There must be many hundreds of bells hanging in towers throughout the country on which are inscribed the names of long-forgotten forefathers of the parish. Such is the case at Saxilby, near Lincoln. Here, among other inscriptions. may be seen the letters WO OD SEND. These are on the third bell. cast in 1750. The tenor. cast in 1788, bears the name "Gervas Woodfend. Churchwarden." There are no Woodsends in Saxilby now, and none are remembered. But recently there arrived at the tower a gentleman who had come from the west of Scotland to check for himself the truth of what he called "a family tradition" that the family name was inscribed on two of the bells. It was a thrill for the visitor to be able to see the actual inscriptions on the bells. while the local ringers now know that the Woodsend whose name appears on the third was the father of Gervas Woodsend the cluurchwarden, and that the name is still a living name.

The Bells of St. Michael's, Stoney Stanton

UHEN Elizabeth Hunt walked out into the spring sunshine of the churchyard, newly married, to begin a long and happy life as a wife and mother, the bells that she had hoped would ring her from the church stood gleaming new and silent on the gravel path beneath the chestnut trees. They had arrived too late from Loughborough by horse and wagon to complete Elizabeth's happiness.
The year was 1898 and St. Michael's bells had recently been augmented from six to eight, no doubt in repiy to the challenge of Sapcote's new six, a mile away on the other side of the granite quarries. These quarries had provided stone over the centuries for many a local church tower, and given both villages a livelihood that was the envy of their agricultural neighbours.

The granite company, in a truly magnificent gesture, had donated the full cost of the new tenor bell, and words to this effect can still be seen upon it, cast in bronze for all time. The generosity of the company astonished many, tor it was an open secret in the village at the time that they would really have liked to take St. Michael's, stone from stone, and re-erect it on another site, for some of the finest granite in the county lay underneath its foundations, and, thanks to the better judgment of our grandfathers, still does.

TWO CHOIRBOYS

The stone is deep, hard and cold, and the ground-floor ringing room is likewise always cold, or so the visitors say. It was here, soon after the new eight had received their dedication, that two young choirboys of ten or eleven years old were given their first lessons in ringing, just one year after the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria, and we have them with us yet. Joseph, with his fine counter tenor voice, is still a member of the choir. while Nun (the name is genuine) has been our Ringing Master now for over 25 years, a fine gentleman of 81 years of age much loved and respected.

The band at this time was a good one until the war to end all wars took all the men away. It was then that the ladies came into the tower and rang the eight to Grandsire Triples until the men returned-or some of them. Minnie Turrell was a 17-year-old in 1914, when girls in belfries were an uncommon sight, yet she generated enough enthusiasm to see he through to the present day, and never fails the band for Evensong or practice night.

Between the wars and afterwards, a lot of peals were rung upon the bells, the 100 mark was passed some years ago. In the 1930's a ringing Rector came into the living and did a lot of good work in the belfry. After all this ringing it is not surprising that, despite the care lavished upon them by old Nun, the bells began to grumble with age. Quite recently the ringers launched an appeal for restoration, as ringers will when their bells are in distress, and with the fruit of much hard work, and a generous donation from the Barron Bell Trust, were able to place an order with Taylors for the rehanging of the octave and the recasting of the second, third and fourth.

The inscription on the fourth was left to the discretion of the Barron Trust, and has been appropriately inscribed with their name.
A £100 PRIVILEGE

The third bell has been inscribed "Thanks be to God." Two of the church ladies requested this inscription and paid $£ 100$ into the fund for the privilege. And the second bell, already well inscribed with the names of former wardens and a Rector, received the names of our current Rector and wardens, together with the name of our octogenarian Ringing Master.

This past winter, while work on the bells was in progress, the ringers painted and restored the frame and built a wooden ringing floor over the cold flagstones, over which a carpet will be fitted before the dedication, which takes place on July 4th. And thus another chapter in the history of the bells and tower of this lovely old church will be brought to a close, and the challenge of future years will present itself to our active and enthusiastic band of ringers

To complete the story, one more tale remains to be told. In the spring of this year we laid to rest, in the shadow of the church, the body of Elizabeth Hunt, who in her 98th year was returned to the stony soil of the parish she had loved throughout her long life. And no bell tolled her passing for, as on her wedding day just 70 years before, the bells were in the hands of the founders.

MELBOURNE WIN

STRIKING CONTEST

The South Derbyshire and North Leicestershire Association held its annual striking competition at Breedon-on-the-Hill Leics, on June 8th; Mr. P. Staniforth and Mr. J. Fidler acted as joint judges. Eight teams, representing seven towers, entered for the competition. Quite a number of ringers were young members of the Association, both in years and experience. Although the judges pointed out that the ringing needed a lot more improvement it showed considerable promise. Two of the towers, Breedon and Aston-on-Trent, had bands who had only been ringing for approximately six months and one year respectively and their efforts showed great courage. After a short business meeting, where several new members were proposed, the results were announced as follows:-

1 Melbourne, 2 Alvaston, 3 Stretton (1), 4 Stretton (2), 5 Castle Donington, 6 Diseworth, 7 Breedon-on-the-Hill, 8 Aston-onTrent.
The cup was presented to Melbourne on behalf of the Association by the Rev. K. Wayne, Vicar of Breedon and president of the Association.
Comparing these results with last year's, when only six teams were entered, the positions were much the same, with reversals in first and second places and fifth and sixth.

CHRIST CHURCH, NORTH SHIELDS

By MICHAEL SCOTT

DURING the Civil War the parishioners of Tynemouth, Northumberland, could not attend their Parish Church of St. Mary as it stood within the garrisoned walls of Tynemouth Castle. St. Mary's, founded by the Normans in 1110 , was part of Tynemouth Priory and stood on a bold headland surrounded on three sides by the North Sea. Driven from their church, the parishioners made use of a local brewery in the nearby port of North Shields. In 1654, as a result of a recommendation by Cromwell's commissioners, a site for a new church was given by the Earl of Northumberland, and a tax of 2 s . in the pound levied throughout the county to finance the building.

Fourteen years later, on July 6th, 1668, Christ Church, North Shields, was consecrated by the distinguished prelate Bishop Cosin. It was a simple sandstone building, roughly cruciform in shape, and lacked any unnecessary display of ornamentation. In 1753. due to the shortage of space, the north-west corner was enlarged and a gallery erected in it. No sooner had this been completed than in 1786 the south-east and south-west corners had to be enlarged to accommodate the swelling population of this Tyneside port.
The pews in these new extensions were sold by public auction and the proceeds, together with generous public donations, enabled the massive square tower illustrated on the cover to be erected. In 1792 the north-east corner was enlarged, making the main body of the church a perfect square. Major alterations also took place in this year, including raising the walls 10 feet, a new roof and chancel.

The reign of Queen Victoria also saw many architectural changes, mainly concerned with the increase and later the decrease in seating accommodation.

Recently decorated, the church interior is light, spacious and ready to receive the visitors who will be attending special services and recitals during the tercentenary celebrations.

It is said that the first ring of bells was lost on its passage seaward from London and that the second ring came by a ship called the "Happy Return". Cast by Mears and Son, Whitechapel Foundry, London, in 1787, the original ring of six bells which was given by James Storey, one of the principal inhabitants of the parish, was rung for the first time for the birthday of Queen Charlotte, wife of George III.

In 1807 the tenor bell was cracked and had to be recast. In 1874 the ring was increased to eight by the addition of a new treble and tenor, and on October 1st, 1878 , the first peal by the Durham and Newcastle Association (Grandsire Triples) was rung here. In 1878 Christ Church became the first tower in the area to have ten bells; even today there are only two other towers in the county which have ten or more, these being All Saints', Gosforth, and Newcastle Cathedral.

Comment-The Half-Lead Unit

A speaker at the recent Central Council meeting expressed doubts about the future ringing of methods constructed of two different half-leads; and the probable growth of this irregularity, fostered by regarding (and treating) the half-lead as the "Unit of Method Structure."
He is, of course, right-almost but not quite!

The compound word "half-lead" needs careful qualification for a proper understanding of its unity. By "Unit of Method Structure is meant the smallest exposition of changes that will identify the particular method under consideration. What is this minimum?

To begin at the beginning, a method's design can be regarded as consisting of hunting and place-making, as indicated by the grid pattern. (Sometimes called the "trellis-work.") This is formed by joining up the positions of each bell individually in successive rows, by lines running across the intervals between the rows. To the student of method structure, what is important is not so much the numerals in the rows as how the join-up lines run between those rows. This may be put another way, when we say that the important issue is what happens in the row intervals, i.e. the arrangement of "transits" (exchange of neighbouring positions) and place-makings; or, if you prefer it, the form of permutation thus shown in the row-interval.

There are, of course, certain conventions of method structure confirmed as acceptable by the Central Council. (See Central Council's "Handbook.") To some of these we may now refer.

The group of change-rows obtained by repeating the method pattern for each and every "working" bell is called the plain course, and is divisible into "leads"-(more properly "divisions") and with one of these divisions for each working bell. (The C.C. term "divisions" is preferable for general reference, since it includes methods with and without "leads," i.e. both hunt-controlled and "omniworking " types of method.)
Each division (lead) is to be reflective about its half-way row-interval. That is to say, the grid pattern of the lower half is to be a mirror image of the upper half. From this it follows that the second half of a division is joined to its first or upper half by a rowinterval, containing a permutation which is particular to the method. In any technological discussion it is convenient to speak of this particular permutation as the "Junction."
Similarly, each division is linked to its adjacent (preceding or succeeding) divisions, by a form of row-interval permutation particular to the method. It is convenient to speak of this as the "Link."
We can now designate the method. Since the second half-division is always the reflection (or reversal) of the first, then only the first half is necessary to delineate the whole. But with it must go the two particular permutations just described, i.e. the Link and the Junction These three elements are conveniently spoken of together as the method's " Frame." (See the back page of the Central Council's pamphlet on "Method Extension" for some forms of frame. But for a detailed discussion of the subject see the advertised publication"Method Structure in Change Ringing.") The complete frame is the minimum identification or Unit of the method. So:-
"FRAME equals LINK plus $\frac{1}{2}$ DIVISION plus JUNCTION plus reflectivity."

Due observance of the requirements of this formula prevents the occurrence of what the aforementioned speaker fears, i.e. non-reflective divisions. (Sometimes referred to as ir regular " or "asymmetrical "; but these term.s have other connotations.)

As indicated in the Central Council's "Randbook," " the call is not part of the method"; and it is " splicing " and not "bobbing" at the half-lead (or junction) that is open to criticism and non-recognition, as requirements now stand. A. YORK-BRAMBLE

DEFINING HALF-LEAD PEALS

A $N$ interesting discussion followed the introduction of the Methods Committee's report at the Central Council meeting at Worcester on Whit Tuesday. It had particular reference to the question of whether half-lead peals could be regarded as spliced.

The committee's report, signed by the convener. Mr. C. Kenneth Lewis, was published on May 24th and reads:
"The decisions on pealn must cover both Regular and Irregular methods, therefore the leads must remain intact since lrregular methods can be rung which are asymmetric. We recommend that the decisions on spliced peals remain unaltered and the peal be accepted as published."

Mr. C. K. Lewis moved the adoption of the report. He said the question of spliced peals was referred to the committee and their decision was published on May 24th. It covered both regular and irregular methods. It was the unanimous decision of the Records Committee

Mr. F. T. Blagrove (Middlesex) seconded. Mr. 1. H. Oram said there was a long discussion at the las: Council meeting on peals with half-leads. At the end of the discussion the matter was referred to the Methods Committee for its decision and report. They had had no formal report and until that day no reasons for supporting it. It did not seem very satisfactory for a report to be published in "The Ringing World " without reasons for the decisions come to. Why could not peals of spliced be recognised with no bohs or singles? He felt they should recognise this as a peal of Spliced Surprise Major and for that reason moved that the report be not accepted.

Mr. :. M. Jelley (Leicester Guild) thought that there was a simple way out. Ir was being done with Minor records-that a peal should contain a full lead of each method and if the method was symnietrical he could not see how any complaint could be made.

Mr. G. Dodds (Herts County) said the motion last year completely reversed the decision on spliced peals in that three leads of Spliced Royal methods be not allowed, bearing in mind that three leads of Spliced Royal methods were irregular. If was $u$ rong to consider half-leads containing all the work sliould be called spliced.

Mr. C. Crossthwaite (Lancashire Associaltion): Would this be recognised as a peal'?

LEAD AS UNIT

Mr. C. K. Lewis: It would be recognised as a peal and could be made into a peal of spliced. The decision relates to one peal but the thing is much wider. You are introducing a new unit and a half-lead that contains all that is necessary. 1 think this is very dangerous. We have come to the conclusion that we should not tamper with a decision with the lead as a unit. It is 30 years since 1 spliced on the half-lead. but I would hevitate to sity at this stage that the unit of ringing is hal! a lead.

Mr. S. Jenner (Kent) made two points: "Kent and Oxford Spliced should not be allowed to stand as spliced. Secondly. Mr. Lewis thinks there is a danger in splitting methods at half-leads. We have done this by saying the peal is a peal. As to what it should be called, if the Council will not accept it as spliced what should it be called?

Mr. N. J. Diserens (Oxford Diocesan Guild) I feel the Methods Committee has not done what we required: we wanted something positive.

Mr. C. K. Lewis: We are not asked to give it a name.
Mr. H. L. Roper: It was I who proposed at the last meeting that it should be referred to the Methods Committee. It seems that they have dealt with it. They say it is not a peal of spliced and it is not, according to the Council's rules a peal of Surprise. I am satistied that they have done their work.

Mr. Crossthwaite disagreed; they still did not know what to call it.

Mr. Blagrove: This change at the half-lead has been done for many years in peals o1 Doubles. It is called mixed Doubles.

Mr. J. Seager: Why not call it plain spliced a: the lead-end: reverse spliced at the halflead: and double spliced at both?

Mr. Oram seconded this suggestion and Mr. E. A. Barnett remarked that it sounded attractive. Could they think this over between now and the next meeting?

Mr. P. A. Corby: If this or some other name is to be adopted, should it not be considered with the proposal by Mr. Oram last year?.

Mr. Barnett: The Standing Committee has been charged with revising the Councils decisions and this is one of the things that might be taken into consideration. We are charged with putting something in .. The Ringing World " by next January

Mr. Moreton: It strikes me that Mr. Lewis has something up his sleeve and that there is an easy solution. Perhaps he will tell us something now?

Mr. Lewis: Mr Moreton 15 right. Half-lend methods are irregular method, which are asymmetrical.

Upon the recommendation of the vicepresident. seconded by Mr. H. O. Baker (Chester) the meeting look note of the Committee's decision. and that the decision as to what other type, of peals he called be referred to thent. And so ended the dehate.

ANOTHER 1.000 PEALER

Mr. Tom Lock. secretary of the Middlesex Association and London Diocesan Guild, celebrated his 59th birthday on June 2?rd. On the Thursday previous he rang his 1.000 th peal at Willesden in which Tom Goodyer from Sidney participated. Tom is the 30 th ringer to reach the 1.000 mark.

A Welsh Village Gets its Bells Ringing Again

By the Rev. A. W. McADAM

$I^{T}$is not easy to sive an adequate account of the six bells in Groemont Church, near Abergevenny, Mon, bicause there are no writen records which bave come down from the early days.

However, the unusual tower and spire belong to the 14th century und the old frame. recently replaced, to the middle of the 17 th . The treble and the second bell are the earliest ot the present ring and were cast in 1707 by Abraharr. Rudhall I of Gloucester. Nos. 3 and 4 were originally Rudhall bells but were recast in 1914 by Llewellyn and Jumes of Bristol. No. 5 is a John Rudhall bell and its date is 1807 . The tenor, which was cracked ihrough the rusting of its staples, was recast as part of the recent restoration by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in 1967.

The tormer bell irame way probably built about 1660 by local craftsmen and must there fore once have contained an earlier set of bells. Certainly the present bells were not designed for it because the frame had to be cut about to accommodate them. During its 300 -odd years of life the old aak frame was repaired many times with straps of iron and extra supports here and there. Most of this work must have been done in the last iov years, when the effects of age and weather begun to tell. One big supporting oak beam was repluced in 1932 by Mr. Vine Godding, of Grosmont, and some worts on the frante in the area of No. 6 was done by Mr. llarry Jones, the village blacksmith, and myself in 1914-1954.

Theie repairs, bowever, did not give to the old frame its original rinidity. It was loose at the joints and when the bells began to move it moved as well, both sideways and upwards, hammering against the tower walls and giving to the bells an eccentricity of performance which we took for granted, bus which caused visiting ringers to wonder just what it was thut lay in the cower above their heads.

TASTED FREEDOM

The crunch came in November, 1966, when one evening the treble fell out of the frame. It did not get very far and we were ablo with a pulley block to slip it back again. Having. howevar, tasted freedom, it was not willing permanently again to stay ouz and a fortnight luter slipped out once more, this time breaking its wheel.

This set us a problem. Not much use simply putting the errant treble buck in its stall. With the consent, therefore, of the P.C.C., we called in experis-Mr. Blundell, an architect who lives in the village, and representatives of the bellfounders They all told us the same story: "No more ringing or you will have the lot down round your gars."
We soon dixcovered that the total cost of a new frame, new wheels, ropes and otber tittings. along with the recasting of the conor and the retuning of the whole ring plus a new ceiling and foor would cost us more than £2.000 if the whole work were put out to contract.

With a parish population of roughly 400 . people fel: at the time that this was more than hey could manage: It was a question therefore either of putting of the evil day or redueing the bill in cash by some means or other.

The local ringers and the committee which they drew tomether to help them at the end of 1966 determined to undertake this challenge. to appeal for outside aid and to do what work they could themselver.
The appeal for outside aid was eventuall to prove fruitful. The Diocese of Monmouth found £500. the Barron Bell Trust $\mathrm{E150}$ and the Llandaf and Monmouth Bell Ringers Associa. tion $£ 50$. Numerous other domations came 10. 100.

The ball frame in the church, with the Rector (the Rev. A. W. Mcadami und Mr. W. Meyers, who accepted responaibility for it construction.

"DO IT YOURSELF"

In respect of "Do it yourself," it was pors sible to reach an amicable underatanding with Messrs. Mears and Stainbank that the local boys strip put the tower, taking down the belland dismantling the old frame aud fittings. I was further agreed that when the time came they would take the bells to London for exper attention. that they would bring hack the timber for the new frame and the girders to support it and, having erected the girders in postion, malie the lrame itself and put it in place.
Worh started in the autumn of last year We were roughly 12 altogether and with the exception of myself were all engaged in agriculture in one way or another-farmers, farm workers, a market gardener and two haulage contractors. One of our company, Mr. Bill Meyers, was a trained carpenter in addition to his farm work and we were destined to depend largely upon him for making the frame and doing woodwork repairs in the ringing chamber and bell room
We first took out the bells and lowered them so feet to the church floor. The frame fol lowed section by section. We had one anxiout moment when the section which had supported one side of No. 6 disintegrated in mid-air and crashed to the floor in three pisces. Fortunately it raised a dust but no more.
We built the new frame in the old nave completely and eventually took it to pieces again !t took a surprisingly long lime in dig out the holes in the tower walls to accommodate the five bia H -section joists that we to carry the frame. Whoever had originally huilt thoo old wulls knew his job.
After that it was relatively simple to pull the joists up although they weighed upward of half a ton each, to put them in place and set the frame upon them.

For the erection of the bells and fittings we were joined hy Mr. Trevor Builey from Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and within eight days we had the new ring in action.
There is still some work 10 be done but the cribis is over. Mra. Sheila Parry, who is a farmer's wife and one of our ringers. made a cine film of the whole work so that we can refresh our memories and laugh at our devices to get round awkward corners.
We enjoyed ourselves and, what was more important to us, cut the bill by perhaps $£ 700$
The dedication of the new ring by the Bishop of Monmouth took place on Sundiy, Juns 30ch.

GALISBERY GLILD'S POLIC:

Dear Sir--I note with interest the criticisos 3: the Sulisbury Diocenan Guild annual geperal meeting by Mr. D. R. Fuller in your issue of May 24th. They are largely similar to those maoc by myself in 196s. Why has no ofticer of the Guild yet replied to Mr. Fullor's letter' 1 think i: is not because of inefflciency but due to a policy of "turning the blind eye" and hoping it will all hlow over as in the past.
In 19651 was so dingusted with the way the meeling was conducted that i wrote a brief note to "The RInging World ", and proposed two motions of censure at our Branch (Wimhorne Branch) annual general meeting. These concerned the zunning of the meeting and the unexplained postponement of the election of a presideni. They were carried unanimously, move I believe to be unprecedented in the Guild's history.
The censures were duly forwarded to the Guild Committee und never heard of aguin A, by this time 1 was in London and the anger of the Branch members had died with time. I suppose we wore partially to blame for it not being pursued further. However it seem. that the Guild Committee has choven to forget this warning privutely as well at publicts, henc* Mr. Fuller's letter.
It can he argued that the basic faut is the large territory covered by the Guild: ringern in Dorset know very few in Hiltshire, and viccoversa. Therefore one would expect the officers to be particularly careful to announce vacant offices before the meeting and to prepare a list of candidates, if neceanary, in order that no one should feel there was a lack of democracy. How can members be expected to consider possible candidates for an office if the vacancy (that is if a satisfactory offices does not wish to stand again) is not known prior to the meeting? Especially if the committee immediately propose someone thay have previously decided upon.

1. suggest to the "powers that be" in the Guild that they take serious note of the mufo murings in the backwoods and make an effor to satisfy some of the complaints or else the Guild may be heading for fragmentation. Yours sincerely,

London. E.

Letters to the Editor

HALF-LEAD SPLICED

Dear Sir,-Re Mr. G. A. Dawson's letter of June 7th. I made a similar statement at Worcester, that method changes at the halflead are mixtures and not spliced. By ihe absence of any correction. everyone else there appeared to agree with this, but a glance al the Council's Decisions in the Handbook will show that we were all wrong.

In a peal of spliced the change of method cin take place at either the lead-end or at the half-lead, but not both. With half-lead splicing the last half-lead must be the same method as the first half-lead, since peals are round blocks. This does not affect the Methods Committec's statement that the Frindsbury peal was not spliced since that had changes of method at both half- and full-lead end. Thus April Day is Spliced Plain Bob and Reverse St. Bartholomew, and peals of Kent and Oxford in which the method is effectively changed at the haltlead only are also peals of spliced. - Yours sincerely.

Windsor.

A MLSICAL ANALOGY FOR THE

 PROFESSORDear Sir--Doubtless when the "campanological equivalents of Schonberg, Bouley (sic) of Stockhausen arrive the erstwhile Professor Dodge will be among the first to attack their innovations.

His recent outburst rather puts one in mind of the countess who walked out of the first performance of Stravinsky's " Rite of Spring " announcing that she "attended concerts to listen to music. not to be insulted."

If one wished to make a musical analogy it might be more appropriate to identify the innovations mentioned with the works of Mozart or Haydn. which display many brilliant and original features, although conforming closely to contemporary musical form.-.Yours faithiully.

We are again being asked by the binders of the Diary to have all sheets ready for them by September, and 10 enable us to do this we must invite the co-operation of all Association secretaries. asking them to send lists of officers and dates of A.G.M.'s, dinners, etc., by July 121h latest.
Most Associations hold their A.G.M.s before Whitsun, so the information should be available. If no amendments are notified we will assume that the 1967 lists remain unchanged.

" ATTACK FROM WITHIN "

Dear Sir , I am sure you will be anxious to rectify an obvious piece of mis-reporting in your issue of June 21st. Taking the penultimate paragraph of column 3 on page 480 as it stands, readers must wonder why you applied the headline " Altack from Within." Obviously I was blaming the committee but I said 1 did not blame the committee for the navigational errors in the Birmingham area which caused me to arrive about 10 to 15 minutes late for the meeting. - Yours faithfully,

DENIS A. BAYLES.
Chester-le-Street. Co. Durham.

TECHNICAL ACCERACY

Dear Sir.-Comment has already been made in your columns concerning the number of peals which have had to be withdrawn on ac count of false compositions. I was, however, most disiurbed to read that Mr. Price has had to withdraw nine peals because. in all good laith. he conducted a method published in our official journal.
Surely the answer to this problem, in part al any rate. lies in the setting up of a panel of experts from the Central Council who can vet both methads and compositions. These could then be published in "The Ringing World." after which they would become acceptable for peal ringing. This would, I am sure, save a lot of inconvenience and acute disappointment. - Yours faithfully.

Markfieid. Leics ALEC R. JONES.
Note.-We do consult experts, and one is the writer of the article from which Mr. Price touk his composition. See his letter.-Ed

NUN-STANIDARI) MINOR WETHODS

Dear Sir--1 was very sorry to learn ( $\cdot$ Ringing World." page 494) that my Index of Minor Method, had heen instrumental into leading ringers to ring false peals.

The Index was an attempt to livt all Minor methods, good, bad or indifferent. and made little effort to discriminate between them. although where falseness was knoun this was usually stated

To anyone intending ringing a non-standard Minor method I would suggest they view it with grave suspicion and only include it in a peal if they were capable themselves of proving its truth. or having it tested hy a competent person.
I must. however. point out that the method Windsor Single (11). which caused all the trouble, was listed as "asymmetrical" tas are all other asymmetrical methods in the Index). and that on the same page on which it appeared was issued the warning in bold type " It may be as well 10 stress that all asymmetrical Minor methods are. under ordinary circumstances, false."

What a pity the warning was not heeded -Yours sincerely. HAROID CHANT
Ryhill. Wahetield

IDENTITY WANTED

Dear Sir,-Recently whilst on holiday in Cornuall 1 was interested to see hanging at the entrance to the Animal Sanctuary at Murraytown, near Looe, a hell complete with canons, of about one foot in diameter and of very good tone. The bell is inscribed Blaniz Works. 1824." and I wonder whether any of your readers can give me any information regarding this ${ }^{\text {f foundry. "-Yours sin- }}$ cerely. E. T. PAUL FIELD.

QUESTIONS ON SINGLE CHANGES AND SPLICED

Dear Sir,-Although I agree with some of Mr. Chant's recent article, especially about compositions, most of it seemed to be a bit pointless. For example, why does he object to single changes? Do they prevent a true 720 from being obtained, or perhaps make methods too easy to ring?

The same might be said about 5-6 places in Minor methods, or perhaps Mr. Chant thinks that because it has not been done before this is a good enough reason not to do it now. Also, is man who is so fond of irregular methods should be pleased that Mujor ringers have at last seen the light.
As for spliced, it seems to me that if it so easy to "stuff more and more methods into peals," then there would be a few more peals of Spliced Surprise Major with Mr. Cbunt's name at the bottom. or perhaps he is too busy trying to get another metlod into a 720 of Spliced Minor.
It would be very nice if people with unusual views would tell us a few of their reasons for holding them, instead of just stating them. Yours truly,

HENRY K. BIRCH.

IS IT WOLF, WOLF?

Dear Sir,-The article *Commentary - the Price of Privilege" by K. H. Fleming (May 24th, page 399) and the letter by P. I., Chapman, "The Ratio of Peals at Daventry " (June 7 th. page 443 ) need reading side by side.
We ring for services as a duty. All other ringing is a privilege to which we, as ringers, have no "right," unless it be on practice evenings. Of course there is no such thing as the average tower, and ringing occasions in each tower differ. The Daventry tower is at present the only one for which we have figures My analysis of those tigures shows that for service ringing the time spent was 81.2 hours. Seventy-five hours were spent in practice and 111.8 hours devoted to all other ringing (lied practuce is not ringing.) This means that the Daventry bells were used more than twice as much for the pleasure of the ringers than for church service.
It is my belief that there is not one Cuild or Association in the whole of England which could afford to supply its own ring of bells. We are all totally dependent on the provision made by the Church. The question now has to be asked: " Does the Church need bells?" There is no bell at all in the new Coventry Cathedral but atiendance there does not appear to suffer, nor does it appear to be enhanced in those churches which have a full ring of bells when compared with those with only one single ding dong.
We need to ask ourselves if so much nonservice ringing detracts from the real message which the bells should send out.-Yours faithfully,

Leamington Spa, Warwicks.
Note.-Reader Allen overlooks that peal ringing is also an aid to better ringing in the service of the Church.-Ed.

CLARIFYING DOUBLES VARIATIONS

Dear Sir,-With reference to your report on the above debate at the recent meeting of the Central Council ("Ringing World " of June 21 st. page 482).

The tinal paragraph begins: "After further discussion the Council unanimously decided to adopt the amended motion

I would point out that there were others in addition to myself who opposed the motion.Yours sincerely,

FOLLOWING an appeal in their monthly journal. a group of bellringers on the staff of the Midland Bank met in London on June 15 th to ring at six towers during the day. They had travelled from as far afield is Swansea. Bridgnorth and Gloucester. The firsi tower was St. Vedast's. Foster Lane, where touches of Kent, Stedman and London Surprise were successful on the melodious six. We were most grateful for the assistance of some friends of Maurice Hughes from Birmuingham, who joined us during the day and enabled us to progress beyond Grandsire and Plain Bob.

With the full complement of Bank ringers picsent at St. Botolph's. Bishopsgate, we were able to ring, unassisted. touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples. By now the heat of the day was affecting us and the welcome sanctuary of St. Olave's belfry cooled our brains. Here we were met by the P.R.O. from H.O., who brought with him a Press Association photographer to picture us in action. The flashing of the camera, however, was a little off-putting and attempts at Stedman and Kent were unsuccessful. After they had left. Spliced Plain and Little Bob Major started better but came to an unsatisfactory conclusion

After lunch we were welcomed by the Vicar of St. Clement Danes. Touches of Stedman Caters and Kent Treble Bob Roval were successful. At St Luke's. Chelsea. John Loti warned us about a broken stay on the second, end after ringing rounds and Grandsire Caters on the ten we confined ourselves to the back eight. Once more we had to forge our way through the London traffic to St. Mary's, Putney (a very enjoyable eight), where we competed with the noise of ears and buses crossing Putney Bridge.

Then we drove to the Bank's Sports Ground at Beckenham, where the annual sports day was in full swing, and feasted on sandwiches and a strawberries and cream tea. The remaining ringers congregated at St. George's, Beckenham. where we had a final ring of the day on the 14 cwt. ten. Back to the Sports Ground for entertainment. fireworks and. of course. plenty of shop talk outside the beer tent.

Our grateful thanks must go to tower captains and incumbents, not forgetting Corrall Spiller and George Fry, who joined us in the morning. George called a touch for us, after which he said "This is the liry time I've pui bobs into Banking

MR. JACK A. WALGH An Appreciation
I was saddened by the news of the death of Mr. Jack Waugh, as it came as a complete shock; I was not aware of his illness. Apart from a brief meeting last year. when the College Youths visited Daventry, I llad not seen him since the war.

I was one of several taught by Jach and the late Mr. Charles Morss at our home tower of St. Mary's. Woodford, E.. and was privileged to ring with him in the first peal on the bells after augmentation to eight. This was to celebiate the silver jubilee of King George $V$ on May 25th, 1935. If my memory serves me right. Jach conducted the peal which was rung by the local band, and the peal board marking the vicasion should still hang in the beltry.

Jack would always help the beginner as much as he could and was one of the stalwarts of the College Youths in his generation.

For myself it was one thing to know that he was active among us but it leaves me with an empty feeling hard to explain now that he is no longer with us. He will be greatly missed.

REVIEW

METHOD SPLICING-PART II

It is just 300 years since the first ringing textbook was published. Many more have followed in the years since. but few have dealt in any detail with the science of composition. Recently, however, a few such handbooks have begun to appear. thanks to the enterprise of one or two individuals. Giles B. Thompson is to be congratulated on his latest addition to this list-"Method Splicing (Part II): Major Methods" (87 pages. obtainable from the author, 32. Egerton Road North, Manchester 21, price 8s.).

The book starts by dealing with the various forms of splicing available with plain methods, and then goes on to the more complex problems involved in splicing methods with a Ireble Boh hunt. Mr. Thompson explains his system for extracting the filseness from one or more methods-it seems that every worker in this field has his own way of doing this, and Mr. Thompson is no exception-and shows how the results are used in the construction of touches and peals of Spliced Surprise. Two useful appendices contain concise tables of the falseness between the commonest Surprise methods.

A particularly usetul feature throughout is the wealth of examples, enabling the reader to follow clearly the birious processes involved. There is also plenty of scope for pencil and paper : indeed. such homework is essential for a full understanding of the subject.

Finally there is a brief and interesting survey of the evolution of spliced composition since the early work of the $1920^{\prime} \mathrm{s}$. This covers not only peals of Surprise Major but also the various " hybrids" that have appeared. such as Plain and Treble Bob and odd-and-even splicing.

In short, a useful and instructive book. and a welcome addition to the technical literature of ringing.
C.A.W.

CALL CHANGES

TURN-UP FOR THE BOOK

Devon Six-Bell Goes to South Devon

MHE dominance of North Devon' in six-bell ringing had become such a permanent feature of the call change ringing landscape that most people would have been very contident to prediet that the Ross Shield would go to West Down or Down St. Mary, wlth Swymbridge or Talaton as possible outsiders: but South Devon ringing has always been keen. with possibly more towers in the field than the North. The widespread enthusiasm in the South was certainly evident at the South Devon six-bell competition at Modbury, for no fewer than 19 bands were there to ring on the magnificent Bilbie six on a perfect May afternoon.
Such a long success!on of entries is a yreat strain on any set of Judges, and there were some whe remarked on the fact that Kenn, ringing last. ware marked as low as $16 \frac{1}{2}$ faults, but as they had a clear margin over Stoke Gabriet's 211 there was no doubt about the placing. Kenn bells have a $13 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. tenor and go perbaps a little heavier than that: and it was noticeable that the first five teams all all the mote credit. then, to the Meavy band, hho came from a vety light home six to take sixth place on Modbury's 19 cwt. ring. The other leaders who went on to the tinal were Plymstock (241). West Alvington "A" (311) and West Alvington "自", who ran their seniors to a quarter-fault with $31 \frac{1}{2}$. East Portlemouth. Widecombe. Thurlestone and Dunsford didn't quite make it into the first five. and Meavy, who tied with West Alvington "B." just failed in a ring-off.

A fortnight later the North Devon handa. eleven of them. met at South Tawton 10 ring out their half on a much less easy six. The result was entirely predictable. except that Swymbridge (who are never quite predictable) sneaked into second place with 371 . ahead of Down St. Mary's 39t. West Down had a clear win with 29t. and Talaton (411) and Kentisbeare ( $63 \frac{1}{3}$ ) made up the six for the final.

One feature of the North Devon competition is worth recording. and that is that one of the Morchard Bishop band was probably the oldest ringer ever to take part in a competition of this calibre. Ringing to D.A. standards is not light work, but Mr. Harry Bowden is still at It, at the age of 81 . Mr. Howden, who looks as if he might have been drawing at old-age pension for three or fous years instead of 16 . hus been ringing at Mot chard for 69 years.

THE FINAL

On June sth the ten bands met on the light six at Blishopsteignton for the final. A reshuffle in the Southern bands was 10 be expected with the blg difference in welght between Modbury and the final. and so it came about: but what was far from predictable was a clear win for John Hine's Plymstock band with $21 \frac{1}{1}$ faults, followed by West Alvington with 264! Once again West Down and Down St. Mary fought it out closely, but this time it was for third place, and once again West Down just had the edge with $28!$ against Down St. Mary 29t. Swymbridge came a good way behind with 411 . followed by Kentsbeare. and Kenn. West Alvington "B." Stoke Gabriel and Talaton brought up the rear

Nobody, I think. will grudge Plymstock their victory. They have been working very hard for several years to get up the last and most difficult step which separates the good bands from the champions, and John Hine has become one of the keenest, hard-working call change ringers in the county: the North $v$. South competition which he organised at Clawton some years ago didn't become the regular event which we d hoped, but it's still remembered as a delightful afternoon and a feast of good ringing. As for West Alvington, they have been in the final of the six-bell comretition for longer than most, and were the last South Devon band to have won it before this year, while holiday vistors to KIngbridge can testify to the flne music which they make in their tower on Sundays with unfalling regularity. But If I know the two Downs. Sourh Devon will have to do some extra-special ringing next year to keep their silver. J.G. M.S.

BRISTOL UNIVERSITY REUNION

MHIS year's U.B.S.C.R. reunion was held during the week-end June 7th to 9th and was very well supported. Five peals were arranged but only two were scored. Pudsey Surprise Major at Longney and Stedman Iriples at St. George's, Bristol, both on Sunday afternoon. The peal attempt of Minor at Si. Michael's was lost in the last extent, two courses from the end, when a rope broke rhe coach outing on Saturday ufternoon was most enjoyable and included ringing in three countles-Somerset. Wiltshire and cloucestershire. About 35 people were present. Batheaston wis the first tower. with its re* hung bells. and the bighlight here was agood coupse of London. Arriving at Colerne, we first visited the coal hole down which the exstcretary of the Soclety fell two years ago on a simifar outing. Ringing here was very veried, and included the secretary-elect's first. ever touch of Double Norwich to come round: We moved on to Malmesbury, where a touch of splieed did nor come round. Before ringing here the non-residents were seen taking tea and cakes, while the residents tucked into sausage, eggs and chips Find ringing of the day was at Wotton-under-Edge. A touch of Oxford Bob Triples here made the people outside wonder if we pere going for the Society long length record ! The annual skitiles match was held the the Swan at Tytherington, which left many of us with no voices. through cheering and booing. This year the residents lost by only 16 pins. a considerable improvement on last year's peiformence!

On Sunday about 30 people attended the Corporate Communton at St. Michael's, followed by breakfast (rumour has it that the food was better than at the last dinner-perhaps we could iry catering for 200 next January!!. After ringing we gathered at the Verrecchla for coffee and those who were not participating in the afternoon peals made their furewells

Thanks go to everyone uho helped to make Reunion 1968 such a success. E.M.E.

RED LETTER DAY FOR TWO DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Derek Jewell and Roy Bould made the long trek from Devonshire to High Wycombe, Bucks, on June 15 th, to partake in a peal attempt of Stedman Cinques, which, fortunately was successful.
Both gained immense satisfaction from their efforts, Roy Bould ringing his first peal for the Ancient Society of College Youths, and Derek Jewell ringing his first peal of Cinques and also completing the Stedman family.
This shows guts and determination from one living in the heart of a hotbed of call change ringing; in fact Derek rings in competitions with a famous six-bell band. Roy is a little more fortunate; although doing a fair share of call change ringing. he is attached to St. St. Andrew's. Plymouth, and therefore gets bis quota of "Scientific."
They stayed the week-end at Basingstoke, and to show their appreciation gave the C.O.S. a very happy couple of days.

JOHN WILLIS MEMORIAL

The major part of the business at the Ashford (K.C.A.) District at Warehorne on June 13th was discussing the form of the John Willis memorial. Two suggestions were made-to add a treble to the five bells being rehung at Newchurch. and to provide one of the iwo bells required to augment the six at Charing. (The other bell and frame to be supplied from sources as yet unknown.)
The following resolution was passed: "That the John Willis Memorial be a bell to be hung in a tower within the District and that a signwritten tablet be displayed in the ringing chamber regarding this fact."
The Rector (the Rev. G. V. Davies) conducted the service and tea was served and prepared by ladies of the District on the Rectory lawn.
Ringing continued at Orlestone (3), where the very long draught and the tendency of the tenor to drop provided an entertaining hour for spectators and id hair-raising experience for the ringers. Ringing concluded it Ruckinge ( 5 ), where extraordinary Doubles methods were rung

PRESTBLRY BELLS RECAST

The recasting and rehanging of Prestbury (Cheshire) bells in ad new metal frame has now been completed by John Taylor and Co. of Loughborough and tiey were dedicated by the Bishop of Chester on June 29th at the Patronal Festival service.
Due 10 various activities taking place in the village on that day, ringing was limited to a quarter peal by a chosen band, but the Vicar has kindly invited the Macclesfield Branch to hold its next meeting at Prestbury on July 27th. and a notice to this effect will be appearing in "The Ringing World."

CHRIST CHURCH COLLEGE, CANTERBURY

A number of friends from Lympne, Canierhury. Petham and Oxford joined Christ Church College. Canterburv, for an outing 10 London. South of the Thames. on May 25th.

Towers visited were Hayes, Beckenham and Lewisham and, after lunch. Rotherbithe. St. Alphege's. Greenwich (the highlight of the day), Woolwich. Christ Church. Erith. and St. John's, Erith. Ringing included Stedman and Grandsire up to Caters. London. Yorkshire, Plain Bob, sounds and call changes.

MR. LEN STILWELL'S CANADIAN TOUR
Writing from Saskatoon, Mr. Len Stilwell sends us a beautiful picture of the 168 ft . tower at Westminster Abbey, Mission City, B.C. Len states that he is having a grand time and stayed three weeks near Vancouver and at Victoria. He rang several times at both churches and also at Mission City.
He stayed a few days at Edmonton before going to his headquarters at Saskatoon and is going to Regina and Calgary (where he hopes to ring). Len returns to this country on July 2Ind.

EARTHQUAKE STOPS RINGING

Ringing at Christchurch Cathedral, New Zealand, has been suspended since the recent earthquake. While there was no damage of any consequence to the structure of the tower, the cross was dislodged and damaged, necessitating reparr and thus scaffolding.
In the meantime the members of the Cathedral Society are overhauling the front six bells (the heavy four were hung in 1947) under the direction of Peter Whitehead. Self-aligning bearings are being fitted, wheels repaired. and minor maintenance work carried out.
Mr. Peter J. Perry, the Master. concludes his letter: "We hope to complete the work in the next few weeks, and we have plans for pigeon-proofing (Kiwi-proofing is fortunately unnecessary !) and a new floor-and, more important, far more peals and quarters.
" At Papauni the bells are rung regularly-14 Doubles methods at a recent practice. This is quite an achievement for an isolated tower and a band which has been ringing together for barcly a year."

A TOWER FORGOTTEN

The old grey, stone church tower stands A silhouette 'gainst the dawn.
A lark sings from the topmost spire In welcoming the morn.
The great grey bells within there still Hang silent and forlorn Remembering with sadness days gone by.
The tower is cloaked in ivy now, The bells with clinging rust.
There are some words upon the wallI write them in the dust:
But they are quickly borne away Before a sudden gust:
I watch them disappear with a sigh.
I climb the trodden stairway to The ancient belfry door.
Thinking of the men who must have Walked here years before-
Who stepping from the topmost stair On to the panelled floor.
Had rung the mighty bells for Mass at ten. This, then, was the story more than Seven years ago;
The villagers, who loved the bells, would listen from below.
But now the bells are still and quietIt is as if they know
Their iron tongues will never speak again.

PEAL RINGING & THE LOCAL RINGER

" Let him who is without sin cast the first stone. .

A Story by "Clapper"

Once, two men went up into the belfry at a Branch meeting. One of them was a peal ringer of great total and the other was a local ringer. The local ringer lived strictly by the rules of the Guild and never missed ringing for service or the weekly practice. He made sure everyone knew it and he was honoured for being so good. He liked that and was very proud of his reputation. He always rang the tenor bell and called touches in a very loud yoice so all could see he was there.
During the service that particular afternoon the local ringer. sitting in the front pew. prayed thus: "God I thank you that I am better than other ringers; I do not miss service ringing, ring peals in a selfish fashion or go tower-grabbing-like that peal ringer over there."
The peal ringer hung his head during prayers
Have mercy on me, Lord." ne whispered. "forgive me the many sins I have committed against You. Forgive me if I have been selfish and unchristian in my ringing activities, and help me to be more mindful of my duty to You in the coming week."
They both looked up as the lesson was read: - The reading is taken from the Gospel according to St. Luke, chapter 18, beginning at verse 10: 'Once. said Jesus, two men went up into the

CONDITIONS IN NORTHAMPTON  BRANCH

Writing in the June issue of the Northampton Branch's Newsletter, B. R. C. writes in his "Foreword ":
"Every ringer of this Branch could well undertake a frank 'look' at the 'ringing' of the District. It will reveal many glaring shortcomings which for the most part are ignored or complacently tolerated.

A fine ten like St. Giles' without a band! A toleration of bad striking in some towers to a point where the ringing becomes a mad scramble at all times! Meetings attended by 20 per cent. of the Branch membership! And . well, that's a start! The answers? These will he found when we are all less complacent: when we refuse to accept second best, and willingly give our maximum efforts ungrudgingly to the art of ringing-yes. you too!"

CREWE TENOR WHEEL COLLAPSES

The cight ringers who took part in the peal of London Surprise Major at Marole on June 15th should have been ringing in a peal of 6-Spliced Surprise Roval at Crewe that afternoon. The band assembled at Crewe but after less than three leads had been rung the tenor wheel collapsed! It was decided that the band. minus Richard Starkie and Alan McFall. should drive to Marple for a peal of Major starting at 5 p.m.

PUTNEY WIN

The Surrey Association striking competition held at Battersea on June 8th attracted four entries. Set pieces of Grandsire Doubles or Triples or Plain Bob Minor were rung by the bands. and the judge (Mr. E. A. Barnett), marking out of ten. placed the bands as follows: Putney (Bob Minor) 6t, Battersea (Grandsire Doubles) 4!, Wimbledon (Grandsirc Donbles) 4 Kingston (Grandsise Triplet).

Bridgwater Ringers

WITH the hope that the weather would brighten, a party of bellringers from the Bridgwater area left Bristol Airport on Wednesday, May 22nd, for a ringing tour and holiday in Guernsey. Our hopes were soon realised, for the following day, true to pealringing form, was a glorious one. After : morning's sunbathing session at L'Ancresse Bay, a band successfully attempted a peal of Doubles at St. Michel du Valle, and this is believed to be the first peal of Doubles on these bells.
On Friday we were up at $5 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. 10 catch the cargo passenger ship to Alderney an hour later. Arriving in Alderney at approximately 8.30 a.m.. we made our way to St. Anne's to ring for the $10 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Communion service. Afterwards an attempt for a quarter of Plain Bob Minor had to be abandoned due to lack of time, but a nice 720 was scored on these melodious but little-rung bells. We were delayed an hour on the journey back when the propeller broke and we had to be towed into St. Peter Port by pilot boat.
Op Saturday, after visiting the famous Little Chapel at Les Vauxbelets, which is a marvellous example of patience and skill, being decorated throughout with fragments of broken china and pottery, we went on to see the chime of three bells at St. Martin de la Bellieuse These bells are unique in that they are in the "up" position and are chimed by the clappers being lifted and dropped on to the bells by an apparatus similar to that of a barrel organ.
The following day. after joining the local bellringers at St . Michel du Valle and ringing for morning service, we moved on to St. Marguerite de la Foret to attempt the first-ever peal on the four bells. Unfortunately after a while the bearings ran dry and it was decided to abandon the peal in favour of a half peal of 2.520 changes. After an extremely welcome tea, kindly supplied by the Vicar and his wife. the rest of the group joined the pealers to ring for Evensong, a sewice which was enjoved by all.

Visit Channel Isles

On the last day of our holiday we visited three three-bell towers, all of which proved extremely interesting. At Torteval iwo bellonly could be chimed, and one of the parishioners gave us a demonstration of his special technique. The tenor, though on a full wheel. bad no stay and is usually only tolled, but one of our party saw fit to make an exception to this rule

ALARMING INCIDENT

After eating our packed lunches at Petit Bot Bay, we went on to St. Pierre du Bois, where a serious accident was only narrowly averted These bells are on half wheels so therefore can only be rung partially up. At the tirst attempt to ring them there was a territic noise from above and the clapper from the treble came flying through the trap-door, hitting the steps of the ladder and brushing the arms of one of our party. Thanks to the help of the local garage., we purchased bols, borrowed spanners and replaced the offending clapper and also secured the other two. After this incident the ladies of the party decided not to ring!
Our visit to St. Saviour's was disappointing The top of the tower is the highest point on the island, and during the last war, when the Germans occupied Guernsey, it was used as a look-out tower. A platform had been built near the bells and consequently there was insuffficient room for the bells to he rung up, and the Vicar has resorted to clocking just the tenor bell.

At 1205 the following day we left Guernsey for Bristol and rang at three six-bell towers on the way home-Butcombe. Loxion and Weare
So ended a very enjoyable trip. duly recorded on tape and in an excellent report in the " Guernsey Evening Press." and we are much indebted to the clergy and ringers for their warm welcomes and abundant kindnesses. At their invitation we hope to make another visit in two years' time. when several of the ring are due to have been restored. E.M.K

New Ring of Eight in American Girls' College

Smith College, Massachusetts

SET in the beautiful little New England town of Northampton, Smith College is an American Girls' College of University status
There are some 2,500 girls all housed and taught in a various mixture of buildings ranging from the typical New England wooden type mansions to modern science buildings. to this in recent years has been added a new centre for the performing arts.

This composite building consists of a large modern theatre, a studio theatre, television studio, a vast music library with modern listening rooms, ballet studios, a student lounge, and last but not least a bell tower housing a ring of eight with a tenor of 8 cwt . 2 qr . 11 lb . in A .
Originally the tower was not designed for bells, but during a staff conference, when the question arose as to what to put into the tower, Mrs. Dickinson, who learned to ring whilst at Cambridge, suggested a ring of bells. The suggestion was accepted and a subsequent order placed with Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

THE BELLS

The bells are inscribed as follows:-
Treble: In Honour of Marjorie Resnikov Botwinik ${ }^{3} 37$.
2: 1 am Grace.
3: To the Joy of Music, Mathematics and Memory.
4: I am Equity.
5: I am Diligence.
6: I am Courage.
Tenor: Gaudeamus igitur juvenes dum sumus.
The tenor inscription is the first line of a mediæval student hymn, "Now let us rejoice while we are young," and is in memory of the late Margaret Shurcliff, of Boston. The five are in memory of Florence Jeffrey Carlile and the class of 1893. The 3rd bell was donated by Edward $P$. Hutchinson and his daughter, Joan, and the treble by Norman Botwinik, of New Haven, Conn.; in honour of his wife.
Joan Hutchinson is a graduate of Smith. who has a peal and several quarter peals on handbells to her credit. This year she will be coming to England to Warwick University, where she hopes to continue an active ringing career as well as studying for a master's degree in mathematics.

The consignment of bells and frame arrived at Boston on April 4th, followed by the arrival of Bill Theobald, who had already travelled many thousand miles in the U.S. and Canada with a small trade mission.
Unloading was due to begin on the following Monday followed by delivery at Northampton, some 97 miles away, on the Tuesday. Unfortunately the week-end coincided with the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, with certain side effects in the area which included a dock strike on the Monday and a day of for the dockers on Tuesday to pay respects.

So the load arrived on the Tuesday, but horror of horrors, due to gross mishandling at the docks, part of the consignment was damaged (not the bells, thank goodness). Rectification of this was speedily put in hand and in the meantime certain modifications to the tower were carried out ; these were necessary before any installation could be started.

Work commenced on the hanging and then certain doubts occurred as to the stability of the tower, which had certainly not been built to the specification of the founders. This having been finally settled, on Saturday, May 11 th. a band was duly assembled to ring for the first time.

FIRST CAMPUS RIOT

In the early evening further ringing took place in reverse. finishing with a course of Bob Major on fully open bells. This latter produced the first campus riot, which was quickly quelled and later the "rebels". won over. Lesson for English towers with similar difficulties: If you can't beat them enlist them; they seem to change sides rapidly when they get a bell rope in their hands.

Just a few pulls and the old familiar glazed expression common to ringers comes on to their faces and then it is plain sailing. Seriousty, the bells were obviously very good for their weight. and went well, as Bill hoped it would be after all that trouble.
During the day many ringers took part from Smith and Groton Schools (was Russ the first man ever to break a stay while lowering a bell, to the cheers of the boys? and English ringers from Crowthorne, Kent, South Wales and Birmingham. Anyhow, a most enjoyable time was had by all, and a traditional English social meeting was held by those who could stay in the Northampton inn.
The following week-end the tower was visited by the outing party, whose activities have already been reported, when ringing up to Cambridge Major was enjoyed. The Tuesday after saw a visit from the boys of Kent School in Connecticut, under Bill Howard.
Immediately after the first ringing, began Bill Theobald's second task-to teach the girls to handle a bell. The College were extremely fortunate in having Mrs. Dickinson as a member of the faculty, who, with David, Kitty Miller and Rhoda Micocci, made things a little easier.
Altogether upwards of 50 people were taught to handle. Some were able to ring rounds and, with a little verbal encouragement from Bill, one group managed to ring a 120 of Bob Doubles. (Not bad in three weeks.)

LESSONS

There were several lessons to be learned. There is quite a vast interest in change ringing in the U.S.A. On top of this it is obvious that the mental approach to ringing there is different. Where else will learners learn to handle a bell in about an average of 15 minutes? Whether our methods in England are wrong for the instruction of beginners, or whether the Americans are easier to teach, or the "Smithies" are extra bright girls is debatable (or is it?). The fact remains that there is a large potential interest in ringing in general and it is to be hoped that in the future this interest will grow.
Already there are signs that this will not be the last peal of ringing bells installed there and before very long I feel that, with a little assistance, American ringing could easily surpass English standards.
Bill had the experience of being in a peal attempt where the conductor, calling his first peal, had the courage to stop halfway because he felt that the ringing was not up to peal standard. It was not that the ringing in question was too bad. Plenty worse ringing is accepted as peal standard in this country. However, the English ringers in this attempt will know that a future peal recorded from this tower will be of a high standard.
It is possible that in the months to come several American ringers will be visiting U.K.
Before long it is to be hoped that the bells at Northampton will feature in our peal and quarter peal columns, as is happening in other U.S. towers. Some need help, and any ringer visiting or thinking of visiting the U.S. is asked to co-operate to the full. So after a slightly longer stay than anticipated, Bill flew home. perhaps a bit tired, but proud and happy at perhaps having added a little history to American ringing. He will be glad to pass on any information about ringing over there that is needed, having been in every tower with a ringing peal except one.

BRIGHTON RINGERS VISIT ISLE OF WIGHT

Brighton's three towers combined for a summer outing to the Isle of Wight on June 8th. At Portsmouth we found H.M.S. "Victory" and other naval ships beflagged for the Sovereign's birthday. On board the ferry, Bob, Malcolm and Peter sought to mark the occasion by a quarter peal "in hand" at sea, but a fly-past of five hovercraft put paid to the attempt.
The first tower was at Carisbrooke, where the Master of the Sussex Guild directed some fast, rhythmic Stedman on the excellent eight. Westwards, in brighter weather, "to Freshwater for lunch, embarrassing the " local" with 30 thirsts, consequently it was difficult to round up drinking ringers and process them through the very small belfry. Eventually everyone had a ring on the ground-floor six.
Our route led us through some lovely country to the small church at Niton, where the five loud bells are rung from an even smaller belfry. Here we noticed the Braille Bible used by the blind Vicar. We had been looking forward to Godshill's bells, and what a capital six they are! The regulation half-hour was not nearly long enough to appreciate these little beauties. Reluctantly we left for Brading (8) where the tower spans the church porch and our ladies were understandably apprehensive about mounting the almost vertical ladder that leads up from the street pavement. The rather loud bells were rung to standard methods. Finally came a Taylor eight at Ryde. The full-toned, full-volumed bells are best enjoyed with ear plugs, and the first ringer to complain was told to stuff his beard in his ears! A final touch of Bristol set the seal on our day's ringing.
Back in England we stopped at a hostelıy where a stranger asked if the handbells would be played. When it was suggested that they went better if lubricated she promptly bought drinks for the ringers, thereafter campanological confusion reigned. Traditional songs, led from the back of the coach, sped us on the homeward way and as we reflected on a good day's outing we remembered with gratitude the island ringers, the incumbents who had permitted us the use of their bells, and Ian. who had organised the whole thing.

[By courtesy of Johnsons, Printers, Nantwich.
Built of the local red sandstone, the Church of St. Mary, Wich Malbank, as Nantwich was originally known, has a splendour beyond the range of the average parish church. The elaborate rib structure of the vault (14th century) and the 20 magnifi-cently-canopied choir stalls might be accounted for by the collegiate status of the church. To ringers the octagonal central tower places it in a special category.

Church of St. Mary, Nantwich, Cheshire

$\mathrm{O}^{\prime}$NE of the finest cruciform shape in Decorated and Perpendicular examples with embattled octagonal central towersone of the very few in England-built in c. 1380; though there were other associations before it was a parish church: it was an Abbey Church belonging to the Cistercian Order of the Benedictine of Combermere, Combermere Abbey, founded in 1130. It appears there was on the site a simple builaing, probably in the Norman style, built early in the 12 th century as a chapel of ease to Acton Church. This original chapel was bestowed in 1130 upon Combermere Abbey by Hugh-de-Malbank, second baron, as part of the endowment that included the Mother Church of Acton and a quarter of the town of Wich Malbank, as Nantwich was then known. Not until 1690 is the incumbent of Nantwich styled Rector-and that title does not appear in the parish register until 1714.

The tower has windows in the back face of the upper stage and contains a lovely ring of eight bells (tenor $14 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.). Access is gained to the belfry from an outside door leading to the turret staircase at the north-west corner of the north transept. Ascending this one emerges on to a ledge with a low parapet running along the bottom side of the transept roof, and so to the octagonal central tower. The ringing chamber is then entered by a door at the top of three steps. This has a tendency to lessen the beauty of the tower but is offset by the beauty of the pinnacles, gargoyles and panelled buttresses giving a fine effect.

The chancel is slightly out of parallel with the nave and is known as a "weeping chancel", commemorating our Lord's head falling to one side as He died on the cross. The clerestory was added to the nave probably about 1603-1625, the time of James I, in place of the original high-pitched roof, and has eight Tudor four-centred arches on each side. At the foot of the tower is a Jacobean pulpit-all that remains of a three-decker made in 1601. There is also a stone pulpit of early Decorated work and it is one of the church's greatest treasures.

The faultess masonry of the chancel makes it a worthy background for the magnificent choir stalls; they are unique in their perfect state of preservation. St. Mary's has a magnificent east window, the beauty of which is somewhat marred by an equally magnificent carved reredos.
Restorations have been very extensive and expensive (1572-1577): in 1683 a beam from the nave roof fell on to the threedecker pulpit, and ten years later the transept roofs again gave trouble and "a lay of ye whole Old Rent was levied to meet the cost" (1698-99). One restoration lasted from 1855 to 1879 , when something like $£ 17,000$ was raised.
In 1950 the present Rector, Canon Southwell, issued an appeal for $£ 20,000$ which realised $£ 26,000$. In 196160 tons of special cement (using the methods used at St. Paul's Cathedral and the Leaning Tower of Pisa) were pumped under pressure into the foundation. The floor has been raised twice owing to pressure of subterranean water; this water is now maintained at a constant level by means of an electric pump. And despite this it is true to say the church "stands on springs".

The back six of the bells were by Abr. Rudhall (1713), although in 1600 there were only five bells in this tower. In 1608 "the Great Bell" was cast by George Lee, of Congleton, the weight being $2,300 \mathrm{lb}$. In 1669 our great bell in Nantwich "chaunced" to be cracked and was cast anew at Wellington, Shropshire. Forty years later the five were recast into six by Abram Rudhall. Little attention was given them and they tended to throw considerable strain on the tower. In 1878 they were quarter turned, frame strengthened and generally overhauled; two trebles were added in 1922 by J. Taylor, of Loughborough, and the first peal rung on May 5th, 1923.
Nantwich has a great name and history, not only in Cheshire but all over the country, and has had-and still has-some great characters, locally known as "Dabbers", arising out of, it is said, the early bird catchers with small cages and decoys. As the birds came in, father would say: "Dab down, chaddie (Red Poles) on cage -or on bird-limed twigs." The natives are good gardeners, good sportsmen-cricket, pigeon racing - anything, including good sayings, one being "dunner thro' if tha cans ner ketch". Nantwich has some lovely Cheshire black and white; one bears the inscription (a prayer of those days before the Great Armada) "God grant our royal Queen, In England long to reign, For she hath put her helping hand to build this town again" (after the devastating fire of $1583, £ 1,000$ ).

comment Points about Competitions

Ever increasing in popularity among method ringers, striking competitions are guaranteed to provide all those who attend, especially those who participate, with an enjoyable afternoon's entertainment. The reports in "The Ringing World" are very varied, portraying many different standards and atmospheres.

Only occasionally do we hear about the method of judging, but the recent Horsley Cup final report began with an outline of the points system which aroused the writer's interest. The usual way of judging is merely to place the bands in the order of least faults and often there is a standard piece to be rung. This set piece, if too difficult, may well preclude some bands from participating and will always preclude call change ringers. To allow all to enter and yet retain some advantage for those who choose to ring a more difficult method the Derbyshire ringers subtract the faults from the number of changes (240) and increase the result by a percentage dependent upon the type of method rung. They have obviously found this equitable over the years and it might well be adopted by other Guilds, Associations and Districts
In reports of competitions using the conventional way of placing bands, faults vary from single to treble figures but this does not necessarily reflect adversely on those incurring hundreds of taults. The method of allocation of faults depends on the judge. My own method is to mark each double row as a unis with a maximum of four points, awarding a quarter faut for a poor lead or variation in tume interval oetween two bells, a haif fault for a "slip" or a very bad lead and a whole fault for two bells ringing together. The Derbyshire ringers tavour marking each single row but this incurs too much wriuing for me! An article on judging by a West Country expert would be interesting.

The reaction of ringers to competitive ranging is varied. There are those who disagree with any form of competition in ringing, those who prelei not to take part and those who enjoy it. In the Southern Counties, competitions tend to be strictly "friendly" with no prizes or cups, and judges try to make constructive criticism of each band's effort, which can be a hazardous pursuit! However, a happy afternoon is always experienced, and evening ringing is often of above average quality. Provided no bitter feelings or rivalries are fostered by competition ringing there seems to be little reason for any objection to it; the stimulation and self-criticism induced are beneficial to individuals, bands and Guilds alike.

BELLHOUSE FOR CHESTER'S NEW 12 PLANNED

Focal Point at Cathedral for Diocesan Guild Envisaged

A N announcement was made at a Press conference at Chester on July 4th by the - Dean of Chester (the Very Rev. G. W. O. Addleshaw) that the Dean and Chapter had decided to apply for planning permission to build a bellhouse. designed by Mr.
Pace, M.A., F.S.A., F.R.I.B.A, on a derelict piece of ground belonging to the Cathedral in the south-east corner of the precincts beyond the Cheshire Regiment Memorial Garden.

It has been impossible to ring the Cathedral bells, which need recasting and a new frame and the strengthening of the tower since 1963. The scheme was welcomed by Mr. H. O. Baker, secretary of the Chester Diocesan Guild. The bellhouse would be a focal point for the Guild. He visualised the appointment of a Cathedral company of 16 ringers.
(3). The belfry of the Cathedral should be the centre of the ringing world of the Diocese and county; a place where ringers can meet and which has adequate facilities for serving refreshments and cloakroom accommodation. It is quite impossible to provide these in the central tower.
(4). It is impossible in the central tower to have a complete ring of 12 bells and a flat 6th. A ring of ten is the maximum the tower will accommodate.

BELLHOUSE THE ANSWER

In their thinking about a place other than the central tower for the bells, the Dean and Chapter were much influenced by a remark of the late Mr. F. H. Crossley, the famous

A drawing by the Cathedral architect. Mr. George G. Pace, showing the siting of the proposed bellheuse in relation to Chester Cathedral. The architect's description of the building and bells appears on page 541 . The scheme is subject to planning permission and also that of The architect's description of the building and bells apper fine Arts Commission.

The Dean said that in the central lower of the Cathedral is a ring of ten bells. Since 1963 it has not been possible to ring them owing to the need of a new bell frame. The bells themselves, too, need recasting. A cathedral cannot be without bells and Chester Cathedral should have as fine a ring as any in the country. The Dean and Chapter have given a great deal of thought as to how to get the bells ringing again. The obvjous course is to have the bell frame renewed and the bells recast.

But when estimates were obtained it was found that the cost at present day prices would be something in the region of $£ 42.000$. This is a large sum, and it made the Dean and Chapter think very carefully whether the money would not be better spent in putting the bells somewhere else than in the central tower. which is not the ideal place in the Cathedral for its bells.

THE DISADVANTAGES

In fact it has grave disadvantages for these reasons:-
(1). Looking up at the inside of the central lower from the floor of the Cathedral one sees some very fine 15 th century intersecting arches and wall arches, archtecturally almost unique in England. Until 1867 the ringing chamber was below these arches. In that year the Cathedral architect. Sir Gilbert Scott, moved the ringing chamber so that the arches could be seen from the floor of the crossing. and the bell chamber was placed near the top of the louvred openings of the tower. But this pasition for the bells is unsatisfactory. It is contrary to sound building practice. Excessive stresses are set up in the tower and Cathedral structure generally due to the live movement of the bells when they are rung. Further, the hells are exceedingly noisy in the ringing chamber.
(2). Structurally, the weakest part of a medicval cathedral is the central tower, since its weight is carried, not on solid walls but on the four piers and arches of the crossing. A good deal of the cost of putting the bells back in the central tower is due to the strengthening of the tower that would be necessary. This is a difficult and costly task and even then it might not obviate structural weaknesses in the tower for the future: and structural weaknesse; in the central tower could have serious repercussions on the whole fabric of the Cathedral.

Cheshire architectural historian. who designed the Cathedral Refectory roof and lived in Hoole. In his "Timber Building in England (Batsford, 1951), he says on page 47 in regard to the positioning of bells in cathedrals and abbeys in the Middle Ages: "Many cathedrals and abbeys had separate bellhouses, bells being injurious to the fabric when rung in a central tower poised on four legs."

Was a detached bellhouse the answer to the problems raised by rehanging the bells in the central tower? Although Chichester Cathedral is now the only one in England with a separate bellhouse there were a number of cathedrals and abbeys in the Middle Ages that had them.

Inspired by what Mr. Crossley said, the Dean and Chapter and their architect. Mr. George Pace, in consultation with Mr. H. O. Baker, honorary secretary of the Chester Diocesan Guild of Bell Ringers, fully explored the possibility of building a separate bellhouse. The outcome is that the Dean and Chapter have decided to apply for planning permission to build a bellhouse, designed by Mr. Pace. on what is now a derelict piece of ground belonging to the Cathedral in the south-east (Continued on page 541 )

1968 CENTRAL COUNCIL AS THE PRESIDENT SAW IT

Under the heading of "A Mised Bay as Ringers Confer," Canon Gilbert Thurlow con. tributes his impressions of the Central Council meeting to "The Norwich Churchman." We publish it in the hope that if wlll mlugate against some of the unfavourable reports of the proceedings:-
A nutlonwide oteanksation, fun by laity and clergy on equal terms. with infuence far beyond the British Isles. and which stands the fest of time and changing social conditions--such is the Church Bell Ringers' Centrul Council.
It has representatives from every diocese in England, from Wales and Ireland. and has close contact with the growing number of ringers in U.S.A.. Canada. Australia and Africa.
Its annual conference,-this year at Worcerter on June th-resembled a large gathering of technicians, businessmen, organists of missionaries 1
Its agenda is varied and its busineas organisation considerably. It sells over 6.000 books on ringing annually and ifs management. production, and distribution of "The Ringing World." with a clirculation of over 6.000 a wesk. meana a turnover of over $£ 11.000$ a year.

ALL EXPERTS

Among the committees whore reports are discussed is the Towers and Belfries Committee. whose members, all experts on one or more of the eechnical aspects covered, last year gave advice on the maintenance. restoration of new bullding of over 120 churches.
No architect should supervise work of such specialised nature without consulting this committec. which gives its services for nothing but expensea.
Whit Tuesday began with Holy Communion in Worverter Cuthedrul. celebrated by the Bishop of Worester, and attended by moxt of the 166 members present.
The conference itself lasted from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., with lunch break, and the civic reception came as a weicome climax to a day which wis mentally tifing-at leust for the president.
The conference gave the impression that ringing has a worthy place in chufth life today. It provides a stimulating attivity for modern ternugers who find in it an att inviling constant progress through life and amply justifled by its connection with worship and proclamation of the Gospel, with the glory of "Old England" and with the modern scene. And it finds them place and purpose and friendship everywhere.

Leicester Diocesan Guild A.G.M.

The annual gencral meeting of the Leicester Diocesan Guild was held in Leicester on April 20ih. Ien towers were open during the morning in the county and five city sowers were well supported during the afternoon. The annual service was held In Leicester Cathedral, led by the Precentor, with a sermon by Canon Gundry. The singing was led by a choit of abour 30 members of the Guild under the guidance of the assistant organist. Mr, R. Prime. Teu followed in the Alderman New. ton Boys' School Hall.
Mrn. P. 1. Stanlforth, the president, opened the meeting by reporting on the asbievements of the past i2 months-the 2lat anniversary of the foundation of the Quild and the diocese's ruby year. She thanked the officers of the Guild for their services and mentioned seven or eight towers where ringing hus agalns besome a repular fenturs.
Four apologies for absence were received and 30 certificates of membership were pre-sented-mosily 10 new membefs.

The minutes of the last quarterly meeting. held at Loughborough on February 10th, were teud, approved and signed. Three small matters were dealt with.
The hon, general secretary's report stated thut membershlp was sllghtly higher than in 1966. The attendunces at general metings had improved, but once again the annual Gulld striking compectition was very poorly supported-only four towers entering. The annual dinner, held in October, had been very successful-the room being full to capacity.
The treasures's report showed that durlng the yeur the Ceneral Fund had shown an increase of income over expenditure of $£ 23$. $10 ~ £ 47$. The Bell Repair Fund had increaved by El 16 ! although no grants were made from this during 1967, as the new sule. passed in 1967. made payments only from the commltere meeting prior to the next annual general meeting. These had been made io Stoney Stunton ( $£ 80$ ). Newtown Linford ( $£ 30$ ) and Aylestone ( $£ 15$ ) These increases showed an overall increase in the halance sheet of $£ 21:$.
The peal secrectary's report showed that the total peals rung during 1967 were 28 less than in 1966-107 against 135. The usual analysis was reported.
These reports were all adopted by the meeting.
All the present offleers and the present auditots were reeelected, and the elcction of four Central Council representatives (from 1969 to 1971) was the only one to need a vote. The four elected were Messfs. S. Burton, J. M. Jelley. P. J. Staniforth and B. G. Warwick. Mr. R. K. Mason was not elected.

ALTERATIONS TO RULES

This gave the appeurance of being the longest Item on the ugenda. as two sides of foolscap paper had been duplicated with the proposed alterations. The first item, which proposed a completely new arrangement for membership, was heavily defealed. The second, 10 remuve from the rules all mentlon of junior members. was carried, after some discussion, by 76 votes to 14 . The alteration of one word-to sead "long standing members" instend of "old standing members "-was passed nem con. The other four alteration proposals. all of which had a commillec recommendation that they be not accepted, were withdrawn.
The committee announced that a librarian had been appointed until the 1969 annual general meeting. when the holder of this posilion will besome an officer of the Guild. He would rake complete care of the bound copies of "The Bell News" and "The Ringing World," recently given to the Ouild unbound and gradually being bound by members.

The St. Margaret's band (Leicester) had offered to have a new bookcaue made and to keep the copies In its belfry. This offer was gratefully accepted and Mr. J. Bramley was appointed librarian.
After much discussion if was agreed not to proceed with the Gulld Office. which had had a trial period of 12 months' use in all Districts.
Votes of thanks were accorded to the ladies who had prepared the tea, and the visfiors who had acted as tellers in the one vore nesessary.
After the mesting a social evening was held a: the Aylestone Parish Hall.

Do's and Don'ts in Care of Mandbells

Do hundle the bells with care.
The metal is necessarily brittle and will not stand rough handlling of dropping on the floor.
Don't touch the metal sutface uanecessarily. We send out the bells with a very high polish. and this can be maintained by an occasional rub with a clean, dry, soft chamois leather. Molsture from fingers causes local larnishing.
Do use metal polish of impregnated cloths to remove any tarnish that the leather will not. Metal polish two or three times is year will do. no harm.
Dotit clean the bells with mbeacives.
If you must use a butting machine, use a soff mop and jeweller's rouge. Nothing coarser.
Do store your bells in a clean, dry place.
Moisture and light will tarnish them.
Don't remove felt bufiers from clappera,
They are fitted to the larger hells (usually 18 G down) and are graded to give the finest tonal response.

Do apply a spor of cycle oil elither side of the clapper where is swings on the nylon staple pin. Only very occaslonally if they get dry and rattle slightly, and only a tiny drap.
Doa't stand large bells mouth downwards.
22 C and larger are heavy and you may set the springs out of adjustment, or damage the clapper pegs and felts.
Do grip the handles close up to the leather caps when playing. We tale special care to make a smooth fush finish to the rivets for this purpose, and proper handling will lengthen the life of the bandles indetinitely.
Don't pack the bells jumbled in a box where they will get acratched and the handles and clappers damaged.

THE ADVANTAOES

The advantages of putting the bells in a bellhouse on this site fathet than back in the central tower ate as follows :-
(1). For all time the stresses on the central tower, and on the Cathedral fabric genesally, that come from hanting the bells in the central tower would be removed, as change riinging sets up tremendous stresses in a bell tower, whereas chiming and carillons do not.
(2). A bellhouse would be builk especially for the bells. It would be possible to incorporate in it all the most modern techniques in regard to ringing. Bellringing is one of the oldest and greatest English aris and one peculiat to our country. In a beilhouse the Diocese and county and its ringers could have what is, in effect, the perfect urrangement for bellfinging
(3). A bellhouse could be the centre of the ringing world of the Diocese and county; and on its ground floor could be provided a room for meetings, a canteen and cloakrooms.
(4). Chester would have the distinction of being the first cuthedral since the end of the Middle Ages to build a bellhouse. And a bellhouse could be a great architectural adorn* ment of the city, as indeed bellbouses are in italian cities.
( 5 ). A bellhouse on the site shosen would not interrupt any view of the Cathedral.
(6). A tellhouse would be cheaper. At present day prices its cost is estimuted at beiween $£ 36.000$ and $£ 39,0000$, some thousinds less than rehanging them in the central tower.
(7). In a bellhouse it is possible $t 0$ have a full fing of 12 bells with a dat bth.

GUILD'S WELCOME

- I want to say how much we welcome the project," sald Mr. H. O. Balef, speakipg on behulf of the Guild.
The primary function of the bells, he said, is to call people to the services on Sundays and other Church festivals. As the Cathedral is at the centre of a very busy city, the atchirect has so designed the tower and the banyting of the bells that the sound will be carried upwards and outwards father than being difected straighs down to the immediate neighbourhood.

The building of the bellhouse will provide the Cathedral with the opportunity of forming its own regular company of ringers. A fruitful field for obtaining learners may be found at the Cathedral Choir School. Cathedral Youth Club. the Queen School. the King School. Chester Collicme, the Grammar and Secondary Schools and Church Youth Organisations, who should be encouraged at all times. even though their stay muy not be long in the city. It is the enthusiasm of the older ringers that will lead these learners to realise the fascination of this hobby and find satisfaction and pleasure as so many others have done.

The growing custom of the exchange of choirs between churches for a Sunder's duty could well be copied by ringers-when the company has become proficient-in fact I know of churches where this is done with great interest and success. It is also possible now to have one-day schools. whick ate becoming popular and very useful.

The Cathedral company of ringers, when formed. should consist of about 16 ringers with a Master, a Deputy (or perhaps a Ringing Master) and a secretary.

Architect's Plan for Chester Bellhouse

With Bells will Cost about $£ 39,000$

By George C. Pace, M.A., F.S.A., F.R.I.B.A., the Cathedral Architect

WHILST there is nothing new in a frea. standing bellhouse, there are very few modern examples of free-standing towers designed for that very English art-change ring* ing. There afe few difficulties in the strutio tural design of a free-standing tower to carry bells hung dead for chiming or for playing as a carillon. With 13 bells hung fot change ringing and with the maximum movement in the structure and the bellframe not to exceed 1/32nd of an inch, very careful investigution of many thousunds of different stress combinations has been essential.

In this a computer has played a part. The very sperial stress problems and the need to work out a very simple and economis structural system required collaboration at all stages of the development of the design between the architect and the engineer. Ove Arup and Partners (the engineers for Sydney Opera House).

The bellhouse is 10 stand at the south-east corner of the Cathedral precincts. on part of the Abbev graveyard. The distance from the south transept. the choif and the Lady Chapel is thus considerable. The full height of the bellhouse is about 68 feet. and to the upex of the pyramidical roof 84 feet. These may be compared with the main part of the central tower ( 127 feet ) and the ridge of the choir and the south transept ( 78 feel).

The design for the bellhouse has been worked out from firat principies and with no praconceived ideas of the form and shape. It is intereating to note thut the result bears a fumily likeness to the timber bellthouses of many ancient churches, especially those of the Welsh Border.

REINFORCED CONCRETE FRAME

The Chester Cathedral bellhouse has a deseptively simple reinforced concrete frame. As certain levels this has brick inflling. The ground stage is enclosed with a red sandstone wall having a basic quatrefoil plan shape. Above this level the whole of the frame is protected by a skin of western red cedar shingles. A continuous band of windows lights the ringing chamber and immediately under the eaves of the pyramidical cap are the sound holes. It is hoped to have a gnoly conceived structural weather vane serminal is cast uluminium. The shingles will soon weathes a silver-grey colour.

The treatment of the surrounding site may be grass of paving and possibly some spociully designed sents.

Visually the bellhouse will be an object of interest in itself and its placing outline. material, texture and colour have been catefully designed to integrate with the Catbedral and the lownscape of Chester.
Inside the bellhouse, at ground level. there is a clubroom, with cloakrooms and a kitchen. A short spiral staircase leads to the ringing chamber. The bell ropes come down in a perfett circle and all is apranged and equipped to sive near perfect facilities for bellringing. Between the ringing chamber and the bellframe there is a sound chamber. The distance beo tween the ringing chamber floor and the bellframe gives the ideal length of pull for the bell ropes. The bellframe is placed so thut access for maintenunce is ealy. There ard pils for 13 bells.

13 BELLS OF 120 CWT.

In the existing ring, bell No. 8 is diated 1606 and cast by Oldfield. This bell is to be kept and the others recast to form a ring of 12 in ditatonic scule with an additional bell, at flat 6th, maling a total of 13 bells. The present ring of ten bells weighs approximately 125 cw. The ring of 13 bells in the ley $D$ would weigh approximately 120 cws . The bells would be pleasing musically and similar in timbre to the rings at the Cathedrals of Lincoln, Leicester, BLucliburn and Southwell and Macclestield Parish Chursh. The bells would have the best and most up-ro-date fittings.

The bellframe would be of massive gast iron. low side type with cross bunds and bolted to grillage beams.

The bellhouse is designed so that sound holes are at the perfect height above the bellframe. The sound of the bells passes to the epen air through a specially designed reflector $2 t$ the top of the belfty. This not only ene sures that the sound of the bells travels the greatest possible distance. improves the quality of the sound, but aleo guards against excessive nolse in the vicinity of the bellhouse.

Costs afe dificult to estimate under present conditions and for a structure without pre. cedent. Making an attempt 10 anticipate what cosis may be 18 months hence gives the approximate cost of the bellhouse. bells, bell. frame. clock and chiming machine us between $$ 36.000$ and $£ 39.000$.

BATH & WELLS ASSOCIATION

Visitors from the Axbridge Deanery. Chippenham and Leicester joined Branch members at the quarterly meeting of the Chew Dranery at Yation (8) on June 16th.
The service was conducted by the Vicat. the Rev. T. C. P. Wilkes, during which he dedicated a new peal board, niving details of the peal rung to the memory of the late towet captain. Mr. H. A. Price. In his address the Vicar spoke of the Christian qualities of Mr . Price and of the debt we owed him

After an excellent tea, prepured by Mrs. Porter and her helpers, the business meeting was chaired by Mr. H. W. Knight. Subject to permission. the September quarterly meeting will be held at Backwell. with the pracitice meeting at Stanton Drew (July) and a joint meeting with the Frome Branch at Kilmersdon in August
A discussion arose over the time of practice meetings and it was decided that winter prace tices would start at 5 o'clock: as at present, but summer practices would be held from 6 to $9 \mathrm{p.m}$. Following the customary votes of thanks, ringing was restmed until shortly be:

CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETLNGS

Dear Sir.-May I through the medium of the columns of "The Ringing World " and as a non-member of the Central Council, please thank the Worcestershire Association for its very kind hospitality to me and to all other non-members over Whitsuntide.
How nice it is to meet old friends and make new ones and to visit new towers as we do on this occasion which, unfortunately, only comes once a year.
With this in mind, I would like to emphasise that I feel a great concern for the future of the Council. particularly with regard to the meeting held on Tuesday, June 4th. I was very disgusted with the all 100 apparent unChristian and purely selfish attitude of some members re arrangements, etc., for future Central Council meetings.

Mr. Speed's comment with regard to the lower-visiting was, for the most part, completely unjustified. Restrict the ringing to members only, Mr. Speed, and you will kill the whole atmosphere of the Central Council and you know it. Concerning Mr. Ayre's remark, viz. peal ringing for next year's meeting at St. Albans. if Mr. Ayre will not make peal facilities available to non-members, I will be only $t o 0$ pleased to arrange peals that weekend. After all, there are plenty of towers outside Hertfordshire within a stone's throw of St. Albans.

Change Central Council proceedings in any way. ladies and gentlemen, and to my way of thinking this would be the first step towards killing ringing as we know it today.-Yours faithfully,

Chislehurst, K'ent.
TONY LEWIS.

MISS BELLRINGING

Dear Sir,-I did not think that bellringing or "Th: Ringing World" were involved in pornography, or surely, if they had been, they would both have been banned a long time ago!
Why on earth shouldn't there be a " Miss Bellringing "? After all. we read about ringers' socials. dinners, cricket matches and holidays, so why shouldn't we " mini-skirted " females be allowed to display our feminine charm:

I really fail to see what is obscene about such a contest; after all. a "Miss Bellringing" does not necessarily have 10 parade in a swimsuit ai the Central Council meeting! (I wonder how many would object?)

So, Mr. B. C. Law and Mr. M. C. Broad. please arrange something: after all, what is Annil Sadowska really against, the literature in "The Ringing World ". or the Exercise emerging from Victorian idcas?-Yours faithfully,

OVERLOOKFD?

Dear Sir--Surely Professor Dodge, in his recent article, has omitted to mention one of the most unorigiral introductions to be made into the field of Minor ringing. namely that of special alliance methods.-Yours faithfully.

PARSONS AND BROADCASTING

Dear Sir- - In regard to the report of the C.C. Broadcasting Committee. I would like to point out that the bells of St. Michael's Church. Yorktown, Camberley. were twice broadcast in 1967.
Our Vicar, the Rev. Paul Barber, is a trequent broudcaster on "Five to Ten " and on Sunday. February 26th, the people's service at 11.30 am . went out live from our church. A request for the bells to be heard resulted in that service being faded out with about one minute of rounds on the bells. (Note page 502 , top of column 3. in bold type.) On November 15th Mr. Barber introduced "Five to Ten" with the record of these bells and again faded out with the bells.

To all captains I would say: Get the parson interested in your bells and then if the opportunity arises-as with us-it becomes easy to get your part in the proceedings. You little know of the joy it can give to someone far from home. Our Vicar received, among many others, a very nice letter of thanks for the bells from a lady in Newcastle.

I might add that a series of three "people's services" is planned for later this year, when no doubt we shall again be "on the air." The dates are not yet known.-Yours faithfully,

RAYMOND BATH.

PEALS ON THE IRISH SEA

Dear Sir,-Regarding the query in Belfry Gossip. page 485, on May 29th, 1901, a peal of 5,173 Stedman Caters was rung on handbells in 2 hours and 53 minutes during the crossing from Dublin to Holyhead in the S.S. Cambria.
Let us recall the famous names of this historic event. for they were of ringers of a calibre of whose like we shall never see again: William Pye 1-2. William H. Barber 3-4. George R. Pye 5-6. Ernest Pye 7-8. and William Short (conductor 9-10)

The peal was witnessed by Isaac G. Shade, James George, John Buffery and John $S$ Goldsmith.

It is of interest to note that the three Pye brothers, James George and Istace G. Shade each amassed a total far in excess of 1.000 peals. At the time of his passing the total of peals rung by William Pye was 1.969.-Yours faithfully.

PLAIN BOB TRIPLES

Dear Sir, The composition of 1.288 Bot Triples which was published on page 528 of the issue of July 21st, 1967, contains two errors in the course-end figures published due 10 a copying error on my part. I therefore submit the following corrected composition:-

While on the subject of Bob Triples, it has been drawn to my attention that some people who are new to calling the method tend to regard the first lead (7th in 5-6 up) as the Wrong " instead of the "Middle" and the next to the last lead to the course-end (7th in 5-6 down) as the "Middle" instead of the " Wrong." This is quite understandable if the individual concerned has had experience of calling Plain Bob Major, etc.

The fact is that the coursing order after a bob at the first lead of course is the same for Plain Bob on odd and even methods. Perhaps the powers that be might give thought to bringing Plain Bob on odd bells into line with its even bell counterparts as far as the Wrong" and "Middle" headings are concerned. If this is not possible the heading 1. 5,6 . etc., would be a safer way of avoiding confusion.-Yours sincerely,

DIAMETER NO GUIDE TO TENOR'S

WEIGHT

Dear Sir,-Generally, the diameter across the Lip of a bell from the outside gives a rought guide of its weight if not already known officially. But there are exceptions, as for example: Tenors, St. Edmund's, Northampton, 46 ins, 17 cwt. 3 gr. 25 lb .; Wootton, Northants, also 46 ins., 13 cwt 2 qr. 21 lh. ; and Claybrooke; Leics, 46 ins., 13 civt. 3 gr. 7 It.
The note, also, is not a true guide-the fin t of these threc is $\mathbf{1}$, the latter two are flit. Market Harborough's ( 18 cwt. 3 gr. 5 lb .), which is beavier than that of St. Edmund:s? Northampton, is also F. And if one gets to st. Saviour's. Leicester, the tenor there is is cwt. 3 qr . 12 lb ., and its note no lower thar the tenors at Claybrooke and Wootton.

There are several answers to this big dif-ference-one is length of waist and another is circumference around the croun-thesc explain the differences between the three above-mentioned 46 inch bells.

Despite my pointing out to the general seeretary of the Peterborough Diocesin Guild that the 41 inch tenor bell at Easton Neston is only 9 cwt. 2 gr. 6 lb and not "101 cwt." there is yet another peal reported in ." The Ringing World" of June 7th, 1968, giving this latter assamed weight-obviously taken from the diameter. which, I repeat, is not a safe guide- One cannot go on reports of old peals, lor Oakham has in the past 40 years been given three different weights- 28 cwt ., 24 cwt . ? qr. $9 \mathrm{lb} .$. and 22 cwt .3 gr .8 lb .-this last is the correct one and even this is heavy for a bell of only 49 inches when compared with Castle Ashby- 50 inches and 19 cwt. 2 yr. 24 lb.
In the 1967 Peterborough Diocesan Guild report the general secretary did make the necessary alteration to all reports of peals rung that sear at Easton Neston. so there is now no excuse for still reporting it at its assumed weight of $10 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.
Ecton, too. is 15 cwt .1 ar .20 lb . and not 16 cwl.: as stated in a peal reported in your June 7th issue. This, too, is corrected in the 1967 report. There may be three Ashtons in Northants (only one with bells), but it is new. to me that there are two Nassingtons, one near Oundle and another in the Guilsborough area, and there is no excuse for this tenor constantly being reported as 11 cwt . Its correct weight of 9 cut . 2 qr. 16 lb . is clearly printed up in the belfry. There are not two Nassingup in the belfry. There are not two Nassingtons. The new tenor at Wansford should read 3 cul. 3 qr. 19 lb ., not $3 t \mathrm{cwt}$. or 3 cwl . 19 lh . It may be interesting to reveal that this bell in 1967 cost $£ 352$ to install-frame already there. A similar bell in the $192(1) 30^{\circ}$ s would have cost $£ 80$ to $£ 100$ - Yours sincerely

OBITUARY

MR. VALENTINE GOSEING;

The death look place in Florida last month of Mr. Vatentine Gosling, aged 94. He had lived in America for some years but came from Nottinghamshire. About five years ago he offered a sum of money to the first band ringing one of his compositions. This was of Bob Major, and the peal was duly rung by a handbell team, who received the award.

