-ringing today.

Mr. J. D. Johnson has waited for 46 years to conduct a peal at Ledbury, Herefordshire-his father's native town and the tower in which he learnt his early ringing. On August Monday, 1914, he had been invited to conduct a peal of Grandsire for the local band. but the outbreak of the 1914 war cancelled this attempt. The opportunity war not recur until the peal of Stedman on November 5th this year.
We regret to learn of the passing. on November 1st. of Mr. Benjamin Barker, a loyal member of St. Peter's band, Derby.
Miss Ann Brown. a well known Australian ringer. who has been in England recently, was married last Saturday at St. Michael's (R.C.) Church. Huntingdon. to Mr. David Henby, a member of the U.S.A. Air Force.
After an absence from ringing for many years. by reason of his occupation, Mr. J. Ramble. sometime of Croydon, rang his bell faultessly in a peal of Stedman Triples, at Stoke Poges, on November 2nd.
The peal of Lincolnshire Surprise at Allesley, Coventry, on November 5th, was rung on the 50th anniversary of Mr. Frank W. Perrens' first peal and he called the same composition as he did when the first peal of Lincolnshire was rung in 1928.
Mr. John N. D. Chaddock (19), turned in Rotherham tenor ( $34 \frac{3}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), to a peal of Plain Bob Royal, to welcome the new Vicar. He is the youngest ringer to do so and received the hearty congratulations of the band on a good job at the conclusion of the peal.
Liverpool University Society has now the use of the bells of St. Francis Xavier's Church. Liverpool, for practices every Friday from 6 to 7 p.m. As the Society is still few in numbers, any visitors would be made very welcome.
The tower of St. Mary's Church. Brecon, is undergoing repairs, estimated to cost $£ 1,770$. Ravages of the weather have loosened much of the masonry at the top of the tower and the parapet. gargoyles and buttresses. So far only t200 has been received.

GOSSIP

Towards the cost of proMr. A. H. Pulling nearly $£ 240$ has been received. At an extraordinary general meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on Saturday, it was decided to transfer money standing in the Cathedral Bell Fund towards this object and also to consider winding up the Benevolent Fund of the Guild. Another $\pm 200$ at least is urgently required. Donations to Mr. C. W. Denyer, 15, Crondall Lane, Farnham.
The bells of St. Mary's, Southampton, will be broadcast. prior to the $9.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. service. next Sunday (November 20th), on the West Home Service ( 258 m . and 206 m .).
Congratulations were extended by many friends at the Guildford Diocesan Guild meeting on Saturday to Mr. F. N. Wicks on his recent marriage.
Still going strong is Mr. Tom Jennings, of St. Sepulchure's, Northampton. who will be 81 in January, He rang a quarter peal at Whiston on November 6 th with precision. on bells which many ringers fight shy at handing. Congratulations Tom!
Regarding our report of the bells on the Queen Mary an error occurred in our paragraph (page 754). Dr. Lefevere has recenuly retired from the post of carillonneur at the Riverside Church. He is not carillonneur at Bournville. Mr. Clifford Ball, a friend of many ringers, holds that post.
' The statistics given in H. E. Taylor's letter, re "Gratefully Acknowledged," seem ", to indicate that the more "highfalutin" one's ringing becomes the less one needs to support the organ which does so much for peal ringers.- Comment by South Yorks ringer.
Before Mrs. Mary C. Poyner went to Pulverbatch. Shropshire, to conduct her first peal. she read her horoscope in the morning newspaper. It stated: 'Keep your wits about you or you will be "beaten to the post" in some ambitious project.' She succeeded and is believed to be the first lady to call a peal in the county of Salop.

JOINT MEETING AT HILLINGDON

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE No.

The day was gloomy, and the rain hardly stopped for a moment on October 29th, when the annual meeting of the Ladies' Guild Middlesex Association and the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Hillingdon. This annual event was not dampened by the weather, as about 80 ringers supported the meeting
During the afternoon St. Andrew's, Uxbridge, was open for ringing as well as St. John's, Hillingdon. Mr. Fred Goodfellow started the ringing at both towers, and then Mr. Frank Blagrove took charge of the eight bell ringing at St. Andrew's, while Mr. Derek Fowles looked after the ten bell ringing at St John's. On the whole the ringing was good.
We were very grateful to the Vicar of Hillingdon, Rev F. C. Tyler, who conducted a most enjoyable service in which the Rev. Mr. Swindells, curate of St. Mary's, Slough, preached a evry interesting sermon.

A magnificent tea was provided in the Church Hall, and this year the responsibility was taken over from Mrs. Goodfellow, who has catered so well for us in the past, by Mrs. A. R. Turley. The Vicar again welcomed the various ringers to Hillingdon. Mrs locke replied for the Ladies' Guild and said that there were about 30 ladies present and this. compared with the first meeting, which was held about 25 years ago, was very good
The Ringing Master. of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch. Mr. E. G. Swift, thanked the ladies of Hillingdon for the splendid tea He added that unlike most years, when it is said. 'The same old faces are here,' looking around he could see many new, young faces, which was most encouraging.
The meeting stood in silence to remember two faithful ringers who had passed awayMr. George Gilbert. of Burnham, and Mr. James W. Parker, late of Edmonion
Mr. A. D. Barker proposed votes of thanks to the Vicar. also the organist and choir for their attendance.
The tables were quickly moved away for very pleasant social evening which followed A touch of Stedman Triples was rung on the handbells and Mr. George Hart showed coloured slides of towers in Somerset. which he visited this summer with the American boys. The annual tussle between the Middlesex and Oxford ringers for the famous China Cup was again won by Middlesex Games and dancing followed and thanks were given 10 Mrs. Locke for her assistance in organising the games.

AN OUTING IN NORTH DEVON

On October 22nd two Devon and five Somerset ringers spent an enjoyable day amongst the sixes of North Devon. A narrow, (wisting 1 in 4 ascent brought the party to Charles, where they found a delightful ring (y) cwt), although the tenor is somewhat predominant in the ringing chamber. High Bray $(13$ cwt.) stands at the top of another hill. These nice-toned bells are unfortunately very rarely rung and much moulting of the sallies occurred.
A black cat met the band at Bratton Fleming ( 15 cwt ) and the party were indeed lucky for the bells are a joy to ring and to listen to. Then on to Kentisbury ( 8 cwt.), where the bells are an easy going. merry little set. After tea at Clifton House, Combe Martin, a move was made to Arlington, where the church stands in National Trust grounds and is lighted by paraffin. The bells are a very good ring, sounding heavier than their 11 cwt .

To reach Loxhore ( 5 cwt .) one has to pass through two farmyards. These bells go very well despite the somewhat cramped ringing space. Goodleigh church is difficult to find in the dark but the bells ( 8 cwt .) are worth searching for. even though the ropes appear to have been adjusted for giants. West Buckland ( 7 t cwt .) was the last tower of the day and another welcoming black cat brought luck for. despite the long draught causing some misgivings. the bells proved to be one of the best rings of the day. Fog was descending as the parry dispersed for home.

Best thanks are due to all who so readily gave permission to ring and to those locals who met the party

MR. WILFRID F. MORETON

Mr. Wilfrid Moreton is one of the most brilliant members of the younger generation ir the Exarcisc. He is a true Yorkshireman and it can be confidently claimed that he is imbued with all the highest ideals of good ringing and striking that have characterised Yorkshire ever since Jasper Snowden set that county's very high standards. He will not countenance bud or sloppy, ringing, and poor handling and striking are his pet abominations. This is not to say he is int-patient or intolerant-indeed he is of a very quiet disposition-but those who do not take the job of ringing seriously and do not give of their best would be well advised to steer clear of the danger of his strictures! He is a born teacher. and is yet another member of that grand profession that has provided us with so many capable instructors.

Born in 1924, at Flamborough, he lived in Yorkshire for eight years and then his family moved to Herefordshire, where, during his 20 years' residence, he learnt to ring in 1937 at All Saints' Church. Hereford, under the instruction of the late Charles L. Sadler. His first peal (Grandsire Triples) was rung a Holme Lacey in 1939. conducted by E. F Salmons. His first as conductor was three months later. After leaving school he went up 10 Oxford in 1942 and learnt handbell ring ing from John E. Spice, who called his firs handbell peal that year. Then service in the Royal Armoured Corps for three years-mostly spent abroad-took him to India, and whils there he rang three handbell peals. Returning to Yorkshire in 1952, he was appointed Divinity Master at Normanton Grammar School. Interested in the game of rugby foot ball, it was natural that he should also be in charge of that at the school.

Being brought up in the atmosphere of a clergyman's home (his father is a priest), he naturally became involved in all sorts of church work-becoming a server since seven years old and a chorister since nine. He can accompany a service on the organ, and took part in many church activities, such as amateu dramatics, pageants, etc. In 1952 he married Miss Jo(an) Roper-known to her intimate friends as 'Jo.' the daughter of Mr. H. L Roper. Oxford D.G. librarian. and compiler of 'The Ringing World index. They have one son-not yet two years old-but already interested in bells. Wilfrid was elected Central Council representative for Hereford Guild in 1945 and served in that capacity until 1959 He was then made an honorary member, and has rendered splendid service on the Sunday Service Survey Committce.
His peals total to date is about 750, of which he has conducted over 370 . The total includes about 100 on handbells. He took part in the peal of Spliced Surprise Major in 25 methods-then a record-and has since taken part in the present record-a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in 53 methods. Two of the peals he is most proud of are Yorkshire at Lugwardine in 1949 and Stedman Triples at Holme Lacey. In both these peal practicany all were 'firsts.' Wilfrid is never so happy as when teaching learners, and when he has finished with them they can take their places with the best.

JAFUS.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION DINNER

The Kent County Association held their annual dinner at Tonbridge, on October 29th. Unfortunately only a few ringers were able to make use of the opportunity to ring at the Parish Church during the afternoon, probably due to the tupical English weather, but over 70 members and friends met for dinner at the Rose and Crown

After the meal Mr. J. Willis, who presided, proposed the loyal toast and then speeches followed, alternated with songs from Miss Barbara Lee and Mr. Raymond Large, accompanied by Mrs. E. J. Ladd.

The Association's secretary. Dr. E. S. J Hatcher. proposed the toast of 'The Church which was replied to by Canon T. F. C. Bewes Vicar of Tonbridge. The Archdeacon of Tonbridge (Ven. E.E. Maples-Earle), proposed a toast to "The Exercise, to which Mr. P. A Corby replied on behalf of the Kent County Associntion. A course of Grandsire Caters was rung by members of the Association.

The chairman then thanked the two singers, and Miss Doris Colgate for her work in arranging the dinner and presented her with a gift from the members.

SCOTTISH ASSOCIATION

The autumn meeting of the Scottish Association was held on October 22nd, the proceedings beginning at St. John's, Alloa, the lightest ring of eight in the country. The local ringers had kindly provided a buffet lunch and for some it was a difficult matter to decide whether to go first to the Church Hall for refreshment or to the tower for ringing. So that full use would be made of the ringing opportunities of the afternoon an advance party set off for Dunblane, where the bells were available only between 3 and 4 p.m.

Ringers from Paisley, Dundee and St. Andrew's then had to leave for home while the rest of the party moved on to Edinburgh. where ringing continued first at St. Mary's Cathedral and then at Si. Cuthbert's Parish Church.
In addition to a good attendance of memhers we were pleased to have with us two ringers from Cheshire who had made the journey specially to attend the meeting. The ringing ranging from rounds to Double Norwich and Cambridge Major, was under the supervision of the Ringing Master, Mr. H. F. Sargent, of Glasgow.

323rd ANNIVERSARY DINNER OF THE COLLEGE YOUTHS  ENCOURAGING REVIEW OF RINGING NATIONALLY - BUSY DAYS AHEAD FOR BELL-FOUNDERS-  COLLEGE YOUTHS' GROWTH : A MEMBER A WEEK SINCE THE WAR-JUBILEE OF 'THE RINGING WORLD

VERY encouraging review of ringing throughout the country was presented by the president of the Central Council at the 323rd anniversary dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths held at the Bridge House Restaurant on November 5th. For the Master, Mr. J. G. A. Prior, it was his second occasion in the chair, the other being in 1952.
Proceedings started with the traditional entry of the Master, accompanied by the senior steward. Mr. Michael P. Moreton, and the junior steward, Mr. W. T. Cook. A company of 157 was present and there were the usual toasts to those of 60 years membership (Mr G. E. Symonds and Mr. E. G. Fenn) and Hodgetts and Albert A. Hughes). The principal guest was the new Bishop of Southwark (the guest was the new Bishop of Southwark (the known to some members of the company when he was at Cambridge A cablegram was read from Wing-Comdr. Stan Mason, from California, wishoing the company a successful evening.
The Master was supported on the top table by the Bishop of Southwark, the Provost of Soutbwark, the Rev. E. G. Turner, Messrs. E. T. Floyd-Ewan (Registrar of St. Paul's Cathedral), G. G. J. Watts, J. E. Chilcott, F Sharpe, A. A. Hughes, J. F. Smallwood, R
Wilson. S. Fox. M. P. Moreton, W. T. Cook Wilson. S. Fox. M. P. Moreton, W. T. Cook,
D Beresford. A. York-Bramble, A. C. Winn, S. Foskett, H. C. Edwards and W. A. Yates. Proposing the toast of 'The Church' the Master said if was their custom that this toast should always be proposed by the Master. and that was the second time he had proposed it. The Church today had problems. perhaps as serious as any in its long and glorious history. At home at a time of aimost full employment and the so-called affluent society when one would have thought that crimes against people and property would have decreased enormously, the reverse was the case. There was, too, an appalling disregard of. or indifference to, the sanctity of human life. Year after year the growing figures of road casualties rose and most people thought of them in terms of statistics. All this was in a supposedly Christian country.

WOULD-BE MASTER AN ORDINAND

The Master referred to the colour bar and also to certain probtems of the Bishop of Southwark, particularly in regard to the recruitment of clergy. The Society was very proud ment of clergy. of events would be occupying the chair that night. was now an ordinand. They knew he would have been a first class Master. and they felt sure he would become a fine clergyan
Eight years ago he reminded them that there were only three more or less ringable rings of bells in the City of London-St. Paul's Cornhill and Bishopsgate. What a difference there was today! Hart Street. Cripplegate and st. Lawrence Jewry now had fine new rings and some much-needed rehanging had been done to St. Paul's: there had been a complete restoration at Cornhill and just over the city boundary they had the splendid new ten at St. Clement Danes. Before long the new 12 at Bow would ring out: St. Vedast. Foster Lane. would have a new six and there would be a new eight at St. Andrew's, Holborn.

What a challenge this presents to London ringers. We in the Ancient Society cannot hope to provide ringers for all these towers hope will do our best to assiss.'

The Right Rev. A. Mervyn Stockwood replied with a witty and humorous speech, in which he described his efforts to elude reporters who wanted his views on • My lovely lady's chatter.
Proposing the toast of 'The Ancient Society of College Youths' Mr. Frederick Sharpe, president of the Central Council. said of the many functions he attended, he did not think there were any that gave him greater joy than the annual feast of the Ancient Society of College Youths. because of the many old friends he met on that occasion. Although the Ancient Society was by no means the only one doing good for the Exercise and their art, he thought that during the 323 years of its existence as an organised company it had done far more than any other to promote the good of their art.

CLERGY OPPOSED BELLS

When their Society was founded Puritan influence was strong and ringing was almost divorced from the church. A number of young men. mostly recruited from the Inns of Court and the nobility, rang as a sport. In the middle of the last century the Church began to recover from that Puritan influence and they allowed the use of bells for Sunday services. They would be surprised at the opposition. It was only, recently that he was reading 'The Ecclesiologist' of 1864 and there it was reported that there was an organised attempt by the clergy to prevent bells being rung. They did not succeed. The ringers were persistent and were rewarded in bells being allowed to be rung for church services

Today an ever-increasing number of young people were ringing bells in an ever-increasing number of churches for Sunday services. Ringers did not confine their activities to the belfries: many were engaged in other activities of the Church.
The Sunday Service Survey produced some interesting statistics. Although one newspaper declared that ringing was on the decline, never before had they had so many young people interested. That day there had been an attempt on a peal of 40.320 Plain Bob Major. He was sorry to say it had failed. He had arranged for telegrams to be sent to him reporting progress and he had received one which read: Failed at 11.000 --John Worth. They were all sorry that attempt failed and they wished them and others luck in any future attempt.

WONDERFUL PROGRESS

The most important thing of the Sunday Service Survey was the wonderful progress in the last 70 years. Then. according to the county histories of towers, the number of churches where the bells were rung for services was only 4 per cent: today it was 70 per cent. In that they could take heart and it was due o societies like theirs that that had taken place.
The year 1960 was an eventful year in many ways. They had had legislation that required a quinquennial survey of all their churches. The results of that survey were beginning to be seen. The urgent things required to the fabric of many of their churches had been done and now churches were paying attention to their towers and the bells. He forecast a very great increase in bell restoration work and in the next 10 years they would see a great deal of work done. On the Towers and Belfries Committee of the Central Council they had never been so busy and with requests for reports on putting bells in order. The result of the conference between the Central Council for the Care of Churches and their Council had been most satisfactory. They had reached agreement and a joini statement was to be issued.

Another advantage was the courses of instruction in their art in various parts of the country. They were bearing much fruit and were developing by the process of evolution. They were very much on the increase and almost all parts of the country were being planned to be covered by such courses.

- 1 travel about the country a great deal and $I$ find that there is a greater interest in all matters appertaining to the Church. There is a great spiritual development going on and 1 am seeing more and more of it. We should take heart.
The ban on ringing in this country during the war did an awful lot of good. When people could not hear the sound of bells they realised what they lost. and like the Restoration time of Charles II ringing greatly increased after the lifting of the ban.

CHANGE RINGING IN HEBREW

Last week he was studying the manuscripts of Oliver Palmer of 1658. Ringing then was regarded as a wicked thing and if Palmer had been caught he would have been put in jail. Oliver copied out the book of Psalms in Greek and above each line in Hebrew he put down his changes. These included Bot Minimus. Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor and a lot more of interesting things. All this was done before Fabian Stedman published his work. In the old days their Society was the great link of the Exercise in all parts of the country; today that link was provided by 'The Ringing World.
Mr. John E. Chilcott, the honorary secretary, who replied. thanked Mr. Sharpe for his remarks and said it was a pleasure for them all to know that Mr. Sharpe had not missed a dinner of the Society for 30 years.
Apologies for absence had been received from John H. Jones (Tamworth), Alan R. Macdonald (Poole). W. Arthur Riddington (Upper Beeding), Joseph T. Dyke (Chilcompton). James Rea (Streatham). David E. Parsons (Carshalton). Richard W. Stannard (Barking. oined 1890). John H. Fielden (Halifax). Harry Miles (Carbis Bay). Harold N. Pitstow (Hanstead), W. H. Coles (Hillingdon), G. Nelson Sloan (Christchurch. N.Z.). Walter P. Judge (Oxford) and Burley P. Morris (Derby).

NEW MEMBER A WEEK

In general. said Mr. Chikott. the Society had had a very good year, which was reffected by an attendance of 185 members and friends that evening. During the year they made 47 new members and since 1945 they had made, on an average. one member a week-
Up-to-date they had rung 24 peals since the last dinner. excluding one rung that day. These peals were rung in 23 counties. with Lancashire leading with 8 and the two counties ef Notts and Derby with 9 between them.
In London they very much appreciated the care in the selection of new members. He thought there was some misunderstanding as to the qualification for membership. The qualification was a male person of 14 years of age who had rung a quarter peal. Under exceptional circumstances a young member could be elected in a tower before a peal, and his name sent to London. with particulars in writing as to his qualifications.

Another thing decided this year was the condition under which a former member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths would b: elected to membership. They had decided that a year must elapse between his revignation from one Society and his election as a College Youth.

PEALS OF INTEREST

In the 26 peals rung 112 members look part and there were 17 different conductors. Of the peals two were Minor, both rung at Warsop; the three peals of Triples included one at Westminster Abbey for the wedding of Princess Margaret and Mr. ArmstrongJones. There were six peals of Major-five Surprise and one Double Norwich, which was the first peal for Roger Overington, the son of the verger of St . Paul's. There were two of Caters and four of Royal, including one of three Spliced Surprise. but the footnote to this peal, as suggested in :The Ringing World would not appear in the Society's peal book. The five peals of Cinques included one in memory of George N. Price. one on handbells and one at Buckfast Abbey by West Country ringers. Maximus was represented by four peals, including the first for the Society of Superlative Surprise Maximus.
Three golden wedding - peals were rungCambridge Maximus at Southwark Cathedral for Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Fenn: Stedman Cinques at Cripplegate for Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes: Stedman Triples at Stamford Hill for Mr. and Mrs. Horace Belcher.

LOSSES BY DEATH

The company stood in memory of the following ringers: C. W. R. Grimwood, J Hurrell. G. H. Myers, W. C. Lampard, F. W. Cannings, F. M. Mitchell. Josiah D. Harris, W. S. Langdon. Miss Stella Davis. A. E. Lock, $\underset{\text { P. Skidmore, H. Prout. C. H. Woodberry, }}{\text { F. Marshall. Morris J. Morris, W }}$ P. H. Marshall. Morris J. Morris. W. J. Hawkins. H. Holgate. James Parker, John R. Sharman ( 63 years a member).

Normal practices had been held and well supported. Practice dates would be published in "The Ringing World: On January 8th the memorial 10 Challis $F$. Winnes was dedicated at St. Clement Danes: The county visit to Derby was arranged by Mr. J. F. Smallwood and Mr. Burley P. Morris. and a company of 60 sat down 10 lunch and received a welcome from the Bishop, the Provost and the Lord Mayor.
Mr. J. A. Waugh submitted the toast of The Visitors and Kindred Ringing Societies. In personal reminiscences he recalled, as a boy of 14. learning at Bow. where a great importance was attached to the heat. Rounds would be rung for quite a long time until the conducter was satisfied. The first - Ringing World he took contained an account of ${ }_{3}$ peal at Wells Cathedral. conducted by Challis member of the Ancient Society of College member

A FAMOUS WALK

In wel:oming 22 members from the Oxford Society. Mr. Waugh said in 1733 there was a famous visir by their Society to Oxford. They sel out 15 strong under Benjamin Annable and the majority of them walked to $$ 3$ miles to Oxford.
Replying Mr. Beresford brought the cordsal greetings of the Cumberlands. He congratulated the Ancient Society, specially on two peals rung in the past year. Stedman Cinques in hand and Spliced Surprise Royal in three methods. Handbell ringing was not now so popular as it was and it was very good to hear of Stedmar Cinques being rung again in London. He hoped to have the pleasure of entertaining their new Master at their annual dinner in February.
Mr. Brian D. Threlfall proposed the toast of 'The Ringing World and described the reactions of various types of ringers to the contents of the journal. He hoped their journal would not have the same fate as had befallen one of the national newspapers.

NO TAKE OVER BIDS!

Replying. Mr. J. F. Smallwood said during last week or two they had had some painful reminders of the difficulties of maintaining newspapers and he thought in the next few weeks others would also go. These papers had been confronted with exactly the same difficulties as they had-of rising costs. Fortunately for The Ringing World the Council had the foresight to elect a committee who would not give up without a very severe struggle. They thad had no approach from Mr. Clore or Mr. Thompson for take-over bids but if they were forthcoming they would know what to say!
He was very pleased to think that when Mr. Goldsmith passed on they were farsighted enough to become the owners of the paper, and being the owners they could decide their fate and the fate of The Ringing World. He thought the solution of the ir difficulties was a strong and long pull by all people to lift up the circulation. There was one thing that must be said, the Exercise as a whole was living on a great deal of charity -he was not referring 10 the Gratefully Acknowledged column hu! to the measly sum they paid to those who served them.
Next year would be the 50th anniversary of The Ringing World as John Goldsmith founded the paper in the spring of 1911. The committee were meeting in London shartly to consider a suitable celebration. What would please John Goldsmith best for the jubilee of the paper would be to have a circulation of 10.000 . That was a wild dream when one could not get to the 6.000 mark.
The concluding toist of . The fragrant memory of the Masters of 300.200 and 100 years ago was submitted by Mr. A. A Hughes.
The Master of 1660 was John Brereton. a son of Lord Brereton. one of the founders of the Society. He was a student at Oxford and he and his younger brother got into trouble as they took part in the Civil War fighting for the King.
The Master of 1760 was not known but of 1860 it was Edward Lansdell. who came from Rolvenden. in Kent. He was employed in the Hop Market. and was reported to have inroduced half-muftled ringing into London.
A boh course of Stedman Cinques was rung by W. T. Cook 1-2. John Chilcolt 3-4. M. D. Chikcot 5an 5. Wilfred Williams $7-8$.
Sthrelfall 9-10. Michael P. Moreton Brian

THE LADIES' GUILD

Midland District

Despite three different outings arranged from this are?. the Midland District of the Ladies: Guild held a successful meeting at Belgrave on September 17th. Ringing in a variety of methods ranging from rounds to Spliced Surprise. catered for all. After shortened Evensong. conducted by the Vicar, iea was served by the local ringers" wives in the Parish Hall. Mrs. Staniforth (president) gave a short account of the A.G.M. held in Bath in July.
The next meeting will be at Measham on Novemher 191 h . The A.G.M. of the District will be held on February 18 ith at St. Peier's. Derby, bo:h these dates and places having been confirmed. Should there be sulficient support a coach will be arranged for the Novemher meeting.

Southern District

The autumn meeting of the Southern District was held on Ocioher 22nd. at Steep, Hampshire. On a lovely warm afternoon the six bells were soon going to a variely of methods until the service at 4.30 " p.m. An excellent tea in the Village Hall was enjoyed by 24 ladies and friends, after which a brief busjness meeting was held. Three new members were elected and it was most encouraging to see old and new friends present.
Evening ringing was at Petersfield, where methods up to Cambridge Surprise Major were rung. The next meeting is planned for February llth. at Aldershot, and we hope see many more members present. C. M. H.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

F-GROUPS

Dear Sir,
A misprint again occurred in the falseness of Sawley S.M. The correct falseness is $\mathbf{B}\binom{4}{4}$; $N\left(F_{1} \frac{2}{3}\right)$. The omission of F's suffix 1 renders it meaningless.

We would like to recommend the use of this notation for it gives, in addition to the false course heads, the leads in which the falseness occurs. This information is essential for methods whose falseness necessitates the use of parts of false courses.
To give an example of this notation, suppose a method has false course heads 32546 ( $3, y$, $4,5), 24536\left(\frac{5}{4}\right), 25346\left(\frac{4}{7}\right), 26354\left(\frac{1}{4}\right), 24653$

D and $T$ are the Maurice Hodgson $F$ groups. $\mathrm{T}_{1}$ and $\mathrm{T}_{2}$ are the two F-sets comprising $\mathrm{T} ; \mathrm{F}_{1}$ denotes the 1st member of an F-set ; of means second lead of the plain course false with third lead of the false course. The leads in which $F_{1}, F_{3}$ and $F_{4}$ are false can be determined from the false leads of $\mathrm{F}_{1}$, it is only necessary, therefore, to specify the false leads of one member of the F-set.
The labelling $F_{1}, F_{2}, F_{8}$ and $F_{4}$ in the table of F-groups in Corrigan's 'Half Lead Systems of Extracting F.C.E.'s' is misleading in those $F$-groups containing more than one $F$-set. For example, $F_{1}$ of $U_{2}$ ( $U$ has 3 F-sets) is incorrectly labelled as $\mathrm{F}_{\mathrm{s}}$.

Yours faithfully.

FIRST PEAL IN MONMOUTHSHIRE
Dear Sir-On page 721 of - The Ringing World Mr. Edwin Barnett. sen.. is credited with having conducted the first true peal in Monmouthstire in 1886.

In Chepstow belfry there is a record of a peal of Grandsire Triples, rung there on January 9 th. 1837 -composed and conducted by William Ayres. This was rung by the Sociery of Union Youths.'
Is there any evidence that this peal was false?-Yours faithfully.
F. J. HANNINGTON.

DERBY CATHEDRAL PEAL APOLOGIFS

Dear Sir--Having read the comments in my letter regarding the peal rung at Derby Cathedral for the College Youths, I find that I owe several apologies.

Firstly, to Mr. Donald Clift for:
(a) Not realising that he was not a witness of the peal in question.
(b) Not anticipating that he would lose his notes on the subject.
(c) Failing ${ }^{20}$ realise that the editor of The Ringing World' had, with his blue pencil. completely changed the meaning of the repart on the peal.
Secondly, to Mr. Williams for:
(a) Not being thoroughly familiar with the details of all his peal tours.
(b) Not having fired bullets made by some nameless Ancient College Youth of the Derbyshire Association.
(c) My irreverent reference to the professionally written peal book of the premier ringing Society. Yours faithfully.
Derby.

OLD HANDBELLS

Dear Sir,-A few weeks ago I was foriunate to be taken round the caves of a very famous, Notingham inn. 'The Trip to Jerusalem.' I say fortunate because there were many articles of interest. and last but not least I spied a set of handbells in good condition, and on asking how they were come by and and on asking how they were come by and came from. but they were 250 years old. They looked quite modern. If any readers are interested to see them on their visits to Nottingham, the inn will be more than obliging to show you them and all other interesting articles.-Yours faithfully.
. HENSON (Miss).
West Bridgford, Notts.

ANOTHER GRIEVANCE

Dear Sir.-In the past few weeks a dispute has arisen between the Derbyshire Association and the College Youths. But why bring in the South Derbyshire and North Leicestershire Association? Mr. D. R. Carlisle states that if the Collcge Youths wished to insult the Derbyshire Association ihey would have rung the peal for the S.D.& N.L.A. Not only is it an insult to us as an association not conit an insult to us as an association not conthe dispute.
When ringing peals we may not attempt complex methods. but at least we do strike them, not like some rubbish which others sometimes turn out.
As for Mr. Marshall's signature to the letter he has never been to our meetings and knows even less about us I would therefore suggest he is just a 'yes man' 10 add weight to a letter, or he is trying to get involved in affairs which don't concern him

If that is the best you can do. Mr. Carlisle, then I, for one, am disappointed with the Derbyshire Association.
Before rushirig back into print we have College Youths and Derbyshire Association members in the S.D.& N.L.A.-Yours faithfully. E. H. WILLOWS.

IT'S NOT SO AMUSING

Dear Sir.-Reading the last paragraph of a recent letter by H. L. Taylor, of Darley Dale, in the issue of November 4th. made me wonder why he thought that the fact that a certain quarter peal visit to Wortley by the Wentworth band had been called off because of heavy rain. Would he like riding a pushbike five miles in a thunderstorm"? As there were three such thunderstorms in less than twenty minutes of near-tropical violence, the prospect of riding a push-bike and then ringing a quarter peal is not very pleasant! No. sir! if you think it is amusing, do it yourself.
May I inform H. E.T. that since May, 1960, the Wentworth band (formed January. 1960), has rung 11 quarter peals and one full peal, this including two quarters at Wath-on-Dearne and at Bradfield. I wonder if H. E. T. noticed this? Also, that the band rang at a ringing contest at Hoylandswaine. To wind up: whenever ringers feel like criticising or making fun of other ringers, let us have them thinking more deeply. collecting their facts and. above all. try to put themselves in the shoes of the ringers they are writing about. We might see less bickering in the "R.W."Yours. etc

SINGLE METHOD PEALS OF MINOR ARE NOT SUB-STANDARD

Dear Sir.-It is unrealistic to say. as did Mr. Barnett in his speech at the Snowdon dinner recently. that peals of Minor in less than seven methods are lowering our standards.

Standards are relative. They depend on the extent to which enthusiasm has kept change ringing alive. For many ringers, the achievement of a peal of any sort is a great step forward. Let us have no more talk of 'Look at all these peals of Plain Bob Minor.' in sorrowful tones. There is no hetter foundation than Plain Bob on which to build up sixbell ringing.-Yours, etc.

Shrewsbury.
HARRY POYNER,

PEAL AT ACCRINGTON

 WITHDRAWNDear Sir,-1 regret to inform you that the peal of Southwell Surprise Major, which I conducted it Accrington on Octover 22nd, and which appeared on page 732 of the 'R.W.', will have to be witharawn.

1 had checked the 3-4 section (where the method varies from Cambridge), and found that it had the same internal falseness as Cambridge. Consequently, I assumed that all peals true to Camoridge would also be true to Southwell. and called the 5,088 by J. W. Washbrook (C.C.C.. No. 12) , in the Cambridge section). The method is so similar to Cambridge (only two rows in each lead are different) that it never occurred to me to check the falseness when the tenors are parted.

However, Mr. Norman Smith has since drawn my attention to the fact that both New Cambridge and Southwell are considerably more prone to falseness with the tenors parted than is Cambridge itself; and that this composition is false to both these methods.
I must therefore apologise to the band for my laxity in this instance-and particularly to those for whom it would have been a first of Surprise.

If it is any consolation, may I point out that the memory of a well-struck, interesting and musical peal will still remain-only the records will suffer.-Yours etc.,
C. CROSSTHWAITE.

Preston.

SMOKING IN BELFRIES

Dear Sir.-The above habit is indulged in in certain non-association towers in Somerset and in one (which shall be nameless). an Oxo tin is provided for the fag-ends. When. however, a band of 'scientific' ringers visit this 'Oxo tin' tower, the locals follow the example of their guests by not lighting up until they are in the churchyard. Before the last war I noted evidence of smoking in a few lowers in Dorset as well and in one. since the war. a previous Vicar was in favour of the habit!-Yours sincerely,
E. T. PAUL FIELD.

Langport, Somerset.

JOINT MEETING AT MILTON

The Rochester District of the K.C.A. were joined by the Kent Branch of the Ladies Guild, when they held their annual meeting, at Milton-next-Gravesend. on October 15 th. Ringing in the afternoon was followed by the service conducted by the Rector, Rev. V. H. Stuart. It was with much pleasure that the members of the Ladies Guild learned that they were to be the guests at the efa provided by the local band.

The Rector took the chair at the Rochester District meeting, at which the officers reelected were Mr. T. Barton. secretary, and Messrs. F. J. Cheal and A. J. Dunk. District representatives. The new Ringing Master elected was Mr. L. Harmer. A vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. G. A. Naylor, the retiring Ringing Master, for his efforts in the past year.

At the Ladies Guild meeting, which followed. four new members were elected, and the meetings for next year were discussed.

Gramophone Records Of Bells Allowed

Despite the opposition of the Rev. Leslie Lowther, Vicar of St. Jahn's, Ilkeston, who is assistant secretary of the Derby Diocesan Advisory Committee, permission was granted at a Derby Diocesan Consistory Court for the use of gramophone records to reproduce the sound of church bells at Cromford Parish Church. Derbyshire. The cost of the electrical equipment. the gift of a parishioner. was stated to be $£ 110$. The six bells in the church are regarded as unsafe to ring.

In granting permission. the Chancellor. Mr. W. S. Wigglesworth. said the equipment must not become a nuisance to people in the neighbourhood. He recalled an occasion when similar equipment was used in Gloucestershire to play the 'Messiah' at midnight to celebrate the birth of Prince Charles.

BRIEF SURVEY OF HUNTINGDONSHIRE

Thomas Earye, of Kettering. had the reputation of a sound man of metal and sent nine bells to Hunts. They are: Leighton Broms wold (1720). five at Hemingford Grey (1724). Glatton (1736). Hamerton (1738), and Elton (1746), the latter church witnessing the first Harvest Festival held in the country. This founder's father was a clockmaker and was, for a little while. in partnership with his uncle until his death in 1757.

Menry Penn found himself in the proverbial frying pan at St. Ives, where his ring of eight tells was regarded as being poor value for money. At his trial brought about by thechurchwardens he was deservedly acquitted of bad workmanship. but the irial proved too much for him. and he died from over-excitement. The founder was sick to death ... and was too far gone that his Hart broke... As for Penn's death 'twas no loss, he was a vile man and gave trouble wherever he was consarn'd but was never so well yoak't before." This vile ' man was certainly a good founder and between 1706 and 1723 sent 17 bells into the county.

Huntingdonshire's only bell foundry was situated at St. Neots where Joseph Earye erected a building not unlike the shape of a bell. said to be the most prominent object in that town. He supplied about 40 bells to the county. ranging from the tenor at Yelling (1739) to the second at Fenstanton (1771). His earliest bells are at Chatteris. Cambs (1735).
Earye also supplied fire engines and he erected a pump for the parish of St. Neots. He was generally regarded as being a firstclass founder. but others have thought otherwise. The ring of six at Si. Michael's Church, Stamford, inspired someone to write in 1785: - Indeed the din of St. Michael's bells is so intolerable to thase who live in their vicinity. intolerable to thase who lill readily believe there is no devil in his senses but will get away as fast as he can as soon as their clamour begins.

Joseoh Earye. who died in 1772, is recognised by unusual inscriptions, e.g. ' Work itself is pleasure (Chatteris) and :Prosperity to the established Church and no encouragement to enthusiasm (Whittlesey St. Mary).

His nephew. Edward Arnold, and the latter's cousin. Thomas Osborn (Earye's foreman) took charge of St. Neots premises. This partnership did not last for long. Osborn establishing a foundry at Downham Market. Arnold cast six bells for Somersham in 1782. and supplied others for Hemingford Grey. Upton and Buckden. He later established a foundry at Leicester but carried on the business at St. Neots. mainly to introduce-

Robert Taylor, a man of extremely fine capabilities. who is represented in the county by 29 betls, his first being at Great Staughton (1787) and his last at Easton (1821). The St. Neots foundry was removed from the Priory to Cambridge Street after Taylor had married a Miss E. Fowler, whose father had a brewery adjoining Taylor's old premises. Evidently Fowler desired to expand. and this marriage proved to be a very tactful move indeed! Robert was a forerunner of that well known establishment at Loughborough, Leics (John Taylor and CB.).

Thomas Osborn was undoubledly a first-rate founder and had his premises close to the church at Downham Market. his native town. The son of a joiner. he provided that very musical octave at Godmanchester (1794). After having dissolved his partnership with Arnold, Osborn created many rings of bells which are recognised for good tonal qualities. Prior to his death in 1804 he took into partnership his grandson, William Dobson, and the foundry continued in business until 1832 when. owing to difficulties. the latter disposed of his business to Messrs. Mears. of Whitechapel. Dobson cast six bells for Huntingdonshire churches. four at Southoe (1828) and one at Bluntisham (1832). hut his finest handiwork is heard at St. Neots. where the tenor (291 $\frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$ ) -the heaviest in the county-is his very last bell. and a very fine bell it is. His last complete ring was installed at Diss (Norfolk). AUTOMATIC WINDERS

John Warner and Sons, of Cripplegate, are represented by the tenor at Abbots Ripton (1875). and Messrs. Mears, of Whitechapel, sent approximately 35 bells to the county, ranging from 1827 (Conington) to 1865 (Diddington).
Thus, as may be seen. Huntingdonshire possesses a wide and interesting range of bells -not all ringable, of course-and these span the years from the 14 th century to present days. In conclusion it may be of interest to reproduce an account of the 18 th century (taken from the late Rev. T. M. N. Owen's notes). roade out by Joseph Earye on the completion of his work. involving the recasting and rehanging of the bells at Warboys: $i^{\text {s }}$ s $d$. The old bells casting

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

A well-attended meeting of the North-East District was held at Beccles. on October 22nd, with many friends from the Norwich Diocesan Association present, including their president. Mr. Nolan Golden. Essex was represented by Mr. Andrew Beckwith. Ringing was continued until almost 9 p.m., and included Cambridge Royal and Stedman Caters. The Vicar (the Rev. W. R. I. Hares) conducted the service and gave an inspiring address.

At the business meeting after tea Miss V. Jane Cooper was elected a ringing member and Messrs. M. J. Parker. R. C. L. Brown, M. Uttun (Kessingland) and $A$. E. Crowe (Lowestoft) non-resident life members.
An appeal was made for a volunteer for the office of district secretary. which would become vacant at the end of the year, without success. Halesworth was selected for the next meeting on January 30 ih
The district chairman (Mr. P. Bedford), proposed the vote of thanks-to the Vicar, the ladies for their marvellous tca. Mr. E. Goate for arranging the meeting and Mr. Nicholson. the organist.

THE LADIES' GUILD

The Bedfordshire and Northamptonshire Branch of the Ladies* Guild met at Silsoe on October 29th. The bells were ideal for a ladies meeting. the tenor being only 9 cwt. This enabled several touches to be rung by the ladies only
The bad weather may have been the reason for only Bedfordshire members being present but with the help of the gentlemen many methods were rung.
Local ringers kindly provided tea. which was followed by a short business meeting at which three new members were elected Mrs. M. Mann was in the chair.

The Vicar of Silsoe. Rev. J. D. Benton. conducted Evensang. during which new shelves for the prayer books were dedicated.

A HALF-DAY IN BUCKS

A party of ringers from Watford and St. Albans spent an enjoyable afternoon, on hamshire. Edlesborough. the first tower was an easy-going. ground floor ring (6, 13 cwt.), but Slapton ( 5.14 cwt .) provided a contrast and the strong men were needed on the back end for Grandsire and Plain Bob to be well struck.
Although Cheddington bells ( 6.12 cwt .) have a longish draught they were generally voted the best bells of the day, and certainly some of the best ringing took place here. After tea came Marsworth ( 5.14 cwt .) with 50 feet of unguided rope and the ropes of the 2 nd . 3 rd and 4 th falling within six inches of the wall. Despite these difficulties. a reasonable touch of Grandsire Doubles was successfully brought round. The local ringers told us that the bells were officially unringable owing to an unsafe frame, and it is a relief to know that they are to be rehung in an iron frame, and filled with guides.

At Ivinghoe ( 6.15 cwt .) the tenor rope had to be repaired before ringing could start. Unfortunately, the bells did not seem to have been oiled since they were installed in 1875 and the ringers of the fifth and tenor were almost exhausted in a course of Cambridge. Thanks are accorded to Brian, the organiser, incumbents and tower keepers.

