The trip took nearly five hours to cover the $$ 20$ air miles (a car trip takes 14 hours) over some of B.C.'s spectacular scenery-Okanagan Valley, a stop at Castlegar for fuel, Kootenay Lake and the Rocky Mountains-some towering well above our 9,000 feet altitude ; through Crow's Nest Pass and on over foothill country We were met in Calgary by Miss Judy Midge ley, who graciously opened her home to us and put us up for two nights, arranged sightseeing and generally made the whole weel-end a tremendous success.

Saturday evening. after an excellent barbecue dinner. ably cooked by Mike Simpson, we drove 10 Christ Church for a quarter peal of Bob Maior later back at Judy's home, we listened to the Washington Cathedral recording. Sunday morning we rang again for service.

a Quarter Peal - by

Preparations were made for the return jour ney and, amid threatening thunder clouds and showers, we look off at 3.30 p.m. Our pilot flew us expertly under and around the thunder clouds and shortly we reached lovely sunny weather over the mountains again. We put down at Castlegar again for fuel in searing valley temperature of $98^{\circ}$

AIR EXCITEMENT
At last we were on the tinal leg of our trip. but clouds ahead put a damper on our carefree spirits. As they thickened the atmosphere inside our little Cessna 172 changed to worried concern. Our pilot decided we must follow the main highway pass through $8,000-\mathrm{ft}$. mounains. We continued, carefully following the twisting highway towards Hope, a town at the head of the Fraser Valley. Alas, the highway disappeared under cloud. Our pilot quickly reversed our course and climbed out of the narrowing valley. We landed at an emergency airstrip adjacent to the highway. The ground felt pretty good at that moment.

As it was darkening we found overnight accommodation at a nearby motel. Unfortunately, due to an electrical power failure, we the novelties of this tripNext morning presented another problemthe field at which we landed was very short, and after some discussion Jeff decided it was unwise to carry four people out of this airstrip. It turned out he was absolutely right as Margaret and I sadly watched the airplane ake off without us-and clear some trees by very few feet!

As we had $2 \frac{1}{2}$ hours to bus time. we thought we'd try "thumbing". and to our surprise we were on our way within a few minutes by car to Vancouver. The boys* next attempt through the pass was unsuccessful and they returned to Princeton Airport for fuel. Later in the day the weather improved and they were able to get through to Vancouver-two hours after we had returned!

I believe our flight to Calgary may have started a new trend. The Calgary ringers are already talking of attempting the same thing next year. Don't let our experiences coming home dampen your enthusiasm in the slightest -it was exciting and wed 10 it again, tomorrow!

WANTS RECORDINGS FOR CHESTER CATHEDRAL
Sir,-I have given much thought to this matter and have come to the conclusion that an entirely new approach should be considered to the proposed new ring at Chester Cathedral.
The sketches that have been published in yous paper seem to me to show a building quite out of place in the precincts of the Cathedral. The question of noise will certainly meet with very considerable opposition.

Now what I suggest will, 1 have no doubt, fairly "put the cat among the pigeons"-hut I hope you will all consider my proposal carefully, and quietly.

I suggest that a really good modern system of recorded bells be installed in the tower itself. The loudness of the sound broadcast could be easily controlled. One could have loud amplification for festivals or civic oceasions. but the volume could be reduced for the more personal everyday services, which really only need to be heard in the immediate precincts of the Cathedral.
Now let us consider what recordings should be used.

There are seven Branches of the Chester Diocesan Guild and these represent about 88 towers, most of which have fine rings. Surely it would stimulate ringing in the diocese if the ringers in these lowers could say: "Our bells will be heard ringing from the tower of our Cathedral next week!

The methods rung would not be of very great importance so long as the striking was good and the bells were rung by members of the Guild, if possible by the local band.

Please think this over very carefully. no: forgetting the financial side.

Any money not needed for the new installa. tion could be held in reserve to help in restoring bells in those towers which are in need of help.-Yours sincerely.

FRENCH FOUNDRIES

Dear Sir,-1 was interested to see Mr. Armitage's letter. requesting information on rings abroad. While on holiday recently I was able 10 go to the Fonderie Paccard at Annecy in the French Alps. Their casting and tuning methods appeared to be similar to English methods-technical terms in a foreign language are not easy to understand even when one is armed with a dictionary. They concentrated mainly on carillons and swinging bells. They were very proud of "la Savoyarde" in Sacre Cour (about 20 tons) and of the carillons they had made for the States-we were treated to a recording of one of the latter. The guide also said when demonstrating simple hanging that there were places in the "Midi" where hells were rung full circle, as in England, but I sas not able to find out any details as to the location or nature of such rings. I would presume that there are at least three bells in these towers, as there are no advantages. to a continental ear at any rate. of any lesser numher rung full circle.
Unless the foundries are able to provide any information-there is another one somewhere in Normandy-the only way of finding these places would seem to be by trial and error.Yours sincerely.

L.IMERICK CATHEDRAL'S 800th ANNIVERSARY

Dear Sir,-My wife and I have just returned home from seven very happy days in Ireland. Some pleasant hours were spent in Dublin and Bray with Peter Brown, Charles Reede, Fred Dukes and others from Dublin.
The highlight of our visit was when, in company with Mr. J. Bluff. of Stamford. and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rogers, of London, we, together with some hundred-odd Irish ringers, look part in the two-day celebrations at Limerick tor the 800th anniversary of St. Mary's Cathedral.
On behalf of the English representatives of this great and memorable gathering, I would like through " The Ringing W'orld " to express our sincere thanks to the Dean of St Mary's Cathedral and members of the St. Mary', Cathedral Societv of Change Ringers. Limerick. for the very warm welcome and kind hospitality which they extended to us. I would also like to congratulate all those who were responsible for the excellent arrangements. both ringing and sociallv, thus making our visit such a happy one. - Yours sincerely.

DUVE'S " GUIDE" QUERIES

Dear Sir-Again I think that thanks and congratulations are due to Ronald Dove for producing the excellent fourth edition of the Guide.
In comparing this with my self-amended cony of the third edition I find very few discrepancies, but as 1 realise "that my own amending might very well be "up the creck" I would be grateful if someone could verify the following points:-

1) Eator Socon is. I helieve, in Bedfordhire fas in third edition). but is over the horder. in Huntingdonshire. in the fourth edition.
(2) Manuden. Fssex. Isn't this a ring of six. not 5 , as printed?
(3) Newton. Old, Suffolk. Are these really unringable'? I seem to recollest that a band rang on them recently.
(4) Tenby. Pembroke. Is there not a ring of six in the town in addition to the eight which is listed?-Yours sincerely.

RINGERS* PARSIMONY

Dear Sir, - Your correspondent, Mr. Paul Oxtoby, is to be congratulated upon his ex pertise in manipulating his red herrings Whether or not the prices 1 quoted agree with his is quite immaterial since they do not make us any the less parsimonious or more generous They were given to me by a local newsagent and I had no reason to doubt their veracity
Comparison of our journal with others is certainly not ludicrous. Such a sentiment must be in the mind, and 30,000 ringers is under, rather than over. Church statistics give the number as in excess of 40,000 . Doubtless, if your correspondent replies, this will provide him with yet another red herring, but it will not make us any less parsimonious or more generous.

So far as reader proportions are concerned since other pursuits have more than one journal apiece, it is very doubtful if Mr. Oxtoby can support his assumptions with facts and figures but even if he could it would not make us any less parsimonious or more generous and he does not appear to have grasped the fact that the theme of the article was our undeniable parsimony, or lack of generosity.

We know that ringers are from all ranges of income as also are pigeon fanciers, dog fanciers, eardeners and all the others who Mr Oxtoby mentions, and we also know that some ringers prefer to have their beer, but at the same time they endeavour to get a sight of someone else's copy of "The Ringing World " in order to have the best of both worlds.
Summing up, Mr. Oxtoby's letter adds nothing beneficial to the subject matter of the article, which, I repeat, is our undeniable parsimony. It is like a B.B.C. weather bulletin. which uses around 250 words where two would be sufficient. Your readers can no douht supply these two words for themselves. No prizes are offered for correct guesses.-Yours faithfully.

BERNARD C. ASHFORD.

40-SPLICED AT LIVERPOOL

Dear Sir,-Here we go again-40-spliced at Liverpool. Again. of course, we all admire the performance; but when we come down to it, what are we admiring?--a few words on the printed page. 10 h , boy! if it proves to be hoax.)
We do not expect an orchestra to pertorm in private; rehearse, yes, but not perform. (Do not tell me it is because they are paid.) They want to share their music, and the world is better for $1 t$.
Come, peal ringers, move into the '60's-soon the '70's-advertise your peals; give the 90 per cent. non-pealers the chance to hear good. especially historic, bell music. We know all peals begin with attempts and will not mind when one folds up.-Yours faithfully.

Chalford. Glos.

WHERE HELP IS NEEDED

Dear Sir,-May I, through your columns, appeal to ringers in the Amersham-High Wycombe area of Buckinghamshire. The pleasant six at Little Missenden are in danger of being silent due to a sudden loss of ringers.

The band. which is mainly a very young one, would greatly appreciate some help from rather more experienced ringers. Progress is at standstill as numbers are rapidly decreasing. We practise on Monday evenings and one or two extra people would be most welcome. -Yours sincerelv.
Gt. Missenden, Buck
LOUISE EVANS.

LONG LENGTHS AND RECORD LENGTHS

Dear Sir, - 1 am sorry to rouble your columns again, but should be glad if you would kindly allow me to follow up my letter of August 23 rd relating to long lengths, for it is obvious from your correspondence that there is much that is obscure in the motives of the Records Committee and much that is difficult for the ordinary person to follow.

To me, and probably to a great many more, the longest length rung in any method is indeed the longest length (provided, of course, that it is true and truly rung), and as such it should be recorded. To most of us the difference between a "longest length" and a "progressive longest length" may seem a useless distinction.

Your footnote to my letter evidently intended 10 make clear the selection of the number 6.720 as the point at which to begin to recognise record performances. I fear that the statement so 30 courses (of Surprise Major) is the obvious number from which to start 'official records' " does nothing to answer the point I was trying to make.
Let me beg your indulgence to pose three questions
(1) A bana rings a peal of 6.496 of Surprise Major in a method that has up till then had no peal rung but the usual 5.000 -odd. All the conditions required by the Council have been complied with. Is this a record peal or is it not? Common sense says that it is.
(2) A band rings a peal of 6.137 of Surfleet Treble Bob Caters, again complying with the conditions laid down by the Council. Is this a record peal or is it not? Again we surely must say that it is.
(3) A band rings 6,000 of Carter's Doubles (no mean feat, by the way, especially rung double-handed). The intention and the proposed six-scores are publicly announced before the peal. Is this a record peal or is it not?
It may be that performances such as the above are unlikely, but that consideration should not affect the argument. If we are to legisiate then the legislation must be clear and must cover all foreseeable contingencies.
I would not wish to try to detract from the work of the members of the Records Committee or to doubt their sincerity. Such work is laborious and exacting and we should be grateful for their willingness to tackle the difficult tasks that confront them. It may be wondered, perhaps, if we are not requiring them to attempt the impossible, and if we, as Council members. are not demanding that they should put into effect legislation that is not defined clearly enough to be operative. Yours sincerely,

EDGAR C. SHEPHERD.
Warminster. Wilts

ONLY SILLY TO LS

Dear Sir-Members of our fraternity occasionally get asked silly questions. A lady once asked me: "What are these peal tablets: do you shallow one before you ring?" I suppose she thought it aided concentration. Another, . Who is the Rev. Canterbury Pleasure ; is he the Vicar?"

Chatting to a friend one day about Thurstans' Four-Part, an uncouth fellow nearby remarked: "You've talked about his fore part, what about his aft part?"
Oh dear, excuse me, I'll dry up before I get kicked out.-Yours, etc.,

YORICK.

Limerick's 800th Anniversary Celebrations

THE 800th annwersary of the founding of 1 St. Mary's Cathedral. Limerick, occurred earlier this year. Last month the Irish Government issued a commemorative stamp in two denominations-5d. and 10 d . During the week-end of September 7th and 8th a ringers' festival was held, which drew bellringers trom King's Lynn, Isleworth and Stamford in the U.K., and from Belfast, Carrickfergus, Cork, Doneraile, Drogheda, Dublin, Holywood and Limerick
The bells of Mount St. Alphonsus' (10) and the Cathedral (8) were available for the use of the visitors throughout Saturday and Sunday, when various methods from plain hunting up to Cambridge Surprise Major and Grandsire Caters were rung.

The Dean of Limerick (the Very Rev. M. Talbot) opened the Deanery for a garden party on Saturday afternoon and provided tea. Handbells were rung on the lawn. Later in the evening a supper and social evening was held in the Villiers School at which over 100 ringers and others attended. The entertainment took the form of songs by choirs and soloists.

The president of the Irish Association, who presided at the supper, expressed his delight at being able to be present and thanked the Dean for his kind words of welcome to the visitors.

LEAVING FOR DUBLIN

A sad note of the evening and yet one of pleasure was the presentation of a lyre coffee table to the very popular Cyril and Ann Galbraith on their departure to Dublin. Cyril. taken by complete surprise. was literally dumbfounded, nevertheless he managed to say that he took up bellringing in 1938 and that Ann was also a ringer in the tower. The attraction resulted in his finding a wife through bellringing. They now have six children. three of whom are ringers. One is an accomplished 15 -year-old conductor of quarter peals. Cyril expressed heartfelt thanks to his friends who subscribed to the presentation.
Sunday was devoted to service ringing and some open ringing at both towers during the afternoon until 4.40 p.m.. when the ringers' service was held in the Cathedral. It was conducted by the Dean and Canon J. S. Frazer. Dean's Vicar. The lessons were read by Mr. Harry Ellis, Ringing Master. St. Mary's Cathedral. and by Mr. Harold Rogers. of Isteworth. Some of the musical ringers present swelled the choir and were presented with the Bell Anthem by Purcell to sing at sight. Mr. F. Brislane showed that he now had a master-

EUROPEAN BELLS

Dear Sir,-Rivoli Veronese, the village which is the subject of the inquiry made by G. D. Armitage. is in the Province of Veneto between the towns of Trient and Verona

Taking the road from Trient. and after 38: miles ( 19 miles from Verona) he will find the village. It stands on a prominence and is clearly distinguished on the left.
The village's only claim to fame. apart from being one with English-type hells, is that it was twice stormed by the French. in 1796 and 1797.-Yours faithfully, B. S. GAMBRILL. Liss, Hampshire.
Miss Beryl E. Cawser recalls passing through Rivoli in a coach and noting that the bells were in the "up" position.

Mr. John David. of Peterborough, defines the position of Rivoli as about 12 miles northwest of Verona and about four miles from the lake of Garda. (Murray's ". Handbook for Travellers in Northern Italy.') prece of an organ since it was restored and enlarged.

The attendance included the members of the R.C. tower of Mount St Alphonsus', Limerick.

CANON THURLOW'S MESSAGE
A message from the president of the Central Council (Canon A G. G. Thurlow) was presented to the congregation. This stated:

We thank liod for the ministry of the Cathedral during 800 years. This long period has seen many changes, times of trouble and of joy, in Ireland as elsewhere. The presence of the Lord Jesus Clrist amongst us is unchanging. He continues to set before us the ideal of a world united under God our Father.' He continues to rely on men and women boys and girls, to live by this ideal. He looks to us to proclaim it, by the spirit ot peace we show amongst each other, by our personal humility, and by our desire to serve one another as feilow members of the worldwide and agelong Christian family.
"Our celebratıon inspires people to look back with thanksgiving. over a long period of achievement, to thank God for those who in ages past brought the Faith to Ireland, and for those who have brought it from Ireland to England and other lands. The ancient Irish handbells, in their glorious shrines, vividly remind us of the value placed on the call to worship in early times.

This is also a time for looking around $u$ ith thanksgiving and for looking ahead with hope. The Church, and the bells which proclaim its message, have spread over lands undreamed of when Limerick Cathedral was begun. As you ring in celebration this year. you can feel kinship with fellow ringers in America, Canada, Australia and New Zealand and in Africa as well as in Britain. We who live outside Ireland look to you to continue to maintain your great ringing traditions and to see to it that each year others are initiated into the art. Be sure you never allow the living art to be replaced by any form of electronic or other substitute. Christ looks for peonle's living service. Let Him not look in vain, in Limerick or anywhere else.
The Dean of Cork the Very Rev. T. Johnson. M.A.) preached the sermon. The Dean is also a bellringer and gave some good advice to the ringers on serving God and attendance at worship after calling the parishioners to prayer.

After the second lesson a course of Grandsire Triples on handhells was rung by Mrs. J. Jeffery 1-2, J. Lindsay 3-4, J. T. Dunwoody $5-6$. and Mrs. J. Lindsay 7-8.

Prior to the Benediction the Dean of Limerick read the charge to all ringers "Go ye forth into the land: wheresoever ye shall ring let the music of your hellproclaim the Gosnel to all neonle. Sound your rounds and changes unto the Glory of the lord and not unto men. Know ye that at all times ye exercise your art only in the service of God.
The festival concluded with tea in Villiers School at which the Dean of Limerick welcomed the visitors. thanked the ladies for arranging the tea. and supper on the previous night.

On behalf of the visitors Mr. F. E. Dukes proposed and Mr. J. T. Dunwoody seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the Dean of Limerick. Mr. Harry Ellis and his ringers. the authorities of both towers for the use of bells and omnibus thanks to all who had anything to do with making the festival weekend such a glad and happy occasion.

WEDDING OF THEALE RINGERS

The wedding took place at Holy Trinity Church. Theale, Berks, on September 7th, between Miss Frances C. Smith, a ringer for the past three years, and Mr Terence E. J. Adams, tower foreman since 1963.

The service was conducted by the Rural Dean, Rev. Stanley Young, of Aldermaston, and the best man was another Theale ringer, Mr. John Blackall.

In addition to their ringing interests, the bride is a member of the choir, the bridegroom is a sidesman and a member of the P.C.C., and both take an active interest in the Church Fellowship Organisation.

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION

T
THE half-yearly meeting of the North Wales Association was held at Beaumaris, Anglesey, on September 7th. Despite the long distance some members had to travel, the meeting was well attended with representatives from eigh: towers being present. The visitors included Mr. Ronald Dove. Canon E. S. Roberts (Carbis Bay), Professor Marshall, of Bangor University, and ringers from Nottingham and Cheshire. Also present were the Association president (Rev. E, L. Cooke) and Mrs. Cooke.
The service was conducted by the Vicar. Canon J. E. Ramage, and the lesson read by Canon E. S. Roberts. In a short but interesting address the Vicar welcomed the members and gave some historical facts about the bells and the church. The church was erected in the early part of the 14 th century to serve the English immigrants who settled in the borough. Beaumaris Castle and town were founded by Edward $I$ in 1295. A feature of the service was the fine singing, led by eight members of the local ladies' choir.
Following the service 60 members and friends were entertained to an excellent tea in the Church Hall, prepared by the local ladjes At the business meeting the president called on the members to stand in silence as a tribute to two founder members - the lase Mr. J. Albert Hughes, of Bangor, and Mr. Owen Evans, of Abergele.

Following the success of one-day schools held at Llangollen and Portmadoc, it was decided to arrange a similar course at Bangor.
Mr. G. H. Randles proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar and to the ladies for the tea, and to the organist and choir.

Some very good touches of Grandsire. Stedman. Plain Bob, etc., were rung at St. David's, Bangor, and the local tower, under the direction of the Ringing Master, Mr. F. R. Evans.

The neal rung at Eastnor, Herefordshire, on Septemher 13 th , is helieved to be the first ever on the hells by a local hand. It enabled the tenor man to ring his first peal at first attempt and the tower captain (Mr. R. J. Bullock) to ring his first away from the tenor: another ringer rang her first "inside". The ringing was of a high standard throughout. and these three ringers in particular are to be concretulated on their performances.

AN APOLOGY

An unfortunate and much regretted mistake occurred in the issue of September 20th concerning the passing of the late Mr. James Taylor of Healey, Lancs. Four lines from the article written by "A Pilgrim" were inadvertently transposed in place of the last fous lines of the obituary notice. The report should conclude: "His dedication to his home tower was a fine example to all ringers. A quarter peal was rung half-muffled at Healey in his memory on September 3rd, the day of his funeral.'
The Editor. who was away on holiday that week, and the printers express to relatives and friends of the deceased gentleman their deep regrets for the pain and sorrow inadvertently caused.

OBITUARY

EVELYN HALL

Early this month the soul of Evelyn Hall passed to eternal rest. For over 40 years she was a faithful and devoted member of the band at All Saints' Church, Leamington. Almost without fail she was in her place twice every Sunday promptly. Ever cheerful and helpful. we shall miss her presence very much.
On September 16th the ringers met and with the bells half-muffled rang 720 of Bob Minor (her favourite method) on the front six and touches of Grandsire Triples. This enabled all the band so pay their last tribute to her memory.
She was also for many years a member of Coventry Diocesan Guild of Ringers
F.C.E.B.

M. A. R. KING

The death took place recently in the Ipswich and East Suffolk Hospital of Mr. Alfred Rohert King, of Brome, near Eye, Suffolk, at the age of 77 years.

Mr. King was chauffeur to the Bishop of Norwich in the carly vears of the century and later to a High Sherift of Suffolk, Sir Thomas Tacon. For 40 years he had lived at Brome, where he was a ringer, chorister and church councillor in the twin villages of Brome and Oakley.

FISHING AND RINGING IN HEREFORD

ITT all started one Sunday evening when two ringers from Emmanuel, Southport, and a non-ringing husband started discussing the possibility of arranging a ringing-cum-fishing weekend. A couple of weeks later the date and place were fixed, and on September 6th 14 ringers and non-ringers from Emmanuel, Aughton and Liverpool congregated at the Castle Pool Hotel, Hereford, between 5.30 p.m. and 10 p.m.

On Saturday we were joined at breakfast by Roger and Mary, who had got up at 5 a.m. to drive over from Harrow, and we set off in four cars for Burghill (a pleasant light eight), where we were particularly impressed by the beautifully-kept churchyard. Here we were joined by Keith, who had had a breakfast appointment in Liverpool. The next tower was at Lugwardine (another nice eight), where we were made very welcome and invited back to ring for service on Sunday morning. On to Bromyard, where there was time for a quick cup of coffee before ringing for a wedding on the recently-augmented eight. What a coincidence that the bride's mother came from Southport! For some of us this tower was the highlight of the day and a good course of Oswald Delight was rung. We were joined here by Henry, a native of the area, to whom we owe thanks for recommending such a fine collection of towers.
After lunch we made our way to Leominster, where we rang on the fine ten in the 1,300 -year-old priory church. Here we managed a fair course of Cambridge Royal. We then hur ried on to Eardisland, afraid of being late for the first time during the day, and enjoyed a welcome rest in the churchyard and some handbells before ringing on the beautiful eight. We rang a near-perfect course of Superlative and an excellent touch of Double Norwich, and wished we could have stayed longer. At Staunton-on-Arrow we enjoyed the very light six (tenor 6 cwt .) and at Presteigne (a pleasantsounding eight) we were fascinated by the inscription on the tombstone of Mary Morgan who-no, I won't spoil it; go and read it yourself some day.
And so back to Hereford, where we climbed wearily up the thousands of steps to ring on the 33 cwt. ring of ten. We found these bells rather tricky but an experience not to be missed. although Cambridge Royal wouldn't go. We met the two non-ringing wives who had been shopping and sightseeing, and Mike who had been fishing, but as he hadn't caught enough to feed us all the party split into two for dinner, some going Chinese, others steak, meeting again afterwards for drinks and walks before returning to the hotel.

On Sunday we ended a most successfu] weekend by ringing for service at Lugwardine, after which we split up and went our separate ways, everyone saying: "Let's do it again next year". Once again we would like to thank all the incumbents and those who made us feel so welcome everywhere.
C. F. H. D. and M.E.S.

ST. DAVID'S GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the St. David's Diocesan Guild was held at St. Florence on September 7th, with members from Burry Port, Cardigan, Carmarthen, Llanbadarn Fawr, Llandeilo, Llanelli, Pembroke. St. Florence and Tenby attending.

The service was conducted by the Master of the Guild, Rev. R. W. Thomas, who is the Rector of St. Florence. This was followed by an excellent tea served by local ladies, who were warmly thanked by Mr. W. Gwyn Thomas, of Tenby.

At the business meeting a welcome was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Morris. of Lyme Regis, who were on holiday in the district. Mr. Morris is a brother of the late Mr. Ernest Morris, whose name is so well known to all bellringers.

It was proposed that the Guild becomes a "Friend of St. David's Cathedral". Three new probationary members and eight life ringing members were elected. After the meeting ringing was resumed until 9 p.m. B. M. R.

Lawsons Bank, Ecclesfield, Sheffield, $$ 30{ }^{\text {on }} \mathrm{izL}$. will arrange tranenert for those coming by train from Sheffield Midland Station.

Mr. T. J. Lock scored his 1.000 peals from 1.587 attempts. Other percentages of success from 1,000 peal ringers would be interesting.

Mr. Bryan Burrough. of Soho, London, has heen posted to Saudi Arabia for two tours of one year with the Diplomatic Service.

Mr. Michael J. Uphill assures readers that the tour "Uphill in the Flatlands" (page 728) was not arranged by him but by Messrs. Sherwood, Sell and Hart.
The Rev. Fred Ross has rung his first peal in Derbyshire after being in residence for less than two weeks. It was Cambridge at West Hallam on September 21st, with Fred ringing the tenor.
British Legion branches from Lancashire and Westmorland were represented at the service of dedication of the new standard for the Burton and Holme Branch. In the quarter peal rung in honour of the event were ringers from Burton, Silverdale. Heversham and Morecambe.
At Twerton. Bath, the local company have ung their first quarter of Surprise Major. The band included the organist. five choristers. three servers, a Sunday School teacher and a Queen's Guide. Hopes are entertained of an eight-bell quarter from the choir. At present the belfry provides six sopranos, one alto, one tenor and two basses who ring methods.

Bellfounders'. Gift Page to 'The Ringing World'

"FESTIVAL OF BELLS" AT W ARMINSTER
Evensong at the Church of St. Denys, Warminster, on September 8 th , took the form of a "Festival of Bells." The Vicar, the Rev. A. T. Johnson, told the large congregation that this had been arranged in order to assist the recognition of the work of the bellringers of the Minster tower. The lessons were read by members of the ringing band, and after the third Collect a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells.

The bellringers" hymn. "Unchanging God, Who livest," was accompanied on handbells by Mr. N. G. Knce, Miss M. Wynne, Mrs. D. Hutchins and Mr. E. Norris, and the address was given by Mr. Norman Pearson. of Haslemere, who is himself a ringer and who formerly helonged to the Minster company. In his address Mr. Pearson introduced the congregation to some features of bellringing and showed them the handbells used by ringers. Enlarging upon a passage from I Corinthians. 12. "There are varieties of gifts but the same spirit" (which formed part of the second lesson), the speaker emohasised the peculiar offering the ringers made to the worship of the Church. and stressed the remarkable bonds of fellowship brought about by the devotion of ringers to their art.

After the service the tower was opened for visitors, and there was some considerahle invasion of the ringing chamber by young men and maidens. old men and children! Some precautions had to be taken to prevent the guests from touching ropes. but everyhody was very good and. despite the crowd. some good ringing was demonstrated

MARSTON BIGOTT FIND A LUXLRY RINGING CHAMBER

Ringers and friends from Marston Bigott. Somerset. visited Portsmouth for their outing on September 7th. The light six at SS. Mary and S? Nicholas. Wilton. Wilts. were the first bells and reasonable striking was achieved.

After lunch at Portsmouth. St. Mary's. Portsea, was visited. It was rewarding for climbing the 73 stens, as in a most luxurious ringing chamber comfort was the kev-word and the bells an easy-going eight. The ladies were rejoined on the beach and after tea and a visit to gift shons we emharked on the homeward journey, which was via Southampton. A stop was made at the pretty Church of St . Peter. Britford, with its beautiful floral decorations. Liquid refreshments followed at the nearest hostelry, and among jovful chords and discords we wended our wav homewards. arriving tired but happy

CRANBROOK'S FLOWER FESTIVAL RAISES $\mathbf{8 5 0 0}$

Towards the Bell Restoration Fund at Cranhrook. Kent. a net profit of $£ 500$ resulted from the Flower Festival which started on Septemher 7th. The proceeds were greatly enhanced hy the gift of copper candlesticks and bowls by Mr. G. Cousins. which raised over $£ 200$ On the Sunday a quarter of Grandsire Triples was rung before Matins, at which the Rev. H. B. Biddell, Vicar of Marden, preached. An organ recital was given by Mr. C. H. M. Irwin in the afternoon and there was further handbell ringing. The Festival concluded on Tuesday with a recital hy St. Peter's Singers and handbell ringing. General ringing preceded the concert.

EAST GRINSTEAD'S "STOOLBALL" MEETING

A stoolball match between Sussex and Kent Was the main attraction at the East Grinstead and District Guild's meeting on September 17 th at Hever. Each side was allowed to bat for three-quarters of an hour. Sussex scored 80 for seven and Kent were all out for 46 Members noticed that a College Youth had run out the chairman, himself a Cumberland.

For those without pienic teas, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, parents of the local captain, provided tea without charge. but suggested a collection be taken for the Guild's rope fund.

Mrs. J. Osbon acted as secretary in the ahsence of Mrs. Large. A new member was elected and Mr. C. A. Bassett asked for names for the outing io Winchester Cathedral.

The November 9th meeting will be at Redhill. The votes of thanks were followed by Evensong, conducted by the Rector, the Rev. J. Collins, and further ringing.

AUGMENTATION NEAR TAUNTON

The parish of St. Bartholomew, Lynn. Somerset, which at present has five bells--a badly cracked tenor of 17 cwt and four others which are out of tune-has embarked on a restoration and augmentation scheme.

The tender of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank has been accepted to recast the tenor, tune the four and provide a sixth bell. This will cost over $£ 1.000$, and over the past two years $£ 700$ has been collected for this purpose. It is hoped that the work can be completed before the Patronal Festival on August 24th, 1969.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

A quarterly meeting of the North Dorset Branch was held at Compton Abbas on September P 4 th . The service uas conducted by the chairman. the Rev R. G. Chaffey Moore. who. as Rector of Compton Abbas. welcomed the Branch to Si. Mary's Church in this its centenary year. The lesson was read by the Master of the Guild, the Rev. R. N. Longridge, and the collection was given to the church Centenary Appeal Fund. Ladies of the parish provided an excellent rea in the Village Hall to which 30 ringers did full justice.

At the business meeting the chairman welcomed visitors from Somerset and from the Dorchester Branch.
Since the June meetine the activities of the Branch have included the happy occasion at Hampreston celehrating the 60 years' ringing of Mr. W. C. Shute, and the Branch outing. This was held on September 7 th and proved a great success. Everyone enjoved their trip to the Honiton area. where seven towers were visited and a good standard of ringing achieved.

One new member was elected and thanks were expressed to Mr. Chaffev Moore and all who had helped to make the afternoon a success.

Mr. Ben Ridout was coneratulated on having achieved 60 years of ringing.
After the meeting. ringing was resumed at Compion Abbas and Shroion.

St. Michael's, Aldbourne, Wilts

By the Rev. Roger Keeley

The prospect of a small village in North Wilts becoming a centre of bellringing instruction and activity a thousand years ago could not have been less auspicious. Yet this is exactly what has happened. The first church at Aldbourne was a wooden Saxon structure which the Normans replaced with their own style of building. Unfortunately all that remains of the Norman church today is the porch; the rest was destroyed in a fire. The third church to be built did not suffer that fate, but, sadly for any aspiring bellringers, the tower fell down. The building which we know is mostly 15 th century and was completely restored just over a century ago. It dominates both village and countryside, and so do the bells-see the inscription on the tenor.

The Aldboume Foundry

Robert Cor opened his bell foundry in 1694 and it was continued by his family until 1742. The bells they made are notable for their lavish forms of ornament and style of inscription which, as often as not, are found on the rim of the bell. Their work extended into at least ten counties. Subsequent to the Cors, the foundry passed into the hands of John Stares and later Edward Read until a new dynasty appeared under Robert Wells and his descendants. H. B. Walters in his "Church Bells of Wiltshire" gives an extract from the Marlborough Journal of June 6th, 1772, of an advertisement which ran:

At the Bell Foundry at Aldbourne, Wilts, Church bells are cast in a most elegant and as musical a manner as in any part of the Kingdom, the Founder having made the Theory of Sounds as well as the nature of Metal his chief study.
The Wells also cast handbells, horse bells, clock and room bells and mill brasses. (The writer recently had the thrill of seeing a carrier's bell known as a "rumbler" with the initials R.W. on it owned by a parishioner. This particular one had been found in a drain in the village of Marnhull, Dorset, in about 1935.)

Robert Wells was succeeded by his sons Robert and James until 1826 when the business was bought up by Thomas Mears of Whitechapel. They continued the practice of putting inscriptions on the rims of bells.

It is not many years since the ringing chamber was moved from the ground floor to its present position. Now the organ fills up the original chamber so there is no likelihood of another change! #### Abstract

I MUST concur with Mr. May in his thoughts on the Central Council and go further to say that what is needed is total reconstitution. The Council by the very nature of its present machinery is impotent to deal with the fast-moving changes that are overtaking the Exercise as a whole, and a body which cannot reach decisions will soon lose respect and authority and be bypassed by its subordinates. We can no longer afford to preserve the atmosphere of a victorian club for gentlemen, which is a hangover from the Council's inception; hut rather to transform it into an EFFICIENT body concerned with and totally involved in the decision-making and planning necessary for the future of ringing in the space age.

Firstly, taking the question of the ringing traditionally with the Whitsun week-end, surely it is not too much to ask those members of the Council attending to forgo actual ringing and devote one weck-end of the year to nelping the Exercise along. It is most evident that if the ringing were cut out many persons would not stand for election as representatives. Perhaps it would be better if this were soat least there would remain a hard core of duty-bound members. In any case a great many present members should search their consciences on this point: Are you really going on behalf of your Association or for the ringing?

REDUCE COUNCIL

Secondly, there are too many members attending the mectings to enable efficient debate to take place; a total of around 150 is quite unmanagable. The first step to rectify this could be to limit all territorial Associations to two representatives and all non-territorial Societies to one. The latter are limited to one under Rule 4 (i) B; in practice, six of the non-territorials had 18 representatives present at this year's meeting-some $12 \frac{1}{2}$ per cent. of the attendance, this being made possible under the let-out clause 4 (ii).

By placing the aforementioned limitations the meeting would be reduced to around 100 in number. still a lot. but more managable. There would be one other positive result from this in that Associations would have to he more selective in their choice of representatives. It would be no longer possible to say *We'll elect old Fred again. he likes going and we've got three other places " -no . it would be a case of choosing the most suitable people, and the Council would be down to its fighting weight!

One other question springs to mind, that of cross-representation, i.e. one ringer may belong to several Societies and his membership counts towards the quota which entitles each of these Societies to a Central Council representative. This business of. in effect, getting more than one vote needs attention

NOT DEMOCRATIC

Speaking of representatives, what a misrepresentation! You think you are electing someone to represent you. You are kidding yourself: the Central Council just is not democratic in that respect. There is no rule in the Central Council mandate which says that your representative(s) must forward matters raised by your Association before the Council. If your representative, once elected. decides to refuse to speak on your behalf he could do so and quite likely your could not get rid of him for three years. What is more, if your Society is so small that it warrants only one representative and no one else on the Council is willing to co-operate. then you will not even get your motion on the agenda, as it requires the backing of two members. and if you are just a humble ringer outside, vou have to convince two members that your subject is worthwhile. Now just suppnsing that you have a nice item backed by your Association and Ceneral Council members and formally sent to the Central Council secretary for in clusion on the agenda, you still have a long way to go. It will pass between the professional resolution killers and the lack of time caused by the lengthy ringing jamboree, and if it shpuld succumb to either, why worry? You only have another year to wait, plus another sweep out, plus the year it is discussed and deferred, etc. . . . keep going, lad!
Right now, let us start the meeting on Saturday and go through to Tuesday evening if necessary and change Rule 8 to make it incumbent on the chairman to call a further meeting if the business is still unfinished. You only have to look at the rash of letters in "The Ringing World" on Doubles methods to confirm that this matter at least has not been resolved in the minds of many members as has so often happened through hurrying, up for tea! The old argument of the clerical members being unable to attend on the Sunday is hardly valid, since it only involved five memhers this year and they could still attend on the other days.

SOLUTION RESTS WITH GUILDS

The answer lies with the ringers at large: if you want the Central Council to work for your benefit (as. indeed, it should). is is up, to you to press every one of your Associations. Societies and Guilds to change the constitution of the Central Conncil by putting forward your resolutions at your annual general mectings: if you do not. it is your responsibility. 1 hone you will bear this in mind in the months to come and make 1969 a year of progress. The Association to which I belong. the Surrey Association, has already put forward a resolution demanding more time for husiness at Central Council meetings ; the call to arms has been made-uive it your backing. Finally. if any 11 members of the Central Council would like to join me in invoking the final part of Rule 8 and requesting a special meeting to get things moving. I shall be pleased to hear from them at 32. Wymond Street. London. S W'. 15

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

St. Albans District

St. Paul's Walden and King's Walden ringers were the hosts for the St. Albans District meeting on September 21st. The back-handed six at St. Paul's Walden were rung until teatime. As in past years, an excellent tea was laid on in the Strathmore Arms.
The business meeting was held in the church. The Association president. Dr. Gullick. took the chair. The secretary spoke about a visit to the I.T.V. Studias on November 28th to see the recording of the "Jimmy Tarbuck "show. A coach has been booked and anvone wanting to go should see Boh Hardv or be at the next meeting. when final details will be announced Forthcoming events: Wednesday, November 6th. District practice, St. Paul's Walden: next meeting, Sandridge, Octoher 19th. The District dinner tickets should be available at the next meeting. so do not hang back, as accommodation is limited.

A barbecue was held on September 7 th . The secretary said that the evening turned out to be quite enjoyable.

Under any other business, Mr. Peter Dale said that Mr. Kenneth Darvill. of St. Peter"s, St. Albans. was ill on returning from holiday abroad and was now in the City Hospital. Wishes for a speedy recovery go to Ken from all the District.

A convov of cars made their rather indirect way through the lanes to King's Walden. where ringing continued on the ground flonr six until 8 p.m.

BATH & WELLS ASSOCIATION

Taunton Branch

Some 25 members of the Taunton Branch foregathered at Ruishion on September 21st for the autumn meeting, and ringing on the light, musical six was much enjoyed. The service in the lovely little church was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. E. S. Reddish, and coincided with the harvest thank syiving weekend. Tea was prepared in the Village Hall at Thornfalcon.

The Rev. Michael Odlum. Branch charman. presided over the business meeting. Mrs. S. G. Williams renorted that a sum of $£ 20$ had been vent to Wellington Parish Church Restoraiion Fund in memorv of Mr. Stanley Bristow. late of Ashbrittle. Several new members were elected, among them Mr. and Mrs. Paul Williamson and their two sons. lately come to Taunton from Stoneleigh. Warwickshire. It is hoped to collect the names of any ringers in the Taunton Branch with a membership of 46 years or more.

The formation of an Association library was discussed and the suggestion made that the appointment of trustees as well as a lihrarian should be considered in order to ensure continuity.

Members are asked to note the following dates: The Association dinner at Cheddar on Octoher 19th: a practice meeting at either St. James. Taunton, or Wellington Parish Church on November 16th: and the Branch A.G.M. at Wilton on January 18th or 25th next year.

Chew Deanery Branch

A sparsely attended quarterly meeting of the Chew Branch was held at Backwell (8) on September 20th. The Association service was conducted by the Rector and Rural Dean. the Rev. J. T. George, who joined the company for tea afterwards.

At the meeting. B. White (Publow) and D Lines (Backwell) were elected members, and life membershin of four non-resident members prior to a peal at Portishead was ratified.

The annual Branch meeting will be held at Wrington on December 7th, with practice meetings at Weston-in-Gordano (October) and Nempnett Thrubwell (November).

Under anv other business, concern was expressed at the continued lack of support for practice meetings. and it was decided that as it seemed the meeting were not benefiting those who they were provided for. the question of their continuance in future should be decided at the annual general meeting.

Further ringing took place after the meeting.
Jing.

LADIES' GLIID BRANCH IN ABEYANCE

Only five members attended the meeting of the Devon Branch at Stoke Dimerel. Plymouth. on September 14 th and without male support the six bells could not have been rung. The Rev. F. Giles conducted the service and Mrs. Julia Sicere provided an excellent tea.

In view of the lack of support at this and previous meetings it was decided that activitie.s he held in abeyance until the annual general meeting of the Ladies Guild in 1969.

RAVING RINGERS REVISIT THE EMERALD ISLE

THIS year saw the Raving Ringers once more in Ireland for their annual tour. Liverpool was the meeting place before departure by sea and it was here that the two cars and minibus met after their journeys up from Oxfordshire. The journey to Liverpool was no dull trip in so far as we crawled for miles along the A. 5 before the accelerator finally found the foor on the M.6. Great discussions on whether Chris Clarke got out of the slow lane took up part of the time and it was eventually discovered that he did manage to pass two cars and ten lorries, one of which he passed four times!

Before leaving Liverpool some members rang on the 12 at Pier Head, where we were made most welcome. On board the majority settled for sleeping in the cafeteria, but this proved none too successful. Breakfast was at 4.30 a.m. and this meant that Mexican Pete had to cook queue-up meals.

From the docks in Dublin we made our way to Blessington, where we were to sample our first lrish bells. Neither of the cars nor the minibus made directly for Blessington-some found a quiet road for sleeping beside, and others stopped in O'Connell Sireet, Dublin. for yet another breakfast and to inhale the delightful smell of the River Liffey, where it was rumoured that even the fish wore goggles and breathing apparatus!

FIRST BELLS

Blessington did not exactly turn out to be typical of the bells we were to meet but, despite a diffcult tenor, ringing included Stedman, Cambridge and London. In the afternoon ringing centred on Dublin. At St. Patrick's we met Peter Brown and Colin Lewis, who both gave us invaluable help during our stay. Stedman Cinques was among the methods rung despite the fact that Barry and Ted-at various slages-found the 11th did not wish to join in. More fun was had on the ten at Christ Church, where there were two semitones-one sally being so high that it was impossible to use. Only Caters was rung here, due to the awkwardness of the tenor, which was both oddstruck and difficult to handle, but this was eusily made up for by the fine eight at St. George's. Bray was the overnight stop, where everybody felt relieved to have a wash, a meal and a bed instead of a belfry seat-even if it did mean seven in one bedroom. Perhaps the best quote of the day was seen by weary minibus travellers in a dry cleaner's in Dublin: "Drop in your blankets now"

Sunday morning's lay-in came to an abrupt end when some local R.C. Went mad on his solitary bell-just outside the guest houseand so some people were up by $7.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. with the exception of one, who had woven his own cocoon overnight and was staying put. The first ring was on the eight at Bray (a fine ring enjoyed by all), and this was followed by an even more magnificent eight at Arklow, set above the fown overlooking the Irish Sea. The final tower of the day was at Wexford, which. by a stroke of luck in the form of Colin Lewis we were allowed to ring after having been refused permission.

FROM WEXFORD TO CORK

Mondav morning meant an early rise to get to Waterford by 10 a.m. The minibus was last away and went via Wexford Church for a photograbhic session, whilst ace rally driver Chris Clarke left 15 minutes earlier but was nassed iust beyond New Cross by Sterling Russ. who was in top motoring form. From Waterford we went to Kilkenny, a journey which perfected our hand-waving when passing local inhabitants. Our first slipped wheel of the week occurred here when Ted Venn flopped his rope.
The 100 -mile drive to Bandon was not uneventful, with Ron and Walter in their element as we went along an Australian-type road. Bob was goine to take it easy (after all, maximum speed was 20 m.ph.), but after much bare racking he did Just manage to touch 60 m.p.h. At Bandon (a good but noisy six) there was an argument as to who should be first to go up two vertical ladders-ladies or gents. Tradition was maintained-the ladies were last up. At St. Finbarre's, Cork, we were given an excellent conducted tour of the Cathedral (which was completed in 1876). The magnificent eight were thoroughly enjoyed although they iended to be a little overpowering inside the ringing chamber. Four people were out of luck in getting a room, but fortunately enough accommodation was eventually found, although breakfast meant two sittings.

IN LIMERICK

The first tower the next day was at Doneraile, where the six were enjoyed until the treble started playing up. It was discovered after threc-quarters of an hour's ringing that the bell was only held to the headstock by one bolt. Limerick provided the only two remaining lowers of the day, where the first four injuries were sustained. Pam-according to Ted-sliced her arm with the carving knife, and Barry argued with the ninth clapper at St. Alphonsus' whilst investigating a mysterious noise at handstroke and a movement on the Ellacombe chime rope. The bell was rung down but appeared to be all right and, on ringing it up again, back came the clunk. It was not long before it was discovered that the end of the Hastings stay was just touching the clock chime hammer lever. St. Alphonsus' was followed by the C. of I. Cathedral, where some excellent ringing on the fine anti-clockwise eight included Spliced Surprise Major. The night's stay was at Tullamore.
The first tower on Wednesday was at Enniskillen and this meant a 90 -mile drive, a journey which took us past piles of cut peat and gave the photographers a field day. Near Enniskillen we were joined by Peter Smart and his wife, who were on holiday. To Londonderry, the final tower of the day, meant another long drive. The minibus crew stopped for dinner by Lough Erne, and refueled the batmobile at Kest.

STINK BOMB

At Londonderry a course of London Royal just did not make it, although one member of the band claimed to know all the starts, but when it came to ringing London Major the next day she had forgotten them. The overnight stay was in Portrush, Ireland's answer to

THE RAVERS AT HILLSBOROUGH. Blackpool, and it was here that Tony and Michael nearly incurred the wrath of the lrish. A stink bomb intended for Ray and Walter went astray and found its way into tho room of an lrish family who were fast asleep. Tony, on discovering the mistake, went to rescue the bomb, and as he entered the room a face raised itself from the pillow and looked at him. As he picked up the bomb he did manage to muster a goodnight to the owner of the still rising head. It was a night of peculiar occurrences, because when Pete woke up he found his bedmate-who shall remain nameless-holding his hand.

The first tower on Thursday morning was at Coleraine, where we found a ring of eight tucked away in a large tower that appeared to have no bells at all, and this was followed by Ballymena, where eight eager ringers ascended to the ringing chamber and locked the remainder out. At Carrickfergus the fine eight were enjoyed in the unusual tower above the lych gate. Some people managed to fit in a visit to the Castle (depicted on the 23. 6d. postage stamp), and found the trip round the battlements and keep of this excellently preserved Norman castle well worthwhile. From Carrickfergus our journey rook us through Belfast to Bangor, where Siedman. Plain Bob and eight Spliced Surprise were on the menu, but the spliced did not come round.
For the minibus travellers Friday came as a great relief with a two-day stay in Belfast. We travelled to Hillsborough and had a good ring on the fine eight.

On the excellent Taylor eight at SL Thomas's, Belfast, Bristol, Yorkshire and London were rung before moving on to the delightful ten at Dundela. which was thought by many to be the best light ten they had rung on. The final tower was at Holywood, where no film stars were seen but we were greeted by John Dunwoody. Before leaving we held our annual summit conference and it was decided 10 vLsit Scotland and Northern Eng land next year. Pete agreed in arrange the ro

SOMERSET MEN'S PEAL WEEK-END IN KENT

THREE cars set out in convoy from Bath on August (?) Bank Holiday Saturday headed for Kent. Leading the way was Eric Naylor with Gwilym Salmon and Philip Jones: in the middle was Vic Savage with Ron Beck and Ted Chivers: bringing up the rear were Arthur and Brenda Read. Ahead was a long week-end of peals and, perhaps, some fine weather and relaxation.
Having lunched at Guildford en route, the party arrived at Rochester Cathedral just after four o'clock. Here we joined up with Adrian Beck, who was holidaying separately at Eastbourne. The Somerset members were supplemented by Christopher Osenton and Trevor Cross, the latter being well known to most of the band, having lived for a time at Yeovil.

We made our somewhat tortuous way to the belfry and settled down to the job in hand. A peal of Stedman Caters was duly called by Eric Naylor in three and a half hours. The bells were half-muffled in memory of Princess Marina, who, as well as being Duchess of Kent. was patron of the Friends of Rochester Cathedral. It was generally agreed later that this peal was the best of the tour.
The party eagerly retired for refreshments with members of the local band. Eventually we said goodbye to Adrian and the locals and made our way to the Coniston Hotel at Sittingbourne.
On Sunday morning we left the hotel a little ater than planned and so just missed being able to ring for service at Bredgar. We therefore made our way to Harrietsham. stopping to admire Leeds Castle on the way. Unfortunately when we arrived we found that the service times were rather at loggerheads with the times of ringing printed in the local report. Undaunted by this glut of non-ringing. the convoy. still in strict sequence. headed north to Sheerness, where the rest of the morning was spent watching the hive of activity on the Thames estuary. In the afternoon at Sittinebourne Church Ted Chivers called a wellstruck peal of Cambridge Major, and after a very welcome "cuppa" we returned to belp rine for service.
The night was snent at the Coniston. Next morning. after severely depleting the hotel's supplv of cnffee and toast. we booked oul and set off for Rainham. arriving in the midतle of downpour. We again found the muffles on when we arrived. Genrge Navlor inined us and we rane a peal of Double Norwich Major conducted hy Gwilym Salmon. After an ample lurrh we headed for home.

The week-end was thoroughly enioved bv all the Darty and our thanks go to the Men of Kent (or should it he Kentish Men?) who made this possible. The thanks of the rest of the partv alco to Eric Navlor for having the idea and making all the arrangements union in the Cambridge area, and votes of thanks were extended to the ormanisers, Chris, Ted and Fred Dukes.

On Saturday most people had a lay-in before visiting Lurgan (a difficult eight). Rose trevor has an easy-going six but had a second that slipped so regularly that little ringing was done. At Drogheda we met Fred Dukes. to whom we gave our warmest thanks for all the work he did in organising the towers. A short ring was had on the eight after the comoletion of a peal by Bob Smith and his band.

Back in Dublin Peter Brown arranged half an hour's ringing at St. John's (an anti-clockwise ten), and at St. George's Peter entertained us to a cub of tea whilst finances were sorted out. By 11.30 p.m. we were on board and ready to sail. This time some slept in the minibus and two took the floor. Deddington was reached by dinner time after only two stops after leaving Liverpool. One stop was for hreakfast. the other for a ring at St. Mary's, Warwick. by those who one can only call tower grabbers!
B. J. D.

The wedding took place on September 7th at St. George's Church, Hyde, between Alan F. Scholfield, Master of the C.U.G., and Miss Jenny Alcock. The best man was Mr. Richard Inglis, of Nottingham, a fellow undergraduate. The ushering was in the capable hands of Mr. Robert B. Smith. Handbells were rung by friends from Cambridge and Cheshire as the couple left the church
Several peals were attempted in honour of the wedding. An attempt for Stedman Cinques at Manchester Town Hall by a mainly Guild band was lost after a quarter of the peal had been rung.

DOINGS IN DEVON

Down St. Mary have been keeping up their usual silver-collecting routine, winning among other competitions last month the Bow Bells Shield and the Cadbury Deanery competition-in case you are confused by London imitations, Bow Bells are in the village of Bow, between Crediton and Okehampton. At Bow there was some very close marking, Down St. Mary, Plymstock and Swymbridge all coming between 20 and 23 faults.

October sees the competition programme slowing down for the winter; but the first two Saturdays have two festivals each-on the 5th at Dolton for the Dolton Shield and two cups, and at Babbacombe for the South Devon eight-bell. The Dolton Shield, by the way, is one of the most attractive trophies in the county. Built by a local man, it has mounted on it a tiny silver bell hung for ringing with beautifully-made frame and gear. Babbacombe, a Guild tower as well as Association, have a young band who have been doing some very useful ringing in both traditions for the last year. On the 12 th there are two festivals in North Devon; first the Boundy Shield at the beautifully-situated village of Knowstone (the "Know" rhymes with cow "), and the Shirwell Deanery competition at Combe Martin.

The 19 th sees the Kentisbeare Cup: the village is a few miles east of Cullompton, in very pretty country not far from the A.38-and until the Cullompton By-pass is finished nobody will be sorry to make a detour just about there.

On the 26 th, call change ringers will be converging on Exeter. for that is the day of the big Ringers' Service at the Cathedral, when ringers from all over the Diocese will be bringing their gifts for the Cathedral Appeal. Both the Guild and Association are supporting it for all they are wortb, and it should be a great day.

We are sorry that September was given a miss in this series; our intelligence system was put out of joint through the contributor's being on holiday-in a parish with an out-of-tune five hung dead. J.G.M.S.

NATIONAL POLICE GUILD

The National Guild of Police ringers were made very welcome and spent a pleasant time when they held their annual meeting at Grantham on September 2nd. Ringing took place at five towers, viz: Edenham. Haydone, Bottesford, Colsterworth and St. Wulfram's, Grantham.

The business meeting was held in the afternoon at the Divisional Headquarters of the Lincolnshire Constabulary, Grantham, by kind permission of Chief Superintendent William Goosey.

At the dinner, held at the George Hotel, Grantham, the guests were Chief Superintendent Goosey and Mrs. Goosey and Canon Sansbury (Rural Dean of Grantham).

The next A.G.M. will be held on Saturday, September 27th, 1969, at Worcester.

PRESENTATION TO NORFOLK VICAR

On September 14th members and friends of the Norwich Diocesan Association met at South Lopham for a presentation to the Rev.
E. Beevers on his retirement and in appreciation of his work in restoring the derelict church and grand old ring of six bells.

In presenting Mr. Beevers with a pen and pencil, Mr. Nolan Golden, president of the Association, spoke of the great work done not only at South Lopham but also at North Lopham Church. Largely due to Mr. Beevers South Lopham bells are now one of the finest rings of six in the Diocese.
In reply, Mr. Beevers spoke of the help he had received and also of the support of the ringers and parishioners.

A short service was conducted by the Rev. C. E. Beevers. followed by tea. which was provided by the local ringers and friends. Ringing took place during the afternoon at South Lopham and in the evening at hoth churches.
In retirement Mr. and Mrs. Beevers will be residing at Diss, and so not altogether lost to the district.

Letters to the Editor

MINOR RECORDS

Dear Sir.-Mr. Jones inquires (page 746) why the Central Council has not published annual lists of new Minor methods rung during the previous year. just as it publishes lists of methods on higher numbers.

He will be pleased to know that for the past two years I have been collecting details of Minor methods on behalf of the Council's Records Committee, with the ultimate aim of producing a comprehensive record of all such methods that have heen rung in peals. What was hoped would be a fairly simple task has proved to be far more complex than was expected. since it has involved (in the case of irregular" methods) digging back into 300 years of ringing history.

This digging has shown. for example, that a number of these "irregular" methods rung in recent years had already been rung in peals in the past under quite different names. Rather than produce a list. therefore, that may need later correction. I am endeavouring to complete my researches first. It will then be possible to produce a master list of methods. and update it each year as Mr. Jones suggests.

In the meantime, I have records of nearly 1.000 Minor methods that have been rung-not all of them in peals, admittedly-plus approximately 5,000 further notations for methods that have not (as far as 1 am yet aware) ever been rung and/or named. I shall be only too pleased to answer any queries concerning these re-cords-short of copying out the lot for any particularly avid student !-but would appreciate an s.a.c. for the reply.

Apropos Mr. Bishop's inquiry about fourth's place Delight methods (page 7481. I have no record of any of these ever having been rung or named.-Yours faithfully.

CLOCK HAMMERS

Dear Sir,-The incident of the clock hammer at Caistor (Dage 728. "Uphill in the Flatlands") should serve as a warning to steeplehecpers of towers with clock hammers.

A great deal of damage could be caused in other towers as a result of clock wires coming adrift. especially where the clock hammer passes through the wheel of the bell when striking. Steeplekeepers should make sure that nails, etc., which hold clock wires are firmly anchored in the tower wall. Needless to say. had the conductor thought any damage might have been caused at Caistor the neal would have been stopped.-Yours faithfully,

London, S.W.

PREVIOUS GUERNSEY PEAL CORRECTION

Dear Sir, - With reference to Canon Felstead's article on recent peals, the 1965 peal at Si. Michel-du-Valle, Guernsey, Was Minor. The methods were Kent, St. Clement's and Plain Boh, but by some error, most probably my oun. the peal appeared as " 5,040 Doubles" in the "R.W." May I take this opportunity of thanking Canon Felstead for what is one of the more interesting regular features of the journal.-Yours sincerely, PAUL CATTERMOLE.

DOUBLES METHODS

Dear Sir,-The C.C Collection and Decisions divide Doubles methods into three sections. Section 1 contains principles used as methods. Secton II contains methods with two (like) hunt bells. Section III contams methods with one hunt bell. Name variations are permitted for plain methods in Sections 1I and III. No method or variation has for its plain lead the called lead of another method or varration in the same section.
Mr. Wratten does not like this, why did he not say so at Worcester? He labels the above as my personal dicta, thereby showing disrespect for those who compiled the 1955 Collection and those present at Worcester. He himself has said that my adherence to the C.C. Decisions is technically irreproachable and cannot be faulted.
In his second paragraph he splits hars over principles and methods: he wants to complicate matters. He agrees that bobbed leads of methods in Section I (such as Original and 3153535135 ) may be used as methods in Section II (Grandsire) and III (New Bob), but he wishes to ban methods in Section III which are used as calls in Section 11. This includes three methods in the 1955 Collection and the regular method All Saints, which is a singled lead of the very irregular Newark Place; also more than 50 methods in Section 111 . where the corresponding method in Section 11 cannot produce a true extent. Would he han the regular method Shortheath Surprise. which is the bobbed lead of an irregular method?

His last paragraph is not so simple as be would have us think. A simple extent of Spliced Plain Boh and St. Simon would have to be given a name as a variation. Here's pedantry.
Assuming that Mr. Wratten has linished-I finish.-Yours sincercly.

PETER PERCEY OF CHERTSEY

Dear Sir.-When I came to live in Weybridge in 1902 the only progressive change ringing band in the district was at Hersham. where a new band was learning on a new ring of eight. My visits to Chertsey warned me not to mention anything about Peter Percey's peal which beat the Rev. F. E. Robinson's peal of Stedman by two minutes.

Yesterday, September 23rd. 1968.. as 1 was being wheeled in my bathchair, a lady at her garden gate spoke to me, saying "Do you remember me. Mr. Shepherd? " She spoke of my ringing at Chertsey, and of Peter Percev. Sixty-six years ago-and I am still wondering about those two peals. The Rev. F. F. Robinson's peal was duly recorded in "A Bell News" and has never been questioned, hut the Percey peal was a local effort. I cannot picture the conductor calling out the call changes, 5.040 of them, in just over three hours. My investigations over the years revealed that there were two Peter Perceys, one senior and one junior. hut I do not remember either of them as ringers.

Once, outside Chertscy Church, a lady introduced herself to me as: "I am Mrs. Peter Percey, but no information was forthcoming about the famous peal on Chertsey bells of which her husband was a local hero!-Yours faithfully:

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

KING CHARLES SURPRISE MINOR

Dear Sir,-I am rather puzzled by the appearance in the note in "Belfry Gossip" in the September 13th issue of "The Ringing World" (No. 2995) concerning King Charles Surprise Minor. For a start, the method is not Surprise but thirds place Delight; secondly, exactly what "sequence" of Kings and Queens methods has been completed; and thirdly, does it now hold true that the first band to ring any length in a new method may now name it?

On this last point I always understood that it was a peal in a new method (or spliced methods) which gave a band the privilege of naming it. If this is not true, I shall presumably be able to ring touches of 48 or more changes of any of the 50 or so outstanding irregular Minor methods like King Charles and name them as I like.

May I suggest that Mr. Dodd, by bringing some band may be sufficiently interested to ring a complete peal containing it, thus robbing him of his chance-Yours faithully,

DEREK J. JONES.

WARSOP SCRPRISE MINOR

Dear Sir.-In reply to Mr. Derek C. Jackson's observation that we have two names recorded in "The Ringing World" for one method (page 723). I should like to make the following point.

As far as 1 am aware. the customary procedure in naming methods is that the hand who first ring the method in a peal have the privilege. To the best of my knowledge at the time. the method rung at Warsop in a peal had not been named. and since we are the first not only to ring it in a peal but also the first to ring a peal in the method. I wish to claim the privilege of naming the method. as published on page 660. Warsop Surprise Minor.-Yours sincerely.

Blagrove-Smith Controversy

Dear Sir,-To reply to Mr. Blagrove's letter (" Ringing World," September 20th, 1968): he says he intended to include the peal of 13,140 Kent T.B. Maximus (Cam variation) with the other record peals for 1968 without comment; in his original letter, in special black type, he says that expressed in this form the peal is not a record peal. Now if the difference between a record peal and a progressive length is so insignificant not to be worth a comment. why bother going to all the trouble of arrangements for the former, especially when it may still be classified as one of the latter on some obscure technical point? For example, the record handbell peals rung both in Norbury belfry and Marple belfry: umpires were present all the time, and the band rang in less comfortable conditions than they would have done in the confinement of somebody's home. which would have been much easier to arrange.

Record peals should be what the name implies in every respect. and as there seems to be little difference between progressive lengths and record peals, then an umpire is an absolute necessity for both! The original controversy in long peal ringing was when the late William Pye questioned not only the standard of striking in the record peal of Double Norwich at Kidlington, but also he contended that the late J. W. Washbrook did not call the composition he later published in 'The Ringing World.'
While I do not question Mr. Parker on these two counts, I believe that peals of this type should not be included with record peals or progressive lengths, but with a question mark in place of the number of changes! This might persuade some of our more frivolous members of the Exercise that they are wasting their time in ringing such peals. I recollect a band ringing what was then the longest peal of Yorkshire Major at the Bell Foundry about ten years ago, but this was not accepted then as a record peal and the committee at that time did not consider it worthwhile creating a new category for progressive lengths. Which also reminds me that Mr. Blagrove is wrong in his statement about 1967 being the first year that such a problem has arisen.

I accept Mr. Blagrove's explanation, as a member of the Methods Committee, with respect to a method being founded on two principles. However. I would like to reaffirm that it was only part of my argument (along with other people who believe) that the Cam variation is acceptable on traditional grounds. The band have been completely explicit in their claim and if the Records Committee decide that it shall be a progressive length, a record peal or both does not really matter now! What does matter is that the committee should realise that if they let the Pudsey in. in either classification, in ten years or less nobody will abide by any of the rules Just two more points from Mr. Blagrove's letter:-
(i) He says that the statement " two types of bob" should have read "two types of call." I would remind him that he stated this twice in his first letter so that it could hardly have been an error in typesetting.
(ii) He states that I stick to the principle "I observe rules and decisions when they suit me." As far as I am aware, every one of the 265 peals I have conducted complies, as he would say, "to the last detail." with the Rules and Decisions of the Council. I would further point out that it has not suited me on some 20 occasions to provide umpires for record peals.-Yours sincerely

ROBERT B. SMITH.

Cambridge University Guild Master Seeks the Truth

Dear Sir.-Mr. Blagrove has been very quick in his reply to Mr. R. B. Smith's "oulspoken comments". I would agree entirely with the paragraph dealing with the structure of the Cam Variation. It is difficult to appreciate the reasons for the sentence "The band have not been precise in their claim". The conductor has been perfectly precise in the initial notice (p. 506), news of success (p. 606) and actual publication of the peal (p. 628). We rang Kent Treble Bob Maximus (Cam Variation) and this title is perfectly explicit and has been so since 1920. If Mr. Blagrove's interpretation of the initial notice was that the peal could not be accepted as a record peal proper because of suggested method irregularity, he should, as a responsible convener, have contacted the conductor immediately and explained the position to him before we rang the peal. Instead, he kept quiet and decided to upset the band and to involve himself in another argument-after the peal had been rung and published.
Mr. Blagrove's second paragraph is extremely contradictory. He states that the peal would stand as a progressive length-one of the two categories introduced by him in earlier corres-pondence-and then goes on to state that he intended to include it in his report to the Central Council "with no comment to differentiate it from the record peals of Cambridge Royal and Lincolnshire Major"-both record lengths proper. This means that he is introducing two categories for his own reasons and then combining them in his report to the Central Council! Something has caused him to change his mind because in paragraph 4 he states that the peal will now be considered separately along with other peals where the methods are supposed to be irregular. He mentions that it might be necessary to refer the matter to the Methods Committee, but I am sure that they are not very interested in the matter otherwise something would have been done about normal length peals of Treble Bob cut variations. Presumably these are also governed by Central Council Rules and Decisions
Turning to Mr. Loveday's letter on the same page, I would point out that we do read footnotes, and I can only refer him to Mr. Wratten's letter on p. 652-"a strictly legalistic in terpretation of the Decisions in no way alters the fact that their spirit has been deliberately contravened"-and by the truthful convener of the Records (?) Committee.
It is hardly surprising that more and more ringers are having less and less respect for the Central Council and some of its Committees This will only lead to an increasing number of peals being rung which do not comply with the Council's Rules and Decisions. When a long length or a record peal of spliced is rung all the interested "Ringing World" readers know, as soon as the performance is published, that a new record has been established. The academic arguments which follow are a direct result of the failure of the Central Council to keep its Rules and Decisions up to date and free of ambiguity in the light of new ground being broken in the fields of methods and compositions.-Yours sincerely.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION AT KNARESBOROUGH

IXED weather greeted the members of the Yorkshire Association who converged on Knaresborough for a most successful general meeting on September 21st. The bells at Patley Bridge, Beckwithshaw, Harrogate, Boroughbridge. Aldhorough and Birstwith were available in the morning and those at Kirk Deighton, Knaresborough and Whixley in the afternoon.
Before the service, which was taken by the curate of Knaresborough, the Rev. Mr Capstick, a committee meeting was held, and afterwards tea was enjoyed by over 120 mem bers and friends in the Parish Hall.
The president, Mr. V. Bottomley, was in the chair at the business meeting at which two new members were elected-Miss Kathleen Robinson, Bedale. but attached to Northal lerton, and Mr. Gordon Wighton, of Knaresborough.
Nominations were invited for Central Council representatives and these were: Mr. N. Chaddock, Mr. W. E. Critchley. Mr. E. Hudson Mr. D. S. Johnson, Mr. W. F. Moreton and Mr. J. Seager. The clection will be at the meeting in January Future dates of interest to members are : the 1968 Snowdon Dinner on October 19th at Bradford (tickets are still available from Mr F. Munday); January 18th. general meeting at Beverley; April 20th, A.G.M. at Penistone: September 20th. general meeting at Bradford; 1969 Snowdon Dinner at York. In 1970 it is hoped to hold the Central Council meeting at Ilkley, and in 1975 we celebrate our centenary A vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. D. S. Johnson to the Vicar of Knaresborough for allowing the use of the bells, the curate for taking the service, Mr. R. Gudgeon and local ringers and friends for preparing tea, and lastly the incumbents of all other towers onen during the day. This was seconded by Mr E. Hudson. who also said that due to the efforts of Mr. L. Bean. of Knareshorough Nidd bells would he available that evening and Masham by invitation of the Vicar. Harrogate Kirk Deighton and Knaresborough were also available after tea.
A collection for the Bell Repair Fund realised £5 1s. 3d.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Forty ringers, representing 18 towers, met at the 14th-century all-wooden tower at High Halden, with its fine ring of bells, on September 13th for an Ashford District meeting.

The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. A. R. Gorc-Browne, and Mrs. J. Manger was the organist.
A first-class home-made tea was arranged by local ringers and friends in the Memorial Hall At the conclusion of the business meeting Mr. H. Deacon thanked those who had contributed to the day's activities.

DEVONSHIRE GUILD

The Mid-Devon Branch of the Devonshire Guild of Ringers and the South Devonshire Association of Ringers held a joint meeting at Buckfast Abbey on September 14th, when there was a large gathering present.
Ringing to suit all tastes took place throughout the afternoon and was followed by a service in the Abbey conducted hy the Rev. Father Paulinus Angold, who heartily welcomed the visitors.
After a buffet tea at Abbey Farm the ringers dispersed to other towers in the neighbourhood, some very good ringing taking place at Dean Prior.

MICHAEL UPHILLS PARTY IN KENT

Happiest member of the team was "Stedman." who, unaware of the technicalities of ringing, was allowed to spend most of his time darting up and down in the fresh air.
Ringing opened at St. Lawrence's, Hawkhurst. with a good touch of Stedman, followed by successful courses of Yorkshire and London. The only regret was failing to ring Hawkhurst Bob Triples, but it was finally rung at Lenham.
Before an early lunch, ringing at St. George's, Benenden, was restricted to Doubles, as the tenor clapper had unfortunately been broken
At Ashford most of the time was taken up in finding parking space. A pause for tea, and then Charing and Lenham. The 32 cwt . ten at All Saints', Maidstone. provided a glorious climax. All were tired but all were equally determined to make the most of the opportunity to ring here. Grandsire. Stedman and Erin Caters were rung, and with a final spurt of enthusiasm we also managed a touch of Little Bob Royal. R.J.C.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUTLD

The annual meeting of the Bicester and District Branch at Piddington on September 21st was attended by the Master of the Guild (Canon C. Elliot Wigg), who preached at the service. which was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. F. Gatehouse). The Deputy Master (Mr. F. Sharpe) read the lesson. A ringers' tea was served by Mrs. H. Jones and helpers.
At the business meeting it was reported that membership had increased this year but recruits were needed in all towers. Mr. C. P. Panter was elected a member.
Branch officers elected were: President. Canon W. H. Trebble ; vice-presidents. Rev. J. W. Larter and Mr. F. Sharne: hon secretary and treasurer. Mr. C. H. Kinch; Guild Committee. Mr. E. G. Jones.
In addition to ringing at Piddington, ringers went to Brill in the evening to ring for the Flower Festival.

HARTLAND DEANERY  RINGERS  ARE GLUTTONS FOR IT

WHETHER 1 is the sea air up there-and there is plenty of that, believe me-or the prime Devon beef that is bred in the district, there are some amazingly keen'ringers in the Hartland Deanery. This is reflected in the fact that every parish church in the Deanery except little Landeross has a ring of bells-even Lundy Island, although its bells are on the ground now-three eights (not counting Lundy) and eleven sixes. And one day last summer six ringers from the Deanery set out to ring in every one of them, ringing the back sixes of the eights, including 17 crvt. Bideford and Hartland and little 7 cwt . Welcombe. The other towers were at Appledore ( $8,10 \mathrm{cwt}$.), Alwington ( $6,11 \frac{1}{\mathrm{t}} \mathrm{cwt}$.), Abbotsham ( 6,12 cwt.), Buckland Brewer ( 6,12 cwt.), Clovelly ( $6,10 \mathrm{cwt}$.), Litleham ( 6,9 cwt.), Monkleigh ( $6,8 \mathrm{cwt}$ ), Northam ( 8,13 cwt.), Parkham ( $6,7 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), Weare Gifford, $(6,7$ cwt.) and Woolfardisworthy (pronounced Woolsery, of course) ( $6,8 \mathrm{cwt}$.).
The six ringers were George Smith and Dick Johns from Clovelly, Frank Daniel and F. Baiky from Alwington, and R. Clements and C. Nicholls from Littleham.
In every tower they raised the bells, rang 60 call changes and lowered the bells again. And 1 think I can say that every one of those 14 rings of bells in one of the remotest parts of the South-West is rung, if not every Sunday, then regularly and well.
Not content with this achievement, three of this partty were not long after involved in call change history. The first was at Welcombe, where they kept the light six going for 3 Hours and two minutes-a broken stay brought this an an end. Another attempt at Littleham - a very niee six near Bideford-resulted in 4 hours and 7 minutes of call changes, ringing the standard $120,60,48,36$ and 20 in turn five times-a total of about 1,400 changes and some 8,000 rounds. The hand were: $\mathbf{G}$. Smith (Clovelly) 1. H. Coneybeare (Hartland) 2, R. Bryant (Litteham) 3. R. Clements (Littleham) 4. C. Nicholls (Littleham) 5, J. Sears (Clovelly) 6. Now . . . who's goins to beat that?

MR. WILLIAM WUOD

The Truro trocesan Guild has lost its oldest method ringer in the person of Mr. Wuliam wood, of Gulval, who died recenily. Mr. Wood came to Cornwall trom Somerset just before the first world war and establisheu a horticultural business which, with his brother. Mr. John Wood, also a ringer, who died several years ago, he developed into a large area of ءlasshouses, now carried on by his nephew, Mr. Victor Wood.

Until three weeks before his death Mr. Wood was active and was ringing earlier in the year, being present at the Jpring Festival of the Penzance Branch. He still held the othce of Branch auditor; he was a vice-president of the Guild.

William Wood had a great love for Gulval Church and bells; he was a churchwarden for many years and took great care of the ringling chamber; the cost of refurnishing this in oak and oak panelling the walls was borne by him, although he would never refer to it. He also recorded in the tower the ringing done there. He will be sorely missed, as over such a long period he had given a great example of regularity and punctuality for all service and practice ringong. He had rung a few peals of Grandsire Triples.
The funeral was conducted by the Viear (the Rev. A. Jasper) and the church was crowded with ringers, parishioners and friends from a wide area. Among ringers present were Messrs. H. Miles, C. N. Hollow, R. Woolridge, Mrs. A. White, the Misses M. L. Lidgey and $M$. Christopher (secretary, Penzance Branch). Floral trbiutes were sent by the Gulval ringers and the Penzance Branch of the Truro Guild. Gulval bells were rung halfmuffled, and a half-muffled quarter peal was rung at Lelant on September 14ch. but it was regretted that a thanksgiving peal al Truro Cathedral on the 14th failed through a miscall after two and a half hours of Grandsire Caters.
LONGDON, WORCS. - On Sept. 18th. 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: Janet Prjee (hrir quarter) 1, Susan Price 2, F. Lawrence 3, J. Mead 4. D. Price (cond.) 5, F. Clarke 6. Runs hall-mufted in memoriam Fred Woodwand, a member of the local band

CORRECTIONS & AMENDMENTS

The peal at Meldreth which appeared on page 734 is duplicated on page 751.
There was a literal in the peal report of King Charles Surprise Major on page 710. We understand it was rung at Wonston.
Mr. E. A. Cole writes withdrawing the peal rung at Ashby-de-la-Launde on January 6th and published in "The Ringing World" of January 26th.

The peal rung at Longparish on August 16th (page 755) was rung for the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild and not Non-Association, as printed.
In "Four-Bell Towers of Dorset " Brownsea Island bells was inadvertently omitted from the list. These are the front four of a major five. Two misprints in weights of tenors occurred. Margaret Marsh's tenor is $5 \frac{1}{4}$ and not $25 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. Pentridges' tenor 5 not if cwt.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mrs. A. V. Davis, of 24, Stourclifte Avenue, Southbourne, is the new secretary for the Christchurch and Southampton District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild. Mr. L. F. Cobb, the former secretary, is now living at Swindon.
The day before he was due to attempt his first peal at Sapcote, Leics, Neil Harvey broke his thumb while playing Rugby. Neil's parents nevertheless provided refreshments for the band who rang the peal and thanked Chris Sturgess. Neil's deputy.
One result of Magnus Peterson's article in - The Ringing World "o Inverness Cathedral has been the increased number of visitors to the tower. This week we have the first local quarter there with four of the band ringing their first. We look forward to receiving many more.
The unteachable old dog mentioned in Mr Blagrove's letter of September 20th would like to remind him of a quarter peal of Spliced Doubles in 27 methods-not variations-rung at Beenham, Berks, in March, 1960. after meeting short for a peal in 72 methods. Frank was invited but due to nher enmmitments was unable to take part. The old dog is always interested in any further attempts.

The Coonbs family of Marksbury, Bath, made it a family aflair when Alan called his first quarter as conductor. There were two first quarters to give four ringers in the family.
Mr. Morley P. Tobin is recovering from a recent abdominal operation. His many friends in Worcestershire wish him a completc and speedy recovery.
Six members of the Welch family rang a quarter peal at llton, Somerset, on September 181h. Will the Arscott family note the challenge to their family prerogative of the county?
Quizzes are popular these days and Ellot Right Way Books, Kingswood, Surrey, have just published "The. All British Quiz Book" (price 3s. 6d.) Those on Church Bells and Services are not for ringers but more for the general public Quizzes in 59 subjects are included.
During a quarterly meeting at Buxted in August, Sussex ringers learned that the Rector (Canon G. Cooke) would shortly be celebrating the 50th year of his ordination. A complimentary quarter was duly rung on the actual anniversary day in the presence of Canon Cooke and meminers of the P.C.C... who afterwards kindly invited the band to join in the parish supper to mark the occasion.

WARFIELD HAVE RING OF TEN

On Saturday, November 16 th, two new trebles will be dedicated at St. Michael's, Warfield, at 3.30 p.m. by Canon K. W. H. Felstead, making a ring of ten. The new bells, both gifts to the church, were cast by the Whitechapel Foundry as were the ring of eight in 1913. A frame for the new bells, designed by Mears and Stainhank, has been constructed. donated and erected by local builders with able assistance of Warfield ringers.

Prior to 1913 there were five bells in the tower, the earliest dating back to 1487 , being cast by one Roger Landen of Wokingham, and a further bell cast in 1629. Of the fifth bell little is known except that it weighed over a ton and was dated 1718 . These five bells were in a minor key and of poor condition and tonal quality.
In 1913 the bells were recast into a ring of eight with a tenor of 13 cwt .2 qr .27 lb . in F and are a most mellow and melodious ring.

In order to raise funds for the balance of the moneys required, the ringers have made handsome personal donations to the fund ; also a large draw was organised-the first three prizewinners being as follows:

First prize, $£ 20$ (No. 2093)-Mr. Brien, Warfield. Berks; second. £10 (0) 49 )-Mr. A. Scott. Tottenhoe. Beds: third. £5 (0178)-Mr. Platecks. Croydon, Surrey, Other winning ticket numbers were: 1171. 0185, 2726. 1732. 2365, 2318, 2526, 2758 and 2611

DID YOU GET THE PEAL?

The peal of Frodsham at St. Stephen's. St. Albans, was definitely rung in spite of everything.

Ken was removed to hospital on Friday, much to the concern of everyone. A quick shutile-round followed. St. Stephen's has a ground-floor six. the belfry door opens right on to the tenor, a thin partition separates it from the vestry, and the boiler is in a little room off the vestry with the only access through the circle. Hence we had to take the door off its hinges so that the wo men who cheerfully said that they would be working on the hoiler all morning could go out if necessary. "It's all right. we're used to ringers." they assured us. They retired: we began amid an inspiring smell of gas.

Next were the little hoys who came into the church and got noisier and noisier! There was much muttering at them. but soon they were joined by a dog, which procceded to hark. Thinking we would not see them, they transferred to the vestry. Where they were joined by the secretary, who began banging on a typewriter. Because there was no door. the visitors in the church were able to stand in the doorway between the treble and tenot and watch us. We had a variety of faces. including a very small infant.

The din next door increased, the dog still harking, and at the height of it all the boilermen decided to emerge. Mutterings and great concentration, and when Brian knew exactly where everyone was he told them to go through. Roger stood to one side and managed to ring in about two inches of floor space! However. they did not wait when they came back-thev just grinned and walked through. Having resigned ourselves to the noise we mushed on. to see the church filling up with guests for a mid-day wedring. We just about heard ourselves run round and had no sooner stood than the Vicar velled out from the vestry-" Did you get the peal, then?"!!

YOUNGEST MASTER AT HEREFORD

Miss Valerie M. Edge, of Much Wenlock, Shropshire, became the first lady Ringing Master of the Hereford Diocesan Guild when she was elected at the 1968 annual meeting held at Hereford on Whit Monday.

Miss Edge is a former secretary of the Bridgnorth District of the Guild, and she is a choir member and the Ringing Master at Much Wenlock Parish Church, where her enthuisasm and devotion has been responsible for teaching and keeping logether a band composed mainly of lady ringers. She is al keen supporter of the Hereford Ringing Courses and, at 23 , is the youngest Master in the history of the Guild.

HUNTNGTON GUIID OF BELLRINGERS

To mark the ordination of thetr vicc-president (the Rev. Michael Escritt, curate at All Saints'. Huntington) in Howden Minster on September 22nd, members of the Guild travelled to Howden, where, prior to the service, they were privileged to ring on the glorious ring of elght bells. Touches of Plain Bob Major and Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung before the impressive service, which was conducted by the Archbishop of York.
In the afternoon six members of the Guild rang a peal of Minor in two methods on their own bells as a compliment to Mr . Escritt, who since his arrival in the parish 12 months ago has been a valuable friend and supporter of the Guild.

SUFFOLK HELLS AT FOUNDRI

One of the oldest rings of Suffolk bells. at St. Mary's. Woolpit, between Stowmarket and Bury St. Edmunds, is now at John Taylor's foundry at Loughborough for retuning, new clappers and other work estimated to cost $£ 1.158$. Some $£ 600$ remains to be raised to cover the cost.

There were five bells here in 1553 and early in the 19 th century, writes Mr. Claude Rush. there were still five and all had been cast in the 17 th century exceot the third, which was cast earlier. The tower was rebuilt in 1852 after it had been destroyed by lightning. C. and G. Mears then did work on the bells and a sixth was added.

12-YEAR-OLD SALLY TAKES PART IN SURPRISE MAJOR OUTING

Newest recruit to the Warminster-Frome District Surprise Major practice band is 12-yearold Sally Baker, of Frome. She was one of the party of 30 ringers and friends who, on September 21 st. had their annual outing into Wales and Herefordshire. The bells were first sut going at Monmouth to Cambridge Major. in which Sally rang. She also took part in Stedman Caters at Abergavenny, and lowered the tenor in peal at Blaenavon.
From Monmouth the route was through the neatiful Wye Valley to Ross, where Cambridge. Bristol and Rutland were brought round on the well-known bells. After lunch at Ross there was some very worthwhile ringing at Abergavenny.

It was unfortunate that the next part of the trip-over the mountains to Blaenavon-was marred by the heaviest storm of the day, which succeeded in hiding much of the country and the beautiful views obtainable from the road. Cambridge and Lincolnshire were successfully rung here but cight-spliced came to grief. However, at the next tower, at Usk, thanks to the wizardry of Spuadron Leader George Massey, it was accomplished. It was at Usk that some of the best ringing of the day took place. The search for tea here was unsuccessful. a substitute being at a small fish and chip shop in the Square.

The famous Severn Bridge was again crossed. There was a stop for refreshments at Keynsham, and it was a tired but happy party that reached home.

Thanks are due to Mr. F. Slatford for the arrangements, to Mr. Cecil Ovens for his competent driving, and to all incumbents for the use of bells.
N. G. K.

AN UNLUCKY 13

Mr. Martyn Marriott of Bedford, has lost 13 consecutive peal attempts. Five of these were over two hours and one over three hours. Five were miscalled. four were stopped because the standard of ringing was not good enough, and two through illness. We hope success will attend Martyn in the peals arranged for later this year.

UNSEFN METHODS CHALLENGE

Whatton ringers (Nottingham) challenged Derby Cathedral ringers to a bellringing comnetition. Each team, in turn, attempted to ring a 360 of three previously unseen methods. Harry Poyner selected the methods and judged the contest. Each team had ten minutes to learn the method before going up to the tower to ring it.

Miraculously, all teams succeeded in ringing their 360 's-though after the occasional false start. The first method turned out to be Alnwick. the second was London below the treble and Oxford Treble Bob above, and was thought to be Mendip. The final method. which had some resemblance to Cambridge. could not be christened. At the end of the contest the Whatton ringers entertained their opponents to tea in the Village Hall. Harry Poyner iudged Derbv Cathedral to be winners Poyner tudged Der of all three $360^{\circ} \mathrm{s}$.

The day was rounded off with a skittles competition at the Griffin's Head, where the Whatton ringers struck hetter form and did much to redeem their earlier failings by beating the Cathedral ringers two games to one.
A return match is prophesied for early next

Review

"BELLS AND BELLRINGING"

Frequently we receive requests for a useful handbook about bells and ringing. Mr. Roy $H$. Jones has supplied this in "About Bells and Bell Ringing" (price 3 s . from the author, 118, Oxford Road, Marston, Oxford). Mr. Jones has based his handbook on material he has used in talks and articles, but really it dates back io 1961-62, when he wrote a two-page booklet for recruiting purposes.

The historical side of bells is well summarised, indicating the development since the bells of St. Ninian and St. Patrick (A.D. 465). Legends and superstitions associated with bells always make good material for lectures. and the classic example of bells being provided to keep the Devil dway from the departed is the sum of money given to the Church of St. Sepulchre at Old Bailey to pay for bell ringing on the days of execution, when the condemned was given a service. a nosegay of flowers and a "neal " on the bells

Ringers should hear in mind that misuse of hells was supposed to bring misfortune. Sir Miles Partridge gambled with Henry VIII for St. Paul's bells and won. Later Sir Miles was executed. Arthur Bulkeley. Bishop of Bangor. sold his Cathedral bells and was struck blind

Commenting on ringing today. Mr. Jones confirms that the standard of ringing is rising steadily: certainly achievement in the front rank of ringing today has reached staggering heights and we are now confronted with the niceties of distinetion hetween record peals and progressive lengths! He states that since the 1939/45 war the number of ringers has increased ravidly and the number of young ringers today is greater than ever before. The number of lady ringers has increased rapidly in the last ten years and there are towers completely "manned" by ladies or where ladies outnumber men. From his experience with learners the author holds that girls seem to he more interested than hoys in ringing. and he foretells that if the present trend continues the majority of ringers in the future mav be ladies! Certainlv our peal columns indicate that ladies are still very much in the minority in peal ringing. although in quarter peals ladies now get a better showing.
One cannot deny that change ringing becomes a pastime for life. but behind its strong social side, its deal ringing and tours, there is its obligation-to ring for Sunday service regularly.
"About Bells and Bell Ringing" is a useful summary of the part bells have played in life through the ages and an introduction to the dedicated art that change ringing has now reached.

St. Woolos' Cathedral, Newport, Mon.

THE first church on the site was founded before the Saxon invasion, and in bygone days it appears to have received the attention of many marauders. In 864 the church was plundered by Irish pirates, in 875 by the Danes, and in 1060 by Earl Harold's men. The army of William Rufus is said to have encamped one night about the church and before departing to have knelt before the altar and made offerings. The King granted the church to the monastery of St. Peter's, Gloucester, in whose possession is remained until 1540 when the rights of presentation, patronage, etc., were vested in the Bishop of Gloucester. In 1882 these were transferred to the Bishop of Llandaff. In 1921, with the formation of the Diocese of Monmouth, St. Woolos' became the pro-Cathedral and in October, 1930, a Cathedral, the rights of presentation, etc., passing to the Bishop of Monmouth.

Little is known about the bells until 1768 when they were five in number. In the following year they were recast into a ring of six; the inscriptions on these old bells are rather interesting:
Treble.-My treble voice makes hearts rejoice.
2nd.-Good ringing might yield great delight.

3rd.-Health, Peace and Plenty to this Neighbourhood.

4th.-Faith, Hope and Grace attend this place.
5th.-Kemys and Friends did vote tis true these five old bells should cast six new.

6th.-Me Resonare Jubent Pietas Mors Atque Voluptas 1769. Mr. Tudor and Mr. Richards, Churchwardens. Thomas Bayley, Founder.

The tenor bell was recast in 1870 by Mears and Stainbank. In 1894 a new treble and tenor were added to complete the octave. The inscriptions on these bells are:
Treble-Praise to the Holiest in the Height. Henry John Davies, Arthur Stevens. Churchwardens. Mears and Stainbank, Founders.

Tenor.-And in the Depth be Praise. This bell was given to the Glory of God to the Church and Parish of St. Woolos by Henry John Davies, 1894. Mears and Stainbank, Founders.

In 1913, owing to the bad go of the bells, it was decided that the bells should be recast, two trebles added and the whole ring rehung in a steel frame. This work was carried out by John Taylor and Co. In 1939 two further trebles were added and the three lightest bells recast by Gillett and Johnston to form the only ring of 12 bells in Wales and Monmouthshire. The weight of the tenor is 21 cwt. 2 qr. 20 lb . Last year the plain bearings were replaced by ball bearings. The parishioners of St. Woolos' are most certainly to be congratulated on the manner in which this ring has been augmented and maintained during this century.

Although peals are now scored on these bells at frequent intervals this has not always been the case. The first peal on the bells was in 1895 when R. T. Hibbert conducted a peal of Grandsire Triples; in the following year he returned to call a similar peal half-muffled on the occasion of the funeral of Prince Henry of Battenburg.
After the ten bells were hung in 1913 we have to wait until August, 1919, before reading of the first peal of Caters, conducted by J. E. Sykes, to celebrate the singing of the Treaty of Peace. The first peal of Cinques was conducted by D. G. Clift in 1948, eleven years after the installation of the ring of twelve bells. It is difficult to imagine such a handy ring of twelve being installed today without a peal on them for eleven years! The following year W. Williams conducted the first peal of Maximus on the bells. Mr. Williams also conducted the first peal of Surprise Royal on the ten in 1932. Up to the present time some 90 peals have been rung.
For many years the ringers in the area appear to have been closely associated with the Great Western Railway, and several peals have been rung by railwaymen on the bells, including two conducted by the late A. J. Pitman.

The tower is served by a faithful band of ringers who do their utmost to keep the bells ringing regularly for Sunday service, and it is pleasing to note that they have several promising youngsters in the band.
M. J. P.

RECORDINGS-POINTED QUESTIONS

Dear Sir,-On page 763 you report that a church in the Diocese of Bath and Wells, without bells, now has permission to play the recorded sound of church bells from the tower, under certain conditions regarding the quality of the sound produced and the purpose for which it is played.
This is a precedent which will no doubt be followed widely, and I am writing to ask whether the Central Council should now begin to consider exercising some control, not over the playing but over the recording. One can imagine a tape enthusiast-a non-ringer-recording the bells of a nearby church, say, on practice night when, with learners struggling along, the striking falls sadly short of an acceptable service standard, in the belief that he is faithfully recording the proper sound of church bells.
The owners of the bells and the incumbents who control them can, if they wish, seek advice as to their rights in the matter, but what about the ringers who take part, whose skill is thus to be used elsewhere? Would it not be proper to introduce some form of control to ensure that no recording is made without the knowledge of the ringers taking part. or without their approval of the standard of ringing before the record is released for use?Yours faithfully.
T. G. HAWKINS.

THE LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

ON October 13th, 1893, a meeting was held at The Girls' School, Llandaff. attended by the Bishop, the Archdeacon of Llandaft and a large number of ringers," when it was decided to form the Llandafi Diocesan Association of Change Ringers. Mr. Evan Davies, a schoolmaster from Caerleon, was elected the lirst Master. He was very active in promoting the art of change ringing in the area, and was largely responsible for arranging the first meeting. At that time the Diocese covered the whole of Monmouthshire and the greater part of Glamorgan, with a new ring of ten bells at St. John's, Cardiff, eleven rings of eight bells and a large number of sixes and fives.
The minutes of the early meetings show that they were held in different towers to try to arouse interest : the minutes of these meetings are very brief, seldom extending beyond one page of large handwriting. The first available statement of accounts was published for the year 1896. and on the income side we read "48 Performing Members £3.12.6d.", and on the other side "Telegram 6d." Advertisements (Bell News) 4s. 0d." and "Postage \& Paper $4 \mathrm{~s}, 8 \mathrm{~d}$." It is interesting to note that the subscription was reduced to 1 s . in 1905, and remained at 1s. until 1963.

TWO NOTED SECRETARIES

From 1899 until 1945 Mr. J. W. Jones was the general secretary, and there is little doubt that under his leadership the Association prospered with a steady increase of membership and general interest, resulting in several new rings of bells being installed, whilst many others were augmented. He was succeeded in 1945 by Mr. F. J. Hannington, who, despite the handicap of losing an arm shortly after the first world war, carried on the good work until 1962. During this period Mr. Hannington spent considerable time in producing records of the bells and ringers in the area. His reign" was brought to a climax by the visit of the Central Council to Cardiff in 1962. He continues to be a most regular Sunday service ringer at St. John's. Cardiff. The writer has struggled most inadequately since 1962 to meet the high standard set by these two stalwarts.
It is the practice of the Association for the Master to be elected for a term of one year only, although Evan Davies held the office for 1893-4-5 and F. J. Hannington for the years $1940-43$ and in 1963. The list of Masters includes A. J. Pitman for 1926, and J. Phillips in 1931. Mr. Phillips later became the Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths. Only one lady has held the office-Miss Jacqueline S. Evans in 1952. She is now Mrs. David King, and since 1953 has been a very hard-working and efficient secretary of the Monmonth Branch, and is the immediate past president of the Ladies Guild
During 1921 the new Diocese of Monmouth was created, and it was decided to alter the title of the Association to its present form. the Bishops of the two Dioceses to become joint presidents. Many years later. in 1953. two Branches were formed within the Association each covering a Diocese

The first ring of ten bells for the Association was installed at St. John's, Carditt. in 1893. Later, in 1913, St. Woolos', Newport. bells were augmented to ten, as were the bells at Llandaff Cathedral in 1920. In 1939 St Woolos' bells were again augmented to give the only ring of 12 bells. Since that fime further 10 -bell rings have been installed at Abergavenny and Chepstow.

COMPLETE PEAL RECORDS

The Association has kept a complete record of all peals rung in the area-these peal books make interesting reading and show up clearly the progress made in the art over the years, Until 1909 only 69 peals were rung fless than five per year), whilst the years 1909 to 1913 produced 131 peals. These were mostly of Grandsire and Plain Boh, but after 1911 peals of Siedman and Treble Bob appeared. Records show that at that time most of the towers were fully manned, but. alas. the 1914-18 war put an end to this happy state of affairs.
Immediately after the war, progress was slow, but in the early twenties things began to brighten un again. Fred Chamberlain was the leading conductor at the time. most of his peals being of Grandsire and Stedman Caters. This period also produced that remarkable self-taught band at Pentre. This band was the first in the area to progress beyond the four standard methods with a peal of D.N.C.B. Major and. later. peals of Cambridge and Superlative Surorise Major on the heavy ring at Pentre. The last members of this band have recently passed from us, hut their influence lives on with members of the present hand there, including Tudor Fdwards and John Owen-the latter is now in Canada.

From 1925 Mr. A. J. Pitman. of Aheravon. was husv with his earlv compositions. many of which were rung at Bridgend or Aberavon. conducted either by C. H. Perry or A. J. Pitman himself. As an Association we are, of course, very proud of his later achievements as a composer, and at the time of his death he was vice-president of the Association.

During the period 1919-39 an average of 26 peals was rung each year. After the 1939 45 war progress was again slow. but the names of E. Stitch and A. J. Pitman appear frequently in the peal columns. Early in the fifties Jack Worrall introduced a new wave of enthusiasm which resulted in quite a large number of peals being rung, including the first peal on 12 bells by a resident band.

YOUNG RINGERS TO THE FORE
Since that time there has been a continued interest in the art by an ever-increasing number of young people. Quite a few towers have 111 recent years scored peals by their Sunday service band; the band at Llandaft Cathedral have achieved peals of both Caters and Royal. Peals of Surprise are today quite common, but it is only a few years since the first peal of Surprise Royal by a resident band was rung. Three of our young ringers were featured in the series "Up and Coming Youngsters"Ellis N. Thomas. Christopher Ricketts and Nicholas W. H. Simon. The first tho are products of Cowbridge Grammar School. where Iolo Davies has been so successful in producing young ringers to man the tower at Llanbleddian. whilst N. W. H. Simon. a ringer at Llandaff Cathedral. has in a few years conducted nearly as many peals as any conductor for this Association.

The leading peal ringers for the Association up to the end of 1967 ware: J. W. Jones (deceased) 373. E. Stitch (deceased) 258. T. Yeomans 181 and G. I. Lewis 161. whilst the lead ing conductors were: G. I. Lewis 89, N. W. H. Simon 65t. D. J. King 65 and C. H. Perry (deceased) 63.

GUIL.D LIBRARY

The late J. W. Jones left a very good collection of books and "Ringing Worlds." These have all been bound and we have a complete set of "The Ringing World " up to the present time. These books form a foundation for a lihrary that has been established at All Saints’ Church. Newport. in a. beautiful bookcase made for us by a Newnort ringer. Donald Clarke. The whole was dedicated to the memory of J. W. I. in 1965, and since that time a further valuable collection has heen given by F. J. Hannington. It is fitting that Mr. Leslie Bainham. a pupil of J. IV: Jones, is now our librarian.

Our membership at the present time stande ot 400, and our total assets amount to $£ 25 ?$ 0s. 6d. It is most fitting that in this our 75 th anniversary year the Master. Mr. Richard 3. Stewart. of Newbort. should be one of the youngest to occupy the office. His presence. as Master at our celebration dinner, is a sure symbol of the faitlo we have in the future of the Assnciation, and those who will he responsible for it.