MR. HARRY STRANGWARI)

Mr. Harry Strangward. for many years tower captain at Si. Mary the Virgin's, Nassingtoll. Northants, passed away peacefully at his home on June 23rd. 1968, aged 83 years.
Harry was taught to ring at his native Nassington just before the turn of the century, and during his 69 years as a ringer he taught countless numbers of young and not so young to handle is hell. At the time of his death he left a good band of ladies 10 carry on in the noble art. all in their early teens. logether with one or two older ringers, who ring regularly for services and attend Branch meetings.
Prior to the tormation of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, Nassington was not affiliated to the local Deanery Association but on February $14 \mathrm{th}, 1925$, at a meeting at Alwalton, Harry, logether with five other Nassington ringers, joined the newly-formed Guild. Harry took part in only one peal. Grandsire Doubles. his favourite method. in 1939. He was well loved by all who knew him.

The funeral service was conducted hy the Vicar (the Rev. J. A. Foster), president of the Oundle Branch, on June 27th. followed by interment in the local cemetery. Ihe Vicar spoke of Harry's love and devotion to the church and to the art of bellringing. During the evening the hells were rung halimufled to a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles in his memory.

SIISOE, BEDS. OUTING:

It was a beautiful sunny Whit Saturday morning when Silsoe ringers and friends set out for their 17 th annual outing. The area chosens this year was Lincolnshire and Cambridgeshire. The first ringing of the day was at Colsterworth, where we found a very interesting church having associations with Sir Isaac Newton. A sundial carved by him'at the age of nine was among the many things to be seen. Then to Great Ponton, where the heavy five cre a little difficult for the younger ringers.
The villagers of Barrowby were to be our hosis for the next two hours. After a pleasant ring on the light six lunch was taken at the Rectory. Kindly prepared by the Rector's wife and her very willing band of helpers.
After such an excellent lunch everyone enjoyed the long run to Gosberton, where there is a finc church and lovely bells. and the ringing here was of an excellent standard. So on to Surfleet. a chance for many of the ringers to ring on 12 bells for the first time.
Tea was taken at the Garden Restaurant af Springfields, Spulding. and this was followed by another relaxing ride to March. Before ringing. the Vicar gave us a short history of his church and pointed out to us the tine angel roof. The fast ring of the day was at Doddington and. after the usual refreshments, Silsoe was reached at about 11.30 p.m.
Our grateful thanks go to all who met us, especially to the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. GaynerHarris and the helpers at Barrowby. to the coach driver and last, but by no means least, to our organisers, Des Brazier and Colin Mann.

CALL CHANGES

DOINGS IN DEVON

seven competitions will be taking place in Devon during July. The oth is a blank day so far as we can hear, but the 13 th sces two -the Bridestowe Cup at Bridestoue, on the A. 30 road just beyond Okehampton, and the East Portlemouth Shield at Kenn, near Exeter. This shield is competed for in the tower of the holders. On the 20th the tine old six at Shaugh (pronounced Shau) Prior will be going to the shaugh Prior Shicld, and visitors in the Plymouth area will find not only good ringing but lovely scenery, for Shaugh is a superbly-sited village clinging to the edge of the Moor, where it tikes at plunge into the lovely wooded Plym Valley, near the famous Dewer Stone. On the same day is the Down St. Mary Shield competition in another very pretty village not far from Exeter.
Threc more lestivals conse on the 27th; at Stoke Gabriel on the Dart, where vistors will see one of the linest yew trees in the country: at Shebbear, where the Devil is buried under a boulder on the village green and the bells have recently been restored and put in line order; and at Poughill. north-west of Exeter. This last village is one of the little shibholeths which Devonians maintain in order to identify foreigners. The parish of the same name in North Cornwall is pronounced "Poffle": this one is pronounced in a manner only acquired after many years of residence in the county, but nearer to "Poyill" than anything else. It has a pretty light Taylor six which go very well.

We hear glowing reports of the competition run by Beric Bartlett at Lustleigh on June 22nd: the first three teams were all below 20 , and Down St. Mary managed to redeem a little oi the glory lost at Bishopsteignton by beating Plymstock with a verv fine peal with $121 / 3 \mathrm{rd}$ faules: Plymstock had 171 3rd and West Alvington $181 / 3 \mathrm{rd}$.

GULLDFORD CATHEDRAL

One tower in Surrey, three in Kent and tho in East Sussex were on the programme for Guildford Cathedral outing on June 8th. At Oxted, the first tower. the Darlv of 30 or so ringers were met by Mr. A. Newnham. A fair percentage of the ringing at all towers was rounds and call changes to cater for our profusion of learners.

Leaving Surrey, we were met at Westerham (our heaviest ring of the day) by Mr. J. O. Weller. Edenbridge, which followed. had the best bells of the day. Thank you. Mr. Leigh, and congratulations on a spotlessly clean ringing room!

After lunch at Edenbridge it was a pleasant ride to Wadhurst, where one of our experts learned his ringing and practised his carpentry. We were met by Mr. Charles Bassett and two other local ringers. Another good Sussex cight was at Withyham. We went back into Kcnt for tea at the Elizaheth Barn. Tunbridge Wells, and our last iower was at Tunhridge Wells (a majestic eight), the ringing including Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Boh, Cambridge and Double Norwich. M.K.

THE COLLEGIATE SOCIETY IN DERBYSHIRE

TH
HHE 1968 week-end was the fourth full-scale excursion to sample other people's bells and, in retrospect, it was vintage stuff. The band met in Oakham on the Friday afternoon and desplte delay which cut into the ringing time the first tower set the tone for what was to come. Oakham bells are a fine, full-toned is cwt. eight and we rang Stedman, Grandsire and Cambridge. Visitors who follow may euro to remember that Deputy Ringing Masters of some standing can bo left swinging above the tenor box here if they do not appreciate deepset bells. There is also cunning device to chime the tenor when lowering in peal, but it is perhaps wire to rely on local knowledge for this.

Before reaching Derby that evening we called at Wymeswold to ring on the nice little 11 cwt. six and found that the vintners' phrase travels well" could fairly be appited to these products of the Downham Market founs dry. The last tower of the day was at Keg. worth and we had been warned that the back seven only were ringable. However, the treble lacked but a stay and the purists allowed themselves 10 count the tower. The party was joined at this staze by friends from elsewhere and we closed on Derby in some strength.

The Yook Hotel. Derby, is a sound choice for train spotters: not so obviously, it attracts itinerant peal ringers and we found two wellknown characters already in residence. The hotel is unique in my experienco in that, while in bod at $6.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. . one's attention is drawn to the fact that "the train now standing at Platform 3 is for Loushborough. Leicester and all stations to ... Useful, no doubt. for some.

A TEXTBOOK EXAMPLE

Our tirst tower on Saturday morning was at Duffield, where we started well and pang Grandsire, Stedman, Plain and Cambridge Royal. The ten might be described as a textbook example; fine, clear tone. audible in the tower, easy to handle: an appropriate reminder of the work of the founder of the Central Council.
With some diffidence, the only member of the company who had shaken George Brown by the hand led the way to St, Peter s, Belper, and we climbed the narrow stair of this gangr ling and rather gauche tower to find a ringing chamber just large enough to contain ua. Nevertheless we liked the bells, a mellow octave of medium weight, and could have enjoyed a longer visit bad not the timetuble urged us on.
Crich St. Michael (our next lower) has a most interesting church standing high above the Derwent Valley with the old village clustered round it. The tower itself is handsome with a recessed spire complete with dormer windows, and, being a ground-foor ring, the fine interior is easily appreciated. The standard of ringins alipped somewhat here. although the tinal touch of London went well. Our resident traffic engineer having returned saticfied from the nearby Transport Museum, we motored rapidly down to the Anglers' Rest and up again to Wirksworth. After a fruitless search inside we found that the crossing tower is reached via outside steps and gentlysloping tunnel stair which leud to finging chamber which is interesting if only for the phonetic French on one of the large hatchmants. The bells (a 14 ewt. eight) are tuncful hut somewhat odd-struck and if was not untit the second touch that the ringing achieved a reasonable rbythm.

A MACABRE YEW

What should have been quick beap and sandwich lunch at Matlock Bath dragged on for over an hour, durins which time balf the party wolfed their ham and lettuce while the other half wilted visibly. However, we were lust about on time at Darley Dale, where frus. mion and indigestion gave way to quite vigorous touches of Plain Bob Triples. Superlative and Stedman. We made our way out of the church past the extraordinary and faintly macabre yew tree, which, for those who uppreciato accuracy in these things, is 33 feet in circumference at four feet from the ground.

Iurning back through Matlock we made tor Ashover, where the Church of All Suints possesses a beautifully sonorous 18 cwt. eight housed in a 15 th century tower. These bells have a high reputation and after ringing them we felt bound to endorse it. Ground-fioor rings after lunch are always welcome but at Ashover there is a certain tendency to wander off and look ut the many interesting things the church contains: the alibaster lomb of Thomas Babington (whose family built the tower) is particularly fine.
In Clay Cross there are pit-head baths-r" one of the many exemplary structures put up by the Miners' Welfare Commission," and the Church of St. Bartholomew designed by Sievens in 1851. To divert one's attention from the remainder one may ring on the eight cwt. six and be amply compensated. Coming from a six-bell tower-at least nominally $\rightarrow$ our critical faculties tend perhaps to be sharper on that number, but we could find no fault with the tone and handling of Clay Cross bells and we enjoyed them. Touches of Norwich, Cambrldge, London and Plajn Bob were rung here.

CHESTERFIELD IN POURING RAIN

Traversing the batlered landscape we came to North Wingfield, where St, Lawrence: Church is set on a windy hill. The available notes say that Double Norwich failed and that the Grandsire was "rubbish ${ }^{3}$ and so the kindest comment would be that it was the ringers, not the bells. who were at fault. Regaled hy apocryphal stories of how the spire came to be twisted in the first place, we arrived in Chesterticld in the pouring rain and it was a rather tlred band that eaught hold to ring. This no doubt was the reason for the ragged and uneven ringing that followed and why we failed to do justice to the bells.
Our last tower for the day was the light six at Old Whittington, where the ringing chamber has the feeling of a Chinese box puzze-the only way to progress is to remove a ringer, whereupon the space is automatically taken by someone else. For those with a taste for the hizarre the stained glass portratts of Gladstone and the Earl of Shaftesbury in the north aisle of the church cannot fail to attract.
After an abundant meal in Chestertield we returned to base and found the day's peal tally was one lost. one gained. After a certain amount of "Well. we crossed over at the beck: and then I forgot how to catch my sally and other unlikely tales, we (or some of us) went gratcfully to hed-and heard once more how things were doing on Platform Three.

Sunday morning's programme looked fear. some on paper and came to domand a strons constitution and sound digestion. Before breakfast we set off at a sharp trot round the corner, for all of 500 yards, to ring at $$ \mathrm{t}$. Andrew's for the 9.15 service. With such a nice. easy-goins ten we enjoyed ringing our staple Siedman. Grandsjre and Plain Bob Royal. Breakfast was anything but leisurely and by 9.45 a band was ready to ring at St. Peter's and a fast touch of Siedman was followed by Yorkshire Supprise Major. Next stop was at the Cathedral, where we were welcomed by the resident band and joined ibem to ring for Eucharist.

Coffec, communal erosswords and Chinese chow fallowed before we set of tor Lichlield. Despite, or perhaps because of, the presence of a Ben and a Sam, the Eng. Lit. class remained sadly confused over which John. son they were supposed to know about before we got there. Wo arrived in time to ring for afternoon Evensong and were delighted with this magnificent ten.
We were Borty to leave Liehfield so soon. but we had yet another service deadline and by 5.45 we joined the resident hand at St . Margaret's, Loicester. Grandsire Caters, Sted. man Cinques and Cambridece Mazimus were enjoyed in very friendly company bofore we set of for home. The last stop of the day was, appropriately enough, at the George. Wisbech, and, having eaten all the tossted choese in the house, wo passed on.
Our thanks are due to David House for sound administration and inspired tower selec. tion, and we are grateful to all those who gave us permission to ring, who met us and who rang with us.
D. I. M.

MISFORTUNES BEFELL THE OXFORD SOCIETY

The outing of the Oxford Society this yearlearn on arrival that no lunch had been ar* rook place on June 23nd, the weather being extremely miserable with frequent rainstorms. A seven o'clock start was required to enable the journey to the first tower to be made at - loiaurely pace. On arrival at Ketlering, members sazed at the Parish Church with thoughts of the pleasant ten inside. What is pity! The secretary had told the party us they left Oxford that permission to ring on this Northamptonuhire ten had not heen granted.
The journey continued to Oakham. via Upningham, where a transport cafe provided hreakfast. An attempi for an early morning drink at nearby public house failed. as the drinking contingent arrived at the saloon bar door well before ten oclock. The glorious eight at Oakham were put 10 good une. though if was feared that ringing here might also have to be cancelled, as on arrival the belfry door was found to be locked. Eventually. after long argument with the elockwinder and his greyhound, the party was allowed up into the tower With hearty appetites. members journeyed on to Peterborouth, but were aiddened to ranged. After splltting up to make their own arrangements for a meal, the party assembled at St. John's Church, where a warm welcome was extended to them.
Back in the coach everybody began to look forward to tea and a ring on the good ten ut St. Paul's, Bedford. Alas! No tea had been arranged, and Bromham had been substituted for Bedford' ten-bell tower. The final tower of the day was at Buckingham. and the party were mel hy three old friends-Bill Yates. George Holland and Jim Linnell. After a good ring on the heavy bells an enjoyable social evening was spent in the usual manner Thanks go to the secretary, Mr. Philip Walker, for the work he put in to make the outing a success. And it was success, even though there were fewer towers iban bad been expected.

Boys from KIng's School. Wprcester. who have just renovated the four bells al Spetchley Church, would like to make their ringing five times mare interesting by udding a fifth bell, The noter of the existing bells are B, C, D and E flat and the best splice would seem to he a bell striking F. of dlameter 20 inches or so. Any offers or suggestions would be weicomed by Mr. P. Cattermole. King's School, College Green. Worcester.
The peal rung at Froyle was the firit of Doubles on the bells and was rung is a greeting 10 Christopher David Slone, hom on Jume 131 h , son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Bassett, has now rung a peal in each lower of the Alion and Petersfield District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild while bolding the post of District Secretary.

The peal at Leed Papisla Cburch reported in the issue of June 7 th was inadvertently duplicated in the issue of June 14 th.

In the recent report of the North Dorset Branch of the Salisbury Guild quarterly meeting the name Unminater inadvertently appeared for Yeiminster. It was the newly rehung six at Yetminster that was the cause of many tavourable comments.

THE BATH FESTIVAL, 1968

A party of some 80 visitors to the Bath Festival had a morning tour of the MidSomerset area on June 24th. viewing the churches at Batcombe, Bruton and Evercreech.

At the last named a short programme was laid on including a brief introduction to English church bells and the evolution of change ringing. Practical demonstrations of change ringing were given to parties visiting the ringing room to see the ringers in action. The mechanics of a bell and how it is rung were illustrated with the use of the Wrington model bell.

The ringing programme included some simple call changes on six bells followed by rounds on the ten bells. in which the junior members of the local band took part, Stedman Triples and two touches of Grandsire Caters.

Despite the inclement weather, quite a number ventured to the top of the tower. where the bells can be heard at their best, and by the end of the programme all who wished had been able to see the ringers in action.

The party mainly comprised visitors from European countries and America and, from the expressions of appreciation of the programme received. it would seem that our ancient art proved an intriguing subject.

Ringers taking part were the local band assisted by Messrs. R. G. Beck. V. Savage, P. Hull, J. Badman, C. Wainwright and Mr. and Mrs. P. Jones.

LANCHESTER'S WHIT MONDAY

Three towers in three different counties were the objective of Lanchester. Durham. ringers on their second annual outing, held on Whit Monday.
We left Lanchester in pouring rain for Cotherstone, in the North Riding of Yorkshire. Good striking was not in evidence on the light six due to the length of rope, and one ringer found it easier to reach the sally by kneeling on the floor to ring.

- After lunching at Brough we moved on to Appleby. in Westmorland, which for most of the party was the first ground-floor ringing experienced. Our efforts were an added attraction to the annual spring fair.

Finally came Great Salkeld. Cumberland (6). and this Saxon church turned out to be the most popular of the day. A churchwarden proved to be an amiable host by allowing nonringing members on to the tower roof to sample the marvellous view of the Pennines.
Mr. Alan C. Walker. the organiser, thanked the respective Vicars and churchwardens for the use of their bells. A.H.W and A.C.W.

NOTTINGHAM UNIVERSITY

A 34 -seater coach, in place of the 20 -seater ordered, resulted in Nottingham University Society having 23 spare seats for their outing into Lincolnshire on June 22nd.
After ringing at Bottesford (8) and Barkston $\{61$ the eight at Sleaford were found to be a little tricky to ring due to the 75 feet draught. but a course of Yorkshire and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were managed
In the afternoon the rather difficult five at Ashby-de-la-Launde and the fine six at Martin-by-Timberland, followed by a first-class tea at the Vicarage, prepared us for the best bells of the day at St. Giles'. Lincoln. Here three "short courses" of Cambridge Surprise Major were rung. On the light eight at Harmston a course of Ealing Surprise was achieved.

NEW GUILD SECRETARIES-No. 1

The new general secretary of the Surrey Association of Change Ringers is Mr. Colin H. Cook.

After three years as secretary Mr. Bill Parrott has retired through pressure of business. Before then he had served 15 years as secretary of the Norihern District.
The new man has served as assistant general secretary for two years and previously spent two vears on the Southern District Committec. He was taught to ring at St. Katharine's, Merstham. by Alec Cheasley, captain. and gained further experience at other local towers. Through the encouragement of Southern District ringers he rang a number of quarter peals. His first peal was for the East Grinstead and District Guild at Fairwarp in Sussex. The conductor then was Alan Baldock. now general secretary of the Sussex Association.

Through his friendship with Edenbridge ringers he joined their annual outing and met the young lady who later became his wife.
He now lives at Caterham, a town without bells. but only two miles away are the live hells of St. John's. Coulsdon, and his lirst tower. St. Katharine's. Merstham, is four miles over the North Downs.

For those wishing to correspond with him. his address is as follows: 63, Chaldon Road. Caterham, Surrey, CRO SPG. Telephone No. 46218.

LAVENHAM RINGING DAY

Lipwards of 60 ringers from Essex. Norfolk, Suffolk. Cambs. Lines and Notts, visited Lavenham for the 157 th anniversary of the augmentition by two trebles on June 22nd. This ringing day has been observed regularly except for the war years and the rehanging of the bells. Methods rung ranged from Plain Bob to Yorkshire Surprise, with rounds and call changes for learners.

MORE RINGING IN NEW ENGLAND

The new bells at Smith College were put to good use recently when a band of ringers from the area spent three days at the Northampton school. Although most of the practices were, of necessity, silent, there was good opportunity for open ringing. One of the silent practices was started late in the evening only to be interrupted at midnight by a curious campus policeman, who, needless to say, was a nonringer!
Good progress is being made by the Smith College ringers. despite the fact that the bells have been in for a very short time. The typical enthusiasm of the Americans is here, writes our correspondent, and everyone seems to learn quickly and well. Self-criticism is the key to the success which has been made so far. A firm foundation is essential here, as the two Smith stalwarts, Dr. and Mrs. Dickinson, will be away on sabbatical leave next year.

The ringers were very kindly entertained during the week-end by Miss Margaret Rawson, who is the daughter of the well-known Leicester ringer. Mr. Ernest Rawson. Margaret is learning to ring at Smith and is making very good progress.
This was the second of a series of week-end meetings held in the New England area, and the progress that was made bodes well for the tuture of American ringing. It is a pleasure to thank the Smith ringers for their hospitality.

WESTHOUGHTON'S SURPRISE BAND

The peal of Westhoughton Surprise Major rung at Westhoughton, Lancs, on June 22nd, was the culmination of six months of sustained cffort by the Sunday service band. Five of the band are nelow the age of 18 and four of them attend Rivington and Blackrod Gramimar School. In the last two years these young ringers have made remarkable progress and have rung a variety of Surprise methods.
The conductor. Mr. G. Fothergill, would like to congratulate them, through the columns of "The Ringing World." on the excellent standard of striking achieved during the peal: in particular, the ringing during the second hour of the peal approached perfection. A lape-recording of the first hour of the peal was made. and this will give the band the opportunity to recapture at least a part of a memorable occasion.

FIFTY YEARS A RINGER

Wingfield (Suffolk) ringers celebrated Charlie Brown's 50 years as a ringer by a very pleasant evening on June 27th.

Miss Betty Syrett arranged a celebration peal for the evening and this was duly rung in ? hours and 53 minutes with Charlie ringing the ireble. Afterwards the company retired to the King's Head for a really splendid supper and were joined by the locals, including Mrs Brown. Charles was presented with a cigarette lighter. and the Master of the Guild. Mr. George Pipe, thanked him for his services to Suffolk ringing. Altogether a very convivial evening, summed up by Leonard Last's final toast " More tomorrow!"

EXPD SUSSEX © 68

SUSSEX, while not being listed among our larger English counties, has many featuresscenic, ecclestastical and civil-to attract people to within her borders. Remember that John Goldsmith, founder of "The Ringing World," and Canon Simpson, who introduced five-tone tuning, were Sussex men. The population explosion of the south-east of England has resulted in the Sussex Church Campaign-a farseeing organisation to provide new churches, schools and halls so that the rapidly-expanding population of the parishes can have facilities for both physical and spiritual needs.

Expo Sussex '68, which is part of this campaign, is the greatest event of its kind ever to be held in the south of England. It is to be on the 50 -acre site of the Sussex County Show Ground at Ardingly (which is on the B. 2028 branching from the A. 22 at East Grinstead) on July 19th and 20th.

This exposition of Sussex, past, present and with peeps into the future, has been treated with imagination and skill. Every activity that can be thought of has been covered.
As Expo sprang from an ox being given for roasting and has grown into the vast organisation it now is, so the bellringing side has expanded from one band performing on handbells to a large and complete exhibition under four headings, put on by the Sussex County Association of Change Ringers. The western ends of our Sussex churches have risen to the occasion magnificently in presenting their art to the many thousands of visitors that will pass through their hands. Specially chartered aircraft and ships are bringing our Continental visitors, who are coming from every European country, including Finland, as well as our Canadian and American friends.
The four branches of the Ringing Exhibition are: the craft oi the bell founder: the art of change ringing: a handbell ringing competition; lower bellringing.
The exhibition opens with details of the two oldest bells in Sussex - one of them Roman. The mediaval period will be represented by a full-size model of an lith century bell and another showing the way it was moulded. It is probably 700 years since a bell has been moulded by this technique in this country. This will be followed by examples of 24 Sussex bellfounders' work. A scale model of a medixval foundry will show how the majority of Sussex bells were moulded and cast. The manufacture of bell metal will be explained from the native ores to the alloy itself. The formation of moulds for letters forming inscriptions and the construction of the medireval head mould will be displayed together with a full-size model of a medireval bell illustrating the names of its various parts. Five-tone tuning will be explained by a diagram, which will also show the distortion of the bell's shape caused by the vibration of the partial tones. Adjustable tuning forks and the method of eliciting bell tones will also be demonstrated. Attached will be a small foundry where sand and loam moulding and the casting of small handbells will be carried out. Waste wax moulding will also be demonstrated. To bring this section up to date the British Welding Research Association are purting on an exhibit dealing with the welding of cracked church bells.
The next section will deal with the art of bellringing. First, visitors will be able to see how bell ropes are mide. Then there will be motivated models showing the development of the ringing fittings through the centuries. In the discussion area, ringers will be available to demonstrate on handbells and taperecorders the answers to any questions our visitors may ask. They are even prepared for explaining the reason for the open handstroke lead. The organisation of the ringers will be explained and there will be a stand devoted to The Ringing World and the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.

The third section will be a handbell ringing competition, both tune and change, adjudicated by Mr, Es, A. Barnett. This is the first time such an event has been staged in the county and it should bring out much latent talent.

Finally, the fourth section is the show piece. thanks to the great interest and cooperation of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, By its aid it will be possible to see the bells swinging and the ringers in action as a com plete unit. It is fitting that a model example of this foundry's work should be on show. for the majority of Sussex bells come from it The show piece is a ring of eight (tenor $4 \frac{1}{j}$ cwt. in E) hung in the Liverpool fashion in a steel tower which represents a breakthrough in tower design. Up to now the cost of building a masonry or brick tower has been many times the cost of the bells it eventually contains. Now the reverse is true-the tower costs less than the ring of bells. The aim of the Expo tower is to convince church architects that a tower can now be constructed on sound engineering principles. adaptable and clad to match any church building. We in Sussex are proud to show the world such a tower.
The bells will be rung throughout the exhibition by selected Sussex bands under the Master of the Association. Mr. R. V. Johnston. Exhibition standard of ringing prevents an open meeting of ringers during Expo, but such a meeting will take place at its close. Notice is given in this issue.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Rochester District Striking Contest

Rochester District's striking contest was held this year at Hartlip (6). The six bands were required to ring 240 changes of a method of their own choice. After all the bands had rung. there was general ringing until the service, which was conducted by the Rev. J. Green. himself a ringer.

Approximately 70 sat down to tea, after which there was a general discussion as to the exact delinition of a "Sunday service band.' This was a drect result of one of the competing bands being made up of ringers who ring for Sunday services at other towers in addition to the tower for which they were entered. A committee was formed to look into this problem and to draw up a precise set of rules.

Mr. A. P. Cannon (judge) then gave his decisions and comments on the ringing, the results being as follows: 1 Rainham (Grandsire Doubles) 45 faults. 2 Bobbing (Plain Bobl 5. 3 Tunstall (Grandsire) 65, 4 Minster (Plain Bob) 95. 5 Northfleet (Grandsire) 105. 6 East church (Plain Bob) 115

More general ringing went on well into the evening.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD

The annual ringing week-end of the Truro Guild was held on June 15th. when the neighbouring county of Devon was visited. Thase participating were G. W. Riddy (Constantine) Margaret A. B. Weston (Cranstock), C. W Linington, W. S. Pryor and D. Stephens (Helston). A. Beattie and Barbara J. Duck (Kea) and D. B. Carder (Perranarworth). Mrs. Linington and Mrs. Riddy also accompanied the party.
The first stop was at Liskeard for coffee then on to Cornwood for a picnic lunch. In the sfternoon ringing took place at Dean Prior, Dartington, Broadhempston and Cockington (all six-bell towers). Sunday ringing was at Berry Pomeroy (8) for morning service and at Stoke Gabriel (6) for evening service.

After leaving the hotel at Paignton early on Monday morning. ringing took place at Cornworthy and Dittisham before a ploughman's lunch. The afternoon's ringing was at Halwell, Harberton and finally South Brent.

The party are grateful to the incumbents and ringers of the towers concerned.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

The Church of St. Mary Magdalene, Taunton, Somerset

Church of St. Mary Magdalene, Taunton

TAUNTON is the county town of Somerset, lying between the Quantock and Blackdown ranges of hills in the Vale of Taunton Dene. It lies on the River Tone which rises in the Brendon Hills above Wellington and joins Somerset's main river, the Parret, at Burrowbridge, where King Alfred is alleged to have burnt the cakes on the Isle of Athelney. Not far from the Parret is the site of the Battle of Sedgemoor and fugitives from this were brought before the notorious Judge Jeffreys at the infamous Bloody Assize in Taunton.
From a distance the pink towers of the Parish Churches of St. James and St. Mary dominate the centre of the town, and holidaymakers have ample time to contemplate their elegance on summer Saturdays when queueing on the A38 at either side of the town. St. Mary's tower at $163 \frac{1}{2}$ feet is the tallest parish church tower in Somerset, slightly less than Downside Abbey ( 166 ft .) and the central tower of Wells Cathedral ( 182 ft .). Nikolaus Pevsner called it the "grandest of all English parish church towers" and its detail design merits some attention.
The church dates from the 13 th to the 16th centuries and is of red sandstone and Ham Hill ashlar. It has double aisles of six bays, a most unusual feature, and the nave has a richly-decorated king-post roof dating from Tudor times. The tower has a fine fan vault and was rebuilt from the ground in 1862 by Ferrey and Sir G. G. Scott. (An interesting point is that the stones were raised by a system of pulleys, the rope being drawn by a donkey walking up Hammet Street, which is shown in the photograph.) It features set-back buttresses ending in pinnacles standing clear of the wall below the battlements. The crown would be top-heavy without the filigree battements and filigree top pinnacles which give a lace-like effect. Above the west window there are three tiers of three-light windows, all pierced with Somerset tracery, with quatrefoil friezes below and flanked by shafts and pinnacles.

Within the taller bell stage hang 15 bells. Three are semitones hung "dead" and used by an electro-pneumatic carillon apparatus. The remainder form a ring of 12 , tenor 30 cwt. in D (recast in 1861 by George Mears). Originally there were five bells and a sixth was added in 1816. Two trebles were added in 1840 to complete the octave. After the tower was rebuilt two more bells were added and the 7th recast in 1885. In this year is the first record of a peal on the bells, 5,079 Stedman Caters, conducted by the Rev. F. E. Robinson, for the Oxford Guild. Unfortunately this was false and was later withdrawn. Thus the first true peal was Grandsire Caters for the College Youths in 1894. The local band also rang a peal that year, Grandsire Triples, and proceeded to ring Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters until the Great War, 13 peals in all. In 1920 the bells were augmented to 12 and the late Albert Walker called the first peal of Stedman Cinques in the county in 1923, rung by men from Bristol. Since then only four peals have been rung: one of Cambridge Maximus by W. Pye in 1931 and three more of Caters. The last was Stedman Caters in 1947.

After this the tower was found to be badly cracked and extensive repairs were made in 1949. However, the bells were not rung for eight years. Ringing only began again in 1955 and is now limited to one hour's duration. This is a direct consequence of heavy bells being hung at the top of a relatively slender tower which has many features that could fall off. It is to be hoped that this fundamental mistake is never repeated in these times since to have some first-class bells in a magnificent tower and to be unable to ring them without restriction is a fairly galling situation. However, the fundamental aim of ringing for service can be achieved, and the inscription on the tenor bell makes a suitable ending:
"Come when I call to serve God all
I sound to bid the sicke repent
In hope of life when breath is spent."

COMMENT

Behind Great Companies - Leadership

TERE is always something thrilling in hearing a really competent band at work: in the sound of the City of London echoing Siedman Cinques, or the bells of St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham, pounding out Surprise Maximus. There has been in the past, and probably will be again, criticism of those who seek to push the standard of their ringing as near to the human limit of perfection as possible, but whatever the rights and wrongs of the dispute (and if anything has been proved by recent correspondence it is that the distinction between "Sunday service ringer" and "peal ringer " is a false one) the Exercise would surely be poorer for not having the example of really fine ringing.

Various factors have promoted the growth of great companies: the close proximity of towers; a long tradition, as in London and Birmingham, of ringing on the higher numbers; but, above all, leadership-not just the skill of a Ringing Master, but that quality which can instil enthusiasm and discipline into others. Some of the great leaders of the past may serve to remind us of the importance of this gift: John Ashley Freeman, who trained his Lincoln band to a high degree of skill on twelve bells and in the field of Spliced Surprise ; Harold Poole, of Leicester, the strength of whose personality was known and respected by people in many walks of life; John Worth, of Cheshire, who was taken from us suddenly last year, and who could always be relied upon to smooth over any discord that might arise; Derek Ogden, who died at a tragically early age, and whose band are even now setting up new records in Spliced Royal and Maximus.
These men, giants not only in their skill as ringers, but also in their capacity as human beings, have their successors today, but not nearly as many as the Exercise needs. There is, in fact, something approaching a crisis of leadership, which extends from the traditional centres of ringing down to the isolated parish church. Sad experience tells us how swiftly a band can disintegrate if it is leaderless or if discord arises or if the wrong sort of man is in charge. Every tower is trying to attract more recruits; let us also hope for the devoted leaders required to train them and to build up

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN Warning about Adequate Insurance of Bells

The 77th annual general meeting was held at Taunton on June 29th. The weather became sunny and hot and ringing look place at 23 local towers during the morning and evening. At 2.30 approximately 90 members and visitors attended the annual general meeting in the Corfield Hall, next to St. Mary's Church.

Opening the meeting with prayer, the Master (the Rev. H. F. Warren, of Exford) asked those present to remember the names of menibers who had died since the last mecting. Thirteen apologies for absence were received.
The minutes of the 1967 annual general meeting, having been circulated to those present, were taken as read and signed. There were no matters arising but the meeting approved of the revised procedure. Following the change in meeting date last year from Easter Monday, the annual reports had been available to all Branches by early June. Therefore the reports of the Master, secretary, treasurer, peal secretary and diocesan adviser on the care of the bells were all taken as read and adopted.
The Master's report referred to the deaths of two valued older members in George Coles and Jack Pugsley, who was the last founder member of the Association. The procedure adopted in the Dunster Branch to improve the number and quality of new members was described for guidance. Progress had been slow but membership had shown a marked increase and six new towers were now practising change ringing. A revision of the Association Form of Service had been made and would be printed when the Bishop's sanction had been obtained. Bell restorations had been put in hand at Dunster and Brompton Regis.

A BELL FOR TRINIDAD

Mr. J. H. Gilbert, general secretary, reported continuing progress in all tields. Two vice-presidents had resigned on leaving the diocese. Work was in hand to find a Somerset bell for a school in Trinidad and this had been successfully concluded in 1968. (In fact the bell in question was on the platform for all to see.) Ringing courses had been instituted and more instructors recruited but there were still several vacancies. Extra copies of "The Ringing World" had been distributed in connection with the rededication of eight bells at Batheaston and two subsequent features on Somerset towers. Striking competitions were increasing in popularity, and this was commended. Since the report was written the Association had become a Corporate Friend of Wells Cathedral. A new stock of certificates were to be ordered and people with more than 40 years' continuous membership were to receive special mention in future reports.

The treasurer: Mr. E. Naylor, reported a slight increase in the General Fund halance with results as shown above. He reiterated his appeal for subscriptions to be paid in early so as to provide funds for the year's working.

Mr. H J. Sanger, advisory expert, reported an inspection at 15 towers and emphasised the importance of providing adequate insurance cover for bells and fittines. Two maintenance points which continually arose were " loose crown staples " and "dry pulleys." Too little attention was paid to the general maintenance of bells and it was felt to be the duty of all incumbents to see that a competent steeplekeeper was appointed.

PEAL STANDARD HIGHER

The peal secretary. Mr. G. W. Massey, reported that the peal total had exceeded 100 for the third year in succession. mainly due to the efforts of resident bands. More Doubles than ever were rung, but the Grandsire Doubles total was the lowest for 50 years, denoting the raising of standards. Notable peals included 16 -Spliced Surprise Minor by the Chilcompton band and Spliced Surprise Major in 160 methods and 23 methods (all the work) by Tony Peake's band. The first peal on the bells had been scored at Chiselborough, St. Audries, Tintinhull and Withypool. Quarter peal ringing also maintained a high level, with 276 in 119 towers: according to Alan Buswell's list this puts Somerset second in the " table."

There was little comment on the reports, which were adopted en bloc. The secretary than gave an account of the Central Council meeting at Worcester, stressing the importance of the new Decisions on Doubles variations and the debate on "The Ringing World." Several of those present asked for assurance that a list of the Doubles variations still permitted would be published quickly. The peal secretary promised to make available to interested conductors any information he could obtain on this matter.
Mr. J. Brain expressed the hope that we had seen the end of dissension about "The Ringing World." which wals so essential to the continuation of the Exercise. The paper had improved out of all recognition and he thought the work put in hy the Editor had been Laken too much for granted. Accordingly he proposed that the Association should convey their congratulations to the Editor on his election to life membership of the Central Council and on the improvement in the paper. This was carried unanimously Discussion then took place on the subject of a donation to "The Ringing World " since this was no longer tied to peal fees. It was decided that this must be left over until the next meeting, when it would be known what funds were available from the year's working.

MIDSUMMER MEETING AGAIN

The election of officers and Central Council representatives produced no changes and all elections were unanimous. However, fixing the next annual meeting date produced some discussion. It was agreed that the "experiment" of a midsummer meeting should continue for at least another year, although this year's attendance was considerably fewer than on previous Easter Mondays. There were many factors. such as holidays. haymaking and Taunton's traffic conditions which could prevent members from attending a Saturday meeting. Accordingly the date for 1969 was tixed as June 2 lst at Axbridge or Wedmore. This date would also avoid a clash with the Glastonbury pilgrimage.
Under any other business it was proposed that the Association consider establishing a library. This was supported and referred to the Branches for detailed discussion prior to a committee decision next year. The secretary uirged members to book October 19th for the annual dinner at Cheddar, when Canon Felstead would be the guest speaker. The inclusion of additional features in the annual report was received favourably, and the admonitions on safety in the tower were strongly emphasised. The meeting closed at 4.15 with prayer.
The Master then conducted a service in St. Mary's Church at which the Rev. M. J. Odlum, chairman of the Taunton Branch, gave a thoughtful address on the uniqueness of man, having been created by God in "His own image " and the need to respect each other's individuality whilst living in amity. The service was preceded by a course of Stedman Cinques on the 30 ewt. twelve and followed by tea in the Cortield Hall. Further ringing took place until 9 p.m. The thanks of all were conveyed to local secretary Arthur Reed and his many helpers.

GENERAL SECRETARY'S COMMENTS

The ringing arrangements worked well and thanks are accorded to those who did duty as Ringing Masters in sundry towers. It is regretted that North Curry bells could not be rung as advertised, due to a visit by the Bishop. but we were grateful for permission to ring at 23 other towers. The business meeting was held with despatch since all the reports were previously printed. The lack of numbers has been mentioned. I must, however, again draw attention to the deplorable habit of visiting ringers who ring at the towers opened by the Association and then proceed to visit other towers in the Branch whilst the meeting is in progress. This is a growing practice which it is not possible to prohibit, since any ringer can write to a tower secretary for permission to ring. but it is undoubtedly discourteous to the host Association. Those concerned may consider themselves enterprising. but it can only be hoped that good sense will prevail.
Finally, a note of regret that Max Heymann could not attend as planned-he was going to write this report
J.H.G.

BATH RINGERS' DEVON OUTING

In the pouring rain a small group of people could be seen clustered around "the tree" in the village of Corston, Bath, on the morning of May 25 th. This was the start of the annual outing. but by the time Taunton was reached the rain had stopped and when we arrived at the first tower. at Milverton, we found the charming village basked in warm, spring sunshine. From these pleasant bells we journeyed to Wiveliscombe (another fine ring) and a passable course of Cambridge Major is remembered.
After crossing the Exe at Stuckeridge Bridge, our convoy, some eight or nine cars in all, plunged off the main road along one of those lanes for which Devon is famousnarrow, picturesque and blessedly free from traffic. We did meet one lady: she pulled in to the side of the road with a smile to let the first car pass: by the time the eighth car had gone bu I believe the smile had been replaced by a look of utter bewilderment! A picnic lunch was eaten at the Gidleigh Arms, a convenient hostelry miles from anywhere. "Where's the village? " asked the youngest member of the party, who found it difficult to believe there just wasn't a village! On then through more lanes. twisting and turning. ("Are we practising for the Monte Carlo Rally?" asked one driver.) But at length the convoy arrived at Chawleigh, where we found a really splendid six, rung from the ground floor.

Next came Chulmleigh. where the melodious ring of eight ( 24 cwt .) seemed to sound best 10 the music of Stedman. We were privileged to be joined by the local tower master and under his quidance some of us tried our skill at "real Devon call changes "-a somewhat nerve-racking experience for the uninitiated.

Maintaining an Ancient Tradition

BELLHOUSES AND CHESTER CATHEDRAL

By the Very Rev. G. W. O. ADDLESHAW, Dean of Chester

T
FHE plan to build a bellhouse for the bells at Chenter Cathedral revives a very ancient tradition. For when the bells flrst became usual in churchos, they were hung in a tower or campanile, standing on lis own. detached from the church to which the bells belonged. Famous carly examples are the round bell sowers of the churches in Ravenna. dating from about the tenth century. and the round towers of Celtic monasterles in Ireland and Scotland. The ancient English name for a detached bell tower is a bellhouse, a name that first appears in lute Anglo-Saxon times. Alihough aftes the rise of Romanesque architecture the usual practice was to hang the bells in a ower structurally part of the church. the tradition of the bellhouse did not disappear. The two most famous cathedral bell towers in Italy are hellhouses, the Leaning Tower at Pisa (180 feet high) and Giotto's campanile at Florence (29? (eet high). Incidentally, the heaviest of the bells in the Leaning Tower at Pisa is hung away from the side that leans over. The hiphest tower in laly, the Torazzo at Cremoma (397 feet high) if the bollhouse of the Cathedral.

BELLHOUSES ON THE WELSH MARCHES

Although in most Englith mediaval churches the bells are hung in a tower that is part of the church, bellhouses were commoner than is usually realised. particularly in the eastern counties and on the Weish marshes. It is the examples on the Welsh marches that we ure concerned with here, as they are nearest to Chester. The church at lienllun. Denbighshire, has its bells in a bellhouse, and the tradi. tion of the bellhouse is particularly strong further south in Herefordshire. Stone bellhouses. for instance. dating from the i3th century can be seen in the churchyards at:

Bosbury - 60 feet from the south side of the church.
Garway- 1 S feet from the north-west corner of the church and joined to it by a stone passige built in the 17 th century.
Ledbury-a few fect away from the north side of the church.

The old church at Richard's Castle in the north of the county has a 14 th centurv bellhouse, standing at an angle some 16 feet from its east end, Over the border from Herefordshire at Bronllys, Breconshire. is a bellhousc, also standing at an angle a few feet away from the east end of the church. It was rebuilt in the last century, but in style it resembles these eurly Herefordshire bellhouses.

With the exception of that at Ledhury, those bellhouses have four-sided pyramidal roofs. The Ledbury bellhouse has a spire. That and the top stage date from 1732 and aro the work of the Worcester architect, Nuthaniel Wilkinson. The sturdy looking hellhouse at Boshury once had a spire, but it was removed in 1812: so also did that at Richard'a Castle. The Ledbury bellhousc and spiro has a much too spruced up appearance and. architecturally, is disappointing. For the best example in the West Country of a bellhouse with a spire one has to go over into Glouceitershire, to West-bury-on-Severn.

Herefordshire not only has stone bellhouses. At Holmer is a 13 th century bellbouse a few feet way from the south side of the church. with a timber framed top stage dating from the 16 th century. Two of the most wellfitown Herefordshire bellhouses, at Pembridge and Yarpole, are limber framed Bructures. wath the lowest stage of stone. The Pembridge bellhouse stands 48 leet from the north side of the church and is ectagonal in shape. It rises in three diminishing stages, with hipped and pyramidal roofs. Photogenically it is the mos! exuiting of the Herefordshire bellhouses. particularly from the east side, where it is seen in frame of yew trees. Yarpole's is much smaller und stands 49 feet away from the south side of the church. It has a pyramidal roof, crowned with a lantern. The village takes sreat pride in its bellhouse and in 1967 restored it at a cost of $£ 1,000$-highly creditable when the population is only gbout 300.

There is no contemporary evidence as 10 why a parish in any particular case chose to hang its belly in a bellhouse. But it is usually that it was done on grounds of economy. It was often cheaper to build a separate free standing tower rather than add a tower to en existing church. Aesthetic reasons may also have ted to the cholce of a bellhouse. There is no doubt that a bellhouse in a churchyard, as the examples at Pembridge and Yarpole show, add greatly, 10 the interest and appearance of the churchyard and the church. They give them both something distinctive. Garway is another instance of how. on architectural grounds. a bellhouse improves the look of a church and its surroundings. The church here was originally a Cettic monastery. By the 12ih century the Celtic monastery had disappeared and it had become a parish church belonging to the Templars. who built a circular nave as was usual in their churches. This was replaced by the present rectangular nave soon after the bellhouse was huilt. The top stage of the bellhouse was rebuilt in the 17th century and has a pyramidal roof. The colour of the stone and the angle at which the bellhouse stands to the church make the complex of buildings at Garway one of the most attractive on the Englist-Welsh border.

BELLHOUSES BELONGING TO  CATHEDRALS AND CHURCHES

But the examples so far given of mediaval bellhouses are those belonging to parish churches, Did cathedrals or abbeys in England in the Middlo Ages ever have a bellhouse? The answer is yes. Indeed, if in a great church the only place available for the bells was the central tower, the Middle Ages often preferred to hang the bellg in a bellhouse. They were very consclous that hanging bells in a central tower could be a risky thing. as a tower poised on the four piers and arches of the crossing was structurally the weakest part of the church.

The only cathedral still to have a bellhouse is Chichester. Tho bellhouse, called Ray* mond's Tower, stands on the north side of the Cathedral and was finished about 1436 . The remains of a 12 th century bellhouse can still be seen at I.landaff. a little to the south of the Cathedral.

Four other cathedrals once had bellhouses:

Old St. Paul's. What the Elizabethan antiquary, John Stow, calls "a clochier or bellhouse " stood northeeast of the Cathedral, and was taken down in the reign of Henry VIIL. On top of its timber spire was a statue of Si. Paul.

Norwich. (A monastic cathedral.) A large bellhouse, some 50 feet square, stood west of the Cathedral in the outer court of the monastery. It dated from the 13 th century and either collapsed or was demolished about 1573.
Sallsbury. A bellhouse in three receding stages with a spire was built at the sume time as the Cathedral on the north side. It was taken down ubout 1790 during Wyatt's re* arrangement of the close.

Worcenter (A monastic cathedral.) A bellhouse or "clochium." as it was called, was built north of the Cathedral in the 13 th century and uppears to nave had a spire some 200 foet high. It was taken down about 1647.

Four Benedictine abbeys had a bellhouse, Westminster Abbey, Bury St. Edmunds. and, in the West Midlands, Tewkesbury and Evesham. At Weatminster Abbey, the bellhouse. some 75 feet square and with apire, stood on the north side. $\ln$ it were hung the five bells, one of Henry Ill's important gifts to the Abbey. It was taken down in 1750 and the site is now occupied by the Middlesex Guild Hall.

The abbeys ut Bury St. Edmunds, Tewkes. bury und Evesham had a parish; and on one side of the ubbey church was the churchyard, where the monks and parishioners were buried. The bellhouse of each of these abbeys was in the churchyard; and also in each of the churchyards at Bury St. Edmunds and Evesham were two churches built by the monks for the parishioners. Incidentally, not all the bells of these abbeys wers in the bellhouse. Some were in the tower of the abbey church.

At Bary St. Edmunds the churchyard wes on the south and west sides of the abbey church; and here were tho two churches built by the monks for the people of Bury; St. Mary's, now the Cathedral, and St. James' A gatehouse called St. James' Tower was built in the middle of the 12 th century in the precinct wall leading into the churchyard. In this gatehouse In the Middle Ages was certainly one of the abbey bells. the fire bell rung as a fire alarm. Since the dissolution of the monasteries, the gatehouse has been the bellhouse of the ad. joining St. James' Church.
At Tewkesbury and Evesham the churchyard was on the north side of the abbey church. At Tewlesbury the bellhouse was at the entrance to the churchyard. It was taken down in 1817 and a school, still standing, built on its site. Part of the belthouse is sald to be incorporated in the school. Judging from old illustrations, the bellhouse was an undistinguished building. Yet it attracted the attention of Turner, and in the north choir aisle of the abbey is a painting by him, showing the bellhouse and the abbey church.

The Evesham bellhouse is a most impressive piece of architecture, and the finest bellhouse in England. It was built about 1530-32, of golden coloured stone from Broadway by the Abbot, Clement Litchlield, and is virtually all that is left of the great abbey. The churchyard ut Evcsham was in two purts, the eastern part, now a public park going down to the Avon, for the monks, and the westera part for the parishioners. $\ln$ this part are two churches builk for them by the monks, All Saints' and St . Laurence's. The bellhouse Saints' and St. Laurence's. The bellhouse stands between the two parts of the cemetery. liss bottom stage is an archway leading from one part io the other. The bellhouse is 1110 feet high. It has double angle buttresses and the easiern and western faces, that fooked on to the two parts of the cemetery, are lavishly punelled. The top stage is crowned by an embaulled and pierced parapet und eight tall pinnacles. In it is now a ring of 12 hells The 18th century Worcestershire topographer Thomas Nash. described the bellhouse us being a very beauniful. regular and well preserved structure " and having the appearance of great magnificence." He is certainly right.

Chester Cathedral only became

Cathodral in 1941, after the dissolution of the monasteries. Prior to that it was the great Benedictine Abhey of St. Werburgh. The proposal to build a bellhouse for the Cathedral has to be seen against the background of the history of bellhouses on the English-Welsh Border and in abbey churches.
The bellhouse will be no stranger to the Border. for its design recalls in a modern idiom the regionul characteristics of the Border's bellhoures. particularly those at Pembridge and Yarpole.
Its site bevond the Cheshire Regiment Menrorial Garden, in what was once part of the Abbey Churchyard. is the place where in the Middle Ages an abbey bellhouse would have stood, As often happened in the Middle Ages. The bellhouse is a safer way of dealing with the problems of the Cathedral bells than retaining them in the centrul tower and, on the whole, more economical.
A bellhouse, as is the case with bellhouses helonging to clurches in England and in lealv, will be a mast striking feature of the Cathedral and its surroundings. In years to come it may well be seen as one of the most exciting architectural additions made to Chester in the second half of the 20 th century.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

For a varicty of reasons the Northern District met, not at Benington as planned, but at Norton a week earlier. Ringing commenced as $$ 43$ p.m. gradually improving until Stedman Triples could be rung before the busmess meeting.
Mr. A. R. Agg was elected to the chair and the meeting rose in silence in memory of Mr. Michael D. Trigg, whase death made the

ESSEX ASSOCIATION A.G.M. South-Western Division Divided

THE 8rh annual gencral meeting of the Essex Associution was held on Spring Bank Holiday, June 3rd, at Chelmsford. 110 members und friends being in attendance.

The bells of the Cathedral were pung for an hour before the service. The Very Rev. Hilary Connop-Price conducted the service. with the Lord Bishop of Chelmsford preuching a very inspiring and impressive sermon.
The husiness meeting followed in the Chapter House with the Master, Mr. Frank B. Lufkin, in the chair.
On opening the meeting the Master made two apologies to the members. Firstly. through a misunderstanding with "The Ringing World," it was regrettable that the notice for the annual general meeting appeared for only two weeks, and secondly, due to a delay af the printers, the annual reports were not circulated to the members until immediately before the meeting. However, the membere agreed that the meeting should continue with the agenda as presented in the report, despite not having time to digest the contents properly. After Standing Orders had been adopted, visitors from Kent and Hertfordshire were welcomed. Apologies for absence were received from H. Pratt, J. Armstrong. Capt. Denson. J Clark, A. J. House. J. L. Towler, $\mathbf{P}$ Bedford and Miss H. Snowden.
The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting, after which they were adopted as a correct record.
In presenting the accounts, the treasurer, Mr. P. J. Eves, stressed how necessary it had been to raise the members' subscription to st.. as even now the Assoclation was only just managing to keep its head above water. To save money he suggested that the District secretaries should economise on the wording of Notices in "The Ringing World." as last year Notices in "The Ringing world." as last ye this bill had increased quite considerably.
Mr. C. K. Cooper, the report editor, apologised for the lateness of the report, but, unfortunately, once again printers had to be changed, which did not help matters. After drawing attention to a few mistakes which had appeared in the report. he thanked all those who had been of invaluable assistance those who had been of invaluat to him in compiling the report.

LOYALTY, DISCIPLINE AND DUTY

In the annual report the Master expressed how pleased he was to see in his travels around the county plenty of young folk with an enthusiasm for the art and a healthy interest in the affairs of the Association. He also detected a desire for change and more efficiency. He pointed out, however, that in these days of change the main obiects of the Fxercise should not he forgotten. Firstly, that they continue the calling to worship people of Essex, and secondly to promote fellowshin within the Assoclation for the rood of and gdvancement of all hands of ringers. He was disturbed, however, by the number of ringers who flourish for a time and then are seen no more. He respectively thought that they still had to learn how to instill lovalty. discipline and a sense of duty for the work of the Church so that all efforts were nore rewarding.
The Master finally added that the success of the Association depended on all members pulling their weight.
A ringing competition had been held at Roydon and for the third year in sueccession
St. Leonard's. Colchester, won. The DagenSt. Leonard's. Colchester, won. The Dagen-ham band came second, and Dr. Armstrong and his young band are to be concratulated on such a creditable performance. The Association once more provided ringing during Chelmsford Cathedral Festival. At this function five quarter peals had been successfully rung but, due to an unfortunate delay, the rung but, due to an uniortunate dever really got of the ground.

During 1967 , 98 peals had been rung, six less than in 1966 . 141 ""firsts in the method" and 31 " firat pealers" were zecorded. rhis and 31 "first pealers" were ecorded. This been recorded in any one yoar. Worthy ot spocial mention is the peal of Plain Bob Major rung at Dagenham, when four members "cored their " firyt" and threc mombers thans peal of Kent T.B. Major, On January 28 th ladies from the South-Eastern Division seored a tirst Jadies peal for the Association. The leading peal ringer was the Mastor, Mr, F.

Lufkin. who rane 30 peala, and Miss
Y. Murray led the ladios by scoring 15 peels.

NEW DISTRICT FORMED

On puting forward the motion on the split of the South-Western District of the Asiociation into two smaller Districts the Master made it clour to the meeting that the purpose was to approve or disapprove the sollt in principle and leave the actual headacta of specitying which sowers will so where to special committec sot up for the purgose. Mr. D. Cobb, the proposer, suid that the size of District would not be docided on by the number of towers but by the actual number of members within the Ditarict, The SouthWestern has 300 members, nearly 175 niore than any other District. Mr. Hallett thought that both the Southend area and the southwestern corner of the county were strons doing so would do a sreat deal of sood for the Assoclation. This proposal was voted on and the motion was carried.
It was also decided that the subscriptions for honorary members should be abolished. The proposers said that this position, In their opinion. was of an honorary nature and should be bestowed on peoplo in reçognition of their interest in the Association's work, as an honourmherefore, it followed that they should not he asked for a subscription, but rather that, if they should so wish, they could donate as much as they wished.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Mr. F. B. Lufkin was again elected Master and Miss H Snowden as D2eputy Master. Un. fortunatcly Mr. Snowden was unable io bo present at the meeting as whe has bad a serious operation, but all good wisbes went to her for a complete recovery.
Other honorazy oficers elected: Secretary. P. W Saltmarsh: treasurer, P. J. Eves; auditors. Miss V. Cross. G. H. Isgar itrustees. J. Clarke, P. J. Came and D. A. S.' Symonds.

Mr. R. C. Heazel. Pass Master of the Association. could not accept the Association's proposal of making him a life vice-president. He felt that it was a workine job and at present he was very busy in other activities. The Master sald that Mr. Heazel was not in any way heing disrespectful and ho hoped that the members would respect his wishes until such time as his private life was better sulted to accept the office. However, Mr. H. Turner was unanimously elected as a life vice-president. Life memhers elected were: $H$. Turner. $E$. Sitch, S. Holgate and A. Honeywood sen.
Under the heading of any other busineas the Master informed the members that this year the dinner would be on October 19th. and that they had made a gamble and hired a band for the evening in the hope of attracting more poople, espocially younger members, to attend the dinner.
The mecting was then closed and lunch was served in the Cathedral Hall by members of the South-Eastern Division. Towers round and about Bocking and Halstead were open, during the afternoon and evening, and tea was taken at Bocking. kindly prepared ty the Bocking ringers under the leadershio of Mr.
Mr. Moore.

Letters to the Editor

A DOUBLES QUANDARY

Dear Sir,-1 cannot understand the logic of the last paragraph in your article "Clarıfying Doubles Variations" ("Ringing World," page 482)

April Day, as I have always rung it, consists of rlaın Bob with a Grandsire single as a call. This, surely, is in accordance with the third paragraph in the same article, since the call is "not part of the plain course of another method." If. as the last paragraph states, we recognise that spliced extents have been rung, may I ask what the methods spliced together were? If they were Plain Boh and Grandsire, then we have (a) accepted half-lead splicing. (b) allowed a spliced extent in which a plain lead of Grandsire does not occur. If it is argued that we have rung Reverse St . Bartholomew between the half-leads, this makes nonsense since Reverse St. Bartholomew does not occur as a method in the Central Council Doubles Collection.-I remain, sir. confused.-Yours sincerely,

PAUL CATTERMOLE.

Worcester.

Note.-April Day is an extent of Spliced Plain Bob and Reverse St. Bartholomew's Bob Doubles. Under a different name, Reverse St. Bartholomew is a method much older than our modern Grandsire Doubles: a plain lead of Reverse St. Bartholomew is now used as the single in our modern Grandsire Doubles. Reverse St. Bartholomew is a method which conforms to the C.C. Decisions on Regular Doubles Methods. Together with several other methods it was not included in the C.C. Collection published in 1955: this Collection. like the Major and Minor Collections. has never been claimed to be a complete collection of all regular methods. Editor.

"QUEEN VICTORIA TREBLE BOB"

Dear Sir.-The correct name for the method rung to a peal at Beenham. Berks, on May 29th as Queen Victoria Treble Bob ("Ringing World." June 28th. page 508) is Sprotborough Delight. As such it was included in a peal at Cawthorne. Yorks, on January 30th, 1965. The Beenham peat is, however, the first 5,040 in the methods, as claimed.
It was suggested in a letter to "The Ringing World "' in Fehruary. 1963., that this notation might be called Queen Victoria but the writer (Mr. Bishop) gave no reason for his suggestion. It would be interesting to know what made him suggest this name. and whether he has any evidence of the method ever having been rung prior to the Cawthorne peal.-Yours sincerely.

6.000 RINGERS TO CATER FOR

Dear Sir,-You cannot run a journal with a committee constantly at variance amongst themselves, and I appeal for a little bit of commonsense and statesmanship on hoth sides. The committee should be reminded that they are there to cater for 6,000 readers. not to spend all their time trying to score cheap points ofi one another at our expense.
No one need get worried about the appendix that was published. It was quite the most boring document I have read for years, except to emphasise the small minds of some of those at variance, who ought to remember that Rome was not built in a day.-Yours sincerely,

JOHN BRAIN.

PAYMENT FOR WEDDINGS

Dear Sir.-I wonder how many bellringers have analysed their reasons for joining and pursuing this ancient art?

Is it because they enjoy it merely as a hobby, do they regard it as a duty to their their church, or is it just another way of obtaining a few extra shillings on the side?

Those who fall into the last category will know that I am referring to the system of payment for ringing the bells at special functions, partucularly weddings.

This is usually in the order of around $£ 5$, paid, in the case of weddings, by the parties concerned. so if there are six ringers they each leceive 16 s . 8 d ., eight ringers each receive 12s. $6 d$., and so on.

To my mind this is sheer avarice; why is there not an unwritten law (or written one. for that matter!) that all money received should be paid into church funds?

There is no compulsion for anyone to ring at weddings. and therefore there is no valid argument in favour of being paid for sacrificing an hour or so on a Saturday afternoon. Most ringers. I hope, ring for the love of ringing-or do they consider they should be paid for Sunday service ringing?

Certainly those who wish for bells to be rung at their wedding should expect to pay, just as they do so for the choir and organist to be present, but I strongly contend that it should be the church, and not the individual. which benefits.-Yours sincerely,
G. ROBINSON.

Note.-My attention was drawn to a lady in Surrey who recorded her wedding fees on her Income Tax return.-Ed.

A GLILD FOR NORTH AMERICA

Dear Sir.-In recent months there has been much discussion of the desirability of having a Guild of Change Ringers in North America. There is evidence of new enthusiasm among American ringers which should now be unified.

The Guild would serve at least two important purposes. First, it would give each ringer a sense of belonging to a fraternity of ringers throughout the Continent, and, second. it would help to ensure that each visiting ringer has the maximum opportunity to join with local ringers in fostering the art of change ringing in the New World.

Membership of the Central Council would further strengthen existing ties between English and American ringers.
1 therefore propose that each N. American tower should elect a person who should send me details of the state of ringing in his own tower and any other information which might he useful in the consideration of the preliminary details involved in setting up the Guild. Other ringers who have any information or suggestions are also urged to contact me so that the North American Guild of Change Ringers may be established as soon as possible.-Yours faithfully.

TAKEN A RINGING PAPER FOR 75

 YEARSDear Sir--Congratulations on your years as Editor of "The Ringing World "-a fine job well done. Having taken a weekly ringing paper since 1893, now 75 years, I look back with pride to the many improved factors we have in our midst. A lad I taught at Sunbury and Hersham 60 years ago (Albert Diserens) is still active and I notice another pupil of mine (Roy Collins), of Chobham, now of Farnham, still carrying on the good work.

Just lately my doctor has taken a sudden new interest in my health, for he has called here five times in the last five weeks and is coming again next Wednesday. I cannot walk much and in fine weather I am taken out in a four-wheel chair round some of the quiet roads nearby. Since last September I have not ventured as far as our main Post Office as my doctor states my heart, at nearly 85 . is tired, and I am bronchial and with Paget's Discase these last 15 years.

In recent years my contributions have been short and to the point, chiefly to get the correct information which people tell me is of interest.
The Editor has a tough job and ringers have no idea of the snags and pitfalls he is liable to suffer. I don't like Surprise ringing or spliced ringing: my limited time gave me little chance to delve into so many methods. Every week seems to produce false changes in peals, etc., and we have too many methods. Plain Bob has many composers in recent years, but all the best compositions were composed prior to 1914 .
Still, you are safe in the chair I hope for a few more years yet, so here's wishing you good luck, good health and all good wishes.Yours very sincerely,

Addlestone.

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.
Note.-The Editor thanks Mr. Shepherd and the many others who have sent congratulatory letters.

A NEW ZEALAND REQUEST

Dear Sir,-I wonder if one of your readers could help me. When I was a young lad in Wales I used to belong to a team of handbell ringers. Now I would like to form a team myself but on inquiries it would appear that there are no bells available. Does anyone have a set which they would let me have at a reasonable price? A children's handbell team would be quite a novelty out here as there is only one other in New Zealand, so any help would be very much appreciated.-Yours faithfully,
G. A. JAMES.

ALSO AGAINST

Dear Sir,-I also voted against the Doubles motion at Worcester, and as we are assured that no restriction is being placed on the scope of Doubles ringing would welcome some explanation on just how future performances are to be submitted to "The Ringing World" for publication.-Yours faithfully,

TINTED COVERS AND THE SHILLINE

Deat $\mathrm{Sir}_{4}$ - In all the years I have taken "The Ringing World " I have never had cause to criticise the committee appointed by the Central Council, but I feel that over the last two or three years the attitude has changed considerably.

In my opinion. I am very much afraid that the decision taken by $\because$ The Ringing World " Committee is going to spell "Dunkirk" for this journal. Agreed, it does make the paper attractive to have a tinted cover, but to my knowledge all ringers buy .. The Ringing World "for the news it contains of bells and bellringing in general. I feel that the continued use of "Tinted Covers" plus the increase in price to one shilling will reduce the sales of "The Ringing World." and this should not be allowed to happen under any considera. tion.

May I refer to the time of the late Mr. 1.

 S. Goldsmith, who in 1911 started printing " The Ringing World." which paper (in those days and until his death) satisfied the requirements of the singers up and down the country who purchased it at (whisper it very quietly) 2 d . Fer copy.As tar as I am aware there have never been any complaints, or suggestions for alterations to the paper, until approximately the last three or four years, and this includes the names of well-known ringers of the past, such as the Rev. Canon Coleridge, the Rev. F. E. Robinson, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Alderman Pad-don-Smith and last, but not least, Albert Walker and many others.

Now this fancy cover is helping very much to put the finances of the paper in the red (like the little red star often seen on bank statements).
By cutting out the fancy cover there would he an immediate saving of $£ 40$ per week. I would like to point out to the committee that it would be best to cut your suit according to your cloth.

A pleasing profit was made in 1966 , but in 1967 experimenting took place with a coloured issue when there was a deficit of $£ 500$. Now, in only four months-January lst to April 30th, 1968-there is another tremendous loss of £438. Where is the continued loss going to end-in bankrupicy?
Mr. J. Frank Smallwood, one of the pioneers of the paper, after much hard work (with others) built up a considerable balance for "The Ringing World." Is this balance to dwindle away hecause of the "fancy dress "? I agree with Mr. Bayliss when he calculated the loss which would occur during 1968 as over $£ 1,000$. No wonder he had a shockand so did I! Is this the way to prosperity:

Sales drives have been tried out in the past with little success. My view: cut out the fancy stuff for a start-go back to the original cover -and keep the price as low as possible. It is appreciated that printing costs have gone up, but 50 per cent. in the last two years seems rather high. Unfortunately we have no control over this, or postal increases.

Another item which has surprised me is the amount received for publishing quarter peals. In May this year- $£ 37$ for quarter peals (quite good) and $£ 5$ for peals (disgraceful. don't you agree?). This. I think, calls for a "peals levy," and I am sure someone could be found in each Association (such as a retired ringer) to be responsible for the collection of this "levy" from conductors of peals. This would bring in welcomed extra money to the accounts, especially as it has already been pointed out that approximately four and a hilf pages of the paper are given over each week to the publication of peals (no income at the moment from these). One shilling per rope is a small amount to pay for the pleasure of approximately three hours of ringing enjoyment (the price of half a pint).

The Ringing World " has been coming into my home since the first copy that "J. S. G." produced in 1911. In 1920 I was demobbed from the first world war, and after my father passed away in that year I continued taking "The Ringing world" each week. This is

RINGINE WDRLD"

48 years, and I have enjoyed reading the journal each week over these years (almost a lifetime). I have not been an active peal ringer for the past 30 years due to circumstances beyond my contiol, but I have always endeavoured to be loyal to "The Ringing World." I hope to continue taking ". The Ringing World" until December (paid up), after which date I shall think very seriously of cancelling my copy, and I'm afraid I shall not be alone. This I shall regret, but I am sorry I have no confidence in the present policy of "The Ringing World" Committee. who, in my opinion. are trying 10 produce a paper which will prove to be uneconomical.Yours faithfully,

HECTOR G. BIRD.

East Brent. North Somerset.

Editor's Note.-We are always glad to hear from readers of long standing. If he had been at Worcester Mr. Bird would have seen that the Council was certainly not willing to go back to the old style "Ringing World." though we are glad to note that he at least found it satisfactory. But the selling price would have had to go up, because we should not have had the increased circulation which has come with the modernisation.

There was no need for anyone to have a shock about the deficit. Until income was increased, by price rise or circulation, or both, an extra $£ 40$ a week was bound to turn the profit into $£ 1,000$ deficit. If all that has been called for lately had been idopted, the deficit would be five or six times greater.
We would be only too glad for any Association to help by collecting a peal levy for us, We cannot afford the administrative cost of collection, neither can we insist on a Icvy unless the Council so decides and accepts the risk of incomplete records.
In our experience there have always been critics of "The Ringing World " and its committee. It is much casier 10 criticise than to devote time and effort, week after week, to produce a paper with due regard to the budget.

DORSET HONOURS BILL SHUTE'S 60 YRS. OF RINGING

Saturday, June 29th, was a very special day, when friends from far and near gathered at Hampreston, near Wimborne, to do honour to the well-known Dorset ringer, Mr. W. C. Shute. About 100 people were present, including. of course, many members of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, but also some who had travelled much further-from Somerset, Hampshire, Sussex, Essex and Worcestershire. More would have come but for other engagements (it was a favourite day for church fetes), and among the apologies were those from the president (Mr. W. C. West) and the Master (Rev. R. N. l.ongridge) and the chairman of the North Dorset Branch (Rev. R. G. Chaffey Moore).

A service in the church was conducted hy the Rector, the Rev. E. H. Monds, with Mr. J. Morrison ais organist, and an address was given by the Rev. T. F. Brewster, R.D. Then everyone went over to the schoolroom, where Mrs. Vacher and Mr. and Mrs. King and helpers had prepared a wonderful spread. Later the local schoolchildren gave an entertainment of tunes on bandbells and recorders, and their efforts were a great credit to their teacher, Mrs. Howard, and the headmaster, Mr. Pressley.

In the schoolroom later Mr. R. King. in welcoming the company to Hampreston, spoke appreciatively of the vast number of Mr. Shute's pupils. Mr. L. Lockyer, chairman of the Wimbornc Branch, presided over the gathering and mentioned the affection and esteem in which Mr. Shute is held. He praised his achievements and his services to ringing. including over 40 years as Ringing Master of the North Dorset Branch.

Mr. Shute will have something to remind him of the occasion Many of his friends had clubbed together and bought him a transistor radio. which was appropriately handed to him by Mr. Jim Ralph, who had known him as long as anvone else in the room-for fust about 60 years. Mr. Shute thanked all concerned with the occasion and was loudly applauded.

So now, when ringers from all over Dorset, and in other counties as well, listen to the bells before the news on Sunday mornings they will think of their friend, Bill Shute, doing likewise, and will wish him "good listening" as well as good ringing for many years to come.

A WILTSHIRE GOLDEN WEDDING

The quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild at Urchfont on July 6th was made memorable by the presence of Mr. and Mrs. W. Smith, of Chirton, who were celebrating their golden wedding.

Following the tea provided by Mr. G. Heath, the local captain, and his helpers, Mr. and Mrs. Smith cut the cake, which had been generously provided, and their health was proposed in felicitous terms by Mr. Heath, who recalled that Mr Smith had also been a ringer for 50 years. Later in the mecting it was proposed that Mr. Smith's name be submitted to the Guild Committee for life membership-
Forthcoming events announced at the mecting were: August meeting, Heytesbury, on August 3rd: Striking Competition, first Saturday in September (draw 2.30) ; October quarterly meeting, Warminster, October 5th.

Votes of thanks were proposed to the Vicar (the Rev. T. Salisbury) for conducting the service, the organist (Mr. Lester Eves), the choir and the caterers. Ringing continued until 7.30 and included Cambridge Surprise Major.

Bells of a 13th Century Church

A School Project

TRAVELLEKK along the Worcester to Strat-fordeon-Avon road hardly notice Specchley, * wliage of about 100 souls, lying in attractive barkland just outside the Worcester City boundary.
Opposite the half-limbered farge and standing high above the road is the Parish Church, al most invisible atmons the yew trees which sur found it. Bullt in the 13 th century, the church is very small and simple in design bus is famouts for the tambs of the Berkeley family. which fill the chantry to the south of the choir with a blaze of heraldic colour. As in several of the churches in the hundred of Oswaldeslow, the church was buill without a tower and probably had, originally, a timber belfry smillar 10 these still in existence at Kington of Whiteladles, Aston. In the sevenreenth century the present tower was built whttiln the westorth end of the nave and the four medlaval bells were hung in a massive frame.
The bells remained untouched until 1904. - when it had become unsafe for them to be rung. and In that year James Berwell and Company strengthened the old bellocage and rebung the bells with new fittings, which remain in good order. It is unilkely that the bells were much rung after 1914 and certainly thero has been no regular team for many years.
In 1960 a faw young rimgets patched up the fitinge and rang the bells on a few occasions, and what is thoutht to be the only quarter peal on the bells was runge in that year by a band of schoolboys, whore average age was 14 years-
On Friay. May 6ith, 1960, in 35 minutes. 1.272 COURT BOB MINIMUS

Rung io commemorate the wedding of H.R.H. Pritheess Margaret and Mf. Anthory Armitrong-Jones.
It is recorded that suth was the quantity of dust and twigs which descended during the ringing that the treble flnget was forced to wear a sou'wester as protection! The ringing room was then immediately below the bells and very noisy, and the ropes fell awkwatdly, the tenor rope being only four inches from the wall.
In 1964 the Rev. R. Kingston, Vicar of Spetchley-wth.Whtteladies, Aston, and Chut-chill-in-Oswaldeslow. inaugurated a scheme for complete restoration of Spetchley Chutch and asked the headmaster of the King's School Whather it would be possible for boys from the school to help put the belle fin order. Ace cordinuly, work began in September, 1967. with the removal of about 15 cwt . of dust, dead plgeons. iwike and droppints from the bell chambet. When tho flobt boards were eventually uncoveted they were discoveted to he completely rotien and unsafe and were removed and buthed, and a platform was crected from which wefk could procced on the bells and fittingo
After a general cleaning, the flltings were found to be in excellent order with the exception of one slay and ohe slider. Muchneeded thehtening of loose bolts was done, and faulty repes were spliced and replaced. The rinding condfions in the belfry would have been even worse than before, as the layer of dust and twigs which had insulated the sound of the bells had now gone, sogsther with the ceiling of the :inging room.
Eventually it was decided to lower the ropes 10 the ground fioor. This made it possible to draw the fopes into a reasonable circle and. by using 24 feet of polythene drainpipe, the tenor rope was placed in a moro manageable position. As the western door is the only entrance to the church, the congregation has to pus throuth the ropo dercle on lis way into elturch, but with careful rope-handing this presents few probletme.

The bells are, in the opinion of the antiqtiary, H. B. Walters, all of pre-Reformation date. but only the thitrd is inscribed. This heats lin crowned capitals the Inseription Sancte Petre. ora pro nobis" and has the famous "Royal Head" foundry marks. The tenor weighs abou: 5 cwt , and the notes of the hells are E. flat. D, C. B, an odd and rather plaintive combination. If they can find a suitable smallor bell the boys would like to hang this as a treble to make a ting of five. On Sundzy, June 23rd, the church was used for the first time after restoration and the bells rere rung by the King's School Society of Change Ringers before and after the sefvice Call changes were rung by three boys. Paul Hassan. Christopher Plekford and Simon Webb and one master. Mr. P. Cattermole. Also present were Mlchael Fardon and Chatles McDevitt. who. atthough thot ringers. had spent most of their Friday afterfooths for the last nine months in the dust of Spetchley tower dontig the necessary repalrs. At the serviee the lesson was read by Mr. P. Cattermole, and the Vicap thanked the boys for their efforts in the tower. After the service all were entertained by the Vicar and Mrs. Kingston to a splendid lunch at Whiteladles, Aston. Vicafage
On Sunday, October 13th. there will be a service of thankspiving for the restoration, at tended by the very Rev. R. I. P. Milburn. Dean of Worsester, and the bells will again be rung.

THE LADIES' GLILD

If was a glortous afternoon when the members of the Central District of the Ladies' Guild held theif meeting at Northaw on Juhe 29th. Ringing was a little delayed owing to a wedding but first-comers gatherod round the andent font to fing out the hride and bridegroom. Even though the attendance was not very large some good ringing was enjoyed.
A pienis tea was taken on the village green opposite the church, the unique method of brewing tea causing much interest.
During the business meeting, also held on the green, members learned with regret that Miss Valerie Ware, the vice-president. will shorlly be leaving to take up a teaching apappointment in Germany. Our best wishes go with her and we hope to see her during school hoildays.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Marlborough Branch Meeting

The June meeting of the Marlhorough Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, held at Chisledon on the 15th. attracted a good attendance, including a high proportion of young people. This latter feature, which is usual now at these meetings, is a tribute to the towers of Marlborough, Aldbourne and Chisledon, where the patience and understand ing of the older ringers is reaping such rich reward.
Under the direction of Mr. F. Read (Ringing Mastef) the tuncful six of the Church of the Holy Cross were put to good use until the Guild service, which was conducted by Mr Bowman (lay reader), with Mr. A. Keen us organtist.

Tea was provided in the Youth Club with typical Chisledon lavishness and was thoroughly enjoyed. This being the half-yearly meeting the minutes were read by Miss H. Jones (hon secretary) and adopted without comment.

A discussion on the venue for the annual outing in Soptember centred around the Wincanton or Clevedon areas. On being put to the vote Clevedon was chosen.

The Rev. R. Kecley gave a short resume of the meeting of the Central Council, with par ticular reference to the new tinted cover of "The Ringing World" It was agreed that when it comes to the Marlhorough Branch's turn to provide a photograph, that of St Michael's, Aldbourne, should be chosen. This chutch, with its magnificent tower, dominating as it does the whole of Aldbourne. was acclaimed as an excellent choice.
Mr. G. Newmat (chalrman) thanked all who had helped int the day's arrangements and extended a warm welcome to the visitors. He also announced that Miss Heather Jones, the talented secretary. had recenily become en gaged to Mr. M. Rouse, of Chilvers Cotton Nuncaton, and. on behalf of the Branch. offered heartest congratulations. Both Mr Rouse and Miss Jones are keen ringers and it was through this mutual interest that they met while Mr. Rouse was on a vistit to Aldbournc Best wishes, Heather, for a long and happy future.

However, ringing took place untl the setyice at $4.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. A buffet tea was served in the Scout Hall and turned out to be fat more enjoyable than the conventional sitting at tables.

BISHOP BREAKS HIS RULE

On the afternoon of Sunday, June 30rh, a most important occasion took place for the "handful of people ": who live in that beautiful little village of Grosmont, high up in the north of Monmouthshire.
For on that hot, sunny afternoon came their Lord Bishop, the Rt. Rev, Stephen ErrylThomas, to rededicate the rehung ring of six bells.
Many visitors, too, journeyed to Grosmont to join in that service of thanksgiving. And what a lovely journey it was-through fields bright green with growing corn, woodlands carpeted with the pink of foxglove and wild rose, and hedges graced with "plate-like" creamy elderflower. So we gathered together for the service, packing the church, local people and ringers from far and wide.
After the rededication the local band rang two lots of rounds, and then the Bishop, in friendly manner, chatted to us from the pulpit. He said that he had made a rule not to attend dedications of any kind for at least the first two years of his ministry, but he just had to break that rule when he had heard of the noble efforts of the Vicar, the bellringers and the parishioners of Grosmont. He had been amazed to hear of their hard labour in lowering the bells themselves. transporting them to London themselves and making the new frame themselves, also installing new girder foundations. a new ceiling and new staircase! In all, saving some $£ 700$ out of the $£ 2.000$ to be found. He thought their efforts deserved every possible praise and he was so very glad to hreak his rule to reward such toil and hard labour and to join in that joyful service.

After this service the local ringers, together with the visitors. all ascended the tower and enioyed the "go" of the rehung bells.

The Vicar. the Rev. A. W. M'Adam. and the Lord Bishon together made their way up to the ringing room 10 talk to the ringers and encourage them in their cfforts.

Judging by the keenness of the Grosmont ringers, yet another tower is sure of its bells calling out. Sunday by Sunday, across the beautiful fields and woodlands for manv, many years to come.

TEN-YEAR SILENCF ENDED

Among those who have rung at all the Hampshire lowers four bells and unwardsy is Mr. G. K. Dodd. of Highclere, this coming about with the reopening of the belfry at Chawton, near Alton, after a ten-year silence due to a ruling by the P.C.C.

Wednesday. June 26th. enabled many ringers to enjor these bells when two narties visited the tower from 7 until 9 p.m. To those instrumenta! in the reopening of this tower our heartiest congratulations. Why cannot more ringers. either as individuals or through their Associations. follow this lead given by members of the Alton and Petersfield District and defeat the closed shop policy?

Thank you, Chawton.
G. D.

OUTING TO BROTHFR'S PARISH

The Rev. L. Standley, Vicar of Ulceby, Lincs, arranged for his ringers to visit his brother's parish, Harmston, on June 28th. The outing proved most enjoyable and ringing was generally of a good standard on this light, easygoing ring of eight. Later at the Thoraid going there was a typical end to a typical ringers' outing.

NEW GUILD SECRETARIES-NO. 2

THE REV. LAWRENCE R. PIZZEY
Succeeding Mr. Andrew Beckwith as hon. secretary and treasurer of the Suffolk Guild this year is the Rev. Lawrence R. Pizzey, who is now serving his title as assistant curate at St. Mary's, Bramfora. Suffolk. He was ordained last Michaelmas, having received his theological training at Westcott House, Cambridge.

Mr. Pizzey's home tower was St. Mary-leTower, Ipswich and he started ringing in September 1960. The following year saw him at St. John's College. Durham. and for three years he was with Durham University Society. filling the post of Deputy Master in 1963-64. He rang regularly with Durham Cathedral band, and during this period was able to visit most of the ringable towers in Co. Durham and Northumberland. His first peal was rung with Durham University Society at Houghton-le-Spring on March 19th, 1962

For a year after leaving Durham he was teaching in Ipswich. and this provided him with opportunities for peal ringing. Of his 58 peals to date, 46 have been rung for the Suffolk Guild.

LANCASHIRE: ASSOCIATION GARIEN PARTY

Whilst the sun did not exactly "shine on the righteous." the weather on the last Saturday in June was much better than could have been expected from the previous week. The garden at Goosnargh Vicarage is beautifully situated and, in spite of the fact that his wife was in hospital, the president made us feel very welcome.

Over 100 ringers, wives, children and friends gathered and alf appeared to thoroughly enjoy the party. Refreshments, served as usual by the hardworking ladies, were appreciated, inut certain ringers were known in he disappointed at heing judged slightly oversize for the pony ride!

From the numbers who later descended on the local hostelry it seems that six-a-side cricket is a splendid means of creating a thirst.

BEDDINGTON LOOK FOR THE UNUSUAL

Beddington (Surrey) ringers' outing this year was to Essex and Suffolk on June 29th, and unusual things seen were the $4 t$ gallon ringers' Jar at Halstead, reputed to be 300 years old. and the Angelus bell at Hadleigh, which is on the outside of the steeple over the clocklace. Said to be over 600 years old, it must rank amongst the oldest bells in the county The Hadieigh bells made very hard work, and the ringing room was noisy, but Stewart Kimber managed the 28 cwt . tenor to Plain Bob.
A coincidence at Grundisburgh was to learn that Jim Pipe had gonc on an outing to Croydon that day! Tea was taken at Woodbridge, where there are pleasant. slow-ringing bells.
The 70 ft . draught to the ground-floor ring al Great Dunmow was surprisingly easy to handle and it was here that the highlight of the day-Beddington Surprise Major-was successfully rung. Coach handbells included a plain course of Plain Bob Maximus, even though the seats were somewhat awkward for ropesight!

Our thanks to Jim Cook for organising the towers and to Nigel Thomson for arranging the coach.

PETERSFIELD FESTTVAL

The St. Mary's, Buriton, and St. Peter's. Petersfield, handbell ringers were asked to perform at the opening service of the Festival of Flowers at St. Peter's Church on June 28th. They rang three hymns and two plain courses of Grandsire Doubles before a congregation of about 500 , and it was their first performance.

The tower had been decorated by the ringers and was open to the public. The total number of visitors for the Saturday and Sunday came to 238. nearly all of whom went up a further two flights of steps to see the bells.

Musicwise the Festival was a great success and moneys collected for new churches and a new church hall amounted to about $£^{2}(00$ each.
The flowers were arranged by the Liphook Floral Decoration Society and were exceptional as the colour scheme matched the stained glass in each window.

DAVENTRY BRANCH OUTING

"A fine day, interesting country, good bells and good humour were the ingredients for this memorable outing." writes W. F. S. concerning the Daventry Branch outing to the Swindon and Cirencester Districts on Junc 29th.
Ringing started on the musical six at Lechlade. followed by Highworth. After the lunch hreak at Swindon the party reassembled at Christ Church for Grandsire and Stedman Caters and call changes. A wedding brightened proceedings at Purton. where there is a fine heavy six. and Oaksey (6) provided a light relief. High tea was taken at Cirencester and the last tower of the day was North Cerney. The iourney home was the excuse for the usual handbell efforts and after a thirst-quencher break at Chinpine Norton Daventry was reached at 10.45 p.m

A TOWER GRAB IN SYDNEY

About 20 ringers took part in a "tower grah" organised by the N.S.W. Branch on June 2nd. when all the "ringable" towers in Sydnev were visited. The start was service ringing at St. Paul's, Burwood, concluding with evening service ringing at All Saints. Parramatta, Nine towers were on the programme and dinner was served at St. Mary's Cathedral.

POMPEY REVISITED ON  ALEC ROSE'S DAY

The sun shines on the righteous, said some, with smugness. Others muttered darkly, and with more aptitude perhaps, about the devil looking after his own. But, for whatever reason, the sun did its very best for St. Mary's, Eastbourne, on June 29 th , after ten days of almost continuous wind and rain.

After a shaky start at St. Nicholas', Brighton. where several of the party were introduced to the ten-bell beat. the coach proceeded 10 Portsmouth. The television cameramen were out in force, but we switched off our smiles on realising that they were ready for the return of Alec Rose. One had almost forgotten how excellent are the ringing conditions at Portsmouth and revelling in the glorious sound and "go" of the Cathedral ten, some creditable Grandsire Caters were rung. The nearby Dolphin Hotel is recommended to any visiting bands for its service and cooking the lunch and tea here undoubtedly set the seal of success on the whole day.
After the youngsters had visited the funfair we moved on to Portsea's magnificent tower, arriving as the last bride of the day was leaving. The lovely octave was much enjoyed. and there was time to glimpse the masts of H.M.S. "Victory" between the battlements, reached by a dizzy climb over the hells.

The evering included ringing at Shoreham and Hurstpierpoint. Thanks go to local secretaries and incumbents and to Paul Fox. who made the arrangements.
H. R.

A Record of Peals Rung by Peter Laflin

PETER LAFLIN rang his first peal at Debenham, Suffolk, on May 26th, 1906; it was a peal of Plan Bob Major, 10 which he rang the and bell. There was a strong Sunday service band at Debenham at the time, and in the following year. 1907, they rang a locul band pask of Suparlative Surprise, Peter on this occasion ringing the 4 th . In 1909 he moved from Deonnam to work in Birmingham tor a year, where he rang in the firnt peals of Aston Major and Royal, both being composed und conducied by John Carter. Hu seturned to Suffolk after the period in Birmingham and coninued to ring peals in the area until the enforced break of five years due to the 1914-18 war, It is interesting to note that in the two peals immediately betore und after this war he rang next to Edward JenLins, with whom he rang almost 250 peals.

In 1919 Peter emigrated to Canada, where he lived for almost five years before returning to England and settling in the Manchester area, where he lived for the rest of his life. His flrst peal in the North of England was in July, 1926. Superlativa Major at Pendleton, conducted by bis friend Edward Jenkina, who had also moved to the area. In April, 1927, Peter rang the 3rd to the record peal of 17,824 Oxford T.B. Major at Heptonstall. with Ted again conducting (from a non-observation bell l). The following year both were in the unsuccessful attempt for 22,096, which was lost after $10 \frac{1}{2}$ hours, when the tenor bearings dried up.
Allen F. Bailey, one of the famous brothers from SutFolk, was also living in Stockport as the time and introduced Peter 10 handbell peal ringing in 1928. The handbell band formed at Stockport about this time is probably one of the best that the country bas ever known. Many peals of Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques were rung, including the first on handbells both in Lancashire and Cheshire of Stedman Cinques. The band abo rang many peals in even-bell methods, notably Plain Bob. Kent T.B.. Oxford T.B. and Double Norwich Court Bob. In this spherc. 100. they set up new records by ringing the first peals of Plain Bob and Kent T.B. Maximus on handbells in Cheshire. COxford T.B. Maximus was loat in the last course shortly before the band broke up in 1940.)

After the second world war Peter continued hls ringing with the "Cheshire Band "under the leadership of John Worth. The band at this time was building up for the record peal of Bristol Surprise Major, ringing a 10.080 in 1948, and finally 21,600 in 1950 , when Peter was 61 years old.

In later years Peter often rang "second tenor," and ut the age of 68 rung the 7th to Pitman's 30 -Spliced Surprise Major, which was then rung for the first time. The following year he rang the 9 th at Ashton-under-Lyne to the first deal of Londinium ever to be rung, In 1963 Peter decided to retire from paal ringing. although bs continued to ring perularly on Sundays and practice nights until the end of 1967, when if became very difficult for him to elimb the many step: to St. Oeorfe's belfry, where he had rung for over 30 years. His list of peals is appended:-

NEWINGTON-NEXT-SITMNGBOURNE

Forty-flve ringers from North Kent took part In Newington-next-Sittingbourne's tradtional Spring Bank Holiday outing, and were ringing promptly at 9 a.m. on the casy-golas eight at Marden. Then came Kilncown the six have been restored in recent years), and oaly two of the party " chickened-out " of climbing the vertical fron ladder to the ringing room Springy ropes and a long draught made Tice hurst (6) bells rather a handful.
Probably it was due to the efiects of the lunch at Wannock Gardens, but Justice was not done to the fine-sounding six at Alfriston. Ringing improved at Laughton (6) and tea was enjoyed just outside Uckfield, followed by good ringing on the very pleasant eight bere. Finully came the eight at Buxted, wbere the hum of the bells was very noticeable. The journey home was broken in the beart of the Kentish hopfields at Beltring for Hquid re freahmente.

Our thanks are due to Mrs. Hazel Mitcholl for her able organisation and to lacumbents and riggors who met the party.