OUTING IN CORNWALL

In the early afternoon of October 22nd, the Dormobile belonging to the president of the Truro Diocesan Guild left Truro with nine ringers aboard. including a 'foreigner' from Somerset. A hearty welcome was given by a local ringer and a black cat at Menheniot (a nice six). Then came the recently restored six at Saltash. an inspection of the new Tamar bridge and a quick cup of tea at Launceston. It was found that the bells at Laneast had not been rung for a long time, the ropes were deplorable. It was only after the substitution of a spare rope that a brief ring was possible. The new Vicar here is enthusiaswas possible. The new Vicar here is enthusiastic about ringing and hopcs that a band of ringers will soon be operating. It had been hoped to have a ring at the combined parish of St. Clother (5), but the bells have been condemned. However, the hell founders have been to look at them, and possibly, with the Vicar's enthusiasm, they will be restored before too long.
Ringing for the day concluded with a good quarter at Advent, rung by candlelight. The writer has now rung on all 'ringables' in Cornwall. Truro was reached just after il p.m.. 150 miles having been completed. Best thanks are due to Alan Carveth for arranging the trip and providing transport.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION  Tewkeshury Branch

Tewkesbury
Branch. held on October 29th. was again most successful. We were especially pleased to welcome Mr. W. Truman, Acting Ringing Master, of the Association The evening service was conducted by Canon B. Purefoy and Rev. T. Whereat. An excellent tea was provided by the ladies. Canon and Mrs. Purefoy and Mr. Whereat joined us for tea. Canon Purefoy stated that it was hoped the restoration of the Abbey bells would take place in the near future.
At the business meeting Mr. E. W. Penn was re-elected chairman and. later, was also was re-elected charman and. elete Ringing Master, in place of Mr. E. T. Newbury, who did not seek re-election. Miss N. Price was re-elected secretary. The meeting discussed a variety of subjects. including the recognition of Minimus peals. which they were against. and the running of week-end courses. which they were for Mr. Penn thanked Mr. Newbury for his valuable services to the Exercise.

The evening provided ringing in many methods and was brought to a happy conclusion by a course of Cambridge Surprise Major.

SOCIETY OF THE FRIENDS OF THE EXERCISE

TWHE autumn tour of the Society of Friends 1 of the Exercise proved memorable for rain came the floods. In fact, two very early arrivals spent Friday morning bailing out at the King's Arms to ensure that the essential supply of beer was undamaged! A peal attempt in the evening at Clyst St. George had to be postponed and instead a quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung at East Budleigh, in honour of the 21 st birthday of two of the ringers. There were fewer members this year and only one new face. Two founder members were unable to attend owing to the joys of parenthood, one other member was claimed yet again by Cupid, and a third had the weakest excuse of all; he was ringing a peal!

Saturday dawned dull and cloudy and the inevitable rain began as soon as we set off towards the Kingsbridge area. our chosen venue for this week-end. We seemed to choose the only roads around Exeter that were passable but further out, at Kingsteignton, the floods were at least axle-deep. Surprisingly enough. we arrived at our first tower, Churchstow ( $6,16 \mathrm{cwt}$ ), on time, a feat which we managed to repeat through the day. For the next tower. Thurlestone, another pleasant six, the weather brightened a little and we even saw the sun! Our party became complete at South Milton when George Ellett, a local ringer from East Budleigh, brought the last two of our members. Our Master, the Honourable Savage. was unfortunately not able to be with us for at the last moment he was called upon to clear up debris left after the floods in East Budleigh.

Next on the list was lunch and as usual a 'pub' was located where we could eat our sandwiches. Afterwards we visited Galmpton. in the heart of National Trust Area and the church itself was just as beautiful for it was decorated for the Harvest Festival. We did justice to the fine bells with a good raise and some very good ringing. more than we could say elsewhere! Our next tower was Malborough and here our annual photograph was taken. The walls of the ringing room in West Alvington were covered with certificates and in the church were shields, further proof of this local band's ringing capabilities. It was only a short distance to Kingsbridge. a very good eight. but, alas, time limited the quality and standard of our ringing.

Dodbrooke. a light six. was so close to Kingsbridge that two of our party nearly missed it. At East Allington we were unable to find the tower-door key. Instead we resorted to hymn-singing round the organ accompanied by Reg Hooper-the S.F.E. pianist. The timetable forced us to leave for our last tower. Halwell. a very nice. six. Here we were joined by Bob Bran. who also provided help in the transport problem.

On arrival at the King's Arms the 21 st birthdays were celebrated. not riotously, but with the discretion expected of that age. It was not until $3 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. or was it $2 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Ithe extra hour certainly caused confusion) before we retired. No early morning quarter peal was attempted this year in deference to the local inhabitants. at least. that was our excuse! The party split up to ring at Colaton Raleigh. Withycombe Raleigh and East Budleigh for Matins.

After a hearty lunch the party took various routes to Stockland. Where we enjoyed good ringing. London. Cambridge and Stedman included. on a good ring of six.
After tea at Yeovil we were joined by the local ringers and rang Stedman. Grandsire Caters and a half course of Cambridge Surprise Roval (brought round in the usual fashion) for Evensong.
Thanks go to incumbents and local captains and also to Frank Mack. John Gilbert and Cyril Savage for giving the Society another varied collection of new towers. L.J.B.

ANOTHER INTERVIEW WITH THE PROFESSOR

YESTERDAY I again visited the Professor. He was thoughtfully browsing over the current issue of the 'R.W.' (November 4th), so I asked him what he was thinking about and what it was (if anything) that had provoked his studious appearance. He did not reply immediately but began to load his pipe and grope for his matches. These operations successfully accomplished, he proceeded to fill the room with clouds of black, vilesmelling smoke. Having satisfied himself, apparently, that no human being apart from himself could survive such an atmosphere for more than half-an-hour, he began to speak.

I have been reading the reports of the Snowdon dinner and find them most interesting, particularly the remarks in the Editorial on the front page with regard to university educated students. It is indeed true, and the official education programme makes it quite clear,' said the Professor, with the air of one who dines on alternate nights with the Minister of Education, ' that the number of university places will increase greatly during the next decade. Since the formation of the University Societies and the consequently increased interest taken by students, it follows that we shall have indirectly at the disposal of our beloved art the whole machinery of education. As was pointed out on the front page, the ultimate effect must be beneficial to bellringing as a whole.'
'Do you think that there is a danger that change-ringing may divide into two stratas?,' I asked; 'say ringers at an ordinary level and a so-called "intellectual" school?"
'I hope not, although as you point out it is a danger; but then it always was!'
'Mr. E. A. Barnett,' continued the Professor, 'observed at the Snowdon dinner that there is a snobbishness in certain ringing circles, where ringers incapable of ringing Cambridge Surprise were considered to be "outside the pale." Personally I don't think that this attitude is anything new. Conceit is, unfortunately, a latent characteristic of human nature, and is apt to reveal itself in unexpected places and in unexpected people. Snobbery wants decapitating whenever it rears its ugly head in the belfry, but I don't think it is more prevalent now than it was, say, 30 or 40 years ago.'
'True education,' pontificated Mr. Dodge, 'leads not to conceit but to humility, and what is sometimes forgotten by some people who are justifiably proud of their degree is that had they been born 20 or 30 years earlier there is a possibility that, owing to lack of opportunity, they would not have been able to obtain it. As a result it may well be that until time has ironed out the differences between the age groups there will still be many ringers who received only a primary education who, had they been given the opportunity, might have had the benefit of a university education. I say this in no spirit of disrespect to those who have had this privilege, for whom, by and large, I have the greatest admiration, but in support of many of the older ringers whom I have known and still know, whose brains and capabilities both in and out of ringing are not a whit inferior to these comparative youngsters.'
'But surely,' I objected, 'the universities have always been fairly well represented in change-ringing.'
'Indeed they have,' agreed the Professor. 'One has only to look through a list of names of officials of the C.C. since its inception to realise that. But in the main, up to a comparatively short time ago, universities were fed from the so-called middle- and upper-classes. There were notable exceptions of course, but I could quote examples of a mining village where there are people down almost every street whose sons and daughters have obtained a degree, or are now at a university. This, of course, is excellent, but 40 or 50 years ago it would have been only the parson's, the doctor's or the local squire's children.. I have no reason to believe that the parents' potentialities are less than those of their children!'
'One has not to dig too deeply into the past,' explained Mr. Dodge, 'to discover great names of humble origin. I could quote many examples, but perhaps Mr. Arthur Knights, that genius of Treble Bob, will be sufficient. He received only a primary education, and even that must have been scanty and desultory for he had taken up a trade and was making boots and shoes "when he was between 10 and 11 years of age." It is useless to speculate what his achievements might have been had his education been extended, but it is impossible to imagine that they would have been greater. Who knows but what his genius might have found expression in some other form of activity. We must be thankful indeed that bellringing received the full benefit.'
'And so,' he went on, 'although it is obvious that the universities, and higher education in general, are going to play an ever-increasing part in our beloved art [which, I noticed, was the second time he had used this expression], all sorts and conditions of men (and women) may bring their offerings to her shrine. Joe Bloggs, who failed his 11-plus, may still aspire to ring Spliced Surprise Major, and Giles leave his plough or his tractor to compose peals of the same.'

Here I had to leave or succumb to suffocation; but I remember thinking as I went home that it was a long time since I had seen Mr. Dodge so serious.

A quarter peal of Cambridge Minor was rung at BELFRY Kingswood, Surrey, on November 12 n , for the baptism of Alban Wood. by a band consisting of his parents and four god-parents. who would like to know if a quarter peal has ever previously been rung by such a band. They would also like to thank the Vicar of Kingswood and his ringers for the use of the bells.

St. Andrew's, Plymouth, band have rung nine quarter peals this year, a record for the tower.
Mr. C. G. Glass. Ringing Master of Heavitree. Devon, has been bereaved by the death of his wife. Our sympathy.
In a quarter peal at Warwinster, three of the band came from Shepton Mallet, four from Romsey and Ringwood and the eighth member was Mr. Norman Knee, captain of Warminster tower.
The band who sang the quarter peal of Bob Major at Husborne Crawley, on October 22nd, would like to associate with it the name of Mr. Robert L. Piron. who was unable to take part owing to indisposition.
For a trial period St. Peter Mancroft Guild are changing their practice evening from Tuesdays to Mondays. At a meeting of the Guild on November 9th the Vicar (the Rev. F. Jarvis). Was elected president of the Guild and Messis. D. Cubitl and F. Davey members. Exning, Suffolk, tower is proud of the Cross family: Irene. aged 14. has just gained her Girl Guides' bellringers' badge after ringing for one year and Susan, aged 12, although not big enough for tower bells. has scored her first quarter 'in hand.' She and Irene both rang Bob Major 'in hand.' All in the tower are members of the College of Campanology.
Regarded as unringable. a peal has been rung on the bells of Ashley, Northamptonshire. Thanks to the Rev. L. E. Brown, the new incumbent. a test was made and they proved to be quite ringable. The Vicar showed his appreciation to the ringers after the peal. Four of the bells are dated 1796 and the tenor 1848.

GOSSIP Barwell, Leics, ringers have a perfect example in ringing Mr. Joseph Needham, who, now 85, has been ringing in this tower for 75 years and has been parish clerk for 50 years. His presence every Sunday is much appreciated by the band.

We regret to hear of the passing of Mr . Joseph Napper, of Goring-on-Thames, aged 45 years.

Among those who attended the College Youths' dinner was Mr. F. W. Budgen, of Brasted. Kent. He has not missed a dinner since 1937.
We regret to learn of the death of Mr. Fred Hurry, of Duxford, Cambs, on November 16 th , aged 76 . He learned to ring in 1904.

The Witney and Woodstock Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild is holding a special committee meeting. on December 3 rd, to discuss the possibility of holding a course for learning more about ringing instruction.
Shrivenham belfry has an American recruit in Miss Cheryl P. Witherwell, of Attleborough, Mass. Her father, Col. Maynard Witherwell, while stationed at Shrivenham, with the U.S. forces, during World War II. did much towards augmenting the village bells from six to eight as a war memorjal. At Shrivenham the Colonel learnt to ring, and was elected a member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. and his Guild certificate now hangs in his law office. Another of his personal interests in the tower is to keep the tenor well supplied with rope.

The peal of Plain Bob Minor, rung at Kippax. on November 12th. marked another 'rung of the ladder' being reached by 13 -year-old David Sheppard. His performance was very creditable and the band wish 10 offer him their sincere congratulations. Also in the band was a 'ringing grandmother namely Mrs. J. R. Render. The conductor wonders how many more peals ringing grandmothers there are in the Yorkshire Association. Congratulations "Cis "-keep going.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

ESTABLISHED

THE PULLING MEMORIAL BELL

There was a good and representative attendance of members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at an extraordinary general meeting held at Shalford, on November 12th, to discuss the proposed Pulling Memorial Bell in the New Cathedral.

Mr. C. W. Denyer, the Master, presided and explained that between $£ 230$ and $£ 240$ had been received towards the cost of the Alfred Pulling Memoria! Bell, which was required for Guildford's New Cathedral. It was essential that a bell should be provided in time for the consecration of the Cathedral next Whitsun. Over 6.000 circulars had been sent out. Of the sum received, less than one-third had been from towers in the Guildford Diocese
The Guild committee had recommended that the sum standing in the Cathedral Bell Fund. which was approximately $£ 175$, should be transferred to the fund, and also the Guild Benevolent Fund, which was $£ 138$.
The Master gave quotations received from John Taylor and Co. and the Whitechapel Bell Foundry for a bell of approximately 12 cw ., to form the seventh of a ring of ten, with electrical control for striking. Mr. Denyer added that at one time it was thought to incorporate the Goldsmith Memorial Bell in this bell but the committee desired that this should be used as a sacring bell

Mr. G. L. Grover: It was originally thought that the Goldsmith memorial bell should be in the iurret over the Lady Chapel.
It was then proposed that the Cathedral Bells Fund should be transferred to the Memorial Bell Fund and this was carried, with two dissentients.

BENEVOLENT FUND AND WINDING-UP

On the question of the transfer of all or part of the Benevolent Fund, Mr. Grover said personally, he had never been in favour of the Guild having a Benevolent Fund. He thought that the best course to adopt was to pass a resolution at the next annual meeting 16 wind up the Benevolent Fund. He moved and Mr. H. Pitstow seconded that the Executive Committee should have power to borrow from the Benevolent Fund, if necessary, for the Memorial Bell Fund. This was agreed to.
The Masicr suggested that it should be left to the sub-committee to consult with the architect as to the placing of an order for the bell.

Major E. J. Bragg asked what was the proposed weight of the tenor, as he would be against any bell of over 30 cwt.

Mr. A. C. Hazelden said some years back he contacted the architect. Sir Edward Maufe, about some remarks Mr. E. H. Lewis had made concerning the design of the Cathedral tower. As a result 17 feet was added to the height of the tower so that a ringing chamber of 14 or 15 feet in height would be possible. As first designed the ringing chamber would be only eight feet high and 40 feet square and it would be like ringing in a tunnel and having a 40 feet tenor, as suggested, above one's head. The chairman of the Cathedral Executive Committee was told that if that design was adopted it would be better to keep the money in their pockets because they bells would never be rung. As a result the height of the tower was increased by 17 feet.

The meeting approved in principle of a 30 cwt. tenor and agreed that a sub-committee, consisting of the four district Ringing Masters and four district secretaries with the Guild Master and general secretary. should consult the architect as to the placing of an order. Mr. E. W. Collins agreed to act with the sub-commitiee in an advisory capacity.

Mr. Peter Sherwood reminded the meeting that even with the resources in other funds. at least another $£ 200$ would be required. Mr. T. W. White also made an appeal to all towers to assess their contribution on a quota. There were about 400 tion on a quota. There were about 400 members in the Guild and the sum had very largely to be provided by them.
The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to Mr. Leslie Hunter and Mr. Stanley A. Ponting for making arrangements for the meeting.

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE - No. 48

MRS. OLIVE D. BARNETT

Crayford

Mrs. Olive D. Barnett. the charming wife of the secretary of the Central Council. provides the Central Council and the Exercise generally with a unique service by helping her husband in his onerous duties. acting as his 'office boy' and chauffeur, and they have proved to be an ideal team.

When the Central Council is in session-it faces a rostrum containing what has been described in the past as a number of solemn and dignified personages.' Olive Barnett provides some relicf by giving a touch of real glamour to the platform! Her efficiency has been duly noted by many, and she seems to have the happy knack of being able to produce at once any necessary data or documents that may be required.
Olive is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs, and grand-daughter of the late Frank Bennett. She must have ringing in her blood! Born in Brighton in 1919, she first learnt to ring (on handbells) in 1940 , being taught by Inst. Lt. R. Gordon Cross-brother of Maric Cross. Her first peal was rung in 1941, and her peals total is 22-all being rung on handbelis. It is unique that she has not rung a peal on tower bells. This is because during formative years her health did not permit. She does, however, ring on tower bells, having learned to do so at Crayford. Her only attempt for a peal-Cambridge Major-came to grief after an hour's ringing
Of her handbell peals, the one she most prizes is a peal of Minor rung at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lewis, of Argyllshire. in honour of Mrs. Lewis' birthday. The other peals include Bob Minor, Major and Royal; Stedman Triples, Little Bob, Kent T.B. and Double Norwich Major ; and Grandsire Caters.
Not only does she serve the Central Council in the ways described above, she also is a member of the Central Committee of the Ladies' Guild, and a representative of the Lewisham District, Kent County Association. Olive and her husband have one daughter, Jean, who, of course, has been taught to ring. Members of the Central Council will remember seeing this charming, young lady flitting about, making friends everywhere. It is fitting we should honour Olive Barnett in this series for she works hard and long, often behind the scenes, for the welfare of our art, and we are all grateful to her.

JAFUS.

The nomination meeting of the Guildford District followed when the following were nominated: Ringing Master. Mr. Harold A. May: Assistant Ringing Master. Mr. O. Warner; honorary secretary, Mr. S. A Fonting: auditor. Mr. Hawthorne.
A discussion took place on the desirability of promoting a Guild striking competition and thus wilk be considered by the Executive. Ringing took place at Shalford and St. Nicolas'. Guildford, churches. The Rural Dean, the Rev. W. R. Horth, conducted the Guild service in Shalford Church, at which Mr. Hunter read the lesson.

A THRIVING LINCOLNSHIRE BAND

The annual meeting of the St. Wilfrid's, Alford, Lincs, Guild, was held in the ringing chamber on Saturday, October 29th, when the officers were elected as follows: President, the Rev. G. J. Lanham : vice-presidents, Mrs. Lanham and Mr. D. G. Willoughby; secretary and treasurer, Mr. L. Slack; Ringing Master, Mr. J. I. Smith: Deputy Ringing Master, captain, Mr. G. Willoughby.
The company was reported to be in a thriving and active state, all six bells being rung twice every Sunday and on Friday evenings. also of late on Monday evenings for beginners. The standard of striking is improving. as is the range of methods rung. Cambridge is to be learnt in the near future.
The active state of the company was well shown on October 30th, when two sixes were rung for morning service at the same time.

The neighbouring village of Willoughby has no ringers and, at the request of the Rector, a Doubles band, assisted by Mr. E. Brittain. of Firsby, was made up to ring there for a special service in connection with the unveiling of a commemorative plaque to Capt. John Smith, first Governor of Virginia, whose birthplace was Willoughby.
The usual Sunday morning ringing took place at Alford at the same time, all ringers who are also choir members making up a Minor band.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Fourteen towers were represented at the monthly meeting at St. Peter's, Horbury, near Wakefield. on November 12th. An excellent tea was served in a cafe and at the business meeting Mr. Noel F. Moxon was supported by the Vicar and his curate. Mr. Tom Strangeway proposed the vote of thanks. It was agrzed to visit Kirkthorpe, near Wakefield, on December 10 th.

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX

A most enjoyable meeting of the Guild was held at Mytholmroyd on November 5th. Tea was provided by the Vicar and a lively business meeting followed. Ringing was quite good and was of Plain Bob and Surprise Minor and Major. The meeting was really well attended and we also had a number of visitors who were most welcome. The next meeting, the annual, will be at Mirfield (10), on January 7th.

OBITUARY

MR. JOHN L. S. GLANVILL

The sudder and unexpected death of Mr. John L. S. Glanvill in Woodbury, Devon, belfry, at the practice on October 17th, was a great shock to all his many ringing friends.
He was, to all appearances, in excellent health for his just 56 years, full of energy and the joy of living. He came into the ringing chamber, his usual 15 minutes late, and assisted a learner with a few words, and fell back into the next world without a further remark.
At the funeral service, conducted by the Vicar of Woodbury, assisted by Preb. E. N. Cox, president of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, the ringing fraternity was well represented, with his many friends of the farming community. Floral tributes were not requested but a fund was opened for a memorial at Woodbury Church, the form of which is as yet undecided.

The bells were rung half-muffled after the service by the local ringers and the Exeter Cathedral band rang a half-muffled quarter peal later in the day

John Lewis Steer Glanvill was born at Stogursey, Somerset, on March 8th, 1903, and subsequently moved to Woodbury, seven miles S.E. of Exeter, the home of his ancestors, where he learni to ring with his father, the late J. F. Glanvill. He later became the tenant of a farm on the Clinton Estates at Withycombe Raleigh. He was appointed Ringing Master at this church, expanded his ringing knowledge under the late John $R$. Hayman and took an enthusiastic part in the activities of the Devon Guild.

He later moved back to farm at Woodbury and ultimately became Ringing Master at the Church of St. Swithun, where his efforts were successful in bringing this tower from call changes to a valuable asset of the Guild. It was thanks to his efforts too that these bells were recently restored at a cost of $\ddagger 2.000$.
His peals total 82 (conducted 11). The highlights were: first of Oxford Treble Bob Major, first of Little Bob Major, and first of Surprise. Major to be rung by members resident in the county, and the second only of Double Norwich Major. He also took part in the first officers' peal which was the Guild's 1,000th. His first peal was of Grandsire Triples, at Woodbury, on May 11 th, 1925 , and his last was one of four methods of Minor, at Brampford Speke, conducted by $\mathbf{E}$. Maurice Atkins, in honour of the birth of two more of his grandchildren.
The offices he held in the Guild at the times of his death were: Branch Ringing Master. Aylesbeare Deanery; Central Council representative. and Deputy Ringing Master Exeter Cathedral.
Such was his popularity in all that he did for ringing, and this was much! His excellent qualities of leadership were much in evidence in the Exeter Cathedral band, and his friendly influence felt through all its ringing and social activities. He was always there with his boundless energy permeating through to everyone and a kind and sometimes firm word at the right time and the right place did much to keep things going on the right road. We in the Cathedral band have yet to realise what his loss is going to mean to us.

He leaves bereaved his mother. widow and four children (all of whom are married). two being active ringers. The sympathy of all his ringing friends is most sincerely extended to them in their sad loss.
The memory of 'Jack' will live on, in the future success of Woodbury and the future success of Woodbury and the seeds.

MR. FREDERICK DENTRY

By the death of Mr. Frederick Dentry the Oxford Diocesan Guild has lost its oldest member. He was born in Maidenhead in 1868. As a young man he joined the band at Boyne Hill. where he was also a chorister. He became a member of Oxford Diocesan Guild in 1888. seven years after its foundation, and rang his first peal (Grandsire Triples) in March. 1889. at Hughenden. conducted by W. Lawrence. J. W. Washbrook rang the second in this peal. At that time the band al Boyne Hill was building up its reputation as one of the leading bands in the Guild.
In 1902 he married and moved to Twyford, Berks, where he started business as a tailor.
As the Parish. Church at that time had neither tower nor bells he joined the band at Sonning. At the same time he began to take an active part in the affairs of the village and church at Twyford, where, under the leadership of the Rev. R. W. H. Acworth, plans were going ahead for the extension of the church. the erection of a lower and the installation of a ring of eight bells. This work came to fruition in 1913 and the first peal was rung on the bells on May $21 s t$ of that year. This was of Stedman Triples and was followed in 1914 by a peal of Kent T.B. Major.

During the 1914-1918 war the band at Twyford was sadly depleted by the fact that the majority of the men were on active service. So that the bells should not be silent Mr. Dentry recruited and trained a ladies' band. These continued to ring the bells until the men returned Although some found other duties to occupy their time several continued to ring with the Twyford band for a number of years and some did yeoman service during the 1939-1945 war. Throughout the years 1919-1927 Mr. Dentry was the secretary of the Sonning Deanery Branch, which he served faithfully. His last peal. rung in 1929, celebrated the 50 th anniversary of his first peal.

This did not mean that he had lost interest ir. ringing but other duties made their demands on his time. He was. however, the ideal tower captain; punctual in his attendance, both at Sunday service ringing and at practice, a loyal and devout churchman, always willing to help and encourage the young: able to hold the balance between the old and the new. no easy task at any time. He remained a member of the tower until his death. at the age of 92, although he had relinquished the tower captaincy in 1946. No great peal ringer. yet he had a sound knowledge of conducting and composition and that knowledge he passed on to those who asked for it and were prepared to use it. To him the Oxford Guild at present owes much. probably more even than those who knew him well will ever fully realise.
M. R.C

MR. BENJAMIN BARKER

The St. Peter's band. Derby. ringers have suffered a great loss by the sudden death of Mr. Benjamin Barker, at his home on November 1st.

He was a member of the Derbyshire Association. from its formation in 1946 and prior to that a member of the old Midland Counties Association. since 1939.
"Ben learned to handle a bell at Ingoldsby in Lincolnshire, a three bell tower, and the elements of change ringing at Clay Cross. Derbyshire, a six bell tower. He moved to Derby between the two wars and had since been a regular, punctual and reliable Sunday service ringer at St. Peter's. His peal total was 37 and included Stedman Triples and Cambridge Surprise Major.

The funeral service, which was held in St Augustine's Church, was followed by cremation. Many people attended the service, including Mr. and Mrs. A. Mould, representing the St. Peter's band. Mr. G. Halls. the Cathedral company, and Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Carlisle. the Derbyshire Association.

Mr. Barker leaves a widow and a daughter, Jean, who with her husband. Mr. M. Larkin, are ringers at St. Peter's Church, and have the same loyalty and enthusiasm as had Mr. Barker.

MR. CHARLIE DIPLOCK

Sixty-eight years ago Mr. Charlie Diplock went from Guildford to the village of Hurstpierpoint, to take a job as blacksmith. He cycled all the 33 miles on his pennyfarthing. and remained the village blacksmith for 62 years, until his retirement at the age of 81 .

His skill in shoeing horses was well known. and his craftsmanship in wrought iron is shown in the beauty of the workmanship which is to be seen about the village.

As a member of the Sussex County Association and Hurstpierpoint band he gave 62 years' faithful service. during which time he rang in a peal of Stedman Triples in the local tower.

Charlie twice appeared in television programmes. Firstly, when giving the story of his life as the village blacksmith. and secondly, for his service in Hurstpierpoint belfry, along with his old friends Harry Richardson and George Mansbridge.

After an illness of 12 days Charlie died peacefully in Cuckfield Hospital on October 30 th , at the age of 86 years. The bells were half-muffled as a token of respect and rung for his funeral service on November 4th. A half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire was rung by the local band in honour of this grand old man who set us an example we would do well to follow.

Bedfordshire Association

The November meeting of the Biggleswade District was held at Silsoe on November 12th. When ringing commenced only eight ringers were present but by tea time the number had doubled.
The Vicar joined the ringers for tea. which had been prepared by Miss A. Culpin. At the business meeting Arlesey was selected for the next meeting on December 9th. The Rev. J. D. Benton conducted a short service and then ringing continued with Mr. T. Harris as Ringing Master. During the evening more ringers arrived. which enabled a greater variety of methods to be rung.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A FAMILY REMEMBRANCE

Dear Sir.- The new treble bell placed in the tower of Buckerell Church, during 1949. was the war memorial to the two lads who gave their lives for king and country in World War II. One of these was Gordon Broadhurst.
On Sunday, November 13th. for service Mr. Joseph Broadhurst. father of Gordon and an old ringer now of Buckerell lower, got together five of his surviving children-four sons and one daughter-and they rang the six bells for Evensong half-mulfled, which is always done here on Remembrance Sunday. We bave always hoped that one day this would be done.
I. myself. helped to teach Mr. Broadhurst and taught the five children to ring in Buckerell towei. The daughter. Marina (now Mrs. Piper), was. until last February, the only lady ringer to have rung a peal in our tower. This was eight years ago last week. when she rang with her father and brocher, Raymond. Never in the history of Buckerell tower has one family rung the bells on their own and Mr. Broadhurst remarked afterwards. I'm the proudeat man in Buckerell tonight. - Yours faithfully,
F. H. PARR

SMOKING IN BELFRIES

Dear Sir-Apropos the recent correspondence in "The Ringing World on smoking in belfries, perhaps the following anecdote may be of interest.

Many years ago. an old friend of mine. now long since dead. used to chime our six bells from the ground floor on Sundays. when there were insufficient ringers. There is a west door to this tower and a large pair of oaken doors leading into the nave.

My old friend was very fond of his pipe, short clay, known irreverently as a nosewarmer. and on fine days used to indulge in

One wet Sunday, however, he stood just inside the west door. pipe in mouth. when around the angle of the tower came the Rector. His pipe was swiftly transferred, from mouth to pocket, but the aroma could not be disposed of so easily.
Laying his hand on my old friend's shoulder the Rector said. Never mind, Henry, never mind. I don't consider this as strictly part of the Church. I call this the porch under the tower:
Surely a Christianlike attitude.-Yours faithfully.
W. A. EDWARDS.

Dear Sir.-When living in Beccles. Suffolk. 1 remember the late Mr. Henry Hopson buying five pints of ale each practice night for the ten ringers of the Corporation Campanile of ten bells. in connection with St. Michael's Church. and plenty of smoking. Although I do not believe in either. I fail to see the difference between making smoke with incense and tobacco: hoth are the product of the good earth. both give forth a pleasant or unpleasant aroma. - Yours faithfully.

BELLS UNRINGABLE,
In the Feckenham Deanery of Worcestershire are two rings of bell; which nad been considered unringable, for several years, untal recently.
The six bells at Inkberrow had been unrung for 25 years until this summer, when members of the Wychbold band 'resurrected" them (see earlier issue of R.W.).
At Feckenham, it was rumoured that the bells were so bad-going that it was impossible to ring then. Previously, the incumbent here laad given the impression that was not in favour of ringing, but on the institution of a new Vicar. permission to inspect the bells was sought. and readily given.
It was then found that the tenor wheel was somewhat decayed and that a chiming mechanism had been installed, which impeded the swing of two of the bells. Otherwise. the frume and fittings were in a reasonable condition.
The necessary attention was given by a member of the Wychbold band and on September 30 th the villagers heard their bells ringing out for the firsi lime for many years, to rounds on the octave. and Grandsire Doubles. The bells do not 'go easily, but can be rung. One difficulty is the long draught of rope. but this did not deter some local residents from volunteering to learn to ring, and they are now learning under the instruction of Mr. A. D. Cook, of Wychbold. It is certain, at any rate. that when the learners have mastered these tricky bells, they should be able to ring nearly anywhere!

The bells have an interesting history. dating back to 1640, when the original ring of five Has installed by Henry Bagley. It appears that the treble to this five was subsequently that the treble to this five was subsequently recast as the inscription 'Cantate Domino Canticum Novum. $1676^{\circ}$ ( $O$ sing unto the Lord a new song) infers. A treble was added in 1776 by Mathew Bigley. In 1841. the fifth of the six was recast. and in 1860 Taylors. of Loughborough, added two trebles.
The tone of the tenor is particularly fine. but on the whole they are hardly tuneful bells. as they form a rather vague approximation to the scale of $G$ major

The last peal on the bells was Bob Major in 1930, the only peal of Major rung on these bells.

PAUL.

RINGING COMPETITIONS

Dear Sir-I would support ringing competitions. arranged on the fines suggested in Mr. Donald Price's recent letter. for the following reasons:-
(1) I helieve that a great many ringers fail to appreciate what good striking is and these competitions should enable such ringers to hear some reasonably good striking.
(2) They will help many others. like myself. to improve his or her striking.
(3) Provided a standard system of marking is adopted the competition resuls would he a means of measuring ones. or rather the band"s. improvement. This would. I think, encourage bands to keep striving for a still higher standard.
(4) It seems to me that many ringers are more concerned with their personal progress rather than with that of their Sunday band. Competitions would. I hink, encourage the progress of hands rather than that of individuals.
It should not be inferred from the last item that I advocate that one should only ring with his or her Sunday team, as a great deal can be learnt by mixing with other ringers.Yours faithfully.
R. G. CORBY.

OUR VOCATION

Dear Sir,-Allow me to express my thanks and congratulations for the excellent and inspired leading article in the issue of November llth. We cannot be reminded too often of our vocation as Church bell ringers in contrast to our hobby of church bell ringers.
As you so rigntly point out, bells can be false gods. It is only too easy for ringers to be so carried away by their love for their art that it degenerates into a lust, to such a degree that they would find it extremely difficult to renounce it entirely as an zet of spiritual discipline, for one year, say, as one would deny onself something throughout Lent. Most of us, if we are honest, would acknowledge our guilt in this matter, and that we salve our consciences by olfering our services in the belfry on Sundays. We might not be called to renounce ringing, as John Bunyan did, but should we find it easy if we were! The few ringer; we have known who have taken this drastic step have usuatly been misunderstood by their colleagues.
It is wholly to our soul's good that you, sir. tell us ' we must see our ringing in a true perspective' and that 'all peal ringing, even tor pleasure, is an offering to the Almighty, Although I often participate in and enjoy a peal. I wonder, frequently, during its pertormance, whether something, which is an undoubted imposition upon one's neighbours can be a proper offering to the Almighty. There is little genuine justification for a peal when the same desiderata can be attained by including young ringers in quarter peals.
A recent hostile letter in our local Press complained that often the bells are rung for an hour at a stretch -so quarters are not appreciated either outside the tower
There are, too, other things which prevent our ringing being a perfect offering, apart from the performance itself. Most of us, at some time or other, have been guilty of selfishness in the methads we ring. in the frequency with which we grab a rope, in possessiveness of our towers. in the ringers we invite into our peal bands-lame dogs unwanted here!and we may be despotic and domineering, or given to displays of bad temper if things don't go exactly as we desire. We may resent being corrected when we make a mistake in our ringing. We may be jealous over another person's, or another tower's progress. We may 'hog, all the conducting. We may, by our unpunctuality or casual attendance. prevent our band from offering its best-or even from offering anything! By our obstinate refusal to study our art at home we may remain incompetent and impede our colleagues who are giving some of their time to make themselves worthier ringers. even if of elementary methods.
Most of us are either too indifferent or too shy to precede our ringing with a prayer for its acceptance by God, but such an oblation would undoubtedly make us more conscious or our real vocation and invoke a proper response in our ringing and belfry conduct, and assist our progress towards being Charch bell ringers. - Yours faithfully.

GRATFFLLLY ACKNOWLEDGED  BALANCE SHEET

Dear Sir.-Regarding the 'Gratefully Acknowledged. balance sheet this is interesting, but smacks. somewhat of the Pharisee in the Temple. Any prolific peal ringer take; on an expense equal to an additional wife and certuinly more troublesome.

LETTERS-Continued

THE RINGING WORLD

Dear Sir,-All ringers will agree with the spirit of the letter from Mr. H. E. Taylor ('R.W:- 4/11/60), the paper must be maintained and the Exercise could just not do without it. But when he says he hopes to see the 'Gratefully Acknowledged' column go on for ever, and grow even longer, 1 could not disagree with him more.
Continuance of this column only means that "The Ringing World is not yet on a sound financial footing, where cost of production is covered by legitimate receipts. Readers are therefore getting their copies at slightly under cost price and are being subsidised by the generous few.
Let us look at facts. The average receipts from donations in the ten weeks analysed by Mr. Taylor amount to just under $£ 37 \mathrm{~s} .6 \mathrm{~d}$. per week; the week November 4 th produced much more. £8 1s. 8 d . Now an increase of 1 d . on the price of the paper would produce 143 s . 4d. per week per thousand copies sold. I believe tlie circulation is more than five times this figure, so that $1 d$. increase would bring in more than all the money at present being donated, and would only cost each subscriber the paltry sum of 4 s . 4 d . per year. (Of course, the Post Office benefits: the poundage on the 44 postal orders acknowledged last week produced 11 s .)

Would the committee please let us know what their future policy is to be? Do they intend the 'R.W. eventually to pay for itself, or to rely on steadily increasing donations?
There is a case of paying for quarter peals. They are not of great news value in themselves, and in former times stood little chance of being published: and. as they are generally rung 'at home' they do not involve ringers in much travelling expense. But, to be fair, it should be all or none. And, if paid for, there should be a flat rate of say 3 d . or 6 d . per bell.

Peals are in a different category. Much. if not the whole, of the science of ringing has reen evolved through peal ringing. They have a certain news value. have always been published free and should continue to be so. If peal ringers want to pay for their pleasure they should pay steepleage towards the cost of ropes. etc.; where no fund for this purpose exists. there is always the box labelled 'Church Expenses." Many churches are finding it increasingly difficult to meet these. However, I do think that the 'R.W' could economise by printing peal reports in much smaller type and more in the way that it prints quarters. The present style is at least 80 years old! It would also be a great help to those wanting to look up past performances in back numbers if they were published, like the quarters, in alphabetical order.

The paper could well be pruned without any loss of value or interest. Some correspondence of late has been allowed to degenerate into mere personal bickering: and some accounts of outings and tours might well be cut down-though while contributors remain potential 'generous benefactors' this may not be easy!

What we are really suffering from now is the aftermath of the inflationary years following the war. During that time money dropped to little more than one-fifth of its former value: our wages did not keep pace. so it became necessary to adopt all sorts of expedients to avoid losing the support of the less well-off and the less enthusiastic. This cushioning process can, and should, I think. now cease. 'The Ringing World' cost 3 d . in the 1920's; it is now only 8d. Associations which formerly provided all services, including a free report. to members for an annual sub. of 2 s ., are now striving to make do on subs of from 3 s , to 5 s . instead of a more realistic $10 \mathrm{~s} .$. and making up the difference by charging booking fees. So half the members get their reports at under cost at the expense of the others. All this leads to continual collection of very small sums of money. and a flow of very small postal orders. 'But.' they say. 'you must pay to have your peals printed. When I get my report I do not want to see my own pealsI know all about those already. I want to see other people's.

Would 'The Ringing World Committeeand those who run the finances of our asso-ciations-please do some rethinking?

UNRINGABLE BELLS' WERE

 RINGABLEDear Sir.-A sensation was caused at Ashley, a village on the extreme northern borders of Northants, on November 8 th. when the lie that had been current in the village for 29 years was nailed.
An influential resident of that time who disliked bells held sway over the then Rector, to stop the ringing. For some years the bells hung silent. Every application from any source to ring met with the excuses that 'the bells were unringable,' or the steeple wasn't safe, despite it being rebuilt 112 years ago. The incumbent who yielded and the influential resident left; and all who succeeded him. through ignorance, believed the rumour although told by one of the peal band on two occasions that they were believing something which was not true.
A new Rector has come. whe is more favourable towards bells though himself not a ringer. Ropes were loaned from Market Harborough. to test the bells out, after cleaning bearings and other adjustments. A quarter peal was eventually rung, and now there has been a peal to dispel the rumour, to the joy of Ashley. One resident said it reminded her of old times.-Yours, etc..

NOTTINGHAM UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

The Nottingham University Society held the autumn term's outing on November 12th. A party of 14 left the university at $12.30 \mathrm{p.m}$. by coach ready for action at the five towers on the itinerary
Arriving in good time at the Church of St. Mary and All Saints. Bingham. we were welcomed by the tower captain and later by the Rt. Rev. A. M. Gelsihorpe. Rector of the parish. For the hour we were there we found the eight rather difficult to strike bu: nevertheless a variety of methods were rung ranging from call changes to Cambridge Major.
East Bridgford was visited next and numerous Minor and Doubles methods were rung on the very pleasant six. These bells proved easier to ring at a relatively slow pace -as one of our lady members discovered after turning the tenor in to Cambridge Minor.
After tea in Newark-on-Trent. we made our way to the Parish Church of St. Mary Magdalene. The height of this church is greater than its length and of this we needed no reminding by the time we had climbed to the ringing chamber. Here we were made very welcome and it was unfortunate tha our friends there had to tell us that the tenor's clapper had snapped during ringing for a wedding earlier in the afternoon. Nevertheless, the front eight were a joy to ring Here we added Yorkshire and Double Norwich to our repertoire.

After heading north for some 20 minutes up the A.1, someone rather carelessly woke up the driver and it was then that we found we had passed Tuxford. some three or four miles back. As a result our stay was shortened by some ten minutes but the remaining time was used to good effect and Superlative was rung for the first time that day. Here one rings from the ground floor and with the long draught it is difficult to hear the bells clearly.
Our final tower was SS. Peter and Paul, Mansfield. a perfect Taylor eight. We were pleased to see some of our friends from St . Peter's. Nottingham. there and we kept the bells moving until 9 p.m.. the methods including an unusual touch of Stedman Triples, conducted by the tower captain, and a near perfect course of Bristol.
We thank all incumbents and their ringers for their hospitality and also Martin Bishop, our secretary, for his splendid arrangements. D. W. F

TEACHING A BAND FROM SCRATCH TO FIRST PEAL

By E. L. HUMPHRISS

After 35 years of teaching ringing I set about teaching a band from scratch. This was my procedure.
Half a dozen pulls on the backstroke followed by half a dozen on the handstroke. One is talking all the time: 'Keep your back straight-and your knees supple. Don't look up. Don't look at the handstroke sallyringers who have to look, to catch the sally, are a menace all their lives. Hands together. are a menace all their lives. Hands together. knees - - this gets the idea over, of a long pull. Don't anticipate the fall of the sally, rely on rhythm or sense of timing.
The learner should be handling a bellhand and back-within five minutes of lirst starting. It may be necessary to catch the tuft at handstroke a few times but not more than a few. half a dozen at the most. All learners must look round the tower when catching the sally.
After 10 minutes there is a 10 minute rest (or 20 minutes). The learner looks and listens for 10 minutes. then comes back on the full back and hand. To keep a learner on backor handstroke only for more than half a dezen pulls is just waisting time.
It is found to be dangerous for a learner to bring the rope end out of the left hand anywhere but ovei the index finger. 2nd/lst knuckle joint. If it comes over the fleshy part at the base of the thumb it is only a matter of time before a learner gets the rope round the left elbow.
Learning to handle a bell. three learners to each instructor is a good number. one is no use at all. their rest period is wasted and there is so much for them to get into their system by intelligent watching and listening to the instructor who is giving a grounding in style. Feet correctly placed. hands together. etc. A learner who catches the sally too high must let it slide through his hands until the bell is on balance-then put the "glue on-don't let it bump.