TED RDCHESTER TAKES HIS RINGERS TD SOMERSET

THE Herts/Essex outing. organised by Ted Rochester. has again lived up to its reputation as one of the best of the regulars.
Due to the magnificent effort of Audrey and Ron Short, a run of excellent towers drew the best ringing from our bunch.

Long Sutton ( $6,17 \mathrm{cwt}$ ). the first. Was unfortunately not reached by all in time. Huikh Episcopi (8, 16 cwt ) had ropes removed from treble and second for some unexplained reason This did not lessen the pleasure of the ring Curry Rivel and Milverton (borh 8. 18 cmi . and Wiveliscombe (8. 20 cwt.). Wellington ( 8 19 cwt.) and St James', Taunton (8, 19k cwt.) completed the Saturday ring.
Friends of Audrey and Ron supplemented the band all day and helped us get the greaten possible pleasure from the exercise. We hope thev enjoyed it. too.
On Sunday most of us were unprepared for Holy Trinity, Taunton (6. 41 cwt .) until someone remarked "You'll find out!" So we penetrated the obscure regions where this tower stood ominously (as you will find later) avoiding the numerous turns marked TRULL. The bells rang verv reasonably. particularly with the assistance of the local band, Marys. Taunton (12. 233 cwt.), uas another matter. Despite the fragile-looking tower. the inside seemed solid enough and the 12 bells rang deep and ponderous-too ponderous at first-but the pace improved and we made some handsome rounds and kept to Caters and Triples. We achieved two quite involuntary compliments from a church official and a member of the congregation!

DEMONS AND SIGNPOSTS

Someone had slipoed us the tip that Wilton (Somersel) bells would be atailable it we covered the short distance along the TRULL road in time. The curs filled suickly, the procession started off to find one of those manv signpowts mentioned earlier. Now. it family of demons allowed half the party to get awat hefore removing atl the signposts The other half was left ganing and furious. At a tense kerbside conference John Collins offered to lead, and he found the signs replaced rone un. veloped. Ted was for freeing the day and mecting at Sonning-on-Thames for F vensong. Others were for the offchance of an afternoon ting at Wells. The choice was delectable, but we were Ted's men and most of $u_{s}$ made Sonning. Four of the incal hand met us and we had probably the lust satisfying ring of the outing with them. Only one comment to the unwary-when the tenor is working. hold the treble well oft at backitroke.
Methods rung were Grandsire Trinles and Caters. Boh Minor and Mator. Kent and Cambridge Major. Stedman Doubles. Triples and Caters and Double Norwich. And the onlv incident was the successful standing of all hells after a touch early on Saturdav. followed oy rope hreaking off and clattering to the ground at the next pull-off

Brig Young. who we alwavs look for on this outing. was with us until we left for Sonning and or Wells. He is a marvellous watchdog for nervous ringers. Thanks. Brig !
Lunch at the Bell Hotel, Curry Rivel, was good and quickly served with mini-skirt atiraction. Tea at the White Hart. Wiveli-combe, was very much the old fashioned meal. extremely generous and wholesome. L.G.G.

THEY TOOK ISSUE No. 1

$W^{\text {ITH thankfulness for many mercies, the Editor presents today to his }}$ 6,000 odd readers the 3,000 th issue of "The Ringing World". And since the journal first saw the light of day, on March 24th, 1911, no fewer than 34 readers have a continuous record of being faithful supporters week by week. To them there has been a rich blessing not only in health to survive two world wars but to retain an interest and affection for a craft that has been dedicated to the service of God and his Church.

The launching of "The Ringing World" was carefully prepared and the Editor and Founder, James Sparkes Goldsmith, acknowledged the desire behind the Exercise for a live journal. He wrote: "No enterprise could have been embarked upon with more generous wishes for success . . . From north, south. east and west, since first the proposal to establish this journal was made known, have come messages of encouragement."

The pathway has not been easy. There were times during the wars when the obstacles were many and the financial outlook was bleak. Even when bells were silent during part of World War 11 the journal survived on the heritage of the past and the painstaking research of the then Editor, J. Armiger Trollope.

Perhaps the most significant act of confidence and the desire to maintain a weekly journal for change ringing took place in the summer of 1942 when, upon the death of the Founder-Editor, the Central Council acquired the journal and with it a debt load. Their faith and their confidence have been fully justified and, thanks to the careful husbanding of resources, "The Ringing World" has today behind it capital exceeding £10,000.

We hope and pray that the example of loyalty and faithfulness of the 34 original readers will be followed by the clientele of this age and that men and women will be forthcoming to steer the ship to the next objectiveNo. 4,000.

AVERY, P.H. (80), of Clacton, Essex, has taken the paper since he was 16 years of age. Learned to ring at North Weald, Essex, and in 1918 joined Leytonstone. Losing a leg in World War 1, in which be was awarded the D.C.M.. he has been unable to do much peal ringing but has rung about 20 and conducted one of Surprise Minor. From Leytonstone he went to St. Mary's. Watford, then to All Saints', Haslings. Rayleigh and is now with Kirby-leSoken band.
AYRE., Wulter, Hemel Hempstead, convener of the Peals Analysis Committee. Uncertain whether he had all the copies during the 191418 war, when he was on active service. Rung over 900 peals and still rings peals. Elected to Central Council in 1926.

BAKER. C. H., Gainsborough. Lincs, has taken the journal since No. 1 and " The Bell News" one year before that. Is now turned 80 years and still able to ring regularly and enjoy the paper.

BARKER. Arthur D., Wexham. Slough. Bucks. Born 1890. Hon. treasurer Oxford Diocesan Guild. Member of Central Council since 1924.
BARNES. Harty, of Woodhall Spa, near tincoln, took "The Bell News" from about 1912 and has taken "The Ringing World" since No. 1 issue. For many years he lived at the Blacksmith's Cottage. Stainton. near Rotherham, but in recent years has lived at Woodhall Spa.
BARNETT, F. Crayford. Grand Old Man of the Kent County Association, having been elected in 1897 and rang his first peal in May, 1899. Has rung 594 peals and served for many years on the committee of the Kent County Association. From 1903-32 was a member of the Central Council.
BEARD, Albert Walter, of East Ham, has heen associated with St. Margaret's belfry. Barking, Essex. for the past 62 years and a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths for 43 years.

BIRD. Hector G. East Brent, North Somerset. is as keen as ever on "The Ringing Warld " but regards the-cover as unnecessury.

BLACK, Robert G. (79), of Geddington. Kettering, began ringing at Geddington when the bells were restored in 1909. Has taken the journal continuously from the first issue. During Army service in the 1914-18 war it was forwarded to him. "Before taking "The Ringing World' I took 'The Bellinger. which was published by William Willson, of Leicester. My father was a ringer and took - The Bell News,' so from a lad I have been a reader of ringing journals." From 1926-49 he Was general secretary and treasurer of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild.
CLAYDON, F., of Earle Colne, is proud to be able to say that he has taken every copy and still greatly looks forward to every edition.

FLINT, T. R. (89). Lynwood Cottage, 17, Central Avenue, Worksop. Learned to ring at Worksop in 1897 and became leader the same year. Joined the Midland Counties Association in 1906 and rang his first peal thet year. Still enjoys "The Ringing World."
HAIRS, Frant 1., Groombridge, Sussex. helped Jack Goldsmith for some time before the first issue by distributing handbills and making the "coming event" known in London. Joined the Central Council in 1930 as representative of Sussex County Association. Hon. member since 1951. Did valuable work for journal wbile member of "R.W" Committee.
HARMAN, Alfred, Wroxall, Isle of Wight. took "The Ringing World" from its first publication until the 1914-18 war, when he was on active service abroad, and from then until the present time. He is a former Master of the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

"I look forward to getting "The Ringing World " each week and enjoy its varied news."

SEGAR, John (75), Skegness, commenced ringing in 1909 at Retford, Notts. In 1913 he tapped on handbells 7,200 of Minor in ten plain methods, and 5,040 in seven Surprise methods, becoming the second peal tapper in history. He compiled the C.C. "Four-Way Table of Minor Methods." He discovered that f.c.h. of a method can be found from its blue line. As a composer he has had some success with record lengths.

SHEPHERD, Edgar C., of Warminster, has read "The Ringing World" from No. 1 onwards, for his late brother took the paper from its beginning. He still has Volume 1, the copies of which he bound nearly 50 years ago. One of "The Ringing World's" most loyal contributors. Member of Central Council, convener of Literature and Press Committec.
SHEPHERD, William, Addlestone, Surrey." I am delighted to be one of those who have supported the paper through thick and thin. The journal. which was born at Woking. has had a difficult period, including two world wars. On May 20th. 1911, I called a peal of Minor at Horsell, the nearest tower to the editorial offices, and we youngsters regarded it as a welcome peal. On September 18 th, 1915. a peal of Stedman Caters was rung in the Editor's office at Woking-my 250th peal ; the Editor rang 7-8. "The Ringing World has had three editors-Faith, Hope and Love, all of whom have proved sincere friends."
SMALLWOOD, J. Frank. During the first world war, when he served overseas for four years, the late James George used to send him "The Ringing World "each week. Former convener of "The Ringing World "Committee. Former Master and rrustee of the Ancient Society of College Youths. Life member of Central Council, which he joined in 1939.

SODEN, B. O. (81), of Northampton. is still ringing, especially at meetings. He learned to ring at St. Edmund's Church. Northampton. and has rung peals from Grandsire Doubles to Superlative Surprise Maior. His peals total 101 and were rung for the Central Northamptonshire Association and the Petorborough Diocesan Guild.

Letters to the Editor

A NEW PROFESSIONALISM"

Dear Sir, -The recent letter from Wheatley (". Insurance of Bellringers," September 27 (h) is. 1 think many will agree, indicative of the present demise of the Exercise.

Ringing will inevitably go through very difficult times in the future with such potent rivals as television, bingo, ten-pin bowling, golt and similar activities which have, owing to the rise in the standard of living, become available to the vast majority of people. It must be realised that these alternatives are a substantial threat to the continued practice of our art and that complacency (so familiar to every ringer) must be stamped out. We must now do everything in our power to ensure that our bells and belfries are left to succecding generations in a substantially improved condition than that which now exists. A new era of belfry reform must be born; a "New Professionalism" must be born.
Despite restorations and improvements to church heatıng. lighting, seating and amplification in recent years, the average ringing room is still squalid, damp, draughty, ill-lit and devoid of any conveniences whatsoever. On top of this we now find that some church authorities cannot, or will not, arrange for the insurance of all persons who legitimately go to the belfry in the service of the church.

With these circumstances in mind, I would seriously propose the formation of a "National Union of Bellringers" to negotiate with the church authorities for substantial improvement of belfries and the drawing up of model ringing conditions, ensuring their reasonable adherence thereto. We are now in the second half of the 20 th century-most of our belfries look like something out of "Pickwick Papers" !

Below I give a resume of the most important reforms which much be carried out now if ringing is not to be classed with the dodo.

Lighting. - Adequate lighting to ringing rooms. bell chambers and stairs.

Heating. - Equipment to ensure a certain minimum temperature during ringing.
Ventilation. - A feature ignored by most church architects. Ringers know how valuable good ventilation is on a hot dav!

Maintenance of Bells and Frames. - All churches should be visited at least once every three years by a specialist. A cony of the report should be sunplied to the ringers and exhibited in the belfry.

Sound Control. - Where possible. rowers should have effective sound control so that regular practices can be held without offence to neighbours.-Yours faithfullv.

PAUL J. DYE.
Cholsey. Berks.
Note.-The framework of Guilds, Associations and the Central Council is an adequate safeguard without collecting subscriptions for another body-the National Union of Bellringers. The position of insurance of juveniles is under review by officials of the C.C.-Editor.

NOT SUPERSTITIOLS:

GH.B. writes: "I am not superstitious, but Friday, September 13th, was not my day. Firstly the church was locked and the tower captain had to be found. Once into Huish Episcopi Church, things seemed to be all right, but after 20 minutes I miscalled the quarter attempt of Grandsire Triples, and it was too late to start again. The following touch of Plain Bob Major fired up after two courses, and the rope of the treble broke during a course of Grandsire Major, but 1 am still not superstitious."

A TAPE-RECORDING I.IBRARY

Dear Sir.-As you will already know from the last Central Council meeting report. I have volunteered my services to the Records Committee in order to compile a library of taped recordings of record length peals. These would not. of course, constitute the whole length, but probably the starts and finishes together with excerpts of other musical or progressive positions in the ringing.
As long as this does not occur too often, or involve long distances with overnight stavs, I will gladly undertake this work without cost to the Council except for the actual tapes.

Might I therefore make the request that should an organiser of a record peal know the probable date (surely well in advance) and if he and his team have no objection to such recordings being made, will he communicate with me at the address below at the earliest possible date, giving as many details of the attempt as possible. In recent times 1 have found the official notices on these attempts in "The Ringing World" far too late, and that I have already another commitment. One team have already "warned" me of an attempt next Easter Monday, and whilst 1 appreciate this is probably more notice than a lot of people could normally give, at least I am hoping to keep that date clear.

Friends at the bell foundries would agree that probably a microphone has not yet been invented capable of faithfully capturing all the detailed harmonics and overtones of any bell. This is not our aim. We feel that it is desirable that future generations, together with those unable to be present at the actual ringing, should have an opportunity of listening to the standards achieved by past record peal breakers.
I am also hoping to assist the Council in building up a collection of good ringing on noteworthy rings of bells and. in particular, when the bells are likely to be silenced for some reason, be it removal or iust a complete recasting. Here again, only the co-operation of the ringers concerned can held us achieve this. Records will be made and kept in stock at a speed of $7 \frac{1}{3}$ inches per second, so that gramophone records or copies (possibly at different speeds) could be made at a later date if desired. - Yours sincerelv.
29. Dimbles Hill.

Lichfield, Staffs.

FOLR-SPLICED PEAL CONPOSITIONS

Dear Sir.-If Mr. Sibson will look through the pages of the 1945-1946 volumes of the Ringing World " he will find many other compositions by Mr. A. J. Pitman in his quest for an "all-the-work "peal.

When Mr. Cashmore's peal was composed. Mr. Pitman's "best yet" was a peal with all the work with the exception of the sixth missing two leads of Bristol. He congratulated Mr. Cashmore "on obtaining a composition in which all the bells do all the work of each method." Mr. Cashmore, who kept in touch with Mr. Pitman by correspondence at this time. subsequently published his composition and later in February, 1946. wrote to "The Ringing World" about parts of the peal which he considered blemishes, i.e. the consecutive five leads of London and eight of Bristol.-Yours faithfully,
H. V. FROST.

St. Albans.

TINTED COVERS AGAIN
Dear Sir.-1 have let a few weeks elapse before referring to my letter published on July 19 th as 1 expected a few criticisms, but to my great surprise only a little jab from Mr. G. Edmands, of Chilvers Coton, Nuneaton, and a "kick in the ribs" (what the heck is wrong with us?) from Mr. Bernard C. Ashford, an old colleague and the secretary of the Northern Branch of the Worcesters, of which I have been an associate member for many years.

In my letter 1 did not criticise the price increase of "The Ringing World "but I did criticise the expenditure of $£ 40$ per week on the tinted cover, and 1 still think this expenditure is not necessary " It is the contents of "The Ringing World " which are' important to ringers. I am glad to read that sales have increased (Editors note) and I hope that this has balanced the deficit (I doubt it).

In my opinion the journals mentioned by Mr. Ashford cannot be compared with "The Ringing World." They cover sports which require either a club fee or a charge at the gates to watch. Ringers do not require an audience to watch them in the art of bellringing. This brings me to another point in Mr. Ashford's letter-" peanuts and chicken feed "-and here 1 again emphasise "the peal levy." For my own information I totalled up the number of ringers who rang peals published in "The Ringing World " of June 28 th (not including handbells) and I made the number 425 . At the rate of a shilling a rope this would amount to £21. Each week a similar amount would help the financial position of "The Ringing World" in the continued use of the tinted cover.
My appreciation goes out to the present committee, who I feel are very capable and level headed, and this includes Mr. Speed and Mrs. Jill Staniforth, who had the courage to say "Are we lighting for "The Ringing World '? "' Yes, Mrs. Staniforth, I am with you 100 per cent.

I appeal to every ringer up and down the country to put his or her shoulder to the wheel and pay a minimum of 1 s . per rope for every successful peal rung (except old age pensioners). The conductor will know where to send the money.
This is my last comment on tinted covers-I Slall always continue to take "The Ringing World" whatever the price.-Yours faithfully.

HECTOR G. BIRD.
East Brent, N. Somerset.

BELLHOUSES

Dear Sir,-I have found much interest in the Dean of Chester's article on "Bellhouses and Chester Cathedral" ("Ringing World." July 19th, page 560 ), and I now write to correct one slip-in the third column reference is made to St. Mary's and St. James', Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk. The article shows that St. Mary's is now the Cathedral (of the Diocese of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich). It is, in fact, St. James'. St. Mary's is still a parish church.

Several thousand pounds have lately been and still are being spent on St James' to make it more Cathedral-like, but the Norman Tower, detached, remains its bellhouse. conlaining ten bells with tenor about 30 cwt . in fair going order.-Yours sincerely,
Felixstowe. Suffolk. CLAUDE RUSH. (Another letter on page 818)

Shoreditch Bells in Their Full Glory

Abstract

ST. LEONARD'S, SHOREDITCH, bells (one of the historic rings in London held in veneration by the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths), were heard in their full glory on Saturday. October 5th, after their major restoration. The rededication was performed by the Archdeacon of London (the Ven. S. M. F. Woodhouse). who is patron of the living, in the presence of some 150 ringers. including Mr. Paul L. Taylor of the Loughborough Bell Foundry, who was entrusted with the work on the bells

The last restoration was in 1913, when John Warner and Sons at their Spitalfields foundry recast four bells of bad tone. replaced the old oak frame and fittings with a new steel frame, metal headstocks and fittings, The decision to undertake the present restoration was made in 1967 and the work of the Loughborough Foundry involved rehanging the bells on new ball bearings, fitting new bell bolts, clapper pins and pulleys. The money for this work has been raised by the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths

A LIGHT EIGHT

A most generous gift has been made by the Drapers Company of a sharp second bell, weighing 4 cwt . 1 qr . 26 lb ., which will provide a light ring of eight with a tenor of 10 cwt. 1. qr. 8 lb . The present tenor of the 12 weighs 28 cwt . I qr. 14 lb . and was cast by Messrs. Blews of Birmingham in 1875. The sharp second bell will be dedicated at the service of thanksgiving after restoration and rededication on October 19th. when the Bishop of London will be the preacher.

But the Cumberlands have not confined therr activities to raising money. Their practical work. which was started in 1967, has included scraping and painting the frame and anchoring it to the wall. Sound control has been studied and the side of the church facing the hospital and a block of flats has been bricked up enti:ely. The other louvres have been bricked up to seven feet high. The sordidness of the tower, a relic of past generations, has been entirely removed. The ringing room is now very attractive and bright in colours of Wedgwood blue and magnolia on the walls and windows, while the well-worn stairway has a fresh white appearance-a great job of painting and decorating has been accomplished by enthusiasts in the Cumberlands' ranks. The ropes have also received attention. This building and decorative work has also been borne by the Society, hut between $£ 60$ and $£ 100$ is still required to balance the account

THE SERVICE

The service was conducted by the Vicar the Rev. R. 1. Thomson), and the congregation sang valiantly the five hymns and Psalm 150 against a powerful organ. The first lesson, which was read by the Master (Mr. Dennis Beresford) was from 1 Chronicles xxix, telling of David's preparations for the building of the Temple by Solomon. Dr. Derek E. Sibson. secretary of the Society, read the second lesson from Ephesians v

For the rededication of the bells a procession was formed, headed by the churcrwardens (Messrs. A. W. Tubbs and J. M. Withringion). followed by the Archdeacon, the Vicar and the 12 ringers who were to sound the bells after dedication and later to ring the first touch. They stood in the following order:

Adrienne Gibson, Jane Foster, Joan Beresford. Sheila Dobbie, P. Beresford, E. A. Barnctt. P. Wilkinson, T. Francis, J. Barnes, D. E. Sibson. J. Woolford and D. Beresford.

The Archdeacon in his address said he was delighted to be asked to come to the rededication for two special reasons-he was a campanologist and lover of bells, and secondly because in his office as Archdeacon he was patron of their church. which had been there for 800 years
His text was from 1 Cormnthans ii1. 15 : . Know ye that ye are the temple of God and that the spirit of God dwelleth in you." In a commentary he said that letter to the Corinthians might just as well have heen written to them in London or Shoreditch, because there was not all that difference between them and Corinth. They were both mercantile people and knew about temples and churches.
First of all. the church was God's house. It was the place people had built, furnished and equipped to the best of their ability and had given it to God. The people in Shoreditch from the year 900 onwards had given a home to God in that place. When the old house became old and dilanidated thev instructed the great architect Dance in 1740 to struild that church. It was the best that Dance could design. and the people of that day gave all they had to it. They knew the story of how the people there had honoured bells throughout the ages

GOD'S PARTY

The second thing was the church was given to God and it was the place where His sons and daughters met Him. The church was the trysting place between God and His people
It was on this second side that the bells played a great part. They were the voice through which God summoned His people outside: *Come. I am going to have a party in half an hour. Come into my home and join me." They represented the Church. the family unit in that House of God: corporately through the Holy Spirit they offered their best to Him . And as they went about their husiness in groups or singly they could proudly say: ". We belong to St. Leonard's. Shoreditch .

CO-OPERATIVE EFFORT

" There has been a great co-operative eflort over these bells. Thank you, Taylors of Loughborough: thank you, scrapers and painters of the bell frame ; thank you, the people who painted the lurret stairs and the bell chamber: thank you. the carpenters and bricklayers for your work: thank you. the teamakers. There has been a great co-operative effort. God in heaven wants to say thank you to all of you who have clubbed rogether to make this church gloriots as it is today."

At the conclusion of the service a touch of Yorkshire Surprise Maximus was rung by those who rang at the dedication and later members of the Ancient Sociely of College Youths with their Master (Mr. P. A. Corby) and the secretary (Mr. J. G. M. Prior) rang three courses of Stedman Cinques. Ladies of the Cumberlands served tea in the Church Hall. and opportunities were afforded afterwards for the many visitors present to test the bells. All went away feeting that the Society of Cumberland Youths had been richly blessed by having such a good ring of 12 to ring to His service and glory

CALLING ALL TOWER CAPTAINS

Does the Squarer Deal make sense to you? If it does, you will be delighted to learn that Test Card Books. the successors to Test Cards, are now generally available.

What are they like? Briefly, they are excellently duplicated 12 -page booklets, measuring $6 \frac{1}{2}$ inches by 8 inches and comprising, as well as the four test cards, hints and notes for the learner ar each-stage. not to mention a couple of pages on which are explained exactly what the scheme entails, how it works and what it sets out to achieve. The test cards in the hook are identical in dimensions to their originals-so. if one of your learners has, say, a half-completed C card, and is worried hy the thought that he will have to transfer all the entries on the old card to the new one in the hook. reassure him by telling him that all he has to do is to paste his old card on top of the one in the book-and he will be all set to carry on.

How much do they cost? See the advertisement at the back of this week's issue for de-tails-and for pro-rata postal charges.

Why the excifement about these booklets, anyway? To find the answer, write for some and see what it is about the scheme that has caught the interest of so many ringers in so many different parts of the country. Give the Squarer Deal a fair trial! Write for your books today:!
That is quite enough of the high-presuure sales talk. To conclude this announcement. and to correct any false impressions, I should like to stress that this is not a profit-making venture but is entirely for the benefit of the Exercise at large.
The address to write to: Miss Flizaheth M. Barber, 5. St. Peter's Close, St. Albans, Hers.

MIDDLESEX  COUNTY ASSOCIATION  At North Mymms

The Church of St. Mary, North Mymms, set in ideal surroundings amidst the trees, was visited hy the N . and E. District on September 21 st .

The attendance before tea was not all that could be desired. due principally to holidays and a number of ringers heing required at their own churches to ring for weddings. However, the numbers improved later and method, from Grandsire for beginners to Superlative and Bristol for the more advanced were brought round under the guidance of Mr . Г. $\mathbf{G}$. Hawkins.

The Vicar (the Rev. Barry Tunstall), "ith the assistance of Mr. Sturgess. lav reader. conducted the service. which was accomnanied at the organ by Mrs. Lock. 1 comoany of jusi over 20 partook of an excellent tea in the Vicarage.

At the husiness meeting, with Mr. W. S. Deason in the chair. Peter J. Hooton IHarrow Weald). David Dorringion and Christopher Fdwards (Edmonton) were elected as ringing members, whilst the belfry elections of $D$. $C$. Heath (Romford) and Duvid Sloman (Prittlewell) were ratified. The membership of Mr. Frank Reed of Hereford. at present residing within the county. as a ringing memher was confirmed.
The grateful thanks of the Asociation are due to Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Lock for making this meeting possible at very short notice and, together with the Vicar and others concerned. they were thanked hy the chairman.

TOM LOCK'S PEAL TOUR IN LEICESTER AREA

ON Tom Lock's tour last year it was requested that we visit the Leicester area in 1968. Accordingly, Tom contacted Peter Staniforth, and we owe Peter a deht of gratitude for the trouble he took on our behalf. The welcome we received in Leicester was warm. and the only trouble we found was its finding our way round the one-way streets.
Most of the party arrived at lunch-time on Saturday, eight of them finding All Saints', where a peal of Bristol was attempted; unfortunately this was lost after an hour, the ringing never really settling down. Perhaps we were a little ambitious for the first peal of the week. Eleven other ringers made their way to the Cathedral, where they were met by Shirley Burton and Russell Morris. Here a commendable peal of Yorkshire Maximus was rung, the band being completed by Russell and Bill and Claudia Critchley, who made the journey from London especially for this peal. Most of the band finished the peal wishing they had Leicester Cathedral bells on their doorsteps. It is interesting to note that there have been 326 peals rung at the Cathedral Shirley Burton told us that he writes up the peal book, but as he is now 80 he is a little doubtful if he will be writing in the 1.000 fh peal!

VIOLENT THUNDERSTORM

It was unfortunate, although unavoidable, that this year the party had to be accommodated in two different hotels. Consequently some of the normal breakfast hadinage was missing. However, we managed to meet at St. Margaret's for morning ringing on Sunday, and before going up to the tower had time to admire the Ernest Morris memorial window. We very much enjoyed ringing here and were sorry it had not been possible to arrange for a peal. The local ringers present gave us a warm welcome, one kindly coming back in the afternoon to open up the tower so that a handbell peal could be attempted. This was called round a quarter of the way through as the ringing was not good enough

The afternoon was notable for the violent thunderstorms over Leicester, and some of the party joined in the mopping-up operations in the hall attached to St. Margaret's Church, where nearly two inches of water flooded the floor Other ringers went to South Wigston, where they were given a warm welcome by the local band.

On Monday the week began in earnest, the last three tour members having arrived. An unusual addition to our party was Tom Kimber, no longer ringing himself, who for his own enjoyment and bencfit hoped to record some of the ringing during the week. Of the ringers, one band went to Aylestone to attempt a peal of Leicestershire, but it would not go. The dicappointed hand made their way to St. Mary's. Anstey, where a fast peal of Rutland was being rung by the other half of the party. This sounded good outside. but the ringers inside were not so happy, there heing very little air in the belfry. Win, missing her rope. woke them up a bit, although she was obviously annoyed with herself. After lunch in a local cafe there was time for a sit and a chatter in the sun before splitting up for Quorn and Sileby At both towers good peals were scored, of Quornden and Bottesford Surprise Major respectively, while the two ringers off duty for the afternoon listened at Silehy-part of the time to the bells, part of the time to the thunderstorm.

RALPH EDWARDS' INFLUENCE

Tuesday saw one band ringing a very good peal of Bristol at Kibworth, where the bells went like clockwork. But another peal was lost, this time a six-spliced at Enderby. Again there was very litule air or room, and perhaps this was the reason for the mistakes, in the correction of which two of the band missed the change of method. The afternoon was bright and sunny, consoling those who were not taking part in the peal of Rutland Surprise Royal at St. John the Divine, Leicester. The "grabbers" had their usual short ring. some wishing they could stand in the peal on these tine bells. The peal ringers rang a good peal, perhaps spurred on by having seen Ralph Edwards outside the church. on his way home from another peal tour

Wednesday dawned with the band down for Claybrooke eager for a peal on the lovely bells. They were very upset when London would not go, and it was too late for a second start It was wrong not to have scored a good peal on these bells, but it was some consolation to find that the other band had rung quite a good peal of Ealing on the excellent bells at Earl Shitton in the fast time of 2 hours and 40 minutes. We had time after lunch to walk around Burbage and to note the uttractive hlack and white timbered cottage by the church. At Hinckley those not participating were able to listen to an excellent peal of fourspliced on the grand bells. The band managed to keep the beat going while the organ was being played, thanks to the conductor, who kept them on their toes. Alf Ballard gave us a warm welcome here and was on hand again to greet the band after the peal. Tom volunteered to drive Win's car back to Leicester to keep her company; he managed to unlock an identical car and then wondered why the key would not fit the ignition, while Win stood by her car and wondered where he had got tol

COLOURFUI. GARDENS

Thursday, and a sunny day, with only one peal attempt in the morning. This was at St. Mary's Church, Bottesford, the tall, slender spire of which can be seen from some distance away. The method on the programme was Leicestershire, but a good peal was wanted on the lovely bells, so the method was changed to London and a good peal was scored. Those not ringing strolled around this friendly village, and when three of them stopped to admire a colourful garden the owner invited them to walk around it, even presenting the lady of the trio with a "Super Star" rose. In the afternoon another peal was lost, this time Cambridge Surprise Royal, at Melton Mowbray following a miscall, but our thanks are extended to Michael Brown, of Sapcote, for completing the band. However, the other eight ringers scored an enjoyable peal of Rutland at Oakham. The bells here are worthwhile to ring and the band were imnressed by the local steeplekeeper greasing the bells that very aftemoon to ensure that a full peal could be rung

Frank Price joined us for the day on Friday and was one of the band which attempted a silent, non-conducted peal of London at Hugglescote. Unfortunately this came to grief after nearly iwo hours of good ringing, when two of the bells crossed over. Another hand finally completed a peal of Pudsey at Whitwick. but some felt that it was not of the standard expected on Tom Lock's tours. At Measham in the afternoon the band were determined to score the peal of Lincolnshire, and this they did, it being Win's first in the method as conductor. The hells are easy to ring and fall into a good rhythm. A second hand went to Coleorton, and having eventually found the church they rang a peal of six-spliced, while Alick listened critically out-side-when he was not asleep in the car
Saturday, the last full day of the tour, and with one or two having to return home we were getting short of ringers. Only one peal was arranged for the morning, Rutland Surprise Major, at the Foundry, and most of the party made their way to Loughborough to wander round the Foundry looking at the hells standing on the floor and the carillon being constructed near the roof. The neal band were left to ring a good peal, while three of the other ringers enjoyed their morning off wandering round the town. The remaining four travelled back to Leicester to assist, accidentally, in ringing for a wedding at the Cathedral and to press two more local ringers into service for the afternoon, Roland Cook having been "pressed" earlier in the week. We are grateful to Jean Whait and John Harold for standing in at such short notice, as well as to Roland; as a result, a good peal was rung on the eight at Shepshed. The remaining ten ringers were at Loughborough Parish Church, and after watching a most attractive wedding group climbed the stairs for a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Royal. This was not as perfect as had been hoped, but on the whole seemed quite good, with patches that really did justice to the bells.

Late in the evening the majority of the party gathered at one hotel for the rendering of accounts and the "thank you" to Tom. Another tour is over, and we are sincerely grateful to all the incumbents and all local ringers who made us welcome. Thank you, Peter, for all your hard work, and thank you, Tom, for yet another happy tour. Anon.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

West Dorset Branch

Lyme Regls, the home tower of the Branch chairman, was chosen for the quarterly meeting on September 21st. Six towers were represented and visitors were welcomed. The fine ring of eight was rung until the Guild service, which was conducted by the Rev. J. H. A. Charles.

A welcome tea was awaiting us in the Church House, prepared by local lady ringers. The business meeting followed, presided over by the chairman, Mr. C. W. Powell.
Members were informed of the Ringing Festival for Dorset ringers at Blandford on October 26th, and a letter of appreciation and thanks was read from Mr. W. Shute.
Standard methods were rung during the afternoon and evening including Cambridge, Yorkshire and Double Norwich.

Next meeting: The annual at Beaminster on November 30th; practice meetings: Burton Bradstock, Wednesday, November 13th. and Whitechurch Canonicorum on Monday, December 16 th .

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

At their last monthly meeting, on Septemher 28 th, the Leeds and District Amalgamated Society acted as hosts to the Joint Council of Yorkshire Ringing Societies, who held a committee meeting at Rothwell.

Ringing was available at Woodlesford in the afternoon, and at Rothwell in the evening. although the time at the latter had to be restricted to two hours owing to recent complaints from the occupants of new houses nearby

The six bells at Wondlesford are light but odd-struck and are seldom rung. However. an enthusiastic band of about 20 ringers kept them going all afternoon to a multitude of methods.

Tea was provided for a large gathering in the Church Hall at Rothwell and, at the business meeting afterwards, the Society was pleased to see Mr. Irvin Slack, a past president of the Society, back in the chair.
The conditions in Rothwell tower in the evening were hot and crowded, most of the Joint Council members joining the ringing for at least part of the evening. The ringing included courses of several Surprise Major methods, including London by a band composed mainly of Leeds and District members.

Next meeting, Cleckheaton, on October 26th, when the Society's first striking contest will be held in the afternoon. The November meeting is tentatively arranged for Wragby and Wake-

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Barry Cousins is going to Kenya on business for probably four months.

Mr. J. D. Beach is resigning as hon. secretary of the Manstield District of the Southwell Diocesan Guild from the next annual general meeting in January. We thank him for his loyal co-operation.

The Manstield District of the Southwell Diocesan Guild at its meeting at Sutton-in-Ashfield on September 28 th decided to promote a prize draw over the Christmas period for the Belfry Repair Fund.

Visitors to the joint meeting at Hillingdon on October 26th will have the opportunity of hearing and seeing some Surprise MajorGlasgow, spliced or what have you-rung on handbells by John Mayne and his talented band from Bushey.

The bells of St. Thomas's Church, Stourbridge. are being removed to the Loughhorough foundry on November 4th. Towards the target of $£ 5.000$ the sum of $£ 4.200$ has heen received. of which over $£ 850$ has been donated by St. Thomas's ringers.

Congratulations to Mr. George E. Fearn. hon. secretary of the St. Martin's Guild. who rang his 2,250th peal during Tom Lock's tour. The peal was Rutkand Surprise rung at Oakham.

There was a ringers' wedding at St. George's, Damerham, Hants, on Octoher 5th, when Veronica, onlv daughter of Mr. Jack Baverstock (vice-captain) and Mrs. Baverstock, was married to Roger Case. Both the clergy who officiated are ringers-the Revs, Gordon Baverstock (bride's cousin) and G. Moule. Mr. Percy Waterman and his band are thanked for their quarter peal-a wonderful wedding present, writes the bride's father.

A handsome silver trophy in the form of a bell hung on a wooden frame has been given to the Gloucester and Bristol Association for an annual competition for Sunday service bands. The donor, Major P. D. Birchall. chairman of the Gloucester County Council, has given it in memory of the late W. I. Croome, and made the presentation at the Association's 90 th anniversary dinner on September 28th.

BELLRINGERS' SLNDAY AT KIRBY-LE-

SOKEN

People travelled long distances-from London. Surrey, Hertfordshire. Suffolk and many parts of Essex-to be present at the Bellringers' Sunday at Kirby-le-Soken on Scptember 22nd, organised by Mr. Frank Lufkin, Master of the Essex Association.

Ringing began at $7 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$., and after Communion service there was breakfast in the Church Hall. The preacher at Matins was the Rev. L. Pizzey, secretary of the Suffolk Guild. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. W. Thomas, assisted by the Rev. Brian Redgers, of Rushmere, near Ipswich. The lessons were read by Mr. Walter Ayre and Mr. Peter Pitt, and a handbell team led by Tony Skelton. from Ashtead. played.

During the afternoon there was ringing not only at Kirby but at Thorington and St. Osyth. Visiting ringers were entertained to tea by Mr. and Mrs. F. Lufkin at their home before they went to Great Holland tower. in a crowded church the ringers heard Canon Gilhert Thurlow. president of the Central Council, preach at Evensong. Lessons were read by Mr. Redgers and Mr. Lufkin. and Messrs. Peter Pitt and Frank Oliver's handhell team performed during the service. About 150 peonle attended a get-iogether in the Church Hall after the service. Refreshments were served and Mr. H. Inglestone's handhell team and others nlaved. Two poems were read by Mr. A. E. Sivell. church treasurer. and a glec party from Bradfield entertained. It was a movt successful dav and Mr. I.ufkin. through our columns. gives a very warm "thank sou" to the many who made it a memorable occasion.

MONMOLTHSHIRE RINGFRS CROSS INTO SOMERSET

From Mathern. Mon, to Weston-super-Mare is a long route by road, but September 7hi was a tine day for Mathern ringers, joined en route hy four others at Bussaleg, for their .tnnual outing.
The first ringing of the day was on the heasy eight at Long Ashton. Unfortunately the "rong turning was taken in trying 10 reach Nailsen. To keen to the fimetable the coach then went direct to Backwel] (a delightful eight much enioyed by all.

After lunch at Wevton we were able to provide weddine hells on the six at Worle. and in Bristol rang on the well-sounding six at the L.ord Mayor's Chapel. Finally. the light six a Filton gave much enjorment. as did the reward-a iug of ale at the local. Our thanks to incumbents and tower captains.

MRS IATHBURY RETIRES

Mr., Violet Lathbury retired at the end of Sentember from the noit of vergeress at St. Mary's. Walton-on-Thames. Upon the death of her hushand. Mr. Reg Lathbury. 13 vears ago she succeeded him in this office. Her late husband was caplain of the bellringers at St. Mary's during the war years, and Mrs. Lathbury and her sister, the late Miss Nora Shorter. were among the ringers.
The two sisters learned to ring at Oatlands Park and, with their father. took nart in a peal of Grandsire Trinles on December 27th. 1919. This was the first peal in Surrey in which three members of a family had taken nart. The two sisters also took part in a peal of 5,148 changes at st. Clemens Danes:

MARLBOROUGH BRANCH LUOK AFTER YOUNGSTERS

Tine Clevedon area of Somerset was the venue chosen by the Marlhorough Branch for 1ts annual outing on September 21 st . which was jointly organised by the chairman (Mr. G. Newman) and the hon. secretary (Miss H. Jones). Ringing took place at Easton-in-Gordano, Portbury. Portishead, Weston-in-Gordano. St. Andrew's, Clevedon, Tickenham and Nailsea. The high proportion of young ringers was given every opportunity to try out strange bells under the watchful eyes of Mr. F. Read (Branch Ringing Master) and Mr. A. Keen (Deputy Master). Lunch was taken at Portishead and tea at Clevedon.

THE BROWNS OF SAPCOTE

There hats heen a Brown ringing at Sapcote. Leics. since 1829 . when the great-great-grandfather of the present conductor, Mr. M. F. Brown joined the Band. On September 15 h the conductor's 10 -vear-old son. David, rang his first guarter. This is an encouraging sign for the continuity of the Browns in Sapcote belfry. David has made a good start: he has already rung in 98 different towers.

WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNIDRY LTI.

The Whitechapel Foundry has iraded under the name of Mears and Stainbank only since 1865. Formerly, back to 1570 . when Robert Mot first cast hells in Whitechapel. it had been known to succeeding generation hy the name of each Master Founder. It his now heen decided that from Octoher lit. 1968. it will continte under the title of Whitechapel Bell lioundry IAd.
The Foundry remains under the same directorship and will in all other respects continue as before.

KENT RINGERS HED

The wedding thok place on Saturday. Septemher 14th. at St . Mary Magdalene's. Stockhurv, of two very popular members of the hury, of two very popular memhers of the Rochester District. Thev were Mr. Richard Rochester District. Thev were Mr. Richard hoth ringers at Stockbury. The Rev. P. W Ponle officiated.

The bride. given awily hy her father. wore a whte satin dress with a lace bodice and train. Her attendants were Miss L. Thomsett, who wre a dress of salmon-nink crystal satin. Mis M. Town and Miss S. Kitcatt. who both "ore dresies of nale hlue ervital satin.
After the ceremonv the hridge and bridegroom emereed from the church heneath an archwav of bell ropes held by memhers of the Rochester District. Immediately after the weddine a neal uas attempted but unfortunatelv it came $t 0$ grjet. However. a auarter peal of six Doubles methods was rune. The couple spent their honeymoon at Priddy, Somerset. and are now residing in Tunstall
L. M.

OPEN DAYS ARE POPULAR

The ringers at Newington-next-Sittingbourne. Kent, held an onen week to enable the general public (and Presy) to see the hells in action. Approximatelv 120 people visited the tower and many climhed the 105 steps to the ion of the tower. They were how $n$ all six hells actually ringing. and the idea of change ringing was explained to them in a cimole manner. As a result two new recruits were gained and a ringer wion had fallen bu the wayide was attracted back: also approximately $£ 15$ was raised in aid of the Bell Restoration I und.

MISS FRANCES MASSEY MARRIED

The marriage took place at Weston-superMare on September 26th of Richard William Carter. only son of the late Mr. S. Carter and Mrs. Margaret Carter of Portishead, to Frances Mary Massey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Massey, of Spring Gardens. Frome. The bride and bridegroom, both of whom graduated from the University College of Wales. Aberystwith, this year, will make their home in Northern Ireland. their new address neing Dunmore. 2, Salisbury Terrace, Coleraine Road, Portrush, Co. Antrim.

The bride has for a number of years been a ringer at St. John's. Frome. and has rung several peals for the Bath and Wells Association and for other Associations.

A peal attempt at Shepton Beauchamp in honour of the occasion was lost through a broken rope after 75 minutes. but a quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor was scored at Hemington on Saturday morning. A celebration quarter peal was also rung at Frances' home tower on Sunday evening. This latter yuarter peal had two other additional inten-tions-to bid farewell to the conductor, brother of the bride, on his departure to the University of Leicester. and to celebrate the birth of a son to the Vicar and his wife, the Rev and Mrs. P. R. Mitchell.

GORING-ON-THAMES LOCAL PEAL

Mr. L. G. Haines. foreman of ringers at Goring-on-Thames Parish Church. states that although the peal of Grandsire Triples (pub)lished this week) was the first by a local band since the bells were cast and installed hy Mears and Stainbank in 1929. there has heen a ringing band in the tower from the 1880's. when some lads taught themselves to ring Grandsire Doubles, the first 120 in 1887 being recorded in the ringing chamber.

The Vicar then gave a treble bell to make a six, and the hell was cast at the Whitechapel Foundry in 1889 . Mr. Haines took over as foreman from John Bower when he died, thus in 81 years the tower has only had two foremen! A few Minor peals were rung by a local band hefore 1917. one of which. rung in 1902. is recorded in the ringing chamber

©DISTLRBEI) BY BELI.S"

Two well-known ringers-Mr. Michael $R$ Meadows, vice-president of the Southern District of the Yorkshire Association. and Mr. M. Alec Beaumont. Master of the Durham University Society-have replied to the letter in "The Times" from Mr. Ronald Warson. in which he sought to place church bells within the category of a legal or an illegal nuisance. They write:

Most incumbents and campanologists are aware of the legal requirements appertaining to the ringing of church bells and efforts are made, particularly in urban areas, to restrict ringing times so as not to accord an unreasonable amount of interference to an uncompromising laity.

It is not being suggested that Mr. Warson hould endeavour to sleep on his legal rights. or even remove himself to the remote fastness of a sound-proof duelling place, but it does seem unreasonable, in this day and age of mechanical pandemonium. that he. and many other members of the public, are unwilling to tolerate the only loud noise made to the Glory of Ged."

MR. BLAGROVE ANSWERS MORE QUERIES

Dear Sir,-May I answer the points raised by Mr. Shepherd? No one has tried to differentiate between the equal terms "longest length" and "progressive length." But not all longest lengths are the record peals proper. The progressive lengths instanced by Mr. Shepherd would all be record peals. and it would not be necessary to comply with the special conditions on page 19 of the Handbook. Further, it would not be necessary for the first peal to reach or exceed 6,720 to comply. But in the case of a peal rung to surpass a total of 6.720 or more, it is necessary to comply, if the resulting peal were to stand as the record peal proper. We now come to the first vagueness in Decision D, para. (f).
Does it mean " all peals which will surpass a previous peal of 6.720 or more must comply "? This is the hard-line interpretation, and all peals not complying would not be recognised by the Council, but must be published in "The Ringing World." The soft-line interpretation is "all peals rung with the intention, of setting up a new record must comply." Then. a peal which did not comply would be a progressive length, but not the record peal proper.
The special conditions are perfectly clear in that seven days" notice must be given in "The Ringing World," similar notice must be sent to the secretary of the holding Society, the peal must be umpired and well proved. and the methods must comply with the Report on Regular Methods. Not so clear is the puhlication of the composition. The hard-line is that it must be published with the notice. and the soft-line is that it must be published at the latest with the report of the neal. and nothing is laid down for non-record peals.
It will be aopreciated that up to 1966 attempts complied with these special conditions. But in the last two years difficulties over these two points have arisen, and been accentuated hy several conductors not bothering to comply, or wishing soft-line on their attempts and hard-line on the attempts of others. Turning to Mr. Woodruffe, I was informed in March that the need for a revision of Decisions would be raised at Worcester. Therefore, in an attempt to smooth the way. the report for 1967 contained all new long lengths under the single heading "Performances." and I did hope for the same in the 1968 report. in view of the forthcoming revision. But Mr. Woodruffe wants a separate listing.
Therefore it becomes necessary to continue checking all compositions, both progressive lengths and record peals, but, for the latter only, there are other details to check. No decision has been made over the 13.140 Maximus, and my misinterpretation of Mr. Woodruffe's letter of August 2 nd was due to the wording of his letter and my non-participation in untruthful gossip. I note his claim for the record peal of Kent L.C. and Kent T.B. Maximus on handbells, and his definition of Cam Maximus as an irregular method. I was informed by one member of the band that they were aware that the 12.480 Pudsey would not be a record peal proper, and if Mr. Woodruffe had had the manners to ask he could have had the composition months ago.
The 12.096 Glasgow has not been demoted to a progressive length. The band asked for it not to be the record length proper. By the C.C. Decisions it was not necessary for notice to be given for the 11,872 Glasgow. the 9.600 Lincolnshire and the 12.096 Huddersfield, even though Mr. Woodrufte says otherwise. His strictures on the L.A.C.R. are way out of place. Was written notice given to their secretary of the Cambridge Royal? Have Mr. Woodruffe's compositions always been published before the attempt? Indeed. have his compositions always been published?

TOURS AND OUTINGS

WOTTON AND BRISTOL COMBINED OUTING

The Wotton-under-Edge and Bristol ringers had a combined outing under blue skies on September 7th. No less than four Branches of the Gloucester and Brisiol Association were represented, making the large number in the back seat wish we had booked a bigger coach!
The first stop was at Romsey Abbey, having one of the best rings of eight in the country, and much excitement and interest was caused by the gallery which breaks the long climb up to the ringing chamber. The bells themselves are a real joy to ring, and we would gladly have stayed much longer.

After ringing on the pleasant light eight a: Twyford, most of us fortified ourselves with refreshment at the Dolphin.
Before ringing at New Alresford we were obliged to wait for a wedding to finish, so we sat outside the tower while the guests poured forth from the church, and listened to the local band ringing and at the same time admired the varying styles of dress of the wedding company.
Tea was at Andover, and those in the restaurant heard the remainder of the party raising the eight at the church. The long ascent to the ringing chamber was rather frightening and was the second occasion that day upon which the gentlemen were asked by the ladies to go up first, due to the somewhat revealing nature of the wooden spiral staircase! Here the standard of striking was improved, although an attempt at Kent Major ended in failure. Our final tower was at West Overton (6). The striking was, in general, better here than it had been all day. probably due to the short draught of rope which made the bells go so well.
Thanks go to Henry Taysom and Ken Weeks, of the Bristol Rural Branch, and Ron Cox, of the Wotton Branch. the three chief organisers. Thanks also to all those who met us. $$ \mathrm{D}$.

" WELCH'S WANDFRERS"

In line with the increasing vogue for naming touring parties, about forty ringers and friends formed themselves into "Welch's Wanderers" to take part in the annual outing organised by Roy and Enid Welch. of Ilton, Somerset, on September 21st.
This year we started in Devon. and our first ring was on the fine eight at Tiverton, where I. personally, had the pleasure of ringing a bell for the first time in almost eight months and. believe me, it was a pleasure.
From there we went to Chawleigh and then to Chumleigh and some good ringing took place at both towers. After the usual liquid refreshment we went to Chittlehampton and South Molton, where tea had been arranged.
Over a narrow bridge on Exmoor our arrival at Exford was delayed, but everyone who wished to was able to ring on the lovely six. Our thanks to Roy and Enid for their organisation, and incumbents. Roll on next year.
J. D.

HORSHAM RINGERS' MINI-OUTING

Fourteen Horsham ringers and friends sallied forth for a half-day tour round neighbouring towers on September 21 st . Despite thunderstorms and torrential showers the party managed to ring at Bolney (8). Hurstpierpoint (8). Henfield (8). Cowfold (8) and Shipley (6). Methods rung (or attempted) ranged from Grandsire and Stedman Triples to Plain Bob, Kent and Cambridge Minor. The outing was thoroughly enjoyed by all and it is hoped to arrange a similar trip into Surrey later in the year. Mike Read, who organised the tour. is thanked, as well as incumbents and local ringers.

On September 28th Twerton ringers held their annual outing and were joined by friends from various towers in the Bath area.
Amesbury was the first stop. The bells had not been rung for some months but nevertheless go very well (the two rrebles being the only bells on ball-bearings). The girls of the party excelled themselves with good call changes, the local captain being quite amazed. as he had not seen his back bells rung by the fairer sex before.
St. Martin's, Salisbury.-The only ground-floor ring of the day. These bells were unringable for six years until quite recently, when Bill Theobald put them in order. A half-course of Yorkshire proved quite successful.
Dounton.-Lovely-toned heavy octave. fund has been set up to rehang the seventh. the bearings of which have become badly worn. fut this does not reflect on the go of the bell $t o 0$ much. although ringing has been curtailed pending restoration.
Fordingbridge.-A fairly light octave that will travel. Here we rang all sorts of odd-ments-Hawkhurst Triples. Birstwith Little Bob Major and some unsuccessful London Major.
Ringwood.-One member learned to ring here, so met old acquaintances. The octave will not be pushed too much but are pleasant to ring. Cambridge was by far the best ringing.

Christchurch Priory.-The beauty of the $n$ here is well known and we were very pleased with our rise. We limited ourselves to some good call changes and Bob Royal. Bob Maximus was too ambitious.
We had a wonderful day. The people who met us at each tower were very kind and patient and we were pleased to have them join in the ringing.

CRAVEN RINGERS VISIT LANCASHIRE
The start for this outing on September 7th was too early for one driver, whose parts missed two towers. At $8.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Erin and Grandsire were being rung at Downham (5). We enjoyed the well-sounding bells at Clitheroe (8) and Whalley (8), where Plain Bob. Grandsire and Stedman were rung.
The six at Ribchester preceded a pienic lunch by the River Ribble. during which handbells were produced. Cambridge and Erin were rung at Goosnargh (a pleasant six), but the performance at Scorton (8) was not up to the standard of ringing at previous rowers. However, there was good ringing at Hornby (8) and the programme of ringing was concluded at Low Bentham (6).
A very enjoyable dinner at Long Preston concluded a happy day. Mr. F. Lee, who organised the outing in a masterly style. is specially thanked.

SOUTHBROOM, WILTSHIRE

Southbroom ringers and friends made Guildford their objective for their annual outing on September 28 th . En route they rang at Si . Michael's, Basingitoke. and. after lunch at Guildford, at Holy Trinity and on the six at St. Mary's. which they found were a "bit strange" with a clock face and anti-clockuise ring to contend with. Tea followed. and the Cathedral was visited to hear the choir sing Evensong. Ringing was afterwards enjoved on the ground-floor ring of six at Bentley. The refreshment 40 minutes were spent it Andover and home was reached at 10.30 p.m. Incumbents and those who met the partv are thanked.

PETERBOROUGH GUILD'S RINGING COURSE

The Northamptonshire County Youth Service, at the request of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, ran a half-day ringing course on September 28th using Islip School and the towers of Islip, Thrapston and Tichmarsh. The course was under the general direction of Mr. J. M. Tyler, who is, appropriately enough, the county music adviser; and the team of instructors was led by Mr. J. H. Bluff, Master of the Guild.
Some 70 students attended, and whilst these covered a wide age range, it was particularly encouraging to see such a large number of young people anxious to improve their ringing. The general consensus of opinion was that they went away knowing a good deal more about what they were trying to do than they did when they came.
The course was divided into five groups, and covered everything from plain hunt to extents of Plain Bob on this occasion. However, with such an encouraging response to this, the first diocese-wide course, it is intended to hold another one, possibly next spring, and to aim then to cover a wider range of methods. Grateful thanks are extended to those who came as instructors, and to the incumbents who made their towers available.

The Bells of St. Michael's, Cornhill, London

By William Flook
Two keen Rochester District ringers-Mr. Richard Bushell and Miss Pamela Thomsettleaving St. Mary Magdalene's Church, Stockbury, Kent, after their wedding on September 14th.

HALFWAY along the street known as Cornhill stands the ancient Church of St. Michael, which has long been famous for its bells. There has been a church here since before the Norman Conquest, and John Stow, in his "Survey of London" (1603), tells us that the tower of the old church was "begun to be built in 1421," in which was placed "a fair ring of five bells." These bells were evidently in the minor scale, for, as Stow says, "a sixth bell was added and given by John Whitwell, Isabel his wife, and William Rus, alderman and goldsmith, about the year 1430." William Rus was a notable benefactor to St . Michael's.
This new bell (founder unknown) weighed over 30 cwt ., and it appears from the parish records that it was a noble bell, of which the parishioners were very proud. Of the ring of six, Stow says, "This was accounted the best ring of six bells to be rung by six men that was in England, for harmony, sweetness of sound, and tune." In those early days of bell-hanging it was evidently unusual that these six bells could be rung by only six men. Moreover, Stow tells us that the tenor bell, named "Rus," after its donor, was rung nightly for curfew at eight o'clock, "and otherwise for knells, and in peals, rung by one man, for the space of one hundred and sixty years."

Legend of Visitation

The following strange legend also appears in Stow's account of St. Michael's Church: "As I have oft heard my father report, upon St. James's night, certain men in the loft next under the bells, ringing of a peal, a tempest of lightning and thunder did arise, an ugly shapen sight appeared to them, coming in at the south window, and lighted on the north, for fear whereof they all fell down and lay as dead for the time, letting the bells ring and cease of their own accord: when the ringers came to themselves, they found certain stones of the north window to be razed and scratched as if they had been so much butter, printed with a lion's claw, the same stones were fastened there again and remain to this day. I have seen them oft, and have put a feather or small stick into the holes where the claws had entered three or four inches deep. . . . One of the ringers lived in my youth, whom I have oft heard to verify the same to be true."
In the inventory of the sixth year of the reign of Edward VI, St. Michael's is shown as having "vj great bells and ij sawnse bells." The churchwarden's accounts show that the ringers were paid 12 d . for ringing for the proclamation of Queen Mary in 1553 , and 2 s . 3d. for ringing for her coronation.

the base, and to the top of the pinnacles it is 130 feet high. It is said to have been inspired by the tower of Magdalen College, Oxford, but the similarity is slight and the proportions are quite different. It is, however, a very stately tower.
In this tower was installed a ring of twelve bells, cast by Richard Phelps in 1728, three of which, the third, fourth and seventh, survive in their original form. These twelve bells, tenor approximately 41 cwt., were hung a good deal higher in the tower than the present ring. The inscription on the tenth bell read as follows
"We honour to the King and joy to brides do sing
To prayer do we call
St. Michael's people all
Triumphs do we tell and ring the dead man's knell."

Superb Gift to Gloucester and Bristol Ringers

To celebrate its 90h birthday, the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association held a dinner at the Moor Court Hotel, Amberley, on September 28th. The highlight of an enjoyable evening was the presentation to the Association of a superb silver trophy in the form of a bell, hung in a wooden frame. This was given by the Gloucester Diocessin Board of Finance in memory of the late W. I. Croome, former chairman of the Council for the Care of Churches and is to be competed for annually by Sunday Service bands in the two dioceses.

It was presented to the Association's Ringing Master, P./Sgt. W. F. Scudamore, by Major P. D. Birchall, chairman of Gloucestershire County Council and former chairman of the Diocesan Board of Finance.

Other guests on this happy occasion were Canon Gilbert Thurlow, president of the Ceniral Council, and the Suffragan Bishops of Malmesbury and Tewkesbury

A DISTINGUISHED COMPANY

After ringing at a number of churches in the delightful countryside around Stroud, memhers of the Association assembled at the Moor Court Hotel in time to admire the extensive views from the dining room windows before the curtains were drawn and the guests entered to the sound of handbells. On the top table were Miss E. M. Bliss (chairman of the As sociation), supported by Sgt. W. F. Scudamore Ringing Master) and Mrs. Scudamore, Mr. C. Rouse (hon. secretary) and Mrs. Rouse, Canon A. G. G. Thurlow. Major and Mrs. Birchall. the Rt. Rev. C. F. B. Bishop (Bishop of Malmesbury) and Mrs Bishop, and the Rt Rev. F. T. Horan (Bishop of Tewkesbury) and Mrs. Horan. Because of the impending Michaelmas ordinations the Association's two presidents, the Bishops of Gloucester and Bristol, were unable to be present and had sent their apologies.

Most of the Association's. 12 Branches were represented, but it was particularly pleasing to see a number of young members from the local (Stroud) Branch.

CENTRAL COUNCIL PRESIDENT

After full justice had been done to an excellent meal and the loyal toast duly honoured, Sgt. Scudamore introduced the guest of honour the president of the Central Council, Canon Thurlow. Canon Thurlow has an enviable reputation as an after-dinner speaker and it soon became apparent that the reputation had been well earned. Tale followed tale with the rapidity of bobs in Erin, and he delighted the company with reminiscences of the James brothers. H. Law and E. Bankes, and of past ringing adventures in the Bristol area.
Turning to more serious matters with the skill of an Albert Walter turning the big bells is Sterman Cinques, he congratulated the Association on its healthy state and on its ex cellent relations with parochial church council: in the diocese. Too often the various church organisations-the choirs, flower guilds, ringers, various societies-existed each in their own watertight compartments, and he felt that it could lead only to good when they were able to share their problems and their expertise. To tell the P.C.C.'s what the Association was striving to do and to ask for their support was a wise move, and one that would pay dividends. He finished by reminding the company of the importance of the message of the bells, an importance that grows with each passing day, and of the part ringers had to play in proclaiming that message to the world around.
In her reply, Miss Bliss spoke of the Association's history over the past 90 years. As the Gloucester and Bristol's first lady chairman, it was appropriate that she should mention some of its early lady members. the first of whom. Mrs. Brunsden. of Withington. had joined as long ago as 1881. Coupled with her thanks to Canon Thurlow she welcomed the visitors. She extended a particularly warm welcome to the Bishon of Tewkesbury. whose first meeting with the Association this was, and hoped that it would be the first of many and went on to exnlain to the Bishop of Malmesbury the confusion his surname had caused when it came to print the dinner menus.

THE CROOME TROPHY

The Bishod of Malmesburv replied in humerous vein before Miss Bliss called on Maior Birchall. For several months past the various Branches in the Association have been holding their own ringing competitions to select a team to comnete for the "Croome Trophv." Just what form the tronhy would take had remained a closelv-guarded secret and there was a marked air of excitement when Major Birchall rose and placed a plain cardhoard box on the table

He started by talking of "Will" Croome's love of churches. of his untiring work on faculties boards throughout the country, and of his generous heauest to the Gloucester Diocesan Board of Finance on his death in 1967. As chairman of that Board. Major Birchall had therefore been particularly interested in a suggestion that part of this bequest might be used to provide a Croome Trophy" to encourage and raise the standard of Sunday service ringing in the Gloucester and Bristol dioceses. The work had been entrusted to Mr. W. H. Warmington, silversmith of the Chipping Campden Guild of Craftsmen, who had produced a wonderful trophy.

SILVER BELL IN OAK FRAME
Until now, onlv three people present had seen the finished result, but a murmur of admiration ran round the room as he at last drew from the mysterious cardboard box a silver bell, complete with silver stock, stay and slider, silver wheel and rope, and mounted in an oak bell frame on an inscribed base. The hell itself carries the arms of the Diocese of Gloucester and Bristol, and the inscription on the base reads

In memory of W. I. Croome, C.B.F., J.P. M.A. F.S.A. Presented by the Gloucester Dincesan Roard of Finance from the Croome Bequest. 28-9-68.
Thanking Major Birchall on behalf of the Association, the Ringing Master (Sgt. W. F Scudamore) spoke of the diffidence with which Miss Bliss and he had first approached the Board of Finance and of Major Birchall's immediate support and encouragement. Al ready something approaching 70 Sunday service hands had been involved in the preliminary ringing. and he was sure that now this handsome trophy had at last been "unveiled" even more bands would enter in the future. to the benefit of service ringing throughout the area covered by the Association. This superb trophy would be one of the Association's most treasured possessions. His thanks were echocd by the applause of all those present-and even Canon Thurlow appeared to have a thoughtful look in his eye as he clapped!

The formal part of the evening then ended with a vote of thanks to Mrs. M. A. Wratten for her work in arranging such a successful dinner. Thereafter the company split up, some to renew old friendshids, some to ring handbells and all to admire the wonderful Croome Trophy. This will be competed for for the first time on November 9th at North Cerney, where Mr. W. I. Croome lived until his death.

LOOKING BACK

THE FIRST ISSUE OF "THE BELL NEWS"

IN February, 1881, appeared the first number of a magazine enitled

THE BELL NEWS

and Ringers' Record.

A Journal of the Ringing Exercise: and Compendium of Information for the Clergy and Churchwerdens.

It had eight pages and the price was one penny.

The tirst page consisted of ". The Editor's Address" and his introduction of the paper to the ringing fraternity. I lift two quotations which have echoes at the present time: "It has been cynically observed that the components of the ringing community are of such a heterogeneous character that their unitive faculties are not sufficiently adhesive to support a paper established in the interests of ringing ": and "The discussion of any subjects offensively irrelevant to ringing and its surroundings will be eschewed, nor will our columns be allowed to become a vehicle of partisanship of any kind whatever."

Reports of Meetings, etc." occupted page two. First, the Yorkshire Association quarterly meeting at Leeds, where the president, Jasper W. Snowdon, Esq., took the chair. The president read a circular announcing the publication of "The Bell News and Ringers" Record." This seems to have been the main business. There was ringing at the Parish Church, Holbeck and Hunslet.

IN GLOUCESTERSHIRE

Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association held their throd anniversary meeting at Stroud. which was well attended by contingents from Gloucester, Bristol, Cheltenham, Cirencester. etc. Fifty-four members sat down to a capital dinner in the Corn Hall, prepared by hostess Browning. A remarkable feature of this meeting was the number of the clergy in attendance: The Revs, Thomas Kcble (Bisley), Mowbray Trotter (St. Mary de Crypt, Mowbray Trotter (St. Mary de Crypt, Smith (Woodchester) and Pitt Eykyn.
At Diss (Norfolk), the 48th anniversary of was stated that during 1880, 65,096 changes in various methods had been struck on the bells.
The Redenhall Branch of the Norwich Diocesan Association met on January 13th, which, according to them, is the old New Year's Day. to celebrate the 145 th anniversary of their club. A list of members is given together with the numbers and methods of the peals they had rung and the methods in which they were proficient. The repertoire consisted of Superlative Surprise. Double Norwich Court, Stedman Triples, Oxford Treble Bob, Kent, Grandsire Triples and Bob Major, one member having rung as many as 20 peals. Can anyone give us further information about the "old New Year's Day' of January 13th? Has it anything to do with "Give us back our eleven days"?

FROM MANCHESTER

The Lancashire Association's annual meeting rounds un the reports. Held at Manchester * under very unfavourable circumstances, the weather being such is to prevent members from remote parts of the country from attending." Raining. one presumes. The annual sermon was preached in the Cathedral. and from the excerpt given should have been extremely interesting.
The reports are followed by a review of Mr Jasper W. Snowdon's " Standard Methods in the Art of Change Ringing." The review also refers to "Rope Sight," first published in November. 1879, which was so successful that the first edition of 500 copies was sold off in little more than four months, and in October. 1880, a second edition was issued.
Under the heading of "New and Original Compositions "- "Great then are the mysteries cf Bell Ringing "-Southey, appear two compositions of Stedman Caters by H. Hubbard, sen.
The Editoral, page 4, under the heading "The Bell News." commences "The truth of the statement that within the past few years the study and practice of Ringing has increased among the community cannot seriously be brought into question." Dealing with composition, the Editor later says "Though the discovery that 8,448 was not the extent with the tenors together in Treble Bob Major, has been the greatest event within the recollection of many, several new peals in the same method have appeared, which afford evidence that a deal of attention has of late been paid to composition." And finally, after throwing his columns open for composers-" It is hoped that the most eminent in this particular branch of the science, both in London and the provinces, will become frequent contributors to the column to which we refer, and also that the less advanced in the art of composition may exert themselves to attain notoriety in the same direction."

ST. MARTIN'S, BIRMINGHAM

After this appears the note: We hear that the St. Martin's Company, of Birmingham, have in view the notion of going for 9,000 Stedman Cinques, to supersede the St. Michael's (Cornhill) peal. We wish them success when they make their atiempt, but it will require a deal to excel the London performance. Should it become an accomplished fact, the exercise at large will have no hesitation in believing (if so announced) that such a performance has been accurately performed, coming from such a quarter." This is by far the nicest remark I have read anent this Socicty for some years.

The "Ringers" Record " gives particulars of the following peals, then recently rung:-

Bethnal Green-Kent Treble Bob Major.
Barking (Essex).-Grandsire Triples-Holt's Original.
Bishop's Stortford (Herts). - Grandsire Triples-Holt's Bob-and-Single.
Bollington (Cheshire). Grandsire Triplesfirst peal on the bells.
Diss (Norfolk).-Oxford Treble Bob Major.
Dorking (Surrey).-Grandsire Triples-Holt's Dorking (Surrey).-Grandsire Triples-Holt's ten-part Drayton (Berks).-Kent Treble Bob Major.
Fressingield (Suffolk).-Oxford Treble Bob Major (6.080).
Guiseley (near Leeds, Yorks).-Two peals of Kent Treble Bob Major.
Kenninghall (Norfolk),-Kent Treble Bob Major.
Preston (Lancs).-Grandsire Triples-Holt's ten-part.
Rotherham (Yorks).-Stedman Caters.
Sheffield (Yorks).-Grandsire Triples-Holt's Original.
Followed by "Correspondence." - "The Writers alone are responsible for the opinions they enunciate." There is a letter from a young ringer objecting to another large bell in London to be hung at St. Paul's. He says (inter alia): "I don't see the necessity of another large bell at the Metropolitan Cathedral. The bell there at present answers every purpose and in my opinion is a good bell, Sir E. Becket! notwithstanding. I think it is a capital bell, and I hegin to have my doubts whether the learned Q.C. knows anything at all about it. If the Dean and Chapter determine to have another large bell, let them call to their counsel one or two of the most eminent ringers, many of whose aural faculties enable them to do what many of our great musicians would pronounce to be all but impossible. I am sure than many ringers would feel interested with an account in your columns of 'Big Ben' of Westminster, and what is meant hy the phrase 'to prevent the referees being taken in again by concealed defects': perhaps the learned haronet would give us the bell's history." Good fighting stuff.

A milder letter from Mr . Snowdon offers to publish peals of Treble Bob in his possession should the Exercise wish.
On the back page came the advertisements. Mears and Stainbank, Whitechapel Bell Foundry, London. Established 1570; Henry Banks, Bell Rope Manufacturer, Shambles, Worcester ; Standard Methods, Ropesight and A Treatise on Treble Bob by J. W. Snowdon ; Handbells, 19 for sale, in fair condition; Handbell Music, Wm. Gordon, Siockport, including "The Blue Bells of Scotland "with two easy variations. In my distant youth there was a copy of this latter in the belfry cupboard (it may be there yet), but the ringers were forbidden to take the handbells out of the tower. because they were liable to give demonstrations in the local estaminet. Also a pamphlet entitled "The Continuity of the English Church," by Rev. G. H. Ross-Lewin, M.A., Hurworth-onTees, 8vo., price $1 /$-. Finally a list of books including "Adelaide Rosenberg's "Troubles," "Worth Her Weight in Gold," "Without a Hermann Be?
I have dealt with the first number of "Bell News" at some length, but should any further effusions of mine sneak past the editorial chair, they will contain the more interesting features of several numbers and, I hope, become more interesting as they continue. Like the Dance of the Seven Veils." CHESHIRE DELIGHT.

NORTH KENT RINGERS VISIT LONDON AREA

Approximately 40 ringers and friends from various churches in North Kent, including Sittingbourne. Newington, Tunstall, Maidstone, Halling and Eastchurch, spent the late Summer Bank Holiday visiting various towers in the London area.
After travelling through a downpour the party arrived at St. Paulinus', Crayford (8), to be met by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett. We experienced some difficulty in handling the ten at St. Alphege's, Greenwich, and hurried on to St. Mary's, Lewisham, where our ringing improved on the pleasant eight. The coach then made its way to the City for lunch before taking the M. 4 en route for Heston, Middlesex, where some good ringing was enjoyed. Christ Church, Mitcham, our next call, proved to be a little disappointing. Tea was taken at Banstead before ringing on the very well-going eight. We were delighted to be met here by Mr. Pitstow.
The last tower of the day was at Kingswood, where some of the best ringing of the day took place. Liquid refreshment was taken at Locks Bottom and the coach deposited the last member of the party at $11 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.
Thanks are expressed to incumbents and local ringers, also to Frank Dadson and Wendy Austin, who organised the tour. Laurie Mitchell was Ringing Master. L. M.

CHELSEA GO TO RUMLAND

The Chelsea outing this year was to Rutland and Leicestershire. Having first inspected Monty's pitch pipe to see that it was in sound mechanical order, we felt able to ring at the first tower, at Oakham (a splendid church with matching bells-even the ringing rose to the selting). After lunch we rang on the excellent six at Asfordby. The ten at Melton Mowbray were next, and here ringing started of with Grandsire Royal! As we left the church the bells chimed "There's no place like home "a gentle hint!
A magnificent tea was provided for us by the ringers of Somerby-high tea wasn't the word! Some good ringing then followed on the six bells at the church. These are a groundfloor ring in a tower that stands between the nave and chancel.
We then turned for home. Our sincere thanks to all concernod for a bappy and enjoyable aution.

Chilvers Coton Ringers at Liverpool Cathedral

Chilvers Coton ringers, foined by six others from Bulkington during their outing on September 28th, tackled the heaviest ring of 12 in the world at Liverpool Cathedral. Comments their correspondent, Mr. G. Edmands: " Unfortunately it was the general consensus of opinion that these bells are far from easy to ring any method successfully, not only because of their excessive weight but also because it is very difficult to hear. them individually in the ringing chamber, and one has to rely almost entirely on 'ropesight.'
"However, it was an experience which will long be remembered by all those who had a go -and the incident of the lift (up to the halfway stage), which refused to function, will no doubt make our visit all the more memorable !
"Our non-ringing triends were duly 1 m pressed by this massive Cathedral, the building of which commenced no less than 64 years ago and is still far from completed, and also by the Roman Catholic Cathedral nearby. Mention must also be made of the light entertainment which was provided by three of our members, who nobly tackled the 82 cwt . tenor single-handed and found that it was far from easy to set. The reverberant booming of its deep tone around the ringing chamber was reminiscent of the funeral bell for Admiral Lord Nelson !"
Ringing also took place at SS. Peter and Paul's, Ormskirk, Emmanuel and Christ Church. Southport, and St. Mark's, Worsley. A most appetising chicken dinner at the Dog and Doublet Hotel, Sandon. near Rugeley, rounded off a memorable and happy day. Special thanks go to the organiser, Mr. G. A. Bell.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

Annual Striking Contest

The Rossendale Branch acted as hosts for the competition this year, the finals of both the six- and eight-bell sections taking place at St. Saviour's. Bacup, on September 28 th.
A wider based entry was forthcoming this year and despite several last-minute withdrawals six teams competed in the six-bell and four in the eight-bell sections.

Mossley (St. John's, Roughtown) were again the winners in the six-bell section, ringing an excellently-struck course of Treble Bob with only nine faults. followed by very pleasing ringing from Todmorden (Christ Church), Preston (St. John's) and Burnley (St. Peter's). Whitefield (All Saints', Stand) and Newchurch (Bolton Branch), newcomers to the competition, rang well in parts but faltered and incurred quite a number of faults.
In the eight-bell section Westhoughton again proved the winners with a well-struck touch of Stedman Triples that incurred 68 faults, followed fairly closely by Southport (Emmanuel). Blackburn Cathedral and Accrington were not able to mount a serious challenge as periodic clipping incurred too many faults.
The judges were Miss C. Andrew, Messrs. D. R. Jones and A. Ward, and J. F. Wood acted as marshal.

The competition was brought round at 5.25 p.m., and tea (kindly arranged by Messis. Bracewell and Parkinson) and inquest followed. Afterwards further ringing at Christ Church, Bacup, was enjoyed by all. J. F.W.

KINGSCLERE GUILDS BEST STRIKER

The Winchester and Portsmouth Guild's striking competition was beld at St. Mary's, Fordingbridge, on September 21 st, when teams were entered from Alton, Blackmoor, Bishopstoke, Eling, Farcham, Highclere, Hordle and Kingsclere. The afternoon arrangements were carried through smoothly under the direction of Canon K. W. H. Felsteud, the judge being Mr. Frank Darby, Master of the Surrey Association. A feature of this year's mecting was the number of younger ringers taking partone team boasting an average age of just under 14 years.

After tea in the Church Hall, Mr. Darby gave the company the result of his afternoon's listening, with helpful criticism of each team's performance. St. Mary's, Kingsclere, proved to be the winners, with St. Michael and All Angels'. Highclere, runners-up and St. Mary's, Eling, coming third. Mr. Philip Murduck received the Allison Cup from Canon Felstead, together with a certificate signed by the Master of the Guild and the competition judge. Certificates were also awarded to the run-ners-up and third-placed team. Canon Felstead concluded the meeting by expressing the Guild's thanks to Mr. Darby, to the Vicar of Fordingbridge and to the local captain, Mr. Ron Marlow.

The company enjoyed further ringing during the evening in methods up to London Surprise Major. The Guild's thanks are due to Canon Felstead who. as chairman of the Striking Comnetition Committee. carried out the somewhat heavy secretarial work in arranging the competition.

MR. JAMES TAYLOR

Mr. J. P. Partington, in the current issue of " Reverberations," writes the following tribute to Mr. James Taylor, of Rochdale.
"Many of you at last year's Rally will remember seeing Jim Taylor sitting quietly at the back of the hall. He had been in hospital for almost two years as a result of a stroke, and although possessing his mental faculties was practically unable to walk. Nevertheless he still followed his great love of bellringing, both church and hand, even if he was now unable to take an active part. Being at that Rally was to him a wonderful thrill. more espectally as a number of his old ringing friends were also there and went along for is - natter ' about old times. This outing was one of his last from hospital and ho passed to rest on August 28 th.

- Jim had been a church bellinger for some 45 years and possessed that wonderful and rare knack of being able to train youngsters in the intricacies of change ringing. The writer has personal knowledge of his intinite patience and will always remain indebted to him for encouragement and friendship over many years.

His job as caretaker at his local church school enabled Jim to also further his love of handbell ringing. During morning breaks he used to train a very keen team of young bovs and girls, and All Sainss' (Rochdale) C. of E. Handbell Team became $u$ 'must' for all sorts of events connected with the parish. A vast number of youngsters passed through his team over the years. A lot gave up going to the Secondary School, some became church bellringers, but all were richer for "having made music."
" His method of arranging music was unıque, for he used six lines and five spaces. Many an experienced bellringer has come to grief attempting to ring from Jim's handbell music !
"The ringing world has suffered a great loss. but those of us who knew him are sicher for having done so."

PRICE AND COSTS OF "THE RINGING WORLD"
Dear Sir,-Permit me to venture a contribution to the current controversy over the price of "The Ringing World" and its cost structure.
The peal columns in this journal seem to fulfil two functions. First, to record for posterity the standards of change ringing at any particular time. Secondly, to act as a vehicle for what might be deemed a form of selfadvertisement, indulged in by those who ring peals (1 intend this latter observation to be anything but deprecatory). I am led to suggest what is probably not novel but may at this time need to be put forward again, perhaps to be kicked about in your columns. That is, that the Central Council ought to bear about half the cost of publishing the peals, but that the peal ringers ought to carry the other half, according to a charge per rope.

Getting down to actual figures, apply a charge of $£ 10$ per page of peals (the current rate for a full-page advertisement), then divide this figure by two for the reasons given above. Now, in the October 4th issue, the average number of "ropes" per page for five pages of peals is about 110 (it is the same for four pages of peals in the September 27th issue), therefore a rate of one shilling per rope would bring in the required, $£ 5$ with a little over. This surely would ease the strain on "Ringing World " finances occasioned by the publication of peals.
In anticipation of any comment that donations go some way towards paying for insertion, allow me to point out that in the September 27th issue the "Gratefully Acknowledged" column recorded 12 s . under the heading Peals" and £9 8s. 6d. under "Quarter Peals." In that issue 516 peal "ropes" were published and 750 quarter peal "ropes." In the October 4 th issue $£ 28 \mathrm{~s}$. came from peals, £11 3s. 4d. from quarter peals, and 540 peal "ropes" and 594 quarter peal "ropes" were published. The pattern scems to be not dissimilar in other recent issues. A quarter peal occupies about one-third of the space of a peal. The facts speak for themselves, and loudly.-Yours faithfully,

HERVEY BAGOT.

PIGEON MENACE

Dear Sir, Could you please give me any advice re getting rid of pigeons around the tower of Keynsham Parish Church?

We can keep them out of the bell chamber with wire netting but a lot of mess comes in and the path surrounding the tower is fouled.

I remember reading in a recent "Ringing World" about a suggestion for hanging fish netting around the louvres, but as ours in a large tower with many ledges, and netting would look unsightly, we have decided against this. We have also been in touch verbally with Rentokil Itd., who apparently can spread repellent jelly, but they do not seem interested in quoting.

Do any readers know of a method other than those mentioned and shooting, which is impracticable as the tower is surrounded by public roads?-Yours faithfully,

Mr. BLAGROVE ANSWERS CRITICS

Dear Sir,-I accept Mr. Smith's statement, as a long-length ringer, that I am incorrect in saying that up to 1966 all record peal attempts here properly made. The peal of 14,560 Yorkshire Major was rung without due notice, and it was not claimed as a record. But the Records Committee did include it in their report, as a progressive length. Mr. Smith does not mention the other case, the peal of 17.248 Yorkshire Major, rung with one day's notice. This also was included in the committee reports.
Mr. Scholtield will note the footnotes on page 628-Treble Bob Maximus. The Central Council lays down the two categories. The committee has always submitted a combined list to the Council. It is up to another committee to say which peals do not comply, and treat them accordingly. My implication of para, 4 on page 726 was that the Cam peal should be placed before the Council with all other new long lengths for its decision. The Cam variation and all other such calls are covered by the Decisions-the Report on Regular Methods does not apply.

I did not mention the Cam peal before it was rung because I expected it to go forward as usual on a combined list. The question of its status arose only after Mr. Woodruffe's letter, as explained on page 746 . 1 suggested that some apology was due to Mr. Parker for the untruthful gossip put around that the peal of Pudsey was false, Instead, Mr. Smith quotes the story of William Pye contending that J. W. Washbrook did not call the composition of D.N.C.B. Major that was later published in "Bell News."
Mr. Smith drops the Kent and Oxford question. But in answer to Mr. Scholfield, the Decision on Regular Methods, passed in 1903 and confirmed in 1955 , states that the plain course may be divided into leads either at the lead-end or at the half-lead. The Decision on spliced, passed in 1951, states that the leads must remain intact. The splrit of this is not known, since the debate was never published. But it follows that, in the Worcester variation, spliced at the half-leads and having no bobs, the leads remain intact and are therefore spliced. But in the other variations, with the change of method at the half-lead, and bobs at the lead-end, the leads are split into half, and are not spliced. The Worcester splice is a means of splicing together courses and leads, and will, 1 think, run to 11,520 Major with the tenors together. The other variations are means of keeping the tenors out of the slow, and will only run to 9.120 tenors together. I did follow precedent! The 21.600 Spliced T.B. Minor (no compasition published yet) included Kent and Oxford without bobs for the last extent. Conducted by B. J. W. with R. B. S. on the tenor, claimed and still standing as the longest peal of spliced. Mr. Smith is careful in wording his last paragraph. Although he did not conduct it, he did submit the notices of the 17,248 York: shire Majo:. A record peal needs more than an umpire. Written notice must be sent to the secretary of the holding Association, and a record peal attempt may be shortened only for the purpose of calling it round, due to unforeseen circumstances.
Mr. Scholfield should know that a committee has been appointed to revise the Decisions. Is it asking too much that the Records Committee may prepare this year's report as in the past-one list of new long lengths? Can Mr. Smith accept that New Durham is not the extension of Durham Minor? Can we all get on with something useful?-Yours sincerely.

FRANK T. BLAGROVE.

SURPRISE RINGING AT TWERTON-ON-AVON, BATH

Dear Sir,-I was interested to read in "The Ringing World" of October 11th (page 799) of a quarter peal of Cambridge Major rung at Twerton-on-Avon, Bath, and claimed to be the first of Surprise Major on the bells by an all-local band.
This prompted me to forward an acocunt of a peal of Superlative Major rung at the Church of St. Michael, Twerton-on-Avon, Bath, on December 8th, 1930, in 3 hours and 2 minutes, which appeared in "The Ringing World" at the time. The band was as follows: W. H. Crocker 1, T. F. King 2, Miss N. G. Williams 3, R. J. Cousins 4, T. Gran! 5, H. W. Brown 6, W. J. Prescott 7, G. H. Harding (conductor) 8. Composed by N. I. Pitstow. First peal of Superlative for the Bath and Wells Association by a resident band.

By the ravages of time there are only two survivors of the band, the ringers of 3 and 8 .

There is a story attached to this peal. A hand at Taunton and we at Twerton-on-Avon were each competing to ring the first of Cambridge for the Bath and Wells Association by a resident band. The Taunton band won, so we at Twerton changed to Superlative to be the first to ring a peal in that method for the Association by a resident band.

In the early 1930's we were regularly ringing London Surprise at Twerton. and made several attempts to ring a peal in this method, but we were not successful. The peal was never accomplished as two members of the team had to leave Bath for business reasons, leaving a gap in the band that was never filled.

Previous to this a peal of Cambridge Major had been rung at Twerton, all being resident members of the band except one.

I am very pleased to read that Mr. A. F. Lee now has a Surprise ringing band. My congratulations to him and I wish him every success.-Yours sincerely,
G. H. HARDING.

Trowbridge, Wills.

RECORDED BELLS

Dear Sir,-1 am surprised that any ringer should advocate the use of recorded bells in his Cathedral Church.

Many of your readers will remember what Archbishop Ramsey had to say at the Snowdon Dinner in 1956. Dr. Ramsey said he was concerned to safeguard and extend the grear art of bellringing. Bellringers had one or two enemies. One enemy was the use of gramophone records and similar devices which tried to produce the sound of bells without anv ringing at all. "I regard this as one of the most bogis frauds of Christendom," he said. -Yours sincerely,

HAROLD WALKER.
York.

RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD Annual Meeting at Hull

The very satisfactory programme enjoyed at Hull on September 28th was certainly due 10 the excellent arrangements made by Mr. Neville Pailing. It was unfortunate that we were unable to ring at Sutton because of a wedding at the church, but this, however, did not mar the day's enjoyment.

For an autumn meeting, there was a good attendance and most regions were represented. The highlight of the day was Holy Trinity Church, Hull (12).
At the business meeting, with the Master (Mr, Jack Brown) in the chair, details of the programme for our visit 10 Penzance were given in full by Mr. Sid Foskett. These included the date and accommodation for the week-end. The following were clected members: Miss F. Dean (associate member) and Mr. J. T. Parsons (ringing member).

Mr. Foskett, proposing the vote of thanks, stated that Mr. Pailing, who was responsible for the pleasant week-end, had many difficulties to contend with. Mr. Pailing, in reply, expressed his disappointment in not being able to get Beverley towers for this meeting. He was, however. very grateful that everyone had enjoyed the visit to Hull.

Forest Branch Striking Competition

The second striking contest of the Forest Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association' was held on September 21st at Bromsberrow. The holders of the silver cup donated by the Rev. E. W. P. Ainsworth, of Mitcheldean, the team led by Mr. L. Meadows, retained the cup by 11 marks to a strong challengge from Lydney. The third team was Redmarley, followed by Mitcheldean, an allladies team, and Mr. Tyler's band.

The winning team was J. J. Webb. C. Cox, L. Meadows. Howard Meek. R. Williams and Harold Meek, and, comments our correspondent, each member of the winning team will carefully polish the splendid cup for two months, and hope to make it a hat-trick next year.

Judges were Mr. Reg Powell and his son. Michael, from Hereford, with Mr. Chandler, of Newent. as steward. A splendid tea was provided by Miss Minchen and her helpers.

BIGGLESWADE CONTEST

Five teams entered for the Biggleswade District's striking contest held at Stotfold on September 21 st . Of these, three were resident Sunday service bands and two combined bands of enthusiastic youngsters.

The judges were Mr. J. Dear (Baldock) and Miss B. Sims (Biggleswade), and the cup, which had been kindly donated this vear, went to Maulden. Certificates to the runnersup were awarded to Sandy, Potton and Siotfold.

The evening ended with a buffet-social. The film "Ringers Required" was very much appreciated by the audience. and quizzes and games followed.
The September monthly meeting was at Willington and Cople. A very good tea was provided by local ringers, and Mr. A. H. Smith presided at the business meeting. Ringing at Cople in the evening was attended by many more District members and a variety of methods to suit cverybody's capabilities was introduced.

A Doomed Manchester Church

St. John the Evangelist, Miles Platting

THE Church of st. John-rhe-Evangelist, Miles Plating stands in the middle of a large slum clearance area on the east side of miles Road (A62), some one-and-a-half chester The church, of brick construction. was consecrated on Si. John's Day, December $27 \mathrm{th}, 1855$. Its fabric blended so well with the mills and warehouses adjacent to it that many a ringer has passed the church not secing it. and has cither been late for a peal attempt or arrived too late for a local branch meeting, Miles Plating derives its name from the fact that it is a traditional mile from the centre of Manchester, and that there once existed in 1715 a Plati or Plattıng bridge (made from hurdles and wickerwork) which crossed the Newton Brook, which is now closed.

The rural charms of the old village are commemorated by former Groves, now Elm, Sycamore. Fir and Poplar Streets. Other names such as Cow Lane, where cows were led to the farm, and Coal Pit Brow, where once stood a colliery yard. have long since disappeared, though they still linger in local memory. The area now consists of old terraced houses huddled together along cobbled streets, ill-lit by gas lamps, but the houses are rapidly being replaced by large blocks of flats and maisonettes.

HEYWOOD FAMILY'S INTEREST
The charms of old Miles Platting had long been forgotten when a certain Sir Benjamin Heywood became owner of a good deal of the property in the district, in payment for a bad debt. Sir Benjamin was a model landowner and he improved conditions in the district by paving, Hagging and draining. In 1852 the Manchester Diocesan Church Building Society asked Sir Benjamin for some land to build the present church on. The first stone was laid in April, 1855 , and the building cost $£ 5,000$. provided by Sir Benjamin. The style of architecture was that of Early Basilica, but owing to the impossibility of purchasing a cottage on the south side of the church it was built with only one aisle. on the north side.

The first ring of bells were by Warners, of London in 1872. and was a ling of six with a tenor of $11 \frac{1}{b}$ cwt., paid for by public subscriptions in the parish. Later that same year alterations took place to the sanctuary and chancel. and a choir vestry was formed. Also in 1872 many presents of altar furniture were given by the patron. Sir Arthur Percival Heywood, son of the late Sir Benjamin Heywood. A.P. H.. who was well-known for his principle ". Duffield," and later moved to Dutield in Derbyshire. where he was a locomotive engineer

VICAR ARRESTED

In the late 1870 s there appeared to be some controversy between the Vicar of Si. John's and some of the villagers because of his religious and political beliefs. On the night of April 1st. 1879. the church was entered by some persons who are supposed to have secreted themselves at the close of evening prayer and, after the doors were fastened, to have commenced work of spoliation, not apparently for the purpose of robbery, but for the gratification of simple spite and malice. The altar ornaments were stripped off the altar and thrown behind it, but they were not seriously damaged It was in the vestry where most of the damage was done. All the books and registers were torn up and the drapers emptied into a heap on the floor and set on fire. It had apparently been a deliberate attempt to set fire to the church. but the fire burnt itself out before any damage was done. A cross was also broken in the vestry.

A summons was eventually ussucd for the arrest of Fr. Green, the Vicar, and he was later tried before Lord Penzance and then sent to Lancaster Prison along with his two churchwardens. Whilst fir. Green was imprisoned. the Bishop nominated the Rev. Tom Taylor to the living of St. John's. At the same time. Sir A. P. Heywood complied with the wishes of the congregation and nominated Fr. Cowgill to the beneficc. but the Bishop refused Mr. Cougill's nomination because he had similar views to Fr. Green, and a lawsuit followed. After a lapse of ten months the case was heard, and was decided in favour of the Bishop. The Rev. Taylor had no easy task. Church officers resigned and the Sunday School was closed. dispersing some 450 scholars and 50 to 60 teachers.

In 1906 the church was redecorated, and remained untouched until 1934, when it was redecorated again and clectric lighting was installed. The 1906 decorators executed some beautiful graffito work, which was obscured by grime and dirt in latter years, and it was feared that chemical action might have played its part in defacing the work. Fortunately, the graffito (almost unique craftsmanship in this country) was restored to its original beauty.

THE PRESENT RING

A new ring of bells was cast in 1912 hy Messrs. John Taylor and Co.. the tenor weighing 12 cwt. 22 lb . The inscriptions on the bells are as follows:-

Treble.-"Gloria in Excelsis Deo" (Glory 10 God in the highest).
2.- In Terra Pax., (Peace on Earth).

3- "In Hominibus Bonae Voluntates" (Good Will amongst men).
4.- "Laudamus Te" (We prase thee).
5.- "Benedicimus Te e ( We bless thee)
6. - "Adoramus Te " ( We adore thee).
7.- "Glorificamus Te " (We glorify thee). thanks to thee)
In the late 1920s and 1930 s many of the narish workers moved to the suburbs of the citv. and in 1939. at the outbreak of the Second World War. the church lost practically all its Sunday School and choir through the evacuation of children. and many of the young men ioined the Forces. During the Manchesrer blitz of 1941 the church was damaged by bomb blast.
After a colourful history spanning over 100 vears, we are now told that the church is to be demolished because of subsidence from the nearbv colliery and for the widening of Oldham Road. By the time the demolition workers have removed the first pane of glass. it is hoped that the Manchester Branch (with the assistance of the. Lancashire Association) will have found a new home for the fine ring which is hung in the tower.

BATH & WELLS ASSOCIATION

The Ilchester Branch practice meeting on October 5th was held at St. Margaret's. Tintinhull, and coincided with the harvest festival week. The Vicar (the Rev. Raymond Brown) said the belfry office and welcomed the good attendance. Ringing on the good, tuneful five was under the authority of Mr. Gordon Rendell (Branch Ringing Master) and included call changes, Plain Boh. Grandsire. Siedman and All Saints' Bob

The Bells of St. Michael's, Cornlill, London-continued

The other bells bore short Latin inscriptions. The bells were first rung on Wednesday, December 4th, 1728, "on account of the arrival in town, from Holland, of H.R.H. Frederick, Prince of Wales."

First Peal by College Youths

It was not long before the first peal was scored on these bells, 5,126 Grandsire Cinques, rung in 4 hours 8 minutes by the College Youths on Friday, November 7th, 1729. Three men were required for the tenor, including the conductor. Benjamin Annable. At this time there was much rivalry, apparently friendly, between the College Youths and the London Scholars. This latter Society attempted a peal at Cornhill only three days after the first peal there, but lost it after 4,200 changes. A fortnight later, on November 24 th , they started again, and this time they rang 6,204 changes in 4 hours 45 minutes, "being the greatest Performance of this kind that ever was known" ("Norwich Gazette," December 10th, 1730). The London Scholars only had two men on the tenor, but they had two "assistants" in the tower to give a hand when and where it was needed.
On Monday, February 14th, 1732, the College Youths again secured the record for twelve-bell ringing with 7,018 Grandsire Cinques at St. Michael's in 5 hours 19 minutes, again with three men, including Annable as conductor, on the tenor.

So far as I know, it is the College Youths who have always done the ringing at Cornhill, the tower being one of those shown on the Membership Certificate; but in 1745 , when the ring of bells at St. Paul's, Bedford, was increased from five to eight, "the Common Council paid six guineas to eight men from St. Michael's, Cornhill, London, for ringing the opening peals" ("History and Art of Change Ringing," p. 249).

Peal Rivalry

In 1746, the treble and second bells were recast by Thomas Lester, who had already recast the eighth in 1740 . Presumably because of the bad "go" of the bells, no further peals are recorded as having been rung at Cornhill until January $18 \mathrm{th}, 1783$, when 5.214 Grandsire Cinques was rung by the "Junior" College Youths in 4 hours 20 minutes, "being the First. ever rung there by thirteen men only."
In 1795 the fifth and tenor bells were recast; apparently the tenor had been cracked by the practice of "clocking." But the bells were still, it seems, unpopular with peal ringers, for, apart from a peal of 5,015 Grandsire Cinques rung by the Cumberland Youths in 4 hours on April 11 th, 1837, I have no record of any peal attempt at Cornhill until 1851. At that time there was great rivalry among the leading twelve-bell bands of the country to see who could ring the longest peal of Stedman Cinques, and on January 21st, 1851, the Cumberland Youths attempted 8,184 Stedman Cinques at St. Michael's, but the peal was lost after nearly 6,000 changes. They tried again on May 5th at the same church, but after ringing 7,746 changes they were "too exhausted to finish" (J. A. Trollope).
The first peal of Maximus was rung on the bell- on Monday, April 11 th, 1853 , 5,232 Kent Treble Bob in 4 hours 7 minutes. Matthew Wood rang the tenor to this peal. The next peal here seems to have been the famous record peal of 8,580 Stedman Cinques rung on Saturday, April 27th, 1861. in 6 hours 41 minutes, "being the greatest number of changes ever rung in that method on 12 bells," as it says on the massive stone tablet on the wall of the ringing chamber. which was given by W. Middleton of Gravesend to commemorate the performance. This was also the first peal of Stedman on the bells.
The Cornhill peal remained the record length for twenty years, until it was beaten in February, 1881. by the Birmingham ringers. The College Youths at once tried to regain the honour, and in May, 1881, they started for a 10,000 at Cornhill. but the attempt failed after three hours. They tried there again in 1886, but a broken wheel quickly put an end to this attempt. In 1887 they started for a 10,030 , but the peal was lost in the last course.

Frame Lowered

In 1910 the eleventh bell was recast by Mears and Stainbank, and the whole ring was rehung in a wooden frame lower down in the tower. The original frame was left in position and can be seen to this day. As a result of this work, the bells were a lot easier to ring, and peals on them became quite frequent, the most notable being the first silent and non-conducted peal on twelve tower bells, 5.002 Stedman Cinques rung by the College Youths on February 22nd, 1913, in 3 hours 51 minutes. A board in the ringing chamber recording this peal was given by E. P. O'Meara in 1914.
In 1958 the gudgeon of the eleventh bell broke, and as a result it was decided to carry out a major restoration. The Whitechapel foundry, which had done all the work on these bells since 1588, was again entrusted with the work. The sixth, ninth, tenth and tenor were found to be cracked and were recast, care being taken to see that the recast bells blended in with the older bells so that the "character" of the whole ring should not be lost. The remaining bells were retuned, and the ring was rehung with new fittings and framework in 1960. The present tenor weighs 42 cwt. 6 lb ., and the whole ring weighs 180 cwt .3 qr .11 lb.
The bells were rededicated by the Bishop of Stepney on February 14th, 1961, and the first peal on the restored bells, 5,100 Stedman Cinques, was rung by the College Youths on April 29th, 1961, to mark the centenary of the record peal of 1861 . On February 23rd, 1963, a silent peal of 5,007 Stedman Cinques was rung here to mark the fiftieth anniversary of the 1913 silent peal. Both these last peals are recorded on boards in the ringing chamber.