OUR MOST NORTHERLY RING

THOSE ringers who like to explore the remote corners mentioned in Dove's "Guide" will have seen that there is a ring of eight in Inverness. Possibly a few have wondered what they are like and imagined that they would be slowly deteriorating in a neglected tower, even although most people in the South (i.e. south of the border) will fail to realise that Inverness is more than 100 miles from the next ringing tower (Dundee) and more than 200 miles from England.
I first made contact with the bells of Inverness in the summer of 1958 when I was staying in Edinburgh before taking up work in South Wales. The ringers at St. Cuthbert's Parish Church, where I was ringing, decided to have a summer outing to Inverness if it could be arranged, and as I was to have a few weeks* holiday fairly near there I was asked to go as an advance party to check that the bells were ringable.

The bells are a Warner eight with a tenor of about 20 cwt., hung old-style in plain bearings on a part-wood, part-metal frame. I found them in pretty fair condition apart from one or two broken stays and a fair amount of pigeon trouble. After the usual greasing, tightening, repairing and tidying, the bells went fairly well and the Provost of the Cathedral (the Very Rev. J. Pennell) kindly gave me the use of his bathroom to tidy myself up before feeding me and despatching me home, saying he was lcoking forward to our visit. The only local use that was being made of the bells then was that the Ellacombe apparatus was regularly used for chiming. Unfortunately I missed the summer outing but I gather that it was a success.

ANONYMOUS SMASH

When I returned to Edinburgh in 1961 a second outing was arranged and took place in the summer of 1962 . The only real change in the tower was that a visiting peal band from South of the Border had neglected to swing back the excellent hinged ladder giving access to the roof before they raised the tenor and had thus smashed a perfectly good piece of equipment. Let them blush in anonymity but also provide an object lesson. Before starting to ring in a strange tower unless given clearance by a local ringer, one must always check that there is nothing fouling the bells.

Shortly after this a much more interesting development occurred. A new local man, Mr. Drvid Mclean, took over the care of the tower and bells and became interested in the idea of forming a local band. He had begun to teach himself to handle the bells but had naturally not made any great progress as he had never had any experience of a raised bell. In the ensuing years mixed parties from the Edinburgh and Glasgow towers went to Inverness on several occasions, usually only groups of three or four, and a few times visitors from Inverness visited Edioburgh. In between times the Inverness band, whose numbers rose rapidly to an enthusiastic six or seven, endeavoured to ring by themselves. Inevitably, we began to hear a mournful tale of broken stays when we saw them. but the amazing fact is that in spite of what most ringers would regard as Impossible conditions for learning, the new recruits stuck at it and before too long were able to ring recognisable rounds. They then became eager to learn the rudiments of change ringing.

CHANGED APPEARANCE

During this period what was most encouraging for us was to see the change that took place in the tower. When I first saw it, the ringing room was dingy and dirty. There were gaps between the ringing room ceiling and the tops of the windows, which made the bells uncomfortably loud for the ringers. The stairs were badly worn and everywhere was the usual mess left by the pigeons.

Gradually everything was changed. The ringing room was decorated and carpeted. The ceiling was made more soundproof. The stairs and the hinged ladder have now been repaireed and heating has been installed. In fact the place is now a credit to the band. Equally good has been the care of the bells, which are now regularly maintained and lubricated.
Recently the ringers have had some luck in that a few change ringers from England have been working in Inverness. As a result they have been able to start learning Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles, which is surely an achievement as great as learning any of the more advanced methods under easier conditions. Unfortunately a recent attempt for a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles by a band of ringers from Inverness and Edinburgh came to grief, but we hope that we may have something to show soon.

Ringers touring in Scotland in summer should keep in mind that the Inverness practice night is a Friday and that they can always be sure of a warm welcome then or on a Sunday. For other ringing arrangements they should get in touch with Duncan Wheeler, 81 , Bruce Gardens, Inverness. Telephone: Inverness 32091 (deytime) or Inverness 35331 (at

SALISBURY GUILD

Melbury Ormond was the venue of the West Dorset Branch meeting on June 22nd. This small village on the north border of the Branch is rich in history and is known to have had four bells in 1552. A treble was added in 1966 and now there is a ring of six bells, which were kept busy until the service conducted by the Rev. A. G. Watling.
Tea was prepared by local ringers. in the Village Hall, and Mr. C. W. Powell presided at the business mecting. The next quarterly meeting is to be held at Lyme Regis on September 21 st , but there are practice meetings at Evershot on August 14 th and Bradpole on September 10 th. Some 30 members, including visitors from North Dorset and Wimborne Branches and the Bath and Wells Association, were present in the evening.

especially those of us who did not appreciate the subtle difference between "upward" and "stand"! However, we felt that even if our efforts would not have been worthy of one of the handsome certificates with which the towers of so many of these Devonshire churches are decorated, at least we did not disgrace ourselves too badly !

Then followed Chittlehampton-the Church of St. Hieritha-iurely a new dedication for most of our records? But before this a pienic tea was taken in a conveniently large lay-by -quite a professional affair. with paraffin stoves, kettles, fresh-cut sandwiches-everything in fact but the kitchen sink! Chittlehampton is only a small village but it possesses a spacious village square worthy of a market town, and the magnificent tower is surely the finest in Devon, if not in the West Country. Unfortunately our ringers did not do justice to the bells.
Our last tower was at South Molton (a fine ring of eight, 24 cwt., in an equally fine church), where the non-ringers could admire the floral decorations for a christening the next day while the ringers enjoyed themselves aloft.

And so ended yet another outing-one which this year was tinged with sadness; it was the first since the death of our much-loved tower master, Harold Parfrey, and I think he was in most people's minds during the day. But who can say that he was not with us in spirit? And under the quite splendid guidance of his widow, who was only the previous evening formally elected tower master at Corston, the members of the tower-nearly all of whom Harold had taught to ring-showed that they were determined to do their best to maintain the standards he had always insisted upon.

A STORY FOR RINGERS

THE RETURN

YOUNG JOE paused for a moment from his decorating and stood hack to admire his handiwork. In the far distance could be heard the local Parish Church bellringers at practice and, over the last half-hour. Joe's awareness of the sound had increased. Had it really been three years since his own interest had deciined? His hands, once calloused and hardened were now soft-and paint-stained. He resumed his self-appointed task-a little more reluctantly row. it seemed.

Joe had learned 10 ring ten years carlier and, seven years, 398 towers and 97 peals later, for some unaccountable reason his interest in the art had waned. Things got so bad in fact that he even cancelled his "Ringing World" and apart from a couple of "Evercreech" each Sunday, bellringing played no part in his life.
His ringing friends in the tower paid little attention to his loss of interest. "He'll be back sometime," they said, no doubt classifying Joe as one of the "nomads" who drift in and out of the Exercise at irregular intervals. Very occasionally someone would half-heartedly inquire across the smoky atmosphere of the local "Whatever happened to old what's is name?" This normally brought the non-committal answer "Don't know, think he got spliced, y"know." at which point everyone nodded knowingly and continued supping.

Suddenly Joe flung down his painting brushsomething. we shall never know what, had stirred within him the urge to ring once again. Minutes later he was strolling towards the church. "Wonder what they'll ring," he mused. "Don't think I can still remember even Cambridge."

At the church he mounted the stairs with trepidation, and once the evening's greetings had been exchanged. the Ringing Master inquired hopefully. "Can you do Grandsire?" "I think so," Joe said meekly. and caught hold of the fourth. With some difficulty numerous courses of Girandsire Doubles were "done," Joe feeling somewhat exhilarated by the rather poor but none the less enthusiastic ringing. Some time later he left the practice to cries of "Thank you" and "Come again."
"I've done it." thought Joc as he wound his way back through the now darkened lanes. "I've made a come-back . . . I wonder if there's a meeting anywhere local on Saturday really must order "The Ringing World " again .... join the local Association find the local practice nights rambled on until he reached home.

Now." said his wife icily, "you can just finish painting the bedroom." "Sorry, luv," said Joe, "I don"t think I'll have time-now."

St. Swithin's Church, Woodbury, Devon

SUMMER visitors to the corner of Devon between Exeter and Sidmouth well know the fine heather-and-brackencovered expanse of Woodbury Common, with its wonderful views of the Channel, the Exe estuary and distant Dartmoor. Below it lies the village which gives the Common its name, dominated by the fine tower in today's cover picture. The church is mostly of the 15 th century, with much good woodwork of this and later periods.
There is no ring of eight in the county with such an interesting and well-documented history as the 24 cw . ring in this tower. There are bells here by six different founders, and the churchwardens' accounts, which date back to the time of Henry VIII, give much fascinating information about them.

The oldest bell remaining, and the only survivor of the mediaval five, is the sixth, a Bristol bell of the early 16th century inscribed "Sancta maria ora pro T". Unfortunately two bells recast in 1557 have been again recast, but the account book gives a graphic description of the operation, from their "striking" and the "drinking for them that went forth that caried the bells to Aishe Priors before their going att Richard Bussell's", through the three-day journey to the foundry of Roger Semson and the five-day stay there while the bells were cast, to the two-day return trip and the triumphant entry, "It'm pd att Jane Bussell's homeward for drynkyng . . . iiij d." Fourteen oxen drew the bells there and back, and five men went with them. Roger Semson, some of whose bells survive at Talaton, Plymtree and Luppitt not far away, was paid $£ 23$ 18s. 2 d ., in four instalments.

In 1605 the second of the five (now the fifth) was recast by Thomas Byrdall II, of Exeter; Thomas's son, John, the last of the old line of Exeter founders, recast the present fourth in 1624, the year of his death. The earlier of these two is inscribed in the foundry's old black-letter with big capitals; John put his initials on his bell in his usual very ornate letters.

The parish was kept very busy with bell repairs all through the 17th century: in addition to these two another bell, the fourth of the old five, was recast in 1611, and in 1629 the tenor also needed recasting. By this time Thomas Pennington II was working in Exeter, and the accounts give us a clue to the site of his foundry-"for putting open the gates to goe downe over Northen Hey, 4d." When the bellfounder came to see the bells, when they took the tenor down, when they loaded her, and at every other stage of the operation there was an item for beer and bread-mainly beer. The total comes to 10 s . $2 \mathrm{~d} .$, a formidable gallonage in 1629.

This tenor became crazed during the late 19th century, but at the rehanging in 1897 Harry Stokes shrank an iron band over her shoulder, and she remained in use and a very good bell until the last restoration in 1956, when it was deemed wise to recast her.
Ten years after his great work at Exeter Cathedral, Thomas Purdue made his contribution to the ring by recasting the present seventh. This is a very fine bell like almost all of his, finely decorated and full of music.

In 1720 the parish bought a bell "at Bonehay" and brought it back to Woodbury, only to return it to Exeter for recasting. Presumably this was a secondhand bell - there is still a scrap metal dealer working in Bonhay in Exeter-and proved not to splice with the ring until recast. Even so it seems to have been unsatisfactory, as in 1737 the treble (of six) was recast by William Evans, of Chepstow, in Exeter. Although the wardens do not appear to have paid for the recasting, they did pay $£ 26$ s. 7d. "for expence in 4 days about tuneing ye tribble Bell."

During the latter part of the 19th century, Woodbury became famous as the home of Devon's finest bell-hanging businesses, first under William Hooper and later under the great Harry Stokes. In 1897 Harry Stokes rehung the Woodbury bells in one of his splendid oak frames with pits for eight, and the following year two trebles were cast for the empty pits by Mears and Stainbank, a firm with which Stokes had long been associated and with which he was to form a family connection, when his son married the daughter of A. A. Hughes. Harry Stokes had very few equals in the building of timber frames, and for many generations ringers will continue to know that "a Stokes frame" means a frame in which neither timber, ironwork nor workmanship was ever skimped, designed as well as any, and far better than most, of its period.

That being so, it is surprising that the Woodbury frame lasted only 60 years, but the trouble was that the foundation timbers were allowed to become infected with rot, and when the frame needed repair it was decided to bring the bells lower in the tower to reduce the tower-sway which made this sizable eight somewhat heavy to ring. In 1956, therefore, they were rehung in an iron and steel frame by the Whitechapel foundry.

Woodbury has a good tradition of change-ringing, and although the band suffered a severe loss on the death of John Glanvill the bells are still kept going, while touring bands always find them well worth a visit.

Rival Offers for St. Peter's-in-the-East Bells

DECISION DEFERRED

Abstract

WTEREST was added to the annual meeting and festival of the Oxford Diocesan Guild at Oxford on July fth by two applications for the bells of St. Peter's-in-the-East, Oxford, for which the Guild had paid £500, with another $£ 400$ outstanding. Letters of application had been received from Stanford-in-the-Vale and Bodicote. The rival merits provided an interesting discussion, but it was felt that the proper procedure was to refer the matter to the General Committee with representatives of the two towers present. Perhaps a decision will be reached at the autumn meeting at Bletchley.

The Master (Canon C. E. Wigg) presided and the meeting was attended by the Bishop of Dorchester (the Rt. Rev. D. G. Loveday).
Mr. Frederick Sharpe was asked to give details of the two towers. Stanford-in-theVale, he said, had a heavy six with an 18 cwt . tenor hanging in a very shaky tower. The bells had been removed and the tower repaired. The parish had to raise money for recasting the bells as two were hopelessly cracked, and the third also had to be recast. There was now a good tower to put the bells in, with plenty of room. They had a band of ringers in the Vale-a good call change Sunday service band. Recently they had recruits.

The claim of Bodicote was that they had a young and enthusiastic band who would like their bells augmented from five to eight. The present bells would make any added to them sound mediocre. The tower was very low and the sound was projected down by sound louvres hung very steeply.

Concluding, Mr. Sharpe said they had in one a desirable place to put the bells, and in the otner a tower that would require drastic alteration. If they let Bodicote have the bells they ought to get some understanding that they would do something to the tower

Mr. A. J. N. Rance thought that as each of these applicants had a ring of bells the Guild ought to wait for somebody who had no bells and wanted a ring.

In reply to a question Mr. A. D. Barker (hon. treasurer) said that $£ 1.000$ would be required from whoever had the bells

VALUE OF METAL

Mr. Sharpe said the total weight of bell metal at Stanford-in-the-Vale was 54 cwt., which at to-day's price would bring in $£ 1,350$. Bodicote's bells weighed 31 cwt . and would be worth £775. It would seem that Stanford was in the better position. Permission had to be obtained from the Chancellor to sell these bells, and he would have the final say.

Mr. W. H. Coles said, as ringers. they hoped to hear of new churches being built with provision for a tower. He wondered it, wish the London overspill coming to Bletchley, there would be a large congregation of ncople without any bells.
The Master (Canon C. E. Wigg) did not think there would be anj towers capable of holding the bells.
Mr. C. R. Mills (Faringdon) moved that the bells be offered to Stanford-in-the-Vale.
Mr. W. G. Wilson suggested that it be referred to the committee to talk about it.

Mr. W. Hunt commented that the Vale of the White Horse could do with a fill-up. There were only two other rings of eight in the Branch and these bells would give it a real boost.
Mr. C. F. Herbert (Banbury) thought that meeting was not the place to make a decision. and that both towers should be given an opportunity of expressing their opinions.

Mrs. Rance then moved that the matter be referred to the General Committee for a complete discussion. Mr. Hunt seconded, and chis was agreed to.

TROPHY FOR STRIKING

At the annual meeting it was suggested that a trophy should be purchased for the striking competition. Mr. Butler said he had made inquiries about cups and it was suggested that one suitable could be purchased for $£ 15$.

The Master, the treasurer and Mr. Butler were appointed to report.

Mrs. Rance, however, felt unhappy. "1s there any point in going forward with this when the diocese is going to be divided?" she asked.
The Master: We cannot tell what is going to be in the future.

Mrs. Rance: Would it not be wiser to wait until we know?

Mr. A. Diserens suggested that the decision bs left to the autumn mectiny. This was agreed to, but it was understood that the committee would meet in the meantime.

UNSEEN REPORTS.

The printed reports had not been distributed before the meeting, and Mr. A. D. Barker proposed that they were taken as read. While the meeting agreed to this, a point made by Mr. Butler that the right to comment on any of the reports be allowed at the autumn meeting was accepted.

The treasurer. nowever. was called upon to report on the finances and he said they were $\pm 30$ better off in the Giencral Fund, and the reserve fund was ahout $£ 80$ hetter off. Since then they bad paid $£ 500$ for the bells of St. Peter's-in-the-East and small amounts for insurance. dismantling and conveying the bells to a place of safety. If he did not get any money back for these bells he would have to pay another $£ 400$.

The report showed that the general funds of the Guild amounted to $£ 2.200$, of which $£ 1.835$ was in the Restoration Fund. The St. Peter's-in-the-East Fund now stood at $£ 238$, but this had not been included in the Guild General Fund.

SAME TEAM OF OFFICERS

The officers were re-elected as follows:Master, Canon C. E. Wigg: Deputy Master. Mr. F. Sharpe : hon. treasurer. Mr. A. D. Barker: hon. general secretary. Miss R. M. Cross; hon. librarian. Rev. E. P. Wood; stewards, J. Baldwin (Wantage), W. Hunt (Newbury) and H. Oglesby (Burnham); report editor. Mr. P. Walker: Central Council representatives, Messrs. P. Walker, F. C. Price, H. J. Diserens and W. Butler.

The meeting confirmed the election of 287 new members during the year. "A very good haul." commented the Master. "My hope is that the fish will not slip out of the net. We welcome them into the fellowship of the Guild.'
A recommendation before the meeting was that the annual subscription be raised to 5 s . in 1969. The hon. general secretary reported that she had received a letter from the Central Bucks Branch objecting, and asking that the subscription be retained at the present figure of 3 s .6 d .
The matter was referred to the autumn meeting-

POINTS FROM THE REPORT

The Master, who had travelled 1,600 miles in attending 22 Guild meetings, called attention to the desire to revise the rules, but pointedly added: " Rules in themselves cannot, however, produce the kind of fellowship and mutual helpfulness which we should expect to find in an Association such as ours. I am convinced that the heart of the matter must be in the unselfish co-operation of individual ringers. The more we can meet together and get to know each other, the bettet will the professed objects of the Guild be served."

The Deputy Master, who visited six Guild branches and attended seven meetings. said he had been asked to report on bells and their gear in 20 churches in the diocese. Eight were in Berkshire, four in Buckinghamshire and eight in Oxfordshire. There were three instances of cower oscillation and four of major structural damage to masonry by defective bell gear. Nine towers sought advice on rehanging their bells, two on recasting, three on augmentation and 12 on sound control.

The hon. general secretary's report of the varied activities of the Guild stated that the division of the diocese and its effect on the Guild was discussed at the Branch secretaries: meeting. The ieports from the Branches indicated that it was generally felt at that time that it would weaken the efficiency of the Guild if it were divided into three to correspond with the proposed new diocese.

Another matter discussed was the charge made by some P.C.C.'s for peal attempts in their towers. The officers of the Guild said they would do what they could about the fees but that it was a question for the parishes concerned to decide. It was pointed out that if the fees were imposed in an effort to limit the ringing then a simple "No" by the incumbent would be just as effective. or. alternatively, the limitations of the number of attempts allowed per year.
The membership of the Guild was given as: Life 32, honorary 59, ringing 1.762. During the year 31 non-resident life members had heen elected and there had been 17 losses by death.

THE SERVICE

The service in the Cathedral had the traditional dignity. It was an imposing procession of robed ringers who formed the choir headed by the Deputy Master, who acted as crucifer In front of the clergy the Guild banner was carried. Mr. Kemsley. from Winslow. was the organist, but the number of boys from his choir attending was depleted through an outbreak of chickenpox. The service was conducted by the Master, the Deputy Master read the lesson and the preacher was from the North Berks Branch. the Rev. Sidney Allso. of Radley. The singing was full-throated-a gladsome noise- and the service started with the ringers' hymn. "Unchanging God. who livest."
The Vicar of Radley, in his address, said that he was not going to talk about bells. as they knew far more about that subject than he did. but what he was going to do as a parish priest was to express the appreciation of all parish priests in the diocese for what bellringers had heen doing for many years and were continuing to do. It was a source of real encouragement and inspiration to see a group

RANDWICK FESTIVAL ATTRACTS DISTANT TEAMS

THE Stroud meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Association at Randwick on June 15 th combined with the fourth annual Randwick Handbell Festival, and after a service at the Parish Church proceedings were transferred to the Archway School, Paganhill Among the guests of honour was Miss E. Harper, of Stockport. who had recently given the 2nd bell of the Randwick ring of six. recently augmented by two trebles.
Other guests included Mr. John Slater. from the Whitechapel Bell Foundry. Mr. Charles Rouse, the secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, and Mr. John Partington, the secretary of the Handbell Ringers of Great Britain, who explained the work of that Association. The secretary and main organiser of the Festival was Mr. Edward Cribley, who is also Ringing Master of the Stroud Branch.
He also arranged for the tape recording of the afternoon's music.
Many of the handbell teams had come from a considerable distance. In previous meetings at Randwick Village Hall each team had come up to the stage to play its repertoire for the day, but with the increased space available at the Archway School each ieam was able to remain by its own table, for which toam rubber covers had been kindly given by Mr. Gibbard, the leader of the High Wycombe teitm, Altogether nearly 100 handbell ringers were present and at least as many non-ringers were in the audience, so that well over 200 persons. more than expected, were present oll this sunny and warm afternoon. The teams included the Leigh Sinton Handbell Ringers directed by Frank Barnett, from near Worcester; St. Andrew's, Shrivenham, near Swindon, who brought some interesting and melodious Dutch bells: two teams from Bredon, Worcestershire (the Junior team and the "Old Crocks "); Stokesay Handbell Ringers, from near Craven Arms, Shropshire; a team from High Wycombe, directed by Mr. Gibbard; and the Charnwood Handbell Ringers, from near Loughborough. The other teams were of more local origin, namely the Bisley Handbell Ringers, iwo teams from Whitminster Primary School, Mr. Cyril Wratten's team from Cheltenham, who demonstrated advanced change ringing, Tewkesbury C. of E. Primary School, who gave an interesting demonstration of plain hunting with the ringers themselves moving positions. Mr. Alec Howell, of Stonchouse. with his home-made carillon. Rich's Ringers, from Haresfield, and the Amberly W.I. Ringers. The music, as might be expected, produced a considerable variety of entertainment. The most frequently submitted piece this year was "Edelweiss" from "The Sound of Music," though not all the teams had a chance to play it!

The Festival is non-competitive, and next year's Festival has also been arranged for the Archway School on July 5th. However, as the Stroud Branch meeting at Randwick and the Handbell Fiestival are now both capable of standing on their own feet, they will be held on separate days so that handbell ringing can start much earlier in the afternoon, without the need for a church service as well.
Tea was also served at the school, the cater ing arrangements being made by Mr. P. Blanch of Paganhill Bakery, and the tea was served by 4 number of ladies under the direction of Mrs. J. Cribley.

Inquiries from teams who would like to join up with next year's Festival will be welcomed at any time. Information can be obtained from Mr. E. Cribley, Winter's Fold, France Lynch, Stroud, or from Randwich Vicarage.

of people give their time and to discipline rhembelves to enjov themselves as a team. es. pecially today, when they found that many of their ringers were young people.
Opinions had changed over the past 20 yeurs. When he then went to his first incumbency it was his tirst contact with bells and ringers. Then all their ringers were elderly people and that applied to the majority in the Diocese of Lincoln. Today in his own parish there was a preponderance of young people who imposed upon themselves self-discipline to work as a team. This was the same as existed among people who played chamber music together or in an orchesira-self-discipline and hard work.

Another reason was that bells made a joyful noise, and Sunday by Sunday they were making known in the parish that there was not merely a meeting but a group of people had met is ring and praise God together. The bells rang out and made a joyful noise and incumbents were very grateful to bellringers who turned out Sunday by Sundav. . Thank you very much.'

CARE FOR OTHERS

"Now 1 want to refer to a danger that faces all of of us. I don't want to see your ringing just as an end in itself. Go on being keen ringers and try to be more and more proticient, but remember it is just one department of your life as a Christian. What the world needs today among all Christians is to recapture what Our Lord said. to care for other people. You remember those two great commandments-duty to God and to other people. It means not only to sec all the prohlems of life. but all the people in this world as God's people and then try and care for them as God cares for you. Although we give proportion of our time to worship. remember this is a small part of our lives as follawers of Our Lord Jesus Christ.

What people need is this world today is to be treated as individuals. There are many more people with troubles and anxieties than ever before, and it is sad to see that the Church is not a unit of people in which they can unburden themselves and get rid of their worries. I regard as the most important people in the world today those who care.

Enjoy your ringing: give your time to it so that you can be disciplined to give your time, your prayers and your worship. bur above all don't forget to give some of your time to otber people.

THE LUNCHEON

The luncheon in Christ Church Hall was preceded by a social gathering. The toast ot "The Queen, the Visitor of Christ Church:" was honoured on the call of the Master. Mr. Noel Diserens submitted the toast of "The Visitors." This was responded to by Mr. Philip Gray. who said it was al very greal pleasure to come to Oxford because one had the opportunity of seeing a Diocesan Guild very well run and also seeing how a festival should be run. He did not know anywhere in the county where it was done better. It was also his privilege to thank the Guild for the welcome to the visitors and for the ringing opportunitie, given at the Festival. This was not the only Guild Festival-there would be one at Bristol on October 28th, when they would huve more ringing bells than Oxford.

Mr. Gray said he would like to say a few words about the future. What did a Guild like this expect to achieve in 25 years' timc. because it was 25 years since he became a member of the Guild. The thing about ringing uas that it was a basic art which went on for 52 Sundays in a year. The hardest thine in ringing was not to ring complicated methods but to ring on 52 Sundays a year.

ENDED RURAL ISOLATION

During the past is years the world about them had changed and ringing had changed and made a great advance. Tho thing, that had affected ringing were higher education and the motor car. Probably why Oxford last year whs a leading Association was its pioneering path in higher education. and the motor car had enabled more people to learn with less difficulty. What was more, the motor car had ended that dreadful isolation from which so many rural towers had suffered.

Higher education had had its influence by the development of improved teaching methods of ringing and by the holding of ringing courses. He thought the first course was held in Somerset ten years ago. and now they had heard from the Central Council that there was an offer to provide films, secords and film strips.

contimued

A change in recent times had been the advance of the affluent society and whatever they might think, there was now a much higher standard of life. He did not think this had happened in the belfry; one must admit that there were a great many ringing rooms which were not much better than pig sties, and if the ringing room was dirty, what was it like higher up in the tower? Their belfries should be very much better and their bells muintained at a standard of engineering that they required in other walks of life.

There had also been the development of management technique and he expected some of them had been on courses. They should run their belfries and Branches in a businesslike manner.

HELPFUL PUBLICITY

The Master, in reply, called attention to the series of articles in the "Oxford Times" about bellringing that had been a great help to the Guild. He thanked their hard-working editor (Mr. P. Walker) for a very good report and congratulated Mr. Alan Pink on conducting his 500th peal for the Guild.

Proposing the vole of thanks. the Deputy Master said first and foremost were the Dean and Chapter for the free use of the Cathedral ind that hall: then there was the steward (Mr. Lewington) and his staff and the Cathedral staff (Mr. Holloway head verger): the Oxford clergy and the caplains of ringers for the use of bells. and Mr. P. Walker, who made the ringing arrangements; Mrs. Kemsley (from Winslow), the organist; Miss Daphne Pollard for sale of tickets: and finally the general secretary and the general treasurer.

Continuing, Mr. Sharpe said for the past 12 months there had appeared in "The Ox. ford Times" a series of articles by Keith Robinson on bells and their ringers and he had emphasised the part young people paid in their ringing and church life. This had brought about a tremendous amount of interest in bells and had resulted in his book, "Church Bells of Oxford." being sold out except for Parts II and IV. He advised ringers wanting to read the book to borrow either from the Guild Library or the Central Council Library.

Mr. T. J. LOCK COMPLETES IN $40 \frac{1}{2}$ YEARS

WIDESPREAD congratulations have been extended to Mr. T. J. Lock, of North Mymms, on ringing his $1,000 \mathrm{th}$ peal. The happy event took place at Willesden, and in the band was his great friend from "down under." Mr. T. W. Goodyer, and his assistant secretary of many years standing in the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, Miss Ruth Foreman.
Tom learned to ring at Woolton Hill, Hants, in 1924 and was taught by Mr. H. Ballam, who now lives at Basingstoke. About this time he was attending Newbury Grammar School but in 1927 he moved to London and was articled to a quantity surveyor. He was fortunate to become attached to the Willesden tower and it was here that he rang his first and his 1,000 th peal: the actual date of his first peal was December 20th, 1927.
He moved among a distinguished coterie of ringers and Tom acknowledges with gratitude that he benefited early on throuph such ringers as the Kilby brothers. William and George Pye, C. T. Coles. J. A. Trollope, E. C. S. Turner: G. W. Fletcher and C. W. Roberts and, more recently, A. Cutler and J. R. Mayne.

His record of service to the Middlesex County Association is conspicuous and the offices he has held are: N. and E. District Ringing Master 1935-1939, N. and E. District secretary 1939-1958, general secretary 1957 to date. He is a member of 38 ringing bodies.

So far he has rung in 978 towers and these are situated in England. Scotland. Wales. Ireland, Australia, New Zealand and America. In all but three of the counties in England he has rung peals which have been rung in 350 different towers and he has "circled " four eight-bell towers, one ten-bell and one 12-bell tower to peals.

Tom organised the Great Adventure II tour and proved to be a popular leader, unholding the best traditions of English ringing in a modest and dignified way.

His membershıp of the Central Council dates back to 1946, when he served for three years. He was re-elected as a representative of the Middlesex County Association in 1951 and has served continuously ever since. Upon the death of Mr. A. C. Hazelden he was appointed convener of the Biographies Committee. a position he still holds.

Tom and Kathleen Lock celebrated their silver wedding in 1966 and they have two sons. Mrs. Lock is a past president of the Ladies' Guild.

CHELTENHAM BRANCH STRIKING COMPETITION

The half-annual meeting and striking competition of the Cheltenham Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was held at Willersey (6) on June 29th. This was the first time the Cheltenham Branch had held a siriking competition and six bands entered, but unfortunately Prestbury had to withdraw on the day due to one of their band having been injured in an accident.

The test piece was 240 Minor or Doubles with at least 20 whole pulls of rounds either before or after. The bands were allowed a few minutes of rounds before the test piece to get the feel of the bells and to adjust the ropes if necessary. The Willersey hells went well although they caused some difficulty to the bands ringing Minor.

The St. Mary's. Cheltenham, team. captained by Mr. W. Farmer (Branch chairman). ringing Kent Treble Bob Minor. won the competition with 103 faults and will now represent the Branch in the Association competition to be held in September. The second team. also from St. Mary's, Cheltenham, and ringing Kent Treble Bob. captained by Mr. C. Wratten (Association treasurer), had 161 faults. Leckhampton (Stedman Doubles) were an unlucky third after a bad trip towards the end of their test piece spoilt some excellent striking (176). Chariton Kings (Grandsire Doubles) came fourth with 262 faults. The Willersey band did not picture in the judges. results owing to is calling error.

During the afternoon ringers not competing went on to Childswyckham (6) to ring or listen to the competition in the churchyard. The Willersey church fete was also held on the same afternoon and a band of young ringers from Bishop's Cleeve entertained the visitors with tunes on handbells.
The competition ringing was followed by a service taken by the Rev. Peter Newing. with Mr. Barnaby Bell as organist. Afterwards an enjoyable tea, prepared by ladies of the village, was served in the Vicarage garden.
Miss E. M. Bliss (Association chairman) rook the chair for the half-yearly meeting. Mr. H. Schofield, who was assisted in the judging by Mr. G. Drew, then gave the results and commented on the striking of the various teams. The meeting decided to accept a challenge from the Cirencester Branch to play them at skittles and, as the Association Ringing Master was going to captain the Cirencester Branch. Miss E. M. Bliss was asked to captain the Cheltenham Branch Votes of thanks were passed to the ladies who had prepared the tea and also to the judges.

THE SELECT BAND

With Mr. T. J. Lock completing his 1,00W peals there are now 30 ringers who have rung 1,000 peals. Of these, 12 are allive.
Alive: H. E. Audsley, P. J. Border, J. Bennett, A. P. Cannon, W. J. Cotton, C. E. Fearn, N. Golden, E. Jenkins, T. J. Lock, J. L. Mllbouse, W. F. Moreton and C. W. Roberts.

TRURO GUILD FESTIVAL

The idyllic surroundings of St. Winnow Church, on the east bank of the Fowey River. provided a perfect setting for the Summer Festival of the Truro Guild on July 6th. Throughout the afternoon and early evening the sound of the oells echoed through the valley to rounds, call changes, Doubles Cambridge and London Minor.
St. Winnow, in common with others towers in this rather isolated part of Cornwall, is not affiliated to the Guild, having strong association with the South Eiast Cornwall Association. with its raditions of competitive ringing. The welcome accorded to the Guild was indicative of the more unified thinking of the two bodies, and this provided the theme for a fine address from the Vicar, Canon H. Miles Brown. Himself a ringer, he recalled learning to ring at St. Nicholas", Saltash. which was originally a stronghold of prize-ringing, and he also learned half-pull change ringing at St. Andrew's, Plymouth, under the guidance of the late Tom Myers. Canon Miles Brown explained, therefore, that he had experience on both sides and was able to draw a parallel of the growing tolerance between the two types of ringing and the modern movement towards unity between all branches of the Christian Church.
The perfect summer weather enabled Mrs. Brown and her helpers to serve tea on the Vicarage lawn. The 70 Guild members attending immensely enjoved a social hour in these beautiful surroundings, with a magnificent vicw over the church to the river beyond at full tide

Other towers were open for ringing and the hells of Lanteglos-by-Fowey. St. Veep. Bradoc. Lostwithiel and Lanlivery were all sounded by the Guild members attending, those members being representative of all the six Branches of the Guild.

101 T.B. METHODS

Dear Sir.-It is a pity that Mr. Poole did not check his figures before writing 10 " The Ringing World "' (see letter. page 522). If he had done so he would have found that the half-lead change of Ely Delight is 16 . and that of Whatton-in the-Vale 36. Also. of course. with a lead-head of 65324 the method would not appear in the C.C. Collection.
A small point about the peal in question is that it was rung on the 31st and not May 3rd. as published. - Yours faithfully.

AN 80-YEAR-OLD IN WASHINGTON'S PEAL OF MAJOR

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-1$ have only just returned from my visit to An!erica and Canada and have seen the report of the peal rung at Washington (page 470) Having met Rick Dirksen. I am not surprised at the very factual way the peal was reported. He gave me the impression of being a very friendly person but of a rather retiring disposition.
In the first place, there were seven "firsts," all by local ringers. Secondly, even here in Engati- with all the assistance that is available $1 t$ is considered quite an accomplishment to conduct a peal of Major for the first time, and Rick called this with all the assurance of a veteran. Thirdly, all seven are to be congratulated on the way they handled their ropes and sustained concentration during the whole of the peal-evidence of the standard their various instructors inculcated, especially the value of knowing their course bells.

There were three occasions on which the peal might have been lost. One when a Cathedral guide opened a door, followed by a party of very talkative visiting clerics behind him; this brought a sharp exclamation from the conductor. (The gate at the hottom of the lift had previously been carefully locked.) Another when the clock boomed the hour of four. The peal was rung with the bells muffled, only the small hammers being in operation. Another when the ringer of the seventh in a split second replied "Yes" to a query.
At my time of life (80) one is not supposed to be bashful, but on the call "Stand" to see six young ladies waving their arms and kicking their legs in the air, full of ecstatic excitement and using their lungs to some purpose. was a p!easing scene I had not previously experienced. I must admit 1 mvself felt very elated. A red-letter day for all.
Congratulations-a good peal well rung.Yours faithfully.
G. R. GOODSHIP.

SAFETY IN TOWERS

Dear Sir.-A most unfortunate accident happened recently on a visit to a Somerset tower by members of the Exeter Cathedral band of ringers. The rope used to suspend the ropes used for ringing, in the centre of the tower. slipped off its hook and the heavy weight attached to it fell on the head of the Ringing Master (Mr. F. Wreford), causing injury which necessitated a hospital visit for five stitches to be inserted in the skull, an accident which might have killed a child.
On visiting the next tower a similar arrangement was found. and in addition to the rope hooks suspended some 15 feet above the ringing chamber floor was an iron marling spike (point downwards) with a thin piece of wire supporting this and the eight ropes.
The accident could well have been avoided. and I sincerely hope that all towers with this type of rope arrangement will without delay make sure that the end of the suspending rope is permanently fixed to a wall fitting so that in the event of the rope not heing properly hooked into position the centre rope hooks can drop no further than. say, seven feet from fleor level.-Yours sincerely,

N, MALLETT.

A BIRSTALL EPISODE

Dear Sir,-After a disgusting episode in the belfry of our church on Sunday evening, July 7 th . I feel that 1 must point out this behaviour.
On the Sunday in question a group of ringers came into our church and practically took over the evening's ringing whilst my own band had to stand on one side. They did not
(a) Introduce themselves;
(b) Ask permission to ring;
(c) Stay to the service (which seems the common practice today anyway);
(d) Thank us for the privilege of being able to ring.
I have no idea who these people are or where they come from; all that I know about them, by overbearing their talk, is that they were an organised group of ringers who were ringing in various towers in Leicestershire.
It might be asked why I said nothing to them regarding this matter, but in a downstairs ring in full view of the church congregation and the church dignitaries one does not start an argument. This certainly would not have happened had it been our practice night.
Prior to this incident I have never had sympathy with towers who do not allow visitors to have a ring, but if this happens to be the conduct of some visiting ringers one can not entirely blame them. However, may I assure all future visitors to Birstall that, as in the past. there will always be a warm welcome. - Your faithfully,
J. M. MORLEY,

Tower Captain.
St. James the Great, Birstall. Leics.

DEDICATION DATES

Dear Sir,-1 was most surprised to see in your report that the Prestbury (Cheshire) bells had been dedicated on June 29th. I was rather disappointed as I fully intended to go to this service. Surely the local band or the church authorities could have published the dedication date! The open day fixed for July 27th does not suit me and probably will not suit others; however, the fact remains that 1 would have liked to have been at the dedication. The presence of the Bishop of Chester alone demanded a good gathering and I sincerely hope this was achieved! May 1 appeal to all ringers to publish the dates of the dedication or rededication of their bells?-Yours faithfully.

JOE THORNLEY.
Bolton.

APOLOGIES OVER BENINGTON

Dear Sir,-I -wish to apologise to those ringers who travelled to Benington on July 6th for their disappointment at finding no meeting in progress. It was found necessary to cancel the meeting after submitting the advertisements to "The Ringing World." Despite clear instructions asking for the first notice to be withheld it appeared in the issue of June 28th.
Further instructions were hastily dispatched to prevent publication of the second notice a week later. These were evidently delayed in the post by the work-to-rule on the railways.Yours faithfully.

A STAPLEFORD ECHO

Dear Sir,-The appearance of a further letter concerning the Stapleford incident is surprising, particularly as the author claims to be against further publicity for the matter. However, since he has seen fit to raise it again. may I make one or two further observations.

While, of course, the opinions of bellhangers' representatives will generally be accepted, nobody imagines that they have a monopoly of expertise in these matters. Certainly cases such as Stapleford, where professional recommendations apparently appear to some ringers, rightly or wrongly, to be, so to speak, ill-founded, cannot lend strength to the apparent claim for a "divine right" to pronounce finally on the desirability of ringing at certain towers.

The damage to the chime hammers is obviously to be deplored but it is nothing to do with the condition of the tower or bells, only the carclessness, under, some stress one suspects, of those ringing them. It would have been more to the point and far more interesting if, instead of this seeming attempt to cloud the issue with an item which should have been included in the original and obviously hasty report, we could have been told just what might be the effect of ringing on the bells and their tower.

That the parish has so few people that it cannot afford the "restoration "--whatever that entails-is a familiar story. One would have thought that in ten years, even if they have not managed a startling increase in population, they might have saved enough cash to get some work under way. Edington. not so very far away on the other side of the Plain. has a population of only 500 or so greater!

Fund-raising is, nevertheless, a problem and one wonders if it is not time that ringing Associations and Guilds-one hesitates to suggest the Central Council. who seem to have enough problems !-got down to some constructive work in this field to assist the Church's responsibility to some of its less fortunate rings. Their present purpose seems, with few exceptions, to be primarily bodies for whom peals may be rung, which to some might appear to have little connection with the purpose of church bells or the work of the church.

In conclusion, sir, may 1 echo your correspondent's appeal for common sense, congratulate him on having rung at this tower and look forward to the time when others may emulate him - Yours faithfully,

JOHN C. SAWTELL.
Holt, Trowbridge.

RINGING ON THE IRISH SEA

Dear Sir,-The reference to handbell ringing on the lrish Sea (page 485) is interesting but is not a " first." I regret I know little of what earlier ringing was done but I recollect the late William Short, of Clent, Wores, telling me that he once went over to Ireland and that he and some others rang handbells on the ship. He told me this in about 1935 but I do not know how many years before that the ringing took place.-Yours sincerely.

CYRIL CHAMBERS.
Durban, S.A.
P.S.-If my memory serves me correctly, the method was Stedman Caters, and a full peal was rung-C.C.

Letters-continued  OAKHAM TENOR

Dear Sir,-After reading the letter in " The Ringing World" of July 12 th on "Diameter No Guide to Tenor's Weight," I was particularly interested in the remarks made by Mr. $P$. Amos concerning the weight of Oakham tenor. I am afraid he has not got all his facts straigh: concerning this ring. Having been acquainted with it for over 50 years, I think there is a misunderstanding as regards the weight of the tenor.

In 1910, from the information I have, the old ring of elght was in a poor condition, as also were the trame and fittings. This resulted in a complete restoration, which was entrusted to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston of Croydon. The eight bells were recast in December, 1910 , and rehung in a new iron frame and dedicated on February 24th, 1911, the tenor weighing 22 cwt. 3 qr. 8 lb . in E flat.

In the early $1920^{\prime}$ s a very unfortunate incident occurred which necessitated the recasting of the tenor by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the new bell being 24 cwt . 2 qr. 9 lb. the weight of the present day tenor, and not 22 cwt. 3 qr. 8 lb , as Mr. Amos claims. At this time the founders were not too happy about the 7 th bell and decided to recast her at the same time. The bells are a magnificent eight, and I was privileged to ring on them when a schoolboy at Oakham, although the opportunities were limited. Often I had my thoughts diverted from my late evening studies on practice nights by the lovely music of Stedman Triples coming from the spire some 100 yards away,-Yours faithfully.

VECTIS SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,-Reported on page 549 of " The Ringing World ", issue of July 12th, 1968, is a peal of 5,056 Vectis Surprise Major, the first peal in the method. Using the place notation accompanying the peal report I confirmed that the false course heads quoted as $b, d$ and $o$, are correct. However, the composition used has confused me. We are told the composition was one by Richard F. B. Speed. We are also told it is composition "Wratten No. 30 ." On looking through Cyril Wratten's "Collection of Surprise Compositions" I find that composition No. 30, although suitable for certain $B$ Group methods. is neither suitable for b. d, o combination of false course heads nor is it composed by Richard Speed! Wratten No. 30 is in fact composed by the late A. J. Pitman and is suitable for the combination b. d. $k$ false course heads.

Perhaps Mr. Pink will enlighten us as to which composition he really used for the peal and also publish the figures for those interested. particularly since the Wratten Collection does not appear to contain a composition suitable for the $b, d$, o combination of f.c.h.'s-Yours faithfully,

R. ROGER SAVORY.

SURPRISE MINOR

Dear Sir,-Re Mr. Bishop's list (nage 542). all the 2nds place methods listed are at present unpealed and unnamed. I should like to hear, too. further details of the 4 ths place methods, especially as I believe that from each one can he evolved two methods (variations?) one with 2nds place bob and one with a 6ths place bob. - Yours faithfully,
D. C. JACKSON.

Unusual Accident

on Exeter Cathedral Outing

THE Exeler Cathedral ringers held their annual outing on July 6th. Normally this is quite routine and the usual practice of assembly at a point and being conveyed from tower to tower with the usual enjoyable ringing is followed This year we started to follow this pattern and we duly arrived at Bridgwater to ring at the church, but although the door was open there was no one to meet us. We waited patiently for 20 minutes but no one arrived and so we assumed that because the door was open we were expected bui that they were unable to meet us. Accordingly, we carefully made sure that the chimes were free and prepared to lower tho ropes, which were connected to the ceiling on a hook, as is the custom in many towers. We were collected, of course, in the tower and the coil was released to lower the ropes, but what we did not know was that the hook was heavily weighted with a core of iron two inches thick and about three inches long. This came as such a surprise to the man handling the rope that it was pulled way from his hand and unfortunately our Ringing Master, Fred Wreford. was immediately under the spot and the weighted hook crashed on his head. This necessitated hospital treatment and the insertion of five stitches in his scalp.

This 1 aised two morals in my mind: first of all. one should never interfere in a tower without the local representative being there to supervise the safety precautions, and secondly, great care should be taken by the people who install these collecting devices that they are not a hazard to people in the tower. In this particular case we had written to the Ringing Master of the tower, who had given permission properly. He had also been reminded that we would be arriving on this day but, unfortunately, he had not noted the engagement in his diary and did not appear at the tower until ten minutes before we had finished ringing.

This unfortunate incident made us examine very carefully the rope collecting system, in the subsequent towers at Cheddar, Congresbury, Chew Magna and Yeovil. At Congresbury (unless it has been changed since we were there) we found that the weight used to bring down the hook from the ceiling was in fact an iron marling spike. Without a shadow of doubt if this incident had happened at Congresbury Fred Wreford would not be alive loday. It makes you shudder when you think of the damage it could do.

We are happy to say, in this case. that although Fred must have had a very severe headache he recovered sufficiently to enjoy the ringing at the next four towers and did full justice to the very good lunch at the Bath Arms Hotel in Cheddar and the wonderful tea provided at the Blue Boar Hotel at West Harptree.

All the towers visited had heavy rings and in general we rang the standard methods of Grandsire. Stedman and Plain Bob. The ringing was of quite a good standard and we were particularly pleased with the three leads of Bristol at Chew Magna and the Stedman Caters at Yeovil. We joined the party of ringers from Wrington and Cambridge Royal was attempted but could not be got under way.

We had quite a few youngsters in the party and it was a very pleasing thought that they enjoyed their day so very much without causing an annoyance to anyone, compared with the group of young people outside the Yeovil church who were making a nuisance of themselves to all and sundry because they had nothing better to do.

It was jointly agreed that the outing had been a great success and we are very grateful to the incumbents for their permission to ring the bells.

MALVERN LINK'S NEAR-NORMAN ARCHITECTURAL TOUR

Five cars containing ringers from Malvern Link. Worcestershire, and their friends had a half-day's outing in neighbouring Herefordshire on July 13th.

The aim of the outing was not only to ring in a number of new towers but also to admire the architectural beauty of some of the Herefordshire churches.

The first church visited was at Abbey Dorea magnificent Early English building. This was a Cistercian abbey-dissolved in 1535and all that remains are the crossing, transepts, chancel and adjoining chapels. The interior fittings date from the 17 th century, when the church was restored, and the whole is a perfect example of Early English architecture and 171h century fittings. The small south-east tower contains a light ring of six by Rudhall. Not so far away is the famous small Norman church at Kilpeck-known to all students of architecture. Unfortunately it has no tower or ringable bells.
From Abbcy Dore the party wound its way along the beautiful Golden Valley to Peterchurch to ring on the very good Taylor six. This church. in what is a rather unattractive linear-like village, is almost pure Norman, with double chancel, an apse. but no aisles to the nave. Here the local Vicar met the party and the offertory from the ringers was received by him. The next tower (again a ring of six) was at Madley. This is a superb 13 th and 14 th century sandstone church which, like the other churches. was very well kept. The bells did not do iustice to the church and the bell frame moved rather alarmingly when the bells were rung. There is a local band though, and they are to be congratulated in keeping the bells ringing.
Most members of the party then had a picnic tea, in spite of rather inclement weather, and then met again at Hereford Cathedral with its Norman and Early English architecture and its unfortunate West Front by Wyatt in 1786 . In spite of the long climb to the ringing chamber. one baby was carried up there in her carry-cot and slept quite peacefully for nearly an hour Here the touring band were met by some of the local Cathedral band. which meant that Grandsire and Stedman Caters could be rung.

Incumbents and local ringers are thanked for allowing the Link ringers the privilege of ringing their bells, and the next half-day architec. tural-cum-ringing venture is anticipated with pleasure.

OUTINGS

SPALDING RINGERS AT YORK MINSTER

Ringers and their friends from Spalding and district had a very pleasant outing on July 6th. Leaving Spalding at 7 a.m., at 10.1539 people alighied at St. Nicholas' Church, Thorne, near Doncaster. Plain Bob and Stedman were rung on the eight bells with Bernard Tyrrell as captain. Our nexi stop was at St. Stephen's, Acomb, where Derek Jones conducted London, Cambridge and Kent on the light six.

Members made their own arrangements for lunch in York and then journeyed to Huntington for various touches on the six bells at All Saints' under the guidance of Cyril Burrell.

The highlight of the day was the opportunity to ring for an hour at York Minster before the Diocesan Choirs Festival at 6 p.m. Ron Noon conducted courses of Grandsire Cinques and Kent Maximus; beginners and less experienced ringers had their opportunity to ring rounds on the 12 .

On the return journey a stop was made at St. John's, Scunthorpe (8), where Frank Taylor conducted. Supper was much appreciated in Lincoln at 9.30 , and the tired but happy party reached Spalding just before midaight.

Ou: thanks go to those who met us, and Ron and Joy Noon, who with help from Derek Jones made all the arrangements.

LIVERPOOL'S POST-EXAMS OUTING

Liverpool University Society went into Flintshire for their annual post-examination outing. Hawarden's was the first tower. where Martin Snape and the veteran Merseyside ringer, Joe Ridyard. joined the party.

At Flint a course of Bristol was successfully completed on the tiny eight. Permission had been granted to ring at Halkyn but the key could no! be found. so the lunch hour was spent befriending farmyard animals.

Before ringing at Northop the Society watched the village cricket team and later. during the lowering of the bells, no less than three batsmen were out. We hope this was not a refluction on the standard of our striking!

Other towers visited were Hope (6) and Buckley (8). where methods ranged from Grandsire Triples to a number of Surprise Major. The party then made its way back to Liverpool. Thanks are due to the secretary for his organisation of the towers and weather. No one elsc had such faith in the sun. P.J.

READING LNIVERSITY AT

 LOUGHBOROUGHR.U.S.C.R. regard their outing to Loughborough and Leicester on June 19th as the most suocessful for a long time. An early start was made at 7.45 a.m. and morning ringing was at St. Edmund's, Northampton.

After lunch came a conducted sour of the bell foundry with an opportunity to ring the bells. We failed to ring a half-course of Cambridge Royal (the pièce de résistance of the outing): Stedman Caters and Grandsire Triples were successful.

All Saints', Loughborough, was regarded as the highlight of the outing. Although members of the local band said we rang the bells well, we ourselves felt that full justice was not done to them, even though touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters were rung quite well.

Gill's home tower, at Great Birstall, was then visited. Here the select band rang their Spliced Surprise (Quedgeley, Cambridge and Yorkshire) while the rest had to be content with Grandsire and Plain Bob. Our final lower was St. Margaret's. Leicester. and the outing ended with a sit-down meal in Leicester hefore the coach trip back to Reading and work!

USK OUTING

On a glorious summer's day. Saturday. June 29th, a coachload of ringers and friends left Usk on their annual outing, which this year was in Somerset.

Our first stop was at Chew Magna, where we found it a little dificult to get the true music from the heavy ring. At Midsomer Norton we were met by friends and thoroughly enjoyed our ring. After a leisurely lunch we went on to Warminster. Here the bells are immediately above the ringing chamber, so there is no excuse for even the slightest trip.

Following a cream tea our first stop for the evening was at Beckington. The Rev. H. T. Davies took a break from his gardening to greet us and lead the Belfry Office. The weight of these oleasant bells being much like our own brought the ringing back 10 standard. The day finished at Holy Trinity. Bradford-on-Avon. and thence across the road to the Castle. We had a very enjoyable day and our thanks are due to all those who made us so welcome at their towers.
" HANGER-ON."

FRAMSDEN AND DISTRICT OUTING

Some 1.3 parishes were represented at the annual coach outing of Framsden ringers on June 29th. Towers visited were Croydon (12). St. Peter's, Croydon (10). Westerham, Wrotham and Rochester Cathedral. Some of the party had their first ring on 12 bells. Methods rung included Boh Maximus, Cambridge Royal, Stedman Caters. Camhridge Major. Boh Major and rounds Special thanks to Mr. Richard Stevens, who arranged practically the whole outing.
14. What is the maximum number of consecutive dodges on the front (or the back) of a Surprise Major method?
15. St. Lawrence Bob is a method which extends through all stages from its basic stage-Minor. It can be described as all wrong hunting above the treble and plain hunting below with an internal halflead pivot place. The Minor stage is called by a different name (undoubtedly older). what is this?
16. Yorkshire Surprise Major could be described as Cambridge Major above the trebie and Cambridge Minor below. What Surprise Royal method could be described as Cambridge Royal above and Cambridge Minor below?
17. London Surprise Minor is ofter described as having the maximum amount of wrong hunting for a Treble Bob type method. Could this property be ascribed to London Surprise Major?
18. What is the name of the Plain Minor method with the maximum amouni of wrong hunting?
19. Right place plain even-bell methods may be converted to the next odd number by adding a bell in the hunt. Usually the new method so formed bears the same, or similar, name as its parent. e.g. Single Oxford Bob Minor-Oxford Bob Triples: Double Norwich Court Major -Double Norwich Caters. There is one notable and historic exception to this naming system-what?
20. A Surprise Minor method, which has London below ihe treble and Cambridge above. unfortunately does not retain either London below or Cambridge above in its extensions. It has been pealed on tower- and handbells from Minor to Maximus. What method is this?

OBITLARY

REV. W. FAYLE PARR

Ringers from the Saxmundham district were grieved by the death on June 29th of the Rev, W. Fayle Parr. Rector of Benhall-with-Sternfield. aged 63 years. He was a most friendly man and was active as Rector of the two parishes.
Mr. Fayle Parr carned a first-class reputation: it was a privilege and pleasure for him to meet many ringers and to hear the bells he loved.

The funeral service rook place on July 5 th at Sternfield Church. when the Bishop of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich, the Rt. Rev. Leslie Brown. officiated. Neighbouring ringers honoured his memory with half-muffied ringing at St. Mary's. Benhall. on July 6th. when a quarter peal of Plain Bob Doubles was rung by Saxmundham ringers. A peal of Doubles in four methods was rung on July 8th hy the Aldeburgh company. The Rev. W. Fayle Parr will be remembered with affection and respect by those who knew him. H.A.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Writes "Oad Bater" (but not old-fashtoned): -The Ringing World does not want miniskirts, mini-minds or mini Miss Bellringers."

We regret the error in the heading on page 544. It should be "Colegate Society in Derbyshire."

The peal by a local band at All Saint.s. Stranton. Co. Durham. on July 6th, almosit qualities for the 60th anniversary of the first peal. This was rung on July 11 th, 1908.
Mr. W. F. Stenson informs us that the artucle on St. Mary's, Nantwich, featured in the issue of Julv 12 th , should bear the signature of Mr. Jack Bough, the towerkeeper, who has been ill most of this year.
The fourth bell in the quarter peal of Kent T.B. Major at Orton. Westmorland, on June 2ind (page 531) was rung by Mr. J. E. Burles. Our correspondent sends his apologies.
For a flower festival at Hordle. Lymington, Hants, on June 26th, ten flower variations of Doubles were rung. These were Columbine, Snowdrop, Narcissus, Anemone. Ranuncula, Forget-me-not, Evening Primrose, Dalfodil, Bluebell and Pinks. (From Dodd-Jones' Doubles Collection.)

A quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung at Gosfield on July 2nd to celebrate the marriage of Miss Susan Spinks to Mr. Raymond Brooker. Susan has been a faithful ringer at Gosfield since the bells were dedicated in 1963. and before the quarter neal Miss H. G. Snowden presented her with a coffee table from the Guild of Ringers.

We learn that Mr. Albert J. Hughes, of Bangor, Wales, has died. He was 87.

Mr. F. W. Lewis is compiling a list of peals rung at St. Mary's, Reading. He is anxious to tind details of the band who took part in a peal of Grandsire Triples on November 27ih, 1742.

We hear that Miss Jennifer Murohy is returning to her native Australia this month. We feel certain that she has many happy recollections of her visit. Mr. Philip M. J Gray conducted her farewell peal at Cromhall. Glos.
The band who rang in the peal at Eastchurch on July 13 th would like to associate with it the name of David Hunt. who was to have taken part in the attempt. His absence was due to a serious motor accident. Best wishes are extended to him for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Norman Mallett. tower captain at Heavitree. Ringing Master for the Exeter Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers and Assistant Ringing Master at Exeter Cathedral, is leaving Exeter to take up a new appointment in the Plymouth area.
We were pleased to receive a note with his added subscription from Mr. Tower R. Taylor, who has been & "Ringing World "Rubscriber since the first issue and took his first ringing paper in 1909. Now living at Copnor, Portsmouth. Mr. Taylor started ringing at St. Nicholas'. Harwich, in 1908, with A. J. Morris, A fine record!

CREWE TENOR WHEEL

The ringers of Christ Church, Crewe, consider that the paragraph heading on page 526, in the issue of July 5th, reading " Crewe Tenor Wheel Collapses" to be outrageous, a deliberate distortion of the truth and an attempt at sensationalism which should never have been submitted for publication.

It is true that the peal attempt came to grief after only a short period of ringing with the tenor wheel "partly broken, but to say that the wheel "collapsed" is to imply that the wheel was in a condition where it would give way at any time. From the appearance of the wood and the nature of the breaks it was obvious that the wheel was pulled apart; it did not fail-it was smashed !

In all probability the rope was allowed to slip the wheel at some point and the effort to recover control caused the damage. To say that a perfectly sound wheel collapsed is ridiculous; it throws unfounded suspicion on the stability of the other fittings in the tower and is an insult to the people who have maintained the bells over the years.

CREWE RINGERS.

"WRATTEN'S WRINGERS" 1968 TOUR

This year's tour promoted by Mr. Cyril Wratten resulted in 12 peals being scored and two failures. The intention was to ring ia peal in each of the Surprise Major methods in the Ringers' Diary, with Melbourne being substituted for Cambridge in honour of Tom Goodyer.
Unfortunately, Bristol was lost at Congleton after three-quarters of an hour. The other failure was Cambridge Royal at Macclestield. As a result 11 tower-bell peals were successfully rung of the 13 on the programme. A " bonus ;" peal of Kent T.B. Royal "in hand" (thanks to Bob Smith) helped to make up for the two losses.

SOUND CONTROL AT HEAVITREE

A successful experiment in sound control has recently been carried out at Heavitree, Exeter, Parish Church tower. The work has been necessary becausc of increasing complaints from residents of recently constructed houses in closo proximity to the church. $\Lambda$ form of permanent blocking was found to bc impracticable and excessive in cost Screens made to fit into each of the louvre openings, comprising $1 \frac{1}{2}$ inch thick polystyrene glued between half-inch thick marine railway on the weather side and half-inch blockboard on the tower side have been fitted. One side of the tower ras been completely blocked, two sides at two-thirds the height of louvres, and the fourth half-way.

The total cost was $£ 22$ and involved an hour's work to fit. The effect is equal to permanent blocking, with the advantage that the screens can be reduced in size if required, or removed for maintenance work to the tower. N. M.

ROSE OF ENGLAND T.B.

Fawley ringers like to keep abreast of the times. For the conferring of the accolade on Sir Alec Rose of Portsmouth, the method Rose of England Treble Bob was discovered in the four-way table of Treble Bob methods and was successfully attempted by the Fawley band without previous practice.

A SUSSEX WEDDING

The wedding took place at St. Mary the Virgin's, Felpham. on July 6th, between Miss Susan Marie Main, only daughter of Mrs. D. S. Main, and Mr. Patrick Martin Wills, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Wills. Both bride and bridegroom have been regular ringers at Felpham for five years.
The service was conducted by the Rer. Donald Manners and the best man was Mr. Philip Stevens, Ringing Master of the Western Division of the Sussex County Association. who was also married at this church 18 months ago.
At the reception. handbells were rung by Chichester ringers. and on Sunday. July 7th. a quarter peal of Minor was rung by the local band.

ASSESSMENT REDUCED THOUGH BELLS

A Surrey Valuation Court has reduced the rates assessment of Mr. Harold Bennett through the proximity of the church to his house.
His complaint is that the bellringers practise every Monday between 8 and 9 p.m. The church is opposite his house and when the uindows are open it is impossible to hear the television programme.
Another complaint: "Marriages. christenings and other activities. with cars coming and going and the litter of confetti, all amount to a diminishing of amenities."

LAVENHAM RINGERS IN BEDFORDSHIRE

Lavenham ringers had a very enjoyable day in Bedfordshire on July 13th. There was a good selection of towers-Woburn and Husborne Crawley in the morning and, after lunch at Goldington. Bromham and Kempston. We returned to Goldington for tea and a ring on the light six there before finishing the ringing programme at Biggleswade. Our thanks list includes the incumbents and the friends who met us, Mr. Jim Edwards, our guide for most of the day, and the organiser, Mr. Arthur Haynes.
M.T.S.

A SILENT IPSWICH TOWER

In honour of the 80il birthday of Mr. Frank E. Wiseman a peal was rung at Tuddenham. Suffolk, on July 6th. Mr. Wisemat has been captain at Rushmere for the last 40 years, and all the ringers taking part in the peal, with the exception of Mr. Alan Bridges, were from Rushmere.
St. Andrew's Church, Rushmere, is just outside Ipswich and caters for a large population, so much so that the seating capacity has been doubled and more money is still required to pay for the work. Whilst this was being done the bells and the tower were inspected professionally and it was found that major work was necessary to the bells and considerable work oh the tower. In view of the money due on the church extension it is impossible to put this latter work in hand in the immediate future and unfortunately ringing has had to cease.

LOOSE HEADSTOCKS AT HAVERFORDWEST

The attempt for the first peal of Major on the bells at Haverfordwest. Pembs, on July 6th was unsuccessful. After the quarter mark the seventh and, to a lesser degree, the tenor became increasingly difficult to ring and strike correctly and the bells were called round.
An inspection revealed the headstocks to be slightly loose and the seventh was also affected by woodworm. It is hoped that something mav be done soon to remedy the situation and make these bells a joy to ring.

AN AMERICAN TOUR

In another column we publish Mr. G. R. Goodship's (of Grundisburgh) impression of the peal of Major at Washington Cathedral. At Washington Mr. Goodship had the pleasure of ringing with Mr. Tom Goodyer and Mr. Frank Price. He also went to British Columbia and spent a pleasant evening with Mr. E. E. Lee at the Cathedral of the Holy Rosary, Vancouver. and a very interesting hour or two at Arundel Avenue with Mr. Izard after ringing at Victoria Cathedral, B.C.

"GO SLOW" COUNTERED BY

 AITRACTIVE ALTERNATIVEThe British Railways" "Go Slow" operating on July 6th necessitated the Farnham District finding an alternative to its Isle of Wight inding an ae energetic hon. secretary, Mrs. B. R. Simpson, was able to provide a trip along the Hampshire coast and into the New Forest
Our first call was to the ancient Abbey at Romsey, with the added attraction of the Rirdseyce view of the interior from the triforium gallery. Our next tower was at Lymington, which has a musical octave and maritime associations, and then on to Milford-on-Sea. Then Bournemouth for lunch and ringing on the eight at St. Peter's before visiting Christchurch Priory. An attraction to the uninitiated and ringers alike was to see through a glass panel in the door the great 12 bells turning in their massive wooden frame. Tea was then taken before a short journey to Sopley (with its light six) and then on to Ringwood, where ringing for the day ceased with the failing daylight. One more call-to revive those flagging energies and loosen human, other than iron, tongues; then homeward. tired but happy.

Thank you, Beryl.
R.B.

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION

There was a good attendance at an evening

 meeting of the Ilchester Branch on the goodgoing and musical eight at Huish Episcopi on July Sth. Ringing under the direction of Mr. Gordon Rendall (Branch Ringing Master) included rounds, call changes, Grandsire and Bob Doubles. Bob Minor. Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent T.B. Major. A touch of Grandsire by an all-ladies band was also rung. The Rev. W. W. Mee (Visar) conducted the Belfry Office and is thanked for a successfull and enjoyable evening.
ST. MARY'S, PETERBOROUGH, BANK HOLIDAY

SPRING Bank Holiday was a busy day for St. Mary's, Peterborough, ringers and their friends who joined them for their annual outing.
Arrangements for what has now become a very popular annual event were again in the hands of Geoff Davis, who made his usual thorough preparations to ensure that onr visit to West Suffolk went without a hitch.
By rising at the crack of dawn a surprising number of ringers reached St . Martin's, Fornham, for a 9 a.m. start. The $6 \frac{\mathrm{cwt}}{\mathrm{cw}}$ six were ideal starters for a long day's ringing and they sounded well to a good touch of Cambridge. Our second tower was a complete contrast, and the heavy five at Pakenham soon sorted us out and we managed nothing better than Plain Bob. The bells are anti-clockwise, although "Dove" does not list them as such. On then to Rougham, where the ringing chamber showed evidence of an active band and where Frank Sismey, our. Ringing Master for the day, kept things moving in his calm and capable manner.
Bury St. Edmunds was our next stop, and after several laps of the local one-way system most of us reached the Norman tower. As almost all of us are from six-bell towers we were a little apprehensive, but the bells were easy to manage and with plenty of rounds and some Plain Royal and Kent Major our hour was quickly over. The ringing chamber had been recently refloored with linoleum and looked very fine. We were delighted to find Ann and Bill Smith waiting for us at Bury.
An excellent lunch was served to over 30 at the Everard Arms and at the end Alf Waller donned his presidential hat and thanked Geoff Davis in a few well-chosen words which won approval from all present.
During the afternoon wo visited three eights. finding Horringer's a pleasant light ring, which we tapped along to Plain and Kent, and Long Melford, a little heavier, and again going well to these methods and Grandsire: Lavenham bells are so famous we almost dared not ring them and we did not do them justice.
After tea a nice light six at Cavendish went well to Norwich, und although Clare's eight were disappointing, the last tower of the day was at Haverhill, and these went nicely and the day ended as it began with some good ringing.
For several of us the ringing was continued the following evening, when we were allowed to ring ut St. Peter's, Walpole, during the world-famous flower festival. A very high standard of ringing was maintained in this beautiful marshland church and this was appreciated by the many visitors.
Our thanks to all incumbents and tower captains and local ringers who gave up their time to meet us and make our visit so enjoyable.

OBITUARY

MR. B. T. DAVIES
The death is announced of Mr. Benjamin T. Davies, parish organist and a bellringer for 60 years at Langynwyd, Glam. His son, D. Walford Davies, took part in an in zaemoriam peal on July 15 th.

MR. WILLIAM A. WOODS

The Suffolk Cuild regrets to report the passing of another of its members. Mr. W. A. Woods, on July 13th, at Woodbridge. Billy Woods was a contemporary and friend of Charles E. Fisher, whose death was recorded earlier this year.
A six- and eight-bell ringer of no mean abdility and a very precise striker. he did not score many penls. His name, though. was respected as a fine gentleman, both in Norfolk and in Suffolk, and we are the poorer for his passing. Our sympathy is extended to his family and the Woodbridge ringess.

REFLECTIONS BY AN AMATEUR BELL-HANGER

By G. K. DODD

LITTLE knowledge is a dangerous thing." We are constantly reminded of this in our daily lives, and in the case of amateurs attempting to rehang bells that have been derelict for many years a nasty accident could happen.
This is in fact the professional bellhangers' advice; they seldom attempt what we amateurs admit is only a "bodge up," but prefer to remove the frame and bells and start afresh. The result is usually a first-class job, and we ringers have the pleasure of ringing on bells that go well and when a recasting takes place also sound well.
But what of the many rings of bells that will never receive this attention? Already they must be near the 1,000 mark. Counting the four-bell towers, there are ten towers in Hampshire that are classified as unringablewhether genuinely so is a matter of doubt, but the only unringable tower to receive attention in the last few years has been Upper Clatford, a four-bell tower now augmented to a first-class six
The others remain silent, but in most cases they can produce bellhangers' estimates. In one case there were two different estimatesto rehang the bells or to hang them dead for chiming. The difference is large and I think they would favour hanging them dead. No attempt has been made to raise the money and the present stalemate is likely to continue for many years.
As one of these so-called amateurs I have visited and tried these bells. They could be rung, but not with safety. I have advised them to have, a professional job, but it is the usual story of more urgent needs.

LONDON EXAMPLES

Mr. Dennis Beresford, in his speech at the Cumberlands' dinner, urged his members to do something towards keeping these silent towers going in London, and let us face the fact that many of these towers are silent but not unringable.
1 have visited an eight-bell tower in London with a year's silence through lack of oil and one rope missing. Another only required repairs to two wheels. I am glad to see that there are some enthusiasts who are taking Mr. Beresford's words literally and getting on and doing the job. It is pleasing to note that in both these towers the enthusiasts have been back with bands to ring for service.
But this does not only apply to L.ondon. I visited two towers recently in Wiltshire, and it was quite apparent that the bells required oil. At the second one the verger told us that the bells had not been rung for over a year and this became apparent when rubbish year and this became apparent when rubbish fell on our heads when we raised this good-toned 16 cwt . six. It is a pity that the tower grabbers are not more active around here as they are mainly responsible for keeping the bells in country areas ringing, if only on odd occasions.

The bellhangers obviously frown, and in fact go further than that on occasions with the amateur bellhangers. If these so-called experts open a tower up after some years of silence and an accident happens, who is responsible? Therefore, if the founders are asked to make an inspection and there is the slightest element of doubt, it is only in their interest to condemn the bells as unsafe until something is done, and the only way to guarantee complete safety is to rehang the bells, as any frame movement could endanger the tower, and in some cases it has done so.

A HAMPSHIRE INCIDENT

This is one side of the picture. Now, to quote the other side, this is what happened. An 18 cwt. Hampshire six were not going after 45 years' silence. They were on occasions rung for service by a Guild band and the Rector was keen for them to be rung as often as possible. Many visitors tried them and they were available at most Guild funccions, Guild members rectifying faults as they developed. The "go" was not good; they were as is termed men's bells. Several quarter peals, however, were rung on them.
On the retirement of the Rector arrangements were under way to ring for the induction of his successor. The captain of the light six at the Rector's other tower advised against this on the grounds that as long as the bells were rung nothing would be done, but if we did not ring them be would raise the matter of rehanging before the P.C.C. and guaranteed to get them rehung.
We bowed to this request and for five years the bells remained silent, the new Rector firmly believing that they were unringable. He openly stated that he could never see the parish affording the cost. The District secretary took the matter up and a meeting with the architect was arranged. The bells were rung with the architect among them and then he asked "Why is it that you have been unable to ring them?"
Explanations were forthcoming and he said "Carry on as before," and he would, when the parish could afford it, advise rehanging. He added that it was better to ring them occasionally as they were than not at all. This applies to many rings of bells. There have been failures, as was the case of an Oxiord Guild tower. where three ladies were in a band that rang a bob course of Cambridge Minor on easy-going bells. When the expert was called in he said they bad square bearings and two missing stays.

Two other towers were investigated and passed over to the bellfounders; we hope that in years to come something will be done.
What is the action to take? I think this depends on the person who is making the survey and the condition of the bells. Most of my doubtful jobs have been with the church architect present at my request. (By doubtful I mean long years of silence.) I could quote cases but most of these have been published ir " The Ringing World."

THOSE WITH NO KNOWLEDGE

I strongly advise that ringers with no knowledge of bellhanging should not attempt to restore bells that have been out of action for a long time. Rather they should try to find out why and then contact their Guild and belfry inspector, but always at the invitation of the incumbent or churchwarden. Many of these are afraid to spend money on bells because of more urgent needs, but would welcome a telfry inspector if they knew that his services were free.

There is another true saying, "Fools rush in where angels fear to tread," and this rings true on many things. By all means make inquiries, stir up interest, but don't try to do anything unlesi you know what you are at. There is also the fear of stirring up local antagonism, so casily done with ringers who can be temperamental. The attitude in many cases seems to be. "I don't want to do anything; you stick to your own area and keep away from here."
Lack of ropes is also a disadvantage, but probably in most cases local captains or, in the case of Chute Forest where it became nationwide, offer their spares. In the majority of towers l have restored, ropes have been given by more fortunate towers and no expense has fallen on the church.
And so I feel that it is a good thing for the Exercise that ringers take an interest in getting bells into full use again. It benefits every body-the church, the Guild and. over a period of years, the bellhangers-as often complete restoration is the final answer after the initial enthusiasm is raised.
There are cases-about balf a dozen in my experience-where there is nothing wrong, and oil and fitting ropes are all that is required. Sometimes it is the ringers' fault: they have allowed such a situation to develop without fighting it tooth and nail. The closing of two Hampshire towers came through an indifferent incumbent and in the other a difficult P.C.C. In both cases the authorities, under pressure from losal District officers. have relented. and we are pleased to know that hoth towers are now functioning.

OLTING REVIVED

After a lapse of over ten years, the band of Milton-next-Gravesend arranged an outing on July 13 th. Almost all the local band went, accompanied by ringers from Ash, Gravesend and Northfleet. Starting at 8.30 a.m., the party went to Southminster in Essex, thence to St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, Debenham in Suffolk, and to Great Dunmow in Essex. Gravesend was reached at 9.30 p.m. after a coach journey of over 230 miles, with lunch at Ipswich, tea at Great Dunmow, and ringing in the four towers. A welcome member of the party was Mrs. F. M. Mitchell, who started the bund of on ringing after the tower at Milton had been silent for some years.

The local band is now composed entirely of teenagers, who have cleaned up the belfry and fitted the bells with new ropes in the last six months and who ring every Sunuday.

Great credit is due to Edward Stuart, who, at the age of 14, made all the arrangements for the tour, and also to the coach driver, who kept to time on an incredibly tight schedule. Already next ycar's outing is being planned.
K. C. G.

ST. LPPOLYTS, HERTS

Thirty ringers and friends from St. Ippolyts had a half-day tour in North Bucks, extending from 1.30 until midnight on July 6th.

A surprise at the first tower. at Stagsden, was to have to remove a wheelbarrow beforc ringing could start. Good use was made of Chicheley bells before a salad tea at Newport Pagnell. It was unfortunate that such a pleasant ring as that at Bradwell should have a cracked and welded fourth. The effect was most entertaining as the bell thudded its way through the first few touches. From here we went to Loughton. The journey home was broken for refreshments at Husborne Crawley Our thanks to Mr. Louis Runnads for the are rangements and to the donor of the coach for his generosity

ODE TO A RINGER

He who rings changes has an ear attuned To depth and timbre. resonance and time. The grandeur of his toil can ease the wound Of death and loss.

When Easter morning peals dispel the grey Of Lenten fasts and Passiontide despair, His artistry of sound declares the day Of life and hope.

And when the changes he alone defines Pour on the air new symphonies of joy. Then craft with creativity combines
To praise and pray.
I did not know the meaning of "a tower." Of "Grandsire," "Treble "-" Captain of a banc
I did no: know a ringer had such power To give and to command.

A NON-RINGER.

MAULDEN OUTING

An important annual event in Bedfordshire is the Maulden ringers' outing, and it is treated ass seriously and gone about as earnestly as a day's work.

So on June 22nd those 45 happy souls who were privileged to partake in this year's trip to Wiltshire were up at around $5 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. (4 a.m. G.M.T.!) and at 6.30, as planned, a start was made. Steeple Ashton, some 105 miles distant, was reached almost exactly on schedule, and the exquisite beauty of this noble parish church thrilled the non-ringers as much as the excellent heavy ring of six bells did the ringers.
At Melksham the pleasant octave was just sufficiently difficult to handle to offer a challenge, and some good ringing was enjoyed. Lunch was taken at Trowbridge, after which the two splendid but vastly ditterent eights at Bradford-on-Avon gave great satisfaction.
Perhaps the Church of St. Nicholas, North Bradley, is a little difficult to locate, and when several attempts to get near it, one of which almost resulted in the rear end of the coach knocking a corner off the tower, our driver finally pulled up at a point which offered an excellent view of the church across a quarter mile or so of pleasantly undulating country ! The only snag was that the rain, which had been falling steadily for about two hours, now started to come down in torrents, and anyone who knows the size of a Wiltshire torrent will appreciate what this means !
However, the enthusiasm of the ringers was not to be so easily repressed, and after a quick look around for boats, rafts or any other sort of craft (all unfortunately unavailable) they boldly splashed their way towards the tower, whilst the driver watched their sorry progress with eyes that expressed all the malevolence but not the intelligence of the better-looking codfish !
An excellent tea at Westbury restored our spirits, and then followed the highlight of the day, for the 35 cwt. eight at All Saints', Westbury, were a real delight to ring.
Altogether a highly satisfactory outing with good ringing, splendid bells, good fellowship, fine organisation and a warm welcome everywhere. The weather? Well, who cares !
Sincere thanks to incumbents and local ringers for all their kindness, and to Ron Sharp and Keith Fleming for their excellent arrangements.
A. E. R.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ringing a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor preceded the June meeting of the Eastern District of the Hertford County Association at Aspenden, which is situated in one of the prettiest parts of the county.
After the quarter, which was conducted by the District segretary, general ringing was supervised by Mr. E. Newnham, District Ringing Master. During the evening the county president, Dr. D. L. Gullick, joined in the ringing.

S.S. Peter and Paul's, Eye, Suffolk

By GEORGE W. PIPE

AFINE church with an even finer tower, SS. Peter and Paul's, Eye, belongs to that small but handsome group which includes Bungay, Laxfield, Redenhall (Norfolk), Dedham (Essex) and to a lesser degree Woodbridge. Their feature-all 100 feet high or more with those flint-panelled, "rounded" buttresses, and in the case of Eye richly embellished on the west front.
In this ancient municipal borough, successively recorded as Aye, Eia, Haye, Ewya and Eya, we have evidence of the wealth and influence of John de la Pole, Duke of Suffolk. He and his wife were undoubtedly the chief contributors to the cost of the tower, built about 1465, and carved on the southern battlements we find the arms of this nobleman. Here we have the East Anglian Perpendicular style reaching its zenith, and happily inside the tower we need not be disappointed either.
First, a belfry of great character. Heavily beamed, with the walls covered with historic peal boards and famous names. Eye, of course, was the home of George Day and Sons, the well-known bellhangers of the 19th century, a business founded on a wheelwrights and joiners' in the late 1700s. It was no doubt for this reason that a great deal of ringing took place here just before the turn of the century; in fact, of the 106 peals recorded at Eye to date, 62 were rung in the years 1882-1914. And what a gallery of names! Washbrook, Robinson, Pitstow, Hounslow, Coleridge, Pye, Souter, Motts and many others. What wouldn't I give to hear that band ring Double Norwich on the bells!

Neither did the Days restrict themselves to the workshops, as a verse in the belfry testifies.
"The tenor was rung Ah! just the way
By our faithful friend, young Mr. Day
Who said 'my friends it is my aim
This peal to help you all to gain'."
Canon Raven, the bell historian, knew this tower well too, and another peal board records his passing in 1906.

The bells themselves are an old-fashioned mellow eight (tenor 194 cwt. in D. They are the third or fourth eight in Suffolk in origin, a typically "mixed bag" with a fine 15th century Brayser seventh. Through the efforts and inspiration of Claude Rush, who almost single-handed raised $£ 1,700$, the ring was restored in 1962 and the tenor recast by Mears and Stainbank. She used to weigh the traditional "twenty-four hundred"! and in more enlightened times came down to 22 and 21 cwt . Alas and alack, she tipped the Whitechapel scales at 18 cwt . 100 lb ., happily discovered long after Jimmy Washbrook rang her!
The town, the church and the belfry are all worth a visit in this very delightful part of Suffolk.

COMMENT

ARE UMPIRES NBCESSARY? - By Amon

THERE are peal compositions available for some methods to which the criterion may be applied that certain mistakes in the calling will not become apparent. In Stedman Triples one such composition is given below; there are bobs and either one or three singles in blocks of six in 58 out of the total 60 courses when the observation bell, the 7 th , is "in the slow," the same course-end will be obtained wherever the singles are called but the course may be false. The composition, which is more interesting to ring than it appears, was successfully rung at Edgbaston, Birmingham, on July loth. when an umpire checked that all the calls were called and made in the correct sixes. In the previous three attempts, rung during the summer of 1967, there was no umpire but the conductor became conscious that he might fail to recognise an error of the type described.
In some popular compositions of Spliced Surprise Major, notably those using Cambridge type methods only or on the three-lead course plan using either Rutland or London in the 1st and 3 rd leads, it is possible for the conductor, of even the greatest experience and highest integrity. to call the wrong method, never to realise his mistake because the same lead-head is produced whichever method is rung, and complete a false peal. One eminent composer/conductor has remarked that he is loath to attempt these compositions for this reason. At next year's meeting the Council, when debating the current review of rules, may consider that where practicable there should be umpires for normal length peals on tower bells when compositions of this nature are being attempted. There is a precedent for this in that the Central Council has for many years recommended that there should be umpires for all handbell peals.
One of the celebrated early peals of Stedman Triples, the second ever rung. was that of Henry Cooper, first rung on June 5th, 1819, at Shifnal, Shropshire, conducted by Cooper himself from the manuscript. It contained 582 calls including two special "turning singles" at the part-ends. The composition is printed in the early edition of Snowdon's "Stedman" (page 120) but as printed it is false, probably through an error in copying from an indistinct manuscript. However, the course-ends give a true peal in two equal parts with 580 ordinary bobs and singles. with the 7th undisturbed throughout. The late Mr. Joseph W. Parker of Sunderland corrected and rearranged the peal and this was first rung at Gateshead on November 5th. 1932. conducted by William H. Barber from the 4th. Two members of that band are still alive-John Anderson and William J. Davidson, both of Newcastle upon Tyne.

LADIES GUILD A.G.M.

FURTHER THOUGHTS ON DISBANDING DISTRICTS

THE sun shone on the ladies for their annual meeting at St. Albans on July 6th, when some 46 members (with about 30 supporters of the other sex) gathered at St. Peter's. They came from South Wales and Kent, Lancashire and Devon, Leicestershire, Lincolnshire and the Central District around London, and it was a great pleasure to renew old friendships, meet some who were pioneers in the movement 40 to 50 years ago, and make new friends among the keen and able younger ringers.

The service at 11.30 was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. C. J. H. W. A. Bradley, who, after welcoming us and complimenting us on our singing, gave us an address spiced with humour and vivid illustrations. Among the great gifts and possibilities with which we were born, he said, one we had developed was that we had learned to ring; we had learned to work in a team, and we played an important part in the work of the Church, which was a team of teams. Women have to be tactful and understanding, and often can bring into a tower something of those qualities. But it must not stop there. "If you have learned something from your tower - self-control, discipline, tactif you leave it upstairs it will be a great loss to the Church, the nation, the world. We have seeds which can bear much fruit-it will be a pity if we keep them in the packet I"
A very well arranged buffet lunch was then served in St. Peter's Hall by Mrs. Darvill and the local ladies, after which the gentlemen went to ring at St. Peter's and the Abbey, while the ladies beld their 48 th annual general meeting.

The president, Mrs. Jacqueline King, took the chair, supported by Miss Doris Colgate (general secretary) and Miss Joan Beresford (treasurer). The minutes of the last meeting, held at lincoln, were read and confirmed it was agreed that the very full account of this meeting, printed in "The Ringing World." should be stuck in the minute book as a record. Mr. T. W. White's presence at that meeting was recalled with pleasure. Two new members were elected-Miss Carol Parkhurst, of St. Stephen's, who had given some of the visitors a warm welcome that morning and rang with them, and Miss Linda Saunders, of North Mymms.

THE NEW PRESIDENT

Only one nomination had been received for the office of president, and Mrs. E. Parfrey. chairman of the Western District, was declared elected. As she took the chair from Mrs. King she voiced the thanks of all to her for her good work for the Guild during her three years of office. Again only one nomination was received for the office of secretary. It was unthinkable that we should have anyone but Miss Doris Colgate, and there was general satisfaction that she was willing to continue in office; and the same was the case with Miss Joan Beresford and Mrs. Slade, the treasurer and auditor. Four nominations had been received for the three Central Council representatives, but Mrs. Parfrey withdrew her name. saying she felt we could not be better represented than by Miss Beresford, Miss Colgate and Mrs. Staniforth.
The hon. treasurer then gave ber report. which she regretted had not yet been audited or circulated owing to late receipts from two or circulated owing to late receipis from $\pm 47 \mathrm{5s}$. lod.. income $£ 48 \mathrm{8s}$. 9d.. an excess of income over expenditure of f1 2s. 11d. Fifty more badges had year, showing a small profit; on the other hand eight had been lost. In the balance sheet £188 1s. 10 d . Was hrought forward at the beginning of 1967 and $£ 187 \mathrm{14s}$. 9d. carried forward at December 31st.

The hon. treasurer, continuing, gave a manning that the number of life member:

THE NEW PRESIDENT

Mrs. Bette Parfrey, of 18, Meadlands, Corston, Bath, is the new president of the Ladies: Guild. She was born in Bath in 1930 and educated at the City of Bath Girls' School. At the age of 15 she learned to ring and joined the Ladies' Guild in 1948. She succeeded Miss N. G. Williams as secretary of the Western District and later served as vice-president for two terms of office-a total of nine years.

Mrs. Parfrey married Harold in 1951 and spent a very happy 17 years until his death last March. There are three children-June (15), Judith (11) and David (8). The girls ring and David can handle a bell. Recently Mrs. Parfrey succeeded her husband as tower master at Corston. So far she has rung 25 peals, most of them being for the Bath and Wells Association.

Throughout her life Mrs. Parfrey has been closely connected with the Church, having served for 21 years in the choir, group leader of the Young Wives for eight years and a member of the P.C.C. She is also interested in church floral arrangement.

- I feel most sincerely that ringers are part of the whole body of the Church and are privileged to be able to bear witness to their faith in the tower," she writes to "The Ringing World."
was gradually dropping and this would bave an adverse effect on finance. Miss Beresford moved the adoption of the report and balance sheet. She further proposed that the date of March 3Ist should be set for District subscriptions to be paid in to the treasurer, and after a little discussion this was passed.

MIDLAND DISTRICT PROPOSAL

Mrs. Jill Staniforth then put forward a proposition by the Midland District: "That ali Districts of the Ladies' Guild be dishanded as from December 31st of this year. One meeting to be held on the first Saturday of July in the form of a week-end ringing festival. In areas where ladies wish to meet at other times of the year, this may take place in the form of practice meetings." As a corollary, an alteration was proposed to Rule 4, putting the governing of the Guild into the hands of a reconstituted committee. This had only been circulated shortly before the meeting. and not all Districts had had the opportunity of discussing it with their members. so that some only heard of it for the first time at this meeting. Each District representative was asked to give her area's views.

The Western District, while they had great sympathy with the Midland, did not agree entirely and would prefer to hold their meetings; if there are elected officers in each District there is more chance of holding the members together. Lincolnshire District: Mrs. Richardson thought they would lose most of the members, especially from the rural districts. if there were no District meetings. Kent would also prefer to keep on as they are. South Wales had not had a meeting to discuss it, but the committee members had all written to Mrs. King strongly against it, and asked for at least a year's notice to think about it. Mrs. Hooton, for the Central District, sympathised with the Midland, having difficulty in keeping meetings going with a large area. Devon said succinctly: If the Districts go, then interest will go and the Guild will go. Mrs. Percy reported Sussex had a meeting the previous week; opinion was divided. They pointed out that it was going to be difficult and ex pensive for them to attend the annual general meeting in the north-west next year, and if this motion were carried a whole year or perhaps two would pass without their being able to attend a single Ladies' Guild meeting. The North-Western District proposed that 12 months should be allowed for the members to think about the suggestion. Mrs. Parfrey summed up by saying there was great divergence between the Districts: some were flourishing, other secretaries found it very hard going.

The amendment was proposed and seconded : "That the matter should be deferred until the annual general meeting next year for further thought," and this was carried by a large majority. Secretaries were asked to think really seriously about this and seek the opinion of their members, and send the reactions to Miss Colgate.