ROUNDS TO QUEENS

Handling the bell should be mastered in four evenings. We do not practise call changes at all but the first open exercise consists of running from rounds to Queens and back to rounds.

BELLRINGERS TIES FOR CHRISTMAS

The learner is told who to follow and whether to make slow' or 'quick' pulls or check. We never say pull in. always "check in." A learner who pulls in invariably goes over the top next stroke and cannot keep the beat.

This is a rhythm exercise. Any ringer who 12345678 breaks the beat is told exactly 13254768 what to do to put it right. 13527468 E.g.. instruction to ringer of 13572468 2nd: 'In going up. No. 2. you are Remain in O.K.. but in coming in again Queens for a you are too far away from time. then: the 3rd. When coming in, 13572468 No. 2. you must be much 13527468 nearer-or you must appear 13254768 to be much nearer-all bells, 12345678 than when going up.

RINGING WITH EARS

This exercise is repeated until all ringers have the beat. 'Ring with your ears-not your eyes, is introduced now. Also at this stage the instructor must 'place, the learner. A learner never just happens ' on the bell he can best handle. Ringing at meetings is often poor hecause ringers are badly placed. E.g.. instruction to the 5 th: Go right in. No. 5 . pull with 2 and $3:$ : On running from rounds to Queens.
E.g.. instruction to No. 7. "You are too far away from everybody. No. 7. when you run in. pull with, not behind. especially your backstroke over the 2nd.

- No. 2, you must set your bell and wait for 3, 8. 5 and 2, and listen-listen all the time-don't break the beat-ring with your ears 90 per cent and your eyes 10 per cent.'

If your bell " tumbles in " on you. bend your knees a bit and put some weight on at the end of your stroke.

Don't put the weight on the rope at shoulder height and then let go the sally.

A learner becomes a ringer when. on his own. without any instruction from the instructor. a little holding up or a little checking in is done quite automatically to put the rhythm of the beat right.

An instructor needs to know from experience the speed at which the back end bells appear to go their best. The instructor must hurry them along or slow them up to the best advantage.
Some learners who are not very handy with a rope are given an exercise ringing one handed. First with one hand, then the other. Say a dozen hand and back pulls with the right hand. then change over, the bells ringing all the time. to the left hand. I do this sometimes during the ringing of the five minute bell. We encourage learners to come up on Sundays and ring the five minute bell.

Rhythm and maintaining a beat are mastered during the rounds to Queens to rounds exercise. I usually take the treble myself and so maintain the open hand, right from the start. A learner on the 2nd soon gets the right ideas about leading and moves on to the treble.

PLAIN HUNTING

Plain hunting is the next exercise. All learn the bells to follow and whether it is a slow run. setting each stroke or running in and checking each stroke.
The treble ringer for example will learn: slow over 2. slow over 4. slow over 6 slow over 8. etc., etc. : then in coming in over the same bells. a quick check stroke for seven blows.
This develops into counting: 2 over 2. 3 over 4. 4 over 6. 5 over 8. etc., etc.. and so on into 2. 3. 4. 5. 6.. etc., etc., representing the place the bell is in Counting out loud. in some cases. I insist on. The young ringer has by now learned to count up to eighths placs and back to lead. Most learners don't take kindly to counting. The band by now are six months on.

GRANDSIRE DOUBLES
To Grandsire Doubles. 7. 6. 8 covering, and ringing this by learning the bells to follow.

Ropesight is useless when you have band all learning to ring their first method. Coursing order gets resulis quickly. and, most important. keeps the ringers happy.
Once the band can ring a plain course of Grandsire Doubles-by knowing who to follow-position counting in plain hunting has now made easy the next stage of position counting through the plain course while at the same time knowing full well who to wait for or check in over.
To Grandsire Triples is the next stageplain course, then keeping 5, 6, 7 in order the 3 bob touch. $3 \mathrm{in}, 4 \mathrm{in}, 2 \mathrm{in}$, comes quite easily Plain course of Bob Major is the next exercise, then back to Grandsire for a $350-$ 5 ths before touch.
Grandsire. 500 changes. or Stedman Doubles, or both. can well follow. The rest is easy.
To conduct Parker's Twelve Part. each part taking 15 minutes. the clock keeps the conductor right on the calling and watching the coursing order keeps everyone in line By calling to the clock a conductor can give so much more attention to the ringing. Our peal started on the hour. at 4 p.m.. each part laking 15 minutes.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

At the annual meeting of the N.W. Branch, held at Bridgerule. on November 5 th. 16 new members were elected-13 from Shebbear College and three from Stratton. The Rev. John Scoit presided and the president. Preb E. V. Cox. who had travelled nearly 100 miles to the present, presented Guild certificates to E. Nunn. G. Alford. J. Hockridge and $O$. Gittins, all from Stratton. All the officers were re-elected.
The meeting was attended by 43 ringers, including visitors from Coombe Martin Plymout! Tavistock and Shebbear College The service was conducted by the Vicar, and the sermon preached by Preb. E. V. Cox. The wives of local ringers provided tea. Ringing of this pleasant litule eight (tenor $10 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) included Grandsire. Stedman. Plain Bob. Kent T.B. and rounds. Thanks are accorded to all who helped to make the meeting a success and especially the president for travelling such a long distance to give us his encouragement.

TAYSOM'S TRAVELLERS IN DEVON

$\mathrm{O}^{N}$N Friday, October 21st, a company of 12 assembled at Warmley for a ringing tour in Devonshire. They were Rita Webb. Jean Palmer, Gloria Newton, Ian Smith and Mr. and Mrs. H. Taysom (Warmley), Michael Hobbs (St. Ambrose. Bristol), Peter Hurcombe (Gloucester). Iver Goulter (Norton), Christopher Barrable. Terence Milsom and Alan lee (Twerton. Bath). With Henry Taysom at the wheel of the mini-bus the party decided to label itself as 'Taysom's Travellers. Lustleigh, near Bovey Tracey, which was the headquarters, was reached about 11 p.m.
Saturday dawned quite bright and dry, and at the first tower, Bovey Tracey, we found a restored Gillett and Johnston octave (tenor 14 cwt.). rung from the ground floor. The Rector, the Rev. G. Duxbury, welcomed us and wished us well on the rest of the tour Highweek, the next tower. was also a restored Gillett octave, but a little lighter ( 11 cwt.) These bells go very well and Oxford Bob Triples was the highlight. The tower captain gave us directions for the next tower, East Ogwell. which lies amid the country lanes The Rev. E. Dalby met us and said he was sorry that the bells are seldom rung, but despite this the little ring of five ( 6 cwt .) go very well. On to Denbury, where Mr. C. Ellis was waiting for us; these are another lovely little five ( 8 cwt .). seldom rung. Here the band had the experience of ringing with single back ropes. A break was made for refreshments.
By 1.30 p.m. we were at Ipplepen, a beautiful octave again restored by Gillett and Johnston although the tenor has since been rehung by Taylor's. A musical touch of Grandsire Triples went very well indeed.
We arrived late at Totnes, one of the county's heaviest octaves ( 28 cwt.), again restored by Gillett's. Here waiting for us was the tower captain and Mr. Aubrey Bennett. Bob Major went very well and the captain remarked he was surprised to see the bells rung by such a young band. Mr. Bennett accompanied us to Dartington, the first six of the day ( 17 cwt .). The bells are rung from the ground floor with rope guides and the back ones are a little tricky to handle, but Cambridge seemed to go along well.

POLICEMAN SURPRISED

At Staverton, the local policeman watched with open mouth as the mini-bus shot down a "No through Road" to the church. The bells are one of the county's heaviest sixes ( $21 \frac{\mathrm{t}}{\mathrm{c}} \mathrm{c}$.), and they took a bit of getting up. Little Bob was very successful, and we also Little Bob was very successsul, and we aiso us after assuring them we were not going to ring scientific.' Through the lanes to Broadhempston, where, to our surprise and his, stood the same policeman; this time we explained what we were doing. The bells go well but the treble is slightly of key.
Having reached Ashburton in the dark we made a mistake. We found a building that looked like a church so in we went equipped with torches, and after trying all the doors decided to look again at the outside of the building, where was found a plaque labelled Ashburton Maternity Clinic.' Eventually, we found the church where the Vicar, curate and captain were waiting. We explained our delay and the Vicar announced that we were not the first. as the building has a 14th century tower. Anyway the bells are a lovely octave (21f cwt.).
The last ring of the day was Ilsington, near Haytor. one of the highest points on Dartmoor. The bells were a perfect end to a perfect day, a restored Gillett six that were a joy to ring. Back to Lustleigh, where we spent a pleasant hour in the inn with the local ringers and villagers, who gave us an histoncal and interesting account of the district.
Sunday, 7.30 a.m.. saw the company at Lustleigh Church, for Communion, where the Rector said he was deeply sorry we could not ring later in the morning as the custom is the bells shall not be rung while a villager is lying dead: Anyway, by kind invitation of Mr. Bennett. we rang at Dean Prior (a slow turning. Taylor restored six, $11 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.). Here we rang a variety of methods on this lovely six after the morning service. Back to Lustleigh for lunch and then a start on the homeward journey. A stop was made at Sampford Arundel (Somerset), to ring for evening service; here the local ringers made us so welcome and let us ring what we wished. We did ring some call changes and Grandsire Doubles with the locals and it was good to think they are conquering method ringing. Warmley was at last reached and 'Taysom's Travels' were nearly over for one yay but it was the sort of thing one would like to do again. Our grateful thanks are due to Mr. and Mrs. Palmer and Miss Gay for looking after us at Lustleigh, to the incumbents and captains who made us so welcome in towers where method ringing is not very often heard. to Mr. Bennett for his kindness and to Henry Taysom for driving the minibus. The ringing had been a very high standard. 19 methods and call changes.

HALIFAX ASSOCIATION

Silkstone won the six bell contest at the quarterly meeting of the Association, held on October 22nd, at Kirkburton. Some very good striking was heard during the competition and an excellent tea was served by the local company. The judge was Mr. T. W. Hilton and his decisions and order of ringing were as follows: Cawthorne (ragged) 68. Meltham (good in parts) 61. Shelley (good. but for a trip) 39. Friezland (good throughout) 27. Silkstone (very good) 24

Thanks were passed to the judge and marker, the Vicar and Mr. Burton for his excellent arrancements and hospitality. Next meeting Armitage Bridge, April 22nd.

ASSERTIVE YOUNG MALES

0NE of the problems confronting most elderly people is 'bridging the gap' of years. In a family, like the ringing Exercise, this is constantly with us. It is no uncommon thing to find three generations ringing together in a belfry, and an age range of 50 years or more between the oldest and the youngest. The outlook of the youngster of today is very different from three generations ago. The average intelligence is higher; generally speaking there is more self-confidence and certainly more independence. The stern discipline of three generations ago does not prevail, and while some of the testy elderly at times try to install this and remark: 'When I was a boy you would sit in the corner and watch, and you would be lucky to hâve a pull,' there is a recognition that a new age requires different methods of approach.

Those in charge of towers today are not of the same sergeant-major type of 50 years ago. While there is a reasonable standard of discipline, the iron hand wears a velvet glove. It seems as if youth is placed on a pedestal; they are certainly allowed a greater measure of freedom when they show prospects of becoming a ringer. The elderly sit back and make sacrifices. They revel in the progress of their pupils, and to another old crony at a District meeting will say, with pride: 'Yes, he was one of my pupils. Look at the grace of his ringing and perfect bell control.'

Alas, there comes a time when the pupil outstrips his master; sometimes it is as short as three or four years. The youth or maiden has been on a ringing tour or two and comes back to the belfry with the glint of knowledge and experience in his or her eyes. A repertoire of methods, far exceeding those of the tower captain, is at their disposal. With this experience has come a sharpening of the ears; there has been the new knowledge that is some ringing the ear is a more important aid than the eye. The striking of individual members, particularly the elderly, is noted critically, and there are possibly asides, such as: 'Old Harry is striking wide - he must be getting deaf.'

With males there is a new assertiveness: it is not so noticeable among girls, whose nature is different. The period between 19 and 23 is often most difficult with young men. They become impatient with the elderly members who cannot advance as quickly as they can, and the atmosphere is apt to become strained. It cannot be denied that as one gets older there is a reluctance to embark into new fields. The preoccupation of other things in life lessens the will, and often the mental faculties make learning difficult.

How is the veteran captain to bridge the gap now that the pupil who was 'the apple of his eye' has reached a realm of proficiency beyond his own? To give up the captaincy of the tower-a position he has held for 10. 20 or 30 years-is very much against the grain. He has taken a pride in his bells and their regular ringing for Sunday services; he has also the respect of the vicar and the parishioners; he feels tolerably fit except for perhaps an occasional twinge of rheumatism. No, such a course is unthinkable.

With the constant moving about the country through changes of employment the crisis is frequently averted. But where the young man remains it is the responsibility of the captain to 'bridge the gap.' Failure to do this results in one of two things: Youth will either find another tower more congenial-and with modern transport such as the motor-cycle and small car this is a reasonable proposition-or he will be getting his ringing with one of the area peal bands and neglect the fold of his youth.

The wise captain will make use of his new-found knowledge by creating new responsibilities for him. If there is not a deputy conductor he will promote him to the position. He will ask him to accept certain responsibilities in the training of recruits: and it is a fact that young people often prefer to be taught by someone nearer their own age than the elderly. If possible, he will use his influence to secure for him an office in the District, such as assistant Ringing Master. This male assertiveness has to be channelled into responsibility, otherwise it will be a cause of friction and unpleasantness in the tower.
Without being unkind to anyone, this phase in life is a common experience, although sometimes its bluntness is softened by a feminine influence. Very often opportunities for service arise where the leadership of a tower is presented to him - not necessarily the belfry in which he was trained-and his knowledge and influence are used to the full extent to the advancement of the Exercise. Hard as it may sound, the wise old captain, if his tower is fully manned, will make the sacrifice for the benefit of ringing at large, even if it is to the detriment of the proficiency of his tower.
One of the secrets of the great advance in ringing in recent years has been the effective harnessing of enthusiastic youth, with the necessary 'know-how.' This information is very patent in our quarter peal columns. We have very many of these 'assertive young males' bringing along their young companies and taking as much pride in them as the veteran captains. And it is all to the good. although some of our old men will shake their heads and say: 'It was not done in my young days.'

'A BIT O' ZATURDAY RINGIN'

'Ere did I tell 'ee 'bout the little trip us 'ad down 'ere in Cornwall a week or so ago? 'Twas on October 15th. I think, 'ees thats it was I know, 'twas the Zaturday before the eighteenth Sunday arter Trinity, an' the missus always 'as er hair done the Vriday before that. Well us put this yer trip on for some chap called Paul Field, and is dog, from Zummerzet way; 'tis only Paul that rings, of course. 'is dog just listens an' barks a bit. 'Twas said that this yer chap only wanted a couple of towers to 'clean up' Cornwall; 'tis amazin' 'ow you can get about these days. ain't it. with these new fangled 'orseless carridges.

Well to get on with the story, as the parsen said after 'ee'd bin preachin' for 'alf an hour, us went up to Menheniot first, an ansome little six. tenor 'bout leb'm 'underd. where us' aived 'em up and rang a bit of Grandsher and Bob Miners (ah, yes, us be getting on with 'alf pull stuff now), before us went on to Saltash, which is nearly in Deb'm This is where they'm buildin' a new road bridge acress river: our gaffer, Alan Carveth. was daft enough to want to walk across the catwalk the workmen be usin to get from one end to 'tother without gettin' their veet wet. but us managed to drag on off it and into the tower. These bells be lovely to ring on after rehanging followin' fourteen years' silence, they'm a ring of six with an 'eavy tenor, bout fifteen underd.
Us was all peckish by this time, an' seein' as 'ow the pubs weren't open us decided to make do with a drop of tay. Us 'ad this at Launceston (pronounced Lansion) with a bit of zummat to ait before goin on to Laneast. another ring of six. 'bout nine 'underd. 'Tis a pity these bells be never rung as they'm very pretty sounding. The ropes was all drawn through a rack close together so they could be chimed an' us 'ad to go up over an' thread 'em all down through the guides hefore us could ring. Well everything was ready agin to start. This time the of rope up. Muscle man Paul got 'old of tenor rope and with one 'aive 'ee broke it, so up us went ag'in an' tied a nice big knot in it, just like us would do at 'ome. an' then got ready ag in to start. This time the ol rope lasted two pulls from Paul before it broke ag'in. Us realised by this time that 'twould be better to stick another rope up. so us went up ag'in an' put one of our old ones on. This time us actually managed to get bells up an' ring a few changes before the second and third ropes broke within 'alf a minute of each other. Us decided to finish it there an' tidied the mess up a bit before goin' on to the last place at Advent to ring a quarter peal at the little church in the middle of a field.

These are five 'boys' bells, tenor 'bout three 'underd. an' us 'ad to scrounge around for a couple of candles to see to ring. Us never realised before 'ow evil lookin' Alan Carveth is by candlelight. but us managed to get over our nerves and ring a quarter of Grandsher.
Well. 'twas time to start for 'ome, stoppin' on the way at St. Columb for a bite to ait an' a drop of wallop. I never realised before but the only time our ringers is quiet is when they' m aitin'. Us 'ad a good trip an' be very grateful to all the parsens 'oo let us ring on their bells. and be 'appy to know that one Paul Field and dog returned 'ome victorious after 'cleaning up' Cornwall.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD Central Bucks Branch

The second Central Bucks Branch supper was held at the King's Head Hotel, Aylesbury, on October 29 ch , when 68 members and friends attended. The branch chairman (the Rev. G. H. Isaacson) presided, and was supported by the Master (the Rev. C. E. Wigg). the branch president (the Rev. Canon G. Dixon). the honorary general secretary (Miss M. R. Cross), the Mibrarian (Mr. H. L. Roper) and Mrs. Roper, and the branch secretary (Mr. D. G. Wheeler).
Apologies were received from the Bishop of Buckingham (the Rt. Rev. G. D. Savage). the Deputy Master (Mr. F. Sharpe), the Vicar of Winslow (the Rev. A. P. A. Barnes). Quainton ringers. Wotton Underwood ringers and Mr. W. E. Jones, of Waddesdon.
The chairman. in his stories, told of how an attempt to play a carol by means of a chiming apparatus was frustrated and parishioners of his former London parish were surprised to hear the strains of "Now the day is over' proceeding from the belfry, prior 10 the eight oclock celebration on Christmas morning.

Miss Cross spoke on the early days of the Oxford Diocesan Guild and of its former Masters, while Mr. Roper compared ringing to playing cricket.
The chairman thanked all those who had helped with the evening's arrangements and also 'in advance, those who had come to entertain.

The winner of the identity competition was Miss J. Bates. Contributing to the entertainment were Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Jamieson. with tunes on their handbells and Mr. Andrew Douglas. songs and stories. Mr. C. Walton led community singing accompanied by Mr. A. Kemsley on the piano.
A four-a-side darts tournament was held under the superintendence of Mr. J. W. Hald after which the Rev. G. T. Barker made the presentation of prizes to the winning team consisting of Messrs. E. Reece. L. J. Gregory. J. E. Tompkins and C. Griffin. D. G. W.

The quarter peal at Downe is another progressive step in Kent ringing. Change ringing is being practised in the tower and this was the first quarter in which local ringers had taken part. The quarter of Doubles in thrce methods was rung by four ringers from West Wickham and two of the local band. It was a happy occasion, to mark the baptism of the Vicar's son. The band, after the service. attended. with the congregation, a reception in the village hall.

Messrs. Frank B. Lufkin and E. Rapley have had a week 's peal ringing in Sussex and Kent, during which five peals were scored.

The 50 th anniversary of the first peal of Minor, at Goldhanger, Essex. was marked by a quarter peal on November 12th. In the band were Messrs. J. Owers and A. Appleton, who took part in the first peal.

Another similar anniversary to Goldhanger comes from Wilburion, Cambs. Here the 64th anniversary of the first peal on the bells was celebritted by a quarter and in this Mi. H. Sharp. nosv 86. rang the second. This is an enoouragement to all our octogenatian ringers.
Six priests rang in a quarter peal at St . Crantock. Cornwall, as a compliment to the Rev. W. H. R. Trewhells. who for 31 years has been secretary of the Truro Diocesan Guild. This was the first quarter in Cornwall by six priests

The peal at Penistone. on November 19th. was the first on eight bells by the Barnsley and District Society for over ten years. The composition. from 'The Clavis.' was rung threadbare in Yorkshire during the i8th century.

The light, anti-clockwise octave at Foxeath. in North Essex, has been silent for several years, but with the permission of the Rector. the Rev. L. G. Folkard, was rung to a peal of Treble Bob on November 12th. These hells go quite well and it is to be hoped that they will he heard more often in the future. call change district and was much appreciated and admired. Mr. E. H. Langley, who came from Wokingham to Somerset, 18 months ago, would like to thank Taunton ringers for their assistance and help in improving his ringing.
The Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association are holding a course of instruction in Cheltenham. in the New Year at Monkscroft County Secondary Modern School evening institute, running for eleven weeks, coverjing a wide field of ringing subjects.
The Southern section of the Surrey Association held an extremely successful practice at St. Mary's Church, Reigate, on Tuesday. November 15 th. which was attended by 43 ringers. The officers extend their thanks to all who attended and also their hosts, the local ringers.
An unexpected opportunity to ring his first peal came to Graham B. Sleigh (14) at Whitworth. Lanes. on November 19th. Five minutes before the start the band was one short and Graham was roped in although he had not previously rung more than 200 changes. He rang very well. reports the conductor.
As no other name could be found in old Ringing Worlds, the variation included in the peal of Doubles at Wychbold on November 20th was named Honeybourne (consists of Reverse Canterbury leads for the bobs in Reverse Si. Bartholomew). It was so named in deference to Worcestershire's heaviest (and roughest?) five (tenor 193 cWt . in F), a ring of superb tone, as yet unpealed.
The open day held at Beaminster. Dorset. on November 19th, in aid of the restoration fund for the bells was quite a success and created much interest among the townsfolk. who inspected the records, the bell frame and the deplorable state of the frame. Unfortunately the ringing fraternity did not support the effort, there heing only four visitors. A sum of 1116 s . was received in conributions.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

ESTABLISHED

ALPHABET FOR BEGINNERS

By T, J. LOCK

UNPEALABLE METHOD.-An unpealable method is one which cannot be rung to a peal of five thousand or more changes without repetition of any one change. When some of the regular methods defy a true composition of five thousand odd changes on the accepted principles of composing the problem is sometimes solved by parting the tenors at least once and perhaps only for a lead or two. The alternative treatment of these such methods is to determine the least number of changes that ring true. thus producing a composition of, say, 5,728 changes. Some of our modern composers have worked out compositions for methods previously thought to be unpealable.

UNUSUAL TOWERS.-A short list of towers or structures which contain a ring of bells is given below, and as you will notice they are situated in widely placed parts of the country. They have been chosen because there are none others, or at the most very few. quite like them.

Accrington.-Access gained by a circular staircase which rises above the floor in the centre of the rope circle.

Brookland.-The bells are contained in a detached wooden structure having an outline similar to a pyramid

Dublin, St. John's R.C. - An oblong ringing chamber with the ten ropes falling in two straight Jines.
East Bergholt.-A detached structure in which the bells are rung by wooden handles or levers instead of ropes, the ringers standing level with the bells which are hung a few leet above the ground.
Kingsclere.-A ringing chamber with no windows or natural lighting.
Liverpool Cathedral.-Possibly the most spacious ringing chamber there is. The ringers stand on a raised circular platform and the ropes fall into the 'well.' Access is gained by two lifts

Loughborough Bell Foundry.-Unsuspectingly situated on a street corner. Even whilst ringing eating and drinking is permitted!
Manchester Town Hall.-Bells in a civic building, and access to ringing chamber by lift

Melbourne.-Choir stalls have to be hinged back before ringing commences
Morpeth Watch Tower. - Similar to a church tower but detached and isolated in the centre of a street

Pershore Abbey.-An open iron spiral stairway leads to the ringing chamber, the floor of which i supported on two great wooden beams. and the sides of which are of open wire mesh.

Quex Park.-The bells are in the isolated Waterloo tower, which is surrounded by trees in the middle of a field.
Southwell Minster. - The ringers stand in a gallery against the inside of the four walls of the central tower
Windsor Castle.-A keeper's flat is 'next door.'

UP RIGHT, UP WRONG-As stated previously. there are two ways of raising a bell, one being the wrong way. The other (and more usual) way is, more often than not. quite easily done. The points to remember in order to raise a bell properly arepull at the rope to start the bell swinging as in chiming. when the clapper will be hitting the backward or following 'edge ' of the bell: continuz to pull the rope downwards so that the bell is swinging higher and higher making sure you check the bell movement enough to enable the clapper to strike on the backward edge every time: when the clapper commences to strike on both the backward and forward edges pull at the sally and at the end of the rope which you are holding coiled in your hadd. You will gradually release the coil as the hell swings higher: When a hell is "up right the clapper is lying at the forward edge of the swing just completed. and when the bell is 'up wrong' the clapper is lying at the backward edge of the swing just completed. It is important to have all the bells 'up right.' otherwise the striking will be be adversely affectea.

MR. WILFRID G. WILSON,  London County Association.

Mr. Wilfrid Wilson's record of service to the Exercise is one that should inspire all who are concerned with the training and instruction of beginners in our art. We should all be grateful to him for producing his booklet - Notes for Beginners,' which ran into six editions totalling 3.500 copies. These were all hand produced. enlirely at his own expense and risk. The value of this work has found suitable recognition by its incorporation in the Central Council's "Handbook for Beginners. Mr. Wilson has also written a book ' On Conducting. which in its second edition has just been printed. and numerous articles which have appeared in this paper. including 'Stedman' and ' Double Norwich for Begi iners.

He was associated with the late J. A. Trollope in the preparation of various publications by the Methods Committee of the Central Council; reprints of the Snowdon series; and he helped E. C. S. Turner to complete the book on 'Grandsire,' which had been commenced by Trollope. In addition to all this, he has lectured at the week-end courses of instruction sponsored by the Oxford Diocesan Guild
Born in 1910, at St. Pancras, London, and moving to Ealing in 1915, he was educated at Ealing County Grammar School. He was taught to ring, along with Ernest Turner, by J. A. Trollope, at Christ Church, Ealing, where he is now tower captain, and rang his first peal in 1927. His peals total is 189, of which he has conducted 40 . The total includes 30 on handbells, of which he has conducted 7
His interests are more in Sunday service ringing and teaching than in peal ringing-but he is particularly proud of two peals in which he has taken part. One was a peal of Grandsire Triples he called in 1954, with two first pealers in it, one aged 13 and the other 64; and the second was a peal of Spliced Surprise Major, in four methods, which he conducted without having called a bob in any Surprise method, or indeed having rung three of the methods.

Mr. Wilson is by profession a local government officer, having entered the service of the London County Council in 1928, in the department of the Clerk of the Council. He has been concerned with the work of many of the Council's committees, and with staff management. At present he is clerk of the Town Plinning Committee, dealing with road improvements and the development plan for London. His army service (1940-46) saw him in North Africa, Italy and Greece.

He was, at one time, an assistant secretary of the Middlesex Association. 1930-48, and represented that Association on the Central Council. 1936-48. He is now treasurer of the London County Association, and has represented this organisation on the Council since 1952. He took an active part in the preparation of the "Beginners' Handbook, and at the last Council meeting was elected to serve on - The Ringing World' Committee. It is always the busiest man who can find time to undertake the 'tricky' jobs, and we have no doubt that Wilfrid will make his contribution to one of the most difficult jobs the Counci has to offer!

JAFUS.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Marlborough Branch

A most enjoyable time was spent by the 24 ringers who attended the annual meeting of the Marlborough Branch held at Marlborough on November 19th. The visitors included Mr and Mrs. Brian Bladon, of Swindon, the former stating that an attempt for a long peal would shortly take place at Mildenhall.

The afternoon's ringing on the lovely six was followed by the service conducted by Wanon F. B. R. Brown. A.D.. Rector, who in his address spoke of the place of ringers in the service of God.

After tea. Mr. George Newman presided over the business meeting. The secretary (Mr. Arthur Palmer) in his annual report stated that nine meetings had been held during the year. and a most successful outing to Ross-on-Wye. Both Aldbourne and Overton towers on-Wye. Both Aldbourne and Overton towers thad been televised with short shots of the ringing.

The chairman welcomed those who were secking election. and recruits from Chisledon, Overton. Marlhorough St. Mary and Colling-bourne-Kingston were duly enrolled. With the thanks of the meeting for the past services the officers were re-elected as follows: Chairman Mr. G. Newman: honorary secretary. Mr. A. Palmer ; vice-chairman, Mr. J. Fuller.

Ringing in the evening included Grandsire and Bob Doubles. Bob Minor, St. Simon's and Kent T.B., with rounds for beginners.

JOINT MEETING AT WHICKHAM,

 CO. DURHAMThe Western District of the Durham and Newcastle Association were joined by the North Eastern Branch of the Ladies' Guild, at Whickham, on November 19th. The weather could not have been worse and dense fog made travelling most difficult. In spite of this, ringers came from as far as Richmond (Yorks), as well as a contingent from Darlington. These included Mr. T. Cooke, president of the Durham and Newcastle Association and Miss D. M. Killingley, vice-president of the Ladies' Guild.
Good use was made of the bells before tea: rounds for the learners (and there were many of them) and various Minor methods for the more advanced. Canon Lamb conducted a short service before going into the Church Hall for tea. Miss Killingley presided at the meeting and called upon Norman Errington to propose a vote of thanks to the Rector and churchwardens. Mr. W. Tyson thanked Miss Thompson and her helpers for a most excellem tea and also mentioned the good work of Stephen, in his efforts to make the meeting a success and in training a young hand. After months of toil the bells of Whickham now ring out with a band composed of youths whose ages. combined, do not come up to Stephen Thompson's (70).
The ladies held their meeting later when a gate-crasher (a male) attempted to attend, but he was politely (?) told to get out.

THE STORY OF A DORSET TOWER

ST. MARY'S, BEAMINSTER

 By EDNA PANNELLTHE bells in the tower of Beaminster Church were recast from the five bells into a ring of eight in 1764 by Thomas Bilbie, in a shed adjoining the churchyard. The tenor weighs 26 cwt . in D , and bears the inscription, 'I to the church the living call, and to the grave do summon all.' It was the custom to toll this bell, called the Passing Bell, on the death of a resident; this practice has alas, been dropped, the last time it was heard was January 4th, 1957.

The present chimes were remade in 1765, and the hymn tune 'Hanover' has been played every three hours, day and night almost without fail, since 1780 . Previous 10 this there were two tunes played as chosen by the parish' on the five bells. The church clock dates from 1739, and was remade in 1929, and has no dial. Both the chimes and the clock have to be wound manually, the clock daily and chimes every other day.

RULES FOR RINGERS

The earliest record of the forming of a Guild of ringers is in 1874, and then there were nine honorary members and eight ordinary members. An ordinary ringer who was unable to attend a "paid' occasion, had to supply an honorary singer in his place, or pay a forfeit, and was fined 6d. For leaving the belfry before the ringing was finished, or without the captain's consent. a ringer was fined 2 s . 6 d . The fines were many, and rules strict. and were observed firmly.

The funds were divided amongst the ringers at the annual meoting held in January. Honorary members were paid a ninth share of the sum of subscriptions and fines Ordinary members paid all money earned during the year, less fines, divided into nine equal shares, eight for the ordinary ringers, and one share into the honorary funds. Admission to the Guild was 1s., and the annual subscription 1s. 6d. To be admitted to the Guild a man had to be approved of by the Vicar and churchwardens as being a suitable person for the belfry. Then his name was put before the members of the Guild who used a balloting box (still in the belfry today) to show their approval.

The earliest accounts held by the Guild are 1884. when eight ordinary members received $£ 22 \mathrm{~s} .8 \mathrm{~d}$. as their share for the year's rinaing. The honorary members received nothing. Obviously the ordinary members had atrended well!

THE PASSING YEAR

From time immemorial it has been the custom to ring out the old year with muftled bells. A short service in the belfry, then the tens and units of the year are tolled on the tenor just before midnight. The New Year is greeted merrily.

Attendance registers have been kept regularly, but the eartiest records of these are 1900 . It was the practice in the paid days to mark the register at the end of the first souch, thus: a . absent; x , present; 1 , late.
The set of 19 handbells, used by the Guild coday, were purchased in 1878 , at the cost of $i 8$ iss. Two of the ringers canvassed the town for contributions towards these bells, the records state how much was collected. and also that "each ringer who canvassed the town be paid 4 s . to compensate him for the loss of time during collecting.' The whole of the 'Reserve Fund' was also used to pay for these bells. which were inscribed in 1880 , 'St. Mary's, Beaminster'-after inquiries as to whether the tone would be altered if an inscription was added! Up until the bolls were rehung in 1887 it took two men to ring the tenor. The hells were quarter turned then and tuned.

The Guild joined the Salisbury Diocesan Guild of Ringers in 1888, and we read, The Diocesan Guild paid a visit to Beaminster in 1887. for this occasion the Guild spent $£ 4$ in improving the furnishings in their belfry.

DUMB BELL PRACTICE

In 1894 the Seages dumb bell practising apparatus was installed at a cost of $£ 1612 \mathrm{~s}$. from Guild funds-it seems to have been in need of constant repair. It was used during the 1939-45 war when the bells were silenced. to keep alive the ringing enthusiasm of the Guild but it is unusable again now.
In 1900 the Guild first made a start on scientific ringing: and some books were purchased. But the first record of actual ringing half pull changes was in 1910. When Mr. I. Hervey Beams. the headmaster of Bradpole School, walked a distance of five mile each way, weekly, to instruct the Guild in Grandsire Doubles. He offered his services free. but received a gratuity of $£ 1$. The end of the first world war saw Mr. Beams again journeying to Beaminster. this time to ring Grandsire. Stedman and Plain Bob Triples.
In 1912 the present Guild was formed and the latest rules drawn up in 1950. In 1914 the number of ringers had to be limited to 20. there was such enthusiasm then. Members of the Guild rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles on Chrisimas Eve. 1915.

The bells were rehung on ball bearings in 1938 and to raise the necessary funds members canvassed the town.

LONG SERVICE

Long years of service to the tower have been a feature of the Guild. Mr. J. B. Dunn was a ringer for 30 years, of which for 20 years he was captain. He was presented with an illuminated address in 1903; this was returned to the belfry upon his death, as was a clock. still in the tower. which was presented to Mr . George Pomery in 1904. bearing the inscription, A token of respect, 1873-1902.' Quite a number of the ringers of today are descendants of the ringers of the last century, and three members now have 52, 49 and 48 years' service behind them.

Only 12 peals have been rung on the bells. The first was 5.040 Grandsire Triples in 1907. Next 5.040 Stedman Triples in 1909, followed by 5.056 Bristol Surprise Major (the first peal of Major on the bells and first of Bristol in the county). 1924 saw another peal of Grandsire Triples, 1932 another of Stedman Triples. A peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung in August. 1939, and May. 1947, saw the "Barrabool Peal of Bob Major. 1949 a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, and Double Norwich Court Bob Major. The last three peals-in 1950. 1951 and 1957 -are all of Stedman Triples.

MEN HANGED FROM TOWER

The tower itself is over 100 feet high. The ascent is made by a central external staircase which goes right up to the battlements. It is adorned with sculptures of Virgin and Chitd (the former is crowned and seeptred). Crucifixion. Resurrection and the Ascension. From this tower in 1685 men were hanged to teach the people what they might expect from King James II! A great deal of money was spent in 1958 in replacing the pinnacles. repairing the scutptures and stonework. The whole tower was encased in scaffolding for several months.

Now the framework of the bells is becoming weak: it is eaten with woodbeetle and rotting. It is the same age as the bellsalmosi 200 years. The bells are in the weakest part of the tower. When they are rehung they will be put at a lower and safer level. in a cast iron frame, on a concrete reinforced ledge. The bells themselves will be sent to the foundry to be fith turned and tuned. The clock and chimes will be wound mechanically.
Why are we so anxious to rehang our bells? In eight years or so they may be considered unringable, and the voices of this church will be silenced. We feel that whilst the bells are able to send their message through the streets. lanes and fields of the neighbourhood they are reminding those who are preparing themselves for service it is nearly time-and those who do not intend attending churchthat there is a church, and Sunday is a day set apart from other days.

Contributions towards the restoration fund may be sent at Mrs. E. Pannell, honorary secretary and treasurer. Beaminster St. Mary's Honorary Ringing Guild, 214, Gerrards Green, Beaminsier. Dorset.

PEALS OF MINIMLS AND  FOLR BELL TOWERS

Dear Sir-Mr. P. A. Whitaker's arguments (page 755) might be better understood if a precedent had not already been created by the recognition of four bell peals. That a majority at the last Central Council meeting decided in favouf only goes to make the opposition look bad sportsmen. and the Central Council ridiculous. in trying to reverse the position now that a precedent has been created.

What are we going to do with ringers in four bell towers, like Ridlington, Rutland. where more than four bells is not possiblesnub them and act with uncharixableness? After all these four bell church ringers are our brothers: कhey need our help. our sympathy and our charity-not to be looked down on.-Yours faithfully,

Weston Favell.

MORE FALSE PEALS

Dear Sir.-After finding that the 50 method peals were false. Robin Heppenstall has been checking the tigures and finds there is another repetition of changes between leads of Crayford College and Kidlington College. Since my Spliced arrangements are all based on the same plan. this falseness occurs in ' 10 more peals that have been rung, as below.

I am therefore in the unfortunate position in having to withdraw another 10 Spliced peals, which I give below.

I believe I am correct in stating that the figures of each Spliced peal were published as they were first rung. Should anyone have these peals I will give the corrections so that they will be true.

All the leads of Kidlington College must be changed to Crayford College and vice versa.
Again my sincere apologies to all the ringers who took part in the false peals.-Yours sincerely,
G. E. FEIRN.

NEWS FROM VANCOUVER

Dear Sir.-Having placed a notice in the R.W: that we would be glad to welcome any out of town ringers. we have bean stimulated and encouraged by the visitors 10 our tower.
At our regular service ringing, on August 14th we welcomed Mr. Peter Crook, of Bolton, Lancs, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold McDonald. of Edmonton. Alberta, formerly of Ireland. We had met Mr. Crook at Christ Church Cathedral. in Victoria, B.C.. and at the Benedictine monastery at Mission City, B.C.. and found all his advice most helpful. The following, Tuesday, a practice night. Harold and Valerie McDonald returned to ring with us again. We enjoyed them very much and plan to meet them one week-end next spring when some of our ringers hope to ring in Calgary. Alberta.

On September 20th, we were pleased to m.et and ring with Wing. Comdr. J. S. Mason, R.A.F.. from London and Birmingham. At present he is stationed in Los Angeles, California, Unfortunately we had a poor turn out for practice that evening and so the ringing was limited. Wing Comdr. Mason thinks it possible he may be up our way again. We hope so.
Mr. Wiltiam B. Cartwright, of Selly Oak. Birmingham. on tour through our city, rang with us on September 30th. We had a good ring and enjoyed Mr. Cartwright's company. both in the tower and afterwards:
Mr. Peter Crook joined us again on October 25th, on his homeward trip to England. He called a touch of Bob Minor and made our practice night most enjoyable. After ringing in the tower we moved to the home of one of our ringers for tea and handbells.
It is with great pleasure that we remember our visitors of these pist few months, and we. here in the West. cut off by distance from the majority of the ringing in the world. feel honoured that these distinguished ringers have paused in their travels to ring with us and give us the benefit of their experience.-Yours truly.

DERBY CATHEDRAL PEAL

Dear Sir,-With reference to the peal at Derby Cathedral. rung for the Ancient Society of College Youths. I am sorry that it has caused a series of controversial letters in. The Ringing World
Mr. Hall's letter is based on his own personal views and (as yet) no protest has heen registered by the Derbyshire Association.
Personally. I regard the Ancient Society of College Youths as non-territorial. and therefore they have a perfect right to ring peals wherever they please.

The very fact of the suggestion that the two societies should be used to exploit differences between two personalities is even more regrettable.

References to the South Derbyshire and North Leicestershire Association by Messrs. Carlisle and Marshall. in the issue of November 4th. were quite uncalled for. While one may feel that the formation of this Asso. ciation has brought about divided loyaltieswhich I for one deplore-no good will be gained by hurling insults which have brought no credit to the Derbyshire Association-in fact the very reverse.

I hope that this letter will close this issue. I am sure you can make better use of the limited space available.-Yours sincerely,
B. P. MORRIS
onorary Secretary.

MORE LOWERING OF STANDARDS?
Dear Sir,-I don't know whether it is because I am getting older and losing my sense of humour, but two items in the peal columns of your issue of November 18ith caused me some misgivings.

I undersiood that when a hitherto unnamed method is pealed, the band have the option of naming it, hut the Exercise expects them to show some discretion in their choice. An example of the normal procedure is seen on page $76+$ (at Watlington). On the previous page however, at Heptonstall, a multi-method peal of Plain Major is recorded, involving some fantastic method nomenclature! It would appear that (assuming, of course, that this is a genuine report) several methods were used which were hitherto unnamed: in some cases they had actually given their own surnames to these methods. a distinct departure from normal taste. (Bob Smith tells me he hopes to arrange a peal of Smith Bob Major. soon!)
And where on earth is Lesser Wopping and what merits does it claim to entitle it to give its name to a method that never meant to do anybody any harm? Surely it would have been better. and more helpful, to have given the C.C.C. numbers of these methods in the report. leaving the actual naming till such time as the methods concerned are rung to an entire peal. I think there is a precedent for this.
Secondly on page 766. I find that the Universities Association. which must have as one of its chief aims. more so perhaps shan any other association. the proper advancement of change ringing. has become the unwilling recipient of yet another handbell Minimus stunt? Whatever can be said for ringing Minimus in a four-bell tower. it seems quite clear to me that. competition for University Entrance being what it is. the three young men concerned would have been far more wise in devoting this ill-spent time to their wise in devoting this ill studies!-Yours faithfully.