OVERSEAS NEWS

RINGERS PART IN RHODESIA ENTHRONEMENT

"At the end of the service the city centre echoed with.... the ringing of the Cathedral bells." So ran the report on the front page of "The Rhodesia Herald" of the enthronement of the new Bishop of Mashonaland, the Rt. Rev. John Paul Burrough in Salisbury Cathedral on Sunday, September 29th.

Ringers came from as far afield as Que Que and Blantyre in Malawi, as it had been rumoured anroad that the ten might be up and that even a quarter peal might be attempted for the occasion. We only regretted that the Bennetts from Luanshya were unable to get down owing to troubles in Zambia.
The ringers were given places for tho service in the gallery along with the fanfare trumpeters. We are certainly not the only ones to make loud noises for the Church! The bright-coloured and costly robes of the church dignitaries made a great and seldomseen spectacle as they welcomed their new Bishop. An anthem by native singers and drummers was an interesting change from our British church music.

With some ringing before the service to remind those of us who had not seen a bell rope for some time of the intricacies of handling. fair rounds and call changes on the ten and Plain Bob Minor were managed after the service. A quarter peal was not rung but the bells were kept going for about two hours until Evensong.
Unfortunately the Que Que contingent, led by Harry Earle, had to start their 150 -mile drive home immediately after ringing, but the rest of us spent a most enjoyable evening in the Ambassador Hotel.

VETERANS' DAY, 1969

John Euston, who has carried on with distinction the organisation of Veteran Reunions at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, tells us that the function next year will be held on the Saturday nearest to the longest day, i.e. actual day, June 2lst, 1969.

Behind these functions, in arranging for the hall and catering, has been Mrs. Davis. At this year's reunion a presentation was made 10 her and there was a feeling then that this would be the last of such gatherings: The announcement took the Rector by surprise and be mentioned how much he enjoyed the gathering and looked forward to the event each year. He implored John to continue. Knowing John's interest in veterans, we feel certain the appeal was not in vain. A good sign is that John has announced a provisional date!

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

After a lapse of 15 years a quarterly meeting of the Dorchester Branch was held at Maiden Newton on October Sth. The Rector, the Rev. G. W. Allen, took the Guild service, and the Branch chairman, the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth gave an address. Mr. Squires was the organist.
A company of 28 enjoyed the excellent tea provided by the local ringers in the Village Hall. Twelve ringers from Bere Regis and Maiden Newton were elected members of the Guild. After nine years as Branch chairman the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth notified his intention not to seek re-election at the annual meeting in January.

Ringing took place at Maiden Newton under the Branch Ringing Master, Mr. E. H. Amey, and Frampton tower was also open during the evening.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER FIRST.

PEALERS TOGETHER

The peal at Bromley Parish Church (" Ringing World." page 793) may not look particularly different in print. but it was. There were two first-pealers in it. Rosemary Gates rang her first peal at first attempt, and her father, Frank Gates, rang his first peal after ringing for nearly 40 years.
The ringer of the $16 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. tenor was the ever-young Percy Spice, who is now in his 78th year and rang his bell with a great deal of skill and precision.

May I offer congratulations to the band for a fine performance.

CORRECTIONS & AMENDMENTS

Mr. Richard Speed writes that the 5,056 Surprise Major composition on page 780 is a well-known composition by Harold Cashmore and is to be found in the Wratten Collection. In the peal at Brewood on August 28th the ringer of the fifth was George L. Askew, and not as submitted. Also. the weight of the tenor is 21 cwt .2 qr .12 lb ., not 12 cwt .2 qr. 12 lb ., an error in copying from "Dove's."

BELFRY GOSSIP

Miss Elizabeth M. Barber makes a correction in the postage tor her test card books. From $21-30$ coptes the price is 15.6 fd .
Mr. George E. Fearn's peal week in the North-East was highly successful, with nine peals being scored. The peals were six Surprise Major, two Cambridge Royal and one Stedman Cinques.
The warden of Grantley Hall oftered Mr. Norman Chaddock, for the 1969 Ringing Course, either mid-August or mid-November. Will those interested inform Mr. Chaddock, Blencathra, Spring Road, Market Weighton, which date is most convenient to them.
The Ancient Society of College Youths rang the first peal of Stedman Cinques on the bells of Liverpool Cathedral on October 12th in 4 hours and 14 minutes. Ringing the 82 cwt. tenor were Wilfred Williams and Walter Allman. Tudor $\mathbf{P}$. Edwards conducted.
There is a proud footnote to the peal of Plain Bob Major at Lydd: "First peal of Major by a hand of first pealers for the Kent County Association." Practically all the band. including the conductor, Brian C. Johnson. have figured prominently in our quarter peal columns. They are all congratulated upon taking one step higher.

Regarding the peal at Wonston (page 710), Mr. R. Smith, of Sutton Scotney, writes that he had been connected with the tower since 1909, when the old five were rehung after a fire. but resigned in 1965. He felt that it was hard to believe the report was correct.

Miss Margaret Eyre. of Greasley, Nottingham, was to have rung in the peal there on October 5th. prior to taking up a college position in N.W. London. Circumstances necessitated her carlier departure, missing what would have oeen her first peal. The four first-pealers in the hand are to be congratulated on the high standard of performance. making the peal one which a more seasoned band would recall with pleasure.

Highclere ringers are pleased with recent progress. On September 22nd a quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung by an all-local Sunday service band, being a first quarter of Cambridge by all except the conductor, and on October 13th Philip Tavlor conducted his first quarter on eight bells-Bnb Major-with one visitor taking part This was the first of Major for 12 -vear-old David Goss and was rung for Harvest Festival. Hopes are entertained of attempting London Minor shortly.

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION AND RECORDED BELLS

Mr. Jonn H. Gilbert, secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, has written to "The North Somerset Mercury" regarding the decision of the Consistory Court to allow recorded bells at Christ Church, Clevedon. He writes:

The case against this was ably put by the Dean of Wells and is entirely in keeping with the policy of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association of Chiange Ringers. There is nothing so incongruous and unworthy as the sound of a ring of ten or twelve heavy bells issuing from a diminutive tower or spirelet. It is to be hoped that not more than six bells will be relayed from Christ Church. On the merits of having only one ringing bell I would remind you that the sexton of - Clochemerle, rang the single bell there with great virtuosity. It can be done!

In conclusion. may I emphasise that the fersonal views expressed by my predecessor, the Rev. R O. Fry, do not represent those of the Association. As far as I am aware, no approach was made to our advisory expert for help in this matter. although we would have been pleased to have made suggestions:

NAGDALEN COLLEGE, OXFORD

On Saturday, August 31st. Dr. T. S. R. Boase presided for the last time over the common College dinner." For the first time women attended the " dining out " of a president of Magdalen College, Oxford. Having held office since 1947, he retired on his $70 \mathrm{H}_{1}$ birthday. A colour television set was presented to him. Before the date of his retirement he was able to give permission for a peal to be attempted at the College on Siturday, September 28th, as a welcome to the uew precident.
On Monday, Sedtember 30th. the new president, Dr. James H. E. Griffiths, was installed. For the past two years he had been vice-chancellor of the University of Malaya. He flew to England and made his way to Winchester $t 0$ meet the Bishop. who is a visitor of the College. In the traditional formula the Bishop declared: . If it is necessary that I admit you. I do admit you." and with this in writing he drove to Oxford for his installation.

A quarter neal of Stedman Caters was rung immediately before the brief installation ceremony. which took place at 7.20 p.m. The company proceeded into Hall. where Dr. Griffiths presided for the lirst time. P. W:

A RINGING CIRISTMAS CARD

Ihose of our ringers who are seeking an attractive Christmas card associated with our art would do well to see the card St. Peter Mancroft. Norwich Ringers Guild, is placing on the market in aid of the Mancroft Fabric Fund.

It is a colour reproduction of Henry Ninham's 18th century water colour which is in the sacristy at Norwich and was published in Morris's "History and Art of Change Ringing." The picture shows the ringers of Norwich in the ringing chamber at Mancroft ringing in the New Year. In the centre is the ringing jug given in 1749. which holds 33 pints and is still used on festive occasions by the Mancroft Guild.

The cards (price 9s. a dozen, nost free) are ohtainable from The Chantry, Norwich, NOR 62 E .

KENT RINGER'S WEDDING FOSTER-COPPING

The uedding took place on September 14th at the Church of Si. Lukc. Bromley Common, Kent, between Michael Foster. of Cudham, and Sheila Copping. tower captain at St. Luke's.
The bride. given away by her father, wore a full-length dress in the traditional colour and was attended by three bridesmaids.

The Vicar, in his address, thanked Sheila for her very conscientious work in maintaining a band at the Common.
The fine ring of eight at St. Luke's rang out before and atter the service. the bells being rung by friends in the Bromley District.

After the reception the couple left for a honevmoon in the Channel Islands.

Many ringers, I am sure, would like to join with me in wishing Michael and Sheila all the very best in the years that lie ahead.
T. L.

FORTHCOMING PEAL ATTEMPT

An attempt will be made for Stedman Cinques by the Ancient Society of College Youths at St. Pauls Cathedral on Saturday, October 26th, at 5 p.m.

DEAN OF WORCESTER'S FAREW'LL

The departure of the Dean of Worcester to become Master of the Temple Church was marked by two quarter peals at the Cathedral. On Sunday, September 22nd, 1.299 Stedman Caters was rung on the back ten for Nave Evensong, when the Dean was preaching his last sermon. As the Dean is president of the Worcestershire Association. representatives of each of the three Branches rang in this quarter peal.
On Tuesday. September 24th, helore his last Choral Evensong a quarter of Plain Bob Doubles was rung on the 15 cwt . six by the King's School Society. As chairman of the governors, the Dean has always encouraged the School's ringing activities and allowed ringing on the bells for any special school services. and it was fitting that the band included three boys-one King's Scholar, one member of the staff and one Old Vigornian.

PEALS AT LEAMINGTON SPA

Io disprove a statement locally that there has never been a peal rung at All Saints. Church, Leamington Spa, Mr. Henry Allen has had the records checked by Canon K. W. H. Felstead. The peal book of the late William Male gives details of a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major rung there on December 26th. 1911, conducted by the Rev. C. Carew Cox, and these details were sent to Canon Felstead, who has this peal recorded.
The Canon writes: "There have been two other peals-Stedman Triples on January 25 th, 1908 , and Superlative Surprise Major on 25th, 1908 , and Superlative Surprise Major on January 16th. 1913. The former of these is marked as being the first peal ever rung in Leamington. There doesnit appear to have been a peal since 1913."

TOOK THE FIRST ISSLE (See pages 804-5)

FLRBANK, Emest (80), of Brentwood, Essex, has taken "The Ringing Horld ", since it started and, before that. "The Bell Neus." He is a life member of the Essex Association and has rung over 300 peals.

MR. FREDERICK SHARPE TO REST

Mr. Frederick Sharpe, acting on doctor's orders, is taking a complete rest for a few weeks. On September 26th he was taken poorly on the top of scaffolding on a church tower, where be was supervising a restoration.

He tells us that he has worked harder than ever this summer. He has sold his family business to a new company, of which he is a director. and the business of change-over, plus establishing new offices, meant much extra work. Also, be has done 82 tower inspection, this year.

Mr. Sharpe adds that once the transfer to a new company is completed things should be easier. We all hope that he will be speedily restored to full health. His absence, even temporarily, will be sorely missed.

ODCOMBE, SOMERSET, HAS NOW A RING OF SIX

Through the enterprise of Mr. Reg Guppy. formerly of Montacute, Odcombe has now a ring of six. An anonymous donor most kindly co-operated and he was able to acquire a redundant bell from Raddington.
This sweet-toned pre-Reformation bell, weighing 3 cwt . 14 lb .. spoke again after a long silence on September 28 th, this time in company with the pleasant 13 cwt . Odcombe five. Officials of the Bath and Wells Association were present at the trial run of this happy inauguration.
For many months Reg and his willing helpers have toiled to get this bell in place. They have fetched and overhauled it, made and obtained the necessary fittings and fixtures and cleared the bell chamber of many loads of rubbish. The ringing chamber has been cleaned and redecorated and the badly-worn lower steps have been concreted and the whole tower made spick and span for the arrival of the new bell.
This new treble will be dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Bath and Wells early in December, and Mr. Guppy is surely to be praised and thanked for all the hard work and expense which he and his friends have put into this venture.
M. M. L.

ENGLISH CONTINGENTS THANKS

In addition to the excellent report of the celebrations to mark the 80uth anniversary of the foundation of St. Mary's Cathedral. limerick, from Mr. F. E. Dukes, and the letter of thanks from Mr. Norman Harding, Mrs. O. L. Rogers has kindly sent us ia report of the proceedings. Her report concludes:
"' To the Dean and ringers of St. Mary's Cathedral and to the ringers of the Church of Mount St. Alphonsus. the English contingent offer their most cordial thanks and wish all our friends in the Irish Association "good luck and prosperity in the future.'
"A special 'thank you" to the members of the St. Mary's Cathedral choir, who entertained us with singing at the social evening on the Saturday.'

EARTHQUAKE RINGS PERTH BELLS

In " The Times" report of the earthquake in Western Australia on October 14th it was stated that the bells in St. George's Cathedral rang for seven minutes after the tremor and a large stone cross was dislodged. just missing the verger. Presumably the bells were left * up " after Sunday ringing.

Bristol University Tour, 1968

Saturday, August 24th.

East Hagbourne, Berkshire, was our meeting point. It was the locals' Flower Festival and even the ringing room was beautifully decorated On to Harwell, our numbers increasing, then tea at John and Beryl Baldwin's at Grove. Luckily it was one of those few real summer days and the vast number of adults and their children could spread on the lawn.
Evening practice at Appleton (a good-going $14 \frac{3}{6}$ cwt. ten), home of the White family, bellhangers whose work we came to appreciate in our later travels. The weather promised well for those hardy folks who were camping: the rest of us made our headquarters the Swan at Eynsham.

Sunday, August 25th.

In the morning we rang first at Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, then small groups visited other city churches.
An intriguing afternoon was spent at Home Farm, Balscott, where Mr. Jarvis kindly spared time from his harvesting to welcome us, tempted by an opportunity to meet that other light bell" man, Frank Mack. Mr. Jarvis now has ten bells (tenor just under two cwt.) hung in his farmyard wooden tower. He used cycle rims and has three interchangeable bells to permit various sixes and eights. The standard of ringing was not perfect but some of us rang Caters and the bells sounded quite fine from the too of the adjoining field
After tea by the river, to St. Helen's. Abingdon, where some good. rhythmic ringing was enjoyed before Evensong.

Monday, August 26th.

Bampion (a good eight): old tablets on the wall indicate that the rope circle used to be something like 15436 ? iT. Surr, N.B.). Huckland: a lovely old Oxfordshire village. Faringdon: more good bells, but the first of several "suicidal staircases"-the last few feet going down being just an iron ladder-in full view of the congregation. too!

A quick run up to the White Horse at Uffington (no. not the pub. this is a genuine old chalk one cut in the hillside). then to the church. with its central octagonal tower and five interesting bells. Childrey (a pleasant six): and a tethered goat in the churchyard. deputising for a lawn mower. Elizabeth Gill had invited us to tea and 32 people, including 15 children, were fed very well.

On the way back some of us "gatecrashed " on a practice at Sutton Courtenay. where we found one adult ringer valiantiv coping with a tower full of leamers. Such men deserve a medal-and help! Evening ringing at St. Aldate's, Cowley. on the delightful little six.

Tuesday, August 27th.

Charlbury, with its 300 -year-old wooden spiral staircase (were mutterings heard about a possible conversion to a helter-skelter?), then on to Deddington, where John Norris, who was driving his 1927 "Chummy" Austin Seven, met a fellow enthusiast. These were tine bells but somehow we did not really do them justice. Adderbury has another grand eight. but next time we will not try to catch in Whittingtons after a lower.

Banbury's round tower has plenty of movement, but the bells went well to Cambridge Royal. We were limited by a previously broken stay at Bloxham. following which a course of Bristol was achieved at Hook Norton. The church at Great Tew is in the park, and its clear glass east window was most eftective, with a backeloth of trees. We enjoyed these bells.
In the evening we joined other visitors and locals for a practice at Spelsbury. When Pat Bird had balanced precariously on several chairs to fit a light bulb, some useful ringing took place. Coffee and chatter afterwards with Mr. Bob Datson. captain of the ringers. and his wife, who cheerfully coped with such an unexpectedly large invasion.

Wednesday, August 28th.

Stedman Triples sounded good at Iffley, and we all enjoyed the six at Old Headington, which were tuned and rehung last year by Messrs. White of Appleton. At Kidlington we were met by Mr. Walter Judge. Here Pat Bird called "Go Stedman Triples" and tried to dodge with the tenor-but order was soon restored. These were more good hells. Full marks to John Baldwin, who planned the week, for choosing such good towers.

Of course it rained in the afternoon so our trip on the river was forgotten. Instead some went to Blenheim Palace and the rest of us browsed round Oxford bookshops.

In the evening we went un to Launton, where we rang first with Mr. Fred Sharpe's clapper silencers, then on the open bells. Mr. Sharpe told us that the entrance to the ringing room had been constructed so as to prevent the ringers taking in a barrel of beer, as had apparently been their custom. After this we retired to his "Den" and spent what will be an unforgettable evening among hells and hooks and (dare I say it?) beer. listening to Mr. Sharpe's stories and reminiscences and then ringing handbells.

The Cathedral Church of St. Peter in Exeter

The Cathedral Church of St. Peter in Exeter

GXETER is one of Britain's smaller ancient cathedrals, though its interior has been described as one of the finest in Europe; but to many ringers a visit here must be one of the great moments of a lifetime in the Exercise, for here is a ring of twelve with the second heaviest tenor in the world hung for ringing, unsurpassed in the opinion of many for nobility of tone.

There were seven bells in the Cathedral at its foundation in 1052, and many of the present ring have a continuous history going back to the 14 th century; the bells are remarkably well documented in the Cathedral archives. Perhaps the most compact way to outline their history is to give an account of each in turn.

1 and 2. "Thomas I" 6 cwt . 2qr. 16 lb . F. "Thomas II" 6-3-2 E flat. Cast by John Taylor in 1923 as "A thank-offering from an Exeter citizen."
3. "Earle" or The Little Nine O'Clock 7-0-22 D. In the $N$. tower in 1552. Recast to make a treble for a ten by Evans, 1729; cracked and recast Taylor, 1915, at the expense of Dean Earle.
4. "Byrdall" 8-3-0 C. Added to the ring 1616 by John Byrdall of Exeter to create a ring of six in $E$ flat major.
5. "John Pennington" 8-2-0 B flat. In 1552 called "the eight"; recast by John Pennington of Exeter in 1658-during the Commonwealth.
6. "Purdue" 10-1-2 A. Added to the ring by Thomas Purdue in 1676 to bring the back eight into a major scale.

Flat 6. "Pongamouth" 11-1-8 A flat. The second of the eight in 1552, then called "the major bell." Recast Thomas Pennington II in 1630. The name is probably a nickname for a slow or "widemouthed" bell.
7. "Fox," or "Mary," 18-0-4 G. Given (or more likely recast) by Bishop Fox, 1487-93. Recast William Evans, 1729, and John Taylor, 1902.
8. "Doom" 19-0-19 F. The name, at least 400 years old, may refer to the bell's having been used at executions. Probably the bell cast new by Thomas Karoun in 1372; recast Thomas Pennington III. 1689. and Thomas Purdue. 1693.
9. "Cobthorne," or "Magdalene," 28-0-4 E flat. Given by Dean Cobthorne, 15th century; recast Purdue, 1676.
10. "Oldham," or "Trinity," or "Old Nine O'Clock," $33-2-11$ D. As there was a bell called Trinity before Bishop Oldham's time (1505-19), this was probably a recast. Again recast William Evans, 1729.
11. "Stafford" 40-3-19 C. Given by Bishop Edmund Stafford (1395-1419) and recast Thomas Purdue, 1676.

Tenor. "Grandisson" 72-2-2 B flat. Given by Bishop John Grandisson (132870); recast Thomas Pennington, 1630; Thomas Purdue, 1676, William Evans, 1729, and John Taylor, 1902.
"Peter" 80 cwt. approx. A (in the North Tower). A bell of this name in existence before 1300; recast with increased weight at expense of Bishop Peter Courtenay, 1484. by Robert Russell of Exeter. Again recost 1676 by Thomas Purdue.

INTERESTING FACTS

From the brief histories here one can notice several interesting facts. First, that the eight in existence in 1552, which are named in an inventory, were not in the major scale but in the "Mixolydian mode." i.e., the front eight of a twelve, and that the first attempt to create a major ring came in 1616 but produced only a 28 cwt. six in E flat, now called the "Cobthorne Six."

Second, that this magnificent ring contains the work of six different founders of four different centuries; some of the bells (e.g., the 6 th and flat 6 th) do not sound good by themselves, but do not impair the effect of the whole ring.

Third, that Thomas Purdue in 1676 cast a total of some 13 tons of metal in one of the Canons' gardens (now about on the site of the Midland Bank in Bedford Street); that only one of his bells has needed recasting, and that three of them, "Cobthorne," "Stafford" and "Peter," are outstandingly fine bells.

William Evans was not so lucky, as only one of his bells survives, but "Oldham" is a very fine bell and does him credit.

SIXTEEN MEN FOR CALL CHANGES

The bells were hung until 1902 in a very high oak frame in which the ten needed sixteen men to ring call-changes. In 1902 Taylors installed the grand iron and steel frame for thirteen, and not long ago the back four were fitted with ballbearings. Since 1902 they have been manned by a method-ringing band from the Guild of Devonshire Ringers; they were formerly rung by a band drawn from Alphington and Kenn, and one of the cards from which the call-changes were rung has recently been given to the Guild Library.

The ringing-room, high and spacious, is reached by a dramatic walk along the leads of the Nave roof. Many notable peals have been rung on the bells, including a few with the tenor rung single-handed. Peals of Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob Major have been rung on the back eight.

In addition to ringing on Sundays and special occasions the bells are rung at 6.30 a.m. on the major festivals; nobody who has heard them shouting across the pitchdark city on a frosty Christmas morning will soon forget it .
"Peter" is hung dead and chimed with a clock-type hammer as well as being the clock-bell. Before the last century this bell was never called "Great Peter"; his weight was invariably much exaggerated (the diameter is 74 in .), but he is the oldest bell of his weight (or the biggest bell of his age) in the country. All published accounts prior to 1964 gave the inscription as wrongly copied by H. T. Ellacombe: the correct one will be found, with the rest of the inscriptions, in a booklet on the bells obtainable from the Friends of Exeter Cathedral, I, The Cloisters, Exeter, price 9d. (plus postage).

ARCHDEACONS TOLD OF VICARS WHO NEGLECT THEIR BELFRIES

EVERYONE attending this year's Kent Dinner was immediately deeply impressed by the view of Canterbury Cathedral obtained from the top of the stairs leading down to the dining hall of Eliot College. From here the College building was designed so that the Cathedral, a mile away. is framed by the huge window on the far side of the hall. On september 2lst the Cathedral was lit by a glorious sunset and stood against heavy thunder-clouds as a background-it provided a spectacle remarked upon by several speakers during the course of the evening.
The attendance was probably higher than ever before at a Kent Dinner when the company sat down to a splendid meal, which was quickly and efficiently served.

After the meal Mr. E. A. Barnct, on the occasion of his tirst official appearance as charman of the Association, proposed the loyal toast. Mr. Barnett extended a welcome to everyone in the hall, especially the two Archdeacons present.
The toast of " The Church " was proposed by Mr. A. S. Phelips, chairman of the Ashford District, who began by saying how strongly he felt about the relationship between some incumbents and ringers. His father had been Vicar of a Black Country parish with a fine ring of ten bells. A very good relationship existed there, with ringers' suppers being held at the Vicarage with plenty of beer and hand-bells-in that order. He wondered, however, if the two Archdeacons on their annual visita: tions were to ask incumbents when they last visited their belfries, how surprised and shocked they would be by the answers.

BELFRIES NOT VISITED BY CLERGY

Mr. Phelips said he could name two Vicars in the Canterbury Diocese who had not set foot upon their belfry steps for two years; and another who did not know the way to the ringing chamber even 18 months after his induction. He mentioned instances of ringers being informed of requests for wedding bells too late to raise a band-and this through no fault of the wedding party. Mr. Phelips said that surely the clergy could visit their belfries at least once a month to read a prayer; it would make a big difference to morale.

He said that the last impression he wanted to give was that he was attacking the Church, which, representing God and His teaching, was the only way this country could recover its morale and morals.
Before concluding. Mr. Phelips asked the chairman's permission to touch on a subject not included in his brief, and one that could make him unpopular with some of those present; it was that "The Ringing World" should not publish any peal or quarter peal unless accompanied by a remittance of economic value. He asked why some should publicise their successes at the expense of the paper.

Mr. Phelips concluded by hoping that all ringers might continue in their prime duty of service ringing.

TYPICALLY ENGLISH

The response was given by the Archdeacon of Canterbury, the Ven. M. J. Nott, who expressed his pleasure at being present. He has alarmed about Mr. Phelips' remarks about clergy not visiting belfries. He was sure, however, that this could only apply to the Diocece of Rochester or the Archdeaconry of Maidstone! He said he was devoted to the Church and its bells, and that in the mind of the average Englishman there was an almost mystical association between the Church and bells as something typically English.

In the 20th century, churches were partly empty, but there was something splendia and triumphant about the sound flung out to those who stopped their ears to the message; Referring to correspondence in "The Times" complaining about bells, the Archdeacon said that this arose from an unquiet consciencethe message of the bells went home. At the same time the Church of England was being denigrated trom both inside and out by people who did so without knowing what they wanted as a result of turning the Church upside down. He knew of no modern substitute for the Prayer Book.

The Archdeacon concluded by expressing his gratitude for the hospitality he had received and urged that the bells continue to carry the most important of messages to the outside world-whether people would hear it or not.

THE MAYOR'S " SPECIAL " FRIEND
The toast of "The Visitors" was proposed by Mr. A. P. S. Berry, secretary of the Ashford District. Mr. Berry first welcomed the Mayor of Canterbury (Councillor H. J. Buckwortb), who, during the war years, did duty as a special constable with one of the Kent County Association's vice-presidents-until the Mayor became sergeant and left his partner in the ranks! Mr. Berry then welcomed the Ven. M. J. Nott and the Ven. T. E. Pritchard, Archdeacon of Maidstone, who was formerly Vicar of St. Peter's, Broadstairs, and was himself a ringer who made it his business to visit the tower at least once every Sunday. Among the other visitors mentioned was Dr. Geoffrey Templeton, vice-chancellor of the University and president of the Cathedral Company of Change Ringers.

The Mayor of Canterbury replied, referring to his friend, ex-Special Constable Luck, who he believed took up ringing to assist his thirst! He said that while recently in Bruges he heard a magnificent carillon, but understood that this was not true bellringing.

The Mayor's speech was followed by a touch of Grandsire Cinques on handbells by A. J. Corby, E. A. Burnett, Mrs. P. T. Robins, T. A. Cross, E. J. Beer and W. H. Dobbic. At the conclusion Mr, Barnett quoted Dr. Johnson by saying that this had , been "the triumph of hope over experience."

The Archdeacon of Maidstone, the Ven. T. E. Pritchard, then proposed the toast of "The Kent County Association." He commented that he was a very unworthy member of the Association but ringing was still a joy and pleasure to him. He had managed to ring a peal of Grandsire on the treble, but the technical terms of ringing were for him worse than the Greek Testament.

LESS REPUTABLE

The Archdeacon said it was unfortunate that bells and ringers were often neglected by the authorities, who seemed to associate them with the lower and less reputable parts of parochial life. He said that bells were not always popular, and referred to the time when, as curate at Lambeth. he had hopes that one day the gatekeeper at the Archbishop's Palace would go to church. The gatekeeper, howwould go to church. The gatekeeper, how$6.20 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. the bells had made him so badtempered that he refused to go to church.
He went on to say that it was unusual for two Archdeacons to occupy the same pulpit on the same day. but their texts would undoubtedly be the same-the Church of England and their belfries-all power to them. He wished that congregations would show more intelligence about ringers, but he partly blamed the ringers for this. They often tucked themselves awav in their own corner, so many regular worshippers' knew nothing of ringing. They should throw open a welcome to the belfy more freely,

The Archdeacon gave a special welcome to Mrs. Mitchell, who, he belleved. was nearly as old as the Association. (This was later corrected by the general secretary, who said that Mrs. Mitchell was 95 years old and the Association a mere 88 !)

He concluded by saying it was splendid to see so many young people in the belfries. Bellringing was a great art and the K.C.A. a great Assoctation, and the hoped it would go from strength to strength.

EIGHT FIRST-PEALERS IN PEAL

Mr. P. A. Corby, the hon. general secretary of the Association, replied and mentioned the peal of Bob Major rung at Lydd earlier that day, in which all eight ringers were ringing their first peal-an extremely rare event. The dinner arrangements had been carried out by Dr. Niblett, assisted by Mr. Bert Luck. Aill credit for this occasion was due entirely to credit for this occasion was due entirely to these two.

Regarding complaints about bells. Mr. Corby said that in some cases they were justified and that towers concerned should try to remedy this by sound control. He remarked that this year the Masters of both the College Youths and the Cumberlands were resident members of the K.C.A. As this was his last year as general secretary he took the opportunity of thanking everyone for their support and help during his term of office.
The chairman concluded the formal part of the evening by adding his own congratulations to the peal band and echoed the gratitude of everyone in thanking those responsible for arranging the dinner, including the vice-chancellor, Dr. Templeman, for the use of the College.
Although the hour was already late, many people stayed behind still longer to meet friends socially. Everyone agreed that once again the K.C.A. dinner had been a most successful and enjoyable occasion.

BELLS WITH A, CHALLENGE

Situated some five miles from Daventry is the picturesque Northants village of Everdon. The square stone tower possesses a heavy ring of five with a tenor of 47 ins ., given in Dove's as 18 cwt .

These bells, which have been unringable since 1930 , were recently got going again by a band from London and had only been rung twice before October 6th when, for Harvest Festival Evensong, Mr. Richard Jones, of London, brought a band to attempt a quarter peal of Plain Bob Doubles.
Great difficulty was found with all the bells, which tend to drop unexpectedly, the second being a real handful. Nevertheless, to the delight of the Vicar and Mr. Jones, the quarter was successfully brought round by $G$. Dalton 1, P. Taylor 2, R. Crocker 3, L. W'ay 4, G. K. Dadd (cond.) 5.

All five bells are by Hugh Watts II of Leicester. Treble, 2nd and 4th 1625; 3rd 1626 ; tenor 1635 . The tenor is inscribed in Lombardic capitals:
"My sounding is each one to call.
To serve the Lord both grete and smal."
The oak frame is circa 1625 , with the treble hung over the others. All swing north to south.

The bells were refitted, quarter-turned and rehung circa 1860 by White of Appleton.
There was an active call change band in the 1920 's, as two certiticates on the wall prove. The bells ceased to be rung in 1930 and were classified as unringable in 1938.

To any visiting band the bells present a real challenge and to rine to changes a great deal of hard work is required. No doubt until rehung this will be the first and last

OBITUARY

MR. W. A. (BILL) AVERY
After a lengthy illness the death of Mr. W. A. Avery took place at Sambourne Hospital, Werminster, on October 14th. A member of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, he was tower captain at SS. Peter and Paul's. Longbridge Deverill, for about 30 years.
Mr. Avery taught a new band there after the war and was responsible for the augmentation from six to eight bells in 1949. At this time he was an instructor of change ringing for the Salisbury Guild and did good work in the Warminster area. He often rang with the Warminster Minster band.
A half-mufled quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by local and Minster ringers on the eve of his funeral.

MR. R. THOMAS NEWMAN

With deep regret wo record the death of Mr. R. Thomas Newman, who passed away peacefully on September 14th in Beckeahum Hospital, Kent, in his 6lst year.
To say Mr. Newman was a popular man would be untrue. He never professed to be a well-liked man, but to all who knew him he had earned the respect of being an honest individual. If be thought you were going to be a bad ringer he would tell you, and if he thought the opposite he would be the first to help you in his own way. His memory will be with me for a long time.
Mr. Newman was a good ringer. a good Christian and a good servant to the Exercise. My sympathies at this time go to Mrs. Newman and her daughter, Cecilia.
T. L.

MR. W. SIMPSON

Deeply regretted in a wide area is the sudden death on October 9 h of Mr. William Simpson, who had been a ringer and chorister at Sawley, Derbyshire, for over 60 years and was Ringing Master for a long period.
The Sunday previous to his death "Bill" and his wife rang in a first for the Sawley band of a quarter peal of Erin Triples, and the following day at practice he rang in the first course of Cambridge Surprise Major by the local band.
A memorial service was held at Sawley on October 13th and prior to the service a quarter peal was rung with the bells half-muffled.

SWINTON, LANCS,-On Oct, 2nd, 1,320 Doubles (two methods): G. Prischard 1, I, Eepleton 2, N. T. E. Burnelt 3. D. Makin-Taylor 4, R. K. Lituer (cond.) 5, G. Wells 6. For 9ph avaiveriary of the church.

CHESTER GUILD DINNER  Outstanding Peals Recalled

T ${ }^{\text {не }}$annual dinner and dance of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at the Coach and Horses Inn, Moreton, Wirral. The attendance of about 100 was 50 down on last year, partly due to the distance and time of travelling required from some parts of the county and partly because the Chester Branch decided to hold a meeting that day! The start of the dinner was delayed by about half an hour because those travelling from the north-east of the couniy had clutch trouble wth the coach. A turkey dinner befitting the occasion was enjoyed by all.
The toast of "The Chester Diocesan Guild " was proposed by the Archdeacon of Chester He confessed that he was not a ringer and had never had a church which contained a complete ring of bells until he came to the Cathedral and the bells there were unringable at present-but not for long, he hoped I He thanked ringers for their service to the Church and emphasised the privileged position that all ringers had when they rang church bells which reach the ears of people outside the church on both joyful and sad occasions.
In his reply to the toast of "The Guild " the Master, Mr. Alex Martin, said that although 1967 had not been a record year for performances ( 174 peals compared with 183), members of the Guild had taken part in some outstanding performances. He drew particular attention to the peal of 40 Spliced Surprise Maximus rung at Liverpool Cathedral earlier this year; having taken part in the first peal of Cambridge on the bells he could fully ap preciate the performance.

His main aim, he said, was to see that all the bells in the diocese were rung for services: while the standard of striking was important. the first aim should be a sufficient number of ringers.

Each of the two speeches was followed by handbell ringing-the Atchdeacon's by a course of Plain Bob Royal rung by $F$. Osbaldiston $1-2$, C. K. Lewis $3-4, ~ R$. Peters $5-6$, D. Lane 7-8, F. L. Coventry $9-10$, and Mr. Martin's by a touch of Spliced Surprise Major rune by N. Bennett 1-2, B. F. L. Groves 3-4, R. B Smith 5-6, G. Moorhouse 7-8.
Dancing followed until 11.45 p.m., all tastes being catered for. Our thanks are due to Mr. Martin and members of the Wirral Branch for first-class arrangements, which led to an enjoyable time being had by all present.

Next year's dinner and dance will be held at the Mollington Banastre Hotel, Chester, on the second Saturday in October (as usual).
R.B.S.

OUNDLE RINGERS' DAY ON COTSWOLDS

Members of the Oundle Branch spent an enjoyable day on the Cotswolds on September 21st, ringing at Chipping Norton, Moreton-in-the-Marsh, Stow-on-the-Wold and Bourton-on the-Water.
Due to a striking competition being held at Great Barrington, last-minute alterations were necessary and we went to Windrush (an anticlockwise six). The ringing consisted of rounds, Plain Bob Minor, Stedman and a pleasing course of Oxford, when the ringer of the fourth remembered when he went into the slow.
After tea at Witney we went on to Han. borouch, where the bells had a pecullar tone and sounded half-mufled. At Combe, after touch of Plain Bob Minor, the stay of the second broke. The finest ring of the day was at Kirllington, where, after three attempts, a touch of Grandsire Triples wes rung.
Thank: are due to Mr . Hinton, the organiser, who took over the ringing for the day. Mr. Alec Haid, the iocumbents and caach driver

The Grandsire of the Arscotts Honoured

Family peals and quarter peals honoured the golden wedding on October sth of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Arscott, of Paradise Cottage, Tivington, Minehead, Somerset.
Mr. Arscott learned to ring some 60 years ago at Chipstable, Somerset. Now 74 years of age, he does not make a regular attendance for ringing, but he was able to join in a quarter peal of Plain Bob Doubles at his home tower (Selworthy) on his golden wedding day. Mrs. Arscott has for years been organist at the chapel of ease to Selworthy Parish Church, and both enjoy reasonably good health.

On October 5th they were taken around the countryside to listen to the ringing in honour of their happy anniversary. Later there was a "wonderful spread " at the Wayside Café, Porlock, prepared by their daughter-in-law. Many relatives and friends attended, and then followed an entertainment of tune and change-ringing on hand bells and singing.

The next day Mr. and Mrs. Arscott were taken to St. Martin's Church, West Coker, where they were married, und they were able to listen to a quarter peal of Plain Bob Major being rung on the bells. And so concluded a happy celebration.

THIRD TIME LUCKY FOR WINCHESTER CATHEDRAL

The 22nd annual outing of the East Grinstead and District Guild was held on October 12th, the main attraction being Winchester Cathedral. This venue had been voted for on two previous occasions, but each time the bells had been booked, so after last year's outing negotiations were started. Despite letters at regular intervals, no definite reply had been received by the end of August, so an alternative route was started off. This was just getting under way nicely when, with four weeks to go, the Dean of Winchester said - Yes."

Towers were rearranged or cancelled and a letter sent off to arrange tea. As no reply had been received two weeks later the telephone had to be used. This infernal machine, after gobbling up sundry shillings and sixpences, told us that the café could not cater for 40 people, and that no other place in Fareham could do so. So it was "get your own tea."

In pouring rain we set out and all was well until we found the approach to Hawkley tower blocked by a ditched furniture van, necessitating a detour. At Winchester several of the party had their first ring on 12 bells and most of the party their fint experience of pot-holing, as that is what the top part of the stairs was like. Our Andrew's day was made when he was allowed to ring the tenor.

By then the sun was shining and Twyford tower could be seen but not reached. In the end the coach parked on a housing estate and we walked across the fields.
At Farenam we enjoyed the light ien and were all able to get good meal in the only cafe open near the church. The day ended at Wulberton, where, after ringing, we walked to the "local," where we were made very welcome.

And so what looked like being a fiasco turned out to be a very enjoyable day. There are all sorts of luck, I suppose.

DICK'S TOUR

A group of Petersfield ringers and friends turned their attention westward to the Somerset, Wiltshire and Dorset borders recently. On two previous occasions a tour to this area has been reported in these columns as "Wilf's Tour." These tours came to an end when Wilf Davison, the organiser, left the district. The new event has been named "Dick's Tour" by popular consent, having been organised by Dick Cross, who recently came to Petersfield from the Gillingham area.

The rowers chosen were at Milborne Port, Charlton Horethorne (the organiser's birthplace, where an attempt for a quarter of Stedman Triples failed after 30 minutes good ringing), Wincanton (the best ringing of the tour), Mere and Gillingham. The ringing at Gillingham was disappointing, the fine bells being a bit too much for the band at the end of the day.

A tired but well-satisfied band thank their organiser for this his first attempt at planning such a tour.

Letters

INSURANCE OF JUVENILES
Dear Sir, 11 was interested in the letter by Messrs. White and O'Reilly in the matter of the insurance of ringers, as their problem is mine also. A short time ago it was my unpleasant duty to tell two ten-year-olus to come back in two years' time and, goodness knows, I could have done with them. Our insurance cover is for people of 12 and upwards and I would have thought this is fairly general over the country.
I am amazed to read in *The Ringing World" of up-and-coming youngsters who have rung a peal at ten years of age and suchlike. A ringing friend said he would be glad of ten-year olds and would take a chance. I think this is very foolish indeed and might be regretted one day. You never know!
There seems to be no alternative and. after all, perhaps 12 years of age is early enough physically.-Yours faithfully,
R. F. BAKER.

Brampton, Huntingdon.

CRITICAL EXAMINATION

Dear Sir,-In the issue of October 18th we have reported yet another of those annual peal tours. From this particular peal tour, some facts:-

1. The actual account of the peal tour filled the best part of a whole page.
2. The account of the peals took a whole page.
3. it uas donated towards the production costs of "The Ringing World" (according to the "Gratefully Acknowledged" column).
4. 16 peals were rung.
5. 136 ringers' names appear in the 16 peals.
6. Relating the number of ringers' names to the amount of the donation, an average sum of $113 / 17$ th pence per rope per peal was donated.-Yours faithfully, Taunton.
KEITH E. BEALE.
Dear Sir,- - waited struck by M. W.'s cool reference to his and his band's late arrival in Harrogate and their consequent inability to ring, but even more by the absence of any recognition that a Harrogate ringer had been much inconvenienced by the affair. We in Harrogate have received no explanation or excuse from M. W.. Ron and the rest of them. Apparently they think a casual note in "The Ringing World " is good enough.Yours faithfully,
C. 1. P. ROBERTS.

OLDEST MAN TO RING A PEAL

Dear Sir,-Mr. G. E. Symonds is described (on page 804) as "the oldest man to ring a peal." 1 believe the late James George rang a peal of Grandsire Triples "in hand" on his 95th birthday.-Yours truly, Gillingham, Dorset.
H. JIM RALPH.

Note.-Reader Ralph is quite correct. Mr. G. E. Symonds is the oldest man living to ring a peal.-Ed.

The Rev. Geoffery Strickland. curate of Holy Trinity, Aberavon, whose address is Holy Trinity Vicarage, Sandfields, Port Talbor, writes asking for a redundant bell of good tone in the 1 cwt. -2 cwt. range which a parish is prepared to sell cheaply. He is willing to arrange for the lowering and transport of the bell. which is required for a new church costing £40,000.

A Review of Four-Bell Towers in the Administrative County of Kent

By DAVID L. CAWLEY

Adisham (The Holy Innocents). - Central tower. Front three by Thomas Palmar I. 1670, tenor 35 in. diameter, $7 \frac{3}{3}$ cwr. Frame, gear and bells all raken down 1957, and renvo alone rehung "dead" by Mears; a good bell by John Walgrave, c. 1425 . Other three on floor.

Addington, near Wrotham.-The writer has not seen these bells: I M. Bagley 1710. 2. 3 and 4 by John Wilnar 1635, 1620 (dated erroneously 1602), and undated respectively. He has heard differing reports both on their state and their future

Alkham (St. Anthony Martyr)-1, 2 and 4 John Hodson 1683,3 Mears 1873 . Large west tower. Rehung in 1873 frame 1959 by Mears. Go well. Local band. Tenor $34 \frac{1}{2}$ in. diameter, $7 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.
Bicknor (St. James').-West rower and spire. Steel bells, 1862, all by Naylor Vickers. Tenor $20 \frac{1}{3}$ in. diameter, $1 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. Very small steel wheels, no stays or sliders and obviously not intended for full-circle ringing. Made for 1862 Exhibirion in London.

Bishopsbourne (St. Mary's). - Huge west tower. 1 Christopher Hodson 1685, 2, 3 and tenor ( 34 in., $6 \frac{3}{3}$ cwt.) Joseph Hatch 1618. State of frame and fittings dreadful: "clocked" for years, sound awful and quite unringable.

Canterbury (St. Peter's).-The old three-1. Thomas Palmar 1637; 2. Wm Wodewarde c. 1430, 3 ( $35 \frac{1}{2}$ in., 8 cwt . in A) Wm le Belvetere c. 1325 -are currenty being augmented by the addition of the former treble of St. Margaret's (S. B. Goslin, 1905) to form a fuxed chime of four in the old frame, this being done by the Whitechapel Bell Foundry Lid.

Davington (Priory Church of St. Mary Magdalene and St. Lawrence). S.W. lower, survivor of two, and spirelet. Three bells, fenor 2-0-12 in $F$ in iron frame, by Taylor, 1856; light weight and curious roping make them unringable at present; the smallest bell, dated 1774, is more properly a sanctus, and is only hung for chiming, separately from the other three.
East Langdon (St. Mary's).-Modern western tower with four bells in modern rolled steel frame. Not closely inspected, but probably 1. 2 and 3 Joseph Hatch 1627, tenor ( 32 in.. $5 \frac{3}{3}$ cwt.) Robert Catlin 1749: all rehung by Bowell. Go well, but ringing space very cramped. No ringers.

Fordwich (St. Mary's) - Slender western tower and spire. Bells all by Joseph Hatch; 2 1624. other three 1633; tenor $33 \frac{3}{3}$ in., $6+$ cut. Pre-Reformation frame, fittings quite modern, but bells now unringable. Ropes fall diagonally across ringing gallery Unfortunately now clocked."
Grain (St. James").-Modern squat western tower built at the cost of King Edward VII in 1902. The writer has not seen the bells but is informed that they are ringable hut have no ropes. Tenor reputed $4 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$ : : believed to be by Mears, 1902. Formerly one 18 th century bell, $19 \frac{1}{2}$ in.
Gravesend (Seamen's Chapel). -Four very small Victorian bells probably by Mears or Warner, given by the widow of Sir John FrankWarner, given by the widow of Sir John Franklin. Hung "dead" in three arches of a bell gable, and "clocked". Tenor about 2 cwt.

Harbledown (St. Nicholas").-Two churches on either side of the road. St. Michael's, of little interest, has three bells rehung in 1962 tor swing-chiming. St. Nicholas', of great interest, now the chapel of the almshouses, themselves the successors of a hospital of immediate post-Conquest date, has a light four ( $31 \frac{1}{2}$ in., $5 \frac{t}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$. in C), 1, 2 and 4 by Joseph Hatch, second a 15th century London production. Tone very fair, but bells virtually unringable. The writer, having sampled them, would not recommend others to try it.

Ickham (St. John's).-Tall western tower and spire, with four bells of which the third is very nearly split in two. All by John Palmar. 1641. Fittings repaired about 1800 and ohviously never touched since-the wheels are old half-wheels converted. Bells "clocked" by an active team of youngsters. It was proposed to rehang the three sound bells "dead " and put the cracked bell in the church until it could be recast: this seems to be making little progress. Tenor 36 in., 8 cwt.

Newnham (SS. Peter and Paul's). - N.W. tower and spire with double-tier frame (1867). 1 and 2 are uninscribed but possibly 15 th century London bells, 3 Pack and Chapman 1772, tenor ( $33 \frac{1}{2}$ in., $6 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. in B) by John Kebyll, London, c. 1480 . Bells rather rough, but rung occasionally.
Sevington (St. Mary's).-W. lower with lofty spire. Formerly a complete 1630 ring by Joseph Hatch, treble recast by Mears 1885; reluing again by Mears with new swing-chiming fittings in the old frame, 1959. Tenor 37 in., $8 \frac{1}{2}$ cwr. in $A$.

Staple (St. James').-West tower with a onehanded clock, recently restored. 1 and 2 John Hodson 1680,3 Richard Hille c. 1430 , tenar ( 41 in., $11 \frac{1}{5}$ cwt.) Joseph Hatch 1623. Clock hammer fouls second, which has a chunk out of it, and tenor appears not to have a clear swing. Not rung for years, appear unringable, and usually "clocked." Tone only fair.
Waltham (St. Bartholomew's).-Oblong central tower of unsymmetrical shape. All four bells by Joseph Hatch, 3rd being probably his earliest production, as it bears his father's foundry mark instead of his usual three-bell medallion. and is dated 1602 . Others 1631. Tenor 37 in ., $8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. in A. Usually chimed, but ringing is carried out by the excellent band from the united benefice of Petham ( 0 ) on festivals.
Westwell (St. Mary's).-This most glorious church with jts superb chancel has a small west tower containing the heaviest four in the county. The frame, which rises nearly into the spire, is supported on a splendid trusswork set off only 11 feet from the ground. It is hoped that if restoration is carried out this trusswork and the outer members of the frame will be preserved independently of the new one. 1 by John Wilnar 1630,2 and 3 (the latter cracked and unused) Joseph Hatch 1609 and 1616, tenor ( $421 / 16 \mathrm{rh}$ in., 121 cwt . in F sharp). a roughly cast but splendid toned bell by William Oldfeild of Canterbury. The latter bell. c. 1540 , has a curious device on its upper waist, qv. "The Church Bells of Kent." Bells unringable, but fairly clean in tower. Swing-chiming is at present used on three bells.

HARSTON, CAMRS.-On Oct. 13th. 1.260 Plain Bob Minor: Nancy R. Threlfall (first quarter) 1. Frances A. Threlfall 2, O. Peamon 3, R. H. Youdale 4. R. L. Underwood 5. B. D. Threlfall (comd.) 6. For Harvest Festival.

NORWICH ASSOCIATION'S STRIKING COMPETITION

Fourteen bands from the Norwich Diocesan Association subjected their ringing to the critical ear of Mr. Howard Egglestone on the occasion of the annual striling competition held at Bunwell on October 19th. The bells proved ideal for such a competition, being so easy to handle that even the most inexperienced were caused no difficulty on that score, yet sufficiently odd-struck to ensure that even the most experienced dared not relax too readily.

The frst ringing of the afternoon was provided by the five call change bands. Standards varied somewhat. with first and last teams being separated by a margin of 183 fauls. The teams were placed in the order: Drayton, Wymondham, Mattishall, Reepham and Wroxham. It was particularly pleasing that the band from the newest tower in the diocese should distinguish itself by being placed tirst in this section. Four of the five teams were composed mainly of young ringers gaining their first experience of competition ringing. Wroxham and Reepham did extremely well to enter bands for both call change and method ringing, indicating great enthusiasm at both towers.

Nine teams presented themselves for the method ringing. and all attempted to ring 240 changes of Minor. Eight touches were successfully brought round, whilst a miscall in the ninth led to a touch shorter than the prescribed length. All teams chose Plain Bob except two-Mancroft " $\mathbf{A}$ " and King's Lynn, both of whom rang Cambridge. The self-confidence of these bands was rewarded with first and second place respectively, and as both test pleces were completed without mistakes there was little to choose between them. Close behind King's Lynn followed Diss with an excellent piece of Plain Bob. St. Giles', Norwich, were placed fourth, being unfortunate to mar their thoroughly competent striking with three missed dodges. The other bands followed in the order Dereham. South Norfolk. Wroxham and Reepham.
The criticism and comment of Howard Egglestone was scrupulously tair and very much to the point, and we are indebted to him for devoting so much time and attention to us. After seeing him do the job so well this year he can hardly expect us to pass him over when we look for a judge next year! After the judging the Henley handbell ringers held the attention of all present with a polished performance of tune ringing.
Thanks are due to Peter Adcock, Association Ringing Master, for arousing so much enthusiasm. and to Messrs. Phillippo and Arnold for their excellent local arrangements
D. E. H.

CRAWFORD CUP CONTEST

Six teams had qualified for the final of the Crawford Cup contest held at St. Maryis, Orston, on September 14th. The judges were Messrs. R. Cooke and J. Poyner and they were both greatly impressed by the standard of ringing achieved.

Placings: Wollaton 87 faults, Shelford 97, Whatton $99 \frac{1}{2}$, East Retford 1121, Balderton 1411, Warsop rang out

A service was conducted by the Rcv. G. F. Blackmore after the contest ringing and, later. over 60 ringers, enjoyed tea in the Village Hall. A collection for the Bell Repair Fund rcalised $£ 54 \mathrm{~s}$. Ringing continued in the evening at Orston, Whatton and Sibthorpe.

DAVID GALBRAITH
The Irish Assuciation.
It is very pleasing to note that the Irish Association is today strongly represented by a large number of youngsters, and has at last taken its place in this series. The Exercise must surely be grateful to many of the older members of the Association for the amount of time they are giving to the teaching of youngsters. For instance, twice every week during the luncn break some eight or nine boys will be seen funning across the road from the Grammar School in Dublin to St. Patrick's Cathedral for a practice on the bells, which are silenced, under the watchful cye of Chaslie Reede.

Youngsters - No. 40

A number of youngsters took part in the ringing at Limerick a short time ago for the 800th anniversary of St. Mary's Cathedral, one of whom was David Galbraith.
David Was born in Limerick on December 18th, 1952. He started his schooling at St. Michael's National School, Limerick, and then went to Villiers Secondary School, where he has recently gained his intermediate certificate with honours. At the present time he is at Welsey College, Dublin, studying for the leaving certificate.

David started ringing lessons at St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick, when he was 13, and was taught by the tower captain. Mr. Harry Ellis, and also his father, Mr. Cyril Galbraith. Two years later, on September 10th, 1967, he tang ihe treble 10 a quarter peal of Bob Triples. This was his first, and was conducted by Mr. Fred Dukes.

Since then Davd has gone a step or two further, for on April 29th and May 6th this year he conducted quarter peals of Plain Bob Doubles and Grandsire Doubles. On each occasion he rang the third.
It is hoped that in the near future he will have an opportunity to ring his first peal, and this might well be Stedman Triples, as he has already mastered the method in Doubles.

A short time ago David, with mother, father and two brothers (all ringers), together uith another brother and two sisters, left Limerick to live in Dublin. This was a tremendous loss to St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick, but is great gain to Dublin.
Good luck, David! and may your enthusiasm and loyalty be an example to all the ringing youngsters in your beautiful freland.

NORVING.

GULLD OF  DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Tamerton Foliot, Plymouth, was the venue for the autumn quarterly meeting of the SouthWest Branch on October 5th. About 30 members took part in ringing standard methods and a touch of Cambridge Minor before the service in this ancient parish church.

The business meeting followed tea in Emmanuel Church Hall. The change in date, to November 16th. of the Branch social was announced. This event, which is becoming an annual function, is to be held this year at Harewood House, Plympton.

The year 1969 sees the 50 th annwersary of the foundation of the Branch on November 8th. It was proposed that the Branch should celebrate this by holding the autumn meeting next year on the same date-happily a Situr-day-at the same church-Petertavy-visited at the inaugural meeting. The annual social, arranged for that date, would be a fitting conclusion to the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Mallett, who have recently moved to Plymouth from Excter, and Peter Bilt, from worcestershire, were welcomed as new members of the Branch. Mr. Aubrey Bennett, a vice-president of the Guild, presented a Guild certificate to Roy Divies. of St. Andrew's band.
A suggestion that Branch practices should be held in specific methods provoked little enthusiasm in view of the fact. as the chairman pointed out. that some tower practices are not Hell supported. This should be a matter of priority.

A YORKSHIRE OUTING

Arranged by Kevin M. Price, a party of ringers from the Lake District enjoyed a tour of eight lowers in Yorkshire on October 19th. A prompt start was made at Sedbergh (8, $15 \frac{1}{2}$ cut.) at 9 a.m., where we were joined by some of the local schoolboy ringers, betore going on to Asbrigg (6. $10 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.). Here the bells have just started 10 be rung again after many years' silence, and consequently ringing was rather hard work.
At List Witton (6. 7 cwi.) some good touches were rung on the lovely bells. The last stop before lunch wats at West Tanfield ( $6,10 \mathrm{cwt}$. ) and ringing was poor due to loose headstock: and the lifth rope continually jumping the wheel, but the Rector informed us that he wat hoping to get his hells put in order soon.
Kniresborough (8. $18 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) provided the hest bell, of the day, Grandsire Triples and Bub Major coming round quite well. Otley (8, $16 \frac{1}{2}$ cwl.) was next. and we were impressed by the tidy ringing chamber although the "go of the tenor was not very good. We blamed the poor ringing here on the fact that we were not used to "Yorkshire tail-ends." The excellent ring at Ilkley ( $8,18 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) followed. Double Court going quite well on the back six. Here we were joined by Stephen Walker, of Giggleswick, who accompanied us to the last lower of the day, at Kildwick (8, 151 cwt.). where Kent Major. Grandsire Triples and Little Bob Major were rung, finishing at 8.15 p.m.

We extend our grateful thanks for the very enjoyable day to incumbents and tower captains and to all who drove us. ANON.

REVIEW

TINTINNALOGIA 1668 - By a Lover of that Art

$\mathbf{A}^{\top}$T the Ceneral Council meeting held in Cardiff in 1962, the late Mr. Edwin H. Lewis presented to the Council Library four books from his own collection. One of these was a first edition copy of "Tintinnalogia", written by Richard Duckworth and published by Fabian Stedman in the year 1668,300 years ago. Only three copies of this edition are known to exist. One is in the Cambridge University Library, one in the British Museum and the third now rests in the Council Library as its most priceless possession.
The quarter century before 1668 had been a troubled time for England. The quarrel between Charles I and his Parliament brought the ravages of civil war from 1642 to 1645 and the execution of the King in 1649 The austere rule of the Puritans brought little comfort. and the relief supplied by the restoration of the monarchy was marred by excess of liberty and licence. The reign of terror of the Great Plague of 1665 was swallowed up in the horror of the fire that swept London in the following year.
Through these distressing times change-ringing somehow survived. What activity there was we do not rightly know, but the records of the Ancient Society of College Youths show us the unbroken list of Masters through all the years from 1640 to 1668 . At the Restoration there must have been greatly increased facilities for the practice of the art of ringing and greater interest in the expansion of its possibilities. It was indeed a period of reawakening; it saw the new architecture of Wren, the lively drama of Wycherley and Congreve. the music Pelham Humfrey brought from France. and the supreme artistry of Henry Purcell. We may well see "Tintinnalogia" as another product of this great wave of reactionary enthusiasm

SEARCH FOR AUTHOR

The title page of the book tells us that it was printed for Fabian Stedman at his shop in St. Dunstans Churchyard in Fleetstreet, 1668. but it also states that it was written by a "Lover of that ART" For many years, indeed up till less than 30 years ago, it was generally assumed that Stedman was the author of this. the first text book on ringing of which we have any knowledge. But evidence has long been available. though not clearly in view, to show that the writer was Richard Duckworth. an Oxford graduate who took Holy Orders and became Rector of Hartest in Suffolk, Tolland in Somerset, and Steeple Aston in Oxfordshire. At the latter church, we are reminded by Mr. Frederick Sharpe, there is a memorial to Duckworth in the chancel.
It was the patient research of that great human encyclopadia of change-ringing, Jabez Armiger Trollope, that brought a flood of light on the authorship of "Tintinnalogia", and the evidence he offers is astonishing in its breadth and convincing in its authority Trollope quotes J. T. Smith's "Life of Noliekins' Anthony Wood's "Athene Oxonienses" in which Wood states clearly that Duckworth wrote the book, and Thomas Hearne, the Oxford diarist, who repeats the assertion. In addition Trollope succeeded in tracing the carcer of Richard Duckworth and his probable connection with Fabian Stedman: to round off the matter he compares the style of writing in "Tintinnalogia" with that of "Campanologia" (1677), which was undoubledly the work of Stedman. One is urged to the conclusion that the two different literary styles indicate two different writers. A consideration of all the circumstances confirms Trollope's view that Stedman provided much of the technical material but that the planning and writing of the book were the work of Duckworth.
"Tintinnalogia" is not. in fact. the first known literature of change-ringing. Mr. Ernest Morris tells us that the Rawlinson MSS. in the Bodleian Library contain an essay by a certain Peter Munday. who ahout the year 1652 attempted to enlighten his readers in the matter of the ringing of changes and gave some quaint examples of the possibilities of permutation. Some scribbles showing Plain Changes are found on a doorpost at Buxhall Church. near Bury St. Edmunds. and the inscribing of some 4 -bell changes appear in the ringing chamber at Moulton in Northamptonshire. Both of these inscriptions are much older than the time of Duckworth. But not until 1668 is there any evidence of an attempt to systematise what was known of the art and to provide a reasoned statement of the principles on which changes were constructed and rung

"MOST INGENIOUS PEAL"

"Tintinnalogia" on its title page claims to present "plain and easie Rules for Ringing all sorts of Plain Changes. Iogether with Directions for Pricking and Ringing all Cross Peals: with a full disenverv of the Mysterv and Grounds of each Peal." It certainly fulfils its promise. The first half of the work inquires into the ways in which changes are constructed and the basic principles of the Plain Changes. It then proceeds to the Cross Peals (as they were then called) and here we find, among other things, Old Doubles (what we now know as Plain Bob Doubles), Reading Doubles, New Doubles and what Duckworth calls "the best and most ingenious Peal that ever was composed". Grandsire. Here, too, we shall find Plain Bob Minor, known then as Grandsire Bob, and the instructions for producing and ringing the extent.
The halfway Single prescribed has some interest, for it is made by the lying still of the bells in 1-2 and 5-6; the fact that this reverses the tenors for the second half does not appear to cause any concern. It is worthy of note. however, that the whole 720 might, in some towers or with some bands, be considered 100 much to attempt. So we are told: "Sometimes it happens that one or more of those persons who do ring this Peal may be weary before they have Rang Eighteen-score changes, therefore upon notice being given, the single chango may be forborn, and then the beils will in course come round at the end of Eighteenscore changes, making a complete peal." It was perhaps a kindly thought in days when bells must have gone far more heavilv than they do today!
We may note, also with interest today, the following: "There are 40,320 several changes on 8 bells. which to ring it is altogether impossible.' The greatest length rung up to Duckworth's time seems to have been 1.680 , but it is suggested that the finest musical treat on eight bells was to ring Grandsire Bob on 12357 and let 48 lie behind. One can certainly see its possibilities even if its limitations are considered prohibitive
"Tintinnalogia". is a remarkable book. Its analysis of the principles governing the changeringing of its time is as masterly as Heywood's treatise on Stedman Triples. and its instructions for practical ringing are as detailed and rewarding as Snowdon's valuable work. Three hundred years have passed since Duckworth wrote. and in those centuries there has been forged an immense chain of text books for our use and pleasure. "Tintinnalogia" set the nattern for many: it is right that we should honour it at this time. and in honouring it pay tribute to the many scholars. historians. mathematicians and teachers who by their great labours have given us such a noble heritage of ringing literature

RINGERS' WEDDINGS

BALL-KEMP

After a very wet morning the sun made a very welcome appearance for the wedding on October 12th, at East Dereham Parish Church, of Rosemary, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Kemp, of Dereham, and John, only son of Mrs. and the late Mr. Victor G. Ball, of Wickham. Hants.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Elizabeth Kemp (sister), who had fown in from Calgary. Canada, the previous day, and Sally and Melanic Hunt (nieces of the bridegroom)
Ringing both before and after the ceremony was kindly arranged by the local captain. Mr. George Adams.

LOCK-ROWE

The marriage between Mr. Martin Frank Lock, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lock. of North Mymms. Herts, and Miss Frances Eileen Rowe, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Rowe, of Exeter, took place at the Roman Catholic Church of the Blessed Sacrament. Heavitree, on October 5th.
The service was conducted by Father Staunton, and an address was given by the Rev. Graham Lock (brother of the bridegroom). curate of St. Justus'. Rochester.
The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a long white satin gown and train with a veil and headdress of pearls.
Following a reception at the Exeter Motel the happy couple left for an undisclosed destination.
Martin, who works as a librarian in the University of Exeter, has recently been elected captain of the ringers at Heavitree Parish Church. Among the many wedding presents received were an electric fire from the Heavitree ringers and an electric toaster from the St. Luke's College Guild.

CORRECTIONS & AMENDMENTS

In the quarter peal at Pinner the ringer of he third was Mary E. Took and the fourth D. E. R. Knights. (See page 809.)

In the report of the quarter peal at Wal-sham-le-Willows, Suffolk (page 799) the name of the tenor ringer should be A. Feaver.
It was the father of Mr. E. Barnett, mentioned among those who took the first number of "The Ringing World " on page 804, who was a member of the Central Council. His son is a life member.
The footnote to a peal of Surprise Minor rung at Loders, Dorset (page 794) reads: " Believed to be the first peal of Minor on the bells." This is incorrect. Mr. W. C. Shute conducted a peal of Plain Bob Minor there on May 8th, 1931.
An unfortunate error occurred in our issue of October 25 th. The name of the writer of the excellent article on the bells of St. Michael's, Cornhill, was Mr. William Cook. the hon. librarian to the Ancient Society of College Youths.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The peal at Rotherhithe was the 125th for Mr. Michael J. Uphill.

Mr. Edward Mould, of Thombury, Glos, on October 12 th completed the Stedman family from Doubles to Cinques within 17 days of 12 months.
Mrs. Kathleen M. Baldwin rang her 400 th peal on October 21st. Of these, 175 have een in hand.
Mr. B. P. Morris, general secretary of the Derby Diocesan Association, has been appointed postmaster of Hinckley and expects to take up duty there early in Novemher.
According to Mrs. Betsy A. Mountford, the hon. secretary of Brinklow (Warwickshire) bellingers, the neal there on October 20th was the first on the bells for 41 years and the first hy a local band. She states it is the second recorded peal on the bells.
Evidence of a live District was forthcoming at the annual meeting of the Rochester District when there were three nominations for the post of secretary and four for Ringing Master. We hope the same keenness for office will be displayed in tinding a successor to Mr. P. A. Corby as general secretary.

After being a ringer for 42 years Mr. R. G Edwards has achieved his first quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles at Stoke Bishop. Bristol. It was almost a faultess performance.

Canon Gilbert Thurlow's latest, at Jasper Snowdon Commemoration Dinner on October 19th. Visitor to verger: "Have you a reredos here?" Verger: "No, Vicar has private arrangements in the vestry "
Almast equal to the report of six firsts in a peal is the performance at Brinklow. Warks. Here in a peal of Doubles there were five first peals and the remaining ringer was scoring his first as conductor. Congratulations!

The ringers in Dublin are very pleased to welcome Cyril and Ann Galbraith (with three ringing sons) to Dublin from Limerick and have his eldest son. David (14) to start by calling a quarter peal. They would like to wish them many happy ringing years in Dublin.
Over 200 tickets have heen sold for the Ancient Society of College Youths' dinner on November 2nd. We hear the Society has rung another peal of Stedman Cinques-this time at Saffron Walden, conducted by Robert E. J. Dennis.

90th ANNIVERSARY OF ST. PALL'S CATHEDRAL BELLS

Today, Friday, November 1 st , is the 90 th anniversary of the dedication of the ring of 12 bells at St. Paul's Cathedral. Although the north-west tower in which the bells hang was completed in the early years of the 18 th century, the tower for a long time contained only one bell, cast in ahout 1705 and weighing a little over a ton, note $E$ flat. This bell was chimed or rung before services and is still rung for five minutes before all week-day services.
The money to provide the present ring of 12 was given by the Corporation of London, various of the City Livery Companies and Baroness Burdett Couts, and the bells were cast by John Tavlor and Co. at Loughhorough to the designs (it is said) of Lord Grimthorpe. At that time their total weight was greater than that of any other ring of bells.
The dedication of the new bells took place after Evensong on All Saints' Day, 1878, and uas performed by the Bishop of London in the ringing chamber. An account of the dedication which appeared in the "Daily Chronicle" on November 2nd. 1878, concludes by saying that after the Benediction, "the ringers set to. sounding out a merry peal of clear notes as the clergy and choir. having performed their office, retraced their steps helow, leaving Dr. Stainer. the organist. 10 ., give his final instructions as to the ringing." Perhaps this statement can be read as confirmation of the story that it was Dr. Stainer who. having heard various methods rung on the hells, decided that Stedman Cingues was the most musical. and ordained that that was what should be rung on Sundays, as has been done ever since.

LONGPARISH RINGERS' RETLRN TRIP TO MANCHESTER

Frank Tonge, of Longparish, excelled himself when he got his mini-coach load of ringers out of hed it $4 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$.. departing at 4.30 for another visit to Manchenter.

Ringing at Walsall (12) look place on the Hay up. Alan W'ard had kindly arranged the Manchester area towers for us and joined $\mu s$ for the day.
Ringing also took place at St. George's, Stockport (10). Oldham (12). Newher (8), Moorside (8). Whitefield Stand (8). Prestwich (8) Pendlehury (8), Worsley (10) and Dunham Massey (10).
Grandsire Cinques. Stedman Caters, Boh Roval and Cambridge Major were rung during the dav and the Boh Major to finish on the difficult bells at Dunham Massey made a fitting climax to a most enjoyable day. Thank you. Frank-until the next one. Home was reached at 2.30 a.m.

PEN/ANCE BRANCH FESTIVAL.

The Penzance Branch of the Truro Guild of Ringers held their Autumn Festival at Zennor on October 26th. when some 70 ringers attended.

During the service. conducted by the Vicar the Rev. T. S. Hichens) a course on handhells was rung. The address was given by Canon A. S. Roberts. chairman of the Branch.

Tea was provided by the ladies of the church. for which we thank them. After the husiness meeting ringing continued. Ringers also visited the towers at Carbis Bay and Towednack.

The Spring Festival was provisionally arranged for April 12th, 1969, at Paul. M.C.

A KENT WEDDING

An archway of bell ropes was erected outside St. Mary Magdalene's Church, Stockburs. Kent, for the wedding of two popular members of the Rochester District on September 14th. They were Mr, Richard James Bushell and Miss Pamela Ann Thomsett. both ringers at Stockbury.

ANOTHER BERKSHIRE OCTAVE

On Sunday, November 10th, iwo new trebles will be dedicated at St. Agatha's, Brightwell-cum-Sotwell, it 6 p.m., by the Bishop of Reading, making a ring of eight. The new bells were cast by the Whitechapel Foundry, as was the ring of six in 1908. One of the bells was a gift to the church by Mir. Jarrett, churchwarden: the other. a donation by the parish and P.C.C.. is in memory of Mr. Irank Castell, who for many years was sexton and tower captain.
Mr. B. White was responsible for the construction oi a new frame and the hanging of the bells, which is nearly complete. This work has been made possible through the generosity of members of this parish.

GUERNSEY BELIS

Two rings of threc bells in Guernsey are shortly to receive altention from the Whitechapel Bell Foundry Lid. Unfortunately neither will be hung for ringing.

At St. Martin's, the unusual chime of three bells, which have been permanenty "up "for over 100 years, are at last to be lowered and safely rehung on a steel frame: they will be sounded by clock hammers operated from the existing highly interesting chime barrel, an excellent illustrated description of which is given by Mr. Frederick Sharpe in his "Church Bells of Guernsey. Alderney and Sark." The bells were cast in 1736 by Jean Baptiste Brocard, of Lorraine. France, in place of an older three: the tenor is 36 in. diameter. 8! cwt. in $G$ sharp.

The three bells at Castel. cast by Thomas Mears in 1811. and which Mr. Sharpe was unable to visit. are to he rehung "dead" and chimed from an Ellacombe chiming apparatus: they are a heavy set, tenor 42 in . diameter, 123 cwt . in I sharp.

* BLASPHEMOUS RINGERS OF ## YARNTON "

To "The New Advance," the stafi joumal of the Woolwich Equitable Building Society. Mr. A. B. Palmer, manager of the Oxford Branch. contributes an interesting article headed "Our Six Bells." It is the story of St. Burtholomew's Church, Yarnton, ncar Oxford.

The bells were the gift of Sir Thomas Spencer about 1610 and the job was so well done that in the ensuing 350 years only one of the six has needed recasting. Because of their size and difficulty of haulage, it is thought that the bells were cast near the church by a group of itinerant bellfounders. The bell's were rung from floor level with ropes 60 to 65 feet long.

Bellfounding in those days was a strenuous affair and we are told the ringers, whilst noted for their prowess with the bells were also celebrated for drinking and swearing. This Ied an early 19th century Vicar, the Rev. Vaughan Thomas, to have the screen dividing the lower from the south aisle sound-proofed so that the congregation could not hear the blasphemous conversations. He also had a door cut in the tower so the ringers could leave without going through the church and thercby causing offence to the congregation.

On his death in 1826 Ald. Fletcher left many bequests to the village and in return the parish clerk had to toll the Great Bell 87 times on January 4th every vear, the anniversary of the Alderman's death. The six bell, of St. Burtholomew's led someone in 1838 at Lincoln College to write a poem, which hegan: "Tis winter's eve. the bleak winds blow: A subsequent verse read:

Then. Yarnton. swell thy joyous sounds,
Thy harmony neer stay:
Each peal with solemn truth resounds
And speaks a future day."
2.250 PEALS:

Mr. George E. Fearn. the hon. secretary of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham, rang his 2.250 th peal at Oakham on Septemher 5th during Tom Lock's tour of Leicestershire.

Now 62 years of age. it was not until he had turned 21 years that he rang his first peal. on Boxing Day. 1928. His first 1,000 peals were completed in September. 1953, and his 2.000 th on February 26th. 1965. George was the 19 th ringer to reach the 1.000 neal mark.

There is only one ringer who has previously rung over 2.000 neals, the late Ernest Morris. whose total was 2.076. and he died on April 28th. 1962.
Nearest to these are William Pye (1.969). George R. Pye (1.878), F. Bennett (1.600)), George Williams (1.508). Alfred H. Pulling (1.492). Isaac G. Shade ( 1,450 ), all of whom are no longer with us.

Of those ringing. two have passed 1.300Edward Jenkins and Jack L. Milihouse-followed hy H. E. Audslev (1.275). Under favourable circumstances it will be another eight to ten vears hefore another ringer reaches the 2.00 m mark. The voungest ringer to join the I. (MN nealers was Peter Border, who was horn in 1932. He has now nearly reached 1.200 peals. and if opportunities present themselves he is likely to end up in the 2,000 peals class.

The Bells of St. Mary's, Eastbourne

THE 14th century masons who "topped out". the massive tower of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Bourne, could see the entire village from its 70 ft . high battlements, and were no doubt acquainted with every one of the 2,000 inhabitants. Today, an interested eye scans only parts of a modern township, stretching from the miles of triple promenade which is Eastbourne's pride to the estates on the lower slopes of the South Downs. The population has increased to 62,000 , with fifteen parishes. But the ancient building remains the civic and Parish Church, and its vicar and wardens are also the Vicar and Churchwardens of Eastbourne.
A Saxon wooden church probably stood on the site of St. Mary's in 1054. In 1160 the chancel as we see it today was built, and fifteen years later the nave of four bays erected. Fourteenth century enlargements consisted of widening the aisles at both sides throughout the length, the last bay of the nave added, and the tower which gives the church its characteristic appearance. The interior of the tower is of local green sandstone, and the lower part is carried up beyond the height of the great west arch, and has a rare barrel-vaulted ceiling, unfortunately obscured by organ pipes. Above is the spacious ringing chamber, reached by a worn spiral stairway, the cloakroom above that, and then the belfry.

Of the bells, nothing definite is known before 1650 , but it is a practical certainty that there were four, cast locally, and tuned (if at all) with hammer and cold chisel. The churchwardens' accounts of 1650 indicate that at least some of them were lowered by a "greate Roape" and sent at the cost of $30 /-$ return, probably by ox-drawn waggons, along thirteen miles of muddy tracks to Chiddingly. This farming village was then the site of one of the great Sussex iron foundries, and here the bell-founder John Lulham also carried on his business. It does not seem to have been a very large concern. and only one of his bells remains in the county-at Cliffe, Lewes. Extra metal -"brasse pottes" and pewter-was purchased in various parts of the locality by one of the churchwardens to increase the total weight of the ring.

A CRASH

Lulham himself rode over to Eastbourne, and perhaps lodged at the Lambe Inn, which has kept the church company for 700 years, to see his bells hung. And he was paid "for his dyet and horsemeat 3 daies." The new ring gave no trouble for some time, apart from "nayles and bradds and oyle used about the bells," and the occasional rope; and one assumes that it consisted of six bells, for this is the number mentioned in 1724. On the other hand, John Waylett was working in Sussex in 1715, the very year that the wardens' accounts include $£ 8$ paid out for an unspecified task-he may have added a treble, although the price appears low. Some historians suggest that this item of $£ 8$ may be connected with the undated story of the fall of the 5th bell when in full swing. More than half a ton of bell-metal is reputed to have burst through two floors, struck the arch of the tower, and sunk into the pavement about a foot, "without the slightest crack or bruise from its precipitate and ponderous descent." (Though damage to the ringers' morale must have been considerable!)

At the beginning of the 19th century there was much repair work done about the church. In 1808 the tower was re-roofed, and in 1818 the bells were again down for recasting. They were to be increased to an octave, but not, it is thought, increased in total weight. They went this time to the Whitechapel Foundry, and as it was to be another 30 years before the railway reached Eastbourne, it is interesting to speculate upon the possibility that the heavy load was transported by sea, via the English Channel and Thames estuary. Five of the bells remain as they then returned from the founders. The tenor is inscribed "The Revd.. Alexander Brodie D.D. Vicar. Thomas Baker, John Noakes Church Wardens. T. Mears of London fecit 1818," and its weight is listed as $15 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$. The 3rd, 5th and 7th were found to require recasting in 1928, and again Mears and Stainbank carried out the work, and in 1966 they overhauled the fittings.

THE FIRST PEAL

There is no record of any peals on the old six, but 71 are known to have been rung on the eight, of which no less than 31 are on pealboards preserved in the ringing chamber. The first on the bells was rung by the Brighton ringers within a few months of the increase, and again the mind dwells upon the question of transport. These gentlemen presumably travelled by horse or horse-drawn waggonette, making a return journey of 50 miles along what we should regard as mere farm track. The board giving the details of this peal has recently been restored by an expert. Mr. R. HaleSanders, at the instigation of Canon W. W. S. March, the present vicar. The somewhat murky picture at the top was revealed in all its original glory to present the figure of a Muse, holding a sheet of music and reclining rather uncomfortably on a bell. In the background a bright blue sky with large clouds. The footnote is especially amusing. A literal translation of the Latin gives us: "The crowd hates that which it cannot understand," suggesting that public relations were sometimes not all they should have been. The date of the peal was October 26th, 1818, and on the 150 th anniversary (also the occasion of the Sussex County Association Dinner at Eastbourne) an attempt will be made to repeat the calling. Of the methods favoured for peal-ringing. Grandsire ( 34 Triples, 1 Major) is predominant, with Stedman Triples numbering 14. Then follow Plain Bob with 8, Double Norwich 4, Kent 2, and various Surprise methods 8 . The peak years were the 1880 s. otherwise there has been a fair average of Baldock, newly elected county general secretary.

CONTINUOUS BAND

Save in time of war, the bells have never within living memory been silent. Indeed, the ringing master has frequently in recent times conducted a practice ranging from rounds to Surprise, with over thirty ringers present. But in common with most bands, the maintenance of a scientific team presents a continuous challenge, and rounds and call charges are not unfamiliar to the parishioners. A generation ago a favoured device was to change from rounds straight into Queen's, which was known as the "Old Cross."

An alert P.C.C. sees to it that the flaking stonework on the tower exterior is periodiaclly examined and treated. In the midst of the changing scene, due to redevelopment, the church and tower remain, solid and four-square, giving witness of the unchanging things of life. And the bells regularly add their reminder.

BROKEN ROPE DEFEATS 150th ANNIVERSARY PEAL

THE BISHOP DINES WITH RINGERS AT EASTBOURNE

A GREAT welcome was exteaded by the Sussex County Association to its president. the Lord Bishop of Chichester, and Mrs. Roger Wilson at the 83 rd anniversary dinner held at the Queen's Hotel, Fastbourne, on October 26th. The Master (Mr. R. Johnson), who presided, mentioned that this was the first time in nearly ten years that the Bishop's commitments permitted him attending one of the Association's functions.
Like other Guilds and Associations, the Sussex Association now regards its annual dinner as an important date in the calendar. This year the organisers were unable to hold the dinner at Brighton, and Eastbourne was chosen, the date coinciding with the 150th anniversary of the first peal at St. Mary's, Eastbourne.

The organising committee-Mrs. Jean Osbon, Mrs. B. Percy and Mr. T. Barlow-had a most disappointing experience after completing atrangements with the Queen's Hotel, Eastbourne. A week before the date it was obvious that support was not forthcoming from certain Divisions of the Association, and serious consideration was given to cancelling the event. A well-known biblical phrase was very apt: " They all with one accord began to make excuses."

However, when confirmation was received that the president and his wife were attending and that the hotel was willing to cater for a greatly reduced number at the original price quoted, it was agreed to carry on with the arrangements. Justification came in the excellent dinner with congratulations to the committee on their choice of menu.

The Master presided over a company of 64 and with him and the president and Mrs. Wilson at the top table were Canon W. March. R.D. and Vicar of Eastbourne, the vice-presidents. Messrs R. Wood and R. Percy, the hon. general secretary and Mrs. A. Baldock, the peal secretary, Mr. J. Norris, Eastern Division secretary and Mrs. G. FitzHugh, Northern District secretary and Mr. R. Osbon, Southern Division secretary Mr. P. Hepburn, Mrs. 13. Percy and Mr. T. Barlow (dinner committee). A special welcome was extended to the Rev. P. Newing and Mrs. Newing from Gloucestershire and the hon. librarian, Mr. A. Bond. Apologies were received from Mr. and Mrs. F. Hairs (hon. life members), Mr. L. Weller (hon. ireasurer). Mrs. R. Wood and Mr. J. Hills.

BELLS HIS GUIDE

The president. in proposing the toast of "The Sussex County Association." said he liked to hear good ringing before a service and the five-minute bell gradually dying down to remind neople that a service was about to begin. In his travels around the country he often found his way to outlying churches by the sound of the bells.
The Lord Bishon informed the members that he was always pleased to receive a copy of the annual report and read of all the activities of the Association. It gave him much pleasure to see the increasing number of young people learning to ring. In the various parishes he had served as a priest he had been encouraged by the efforts of the ringers to raise moncy for the maintenance of the bells.

Concluding, Dr. Roger Wilson expressed his thanks to the Association for the invitation extended to his wife and himself to such an enjoyable evening.

The Master, in his reply, mentioned that this was the first time in nearly ten years that the Bishop had attended one of their functions. Although many invitations had been extended, there were always other engagements that made it impossible for him to attend. He went on to say how happy and pleased all the members were that the Bishop and Mrs. Wilson were ahle to be with them that evening, and expressed the thanks and best wishes of all concerned and they all honed it would not be so long before they saw him again.

After the dinner, luncs were rung on handbells by the Willingdon ringers, and changes hy various members of the Association. Those who did not attend missed meeting and talking to the president and a most enjoyable and successful evening.

MOVE FOR TIDY BELFRIES  IN KENT

A proposal before the Ashford District at its annual meeting at Wye on October 19th was a tidy tower competition for 1969 . The tinal details were left to the District officers to arrange.
In the absence of the chairman, Mr. B. J. I.uck (vice-president) was elected to the chair. All the retiring officer; were re-elected, viz.: Chairman. A. S. Phelips: secretary, A. P. S. Berry: Ringing Master, P. C. Sinden: District representatives, Rev. P. T. Robbins and D. C. Manger.

A progress report was given on the John Willis Memorial Bell, and the inscription on the bell was referred to the District officers,
Mr. R. J. Birch proposed the vote of thanks to the Vicar (the Rev. D. J. Marriott), who conducted the service, and the Wve ringers, who provided a lavish tea for the combany of over 80.
Ringing continued until 9 p.m.

SUFFOLK GUILD

Due to the County Music Festival, the annual general meeting of the North-West District, originally planned for the Norman Tower, Bury St. Edmunds, was transferred to Mildenhall ( 10 ), where the ringing included Stedman and Grandsire Caters, Superlative Major. Bob Royal and Major and rounds. Mr. C. N. Stannard acted as Ringing Master during the absence of John Underwood on Guild husiness.
The Vicar (the Rev. C. F. G. Borsley) conducted the service, and 50 members sat down to a fine tea. At the business meeting, with Mr. Cyril Hancock in the chair, the committee and officials were re-elected with the addition of Mr. A. G. Feaver. They are as follows: Chairman, Mr. Hancock: secretary, Mr. A. Ballam: Ringing Master, Mr, J. Underwood: committee. Messrs. L. Wright, R. Rose and N. G. Feaver. Ten new members were elected to the Guild, making a total membershin of 60 .

ACTIVITIES AT BENDIGO

During October there were two ringers' weddings at Bendigo, Victoria. On October 12 th Anthony Stephens, who learned to handle in England, was married to June Portway, and on October 26th Kathie Paxton, who visited England in 1966, was married to Alan Taylor.

The centenary of the dedication of St. Paul's Church, Bendigo, takes place on November 12th, and the Archbishop of Melbourne, Dr. Frank Woods, will be preaching at the Sung Eucharist. Special celebrations planned include a centenary ball, special services, a music festival and. of course, tellringing. Visitors from Melbourne and Ballarat are expected.

LEICESTER GUILD DINNER

ADVICE TO OLD BOYS ON CENTRAL COUNCIL

"Let Go and Earn Much Respect"

PRINCIPAL guest at the Leicester Diocesan Guild's annual dinner on September 28th at the Stamford Hall, Leicester University, was Mr. Vernon Bottomley, hon. secretary and treasurer of the Central Council and president of the Yorkshire Association. Mr. Bottomley, in proposing the toast of "s The Leicester Diocesan Guild," made a special reference to the article in "The Ringing World "from Mr. Douglas May, a member of the Central Council.
"The article," said Mr. Bottomley, "contained many good points relevant to "Old Boys" clinging to jobs when they ought to retire. There are, however, iwo sides to the problem. If a voluntary worker has been in office for many years he still likes to hold on to the honour and glory of that position and it often hurts very muck when he is "put down.' The remedy lies with the individual concerned to male up his own mind to let go, thereby earning much respect from the members."

The president (Mrs. P. J. Staniforth) presided over a company of 156 , and the menu of the enjoyable meal was melon, roast duck, pear Helene, cheese and biscuits. Mr. B. G. Warwick was toastmaster.
In proposing the toast of "The Guild," Mr. Bottomley said he thought it was a pity that their president did not go to Washington with Mr. P. J. Staniforth and the other English ringers for the dedication of the Cathedral bells, as he felt that when a married couple rang together there were fewer trips, because each tried hard not to make a mistake.

AVOID CONTROVERSIES

Speaking on the question of sound control, he said: "More people today are becoming conscious of their "rights' and ringers must not get involved in controversies in the Press. They must aocept that it is better to control sound than to argue about it. The Central Council publication *The Preservation of Towers, etc."' is a book well worth reading, and tells of methods of controlling the sound of their bells."
The reply was by the president, who congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Bottomley or the work they were doing in the Yorkshire Association. In her general welcome Mrs. Staniforth particularly mentioned Mr. W. A. Wood and Mr. A. E. Rowley, secretary and treasurer respectively of the Guild in 1946, Mr. J. A. Acres, who now lives at Chigwell and was peal secretary and still helps Mr.
R. H. Cook in this work, and Mr.J. P. Fidler, trustee of the Guild, who at the end of October was to retire and take up a new venture in Devon.

BINDING PUBLICATIONS

Calling attention to the work of Mr. J. Bramley, the newly-appointed librarian, the president said the newly-bound copies of "The Bell News" and "The Ringing World "were looking in excellent shape in their new bookcase in St. Margaret's belfry. She commended the raffle being promoted to meet the cost of binding, and invited members and towers to make donations to this cause.
Mrs. Staniforth reiterated Mr. Bottomley's comments on the importance of sound control, and quoted the Bishop of Leicester as saying: "Bells are the voices of the Church." This was a well-established hobby and ringers must keep it that way. The age range of fellowship in ringing was exempified by the oldest member present being Mr. T. Briggs, of Somerby, now 90 , and the youngest R. Day, of Melton Mowbray, now 13 .
She concluded with thanks to her officers and the dinner committee and regretted that Miss Judy Cox, a member of the dinner committee, had been admitted to hospital that afternoon. suspected of being a victim of food poisoning.
A half-course of Cambridge Surprise Royal on handbells followed, the ringers being Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Staniforth, Messis. J. M. Jelley, A. Ballard and R. B. Smith.

GUESTS OF NOTE
The first life ringing member of the Guild, Mr. John A. Acres, proposed "The Visitors." He extended a sincere welcome to all guests, and mentioned in particular the Precentor of Leicester Cathedral (Rev. D. Buxton) and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bottomley, Mr. and Mrs. G. Morris (Lyme Regis), Mr, and Mrs. G. Halls (Derby), Mr. and Mrs. A. Schofield (Cambridge), Mr. N. Bennett (conductor of the 40 -Spliced Surprise Maximus) and Miss C. Hardman, Mr. D. Tovell (who had brought him to Leicester), Mr. R. B. Smith (conductor of the extent of Plain Bob Major in 1963, when he (Mr. Acres) had been proud to be an umpire) and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. B F. L. Groves and last, but by no means least, Mr. J. Bray (Master of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild) and his wife.
Mr. Acres then congratulated Mr. A. Ballard on ringing his 100 th handbell peal of Surprise, and said he hoped it would not be too long before his 1,000th peal was published.
Mr. Jack Bray, who replied, brought greetings from the Lincoln Guild and added that the Lincoln annual general meeting was never complete without some Leicester members being present. In many ways, he continued, Yorkshire was the tops. In Lincolnshire there was nothing like the football teams in York-shire-there being only three teams in the League, and all those in Division Four, no first-class cricket team, but if there was a ringers' league, Lincolnshire might well be in the First Division, and Leicester might well be at the top.
The Leicester Guild had a dinner every year; in Lincolnshire 'there was only one every five years, and next year, 1969, was the year. He asked that many Leicester ringers attend, although the date had not yet been fixed.

Mr. B. G. Warwick concluded the speeches by saying how pleased he was to see Mr. J. H. Cook present, as he had recently fallen into a newly-dug grave, whilst going for a ring, and fractured an arm. The pathering joined in wishing him a speedy recovery.
Towards the end of the evening, after dancing and games, the raffle prize was drawn for. Proceeds amounted to $£ 142 \mathrm{~s}$. 6 d .

DEDICATION

TWD NEW TREBLES AT ST. MARGARET'S, APSLEY

NOTTINGHAM has a new ring of eight at St. Margaret's Church, Apsley, brought about by the addition of two light trebles. These are the treble of 2 cwt. 3 qr. 25 lb . called "Little Mes," the gift of St. Margaret's ringers and friends, and the second of 3 cwt . 1 gr .8 lb . inscribed "In cherished memory of Willie Cook, 17th July, 1967. A devoted and beloved father, and husband of the late Mary Jane Cook. Given by his family. 'In Heavenly Love Abide.'

The whole octave was cast by Messrs. John Taylor, the original six in the silver jubilee year of St. Margaret's Church in 1959. The tenor of 9 cw . 1 qr . 15 lb . Was the gift of Messrs. John Player and Sons.
The dedication ceremony was performed by Canon Gilbert Thurlow, president of the Central Council, at Evensong on October 20th in the presence of a large congregation. The Vicar (the Rev. Gordon Blacktop) conducted the service and the lesson was read by the Ringing Master (Mr. Horace Seagrave).

At the dedication the ropes were handed to Canon Thurlow by Mr. W. E. B. Cook and Mr. Paul L. Taylor. Handing them to the Vicar, the Canon said: "Receive these bells that have now been haliowed and solemnly set apart from all profane and unhallowed uses as a sacred trust committed to thee as the approved minister of Christ in this church and take care that they be used for God's service and for His glory."

PERSONAL RELATIONS

In his address the Canon said these bells came from the glad working together of people and this was the greatest thing there was. The bells told of authority expressed in service. Most of today's miseries were due to breakdown of relationship between people. There was no way of recovery but through Christ, for His Gospel was the only cement which could unite people together.
"A church is a kind of laboratory showing how world personal relationships can work, and in a church the ringing room can show, what can be achieved by people working gladly together.
"This is something of deep importance. You could have had a gramophone record instead of real bells. It would have been cheaper. There would be no sisk of breakdown in personal relationships, for there would have been no people. But there would have been no human achievement either! Your belfry would have been like a dead world.
" No, what really matters in the universe is life. The greatest thing life can achieve is glad working together. This is why man is the crown of creation, for only in man can be achieved that towards which the ages of evolution had been working. Here we have it in a tower which houses living people
"Christ invites all men into His Church. But once in the Church He commands us all to go out and serve. This is what the sound of the bells is for. True, they are the voice of Christ, inviting all men into the Christian community. But they are also the voice which goes out to every place and every person within earshot; they represent the ideal that the Church is a community whose members go out to serve."

Bath and Wells Diocesan Association's Third Annual Dinner

THE third annual dinner of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association was held on October 19th at the Caveman Restaurant, Cheddar. A company of 183 sat down to an excellent five-course dinner, prior to which Cheddar bells had been available.

At the top table were the Master (the Rev. H. F. Warren) and Mrs. Warren, Bishop D. J. Wilson of Wells, the Ven A. Hopley (Archdeacon of Bath), Canon K. W. H. Felstead and Mrs. Felstead, the Rev. C. J. B. Marshall, Mr. J. H. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. E. Naylor, Messrs. Brain and H. Sanger

Following the loyal toast Mr. John Brain proposed the toast of "The Church and Clergy." He spoke of the debt of gratitude which ringers owed to the Church and the clergy and, illustrating his theme, asked the company to imagine what reaction a village cricket team might get if they wrote to the M.C.C. requesting permission to play a match at Lords. On the other hand. any team of ringers on a visit to Kent might well be allowed to ring the bells at Canterbury Cathedral. Mr. Brain urged that the least ringers could do in return for the pleasure they got from peals, quarters and outings was to ring regularly and faithfully tor Sunday services.

Bishop Wilson, in reply, thanked Mr Brain and remarked how young they all looked' He spoke of the acute problems of some dioceses in keeping churches open in the face of dwindling congregations and in some cases churches and their towers might have to be demolished. On a brighter note, we heard that the bell for Trinidad, for which members subscribed, had been crated and was ready for immediate despatch

34 MAIDEN TOWERS

The toast of "The Diocesan Association * was proposed by Canon K. W. H. Felstead. He said Somerset was famed for its bells-both in number (326) and weight, and only 34 of these had not been pealed (mostly fives). However, the Canon did not think we rang enough peals, as only one tower, Twerton, had passed the 100 mark. He noted with mock concern the home tower of the Master with only five peals !

In replying, the general secretary referred to the fact that the Bath and Wells was the largest ferritorial Association, with almost 2,000 members. Quoting from old records he demonstrated that Branch officers of 50 years ago had problems very similar to those of current concern, including (to the amusement of the assembled company) that of getting the annual report out before the annual meeting

Mr. Gilbert drew attention to the latest issue of "The Ringing World" and the "Square Deal for Learners" mentioned therein. which he thought worthy of serious attention. He regretted that the Association had not been consulted over the plan to install tape-recorded bells at Christ Church, Clevedon.

LOOKING BACK 1,000 YEARS

The Rev. C. J. B. Marshall proposed the toast of "The Guests and Visitors" in characteristic style. He read extracts taken from his local paper, written 100 years ago, relating to the drinking habits of the ringers at that time. He advised incumbents to follow his own example and entertain their ringers themselves on New Year's Eve! He welcomed the guests at the top table and Mr. and Mrs. M. Hancock, Mr. M. Hancock. Miss S. Tudor and Miss G Brearley. Mrs. Bette Parfrey, in her role of president of the Ladies Guild, also received special mention. The Archdeacon of Bath replied briefly and wittily, concluding with an anecdote about a gentleman at a Japanese dinner!
To conclude a very pleasant evening, "The Scrumpy Chorale" were billed to entertain with a few songs. Modesty prevents me from making any further comment on this except to thank Messrs. Gilbert and Yeo for their efforts in arranging music and lyrics, and those male members of the Chew and Axbridge Branches who appeared as Bill Brewer, Jan Stewer, Peter Gurney, etc., etc.

OSWY STREET CUP 1968

Four teams entered for the 1968 Oswy Street contest at St. Swithun's, East Retford, on October 19th. Ringing began shortly after 3 o'clock and continued until a quarter to tive. when refreshments were served in the Ebsworth Hall.

Harold Chant, of Wakefield, who judged the competition, commented on the high standard. The new East Retford bells, he said, sounded fine, but with a tenor turning the scales at 23 cwt. 1 qr. 7 lb . were far heavier than usual for an exercise of this sort, and provided an exceptionally searching test of ability. He was frequently called upon to judge contests, not only for the Southwell Diocesan Guild but for other Societies, and was very satisfied with the rules employed for the Oswy Street Cup on account of their simplicity and omission of penalty faults of any kind.

The first compettors, Warsop, rang a 360 of Oxford Treble Bob. Though not perfect, their "striking" improved steadily, apart from one slight trip, and they were marked 58 faults.

The local team, East Retford, rang second with 360 Plain Bob and, although showing great tenacity, never settled into a steady rhythm, but did better towards the finish- 123 faults.

Whatton followed with an interesung 360 Single Oxford designed to limit the number of dodges made by the two heaviest bells. and after an uncertain start rang well- 83 faults.

Wollaton, the winners of the Diocesan contest held at Orston last month, rang last with an extent of Plain Bob with the tenors in course; very good in places- 74 faults.