Next year's annual general meeting should be held in the N.W. District. After some discussion as to what form it should take it was decided to revert to the previous plan. with the committee meeting at 1 o'clock. towers open until the service at 3 , tea at 4 , followed by the meeting, and then towers open until about $8 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. - no dinner, but more time for ringing. Mrs. Andrew said she hoped to arrange this at Manchester. The 1970 annual meeting should be held in Kent, Sussex or the southern area.

Miss Colpate had displayed on the table a fine replica of the badge in the form of a wooden plaque, formerly belonging to the West Midland District, given by Miss Stella Hughes. who is now in South Africa. This was much admired. She also had there for anyone to read an excellent article written by Mrs. King in "The Western Mail." Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for allowing the Guild the use of his church, the bells and all the amenities, and for his sermon. which would be long remembered, to Miss Ware for the arrangements for the dinner, to Mrs. Darvill for the lunch, and to the incumbents and steeplekeepers.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The summer meeting of the Bridgnorth Branch was held at Cleobury Mortimer. where the church is well known for its "twisted" spire, on July 6th. Beneath this spire the tower contains a pleasing ring of six bells, which was put to good use by the small number of ringers present. Tea was kindly provided by Mr. and Mrs. A. Osbaldiston, of the local band. and Mrs. Oldroyd, wife of the Vicar, the Rev. C. M. Oldroyd, who took the service. Fine weather added to the enjoyment of the meeting at this unspoild country town.

BELL FALLS AT EAST BERGHOLT, SUFFOLK

By CLAUDE RUSH

ACCORDING to a report in "The East Anglian Daily Times" of July 19ih, the second bell of the ring of five at the Church of St. Mury the Virgin. East Bergholi, Suffolk, fell from its bearings to the bottom of the pit during ringing practice on July 18 th . It seems that Paul Scolt, of Manor Cottage, East Bergholt. was ringing the bell at the lime-they had been ringing for about five minutes.

The news item includes a photograph show ing the bell lying on its side in the pit, with Paul Scott. Bill Brooks. Ken Fayers (all ringers), and Walter Crisp (conductor) standing by. Walter said that he had had 38 years experience of East Bergholt bells and had not known such an incident before. All ringing has been stopped for the time being. There were about 100 visitors at the church when the bell fell-mit is a church and districs that attracts many visitors, as it is in "Con. scable's Country."

Anyone who has no knowledge of the ring of bells there might think that there is no particular interest in this incident. but East Bergholt's bells are unique-nowhere else are bells hung for full-circle ringing like these are.

LEGENDS OVER TOWER

One might say that the church has no tower. This would be incorrect. White"s "Directory of Suffolk" of 1883 gives the beight of the tower as 14 feet . the sums of money miven lowards the rebuilding of it being insufficient for its completion. Legend has it that several attempts 10 build it were frustrated by direct influence of the Evil Spirit so the work was given up in despuir. Another cradition is that Cardinal Wolsey, who was born at nearby Ipswich, sook much interest in the building of the church and that his fall from power put a stop to the work. He had promised to build a tower for this church and it was begun in 1525 . Wolsey died in 1530 and nothing has been added to the sower work since.

So a wooden cage to take the bells was erected in the churchyard about this time, and this is the cage in which the bell fell a few divg ago. There had been a cage-perhups the same cage-in another part of the churchyard in the 15 th century. It has been said that the Squire was annoyed by the sound of hells. so the cage was put where it is now so that the church itself came between the Squire and the bells, and thus the sound, for bim, wias reduced.

The hells form a beavy ring of five. The cld treble was by Richardus Bowler and dated 1601 : it weighed about 8 swt. But the present treble is a Queen Victoria jubilee bell. 1887. by Warners, and hung by George Day and Son, Eye, Suffolk: it weighs about 12 twt.

The second, Cabriel, was cast about 1450. is of about 121 cwt. and is the bell which fell. The third is by Richardus Bowler (Colchester) 1601 ; reputed weight nearly 15 cwt .

The fourth, by Cbrimopher Hodgan io 1688 , is about 19 cwt .
The tenor, by John Stephens (Norwich) was cast in 1727 and its reputed weight is 25 cw ?

It would be wrong to suy there are no ropes to these bells-ropes are used for chiming. But full-circle ringing is done without ropes or wheels, and the bells present a curious sight when set "up" with ooly inemselves shuwing above the frame.

KINOING TECHNIQUE

To raise them the riogers stand on a plat-form-a shelf-beside the bells and first push the headsiocks this way, then that, until the bells swing high enough for the ringers to push the bells themselves, their hands tirst on or about the soundbows and then, is the bells get higher still, on the lips themselves. where real control then begins. to the exten! of setting the bells in the proper "up" position.
Kinging is normally by call-one migtis say - nod "--changes (remember the noise !), bur on St. George's Day, 1821, 120 changes of singles were rung by Samuel Orris sens. (conductor) 1, William Bird 2, T. Stollery 3, Thomas Orris 4, Samuel Orris jun. renur.

Recently an appeal has been made for funds for the repair and maintenance of the bellLage, but the Vicar, the Rev. H. R. Chisnell. will now be glad of additional financial help because of the recent incident and consequens extra experne. Quite a large sum is needed.

COVENTRY GUILD'S FIRST STRIKING CONTEST

As a result of the decision at the Guild annual general meeting held on April 2uth last. a striking competition took place at si. Nicholas" Church. Warwick, on July bith. Eight teams entered, being four from the Coventry Branch and four from the Warwick Branch. As this was the first meeting of its kind organised by the Guild, it was very much of an experiment. The time table was slightly disorganised by the late arrival of some of the bands. The first band to ring set a good standard with Cambridge Minor, followed by two bands ringing Bob Minor, three Grandsire Doubles, and call changes and one rounds.
The judges were Mr. Alan Bridges, of Derby. and Miss S. Ruddlesden, of Culworth: the third judge was indisposed and unuble to attend. Bands were given choice of method. The principle applied was one minute penalty ffee. and nine minutes under penalty. This allowed 216 of Minor and 210 of Grundsire, whicl filled the tume allotted very well.
Kenilworth proved to be the winners with 20 faults. Allesley were second with 27 and Chilvers Coton third with 28 . The standard of striking was very sood and those taking part seemed to have a lot of pleasure and enlightenment in judging the others bands' striking.
Undoubtedly the organising committee learned quite a lot from this effort. First, that the date was a bad choice. being so near the holidays and many bands were depleted for that reason and unable to compete. Those who had not taken part had an opportunity to ring before the service. Si. Nicholas' band provided the tes. und after the presentation of certiticater by the president to the winning bands further ringing took place at Si. Mary's until 8 p.m.

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION INCREASES SUBSCRIPTIONS

The Shropshire Association beld its annual general meeing at Shrewsbury on July 13 th. with ringing during the afternoon at St. Mary's (10) and in the evening at St. Chad's (12).

The service at St. Mary's was conducted by the Vicar. Preb. E. E. F. Walters, who joined us afterwards for lea in the Church Hall, but unfortunaiely was unable to remain for th: business meeting. Tea was served by the Shrewsbury lady ringers and ringers' wives. At the business meeting the Ringing Master, Mr. P. J. Evans, expressed disappointment al the poor attendance. only 33 sisting down 10 tesi. and especially at the small number of resident members present. The treasurer, Mr. M. J. Orman. presented his report, which showed a loss of 218 , and the statement was adopted.

The following officess were elected: Ringing Master. Mr. P. J. Evans; Deputy Ringing Master. Mr. R. E. Morris; secretary, Mr. E. 1. Willcox: treasurer. Mr. M. J. A. Orman: trusices, Messrs. F. G. Beddow and A. E. Ci. Owen: auditor, Mr. F. C. A. Bennett: Cenrral Council representative. Mr. F. F. Willeox. A motion was carried to raise the annual subscription for resident members from 3 s . 10
45.. and the fee for non-resident life members from 5 s . to 10 m . The meeting also decided to send donation of &1 10s. to :The Ringing World."

Mr. F. C. A. Bennett, who sook the chair. closed the meeting by thanking all concerned for the asragements.

AFTERTHOUGHTS ON BELLS AND BELLRINGINE

BY THE LATE PETER LAFLIN
Not a catalogue of peals. Nothing in strict chronological order. A reminiscence here and there. Having reached an age when most of my ringing experience most be behind me, an attempt to size ap what it has all amorated to fim my case.

P. Latin, 1965.

1.-FOREWORD

This following conglomeration of thoughts on the differing aspects connected with bells and bellringing in general is not put forward with the idea that any of them should be regarded as the only way of looking at the subject, but is roughly as it has occurred to me to see them.
Born in Stoke-by-Nayland. Suffolk, and leaving this village for Debenham at the age of six, when my father changed his job. I cannot truly say that I remember the six bells at Stoke. Yet when later on at Debenham. upon hearing the back six bells there being rung, I can clearly remember exclaiming Stoke bells!" And this must mark my first real acquaintance with them or any other bells.

However, at 13 years 1 gradually became aware of the regular practice on Monday nights at Debenham, und the ringing which always welcomed our procession from Sunday School $t 0$ church on Sunday mornings. At this time 1 had been in the choir for a few years and had ample opportunities to see the ringers at work, the ringing being done from the ground floor.

Brefly then, at 13. and having lett day school (this was in 1903), 1 frequently talked with William J. Groom, who was at that ume the Vicar's gardener and lived quite close to our home. William had noticed that I was often "hanging round" the tower doos on practice nights, and quite suddenly, in the abrupt Suffolk Hay, ashed me if I wanted io learn to ring. This was my entry into a lield of mental and physical enjoyment that has been my chief hobby und relixation up to the present time. Bill Groom soon taught me to pull a bell, and with the help of others in a short time I was initiated into the mysteries.
William C. Rumsey, William Grimes, Alfred W. Grimes. George Rowe (senior and junior), George Rumsey, James G. Rumsey, William Rutiles. Percival Woods were all members of the Debenham band at that time. William Groom. W. C. Rumsey and W. Grimes taking turns at conducting and reaching. There were a number of learners. including Harry Perry, Bertie C. Ellis and myself. The above names. in addition to the Wightman family from Crecingham, made up an area band of ringers who became quite notable for their performances, at least locally. and such as myself were worked anto the scheme as capabilities and opportunity allowed.

I should not omit the name of John Brady, a blind man. who nevertheless took part in $1!$ peals despite never having seen a bell rope: his splendid hearing made him a firstoclass striker and, 1 might add, critic; his ear was infallible.

Having given this short history to account for my commencement, I now bope 10 present some of the impressions gained over a long period of years on different aspects of bells and bellringing as they have appeared to

THE LATE PETER LAFLIN

2.-LEARNERS AND LEARNING

This depends to a great extent upon the teachers, although some learners, not many, seem to need little prompting once they have mastered the preliminaries of rope handling and proper control of the bell. These usually turn out to be the enthusiasts. Others, by far the greater number, need to be coaxed along, as it were, and more gently treated until confidence is gained. Some soon leave the scene, either unnerved by a too abrupt teacher or more likely because they discover that what they thought was going to be easy turns out to be more difficult than suspected. and therefore not for them. This class of learner, however, was more often than not persuaded to come forward without himself or herself having any particular liking for bells. and came forward more for curiosity than any real desire to learn.
A few are quite enthuslastic over the excitement of rope handling. being allowed to raise and cease a bell, and even to round ringing: but when called upon to get down to pencil and paper to learn how the bells work together are liable to lose interest. It is only a very patient and persuasive teacher who can puil such a one over this stumbling block until sufficient progress has been made to capture the learner's real interest. It is safe to say that at this point many have been lost to the Exercise.

For thase who remain. if the band itself is progressive, an interest unfolds that will keep the learne: going until the main difticulties of ropesight and of hearing one's own bell amongst the others is overcome; plain hunting is mastered, dodging and making places is recognised. By that time, other things such as work and good health permitting. the learner will become a useful ringer.

some scores of youngsters to handie a rope 1 have done that unless the learner seems to have a feeling for the other or left-handed way. Being able to ring a bell myself either with left or right hand at the top, 1 have found no difficulty in adjusting my reaching to the learner's preference: in ringing myself 1 generally adopt the left-handed way as it was always my preference. The main thing to insist on is that the learner shall "keep a tight rope," that is, not necessarily pull too hard but to take the rope right down from the buckstroke and to let the rope draw the hands up from the sally pull. Ringing with a slack rope floors more youngsters in the early stages than anything else.

As it is not my intention to write a sreatuse on bell handling 1 will now leave this subject, although it might come up again in discussing other aspects of the craft. Today, 1965, and for a few years now, there has been a College of Campanology, various courses have been run, all of which cover the subject of ringing from rope handling to composition. This is done in such a thorough manner that those who attend them can hardly fail to become expert from the learning stage onwards.

THE TREBLE BOB PRINCIPLE

By D. C. JACKSON

VARIOUS inquiries have recently been made in the columns of "The Ringing World" concerning methods on the Treble Bob prin. ciple. Amongst other things. these comments indicate that it is not widely realised that Minor methods in which the rreble follows is path which we call Treble Bob hunt are otticially classified into four groups. These are:
(1) Treble Boh.
(2) Thirds Place Delight.
(3) Fourths Place Delight.
(4) Surprise.

There is no justifiable reason for listing these four groups in any order of complexity, nor is there any special credit in ringing one group. e.g. Surprise, in preference to another, e.g. Treble Bob. Indeed certain methods in the Surprise group are much easier to ring than those in the other groups. The only difference between these groups lies in tho fourth and eighth figures of the place noration. e.g. Mendip Treble Bob:

RINGING AT EXPO SUSSEX 68

Dear Sir, -No doubt better scribes than 1 will be writing of the wonderful ringing exhibition at the recent Expo Sussex, and the success which crowned the hours of work and inspiration on the part of Mr. Elphick and his helpers.

May 1 add my personal praise to those concerned with the thankless task of organising the ringing at the Expo belfry? The programmed touches of the day, all performed in public and on unusual bells, must have been quite a headache to achieve without treading on anyone's corns. When these were completed, the tower was opened to the hordes of tower-grabbers and stay-benders, myself included. each of whom had travelled vast distances or had some other reason for preferential treatment. Growing impatience and the odd case of jumping the queue were dealt with by the gentlemen in charge with tact at a time when their reserves of energy must have been severely strained.

The pleasure given to me and to the youngsters present by a few minutes' ringing might be some small measure of reward to them.

ANON.

MISS BELLRINGER

Dear Sir,-I think that if anything is to be done about this matter-and I feel that most of the Exercise think so-then it ought to be done at Guild or Branch level by the towers within the Guild or Branch.

They could each select a girl whom they think should grace the pages of "The Ringing World " and send her photograph in clothing or swim-suit to the Editor. By publishing a different photograph each week most of the Exercise would be satisfied and the pages of our journal brightened considerably.-Yours sincerely.

Reading.

P.S.-The Editor is wrong in his note (page 542) when he said someone had a grudge against Miss Sadowiska. The letter was written purely in fun and not by myself, incidentally. -G.C.

- RATHER MISERLY"

Dear Sir,-I feel I must take up the cudgels against your correspondent. Mr. Hector C. Bird ("Ringing World," July 19th, 1968).

He apparenty thinks that one shilling is too much to pay for this excellent weekly paper-and yet at the same time suggests that one penny per rope for peal ringers is a small amount (the price of half a pint, he says). What is his argument? I fully agree with him in regard to the peat fee-and in fact 1 would suggest that this is'at least doubled, but to expect a paper such as "The Ringing World." with its wealth of news and its excellent cover pictures, to be sold at less than one shilling in these days of high printing costs, etc., etc., shows a lack of enthusiasm for the Exercise and, to my mind, a narrowness of outlook and a rather miserly attitude. Maybe my own enthusiasm for bellringing. inadept as I am. unfortunately, tends to colour my views on such matters, so I guess I should apologise to Mr. Bird if 1 have criticised him unjustly. Yours sincerely.

THE DOLBLES DECISIONS or  \section*{APRIL DAY AND ALL THAT}

Dear Sir,-You Central Council chaps at Worcester have made a proper mess of the rules about. Doubles methods and variations for us ordinary ringers. It seems that the majority of members were blinded by the pseudo-science of the vociferous few, who have persuaded the Council to use, one might say, an enormous hammer to crack the tiniest of nuts. There is much sense in the decision to separate methods from variations in peal reports, but the loss of identity of some of the popular simple variations is unjustifiable and unwise. It hits at and discourages the average Doubles ringer who knows and cares nothing about spliced ringing but wants his April Day or Clifford's Pleasure and other glamorous names, and will have little effect on the handful of multi-Doubles whiz-kids who are clever enough to find their own loopholes in the rules.
We in Somerset like to ring variations such as April Day, and it is the height of pedantry to suggest that this variation is spliced Reverse St. Bartholomew and Plain Bob. would have more sympathy for the argument that Reverse St. Bartholomew is but a special case of April Day (or vice versa) with three calls and one plain lead in each part of the extent. Reverse St. Bartholomew has now belatedly and conveniently received the accolade of acceptance and publication by the Central Council after many years of being despised as "undesirable," as readers of the preface to the "Collection of Doubles Methods" will lknow.
If we are to accept half-lead splicing, and if the privilege of antiquity suggested in your footnote to Mr. Cattermole's letter is correct. we must be logical and admit that all the Grandsire Doubles we now ring is spliced Grandsire and Reverse St.- Bartholomew. After all, Grandsire-Doubles can well manage with an alternative to its "modern" single, and by your reasoning there is more Reverse St. Bartholomew than Grandsire in four of our normal extents of Grandsire Doubles. I know that the motion approved by the Central Council dealt specifically with variations, but the question of half-lead splicing is an entirely separate issue. It is a pity that Mr. Blagrove did not do his homework on past Central Council Decisions before instead of after the Worcester meeting, but if he is correct in saying that splicing at the half-lead is an old Decision, and many will find this surprising, then it must apply to both methods and variations alike.
If it is ridiculous to interfere with our traditional Grandsire Doubles and other methods similarly affected, then it is equally ridiculous to spoil our pleasure by interfering with any of the simple variations. Think again, Central Council-and give us back our April Days.Yours sincerely.

THE PEAL AT INVERNESS

Dear Sir,-It was my party that rang the peal at Inverness in 1962, referred to by your contributor M. $P$ " on page 574, but we have no wish to remain anonymous as we did not break the ladder leading to the' tower roof. Perhaps M. P. would like to withdraw the veil from his own anonymity and either apologise for his hurtful accusation or state the grounds upon which it is based.-Yours faithfully, Hampton, Middlesex.

CORRECTING WEIGHTS

Dear Sir, - Despite Mr. Amos's remarks (page 543), I should have thought that the weight of a bell can be assessed fairly closely from its diameter at the lip when taken in conjunction with its strike note.
It is a significant point that the two light tenors which Mr. Amos mentions as being 46 inches-Wootton and Claybrooke-have both been reduced in weight, and perhaps lowered in pitch also, by retuning, whereas his heavy example-St. Edmund's, Northampton-has not. Woottos and Claybrooke tenors are not the same note, as Mr. Amos states, but are almost a semitone apart (Wootton E flat/D and Clavbrooke E flat/E). Wootton's tone is what one might expect from such a thin bell but the Claybrooke tenor, on the other hand, is a lovely bell and belongs to a lovely ring. (These opinions are not just mine!)
Regarding the weight of the Oakham tenor, surely this bell weighed 22 cwt . 3 qr .8 lb . when originally cast with the others in 1911, but was increased to 24 cwt .2 qr . 9 lb . at a subsequent recasting. (Gillett and Johnston's werghts.)
Whilst writing may 1 also respectulully correct the Rev. J. G. M. Scott? Poughill (Devon) is not a Taylor ring (page 543 again): the tenor was added and the bells were tuned and rehung in a new frame and fittings by Gillett and Johnston in 1947.-Yours faithfully,

PAYMENT FOR WEDDINGS

Dear Sir,-To my mind the fee paid for ringing at a wedding is a quite legitimate payment for a service given and not "sheer avarice " as suggested by Mr. G. Robinson (" Ringing World," page 562). Members of a band of ringers give up their leisure time, and in some cases their working hours, in order to give this service and should receive an appropriate fee.
It is my experience that most bands take (for the sake of argument) Ss. per head and put the remainder into their belfry fund; very often it is the only income. I have known individual ringers to protest that they do not wish to accept a fee, but there is nothing to stop them placing their fee into the church funds. This would please Mr. Robinson.
He goes on to say that there is no compulsion for anyome to ring at weddings. Isn't this exactly what captains of struggling bands up and down the country are up against? To have such a "law" such as he suggests would deprive them of the only incentive that they can offer to muster a full side and provide the best possible ringing.
Ringers who had intended to go somewhere else on a Saturday afternoon would not like to change their plans with absolutely no compensation. The ringing for a wedding might only take half an hour at the outside, but it can completely upset an afternoon.
If Mr. Robinson wants an axe to grind, let him start on the standard of ringing for weddings, as in a lot of cases the duration and standard leave a lot to be desired when considering the fee paid.-Yours sincerely,

Liss, Hants.
DAVID M. HUGHES.

Letters-continued

RINGING FOR WEDDINGS

Dear Sir,-Mr. Robinson's letter regarding payment for weddings, published in your issuc of July 19 th , seems to me quite fallacious. If he is saying that ringers ought to be paid to ring for weddings but should then donate the proceeds to the church, this is purely a matter for the individual conscience, and Mr. Robinson is at liberty to do this if he wishes.

To imply that choirmen and organists all do this seems doubtful, to say the least. To suggest further that those who believe the labourer is worthy of his hire when employed by an individual to ring for his wedding (for an amount which in all $t 00$ many cases has remained static for donkeys' years) will be unwilling to donate their ability when employed by the church to ring for services is unrealistic. Mr. Robinson seems to have met ringers who ring for money only. I know plenty of ringers but I don't know any like that.

As for the statement that because there is no compulsion upon anyone to ring for weddings therefore there is no valid argument in favour of his being paid, I hope my boss doesn't wake up to the fact that there is no compulsion upon me to work.-Yours faithfully,
M. M. LEWIS.

Farnborough, Hants.
Dear Sir,-I feel I must offer a reply to Mr. G. Robinson's letter (" Ringing World," pago 562), headed "Payment for Weddings."

Mr. Robinson obviously comes from a tower with plenty of ringers, many of whom have nothing to do on Saturdays.

Our own tower has been struggling to remain in existence for three years. Often I have to ask ringers from neighbouring towers to help out. They have to come several miles either by car or by public transport and the small amount they receive helps to pay for this transport. Our ringers receive 10 s ., 7 s . 6 d . of which they keep, the remainder goes to tower funds.

Our own young band very often have other things to do on Saturdays. although they all enjoy ringing. The sum of 7 s . 6 d . helps to persuade them to give up an hour or so to come and ring.

I believe, therefore, that payment tor weddings is essential. Incidentally, if Mr. Robinson does know any ringers who ring " just for the money," perhaps he should drop a casual hint and tell them they will not get rich very quickly.-Yours sincerely.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD Chertsey District

Poor weather probably contributed to the low attendance at the Chertsey District meeting held at East Molesey on July 13th. However, ringing in the afternoon ranged from rounds to Cambridge Minor under the direction of the District Ringing Master. Mr. D. Parsons. The Guild form of service (with the congregation in the choir stalls) was taken by the Vicar of West Molesey, the Rev. John Yeend.

A sumptuous tea, provided by the local Parish Council, preceded the short business meeting held in the Cburch Hall. It was decided to circulate a questionnaire to find out about the number of learners in the District, with a view to making Guild meetings more acceptable to them. Ringing continued until $830 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

BATH & WELLS ASSOCIATION  Frome Branch

It was a pity that relatively few members attended the summer meeting of the Frome Branch on July 13th at the Rev. A. G. Durston's tower, at Hemington. Ted Chivers was again muttering that we ought to consider cancelling this summer meeting, and he may well be right. The Rev. and Mrs. Durston and Jennifer and helpers provided a very nice tea for double the attendance and then, 10 embarrass us further, refused to accept anything towards the cost. We are all extremely grateful to them for their kindness.
The church service was most interesung. Providing a sort of one-man band. the Rev. A. G. Durston conducted the service, played the organ and sang with the rest of us.
Members rang methods they were capable of, like London. and some they were not capable of. which are called New Bob Doubles. These come in several variations. some of which come round and some which do not. To put the record right once and for all, when the Ringing Master says the 5th comes down first. he means the sth comes down first later on to the front before the 4th. He does not mean the 5 th comes down first straight away before the 4 th . This simple explanation should help members!

his age slightly to the recruiting sergeant. He was in fact just gone nine years of age as against his "nearly ten." Progress in the early stages was naturally rather slow because of John's extreme youth (even though the tenor is only 13 cwt . the lightest bell is nearly five cwt.), but thoroughness has produced a good handler, good enough to demonstrate to many who have been taught to handle subsequently.

John rang his first 720 before his renth birthday and became one of the youngest to qualify for the Yorkshire Association. Since then he has made rapid strides in method ringing and is now ringing Cambridge Major. His first peal was on Easter Day this year. when he rang the treble to Double Norwich, and this was followed two days later by Plain Bob Major on an "inside" bell. He had no blisters, evidence of hands being put to good and proper use. More recently, but still before his 11 th birthday, John scored a peal of Siedman Triples at the first attempt. This was at Cleckheaton, where he has attended, week after week, and given very effective assistance to senior Dewsbury ringers teaching a new band. On several occasions he has rung solidly through the whole hour and a half practice when needed. This calls for a great deal of mental and physical stamina from one so young.

The keenness and dedication of this youngster is a fine example to his elders. On Christmas Eve his duties involved his being in church over ten hours. He has a remarkable record of attendance and punctuality, and his enthusiasm has spread through his family-his father and younger brother have become singers.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD Witney and Woodstock Branch Outing

The Branch outing on July 13 th was 10 Northants. The first tower was at Wootton. where the five bells were put to good use for 45 minutes. After the pleasing six at Dallington came St. Pcter's, Northampton, where the eight bells were all cast in 1739 hy the same founder. A peal board of 1897 had the unusual footnote that it was the first peal on the bells for 157 years!

After lunch a vanety of methods was rung at Long Buckby and the party were intrigued by Weedon Bec Church, which is set between a viaduct and an aquaduct. Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major were successtully rung on these good bells.
Tea ut Towcester, and then Pattishall. where the Vicar gave the party a Warm welcome and entertained with a recital on the exceptionally fine organ. The day's ringing ended at Towcester, where Cambridge Surprice did eventually come round. but despite this the tinging was enjoyed. The usual social evening was at Brackley.

Grateful thanks go to the driver. Alan Cornish. who rang at the towers visited and was a great help. especially at eight-bell towers. Thanks also to incumbents and tower captains.

A CORNER FROM WALES  SWANSEA AND BRECON  GUILD A.G.M.

HE holding of the annual festival at Knighton on July 6 th was really a missionary enterprise and was successful in persuading the ringers at St. Edward's Church 10 join the Guud. Ringing also took place at Presteigne.

The Vicar (the Rev. I. R. Luther Thomas) conducted the service and preached, and the Archdeacon of Brecon (the Ven. D. G. Wilkinson) read the lesson. Over 60 sal down to tea in the Church Hall, served by the Mothers' Union.

The Archdeacon presided at the meeting and gave a special welcome to the many young people present. He apologised for the absence of the Bishop. The meetung stood in silence to the memory of Messrs. Jack Bloxham, John Vaughan and W. Davies, who had died since the last meeting.
The Archdeacon then presented the shield and cerificates won in this year's competition Main-I Cadoxton, 2 Newton Nottage, 3 Sketty; Supplementary Class-Glasbury.

The accounts were presented by Mr. Stan Edwards, who proposed that a further $£ 40$ from the Bell Restoration Fund be invested in Defence Bonds. This was carried, an amendment by Mr. Trevor Roderick, that it remain on deposit where it would bring in more interest, being defeated. The peal performance for the year was poor, only seven being recorded.

A NEW MASTER

Mr. Don Leach was the only nominee for the office of Master and was elected. Re-clections were: Hon. secretary, Mr. J. A. Hoare: treasurer, Mr. E. J. Morris: auditor. Mr. S. Edwards: Central Council representative, Mr. G. I. Lewis.

A notice of motion to review the working of the Guild and to draft a new constitution or set of rules to be presented to each. District annual general meeting and then passed at the 1969 annual general meeting was proposed by Mr. J. Hodgetts and seconded by Miss C. Randall and was carriod after discussion. The committee to carry this out consists of the Master and hon. secretary. Miss Randall, Messrs. Hodgetts, Edwards, M. R. Thomas and Eric Smith. The committee was also asked to consider dates of District meetings which would enable young members to attend more easily.
The hon. secretary in his report regretted that membership was stationary; there were many towers not represented at the meeting and also without ringers, which was of major concern to the Guild. The report was adopted. and the Archdeacon, from the chair, proposed that appreciation of Mr. Hoare's services should be recorded in the minutes.

The invitation to hold the 1969 ringing competition at Talgarth was accepted and also that the 1969 annual general meeting be held at St. Mary's Swansea. Two new members from Brecon, one from Swansea and the band at Knighton were elected.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The Monmouth Branch of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association held a most enjoyable meeting at Grosmont on July 13th, and some 50 ringers gathered to try out this newly rehung ring of six bells.

The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. A. W. M'Adam, who told some interesting stories of various restorations done to the i3th century church throughout the ages. The Rev. Ivor J. Richards, Rural Dean of Raglan, read the lesson.
A high tea was served in what the people of this tiny village call their "town hall." Mrs. M'Adams and her helpers were sincerely thanked on behalf of the visitors by Mr. Reuben Clench.
The business meeting was held in the church and members were sorry to hear of the illness of Mr. Fred Hannington, who was in Carditt Royal Infirmary. Mr. and Mrs. Alan Paton, of Mitcheldean, were elected new members, and mention was made of the next meeting, to be held at Mathern on October 12th. The six bells at Skenfrith were also available during the day.

OUTINGS

Luton Ringers Visit Norfolk
For their annual outing on July Ght the Luton Parish Church ringers, with a number of old and valued friends. visited Yarmouth.
The long journey outwards was broken at Wymondham, but even this was a long hop (about 85 miles), and one found oneself wondering how long such a trip would have taken century ago!
Readers of Charles Dickens will recall the return from London to Dotheboys Hall of Mr. Wackford Squeers and how he found it necessary to get out at every coaching inn to "stretch his legs," an exercise he was prone to take in the public bar, and how the colour of his nose specie of the great benetit he derived :
However, in our luxurious modern coach the miles were eaten up as if by magic, and here we were at the beautiful old Abbey Church of Wymondham almost before we realised we had left home. Mr. Tooke condueted us to the belfry and soon the bells were going nicely to Bristol Surprise Major and Stedman Caters.

Another 30 miles and we were at Yarmouth, where most of tine party were able 10 spend several hours on the beach, whilst others made the short trip to Winterton to sample the six hells at that isolated seaside place. Other joys were to follow. for Yarmouth has many attractions which the average visitor never sees. and we fuxind 12 of them in the tower of the stately Parish Church of St. Nicholas.
Here Mr. Newstead made us very welome and the bells were a real joy to ring, but perhaps Bristol on the back eight sounded best. For the matter of refreshment, during the day everyone had fended for himself, but the evening meal was a different matter and an excellent dinner was served at Cambridge, making a satisfactory conclusion to a splendid day's outing.
No words can express our appreciation of the kindness shown to us by the Vicars of Wymondham, Winterton and Great Yarmouth or our gratitude to the local ringers. Thanks also to our organiser, Basil Hulatt, and our driver, whose co-operation was wonderful.

Bredgar's First Outing

July 131 h was the first real opportunity Bredgar (Kent) ringers had to ring bells other than their own, so they set out at $10.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$., determined to make a good job of ringing as some of the local towers. After visiting Bobbing and Milton Regis, in Sittingbourne, they went on to Minster in the Isle of Sheppey. A picnic lunch and some doubtful splasting in the sea followed and then on to Eastchurch to ring after the induction service of the new Vicar.
A superb tea, very generously provided by the Minster ringers, was attacked and duly demolished, after which ringing took place on the pretty little six at Queenborough, where with the help of Minster friends 120 each of Bob and Grandsire Doubles was managed. All were loath to leave the Queenborough bells, as these were the favourites of the day.

At Tunstall it was quickly realised the differences between ringing on six and eight. It was a tired but happy party that arrived home. As yet. Bredgar has call change ringers: they would like to thank all those who enabled them to gain such valuable experience. aspecially the Vicars of churches visited, and also the mini-bus driver.

EAST GRINSTEAD AND DISTRICT GUILD

The July meeting of the Guild was held at Baicombe on the 13th. After ringing from 4 o'clock till $5.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. members had a picnic tea in their cars owing to the inclement weather At 6.30 the service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. May, who gave an enlightening history of the church instead of an address.

The meeting was held in the church. The chairman announced that arrangements had been made for the meeting on August 10th to be at Rotherfield. The September meeting on the 14th will be at Hever and will be combined with a stoolball match between two teams from within the Guild. The trophy will be a pin of beer, the only stipulation being that it must be consumed on the field of play. If it should rain this will probably be replaced by a darts match in the Village Hall.

Names will be collected by Mr. C. A. Bassett for the outing on October 12th, starting next month.
Thanks were given to the incumbent for laking the service and for the use of the bells, and to Eric Knapp for making the arrangements. George Fry and Coral Spiller were congratulated on their engagement. R.J.E.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Ashford District

The Ashford District meeting at Hythe on July 20th will rank as important in the annals of the Kent County Association, as a decision was taken to augment the Newchurch bells from five to six as the John Willis Memorial.
Ringing commenced at $3 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and the service was conducted by the Vicar, Canon $E$. A. Newman. The fine organ was played by Miss Anne Barber, and Mr. R. A. Birch read the lesson. A splendid tea for the 80 people present, representing 22 towers, was arranged. in the Parish Hall by the local ringers, and the business meeting was mainly devoted to the John Willis Memorial. A vote of thanks to the workers of the day was proposed by Mr. W. Bayne, of Mersham.

Ringing continued until 9 p.m. and ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Major.

Loughborough Foundry Visited

Castor, Peterborough, bellringers, accompanied by visitors from Glinton, Thornhaugh and Wansford, left at $8.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on July I6th for their annual summer outing, which was spent in the Loughborough district.

The first stop was at the bellfoundry, where we were shown around and told how bells were made and finished in their various stages. Ringing on the foundry campanile bells followed until lunch at the Three Nuns.

The afternoon programme started at Hathern, where rounds and call changes were rung by our young and inexperienced ringers. At Copt Oak (6), where ringing was enjoyed by all, and at Markfield several Minor methods were attempted, assisted by two ringers from the village. Non-ringers were entertained here on the village green by Morris dancers from Gloucester.

After tea we visited Desford, where the ropes unfortunately were much too low. Kirkby Mallory and Peckleton, thanks to the invitation of the Kirkby tower captain, completed the evening ringing.

To tower captains and incumbents we extend our sincere thanks: also to the organisers and Mr. Hill, the coach driver. F.O.

CORRECTIONS & AMENDMENTS

The ringer of the 4 th in the peal at Alton. Stafls, on June 29th, was Rowan S. Bradley and not Richard S. Bradley, as inadvertently submitted.

The composition of Stedman Caters on page 576 contains a misprint. The single at 16 in the middle of the ten-course block A should be two bobs.-Richard Inglis.

Mr. P. Amos complains that a misprint appeared in his article on the weights of tenors. That of Exton tenor should be 15 cwit. 2 qr. 2u lb., the weight passed on to him hy Messrs. Taylors after they had rehung the bells.

Will correspondents please note that April Day is not a variation but is Spliced Plain Bob and Reverse St. Bartholomew. Similarly, both Clifford's Pleasure and Northrepps are Reverse Canterbury and Reverse St. Bar-tholomew.-F.T.B.

Ringing in U.S.A. is definitely there 10 stay and is getting stronger day by day."
Frank C. Price's impression after his last tour. William Butler, of 26. Bartield Road, Thatcham. Berks, will be pleased to hear from any other Williams who are interested in a name peal.

The two sons of the Rev. H. G. Mitchell, Rector of Fulbeck. Lincs-Siephen (15) and Martin (18)-rang their first peal at Fulbeck Parish Church on June 29th. The conductor was Mr. James H. Musson. who had the pleasure of shepherding another first-pealer-William King-on a very enjoyable occasion.
Some 23 teams are expected to take part in the third annual rally of the Handbell Ringers of Great Britain at Ecclesfield Comprehensive School, neap Sheffield. A commitiee meeting is to be held at 1.45 p.m.. when is is hoped that one representative from cach registerod team will be present.

A legacy has been left to St . Cuthbert's C . of E. Church, Prospect. South Australia, for a ring of bells. Inquiries are being made in England
Mr. Tom Goodyer. after his very successtul peal tour with "Wratien's Wringers," has been spending a week with Mr. G. W. Pipe at Ipswich.

Would any Geoffreys interested in ringing an all-Geoffreys peal of Surprise Royal please contact Geoffrey R. Drew, Monsal. Bredon. Tewkesbury, Glos. Information re preferences of method. place and time would be helpful. Irate reader: "Surely you are paid to print peals. and not your opinions," after the Editor had altered a footnote. We are informed by the Records Committee that official "longest lenghs " do not start until 6.720 changes Mr. Jirn Hedgcock writes pointing out that the peal of 5.184 Plain Bob Minimus rung at Alkham. ## RECORD LENGTH OF MAXIMUS " IN HAND"

The greatest number of changes to a peal on 12 handbells was rung at Marple, Cheshire, on July 6th, when 13,140 Kent Treble Bob Maximus (Cam variation) was rung in 7 hours and 32 minutes. The peal was arranged and conducted by Brian J. Woodruffe.

136 DOUBLES PEAL WELCOME

A new record in Doubles methods for the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild was established by Mr. Derek C. Jackson at Binstead on July 13th, when 136 variations were rung. The occasion was to welcome the Rev. C Edwards to the parish. The new incumbent listened to the last 14 hours of the peal from his garden and finally entered the belfry when "Stand" had been called to find out " what ringers were like after such a feat of endurance." Meanwhile Mrs. Edwards had prepared a truly magnificent feast for the band in the Vicarage and they cannot thank her enough for such splendid hospitality.
It had originally been planned to achieve 150 variations. Mr. Jackson, however, writes explaining how his hopes had been thwarted by Amendment 3 of the motion passed by the Central Council, which he states "indicates that we must now ring all 16 of the Grand-sire-Antelope-Norwich variations in full, and that eight extents are no longer acceptable."
It was on May 1st that Mr. Edwards, of Testwood Parish, was inducted to Binstead. Then six members of Totton Grammar School Ringing Society, logether with over 100 members of the congregation, travelled to Binstead for the service. Unfortunately an attempted quarter of May Day Doubles came to grief in the tenth extent, and the peal on July 13th was one of welcome.

ASHFORD GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL

On July 6th the 23 cwt. cight at Ashford, Kent, were rung for the Founder's Day service of the Ashford High School for Girls by a band consisting of seven pupils of the school and one staft member. This was the first time for several years that a band from the school had rung for this service. The ringing had been organised by the staft member. Mrs. Jennifer Manger. The girls normally ring for Sunday services at various churches in and Sunday services around Ashford.

PROGRESS AT BURGESS HILL
It was a red letter day for the band at St. John the Evangelist's. Burgess Hill, on July 14th when they rang a quarter peal for the dedication of the new daughter church of St. Edward by the Bishop of Chichester.
Ringing was by the regular Sunday service band with the exception of the conductor, Mr. Ken Knight. a former member. who now lives at Chichester. Three members rang their first quarter and one of them, Miss A. Lloyd, came in at the last minute and proved to be very efficient on the treble.
This was the first quarter peal on the bells for about three and a half years and says much for the hard work of the captain. Mr. D. Anderson, who has now plenty of learners. Thanks are also due to Mr. Ken Knight for his help on this and other occasions.
The bells are now out of action until about Christmas as they are being overhauled and rehung by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who installed them in 1904.

NEW GUILD SECRETARIES-No. 3

At this year's annual general meeting of the Sussex County Association Mr. Alan R. Baldock, of Westham, Pevensey, was elected general secretary in succession to Mr. R. H Percy. who had held the post for 15 years.
A Sussex man, Mr. Baldock was born at Eastbourne in 1943 and from an early age has been connected with St. Mary's Church, having joined the choir in 1952. He was taught to handle a bell there by his eldest brother. Leslie. and the basic principles of change ringing were expounded to him by Mr. Harold Reynolds, the present captain of St. Mary's band.
Alan's first peal was Cambridge Major, to which he rang the treble at Steyning in 1961. It was conducted by Mr. Derek Sibson. the present secretary of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. Alan joined the Society in 1962. and his present peal total is 84 , of which he has conducted 39.
In 1961 Mr. Roy Fuller restarted the band at Westham and it was through attending their practices that Alan met his future wife. Mr. Fuller's daughter Christine. and eventually married her in 1965. In 1966 the Fullers moved to Swanage. Dorset, and the choice of captain at Westham fell on Alan. Christine and Alan have now a babv daughter, Rachel, who was born in Mav this year.

Among the offices Alan has held is Ringing Master of the Eastern Division of the Sussex County Association. to which he was appointed in 1963 . He has now graduated to the hon. general secretaryship. and the best wishes of many friends accompany him as he tackles the varied problems facing this big Association.

DETAILS WANTED

Dear Sir,-Perhaps one of the members of the Records Committee would care to explain how they came to accept the peal of 12,480 Pudsey S. Major rung at loughborough on November 11th. 1967, conducted by R. J. Parker. No notice was given of this peal and the composition has not subsequently been published.-Yours faithfully.

THE AUSTRALIAN AND NEW ZEALAND ASSOCIATION A.G.M.

There was a big muster for the annual general meeting held at Adelaide starting on saturday, June 8th. Upon arrival at St . Peter's Cathedral all were presented with little bell-name tags and beautifully printed programmes.

Ringing continued at the Cathedral until lunch time and in the afternoon at the City Hall and St. Andrew's, Walkerville. The City Hall has lost its personality. The "cage " wall has been removed, as have all the shelves round the sides. There is not much improvement in the bells.
At 5.30 p.m. the members assembled at the Mayoral Parlour at Walkerville, where Paul Evans' father, who is this year's Mayor, held a reception. An hour later the convoy of cars departed for the Marian Hotel, Mitchell Park, where a formal dinner was held.
On Sunday the bells of the Cathedral and Walkerville were manned for the service meeting, which started at $11.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$, and was adjourned at 1.30 for a substantial lunch laid on by Mary Devonshire and the other South Australian girls and ringers' wives. Proceedings eventually finished at 3 p.m. with Jach Roper still president, R. Jolly secretary and Ken Minchinton treasurer. Tony Mann has the job of peal recorder and Ralph Clarke is Ringing Times" editor.
Quarter peals were gained and lost at Walkerville and St. Peter's prior to evening service. Then all crowded into Richard Jolly's lounge for the evening. On the Monday eight strong men and true managed to score a quarter of Bob Major at the City Hall. Then up to the National Park for an excellent barbecue. which has become a tradition of A.N.Z.A.B. gatherings.

A SOMERSET WEDDING

Miss Susan Griffin was married by her father, the Rev. W. G. Griffin, at Angersleigh, Somerset, on July 20th, to Mr. Richard T. Smith, who formerly rang at All Saints', Newport. The five bells at Angersleigh were rung merrily for this happy occasion, the ringers including the Bainham family from Newport.
It was the first meeting for four years of the bridegroom with John Cornelius and Chris Bainham; the last time they met was when they were on tour with the University of Wales Society in 1964.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The meeting of the St. Albans District on July 20 th was held at St. Michael's (8) in the afternoon and the Abbey (12) in the evening At the business meeting after tea in the Abbey Institute Mr. Bert Johnson took the chair.

Everyone was reminded of the barbecue to be held at St. Michael's on September 7th (tickets 5 s . each). The next District meeting will be at Kimpton on August 17th. A new scheme will be in operation then: due to the number of people sitting around at six-bell meetings. six-bell quarter peals are going to be tried the same afternoon. So for the first six to arrive at Kimpton there will probably be another tower arranged with a view to getting someone through something new during the afternoon.

The final figure raised by the Wheathampstead sponsored walk in aid of their bell fund was £132.

A vote of thanks went to the Abbey girls for the excellent tea, the Vicar of St. Michael's for the service, Bob Hardy for playing the organ, and the Dean for the enening ringing.

THE LADIES' GUILI

Furtber ringing took place at vurioun cowers until 6 p.m., when some 70 members and friends ussembied at Mayilower Place, Hertingfordbury, for dinner. Mrs. E. Parfrey presided and Mr. David Kiag aited as roast. mister.
The tonst of "The Church" was propuned by Mrs. Jacqueline King with that poewy of voice and language whice seems to come more nuturally to the Welsh than to the rest of us, and the response by the Rev. A. Bradley held everyone's interest ay be described the origin of ringing. This differed considerably from the usual version given in textbouks, but was much more humorous (and, is betitted the occusion, gave far more credit than is usually attributed to the female sex).

The toasi of "The Ladies" Guild" was proposed by Mr. R. Hardy, who in the course of a ligbt-hearted speech suid that he was not going 10 give the ladies a pat on the back, ulthough he was probably expected to, because the fact that the Guild had existed for 50 yeurs and had met in strength there that eveniag was a grester tribute than he could pay.

When the newly-elected president rose to reply she was greeted with an ovation which was not only a personal tribute but also an expression of everyone's sympathy. During the day some of us had heard that ber husbund the day some of us had heard that ber husbund been submitted by several Districts for the office of president, and how proud of her and the family he would have been for the gallant and courageous way they bad carried everyone with them throughout the day.
Mrs. Parfrey said bow much the Ludies" Guild meant to her personally, and the oppor. tunities it gave members to meet each other as the venue for the unnual generel meeting moved around the country-last year at Liocoln, the year at St. Albans, next year Mais chester. She also paid tribute to the ulder members, several of whom had been present during the day, and two of whom, Mrs. E. Mitchell and Mrs. A. Richardson, were at she dinner. Mrs. Parfrey then thanked those who had done so much to make the day a successthe Rev. A. Bradley for the service and his speech that evening. Miss Ware, who had arranged the dinner. Mrs. Darvill and her helpers for the lunch. and the Centrul District secretary, Mrs. J. Hooton, for wll the arrangements for the meeting and the ringing.
Miss Valerie Ware welcomed the visitors. especially the Rev, and Mrs. A. Bradley. She also had a special word for the "supporters." who, in the Central District anyway. nos only rang the heavier bells at meetings but aiso did the washing-up while tbe ladits held their business meeting.
Mr. J. Bramley, who replied to the towst. cast an anxious cye in the direction of she kitchen lest the supporters were expected to wash-up that evening.

The room was then cleared and dancing continued until a late hous, with a short interval, when two of the "supporters " gave a most delightful and entertaining puppet sbow.

DOINGS IN DEVON

Comments have been going around at Devon competitions which mase it seem that this series is proving useful, so we hope that it may be able to continue. One feature of the competitions in July was the appearance of a method-ringing band all the way from Seend, Wiltshire, at the Down St. Mary Shield competition. It sounds as though they found that call change ringing was not quite as easy as it looks, but they made history and we hope that their example may be followed in the future. Swymbridge won the shield with 22 faults, followed by Cheriton Fitzpaine (not recently among the leaders) with 35 , and a band from Black Torrington makes us hopeful that ringing may be picking up there, too Down St. Mary entered a band containing four of their girl ringers.
August will give visitors two competitions in perfect surroundings for an afternoon in the country. On August 3rd the Bill Miners Cup will be competed for at Widecombe-in-the-Moor-it was given by Bill, not in memory of him: he wanted a Bill Miners cup and. being Bill, he was not going to miss any of the fun so he gave it in plenty of time to see and hear it rung, we hope, for many years to come. On the 24th is the Meavy Cup competition, and if you have been to Devon and have not been to Meavy you have missed one of the most delightful things in the county. The oak on the village green is one of the oldest trees in the kingdom-and looks old enough for Noah to have sat under. The church is a gem, the Royal Oak is a real old country pub and there is a first-rate six to listen to.
A lot of nonsense still seems to be talked about relations between call change and method ringers. One story we heard last month may help to scotch it. The Emmanuel, Plymouth. band had three weddings in one day to ring for and could not man the tower for all of them. Plymstock, the current six-bell champions of the call change world, heard of their predicament and came in to help them out. Call change ringers welcome any ringers in their towers: the only things they do not like are bad striking and being regarded as backward yokels.

MRS. MAY W. TEAGUE

The death took place in her home in Woodston, Hunts, on July 14th, of Mrs. May Teague, aged 85 years. Formerly Mrs. Datson it is by this name that Mrs. Teague will be remembered by a number of Woodston's early lady ringers who have now moved to various other districts. Only recently did failing health bring an end to Mrs. Teague's services as bellringer and P.C.C. member, it being over 50 years since her ringing began.

The funeral was on July 17 th, and on the previous evening a half-muffled quarter peal was rung after the body had been brought to lie in the church.

MR. ALBERT J. HUGHES

Mr. W. Cathrall, hon. secretary of the North Wales Association, writes that he understood the funeral of Mr. Albert J. Hughes, of Bangor, was on June 29th. Mr. Hughes did most of his ringing in the Bradford and Birmingham areas and returned to North Wales after his recirement from the railway.
Mr. Cathrall believes that Albert was a founder of the North Wales Association but of late he had not done much ringing on account of ill-health. His last peal was 5,056 Cambridge Surprise Major rung at Pulford. Cheshine. on June 23rd, 1951, for the North Wales Association,

A LONE PILGRIM'S PROGRESS IN AMERICA

MARCH 15th dawned a little cloudy, drear and cold as the Pilgrim set out on his trip. Having been duly delivered at the Victoria Air Terminal early in the morning and gone through the process of booking in, a small coffee party and a small briefing, he boarded at Heathrow a V.C. 10 , together with 70 others from various firms (not connected with ringing), in a special small trade mission to the U.S.A. and Canada.
At that time, being a little nervous of air flight, there were some moments of trepidation until the aircraft had finally settled on its journey, which commenced at 11.20 a.m. It was soon obvious that a good time was to be had by all and things were to be done on a grand scale After a sumptuous lunch followed by other fortifications, the Pilgrim began to feel that perhaps life wasn't so bad after all!
The plane landed at Boston, Mass, at 12.30 p.m. (What happened to the six hours?) in a temperature of 30 degrees after passing over the mouth of the still frozen St. Lawrence and the also frozen river at Boston. The pattern, however, was soon to change as within a few hours the temperature soared into the 60 's.

MET BRITISH AMBASSADOR

After being transported to the hotel came a very short period for rest and cleaning up, followed by a somewhat longer briefing on American customs and business, together with the schedule for the next few days. The party was then whisked to the residence of the Consul-General to meet the British Ambassador and a reception with further fortification.
The first ringing connection came with the arrival of Geofirey Davies, late of Birmingham and now of Brandeis University, who escorted T. P. to supper to meet the family and the tirst encounter with an American ringer in the shape of Joan Hutchinson. Having, however, nearly fallen asleep at 11.30 p.m. (it was, after all, $5.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. in England), it was a case of home to bed.
Saturday, after more briefings and business meetings, saw the visit to the first tower, at Hingham. The bells are a Mears ten (about 21 cwt.) hung in a slender brick campanite, and after seeing the bells, whilst no ringing took place, T.P. had his first taste of American hospitality, which was to be a pattern for the weeks to come. Here due to the vast and untiring efforts of David Gifford. Gene Gardner and others, an almost derelict ring had been made ringable and a keen band started with the assistance of Geoff and Doctor Tudor Morris from Swansea. The bells are by no means easy to ring but bad "go" was easily outweighed by the keen enthusiasm-a tower and band well worthy of assistance from any visiting ringers. At present there are also Nigel and Margaret Bearne from Kent, who are rendering yeoman service. In the evening came a "pizza" party, where it seemed that the whole village had turned up (was it really jam and pilchards?).
Sunday saw a visit to the tower at Perkins Institute, another Mears eight still obviously ringable, but not now rung due to local opposition and other reasons not printable.

RADIO BROADCAST

Monday saw the opening of an exhibition and the first business of the tour-this also was to set a pattern. During the lunch hour the two foundry representatives took part in a radio programme broadcast from the hotel dining room, at the invitation of a well-known local celebrity, where, between mouthfuls of steak and commercials, many questions were answered on bells and bellfounding. One or two political questions were popped in and answered according to their merits-e.g." Who do you favour, Kennedy or McCarthy," to be answered with . . "I'm sorry, I don't know anything about baseball." (Crunch.)
Monday evening saw a visit to the famous (?) Durgin's Park Restaurant. where T.P. was

MR. W. A. THEOBALD

This was not the Pilgrim's first visit to America. In 1928 he left school and ran away to sea, and sailed in three ships of the Canadian Pacific Steamhip Company during a period of 12 months.

He learned to ring at Portsmouth, and was working at Salisbury when the ban was litaed and took part in the ringing at St . Thomas' Church. In 1944 he became secretary, treasurer and Ringing Master of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, offices he held for little more than a year.

In 1947 he joined the staff of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry as a bellhanger and has worked on many famous bells. He has rung in 1,300 towers and scored about 350 peals (conducted about 75).
amazed to see a lady eating a "beef" chop, also to see the look on a colieague's face at the gargantuan size of the pork chops, and to hear the waitress comment "Wassa marrer wid jew?" to which was added further comment, on being told it was too much to eat, "Ja wanna doggie bag?"

The take-off for Atlanta, Georgia, was at night ; how beautiful is the sight of a lighted city viewed from the air, most were like lighted jewels. Here again briefings, meetings, visits. exhibition and interviews with potential customers, followed by a literally "flying" visit to Charleston, South Caroliina.

Here, due to an earthquake which had caused the tower to settle several inches, and a frame on stilts too high in the tower, ringing is impossible and the bells are "clocked" electrically. Seven wheels still remain but the tenor wheel had been removed to make way for a ladder to the spire above. These bells have had a chequered career: cast by the Whitechapel Foundry in 1764, they were brought back to England during the War of Independence and later returned and rehung locally. On removal again, during the Civil War, they were destroyed by fire and later recast again at Whitechapel in 1865.

WASHINGTON'S EXAMPLE

Next, on to Washington, where, there being no exhibition, Pilgrim was able to pay a visit to the Cathedral for some ringing on the Mears ten. Here again was an example of the limitless enthusiasm of the American ringers. To coin an Americanism "Boy! Are Rick. Jack and the girls good!" Good ringing. loads of enthusiasm, a well-controlled belfry and, above all, a high standard of ringing which could well set an example for some British towers. Ringing was half-muftled, and what a glorious sound.

Here also Pilgrim had his first example of the American ability to learn quickiy, which was to show up again and again in other quarters. Quite obviously our American irienus have a ditieren mentai approans to ringing and their concentration seems to be much greater. Here also to meet Rick's father, Wayne Dirksen, who Pulgrim had the pleasure of teaching to hande a bell waile in England.

After a few days it was on to St. Louis, with temperatures soaring up into the 80's. No bellis here as yet, or at Minneapolis, the next stop. At the latter came the contact by telephone with Daniel Robbins, the carillonneur at the Rockefeller Chapel at Chicago, tollowed by an invitation to visit the Mitchell tower.

CHICAGO PROSPECTS

As Pilgrim virtually had to thy over Chicago to reach Montreal, ne took advantage of this and, having been met at the airport by an English ringer, was duly delivered at the tower to inspect the bells and meet the local ringers. Here is a Whitecnapel ten in a steel frame, ounc, nowever, on a massive wuruen oriuge to carry the weight lower in a rather thin tower; ringing is mulcult, ine oack dens nevor being rung. However, here agan dimicult conaitions were countered by gieat enthusiasm and hospitality. These people would be grateful for any help by visiting ringers. Kinging, at least during semesters, is at Saturday lunchturne and auy visior is auvistu iu cuntact Daniel Robbins, c/o Rockefeller Memorial Cnaper, Cllucagu Unversicy, vawago, hamous; they will be assured of a great welcome. Pilgrim found them most cheerful and hospitable, and his stay all too briet, but including a look at the wonderful Gllett carillon and to hear the majestic back four rung electrically.
On to Montreal for the nnal exhibition and business wrus. nure a.tenspis is contacı ringing towers drew a blank. Montreal bells are huw ruing elculrıaュy, anu vuecel cuwess at the moment are having a lean time. Pilgrim nad oeen co miontical sume is years desore but attempts to recognise old haunts drew a blank due to the great changes in the city. It was amusing to see the look on a coach driver's face during a sightseeing tour, when told during a talk on the bells of Notre Dame, Montreal, "You had better be right because we nave a man srom ue nirm wat instaued tnem aboard." Finally came the day to say farewell to the main party, who were returning to England whilst Pilgrim carried on to the chief object of his visit, to install the eight at Smith College, Northampton, Mass, already described in another article.

The hrst leg wa, to ooston, where Pilgrim was met by Joan Hutchinson and whisked into the city for a short stay before going on. Due to the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King things were a bit grim, but a quick enjoyable visit to Hingham was made, this time for a short ring. (Io be continued)

A New Concept in Bell Towers at Sussex Expo

THOUSANDS SEE EXPO BELFRY AT ARDINGLY

"First time I've ever hung a ring of bells in a held.'
How do you expect me to ring London with a breeze like this whistling round my ankles?
"But can't I have a pull? I've got a bus to catch at eight oclock."
And so, in breathless disarray, Sussex Expo - 68 clattered 10 tis triumphant conclusion. Triumphant indeed. The weather was perfect. The people came. The roads were jammed for miles around. Some say that more than a hundred thousand passed through the gates. Our children saw and our grandchildren will hear tell of the ring of bells that was pus up in the field at Ardingly. How you could see the bells turn and the ringers ring and of the crowds that stood. And the way they clapped at the end of each touch and why won's you ring more often, please.
For two lony summer days the people streamed through the Sussex ringers' tent. From the dedicated mind and practical skill of George Elphick came the essence of ringing history from antiquity to the present day. Robert Newton and his friends tirelessly laboured to explain the mysteries of the Exercise. Spontuneity in handbell ringing well illustrated the easy informality of the ocicasion.

WAITING RINGERS

By half past six on Saturday about 150 ringers were straining at the barrier for the open meeting to begin, for up to this moment all the ringing had been by good Sussex men under the direction of their Master. Mr. Reginald Johnson. Ringing was delayed while the closing stages of the arena programme wete enacted and the patience of those waiting was sorely tried. At last a start was made with a short touch of Stedman by one of the now "resident" bands and immediately there followed the auful realisation that an immense problem faced the organisers of this open meeting. That the bells were yuite manageable had been demonstrated throughout the twoday exhibition, and in particular by the wellstruck quarter peal rung on Saturday morning, but with the presence of such a large number of ringers having varied experience and knowing only too well that this would be their only chance of a pull on the eight as Ardingly, drama was inevitable.

Within two hours, however, almost all who came had at least stood under the tower, tope in hand-some had even rung changes. Io wards the end. when most of the tumult had died away, a course of London was lapped out in tine style, tive of the bells being without stays by this time!

INTELLIGENT PRESENTATION

There will be many memories of this ex* hibition. some happy, some not so. That the object of presenting ringing intelligibly to the general public was well achieved. cannot be in dispute. High praise and all credit musi go to George EIpnick and to the Whitecthapel Foundry, without whose substantial aid this thing could never have heen.
In the comparative calm of the following Monday morning a peal of Yorkshire was suc* cessfully broughe round, Trevor Bailey standing. spanner in hand, to dismantle the bells just as soon as the ringing ceased.
All 100 soon (or perhaps just in the nick of time. for if seems unlawful persons had their cyes on thems the bells were down and away to Whitechapel, and the tower followed soon after Ihe Expo belfry did fat more than exhibit bells and ringers in action. A logical development of the radial bell frames pioneered by Whitechapel it Liverpool and Washingion Cathedrals, it opens the way to a new concept in the design of ringing bell cowers.

ECONOMICAL

Constructed on a smull scale in rectangulat hollow section stiuctural steel, the Expo belfty was designed to carry a ring of eight in the key of $E$ with a $4 \frac{1}{6}$ cwt. tenor. The total werght of the bells was one ton, yet the inlegral tower and bell frame, which was quite rigid during ringing, weighed a bare 21 tons. The radial disposition of the bells completely eliminated tortional stresses in the tower, and this principle carried out in consrete is capable of being employed with rings of any weight and number.

The staditional bell frame of cast iron and steel with fis regular need of maintenance is therefore dispensed with.
A price of $$ 2,875$ was mentioned for the Expo belfry and belle complete and erected. While this does not include the eight concrete foundation pads or the tower cladding which would be designed by the church architect, it briags the price of a small lower and bells down to a realistic level in line with the budgetary limitations of many new churches.

It fe to be hoped that the interest shown by ringers with their questions and their cameras will infect those whose responslbility it is to instal bells in new churches, in which case Expo Sussex 1968 will indeed have shown the way.

ALL WALIS RINGING TRIBUTE TO NEW ARCHBBSHDP  WEDNESDAY, JLLY $17 \mathrm{th}, 1968$

$\mathrm{O}^{\mathrm{N}}$N a bleak and rain-soaked September day in 1949 the Dean of Llandaft siood it to meet John Morgan as he came to he enthroned as Archbishop of Wales. In the Jasper Tower the ten hells, unsafe to ring. chimed suletly overhead; the nave root. a temporary aflair of scaffolding and tarpaulins, flapped in the strong wind, disgorging great cascades of rainwater on to the luckless congregation.

Nearly 19 years later the same man stood again at that west door but so many thing, had changed. Dr. Glyn Simon. Dean in 1949. came this tome as the Archbishon seeking en: thronement, to a Cathedral restored to its full glory, hasking in the sunshine of a summer's afternoon. The bells. rehung in 1953. rang out their mesiage of welcome to a congregation representing all facess of the life of Wales.
It should be explained that the Archbishopric of Wales is not tied to one Cathedral as at Canterhury. but that the Cathedral of the Bishon who is elected to be Archbishop becomes the Metropolitical Church so long as that Bishop remains Archbishop.)

RINGERS FROM EVERY DIOCESE

We felt in Ilandalf that this was in every sense a provincial occasion and that it should he fully recoznised ns such. so. with the ready agreement of the Dean. invitations were dispatched to every diocesan ringing association in the province asking each to send a representative ringer to join the Cathedral Quild hoth before and after the service. Every Association agreed to send someone. and so there assembled in the Jasper Tower representative band-a thing that has never before ocen achieved for such a service, if af all: the Master and secretury of the Noth Wales Assn., Mr. F. R. Evans, and Mr. W. Cathrall, Mr. Phillip Rogers from Pembroke. Mr, John Willams (Swansca and Brecon Quild), Mr. Guyn Lewis (a former Master of the Llandafi Association) and the Rev. Ron lucas from the Monmouth Diocese. To these were added 12 members of the Llandaff Cathedral Guild (all those who were able to come, did come) and for good measure Mr. Trevor Roderick, who came to the service as a member of the governing body of the Church in Wales. The secretary of the Cathedral Guild, Fellicity Cooke. had the misfortune to be confined to hed and missed the event completely !

Before the service the less experienced memhers of the Cathedral band had the chance to ring rounds so they could at least say that they had rung at the enthronement service, and the bells were kept going with touches of Grandsire and Siedman Caters and Little Boh Roval until the colourful procession of Bishops reached the west door.

The whole service was tele-recorded by the B.B.C, and transmitted on the B.B.C. Wales Television network late the same evening. This programme opened with a view of the tower and the sound of Stedman Caters being rung hy a hand which included mose of the visitors and which was being conducted by Nicholas Simon. whose father waited below for his enthronement. The commentary spoke of the fact that for the first time a provincial band had heen assembled and that the Archbishop's son was among them.
During the service the ringers bad an uninterrupted if comewhat cramped view of the proceedings from the west front gallery. and as the Archbishop emerged from the Cathedral into the summer sun ut the close of the service the bells rang out once more. Grandsire Caters and Plain Bob Royal lasted for abour half an hour before the band dispersed once mote to the corners of the province.

THE EVENINO PEAL

After Cathedral Evensons the day's ringing was brought to its conclusion with a peal of Orandsire Caters conducted by Nicholas Simon in his father's honour. Amonest those who rang were David Llewellyn, who at that previous enthronement had been a Cathedral chorister. Nevl! James. who had a hand in chiming for the rervice in September, 1949, and John Owen, on holiday from Canada, who came to listen to the peal and found himselt ringing the sixth with undiminished skill. The fourth was rung by the Rev. Geoffrey Stickland, former vice-captain of the Cathedral Gulld, who, together with David Llewellyn, "circled the tower" with this peal, while Nicholas Simon completed "circling the tower" for the second time. The remainder of the band were Susan liarber, formerly secretary of the Cathedral Guild, and her fiancee, Ellfs Thomas, Stephen Fenwick, who is the Cathedral's vice-captain this yeat. with Charles Quartley ringing the ninth and Chris Ricketts on the tenor.
We would like to feel that the day's ringing Was worthy of this great day in the life of the Church in Wales and that the wish to observe it as a truly national cvent was achieved. Ou! thanks are due to those ringers who travelled long distances to join us is Llandaff and we hope that they enjoyed their visit as much as we appreciated awing them at this service.

AFTERTHOUGHTS ON BELLS AND BELLRINGING

3 (a).-RINGERS

YVE come now to those ladies and gentlemen who have passed the rudiments and can now regard themsetves as "ringers," although to be sure all of us have realised that we are suli learners, nevercheless. Few indeed there must be who could say of change ringing that they have no more to learn. Ringers do, however, vary considerably in knowledge and comperence; the miracle, to my mind, has been the wonderful way in which bands composed of men and women, or even boys and girls, of varying abilities and stages of learning can. undet a good leader, be welded into a cohesive ringing performance. The outsider might think that the various members are all of one standard of competence, which indeed is not always the case. This perhaps is one of the reasons for the so often mentioned "team work" of bellringers.
Much depends upon the leader and much upon the loyalty of the members to him or her. The above has been said before, I imagine. but it does apply equally 10 a band intent only upon Sunday service ringing as to an organised ringing band intent upon scoring peals in strange towers; discipline of the highest order produces the best results. This ideal situation is seldom achieved, some would say, yet it does occus and should be the constant aim; it involves discipline without repression of occasional contrary views among comrades.
Most of us have known towers where a reasonably competent leader has been more or less humstrung by poor attendance on the part of some of his band for one reason or another. The progress is on "half-cock," so to say, year in and year out. A rower will have a period of fair progress but upon the leaving of one or two, or by death, it will have a slack period; only the persistence of the leader keeping things alive. Small wonder that such a leader decides to get his best ringing where it can be found, with odd, and similar cases to his own joined up into a peal ringing clique; running his own tower as best he may.
On the other hand, we all know of towers where, from time to time, a band of young would-be ringers suddenly surges up. The Vicar has wondered why his bells are silent. or nearly so, on Sundays; calls for volunteers, youngsters of both sexes come forward, in: nocent of any knowledge of the subject. I have seen photographs of such bands in local papers, mostly holding handbells. Well, the publecity is secured, but unless a really competent ringer can be found to get them started, the silence is as profound as ever after a short time.

There would be little hope of the bells in some towers being rung but for the University Societies. These are composed, as is known, mainly of people already having some inkling. and in some cases competent youngsters
The old "stand-by" ringers who never left their locality ate a fast disappearing class and the authorities can rarely call upon them now. There are so many different types of people who take un ringing that it would be impossible to point to any particular type of person and say "That is the sort who will make the best ringer ": one can never tell. The most unlikely looking learner sometimes turns out to be brilliant, but lazy-another will be a plodder, far from lazy, yet gets left behind in the race to proficiency in spite of his efforts. Even so, if such a one attains moderate proficiency, and is reliable, he is to be preferred in a Sunday service band to the former, who sees it all and can perform well when he is present. Often he is just not there when needed to assist in teaching others, unless he turns ub late to assist in the final touch at practice, when the learners have had their whack.

From one of iwo instances I have seen it is not always necessary to have a brilliant conductor to hold bund together, although, if progress 10 higher methods is required it is certainly desirable.
A case I have in mind is of a six-bell tower where for many years a band rang nothing much else than Plain Bob Minor, and I believe with the same man to each bell always. The plain course was called "first sixty"" the next "second sixty." and so on. A book in the tower records many 360 's rung with home bobs with a single halfway, and it would seem this was the extent of their capability, A closer inspection of the book might reveal more than thas, however. This band, in process of time, died out, leaving, I think. one ringer, who in more recent years proceeded to build up fresh company. His success as far as Sunday ringing was concerned was remarkable. Boys and girls joined up, the vereran taught them to handle their ropes well. With a little outside help they were soon ifinging Plsin Bob, the veteran ringing in his old position on the 4th. He could not conduct. but one or two of the boys soon showed promise in this direction and they soon had a repertoire of three or four methods. The leader allowed this to proceed, not being able to take much part in it himself, but he held the band together and could obtain replacements, apparently with ease, when ringers left for college or any other reason.
One of the boys at least turned out to be very good indeed and relieved our veteran of any worries in respect to bob calling. The leader* was loved and respected and, until ill health compelled him to retire, remained in charge of the tower.
Another case of this sort of thing 4810 well known that it scarcely needs any words from me.
I refer now to Marple, Cheshire, where lor many years a band had contested with a rough-going six; with some success, considering the conditions in this curious old tower (now, by the way, without tts original church, which was pulled down, but isself well restored, bells rehung and augmented to eight).
A few years ago a gentleman $\dagger$ employed by the Electricity Board lived for a time in Marple. He had slight knowledge of ringing but a vast ability in tandling young people. The previous conductor $\ddagger$ had left the districe and things were not so good in respect 10 keeping this clumsy old ring going. The bells were excellent for tone but almost incredibly heavy-going. Our gentleman got rogether boys and girls and set to work to teach them, being only a Bob Minor ringer himself. He took them to meetings, made them feel they were part of something and held them 10 . gether. In a short while he confessed that most of them knew much more than he did.
It is rather curious that a complete band should all make almost equal progress in ringing and all stick to it as they did.

In process of time some left for other duties in life and the leader himself moved to a job in another part of the country. Today those lads and girls admit that they owe it all to his leadership at the time they were learning and after. It may be invidious to mention names in this connection, but all knew of the exploits of the hoys and more than one of us "old uns" have admired the precise ringing of Christine MacNair. There are others, of course. and they learnt on an almost impossible ring of bells under a man who at the time knew just a little about ringing. This all goes to show that where good leadership and lovalty to the leader combine. almos! any difficulty can be overcome

Rev. JDIIN SCDTT TAKES IIS RINGERS TD DTHER TDWERS

Newton St. Cyres ringers chose a warm day -not an easy thing to do this year-for their outing on July 20th, setting out with 14 ringers and two dependants in a hired minibus driven by a rather nervous Vicar. First stop was Payhembury, where a tine 15 cwt. six including three medizval bells went extremely well in spite of the long draught. From there it was only a short trip to Buckerell, but a big contrast. Mr. Frank Parr and his collie, "Scot," were waiting for us, and once we had got used to the very light six ( 8 cwt.) we were delighted with them; iwo good old were delighted with them; iwo good old bells at the back and a front four, which are a good example of the Whitechapel fixir for making little bells which really sing.

Awliscombe brought us back to the heavy stuff again with a vengeance; the very lovely church with its beautiful white Beer-stone screen has a six with a 191 cwt. renor by Thomas Purduc, which does credit even to that great founder. The only pity of it is that the treble rope is drawn in the clockchamber sharply over two tiny iron pulleys, which makes such a noise that one loses much of the pleasure of ringing such a good six.
Lunch was taken in Oitery, those with picnics taking theirs down to the bauks of the Otter, where the river bed was strewn with debris from the floods, including a complete garage door half buried in the shingle. At 2.15 we found Mr. C. J. Turner waiting for us at the noble church and soon had the lovely Taylor eight going to Triples and call changes with some help from Charlie Yares and Mr. Jack Arbury. A broken rope on the 5 th (we breed 'em strong in Newton) caused $n$ little delay but enabled some of the youngsters to see the bells in their well-kept beltry. When people are frightened of blocking soundholes for fear the bells will not be audible they should go to Ottery. There the sound-holes are very small indeed to start with, and they are boarded right over, and the bells sound quite superb.

Some tricky driving through narrow, hilly lanes brought ils to Sidbury. Very few Devon churches have Norman towers, none I think so fine as this one, and the bells are excellent to match-a mixed eight which sound very fine and go like tops but are just a trifle noisy in the ringing chamber.

There was time for tea or a quick swim at Sidmouth but not really time for both, so we were little late at Harpford, but it did not matter because when we got the bells up it was all too painfully clear that the 3rd of this little Warner six was in bad wuy. Investigation revealed a four-inch crack in the soundbow, bus no sign as to how it could have happened-u gieat pity.

The last tower of the day was ut Eust Budleigh, where we were ushered into a ringing chamber which can only be described as palatial-fitted carpet, mats under the ropes, wallpapered walls, the lot-a great credit 10 the East Budlegh ringers. Not content with appointing their lower so well, they are now saving up for a set of handbells!
The standard of ringing over the day was patchy, as one might expect from a band more than half of whom had hardly rung outside their home tower, but the following even ing the service ringing showed that the day had been profitable as well as entertaining.

HADDISCOE. NORFOLK. - On July 7th. 1.32 v Double (three methods): A. 1. Walpole 1, 1. W. Forder 2. N. P. 1. Cossey 3. O. G Walpole (cond.) 4. J. M. Clarke 5. Rung for the Service of Licensing the Rev. J. H. S. Broushton as Youth Chaplain in the Arendeeconry of Norfolly and at Viger is the Ravet iaghach Gioup of Parlubes.

Letters

CANBERRA'S CARILLON

Dear Sir, While it is gratifying to know that Englisn bells are to be used in this, surely the suggestion of the Overseas Committee (page 49y) tha: high level lobbying in both the Australian and British Parliaments should be tollowed up in this country and with haste.

It should fall to the Association general secretaries to circularise all towers to get their members of voting age to write to their M.P. at the Houve of Commons; the general secretary's letter should indicate the line to be taken on this matter.

If this is not done, and that soon, apathy and fixed bells will remain as a gloomy monument to the failure of English ringers to support their fellow-ringers overseas. whose enthusiasm is apparently boundless, but who cannot boast of having ten towers in almost walking distance as we do.

Action, sir, please-and now.-Yours faithfully,

Whitstable, Kent.

CENTRAL COLNCLL MEETING CORRECTION

Dear Sir-There is one correction 1 should like to make to your report of the meeting of the Central Council at Worcester. This relates to the discussion on the report of the Peals Analysis Committee on page 501 .

In proposing the acceptance of the report the sections I proposed to be deleted were from -. We should welcome further information to the end of the paragraph starting "The following peals are ruled out.

The point of all this was to ensure that the peals of Scientific and the peal of Bob Minor at Dorney be accepted (both significant precedents) is well, of course, as the peals that had been left out for frivolous reasons. Handbell peals of Minimus are still excluded by a previous Decision of the Council.
I assume that by now the amended totals are in the hands of the secretary of the Council and will in due course be published with the minutes.-Yours sincerely,

RICHARD SPEED.
Hillmorton, Rugby.

VECTIS SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,-Others more knowledgeable than myself will doubtless answer Roger Savory's guery about the composition used for the recent peal of Vectis Surprise Major. Might 1 just point out that Roger has rung the composition to which he refers to another method with similar falseness, Walkerville Surprise Major on January 25th, 1964, at East Tytherley. Hants. As the two methods are identical until the treble passes into $7-8$, the incidence of the falseness incurred in the third section of the half-lead is also identical, and the composition will have been truc.

Like Mr. Pink, I. too, was under the impression that the composition was by Mr. Speed; if I remember rightly we took it from "The Ringing World "at the end of 1961, where it was published under Mr. Speed's name as suitable for Turramurra. - Yours faithfully,

DAVID E. HOUSE.

Unravelling Doubles Tangles

Dear Sir.-In reply to Mr. Massey, the correct interpretation of the Worcester meeting is that a few Doubles ringers, by reasoned argument, persuaded the Central Council to recognise Doubles variations. A few years ago sucin a motion would have been thrown out. with a counter proposal that peals containing variations be excluded from the Analysis. After the publication of the agenda wath Mr. C. A. Lewis's motion on it, 1 heard that such opposition was proposed and could well succeed; I therefore put forward more precise and reasoned amendments and these were accepted with only one handful of votes against.
Who is Mr. Massey, to say that Doubles ringers are interested only in the glamour of names such as April Day" My own experience is that Doubles ringers are just as interested as others in learning and ringing more methods: and splicing them. And many heave a sigh of rellet when it is explained that bobs and singles can be forgotten in Spliced Doubles. Does the peal at Compton Bishop on February 24th show a mad desire for April Day?
As Mr. Massey points out, April Day is merely the method Reverse St. Bartholomew with bob lead for plain lead and vice versa. So why name both? And how can both be claimed as a method in one peal? A few years ago Doubles variations consisted of five or six calls used with seven or eight standard methods to give peals in up to 42 methods/ variations. But, as Mr. Massey says, the whizz-kıds have taken over, and seven or eight calls used with five or six methods are mixed together at the direction of the conductor and appear in "The Ringing World " as anything up to or over 99 methods. As nne whizz-man said, It looks good in print, and that is why he does it."
Perhaps Mr. Massey can justify the implication of the last sentence in his third paragraph. The Mehods Committee did all the homework set by the Council with regard to the Frindsbury peal and dividing methods into half-leads. Am I to be reprimanded for being alone in spotting the connection between Decision D8 .(Spliced Peals) and Decision E (Notes, Division between Leads)?

There has been no interference with Grandsire Doubles or any other Doubles method. If you want merely the glamour of names such as April Day, there are dozens of good, simple variations which need naming by being rung to peals.-Yours faithfully,

Windsor.
FRANK T. BLAGROVE.

Dear Sir,-In his reply to Paul Cattermole's letter last week (page 562), the Editor says: A plain lead of Reverse St. Bartholomew is now used as the single in our modern Grandsire Doubles." May I point out that if "April Day" must he recognised as spliced because it uses a plain lead of Reverse St. Bartholomew for a single. then for the same reason the present form of "Grandsire" is not a method but the product of a splice. So, if we are to ohey the new C.C. rulings we surely should no longer employ the title "Grandshould no longer employ the title "Grand-sire" as we now dosire" as we now do.-Yours sincerely,

Eastnor.

BARNEY BELL.

Note.-The only interpretation of the C.C. Decisions possible is that April Day is neither a method nor a variation and must therefore be called spliced in peal reports.
But Grandsire is a method, and therefore the common extents may be called either Grandsire or Spliced Grandsire and Reverse Si. Bartholomew; an extent of Single Court Minor, could be called Spliced Single Court. College single. College Little Bob and Original Minor. Or Real Cambridge Surprise Major could be called Spliced Cambridge and King Eduard.-Editor.

Dear Sir,-Apart from the points raised by Mr. Cattermole in his letter, there are a number of other discrepancies which are liable to cause confusion to any Doubles ringers who progress very far beyond Grandsire and Plain Bob. There are examples in the appendix to the C.C. Doubles Collection (page 575).
(1). Names of reverse methods - "St. Britius (Dodd-Jones" Collection) is called "Reverse Union Bob" while "Reverse Stedman Slow Course " is given the name "Chase Bob." Should a method of this type be acknowledged as the reverse of another method or can its "inventor" give it any name he pleases?
(2). The name "Londonthorpe" has been given to the variation of St. Bartholomew with O.D.S. Admittedly "St. Britius" with 3-4 places at the half-lead (Londonthorpe in the C.C. Collection) is a bob course of the variation. But does this justify their having the same name? On this reckoning "Reverse St. same name? " On this reckoning "Reverse Rt, Bartholomew" could be called "April Day."
(3). Is Wolsey a variation of Minster Bob or vice versa as in the Dodd-Jones' Collection?
Is it not possible that a group of eminent Doubles ringers could meet to decide these and other issues once and for all, and that a complete collection of Doubles methods/variations could be published with the authority of the Central Council and augmented yearly as necessary?-Yours faithfully,
A. NUNN.

Hordle, Hants.

Note.-Rcverse Union Bob and Chase Bob were named many years before the Dodd-Jones' Collection; and included in peals at least 15 years ago. Methods are not invented, they exist. The reverse does not have to be named as such.
The so-called Londonthorpe variation is not the bob-plain-lead interchange of Londonthorpe Bob. It is Spliced Londonthorpe Bob and St. Bartholomew Bob. The "thorpe" group of names has bcen utilised to group together eight methods with the same second-hunt-bell work. 55 V should be named Pensthorpe Bob.
Does the Dodd-Jones' Coilection distinguish hetween methods and variations? Minster Bob Was taken as the method so as to form a group with Reverse St. Bartholomew. Also the correct name for St. Mathias is Reverse St. Sebastian, as rung 15 years ago in peals. Also All Saints' Bob can be and is rung with a plain lead of either Plain Bob or Reverse Canterbury for a bob. Whichever is used, the alternative is not a variation, therefore the former has been given so as to complete this group of methods.
A complete collection of Doubles methods and variations is being compiled and the Editor welcomes all constructive help.-Editor.

NEW RECORD LENGTH OF MAXIMUS "IN HAND"

A NOTHER record length was achieved on July 6 th, when a peal of 13,140 Kent T.B. Maximus was rung at Marple, Cheshire, for the Chester Diocesan Guild.

The first attempt began at 9.49 a.m. and after an hour's unsettled ringing the peal was stopped. Five minutes later the second attempt was under way, with the ringing being much more assured and steady and striking vastly improved on the first attempt. The first part of the five-part peal was completed in 1 hour and 28 minutes, somewhat quicker than anticipated, but giving the band confidence to press on. The peal was really uneventful apart from the occasional knocks on the belfry door and the changing over of umpires. The striking improved with time and the ringing of the last part was the best of all the peal. The peal finished at $6.25 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

Ihe Cam variation of Kent was chosen because in normal Kent the leads with the back six bells in slow tend to break up the rhythm and striking. This variation, by keeping them out of slow. means that the rhythm and dominance from the heavier bells is always there. The consistency of the ringing can be seen from the table below:-

| Course number | Time taken per part minutes) |  |  |  |  |  |
| :--- | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| at leads | 1st | 2nd | 3rd | 4th | 5ths |  |
| 1st | 9 | leads | 14 | 14 | 14 | 14 |
| 2nd | 8 | 11 | 11 | 12 | 12 | 12 |
| 3rd | 7 | 11 | 11 | 11 | 11 | 11 |
| 4th | 8 | 12 | 13 | 13 | 13 | 13 |
| 5th | 10 | 16 | 16 | 16 | 16 | 16 |
| 6th | 8 | 12 | 13 | 12 | 13 | 13 |
| 7th | 8 | 12 | 13 | 13 | 12 | 12 |
| Total | 58 | 88 | 91 | 91 | 91 | 91 |

The peal surpassed the 10,032 Plain 130 b Maximus rung at Marple in December, 1966. and also exceeded in number of changes the previous record of Treble Bob Maximus $(12,340)$ rung at Astiton-under-Lyne in 1911.

The next attempt will be probably around Christmas time for 16,000 T.B. Royal or 13.000 Cinques. We wonder whether we shall then be honoured by the presence of the Central Council's record peal recorder, since he was not to be seen at Marple on July 6th.

UMPIRES' REPORT

Arriving at the belfry at 9.40 a.m. I found the band assembled listening to some of their tape-recordings. With everything ready-keys, tape machine, a map of the peal, watch and pencils, the band with bells and cushionsGo" was called at 9.48 .
A lumpy first lead resulted in "Go again" at 9.49. Perhaps the band were a little out of practice for Maximus but after a choppy change from backstroke to tittums and back, ringing was stopped after exactly an hour.

A fresh start was made at 10.53 and this time the ringing seemed slightly quicker and altogether more assured, the courses coming up with very little variation in the time per lead. The first part took 1 hour and 28 minutes and the second 1 hour and 31 minutes. During the second part 20 minutes of tape was recorded covering the transition from backstroke to tittums.

About 2 p.m. the second umpire arrived and took over recording the peal's progress and a short piece of tape including the coursehead 123456789 tue. The third part look 1 hour and 31 minutes and the fourth part also 1 hour and 31 minutes.

HORNCHURCH RINGERS HONOUR THEIR MASTER'S BIRTHPLACE

THE week -end of July $13 \mathrm{th}-14 \mathrm{th}$ saw a new departure in annual outings for the ringers of St. Andrew's, Hornchurch. Instead of the day's coach outing that has been the fashion in former years, a week-end expedition was made to Nortolk and Suffolk, using ringers' cars.

An early start was made and the party, including a contingent from Barking and several non-ringing relations and friends, assembled for morning coffee at Scole.
The first tower was at Pulham Market, foilowed by Redenhall and Beccles, where we were greeted with corrential rain and a verger with an encyclopadic knowledge of his church.

After lunch, taken at Beccles, we splashed our way to Greal Yarmouth, where we thoroughly enjoyed the excellent 12 before travelling to Acle (more heavy rain) but lett with undampened spirits for Hethersett.

A party of some 43 sat down to a firstclass dinner at the Abbey Hotel, Wymondham. where we were to stay the night. We were joined by two ex-Hornchurch ringers with their respective spouses, who are now resident in the district, but, to our regret, not by Nolan Golden, who was to have come but was unfortunately prevented by illness.

After dinner we enjoyed ringing the new ten at Wymondham, although the long climb did little for our digestion. The day was concluded in the local hostelry in the usual manner.

On Sunday we visited the former haunts of our Master (Frank Gant). Atter ringing tor Matins at Aylsham we moved to Fakenham, where we admired a peal board commemorating Frank's first peal, and the aisle where several of the momentous occasions of his lite occurred.

Aı impromptu rally descended on a cottage at South Raynham, where the Master first saw the light of day, and to the amusement of the current occupants, who thoroughly entered into the spirit of things, and by the time the Master arrived a large welcoming party and & suitable plaque were in position.
Leaving our Master to re-explore his birthplace, we departed to Swaffham to ring for a christening service, and thence through pleasant woodland to Elveden and on to our last tower, at Bury St. Edmunds.
An early supper was taken at Sicklesmere and the party broke up to go our several ways home.

We must offer our thanks to incumbents and local ringers and also to our Master for the many nours of patient organisation, including is night spent at the mercy of British Rail. which went to make an excellent week-end that went like clockwork throughout. C.C.P.

BARHAM, KENT.-On July 13th. 1.260 Plain Bob Doubles: Miss P. Tomsett (cond.) 1. Miss W. Austin 2. F. Dacson 3, J. Clark 4, R. Bushell S.

The finest ringing of the whole peal was the beginning of the last part, and the first umpire was back again for the last course and a half, recording the last five minutes of the peal, the end coming after 7 hours and 32 minutes at 6.5-a fine finish to a fine peal.

One of the beauties of the ringing was the way the tenors could be heard singing their tune: 8-0-T-E-9-7- and the many tunes the front bells sing when they get together, something one cannot get in the same way on lesser numbers of bells.
After the peal we bade farewell to Brian, who was heading south, and retired to the Ring o" Bells and then to "Bombay" to reflect on another fine achievement in the field of long peals and to discuss further plans for this year and uext.

Our grateful thanks are due to Bob's wife. May, for kindly providing the umpires with a fine tea, after which an enjoyable evening was spent talking of many things including the ringing carecr of the late Peter Laflin-a kindred spirit where handbells and long peals are discussed.

Nevertheless, this performance is one which will not be beaten in a hurry and it stands in good company.

CANTERBURY'S OLDEST BELLS GO FOR RESTORATION

TO ringers who are interested in the recording and preservation of ancient bells it will be gratifying to know that the three ancient bells. long derelict, from St. Peter's Church, Canterbury, are going for restoration. They were lowered on June 17th and 18th. Whilst the derelict gear and accumulation of rubbish was being removed from the tower, a 17 th century font crane, similar to that in the sister church of St . Alphege, was discovered and this, too, is 10 be restored. Unfortunately the tower was found to be in a state of great danger, with some seven tissures, and the partmedieval four-bell frame will probably have to go, too.