SIX BELL TECHNIQUE

Dear Sir.-I disagree with the views of Mr. Harry Poyner on peals of Plain Bob Minor and as I have previously given my opinjon on such performances I will pass over the subject tut I must question the last sentence in his letter: There is no better foundation than Plain Bob on which to build up six bell ringing.

Surely Oxford or Kent Treble Bob is the correct ground method from which a learner can graduate 10 scores of T.B.. Delight and Surprise methods. Plain Bob can lead to a few plain methods and according to the Minor peal columns only about ten are in regular use, these being used by eight-bell ringers when they wish to ring a peal in seven Minor methods.

Furthermore, the task of weaning a learner from Bob Minor to Oxford is often a long and painful business, as we have found to our sorrow.

The best way to develop six bell technique is to learn the various front works of Oxford, Kent, Woodbine. New London. etc.. then certain back works and from the fout-way lable many interesting methods can be produced. "A Collection of Minor Methods is really essential but this book is out of print and a strong rumour is being circulated that the new edition has been banned. something about certain words being used for the names of the new Alliance Methods! However. I still have my taltered copy and the youngsters can always learn Plain Bob from "The Beginners" Handhook.-Yours faithfully.

RAMBLING RINGERS’ 1960 TOUR

THIS year's tour of the Rambling Ringers, from July 23 rd to August 13 th. was the most successful in the history of the Society, being attended by over 60 . Ringing started on the ten at. Beddingten, where a bride arrived to the sound of Cambridge Royal. Later in the day there was ringing at Banstead and on the six at Kingswood.
Sunday's programme opened with ringing on the len at Reigatc. After a meal of cheese and beer two of the towers of the Tillingbourne valley, were visited-Shere and Albury. The latter's hells go well but we probably zang them too quickly. We rang at St. Nicolas. Guildford. for Evensong, bu some of the members 'took time off' to grab Holy Trinity Cathedral. The youth hostel at Milford was reached in time for supper.
The route on Monday was from Frensham, in Surrey. into Hampshire. at Binsted, and then the reasonable eights at Alton and New Alresford. As permission could not be obtained to ring at Winchester Cathedral, the light six at Tichborne were substituted-and nice bells they proved to be

TRIBUTE TO GEORGE WILLIAMS
Tuesday was a splendid day with Bristol at Twyford and Grandsire, Stedman and Cambridge Royal at North Staneham, and an inspection of the grave of that giant among ringers-George Williams. But the best was to come winh the restored ring at St. Mary's, Southampion, followed by St. Michael's, Southampton. where we were greeted by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead. Later, some of the party inspected Mr. Felstead's filing system of peats. After a 15 mile cycle ride we arrived at Brockenhurst and enjoyed our night at the Norleywood Youth Hostel with its grand warden.
Bournemouth was in the next day"s programme with ringing previously on the 12 at Christchurch and then St. Peter's and St. John's. Surrey Road. A chapter of misfortunes followed. There was difficulty in finding the ferry, then there were three cycle mishaps and heavy rain. A drowned party reached the youth hostel. but not too disspirited to visit the fine eight at Swanage that night.

IN DORSET

Friday was spent amid Dorset towersWinterbourne. Whitchurch. Blandford. Gussage St. Michael (and although it was sweltering hot six of the party rang a quarter peal here). Gussage All Saints and Wimborne Si. Giles. where Superlative was rung.
Saturday's ringing started with the glorious: eight at Cranhorne and at Ringwood we were greeted by the newly-arrived party from Leicester, inctuding the first officers to join the tour. Later. at Milford-on-Sea we were joined by our president. Mr. Patrick I. Chapman. and Spliced London. Bristol and Cambridge was rung. The ferry was caughe to take us to the Isle of Wight. the youth take us tel haing reached in time for dinner.

ON THE ISL.AND

Sunday and Monday were both spent on the island. There was service ringing at Caristrooke and Fresthwater. In the gyrating cower at Newport the worst ringing of the tour was recorded by a local gentleman. Other towers visited were Godshill. Arreton. Brading and Ryde and then by ferry to the mainland for a night at Gosport Youth Hostel.

Monday's ringing commenced with four Spliced and Bristol at Alverstoke. At Portsmouth Cathedral Yoikshire Royal would not go and the ringing in general was poor. The nightmare of Portsmouth was forgotten as changes were tapped with clocklike precision at Havant. On the way to Westbourne we were struck by a violent thunderstorm. the road being covered with large chunks of ice in a matter of seconds.
At Westbourne the good work was carried on. What a pity, in view of the subsequent striking. a band not trained by the College of Campanology could not have acquitted itself better at its very stronghold. The night was spent at East Marder Youth Hostel.
The next morning at South Harting the London Scholars' group was rung and the Vicar expressed his pleasure at the standard of the ringing. Six Spliced was rung at Pulborough (8) and four Spliced by the second team and at Arundel the rise in peal was excellent and the subsequent ringing of high standard. It was here we rang a course of Wembley Surprise Major.
Thursday saw us ringing on three sixesLyminster, Angmering and Goring-and during this the College Exercise group was rung. The lollowing day was spent at Shoreham and at the two Brighton tens, St. Nicholas' and St. Peter's.
Our first progress course of London Royal, followed by Yorkshire and Cambridge Royal. was rung on Friday at Lewes. Progress was noted at Ringmer by eight Spliced and the secand team five Spliced. At Alfriston. the Cathedral of the South Downs,' a hotch potch of Minor methods was rung. Saturday's ringing included St. Mary's. Eastbourne, Pevensey, Bexhill and St. Leonards.
After ringing for Matins at Battle on Sunday we went to Salehurst. Here we were approached by some of the locals who asked us if they could record some of our ringing for an old ringer who would like to hear the bells again. This we did with Stedman, Spliced eight and Double Norwich. We should like his opinion. Evensong ringing was on the lumbering old eight at Goudhurst and a merry evening was spent at the youth hostel where the Ringing Master entertained the company.

SPLICED 10 REACHED

It was not such a merry Master the following morning when he came to the youth hostel vowing everlasting destruction on wasps-he had been stung several times while hay making! To he recorded this day was the first touch of Spliced 10 at Biddenden. a press interview at Ashford and Wye Surprise at Wye. A dark and menacing sky caused some of the feebler brethren to take the train. The night was spent at Chartham.

The road to Dover was taken the following day via Folkestone with ringing en route. More rain was encountered on Wednesday and at Quex Rark a near perfect course of Yorkshire Maximus was rung. Later came Yorkshire Maximus at Canterbury Cathedral (well rung) and Cambridge Maximus (awful).
The rain persisted the next day which was too much for two of the party who headed for home. Ten Spliced was again rung-at Chilham. At Eastling (6) we found the Vicar and some of his congregation waiting for us.

These bells can only be chimed, but the welcome that was received will ever live in our memory. Doddington Y.H. is probably the best in the couniry and more like an hotel.

The next morning London. Yorkshire and Cambridge Royal were rung in the huge tower at Leeds and at Maidstone we said goodbye to the Honorary Master. Mr. Denis Mottershead. The day ended with ringing on the fine eight at Wrotham. which brought out the best in the bells.

The concluding day of the tour saw us in London. At Bromley we left a lasting impression. as the ringing from start to finish was first class. At Si. Giles'. Camberwell. we were unable to bring out the music of the bells.

We hops to visit Somerset for the next tour.

LETTERS-Continued

FIRSI PEAL IN MONMOUTHSHIRE
Dear Sir--Replying to Mr. Hanninglon's letter. evidence that the peal of Grandsire Triples ar Chepstow, in 1837, was false is largely circumstantial but fairly convincing.

Nearly sixty years ago while I was on the way to a meeting in Gloucestershire with the Rev. C. D. P. Davies the conversation turned on old composers, and with the Chepstow peal in mind I asked if he knew anything of its composer. He did not. but said that if he had been a person capable of composing a peal of Grandsire Triples at that time, more would have been heard of him.
Some forty or so years later the late Mr. R. T. Hibbert's obituary credited him with calling the first peal in the country some time around 1890. and the next time I saw the late J. A. Trollope I asked him if he knew anything of the Chepstow peal and its author. He had evidently come across it in his investigations into ringing history, as without any hesitation he replied that the peal was a transposition of a 2.520 in an old book on ring ing, which. while true as a half peal. became false when doubled by singles.

In view of Mr. Trollope's great knowledge in such matters. I felt it quite safe to say the 1886 peal at Monmouth was the first true peal in the county.-Yours sincerely,
E. BARNETT

PLRELY PERSONAL VIEWS

Dear Sir.-I was alarmed to read the statements recently made by Mr. E. H. Willows. He incorrectly refers to a dispute between the Derhyshire Association and the College Youths.
The dispute. if indeed it is a dispute. is solely between myself and Mr. D. G. Clift. the writer of the cour report in question. For my part the views I expressed were my own and must not be assumed to be those of the Derbyshire Association. The same can be said about the humorous remarks of Carlisle and Marshall.

Whilst on the subject of the North Derhyshire and South Leicestershire Association I have noticed that they take care not to advertise their activities in "The Ringing World.' Thus Mr. Willows' remark about Mr. Marshall not having attended one of their meetings is a bit pointless. If their standards of striking are so exemplary let them advertise their meetings in advance: other ringers would like to come along.Yours sincerely.

Ancient Society Of College Youths

At the business meeiing of the Ancient Scciety of College Youths. held on November 12th. at the $R$ ising Sun. Carter Lane, E.C.. the following were elected officers for 1960-1961:-
Master. Michael P. Moreton: secretary, John Chilcott: treasurer. Cyril G. J. Watts: senior steward. William T. Cook: junior steward. Michael V. Chilcott: trustees. Ernest G. Fenn and J. Frank Smallwood.

OBITUARY

MR. JOHN R. SHARMAN
In the account of the College Youths dinner (November 18th), among those mentioned who had passed away during the year was Mr. John R. Sharman, who had been a nember for 63 years.
Mr. Sharman was probably unknown to the present generation. but for many years he was very prominent in ringing circles, especially in London. first with the College Youths and later with William Pye and the Middlesex Association.
Mr. Sharman was born in Northamptonshire and educated at Northampton Grammar School. where my headmaster said I was the finest handwriter in the school.' and no doubs it was at Northampton he learned to ting. He left there about 1895 for Crawley, where he was one of James Parker's band.
Leaving Crawley in 1897 he went to Bexley to work on the building of a large mental hospital. and for nearly a year he was a frequent visitor to Crayford
For the next 20 years he lived in London until he left to take over (I believe) the family business at Cogenhoe, where he spent the semainder of his life.
With his departure from London his peal ringing activities appeared to cease. but I have no doubt whatever he continued as a Sunday service ringer as long as he was able
He was a personal friend of Mr. A. T King whe founded the Middlesex Association and he was probably this Association's oldest member.
Mr. Sharman was a safe ringer, a perfect striker. a good conductor, and a very useful man on a heavy bell. Among his many peals are a 'John' peal of London at St . Stephen's. Rochester Row, and a John peal of Stedman Cinques. at St. Giles', Cripplegate
In the early years of the present century he circled, the Waterloo Tower. Quex Park. Birchington. with twelve successive peals. These were week-end visits when one peal would be rung on Saturday evening, and two peals on Sunday.
Respecting the wishes of Mr. J. P. Powell (who built the tower and installed the bells) that the bells should never be rung during service times at Birchington Church, Sunday peals always finished betore 11 a.m. or 6.30 p.m.., but Mr. Sharman would insist that the first peal had to finish by 10.30 a.m. to enable him to attend service at Birchington Church. and most of the band would go with him. Like the late Mr. Challis Winney and John Flint, of Bolsover, Mr. Sharman and John Flint, of boisover, Mr, Sharman had attended the College Youths' dinner, and the veterans' gathering at Bishopsgate, his tast visit being in 1959.
In my long ringing life there are many ingers I count it a privilege to have known and of these none ranks higher than John $R$. Shatman.
E. B.

MR. C. H. EXON

With regret we record the passing of Mr . Charles Herbert Exon on November 11th at Dorchester. Oxon. Mr. Exon was the last surviving member of the band which rang the then record peal of 11.096 London Surprise Major. in- 1896.
After moving to Dorchester from Oxford in 1906 he found his business as a baker gave him little time for serious ringing. athough he had rung about 89 peals by the time he was 30 years of age.
A keen churchman. he was a member of the Parochial Church Council. people's warden for many years and a member of the Parish Counch for over 50 years. He was also a governor of the local school.
After the funeral service a muffled quarter peal of Plain Bob Doubles, with 1 and 2 leading. was rung on the Abbey bells. This was his granddaughier's first quarter. The ringers were: B. Butler 1. P. Selwood 2. Peggi Exon (first quarter) 3. Jean Mary Exon Ahsolom (conductor) 7, D. Exon 8.

MR, F. HLRRY

We regret to record the passing of Mr Fred Hurry, of Duxford. Cambs, on November $16: \mathrm{h}$. aged 76 years. He had been ill for some months, but his death occurred suddenly. It came as a particular shock to members of the Ely Association. who had visited him during their meeting at Duxford on the previous Saturday, as he seemed to be recovering and was his usual cheerful self.
Living in the neighbouring village of Sawstun all his life. Fred learned to ring in 1904. He had been a member of the Ely Association since before the First World War and was also a member of the Cambridge Youths. Never a great peal ringer (he had rung four or five at Sawston). he was well known at district meetings, both of the Ely and neighbouring Associations.
The funcral was held at the Cambridge Cremathorium on November 19th. where the Cambridge Youths were represenued by Mr. W. R. Quinney (Master) and Mr. T. Chinery.
In the evening 1.260 Plain Bob Minor was rung to his memory on the half-muffied bells of Duxford by the following: J. Halls (first quarice of Minor) 1. I. G Stracey 2, C. W. Cook (cond.) 3. E. G. Hibbens
C. W.C.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

A good cross-section of the ringing fraternity, ranging from budding conductors and patential tenor kings to 'giants' relaxing after 11 Spliced at Throwley. put the fine ring at Bethesden to good use on November 19th. for the Ashford District mecting. Ringing was mainly under the direction of Mr. L. T. Pope.
The service was conducted by the Vicar. the Rev. H. O. Albin. who gave a thoughtful address. Dr. D. P. Gray was at the organ. and Mr. C. T. Hillis read the lesson. An excellent tea was enjoyed at Low Wood Guest House.
At the business meeting four new members joined the Association. Miss K. Yeo reported on the work to be undertaken at Tenterden. It is hoped this famous tower will be in action again in eight or nine months. Mr. S. G. Waters undertook to arrange the next meeting, at Biddenden, on January 7th. Thanks were expressed to the Vicar and Dr Gray for their kindness. and to Messrs. Harry and Peter Jarvis for making all the arrangements.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD  A Compliment To A Clerical Secretary

The Truro Diocesan Guild has had four secreiaries during its 63 years of life. All have been clergymen: Canon A. J. Kempe. Canon H. H. Mills. Canon H. R. Jennings. and for only one year short of half its lifesince 1929 - the Rev. W. H. R. Trewhella.

Father Trewhella. as he is affectionately known to many. has truly welded the Guild in many ways because of his attendance at meetings and general care of many towers whenever this has been needed. At all three churches. where he has been Vicar, something has been done to the bells. At Zennor three old bells were augmented to six, at St. Crantock a dead live with a ringing tenar were completely restored. Previously at St. Paul's, Truro, a ringing bell of 12 cwt . was hung.
Cornwall is a county where much remains to be done in various spheres of ringing. On November 15th just one more thing was accomplished in that six priests rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles, at St. Crantock, with their Diocesan Guild secretary. and in his honour. The occasion meant travelling a good many miles for some. but it was a unique one, and the quarter went with such case that it was suggested at the end it should have been a peal. Five of the band were true Cornishmen. the sixit. the Rev. G. W. Ruming, curate of St. Mary's, Penzance, was born in Norfolk. All the five Cornish incumbents have bells in their care at Kenwyn (8), Carbis Baty (10). St. Breward (6). St Crantock (6) and the Rev. J. R. Jose two rings of six at Perranarworthal and Stithians.

Father Trewhella entertained the band to a bountiful tea. and there was much talk of bells. The majority of the band had rung at mosi towers in Cornwall. One ring of five. now lowered to the ground, had been visited by some many years ago. and the secretary has thice left. one of which he travelled many miles to ring at recently, having arranged with the incumbent to leave the key accessible. but he failed to do so! The ranks of ringing clergy still grows. and even Cornwall can put up a show with an effort. May this not be the first and last.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

On November 19th. members of the Luton District met at Westoning for their third ringing contest.

Competition was keen. with eight bands taking part. The standard of striking was very good. and youth was much to the fore These contests are held to promote better ringing for Sunday services. As 4 p.m. drew near. lots were drawn to decide the competing order of the bands, while the judges retired to the Vicar's study to listen to the competitors
After the contest 42 people adjourned to the Village Hall. where a sumptuous tea had been prepared by the Vicar's wife and ladies of the village. When tea was over excitement ran high as everyone wondered who could be the winner of the beautiful silver cup. which had been given to the Association for this contest by Mr. Peter Newing, a ringer and lay-reader. who has been living at Woburn and is now at Durham University

The judges were: Mr. F. Plummer of Hitchin. Mr. A. E. Rushton. president of the Bedfordshire Association, and Mr. R. Sharp. of Maulden. Their remarks and criticisms were both helpful and revealing. Although two teams chose to ring changes instead of rounds, they were judged on striking only Westoning was the winning band with 112 faults. and Woburn second with 134 faults. The Vicar of Westoning. Rev. S. Wright. had the very great pleasure of presenting the trophy to his own ringers. the majority of whom were youngsters, who had been ringing about a year. There was great applause as these youngsters went off with their prize. It was agreed that the contest should be an annual event. and be held each May.

After the presentation the ringers refurned to the belfry for more ringing, which ranged from rounds to Spliced Surprise.

RAISING THE STANDARD

Compositions Of Stedman Caters And Cinques

By 1). E. PARSONS

The great disadvantage of composing peals of Triples is that, no matter how one arranges the calls, all 5,040 possible changes have to be used. There can be no question of musical composition, but only of ease or difficulty of calling.

When dealing with Caters and Cinques, however, it is the composer's job to select the most musical changes out of those available. The ease of calling should only be a secondary consideration.

MUSICAL CONSIDERATIONS

The first point to establish is what, in the general opinion, comprises musical changes. Judging by the compositions rung now, and for many years past, there is no doubt that the Titlums course ends ......78E90 or
.978 and the handstroke course ends .8709 E or .....879, followed by a slow six. are the most popular. Apart from the undoubted music and rhythm around the course ends. the combinations of bells in the middle of the course are generally pleasant. although this is more a rule in Cinques than Caters.

There are several other course ends which should have some consideration, namely:Tittums and handstrokes followed by a quick six.

Real Tittums ' .....768E90. Caters, i.e., …... $87 \dot{E} 900$.

Inverted Tittums.
Whittingtons. Queens. etc.
Several peals are available using these positions but they do not seem to have found general favour
Once the positions of the back bells at the course ends have been decided, it remains to find the best arrangements of the front six. It is almost invariable to have the 5 th or 6th in 5ths place. The most musical position for the other bell (6th or 5 th as the case may be) is generally accepted to be in 6ths place. If this is not possible then the aim is to keep it in 4ths. except for the special case of the 6th in 2nds place in Caters which gives excellent music in the middle of the course although a rather poor course end Now, in most of the compositions rung today, this musical quality is partly sacrificed in order to have a bell. usually the treble fixed in seconds place. By doing this only six ....56 course ends are available for one arrangement of back bells, instead of the possible eight, and the extra padding courses to make up the number necessitate the use of the 6 th in 3 rds or even treble's place.

It is often claimed in defence of this practice, that there are musical advantages in having the treble fixed in 2nds place, in that in Caters in the middle of every course, 18 and 91 dodge together behind. In the eight . .56 blocks, the extra two .... 56 course ends. plus the associated music of the. sixes preceding and following these course ends. more than compensate for the part loss of these regular 18 s and 91 s . It is also just as pleasant. to my mind. to have the 2nd and 3 rd in 2nds place, as they are octaves above the 9 th and 10 th. One could argue that the 4 th in 2nds place theoretically mars the music as it is a 7 th interval above the 10th, but in practice. it only sounds bad if the 4th and 10th strike together.
There is no case at all in Cinques. as the 2nds place bell dodges only with 7,8 and 9 of the back bells.
FIXED 2nds PLACE BELL'S POPULARITY
The fact is that having a bell fixed in 2nds place makes life much easier for the composer and conductor. For the former, proof can be checked just by the natural course ends and anyway there are only about four different blocks of courses that can be used. Composition is therefore limited to the going off and turning courses. The conductor is also helped by the lack of variety in blocks, and usually only has to learn the going off and turning courses and the treble's place bells. The 2nds place bell, besides being an extra guide to the calling positions, is a useful bell to ring as it is always around at the usual call positions and mistakes can quickly be spotted. It is also helpful to have one less variable.

Now the idea of the eight .... 56 block is by no means new. When I showed my first Siedman composition to one famous ringer, I was informed that it was impossible to compose anything original in Stedman Caters and Cinques as John Carter had done it all. While that statement is rather open to doubt, Carter certainly produced this peal of Cinques, in which he used some of the variations of the back bells mentioned earlfer.

FAILURESBy ERNEST MORRIS

SOME years ago, when I had passed the 1,000 peal total, a Norwich friend said: 'You can tell us how many peals you have rung can you tell us how many failures?'. That was quite impossible, but it must be over 5,000 ! Like all peal ringers, I have had failures through ropes breaking, clappers falling out, clappers breaking, conductors putting in or leaving out calls, being stopped by outsiders. lights failing. meeting short, and many other unforeseen happenings. Three of the most disappointing of these happened far away from Leicestershire.

I had been invited to take part in two peals-one in Durham and one in Northumberland. After travelling all that way we met at Gateshead-on-Tyne, and the late Wm. H. Barber actually called an excellently-struck peal of Stedman Triples when, within a few changes of the endthe seventh was in 4-5 up - before going to rounds his rope broke! So I did not get a peal in Durham, but we did, however, score a very fine one at Newcastle Cathedral. Another disappointment far from home was at Ashton-under-Lyme, when Gabriel Lindoff came over from Ireland specially to call Kent T.B. Maximus. After two hours the tenor clapper broke!
At St. Margaret's, Leicester, a similar thing happened in an attempt for Grandsire Cinques with the late Joe E. Sykes. The tenor clapper ball broke off. Quite recently in London, after three hours of excellent ringing the conductor missed a bob! and so-to quote an old Leicester record - 'ye peal was lost.' Once at Gilmorton and again at Overseale, one of the clappers came out entirely!

At St. Mark's, Leicester, we had practically rung a peal of Stedman Triples, and in the last block out went the lights. We were naturally startled, but kept going as they came. on again: but not for long: they were switched off and on and it was hopeless. The sergeant-major (Fred H. Dexter) set his bell, rusbed across the belfry and down the spiral stairway at breakneck speed. Woe betide anyone he caught! But alas, when he got to the bottom of the stairs he could not get out as we had wedged the door. By the time the others got down and out he had calmed down somewhat, and found it was the curate who wanted us to stop because he had a service! Almost the same thing happened at Quorn. only instead of the lights a small bell in the belfry was jangled in the last course of Kent Maior.

In 1907 I went to Loughborough to listen to a peal of Kent Royal. but the band met short and roped me in! After three hours Wm. Willson, jun.., shouted to his uncle who was calling it: 'I can't go on.' He replied: 'Stick it--not far to go!'. However, young William set his bell and fell down in a dead faint, to the consternation of us all. He soon recovered, fortunately, and was able to proceed home.

The only peal my father-the late Josiah Morris, whom Harold Poole dubbed 'the Rhythm King'-ever gave up was at Swithland when he was on the tenor. At the end of the fifth 720 he set his bell, too exhausted to go on. A month or so later I tackled this bell myself, and we succeeded. They said later that I drank 13 cups of tea!

At King's Lynn, on one occasion in an attempt for Kent Royal with 'Uncle' Joe Sykes on the tenor, we lost it after 3 hours 10 minutes owing to the sun streaming down on Joe's head and back and the bell not going too well. George Cross-who was calling one of my compositions from treble-tried to swap bells with the tenor when in Slow for last course, but he being short and Joe being well over 6 feet tall could not reach the back-stroke. In the confusion so caused the peal was lost.

These are but a few of my experiences of lost pealsI could quote many more, some amusing, some annoying, but all disappointing.

Until recently there has been no resident band at Hounslow. In fact, when the tower captain. David Howell, undertook to start a new band the=bells had 10 be cleared of several feet of rubbish. Now after much hard work. a band of teenagers ring every Sunday evening and the two firsts in the quanter peal of November 20th are the first of the new band to reach proficiency. At the presen: time only the back six are ringable, A belfry fund has been started.

The middle six at St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, were rung by a band of staff and pupils of the Priory Schools for the annual founders ${ }^{*}$ Day service, on November 25 th.

The Chester Diocesan leaflet in its December issue offers the bells of St. Michacl's Church. Chester, for sale. This is a Rudhal!! six. cast at Gloucester. in 1726.

Visitors to Itchingfield's (Sussex) beautifully kept bedfry admire the map of Sussex, where all ringing towers are neatly indicated. Differers coloured pens are used to show the number of bells.

The bells of Hlaby. Leics. are being rehung. Three members of this tower-Brian C. Law. J. Hedley Wale and Brian R. Cullin-seared their first peal at Whetstone on November 23 r.

On Remembrance Sunday the 1st Rotherham Girl Guides rang Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor before the Communion service at St. Leonard's Parish Church. Thrybergh. The ringers were the Misses J. Green. C. Green (cond.). M. Donovan. M. Gaskell. P. Smith and J. Oakley. The striking throughout was very good.

On November 18th. 1950. a band rang a peal of Grandsire Triples, at Edenbridge, to mark the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. W. Leigh. On November 19th. 1960, the same band met again. they stood in the same order, and rang the same composition (Parker's Twelve Part), but unforiunately two bells crossed over in the 1 hh part. The band were afiterwards entertained by Mr. E. Leigh at The White Horse.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Regarding the peal rung at Saxlingham-Nethergate to mark the 50 th anniversary of the first peal by a local band, John Aldis and George Poyntz are still in the village. Although crippled and coming to church in an invalid carriage. George Poyntz still rings the tenor at Sunday morning service. He walks with the aid of two crutches and while ringing props himself up against the wall. He is still happy when doing this and calling a touch.
A concert organised by the ringers of Tenterden. on November 17 th . raised $£ 53$ for the restoration of their bells.
Silent since 1929. the bells of Askerswell. Dorset. are ringing again. A new treble gives this tower a ring of six.
Reading University Society, at its first dinner, had Sir John Wolfenden as one of the principal speakers. The gathering wis almost as representative as a U.A. dinner.
The boys of Abingdon School. Ringing Society rang for the funeral service of a former headmaster on November 2lst. This Society has now a dozen ringing members.
As published in our last issue. members of the Norwich Diocesan Association claim to have rung the fastest peal on church bellsDoubles in 1 hour and 47 minutes. at Sax. thorpe.
Viewers of B.B.C.'s 'Ask me another programme on December 1 st will have heard the bells of Lincoln Cathedral as background music. Franklin Engleman mentioned that it was the ringers' practice night.
Peal ringers get their dates booked up so far ahead that we hear that there is a demand that in future the bellringers diary should contain pages both for the current and the succeeding year.
In conjunotion with the Cheltenham Education Committee, the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association are holding a course on bellringing on Wednesday evenings at Monkscroft County Secondary School. Chelsenham. First lecture January 11th.

ALPHABET FOR BEGINNERS

By T. J. LOCK

"V"
VARIATION.-Explanation of this term can hardly be expressed in writing so as to adequately convey its meaning, but there are three uses of the word which can be given as examples.
Tireble Bob-Worcester variation and Killamarsh variation are slight differences from the original of Kent Treble Bob. There is a Burton variation of Superlative Surprise.
Extension of method-Brighton variation. Stepney variatwon and No. 3 variation are all ahernative extensions of London Surprise from Major to Royal.
Composition.-Johnson's variation of Middleton's composition of Cambridge Surprise Major involves a simple alteration from the original, but is preferred by some conductors. Other variatoons to original compositions occur in Grandsire Triples and in Stedman Triples.

VENTILATION.-Good ventilation could be described as sufficient changes of fresh air without draught. Bad or inadequate ventilation leads to unhealthy conditions and, of course, is not conducive to good sustained ringing. Whilst the adequate ventilation of a ringing chamber is not always an easy matter, it is sometimes quite evident that no one has given this matter sufficient consideration. We, as bellringers, cannot always expect to have ideal ventilation because in some cases to achieve this would be a costly business. So apart from having an opening light, which should be adjustable, in the window there can be no principle laid down for ventilation and each case must be treated on its merits. Generally speaking, a small ringing chamber requires more attention to this matter than large one.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

Fog was mainly responsible for a smaller than average attendance at the West Lindsey Branch meeting, held at Lea, on November 179th. The Guild service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. H. J. Knight) and teat was provided in Lea Institute by local ladies.
At the business meeting. when the vicepresident. (Mr C. H. Baker) took the chair, it was decided to combine the usual dinner and social evening with the annual meeting to be held at Gainsborough on January 21st. It was also agreed that particular methods should be announced for future meetings, at which they would then receive special attention.

SERVANTS OF THE EXERCISE - No. 50

MR. ROBERT S. ANDERSON,

North Staffs Association

Mr. R. S. Anderson. who came from Newcastle in the North to live in Newcastle in the Midlands, will nol object to being described as a 'Geordie.' for he possesses all the characteristics of that hardy race of fine reople. He is forthright, earnest, sincere and hard-headed
It is not surprising, therefore. that when the present 'Ringing World' Committee took over the management of the paper, they should invite him to join them, and his work on this committee has been outstanding. He has that fine quality of tenacity, and once having undertaken a task. he will see it through, come what may. The past ten years have provided this committee with one crisis after another, and throughout this trying period his cheerful confidence has inspired the other members to carry on with its heavy task, and he has earned the respect and gratitude of the Council and the Exercise generally.

Born at Gosforth, Nonthumberland, he was taught to ring at All Saints', where he was also a chorister. His father was a chorister at this church for 25 years. Bob Anderson soon came under the influence of that grand ringer, Bill Barber, and rang his first peal, Stedman Triples. at Gosforth in 1923, which Barber conducted. His peals total is a modest one and now stands at 90 , of which he has conducted 17. He is more concerned with regular service ringing and the instruction of youngsters. It was due to his enthusiasm that the North Staffs Association rang its first haydbell peal. Bob Major, in 1943, and the first Surprise peal (Cambridge), by a resident North tâft's band, in 1948.
When he was residing in the North, it was a vogue 10 ring stunt peals, and Bob took part in the only peal on handbells in a coal mine. This was Grandsire Caters, conducted by W. H. Barber, and rung in the low main seam at Cramlington No. 2 pit, in 1930. He occupied the important office of vice-president, Durham and Newcastle Association in 1933-34. and was secretary of the Newcastle Cathedraf band until he moved South in 1939. In 1946 he was elected chairman of the North Stafis Association and served in that office until 1958. He is Central Council representative for that Association and is a member of the Standing and 'Ringing World' Committees.

By profession. he is a director of a company of land and estate agents, at Hanley, and is an associate of the Chartered Institute of Secretaries, holding a seat on the Stoke-onTrent Council of that body. He is also assistant secretary of the local Trade Association.

As tower master and chorister of St. Giles Church, he takes an active part in parochjal activities. Like most Northerners he loves music and is a member of the Stoke-on-Trent Choral Society, also serving on its committee. Although a very busy man, Bob, is always ready to lend a hand where it is required, and we may count ourselves fortunate to have him amongst us.

JAFUS.

CREWKERNE DEANERY SHOW THEIR METTLE

Most outings. apart from the work of the organisers, are fairly carefree oecasions. There are. however. exceptions, and one such took place on November 26th-an outing from Shepion Beauchamp, composed mostly of members of the Crewkerne Deanery, with one or two friends.

Apart from one slight mishap, when the ringer of the third protested that the slider had gone, only to find that the bell had a really deep set, ringing went very well at Burlescombe, ranging from Grandsire through Stedman, up to Cambridge Minor.

We then proceeded to Tiverton for tea and ringing at the Parish Church (rounds, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent T.B. Major).

Then came the ten at Cullompton, where the ringing consisted of Grandsire Caters and Plain Bob Royal. This ringing which was. on the the whale. very good, brought great joy to the hearts of the members of the Crewkerne Deanery, and completely refuted the statement. recently made by one of the 'top brasses,' in the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association. that 'Ringing is dead in the Crewkerne Deanery. The Deanery members and friends hope that such statements will not be made again, and would suggest that some of the big noises in the Association come down and see what our capabilities are.

Thanks are due to Mr. R. Dean for arranging the towers and the tea, also to the incumbents and. last but not least. to Mr . J. T. Locke, for being such a good Ringing Master.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Chertsey District

The nomination meeting of the Chertsey District was held at Chobham on November 26th and was well attended considering the weather conditions. The Rev. O. R. Acworth conducted the service which was followed by an excellent tea. provided by the local band.

The nominations received for district officers were as follows: Ringing Master, Mr. R. Collins; Assistant Ringing Master, Mr. J. King ; secretary, Miss E. Loveland; executive committee, Mr. T. Luxford; auditor, Mr. W. Shepherd

The subject of the Alfred Pulling Memorial Bell was discussed, and the Guild Master, Mr. C. W. Denyer. appealed to all towers who had not contributed to do so as soon as possible. It was agreed to apply to the executive committee for permission to purchase a duplicalor, as the Ringing Master felt it would help to bring the towers closer together if reports were circulated round the district after each meeting.

Those present were reminded of the district dinner to be held at the Ship Hotel. Weybridge. on December 10th. Mr. Hawthorne closed the meeting by proposing the vole of thanks, and also welcoming all the new members, in particular those from East Molesey, and the Rev. G. S. Archibald (Chertsey).
Ringing continued until 8.15 p.m., the methods being mainly Grandsire and Plain Bob.

PROGRESS IN A CORNISH TOWER

Kea, Truro

By a pretty oreek, off the Truro River, there stands a fifteenth century tower of three stages. with thin diaconal buttresses. The missing pinnacle was struck by lightning fifty years ago and fell to the ground. The tower is ath that remains of the ancient church of the parish of Kea.
Saint Kca was a disciple of Saint Patrick and was consecrated bishop by him. He travelled through Wales, Somerset (where he founded the Church of Lan-to-kai). and Devon (where he established the Church of Landkey, just east of Barnstaple), to where now stands Old Kea. He built a monastery here before travelling on to Brittany, where he founded more churches.

The monastery of St. Cleus and the manor (Landege) are mentioned in Domesday Book (1085). ii 1270 Kea was esteemed the mother chunch of Kenwyn and Tregavethan.
The church being in an extreme corner of the parisin. John Tregian. Lord of the Manor of Landege. petitioned Henry VIII for permission to build a church in a more central position in the parish The king gave his consent but. perhaps because of the religious troubles that followed. the proposal was not carried out until 1802 when, except for the lower. the dilapidated church was pulled down and a new one was built on Killow estate. The barn-like building erected in 1802 was pulled down in 1894 to make way for the beautiful church of All Hallows that now stands. Built to the designs of George Fellowes Prynne, of London. it was consecrated on June 4th. 1896, by the Bishop of Truro, Dr. John Gott.

Three bells were removed from Old Kea ower in 1803. One is pre-Reformation, bearing the Royal Arms of the fifteenth century, The other two ware dated 1603 and 1667 respectively and were later cracked: the story goes that some joyous miners struck them with their picks
On Friday, July 22nd, 1904, the new ring of eight bells, tenor 12 cwt .1 qr. 4 lbs.. was dedicated. The fifteenth century bell was hung as the seventh and the seventeenth century bells were recast by Taylor and hung as fifth and sixth.

In 1953 Messrs. C. W. Jose and A. Locke began to teaoh six boys to ring. Later, another boy and three girls were taught. These young people have kept St. Kea bells ringing thice every Sunday and at the weekly practice. Progress has been slow. This is partly because of the great difficulty in teaching so many at the same time and. of course. there is always homework. But the band has been taught to ring Grandsire Doubles quite well and with the kind help of outside ringers. especially Mr. D. Burnett. Ringing Master of the Truro Guild, a number of quarter peals have been rung.
We are now attempting Grandsire Triples and Bob Minor. We would like to thank hose who have assisted us in our progress and we ahways welcome visitors on Sundays and to our practices on Wednesday evenings. H. J. P.

Looking ahead. a week-end course will be held at Missenden Abbey College of Adult Education in June. Sponsors are the College of Campanology.

RETIREMENT AT EDINBURGH

After seven years as a ringer at St. Mary"s Cathedral. Edinburgh. Mr. A. W. Lloyd is moving away from the distriot on his retire. ment as Past Master for Edinburgh.

During these years he has given loyal and enthusiastic service to the Cathedral band and also to the Scottish Association. His teaching and encouragement of beginners has been greatly appreciated and his going has left a gap in the band which will be very difficult to fill

A fareweh dinner. followed by an evening's entertainment at a theatre. was held on November 19th. Later a book was presented by the conductor. Mr. C. R. Raine. on behalf of the ringers.
Mr. Lloyd presented the belfry with a se: of tubular bells.

GUILD OF MEDICAL RINGERS

The autumn meeting of the Guild of Medical Ringers was held in London on November 26th. Ringing in the afternoon look place in the eight-bell tower of Holy Trinity, West Hill. Wandsworth, and later in the ten-bell tower of St. Mary Abbots Kensington. A high standard of ringing was kept up throughout, and it was noteworthy for two things: firstly, every touch ana course came round successfully, and secondly, no Grandsire wis rung. The latter may have been due to the tact that the ringing was in charge of the Master, D. J. Neal Smith who is known to have some controversial views about the method!
At Wandsworth, Plain Bob Triples and Major, Stedman Triples. Littse Bob Major and Cambridge Major were rung. and at Kensington. Plain Bob Caters and Royal Stedman Caters. Little Bob Royal and Ken Treble Bob Royal were all successfully brought round. The Guild was fortunate in having several visiting ringers at both towers, and it was a pleasure to have the president W. R. Winterton, ringing with us.

Dinner in the evening was held at the Redeliffe Hotel. Chelsest. the company numbering 22. The president in a short speech said that he thought the meeting had been one of the most successfut the Guild had yet had. and particularly the ringing earlier in the day. He expressed his thanks to those who had arranged the meeting and the towers. mentioning the part the honorary secretary, D. L. Gullick. had played, who to everyone's regret was unable to be present that evening. He also welcomed the guests. especially Jack Phillips. who he felt was such a firm supporter of the Guild that he should be an honorary member!

The evening concluded with the usual handberl ringing: this even managed to rise to the unprecedented height of Grandsire Caters. and an erudite display of tune ringing. four-in-hand, by Phil Chalk and one of the guests.

YATTON RINGERS IN THAMES VALLEY

November 12 th was the date fixed for the annual outing of the Yatton ringers and a good date it proved to be. for the weather was grand. This popular event has grown from strength to strength and this year a company of over 50 ringers and friends from various towers in this district sot of by train at $7 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. for the Thames Valley are: (British Railways having reserved coaches)

We arrived at Didcol at $9.5 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and then transferred to two motor coaches for the tour. The first tewer was Abingdon (10). where we found the Vicar's two daughters lubricating the bells and one of them joined us in a touch of Grandsire Triples. Our stay here for an hour was very enjoyable. We then moved on 10 Dorchester (8). where the Abbey proved most interesting to all: a pleasant hour wa: spent in the tower.

It was a short journey to Wallingford. another pleasant eight. The 11 miles to Hendey-on-Thames (8) was through wooded country and much enjoyed. After ringing we adjourned to the Catherine Wheel Hotel for an excellent meal

The last tower. Reading (St. Laurence (12)) was the highlight of the day. It was a great experience for many to ring even rounds on 12 bells. The party was very pleased 10 ring. successfully. a course of Grandsire Cinques twice, as only a few had attempted this before Methods rung at all the towers were mainly Grandsire. Stedman and Plain Bob

The coaches were dismissed at Reading and we set of for home by train at $8 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.. having had a most successful day. Very many thanks to Mr. Bert Price for his excellent organisation and to the incumbents and ringers who met us.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

OUR VOCATION?

Dear Sir.-There were two sentences in Mr Birminghams letter ( Ringing World: November 25 (h) which made me think a good deal The sentences were as follows:
We cannot be reminded too often of our vocation as church bell ringers in contrast 10 our hobby of church bell ringers.
. such an oblation (i.e.. a belfry prayer) would undoubtedly made us more conscious of our real vocation and invoke a proper response in our ringing and belfry conduct, and assist our progress towards being church bell ringers.

The suggestion of both these sentences is that there is a vocation to be a church bell ringer. I'm not quite sure that this is true. nor do I think that we can make a distinction be.ween our ringing as 'vocation' and our ringing as hobby.

Surely all of us have a vocation to follow Jesus Christ: we are called to be disciples of Our Lord, and then in the light of our response to that calling and with due regard 10 our gifts and abilisies, we find some particular piece of church work to do. It is after we have respanded to our calling that we think out what our faith is going 10 mean in terms of service to God and our neighhours. It would seem to me that we shall serve Grod better if we choose 10 do something we enjoy doing: if our abilities suit us for bellringing, then let us he good very mazy the enjoyment of ringing bells for the services on Sunday and the pleasures of good Saturday peals.
What I wish we could avoid is the assumption that there is a contrast between what Mr. Birmingham calls our vocation as church bell ringers. and our hobby of church bell ringers. Surely the contrast is hetween those who respond to their calling to be disciples and those who don't. If we helieve and acknowledge that God is the giver of all. then everything that those who respond to their calling do with their lives ought to be an offering 10 God. What makes ringing an offering to God is not when and where we do it. but that we want to offer our lives-and therefore our ringing -to God. The fact that we ring for halt an hour before the Parish Communion or Evensong does not necessarily invest our ringing with any quality of adoration. Bob Major rung on Sunday for a service is not necessarily a better offering 10 God than a good peal of Stedman on Saturday. What gives value and meaning to our ringing is that we want to reflect in our daily living our obedience and devotion 10 God so that whenever we ring we shall give our best as an offering to Him and thonoughly enjor it.-Yours faithtully. MICHAEL FREEMAN (Rev.)