Mr. Benjamin Street presented the cup to Herbert T Rooke, captain of the Warsop team, and congratulated them on their achievement. Replying, Mr Rooke thanked Mr. Street on behalf of his band and added his appreciation of the ringing of the other teams. especially that of East Retford, who had the least experience of those taking part.
A collection for the Diocesan Bell Repair Fund realised $£ 2$. Further ringing then rook place on all ten bells The 1969 contest will take place on the third Saturday in October at a tower to be decided later.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH Branch Honours Vicar's First Anniversary

On October 12th, 1967, the Rev. Gwyn Lewis was inducted to the living of St. Tewdric, Mathern. Exactly one year later, on October 12th, 1968, the Monmouth Branch held a very happy meeting at Mathern, an anniversary celebration which gave the Vicar and Mrs. Lewis much enjoyment and delight.

The bells were ringing almost all day-by a visiting band during the morning, by members of the Branch and friends from Malvern and Mitcheldean during the afternoon, and finally were joined by visitors from Bristol during the evening.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, and the Rev. Ivor Richards, Rural Dean of Raglan. read the lesson. Mr. Harris kindly played the organ.

Mrs. LewIs and her helpers had prepared an excellent tea in the Village Hall, and these kind ladies were thanked by Mr. Roger Shea.

At the short business meeting two new members were elected-Mr. Mark Esbester, of St. Woolos, and little Nicola Paton. of Mitcheldean.

A special welcome was extended by the Vicar to all the visitors and also to Canon Oliver Davies, Vicar of Nash, who had had a very long and close connection with bells and bellringers' meetings.

The Master, Mr. Richard Stewart, thanked the Rev Gwyn Lewis for his interest and warm welcome, and in reply the Vicar expressed his enioyment of the meeting and said: *. This is the first church I have had with bells and I intend to make the most of them

MR. ARTHUR SHEPPARD

Mr. Arthur Sheppard, ringer at Sandiacre, Derbyshire, for over 30 years, died on Thursday, September 19 th, aged 52 , after a long and painful illness. Bereaved are his wife, Eva, and daughters Jennifer and Rosemary, who also are bellringers.

The interment took place on September 23rd at Sandiacre, where the bells were rung halfmuffled by ringers from Sandiacre and Stanton-by-Dale Half-muffled ringing on Sunday at Sandiacre, Long Eaton and Sawley showed the respect of all ringers in the district.

Arthur will be remembered best in the Ilkeston district. not as an ambitious method ringer but as an extremely accurate and reliable treble man who was quite happy to stand in for peals of Minor. His peal total for the Derby Association, of which he was a founder member, was 21, but in addition he had rung a few peals for the old Midland County Association.

He will be long remembered by the ringers of Sandiacre and the llkeston District and missed by his church, which he served faithfully for several years as Vicar's warden during difficult times and also whilst he was ill.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Rochester District A.G.M.

Over 100 members attended the Rochester District's annual meeting held on October 19 th at St. Michael's, Sittingbourne. Ringing commenced at $3.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. after a wedding and proceeded until $4.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., when the service was taken by the Rev. Stanley Evans, a wellknown clerical ringer.

After tea a lengthy but lively business meeting ensued. Mr. T. Barton, the District secretary, presented his report on the past year's activities. The elections of District officials proved interesting, there being three candidates for the post of secretary and four for the post of Ringing Master. As or result of elections Mr. T. Barton, of Tunstall, was reelected as secretary, a popular decision, and Messrs. Laurie Mitchell, of Newington, and David Leworthy. of Minster-in-Sheppey, were elected as joint Ringing Masters for the next 12 months. District representatives Trevor Cross and Cyril Jarrett were re-elected and "The Ringing World " representative. Laurie Mitchell, was also re-elected.

A discussion then took place on the draft rules for the striking contest and these were accepted by the meeting. Laurie Mitchell announced his intention of running a day trip to Loughborough Bell Foundry in April, 1969. and a week's ringing holiday in Devon and Cornwall in 1970

After the meeting closed many ringers made a return to the belfry until 9 p.m. Methods rung included Grandsire. Stedman, Plain Bob, Yorkshire and Superlative and, of course. rounds and call changes.

OLD AND NEW CALENDAR

Dear Sir, - The answer to "Cheshire Delight's" questions in his article on "The First issue of "The Bell News" about the old New Year's Day celebration at Redenhall, Norfolk, in 1881, would seem to be that it was connected with" Give us back our eleven days"-though in an odd way In 1752. changes were made in the calendar to bring England into line with that part of the Christian world which had in 1582 adopted the Gregorian calendar. The day that would have been September 3 rd in 1752 was made the 14 th ; but as, in addition, the year was from the beginning of 1752 made to start on January lst instead of March 25th. as hitherto, it was eccentric of the Redenhall ringers to muddle the old and new styles and celebrate old New Year's Day in January.

After more than 200 years, Norfolk's attachment to the old-style calendar still persists. for in this county Michaelmas agricultural tenancies begin, not on September 29th, but on October 11th (old Michaelmas Day), and. of course, the Inland Revenue authorities use April 6ith (old New Year's Day plus the number of days dropped in 1752) as the beginning of their year for Income Tax assessment. Yours faithfully,

READING PRACTICE NIGHTS

Dear $\mathrm{Sir}_{s}$-Why is it that in Reading, a thickly populated town, there are three eights practising on a Tuesday evening? If ringing was spread over the week it might be arranged to help St. Giles'.
I am nearly 80 and recovering from a serious operation last June. Whilst I am afraid I shall never ring again, I do want to hear the lovely eight in my own parish struck well So, ringers of Reading, be matey. Ring the changes on other evenings.-Yours faithfully,

ALFRED J. WHITTLE.

OVERSEAS APPRECIATION

Dear Sir,-I would like to express my appreciation to the Editor and staff of "The Ringing World " for the splendid service they give. Here, with only two posts a week, my "Ringing World" still arrives on the day of publication-Friday.

The covers do much to remind me of the beautiful churches we are fortunate to have in the United Kingdom, not as we have here, a bar or library closed for an hour every five or six weeks when we are visited by the Padre.
Of late, Messrs. Blagrove and Co. have been kind in keeping boredom away with their letters, but I'm afraid my cross-reference has let me down again, and I still cannot find any publication of the record peal (or is it progressive length?) of the 13.140 Pudsey (Cam variation). Perhaps we need a supplement to "The Ringing World" Index devoted to letters.

The peal reports and reports of outings give much scope to my vivid imagination, and I seriously thank all contributors 10 "The Ringing World" for a weekly paper that is well worth a shilling and the air mail postage. Yours faithfully,

RICHARD F. PRIME.

TAPE RECORDING AT CLEVEDON

Dear Sir,-Having read the letters from Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Gilbert concerning the installation of apparatus in the tower of Christ Church, Clevedon, which will reproduce the sound of church bells from a tape-recording, 1 feel that there are one or two points arising from those letters which should be clarified.

To start at the beginning, I was asked by a reporter from a local newspaper to give my personal views on the action of the Consistory Court in granting permission for this apparatus to be used. This was the first intimation that 1 had received that an application for permission had been made, and that the Court had granted that permission. Knowing from past experience how one's personal opinions can so easily be misrepresented by the Press. I took what I thought would be a precaution against this by asking the reporter to read back to me what I had said, and I received the assurance that this would be reported in full. In my statement, I made it quite clear that, as a ringer, I would prefer to hear the sound of church bells, rung properly by a band of local ringers, and 1 expressed the hope that any such apparatus would be used only as a temporary measure until such time as a ring of bells could be installed and a band trained to ring them. However, this part of my statement. which came right at the beginning, was not published in the account which appeared in the newspaper.
In the course of my interview with the reporter I took great care to make it clear that I was giving my own reaction to the news, and that for an authoritative statement of Association policy the reporter should get in touch at once with cither the Master, the Rev H. F. Warren, or the present general secretary, Mr. Gilbert: I supplied the reporter with the names, addresses and telephone numbers of these officers of the Association and I was told that they would be asked to give their reactions. I share Mr . Gilbert's expressed regret that this was not done.

Christ Church, Clevedon, has a tower which, I am told, could support a light ring of bells, and I know it to be the hope of the present Vicar, the Rev. Michael Rees, that one day such a ring will be installed. However, this comparatively small parish has just raised the sum of $£ 7,500$ for the repair of the fabric and organ, and it now faces the task of raising a further $£ 12,000$ for necessary extensions to the present church buildings. In addition, this congregation gives very generously indeed to the needs of the Church abroad and at home. Clearly the parishioners already have a great and demanding task ahead of them.

Mr. Rees has taken care to see to it that the recording used will be a suitable one, and he has approached the incumbent of a church which has a light ring of eight bells, and the necessary permission to record these bells has been granted, with the knowledge and approval of the Parochial Church Council as well, and with the ready co-operation of the ringers concerned.

The question of precedent arises in Mr. Hawkins' letter, and I am sure that he and others who are anxious about this installation will be glad to know that the Chancellor, in giving judgment, made it clear that his action did not create a precedent in the normally accepted sense of that term, and that each application has to be treated on its own merits.

Finally, Mr. Gilbert reminds us that " the sexton of "Clochemerle' rang the single bell there with great virtuosity." I am sure that he did, and no doubt he enjoyed his ringing; I am equally sure that I would not have done. and I end by quoting another authority in this matter. the Rev. Percy Dearmer, who says, on page 71 of "The Parson's Handbook." "no single bell, or couple of bells, should be rung for more than a minute or so at the time : even three minutes is too long." - Yours faithfully, Portishead.

ROGER O. Fry (Rev.).

MINOR NAMES : LATEST ALLOCATIONS

Dear Sir,-I had been waiting to see whether there would he any comment on Messrs. Jones" and Richards' letters about the naming of Minor methods (page 786), but in vain. This is a little surprising, for both gentlemen, in claming that the first hand to include a new Minor method in a 5.000 has the right to name it, have apparently confused Minor with Triples and methods on higher numbers.

In the case of Triples, etc., this claim is undoubtedly true. However, in the case of Minor the right to name a new method has always been the prerogative of the band that first rings it to an extent. Most of the Surprise methods in the C.C. Collection, for example, were named in this way. If however no extent has previously been rung, then, naturally, the band that first includes the method in a peal has every right to give it a name. This convention was finally endorsed by the C.C. Methods Nomenclature Committee in the 1920's: the only exceptions have occurred when the Council authorised the committees responsible for the 1931 and subsequent collections of Minor methods to allocate names 10 methods which were to be included in their books but had not already been rung and named.

Following this convention, the correct name for

-34-14-12-36-14-12 \mathrm{nds}

is Rampton Surprise, since it was under this name that a 720 was rung at Rampton, Notts. on July 20th, a fortnight before the peal at Warsop. Similarly, the correct name for

-36-14-12-36-14-3 \text { 2nds }

should not be Keston Surprise, but King Edward Surprise; and for

34-36.14-12-36.12-34.5 2nds

not Ingatestone Surprise but Chester-leStreet Surprise. King Edward was rung as such in a peal at Wath-on-Dearne, Yorkshire. on November 19th, 1927, and a 720 of Chester le-Street was rung at Felkirk. Yorkshire, during 1929.

Whilst on this subject, those who have plans to ring and name some of the remaining unnamed Minor methods may like to note that a 720 of

36-34.16-12-36-14-1 \text { Inds }

was rung at Askerswell, Dorset, on September 2nd this year, and was named Bradpole Delight - Yours sincerely.

Letters continued

R. B. SMITH CONCLUDES DOUBLES DEBATE
Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{Mr}$. Blagrove continues to wade deeper into, the mire by now dragging in the 17,248 Yorkshire Surprise Major conducted by Neil Bennett. Mr. Bennett informed me of the attempt (as conductor of the previous long peal of Yorkshire) and I would also imagine that the secretary of the Lancashire Association was also made well aware of the attempt (although the new record was rung for them also). This brings in another point on which I disagree with Mr. Blagrove when he says that . . " Major cannot surpass Royal, tower bells cannot surpass handbells and vice versa." This is absolute rubbish-was not the 19,738 . Stedman Caters rung on handbells by Alfred H. Pulling's band the record number of changes rung to a peal of Stedman until the 21,363 Stedman Caters was rung at Appleton in 1922? Of course it was! Did not the 16,368 Cambridge Surprise Maximus supersede the 15,480 Cambridge Surprise Royal as the longest peal of Cambridge? Of course it did!
The Editor omitted my paragraph relating to Mr. Parker's composition and also to the question of splicing Kent and Oxford. Briefly, I said this:-
We question many of the early peals rung in the absence of composition; should we not do the same with modern long peals where the number of changes is limited? After all, it was Mr. Parker who said to a member of our band that he had lost or mislaid the composition. This aroused suspicions that it may be false; it would not have been the first time that a long peal has been rung and then found to be false (on twelve bells, let alone eight). Mr Blagrove says piously in one of his later letters that Mr. Woodruffe could have had the composition if he had asked for it. More rubbish! It was the diligent Mr. Sibson who prised the composition out of Mr. Parker. but not for some weeks after the Council meeting, and after the Records Committee's report had been adopted! Why did not one out of the 150 members of the Council pick out this point? Mr. Christopher F. Mew has the answer on page 783 of "The Ringing World." If anybody has not read that letter I suggest that they do so; it is the best sense that has been written in "The Ringing World "for years
With regard to Mr. Blagrove's peal of Kent and Oxford, I used some language which evidently is too strong for "The Ringing World." Mr. Blagrove cannot get away from the fact that the C.C. Handbook states specifically that Kent and Oxford T.B. variations cannot be described as spliced peals. He could equally well have called the changes of method with the treble in 3-4 up, 5-6 up or 5-6 down to get round the wording in the Handbook, but Mr. Wratten points out that it is the spirit of the thing which is all wrong.

Now that Mr. Blagrove finds that he stands with his back to the wall he decides to drag up an argument from 1963, when I was one of 11 correspondents who wrote one very short letter giving my views on another topic. Quite by coincidence I came across a fierce controversy in "The Ringing World" of 1954 which Doubles ringers might like to read; to whet your appetite, here is an extract:-

Ringing World," September 24th, 1954, page 619.

THE IPIGEON MENACE

Dear Sir,-1 wish we could find a way of tackling this pigeon menace at source; the fouling of buildings can be a danger to the health of anyone trying to clear up, apart from its unsightliness.
The situation seems to have arisen like this: in the last ten years many more people have taken to keeping racing pigeons, so more are lost, both in training and in week-end races, when there are more homing flocks crossing each other's paths and leading each other astray.

There is a central register of National Homing Union ringed birds and a fixed fee of 7 s . 6 d . for the return of a bird. This was adequate when arranged, but now often does not cover the cost of food. postage and carriage involved. It is illegal to kill NH.U. close-ringed birds, but if they are caught and taken to local pigeon fanciers, though there are conscientious ones. the majority just do not want to know. If they can be persuaded to take the birds they often release them a few miles away (who can blame them?), hoping they will find their way home, but by now "home" is the church tower. These are the parents of the filthy hordes invading even country churches with inadequate netting and no moncy for repairs.

It is the pigeon fanciers themselves who should deal with this aspect of the problem. I tried a letter to their weekly paper some time ago but there was no response at all. Filthy towers and buildings do not bother them. Are there any ringers who are also pigeon fanciers? They might be able to do something about this from the inside, perhaps by recommending raising the fee to make return worthwhile. or authorising their local officials to kill ringed birds they judged worthless.

The danger to health is that some of these birds now carry ornithosis-the pre-war psittacosis (parrot discase) without showing any signs of illness themselves. There were once stringent quarantine regulations on all Australian parrot-like birds. e.g. budgies, but the disease crept in probably via a sailor's dead parrot thrown overboard and eaten by fulmars, who specialise in floating sea-offal and nest on cliffs with gulls and rock-doves. The danger is that anyone clearing-up dried droppings from infected birds may inhale the dust and develop ornithosis themselves-an unpleasant and possibly dangerous kind of virus pneumonia. There have been warnings to pigeon fanciers about cleaning out lofts, as this has already happened. but none that I have seen to the rest of us who have to clear up after their wretched birds

- THIS TIDYING UP

"Is it the Methods Committee and the Central Council that are dictating and tidying up? I personally think that there are one or two puritanical individuals who are satisfying their personal whims by using 'the gift of the gab' in the very short time that the Council sits for discussion after two or three days' 'tower grabbing.'

FRANK T. BLAGROVE."
Just how far can one go over to the other side? Harold Wilson has nothing on this one!-Yours sincerely,

ROBERT B. SMITH.

Marple, Cheshire.

(Concluded case.)

May I suggest this course of action for any birds caught in towers-night is the best time with a torch and no moon, but take care not to step on something that is not there! Unringed birds-pigeon pie, the squabs are very good when roasted Ringed birds-open the wing feathers and look for a club address stamped on them. Return the bird by rail to that address-you will get your 7s. 6d. If there is a rubber ring on the other leg the bird has been lost during a race and may be valuable. If there is no address, let the local fanciers or the R.S.P.C.A. have it-it is then up to them. If you note the ring number and the bird turns up again, you will know what has happened. Odd plastic rings mean nothing; they are just used for sorting out birds casily in the loft If the bird has a ring and nothing else, treat it as unringed, it is almost certainly of no further use to its owner. Though. strictly, this is illegal, no one is likely to know (or care if they do know) as things stand. Nests and eggs should be destroyed. single eggs are usually fresh (check by shining the torch through it) and make good eating.

To be fair to the fanciers, there are often some who are willing to come and help catch up the birds. A good first step is to get in contact with the local secretary, but the problem is national. Unless we, they and the loccal authorities can get together and do something about it the general pigeon population is bound to continue building up over the years until it matches the supply of food and nesting sites available. A solution which merely drives them from one bulding to another can only make things worse in the long run. - Yours sincerely,

Frome, Somerset

RESIDENT OR ALL LOCAL

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. G. H. Harding's comments on Surprise ringing at Twerton-on-Avon, Bath (page 826), it would be interesting to learn if he defines a "resident band" in the same way as he does an " all local " one.
Of the ringers who rang the first peal of Surprise by a resident band in 1930, three were not members of the Twerton band-T. Grant was tower master of Bath Abbey, W. H. Crocker and Miss N. G. Williams came from Weston. The band was therefore resident only because they all resided in the Bath district. although they may have attended the Surprise practices at Twerton.

In contrast, every ringer of Alan Lee's band which rang the quarter of Cambridge a few weeks ago learned to handle a bell at Twerton and all are regular Sunday service ringers at that tower. There is a difference. - Yours faithfully.
G. J. HAWKINS.

Bath.

23-YEAR GAP BETWEEN PEALS

The peal of Bob Major rung at West Wycombe on October 23 rd was the first peal on eight for E. H. Langley for some 23 years, and coincidental that it happened to be Bob Major at Christ Church, Southport. This was to welcome home a ringer from a prisoner-ofwar camp.
The latest, arranged by John Taylor, of Marlow, and conducted by Mr. David Cornwall, of Hughenden, was allowed to be rung for the homecoming from Rhodesia of E. H. Langley's youngest daughter, who is to be married in Cornwall next month.

LOOKING BACK

VICTORIAN RINGERS AT ST. GILES', PONTEFRACT

By J. H. LENTON
WHEN 1 arrived in Pontefract in 1910 there was an inleresting band of Victorian ringers, four of whom had their names on a board in the belfry commemorating the rehanging of the bells in 1887.

The leader of the band was William Pearson, a master plumber. A very good ringer with a keen ear. he could write down the courseends of a touch outside the tower. Mainly through his efforts the bells were recast and the two trebles added in 1920 as a war memorial. He was a member of the Yorkshire As. sociation Committee.

George Spurr, a master slater, chiefly a Grandsire ringer, could always tell a good tale and sang "Old King Cole" at the annual dinner.

Samuel Brook, a maltster, another Grandsire ringer, who had little to say, always rang the fourth bell
Jack Carter, a market gardener, who soon adapted himself to ten-bell ringing, was safe in Stedman or Treble Bob. He travelled to Leeds Market during the night with his horse and dray and produce. Jack did not believe in banks but hid his money in the loft; there was a fire, and he lost it. The town made an appeal for him. When he was too frail to climb the steps to the belfry he would sit in the Butter Cross and listen to the ringing. His son, who succeeded to the business, was the last market gardener to grow liquorice in Pontefract

Fred Moody, a bricklayer, a good, safe ringer, called the first peal of Stedman Triples by a local band in 1904: died suddenly 1920.

William Jackson, who joined the company in 1899, was a cabinet maker: could ring several methods, but his thoughts were inclined to wander.
Arthur Walker, who joined the band in 1899, was a carter for an ironmongery store.

He called the first peal of Double Norwich by a local band in 1911. I always admired Arthur Waiker. His first wife died young, leaving him with four little children. He was proud to relate that he got up early on Sunday mornings, went to the stable and fed and groomed his horse, back home and got the children up, washed and fed them, sent them to Sunday School and was in the belfry at 9.30 -and never late. If we had more like him today it would help Sunday ringing.
There were not many Edwardian ringers Tom Holder joined the company in 1903 and was an engineer. He made and maintained machinery for the liquorice works. He often came to ring on a Sunday morning in his working clothes. Tom was captain of the Fire Brigade, a staunch Liberal and Congregationalist and led many debates in the belfry.
Harry Walters joined in 1906, was a cabinet maker and manager of the Co-operative Society's undertaking department. A keen Stedman ringer and conductor, in 1921 he conducted the first peal of Grandsire Caters on the new bells. He was a member of the Yorkshire Association Committee. When he died in 1950, at the age of 64, the president of the Association attended his funeral.

Albert Strangward joined in 1907; he did not aim high, was content to cover, but he did turn the tenor in to a peal of Oxford Royal.
J. E. Pickard and myself were made members in 1913. Mr. Pickard was borough engineer and also organist at the Congregrational Church. We stopped ringing to allow him time to get to church (three minutes walk away). These duties took up a lot of his Sunday time. 9.30 to 12 and 5.30 to 8 . He left Pontefract for Canada and we lost contact.

William Pearson resigned so 1 could be made a member of the team of nine ringers.

From 1887 the church paid the ringers $£ 25$ per annum. There was also $£ 1$ for ringing for the Confirmation service and another £1 for the Archdeacon's Visitation. There was ring ing for Mayor's Day, and the Mayor was always generous. When Mr. Pearson mentioned these terms I told him I was a voluntary ringer. He said never bring this forward as it would be the end of the ringing. I have often thought of his words when struggling to keep the band going without this reward.
In thase days each ringer would receive about $£ 3$ per annum, made up of salary and fines-3d. late, 6d. absent. £3 would purchase a suit or buy shoes for the family.

The first claim on the funds was for "The Bell News," and, later, "The Ringing World."
These men were not great churchmen. I only remember seeing William Pearson in church, and he was a sidesman. Three were Congregationalists, one a Wesleyan.

Practices were held during the winter months, opening in October with drinks. We each subscribed to a bottle of whisky ( 3 s .6 d .) and some beer. The last time there was drink in the belfry was during Peace celebrations in 1919. The Mayor brought up a bottle of champagne.
The tower door opens into the market place. Two bells were used as fire bells to call out the brigade. The last time they were used was for a fire at a motor-cycle showroom and garage. A man living near the church rang the bells and broke a stay, which delayed the brigade and the place was burnt down. After this incident the town provided a siren.
In the early 1920's frequent visitors to the belfry were Arthur Gill, of Wath, and Frank Atkinson, of Wragby (now of York and 86 years old) One Sunday evening Frank cycled from Wragby and left his cycle at the bottom of the tower. Some choir boys tied it to one of the fire ropes. A ringer, thinking a choir boy was on the rope, pulled it up and let it go and said "That's soused him." But it was the cycle, which had two flats. Frank had to borrow a cycle to get home.

"MDP MIEN"9 IN ee PDTAT("

A FTER last year's invasion of "scrumpy land," the hop men, drawn mainly from the Ashford area of Kent with one or two camp followers and ale sinkers from Hemel Hempstead and Biggleswade, decided to visit Lincolnshire for their annual autumn sojourn.

Most of the party arrived at the headquarters at Branston in time for a ring on the pleasant six before half a dozen of the more stalwart members rang a quarter peal. ably conducted by Brian Johnson. After an excellent meal at the hotel a short drive took us to Waddington Right trusty navigator Huckstepp nearly led the convoy down the main airstrip at the local R.A.F. station; luckily he discovered his mistake before the R.A.F. did. and beat a hasty retreat.

The following morning started with a quick ring at Dunston (locally reported as poor, but better than most Kent fives). Charles discovered that the fourth was not stayless, as we had been informed, when he absentmindedly set it up! Then, on to the Fenland. where we were joined at Donington by Alan and Anne, who had motored up that morning from London. The many leaning steeples reminded the driver of the old Lincolnshire rhyme:
"Gosberton Church is very high,
Surfleet Church is all awry;
Pinchbeck Church is in a hole,
And Spalding Church is big with foal." Apart from its askew tower, Surfleet will be remembered for its little ring of 12 and probably the noisiest rope guides encountered on the tour. Inevitable comparisons were made hetween these bells and our more local ring at Quex Park, the general consensus of opinion being that Surfieet bells handle rather more easily, but Quex are probably a litue more audible, though neither ring excels in this respect. Pinchbeck's large tower, with an even more alarming list to the west, rewarded us with a grand ring of bells after the rather harrowing experience of climbing a spiral staircase on the slant (two steps up to one step down!). An equally fine eight, though completely different in character, was found at Spalding.
BABY MARTIN ASCENDS "THE STUMP *
After the light eight at Bicker came the majestic six at Gosberton, and we would have liked to have stayed longer to enjoy these bells. A rather hair-raising drive to Boston followed, during which a lorry almost overtook David's M.G., which thoroughly deserved the ensuing traditional English "cuppa" before ringing at " The Stump." Baby Martin was carried by his father nearly 200 steps (in almost total darkness) to the ringing chamber. The ten were rather an anti-climax, but they were rung at all speeds to suit all castes. Back at the hotel we were joined by John, Mary, Tony, Bob and, eventually, Colin, after British Rail, in their wisdom had both delayed the train and caused it to arrive at the wrong Lincoln station, utterly confounding attempts to meet him.

Saturday started at Saxilby, where we were joined by friends from Charing and where Spliced Surprise Minor was rung in the hope rather than the belief that everyone knew the methods. On the grand eight at Gainsborough Uncle Sam, on the tenor, set a good beat for Stedman Triples prior to a local wedding. After lunch, some had both the time and inclination for a quick run on the dodgems at a local fair before ringing on the ten at East Retford, which must now surely rank as one of the best rings in the neighbourhood. Grandsire and Stedman Caters went well, but four leads of Cambridge Royal petered out after $3 \frac{1}{2}$ leads warning. At Sutton-on-Trent, where we had the pleasure of meeting the Misses Burchnall, an attempt for 8 -Spliced Surprise nearly made success.

We were privileged to have a short ring on the 12 at Southwell prior to Evensong. When we had got used to the initially alarming dip in the floorboards some enjoyable ringing was had.

SPINACH FOR LUNCH !

A stop for a final ring at Brant Broughton was made, where the bells are as easy to hear as they are to ring-all the up-and-coming tenor men had obviously had their spinach for lunch, and some good striking was attained. A convivial evening was later enjoyed at the hotel: Tony, as usual, surrounded by full glasses and empty bottles, Colin regaling us with all the principles he nearly constructed (rumour nas it that he recently rediscovered Stedman) and the rest discussing the whereabout of absent friends and the venue for next year's trip.

All too soon, bags were being packed for the last time and the lazier members ignominiously routed from bed. All assembled at Lincoln Cathedral to enjoy three-quarters of an hour on the fine ring of 12 . After a long wait outside St. Giles', Lincoln, patience was rewarded with the chance of a short ring on another good eight. Thence we split up to go our different ways, most of the band reassembling at Grantham in the afternoon to sample the excellent ten in the stately tower.

YELLOW BELLY.

CORRECTIONS & AMIENDMENTS

The quarter peal rung at Merton (see issue of October 25th) was a farewell compliment to Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Dennis, who are shortly leaving the parish.
The Rev. Norman J. Smith was inducted to Chidham, and not Chilham, as inadvertently appeared in our issue of Octoher 25th (page 835).

Regarding the peal of Major at Lydd (page 832), it was rung on September 21st, and no as printed. Mr. Brian C. Johnson inquires if this is the first peal of Major by a band of first-pealers in the country.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. F. C. Farnsworth has completed 50 years' service as a ringer at Ospringe, Kent. A congratulatory quarter was rung on October 20th.

Mr. Alan Scholfield asks us to state that in his letter on page 878 the views that he there ex pressed were not necessarily those of the Cambridge University Guild but his own personal observations.

Jeremy Piron (aged 10) and weighing a mere $54 \mathrm{lb} .$, rang his first quarter at St. Paul's Bedford, on October 20th on a bell weighing 792 lb . Our correspondent hopes that this will be the start of an outstanding ringing career.
All eight ringers in a quarter peal at Twer-ton-on-Avon, Bath, are members of the choir, and seven teenagers are pupils of Mr. Alan F. Lee, the conductor. It was a proud moment for the conductor when this "musical" quarter came round.

A former active member of the Pucklechurch Glos, band, the Rev. D. B. Pennal, was ordained at Aston Parish Church, Birmingham, on September 22nd A quarter peal was rung by his old ringers on October 15 th with good wishes to him in his vocation.
We regres to report that Mr. Ken Lawson had a heart attack while ringing at St. Stephen's, Newcastle, during the annual general meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Association. He was taken to Newcastle General Hospital. The latest report is that he is now allowed to see visitors.
Miss Y. Eloie, librarian to the Guildford Guild library, informs us that "History of Shorediteh Church," written by H. J. Bradley, the steeplekeeper there in 1913, to raise money for the restoration, contains an appendix giving an account of the 1913 restoration and peals up to January, 1914. This book is in the Guildford Library.

45 YEARS AS TOWER CAPTAIN

At the annual meeting in Hughenden belfry, Mr. Roland Biggs retired from the post of tower captain, a position he had held for 45 years. He has agreed, however, to continue as steeplekeeper, a responsibility he has carried out most admirably, as any visitor to Hughenden will remember. It will be difficult for the future tower captain to achieve such a high standard. His successor has a deputy to assist him.

Many people have been taught to ring by Mr. Biggs and in that respect it is worth recording that the 300 th peal on the bells was a local non-conducted peal of Grandsire Triples. Roland has rung almost 200 peals at Hughenden and one of his ambitions is to ring a local peal of London. On behalf of the company. Mrs. J. I. Cornwall writes : "We look forward to ringing with Mr. Biggs for many years to come."

THE CORBYS' PEAL AT CORBY

A peal was rung on October 26 th at Corby, Northamptonshire. in which the participants all bore the surname Corby. Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Corby and their son and daughter live at Sevenoaks, Kent, and the band was completed by R. Gordon Corby, of Wakefield, formerly from Chester, and Christopher D. Corby, from St. Neots. The peal was rung with the bells half-muffled in respect to the memory of Mr. Ronald Russell, of Corby, a very well-known member of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. who died on October 4th Mrs. Russell very kindly entertained the peal hand to tea together with Mr. H. Bell, churchwarden, who had made the local arrangements for the peal.

The Corbys are most grateful to have had the opportunity to ring this unusual peal.

UNIVERSITY OF WALFS SOCIETY

It was an unfortunate choice of the Society 10 select Kent in the week following the heavy flooding for its summer tour. The dislocation of road and rail services made it necessary to cancel the first two towers in the programme. Otherwise we arrived at towers unusually punctual for us as a Society

For most of the tour we were handicapped by shortage of numbers and ringing ability. Very little Surprise or Treble Bob was rung, hut occasionally we managed some well-struck Stedman.

Our thanks are due to incumbents and the many friends who helped with transport or supplemented our numbers.
R.S. H.

FINE RESPONSE TO ONE-DAY HUNTS

 SCHOOLA very successful one-day ringing course was held at Stanground, Hunts, on October 26th. The idea of the Rev. Paul Bennett, the curate at Stanground, it was sponsored by the Huntingdon and Peterborough County Youth Committee and organised by the Huntingdon District of the Ely Diocesan Association under trict of the Ely Diocesan Association

Over 60 pupils. mostly of school age. attended, which exceeded all the organisers' expectations. Both theoretical and practical instruction was given in neighbouring towers, and the day ended with the showing of the film "Ringers Required." It is hoped that this will be the first of many such courses.

Mrs. R. M. Coombs, of Marksbury Gate, Bath, writes suggesting that when people complain about the ringing of bells it is because their conscience is disturbed through their neglect in worshipping God. If bells can rouse men's and women's consciences to their solemn duty, then they are doing a very great work indeed, she adds.
"I ring to tell both ill and well
The joyful new of the Gospel."

THE, DORSET RINGING FESTIVAL

After a lapse of five years, duc to repairs to the tower, the Dorset Ringing Festival took place again on October 26th in Blandford Parish Church. Some 60 ringers from various parts of the county took part and the bells were ringing from 3 o'clock to 4.30 p.m.. when, at the Festival service, the Rector (Canon H. G. Goodall) welcomed the ringers. The lesson was read by Mr. J. Barrett, of Beaminster, and, in place of a sermon, the Rev. R. N. Longridge read out the terms of the bequest of the late Samuel Francis Pond, the benefactor of the Festival. Mr. Purvis played the organ. Attending the service were the Mayor and Mayoress of Blandford (Councillor and Mrs.

Fry).

At tea in the Corn Exchange afterwards the Mayor welcomed the ringers to the town and presided over a discussion as to the future nature of the Festival. It was generally agreed that it should incorporate some form of ringing competition, as allowed for in the terms of the bequest, and a committee was formed to devise and organise a trial festival on these lines for next year. On this matter, advice and support were given by the Town Clerk. Mr. Lavington, and other councillors present.

The ringing, which was resumed later, was under the direction of Mr. E. H. Amey, of Dorchester.

FINDING THE RIGHT GIRL

When ladies are ringing their first peal in married status will they kindly forward their maiden name either to the Editor or Mr. G. E. Thoday, 62, Young Street, Cambridge CB1 2LZ. who is keeping this year's records. He would like the names of all ladies ringing peals who have been married this year.

A NEW ESSEX EIGHT

St. Andrew's Church, Rochford. Essex, has been presented with a new ring of eight bells by Mr. Nigel Prevost in memory of his son, who died two years ago. It will be dedicated on December ist by the Bishop of Bradwell.

150th ANNIVERSARY PEAL LOST

Saturday, October 26th, 1968, was the 150 th anniversary of the first peal rung at St. Mary's Church. Eastbourne (the peal was Grandsire Triples). An anniversary peal attempt of Grandsire Triples was made on the anniversary day, but unfortunately was lost due to a broken rope. The steeplekeeper is still trying to get out of the tower after being told to check the ropes properly before the next attempt is made.

RINGING FOR "ST. PAUL'S TODAY"

As many readers no doubt know, St. Paul's Cathedral is conducting a three-month experiment under the general title of "St. Paul's To-day," otherwise known as, "Pop-in St. Paul's," which is an attempt to give young people of all denominations "an opportunity to express in the Cathedral in their own way what they are thinking and doing positively." Over the three months a wide variety of activities and skills are being displayed.

When it came to bellringing, however, it was pointed out to the organisers of "St. Paul's Today " that the Cathedral bells, because of their weight and long draught of rope, are not suitable for ringing by comparatively inexperienced bands. Accordingly, it was agreed that our art should be represented by a peal attempt, the band consisting of members of the St. Paul's Cathedral Guild of Ringers and other College Youths who assist regularly in ringing the bells on Sundays. So the band which rang a peal of Stedman Cinques on Saturday, October 26th, was not perhaps quite as youthful as some of the other groups who have been taking part in "St. Paul's Today." but at least it was probably the band with the lowest average age ever to have rung a peal there, only one of the band being over 40.

Incidentally, this peal must have been one of the best publicised attempts there has been for a long time; besides appearing in the official programme of "St. Paul's Today" it was mentioned in "The City Press" and "The Times " and was referred to in the B.B.C. Radio 4 programme "South-East" on the Friday evening.

EXETER UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

The Michaelmas term meeting of the Exeter University Society was held at St. Mark's. Exeter, on October 23rd. Miss A. C. Hughes took the chair and the following officers were elected: Ringing Master, Mr. K. A. Hughes; secretary and treasurer, Mr. P. K. Goodhew. It is expected that the coming year will be very successful for this relatively new Society, in conjunction with the Exeter Colleges Guild.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The second Saturday in October again saw the Biggleswade District active in its monthly meeting. Firstly the District ringers visited Haynes (a melodious five) during the afternoon and then went to Maulden for a very nice tea prepared by local ladies.

During the short business meeting, at which Mr. Ashton took the chair in the absence of the chairman, Mr. Mehew, three new members were elected-two from Stotfold and one from Ampthill.
When the meeting closed. everybody climbed the hill to the church to ring until 8.30. The ringers enjoyed ringing not only on the octave hut also on Maulden's handbells in the nave. The fine evening brought out many more people, and total attendance for the day was about 45 .

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The annual general meeting of the Lewisham District was held on October 26th at Chislehurst. Attendance was unusually low for this District, particularly for an annual meeting. The afternoon ringing took place at the Annunciation tower on the ring of eight.
Mr. E. A. Barnett was chairman at the business meeting. Miss Mary Andrews was unanimously elected for a further term as District secretary. Mr. Tony Lewis is the new Ringing Master and continues with Mr. D. Paul Smith as District representative.
The meeting wholeheartedly approved that the Alfred G. Smith Memorial should take the form of an investment, the interest of which will provide beginners' books for recruits. Monthly joint practices are to continue within the District and another ringing school is to be arranged at a later date.
Mr. A. S. Richards proposed votes of thanks to the ladies who provided tea. to Dr. D. V. Reed for the use of the Annunciation bells, to the Rev. S. H. Adams (Rector of St. Nicholas') for allowing members to join Evensong and for the use of the bells after tho service.
The ringing, which ranged from rounds to London Surprise Major. ended at 8 p.m.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Tewkesbury Branch, held at Tewkesbury, was well attended by members of the Branch and visitors from neighbouring Branches.
The service in the Abbey was more than well attended, as the choir of Cheltenham College were there to give a recital and take part in the service, their singing being much appreciated by the ringers, who were in the choir stalls, and the visiting congregation, who filled almost half of the nave.
A very good tea followed in the Church Hall, after which the business meeting was held, presided over by Mr. Ralph Perks, the Branch chairman, who was later re-elected to the office for another year.

There were changes in other officers. Mr. H. B. Scofield being made Ringing Master in place of Mr. J. Attwood. and Mr. D. E. Deakins secretary, replacing Mr. L. C. Prosser, who has moved out of the area covered by the Branch, with Mr. F. E. Wood to represent the Branch on the Association Management Committee.
Reports on the last two meetings of the committee were presented in detail by Mr. Wood, and matters discussed were arrangements for the Association annual general meeting to be held at Tewkesbury next April, the Association annual report and the decisions reached regarding Branch boundaries. Good use was made of the Abbey bells both hefore and after the meeting, ringing ranging from rounds on the 12, Grandsire Doubles to Caters and an attempt at Plain Bob Maximus.

275 GRANT TO STINCHCOMBE

DURHAM & NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

anNuAL MEETING AT NEWCASTLE ON TYNE

THERE has been a feeling during the last few years at annual meetings of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association that the verbal presentation of reports by the various officers was not satisfactory on two counts. One was the consumption of time in the business meeting and the other was that this practice gave little or no opportunity for proper consideration of the contents of the reports.
The situation was considered by the committee at its customary meeting about a fortnight before the annual meeting and there emerged the idea of duplicating the draft reports and handing them out earlier in the day. The officers agreed to do what they could to give the idea a trial this year, although the notice was rather short.
With all but one of the reports duplicated, the secretary went to Newcastle on Saturday, October 5th, for this year's annual meeting expecting the business to be concluded more quickly and more efficiently. "Get the bells up before the meeting," he said to George Deas, "as we should be able to manage a touch before the service in the Cathedral." Touch before the service? We did not leave much time for touches after the service I It was just as well the bells were up.

REPERCUSSIONS

What took up the time? Well, there was one report that was not duplicated. Kenneth Arthur, the Ringing Master, had told the committee that business commitments would not enable him to have his report ready in time for duplication and so he had to read it out. Kenneth puts a great deal of effort into his office and consequently has quite a number of things to report year by year. His report is always a comprehensive one and this year's was no exception. Two of the items evoked criticism. Kenneth himself had passed critical comment on the circumstances in which a peal for the Durham University Society had been arranged on the local practice night at Consett. Malcolm Johnson, a member of the D.U.S., and Bill Tyson. of Consett, related the details and explained that everything had been sorted out amicably within a week or two of the event. It was felt that no good purpose was serveed by raising the matter again and a motion to delete that item from the report was carried.
Not unnaturally, this had repercussions in the election of officers and Kenneth offered his resignation, although he had been recommended for re-election by the committee. Several people spoke in appreciation of the work that he has done over many years and, happily, he was persuaded to stand again.

PEALS AND "THE RINGING WORLD"

Another controversial issue was raised by the secretary. The redort of "The Ringing World " Committee at Worcester had suggested that peal ringers might make voluntary contributions towards the cost of publishing peals in the papor and he felt that this suggestion should he brought to the notice of the Association. The Association already collects contributions from peal ringers towards its own printing costs and he suggested that the wording of the motion of the 1960 annual general mecting should be modified to increase the contributions to a shilling a rope, with the additional money going to "The Ringing World " at the end of the year. The idea got as far as finding a seconder and that was all, for it was very heavily defeated. The two alternative sugges: tions to help "The Ringing World "were both adopted-one that an annual sum should be donated at the committee's discretion from the funds of the Association, and the other was that a box should be provided at District meetings for voluntary contributions.

The afternoon began with ringing at Newburn, where ringers were able to appreciate the improvement after the rehanging by Taylor's The rededication had taken place the previous Sunday on the Patronal Festival and was a very satisfactory culmination of the efforts of the local ringers in raising the money for this work.

KEN LAWSON

The next tower was St. Stephen's and it was there that Ken Lawson collapsed while ringing. Most people assumed that it was a diabetic coma, knowing that Ken suffered from diabetes, but some of his closer fricnds summoned medical aid and an ambulance arrived and took him to Newcastle General Hospital. At the time of writing this report, a fortnight later, he is still there in Ward 7, the victim of a heart attack. The president, Bill Tyson, in opening the business meeting, expressed the sympathy of everyone with Margaret and the two daughters, Ann and Enid, and hoped that it would not be long before Ken was well again.
Fenham was the last tower for ringing in the afternoon and there was guite a crowd of ringers in the well-appointed ringing chamber. Ringing in the evening was confined to the Cathedral and good use was made of the restricted time left after conclusion of the business.
The service in the Cathedral was conducted by the Archdeacon of Northumberland, the Ven C. P. Unwin, and the preacher was the Rev. A. J. G. Ellery, Vicar of Tanfield (both of them have done some practical ringing). Mr. Ellery took the text from Amos iii, 8 "The lion hath roared. who will not fear? The Lord God hath spoken, who can but prophesy?'

NEW PRESIDENT

The business meeting began with Bill Tyson presiding, but as Bill had held the office for three years he was ineligible for re-election. When it came to the election of officers Bill nominated Roland Park, of Darlington, as his successor and recalled the long association of the Park family with the Society. The other officers were re-elected and so the list for 196869 became: President, R. Park; secretary, D. A. Bayles; treasurer, E. N. Harrison; Ringing Master, K. Arthur; editorial secretary, K. W. Cheeseman: auditor, $\mathbf{F}$. Ainsley; trustees, K. Arthur and E. N. Harrison. The District officers were confirmed as follows: Northern: Chairman, S. Hewitt: secretary. D. Martin. Central: Chairman, W. Tyson ; secretary. W. Davidson. Southern: Chairman. T. Cooke; secretary, Miss J. Warwick. In the matter of Central Council representation it was pointed out that the membership might possibly rise by the end of 1968 to the point where three representatives could be elected. It was agreed to reappoint Messrs, Arthur and Bayles with R. Park in reserve if a third one was required.

The peal report showed a large increase in the number of peals over the previous year. The total was 34,31 of them on tower bells and three "in hand." Seventy-six ringers took part in these peals and six rang their first peal on tower bells, viz. S. Atkinson. G. A. Barker, D. R. Cox, B. Palmer, E. J. Trundley and Miss S. Woodward. Leading peal ringers were $G$. Deas (19), E. N. Harrison (16) and M. Maughan (15). M. Maughan was the leading conductor with nine.

FINANCES

The treasurer's report showed a large increase in the balance in hand from $£ 549 \mathrm{~s} .4 \mathrm{~d}$. to $£ 113$ 3s. 7d., with the General Fund increasing from $£ 208 \mathrm{~s}$. Id. to $£ 7013 \mathrm{~s}$. Sd. A pleasing feature of this statement was the increase of about ten per cent. in the income from subscriptions, but the chief factor in the increased balance was that no printed annual report had been produced during the year. It was decided that a combined report should be printed for the two years 1966-67 and 1967-68. The stock of badges with brooch fittings had been sold out and authority was given to purchase 300 of this type and to raise the price to members to 3 s . 6 d . in line with the increased cost.
Seven new members were elected-three from Lanchester, three from Shincliffe and one from South Shields.
Roland Park proposed an omnibus vote of thanks after tea at Bainbridge's Restaurant while the Archdeacon and Mr. Ellery were there to acknowledge it. Later, back in the library, Roland proposed another vote of thanks to the retiring president. He said that Bill Tyson had filled the office with tremendous enthusiasm over the three years and he felt that members would wish to acknowledge his efforts. It was quite evident from vigorous and sustained applause that those sentiments were echoed by all present.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

St. Albans District

The light six at Sandridge were open for the meeting on October 19th, methods up to London and Cambridge being rung during the afternoon under the direction of Mr. Andrew Wilby. Some confusion arose over the service as the Vicar was on holiday and his stand-in had not expected us quite so early. But we struggled through and then walked over to the Church Hall for tea.
Mr. Vic Frost took the chair at the business meeting. Tickets for the District dinner on December 7th were available from the secretary at 30 s, each. The meeting on November 16th was at North Mymms in the afternoon and at Monken Hadley in the evening.

Some discussion followed on the quarter peal programme. One quarter had been scored and three lost so far. It was agreed to carry on with this. The I.T.V. visit on November 28th was also mentioned: names should be given to the secretary, who will give details when received from I.T.V. The secretary reminded members that at the end of the year he has to submit a list of towers and members to the Association secretary for publication in the annual report

A vote of thanks went to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the Vicar of Marshalswick for the service. Boh Hardy for playing the organ and the local ringers for the tea.

Fvening ringing continued until 8 p.m. with a fair range of methods and visitors. J. A.F.

Eastern District

The Eastern District's October meeting started at Little Munden (6). where a variety of methods was rung. including London and Cambridge. A short service was conducted by the Rev. A. Bennett. who made special mention of the death of Mr. Sidney Carter, the well-known ringer, who was born in this village

Tea was laid on in the village school by church ladies, and at a hrief meeting two new members were elected-Timothy Peacock and Stuart Marshall. of Tewin. The District's Ringing Master (Mr. E. Newnham) proposed the vote of thanks and welcomed the county president (Dr. D. Gullick).
Further ringing took place at Little Munden and on the "stiff-going" eight at Ware. At 8 p.m. the bells were rung down. and so ended a very successful meeting. B. J. W. F.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

The Church of St. Mary the Virgin, Launton

BEFORE REFORMING THE COUNCIL CONSIDER THESE POINTS

By the Rev. JOHN G. M. SCOTT

On October 11th you published a letter from Mr. Christopher F. Mew under the heading "Is the Central Council a White Elephant?" Expecting a spate of replies, I did not venture any comment on it, but as nobody else seems to have considered it worthy of notice perhaps a few comments are the least that Mr. Mew deserves, even if they do come from me, for he has raised a number of very interesting topics.

I think it better not to deal with his points in the order in which he takes them, as I think that the matter of the ringing and social activities must wait until we have decided just what it is the Council ought to be doing.
(1) The present Council is probably too big for "efficient debate". But is that all it's there for? There are two ways of bringing your point of view before the Council; either you get up and make a speech, in which you may ruin a good case or make a bad one look better than it is by eloquence or the lack of it. Or you can talk, before the meeting (perhaps even on the way to a tower during the week-end ringing beano) to someone who is involved in the matter and who will himself be speaking about it . The second method is often more effective than the first. It follows that there are a number of highly effective members of the Council who very seldom speak at all during a meeting.

The Council also functions quite apart from decision-making which affect its size: one of these is providing a trunk on which can grow the various committees which work for it. Some of these are not concerned with advising the Council but with taking the Council's work to the outside world; they meet but seldom, for what they require is a body of people scattered over the country to look after a department of the Council's work; they therefore have to be big enough to do it effectively. If these branches are to be sufficiently big, they must have a big enough trunk to carry them.
Another function is hard to define and evaluate but probably as important as any -acting as the central meeting-point for the Exercise. A representative may go two or three hundred miles, and spend four days away from home, and speak not a word in debate, but his contacts with other ringers, particularly with ringers of different backgrounds from associations from different areas, may be invaluable to his own society. We have seen societies for which affiliation to the C.C. has been the start of a new life. no less-and just think how much good it must do all those peal-ringers and towergrabbers to spend a week-end in the company of right-minded people like Mr. Mew!
Now both these functions are probably as important as decision-making and debate; were the size of the Council to be dictated only by the needs of efficient debate it might impair them very seriously.
(2) What is more, if these functions are to be adequately fulfilled, then one thing that the Council must have is a good deal of time not spent in meetings. Members of the Towers and Belfries and Sunday Service Ringing Committees, for instance, may live four hundred miles apart and see one another only at the Council, yet their comparing of notes will often be of great value to themselves and the Exercise. If Mr. Mew is going to herd us all into meetings from the Saturday to the Tuesday and engage us in efficient debate for four days, when can this happen? Perhaps there is a little too much of a ringing beano at present, but in my experience much of this stems from the desire on the part of the host society to do the honours as well as possible and also to get some good ringing for its own members - certainly I waited in one tower this year for 45 minutes to ring a sixscore of Doubles in a crowd of whom C.C. members did not make up a tenth. Yet even then I don't think it was time wasted, for among that tenth were people whom I was glad to see and with whom I had things to discuss.
I do agree wholeheartedly, however, about the curtailment of meetings because of social functions. One doesn't like to be churlish when the civic authorities wish to do the Council honour, but one wonders whether the civic receptions couldn't be laid on at a time-say the Monday afternoon or even on the Saturday-when they cannot interfere with the business. Then, if we had really important work to do, we could stick at it till midnight and do it properly.
I know that the clergy are now a very small group on the Council, but their convenience is not the only reason for not carrying the meeting over the week-end. I for one would be profoundly unhappy if the Council were to arrange its meetings in such a way that members could not attend without abandoning their own towers on a Sunday. I know that many do make a weekend of it, but at present they don't have to, and it would be a sad day if they did, for it would make nonsense of the Council's claim to do everything possible to encourage service ringing if it demanded the absence of 150 -odd ringers from their home towers every year.
(3) The demand for really fast decisionmaking by the Council doesn't really seem terribly realistic; the space age doesn't yet seem to have affected the Exercise very profoundly, and I can't for the life of me see how it's going to. I know that some pieces of business get left over from one year to another-and I know also that many of them need to be. It will not do the Exercise irreparable harm to wait for a final decision about Doubles Methods, and it may well be a better decision for having had a year's consideration. If the Council's methods had been streamlined for instant decision-making two years ago, I fancy Mr. Mew might not have had a "Ringing World" to publish his letter.
(4) Representatives are not delegates, and it would be a very difficult situation for them if they were. For one thing a representative would be in honour bound to resign if ever his association advanced a motion with which he didn't agree. For another thing every association would have to debate every piece of business on the agenda and give its representatives detailed instructions. or else they would be unable to speak or vote. Imagine a motion coming up which was not on the agenda: without instructions none of the representatives would be able to vote, and the matter would be decided entirely by the Honorary Members!

(5) As to cross-representation, I can't see any way out of this that would be workable and fair. After all, I may be a member of two societies and my membership may be counted for both; but the interests of the two may be quite different, and so may my interests as a member of each.
(6) Perhaps some of the non-territorial societies are over-represented; cutting them down to size would not do much to reduce the size of the Council, though. As to the rest, a reduction would result in unfairness. You can cut down the Guild of Devonshire Ringers by $25 \%$, but you can't do the same for the East Grinstead and District Guild, can you?
Much of what I've said about the size of the Council and its programme applies to that other body which meets in the Palace of Westminster. Of late people have been making sure that it keeps up with the space age-its decision-making is very rapid indeed, as witness the Commonwealth Immigration Act which was not only shameful but proved to be unnecessary; its members are being made to devote more and more of their time to debate and leave behind the atmosphere of a gentlemanly club which once they enjoyed: and by an odd coincidence it has never in history been more out of touch with the people or in lower public repute.

The Church of St. Mary the Virgin, Launton, Oxon.

By FREDERICK SHARPE

FOR mutual protection our Anglo-Saxon forefathers usually built their dwellings close together in settlements, or 'tuns': but Launton was an exception, and from this peculiarity the village derived its original name. Here the ground forms a slight ridge, sloping towards two brooks; and, having cleared the higher ground, the settlers erected their buildings in a continuous line and called the place "Langetun "-the long "tun," or village.
The later Saxon kings had much to do with this neighbourhood. Dorchester was the cathedral city, first of Wessex, later of Mercia. There were royal palaces at Headington, Islip and Woodstock. In 1004 Edward the Confessor was born at Islip; and from the Domesday Survey we learn that in his day Launton was one of the 1422 manors which were the hereditary property of the Crown. Edward's chief interest was the founding and building of Westminster Abbey. To this he gave onetenth of his estates, and among his gifts was Launton.
The Abbot of Westminster took possession of his newly-acquired property soon after the upheavals caused by the Norman Conquest, and one of his first acts was to cause a small church to be built here for the use of his dependants. It was dedicated to St. John-theBaptist, and consisted of a simple nave, with a semi-circular eastern apse, and bell-cote. To this the present tower was added abour the middle of the 12 th century. The work was done by a guild of masons employed by the Abbot, and the large stone quinquangle on the south side is their guild mark. The tower exhibits late Transitional-Norman details, and the belfry windows consist of double lancets of early character under semi-circular hood mouldings.
Of the original church the tower alone remains. The nave was rebuilt and aisles added towards the end of the 12th century, and when the enlarged church was reconsecrated in or about the year 1238 by Bishop Robert Grosseteste of Lincoln, in whose diocese Launton was then situated. the dedication was changed to that of The Assumntion of the Blessed Virgin Mary. The earlier apse was replaced by the chancel in the 15 th century and, with the addition of a porch, the church assumed its present form.
A bell weighing approximately $3 \frac{3}{2} \mathrm{cw}$. was placed in the tower soon after its erection, and the only other one then in use was the saunce. Although the latter was recast in 1725 by Chandler, of Drayton Parslow. Buckinghamshire, it is still used for its original purpose during the Consecration of the Elements during the Communion service. The writer's first introduction to campanology was the ringing of this small bell.

ITINERANT BELLFOUNDER

In the year 1416 an itinerant bellfounder recast the original tower bell and added two larger ones. In those days it was easier to erect a temporary furnace than to transport bells over country with no roads. The account recording the transaction is extant and gives many details, but omits the most interesting one-the founder's name. Most of the medizval bells in the neighbourhood were cast at the Wokingham foundry, but considering the connection between Launton and Westminster Abbey it seems more likely that they would have employed a London founder. The new bells, weighing 31,5 and 7 cwt , respectively. were hung in a new oak frame. parts of which remained until 1907

Soon after the erection of the ring of three bells the foundations of the tower subsided and it developed a considerable inclination westwards; with it also came the north aisle. In rural parishes it was then the custom to cast bells in a pit as near as possible to the tower in which they were to hang, and the foundations were weakened in this manner. The north aisle was rebuitt in the 15 th century; the leaning tower remains At the Reformation we learn from the inventory made in 155 ? that the church possessed: "Item, iij belles in the stepull and the saunce bell" "

The three bells were recast and augmented to five early in the 18th century. The work was done by members of the Chandler family, either by Richard Chandler II and his nephews, Richard III and George, or by any one or two of them. Each of the four smaller bells was inscribed with the date: " 1701." The tenor bore the inscription: "CHANDLER MADE ME 1712." The mediæval frame was extended to accommodate the additional bells, and the bell chamber enlarged by the removal of the inner lining of the east wall The rope transom of the medieval bell frame was converted into a lintel to support the wall above the portion removed. and still exists. revealing the holes worn by the friction of bell ropes in bygone days, and from it we may ascertain the sizes and positions of the bellpits of 1416 .
Before 1851 the ringing chamber was situated inside the church at ground level. Now it occupies an upper fooor, reached by an external ladder and a short flight of steps set in the thickness of the wall. The doorway measures only four feet ten inches by one foot two inches. To enter, you grab a safety chain. take a deep breath. and squeeze in sidewavs. Once inside you find yourself in a ringing chamber seven feet two inches by seven feet. One corner is occupied by the clock mechamism. another by clock weights. the third by the ladder to the bell chamber, and the fourth by the entrance door.

WATERLOO BROWN

The unusual form of approach to the ringing chamber was constructed to prevent the ringers celebrating each anniversary of the Battle of Waterloo. A nephew of a former rector. Colonel Brown, had distinguished himself in the Army. He was mentioned in despatches by Wellington. after Waterloo. where. after heing twice unhorsed and once ridden over by a troop of enemv cavalry, he rose to mount a runaway horse and lead his men to victory. Each year "Waterloo Brown." as he was known, had a harrel of beer taken into the belfry. and between and after ringing a glorious narty would take place in honour of his exploits. While his uncle was rector, and knowing the Colnnel's yallanı record. no one complained, but the arrival of a new rector hrought quick repressive measures. He ouickly ried to make it impossible to take a barrel into the tower and to ensure that all future ringers were sober and slim
Towards the end of the 19th century fears were expressed that the tower was again moving westward. and as a precautionary measure the huge flying huttresses, shown in our cover photograph. were built in 1892.
In 1907 the bells were again recast. this time by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, who rehung them in a metal frame. The frame is so carefully designed that all the bells are hung at one level. A treble to make six was added at the same time in memory of Richard Thomas Staples-Brown, and his wife, Ann. descendants of "Waterloo Brown." In 1938 self-aligning ball hearings were fitted, and other frictional parts renewed, by Messrs. White, of Appleton.

EARLY MEMORIES
The writer was taught the rudiments of our art in 1919 by the late Richard Castle, for many years verger, chorister and ringer at that time some of the ringers who bad rung in the previous century were active members of the band, notably William Foster, another verger, chorister and ringer, who lived to the age of 91 and died in 1925. He rang regularly until within a year of his death. For excellence of rising and falling in peal and well-struck call changes the performances of these ringers were hard to equal Change ringing was unknown in this part of Oxfordshire before the formation of the Bicester Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild in 1913. Under the leadership of James Marriott the Launton ringers commenced learning Grandsire Doubles; they were all self-taught. and it is to their great credit that they scored their first peal in 1914. Peals on these bells have not been numerous, but one in 1924. in which Edward Hims, of Bicester, rang a pair of bells to Bob Minor deserves mention.

Following some parochial unpleasantness after a peal in 1932, the writer invented the practice device, now known as the " Launton silencer." This apparatus embodies a small striker, pivoted on a clapper bar, which enables the ringer to hear the bell, which cannot be heard 50 yards from the tower. It has been used with advantage in many places, and the initial instruction at Washington Cathedral, U.S.A., was given on it

LONG SERVICE

The ringers today are intimately connected with the church life of the parish. Among the tweive members are one lay reader, three servers, seven choristers. five members of the P.C.C. and four sidesmen. Besides holding four of these offices the vice-captain, Herbert A. Massey, is also verger and church treasurer. The writer has been churchwarden for 36 years and holds four other offices. His co-churchwarden has held office for nine years, but has been a chorister for 74 and a ringer for 70 , and at the age of 82 regularly climbs the external ladder to the belfry and is seldom absent.
The church possesses many treasures. chief among which is the unique chalice, bequeathed. traditionally, by Archbishop Laud to Bishop Robert Skinner before the former's execution. Bishop Skinner's gallant conduct during the Commonwealth is commemorated in the stained glass of the east window. When the Puritans evicted the Anglican clergy and prohibited the use of the Liturgy the Bishop continued to reside at Launton Rectory and publicly used the Prayer Book. He secretly ordained between 400 and 500 priests unknown to the authorities. He was aided by Dr Ralph Bathurst. Fellow and afterwards President of Trinity College. Oxford. Bathurst was in priest's orders. but having also taken a degree in medicine. was then practising as a physician Candidates for ordination came to him secretly: he first examined them and then arranged for them to meet him at Launton Rectory. On the appointed day he went to Launton on the pretext of seeing patients. and officiated at the ordination as Archdeacon In Bishoo Skinner's own words: "Launton during those dismal days was the fountainhead of the English Church."

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT 331st DINNER

College Youths a Link with great City Companies

THE magnetism of the Ancient Society of College Youths is unabated. At the 331s8 annual feast, held at the Walbrook Restaurant, City, on November 2nd, there was - record attendance of 272 men and one lady-Mra. F. I. Hairs. Today she is the only lady member, having been proposed more than 50 years ago by a famous London ringer and past master, Mr. Challls Winney. But there were others present that night with longer membership, the honour of oldent member to talke wine with the Master being Mr. G. E. Symonds, a nonagenarian with over 70 years membership of the Society.

The Master this year, Mr. Philip A. Corby, is one of the best known ringers in the country by virtue of his peal ringing activities of more than 30 years and his work as general secretary of the Kent County Association and previously with the Leicester Guild. He took as the theme of his addreas the association of the Society with the City of London and how it had modelled its conduct on the rules of the great City Livery Companies, its contemporarles throughont the centuries.

The record which the secretary (Mr. J. G. A. Prior) presented of the activities of the Society during the past year was stimulating, with 41 peais. This last October saw the Society ringing peals on the three heaviest twelves-at Liverpool Cathedral, St. Paul's and Exeter Cathedral. The popularity of practices had presented accommodation problems, and 51 new members had been elected during the iwelve months

It was a very happy evening of renewed friendships-members being present from 29 courties,
In accordance with tradition, the Master propased the toast of "The Church" and spoke of the great privilege of being the 331st in the long line of Masters. He was very conscious of the honour but knew it would never have been possible for him to carry out the duties without the assistance of the officers and, in particular, the secretary. It was impossible to pay too high a tribute to the tremendous work on behalf of the Society by Jim Prior. All the arrangements for that dinner and the seating of the 273 present were carried out by him

He took that opportunity of greeting his many friends present. especially those of long standing. It was a unique experience to have with them George Symonds, who had been a member for 70 years. Then there were Mr. and Mrs. Hairs with 51 years' and many with over 50 and 60 years'. It was also a great pleasure to take wine with the members of the Kent County Association, of which he happened to be the general secretary, and also with Mr. George Richardson, who taught him to handle a bell some $37 \frac{1}{2}$ years ago

The Society had a great privilege in being able to hold their dinner in the City of London, still the tinest city in the world, with wide influence in banking, insurance, shipping and commerce. A city full of history and still having its narrow lanes and alleys amid its great new buildings. The Society had its link with celebrated churches within the famous square mile-St. Paul's, St. Mary-le-Bow, St. Giles', Cripplegate, St. Michael's, Cornhill, whose Rector, Canon Motley, was with them; he had dinner with him the previous Monday at the Worshipful Company of Woolmen. of which Canon Motley is chaplain.

GOVERNED LIKE A CITY COMPANY

After referring to the government of the City, the Master said the College Youths were governed on she same principles as the Livery Companies. He had just heard that the present Lord Mayor, Sir Gilbert Inglefield. had ruised $£ 100.000$ for the "War on Want" and Canon Motley had suggested that the Societv should contribute to that great cause, and if they did he would like to join them The matter would be submitted to their next meeting.
Then there was the part the Church played in the life of the City. Originally there were too many churches. By the genius of Bishop Wand during his episcopate Guild churches were formed and there was a great use of churches during week-days, many being identified with a particular use, as for instance the fine music at St. Michael's, Cornhill, and St. Botolph's, Aldgase, and the dialogues between famous people at St. Mary-le Bow. Before the Church there was a great task and everybody was getting terribly excited about St. Paul's, inspired by Dean Sullivan. They regretted his absence, but they realised it was Caribbean night at St. Paul's.

At another church, St. Edmund the King, a great restoration was taking place. The memorial to Sir Henry Tulse was being removed from the old churchyard of St. Dionis' to the garden of St. Edmund's Church. Sir Henry was Lord Mayor in 1684 and, in the same year, Master of the Society and also of the Grocers' Company.

CHURCH TRIUMPHANT

Concluding, the Master said the Church was always under fire, but he was sure it would remain triumphant; in the words of the old hymn:

Though with a scornful wonder Men see her sore opprest, By schisms rent asunder, By heresies distrest, Yet saints their watch are keeping, Their cry goes up "How long? And soon the night of weeping Shall be the morn of song.
The reply was by Canon N. C. S. Motley, Rector of St. Michael's, Cornhill, who thanked the Society for their interest every Sunday in Cornhill. "They shuffle down from St. Paul's in four minutes flat and shut up in ten minutes flat. It is something we are indebted to them for." The Canon mentioned with affection the five bells at Navestock, Essex, and recalled ringing on the bells at St. Michael's for his induction. On that occasion, in the presence of the Archdeacon and other dignitaries, he gave the rope a mighty tug, and snaking down came 70 feet of rope. The Archdeacon looked severe, but be could not help bursting out laughing.
He wanted to say "thank you" to a corporation or body of men, a crass-section of society where there was real brotherhood.

TENOR RINGER

The toast of "The Ancient Society of College Youths" was proposed by Mr. E. A. Barnett (vice-president of the Kent County Association), who told of his close association with the Master, Mr. Corby having been best man at his wedding and godfather to his daughter. In pre-war days they used to spend their Saturday afternoons trying to ring peals. In 1931 their Master rang the tenor at Quex Park and, later that year. Sonthwark tenor He was then only 18 years of age and the footnote read: "Youngest to ring this bell to a peal,"

Mr. Barnett congratulated Mr. W. T. Cook on his excellent articles on the property of the Ancient Society of College Youths, which he had read with much pleasure, and also his article on the bells of St . Michael's, Cornhill, that appeared under an alias in "The Ringing World," but his writing could not be disguised.
They could not have too much history and he could not understand anyone not wanting to know. In his own tower there was a peal board of Grandsire Triples with the name of Frederick K. Newman on it. He was a firm man and it was said of him that he once applied for the post of public hangman. Mr. Barnett said he did not think he succeeded. Another instance he came across was in the Transport Museum, where, painted on an old horse-bus was the name of John C. Mitchell, a former Master, who rang $1-2$ in the tirst peal of Holt's Original on handbells.

- A COMMON SINGLE"

History was said to repeat itself. At Birmingham a peal of Stedman Triples by Lates from Thurstans' four-part was commented upon by Henry Johnson that it came round with a common single. Rules had been accepted for centuries and it was jolly hard luck if it did not succeed. The wheel had now turned full circle and now any and every wangle would do to achieve a peal.

Another instance of history repeating itself was that after the completion of a peal of Bob Maximus at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, in 1726, it was reported that all members of the band left the church in their own carriagesthat was something that they certainly had today.
The College Youths of the past would indeed be proud of the College Youths of the present day and proud to think that they cherished the Society's traditions with such enthusiasm.
The response to the toast came from the hon. secretary, Mr. J. C. A. Prior, who said that last year he reported an attendance of 237, but that year-apart from the tercentenary dinner-was probably an all-time record. This year they had to increase the price of tickets because of rising costs, but despite this they had handsomely exceeded last year's with 273 people present. "To all, especially those who have travelled long distances, on behalf of the Master and officers, I say thank you very much for your continued support."

APOLOGIES FOR ABSENCE

Apologies for absence had been received from the Dean of St. Paul's, the Dean of Westminster, Messrs. F. E. Collins, Harry Miles, William Shepherd, A. York-Bramble, R. G Edwards, C. T. Clarke and B. J. Wylde. Mr. Miles sent his warmest greetings, as also did Mr. Shepherd, who joined the Society in 1900.

NEW MEMBERS

In the past year, continued Mr. Prior, 51 new members had been elected, including Mr Richard Dirksen, the leader of ringers at Washington Cathedral, U.S.A. The list was:

LOSSES BY DEATH

"Since the last dinner we have heard of the deaths of 15 members. We shall remember them all, but uppermost in the minds of many of us, particularly of the London members, will be the name of Jack A. Waugh, one of the staunchest and most loyal members that our Society has ever had. He had served the Society as Master, senior steward. junior steward and as a Central Council representative and at the time of his untimely death he was one of our trustees. He was also a member of the bands at Westminster Abbey and St. Paul's Cathedral. Jack was held in affection by all of us who had the privilege of his friendship and he is greatly missed."

FORTY-ONE PEALS

Since the last dinner 41 peals had been recorded.
Triples: Stedman 4.
Surprise Major: London 2, Bristol 2, Newcastle 1, Glasgow 3, Rutland 1, four-spliced 1, six-spliced 1, ten-spliced 1.
Caters: Stedman 1. Grandsire 2.
Surprise Royal: London 1, Cambridge 4, Bristol 1, Prittlewell 1.

Cinques: Stedman 7.

Surprise Maximus: Cambridge 3, Laydinium 1, Superlative 1, Lincolnshire 1, Prittiewell 2.

POINTS FROM PEALS

A peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Michael's, Cornhill, on June 29th was rung in memory of Jack Waugh.
During October, peals were rung on the three heaviest twelves, i.e. Stedman Cinques at Liverpool Cathedral, Stedman Cinques at St. Paul's Cathedral, and PrittlewelI Surprise Maximus at Exeter Cathedral.

OUT-OF-TOWN MEETINGS

"In May we had a most enjoyable and highly successful meeting in Kent and it was most uppropriate that we should go there in view of the Master's other office as general secretary of the Kent County Association. There was ringing of a high standard at Rochester Cathedral, Canterbury Cathedral, St. Alphege's, Canterbury, and Sevenoaks. At the business meeting in Canterbury the Master had the unusual experience of taking the chair at a ringers' meeting in a former synagogue, and he conducted himself as to the manner born 1 For next year's out-of-town meeting we have been very glad to accept an invitation to go to Birmingham.
The usual practices have been held on Tuesdays throughout the year with very good attendances, particularly of the younger members. The number attending the practices at St . Paul's Cathedral have been so great that we are having to give serious thought to ways and means of relieving the pressure here.

LIBRARIAN

For some time Mr. W. T. Cook has been the Society's librarian and he has done and is doing a solendid job of work. The work of the librarian is now considered to be of firstrate importance and we have recognised this by amending this so that the librarian is now an officer of the Society. The records of the

MR, PHILIP A. CORBY (Retiring Master)

Society were now in better order than ever before.
At the recent rededication of the historic ring of 12 at St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, our friends, the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, undertook the responsibility of raising the money; they put in a tremendous amount of hard work in the tower-painting, bricklaying, ete.- and we would like warmly to congratulate them on the success of their undertaking. We were delighted to receive an invitation to take part in this great occasion and we took along a band consisting, with one exception, of the Master, officers, past masters and past officers.

CHANGE OF MEETING ROOM
The four weekly business meetings have been increasingly well attended, so much so that our present meeting room is no longer big enough for us, and we have therefore arranged that as from January next year the business meetings shall be held at the Lord Raglan. St. Martins-le-Grand, quite close to St . Paul's Cathedral.'

Next year's dinner will be held on November

 1st.The speech was followed by a touch of Stedman Cinques rung by W. T. Cook 1-2, W. Williams $3-4$, M. V. Chilcolt $5-6$, J. E. Chilcott $7-8$, P. A. F. Chalk $9-10, \mathrm{M} . \mathrm{P}$. Moreton 11-12.
The toast of "Visitors and Kindred Ringing Societies" was proposed by the junior steward, Mr. A. R. Kench, who expressed thanks to the clergy of the churches in which the Society rang. He thanked all their visitors who helped to make the art of bellringing better known. The survival of bellringing depended, on the interest of many in having a common aim
There was a prospect in the huge building that was being erected close to St. Giles', Cripplegate, that the bells would become a nuisance. During the year sound-control had been put in and they hoped that, through this, ringing would be able to continue.
Mr Kench made special reference to the presence of the Master and secretary of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and Mr. John Freeman (vice-president of the Central Council).
The Rev. E. Rogers, Rector of St. Giles'. Cripplegate, called attention to the change in nis parish when 6.000 people lived in the Barbican. There was now some talk at St. Giles' whether a 13 th bell should be added.

Mr. John Freeman, in reply, made reference to representation on the Central Council. He said he thought it was very important that all Societies should think about their aims and objects, because the success of the Central Council depended on the members elected to it, and it behoved every Society to send their best people.

Mr. Freeman said he was impressed by the attendance of 273 , and he asked himself why people should be attracted there from all parts of the country. The obvious thing was that the Society, with its history and tradition, had a certain magnetism about it that attracted ringers from all parts of the country.

" THE MASTERS OF 300, 200 AND 100

 YEARS AGO "This was the concluding roast, which was proposed by the Master. The Masters were: 1668 Robert Luttley. 1768 Records destroyed. 1868 James Pettit.
The Master read the following notes propared by Mr. W. T, Cook:

Robert Luttley was elected Master in 1668. He became a member in 1659 and was elected steward in 1664, but I have no other information about him.
There is no record of who was Master of either the "Ancient" or the "Junior" Society of Collage Youths in 1768. Neither Society was very active just then in peal-ringing; the peal book records one peal for 1768 and three peals for 1769 , all rung by members of the Junior Society
In 1868 James Pettit was elected Master. Born on April 25th, 1834, he began his ringing career at St. John's, Hackney, and became a member of the College Youths in 1857. Thereafter he took part in most of the notable performances of the Society, among which may be mentioned the 15,840 Kent T.B. Major at Bethnal Green in 1868 ; the first peal ever rung in Ireland (at Waterford in 1872); the first peal at St. Paul's Cathedral, in 1881. which he conducted; 11,111 Stedman Caters at Fulham in 1883; and the attempt for 10,030 Stedman Cinques at Cornhill in 1887, which was lost in the last course. He was for many years the premier conductor of the Society. He was the conductor of the St. Paul's Cathedral Guild from 1878 to 1911, and for many years he was treasurer of the College Youths. He died in May, 1912, aged 78. Those who knew him have described him as a good and true man, one whose gentleness of nature, quiet dignity and personal charm won the affection, as it commanded the respect, of all who knew him

KIMPTON CUP COMPETITION

Dear Sir,-Because of the poor response this year in the way of entries (only three), it was decided to postpone the event This was very disappointing to me after nine years, when I really thought the idea and the whole spirit of the competition had caught on.

Careful thought and discusion will be required to find out what has gone wrong. One of the rules is "Sunday service bands," and I wonder if the small entry is any reflection on the state of Sunday service ringing? Perhaps the competition is held at the wrong time of the year? Are ringers still nervous of competition ringing? Or antagonistic to it?
It would be interesting to have other organisers' views and experience, particularly as competition ringing generally seems to be on the increase and becoming more popular. Yaurs truly,
J. G. CULL.

FOLR-BELL TOWERS IN KENT

Dear Sir, -I have just heard from Mr. R. L. Sills, the correspondence member for Addington, Kent, and in his letter he gives me definite information regarding the condition of the bells They appear to be the same bells as in Stahlschmidt, tenor $31 \frac{3}{6}$ diameter. about $5 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. in B flat. They are now standing on the floor. awaiting restoration by the Whitechapel Foundry, including tuning, quar-ter-turning, all new fittings and a new sixbell frame.

Mr. Sills has worked very hard, both regarding the hanging of the existing bells and in attempting to get them augmented to six, though he tells me that this will not be done at present. I am sure that all members of the Kent County Association will join in the hope that his enthusiasm will be rewarded. He appears to stand in a long line of optimists, who in 1732 provided the previous frame-also for six bells !-Yours sincerely,

Whitstable, Kent.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Dear Sir.-The following additional information to Mr. Cawley's article on Kent fuurbell towers may be of interest.

East Langdon.-Third recast by Bowell when bells rehung in 1910 . Tenor then quoted as 7 cwt. in C.

Isle-of-Grain.-Bells cast by Mears, 1904, and hung in a six-bell frame. Tenor $27 \frac{1}{2}$ ins., 4 cwt .1 qr. 12 lb . in D .

Waltham--Bells tuned as Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, of an octave (i.e. treble semitone sharp).

Westwell.-I made this tenor note $F$, but Mr. Cawley may be going on a different picch scale.
An additional four, omitted by both Mr. Cawley and Mr. Dove, is:

Pembury, St. Peter's.-1, 2 and 4, Mears, 1923; 3, J. and C. Hodson, 1677. Hung dead in old frame, and chimed by apparatus. Tenor 32 ins., 6 cwt .1 qr. in B.-Yours faithfully, N. J. DAVIES.

Ashford, Kent.

Dear Sir,-I should like to offer the following criticisms of the recent Doubles Appendix. They are intended to be constructive- 1 hope they will be regarded as such.

Firstly, I do not understand why the twinhunt methods Newark, New Newark, Reverse Newark and Reverse New Newark have been classified as irregular. The four blows in one place are specifically allowed by the relevant leading or lying, and the three blows in one place are specifically allowed by the relevant C.C. ruling. The C.C. Collection does add that three blows in one place "actually occur only before or after the treble's leading or lying." and in the above methods the three blows are made elsewhere; I think this hardly forms an adeçuate basis, if it is such, for rejection of the regularity of the methods.

Secondly, in the 1955 C.C. Doubles Collection, the Methods Committee adhered as far as possible to the convention adopted (in general) on higher numbers of bells, that the bob used resulted solely in the alteration of the places made at the treble's lead. Where this was not possible, the bob specified in the Collection resulted solely in the alteration of the places made at one position internally in the lead, either as the treble passed from 2 nds place to lead, or from 5ths to 4 ths. In the three remaining methods where this in turn was not possible, they were decreed to have no bob at all and consequently could be pealed only in spliced extents.

If we still adhered to the above conventions, this would admit of the following definition of a variation: a variation of a method is rung when the bob used results in one or more of
(i) alteration of the places made at one nonstandard position in the lead;
(ii) non-standard alteration of the places made at the standard bob-position; or
(iii) alteration of places made at more than one pasition in the lead.

What disturbs me about the new Appendix is that many of the methods have a standard pattern above the treble specified as a bob (e.g a Grandsire single above the treble) irrespective of what the plain lead of the method is above the treble; these methods consequently fall into category (iii) of the definition above. This must, I think, be either an attempt at uniformity in the new methods (for instance all Group $\mathbf{P}$ methods have a Grandsire single as a call), or else an attempt to make the methods simpler to ring. Neither of these seem to me to be sufficient or justifiable reasons for non-conformity with (previously) universal convention.

I think it would be a much better idea to follow the precedent set by the Collection, and specify the bob, individually for each method, to be a certain alteration of the places made at one position only in the lead, preferably at the lead-end, and where this is not possible to have no bob at all.

If this idea were adopted, then some of the new methods would revert to variations, while some variations would be elevated to the status of methods. For instance, Rev. St. Bartholomew becomes a variation again (category (iii) above), and a corresponding method emergesSt. Augustine, whose plain course is that of Rev. St. Bartholomew, and whose bob results in 2nds and 5ths place being made at the lead-end instead of 2 nds and 3 rds.

Also, the difficulty of resolving the difference between methods such as April Day and Rev. St. Bartholomew becomes trivial if we regard these mainly as duplicate names of the same variation, the name used depending on the composition. This is already the case with some variations, I believe.
I would be interested to read in "The Ringing World " what other ringers (not necessarily Mr. Blagrove or other Doubles ringers) have to say on the above subjects.-Yours faithfully, Stapleford, Notts.

KNOCK-KNOCK PERMISSION

Dear Sir ,-With reference to the notice concerning ringing at West Mcon and Warnford in "The Ringing World " (page 836), may I inquire of Mr. Bassett how much time be regards as "proper notice"? I should hate to write to one of these towers for permission to ring and to receive a reply saying that my application had been received too late for consideration. Every now and again in the columns of "The Ringing World" we get letters and notices about ringers knocking on vicarage doors asking permission to sing. May I through your columns say that in a great majority of such cases the incumbents and Ringing Masters are usually most delighted to welcome you to their tower and, in my experience, incumbents have received far more respect and courtesy from "knock-knock" visitors, simply because such visitors have to make themselves known, and have to hold an intelligent conversation with the incumbent or Ringing Master in the time between asking permission and finishing ringing.

On a great many organised ringing outings, with a perfect time schedule, etc., the man in charge takes command as soon as he enters the tower, the ringing goes ahead, and the local man is often completely ignored except for the half-hearted "Are you sure you won't have a ring with us?" When a party bas permission to ring, in writing, the ringers tend to think it is their right to ring at that tower for the allotted time, and it is. alas, very easy to leave one's manners outside in the car, because there is no need to do any "vicar-chatting." The bells are available, so what else matters?
May I finally inquire if the views of Mr. Bassett are those of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild (Alton and Petersfield District), whose name he has used in the notice? I have been on a few "knockknocks" in that district with ringers from that district (Liss, Petersfield, etc.). It is standard procedure for a great number of ringers, especially after a lost peal attemptand I have never come across such an attitude anywhere else in that district. I would have thought this was a private matter between Mr. Bassett and his Rector, and nothing whatever to do with the Diocesan Guild. Perhaps Mr. Bassett would correct mc if I am wrong. Yours faithfully,

Putney, S.W.
M. J. UPHILL.

DEVON RINGERS HELP THEIR CATHEDRAL

Fothe last two years Exeter Cathedral has been appealing for a total of nearly $£ 300,000$ to endow the regular maintenance of the Cathedral and its worship. Maily Societies and business firms in Devon have made their contribution to this, and last year the suggestion was put forward that the ringers of the Diocese should do their part as well. There are not a great many occasions for real united action by the Guild and the As-sociation-what one looks for in a ringing festival is not quite the other's cup of teabut this was something which we could and should do together, and Don Roberts (general secretary of the Guild) and Beric Bartlett (of the Association) were appointed by their respective Societies to put the plan in motion. (Lest anyone should think that the Association was by-passing its own secretary, Edgar Cole, it is only fair to add that while Edgar lives in High Bíckington, some 40 miles away, Beric lives very close to Don in Torquay.)

The plan was first set in motion at the Association's annual general meeting last November. and since then it has been gathering wayesteadily; hardly a single meeting or conpetition has been allowed to go by without a reminder, and every band of ringers in the county was asked to send a representative to the Cathedral on October 26th with a donation. Some bands had money in their funds; others had a collecting box in the tower; some ran whist drives; and some made a house-tohouse collection. It was impossible to know beforehand how many would come on the 26 h. and how much they would bring.
When the day came there can seldom, if ever, have been such a representative gathering of ringers in Devon. From Bridgerule to Sidmouth, from West Down to Kingsbridge, they came from every corner of the county and they made the nave of the Cathedral seem comfortably full; perhaps there were about 300 there altogether. The Sacrist, the Rev. H. Rann, conducted the service ; the lesson was read by Prehendary J. H. B. Andrews, president of the Guild. The Archdeacon of Totnes (the Ven. R. J. D. Newhouse) in an address thanked the ringers for this gesture of loyalty and care for their Cathedral. which had come entirely from themselves; and during the singing of the last hymn the offerings were brought up and handed to the Dean by representatives of the Associations and towers-there must have been well over 100 of them.
The total will probably amount to just over $£ 300$ when one or two gifts have arrived in the post.
J. G. M.S.

AGAINST PEAL FEES

Dear Sir,-I refer to Mr. Beale's letter in which he states the donation per rope per peal given in "The Ringing World" on a certain peal tour. It seems to me that as a registered newspaper it is the job of "The Ringing World" to publish news of interest to ringers withou't expecting a subsidy for doing so. If the funds of "The Ringing World" do not enable it to fulfil this function then the proper course for the Editorial Committee is to do what any other newspaper would do-charge an economic amount for the paper. Far rather would I sec a donation made to the church offering its bells for peal attempts-and I know that Mr. Beale's peal bands make such a contribu-tion.-Yours faithfully.
A. R. JONES.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD FOR THE DIOCESE OF BIRMINGHAM

The quarterly meetung combined with a striking competition, held at King's Norton on October 19th, attracted a large gathering of ringers. The excellent back eight were used for the competition, and the ringing was of a high standard. The chief criticism by the adjudicators was that the ringing, being slower than normal, was a little too "stiff." It was the opinion of the judges that the bands $\mathrm{cn}-$ tered for King's Norton and St. Chad's respectively were of equal merit and therefore tied for first place. Other bands competing were those of Solihull, Perry Barr, Yardley and one composed of ringers from several towers.
New resident members elected were: $F$. Hallifax (Aston) and C. Kennaugh, Miss V. Kennaugh and Miss J. Aston (Perry Barr). Mrs. M. Foskett (Nottingham) was elected a life member, and the tower elections as life memhers of Miss R. Richardson (Dewsbury) and R. A. Smith (Doncaster) were duly ratified.

The annual meeting will be held at St. Martin's on January 4th, with ringing as the Cathedral before the meeting and on St. Martin's bells afterwards.
A formal proposition that the Henry Johnson Dinner be held on March 1st was moved and it was agreed that Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd be invited to occupy the chair at this function.
The Master proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar of King's Norton for the use of the bells. to the curate for conducting the Guild's form of service, and especially to the ladies for providing a most excellent tea-even for the large majority who had failed to notify.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Rev. Roy Southwell, recently installed as Vicar of St. Mary's, Hendon, welcomed the members of the Association to his church on October 19th and, after conductiing a short service, joined the company at tea.
As only six ringers were present shortly after 3 p.m. Spliced Little and Plain Bob Minor commenced the ringing, but numbers soon improved and ringing continued until 4.30 p.m. in a variety of methods to suit all tastes. Visitors were present from Southwell. Nots and Hawkhurst. Kent, logether with more local friends from the Hertfordshire district.
At the business meeting Mr. E. A. Hibbs. of Harrow Weald was elected a ringing member whiilst Mr. W. S. Hardy, of Darington, Co. Durham, was elected non-resident life member
Mr. H. G. Hart, chairman, proposed the usual but very sincere vote of thanks to the Vicar, to Mr Robert Clarke, organist. and to Ruth Foreman and her helpers for providing an excellent tea
A return was then made to the ringing chamber, where the bells were put to gond use for a further hour or so.

OBITUARY

MR. J. W. ROSE

Wyke Regis Church, Weymouth. Dorset, has lost a very faithful servant by the death on October 20th of Mr. J. W. Rose. For over 60 years he had been a regular ringer at this church and since the last war he had been chief conductor. He had also served his church in the office of churchwarden for the last 25 years.

National Vice-President Replies To C.C. Criticism

THIS was held, as in the previous two years, at the Victoria Hall, Preston, on the last Saturday in October.

Eighty-four people-somewhat fewer than in the past-sat down promptly at 7.30 p.m. to an excellent meal. After this, when appetites had been satisfied and wines had been complemented by coffee, the gathering was entertained by a group of handbell ringers from the Moorside and Ashton-under-Lyne teams. Despite thetr apologies for shortage of practice, their ringing provided a very pleasant interlude and their efforts were greatly appreciated.

AN OLYMPIC CHOICE!

The guest speaker was Mr. John Freeman. vice-president of the Central Council, who endeared himself to his attentive audience by describing, the L.A.C.R. as a "Swinging Association," and asserted that if 12 -bell ringing had been featured in the Olympic Games then he felt sure that Britain would have been represented by the band who rang the 40 -Spliced Maximus at Liverpool. At least, he added. they would have had plenty of acclimatisation to alutude! He applauded the records in spliced ringing which were being set in Lancashire and which were providing targets for others to aim at-thus ensuring success.
He then went on in more serious vein to discuss the recent criticisms of the Central Council-both its rules and membershipwhich had appeared in print a few weeks previously. After reading some of these criticisms he made two important replies: on rules, that it is more important to keep to the spirit of the rules than to quibble about the letter; and on membership of the Council-that the remedy was in the hands of the constituent Associations. who should ensure the quality of membership by seeing that they each elected the people best suited for the task.

COMMITTEES-FOR BENEFIT OF ELECTORS

In his reply, the president (Canon A. Hodg. son) thanked John Freeman for his speech. which he described as witty, entertaining, instructive and encouraging. He, too, stressed that administrative committees exist for the benefit of the people who elect them; and that here, just as in Sunday service ringing, we are offering to God the best of our abilities.
He commented on the success of the Association garden party which had been held last June. It had been a very happy occasion; his lawn had now fully recovered and all were invited to "come again next year."
Canon Hodgson concluded by reporting the engagement of Jeff Brannan to Pat Etchells, and the whole assembly were privileged to join him in a toast to their future happiness
The speeches were speedily concluded by Denis Jones (Association vice-president), briefly but sincerely welcoming the visitors from Wiltshire, Cheshire and Tasmania.
The remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing (with varying degrees of success), to chatter (both idle and purposeful) and to drinking (both social and serious). In short, all tastes were catered for, and the verdict was "another jolly good "do." "
(Overheard on leaving: ". .he might be able to ring Spliced Surprise, but he can"t dance a Quick Step.")

THE WORCESTERSHIRES AT DINNER

ACOMPANY of 156 , the greatest number for several years, sat down on October 26th for the Worcestershire Association's annual dinner in the Co-operative Hall, Worcester. Principal guests were Mr. Roger Savory, Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, and Mrs. Savory.
In introducing Mr. Savory to the company, the chairman, the Rev. L. J. Birch, said that Roger was already well-known to many of them, as he was born and bred in the county. where he also learned to ring.
Proposing the toast of "The Association," Roger said that he was one of a number who began ringing at Badsey, but of that number only himself and Tony Brazier, who was to reply to his speech, were still ringing. He was very conscious of the debt he owed to members of the Association, in particular Joe Johnson, Geoff Hemming and the late John Thomas. He went on to say that the undoubted highlight of the Association's year was the meeting of the Central Council at Worcester. He had been privileged to attend that meeting as one of his Guild's representatives, and he could assure the Association that other arrangements had been highly successful and were a credit to the committee which had made them

A LOT OF SATISFACTION

Replying, Mr. Tony Brazier thanked Mr. Savory for his kind remarks about the Association and said it gave him great pleasure to reply to a toast by one of his contemporaries. He had followed Roger's progress with interest for, in addition to his skill as a practical ringer, he was also a competent composer and conductor. Regarding the Central Council visit, the Association had been very pleased to be hosts this year, and the sub-committee. of which he had been a member, had derived a lot of satisfaction from making the arrangements

Before the speeches, the general secretary, Mr. D. Beacham, read a letter of apology from the Bishop of Worcester, patron of the Association, who sent his best wishes for the occasion and an expression of thanks for all that the ringers did. A letter was also read from the Association's late president, the Very Rev. R. L. P. Milburn, who had recently resigned the Deanery of Worcester. The Dean said that the Association had brought him great interest and companionship, which he would miss on leaving Worcester.
In the absence of a president, the chair was taken by one of the vice-presidents, the Rev. L. J. Birch, Rector of Bredon. In proposing the chairman's health the Master of the Association, Mr. W. B. Cartwright, said it was a great pleasure to have Mr. and Mrs. Birch with them that evening. They had been members of the Association for a good many years and were the friends of many.

Replying, Mr. Birch said that although he was standing in for the Dean of Worcester that night, he hoped that nobody would go away with the impression that he was to be the next Dean! As far as ringing was concerned, he had to admit that his wife was a far better ringer than he, though how she managed to cope with the mathematics of bellringing yet muddle up the household accounts he could never quite understand!

An hour's entertainment then followed with songs by Verne Yorke-Williams accompanied by Tony Hayward, and humour from Ron Pardoe. Courses of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major were rung "in hand" by L. J. Haines 1-2. J. C. Eisel 3-4, M. J. Fellows 5-6 and M. D. Fellows 7-8. A very enjoyable evening was rounded off with cormunity singing, with the loudest chorus of "Nellie Dean ing, with the loudest chorus of "Nellie Dean"" coming from the chairman himself!

LEEDS SOCIETY'S FIRST STRIKING CONTEST

The October meeting of the Society was held at Cleckheaton, where the parish church possesses a good light ring of eight. This was the first visit of the Society to Cleckheaton for some time, the bells having been silent for many years

The afternoon part of the meeting took the form of a striking contest on six bells, with a test piece of 360 changes. This is believed to be the first time the Society has held such a contest. Six teams entered and the pleasant, warm afternoon made it possible for teams waiting to ring to stand in the churchyard and listen to their rivals. When the contest was heing arranged it was hoped that it would take place in a friendly and light-hearted atmosphere, and it was pleasing 10 note that the teams treated it as such by the way they mingled amongst each other to joke about and discuss the various performances. In fact certain members of one team were actually cheering when the team ringing made a mistake !
An excellent buffet tea had been arranged by the local company, which was served from 4 p.m. onwards When everyone had eaten and all the teams had rung, the judge, Mr. Noel F. Moxon, of Cawthorne, gave the result. The favourites. Wakefield. came first with 29 faults, no penalties, with Ossett a close second, only 5 faults and 5 penalties. Behind them were Thornhill 57 faults, Chapel Allerton 100 faults, 5 penalties, Rothwell 156 faults, and Birstall, who unfortunately rang out after only two leads.
It was generally felt that the contest had been a success and was enjoyed by all who took part; it will probably become an annual event of the Society.
General ringing took place in the evening with methods up to Lincolnshire Surprise Major.

"YOUNG"FOR EVER: Pretty Bray Wedding

THE sleepy Berkshire villago of Bray-onThames, noted for the mutability of one of its former Vicars, was roused on the morning of Saturday, October 19th, by the ringing of its bells as a fitting prelude to the wedding at St. Michael's Church later in the day of two well-known local bellringers. Seven holders of the office of Ringing Master of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild and the Ringing Masterelect were ringing what turned out to be a firstclass peal of Plain Bob Major for the marriage of Mr. Donald Thomas Young, Ringing Master at All Saints' Church, Boyne Hill, Maidenhead, and Miss Doreen Ada Hague, a ringer at Bray and for eight years (until last April) a most efficient and very popular Branch secretary.

The bride's dreas was of rose-patterned lace over white satin with a train of lace and organza. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds, white stephanotis and lilies-of-the-valley. She was given away by her father, and her attendants were the Misses Christine Gooch. Chris tine Tyler, Carole Young (all cousins of the bride) and Lynn and Vivienne Wagstaff (cousins of the bridegroom). They were dressed in rosepink taffeta silk dresses and carried white bouquets of lilies-of-the-valley and carnations
The bappy couple left the church to the sound of the bells beneath an arch of handbells held by some of the many ringing friends present. The reception was held in the Drummond Room of the new Maidenhead Town Hall, opened a few years ago by H.M. the Queen. The honeymoon was spent in Majorca.

Don learned to handle a bell at Taunton but has been a ringer at Boyne Hill for the past 11 years. Doreen has been a member of the Bray band and its chief conductor for 15 years, and is often to be seen ringing the seventh of the 26 cwt. octave.

The best man was one of the bridegroom's colleagues at Boyne Hill, Mr. Alan Horne, who jokingly remarked at the reception that Doreen always looked young, and it was nice to know she would remain ever "Young."

Among the host of well-wishing telegrams was one from the Oxford Diocesan Guild, holding its autumn meeting that day at Bletch-ley-from the "top brass," as one wag observed!
Mr. and Mrs. Young will make their home at 90 , Orchard Grove, Maidenhead.

BELFRY GOSSIP

For the first time we have a subscriber in the Solomon Islands. Mr. Charles S. Naylor's address is the District Commissioner's office.
Mr. F. Stedman, the 94 -year-old captain of Wyke Regis tower, is in Weymouth and District Hospital recovering from an operation.
October 26th was a particularly busy day for David Beacham, the popular secretary of the Worcestershire and Districts Association. as the annual dinner coincided with the arrival of his second child.
The fifth wedding anniversary of Tony and Janet Roberts was celebrated by peal at Pulham Market, Norfolk, on September 28th A convivial evening followed at their home at Loddon.
May wo remind those ordering copies of Central Council publications from $\mathbf{M r}$. J. L. Garner-Hayward that a postage charge of 4 d . is necessary and that there is not a reduction in price for 12 Beginners' Handbooks. The margin on the Central Council publications is so fine that an extra 1d. postage in some cases results in 2 loss.

Mr. George E. Fearn's term of office as hon. secretary of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham expires at the annual meeting in January. His stint of over 21 years will be completed.
Mr. W. B. Duncan, of Gorleston-on-Sea, has completed 60 years membership of the Norwich Diocesan Assoctation. He was appropriately honoured with a peal of Major on October 12 h.

Amends have been made to the 150 th anniversary peal at St. Mary s, Eastbourne, which was lost through a broken rope on October 26th. The peal was truly rung the following Saturday (November 2nd), conducted by Alan R. Baldock.

Mr. Raymond Bath has written a history of Si. Michael's, Yorktown, Surrey. The original cast of the eight bells (tenor 15 cwt .) was about $£ 450$ and they were cast by John Warner and Sons Lid. in 1895. In 1936 the canons were removed and bells refuned by John Taylor and Co. and the weight of the tenor is now 13 cwt .3 gr. 9 lb .