It is intended to dispose of the three bells of the other sister church (used as a centre tor the deat) of st. Margaret. and it is hoped that one of the oells will go to make a chime of four at St. Peter's, while homes bave been found for the other two of St. Margarets bells. Particulars of these chmes are:-
St. Peter's.-Treble, Thomas Palmar. Canterbury, 1637; second (?) William Wodewarde, London, c. 1425 : tenor ( $8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{ckt}$ ), William le Belyetere, Canterbury, c. 1325.
St. Margaret's.-Treble, S. B. Goslin. 1905: second and tenor (6! cwl.), Joseph Hatch. Ulcombe, 1623

When Goslin (Warner's former foreman in London) recase the treble it is recorded that the old beli, by Thomas Hatch, 1599, broke in half during its descent, and that the bell 110 m the redundant Church of St . Andrew (subsequently demolished in 1956) had to be sold to pay for recasting, all for the magniticent sum of £15. O tempora, O mores !
It is to be regretted that these fine bells will be rehung only as a chime, but the state of the tower, even when restored, makes swinging bells out of the question. The work is being effected by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

A LONE PILGRIM'S PROGRESS IN AMERICA

GROTON'S EXCELLENT STANDARD

Sunday was bright and clear as Pilgrim and Joan set out for Northampton via Groton School. Here is another outstanding Mears ten, set in a beautiful tower in the lovely School grounds. Ringing by the boys of the School, under Russell Young, is, as at Washington. of an exceptionally good standard, and a most enjoyable stop was made. Pilgrim was to return bere on several enjoyable occasions and rang a quarter and a hall peal, details of the latter having been already menticned.
Apart from Russ, who is a wonderful and hospitable character, and who does a lot of underground "spadework," is Alan MacDonald, who is already showing signs of becoming a great ringer ; given English opportunities he would soon become one of the leading ringers, and in fact the general standard of the ringing would be regarded as excellent anywhere.
At last came Northampton and a chance to hear the carillon already in College Hall.
A quick glance at the tower built to hold the ring showed that many drastic changes would have to be made. A meeting on Monday morning with the clerk of the works, Joe Brackett, and the architect soon showed that a lot of fears were to be dispelled, since here was good co-operation often so sadly lacking in England at times, as was proved when the damaged consignment arrived, and also in many other ways.
The account of Northampton has already been published, but it should be mentioned that amongst the people taught were the president. Dr. Mendenhall, and his assistant, George Mair, und the latter has already shown great aptitude and keenness. Latest information is that interest is still being maintained. Pilgrim has already heard of the visit to the tower at $12.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. by the campus police investigating lights burning and the mysterious clicking sounds (tied bells).
These bells are at present noisy, but shortly louvres are to fill the openings and they aro to be boarded up sufficiently inside to produce reasonable level outside. (Frank Price please note these arrangements were made before the first ringing, but whilst the bellfounders do recommend sound control, this is where the recommendations are actually carried out.) These turned out to be an exceptional ring and one is tempted to imagine what they will be like when all the acoustic problems have been dealt with, as they will.
Pilgrim paid several visits to the Junior School to try and introduce change ringing to some of the children . "Gee, mister, this is better than counting class." At this school, under Mrs. Mathew Holden, is a school, under Mrs. Matthew Holden, is a keen tune ringing group, and it is to be boped that the all too few visits by Pilgrim did some good towards advancing change ringing.

HELP NEEDED AT KENT SCHOOL

Mrs. Dickinson, who with David will be remembered by many ringing friends in Cambridge, is now in charge at smith. Alice has already been responsible for raising a very reasonable handbell group who have scored several quarters. During this period visits were made, first to Kent School, Connectieut, whero another tower in lovely surroundings contains yet enother fine Mears ten. Herc under Bill Howard a keen band is under way. I feel sure Bill will forgive me if I said they noeded a little help. but what they do is good and nobody can fault their enthusiasm. Any help here would be gratefully received.
Next, a visit to Christ Church, Philadelphia. coupled with a special invitation to inspect the Liberty Bell, the original of which was cast at Whitechapel. After a session of typical American publicity and several photos taken with a charming blonde-Miss Liberty BellePilgrim was interviewed by a local reporter. Pilgrim was interviewed by a local reporter.
He learned a lesson-never speak your mind to a reporter in case he reports what he thinks is said-it can be embarrassing in print.
Christ Church now contains eleven bellsseven of an original Mears eight of 1754 , and delivered in the brig "Myrtilla" under a Captain Budden. These bells were once definitely ringable and in fact the first 5,040 was rung here by a band under Henry Haley in 1845. This, however, could not bo officlatly recognised, as the tenor man, who had only one leg, gave over to a substituto after $2 \frac{1}{6}$ hours.

BARNHAM'S SHOW

It is interesting to note that this band was part of a group known as the Swiss Bellringers brought in by P. T. Barnham as part of "The Greatest Show on Earth." They were essentially a musical handbell team and reputed to have come from Lancashire. It is also reported that they were dressed in a national costume and that when they complained abous being called Swiss, because they did not even speak the language, they were told that with their accent nobody would know the difference !

The bells are now eleven, the fourth was recast and extra bells added by Paccard. Due to the fact that a large section of the organ has been installed where the old ringing room was. renders them unringable; they are chimed from a makeshift chime bracket. These bells, incidentally. Were always rung for the visits of Caplain Budden, and in fact are still chimed on occasions for his relatives. It is chimed on occasions for his relatives. It is rather a pity that these bells can no longer be rung in the manner for which they were originally hung.
Inspection was also made of the Church of the Advent, Boston, bells; here again is another Whitechapel ring, at the moment unringable mainly due to lack of use. It is to be hoped that shorily it will be ringable and the Vicar hopes to form a guild of ringers.
A visit was then made to West Hartford, Conn., where a small Whitechapel carillon is to be installed. Also to Peterborough, N.H., to see a Gillett chime of ten augmented to fourteen by Pettit and Fritzen.
A visit to Trinity, New York, proved a bit disappointing from a ringing viewpoint. Here nine bells supplied at various times by Whitechapel have been augmented to ten but are clectrically operated. Eight of them still have the ancient headstocks but no wheels or stays, and although information is that they could have been rung. Pilgrim was inclined to doubt it. This is a magnificent church with a fine spire situated on Broadway at the end of Wall Street. Even if these bells were restored to ringing condition the presence of slyscrapers all round would make thines difficult. One was recast and one added by Mehealy of Troy, New York.
A return to Boston for a flight home, which after many wonderful experiences and sights and the amazing hospitality, Pilgrim was not exactly looking forward to. However, all good things must come to an end and after a tinal afternoon and evening with Ruth and Gene Gardner the plane lett for London at 9.40 .

Leaving Boston on a fine day with a semperature of 91 degrees 10 reach Heathrow under rainclouds and a temperature of $$ 2$ degrees was not exactly pleasing, but after a quiet week-end it was back to work on Monday for a rest.
Pilgrim learned many lessons. Enthusiasm in all places was very nigh, and so was most of the standard. English towers could well emulate virtues which were so outstanding.

VAST POTENTIAL

Change tinging is slowly but surely spreading even amongst the musical handbell groups who have never heard church bells rung. Therc is a vast potential for the further spread of this and already it is possible that other towers with bells will arise. A lot of the bells are in schools, another tower has a connection with a high school. A lot of these ringing pupils are already seeking ways of installing bells and, who knows, perhaps in the future America may outstrip England in ringeng peals and standard of ringing.
English visitors please note: "Tower grabbing" is a dirty word over there, but at all points hospitality will be encountered. All over the world the ringing fraternity is noted for its friendliness and brotherhood (or sisterhood).
The English ringers there are also doing a grand job, including, amons many, Geoff Davies, Tudor Morris and Nigel Bearne, and with the enthusiastic support of Rick Dirksen. Russell Young. Alice Dickinson. Daniel Robbins and Joan Hutchinson, ringing should in the next few years reach a high peak.
The mental ability and receptiveness of the Americans has to be seen to be helieved. Altogether Pilgrim felt he had crowded more experiences and enjoyment into eleven weeks than in all his 35 years, and is most grateful to all those mentioned.
Already he has been able to return the hospitality to some who are now visiting, and anybody coming in contact with them is urged to do their best to help them and improve their knowledge. Such efforts will not be wasted. Pilgrim looks forward to the day when the peal and quarter peal columns hecome more full with American reports and even to the formation of an American Guild
To quote the diarist, "And so to bed," and who knows perhaps a return to continue the pilgrimage later (Concluded.)

A RINGING TOUR IN RHODESIA

Dear Sir,-My wife and 1 have just completed ten days' holiday in Rhodesia, having motored down to Salisbury via Victoria Falls and then back to Luanshya-a 22,000 mile trip. We were lucky in that we managed to have a ring at both Que Que and Salisbury. In the former case we were particularly fortunate as we had nothing previously arranged However, the local churchwarden, Mr. V Field, quickly organised some ringers and between us we manazed Minimus quite well. The bells are $1,2,4$ and 6 of a ring of six and. although noisy in the ringing room, they "go" well and are casily rung. Mr. Field had been a ringer in England over 20 years ago, and we are very grateful to him for organising this ringing for us.
At Salisbury we were expected, as we had previously written to Ken Cross, the local tower secretary. Ken had organised all the ringers he could, and together we had a useful two hours' ringing, managing rounds on ten, Plain Bob Doubles, with also several attempts at Grandsire Triples.
Two of the local ringers came from England -Penny Hughes, who is teaching at Ruzawi School, Marandellas, and Mrs. Val Grossmith. who manages a tobacco farm some 60 miles from Salisbury. It is perhaps worthy of note that the latter lady had rung a peal with the late Ernest Morris before the last war. As one-time ringers at St. Margaret's, Leicester. we felt quite nostalgic on heuring her reminiscences about St. Margaret's and Ernest. Both of these ladies are doing a fine job in teaching schoolchildren to ring handbells.
We would like to express our thanks to the Rhodesian ringers for entertaining us at both towers. All being well, we hope to return for the half-yearly meeting in October. - Yours faithfully,
Luanshya, Zambia.

CORRECTIONS & AMENDMENTS

With reference to the Dean of Chester's article on bell towers, R. S. Underwood, of Tenby, writes that St. David's Cathedral. Si. Drvid's. Pembs, has a detached campanile.

OAKHAM TENOR

Mr. P. Amos writes chailenging Mr. Bradley's observation on the weight of Oakham tenof: "In 1931 I wrote to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston to know the exact weight of the present tenor, and their reply was that it is 22 cwt . 3 qr. 8 lb . Since 1931 this bell has nol been iecast."
Mr. R. Kingsley Mason also writes confirming the weight of the tenor as 24 cwt 2 qr. 9 lb . He states that the original tenor cast by Gllett and Jobnaton was 22 cwt. 3 qr 8 lb., but this bell cracked across the crown and parted company with the headstock. It was then recast and weighs to this day 24 cwt . 2 qr 9 1b.

The latest edition of "Dove's Guide" gives the weight 24 cwt 2 ar. 9 lb.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

The first Northern District meeting to be held at Penthow for at least 35 years was rather poorly attended but was nevertheless quite enjoyable. Some were put off by the noise of the five bells, which is almost deafening in the ringing chamber. The somewhat fimsy trapdoor under the tenor man also worried one or twol

The service was conducted by the Rev. L. Pennell (the same as mentioned in a recent article on the bells of Inverness Cathedral), and the address given oy the Rev. Mr. Motley.

The tea and mecting were organised in an old house next to the church by invitation of the owner, Mr Bird.

Evening ringing continued in the tower and at Beauchamp St. Paul, finishing at 8.50 with - broken rope.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

A successful evening's ringing was enjoyed by the Eastern District at the newly-overhauled six at Datchworth for their July meoting. Tewin followed. and methods including Cambridge were rung.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The University of Bristol Society rang a quarter of Cambridge Surprise Major al Burnham, Bucks, on July 13th

At the Manchester Branch's last meeting, held at Wirburton and Flixton, many of the Branch members present had the pleasure of ceing the "Father of the Branch," Mr. Wilt Moss. We werc pleased to see Mr. Moss looking so well and hope that his good bealth continues tor many years.

Mrs Mary Lee, of Quainton, Bucks, makes welcome return to the quarter peal columns On arrival at Dublin, after a long journey, she found herself included in the band at St. Patrick's. Her "ecretary" had said "we " in sick'. Her "ecretary" had said "we " Mr. Jenning, of Hawley, Farnborough, Hants. was 10 have rung but was taken ill on the previous Wednesday. The band send their good wishes to him and Mrs. Jenning.
Miss Barbara Hooks is the second member of Greasiey, Nottingham, tower to receive the Queen's Guide badge. The oocasion was marked by Barbara, along with four other ladies, ringing her first quarter of Surprise. This worthy achievement was the first quarter of Surprise to be rung at Greasiey by a resident band.

David Manby, of Manchester Cathedral. rang his first peal at the first attempt by ringing the treble to a peal of Plain Bob Major at St . James'. Birch-in-Rusholme. Manchester. His sister Margaret also scored her first peal after losing two attempts of Plain Bob Major and one atterapt of Plain Bob Royal.

In a quarter peal at Hanbury, Warwickshire, Tom, Dick and Harry were ringing 4, 5 and 6 respectively.
rirst quarters oy the local band are recorded from Belton (Lincs), Dronfield (Derby) and Harbury (Warks). All were rung on July Zlst.

Up to July 24th Mr. T. W. Goodyer has runs 28 peals on this present tour from Australia. An article on the tour is promised.
In the peal at Halesowen, to celebrate the diamond jubilee of St. Margaret's Church. Hasbury, Philip Darby rang the same bell as his grandfather rang for the dedication peal. An Essex reader calls our artention to the showing of the TV feature "Crosspoads." in which a man was giving a lesson about bellringing He had one hand on the rope and was puffing away at his pipe at the same time. His comment: "Very had taste."

Because of the warm weather. One half of Manchester Cathedral band expressed their wish to ring the light six to a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor whilst the other half of the band wanted to ring the heavy six as originally intended. A compromise was made and the quarter peal was rung on $1,2,3,6,8,10$.
The quarter neal rung at Chester-le-Street on Julv l4th was a farewell occasion for Miss Ann Patching. who left the following week. This month she will be married in Brighton to the Rev. W G Wilson and will join him in bis curacy at Hollinwood, Lancs. Ann has learned to ring while she has heen teaching at Chester-le-Street, and the good wishes of all the band go to her and Bill. who is himself well known as a ringer.

COVENTRY GLILD'S FIRST STRIKING CONTEST
The first striking contest to be held in the Coventry Diocese took place at Newbold-onAvon on June 18th in perfect weather. Five teams competed, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Beamish of Chilvers Coton being the judges. Newbold also entered a team on a non-valid basis.
Faults marked were as follows: Dunchurch 142. Rugby 150, Bilton 174, Chilvers Coton 177. Brinklow 285.

There was no method-handicapping. The arrangements went very smoothly, especially considering that very few of the contestants had any previous experience of competition ringing. (This applies totally-to both winners and hosts!)
Newbold have presented a cup for annual competition. The first winners .(Dunchurch) intend to be hosts in 1969
Our thanks are due to Mr. and Mrs. Beamish for their painstaking and expert judging; to the Vicar (the Rev. R. Mighall) for his enthusiasm and Ior olfering the use of his study for the judges: and to the ladies of the parish for preparing excellent refreshments. W.C.B.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD'S TOUR IMPRESSION
The following account of the Leatherhead bellringers' outing was found in "The News Book written at school by seven-year-old Rachel Smith it was accompanied by a drawing of the coach:-

On Junc the 28th we went on a ringers' outing. Mummy gave us a bag of sweets and books to keep us busy. We went to Henley for dinner. We saw some big hulbs that shine on the church at night. We had a picnic by the river at Cookham. We went to the next tower where we threw confetti on the coach. At the same tower Daddy's rope snapped. Then we had a photograph taken. Then we went home. It had been a long day.'

WARMINSTER OUTING

Warminster Guild of Ringers were joined by Corsley ringers for their annual outing on July 12th. This was the 12 th successive year that Mr. Pearson, of Haslemere, had planned their trip. An 8 a.m. start wis necessary, and there were stops at Stockbridge and Winchester before reaching the first tower, at Warnford, where Mr. and Mrs. Pearson were waiting to greet them. The pleasant eight at West Meon followed. and a oienic lunch by the lake at Petersfield. prepared hy Mr. and Mrs. E. Norris, was in accord with the usual programme.
Chichester, with it, detached tower, was then visited and some fair ringing was done, the fall in peal being remarkably good. The road to Haslemere was taken via Petworth, where all who rang on the cight hells were satisfied. The usual tea at the school, which had been prepared by Mrs. Pearson and Catherine, was a tine meal. The cricket which followed had to be cut short by a sharp storm.
Out of the rain and into the coach to head for the last tower, at Lodsworth (a lovely light six). Here the incumbent joined in a touch of Cambridge Surprise Minor. The bells were just right for Heather Jones, of Longbridge Deverill, who is orly nine and is the latest recruit of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. At the local hostelry farewells were said to the Pearsons and the coach headed westwards to a spot between Winchester and Andover, where supper was served by Ern and Mary.
For this happy day thanks must go to the Pearsons, Mr. and Mrs. Norris and Cecil Owens. the patient coach driver, also to all incumbents.

Roy Harris, officiated at the fully choral service, and the bride. who was given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown of tricel georgette with a long gold-trimmed veil held by a floral headdress. The bridesmaids were her sister. Patricia. and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Helen McGillivray.
The bridegroom is a member of the P.C.C., and the bride, in addition to her ringing, teaches in the Sunday School and helps in the Children's Church.

PEAI, AT BINSTEAD

We have received the following observations regarding the peal at Binstead from an authority which is given in full as a correction in our peal columns
As submitted it claimed to be 136 methods/ variations but in the corrected peal from the expert it is 17 methods and 67 variations. No distinction was made between variations and methods in the report: several variations were actually spliced methods: and some extents in methods and variations did not contain all the necessary bobs and singles.
See Letter Fage.

INDISPENSABLE

A foreword to the fourth edition of "A Bellringers Guide to the Church Bells of Britain" by R. H. Dove regards it as the "Wisden" to the Exercise. How true is this remark! To those interested in towers and bells it is indispensable.
There are a number of improvements. Greater London is now treated as a county and the various towers appear in the index. No attempt is made to introduce the new boroughs, but Mr. Dove wisely confines guidance to the postal districts. Since the last "Guide" was published there have been many corrections and additions. During the past six years the only new 12 is at St Peter's. Nottingham. but there have been ten new tens, those at Guildford. Washington and Svdney being entirely new. Augmentations to eight hells number 24 and there have been five new octaves (excluding Northampton. U.S.A.. completed after going to press). Work among six-bell towers has been substantial. as 62 churches have had their bells augmented. Of these. there were ten entirely new rings. three being 'in Essex.

To balance the scales, the losse's cannot be ignored. The practice of selling disused or unwanted bells continues and a further 24 rings have been lost. The high price of scrap metal has induced some church authorities to meet the burden of church restoration by the sale of unused bells. On the other hand there have been a number of transfers to new tower. including two complete rings of eight and one of five.

PAYMENT FOR WEDDINGS

Dear Sir,-May I be given an opportunity to reply to Mr. G. Robinson's letter under the heading "P Payments for Weddings"? Mr Robinson makes two assumptions, both of which I would question: lirst that there are those who become bellringers solely to earn money, and secondly that those who ring for weddings can expect payment of up to 16 s . 8 d .
I cannot belleve there are any ringers in the Exercise for monetary gain, and I feel that the vast majority of ringers may well feel insulted by Mr. Robinson's suggestion that this is the case. Can he seriously think that anyone would undergo perhaps months of training, followed by several hours of ringing each week (by way of practice and Sunday service ringing), in the hope of gaining a few shillings for the very occasional wedding? No, Mr. Robinson, 1 am afraid your opinion of the thousands of ringers who do such a magnificent job of work for the Church, entirely free of any charge, is sadly deficient.
If, nevertheless, one does ring for the occasional wedding, is it so wrong to receive some small reward, as do the choir, organist and. indeed, the incumbent? In any case, many ringers do not receive the full amount available when they do ring on such occasions. In my own tower. for example, the Belfry Fund receives most of the fee, the ringers each receiving a nominal 5 s . I am sure we are not alone! Furthermore there is an increasing number of young ringers coming into the Excrcise who surely cannot be denied the opportunity to supplement their pocket money by a few shillings.-Yours faithfully,

D. B. BROWN.

CURRIED CHICKEN AT WELSH BARBECUE

Penarth, Glam. ringers finished their outing on the last Saturday in June (a warm day) with a barbecue on the sands at Oxwich Bay. It was not long before a tent was erected and a portable gas ring with calor gas was soon functioning. Fried chicken with curried sauce was soon being eaten. followed by hot dogs and liquid refreshment. Penarth was reached at $11.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

Ringing took place at St. Bride's Maior (6). Coity (near Bridgend) (6) and. after lunch, at Swansea, Llangyfelach (4) and Gorseinon. (8)

NOTTINGHAM UNIVERSITY'S ANNLAL

 TOLRThe second annual tour of the Nottingham University Society of Change Ringers took place between July 13th and 21st in the Swindon and Yeovil areas.
Owing to the lack of numbers the " holiday " was rather hard work for all concerned. However, while the standard of ringing varied considerably, the Society can find consolation in the fact that it did not leave behind it a trail of broken stays and ropes. Mind you, quite a few clappers had to be turned before the week was out!
A vote of thanks is owed to all concerned. to the incumbents, to the local ringers, to the drivers, and the Ringing Masters and, chiefly, to the organisers, Miss Caroline Stewart (unfortunately unable to be with us) and David McLean.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

"THIS MADNESS CALLED TRADITION"

By C. F. MEW

IN :he course of my attempts to acquire a knowledge of change ringing, the one area of learning in which I have been continually frustrated is that of compositions. The trouble is that every composer or compiler of books assumes that the Exercise at large to a mian knows every piece of terminology used when setting out compositions in abbreviated form.
Let us take a look at some of them. Firstly the Central Council publications seem particularly blank in this respect since not one of them contains any verbal explanation of the terms used. Only the Doubles Collection has the saving grace that the standard part 1201 's are shown in full by the lead-ends for groups A to M, but even this book is marred by the fact that Original Doubles has no explanation that the figures on the extreme right of the columns are whole-pull intervals between calls at backstroke.
There also seems to be some dissension as to the terms to be used in the Central Council booklets, the Collection of Plain Major Methods shows calls at "Before" with an "X" whilst the 1950 and 1966 composition Collections for Major show this position numerically 1,3, etc., and with the conventional dash ( - ) each in the same book, despite which they show In and Fifths calls as " $\mathbf{X}$ "! if the experts" argument of putting an $X$ is where the length of the course is altered at least it should be consistent and, if so. why not an X for every call in Kent or Bristol!
The 1908 Collection of Double Norwich compositions adheres to the tradition of noting calling positions numerically (e.g. 1. 4. 5, 6). and this also applies to the 1950 Collection of Major Compositions. Only two years later the same positions are referred to as 1. F. H. O (much more logically) in the Collection of Plain Major Methods, but only to revert to the numerical notation in the 1966 Composition booklet.

The Snowdon series show a little more nelp though the C. D. P. Davies book on Surprise methods starts of by saying quite categorically that it is assumed the ringer will know when to call bobs. "Ropesight" explains Minor calls fully. the Triples calls are somew hat hazy: it says (quote) "There are three places above fourths" and names them M. W. H. but without any explanation, although this mav be derived from the leads pricked. Incidentally, the terms M and W are in my opinion incorrectly used here since the Middle shown at first lead would affect 352 and the Wrong at the fifth lead would affect 426 --they should be named the other wav round. In Bob Major again the calling positions are left to be seen from the leads pricked.

The Lancashire Association booklet is quite good in that it does explain the calling positions of the standard methods. There are, however. these points:-
(i) The lead-interval notation for Grandsire Triples is not explained and
(ii) There is a very misleading statement for Superlative which says that a call Wrong" is made (quote) "Beginning of five-pull dodge ": it is, of course. at the second dodge (backitroke). 1 was also pleased to see that Stedman Triples was shown with double calls separately instead of with an "X" (shades of the altered course length).
The only publication with which I could not find fault was the "Ringers" Handbook" by E. Powell-I commend it to all. It will be seen that I have not yet mentioned Stedman or Grandsire on higher numbers; I have purposely left these for separate study. Firstly Grandsire, which seems to be very poorly treated: only W. G. Wilson's book and "Grandsire '" in the Snowdon series ofter any explanation of calls on higher numbers and again there are differences trom book to book. For instance, 9 in and 2 (Grandsire by Trollope), 9 - ${ }^{3}$ (E. Shepherd, Grandsire Caters') and 9 in (Ringers' Diary) all mean the same, 9 th bell into hunt and two more bohs (three consecutive leads). Also the turning courses are ant to be confused with the leadinterval notation used in Triples; e.g., 1. 3. 4. in Caters means calls at 1st. 3rd and 4 th leads from start, whilst 1. 3. 4. in Triples means calls at 1 st, 4th and 8 th leads from start (i.e. cumulative): even Mr. Wilson's admirable book leaves an element of doubt in the explanation of the course 1.4 on page 56 .
Finally to Stedman that most ridiculous of method; ; half its mysique is what the experts make it! Since on higher numbers the opening and intermediate turning courses alter the observation bell. to which the noted calling positions refer, it is seldom easy for the inexperienced ringer to follow these courses as they are written down. For instance. in the C.C. Collection of Compositions of Stedman Caters and Cinques there are opening courses showing calling positions up to 24 in Caters when there are only 18 positions in a standard course! This is had enough, hut consider the difficulty of finding the course-end; no book tells you where it occurs after the last call. and the Lancashire hook does not in a single aase show the position of the back bells as a guide!
Surely the answer is to show all callings of turning courses by the intervals between sixes on a similar basis to the lead-intervals in Grandsire Tribles and only use standard calling position numbers when the observation bell is fixed. One further sore point about Stedman -why show touches and peals by six-ends, why no good healthy course-ends with scales of course-end transpositions for standard calling positions? To underline the stupidity of it all. consider the note in the Ringers' Diary (page 27)-" rounds occur two changes hefore 231456789 "-one might just as well say in a peal of Bob Maior rounds occur eight changes before 87654321 the back change! Perhaps one reason for this odd tradition is that it would seem that Stedman is in fact rung starting from the wrong place. Why should we not start from the sixend instead of the fourth change of a six? However. the six-end itself is not a logical point of division since the row which is altered by calls is the row after the six-end whilst in all logical methods the row altered hy calls is also the last row of the basic unit. Come on. experts. how about some explanations?

One last complaint. Why must these eggheads insist on calling the handstroke lead of the treble the lead-end? If any of them will tell me how to ring a method without knowing either the last row of the lead or the way in which it is produced (notation) I will be pleased. However, since it seems that we need the whole lead to see all the work the lead-end must logically be the backstroke lead of the treble.
I must stress that the foregoing points which I have made are not intended to reflect on anyone connected with the publications mentioned nor to deride the many accomplished ringers of the Exercise. It is to try to campaign for more adequate explanations for young ringers in our text books. Why not clean up the old anomalies and henceforth have a code for all publications? Could not the Central Council produce a "Standard Glossary of Terms for Compositions "to be used and adhered to by everyone? Let us assist our keen recruits by simplifying some of our outdated terminology lest we emulate the story of the nail thus:-
For want of knowledge a conductor was lost, For want of a conductor a touch was lost.
For want of a touch interest was lost.
For want of interest ringers were lost.
For want of ringers a tower was lost-cloced!

AFTERTHOUGHTS ON BELLS AND BELLRINGING

0NE of my early ringing friends, or, rather. two, were James Motts and his brother William. They came originally from Fressingtield. With the help of W. L. Catchpole and a bund of stalwarts such as young Frederick $j$. Tillett, ringing in lpswich reached the heights in the 'ru's and early in the new century; that is, the helghts for those days When 1 started to ring, their names and such others as R. H. Brundle, Pemberton, Gillingham and, a bit later, C. J. Sedgley and G. E. Symionds were constantly being talked about in Debenham tower. It was not long, about 1907-08, that I was privileged to have a ring with some of them, followed by peals in due course-Double Norwich, Superlative, etc. We also rang Stedman Caters at Stonham, but this peal was after 1 had returned from a year's stay in Birmingham (1909-10).

James Motts was a smallish, dark man, with a dry wit and a splendid generalship when conducting a peal with youngsters in it. Jimmy was noted for giving young ringers a chance, and 1 owe it to him for chances to ring in 12 . bell peals at Ipsuich, which added to experience gained in Birmingham previously. The same could be said for George Wightman, but more locally, as he confined his contributions to ringing very close to home, there being numerous towers within a short distance of his home. It is a fact that George and William walked to their peals at Framsden, Helmingham, Stonham, Debenham, and so on They never rode bicycles but 1 have the feeling that Alfred Wightman and David did ride. Certainiy there were no cars then, and an occasional longer distance such as Worlingworth must have meant a pony and trap.

Anyway, George Wightman put many a young ringer through his first peal. He called my tirst of Stedman Triples, in 1907 I think without referring to records. The Wightmans were tall, pale men. bony and strong. Sirength was certainly needed in those days when a bell could put one to considerable trouble to strike it properly, even if it was not so very heavy. Anyone who could put the 7th at Helmingham in its exact place, and keep it up, was considered not a bad ringer; yet with a number of false struck bells in a rower such as at Helmingham, it was quite wonderful how the locals could strike them. I often think it wouldn't be a bad idea to teach young ringers on a generally false-struck ring today; they would take more care when ringing on the almost too easy rings we have now.

There were few peals rung at Stonham in any young time, but it used to be said that the best man for the 9th was Alfred S. Wightman. who was a blacksmith and immensely stsong. Ihe bell had to give in: Alf wouldn't.

IN BIRMINGHAM

My short stay in Birmingham, 1909-10, August to August, gave me opportunities 10 meet and ring with such men as John Carter. James F. Groves. Albert Walker, Samuel Grove. Tom Russam, Alf Paddon Smith, John Neal. James L. Wells, T. Miller. Edmund J. Hyland and his brother. W. F. Hyland, the Dickens brothers. James Jones and son William, of Aston, Harry Withers and indeed a good many more. Most of these were so well known that a description would he needless. Nevertheless, one could not help secing what a variety of characters they were. John Carter with his genius for composition, and I mught add his practical ability at his work, revoiver making at Webley's. Incidentally, he could in my time muster an 8 -bell band in the works, and, if pushed, a lu-bell band for Aston if Caters were rung. It seemed curious hat for a man of his undeniable skill he did not seem to be able to explain clearly what he had in mind so as to be easily understood; this could be because his mind ran deeper than his command of words. With a revolver on the testing range he was indeed remarkable : he could cut the centre out of a target at the full distance of the range, which ran along the roof top.

James E. Groves, a fairly big man, was a bellhanger working for Barwells, one-time bellfounders. He was kind to me and gave me opportunities for peals that might not otherwise have come my way. Thus 1 soon became familiar with the workings of Caters and Cinques (mainly Stedman, of course, in Birmingham). Grandsire Caters was largely confined to SS. Peter and Paul, Aston, at that time a ring of ten, tenor about 22 cwt.

William H. Godden, manager at Barwells, was a fine old gent in my time, a member of the St. Martin's band, and mainly noticeable for the splendid top hat he always appeared in. He did not take part very much in the ringing but had done so in former years.
tdmund J. Hyland was a nice young man and it was a pleasure to ring with him. The same could be said of Charles Dickens; Fred Dickens did not seem so enthusiastic as his brother, but could on occasions ring well. Albert Walker needs no comment from me, his reputation and career are well known.

A LISTENING FEAT

Harry Withers was a remarkable man, square-built almost, of immense strength with, I think, the largest forearm I have ever seen. It was his gift of hearing that really made him famous. His deeds, or rather feats, in tapping on piano, bells or his dulcimer, helped to make history in Brum. I was with him in the Bull Ring listening to the only peal of Grandsire Maximus rung in modern times; it must have been early in 1910 . He kept me there throughout the peal, told me when the bobs were called, jotted down bob leads and courseends, and at the end had the composition in his hands. Needless to say, much as I admired the rather strange music of this peal. I was quite dazed by its construction, but Hassy wasn't. Few could have done this listening feat.

I went with him later, where he was to umpire an attempt for the record of Superlative, at that time something over 9.000 . The attempt failed about halfway, but up to that point Withers had me writing down courseends, with the calling that produced them; in one or two cases before the actual course-ends came up he seemed to know what should follow. Luckily, it was a fine. warm day and we sat on a tombstone.
In later years, about 1922, 1 was with him in Toronto, where he played the opening "touches" on a new carillon at the Metropolitan Church. He commenced with "O Canada." which I had previously sung to him as he had never heard the sune. He played it all right, with such a wealth of variations that it sounded more like an organ than bells.

This was followed by a course of Erin Caters: leaving me to explan to reporters and otticials what it was supposed to be as they had never heard change ringing of any kind. Harry had told me ". Iell "em anything, call it Bob Royal if you like, they won't know!" However, I stuck to the truth but 1 couldn't get them to understund it. In the days following they heard more of his tapping of various methods. and 1 believe began to appreciate them, the rhythm being perfect.

Well I suppose one could go on indefinitely with memories of these old ringing friends. Arthur E. Pegler came to Brum once or twice while I was there (he had moved to Bangor recently). My main experiences with him came much later, in the Treble Bob record peal*, and the ill-fated attempt for 22,096 Double Norwicht, which had to be called round false at 18,360 .

JOHN WORTH-THE PALM

After my return from Canada in 1926 came under the influence of still more conductors of ability, notably Edward Jenkins, whom I had known in Suffolk before the 1914-18 war, and Allen F. Bailey, of the famous Bailey brothers of Leiston, then living in Manchester. Later still, John Worth. C. K. Lewis, J. C. E. Simpson and L. W. G. Morris, to name but a lew. I can humbly say that much of the pleasure 1 have had from my ringing has been due to the organising ability and fine conductorship of these gentlemen. For sheer generalship, both in keeping a peal ringing clique together, and finding fresh blood to replace the "fall-outs" I must give the palm to the genial John Worth-how he can handle ringers !
Some conductors, not the men named above, can call the peal if someone else does the organising. Those I mention could do both and particularly J. W. Much hard work goes into the arranging of peals, tours and bands for smaller occasions. To do everyone justice, there are younger men coming along who have their diaries well filled with coming events who show the same tendencies.

Now I will leave the subject of "Ringers" and move on to the next impression gained over the years, but I may have to mention these chaps again.

* April 18th, 1927. † April 4th, 1928. Both rung at Heptonstall

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Marlborough Branch

Si. George's Church, Preshute, was the venue for the July meeting of the Marlborough Branch, and the attendance was again well up to the average. In the absence on holiday of the Ringing Master (Mr. F. Reed), his deputy (Mr. A. Keen) took charge, and on this light and easy-going six plenty of opportunities were given for touches in the higher methods, with rounds, call-changes and Grandsire for the younger members.
The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. R. D. Shorten), with Mr. A. Keen at the organ.

There was no organised tea, but a mostenjoyed al fresco meal in the churchyard in the warm sunshine was a happy substitute. Ringing was afterwards resumed until 7 p.m. Visitors from a wide area were present, to whom a warm welcome was extended by the chairman (Mr. G. Newman). W. A. E..

MEDIAEVAL BELLS RETURNED TO WORCESTER

By DAVID BEACHAM

A HISTORY of the bells of Worcester CatheA dral, written by John Slater, and published in the May 31st issue, mentioned that the four oldest bells of the original ring of eight were sold to Mr. Tyssen Amherst, when they were taken down in 1864 and taken to his park at Didlington. Norfolk, and in about 1900 they were placed in Didlingion Church.
Didlington Park has now gone. During the last war it was occupied by the Army and atterwards became derelica and was lett useless. All that remains now are the ruins, some estate buildings, still occupled, and the small parish church, which has an electoral roll of 15 . A few years ago this parish, together with nine others, was combined to form the first Group Ministry in the Norwich Diocese, known as the Hillborough Group. Didlington Church is still used, but in order to raise funds a faculty was recently granted for the disposal of the bells. Owing to a slip-up somewhere in the advisory system, no conditions were attached to this faculty and these bells could quite possibly have been sold for scrap and broken up.

Fortunately the matter was brought to the writer's attention at an early date and he straightaway informed the Dean of Worcester in the hope that every effort would be made to ensure the preservation of these bells. Mr. R. W. M. Clouston. hon. technical consultant on bells to the Council for the Care of Churches. and Mr. George Elphick. of Lewes. visited Didlington on March 2nd and issued a thorough report on the situation. Now, thanks to the interest and efforts of all concerned, these bells were returned to their former home at Worcester Cathedral on July 14th.

EXCITING VENTURE

The task of removing the bells from Didlington Church tower and transporting them back to Worcester was carried out by the writer and three other members of the Cathedral Guild-a challenging and exciting venlure which we shall always look back on with pleasure.

The first thing was to visit Didlington to see if, in fact, the job was within our capabilities. This visit took place on June 6th and we had no hesitation in informing the Dean that we were confident we could do it. The following wecks were spent in careful preparation and we went through every detail of the operation and listed everything that we might possibly need. The lorry and major items of equipment-lifting tackle, etc.- were loaned by a local firm. and after a final brieting session on the Thursday the lorry was loaded on the following evening ready for an early start a few hours later.
First away was John Stanier driving the lorry: accompanied by Roy Sheppard. The remainder of the party. Ron and Jackie Repion and David Beacham. having the advantage of travelling in Ron's car, managed an extra hour's sleep before it was their turn to leave. at $4.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. Didlington Church was reached at 9 a.m.. after breakfast at a transport cafe near Cambridge, and the first thing was to see if the lorry could be driven up to the church door. This we found impossible owing to the exceptionally soft ground callsed by the recent heavy rain and meant that the bells would have to be wheeled down the path with would have to be wheeled down the planks laid to support the trolley.

LOWFRING THE BELLS

The bells were hung dead (except the second) in a two-tiered frame-three on the bottom and two on top. There was no floor between the frame and the ringing chamber and the removal of the bottom three was a fairlv simple matter. We decided to lower the lightest of these three (ahout 8 cwit.) first. and it was a thrilling moment as we saw it descend and finally come to rest on the trollev below. There were no deep stens on the wav out and we soon had it out and on to the lorry. This achievement was celebrated with a cup of tea I

The next bell to be lowered was the old Worcester 6th (about 15 cwt .). The lowering operation was again straightforward but getting it down the church path was more of a struggle. The trolley we were using may best be described as a manually-operated fork-lift truck and was said to be capable of lifting 30 cwt. a height of five feet. It had appeared to be ideal for our purpose as we knew that the most difficult part would be getting the bells on to the lorry. Unfortunately it refused to lift the 15 cwt. bell and so a conference had to be called.

It was decided that we should have to have a mobile crane, and so Jackie and I drove ofl in the car to find one. Our luck was in and we were able to hire a breakdown truck at the tirst garage we visited. We were soon back at Didlington, and it was not long before the two heaviest bells were on the lorry.

Our next problem was to lower the bell from the top frame and although this was the smallest (about six cwit.) it proved to be the most awkward. The difficulty here was that it could not be lowered straight duwn through the lower frame owing to an intervening beam. but had to be manoeuvred sideways and then down. This was managed eventually and by $7.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$, all the bells and tackle were back on the lorry.

After a final cup of Jackies excellent tea we headed for the garage for a wash and brush-up. Plenty of soap and hot water and a change of clothing wrought a complete transformation and we were soon enjoying a wellearned meal in Newmarket.

The car and lorry kept each other company most of the way back to Worcester, which was eventually reached at $2.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. - a 24 -hour day for John and Roy. After a few hours sleep we returned to the Cathedral and. With the help of a crane, the bells were soon off the lorry and in the cloisters and we were able to report "Mission accomplished."

THE BELLS

These mediaval bells were numbers 3. 4. 6 and 7 of the old ring of eight in Worcester Cathedral and the following details are taken from Mr. Runald Clouston's report:No. 3.-Inscription: "IN HONORE SCl WOLSTANI EPI " (In honour of St. Wulstan. Bishop).

St. Wulstan (c. 1012-1095) was Prior of Worcester and consecrated Bishop of Worcester at York in 1062. He rebuilt the Cathedral and his crypt remains to this day.

The initial cross and lettering are associated - ith the founder. William Burford of London. who was working in the period 1371-1392. This fits in conveniently with the date of 1374. uhen the central tower of the Cathedral was completed.

No. 4.-No inscription, but a comparison of the canons: moulding wires and diameterheight ratios indicates that the founder was almost certainly William Burford.

No. 6-Inscription: "HOC OPUS IMLETO IHV VIRTVTE FAVETO" (This work being finished by the virtue of Jesus may it do us good).

The inscription is in fine $2 \frac{1}{5}$ inch high lombardic capitals (except for a Roman $T$ in VIRTVTE "). The initial cross is four fleur-de-lys. The inscription appears to relate to the completion of the central tower. Previous writers on these bells have ascribed this bell to Stephen Norton of Kent, who was working in the period 1363-1381. Mr. Clouston concludes from the evidence he presents that the founder was more probably William Burford. possibly in collaboration with Stephen Norton.

No. 7.-Inscription: "Missi De Celis Habeo Nomen Gabrielis" (l bear the name of Gabriel who was sent down from heaven).

The inscription is in "black' letters and has a fine initial cross and the Royal Arms crowned. The stamp is of a founder whose name is unknown but is referred to as "John Danveli's Successor" and worked in the period 1470-1486

The bells will remain in the cloisters for the present, where they may be seen by anyone interested. Whether they will be placed in the tower later on will be decided in the course of time. The important thing is that they have been saved from possible loss and refurned to their home. where they were first placed 600 years ago.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

The Nottingham District meeting was held at the village of Stanford-on-Soar on July 6th. The ring of eight is not often rung and a fairly good number turned un to try the bells. The " so" of the two trehles was poor and this affected the striking. A sumptuous tea was provided bv Mrs. E. Beardsley and eaten picnic style in the churchyard.
Ar an informal business meeting it was readily agreed that the Loughborough ringers come to Stanton one Sundav a month to ring for morning service. A timely application of grease to the bearings improved the "go" of the bells and ringing continued after tea. D. S.

Letters

THE RECORDS COMMITTEE

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. B. J. Woodruffe's letter. the work of the Records Committee is to record the following:-
(a) "The first peal in a method or spliced group of methods." This is taken to mean Triples and above, regular and irregular, and also. for example, we do not record all difficent combinations of 13-Spliced Surprive Major, but we would record a peal of Spliced Glasgow and Belfast.
(b) "The progressive longest length in a method or group of methods." This is taken to mean Major and above, regular and irregular. We now record all peals of 6,720 and above.
(c) Record Peals Proper, rung in accordance with the special conditions laid down by the Council in its Decisions and intended to surpass in length a previous best performance." In the past it has not been necessary to dislinguish between progressive lengths and Record Peals, but in future we shall check that all conditions laid down by the Council have been complied with in all claims for a Record Peal Proper.
For the three performances given in the Report for 1967 , the peal of 12.480 Pudsey Surprise Major is a progressive length, and the peals of 11.872 Glasgow Surprise Major and 19.620 Plain Bob Royal are Record Peals Proper.
For 1968 the peal of 12,096 Glasgow Surprise Major will be taken as a progressive length, as requested by those who rang it, since they only gave one day's "R.W." notice and used singles without proving that such a length could not otherwise be obtained. The peal of 9.600 Lincolnshire Surprise Major now establishes a Record Peal Proper for this method. The peal of 13.140 Kent T.B. Maximus in the Cam variation is not a Record Peal Proper, since it was rung with two types of bob, but could estahlish a Record Peal Proper for Spliced Kent Treble Boh and Kent Little Court. It is up to the band to make their choice - a progressive length of Kent T.B. Maximus rung with two types of boh, or a Record Peal Proper of Spliced Kent T.B. and Kent Little Court Maximus. All other Record Peals rung this year will be checked to the last detail. This action is caused entirely by the tone of Mr. Woodruffe's letter. -Yours sincerely.
F. T. BLAGROVE (Convener).

EXPO SLSSEX '68

Dear Sir,-The letter from "Anon." in your issue of August 2nd made me regret that I had not written earlier about the Sussex County Association's contribution to "Expo "68". I should like to endorse all he says: great credit is due to all concerned for the enthusiasm with which they entered into the project, and although it seems invidious to mention names Mr. Elphick deserves a special put on the back.
We should not, of course, forget that without the willing help and cooperation of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank much of the attraction (at least as far as ringers are concerned) would have been missing.
I should like also to repeat what I said at the handhell competition. that the bands entering showed commendable public spirit. Taking tune- and change-ringing together, there were 11 entrants. In the choirs section there were two only-from the whole of Sussex. Yours faithfully,

Crayford. Kent.
E. A. BARNETT.

GRANDSIRE AND STEDMAN SPLICED

Dear Sir,-Owing to the Central Council's decision on Doubles methods and variations, it seems that we have lost Grandsire Doubles as a method.
This decision has been reached by the fact that a Grandsire bob is a Stedman quick six so, alas, pure Grandsire is no more. Extending this to Triples. Caters and Cingues. every time a peal of this method is rung it should be entered in the records as spliced Grandsire and Stedman, if the Central Council's decision is taken to its logical conclusion.

The members of the Council have voted on a matter which the majority of them do not know very much about. In my own Guild a C.C. representative has admitted that he was swayed by the cloquence of Mr. Blagrove who incidentally, had a peal of 142 Doubles withdrawn through falseness (sour grapes?).
Finally, being a Doubles peal ringer, what Mr. Massey would call a Multi-Double Whizkid (1 presume he means that as complimentary), I have not found any loopholes in the rules, and am completely confused by the whole issue.-Yours faithfully.

Grantham.

PETER A. SLIGHT.

NOTE.-The ten changes of a bobbed lead of Grandstre cannot be equated to the six changes of a quick six in Stedman. To ring a peal of spliced Grandsire and Stedman the Stedman must be rung in leads of 12 changes, quick and slow series. Mr. Slight's statement is nonsense.
Mr. Blagrove is now no more eloquent than when, at Dublin. the Council rejected his motion to recognise all true 240 s of Doubles. only two people voting with him. He did not ring in the peal of 142 Doubles methods/ variations, but did ring in the peals of 45 to 113 Doubles methods, each with their own plain course, the later being still the record for Doubles merhods.- Ed.

"A SPLENDID SOUND"

Dear Sir, - At a recent meeting at St George's, Beckenham, and just before a bride arrived at the church, a perfect stranger handed the verger a note. Addressed to " The Ringers," it read: "Compliments and thanks for the first peal. I don't know what it was called. but the cadences rising and falling against the undulating ground swell made a splendid sound. A very tine performance."

I do not find it easy to recognise Cambridge Minor on 1, 3, 4. 5, 6, 7, 8 with the tenor covering, from this description, but it was a pretty compliment all the same and a refreshing change from the sort of complaint one sometimes gets. We are a bit puzzled by the "undulating ground swell." Beckenham is 50 miles from the sea. Could it be a reference to the heavy traftic which continuously passes the church or a picturesque description of the tenor behind?
In over 50 years of ringing I can only recall one similar compliment and that was in November, 1921, when an American tourist left a note with the landlord of the Star Hotel at Wells to say how much he was impressed by the sound of the bells. So much so that ne had stopped his car on the road out of Wells and listened for two solid hours to a peal of Grandsire Caters ahich we were ringing. He could not stay to meet the ringers hut left a note instead. But I never discovered how he knew we would go to the Star Hotel after the peal.-Yours faithfully.

Beckenham, Kent. P. W. CAVE

MORE QUESTIONS

Dear Sir,-Why, if April Day is spliced $R$ St. Bartholomew and Plain Bob. is not R. St Bartholomew spliced Plain Bob and R. St. Bartholomew? Or are only some callings of R. St. Bartholomew R. St. Bartholomen?

Why cannot I call any methud or variation with any bell I like as observation? To make a blanket condemnation of extents that start in the middle of a call is not only high-handed but quite unnecessary if a note is included to the effect that due allowance must, be made for the effect, on the start, of calls which persist beyond the end of the extent. The Methods Committee included such a note where necessary in the original Doubles Collection. Why not now?

Why has the call for All Saints been altered from a R. Canterbury to a Plain Bob P.L.? The method now given as All Saints is what used to be called Seighford, and not what everyone has been ringing as All Saints since the Dodd-Jones collection of 1964. A similar situation exists with R. St. Sebastian and Litchurch/St. Mathias.-Yours faithfully,

JOHN DAVID.

Peterborough.

NOTE.-An extent of Rev. Si. Bartholomew may be called Spliced Plain Bob and Rev. St. Bartholomew.

Extents may start in the middle of a bob if desired. The observation bells given in the Appendix are meant as a guide for those less knouledgeable than Mr. David.

All Saints may be rung with a plain lead of R. Canterbury for a bob. The alternative is not then a variation.
Reverse St. Sebastian was first rung to a peal in 1953, and Litchurch is spliced Plain Bob and Reverse St. Sebastian.-Ed.
The "method" is called "a bobbed lead of Reverse Canterbury", and that is why it is not in the supplement.-F.T.B.

TRUE AND FALSE DOUBLES

The following variations from the DaddJones Doubles Collection were rung in the quarter peal at Hordle (see pages 585 and 591):-

Daffodil is a variation of Grandsire, in a true 120.
Blucbell is spliced Grandsire and All Saints, in a truc 120.
Pinks is spliced Grandsire and Minster, in a true 120.
Evening Primrose is a variation of Nowell, to give a false 120.
Forget-me-not is a variation of Nowell, to give a false 120.
Rununcula is a variation of Nowell, to give a false 120.
Columbine is Nowell and R. St. Sebastian, spliced to give a false 120.
Narcissus is Nowell and Minster, spliced in a false 120 .
Snowdrop is Nowell and All Saints, spliced in a false 120.
Anemone is Nowell and R. St. Bartholomew, spliced in a false 120.
Nowell Doubles will itself not give a true 120 !

FURTHER TO THE BIRSTALL EPISODE

Dear Sir,-Since my letter appeared in "The Ringing World" on July 26th 1 have received correspondence with the visiting ringers in question. and $I$ find that they were under a misunderstanding; in fact, they were invited to ring at Birstall by a ringer who resides in Birstall but who on my approaching him admits he is only a visitor to Birstall himself. I accordingly asked him to write to "The Ringing World" to apologise to these visitors and to myself for not making their presence known to me or conveying their thanks which I understand they made to him after they had had the opportunity to ring at Birstall.

However, he will not agree to this as he tells me that no wrong was done and that this kind of thing goes on up and down the country! I myself fail to see that so many people could be so ignorant; however. I must accept his words as he has had far more experience than I on these matters.

1 must accept the visitors' apologies for not having stayed to evensong (now that I am aware of the facts), for they had a great deal of travelling to do in order to get home the same evening, and hope they will accept minc for including them in what should have been strictly a local matter.

However. the point still remains that apparently all over the country it is the custom of organised parties not to introduce themselves or to thank the local ringers in some way or, if it happens to be a Sunday, to stay to the service. In my limited experience with visiting ringers, however. I have found this to be quite the reverse.-Yours faithfully,
J. M. MORLEY, Tower Captain,

St. James the Great, Birstall, Leics.

THE excitement of being shipwrecked happened early in the M.U.G.S. tour starting from Wallingford on June 30th. Three boats -the "Tessa." "Thelma" and "Wanda "were allotted to the party. After a couple of hours the "Tessa" sprang a leak. The captain, Graham Long, decided to abandon ship; the boat was run aground by the bank while the crew attempted to rescue their belongings from the sinking ship. The boatyard was notified, but it was three days before the "Tessa" was refloated, by which time the flotilla had left the Thames and journeyed along the Oxford Canal to Woodstock and beyond.
The first night was spent at Culham. and the next morning (Monday) there was a twomile walk to Abingdon, where the ten bells were enjoyed before leaving for Oxford. Because of the extremely fine weather a sticky hour was spent at Christ Church (12). Then followed New College (10) and St. Ebbe's before joining the rest of the party, who had been left behind with the boats at Abingdon.
More Oxford towers were sampled on Tuesday morning while the boats were being brought up to the City of Spires. After lunch aboard, the journey was continued along the Oxford Canal to Woodstock: a brisk threemile walk brought us to the church that evening. On the Wednesday three volunteers went to collect the "Tessa" and they joined the party at Aynho.
In the remaining days of the tour we had to travel 50 miles to Brinklow, where 4 C handed the boats over on Sunday morning. Of the ringing, a fair degree of success was achieved at Banbury (10) and at the unusual double tower at Rugby. the ringing on the eight probably being the best of the tour.
All in all. the tour was most memorable. As may be seen from the photograph, a certain amount of "pairing of " occurred-perhaps another triumph for the oft-mentioned

Cupid at Manchester! Finally, thanks must be extended to all incumbents and local ringers. to George for the excellent menus and, of course. David and Simon, without whom the tour would not have been the success it was.
C. L. D. M.

MISLEADING THE PLBLIC

Dear Sir.-It is very desirable for the general public to have an insight into our art through the medium of television, but I feel that on Friday, August 2nd, the public were grossly misled by the Independent Television Company in their nightly serial "Crossroads".
I was viewing at this time, no doubt with a great many other readers, and a shot of ringing was shown on the screen. In the script one of the cast had stolen some fish and was telling his buyers of this by ringing the tenor bell. full circle. to indicate the number of dozen. fish that he had obtained. To ring the bell he just caught hold of the sally and pulled without holding the tail-end which flapped furiously. This is rather the view that the public have of ringing now. but this short sequence only served to reinforce and not dispel.
1 feel that if ringing is to be shown on the television at all then the view of the Central Council. together with their advice. should be sought and that this episode should be brought to the view of the television company.-Yours faithfully,

A DAY OUT WITH G FLAT

I
SUPPOSE there are quite a number of ringers who grab several score of towers in the course of a year without seeing one of the bells they ring from January 1st to December 31st. At the other end of the scale there are a few peculiar characters who sce more bells than they ring, poking about in the company of bats and jackdaws, and the occasional friend who can be inveigled into coming to write down inscriptions. hold the ends of measuring tapes and incur severe strains from raising bells while the fanatic up top tries to see why they go so appallingly.

It isn't often that these characters meetthey're well scattered over the country, which is just as well for their long-suffering wives, for when they do meet the conversation is inclined to be one-sided. But the arrival of $G$ Flat for a 48 -hour break in his journey uas too good a chance to be missed, and we determuned to spend a day with some Devon bells.

The gear which we carry is about as odd an assortment as you could find in one bag: steel tape rule, callipers, plasticine (mine is black, G Flat's all pretty colours - ostentation !), camera and flash, several pencils for dropping into jackdaws' nests, tuning forks, wire brush, notebooks, damp cloth in a polythene bag; $G$ Flat carries his in a beautiful leather case all fitted up with compartments and clips, and includes a cake of soap: 1 carry mine in the remains of a lady's dressing case which must be 80 years old but sits nicely on a frame-head, and I carry a hack of washing line.

LUNATIC APPROACH

First call was at Clyst St. Mary, which has a very ancient ring of three, a frame almost as ancient, and an object lesson in how not to provide access to a ring of bells. Some years ago the worthy people of Clyst St. Mary decided to install a big fine organ and they put it in the transcpt above which the tower is built, so you go up some stairs to the organloft, fish a ladder out from behind the organ, put it up almost vertically under a very narrow trap. climb on to the swell-box of the organ and through the trap. traverse a roof-space with about four feet headroom (there was a fine colony of Lesser Horseshoe Bats here when I last came) and emerge under the theble bell.
It can't be worth it for many people; it obviously isn't worth it to wind the clock. which is above the bells and not going, though in quite good order, but lunatics like us are prepared to do this kind of thing to see a lovely little treble by Robert Norton of Exeter, about 1425. a tenor a little later, also Excter. and a second by Thomas Pennington II1, 1674, all in their mediæval frame and with a good deal of their original gear, including half-wheels. We were rather disturbed, however, to find what a bad state it was all in, and can't help wondering which will reach the organ first, the beetle, the bells or the tower. None of them will improve the tone of the organ.

After getung ourselves down over the organ and dusting ourselves off-I had managed to tip a load of assorted debris over G. F.'s wellgroomed head-we returned to the car fnot before a passing swallow had paid me hack on G. F's behalf) and headed across country for Honiton. There was a little time before lunch, so we paid a call on Awliscombe, to see a nice Exeter bell on the floor of the church. The coins in the crown of this bell seem to indicate the work of Robert Russell, who died in 1502 . We couldn't get up the tower at Awliscombe, but we admired the excellent set of photographs in the ringing chamber.

AFTERMATH OF FLOODS

Honiton was surrounded by the aftermath of the July floods-meadows covered in shingle hanks. pathetic piles of hedding and furniture dryins outside cottages-and we saw many places where the food-line was several feet above the floor-level of the houses. The lanes which lead to Buckerell were torn up and covered with gravel in many places, but Buckerell is on a hill and had escaped damage. Mr. Parr was found to show us up the tower, and proudly gave us a conducted tour of one of the most cossetted rings of bells in the county. The back two are a pair of 15 th century bells from the Exeter foundry, and very pretty bells they are to both eye and car. well matched by a sweet-toned front four from Whitechapel. We admired Frank Parr's roof extension which acommodates the treble in a very cramped tower, and looked out over the fields to the Bell Pit-Buckerell bells have a long and fascinating story which might make an article on its own one day. After a ring on the back four we said goodbye 10 Frank and set off again through the lanes to Clyst St. Lawrence.

Here we found a very small church with a lower which quite dwars it in size and am-bition-a lovely tower with a beautiful mediæval Virgin and Child in a niche halfway up. This was an official job-the Vicar had asked for a report-and before we went inside we knew we'd have something to get on with. for the cracks were clearly visible on three faces. In the first-floor space they were even more sinister; we were looking at something not far from three independent structures, touching but not fixed together.

DAMAGE!

In the belfry we found a really very nice Bilbie tive in a frame which looked like one of Hooper's, about 1870-80. It was a good frame, and fairly sound, but some years ago the ringers found that it was moving, and instead of tightening the tiebolts they"d jammed pieces of 8 by 3 oak with one end under the frame-heads and the other against the wall. They hadn't succeeded in making the bells go much better, but they had managed to cause hundreds of pounds' worth of damage 10 the tower. Whenever ringers (and even architecis sometimes, I'm afraid) tell me in future that a bell-frame " needs a bit of play to absorb the vibration," I shall send them to Clyst St. Lawrence to see how well the theory works out in practice!

The village here is very small and not very well-off, hut we hope that one day it may be possible to hear this five going again, for they're beautiful clean castings in the best Bitbie style, and as far as we could judge from tapping them round they have plenty of breath in them. But we couldn't help fecling glad that there are only three ropes and those very bad; this is the sort of place where unprincipled tower-grabbers might well be tempted to have a quick look and a quick pull, and we wouldn't like to answer for the consequences if they did.
Clyst St. Lawrence is well worth looking at: the inside of the church has just been redecorated, including the fine screen which is a blaze of colour, and is full of beauty and interest. Maybe when the parish has recovered from the great effort of doing this (and it is a real effort for such a tiny place) they may turn their ideas towards getting some music from the tower. even if it's only chiming for a start.

By now it was tea-time and time to take the road for home. Grit in your hair. jackdaws' twigs in your shoes, plasticine ingrained in your hands, dust on your trousers and copper-oxide dust up your nose-but some information which a P.C.C. or two will be grateful for when they've got over the shock, some new experience to add to your little store, and something to add 10 the world's store of knowledge about the bellfounder's craft-there are worse ways of spending a day in the country.

MR. THOMAS GROLNDS

Standish, Lancs, has lost a faithful friend and ringer by the death of Mr. Thomas Grounds. He started to ring on the old Rudhall six in 1912 and joined the Lancashire Association, of which he was a life member, in 1914. All his seven peals were with the local band and they ranged from Grandsire to Double Norwich C.B. Major.

His funeral was on June 23rd. interment being in the churchyard. A half-muffled quarter peal was rung to his memory. W. O.F.

MR. TIMOTHY BEER

The sudden death on August 5th of Timothy Beer. of Bredgar. Kent. has caused deep sadness among his fellow ringers.
He only started ringing about a year ago and he was a very keen and loyal member of the band. Timothy left school just this summer and was eagerly awaiting his college days A keen cricketer, he had recently been selected from the village team for a special coaching course. His liveliness on the field and his work in the tower endeared him to everyone.

A SENSE OF VALUES?

Mr. F. C. Mogford, the well-known Bristol and North Somerset ringer, had 7 ft . of water from the swollen River Chew rushing through his house at Publow on the night of the recent West Country floods. Luckily he managed to save his famous three-wheeler by driving it up the hill before the water struck, and his indomitable spirit and humour have helped him to overcome quickly the shock of the disaster. When last seen Cecil was still "drying out"reputedly with "Ringing Worlds" spread around the heaters! But he hopes soon to be straight and to have replaced his lost belongings. His comment was: "All my furniture floated out the back door and my fridge and washing machine were going too, but I pushed "cm back with a broom! My 'Ringing Worlds' from 1928 onwards were all wet and soggy, so 1 dried them out first. But my College Youths' book was about the only thing that didn't get muddy-I was glad about that!"

SIR ALEC'S HOMECOMING

In connection with the return to Portsmouth of Sir Alec Rose on July 4th. a peal attempt for Grandsire Caters took place at Portsmouth Cathedral. This was mainly by a local band and unfortunately came to grief after two hours' good ringing. Some months previously another peal attempt had been arranged at the Cathedral by a band drawn largely from the area. This was successful and the peal accordingly honours Sir Alec's return.

CORRECTIONS & AMENDMENTS

To correct, and keep records straight-due to. a misunderstanding and a little modestyW. Frank Stenson supplied the lovely picture of and wrote the excellent article on the Parish Church of St. Mary, Nantwich, in our issue of July 12th. He intended it as a tribute to Jack Brough. towerkeeper, also as a little boost. as Jack has been away from work all this year.

MORE LETTERS

A Warning to irresponsibles

Dear Sir, - What an extraordinary footnote to Mr. Colborne's letter ("R.W.", page 602). No longer content with submitting hoax peals this vicous minority has now cast a doubt on the validity of every letter now published in "The Ringing World".
What a peculiar idea of "fun". Mr. Colbourne and his friends have; in this sype of case. however, legal action can be taken by the person maligned, so they had better realise that their amusement is not without risk. This might deter them from future irresponsibilities. -Yours faithfully.

SLRPRISE MINOR

Dear Sir,-Replying 10 Mr . Jackson's letter (page 583), in my collection of Treble Bob Hunt Minor methods. if. a notation produces a five lead method. then I consider it an acceptable method regardless of 2nd. 4th or 6th place at the lead-end. This is assuming that 1: complies with the C.C. rules of method construction and also that there are no " 5-6" places made except at the half-lead-end.
If a 4th place method is rung with a 2nd or 6th place bob, the method still stays the same: it is up to the band which bob they want to use. The bob, you must remember, is not part of a method itself. but only a way of changing the coursing order of the working bells.-Yours faithfully, A. S. BISHOP. London, S.W.9.

DEDICATION DATES

Dear Sir, -In reply to Mr. Thornley's letter regarding Prestbury (Cheshire) bells, there is, as frequently is the case. a reason for this lack of notice. This centred round a divergence of opinion on the date of rededication and was ultimately resolved by the compelling factor that the Bishop of Chester was aiready preaching at our Patronal Festival service on June 29h hand could not be expected to come again shortly afterwards.
When the decision on the date was reached I was left with little time in which to puhlicise the event. I did. in fact. send two notices to "The Ringing World." one to cover the possibility of the notice appearing in the issue of June 27th (which 1 realised was only a forlorn hope!) and another. which Mr. Thornley obviously saw. to be used as an alternative notification immediately after the event.
At the same time I advised the chairman and secretary of the Chester Diocesan Guild by letter of the date, and also telephoned each of the officers of the Macclesfield Branch and some of the officers of the adjoining Branch inviting them to the ceremony and also to take part in a quarter peal of Stedman Triples. Ringing was limited to this extent by other events taking place in the village during the evening and was the reason for the meeting on July 27 th .
I am sorry that July 27th was not suitable for Mr. Thornley, but there was no guarantee that anv other proposed date of dedication would have suited him either. It is very seldom one can find a date which is convenient for everyone. particularly during the holiday season. However. it may be some consolation to Mr. Thornley to know that the Bishop had a full church for this occasion.
Naturallv we shall he delighted to welcome Mr. Thornley and any other ringers on any Younday or for Wednesday evening practice.Yours truly.

GERALD MOORHOUSE.
St. Peter's, Prestbury, Cheshire.

Holland has 130 carillons which are played from the original keyboard.
A quarter peal of Southrepps Pleasure Doubles was rung at St. John's Church, Clevedon. Som. on July 26th, fully-muffled so as to avoid complaints.

Miss Linda D. Shaw. of Bolsover. writes apologising to Mr. A. Churchard for omitting from the quarter at Bolsover on July 9th. in which he rang the second, that it was his first quarter.

Organised by Mr. Fired Hodgson, a party from Darlington and Tees-side had an enjoyable week's ringing in Somerset and Wiltshire. Ringing started on July 28 th at St. Mary Redcliffe.

The new editor of "Ringing Towers" is Mr. Ralph Clark, 5, Cambridge Street, Merrylands. N.S.W. 2160 . The peal secretary is Neville Gower, Flat 1, 21. Lockner Sireet, West Hobart. Tasmania 7000.

The Very Rev. J. W. Armstrong. Dean of St. Paurick's Cathedral, Dublin, has been elected Bishop of the United Dioceses of Cashel and Emly. Waterford and Lismore. He will he consecrated Bishop in St. Patrick's on St. Matthew's Day.

The Exercise. and the College Youths in particular. will join us in congratulating John S . Mason on his promotion to Air Commodore. John was Master of the Society in 1956 and is one of its representatives on the Central Council.

Mr. F. E. Dukes. who has been in office with the Irish Association for 30 vears and succeeded the late Gabriel Lindoff as general secretary in 1941, is looking for an assistant who can be groomed for olfice.

Complaints have been voiced in recent years because all the officers of the G. and B. reside in the north of the territory. It is understood that P.Sgt. W. F. Scudamore is rectifying this situation by moving south to Coulpit Heath.

The date of the induction of the Rev. Roger Kceley to the living of Whiteparish is Tucsday, September 24 th. at 7 p.m. He hopes that some bellringers will attend although there will not be any bells to ring him in. The Bishop of Sherborne will take the service. Mr. and Mrs. Keeley are moving to Whiteparish in Wiltshire on September 3rd.

Visitors from over a wide area including Fivehead, Ashcott and Bramford attended a very pleasant evening practice of the Ilchester Branch at Ash-in-Martock on August 3rd. Ringing was under the direction of Mr. Gordon Rendell and the Vicar (Rev. H. G. Barwood) conducted the belfry office.

Mr. F. S. Macev, of Sutton Valence, Kent, has a record comparable with that of Mr. Taylor. He was taught to handle a bell hy the late George Gilbert in 1904. the vear he joined the Kent County Association. He has been a subscriber to "The Ringing World" since No 1 issue and another ringing paper previous to that date.

BELFRY GOSSIP

SOCIAL SIDE OF THE COUNCIL MEETING

The report of the Central Council meeting at Worcester is a very full one. spreading over three weekly issues of "The Ringing World". However, I think a little more might be said concerning the excellent arrangements made by the Worcester Association. Those of us who joined the coach tour on the Monday found it most enjoyable. Thanks to Mr. Paul Cattermole's organisation everything went smoothly -we journeyed through beautiful countryside, rang at five towers, enjoyed a good luncheon, all at leisurely pace. At one village the donkey "sounded off" a loud welcome as the coach arrived! For whom was the instant recognition? The two "Ringing World" Committee members? The eminent ringers from the south, or (say it quietly) could it have been for the Editor? Enough speculation; instead let us thank most warmly the Vicar and his wife at this same village for so thoughtfully providing us with refreshing cups of tea.
This year most of us found the council meeting itself more strenuous than usual and we were ready to relax in the evening. What hetter for this purpose than a tour through Devon? This is just what some of us were able to do through the medium of the Rev. John Scott's lantern slides, tape-recordings of the bells and his own inimitable "live" commentary. Thank you, Mr. Scott-we "scientifics" are beginning to appreciate the great skill and heauty of the performances of your callchangers. We look forward to more of your shows and your articles in "The Ringing World".
There are. of course, many other aspects of the annual Central Council meeting which have to be considered in detail over a long period by the host Association making adequate arrangements. Among these are the welcome by Church and civic authorities as well as the opportunity for members of the Council to attend carly service on the meeting day. These are important privileges we enjoy year by year and 1, for one. sincerely hope none of them will he sacrificed owing to the length of the agenda. The business meeting at St. Albans next year will be longer than usual owing to the elections, etc. Would it be possible to arrange an evening reception instead of the usual teatime one?

DIAMOND WEDDING AT WIVELISCOMBE

The diamond wedding of Mr . and Mrs . William Hartnell. of Wiveliscombe. Somerset. on July 25 th. was commemorated by a quarter peal of Triples on the parish church hells on August 1st. an attempt on the anniversary having been lost. Bill has heen a ringer since 1904 and was cantain at Wiveliscomhe for 20 years. He took part with his brother. James. in 1907 in the first peal rung by the local band.

SLFFOLK RINGERS' WEEK-FND IN SOUTH WALES

Another intrepid tour story comes from Suftolk. Guided by Mr. Leslie Wright, Rougham ringers and friends from neighbouring towers in the Ipswich area have recently completed a successful week-end in South Wales.
At 7 a.m. on the Friday the party left Rougham and the first stop was at Deddington, Oxfordshire, where Mr. Chris Clarke met them and where touches of Bob Major, Kent T.B., Little Bob and Grandsire were rung. One ringer, alas, had his first fall down a belfry staircase ofter 40 years of ringing. We are thankful he reached the base uninjured.
The first ring in Wales was at Cefn Coed, where David Tamperlin, now a Rougham ringer, met the party. Swansea was reached just in utme to find beds and an carly start was made on Saturday with cight belfries on the programme. These were Llanelli, Gorsenon, Cadoxton, Neath, Baglan, Aberavon, Bridgend and Coity. Good ringing was heard throughout the day, the conductors being Miss J. Andrews, Messrs. J. Paul, Neville Whittle, H. Fuller. Dick Rose. Maurice Rose and L. Wright. Mr. Clem Lewis was a great help as guide. Lunch was taken at Neath and tea at Aberavon. Among the points of interest were Baglan Church, built during the last century without a nail.
On Sunday morning service ringing took place at St. Paul's, Sketty, with local ringers and included Double Norwich, Stedman and other touches. The visitors then joined in the morning service. Evening ringing was at St. Mary's, Swansea, where touches of Major were enjoyed.
Monday morning came all too soon and the journey home included the new Severn Bridge. Mr. Wright was thanked and presented with a barometer in appreciation of his organisation. The party look forward to the 1969 tour, but meanwhile they thank incumbents and ringers who met and rang with them and helped in many ways.

HONEYMOON WHERE BRIDE RANG FIRST PEAL

The wedding took place at the Parish Church of St. Martin of Tours, West Coker, Somerset, on July 13th, of Robert Parker, of High Ham (a Bath and Wells diocesan instructor), and Lesley Legget. of West Coker (daughter of Mr. G. A. and Mrs. Legget, the Ilchester Branch's hon. secretary).
The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. L. H. Bailey) and the Ilchester Branch's chairman (the Rev. C. J. B. Marshall), the best man being Mr. Keith Beale.
After the ceremony the bride, bridegroom, best man, bride's mother and Branch chairman took part in ringing a "touch" on the pleasant, good-going West Coker eight bells.
Before and after the wedding friends from Montacute, Stoke-sub-Hambdon. Hardington Mandeville and West Coker rang a variety of touches. These ringers included the Branch Ringing Master and four tower masters.

A reception was held at the home of the bride, Ridgeover House, Coker Hill, and the honeymoon was spent at Porlock, where the bride rang her first peal.
Mr. and Mrs. Parker's address is now 4, Brooks Road, Street, Somerset.

FIRST PEAL IN MINUTE BELFRY

The first peal on the bells at Crawley, near Winchester, is recorded this week. It may well be that ringers have been deterred by the smallness of the ringing chamber, which measures only five feet ten inches by six feet. This is a ground-floor ring at the west end end of the church and, as well as the five ropes, there is a radiator in this space. It is not to be wondered that at times the ropes become entangled during the ringing. Three of the peal ringers had attempted the peal on three previous occasions before the bells or the ropes were in such good condition as they are now.
The history of the bells is as follows: Tenor and fourth cast by John Stairs in 1746, the third by Robert Wells in 1789, the second cast in 1802 by James Wells and recast in 1900 by John Warner. London, the treble was cast in 1802 by James Wells. With the exception of the second, all were cast at Aldbourne, Wiltshire.
In 1900 the bells were rehung and the tower restored. Three years ago Commander G. Wardle, R.N., himself a ringer, started to take interest in the bells and since then $£ 300$ worth of work has been carried out mainly on the frame and bells with a little on the tower : Mears and Stainbank have amongst other things drilled out the crown staples and modernised the clappers. The bearings are still plain, but Commander Wardle has completely renewed the lubricating arrangements, which are fully efficient. Both he and the Vicar and the P.C.C. are to be congratulated on the present state of things. especially as there is now an active band of ringers.

TRIBUTE TO ROCHDALE VICAR

The quarter peal rung half-muffled at Rochdale Parish Church on July 31st was arranged specially as a tribute to the Vicar of St. Alban's, Rochdale, who died suddenly the previous Thursday and was interred earlier in the day.

Situated only half a mile from Rochdale Parish Church, Si. Alban's contains a 17 l cwt. ring of eight by Mears and Stainbank. Unfortunately, owing to the condition of the frame. the bells have not been rung since the last war, and very regrettably because of the cost involved (over $£^{2} .000$, say the bellfounders) there is little chance in the foreseeable future of anything being done to put this right.

A WARWICKSHIRE AUGMENTATION

An announcement is made that the six bells at Kingsbury, near Tamworth. with a tenor of 16 cwt ., are to be augmented to eight. The front five are to be recast into seven to tune in with the present tenor in E. The work has been entrusted to John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

It is always a pleasure for the Leeds and District Amalgamated Society to visit Guiseley. The eight bells are light and easy-going and induce a high standard of striking. Whilst the walk from the church to the Vicarage and church hall passes through pleasant gardens and copses, more reminiscent of a church deep in the countryside.
The Society again visited the tower on July 27 th . and the warm and sunny day entanced the pleasures of sight and sound. Methods that were rung included Stedman. Double Norwich, Cumbridge and Yorkshire. A traditional Yorkshire meat tea was provided free of charge by the local company, and in replying to the vote of thanks Mr. Walsh said the Society would be ever welcome at Guiseley, but he was sad to note with each visit the absence of more of the "old faces"

The mecting was without the services of the secretary, Mr. I. North. who was ill, and the Sociely wished him a speedy recovery.

Comments were made on a number of points raised by the sub-committee which is looking into the introduction of a striking competition to the Society. It was decided by the meeting that the contest should be on six bells and be held at the October meeting: detailed arrangements were referred back to the sub-committee.

Next meeting, August 31st, Otley (provislonal).

COMMENT

THE SHILLING "RINGING WORLD"

By Bernard C. Ashford

ITT IS DIFFICULT to appreciate the inferences, both by word and deed, which are unfortunately so evident up and down the country with regard to the price of our invaluable journal, "The Ringing World"
Presumably it will be allowed that, as ringers, our primary duty is to ring our bells wherever and whenever possible for Divine Service, also that our ringing, whether for sacred or secular purposes, provides us with a certain amount of enjoyment. If, therefore, we are in order in looking upon our ringing as being something in the nature of a pursuit, then obviously a journal dealing with it is an important and vital co-ordinating instrument.
From here we may proceed to consider the prices of other journals which cater for other pursuits, remarking in passing that most of the said pursuits have several such journals where we have only one. These, moreover, carry far more lucrative advertising matter than does our journal which, from its highly specialised nature, etc., does not possess such scope.
Here are the prices of a few of the most popular journals catering for other pursuits. There are also more expensive ones, presumably for the ultra-esoteric.

| Angling | 2s. 6d. |
| :--- | :--- |
| Chess (monthly) | 3s. 0d. |
| Cricket | 2s. 6d. |
| Cycling | 2s. 0d. |
| Golf | 1s. 3d. |
| Photography | 2s. 0d. |
| Pigeon-lfing | 1s. 9d. |
| Speedway Racing | 1 s .6 d. |
| Stamp Collecting | 1 s .4 d. |
| Tennis | 2 s .6 d. |

All but one of these we see is well in excess of our humble shilling.
It will be appreciated that followers of the activities have to provide their own materials and invariably belong to a club which requires an entrance fee and a fairly substantial annual subscription.

Our Guilds and Associations do not require an entrance fee, while the annual subscriptions can only be described as peanuts or chicken-feed in comparison with some of the foregoing, and our materials, the bells, ropes, etc., are provided by the parishes.
Around six thousand copies per week of our journal are sold, but it is safe to say that the paper has something like five times that number of readers. Borrowing a friend's copy can nibble away many sales but the pernicious device of purchasing one copy per tower, so very prevalent, is the real villain of the piece. If these people would take only two copies per tower it would make the Editorial Committee very happy, while three copies per tower would put an end to their worries and be a fitting reward to them for their years of (mark this well) UNPAID LABOUR.
The appetite for "as much as possible for as little as may be" grows with what it feeds upon, and it is a sad reflection on many of the members of our fraternity that such extreme (and short-sighted) parsimony should be so rampant.

Any talk of increasing subscriptions by Association or Guild officials invariably raises howls of protest, while implementation of such proposals results in loss of membership-all for the sake of a paltry bob or two per annum. Just think of it. The affluent society digging in over the question of paying the very little asked for in return for what is so generously offered. Who else gets so much for so little (pardon what has become a platitude) as we do?

WHAT THE HECK IS WRONG WITH US?

UNIVERSITY OF SUSSEX GUILD VISIT ESSEX

THE second annual tour of the Guild took place between July 10th and 17 th and was based on camp sites at Loughton and Danbury. A very damp start was made on the Wednesday afternoon, but having erected the tents we were able to dry out and warm up at the Waltham Abbey practice. Through a "breakdown in communications" the ex-Master did not join us until the next morning, but his absence was almost compensated for by two members of the O.U.S. and by our close connection with the S.U.G.! Susan had travelled from Suffolk with three of us, who were very grateful to the Southampton Guild for putting up with them. En route the East Bergholt bell cage was visited. However, we claim that any accident following our visit was purely coincidental!

Thursday and Friday were spent in the south west of the county, and we particularly enjoyed the fine eight at Hornchurch and the six at Wanstead (despite the lack of elbow room). At Barking one of our friends from Oxford experienced some ropesight trouble. particularly his own! On Saturday we headed north and found that the itinerary permitted time on tive of the good six at Nazeing. Following this we expressed interest in the origin of the ringing chamber floor at Roydon. We were most impressed with the eight at Harlow Common, although a delayed and rather ample lunch seemed to ruin our appetite for spliced. The other highlight of the day was the pleasant ten at Bishop's Stortford.
True to form, there was a little precipitation to impede our striking camp on the Sunday morning, but the flooded roads did not prevent three of us from taking part in a quarter peal at Waltham Abbey and the rest of the party from ringing for service at Havering-atte-Bower. We were delighted to find welldrained ground at Danbury. Evening service ringing at Chelmsford was followed by a somewhat erratic journey down the A12 to a very welcome meal at Madi's.
Our numbers were swelled on Monday and we had some goodish ringing. Particularly enjoyable were Great Waltham, the delightful new ring at Danbury (where a touch of 7 Spliced was successful) and Great Baddow, while the four at Margaretting made an interesting and not unpleasant change. We returned to the Cathedral in the evening and were pleased to ring with our first Master again. On Tuesday we liked the musical eights at Finchingfield, Dunmow, Thaxted and Ickleton (where more spliced was rung), while our visit to Hempstead will long be remembered by all who were present. We joined the Saffiron Walden practice before making our rather damp way back.
More rain on Wednesday gave us familiar transport difficulties, but all of us arrived safely at our various destinations. Most of the party went on to Expo Sussex ' 68 for the rest of the week. where the Guild helped with the ringing exhibition and entered the handbell contest, although the make-up of the band would doubtess amaze the registrar at the University!

AFTERTHOUGHTS ON BELLS AND BELLRINGING

4.-BELLS

HAVING sard something of the conductors who have included me in their bands on many occasions, und whom 1 may bave to mention again, I might add thut as I have not been a peal conductor myself it would be of little use to write anything on the subject of conducting. Being of a rather nervous and excitable nature in youth, and being out of the country for some years at a time when 1 might have taken up conducting, it seemed better upon my return if 1 tried to make myself into as capable a ringer as possible, and thus be welcomed in any band that wanted me. (Rather than be a kind of irresponsible bob caller without proper control, of which kina we see quite a number about at different times.)

I his of course has not prevented me from calling service touches und doing a considerable mount of reaching of learners, with as much success as 1 could have hoped for. One of the difficulties surrounding present day service bands is that so many young people leave for college just as they are becoming useful members. The only remedy is to start more learners. Having said all this, I must now turn to the subject of this chapter heading, Bells."
Different ringers have different ideas as to whit constitutes a' good bell. Unless a ring of bells is undeniably poor and of bad tone -hurmonics in chaos and so on-there is generally someone who will say something in tavour of a particular ring. It may be because he or she has heard that particular bell all their lives, or because there is a charm about it heard from a certain quarter; the insido effect may be good, although outside it may not be so good.
The acoustics inside can at times produce a really nice effect from a poor ring. In such a tower a really line ring would be glorious to hear and yet outside might not sound much better that the old lot.
Tall buildings near to a. tower can produce some very curious sounds from the best of bells-at times hideous sounds. The problem of acoustics should be given more attention by bellhangers than generally is the case; especially inside, where forms of control can be introduced that outside would be impossible Expense is usually the reason why a ring of bells has been installed without anything being done, at least until much later, to make the bells reasonably tolerable inside. In some cases they are too loud; difficult to hear at all in others, and again, here and there, an inaudible bell or two.

In my present tower, for example." for many years ringers endured tremendous noise in the ringing room, there being but one floor (the ringing room ceiling) between the ringers and a ring of ten, tenor 30 cwt . Conductors had to bawl at the top of their voices, and instructions when a clip occurred were rarely understood. This was modified quite recently by putting a two-inch floor just below the bells. on the lower members of the frame, which not only reduced the noise below, but saves a tremendous crash on the ringing room ceiling when the occasional clapper drops out. In addition, heavy carpets on the ringing room floor took much of the harshness from the bell sounds; the oak floor must have previously reflected the already loud sounds. This room and belfry above are roughly 26 feet square, so some idea of the amount of material needed can be seen. It was worth it, however, and, so far as the noise inside is concerned, what used to be considered an incredibly harsh ring of bells is now held to be a reasonably good toned lot.
Oulside effect was bettered by bourding up the huge windows with 12 -inch boards wrapped in rooting felt (that was done by the writer 17 years ago). The point I should like to make here is this: In spite of the improvement effected inside and outside recently, these bells heard at a distance were always considered to be fairly good in tome and general effect-but only at a distance; neurby they were harsh and powerful. It is obvious that no ring should be left without sound control of some sort when they are installed. One mignt as well make a piano with the loud pedal permanently left on and the lid raised all the time 1

As to individual bells. at one ume, 30 or 90 years ago, there was much discussion, some of it quito acrimonious, us to the merits and demerits of harnionically cuned bells (Simpson tuned") and the so called "Old Standard" tuning. Some claimed that scraping so much metal of the inside of a bell removed too much of the "casting skin" and that this in time would cause the bell to deaden in tone. So far I cannot recall an instance of this being mentioned, although I have heard man say of a certain ring that they-the bellsdidn's seens so brilliant as they were, but it could have been his ear that was not as receptive to sound as it was earlier on. There is no proof so far that bells so tuned lose their bright tone in the half-century that Simpson funed bells have been in use. Without knowing much about bellfounding and tuning, have the feeling that these bells are cast to a shape and thickness that allows a certain amount of metal to be taken off and yet leave the sides of the bells at normal thickness.

The "Old Standard" tuning, judging from what can be seen of such bells, appeared to be that of casting a bell as near to the shape and thickness as possibie to produce the required strike note. If this was successful, no tuning, or very little, at the sound bow was attempted. In the absence of a vertical lathe. it was impossible to tune far up the inside of a bell in any case, and the resultant harmonics were left to chance; these could be very agreeable or could be the reverse. $\dagger$

The result of casting a bell of varying diameters and thicknesses is that more than one note is produced when the bell is struck by the clapper. In fact five different sounds come from the average bell, and a keen car can detecr even more in some large bells. The main note. produced at the soundbow, is the most powerful, having the thickest metal. The other tones, or harmonics, are what causes the belltuner's greatest difficulty. If the bell comes from the casting pit with these tones out of tune with the main strike note, then he must do his best with the tuning machine to pare the metal away in various places and bring these faulty tones as near as possible in tune with the strike noto.

In modern bell tuning, great success has followed the experiments of 50 years ago of Canon Simpson of Fittleworth, Sussex, who so disliked the harmonics that emanated from the six small bells in his church steeple that he went into the subject closely and he finally persuaded the bellfounders to try out his ideas. They did try them out and now, with the aid of the modern tuning machine, bells can be cast and suned with mathematical precision.

Many old rings of bells are very rood and melodious even though they were produced long before Canon Simpson's " 5 tone principle" as it is called. The tones, which can be distinguished by almost anyone with an ear for music, when a bell is being chimed are as follows:-

1. The strike note-the loudest sound.
2. The tierce, or 3rd above the strike note.
3. The quint, or 5 th above the strike note.
4. The nominal, or octave above the strike note; this is usually very faint and not quite in tune.
5 The hum note, of octave below in the Simpson principle, a low drone, the last sound heard as the stroke dies away. In old bells, this tone will be flat 7th below, just above the octave, giving an incomplete cadence or finish.

- St. George's, Stockport.
$\dagger$ The manuscript finishes at this point. The continuation is part of another manuscript prepared a number of years ago, by Peter, for a talk given by his daughter, Francis Hibbert, 10 a group of non-ringers.-R.B.S.

LADIES' GUILD

Record Number of New Members from South Wales

The Rector of Mitcheldean, the Rev. E. W. P. Ainsworth, very kindly invited the South Wales District of the Ladies' Guild to hold a meeting at his church and make use of his fine ring of eight bells. This the ladies were delighted to do and the meeting was most successfully held on July 20th, attracting large gathering of ringers from towers in the Royal Forest of Dean and from the surrounding counties.

The Rector conducted the service, Mr. Thorne played the organ and the lesson was most confidently read to us by ten-year-old Nicola Paton. An excellent tea was served in the Church Hall, and Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Ainsworth and their belpers were thanked by Mr. Reuben Clench.

At the business mecting the record number of 14 new members wero elected from places very far apart.

From Monmouthshire: Mrs. Sheila Parry (Grosmont), Mrs. Pamela Telfer and Jennifer Arnold (Mathern), Lesley Sowerby (Caldicot) and Gillian Clench, Elizabeth Hughes and Susan Parsley (Usk).

From the Forest area: Patricia Stocken and Christine Manns (Redmarley), Geraldine Mitchell (Corse), the sisters Frenella and Amaryllis Bell-Richards (daughters of the Vicar of Dymock), and from Mitcheldean Ann Brain and Nicola Jordan.

Next meeting: Possibly in November at either Talgarth with Bronllys or Lanelly. J. S. K.

The Great West Window of St. Peter Mancroft

By THE RINGING MASTER

 N June 8th, 1960, the Rev. Frank Sidney Jarvis was instituted as Vicar of St. l'eter Mancroft. Norwich. He was a bachelor of considerable private means and over the next five years vast restoration work to the church was going to take place-not least the complete restoration of the nave and chancel roof, to which he gave generously. However, one thing always disappointed him and that was the Great West Window (the belfry window) completely filled with dirty opaque glass.After his untimely death in 1965 a memorial fund was set up and it was thought that the best permanent memorial to him would be to have this window replaced with stained glass. The window was very large and funds would only allow the tracery part of the window to be so filled-the rest of the window being replaced with clear glass.

On Sunday, July 21st, a succasiful conclusion of this work was seen by the dedication of this "Ringers' Window " by the Lord Bishop of Norwich (the Rt. Rev. Dr. l.auncelot Fleming)

To a packed church the arrival of the Bishop and the civic party was heralded by a fanfare of trumpets followed by the hymn "Ye that know that the Lord is gracious " sung at the institution of the Rev. Frank Jarvis. After the dedication ceremony the choir sang from the belfry the hymn "Sleepers Wake "-the theme of the window being "Wachet Auf." In his address the Rev. C. J. H. W. A. Bradley, Vicar of St. Peter's, St. Albans, gave a hrief account of the life and work of Frank Jarvis. The service closed with the hymn "Praise, my Soul, the King of Heaven." this being sung at the funeral service of the Rev. Frank Jarvis. As the organ voluntary died away, Mancroft bells pealed out at the start of a peal of Stedman Cinques, which was duly completed in 3 hours and 24 minutes.