GRAMOPHONE RECORDS AT CROMFORD PARISH CHCRCH

Dear Sir.-The article on gramophone records of beils allowed at Cromford Parish Church. Derbyshire (page 772). needs a slight correction in regard to the mention of the six bells in the church as unsafe to ring This of course. is wrong, as Cromford Parish Church contains six tubular bells and. as the Rev. Mr. Read. parish priest. mentioned, these are horrible things. Compared with them the reproduction of gramophone records of hells would be an asset.
The question of six bells in this church may be confused by the fact that the Vicar of Cromford is also Vicar of Bonsall. an adjaining parish. which has six bells which are unsafe. at present. for ringing.-Yours sincerely. sincerely.

THE RINGING WORLD

Dear Sir.-Recently when trying 10 recruit a new subscriber 10 . The Ringing World. I received the following riply: I am not going to spend 8 d . per week on a paper which appears to have the free advertisement of the professional peal ringers as its main object. One wonders how many other possible new readers are lost for the same reason. for to the ordinary ringer the weekly reiteration of the same names tends to become somewhat boring.
With all due respect 10 Mr . Woolley most quarter peals are usually of interest for tne greater proportion of them are rung for a specific reason. which does not appear 10 be the case with the peals. Similarly it seems that most peals are rung solely for pleasure so why should they he published Iree? Everyone expects to pay for their pleasure whatever form it happens to take and the ringer who could not pay, say 6 d ., for the publication of his peal successes would indeed be in very hazardous financial straits.
By all means make a publication charge for peals and quarters at. say. 6d. and 3d. per ringer. reopectively. Had this charge been now in force the peals published on November 25th would have produced $t 814 \mathrm{~s}$. - and the quarters $£ 84 \mathrm{~s}$. 6 d . A weekly income of somewhere about \&is-ill would presumably put 'The Ringing World on its feet. or would the ringers be 100 mean to send in their reports?

Let us have more reports of outings. which are usually intereating. frequently humorous and very often helpful to other organisers in planning their future trips. especially if the district contemplated is foreign

More reports of meetings would also be welcomed. especially those which name the home tower of visitors. It is rather fun trying to guess which ringer (or ringers) made the journey from : Much Binding to a meeting at Ambridge
Condense the peal reports. make a publication levy and pus more of general interest into the paper. Then let every reader strive $t 0$ get at least one more subscriber. but do not increase the price of the paper itself: raising fares does not appear to make public transport more popular!-Yours sincerely.
E. T. PAUL FIELD.

PEALS ARE NEWS

Dear Sir.-I cannot agree with the view expressed by Mr. J. T. Barrett in your issue of October 21 st, that it is incumbent on those sending in peats to comribuic to 'The Ringing World.
I 3 m not unaware of the financial difficulties which your excellent magazine is experiencing. But, nevertheless. peal reports are esisentially items of new's. and as such contribute in themselves ito its succesi-Yours faithfully.

A WEAK NOTE.

Dear Sir.-So 'A Fhat likens the expenses of prolfic peal ringing 10 keeping a second wife. Anyone who can be so foolhardy as to indulge in :uch a douhiful luxury ourht not 10 quibble athout paying for his double trouble.

It reminds me of the little boy who shuffled through all the puddles he could find and then complained of wet feet.
A very weak note. 'A Flat.' and terribly out of tune.-Yours faithfully.

RINGING COMPETITIONS

Dear Sir.-1 am pleased that Mr. Donald Price is in favour of promoting competitive ringing in his county for 1 am convinced it will lead to better striking. without the risk of creating bad feeling or bitterness: in over 30 yazars of contest ringing 1 have yet to encounter anything but good fellowship between the reams competing. The lessons: learnt when taking part in a contest or even listening soon have their effect on Sunday service ringing and non-ringers quickly notice the improvement. often remarking that the bells don't sound so bad after all "!

I do not agree with the condition of entry suggested by Mr. Price. in that the band should consist of ringers local to one tower. I think that the Barnsley and District rule of a minimum of four, which safeguards against sickness. eic.. would be better. Regarding prizes. these could take the form of ringing publications or tokens. so recipients could select their own book: a R.W: subscription would be welcome in some cases. I cannot resist poking my nose into the aflairs of the Blandford Festival and at the risk of being told to mind my own business. I feel that where a bequest has been made for an annual ringing competition every effort should be made for one to be promoted. The money could be used for advertising. teas and providing such awards as I have previously mentioned. I certainly like the spirit of a festival but I cannot see how good striking can be promoted at such a function unless a picked band is periodically recruited to demonstrate their skill and this would certainly not be in keeping with the ree and easy spirit of the festival.
Canon Cox. in his text. gave a a hint of what was needed when he quoted. "Seek that ye may excel." and probably would not be against a competition if correctly organised. Yours faithfully.

CHURCH BELLS OF KENT

Dear Sir.-I am in the process of collecting material concerning Church Bells of Kent ${ }^{\text {B }}$ with a view to rewriting the book of the same name. by J. C. L. Stahlschmidt (1887). which is very inaccurate in part. and now which is very in sadly out of date.
With the aid of some help in my spare time a systematic personal visit is being made to all Ken. beffries for the collection of material of companological interest-this was not carried out in many cases in the original hook. with the result that some inscriptions and dimensions were inevitably very erroneous. IIn one instance the inscriptions and dimensions of two bells in the same tower were all muddled up.)
I am very interested in old bell-frames and fittings, and am hoping to include details of these at appropriale towers.
Any information. however small. Dertain. ing to Kent bells (past as well as presemt), their fittings, and the frames and steeples in which they hang, will be very gratefully received by me at the address below, and will be personally acknowledged-Yours faithfullv.

LETTERS-Continued

SILENT BELLS RING OUT FOR ADVENT
Dear Sir, In the 'R.W.' of November 25th we read of two rings of bells which have been rescued from silence. To these we should now add another, as on Advent Sunday the first Sunday service ringing for over 25 years was heard from the tower of St. Johir the Baptist. Roughtown. Mossley, Lancs.

In August a working party. under the direction of the new Vicir. decided to clean the belfry. With the help of Geoff. Armitage (who came specially for the joh). a whole week was spent in removing the usual rubbish and painting the framework and replacing some worn out fittings.

Upon examination. the bells and frame and the tower were found in good condition. As some 6600 has been speni on the tower in the last rew years. this has finally nailed the lie of "unsafe tower" and a start was made to train a band of ringers.

After nearly three months of practice with tied clappers the bells have now been rung open for the first time. Perhaps this Adventtide which has seen ihree rings restored to their proper duty will inspire us to reclaim all the other rings which now are unringable.

Ringing at St. John's is at the moment behind restricted to service ringing and practice nights (Friday). Perhaps the time will soon come when we shall be able to welcome everyone to our belfry.-Yours sincerely.

THE LATE MR. J. L. S. GLANVILL-
Dear Sir.-In the excellent tribute to the late Mr. J. L. S. Glanvill. of Woodbury. there appears to be a small error. Mr. Glanvill did not take part in the first resident peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major for the Devon Guild as was suggested by your correspandent. This particular peal was rung at Highweek Parish Church. Newton Abbot. in March. 1937. conducted by the late Mr. C. R. Lilley. Of that band who rang it there are only two survivors. these being Mr. Tom Myers. of Plymouth and-Yours faithfully.

THE FECKENHAM PRACTICES

Deai $\operatorname{Sir}$-I was interested to read in "The Ringing World 'about Feckenham. and the revival there of regular practices after a long silence. However. 1 must point out that my own contribution to the progress that is now very real is but small. Friday not always being an easy night for me to attend. Since 1 agreed to take on the tisk of instructing the numerous learners. when Paul Cattermole left the district in Octoher (when I assume his letter was written). the helpers came mainly from Wychbold and Hanbury-but in the last six weeks the Friday practice has become very well supported by ringers from several local towers. such as Alvechurch. Beoley and Redditch. Mention must also be made of the immense practical help up top" by a ringer journeying each week from Selly Oak, who 1 know would prefer to be nameless.
It is hoped that the Feckenham ringers will be capable of ranging their own bells in rounds by Caristmas inere is certamly no lack of crithus.asm. although the 6th has recently become very badiy damaged and is now unringable, luckily not affecung the remaining seven.
It is heart-warming to see a tower rebo:n, and to know that when one does atempt 10 insiruct begmners, many practical ringers appear, as if rom nowhere, to give userul and much needed support.-Yours sincerely.

CHAMPIONING FOUR BELL PEALS

Dear Sir.-I feel that I must write in favour of four betl peals. A peal on four bells is an achievement. both from the point of view of physical eftort and of concentration. Compare the number of times a dodge is made in plain Bob Maximus with Plain Bob Minimus!
On the physical side take, for instance, a 16 cwt . four and 16 cwt eight: when the tenor leads a ringer must lift his bell at least twice as high when coming from the lead on four :o what the has on eight. If a four bell tower has a band of ringers why should it not ring a peal? It is allowed on six and five bells where repetition of changes are unavoidable. so why not on four? Of handbell peals. weH, if the band are capable of better things, ringing four bells is a farce.

I am afraid that the ringers on the higher numbers of bells have, for a long time, looked down upon us. the lesser brethren. We ring in our simple way for Sunday service the same as they; we give of our best. be it but Grandsire Doubles or Bob Minimus. We admire those that are capable of the complex ringing on the higher numbers: long may they continue to do so. But. please. let us, the lesser brethren, have a chance 10 ring 5.040 blows and to let it be recorded.-I remain. one of the lesser ringers.

JOHN E. COOK

REV. C. E. WARD

Dear Sir.-May I acknowledge with grateful appreciation the notice of my father s death appearing in your issue of Octoher 21st last?

The peal of Bob Majar rung on August 22nd, in honour of his 90ih birthday, by the Sussex County Association under Mr. Colin Tester, of Bremchley. was greatly enjoyed by my father and the tribute was much valued by us all at the Old Vicarage, Salehurst.
As your nolice remarks, Mr. Ward was a keen supporter and enthusiastic amateur in all bellringing matters and during his long incumbency enjoyed the support of a long succession of Salehurst teams ringing these lovely bells.
Our thanks are also due to the captain and ringers of Salehurst Church ream for their trouble in arranging the birthday peal and to Mr. Tester and his team for carrying it through. Likewise to the Salehurst feam who rang the half-muffled bells after his funeral on St. Michael's Day.-Yours very truly.

THREE ASSOCIATIONS AT RICHMOND (YORKS)

Three Associations-the Yorkshire (Northern District), the Durham and Newcastle (Southern District) and the Cleveland and North York-shire-met at Richmond Parish Church on November 26th. It proved an extremely enjoyable meeting, with methods ranging from Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Fian Bob Major and Minor. Yorkshure and Cambridge Surprise and finished up with a touch of Spliced Cambridge and Superlative-though St. Clement's lriples proved a stumbling block.
The Rector (Rev. P. de la Poer Beresford Pierse) conducted a service, with Mr. J. A Brown (vice-president of the Yorkshire Assjovation) as organist. In welcoming the ringers. the Rector spoke of the increasing noise in the world, of ten calling people to woildly things, and stressed the duty of the ringers, and their privilege, to cull people to the praise and worship of God

Miss Killingley and her helpers provided a first rate tea, for which they were warmly thanked by Mr. T. Cox, who also thanked the Rector and the churchwardens for the use of the betts, and Mr. Brown for playing the organ.
At the business meeting of the Yorkshire Association, it was agreed to join forces with the Durham and Newcastle Association's Southern Distriot for a meeting at Stockton on January 28th, and the method for practice is Cambridge Surprise Royal. It was agreed to hold a meeting on Easter Monday at Bedale. Yorkshire. Miss Susan Bridge, of Richmond, was elected a member

The secretary (Mr. E. Hudson) referred to the course to be held at Grantley Hall, near Ripon, in March, and Mr. T. Cooke, president of the Durham and Newcastle Association, said it was hoped to hold a similar course at Lumley Castle. Co. Durham.

BELLS OF RICHMOND (YORKS)

The ring at Richmond. Yorks, was augmented from six to eight in 1904. the treble being given by public subscription and the second by the first Marquess of Zetland. The third was the gifi of Sir Conyers D'Arcy. M.P. for Richmond, in 1739 . The fourth and fifth were cast by Samuel Smith. of York, in 1697, and the sixth came from the nearby Easby Abbey. when the Abbey was dissolved. The seventh is dated 1697 . and the tenor was cast by Warners' in 1863.

OBITUARY

MR. E. G. FOSTER
Once again death has depleted the ranks of the senior members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. On November 15th the news was received of the death of Mr. E. G. Foster, at the age of 83. A vice-president of the Guild. he was almost the last of the older generation of Reading ringers, all of whom were well worth knowing. for each had a mind of his own, was fearless in standing out for what he considered to be right and had a very strong sense of duty.
Mr. Foster was born at Riseley. Berks. where his father was the police sergeant. As young man he joined the statf of the Reading Corporation Water Department. with whom he remained for 45 years, until his retirement just before the last war. At first he was a chorister at St Luke's Church but affer the First World War he learned to ring at THehurst Parish Church. He remained a member of that band until he joined the hand at St. Laurence's. Reading. in 1927. when the band was being rebuilt under the lcadership of J. R. Mackman and later of R. T. Hibbert. He remained a faithful member of that tower until blindness caused him to leave Reading two years ago.

In 1932 he became the secretary of the Reading Branch and continued in that office until 1446. During that time he had to face the difficulties of the war years. but due to his quiet steadfastness the branch emerged from those years in a sound position and became once again a centre of active progress. Previous to becoming the branch secretary he had been a branch auditor.

During his years at St. Laurence's. Mr. Foster was a prominent member of the Parochial Church Council and was involved in the administration of a charity which is in the care of that church and of the Reading Town Council. He was elected a Reading Town Council. He was vice-president of the Guild in 1958.

For many years a member of the Guild committee his opinions were listened to with respect. He did not ring many peals by modern slandards. but he was one of whom it will be said, He never missed Sunday service ringing. with all that that entails.

MR. SAMUEL BIRKS

The sudden death of Mr. Samuel Birks, of Buckley. during the night of November 21 st, came as a great shock to all of his many friends in Buckley and North Wales. He attended church on Sunday morning. as was his regular custom. and the writer had been discussing. with him. happily, future events

He was 72 and had been a ringer at St . Matthew's Church since 1904 and. although he had been disabled by the loss of the lower half of one leg for over 25 years. he never complained and was regular in his attendance at service ringing until about four years ago when $a$ fall on an icy road damaged his stump and he was not able to usc his artificial leg again. Nevertheless, his interest never wavered and he was always ready with good advice: his example and the habit of years found him at church at 10 a.m.ringing time-an inspiration to all.

He held many offices in the church and was a member of the Parochial Church Council for more years than I can remember.

His body was brought into church on Thursday nigh: (November 25th) and the bells: were rung half-muffled: also after the funeral service the following day.
On November 26th. members of the North Wales Association and the Chester Diocesan Guild met at St. Matthew's and rang a halfmuffled peal of Pershore Bob Major in memoriam. To his widow and son and daughters our deepest sympathy is extended.

A brother of Mr. Birks. Mr. Fred Birks won the V.C. in World War I and lost his life in the action. R.I.P. D.H.B.M.

MR. JAMES WOODYATT

The death occurred on November 17th of Mr. James Woodyatt. of the St. John's band. Worcester

Jim Woadyatt was born at Suckley. Worcs 78 years ago. and learned to ring there. On coming 10 live in Worcester he joined the band at St. John's, and remained a faithful member for over 50 years. and tower secrekary for 14 years. For a long period prior to his death he rang regularly at Claines Church on Sunday mornings: He was a member of the Worcesiershire Association for nearly 60 years. and had taken part in 39 peal:.
During his long association with St. John's he always carried out his duties in a quiel and efficient manner. and could always be relied upon. Until his health failed. about six years ago. he was seldom absent on Sunday evenings.
Sincere sympathy is extended to his family Many of us in and around Worcester will retain happy memonies of a loyal friend who will be sadty missed.
The funeral service look place at St. Barnabas Church. Worcester. on November 22nd and was conducted by the Rev. R. F. Griffiths. Apurt from the family mourners the congregation included the Rev. M. H Richards (Vicar of St. John's) and the following ringers: Messis. W. Lewis (Ringing Master). T. W. Lewis. J. Jeffries. A. T. Hollis (St. John's). E. Wilson and A. Morgan (Claines). J. Ranford (Suckley). and F. Hyde rrepresenting the Western Branch of the Worcestershire Association). After the interment. at Astwood Cemetcry. handbells were rung at the graveside
In the evening half-muffled touches of Grandsire Doubles (with 7.6.8 covering) were rung on St. John's bells in his memory. F. H.

Beaminster Bells

Dear Sir.-I am afraid I have misled soms neople regarding the cost of rehanging Beaminster bells. The estimated cosit of rehanging. etc.. by Messrs. Taylors. of Loughborough. is $£ 2.000$. The remainder of the sum includes mechanisation of the clock and chimes and repairs to tower.-Yours sincerely.

RINGING WEEK-END AT MELBOURNE

On November 19th three Adelaide and one Bendigo ringer spent the week-end with the St. Paul's, Melbourne. Society. The express purpose of meeting was to attempt a peal of Plain Bob Royal at the Cathedral. which failed after two hours ringing. Those taking part were: K. T. Minchinton 1, G. Heyes 2 W. B. Pitcher 3. D. M. Pipe 4. A. Fisher 5 B. Cox 6. W. Wilson 7. E. Lloyd-Roberts 8, J. J. Roper 9. G. W. Pipe 10. The attempt was. in actual fact. the first course of Bob Royal for the ringers of 3,6 and 7, and these three deserve highest praise for a very goad performance

To make up for the disappointment a first chiss quarter of Siedman Triples was recorded and this was undoubledly some of the best ringing we have heard for some time.
In between some jolly good meals and hard talking a more convivial evening was spent at Ken Minchinton's home. Sunday saw us trying our hand at Cambridge. Double Norwich. Grandsire Caters. Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and altogether some pleasing touches were brought round.
Congratulations once again to the Adelaide band for the ir most anviable progress over the past year and we can confidently say another very happy week-end logether again

TONBRIDGE AND MAIDSTONE YOUNG RINGERS

Ten voung. en:husiastic members of the Tonbridge, and Maidstone districts of the Kent County Association held a ringing tour on November 19th. The tour wats planned for :owers in North Kent. including the Isle of Sheppey

An early start was made from Tunbridgc Wells by dormobile. and after picking up remaining friends in Maidstone we made our way to Stockbury (5). Harilip (6). Newington (6) and Tunstall (8), where we were met by Mr. Spice and welcomed most cordially. With his help we rang a course of Cambridge Surprise Major, and left 10 ring at Eastchurch (6).
Lunch and refreshment was then enjoyed at the nearest hostelry before travelling 10 Minster (6). Unforiunately we were not me: at Quaenborough (6). so travelled with speed to Milton Regis (6). Where we stood in wonder at the size of the ringing chamber. but found the six bells very pleasiant to ring. At Rainham (8) we were again made very wekome and also at Frindsbury (8). Here. with the help of Mr. C. Jarrett (and a litte advice), a decent course of Cambridge was again brought round with little difficulty
The last tower was Hoo (6). where we thoroughly enjoyed the bells. All agreed that it was a very worthwhile day of ringing and our thanks go to Brian Jeffrey for arranging the towers and to Colin Tester for driving.

A NEW STAFFORDSHIRE SIX

IMMEDIATELY outside the borough. notwithstanding repeated efforts by the Burton Corporation to absorb it, lies the village of Stretton-cum-Wetmoor, and the traveller entering or leaving the brewing town by the Derby end can scarcely fail to notice the striking sandstone church surmounted by its massive red roofed tower.

Almost as well known as the name Bass. the name of Gretton has dong been associated with Burton-in church life, industry and in Parliament. and like many of the churches inside the borough the Church of St. Mary Stretton, was built by a brewer, Mr. John Gretton, sixty-three years ago.

When the church was built three bells weighing 13.17 and $25 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. Were installed by Mears and from the arrangement of the oak framework it is obvious that they were intended to form the back three of a ring of cighl.

A year or two ago it was deemed unsafe to ring the bells and, a scheme was mooted to recast them into a lighter ring of six, which has now been accomplished.

The church, beautifully decorated for the harvest festival was filled to capacity on October 14th. when the Bishop of Lichfield Dr. A. S. Reeve, dedicated not only the bells but the church's first processional cross and a new parish hall, the latter a do it yourself, eftort by a handful of parishioners in five years.

Referring to the new hall, in an address during the service, Dr. Reeve expressed appreciation of all the effort which had gone into its construction.
The cross, he said, would add dignity to the worship in the church.

Of the bells. he said: This is a tume when the art of change-ringing is very much on the increase again. We are finding more people. both men and women, coming forward to mount the steps to the towers of our churches and ring the beHs. The art of change-ringing is one of the most beautiful things when it is well execured and. I think the most glorious of sounds.

Among those attending the service and dedication ceremony were the Rural Dean of Tutbury (Archdeacon E. Aldington Hunt. Vicar of Burton), the former vicar of Stretton (the Rev. F. S. L. Ramsden), and Lord Gretton, O.BE... who read the lesson.
After the dedication of the ball a course of Cambridge Minor was rung by S. H. Jones 1, 3. P. Fidler 2, P. L. Taylor 3, H. Marcon 4. J. W. Cotton 5. R. H. Dove 6. Later, visiors from Repton. Church Gresley and the Burton churches kept the bells going to a variety of methods.
The Vicar of Stretion. the Rev. D. B Laughton. is himself a ringer and the church is fortunate in having an enthusiastic ringer in the choir. Mr. Fred Pearce, who successfully inaugurated the restoration and augmentation of the bells at nearby Tutbury. 27 years ago.
Perhaps one's only regret is that a tower measuring some twenty &wo feet square might not have a heavier ring but the bells are a pleasant Taylor six. with a tenor of about 10 cwl .. and it is expected that the pits already provided for the two trebles will not remain racant for long.

RAISING THE STANDARD

Compositions Of Stedman Caters And Cinques
By D. E. PARSONS
If the back bells are kept in the Titums and handstroke positions only, the next requirement is for blocks of calls which include the eight ....56s. but are "padded." The following are examples of this:-

These peals are not often rung. probably because of the unusual calling positions and transpositions and. dare I suggest. because they look just like any other of Mr. Roberts peals when published. Who knows. if one of them became nicknamed 'Roberts' Musical: we might have another élite band of ringers who had called it from every working bell. or rung it in 99 different towers. To be serious. though. the padding course ends in these reals do not have the 6th in 4 ihs place at all. but let it fill trebles and 3 rds place. To my mind this is too high a price to pay for the admitted saving in singles.

In order to encourage people to ring the eight ....665 block type of composition, a compromise has heen made in this next peal. whereby only the handstroke block is on this principle.

THE LADIES GUILD

Midland District

Despite dense fog. ringers assembled at Measham on November 19th from Droitwich Castle Bromwich. Nottingham. Crewe. Błoxwich and Leicester. for a Midkand District meeting. A warm welcome was extended by the Vicar, who conducted shortened Evensong. The Vicar's wife and helpers arranged an excellent home-made tea, which was speedily dealt with by young South Wigston and Blaby supporters, who had organised a minibus.

After tea the vice-president. Miss Thompson thanked the Vicar for his arrangements, Mr Warwick for playing the organ and also for atranging the coach which enabled 26 ringers to sit down to tea. The gentlemen than adjourned to the tower for further ringing whilst the ladies held their meeting. Mention was made and support hoped for. for the meeting to be held in London on January 21 st for the unveiling of a new peal board to commemorate the 35 th anniversary of whe ringing of a peat by all ladies. of Stedman Caters. The annual general meeting will be held at St. Peter's. Derby, with St. Alkmund's open in the evening on February 18 th . The April meeting will be on the 22nd. at Attenhorough. Notts. but this is subject to con firmation.

A BALDOCK OUTING

A balf-day outing in November?"

But it' $\mu$ be dark four oclock, and think of the fog!

Despite these depressing comments when the outing had to be postponed from Septentber. the expedition was a success, with only one tragedy. the difference in Essex licensing hours. to mar the day for some

Alchough grey and rainy when we left home. the weather improved. and kept quite good. without any of the dreaded fog later on. Great Dunmow was the first tower, the 21 cwt . octave being deemed "the finest in East Anglia. "and "real beauties!" Felstead's 12 cwl. octave. though fair. came as an anticlimax before going to tea in Braintree. There we mot Mr. L. Wiffen, who accompanied us to the remaining towers. St. Michael's. Braintree. is another eight. with an unexpectedly steep climb to the ringing chamber. though well worth it. Bocking has another unusual route. up a spiral iron staircasc. and a good heavy eight when you get there. Halstead was enjoyed. and a beautiful course of Bristol was rung
We were most fortunate in meeting a warm welcome everywhere we went. and in the weather.

TO ALL RINGERS- 'A HAPPY CHRISTMAS'

By Canon C. C. Cox

IT is in that simplest form we would convey our wishes once again today. And it can be sufficient. There is no need to choose Christmas cards worded with more or less elaborate sentimentality. Many of those decorative forms of greeting point to a superficial and inadequate conception of the Festival. They seem to imply only Have a good time! Get all the pleasure you can out of your Christmas dinners and gatherings!' In that sense, of course, the wish may be sincere enough. But then. after Christmas, no one may be any better, even if no one is any the worse.
The fact cannot be disguised that of the millions who will exchange Christmas greetings a large majority will be giving little or no thought to the origin of Christmas. A religious occasion can so easily become paganised. Nowadays the commercial world lays itself out at some cost to advertise it as the 'Gift Season'; even the least ecclesiastical shops display the traditional picture cards and trade, perhaps. Crib figures. The general public is offered every inducement to spend money, and the commercial world expects to make a good cash profit out of the Christian Festival.
The possibility does exist, of course, that some who ' keep' Christmas only in the worldly sense may pause to reflect a little upon the meaning of what is being celebrated, upon the significance of giving 'presents,' upon the reason for the church bells ringing; even wistful, perhaps, to know what is going on inside the churches to which they see people eagerly moving. We can only hope and pray that some hearts and minds may be opened to seek and find the deep reality.

Seriously, 'A happy Christmas to you' is more than a mere wish. It really takes on the nature of a prayer. It is not just to be lost in the air, or buried under a wealth of holly berries and paper wrappings. It should be given in the faith that it will reach fulfilment, by the one who receives it co-operating with the heart of the giver. That is the Christian interpretation of the Gift of God Incarnate in history, claiming a thoughtful and universal response from men. The first Christmas wish was of heavenly origin, and it was worded in the right order: ' Glory to God in the Highest, and on earth peace. goodwill toward men -which makes Christmas more than an annual flash of enjoyment. It is in truth a flash of light as from a dazzling star piercing the darkness, to catch up wonder from men. Yet still more than that: it is the Birth of a new dynamic which is to have a permanent effect upon human life: a dynamic centres in a Person, the Son of God Himself, born of a woman, ' Born to raise the sons of earth, Born to give them second birth ": which, year after year, is to be in process of fulfilment.

Here is the reminder that the Christian Church has been born for the one purpose of regenerating humanity. It is no humanly-devised institution, but the very Spirit of God moving in a world of labour and conflict. As such it car-ries-albeit ideally as yet-the resolving element in all human problems, and the element of mercy in all human judgments. It is God's own agency on earth for the awakening of conscience and for salvation from sin

That is what the church bells have to say each Christmas Day. 'Rejoice in the Crib of Bethlehem; yes, but come to it like little children who are open to be loved, open to love as they are loved. who are ready to be born again in self-discipline, prepared to glory in the shadow of the Cross for the sake of the Light beyond.'

Let our Christmas wishes, then, echo that of the heavenly host and proclaim a new birth, both for ringers and for ringing; a new dynamic each year with which to become possessed. The old life, the old ways-into which, may be, we have dropped back a little-won't do. We are not living merely in the present, but for the future. The new man must be put on. And that new man is Jesus Christ born at Bethlehem, never to stay there but moving and growing and inspiring ceaselessly "until the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord as the waters cover the sea.'

Consider, too, how the influence of this new birth is to bear upon the family, or society, or brotherhood of ringers -whichever word best describes that association. Church bellringers are a family bound together, not just by a common interest, but by a personal fellowship with a Personal Leader, symbolised by the captain in the tower or, in wider sense, the president of an area Guild. And, on the more spiritual level. by the incumbent of the parish under the bishop of the diocese, the latter in his turn submissive to the Archbishop of the Province-all deriving their policies and relationships from the Divine Humanity of Him Who was once the Babe of Bethlehem.

To wish 'A happy Christmas' then today involves the recognition of all this again. It is the time to welcome Him. the Prince of Peace, the King of Love. anew into our belfries, into our hearts, into all our service as churchmen and churchwomen: to welcome Him now as more than the Babe of Christian history, rather as the fullgrown Son of Man; as the sublime Teacher; as the great unseen Conductor through ' all the changes and chances of this mortal life.' (Continued on next page)

Let our greeting, then, in the time-honoured words, carry the vision and prophecy of its fulfilment. And as on Christmas morning we move from our Communion at the Altar-the mystical outcome of long ago Bethlehemrejoice in the assurance that, through our humble and faithful co-operation with the will of God the Saviour, the church bells we handle shall
' Ring out the darkness of the land;
Ring in the love of Truth and Right;
Ring in the common love of Good;
Ring in the Christ that is to be!’

 of 1.967 peals (conducted 1.428). This gives him the proud title of having rung more peals than anyone living.Sution-on-Hull ringers and friends wish Harold F. Gibson a speedy recovery from a recent accident at work in which his back and recent accident at wor knee were damaged.
Ninety-eight me:hods were rung in a peal of Spliced Minor, at Thrybergh, Yorkshire, on November 25th. An amazing feat of memory by the band and its conductor, Mr. Wilfrid F. Mareton

The peal of Grandsire Caters at King's Norton. on November 12th, was the first of Civters for six of the band and Mr . MeDonald's first of Caters as conductor. Congratulations.

A first peal at the age of 14 is always noteworthy. but it is a special achievement when that first is a good peal of Siedman Triples, as rung by David $P$. Hilling, at Stoke Poges, on November 30ch.

The conductor of the peal of The Dragon Major, rung at Aldermaston, on December 2nd. would like to associate this peal with the nume of the late George Gilbert, the figures being given him hy George. although he: never realised his ambition to peal it
Next Friday Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Burton sail for New Zealand on a three months visit to their daughter. The hest wishes of the Leicester Guild were expressed to their peal secretary by a pead of Maximus at Leicester Cathedral, on November 28 th.
St. Andrew's, Folkenham. Lincs, have staunch supporters in the Bradley family who have completed 100 years' service to the church. The late Mr. C. E. Bradley was 43 years a churchwarden and his wife. Mrs. C. E: Bradley, was 16 years the voluntary organist. Now their son. Mr. C. T. H. Bradley, has completed 41 years as tower captain. Appropriately, the centenary was marked by a peal on Novemher 26th and the ringers entertained to tea by Mr. and Mrs. C. Wilkinson.

GOSSIP

In hanour of the 81 st birthday of Mr. Harry Rodmell, who, for over 60 years, has been ringing at St. James', Sutton-on-Hull, a quarter of Cambridge Surprise Minor was achieved, in which Harry participated. For his past two birthdays the local company have unsuccessfully attempted a peal. The company faiting in the last peal attempt would like to place on record their appreciation of the generous hospitality of Mr. and Mri. R. Porter, during the ensuing evening.
Alveston, Glos, have now a very pleasant six: the bells have been rehung by Mears and Stainbank on ball bearings. The first peal on the bell; was rung on December 3rd.
Six ringers from the Marston. Oxford. hand were confirmed on December 4 th. They were Helen Williams. Margaret Cozier. Elizabeth Muller. Vivien Roberts, Elaine Liles and Sheenah Gammon.
Exeter Cathedral bells are now in use after their overhaul. Practices will be held. as in the past, on the third Saturday monthly, starting December 174h from 6-8 p.m.. and the Sunday following 5-6.30 p.m.

Heckington. Lincs, tower was struck by lightning during the sermon on December 4th. An examination revealed that it struck the clock hands, shattered the clock case and mehed the chime release hanging down into the ringing ohamber. From there it leapt to the water pipes, via the electric conduit, and passed into the main body of the church. Damage. fortunately, is not serious.

The new Rector of Rougham. near Bury St. Edmunds, the Rev. G. E. Jarrold, is a lover of bells. He has left behind, in his former parish. Ellingham, Norfolk. nearly £600 he has collected. without a special appeal. towards the estimated cost of $£ 1.250$ for the rehanging of the five bells of the Parish Chureh in a new frame. At the tea, after his induction. his Ellingham parishioners present were delighted to hear from Mr. Jarrold that the previqus day he had received two generous cheques towards the hell fund.

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

ESTABLISHED

READING UNIVERSITY SOCIETY'S FIRST ANNUAL DINNER

FOUNDED almost exactly six years ago, the Reading University Society reached a landmark in its history on November 26 hh , by holding its first annual dinner. After ringing during the afternoon at Caversham, Tilehurst and the three Reading towers, about 80 members and visitors attended the dinner at the White Hart Hotel

Following the loyal toast, the vice-chancellor of Reading University, Sir John Wolfenden, C.B.E.. in his capacity as president of the Society, proposed the healih of "The Church.' Before reaching this subject, however, he said that he was honoured to be given the privilege of making the first speech at the first dinne of the Society and to be allowed to address such a magnificent gathering of lunatics. He quickly added that lunatics could be divided into three classes: the harmful, who had to be put away; the harmless, who could be ignored; and the beneficial, in which category he included bellringers.

Sir John pointed out that the church had always worked for the encouragement and lostering of the arts, which included the ringing of hells. Although their efforts were not atways welcomed by everyone, the majority of ringers performed ther art with noble intemtions, and their work could be described its sacramental, as they were dedicated to the service of the church and her Creator.

Mr. John Coates, a founder member and former Master of the Society, proposed the toast to The Visitors, who included the Masters of the Oxford, Cambridge, Southampton and Bristol University Societies, and also members from London and Nottingham Universities. He also welcomed several members of the Reading Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, without whose co-operation the Society would have no bells on which to ring.
A witty reply was given by Mr. Dermot Roif, secretary of the Universities Association. He hoped that the presence of Sir John Wolfenden was not a preliminary to a Commission of Enquiry into Bellringing, and pointed out that the recent survey of Sunday service ringing had shown the need for more competent instructors-a need which University Societies could help to overcome.
Mr. Adrian Tumber, Master of the Soutltampton University Guild, in proposing the healih of "The Reading University Sociecy." observed that the fact that he had been entructed with this toast was an indication of the fine spirit of friendship which had grown up between these two of the younger generation of University Societies. This friendship had arisen largely because they held a joint annual tour, and he hoped this tradition would continue.
In reply, the Master (Mr. Peter Wilkinson) remarked that the Society had now grown to about 20 resident members-quite a high percentage in such a.small university. The standard of ringing had also improved, and he stressed the tremendous amount owed to the St. Mary's band for giving them the opportunity to ring the more advanced methods. He concluded by expressing his thants to the incumbents who had given permission for the ringing during the afternoon and to the secretary (Miss Jennifer Davies) for making the arrangements for such a successful and memorable dinner.

MR. A. PATRICK CANNON,

Surrey Association.

To say that Mr. Pat Cannon is 'enthusiastic' is an understatement, for there are hardly any limits to which he would not go ii the reward was a new tower or a sluggish tenor to 'turn in' to a peal. Up to the present he has visited and rung in no fewer than 2.333 lowers. and if that is not a record his peills in 623 towers and 480 tenors 'turned in to peals certainly constitute a record. Forty-six of these tenors have weighed 26 cwt. or more. In addition he has iuny the 1 th at Exeter to Grandsire Triples and Caters. During the last 15 years he has rung peals in no less than 500 different towers. The late Jimmy George was once described as 'ubiquitous.' but compared to Pat Cannon he was a mere novice. In all his travels. Pat has always fostered a love of hells and created interest in our beloved art. and has never spared himself when there was a possibility of enthusing others.

Born at Wimbledon in 1913, of Irish descent, he was educated at St. Laurence College, Ramsgate, and Chard School, Somerset. He learned to ring at St. Laurence, Thanet, Kent, in 1928, and rang his first peal, Stedman Triples at St. John's, Deptford, Lewisham, in 1930. To this peal he rang the tenor behind (coming events cast their shadow, etc.). Many of his early peals were conducted by Thomas E. Sone, of Paddock Wood, and very frequently Pat would cycle 50 miles to a tower for a peat, and then cyole 50 miles back. In 1933 he commenced conducting peals, his first being at St . Olave's, Hart sitreet, London, with what was, at that time, the youngest band to ring a peal of Major.
His peals total up to November 27th, 1960, is 813, of which he has conducted 413. Notable amongst these are 'turning in' the tenors at Queen Camel in 1937 to eight Minor methods; Beverley Minster to Boh Royal in 1938; Sherborne Abbey to Double Norwich. Superlative and Cambridge Major Birmingham Cathedral to Superlative in 1945; and Loughborough Parish Church to Cambridge Royal in 1956. He has taken part in 11.568 Double Norwich, at Debenham, in 1950, and the record peal of 13,280 Cambridge Surprise Major, at Quex Park, in 1959.
Pat was Ringing Master, Surrey Association Southern District. 1950-56, and has represented the Surrey Association on the Central Council. 1951-53 and 1957 to present date. He has been a vice-president of the Surrey Association since 1957. He greatly enjoys giving encouragement to up and coming youngsters and has piloted many of them through their first peal, and first in a method.

During the war he served from 1940-45 in the Royal Corps of Signals in India. He married his wife, Sylvia, in 1945, and she also is a ringer, having nine quarter peals to her credit. Since 1952 he has been a regular member of St. Martin's, Dorking, band and previously for four years was a member of the Betchworth band. By profession Pat is schoolmaster
Pat's other hobby is philately, and if his stamp collection is as varied and colourful as his variety of peals, it will be something worth looking at. He is now in the prime of life, and at the present rate at which he is going. it will not be long before we see him topping the 1.000 mark. Good luck to him!

JAFUS.

THE NORWICH ASSOCIATION

A stone plaque in memory of the late Cecil Victor Ebberson has been placed in the Church of St. Nicholas, Dersingham: The service of dedication was held on October 15 th, in the presence of the widow and members of his family, Mr. Nolan Golden (president). Rev. H. G. Lillingston (past president), Rev. R. G. E. Dodson (chairman. Western Branch). Mr. H. W. Barrett (Ringing Master), Mr. W. Love (general secretary and treasurer) Mr. G. A. Cooke (Ringing Master, Western Branch). Mr. C. Tovell (honorary secretary, Western Branch). Mr. A. G. Bason (chairman, Northern Branch), together with a large congregation. including friends from Ely and Lancashire Associations and Lincoln Guild.
The service was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. T. O. W. Glass. and the dedication and address was by the Archdeacon of Iynn (the Ven. H. K. Percival Smith)
In his address the Archdeacon paid tribute to the services given to the church by Cecil Ebberson. He described him as a sincere churchman. who, by his life, set an example for all to follow, and a man who will always be remembered with respect and affection.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

The annual general meeting of the Oxford University Society of Change Ringers was held on November 29th. when the following were elected
Master: N. J. Martin (St. Peter's Hall)
Secretaries: Hilary Mason (St. Hilda's), A J. Thomson (Wadham).
Treasurer: P, Wycherley (St. Catherine's).

CONQUERING THE UNPEALABLES

The bells of St. Andrew's, Cotterstock. near Oundle, have, for some years, heen regarded locally as unpealable. A thorough examination of the bells revealed the source of the trouble, the third bell being the culprit. The rim of the wheel on one side having become loose (tacks rusted), a local novice had nailed strips of hardboard alongside. projecting and causing them to bind the frame. The end of the clapper was also touching the slider at each swing.
These obsiructions once overcome, the bells went plain-sailing, although everyone was ready to make a quick exit at the first signs of a jumped bearing. etc. The peal was satisfactorily accomplished, making the third such tower-Stoke Doyle and Ashley being the previous ones to be conquered. Soon two others are to be tested.
It is from Cotterstock where the say; ing about 'the weakest go to the wall' originated. Stone benches are still to be seen around the walls where the aged and infirm used to sit centurics ago, when. the church had no pews or chairs.
Of the bells. the front four of 1708 are by Henry Penn, of Peterborough. The tenor is by John Taylor, of Loughborough. But one wonders whether Mr. Dove is correct in his given weight of " 8 cwt . 2 qr .11 lb. "- it sounds and measures nearer 7 cwt ., as was always reckoned. P.A.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

()N November 12 th the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford held its ninth annual dinner at the 'Black Horse Inn.' Wolverhampton. It had been more than 25 years since a dinner of this nature had been held by the Society in the town and those who attended were wel! rewarded with a first class ovening's entertainment.
During the afternoon the fine 'twelve' at St. Peter's and also the 'eights' at Bradley, Coseley and Penn were available for ringing. It was most disappointing that ringers did not take fuller advantage of the facilities provided.
Ninety members and friends were present at the dinner. The Archdeacon of Stafford, the Ven. Basil Stratton, took the chair and after an excellent meal commenced the evening's formal proceedings by proposing the loyal toast. In his comments following the toast, he said how pleased he and his wife were to be present. It was very encouraging to see such a pathering on this his first visit as president of the Society.
The tonst "Church and State, was proposied by Mr. R Buxton. J.P... a former mayor of the nearby town of Bilston. He was very pleased to be able to propose this loast, particularly as he had promised to do so a year ago and had had to withdraw at the last moment due to sudden ill-health. He had, he said, been connected with St. Martin's Church, Bradley, for many years and he was very grateful to the Society for the help given to the church in 1957 to train a completely new band.