The first "John" peal for the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association was rung at Butcombe on October 9 th. conducted by John $S$. Walton.
Three new members-Messrs. G. F. Coker (Knebworth), A. Gray (Aston) and P. J. Belcher (unatiached)-were elected to the Herts County Association at Benington on November 2nd. This was the quarterly meeting of the Northern District.
"The Western Daily Press" of October 28th report a peal rung at the 800 -year-old church at Andersleigh, near Taunton. The peal was a success and this is attributed to the yellow sweater that accompanies Mervyn R. Arscott on his ringing trips. It is a mascot that brings luck.

Mrs. F. 1. Hairs, who celebrated her 76th birthday on October 22nd, rang 1-2 to a quarter deal of Grandsire Triples on October 28th. The other members of the band were: Mrs. S. M. Dobbie 3-4, W. H. Dobbie (cond.) 5-6, F. I. Hairs 7-8.

GETTING READY FOR CENTRAL

COUNCIL MEETING

A report was given at a meeting of the Northern District of the Herts County Association at Benington on November 2nd by Mr. A. R. Agg, general secretary, on the arrangements for the Central Council's visit to St. Albans next Whitsuntide. He said that over 400 beds had been located and that $£ 244$ had been collected to entertain members and meet expenses. There was to be a civic reception and seating accommodation for up to 300 at the meeting hall

ST. LEONARD'S, SHOREDITCH

On Saturday, October 19th, the new sharp second bell at St. Lconard's, Shoreditch, was dedicated by the Lord Bishop of London at the thanksgiving service for the restoration of the church. One of the lessons was read by Mr. W. R. Winterton, a past Master of the Drapers' Company, who have given the new bell, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Taylor were also present.
The ringing before the service consisted of the first quarter peal on the rehung twelve and was 1,311 Stedman Cinques: W. Louise Slater 1. Janc Foster 2, Joan Beresford 3, J. A. D. Woolford 4, M. H. D. O'Callaghan 5, Edwin A. Barnett 6, P. M. Wilkinson 7, N. Summerhayes $8, J$. S. Barnes 9, D. E. Sibson 10, D. Beresford (cond.) 11. P. Beresford 12.
Following the service ${ }^{\circ}$ quarter peal of 1.344 Bristol Surprise Major was rung on the new light eight by: M. Louise Slater 1. Joan Beresford 2. Angela Wright 3, P. Beresford 4. J. S. Barnes 5. D. E. Sibson (cond.) 6. J. A. D. Woolford 7. D. Beresford 8

DALSTON'S HOSPITALITY

After the peal of Bob Major at St. Mark's, Dalston. London, the band was kindly entertained to sandwiches and tea by the Vicar, the Rev. D. Pateman, who was unfortunately indisposed. They were welcomed by Mr. A. Schatto, Deputy Warden. Mr. R. Wood, local captain, and two lady helpers. The parish. reputed to have the largest church in London. is a very live one and serves a large coloured population. The bells, cast by Warners in 1877, have had very little professional attention since then and are rung regularly by the local band

RINGING PARSON ADDRESSES ROTARIANS

Bury St. Edmunds' Rotary Club at a recent meeting heard an address by the Rev. A. A. Muxlow, Vicar of Stowmarket, on bell-ringing. A bellringer for 40 years, he said thai bellinging was by no means a dying art, and many youngsters were taking it up as a very useful and healthy exercise.
Mr. Muxlow illustrated his talk with taperecordings, particularly of the bells of Lavenham Church, whose tenor bell is heard on the wireless on the death of a member of the royal family

CALLS BROTHFR'S FIRST PEAI.

Fifteen-year-old Anne Johnson has called the first peal for her brother George at Shelley, Yorkshire. Both are in the Wakefield band. It was George's first attempt and Anne's first attempt at calling one. Fourteen blisters help her to memorise that it was her 14th peal. This peal is believed to be the first of Doubles on the bells.

SUFFOLK'S SILENT SUDBURY

Looking at Sudbury on page 106 of the current "Dove" gives one a teeling of sad-ness-three rings of eight there, with tenors of $26 \frac{3}{\mathrm{cwt}}, 21 \mathrm{cwt}$. and 16 cwt ., but only one set safe for ringing. Now comes a further blow -the "East Anglian Daily Times" of October 28th reports that the third tower, All Saints' ( $26 \frac{\mathrm{t}}{\mathrm{c}} \mathrm{cwt}$.), is unsafe, and ringing bas been stopped.
It scems that the tower buttresses are cracked, and an architect has described the danger great enough to cause a ban on ringing to be made.
The Rev. John Hewitt (All Saints') says that Sudbury has been described as an "ecclesiastical distressed area," and there is much concern in the town.
Apparently thought has been given to the question of demolishing one of these churches and somebody has ascertained that it would cost $£ 15,000$ to $£ 20,000$ to demolish a building like All Saints' Doesn't it sound dreadful!
Sudbury is a country market town of about 7.000 population on the Essex boundary.

A large new housing area has been built just outside the town and is being extended.
The Church of St. Peter, with the 21 cwt. tenor, stands at the head of the Market Hill, and it has been "in splints" for a long time while repairs are made.

The third church, with the 16 cwt . tenor, shown in "Dove" is St. George's, is, I think. St. Gregory's.
Centuries ago there was another church, St. Bartholomews.
The Suftolk Guild Report of 1967 lists All Saints' hells as in good-going order, St. Peter's fair, and St. Gregory's unringable. It seems that the state of the tower, not the bells. is the main trouble

It is truly a sad state of affairs in a lown which might be-probably has been-a ringers paradise
C. R.

BATH BRANCH STRIKING COMPETITION

The third striking competition of the Bath Branch was held on October 26th at Bathampton. The adjudicator was Mr. W. B. Kynaston. from Swindon, and a record entry of 11 teams took part but only representing four towers. Placings :-
St. Michacl with St. Paul's-A seam, faults. C 41. B 5: St. Mary's Bathwick-A, 7: Twerton-on-Avon-A 81, B 141; Corston A. 141 : Twerton-on-Avon-C. 15 ; St. Mary's, Bathwick-B. 15. C. 19: Corston-E. 21.

We must congratulate st. Michael's for a splendid performance, and Mr. George Hawkins. the towermaster, was a very proud man. especcially as his youngest ringer was in the winning team.
A. F. L.

VETFRAN'S BIRTHDAY AT APSLEY END

The peal at Apsley End on October 28th was originally fixed for October 21st (Tim Tompkins' 60 th birthday) but was delayed a week at the request of the Vicar. Ted Upton was supposed to be ringing the treble, but on the original date unexpectedly found himself in hospital, where he is making slow progress. Tim, our faithful Sunday service and practice friend, does not attempt peals since his war injuries stopped him. We had already celebrated both days, but our sincere wishes are sent to Ted in hospital.

A very pleasant day was spent on a trip to the South Coast, calling first at Guildford Cathedral en route.
Having got our second wind after reaching the lofty and spacious ringing chamber, we enjoyed ringing and listening to the fine ten. We left being very impressed by the Cathedral and its bells.
The beauty of Sussex on a fine autumn day needs no description here. The bells of Si. Peter's, Brighton, were appreciated by all, and a few managed to look at the rough sea after the lunch and before the climb to St . Nicolas' belfry, where the bells were put to very good use.
At Hurstpierpoint we gave the local band a break, for by expert timing our ringing was sandwiched between two weddings. Windswept Ditchling, we found, has a light eight in the squat tower, which sounded very well.
After tea at Haywards Heath, ringing at Reigate was a fitting conclusion to a well-spent day.
The day's ringing ranged from rounds to London Surprise Major and Cambridge Royal. All the bells were good and we thank District secretary Geoff Seaman for his selection and other arrangements. A word of praise is also due to the various Ringing Masters, who expertly handled a large company of varying proficiency levels to produce ringing well above outing average.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY

In spite of the fact that parts of the University had been taken over for the week-end demonstration, the Ringing Society was more concerned with changing its own constitution than with revolution at the general meeting on October 26th. Ringing took place during the day at six towers and varied from rounds to Spliced Surprise Major.
At the meeting after tea 12 new members were welcomed to the Society-a good intake with full range of talent. Robert Woodward was elected secretary after this post had fallen vacant owing to circumstances beyond the previous secretary's control. The constitution was amended to admit past and present members of Branch and City Universities to the Society now that they are separate degree-awarding hodies independent of the University of London. The annual dinner will take place or February 15 th. and the annual tour is from July 5 th to 13 th in Co. Durham. kindly being arranged by John Pladdys.
Roger Bailey was overcome at the prospect of proposing a vote of thanks after the meeting so the chairman, Alan Thirst, ably expressed thanks to the ladies who provided the excellent tea and to the incumbents who allowed us the use of the bells.
R.C.W.

CORRECTIONS & AMENDMENTS

The quarter peal at Coggeshall (page 858) should have read: D. J. Leatherdale (first quarter) 1.

Mr. T. J. Lock's first peal was rung on December 12th, 1927. The literal in the cable on page 844 is regretted.

Mr. Harry Poyner writes although there are points of similarity between his 5,056 Surprise Major (published on page 780) and the 5.088 by Harold G. Cashmore to be found in the Wratten Collection, the compositions prove to be different when inspected closely,

"MY JOB FOR THE CHURCH"

A BELLRINGER - DENNIS A. BAYLES

Three contributions to this series in Epilogucs on Tyne-Tees Tclevision were recorded in September, 1967, and transmitted in September, 1968, as noted recently in "The Ringing World". Readers outside the Tyne-Tees area may be interested in the three scripts. cach script was illustrated with appropriate visual aids.
If there had been television about a hundred years ago and a bellringer had been appearing on it I suppose the most likely role for him would have been in a "commercial" for beer rather than to talk about his job in the Church. Probably it was a minority that attracted attention and got a bad name for ringers in general, but there undoubtedly were things that needed to be put right. Thus it was that in the latter half of the 19 th century there arose a nationwide movement in which many regional Associations of ringers were formed to promote belfry reform.
One of the oldest of these is the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, of which I have the honour to be the secretary. Founded in 1877, it is this year celebrating the 90th anniversary of its foundation in Durham, and so it was to Durham that we went on September 23 rd as part of our celebrations. Service in the Cathedral and ringing on the Cathedral bells preceded a dinner in the evening. At this dinner we were very pleased and honoured to be joined by ringers from other parts of the country, including the Master and other members of that famous London ringing society, the Ancient Society of College Youths, which dates back to 1637 . Our chairman was Canon Thurlow, of Norwich Cathedral. who is president of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.
In talking about this event 1 have given some indication of the official organisations which link together ringers throughout the country. The individual ringer is a member of the band of ringers for his own church and these local bands in turn are grouped into regional organisations. Thus. 1 belong in the first instance to the hand at Chester-le-Street Parish Church and then this band is parr of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association. This latter. in common with the other regional organisations. sends representatives to the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers which meets annually about Whitsun It met in Newcastle in 1954.
Ringers are kept in rouch with each other by these organisations which are backed up by our own weekly paper, "The Ringing World." and last year I was elected to the committee that is responsible for the management of this paper. You see here the issue which publicised our celebrations and there are no prizes for guessing which cathedral was on the front cover for that week !
But over and above this official machinery for linking up ringers, there is something much deeper in the wonderful fellowship between ringers everywhere. I have been in a strange place and followed the sound of bells to a church and made my way in. At the next interval 1 have been asked: "Are you a ringer?" and soon I have been ringing with the local ringers and have made more friends There are not many activities where this happens. and this is one great attraction to me of $m y$ joh as a bellringer-the wonderful fellowship that unites ringers everywhere and gives Britain who friends scattered all over Great Britain who share my love of bells and bellringing.

I spoke last evening of the wonderful fellowship that unites hellríngers. and tonight 1 want to try to indicate something of the fascination of the art isself. I am a change ringer. This is a system of ringing developed in this country in which the whole bell swings through full circle in aliernate directions each time that the bell sounds. You see here a set of bells ready for such ringing. This requires one ringer for each bell and differs from the carillon, developed mainly in Holland and Belgium, where all the bells are operated by one man. In the carillon the bells remain stationary and are struck by hammers, which are connected to a keyboard or similar device. In change ringing each bell sounds about 30 times per minute, so that with eight bells there are about 240 notes being emitted a minute, and you can see that literally split-second timing is involved in spacing these regularly

The bells themselves usually range in weight from a few hundredweights to, perhaps, a ton in a typical ring such as we have at Chester-le-Sireet, and there is a great sense of satisfaction in achieving accurate control of a large mass of metal to make it sound at the precise moment that it should in conjunction with the other bells to produce the pattern that you see here.

Change ringing involves team work and wherever a team is involved there must be constant attention to recruitment and training. You will know how this is needed in sport if standards are to be kept up. Fortunately, the playing life of a bellringer is not restricted to a few years as it is with a footballer. and a ringer having started to ring in his early teens can go on ringing for the rest of his life. There are some men today still going strong in their 80 's and the odd one even at 90 . By comparison with this my 30 -odd years make me just a beginner !

If new recruits are to be trained there is no school or college to which we can send our pupils and we have ourselves to tackle the job of teaching. Teaching has its attractions for many people in a wide range of subjects and the teaching side of bellringing has held a great interest for me for many years. 1 find great interest in analysing the various movements to try to find out just what is involved in each of them, for it is not always easy to say precisely how one does a certain operation. For example, the catching of the sally at the correct point is much more a matter of timing rather than seeing as it at first sight might appear to be.

Teaching in bellringing has been very much neglected in the past, but today it is receiving much more attention. In these post-war years one-day and week-end courses have been introduced in various parts of the country for bepinners and for instructors. In this arca I have helped with the running of such courses at Lumley Castle, where lectures have been coupled with practical ringing sessions at nearby churches. These courses not only deepen interest and help to raise standards in ringing but also help to sustain that great fellowship between ringers. Thus in bellringing I find a second great attraction in the exercise of a skill as part of a team and in trying to impart that skill to others.

My interest in bellringing began in the 1930's at Acle in Norfolk where my parents were living at that time. As a young hoy 1 had joined the village choir and we used to robe in the base of the tower. This was not used for ringing at that time, as the death watch beetle had ravaged the timbers of the old bell frame and made the bells unsafe to ring. However, the choir had to move out of the tower when the work of restoration began and I followed this with great interest. I remember taking part as a choirboy in the service of dedication of the restored bells in September, 1933.
About iwo years after that I was judged to be about big enough to start to learn to ring.

Thus I was already a church worker before I learned to ring and my ringing has always seemed to me a continuation of my church work.
Last evening I mentioned the different systems of ringing bells developed by the Continentals and the English. In Holland and Beigum the development of the carillon has been for secular purposes, and there the bells are to be found in lown halls and the like and the ringing takes place on week-days. In England the development of change ringing has taken place in churches and the chief use of the bells is on Sundays as a preliminary to the church services. Our mid-week ringing is usually for practices to improve our Sunday ringing and to train our recruits.
As our church spire at Chester-le-Street points symbolically upwards, seeking to lift men's hearts from purely earthly things, I believe that we who ring bells are giving it a voice and a voice with a distinctive note amid the din of life in the $1960^{\prime}$ s. This voice speaks of peace amid the turmoil of the furious pace of life today. The bells seek to call the faithful to the church, to warn the heedless and to comfort the sick who are unable to get 10 church with the knowledge thas its work is still going on

The author of "Pilgrim's Progress," John Bunyan, was once a bellringer at Elstow in Bedfordshire but he gave it up because in those far-off times it was considered by many to be wicked. Today, naturally, I do not take that view and I find yet another great attraction in my ringing as a valuable piece of work for my church, and I like the sentiments expressed in this verse from a hymn for bellringers:

> Ringers of Christian England
> Who peal in earthly fanes
> For Christ our Lord and Master (He all your homage claims). Complete your sacred office While pilgrims on this strand That ye may swell the praises In that eternal land.

DOINGS IN DEVONSHIRE

Since its inception a few years ago Stratton Ringers' Day has gathered to itself a good reputation as a really good day out for any band -yes, we know Stratton is in Cornwall. but a large number of ringers go from England and enjoy it very much. There are six-bell and eight-bell competitions with a high enough standard for anyone but no very great pressure, so that novice bands do not mind having a go. A number of excellent towers are open for all-comers, and the Stratton ringers really make it go with a swing. If previous years are anvihing to go by. there will be some of the best bands in Devon there on November 30 th and some ringing well worth listening to.

NGTME BRTSMMID NESVIMAL

THOSE TV fans who watch the programme people were filmed in action by the Harlech Softly, Softly" will recall that the preamble always shows the city of Bristol, with a tantalising glimpse of the bombed Church of St. Nicholas. Several other churches can be picked out in the "Bells" square mile around the City Centre, in which there are no fewer than 12 rings of bells: before the war there were 15. No other provincial city has such a wealth of bells within such a small area, and in addition there are another 10 rings within a further two miles radius. Truly a tower-grabbers' paradise, and the friendly Bristol City Branch ringers are always pleased to open their towers on Festival Day to everyone.

So on October 26th the fifth Festival was attended, for some part of the day, by over 150 ringers from 20 counties, mostly young and all eager to ring in as many of the $2 y$ towers open as possible. The Festival Committee was appointed in March, and this year consisted of Messrs. M. J. Hobbs, R. W. Sweet and $S$. Bateman. A great deal of work is involved to ensure a successful day but everyone who was present would agree that this year's committee did a really grand job. To ensure that strangers to Bristol found their way round, Mick Hobbs had kindly invited visitors to apply for a map of the City Centre and he recerved 47 applications.
Ringers began to arrive on Friday night, and a punctual start was made at $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on the two morning routes. Approximately 40 ringers followed round on the south route, visiting Brislington, Knowle and St. Philip's, and another 40 were advancing on the city, starting at Filton and continuing via Horfield, Henbury and Westbury to St. Mark's, where 82 were present at the ringers' service. This was conducted by the Rev. David Sansun. Rector of Stechworth, Birmingham (late curate of Stoke Bishop). We were privileged to hear an excellent "down-to-earth" address from a practical ringer, who admitted to being a keen tower-grabber himself.

Four routes had been planned for the afternoon and by this time numbers had considerably increased. The west route took in Long Ashton, Abbots Leigh and Stoke Bishop, and the east route St. George's, St. Ambrose's Stapleton and St. Werburgh's. For thase wishing to go further afield a country route had been fixed to Mangotsfield, Pucklechurch, Abson. Westerkigh, Doynton and Warmley, and for newcomers to Bristol the big attraction was the city towers of Christ Church, St. Michael's, St. Mary Redcliffe, St. Stephen's, Kingsdown, the Cathedral. St. John's and St. James'. At Redcliffe several TV Company. An additional pleasure was a visit to the University tower, which houses the 96 ton bell "Great George," and around 50 people availed themselves of this opportunity to hear it strike 6 o'clock

The social evening had been arranged in a private room at the Swan Hotel, Stokes Croft. To help cover their expenses the committee ran a rafle for six good prizes, and Dick sweet sold many records of "Bristol Bells, ${ }^{\text {"1 }}$ with ringing from four churches. There was an amusing singing session, with Chris Kippin at the piano, and three well-known ringers were featured in songs. By 11.30 p.m. there were still 80 present and a good time was had by all.

During the day some of the ringing had been good and some bad. When an open invitation is extended to everyone there are always bound to be those whose enthusiasm exceeds their ability, and even the most astute Ringing Master has difficulty in assessing what everyone can manage. Perhaps the wisest thing to do at a festival of this sort, for those who bring beginners, is to decide whether they are good enough for what they wish to ring and, if not, to tell them that they will get more enjoyment if they wait until they have had more experience in their own tower or District meetings.

So, on behalf of all the visitors, our grateful thanks to the organisers for a very enjoyable and interesting day.

APACE.

Cary Branch Lose Ringing Master

An announcement was made at the quarterly meeting of the Cary Branch at Queen Camel on October fith that the Ringing Master (Mr D. M. C. Hill) had now left the diocese and would not be seeking re-election at the annual meeting.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. M. P. Ralph-Bowman), who was assisted by the Branch chairman (the Rev. G. S. Robinson). Mr. Darrel was organist. and a collection was taken for the Association Bell Fund.

Tea was served in the Mildmay Arms, followed by a business meeting, when one new member from Bruton was elected.

Some members then returned to the belfry and rang before and after a Confirmation service being held that evening, whilst the others went to nearby Marston Magna.

The Church of St. Giles, Wrexham

St. Giles', Wrexham, and its Bells

W
REXHAM Parish Church is regarded as the best example of Gothic architecture in North Wales. It is always alluded to as one of the "Seven Wonders of Wales". The familiar rhyme recording these "wonders" runs:-
Pistyll Rhaiadr and Wrexham Steeple Snowdon's mountain, without its people; Overton yew trees, St. Winifred's Well, Llangollen Bridge and Gresford Bells.
The recorded story of Wrexham Church goes back to the thirteenth century, but it is the majestic tower, built in the reign of Henry VII, which has led to its inclusion in most lists of the famous churches of the United Kingdom. As early as A.D. 1617 it was described as the Holy Tower. It rises to a height of 136 feet, with hexagonal turrets of different heights. The one on the North West corner is the highest and it has a spiral staircase right up to the top. There are 29 statues on the tower, some now rather weather-beaten, but that of St. Giles with a hind at his feet can be readily identified from the pathway leading to the North Porch over which is the carved stone figure of the Virgin Mary and the Child, as might be expected in a Church so closely connected with the Cistercians in days long gone by.
The treasures of the Church include a pre-Reformation chalice; the Eagle lectern of A.D. 1524 given by John ap Davydd of Plas-y-stiwart and mentioned in the standard work on lecterns; the iron chancel screen believed to be the gift of Elihu Yale, and saved for the church by the intervention of the then lay rector, Sir Watkin WilliamsWynn, who prevented its sale; and a number of brasses bearing curious inscriptions.

ROYAL WELCH FUSILIERS

The ante-nave is filled with many brasses in memory of comrades of the Royal Welch Fusiliers, together with the beautiful alabaster and marble memorial to officers and men of the regiment unveiled by King George $V$ when, as Prince of Wales, he came to the Church with Queen Mary, then Princess of Wales. The Font on which several heraldic figures are carved was restored to the Church after being for many years in a garden in Acton. The Memorial Chapel at the East end of the North Aisle commemorates the fallen in the two world wars. The window above the reredos is in memory of Dean Howell. The Heber window in the North Aisle is in memory of Bishop Heber who wrote the missionary hymn "From Greenland's Icy Mountains" at the old Vicarage on Vicarage Hill, and it was first sung in Wrexham Church.

The patron saint of Wrexham is St. Giles. Nothing now remains of the 13th century church and according to Mason Marks, noted by A. N. Palmer, the eastern portion of the south aisle belongs to the 14th century. The old steeple was blown down in 1330 and afterwards the market was changed from Sunday to Thursday.

In 1472 the east window, now forming the Chancel arch with remnants of the tracery, was taken out and the chancel was completed in 1480, but it was not until 1506 the the present tower was begun, and completed about 1518.

FOUNDER OF YALE

In the 18th century, Elihu Yale, the virtual founder of Yale University, U.S.A., returned from India, lived at Plas Grono and made numerous gifts to the Church including the painting in the ante-nave said to be by Rubens. The tomb of Elihu Yale with its well-known inscription is visited by American tourists each year. The inscription on the tomb is as follows:-
"Born in America, in Europe bred.
In Africa travell'd and in Asia wed,
Where long he liv'd and thriv'd; in London dead.
Much good, some ill he did, so hope all's even
And that his soul, thro' mercy's gone to heaven.
You that survive and read this tale, take care,
For this most certain exit to prepare,
Where, blest in peace the actions of the just Smell sweet, and blossom in the silent dust."

THE BELLS

Wrexham Church bells were cast by Abraham Rudhall of Gloucester in 1726 and were brought up the Severn to Shrewsbury, from where they were conveyed by road to Wrexham. In a small frame in the belfry is the original receipt for casting these bells in Abraham Rudhall's own handwriting. It reads:-

Rec'd of Robert Ellis, Esq., by the hands of Henry Jennings the sum of forty-four pounds, fourteen shillings and sixpence in full of all accounts for casting Wrexham bells by me.

Signed

Abr. Rudhall Junior,
£44-14-6.
June 16th 1732
The bells were rehung and chiming hammers attached to them by J. Taylor of Loughborough in 1877 and in the following year Messrs. Gillett and Johnston installed a new clock and dials, the entire cost being $£ 521$ 10s. 10 d .
In 1907 the bells were tuned, quarter tuned and rehung in entirely new fittings and wrought steel frame on a new belfry floor by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. Cost $£ 491$.
In May, 1955, nine of the bells were removed to the bell foundry at Loughborough and retuned to the tenor with new fittings, etc. The rededication was performed by the Archbishop of Wales on December 8th, 1955.

EARLY PEALS

The first peal recorded in the ringing room is 5,040 Grandsire Triples, rung on March 26th, 1729. Six of the band, or practitioners as they were then called, had only been ringing for twelve months.

Holt's ten-part of Grandsire Triples was rung on February 19th, 1827, by the Junior Society of Wrexham Ringers and the same peal was rung again on February 3rd, 1879. On this occasion all the ringers were natives of the town and members of the Wrexham Society of Change Ringers.

Wrexham is the only ring of 10 bells in North Wales and recorded in the ringing room is the first peal on ten bells to be rung in Scotland, at St. Giles' Cathedral. This was a peal of Grandsire Caters rung by the Ancient Society of College Youths and the Wrexham Society of Change Ringers on August 31st, 1886.

The band was as follows:-
Joseph Field, Oxford; Richard Evans, Wrexham; Alfred Thomas, Birmingham; Joseph Williams, Wrexham; John Ellis, Wrexham; Francis E. Dawe, London; Edward Rowland, Wrexham; Thomas Newell, Wrexham; Edward Evans, Wrexham; James Kendrick, Wrexham. Composed by Henry Johnson and Conducted by Francis E. Dawe.

Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association MEMBERSHIP NEARLY DOUBLED IN TEN YEARS

Abstract

TO celebrate the 75th anniversary of the founding of what was then the Llandaft Diocesan Association, the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Ássociation hel. a dinner in the Grand Hotel, Cardiff, on October 19th, attended by many of its members and friends and some distinguished visitors, amongst them the Archbishop of Wales, the Most Rev. W. G. H. Simon, the-Bishop of Monmouth, the Rt. Rev. E. S. Thomas, both presidents of the Association, and Mr. John Freeman, vice-president of the Central Council. Perhaps as an augury for a successful evening two good peals were rung during the day, Stedman Triples at Marshfield and Cambridge Maximus at Newport Cathedral.

The meal was well served and prepared and at its conclusion a plain course of Bob Major was rung on handbells by Bernard Groves 1-2, Nicholas Simon 3-4, Arthur Hoare 5-6, Bob Smith 7-8, which was greeted with warm applause from the large, and now mellow, gathering.

LOVE OF THE CHURCH

Mr. T. M. Roderick, one of the Association's Central Council representatives, then proposed the toast of "The Church." He compared conditions in the 19th century, when some clerics proposed that Sunday ringing should be stopped, with those of today; what would those clerics think when they saw the as sembled company with an Archbishop and a Bishop present; we seemed to have lived down the bad repute of earlier days. The bishops would always have the Association's support " in the one loud noise made to the glory of God," but they would look for more. as the well-being of the Church must depend on the witness of clergy and laity together It was to be sincerely hoped that the increasing number of young people ringing today would be instilled with a love of the Church which would last them the rest of their lives and into a lasting fellowship beyond the parish to wherever there were ringers.
The Bishop of Monmouth replied in a characteristically fluent and witty manner Had he been chosen because Newport Cathedral was featured in "The Ringing World "that week? Perhaps Monmouth was now able to form a Guild of its own. After various dissenting cries from the floor he added that these were obviously heretical words; it was just a passing thought!
From his experience at Llandaft Cathedral he knew that many young people had become interested in the art and that many girls as well as boys were now ringing. This was clearly all to the good. He grew to learn that he was always welcome in the tower-except on New Year's Eve, when for some reason the ringing always sounded better! It was a good thing for youth to be trained to take authority, to work and serve together with older people
Bells had supporters in the most unexpected quarters. His dachshund would go into the garden and wait for one particular note on Llandaff bells and would then begin to howlnot with pain but with delight.
In conclusion he thanked the Association in the name of the Church for making ringing a delight to listen to: let it be encouraged by all those people who loved the sound of bells.

ENCOURAGE YOUTH IN OFFICE

Mr. John Freeman proposed " The Association." Several famous figures had been members in the past; he called to mind particularly J. W. Jones anci A. J. Pitman, as he knew them well. But a "those were the days" attitude should not be adopted : the Association must look to the future. Officials should not hold office too long and should encourage youth. who should, however, have a sound knowledge of the workings of the Association New ideas were essential in any institution.
The Association had prospered in the past: it appeared to be prospering at the present day. He hoped that in another 25 years he would be able to propose another toast.

In reply, the Master (Mr. Richard Stewart) spoke of the growth of the Association from the 40 members of 1893 to the figure of 450 at present. In that time many rings had been installed or augmented, chiefly the 12 at Newport and the tens at Abergavenny, Chepstow and Llandaff. But enthusiasm was not confined to the larger parishes; recently Grosmont bells had been recast and rehung through the collective work of Rector and parishioners, numbering no more than 200.
Why had the membership figure nearly doubled in the last ten years? Much was due to the interest shown at Llandaff Cathedral represented in force that night. There had been constant recruiting by tower captains. the average age of whom was constantly falling. If one young person got interested, more were likely to follow. There had also been welcome additions to the area from other parts of the country. One should not forget the influence of the Cowhridge Grammar School Society under its leader. Mr. Iolo Davies, a master at the school, and the previous Master of the Association
The fact that he (Richard Stewart) was one of the youngest ever to hold the office of Master was symbolic of the outlook of presentday members: they placed their hopes for the future in to-day's youth. He had heard the expression " once a ringer always a ringer ": It was "very important in the "permissive society " of today that those recruited should be brought into contact with the truths of the Church as well as the traditions of bellringing. This, he was confident, would happen.
There was then an interval after which the popular secretary, Mr Jack Pryor, proposed "The Guests and Visitors." They were very pleased to welcome the Archbishop, perhaps the first appearance of a Welsh Archbishop at a ringing dinner Some of them had been pleased to ring at the recent Enthronement service at Llandaff and in the peal which followed it. The Bishop of Monmouth and Mrs. Thomas were missed at Llandaff Deanery, so he understood, but Landaff's loss was Newport's gain. The presence of the vicepresident of the Central Council symbolised the unity of ringers through the territorial Associations and Guilds. Near neighbours were represented by Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Cousins, of Hereford, while Mr. J. A. Hoare was from the Swansea and Brecon Guild. The University College of Cardiff members were there, and a fine body they looked, too (laughter). The several clergy showed the close links between ringing and other Church activities. There were representatives of the Cheshire Guild and a large contingent from the Coventry Guild. Finally, wives and sweethearts must not be forgotten; their forbearance on practice nights was sometimes marvellous.
In reply, Mr. Ian Maycock thanked the Association on behalf of the guests and visitors for a very good evening. Time was getting on and he sensed a long speech would not be very welcome Jack Pryor had done the lion's share of the organisation. He had only one thing left to say-thank you again and maybe see you in 25 years' time.
Mr. L. Bainham, librarian, then thanked Mr. F. J. Hannington, former general secretary of the Association for the gift of an album containing a picture of every tower in the area-surely an almost unique gift. Mr. Hannington had also presented the Association with several other books in the past, for which they were again exceedingly grateful.
To finish the official proceedings of the evening three leads of Kent Major were rung " in hand" by the above-mentioned expenents, again to be greeted by warm applause. Proceedings were continued informally and all agreed events had matched the occasion.
N. W. H. S.

A DEVIZES WEDDING

A quarter peal was rung at Southbroom on October 26th in honour of the wedding at St . James' Church, Devizes, of Mr. G. Hutton, a member of the church choir, and Miss D. Bridges, whose father has been a ringer at St. James since 1920.
The service was fully choral and was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. M. Currah). assisted by the Rev. D. W. King. The anthem "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" was sung during the signing of the register
The reception, attended by 100 guests, was held at the Town Hall, and the honeymoon spent at New Milton.

WHO WROTE THE TINTINNALOGIA?

By CYRIL A. WRATTEN

INN his recent review of the 1668 " Tintunalogia"S. C. S. quotes in some detail the late Armiger Trollope's reasons for deciding that the book was written by the Rev. Richard Duckworth, with the assistance of Fabian Stedman. I have not seen Trollope's detailed evidence, but it would be interesting to know whether, in reaching the conclusion that he did, he took into account the evidence on the authorship of this famous book that exists in the Annable manuscript.
The manuscript itself is a well-bound book of some 300 pages. written in Annable's own hand and now in the possession of the Brttish Museum. Although it is sometimes said that the book was started around 1735 there is quite good evidence that it was started some time earlier, during the 1720 's. It seems likely that Annable began it with the intention of compiling a collection of methods and that it was an early draft of a book that was to be published. Writing in his diary in July, 1734. with reference to the recently-published third edition of the "Campanalogia Improved," Thomas Hearne said: "One Annables is now putting out a new edition of the book which tis said will be the best of its kind that ever yet was printed on that subject."
As might perhaps be expected, Annable's primary sources of methods were the ringing books that were then available-the 1668 Tintinnalogia," the "Campanalogia " of 1677. and the first two editions of the "Campanalogia Improved," published in 1702 and 1705 respectively. To the methods copied from these books he then added some more from other sources. Some were the production of his friend Laughton, many were his own work. and a few were methods such as Cambridge Surprise Minor that were being practised in London at the time but whose provenance was unknown.

A "KEY" LETTER

An interesting-and in the present context highly significant-feature of this part of the manuscript is that Annable gave nearly every five- and six-bell method a "key" letter. Against each appears a bold capital A or a D or an I or an L or an S. Comparison with the methods already published in the three ringing text books of the day shows that those taken from the "Tintinnalogia " are denoted by an "I," those from the "Campanalogia " have an " S ," while those taken from the Campanalogia Improved" are distinguished by a "D." Methods that appear in more than one book carry the "key" letter for the earliest work, showing that Annable worked systematically through the three volumes. starting with the "Tintinnalogia," going on to the "Canpanalogia," and finishing with the Campanalogia Improved '
A clue to the meaning of these letters is given when we see that one of the "L" methods is Laughton's Pleasure. It seems possible that the "L" therefore stands for Laughton. " $A$ " would consequently seem to indicate Annable's own work. This tentative association between "key" letters and initials is strengthened beyond any reasonable doubt when it is recalled that the author of the 1677 "Campanalogia" ("S") was Fabian Stedman. and that one of the authors of the "Campanalogia Improved" ("D") was named Doleman
But what of the "I"? In view of the other evidence it seems extremely likely that it must be the initial of the "Tintinnalogia's" author. It is of course possible that it is indeed not an I at all but a J; 18th century block capital script did not distinguish between the iwo letters, and later in the manuscript Annable himself printed the word "January" as "Ianuary." But in neither case does the initual fit either Duckworth or Stedman.

It might seem at first sight that Annable could not use the letter "D" to stand for Duckworth because he had already used this initial to stand for Doleman But this theory will not withstand any critical examination, for it has already been shown that Annable started his collection by extracting methods from the 1668 book. It is therefore the " $D$ " standing for Doleman that would be unusable, not the "D" for Duckworth. For the same reason there was nothing to have stopped him using an " $S$ " for Stedman.

Nor does it seem likely that the "I" was a purely arbitrary letter used because Annable himself did not know who was the *Tintinnalogia's" author. The manuscript was started only 50 years or so after the "Tintinnalogia" had been published, and it hardly seems possible that the name of the author of such a significant book could have disappeared so rapidly from the memory of the London Exercise.

On the contrary, there is every reason to expect Annable to have known who the author was. The book had been seen through the press by Fabian Stedman, probably acting on behalf of the College Youths, since it was to this Society that the book was dedicated. Although we cannot be sure of the precise date, it seems probable that Stedman did not die until 1713, only eight years before Annable joined the Society. It can, I think, be safely assumed that some memory of the author would have persisted in the College Youths for as long as Stedman was living, and the interval that then elapsed before Annable arrived on the scene and started collecting his methods is scarcely sufficient for the last vestiges of this memory to have passed away beyond recall.

POSSIBLE CLUE

There is one further possible clue to the identity of the mysterious Mr. I (or J) in the manuscript. Annable marked one method there with an "I" that was not in the 1668 book-"Oxford Surprize." This might be taken to suggest that perhaps Mr. I was an Oxford man, more likely "gown" than town" in view of relations between Oxford and the College Youths in the second half of the 17th century. Since Duckworth was an Oxford graduate it might be interesting to speculate on the existence of a link between at the University.
In 1944 Armiger Trollope examined in detail the relationship between the co-authors of the 1702 J.D. and C.M. "Campanalogia Improved." He came to the conclusion that. while Doleman was the technical expert and the man with the knowledge of composition and so on required for such a book. the "literary author" was the still unidentified C.M. Is it not possible that a similar relationship had existed between Annable's "I" "Tintinnalogia" with the "I I" being the tech"Tintinnalogia" with the "I " being the tech
This is an attractive theory and one that would answer our chief problem; for it would explain why Annable labelled the "Tintinnalogia" methods "I." while Anthony à Wood said in his Athene Oxoniensis that Duckworth wrote the book. Wood, thinking of the book simply as a book and not of its detailed technical contents, spoke of its "literary " author," while Annable. who was interested only in the technicalities, referred to the "technical author." We know that he had done exactly the same thing in the case of the J.D. and C.M. "Campanalogia Improved."

The theory is, it is true, open to two objections. The first is that the "Tintinnalogia's" title page says that it is "By a lover of that ART " - in the singular. There is no hint of dual authorship. Trollope's view that Fabian Stedman provided much of the technical material for the book is however open to the same objection, an objection that is, I feel, more apparent than real. But this view of Trollope's itself is the second objection to the theory.

JOINT WORK?

The chief evidence for the supposition that it was Stedman who provided the technical expertise lies in the wording of the title page: "Printed by WG. for Fabian Stedman at his Shop in St Dunstan's Churchyard in Fleetstreer," and in the residue of the centuriesold tradition that Stedman was the book's sole author-if he wasn't the book's sole author, then at least he helped with it. But when we see the tremendous difference between the technical knowledge displayed in the "Tintinnalogia " and that in Stedman's own "Campunalogia," published a mere nine years later, it seems a little doubtful whether the same man, let alone a man of Stedman's calibre, could have been responsible for both books. The appearance of Stedman's name on the title page is itself no evidence that he took a hand in its writing. The title page of his own "Campanalogia" tells us that it was "Printed by W. Godbid, for W.S.," and although the identity of W.S. remains as much a mystery as does that of the C.M. of 25 years later, there is no suggestion that he assisted Stedman in any way in writing the book.

I am as a result drawn to the conclusion that the "Tintinnalogia" was the joint work of two men-a "literary author" in the "sower, harsh, and almost intollerable " person of Richard Duckworth, with, assisting him in details of methods and compositions, Annable's mysterious " 1 " or "J." Stedman saw to the publication of the finished book, and once it was off the press did a great deal of work to encourage its sale, travelling as far afield as Leicester to advertise it and collect orders.

LONG SUTTON, SOMERSET

On October 26th the local band, with friends from Taunton and Wiveliscombe and a visitor from Painswick, had an outing in North Devon. On arriving at East Buckland it was discovered that the cower not only contained a nice ring of six (tenor $7 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.) but also a fine display of ferns growing inside the window. Preb. J. H. B. Andrews, the ringing Vicar of Chittlehampton, joined the band for a ring and accompanied the ringers to West Buckland, where the bells ( $6,7 \frac{7}{7}$ cwt.) go like the proverbial tops.
After lunch a visit was made to Barnstaple ( 8,22 cwt.), where the "go" was not as bad as expected from earlier reports. Pilton bells ( $8,25 \mathrm{cwt}$.) are a magnificent ring and the band were pleased to have two local ringers join them in call changes.
Between Pilton and Braunton (8, $16 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$ ) the car shed part of its exhaust system, and the delay for roadside repairs resulted in the four occupants missing the last four towersBraunton, Holy Trinity (8, $12 \frac{1}{3}$ cwt.), SS. Philip and James (8, $11 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt.) and Lynton ( $6,10 \mathrm{cwt}$.), which was the writer's 2,000 th tower. Grateful thanks are due to the incumbents and ringers who met the party.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

Warning at Annual Dinner from Mr. John Chilcott

FOLLOWING the success of last year's Surrey Association dinner, a similar event was held on October 19th at Laker's Hutel, Redhill. Arrangements had been made by a subcommittee compused of Mr. D. Bruukes, Miss A. Mann and Mr. C. Mew.

Ninety-seven members and iriends. whth tour guests, the Rev. and Mrs. G. Williams of Nuttield and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Clilcute, sat down to roast Surrey chicken, doing justice to a good meal, even if the wine service cuuld have been a little speedier. The toastmaster, Mr. S. F. Kimber, announced that the Master. Mr. F. E. Darby, who was presiding, would be pleased to take wime with the olhcers and committee nembers.
After the loyal toast Mr. C. Mew began the speeches by proposing the loast of "The Church and the Exercise." He stressed the need for both functions to adapt to the demands of a rapidly changing world if they wished to survive. A good system of communication was essential and more attention should be pand to the needs of younger members.
Replying to the toast, the Rev. $\because$. Wiltiams endorsed whole-heartedly the points made by Mr. Mew and illustrated his speech with sume amusing anecdotes He was generous in his praise of ringers, who he felt formed part of the spearhead of the Church's partsh wurk.

THREE TYPES AT MEETINKIS

The toast of "The Association " was proposed by Mr. J. E. Chilcott While he was pleased to see that the Association was taking an active interest in Central Council affairs, he warned against pressing for thanges unless they constituled genuine improvements. The regular practice meetings of the Association were its strongest building point. Such meetings were attended by three types of ringer-learners who got something denied them at their own towers. middle-of-the-roaders such as peal ringers who drifted in and out of meetings, and the stable suppurters. Mr. Chilcott suggested that some communication was lacking between the three groups and greater contact might usefully be made.
Replying for the Assuctation, the Master outlined its history from its humble beginnings in May, $18 $ 0$. Membership now stood at +05. Mr. Darby then thanked the Dinner Comnittee and presented a certilicate for the most sutcessful band in the 1968 Striking Competition to Miss J Armstiong of the Putney ringers.
The draw for the lucky numbers oll the dinner tickets resulted in a bottle of sheriy boing to Mr. A. Brown, of Croyden, and boxes of chocolates being received by the Muster and Mr. Mew. The foor was then sleared for dancing to the Rate Dand until midnight.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION STRIKING CONTEST

Saturday, Uctober 19th, saw zurloads of ringers from the county converging on Eaton Bray eatly in the afternoon, for this was the venue of the Associatuon striking contest. Two teams from each District provided the ringing before tea and this proved to be of quite a high standard and a joy to all who had gachered just to listen. This was the dirst year that the rules allowed anything other than rounds, and several teants took advantage of this by ringing changes Atter the contest a short service was held, the Vicar expressing his pleasure at hearing the bells rung. Tea was available in the village Hall, supplied by the local ladies, in conjunction with the village autumn fair.
Alter tea the ringers adjourned to the cnurch for the judges' verdict and the presentations.
The president, Mr. A. E Rushden, introduced the two judges. Miss Valerie Mills and Mr. Walter Ayre, whose coinments on the ringing lallowed with revuls. In giving fauls. varying from four to 63, the judges said of the ringing that most of it was steady and had a guod rhythm, although every band found difficulty wih the third bell causing some unevenness at times.
The reans wete placed as follows: lutternhoe 1, St. Paul's, Bediord 2, Luton 3, Maulden 4. Goldington 5 and Stotfold 6. The cup was theretore unce agitn presented to Totternhoe, and certiticates to the first three bands

The president thanked the judges for therr excelletlt apprasal of the competition, the bands for competing, the ladies for tea, and the Vicar for the use of the bells. A warm vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. June Sinlield. the organiser of the competition, and to the orkanisers of the District eliminating contests
General ringing continued untul about $8 \mathrm{n} . \mathrm{m}$., and thus the cars departed, leaving the village once ugain in silence.

LOUGHBOROUGH OUTING 1968

Perhaps it is only to be expected on an outing from Loughborough that five of the six towers visted should contain bells which have received attention from Taylor's Foundry and that we should think that they were all excellent. Maybe we are biased, but on this occasion we think not.
The first tower we visited was at Grantham (a superb Taylor ten of 1947), well matching the superb structure). The frame at Boston Stump is an interesting construction. Those who ventured to the bell chamber were rewarded with the sight of the ten ringing bells hung round the is stationary carillon bells in the centre of the frame rall the bells by Taylor:s. 1932 and 1951). This tower is in design more akin to the carillon tower of the Low Countries, and indeed contact between the port of Boston and the Netherlands must have been greater. if not physically easier, in the Middle Ages than with many places in England.

The standard of our ringing at Donington (8) was not good and our opinion of this ring is better not mentioned. We followed with the pleasant six at Whaplode, which have needed no attention since they were rehung by Taylor's in 1933. What a delight hoth to hear and handle are the hells of the 1926 Taylor octave at Spalding! We could all have spent many more hours on these bells. The final tower. Surfleet, contained the lightest 12. We were very pleased with the way these bells handled. the only complaint heing the indistinetness of the two trebles inside the tower. (Mnctlv Taylor. 1912 and 1932.)

Rincing ranped from rounds to successful Grandsire Cinnimes Our trateful thanks to all inrumbents and ringers who helped to make our day so enjoyable.

BATH BRANCH'S QUAR'TER PEAL TOUR

This for us was a new venture and followed a brain-wave that Julian Newman had to ring a different plain hunt Minor method in six Bath Branch lowers. The band with him were Roger Coles. Alan Lee and David Hawkins (his father deputising for him in the first quarter) from local towers, plus iwo of our University friends, Peter Hardwick (Herts) and Roger Kendrick (Leics).
The first attempt was at Newton St. Loe, where St. Clement's was duly rung and very much enjoyed. The bells are a ground-floor ring with rope guides that rattled, a clock with only an hour-hand and a clock hammer that is released on the tenor bell itself.

On to Wellow the only ring of the day on nall bearines), where we opened all the windows to allow our Leicestershire friend to appreciate this glorious Mears ring of $21 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. Double Court was the method rung here but after a good 540 we failed in the plain course.
St. Matthew's, Widcombe. was the first call after lunch and Plain Bob was chosen for lots of reasons-bells dropping, etc.-but let it be said that without the tower master's care these bells would have been unringable a long while ago As $1 t$ was, the quarter was a great success

Along the road to Lyncombe to ring Childwall on the very pleasant, clear-sounding ring. We tried, hut a miscall ended proceedings after several false starts. Swainswick tower was chosen for Double Oxford, which was successful at the second attempt. Lots of interesting thines in this tower-they are anti-clockwise. for a start, hung on three tiers in a tiny tower. and most of the ringers need to be thin, as the bells fall in awkward places in the corners of the tower. Apart from the rope of the lifth becoming unravelled all went well.

On to Bathford for Thelwall on the wellkept Warner ring of 1880 . Bad luck was encountered here as after some very good ringing we failed three courses from home.

What had been gained (apart from blisters) by this venture? Firstly, experience with less familiar methods. and in every case the 540 had been successful even if the quarter had failed. Secondly. a chance to ring in a few of one's own Branch towers. Thirdly, that one tower less would be the ideal number if tried again.
To Julian our thanks for the chance this gave us-and have more brain-waves, won't you 1

Ilchester Branch

On November 2nd the Ilchester Branch held its monthly practice meeting at St. Martin's, Kingsbury EpiscoDi, by kind permission of the Rev. K. W. Puddy Ahout 26 ringers attended, representing some 14 towers, and they were made welcome by the Vicar and Mr H. Tilley.
Ringing on this good-going if somewhat noisy heavy six (tenor 19 cwt .) was under the direction of the Branch Ringing Master. Mr. Gordon Rendell. and varied from rounds and call changes to Bob Doubles, Grandsire, Plain Boh Minor. Stedman. London, Cambridge and Kent Treble Bob.

The Branch is grateful to the Vicar and tower master for successful and enjoyable evening

Letters to the Editor

RINGING AT EVERDON

Dear Sir-G. K. D. (page 843) mentions the ringing which took place at Everdon, Northants, and the band are to be congratulated on accomplishing a quarter peal on this glorious ring

These bells, have, however, been rung on various occcasions in recent years and I 100 k part in touches there in August, 1963.

Messrs. P. I. Chapman and M. R. Bennett got the bells in reasonable shape. and, apart from myself, other ringers taking part were, to the best of my memory, Messrs. H. Johnson, G. C. Paul. A. A. Paul and J. J. Spraggett.

The then Rector, the Rev. Mr. Trnka (a Czechoslovakian) recorded the ringing, played it back to us and was delighted with the result. 1 believe the tape was handed later to the present Rector, the Rev. R S. Dye.

Northants has its fair share of ancient and in some cases " unringable" bells, but most have been conquered by post-war bands "set free" after hostilities had ceased, to roam and ring in the county they love.

However, once more congratulations on this "quarter" accomplished on the bells of Everdon.-Yours faithfully,
F. W. HUTT.

Rugby, Warks.

ANOTHER RINGER AT EVERDON

Dear Sir,-I would like to correct a statement by Mr. Dodd that the bells of Everdon, Northamptonshire, had not been rung since 1930.

I was one of a band of Daventry Branch members, the others being Messrs. P. Chapman, M. Bennett. H. Johnson and F. Hutt, who rang these bells on two occasions: the first was in August, 1963, and again later. Thicy were not so bad to ring as Mr. Dodd makes out.
On the first occasion the then Rector recorded the ringing and we sat in the church afterwards and heard the bells played back.Yours faithfully,

JAMES J. SPRAGGETT.

RESIDENT AND NON-RESIDENT

Dear Sir,-My friend George Hawkins raises an interesting point in his interpretation of local and resident bands. Definitions differ, no doubt, but for my money, with rare exceptions, a local band would automatically be a resident one, whereas a resident is not necessarily a local one!

By coincidence, the Twerton band bave also provided the opportunity to take this distinction a stage further. The quarter of Duffield they rang recently was claimed as the first for the Association, but I think the footnote should have added " by a resident band." I am afraid we rang one at Backwell. Somerset, on September 21st, 1960 , and although it contained one local, two resident and five nonresident life members, we naturally rang it for the Bath and Wells! I am sorry if we have stolen some of their thunder, but here again, as your correspondent says, there is a difference.-Yours sincerely,

JOHN BRAIN.

" INCOMPETENT AND INDOLENT VOLLNTEFRS"

Dear Sir,-Since, with respect, you may be regarded as one of the veterans of the Central Council, you will. I am sure, be relieved to know that your unfortunate use of headline for the Leicester Dinner report has given the wrong emphasis to the advice, if indeed it be advice, whiçh I sought to give. This provocative presentation of a precis may have caused distress in a few minds and it is regrettable.
My remarks were directed, not to " old hoys" (an expression which I abhor, by the way) but to those of any age who cling to offices which they have ceased to fulfil effectively, and furthermore the remarks were not directed specifically to the Central Council, but to the Exercise in general. Indeed, I said that the problem was not confined to bellringing.
Over and over again people may be seen half-heartedly doing work for which they have long since lost enthusiasm, when honesty points the way to the honourable solution. Those who undertake voluntary work of any kind ought to accept the moral responsibility implied. Stipendiary engagements have, generally speaking, the built-in safeguard of the sack, but it is often difficult to dispense with the services of an incompetent or indolent volunteer

But, sir, the important points I wished to make were that there are two sides to the problem and that there is a solution much to be preferred to those practised by Cromwell and Mao.-Yours sincerely.

VERNON BOTTOMLEY,
Hon. Secretary, Central Council.

VICTORIAN RINGERS

Dear Sir,-Mr. Lenton's interesting article on Victorian ringers at Pontefract (page 868) has reminded me that 1 rang my first quarter peal for Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee on June 20th, 1897, and it also made me wonder how many there are still actively ringing, besides Mr. George Symonds and myself, who rang peals during her reign.

I rang seven peals before her death in January 1901, two of which stand out, one for the relief of Ladysmith during the Boer War and the other was the only peal of Double Oxford the late Mr. William Pye ever rang.
Some ten (perhaps twelve) years ago an inquiry revealed a surprising number of ringers who had rung peals in the last century. These have no doubt shrunk considerably by now.Yours sincerely,
E. BARNETT.
10. Kings Close, Crayford, Kent.

Note-We would be very pleased to publish details of those of our readers who rang peals in the last century.-Ed.

HOMEWARD BOUND

Miss Pam Warren, who was captain of Merrow, Surrey, ringers before she went to Australia. starts on her journey home in January, proposing to make her way overland and reach Guildford in June. She has left Toowoomba, Queensland, for Perth, Western Australia, where she has accepted a relief job. While in Perth she hopes to ring at the Cathedral. She sends her greetings and best wishes to Guildford friends.

Backwell, Somerset.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

 Maidstone District A.G.M.On October 12th the Maidstone District held its annual general meeting at All Saints', Maidstone. The afternoon's ringing began at St . Michael's ( $6,8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), where rounds up to Surprise were rung, and then transferred to All Saints' at four o'clock.
A pleasant service was taken by the Vicar, during which the traditional course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handhells by Messrs. Cullingworth, Sone, Waddington and Macfadyen. A splendid tea laid on by the All Saints' ringers followed.
Mr. A. P. S Berry, of the Ashford District, took the chair for the meeting and the minutes of the previous two meetings were read and signed as correct. The election of District officers resulted in the following being chosen: District secretary, Mr. Colin Tester; Ringing Master, Mr. P. Muchlinski; District representatives, Mr. A. Waddington and Mr. Malcolm (alias "Fred") Barden; "Ringing World "representative, Mr. S. Taylor.
Having presented his annual report, Mr. Martin Howe was formally thanked for all he had done during his term as District secretary. and Mr. Lewis Head was offered congratulations on his composition and expert conducting of 5,050 Stedman Caters, rung to celebrate his golden wedding anniversary and also his 78th birthday.
It was generally agreed that the ladies had once again "done themselves proud" in preparing and serving an excellent tea, and a vote of thanks was given to them by Mr. Waddington.
After the meeting a variety of ringing was enjoyed at All Saines' under the leadership of our new Ringing Master. S. T.

east hagbourne peal band

Dear Sir,-I have recently been engaged in compiling a peal book for East Hagbourne tower and was most interested to see the name of Frederick S. Macey among those who have taken "The Ringing World" from the first issue. Mr. Macey rang four peals at Hagbourne during 1922 and 1923-three peals of Grandsire Triples. conducted by Jim Butler. Dick Rice and Tom East (my grandfather) and a peal of Stedman Triples. conducted by Tom Hibbert.

Apart from Mr. Macey, there are now only two survivors of those four peals-Alf Webb. a young lad of 67 , and Bill Hibbert, who must be at least 50 !-Yours faithfully,

East Hagbourne. MICHAEL BISHOP.

Retiring President Faces the End of Office

GRATITUDE FOR SIX YEARS OF KINDNESS

PROPOSING the toast of "Jasper Whit field Snowdon and Past Officers of the Yorkshire Association," Canon Gilbert Thurlow made reference to the conclusion of his term of office as president of the Central Council. He said:

"Like someone else whose political tact forbids my mentioning by name, I don't expect to be re-elected at the next election-anyhow, one doesn't stand again after six years. When I was placed in this position I made no promises, so it will not he possible for my epitaph to resemble Alexander Pope's epitaph for a politician: 'Count not his broken pledges as a crime : he meant then--how he meant them-at the time!'"

Speaking personally, I shall never cease to be grateful for the kindness 1 have received from so many fellow ringers in so many different areas i have met far more ringers during these last six years than a full-time working priest would otherwise meet and every such meeting is of untold value. I have. by other people's kindness. been able to share in far more historic ringing events than would have been possible otherwise.

COUNCIL'S SPIRIT WONDERFUL
' What is far more important is the state of things in the Council as a whole. We lost during this period a brilliant secretary with a marvellous wife, and we gained another brilliant secretary with a marvellous wife. Amid other changes the general spirit of the Council continues to be quite wonderful. How wise various of its members are to be self-critical. How important it is for all constructive criticism of it to be seriously discussed with a view to possible improvement in its machinery.

- It would not be fitting to go into any details now, but I think one might make one point. It need not be felt that a spate of letters in 'The Ringing World' on matters discussed at the last meeting left its work unfinished. No live subject can be killed and finally wound up in one debate, however long. Parliament may pass an Act after most careful and long debate and after receiving information from expert advisers. yet if the issue is one of living interest Press columns continue to debate it indefinitely !
Turning to the toast, the Canon said it was splendid to perpetuate the memory of such men as Jasper Whitfield Snowdon and the past officers of the Yorkshire Association. All such men had set an example of single-hearted devotion to their art, with hope of no reward beyond the joy that skill, achievement, friendliness can bring, with their dedication to the service of God and people.
Snowdon, first president of the Yorkshire Association, had been followed by a succession of presidents of whom he would be immensely proud. They all know about his connection with Ilkley, where it would be a great pleasure for the Central Council to meet in 1970. and of the high honour in which he was held in his lifetime, as evidenced by the window in his memory at Ilkley. They thanked God for all this and showed their thanks by giving all they could in the way of service to maintain traditions and to progress further.

OBITUARY

MR. RONALD RUSSELL

An Appreciation

I would like to pay a tribute to my old friend Ronald Russell. My son and I had rung a number of peals with him, together with his pal, Percy Baldock, in the 1950's.
I was disappointed that no mention had been made regarding his funeral, but I was delighted to read in the "Belfry Gossip" of the peal which was rung by the Corby family at Corby Church in his memory. I think that was a great tribute, as also were the quarter peals at Uppingham and Braunston. J.H.C.

MR. GEORGE GASSON

A quarter peal of 1.260 Grandsíre Triples was rung at Bolney, Sussex, on September 5th. with the bells half-muffled to the memory of Mr. George Gasson. He was a member of the well-known family of ringers at Bolney, and the quarter peal was composed by his father, the late Tom Gasson.
The ringers were R. V. Johnson 1, H. Brown 2. S. Upion 3, S. Allen 4, J. Jeffery 5, S. Brown 6. F. F. Godsmark (cond.) 7, J. Nulty 8.

DUBLIN EIRE.-At Christ Church Cathedral, on Oct. 19th, 1.260 Grandsire Triples (lisht eight, tenor 26 cwt.): M. R. Owen 1, C. J. Reede (cond.) 2. Helen M. Hubert 3, L. R. Taylor 4. P. W. Brown 5 , D. H. T. Taylor 6, J. P. O. Barry 7, E. C. Cathatin Rung half-muffed in memory of William $E$ Lynch, late conductor and secretary of the Cathedral band.

REDEDICATION  HALSTOCK, DORSET

Sunday, November 3rd, was a great day for the small country village of Halstock, when in the afternoon parishioners and friends gathered in church for the service of rededication of the ring of five bells which had been rehung by John Taylor and Co. Previously the bells had been silent for over 30 years through the dangerous condtion of the frame
The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. Slater) and the Rev. A. F. Godley was present. The Archdeacon of Sherborne (the Ven. E. J. G. Ward) dedicated the new vestry and rededicated the bells. Rounds were rung by the local ringers, who have been taught to ring since the bells were rehung.
After the service. members of the Salisbury Guild from Beaminster. Netherbury and Ye. minster rang touches in various methods.

This marks the end of 12 years of renewal and restoration at St. Mary's Church and is a fine tribute by all those who have given and worked over the years

Mr. D. Floyd Leaves for Bristol

The autumn meeting of the Witney and Woodstock Branch was held on October 26th at Church Harborough. Prior to the service ringing was enjoyed on the six bells at this church as well as on the six bells at the neighbouring village of Freeland.

The business meeting was in the form of an experiment. Preceding meetings had been condemned as 100 long and laborious. The minutes had been circulated well in advance, and so only required a vote of acceptance. The remaining agenda was equally brief. The secretary summed up the events which had taken place since the spring meeting.

Mr. David Floyd told the meeting that be was leaving the district to take up a post in Bristol, and would have to give up his post as Ringing Master, but would remain treasurer until the spring meeting. The chairman, the Rev. P. Wilkins. thanked Mr. Floyd on behalf of the Branch for all the work he had done and wished him the best of luck in his future career. Mr Walter Judge was then elected Ringing Master Finally Yarnton was proposed and accepted as the venue for the: spring meeting on April 26 th.
Ringing continued at Church Hanborough until 7.30 and on the cight bells at Woodstock until 8 p.m.

SLFFOLK GLILD

The last general meeting of the Central District this year was held at Stowmarket on October 2 gith. The Rector (the Rev. A. A. Muxlow) conducted the service, and the lessons were read hy Mr. L. E. Last ant the Rev. L. Pizzey (Guild secretary).

At the meeting, officers elected for 1969 were: Chairman. H. W. M. Leather: secretary, Mrs. M. R Page; Ringing Master, R. E. Lester.
The bells were kept going until 8.30 n.m. to a variety of methods under the watchful cye of R. E. Lester.

FOR THE DOUBLES BEGINNER

SEEKING MORE VARIED QUARTER PEALS

THE most valuable part of St. Thonks's practice night is the discussion which always follows in the Rose over a pint of ale. At least, that's what 1 always tell the wife.

The routine is always the same. A linal shambles. which even the most optimistic dare not call ringing down in rounds. then a mad rush down the stnirs, the youngsters to get to the "fish 'ole." the senior members (ha!) to get to the beer. You can always fecl the atmosphere in the Rose freeze as we enter and the landlady's look of resignation whilst we argue as to who is going to pay for the firs! round is worthy of a Rembrandi.

Well, the other Monday Brian had worked a crafty one and had got out of paving for the beer by the simple process of sitting down in ". the ringers' corner." a courting couple fleeing in terror, and reading a copy (sorry, my copy) of "The R.W." As we all sat down he looked up and observed "Fair old flap they've gone and got themselves in about Doubles methods"-well. actually, he used a much more vulgar expression. but Tom White would never print it. "Do you think we could get the old Woodbine controversy going again?" You see. being reactionary Northerners. we still ring a fair number of irregular methods.
"I've given up reading the letters," I said. * Lot of show-offs airing their knowledge without much regard for the average ringer. I shall still call it April Day, I can tell you."
"No, you've got it all wrong." replied Robert. (He's iust done an M.Sc in variable speed A.C motors and is a bit of a pedant.) "It's to the Exercise's advantage that the rules should be codified. Progress always involves some sacrifice. just like drinking this keg beer instead of the old Bentley's draught"
"But John has got a point," interrupted David. I've been giving this matter & bit of thought and Uproar broke out. David had never been known to think of anything but birds, beet and baccy-in that order. Still, he had just spent a week in Brum Perhaps there is something in the air down there.

When the noise had subsided, he continued: *There was a bit of a fuss in "The Ringing World 'some time back when someone claimed that the general standard of quarter peals is very low.
"He was right enough." I broke in.
"Exactly" " continued David, "but I've been wondering if so many bands stick to Plain Bob and Grandsire simply because no one bas ever bothered to tell them how easy it is to ring a quarter in 12 methods/variations.
"You say yourself. John. that learners are silly to jump from method to method. from Oxford to Cambridge, say, without applying a rational system to their learning. So if a band who can only ring Plain Bob Doubles next try to ring St. Hilary's or Stedman they are bound to run into snags. Running before they can walk Perhaps it would help if someone were to suggest a reasonably progressive way of learning Doubles methods and variations."
"O.K., clever beggar," satd Brian. "what would the Professor suggest?"
-I Was coming to that. It's no use supposing that these bands will have a copy of the Council's Doubles Collection. We must be the only tower within a ten-mile radius to have any of the handbooks on the shelves. What most ringers do seem to have, though. is the Diary, and so I've stuck to that.
"Now, given that a band know Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles, thev can ring a Grandsire Single each time the fifth makes second's place and ret a spliced extent in two methods, Plain Bob and Reverse St. B. In fact even it a band can only ring Plain Bob it would be no great effort to learn how to ring a Grandsire Single. Simply tell them that the call must be made as hand before the treble leads and that the bell that would normally have made the bob fourths strikes four blows in thirds instead and then returns to the lead whilst the other two working bells do a double dodge in $4 / 5$, remembering to be very careful about which one lies and which one runs in afterwards
"Having taken that step," he continued, - it's no use telling people to learn a Pink's Single or a Grandsire Extreme or something like that because they don't appear in the Diary."
"But there is one other call shown in the Diary, und that's a Reverse Canterbury Bob. Ring that in Plain Bob instead of the normal call and you get Kensington."
"Wrong, old lad You get Kennington,' I claimed.
"O.K., Kennington. But it's a simple bob to ring; far easier for learners than a Grandsire Single. I would have thought," continued David
" You shoula also tell the learner that a Reverse Canterbury bob can't always be called with the tenor as observation," added Robert. "unless, of course. they're clever enough to start the extent in the middle of a bob Plain Bob is one method where this applies."
"Anyway. there you have three different calls-the Plain Bob bob, the Grandsire Single and the Reverse Canterbury bob. Now for some methods. and what should learners furn to after Plain Bob?"

We all waited, whilst David made a theatrical pause.
Why, St. Simon's. Of course. We always teach learners St. Clement's after Plain Bob Minor, so it's obvious that a Doubles ringer goes on to St. Simon's. Of course, you tell them they must learn to ring the method off the treble. Ring Plain Bob when the treble is below you: make third's and return to the back when the treble is above you unless you're doing the long front work. And the only way you can get into the long front work is either by a $3 / 4$ dodge or by being called in at a hob. Piece of cake, if anly people would realise it.
"Once you know St. Simon's, ring it with a Grandsire Single for Eynsham and an R.C. bob for St. Albans. Then as your next move vou learn St. Martin's, which is hardly different from St. Simon's, and get St. Leonard's and St. Paul's as a bonus.

That gives you seven methods/variations plus a spliced extent in two further methodsthree more to go, so next the beginner learns Winchendon Looks tricky at first. but once you really study it it's only St. Martin's with 3-4 or 4-3 places made back and hand instead of the normal dodge when the treble leads." "Why not call them Kent places?" asked Ken.
"Because a Doubles learner has never rung Kent, "you fool," retorted Robert. "Go on, Dave."

Well, that's it, really. You ring Winchendon with a Reverse Canterbury bob for the parent method. Ring it with a Grandsire Single for St. John's; a Plain Bob hob gives St. Miles'. That one might prove a bit sticky."
"Not if you tell them to ring the boh leadend as though they were ringing a bob in St. Martin's," contributed Ken. "Hey, but isn't St. Miles' an extent of Spliced Winchendon and St. Martin's? "
"Could be, could be." I agreed; then it suddenly ocurred to me that as we were talking about a St. Martin's bob lead-end it couldn't.
" So there you have 14 . How to ring a quarter peal of Doubles in 12 methods/variations in five easy steps. Of course the learner might as well look at Reverse Canterbury while he's at it. After all there's only the same difference between R.C. and Plain Bob as there is between Winchendon and St. Martin's. You can tring a Grandsire Single with it but you can ring a Plain Bob bob for Southrepps."
David was so pleased with the reception his ideas had received that he forgot it was Brian's turn and bought the next round of beer himself. On second thoughts, though, he may not have been quite so naive, because when he came back from the bar he delivered the punch line.
"This is what I think. Now that I've told you my ideas, John ought to write an article for 'The Ringing World.' They're always asking for contributions and it should be worth a try. I'd do it myself, but I shall be seeing a lot of Janet in the next few days."

We let the Janet bit pass (Dave's 38 th bird, according to Ken), and I agreed 10 write an article, mainly because I had an idea of my own.
"Dave's ideas can be taken a bit further." 1 said. "Why not suggest a quarter peal for All Saintstide in 11 Doubles methods/variations named after Saints?
"Corny," they all said. "Must have been done thousands of times." added Robert.
"It's no worse than ringing Morning Star for the Epiphany, and certainly no worse than the time we learned Norwich Surprise for a visit to Colegate," I persisted. "And if I'm doing the article I shall mention the idea
"Dave's collection gives seven Saintly extents not including St Bartholomew. Another method which produces two Saints name variations is St. Osmund's. It fits into the general scheme, too."
"Not in the Diary," objected Dave. "And besides, who's heard of it?"
"I can give the plain course in the article. Really, it's St. Simon's but. having dodged $3 / 4$, the bell that's coming into the long front work first makes second's place back and hand, forcing the bell that turned the treble to strike three blows at lead. The two bells at the back ring exactly as in St. Simon's and it's a seconds place lead-end Ring it with Plain Bob bobs and call it St. Osmund. Grandsire singles give St. Ninian's. and Reverse Canterbury bobs give St. Ambrose
" I was thinking that All Saints' would be a suitable llth extent, bui probablv a band of learners would be hapnier with Reverse All Saints'. I'll give the plain course. After all. it's only another version of St. Martin's with (Continued on next page) the added benefit of plain hunting at the lead-end-no dodges or places to bother about. Only pity is that it won't take the other two callings."

"There's only one thing," commented Brian. If you write an article, how can you be sure the Doubles ringers you've written it for will read it?

- Some of them must buy a copy of - The Ringing World "" I replied. "And a lot more of them will read other people's copies. just like you, you great birk. When are you going to start and buy your own copy?

You lot still on about ringing? Don't you ever let up? " We were joined by Steve, who announced that he had just made two bob at dominoes. That did it. There was no more discussion on ringing matters. Within five minutes we had all moved into the tap room, in the hope of making some "Ready Monev." (Ugh !)

1 lost.

Anyway, as you can see, 1 did write the article. Hope it will be of use to someone. I've added the plain courses of St. Osmund's and Reverse All Saints along with a table of methods/variations cribbed straight from the Appendix, though as a last fling 1 couldn't resist putting April Day instead of Spliced Plain Bob and Reverse St. B. We're oldfashioned at St. Thomas's despite the jeans and the sweatshirts.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Grantley Hall course for next year has been fixed for the week-end November 14th/ 16th.
Only one quarter peal has reached us that was rung for the 19th Olympiad Mexico City; this was rung at Babworth. Notts

Mr. Stanley Abley. who rang his first peal at Grimley, Worcs, on October 30th, achieved his first 120 over 30 years ago in this tower

Another new conductor is 15 -year-old John Hallatt, who called his first quarter on November 3rd at Bishopstoke, Hants.
"Thank you for a good 'bob's worth every week," from a wellwisher who sends an outdated postal order to redeem for "Ringing World " funds.
The Cambridge University Guild has rung its 700th peal. This was Stedman Cinques "in hand" conducted by J. M. H. Hunter on November 11th, 1968.

Three octogenarians took part in a quarter of Stedman at Grundisburgh, Suffolk. on October 31st. They were F. J. Crapnell (86), J. Bennett (81) and G. R. Goodship ( 80 ).

We thank the reader for his appreciative note regarding our 20 tinted cover issues-bargain for 7 s . 6 d . "A good collection of towers." was his comment.
Mr. Philip Gray, who represents the Australian and New Zealand Association on the Central Council, is again visiting his constituents. We have just received an article he wrote in Rumania en route for Australia
On the day that the Rev. A. S. Roberts was installed a Canon in Truro Cathedral three peals were rung in Cornwall. mainly by Worcestershire ringers Five of the party rang in three peals and four in two. Conductors were Michael J. Fellows (2) and Gerald C. Hemming.

BELFRY GOSSIP

"RINGING WORLD" AFFAIRS
"The Ringing World" Committee met at the Whitechapel Foundry on November 2nd, the convener (Mr. R. B. Anderson) presiding over a full attendance of members.
A report was presented on the meeting of creditors of Rolls House Publishing Company Ltd., which was attended by Mr. W. G. Wilson and Mr. D. Tate (auditor to "The Ringing World "). A liquidator was appointed, About $£ 512$ is owing to "The Ringing World." There was a prospect, reported the hon. treasurer, of a dividend of 15 s , in the $£$, but the convener said it was usual to wait about two years for a settlement. In drawing up the 1968 account it was decided to treat this as a bad debt.

A report was presented on the first quarter's trading account sales through newsagents. The fact that "The Ringing World "was publishing the journal resulted in an average increase of £21 19s. 5d. over previous figures. There was not now a loss on newsagents' sales.
A report on the position generally arising from increased price indicated that the loss in circulation was very slight. New subscribers were still being enrolled weekly.
The policy of the paper was discussed at length. With the exception of a week at Christmas and one in the New Year, tinted covers would continue and the same policy of covers would operate for the first six months of next year

The meeting lasted from 1 p.m. to 4.45 p.m. At the conclusion thanks were expressed to Mr. Douglas Hughes for his hospitality. The next meeting was fixed for March 22nd at the Whitechapel Foundry to enable the audited accounts to be presented. Reports would be presented monthly to the committee from the Editor, as has been the practice for many years.

REWARD FOR HANDBELLS LOAN

What is believed to be the first quarter peal on handbells by a band resident in Canada took place at Hamilton, Ontario, on October 10th. Writing from the Department of Geography, Hamilton University. Mr. D. R. Ingram states that it is hoped shortly to announce the ringing of a peal. This ambition, however. will have to be achieved by the end of November. for then Ruth Gay will he returning to Fngland with the handbells. The band would like to thank Mr. F. Andrews. of Hinton Blewitt. Somerset, for loaning Ruth the handbells for her stay in Canada.

JOINT DEETING AT COALBROOKDALE

A soint meeting was held at Coalbrookdale on November 2nd attended by the Bridgnorth Branch of the Hereford Diocesan Guild and the Shropshire Association. Ringing during the afternoon and evening was under the direction of Miss Valerie Edge, Master of the Hereford Guild, and Mr. P. Evans, Ringing Master of the Shropshire Association.
The new Vicar of Coalbrookdale (the Rev. J. Kirby) took the service and gave an address. Tea at the Valley Hotel, Ironbridge, was attended by 30 ringers. Thanks were expressed to all concerned for making this joint meeting so enjoyable.

SUFFOLK GUILD VETERANS

Aldeburgh, home of the poet Crabbe and of Benjamin Britten, the braciest air on the East Coast and thus appropriately(!) the birthplace of Britain's first woman doctor, Elizabeth Garrett Anderson, was this year's venue for ten Suffolk veterans and their little annual gettogether on October 15 th.

It scarcely seems 12 months since the last happy afternoon at Leiston, but there they all were, average age 80 , loking if anything more sprightly than ever!

Jim Pipe had specially selected Aldeburgh so that the boys could have a paddle before ascending SS. Peter and Paul's lower for an hour and a half's enjoyable ringing. The light Taylor cight proved ideal, although some trapdoors had to be opened because C. J. S. "couldn't hare 'em." However, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Plain, Kent T.B., Double Norwich and Superlative Major were successfully brought round.

An excellent tea for the twelve of us was rounded off by the usual fund of anecdotes -the cvergreen G. Symonds really excelling himself. Messages of good wishes came from Ted Duffield and Lester Gray. Thanks were expressed to Jim and George Pipe for the arrangements. and we look forward to possibly Eye or Debenham next year.

The company: Percy May (73), Leonard Last (72), Willoughby Maulden (77), Harry Hall (78), George Finch (78), Gilbert Goodship (80), James Bennett (81), Charles Sedgley (81), Frederick Crapnell (86) and George Symonds (93). G. W. P.

TOOK FIRST ISSEE

TLRNER, A. of 12. Cromwell Close, East Finchley, N. 2 , who is now over 80 , writes that he has taken "The Ringing World " since its first issue and also took "The Bell News."
MITCHELL, Mrs. F. M., of 19, Victoria Rd. Southwick, Brighton, writes: "I thoroughly enjoy reading the paper from end to end. In my early days I used to take 'The Bell News.' My husband. F. M. Mitchell, I believe had "The Ringing World' from its start and I have carried on."

METRIC SYSTEM AND RINGING

An attempt by Cambridge University Guild to introduce the weights of tenor bells in metric units has not been accepted by the Editor. Even if this system of weight is employed in the Engineering Department at the University it is not in common usage among ringers, and until the metric system is introduced into this country the traditional style will be maintained.

A SOLTH AFRICAN TOLR

Mr. W. Cathrell, of Wrexham, the hon. secretary of the North Wales Association, sails on December 20th from Southampton on a four months' tour of South Africa, Rhodesia and Zambia. He hopes to visit Cape Town, Durban, Johannesburg, Salisbury and Lusaka, and is anxious to make arrangements for practice or Sunday ringing where possible.

During his absence Dr. A. V. Woodcock. of The Meadows. Higher Kinnerton, near Chester, will carry out the duties of hon. secretary to the Association.

363rd ANNIVERSARY

In 1605 an unknown donor left half-an-acre of land to provide a leg-of-pork supper for the ringers of Harlington, Middlesex, on condition that the bells should be rung and fired on that day.

Again we are happy to report that the tradition was duly observed on November 5th at the Steak Bar Restaurant, Hayes: The Vicar, the Rev. Ronald Bartlett, was a genial chairman and submitted the loyal toast. Mr. Lionel Grice, captain of the tower, reported on a good year's ringing with an improved standard. He was also pleased to welcome new learners-an essential requisite if the tradition was to be maintained. The toast to the unknown donor was proposed by Mr. John James (the vice-captain).

Before the supper a quarter peal of 1.260 Plain Bob Doubles was rung by the following: M. James (first quarter) 1, Miss M. Britchford 2, Miss J. Pole 3, J. James (first "inside ") 4, J. Britchford (cond.) 5, L. Grice 6.

FALSE ALARM

One dark and dirty winter's night at nigh on closing time,
Two men were seen to go in church as if intent on crime.
With thoughts of theft and desecration. sabotage and arson.
They summon Kings Arms clientele, but couldn't find the Parson.
With knobbly stick and flashlight, six trusty men rush out.
For they intend to apprehend and sort the felons out
Landlord's wife stands by the door waiting for some signs
To say that she should rush indoors and dial a bunch of nines.
Meanwhile, aloft, the aforesaid men, the cause of all the fuss,
Say "Whatever's going on down there, do you think they're after us?

* Suppose we'd better go downstairs and see who we shall meet.
Strewth. Vicar's brand new carpet, hope they wiped their feet."
The Kings Arms troops are waiting there, but how their spirits sag
When they find churchwarden and his mate. who'd been to lower flag.
Although on this occasion it had been a false alarm,
Our thanks are due to those who prove our church won't come to harm
The moral of this story shows no matter what you do,
That someone here in Montacute has got his cye on you.

GORDON W. RENDELL Montacute. Somerset.

A SUNDAY OUTING TO CAMBRIDGE

Another enjoyable day was spent by ringers from North Hampshire in Bedfordshire and Cambridgeshire, with Cambridge being the centre of our objective on Sunday. October 27th.
Service ringing was enjoyed on the fine ten at Luton Parish Church with the local band, who kindly allowed us to join them in Stedman and Grandsire Caters. Then on to Bassingbourne ( 5 ) and Litlington (6) before lunch in Meldreth and ringing with John Gibson on the attractive eight.
Ringing in Cambridge had been arranged for us by Mr. Quinney and started on the light eight at St. Andrew's. As a direct contrast, the heavy eight at the Roman Catholic Church followed, and here Cambridge and Bob Major were rung.
We joined the local band at St. Mary's in Stedman Cinques and Kent Maximus in ringing for service. This was a highlight of the day and we thank the ringers for the privilege of being allowed to ring in such company.

THE SEXTON'S DILEMMA  (FOUNDED ON FACT)

IN the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and-well,
The date does not matter, but the truth I will tell,
Lived a butler of note, fear did not enthral,
A good and true servant at famed Harrold $\cdot \mathrm{Hall}$.
This jolly fat butler, Broomsgrove by name,
Was the stamp of an Englishman, bonny and game,
Nothing would daunt him, whate'er might befall,
He'd play his own tactics in spite of them all.
It happen'd one Sunday that illness o'ercame
His Master's good consort, "Alston", by name;
And thus sorely smitten, they for quietness sighed,
And anything requisite was not denied.
The famous old church being close to the Hall,
Whose bells being chimed did the worshippers call
But the noise of them harrow'd the invalid sore,
So to stop them next service was the thing "to be sure."
But no, who'd be guilty of such a bold plot?
And commit such a deed, whether Sabbath or not;
But as fate's no respect for rich or for poor,
You shortly shall hear who'd the key of the door.
At two-twenty p.m., that day, was to be seen
A man who for fifty years sexton had been,
Wending his way with a "chimer " in tow,
To chime the church bells (were the men don't-cher-know).
It chanced then our butler, who was taking a stroll
To air well his lungs before feeding his soul.
When he met the two "chimers" who at their hat brims did tug,
So he tipped them the wink, would thicy each take a mug?
The invite being tempting, they did not refuse,
But repaired to the cellar, lest a chance they might lose;
But the "Mistletoe Chest" was not in it they say,
When the door went click, which caused such dismay.
The footman being with them said "Drink up, my boys,
For now you've the 'oppo' you must wet both your eyes."
Said Douglas the sexton, "I'll take nothing more,
For the click of that door-latch it troubles me sore."
So he hobbled upstairs to get to the door,
But 'twas fastened up tight," Oh dear! and Oh lor!
Whate'er shall we do now we're left in the lurch,
For by gums and good gracious I've the key of the church.

None can get in there to pray or to preach.
The bells are all quiet (Oh Lord. I beseech
That Thou wilt release me from this barrell'd cell.
For my conscience feels smitten with a foretaste of bell.
My character's gone that's been 50 years good,
Although I'm as spotless as the babes in the wood;
Forgive me this once and I'll ne'er do it more,
Please send some kind Christian to open the door)."
Loud kicking and thumping was heard from within.
Lamentations and moaning-What's all this great din?
Someone's in the cellar, and the key can't be found,
Ask Broomsgrove? Can't find him, he's gone for a "round."
Outside of the church at two fifty-five,
The faithful were gathered, with commotion alive :
The bells were all silent, the "chimers" unseen.
The doors also locked, how strange it does seem.
But two minutes later with quivering breath,
Up came the sexton, who looked pale as death;
He hustled his way through the crowd standing there.
Both speechless and trembling, which made them all stare.
Then out with the key, he the door did unlock.
And one by one, quietly, in went the flock-
No time for the bells now, the strangers to call,
So quietness reigned supreme at the Hall
Then all being seated, the service began,
The sexion and "chimer" looked careworn and wan;
And when asked the next time if a " mug" they would take,
Said, "No, not just now. please excuse for Heaven's sake."

Moral :-

Now all you good Christians, who to duty would stick,
Be true to your conscience and firm as a brick:
Remember the sexton. the spider and fly,
Don't act too pious, and binge on the sly.
W. R.S.

These verses were dedicated to Mr. Francis Broomsgrove, of Harrold Hall, near Bedford, 1885.
Mr. E. Pearl Inskip writes that he had rung with the "chimer," who was a lad at the time this happened.

TECHNICAL

Towards Forgetting the Combination Roll Up

FOR some time the combination roll-up has held undisputed primacy as judge of the merits of compositions, particularly of Surprise Major. However, there now seems a considerable feeling among conductors that the c.r.u. should be given a more realistic place It is not totally to be ignored, but there can be little dispute that, for example, a - 5678 has greater musical value than a - 6478 . Furthermore the preoccupation with music at the back has produced some unfortunate compositions of Bristol which are not only boring but actually unmusical as soon as the tenors eventually escape from the back.

One of the most outstanding compositions of recent months is Roderick Pipe's London Major with 132 c.r.u.'s. Unfortunately a number of these have to occur at the wrong stroke, and in this and similar compositions there is a strong tendency to part the tenors in every course, often with more bobs than plain leads. With a less experienced band there is a sfrong case for a simpler and less "musical" composition, with a better chance of good ringingsurely a prime factor in choice of compositions. Two examples of full-course compositions are appended.

The first of these contains 72 c.r.u.'s, including $15-6578$ 's and $9-5678$ 's, but has what some may consider the disadvantages of using a Before in every course and of being 5,184 changes. The other ( 5,088 changes) avoid these faults, but contains only 63 c.r.u.'s with $16-5678$ 's and $5-6578$ 's.
In the case of Superlative the lack of two of the possible -78's has discouraged the production of multi-c.r.u. compositions, and there are two well-established compositions, by Roger Baldwin and Richard Parker, continuing the 36 $-5678^{\prime}$ s and $-6578^{\prime}$ s, although they require singles in 5-6 and half-lead bobs respectively. However, in spite of its unsuitabilty for c.r.u. compositions, Superlative is an extraordinarily musical method as a result of being constructed throughout of blocks of four coursing bells working together. This property can only be fully exploited with the 24 courses with $5-6-7-8$ in course, which can be joined in various, including the following:-

Singles rung in 5-6, except for a single in 3-4 half-way and end.
Both of these are 5.376 but can easily be shortened to 5,152 by the omission of a pair of singles. The six-part keeps the tenors always right way at the back but requires singles in 5-6, with a half-way conventional single, which I am assured is fully legitimate in a normal length peal. The twelve-part, on the other hand, uses conventional singles only, but of the 18 courses with the tenors together 12 are rung with the tenors "wrong way," although it is worth observing that tenors wrong way at the back necessarily means in Superlative, tenors right way on the front, and that for every roll-up which occurs right-way at the back there is another $3 \frac{1}{2}$ leads later on the front which is wrong way. Nevertheless, for those who prefer their roll-ups at the back, the twelve-part can be started at backstroke with the final single, so that the first change after rounds is 12346587 at backstroke, after which the peal continues in the normal way and comes round at handstroke. The " wrong way" courses are then reduced to six of the 18 tenors together courses. It is not possible to join the 24 coures without inverting the tenors unless singles in 5-6 are used.

Bristol offers opportunities similar to those of Superlative since it, too, consists of blocks of four coursing bells working together, and this has been featured in the fine composition by Roger Baldwin with the extent 5-6-7-8 behind. There are 36 courses with 5-6-7-8 together, which produce the corresponding music on the front, but they can only be joined with sixths-place bobs or half-lead bobs. and Baldwin's is therefore by far the most satisfactory composition.
Rutland is well known for its peculiarities of falseness, which allow up to 132 c.r.u.'s. and the compositions with 126 c.r.u.'s with M $3 / 5$ W H 23456 Befores in most courses particularly are extremely musical. However, there are some much simpler compositions which make use of other possibilities in the method, such as this three-part with singles 3rds-5ths in every course - a feature much enjoyed by some tenor ringers. Repeated twice. -6578's.
There are several well-known compositions of Yorkshire with 90 to 100 c.r.u.'s, including particularly Christopher Starbuck's and Richard Parker's, but by reducing the number of c.r.u's in favour of the principal roll-ups one can obtain compositions just as musical in a different way but much simpler It must be pointed out, however, that while these more complex productions studiously - 82 's at backstroke, the following examples naturally produce them, and the latter's usefulness is thus restricted to some extent, depending on the bells and, of course, the conductor.

It is well known that the 24 courses with the 6th right and wrong are true to both Yorkshire and Pudsey, but it is not generally realised that these courses are easily fitted together by the simple expedient of using singles in 5-6.

One possible form of this composition is an adaptation of Humphrey's Lincolnshire, as given here. The courses M W H 23456 contain to Yorkshire 88 c.r.u.'s including 21 each 2 S 35462 -5678's and -6578's, and to Pudsey, 72 c.r.u.'s and to Pudsey, 72 c.r.u.'s with 15 each -5678 's and ${ }^{6} 5578$ 's, and in each case three courses of - 82 's and three each - $8765^{\prime}$ s and -8576's. By sacrificing the symmetry it is Singles rung in 5-6. possible to reduce from 5,376 to 5,152 without losing any significant music.

A 5,088 is available containing similar music, but with a strong bias either towards 56 or 65 roll-ups. Those B M W H 23456 who prefer 65's can improve the symmetry and invert $5-6$ in the roli-ups by moving the tinal single to the beginning.
As printed-Yorkshire: 84 c.r.u's including the 24 -5678 's and 18 -6578's; Pudsey: 70 c.r.u and 6 only. 24 -5678 's and six 6578 's. Contains three courses of -82's and the six each-8765's and 8756-s.
It is possible to obtain a further six principal roll-ups in Pudsey, as in the two following sixparts, but this involves the loss of all the 8765 roll-ups, although to Yorkshire they contain six each $8765-$ s and $8756-5$ but with only 18 each -5678's and -6578's To Yorkshire they include 84 and 88 c.r.u.'s respectively, and to Pudsey, 74 and 80 . Both are of course 5,376 changes.

Repeated five times.

It is worth noting that although it is possible by exploiting the incidence of falseness to increase the c.r.u.'s in Pudsey into the 80 's this requires the extensive us of bobs Before, which are highly undesirable, as they cut out the central three leads in which the tenors are never out of course and which contain the majority of the internal roll-ups.
We have now considered six of the "Standard Eight "Surprise Major methods. The remaining two do not present much opportunity for choice of composition: in Cambridge the problem is to obtain the length and the only real option is between the traditional compositions and the new short course compositions. Lincolnshire, too, presents problems as a result of its unusual falseness, but in any case the field has been entirely pre-empted by Simon Humphrey's composition, which provides a suitable conclusion to this article:

| $\mathbf{M}$ | $\mathbf{W}$ | $\mathbf{H}$ | 23456 |

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

St. Mary the Virgin's Church, Twickenham

The Church of St. Mary the Virgin, Twickenham, Middlesex

THE beginnings of a Christian community in Twickenham may well go back in time to the early centuries A.D. The first mention made of Twickenham is in the chronicles of King Offa, about 704 A.D., and in a charter dated 790 A.D. it is noted that there are 30 tributaries of land at Tuicanhamme "to clothe the brethren who serve God in that holy place."

Walter of St. Valery gave Twickenham Church to the Prior and Convent of St. Valery in Picardy in 1086, and it remained with that French religious house until the beginning of the Hundred Years War, when all the French possessions were appropriated to the Crown. The parish later became the property of William of Wykeham, as part of the foundation of Winchester College and remained so until the Reformation, when it reverted to Edward VI and Elizabeth I. Following this the patronage became the possession of the Dean and Canons of St . George's Chapel, Windsor, where it has stayed until the present day. The only exceptions to this were the three "intruders" appointed by the House of Commons during the Cromwellian period, and the nomination of George Costard by George III, who exercised the royal prerogative after the elevation of Richard Terrick to the Bishopric of Peterborough. A list of the incumbents of Twickenham may be seen on the wall south of the tower screen.

The existing mediaeval tower and the earlier nave were reputedly built by William of Wykeham at the end of the fourteenth century. In 1713 the nave, "having been allowed to become decayed, actually fell down in the night of Thursday, April 9th." Largely through the insistence of Sir Godfrey Kneller, the churchwarden, twenty trustees were appointed to proceed with its rebuilding. This was completed in 1714, the architect being John James of Greenwich, a pupil of James Gibb, who was in turn a pupil of Sir. Christopher Wren.

Many famous people have worshipped at St. Mary's over the years, among whom are Sir Godfrey Kneller, Alexander Pope (who is buried in a vault in the nave), Thomas Twining, Horace Walpole, Lord Tennyson and Charles Dickens.

The tower clock, which is the oldest timepiece in Twickenham, was erected in 1789 , and keeps reasonably accurate time today.

Of the 8 bells, No. 6 is the oldest, being reputed to be 100 years of age at the time of the Spanish Armada.

The youngest bell is the tenor, cast by John Taylor at the time of Queen Victoria's Golden Jubilee. The following are the inscriptions on the bells, together with the diameter and weight, etc.

The following peals are recorded in the tower:

1749 A peal of 6,000 changes of Plain Bob Major rung by the Twickenham Scholars.

1783 Oxford Treble Bob Major, rung by the Society of College Youths.

1812 Oxford Treble Bob Major.
1814 Grandsire Triples.
1926 Stedman Triples to celebrate the granting of the Borough Cahrter.

1928 Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

1930 A (William) peal of Stedman Triples conducted by William Welling.

1932 Grandsire Triples. Rung to celebrate what was then thought to be the 600th anniversary of the church; it being only discovered later that there was a church on the site in 704 A.D.

At the annual inspection in 1963 it was found that movement of the main frame was causing damage to the fabric. The fact that the tenor and 7 had been added at a later date at the same level as the old frame created a congested pattern which prevented partial restoration. Consequently it proved necessary to carry out a complete removal and rehanging of the bells, on a frame at two levels, thereby giving a better distribution of weight. It became apparent at about this time that extensive renovation of the exterior of the tower (built from soft Kentish rag) would soon be necessary, and it was decided eventually to combine these two operations. The contract for the bells was awarded to Messrs. John Taylor of Loughborough, and the contract for the tower to architect Alan J. Frost, of Donald W. Insoll and Associates, together with the stonemasons New Stone and Restoration Ltd. The whole operation has been undertaken in 10 months.

THE BRISTOL EXPERIMENT

By PHILIP GRAY

THE City of Bristol is unusually well endowed with the number of rings of bells in its area. But, like most other places, it is much less well-endowed with the number of competent ringers it has available to ring all these bells at least once on every Sunday.

The collective responsibility for Bristol ring ing rests with the Bristol City Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association The Branch has for many years past held monthly Saturday afternoon meetings at each of the towers in its area in rotation. With attendances falling at these meetings-due, it was believed. to increasing competition from other Saturday afternoon activities-a change was made about 1960 to holding the monthly meetings on week-day evenings on whatever night the tower concerned normally practised Business meetings were held quarterly, also on a week-day evening, but not on the same evening as a ringing meeting. The compactness of the area and the good communications made this possible. However, attendances did not improve and, what was even more important, a lack of purpose in the Branch activities was self-evident.

In July, 1963, a special meeting of Bristol ringers was called to review the situation in open forum. Over 60 ringers turned up, an exceptional, attendance for a Branch which usually numbers only about 100 . Not being an official meeting of the Branch, it was devoted solely to discussing how to improve Bristol ringing and making recommendations for the Branch officers to act on.
Despite the size of this meeting. it was most productive and positive. Two general desires were evident at the meeting: firstly, that the purpose of a ringing association is to provide ringing and lots of it-the less talk the better; secondly, that everybody would prefer to have ringing practices organised to their own standard rather than general practices which try to cater for a wide range of standards of those who happen to turn up. The ringer who is trying to master Grandsire Doubles will be attracted to a practice devoted to Grandsire Doubles at a six-bell tower, but not to a practice at a ten-bell tower which may fluctuate between Cambridge Royal and rounds on ten. Likewise, the aspirant to Surprise Major will make an effort to be free for a practice advertised specifically for Surprise ringing.

It was indeed obvious at the meeting that the greatest force for spreading and improving practical ringing service is the very technical challenge of ringing itself. The ringing art itself provides pleasure and satisfaction, and the more opportunities exist for them the wider ringing will spread.

THREE COURSES OF ACTION

Arising directly out of this meeting we initiated three courses of action:-
(1) An undertaking to any tower in the Branch to provide instruction for a period of 12 consecutive weeks on their own practice night by arranging for three competent ringers to attend each week. This scheme was, and still is, also part of the policy of the Gloucester and Bristol Association as a whole. It was envisaged that this would apply most to bands who were learning bellhandling, rounds and the tirst steps in change ringing.
(2) A practice on the second and fourth Mondays of each month at St. John-on-theWall (6). specifically for those who wanted to learn Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman. This practice was developed out of the old St. John's Ringing School, ably run by Mr. Bert Bennett for many years. Four competent ringers would always be at the practice, working on a rota basis.
(3) A practice. also on the second and fourth Mondays ibut starting afier the St .

John's practice) at Christ Church (10) for advanced ringing. Grandsire Caters up to Spliced Surprise Royal. The objective here was to set, and insist on, ringing of high quality, whatever the method.
Business meetings were to be held on the first Monday of every third month.

Not long after this programme was initiated we were able to add a 12-bell practice at St. St. Mary Redcliffe every two months and an annual six-bell striking competition. By then the activities of the Branch added up to the staggering total of 59 separate practices or msetings per year

OMISSIONS

This programme had two obvious omissions. Firstly, it did not cater for eight-bell ringers but it was considered that with three good quality eight-bell practices already going in the city at the Cathedral, St. Philip's and St. Ambrose's, the Branch did not really need to provide further eight-bell opportunities. Secondly. most of the towers in the Branch could not be visited officially by the Branch from one year's end to the next. This is a defect of the scheme and one for which we have never been able to find a good solution. It must be admitted that some towers are practically never represented at any of the functions and thus the connection between them and the Branch is very tenuous indeed. To rectify this, in 1966 and 1967, "old-style" quarterly meetings on Saturday afternoons were held at groups of two or three adjacent towers. but they were very poorly attended. especially by the members of those towers. and such meetings have again been abandoned.

In practice, some parts of the scheme have worked well, and others less well. Only one 12-week course has been run. and at the same time this seems to have been highly successful in establishing a band in a church where there had been no regular band for years: subsequently local circumstances caused the band to disintegrate and the tower is again silent. Certainly the Branch has never been without the resources to mount another such scheme hut it has not been asked to do so. Perhaps it has not sold the idea well enough.