All are agreed that the window is magnificent and a fitting tribute to a Vicar who loved Mancroft and its bells.

THE ARCHITECT'S COMMENTARY

By G. Anderson, A.R.I.B.A.

It was impossible that a window in the west face of a famous bell tower and, at the same time, the window of the ringing chamber should not itself contain bells, and those depicted in the lower lights and centre section of the window are the 13 bells of the belfry above, descending in the hands of angels who have, naturally, their sleeves rolled up. Each bell is identified by its note, repeated vertically in un ascending treble cleft.

The underlying message of the composition is one of alert at the imminent arrival of joy, and is expressed in the first and last verses of the Advent hymn "Wachet Auf " and in extracts from the recitative passages which Hach built up around this. The words ascend with the notes of the bells from the upturned bell mouths, through the tracery, in movement from dark to light, night to dawn, violet to gold, to a tripartite City of God in the upper section, which is also depicted filled with bells. St. Peter, the titular saint of Mancroft, and St. Agatha descend with the angels, surrounded by celestia! bodies and the faces of clocks.

The design, as it evolved over a period of three years, indicates themes, which are regarded by the artist as a beginning only and which he plans to develop in future work. It which he plans to develop in future work. It was hoped at one stage to depict the peal patterns of the Norwich group. which have been drawn out for the artist by Mr. Nolan Golden, but there was insufficient space to do this on this occasion.

CLERICS RINE PEALS DOWN SDMERSET WAY

A NOTHER very enjoyable Clerical Guild peal-ringing gathering was held recenily in Somerset. Like the one last year in Kent, ${ }^{16}$ was a "follow on" from the annual "Week" at Easter and looks like becoming an annual feature in the life of the Guild. Siven members converged from various parts of the country on Monday, July 8th, on L.ong Sutton Vicarage, the honce of the Rev. C. J. B. Marshall and his wife, whom we were very pleased to meet again.
Very wisely no attempt was arranged for this day. Instead we relaxed in the garden and enjoyed a delicious dinner until it was time for a practice on the lovely eight at IIminster, where we were met by quite a delegation of local ringers. There was Mr. A. J. Lewis, captain at Long Sutton tower; Mr. Tom Hill, captain at Ilminster: Mr. Boh Dean. secretary of the Crewkerne Branch; Mr. Gordon Rendell, Ringing Master of the IIminster Branch: Mr. Paul Field, of Long Sutton, and Mr. Jim Stenner, a young octogenarian of Ilminster. Here we rubbed off the rust on our Double Norwich. enjoyed some Stedman and rang a successful course of Lincolnshire, the special method our president had asked us to learn. A visit to a local hostelry with our hosts concluded a pleasant evening, after which we went our respective ways to the Vicarages of Tatworth (the home of the Rev. N. F. D. Coleridge, one of our members, and his wife). Huish Episcopi (Anglo-Saxon and Latin for "House of the Bishop," and therefore a fitting place for the president, the Rev. R. D. St. John Smith, who with the writer was made most welcome by the local Vicar) and Long Sutton.

TWO PEALS IN A DAY

Two attempts were arranged for the next day-Double Norwich at Drayton in the morning and Stedman at Curry Rivel in the evening (with the afternoon free for relaxing at Long Sutton and trying a 120 on the fine six there) and both were successful! This was the first time that the Guild had rung two peals in a day and the first time that these methods had been rung for it, although there had been previous clerical peals in the methods long before the formation of the Guild: Double Norwich at another Drayton, in Berkshire, in 1909, and three of Stedman Triples, the first being way back in the 1880's.

The Rev Roger Fry conducted the morning peal, and a very good peal indeed it was. After 11 he had to return to his parish but was able to join us again at Curry Rivel when we had finished ringing. We were met at Curry Rivel by Mr. George Hartland, the lower captain, and joined by the Rev. John Scott, who came up from Devon to ring the tenor for us. Our other Roger, the Rev. Roger Keeley, conducted and showed his power of conducting very clearly at one point in the second half. when we were beginning to get weary, by getting two of us who wanted to err and stray to walk in the right way and by inspiring us all to give of our best until the peal was brought to a happy and successful conclusion.

Feeling very pleased with ourselves, we came down from the tower to find the following note tucked behind the windscreen of John Scott's car: * You all ought to be sent to prison for making that row all night. We will get a petition going here to stop it." We looked around for irate parishioners, but saw only the genial Vicar, who was delighted with our success. We looked for the anonymous note again. The handwriting seemed familiar. We compared it with the handwriting of someone whom all of a sudden we suspected (whose handwriting by chance we had) and found a strong resemblance !

THE FAILURE

The next morning we went down to Lyme Regis for our third and final attempt. It was here that Roger Keelcy learned to ring and we were very pleased to meet his father, wife and young son, who came to welcome us. It was here, too, that our former president, the late Canon C. C. Cox of happy memory, was Vicar from 1927 to 1953, and we were very pleased to see him smiling at us from his picture in the ringing chamber. Lincolnshire was the method our president intended us to ring, but at the conductor's request it was changed to Cambridge, it being thought that this would give us a better chance of getting the "hat trick." But it was not to be. We did not settle down straight away as in the previous attempts. In our anxiety not to make mistakes we found ourselves making them. Then we seemed to settle down, but some more occurred after we had been ringing an hour. Our conductor could stand no more. "Stand," he called. And stand we did.
We were sorry not to get this peal but glad that we had succeeded in ringing two (lust year we only succeeded in ringing one): and as one member said afterwards: "If we had got them all this time we should not have anything to aim for next."
We are most grateful to all the incumbents who allowed us to ring, to all the ringers who met us and made us so welcome, to our respective hosts and hostesses for their lind hospitality and. above all. to the Rev. Christopher Marshall and his wife for all they did to make this tour so successful and enjoyable.

Letters to

APPENDIX TO DOUBLES COLLECTION
Dear Sir.-In the Appendix on pages 575 and 595 the following additions and corrections to names of variations should be noted: 4 Ludgershall, 8 Skillington, 64 Saville, 121 St. Clether, 122 Kelmarsh, 123 Bradden, 124 Tring and 243 Fawley. On page 575 name method 55 V as Pensthorpe Bob.
Several ringers have pointed out and questioned the anomaly of R. St. Bartholomew, elc., retaining their old type of bob. If April Day is Spliced Plain Bob and Rev. St. Bartholomew, then so also is the traditional Rev. St. Bartholomew extent. Also, in the 1955 Collection of Doubles, in Section III, methods with one hunt, no method is the bob lead of another method in the same Section. In order that Rev. St. Bartholomew. All Saints', Rev. St. Sebastian, Minster Bob and Morning Star Bob (the first three of which are regular methods) might fit into this requirement, might I suggest that the following single be the standard call for these methods instead of the plain lead of other methods is at present.

15243 Call this a P-single for all metbods
15234 marked $P$ in the Appendix.
Example of an extent-SPPPSSPPPSPP where S is a single and P a plain lead.
Also the use of an Old single for Chevasse, Maltby and Callender gives a plain lead of other methods, and so these three methods should use a Grandsire single above the treble for a bob, and be renumbered 77R, 80R and 84 R .
I hope that Doubles ringers will accept these suggestions, since it will mean that all methods and variations in Section III will conform to the standard that no method is the bobbed lead of another, or, to put it another way, no method is used as the bob or single for another method or variation.
This restriction does not apply between Sections, of course. A singled lead of Reverse Grandsire is the acceptable St. Bartholomew; Reverse Grandsire is in Section II and Si. Bartholomew in Section III. Also Grandsire, in Section II, is a bobbed course of Original from Section 1. But each Section in itself must conform to this standard.-Yours sincerely, Windsor, Berks.

IRISH SEA PEAL

Dear Sir,-With reference to a recent inquiry about a peal rung on the Irish Sea, this was 5,173 Stedman Caters by St. Martin's Guild on May 29th, 1901, in 2 Hours and 53 minutes by William Pye 1-2, William H. Barber 3-4, George R. Pye 5-6, Ernest Pye 7-8, William Short (cond.) 9-10. Umpires: James George and Isaac G. Shade.
A complete account of the tour, peals rung, etc., is contained on page 69 of "Bell News," No. 1,000 , June 8th, 1901 (Vol. 20) with a write-up on pages 64 and 65. Seven peals resulted from eight attempts.

The party consisted of W. H. Barber, John Buffery, R. R. Cherry, Q.C.. P. W. Davies, James George, J. S. Goldsmith, Gabriel Lindoff Ernest Pye. George R. Pye, William Pye, Isaac G. Shade, William Short and J. W. Townley.-Yours faithfully,

"SPLICED" TREBLE BOB MAJOR

Dear Sir,-The Central Council's Decisions on Peal Ringing, in the section devoted to spliced peals (page 21 of the Handbook) say:

Variations of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob. where the method is changed when the treble passes through 3-4 down, cannot be described as spliced peals."
As a result, for many years now the late H . W. Wilde's 5,280 of Kent and Oxford T.B. Major without bobs (i.e. in the "Worcester variation ") has been published either as "Combined Kent and Oxford" or simply as "Kent and Oxford."
I see that Mr. Blagrove has now conducted this composition at Staines ("Ringing World," August 9th. page 626) and by calling his changes of method some ten or a dozen blows earlier than has hitherto been usual has "conyerted " it into a peal of spliced. Technically irreproachable, perhaps, but to my mind a wilful piece of what is apparently fashionable to call "whizzkiddery." A strictly legalistic interpretation of the Decisions in no way alters the fact that their spirit has been deliberately contravened.
You may not like the extract 1 have quoted, Frank-1 am not sure that 1 do, either, and we are probably not alone-but it would have been tactful, to say the least, to have abided by its clear intention until such time as the Decisions are revised. After all, it is probably not long to wait.-Yours faithfully,

PLEASANT COMPANY

Dear Sir,-For the creation of a happy atmosphere one cannot beat the ringers of Fittleton and Netheravon, Wiltshire.

Mr. Newman, the Salisbury District secretary, kindly invited us to the quarterly meeting held there on July 27th. The bells at both these churches are well maintained and are a pleasure to ring.

Good striking plays an important part among these Wiltshire ringers, but what intrigued us were the closed leads, which we understand are a feature of the Avon Valley ringing.

One cannot visit these two churches without being impressed by the extremely well kept churchyards. This work was started on a voluntary basis about 15 years ago by the ringers. Two of the originals have kept it up ever since.
To anyone organising a trip in the Salisbury area, these two towers are well worth a visit. -Yours, etc.,
A. and M. GREEN.

Highclere, Hants.

VECTIS SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,-The false course heads and lead incidence of the above method are as follows:
$\begin{array}{lllllllll}24365 & 6 & \text { v } 5 ; 5 & \text { v } 6 ; 3 \text { v } 2 ; 2 \text { v } 3 . \\ 32546 & 5 & \text { v } 2 ; 2 & \text { v } 5 ; 6 \text { v } 6 ; 3 \text { v } 7 ; 7 \text { v } 3 .\end{array}$

365241 v 4.
52643 4 v 1 .
46532 7v 4.
If the composition used for the recent peal is proved bearing in mind the lead incidence indicated it will be found to be true.- Yours sincerely,

JOHN R. KETTERINGHAM.

LONG LENGTHS

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{I}$ was interested in the paragrapn on page 605 of the issue of August 2 nd relating to the alteration of a footnote to a peal. Before commenting too closely one would like to know the wording of the footnote, the peal it belonged to, and the moditication that you, sir, as Editor, made in the wording.
But I think we may ask at this stage if it is really true that official longest lengths do not "begin" until 6,720 changes. The conditions set out on page 19 of the Council's Handbook do not seem to me to express any such meaning, nor do I see how such a restriction could possibly exist. If a band should ring in a particular method a true peal that is longer than any peal already rung in that method, then the peal they ring is the longest ength in that method, and no conditions laid down by any authoritative body can alter this fact; and a footnote noting the fact is not only in order but is historically desirable.
There must be many Caters methods in which no peal of more than the ordinary length has been rung. Should a band ring in one of these methods a peal of say 6,137 changes, then surely we cannot but agree that the longest length in that method has been rung, and that, ipso facto, a record of some sort has been established. No arbitrary ruling we can make can alter this.
It is amusing, perhaps, to note in this context that on February 21st, 1920, Albert Coppock, as Lenton, called 5,312 of Norfolk Surprise Major, using one half of a two-part peal of Double Norwich. This was the longest length rung in the method at that time, and so it remained for a great number of years (and it may yet be the record!). Nobody claimed any particular credit or took much notice of it, except that the late Mr. Ernest Morris always thought it a good joke. But mark this! It was the longest length rung.

To come back to the point. Years have passed since some Decisions of the Council were made. It would be helpful, I imagine, if Mr. C. K. Lewis or one of his equally competent authorities on the matters could explain to us exaculy what the Council's ruling implies, to what exactly it refers, and how and why the seemingly arbitrary number of 6,720 was arrived at.-Yours faithfully, Warminster. EDGAR C. SHEPHERD.

Note-The 5,184 Minimus is a progressive length, and will be recorded with such as the peal of 5,568 Londinium Surprise Maximus. It is record peals proper that start at 6,720 changes and for which certain conditions regarding notice and umpires are required. 6,720 is the length of 30 courses of Surprise Major: many such easily run to only 29 courses, so 30 courses is the obvious number from which to start " official records."-Ed.

JAMES WYATT'S WORK

Dear Sir.-It is fashionable to decry James Wyatt's architectural work, but wrong that he should be blamed for what be did not do. as a letter in a recent issue does.
His west front of Hercford Cathedral was demolished at the beginning of this century that it might be replaced by the present structure by Oldrid, son of Sir Gilbert Scott, completed in 1908.
Of the merits or otherwise of either design 1 am not competent to judge but there are today knowledgeable people who think it a pity Wyatt's more restrained composition was not allowed to remain.-Yours faithfully,
A. W. DAVIS

"WRATTEN'S WRINGERS"" SIXTH PEAL TOUR

ON a sunny Saturday afternoon in early July, Peter and Diana Bridle, Howard Egglestone, Tom Goodyer, Tony Kench, George Thoday and Cyril Wratten assembled at Brewood, Staffordshire, for a quarter peal of London. Ted Malin, from down the road, came along to make up the number. A late change of plan meant that the proposed peal attempt at Penkridge had to be cancelled, so, not really minding, we sat in the sun on the canal bank at Brewood until a wedding service was finished.

After ringing a quarter on these better-thanaverage bells a prompt get-away was made to Norton-in-the-Moors, one of two towers laid on by the organiser in lieu of a peal attempt. Here, with the help of local talent, various Surprise methods were rung, also a well-known rouch of Plain Bob, which George conducted from the second. We were pleasantly surprised by an offer of tea in the hall, for which we thanked the local captain very much and accepted.

Having had this welcome break, the party moved on to Brown Edge (an undistinguished six). Calling in for a "quick one " on the way, tracks were made for Buxton, our headquarters for the week. When everyone had found their various "digs," which were all within a stone's throw of each other, we went to the local at Fairfield, when John and Gill Hunt and Tony Cox were installed.

SUNBATHING!

Sunday dawned as sunny as the previous day and, despite an carly start, we missed ringing at Tideswell, Hope, Whaley Bridge and Churchtown, although there is a story here. The party managed to get somewhat dispersed at this stage, but after sunbathing and various diversions we all happened to meet up again in the pub at Worsley-funny! Partaking of hostelry pies for lunch, everyone assembled outside St. Mark's, where we met Alan Schofield, who joined us for three and a quarter hours' ringing A quick drive down the M. 62 ensured a ring at Stretford, and thence back to Buxton, with only one break for refreshment, at the Cat and Fiddle, reputedly the highest public house in England.

On Monday morning Mike Platt arrived at Fairfietd in the early hours and waited in his car for an hour while we had breakfast. The programme for the morning was Lincolnshire at New Mills, but at the tower we were told that exams in the nearby school were in progress, so a peal attempt was out. Bob Smith soon put things right, however (being on holiday), and arranged for us to ring at Marple instead, changing New Mills to Tuesday. A peal was rung on the pleasant bells in the very much detached tower with the wellknown yawning conductor in charge and Cyril on the tenor because he was last to catch hold !

After ale and small pies the trip to Cheadle was made, where George Cousin, was waiting to join us. The non-participants grabbed the bells and left, rather thankful not to be ringing a peal on them. A peal of Wembley (in which the conductor relinquished the tenor to a better man after two leads) was eventually accomplished on this ring with a very long draught. Most of the evening was spent in Stockport, where, after going Chinese. the tower grabbers went to the ten at St. George's and the drinkers returned to Buxton.
"A SICK KANGAROO"
First thing Tuesday morning Tony (without an H) left us for Hemel Hempstead and the is now captain at St. Mary's, Cheltenham, and is treasurer of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. For the last 18 months he has been doing rescarch into the history of Minor ringing.

The first ringing tour he arranged was "Westward with Wratten" to Cornwall in 1959. The idea of a "Wratten's Wringers" Week came after a tour with Joe E. G. Roast in Essex in 1961. This year's Week, the sixth, enabled him to reach two milestones: the peal of Kent Royal at Marple was his 50th "in hand," while Fecleshall, Staffs, where the last peal of the tour was rung, was his 250 th tower for a peal.
on stones in the hub caps. The band for the morning left for Hazel Grove, where Basil Jones met us and showed us the temporary lighting arrangements that he had made. The bells were soon tapping round to Pudsey with our "Aussie" calling a well-known composition. When the striking deteriorated late in the peal we were urged to improve it or, as Tom said, "Come along, listen to it, it sounds like as sick kangeroo." This, of course, crippled the band and even brought forth a hoot from the usually straight-faced treble ringer-so it must have been funny. The striking soon improved.

The lunch menu was as on Monday, after which New Mills was visited yet again. Being early, is chance to lie in the sun was snatched unil the key was sought. Here, deep into a peal of Rutland. Tons forgut to run in when a Before was called. Hanging on to his sally to get the bell into place, he was taken of his feet somewhat and slipped on the floor when he landed. bludgeoning into the tenor man, much to the amusement of all. All seemed well until, with only a few courses to go, one of the band turned into the colour of his fawn shirt: however, doors (there luckily being two) were opened and the peal scored in duc course.
In the evening the tower snatchers got St. Peter's, Macclesfield, and the anti-grabbers drank.

FIRST LOSS

See Macclesfield and die." We did on Wednesday morning in the rain; we also lost Cambridge Royal at Christ Church. The ringing did not come up to scratch after a few courses and was set up-the first loss of since coming to England. John and Gill left for Blackpool, while the rest settled for coffee, then lunch in the Chicken Spit, where everyone seemed to have a crossword to do.
In the afternoon, Gawsworth in its most picturesque setting was visited, most of the band taking the chance of seeing the local Manor House. Bob Smith joined us for this attempt-Watford. Bob said that the seventh was the worst bell here, so we kindly let him ring it. The ringers on tive and six could be seen grimacing as their bells dropped when they dodged together, and much under-breath muttering could be heard until the bells finally ran round in an all-time slow-three hours. No one was sorry to leave these bells and eat in Macclesfield, then on for a quick ring on the light six at Sutton.
Driving through sunny periods and heavy showers, we all arrived at Bowdon on Thursday morning, only the car with the ordnance survey map getting lost. Melbourne Surprise was rung on the excellent eight, Peter ringing instead of Di because his name was down on his programme, even though hers was on all the others. Tom conducted, and George on the second tried to conduct-but his composition was different from Tom'sbut one does funny thing when one is in love.

A WHITER SHADE

A quick refresher at Bowdon was followed by a meal en route to Ashton-under-Lyne. Assembling at St. Peter's rather late, a musical peal of London was rung despite the lady lurning " a whiter shade of pale"-she recovered quickly when told there were only seven courses left. Some went straight to the twelve at St. Michael's for a ring before joining the rest at Buxton. Later that evening a policeman pointed out that "We have a little habit up here, we park with our lights on "; John took the point.

A peal of Ealing was successful at the church along the road on Friday morning, when Bob Smith joined us again. Tom tenored this handy little cight to the peal, which ran round nicely in 2 hours and 46 minutes without incident. Darts at the local, and many rounds of sandwiches, passed away an hour and a half, and also gave George another chance to spend 16 s . 3 d . ringing his beloved, then we drove to Congleton. Bristol was set up here after 45 minutes when a shift was noticed. Cups of tea in a nearby cafe were followed by an hour in the rain on the pavement watching the Test Match through a shop window. The armchair peal ringers then left us for Treble Bob Royal at Marple.

Bidding farewell to Buxton in Saturday morning rain, the cars were pointed south to Stoke. and an interesting peal of Superlative was scored at Tunstall. Non-ringing husbands sought wifely presents or visited the supermarket during the peal. Beer and beefburgers at Eccleshall served the purpose for lunch, Tom leaving for Edgbaston and the Test Match Dire threats to set up after 2 hours and 50 minutes were heard on the way to the tower imemories of George T. at Gawsworth). Yorkshire was rung in 2 hours and 44 minutes here with the greatest of ease. With no more of these confounded peals left to ring (Cyril will kecp arranging them when we go on holiday), we had a quick drink down the road, bidding farewell to everyonewith special thanks to Cyril for a most enjoyable week and to Marjorie for letting him come, also to Bob Smith for considerable help in the arrangements, and last but by no means least all incumbents are thanked for their

TEESSIDE TO SOMERSET

ON the morning of July 27th (almost the first. fine day in July), four cars met at the Baldersby roundabout on the A.1, near Ripon, to start the week of ringing in Somerset and Wileshire, organised by Fred Hodg. son for a party of ringers from Darlington and Teesside. We arrived at our headquartersthe Birkdale Hotel, Bristol-in good order by carly evening.

From then on it was a most enjoyable, if strenuous week. Meticulous organismtion and much help from local ringers enabled us to average live towers a day for slx days. Our ringing did not do justice to the belis, probably because we were rather below strength for such a tour and needed two more able and active ringers. On ten bells we were restricted to Stedman and Grandsire, but on the eights we had a little more freedom of choise.

Ringing began sarly on Sunday, with a visis to the magnificent Church of St. Mary, Redcliffe, where we soon became aware of our shortcomings, though we did ring a reasonable course of Bristol on the light eight. A brisk walk to St. Stephen's, with enjoyable ringing on the ten there, and then to Christ Church for that more chatlenging and perhaps more rewarding ten, completed the morning programme.
In the afternoon the eight at the Cathedral gave us the best ringing of the tour, with several touches of Surprise and a creditable course of Duffleld, in which wo were joined by members of the Cathedral band. A visit to the Clifton Suspension Bridge and the Zoo rounded off the day for most.
We greatly appreciated the help given us in Bristol by the local ringers, without whom we could not have managed the ten-bell towers.

GLORIES OF BATH

Monday was spent among the architectural slories of Bath, with the first ring at St. Michacl's, Broad Strect, where we rang Triples and tried to ring Superlative. At the Abbey, ringing was restricted by our numbers to the back eight and here we finished up with three leads of Bristol.
Some of the party, arriving at the foot of Wideombe Hill, were misdirected by a local and walked a mile uphill in the wrong direction before getting to St . Matthew's, where, eventually, we got the feel of the assorted six and rang Doubles and some spliced plain methods. At St. Mary's, Bathwick, we were getting into our stride with the fine octave when the treble rope broke, thus cutting short our stay.
In the evening Congresbury's heavy eight gave us some strenuous but enjoyable ringing -the 35 cwt . tenor is not a boy's bell!
Arriving at Swindon by train on Tuesday, we were met by Mr. Bert Kynaston, who took us under his wing for the day. Ringing was on the pleasant little eight at Stratton St. Margarel and on the majestic ten at Christ Church before lunch, and on Rodbourne Cheney's musical six and the eight at St. Mark's, Swindon, where the presence of the sailway line just outside the tower was an added attraction to the railway enthusiasts in the band.
Wednesday began with a visit to the grand ten at Wrington and continued with a visit to Winscombe, then on to Banwell for Junch and a few touches on the cight bells rung from a very attractive ringing room. At Locking, on lighter bells, we did not do at all well until the women of the party took a hand and slowed down the pace. This made for much better ringing before we left for the soaside at Weston-super-Mare. At Weston we were welcomed by the local ringers at their practeo and much eajoyod riaging with them.

HEAVY STUFF
Thursday brought us to the heavy stuffChewton Mendip, Wells Cathedral, Shepton Mallet and Evercreech, with Radstock to end the day on something lighter. Fortunately we had with us that day Philip Tocock, who came over for the day from Oxford, where he was on holiday, and Mrs. D. J. Gay from Weston. Chewton Mendip bolls deserve their reputation and we were impressed with the bells ${ }^{\text {at }}$ Wells, whore we rang a good course of Grandsire Triples with our reinforcements and one of the Cathedral ringers. At Shepton Mallet there was no one to meet us (this was the only time this happened) and we had raised the bells and rung a few rounds, but when the call came to stand the fifth went right over. Investigation showed that there was no slider on the bell, so we lowered and went to lunch.
Evercreech's famous ten were a delight to ring and to listen to, and we would have been happier if our ringing had been better.
Radstock we were welcomed by the Vicar and spent a plensant three-quarters of an hour on the six bells. There can be few ringing gallerios with so pretty a ceiling as Radstock's.
The journey home was by way of the Cheddar Gorge to Churchill for a ring on the excellent six, with a diversion for another spell with the Wrington bells.
On Friday morning we were met at Warminster by Mr. Edgar Shepherd, who called a touch of Stedman Triples for us at St. Denys', where some thought the bells the equals of those at Chewton Mendip. When we arrived at Westbury-to be greeted by Mrs. Rickard and her delightful litule daughter -waiting outside the church, having broken a business journey to have a look round, was the Master of the College Youths. He was immediately voted the man most likely to succued in raising and turning in the 35 cwt . tenor. Our ringing here ended with a halfcourse of Superlative, which started shakily but was going well when it was called round.
A considerable contrast in eights was provided by Holy Trinity and Christ Church, Bradford-on-Avon-the contrast between a 30 cwt. tenor and one of 12 cwt .-but both provided enjoyable ringing.
This ended the official progrumme, but some of the more enthusiastic grabbed the six at Warmley, where Mr. Tony Gibbs was dragged from home to unlock the tower and join us for an hour or so with the Minor methods.
On Friday a clock was presented to Fred Hodgson to mark the party's appreciation of his months of work organising this tour, and Mrs. Hodgson was given a broach.
Our warmest thanks are due to the incumbents who allowed us to ring and to the representatives of the local towers who met us.
For the record, the party consisted of : Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hodgson, Mr. and Mrs. T. Cooke, Miss Janet Warwick. Mr. and Mrs. S. Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hickman,
Mr. T. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. P. Wishart, Messrs, Mr. T. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. P. Wishart, Messrs.
E. Hudson, E. Pannell, W. Ward and H. Pannell.

CHARING AND LITTLE CHART OUTING TO SUSSEX

Charing and Little Chart ringers held their annual outing on July 27th; a party of 30 ringers and friends visited the eights at Salehurst, Battle and Rye and the four at Eastbourne. Methods rung ranged from Superlative and Lincolnshire to Plain Bob and rounds. A fine touch of Stedman Triples was tapped round at St. Mary's, Eastbourne.
The children and non-ringing friends who came along spent a pleasant afternoon on the beach at Eastbourne. Ringers had time for a quick dip in the sea hefore tea. The long journey home in the coach passed quickly. with everybody in high spirits playing "chasp the ace " and eating cherries.

ESHCOL'S GRAPES FOR ESSEX
The suitry dawn of an excellent day for haymaking saw a party of 42 ringers and friends drawn from Braintree and nine nearby belfries of Essex set out on June 29th in a 41seater coach on a tour of North East Kent and the Isle of Thanet. The first stop was made at Faversham, where the ruminative peace of the churchyard sheep was temporarily disturbed. Duly fortified by coffee, the party progressed by coach and on foot by id circuitous route. in deference to the Squire's solitude, to the twelve in Quex Park, where his ancestors' rest may nevertheless have been momentarily broken.

Lunch had been arranged in Rumsgate, where it was thought the technical opportunities of the tyros would improve. But then occurred what might have ruined a carefully planned day, as the local incumbent had omitted, to the embarrassment of the local ringers, to advise them of a wedding, and our arrival at St. Lawrence's coincided with that of the lovely bride. The ringing arrangements were cheerfully abandoned for the pleasures of the fun fair, lido, harbour, hovercraft, etc.

Clutching coconuts and other crophies and spoils from Egypt, the party next invaded the village of Ash-by-Sandwich and thence to Wingham, where a refreshing, if somewhat frugal tea was partaken in pleasant surroundings after some enjoyable ringing and a visit to the Country Winemakers Shop. Burdened with bundles of malt, hops, yeast and brewing accessories, to the surprise of the passengers and the consternation of the residents, the tired coach finally climbed the wind ing village street and, smoking protest, burst upon the village square of Chilham. Our unwelcome Trojan Horse disposed of quickly and without accident, the inhabitants proceeded to welcome us in a most friendly manner, both in the church and belfry and also in the adjacent hostelries. Finally our excellent driver hrought us home through further vistas of the Garden of England, and the byways of Essex did not defeat him in the inexorahle quest of the final stopping place in good time.

Through "The Ringing World" may we thank Mr Powell Cotton and the local incumbents and bands of the area for their hospitality, Mr. Luck of Canterbury for his advice. Joshua and Jehu for their examples, and all the rest for their support and assistance in different ways. Rumour has it that the home brews are now approaching maturity.

CALEB.

OBITUARY

REV. DR. FRANCIS POLLARD

The denth occurred on August 3rd of the Rev. Dr. Francis Pollard at Claverton Down Hospital, after an illness borne with great courage and cheerfulness.
He was Rector of Freshford from 195510 1967 until ill-health forced him to retire, and If was while he was at Freshford that his interest in ringing grew. Under his guidance many people of the village were taught to ring and the tower would be full of ringers each ringing time. It was his regret that the tower would not permit augmentation.

An extremely active man, ho was chaplain to the Bath Lodge of Freemasons, Assistant District Commissioner Frome Area Boy Seouts, member of the St. John Ambulance Brigade and Claverton Civil Defence. He served the Bath and Wells Association first as vice-chairman of the Bath Branch and then as chairman from 196 to 1967. We shall miss him greatly at our meetings, and he was always willing to pass on his wealth of knowledge to others
The bells he loved were rung half-muflled on the evening before the funoral as the coffin was brought into the church. The funeral service was held on August 8 th and many people had to stand, as the church was filled to overflowing. The bells were rung before and after the service by representative ringers from the Branch, and a peal was rung on the following Saturday. A memorial service was held at both Freshford and the Church of the Ascenaion, Bath (whero he was Vicar before moving to Freshford).

We have lost not only a good and faithful minister but a good friend and sport, who was not afraid to try his hand at anything that came his way.

We offer our sympathy to Mrs. Pollard and his relations and pray that his soul will rest in peace.

TMOTHY BEER

Last week we rocorded the death of $16-$ vear-old Timothy Beer, of Bredgar, near Sittingbourne. The Rev. Stanley Evana, who tught him to ring at Tunstall a couple of vears aso, tells us that at the funeral service on August 9 th the bells were rung half- muffled with the muftles he made for last Good Friday. Later in the afternoon a representative band from the Rochester District rang a half-muffled quarter peal as a tribute to Timothy.

- He was a very faithful lad an: awfully nice person. On Sunday last he was ringingho always arrived first at $9 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and pulled the bells up, and then carried the cross and served at the altar, as he usually did. In the afternoon he was playing cricket for the village cricket club. He was a fine-looking lad, well over six feet, 16 years of age last April, but he sufficred from asthma. He was bad with it on Sunday night and on Monday afternoon had what we tnink was a severe heart attack and died while the doctor was with him.'

BELFRY

A ladies quarter peal was rung at Arundel on July 28th, conducted by Mrs. A. Daughtey. Miss Anne P. Leigh, of Rotherham, asks us on behalf of the South Yorkshire Peal Tourists to thank the incumbents of the churches visited for allowing the peals to be rung on their bells.

Mr. William Insley, of Great Billington, Leighton Buzzard, is looking forward to next April, when he will have completed 50 years as a reader of "The Ringing World." He joined the ringers at St. Barnabas', Linslade, in 1919 and still cycles the $3 \frac{1}{4}$ miles on Sundays and practice nights. For 20 years he has been a member of the P.C.C. and a sidesman.

Mr. H. I. Mingay, of Grimsby, one of our oldest ringers, regretfully writes that owing to heart trouble four years ago he is unable to climb stairs and his ringing is confined to short touches from the ground floor. For 25 vears he was socretary of the Grimsby District of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

The Suffolk Guild is arranging a conductors ${ }^{\circ}$ course at Henley in September.

The peals rung for St. David's Guild at Llanelly and St. Florence recorded in the issue of August 9th are duplicates.

The North American Guild has scored its first peal. It was rung at Groton on August 3rd, being Plain Bob Major, conducted by Mr. Geofirey Davies.
To enable Mr. $. Bridge, tower captain as St. Peter de Witton, Droitwich Spa, to score his first quarter of Minor "inside," a quarter peal was rung by a bund from the two Droitwich towers with the addition of David Franklin.

The Rev. W. A. Humphreys, Vicap of Prees, Salop, has an attractive sketch of ringers in action on the cover of his parish magazine "Venture" While the Vicar can do a little method ringing, his band are only call change ringers but, comments our correspondent, "pleasant chaps all the same."

GIVING AMERICAN ORGANISTS THE KNOW-HOW

Following correspondence between Professor Ernest Smith, of the Christian University of Texas, and the Rev. P. G. Smith, Vicar of Leafield and chairman of the Chipping Norton Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, the Professor and 25 organists from the University who are making a tour of Europe visited Leafield recently.

A band from the Branch was laid on to demonstrate Doubles and Minor ringing on the tower bells to half the party while the rest saw a comprehensive display and listened with keen interest to a talk and demonstration in the church on bells and tuning given by the Deputy Master of the Guild, Mr. F. Sharpe. Of course, he provided just what was needed to interest and satisfy this particular audience. The groups changed over at "half-time" and the bells were rung down at 9 p.m.

At the Vicar's invitation everyone then adjourned to the Vicarage, nominally for beer and biscuits, but, as always, the ladies of the parish saw to it that other goodies were available, and there followed a most enjoyable gettogether of the visitors, the churchwardens and some other parishioners, the Press and ringers from the local Branch. It was a warm and happy gathering and the leader of the visitors was moved to remark that they had come to realise that Texas hospitality was also to be found elsewhere.

APPLETON FOUND GOOD BEEK

Mr. W. Hibbert divides his year into four Christmas, Appleton March 4th, Appleton Outing and visiting London to see old friends.

It is about Appleton Outing that he now writes. when towers in Herefordshire and Worcestershire were visited. At Claines the party enjoyed a ring, on the ten and beer in the "Mugs' Retreat." Lunch was at Bewdley and then ringing at Leominster Priory, with its long way to the ringing chamber. Finally Lugwardine, where it was interesting to read a meticulously kept diary of ringing events in the tower during the last 60 years.
We made a bad mistake on the way home; someone said "Look, the Plough" (the name of Appleton's famous pub), so we stopped, and by a coincidence a contingent from Warwick pulled into the yard as we did. What with handbell ringing, songs and reminiscences we didn't leave the wrong Plough until 11 p.m., arriving at Appleton about 12.30 a.m. on Sunday. As usual, the ringing was fair, the company excellent and by some means or other the Appleton Society always manage to tind good beer.
This was Bill Cole's first Appleton Outing and I somehow think (D.V.) he will go again next year
W. H.

COMING-OF-AGE

The peal rung at St. Giles', Balderton, Notts, on August 3rd was a 21 st birthday compliment to John Raithby, elder son of Mr. James Raithby, ringing captain at Newark Parish Church. The band consisted of two memhers from each of the four change ringing towers in the Newark District of the Southwell Diocesan Guild, i.e. Balderton, Newark, Sutton-on-Trent and Coddington. The members of the band much appreciated the haspitality extended to them to join the birthday party in the evening.

ROYAL - SILENCE

Ten able ringers arrived at church on time, Forgot to take the chimes off,
Then there were nine.
So nine sadder ringers rang the bells up late, One sat out for Major,
Then there were eight.
Eight smiling ringers rang on till eleven,
One ran off to join the choir,
Then there were seven.
Seven laughing ringers trying out new tricks, One tried a bit too hard,
Then there were six.
Six silly ringers, glad to be alive,
Try to fire the back six bells,
Then there were five.
Five remaining ringers pull down the bells once more,
One started with his coils,
Then there were four.
Four wiser ringers very soon agree,
Only brave ones can ring here,
That left just three.
Three Minimus ringers ring the six changes through,
But the captain shouted "Single,"
So then there were two.
Two friendly ringers with Evensong unsung, But John " must visit relatives,"
Then there was one.
One noble ringer pulled the sanctus bell, Till the neighbours moaned about the noise, And they silenced him as well.

SCARBOROUGH PARTY AT FOUNDRY

From Scarborough to Messrs. John Taylor's foundry at Loughborough was a four-hour journey. This necessitated a $7 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. start on July 27th. A. M. U. D. tells of the thrills at the foundry of seeing the various processes during a conducted tour and ringing rounds and changes on unhung bells, using large "metal-edged hammers." There was also a set of bells ready for use in a carillon in the U.S.A.

As to the foundry's belfry, the writer states: "We tried our hands at ringing the very light, high-toned bells. We rang only simple changes because the bells needed a great deal of concentration. The general opinion was that although we were glad to have rung on such famous bells we prefer our own heavier bells."

After lunch at Loughborough there was ringing at Eastwood-" difficult to ring but this may have been ofir fault", and Greasley " casy to handle and a joy to ring."
The votes of thanks included Messrs. John Taylor, Mrs. Mary Beach for the ringing at Eastwood and Greasley, the ladies who prepared the delicious tea, and Mr. Edwin King for arranging such an enjoyable day.

AN ESSEX GOLDEN WEDDING

Golden wedding congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Elliott, of Kelvedon. Miss W. M. Elliott writes that after a family dinner they managed to muster six Elliotts to ring rounds together. Mr. Elliott's ambition for years has been a family peal. If Robert (12) and David (4) continue to make progress it might be possible to score a family peal in a year or two's time.

250th ANNIVERSARY

Monday, August 26th, is the 250th anniversary of the first peal of Grandsire Triples rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich. It was composed by John Garthon and contains third place bobs and fifth place bobs, the noises used being "Bob" for the former and "Hic" for the latter.

Mr. Derek C. Jackson writes: I'm sure the event should not be allowed to pass without a special mention and perhaps a number of bands attempting the peal composed by John Garthon. (Full details are given in Morris's "His tory and Art," pages 50-54.)

A COTSWOLD WEDDING

On July 27th Christopher Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Rogers, of Isleworth, Middlesex, and Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Bellfield, of Andoversford, Gloucestershire, were married at Dowdeswell Parish Church, near Cheltenham.

The church, a small cruciform building of Cotswold stone with central tower and spire (containing, alas, three unringable bells), is pleasantly situated high in the Cotswolds, and it made a delightful setting for the wedding, enhanced by a fine summer day.

The bride was given away by her father, and the bridegroom was ably supported by Clarke Wakers, a friend from Cambridge days, as best man. The bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Patricia, and two young nieces of the bride. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. A. H. Harland, and while photographs were being taken four of the guests rang a well-struck touch of Bob Major on handbells.
After the reception in Cheitenham the bride and bridegroom set off for a honeymoon in Cornwall, and eleven of the guests, with one of the local band, rang a quarter peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Mary's, Cheltenham.
Three peals were rung in honour of the occasion on the day, and on the following Monday Harold Rogers conducted a peal of Yorkshire Royal at All Saints', Isleworth, where the bridegroom has been a ringer for 15 years.

AMBITION FULFILLED

The conclusion of the quarter peal at Bradpole. Dorset, on August 6th. saw the fulfilment of an ambition of the local ringers to ring a quarter peal by the Sunday service band. It is believed that this is the first quarter by a local band since 1930, and it is very fitting that the 1968 quarter should have been rung on the day following the anniversary of the dedication of Holy Trinity Church. With a little encouragement and determination this band can now go from strength to strength and ring quarters and, maybe, peals and one day it may overtake the Bradpole band of the 1920's. which, by all accounts, was a remarkably good one.

FROM LEEDS TO SOLOMON ISLANDS

 Mr. Charles Naylor, of East Ardsley, a member of the Leeds and District Amalgamated Society, is one of the 1,400 British youngsters who have been selected for voluntary service overseas. He has been posted to the Solomon Islands and will work under a District Commissioner in supervising building gangs.For four years he has been a regular ringer at St. Michael's Church, East Ardsley, and has had a lifelong connection with the Church. Last year he hitch-hiked through eight European countries so he is no stranger to travel.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

FUNDAMENTAL DIFFERENCES IN LIFE

By Canon GILBERT THURLOW Preached at the rededication of Overton. Hampshire, bells on August 20th.

I BEGIN with a true story. It does not matter where it took place. A band of ringers were ringing in a village tower and one member had only recently become a ringer. Knowing little about bells, he chose, while unnoticed, to pull a rope of the chiming apparatus. This, as every experienced ringer knows, brought the hammer into a position where the bell would hit it when rung. This of course happened. The moment the ringers began again the bell came hard against the hammer and was badly cracked; cost of repair would be between $£ 100$ and $£ 200$.

This is a simple story, but what is far more important is the reactions of the people to the event. The reaction of the gentleman who did the deed was, I am told, immediate. He simply sald. "I didn't know this would happen: it's not my fault; I take no responsibility, I won't pay towards the cost of repair." The reaction of the Master of the visiting band and the senior churchwarden of the church which suffered this grievous blow was also yuite simple: " We are all in this logether. It's up to us all, visitors and home team alihe. to co-operate in raising the money to put things) right. No recriminations to anyone. Let everyone of goodwill help in any way they like-fetes, bazaars, direct giving
The contrast between these reactions to the crisis is of fundamental importance. One may suppose that the gentleman who did the deed. as a newcomer to the church, is iypical of modern society, like millions more. If-one had never learnad the real meaning of Christianity and if one's idea of it is simply that it is an odd hobby for odd people, it is natural to live for yourseli, evade responsibility, get all you can out of life and give as little to it as you need. We can't blame people for behaving like this if they ve learned no better.

The people who deserve blame are those who spread the idea that man on his own has all he needs to make a success of life. This is the great deception of today: the idea that money, ease. education. health, self-reliance. are all we need This deceitful teaching evades a plain fac: of human nature-that we each have within ourselves power to choose between good and evil. and yes also weakness in tace of this cholce. There never will be a time when man has climbed ahove his weakness; we shall always need light to make un choose. The light which cin lighten every man is ready to shine on ti. Fivery man on whom Christ's light shines know's that the lirst rule of life is to love your neighbour as yourself. This means in plain English that we are all responsible for each other. all through life. You and I may feel we share responsibility for the cracked bell. You may yourself have rung it. I did years ago.

This tale gives a reason for what we are doing here today. The sound of the bells from Overton tower is a most impressive example of service, of giving, of responsibility of each for all. through the centuries. You hear tonight bells new-cast. together with bells cast back in $1945,1908,1710,1663,1660$. with metal which has hung here longer than we know. All this is the result of giving freely and gladly of money, of metal, of work and of ringing by unknown friends before us as well as friends of today
What an example to this modern world. this world of greed. of war, of strikes, of gambling, of drugs, of manufactured misery of many kinds. of starvation and hatred. So whenever these bells shall ring they will broadcast the fact that God is active in the lives of all on whom His light shines. He has power and glory and vet was slain-this bells will broadcast the choice. Will you add to His glory or will you add 10 His pains? Will you share the World's irresponsible greed or will you give your ser. vice to men in His name?

Dutspoken Comments by IRecordl Lengths Conductor

Dear Sir,-Mr. Blagrove appears quite successfully to have upset a great number of Doubles ringers and now has started 10 do the same with those who are interested in ringing long peals. In particular, the last sentence of his reply to Brian Woodruffe's letter makes me. and a number of other people. wonder whether in fact he is a suitable person to he a convener of the Records Committec. 1 yuote: " This action is caused entirely by the tone of Mr. Woodruffe's letter."
I now ask the following questions and consider each peint in turn:-
(i) Should any person use the power he holds by virtue of his position as a tool in an argument with another?
(ii) Should a decision be arrived at without consideration of future consequences?
(iii) Should a convener of a committee he sufficiently self-disciplined to abide by the rules laid down in the Central Council Handbook?

Considering (i): Mr. Blagrove is using his power as convener of the Records Committee to find an excuse to exclude the 13,140 Kent T.B. Maximus from the records. How on earth a person can say in the same sentence that the sante peal can either be a progressive length of Kent T.B. Maximus or a record peal of Spliced Kent T.B. Maximus and Kent Little Court Maximus is beyond my comprehension: the title Cam Variation is completely explicit and leaves nobody in any doubt is to what has neen rung. Presumably Mr. Blagrove is trying to apply rule $f$ (vi) on page 20 of the C.C. Handbook; I quote: " The methods rung in such (record) peals shall comply with the Report on Regular Methods " (as on page 22).

This would classify the peal as spliced, as Mr. Blagrove stales. However, under the "Notes " on page 24 of the C.C. Handbook there is al section headed ... Methods founded on two princuples." Again I yuote: " $\ln$ some cases it is posible to found a method on two principles."
The emphisis in the above is on the uord method " (singular), and it is on this foundation that the Cam Variation of Kent is founded. It hias been rung under this heading since it was first used by the Rev. H. Law James and his colleagues: 1 see no point in describing the peal as spliced, as no changes of method are called. Incidentally, Mr. Blagrove states that iwo types of bob were rung. which is new's to me: but then I only rang in the peal !

Considerıng (ii): When Mr. Blagrove referred to the performances for 1967 he accepted :he 12.480 ith a progressive length. Apart from the fact that no notice was given for this attempt. it was not umpired and there are distinct possihilities that the peal uas false: it will be classified with the 13.140 Kent I.B Maximus we are informed. As organiser of the latter peal. and others, I conclude that it will not be worth my while arranging for competent umpires to check our peals. to give notice 10 " The Ringing World " or to publish the composition before (or after!) such performances. I have on occasions paid umpires' botel expenses-but now, why bother?

The only suitable solution 1 can see to the present unsatisfactory situation is to apply the rules used in athletics, i.e. have official and unofficial records. In addition, a progressive length should not even be accepted as a peal unless the composition is published at some stage. The preseni position regarding the peals of Glasgow, Lincolnshire and Pudsey would be as follows:-

12,096 Glasgow-Unofficial record.
11,872 Glasgow-Official record.
9.600 Lincolnshire-Official record.
12.480 Pudiey-Not accepted as a peal until the composition has been published.

Considering (iii): On page 21 of the C.C. Handbook. Section 8 states: "Variations of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob where the method is changed when the treble passes through 3-4 down cannot be described as spliced peals." On page 626 of ""The Ringing World" (August 9th, 1968) we see that Mr. Blagrove has rung one of these tariations and called it Spliced Treble Boh Major. Presumably Mr. Blagrove finds it unnecessary 10 stick to the rules and works on the principle-- Don't do as 1 do. do as I say."- Yours sincerely,

ROBERT B. SMITH.

New Master for Winchester and Portsmouth Guild

Mr. R. R. Savory the New Master

 THE venue of this year's annual general meeting was Winchester on July 6th and, surprising as it may seem during this terrible summer, the sun shone brilliantly on us all day Ringing took place at surrounding towers during the morning with two soutes converging on the Cathedral.The business meeting was held in St Maurice's Hall and, in the unfortunate absence of the Master, Canon K. W. H. Felstead. the first item of business was the election of a chairman for the meeting. Mr. R. R. Savory was asked to perform this duty and, on assuming the chair, welcomed the 75 members present to Winchester.

After the minutes of the 1967 annual general meeting had been read and accepted, the treasurer, Mrs. Margaret Chapman, presented her report, which showed a highly satisfactory tinancial situation. The report of the peal recorder, Mr. D. T. Matkin, contained a total of 57 peals rung during 1967 and in this period 24 members rang their first peal-a very healthy sign.

As our junior representative, Mr. R. R Savory related the proceedings of this year's Council meeting, giving the meeting some insight into the background of the reports published in "The Ringing World." Two points soon became clear-that "The Ringing World " issue had dominated the meeting and that few had understood the Doubles resolution. Following Mr. Savory's report, some discussion took place regarding "The Ringing World" and its linances. The Guild decided to send a donation of ten guineas, but not without some opposition. Mr. Chapman thought that the paper should be costed correctly und the sum charged. Those who did not take .' The Ringing World" should not be asked to subsidise those who did.

The general secretary's report indicated an increase in membership and activity in most Districts during the year. The District reorganisation had come into effect on January 1st this year and results of these changes were wailed with interes?

GUILD MEMBERSHIP

A proposition was before the meeting in the pames of Messrs. Haines and Cope to the effect that a minimum ringing standard should be mude a condition of Guild membership. Due to a misunderstanding in the communication of this motion to the general secretary. there was some confusion as to what the exact wording should have been. After a short discussion the meeting moved to the next business on the proposition of Mr. F. Bailey. seconded by Mr. M. Thomas.

Grants towards work on the bells of Upper Clatford and Crawley of $£ 20$ each were approved.

Mr. A. V. Davis reported on the arrangements so far for this year's striking competition and on the work he had done towards obtaining a suitable design for certificates for the Hinning teams.

The renue and date for the 1968 annual general meeting were agreed as being Christchurch and July Sth respectively.

CHANGES OF OFFICERS

The meeting then moved to the triennial election of officers. Two nominations were received for the Mastership, Mr. R. R. Savory and Canon K. W. H. Felstead. Mr. A. V. Davis was also proposed but indicated that he did not wish to stand. On being put to the

R. ROGER SAVORY

Introduced to the art by the late Charles A. Binyon, Roger started ringing in his home parish church at Badsey in Worcestershire's Vale of Evesham in 1945. His first peal was Grandsire Triples, rung at Upton-on-Severa in 1946, conducted by the late Charles J. Camm. From 1949 to 1951 National Service in the Royal Navy took Roger to Kent and Essex and, between time at sea, he gained much valuable ringing experience with the bands in those areas. He was elected a member of the Ancieat Society of College Youths in 1950.

Ia 1951 Roger entered a degree course at Birmingham Liniversity. graduating with Honours in Chemical Engineering in 1955. During this period the Birmingham University Society of Ringers was formed, of which Roger was the first Master, calling the first peal for the Society in 1955.

Following graduation he took a position with Esso Petroleum Co. at Fawley, Hampshire, and joined the prolific 10-bell band at St. Michael's, Southampton. Roger has held the following positions in the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild: District Ringing Master (1958-59), Guild general secretary (1959/ 65). Central Council representative from 1964 and is now elected Guild Master.
Roger's work took him to the L.S.A. for a year ( $1965 / 66$ ) and he was able to ring at Washington Cathedral. Groton and hent Schools. His peal total to date is 281 (cond. 73). ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Spliced Maximus. 132 of which have been rung for the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild.
vote Mr. Savory was elected. Mr. Savory paid tribute to the work of Canon Felstead as Master over the past six years and, with the approval of the meeting, asked the secretary to write to Canon Felstead recording the Guild's thanks.

For the post of general secretary Mr. M Butler proposed the re-election of Mr. D. Forder; this was seconded by Mr. J. R. Faithfull, and there being no other nominations he was declared re-elected.

Mrs. Margaret Chapman, who has served as general treaswer for the past nine years, will shorly be leaving the area for Bristol and has thus had to relinquish her post. The Master expressed the gratitude of the Guild to Mrs. Chapman for her work during her period as reasurer and wished both her and her hushand, Ton, well in the future. Only one nomination for the treasurership was received, that of Mr. T. H. Francis, and he was declared elected

Mr. D. T. Matkin and Mr. L. Bailey were both re-elected unopposed to the offices of peal recorder and auditor respectively. Two nominations were made for the post of librarian. Messrs. D. C. Jackson and Mr. M. J. Butler. On a sbow of hands Mr. Butler was elected.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to Canon Moody, who was to take the service in St. Lawrence's Church, to Mrs. P. Tremeer. the Winchester and District secretary, for making the local arrangements, and to the Dean and all incumbents for the use of theil bells during the day.
The Guild service followed in St. Lawrence's Church, where the service was conducted by Canon Moody. Tea was taken in St. Maurice's Hall and a most successful day ended with further ringing on the fine 12 at the Cathedral

TANFIELD '68

BRIGHT and sunny was the forecast for the Durham and Newcastle Association's annual cricket match at Tanfield on July 20th but it rained most of the day; nevertheless, ringers-cum-players met as the Tantield Lea pitch, which had once been a pond. and now due to almost a week's continuous rain, was rapidly returaing to its original state.

Due to the smaller numbers present compared with last year it was decided to select teams of six players and play on a basis of 15 overs a side. The president, Mr. W. Tyson. again won the toss and elected to bat first. With the umpires (Mr. T. Cooke and Mr. W Tyson) in position, and with Mr. R. Park with scorebook at the ready, the batting was opened by Ken Arthur and David Cox to the bowling of Bill Davidson and Willy Thow. David was bowled for 2 by skilful Williams (Tanfield).
The batting stiffened due to the Fenham pait. Ken Arthur and stalwart Tom Sewell, who eventually retired after scoring 15 and 16 respectively. After this spearhead attack the rest of the team fell easily. Graham Plews (Whitley Bay) and Philip Park (Darlington) were bowled for no runs, and David Martin (Whitley Bay) scored one run.
The Central District opened its innings just as the rain started again, with Bill Davidson (Whickham) and Willy Thow (Gateshead) facing the bowling of Ken Arthur and David Cox. However, even the greatest fall and these two were bowled for 7 and 3 respectively. Despite the rain and bad light, play continued. Carter (Consett) was bowled for 3, and Robinson (Tanfield) put up a good show. scoring 9 . The rest of the Central team, namely Whaley (Lanchester), Lowson (Consett) and Williams gained only 9 runs. Result: President's 41 Central District 33.

An excellent tea was provided by the ladies of the nearby Methodist Chapel. Having made the usual bellringers' impression on the tea. the company returned to Tanfield for the service, which was conducted by the Rev. A. J. G. Ellery. Ringing ranged from round; to Yorkshire and Cambridge and provided a fitting conclusion to an enjoyable day. W. D.

250th Anniversary First Peal of Grandsire Triples

This unusual view of the ringers of St. Peter Mancroft's Church, Norwich, in action was taken by "The Eastern Daily Press." when scaffolding had been erected to replace the glass in the west wiodow. The picture is particularly appropriate in view of the 250 th anniversary of the first peal of Grandsire Triples this weel, which was rung in this belfry. The long draught of rope, passing through guides.
 3, Barbara Payne 4. A. Salisbury 5, G. Pullin 6. P. Bosworth 7, L. F. Bailey 8, B. Gogle 9, M. Cubitt 10. C. Bird 11, D. P. Mortlock tenor.

An ornamental tablet records this peal of Grandsire Triples of 250 years ago in St. Peter Mancroft belfry in the flowery language of the age, as follows:-
On the 26 th of August, 1718, was rung that harmonious peal called Grandsire Triples, which have been a study of ye most ingenious men of this age who delight in ye art of variations, but all their projectors have proved errors until it, was underiook by JOHN GARTHORN. who with long study and practice have perfectly discovered those intricate methods which were hidden from the eyes of all the ringers of England; the extent of this peal being 5,040 changes have often times been rung changes alike, but the tirst time that ever it was rung true was in three hours and a half without any changes alike or a bell out of course by these men whose names are underwriten against their bells as they rung: James Brooke Treble

Henry Howard 5 John Briggs $\quad 3 \quad$ Wm. Gallow 6 Wm. Palmer 3 Tho. Melchior 7 Robt. Crane 4 Tho. Barrett Tenor
The peal has been one of controversy. Shipway"s "Campanalogia or Universal Instruction in the Art of Ringing," 1816, makies this com-ment:-

Without pretending to decide. I shall briefly remark that if the peal had been rung in Norwich in 1718, it appears unaccountably strange that information of so important a discosery did not reach London in 1751, and the composition of the same peal should thus have been considered original and generally attributed to Mr. Holt. It is also further remarkable that of the three peals. viz.: Bob Triples in 1715, Grandsire Triples in 1718 and Stedman Triples in 1731, said to have been rung at St. Peter Mancroft. not one can be found to ascertain the truth. whereas Mr. Holt's peals are universally rung and indisputably correct. ${ }^{\circ}$
Mr. Snowdon. however, in his "Grandsire." gives reasons for believing that the peal was Known in London before 1751 and how he eventually was able to trace and bring io light the figures of this peal.

Briefly, he traces it through Henry Hubbard. of Norwich, who. while on a visit to Leeds in 1841, was shown the ligures of Garthon's peal by Hugh Wright (the composer of several long lengths of Treble Bob Major, who formerly lived at Nottingham) and who had them from Mr. W. D. Crofts of that town, he having inherited it from his ancestors, who were said to be related in some way to Garthon. The composition was also in the possession of $C$. Middleton, an eminent Norwich ringer. and although for many years considered false. was on examination found to be perfectly true.
Three different calls were used, viz.: Original bobs, fifth place bobs and bob singles. This composition was also found in Dr. Mason's, manuscripts at Cambridge, and it was known to Henry Cooper, of Birmingham.

THE DOUBLES CONTROVERSY-Letters

APPRECIATION FOR WORK ON APPENDIX

Dear Sir. - Whilst away on two weeks' holiday 1 have taken issues Nos. 2,987 and 2,988 with me in order to study in detail the Appendix to the Doubles Collection. I found that it took me some time thoroughly to assimilate all that was listed there, and then a complete evening to deduce the identity of what we once called Pinks, Bluebell, St. Swithun, May Day, Old Swinford. My point is that if it can take a complete evening to deal with just five variations, what a tremendous amount of time must have been spent by the compilers of the 352 varlations so far listed. and on the "April Days." etc.. now withdrawn from use. The published list does at least fill a gap disclosed by the publication of the Dodds-Jones lists in 1964 and 1966, and it does contarn enough material to enable most bands to ring peals of up to 126 methods/variations. i.e. three variations per extent. I think that the least we can do is to show our appreciation for the considerable time spent voluntarily on our behalf, and to refrain from undue criticism. so easily evolved in a fraction of the time mentioned above. It is far more Christianlike (and much more difficult!) to show one"s gratitude.
Upon my return from holiday 1 found that Mr. Massey, in issue No. 2,989, clarities myself and other Doubles ringers as "whiz-kids," and that our peal at Binsted appears to have underlined the difficulties due to the new nomenclature. First, can I point out to Mr. Massey that our peals were the result of an average but enthusiastic band attempting, via two years practice at quarter peals. to build up gradually to a peal of 150 methods/variations. an aim which is within the capabilities of most six-bell bands. We attempted 42, which we lost 100. which we lost: and were successful in 79 135 and the Binsted peal. As explained on page 606 issue No. 2,989 , the latter, rung before the publication of the Appendix. should have contained 16 Grandsire variations, together with 16 Antelope and 16 Newark, as outlined in an excellent article by Mr. Dawson on page 24 , issue No. 2.960 , but as seen on page 595 issue No. 2.988. only four each of the 48 are now variations, and, like April Day, etc., have given rise to numerical discrepancy to peals rung before and after June 4th. It is untortunate, but not a case for recrimination. that we shall never now achieve our target.-Yours sincerely,

DEREK C. JACKSON

FOREWARNED BEFORE C.C. MEFTING

Dear Sir-1 am delighted to see so many letters on the subject of Doubles; it shows ds I had expected. that there is a very real interest in this branch of our art. There are. however, a few points which might protitably be made at this stage.
Firstly. the whole purpose of publishing motions and amendments to be presented to the Central Council is to enable all ringers to evaluate them before the Council meets. if ringers think that these motions are undesirable then they should tell their C.C. representative hefore the Council meets in order that he may put their views to the meeting. Alternatively. if people feel that they would like to express their thoughts to the Council there is nothing to prevent them from attending the meeting. I am quite sure that we should all be glad to hear informed views, regardless of whether or not the speaker is an elected member.
course, it he is not an official member, then he cannot be allowed to vote on the issues before the Council, but that is an entirely different matter. At the Worcester meeting there was no real opposition to the combined Doubles variations motions/amendments and to cry about the Council's Decision now is hardly constructive; in fact, many of the letters since published on the topic show very little thought either in their construction or in their criticisms.

Secondly, I must repeat what has already been stated in the report of the Doubles debate: there has been no curtailment of the scope of Doubles ringing. Instead we now have a set of rules which will guide conductors in their urrangement of peals. Previously chaos reigned, since every conductor chose his own rules for peal compostion and this often made it very difficult for one composer to appreciate what another was doing Naturally, it anyone wants to ring Spliced Plain Bob and Reverse St. Bartholomew and call if April Day, then nobody will stop him. It will, however, make it difficult for other people to work out what has been rung, especially if many abstruse names are used, so that one could hardly cavil if "The Ringing World" eventually declined to publish performances unless they are submitted in accordance with C.C. rules. Of course, if a conductor wishes to say to his band "Go April Day," buc then submits it as Spliced Plain Boh and Reverse St. Bartholomew, then no one will complan. I am as sorry as most people to see the demise of time-honoured names, but whilst there is no point in change for change sake, there is also no point in being retarded by tradition. Tradition, as embodicd by the teaching of the Church, said that the world was flat. but Columbus thought other wise, and we should not now dream of teach ing our children of a flat world.
Thirdly, the doubt that has been cast on Grandsire as a method shows that some would revert to the pointless arguments of some 250 years ago, when people were loath to ring peals of Grandsire because of its singles. Even before Thompson showed why singles are necessary it had become fully recognised that Grandsire stood as a method in spite of its strange drawback. It is merely useless pedantry to argue that Grandsire is Spliced Grandsire and Reverse St. Bartholomew. Perhaps, if people so desire. the C.C. would rule that the common bohs and singles used to obtain the extent of Grandsire should be considered, together with the plain course, to construe the method Naturally this would open the way for all sorts of complicated suggestions, and it might be best for people to accept Grandsire in a traditional light-an example of the usefulness of certain traditions
Lastly. I was the person who had the misfortune to conduct the peal of 142 methods) variations which was later proved false and which I therefore withdrell. Obviously I derived no pleasure from withdrawing the peal. hut the withdrawal certainly did not engender any attack of sour grapes, especially since I had had the pleasure of listening to two and a half hours of outstandingly good ringing which all the hand had thoroughly enjoyed. In tact. it was the arrangement of that peal that made me aware of the need for some rules to guide variation ringing, so that our ringing was not variation ringing.-Yours sincerely.

BATH AND WELLS RING MOST DOUBLES
Dear Sir,-Mr. Blagrove, in his letter in The Ringing World " of August 9th, seems to be under the impression that reasoned argument by a few at the Central Council meeting has achieved something spectacular for the benefit of Doubles ringers. If this is progress, Mr. Blagrove, please stop trying-we were better oft before you starled, when we merely had tacit acceptance of Doubles variations by the Central Council. As so often happen, when precise rules are drawn up, it ridiculous situation has arisen whereby some of our favourite variations are proscribed. 「hese rules were drawn up, we are told, because a number of dubious peal arrangements had been rung." These "dubious arrangements." rung only by a few and probably as a mere passing craze, seem open to objection only by a few others, but because of them unneces. sarily radical rules are introduced affecting practically every Doubles ringer in the country.
Mr. Blagrove questions my ability to say what Doubles ringers like to ring. 1 consider that 1 have some qualitication in this respect. as I am privileged to be peal secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association. This has given me an excellent opportunity to study in detail what the Association rings and has rung in the way of peals and quarter peals, and to discuss such matters in person and by correspondence with the leading Doubles ringers of the Diocese. Now the Bath and Wells rings lots of Doubles. For example, last year, although we rang less than $3 \frac{1}{2}$ per cent. of the total peals recorded ( 109 out of 3.173), over one-third of our peals were of Doubles, 13 per cent. of the recorded total ( 38 out of 291 ), the highest number by any Society during the year. Our high proportion of Doubles peals is normal-more than halt the peals ever rung for the Association have been on five or six bells. Some years ago the bulk of these peals were of Grandsire only. Gradually the number of methods has been increased until now we ring more in two to seven methods/variations than in single methods, aid there are even a few in more than 20 methods. This is encouraging progress. It is hardly encouraging to a young band, however, to have to tell them for example that their peal in six methods/yariations is now only in four methods/variations, and moreover it is impossible to justify such a change.
May I stress at this point that these views should not be construed as official Bath and Wells policy. They are a collation of my own views with those of a number of the Doubles ringers in the Diocese.
My remarks concerning Mr. Blagrove's letter in your issue of July 5 th were not meant to be derogatory. Surely even he must agree that the points he made in that letter would have been better made at the Council meeting so recently past. I am sure that he and all the others involved made thorough preparation for the meeting, and acted from the highest motives.
If we must have some hard and fast rules on variations. let them be consonant with the rules applving to methods, at least as far as types of call are concerned. It cannot be considered logical or sensible to allow a method to use the plain lead of another method as a hoh but prohibit the same latitude in varia-tions.-Yours sincerely.

- $=4 \mathrm{H}^{2}$ BELL ROPES

DOUBLES CONTROVERSY-contd. A DANGEROUS PRECEDENT
Dear Sir, - The Central Council's recent laudable decision to recognise Doubles variations and its attempts to reduce the chaos in Doubles ringing to order are in grave danger of becoming a classical example of a cure being worse than the illness it sets out to treat. One point in particular seems to be worryung many ringers and, I feel, rightly so.
This is the acceptance of Reverse St. Bartholomew as a valid method. From it much of the present confusion arises. While this may seem of small importance to those who do not often ring Doubles, may I suggest, sir, that it raises a fundamental principle which has implications that extend far beyond the realms of tive-bell ringing; should a bob lor single) lead of one method ever be accepted as a plain lead of another method?
Mr. Blagrove adheres rigidly to the current Decisions of the Council in insisting that Reverse St. Bartholomew is a valid method. In so doing he cannot be faulted. But when it entitles one to say that "the common extents (ot Grandsire) may be called either Grandsire or Spliced Grandsire and Reverse St. Bartholomew," then it seems high time that those Decisions were amended to accord with the feelings and traditions of the Exercise. A shortcoming has been exposed.
In their preface to the 1955 Doubles Collection the Methods Committee of the day wrote:-

In the past, the bob leads of certain methods have been rung as the plain leads of another and vice versa, and this practice 1s. we believe, undesirable and in the present collection no meihod has been included which is the bob lead of another. This has caused the exclusion of certain methods.
If this example were formally endorsed by the Council, then we should all be spared suct inanities as the above description of certain standard extents of Grandsire as "spliced." That Reverse St. Bartholomew has a long and doubtless brilliant history as a "method" is no reason why we should continue to compound the errors of the past.-Yours faithfully,

CYRIL A. WRATTEN.

REPLY TO MR. WRATTEN

Dear Sir.-Mr. Wratten's letter is a classic example of causing confusion by not quoung all facts and knowingly quoting out of context.

The Central Council has made several exceptions in Doubles regarding methods, variations, compositions. etc., and the Exercise will surely agree that what happens in Doubles can never be quoted as a precedent for higher numbers.
He quotes the preface of the 1955 Doubles Collection out of context of the complete book. He does not mention that this paragraph is applied separately to each of Sections 1. II and III (principles. methods with two hunts and methods with one hunt).
Grandsire from Section II is a bob touch of Uriginal from Section I. SI. Bartholomew and St. Sebastian in Section III are singled leads of methods in Section 1I. But no method in Section III is the same as a bobbed lead of another method in Section III. Reverse St. Bartholomew and Reverse St. Sebastian are methods in their own right in Section III, as also are All Saints' and Minster Bob, which are the same as singled leads of Newark and

We do not accept College Single as a Minor method, since it is a bobbed lead of Single Oxford and of Single Court, and all three are single hunt methods. But surely Mr. Wratten would accept Rusper Bob as an irregular Minor method.
In order to prevent someone being so inane as to submit for publication such a description of the standard extent of Grandstre (Spliced Grandsire and Reverse Si. Bartholomew), he would reject these eight methods and their several vartations. But with them would go many others, including a large number of Surprise methods (London, etc.), which can be used as bobbed leads of principles.
A much better solution would be to use the alternate single in Grandsire Doubles, instead of using a plain lead of Reverse St. Bartholomew. But the common sense of the Exercise is tar more effectuve than any Central Councıl legislation.-Yours sincerely,
T. BLAGROVE.

Note.-Rusper Bob (which has one hunt bell) is a bobbed lead of Grandsire Minor (which has two hunt bells).

The alternate single in Grandsire Doubles is fourths and fifths made at back and hand at the same place as the bobbed thirds. This gives 16 callings: PBPBPS twice, SPSB ihree times and BPBPBS twice, ctc.

* APRIL DAY IS NOT A METHOD "

Dear Sir,-It is quite obvious from the recent correspondence in "The Ringing World" that many ringers-not only Doubles enthusiasts but those on higher numbers- are dissatistied with the present ruling set up by Mr. Blagrove on April Day and Clittord's Pleasure.
What we now have is the ridiculous situation of a variation being called a method and no amount of editor's notes will satisfy me that April Day is not a variation of Plain Bub.

It is doubtless quite easy to learn other Doubles methods, but who wants to? The majority of Doubles ringers prefer the variations and it is here that the interest in Doubles lies. Mr. Blagrove has at last got his way on this matter; it was back in the $1950^{\circ}$ s he tried to teach me the error ol my ways in ringing variations and sent me his booklet on Allance Doubles. However, I was grateful for the Blunderbus Doubles, which I also obtained from him and which later. with others ot his variations, helped to produce the Dodd-Jones Doubles Collection.
Your Doubles record at Hambledon still stands, Mr. Blagrove-a variation is a variation and a method a method-let's leave it at that.
On a final note, let us have a clean sweep and clean up the Surprise Major variations ringing a peal of Cambridge-Havant variation, Yorkshire-Braunstone variation, and so on. or is this not the same? - Yours faithfully.

GEOFFREY K. DODD Woolton Hill. Berks.

AWAITING AN ANSWER

Dear Sir,-Cculd 1 ask, through the colunns of "The Ringing World", whether Mr. Edgar A. Cole intends to withdraw the peal rung at As.bby-de-la-Launde. published on page 71"? In the light of a letter published on March 29th from Mr. Richard A. Hunt. I think it is about time we heard from the conductor, Mr. Cole.-Yours faithfully,

University of Bristol Society's Summer Tour

"THE best tour yet" someone remarked, and I believe everyone agreed. It began on Friday, June 28th, when seven people plus hicycles met at Temple Meads Station to catch the train to Worcester. We were joined at Cheltenham by the Cardiff contingent. including the tandem, and on arriving at Worcester the first puncture was discovered. Stoulton was the first tower of the tour fa very pleasant six), which was followed by Bishampton.
We arrived at Broom Youth Hostel somewhat tired- 25 miles on the first day is rather strenuous. especially for those like myself who have not cycled for years. There was a party of Americans staying at the youth hostel and we had a very gay evening with them. singing. Have you ever tried to teach an American On Ilkley Moor ba' tat " with appropriate accents? Very amusing!

On Saturday we cycled to Hampton and then on to Hinton-on-the-Green and back again to Evesham bell tower. Ringing here was very varied and included rounds with the ladies on $9,10,11$ and 12 .

ERIN CINQUES AT THE CATHEDRAI.
Sunday morning dawned bright ard clear and promised a very hot day. The first tower was at Bredons Norton. 20 miles away, and only the most energetic cycled there: the rest rang at Salford Priors for morning service. Afternoon ringing was at Pershore Abbey. quite an experience. after which we cycled to Worcester, where cold drinks were most welcome. We rang for Evensong at the Cathedral, the ringing including a very good touch of Erin Cinques. The night was spent at Malvern Wells Youth Hostel.
Monday morning saw us scaling the Malvern Hills-it took three men to push the tandem up the road and even then they had not had enough and scaled the next peak. On the way to Eastnor we stopped to climb the British Camp. After luncting in Ledbury we rang at the detached tower and then moved on to Much Marcle. Rushall Youth Hostel came next-no hot water and rather primitive. Trog somehow managed to crack a bone in his thumb during the raid that night.

While at Mordiford the sky blackened. After a terrific downpour we all arrived rather damp at Hereford Cathedral. Ringing here was unfortunately by no means our best. except for a fairly good half-course of Yorkshire Royal to finish. Leaving Hereford we climbed the hills to Woolhope (an anti-clockwise six), where we again arrived in rather a soggy condition as the rain continued.

BURST TYRE

On Wednesday there was a change of vehicles. Trog had to ride the back of the tandem because of his thumb injury. and Richard rode the front. Sue. therefore. was left with the Moulton. All was well until a burst tyre sent her sailing across the road giving her several bruises and grazes. Meanwhile the men on the tandem were attempting a hill just a little too steep and broke the chain. The tower at Ross was the first of the day, followed after lunch by Weston-underPenvard and Bridstow, where a touch of spliced made us decide to try for a quarter peal of spliced the next day. The last tower was at Goodrich. then up the hill and over the top we descended to Welsh Bicknor Youth Hostel. right on the banks of the River Wye. Having had no hot water for two days. everyone decided that now was the time to wash every-thing-the drying room and lines outside were soon full of wet washing. Many of us arrived at supper with damp hair, too. The hostel is ono of only two buildings on that side of the river for about two miles and so our evening's entertainment was sought on the other side. This involved crossing a derelict railway bridge with several planks missing. over a very much swollen River Wye. Coming back at 10.30 was even more exciting.

There was good ringing at Monmouth on Thursday morning, also a birthday celebration for a friend of the secretary and a quarter peal at Bridstow. On leaving Llangarron we met the Vicar, pricing our bicycles for sale-"That one's no good, it's only got little wheels." We returned to Weish Bicknor. where next morning group photographs were taken. Ringing that day was at Ruardean and Staunton.

ST. BRIAVELS FESTIVAL

The hostel that night was at St. Briavels Castle, of great historic interest. The girls' dormitory was the old prisoners' room and the men had a trapdoor in theirs covering an old well. Saturday morning was free from ringing-ricket and rounders on the beach at Lydney. during which Gill slipped and sprained her ankle. That night there was the annuat St. Briavels Festival. We danced furiously until midnight. when all the locals left, and we eventually " hit the hay" about 1.30 a.m St. Briavels revels made it a fitting end to the tour.
Sunday was very wct. After attending Parish Communion at St. Briavels we lunched at Tintern, and had tea. followed by evening ringing at Chepstow. Very cold and wet we arrived at our last hostel, Seven Bridge. Chepstow. The last ring was at Magor, and after lunch we all parted at Newport.
Many thanks to all incumbents for allowing us to ring and to Jill for the excellent arrangements. This was a tour to be remembered.

CORRECTIONS & AMENDMENTS

The peals rung at Thatcham, Curdridge and Shedtield, reported on page 641 , should be credited to the Portsmouth Diocesan Guild and not as stated.

In the peal at Skillington. Lincs (page 64?) a line of the 62 variations was inadvertently omitted. After Lillingstone, read: "Brightwell, Skillington: Stoke Bardolph, Arnold. Sandford, Sulgrave Composition of Yorkshire S. Major by Peter S. Muchlinski (page 648). Number of changes 5.152 (not 5.052). Third row of ligures 62345 (not 63245 ).

Mr. John H. Gilbert informs us that the 1969 A.G.M. of the Bath and Wells Association is June 14th, and not June 21st as given in the report of the A.G.M. (issue July 19th).

CHESTER-LE-STREET SURPRISE

Ringers and friends gathered from Sunder. land, Lanchester and Chester-le-Street itself for the annual Chester-le-Street trip held on June 22nd. A prompt departure and good coach driving brought us to Masham (8). where the Vicar complimented us as being one of those rare parties who arrive on time. (The Vicar did not know, but that was a supreme piece of dramatic irony.)
We paddled back to the coach through the rain and set off happily over the high hills for Skipton (8). The route looked narrow and winding, but one of the organisers reassured the driver with "D Don't worry, I've been over the route before." However. numerous narrow gates, closed gates, mountain streams, sheep and reversings later we found ourselves descending a slippery 1 in 4.3 hill. The gods were against us as we stuck on the tight hairpin bend (with a considerable drop just over the corner). and seemed unable to move backuards or forwards because of the wet gradient. Thinking discretion the better part of valour. we all scurried towards the nearest exit and out on to the bieak Yorkshire moors. Several cars stopped and offered aid (they had to-we were blocking the road with the coach) and after one hour of man power and bus power the coach eventually rounded the bend. Il do wish we had taken a Union Jack to raise the general morale.)
The unfortunate consequence of the delay which no one had expected was that we missed ringing on the fine bells at Skipton. However. the ring at Birstwith (8) proved to be excellent. and it was bere that we had the best ringing of the day
The final objective was the recently installed ring at St. Peter's, Harrogate (8). Here we made good use of the bells in the company of the tower captain. Hugh Dempster. We were apparently rivalising with the "Blood Beast of Terror" showing at the cenema next doot, but I'm sure we won!
And so 10 Chester-le-Street after a most exciting and unusual outing. Thanks are due to the organisers, Ian Wintrip and Denis Bayles. for their reorganisation in the face of untorescen hazards, and to the coach driver. *hose superlative skill extracted us from those bazards on the route-not the least of which was the hairpin bend-and who brought us back home in safely.

AN ECHO OF 1964-5

When Mr. Fred Price, of Bournemouth, said goodbye to his ringing pupils at Washington Cathedral in February, 1965, one of them, Miss Mary Alice Horstick, said "I shall come to see you in Bournemouth in 1968." It was no surprise when Mr. Price recently received a telephone call from Mary Alice stating that she was coming to Bournemouth for a weekend with her father, the Bishop of Wisconsin. who is attending the Lambeth Conference, and Mrs. Hprstick.

That Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Price and their two sons took their guests to Christchurch Priory, which they found of tremendous interest. and to that little gem of Dorset churches, All Saints', Hampreston. It was here that Mary Alice was able to demonstrate that she had not forgotten what she learned at Washington.
A quuck trip around Bournemouth's park and back to Fisherman's Walk for an evening meal concluded a happy visit. The Bishop's com ${ }^{2}$ ment on Bournemouth: "It is not surprising that business is good in this lovely town."

*UNIQUELY ENGLISH PRE. OCCLPATION"

Jeremy Rundall writes an interesting, feature article in "Reading Evening Post" concerning our art. A chat with Mr. Albert Diserens forms the basis of the article. The author's summing-up reads:-

Change ringing, like the yard, the pound weight system, 12 pennies 10 a shilling and driving on the left is a peculiarly-in this case uniquely-English preoccupation. On the Continent they have some superb carillons of bells and. being logical, level-headed foreigners. they play tunes on them.

Not so the mad English. We have. over 300 years. developed a mathematical game of unbelievable complexity and ingenuity whereby almost limitless combinations and permutations can be rung on a ring of six, seven, eight, ten or 12 bells."

NEW BERKSHIRE EIGHT

It is hoped the bells of Brightwell cumSotwell. Berks. will be augmented from six to eight in November.

LOGIKIT RINGING MACHINE AT CAMBRIDGE

An electronic ringing machine was built recently in the Cambridge University Engineering Department as an extension to a course on Electronic Instrumentation" by two under-graduates-Andrew Marland (a ringer) and Robert Hill. The equipment used a Binary system with standard logic gates, bistables and pulse formers and these were plugged into FB Logikit boards. The capacity of the machine was limited by availability of components-a mere $£ 1,000$ worth was used! The machine could be programmed to ring Plain Bob Minor and Doubles and eventually Stedman Doubles, and only time prevented further developments. The output was linked to six lamps and six signal generators and fed into a loudspeaker producing a pleasant electronic organ eflect. Perfect striking was produced with open handstroke leads. Several people attempted to call touches and had varying degrees of success. A 720 of Bob Minor was rung by Alan Scholtield before the machine had to be dismantled.

JOHN S. RANK AND HIS BRIDE
A wedding of special interest to the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association took place at St. Bartholomew's Church, Clay Cross, Derbyshire, on August 10 th. between Mr. John S. Rank and Miss Margaret Kyle Hammerton. The service was conducted by the Rev. $L$. Reynolds, of Walkington, East Yorks, assisted by the Rev. N. Joyce.
There was ringing before the service, and afterwards members of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association rang a quarter peal of Norwich and Cambridge Surprise: A. B. Cooper 1. G. K. Smith 2, K. Goldthorpe 3, Ronald Ducker 4, I. G. Campbell 5, D. S. Johnson (cond.) 6.

BELLRINGER TO PREACH AT MARMINSTER

Evensong at the Minster, Warminster, on Sunday. September 8 th. 4 ill be a ringers' ser vice. As part of the Office there will be change ringing and (probably) tune ringing on handbells, and the lessons will be read by members of the Minster ringing band. The sermon will be preached by Mr. Norman Pearson. of Haslemere, who is a diocesan reader and headmaster of a Haslemere chool. Mr. Pearson will be remembered as a former headmaster of the Minster School in Warminster and al member of the Minster ringing band. He is notable for the generous hospitality he extends to the Warminster bellringers whenever they visit him in Surrey.
Any ringers not engaged "* on duty " are cordially invied to take part in the service, which starts at 6.30 p.m.

BELLS FOR BRIGHTON WEDDING AT CHESTER-LE-STREET

It may seem a far cry to ring bells in Ches-ter-le-Street for a wedding in Brighton. but the footnote to the peal at Chester-le-Street on August 10th was no mere afterthought. Distance prevented Durham and Newcastle friends from attending the wedding at St. Matthias' in Brighton and that church lacks a ring of bells. Accordingly a peal was arranged at Chester-le-Street for the wedding of the Rev. Witliam G. Wilson and Anne Patching Both were students at Durham University, and Anne learned to ring while teaching at Chester-le-Street. All those taking part know Anne and Bill and join in wishing them every happiness in their married life.

CHRISTCHURCH FESTIVAL AND RINGERS' SLNDAY

The Christchurch District Festival this year was a little disappointing, probably due to poor publicity. Ringing took place at Ringwood. Fordingbridge. Wimborne St. Giles. Hournemouth (St. Peter's) and Christchurch Priory. About 30 ringers partook of tea prepared by the ladies in Priory Hall.

Ringers' Sunday at the Priory, held the day after the Festival, was most successful, culminating in Choral Evensong, which was attended by a crowded congregation.

The newly-elected Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, Mr. Roger Savory, read the first lesson, and the Vicar of Christchurch, the Rev. Leslie H. Yorke, preached the sermon. his subject being Gifts, Talents and Service. There was special music by the choir under the direction of Mr. Geoffrey Tristram, and the service concluded with $11 ?$ Grandsire Triples rung on handbells. to which the whole congregation remained and listened. The ringers were Mrs. F. J. Marshallsay 1-2, D. T. Matkin 3-4. A. V. Davis 5-6. R. R. Savory 7-8. The Priory bells were rung for morning and evening service. During the afternoon there was a good attendance of younger ringers, who rang Grandsire Caters. Stedman Triples, Bob Major, interspersed with good rounds on the twelve.

EAST BERGHOLT BELLS RINGING AGAIN

The 15 cut. Gabriel bell at East Bergholt. which crashed. has been repaired at Loughborough and is now in use, to the delight of the many visitors. Mr. Claude Rush informs us that the bell frame is out of true and at least one whole side of it has sunk. To put the cage and bells in really sood shape some big work will have to be done.
The bells are rung at the following times: Sundays $10.30-11$ a.m., 6-6.30 p.m.; Thursdays (practice) $7.30-9$ p.m.

St. Michael the Archangel's, N. Cadbury

By W. A. OSBORN

TMPRESSIVE is the Church of North
Cadbury with the almost adjoining Court, a Tudor manor house. The church is described by Dr. Eeles as "the most magnificent example of Perpendicular architecture in the whole of Somerset", and it is in thankfulness for its 550 th anniversary that special services are being held and efforts made for the restoration of the chancel windows.
It was in 1417 that the present church was built by Lady Elizabeth Botreaux. She visualised great things and applied for a licence from King Henry V to "erect and transfer the said foundation into a collegiate church and a perpetual college of seven chaplains, one to preside and called the Rector of the College". Apparently this never happened, but the impressive chancel was built for this purpose and once possessed fine stalls.

The Rectors of North Cadbury are traced back to 1297, but nothing is known of an earlier church. The tower was before Lady Elizabeth Botreaux's church, having been built in 1390 by the then Rector, John Ferrowne. It is a rather plain building, but was evidently built for strength as there is a buttress inside the north aisle opposite the turret stairs.

A Crash
It is said to have contained "Five Greate Bells" of which we know nothing, but the following Early English says :-
"In drawing up the Greate Bell into the Tower yt fell down by some mischance, broke down the lofts before it broke the morpell Tomb in the belfry bearing the picture of John Ferrowne which was sometime rector of this parish. Above ye Tomb was written these words: Heare lyeth the bodye of John Ferrowne, Parson of thys place which he bulded this Tower at his own proper coste."
The six bells, which seem to have been cast from the old five, were put there by the Bilbies of Chew Stoke, and there are receipts of payment signed by Thomas and Abraham, 1768 and 1769. Something must have happened to the tenor as the present bell is dated 1818 and was cast by Kingston of Bridgwater.

These bells have played their part in unholding ringing. From a Somerset newspaper of 1842 the following extract tells its story :-
"North Cadbury.-The parish was much enlivened on the 12th instant by a match of prize ringing when four excellent peals were rung by Kinson Deveral, Corton Denham, North Cadbury and Pill companies. An excellent dinner was provided on the occasion by Mrs. Masters of the New Inn. (The inn is now a farm house but the old cellar remains.) Denham rung the winning peal, followed by North Cadbury. A convival evening was spent and the ringers took the road for home early next morning."
About 1908 the second and third bells became cracked in the crown and ringing ceased until 1928-9 when a local engineer and ringer took them down and with the help of the Whitechapel Foundry the two cracked bells were recast and the whole ring tuned. The good oak frame was strengthened and tightened up by fitting $16 \frac{3}{4}$ inch bolts from the top to the bottom members and all were hung on ball bearings.

The Festival

This coming week the church will be floodlit and each night different bands of ringers will be in attendance. This will form a prelude to the Festival of Flowers and Praise which marks the 550th anniversary of the foundation of the church.

The Sherborne Group of the Dorset Floral Guild are arranging the decorations of the church and the nearby Elizabeth Manor Court House, which was once the home of the Botreaux family and was inherited by Sir Francis Hastings, who built the stately north front in about 1581. The opening times.

POINTS FROM PEALS - By Canon K. W. H. Felstead

$\mathrm{T}^{\mathrm{H}}$IESE ARTICLES seem now to be getting into a routine of one every half-year, covering approximately six months of peal activity. This seems to be convenient for the amount of material covered each time. Of course, if one went to very great detail, there would be sufficient interest to have a few paragraphs each week, but perhaps that would be too much of a good thing !

Before going on to write about the peals rung in the first half of this year there are a couple of items which really belong to last year and which 1 missed last time. The first was the usual Christmas Eve peal at Long Stratton-I seem to remember it was published a little late this time and 1 had written the last article before it appeared. Last year I wondered whether this one, the 13 th consecutive one, would prove unlucky! I am glad that it was not. It is pretty good going to have 13 peals attempis without a failure. The second was to note the drop in the number of peals in Loughborough Bell Foundry in 1967 -only(!) 35 compared with 56 in 1966 . The rate has picked up again this year 1 see, for with a peal or two still to be published (I expect) last year's total has alreudy been passed.

LONG GAPS

Now for the past six months' ringing. Three towers appeared in the lists which had not been seen there since before the first war. The first peal on the augmented bells at Luccombe revealed that the only previous peal in the tower was in 190?. Likewise the only previous peal at Chawton was in 1913. At Clenchuarton there was a little burst of activity from 1910 to 1913, when five peals of Grandsire Doubles were rung. Then no more peals until the one this year.

Dewsbury has quite an interesting history. I have 37 peals here, but only five this centur: including the two rung in April. The first peal was in 1831, folloned by two more in 1845 and 1848 the former of these was of Treble Bob Triples!!. After three peals in the 1870's came the main activity, with 25 peals from 1884 to 1893. All these peals were of Kent Treble Bob Major except one of Oxford. 1899 come After one more peal of Kent in Iriples in 1907 and Kent again in 1919. Then silence until now.