The Rev. David Sutcliffe, curate-in-charge of St. Bartholomew's Church, Penn, for the time being, in a witty speech, replied on behalf of the church. What a wonderful partnership there was between the Church and the State, he said. It reminded him of the blades of a pair of gardening shears, often moving in opposite directions, but if anyone tried to come between them they were soon very effectively dealt with.
The chairman next caMed upon Mr. Frank E. Haynes, the well known ringer from the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, to propose the toast to the 'The Society.' He had been a member of the 'Staffords' for 25 years and had rung a number of peals for the Society. Of late he had attended a number of its meetings and had many happy memories of his association with the Society and it gave him great pleasure to propose this toast. In his reply. Mr. Fred Bennett. a former secretary of the Society, thanked Mr. Haynes for his kind remarks. He did not judge the Society by the number of peals it rang but by the number of its members he could call his friends. Looking around the room on this occasion he was delighted to see so many of his friends present.
Mr. Dennis Holden from Coseley proposed the toast to "The Visitors. Dinners like this one, he said. would fall flat without visitors and it gave him considerable pleasure to have the company of so many that evening. He extended a special welcome to the Anchdeacon and Mrs. Stratton, who were atrending this function for the first time, and also to Mr. and Mrs. R. Buxton, Rev. David and Mrs. Sutcliffe. Mr. Frank Haynes and and Mrs. Sutchfte. Mr. Frank Haynes and of Penn. responded on behalf of the visitors and thanked Mr. Holden for the warm welcome he had extended on behalf of the

A FAMILY REMEMBRANCE. - On Remembrance Sunday the bells of SS. Mary and Giles Church. Buckerell. Devon. were rung half-muffled by Mr. Joseph Broadhurst and his five surviving children. The treble bell commemorates two lads from the village who geve their lives in World War II and one of these is Gondon Broadhurst, a son.
In the family picture are (left to right):

Society to everyone. The ordinary churchgoer was, he felt. rather apt to take bell ringers for granted and he would like to thank them for the wonderful work they did every Sunday calling people to church.
This concluded the formal part of the evening's entertainment and after a short break the artistes were brought in. There were three. Betty Johnson (soprano). Fred Baggott (pianist) and Albert Morgan (comedian). Between them they provided first class entertainment, which kept the gathering amused until 10.30 p.m.
So ended the Society"s 1960 dinner, leaving members with happy memories of the occasion and lookin, forward to another successful dinner in 1961.

PANGBOURNE & WHITCHURCH RINGERS' OUTING

In a year of seemingly continuous days of mud and flood, September 10th. the day of the outing of the Pangbourne and Whitchurch bellringers, was of brilliant sunshine.

Ringing started at St. Mary's, Billingshurst. followed by Itchingfield with its beautifully kept belfry containing a map of Sussex where all ringing towers were neatly indicated. different coloured pins being used to show the number of bells.

The unusual tombstone by the lych-gate at Kirdford attracted attention. It was to the memory of boys who died from having placed greenwood ashes in their bedroom. from falling from a horse, and "a farmer's cart passing over him.' The bells were heaucifully mellow and went well.

Our next visit was up the tombstone paved paths to the beautiful church of Rudgwick (6. 14 owt.). The betts. on the ground floor. gave some of the newer ringers their first experience of an anti-clockwise ring. Grandsire was rung to give several novices a chance to try the treble. followed by Litule Bob and touches of other methods
In the clear evening light we walked through the beautifully kept churchyard to the church of Cranleigh. Surrey (8, 16 cwt ). A notice in 1912 commemorated the first peal ever rung in the tower in which a husband and wife took part. Touches of Bob Major. Siedman Triples. amongst others. were rung.
Racing against time we arrived hate at Shalford. Surrey ( 8.13 cwt .). to receive a warm welcome from a patiently waiting foreman. The belts were recast in 1936 and go well. Little Bob Major. Stedman. Grandsire. Plain Boh. with call changes for the begimners, were enjoyed. Supper was taken at Guildford. Our thanks are due to the incumbents and to the foremen who met us.

DOUBLES 'METHODS

Dear Sir-I am afread that Mr. Paul Cattermole didn't search far enough back in his old ' Ringing Worlds, before naming the Reverse Camerbury variation of Reverse St. Bartholomew. Honeybourne. Had he done so, he would have found that this particular varialion has been rung many times under the name of Northrepps. Another variation of the same basic method-with an Old Doubles single for the call-has been rung as Fortune. While on the subject of Doubles variations, perhaps I might add a few more to the list published in the . R.W: for November 14th. 1958 (page 744)?

All Saints/Old Bob single $=$ Marchington .
All Saints/P.B. plain lead=Rushall.
Grandsire/All Saints' plain in lieu of normal Grandsire singles = Newborough .
Plain Bob/Grandsire bobs and singles (120 -P.B.S.P.. twice repeated) = Dedworth.
But please. Mr. Cattermole, variations -not methods.-Yours sincerely,

'THE RINGING WORLD"

Dear Sir.-My thanks to Mr. C. W. Woolley for putting into words what I have long felt:-
Inat there is a case for paying for quarter peals because they are not of great news value whereas peals are of news value.
That 'The Ringing Work Committee should consider economy by means of adapting the present means of printing peal reports.
1 heartily endorse the remark that the Committee should tell us if their policy is to intend the R.W: eventually to pay for itself or to rely on donations. I know the iheoretical answer is that of an increase in circulation of a few thousand but shouldn't we face the fact that despite many efforts and appeals over the last decade the circulation has risen to nowhere near the desired level.
However, what should be continually stressed is that a postal subscriber is helping the paper substantially more economically than those subscribers who purchase the paper through a newsagent. The present circulation is about: postal subscribers 2.316 . others 3.184 .

Does everyone realise that by paying an annual subscription for delivery by post you only pay 4 d . more per year than by paying your newsagent 8d. per week, i.e., 8d. x $52=$ il 14 s . 8. Annual postal subscription, $£ 115 \mathrm{~s}$. I realise that many younger ringers cannot perhaps afford an annual subscription, but suggest that older persons who can afford it, do so, even if it means that on a rare occasion a copy may become slightly marked during postal transmision.-Yours faithfully,

ST. MARY'S, BEAMINSTER

Dear Sir.-I read with interest tinged with horror the article on St. Mary's. Beaminster. Dorset: in a recent issue of The Ringing World.
I have rung on these magnificent bells, in fact stood in in an unsuccessful peal attempt in, I think. 1947 . I have always been led to believe that these bells are a maiden cast ring by Bilbie. I am therefore quite horrified that, if what the article says is true. they are to be $\frac{1}{8}$ turned and tuned. Why this passion for uniformity?
No doubt Beaminster bells might sound a little better if they were tuned: clearly a new ring, or a nondescript and mixed ring is the better for the tuner's attention, but a maiden cast ring. cast heside the churchyard. in my opinion might well be left alone.
A later paragraph in the article suggests that in 1887 the bells were $t$ turned and tuned. I do not know whether this involved the bells being tuned the modern way on a lathe or not-even if it did I still think it wrong that one of the few such rings should be tuned again.

I realise that I probably strall be accused of sticking my neck out .... rushing in where angels fear to tread. etc.. etc. However. I stick to my guns. and much as I enjoy ringing on a perfectly tuned and perfectly hung Taybank ocrave. I think it will be a great pity when all our bells of a given weight sound the same and go the same: rather as massed produced cars from the same factory are nearly identical. Yours faithfully are nearly identical.-Yours faithfully.

METHODS NAMED AFTER PEOPLE

Dea: Sir-With regard to Mr. Jones letter stating that the peal of 29 Spliced Plain Major at Heptonstall was a distinct departure from normal practice." in that seven new methods were named after, members of the band. I find. on looking through various collections of methods, that the naming of methods after people is not so rare or unusual. Everybody has heard of Stedman and Grandsire. In particular, Doubles methods have several saints names used as method names ( 30 out of 70 in C.C.C.), and the ratio of people's names to place names in cther groups of methods is about $1: 10$. (This includes all Minor methods and Plain Major. C.C.C.)

Furthermore several surnames are place names anyway, and while on the subject of place names. what suitable names could the band have chosen for their new methods? Heptonstall and Yorkshire are about all, anything, else would have been inappropriate compared with the names actually used.

Mr. Jones seems to regard this means of naming methods as a lowering of standards." if anything the names given are far better than many given in days gone by, e.g.: Merry Wakefield Delight Triples. Merchants: Return Exercise Major and Five Shillings to Drink Triples! ! No, Mr. Jones. bands these days have a sensible attitude to method naming. and this is certainly no lowering of standards, Perhaps Lesser Wopping is not on earth. but on the other side of the moon!-Yours. etc.,

DAY'S PEAL RINGING ON TYNSIDE

Peal ringing Geordies had some intensive practice on November 26 th, when peals were accomplished in the three ringable towers on the South Bank of the Tyne to the East of Newcastle, all the towers being within a few hundred yards of the river. Eleven different ringers took part.
At 9 a.m. five ringers were assembled at Si Peter's. Jarrow-on-Tyne. to give a royal welcome to one of the joint organisers. who had slept in. A start was made at $9.20 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. to score the first peal on these bells for over 30 years, the tower being out of action from 1939 until last year, when the peal ringers, led by Charles Lea. invaded the tower to make the bells ringahle. Parishioners are now ringing them regularly.
The entry of the verger into the belfry towards the end of the 5th 720 nearly upset things but we settled down again and finished off the peal at a cracking pace. Outside the church some lady parishioners made rather threatening enquiries about why we had rung for such a long time.
At Gateshead. we were again 20 minutes: late in starting so we had to push the not easy going, oddstruck bells along to complete a good peal of Yorkshire in 2 hours 46 minutes. These bells sound their best at speed but they certainly test the stamina of the men ringing the buck five.
Off along to South Shields. at the river mouth. to ring Cambridge on these very odd struck bells. Afterwards we all adjourned to the Maison Lea, where Nancy Lea and Charles" mother had prepared a most welcome hot meal. Then the day's events and other happenings dear to the heart of ringers were discussed into the not early hours of the next morning
The day's results: a 30 year old peal silence broken at Jarrow: Fred Rows and Norman Errington each scored their first peal of Surprise 'inside. beth having had a number of attempts over the past year: some good ringing and happy fellowship.

MR. WILFRID J. MOSS' 80th BIRTHDAY

It is probable that only a limited number of parishioners of St. Matthew's, Stretford, and St. Michuel's, Flixton, know the name of Wiffrid J. Moss. However, all those with ears to hear must be aware of his service to both churches, for Mr. Moss has been a bellringer for $62 \frac{1}{2}$ years at Si. Matthew's, and for he past 15 years he has also rung at St. Michael's for Matins. while continuing to ring at St. Mathew's for Evensong. He ailso attends the weekly practice meetings at boih churches.

Recently Mr. Moss celebrated his 80th birthday and as a birthday compliment the Flixton ringers invited him to conduct a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles. This was suocessfully rung before Matins on Sundiy, November 20ch.

Mr. Moss has been a member of the Lancashire Association of Change Ringers since January. 1901, and has participated in over 100 peals in various towers in and outside the county. many of these having been conducted by him.
To mark the occasion of his 80th birthday a representative band from this Association and the Manchester University Guild of Change Ringers rang a peal of Stedman Triples at St. Matthew's on November 26th. It is worthy of note that this band included members from the Manchester Cuthedral, St. Michael's and St. Peter's, Ashton-under-Lyne, St. Paul's. Cross Stone. Todmorden, St, Bartholomew's, Marsden, and the Universities' Guild members hailing from Northimpton and Leeds.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH

The second combined meeting of the Andover and Basingstoke Districts on December 3rd in the Whichurch - Overton area was a big attraction. In addition to District members. visitors were present from Swindon, Reading. Chichester, Warnford. Petersfield and Winchesiter. The service, in Overton Church, Winchester. The service, in Overton Church, Basingstoke District (hie Rev. F. Sanders).
Tea in the parish room was followed by a short business meeting of the Andover Disirict, presided over by Mr. A. W. Allesten. Furvher ringing followed at Deane. Oakley and Wootton St. Lawrence. a big crowd queueing for a ring at all these towers until 9 p.m. All agreed that it had been a successful day despite continuous rain.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD West Dorset Branch

The annual meeting of the West Dorset Branch was held at Lyme Regis on November 26th. when 10 towers were represented and visitors present from Portsmouth, Stalbridge, Hampreston, Charminster and Mr. W. Shute, Ringing Master of the North Dorset Branch.

A service touch of Stedman Triples was rung. The service was conducted by the curate at Lyme Regis and the address given by the Rev. O. L. Willmort, Vicar of Loders, A charge of 6 d . per head was made for the sumpluous tea 10 defray the cost of hiring.
The Rev. J. S. Arthur (branch chairman) presided at the business meeting. Arising from the minules. the guestion was raised of the charge per rope for peals entered in 'The Ringing World: Mr. J. T. Barrett, supported by Mr. Morris (C.C. representative), said that at the mecting of the Council, at Whitsun, the view was expressed that peals were news and the public press did not make a charge for news.
The accounts showed a small deficit due to a second grant to Askerswell for their rehanging fund and extra advertising and postage. 1! was agrced to make a grant of $£ 10$ to Guild funds to help meet the cost of printing prayer cards and the new Guild Ortice.
The meeting stood in silent tribute to Mr. Harry Legg. of Loders, Mr. Frank Bugler, of Bridport, and Mr. James Barrett, of Beaminster (father of the honorary secretary). The officers were re-elected as follows: Chairman. Rev. J. S. Arthur; vice-chairman, Mr. C. Powell; honorary secretary and treasurer. Mr. J. T. Barrett (Beaminster), Ringing Masters. Messrs. G. Morris and H. Keeley (Lyme Regis) and H. D. W. Bishop (Evershot), with Canon C. C. Cox and Mr. F. Knight as commitlee members.
Quarterly meetings were fixed as follows February, Whichurch; April. Powerstock July. Askerswell ; September, Beaminster. The annual to be in November, at Bridport.
Fourteen new members were made, including eight from Thornecombe, who again were joining the branch. and one from Askerswell, where the bells are again hung for ringing with a new treble cast to make it a ring of six. They have been silent since 1929. Great credit was given to the villagers, who number only 140 , in the way they have found the necessary money. Half-pull ringing is being practised at Netherbury and Thornecombe.
Mr. Barrett thanked the meeting for their condolences in the death of his father, and lold how his father always listened to peal altempts at Beaminster with great interest Although not a ringer himself, hut a keen sportsman. Mr. Barrett had likened a peal to a century in cricket. To lose an at tempt near the end was like being caught in the slips with 99 runs 10 your credit!
The chairman thanked the Lyme Regis ringers and their wives for supplying the ted. and all who had assisted in the service.
The ringers then returned to the lower.

SWANSEA & BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD

Evidence of keenness was forthcoming at the Southern District meeting at Sketty, on December 3 rd, when over 40 ringers faced the awful weather to attend. Ringing before the service ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Major. The Vicar, Canon Garfield James, conducted the service and the address was given by the Rev. D. White (curate), who is a riager.
A very nice tea was provided by the ringers of Sketty and their wives under the management of Mrs. Whitworth; they were thanked by Mr. Arthur Hoare.
At the business meeting the company stood in sympatily with the relatives of the late Mr . Chris Hawkins and Mr. James Heare. Mr. J T. Williams was re-elected secretary and Mr. Roderick audior. The Vicar. who presided, gave a cordial welcome to the visitors. who included Mr. Derek. Ashridge and Miss Mollie Tilbury and the Ringing Master of the St. David's Guild.

RAISING THE STANDARD

The approach used in the previous peal should only be taken as a step towards the goal of accepting the eight 56 and .... 65 blocks as the standard to be adopted by the Exercise. To this end, the following peals have been composed with the idea of making the calling and transposition of the blocks as simple as possible, yet retaining the musical requirements set out earlier.

It will be seen that. except for the single at 8 in the middle of the sixteen course block in the Caters, the extra calling positions only involve a pair of bobs in 56 (or 67 for Cinques). The blocks are perfectly regular and, of course, can be used in either Caters or Cinques.

The transposition in Caters of a 5, 6. 16 from 123456 is 213654. which is a very simple variant of the 321654 produced by the usual 5,16 .
It is my hope that the use of these blocks and others equally simple, which can probably be produced, will lead to the adoption of the eight $\ldots .556$ s and $\ldots .65$ s as the rule rather than the exception.

ADVANCED COMPOSITION
Once this has been achieved, more complicated compositions could be attempted. To encourage this. I would suggest that some means of identification of compositions is long means of identification of compositions is ong overduc. It would be most helpful also for composers to know which of their compositions find favour. Perhaps the Central Council would give the matter some thought. They might inaugurate a central register of compositions or suggest, at least, that any original composition must be identifiable by a serial number together with the composer's name.

As an example of a composition deliberately made difficult (to obtain the music of the 6th in 2nds place in the middle of the course hut out of it at course ends, plus all the eight.. .56 s and 65 s ) here is a peal which has only once been rung, to my knowledge. conducted by J. E. Chilcott, although there have heen several attenints.

In conclusion, the object of this article is to try to raise the accepted standards of Stedman Caters and Cinques peal ringing. 1 should like to see the use of fixed 2nds place hell compositions come to be regarded only as a stepping stone for first peals.

The compositions included are only examples, but each of them could be the basis of a collection like Carter's 217 peals of Stedman Cinques. or in fact. the 7.220 peals in Carter's "Circuits of Stedman Caters." There is also plenty of scope for new blocks, variations on those given and different arrangements for the back bclls.
There are composers willing to provide these. given the encouragement of you-the ringers and conductors.

OBITUARY

MR. J. R. MAIN
Fincdon Church and parish. Nomhants. has lost a most farhful and esteemed servant by the death. on November 28 th, of Mr. John Robert (Johnny) Main, at his home, 23. Union Street. Finedon. He was 77 years of age and is survived by his widow.
Born in Finedon, he joined the church choir at the age of eight and went into the belfry when this voice broke at 13. He quickly developed the art of change ringing. although he was 18 before he rang his first peal. 'Johnny', was an excellent method ringer. Of his 150 peals he conducted several. With the late Mr. George Basford, his tower captain and friend. he rang 99 peals-inness of Mr. Basford prevented them from ringing the 100th. His favourite methods were Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Superlative.
Hesides being a regular and faithful service ringer, he held many other offices. For five vears he was Ringing Master of the Wellingborough District-and his fatherly approach 10 younger ringers was often commented upon. He was also a sidesman, an organ blower and. in the latter yeiurs of his life. verger, an office he held at the time of his death.

Ii was his wish that his body should be in the church overnight, prior to his funeral. This was conducted by his Vicar, the Rev. J. C. Gill. Mre Hirst Cuttell was at the organ and the choir was also in attendance.

At noon, on the list day of November, his hody was finally laid to rest within sound of the church belts. John Robert Main leaves. with the parishioners of Finedon, a wonderful example of devolion 10 God and church. Rest eternal. grant umto him. O Lord, may light perpetual shine upon him.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Thirty ringers attended the Mansfield District meeting held at Edwinstowe on November 19 th . visitors attending from as far apart as Nottingham and Chesterfield. Ringing in a variety of methods preceded a short service. conducted by the Vicar. Rev. W. H. Pickles. In a short address he welcomed everyonc to Edwinstowe.
Mr. S. W. Fessey. district chairman. presided at the business meeting when four new ringing members and ene non-resident life member were elected. They were: Mrs. M. Wood. J. Mabbolt. J. Penistone and $\mathbf{H}$. Cartlidge. all of Edwinstowe. and Mrs. Silcock. of Chesterfield. The Hell Fund collection realised 12s. 7d.
The customary voies of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells and to the ladies for the excellent tea. Ringing continued until shortly after 9 p.m. methods rung ranging from. rounds and call changes to London Surprise.

ALPHABET FOR BEGINNERS

By T. J. LOCK

WEIGHTED CLAPPER.-Sometimes referred to as a balanced clapper. and is used in the biggest of the bells. The impact of a clapper of normal design on a large bell would invite cracking the bell and so to avoid this happening a clapper of special design is used which reduces the force of impact. Instead of being hinged or hung at one end. a weighted clapper is hinged part way down the shank or stem in order to provide a balance to counteract and. to some degree. control the swinging force of the clapper ball.

WHITTINGTON.-This change is also musical and popular but, in my opinion, it is the anticipation of hearing the last threc bells striking (in a similar order to the Queen's change) which produces the 'finishing touch." The Whittington change is for not less than eight bells. when the order of striking is 12753468 . On ten bells the change is 3124975680 . and on twelve bells is 531246E9780T.

WHOLE PULL. Whole pull change ringing is very little practised but it means that changes in the order of striking are made only at each handstroke. This, as you will appreciate. results in a repetition of cach of the handstroke changes at every succeeding backstroke.

Whole pull right is when a bell is making a place at first handstroke and then at back-stroke-and all bells in a forward hunting method, e.g., Plain Bob, lead whole pulls right.

Whole pull wrong is when a bell is making a place at first backstroke and then handstroke, and only in such backward hunting methods as London Surprise and in such principles as Erin and Stedman do whole pulls wrong occur

WORKING BELL.-A working bell is one which does the work of the method. For instance, the treble bell in Plain Bob is not a working bell because it merely plain hunts and does not dodge at the lead end. But al the other bells which dodge at the lead end are working bells. The treble in any Treble Boh or Surprise method is not a working bell because it does not do the work of the method. In Grandsire the treble and the tenor covering are not working bells. In a principle such as Stedman, the treble is a working bell because it does the same work as the other bells. The tenor covering is not a working bell as. clearly, anyone could ring this bell even to a peal and still know absolutely nothing of Stedman's principle.
WRONG.-Wrong in even bell methods is the label given to a call (Bob or Single) when the bell which the observation hell is coursing is in the Home position. To explain by examples: in Plain Bob Minor the Wrong position is when the observation bell is dodging in 5-6 up: in Plain Bob Major the Wrong position is when the observation hell is dodeing in 7-8 up: in Plain Bob Royal it is when the observation bell is dodging in $9-10$ up and in Plain Bob Maximus in $11-12$ up. To explain by another way. the Wrong position in any Minor method is when the observation bell is striking in fifth's place at the backstroke lead end. Major in seventh's place. Royal in ninth's place and Maximus in eleventh's place.
Wrong in odd bell methods is the label given to a call when the bell which the observation bell is being coursed by is in the Home position. In Grandsire Triples it is when the ohservation bell is dodging in 6-7 down-in sixth's place at the lead end: and so on.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT

One of the happiest mectings of the year took place at Thrybergh on December 3rd when, despite inclement weather, about 30 members and friends gathered to enjoy a variety of ringing from rounds, call changes and Plain Bob to London Surprise Minor.
The majority of those attending were teenagers. including a number of girl guides and boy scouts, in the local company, who shortly hope to acquire their ringer's badge. A free tea was provided in the Church Hall, newly painted by the church troop of Boy Scouts. The centre table was adorned by the beautifus Doncaster and District Society Silver Cup. which Thrybargh Company have won for Sunday sarvice ringing attendance over the past two years. The business meeting was presided over by the Rector, the Rev. J. K. Dixon, and it was a pleasure to have the company of his charming wife at tea.
One new member (Miss Christine Armeson. of Rotherham). was eleoted. Details of a week-end course in bellringing at Grantley Hall. near Ripon. Yorks, were given. The course will take place on Saturday and Sunday, March 18th and 19th. The president (Mr. H. O. Chaddock) remarked how pleased he was to see Mr. John J. L. Gilbert, fit and well and back in action after his recent indisposition. The meeting ended with the usual votes of thanks and the secretary announced that the next meeting would be at Sheffield on January 7th.

THE BELLS OF ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH, CHESTER

MUCH interest has been aroused in Chester, and indeed much further afield, by an announcement in the press that the Vicar and wardens desire to sell the ring of six/ bells and to place the money in the general fund for the restoration of the church. For the first time, it would appear, many of the citizens, including some of the parishioners, have become aware of the fact that there are bells in the tower. Certainly they had not been heard for a very long time.
The tower is unique in that it stands on arches at the south end of Chester's famous Rows, those raised sidewalks which visitors find so attractive and from which access to the church is gained. The first tower, replacing a timber belfry which housed three bells of medixval date, was built in 1710, and young Rudhall must have watched the building with interest and anticipation. He was at that time in the city, hanging the new six at St. John's, a tower which later achieved some local fame from its association with the 'Gentlemen Bellringers.' At St. Michael's. however, Rudhall was not fortunate, and the old three bells, together with the sanctus, were hung in the new tower.
Fifteen years later there was evidently a strong desire in the parish for a ring of the 'musical ' bells which Rudhall had made so popular, and the matter was finally settled at a meeting held on May 30th, 1726, when it was ' unanimously agreed & resolved by the inhabitants of the said parish that there shall be six Tuneable bells hung in the steeple instead of the three bells now hanging in the said Steeple.' The wardens were empowered to act, and they gave the contract to Rudhall who took away the three mediæval bells and the sanctus. the latter being recast.

In due course the new bells arrived from Gloucester and were weighed in the presence of a large gathering, the occasion being marked by a liberal allowance of liquid refreshment. Sir Richard Grosvenor, whose name appeared on the tenor, gave a donation of $£ 20$, a-windfall which called for further celebration. The total weight of the bells was 30 cwt . 2 qr . 7 lb .

The tower was in poor shape as early as 1815 , but it was not until 1849 that it was taken down, having by that time become dangerous. A new structure was erected which was considerably larger than its predecessor, but again the right of way through the Rows meant that the tower must rest on arches. In an obvious attempt to reduce the weight of stonework above, large windows were made at the second stage, that on the east looking into the nave of the church. The west wall was further weakened by a spacious recess made to accommodate the clock movement. The louvre openings too were large, and the bonding of the masonry left much to be desired. However, the bells were duly installed in their old frame, and all seemed well.

There were some keen change-ringers at St. Michael's later in the century, as records of their achievements plainly show, and the ringing chamber was also a place where handbell ringing was much practised. However, the ringers were eventually forced to abandon their major activity for an ugly crack developed in the west wall and the tower was declared unsufe for ringing. The bells were last rung to mark the occasion of the Queen's jubilee in 1897, after which they were 'clocked' and hymn tunes hammered out before the services, a practice which continued until about 20 years ago. Since that time they have not been heard at all.

The belfry became a home for hundreds of the city pigeons, and the droppings eventualty covered the floor and reached almost to the headstocks. As might be expected, the weight caused the floor to sag, and yet another dangerous situation had to be dealt with, the filth being shovelled into sacks, lowered to Row level, and carried to waiting vehicles in the street below.

After being buried for so long the bells can now be seen again. The trebles carry stock Rudhall inscriptions and the tenor is of course inscribed with the name of Sir Richard Grosvenor while the others carry the names of the wardens. The frame and fittings are naturally in a poor if not dangerous condition, and would be better moved from the tower which is itself badly in need of attention.

In the light of what has been written above it is clear that the parish is faced with a very difficult problem-the restoration of the whole of the church fabric. ' The tower is in such a state that even the dead weight of the bells and frame is viewed with concern, hence the proposition to offer the ring for sale. The matter will eventually come before the Chancellor, and while it would be unwise to anticipate his decision it is reasonable to suppose that he may grant a faculty for the sale of the complete ring to another church where the bells could be again used for their intended purpose. It is unlikely, however. that permission would be given for the bells to be sold singly.

The quarter peal at Buckfast Abbey, in which four monks took part, was rung to celebrate the silver jubilee pube in the priestHooper), who was ordained years ago. After the quarter the Abbey 25 years ago. After the quarter peal. which was rung on the middle eight, the visitors were entertained by the Community, the Lord Abbot. himself, attending to thank the ringers personally.
Mr. Bryn Taylor (17) wishes to know whether he is the youngest person to conduct a peal of Major for the Llandaff and Monmourh Diocesan Association.

The seven good wishers in the quarter at Woburn are getting in plenty of practice for ringing for another occasion in Colin Payne's life that might occur in the near future!
Litlington. Herts, has made a start. This issue contains a quarter, the first in which any member of the local band participated or conducied.
The peal of Minor rung at Tendring. Essex. on December 3 rd . was 10 mark the completion of 57 years' service as church clerk by Mr. Charles Marven. A ringer for an even longer period, he still attends district meetings, and is well known in the area. The band look forward to ringing for his diamond anniversiry.

The band who rang the peat of Cambridge Surprise Royal at Christ Church. Bristol, would like to associate with it the name of Roger O. Fry, who was to have called the peal, but had to drop out for health reasons. The band wish him a swift return to health and send h:m their best wishes for his ordination at the end of December.
On December 1st, 1950. a peal of Bristol was rung to welcome the Rev. Philip Lea, as Rector of St. John-the-Baptist, Erith. Now, ten years later, another peal of Bristol has been rung as a farewell, with many thanks for the ready permission always given to the many ringers who have come to St. Jahn's to aftempt peals. Forkunately. Mr. Lea will not he leaving Kent, is he is to be inducted to the living of Seal.

BELFRY GOSSIP

St. George's Church. Damerringing chamber and exclaimed: I always wanted to ring a bell.' Before anyone realised it, he thas pulled off the treble, which was already up. Fortunately no harm was done. but he learned that bellinging it not so easy as it look; in the few seconds which followed.
With the first peal of Tyrone Surprise Major (named after the Irish county) at Rocester, Staffs, Derek P. Jones has completed the alphabet ' of Surprise Major peals.

Two surprises awaited the band on completing a seven Minor methods peal at Bradrield. Berks, on December 9th-a glass of port or sherry kindly provided by the local captain. Mr. J. Butler, and two inches of snow, which had fullen while the peal was in progress.
Mr. Gordon Halls, of Derby, is putting in some very useful work by coHecting postal subscriptions and is also roping in some new subscribers. This kind of practical help is much appreciated. We hope that R.W: enthusiasis in ather districts will copy Mr. Halls" example.
Iwo 15 -year-olds, Keith Townsend and Peter Chilton, of St. John-the-Divine, Leicester. pupils of Mr. S. Hurrison, have conducted wheir first quarter peals-Grandsire and Stedman Triples. respectively. The Stedman is worthy of special mention as Peter has been conducting this method for only a few weeks. The visiting ringer afterwards remarked that it was the best ringing in which he had taken parr for some considerable time.
The peal rung at Acton on December 12th was, at the Rector's request, associated with St. Cecilia. The parish had musical celebrations for St. Cecilia's Day (November 21st) and the Rector (the Rev. Richard Parsons) was anxious to include the bells. Owing to circumstances outside his control, a peal could not be attempted on the eve of the festival. but the band did ring the bells before the actual celebrations. the following evening. The peal (Lincolnshire) was the lonth on the bells.

BELLS SILENT FOR 40 YEARS RUNG AGAIN

THE bells of Cowesby Church, in the Norrih Riding of Yorkshire, silent for more than 40 years and which the late Vicar considered were too heavy to be rung, have been restored by ringers from Thirsk and Nonthallerton.
A recent inspection of the tower revealed an accumalation of jackdaws' nests which buried the fourth and tenor bells up to the crown and except the treble all were completely jammed with twigs. The wheels and stays and sliders and pulleys, when exposed, seemed sound and an oil can and bottles of oil also came to light.
The ropes hung coiled in the chamber below, except for the tenor's which was broken at the gatter hole. The others were severed at the same point where they had rotted away and knots were tied inside the wheel. This, of course, put the sallies out of reach and led indirectly to the discovery of a box containing 17 handbelts, for something was needed to stand on. One at a time the bells were raised and rung then lowered in pairs by the two ringers who had undertaken the work. The ropes held firm and stood the test. It is hoped to find others, however, no necessarily liew, which will serve for the little ringing likely to take place here. little ringing likely to take place here.
The bells are a ring of six, by Warners, installed in 1878 and Dove gives the tenor as $8 \frac{1}{2}$ ewt. They are in A flit and of a good tone. The ropes falt in two straight lines of three to the chancel floor from a central tower. The church was designed by Salvin in 1846 and is in the Norman style and on the site of a Saxon church. All that remains of the old church are the communion rail and altar candlesticks. which are Jacobean and worthy of inspection.
The beautiful stone village nestles among the Hambleton Hills and together with Felixkirk (6), its bells would provide a satisfying detour for a touring band between Thirsk and Northallerton. There is no incumbent in either parish at present but the churchwardens and Rural Dean. who is the Vicar of Thirsk, readily gave permission for the restoration and would be glad 10 allow visitors to ring at both these interesting churches.
On December 10th, the work being comMeted. a representative band rang the bells to a good 720 of Plain Bob Minor. There is no lighting in the church or a quarter peal would have been rung. The ringers were: Elsdon Metcalf 1. John Brown (president, Northern District, Yorkshire Association) 2, Arthur Bashforth (Yorkshire committee) Tom Cox (president, Cleveland and North Yorks Association) 4, Edward Hudson (secretary. Northern District) 5. Fred Hodgson (Ringing Master. Northern District. cond.) 6.

The proceedings were watched by a barn owl perched silently, high up in the roof. Was he thinking 'One hoot and I'm oot'?

Open Evening At Crayiord

Relatives and friends of the ringers of St . Paulinus', Crayford, were invited to an open evening on December 6th, organised by Mr. E. A. Barnett.

The evening began with demonstrations in the tower in raising the bell, hand-stroke and back-stroke, by young beginners. Next several course of Plain Hunt. Rounds and Plain Bob were rung.
The rest of the evening was spent-in the Parish Hall, where cakes and tea were provided by Mesdames Barnett and Bond. The guests were shown a simple method in ringing Plain Hunt on handbells and also ture playing. The very enjoyable evening concluded with parents trying. rather unsuccessfully, to ring handbells.

New Five For Essex

The three bells at All Saints' Church. Shrub End. Colchester, are to be made into a ring of five with a tenor weighing about 6 cwt . The work is heing carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and it is hoped that the bells will be ready for ringing by the beginning of next November. The existing three bells were put in by the same foundry, about 1844. and were originally hung for ringing, but they have been in an unringable state for many years.

MR. HERBERT LANGDON,

London.

London has provided the Exercise with many famous ringers, but none more so than Herbert Langdon, easily the best known and best loved figure in the Metropolis. He is a wonderful link with those giants of the past such is Matt Wood, James Petitt, W. T Cockerill, W. Prime, Sam Joyce, H. Springall, Horrex, C. Burden, Tom Benney, W Tanner, Bob Newton, J. N. Oxborrow, J. W. brohers Pasmore, and many others, with all of whom he rang many peals.

His stories of these great men of past generations are always most entertaining and are listened to with great respect by all who are lucky enough to enjoy his friendship. To give even a modest account of his ringing career would take up the whole of the space in 'The Ringing World, and we are only able to deal with some of the highlights, which will give our younger members some idea of his stature as a ringer.

Mr. Langdon is the youngest of four ringing brothers, and son of Henry Langdon, Who was also a well known London ringer. The oldest brother, Harry, did not attain the same degree of prominence as the other three, Thomas, William and Herbert. Born in London in 1881. Herbert Langdon first learned to ring at St. Gites'. Camberwell, being taught by his brother, Wilhiam-who also taught T. H. Taffender to ring. After a period of call changes at Lambeth, he went to Chelsea and Fulham for his first experience of change ringing, and later migrated to St. Margaret's, Westminster, where Tom and Bill were already Westmins members.

RANG AT ST. PAUL'S FOR 58 YEARS

In 1900 he becume a College Youth, and in February of that year first rang at Si. Paul's Cathedral. His performance evidently satisfied the older members of the band and he was appointed as a substitute ringer, serving a full member of the St. Paul's Guild, and he rang there continuously until 1958, having been conductor since 1938, when he succeeded W. T. Cockerill. He rang his first peal (Holt's Original) at St. Gcorge's, Camberwell. in 1899. Which was conducted by G. E. Symonds, who also conducted his next three peals. His fifth peal, Stedman Caters, at Beddington, was conduated by that great ringer. Harry Barton, who had evidently taken a great liking for this promising youngster. who before long was appointed conductor of the St. Margaret's band.

Mr. Langdon never kept a record of his peal performances, but recent research kindly undertaken by Mr. Edwin Jennings, of Braintree, and Mr. L. Stilwell discloses that his peal total is 549 , of which he conducted 237.

Peals of which he can justly be proud are the record 21,363 Stedman Caters at Appleton in 1922, Carter's odd bob one-part Stedman Triples, both of whioh he conducted, and the silent performance of the latter on handbellsone of the greatest achievements yet. In 1923 he conducted the attempt for the record length of 12,675 Stedman Cinques at Southwark, which was 13 years later discovered by one of the band to be false. Langdon umpired the first handbell Surprise peal, Superlative, conducted by Harry Pasmore, with whom he rang many handbell peals, including Grandsire, Siedman. Plain Bob and Treble Bob an 8, 10 and 12 bells. Pasmore and Winney were the principal conductors. In 1904 he joined the Yorkshire Association, and struck up a lifelong friendship with the brothers Woodhead who were so impressed with his ability that they invited him to conduct the last peal on the old bells at Leeds Parish Church, and the first peal on the new bells.

Among many other notable peals in which he took part was the first and only peal of Cambridge Maximus at St. Paul's, with A. B. Peck on the tenor, and conducting. Langdon rang the 11 th-always the problem child at St . Paul's. She was in her worst mood, and after ${ }^{2 t}$ courses Langdon told Peck he was doubtful if he could finish. 'Well,' said Peck, "you say "stand " when you've had enough." He continued to the end of the 3rd course and thought he detected a slight improvement in the 'go.' He tried another course and she went a bit better. Deciding to carry on, he found that the 'go' deteriorated, but he stuck it out until the end. He said afterwards that had it not been for the wonderful rhythm attained by the rest of the band, he could never have rung that bell that night.

Herbert Langdon has been associated with Westminster Abbey bells since their augmentation in 1919, and he and A. B. Peck are the only survivors of the band who rang the opening touch there. He has rung more peals with Peck and the late C. F. Winney and has probably rung more peals of Stepney than anyone. His other hobby is cricket-he is a staunch supporter of Surrey, and if he had not taken up ringing there is no doubt he would have been a star performer in that game.

By profession he is a shipping agent, well known in the City and renowned for his reliability. He is as methodical and relipble with his work as he is with his ringing.

He has friends not only in London, but all over the country, particuharly in Birmingham. and it is a great joy to see him in the company of his dear old friend Albert Walker. May they both be spared to us for many more years!

JAFUS.

A WET AFTERNOON IN OXFORDSHIRE

On the afternoon of December 3rd a party of ringers from Radley College and village. Abingdon, Oxford, and even one from Cheshire, went on an outing to three Oxfordshire towers.
Our first stop was at Dorchester Abbey where we were joined by two of our friends from Oxford, and the Chaplain of Radley College. Here we all enjoyed ourselves, ringing on the heavy eight ( 16 cwt .), of deep. melodious tone. After about an hour's ringing we proceeded to Brightwell Baldwin. Here, after a welcome tea in the Village Hall. we did justice to the fair-going six ( 9 cwt.). We then pressed on to Warborough, where some of the best ringing of the day was had on this pleasant eight ( 10 cwt ). Ringing here ranged from rounds to Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Major.

We are very grateful to Miss M. R. Cross for very kindly arranging the outing, to all incumbents and tower captains, and to all those who so very kindly provided transport

ST. MARY'S CHURCH, AVINGTON, HANTS

By PETER DICKINSON
IT was whilst talking to a visiting band of ringets at my home tower recently I heard that the bells of Avington Church were to be sold. I knew that they had been unringable for many years but now the Rector and churchwardens had applied for a faculty to sell five of the six bells.
As this was to be the end of another ring of six bells in this part of Hampshire I went to Avington to find out some details about the bells and the events leading up to their being sold.

Avington is a pleasant village on the River Itchen, about $4 \frac{1}{2}$ miles from Winchester and is one of the smallest villages in Hampshire. At the present time it consists of the Manor House and nineteen cottages and the church
The Church of SL. Mary is a red brick building in the Georgian style dating from 1770. On entering the church I found one of the ladies of the parish was engaged in putting sonte new candles on the altar and she soon asked if I had been to the church before. As it was several years since I had been there, she cold me of the restoration work that had been carried out on the roof and windows and the considerable sum of money that had been raised to carry out the work. She also pointed out several interesting features such as the two-decker pulpit, the high box pews, the elaborate carving over the altar and the western, gallery, all in mahogany, a 'vinegar Bible' in a glass case, the 'flower vase' font and the barrel organ in the gallery.
I said that I had heard the bells were being sold and could I have some details of them? Apparently one of the bells was broken in pieces, another one badly cracked and to put the bells in order was beyond the resources of the parish, so, refuctantly, they had decided to sell five of the bells and have the tenor rehung for the service bell.
I asked if I might go up into the belfry and have a look at the bells and get any inscriptions that might be on them. The lady replied that she did not allow anyone up into the bell chamber without the Rector's permission as it was considered unsafe, but I was welcome to go up to the ringing chamber and view the church from the gallery. This I did and as I stood in the gallery I could visualise the old "choir' as described by Thomas Hardy in his novel "Under the Greenwood Tree.' In the ringing chamber there was little of interest-several old hatchments and the bell ropes. one of which came through the tread of the stairs to the bell chamber. On the floor were several old footstraps.
Back in the church the lady said she could not tell me any more of interest at present but if I would call at her house one evening she would furnish me with more details.
ON SAXON SITE

The following week I called at her house and both she and her husband were eager to help me find any interesting details. A former Rector, the Rev. H. Wright. went to great trouble about 1900 to trace the history of Avington and very interesting reading it makes. There has been a church on the present site since A.D. 961 . This Saxon building was dedicated to SS. Peter and Paul and was built in the time of Si. Swithun. who used to dnaw taxes from it.
In the year 1768 the Marchioness of Carnarvon and the Rev. Ellis Jones Clerk, Rector, applied for a faculty to buidd a church to replace the old Saxon church as the old church is a low building and is dark and incommodious for the parishioners of the said parish to attend Divine Service in and in several parts thereof is become ruinous and decayed.'

The faculty was granted The Church to be furnished with a new altar piece and communion table with suitable ornaments, a rew pulpit and reading desk, new pews and seats and a font for the use of himself and family and indrabitants, likewise a new set of bells.'
The new church was built at a cost of $£ 2.500$ and consecrated an February 23rd, 1770.

The details of the new set of bells are set out in the parish register as follows:-

Avington St. Mary's Church Bells.
Peal of Six Bells supplied by Pack and Chapman, A.D. 1771.

Cast at Whitechapel Bell Foundry, London.