The St. John's practices are invariably well attended in school holidays, but often there are insufficient people to warrant raising the bells in term-time. Sufficient experienced ringers willing to "do their bit" at St. John's have never been lacking at any time. Homework certainly strongly influences this venture. The success of this practice of ten depends very much on tower captains introducing their shy heginners to it by bringing them along personally for the first few times. This practice has undoubtedly done some useful work, but not as much of it as we hoped.

The Christ Church practices have been an undoubted success. Throughout the period they have been well attended and mostly a high standard of ringing has been maintained. Their success owes much to Jim Tavlor, who has heen Branch Ringing Master for most of this period. The practices have attracted ringers from a much wider area that the city of Bristol-from North Somerset. from South Gloucestershire and. since the onening of the Severn Bridge, from South Wales. These visitors are most welcome
The 12-bell practices at Redcliffe have hecome increasingly successful and this year have become monthly ioint practices with the Redcliffe Guild (unlike St. Jahn's and Christ Church. Redcliffe has a flourishing band of its own).

The annual striking competitions, held on a Saturday afternoon in the summer, have also been most successful. This is much the most representative gathering of the Branch in the уеаг

JRESENT POSITION

How, then, has this experiment as a whole fared in gaining its main objective of extending Sunday ringing in Bristol? It really is not easy to answer this because there have always been other forces at work which can claim some of the credit or share the blame. Certainly the present situation is not ideal and may well never be so. Apart from three churches where the bells are unringable, and two city churches where there are few Sunday services, probably only two churches do not get some sort of Sunday ringing. On the whole the situation in the suburban churches is a little better than it was. The most tangible improvement is in the city centre itself, where the Branch has taken over entire responsibility for Sunday morning ringing at Christ Church: this has encouraged the formation of a peripatetic band who now ring successively at the Cathedral. St. Stephen's and Christ Church and produce a good standard of ringing at all three. There can be no doubt that Sunday morning ringing in the centre of the city is now far better than it has been for years.

The Christ Church and Redcliffe practices have certainly done something to increase the number of ringers in and around Bristol who can ring advanced methods on 10 and 12 bells with confidence. The method ringing capability of Bristal ringers has been rising steadily over the years and has never been higher than it is now. There are probably now about 30 people who attend Christ Church practices from time to time who can ring London Royal quite ably.
Also on the credit side is the estahlishment of permanent centres to Bristol ringing, and regular and frequent meetings have brought about a corporate cohesion to Bristol ringing that it rather lacked formerly. One would hope to see the standing and respect of Bristol ringers grow further with time and to see them take their place alongside the other highly respected groups of servants of this ancient and heautiful, city.
Had the Branch continued with the conventional Saturday afternoon meetings, its influence on Bristol ringing would surely by now hare dwindled to nothing. Sunday ringing somewhere in the city would surely havo dwindled away to nothing with it. We feel that we have been able to keep the flame burning and even to fan it a little.

Derelict North Yorkshire Bells Ringing Again

${ }^{\circ}$N November 9th the belfry of St. Mark's Church, Marske-in-Cleveland, Yorks, was opened to visitors, ringers and non-ringers alike. It was the conclusion of several months of renovation work by two local ringers, Bill Getty and Peter Sotheran, helped by members of the church A.Y.P.A.
Last July it was decided that, subject to no major defect being discovered, the bells could be renovated. after lying derelict for almost ten years. According to Len Bowie, one of the remaining ringers of the last local band, regular ringing ceased before World War II.
The renovations included a new stay, rebuilding a wheel and attending to loose clappers. In addition, the chiming apparatus had to be sorted out so that the hammers were clear of the bells. Whilst work was in progress a completely novice band, raised from the A.Y.P.A., started training at Saltburn Parish Church (iwo miles away). From the original score of learners eight remain and are now tackling Plain Bob Minor.

TELEVISION PUBLICITY

At a fortnight's notice it was suggested that an Open Day be arranged to coincide with the St. Mark's annual bazaar. Closed circuit television was used to show the bells in action.

A camera above the bells enabled visitors in the ringing chamber to see what happened when the ropes were pulled. It also proved a good advertising feature-as well as the local Press, the B.B.C. took interest in the event by broadcasting an interview with the tower captain on the evening before the Open Day.

The bells came from two foundries, the treble, 3 rd and 5th being Warners, 1763; the 2nd, 4th and 6th ( $4 \frac{3}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) were cast in 1768 in the Whitechapel Foundry. They are amongst the dozen lightest sixes in the country, but oeing on their original plain bearings their "go" is not exceptionally good.

The local residents who have made their opinions known have all reacted favourably to hearing the bells rung regularly for 30 minutes (for Sunday services) instead of five or ten minutes' erratic chiming.

The Open Day itself was for the benefit of neighbouring residents. When interviewed, the captain, Peter Sotheran, said that they had two objectives in mind for the day. "Firstly, we hope to show the many curious people what is involved in bellringing; secondly, we hope that the close neighbours of the church will appreciate some of the intricacies of bellringing and will realise that there is not a band of youngsters noisily amusing themselves."

Mr. Getty, the vice-captain, added that they hoped to promote goodwill between the ringers and the neighbours. "We want them to realise that ringing in itself is a form of worship."

180 VISITORS

During the afternoon over 180 non-ringers visited the first-floor ringing chamber. About a dozen and a half local Association members called and treated the spectators to an interesting selection of touches from Plain Bob to Cambridge.

Now, with the first all-Marske resident band for 30 years (average age 16, not counting Messrs. Getty and Sotheran), regular practices will be held on the first and third Mondays of each month at Marske from 7.15 p.m. to 8.45 p.m. (practices on all other Mondays will be held at Saltburn Parish Church). Sunday service ringing is at $9.20 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. for the $100^{\circ} \mathrm{clock}$ service and $5.15 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. for the $6 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. Evensong. The latter is usually followed by a quick dash to Saltburn to ring from 6 oclock for their 6.30 p.m. service.

Any visiting ringers and bands will be most welcome and should contact Peter Sotheran, 2. Kirkleatham Lane, Redcar, Teesside. Telephone (office) Redcar 4057.

members of the congregation and friends from Twickenham and district, who agreed to embark upon this project at a cost of $£ 9,000$. The restoration will do much to preserve for future generations a fine example of our national heritage.

St. Mary's band has the proud reputation of ringing twice each Sunday throughout the year to call the faithful to worship.

The bells were blessed by the Vicar at Matins on Sunday, November 3rd. As well as ringing before and after the service, the bells were rung immediately following the Blessing.

"HISTORY AND ART"

An interesting insight into the early ringing at St. Mary's. Twickenham, is provided by the late Ernest Morris in his "History and Art of Change Ringing". Here are the references to Twickenham Scholars:-

John New, of Twickenham, who was born June $14 \mathrm{th}, 1790$, possessed an interesting ring ing book. It begins with the date October 27th, 1811. on the flyleaf, and his name boldly lettered. With great pains he gives copies of various methods and compositions, as well as much letterpress appearing in the "Clavis". Further on he gives records-carefully written and ruled round in red-of the peals he rang, special ones being crudely decorated with bells, etc. The writer evidently did most of the first part quickly. for he inserted on the last page: "Patience is a Virtue, and that you may see: This Book was begun and Finished by me.

JOHN NEW Feb. 27-1812."
As time went on, he crowded a variety of matters into spare spaces, ranging from figures of handbell tunes to business accounts and racipes for minor ailments. John New rang in many peals at churches in Middlesex and Surrey from 1809 to 1822 ; at that time there was an enthusiastic band at Twickenham, and early tablets at Isleworth and Richmond record their prowess. Their conductor, Geo. Cole, was a man of ability as, besides others, he called Holt's Original, peals of Oxford T.B. Major and Royal, and Stedman Caters. Their first peal of Stedman Caters was on October 3rd. 1819. at Fulham ( 5,031 changes in three hours 12 minutes), "composed, call'd and Rung by George Cole, and brought Round at Hand and Finished in Fine Stile". Various bits of doggerel yerse intersperse other matters, and one. "A Ringer's Song" extols the virtues of a peal of 5.120 Oxford T.B. at Richmond on February 11th, 1809. evidently New's first peal.
John New made a family register of his ringing book and records there his own birth marriage. names of his children and dates of their births. He was probably a decorator and sign writer, for from his accounts he provided several peal boards. Mentioning a peal of Grandsire Triples at Twickenham. March 29th 1812, he states: "Printed the Board for it."

WARFIELD, Berks - the 199th Ten Bell Tower

"RINGING ATTACKS THE DEVIL" - CANON FELSTEAD

THE Norman Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Warfield, near Bracknell, Berkshire, is probably the $199 t h$ ten-bell tower in the world. The dedication of the two new bells to augment the ring of eight took place on November 16 th in the presence of a large congregation that was undeterred by the wintry blast. The ceremony of dedication was performed by Canon K. W. H. Felstead, of St. Michael's, Southampton, the immedirate Past Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. He took the view that many of those who objected to the sound of bells had no time for religion and did not want to be reminded of spiritual things.

He asked ringers to remember as they rang for service they were attacking the Devil as well as giving a signal to come to church.

The augmentation to ten bells by two new bells came about in a three-fold manner: (1) the presence at Warfield of an enthusiastic band of ringers under the leadership of Mr. Frank Price; (2) the generosity of Mr. Alan H. Long, who donated the sreble, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sargeant, whose gift was the second bell; (3) a strong "do-it-yourself" spirit among the ringers that minimised the cost in the provision and fixing the additionad frame and fixtures.

The new bells were cast by the Whitechapel Foundry Ltd., and this firm gave advice and help in the erection of the new frame above the old. The new bells are in the main frame of eight, the two previous trebles going in the new frame.

During the service a beautiful handbell cabinet, the gift of Mr. Arthur Chaney, who lives at Wokingham, was dedicated. Now 70 , Mr. Chaney joined the choir at the age of eight. In those days he and his father chimed the five bells with others twice on Sundays. and he continued as a ringer when the eight bells were provided.

The Parish Church of Warfield (except for a large house or two almost adjoining) is in an isolated position away from the village, but two miles away is rapidly-expanding Bracknell with its rows of new houses and its growing industrial estate.

A SERVICE OF HAPPINESS

To visitors, the service of dedication was one of pleasurable surprise and happiness. Singing was led by a choir of boys, girls, women and men. After the crucifer, taperers, choir and clergy had taken their places the choir sung as an introit "Lift up your heads 0 ye gates" (Eric Thiman). Later in the service came the bell anthem-" Rejoice in the Lord alway" (Purcell). The Psalms were "The Old Hundredth" (Vaughan Williams) and 150th to Stanford's setting. The lessons were read by Mr. Frank Price, captain of the ringers, and the Rev. F. Brimall, Rural Dean of Sonning Deanery. Prayers were said by the Vicar, the Rev. F. Harcourt Trevor, who conducted the service.

The dedication took place immediately beneath the tower. Mr. Douglas Hughes formally handed over the new bells to the Vicar, who in turn asked Canon Felstead to offer the dedication prayer. To the singing of the hymn "Praise to the Lord, the Almighty" the procession returned to the stalls.

Canon Felstead prefaced his address by bringing greetings from his own church, which is also dedicated to St. Michael the Archangel, is also a beautiful ancient church and also has ten bells. He said it was a pleasure and a great honour to be asked to take part in that very inspiring service, one which he hoped they would all remember. He also congratulated all who had taken part to make that service possible-the donors of the bells and all who by their efforts had done so much work to hang them in the tower.

COURAGEOUS

It was very couragcous doing this in the difficult times in which they lived and they were to be admired for doing so. He had just undertaken a tremendous restoration for God in his own church. He was told it was a bad time for appeals; he knew it was hard to raise money, but when was it a good time to raise money? Having done this for God's glory therefore their efforts would be blessed.

The Collect which they had just heard spoke of God as their refuge and strength. It was a very obvious thing to say that the most conspicuous feature of the churches of their land was the tower and spire. as in his own case and theirs. He supposed that in about half the churches in the land there was a ring of bells from three to twelve. "You have now joined the select company of those which have ten bells. A book recently published said there were then 198 rings of ten bells. I am not sure how up 10 date the book is (it is difficult in these times of a statistical book not to lag behind a little) but it could be we have the 199th ring of ten bells in the world at Warfield.

NOT WITH BELLS
"Of course, where there are bells there is a belfry. Strangely enough the word in origin had nothing to do with bells I The original spelling (it had several forms) was berfrey or berfray. It meant a movable wooden tower used for siege purposes. The French historian Froissart speaks of " 2 berfreys of great timber with three stages or storeys on four great wheels." Each stage had 100 archers, so it was an instrument of war and attack.
"Later it came to have another meaning, that of protection-a strong place of refuge-a tower to protect watchmen. It seems very likely that was how the tower of my own church started life. It appears that there was a tower (actually Norman) and that the rest of the church had been built against it all round.

ATTACKING THE ENEMY

"Let us think of those two original meanings of the word as it applied to bells and ringing. First, a way of attack, as when ringers ring their bells they are attacking the enemy-who is the Devil. Why do many people and especially, I believe, those who have no time for religion, protest at the sound of bells when they don't take much notice of the other far worse sounds around. They don't want to be reminded of things spirituaal in any form. and without a doubt bells do bring a reminder of such things. Many a sick person lying in bed has been comforted by the sound of the bells. The Devil doesn't like people to be so reminded of the things of the spirit.
"Sound has always been thought to frighten away evil spirits in primitive religions, and in origin the reason of wedding bells was not joy but to frighten away the Devil. The bevt form of defence is attack, so. ringers, as you ring for services. remember that you are attacking the Devil as well as giving a signal 10 come to church, and may it help you to do so regularly.
"Then secondly-a tower for protection. The Belfry is a part of the Church, and so the Church, which is the body of Christ. protects us through life. Here is the reminder to put our trust in Him, for He will never let us down. He accepts us through His Church at baptism: He blesses our adult life in the saccraments of Confirmation and Marriage: He feeds us continually with the hread of life in Holy Communion. He truly is the protector of all who put their trust in $l l i m$. And so as your bells ring out Sunday by Sunday and at other times of ioy and sorrow. may they ever remind you of these things spiritual. the things eternal, and of the protection which God gives to all who love llim.

The collection hymn was "Thy hand. O God. has guided." and immediately after the Hlewsing the ten bells rang our in rounds. General ringing followed and at 5 o clock tea, it delicious and acceptable meal prepared hy loval ladies, was served in the Village llall

There was a good muster of ringers for the evening ringing

VARIATIONS IN COMPOSITIONS
Dear Sir,-I doubt if antone would contest the attribution of this peal to Charles Mid-dieton:-

5,600 CAMBRIDGE SURPRISE MAJOR

| 23456 | $\mathbf{M}$ | $\mathbf{W}$ | $\mathbf{H}$ |
| :--- | ---: | ---: | ---: | ---: |
| 35264 | 2 | 2 | 3 |

Four times repeated.
Now if we change "Cambridge" in the title to "London" it is still a perfectly valid composition. However, quite apart from the methods themselves, there are differences in what would be rung; for example, in the Cambridge version there is only one lead from the course 63254, while the London composition contains five. The composition is also suitable for methods with lead-end $c$, in which case three leads of this course would appear.

Despite these differences, in my opinion these are all one composition: this composition has in fact been rung to a wide variety of methods and the credit given to Charles Middleton (who would be amazed!!).

Turning now to Mr. Poyner's peal on page 780: if we reverse this we find that the sequence of calls is identical to Harold Cashmore's composition (No. 70 in Wratten's Collection) for lead-end $f$, and also to another of his peals, 5,088 Oxhey Surprise Major (leadend $c$ ).

Mr. Poyner has taken two venerable fivepart blocks derived from Middleton's 30 courses and joined them together in a way that was discovered 30 years ago.

Armiger Trollope's booklet "Variation and Transposition "was published over 30 years ago and has been out of print for some time. It would be most useful if this could be brought up to date and reissued.-Yours sincerely, Hillmarton, Rughy.

SLRPRISE RINGING AT TWFRTON-ON. AVON

Dear Sir,-In reply to a letter from Mr. G. J. Hawkins in ". The Ringing World " issue of November 8 th (page 867) with reference to Surprise ringing at Twerton-on-Avon. I must reiterate that all the ringers who took part in the peal of Superlative mentioned in my previous letter were members of the Twerton band at that time, including the three named by Mr. Hawkins. These were Miss N. G. Williams. who joined the band soon after the first world war, T. Grant, in 1923, and W. H. Crocker, in 1928.-Yours sincerely,
G. H. HARDING.

PEAL FEES

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. Jones' letter (p. 887), may I as a member. of Mr. Beale's peal band say we each contribute $3 /$ - per head at the conclusion of each successful peal. One shilling goes to peal booking fee, one to the church concerned and one to "The Ringing World".

Regarding "The Ringing World," however, it more peal bands rook our attitude perhaps the funds accumulated would permit our Editor to publish a bigger copy each week. Is it that peal ringers are rather tight-fisted and shy away when "a contribution to the 'Ringing World" "is mentioned?-Yours faithfully.

JOHN CORNELIUS.

MORE EXPLANATIONS FROM Mr. BLAGROVE

Dear Sir,-Will you please allow me to reply to the many half-truths contained in Mr. Smith's concluding remarks?
It was Mr. Smith who dragged in the record for Yorkshire Major, with its incorrect comments about the 14,560 . which was never claimed as a record. I replied with the fact that Mr. Smith gave only one day's notice for the 17,248 , to which he replied that someone else called it. The 21,363 Stedman Caters does not break the record for Stedman Caters on handbells. The 16,368 Cambridge Maximus does not break the record 15,480 Cambridge Royal.

The paragraph about Kent and Oxford not heing spliced was Dassed at the 1951 Council. but the name of the proposer and seconder and the debate was never published in "The Ringing World." So we do not know which variations were meant and in which spirit. But in 1955 the Council passed the paragraph that methods could be divided into leads at the half-lead. This surely takes precedence over the 1951 paragraph, and means that the Worcester composition is spliced, since no bobs are called at the lead-end and therefore the leads remain intact from half-lead to half-lead. This fact was used by Mr. Smith and Mr. Woodruffe in the last extent of their record Deal of Spliced T.B. Minor.

I sincerely hope that Doubles ringers and others will read more than the paragraph taken out of context by Mr. Smith. They will find that the "tidying-up" against which many of us were protesting was the action of finding old Decisions so that peals of Plain Bob Triples and methods without Plain Bob leadends, especially Minor, could be excluded frons the analysis. We argued that all true peals should be included in the analysis. and the Council accepted this in 1955. Even in recent years I have protested against the committee for wrongly excluding peals from their analysis,
In 1951 I advocated that Doubles ringers should ring what they liked as methods until such time as the Central Council published a collection of methods, after which there should be a distinction between methods and variations. When the collection was eventually published in 1955 it included a suggestion that the naming of variations should be stopped. I said then that the naming should continue. but with a clear distinction from methods. Since 1953 many Doubles ringers have asked for a clear definition of a variation.
The original motion for Worcester this year would have, done this, but less than half the variations since published in the Appendix would have conformed to it. For this reason I proposed my amendment and have spent many hours sorting out all the "variations" already published in "The Ringing world." and finding dozens of them false or not extentable. (The floral quarter peal?)

There is a vast difference between "tidyingup " by banning peals continuing irregular methods and "tidying-up " by classifying into methods and variations, all of which are acceptable for peals in any case.

I have not gone over to the other side. I have always maintained that the Central Council should recognise all true peals regardless of the methods. but that the Central Council should clearly classify what is rung-Surprise and Treble Bob, methods and variations, extensions and non-extensions, etc.-Yours sincerely,

FRANK T. BLAGROVE.

DELAY THROUGH ACCIDENT

Dear Sir,-I would like to reply to the letter from C. 1. P. Roberts which appeared in "The Ringing World" of November ist.

Mr. Roberts and the Harrogate band seem to be nursing a grievance against M . W. and the Chapel Allerton band because they have not received a lette, of apology. They seem to think that a public, sarcastic letter is the best way of airing their grievance. I am very sorry that they should allow themselves to feel so strongly.
The root of the trouble was a day outing, an account of which was published in "The Ringing World " of September 13 th. We were late in arriving at the last tower of the day due to unforeseen circumstances. When we did arrive we found a curt note fixed to a door of the church which plainly told us that Mr. Roberts could no longer wait and had gone. We were disappointed to have to miss out the tower and tried in vain to contact the captain. However, we had to accept the note as final and regarded this as the end of the matter.

Mr. Roberts says he has seen the account, but I fail to see what he finds so "cool" about my reference to our late arrival. 1 emphasised the fact that we were held up by an accident and that we hurried through the rest of the programme in an attempr to make up some of the lost time. As explanation I will just say that we were the chief witnesses of an accident in which a motor cycle swerved off the road, fell on its side and immediately went up in flames. We felt ourselves responsible for making the 999 call and for standing by in case there was anything we could do. We were in strange territory, we were shaken, and it all took time.
If Mr. Roberts and the Harrogate band are still dissatisfied they can always contact us privately. I am only sorry they should want to make such a letter public.-Yours sincerely,

RECORDINGS AT CLEVEDON

Dear Sir,-May I, through your pages, express my views on the recordings at Christ Church, Clevedon.
On entering this church one notices how much work is being done for overseas missions and for repairs and extension. I myself am not in favour of tape-recordings of bells being played, but in this case I think that Mr. Rees is quite justified in using such tapes only as a temporary measure. I think that now the parish has begun work on the church building it should complete this before thinking of installing a new ring of bells.

While on the subject of Clevedon 1 would like to congratulate Victor James on his success in teaching the enthusiastic band at St. John's. I have seen his work and wish him every success in the future.-Yours faithfully,

PETER HAYWARD.

A BEATITLDE:

Dear Sir. - This month's "The Country Churchman", quotes the Geneva Bible of 1562. in which the Sermon on the Mount proclaims "Blessed are the place-makers." It might seem that the Geneva scholars, having in their First Edition clothed Adam and Eve in breeches. now intend in the Second Fdition to reward the bellringers according to their practice.-Yours faithfully,

CENTRAL COLNCIL AND POLITICS

Dear Sir.-Although | found the Rev. J. G M. Scotis letter concerning the workings of the Central Council both interesting and well written. I do wish he could refrain from besmirching the pages of "The Ringing World" with his own political opinions. Comparison of the Council with Parliament is perfectly legitimate comment, but we are not interested in his views on the Commonwealth Immigration Act or the popularity of Parliament. Yours sincerely.

Dorset Venturers and Culham Campers Invade the Isle of Wight

R
D EVEILLE sounded very early on November 9 th, and after a frantic dash across Dorset and Hampshire the Venturers joined the Culham Brigade, plus their allies from London, Abingdon and Holt for a pre-Island ring on the light ten at Fareham. Then, excceding all speed limits. we arrived at the departure point with only minutes 10 spare, or so we thought. The assault craft was about to be boarded but, alas, this was not to be for British Rail. having only one craft with radar, had allowed this to fail, and the ferry was cancelled for one hour. Immediately volunteers were called to row the distance to the Island: was it surprising that none came forward?

Unfortunately, Godshill would have to he by-passed, but an hour later than anticipated the ranks formed outside Whitwell Church. The invasion had begun. and for most this was their first taste of fighting on this particular soil. We had two people from the Island to make sure that we behaved ourselves while on their native soil, one of them being the present Master of the Culham Society II has been a Culham custom that tours take place in the home area of the Master. where possible, and this time Kenneth had his way, and we were to spend a very enjoyable time in the home area of the Master for this year

Whitwell nrovided a pleasant setting for the first battle of the dav. On the easy-going six little was done as the General was keen on getting hack to time again. Our small sample of these bells made us feel that we would like to come back for more. On 10 the light five at Niton, where Stedman and St. Simon came round. This mellow old five impressed all the army and we again felt that we would have to return again there. The Whole invasion torce then descended on Brighstone and, after the organiser had been reprimanded for the spelling of the village name, proceeded to confiscate all the available food in the local hostelry. Being fortified with local brew we sampled the bells at the village church. York and London were among the methods rung, logether with plenty of rounds and call changes for the less able.

At Carisbrooke John was sure that he could see the islanders holding barrels of molten tar on the castle ramparts ready to throw at these invaders as they passed below. But we fooled them by occupying their church and ringing on their gorgeous bells. Cambridge Major came round but Wight would not go. The hour spent here was much appreciated

After tea the invasion force rundled into Arreton and it was very nice to hear the bells half-muftled, which showed us they were regularly rung We were met by the Vicar, who watched the ringing and made us very welcome. The next stage of the Island occupation was rather a failure and a hasty retreat had to be called for at Brading. where the local army failed to engage us in battle. Better luck next time!

All day we had looked forward to the last hattle ground-at Ryde the heaviest ring of bells on the Island). They are a really splendid ring and the time there was well spent in ringing Kent. Grandsire and an attempt at Cambridge
With a warm glow of pleasure at having conquered the Island we caught the tube train down the pier at Ryde for the return trip to the mainland. Once on dry land again we hoarded our respective troop carriers and headed our various ways to our own barracks.

A large "thank you" is extended to all lower captains and incumbents. Until we return we will leave the Island to recuperate from the attack. Islanders, remember-we'll be hack

THE VICAR OF MORWENSTOW

By PETER CAME

0N the west coast of North Cornwall the cliffs rise steeply from the water's edge to several hundred feet above the Atlantic swell. These cliffs are cut with deep combes and it is in one of these that the village of Morwenstow lies.

In the 19 th century Morwenstow was the home of the eccentric writer, poet and Vicar, Robert Stephen Hawker, and hanging in the church tower is a bell, one of two added to a Rudhall four in 1902, inscribed:

In Memoriam, Robert Stephen Hawker, Vicar 1834 to 1875.

Surely few bellringers who have made a pilgrimage to Morwenstow can have failed to be impressed and filled with enthusiasm by the romantic setting of this place. During the 19th century Morwenstow was extremely remote and enshrouded in great mystery. It was this very environment that had an immense influence upon the life and writings of Robert Stephen Hawker, Vicar of Morwenstow. During his forty years as incumbent there, many ballads and poems about the life, legend and lore of this part of Cornwall emanated from his mind.

Morwenstow Church, together with the Vicarage built by Hawker with its chimneys in imitation of the towers of churches with which he had heen associated, stands just within the head of the combe and well matches the austere solitude, where it has for so many centuries " . . . kept watch oier man's immortality." The church, with its lichen-covered granite tower containing a ring of six bells, stands in defiance of the wind and waves of the Allantic, where :

The storm-the blast-the tempest shock
Have beat upon those walls in vain;
She stands-a daughter of the rock-
The changeless God's eternal fane.
Still points the tower, and pleads the bell;
The solemn arches breathe in stone:
Window and wall have lips to tell
The mighty faith of days unknown
Outside Cornwall, and even outside Morwenstow, a place from which his reputation is inseparable. Hawker has not found the same fame as either Tennyson or Betjeman, but this does not mean to say that he did not produce any work of outstanding quality. Indeed, "The Quest of the Sangraal." written in 1863, is a poem of bigh quality and perhaps ranks

VERNON BOTTOMLEY.

Secretary
45. Westercroft Lane,

Northowram,
Halifax. Yorkshire.

Robert Stephen Hawker, writer and poet, was incumbent of this church (parts of which are Norman) from 1834 to 1875. Beside the church stands the Vicarage, built hy Hawker, with its chimney in imitation of the towers of churches with which Hawker had been associated. His stipend at that time was $£ 365$ per year and accordingly over the door is inscribed :

A House, a Glebe, a Pound a DayA Pleasant place to Watch and Pray.Be true to Church-Be Kind to Poor.O Minister! for evermore.

with Tennyson's "Holy Grail," written in 1870. The subject of this poem, the Sangraal. the holy grail, is about the quest for the true blood of Christ that was gathered in a golden vessel from the side of the Saviour as He hung on the Cross:

Uprose they for the Quest-the bounding men
Of the siege perilous, and the granite ring-
They gathered at the rock, yon ruddy tor;
The stony depth where lurked the demongod,
Till Christ, the mighty Master, drove him forth.

Hawker, as his "Cornish Ballads and Other Poems" show, has certain rewards for those ringers interested in poetry, for several of his poems are directly connected with ringers and hells. Much of the local lore and legend he put into ballad form. In "The Silent Tower of Bottreaux" (Boscastle), for example, he relates in this form the story of why there is no ring of bells at Boscastle:

Tintadgel bells ring o'er the tide,
The boy leans on his vessel's side;
He hears that sound, and dreams of home Soothe the wild orphan of the foam. Come to thy God in time!"
Thus saith their pealing chime;
"Youth, manhood, old age past,
"Come to thy God at last !"
The ship rode down with courses free,
The daughter of a distant sea;
Her sheet was loose, her anchor stored,
The merry Bottreaux bells on board.
" Come to thy God in time!
Rung out Tintadgel chime;
«Youth, manhood, old age past,
"Come to thy God at last i"
" The pilot heard his native bells, Hang on the breeze in fitful swells," and naturally thought he would make the shore on the evening's tide. Land was almost reached and the pilot thanked God for a safe voyage. But the captain retorted " . . . thank, at sea, the steersman's band." At this, the captain's blasphemous remark, the sea rose and the ship, logether with Bottreaux's merry bells, descended to the depths of the ocean. It is said that:

Still when the storm of Bottreaux' waves Is wakening in his weedy caves;
Those bells, that sullen surges hide,
Peal their deep notes beneath the tide.
"Come to thy God in time!"
Thus saith the ocean chime ;
"Storm, billow, whirlwind past.
Come to thy God at last !"
In other poems, too, there is mention of bells. For example in "Pauline" we find:

Ah! happy tume ! Ah! happy time The days of myth and dream; When years ring out their merry chime, And hope and gladness gleam.

In "The Dirge," partly traditional, with verses added by Hawker, we find:
"Sing from the threshold to the porch, Until you hear the bell;
And sing you loudly in the church The Psalms I love so well.
And in "The Legend of the Hive" we find an analogous use of bells:

Was it a dream? or did they hear,
Float from those golden cells,
A sound as of some psaltery near

Or soft and silvery bells.

The Vicar of Morwenstow-continued Perhaps the most rewarding poem of all is " The Ringers of Lancell's Tower." This tells, in a very touching way, how five men had rung at the accession of George $1 I 1$ (1760) and all again at his jubilee. Three of them lived on, however, to ring in George IV (1820). Two survived to celebrate, in their native tower, the coronation of King William IV (1830). This poem was. in fact, read by John Betjeman when he visited Launcells in his "A.B.C. of Churches."

They meet once more ! that ancient band. With furrow'd cheek and failing hand: One peal today they fain would ring, The jubilee of England's king!

They meet once more! but where are now The sinewy arm, the laughing brow,
The strength that hailed, in happier times.
King George the Third with lusty chimes?
Yet proudly gaze on that lone tower,
No goodlier sight hath hall or bower: Meekly they strive-and closing day
Gilds with soft light their locks of grey.
Hark! proudly hark! with that true tone They welcomed him to land and throne; So ere they die they fain would ring The jubilee of England's king.
His last verse lacks confidence; he sees an age fading away:

Hearts of old Cornwall, fare ye well!
Fast fade such scenes from field and dell:
How wilt thou lack, my own dear land,
Those trusty arms, that faithful band!
The local traditions. superstitions and legends to which Hawker clung governed his whole life and writing; and it is appropriate that he who perpetuated them should himself become a legend in North Cornwall.

CORRECTIONS & AMENDMENTS

Mr. John A. Acres now informs us that the date of Mr. Tom Lock's first peal was December 20th, 1927.

The quarter peal at Healey, Rochdale, on October 27th, was in memory of the father of the tenor ringer. and not as printed.
Two quarter peals were recorded under Weybridge instead of Ottershaw in the issue of March 29th (page 245). One was Bob Doubles rung on February 11th (conductor, J. Ladd) and the other Grandsire Doubles on March 3rd (conductor. I. Taylor). Will correspondents kindly endeavour to submit quarter peals in the same style as they appear in the journal.

Essex Association at Dinner

THE "B" MONDAYS AT CHELMSFORD

NCE again the stately County Room of the Shire Hall at Chelmsford was the scene of the annual dinner of the Essex Association -this time the 15 th-held on Saturday, October 19 th .

After the Master, Mr. F. B. Lufkin, had welcomed all members and friends and guests, especially one young lady all the way from Australia, 120 people sat down to an excellent meal. On the top table, together with the Master and his wife, were the Bishop of Colchester and his wife, the Provost of Chelmsford (the Very Rev. H. M. Connop-Price), Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Clark, Mr. and Mrs H. Turner and Mrs. Crampion.

After the loyal toast the Bishop of Colchester, in proposing the toast of "The Church," pointed out the number of meanings the word Church had. The Church not only means the building, from the smallest country church to the most magnificent city cathedral. hut also the clergy and the parish and the Church of England, the Methodist Church and Presbyterian Church. These together comprise the true meaning of the word church and it was to this that the Bishop proposed the toast.

A break from the speeches followed to allow the company to be entertained by the "Sounding Brass." a very talented band of handbell tune ringers under the leadership of Mr. A. S. Hudson.
Before proposing the toast of "The Essex Association," the Provost of Chelmsford Cathedral thanked everyone for the splendid welcome which had been bestowed upon him and apologised for his wife's absence. which was due to illness. In proposing the toast, he congratulated the Master on the excellent way in which the Association had been led over the last 12 months and his activities in visiting all parts of the county during the year. The Provost pointed out Mr. Lufkin's eligibility to carry on the tradition from where Mr. Heazel left oft

HEADLINES OVER SATURDAY PEAL

The Provost also said that Mr. Clark, the Master of the Cheimsford Cathedral ringers, often asks him for the bells of the Cathedral in order to ring a peal, recalling one particular Saturday afternoon when it was alleged the Inspector of Police had to go home as he could not stand the noise any longer. The telephonists in the nearby telephone exchange were also very upset, but he was sure all had been forgiven and forgotten, despite the fact that the incident made headlines in the local newspaper. He joked that alternate Mondays are marked in his diary as " B! Mondays" (bellringing) and whenever he has to arrange anything at the Cathedral he always takes into account this date.
Continuing in a serious tone, he expressed his gratitude for what the Association does and hoped that it might continue to thrivo under the leadership of the Master. Mr. Lufkin, and it was with great pleasure that he proprosed the toast to the Essex Association.

A vote of thanks was then given by the Master to the life members, guests and artistes.
In an endeavour to attract a larger company, it was decided to have a break from the tradition this year by having a dance after the dinner. This proved to be highly successful. After a period of about half an hour. in which the band tuned up and the tables were cleared away, people ventured on to the floor for the first dance of the evening. The floor was soon crowded with dancers, all thoroughly enjoving themselves.

The organising committee are certainly quite entitled to say that this year's Essex Association annual dinner was a great success with the added attraction of the dance, and hope that next year's, under their excellent guidance. will be just as successful.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Rev. M. C. C. Melville, the hon. secretary of the Universities Association, rang his 100th peal of Surprise on November 12th.

Mr. Ken Lawson is now home at Middlesbrough from hospital following his sudden illness at the annual meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Association.
The Derby Diocesan Association has promised $£ 1.000$ towards the extension of Derby Cathedral. At a Hallowe'en party organised by the Chesterfield District $£ 12$ was raised towards this promise.

At Scorton. Lanes, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on November 6th to congratulate Bob Braithwaite, of this village, on winning a gold medal in the 1968 Olympic Games. With such a marksman we cannot imagine that Scorton has any pigeon trouble in its tower!
The quarter peal of Cambridge Minor at Christchurch Cathedral, New Zealand, was the first quarter since 1965 for Dan Richards, who is on holiday for a few weeks before taking up an appointment in Paris. He is well known to ringers at St. Paul's, London, and his friends there may expect to see a little more of him from Paris than from Singapore.
All the ringers taking part in the quarter at St. Peter's, Droitwich, on November 17th. had been taught to ring by the conductor either at Droitwich or at St. Swithun's Church. Worcester. The tenor ringer, P. R. Twinberrow, who started ringing in July, had only once previously taken part in any sort of change ringing at all-a six-score on the tenor at St. Swithun's on the preceding Sunday &

For the 11 th consecutive year a half-muffled neal has been rung at Brant Broughton, Lines. Ihis year's peal was conducted by Frederick G. Hooper. On this oocasion there was a special remembrance for R. Russell. of Corby, who had rung in several peals at Brant Broughton.

WARFIELD'S OLD BELLS

We are indebted to a correspondent who sends us the following particulars of the old five bells at Wartield, Berks. The Edwardian inventory of 1552 gives Warfield as possessing five bells. Previous to the tower having eight bells the five old bells were:-

Treble: Ellis Knight 1, 1629

Second: John Mitchell of Wokinghum, 15th century.
Third: Richard Eldridge of Chertsey, 1597. Fourth: Ditto.
Tenor Richard Phelps of Whitechapel, 1718.
The old tenor was 4 ft . 2 in . diameter in D . weighing 21 cwt . 11 lb . These were recast for Webb and Bennett of Kidlington by Mears and Stainbank it1 1923. Wehh and Bennett made all the fittings and did the hanging.

CELFBRATION PEAL AT CROMIER

In July. 1942. bombs dropped in the vicinity of Cromer Church. and, as well as causing considerable loss of life and property in the area, badly damaged the church so that for a time it was unusible.

Ever since then restoration work has been going on and to mark the recent completion of this work a Three-Day Thanksgiving was held at the beginning of November. November Ind was the annual Parish Gift Day. and as part of the celebrations a good peal of Minor in four methods was rung.

This is only the sixth peal since 1874, when five bells from the Whitechapel Foundry were added to the original 15 th century bell hy Brasyer of Norwich to make the present ring.

A 32-IEAR TASK

By rinsing a peal of Lincolnshire at Mersham on November 9th. Philip Corby, general secretary of the Kent County Association, has accomplished the rate feat of ringing a peal on every ringable ring of eight, ten and twelve bells in the county of Kent. This task has taken 32 years to complete since his first peal. at Cudham on May 70th. 1936. and in the hand at Mersham was Arthur Richards, who also rang in the peal at Cudham.

It is believed that the late Irank Bennett is the only other ringer to have completed this feat. and it is remarkahle that Arthur Richards also took part in the peal at Milton-nextGravesend. Frank Bennett's last tower in Kent.

THE TWO EXTREMES

It must have been one of our fraternity who put the following advertisement in " The Sunday Times" recently:-

Minimus and Maximus. super Siamese kittens. looking for tolerant owner they can take over.

MINI-SKIRTS AGAI.

"The Ideal Home." December issue, has our now well-known quote, but they have added the authority of the Central Council to it.

- Cautionary fashion note from the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, published earlier this year hut still topical:-
.. All ringers who wear mini-skirts should nlease have a trial pull in front of the mirror,"

THE BELLRINGERS' CAROL

Hearken to the news, I pray,
Christus natus hodie!
A tiny Child in stable far
Lit only by a guiding star.
Oh! Surely bells rang out that day
Christus natus hodie!
And in this Tower your ringers raise
Their bells to join in heavenly praide.
For now, as then, we still may say
Christus natus hodie!
Rejoice that on this Christmas morn
The Saviour of the world's reborn.
So cast your fears and cares away:
Christus natus hodie!
And when you hear the church bells ring
Raise hearts and hopes and with them sing
GLORIA IN EXCELSIS DEO!
N.J.W.

TACNTON DISTRICT PEAL WEEK

During the week commencing Sunday, Octoner 27th. a peal week was organised for Taunton District by Mr. K. E. Beale with a peal attempt each day. Six of the seven attempts were successful. with 13 ringers taking part in the ringing.

There was a concentration on Multi-Method Doubles and during the week 54 different methods, variations and spliced compositions were rung with live methods (Plain Bob, Grandsire. Reverse St. Bartholomew, All Saints and Reverse Canterbury), two variations (Fortune and Marchington) and two spliced compositions (April Day and Cliftord's Pleasure) being used in each Doubles peal rung.

Number of peals rung: Keith E. Beale and Rodney A. C. Cross 6. Mervyn A. Arscott 5, Mervyn R. Arscott and John Cornelius 4.
First peals 2: first as conductors 3; first on live 1:first on bells 1: most methods, etc. 3: most methods. etc.. "inside" $\mathbf{3}$ : most as conductor 1
It is anticipated that the next Taunton Peal Week will be held at the start of the New Year, so will those interested please keep the first week clear if interested in taking part.

EAST GRINSTEAD AND DISTRICT GUILD
The band met at Kingswood and Redhill on November 9th, when afternoon ringing was on the six bells at Kingswood, and at 4.30 the Vicar took the service and the local captain read the lesson. After the service. members had tea, prepared by the wives of members of the local band, in the Church Hall, which is built, with a kitchen attached, on the side of the church.
There were 30 members present at the meeting. at which one new member was elected. The December 14th meeting will be held at Horsham, and the annual dinner on January lith at the Royal Mount Ephraim Hotel, Tunbridge Wells (tickets 21s, 6d. from Mr. E. Ladd and the chairman).

Mayfield (with Frant) was proposed for the meeting on February 8th. The annual general meeting will be held on March 8th, and a motion was passed in favour of moving it around the area.

It was suggested by the committee that peal bands should be arranged within the Guild to encourage beginners to try for their first peals. This was discussed and generally approved.

Thanks were expressed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the hall and for taking the service, and to the ladies for preparing the tea.

After another ring for latecomers, members went on to Redhill for evening ringing.

LEWISHAM RINGERS IN LONDON

Bitterly cold weather did not deter a party of Lewisham District ringers from enjoyng a day in London on November 16th.. An interesting morning was spent at the Sicience Museum watching a demonsiration of the Carter Ringing Machine given by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dobbic and Alan Bagworth. In his vote of thanks Mr. J. Dafters merrtioned that as a young man he had known and rung with John Carter.

The rest of the day was spent ringing at St. George the Martyr's, Southwark, St. Clement Danes' and St. Margaret's, Westminster, where the breaking of the tenor rope brought ringing to a close earlier than anticipated. Thanks are due to Miss M. R Andrews and Messrs. P. Shonk. E. A. Barnetl and J. Euston for making the arrangements for a very successful day.

OVERSEAS NEWS

THE 'QUAKE IN WESTERN AUSTRALIA

Tower bell ringing has been rather limited owing to broken ropes and a major overhaul to the frame. this work being carried out under the supervision of the Ringing Master. Tony Mann. who hopes to secure the frame and make the bells more secure.

There has been a violent earthquakc, centred at Mechering which is situated 80 miles east of Perth, with a strength of 6.8 on the Richter needle. Considering that 9 is total devastation, it was a miracle that nobody wis killed.
This 'quake occurred at 10.59 a.m. on the Queen's birthday holiday. At Mechering 90 Der cent. of the toun was devastated. All the buildings in Perth and the suburbs shook violently, the skyscrapers visibly swaying for about 30 seconds. Lots of buildings have large cracks and St. George's Cathedral has two large cracks. A 2 cwt . stone cross fell off the west front: three of the bells, including the ienor, went over off the balance and rang for seven minutes. There is an estimate of 4.000 dollars-worth of damage to the Cathedral. but ringing will be able to continue on the shaky eight.

Wilf Palin. who has returned to Kent from Perth. will be glad to know the 14 storey Legacy look-out building is still standing; although it rocked there was no damage.
Tony and Heather Mann's new house was "dancing a jig" in Dance Drive with all the others. This is no understatement. Luckily the houses escaped damage but a few peonie had glassware broken.
Jenny Lees and Tim Gregory were staying at Charlie Tower's farm at Corrigen and were having a cup of coffee when the quake occurred. Plaster and dust came down but thero was no serious damage.

THE MIDLAND - FIRST BANK TO RING A PEAL

Two of the Big Five Banks have made ringing news by having gatherings of bellringers on their staff. Barclays set the example and then the Midland rang in six towers in London on June 14th. Now the Midland have secured the palm by ringing the first peal by a Bank staff.

This took place at SL. Andrew's Church, Shilton, Warwickshire, when a peal of 5,040 Plain Bob Minor was scored on October 27th on the light six which has a tenor of nearly 7 cwt . The day was wet and miserable, but this did not dampen the enthusiasm of the band. After a slow start they settled down to a good rhythm and the seventh extent was completed in two hours and 20 minntes.

It was a good peal bearing in mind the length of the experience of some of the band. Geraldine Mitchell had a long journey from Gloucester before the attempt but rang very well for her first peal and deserves special praise. There were also three firsts of Minor in the band.

Above we give a picture of Midland Bank ringers in London, taken last June. Those taking part in the peal are marked by an asterisk:-

Miss G. Armstrong (Swansea), F. C. A. Bennett (Managerial Relief Staff), "Miss G. Mitchell (Gloucester), C. F. Loke (Leighton Buzzard), *Colin H. Cool (Croydon), Mrs. S. Cook, Richard J. Danby, the conductor (Coventry), Miss A. Lawrenson (Newbury), ${ }^{}$ David Wight (Chesham), Maurice C. Hughes (Birmingham), ${ }^{}$ Colin D. Bangh (Birmingham).

MR. D. W. C. CHANT

It was with great regret that I learned of the sudden death on November 7th of my old friend Charlie Chant, of Sturminster Marshall. With myself he was one of the founder members of the new band formed at Buckland Newton in 1931; during the vicariate of my father he remained a loyal member until the band disintegrated in 1936 following the death of my father.
Although of recent years ill-health had greatly restricted his ringing, in his younger days Charlie had a fine physique and he could usually be found on the "back" end. Charlie always believed in punctuality and loyalty and he would never intentionally let down his fellow ringers. When he knew that he would be away on a Sunday he would scour the district to find an outsider who would take his place in the tower. Charlie also had a keen sense of humour and was always ready for a bit of clean fun, and in all the years that I knew him he was never bad-tempered.
Deepest sympathy is extended to the wife, son and daughter whom he leaves behind. May he rest in peace.
E. T. PAUL FIELD.

MR. JAMES MUSTOE

Northleach Parish Church. Glos, has lost a loyal tower member by the death of Mr. James Mustoe on October 5th. Although not a great peal ringer, he was a faithful Sunday service ringer when health allowed.

DERBY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

On a cold but fine day the monthly meeting of the Chesterfield District, held at Clowne on November 9th, attracted visitors from Loughborough and Warsop in addition to representatives of no fewer than ten of the District's 16 affiliated towers.
Under the supervision of the District Ringing Master, Mr. G. Newman, the very pleasant 7 cwt . six were put to good use during the afternoon to a wide variety of methods until 5 p.m., when a break was made for tea in the welcome warmth of the Church Hall.

After tea, excellently prepared by the wives and friends of the local ringers, the company of some 30 members and friends were welcomed to Clowne by the District chairman, Mr. J. Arkwell, who in his opening remarks particularly mentioned the large number of young ringers present.

Following the election of David Charlesworth and Christopher Edge (North Wingtield) and Barbara Jenkinson (Clowne) as new members, a short report was given of the recent District Hallowe'en party, which was attended by almost 80 ringers and friends and raised a further $£ 12$ towards the $£ 1,000$ the Association has promised for the extensions to Derby Cathedral.

At the end of a somewhat lengthy discussion on the merits of some proposed special practices in both advanced and elementary methods, the meeting was concluded by Mr. H. T. Rooke (Warsop) proposing a comprehensive vote of thanks to the Rector, the Rev. W. S. Willcox, the local company and ladies, after which further ringing was enjoyed until 9 p.m.
Next meeting: December 14th, ChesterfieldDistrict A.G.M.

36th Snowdon Dinner at Bradford

CHE annual dinner of the Yorkshire Association was held on October 19th at the Victoria Hotel, Bradford, where the excellent meal was enjoyed by 93 members, their guests and friends. Mr. Vernon Bottomley, president of the Association was in the chair and, after the loyal toast, the cigars, cigarettes and pipes were lit and the company settled down to the speeches, which this year were notable for their brevity.
"The Church and State" was proposed by Dr. T. David Spencer, the Association's peal secretary. He based his words on the first chapter oi Wilfrid G. Wilson's book "Change Ringing" and spoke of the uses to which bells had been put through the ages. It had always been customary for the bells to ring out at times of national rejoicing, on great State occasions and to commemorate famous victories but, he said, they had not always been instruments of the Church, although housed in the churches. At one time their use as a means of calling the faithful to worship was forbidden and they were only rung by the ringers as a sporting pursuit. Happily, those days were past and the bells now rang out proclaiming the message of the Church.
The reply was given by the Provost of Bradford, the Very Rev. W. H. Alan Cooper, who said how honoured he felt at being invited to the Association's dinner and pleased to have the opportunity of replying to the toast. He thanked Dr. Spencer for proposing the toast and the company present for the way they had received it. He did not feel adequate to reply for the State, his only connection being that he had been appointed to his present olfice by it and, like everyone else, he had to buy an insurance stamp each week, but he could reply for the Church, and he thanked the ringers for the work they did. Next year would see the beginning of the golden jubilee year of the Bradford Diocese and he wanted the Association to take part in the celebrations by holding a meeting and ringing peals at the Cathedral.

The main toast of the evening, that to "The Late Jasper Snowdon and Past Officers of the Association," was proposed by the president of the Central Council, Canon A. G. G. Thurlow, in his usual inimitable style, which will be well known to many members. He referred to the work of Jasper Snowdon and his brother, William, and the traditions which succeeding generations of officers had maintained. The Exercise owed much to Jasper Snowdon for his text books and, in particular, "Ropesight" was a lasting memorial to his name.

As is the custom, the toast was followed by a course of Grandsire Caters on handbells. rung by J. H. Fielden $1-2, \mathbf{M}$. J. Thurmott 3-4, W. F. Moreton 5-6, W. Barton 7-8, F. A. Munday 9-10.

Mr. Maurice J. Thurmott, who proposed the toast of "The Guests and Visitors," welcomed the Provost and Canon Thurlow, together with the visitors, and said how pleased the members were to have them at the dinner. This was the 36th Snowdon Dinner, which throughout the years had been held in eight different counties and this was the fourth occasion at which the president of the Central Council had been the principal guest.
Before the reply, the handbells were again brought into use and three courses of Grandsire Surprise-or was it Spliced Grandsire. Grandsire and Grandsire!-was rung to the amusement of the company.
The Rev. Frazer Williams, curate at St. James', Bradford (Bolton), replied to Mr. Thurmott's toast, thanked him for his welcome and said how much he had enjoyed the evening. He referred to the bells as the messengers of the Church and concluded appropriately by quoting from John Betjeman's Poems in the Porch: "Those Blasted Bells."
The formal proceedings were over, but two hours later small groups of ringers and their friends were still to be seen in the hotel and. as is usually the case, talking shop. It was generally agreed that the dinner had been a most happy and successful occasion.
During the day the bells at ten churches in the district had been available for ringing. the final tower before the dinner being Bradford Cathedral, where the excellent ten were put to good use.

MIDIDEWICH

ON Saturday, September 28th, eight ringers from Nottinghamshire set out to spend one week on a narrow boat on the canals and inland waterways of England and Wales.

The party was made up as follows: Iris (Warsop), Jane (Laxton), Linda (Worksop). Thelma (Kirkby-in-Ashfield), Brian (Sutton-cum-Lound), David and John (Laxton) and "Nobby" John (Retford).
On arrival at the British Waterways Board Middlewich Depot-no boat! It had been abandoned the previous night about two miles up the cut and the staff were unable to locate and retrieve it until after we arrived. Despite a very delayed start we were able to make up for lost time and spent Saturday night moored at Barbridge Junction.

On Sunday afternoon we arrived at Whitchurch, where "Nobby" John, dressed in a pakamac (ballerina-length), Wellingtons and shorts, inquired of a cleric walking along the towpath with his wife, daughter and dog, "Are you the Vicar of Whitchurch? What time is the service, and could we please ring on your bells?" We are not quite sure whether he was relieved or not that we were not " of his flock," as he was the Methodist minister.

After something which, to the girls, resembled a route march we arrived at St. Alkmund's. Whitchurch, in time to hear the bells being lowered, but the local ringers very kindly gave their permission for us to ring after the service. After ringing we retired to the Vic, where we were joined by local nonringing friends, who kindly took us back to the boat.

On Monday afternoon. Linda, a ringer from Retford, and Helen, her friend, who are studying to become physiotherapists, joined us at Newmarton Locks and remained with us until Tuesday morning. We arrived at Llangollen that evening and by the time we had all washed and changed the bells were ringing. The local ringers made us most welcome and concluded the practice by inviting "the visitors" to lower the bells in peal.
On Tuesday evening we travelled by more conventional means and Brian astonished the bus conductor by asking for "Eight to Ruabon. please "-the ticket would have made a good streamer for any party! Unfortunately.

NARROW BDAT

we were too late to take part in the normal ringing but the captain allowed us to ring afterwards. On the return journey we were classed at "Nutcases"-Brian was practising his Welsh and others were ringing Plain Bob thumbs on knees, so this was not really surprising. Apologies to the Llangollen lady ringer who happened to be travelling on the bus.

On Wednesday afternoon we arrived at Trevor and moored near the Pontcysyllte Aqueduct, which was first opened to traffic in 1805. Shortly after our arrival we were taken on a conducted tour of the Aqueduct by an elderly gentleman who informed us that his great-grandfather had worked on its construction for wages of a penny an hour.

On Thursday we moored at Whitchurch and on Friday arrived back at the base in Middlewich. Fortunately no one had a ducking during the holiday, although John wet his shoes and Iris received a prize set of bruises.
Very grateful thanks are expressed to all clergy who kindly let us ring their bells and to the local ringers for making us so welcome. We will reciprocate given the opportunity.

Church of St. Nicolas of Myra, Brighton

By A. VICTOR SHEPPARD

$I^{N}$N the absence of any vestry minutes prior to 1790 we are at a loss for knowledge of our earliest bells. Although the historian Erredge records that Joshua Kipling recast the great bell, at parish expense, in 1736, we do not know how many bells there were in the tower at that time. When Thomas Rudhall cast a ring of eight for us in 1777 it is very likely that he used the inetal of the earlier bells. These were the years when Charles Rudhall, brother of the founder, was in business in Brighton as an ironmonger and brazier; doubtless he was also acting as the foundry's agent in Sussex and soon he was to become a churchwarden of St. Nicolas'. So it is not surprising that some later writers were confused into thinking that these bells were cast by Rudhall in Brighton.

They were of course the first ring in the town, owing their existence not only to the booming prosperity of the fashionable holiday resort, but also to the spread of ringing knowledge and the presence of able practitioners. The first peal, rung on the last day of 1777, was Grandsire Triples, and the fourth, a couple of years later, was a notable 11,088 of Bob Major; the peal board for which is now wour most prized possession. These first four peals were, in fact, all rung by the Cumberland Youths.

VESTRIES IN PUBS

Writing from "The New Ship Inn" in 1790. Churchwarden Rudhall resolved "that Mr. Palmer do repair the treble," and it is through this custom of holding vestry meetings at a different pub each month that we have learned the names of no less than fortysix of the taverns in late eighteenth century Brighton. One of these, The Hen and Chickens, was owned by John Pocock in 1797. He was a bellringer and for forty years parish clerk, so understandably his upper room came to be the headquarters of the Brighton Society of Change Ringers. The walls were hung with peal boards brought down from the belfry and added to over the years. On one of them. dated 1816, one man is simply named "Gentleman Volunteer": he was in fact a wellknown Quaker who did not like his name to appear publicly in this connection. This man, Edward Martin, a tailor, was passionately fond of ringing and regularly attended practice with his workman Jones. On these evenings, as soon as the worthy Quaker heard the first bell, he would call up to the workshop, "The child's a crying. Jones," and master and man at once set off for the belfry. The Hen and Chickens, no longer a pub, still stands in King Street.

In 1815 the troublesome treble was recast at Whitechapel and three years later the churchwardens note "the present ringers have two bells in their possession purchased at sixpence halfpenny per pound, which they now offer at cost price ... resolved to recast and rehang them at the expense of the parish." Thus through the efforts of its own ringers St. Nicolas' became the first ten bell tower in Sussex and later that year (1819) rang the first peal on them (Grandsire Caters).

No account of Brighton can neglect the story of the Prince Regent and the exotic home he built in the Royal Pavilion. His eventual accession to the throne in 1820. and his coronation as King George IV in 1821, were both marked by peals in the parish church. However, the addition of those two trebles by T. Mears had not been a happy splice, only two peals had been rung on them, and with the opening of St. Peter's in 1828 they were removed thither to chime the clock quarters. From 1833 a silence of fifty years descended on the old mediaeval church.

The great restoration of 1853 did not extend as far as the bells although the blocked up tower arch into the nave was re-opened. This gave the congregation an excellent view of the ringing chamber on the ground floor and was probably intentionally done in the movement towards belfry reform. For two or three decades after the rebuilding new St. Nicolas' must have been a strangely modern, austere and quiet church for the parishioners; not only were no peals being rung, but due to the architects' mistake there was no space for an organ for twenty years. It was during this quiescent period that Tyssen published "The Church Bells of Sussex," 1864, in which the eight bells are noted as: Treble, T. Mears, 1815: 2, Fear God honour the King, 1777; 3, Peace and good neighbourhood, 1777: 4 and 5, Thos. Rudhall, Gloucester, 1777; 6. 1777; 7, Recast T. Mears, 1812; tenor, 1 to church the living call and to the grave do summon all, 1777 .

NEW GENERATION OF RINGERS

Brighton was now growing fast; in 1873 St. Peter's became the parish church, albeit without bells, and St. Nicolas' was designated the mother church of the town. The foundation of the Sussex. Association in 1875. by a new generation of ringers, brought a great enthusiasm for peal ringing that broke the half century of silence. It had taken 120 years to reach 50 peals; the next 50 took but 13 years. The enthusiasm of these determined and loyal Victorians was such that they greeted Her Majesty's golden jubilee in 1887 with a peal at 4.37 a.m.! An important result of all this activity was the resolve to reaugment the old eight once more into a 10.
In 1892. with the Shelley legacy, two trebles were added from Whitechapel. and later that year was rung the first peal of Stedman Caters in Sussex, followed three years later by Kent Royal. another first. By now Dauble Norwich was in the repertoire and before the end of the century Cambridge, London and Superlative were being pealed. As may be expected with ringing of this standard. some renowned names were making their debut in the peal book: Frank Bennett. Keith Hart, George Williams and Harry Stalham to mention but a few.
By the end of the first world war it was obvious that the old bells were no longer pleasant to the ear. Not one was in tune. and all were out of tune with each other. The seventh was heavier than the eighth; all were encrusted with the sea atmosphere and much worn with the 119 peals rung on them. The wooden frame was judged beyond repair and the belfry walls and roof needed attention.

BIG RESTORATIONS

It says a great deal for the spirit of the parish and the ringers, in those lean years of 1921-22, that they resolved to go the whole hog with a decision to recast all ten and hang them in an iron frame on ball bearings, at the same time constructing a louvred lantern in the tower roof. At this stage two men, Henry Wagner and Somers Clarke, who had long family connections with St. Nicolas', offered to contribute half the cost of the work which had been estimated at $£ 1,050$. And so the order went out to Gillett and Johnston, who cast and installed a ring of ten Simpson tuned bells with an 18 cwt . tenor in E . It was with some sense of occasion that the first peal was arranged, like the first peal on the old eight back in 1777, for the last night of the year and this time Stedman Caters ushered in the new year on splendid new bells; it was 1923.

To-day. December 6th, the mother church of Brighton celebrates the festival of St. Nicolas of Myra, patron of Seamen and of Children. The old church still sits snugly on the hill, encompassed now by the fishing village that raised up these walls six centuries ago. The ancient tower, no longer a landmark and lighthouse for sailors, still looks out to the unchanging sea witnessing in its bells, and the service of its ringers. the enduring faith of the Church of God on earth.

CHESTER GUILD'S HANDBELL DAY

Members of the Chester Diocesan Guild interested in handbell ringing met at Marple on November 16th. Sixteen ringers from four Branches took part in the peals.

Two attempts for Plain Bob Maximus were scheduled for 9 a.m., one at the belfry and the other at Ashwood Crescent. Both got off to a prompt start and both were successful. Lunch of fish and chips followed. and there was time to relax a little at either Ashwood Crescent or Ridge Crescent.
Ringers were then transported to the three centres arranged for the afternoon attempts. All three attempts were under way shortly after 2 p.m. but the attempt of Plain Bob Royal at Ashwood Crescent came to grief after 11 hours ${ }^{\circ}$ good ringing. The other attempts, Plain Boh Major and Kent Treble Bob Major, were both completed in the same time of 2 hours and 20 minutes.
Tea for members of the three bands was provided by Valerie Groves and May Smith hefore the early evening attempts took place. Three peals-Plain Bob Major. Kent Treble Bob Major and Roval-were successful. giving a total of seven peals from eight attemnis in the day.
At $8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. ringers' wives and friends made for the Ring o' Bells. where a room had been reserved. together with an adequate supply of sandwiches and drinks. So ended an enjoyable but tiring day of handbell ringing which may turn out to be the forerunner of others.

COMPETITIONS WITH DEVON ASSOCIATION

By EDGAR J. COLE,Hon. Secretary, Devon Association of Bell Ringers

THHE comment by D. A. R. May in the issue of July 12th made interesting reading and I would be grateful for a little space to add the method of judging employed by our Association, many of whose hours of relaxation are taken up with competitive callchange ringing.
In the first place, a peal of eight bells has so be rung for at least 20 minutes, and one of six bells has to be rung for at least 15 minutes, including the rise and fall. To encourage novice ringers, the same eight-, and six-bell peals or "sequence of changes" are used in all competitions, and are most commonly used as soon as learners are competent enough to ring in a team, so that they become conversant with the competition peal at an early stage in their training.
As to the judging itself, during the rise and fall of a peal one fault is given to each bell striking in its incorrect position, e.g. the Second speaking after the Third in round ringing would warrant ome fault. If, in the same round, the Fourth was speaking after the Fifth, then the marking would be two faults per round. This is also the basis used for the remainder of the peal for bells striking out of order Should any bell miss striking one roundome fault is given.
Should one bell strike another to almost coincide-one fault is given.
Should the cycle of any round be "out of rhythm"-one-quarter fault per bell is given.
At the end of the lowering of a peal, any part of an uncompleted round would receive one fault for each bell striking or failing to strike, whichever is the least:
e.g.: In a peal of Six bells, if four bells speak in order-iwo faults. In a peal of Eight bells-
if Five bells speak in order-give three faults;
if Six bells speak in order-give two fauls:
if Seven bells speak in order-give one fault.
Obviously, faults are accumulated rather faster in the rise and fall of a peal, where a considerable amount of skill is required to keep the bells in correct order. and where most errors have to be penalised with a full faut, but once the rise is completed many teams only gather one-quarter taults at a time, and then often only in occasional rounds.
The team with the least number of faults is the winner of the competition, and therefore the captain has to keep one eye on the clock and endeavour to complete his fifteen or twenty minutes' ringing as near as possible but not under the stipulated time, as it will be appreciated that too much "excess" ringing only results in additional faults

Many Saturday afternoons from April to October are occupied with ringing competitions throughout Devon-page 543 of the above edition of "The Ringing World" had a very good diary of the July festivals by J. G. M. S.-not everyone has the chance to take part in the ringing, but all can and do enjoy some of the finest music possible to come from our towers, especially when the more experienced teams are " on the end of the ropes." At the same time, quite a few of "would-be" judges amongst the listening audience indulge in marking a peal to see if they are as good as the experts!

What of the prizes ! For the winning team, the glory of having its tower's name engraved on a shield or cup and holding it in sate keeping for twelve months, and for the first six or eight teams a certificate, numbered in order of merit, to decorate the home belfry.

ANDOVER DISTRICT COMPETES FOR TWO CUPS

FOR the eighth consecutive year the Andover District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild held its annual striking contest on November 16 th , when the teams competed for two challenge cups.

A change of venue is a good thing and this year it was held on the light six at St. Thomas Woolton Hill. this being the fifth change of tower since the cup was handed over to the District in 1960 to be competed for by local Sunday service bands, who must be members of the Guild.
The judge, Mr. R. W. Rex, a well-known ringer and a past Ringing Master of the District, was positioned in Mr. Green's pantechnicon parked outside the church, with an oilstove to keep him warm. Ringing commenced at 2.30 under the watchful eye of Mr. G. Bevis, belfry marshal, whilst Mr. E. Dance shepherded the teams into place after they had drawn numbers for position in ringing.

Five of the teams were competing for the Andover Challenge Cup. for rounds ringers only, and these teams rang in the following order-Kingsclere B. Woolton Hill B, Upper Clatford, Highclere B and Woolton Hill A.

The other five teams followed, ringing changes, and competing for the Malcolm Aird Challenge Cup. These were Andover, Burghclere, St. Mary Bourne, Kingsclere A and Highclere A.
A good standard of striking was maintained by all the bands. A service followed immediately after the ringing, and then to tea and the eagerly-awaited verdict.

Mr. Rex was introduced by the chairman. Mr. G. Dodd, and he summed up each team in the order in which they rang, giving the individual faults and dealing with the rounds ringers first.

Some of these had had very little experience on bells other than their own and in mast cases were very young, but all agreed they had done well. the Woolton Hill B team consisting entirely of ladies. The results were: Upper Clatford 23 faults, Woolton Hill B 28. Kingsclere B 55, Woolton Hill A 65, Highclere B 88.

After the cheering for the winning team had subsided, the judge summed up the change ringing bands, the results being: Highclere A
$8 \frac{1}{2}$ faults, Kingsclere A 14, Andover 15, Burghclere 19, St. Mary Bourne 40 ,

This seemed a popular win and the chairman then presented the Andover Challenge Cup to Mr. Pickford, captain of Upper Clatford, congratulating him on his band's progress, the bells having been dedicuted only a year ago.
As he was also captain of the Highclere team. Mr. Murduck, leader of the runners-up. presented the Aird Challenge Cup to Highclere, saying that the positions were now reversed, as a few weeks back, at Fordingbridge, Kingsclere had beaten Highclere for the Guild Challenge Cup by three points, there having been close rivalry between the two teams for the last few years.
Mr. Dodd, replying, said all his team were thrilled again to win the trophy after being a close second so many times.
A further adjournment was made to the beliry until 8.30 , where ringing up to London Minor was enjoyed.
A surcessful day and again a good number of entrants was the general opinion. We look forward to the competition next year.

MEDICAL GUILD ELECT FIRST AUSTRALIAN MEMBER

THF fourteenth annual meeting of the Guild took place in London on November 16 th . Ringing was due to begin on the ten at All Saints", West Ham, at 2 p.m., but it was not really until 2.30 that a full company of members had assembled to put a stop to the expedient of Minor with the tenor covering. Between 3.30 and 4.30 we did our best ringing on the ten at St. Dunstan's, Stepney, which were a real cause for satisfaction. Both Bob Royal and Stedman Caters were well struck on the excellent bells. Our last call once agsin was at Cripplegate, where a paucity of ringers really accustomed to ringing on 12 caused a lowering of performance standards.

Dinner, as usual, was taken at the George, In the Borough, and was, as usual, excellent. The company was rather smaller than in recent years but this did not prevent several touches " in hand," after dinner and the business meeting.

The annual general meeting began at approximately 930 p.m. with the president, Mr.
J. B. Williamson, in the chair. After th minutes of the 1967 annual general meeting had been read and approved, the secretary read a letter from the secretary of the Central Council in reply to a point about broadcasting raised in the minutes.

The secretary's report on the year was adopted with the addition of a vote of thanks to the president. moved by D. J. Neal Smith. for arranging the May meeting in the Isle of Wight.

The three officers were then re-elected unopposed, viz.: Mresident, J. B. Williamson: Master, P. A. F. Chalk; secretary/treusurer, D. L. Gullick

An unprecedented number of associate members were then elecled, having been duly proposed and seconded-Jonathan Hollis, Pamela Gough. Marilyn Chambers, Lois Bown and Robert Gillies. Of these, Jonathun Hollis will be by far the youngest active member, and Miss Gough was especially welcomed as the Guild's first native Australian member.

For the future it was decided to accept the invitation of Lewis Castleden to hold the May meeting of next year in his territory. Essex. and tentative plans were made for the next annual general meeting in London-the third Saturdays in May and November, 1969, respectively. The secretary also undertook to canvass a peal attempt early in 1969.
The proceedings closed with expressions of thanks to the officers and to the honorary members, and the incumbents for the exceltent meeting arrangements.

Peal Ringing in Queen Victoria's Reign

SYMONDS, George E., of Ipswich. - " ${ }^{1}$ might say I was a ringer at Queen Victoria's first jubilee, in 1887, making me a bellringer of over 80 years. Last century I rang 27 peals and conducted 15, not including Holt's Original (silent) on June 4th, 1898, at St. John's, Waterloo Road, S.E. I conducted six peals "First in method.'
${ }^{*}$ On Bank Holiday, August 1st, 1898, after calling a peal at Christ Church, Epsom, 1 walked across the Downs and conducted Bob Major at Ashtead, in eight hours. I am very thankful that I can look back on these performances of so long ago; they are not all my own doing, others arranged some and asked me to call the peals.
"The peal of Bob Major 1 achieved at Vassal Road, S.E., was the first to be rung on the then new maiden ring of eight bells by Mears and Stainbank, who fitted handbells in the ringing chamber operated by the headstock. Here the Waterloo Society practised Superlative Surprise Major silently. Unfortunately the whole was destroyed by enemy action.
P.S.-Does last century finish at the end of 1900? At this time my total was 31 (conducted 18 ).

Note.-We asked for peals rung in Queen Victoria's reign, so Mr. Symonds' total would be 31. What a magnticent record!-Ed.

STANFURD, William, of Slinfold, Sussex, has just celebrated the 65th anniversary of his wedding. "Barge " Stanford, as he is widely known, rang his first peal at Warnham (Union Triples) on Christmas Day, 1895. He has rung 115 peals, nearly all for the Sussex County Association, but is no longer able to ring.

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION MEET IN THE CITY

WITH the exception of the tower and walls, the Church of St. Lawrence Jewry in Gresham Street, City, was destroyed by enemy action in December, 1940, but a beautiful new church, completed in 1957, has risen from the ashes, the only change being that it is no longer a parish, but a Guild church, ministering to the working week-day population of the City, and is the official church of the City Corporation.
An attendance of just over 50 enjoyed an afternoon's ringing on this City "eight" on November 16th, visitors being welcomed from Bexhill, Northampton, Luton and Beaconsfield.
The diary of Samuel Pepys for February 12th, 1664, refers to an item up and to church at St. Lawrence Jewry " and mentions that the singing was "most excellent." If be had been present at the service conducted by the Rev. C. S. Day, chaplain to the Central Middlesex and Neasden Hospitals, he would be of the same opinion. Mr. Douglas Birkinshaw accompanied at the organ.
After tea in the Guildhall staff luncheon room a short business meeting was presided over by Mr. H. G. Hart, who gave a special welcome to Mr. J. Frank Smallwood. A tribute was paid to Mr. D. C. Birkinshaw, who is shortly leaving London to take up residence in Sussex, for the sterling work he has put in for over 20 years to ensure continuity of Sunday service ringing, and as an instructor. at St. Augustine's, Kilburn. A member since 1947. Douglas leaves with the best wishes of the district for a long and happy retirement.
Diaries out, please I It was announced that the Association's fourth triennial dinner would be held on October 25th, 1969.
Thanks were accorded to the Rev. J. F. D. Trimingham, Vicar of St. Lawrence Jewry, the Rev. C. S. Day, the Rev. C. G. How, Rector of St. Vedast's. Foster Lane, and to Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Smith, Mrs. E. H. Kilby and other helpers for providing lea E.H.K.

SHEPHERD, William.-" My first peal was on August 7th, 1900, at Exmouth. Devon, my second on August 11th, 1900, my third on October 25th, 1900, and my fourth on November, 1900, the last three at Heavitree, Devon. On January 12 th, 1901, I rang my first peal in London, at Walworth, and my sixth peal was on January 25th, 1901, a muffied peal on the same bellis for the passing of Queen Victoria. Prior to my first peal two unrecorded quarter peals (one a 1,900 -odd) but my test length of 2,520 Grandsire Triples was rung without a bad blow. In 1897, diamond jubilee year, Exeter had six rings of bells available for ringing, , but change ringers were few in number."
miles, Harry, of Carbis Bay, Cornwall, writes "I rang three peals in Queen Victoria's reign. all in Oxfordshire. The first one was noteworthy for the fact that the peal (Stedman Triples) was the first peal of Stedman for all the band except the conductor (the Rev. F. E. Robinson) and four of the ringers were teenagers, most unusual in those days. I also have read "The Ringing World "since the first number and "The Bell News " for the previous 15 or 16 years."

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

The Towcester Branch held its annual dinner on November 9th in Towcester Racecourse Pavilion, by kind permission of the Racecourse Committee. Sixty-four members sat down to a first-class meal, those present including the Branch president (Rev. G. Hales), the Guild oresident (Rev. E. G. Orland) and his wife. also clergy from Branch towers.
A most enjoyable entertainment followed the dinner, presented by Mr. Vie Russell with his humorous songs and ukelele. Mr. Chris Clarke and his friends from Deddington with their handbells, and Mr. Cyden with his coloured slides showing places of local interest.
Our thanks are extended to these people, also the caterers and the Branch entertainment committee, for a most enjoyable evening.

OBITUARY  MR. LEONARD SMITH An Appreciation

I would like to express sorrow on learning of the death at the age of 67 of Mr. Leonard Smith, head verger at Lichfield Cathedral, Staffordshire, who for 23 years was captain of the ringers at the Church of St. Michael in that city.
In the past I admired his person and example. Not only was he a zealous and faithful ringer, but a quiet, modest and somewhat uncommon pattern of broad Christian service. Ringing was only one department of his usefulness. To mention only two, he for long sang in the choir and also gave over 30 years to altar serving. He also aspired to become second verger at this Cathedral, was encouraged this way, but, even so, was rather surprised to get the post

When the head verger resigned Mr. Smith was picked as his successor. 1 believe it has been said he lived for the Cathedral in his latter years and would ". . have taken it home with him in the evenings if he could have." Earlier, he for many years was a very busy bread roundsman-a roundsman with a difference, which was his marked devotion and loyalty to church life, and (especially) his view of church work as a thing of many compartments, as shown by the way he successfully and selflessly spread his Christian love and effort during his life sooner than centre it in any one direction. He was a man hard of replacement. - Evelyn Mason (Mrs.).

MR. A. J. PETERS

With deep regret we record the death of Mr. Alfred J. Peters, of Barking. Suffolk, whu passed peacefully away at his home on November 8th in his 74 th year.

He range his first peal at Barking in 1922 but was unable to stand in many peals owing to abdominal wounds. sustained in the 1914-18 war, which greatly curtailed his ringing activities. Nevertheless he was instrumental in raising a hand at Barking and kept the bells going for several years.

The funeral service was at Barking on November 14 th , and a half-muffled quarter peal of Kent T.B. Minor was rung in the evening by local ringers.-R.I.P. H.D.F.

EWELL RINGERS VISIT FORMER PARSON

The Ewell ringers were augmented from neighbouring towers on their 22nd annual outing under the same management: they called at five churches in Essex and Suffolk and rang at four of them.
The chief objective this year was Leiston (tenor $20 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.), which was reached in the afternoon, where the Vicar, the Rev. D. 11. Bryant, and his wife, who left tiwell last year. greeted their friends. After an hour's ringing. IVensong was sung attended by the 80 people in the party, for the Ewell outing has over the years developed into a parish affair, and everybody knows about it. This is not a bad thing, for there is quite a feeling for tradition at Ewell and the bells are part of this tradition.
Leiston Church is not very old. being mostly rebuilt in 1854, but it has a 13 th century font and other interesting features. A sumptuous tea had been prepared by the ladies of Leiston and was enjoyed in the Church Hall.
Earlier in the day ringing had taken place at Great Baddow, Essex (featured some time ago on the front page of "The Ringing World "), where Mr. Ainger welcomed the ringers, and at St. Margaret's. Ipswich. Arrangements for ringing at Uford had to be cancelled owing to long-due building work on the tower, but a short time was spent looking over the church, which dates from the 14 th century, and is richly decorated. Old stocks stand at the churchyard gate : there is an hourglass on the pulpit; the bench-ends were carved in the 15 th century and the font cover is 18 feet tall, its pinnacles elaborately carved sou years ago.
Back in Essex the invasion of quiet Boreham was left until dark. Once the village church had been found the bells were soon sel going. while down below all was harmony and light the organ was being played in the church ready decorated for Harvest Festival on the morrow.
The ringing at all towers was under the direction of Mr. Peter Munday and included. appropriately enough. Ipswich Surprise, while the last touch of Spliced Surprise Major (five nethods), at Boreham. was possibly the best of the day. Thanks are due to all who helped in the arrangements and particularly to Mr. Bilt Slocombe, whose driving skill and enthusiasm as a ringer are a tremendous asset; he postponed his holiday in Ireland to drive the leading coach.

DIFFICLLT INCUMBENTS

Dear Sir,-As another Guild officer of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, 1 can sympathise with Mr. C. Bassett, secretary of the Alton and Peterstield District of that Guild.

Mr. Uphill asks: "Is this the generat attltude of the Guild?" Mr. Bassett, in his District, seems to have had more than his fair share of difficult incumbents. For many years one of his District towers was not available for any ringing and I, as an outsider, was granted permission on a "be it on your own head " basis. Fortunately 1 was wise enough to invite members of the District. and now regular yuarter peals are recorded there.

Another case was at Chawion, where persistent efforts by Mr. Bassett finally reopened the tower. Here the Bishop was an interested party, but happily, through Mr. Bassett's efforts, he did not have to intervene.

However, Mr. Bassett's latest incumbent is even more difficult. The Rev. Mr. Ellis (priest-in-charge at Privett) is completely unyielding and on his own admission has no intention of allowing the eight bells there to be rung, although he agrees there is nothing wrong with the bells. His reason: "The church is closed and no services will be held there in the future. I intend to go on with my policy of refusing everybody. Thank you for your interest."

Can the Bishop interevene when the church is closed? Perhaps one of our ringing clergy can give advice. I know Mr. Bassett will be pleased to accept advice and am sure the two Notices in "The Ringing World" under his name regarding Privett-and the later one on West Meon and Warnford-were not his own views but done at the express wish of the incumbents of these towers.
So Mr. Uphill, you may rest assured you are welcome in our territory. I myself have arranged ringing at many towers at a minute's notice for visiting ringers. As chairman of the Andover District and, I am sure, with the backing of my District, 1 can say that we have very friendly relations with all our clergy and tower captains and there is not a tower in the District that would not give a uelcome at very short notice.
I hope that 1 am expressing the sentiments of the Guild as a whole when I make this statement-Yours sincerely, Highclere, Hants.

DOLBLES: PLEA FOR STATLS QLO

Dear Sir, - Regarding the Doubles controversy. I have been wanting to write on this for some time, but I still feel that a gradual return to status quo without any fuss is the best way out.

It has certainly done us a disservice and a drop in peals of Doubles round this area, and with that a general reduction in interest. One sometimes wonders whether the genuime Doubles ringer is still ringing peals and not bothering to publish them, or whether he is too bewildered to know what to do. Once you start publishing Doubles methods in place notation then you move out of the sphere of the genuine Doubles ringer. I should know: see peal totals of previous years for leading Doubles ringers. - Yours sincerely,
W. L. EXTON,

Sec., Southweil Diocesan Guild.

SEEKING MORE VARIED OUARTER

 PEALSDear $\mathrm{Si},-A s$ a mere six-, eight- and ten-bell ringer I enter the multi-Doubles field with trepidation. "I. R." in his letter (page 908) talks about a Reverse Canterbury bob as distinct from a Plain Bob bob. What is the ditference? If a Reverse Canterbury bob is called at the end of a course of Reverse Canterbury Plain Bob Doubles the course-end 14235 comes up. If a Plain Bob bob is called at the end of a course of Plain Bob Doubles the course-end 14235 comes up. Fourths place is made as the treble leads. The only difference is in the change previous to the treble's first lead: Reverse Canterbury: 21435; Plain Bob: 21345. The frrst change after the treble's lead is different also-Reverse Canierbury: 41325; Plain Bob: 41235. This, in "I, R's" eyes, is presumably the difference between the two bobs.
Surely, though, the bob is the 4 ths place instead of 2nds as the treble leads, in which case there is no real difference at all. The 3rds and 4 ths place before and after the treble leads in Reverse Canterbury are part of the method, not part of the bob. Therefore it seems to me that "I. R." cannot talk about calling a Reverse Canterbuy bob instead of a Plain Bob bob to make another variation. I grant him that the bob in Reverse Canterbury seems different from that in Plain Bob- the bell making 4ths goes out in Reverse Canterbury afterwards, and in in Plain Bob, but this happens in London Surprise also and no one would suggest that there is a fundamental difference between a London Surprise bob and a Cambridge Surprise bob. I submit that the "multi-Doubles whiz-kids" ", attempt to glamorise petty differences.-Yours sincerely.

LONG SUTTON OUTING

Dear Sir, - The report relating to the above appears to have got out of course between leaving my typewriter and publication in "The Ringing World.'
As several cars were used for the outing it was " one "car which broke down and not "the" car as published. Also the fact that the Churches of Holy Trinity and SS. Philip and James are situated in Ilfracombe was omitted.-Yours sincerely,
E. T. PAUL FIELD.

VICTORIAN RINGERS

Dear Sir,-What a splendid article was that by J. H. Lenton in "The Ringing World " of November 8th-"Victorian Ringers at St. Giles", Pontefract." Its crisp simplicity and clarity of style and its carefully judged length compelled reading. Any more, Mr. Lenton?-Yours faithfully,
W. H. JACKSON.

KING CHARLES SURPRISE MINOR

Dear Sir,-Re the attempted peal of King Charles Surprise Minor at Holy Trinity Church. Wonston. Hants (page 710, September 13th), as G. K. D. has neither confirmed nor denied the report being true (which is contrary to the Rector's or local account), are we to take all his reports to "The Ringing World" with a pinch of salt?-Yours faithfully.

METRIC SYSTEM AND RINGING

Dear Sir.-In the issue of November 22nd there appears a most misleading item of Belfry Gossip under the above heading. 1 Hould be grateful for an opportunity to set the record straight.

On October 18th this year 1 called a peal of Cambridge Minor at Harston. When I submitted this peal for publication I gave the weight of the tenor in kg . You, sir, decided-. quite justifiably within your editorial pre-rogative-that this was unacceptable, and printed the peal with the tenor weight in the traditional style. Unfortunately you misread your "Dove" and got it wrong; but this could happen to anyone.

When submitting this peal I had hoped you would be sufficiently progressive to allow of the tenor weight appearing in kg : I was disappointed when I saw that you had edited my copy but naturally accepted your decisionafter all, you are the Editor.

You will recall that no correspondence, apart from the peal copy, passed between us on this matter, in either direction; that the peal was rung for the Ely Diocesan Association, not the Cambridge University Guild; and that I submitted it on my own headed notepaper.

It may be of interest to those who are not already aware of the facts to know that the country has embarked on a comprehensive programme of metrication, to apply to all walks of life. Decimal currency is already partly with us; and the building industry, the first complete industry scheduled to make the change, is already beginning to use metric (or more precisely, Systeme Internationale) units -- Yours faithfully,
B. D. THRELFALL.

TENORS IN METRIC WEIGHTS

Dear Sir,-I note with regret your refusal to publish the weights of tenor bells in the metric system, but would respectfully suggest that you could offer this paper for sale at five new pence.-Yours faithfully,

GORDON H. BALDAM

St. Luke's College, Exeter.

Note.-Alan F. Scholfield also wrote regretting that the copy was altered from metric to weights in current use. He points out that the Cambridge University Guild did not attempt to introduce metric units, although it came from a member of the Guild.-Ed.

PORTSMOUTH CATHEDRAL-PEALS

Dear Sir,-May 1, on behalf of our Cathedral Ringers' Guild, express sincere apprecia. tion of the kind comments made by visiting bands upon the tone and "go" of the ten bells and upon the furnishing appointments of the belfry, and the comfort and convenience of the ringing arrangements.

These conditions have been made possible by the kind co-operation of the Provist and the Cathedral Council, and by the "labour of love " participation of our Guild members.
The ensuing popularity of the tower, however, means, we regret to say, some measure of disappointment to intending visiting peal bands. since the "bookings" extend through next year (1969) and as far as and including the month of December.
It is hoped that this letter may help to avoid further disappointments arising from ineffectual applications within that period.Yours very truly, Southsea.

BELL ROPES

Delving into Early Issues of "THE BELL NEWS"

$\mathbf{S}^{\mathbf{U}}$
UCH was the demand for the first number of "The Bell News" that a second edition had to be printed 10 satisfy a clamouring Exercise. The paper was born in an auspicious moment. Change ringing, which appears to have been in the doldrums for over half a century, was beginning to stir again in many parts of the country; the territorial Associations were then being formed with the twin objects of belfry reform and encouragement of the art of ringing: the Essex Association, the Bristol and Gloucester Diocesan Association, the Yorkshire Association. the Lancashire Association and the Norwich Diocesan Association were all in their infancy whilst the Durham Diocesan Association and the Oxford Diocesan Association alone with others had just been born: and Jasper Snowdon had begun to publish his well-known books, which immediately became popular. "The Bell Neus " added to this resurgence by publishing reports of Guild meetings, peals, date touches and a column headed "Miscellaneous," which included anything down to and including plain courses of Grandsire Doubles.

Until April of the next year, the paper was issued monthly, and during that time the first 720 of Treble Bob by a band consisting entirely of clergymen was rung; the Cambridge University Guild of Change Ringers rang three six-scores of Bob Doubles, being the first performance on the tower bells by the society, unassisted." These young men have progressed since then. At Lavenham, a peal of Kent Treble Hob Major was rung in 3 hours and 30 minutes. ". It was upwards of twenty-eight years since a peal had been rung on those fine bells, and the performers were complimented by the inhabitants for the good striking and its accomplishment." What do fou think of that? The Holt Society rang a date touch of 1.881 changes, the longest touch by that Society, which had been formed 18 months before. The first peal on the bells, Stedman Cinques, was rung at St, Paul's. The Oxford Diocesan Guild rang its first peal, as also did the Winchester Diocesan Guild.
Mourning touches were rung for the Earl of Beaconstield, the Duchess of Westminster and President General Garfield. To keep political balance. a 720 was rung (not muffled) when Mr. Gladstone went to church

WHOLE PULL AND STAND

At Cheltenham "On . . the day of the funeral of the late Earl of Beaconslield, the local branch rang, as a mark of respect on the parish church bells, deeply muffled, a mourning touch of 504 Stedman Iriples, and afterwards rang out the age of the deceased nobleman. The ringing out of the age is a system not generally understood. It is, however, when well done, very effective and solemn in sound. The execution is by ringing all the bells round back stroke and hand stroke. then all the bells stand while the tenor strikes twice, counting the two strokes for one year. The touch wist conducted by J. Belcher." There would. I imagine (this is me, not the Cheltenham people) he some dirty looks if you failed to set your bell. At Cheltenham they have lots and lots of bells and were quite courteous to a poor Minor ringer who rang Plain Bob dodges to Grandsire Cinques. Only once have I heard the age rung out in this manner. It was at the funeral of the late John Worth, when, one assumes, the Chester Guild had put on one of their top bands, who gave John everything that they had. It was superb.

The Daresbury (Cheshire) band rang seven 720 's of Minor in seven methods, believed to be the first on their bells, and asked if the same had ever been rung before in Cheshire. Mr. Hardman, of Radcliffe, near Manchester, wrote: " In answer to the Daresbury ringers we do not know of any accomplishing a similar performance in Cheshire, but W. Walker, of Radcliffe. was one of six who rang 14 different 360 s . viz: Oxford, Violet, New London Pleasure. College Pleasure, Radcliffe's Delight, College Treble. Morning Star, Evening Star, Coventry, Currant-Roll, Jack Tar, Tulip. Royal Bob and College Bob. The same band could ring seven other six-bell methods. making twenty-one in all." Can anyone please, pleasc, supply the notation of Currant-Roll? Have the Radclifte ringers any ancient papyrii? Will they look through that old bunch of recipes that Grandma left behind?
The gentle reader will no doubr be agog to learn the result of the long peal attempt by the St. Martin's Company. Well, they got it. "The Bell News" gives the tidings a little more elegantly:-

A RINGERS' STORY

"On the End of a Rope"

By JOHN HOLLOWAY

GEORGE BURTON was hot, tired and "fed-up"! The day had been full of minor mishaps. His shoe lace had broken, he had got a piece of grit in his eye and a car had scattered tar grit over his new suit!

He would have gone straight on home, but he had left a parcel at the office which his wife had asked him to bring home-there would only be more trouble if he didn't take it!
He turned down a street of old Georglan houses, most of which were now used as offices, and entered one which had a brass plate on the door inscribed "Morton und Clarke-Solicitors."

He entered an office on the first floor and sat down thankfully at his desk. On the deok stood a calendar of the "tear-off "type, which had a slip for each day, and, under the date, a text. George glared at it And it seemed to glare back at himl "Friday, June 13th," it read.

George reached for it and was just going to tear the day's slip off when he remembered that someone had once told him that it was very unlucky to do this before the day had actually ended. Well, he didn't want any more bad luck today, so he put the calendar back in its place. As he did so, he read the text on the slip:
"And even things withour life, giving sound, except they give a distinctive sound, how shall their meaning be understood?" "There are many voices and none of them is without its significance!"
A sharp-ring on the telephone at his desk made him jump! He lifted the receiver, and a voice said: "Come into my office, George, 1 have been waiting to have a word with you."
It was the voice of Mr. Morton, the principal of the firm. "Very good," answered George, thinking "that voice has significance all right." He went across 10 Mr . Morton's privato office and tapped on the door.
"Come in," said Mr. Morton. "Sit down. Have a cigarette?" George accepted the cigarette and sat down, wondering what was coming.
"I hope, George, you will not mind doing a little job for the firm during the week-end? "
" Not at all, sir," replied George, but to himself he said "What a day !"
" Now, Gearge, I want some information about the late Mr. Sproson's will, and I want it for Monday morning. I have here a letter of introduction to the Rev. James Woodrow, the Rector of Roxton. Roxton is a small village about three miles from Dentworth, where you live. Take this letter to him and ask him to let you see the Registers of Births, Marriages and Deaths. I want you to verify certain dates. The Rector has agreed to help us, and I have made an appoinment for you to see him at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Here's the letter, and I hope that this arrangement will not upset any plans you may have mado for the week-end."
"Very good," said George, putting tho letter in his pockes. "Anything else, sir?"
"No, that's all, George. I'll see you on Monday as soon as you get here."
George returned to his own office, picked un the parcel for his wife and hurried to catch his train home. As the train passed Roxton he caught a glimpse of the village. It lay close to the line but had no station, the nearest being Dentworth. The village looked very pretty: he had never been there, so tomorrow's visit should be interesting,

The train rumbled over the bridge that spanned the river and drew into Dentworth Station. George soon covered the half-mile to his house and was pleased to seo his wife, Dorothy, and his small son, Jim, in the garden. He kissed his wife and had a short romp with Jim, then they went in to tea.
"Dorothy," he said, "I have to go over to Roxton tomorrow afternoon on the firm's business; I hope you won'l mind, dear." "No," replied Dorothy, "it will be all right; Mother is coming to rea, so Jim and 1 will have company; Shall, you be long at Roxton, George? ": "I don't know," said George, "I, have to see the Rector about some B.M.D. 's." "What on earth are B.M.D.'s?" asked Dorothy, " they sound awful." "B.M.D.'s," said George, "r are old and musty, dirty and dusty; they are the Registers of Births, Marriages and Deaths. I expect the Rector will be old, too, if noi dusty and dirty. What a way to spend a fine Saturday afternoon!"
On Saturday morning George found cime to mow his lawn, and after lunch he set out by bus for Roxton. The day was warm and sunny and he quite enjoyed the trip. It seemed no time at all before he reached his destination.
As he made his way to the Rectory he could hear the church hells ringing. "That's " distinctive sound," be thought to himself.
He pralked up a short drive to the front door and rang the bell. A very pleasant lady answered his ring. He introduced himself and started his business. "Oh, yes," the lady replied, "you have; an appointment with my husband-please come in."
She showed him into a very pleasant room and said: "Do make yourself comfortable, and smoke if you want to. You must excuse me for not stopping bue it is five minutes to three, and I have a meeting in the village at three o'clock. Goodbye, Mr. Burton, my husband will not keep you waiting, I'm sure."
George settled himself in a comfortable chair near the window and glanced round the room. It was tastefully furnished and the view from the window was very lovely. He could see the tower of the chureh, although the building itself was partly bidden by some fine old trees.
He gianced again around the room. There were only two pietures on the walls, ono was a devotional subject and the other was a good copy of a painting by Constable called "The Boat Builder." It depicted a barge in the course of construction, but only one man appeared to be working on it. George liked the colouring and the calm beauty of the picture.
He heard footsteps in the hall and rose to his feet as the door opened. The newcomer Was the gentleman he had come to see, for he wore a clerical collar, but he was dressed in a rather dirty pair of grey flannels and an old green pullover. The Rector (for it was the Rector in person) advanced into the room and held out his hand 10 George, smiled In a friendly way and said: "You are Mr. Burton from Morton and Clarke. I believe?
"Yes, sif," answered George, "here is a letter from Mr. Morton.'
"Excuse me, Mr. Burton, while 1 slance through it." sald the Rector. "Yes, yes. I think I can assist you in this matter. I am sorry to have kept you waiting, Mr. Burton, and I must also ask you to excuse my rather untidy attire. I have heen helping old Tom, our tower-keeper, to get everything ready for our annual bellringers' meeting this afternoon. We will go down to the church as soon as you like and get our business done."

As they walked to the church George said: "I did enjoy my short rest in your lovely room, and I particularly admired that picture of the boat."
"Ab, I like it, too," said the Rector. "You know, I sometimes think it could have been the very barge that brought our church bells here in 1742. They camo by barge from Gloucester and were landed at a wharf about two miles from here. Our six bells are the original castings, as the inscriptions on them show. Some churches have eight, ten or even twelve bells, but we must be content with our six. Anyhow, I doubt if we could find tweive ringers in this small community. By the way, do you ring, Mr. Burton?" "I'm afraid not, sir, said George, "in fact I haven't any idea of what church bellringing is like. I've heard them many a time, of course, but I have always thought that bellringers were big, brawny men who sweated as they pulled on thick ropes."
The Rector smiled. "* You have a lot to learn, Mr. Burton. Look. here come some of our visiting ringers." George saw, coming down the road, a group of about fifteen people. They were talking to each other in a very animated way. What surprised him was their diversity. Three schoolboys came first, and they were looking up at the church tower as if they would like to climb to the top!
Then followed four teenage girls, two in jeans and pullovers, one in cycling shorts and the other wearing a very smart, mini-skirt. Behind these youngsters came some older folk -both men and women- and, bringing up the rear, three elderly men, who looked to be about 60 to 70 years old. He found out lates that one was over 80 !
"There I You see, Mr. Burton, quito a mixed bag ! Ringers come from all walks of life, and a ringers' meeting reminds me of the Psaim which runs: Young men and maidens, old men and children, praise the name of the Lord.' "

When they reached the church the Rector took George into the vestry and, unlocking a safe, brought out the registers. Putting them on a table and drawing up a chair for George, he said: "I have marked the dates you require. Make any copies you may need." George thanked him and when he had finished his notes the Rector locked the registers In the safe again, and they both went outside into the churchyard.
"Hello, Tom ! " called the Rector to a tall, clean-shaven man who was walking towards the belfry door. "Come here and let me introduce you to Mr. Burton. Mr. Burton, this is Tom Sands, our tower-keeper. He will be pleased to tell you all about bells and bellringers." "Glad to meet you, sir," said Tom, shaking hands, "but call me Tom-everyone does, you know." "Thanks, Tom, I will." said George.

The Rector said: "If you will excuse me, I'll leave you two together while I get into more formal dress, I want to fix up the ringers' service and I must also go and see how our lady helpers are getting on with arrangements for tea. I hope, Mr. Burton, to see you at both."

Up in the ringing chamher Georse was fascinated by the way the bell ropes rose up and down. The coloured "sallies" (as the woollen grips on the ropes are called) were caught deftly by the ringers' hands, and then quickly released, to disappear through holes in the ceiling.
"What do you call a lot of ringers? " Georse asked Tom. He replied: "When they are ringing together like this they are ealled a band, but if they aro ringing badly" (and he winked at George) "they may be called other things I"
Someone called "Stand" and all the bells stopped ringlng.
"How do they do that, Tom?" asked George. "I always thought a bell went on swinging for a long time after one stopped pulling the rope." Tom showed him a sinall model of a church bell and explained how it was done. Presently Tom called out: "One more 'touch,' and then will you all please come into church for the service.'
They all went down the narrow, spiral, stone stairway and into the church. The Rector met them in the porch and said to George: "We shall have a proper ringers' service today, Mr. Burton. I have got a clergyman ringer to conduct the service, a policeman ringer to read the lesson, and Miss Warren, who is also a ringer, to play the organ.

George quite enjoyed the service. The policeman read the lesson clearly and with dignity, and Miss Warren proved to be a very capable organist. The short address was hased on a passage from an epistle to the Corinthians, which George recognised as the one he had read on his calendar yesterday.
After the service everybody went across to the Parish Hall, where they sat down to a substantial tea which had been given by an anonymous "well-wisher." George was delighted at the friendliness shown to him by everyone present, although, as he pointed out, he was not a ringer. "You must learn to ring." they said. "I think I will," said George.