Last seen in the 1920's were Ecton in 1926 (one previous peal to that in 1914) and Castle Donington in 1927 (also one previous peal in 1925). From the $1930^{\circ}$ s we have Charminster (the only peal on the pre-augmented bells in 1935), Fordington (also 1935 and the only previous peal). Marcham (1938, with a former peal in 1929). Lyichett Minster (peals in 1933, 1934, 1937 and 1938-the last), and Feering (also 1938). The last tower deserves more camment, for the total here is now 82. The first peal was on July 21st, 1900 , and 33 peals were rung up to May, 1913. There was one peal during the first war (in 1916)-rather unusual of course-and then from 1920 to 1934, 46. i.e. three or four a year on the average. Then came the one peal in 1938, 1 expect that the reason for the silence can be seen in the recent restoration of the bells.

As readers may have realised, up to now I have set my arbitrary standard for infrequent visitors as prior to the second war. It seems more convenient now, since 1939 is gradually getting further away, to make it a silence of 25 years or more. So that is what 1 intend to do in future. Under this "rule "I can say that the only time that Bere Regis has appeared in the peal columns previously was in 1943.1 think the same comment as last time is rele-vant-rather fewer than usual infrequent towers.

FIRST PEAL CLAIMS

On the other hand, rather more first peals on the bells, I think. Practically all were claimed, and so 1 confirm the following: Radway, Oghourne St. Andrew. West Tilbury, Bredgar, Durban (Si. Mary Greyville). Uppei Clattord. Longstock, Wherwell. Halstock. Gaddesbv. Maytield (Staffs). St. Dominic. Iooting Graveney. Claxby. Ellastone, Exeter (St. Marks). Great Coxuell, Farnborough (Berks). Nidd and Sheen. The peals at Stanbridge and Chirk also appear to have been the first on the bells although not claimed.

As usual. the Loughborough Bell Foundry appears amongst the milestones-this time passing the 1.250 mark in February. Only one other tower has come among the higher numbers this time-Brierley Hill, which reached 250 in January, It appears to be the 37th tower to reach this number and has taken just 80 years to do it. Peal ringing has been pretty consistent over the period- 64 peals from 1888 to 1916, 124 from 1917 to 1939 and 63 since 1945 . Thus ratber a better average between the wars.

Then we have three towers reaching 150 (none reached 200): Old Windsor (where peals were more frequent before the last war than since), Macclestield (Christ Church), all but 13 of whose peals coming since 1947 after the augmentation of the bells. and Wakefield Cathedral. The last-named tower has a history covering more than 200 years. I have recorded 35 pre-1881 peals, commensing in 1742 . The main activity is at the present time, however. There are also three towers which have reached their century. 1 confirm Daventry's claim to have done so on March 23rd. All the peals except three have come since the last war. Then there was Horsimonden, whose first peal was in 1888, and which had half the peals between the two wars. Finally, Blackburn Cathedral, where the main activity has also been recently.

THE 50 MARK
1 confirm that the following have reached the 50 mark - Southwold. Norwich (St. George's, Colcgate). Llandaff Cathedral and Wigston Magna. Other towers to do so but not claimed were Turner's Hill, Great Addington, Caerphilly, Sevenoaks, East Tytherley and Swynnerton. Of these, Sevenoaks has taken the longest to reach this goal- 198 years ! Southwold also had a peal 110 years ago.

Finally, my usual odd comments. The peal at St. Michael du Valle. Guernsey, was not the tirst of Doubles on the bells. Only two previous peals had been rung here-Minor in 1959, but the next. in 1965. was of Doubles in three methods. Great Barrington seems to be going in for different Surprise Minor methods- 13 different ones have been rung in the past 18 months apart from the peal in 86 methods rung in April this year. Still. there are plenty left to ring although 1 fear that all the regular Surprise Minor methods have been rung to a peal.

TRERD GULLI's 500th IPEAL

FROM early in the year it was apparent there was a good chance of ringing the 500th peal for the Guild in 1968, and as soon as it was known that a peal band was louring the county in August efforts were made to ensure that the 500th was rung with as near a local band as was possible.

With the Spring Festivals and the Central Council meeting behind us. things started moving in June. With six peals to go. Grandsire Triples was unfortunately miscalled at Redruth on June 8th. but we scored a hastily arranged peal of Bob Minor at Wendron the following Saturday with a first-pealer in the band. Two peals were rung on June 22nd some 75 miles apart, at Calstock and Lelant. bringing the total to 497.

Around this time it was decided it would be appropriate if a long-arranged attempt for Rutland at St. Stephen-in-Brannel on July 27th could be the 500 th. Number 498 proved more difficult. Boh Royal at Carbis Bay on June 29th being called round halfway due to the uneven ringing. Other Guild activities took up the next three Saturdays. namely the Diocesan Festival, a Branch method-ringing practice and an inter-Branch cricket match. so it was painfully obvious that two peals had to be scored mid-week.

Bob Minor was thankfully successful at NewIvn East on Wednesday. July 17th. again with a first-pealer in the band. Number 499. looked like giving us no trouble at Lelant on Monday. the 2Ind. but was unfortunately lost in the las 720. Time was now running very short and Doubles was arranged for the Wednesday with a rather inexperienced band. However, after at false start, the peal was rung with a first-pealer on the tenor, who had previously never rung for longer than 20 minutes.
So we arrived at St. Stephen's on the 271 h with the 499 th behind us. Luck zurned out to he against us hecause after a Rood slart the Rutland was miscalled after 55 minutes. Adjourning to St. Dennis' for a ring. we were otlered the bells for another try, but this came to grief after ahout 40 minutes. This sethack meant that a long arranged attemnt for Stedman Doubles on Carbis Bay front six on August 3 rd might be the sooth, and we hoped this would be the case, as the peal tour was due to start on the Sth.

We were glad we had arranged an early evening start for the Siedman as when two bells changed over in the luth extent we still had time for another try. It was unanimously agreed that the method be switched 10 Plain Bob and the back six rung instead. The change over to even bell ringing and the heavier bells was soon overcome and the peal was rung. the calling and coursing orders being very carefully watched throughout. The 500th peal rung, as it turned out. by three from the Truro Branch and three from the Penzance Branch. was secured with 36 hours to spare.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Rochester District

A good sized crowd gathered at Bredgar on July 20th for the quarterly meeting of the Rochester District. The recently augmented six were soon tapping round to a variety of methods under the direction of the District Ringing Masters. The usual service followed with the local Vicar and well-known clerical ringer, the Rev. Stanley Evans, giving an interesting address on how the old Bredgar bellbecame the new six. Tea was served in the nearby Village Hall and during an ensuing downpour the business meeting took place The main item of interest was the decision that in future a District chairman was to be elected at each annual District mecting. Six new members were elected and votes of thank were expressed to all who had made the meeting so successful. A return was made to the tower for further ringing. which ranyed from rounds and Grandsire for the learners to Spliced Kent and Oxford T.B. and a tolabi of Cambridge Surprise for the not-quite-so-raw learners.

A PITMAN PEAL  COMES TO LIGHT

Dear Sir,-Amongst some papers recently cent 10 the writer by the Editor was the following letter, dated February 28th, 1947, from Alber J. Pitman :-
To the Editor.
Dear Sir, -1 am pleased to send the figures of following composition in the four methods in which all the bells can ring all the work of the four methods. There are 1,280 chanses of Bristol, 1,216 London, and by arranging the Cambridge and Superlative accordingly, gives the nearest yet to a quarter peal in each method.-Yours faithfully, (Signed) A. J. Pitman.
5,024 SPLICED SURPRISF MAJOR

$\mathbf{X}=$ Superlative or Cambridge.
Pitman's well-known peal of all the work of four was published in "The Ringing World " of April 11th, 1947, and he describes it as his "latest " in the four methods. The use of the word " yet " in the above letter suggests that there may have been other compositions containing all the work which have never been published. One can only speculate as to why the above was never published; it may have been that Piuman requested it to be withheld as he had produced what he obviously set out to do with the "quarters" peal of all the work; technical inaccuracy would not appear to be the reason as the peal has been proved. and does contain all the work for each bell.

Although, as set out, this composition bears marked resemblances to the well-known peal. by shunting the composition in various places it becomes very similar, and only differs by something like nine leads. It is therefore quite obviously the forerunner of the later one.

The first peal of all the work spliced to be rung was Harold Cashmore's, on April 19th, 1947, at Lambeth, conducted by the composer. It was therefore appropriate that this composition. which appears to be the first composed with the renors together, should be rung at the same tower, as it was on July 20th. Yours sincerely, Putney.

"AlL SAINTS' DOUBLES"

Dear Sir-In reply to Mr. David's letter, the above method, which takes its name from All Saints' Church. Ashcott, Bridgwater. was rung for the first time at Asheott on March 12th, 1951. by all local ringers.

When I composed this method, in 1951, the bob was, and still is. a plain lead of Reverse Canterbury. Any alteration to this method would be false

1 reserve the right to keep "All Saints" to its original composition.-Yours faithfully

Ashcolt, Bridgwater.

The Property of the Ancient Society of College Youths

By W. T. COOK

Librarian of the Society.

UNNTIL the time of the second world war the bulk of the property of the Ancient Society of College Youths was kept in its meeting house-from about 1895 at the $\because$ Coffee Pot', Warwick Lane, near St. Paul's Cathedral; but at the outbreak of war the peal and name books and the more valuable plate were removed for safety to the crypt of Ss. Paul's Cathedral. This was fortunate, for the "Coffee Pot" was destroyed by enemy ation in the night of December 29th, 1941 . The safes in which the Society's properiy were kept were not proof against tire, and many valuable books and other items were destroyed. The then treasurer of the Society, A. A. Hughes, salyaged from the ruins what was left, and this was taken to the Whitechapel Bell roundry, where it remained until 1962 . when almost the whole of the Society's property was placed in the ringing room of St. Paul's Cathedral, to be once again readily accessible to members. As a result, it has been possible to make a fresh inventory and to "rediscover" much that had been forgotten. I felt. therefore, that readers of "The Ringing World" might be interested in a description of this property, which includes many items of historical interest.

THE MACE OF 1762
It is a pity that it is no lonxer possible to display the Society's silver, etc., on the Master's table on meeting nights, as used to be done before the war, but these items are, of course, plased in front of the Master when he presides at the auniversary dinner. Of the silver, by far the most splendid and interesting piece is the mace. The silver head is about nine inchus high Iwo arms, richly decorated. rise from it base, and from these is suspended a silver bell, round which is the inscription "Intactunn sileo percute dulce cano Sth Nov.. 1762." Included in the arms are panels on which are portrayed in relief the towers of S : Mary-le-Bow. Cheapside, and St. Bride's, Fleet Street.

Ihis mace, or stall-head, is a wonderful reminder of the past glories of the Societs. At the period it was made, i.e. 1762, there were in existence two societies, both calling themselves College Youths, as a resuls of a split which bad occurred in the band a few year previously. The Junior Society, as it was known. kept up the tradition of the Annual Feast on or near the date of the Society's foundation, November Sth. E. J. Osborn. writing in about 1845, recorded the recollection of an old member, Willian Eversfield, of Gravesend, that the Annual Feast was a great event with the Junior Society. They used to walk in procession from the club house near St. Bride's to the church for divine service, preceded by their beadle, who wore a black silk gown and a gold-laced hat, and carried a staff surmounted by the silver head just described. From the facts that the Society could afford to equip themselves with such an item, as well as a peal book with silver ornaments on it, and that the dinner tickets cast 15 s . each, we can see that the members of those days were indeed, in Osborn's words, "persons of the highest respectability."

HONOURABLE SCARS

George Shury, who was Master of the Society in 1861-3 and again in 1865, gave a mahogany stand on which to place the silver head. It is approximately 16 inches high, with a base in the shape of a bell. This stand was badly charred in the fire of 1940, but it was agreed that it should nor be restored but continue to bear its "honourable scars."

Another example of the prosperity of the Society in the latter part of the 18 th century can be seen in the copper plate which is now used as the Society's certificate of membership. As was customary wish clubs and similar Societies at that time, the ringing societies had elaborately engraved dinner tickets. A copy of the one used by the College Youths from about 1760 is preserved in the Guildhall Museum, and a reproduction of this was sen: to those who attended the Society's tercentenary dinner in 1937. In 1788 the Society commissioned the famous engraver, Francesco Bartolozzi, to produce for use as a dinner ticket the plate which is the present-day membership certificate. When this plate has found to be deteriorating a few years ago it was decided not to print any more ceriticates directly from it; the certificates now issued are, I believe, produced by a photographic process.

THE SONNING CLP

In the year 1783 a band of the Junior College Youths took part in a ringing contest at Sonning, Berkshire, as a result of which they won a beautiful silver cup, about eight inches high. On one side of this is engraved the following inscription: "This Cup, The Gift of Mr. Peter Bluck of Sonning in the County of Berks, Was adjudged To the Society of College Youths for the Superior Stile in which they rang 1008 Bob Major in a Contest with Oxford and Farnham Society's at the above parish church on Monday August the 4th, 1783." On the other side we read, "The Performers on this Singular occasion (sic) Where

Mr. Geo. Plowman attended as umpire."
On the centenary of this occasion a band of the Coilege Youths went to Sonning and rang a peal of Grandsire Triples. To commemorate this, another silver cup was presented to the Society by J. R. Haworth. It my opinion, not nearly so handsome. The inscription, which reveals a starting variety of lettering, is as follows: - Ancient Society of College Youths Established 1637. This Silver Cup was Presented to the Society by Mr. J. R. Haworth of London to commemorate the Peal recorded on the other side rung to celebrate the centenary of the victory of The College Youths over the Oxford and Farnham Ringers at Sonning Church Berks on Aug 4, 1783 when the Band was presented by Mr. Peter Bluck of that place with a Silver Cup now in the possession of the Society." On the other side of the cup the peal is recorded as follows: "St. Andrews Church Sonning Berkshire. On Saturday Aug 4, 1883 the Company rang Holt's Original peal of Grandsire Triples consisting of 5040 changes in 3 hours and 7 minutes.

A large silver cup, about nine inches high, with a wooden plinth, was presented to the Society in 1937 by the Master. E. H. Lewis, to commemorate the Society's tercentenary. There is also a small mug with the inscription "The Ancient Society of College Youths. 1929. The Gift of Joseph E. Sykes of Marsden, Yorks, and a member of the Society." I have, however. no record of why this presentation was made.

THE DUKES CANDLESTICKS

The two brass candlesticks which stand before the Master at the anniversary dinners have an interesting history, which is fully described in a letter dated October 18th, 1905 , written by Dr. A. H. Nichols, of Boston, U.S.A. They were formerly the property of the Duke of Wellington and were used by him throughout the Peninsular Campaign. One of the Duke's staff during this campaign was a Lieut, Oliver, to whom these candlesticks were given as souvenirs at the close of the campaign. They passed to Licut. Oliver's sister, Mrs. Bishop, who, after the death of her husband, went to live with her grandson, Mr. McClellan. Mr. McClellan, who was a scenic painter, inherited the candlesticks on Mrs. Bishop's death in 1879, and later went to live in Boston, Mass., where the candlesticks passed to Dr. Nichols in about 1903. In 1905 he presented them to the Society, of which he was a member, " as a modest addition to their cabiner of curiosities." The Society also possesses a pair of brass candle snuffers-where these came from I do not know; they are not mentioned in Dr. Nichols' letter. Before the war it was the custom to light the candles placed in these candlesticks before the start of a business meeting, and to snuff them out is a token of the mecting's conclusion.

The silver cups described above, except the iercentenary cup, logether with the candlesticks, snutfers and a wooden gavel presented to the Society a few years ago, are all kept in a specially-made mahogany box. I have no information as to who made this box.

THE HANDBELLS

The Society possesses three sets of handbelis. There is a set of 13 handbells, tenor size 17 in $A$, which are kept in a speciallymade wooden box in the Society's meeting room at the Rising Sun, Cirter lane, and are regularly used by members after business meetings. These bells were presented to the Society by its then treasurer, Albert A. Hughes, in 1954, when the Society started to hold its husiness meetings at the Ship, Talbot Court, Giracechurch Street. On one of the walls in the ringing room of St. Paul's Cithedral is a large glass-fronted case containing a set of Is handbells, tenor size 20 in C , which were made by George Welch. A brass plaque above the case has the following inscription: "The Ancient Society of College Youths. These handbells were bequeathed to the Society by William H. Pasmore. In 1965 they were restored by William and Douglas Hughes and placed here as a memorial to their father, Albert A. Hughes." W. H. Pasmore died in 1955. The third set of 12 handbells, tenor size 16 in B, was presented to the Society in 1916 by Lady Heywood, the widow of Sir A. P. Heywood. Unfortunately these bells, though in fair condition, are very untuneful.

FOR TAPPING

The Society was recently presented with a great curiosity in the shape of twelve handbells, tenor size 16 in $B$ flat, which have no clappers or straps, but are attached in a horizontal pasition to the sides of a wooden box. and are intended for tapping tunes. Two sticks. or hammers, are provided for this purpose. The inscription on the brass plate on the lid reads: "These handbells, made at Whitechapel in 1903, were presented to the

Letters to the Editor

RECORDS COMMITTEE CHALLENGED
Dear Sir,-I am disturbed not only by the tone of Mr. Blagrove's letter (page 636 ) but also by some of the technical points.

Firstly, the Council. and therefore the Records Committee, only recognises true peals (page 21 of the 1956 Handbook), and yet is prepared to record the 12,480 of Pudsey without seeing the composition. The circumstances of its disappearance are strange, and it is peculiar that the composer is unable, or unwilling, to reconstruct 11 . If $\mathbf{1}$ were the convener of a committee checking " to the last detail" (including, one assumes, proving the compositions) 1 would not be satisfied in this case; but then, I have always hawc had a suspicious nature.

Secondly, I am intrigued by the statement about singles in the 12.096 Glasgow: presumaty this is a result of the ruling on singles in Treble Bob on page 26 of the llandbook. But surely threc eminent compasers have stated that only 53 whole courses of Glasgow may be obtained with bobs and:or conventional singles alone? The very capable, but forgetful, Mr. Parker has introduced the 54th course with unconventional thut legal) singles. and is accused of not having proved their need. Since proving the need for singles in this sort of case is almost impossible, 1 would suggest that Mr. Blagrove prove first that they are not required.

Thirdly, having once brought un the subject of singles, I fail to see why there is no comment on the record peals of Surprise Major involving singles, i.e. 9,600 Lincolnshire.
Lastly. it is extremely childish of Mr. Blagrove to reply in this manner to a simple request for the justification of his actions. Io? suggest that the long length of Cam Maximus was questioned by the committeec merely because of Mr. Woodruffc's question reflects discredit on the whole committee and, indirectly, on the uhole Council.-Yours sincerely. IAWRENCE J. HAINIS.

RECORD IJNGTHS

Dear Sir-We have now had the nflicial ruling of the Central Council regarding long peals from the convener of the Records Committee. Mr. Blagrove.
In the Centra! Council's Handbook, Pages 19 and 20 , it implies that the compositont should be published in .. The Ringing Would. before the performance takes place at the same time as notice is given. Clearly from Mr. Blagrove's letter the composition dos not now have to be published unless the peal is successful or not at all (in the case of the Pudsey). If the Handbook is still correct, neither the 11.872 Glasgow nor the 9.600 Limcolnshire are record lengths.
I cannot see any point in calling same long lengths record peals and others progressive lengths. To the majority of ringers the longest one will stand as the record. I suggest the answer is not to accept or publish progressivic lengths as peals.
for the Records Committee not 10 accept the 13,140 Kent Treble Bob Maximus as a record is ridiculous, as this variation of Keni has been rung and accepted for years. It seems it is all right for ordinary peals but not for record long lengths. Also if Mr. Blagrove can move the treble in Bob Minor and still call it Plain Bob, then we can call the Cam variation Kent.-Yours faithfully.

AUCKLAND'S HOPES

Dear Sir.-May 1 through your columns offer an apology to the convener of the Overseas Committee of the Central Council. Through my rather imprecise terminology i conveyed an inaccurate picture of conditions in Auckland. We are, unfortunately. still "clocking " at St. Mathew's-but not for very much ionger, we hope.

The bell frame is now bolted down for the first time. and the wall-wedges removed. A second wheel has recently been completed and fitted "to No, 4 bell. The February " crie de cour" hrought us Alec Cain (formerly of Bentley. Hampshire), so we now have tuu budding wheelwrights.

Structural repair operations on the tower are hampering our eflorts at present, but this state of aflairs should not persist for many more months.- Yours faithfully,
W. T. LACK.

CANTERBLRY'S OLDEST BELLS

Dear Sir.-1 read with great interest D. 1.. C article on Canterbury's oldest bells (page 621). He will probably be interested to know that another ancient bell by Josepin Hateh from one of the city's redundant churches has been doing duty since 1911 in the clock sower ut Bexleyheath, erected to commenorate the Coronation of King George V.
The chief organiser of the project was Mr. P. 1:. Bex. the deputy clerk to Bexley U.D.C.: is kect ringer and is former serretary of the Lewisham District
When the tower was ncurimg completion he found that the architect had onitted in provide a bell for the clock to strike on and the funds available were insufficient to provide one.
It happened about this time that 1 was in a peal attempt at Cinterhury Cathedral and the then llain service was such that 1 had two hours to spare before the start, which were spent wandering around the city, during which time I came across al church in the process of either demolition or conversion and a bell of about 3 cwt. outside among the rubble.

Next morning 1 told Mr. Bex of this. Hc got in touch with Canon Helmore and Mr. Bex acquired the bell for ahout $\sum_{20} 0$. He recouped himself of the cost by a flag day with the bell paraded round the streets on a decorated council lorry.-Yours sincerely.

NAME CORRECTION

Deal Sir,-The correct name for the methad rung as Headingley Surprise (" Ringing World." August 23 rd. 1968 ) is Benson. this, heing the name given to the method when it was incladed in a peal of spliced at Siratton St. Margaret on December $17 \mathrm{th}, 1966$. Yours faithgaret

COMPARISONS WITH OTHER JOURNALS

Dear Sir,-The article by Mr. Bernard C. Ashford on the front page of the Augusi 23 rd issue calls for some comment.

Firstly, Mr. Ashford's price list of similar journals to "The Ringing World " is very misleading. Having spent considerable time in the local W.H.S. branch, 1 was unable to trace all his examples but the angling and cricket journals of that price were monthly publications, meaning an outlay of less than a shilling a week. There is a large selection of weekly papers priced between 9d. and 1s. 6d.; for your benetit 1 enclose a list of comparable journals dealing with a grear many pursuits. "The Ringing World" falls in the middle of the price range. There ure. of course, many monfhly publications but the greater majority of those cost under ious shillings.

However, be chat as it may, comparison of
The Ringing World " with any of thesce magazines is quite ludicrous. One must consider that the number of people interested in these hobbies is far greater than the number of people interested in hellringing. Thimeans that these journals have a far greater potential readership than "The Ringing World" and in fact only attract a few per cent. of their potential readership. However, the number of bellringers is, say. 30,000 (a little optimistic, 1 think), and if a readership of 6.010 is attained, then 20 per cent, of bellringers read "* The Ringing World." which is far higher than any other journals. It is because "The Ringing World" has to appeal to such a large proportion of bellringers that its price is critical.
Bellringers come from all ranges of $\mathrm{in}^{-}$ comes, and as a consequence there are those who cannot afford "The Ringing World " (yes. there are some, Mr. Ashford). those who can and, most important, those in the middle who have to decide whether it will be "The Ringing World ", or an extra half-pint a week. Bellingers don't begrudge "The Ringing world "its shilling, it is just that some prefer beer in spite of all Mr. Ashford's exhortations.
Improvement. circulation and cost are closely related. Improvements cannot be had without cost. Increased cost lowers circulation, improvements raise it: somewhere there is at balance. It is vitally important that "The Ringing. World " finds this balance if it is in survive.- Yours faithfully,

DOUBLES : QUESTIONS AND

Dear Sir, -I wonder if the misunderstandings over the Central Council propositions concerning Doubles methods can be discussed in a reasonable way and without the asperity shown in recent letters and answers?
I was not present at the Worcester mecting, but have discussed this matter with quite a tew of the representatives who were there. The general impression gained is that many of these representatives were not au fait with the matter, as they had not thought to provide themselves with either the two copies of .. The Ringing World" containing the propositions and amendments or the 1955 Collection of Doubles Methods. Unfortunately, the report of the debate did not agree with the memories of those attending, so the only thing to do now is to go to the amended propositions and try to sec if they have changed the position of Doubles ringers and ringing.

Prior to these decisions, the basis on which I think most people worked was the 1955 Collection and especially its preface. To quote. * In the past the bob leads of certain methods have been rung as the plain leads of another, and vice versa, and this practice is, we believe, undesirable and in the present Collection no method has been included which is the bob lead of another." Contrary to some opinions. is did not bar the use of other bob places, but gave some examples of Plain Bob Doubles variations that "could be used for the sake of variety."

To clear the air, it was, I believe, the then sectetary of the Council who put forward the suggestion that methods be defined as those in the Collection. and that the use of different calls and methods with calls as plain leads be classed as variants or variations. As Reverse St. Bartholomew had not appeared in the Collection it was understood that the word "bob" in the above quotation meant any type of call. Therefore Reverse St. Bartholomew was classed as a variation, as were other methods using an Old Doubles single for a plain lead.
The naming of these variations was another difficulty. In many cases insufficient information was advanced by the people who first used $\measuredangle$ variation in a peal, and when the DoddJones Collection did appear in "The Ringing World " it inevitably contained errors and omissions (though all credit to them for attempting such a task).

The standards in general were not debased until the last few years, when some very dubious "spliced" extents were rung.
Quite obviously something had to be done. Possibly the best solution would have been to use the Collection preface as the basis. with additional propositions regarding the lengths to which splicing of variations could go. This would have meant that some methods in the record peal of Doubles methods would have to be reclassified as variations, but would. I feel, have saved many complications that have now arisen.

Now. the motion as passed at Worcester regarding variations reads, Paragraph 1: *" [n the case of Doubles only, a variation be defined as the use in a plain method of calls other than the standard calls for that method. The resulting bobbed or singled lead must not by itself constitute a plain lead of another miethod. Each variation to be given its own name." To me, the second sentence in this means that the plain lead of a method must not be used as the bob or single of a variation.

If $1 t$ is used. it must be considered as ringing the two methods spliced to the extent. Therefore, April Day must go out as a variation. It is spliced Reverse St. Bartholomew and Plain Bob, spliced in from a treble lie to a treble lic. i.c. half-lead splicing, or "combined" as Kent-and-Oxford was called at one period.

The same reasoning ought to apply to the first 16 variations given in the Appendix on page 575 of " The Kinging World," July 191h issue. These would seem to be all splices of the parent method with Reverse St. Bartholomew. On the other hand, if they are to be classed as variations because the call used is arandsire single. then April Day reverts back to being is variation. You can't have it both ways. Of similar nature are many of the other variations given on this page, as plain leads of Reverse Union, All Saints' and Minster Bob are used as "other than the standard call for the |parent] method.'

For instance, the parent methods of the first 16 variations on this page can easuly be spliced into four extents. If these extents are rung in a peal, then repeated using (a) Grandsire singles. (b) Wallflower singles, (c) Antelope singles, (d) Pink's singles as calls, and the rest of the peal tilled up with Reverse St. Bartholomer, All Saints'. Antelope and Minster Bob. how should the peal be reported? Using the first argument, 20 methods have been rung using lead-end and half-lead splices. Using the second argument, 0 methods plus 64 variations. Is there a ruling on this, or is it to be leit to the acumen of the submitter of the peal copy? Paragraph 3 of the motion does not help with this. but does seem to circumvent the Decision that method splicing can only take place at the half-lead or the full-lead. Getting back to Paragraph 1, a plain lead of a method cannot be used as the call of a variation, but there is nothing in this to say that a plain lead of a method cannot be used as the call of another method, and that is how Grandsire survives. Likewise Reverse St. Bartholomew, with the plain lead of Plain Bob as a call. The case for defining Reverse Union. Reverse St. Julian and Reverse Si. Faith as methods hangs on a similar thread, though the implied refusal to allow the use of bobbed leads of Reverse Canterbury is a method stretches the demarcation line very thin.

Could I suggest that the person/persons: committees that are editing the submitted copy of multi-Doubles peals be asked to indicate their way of working? It won't alter the way we ring the peals, only the reporting thereof.Yours sincerely.

DENIS A. FRITH.
Grantham, Lincs.
NOTE. - Taking each paragraph in turn. There would be no misunderstanding if those interested would make themselves conversant with the C.C. Handbook. page 23, all content, of the C.C. Doubles Collection and the wording of the Worcester amendments.

Few members of the C.C. are au fait with all the topies raised. tut all are well able to make a cholce between alternatives.
I am certain that Mr. E. A. Barnett would never have made the suggestion that the 1955 Collection contained all the (plain) methods that Doubles ringers could use; all else being variations. The methods given on page 575 were omitted from that Collection only because of a misunderstanding ahout the use of the internal places. thirds or fourths, at the trebles lead. Mr. Frith is confusing a catl with a called lead.

ANSWERS

The aim of the Appendix is to clear up confusion in names of methods and variations. I am now receiving unpublished names of methods rung to peals in 1965!

The debasement of Doubles variations started with the publication of Newington Doubles on March 20th, 1953.

The Collection preface is heing used as the basis for the present Appendix; requirements are also being sorted out with regard to spliced extents.

The nexi paragraph is 100 per cent. correct.
But this one is entirely wrong. A Grandsire single used with Si . Simon's aoes not give a plain lead of anuther method. But a Grandsire single used with Reverse Canterbury does give a complete plain lead of Reverse Si. Bartholomew spliced in at the half-lead.

Assuming that plain leads of the methods are included. this combination could give up to 20 methods and 64 variations. Each extent would need checking with the amendments, which are not ambiguous. However, I have taken note of a letter from Mr. G. A. Dawson, and am endeavouring to get the Methods Committee to some to a unanimous decision to widen the scope of Amendment 3, to allow "sharing" of leads when there is no ambiguity. Splicing must still be in full leads, at halflead or full-lead of the treble.

Nowhere is a plain lead of a method used as a bob in another method or vice versa. But eight twin-hunt methods do use a plain lead of a single hunt method as a single; this is as in the 1955 Collection, where leads of St. Bartholomew and Si. Sebastian are used as singles for Reverse Grandsire and Reverse Antelope. This is not an ambiguity. or an anomaly, or a precedent for higher numbers. It could be avoided by using alternate singles for the twin-hunt methods. He questions Reverse Union as a method on the grounds that it has an Old single above the treble. Six methods in the 1955 Collection have a Grandsire bob above the treble, and St. Simon's has Reverse Grandsire bob helow the treble: This does not make them called leaus of other methods. But Reverse Coxuell is simply a bebbed lead of Reverse Canterbury, with nothing added, both single-hunt: therefore it is not in the Collection.

F.T.B.
\{Multi-Doubles peals are only checked it they are submitted with methods and variations not listed separately, or if they contain what appear to be dubious splices. They are then published in accordance with the C.C. Decisions. For example. Litchurch gets split up into Plain Bob and Reverse St. Sebastian. We are trying to compile this Appendix in the open. rather than to present it as a fait accompli in book form. All constructive criticiom and corrections are welcome.-Editor. $\}$

ELROPEAN BELLS

Dear sir.-As one who travels a lot. 1 am very interested in overseas ringing. I should like to request through your columns how to reach Rivoli Veronese (6), Italy, by road II have not yet succeeded in finding it on any map), and for information on any other ring on the Continent (I have heard rumours of ia six in France and of a four in Switzerland). I already know about the six in Stockholm, the eight in Madrid and the six in Malta.Yours faithfully.

PEAL TOUR

GEORGE BONHAM HITS SOUTH WALES

TT all started with a birthday party. An unusual way to begin a peal tour maybe, but as that talented young lady, Julia Fellows, was born 21 years ago on August 9th, she kindly invited us to the Haven Hotel, St. Albans, for a celebration. A very enjoyable time was had by all and we met several nonringing friends of Julia's as well as her parents.

What a change to see the sun again on Saturday morning, and it looked like a good omen for the, week ahead. It was, too, trom a ringing point of view', though hardly for the weather! Four cars made their own way through Wallingford, Swindon and on to the motor-road over the Severn Bridge and arrived at Chepstow in good time for lunch. David King was thoughifully pulling the bells up at 2.45 p.m., and at 3 p.m. Ralph Edwards arrived to complete the band for this peal. We scored a good peal of C.S.R. on a pleasant eight by William Evans, with the trebles added by Taylor's in 1953. George Thoday added by Taylor's in 1953. George Thoday ably called a composition with singles in all sorts of queer places, which fortunately did not affect the back bells! A fairly quick drink, a pleasing ride to Cardiff, our H.Q. for the week, and a good meal of steak and chips made most of us ready for bed after a long day.

INTO WALES RURAL

"Let's see if we can find an eight-bell tower which is new to everyone," said the most experienced tower-hunter on Sunday morning. Some of us had visited the area before, and we eventually decided on Llanbradach. And what a good choice! The Vicar was delighted to let us ring (there is no local hand), the bells were Taylor's (1911) and we were very kindly given coffee and biscuits by the Vicar's wife, our first experience during the week of Welsh hospitality.

Few churches can be more isolated than Llanfeigan in Breconshire, our second peal tower. The bells are Taylor's (1921), but there could be a little more ventilation in the ringing room. Our attempt for Lincolnshire was not as good as it could have been, so George Thoday decided to call "Stand" at the end of the first part of Barton's. Meanwhile Graham Elmes had obtained permission for us to ring at St. Mary's, Brecon. for Evensong. the local band being away on holidays. After some tea we were given permission to ring on the excellent ring of six at St. David's, Brecon (Taylor's, 19.4), and this again was the first time the bells had been rung on a Sunday for quite a long time. We all enjoyed dinner at an inn near Llanfeigan, and then back to Cardiff via Pontypool.

On Monday morning. after some of us had visited every church in Newport, we eventually found All Saints'! However, we soon started for Cambridge Major on a rather quiet ring. but a shift after one and a half hours caused our second failure. (Why do we ring Johnson's variation instead of straightforward Middleton's!) With two failures out of three, it appeared time for the inevitable Double Nor-wich-Heywood's, of course! The conductor scored a new county, and an amusing peal was had by all! The tower was at Caerleon (modern Taylor's) and the town is famed for its Roman remains and museum. We were soon on our way to Usk (Taylor's, 1925), and not only enjoyed this fine peal, with three leads of Bristol, but also admired the beautifully kept ringing room. By this time English weather had reached Wales and the "passionate brunette" umbrellas (two) made their owners popular while permission was obtained to ring at Tredunnuck (a "country" six). Steak and chips completed the day.

REBUILT GOTHIC AND RAILWAY  \section*{GOTHIC}

Landaff Cathedral has been so well restored, after being hit by bombs, that it is difficult to realise that anything had happened. Ibe ten bells, rehung by Mears, hang in the north-west lower, and the ringing room is reached by ascending the south-west tower and then walking along a gallery overlooking the nave. We were met by Nicholas Simon, now one of Wales's leading conductors, and rang a good peal of Y.S.R. George Thoday called a "sensible" composition, and we were very glad to have the services of Tudor Edwards. Lunch consisted of beer and pastries, and we were off on the short journey to Radyr (Taylor's, 1910). A fine ring but, owing to local residential conditions, only one peal has been rung since 1915-in 1965 for Winston Churchill's funeral. The evening peal was arranged at Blacnavon (an excellent modern Taylor ring, like handbells). The Vicar met us and deseribed his church as "Railway Gothic" ! It was rebuilt by the local iron foundry and is really quite attractive. We scored a fast peal of Rutland. Afterwards some of us went over to join the local ringers at Usk for a social evening, while four returned to Cardiff for a good meal

EBBW VALE

On Wednesday we had hoped for a peal at Pontypridd, but owing to various contin. gencies, this was not possible so a phone call to the Vicar of Llanfeigan, and an immediate "Yes, come by all means," enabled Sunday's failure to be turned into success and a good peal of Lincolnshire was scored. Those not ringing spent the morning being initiated into the mysteries of stamp auctioneering in Cardiff. and were driven by Frances Carpenter to meet the peal band for sandwiches at Talybont. Then on to Ebbw. Vale to sec one of the largest stect warks in the wortd, over a mile long. We were met at the church by Tom Stephens, Jack Alsop, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Wylde and Mrs. Wylde's sister and given a grand welcome, and ufter Phil Mehew had called a musical peal of Yorkshire on the fine Taylor ring we were most kindly entertained to a lovely tea in the Parish Room. It was a pity we had to hurry away, but we were due for a ring at Abergavenny (Taylor's best). Fast driving allowed for us to have 15 minutes ringing: we apologise for kecping the tower captain waiting.

THE THREE " ${ }^{\prime}$ 's

On Thursday we were off to Pentre and for many it was the first experience of a typical Welsh coal-mining valley. In spite of much man-made drabness there is much of beauty and evidence of a God-fearing community, who have lived with danger most of their working lives. Pentre Rhondda Church has a tall unsupported tower, housing a fine pre1900 Taylor ring. Tudor Edwards welcomed us to his home tower and demanded that a certain well-known tenor ringer should prove again how he rang that bell to a peal of Plain Bob in 3 hours and 3 minutes on December 26th, 19451 A touch was timed and worked out at 3.14 speed! He could not say he was fitter then, because he was not. but gives credit to that fine 7th ringer. the late Fred Lasbury. In pre-war days the local band was one of the best in the country and scored several Surprise peals. It was a great pleasure 10 meet Jim Evans again. who rang in the peal, and George Bonham made a stylish job of ringing the tenor to Double Norwich; he has the makings of a good tenor ringer.

Rain was falling when we called on the Vicar of Pontypridd and kept on for an hour. He gladly gave permission for us to ring on the Taylor's (1913) ring of eight. The umbrellas were in evidence again, but several members got very wet. Penarth is a residential part of Cardiff and the Church of St. Augustine contans another fine Taylor eight. A good steady peal of Cambridge was scored in 3 hours and 10 minutes. We then attended Cardiff practice and were welcomed by Tim Yeomans. A meal and a social evening with local ringers compleied the day.

WEST GLAMORGAN

The excellent Taylor eights at Cowbridge and Bridgend (a good course of London was rung here) were the venues on Friday, but it rained more than usual. Ruth Havard joined us for the morning and the Vicar of Bridgend vety kindly arranged for us to ring at Coity (a very pleasant six hung in a central tower). Here we said farewell to Tim Collins, of Dorchester, who with bis friend. Bill Perrins, of Ringwood, is a fine example of a competent teenage ringer.
The peal tower for the afternoon was Aber avon, one-time home of that famous compaser A. J. Pitman. The bells (Taylor's) are good, but there are no windows in the ringing room, which is not conducive to concentration. George Bonham particularly wanted to ring Stedman and Tudor Edwards came to cali, but even his skill could not prevent the way so many peals of Stedman Triples go, though some quite good ringing came over the town for 1 hour and 40 minutes. In addition. George's rope became unravelled, which made things more difficult !
Through the kindness of two old friends, Messrs. E. Morris and G. 1. Lewis, a visit to Neath and Cadoxion (two very merry sixes) was arranged at Cardifi practice. The bells will travel at any speed and many peals have been scored at both places. At Cadoxton practice 18 was a pleasure to meet Gwyn Lewis's father, now 87, and fresh from a recent peal triumph. We enjoyed a social cvening at the local with Harry Boyce aud other local ringers.

CREDITABLE MAXIMUS

Our last day, Saturday, arrived all too soon. We met Ralph Edwards, Brian Bladon, David Lewellyn and Peter Bennett at St. Woolos ${ }^{\circ}$ Cathedral, Newport, and with Gvo "firsts on 12," and one "first "inside," we wondered how we should fare. However, it was soon evident from the start that we would ring a very creditable peal on an easy-handlod 12. Well done the "firsts on 12 "-hardly a word was spoken throughout, and cveryone was pleased.

An attempt for Yorkshire at Monmouth was lost through a rope breaking with five courses to go. Apparently the bells did not "go"" as badly as was expected, and a return visit is looked forward to.

Before leaving Newport, Julia Fellows (who had very kindly agreed to the solution of who to leave out in the peal of Maximus) presented George Bonham with a large first-aid kit for his car (and perhaps for blisters I) with our grateful thanks for arranging another good week. What a grand country is Wales ! We would like to thank all the Vicars and local ringers who met us for their kind permission to use their bells, and especially for the very many acts of hospitality and kindness from cveryone during the week.

APACE.

Joint Meeting at

Holme-on-Spalding Moor

Holmeon-Spalding Moor was chosen for the August meeting of the Beverley and District Society and the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association.
Mr. H. Walker deputised as chairman of the business meeting in the absence of the vicepresident, Mr. A. Sheppard: Mrs. D. S. Johnson deputised in the absence of the District secretary. No Beverley District meeting was held. One new member was elected, Miss $G$. Hardy, of Goole.

It was reported that Howden bells had now been fitted with chiming apparatus and that Bridlington bells were now unringable pending an inspection of the frame and fittings.

Between 30 and 40 people attended during the day, including the Association's president and Mrs. Bottomley, and enjoyed a variety of methods on the light six.

CORRECTIONS & AMENDMENTS

Dear Sir,-lt has been pointed out to me that there is a printing error in the figures of Rutland Surprise No. 4 , page 32 of the Central Council publication, "A Collection of Compositions in the Popular Major Methods," published in 1966.

Readers owning a copy might like, therefore, to make the following correction. Opposite the course-end 34256 , the figure 2 should be moved under the "W" heading, not under 1/5.-Yours faithfully,
W. ERIC CRITCHLEY.

Doncaster.

The sender of the multi-method Doubles peal at Curry Mallet (page 657) omitted from the report Heyford variation and Rushall splieed composition.

SUFFOLK GUILD

The August meeting of the South West District was held in the delightful village of Polstead, famous for its juicy black cherries and of Maria Marten fame.

The many rinzers who attended were well catered for but, due to ideal harvest weather, oaly four District towers were represented. At the business mecting members stood in silence as a mark of respect to the late Walter Bailey.

The chairman, Mr. Lester D. Mills, reported that progress was really being made and he had been asked to arrange a monthly Surprise Major practice. A report was made on a meeting attended by members of the Guild on the vexed question of the repairs to the tower of St. Peter's, Sudbury. Mr. Alan Elliott was elected a non-resident ringing member.
At the conclusion a presentation of a foor standard lamp was made to Mrs. D. Reeve on her marriage. She had been District secretary for many years.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

The July meeting of the Mansfield District was held on the 27th at Edwinstowe, a favourite summer venue. As always, a very cordial welcome was extended to the District by the Rev. H. Pickles, who officiated at the service and later joined the company at an excellent tea prepared by the local ladies. The bells were seldom idle during the afternoon and evening, methods varying from Doubles to London Surprise, and were finally lowered at 9 p.m.
The main topics discussed at the business moeting were the damage sustained to the South Normanton clock chimes during the May meeting, and the District outing. The latter, arranged for Scarborough, was finally cancelled owing so lack of support.
Next meeting: September 28th, Sutton-inAshield.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Congratulations to Mr. Alan F. Lee, secretary of the Bath Branch, on his 100th peal as conductor.
Writes a correspondent: "It may be of interest to ringers that $W$. W. Ring, alias The Lurcher,' has married a fine ringerViolet Relf. To all Kent ringers-beware of increased lurching in the years to come."

Mr. Dennis Beresford's ringing tour in Devon and Cornwall between August 4 th and 10th resulted in seven peals. The peal of London at Tawstock was rung with the compliments of the band to Mr. J. Phillips, " late of this parish."

Before leaving for York, Mr. R. J. Sanderson, of Bentley, West Yorkshire, had a farewell ring at St. Peter's Church. With him ringing rounds for Evensong were his wife, daughter Christine (10), son Peter (7) and his mother-in-law, Mrs. A. Smythe, who made a comeback for the occasion following retirement from ringing a few years ago. We trust that in York they will have happy ringing.

The Society of Royal Cumberland Youths have rung their tirst peal of Londinium Surprise Maximus-at Walsall on August 17th. Mr. Adrian G. Semken has accepted an appointment with the Wye River Authority and is moving from Essex to Hereford.

The peal at Guildford Cathedral on August 17th was rung as a compliment to Peter Privett and Jennifer Briggs on their engagement.
The Railwaymen's Guild should note that in the Taunton area a peal was rung at Merriott "in memoriam British Steam Locomotive, 1815-1968."

Mr. H. Westlake, of Kingsbury Episcopi, has been a ringer and church member at All Saints', Langport. for over 50 years. A 65 h birthday compliment was rung for him at Kingshury Episcopi on August 15 th.

In the report of six Elliotts ringing golden wedding congratulations to Mr . and Mrs. Joseph Elliott, at Kelvedion (page 656), the age of David should be nine, and not four, as was inadvertently published.

* PEALS AROLND PENNINES *

The peal tour we publish this week is a sequel to the tours of previous years called "Peals Around Portishead " and "Peals Around Packwood."

Like its predecessors. "Peals Around Pennines:" was highly successful. Twenty peals were rung out of 25 attempts and four of the losses were due to mechanical failures.

Accommodation for the week was arranged in five caravans on a site at Sabden, a small village between Whalley and Burnicy, and this provided an excellent centre for the week.

The calibre of the ringing was high. There was one peal of Surprise Maximus, two Stedman Cinques, six Surprise Royal, one Stedman Caters and ten Surprise Major. One peal of four-Spliced Surprise Royal and one eight-Spliced Surprise Major are included in the totils above.

Eleven of the party shared in the successful conducting, viz. three peals each by Tudor P. Ldwards. John H. Fielden, Kenneth J. Hesketh and Frank Shallcross: two by Cyril Crossthwaite; one each by Peter S. Bennett, Neil Bennctt. Peter G. Brown. J. Barry Pickup, David E. Rothera and Philip J. Rothera.

Peals were rung by 28 of the party. Seven of the men scored ten peals apiece-John $H$. Fielden. Anthony H. Smith. John G. Gipson, James L. Towler, David E. Rothera, Philip J. Rothera and Kenneth J. Hesketh, and four nine-Donald F. Murfet. Richard S. Starkie, Peter S. Bennett and Tudor P. Edwards.

The ladies did their full share of the week's ringing, with Susan Rothera scoring seven peals and Josephine A. Quilter and Ann E. Fcllows six each. Maryl R. Fielden and Marion R. Bennett were also successful.

WHEPSTEAD. SLFFOLK.-On Aus $12 \mathrm{~h}, 1.320$ Plain Bob Doubles: Miss T. Orris 1, A. F. Ballam (cond.) 2. B. E. Whiting 3. C. R. Nunn 4. T. Spurling 5

IOLTH AT THE HELA

lirom Stanground. Hunts. we learn that the six bells at St. John the Baptist's Church are now rung regularly by a young band. For nearly six years they had been silent until last September, when a local ringer began 10 instruct Youth Cluh members. When he left recently it looked as though the bells would be idle for another long period.

The youngsters of the Church Youth Club would not, however. let this happen. Under their instructor, Adrian Dolby (17), they ring rounds for service. Their enthusiasm has resulted in adults taking an interest and the church now has a few older ringers.

MR. CHARLES BKOWN. of Wingfield, near Diss, Norfolk, receiving a gold wristlet watch to mark his 50 years of ringing. The presentation was made by the Rev. G. Muir. In our pictare are also the two churchwardens, Mrs, Brown and their son and two daughters.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION FINAL OF THE STRIKING COMPETITION

On a lovely, warm summer afternoon in June, members of the Essex Association gathered at the quiet village of Terling for the final of the striking compctition.
With plenty of room to spread out on the village green in front of the church, competitors and other ringers made themselves comfortable to listen to rival bands exercising their skill on the good 11 cwt . six.
Seven teams took part, the judges being Mr. Vernon Bedford, Mr. Peter Bedford and Mr Walter Arnold. The Master, Mr. F. B. Lufkin, umpired the ringing, each team having two minutes of rounds to get the feel of the bells:

After all the teams had had their turn the Rector of Terling conducted the service to probably one of his biggest congregations for some time, as the population of Terling is small.
After the service. members wandered across a green meadow, part of the Lord Rayleigh estate, for tea in the Village Hall, after which the Master called upon the judges to give their decision on the competition. After making very helpful comments on the ringing, the judges named the young team from Barkingside the winners: the runners-up were Danbury and Dagenham.
Barkingside were congratulated on their good eflort, as the band was only formed three years ago.
General ringing continued until about eight $0^{\circ}$ clock. whereupon the party split up. some going for a little liquid refreshment and others, the more energetic, for a swim in the village's own swimming pool. I think it can be said that a thoroughly good time was had by all.

ST. MARY'S GUILD, BOCKING

For their outing to London on July 20th; St. Mary's Guild of Ringers. Bocking, made up a party of 43 , which also included choristers. servers and friends.

The recently restored Church of St. George-in-the-East provided interest and enjoy: ment on the light eight. Next came St. James; Clerkenwell. which is undergoing extensive restoration and redecoration and ringing was on the $24 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cw}$. eight.
Lunch was taken in Kensington High Streef followed by ringing at St. Mary's, the plain riverside church at Battersea. and St. Mary's. Wimbledon, its hilltop providing a view of the famous tennis courts.
We were all thankful for the marvellous tea provided for Chelsea ringers, and afterwardin St. Luke's Church we managed to ring on the 23 cut . ring of ten. At 9.30 p.m. the coach started its irek home and arrived at the church gates at 11.45 p.m. A very enjovable day was had by all.

AMATECR BELLHANGERS

" A London Ringer" writes praising Mr Geoffrey K. Dodd for his constructive article on page 594. He concludes by expressing the hope that "a far more tolerant attitude towards the genuine 'amateur bellhangers' will now prevail, as some have borne a good deal of criticism in the past. For these people are without doubt genuine servants of the Exercise. who are prepared to do a lot of hard work on behalf of the Exercise without fuss, without drama and without applause."

WANTAGE RINGERS IN LONDON

Wantage Church bellringers' outing this year was held on August 10th and departed somewhat from the pattern which has been set in recent years. After an uneventful coach journey to London there was time for a cup of cofice before a visit to the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, where we were met by Mr. W. A. Hughes, who gave us a most interesting talk on the history of the foundry, which has occupied its present site in Whitechapel since the reign of Queen Elizabeth I, and where many famous bells have been cast. The party toured the foundry and was shown the equipment used in the moulding, casting and tuning both of tower bells and of handbells, and Mr. Hughes explained the methods used which have changed but little ovar the centuries.

After lunch the afternoon was spent at the Science Museum at Kensington, where Mr. Douglas Hughes and Mr. Walter Dobbie demonstrated the Carter Ringing Machine. Mr. Hughes told us the history of this machine, which belongs to the Central Council and which has been deposited at the Science Museum since 1925. Mr. Dobbie $\operatorname{ran}$ the machine to a touch of Stedman Carters and a plain course of Eryri Major, and one could not but wonder at the inventive genius of John Carter and admire the work which is still carried out to keep the machine in worting order.

On our way home we called at Burnham Beeches, where all did justice to the excellent tea, and then on to St. Peter's, Burnham, where we had an hour's good ringing. By this time the sun was really shining and the adjournment for refreshments to the adjoining Five Bells was very much welcomed. And so back to Wantage after a most enjoyable outing.
We record our gratitude to Mr. W. A. Hughes, Mr. Douglas Hughes and Mr. Walter Dobbie for the trouble they took for our benefit, to the incumbent of Burnham and to our friends from East Hendred, Blewbury and Streatley for the pleasure of their company.

ROCHDALE DISTRICT RINGERS IN DERBYSHIRE

Rochdale Branch ringers enjoyed a day's tour of Derbyshire, arranged by Michael D. Fishwick, of Newhey, on July 29th. Nine towers were available and by 10 o'clock we were at New Mills, where some fairly good ringing was obtained on the pleasant, easygoing eight. At Taxal we enjoyed the lovely six. Half an hour had been allowed for the ringing here, as at the other six-bell towers, and we were on our way again at 11.35 a m., this time to Chapel-in-le-Frith, where we were made very welcome.

After ringing, we had two hours in which to have lunch and arrive at the next tower, where some good ringing was enjoyed. Next came the picturesque village of Eyam, made famous during the Plague, and its lovely old church. The belis were the lightest of the day (tenor 67 cwt .) and just suited to the Newhey ringers ! Courses of St. Clement's and Cambridge Minor were rung. At Great Longstone much amusement was caused by the positioning of the ropes, there being only about six inches between the wall and the ropes on the 4th and 5 th, and not much more on the 2nd, 3rd and 6th. After this we travelled through some beautiful countryside, stopping on the way to eat our packed teas, to the "Cathedral of the Peak" at Tideswell. The lovely bells produced some of the finest ringing of the day, including courses of Double Norwich and Cambridge. The quality of the easy-going six at Baslow was reflected in the ringing. These were undoubtedly the day's favourites with several of the party. The last tower was at Dore, where the best ringing of the day was heard, the highlight being a course of Yorkshire Surprise Major.

After standing the bells, the company began to disperse, but not befare congratulating Michael on the fine job he had made in arranging the outing. The timing had been near perfect and the bells he had chosen had been enjoyed by everyone. Our thanks 80 to all incumbents and local ringers.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

The Church of St. Helen, Pinxton, Derbyshire

Helping a Mining Village to get Ring of Eight

By GORDON A. HALLS

THE initial steps which made it possible for the Derbyshire Association to play such a significant role in the Pinxton project were laid in 1961. In that year the Association launched its Bell Repair Fund Affiliation Scheme. By paying an annual subscription any P.C.C. of a church having a ring of bells could become affiliated to the Association's Bell Repair Fund. At present 85 P.C.C.s within the diocese have joined and their regular contributions when added to the contributions from the ringing members of the Association have swelled the Bell Repair Fund, making it possible to give really worthwhile financial aid to deserving cases.
The second important action was that simultaneously with the launching of the Affiliation Scheme the Association appointed advisers to give technical help and advice to P.C.C.s requesting it. On average these advisers now deal with about seven or eight requests for help per year. About $90 \%$ of cases are dealt with entirely by these advisers. In the remainder additional outside help is sought from either the Central Council Towers and Belfries Committee or from the bellfounders themselves. One of the technical advisers, Mr. G. A. Halls, is also a special adviser to the Bishop's Advisory Committee to the Diocesan Consistory Court. It is in this role that he receives the more unusual requests coming mainly from churches having no bells.

INDESCRIBABLE DETERIORATION

It was one such request that led to an inspection at Pinxton late in 1965 by $G$. Halls and John Morton (then architectural adviser to the Derby Association). The situation that they encountered at Pinxton was an indescribable state of deterioration and neglect that left no room for doubt that the whole of the internal construction of the tower from top to bottom would have to be removed. The timbers were completely riddled with woodworm, death watch beetle and all manner of rot and decay. There were two bells, one cracked completely in two parts. Both bells had almost non-existent fittings.

The advice given was that in any reconstruction work full recognition at the outset should be given to the possibility of installing a ring of bells at some time in the future. This in itself presented problems because the internal dimensions of the tower were $6 \frac{1}{3}$ feet by 12 feet and the height of the tower was 30 feet. However, with early consultation with the bellfounders (Taylors) plans were drawn up for a ring of eight bells installed on two levels. The plans included provision of a lattern roof and blocking up of the louvres for sound control. It also allowed room in the lower part of the tower for a vestry. The whole design is a masterpiece in showing what can be achieved by carefully planning at an early stage to cater for future possibilities. Every credit is due to the architect respon-sible-Mr. Thomas, of Derby.

ENTHUSIASM AND DETERMINATION

Having given their advice and seen it readily accepted, the two Derby Association advisers never expected to see the plans fully implemented within the next three years. However, they were reckoning without the enthusiasm and determination of the Vicar. the Rev. R. L. Gwyther. It was not long before the Derby Association Committee were being called upon to consider making a grant from its Bell Repair Fund towards the cost of installing the ring of bells. The Association, trying in its small way to influence events, offered various amounts from $£ 50$ if a ring of five was installed with a frame for eight up to the full cost of the smallest bell if the full ring was installed. The Southwell Diocesan Guild also made a grant of $£ 25$. It was at this point that the first and only sign of wavering on the part of the Vicar of Pinxton was noted. He and his P.C.C. chose to have just a ring of five. A full account of how these bells have been hung by local labour is given elsewhere in this issue.

Hardly had the five bells been hung in position when Messrs. Taylors, of Loughborough, received the order for the outstanding three bells. This time the Derby Association has been able to play a major role by purchasing the treble bell (£167). The bell itself bears a statement to this effect.
The Association is very proud of the fact that by having its own technical advisers and a substantial Bell Repair Fund it has been able to influence the course of events at Pinxton. It has in some small way been able to steer the determined efforts of the people at Pinxton into achieving something of which they as well as the Derby Association can be truly proud.

OUTINGS  CHAPEL ALLERTON OUTING INTO THE YORKSHIRE DALES

Twelve people made an early start from Chapel Allerton, Leeds, on the morning of Saturday, August 24 th. Our first call was at Pately Bridge at 9 a.m. The Vicar had warned us that we might have some difficulty ringing the bells and we found that some of them needed a lot of pulling. When we drew out of Pateley Bridge we were a party of 15 in four cars. A steep hill led us out of the town on to the mist-covered heather moors. We arrived on time at Kirkby Malzeard. The six bells are twice as heavy as our own at Chapel Allerton but go very easily and were a joy to ring. Here we could be more adventurous with methods and we rang Stedman and Cambridge. We also had an all-ladies band.
Next on the list was Aysgarth (6) We arrived by a very strange route, closing the windows to keep out the undergrowth. We had a packed lunch before ringing and then had to find the key . . . which was very elusive. The home-made saliies are very faded and dusty but perfectly usable.
Askrigg bells were almost the lightest six on the trip but before many touches had come round there were many exhausted ringers in the tower. This is not a ladies' tower at the moment but the new local band have already made an improvement and may yet do more
We separated to go over the moors from Wensleydale into Swaledale. By now the mist had cleared a little and we had lovely if breathtaking views down into the dales. We were late at Richmond after witnessing an accident but were allowed extra time on the lovely eight. We then had to drive quickly down the A.I because our timetable had been disrupted.
Burneston, the sixth tower of the day, was a ground-floor ring. The 5th bell proved to be a nasty surprise to the unprepared but the other bells were better.
We had a salad tea in Bumeston and had to hurry down to Harrogate. Unfortunately we were 20 minutes late and found ourselves locked out, unable to ring. After this we split up, some staying in Harrogate for a meal and the others going home. We were very tired, but the outing had been very satisfactory.

We would like to thank all the people who helped to make this a successful tour, especially the Vicars and others who met and welcomed us. Also thanks to Ron, who arranged the outing.

A DEVON TOUR

In perfect weather conditions another successful tour, organised by Mr. A. L. Bennett, took place on Saturday, August 24th, when East Devon was the venue. Those accompanying him were Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Wheeler and daughter, Messrs. D. R. Mould, G. E. Mudge, J. C. Michelmore, E. J. Cann, P. Perkins, A. W. Myers, M. W. Myers, S. Pierce and A. N. Frost.
Towers visited were Brampford Speke, Poltimore, Whimple, Plymtree, Payhembury, Awliscombe, Kilmington, Musbury and Hawkchurch, the lunch break being at Whimple and the tea interval at Axminster. Most of the standard methods were rung, a great deal of this being tape-recorded. A. L. B.

PINXTON'S FINE EXAMPLE OF "DO IT YOURSELF"

THE vogue for "do it yourself" has iss followers in Church circles, and the Parish of St. Helen, Pinxton, does its best to keep up with current practice.
Pinxton is a small mining village of some 4,000 people on the borders of Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire, and about 14 miles northwest of Nottingham. The church building was begun about A.D. 1150 and the tower built about A.D. 1300. The tower is a squat recrangular edifice, 12 feet by 9 feet, 30 feet high and with a flat roof. Originally it had three bells, but when the present parish priest, the Kev. Ronald L. Gwyther, came to the parish in 1960 there were only two bells in the tower. One, cast about A.D. 1366 by Johannes de Stafford. and cracked completely into two. was hanging very precariously. The other was cast by Thomas Mears in 1803 and was being chimed for services.

OBLIVIOUS OF DANGERS

The quinquennial survey carried out just after Father Gwyther arrived showed that if the chiming had gone on much longer the bell probably would have fallen through the floor In fact the oak bell frame and floors, riddled with death-watch beetle and suffering from both wet and dry rot, had been condemned as dangerous in 1890. However up to September 1960, the bell was chimed each Sunday with priest and choir in the vestry below seemingly oblivious of the danger suspended overhead.
With all the other repairs needed the survey showed that about $£ 8.000$ worth of work was necessary. The bells for a time were a luxury, By 1965 the essential repairs to the church had been largely carried out and in the process the men learned a lot about shurch repairs through "do it yourself."

With this experience and enthuslasm the Church Council began to look into the problem of the tower and repairs to the bells. The Diocesan Advisory Committee was most helpful and sent along its adviser, Mr. G. Halls, of Derby. On his advice the architect. Mr. Thomas, of Derby. consulted with Taylors, of Loughborough. Plans for a frame and eight bells were drawn up and costs estimates obtained. With all the works necessary the architect worked out a figure of just ever £3,000.

PLENTY OF FAITH

At that time there was no money. What money had been raised had been spent on repairs to the church itself. However, the old bells had to come down before they fell down. Some had plenty of faith, and persuaded the parish to apply for a faculty to take out the old bells and to implement the plan to erect the new ring of eight bells. The Chancellor must have had plenty of faith also. for the faculty was granted.
So a few men and the young servers hegan to clear out the tower. They began by taking out about two tons of bird droppings and ended with the removal of an old chimney stack inside the tower. One significant landmark occurred on the night four brave men took down the two old bells and thus allowed the choir to assemble in the vestry below in safety.
The bells and some of the hell frame were put on display in the Church Hall. Old choristers blanched when they saw what had been hanging over their heads. Interest rose. and it was decided to send out an appeal to every household in the village. The result was most satisfactory and an order for five of the eight bells was soon placed.

PUTTING A NEW BELL IN THE TOWER

GIFT OF NEW BELL FRAME

Lots of people were now beginning to help. The Derby and Southwell Bell Ringers Associations gave generously. The milkman took the old bells down to Loughborough on his milk Hoat for recasting. The owner of the local steel-fabricating plant ordered his men to make the bell trame and then sent it to Loughborough. Other men began to prepare the tower and dig the holes in the tower walls for the new bell frame and floors. The stone blocks of which the tower is constructed were terribly hard. and an ordinary hammer and chisel had little effect. Fortunately a firm nearby lent a compressor and drills and a wonderful Irish operator. By Palm Sunday Eve, 1967, the work was in full swing.
Slowly the work progressed. Most of it could only be done on Saturdays. Men who worked hard all week now found themselves working even harder on their day off. digging holes in stonework, hauling up great steel beams of the new bell frame. Clerks accustomed to pushing pens all week now found themselves pushing about great hlocks of old limber and new steel work. They went to church on Sunday offering up bruises and blood histers. Women who came into church were likely to find themselves presented with dusters and mops and then working for hours to make the church clean for Sunday services. The congregations sutfered minor inconveniences, but nobody complained-members just picked up dusters and cleaned their seats.

HORRIFYING EXPERIENCES

The work had its moments, such as when a heam swung out of control and the parish nearly had to get a new priest. One man, helping to dismantle a floor, stood his crowbar upright on the main floor beam and was horrified to see it plunge through the rotten wood into the vestry below. He got down and did not come up again until the new steel joists were in position.

The old flat roof, which had to be replaced, was left as long as possible but it had to come off to allow the new bells to be lowered into the tower from above. The main beam supporting the old roof had been used throughout the operations to carry the block and tackle, and all the new stecl bell frame had been hauled up on this. When it came to dismantling the old roof and dislodging this beam, men went white. It had been a case of "where ignorance is bliss," etc., for two of the men stood on the new bell frame and just lifted up the beam and threw it over the side.
The frame had been set in position by local fitters who, to their great satisfaction, got it to well within $1-5,000$ h of an inch. Mr. $P$ Taylor, of the Bell Foundry, like many other people, had been rather dubious of the claim to "do it ourselves." The excellence of the bell frame and the competence of the fitters convinced him otherwise. So much so that in his estimate for the final three bells he allowed just for the casting and tuning of the bells. stating in his letter that the men of Pinxton would do the rest. Finally a great crane, lent anonymously, arrived one day, and the new bells were put into their places.

SPIRITUAL VALUE
It has been a marvellous experience, and the parish is now on the point of dedicating and installing the final three bells to complete the ring. The work throughout has been of a very high standard-it had to be passed both by the architect and Mr. Taylor. The "do it yourself" attitude has saved us well over $£ 1,000$, but that is small compared to what has been achieved on the spiritual side.
It has brought people to church, people who know they are wanted-men and women who are being prepared for Confirmation now. It has given the parish a sense of confidence that it can tackle big works and bring them to a satisfactory conclusion.
It is easy to pass disparaging remarks about bells in Pinxton and the starving millions outside. God can be glorified in Pinxton through the offering of time and work and money and effort. People have to gain confidence, feel that they are needed, and then they can go out to do even greater work for God.

REMEMBERING THOSE OF 250 YEARS AGO

Mr. Bevan Wilgress abandoned at short notici the making of a concrete path in his garden to take part in the memorial peal of Grandsire Triples for Mr. A. C. Haines at Hingham, Norfolk.

The ringers also remembered "James Brook, John Briggs, William Palmer, Robert Crane, Henery Howard, Wm. Callow, Tho. Melchior, Tho. Barrett," who rang John Garthon's composition at Mancroft just 250 years ago. They also noted the splendid work which Mr. Jack Elliot has done in the belfry in maintaining bells and fittings in perfect condition and cleanliness.

WONDERFUL ACHIEVEMENT IN 12-BELL RINGING

Peal of 40 Surprise Maximus Methods at Liverpool Cathedral

$\mathrm{O}^{\mathrm{N}}$ the heavy bells of Liverpool Cathedral on August 17 th a peal of historical significance was rung- 5,040 spliced Surprise Maximus in 40 methods.

Such a meritorious performance is not only a new record for spliced Maximus ringing, but is crowned by having been rung on the heaviest bells in the country.

We are sure that many will re-echo the congratulations of Mr. J. L. Millhouse that appeared in our last issue.

Unquestionably, this is the finest achievement in 12-bell ringing ever accomplished and the Lancashire Association can record with pride a feat that will go down in the annals of 12 -bell ringing.

CONDUCTOR'S COMMENTS

The peal at Liverpool Cathedral on August 17th raises the record for Spliced Surprise Maximus from 35 to 40 methods. A feature of particular note. and pleasure to the participants, is that the peal was achieved by a band consisting entirely of ringers trained in Lancashire and Cheshire. The conductor wishes to thank Mr. J. Ridyard for the privilege of using the Cathedral bells, Mr. Shirley Burton for his assistance in obtaining new methods, and also those ringers from the Manchester area who helped in the preparations for this peal.

Would anyone keeping records of compositions please note that the composition of 35 methods rung at Leicester in September last year appears incorrectly in the 1967 Lancashire Association Report. The leads Redfield and Brigstow should be juxtaposed to obtain the composition as actually rung, although its truth is not affected in either form.

NEIL BENNET:

FINDING NEW BAND FOR PINXTON'S NEW BELLS

THE restoration of the tower and the plan to install a ring of bells at St. Helen's, Pinxton created a lot of enthusiasm in this small Derbyshire mining village on the borders of Nottinghamshire. Whilst the work was going on, the Rector, Father Gwyther, collected a few people together who were willing to learn to ring. Mr. Les Rawson, of Selston. was asked to provide tuition and he readily agreed. Almost at the same time a young man. new to the village, who claimed to have learned to ring in London, came forward with an offer to help. The offer was accepied and he was left to get on with organising and training the new band. Unhappily the young man's abilities as a ringer and as a leader did nol match up to what was required and interest and determination flagged. The band, such as it was, broke up.

The prospect of the bells being installed in the tower without a band of ringers to ring them was the cause of dismay among the "do it yourself gang of bellhangers." of whom Bryan Jones was one. The gang had expected to have a ready-made band of ringers to take over as soon as their work was finished. Bryan was doubly concerned because some weeks earlier the regulars in the Horse Shoes had jibed him as to whether the bells would ever ring. Bryan, being rather more full of drink than wisdom. had retorted that the bells would be ringing on July 15th-Carnival Day-when the procession went round the village. Much midnight oil had to be burned but with one day in hand Mr. Paul Taylor inspected the work, lest-rang the bells and gave the O.K.

On Carnival Day everyone concerned with the work of installing the bells was well satisfield with the result, as the Selston band rang them for the first time. During the Carnival celebrations the conversation turned naturally towards bellringing and the lack of ringers at Pinxton. There were several suggestions. One was that those who had hung the bells should now ring them. Bryan's opinion was that he had done his bit and that it was now up to someone else. It was at this point that his friend Dennis dropped a bombshell: "I was going to tell vou; I have been talking to the Rector about this ringing lark and I've volunteered that you and 1 will learn." Bryan's reply was short. sharp and unprintable. However, after a few more carnival celebration beers, bought by Dennis, Bryan found the idea more appealing and by the end of the evening was even looking forward to his first lesson
Some weeks passed before anything more happened: holidays interrupted organised activity. Early in September Father Gwyther made a fresh effort and decided to learn himself. There would now be about seven people wanting to learn to ring. Once again a Pinxton band went to Selston; this time progress was more positive and after a few weeks the learners were capable of ringing rounds and call changes. Following Mr. Rawson's advice, the band started to ring on their own bells at Pinxton, practising what they had learned at Selston. For some time the striking was erratic and even non-existent. Several stays were despatched-largely due to the lightness and quickness of the new ring (tenor five cwt.).

With the exception of weddings the new bells had not been rung for service. By October there was sufficient confidence to make the first attempt, so on Sunday, Oct. 15th. 1967, the bells were rung for Evensong for the first time by the local hand. The band now ring regularly for service and they have started to train their own recruits. The strength of the band is now twelve, with the majority in the 11 to 15 age group.

The amount of time spent in teaching learners has slowed down the rate of progress in change ringing, nevertheless three of the band are learning Bob Doubles and two others can plain hunt the treble. If progress continues at the present rate it should be possible to ring Bob Doubles before too long.

This, then, was the beginning of the Pinxton band. They would like to thank publicly all those ringers who have helped and encouraged them so far, particularly Les Rawson, Cyril Jacques, Fred Ball, Gornet Noon. Stanley Harpham, Don Hutchinson and Stephen Marshall of the Selston band.

REV. A. T. STEPHENS

The death occurred at Bournemouth on August 23rd of the Rev. Arthur Treeve Stephens in his 84th year. He was Rector of Shepton Beauchamp. Somerset, from 1945 until his retirement in 1963.
Although not a ringer, he took a keen interest after coming to Somerset and was chairman of the Crewkerne Branch from 1948 until 1961. In appreciation of his devoted and faithful service he was made a vice-president of the Bath and Wells Association in 1962.
He was laid to rest at Shepton Beauchamp on August 26th. In the evening a halfmuffled quarter peal was rung in his memory

R. L. HAWKSWORTH

Roger Lovatt Hawksworth was associated with Brewood Church all his life and became a ringer there under the direction of John Perry in the middle ' 30 's. His work as a farmer restricted his peal activities but he had rung about 75 , chiefly for the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford. His first, on June 18th. 1938, was Grandsire Triples at Pattingham. His last was Grandsire Caters at St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent. The one of which he was most proud was a peal of Grandsire Triples by a local band, which he conducted. Outside of farming his main interest was his church with its magnificent ring of eight. He served on the P.C.C. and was a member of the choir. His unassuming but pleasant manner endeared him to all his associates, and the number of regular performing local ringers is evidence of his untiring efforts in the tower.

His funeral was on August 28th, the service heing conducted by the Rev. R. Schottelvig and attended by numerous parishioners and friends. The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the service and a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung later in the day. K.

UNTIL the year 1936 the Master's badge of office was quite a small affair, not originally designed for the purpose. In 1837, at the time of the Society's bicentenary, the Master was Richard Mills. The Society at that time was at a low ebb and, in an endeavour to improve matters, he offered a silver medal to each of the band who should ring peals of Oxford Treble Bob Major, Royal and Maximus.
The first set of these medals was won by a band who rang a peal of Oxford Major at Newington in 1840. James Mash was one of the band, and his son, George, afterwards presented his father's medal to the Society. It was this medal which was used as the Master's badge, and is now worn by the Immediate Past Master. On the obverse, surrounding a bell, are the words "Campanalogia. R. Mills, Master, 1837 ," and on the reverse "Society of College Youths. Established A.D. 1637." Details of the peal are also engraved on it. A similar medal, won by J. R. Haworth in 1841 for a peal of Oxford Royal, is also in the possession of the Society. Both these medals are approximately two inches in diameter.

THE MASTER'S BADGE

The present Master's badge of office was designed by E. A. Young and presented by past officers in 1936 to commemorate the forthcoming tercentenary of the Society. At the ends of the ribbon are six coats of arms, those of Lord Brereton (the Society's first Master), St. Paul's Cathedral, Sir Richard Whittington, the City of London, Southwark Cathedral, and Sir Henry Tulse (Lord Mayor of London and Master of the Society in 1684). Beneath these on either side are reproductions of the Society's mace. The main part of the badge is surmounted by a reproduction of the "Muse of Campanology" from the membership certificate, under which is a production of the old Master's badge, flanked by men wearing typical dresses of 1637 and 1937. The inscriptions on the badge read "Ancient Society of College Youths, 1637-1937," and "Vivamus unanimiter. Sit perpetuum."
At the Society's business meetings the Master uses a gavel with a head carved in the shape of a bell inscribed ". Junior Society of College Youths, 1820." This Junior Society was founded in 1820 to supplement the work of the older Society. It survived until 1839. It is the custom at these business meetings to pass round what is known as the "Pence Box," by means of which members contribute to the Society's Benevolent Fund. The box normally used is a small one in light oak, but the Society also has a much larger one, carved from solid oak, with bell-shaped decorations on its lid and sides. This was made by Thomas Hussey, a ringer at Hughenden, Bucks. When Hughenden Church was restored in 1875 it was decided to augment the then existing ring of four bells to six, and Thomas Hussey made the box out of wood from the original bell frame to collect money to do this. Although he was not a College Youth he was always keenly interested in the Society, and when he was forced to give up ringing, in 1882, he presented the box to the College Youths.

THE MASTER'S CHAIN OF OFFICE

BUST OF W. T. COCKERILL
Nearly all the items of property I have so far described are kept in the bookcase which stands in the centre of the ringing room at St. Paul's. On top of this bookcase is a plaque with the following inscription: "The bust of W. T. Cockerill, made by Muriel Hiley, exhibited in the Royal Academy in 1929 and presented to the Ancient Society of College Youths by E. A. Young, was placed in this Tower by permission of the Dean and Chapter in 1938. In the same year, in his memory, W. S. B. Northover of Bridport, made and gave to the Society this bookcase." The bust referred to will be familiar to all who have rung at St. Paul's It stands at the exact height of W. T. Cockerill, and on the pedestal is recorded that he was conductor of the St. Paul's band from 1911 to 1938. and secretary of the A.S.C.Y. from 1892 to 1937.

In the bookcase just mentioned. besides several books. manuscripts and other documents, are also kept a stainless steel tray presented to the Society by J. E. Lewis Cockey in 1936 in appreciation of the assistance in ringing he had received from various members, and some gramophone records of historic interest. These are of half-muffled ringing at St. Paul's Cathedral on Armistice Day, 1927 (Stedman Cinques-a poor recording) and two test records of handbell ringing-three leads of Kent Treble Bob Major, and a bob course of Stedman Triples, rung in 1928 by C. F. Winney, H. R. Pasmore. H. Langdon and W. T. Cockerill (some first-class ringing on a light set of handbells).

INCOME TAX AND WEDDING FEES
Dear Sir-.. My attention was arawn to a lady in Surrey who recorded her wedding tees on her Income Tax return." This is what our Editor said in a tootnote to a letter published in "The Ringing World" of July 19 th. Whether this was with tongue in cheek or not 1 do not know. 1 recall this because only last week my accountunt rather surprised me when he wanted details of income from this source for Income Tax purposes, This could well serve as a caution to other ringers, especially to tower captains or their secretaries who receive the money for distribution either to keep a record of its distribution, as the Vicar no doubt has to. or to keep no record at all and not to talk about it to non-ringers, as 1 think this is the way my accountant got his information. You will be pleased to know. however. that owing to the nature of my work my income from wedding fees was nil.
In passing, 1 know of one church where £100 is quite often spent on flowers for the day and therefore charges a guinca a rope for the bells-or should I not have said this lest the Income Tax man hears?-Yours sincerelv.

ALAN A. J. BLSWELL.

WEDDING FEES

Dear Sir,-May another G. Robinson answer the letter of his namesake in "The Ringing World " of July 19th? My experience has been that when a regular church member is married the ringers take the trouble to find out when the service is taking place so that they may join in the celebration and that they give their services freely as a wedding present.
I should not keep my ringers long if I informed them that their services were required at such and such a time for the wedding of someone who never entered the church at all -whether it were "for an hour or so" or even live minutes on a Saturday afternoons. lias Mr. Robinson ever in his search for molives asked why such folk really want the bells or whether the occasion is a proper one for their use at all:

No one clse is expected to give his services free or for the benctit of church fuads at is wedding-why should ringers? i's is quise inadequate, anyway.-Yours faithtully.

KEEPING " DOVE'S " LP TO DATE:

Dear Sir,-We have just seen a new copy of "Dove's" and a discussion ensued: we have come up with the following suggestion. All changes of practice nights, augmentations. etc.. should be notified to Mr. Dove and the whole published at three- or six-month intervals in ". The Ringing World." We have been caught by changes of practice aights which have heen notified in " The Ringing World " and which have not been altered in our copies of Dove" at the time. We are sure Mr. Dove keeps his copy amended. Could we ask that he should help ringers in this way-by keeping and sending regularly for publication a list of amendments.

Could we further suggest that the next edition includes the postal town of each tower where this is different from the name of the tower listed.-Yours faithfully,

AMBIGUITY OVER RECORD PEALS

Dear Sir,-Almost every issue of * The Ringing horid: this sear has included some relesence to the ruies of the Central Council. A common factor has been ambiguity. $F$. Price, asked tor " claritication and mocernisation " (page 59) ; B. J. Woodrulte asked for points to be clarified" in a two-column letter (page 103) and suggested that similar rules should be introducea for multi-spliced peals: " Anon." (page 598) extended this idea to include the calling of intricate compositions. The significance of the 6,720 has been esplained, but not very well. We still do not know if it is necessary to publish the composition beforehand-presumably it is unnecessary because of the way in which the peals of Glasgow have heen accepted. Yes-clariticitoon is required but I suppose we shatl have to watt for the next social week-end. The taugle of Doubles methodsivariations which has developed since it was possible to ring 220 methods, variations his become far too technical for the average ringer to understand

Let us turn to the 13,140 Kent Treble Boh Maximas (Cam variation). 1 am afraid that Mr. Blagrove is almost fifty years too late in telling us that the Cam/Granta/Gonville variations are really spliced. These were introduced by the James brothers and rung, mainly on handbells. by the Cambridge University Guild in the early twenties and were first referred to as " cut variations. Peals have been published as Kent T.B. (Cam variation) ever since. 1 also believe that peals have occasionally appeared as Granta Treble Bob in the Notunghame area in the past. There is no reason to change now, hut it is interesting to note that a peal of Cam rung by a Lincolnshire band on April 26th. 1968. was puhlished as spliced in two methods. When Treble Bob was first in. troduced Oxford and Kent were called variatrons and perhaps this was the reason for the Central Council Decision to which C. Wratten reters on page 652 (Kent and Oxtord half-lead spliced). Before the peal attempt began it was jokingly suggested that we were in fact attempting a peal of spliced. I am sure that none in the band would wish to establish a record length of Spliced Maximus in two such simple methods as Mr. Blagrove expects us to. I cannot agree that two types of bob were used. 1-4 was made with the treble leading at each bob-not like Mr. Blagrove's extents of Bob Minor with "two types of bob" (F. T. B., page 240). Yet another example of Mr. Blagrove's "whizziddery" which is good enough lor himself but not for others.
It would appear that Mr. Blagrove is gunning for our long peal, but 1 am assured by another member of the Central Council that this is not so. There was nothing wrong with the tone of B. J. Woodruffe's letter (page 6061) -he just asked why the peal of Pudsey had heen acceptea (The conductor still has not " found" the composition.) It appeared that there was no proof that the peal had been rung or if the composition was truc. We all want to see the matter of long length tinging sorted out but there are more important issues involved than the precise way in which the 13,140 Maximus was published. The rules must be clarified, punctuated correctly and all ambiguity removed so that there will be no need to introduce two categories-progressive lengths and record lengths proper-and the possible anomally of the former being longer than the latter will not arise again.-Yours faithfully,

ALAN F. SCHOLFIELD.

HEREFORD CATHEDRAL WEST FRONT

Dear Sir.-1 would like to stress the reasons why the west front of Hereford Cathedral Was rebuilt by John Olrid Scott for A. W: Davis of Reading and clear up the many notes which have been written.

1 hive been doing research on the Scoll family of architects for three yeurs years now and I have so far been able to discover the following information.
On Easter Monday, 1786. the west front of the Cathedral collapsed and the Dean and Chapter asked Jamen Wyatt to restore the huilding. He was perhaps a little more successful in his vandalism at Hereford than that at Salisbury and Durham. Wyat altered the whole proportion of the building by shortening the nave by 15 feet and erecting a new wesi cond in his own particular Gothic style. His most flagrant action was the removal of all the Norman work in the nave above the arcading and substituting a design of his own. To complete his " more restrained compositions." be pulled down the old campanile, rearranged the monuments and put plaster mouldings on to the arcade arches.

The mock-Gothic was a disgrace to the once noble Cathedral and at the turn of the century Dean Leigh managed to raise some $\mathbf{t} 16.000$ for the removal of Wyatt's west front. The work was carried out between 1904 and 1908 by John Olrid Scott, and perhaps the only lamentable thing was that Scott used Hollington red stone instead of local stone.
Wyatt's design is in no way worthy of merit but it must be stressed that he did patch up the west end and so preserve the Cathedral. I can, though. find no grounds to appraise his work for I find it hard to appreciate that 18 th century mock-Gothic is finer than original Norman work.-Yours faithfully,

Clayhall, Ilford.

ST. EDWARD'S SCHOOL, OXFORD

Dear Sir. -Three-bell enthusiasts and others may like to amend their copies of "Doves" to the effect that only two, and not three, of the bells at St. Edward's School. Oxford, are hung for ringing. . The Church Bells of Oxfordshire" contains a similar error.

The bells were all cast by Taylor in 1879 and. excluding the sanctus, their notes are. rather curiously, $F$, $E$ flat, $C$ and $F$. The lighter pair are hung for ringing and are fully ringable: the heavier pair are hung "dead" ringable: the heavier pair are h and evidently always have been.

Incidentally, the bells of St. Michael's, Oxford. and Waterstock, both listed in the Guild's report as unringable, are both quite definitely hung "dead." Many Oxford ringers seem to be under the illusion that St. Michael's bells are still hung for ringing, al. though this ceased to be the case when the present framework and chiming fittings were installed in 1898. Waterstock bells, unlike St. Michael's. have never been hung for ringing: they were cast and liung as a chime by Gillett in 1888.-Yours faithfullv.
Twickenham. CHRISTOPHER DALTON.

REVIEW

A BDOK YOU

DISCOVERING Bells and Bellringing, a paperback of Shire Publications series, will, we are sure, delight the Exercise. John Camp, the author, writes in a delightful fashion and with a pretty touch of humour; we are certain that the young enthusiasts in our ranks will regard it as a book to be read at a sitting!
Bellringing arouses curiosity among the public and inis book reveals much that the nonpractising lover of bells wants to know, as technicallities are reduced to a minimum. The historical background tells how the change irom the quarter- and half-wheel to the wholewheel and the introduction of the slider and stay paved the way for a rapid advance in the art of ringing changes. In dodging and hunting, the author emphasises a cardinal rule of ringing that is so taken for granted that beginners are rarely told of it-" that a bell can only change places with the bell that is ringing next to it, i.e. either before it or after it.'

BELFRY REFORM

The chapter headed "Ringers v. Clergy " is a useful addition to those searching for conditions prevailing in England 100 years ago. Beer was the normal drink of most people in those days, when the water supply was anything but safe and tea and coffee were only for the well-to-do. An example is quoted from the accounts of a Lancashire parish:- Spent on ourselves when we met at the Abbey Arms to decide how much to give to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel."

A deep rift had developed between the ringers and clergy and this found expression at High

WILL ENJOY

Wycombe in 1832, when the bells were rung to celebrate the passing of the Reform Bill. But a few days later, on the occasion of the annual visit of the Bishop of Lincoln, the ringers refused to turn out and the bells remaned silent, the reason being his Lordship had voted against the bill in the House of Lords !
Few of the present generation realise that much of the reform was due to the Oxtord Movement of John Henry Newman and Keble and the Cambridge Camden Society. The latter body, under the name of The Ecclesiological Society, sent representatives round the country talking to the ringers about their problems. They encouraged the appointment of tower captains not only to decide what was to be rung but also to be responsible for the general conduct of the ringers. Advice was given on the formation of rules, which not only imposed penalties for bad ringing hut also for bad behaviour. "The Ecclesiologist," the journal of the Camden Society, printed an article by a country curate on the best method of dealing with "an ungodly set of ringers."
At the same time came improvement in bells: rehanging them with ball bearings, and iron frames had taken the place of the old oak frames. Then came ladies in the belfry and the eventual formation of the Ladies' Guild. gladly welcomed by some:-

Like a breath of summer laden,
Like a cheery ray of hope.
Is the sight of gentle maiden
Deftly handling of a rope.

RELATIONS WIIII CLERGY

We hope that none of our clergy will tuke to heart the necessity of the clergy bridging the gap between the other servants of the Church and those in the belfry. Instead of feel they are performing an essential service for the Church, some cleries completely ignore the ringers, never visit the ringing chamber and are otten woefully ignorant which of their congregation are in the band." Perhaps our president and other members of the Clerical Guild will take this general condemnation to heart and explore the means of creatine a better understanding among the cloth, amplifying the work being attempted in the training colleges.
Under the heading of "Mishans and Dangers" the author has some useful observations to make about accidents in the belfry-which. happily, are comparatively, rare. The mosi common type of mishap is letting a novice practise on a heavy hell before full control has been obtained. There is a responsibility on the tower captain or ringer in charge that belfry doors are locked and a clearly-printed notice displayed if the bells are left "up."
The author concludes, with a final reminder to all who participate in. ringing-"Don't let your enthusiasm blind you to the fact that you are ringing for the Church-and for the Glorv of God. Having this always in mind will ensure that you derive the maximum satisfaction from a hobby that is comparatively unusual. yet very much part of the fabric of English history.'
The book is illustrated with eight pages of useful photographs and various diagrams. "Discovering Bells and Bellringing" is obtainable from Shire Publications. Gubblecote, Cross, Tring, Herts, and is stocked by Heffer's Bookshop. 3-4. Petty Cury, Cambridge, price 5s. including postage.

PETER LAFLIN

A Trihute.

Born in the then quiet village of Stoke-byNayland in the south-eastern corner of Suffolk justly famed as the Constable country, Peter Laflin imbibed the beauty of that area, thus developing a keen eye for the loveliness of scenery and sounds which remained with him for the rest of his life. A few years after his birth the family moved to Debenham and he eventually joined the church choir and later on he learned to ring.

On leaving school Peter became apprenticed 10 a firm of builders and his technical abilities were of great use in keeping the old ring in good order; at that time the frame rested on oak pillars sunk into the ground floor, and the frame was kept rigid by wedges driven between it and the walls of the tower.

In course of time his ringing abilities were noticed by James Motts, then conductor at Si. Mary-le-Tower, who thought highly of his back-end abilities and encouraged him in that direction: in those days the peals were somewhat slower than today, and Peter had to put his brakes on to suit the older men he was ringing with.

On August 2nd. 1914, we rang our first peal of Maximus, but it was five years before we met again. He served in the Royal Engineers during the First War.

In August, 1919. he emigrated to Canada and for the next seven years lived in Torontosix of the winters there he was unemployed. Une evening, when cycling home from work, Peter met is car head-on and took flight over it. spreading himself on the road and badly marking his face. That evening was his tirst date with Annie, who eventually became his wife. His second summer was spent in bulding a licruse, timber-framed on brick and concrete foundations and floors of hard wood. principally maple. It was in this house that Peter and Annic lived during their stay in Canada.

Peter had a very pleasing tenor voice, which gained him admission to a choral socicty. It was the custom to combine the choral societies of the city into one and give recitals of the great works of Haydn. Handel and others.