* Bells marked thus are cracked through inferior ringing.-H.W.
There is no indication of the date that this footnote was added but in the Hampshire Chronicle; "o early 1959, the following note appeared in the + 50 years ago' column:
Avington: The Bellringers of Tichbarne Parish Church paid a wisit 10 Avington Church and spent the evening ringing Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob on the Church bells. They afterwards went to the Plough Inn, Itchen Abbas, and spent an enjoyable hour!
Following the list of diameters and weights is a list headed: "Mottoes on the Bells in the Tower
Treble: I mean to make it understood
That though I'm little I am good.
Second: If you have a judicious ear
You'll own my voice is sweet and clear.
Third: Whilst thus we join in cheerful sound Let love and loyalty abound.
Fourth: Ye pcople all that hear me ring
Be faithfull to your God and King.
Fifth: Such wondrous power to music's given It elevates the soul to Heaven.
Tenor: Ye Ringers aht that prize your health and happiness
Be sober, merry, wise and you'll the same passess.
Now after 190 years five of the bells are to be taken down from the tower and sold back to the Foundry whence they came. The money ransed by their sale will be used pantly to restore the fabric of the tower which has housed them for so long. It is many years since they have been rung and it will be interesting to know where they will go. Maybe they will be recast as a ring for another new church as they were before. but ene thing is certain: they will not sound through the Itchen Valley as they did the night Tichbome ringers rang them fifty years ago.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Fourteen towers were represented at the monthly meeting of the Barnsley and District Society. held at St. Peter's, Kirkthorpe, near Wakefield, on December 10th. A warm welcome was given to all present by the Rev. Gerald Barber, and then. because of another appointment. he vacated the chair to Mr. Noel F. Moxon. The present officers were pominated for submission to the general meeting at St. Mary's. Barnsley. on January 14 th . The usual vote of thanks was offered by Mr. Frank Brunt.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

Northern District

The combined attraction of Immanuel, Streatham, bells and a special penformance of Son et Lumiere' in Croydon Parish Church in the evening broughi an unusually high attendance to the nomination meoting of the Northern District on November 26th.

During the afternoon Immanuel bells were put to good use in a variety of methods under the supervision of the Master, Mr. F. E. Collins. The service, to the Associs. tion's form, was taken by the Vicar, the accompaniment to the hymns being played by a visiting ringer from Tanbridge. Tea followed in the New Church Hall and Mrs. Collins, with two helpers from Croydon Parish Church, put on a first class spread.
The business meeting was dealt with in the usual brisk manner so theat the 50 people present were not kept away from Croydon bells too long. Four new members were elected and ail the existing officers were nominated for 1961 . In addition, Mr. Tony Clayton. of Putney, was nominated for a place on the committee. The sum of $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$. was voted from the District Funds to the A. H. Publing Memorial Fund, without a dissenter. The Bell Fund collection amounded to 28s.
By o p.m. more ringers and friends had gathered for the performance of Son et Lumiere, especially arranged for the ringers by Mr. F. E. Collins. This proved to be a most impressive history of Croydon Parish Church over. 1.000 years, shown in light and by sound recordings.
The show is the church's contribution to the celebrations taking place in Croydon this year to mark its millenary. It was a privilege much enjoyed by all to have a special performance arranged, and concluded another most happy meeting.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION  Eastern District

The Eastern Branch held its winter meeting at Gorleston-on-Sea on December 3rd when 31 members and friends attended Gorleston Parish Church is a popular one for weddings and because there were two ceremonies during the afternoon, ringing was of necessity restricted. The new ring at St . Nicholas: Great Yarmouth, was, however. made available for an hour so that ringers did not have to be idle for long, or be disappointed.
The service was conducted by the Vicar of Gorieston, Canon E. L. Corbell. R.D., Mr. Tucker being organist. A hot meat pie tea prepared by Miss Barbana Smedley, of the local company. was held in the Church Hall. the meeting. which followed. being presided over by the branch chairman. Mr. presided over by the branch chairman. Mr. tion and branch officers.
Mr. H. W Barrett thanked the members for nheir kind wishes conveyed to Mrs. Barrett and himself on their recent silver wedding anniversary. The belfry election of Patrick Bird. Michael Sprackling and Tudor Davies to non-resident life memberships was ratified. It was proposed that the 1961 branch annual meeting be held at Loddon on February 11th. subject to suitable arrangements being made

The meeting was told that the bells at Kessingland were being augmented to six and would be opened after Christmas, also that the rehung ring of ten at Aykham would he opened on December 10th. Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar. the organist. Mr. Bird (Master of the local company) and Miss Smedley for the excellent tea arrangements.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

METHOD NOMENCLATURE

Dear Sir.-When the peal in 29 Major methods was arranged at Heptonstall, with unusual method nomenclature, jt was realised that we might shock a few people, but we never dared to hope that we should be an inspiration for poetry, and under the circumslances I should like to clarify certain details.

The peal report is, of course, quite genuine. The composition and detaids of new methods were sent to 'The Ringing World' with the report. so perhaps the figures will be published in due course.

The composition itself has no special merit, and the methods included are all simple variations of well known methods, but as 10 of them had never been rung before, we were faced with the problem of finding quite a large number of names. Eight of the new methods, although acceptable as methods, are not in the Central Council Calleotion. so there was no question of just giving them a C.C.C. number. As it might have proved difficult associating names with methods we named eight of them after members of the band and two after places and in fact in that way we were able to associate the method structure and name quite easily.

We don't claum credit for all the exotic place names in the peal. several of them had already been chosen by previous bands, but surely your correspondent should find out more about places like Lesser Wopping before he decides that they are inappropriate for methods!

In the days of College Exercise. Shipway's Court and London Sctiolars' Pleasure, etc.. when, penhaps, ringers had not settled into an unalterable routine. names given to methods usually had a significance. and did not simply copy the names of places, in many cases not in any way associated with the methods they gave their names to. At present we are probably the only band ringing the offending methods. so maybe we can on this occasion be permitted to copy this very early Lradition.

We don't intend to ning a full peal in any of the methods, but if any ringers do, we shall be pleased to accept any names they choose for them.-Yours faithfully.

Sale. Manchester.

THE PROFESSOR'S INVESTIGATIONS

Dear Sir-With reference to Mr . W Shepherd's letter. page 515 of The Ringing World for July 29 th last, upon ahe above World: for July 29th last. upon ahe above
('R.W. leader. July 15 th ). I made a few notes at the time concerning the questions he raised but circumstances then conspired to prevent my completing them. I hope I am not now toc. late. and that they may be of some assistance.
The Professor's investigutions are sound enough in the main but in handling the various equations we musi bear in mind that for reliability only definitely known values may be ascribed. Now in giving his examples the Professor was dealing with imaginary ringers and so could obviously only assume or suppose particular values. Had he been dealing with real ringers it will be seen, from a careful study of his equations. that he would. by the application of these methods. have been in very great danger of making many enemies for life. Any reader doubring this should try it out.
The celehrated Herr Taubenhaus, who strode across the stage of internitional chess for so many years. used a similar method for assessing the potentials of his many opponents. and stopped at nothing in order 10 obiain any information over and above his first-hand experience concerning them. which he considered to be necessary.

It is not known how this fact got abroad but get abroad it did, and it is recorded that in a raid upon his hotel room during the great tou:nament at Braden-Baden (presumably by people who had suffered at his hands) all his papers disappeared. Nothing else was touched. When the worked examples of his methods were studied in the light of named individuals such a howl of rage went up that Herr Tauhenthaus packed hurriedly and fled, and it was quite a while before he dared appear in another top-ranking tournament.

Now. the Theory of Equations-that every numenical equation has a root, i.e., some quantity in a numerical form, real or imaginary, which, when substituted for the unknown quantity in the equation, shall render the said equation a numerical identity, is by no means self-evident, nor is it easy to afford evidence for it which shall be at the same time convincing and free from limitations. The argument of Clauchy, however, in his demonstration consists in showing that the quantity which it is wished to prove capable of being reduced to zero, can be exnibited as the product of two factors, one of which is incapable of assuming a minimum value or, in other words. that a less value than one assigned can always be found, and that therefore it is capable of acquiring the value zero. The argument is not completely free from objections. but is perhaps less objectionable than any of its forbears.
The solution of simultaneous equations of the first degree, two or three unknowns, may be presented under the form of a set of fractions. the numeratiors and denominators of which are symmetric products of the coefficients of the unknown quantities in the equations. These products were called resultants by Laplace but are now known as determinants, a name first applied to certain of them by Gauss. - Yours faithfully

Stourbridge. BERNARD C. ASHFORD.

LEADING PEAL RINGERS

Dear Sir,-Soon the annual list of 'Leading Peal Ringers, will be published again. I sugguest that this year you publish not ondy the name and number of peals, but also the tower with which each ringer is associated for service ringing purposes. This would not only help to connect our leading peal ringers more with Sunday service nunging, but also give readers some idea of the homes of these disembodied names. Always this list is a mere repatition of names that have become familiar through reading the peal columns. The additional information would at least help us to associate a band or group of pead ringers with a particular tower. town or peir ringers whith a particular tower. lown or city, which should add to the interest of the peal colunms next year.
1 know of pead ringers (last year we were told that there was a group of them) who withhold their names from this list. Their main reasons seem to be that no one else wants to know this information and they are not publicity seekers. Perhaps they can be persuaded to send details this year. There are people who want to know, both friends and strangers. The column is news-please don't help to strangle it.-Yours faithfully
Bristol
it.-Yours faithfully,
PATRICK J. BIRD.

B.B.C. TIME SIGNAL

Dear Sir.-With Mr. Herbert Langdon and Mr. C. W. Roberts cannot we add the name of Thomas H. Taffender. senior (Taff). to those associated with the B.B.C. time signal? We should be grateful if the actual list. names of ringers and positions taken up. were to he published soon-in . The Ringing Wonld. I remember "T.H.T. telling me a year or two ago that the bell; went rather badly at the time.-Yours sincerely.

OBITUARY

MR. A. J. SKELDING

The Worcestershire Association has lost one of its oldest members by the passing of Mr Albert J. Skelding. on November 23ird.
He was elected a member of the Associa tion at its annual meeting. Easter, 1895, and became Nornhern Branch secretary in 1920 and held this office until 1933. when he was succeeded by Mr. W. B. Cartwright, now the Associations Master.

For many years he rang at St. Thomas' Stourbridge. but around 20 years ago, jus prior to his retirement. he left Stourbridge to reside at Oldswinford and became a member of the band at St. Mary's.
He was elected a Freeman of the Association in 1950, but indifferent health and failing sight put a stcp to his ringing aotivities although he maintained a keen interest in tike atfairs of the Association.
The funeral took place at Oldswinford, on November 26th. and was conducied by the Rector. Anchdeacon Hurley. After the interment handbells were rung over the grave by members of the Northern Branch. followed by a quarter peal, half-muffled. of Grandsire Triples by a band representative of the four Stourbridge towers and Brierley Hill.

MR. W. SMITH

Ringers of the Melton District were very sorry to hear of the death. on December 1lith. of Mr. William Smith, of 123. Kings Road. Melton Mawbray. Born at Hose. 58 years ago, he learned to ring in that tower under the guidance of Mr. Willie Sharpe. He also rang at Long Clawson, and rang the tenor to the first peal on these bells in May. 1927. Mr. William Smith (his namesake). from Turra Murra. New Souih Wales, rang the treble on that occasion
He joined the Framland Society of Change Ringers in 1919 and had been chairman for the past six years. He was also a member of the Leicester Diocesan Guild and was District chairman from 1948-49. He had taken part in four peals-two for the Framlands and two for the Leicester Guild
The funeral service took place in Melton church on December 13 th and was conducted by the Vicar. Cinon C. M. S. Clarke. Mr. J. Gilson and Mr. F. Sheppard represented the Framland Society and Leicester Guitd. A wreath was sent by the former.

MR, ARTHER HAIGH

AN APPRECIATION

It was with deep regret that I learned of the passing of Arthur Haigh. of Blackpool. I leave to someone who has a more intimate knowledge of his iffe and career the wriring of his obituiry, but 1 feel I musi express appraciation as one of those who, when stationed at Elackpool during the war, was made welcome at the haven. in East Topping Sireet, by a perfect lady and a perfect gentleman.

Many are the happy hours that I. and others in simslar oircumstances, have spent there, ringing handbells. talking about ring. ing and making music. whilst Mrs. Haigh prepared the coffec or altered the buttons on my greatcoat to make it fit. or gave us a solo from the 'Messiah.
have no doubt that all those who had the privilege to know Arthur Haigh will feel. as I do. a sense of deep personal loss. Our sympathy goes out to Mrs. Haigh and Mary.
May he rest in peace.

CALL CHAVGES

In Call Changes the bells ring in the same sequence a number of times over. The most musical sequences have tenor bihind.

At some stage in the progress of a ringer or a band of ringers, it may be convenient to make use of call changes, the main objects being:-
(1) Training in ringing in different places and over different bells.
(2) Avoiding the monotony of prolonged rounds.
(3) Avoiding the ' discords' associated with attempting change ringing when there is litule hope of doing so with success.
(4) Making the bells sound at their best for services-from the point of good striking and musical sequences-when the band is not capable of good change ringing.
Call changes enable us to select and ring the most musical sequences and this should always be the aim when they are used.
There is a variety of systems of conducting call changes but the one described below will be found very satisfactory, especially with a band of heginners. A few words of warning: If it is the intention, ultimately, to progress to method ringing, it is advisable, whilst making use of call changes for service ringing. to practise simple change ringing exercises leading to method ringing.

A good system of call changes is to start from rounds and aim at gradually bringing up a selected musical sequence by changing one pair of bells only at each call. The change is made at the handstroke after the call is made. The command should be called at a handstroke. When one pair of bells change places it means they will both foHow a different bell at the next handstroke until further orders. One other ball will have a different bell to follow after the call, i.e., the one that is after this pair in the sequence. Suppose we move from rounds (123456) to 113546. 4 and 5 have been changed. 5 is now following 3,4 following 5 and 6 following 4. To produce this sequence (123546) the conductor need only say. 5 to $3: 4$ to 5 : 6 to 4: At the next handstroke the ringers of these bells carry out the command. thus producing the required sequence (123546).

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Eastern District

The winter meeting of the Eastern District was held at Pocklington, on December 10th, when about 25 ringers attended. The service was conducted by the Vicar. Rev. G. Christie.
An excellent tea was provided by the local ringers wives, and was foHowed by the busiress meeting. presided over by the viceprevident. Mr. A. E. Sellers. Two new members were elocted-Jeanne E. Bottomley and David Rhodes. both of Bradford Cathedral. Sherhurn-in-Elmet was selected as the next place of meeting. if passible on April 8th. The secrelary announced the week-end course in bell ringing to be held at Grantley Hall, near Ripon, from March 17th to 19 th .
The secretary promised to write Mr . F. W. Dale. of Hessle, wishing him a speedy return to good health.

The standard mechods were rung and also Yorkshire and Cambridge Surprise Major.

A WORCESTERSHIRE SKITTLES MATCH

Friday, December 8th, saw the floods down and spirits up. for that evening the Worcester Cathedral Guild was to meet the Southern Branch of the Association in a skittles match at the Vialage lnn, Twining.
The Southern Branch was rather short of ladies so the Cauhedral Guild lent them two to make up the teams to seven-a-side. The first game was won by the Southerners by 138 to 122. The second game went to the Cashedralites with 132 to 109 , John Slater having the highest individual score.

After this game someone called "Time." which is short for 'That's all, so arrangements were hurriedly made for a return match.

The evening was a great success, so much so that one member was heard to say he was thinking of it all through a yuarter of Stedman the next day. Everyone is looking forward to the next time. when it is a home match for the Southerners.

BIRMINGHAM'S BROADCAST

For the Christmas morning broadcast from Birmingham Cathedral. two recordings were taken on December 8th.

The first was two courses of Siedman Cinques in which the company stood H. H. Fearn 1. M. Reay 2, E. C. Shepherd 3, R. W. Pipe 4. B. D. A. Woolley 5. J. Pinfold 6. R. G. Edwards 7, N. J. Goodman 8. J. McDonald 9. J. A. Anderson 10, G. E. Fearn 11. W. T. Froggatt 12.

The second was a full course of Cambridge Surprise Maximus, rung by H. H. Fearn 1 , M. Reay 2. E. C. Shepherd 3. R. W. Pipe 4. B. D. A. Woolley 5, J. Pinfold 6, B. liendry 7, N. J. Goodman 8, J. McDonald 9. R. G. Edwards 10. J. A. Anderson 11. G. E. Fearn 12.

The choice will be made by the B.B.C.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

An extremely enjoyable and successful afternoon was the verdict of all who attended the North Devon Guild meeting at Chulmleigh. on December 3rd. Some very good striking of Siedman, Grandsire. Bob Major and Kent was much appreciated by the local crack callchange band.

After service. tea was supplied by the local ringers wives, and at a meeting Preb E. V. Cox took the ohair in absence of the branch chairman.

On re-entering the tower, water was found to be pouring through the 3rd sally hole. Not to be beaten. Tom. from Plymourh. called an excellent louch of Stedman, wearing trilby and mackintosh. One ringer, the local wag. reckoned he was sweating bobs and singtes at the end of the touch! Thank you, Chulmleigh. for a warm welcome.

THE LADIES' GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the Western District was held at Warmley. Bristol. on Dacember 10.h. The somewhat ehilly weather was, no doube. to blame for the unusuatly small attendance. Ringing during the afternoon was followed by a service, conducted by the Vicar. Preb. Francis. Tea was then taken in the Church Hall. Votes of thanks to the Vicar and to Miss Webb for a splendid tea were proposed by Miss N. Williams. At the business meeting four new members were elected: Mrs. S. Mathews, Miss E. Webb, Miss G. Hussey and Miss D. Rogers.

The next meeting, the annual, will be held at St. James', Bristol, when it is hoped that there will be a good attendance.

PUTNEY RINGERS IN SUSSEX

A fine day being provided on November 19th, Putney ringers and friends set out for a day in Sussex. Bolney (8) was the first stop, where we were particularly pleased to meet the Vicar, a former Putney curate. The 'go' of these bells is quite good, but the tone poor. At Hurstpierpoint (8), the bells were excellent, both for tone and 'go.'

Arriving at Brighton, on the ten at $S t$. Peter's we managed Grandsire Caters, for the first time on a Putney outing. Bob Royal, despite the fact that the fifth had no stay! After lunch and a look round the town we went to St. Nicholas' (10). This ring must be among the best toned productions of the Croydon Foundry.

ST. NICHOLAS', BRIGHTON, visited on the recent Putney outing.

The splendid Norman church at Shoreham wals the next call, where we added Double Norwich to the usual repertoire of the four standard methods. By now it was dark, and after a much-needed tea we circumnavigated country lanes to the delightful village of Amberley (5), with its castle, which formerly belonged to the Bishops of Chichester. and pleasant old ring of bells. Here various madcaps rang Orpheus Doubles. which we were informed was Stedman before Stedman invented Stedman! Our last stop was at Billingshurst (8), where the bells are very noisy in the ringing chamber. After a few hitches. Cambridge Major was rung for the first time.

Our thanks go to all incumbents and tower captains who helped to make this, perhaps, the most successful outing we have ever had.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Chew Deanery Branch

The annual meeting of the Chew Deanery Branch was held at Yatton, on December 3rd. when approximately 50 members and friends representing most of the towers in the Branch attended. The fine sing of eight bells was put to good use prior to the service, which was conducted by Rev. W. Paton, in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar. An excellent tea, prepared and served by Branch lady members in the Churah Hall. followed the service.

At the business meeting those present first stood in silent memory of members of the Branch who had passed away since the previous annual meeting. These were Rev. A. J. Hobbs (Winford). E. Goldstone (Portishead). H. Marshall (Yatton) and F. Derrick (Clapton-in-Gordano). Arising from the minutes, it was agreed to defer the question of a corporate attendance at Evensang, one Sunday. until the next meeting.

The accounts for 1960 proved satisfactory and officers for 1961 were elected as follows: Chairman and Ringing Master, H. W. Knight ; vice-chairmen. C. Bishop and L. Derrick secretary, D. Yeo, and reporter. M. Horseman. Two new members from Yatton, three from Portbury and one each from Nailsea and Kingston Seymour were elected, and it was agreed (provided permission was forthcoming) that the April quarterly meeting should be held at Backwe't. with mondily practice meetings at Easton-in-Gordano. Chew Magna and Weston-in-Gordano, for January, February and March. respectively. The half-yeanly Corporaie Communion was arranged for Portishead on the fourth Sunday in April.

A welcome was extcnded to Mrs. Sirong. of Nailsea. after her illness and the business concluded with Rev. W: Paton, who had acted as Chairman, proposing a vote of thanks to all who had contributed to such an enjoyable meeting.

Further ringing look place under the direction of the Ringing Master, Mr. H. W. Knight.

SCHOOL RINGING SOCIETIES MEET

Through items appearing in 'The Ringing World' the bands from Shebbear College, North Devon. and Cirencester Grammar School knew of each other's existence and met for the first time on Advent Sunday, at Holy Trinity. Watermoor, Cirencester. The Shebbear party, consisting of three masters and 15 boys, started at dawn in charge of Mr . J. Queen (ringing organiser). The Cirencester Grammar School hand has no Master attached. Peter J. Lewis was the leader

After ringing Grandsire Doubles and rounds at Watermoor, the party went to Cirencester Parish Church and rang rounds on the 12 and Grandsire Doubles on the back eight with three bells covering. Both school bands. 37 in atl. piled into six cars and proceeded to St. Mary's. Meyseyhampton. where good use was made of the six bells. for an hour Methods rung were Grandsire. Pkin Bob Doubles and Minor and Reverse St. Bartholomew's
A sandwich lunch was partaken of in the schoolroom at Leahlade. and the ringing afterwards was more successful. Stedman Doubles was added to the ringing repertoire at South Cerney. An adjournment followed to Cirencester Arammar School canteen. where the ringers were welcomed by the headmaster and Mrs. I. V. Barnett. Tea was served by the girls of the Cirencester bend and speeches followed. In thesc Ian R. Slee. on behalf of Shebbear. thanked Cirencester for their hospi:ality and invited them to make a return visit to Nonith Devon. Peter J. Lewis replied with hopes of a, return visit. Shebbear College was reached safely by $9.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$

Marston (Oxon) Ringers' Outing

On December 3rd. a very windy and wet day. Mareton and other ringers had an outing into Buckinghanshire. Towers visited were Wootton Underwood. Waddesdon. East and Stecple Claydons. Twyford. Launton and Marsh Gibbon.

At Launton they had the pleasure of ringing with the Deputy Master of the Guild (Mr. Frederick Sharpe). A warm welcome was accorded them at every tower. Home was reached at 10 p.m.. some of the band looking as if they had been on a cross-country run.

RINGERS' CROSSWORD (No. 4)

A LANCASHIRE CLUB CORNER

By FRED TAYLOR

- Ah see they're buryin' Jemmy Lofty today, th' beliringer,' said owd Dick as he cut up his usual pipeful.
'Why, is he deeud?' asked little Tommy, holding his hands over the cheery, welcome blaze of the fire.

It he deeud?' went on owd Dick. 'Wot art axin' a question like that for? Would they bury him if he weren't deeud?'
' Nowe,' Tommy chirped. 'yo've getten me in a knot this time. Anyroad. ah'm very sorry to 'eat that Nice chap. was Jemmy. He'd bin a bellringer a good number o' yers. He'll be missed, will jemmy, "cause they're not blessed with too mony bellringers at th' churches these days. It doesn't seem to atlract th' youngsters, ah reckon they want a bit o' summat moor excitin'. Poohin' a rope with a bell at th' end is not excitin' enough fer a lot $0^{\prime}$ young folks today. Ah see vicars are cry'n' eawl for 'em up an deawn th country. They've a shortage $0^{\circ}$ young belllingers an they're findin it very difficult to fill 'th' gap. It'll be a pity if bellringin' dees cawt. because ah allus think they've a sweet soothin' seawnd someroad to th' ear.

Owd Sam struck a match and held it for a second or two over his pipe before he spoke. 'There's nowt nicer: he mused, "than to listen to the church bells pealin' o'er th', countryside on a summer Sunday neet. Th' sun just nestlin behind the trees, a gentle breeze blowin' thi strains o' the bells fra some owd parish church oier th' meadows, th' corn fields. th' pasture lands, an' even o'er th' hills an' across th' dales. Wot does tha sey, Bob?'
Bob leaned back in his chair and grinned broadly. ' Th' seawnd of a church bell is appealin', he exclaimed. 'no matter wheer yo 'ear it, Sam. Ah know there's lots o' folks Who look on 'em as owd fashioned an' eawt o' date, but fer mesel ah'd be sorry to see 'em go. Ah've listened th' bells 'ere in Wiggin fer donkeys yers an' they seawnd nicer every time ah ear 'em.'

Owd Dick, perched in the opposite corner, nodded approval. Ah quite agree with thi, Bob,' he murmured, 'an' owt that's beautiful to th' eye an' th' ear should be classed as an art. an' Jemmy Lofty, whom they buried today, 'as given me an' thousands of others pleasure with his bellingin'. He's devoted aw his spare time to this job in th' belfry fer th' biggest part of his life an' ah reckon Jemmy will land at heaven's gate awreet. Wot do yo' think, Sam? Don't yo' agree?'

- Of course, ah do.' replied the old fellow. an yo' must remember this. That th' bellringin is not just poohin a rope an' makin' a din. It's a art, an' a gradely art, an' one that ah reckon owt to be encouraged. Thee travel th' district an' listen to church bells in every locality an' that'll discover heaw each church seems to send eawt a little message. a little S.O.S. of its own. Anybody with a bit of imagination can decipher some inner meanin that comes fra them tuneful chimes of a Sunday neet. 'Ave yo' ever tried gooin' on a tour of th' Wiggin district some Sabbath evenin' an' translated 'th message they seem to broadcast?'

Owd Dick smiled. 'Nowe, ahive ne'er thowt abeawt it that road. Sam. But ah can fancy a chap could get a lot o' pleasure by so doin' We'll ave a tmp reawnd this summer, thee an" me an' Tommy an' Bob 'ere. We met pick summat up. Thoose bells met sey summat we've never yerd befoor. Ayc. we'll ave a saunter reawnd owd lad. if God spares us.'

- Well, ah ve "ah some experience of it: owd Sam went on. 'an' ah tell thi that these bells ave a language of their own. Ah went reawnd the leawn one neet this last summer an' ah wrote deawn me thowts in a laht verses as ah was gooin' along. Yo' met think it was quare thing to do, but further ah went an moor ah loved it.
- Co on. chirped little Tommy, 'let's "ear a hit $0^{-}$Shakespeare fra al Wiggin ex-coaler. tlras off. Sam.
'Well,' began Sam. ' ah didn't write 'cm in th' dialect but in th' Queen's English. So yo' must sort it eawt for yorsels. 'Ere goes,

Church bells have a language
Yes, they speak to us, you know,
Have you ever heard their messages
As on your way you go?
"Oh come to church, good people, come,"
The sweet bells seem to say,
I hear them on this Sabbath
As I plod my silent way.
For on this Sunday evening
I decided I would seek,
To translate their precious meaning
In the language that they speak.
And Im travelling round the countryside, Surrounding Wigan Town,
To listen so attentively
Then write each message down.
"Ye shall walk and not faint,"
Said the Wigan All Saints'.
" Do not build upon sand," Said the bells of Up Holland.
"Build your house on a rock,"
Replied the bells of Poolstock.
"Come into the fold."
Said the bells of Parbold.
"For I am the way,"
Said the church bells of Haigh.
"You can't live as you wish,"
Said the bells of Standish.
" God's laws are in full,"
Said the bells of Aspull.
" Come, worship your God,"
Said the bells of Blackrod.
"Come workman or prince," Said the bells of Ince.
"Yea. come doubly or singly," Said the sweet bells of Hindley.
"For you, Christ has suffered."
Said the church bells of Rufford
" So repent of your sins," ${ }^{2}$
Called the bells of Billinge.
"Then the battle's half won,"
Replied the bells of Ashton.
"What say ye that I am?"
And on this lovely evening,
This glorious Sabbath day.
histened to the messages
These sweet bells have to say.?
Little Tommy knocked the ash from his cigarette. 'Well,' he muttered. 'it's not so bad fra an owd pit lad. Ah'm just reminded of an owd bellringer ah once knew very weel. an' weis he retired he bowt a nice little bungolow an' cawd it "The Chimes." Ah allus used to think wot a lovely name it was. an one that browt back happy memories of past experiences.
Bob gave a chuckle. "Ah shall ne er forget owd Chippy,' he mused. 'he ran a chip shop. biggest part of his life. an' wen he an h:s wife retired, they bowt a bungalow too, an wot does tha think he named it?'

Tommy shook his head and smiled.

Dunchippin,' replied Bob, 'an' ah thowt he couldn't 'ave hit on a better name. Anyroad. ah think we'd better go an see if the chips are ready. Ah'm leavin' yo 'Tak' thi time." shouted Dick. 'we're aw gooin' one road. Pooh th' dor to. Sam. Look after yorisels, folks. Be careful. Tommy. Keep smilin' everybody, an' don't forget. if yo' want to get into business where yo re sure to get a foothold-it's easy. Become a chiropodist. Cheerio!"

Mr. Ranald Clouston has had Part II of "The Chuich and Other Bells of Aberdeenshire published. He is joint author with the late Dr. F. C. Feles, and is at present engaged on the third and final part waich will cover the city of Aberdeen. and review the work of the various founders in the county.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

 Chertsey District DinnerThe Chertsey District scored a very successful 'first in the method' on December 10th, when a District dinner was held at "The Ship Hotel,' Weybridge. Fifty-six ringers and friends sat down to an excellent meal, under the gernial chairmanship of the Guild's Master, Mr. C. W. Denyer
Proposing : The continued prosperity of the Chertsey District. Mr. Denyer said how pleased he was to note the spirit of the district, particularly in view of the days when it was seriously considered dividing the area between the other districts. The Farnham District would have to look out if it wished to remain the leading district!

The District Ringing Master. Mr, R. Collins. replied, and paid tribute to those who had worked so hard, often in face of great disappointments. He mentioned, in particular, Messrs. W. Shepherd. J. B. Hessey, F. J. Dodson and F. E. Hawthorne. who was still giving the benefit of his experience to learners.
Mr. Hawthorne proposed "The Ladies and Visitors.' and hoped that ningers" wives would be considerate when their husbands went off for an occasional peal! He welcomed those visitors who were not ringers, and had a special word for Mr. W. Goldstone, the oldest ringer present.
Mrs. Kitty King replied on behalf of the ladies and thanked Mr. Hawthorne. pointing out that at Hersham it was quite common to have 'bertes" at hoth ends of the rope.
A varied programme of entertainment followed. under the direction of Mr: J. King. including handhell ringing, also piano solos from Colin Chinnery.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

The quarterly meeting of St. David's Guild was held at St. Dingad's, Llandovery, on December 10th. Members attended from Llandilo, Carmarthen. Barry Port. St. David's, Llanelly, Ltandovery College and our friends from the Swansea and Brecon Guild. The Vicar, the Rev. C. Thomas, officiated at the service and the members were entertained to a very nice tea by the Mothers Union.
At the business meeting, with the Vicar in the chair, all present stood as a token of respect to the late Mr. C. H. Hawkins, who had passed away since our last meeting. The Vicar then welcomed the Guild to Llandovery and opened the meeting. A touch on the handbells was given by the Swansea and Brecon members and the collection for the Bell Restoration Fund realised $£ 1$ 4s. The suggestion of a joint meeting with the Swansea and Brecon Guild was passed to the committee. Also the place of the next quarterly meeting. This is due to the fact that Cardigan bells are being restored and it is possible that they will be ready by next Easter.

The Ringing Master. Mr. R. Warburton, gave the good news that there is a possibility that Nevern hells are going to be restored. This will mean an extra two rings of six in the Diocese. It was abso suggested that the annual meeting should be made a full day's ringing: starting at 11 a.m. instead of the usual 2.30 p.m.
Four new probationary members and two life rineing members were proposed. Mr. W. Wilfiams. Carmarthen. then proposed a vate of thanks to the Vicir and the Ringing Master. and to the ladies who provided lea. The Vicar responded and olosed the meeting with a prayer. Members then returned to the lower to ring until $7 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

RINGING STORIES

By G. E. SYMONDS
At Christmas, 1900, the Thornham (near Eye, Suffolk) ringers went 'boxing ' with handbells. On December 31st they visited the Hall. After ringing in the entrance the owner gave his subscription and ordered cakes and beer to be brought. Upon preparing to leave he thanked them very much. As the next day would be January 1st, 1901, he said: 'I wish you all a happy new century,' whereupon old Ted blurted out: 'Same to you, sir, and many on [of] ' cm .

The following shows how unenlightened are some people when listening to bell-ringing.
Overheard in St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, churchyard during the 'firing ' after a wedding: - What strong men those ringers must be to pick up all the bells and bang them together.'

This was a long time ago. The Bishop was visiting St. Mary-le-Tower the next day. The Vicar asked the Master to have the bells rung for the occasion. The Master explained that the ringers were scattered in different parts of the town and it was impossible to get them together. To this the Vicar replied: "There are plenty of men standing idle on the Cornhill with nothing to do who would be glad of a job.'

The late William P. Garrett told a clergyman that the peal he accomplished at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, London, was the first rung by electricity. His Reverence said: You had an easy job. Mr. Garrett then corrected himself, saying: "It was the first rung with electric light.'

Years ago, a writer to one of the Ipswich papers often criticised three subjects, viz.: Prams on the pavements, teachers' salaries as compared with that of clerks, and, of course, bell-ringing. He mentioned that he received 750 letters of complaints-he must have counted all the letters in one epistle, finishing by stating what sense anyone can see in banging two pieces of metal together he could not understand.'

The writer replying to a toast to the ringers mentioned this, and said: What sense about $1,000,000$ people can see in watching two pieces of leather knocked about on football fields on Saturdays I cannot understand.'

Being somewhat hard of hearing, a young ringer said to me what sounded like this: "After a week's tour and finishing, with a peal at Debenham I had 15 whiskies '; to which I replied: 'It would have been cheaper to buy a bottle.' He answered: "What good would a bottle be for 15 blisters? ' Got it?

AN IMPORTANT OCCASION AT ECCLESTON

Still hale and hearty at 92, Mr. Sam Jones, of Eccleston Cheshire, celebrated his birthday on December 10th, when a band representing several branches of the Chester Diocesan Guild assembled in the affernoon and rang a well-struck peal of Plain Bob Triples on the fine eight at Si. Mary's Church.
This was followed by high tea at the house when our veteran occupied the place of honour at a table daden with good things, having as its centrepiece a magnificent cake made by his granddaughter. Nearby, lay a greetings telegram from the Bishop of Chester which read: An behalf of myself, personally. as well as of the ringers of the Chester diocese I send you heartiest congratulations on your 92 nd birthday." Mr. Jones treasures this greeting as he remembers when he rang 120 Grandsire Doubles with the Bishop. The toast of the evening was given by Mr. S. Jones junior. who conveyed the sincere wish of all present-" Many bappy returns.

A pleasant hour was spent afterwards round the fire with the customary talk of bells and towers. ringers and peals. All too soon the time to depart arrived and with renewed good wishes the visitors lefit Sam to his cosy fireside. The whirs of self-starters was soon heard beneath the great yew tree against the chunchyard and one by one the visitors left the sleepy village.

THE RABBITS' GUILD

TTHE fourth annual general meeting took place, according to custom, on the Feast of St. Francis, when for the first time the members gathered openly wearing the Guild badge, with its device of the Rabbit Trippant, proudly conscious that the danger of reprisals is past.

The Master's speech, thoughtful and constructive as usual, was received with enthusiastic approval. He began by expressing his delight in the steady expansion of the Guild, the increasing respect accorded to it, and his firm belief that in pursuing the objects for which it was founded it renders a service to ringing which could be given in no other way. He added, with characteristic modesty, that he did not venture to hope that he, the first Master. was worthy to figure as a Servant of the Exercise, but he did confidently expect that the honour would be early accorded to a successor in the office of Master.

Perhaps the subject of most general interest with which he dealt was the silent tower. 'Wherever I go, and I travel a good deal,' he said, 'I enquire about the local towers and the prospects for ringing, and I am appalled by the number of churches equipped with rings of bells, many of them fine rings in good order, and all lacking the one essential -ringers to ring them. This only bears out, of course, the findings of the recent survey, but I suspect that the true position is even worse than that revealed by the admittedly incomplete returns.
'I have given much thought to this sad subject, and especially to consider in what way our Guild might modestly contribute to an improvement. My idea is the formation of mobile bands, made up, as occasion arises, of ringers whose services are not always required in their own towers, or who belong to bands which for one reason or another cannot maintain regular morning and evening service ringing. If a mobile band were to offer to man some of these silent bells, perhaps on a special occasion, such as the patronal festival, I have no doubt that parishioners would be greatly delighted by the sound of their bells. and that in many places interest would be so aroused that a local band would be formed, and eventually the reproach of a silent tower removed.
' Of course,' he went on 'the recruiting of mobile bands and the skill required would be quite beyond the capabilities of us Rabbits alone, but if anything of the kind were anywhere to be proposed I trust that we should hasten to pledge our support. Our performances, alas! leave much to be desired, but after our long, long years of earnest practice some can manage a little change-ringing, and most can achieve tolerable rounds. I believe that in such an enterprise we Rabbits could fitly justify our venturing to exist, and our example be a great encouragement to wouldbe learners and such as have lapsed in despair. We should, of course, be happy to encourage properly qualified applicants by enrolling them in the Guild.'

He added that though it was incompetence in ringing which brought about the gathering over which he was presiding, members were not necessarily failures in other walks of life, and many could do good service in maintenance work and in making neglected bells ringable. He claimed to be himself capable of a pretty splice. The applause of the meeting gave ample evidence of its approval of the Master's suggestion, and there was a cry of 'Up, the Roving Rabbits!'.

Thereupon the meeting discussed several matters of interest. One was the function and technique of the standerbehind, in which both subject and speakers were vexed. It was entirely agreed that the stander-behind sadly lacks an accepted convention and his vagaries add yet another and a huge stumbling-block to the path of the learner. Too often he does not know whether instructions relate to bells, places, what he should be doing now this very instant, at the next pull, as the next piece of work, or even at the next lead. One member reported that his instructor, who is rather slow in the uptake, tells him what he should have done last! There was complete agreement that clear instruction on this point, even better, an agreed convention, would go far to ease the struggles of the learner, especially of the Rabbit-in-the-making, and save many a collapse into chaos. There was a complaint from many quarters of instructors who issue wrong orders, revoking them as soon as the unfortunate tyro is hopelessly lost, with a casual 'Sorry,' followed by a new set of orders. an ordeal which no Rabbit can be expected to survive. The suggestion that the threat of honorary life membership of the Rabbits' Guild would strongly discourage such unfair behaviour was accepted, and members were authorised to make the threat wherever it is deserved. The cry of a member who had evidently suffered especially severely on this score. 'That'll larn 'em!', was endorsed by a burst of applause and some anticipatory chuckles, nods and winks.

The committee which had undertaken the task of preparation presented its Hims for Instructors. In the wonds of the chairman; Some dre born rabbits, but some have rabbitdom thrust upon them. The hints were generally considered excellent, and were agreed with the addition of one outlining the Guild's advice on the stander-behind and with the fervent hope that those for whom tiey are intended wil profit by them. to the alleviation of the lot of the Rabbit and the tenefit of the Exercise generally.

Two members reported that having met shont for an attempt for a peal of Minimus. and the suggestion of a peal of Singles having caused one of the three to fall in a dead faint. the remainder of the band rang 5.040 changes on two bells. They claimed that as peals of Minimus are compatible with continued nembership of the Guild their lesser exploit was inoffensive. Their claim was allowed. but such performances are considered really beneath the dignity even of Rabbits. The clappers. of course, were tied.

This matter led to a discussion on the 'no peals' rule. The argument was put forward, and strongly pressed. that as the rule has caused much distress to members of less than average incompetence it was not in the best interest of the Exercise that they should be expelled from the Guild on scoring a peal. The general feeling of the meeting was evidently in favour of continued mombership on the grounds of 'once a Rabbit. always a Rabbit.' Formal notice is to be given for this impontant matter to be debated at the next A.G.M. and a vote to be taken on a proposed relaxation of the rute.
Having disposed of the business to everyone's satisfiotion. the meeting adjourned to partake of the annual feast. at which members greatly enjoyed the special dish traditionally served on this occasion humble pie with caper sauce.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

 Loughborough DistrictThe last monthly meeting of the Loughborough District was held at Hugglescote on December 17 th, and, probably due to the thick fog prevailing or to last minute Christmas shopping taking priority, the attendance was very disappointing. only eight members being present at the service (including the organist). This was unfortunate as it was the very first service taken by the Vicar (Canon C. G. B. Watson). after his induction to this living. the previous evening.
In spite of the weather. visitors from as far afield as Cottesmore (Rutland). Derby and Church Gresley made brief visits during the afternoon and evening so that Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman Triples, Little Bob, Kent T.B. and Double Norwich C.B. Major were rung with ample opportunities for the learniers present to make progress.
Owing to the smalt number present, no business meeting was held but Mr. H. 0 . Over. in the absence of the District chairman, expressed thanks to the Vicar and to all those making the arrangements, and announced that the next meeting (the annual) will be held at Whitwick on January 14th.

Dr. D. J. Neal Smith and his daughter, Gillian, both rang in their 500 th tower on December 10th-the doctor at West Meon and Gillian at St. Mary's, Portsea. Both are regular Sunday service ringers but neither of them has ever attended a service for which they have rung! After ringing they both rush off to their bell-less church at Richmond, where the doctor is organist and Gillian sings in the choir.

Mr. John Euston informs us that he is hoping to arrange the Veterans' Reunion in Londan on June 24th.

Owing the musical activities at Winchester Cathedral there will be no practices on December 28th. January 4th or January llth.
This term Bristol University Society has sung nine quarter peals and every member who is capable of plain hunting has now scored his first quarter.
Mr. Ron C. Noon. of Spalding. enquires who has a complete record of peat names. In submitting a peal of Newmarket Surprise Major he states he is prepared to rename it if it is a duplicate.

The Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association have rung a married couples peal at Darlington, as a wedding anniversary compliment to their president and Mrs. Thomas Cooke.
There is a bright future for Bowdon, Cheshire, tower with nine teenagers in the band and another two at college. On a recent Sunday three old grandads, including the tutor and tower captain, sat out while a band with an average age of 15 years 8 months rang.
The three bells of St. Botolph's Church, North Cove, and St. John the Baptist, Barnhy, near Beccles. Suffolk. are back after receiving attention at the Loughborough Foundry, which included the recasting of the North Cove tenor. Steel frames have been provided to replace the wooden frames. which were badly attacked by death watch beetle. Both towers have been silent for years. The work is expected to cost $£ 1.500$.

GOSSIP

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jeffs, of Thrapston, Northants, entertained two separate peal bands to tea on the occasion of their silver wedding. One band, of which Mr. Jeffs was a ringer. unfortunately failed in their attempt at Titchmarsh. but the other band was successful at Thrapston. Two separate rooms were needed to accommodate all. but the hos's stitl proved very agile in the handling of the teapots, the toast being 'Many more happy years ahead.'
Putney ringers rang at Southwark Cathedral for the ordination of their curate to the priesthood on December 18th.
Most humorous greetings card we have received this Christmas is from the Wringing Master of Tewkesbury and District, performing his stint at the wringer. We wonder if ii is the honorary secretary, and navigatress. Nadine, directing operations with the rolling pin.
The first peal has heen rung in Stoulton Campanile. Worcs. The bells are claimed to be the lightest ring of six with a tenor of 107 lb . Mr. Arthur Jopp started collecting them in 1946 and had them tuned by John Taylor and Co.. Loughborough. in April, 1959. The tenor has a 17 inch diameter and is in C. It was cast by Mears and Stainbank in 1866.
Roger 0 . Fry, one-time secretary of the Bath and Wells Association. was ordained deacon. by the Bishop of Bath and. Wells. at the Church of St. Michael. Yeovil. on Sunday. December 18th. It is at this parish he will serve his first curacy. Also ordained last Sunday, was C. R. Chad Coussmaker, who has been appointed to a curacy at Southampton.
F. Keith Williamson. of Leeds University Union. will go down in history as the first man to ring a peal by himself. It was of Minimus and duly witnessed. We cannot imagine the Central Council permitting such performances after next Whitsun, but as the Rules and Decisions stand there does not appear. to a layman. anything against this performance which Mr. Williamson describes as a novelty.

ENTERPRISE IN DERBYSHIRE

A heartening example of what can be achieved by enthusiasm and perseverance comes from Chelmorton. a small village not from from Buxton. For many years, four unringable bells had hung in the Parish Church, and the villagers conceived the idea of providing the church with a better ring Those mostly interested in bells got together and started to raise a fund to have the existing old bells recast into a ring of five. After a lot of hard work. sufficient money was raised to justify work being commenced, and during the present year, an attractive ring of five bells has been dedicated.
Provision has been made in the frame for a sixth bell, and, encouraged by their success, the ringers are already hard at work, led by Churchwarden Mosley, raising the necessary funds to complete the ring. The latest news is that, as a result of a prize draw and whist drive, a sum of no less than $t 98$ 10s. 6 d. has been realised. which clears all debts on the installation of the ring of five, and has given a start towards providing the sixth bell.
Expert ringers from many part of the country have visited Chelmorton and have expressed their admiration at the quality of this attractive ring. The Universities Assooiation gave practical help by sending donations, and Mr. Burley Morris, secretary of the Derbyshire Association, has also been busy with advice and instruction. Already the band has made good progress, and we hope it will not be long before we see records of their achievements in 'The Ringing World.' and also a report that the hard working ringers of Chelmorton have realised their ambition to possess a ring of six.

JOINT MEETING AT KILBURN

The annual joint meeting between the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesian Guild and the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths was again a successful occasion. there being about 50 present and more for the ringing sessions. This was in spite of the date having 10 be altered to December 10 th and the venuc boing out of town.' Three apologies for absence were received.

An Evensong service was held in St. Augustines Church, when an interesting and thoughtful address was given by Father Wikinson Tea followed. served admirably by Mrs. Birkinshaw and her helpers, and was attended by Father Riley and Father Wikkinson. who extended us a welcome to Kilburn. Handbells were brought into use before returning to the tower. In addition to the light eight at Kiburn. the heavier eight at Holloway were available, and a good standard of ringing was maintained at both towers
After suitable welcomes were extended by Mr. T. J. Lock, on behalf of the Association. and by Mr. D. Beresford. on behalf of the Society, thanks were accorded to Mr. D. C. Birkinshaw. local captain. and Miss D. Deverell. Holloway, and the two incumbents for use of the bells and other arrangements made.

SERVANTS OF THE

'JAFUS'

If prominent members of the Exercise were to be matched with heroes of classical antiquity then the place of Nestor might well be represented by Mr. J. Frank Smallwood, convener of The Ringing World Committee. Jafus, as he is known to us in his writings, is by no means the oldest of our veterans, but he is certainly one of the wisest and one whose advice on ringing, or on any other matter, warrants serious attemion.

He was born in Birmingham in 1884 (within 200 yards of the birthplace of his old friend Albert Walker), attended Bishop Ryder's School and learned to ring at the church alongside. He joined St. Martin's Guild in 1903. but his first peal. Grandsire Triples at Bedworth in 1907, was not rung for any association. This fact led Mr. Smallwood to suggest the formation of the Warwickshire Guild. He took an active part in this work, was honorary secretary of the Guild for two years and called its first peal in 1908 . He is now among the very few surviving foundation members.

His peal total is about 400, and it includes some notable performances. He rang in the first peals of Cambridge Twelve and Brisiol Surprise to be achieved in Birmingham. the first peal on Exeter twelve in 1924, and the first peal of Bristol in Derby in the same year. Mr. Smallwood is a very competent handbell ringer. and he took part in the first handbell peal of Stedman Cinques rung in the city of Birmingham and the first in Coventry and York. He has rung peals on most of the rings of twelve in this country, and the list includes three at St. Paul's Cathedral.

A printer by trade, he has held important posts in Derby. Ipswich. Manchester, Bolton. Bath. Derby and London, and it is doubtless $t 0$ this wide experience of men and matters in different parts of the land that we may attribute his deep knowledge and great tolerance. While in London he was a member of both the St. Paul's Cathedral and Westminster Abbey bands. and he holds the Queen's Coronation Medal awarded for services in ringing at the Abbey for the Coronation. In 1950 he was elected Masier of the Ancient Society of College Youths, an honour of which his friends in St. Martin's Guild were very proud.

To ring with Frank Smallwood is to recejve a subtle lesson in concentration and devotion to the job in kand; to sit in his company in the social circle is both a privilege and a delight. To hear his downright views, whether on Spliced Surprise ringing, current ringing events, or the state of Birmingham's streets, is to feel instinctively the tolerance and good humour that lie behind his plain pronouncements. And the fund of stories and anecdotes of ringers past and present contains of malice no trace but of impish humour a vast seasoning. To the beginner in the art his advice is fatherly but never patronising, and his encouragement to the learner is ungrudging.

In 1909 Mr . Smallwood married Sarah Phyllis Gilbert, and he has two daughters. He has often remarked that whereas his old Iriend Albert Walker had to go to Taunton to learn to ring and to find a wife, he managed to do both in Birmingham. Neither he nor Mr. Walker, he avers, has ever had any cause to complain. He is a vice-president of St. Martin's Guild, to which Society he presented a handsome peal book, a trustee of the Ancient Sociesy of College Youths, and Ringing Master of the Peak District, Derbyshire Association. During World War I he served for four years in France and Belgium.

Mr. Smallwood became a member of the Central Council in 1939, and he served on the first committee appointed to examine the Rules and Decision of the Council. He is now, as is well known, convener of The Ringing World' Committee, and it is here that his sound commonsense, his clear view of practical possibilities, and his courageous caution, have been of inestimable value. Those of us who have seen the problems of - The Ringing World' only from the fringe can scarcely conceive the anxieties and disappointments of the critical days through which the paper has passed (and indeed may still be said to be passing). The committee and its convener have never eased from mental fight, and they have faced boldly and uncompromisingly discouragements and difficulties from which most of us might well have recoiled.

Mr. Smallwood (like one of our famous Prime Ministers) has not hesitated to present to us a sombre picture, but to hear him marshal his facts before the Council is to feel that here is a tenacity, indeed a stubbornness, that will not admit defeat. His enthusiasm for the cause remains unimpaired and his declared consuming ambition is to see - The Ringing World 'standing on its own feet. financially sound, and with a circulation of 10.000

The work of saving 'The Ringing World from extinction is alone sufficient to justify a man's existence in the Exercise; and had Mr Smallwood no other claim to our notice, yet this would suffice to place him among the first Servants of the Exercise. Let this present series, then, end with a tribute to him that created it.

MELTON DISTRICT DINNER

The annual dinner of the Melton District of the Leicester Guild was held on December 10th at the canteen of the Midland Woodworking Company, by kind permission of the management. An exceHent meal was provided hy the canteen staff for the 80 ringers and friends present. The visitors included the president. Mr. P. I. Staniforth, and Mrs. Staniforth. Rev. R. S. and Mrs. Northmore Rev. L. and Mrs. Leader, Rev. A. G. L Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. A. Ballard, Mr. Ernest W. Rawson. Mr. Philip A. Corby and Andrew. from Kent, also Mrs. Corby senior.
The chairman (Mr. R. E. Manton) welcomed the company and proposed the loyal toast. The Rev. S. R. Northmore in a very good speech proposed The Leicester Diocesan Guild. to which the president replied. Miss Betty Smith (on behaif of the committee) proposed 'The Visitors.' Mr. P. A. Corby, in his reply, said how glad he was to visit Melton again.

After a course of Stedman Triples. on handbells, there was an excellent social evening with dancing and party games. logether with a monologue and trick cycling by the Beverly Quartet and that great star of variety, Mr. Jack Skinner.

AYLSHAM BELLS AND RINGERS

By NOLAN GOLDEN
THE bells and ringers of Aylsham have a long and interesting history. On December 17 th another page was completed with the dedication of the recently rehung ring.

In the sixteenth century a shoomaker of the town, one John Betts the elder, made this request in his will:-

Item 1 will there be bought a tribill bell to the $v$ bellys in the steple of Ailishm by the advyse of Ed. With of Ailishim and John With his sonne of and for the $\operatorname{sim}$ of xli.
And if it may be bought better chepe i bequethe to the seid Edmu'de With and John for ther labor iche of them vis. viijd. And the rest if any be to be bestowed abought the frame of the same bell to hang yn .'
This was in 1529, but in 1553 the inventory states that there were but five bells in the tower. In accounts for 1647-8 we find: "Pd for ye Bricke carrying wch was used about the new running ye greate bell, 4s. Od.' and the next year, Paid John Long for his hempe strying at the greate bell shooting, 10 s . 0 d , and good againe, $£ 1$ Os Od. Among documents of $1653-4$ are two bonds of John Draper and John Brend in $£ 50$ each for well shootinge the great bell.'
Then in 1677-8, Samuel Gilpin, of Norwich, was paid $£ 118 \mathrm{~s}$. 10 d . for recasting the saint's well and $£ 1414 \mathrm{~s}$. 6 d . for the third bell. In 1685 he recast the fifth bell, which work he carried out in partnership with Edward Tooke.

A tablet in the ninging chamber is inscribed: - John Curtis and Thomas Coulson. Churchwardens when this Ring was made into eight, 1700.' In that year Gilpin and Tooke cast four new bells and twenty-six years later what is now the eighth bell in the ring had to be recast. This cost $£ 17$ 3s. 3d.. and was undertaken by the Nonwich founder. John Stephens. taken by the Nonwich founder. John Stephens.
Soon the present ninth had to be recast and it was done on the spot as was often the case. Altogether the work cost $£ 31$ is. Od., $\pm 18$ for Thomas Newman, the founder. and the rest for the furnace, clay, casting materials, building the furnace. stock and ironmaterials, building the furnace. stock and iron-work for the bell-fittings, ale for the workmen and for cleaning up the church after the work was done!
At the same time that St. Peter Mancroft Church was preparing to receive its new ring of twelve bells, Aylsham's peal was augmented of twelve bells, Aylshams peal was augmented to ten. The Norwich Mercury, for June 17th. 1775, carries this paragraph: "This is to aoquaint all lovers of the Art of ringing, that the Aylsham peal of Ten Bells has been inspected by Messrs. Osborn and Arnold. Bell Founders in St. Neots. Hunts. and it was found necessary to have the first four bells recast. which are completed by the parties above mentioned: for sweetness of tone, and perfectness in tune are allow'd (by Judges) to be a complete peal of Ten as any in the kingdom. the Tenor weighing $19 \mathrm{cwt} 3 \mathrm{qrs}$. kingdom. the Tenor weighing 19 cwt. 3 qrs. Peter's new tenor, it is thought to be an ingenious pieec of work as ever was executed by any founders. Aylsham's ten bells were 'opened on Monday. June 19th. 1775, and the renowned twelve at Mancroft two days' later. And so for nearly two centuries the ten bells have been ringing out for services, for weddings. for funerals and for days of national rejoicing and thanksgiving.
CHANGE RINGING FROM 17th CENTURY
The ringers of Aylsham have always been both acrive and proficient. Change ringing century and simple changes became the study of ringers all over England. and by the beginning of the eighteenth composers were engaged in solving the problem of producing by a regular method every change on seven bells. Once the problem was solved. it became the ambition of all companies with eight bells. to ring a "peal' of 5.040 changes. Having their octave in 1700, the Aylsham ringers $b=g a n$ to tackle the intricacies of change ringing with enthusiasm, and from the newspaper controversy in 1731 , between the rival Norwich companies at St. Peter Mancroft and St. Michacl-at-Coskany. we read in a letter, wrilten by Thomas Melchior and published in the Gazelte': We take leave to tell the Aylesham Ringers that we do not believe that they rung 5.040 changes at once pulling down any more than they believe that we have pricked or rung Stedman's Triples.' We have no record of such an early peal by the Aylsham ringers. but if they were not so advanced as the Norwich men, they were evidently cxperi ringers.

A MASTERLY PERFORMANCE
The first peal rung on the bells and which is recorded on a stone tablet made by the conductor. Samuel Thurston, of Norwich, was on Monday. April 28th, 1817. The Norwich Mercury' speaks of the peal as 'being the first that ever was undertaken in that Steeple. Consisting of 5.264 changes of Bob Steeple. Consisting of 5.264 changes of Bob Major. which took 3 hours and 12 minutes to ring. the tablet, a pleasant example of early nineteenth century mason's work with three bells in the 'raised" position above the top and one with the mouth downwards hanging from the bottom, informs us that it was allow'd by Judges to be a masterly performance, a Bell not being misplaced nor the repetition of a single change. J. Clarke W. Mitchell. J. Turner. T. Gooch. T. Edridge. J Warnes (churchwarden) and H. Bunn were the orher ringers. Anouher peal was rung, according to "The Norwich Mercury on October 25th. 1817, again conducted by Thurston. The wording is mysterious for it speaks of 'five thousand and forty of that most musical peal of Bob Major Treble. which was cleanly brought round in three hours and one minute without misplacing a bell, and we have reason to believe that this was the first peal of the kind ever rung.' No other names are mentioned.
Seven years later a band. made up with the help of ringers from Norwich. Coltishall and Kenninghall, rang a peal of 5.280 changes of Oxford Treble Bob Major in 3 hours and 5 minutes.
A peal board on the north wall of the ringing chamber commemorates, a 5.440 of Oxford Treble Bob Major in 3 hours and 3 ! minutes, rung on January 9th. 1838. Taking part were Charles Clements, aged 17, Samuel Mayston, aged 16 -unusually young at that time for peal ringing. and Charles Middleton. of Marsham. a name never to be forgotten by change ringers since he composed the only original peal possible. tenors together, for Cambridge Surprise Major and almost every week thrs composition is rung somewhere. first peal was rung on the ten bells by 'the Aylsham and Marsham Society - there being a close bond between the ringers of those places. They met on many occasions, first at one and then at the other tower. to exercise their skill. They had rung well over 5.000 changes nine years before when. 180 changes from the end. the tenor clapper fell out and invalidated the effort. The successful peal was one of 5.000 changes only. in the Tittum position. and "was brought round in 3 hours and 20 minutes
Tens of thousands of changes. rung by hundreds of ringers. have flown from the throats of the bells of St. Michael's tower. since that eventful day in 1852 . Long may they broadcast their music over the town and call the people to worship. And in the future. when they need again the skill of the bellhanger. may there be people in Aylsham with the same enthusiasm and generosity of those of roday, to make it possible.

MEMORIAL TO MR. C. W. BLAKEY DEDICATED

On December 17 th many members of the Lancashire Association came to Rishton Parish Church to be present at the dedication of a memorial to a gooci friend and brother ringer, Charles William Blakey. The congregation also included a large namber of relatives and friends of Mr. Blakey. It was unfortunate, however, that the fog in some parts of the county had reduced the attendance.
After an hours ringing, the dedication service-a short form of Evensong-was conducted by Rev. W. Brandwood, Vicar of Rishton. This included a sermon by Rev.
R. D. St. John Smith, president of the Lancashire Association, who recalled the attributes for which 'Charlie' Blakey will be remembered and admired-his talent as a ringer and as an organiser, his loyal service as secretary of the Blackburn Branch and member of the Association committee, and most of all his strength of character and love of simplioity, honesty, and fair play. At the end of the service. the memorial table and visitors' book were brought to the nave of the church so that the book could be signed by those present. Eventually the memorial is to be placed in the ringing chamber.

There followed an excellent tea, after which all those who had in any way helped towards the success of the occasion were duly thanked. The vote of thanks could not be extended to include the weather, which had deteriorated. thus increasing the desire of ningers to begin their homeward journeys, and therefore the evening ringing was somewhat curtailed. Even so, the event will remain as a most pleasant memory to all who were able to attend.

RINGERS' CHRISTMAS OUTING

On December 17th a company of ringers from St. Wendreda's Church, March, held what has now become an annual Christmas outing.
Two old and respected friends were visited: Crowland Abbey's bells were rung for an hour. the ringers' efforts being witnessed by a macabre and recent acquisition attached to the tower wall-the skull of a former illustrious abbot. The Abbey had the first chime of bells in the land. and the present bells werc the first to be broadcast in this country. Incidentally, the rope-draught (over 90 feet) is the longest in the country

Deeping St. James was next visited and the grand ald bells of the Priory Church were put to good use: some of the best ringing of the outing resulted here. The tenor weighs $19 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{cwi}$ and it was cast in 1620 by Tobie Norris. of Stamford.

An enjoyable tea-Christmas cake and allamid the traditional festive decorations. was partaken at Market Deeping. Handbells were rung. after which the party journeyed to Durobrivae. near Peterborough!
This former Roman settlement (called Castor nowadays) has a remarkable churchcruciform in design-which was dedicated on April 17:h. 1124. to St. Kyneburgh. a daughter of Penda, the pagan King of Mercin.
Here the ringers broke fresh ground and they were made very welcome by the Rector and the lacal leam. The bells in the central tower are very musical and are a plearure to ring. The March campos were most fortunate in being allowed to ring them. for an architect has stated that these bells must be runo sparingly in order to preserve the outstanding Norman tower.

Many thanks to those who met the visitors at the churches. also to the clergy.

LETTERS TO

WHY ARE THE BELLS RUNG?
Dear Sir.-I am more than a little puzzled by the Rev. Michael Freeman's suggestion that Bob Major rung on Sunday for a service is not necessarily a better offering to God than a peal of Siedman on Saturday.
If Mr. Frecman merely wishes to say that We are entitled to enjoy our ringing. and having enjoyed it. are entitled to use it as an orrering to God, then there can be no dispute. We are entitled to offer to God whatsoever we choose. though it is as well to remember the fate of Cain and his offering. But when Mr. Freeman suggests that a good peal of Stedman on Saturday is likely to be accorded the same degree of divine approval as Bob Major rung for a Sunday service then I must take issue with him, and frankly. I can find nothing in his letter which supponts such a contention.
Surely th: purpose for which the bells are being rung is of paramount importance

The peal bands and the service bands equally enjoy their ringing and equally ofter it to the service of God. What, then is to distinguish their effonts? The service band, surely, is ringing the bells for the purpose for which they were intended. i.e., as a preliminary to public worship and to advise the congregation that such worship is about to take place. Does this count for nothing? Mr. Freeman mentions a good peal of Stedman is opposed to Bob Major rung ... on Sunday: Does the method really matter? The service band struggling with Plain Bob is giving of its best just as surely as the peal band coasting through Stedman, and nothing more is asked of any of us. In my view the "widow's mite " of the Plain Bob men will be found equally acceptable-and probably much more so-than the richer offerings of their more able brethren.

But there is another side to all this which Mr. Freeman mentions but does not pursue, and this is our service, as bellringers. to God and our neighbours. These two thingsservice to God and service to our neighboursare inextricably associated. for we cannot love God and ignore our neighbours. How. then. can we best use our bells in the service of both?
Many years ago. when a young boy. I once asked. Why are the church bells ringing? My mother told me that it was Ascension Day. I thereupon decided that Ascension must be a very important day indeed.
In more recent years business took me, one evening, to a district which was new to me. I heard the bells ringing and asked a man the same question of many years ago. The man replied that he didn't know. but thought there may have been a wedding earlier in the day. "Or." he said. " maybe one of those damn ringers has had a birthday or a baby or something.
Pondering over these two incidents. I can't belp feeling that it is a great tragedy that the ringing of our bells is not always and immediately associated in the minds of the public with the worship of God. And I also believe that the church would he well advised to insist that all except service ringing should be on fully muffled bells. Then. when the bells are heing rung open on a weekday people other than young boys may ask, "Why are the church bells ringing? And sooner or later they may come to associate Christmas with Christianity, and on a Patronal Festival they may come to realise that it is the church and not a ringer that is having a birthday.-Yours faithfully.

THE EDITOR
'ALL TIME' RECORD HOLDER

Dear Sir.-The remarkable actevement of Mr. Ernest Morris in surpassing William Pye's record peals total will be acknowledged throughout the whole of the Exercise. As Mr. Pye had rung well over one thousand of his peals for the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, I extend, on behalf of its members. our congratulations to Mr. Morris-although appreciating that he himself is a non-resident life member.

The announcement of this new record coincides with a spare time " job of mine recording the peals rung by the Middlesex County Association and L.D.G. I have just passed the point when. in 1914. Mr. Pye, rang his 100 th peal on twelve bells. ' a feat never before accomplished. In the three ycars. 1912-13-14. thirty-five peals of Stedman Cinques were rung for the Association. quite a number being on handbells. In 1912. two peals of Stedman Cingues were rung at the Church of St. Mary the Great. Cambridge. on August Bank Holiday Monday, but the year following one peal of Maximus and one peal of Cinques were rung during the day on these bells, there also being recorded a peal of Stedman Cinques on handbells the day before.

Referring to Mr . Morris recent leader and his estimated number of peal attempts I have kept my personal record of peal attempts and. one day, when I have tahulated them I would pass on to you the figures if they would be of interest.-Yours sincerely
T. J. LOCK.

Honorary Secretary
Middlesex County Association.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The monthly meeting of the Biggleswade District was held at Arlesey on December 10th. with Mr. L. Bywaters as Ringing Master The receatly-inducted Vicar of St. Peter's. Rev. E. B. Edgell. conducted Evensong and welcomed everyone to his church.
Nineteen ringers were present at tea which had been prepared by some of the local ladies in Si. Peter's HaH. At the business meeting Rev. E. B. Edgell was made an meeting Rev. E. B. Edgell was made an honorary member of the Association. Mr. A. Smith then thanked him for taking the service and the ladies for preparing tea. Ringing continued but only one of the special methods. Double Bob. was rung

THE WHITTINGTON CHANGE
Dear Sir.-May I take issue with Mr. T. J. Lock on his statement that The Whittington change is for not less than eight bells.
I have always considered it to be at its best on six bells for then the six notes fit the six syllables of the words. Turn again Whitington. I have rung this set change hundreds of times and in imagination fitted the words to it. On six bells it runs 5-3-1-7-4-6.
Perhaps those who do not usually ring six or have never rung it on six would try it out.-Yours sincerely.
C. KENNETH LEWIS.

STEDMAN AND  'CAMPANALOGIA'

By T. A. BEVIS

'CCAMPANALOGIA or the Art of Ringing Improved 'has been rightly or wrongly described as the bellringer's bible. Unlike the Bible, however, 'Campanalogia.' pontrays but litule of its worthy author's personality. Apart from an unassuming foreword, Stedman, remarking an the excellencies contained in Grandsire and Grandsire Bob. with "great variety of New Peals' allows his pen a brief yet unimpeded flight when addressing his much esteemed friends, the members of the Society of College Youths.
Introducing his book with its variety of compositions. he adds with a flourish .. I therefore thought fit to usher them into the world under the wings of your protection. The dedicatory concludes, Gentlemen: as member I held myself obliged to add my mite to your full fraught treasury of speculative and practical knowledge of this kind; though I confess your acquisition on this account will be very mean, since my want of ability sufficient to undertake a thing of this nature. and also want of opportunity, by converse with others to supply my own defects, have rendered the book less accepable than it might have been done by some more knowing head and acuter pen... The countenance you show it will silence detractors and be armour of proof against the fools bolts which may happen to be soon shot at the author, who is, gentlemen, a constant wellwisher to the prosperity (though an unworthy member) of your Society.-F.S.'
It is unfortunate for the Exercise that so bittle is known about the Father of English Changeringing. Born in 1631 , Fabian Stedman lived to a ripe old age; he died in the year 1713 and was interred in the Church of St. Andrew Undershaft.
A printer at Cambridge. Stedman became an active and devoted layman, serving the university town's oldest and most venerable fane-a small church with a proud Saxon tower, dedicated to St. Benedict

SOWING THE SEEDS

Here it may be assumed-in this hallowed place-the first verbal expressions peculiar to the bellringer were uttered and the five complex and oft-times whorthodox and nowadays unaoceptable pattern of scientific ohange ringing, Unorthodox as ringing may have been all that time ago, there was laid the firm foundation which lends support even coday to those numerous methods heard echoing from the church towers of this island, and more important, here was sown the seed of the most mysterious and intimate brotherhood the kand has ever known.
Richard Duckwonth's 'Tintinnalogia' made its appearance in the last half of the 17 th century, and this book was followed in 1677 by Stedman's publication, Campanalogia. which tends to be regarded as a mere report of what was already then established ringing practice. The original : Report containing 231 pages was printed by W. Godbid. and sold by Langley Curtis in Goat Court on sold by Lan

Stedman went to London in 1662 . and was elected treasurer of the Scholars of Cheapside. a ringing society which had a shoritlived existence. being dissolved in the same year.
In 1664 Stedman joined the Society of College Youths, and soon after his admittance to that Society returned to Cambridge. Haying published 'Campanalogia' F.S. again moved to London and was employed by the Audit of Excise. He was elected Master of the College Youths in 1682.

Campanalogia makes interesting reading. and in certain respects reminds the reader that the nerve and life-force of the early campanological embryo remains inextricably entwined in the complicated structure of the completely developed science as the art would appear today.
The book's opening pages describe in detail the art of changes: Its author makes it sound so easy... As if five men were sitting upon five stools in a row; the stools are supposed to be fixed places for the five men. but the men by consent may move or change to each other's places at pleasure, yet still sitting in a row as at first... And likewise a peal of five bells, being raised up to fit a compass for ringing of changes, are these supposed to have five fixed places, which time assigns to there notes or strokes.

MULTIPLICATION OF CHANGES

One is then introduced to the multiplication of changes, from four bells to 12 bells produc ing $479,001,600$ changes. Of the latter Sted man wrote that if one man should attempt to prick them down on paper, 1,440 to a sheet, they would take up 655 reams of paper and upwards, 'reckoning five hundred sheets to the rearm, which paper at 5 s . the ream, would cost $£ 1665$ s.

On defining changes on three, four and five bells and on larger numbers, Stedman weaves into this particular chapter, an incredible mass of figures, one 'sum' of which is finally arrived in the following amount: 1402645824276320, and this permutation, according to the author, requires $561,058,329$ reams of paper. "which paper all the houses in the City and Liberties of London would not contain ... and all the people, both young and old, in the City could not speak the like numbers of words under forty years and upwards, each of them speaking 15.000 every hour and twelve hours a day
In order to outline the admirable effects of the art, Stedman concludes with an example in which 20 horses with carts and a bricklayer provide mediums for the working of the necessary mathematics on the same principle of changes on larger numbers of bells. finally arriving at the figure of 13.953,600.000 bricks. After the proportion of 150.000 bricks to a house, they would build 93.024 houses. which are above six times as many as the late dreadful fire in London consumed.' One may readily assume that thus was devised the maxim, "blinding one with science!"
Dealing with an introduction to the practice of ringing, Stedman places special emphasis upon the musical qualities of betls, . . every peal of bells being tund according to the principles of music. for a peal of six bells are the six plain Song-Notes, whereupon all musick consists, namely. la. sol, fa, mi, re, ut.'
He continues by describing the various ways, of producing music on bells from 'rounds, to 'concords' and lastly to changes, a system which he described as 'intricate" and which induced him to pen a Treatise as a clue to guide the practitioner through the labyrinth of such changes.

IMPORTANCE OF THE TREBLE

Stedman wrote that the most important bell in a peal is the treble (none will disagree. I'm sure) and for that reason the most judicious ninger ought to be put on the treble, for that bell cannot possibly be rung true by any other means than by beating of its own time. .
The author states that the truest way of raising a ring of bells is as quick as may be, every ringer taking assistance 10 raise his beil, according as the going of it requires.

The falling of the bells from a sett-pull must gradually be done, by checking them only at the sally, until the low compass renders the sally useless ... then he that rings the treble may give notice (by stamping on the ground) that the next time the beils come to strike at the fore-stroke, they may be checked down so low as to cease their striking at the back-stroke, yet their striking round at the fore-stroke may be continued, until they are brought into a chime, which is a graceful conclusion of a peal.

Having written further on the raising and lowering of bells, Stedman's sensitive pen imparts this ancient pearl of wisdom to the ringer

EAR AND EYE

The ringing of changes is performed partly by the ear and partly by the eye; the ear informs when to make a change. the eye informs when to make a change. the eye directs the pull in the making of it: but directs the pull in the making of it: but then again the ear guides the striking of the note true in its place according to time. . First, the ear, as a sentinel. discovers the near approaohing change, and also the place refers it 10 the ear, to place the note true in striking.
Entering into elaborate detail, 'F.S.' then proceeds a lengthy lecture on the essential truths leading to accurate striking:

Observation 1: The learner must be able to distinguish the notes of a ring of bells one from another, and to know them asunder,. © Observation 2: The learner must rightly apprehend the place of the notes.
Observation 3: The next thing to be understood by the learner is the precedency of the Obses.
Observation 4: On the change between two notes, by moving them into other places..
Observation 5 : In the time of ringing changes-first, to observe and readily to know which two bells are always to make the next succeeding change: secondly if the learner is concerned therein, to consider what bell he is to follow in the making of it.
Painstakingly setting out the above observations, which the reader will agree are the basic elements of first class striking, Stedman portrays his ability as a patient and helpful mentor. Suffice to say, the practitioner of nearly 300 years ago, and even more recently, must have benefited in the perusing of his work.
Stedman was well aware of the complications involved in ringing method. Have we not all nervously confronted this old-established predicament? It is the old. old story

BELL CONTROL

- In the ringing of ohanges, his (the learner's) mind will be so buried and wholly taken up with the consideration of the course and method of them, and his eyes continually wandering about to direct his pull in the following of the other bells, that unless he has extraordinary skill in the managing of his own bell, and can set it in a manner hood-winkt. he will be apt either to drop or overturn it; or else on the other hand. for want of skill, his eye and mind will be so fixed on his own rope and bell to guide the time mind the course of the changes, and then 110 wonder if he is in a wood, which conseque itly follows.
He continues, .... Therefore 'tis not enough that the young practitioner can set a bell it may be half a score times together, when 'tis an even wager that he either drops or overturns it in those ten pulls: but he musit be so skilled, as that he might adventure to lay ten to one. that he can set it thirty or forty times together. both fore-stroke and back-sroke. without dropping or overturning it. and without looking directly either on his hands or rope whilst he sets it.

How many ringers, nowadays, who, endcavouring to perfect their skill in the art of ringing, would practise tuning their voices io the notes of the bells? There are many ringers in these enlightened days who readily admit their inability at recognising individual rotes in a ring of bells: like the defective eye in its inability at recognising colours. Stedman maintained that should a learner be unable to match his voice to the bells, then a person must direct him therein. and also teach him how to take the true pitch of any notes with his voice-the only means in which to distinguish them asunder

The author lays heavy emphasis on the use of the ear, '... the chief grounds of this Art depends on the ear... and to speak the truth. most practitioners are in these days (and one might add in our own day) somewhat deficient, herein.'

Food for thought is placed before the reader in the next paragraph: 'The ringing of changes (has) generally diverted the learner's fancy from the practice of raising, round ringing and ceasing, by which means we have in a manner lost one excellency in the pursuit of another. Therefore. I would wish that the practitioner of this art would set a greater Esteem on true ringing in general. since the only excellency as well in the ringing of changes as rounds. depends thereon... Therefore, the practilioner ought to have a musical ear. and to have some judgment in beating time. without which he can never ring his bell true to its place.
It would seem. then, that in Stedman's day. as in our own, the desirability of minute examination of each stage and the familarisa-

MAKE HASTE SLOWLY

I recall to mind the words of a well known gentleman. now passed on, to the effect that if a practitioner cannot ring 720 changes of a particukar method without having to be old what to do. then he is not master of that method, and it is therefore inadvisable to wrestle with other compositions until he can ring a full extent without error, placing his bell in the exact place, not almost there, thereby developing a rhythm-aided by complete understanding of the work-which makes all ringing beautiful to hear.

Perhaps a litte too harsh? One might be parmitted to point out that agreeable maxim, appropriate to the ant: Make haste slowly
The bellringer has not changed so very much in the last 300 years! At meetings, at work. at home and on holidays, there may be seen protruding from his pocket that indispensable book with its complicated figures and blue lines. In his wallet and in his diary there are seraps of paper on which have been written strange designs and scores of figures to assist him in ringing and conducting touches and peals

In ringing chambens one is confronted with arge printed sheets showing method construction, and even blackboards carefully marked with chalk. as well as the writing on the wall!

Stedman knew it all! He defines the learner must have frequent recourse to his pocket. that is. to the changes there prickt: from whence he must continually fetch instructions to direct the course of his bell, which is oftentimes the case of the learner: his thougin's $i n$ the dime of ringing being commonly upon the figures that are prickt, either upon paper, or else upon the steeple wall.?

Upwards of 30 pages are devoted to plain changes in which Stedman gives simple instructions on how to hunt from front to back and vice versa. The reader is also introduced 10 . Cross Peals. wherein several notes cross each other in their course and motion.

The author has a pretty way of describing a hunt bell as a 'helm or rudder' by which the course of the peal is steered. He continually refers to "whole-hunts," half-hunts" and 'extreams.
Many of the methods published in 'Campanalogia, are somewhat unorthodox and therefore quite unacceptable to modern files of method composition. Nevertheless. they are curiously interesting, and in some instances these structures suggest some musicat qualities. They are attractive if only from their colourful and amusing titles. One method on five bells is named. What you please. each bell leading four times and lying behind twice.

53 COMPOSITIONS

Stedman composed 53 "London Peals" for five. six. seven and eight bells. and these were dedicated to weird and wonderful names. such as 'Crambo.' 'The Primrose.' 'Orpheus.

Swindon Branch

The annual meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at Christ Church. Swindon, on December 10th when the secretary reported another successful year. Meetings have been held monthly with an average attendance of 34: 19 new members had been elected. Two more towers were added to the list of ringable bells in the Branch and a meeting was held at both-Oakley and Hannington.

The retiring officers were re-elected with the exception of Mr. W. Trueman, who declined nomikation as Ringing Master, having held that position for the past eight years and chairman 20 years before that. With so many good young ringers available. Mr. Truemar felt the time had come to hand over. The Branch is very fortunate in having Mr. Brian Bladon as the new Master
Some excellent ringing was enjoyed in the afternoon and evening on the good Taylor ten a touch of Cambridge Royal being the best of the day. Meetings for the ensuing quarter were: January, St. Mark's: February, Rodbourne Cheney: March. Stratton St. Margaret
A Branch tea and social was held at Stratton St. Margaret on December 17th. which. although the attendance was less than expected. was very successful. It is hoped to make this a regular Christmas event.

High up on the North Downs overlooking the Medway Valley is the Church of St. Mary Magdalene. Stockbury, with its ring of five bells (tenor 15 cwt .). Despite the very high wind and pouring rain, some 50 odd members gathered at this ahurch on December 3rd for a Rochester and District meeting. Ringing before the service was under the direction of Mr. L. C. Harner, the new District Ringing Master. The Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Edwards) conducted the service, and tea was kindly given by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Dunk. Friends of the young band at Stockbury kindly warted at the tables
Despite the weather the meeting was a great success and a richly-deserved vote of thanks to all who had helped in the arrangements was proposed by Mr. T. Barton, district secretary.

70 YEARS A YORKSHIRE RINGER

At the age of $14 . \mathrm{Mr}$. Herbert M. Turner learned to ring at South Anston. Yorks, and joined the North Notts Association soon afterwards. He is justly proud of his 70 years of continuous service as a ringer at his local church and also his membership of the Association for the same period.
Mr. Turner was a member of the famous six bell band at South Anston. under the late Mr. F. Fowler. This band rang every known Minor method to a 720 for Sunday service In one year they rang 103 methods to 720 s , a! for services. Still an active ringer. Mr Turner attends every Sunday although not now able to ring for long periods

On his 85 th birthday. December 10th. a band from Anston and Warsop met and rang a few touches of Minor with him. These were followed by a good quarter of Kent T.B Major, in which Mr. Gordon Turner, his son, rang the sixth. Members of the hand were then entertained by Mr. Turner in "The Loyal Trooper. May he have many more years of ringing ahead

a PEAL ATTEMPT AT HULL

One Tuesday night, not long ago,
My mind to disencumber,
I took a solitary walk Upon the banks of Humber.

At once I paus'd, dismiss'd my thoughts And put them to the wing;
As well I might, when suddenly The bells began to ring.

The sound was sweet, the music full, The notes distinct and clear;
A gentle breeze convey'd the tone And brought them to my ear.

I linger'd on the water's brink, And heard the careful rise; That's good,' thought I, 'and merits praise And censure it defies.'

The bells they paused a little while, And then they made a start
With beat so true, as prov'd them rung By men who knew the art.
The dulcet changes soon struck off, In regular succession.
Like soldiers train'd. or lodges taught, To move in the procession.
The peal was 'Grandsire Triples' called, So termed by all our ringers.
For they have names for every peal, As tunes have name for singers.

It sounded well, and promised fair To reach its destined round;
'Twas like a vessel gliding soft, And to a haven bound.

When lo! a misadventure came. I cried, 'What's now the matter?' For all at once the music ceased, And all was jar and clatter.

The bells were jumbled in the peal, And no one knew its place;
The dogs came falling on the fox, And finished up the chase.

And now a silence interven'd And all was still and quiet
Dear me, thought I. 'how sweet the calm That supersedes a riot.'

But since I know those worthy men Who labour in the steeple.
I'll eien go in and ask of them, Why thus annoy the people?

The resolution form'd-I went, A private key befriending;
And as I mounted up the stairs Kept bending-bending-bending
At length I reach'd the door I sought, And lifting up the latch.
I found the youths assembled there, A neat and goodly batch.

Why-don't you know your peal?
Ben T-k-h taught you how to ring,
And this you know and feel.?
The first that spoke I long had known,
His name was William P $-\ldots$; ;
His words were few, he merely said, ' I'm sure it is not me.'
'Nor me,' said Joseph H --.-.-., 'I'm sure My bell neer left its place;
When I was clearly in the hunt, How could it be the case?'

Said Thomas S....-, 'I made my thirds, And down again to lead;

The men were all so confident, It made me stand and stare.
At length a lucky thought occurr'd.
Which showed the matter clear,
And prov'd a fact which should be known
By ringers far and near.
Now, gentle reader, don't be stunn'd
While I this fact unfold,
Altho' it be the strangest thing
That poet ever told.
As sure as mourner ever wept,
Or singer sang a song.
Altho the ringers all were right, The bells themselves were wrong.

Tis plain enough where lies the blame-
Of all this noise and clatter.
'Twas not with us who pull'd the ropes.
And pulled them so true:
The culprits are above our heads.
As sure as blue is blue.
The rascals are on mischief bent.
They ve joined in firm alliance.
To play the master when they please,
And set us at defiance."
And now from henceforth be it known, Whene'er a peal turns lame.
The RINGERS never are in FAULT,
The BELLS are all to BLAME.
Copied from: The Bells of England (J. J Raven). Attributed to: Rev. William Knight (for 32 years incumbent of St. James', Hull. Died in 1862.).

In submitting this poem. Mr. J. R. Perrett. of East Sheen, London, writes that he helieves the church in question to be St. James'. Hull, which was damaged during the war. and has now been demolished. Of the eight bells. two have been obtained by Holy Trinity. Huht to augment their ring of 10 to 12 , and the other six are destined to be hung in one of Hull's new churches when the necessary money has been raised.

[^16]:    What strange coincidences may befall
    The ringers in a peal at Heptonstall!
    Two days before the feast of Hallowe en As many methods to a peal were seen!.
    But stranger facts emerge from closer glance-
    That stretch much more uncertainties of chance -
    Each ringer had a method to his name.
    A novel way to find eternal fame?
    Should Fishwick be reserved for Friday peals?
    Or 'Lesser Wopping raise more painful weals?
    'Reverse Half Nelson' spliced with 'Double Blackley
    Produce a bruise that rises quite opaquely?
    White splicing 'Smith' with highbrow "Tolleshunt D'Arcy '\%
    We should at clash of places singular see.
    Poor Ogden in his Wellington Little Court-
    What names to give the would-he poet sport!
    But to be serious, the truth seems plain.
    They did it tongue-in-cheek to entertain.
    (Or did their ancestors far back hegotten Take names from methods hitherto forgotten?)