After thanking the Rector and Tom for their hospitality, George went to get his bus home. Most of the younger ringers, too, went off home as well, but quite a number of the more experienced ringers returned to the tower to practise some of the more complicated methods of change ringing.
"Well. George." said his wife, when he reached home. "How did you get on at Roxton? Have you had any tea?" "Yes dear, I had a lovely tea." replied George, "and what I thought would be a horing afternoon turned out to be very enjoyable indeed," and he told her all about the meeting. Little Jim said: "Daddy, I want to go with you and ring a great big bell. Can I. please. Daddy?"
"So you shall, Jim lad, when you are a great big boy," said his father.
On Monday morning George went straight to Mr. Morton's office to report the result of his interview with the Rector of Roxton.
" Nice work, George," said Mr. Morton. " and thank you."
Then George told him about the bellringers' meeting and said how he had enjoyed it.
"It's funny you should mention that," said Mr. Morton, "I have never thought to tell you that I am a campanologist (that's a long name for a bellringer, you know). I am also a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, which was founded in 1637 . I must take you along to one of our meetings sometime. It would be niee to see you on the end of a rope!"

BELFRY GOSSIP

By taking part in the peal of Plain Bob Maximus at Christchurch Priory, Mr. Alan A. J. Buswell has now completed the Plain Bob family from Minimus to Maximus.

Eight members of the local band at Nettleham, Lincs, were confirmed on November 15th. A quarter peal of Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung for the service.
Cupid has been busy in Chipping Barnel, Herts, tower. A quarter pesl was rung on November 3rd to celebrate the engagemenis of four ringers.
There were seven "first of Royal" in a peal at Accrington on November 16th. It was hoped that this would be the first local peal on ten bells, as Royal is rung on most Sundays. This, however, was impractieable and a Blackburn Branch peal was rung.
The first quarter peal by the Barstable School Society of Change Ringers (Basildon, Essex)-the first length "in hand "for all the ringers-was rung on small bells from a child's musical toy fitted with makeshift clappers, the tenor heing only two inches in diameter.
After agap of 41 years a peal has been rung at Brinklow, Warwickshire, the second on the bells. It was Plain Bob Doubles, and Alan Bovd was calling his first neal. It was particularly meritorious as the remainder of the hand were all first-pealers. Congratulations to all concerned.

The redundant bells of St. Margaret's Church, Canterbury, have been rehoused at three separate churches, each one needing another bell for augmentation. We hope to publish the story next week.
November 19th was the centenary of the birth of Gabriel Lindoff at Leiston, Suftolk. In honour of the centenary a peal of 5,040 Plain Bob Major, one of his compositions, was rung that day on Leiston bells, conducted by J. Martin Thorley

Mr. G. Dodd writes: "My apologies to Northamptonshire ringers for incorrect information and congratulations on getting Everdon hells going. To Mr. Spraggett : You must have had supermen un there when you wrote "They are not too bad.'
Inspired by Mr. W. T. Cook's excellent article "Property of the College Youths." a corsespondent writes: "The two ringins cups are obviously historical. A-what is the oldeat ringing cup in existence? and B-what is the oldest ringing cup still being competed for annually: we know of the Aird Challenge Cup. which was frat compeled for in 1923.
Two good 12 -hell peals have just reached un, both rung on November 23rd: Londinium Surprice Maximus for the Ancient Society of College Youths at St. Michacl's, Cornhill (conducted by Wilfred Williams), and Stedman Cinques at Winchester Cathedral (conducted by Thoms H. Francis).

CUMBERLANDS HONOUR SHOREDITCH  VICAR

The marriage of the Vicar of St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, the Rev. Richard I. Thomson, to Miss Ann Shippam. took place at Holy Trinity Church. Bosham, Sussex, on Saturday, November 9th. With the kind agreement of the Vicar and ringers at Bosham the bells of this fine old church were rung before and after the service by members of the Society of, Royal Cumberland Youths, who are, of course. so closely associated with Shoreditch.

It had heen decided to attempt a peal at St. Mary's, Portied, hut a cat breakdown prevented the band meeting in sufficient time to complete the peal before the prescribed hour of the evening service. A quarter peal consisting of 1.376 Spliced Surprise Maior (London, Bristol. Cambridge and Superlative) was: however, rung at Portsea by M. Louise Slater 1, Jane Foster 2. Joan Beresford 3. P. M. Wilkinson 4. P Beresford 5, D. E. Sibson (conductor) 6, T. H. Francis 7. D. Beresford 8.

A peal of Stedman Cinques was rung at St. Leonard's. Shoreditch, on the following Saturday. November 16th, It was fitting that this should have been the first peal on the bells since their restoration. towards which Mr. Thomson has displayed great enthusiasm and given every encouragement.

HAIF-CENTURY IN SOMERSET TOWER  Not even a broken stay could deter the enthusiasm with which some of his fellow ringers rang a quarter peal of Grandsire and Bob Doubles, after Evensong on November 17th. to congratulate Mr. Percy Eades. who has heen a ringer at St. Mary the Virgin's Church. Charlion Mackrell. for 50 years. Mr. Fades has seen many ringers come and go at Charlton and has always heen a tower of strength to the many "strugglers " who have learned to ring there.After the quarter real a number of his ringing friends together with churchwardens enjoyed a very pleasart evening at the Rectory, hy kind invitation of the Rev. and Mrs. Rex, where Mr. Fades was presented with a scroll, and cut an iced cake to mark the occasion.

In his sneech of thanks Mr. Eades said he had always hoped to fulfil two ambitions in his lifetime- to complete 50 vears of ringing in his home tower and to ring the tenor at Queen Camel. Where hanas the heaviest ring of six in the world. Both these ambitions had been achieved in the last fortnight.

> Well donc. "Perce." long may sou ring.

NOW ON THE RETIRED LIST

Mr. C. E. J. Norris, who for 46 vears has heen a niember of the hand at Rochester Cathedral, is retiring from his office as stecplekeeper, an appointment he has held for 25 vears. He was captain of the Cathedral band from 1958 to 1965. and has served under seven Deans. He was successful in 1959 in urging the installation of a new hell frame.
A retired hoilermaker. Charles learned to ring at St. Mary's. Chatham. in 1903 and joined the Kent County Association in 1908. He is also among the senior members of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

RESTORATION OF EWELL BELLS

The Ewell (Surrey) bells have for the past year or so been the cause of concern. due chiefly to movement in the old oak frame, which was adapted to its present use 120 years ago. when with the six heavier bells of the present ring it was transferred from the old tower still standing at the other end of St. Mary's churchyard
The cight bells (tenor 13 cmc .3 qr .20 lb .) were cast at various dates at the Whitechapel Foundry and have not received any major atrention for over 30 years, when they were rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. An estimate for rehanging in a new metal frame was provisionally accepted about two years ago, since which time the ringers have been running a campaign to raise the amount required-over $£ 2.000$. The people of the parish are giving the effort their enthusiastic support. while the local newspapers have been most heloful with favourable publicity whenever possible, with the result that the fund now stands at $£ 800$.

Contributions. large or smatl. to the restoration fund would be welcomed and may be sent to the treasurer of the Parochial Church Council (Church Bells Account). Mr. J. H. Pycraft, 14. Reigate Road. Ewell. Fpsom.
Surrey. or to Mr. Surrey. or to Mr. J. E. Beams. 4, Cottage Road. West Ewell. Epsom, Surrcy. J. E. B.

an alistralian visit

In the second half of October I was fortunate enough to get a return visit to Sydney. Australia. I was last there nine years ago and it was good to meet the ringers again, including some with whon I rang a peal on my last visit.
The visit was an extremely pleasant one, with plenty of ringing during practices at St. Mary's, St. Jude's, Randwick, and Turramurra, also on the bells at St. Andrew's Cathedral and Burwood. which had been opened since my previous visit. On the second Sunday we rang an enjoyable 720 of Single Oxford Bob Minor at St. Mary's.
The activities were not restricted entirely to ringing. We had a jolly barbecue in the Blue Mountains during the first week-end and a trip to the Redtile Park at Gosford the second week-end.
The enthusiasm of the ringers is infectious, and despite my having been at sea and away from ringing for six months and wondering if perhaps 1 was not a bit rusty. 1 was extremely keen to take hold and join in. With the ringing and get-togethers in various places it was a truly memorable visit. I left hoping that in my remaining years in the Royal Navy I may get another chance to visit Sydney.
M. J. BRAY.

WANTAGE'S NEW CAPTAIN

At the annual meeting of the Wantage ringers on November 17 th Mr. A. Roy Wood was elected as tower captain in succession to Dr. John C. Baldwin, and Mr. Peter G. Davies was appointed deputy captain. Tribute was paid to Dr. Baldwin's work during the three years he has been the tower captain. and in particular to the natience he has shown in the training of new ringers.

BELLRINGERS' EVENING AT HORSHAM
The bellringers of St. Mary's, Horsham, Sussex, were invited by Mr. J. Fielder, secretary of Horsham Parish Church Social Committec. to tell something of their art at one of the meetings organised by the committee on November 12th. Accordingly the ringers met between 60 and 70 members of the congregation at the Parish Hall. After an introduction by Mr. J. Fielder a talk was given by Mr. T. Fox, illustrated by diagrams and demonstrations of handbell ringing by Messrs. E. R. Rapley. M. Reed and J. Smith. Some very interesting questions were put by people in the hall.
The Vicar, the Rev. P. L. Gillingham, asked the ringers in the audience to stand up. state their names and say how long they had been ringing. The loudest applause went to Mr. L. Bourne, who first started to ring at Woodchurch, in Kent, 51 years ago. After more handbell ringing the company went up to the belfry, where the ringers demonstrated tower bell ringing with touches of Stedman. Grandstre and Plain Boh. People who wished to see the bells while being rung were carefully escorted upstairs and down again by ringers.
The four-in-hand handbell ringing of Eddic Rapley imazed everybody, hut few people realised the calm confidence of Jim Smith, who. ringing the tenor near the door. carefully kept clear of the visitors and also called the touch of Bob Maior. After more questions were answered. the evening ended with a short prayer by the Vicar.

SWAYING TOWERS

Can anyone in authority give information on how much tower sway there can be before an element of danger is introduced? Older ringers may remember the eight at Macclesfield, where until the bells were lowered there was an alarming tower movement, although several peals were scored; the trebles of the 12 at Oldham are said to be affected by high wind: at Gosport it was said to be impossible to ring the back six and leave the two trebles up: at Andover the handbells on the wall go with the tower : and the brand new eight at Thorpe. Norfolk, were said to have heen rung only once and hurriedly lowered at the rededication ceremony (given in "Dove's" as "tower un-safe")-this could well he correct. Can any Norfolk ringer shed any light on this? Perhaps other readers can give us incidents of towers with an alarming amount of sway.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The choice of Potton bells and the promise of an excellent tea proved a good draw for the October meeting of the Biggleswade District. A wide variety of ringing was enjoyed throughout the afternoon and evening, even though the bells presented some handling difficulties to the less experienced.

The business meeting. held after an excellent tea. was executed in record time, at which decisions were made allocating a small sum of money to the District practices in order to carry out running repairs and that the committee and District practice organisers meet to formulato future policy.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GULLD Marlborough Branch A.G.M.

There was a good attendance at the annual general meeting of the Marlborough Branch held at Marlborough on November 16 h . The high proportion of younger members present must surely hold great promise for the future.

Owing to the augmentation of St. Mary's six bells to eight, now in progress, the scope of ringing was extremely limited. being confined to the front five, and ringing during the evening was transferred to nearby Mildenhall.
The Guild service at 4.15 p.m. was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. J. Walsh), who gave a short but appropriate address on "Trust, Fellouship and Dedication." Pomfret kindly played the organ.

Tea was enjoyed in the nearby Church Hall. prepared and served by ladies of the church. and this was followed by the business meeting. The chairman (Mr. G. Newman) presided and the previous minutes were read by the hon. secretary (Miss H. Jones), who also presented the year's statement of accounts, which showed a slight reduction in both the balance at the bank and in hand. This was due to two items which it was hoped would be non-recurring. and in any case a healthy credit sum still remained. Ten meetings had been held. with an average attendance of 18 . Peals and quarter peals had been rung at six different churches. the highlight being the peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Michael's, Aldbourne, conducted by Mr. F. Read. This was rung by an entirely Aldbourne band and was the first achieved by such a band since 1837. Chisledon ringers were also commended for their handbell performances at local functions.

The six-bell ring at St. Mary's, Marlborough. was being augmented to eight and this would give a second octave in good order to the Branch.
All were sorry to lose the Rev. R. Keeley, now Vicar of Whiteparish. During his five years as curate at Marlborough Mr. Keeley had given unstinted service to the Branch as Ringing Master, Branch representative and in training new recruits. Others who had left were Karl Harvey and John Mitchell, both of Aldbourne, and the good wishes of the Branch were extended to them all. The report and accounts were unanimously adopted. Before the election of officers for the coming year, the Rev. R. Keeley was presented with a travelling clock and a book token as a mark of esteem and appreciation from the Branch. The presentation was made by Mr. W. A. Edwards, one of the oldest members of the Branch, who wished Mr. Keeley every success and happiness now and in the future. Mr. Keeley suitably replied.
In the election of officers which followed. Mr. G. Newman was again confirmed as chairman, Miss H. Jones as hon. secretary and Mr. F. Read as vice-chairman. Mr. A. Keen was elected Ringing Master with Mr. F. Cook as his deputy, and Mr. Keen also undertook the duties of Branch representative on the Guild Committee. Dr. Craig and Mr. C. Wilkins agreed to serve on the Branch Commistee.

A list of monthly meetings with suggested towers for 1969 was approved, and it was agreed that at least two meetings would be held jointly with the Calne Branch, one in each area.

A record number of new members were nominated and all were unanimously elected.

In his concluding address the chairman thanked all who had helped in any way throughout the year. He made a special appeal to all towers to make every effort to attend the monthly meetings. Although the past year had been a useful one in this respect. he felt that the attendances had been provided by only a few towers and he would like to see the representation more widely distributed.

Ringing was afterwards resumed on the light six at nearby. Mildenhall. W.A.E.

Ris\%  Bells-the Messengers of Christmas

By the Rev. NICHOLAS F. D. COLERIDGE

THROUGHOUT the land countless sermons will be preached in our churches at Christmas, as indeed they are every Sunday, but they will be heard by only a limited number of peoplepeople who want to hear the message of Christmas. The majority of people never hear that message in church but it is taken to them by the sound of the bells. Not all who hear the bells at Christmas will understand their message, for many who enjoy the festivities of Christmas do not associate it with God at all. Some will curse the bells for waking them up and others will merely think how lovely it is to hear them, but there must still be many to whom the bells will speak of God.
It may be that the sound of the bells will remind them of a far greater gift than any they have given or received, for it is the gift of God's only begotten Son Jesus Christ. That gift is the greatest expression and proof of God's love. The bells will remind them that God is concerned with their daily lives as they recall the fact that he became man. The bells will bring those who suffer and those who are bereaved a message of comfort and the assurance of God's love, for He whose birth we celebrate entered fully into human suffering. Many who are cast down will lift up their hearts and rejoice at the sound of the bells including those who feel the burden of their sins. The bells will call them to repentance with the assurance that Jesus Christ came into the world to save sinners. One has even heard of criminals being restrained by the sound of the bells from the evil they had planned.
There are, however, a growing number of people who do not believe the message we proclaim and have become cynical as they see the world in a mess despite the birth of Christ. They do not realise that it is the world's failure to respond to the message of Christmas which is basically responsible for the world's unrest. We can only hope and pray that the sound of the bells will at least bring about within them what Samuel Taylor Coleridge called a "willing suspension of disbelief for the moment" that they may give glory to God.

If we ourselves really believe the message our bells proclaim we can see how very important is our work as ringers. We shall enjoy and perhaps improve our ringing if we realise how valuable is our contribution to the work of the Church in proclaiming the Gospel. We do not draw attention to ourselves in our ringing for we cannot be seen, but we try to draw people's attention to Jesus Christ. It is for that reason that we give of our best and offer our ringing to him for his greater glory.
There are some who would say that we do not ring primarily for God's Glory but for our own enjoyment. Most ringers would admit that they ring because it is a hobby which they enjoy and while they ring they cannot give any thought to God because they have to concentrate on their striking. That need not, however, prevent our hobby from being used as an act of worship for God's Glory. The same is equally true of those who enjoy singing in the choir or playing the organ. The fact that we enjoy our ringing does not invalidate it as an act of worship or prevent it bringing tidings of great joy to countless people. On the contrary we are privileged to have a hobby which we can use for so high a purpose. Those whose ringing is no more than a hobby can still be led by their art to worship the Lord Jesus as the Wise Men were led by their art to make a very costly offering to Him. Our ringing can be a costly offering and God is able to use what we offer Him in our belfries in ways beyond our knowing. We should pray as we go to church that our ringing will be effective in bringing a message from Him to all his people on His birthday.

CANTERBURY CATHEDRAL

By N. J. DAVIES, F.S.A., Scot.

CANTERBURY CATHEDRAL, the glory of Kent and cradle of Christianity in England, dominates the city and countryside as proudly today as it did in 960 when the Saxon church, rebuilt by Archbishop Odo, was consecrated. Ill-fortune dogged this early church; it was pillaged by the Danes in 1011, later repaired by Canute, and then rased to the ground by fire in 1067. The new Norman building, erected on the exact site of the present Cathedral, was completed by Archbishop Lanfranc and dedicated in 1077. Within twenty years the eastern arm of this church. having proved inadequate, was widened and extensively lengthened by Priors Ernulph and Conrad.

A further fire in 1174 caused a rebuilding of the East end, largely still intact today. In 1378-1410 Lanfranc's Norman nave, western transepts and south-west tower were rebuilt by Prior Thomas Chillenden, the latter, however, not being completed until 1459. In 1433 work commenced under Prior Molash on recasing the central tower; by 1496 the "Angel Steeple," still the crowning glory of Canterbury, was completed, and for poetry of design and beauty of proportion it is still in a class of its own.

BELL TOWER

Of the bells in the Saxon Cathedral nothing definite is known, although it is recorded that St. Dunstan, Archbishop, not only cast bells but gave instructions for their use. Lanfranc's Norman church, however, included a large detached "clocarium" or bell-tower which stood on a mound to the south-east of the main building, and records show that c. 1098 a large bell was placed herein by Prior Ernuph. This bell was recast by his successor, Conrad, who added four smaller bells, and it is recorded that the smallest required 10 ringers, while the largest required 24 ringers to sound 11 .

Fifty years later (c. 1160) Prior Wybert added a sixth that required the services of no less than 32 ringers-indicative, probably, of the fact that these bells were swung by treading beams fastened horizontally to the headstock. Following the assassination of Archbishop Becket in 1170, it was recorded by contemporary writers that these bells remained silent for a year along with the general desecration of the church prior to its reconciliation by Pope Alexander 111.

In 1316 Prior Henry of Eastry, probably the Cathedral's greatest single benefactor, gave a large bell dedicated to St. Thomas. which weighed $71 \frac{1}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$. Later, in 1343, Prior Hathbrand gave bells dedicated to Jesus and St. Dunstan. At this time the bells in the campanile were rehung, and their names recorded as "Jesus." "Dunstan." "Mary"." "Crundale." "Elphy" (Alphege). and "Thomas."
In 1382, following an earthquake, the campanile fell, destroying the first three named bells. Following its reconstruction, the other three bells were rehung together with two others of whose casting no record remains. These five bells were sold at the suppression of the Priory in 1540. and totalled over 11 tons in weight. confirming their magnitude of size. The campanile was supposedly demolished at the turn of the seventeenth centurs.

CENTRAL TOWER
The first donor of bells to the central tower appears to have been Henry of Eastry in 1317; he gave six bells, the largest weighing 13 cwt ., and the whole ring totalling $58 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.

Whether these survived until 1408 is unknown, but in that year a new ring of five bells was installed by Archbishop Arundel and Prior Chillenden; the great tenor, dedicated to the Trinity, weighed $64 \frac{1}{3} \mathrm{cwt}$. Work commenced on the reconstruction of this tower in 1433 and, some years later. the "Arundel ring" was removed to the N.W. tower, thenceforth known as the "Arundel steeple."

After completion of the central tower. a subsidence of the S.W. pillar precluded the hanging of a new ring, but a small bell. previously hung in the N.W. tower and called "Bell Harry," after its donor, Henry of Eastry, was hung on the roof of the central tower, thenceforth known as "Bell Harry Tower." Preserved to this day inside the tower is a gigantic mediaeval treadmill, still in working order, used to haul up the stone for the reconstruction.

COCK STEEPLE

Lanfranc's Norman N.W. tower appears to have remained vacant until 1316, when the illustrious Prior Henry rebuilt the upper story, adding a lead spire and weather vane, the tower then being known as "Cock Steeple." In that year also three bells, largest $21 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.. were installed and a small bell of $6 \frac{3}{\mathrm{cwt}}$. to summon the Chapter (later removed to the central tower. as noted above). In c. 1440 Arundel's five bells were installed. and then history is nearly blank until 1585. when one of the bells was recast by Robert Mot of Whitechapel.

Two other bells were recast in 1606 and 1624 by Joseph Hatch. and in $1635 / 6$ a major reconstruction took place. The remaining bells were augmented to six, and there is evidence that this was achieved by recasting Arundel's tenor into two trebles. The poor structural condition of the tower was evident when one reads that Hatch's hanger. Thomas Crust, had to contract to make the frame for the bells "rest upon the ground." In 1705 the leaden spire was taken down after storm damage, and by 1718 four of the bells were reported cracked. In 1726 they were removed altogether. recast into eight by Samuel Knight of Holborn. and rehung in the S.W. tower.

IN S.W. TOWER

Taking up the story of the S.W. tower, this does not seem to have housed bells before its rebuilding in 1430-59. In 1430 Prior Molash gave a large bell, cast in London. dedicated to St. Dunstan, and evidently meant to replace Hathbrand's "Dunstan" destroyed with the campanile. The bell. weighing $72 \frac{1}{5}$ cwt.. had to wait nearly 30 years in the nave of the Cathedral for its dedication in June, 1459. Earlier, in March. 1451. a new ring of five bells had been hallowed and hung in the tower, then known as St. George's tower. In 1499 Dunstan was new cast by John Bale, Bellfounder. and then weighed $64 \frac{3}{4}$ cwt., being rehung on the roof of the tower as at present. The five other bells (tenor $19 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) were also rehung, and there were three other bells in the tower known as the "Quarres"-possibly the quarter bells of the clock, mentioned in 1551. In 1663 Dunstan was recast by Michael Darby of Stepney; this bell, weighing $53 \mathrm{cwt.}$. was not a success, and it was again recast in 1684 by Christopher Hodson, who brought its weight up to $69 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.

In 1726 the bells, now six in number and described as "deep and melodious," were sold, thereby ending a period of 90 years when the Cathedral (like Lincoln) possessed two separate rings of six bells. The old bells are believed to have gone to St . Peter's, Sandwich, and money received for them spent on repairing windows on the South side of the nave.

The old six (tenor approx. 32 cwt .) from the N.W. tower having been removed. the treble (cast by Hatch in 1635) was hung on the central tower in place of the old "Bell Harry," which was given in to the new ring of eight, tenor 30 cwt . The new eight were not entirely satisfactory, as the 5 th was recast in 1727, and the 6th in 1728. The bells were opened by the College Youths, who, in May, 1732, rang a maiden peal of Grandsire Triples, conducted by B. Annable, one of the very earliest peals in Kent. The first peal by a local band, also Grandsire, was not until 1751.

In 1758 Dunstan was again cracked by tolling with a hammer. A futile attempt to mend the crack with solder was made, to no avail, and the bell was eventually recast by Lester and Pack in 1762. The recasting was done within the precincts by William Chapman, then foreman, one of the onlookers being young William Mears, who, after serving an apprenticeship, took over the foundry in 1784. The exact weight of the new bell is unknown, but it was recorded that 10 cwt . of new metal was needed, of which 5 cwt . was waste, so the present bell probably weighs 74 cwt .-rather more than was generally thought.

TWO TIER FRAME

In 1778 Samuel Knights's tenor was recast by Pack and Chapman, who placed upon it a rhyming inscritpion, typical of this era of bellfounding. In 1802 two new trebles, cast by Thomas Mears and reputedly given to celebrate the short-lived restoration of peace in Arniens, were added to make a ring of ten. A two tier bellframe, with five above and five below, was installed, and the ringing chamber elevated twenty feet in the tower to its present level. The first peal on the augmented ring, Grandsire Caters in 1824, was rung by a joint band from the Cathedral and Quex Park, conducted by William Shipway.
In 1832 the Norman North-West tower again gave cause for alarm; it was surveyed by the Cathedral architect who thought it both worthy and capable of restoration, but an ill-advised love of uniformity led to its destruction and replacement by the present tower, the work being completed in 1853. During this period ringing was prohibited for fear of damage to the unsupported West front, and the bells were only sounded for occasional services by light ropes attached to the clappers. This reprehensible practice resulted in the 3 rd and 6 th bells becoming cracked, and they were recast by C. & G. Mears in 1854 when ringing recommenced. The new bells were, unfortunately, unsatisfactory, and they were recast anew the following year by the same founders.
By 1897 the "go". of the bells was very poor, two men invariably being required for both 9 th and tenor. In that year they were rehung on one level in a cast-iron frame by Blackbourne of Salisbury; at the same time new quarter-chimes were added to the clock, being founded on the 8th Gregorian tone to mark the thirteenth centenary of St. Augustine's landing in Kent.
In a routine maintenance report in 1906 it was reported that the tenor was cracked in the crown, but the warning appears to have gone unheeded for 45 years.

WAR MEMORIAL

In 1923, as a memorial to those members of the K.C.A. who gave their lives in the war, two further trebles to make 12 were added, cast by Mears and Stainbank, and additional framework was constructed above the main foundation; finally, in 1951, the whole ring was rehung on ball-bearings by the same foundry. At this time the cracked tenor was rediscovered and recasting put into hand. The old bell, always reputed to weigh 34 cwt ,, was found to weigh $28 \frac{1}{\mathrm{c}} \mathrm{cwt}$., and was recast with 4 cwt . of fresh metal.
The most recent campanological applications took place in 1959 when the ringing of Bell Harry was converted to an electric solenoid system. Originally the bell was rung from All Saints' Chapel in the triforium at the West end of the South choir aisle. More recently the rope fall was diverted to a small covered passage above the East walk of the cloister, but the complicated geometry of the steel hawser rope required both skill and energy for success.

THE CATHEDRAL RINGERS

The ringers have always been an active and integral part of the community. In 1271 it was noted that there were four bellringers, the principal ringer also being keeper of the Wax house. Their annual stipend was $£ 1$, and they were expected to ring for over 80 festivals in the year, this being regulated in accordance with the relative dignity of the feast; on nine "greater doubles" the sacrist paid $3 \mathrm{~s} .6 \frac{1}{2}$ d. to the ringers, but on twenty-six lesser feast days no more than 3d. They also received other benefits (mainly food and drink) for other more menial tasks such as ringing to school and curfew, making the Paschal candle, carrying books and preparing altars, etc. One cannot help but feel that a certain amount of extra-monastic help must have been employed, especially for ringing heavy bells such as "Thomas" and "Dunstan."

After the Reformation, the incorporation charter of the new foundation dated 1541 mentions six ringers at a salary of $£ 6$ per year, whose duties, together with subsacrists, vergers and potters, included the prevention of dogs and rude boys entering church during service. One wonders whether William Oldfield, the city bellfounder, volunteered his services; certainly he was well known to the new authorities, for, in 1538, he is paid for "putting owte Thomas Bekket from the Commen Seale, and gravying agayn of the same." In $1542 / 3$ he is also mentioned as "graving of the scochon for beggars."

In 1633 the ringers were paid 8s. 9d. at the enthronement of Archbishop Laud, and in 1642 they were granted an additional stipend to keep the church windows from defacing. During the Commonwealth, no ringing appears to have been done, apart from the sounding of Bell Harry every Saturday morning when the market was opened by the Mayor and aldermen.

"RINGING CLUB"

After the installation of the new ring of eight, a new company of change ringers was formed, whose activities are well documented in the Cathedral belfry archives. By 1795 they had changed their name to the "Ringing Club," and they were obviously a good team, for they won first prize of eight crown pieces at the opening of Faversham bells in 1798 . In 1826 a separate young company of change ringers was formed. Their annual outings, regularly held until 1832, seem to have been energetic affairs; seldom were touches of less than 720 changes rung, and they usually rang at their first tower at 7 a.m. before breakfast!

In 1829 they received from Lord Fordwich 12 s .: "To ringing for the canvass and election." This sparked off a storm of protest from the Dean and Chapter, who later capitulated and ruled that ringers should only ring for "The High Church and Tory Party"! Later, in 1840 , when the bells were only being chimed for services, the authorities decided to halve the ringers' allowances. This met with unanimous disapproval, and the entire band migrated to St. Stephen's Church on the city outskirts. This tower had six bells. which were augmented to eight in 1844. largely through their efforts. The opening ceremony was a grand occasion, with teams from the neighbourhood competing for an inaugural trophy, which was won by the adept band from Hythe.
After reinstatement at the Cathedral in 1855, relations improved, the Dean actually having to settle a quarrel between the ringers and the architect, the latter, usurping his authority, having confiscated the belfry keys! Links between the authorities and ringers have since been most amicable; the late Canon Helmore, Precentor of the Cathedral, a fine ringer, being President of the Cathedral Company and Secretary of the K.C.A. for many years. With the advent of the University and other training colleges, Canterbury has seen a recent influx of young blood in the belfry to carty on the tradition.

Many criticisms have been levelled that the present bells are not really worthy of the fine building. Using the yardstick of a first-class modern ring, it would be hard to disagree, but the writer would be sorry to see the old bells go. The old back eight in particular are a fine ring, and they seem

VICTORIAN PEAL RINGER

LEWIS, F. J. sen., of Cirencester, writes: " I rang in a peal of Grandsire Caters on June 30th, 1898, and also a peal of Grandsire Triples on April 1fth, 1900. I have taken The Ringing World' since the first number and also 'The Bell News' and 'Campanology, and $I$ am in my 88 th year. I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Barnett's father in 1924 when he rang in a peal of Stedman Cinques with the St. Martin's Guild at Cirencester."

Retirement of John P. Fidler

Outstanding Service in Providing the Country's Bells

ONE of the best-known personalities in the Ringing Exercise, Mr. John P. Fidler, has retired from Messrs, John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and he is now living in Crediton, Devon. He started with Taylor's in June, 1926, and while with them inspected well over $\mathbf{3 , 0 0 0}$ rings of bells and measured up the same number of sowers.

"Fid," as he is familiarly known to his friends, learned to ring at St. Thomas's, Norbury, Cheshire, in the spring of 1914. The following November saw him in khaki, having enlisted in the 9th Royal Scots and was stationed in Edinburgh. Whilst in Edinburgh he teamed up with the ringers at St. Mary's and St. Cuthbert's.

He served with the 9th Royal Scots in France, mostly on the Somme, and was transferred to the Scottish Rifles in 1916, being invalided home the following year. Transferred to the King's African Rifles in 1917, his next sphere of active service was in British East Africa, where he remained until the summer of 1919.

On demobilisation he rejoined the Norbury band and started ringing in earnest. For a time he was secretary of the Stockport Branch and peal recorder for the Chester Guild. "Fid" made a detailed study of method splicing and on December 4 th, 1923, rang the famous 35 -method Treble Bob Minor peal. He then wrote a series of articles on "Method Splicing," which later appeared in book form.

Upon accepting an appointment with John Taylor and Co. in 1926 he took a keen interest in the affairs of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, and from 1946 to 1950 he represented the Guild on the Central Council. He was elected an honorary member of the Council in 1951.

The following appreciation of his services is written by Mr. Paul L. Taylor:-
"FID"

At the end of November this year I said goodbye to an old friend whom I had known since my schooldays. For over 40 years "Fid" has been with us in Loughborough and I shall now miss him very much. Poor "Fid" was saddled with me to be looked after when I was a schoolboy of 12 and my uncle sent me out with him inspecting bells. We used to travel together all over the West Country and I can still see myself sitting at an evening meeting of a parochal church council while "Fid" held forth about their bell scheme. This culminated in a resolution to order the restoration of their bells from us, and I remember him with great delight sending off the telegram "Morval ordered," and signing it "Paul."

1 think there is hardly anywhere in the British Isles that "Fid" has not travelled through and he has regaled me with tales about such and such a place and such and such bells as we went by in the car. Also the tales, some of them extraordinary, or even more than extraordinary, about the various people he met on these travels.

Over all these years he has acquired great knowledge of the problems presented by bells and bell frames, and many's the time when he has patiently explained to the good folk of the church why they should do this and not that which they had suggested. During all these long talks and discussions" he was never at a loss for the apt word, a little story or coming out with a downright blunt remark if he felt this was called for.

He saw no reason to limit his labours merely to inspecting and reporting on bells, and if when he got home there was an urgent need for work in the drawing office to get a drawing out, well "Fid" got down to it. And not only that, if when he had made the drawing he did not like it he would set out and make another and better one.

He did not mind getting himself dirty doing a bit of bellhanging if he thought it was called for. He would get up, without being asked, early in the morning and set off on a long drive. Once he heard through the grape vine that a church had been set on fire and he set off in the car and was there before the fire was out to tell the powers that be what they should do with the bells!

As he grew older his experience grew greater and he rarely forgot what he had seen and what he had advised in the various churches.
He loves working with bells and talking bells, but now the time has come when Mother Nature has let him know gently but firmly that he is no longer as young as he used to be and the other day he came to me and said that he must retire. Not to a life of gentlemanly ease. Oh no! He is retiring to Devonshire, where he hopes he can put his knowledge of bells to still further use. Our family gave him a quiet send-off and he has left us with our good wishes for his future life in Devonshire to be both long and happy.

Letters to the Editor

RINGING IN BERKSHIRE IN 1921-22
Dear Sir,-The letter in the issue of November 22nd from Michael Bishop recalling deals in which I rang at East Hagbourne during 1921-22 revives many happy memories of ringing in Berkshire, when, during the period from early August, 1921, to late March, 1922, for business reasons 1 was staying in the vicinity of Harwell (how different now).

1 was soon to make the acquaintance of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lock, of Abingdon, and with them spent many hours ringing at various sowers in the district, and I still retain vivid memories of the various ringers I met during that time. I paid several visits to Oxford, ringing at the various churches, including quartes peals of Stedman Caters at Magdalen and New College. Peals in which I took part wete rung at Southleigh and Kidlington (Oxon) and in Berksmre, East Hagbourne, Blewbury, Watlington, Drayton, St. Helen's Abingdon (for the wedding of the Princess Royal) and Appleton.

My first peal at Appleton (November 19th. 1921) was 10,043 of Grandsire Caters in 6 hours and 6 minutes and was my firsi on ten bells. The band included the five brothers White and was conducted by George Holifield sen.; also ringing was his son, George. and brother, Harry Holifield (father of Mrs. A. E. Lock). A few weeks later an attempt was made for what would have been a record length at that time- 19.000 -plus of Grandsire Caters, but after ringing almost 10,000 it unfortunately came to grief. I rang the 7th on both occasions.

I made a brief return to Berkshire in October, 1923. when I rang in my fourth peal at East Hagbourne, also again in November, 14is, when I took part in a peal of Steaman Triples at Drayton conducted by Tom Hibbert. Included in the band was the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn and Miss Vera Robinson, daughter of the famous ringing elergyman of that parish.Yours sincercly.

Sutton Valence, Kent.

NO POLITICS, PLEASE

Dear Sir,-I should like to support Mr. Bedford in his protest about political opinions being expressed in your columns (" Ringing World," November 29th). 1, 100 . was offended by the utterances of the Rev. J. G. M. Scott in his ocherwise admirable apologia on the Central Council and I regret that you, sir, did not see fit to wield your proverbial blue pencil in this instance.

Unfortunately, this has not been the only occasion of late that I have noticed remarks of an unseemly political slant appearing in "The Ringing World " and I trust that the trend will not be permitted to develop any further. The Exercise cannot be allowed to be besmirched by political feeling and any ringer who is compelled to give vent to his or her political opinions of the body politic should have recourse to the correspondence pages of our national dailies or weeklies, where they can find plenty of worthies to take up the challenge. Unless statutory legislation impinges or threatens to impinge on bells or bell. ringing, the columns of our paper should remain closed to political commentators.-Yours sincerely.
K. ARTHUR.

MYTHICAL PEAL IN ST. GILES'

 CATHEDRAL, EDINBURGHDear Sir,-lt appears from the interesting article in last week's "Ringing World" that an historical inaccuracy is perpetuated in st. Giles', Wrexham. It is not possible that a peal of Grandsire Caters was rung in St. Giles' Catnedral, Edinburgh, in 1886. The mediæval St. Giles' certainy had some bellsthe number is not specitied, but there are casual references to the Great Bell, the Lady Bell, the Moaning Bell and the Vesper Bell. But in 1560 these bells were dispersed, and some at least were demolished-the Lady Bell was melted down to make artillery for "The lowne's Army.'

In 1681 the Town Records report that "The Town offers to buy a peal of bells to hane in St. Giles' steeple, to ring musically and warn us to church." But the money earmarked for this purpose lay around for a while and was eventually used to build a church in the Canongate. Another effort to recover the bells was made shortly after the rededication of the restored St. Giles'. In Dr. Cameron Lees' ." History of St. Giles" ". he writes that in 1883 $*$ it is contemplated to place a chime of bells in the steeple." However maney or interest, or both. was apparently lacking, and no bells materialised. In the crown steeple today hang three bells only, chiming the hours and quarters of St. Giles' Cathedral's faceless clock.
If a peal was rung on ten bells in Edinburgh in 1886 it must have been rung in St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral. These bells were dedicated in 1879, and the first peal may well have been rung there in 1886.-Yours faithfully,

JEAN C. SMITH.

UNPUBLISHED PEAL

Dear Sir,-May I, through your paper, ask the organisers of the peal of Rutland Surprise rung at Hughenden. Bucks. on August 7th when they are going to publish the peal in "The Ringing World "? We keep a record of all the peals rung at our tower and we are unable to get our peal book made uo to date until this peal has heen published. Yours sincerely,

ROLAND BIGGS.

COMMENTS ON BOOKS

Dear Sir,-I do not know whether ". The First Book of Bells " by Helen Fletcher (published by Edmund Ward Lid., 1965) was reviewed in "The Ringing World "; I have not been able to find one. This book, which acknowledges help given by yourself and "The Ringing World," would make an admirable Christmas present for a boy or girl who is learning to ring or whom it is hoped to interest in ringing. I would like to commend this book to ringers in search of a Christmas present for a youngster.

May I also add a few comments about " Discovering Bells and Bellringing " by John Camp, reviewed in "The Ringing World" of September 13th? The author says that the most drastic means of bringing ringing back into the ambit of church activity in the 19 th century is to lengthen the bell ropes and to take out the floor of the ringing chamber. I have not heard of this being done before and 1 wonder if it is at all widely done.

On page 35 the author says: " The majority of fatal accidents occur when a keen but misguided non-ringer, perhaps a new curate, decides to explore the belfry." How many new curates are known to have had fatal accidents in belfries?

The book contains one or two inaccuracies, such as "Southwell Cathedral. Derbyshire." Is there a ring of ten at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, as stated under the photographs (page 21)?

In the chapter entitled "Ringers v. Clergy" it is a pity that no reference is made to the Rev. F. E. Robinson. It may not be realised by those who have not read "Among the Bells" that besides ringing 1,261 peals, he visited many towers to give advice and attended many openings.- Yours faithfully,

DOVE'S "GULDE " QUERIES

Dear Sir,-Re Mr. Fitzgerald's query of Oclober 4 th concerning Old Newton, Suffolk, 1 was one of the band which rang here some five or six years ago by invitation of Mr. R Clauston, diocesan adviser on bells. I understood that the bells had not been rung since before the 1914-18 war; the treble was badly cracked, but otherwise the fittings and "go" were fair considering the long "rest." No doubt Mr. Clauston would give more details if referred to.-Yours faithfully,
U. W. WIL.DNEY.

APPRECIATION FROM "DOWN UNDER "

Mr. Tom Roache, of 27, Hall Avenue, Bris,

 bune, Australia, writes:-'The Ringing World ' is really a wonderful paper, with no commercial advertisements. 1 have had it for several years, regularly, and cannot imagine anyone being dissatisfied at its price, as some of your readers seem to be Why, the front page pictures of churches are worth the Is., and I know of no other magazine anywhere at such a small price.

If only the dissatisfied readers could come and spend a few years in Queensland, where there are no bells at all, they would then realise how blessed they are to be able to hear and see bells in Old England. No other land in this world has such a marvellous heritage."

JOINT CDUNCIL

NEW venture was organised by the Council and took place on Saturday, November 23rd. This was a striking contest and it was held at St. Peter's Church, Felkirk. It is believed to be the first time that teams from all parts of the county have taken part in such a contest, although some individual Societies have had their own contests for many years.

The aim of the contest was to bring together teams representing all the ten Societies which comprise the Joint Council. Unfortunately both the Cleveland and North Yorkshire and the Selby and District Society were unable to send teams, so finally there were eight entries.

The judge was Mr. Harold Chant and his marker was Mrs. Christine Moxon. After all the teams had rung, Mr. Chant announced his decision. The test piece was 360 changes of Minor and the result was as follows:-

Beverley and District, Norwich Surprise, $12 \frac{1}{5}$ minutes, 73 faults.

DF YORKSHIRE RINGING SOCIETIES

Sheffield and District, Oxford Treble Bob, 12 minutes, 94 faults.

Doncaster and District, Plain Bob, $12 \frac{1}{4}$ minutes, 102 faults.

Leeds and District, Oxford Treble Bob, 12 minutes. 80 faults.

Yorkshire Association, Cambridge Surprise, 121 minutes, 55 faults
Halifax Association, Oxford Treble Bob, 121 minutes, 75 faults.
Archdeaconry of Halifax. Oxford Treble Bob. 131 minutes, 77 faults.
Barnsley and District, Oxford Treble Bob, $11 \frac{1}{2}$ minutes, 90 faults.
Mr. Edward Hudson (chairman) then presented the certificate to Mr. Fred Hodgson (Richmond), the conductor of the Yorkshire Association team. The other members were: Stuart Armeson (Rotherham P.C.) 2, Ron Ducker (Sutton-on-Hull) 3, Jack Roach (Ormesby) 4, Fred Munday (Bradford Cathedral) 5, Wilfrid Moreton (Wakefield Cathedral) 6 .

An excellent tea had been prepared by the local ladies, and 80 people partook in two sittings. The Rev. T. Boyd Webster, Vicar of Felkirk, welcomed those present and said how proud they at Felkirk were to be hosts to the first Joint Council contest.
The bells at Crofton, Hemsworth. Royston and Wragby were also available during the day, and a number of teams visited these towers. After the presentation. Felkirk bells were put to good use until late evening by many ringers. Numerous methods were rung, with both open leads and "cartwheel," to suit every taste.

The event gave the opportunity for ringers from all over the county to meet, renew acquaintances, chat and listen to some good ringing. For these reasons it may be considered to have been a success, and praise must go to Mr. Harold Chant, not only for his judging but for the hard work he put in to make the local arrangements.

MR. NORMAN V. ANDREWS

Originally from the Trowbridge area, Norman Andrews came to Andover in 1947, where he became an asset to the local band, who were at that time struggling with Grandsire Triples under the captaincy of Archie Mitchell
With Norman's help they progressed to Plain Bob Major and in 1948 and carly 1950 peals of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major were rung in the Andover tower. Peal hoards were erected for both peals, as most of the ringers were from Andover, and Norman conducted the peal of Major.

He was also proficient on higher numbers, taking part in the Coronation peal of Grandsire Cinques at Winchester Cathedral and Kent Treble Bob Maximus at Cbristchurch Priory in November, 1953.
In 195? he was elected as Joint Ringing Master with Archic Mitchell. who was captain of the Andover team, but ill-health prevented Norman taking an active part and he retired from the scene. He died on August 12th this year.

A memorial peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in the Andover tower on November 21 st to replace one that was lost there on October 19th. It was regretted that Archie Mitchell was not fit enough to stand in, as he was Norman's closest ringing friend while at Andover.

May he rest in peace.

MR. G. W. MARTIN

An old Gloucestershire ringer. Mr, G. W. Martin, passed peacefully away on November 15th at his son's home in Auckland, N.Z. He formerly rang at St. Mary the Virgin's, Cheltenham.
Since coming to New Zealand he had rung at Christchurch and Hamilton Cathedrals, though not recently. Possibly his last visit to the Hamilton tower was when he went to meet the Great Adventure II team.
Mr. Martin regularly supported the meetings of our handbell group in Auckland until just a few weeks ago. The Auckland bells are still unringable so no muffled ringing was possible. As a mark of respect the next handbell meeting after his death was opened by observing a brief period of silence.

a good-natured fellow like myself to listen to his views.
" You know," he went on, " most bands who enter competitions do not know how you can often improve your performance if you get your band placed properly." "Here it comes." il thought. " what ridiculous formula are we going to have crotted out this time?" "Most important." I agreed, but then unwittingly dropped my guard and added "But how to achieve it'?" Like lightning George was in. Simple if you adopt my plan. Take your six ringers, where you have six bells, and send them up the tower to ring six touches, instructing them each to ring a different bell for each touch, and see , which arrangement produces the best striking."

There was rather more to it than just this for his lads-Alan, Bill, Charlie, Derek. Edward and Frank-had presented him with a problem. They had carried out his instruction, together with an additional one that Bill should ring a lighter bell than Alan in as many touches as possible. George had listened outside, judged

MR. RUSSELL WARD

The Central District of the Suffolk Guild sustained a sad loss on October 28 th when Russell Ward, of Cotton, passed away at the age of 84 .

Russell was essentially a six-bell man but one of the old school-loyal, keen and a lover of good striking. He was a man of the soilhis whole working life spent on the rich, heavy land of mid-Suflolk as a horseman.

Starting his ringing on the old five at Mendlesham when he was 20, he joined the Norwich Diocesan Association in 1906. Most of his ringing took place at Mendlesham and Cotton and on the famous sixes at Thornham Magna and Wickham Skeith. Here he came under the influence of two fine ringers. George Cattermole and Ernest F. Poppy, and rang several peals with them
Two quarter peals were rung to his memory, at Cotton and Mendlesham. on October 29th and November 3rd. by A. Lockwood 1, F Sterry 2, L. Forster 3, A. Cook 4, T. Lockwood 5, S. Arbon 6, Tom Lockwood and Sidney Arbon sharing the conducting.
Russell Ward will be missed by all those who knew him. May he rest in peace. G.W.P.

After bumping into various add characters and running up against some queer ways of describing who had taken part in quarter peals and queer ways of making arrangements for outings, I suppose I ought not to have been surprised when competitions were mentioned.
It was the usual sort of opening-" What do you think about competitions" " George buttonholed me at the College Youths' Dinner. Most anxious not to start anything when i was looking forward to an enjoyable evening. I tried to sidestep by saying that I seldom took any interest in them as when I had scientifically worked out exactly where the ball must be from the angles of the various footballers ${ }^{\circ}$ cyes I found that it was among the racing results, two columns outside the picture!
Not that sort of thing. I mean striking competitions in bellringing." "Oh." I sighed, still just as anxious not to start any-, thing. "I don't think they do any harm." "Of course they don't do any harm. They"re one of the finest things for raising standards and there should be more of them." For a moment I thought he was priming me for a speech and I grabbed the toast list, but all was well and I thought he must just want that the third touch was the best and now wanted to enter that band for the competition on Boxing Day, but they would not tell him directly who had rung which bell in that touch They had given him these statements: Edward rang a lighter bell than Bill in the last touch: Charlie rang a lighter bell than Alan in only two touches-the first and the fourth: Derek rang a lighter hell than Charlie in the last three touches: Derek rang progressively lighter nells in each touch; Bill. Edward and Frank rang the treble in successive touches: Frank rang a lighter bell than Bill in four of the touches.

I hope that I scribbled these statements down correctly on my menu. Somebody fell off a chair while I was busy and that did not help. I am afraid that the problem is a hit beyond old George and I feel sure that he would be prepared to offer a small reward through the Editor if someone can send in a solution in time for Boxing Day.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

St. Albans District

Saturday. November 16th, saw a joint meeting between North Mymms (8) in the afternoon and Monken Hadley (8) in the evening. At both towers methods up to Spliced Surprise were rung.
As the Vicar of North Mymms was away on a course there was no service. Tea and the business meeting were held in the Vicarage. Mr. T. J. Lock was elected to the chair at the business meeting and proceedings began with welcoming the Rev. Talbot-Ponsonby and his wife as District members on moving to Radlett.
The secretary then spoke about the forthcoming events. Tickets for the dinner on December 7th are still available from the secretary. South Mimms asked for a District practice on December 19th-the Ringing Master pointed out that the numbers supporting these various practices seemed to be diminishing Please note the date. The next District meeting will be at St. Stephen's, St. Albans, on December 21 st . The secretary reminded members that the A.D.M. is on January 18th at St. Peter's, St. Albans, so please will every. one make the effort to attend the December meeting as there is plenty to discuss and think about before the A.D.M
Before the meeting closed congratulations were passed from the District to Anthony Carter and Christine Lesley on their engagement. The meeting was closed with a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Lock and the North Mymms girls for the arrangements and the tea. and to the Vicars of North Mymms and Monken Hadley for the use of the bells.

LADIES' GULLD IN BRECON

Although November 23rd proved a wet, miserable day, the Ladies' Guild meeting held at Talgarth was well attended and enjoyed by all.

A very warm welcome was extended to the visitors by Mr. B. Davies, tower captain at Talgarth, and a similar welcome was given by Mr. E. J. Smith, tower captain at Glasbury-on-Wye, where ringing was enjoyed during the evening.
Bronllys bells were available during the afternoon, and here Miss Linda Jacob welcomed the visitors.
The service was conducted by the Vicar of Talgarth, the Rev. T. James, who expressed great pleasure in having the Guild meeting at his church. Mr. E. J. Smith was the organist, and Miss Jennifer Lawrence, a Talgarth ringer, read the lesson.
A fine tea was waiting in the Church Hall and Mr. Alan Paton thanked the kind ladies who had prepared this.

Yet again more new members were elected. These were: the Misses Linda Jacob (Bronllys), Eira Banks (Ebbw Vale), Janette Sutton, Judy Fawke, Jennifer Lawrence, Gillian James, Catherine Gwillam and Gillian Davies (all of Talgarth and all members of the choir).

It was decided to try to hold the next meeting at Llanelli with Gorseinon in February, and to join the Western District at Bristol on March 1st next.

RAIDER CUTS BELL ROPES

The ringing chamber of the ancient parish church at Middleham, North Riding of Yorkshire, has been broken into. Four of the eight ropes were cut off. The Rev. D. M. Collins (Rector) said to "The Yorkshire Post": "Our bells, often described as the finest set in Wensleydale, are the only ones rung regularly in the neighbourhood."

BARKINGSIDE RINGERS AT "DEAR OLD SUSSEX-BY-THE-SEA

Sussex-by-the-Sea was the venue for Barkingside ringers' third annual outing, which turned out to be even better than the previous two. This year we tried a coach for transport and in spite of it being half empty a very enjoyable day was had by the members and several friends.

East Grinstead, reached ten minutes early, provided a good coffee stop and a good ring of bells, and for some of the younger members their first taste of heavy bells and a long draught.

Ringing at St. Mary's and St. Saviour's, Eastbourne, was curtailed at the former due to a wedding, and at the latter due to possible complaints from the neighbours, but we all had a ring and managed a good half-course of Yorkshire at St. Mary's-it just would not come round on the much heavier eight at St . Saviour's.

Heavy waves and the red danger flag thwarted the few ambitious swimmers amongst us, but they did not deter us from a paddle and splash-quite a large crowd preferred this entertainment to that provided by the band a few yards away.

Alfriston was our tea stop, and after a rushed cream tea we all descended on the church. only to commit one of the cardinal sins of ringing by not checking that a bell alleged to be down was down. In fact they were all up, as events soon proved, but no damage was done and we were soon able to enjoy the pleasant ring of six. Rotherfield was our last call and we were pleased to meet several local ringers and to ring with them.

Ringing during the day was up to quite a good standard, and our thanks are extended to those who met us and to the incumbents for allowing us to ring.

RESTORATION SCHEME  FOR STURRY, KENT

Since tate September the residents of Sturry, Kent, have not heard the bells of St. Nicholas ringing out across the Stour Valley, for it was then the church architect, after inspecting the tower, had decided that any further ringing would be detrimental to the structure.
The bells are still on plain bearings and until recently went very well, but in the final weeks before ringing stopped they were becoming increasingly more difficult to strike as the frame moved around the toweer. Indeed, if the tenors ever became separated the tower could be felt to tremble, and the cracks widened.
The keen young band of ringers, to whom the news was not entirely unexpected, have since then been practising and Sunday service ringing at the neighboring tower of St . Martin's, Herne, and more recently attending the practice at St. Mary's, Chartham, and they are very grateful for the welcome extended to them at all local towers.
A Tower Restoration Fund has been started and many donations have already been received. Well known trading stamp companies have been approached and have agreed to redeem their stamps at a generous price, and so any further donations, either of money or stamps, would be greatly appreciated.
The address for donations can be found elsewhere in this issue under "Miscellaneous Notices."

A LAY OF ANCIENT ROME A Fragment

With apologies to all lovers of Thomas Babington Macaulay.
" The author seems to have been an. honest citizen . . sick of the disputes of factions and much given to pining after good old times which had never really existed."

For ringers at their meetings
Were ready to catch hold
For rounds with the beginners
In the brave days of old.
Then none was for a District:
Then all were for the Guild;
The meetings were less frequent.
But the halls were always filled:
Then practices were friendly;
Then standards high would hold:
The ringers were like brothers
In the brave days of old.
Now ringer is to ringer
More hateful than a foe,
In towers there's often squabbling,
And the striking standard's low.
As we wax hot in faction,
In ringing we wax cold;
Wherefore men ring not as they rang
In the brave days of old.

The constitution of London University has been amended to include members of Brunel University. (Correction to report on page 890.)

After ringing in a peal of Triples at South Petherton on November 23 rd as a golden wedding compliment to Mr. and Mrs. C. Chant, Mr. Gilbert W. Rendell discovered that it was 30 years to the day that he rang his first peal of Triples there. The bell on that occasion was the sixth, which his son was ringing.
The first neal on the new ten at Edington, Wiltshire. was rung on November 30th. It was Stedman Caters and Mro-E.C. Shepherd's 200 th . peal of Stedman.

REVIEW

Minimising a Church's Depreciation

WE are living in a "Do it Yourself" age, and this spirit of tackling things yourselt exists not merely in the home but very much in church activities. Almost weekly we hear of bands of ringers endeavouring to bring their oelfries and bell chambers to an efficient state. And a gratifying feature is that the leading bellfoundries of John Taylor and Co. and the Whitechapel Foundry are ready with advice to help those with the experience to tackle such jobs.
This spirit of the age is not contined to bells and belfries; it is finding its way into many church activities relating to repatrs and enriching the beauty of buudings and surrounds. Indeed, it is a prominent part of Christian Stewardship, which is not contined to money, but an equally important section is time and talent. Trmely and fully in keeping with this spirit is "Church Maintenance" by Major the Rev. Vivian Symons (Marshall, Morgan and Scott, 35 s . net.). The author is an M.A. (Oxon) and a Fellow of the Institute of Engineers. After 13 years in the Army he entered upon theological training and in 1951 became Vicar and officiating chaplain to the R.A.F., Biggin Hill. His work included the dismantling of a London church and rebuilding. refurnishing and equipping it in his parish. It is the practical experience of these is years that forms the foundation of "Church Maintenance."
The great value of this book is not merely its comprehensive character, supported by diagrams and illustrations, but the admirable way it is indexed and the concise style in which the information is imparted. In the 18 chapters such matters as roof covering, rainwater disposal, roof timbers, stone decay, external walls and woodwork, windows, floors, vestries, vessels and ornaments, furniture and fittings, interior stonework and monuments. bell towers and churchyards are dealt with.

Above all, the author is a practical man courageously tackling the dismantling of All Saints', North Peckham, and reassembling it, and also a craftsman in gold and silver, making many of the ornaments of his church. With slender resources, parishioners and others were persuaded to donate precious metals and stones. Over 70 wedding rings were received from the relatives of deceased parents, and ornaments and trophies were donated. These were melted down and ornaments made.
The chapter on hell towers will be of particular interest to our readers. So much of it wanted saying to the non-ringing section of the church. "Bell towers are places for the hanging and ringing of bells, and are not glory-holes for harbouring and storing anything clsc. The ringing room should be pleasantly decorated, taking care that wall records are not damaged. There is no reason why this chamber should not be as habitable as regards lighting, cleanliness, ventilation and warmth as the living room of a dwelling.'
Work for the stceplekeeper is set out in detail. Emphasis is given to frames, fittings and girders being scraped and repainted every five years; appropriate warning is given on the danger of clocking; and that the old type of plain bearings should not be allowed to become too worn. Another point is that a maintenance chart for bells should be obtained from the bellfoundry and this should be displayed in the tower.
To those of our readers who serve as churchwardens or on the P.C.C.'s this book is invaluable. How many of us "have eyes and they see not ". when it comes to spotting defects in old buildings, and hundreds of pounds could be saved if such things were tackled early. Another point stressed is the importance of records and their safe keeping. With Mr. Symons' book ever available, even archdeacons' visitations would be encountered with a clear conscience and the quinquennial inspection not a thing to disturb the parish budget.

21 UNRINGABLE RINGS IN ONE DISTRICT

At the annual general meeting of the S.W. District of the Suffolk Guild, held at Clare. all the retiring officers were re-elected; about 60 members were present.
The chairman extended a welcome to the large number of members from other Districts and asked Mr. S. Twitchett to accept this attendance as an appreciation of his successful efforts in raising yet another local band. (No mean achievement with Clare bells.)

Six new members were elected-five from Clare and one from Bures. The news that ringing is now banned at All Saints', Sudbury, means that 21 towers in the District are now unringable. In some cases the bells have been blamed for tower damage, and the Exercise cannot afford this adverse publicity.
To counteract this, an attempt is being made to stage an exhibition of ringing as an art and prove to the public that very little (if any) damage is caused by properly-hung bells. If this proposal is accepted. the demonstrations will he held in Long Melford Hall Park on June 28th and 29th next year. Details are advertised in this issue on Page 978. L. D. M.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Miss Helen J. Wright is the first lady to ring a quarter peal of Major "inside" in Whitwick, Leicestershire, tower.

Congratulations to Mr. T. F. East, of Sandown, Isle of Wight, who has completed 60 years as a ringer. A complimentary peal was rung at Brading on November 24th.

Canon C. Elliot Wigg, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, was inducted on November 26th to the living of St. Peter's, Hook Norton, Oxfordshire. Hook Norton has a ring of eight with a tenor of $20 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cw}$.
The band who rang the peal on the back eight at Chelmsford Cathedral on November 11th are grateful to Sue Rothera for standing in at short notice in place of her husband, Phil, who was to have rung the tenor but was struck down by a sudden stomach upset. Thanks are also due to Phil for checking the ropes, etc., before the attempt.

The peal at Chalford, Glos, was the first on the bells for 34 years and the first of Minor for 54 years.
Four people rang their first quarter at Ringmer, Sussex, on November 23rd. It was Grandsire Doubles called by W. Merritt, who was ringing his first as conductor.
Two 11-year-olds-G. Newsome and J. White -rang their first quarter at Pakefield, Suffolk, on November 24th. There were four first quarters and one first "inside" in this quarter conducted by Mr. P. Kindred. Congratula. tions!

Among our Methodist ringers is Mr. H. W. Dunsden. He was more than pleased to take part in an Ecumenical Evensone at Blewbury, Berks, attended by Anglicans, Roman Catholics and Methodists. The preacher was Monsignor Canon F. Bartlett, the Administrator of Westminster Cathedral.

ROPE TROLBLE LPSETS JASPER SNOWDON MEMORIAL PEAL

Saturday, November 16 th, saw the 83 rd anniversary of the death of Jasper Whitfield Snowdon, founder-president of the Yorkshire Association, who died at Ilkley. To commemorate the occasion a peal attempt was arranged at Ilkley. After one or two last-minute changes in the band the method was changed to Plain Bob and, on a rather dismal after= noon, the band assembled. The glorious ring of eight bells was raised, ropes adjusted and the bells tried in rounds. At this point disaster struck, for the sixth rope broke on the wheel. After a delay of some 20 or more minutes a new rope was fixed and the attempt was recommenced.

All went well for a while, and as everyone settled down to a reasonable rhythm some enjoyable ringing ensued. The first quarterend came up in 45 minutes and everything seemed set for a successful conclusion of the peal. Alas, after about ten, minutes' further ringing, a splice bencath the sally on the third rope began to come undone Within a very short time it became evident that the rope would not even last in the half-way, and so the decision to bring the bells round as soon as possible was taken.

The following few minutes had many anxious moments lout the hells were duly brought round after 1.824 changes without the rope parting. As the bells set up, however, the tail-end dropped to the floor, thus confirming that it would not have been possible to ring any more. The band were naturally disapnointed. but at least we had something to record for our efforts, especially Ann Waldron and Janet Walker. whose first peal it would have been. Our thanks go to the local company and the Vicar for allowing the attempt. and perhaps we can go again on another November 16 th, when we shall have more luck, we hope!

BELLRINGERS' FESTIVAL, HIGHCLERE

For the eighth year in succession the annual hellringing festival was held at St. Michael's Church. Highclere. on November 2tih Ringing started at $7.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$ by the local band, all of whom attended the Holy Communion service for which they rang.

The team were again well represented at the 10.30 Matins. and in the afternoon a peal of Plain Boh Major was successfully rung with 16-year-old Philip Taylor conducting his first peal on eight bells: 12-year-old David Goss was also ringing in his first peal on eight bells.
This was the fifth time a peal had been rung for the Festival; on three occasions a lastminute illness or an afternoon service prevented an attempt being made.

The cvening service ringing was attended by many ringers from neighbnuring churches and four news were filled by them for the service. Members of the local band read the lessons and acted as sidesmen.

A feature of the service was solos sung by four members of the Royal College of Music, whilst the choir sang a special anthem as their offering to the service
Further ringing followed after the service, an attempt to ring a quarter peal of London Surprise Minor coming to grief after ringing 500 changes. We look forward to doing something specital for next year's service. G.K.D.

DINNER-DANCE AT BFACONSFIELD

Some 80 ringers and friends gathered at the Beech Tree Hotel, Beaconslield, on November 16 h for the seventh dinner and dance of the Eist Berkshire and South Buckinghamshire Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. Proceedings were delayed for a short while due to the unfortunate failure $t 0$ start the chairman's car, but the wait served to sharpen everyone's appetite.
Presenting certificates to representatives of Hughenden and Lane End, who were tirst and second in the Branch striking competition last April, the Master of the Guild (Canon C. E. Wigg) complimented Mr. Ernest Gosling on his calligraphy. The Master went on to say that striking competitions seemed to be on the increase and that he hoped all Branches would maintain or improve their support for the Guild competition. He also extended an invitation to the tower of Hook Norton. whither he would shortly be moving.

Mr. Giles Shedden (Branch Ringing Master) replied, hoping that no onc in his audience would associate the rise in price of tickets with the fact that he was a member of the legal profession, and assured everyone that none of the increase was destined for his pocket! After welcoming the guests on behalf of the Branch. he proceeded to a series of racy anecdotes of a mixed clerical and legal flavour.
Tables were then cleared, lights were lowered and the company enjoyed dancing until midnight and " Auld Lang Syne.'

RIDING RECTOR WELCOMED HOME

While he was taking part in the " Deben Ride" in Octoher the Rector of Worlingworth and Tannington fell from his horse and injured his back. A quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Major to welcome Kim home was rung on November 16 th by Mrs. M. R. Page (Pettaugh), Messrs. W. W. Miller (Earl Soham), C. W. Pipe (Grundisburgh), L. E. Last (Hoxne), E. W. Pye and W. Pye (Sawston), H. Leather (Monk Soham) and L. G. Brett (Framsden).

CLOCKWINDERS BECOME RINGERS

From Brampion. Cumberland, comes a good story. A group of village lads volunteered 10 wind the clock of St. Martin's Church. As they climbed the spire to wind the clock they saw the bells and interest was stirred.
That was 18 months ago and now the bovs ring every Sunday, thanks to the efforts of Mr. Arthur Armstrong (churchwarden), who started them off, and, later, Mr. Eric Hotine, who rook over in January as head ringer.

The bells were rehung in 1956 and then rung for 18 months. From then until the boys came forward St. Martin's was a silent tower, November 23 rd was a red-letter day for the boys when the Cumberland and North Westmorland Association held a meeting at Brampton. the first there for 12 years. Twenty-eight members from all over the two counties attended. There was plentv of ringing-in the afternoon and well into the evening-a shortened Evensong conducted by the Vicar, and a good tea provided by two mums of the boys.

THREE GENERATIONS IN A PEAL

Four Barnsley ringers who participated in a quarter peal of Minor at All Saints' Church. Silkstone, on November 24th. were from three generations of one family. They were Michael (11) and David Carbutt (12), ringing their first quarter, their father, Peter (the conductor), and Luarter, their father, Peter (he carbutt, their grandfather.

FIRST HANDBELL PEAL IN CANADA
The first handbell peal for the North American Guild of Ringers is recorded this week. It comes after many weeks' practice, the conductor travelling 80 miles round trip to Hamilton from Toronto each time.

Before John Owen joined us from Elliot Lake (writes Derek M. Sawyer) we practised for a peal of Plain Bob Minor. Starting from scratch this proved to be a difficult task and I still maintain that a peal of Yorkshire Maximus is probably easier mentally and physically than a peal of Grandsire Doubles !
At the end of September we were able to increase to Major and slowly but surely we progressed to ring the quarter peal which we recently reported, and now a full peal. I would personally like to associate the peal with John Acres, who spent many patient sessions with me in my teenage days drilling this particular composition of E. M. Atkins into me and teaching me how to conduct it. It has not been forgotten!

Finally the peal is a farewell to Ruth Gay on her return to England with her handbells. We wish her a safe journey and good ringing in the "Old Country," To Fred Andrews and the ringers of Hinton Blewitt, Somerset, we send our sincere thanks for letting Ruth bring their handhells with her. They have been well used and very much appreciated. D. M.S.

PHILIP GRAY RINGS WITH  \section*{CONSTITUENTS"}

Mr. Philip Gray, on a visit to his "constituents," was unsuccessful in the attempt to ring a peal of Grandsire Caters on the bells of St . Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, on November 23 rd. The following morning, how: ever he called a service quarter of Grandsire Triples on the heavy eight at the Cathedral. Afterwards the company made their way to the home of the tower captain, Andrew Bolton, where a most enjoyable Bar-B-Q was held.

ST. JUDE'S THEIR MOTHER TOWER

St. Jude's, Randwick, N.S.W., ringers (captain. Mr. John Fryer) were upset by a comment made in "The Ringing World " a tew months ago stating that their bells were only kept going with the helo of St. Mary's Cathedral ringers. Our correspondent writes: "We do have a lot of peonle who are members of both towers. but in all cases except one they learned to ring at St. Jude's, and that is where their first loyalty lies."

10-XEAR-OLD HAS RUNG IN 80 TOWERS
Richard Barker, aged 10 years and 3 months, rang his first quarter peal at King's Langley on November 24th. A regular ringer in the King's Langley band, Richard started to learn shortly hefore his ninth birthday. His parents were in the quarter peal, although his 13-yearold sister, who is also a ringer, was unable to take part. Richard has already rung in over 80 towers and is keenly interested in bellhanging and maintenance.

A DISS CELEBRATION

To celebrate "Bert" Harrison's 25 years as verger. a quarter peal had been arranged at Diss Parish Church on All Saints' Day. Owing to repairs to the tower it could not take place. but six members of the Norwich Association rang a quarter peal at Redgrave instead. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison later joined the ringers at Diss for a convivial evening at the home of their daughter, Kathleen, who is also a ringer at Diss.

RUSSELL S. YOUNG and the ringers at Groton School, Massachusetts, send their Christmas greetings to all their friends.

A CONTRIBUTION TO "MEIN KAMPFANOLOGY"

Hurstpierpoint ringers, for their outing on St. Peter's Day, journeyed into Dorset, starting at $7.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and reaching home at 11.30 p.m. Towers visited were at Hampreston, CorfeMulien, Wool, Wareham and Cranborne.

The non-ringing curate, the Rev. Eric Craig, accompanied the party and he describes the outing in graphic terms.
"The officer commanding the invasion is usually B. J. Harfield, whose rise to power relies upon his connections with the Press. It is be who arranges the printing of all pamphlets, and his book, 'Mein Kampfanology' will be published "On the actual day any bystander secing the gang set off would think that it was a junior Darby and Joan Club off on their annual outing to the seaside, and this image is kept up by stopping every so often on the route to drink coffee or tea. It should be mentioned here that the gang is composed of two types of troops, the stormiroopers who actually carry out the invasions, and decoy troops, who fan out around the scene of the invasion and thereby divert attention all over the place.

Thus when the battle waggon arrives at a place to be assaulted, the first two or three troops out of the bus are decoys to spy out the land. As soon as they give the all-clear the first wave of stormtroopers runs to the scene of action-always a church tower. They ascend the tower and overpower any guards, and then prepare to fire their first salvo. Firing positions are thus-one foot slightly in front of the other, arms upraised grasping the firing rope, and eyes sometimes fixed on the firing order.

By now it must be obvious that the invasion is one of bellringers who are actively combating all noise abatement societies and the Lord's Day Observance Society."

GUILD OF DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The annual general meeting of the N. and N.W. Branch, held at Shebbear, was a great success, about 50 ringers attending from various parts of Devon and Cornwall. Ringing started at 3 p.m. with various methods, call changes and rounds. The service was taken by the Vicar (the Rev. H. A. Robins), who preached, and a collection was taken for the bell restoration fund.
At the meeting after tea two certificates were presented by the president (Preb. J. H. B. Andrews) to two young ringers from Westleigh. All the Branch officers were re-elected and thanks were expressed to the Vicar, those who supplied tea and the organist.

Evening ringing was at Sheepwash.

A PROBLEM SOLVED

The captain sat by the belfry door.
He had almost given up hope;
Twenty minutes, no less, he'd been waiting there,
His hand on the tenor rope.
Then over the brow of the distant hill Appeared a familiar car.
It belonged to one of his erring band, And the captain knew he'd come far.
The car arrived. and the driver got out, "Sorry I'm late," he said.
Then, "Are you alone-is no one about?
Has everyone stayed in their bed?"
"That's it," said the captain," and I'm going home,
It's twenty to ten, and I'm through.
Would you be so kind as to give me a lift?"
The ringer said, "Yes-as it's you."
The captain took note of that final remark, And thought, as they drove down the hill.
"I know very well why he said 'As it's you'
So the feeling lies in him still."
Not far from the village lay a bustling town With five churches and bells of its own.
The bells, there were eight. belonged to St . John's,
A building of twelfth century stone.
The six in the village had been regularly rung.
And so had the eight in the town.
One band for both had been quite all right, And the bells were a well-known sound.
But all was disrupted-a quarrel arose;
The big band was split into two.
The villagers no longer rang at St. John"s,
And their own bells no longer rang true.
Without support by the ringers from town, The band in the village grew small.
While the rest at St. John's could only raise five,
But more often raise none at all.
In thinking this over, the captain grew wise. He said to his driver, "Turn right.
We must get the rest of out band out of bed-
They must have been drinking last night."
That morning at ten, he had six from their beds,
Himself and his friend making eight.
He said, "We are needed to ring at St. John's,
Harry, or we shall be late."
Mass at St. John's was then at eleven,
They rang from a quarter past ten.
The quarrel was ended. ill feeling gone by,
And twelve ringers friendly again.
So all that was needed was a little less pride, And concern for the matter in hand.
Bells can be heard there both morning and night,
Rung well by a steadfast band.
BY ONE OF THE BAND.

OBITUARY

CAPT. A. POYNTZ

We regret to report the death on December 1st of Capt. Alban Poyntz, D.S.C., R.I.N. (retd.), of Riverside. Shaldon, South Devon, after a long illness borne with great fortitude. He was 82 .

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

The Church of St. James, Southbroom, Devizes

St. James' Church, Southbroom

THE graceful, slender 15 th century tower is the only part which remains of the original church of St . James, Southbroom. The remainder was rebuilt in 1832, the year following the separation of the parish from Bishops Cannings. Previously it had been a chapel-of-ease, but it always had its own Churchwardens and Registers.

Lying outside the ancient borough of Devizes, it is difficult to discover why the church was originally built, as the population around it at the time would have been negligible. One theory is that it belonged to a nearby Leper Hospital, served by monks whose "Friday fish" may have been provided by the pond shown in the foreground of the cover picture, and known locally as the Crammer. This stretch of water makes the setting of the church, with its trees and roses, one of the most beautiful and frequently photographed corners of Devizes. Crammer is possibly a corruption of Cranemere; for where there are fish there are often cranes. Nowadays swans add their graceful form to the scene.

The tower bears scars of the Civil War of the 17 th century in which Devizes played so stirring a part. In 1643 the Parliamentarian troops mounted a battery of guns on the rising ground to the east of the church and bombarded the town. To this day there can be seen in the east face of the tower two holes made by the cannon fire on that occasion.

The church originally had four bells. In 1909 the old treble was recast and a new treble and second were added, and the six bells hung in a cast iron frame by J. Taylor and Co., Loughborough. Part of the old wooden frame was made into a cover for the font.

The weights and inscriptions are as follows:

Treble: Deum Timete Regem Honorate. In Mem: John Glyde Rose. OB. A.D. III ID: Dec. A.D. 1900.
D.D. Fil: William Rose et Walter Rose. A.D. 1909, Ed. VII Rege. J. Taylor, Fecit, Loughborough. Note F. 3 cwt. 2 qr. 23 lb .

Second: G audete in Domino Hora Fugit. The Gift of Sarah, Wife of Henry Brownlee West 1909. J. Taylor, Founders, Loughborough. E flat. 4 cwt .19 lb .
Third: Oremus. Robert Brothers and Thomas Adlen, Churchwardens 1663. Recast 1909. William Gardiner, Vicar. John G. Williams, Cyril G. S. Pugh, Churchwardens. J. Taylor, Founder, Loughborough (originally cast by W. R. Purdue). D flat. 4 cwt. 2 qr. 24 lb.
Fourth: Peace and Good Neighbourhood. A.R. 1742 (Abraham Rudhall, Gloucester). C. 4 cwt. 3 qr. 14 lb .
Fifth: Searve God. I.W. 1612. (James Wallis, Salisbury). B flat. 6 cwt .11 lb .
Tenor: Prayese the Lord. I.W 1612. A flat. 7 cwt .2 qr. 11 lb .

Two of the present team of eleven ringers are the brothers Alexander and Joseph Weeks, who between them have completed 93 years as ringers of the church. Mr. Alex Weeks is the Captain, following in the footsteps of his father, Thomas Weeks (Captain 19321940), and his grandfather, Henry Brownlee West (Captain 1908-1932). Indeed, for four years (1928-1932) there were four members of this family who were ringers of the tower. The new second bell, added in 1909, was the gift of Mr. West's wife, Sarah.
Until 1960 Devizes was the home of the Wiltshire Regiment, the Depot Barracks being within the parish and St. James' the Garrison Church. There are other Army Camps nearby occupied successively by the Royal Artillery and the Pay Corps, and a considerable number of ringers from among the troops stationed here have visited the church and rung in the tower.

Since 1909 many peals and quarter peals have been rung on the bells, some of them recorded on peal boards in the ringing chamber.

One of these peals, Bob Minor of 5040 changes, was rung in 1959 to celebrate the Golden Jubilee of the rehanging of the bells and their augmentation to a ring of six. The occasion was also marked by a special service at which the preacher was the Archdeacon of Wilts, the Ven. C. A. Plaxton, himself a ringer and a former Vicar of St. James' (1932-1937).

St. James' has a long tradition of friendliness and lively worship which is continued in the thriving Family Service every Sunday at $10.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. There is a strong emphasis on music with a choir of some 45 voices. It is in this worship that the bells play their part.

GABRIEL LINDOFF - 1868-1941

By EDGAR C. SHEPHERD

AHUNDRED years ago there came into the world five persons who grew up to attain positions of eminence in the ringing Exercise and were destined to exert influence extending far beyond their own times and possibly exceeding their own imaginings. These men were James E. Groves, William Willson. Henry Law James, Charles Howard and Gabriel Lindoff. The first two became distinguished as notable conductors and leaders of men whose work has left an unmistakable mark on the Societies they served so well. The second was an important pioneer in the scientific investigation of composition and method construction, and an inveterate controversialist whose polemics stimulated and animated his contemporaries. The work of Howard as an administrator and innovator brought expansion and enterprise to Essex, and with it a succession of fine ringers. Gabriel Lindoff combined within him the qualities of each of the above in such measure that any one attribute would have been sufficient to raise him to a high position in the hierarchy of change ringing. For we find in him a highly competent ringer and conductor, an able administrator and a brilliant composer.

Gabriel Lindoff was born at Leiston in Suffolk on November 19th, 1868, and very early in life he became interested in bells through watching the rehanging of the local ring. The attraction must have been very great, for he determined to teach himself to handle a bell. This feat he accomplished unaided, to the great astonishment of the local ringers. Very soon he was ringing with them, and at the age of eighteen he rang his first peal. Shortly atterwards he joined The Royal Engineers. and in this Corps he served for ten years. Wherever he was stationed he devoted much time to instruction, to the encouragement of local ringing, and to the development of his natural gifts for exploration and experiment in the field of composition.
His army service ending in 1896 Lindoff resided for a time at Lincoln, but in 1897 he left East Anglia to take up residence in Ireland, a move that had far-reaching effects on Irish ringing. There was now little scope for peal ringing but far more time for research, and the fruits of his work were to provide the ringing Exercise with a precious inheritance. Visits to England were marked by some notable events. In 1901 he took part in the (then) record peal of Stedman Cinques, the famous "Five Ones" at St. Martin's Church. Birmingham. and two years later he was a member of Pye's band that rang the (then) record length of 14,112 of London at King's Norton. (It is said that after this great performance William Pye succeeded in reaching his home in Essex the same night, in time to post the account of the peal to "The Bell News." A remarkable feat of railway travel!) Both these peals were compositions by Lindoff. No one knew Gabriel and his capabilities better than that great judge of ringers, William Pye, and Pye assiduously sought out his old friend from lreland for two more strenuous pieces of work, 18,027 of Stedman Caters at Loughborough in 1909 and the spendid 15,312 of Cambridge Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne in 1929. The latter was Gabriel's first peal of Cambridge Twelve.

But it is as a composer that Gabriel Lindoff is for the most part familiar to ringers and conductors, and to many there is magic in the very name. As the writer of the obituary notice in 1941 aptly put it: "His very name itself had an appeal in it seldom found in English nomenclature. It was a unique and striking combination which created a fascinating impression, whether spoken or written-Gabricl Lindoff."

He composed the 11,111 of Stedman Cinques rung at Birmingham, the 18.027 of Stedman Caters scored at Loughborough. and the 22,222 in the same method, of which Pulling called 19,738 at Guildford in 1912. But his chief work was as a pioneer in the scientific investigation of the principles of composition, bringing to the major methods the precise mathematical approach that Heywood and Earle Bulwer had made to Stedman Triples and which Davies had found with Grandsire. He expanded very considerably the scope of Treble Bob, and taking full advantage of the In and Fifths plan he produced a vast collection of peals of London. There was very little. from Grandsire Triples to the Surprise methods, that he did not touch and enrich, and the sureness of his touch was matched only, perhaps, by that of his great contemporary John Carter. It is indeed difficult to find where he put a figure wrong. He was firm of opinion and stout to defend what he considered correct. but in controversy he was moderate and restrained. He had nothing of the cocksureness of Law James and none of the bludgeoning of William Willson. His voice was less impulsive, less assertive, but no less compelling.

In 1897 Lord Iveagh presented a ring of ten bells to the Cathedral of St . Patrick, Dublin, and shortly afterwards Gabriel Lindoff went to reside in that city. The two events combined to bring about a momentous happening, and the Irish Association of Change Ringers came into being. It was Lindoff who circularised the five local societies and brought them together for a meeting in Dublin. A national Association was formed with Mr. R. R. Cherry (afterwards Lord Chief Justice Cherry) as President and Lindoff as Secretary. There was no other secretary until Lindoff's death in 1941. The vitalising effect of the Association on Irish ringing and the great spread of the art in the whole of the island are well known; but what is more radiantly apparent is the bond of Christian unity that has brought together all the ringers of Ireland in a brotherhood that transcends the differences and difficulties presented by political boundaries. In this alone there is a memorial to Lindoff that might of itself suffice.
This then is the man whose birthday we remember and whose memory we honour at this time; ringer, composer, teacher, administrator, a good companion and a gentleman of modest pretensions. On his work as composer the succeeding generation of theorists has been nourished and has thrived: on his memory those who knew him dwell with affection and a remembrance of pleasant and precious relationships. He died at a time when the bells of Britain were silenced, and of him Mr. C. T. Coles wrote: "When our bells are rung once more, the sound of them will always bring back pleasant memories of a great and true English gentleman." It was a simple and sincere tribute.

RINGINE IN  YORKSHIRE

The Joint Council of Yorkshire Associations has just issued its annual report for 1967. One of the aims of the Joint Council is to present a unified annual report, and some nine Societies have co-operated in this object. There are also reports from the Joint Council and the parent body, the Yorkshire Association.

To paint a picture of the state of ringing in the vast area covered by the Yorkshire Association is a formidable task." states the annual report. "There are over 250 towers with ringable bells in the county; it is quite certain that we have not the 2.000 ringers that would be required if all these towers were to be effectively manned. Much solid work is being done by a number of dedicated ringers in all four Districts, and the number of inquiries from silent towers where there is a desire to resume ringing is encouraging. It is pleasing to observe the high proportion of teenage ringers present at any District or general meeting.
In the Northern District an average attendance of about 30 members can be secured at most meetings: those who attend are mainly the enthusiasts, but they are also the people who are doing much sound work between meetings. and there is no lack of encouragenient for those who would seek to progress. It is pleasing to note that outstanding pro gress has been made at Northallerton, the county town of the North Riding.

In the Southern District the standard of ringing is good and there is a goodly number of very competent and active instructors. The Fastern District is prospering under the guidance of a very enthusiastic District Committee; very few towers in the District are completely silent. It is in the Western District that it is most difficult to obtain a complete picture. Perhaps the brightest feature is the success of the evening practice meetings, inspired by the Ringing Master, Maurice Thurmott. These meetings have met a long-felt need in the Craven areas and are undoubiedly bearing fruit.

On the administrative side, it is good tc realise that we now have a set of rules and standing orders which is much more comprehensible than the former rules, which were unknown to most ringers and understood by very few. We have welcomed Chris Moxon as our new and energetic treasurer, and by reapportioning the work of preparing the annual report have. we hone, lightened the heavy burden borne long and willingly by our peal secretary, Eric Critchley.

The General Committee is already considering plans for the Association's Centenary in 1975. It may be stated with full justification that the year 1967 can be recorded as one of steady progress in the long period which has elapsed since Jasper Snowdon first conceived the idea of uniting Yorkshire ringers into a fellowship of service to and in the Church."

JOHN BUNYAN AND ELSTOW ABBEY

JOHN BUNYAN

From a drawing by Robert White
The Church of SS. Mary and Helena, Elstow, Beds, has a noble detached tower on the north-west, with low spire, containing a clock and six bells, five ancient ones rehung in 1909 and a new treble added.

It was here that John Bunyan used to ring originally the fourth, but now fifth, and the bell still exists to this day. It is unusual in its inscription, being what is described as an "alphabet" bell, and was cast in Leicester but is undated. Here it is:
" $+\mathrm{ABCDEFG} \ddagger \mathrm{ABCDE} \ddagger$ RSTVM $\ddagger$ " (Some letters are upside down.
It weighs 7 cwt .1 gr. 10 lb .
Among the noted bellringers of England perhaps there is none so "picturesque" as John Bunyan, the author of Pilgrim's Progress" and other works. He was born at Elstow in 1628 and, like his father. followed the trade of tinker and brazier. He was a lad of spirit and imagination, but not-he solemnly assures us-ever drunken or unchaste, although given to swearing.
At the age of 20 he found a respectable young lady willing to marry him, and although neither his prospects nor hers were brilliant they duly married. Bunyan tells us that all he brought him were two books which belonged to her father, and these were "The Plane Mans Pathway to Heaven, wherein every Man may clearly see whether he shall be saved or damned." by Alfred Dent. a Puritan minister, and "The Practice of Piety," by Lewis Bayle. Bishop of Bangor.
Bunyan settled down with his wife at Elstow. They read these books together, and she would often be telling him "what a Godly man her father was. and how he would reprove and correct vice, both in his house and amongst his neighbours: what a strict and holy life he lived in his days, both in word and deed" For a long time Bunyan's mind and conscience were bewildered among his puritanical books and conversations. The aspect of religion thus presented to him tended to make his cnoscience "tender" about what he should or should not do, without giving him an insight into the principles or power of Christianity.

The Rev. Dr. Brown, in his "Life of Bunvan", thus describes this period of religious perplexities: "When a man comes under the dominion of conscience and is a stranger to love. conscience is apt to become somewhat of a tyrant : a false standard is set up, and things right enough in themselves seem to become

P. rong to the man. Bunyan had hitherto faken pleasure in the somewhat laborious diversion of ringing the bells in the tower of Elstow church. He began to think this was wrong, one does not quite see why; still, having this misgiving about it, he gave up his bellringing, but not the love of it.

BUNYAN'S DILEMMA

Bunyan's own words, from "Grace Abounding", say-:
"Now you must know that before this, had taken much delight in ringing, but my conscience beginning to be tender, I thought such practice was but vain, and therefore forced myself to leave it, yet my mind hankered. Wherefore 1 should go to the steeple house and look on though 1 durst not ring, But I thought this did not become religion either, yet I forced myself and would look on still. But quickly after I began to think, how if one of the bells should fall? Then I chose to stand under a main beam that lay overthwart the steeple, from side to side, thinking there I might stand sure. But then I should think again, should the bell fall with a-swing it might first hit the wall and then rebounding upon me, might kill me for all this beam. This made me stand in the steeple door; and now, thought I, I am safe enough for if a bell should fall then I can slip out behind these thick walls, and so be preserved notwithstanding.

"So after this, I would yet so to see them ring but would not go further than the steeple door, but then it came into my head, how if the steeple itself should fall? and this thought. it may fall for ought I know, when I stood and looked on did continually so shake my mind that I durst not stand at the steeple door any longer, but was forced to flee for fear the steeple should fall on my head.

Another thing was my dancing. I was a full year before 1 could quite leave that. But all this while, when I thought I kept this or that commandment, or did, by word or deed. anything that I thought was good, I had great peace in my conscience; and should think with myself, God cannot choose but be now pleased with me, yea, to relate it in mine own way. I thought no man in England could Dlease God better than I. But poor wretch as 1 was, 1 was all this while ignorant of Jesus Christ. and going about to establishing own righteousness; and had perished therein, had not God in mercy. showed me more of my state by nature."

IN PRISON

Bunyan afterwards joined a Baptist congregation at Bedford, of which he was called to be the minister in 1655. After the Restoration he got into trouble for offences against the law relating to religious conformity by preaching. and was imprisoned from 1660, with one brief interval, till 1672. During this enforced seclusion from his usual work he wrote several books, including the biographical "Grace Abounding ", and in a subsequent short imprisonment in 1675 he wrote the immortal "Pilgrim's Progress", which has made his name known throughout the world wherever the English tongue is spoken. In this allegory he speaks of bells being in the Heavenly City. He says of the two pilgrims approaching it:-
"They had the City itself in view, and they thought they heard all the bells therein to ring to welcome them thereto." And a few lines later:-
"Now I saw in my dream, that these two men went in at the gate, and 10 ! as they entered, they were transfigured: and they had raiment put on that shone like gold. There

Since the price increases came into force in July, no fewer than 430 subscribers have made a voluntary contribution amounting to $£ 225$ 7s. were also that met them with harps and crowns, and gave them to them; the harps to praise withal, the crowns in token of honour. Then I heard in my dream that all the bells in the City rang again for joy, and that it was said unto them "Enter ye into the joy of your Lord'."

Bunyan died of a fever consequent on a cold while on a visit to London on August 3rd, 1688, and was buried in Bunbill Fields.

THE BELLS

Mr. Martin Marriott has provided us with the following details of the bells:-
The original five bells in the tower were taken down in 1908 and rehung by Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich, in a new low-sided iron frame. He provided all new fittings and cast a treble bell to make a ring of six. The bells are on plain bearings and go quite well, with a draught of rope 55 feet. The ringing chamber was restored and a new floor added in 1964, to make a ceiling of about 12 feet.

The clappers are Bowell's own type, being of wood and metal. The wooden part hinges on the crown staple and to this is bolted a clapper flight. I understand this was Bowell's usual method.

Three years ago, during restoration work on the tower (which is detached), the supporting beams of the frame were themseives supported by four rolled-steel joists to make everything secure.

OBITUARY

Mr. RONALD RUSSELL

An Appreclation by Percy Amos.

We first met each other in 1927 in an unsuccessful peal attempt at Libourne-a village with five bells in the extreme north-west corner of Northamptonshire, near Rugby.

In the late 1920's and 1930's we would trequently meet for peals with the band shown in this picture, mainly in an attempt to help the late Mr. Ernest Morris ring a peal in every tower in Leicestershire, which he did in all but two (Shawell and Skeffington); but Skeffington's, unringable during Ernest's lifetime, have since been rehung, although Shawell's are still deplorable. Others (such as Theddingworth) are now on the unringable list. Towers in Northamptonshire and in Rutland were among others visited.
In those days Ron with his P.& M. Panther Geoff and Norman with their old Clyno car and myself with an old flat-tank Douglas wouk find our way to in all some 50 or more places for peals and unsuccessful attempts which were not without incidents

One such was in 1934, when a violent thunderstorm broke over the Midlands; it started as we raised the bells (at Cottesmore, in Rutland), went unabated through the whole of the peal of 3 hours and 2 minutes, ending as we lowered the bells.
Then in 1933, at Harringworth, a rope broke on the stroke of rounds at the conclusion of a 5,040 , just as John H. Bluff called "This is all"; Norman Geary was ringing the bell concerned.
On another occasion, at Hallaton, a bell was found 10 have no stay, so one of us volunteered to ring in the peal without it and the peal was successfully accomplished.
"You'll never ring those bells to a peal " was the verdict in 1950 of the late Mr. William Rose, referring to the bells at Thornhaugh. But after a morning spent on tightening the fittings, cleaning and greasing the bearings by myself, a peal was rung to prove W. R. wrong-Thornhaugh's five bells have never been deemed unringable since.
These are but a few of the occasions Ron and I met

It seems unbelievable to hear that the name Ronald Russell has been lost to ringing.

Another Appreciation

The "R.W." recently announced the death at the beginning of October of Ron Russell, aged 65, a very well known and respected ringer, who latterly lived in Corby, Northants. but started ringing at Hallaton, Leics.
Most of his ringing was in Northants, Rutland, Leics and Lincs, and I learn from his records that be rang 478 peals, the first at Hallaton in August, 1926, and the last at Cranford on September 26th, 1968. On December 6th, 1952, he rang a peal of 7,008 Plain Bob Major at Loughborough Bell Foundry.
In his latter years Ron was most remembered for his interest in and the pleasant manner in which he helped young ringers just breaking through into changes and peals. He is already being very much missed in the practices, peals and quarters by all his friends of all ages in the area round Corby where he ived.

MR GODFREY G. WALPOLE An Appreciation

The death of Mr. Godfrey G. Walpole on November 29 th came as a great shock to his many friends throughout Norfolk and Suffolk. "Smoker" as he was always affectionately known, was a man who endeared himself to all with whom he came in contact. Equally at home whether on the bowling green, supporting Norwich City, in the belfry, or the Queen's Head, his innate sense of humour, combined with that subtle degree of dignity and reserve which characterises the true East Anglian, earned him the popularity he so richly deserved.

Like his father before him. he was for many years Ringing Master at Norton Subcourse, and many a young ringer, particularly the writer, can testify to his seemingly infinite patience and encouragement while attempting to master the rudiments of ringing. The complete restoration of Norton Subcourse bells was brought about. in the face of virtually insurmountable odds, chiefly by "Smoker"s" drive and determination, and when this project came to fruition the day of the dedication was, in his own words, "the proudest moment of my life"

To those of us who knew and loved him the memory of "Smoker" and his never-failing cheerfulness will always remain. and our deepest sympathy goes to his wife and family. May he rest in peace.

Letters to the Editor

METRIC SYSTEM AND RINGING
Dear Sir,-I read with some concern the letter from Mr. Threlfall ("R.W.", Dec. 6th) and his attempt to publish the weight of a tenor in Kg. instead of British units.
May I put in a plea for sanity? In recent years this country has shown almost indecent haste to adopt standards from overseas, e.g., road signs, decimal currency and metric engineering standards. In some of these cases the changeover is very costly and inconvenient and is done with scant apparent regard for the pay-off or even to the demands of logic.
In the case of tenor weights we have a long tradition of ringing and British engineering where there is certainly no pay-off for changwher lbs. of bell metal into Kg . of bell metal.
Please. Mr. Threlfall, leave our towers (and Dove) 10 easily understood and perfectly adequate hundredweights. Otherwise I have a fear of the "R.W." following the lead of the Met. Office and publishing peals showing the weight of a tenor as 1.000 Kg . ( 19 cwt .2 qr. 20 lb.$)$. -Yours faithfully.
M. H. SINDEN.

Nettleham, Lincoln.
Dear Sir ,-The supposed advantage of the metric system is that it is easier to calculate with. (I say "supposed" because this is not always the case.) But who, except a bellfounder, wants to calculate with the weight of a tenor? It is a purely descriptive plece of information. like the note, or the date of casting, and there is no point whatsoever in departing from the traditional usage with which we are familiar. One might as well give the note in terms of its frequency. Besides, which, the hundredweight is a very convenient unit for the purpose-the kilogram is much too small. "Logical" and "screntific" units are all right in their place, but they are not always the best for every purpose. The 24-hour clock may eliminate ambiguity from timetables, but I've yet to hear a friend say to me: "Come and have tea with me at halfto me: "Come and have tea with me ampteen CWi, tenors, and be blowed to metrication.Yours sincerely.

Metrication

Dear Sir,-I suppose that it is inevitable that our tenor bells will fall victims to the innovators; but. whatever you print. sir, Grandison will always be $72 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. to me. Yours sincerely,

VERNON BOTTOMLEY.
Northowram, Halifax.

HARROGATE RINGERS ACCEPT

Dear Sir, We thank Margaret Warford for her belated explanation. which was all we ever wanted from Chapel Allerton. We realise perfectly well that lateness is sometimes unavoidable. At the same time we would have liked some recognition on their part that no one can reasonably be expected to wait around indefinitely, and that it is usual, if late. to offer an explanation.

Since their only reference to the affair was in "The Ringing World," it was proper and appropriate for our protest to be made there.Yours faithfully,
C. 1. P. ROBERTS.

Harrogate.

KING CHARLES DELIGHT AT WONSTON
Dear Sir,-To put the mind of Mr. Smith, of Sutton Scotney, at rest, the account of Wonston bells sent in by me along with a quarter peal of King Charles Delight Minor was correct in every detail. Ringers from Winchester College and Southampton University can vouch for the accuracy, as both bands had had difficulty with peals due to bells drying up, and this was the reason for our attempt coming to grief.

The Rector must have been aware of this as he met me leaving the tower with the empty oil can. Mr. Smith can now rest easy in his bed as with lubrication the bells go as well as ever and are a joy to ring. We hope that the treble stay is now repaired so that no unwary visitors can come to grief, and that the local band may flourish again. - Yours sincerely,

GEOFFREY K. DODD.
Woolton Hill.

IN HANDBELL BOOK

Dear Sir, -The 12 -part composition of Plain Bob Major published on page 960 of "The Ringing World" (Dec. 6th, 1968) is the same as the peal on page 60 of "Change Ringing on Handbells", by C. W. Woolley.

As the Central Council only publishes one book on handbell ringing it seems almost inconceivable that Mr. Rowson did not check this work for possible duplication. -

Mr. Woolley has informed me that the arrangement should be attributed to John Carter or himself.-Yours faithfully,

A. G. CRADDOCK.

INVESTIGATING TWERTON RINGING

Dear Sir,-As I originated the discussion on local and resident bands, may I answer John Brain's letter (page 906) relating to the quarter of Duffield recently rung at Twerton-onAvon? We now know that the footnote should have read "First in the method by all the band" and apologise for not investigating thoroughly any previous ringing of the method within the Association. The band, however. was neither local nor resident as it consisted of only two Twerton ringers, the remainder being from other towers in North Somerset plus one Leicestershire ringer at present aftending Bath University.
In reply to Mr. G. H. Harding's letter (page 926). in which he insists all in the band which rang the peal of Superlative in 1930 at Twerton were members of the Twerton band, I can only point out that the Bath and Wells Association report for that year lists W. Crocker and Miss N. G. Williams as members of Weston. Bath, and T. Grant as a member of Bath Abbey. After discussing the matter with Miss Williams and confirming the facts, I still maintain that there is a difference between the Twerton Surprise band of 1930. which included ringers attached to other towers, and the one of today, the ringers of which are all attached to Twerton and incidentally all learnt to handle a bell there.-Yours faithfully, Oldfield Park, Bath.

COAT CAUGHT IN A CRACK

Dear Sir. With reference 10 the query in Belfry Gossip on page 950. "Swaying Towers". 1 am no authority on this but would like to make this comment. My father as a lad was a ringer at Northwood, Norfolk, about 1880 , and used to tell us of an experience in a cracked tower. An onlooker was leaning against the crack; when ringing ceased his coat was caught in it and they had to start ringing again to release him!
By the way, the ringers there were a closed shop and it was only when they were one short my father was accepted. He begged 10 fill the gap; there was much demur, but one of the old hands said: "Let the boy have a go.:
i gather he sucked them in and surpassed them. An experience of mine was just after the War at a ringing meeting at Marham, Norfolk. Some American airmen with myself went to the top of the tower while ringing was in progress. The door at the top opened and shut! Their remarks at once were: "Buddy, we"re baling out of here."
We had to wait till the ringing ceased, and were they not glad to get outside! I must confess the sway alarmed me. - Yours sin. cerely, Lakenheath, Suffolk.

UPSET THE CALENDAR

Dear $\operatorname{Sir}$, - happened to be looking through some $1950^{\circ}$ "Ringing Worlds" when I noticed that the issue dated October 27th was No. 2064 and the following week's copy was 2066 .
This means, of course, that on pages 804 and 805 of this year the heading should read "They took lssue No. 1-Now they take Issue 2,999." I am sorry, sir-you are one out.Yours faithfully.

ADVERTISING 1969

A firm of distillers are tying up their product with the year 1969 by the offer of awards to sportsmen linked with 69 , i.e., 69 winners.
The list of sports includes cricket. golf, tennis, show jumping, rugby league, horse, motor and speedway racing.
A correspondent suggests that the campanological fraternity should somehow get in on this offer. Say, the first person to ring 69 peals in 1969.

OBITUARY

MR. CHARLES AYLWARD

Charlie Aylward, who died on November 9 th. a few weeks before his 84 th birthday, was the last active survivor of the band who kept ringing going in Chiddingstone, Kent, between the wars. He was brought up in the local tradition of Grandsire Triples, ringing peals of it with the local band at Chiddingstone in 1920, 1924 and 1932, and was never really happy in any other method. A quarter peal of Grandsire was rung to his memory by some of his friends on November 13th.
Although his ringing repertoire whas limited. Charlie Aylward was never happier than when ringing or listening to or discussing ringing. On the revival of the band some five years ago he took up ringing where he had left oft and continued to ring until well over 80 .
We shall mixs his cheerful presence after practice and the long technical discussions. The whole village, 100. will miss one of its oldest and most natural and straightforward members.

Gloucester & Bristol Ringing Competition

"Most Worthwhile Event"

1T was appropriate that the Gloucester and Bristol Association should hold the first competition for the Croome Trophy at North Cerney, the church which W. I. Croome had loved and worshipped in for so many years.
Preliminary competitions for Sunday Service bands had taken place in nine of the Association's twelve branches, the trophy had been presented to the Association by the Gloucester Diocesan Board of Finance, and, during the week preceding November 9 th, the whole of Cirencester seemed to be ringing conscious, for not only had bellringing received a place on the agenda of the Deanery Conference and one of the town's leading jewellers given the trophy a place in his window for a week, but the local newspaper had devoted a whole column to the forthcoming event-on the Sports Page!
November 9th dawned frosty and foggy, not the best weather for those travelling from distant parts of the Association territory. However, by early afternoon the sun had broken through and the scene upon which the judge, the Rev. Roger O. Fry, gazed from a bedroom in the Rectory was nothing short of idyllic-a peaceful village with the delightful Cotswold stone church bathed in autumnal sunshine and the first of the many ringers beginning to arrive.

fHE TEAMS

At half-past two the first draw was made on the table tomb outside the south door. Cirencester. the home team, were the first to ring, and their Grandsire Doubles, though not as good as we expected from Cirencester, enabled those listening to hear the bells properly for the first time. They were followed into the tower by Haresficld, representing the Stroud Branch, a young band who have striven magnificently over the past two years to achieve a worthwhile standard. Cheltenham Parish Church "B" (for Bill Farmer) team were next, and it was obvious from the outset that here were strong contenders for the trophy. Their Kent Treble Bob Minor was a joy to listen to, though the really critical found a fault or two. Thornbury's ringing concluded the first half, a good effort, but not up to the standard which had gained them first place in the Bristol Rural Branch competition.
Stone, representing the Wotton-underEdge Branch, opened the second half. Here was a band of young people, all but one under fifteen years of age, ringing call changes, and it was very apparent that they had really practised since their branch competition. St. Mary de Crypt (Gloucester Branch) rang next, followed by Lydney (Forest Branch), whose St. Martin's had the judge puzzled for a moment. Both were good attempts, but the Plain Bob Minor rung by Bristol Cathedral made the Cheltenham Branch wonder whether, in fact, the trophy was really theirs, for this ringing was excellent. Malmesbury (Chippenham Branch), ringing last, surprised a great many listeners with the standard of their Grandsire Doubles.
The competition ringing was over, an excellent buffet tea had been served in the Village Hall throughout the afternoon by the North Cerney Women's Institute, and the fog had again closed in. "Who has won?" was the question on all lips, although most of us felt sure that it must be either Bristol Cathedral or Cheltenham.

TROPHY DEDICATED

The church was packed for the service at which the Croome Trophy, which had been placed in the chancel early in the afternoon to be admired by all, was to be dedicated. The service was conducted by Canon A. J. C. Turner, Rector of North Cerney, and the lesson was read by Miss E. M. Bliss, Association Chairman. Before the actual dedication. Canon Turner spoke of the life of W. I. Croome, his great love of churches. especially North Cerney, his work as Chairman of the Diocesan Advisory Committee. Vice-Chairman of the Central Council for the Care of Churches, and Chairman of the Cathedrals' Advisory Committee. but above all of his humility and faithfulness in little, things which could provide an example for all of us. (See page 988.)

The company then proceeded to the Village Hall to hear the results. Miss Bliss presented the apologies of Mr. F. Sharpe, who but for his recent illness would have been judging. Major P. D. Birchall of Gloucestershire County Council, and Mr. W. H. Warmington, who had designed and made the trophy. The Association Ringing Master. Mr. W. F. Scudamore, spoke of the preliminary stages of the competition, and then there was a tense hush as the Rev. Roger O. Fry rose to announce the results. He began at the bottom of the list and one by one the Branches knew their placesStone, Haresfield. Cirencester, Lydney, Thornbury, St. Mary de Crypt. Malmesbury had been placed third and the only two teams as yet unmentioned were Bristol Cathedral and Cheltenham. Which was it to be? The judge paused-eventually Cheltenham second and Bristol the winners. The presentation was made by the Ringing Master and it was difficult to say which man was the more proud at that moment -Pat Bird who was receiving the valuable miniature silver bell hung for ringing on behalf of his team, or Fred Scudamore who was seeing the realisation of a bright idea he had had just over a year ago

Miss Bliss said that unfortunately she could not make the second presentation. the Ringing Master's Clapper for "A Good Attempt," which Mr. Scudamore had given to the Association that day, as the young ringers from Stone had already left for home owing to the dense fog.

Mr. Scudamore expressed the thanks of the Association to the Rev. Roger O. Fry, who had readily undertaken to judge at short notice, to Canon Turner, who had so readily agreed for the competition to be held at his church, to North Cerney W.I. for their excellent catering, and to all who had contributed to the success of the event. He was in turn thanked by Miss Bliss who wondered what his next bright idea would be.
And so the day ended and well over a hundred and twenty ringers left North Cerney to go their various ways, some to ring at Cirencester and some at Rendcomb. and all to grope their way home through the fog. feeling that this had been a most worthwhile event in the G. and B. calendar.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Southern Branch

The A.G.M. of the Southern Branch was held on November 16 th at Quidenham. A dull. cold day was probably the cause of the attendance being lower than usual for the annual meeting, but good use was made of the cight bells
The Rev. I. Davies conducted the service, which was delayed for a short time while an organist was fetched, the arranged one having failed to turn up. Tea was provided by Mrs. Davies and her helpers, who were warmly thanked for their efforts.
This was followed by the husmess meetling, presided over by Dr. J. Jonason, the Branch chairman. All the officers were re-elected to serve fol another year. A tetter was received from Rev. C. Beevers thanking the ringers for the presentation made to him on his retirement, and wishing the Hranch every success in the future
Ringing. under the direction of the Ringing Master. Mr. F. C. Arnoid, continued till 9 D.m.

Next meeting: February lst at Pulham Market (provisional).

SHERWOOD YOUTHS AT DERBY

There was a good attendance at the Shere wood Youths' metting at Derby on November 30 th. The light eight at St. Peters was rung in the afternoon and methods included Grandsire Major. Tea was followed by a business meeting. at which the Rev. David Sansum. from Birmingham. kindly took the chair.

The secretary reported that the Crofts mantiseripts were now deposited in the Nottingham records office and a copy had been sent to the Central Council Library He also reported that Crofts' gravestone had been restored and thanked Messrs. J. and G. Dawson and helper for theil work. Members were asked to consider al change in Society rules which would be discussed at the A.G.M.

A hearty vole of thanks was pawed to the ladies for a splendid tea, to Mr. A. Mould for arranging the ringing at St. Peter's. and to Mr. G. Clift for acting as Ringing Master. Ringing then took place at the Cathedral and methods up to Cambridge Surprise Royal were rung

WANT YORKSHIRE RINGING

REORGANISED

"The Leeds and District Society recognises with regret the extent of disunity in Yorkshire ringing circles. It believes, nevertheless, that there is great potential for fuller co-operation and pooling of resources. It urges both the Yorkshire Association and the Joint Council of Yorkshire Ringing Societies to give priority to reorganisation for the whole county, aimed at eventually bringing all. ringers under the auspices of the Yorkshire Association. As a first positive step towards the achievement of such unity, the Leeds and District Society acknowledges its willingness to disband upon satisfactory terms for reorganisation being reached."
The above resolution was passed by a large majority at the Society's last meeting for 1968. which was held in the crypt of Wakefield Cathedral on November 30th.
Over 45 members and friends partook of the excellent buffet tea liberally provided by the Cathedral ringers, and lengthy discussion of the resolution, which was proposed by the Society's president, Mr. Robin Brown, took up most of the business meeting afterwards.
Earlier in the afternoon ringing had taken place at Wragby, the church being delightfully situated in the grounds of Nostell Priory, Wakefield's local "stately home". This tower holds an easily-going and pleasant-sounding ring of six and, after being silent for many years, has recently been revitalised by ringers from the local congregation, learning under the auspices of Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton and some of the Wakefield band. Despite a broken rope at one stage and the coldness of the church. numerous methods were rung by the large number of ringers present
The warmth of Wakefield crypt at tea was particularly welcome, and in the evening ringing on the larger number of bells up to the standard of Stedman Cinques was enjoyed. Numerous sessions of rounds and plain hunting were appreciated by the lesser-experienced ringers present.
Next meeting: January 25th at Birstall (provisional).

A SPECIAL REQUEST

Importance of Simple Duties

[Sermon preached by Canon A. J. C. Turner, Rural Dean of Cirencester and Rector of North Cerney, at the Gloucester and Bristol Ringing Competition, 9.11.68.]

$\mathrm{T}_{\mathrm{w}}$is fitting that the first contest and service should be held here, for this was William Croome's parish church, a church that he knew and loved all his life. He was born in this parish 77 years ago and he was baptised in the font that you see in this church.

It is a long story, but as he grew up he came in contact here with a distinguished ecclesiastical architect, F. C. Eden, a man who was given a fairly free hand in this church and who, we can say, completely transformed it to make it the beautiful place it is today. A close friendship developed between the two men and over the years William Croome was to acquire from Eden a profound knowledge of the proper care and treatment of a mediaeval church.

This was fortunate, for what he learned here was to be of inestimable value to the Diocese and indeed far beyond. In turn he was to become Chairman of the Diocesan Advisory Committee, Vice-Chairman of the Central Council for the Care of Churches. Chairman of the Cathedrals' Advisory Committee and a Trustee of the Historic Churches Preservation Trust. But although it is true to say that there is scarcely a church in the country that does not owe something to William Croome, this was the church that he loved best and where he found his inspiration.

He was an extremely able man and over the years his mind became a vast storehouse of knowledge. Those of us who knew him

GREATER CONTROL IN YOUNGER HANDS

District Master's Plea

In his annual report as Ringing Master of the Stroud Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association Mr. E. Cribley writes:-
This is not so much a report as a speech on retirement, being a firm believer in jobs of this nature being passed around, and having seen so many disasters in ringing circles caused by people holding on to office, not knowing when to give up. This one fact, probably more than any other, accounts for the many hundreds of unmanned towers throughout the country today.
It has been a delight, and have felt honoured, to have been secretary and then Ringing Master during what I have considered to be a transitional period in Branch history. I remember meetings as very dull affairs and came to believe them to be a Saturday club for good ringers, but with very little point to them.
Mr. Price struggled and struggled to keep enthusiasm alive with very little support. He did a king-sized job and we still owe him a tremendous debt.
Things are much easier for us now; we have the motor car to thank for this and whatever other reasons may also be found for it, the whole approach to a meeting-or practice, as I like to insist-has been seen to change over the last few years. We now have a regular, fast-moving practice directed towards training, with young enthusiasts who see the wider world of ringing, all prepared to pool their talents "rise to fall" and, what is more, all in good humour.
I want to see this trend continue. I want to see far more trust and responsibility for ringing placed in younger hands. The remnants of the illusion that it is an arduous task and the preserve of ageing males must be dispersed. Teenagers have the agility of mind and body and the time; theirs should be the job of ringing. I for one would like to listen more often!
There is, 1 think, more vitality in Stroud Branch than in most. I thought to say that we needed more, but this would bring about its own destruction
When I became Ringing Master 1 could not call a bob-I still cannot. From this I conclude that a Ringing Master does not necessarily have to be a conductor; and would probably argue that it is better if he is not. However, there is much emerging talent in the Branch and it will be my pleasure to nominate one such ringer who. if elected, will I hope prove to be a rallying point for many more young ringers of the District.

FORTHCOMING PEAL ATTEMPT

turned to him with our queries and problems assured of a wise and understanding answer.

But with all his many gifts he was a man of simple faith and his life for a great many years centred round the worship in this parish church. He held a number of parochial offices, but during the last years of his life these were given up and he was content to worship as an ordinary member of the congregation. During this period he made himself responsible for some quite small and simple duties-the changing of the altar frontals, the renewing of candles, serving at week-day services. To him these small jobs were important and they were carried out with as great care as if he were presiding on the Cirencester Bench or chairing a committee at national level. When you got to know him you realised that these small tasks were important to him because they contributed to the beauty and dignity of the worship which he felt was due to Almighty God.

This trophy which we are to dedicate today will help to perpetuate the name of one who strove to worship God in the beauty of holiness.
If there is a message that I would give you this afternoon it is perhaps this-the importance of simple duties, duties that are within the reach of quite ordinary people, duties which if performed faithfully, though they may appear unspectacular, are nevertheless of first rate importance.
In the Old Testament, in the Book of Numbers, we read of a family whose allotted task was to take care of the pegs and cords belonging to the Tabernacle of God. It may have seemed to them a very insignificant job with little glory about it. Yet, of course, without those pegs and cords the Tabernacle could not have stood up for two minutes. Actually the unspectacular service rendered by this family was highly important.

We learn from this the importance of service-of doing our ordinary simple jobs, whatever they might be, as well as we can. Nothing is too small not to take trouble over, and this is particularly so in all that is connected with the worship of our parish churches. I know that I am constantly sustained by the willing help of a band of people, organist, bell-ringers, choirmen and so on.
The people who get the applause and the headlines in the newspapers are the people who have great responsibilities or who hold high office or who do spectacular things. But in the end it is the simple virtues, the smaller forms of service, the faithful performance of humdrum duties, the little acts of unselfishness, and, above all, personal example by which the community's life is enriched.
Sometimes it may seem to you that what you are doing is of no particular importance -of no more importance than looking after the pegs and cords belonging to the Tabernacle. If you are ever tempted to think like that then remember that your simple duties, if performed faithfully, though they may appear unspectacular in the eyes of man are nevertheless of first rate importance in the eyes of God.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD Mansfield District

The most gratifying thing about the Mansfield District meeting, held at Kirkby-in-Ashfield on November 23 rd, was the number of very young ringers in attendance. The fact of there being only five bells possibly inspired confidence, but whatever the reason it is hoped that some good came of it.
The service was conducted by the Rev, C. J. Young, assisted by the Rev. H. Pickles at the organ, and later both joined the company for tea.
The business meeting followed, at which Miss J. Smith, of Sutton-in-Ashfield, was elected a Guild member and Miss M. Yarnold, of Chesterfield a non-resident life member. Attention was drawn to the conducting during recent months of quarter peals by Miss Helen Simpson and Miss Barhara Hooks, of Greasley. Being only 15 years old at the time, the girls were congratulated by members at the meeting.

Thanks were then accorded to the Vicar and the local company for all arrangements, and ringing continued until 9 p.m.
Next meeting: District annual, Mansfield, January 25th. 1969

Bingham District

The last meeting of the Bingham District for 1968 was held at Colston Bassett on November 9 th, when over 50 ringers from 11 towers had an enjoyable gathering. The Rev. G. P. Davidson conducted the service and gave an address. Tea was provided in the Village Hall and the collection for the Bell Repair Fund realised $£ 114 \mathrm{~s} .8 \mathrm{~d}$.
The following announcements were made at the husiness meeting: Dinner and social at Whatton on December 13th; annual District meeting at Bingham ; February meeting at Coigrave. The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. Hanson and ringing continued until 8.15.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The last meeting of the year for the Ashford District was held on November $16 t h$ at Willeshorough. The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. T. G. Williams, and Mr. W F Garner of the local band, was at the organ The collection. amounting to $£ 22 \mathrm{~s}$, 6d., was donated to "The Ringing World"
Over 50 people enjoyed the tea prepared by the local band in the village hall. In the absence (through illness) of the regular chairman. Mr. D. C. Manger was elected to the office for the short business meeting. Ringing continued until 9 p.m.. under the guidance of the Ringing Master, and ranged from rounds to Surprise.

CORRECTIONS & AMENDMENTS

The method rung in the peal at Chiswick (page 952) was Mortlake Surprise Major. E.C.H. should be F.C.H.

The Editor is now compiling dates of cover issues for 1969. Applications for specific dates should be forwarded without delay.
Mr. Michael J. Fellows, who is only 21 rang his 500th peal on December 7th at Bewdley, Worcestershire.
Highiclere, Hants, Sunday service band rang a quarter of London Surprise Minor on December oth. This was the first rung on the bells and by Andover District members:
On Christmas Eve at 23.30 the bells of the Cathedral Church of St. Andrew, Wells, Somerset, will be heard prior to a programme from the Cathedral on Harlech Television.
Congratulations to David Pope, ringer of the 3rd in the peal of Minor at Bredwardine, Herefords, on November 30th. After losing the use of his right arm he has remastered the art to score his first peal one-handed.
Only the front eight bells of Manchester Town Hall were available when a 12 -bell band arrived on November 23rd. Repairs were heing carried out to the clock which made it impracticable to ring bells 8, 10 and 11. Those of the band who slood down-Messrs. Jelley, Massey. Moore and Mason-are thanked.

SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY GUILD DINNER

The dinner this year took place on November 30 th. During the day the Guild's first peal or ten bells, of Grandsire Caters. was rung at North Stoneham, and ringing took place at five local towers, including St. Michael's. Southampton, which had been put back into ringing order, largely by the hard work of several members of the Guild.
The dinner was well cooked and served at the Berkeley House Hotel, Southampton. After the meal Canon K. W. H. Felstead, the president, introduced the toasts. The Master of Vice", David H. Stone. proposed the toast of "The Church". which was replied to by the Rev. Colin Rudd, who is a good friend of the Guild, being in charge of North Stoneham. The secretary then proposed the toast of "The Visitors", which was replied to by Ron E. Stillwell,' :mmediate past Master of Reading University Guild. He gave a brilliant. unusual speech on the outmoded nature of the speech -apparently interviews are the "in" thing!
In his report the Master, Howard J. Payne. noted with regret the sudden death of a former Master, Michacl D. Trigg, in May. Since the last dinner the Guild had rung two peals, three quarters (including one on handbells) and one date touch. They had also lost two peals on two founders days! Perhaps they would have three founders days in the next year to give yet more chances of success!
The remainder of the evening was "interesting socially", and handbells were rung untit the bar closed at 11.30 p.m. and we started dispersing to our many beds and floors!

TALNTON BRANCH QUARTER PEAL TOUR

Thirteen ringers in the Taunton area broke new ground on November 30th when they held a quarter peal tour. Eight quarters were arranged at towers in the Taunton and Dunster Branches. All were successful and a high standard of striking maintained.

This new style tour was much enjoyed by all partaking, and from opinions expressed it shouldn't be long before the organiser, John Cornelius. is pressed into arranging another. Sincere thanks are extended to the tower captains and incumbents who readily made their bells available for the new venture.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

Some 50 ringers met at Bishop's Cleeve on November 23rd for the A.G.M. of the Cheltenham Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.

Ringing began shortly after 3 p.m. and variety of methods was rung, including Yorkshire and Cambridge Major. A shortened form of Evensong was conducted by the Rev. K. C. Edmunds who, in his address, reminded those present of the fact that on that particular day bellingers were being prayed for throughout the Diocese of Gloucester.

At the meeting that followed Miss E. M. Bliss (Association chairman) briefly explained the Boundaries Sub-Committee's report and its effect on the Cheltenham Branch. She also congratulated the Branch on coming very close second in the Association striking competition held at North Cerney a fortnight earlier.

Both Mr. W. A. Farmer and Mr. M. L. Maggs were unanimously re-elected to their respective offices of Branch chairman and secretary, and Mr. P. Baker was elected to the management committee.

Miss Bliss expressed the thanks of the ringers to the Rector, the organist and Mr. and Mrs. P. Baker. who provided the tea. After the meeting ringers returned to the tower, where ringing continued until 8.30 p.m,

MALVERN LINK

The ringers of Malvern Link, Worcestershire, held their annual dinner at the Foley Arms Hotel, Great Malvern, on November 30th. A company of 40 sat down 10 a filling traditional Christmas dinner. The Link ringers were supported by relatives, neighbouring ringers, regular visitors and friends, as well as by the Vicar (Rev. E. A. H. Cooke) and his wife.

The meal was followed by short ringing film. a pianoforte duet by a mistress and a pupil from Malvern Girls' College (both ringers) and games. Changes and tunes were rung on handbells. There was also a shor demonstration of a small ringing machine made by George Morris, assisted by helpers from the Royal Radar Establishment and others.
The evening was enjoyed by all, and no doubt a similar event will be held next year.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Memories of her six years as a ringer at Reigate were recalled by Miss Ruth Foreman when she took part in a peal of Reigate Surprise Major at Willesden recently
The peal at Halstead, Essex, on November 30th. is believed to be the first name peal rung on the patronal festival of a church dedicated to a saint of the same name
In three quarters submitted from Newark-on-Trent each was called by a "first as conductor". They were Paul Raithby, Peter Wakefield and Margaret E. Chilton.
Doubles ringers in Somerset are advancing with a peal in 32 regular individual plain course methods. conducted by John Walton. at Berrow
In explanation, why a Yorkshire Association peal was rung in the "capital" of the Guildford Diocese-there were no Guildford Guild members and the Yorkshire Association had four members, three resident and one outcounty.
The ringers in the peal at Clapton-inGordano on December 4th would like to associate it with the name of Cecil Mogford, who was prevented from ringing owing to car trouble. J. Hebden is thanked for standing in at a moment's notice.
The new Rector ai St. Giles'. Camberwell, is Canon Douglas Rhymes, who was wellknown for his friendship at Southwark. A welcome awaits any ringers attending his church on Sunday evening, and they are asked to contact Mr. J. Oakley, churchwarden and verger.

A new handbell record is 30 Spliced Surprise Major methods. This was rung at St. Albans on December 2nd, conducted by John $R$. Mayne.

Another village tower has blossomed out into change-ringing. This is at Kibworth Beauchamp, Leies, on December Ist, when five firs quarters were rung in two methods and $G$ Salter was calling his first as conductor.

The band for the peal at Aylestone on November 30 th wishes to record thanks to Mrs. Pat Morris for standing in at short notice. Mrs. Morris. who has not rung a peal for almost three years, rang very well and. we hope. will be ringing peals more regularly

The new Lord Mayor of London (Sir Charles Trinder), who lives just outside Kimp ton, Herts, was honoured with bells on Novem ber 9 th. A peal was attempted by the local band, but this was unsuccessful, and a quarter of Doubles substituted. The Lord Mayor has sponsored a competition among groups of young people who are doing anything "out of the ordinary" to the benefit of the community.
Ringers at St. Margaret's. Westminster, are accustomed to impressive services. but it is doubtful if their quarter of Stedman Caters had ever had a more appreciative audience than those who attended the thanksgiving for the centenary of the Royal National Institute for the Blind. H.R.H. Princess Margaret. the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Lord Mayor of Westminster were present. but the congregation was almost entirely composed of blind people.

ST. LUKE'S, BRISTOL, BELLS RING FOR

 THE LAST TIMEBetween 1951-1965 the six bells of Si. Luke's. Bedminster, Bristol, were out of action. However, voluntary labour patched up wheels and did some general tightening up and made the bells "ringable" again, though the "go" was not good. The bells have been rung on a few occasions in the last three years, including a peal in September. 1966, the first on the bells for 63 years. All six bells were cast and hung by Llewellyn and James, of Bristol, originally as a five, with a treble added later. The church stands within about 200 yards of Llewellyn and James workshops.

Due to road widening plans the church is to be demolished early next year. and the last service was held on Sunday, November 17th. After the service the hells were rung for what will certainly be the last occasion in this tower. The Vicar was delighted at having his bells rung and thought it a most fitting climax. Ringers from St. Ambrose's. Bristol, and Bridgwater took advantage of this last opportunity to "grab" the tower.

There are no definite plans at present for rehousing the bells but Bristol ringers are fairly optimistic that a new home will be found for them. The chaplain of the Bristol City Branch is the Archdeacon of Bristol, Canon L. A. Williams, who is himself a ringer. In fact he learned to ring in 1933 on the bells of Si . Luke's. Bedminster!

A CO-OPFRATIVE VICAR

The peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major rung recently at Old Cleeve was the first of Major on the bells and the first peal for 38 years. In view of this the Vicar was a little worried about what reactions there might be from nearby residents. Many other vicars would have adopted a defeatist attitude and simply said "No" to the application: however. he announced that a peal was to be rung one Sunday evening at Evensong. and if anyone objected would they let him know (this amused the Bishon of Bath and Wells. who was present at the service).

The forthcoming peal was published in the church magazine and the Vicar also called personally on local inhabitants. If all vicars had the same fair-minded outlook there would be very few "unpealable" towers. When the peal was completed the Vicar entertained the hand to tea. to the atcompaniment of a taperecording he had taken of the peal. The Vicar is not a ringer and knows nothing about ringing. but he certainly is prepared to give ringers every encouragement

FIRST PEAL ON THE NEW TEN AT EDINGTO :

Within a month of the dedication the first neal has been rung on the splendid new ring of ten at Edington, Wilts. This was not atcomplished without difficulty, for the noise in the ringing chamber is very great, so that it is not easy either to make the calls distinct or to correct a trip. For this reason Stedman was chosen in preference to Grandsire, less calls heing needed in each course. The peal was conducted by Mr. Charles F. Andrews, and he is to be congratulated on the achievement of an exhausting feat of boh calling.

This is a noble ring of ten and, heard from the outside, beautifully mellow. One could imagine that a listener on Edington Hill or Bratton Castle or any of the neighbouring Downs would find the effect very lovely.

GROTON VISITOR AT ST. MARGARET'S.

 WESTMINSTERWhilst ringing was taking place at St. Margaret's. Westminster, on Friday, November 29th, before the wedding of Lord Strathnaver, heir to the Countess of Sutherland, and Miss Eileen Baker, from U.S.A.. a "most elegant young man" came up to "see the ringers". He joined in and rang the eighth and then informed the veterans present that he was the bride's brother and learned to ring at Groton School. Mass.
"I think," writes Mr. John Euston, "this was a unique and pleasant experience for us all. During all my 35 years at St. Margaret's the only other noted guest from a wedding party to join us was Major Satow. whom we knew. John Baker was not in the party when Russell Young and some of his pupils last visited us. I trust this brotherhood of ringers will always prevail."

The noted people with whom John rang were J. F. Smallwood (84). Charlie Hughes (81). Bill Rawlings (73). Ben Baker (70), Joe Marks (74). Bert Audsley (68) and Fred Cullum (69). Also in attendance were Mrs. E. Bagworth, Tom Hawkins and John Euston. A well-struck three courses of Stedman Caters was rung after the service.

CHIMING BELILS AT SITTINGBOURNE

A ring of cight bells. tenor approximately j cwt. in $E$ with a mouth diamerer of Ift. llin., has been brought to light at the Roman Catholic Church of the Sacred Heart in Sittingbourne. Kent.

The eight bells are hung "dead" in two levels. the 2nd. 3 rd. 4 th and 5 th above and the treble, 6 th. 7 th and tenor below
The bells have outside chiming hammers. with the tenor having an unusual feature of a spring on the ourside of the bell. similar to those to be found in handbells.

The crowns have considerable decoration in the form of intertwined leaves and the canons have an eccentric mushroom-like shape. The only inscription on the bells we helieve to be that of the founder, viz.:

HE FUNUIT LUVANIT FELIX VAN ASRSCHOFF
From the inscription, which could hardly be read, and the decoration it would seem to suggest that the bells are of foreign origin.
If any ringer has any information regarding either the founder or the bells, could they please write to $G$. Wood at $\mathbf{1 6 1}$, High Street, Milton Regis, Sittingbourne. Kent.

FAMILY FIRST QUARTER PEAL

It was a very happy occasion in Hurstpierpoint belfry on Sunday evening, December 1st, when a mother, father and their two sons all rang their first quarter peal together. All regular worshippers at their parish church and very loyal members of the local band, they have also been helped in their ringing progress at the monthly meetings of the Sussex County Association.

Both the conductor (Mr. H. W. Brown) and his twin brother had eagerly awaited this moment of success. and they wish to congratulate the Kirkcaldy family and regret there aren't more of them! They look forward to many quarters together in the future.

SWANSEA'S L'NIVERSITY COLLEGE SOCIETY

At a meeting of the ringers in University College. Swansea, on November 6th, it was decided that there should be a College Society. named "The University College, Swansea, Bell Ringers' Society". membership being open to anyone in the College who is interested.

The aims of the Society are:-
(1) To encourage and assist ringers in the College, and others that come in contact with the Society.
(2) To hold a regular practice on tower- and handbells.
(3) To have at least one College outing each year.
(4) To ring the occasional quarter peal or peal.
(5) To ring for Sunday services, especially those bells that are seldom heard on Sundays. if possiole.
(6) To foster good relations between the College and the local ringers.

The annual general meeting is to be held early in the New Year so, at a meeting on November 19th, the remporary Ringing Master, Miss S. Harber and the secretary/treasurer, W. Nash, were elected. This meeting was followed by ringing at Sketty.

There was a combined Neath and College practice at Neath on Novemher 25th, and there have been College/Sketty handbell practices at the College on Wednesdays.

It is hoped that the present encouraging support from all local ringers will long continue.
W. NASH.

MEETING AT HERTFORD

The Herts Eastern District's meeting. on the last Saturday in November. at Hertford was reasonably well attended. St. Andrew's bells (8) were available in the afternoon and All Saints' ( 10 ) in the evening, under the guidance of Mr. E. Newman, the District Ringing Master. Methods ranged from Plain Bob Royal to Cambridge Royal and in the afternoon from rounds to Stedman Triples.

EXETER COLLEGES GUILD

The new term has brought new faces to the Exeter Colleges Guild. Kevin Hughes is now Master of the University Socicty and John Anderson Master of St. Luke's Society. "Ringing has been a little incoherent" (reports the Guild secretary. Angela C. Hughes) "especially as the leading light of the College's Guild. John Langridge, has been indisposed with dy: sentery. Fortunately he has now recovered and our programme for next term should prove more worthwhile."

REAL REVERSE BOB

Mr. Cyril Wratten thinks that the peal of Real Reverse Bob Major rung at Cheltenham was probably the first time it has been ruag, on handbells to a 5,000 . The band would be very interested to discover the last peal of Real Reverse (i.e., with all the calls made while the trebie lies behind): it has been suggested it may have been some two centuries ago.

WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY  Ringers' Outing

The Bell Foundry ringers broke tradition this year by having a second outing to the provinces in October. Our first appointment was at Wymondham Abbey, Norfolk, where we were heartily welcomed by Mr. Harry Tooke and Mr. Tom Spight. The ringing was commenced in fine style with a touch of Stedman Triples, followed by a variety of touches on the ten. bringing out the unrivalled musical quatities of this fine modern ring. Since no visit to Wymondham would be complete with out an opportunity of hearing some of those famous local yarns over a jug of beer, we were very soon suitably established.
Lunchtime arrived and we moved along the road to the Abbey Hotel, where an excellent lunch was enjoyed. The company. now refreshed and fed, boarded the cars and the procession nosed its way along the narrow country lanes to Drayton, where we were welcomed to the exceptionally well-cared-for church by the Rector. The tower captain, Mr. Michael Frost, although unable to meet us in person also expressed his uelcome in the form of speciallymade cards for us, which were sincercly appreciated. The ringing ranged over a wide variety of 6 -bell methods, including a good brisk touch of Cambridge

Our next call was at St. Nicholas', Great Yarmouth. where our best ringing was to the tune of Grandsire Caters, alihough we did make a valiant attempt at some Grandsire Cinques, After a slight delay, we wasted no time in travelling to Beccles, our final tower. Here we put this grand old ten to good use with the usual variety of methods, including a good half course of Yorkshire, and afterwards retired to the "Commons" for refreshment and sandwiches, generously provided by Messrs. William and Douglas Hughes.
Our thanks are extended to Mr. Trevor N. J. Bailey for organising the towers. and to Mr. Harry Weedon, our Ringing Master, for organising the ringing.
R.A. H.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  West Dorset Branch A.G.M.

Although the weather was not very kind there was a fairly good attendance at the A.G.M. of the West Dorset Branch at Beaminster on November 3uth. The excellent ring of eight was rehung just 12 months ago and attracted representatives from nine towers and visitors from North Dorset Branch and the Bath and Wells Association. Ringing was supervised by Mr. H. D. W. Bishop (Ringing Master).
The Vicar (Rev, D. V. Galloway) conducted the service. singing being led by the choir, with Mr. Roy Gunning as organist. A thoughtful address was given by the Rev. J. S. Arthurs. a former Branch chairman, and Mr. T. T. Barrett read the lesson.

Local lady ringers had prepared an excellent tea in the Tindall Hall, enjoyed by $35 \mathrm{mem}-$ bers and friends, and they and the Vicar and preacher were thanked by Mr. C. W. Powell, Brazch chairman. The business meeting followed, and after the hon. secretary had presented his report and the accounts Mr. Powell thanked him and all who had contributed to the year's work.
Officers elected were: Chairman, Mr. C. W. Powell ; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. Jesse Davis: vice-chairman. Rev. O. L. Willmott: Ringing Master, Mr. H. W. D. Bishop; with Messrs. H. Keeley, F. Knight, D. Ellery as deputies: committee: Messrs. T. T. Barrett and D. Ellery. Ten new members were elected. Meetings for 1969 were arranged as follows: Bradpole. February 22nd: monthly practice evening meetings. Symondsbury, January 18th: Bridport. February 12th, and Loders, March 22nd (all subject to confirmation). These new arrangements were made in the hope of attracting more members to the practices.
After the business meeting closed Messrs. Jesse Davis and J. T. Barrett were asked to serve as area representatives on the committee for the nroposed striking competition for the Dorset Ringers' Fertival.

HELPING BEGINNERS

Dear Sir,-I have found this principle very useful for beginners, especially on those occasions when the instructor only has a knowledge of change-ringing.

The basic six changes are quickly mastered and provide excellent practice in leading, place making and dodging. They should be praclised until perfection is reached.
$\begin{array}{lll}1 & 2 & 3 \\ 2 & 1 & 3 \\ 2 & 3 & 1 \\ 3 & 2 & 1 \\ 3 & 1 & 2 \\ 1 & 3 & 2 \\ 1 & 2 & 3\end{array}$

& 54 \\
& 4 \\
& 5 \\
& 5 \\
& 4 \\
& 4 \\

\end{aligned}

By putting in seconds place 24 changes are produced. I 3254

With the treble only going to thirds. the beginner quickly gets the idea of finding the one new bell in each lead. The others soon find their way about by a combination of method and numbers. but care should be taken to point out that tracing the method in one's mind whilst it is being rung is most important.

It is much more interesting than the usual "plain hunt" and very much more the means to an end.

The full extent can be produced by putting each bell in the hunt.

Yours sincerely,
Gainsborough. Gours sincerely, L. A. LUNN. P.S.-Will somebody tell me what name this goes under in the Doubles Collection.
-G.L. A. L.

The 1969 out-of-town meeting will be held in Birmingham on a date to be announced. and the 332 nd anniversary dinner will be at the Walbrook Restaurant. Bucklersbury House, London, E.C., on Saturday, November 1st.

The business meeting on December 31st will be the last to be held at the Rising Sun, Carter Lane, which has been the Society's meeting place since 1957. As from January, 1969, the London business meetings will be held at the Lord Raglan. St. Martin-le-Grand, E.C. The change has become necessary because of the large attendance at meetings.

A VISIT TO ESSEX

A party of about 40 ringers who are, or have been, connected with St. Luke's, Chelsea, took part in a most enjoyable coach tour to Essex on December 7th. The arrangements were very capably handled by Frank Udall and Julie Spurgeon. Five towers were visited, the first being St. John's, Havering-atte-Bower, having a pleasant ring of six (tenor $16 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.). Then on to St. Mary's. Broomfield, with its round tower and six bells ( $11 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$ ). Another short and pleasant run brought the party to St Andrew's Halstead, with a very nice ring of cight ( $14 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. in E). Some of the more experienced ringers tried for Cambridge Major hut it did not go, neither did an attempt for Double Norwich. It was concluded that the bells preterred Stedman Triples and a nice touch in that queen of methods rounded off the ringing satisfactorily.

In the ringing room we noted a rather use-ful-looking ringer's jar, capacity $4 \frac{1}{2}$ gallons: but one member of the party innocently asked "What would that be amongst Jack Phillips"? Many in the party missed the homely face of Hilda Snowden and enquiries elicited the information that she was unwell. All expressed the sincere hope that she would soon be restored to her usual robust health. We simply could not do without her lovely broad Essex dialect!

A sumptuous hot meal was taken in Bocking Village Hall, and everyone praised the efficient manner in which Mrs. Spurgeon and some lady friends had prepared and served it. The thanks of the party to all concerned in making the tour so enjoyable were capably expressed by John Lott. leader of the Chelsea compans, and he distributed some small tokens of appreciation on behalf of the party to those who had helped.

The party went on to All Saints, Rayne, with its six bells ( 64 cwt.), and then on to All Saints'. Writtle. which possesses a very good ring of eight ( $18 \pm \mathrm{cwt}$ ). Touches in all standard methods were successfully brought round.

At every tower visited rounds and callchanges were rung by the junior members, and it was a tonic to observe these eager, bright-eyed youngsters. full of enthusiasm. doing their very best at the end of a rope.

Great credit is due to Frank and Julie for their attention to every possible detail. and sincere thanks are accorded to the incumbents and everyone else who contributed to the success of the tour

JAFUS.
Six of the band who rang in a Liverpool University peal at Southport on December 5th were ringing their first of Triples and another his first of Triples "inside". H. Lyndon Hatfield, the conductor, was calling his lirst of Bob Triples. Another example of the teaching value of a university for ringing.

Extracting False Course Heads from the Blue Line System

By F. HODGSON

THE first requirement is the ability to determine the nature of the rows, or changes, whether "In course" (i.e., Even, +) or "Out of course" (i.e., Odd, -). Rounds is In course or + , and an In course change is one that requires an even number of pairs of bells to change places to produce rounds from that change, i.e., 21436587 is In course, and an Out of course change is one that requires an odd number of pairs of bells to change places to produce rounds, i.e., 12436587 is Out of course. Out of course changes can not repeat with In course changes.
Su long as Bobs only are called the nature of the rows at any particular place in a method remains the same, but if a Single is called the nature of the rows is changed. Say, for instance, that the third row in a lead of a method was In course but a Single is called, then the third row in the next lead will be Out of course.
Take for example Plain Bob Major and consider the nature of the rows when the treble leads full at the end of the first lead. 13254768 is Out or - , and 13527486 is In or + . But supposing a Single had been called, the second row would also have been Out or - 13257486 , and so it would have remained until a further Single had been called when the rows would have reverted to their original nature.
In determining the nature of the rows in any method, if you have the figures of the first lead you can go down the rows from the beginning by simply adding the number of pairs of bells that have changed places from the preceding change to the preceding nature, and follow the arithmetical principle that + and $+=+$, and + and $-=-,-$ and $-=+$, and so on, e.g.
$21436587+$ Four pairs of bells changed places.
24163857-Three
42618375-Four
46281735+ Three
"and so" on.
The next step is to write out the Proving Rows. Proving Rows show the position of the treble, and the nature of the rows, whether + or - , and then the position of the rest of the bells, seven in major. The position of these seven bells is shown in a vertical column under the particular bell, but instead of the top row being written 2345678 it is written 7864235 .
If, therefore, the method under consideration was Yorkshire Surprise Major, under 7 we should have $8,8,7,8,7,6,5,4,3,4,3,3$, and so on up to the change where the treble leads at handstroke for the full lead. Then fill in the appropriate positions of the other bells in the same manner so that when the whole of the figures are complete we have the Blue Line of every bell in the first lead. The Proving Rows may be written from the Place Notation. This method is shown in the Central Council publication referred to at the end of this article.
The left-hand column 3+, $5-$, etc., means that at $3+$ the treble is in the Third place at an In course change, and at 5- the treble is in the Fifth place at an Out of course change: Still considering Yorkshire Surprise Major, the following would be the result.

| Proving Rows |  |
| :---: | :---: |
| $1+7864235$ | $7+3124685$ |
| $2+8753146$ | 8- 2134576 |
| 1-8643257 | 7-1243685 |
| 2-7534168 | $6+2153784$ |
| $3+8624157$ | $5+1264873$ |
| 4+7513268 | 6-1253784 |
| 3-6524178 | 5-2164873 |
| 4-5613287 | 4+ 3165782 |
| $5+4612378$ | $3+4256871$ |
| $6+3521487$ | 4-3157862 |
| 5-4621378 | 3-4268751 |
| 6-3512487 | $2+4357861$ |
| $7+3421586$ | $1+3468752$ |
| $8+4312675$ | 2-3578641 |
| 7-4213586 | 1-4687532 |
| 8-3124675 |  |
| $8+4213576$ |  |

N.B.-The rows do not run alternately two + and two - in all methods.
The Proving Rows must then be examined. This is done by comparing together the rows which have the treble in the same place, and are the same nature, + or - . That is, compare $1+$ with $1+, 1-$ with $1-, 7-$ with $7-$. and so on all through.
This is done in order to see if any pair of figures occur in both rows. Take a look at the two $2+$ rows, 8753146 and 4357861 . The pair 14 occur in both rows, but the 14 in 4357861 is more readily seen when the 4 is carried to the back. This transferring of figures from front to back is called Rotating. This Rotating is done by taking the first figure from the front, putting it behind, and repeating the process until the duplicate pair is at the back. Say for example that in the row 8643257 that 64 was the duplicate pair. then after Rotating the row would read 3257864.
Let us now return to the two $2+$ rows above :

\begin{array}{ll}
& \text { Rotated } \\
2+8753146 & 6875314 \\
2+4357861 & 3578614
\end{array}

Having thus produced the Rotated rows we must then transpose the two rows by the Scale 45362. Ignoring the last pair which we Rotated behind this would produce:

| 68753 | Scale 45362 |
| :---: | :---: |
| 35786 | 78836 |
|  | 78563 |

This transposition by Scale 45362 is calculated as if the treble was in the No. 1 position.

The next thing is to read off the False Course Head, which is the transposition scale required to transpose the top row to the botom row, and the bottom row to the top row So to get the top row 75836 to the bottom row of 78563 the scale would be 24365 , and to get the bottom row 78563 to the top row 75836 the scale would again be 24365, so 24365 is the F.C.H. in both cases. If the rows had been 17285 top, and 51728 bottom, then the scales and F.C.H.s would have been 62345 and 34562.

In order to determine in which leads the falseness occurs the following table must be worked to.

The order of leads is-

| 1234567 | for methods | 4263857 |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 1526374 | " $\quad$ " | 6482735 |
| 1642753 | ", | 8674523 |
| 1357246 |  | 7856342 |
| 1473625 | " | 5738264 |
| 1765432 |  | 3527486 |

We now return to our "Proving Rows and split them into pairs as follows, not forgetting to complete the pairs by bringing the front figure to the rear. Then, as we are considering Yorkshire which is a method with a lead head of 5738264 , we put the lead sequence under the pairs.
Instead of

\begin{array}{ccccccccc}
2+8753146 & \text { read } & 87 & 75 & 53 & 31 & 14 & 46 & 68 \\
2+4357861 & & 43 & 35 & 57 & 78 & 86 & 61 & 14 \\
& & 1 & 4 & 7 & 3 & 6 & 2 & 5 \\
& \text { sequence. }
\end{array}

Because we get the pair 14 over 6 and 5 this means that the falseness at this position will occur in the 5th and 6th leads.
In the example worked out the $2+$ position only has been considered, but if a full examination of Yorkshire had been undertaken consideration would have had to be given to other positions. In fact a quick glance at the 1- position shows 32 as occurring in both rows, so this would also have had to be fully examined, as would any other row containing duplicate pairs.
This system of extracting F.C.H.s is the subject of a Central Council publication written by $\mathbf{J}$. Segar, to whom the Exercise is indebted. There are other systems and, like systems on any other subject, there are good points and bad points in any one of them ; but this system, like any other, produces results which meet the needs.

CANTERBURY COLLEGE OUTING

On October 12th, members of Christ Church College Bellringing Society, Canterbury, with many friends, set off to London for the begin-ning-of-term outing. Towers visited were St. John's, Deptford; All Saints', East India Dock Road; Christ Church, Cubitt Town; St George-in-the-East, Stepney; Bethnal Green, Dalston, Upper Clapton, and St. Mary's, Lambeth. Ringing ranged from rounds and call changes to Yorkshire, Superlative, London Surprise Major, Erin and Stedman Caters. Best bells of the day were at St. George-in-the-East. Incumbents and people who met us are gratefully thanked.

On November 16th, members of the same Society, with slightly fewer visitors had an outing in Kent. Towers visited were Boughton-under-Blean, Throwley, Teynham, Bobbing, Queenborough. Minster-in-Sheppey, Eastchurch and Lynsted. Once again incumbents and tower secretaries are thanked. Ringing ranged from rounds and call changes to Yorkshire Surprise Major and Spliced Surprise Minor.

BATH RINGERS CROSS THE BRIDGE

On November 23 rd a party of ringers from Bath University, in company with friends from the Bath District, Frome and Farmborough, made use of the nearby motorway and Severn Bridge for a day's outing to Monmouthshire and the Forest of Dean.
Their first call was at Tredunnock, where the ground-floor ring of six was used to good effect in methods ranging from St. Simon's to Cambridge. The party then moved on to Usk, where Double Norwich and Cambridge went well. although Stedman proved more elusive. Most of the party had already rung here but all were agreed that this delightful Taylor eight were well worth revisiting.
Lunch (liquid and otherwise) was taken at Abergavenny, where the rain clouds lifted briefly to expose the sun. The party enjoyed themselves on the majestic ten with Stedman and Erin Caters and Plain Bob Royal. It was remarked that it was a pity that a certain Twerton ringer was not able to join us in appreciation of this glorious Taylor ring.

Then on to Monmouth, where the " backenders" found the heavier bells needed some work. Nevertheless some fairly good Stedman was achieved and a course of Yorkshire brought round. The party separated for tea meeting again at Mitcheldean after crossing the wet (and by now dark) forest. They found the eight here very much to their liking, and Double Oxford, Double Norwich, Erin and Little Bob went very well.
The challenge of crossing the Forest in the dark proved too much for some of the navigators so that they arrived at the last tower, at Lydney, by devious routes. Fatigue was beginning to show by now but Cambridge was done justice to. Finally the crocodile descended on a local inn for the traditional outing finale.

Our thanks must go to all incumbents and ringers who made us welcome at their towers and also to Andy Swatton for the very good arrangements.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

RINGING FOR THE LORD MAYOR'S DAY

BY W. T. COOK, LIBRARIAN TO THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS

IALWAYS enjoy ringing for the Lord Mayor's Show; it seems to be the one occasion during the year when the Corporation of London officially recognises the existence of bellringers, and I think it is nice to feel that one is playing a small part in the City's great "annual spectacular." It gives me a feeling of being closely linked with the ancient traditions of "famous London City."

Indeed, as far as tradition goes, for a great number of years the Corporation of London does not seem to have varied in the least its routine for ordering the bells to be rung. Identical letters are sent to the incumbents of all the churches along the procession route, whether they have any bells or not, requesting the bells to be rung as the procession passes, and always containing a word of caution against the "sudden" ringing of the bells as this might frighten the horses! Payment for ringing is later made on production of the letter at Guildhall Office.

Up to 1959, the Lord Mayor's Show was always held on November 9th, unless that was a Sunday, and November 8th is still the date for the installation of the Lord Mayor. The bells of St. Lawrence, Jewry, the Guildhall Church, are rung immediately after this ceremony. The route of the procession used to vary from year to year. as it always passed through the Ward of the City which the new Lord Mayor represented. Nowadays, however, Lord Mayor's Day is always the second Saturday in November, and the route-from Guildhall round by the Bank, along Cheapside. St. Paul's Churchyard. Ludgate Hill and Fleet Street to the Law Courts for lunch. then back along the Embankment and up Queen Victoria Street to Mansion House-is not now varied.

Getting together the bands to ring for Lord Mayor's Day is always quite a problem for the College Youths. who provide the ringers for most of the towers along this route, and in the days when the route changed from year to year it used to be worse. Ingenious schemes had to be worked out for moving the same band from one tower to another at a different point along the route, while at the same time remembering that the normal way between these two towers was likely to be blocked by the crowds or by the procession itself. However, members of the College Youths have a good working knowledge of the City's alleys and byways, and usually the organisation went without a hitch.
Thus, if the Lord Mayor represented Cripplegate Ward. this made life easier for those organising the ringing, as the same band could ring at St. Giles', Cripplegate, then dodge through the back streets to reach St. Paul's in time to ring there as the procession was passing; and in more recent years it was common for those who rang at St. Lawrence, Jewry, to do the same thing.

This walk, or rather quick scutter, from Jewry to St. Paul's I always used to find quite entertaining. as it involved passing, sometimes crossing, the various elements of the procession as they made their way round to Guildhall to form up. Thus it was that, on one occasion when Agriculture was the main theme of the show, I narrowly escaped being run over in the streets of London by a combine harvester! Other College Youths remember the sight of the late William Langdon, on a similar journey. scurrying across the road straight through the procession, and disuppearing into the crowds on the other side of the street.

Occasionally, however. these arrangements for a "mobile" band of ringers have failed to work. One year, a band was trying to get, I think, from Bow, Cheapside, to the now-demolished Church of All Hallows, Lombard Street. A route had been worked out which involved using the subways at Bank Underground Station. All went well until the ringers came up the stairs leading to the Lombard Street exit, only to find that the gate had been locked! The only gate open was the one on the other side through which the band had come, so All Hallows' bells were not rung that Lord Mayor's Day.

Nowadays, the only towers where the College Youths are involved are St. Paul's Cathedral. Bow and Jewry. and with a little outside help it is possible to raise separate bands for all three towers. St. Paul's belfry is a popular place on Lord Mayor's Day for families and friends of the ringers. as one window overlooks Ludgate Hill. thus providing a somewhat lofty but definitely "grandstand" view of the Show for some half-dozen people. One of the spectators is delegated to tell the conductor of the band when the Lord Mayor's Coach has passed, so that the ringing does not go on unnecessarily long. Once, some years ago. the person appointed to that task was apparently imperfectly acquainted with the appearance of the Lord Mayor's coach. and did not realise that this always comes right at the end of the procession. Seeing what he believed to be the coach. he gave the signal for the ringing to finish. and the bells were set up. A few minutes later. one of the ringers casually looked out of the window and to his horror recognised the Lord Mavors coach just rounding the corner into Ludgate Hill! Coats were hurriedly pulled off and the bells restarted. I do not know if this "sudden" ringing of the bells frightened the horses on that occasion!

Connoisseurs of "fine writing" will no doubt appreciate the description of ringing for Lord Mayor's Day given in a book called "The Bell," written by Rev. Alfred Gatty. Vicar of Ecclesfield, and published in 1848. After a lengthy description of the assembled crowds. he writes:
"But see--there approaches the procession: Life-Guards. band, and a train of carriages in succession appear: and off goes from every neighbouring church a clashing peal. Now the bells of London sound grandly indeed! St. Mary-le-Bow-what strength of metal dost thou exhibit, with thy noble peal of ten! St. Dunstan, in thy lantern tower -how sweet and fine ring the notes from thy new eight!" (In my copy of the book, the words "sweet" and "fine" have been underlined by a former owner, and the word (Continued on page 1009)

Redundant Canterbury Bells Augment Three Towers

By DAVID L. CAWLEY

oPPOSITE Mercery Lane, Canterbury, the narrow lane which leads to its great Cathedral is St. Margaret's street, which takes its name from the historic church of that name standing on the north side about a hundred yards down.

The street is an historic one ; in it and opposite the church stood the Royal Fountain Hotel, once patronised by Elizabeth I and demolished by bombs on the night on June 1st, 1942, when nearly a fifth of the city was destroyed in the "Baedeker" raid. Further along is the Marlowe theatre, named after one of Canterbury's most famous sons, Christopher Marlowe, who was baptised in the nearby Church of St. George the Martyr, which, together with its chime of five bells, perished in the same blitz. It was in this same blitz, which in its own strange manner opened the way to a new chapter in the history of St. Margaret's Church, which in 1958 was reopened as a church and social centre for deaf people. Its three bells, long disused, were no longer required, and now, ten years after the reopening of the church, a most happy decision has been reached which will enable the three bells to be restored-each one in a different church. Such a friendly decision has not always been reached in the case of redundant bells in the Canterbury diocese, and the writer felt that it was worth writing a few lines to preserve their memory and the example it teaches.

PREMIER PARISH CHURCH

To the pilgrim approaching across the Marlowe car park, the splendid Victorian east end, by Sir Gilbert Scott, masks a hideous deformity of the church made a hundred years previously to facilitate the turning of coaches into the Royal Fountain. The small south-western tower of flint and ragstone rises at the end of the south aisle.
By right this is the Parish Church of Canterbury, and it has from a remote period been the premier Parish Church of England. Its sower, with which we are chielly concerned, was part of the 14 th century reconstruction of the building, and in it bells were hung. Formerly the ringers performed their service from the ground floor, but in 1850 a new newel stairway was constructed in a flint and brick turret to the west of the main tower, and thereafter the bells were sounded from upstairs, the ground floor being occupied by a fine new font.

Early records of the bells are scanty. In 1599. "We presented that our Bells are broken and cannot conveniently be rung, also our bells do want ropes. The Belfrie lofts are at reparacions and also there wanteth a ladder to $g 0$ into the roomes where the bells do hange as heretofore there hath been

The situation must have been speedily remedied. for in 1599 a bell was recast by Thomas Hatch, of Ulcombe. This bell was 27 inches in diameter and bore this inscription: BY ME THOMAS HATCH T M C W 1599, with a crowned rose below the date. In 1625 the two larger bells were recast by Thomas Hatch's son. Joseph. The inventory of 200 years previously gave three bells and a "wackerell" or sanctus: the latter has disappeared. At the 1599 recasting a new frame was installed, and this is all that is left today.
In spite of the provision of a new ringing stairway and chamber the bells were in a poor state, and Stahlschmidt, writing in 1887, remarked that the treble was hopelessly cracked.

A revival of interest took place in 1902, and the Cathedral ringers were called into the tower to advise on the ringing of the bells. The report they issued to the authorities survives, and in they mention that the treble was cracked and that the bell fittings and gear were hopelessly dilapidated. The ringing chamber was in a dirty and dangerous state.
To remedy this state of affairs, Mr. S. B. Goslin, of Bishopsgate, was called in. This gentleman was tormerly the toreman of Messrs John Warner and Sons Ltd., und later branched off by himself. To him we owe the rehanging of Great Dunstan of Canterbury Cathedral in 1892, and bells at St. Alphege's, Canterbury (two out of six), St. Paul's, Canterbury (tenor), Christ Church, Herne Bay (larger bell) and rehangings at Whitstable (six, since rehung again) and Hinxhill (two). Some impression of the general standard of his work may be gauged from the fact that when he recast two of the bells at Sellindge in 1906 the said bells were so poor that when Messrs. Mears and Stainbank augmented the ring in 1909 they had to be recast. His son later took over the business, and in the only rehangings of his that the writer has seen, Southtleet (6) and St. Martin's, Canterbury (3), the work was atrocious.

ST. MARGARET'S

At St. Margaret's he recommended that the two smaller bells be rehung for swing chiming and the tenor only for ringing, and a chiming apparatus fitted. The treble was to be recast, and while it was being lowered from the tower it broke in half. To pay for the recasting the Rector and wardens sold a bell by Robert Mot, dated 1597, which formerly hung in the disused Church of St. Andrew (demolished 1956). Mr. Goslin agreed to allow $£ 20$ for this, but later reduced the offer to $£ 15$. The treble was duly recast and the bells rehung as specified, the frame being strengthened.

The bells were hardly ever swung; the only bell with marked indentation is the tenor. In 1940 they were silenced, and after the blitz of 1942 the church lay windowless, forlorn and derelict. At the 1957-58 restoration it was proposed to scrap the bells but this was stopped. In 1965 the writer was invited to sub mit a report on them, and recommended that they be taken down and put to use, or else put on display.

ST. PETER'S

The desire of the Rector of St. Peter's to restore his chime of three bells early this year revived the authorities' interest in the bells, for he is also titular Rector of St. Margaret's. The bells were mentioned as being for dis posal to certain interested parties, with the result that Miss H. Allcard, of Droxford, Hampshire, wrote offering to purchase the most suitable bell. Messrs. John Taylor and Co. decided thut the second bell was mast suitable. Meanwhile the Ashford District of the Kent County Association of Change Ringers were seeking a derelict bell, and it was a happy thought that the tenor was available. and the metal from this bell will form the treble at Newchurch, Kent, as a memorial to the late John Willis. The treble will form the treble of the chime of four at St . Peter's, Canterbury. Thus Newchurch will have a fine six made from a mediocre five by the recasting of the ienor, and St. Peter's will have a good chime of four by the addition of the treble; thesc works are being carried out by the Whitechapel Bell Foundry Lid.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The cost of producing "The Ringling World" has been greatiy increased by badly-written copy which seriously delays the worls of the typesetters. Our printers have requested that all copy should be typed, and to this the Editor has agreed. This means that where correspondents are unable to help he will have to type the report (double spacing).

For peats, special forms are available on application, and we hope that eventually all peal copy will be on these forms, with names in block letters.

Quarter peal copy is very bad. Very few correspondents follow the style used in the journal, viz.: Name of town or village and county ; date; church dedication only if there is another wilth bells in town; name of ringer (followed in brackets by any footnote, l.e., first quarter, or conductor) ; number of bell : finally, very brief footnote. Have a "Ringing World" in front of you when you type or write your report. Each quarter, unless in the same tower, on a separate sheet.

Never write on the back of a sheet: never mix quarter peals with pealsseparate sheets, please. When quarter peal cards are required, please write out in the same style as peals.

We are hoping, with this co-operation, to meet the new wage increases that have been granted. Please help us.

The bells were heard again, and for the last time, on November 18 th. They were then lowered to the ground and the second taken for Droxford, under the genial direction of Mr. Eric Fowler, of Messrs. John Taylor and Co. On the following day the writer, together with Messrs. Alan Berry and W. Beeching, took the treble and tenor to Whitechapel, loading being greatly facilitated by the kind loan of a breakdown lorry from Messrs. Caffyn's Motors, of Canterbury, kindly arranged by Mr. Derek Chatfield, captain of ringers at St. Dunstan's. Then it was off to London, a quick look at the splendid new frame for Newchurch which will eventually house the old tenor, and at the ancient bells from the Kent churches. So we left them, and the bells of St. Margaret's had parted company for ever.

THE BELLS
Treble ( 27 ins 34 cwt . in D): S. B. GOSLIN FOUNDER LONDON RECAST EASTER 1903. (To St. Peter's. Canterbury.)

Second ( $29+$ ins., $4 \frac{\mathrm{cwt}}{\mathrm{c}}$. in C): IOSEPHVS HATCH ME FECIT (H) 1625 N N. (To Droxford, Hants.)
Tenor ( $32 \frac{1}{\frac{1}{2} \text { ins.. } 6 \mathrm{cwt} \text {. in B flat): IOSEPHVS }}$ HATCH ME FECIT (H) 1625 D. E. (TO Newchurch, Kent.)

The two larger bells retained their canons; the treble had a markedly angular shoulder and flat crown.

When these bells ring out again they will be vibrant witnesses to the power of resurrection. and the THE resurrection without which their ringing would have no meaning at all. Per. haps those who ring them would think awhile on these things and spare a thought for the silent world of those who need no bells to summon them, the deaf in their Church of St. Margaret, Canterbury, in whose tower their message has re-echoed down all the centuries, to the glory of God.

HANDBELL TUNE RINGING

21 Bands Attend

THIS is the day which the Lord hath made ; we will rejoice and be glad in it." The words of the anthem came into my mind as our party made its way up the western escarpments of the Pennines on Saturday morning, October Sth. The day was mild and visibility was clear as we topped the 1,615 feet Ordnance Datum of White Moss and sped down past the site of the old Isle of Skye Inn on our way to Ecclesfield and the long-awaited yearly gathering of the Handbell Ringers of Great Britain.

By invitation, this year's meeting was held at Ecclesfield Comprehensive School, under the joint aegis of the Ecclesfield and Thurlstone Handbell Ringers, and the school hall was none too big for the 21 bands of ringers and their many friends and supporters who attended, over 300 persons in all.

61 MUSICAL ARRANGEMENTS

Sixty-one musical arrangements were rendered by the performers present, and it will be appreciated that it is hardly possible to comment here on each individual item, but there were several outstanding performances well worthy of comment. The boys of the 1st Alton Boys' Brigade (Hants) opened the ringing with a spirited arrangement of "John Peel". which earned much merited applause; by the way, I should think that this band had travelled a longer distance than any other band present, and later on they played "The Lincolnshire Poacher" and "Hark, the herald angels sing" before leaving rather carly for their long journey home.

Stokesay ringers followed the first-mentioned item with "Bells of Aberdovey", a nice arrangement, rung rather quietly I thoughtthey could improve by striking their bells more vigorously as the St. Mary Ringers of Sileby did in their selections, "Snow White" and "Minuet and Trio" from Mozart. Richard's Ringers from Gloucestershire rang three items, the best of which, I thought, was "Little

Third Annual Meeting at Ecclesfield

Brown Jug" and, having a certain affinity with Scots and Scotland (too much, my wife would sayl), I greatly appreciated "Scotland the Brave" rung by the Offenham ringers from Worcestershire. and also "Ye banks and braes", delicately rendered by Nicholas Newby and his band from St. Cuthbert's. Kirby-inFurness.

Owing, I understand, to certain cattle having to be milked, one of the Thurlstone ringers was unable to be present until after the tea interval. but they made up for this by playing for us that spirited march "Under Freedom's Flag" and the "Waltz from Coppelia", followed by "Soldier's Dream" one after the other, which made an eminent star for the second half of the proceedings.

EXCHANGE OF IDEAS

1 enjoyed every item played by every band, but among others I thought were outstanding were Charnwood ringers' "Star of the Sea" the "Bourree English Suite No. 2" (Bach) played by the Ealing ringers, "Selections from Sullivan" by Ecclesfield, "Bless this House" by the Ordsall band, and "Heather Bell Polka" by Norbury ringers. This last item was played by request of the Ealing ringers, and thereby nangs a tale. Ealing ringers played this arrangement for us at the first handbell ringers' gathering at Norbury School in October, 1966. It was so much enjoyed that a copy of the scores was made available for the Norbury ringers for transcription into their particular notation, which was entirely different to that used by Ealing ringers. It was not an easy task to accomplish but it was done, and to my way of thinking this action typifies the whole spirit of these gatherings of handbell ringers.
"Sans Soucie" by the young Ecclesfield Grammar School ringers was a nice item well played, as was also a bright little piece, "Lily Dale", by the Higher Walton ringers (by the way, is this the name of a young lady or the name of a small valley?), and those charming young ladies from Ashton-under-Lyne Grammar School rendered a suneful little piece called "Gentle Zittella" which was very pleasing. Mr. Newby and his Kirby-in-Furness ringers had been loaned a set of Dutch handbells on which they played "Yorkshire Bells". I liked this, and also "The Wedding" by Hunshelf ringers. The Octavius Wigram ringers from Essex played a spirited "Men of Harlech", although they had another name for this tune, but that is the better-known one, and I liked the "Serenade in A" by the band from St. Mary's, Scarborough, and also "Andantino" by the Hope Baptist Church ringers from Hebden Bridge, who were handicapped by the absence of their leader. Mr. Bungay, through indisposition.

SUBSTITUTE PROGRAMME

My own band from Moorside have never yet been able to field a full team at any of these yearly functions. This one was no exception, and the programme we had planned and carefully practised had to be abandoned and a substitute one hastily arranged. Our leader, Mr. Ivan Kay, was unable to be present owing to a tragic bereavement, and we were helped out by one of the young ladies from Ashton-under-Lyne Grammar School with arrangements of "Men of Harlech" and William Gordon's lovely setting of "Home, Sweet Home", an old favourite of mine.
The ringing came 10 an end with a galop, "Orpheus in the Underworld", rung by the Ecclesficld Grammar School ringers, after which we said our goodbyes to old and new friends, resolved to meet again at Worcester in the spring of 1969. So ended another happy ringers' gathering, not without thanks being expressed to the Ecclesfield and Thurlstone ringers for their meticulous and excellent arrangements, and also not forgetting those in charge of the tea rooms. I have taken part in many a ringers' tea party, but never a better one than this: it can only be described us Yorkshire hospitality at its best! Thank you, one and all!
T. OGDEN.

Thanks are due to Mrs. Hubert and Mrs. Winnett tor letting us stay at their homes in Surrey, and to Mr. and Mrs. Owen for their hospitality while we were in Yelverton. Without exception we were received everywhere in a mast friendly fashion, and we were most impressed by the ease with which all the bells we bandled in Devon may be rung.
"DR. STARKERS.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION WITH SELBY DISTRICT

The November meeting of the Eastern District was held jointly with the Selby and District Society at Thorne.
Arrangements for the meeting had met with difficulties. Tea could not be provided at short notice and the 19 or so people who had booked were entertained at the home of Mr. T. Leaske. A service could not be held and the business meetings, attended by 26 ringers. were held jointly in church, presided over by Mr . V . Bottomley in the absence of Mr. A. Sheppard, who had attended the afternoon ringing.
Two new members were elected - Misses Christine Rose and Helen Goode, of St. Mary's, Beverley.
Some quite good ringing was enjoyed on the eight bells during the day, ranging through standard methods to spliced Surprise.

BOB MAJOR WITH SINGLES

Dear Sir,-Re the two peals of Plain Bob Major on page 960, when I was experimenting with figures in the late ' 20 s Joe Dyke asked me if I could get a composition of Plain Bob Major with singles. I did. Another composed the same thing and it was. rung in the late '20s or early 30 s The second peal is after the style of George Williams' 5.376 Plain. Bob Major in the C.C. Collection. with singles used instead of bobs.-Yours faithfully.

NEW MONEY-RAISING IDEA

Dear Sir,-I do like good striking, whether 1 am in it or not, but up North here it is getting worse and, believe me. I think the main cause of it is what we are ringing and not how we are ringing. I beg all of you attached to our paper to peruse the number of firsts-first this, first that, first the otheranything for publicity!
There should be a levy or fee on all firsts you publish. I am sure that it nould help your finances more than an appeal for prompt payment.-Yours, etc..

METRICATION

Dear Sir,-Whilst Mr. Threlfall may be premature in sending in a peal giving the weight of the tenor in kilogrammen the time is surely not far distant when the use of metric weights and other metric measures will be unavoidable?

In a few years' time the distance between towers will be measured in kilometres, new hell ropes will be ordered "X". metres in length. the after-peal quenchers in the local will be bought in litres with decimal coinage and to really add to the confusion the vital statistics of the National Belfry Queen for 1975 will he approximately $910-615-910$ milli-metres.-Yours faithfully.

RINGERS IN GERMANY

Dear Sir.-The recent article on the Llandaff and Monmouth Association brought back happy memories of ringing there.

We are fou: ringers here at Windsor Boys Sinool. Hamm. Germany - no bells, unfortunately. In addition to miself there are the school chaplain, the Rev. J. J. Fielding. most of whose ringing was with the Irish Associauon and who will at Easter be returning to Fngland to take up an appointment at St. Edward's School, Oxford: Mr. Brian Kingston. whose main ringing activities were when he was at Cardiff University: and Mr. Chris Fulford. who learnt to ring at $W$ inchester Cathedral.-Yours sincerely,

NOTTINGHAM UNIVERSITY SOCIETY AT WORCESTER

In accordance with time-honoured tradition, Nottingham University Society look a weekend off from their normal round of Sunday service "inging and sought "pastures new" in which to display their talents. This year their chosen target was Worcester, which was subsequently invaded on the week-end of November 30th-December 1st

Two somewhat overladen vehicles left Nottingham early on Saturday morning and arrived in time to ring at our first tower, Kempsey. The "motorway" party. having proved conclusively to the "Birmingham route" party the superiority of their itinerary, were able to partake of necessary dubrication at the Crown before ringing. While enjoying Kempsey's ring of six wie met Mr fred Pugh, whom we helped to ring for a wedding at our next tower in Hallow. Mr. Pugh was kind enough to accompany us to our next two towers at Grimlev. where Double Bob proved nearly too much for those who like their methods "conventional". and Shrawley, where London Minor was successfully broughi round in a church where the angles of its walls seem to indicate imminent collapse!

So to Ombersley where, cheered or mortified by the football results, we perhaps rang this heavy-going six too fast to do them justice. In the rapidly-gathering gloom we made our way to Evesham, where we joined the Worcestershire and Districts' monthly practice at the heli lower Here methods up to Stedman Cinques were rung on the lovely 12. What a pity they have no regular service band to ring them! "And so to bed". in the homely atmosphere of the Loch Ryan Hotel. Worcester.

Sunday began on a high note-methods up to Stedman Cinques on the glorious 12 of Worcester Cathedral, followed hy ringing for matins on the ten in the pleasant Gcorgian Church of Alt Saints. Then followed three rings in the best tradition of country sixesLeigh. Suckley and Powick-all of them heavy, sonorous and slow, bells which punish the unskilled and hurried but invariably reward good ringing with a noble dignified and melodic sound.

From here back to Worcester by way of the most memorable ring of the week-end at Broadwas, where Doubles methods were rung on what proved to be a pleasant five-once one had untied the strings on the clappers, dug newspaper out of the guide holes and become accustomed to the middle three bells having approximately the same note! Here the party split. some to ring for evensong at St . Swithun's. Worcester, now rendered ringable. and others for home, stopping in ring ai St. Nicholas. Warwick. for evensong on the wav.

Our thanks to rower captains and incumbents, many of whom took the trouble to come and meet us, and to Mr. Panl Cattermole. who "narleyed with the natives" on our be-half-and very efficiently, too. H.J.B.

OBITUARY

FUNERAL OF

Mr. G. G. ("SMOKER") WALPOLE
The funeral of Mr Godfrey George Walpole, of Norton Subcourse, Norfolk, whose death on November 29 th was reported in our last issue, was largely attended on December 3rd. Colleagues of the Norwich Diocesan Association from all parts of Norfolk and from the Suftolk Guild were in a congregation which filled Norton Parish Church.
While the congregation was assembling halfmuffied touches were rung on the bells, ending with the whole pull and stand as the cortege arrived at the church.

The first part of the service was taken by the Rev. James Gilchrist. Rural Dean of Loddon, and the Rev. A. Glendenning, Rector of Norton Subcourse, offered prayers and took the committal. Their colleague, Rev. James Cummins, was in the procession, together with Canon A. G. G. Thurlow, president of the Norwich Diocesan Association, and the Rev, Peter Bond. priest-in-charge of St. James ${ }^{\text {B }}$ Church. Great Yarmouth.
In an address Canon Thurlow recalled his first ringing at Norton Subcourse in August, 1947-such a happy gathering, and "Smoker" was very largely responsible for the happy and enthusiastic spirit that prevailed. "He soon began telling me of the project for rehanging these bells which, with a new steel frame, was completed four years ago. It demanded courage, faith. imagination and leadership. All these ne showed and instilled into his friends.

So he and his friends have won a place in the long history of Norton, which includes the names of William Brend. of Norwich, who cast a hell here in 1593; Wm. and Alice Brend. who cast others here in 1620 and 1622. and Thomas Newman, who cast another in $\div 7.30$
'Smoker' was involved in much more than the life of Norton, where he was Ringing Master for 36 years following the death of his father. He was also Master of the Eastern Branch of the Association, in which he practised the team idea amongst parishes long before others thought of it.
"The resurrection of the body means that the individual continues to exist despite the disappearance of his bodily shape. Believing this. we can believe that the life of 'Smoker' Walpole, like all who pass as pilgrims through this strange mortal life. continues to be in company with the source of all beauty, truth and goodness and with all who because they are of the truth hear His voice."
A keen churchman, he had spent all his life in the locality. He leaves a widow, a son and a daughter, to whom the deepest sympathy is extended.
After the committal a course of Grandsire Triples "in hand" was rung at the graveside by Canon A. G. G. Thurlow 1-2. Barry Pickup 3-4. Edw in R. Goate $5-6$ and H. William Barrett $7-8$. Following the service a quarter peal of 1,260 Minor, half-muflied, was rung on the church bells by N. P. J. Cossey 1, J. W. Forder 2, F. G. Santon 3, Tom Brock 4. E. A. Long' 5 , H. W. Barrett (conductor) 6.

Jasper Snowdon writes on William Harrison for "The Bell News"

T
HIS week I propose to deal with the career of William Harrison; at least, I shall let Jasper W. Snowdon do the dealing and 1 will copy him out. Although our art is built upon tradition, few of us have had the opportunity of handling, let alone studying, the classic works on bellringing. We have all heard of Fabian Stedman but few of us know his story, and fewer still have any idea of what he wrote apart from the names of the volumes. We have recently had two extremely interesting articles on the authorship of "Tintinnalogia" but the contents of that volume are a closed hook to us. The feats of such men as Harrison may seem small beer to the ringers of today, but we stand upon the shoulders of our pre decessors, and it may well be that if these stalwarts had not pursued the art with zest ringers of the present would not be attempting " 50 -spliced Maximus". I therefore make no apology for presenting one of the giants of the past as seen through the eyes of a later and much better known giant.

WILLIAM HARRISON-A MEMOIR By Jasper W. SNowdon

In a former issue of this paper a list was given showing the number of peals in which William Harrison, whose name is so well known to the Exercise in connection with some of the best compositions in the Treble Bob method, took part. One generation of ringers so quickly succeeds another that in many cases the performances accomplished in one generation are lost sight of by the next; and it may thus be that. although known as a composer, but few of the practitioners of the present day have been fully aware of the close acquaintance which William Harrison had with the practical art of ringing. Not many ringers have left behind them such a record of peals accomplished. and indeed such a record. compiled between the years $1840-60$, means a much greater undertaking than it would do to equal or even exceed it at the present time when the increased number of churches which contain bells and the increase of facilities for travelling from place to place are taken into consideration.
William Harrison was born at Mottram-inLongdendale. Cheshire, on September 26th, 1820 , and at the age of six vears, being leff all orphan, was taken into the care of his uncle. Robert Shaw, of Mottram. Mr. Shaw. heing a ringer and composer, his nephew was thus. doubtless at a very early age. brought into contact with the art, of which he proved slich a devoted admirer and to the study of which he devoted abilities and an amount of perseverance that his name will ever be remembered in connection with the "Art of Change-ringing". By reference to the list of peals given it will be seen that William Harrison accomplished his first on November 4th. 18.38, when in his 19th year: and that the last peal on the list, the 85 th in which he took part, was rung at Ashton-under-Lyne on February 28th. 1874. These 85 performances consisted of the following different peals and varied in number from 5.000 to 9,600 changes:
One Kent Treble Bob Maximus, one Grandsire Cinques, five Kent Treble Bob Royal. two Grandsire Caters, 58 Kent Treble Bob Major. two Bob Major, three Grandsire Major, one Stedman Triples, 12 Grandsire Triples.
It will thus be seen that the list comprises peals upon seven, eight, nine, ten, 11 and 12 bells. Of these Mr. Harrison conducted 28 of the peals of Treble Bob Major. both those ot Bob Major and one of the Stedman Triples. The 85 peals were rung at 19 different churches. Twenty-six were accomplished at Mottram. 20 at the neighbouring town of Hyde. nine at Stalybridge, seven at Ashton and six at Glossop. To the kind assistance of William Harrison the first bands of changeringers at Hyde and Stalybridge were indebied for their instructions: the teaching of young bands was indeed with him a labour of love, as for the many hours spent in the instruction of beginners he never would accept the slightest pecuniary remuneration. For his kind offices at Hyde the ringers, however, insisted on presenting him with a watch and guard.
After living at Mottram until 1864, William Harrison. who was brought up and continued all his life 10 work as a shoemaker, removed to Saddleworth. where he continued to reside until the day of his death. With this change, and an alteration in the state of his health. his career as a practical ringer may almost be said to have come to an end, as in the years from 1865 to 1874 he only look part in six more peals.

* Although the number is about to he augmented to eight. the tower of Saddleworth Church only contained six bells and. although very friendly with the ringers, William Harrison was never much given to practise as a 6 -bell ringer. the only performance worth noting in which he took part at this church being a "Crown Bob" in seven different variations, which length (composed by James Platt, of Saddleworth) he conducted. A "Crown Bob" is the performance of the 720 true changes on six bells, composed in a variety of methods. the ringers leaving one method and taking up another at a signal from the conductor
After suffering a good deal during the latier years of his life from ill-health. William Harrison was seized with a fit when returning from his work on the evening of January 21 st, 1880, never rallied, and died on the following day, January 22nd. He was interred in Mottram Churchyard on Saturday, January 24th. On July 9th. 1881. a monument which had heen erected over his grave in Mottram Churchyard by the voluntary contributions of his brother ringers and friends was duly dedicated to his memory

It may be said that it will doubtless be as a composer that his claims to remembrance will be recognised by future generations. Appearing first as a composer at the age of 18 years, the spare moments of a lifetime were afterwards given to the pursuit of this science, with the result that in the art of composition in his favourite system of Treble Bob he obtained a greater variety of excellent peals in different systems than has hitherto been obtained by any other composer. Besides a variety of peals of various lengths up to and including several of 10.000 changes in the ordinary method of Treble Bob. he obtained a large number of peals of 5.000 changes in the same method, upon entircly new plans and with distinctly different peculiarities to any already composed. In 1876 he was fortunate enough to surpass the greatest length until then obtained in this method with the tenors together. and until this length is surpassed it may be said. without hesitation, that the name of William Harrison can never be forgotten. He it was who first obtained the full extent with the tenors logether ( 6,720 changes) in the critical method of London Surprise Major; he also first obtained similar peals in the methods of Violet and Cumberlands Exercise Major and in the less-known method of Merchant's Return Major. Besides these peals he obtained the extent with the tenors together ( 13,440 changes) of Double Norwich Court Boh Major and composed several peals of Grandsire Cinques, Grandsire Major, etc.

Having already alluded to the willingness of William Harrison to assist young hands in their practical difficulties, a harder task remains in the endeavour to do justice to his endeavours to assist those who were making the proof or composition of peals their study. To such he was indeed of the greatest assistance, ever ready to spend any amount of his time in the investigation or explanation of their difficulties, and always willing to communicate to others the full extent of his own knowledge on any subject whatever. If any man ever showed an entire absence of that jealous fear of bencfiting others by imparting information to them. which is so often displayed by those whose acquaintance with such matters is of so much less value, it was the subject of this memoir. For his assistance and communicativeness 10 others, all generations, through the present, will ever remain indebted to the "genius and skill" of William Harrison.

Next time, gentle reader, with the Editor's permission. I will deal with the Important Law Case of Stainbank v. Beckett in the Sittings at Nisi Prius at Westminster in the Lords ${ }^{\text {© }}$ Jusices' Court. before Mr. Baron Huddleston and a Special Jury. Until then-adieu.

BATH & WELLS ASSOCIATION Chew Deanery A.G.M.

Visitors from Sidmouth and the Axbridge, Taunton and Bridgwater Branches joined the Chew Branch for their annual meeting at Wrington (10) on December 7th. The Association service was conducted by the Rector. the Rev. John Vine, after which tea was served in the Memorial Hall to a company of 41 members and friends by Mrs. Kingcott and her helpers.
The oflicers of the Branch were re-elected without change as follows: Chairman. H. W. Knight: Ringing Master. L. Derrick: deputy Ringing Masters. J. Brain and S. G. Smith: hon. secretary, D. G. Yeo : "Ringing World" correspondent, J. Brain.
Meetings were agreed, subject 10 permission, at Nailsea (March. quarterly), with practice meetings at Publow (January) and Clapton-inGordano (February).
Your new members from Kingston Seymour and one from Winford were elected. together with the Dean of Wells as an associate member.
A very full discussion foliowed on ways of making practice meetings more effective. and the meeting resolved that the officers should circulate all towers in the Branch with proposals for improvements or alterations as thought necessary.
Further ringing, with methods up to Cambridge Royal, followed the conclusion of the meeting.

BATH & WELLS ASSOCIATION  Ilchester Branch A.G.M.

The Ilchester Branch A.G.M. was held on December 9th at St. Michael's Church, East Coker. Ringing started at 3 p.m. and the Vicar (the Rev. G. Mullard) conducted the Guild service, with Miss Mary Baker as organist.
In his address the Vicar spoke of the "talent" given to bellringers and the importance of their duty in ringing to call people to worship, even if the message often fell on deaf ears. He welcomed the Branch and thanked them for coming to his church. The collection was donated to the East Coker Bell Fund,
An excellent tea followed, prepared by Mrs. Foot and her lady helpers, and the pleasant warmth of the British Legion Room greatly added to the enjoyment. The business meeting followed, at which there was a good attendance.
Officials elected for 1969 were: Chairman, Rev. C. J. B. Marshall (Long Sutton) ; vicechairmen, Mr. T. J. Setter (Yeovil), Mr. Gilbert Rendell and Mr. W. E, Turner (Hardington Mandeville) ; Branch Ringing Master Mr. Gordon Rendell (Montacute); assistant Ringing Master, Mr. E. T. Paul Field (Sutton tower): hon, secretary and diocesan representative, Mrs. M. M. Legget. Coker Hill. West Coker (Montacute tower).

The hon. secretary reported a successful year, and the report and accounts were adopted. New members elected were Richard C. Goodwin (West Coker). Lawrence J. Harris (Preston) and the Rev. A. T. Budgett, Michael Pollard and Mr. Pollard (Somerton). Certificates were presented to Ricky Goodwin and Harry Wheeler.

The chairman read a tribute from Mr. R. Chedzoy on the new Odcombe treble, and the meeting agreed that the achievement of Mr . Reg Guppy and his helpers should be recorded in the minutes.
Subject to consent being obtained from the incumbents, the towers for 1969 will he Chilton Cantelo. Martock, Long Suttop. Haselbury Plucknett, Kingsdon, Chiselborough, South Petherton, Langport, Montacute, High Ham, Norton-sub-Hamdon or Preston Plucknett and West Coker for the A.G.M

There is 10 be a buffet supper with skittles, etc., for ringers, their families and friends at the Devonshire Arms. Long. Sutton, on Shrove Tuesday, February 18th, at $7 / 6$ per head, for which early application is requested.
A number of towers within the Branch will he visited by request to help existing bands to have some ringing on Christmas Eve.

The Branch has had a pleasant and successful year and is indeed grateful to all incumbents, tower masters, organists, tea ladies and others for their help and encouragement.

Ringing was resumed after the meeting on the good-going 13 cwt . Bilbie eight, under the direction of the Ringing Master, and included rounds, Bob Doubles, Grandsire Doubles, Stedman, Grandsire and Bob Triples, Cambridge Major and Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

DISAPPOINTMENT FOR SUFFOLK VILLAGE

The village of Kersey, near Hadleigh, Suffolk. has saved its six ancient bells cone dated 1576 ) by raising nearly $£ 3,000$ in three years. But now it is discovered that when restored the bells cannot be rehung until the best part of $£ 20.000$ is spent on strengthening the tower.
The job of raising the $£ 20.000$, recommended $h y$, the diocesan architect as being needed to repair the fabric of the church, generally has been acknowledged as 100 big for the village to achieve. A general public appeal will be launched in January.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Geo E. Thoday has rung 100 peals for the Essex Association.
Mr. Walter Ayre celebrated his 77th birthday by conducting a peal of Surprise Minor in 19 methods at Apsley End on December 9th.

The Editor's mother entered her 100th year on December 11 th. A weekly visit on a Sunday afternoon to the nursing home at Woking brings her contact with "The Ringing World" as seen through the Editor's eyes.

Mr. P. H. Barnwell has completed 50 years as a ringer and chorister at Dunchurch, Warwickshire. He took part in a congratulatory quarter on December lst.

Dublin University Guild concluded the Michaelmas term with a visit to one of their "adopted" pubs outside Dublin, where they ate legs of chicken Henry VIII' style. There was a party of 20 .

Mr. C. Aldhous has completed 50 years as a ringer at St. Matthew's Church, Ipswich. He conducted a complimentary quarter on December 8 th .

Mr. Alan A. J. Buswell. of 32, Lower Drayton Lane, Portsmouth, PO6 2HA, is compiling a record of ringers who have rung 25 quarters or more during 1968. He would like number rung and conducted this year and total to date.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Burton are sailing on December 30th for a three months' holiday in South Africa. Shirley rang in a "bon voyage" peal of Yorkshire Surprise Royal at Leicester Cathedral on December 9th.

The Editor acknowledges a beautiful Christmas card of the Anglican Cathedral. Salisbury, Rhodesia. from the Rhodesian Guild of Bell Ringers. He reciprocates fully the good wishes for peace in 1969 in this troubled corner of the world.

LAW WITH REGARD TO BELLS
Mr. David J. Gay, of Weston-Super-Mare, sends us the following extract from Troyte's "The Change Ringers' Guide to the Steeples of England, published 1879, setting out the law with regard to church bells.

Though Churchwardens have a general power to manage everything connected with the fabric. this does not include the right to interfere with the bells, so far as 10 decide independently of the Minister when they shall be rung for purposes not directly connected with the summoning of the parishioners to worship. It may be taken to be perfectly clear law, that the Churchwardens have no power whatever to order that the bells shall be rung on this or that occasion, without the permission of the Minister.

The following paragraphs are taken from "The Book of Church Law." by Rev. J. Blunt and W. Phillimore. D.C.L.

The Vicar or Rector alone has any legal right to the keys of the . . . belfry ... and no one can legally use them for entrance thereto except by his permission. In cases where churchwardens have in any way obtained access to the belfry without the permission of the incumbent, they have been severely censured by the judges, and condemned in costs" (page 271).

Access cannot be had to the belfry, nor can the bells be rung without his (the incumbent's) consent.

The bells of a certain place were rung contrary to the express order of the Vicar. the doors of the belfry being broken open for the purpose. The ringers were prosecuted, and condemned in costs: but being unable to pay, remained in prison for five weeks" (page 323).

A LOSS TO CLEVEDON, SOMERSET

The ringers at Clevedon Parish Church, Somerset, have lost one of their stalwarts by the departure of Mr. L. J. Atkins. Mr. and Mrs. Atkins, who had lived in the town for over 40 years, had been hosts at the annual New Year's Eve ringers' supper.
During most of his long residence in Clevedon, Mr. Atkins was a member of the church choir and was also choirmaster until the post was combined with that of organist. He took to bellringing later, quickly mastered the principles of change-ringing and was a constant and reliable member of the band.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkins' only son. Alec, with his wife and family, live at Malton in the North Riding of Yorkshire, and the parents decided to move north so as to be near to their relatives. They have made their new home in the village of Huntington, a few miles north of York City, having left Clevedon with the good wishes of countless friends in the West Country.

BEDFORDSHIRE MARRIED COUPLES' QUARTER

Mrs. June Ashton is to be complimented on her performance in ringing the treble to Bob Minor for her first quarter peal in the neartwilight at Old Warden, Beds, on December 7h. There was no light in the belfry and the only illumination was a light in the nave of this ground foor pull. It is believed to be the first quarter rung by three married couples of the Biggleswade District and of the Bedfordshire Association. Another unusual feature of this achievement was that it was ladies' night at the local hostelry following the successful attempt.

WHEN THEI PRACTISED RINGING AT

 HOMEThe "Northampton Newsletter" in its September issue among its questions asked: What connection is there between a bell and as "dumb-bell"?

The answer, given in the December issue: At one period of its development bellringing (especially in larger towns) became the hobby among the "upper crust" of socicty. Many notable gentlemen joined the ranks of ringers and saw the whole thing as a healthy way of exercising.

Many of them must have been unable to satisfy their need for exercise because they installed artificial ringing machines - "dumb-bells"-in their homes. These machincs consisted of a horizontal shaft mounted between bearings (like a bell) and on each end of the shaft were heavy weights. The shaft was furnished with a rope, which was wound around it. The rope was passed through the floor and into the room below. Here the "ringer" could pull hard on the rope and set the shaft and weights revolving. The rope unwound and then rewound with the momentum ready for the next pull. In later times the dumb-bells were removed from their mountings and it became usual to use them for weight lifting as in the present.

Up and Coming Youngsters - No. 41

AVIS THOMPSON

This young lady has earned her place in this series by her quite remarkable progress. She had her first handling lesson at Dewsbury on February 12th, 1967, a few weeks before her Ilth birthday. Five weeks later she stood in rounds for service for the first time and in August. 1967. rang her 720 Yorkshire Association qualification. Nothing particularly outstanding so far! But. her repertoire now includes Stedman, Double Norwich, Cambridge (including Royal), Yorkshire and Superlative, and this progress is matched by very neat handling and good striking.

Avis. a modest young lady, and her tutors do not attribute her attainment to any streak of genius. It is the outcome of good, steady application to the job.

She has only two peals to her credit, both Plain Bob Major, but much more telling statistics are those of her attendances. Since February, 1967, she has been absent from ringing (service and practice) only twice, on the occasion of the one short holiday she has had, and she is never late.

Her school Christmas party has clashed with practice night, but Avis resolved the conflict in the way any good ringer should.

COLEGATE SOCIETY

The annual dinner was held on Saturday, November 30th, at the Abbey Hotel. Wymondham. Among those present were the Master of the Mancroft Guild, the secretary of the Wymondham company and Michael Frost who, disregarding the tradition that there be but one speech-that of the arranger embodying an announcement of the cost per head of the dinner-chose the occasion to present an extremely generous gift from the Drayton ringers in the form of a new bell rope for use at St. Georges. Colegate. The evening was concluded in the familiar surroundings of the Green Dragon.

RINGING FOR THE LORD MAYOR

"Oh!?" pencilled in the margin.) "St. Clement and St. Martin-ye are not behind your brethren; and though ye be all lost for a moment in the roar of the multitude, again your wild music breaks powerfully forth. animating with a strange spirit of desperate joy the tens of thousands who cheer the gay spectacle below. . . . Doubly the welkin rings with huzzahs, poured forth with all the strength of human lungs; and, in responsive sympathy, crash on crash follows from the united strokes of every bell in that fine old church before which the cortege is at the instant passing."

After the Lord Mayor's Show comes the dust-cart and after ringing for the Lord Mayor's Show, the ringers can usually be found gathered together from their various towers for refreshment, and, as usual, exchanging reminiscences. Perhaps I can conclude with the story I have heard concerning a College Youth of many years ago who appeared as an "expert witness" in the libel case which arose from remarks published by Denison concerning Messrs. Mears and Stainbank's casting of Big Ben. We are told that the dialogue between this ringer and counsel went as follows:

Counsel: How long have you been a bell-ringer?
College Youth: Oh, nearly thirty years.
Counsel: And I suppose you have often rung the bells for the Lord Mayor's Show?
C.Y.: Yes, of course.

Counsel: How many Lord Mayor's Shows have you rung for?
C.Y.: Oh, hundreds!

AMMONIA ATTACK ON HERTS RINGER

Miss Brenda Harris, popular village postmistress and ringer at Benington, Herts, had ammonia thrown in her face when she interrupted intruders in her shop in the early hours of Saturday. December 14 th . It is hoped that no permanent damage was caused-we all wish her a speedy recovery.

OBITUARY

MR. SIDNEY CARTER

The recent death of Mr. Sidney Carter has recalled to Mr. S. Howard, of Worthing, Sussex, the long peal of 18,144 Boh Major at Benington, Herts, on Whit Monday, June 5th, 1933, in 10 hours 52 minutes, which was a record for over 30 years.
The ringers in that peal were Henry Wallace 1, William A. Tack 2, Robert Howard 3.

MR. J. O. WELLER

John Osborne Weller, who died on DecemDer 9th, lived in Westerham all his life. I first saw him there on Easter Monday, 1936, on the occasion of the Kent County Association annual general meeting.

Westerham only just manages to preserve its identity as an independent country town rather than a mere commuters' dormitory. Every country town should have a builder and undertaker able to demonstrate a true pride of craft. Jack. Weller filled just that role in Westerham, being himself a first-class craftsman and employing in his family firm only men who could live up to his own high standard.

Some three years ago Jack was taken severely ill and since then his heart condition had been very precarious. He was told to give up ringing bu: still came along for the ringing at Westerham and took a rope when he dared. He loved ringing and all to do with it.

In his early years he had been associated a great deal with the late Edwin H. Lewis, the former President of the Central Council, who lived at Brasted, two miles away. He knew the standard in ringing that Mr. Lewis required and was well up to it. Also as a young man he rang peals with the late Oliver Sippetts, of Crawley. Who was a legend in these parts for the standard of the peals he demanded and obtained. Jack also took part in many peals of Minor with a famous band under Leonard Tidy at Limpsfield Chart.
Jack was a good College Youth, For many years, with Fred Budgen. from Brasted, he attended the dinners. Since his heart attack he had been unable to come, but this year, in his desire to support the Master, he stayed in London two nights.
A quiet man he was very direct in his manner and disliked humbug. A friendly man, he always looked at home behind a pint of beer, sucking his curly-stemmed pipe. He was usually the last to arrive. and I shall never ring at Westerham without expecting the little door at the north side of the tower to open and Jack pop through, ready to stand behind some youngster on the treble struggling with plain hunting for the first time.

Jack first started to ring at the age of 11. The retired schoolmaster. Mr. J. R. Taylor. who took part in the ringing for the funeral says: "Jack was one of my boys," Although barcly 60 he had thus completed nearly 50 years as a ringer at Westerham and for most of us was part of the scene.
The funeral took place on December 13 th. The Kent County Association was represented by Mr. P. A. Corby, general secretary: Mr. R. W. H. Hayes. Tonbridge District secretary; Mr. John Igglesden, the captain, and numerous members of the local band as well as friends from Edenbridge and other local towers. There was a large congregation of family and friends. The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the simple and impressive service. conducted by the Vicar, Canon Aidan Chapman. A half-muffied peal of Grandsire Triples was rung the next day Great sympathy will be felt for his second wife and his grown-up sons and their families.
P.A.C.