But as idle winters were becoming hard to bear, Peter's thoughts turned towards hone and in May, 1926, they returned and took up residence in Manchester: he obtained employment in the Electricity Department of the Corporation, living for a time at Blakeley and later moving to Stockport, where he resided for the rest of his life.

Here he joined St. George's, Heaviley, becoming towerkeeper and, later on. librarian of the Beeston library, for which he made a very fine bookcase. He also did much work in the church and for its many activities, for he was a dedicated servant of his church.
All progressions have their occasional set-deep, but the arrival of grandchildren softened the blow and Peter, as is the wont of grandparents, could see himself in some of them. and it was a great joy for him to relate some of their incidents into at least one pair of willing ears.
His ringing was probably the great joy of his life, and heing a member of the justly famed Cheshire band was the ultimate of his ringing life.
When retirement came Peter was ready for it and could give more time to his woodturning, home wine-making and fishing.

Those of us who enjoyed his friendship are left with many precious memories and we can rejoice that his knowledge of men and matters rendered his conversation so interesting and fascinating, covering as it did a period of over 60 years.

We hope that in the Shades he may meet and commune with the great ones of the past. the Haydns and Handels. the Wrens and Vanbrughs, the Annables and Haleys, and perhaps our own greatly-loved John Worth.

LANCASHIRE PEAL WEEK'S 75 per cent SUCCESS

T
THIS year's tour of Lancashire (August 11th to 18 th inclusive), organised by Dave Bennett and Geoff Fothergill, centred mainly on towers in or around the Bolton and Wigan Branches of the Association and resulted in 75 per cent. success- 10 peals from 15 attempts. A striking feature-and one which distinguished this tour from last year's, from which, I think, only two participants remained -was the variety of the bands and the number of ringers who took part, although this did, at times, lead to some confusion. Five ringers shared the conducting as follows: Keith J. Walpole (4), Geoffrey Fothergill (3), James E. Andrews, John Asheroft and Richard Stevens.

An adventurous start to the week paid dividends when a good peal of Dorchester was scored on the Sunday at Farnworth. Monday saw a peal in six Minor methods successfully accomplished under Keith's guidance at Halsall, but the first failure of the week came at Walkden, when an evening attempt for Aldenham came to grief after only half an hour. As one of the band put it, "we never got off the ground."
On Tuesday morning Jim Andrews joined the party at Parbold, tresh from a holiday in Germany, and, amidst calls of "lazy" and threats to make him ring Leigh tenor next day, conducted a reasonable, if rather sluggish, peal of Plain Bob from the treble. Owing to their Tuesday practice, the Westhoughton contingent were prevented from ringing in the evening but, nevertheless, a peal of Kent T.B. Major was attempted at St. Helens, where, unfortunately, the ringing was not up to standard and the bells were set up after an hour and a half.

A GOOD, FAST PEAL

Undaunted by the previous failure, GcolI chose to ring Aldenham at Leigh and bullied Jim into ringing the tenor (the previous day's threats were not idle ones!). In spite of this however, a good, fast peal was brought round without a hitch in 2 hours and 48 minutes. The expression on David Makin-Taylor's face showed his obvious delight at ringing a peal in his home tower, whilst that of the tenor man was one of despair on realising that he had to recuperate in less than two hours to ring in the evening peal at Deane. Here there was some confusion in that one of the Westhoughon ringers did not arrive, but we were very grateful to Roy Jolley (also from the "Metropolis") who stood in at very short notice, enabling us to ring Bristol for an hour before some hesitation resulted in a late call and the prompter called "Stand!" It was decided, however, to try a fast peal of Grandsire, with Jack Ashcroft again at the helm, and this was duly accomplished in 2 hours and 25 minutes, probably the fastest peal on the bells, although, at the conductor's request, it was not claimed as such.
Judging from the yawning faces at Standish on Thursday morning, some of us had suffered a "hard day's night," but after bandaging operations had been completed and Keith Lister's tin of Elastoplast had again been put to good use, an average peal of Yorkshire was rung after a shaky start. Two attempts were arranged for the evening: John P. Partington joined us at Hindley, and Painswick was scored, but the other attempt, Cambridge at Southport, was struck by ill fateDave's mad mechanical monster, which he affectionately calls his car, broke down en route.

SPECTATOR'S SANDWICHES

The choice of Swinton as the venue for Friday morning's attempt at Cambriage was perhaps unwise, as the bells are a heavy inough good-toned eight and require a good deal of hard work. To make matters worse one of the young local ringers, who had unlocked the tower for us, insisted on watching the peal all the way through, and it was most disconcerting when, after threc-quarters of an hour, she produced a pile of sandwiches and started munching happily. However, after an hour's very unsettled ringing, Keith called "Stand," much to everyone's relief. Jim's earlier idea to have a peal at Horwich in the afternoon was no longer a lost cause, and frantic preparations were made to raise a band, Albert Greenhalgh kindly stepping in at the last minute. The elusive peal of Cambridge was finally scored on the musical if rather oddstruck bells, and special mention should, I think, be made of David Makin-Taylor, who, despite the fact that he had never rung a touch of Cambridge " inside" and also had a difficult rope to contend with, rang consistently well throughout.
Saturday's arrangement for a peal of Stedman Caters at Worsley resulted in a good peal of Cambridge Major, and the following day, whilst an almost certain peal of Christ Church Surprise Major at Accrington was brought to an abrupt end after two hours, by a broken rope, Double Norwich was successful at New. ton-le-Willows
Thus ends the saga of a most enjoyable and, on the whole, successful week, for which we would like to give special thanks to our or-ganisers-in-chief, David Bennett and Geoffrey Fothergill, and, of course, to all incumbents and local ringers for their co-operation.
J. E. A.

Between Matins and Evensong

PRITTLEWELL RINGERS and Thorpe Bay Campanologists met at cricket between services on Sunday, August 18 th. Of the 38 Prittlewell ringers at practice, 18 rang for Matins. Thorpe Bay were at a disadvantage, as only six rang for the morning service. Conditions of play were that each side should bat for an hour and a quarter with a brief interval in between so that the proceedings ended at 5.15 D.m. in order to ring for Evensong.

Prittlewell batted first and Thorpe Bay's demon bowlers had three batsmen back in the pavilion for three runs. The organiser of the event, a keen cricketer, then came to the crease and took the sting out of the bowling; indeed Jerry Bawn and David Sloman put on 59 for their partnership and the final score was 75. The best of the bowlers was the one in the yellow shirt!

Because of ominous dark clouds there was no interval. Thorpe Bay made a disastrous start, losing five wickets for five runs. An S.O.S. resulted in the scorer putting on the pads and the Prittlewell field was soon in the bunt for the ball. Although he once fell on his wicket in his delight at hitting the ball, this was deemed not out by the umpires. A crafty ball had him caught near the wicket and Thorpe Bay were all out for 44.
With an innings victory in prospect, Thorpe Bay were again at the wicket. Soon the Campanologists were in trouble and again the scorer had to give up his pen for the bat. Dogged batting followed and with only three minutes left on the clock the last Campanologist was out.

Thorpe Bay in the two Innings had made 74. It was then found that the scorer had mide mistake in the Pritticwell total by adding a run when two batsmen changed over when one was caught. So this made the scores level and the game was officially drawn. It is now assumed that the organiser (the keen cricketer) wil! again have his lads and lasses practising on Monday evenings before ringing practice.--"The Ringing World" Special Correspondent.

A SUMMER SATURDAY IN DEVON

Three ringers from Somerset and Bristol set out for a peal attempt at Buckfast on a recent Saturday. Now six hours for the 100 or so miles from Bristol would seem reasonablehut not on a West Country summer Saturday! Bridgwater was almost impassable, but only a fool would try the A38!

Although fair time was made "across the hills" to Tiverton, it then seemed that all the motorists in the area had "taken to the lanes" to avoid Exeter-and these lanes are in general only wide enough for one vehicle! After much "backing up" and encounters with one calf on the road. a large milk lorry and a car stuck on a hill with a burntoout clutch, they only made Moretonhampstead, 20 painful miles short, by the appointed starting time. The nearest they got to hearing bells was over the phone to the Abbey!

Since it look nearly as long to retrace their steps, they had to suffer 12 hours on the road without so much as ringing a bell, meeting a ringer, or even having a pint for their pains.

Albert Tyler, Brian Wylde and Pat Bird would like to apologise to those unknown and unseen ringers who waited in vain at Buckfast and hope they scored an alternative attempt. Their advice to all and sundry is-if you want to attempt a peal in Devon on a summer Saturday, cither travel mid-week or don't' bother!

BELFRY GOSSIP

London ringers and others are reminded that tickets are necessary for the dedication of the bells of St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, on October 5th. Particulars are advertised.

Recent peals of Stedman and Cambridge within a fortnight have enabled Mr. J. Brain, of West Town, near Bristol, to complete the " family " in each method.
Mr. Herbert Hardwidge has completed his half-century as a ringer. He took part in a congratulatory peal of Stedman Doubles at Compton Bishop, Somerset, on August 10th.

Mr. F. E. Collins, former Master of the College Youths, rang his first quarter of Grandsire Doubles at Stourpaine, Dorset, on August 21st.

Two Penarth ringers-Elizabeth Jacklin and David Hobert-rang their first quarter at first attempt at Sully. They rang extremely well, reports our correspondent.

The Editor thanks Michael Haighton, of Nantwich, for the story of his visit to Littleborough tower on St. Bartholomew's Day and hopes that his wish for a light six in place of a solitary bell will materialise.

Owing to the indisposition of one of the band, a quarter peal of Bob Doubles was rung at Bloficid, Norfolk, as a wedding compliment to two local ringers. A peal of Minor is to be attempted next month.

Geoffrey F. Durrant (aged 12), rang the treble to a peal of Plain Bob Major at Hawkley on August 17 h , this being his first peal at the first attempt. A very praiseworthy achievement not only on account of his age but in view of the fact that he only learned in ring 12 months ago, and this at a four-bell tower at Aldwick, Suscex.

CRANFORD'S 25 YEARS OF HAPPINESS

As will be seen in the peal columns, a peal of Bob Minor was rung at Cranford on August 18 th to mark the 25th anniversary of the first peal on the bells. The ringers wished to dedicate this in memory of the Rev. Maurice Child, who was Rector here and gave permission for the first peal.

It was at his express uish that it should be rung on a Sunday for the Feast of the Assumption B.V.M.; a full peal before Evensong he felt was a most appropriate honour. He is regarded by those who remember him well as the founder of the Cranford ringing band with its happy associations with so many ringers. How pleased he would have been to know that in the anniversary peal three of his young ringers took part and that the effort produced a peal almost without blemish and comparable in striking to the first peal. Ringers who have enjoyed Friday practices at Cranford, the pre-College Youths* dinner "get togethers" and the Boxing Day mornings will hope that these will be traditions carried on for many years to come. fostering the happy fellowship which we ringersare so fortunate to enjoy.
W. H. C.

LOCAL RADIO

The Chapel Allerton outing on August 24th was covered by the B.B.C. both before and after the event. On the Wednesday before, an interview was made in the belfry with the bells ringing as a background for part of the time. Listeners to Radio Lecds could hear some indifferent St. Ciement's College Bob Minor and some very well-struck Plain Bob Minor during the interview.
Two young members of the local band were interviewed live in the studio the next morning after the broadcast and were asked questions about bellringing. After the event there was another interview covering a brief summary of the trip and more general questions about ringing.

THE POSITION AT DURBAN

Mr. C. Chambers writes encouragingly from Durban as follows: "Ringing here still shows the good influence of Geoffrey Armitage having heen with us for three months. and this is particularly so at St. Mary's. We have also heen lucky recently with visitors. having had three from overseas this year, uith a fourth calling next month.
"At St. Paul's we look like getting some beginners from the ranks of non-Anglicans. namely Catholics and Jews, but it is yet to be seen whether religious prejudice can be overcome, and it is no good counting one's chickens before they are hatched. However, if they are harred. it looks as if St. Paul's at the present time is all set for a decline."

BHCKENHAM'S LOSS

Mr. and Mrs R. Ling have been regular ringers at St. George's, Beckenham, for the past two or three years, but having recently moved away from the district will no longer be available. They will be sorety missed at Beckenham. On Sunday. August 24th, which was to be their last Sunday at St. George's, a pleasing little ceremony took place when the local ringers presented Mr. and Mrs. Ling with an ornamental hors d'ouvre dish as a token of their esteem and a recognition of their valuable services. In reply, Mr. RonLing said how happy they had both been to ring at St. George's, which was always a very happy tower.

SOLUTION TO URANGWOT 6

There were three ringers and each could have decided to be truthful or a liar. giving cight possible combinations. These may be set out together with the answers to the two questions.

| 1.2 | 3.4 | 5.6 | 1.2 | 3.4 |
| :--- | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| $\operatorname{Tr}$ | Tr | $\operatorname{Tr}$ | Yes | No |
|  | L | Lr | No | No |
|  |  | Tr | Yo | Yes |
| L | Tr | Tr | No | Yes |
|  |  | L | Yes | No |
|  | L | Tr | Yes | No |
|  |  | L | No | Yes |

It will be seen that the only distinctive combinations are No, No and Yes, Yes, and when these occur the 5.6 man is a liar in both cases. Since 5.6 replied in the negative and he was lying, the peal was rung, and T. Surr paid for the drinks on that occasion. Two correct solutions were received and so the Editor has decided to split the beer money on this occasion between their senders:-
J. F. Roebuck, 12, Rothwell Close, Ormskirk. J. Q. Rahtz, B7, New Court,

St. John's College, Cambridge

WALKING AND RINGING:

St. Peter's Guild, Petersfield, had their annual walk on August 24th. The route took them over Butser, the highest hill in Hampshire, and into the ravidly expanding village of Clanfield. A long walk on the hard road brought them to Catherington, where they arrived at the church some 60 minutes late. Fortunately the tower was open, and mixed Doubles and Grandsire Minor were rung.

A pecnic tea in a nearby field was possible through Mr. Hatherly's services in conveying the refreshments by car. The walk was resumed over Wardown Hill and through Queen Elizabeth Forest to Buriton, where more Doubles were rung at St. Mary's Church. A much enjoyed visit to the Five Bells Inn followed. The walk was about 13 miles, and waiting cars took the company back to Petersfield. The captain and organiser of the walk, Mr. Ken Tipper. is thanked, together with incumbents and Mr. Hatherly.

"IDLE FELLOWS"

Extract from "Cleveland Mercury," August 26th, 1893:-
At Long Ashton Petty Sessions, James Hacker and George England appeared on a summons charging them with smoking near Pill Church during divine service. Supt. Drewett asked that the case should be withdrawn, as he was not prepared to go into it.

Mr. Mirchouse, in dismissing the case. remarked: *Of course I am cognisant of what you men are charged with. It is not right that you should be smoking in a churchyard. Go back and tell your brother ringers, idle fellows; that they must not loiter in the churchyard."
N.B.-In Ellacombe's "Church Bells of Somerset" it is recorded that Pill Church possessed one small turret bell, but that there had formerly been six. This is dated 1870. so the puzzle is-what bells had the delinquents been ringing?

KING CHARLES SURPRISE MINOR

A peal attempt in this method to enable Geoff Dodd to complete the sequence in the Kings and Queens Minor methods, made on August 17th at Winston, Hants, seemed fated from the start. The treble lacked a stay, oil had to be bought for the bells were dry, and the band was stopped by the Vicar for a further 30 minutes whilst a local builder inspected the tower. A good first 720 was spoilt at its end, so a quarter peal of 1,440 changes was rung, the first in the method by the following: M. Holbrook 1, R. W. Rex 2, B. M. Johnson 3, A. J. Mason 4, D. Jackson 5, G. K. Dodd (conductor) 6. Place notation is : $34-34.16-1236-14-1$. $\begin{aligned} & \text { Inds. } \\ & \text { l.e. } 36245 \text {. Bob 4ths. }\end{aligned}$ G. D.

SALISBLRY DIOCESAN GUILD

The August meeting of the Marlborough Branch, held at Overton with East Kennett on Saturday, August 17th, attracted an attendance of between 35 and 40 ringers of both sexes and all ages.
Members were present from Aldbourne, Chisledon, Marlborough and Everleigh, and they were joined by visitors from Stratton St. Margaret, Blunsdon, Fittleton, Swindon and, further afield, from Hannington, Nether Heyford (Northants) and Portsmouth.
Also present were the Guild president (Mr. W. C. West) and Mrs, West, from Melksham.

Ringing on the six at Overton was under the direction of Mr. A. Keen (Deputy Ringing Master), and ranged from the higher methods to rounds and call changes for beginners.

The Guild service at 4.30 p.m. was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev Frank Morley). with Mr. C. Brindley at the organ.
At the conclusion of the service Mr. G. Newman (chairman) paid a well-deserved tribute to the Rev. Roger Keeley, who was attending his last Marlborough Branch meeting before becoming Vicar of Whiteparish. Since coming to Marlborough as curate five years ago, Mr. Keeley has done a tremendous amount of work for the Branch, and while everyone was pleased at his preferment there was a feeling of sadness at his going.
Mr. Newman. on behalf of the Branch. thanked Mr. Keeley for all his help and guidance. and the Rev. F. Morley added his tribute. Mr. Keeley suitably responded. His induction and institution as Vicar of Whiteparish will take place on Tuesday, September 4th. at 7 p.m., by the Bishop of Sherborne Largely through Mr. Keeley's initiative since coming to Marlborough, the octave at St. Peter's, which was in a poor condition, has heen taken down, and some of the metal will be used to aad two more bells to St. Mary"s six. at the cast end of the lown. This will give the Branch aprother octave to keep company with St. Michael's. Aldbourne.
After the service a move was made to the Village Hall, where a flower show was in progress and tea was obtainable. All the exhibits were duly admired and ringing was resumed at East Kennett on the very light five and in the exceedingly small tower. Despite a threatening sky, a very pleasant meeting.
W. A. F.

The many friends of the Misses K . and G . Burchnall, of Sutton-on-Treni, Notts, will be sorry to hear that Miss Grace has broken her collar-bone. This was owing to a fall down the last few steps at Gamston Church after ringing a seven-method peal of Treble Bob on September 2nd. It is to be hoped that she will soon be well again.

COLLECTION OF DOUBLES

METHODS

Section II.-Methods With Two Hunts. Renumber all methods by adaing the pretix $T$. l'nus Antelope is 17 . Add these irregular metnods.

T21 Newark Place

$345,1,5,1,5,1,5,1,5,145$.
$T 22$ Rev. Newark Pl.
T23 New Newark PI. $5,1,5,1,5,1,345,145$.

T28 Rev. New Wollaton P1. $5,1,125,123,5,1,5,1,5,1$.
The calls for Newark, etc., are Walltlower bobs and singles, made above or below the treble as necessary. Six callings only, as in Antelope, etc.
Tne calls for Wollaton, etc., are Pink bobs and singles, made above or below the treble as necessary. Six callings only, as in Antelope, etc.
N.B.-The calling SBSP three times is false if rung to Antelope, Newark, Wollaton and their New and Reverse alterations.

Corrections to page 575:

47 T should read $3,145,5,3,145,3,5,145$,
55V Names this Pensthorpe Bob.
79 U should be Nunthorpe, not Gunthorpe.
Renumber Chavasse, Maltby and Callender as 77R, 80 R and 84 R . The correct call for these methods is a Grandsire single above the treble.
The call for methods marked $P$ is the following single:
54132
51423 Call SPPPSSPPPSPP or any trans15243 position of this, but if finishing 15234 with a single, start as in All Saints' 51234 bob.
52143
Rev. St. Bartholomew may still be rung with a plain lead of Plain Bob for the bob, but this can now be called Spliced Rev. St. Bartholomew and Plain Bob. Similarly Rev. St. Sebastian.
All Saints' may still be rung with a plain lead of Plain Bob or Rev. Canterbury as a bob, but this can now be called Spliced All Saints and Plain Bob or Rev. Canterbury.
Additions to irregular methods III (b) on page 575:

$5,1,125,123,345,123,125,1,5,125$.
N.B.-In Section III, no method is the bobbed lead of another, or vice versa.

The Church of St. Mary the Virgin Great Baddow, Essex

THE RINGING WORLD

St. Mary the Virgin's, Great Baddow

" THIS being a very pleasant village, it hath been inhabited long by families of fashion." It may have been so when Morant wrote his "History of Essex" in 1768, but nowadays Great Baddow is really more a suburb of Chelmsford than a proper village. The name used to be blithely derived from "Bad Eau"-like Ilford-but etymologists are more careful now, and say that it "may be Celtic."

The church, which is mainly 13 th and 14 th century, has a fine 16 th century brick clerestory, and a tall leaded spire, with a bellcote containing an uninscribed sanctus bell.

Early records of the bells seem to be lacking, though an article on the church ("Essex Review," 1894) suggests that Great Baddow may have had its own bellfounder; it quotes from the burial register "Joyce Clarke, Belfounder, was buryed the 21 day of Marche" (no year is given, but the entry immediately above it is for 1538). Untortunately there seems to be no trace of such a person in the registers, and so far other sources have failed to explain the quotation.

The first direct reference to the bells is in 1686, when the Archdeacon was told that the ropes were in disrepair, and one bell needed a new headstock. In 1721 the old ring of five was recast. The churchwardens went to London, apparently to get an estimate; their accounts, which show "Spent with Bellfoundrs in London 7s. 8d.," suggest that it must have been quite a happy party. The bells, however, were finally recast at Sudbury, presumably by Thomas Gardiner, who was writing to the churchwardens about them in 1728.
These bellis were augmented to six by " the Gift of Mr. Watson Gower" in 1738, but the ring does not seem to have been very satisfactory, for in 1781 they were recast into an eight with a $13 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. tenor, "The Essex Chronicle" for August 3rd advertising:

Ringing

At Great Baddow, near Chelmsford, Essex, a new peal of Eight Bells will be opened on Monday 13th instant, cast by Mr. Mears of London. Any number of ringers will be admitted, if they choose either five or six bells, after the company which is first to open them."
Why the visitors were confined to five or six bells remains a mystery.

RIVAL PUBLICANS

The White Horse and the Blue Lion, still the principal pubs in the village, entered into competition:

As a New Peal of Eight Bells will be opened on the 13th instant at Great Baddow,
Charles Harman at the White Horse Inn informs his friends and the public, that a good ordinary will be provided at the said Inn.

Dinner on the table at half past two o'clock."
Thomas Norfolk at the Blue Lion said much the same-but his dinner was on the table half an hour earlier.
However, the new bells were duly opened, and "The Essex Chronicle " records that:
" On Monday a musical peal of eight bells, cast by Messers Mears of London, was opened at Great Baddow, by the Chelmsford ringers, who, besides other peals. rung with ease and propriety the complete peal of 5,040 Bob-Major, in two hours and fiftythree minutes, striking the bell close, to an excellent pitch; and giving full satisfaction to a respectable company assembled on the occasion."
Unfortunately the new tenor had to be recast in 1782. This may have been due to the inexperienced ringers, for in 1783 the churchwardens' accounts include:
 rather surprisingly, as it seems an early date for a ringling course-and they certainly were not subsidised by the local authority !
Mr. Chappel's instruction must have had some effect, for the next bell (the third) was not recast until 1787, and then there was a long gap until the second was recast in 1809, followed by the fourth in 1837.

The second peal, in 1819, was unusual. A notice in the belfry commemorates: "The quarter peal of Bob Major 10,080 changes .... nobly brought round in 5 hr . and 50 mins . being the master peice of the art ever performed in the county." After "the master peice" there were no more peals until 1885.

THE NEW BELLS

The bells had been becoming djfficult for some time when the 23 rd and last peal on the old bells was rung in 1912; and in 1913 ringing stopped altogether. Apparently no one but the local band could manage them, and even they found it hard work. However, there was no lack of interest, and in 1916 a new ringing gallery was put up in anticipation, though the parish had to wait until 1924 to hear its bells again.

The new eight, with a tenor of $14 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt., was cast by Taylors in 1923, and hung the next year in a new steel frame. Even allowing for local partiality, they are still certainly one of the best rings in Essex.

When the bells were rehung, one of the churchwardens decided that he ought to set an example and learn to ring. Today, 44 years later, Dr. Spencer-Phillips, who was Master of the Essex Association from 1936 to 1952, is still both churchwarden and bellringer.

In the 1930's Great Baddow had a strong band who set a high standard of ringing, mainly of Grandsire and Stedman. Their captain, George Green, was a ringer of the old school who would not tolerate any form of slackness.

By 1945 most of the band had dispersed, and restoration work to the tower stopped ringing for a time in 1960. However, even with these setbacks and the usual problems of recruiting and training ringers, Great Baddow can be proud of the fact that its bells have been rung regularly twice on Sundays since 1924.

At present the parish is coping with a $£ 15,000$ scheme for restoring the church. One of the fund-raising activities planned for this year is a flower festival on September 21st, and any visitors who would help to ring on that day would be most welcome.

MINOR METHODS

Dear Sir,-Of the third's place Delight methods listed by Mr. Bishop on page 680 of "The Ringing World," one (36-34.16-12-$36.14-12.5$. 1.e. 12 . 165324) appears in several notebooks of the late John E. Wheeldon under the name of Kingsley. I have no record of it ever having been rung in a peal (or, indeed, at all), but it may well have been practised in the Norton-le-Moors area at the turn of the present century.-Yours sincerely, Charlton Kings, Glos.

THE FOUR-BELL TOWERS OF DORSET

By C. J. N. DALTON

ACOMPLETE list of the Dorset " fours" will be a useful addition to the lists for other counties which have, from time to time, appeared in "The Ringing World."
Where no note to the contrary, bells can be assumed to be "ringable"; however, this does not necessarily imply that they are rung or that permission to ring will be forthcoming.
For clarity, Mr. Dove's system of using italics for chimes has been adopted. Guessed tenor weights are denoted by a question mark. Affpuddle--134 cwt. E. I and 4 Mears 1927 . William Knight 1722. 3 John Wallis 1598. Treble and tenor recast, others renuned, and all hung "dead" in new framework by Mears 1927. St. Clement Danes tenor is in the news again. After five minutes ringing on Sunday morning. September 8 th . its clapper shaft broke. Fortunately the falling clapper did no other damage

The handbell neal of Doubles at Pembroke Dock on September 5th may well have heen the first in a doctor's surgery. The rain came down and prevented an open-air attempt

The band who rang the peal at Kippax on September 7th would like to associate the performance with the christening there recents of Helen Louise Brice, niece of the ringer of the fifth. and also with the birth of a daughter torthe Rev. and Mrs. Darvill.
(More Belfry Gossip on page 729)

CORRECTIONS & AMENDMENTS

Mr. Derek C. Jackson points out that the Warsop Surprise Minor recorded in a peal (page 660) rung at Warsop, Notts, on August 3 rd, is also recorded on page 637 as Rampion Surprise Minor, rung in a quarter peal at Rampton on July 20 hh.

Mr. Laurence J. Haines asks us to note that the last line of the penultimate paragraph of his letter about record lengths (page 686) should read: $\because$ e.g.; 9.600 lincolnshire Surprise" (not "i.e."-there is a subtle difrerence).
In the caption to our picture of the ringers of St. Peter Mancroft. Norwich, in action (page 667) the name of the ringer of the second should have been given is Angela Wright, and not as submitted and printed.

The would-be historian of the Society of College Youths is considerably hampered by the lack of contemporary documents illustrating its early history. This dearth of material was aggravated by the fire of 1940 . when many of the older pence books and minute books of the Society, yoing back to 1825, were destroyed. along with numerous other irreplaceable documents. However, as I have already mentioned, the main name and peal books were placed for safe keeping in the crypt of St. Paul's Cathedral in 1939, where they remained until being removed to the ringiug room in 1962.

The oldest name book which the Society possesses contains names of members from 1637 to 1871, and peals from 1725 to 1753. Oddly enough, this book, although apparently first compiled in about 175s, did not come into the possession of the Society until 1843 ! E. J. Osborn, who was responsible for its discovery and acquisition by the Society, gives a somewhat confused account of its history, which may be summarised as follows. It was not until a hundred years after its foundation that the Society decided to keep a permanent record of the names of members and of peals rung. Before that, peals, names of members and a large selection of methods and compositions were written haphazardly in a book In ordinary script. They had been copied from earlier manuscripts. and it is probable that nothing from the 17 th century had survived. In about 1753 James Albion, a member of the Society of Union Scholars, who was noted for his penmanship. was commissioned to write the peals and names in a book in elaborate style. In 1754 he went to Bath, where he had been appointed master of a school, and he took the records with him to use in making the new book. As a result of the split in the Society, which occurred at this time, he was not paid for his work. The book was bought from Albion by Samuel Blackwell, of Ampney Park, near Cirencester, and it remained in the library there until 1839 . when the library was sold. The book was purchased by a Mr. Strong, of Bristol. and was bought from him in 1841 by Osborn for six and a half guineas. Osborn sold it to the College Youths in 1843 for the same sum, which was raised by subscription. Osborn also obtained what remained of the manuscript from which Albion worked, and this is now in the British Museum.
The names of members of both the "Ancient" and "Junior" Societies were later transcribed into the book and the list was maintained thercin until, in 1871, the book was full. As already mentioned, the book contains details of 64 peals, rung by the Society between 1725 and 1753, and one rung in 1761 at Fulham, which is in a differens hand. On the first page of the book is inscribed in ornamental lettering "Orders instituted and agreed upon by the Society of College Youths London in the year 1637. And now Reviewed, Reform'd and Confirm'd by the Said Society In the Year 1735." There follow some blank pages on which it was no doubt originally intended to write these rules. A set of rules printed in 1776, now in the British Museum. is headed with the same words. After these blank pages there is a list of subscribers to the purchase of the book from Osborn, then the list of names of members. headed "The Names of the Company of College Youths According to their time of Entrance in the said Society till this time. Only such as have Left and Deserted the Company are Left out and not Mentioned in this Catalogue." Columns are ruled beside the names up to 1754 . with the date of a member becoming steward or Master entered therein. The peals can be found by reversing the book and starting from the other end.
The book, which is of folio size and bound in morocco with a loose outer cover, has embossed brass plates on the front and back with designs, in the centre of which are engraved the words "College Youths London 1637," while a small leather label above these plates bears the words "College Youths London. 1735." There are also ornamental brass corners.
The book containug names of menibers who joined between 1871 and 1959, a folio volume in calf binding, was presented by the Rev. Richard Cattley, Canon of Worcester Cathedral, white the present book has on its front page this inscription: "This Book was provided from the bequest of the Rev. Frank Llewellin Edwards Rector of Kington Magna, Dorset, and a member of this Society for tifty nine years. Born 1873-Died 1956."

JUNIOR SOCIETY'S NAME BOOK

The second oldest book belonging to the Society is a quarto volume containing approximately 80 pages, originally purchased as the Junior Society's peal and name book when this Society was formed in 1756 . It contains 79 names written in large "black-letter," four to a page, and details of eight peals. On the first page is written the Society's motto, "Vivamus unanmiter." In 1773 the Junior Society purchased a much larger book, described below, which they called "The Grand Book," and the quarto book was thereafter used as a rough name-book, new members signing their names in it on joining. Notes about these members were sometimes subsequently added before their names were transcribed into the Grand Hook. if for any reason they had ceased lo be members before this was done. For example, the name of Isaac Smith of Cambridge, who joined on August 9th, 1790, has been crowsed out, and the note written under his name "Expelled by Complaint from his friends at Cambridge and Notice thereof sent by letter on Wednesday the 27th October, 1790." The last entry is dated 1823.

This book, which had become old and dclapidated, was restored in 1927 by E. A. Young, and suffered a further setback when it was charred by the fire of December 29th, 1940. It has since been rebound.

The "Grand Book" referred to above must originally have been a very beautiful volume. According to Osborn it was "of the large folio stze, handsomely gilt and bound in crimson morocco, with many valuable silver ornaments about it, and on a silver plate fastened on one of the outside covers was engraved an inscription." This inscription. on a plate which was oval in shape. read as follows: "This Book, belonging to the Society of College Youths London: Containing the Members Names and a recital of the several Performances completed by them since the year MDCCLVII Was procured by the Voluntary Subscription of the Members at large in the ycar MDCCLXXIII."

This book continued to be used for recording peals and names until on the meeting night of October 22nd, 1832, it was found that the book was missing from the Society's club room. A reward was offered for its recovery, but there was no trace of it until some months later when James Platt discovered some leaves of it being used for waste paper in a butcher's shop in Ray Street, Clerkenwell. The butcher, on heing questioned. could only say that he had bought it with other waste paper from some unknown person. One of the members was strongly suspected, but the thief was never discovered. The Sociely purchased what was left of the book and found that over a hundred pages had been destroyed, and. of course, the costly binding and silver ornaments were gone.

REWRITING PEALS

In his account of these events, Osborn further states: "Shortly afterwards the Company began to raise a fund (which went slowly on) to pay for rewriting the lost peals, etc. In 1836. in consequence of this loss, and of the funds of the Society being very low and no probable chance of improving, 1 entered into a contract to completely restore these peals (in the ornamental style and large folio size) at the small charge of 3 s .6 d . each, and after writing about 120 I declined doing any more through the insolent and ungracious behaviour I received from some of the Members, and I believe the Book was not complete for binding until about the year 1843 or 4 ." He goes on to say that "' Mr. Cooper the Beadle of the Society of College Youths, who took upon himself the management of the Company," arranged that the peals rung by the "Ancient" as well as the "Junior" Society from 1756 onwards should be written in this book as far as they could be traced, while the names of members of both Societies, without distinction, were written into the original name book when it came into the Society's possession in 1843.
A pocket book dated 1841, written by E. J. Osborn, contains his fair draft for the writing of the peals and names, which he probably collected from lists supplied to him by the Society; but he seems to have been unaware of the contents of the quarto volume described above. This pocket book was presented to the Society by E. A. Young.

The reconstituted peal book continued to be used until 1867, when it was full up, and a similar volume was presented by C. A. W. Troyte. As peals by the Society were fairly prolific in those years, and as each peal occupies a full page, this book was filled up by 1885, when a new book was presented by Sir A. P. Heywood. When this in its turn was filled up in 1900, the current volume was presented by Dr. A. H. Nichols. The last volume is thicker than the others, and peals are now booked in it four to a page, so it should last for some time yet I All these books have red morocco bindings with loose outer covers.

I have already mentioned that in the year 1820 a second "Junior" Society of College Youths was formed to supplement the work of the old Society, which was at that time low in numbers. They had their headquarters at Southwark, and their leader during most of their existence was Samuel Austin, a solicitor's clerk. This Society also provided itself with a folio volume in which to record its peals, and this book is now in the possession of the College Youths. Samuel Austin, who was an excelient penman, himself did all the writing in $1 t$. It contains details of 58 peals rung by the Junior Society, and also records the Society's foundation in 1820, its union with the main body of the College Youths in 1830, and its refoundation (after quarrels had arisen) as the Sussex Society in 1832. This Society was wound up in 1839.

COPY PEAL BOOK

Another book of great interest, which was very badly damaged in the war, is a Copy Pcal Book containing a copy of the peals rung up to 1861. The title page reads: "A Copy of the Peals that have been rung by the Society of College Youths." There follows a four-page "Historical Account " of the Society, which was apparently written in 1738, with the footnote: "This account was taken from the Oxford Ringers Register Book and communicated by Mr. George Scarsbrook, 1796." This is followed by "An Epitome of the Ar of Ringing. Compiled from indisputable sources of information by Mr. Francis Marshall, a member, in 1849." It also occupies four pages. On page 9 we read: "The first three Peals of Minor were rung at St. Saviour's. Southwark, on Novr. 18th. 1684 , the methods were: Oxford Treble Bob. College Single and Oxford Single, total 2,160 changes." Below this is written: "No 1. St. Sepulchre, Snow Hill.
On January 7 th, i689. The Company rang the On January 7th, 1689. The Company rang the first Peal on eight beils; the method was Plain

Bub Triples (containing 5,040 changes) with two singles; it was accomplished in three hours and forty five minutes. Composed and conducted by Mr. Benjamin Annable." As J. A. Trollope has pointed out in his book, "The College Youths," Annable was not born until 1702. The peals from 1725 to 1760 appear to be in the same hand as the first pages: those from 1760 to 1861 are in a completely different hand. There are a good many blank pages at the back of this book. On the fly-leaf it is noted in pencil that the book was restored and rebound at the instance of E. A. Young in 1932.

Three other copy peal books, covering the period 1725-1932, have recently been checised against the main peal books, and deposited for safe keeping in the Chapter House of St. Paul's Cathedral. The copy peal book containing peals from 1932 onwards, presented by J. S. Hawkins, is always held by the Master, it being one of his duties to keep it up to date.

The only minute books that survived the fire of 1940 are those covering the periods 1884 to 1903,1919 to 1926 , and 1931 onwards. Five of these were badly damaged by the tire, and so that they can be preserved while their contents can easily be referred to, a copy is being made of them.

TERCENTENARY RECORD

For a time in the last century it was the custom to obtain photographs of new members, and to mount them in an album. Two such ulbums exist, both badly damaged by fire. The first of these was presented by C. E. Troyte and the second by F. E. Dawe in 1886. After the Tercentenary Dinner, William Roughton, a printer by trade, prepared a magniticent album containing a record of the events of tha memorable day. The Society possesses two copies of this album. They were both badly damaged, but fortunately among the Society's papers were sufficient duplicates of the material contained in the album to enable another album to be prepared; this is on a much less lavish scale, but contains the same information as the original. W. Roughton was for many years the chief link between the College Youths and the B.B.C., and recently there has come to light an interesting tile of correspondence.

GIFTS TO LIBRARY

Since the war, many members have left their ringing books to the College Youths, and the Society now has a library of nearly 300 books, pamphets and manuscripts. There is a complete set of bound volumes of "Bell News" and bound volumes of "The Ringing World" from 1912 to 1923. Is it merely a vain dream of the writer that one day this series will be completed?

The oldest printed book in the Society's possession is a copy of "De Tintinnabulis" by Hieronymus Magius, which was presented to the Society year or so ago. This book on bells (which does not, of course, mention the art of change ringing) was written in about the year 1572, and this copy was printed in 1664. A slim volume called "The Art of Ringing, also Artificial Fireworks, likewise the Art of Gardening " is reputed to have been published in 1668, the same year as Duckworth's "Tintinnalogia." The Society also possesses first editions of Stedman's "Campanalogia " of 1677, the 1702 "Campanalogia" by J. D. and C. M., the "Clavis Campanalogia" of 1788, and Shipway's "Campanalogia" of 1816. Among manuscripts of interest are Joseph Monk's peal book, covering the years 1756 to 1792 and including an account of the College Youths' visit to the Isle of Wight in 1770, the peal books of J. Carter and M. A. Wood, a collection of compositions by H. W. Haley. and the bound original manuscript of "The College Youths" by J. A. Trollope

Many of the miscellaneous papers and newspaper cuttings of the Society have recently been gathered together and arranged in a loose-leaf "scrap book." The oldest of these items is a dinner ticket of 1839, which shows that in that year the Society dined at the Royal Hotel, Leicester Square, at the cost of five shillings a head, at two o'clock on Monday. November 11 h. The officers at that time included the Master, six stewards and the beadle.

The Society used to keep the more interesting of its correspondence in an inwards letfer book. This was another partial victim of the fire of 1940, but once again it was possible to preserve the original letters and yet be able to refer to their contents by removing them carefully from the book and copying them. These letters cover the period 1892 to 1928.

COLLEGE YOUTHS' PROPERTY

Mr. W. T. Cook, librarian of the Ancient Society of College Youths, who concludes his interesting article in this issue, adds: "I have tried to check all my statements, but if I have made any mistakes I should be glad if readers would point these out. As librarian of the Society, I should also welcome the gift of any other documents of interest, which could be placed with the Society's records for the benefir of future historians.'

Letters to the Editor

THE TRUTH
Dear Sir,-May 1 reply to Mr. Smith with facts and whole-truths instead of saloon bar gossip and half-truths.

He says that I am using my power as convener of the Records Cominittee to exclude the 13,140 Maximus from the records. On the contrary, when 1 saw the notice of the attempt. my immediate interpretation was that since the Cam variation does not comply with the Report on Regular Methods it could only stand as a progressive length; but if expressed as Spliced Kent Litule Court and Kent 1.B. then it could stand as a record peal proper. 1 sard nothing about this in the Press, public or private, and intended ${ }^{*}$ using my power as convener" to include it in next year's report to the Central Council in the form 13.140 Kent T.B. Maximus (Cam variation) and with no comment to differentiate it from the record peals of Cambridge Surprise Royal and Lincolnshire Major.
it mast repeat again that in the past it has not been necessary in distinguish between progressive lengths and record peals proper (see page 636). But Mr. Woodruffe asked publicly for an explanation of this procedure, and this is what he got. It is only record peals proper that must comply with the special conditions, and for first peals and progressive lengths it is only necessary that the composition he available to the committec.

As a result of Mr. Woodruffe's Ietter, it is obvious that we must now clearly distinguish between progressive lengths and record peal: proper. 1 stated that the 12.096 Glasgow is a progressive length, whilst the 9.6100 Lincolnshire is a record peal "proper. 1 did not state what would happen to the 13,140 Maximus. The band have not been precise in their claim: when they make it, it can he considered and, if necessary, passed to the Methods Committee for an interim decision. Next year it will he placed before the Council with all other such peals, for its decision.

His quote, " In some cases it is possible to found a method on two principles," refers to forming the path of the treble. And mixing something with Treble Bob means that the result is not Treble Bob. A requirement of a regular method is that there shall be a lead which contains the whole working of the method, and all bells shall do the same work. Cin he please give us a plain lead of the method (singular) Cam variation of Kent? The title Cum variation of Kent is completely explicit, but means nothing to most members of the Exercise. In it, instead of six leads ( 288 changes) with $8,0, t, e .4 .7$ in the slow. six leads ( 24 changes) of Kent little Court are rung. For example. the lead ( 48 changes) with the 8 in the slou becomes the four changes-

108t6e492735

The effect is that these six bells course continuously throughout the (spliced) course, with no broken effect when one of them is in the slow: und these six bells do entirely different work to the other five working bells in the plain course.

My expression " two types of bob" should have read " two types of call," one being the ordinary bob, which was called, the other in indication to the treble to make seconds, instead of dodging, which was rung silent.

His dea of a solution to a situation which appeurs unsatistactory to him is precisely the same as indicated by me on page 636 ; unofficial records are known as progressive lengths and offical records are known as record peals proper. But to establish a record peal proper it is necessary to comply with all the special conditions laid down (C.C. Handbook, page 19). It is not sufficient to have competent umpires, give notice in ". The Ringing world and pubish the composition. The methods muse comply with the Report on Regular Methods, and also notice muss be sent to the secretary of the Guild or Association under whose title the peal (which if is proposed to surpass) was rung. Presumably this means one notice only, for the peal in that merhod, on that number of bells, and either tower bells or handbells. Major cannot surpass Royal. tower bells cannot surpass handhells, or vice versa.

If he will read all Decisions of the Council. instead of quoting out of context, he will find that Kent and Oxford can be spliced at the half-lead if there are no bobs at the lead-end. Mr. Smith and Mr. Woodruffe have done this themselves in a record peal proper. Perhaps Mr. Smith sticks to the principle : I observe rules and Decisions-when they suit me." Yours sincerely.

FRANK T. BI.AGROVF.

$\boldsymbol{P} . \mathbf{S}$ - Might 1 suggest that Mr. Smith owes a public apology 10 the composer of the 12.480 Pudsey for his unjustifiable suggestion that the peal was false.-F T. B

RECORD LENGTHS

Dear Sir-lf your trout page correspondent Aug. 30th) had read closely the foonnote of the Spliced Treble Bob Major peal at Staines he would have seen that the change of method was called when the treble was lying at the back, although. of course, this change would not affect the work of any bell until the treble reached the 3-4 position.
Surely it would appear. therefore, from the exact wording of the Central Council rule, that it is legitimate to describe the aforemention peal as spliced, although it might be argued that the implied meaning of the rule had been infringed.

To my mind thas peat hats focused attention on an ambiguity that exists in this rule and we should urge that the rule be amended to remove this anomaly.

Regarding a totally ditlerent matter. I shouid like to say that I support some of your recent correspondents who suggest that a list of amendments to Dove's *Guide to the Church Bells of Britain " should he published at regular intervals in " The Ringing World." preferably every three or four months or so. This facility would enable us to keep our new editions up to date. Presumably detail, of augmentations and reliangings would be forthcoming from the bellfounders, and tower secretaries could notify you of changes of praclice night.-Yours faithfully.

MALCOLM S. LOVEDAY. Staines, Middlesex.

CAUTION NEEDED AT NIDD

Dear Sir,-I see that in an announcement of the Yorkshire Association meeting to be held at Knaresborough, Nidd is Jisted as a lower that can be visited during the afternoon.
As one who spent several hours working on the bells and who stood in the recent peal at Nidd, may 1, through your columns, just warn prospective visitors to that tower of what could happen.
When we rang our peal at Easter the treble slider was mising. Also, the wheels of the treble and third are in an advanced state of decay. I managed to patch them up sufficiently for our peal to be rung, but we rang Southrepps Doubles, which involves no dodging. There is a risk that any sudden jerking on these wheels could cause their collapse. Yours faithfully,

Harrogate, Yorkshire.
G. D. ARMITAGE.

PS-Either the 4 th or the 5 th at Pateley Bridge is cracked, if 1 remember correctly.G. D. A.

Note. The Nidd bells will not be available at comorrow's Knaresborough meeting,-Ed.

A TYRO ON DOLBLES

Dear Sir, - Having read Mr. K. Massey's letter ("R.W.", page 602) condemning the C.C. Doubles decision, I fecl I must take exception to his attitude.
(1) Mr. Massey states that the majority of C.C. members were "blinded by the pseudoscience of the vocifcrous few". I have been ringing for just over a year and know little of methods above the four standard ones, yet I could understand this "pseudo-science". so am sure the members in the C.C. could. If they were blinded by the logic of the Doubles teformers then they ought not io be on the Cuuncil.
(2) If the Central Council's Decisions discourage the average Doubles ringer from his April Day, etc., then it is about time he woke up and saw sense. Most Doubles ringers care little for splicing. but like mast ringers they surely want to widen their horizons and have. until now, not been able to ring Spliced Doubles (officially). Now they have the chance to start spliced ringing I am sure they will welcome it, not despise it.
(3) Mr. Massey states that the C.C. have made a proper mess of Doubles ringing. li they have, then it is not a bigger mess than existed before the Worcester meeting.
(4) Mr. Massey mentions "us ordinary ringers". Surely Mr. Massey cannot be described as an "ordinary" ringer. In the same copy of "R.W"" he is included in a peal of seven-method Surprise Minor and this vear has rung such peals as Wembley, Aldenham and Rutland S. Major.
(5) Mr. Massey gives the impression that Doubles ringers only want April Day and other such prettily-named variations. If Doubles ringers are that narrow-minded that they cannot part with April Day and Cliford's P.B. then they are more than stupid. for it is only the name that has been changed, not the method.
(6) Mr. Massey says it is ridiculous to spoil our pleasure by interfering with any of the simple variations. Rubbish! How can changing the name of a method remove the pleasure of ringing it?-Yours. etc.,

ROBERT A. GILLIES.
Habrough, Lincs.

METHODS AND VARIATIONS

Dear Sir-May I agree with Mr. Massey on the need to encourage young bands? This is the function of a football crowd, but it is up to others to analyse the team's methods and to suggest means of better results. A band sends in a peal of six " variations" and seven methods. It is good to give them a pat on the back, but of far more use to point out that they had actually rung threc variations, and ten methods spliced together. And that if they combined the work of some of the methods they could immediately get three more methods; just as Oswald can be obtained from Kent and Cambridge.
1 have a letter of congratulations from the late Ernest Turner. When we rang the peal of 45 Doubles methods in 1954. But it was a letter from Alan Pink in 1953 that showed us the path to progress.

And may I agree with Mr. Massey's last paragraph-no method or variation should use the plain lead of another method as a call. I assume that he means within the same Section, II or III, or does he follow Mr. Wratten. and ask for Reverse St. Bartholomew to be banned?
I would not attempt to convert the unteachable or, shall I say, teach old dogs new tricks. Mr. Dodd's third paragraph is a deliberate half-truth. When he wrote to me in 1955, for the figures of some named variations, 1 sent them to him, together with a collection of Little and Alliance Doubles, and also a list of unnamed variations, which I asked him to name by ringing in peals, in anticipation of my publishing a collection of variations. With this he readily agreed. Since 1953 many Doubles ringers have been asking for the Central Council to sort out the mess of methods/variations. It is the Central Council which has set up the present ruling. It is the Dodd-Jones Collection that calls Apill Day one method-the amendments show it to be two methods spliced. Havant and Braunstone is not the same thing. To ring one of these methods, all the "inside" ringers need to know the method. But to ring 42 variations of Plain Bob Doubles:- one of the "inside" ringers can ring 126 plain courses of Plain Boh.
Scveral of the younger Doubles conductors have written to me for help and information regarding methods, variations and compositions for spliced. I am sure they will honestly better the duhious methods/variations records of their elders.-Yours sincerely.

EUROPEAN BELLS

Dear Sir,-I was interested in Mr. G. A. Armitage's letter (page 687). I have just returned from Northern Italy; I stayed near Verona and tried to locate (without success) Rivoli Veronese. No one knew of its existence, neither was it marked on any map. I had understood this particular tower to have only tive bells. However, in the mountainous regions (Mi. Pasubio. Asiago) there are many towers with three. four or five bells rung hy hand. The more prosperous villages and towns have either mechanised bells or have some difficulty in obtaining permission to ring installed amplifiers and play records. "Tower grabbing" is unheard of, and there mav be the bells, for ringing is not regarded as a hobby or interest (as is often the case in England) but as a way of expressing devotion 10 the Madonna.-Yours sincerely.
A. M. BALDWIN.

TREVOR BAILEY'S WELSH TOUR

HAVING visited Ireland. Scotland and Cornwall in previous years, the intrepid Last Anglian explorers decided to tour another "foreign" country by descending on Wales.
The arrangements having again been made by Trevor Bailey, we met on Friday, August 16th, at Banbury, and having navigated our way round the famous cross to find a suitable Chinese restaurant it was time for some rest.
On Saturday morning the tour began in earnest, the first call being at the heavy six at Lower Bralles, where we heaved our way through touches of Cambridge Minor, etc. The bells themselves are a fine-toned ring with a tenor second only to that at Queen Camel, hut the amount of tower sway reduces the mechanics of ringing to nothing less than hrute force, resulting inevitably in the rest of the morning being spent in liquidation.

Lunch at Shipston-on-Stour was followed by a long drive to Grosmont in Monmouthshire. where we found a ring of six recently rehung in a new timber frame constructed by local workmen (including the Rector) and placed in an octagonal central tower. A peal was attempted here. but after an almost perfect extent of Beverley Surprise, a mix-up in the second 720 of Double Court proved our ursdoing. the lung power of the conductor being unable to overcome the sound of the bells.

IN INDUSTRIAL WALES

Having visited the ruins of the Castle. the party separated for the night. Sunday morning ringing was on the superb ten at Abergavenny, where we were welcomed most kindly by the local ringers, and a good touch of Grandsire Caters was brought round. The afternoon was spent in climbing a nearby mountain, though we were somewhat disturbed to find a slag heap at the summit. After going in circles round Ebbw Vale Steelworks we managed to find Christ Church. where hangs a magnificent Taylor octave with a tenor of 25 cwt. Stedman Iriples and Spliced Plain Major were the order of the day here as we rang for evening service, interest being given to the touches by a device on the wall which counts the number of revolutions of the tenor. Having attended the service. we journeyed via the Heads of the Valleys road to Aberdare.

Monday was to be spent in industrial Wales, and it wias an appropriate day for it. too, being dull and damp. Aberdare was the first tower to be visited and here we found an oldfashioned eight in a tower which reminded everal members of the party of St. Mary-leTower, Ipswich. A touch of Cambridge Major was amongst methods rung here before adjourning to a very efficient restaurant for lunch. Tudor Edwards had been warned of our impending visit to Pentre and, having located him anchored firmly in the Queens. he accompanied us to the tower and called one of his special touches of Stedman Triples. Most of us climbed to the roof of the tower, but the fine view of the Rhondda Valley was largely nhscured by mist and the ubiquitous rain with which this unfortunate part of the world seems to be perpetually afflicted. Our departure from Pentre was somewhat delayed as some of the thirstier members had discovered that closing time was not till 4 p.m.. but we eventuallv arrived in Bridgend and, having selected the correct church (no mean feat). the bells proved to he a very handy eight. so much so in fact that they succumbed to an elusive touch of Original Major! Our journey continued to Porthcawl for the night's entertainment. which included dodgem cars and the Big Dipper at Coney Beach.

The following day was mainly spent in exploring the Gower Peninsula and investigating the aquatic life of the beaches before ringing on the pleasant new light eight at Llanelli. Some inttal difficulty was experienced here because everything appeared to be written in Welsh, but we had a most enjoyable ring, after which the local ringers very generously provided us with a delicious tea and gave us a demonstration of their tune ringing on handbells. All too soon it was time to go. so bidding farewell to our new-found friends we travelled on to our hotel at Carmarthen, where later that evening we met no less a personage than a Welsh Nationalist claiming to be the "Uncrowned King of Wales." A most hilarious evening ensued and many were the arguments propounded by the English contingent only to be as speedily demolished by the Welsh King with his ready wit and lilting accent. which captured the imagination.

RINGING AND PADDLING

Wednesday morning dawned bright and clear -almost the first time we had seen the sun in Wales-and we set out to ring on the eight at Carmarthen Parish Church. The frame here was so loose that the "go " of the bells left much to be desired. The fifth was found to have no stay As the bell was dangerously loose on the headstock we restricted ourselves to Minor before moving on to Tenby. Here we found a superb beach, and so an "Official Paddle "was called for prior to lunch. During the afternoon a variety of methods, including three leads of Bristol, were rung on the eight at Tenby. Our final tower of the day was at Pembroke,
Thursday was relatively uneventful. A leisurely journey to SL. David's was interrupted for yet another paddle and a tough steak at Newgale before a peal attempt on the excellent. if rather noisy, Mears eight at Si. David's Cathedral. A good peal was rung at a cracking pace, the only incident being the gradual disintegration of the conductor's tail-end. One strand was left intact at the end of the peal. hut the ministrations of Tom and his redoubtable nenknife left it none the worse for the experience. Having " moistened our clay," we made for Cardigan and the fish and chip shop before turning in. The final full day for some of us started on the six at Cardigan, where we were welcomed by the Vicar and one of the local ringers. A large number of methods. ranging from four-spliced Surprise to Single Court and St. Clementis, was rung here before moving off to Llanrwda for lunch en route for Brecon. By now, visibly wilting in the heat. we were glad to see reinforcement waiting at St. Mary's in the person of $\Lambda \mathrm{n}$ drew Corby. Cambridge. Double Norwich and Plain Bob were rung here, after which a local ringer conducted us to the friendly shelter of a nearby alchouse. The night was to be spent at Weobley, near Hereford, and this was also our last tower of the dav. By the light of an oil lamp we lumbered our way through London and Soliced Beverley. Cambridge and Surfleet on this heavy-going six.
Saturday morning found us at Kemerton. near Tewkesbury. Two members of the party had recently rehung these Rudhall hells, hut nevertheless they went very well and the usual methods were enjoyed before retiring round the corner for some draught cider. etc. Leaving Kemerton we retraced our steps (or should it be wheels?) to Banbury, where farewells were said to the Staffordshire and Lancashire representatives, the East Anglians returning to Rushden for the night and ringing on Sunday morning before heading for home. ## TOURS IN NORTH & EAST

UPHILL IN THE FLATLANDS

ON the evening of Sunday, July 28 th , eleven ringers (The Peripatetic Pealers) from Herefordshire, Surrey, Monmouthshire and Pembrokeshire converged on Grimsby, in Lincolnshire.
Our first attempt of the week was at Heckington. Was it due to the mixed band or the chicken lunch that Bob Major was rather unsettled for some time? The peal was, how ever, successful. A "short-cut" caused one car to oe 20 minutes late at Bicker, but Stedman Triples was soon going well. The three non-pealers, accompanied by three local ringers, set out to visit Frampton, where it quarter peal was rung. At the end of the quarter eight more ringers joined the company, Stedman having fired out after 25 minutes
Tuesday was a day of mishaps. Due to two ropes having to be replaced at Grimshy we were three-quarters of an hour late in starting for Grandsire Caters. A good peal was rung and a hurried departure was made for Waltham. Here St. Clement's Minor ground to a hait after an hour and two extents. Handhell ringing concluded the evening.
A good peal of Yorkshire was rung at Gainsborough the following morning, but having completed this, as the rest departed for Whe next tower, two of us were forgotten. Why are Lincolnshire roads so long and straight. and drivers unwilling to offer lifts, Scunthorpe was the evening's venue, but a slip in 3-4 ended Litule Bob.

Thursday was a day of "rest." No peals, but 11 towers visited. We were joined by Mr. Durant and his son, Geoffrey, and also by Messrs. Dawson and Reynolds at Boston. Thanks must go to Mr. Dawson for arranging visit to this tower.

TROUBLE WITH THE CLOCK

The initial peal on Friday was not without its mishaps. On the last stroke of 12 the clock wire at Caistor jumped of its retaining nail, swung across the room and hit the unsuspecting tenor man in his back. During the next five minutes the rest of the band were virtually helpless with laughter at his attompts to evade the swinging wire which threatened to hecome entwined about him. The peal now had to be finished by one, before the clock struck again. Two extents in 2 ? each brought the peal round at two minutes to one o'clock. Investigation showed that no damage had been done, however.

Cambridge at Burton-on-Stather lasted onlv three courses, and a fresh start was made with Plain Bob. During a race back to the fish and chip shop at Brigg. a missed turning caused us to follow an untarted track throush a field. An unsuccessful attempt to overtake at this point resulted in the premature reaping of some of the ears of corn.
Our H.Q. was left on Saturdav morning and Putney Surprise was successfully rung at St. Giles'. Lincoln. followed hy Kent and Oxford at the unused church at Walesby. Three cars then departed for London, where Cambridge was attempted at Putnev on Sunday nfternoon. However, this was stood up after half an hour due to the tiredness of the band and the heat of the ringing chamher. A group photogranh was then taken. and the members went their various wavs with talk of another tour next year, possihly in Cumberland.

Finally, I think that thanks must go to Mrs. Jubb for her kind hospitality during the whole week. Her care helped to make the week a success.

N a bright Sunday morning in July a 41 scater coach left Grundisburgh Green bound for Sheffield. which was to be our home for six nights. Our usual coach firm had been given a rest and a trial given to Braybrookes, of Mendlesham, with Edgar, a wiry little Welshman. as driver. Edgar did his best to please us all through the week and proved a remarkable little man. Apart from beeing a speedy driver, lady killer and story teller, he loved, in fact insisted, circling more than once the several roundabouts he encountered amid loud cheers.

Between 10 and 11 a.m. we had reached Folkingham and were greeted by Cuthbert Bradley in the belfry of his parish church. Lunch was taken in Lincoln and, through the kindness of Mr. John Freeman, we were able to ring at St. Botolph's, St. Peter's and the Cathedral in the afternoon and St. Giles for evening service. Thence to the Rutland Hotel, Sheffield, where, as soon as we stepped inside we sensed we would be happy and comfortable for the week. By then the party was complete, as follows:-Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bagworth, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kynaston, Mr. and Mrs. Denis Laud. Mr. and Mrs. Boh Lester. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Oatway, Mr . and Mrs. Jim Pipe, the Misses Clare Dolphin. Jill Laud, Gillian Smith. Juliet Stoy, Elizabeth Timmins, Messrs. John Avis, Neil Avis, John Brain, Tom Clark, Mark Damerell, Ronald Edwards. Harold Frost. David Godfrey, Phil Johnson, Stephen Laud, Alan Munnings, Ernie Pearce, Adrian Semken. Irvin Slack, Richard Stevens and Dan DawsonTaylor. The reception desk was staffed by some of the most attractive ladies one ever clapped eyes upon and arrangements were made that they should not walk home unaccompanied. (Fast workers, these Pilgrims.) When the tour organiser heard of this he remarked that he was shocked to hear of such behaviour by members of the most august party in the whole of the Exercise. Whereupon he was reminded that he was only jealous at not having thought of the same chivalrous action himself. (This pilgrim is slipping-or is he?) In order to give Edgar an easy day. seven lowers had been arranged for us to ring at by Mr. John J. L. Gilbert. to whom we are much obliged. With lunch and tea in between, we rang at South Anston Handsworth. Whiston. Dore. Ranmoor and All Saints' and St. Marie's in Sheffield. All nice Saints and St. Maries hells and much enjoyed.

LOUTH BELLS APPRECIATED

Tuesday was chosen to give us another look at Lincolnshire and our journey to Louth was pleasant. The magnificent tower and spire, the church and grand bells were all a joy and regretfully we left for Grimsby to a lunch of fresh fish and all the trimmings that go to make a first-class meal. Grandsire and Stedman Caters. Plain and Cambridge Royal were creditably rung and all too soon we were off to Barrow-on-Humber to an exceptionally fine ring of eight. The two eights at Barton-onnHumber are well worth a visit and good ringing was enjoved, followed hy the last tower of the day. at Scunthorpe. Three more nice eights were visited on Wednesday, namely Cleckheaton, Liversedge and Rothwell hefore the greatest treat of the week which awaited us at Wakeficid Cathedral. It was nice to see Wilfrid Moreton and the Rev. Mr. Webb. who had raised all the hells for us, and soon we were listening to some of the best bell music of the tour. There was more joy at Ossett, where one of the loveliest rings of ten in the country is to be found, and aithouch we did not complete the course of London Royal a thoroughly good joh was made of Yorkshire Royal and various other touches. At Horbury we were oleased to meet Irvin Slack's mother. a wonderful lady of over 80 years of age. and somehow we thought she was equally pleased to see us. Mytholmrovd bells form a nice cight twelve, which went well to full course of

OBITUARY

CANUN F. R. MONEY, M.A.
Folkingham, Lincs, has sustained a great loss in the passing of Canon F. R. Money at his home on August 4th at the age of 63, after an illness of some six months. Prior to his appointment as residentiary Canon of Winchester Cathedral, he held the living of Ilkeston, Derbyshire, and, later, Basingstoke, Hampshire. In October, 1960 Canon and Mrs. Money accepted the Folkingham living with the neighbouring parish of Threekingham. In more recent years six other parishes have been added to the Folkingham group, which necessitated the help of two curates. The majority of the churches in Canon Money's charge were in urgent need of restoration on a large scale. During his seven and a half years he put in much work in organising and raising funds to make these restorations possible.
At the funeral on August 8th St. Andrew's Church was packed to capacity. The robed clergy leading the procession included the Bishop of Lincoln (the Rt. Rev. Kenneth Riches). the Bishop of Grantham (the Re. Rev. Ross Hook), Bishop A. Otter (former Bishop of Grantham), the Archdeacon of Lincoln (the Ven. A. C. Smith), the Revs. B. Forster and D. Theaker (curates) and many more clergy and friends from the surrounding district, also many close friends from the deceased's former parishes. The service was conducted by Bishop Otter, the lesson read by the Archdeacon of Lincoln, and the Bishop of Lincoln gave the address, paying great tribute to the late Canon Money for his life and work in Lincolnshire. Cremation followed.
The bells he loved so well and always appreciated on all occasions were rung halfmuffled before and after the service, and the inging concluded with a 720 of Cambridge Surprise Minor. The local band was assisted by the Bourne ringers. Those taking part were C. Wilkinson 1, Mrs. D. Cox 2, Mrs. P. Barnes 3, C. Wade (cond.) 4, C. T. H Bradley 5, L. Bianchard $6 . \quad$ C.T. H. B.

MR. JAMES TAYI,OR

Many will he sorry to hear of the death of James (Jim) Taylor. of Christ Church, Healey, Lancashire, on August 28 th after a long illness. He had rung in the Rochdale Branch, in which he had held office. for over 50 years (mainly at All Saints', Hamer). He rang a number of peals but his chief contribution to ringing was his gift for teaching young people to ring simple methods well, and he also taught a large number of people tune-ringing on handbells. His dedication to his home doubtedly helped to faster those ideas which come to some people's minds such as making French beds. pinning up pyjamas and probably a lot more nonsense.

Cambridge Maximus, etc. The bells at Brighouse, Lindley, Longwood and Holmfirth, all good eights, kept the party happy.

FRIDAYS NOT POPULAR

We never like Fridays. It is the last full day with the complete party, but we set out for Penistone and were well rewarded with a tine eight, as also at Bolsterstone. More good ringing came at Fcclesfield. Conisbrough and Wath-on-Dearne, followed by an enormous gorgeous tea, and finally to Wentworth (in place of Rawmarsh) and Rotherham. Our late return to the hotel meant a hasty supper in order to get on with the business of making speeches and saying nice things about nice peoole who had contributed to another hapoy week. Presentations were made to Edgar. the driver. and Sylvia and Jim Pipe, who suitably replied.
Farewells began early on Saturday morning and by $10 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. We were ringing on the heautiful new ten at East Retford, followed hy the majestic ten at Grantham. By the time we reached Oundle our party had diminished by half, and at Cambridge only the Essex and Suffolk contingent remained.

A PILGRIM.

WEEK-END AT C.C. MEETING

By D. A. R. MAY

THE RINGING WORLD" has reported fully the transactions of the third meeting of the current session of the Council, and with election by Societies of their representatives for the next session being imminent, many prospective members must have studied reports with particular interest. Perhaps a personal view of the whole weel-end, as usually programmed, and suggested improvements may well be appropriate at the present fime. Mr. Arthur Davis has written glowingly about the social side, obviously a very personal interpretation. The majority of those on the own-transport ringing tours would hardly agree with him, and he would have us believe that something on the lines of the Rev. John Scott's "Devon Tours" is usual. In fact this was only the second evening of entertainment since Great Yarmouth.

Whilst having no statistical evidence to support the assertion, I would suggest that the average age of the members during the 1960 's is lower than that previously obtaining. This, and an apparent change in the attitude to the well-established members, seems to have the effect of increasing the number of speakers. Half of the members at Worcester who were not on the top table made at least one speech to the Council, probably being a higher proportion than at any time in the previous five vears and possibly more than ever before. The four senior officers of the Council inevitably contribute most to the meeting; the speeches made to the other members present some interesting statistics.

STATISTICS

There were 183 speeches by 81 "other" members, but of these 109 were made by 25 people. Even more interesting is that 43 speeches were made by nine people, two members contributing ten and seven respectively. A statistician would undoubtedly consider the ten to be a freak statistic-perhaps the Council should merely consider he who delivered so many (and of above average length) as a freak! Do the "leading speaker" and the other "regulars" not realise that as it is only possible to hear about 180 speeches, a mere 18 people would be heard if everyone who spoke occupied the same amount of time? It seems that the Council provides a forum for people who like to hear their own voices.

What of the members who do not speak? Do they sleep. have nothing to say, or find it difficult to get a word in? I suggest a few are shy, but most are either heaten to their feet by the well-practised "president's eve catchers" or fear that anything they say would seem as irrelevant as most that the regulars say. The Council would be improved by having an even larger number of speakers, if only to keep the loquacious members quiet. Perhaps a limit of three or four speeches each. with no more than one in each debate, would help.
It remains to be seen how Mr. John Frecman manages a Council mecting, but whatever his capabilities would it not be better if the presiden: occupied the chair only long enough to "see off" the local dignitaries and have a chairman elected annually for the remainder of the meeting? Good presidents do not necessarily make good chairmen.
At the beginning of this session the election of committees was a farce. Little thought was given to the question of the best people for the job adart from one verv firm stand, against great odds. by Mr. Dennis Beresford in relation to the Records Committee. He won that battle but it should not have to he a battle. Few people have his courage. Flections en bloc are always to he deprecated and. if no chance is given to add names. despised. Membership of "The Ringing World " Committee only received the consideration if deserved as a result and in the wake of criticism of the paper.
If a memher of a committee is not re-elected by his Society then moly in excentional circumstances, such as for membership of the Towers and Belfries Committee, should be be made an honorary member, because those who are elected should be given the opportunity of taking a more active phrt.

The provision for 24 honorary members reduces the honour of such an election. This year, with ouly 12 months of the session to run and no further meeting, a very respected member of the Exercise was made an honorary member with work in mind that could easily have been done by others on the Council. If the presence of this person was particularly desired, should be not have been requested to lirst seek election by his Society rather than bolster the ranks of the honorary?

The Council meets once a year and has to cram its business into one short day. Why not have the meeting on Saturday and continue on Monday, or on Monday and Tuesday, so the motions and reports can be thoroughly debated instead of having the mad rush that usually occurs, such as in 1967, when nothing of importance was resolved, everything being referred to committees to save cime? This remedy is unimaginative and, indeed, useless if one takes as a typical example the peal of half-lead Spliced Surprise Major. The usual answer to my question on a two-day Council is that the clerics could not attend or the Standing Committee could not meet beforehand, but neither is necessarily true. A! Worcester about five minutes remained for " any other business" and the secrelary had ample important matters to fill this several times over. A shorter form of this article was intended to be an "A.O.B." speech but was excluded by one of the very points it intended to raise An ideal solution would be to begin the meeting on Sunday afternoon, continuing on Monday. Ringing could then commence after the meeting, continuing on Tuesday. By increasing the-business time, the ringing could be curtailed a little, but this might not be a bad thing if the quality of both were improved. To those who do not spend their spare time during the week-end ringing peals, it must he apparent that the ringing on the tower grabs is deplorable. except the coach tours. I am sure that many local ringers lose respect for the Council because they feel that members cannot strike a bell. The number of nonCouncil "hangers-on" is amazing. causing frayed tempers and had manners. Why not circulate the itineraries to members with the agenda and not publish them in "The Ringing World "
I would urge that the Standing Committee for the next session be carefully selected, with sufficient non-prejudiced new hlood to have a complete re-think of the whole week-end.
Editor's note. - We print this interesting and thoughtful article not because we agrec with a!l its suggections but in the hope that it will produce some useful comments.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

The rest of the band in the peal of Braunstone at Mitcheldean on September 2nd would like to congratulate Christopher Hims on the way he rang the treble. This was Chris"s first peal, and a very confident performance.
During the Sawley Flower Festival (Bank Holiday week-cind) almost 1.000 visitors saw the bells and watched short touches of Grandsire. Stedman and Little Bob Major.
Mr. Robert Ward, of Croxton Kerrial, Leics, aged 75, rang his first quarter peal on Thursday. September Sth. He has been a ringer and chorister at Croxton for about 60 years. This is the first time he had had a chance to rine in a quarter. He rang without a mistake.
After the peal at Yatelev. Hants. on September 7th. which is believed to be the first peal by a visiting band since 1899, the ringers were entertained to tea by Mr. and Mrs. C. Hall. They would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Hall very much for their eenerous hospitality, and also the Vicar. the Rev. I. Greensides, for kindly giving permission. The lower is built mainly with ships' timber, with brick facing at its base.

The peal at North Lopham, Norfolk, on August 21st, was rung, with best wishes for the Rev. C. E. Beever's retirement. It was largely through his efforts that the whole church, including the derelict ring of bells, was restored.
We have just received informarion of the death of Mr. G. H. Hancock, of Willoushby, Warwickshire, a former member of the Daventry Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. A fuller report will appear next week.

To celebrate the appointment of Lord Rhodes, of Saddleworth, former Member of Parliament for Ashton-under-Lyne, as Lord Lientenant of Lancashire. a peal of London Surprise Major was rung at Ashton on August 2Ist.

Regarding the peal of Treble Bob Minor at the Church of St. Thomas the Martyr. Oxford, on August 29th, the opportunity was taken to consider it a peal to celebrate the golden wodding of John and Elsie Humphrevs. Mr. Humphreys is the people's warden at his church.

FIFTY YEARS AFTERFriday, August 30th, 1918-Friday, August 30th, 1968.

It was precisely 50 years since Gerald Moorhouse had rung his first peal when a band assembled to ring at Prestbury to ring a peal of Plain Bob Minimus on handbells. Gerald conducted the peal. one of his father's compositions, it being his tirst peal on 12 bells as conductor.

The conductor of Gerald's lirst peal was Percy J. Johnson, and the other two members of the band were John W. Moorhouse (Gerald's father) and Malcolm Moorhouse (Gerald's brother). In the years 1918 to 1931 Gerald rang 28 peals, mainly on handbells, on eight and ten bells. These peals include a number of famous names in ringing circles-Miss Edith K. Parker. Harold J. Poole, Walter P. Whitehead. Josiah Morris, Leslie W. G. Morris and Alfred H. Pulling. For business reasons Gerald gave up peal ringing in 1931, but continued to take "The Ringing World."
On his retirement in 1965 Gerald found that he could once again devote time to peal ringing and since August of that year his total has grown to 141 peals. These include 10.032 Plain Boh Maximus. 13.140 Kent Maximus and 19.620 Plain Bob Royal. all on handbells. In the field of method ringing his handbell peals include Spliced Surprise Major to six methods, Yorkshire Royal and Oxford Maximus.
In 1966 Gerald moved to Prestbury from Cheadle Hulme (where there are no church bells), and since that time the bells have been recast and rehung. This is in no small way due to Gerald's influence. He and Herbert Heaton are now training a young band there.
Following the handbell peal on August 30th. some 16 ringers and friends were entertained to a tine spread laid on by Gerald's wife, Molly. Gerald was presented with a suitably engraved brass bell 10 mark the occasion. His peal total to date makes interesting reading.

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION

The Ilchester Branch held its Septumber quarterly meeting at St. Mary's, Hardington Mandeville (the nome tower of vice-chairman Mr. Gilbert Rendell and Assistant Ringing Master. Mr. W. E. Turner, on September 7th.
The Guild service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. W. A. Murtin. with Miss L. L. Jearum as organist. An excellent leas was provided in the Village Hall, and at the business meeting following, under the chairmanship of the Rev. C. J. B. Marshall. new nemhers were elected, namely Mr. H. I. Wheeler (West Coker) and Mr. W. Bennett (Hardington). Certificates were issued to Miss $S$ Mayell (Somerton) and Messrs. R. Chedzoy and G. Gillan (Preston). Twelve names were suggested for the proposed Association Rull of Honour of 40 or more ycars' service 10 ringing, and Mr. Roger Fox (Yeovil) was proposed as a diocesan instructor.
A half-day outing was arranged for October 12th by the Ringing Master, details of which may be obtained from him (Martock 232y) or the Branch hon. secretary (West Coker 208). All towers will be fairly near at hand.

Votes of thanks were proposed to the Rector, Miss Jearum, the tower master (Mr. Gilloert Rendell) and Mrs. R. E. 11. Rendell and her tea ladies for the excellent teat.
Ringing on this popular light six was under the direction of the Branch Ringing Master (Mr. Gordon Rendell) and included a record number of methods for an Ilchester Branch meeting.

AN INTERESTING ISSUE

The September news letter of the Northampton Branch of the Peterborough Diocesall Guild is full of interest to ringers. In addition to Guild news and dates, a quiz. a short story, the letter includes some useful short touches of Grandsire Doubles and details of local practice nights. A quotation from a Leicester incumbent, of 1870 is typical of its time. "Bellringers," he wrote, "are not all that I could wish them to be ... but . . if it be that you have known some very bad men among bellringers, let me say that 1 have known some very yuiet, decent, well-conducted men. . . . . One thing I must say at any rate for ringers, they are not fools. They could not ring if they were." We ringers must be grateful for this last tribute at least.

88-NOT OLT !

If you are ringing the 6th or 7 th at Kettering Parish Church you will see opposite a pecal board recording a local band peal of Grandsire Triples on December 30th. 1903, and that the ringer of the fifth bell in that peal was Robert F. Iurner. You may say "What is remarkable about that?" Robert F. Turner still rings the fifth or any other bell for that matter, and is now a lively 88 !

Eight members of the local band. including Boh, attempted a quarter neal of Plain Bub Major to celebrate the occasion on September ist, 1968 , but a slip halfway brought this to an end.
However, the ringing for Sunday Evensong continued with Stedman conducted by R. F. T.. and some Double Norwich.

Bob is the last surviving member of a famous local band, which. prior to the 19141918 war, rang peals of Stedman, Superlative and London Surprise Major
Although the present local hand does not reach these heights of method ringing. the hells are rung always for two services each Sunday. and forming part of the band is Bob Turner; and long may he continue to do so! B.A.

REPAIR OF CRACKED BELLS

We acknowledge the September issue of Copper," a journal produced by the Copper Development Association. It contains a long, interesting and well illustrated article by Mr. K. J. Clews, of the Welding Institute, on the repair of cracked bells.
The Institute acknowledges help in its investigation from the Council for the Care of Churches and from Mr. R. W. B. Clouston. Of 90 cracked bells examined, almost half of them were cracked in the crown, usually associated with the presence of a cast-in wrought iron staple from which the clapper hangs Examples of bells successfully treated are given. including the treble, by John Darbic in 1676, of the peal at Groton. Suffolk. It was in this village that John Winthrop, first Governor of Massachusetts. U.S.A., was born. He founded the city of Boston, Masse, and his birthplace is commemorated in the name known to all our readers-Groton School.

NEWTON ABBOT BELLS

Newton Abbot is planning to have its bells rehung and tower repaired. At the September Urban Council meeting it was stated that the estimated cost was $£ 2.000$. of which $£ 600$ would be spent on the bells. So far $£ 450$ has been subscribed and Mr. Shobbrook, chairman of the Appeal Committec, said he was confident that the money required would be raised without any charge to the rates.

The proposal is that the Council should take over the tower, which contains six bells cast in 1772. The bells would be rung on special national and local occasions, and an assurance was given that there would be no annoyance to residents. This historic tower is in the main shopping street and Mr. R. B. Smith appealed to the Council for the tower to be left as a "visual insignia" of the town.

RESTRICTED PEAL RINGING AT STOW

By kind permission of the Rev. W. H. Way, Rector of Stow-on-the-Wold, the hells of St. Edward's Church, Stow-on-thewold. are now available for peal ringing. It is pointed out, however. that peal ringing will he restricted to one peal per year, and will be by invitation only.
Invitations will he issued hy Mr. L. C. Dowdeswell and will be confined to members of the Gloucester and Bristol Association. preferahly to ringers of the Stow-on-the-Wold Branch.

The peal for 1968 was rung on Monday. Sentemher 2nd. by members of the Stow-on-theWold and Chinning Camnden Deaneries. The peal for 1969 has already been booked for a local band.

VARIATIONS ON PLAIN DOUBLES METHODS  (Continued from page 719)

Section III.-These are contanned in paragraphs (a) to (1), (n) to (t) and (v). It must oe emphasised that in Section 11 no method or variation uses as a call the plain lead of another method in this section.
Variation 94 is Queen's Park Var.
Section 11.-By rationalising the calls for Newark (Wallfower bobs and singles) and for Wollaton (Pink bobs and singles) and therr New and Reverse alterations, it has become necessary to change the names of twelve methods/variations. Delete the variations given in paragraph (m), page 595.
In this listing of variations on the methods with two hunts, the first letter gives the bob used, and the second letter the single used. Thus, New Antelope rung with a Wallfower Bob and Pinks single is Westleigh variation.
The variations on Reverse Wollaton and Reverse New Wollaton will be given when they are rung in a peal and named.

FROM OUTSIDE THE TOWER

MUST admit that whenever I go on a ringing outing I am invariably one of the first people up each tower and always stand in for more than my fair share of touches. Yet it suddenly occurred to me the other day that some of my happiest recollections of other people's bells were of occasions, not when I was on the end of a rope, but when I was on the outside of a tower, listening.

It happened like this. On a Saturday in mid-August we were visited by a band from North Derbyshire. As I had to go over to Glossop, another member of our local company met the visitors. I returned, earlier than expected, just after they had got under way, but instead of going up to the tower I climbed the hilliside above the church to listen. Not a bad standard, either, though they tended to rush our easy-going eight a little too much, with consequent loss of their full-mouthed tone.
Sitting there in the warm sunshine my thoughts went back to another occasion when I listened to a ring of bells from a hillside.
It was in December, 1963, and I had decided to have a Saturday afternoon with the Colne Valley Beagles. We set off at 2 p.m., on foot, of course, from the Hanging Gate in Diggle, but it must have been 3.30 before we found a hare, right on the bleak sweep of Stanedge Moor, the watershed between Yorkshire and Lancashire. She was a mountain hare and gave us a good run along the crest of the Wessenden Valley towards Holme Moss, but turning back towards Alderman we lost her on the edge of Saddleworth Moor as the light was fading. The weather had taken a turn for the worse, too, for it was sleeting heavily. The fair weather hunters had long since departed and there were only six or seven of us left with those merry little dogs at our feet as we advanced, bent double against the weather, into the growing darkness.
We came over the edge of the moor at Pots and Pans. Below us we could hear someone ringing at Saddleworth. I do not know who was in the band; perhaps Joe Burgess or the ringers from Roughtown, for it was closed lead Oxford Minor with never a blow struck wrong. I paused to listen to the welcoming sound and as I pulled up so did the other hunters. Though all non-ringers, each was entranced with the magic of the bells as I was, and their music cheered our footsteps as we descended that lonely hillside.

From a winter evening in the high Pennines my thoughts turned to a summer afternoon at Whitby, the song of the bells dancing across the waters of the harbour from the ruins of the Abbey; to Meltham ringers, heard quite by chance one Saturday after a wedding, bringing their bells down in perfect rounds; to some superb Royal heard at Ashton one Sunday evening last winter (we ring in the afternoon in winter); and to a touch of Stedman on the back eight at Lincoln. I had left the ringing room for a breath of air and was standing on the gallery to the south of St. Hugh's tower looking over the flat lands towards St. Botolph's, a mere speck on the far horizon, and listening to the bells move from rounds to Queens to Tittums and back to rounds without either fault or hesitation.

There were other times, too, of course. A peal of Spliced Surprise Maximus at Halifax by the Lancashire band. I do not pretend to understand 12 -bell ringing and much of the peal sounded a jumble to me, but at regular intervals during the period I was listening, the back bells would come together giving sudden order and dignity. And a touch of Cambridge Royal by members of the Yorkshire Association on Beverley Minster bells, the glorious tenor singing out amongst her lighter sisters.

I can recall one other occasion which stands in my mind most vividly. It was when I was in my mid-teens, years before ever I set foot on a tower stair. We were camping for the week-end at Youlgreave, near Haddon Hall. I shall never forget the music of those lovely, deep-toned bells, rung by the local company for morning service, rolling down that peaceful valley, proclaiming to the hills and dales of Derbyshire the majesty and wonder of the God whose praises they sang. I knew then that one day I would be a ringer.

Keeping a local band together is often a disappointing task. Too few recruits, irregular attendance, late arrivals, six bells rung when there are eight bells in the tower, call changes when one would have preferred a touch of London. I do not despair. When things look at their blackest I think of those happy experiences in the past, when other people's ringing has given me so much pleasure. And I think of all the work and the patience and the effort which must have been involved in enabling bands to perform with such an excellent degree of skill.What alternative is there left but to carry on in the Church's service, hoping that we, too, may occasionally give to others, on the outside of our tower, the pleasure which other people's ringing has given to us?

PROGRESSIVE LENGTH OF PUDSEY

Dear Sir, $\rightarrow$ The following composition, which I have obtained from the composer, was that used for the long length rung on November 11th, 1967. I hope that this will satisfy those who have recently questioned the validity of this peal as it has been proved since I received it.

RINGING IN LANCASHIRE

By Canon A. HODGSON,

President of the Lancashire Association of Change Ringers

LANCASHIRE, famous for producing the best comedians, and pop singers of fabulous reputation, also enjoys the privilege of having nearly 200 ringing towers and, generally speaking, bands to man them.
The Association covers the whole of the county, including the attractive Furness area together with a small part of Westmorland, and we are not surprised to find that visitors are amazed by the beauty of our countryside. From the plain of Southport and the Fylde to the moorlands of the eastern boundaries and the fells and hills of the north we can offer possibly more real variety than almost any other part of the country.
This same characteristic is found in the variety of location of our towers. From the vast conurbations of "Cottonoplis " and Merseyside we move into what were once essentially the "cotton" towns, to the smaller market towns and into the small villages of the Lune Valley and Furness. True dialect is dying out but there is still the rich variety of "twang," especially in the north and in South Westmorland, and each town expresses its character in its ringers.
Lancashire has also been a ridiculously hardworking county. Men and women had to work to keep up with the swift-running cotton loom or the spinning frame, and this characteristic still marks a good deal of our ringing. We are fortunate in having some very fine leadership in all the 11 Branches, and the meetings of the Association Committee are a joy to share in because of the fellowship, keenness and forthright speaking.

The county has always had an honoured place in the list of "firsts" and record peals, and in recent times the explorations into Spliced Surprise with all the work in each method have given a fillip to that aspect of peal ringing outside our boundaries. A more recent experiment in Glasgow Surprise Major added "grist" to the correspondence columns of "The Ringing World "! But we hope there are no hard feelings. We may not all be Al Reads or Dora Bryans but we retain our sense of humour !

All that being said, it is good to be able to say that the main work of the Association, which is the ringing by the Sunday service bands to call men to worship "whether they hear or whether they forbear,", goes on in the great majority of our towers. No doubt, as elsewhere throughout the country, the quality and the loyalty vary also. What can be confidently asserted is that our older ringers set an excellent example in this work as well as in the instruction of the younger and in all aspects of ringing, whilst we are blessed with a steady flow of young blood, many of whom have the perseverance to become change ringers and, in course of time, conductors of peals.

We Lancashire folk often tend to be a noisy lot covering up a suggestion of an inferiority complex in comparing ourselves with the more polished South. Let us then leave at this. We may and do thank God for our fellowship together, for the opportunity of serving Him and His Church in so pleasant a manner. for those who acceot responsibility in our affairs and for the grand hody of youngsters who back them up so loyally.

THE WDODHDUSE RINGING MACHINE

By CYRIL CROSSTHWAITE

IT is now several years since an account of this machine appeared in the pages of "The Ringing World," so readers may well be wondering what has happened to it. For much of the year it lies dormant under its glass case at Preston, but occasionally an inquiry from a visiting ringer or party of ringers results in the cover being removed, connections made and a variety of methods being rung perfectly on its eight handbells.

Its greatest event during the last 12 months, however, occurred earlier this summer. when it was taken from Preston on the Friday night and set up at Blackburn, where it gave many demonstrations during the following day in connection with the Blackburn Cathedral tower's open day.

This resulted in some publicity in the local Press in which the reporter-probably as a result of being told that the operator merely had to "programme" half a lead of any method and the machine would then proceed to ring this method-opened his article thus: "Science master Mr. G. F. Woodhouse was years ahead of his time. Long before the electronic era he had designed a computer." However, the remainder of the article was by no means as misleading, and gave quite a good account of the history of the machine-of the early trials of its inventor and the infinite patience of its rebuilder, Mr. G. Thwaites.
This publicity led to several interesting letters. some from old acquaintances of the late G. F. Woodhouse, reminiscing of the hours he had spent in his workshop trying to perfect his earlier models, and of the pleasure he derived from demonstrating it to his friends. One couple even made the journey to Preston to see it in action again! Another letter came from the Science Museum, where the "Carter Machine " is housed. Apparently they were not aware of the existence of another ringing machine, and were eager to acquire photographs of it. These were promptly supplied, and so, I trust, dispelled any doubts they may have had on the possibility of this "other" ringing machine really existing.
At the last Central Councll meeting a suggestion was made that both the Carter and Woodhouse machines should be on display together. and it would indeed be interesting. It is doubtful if these two inventors ever met each other: and certainly they both seemed to have worked on quite distinctly different lines. It remains to be seen whether or not this suggestion will be realised. At the moment the Woodhouse Machine requires some minor overhauling. The diagram writing mechanism is not functioning properly; and in recent demonstrations occasional faults have occurred with the programming buttons (resulting in one instance of a course of Glasgow coming round at hand!)
Unfortunately, Mr. Gordon Thwaites, its rebuilder, is working abroad at the moment and is not therefore available to service it. We are hoping, however, that some other capable technician will come forward and offer his services!

MANCHESTER TOWN HALL AND ITS BELLS

By ALAN WARD

THHE first Town Hall of Manchester stood on a site now occupied by Llovds Bank at the corner of King Street and Cross Streetome 200 yards to the north of the present building. It was built in 1825 by Francis Goodwin at a cost of $£ 40.000$. and was used until 1877. The facade-a reproduction of the Erechtheion of Athens-was re-erected in 1912 in Heaton Park, one of the largest parks in the city, situated on the north side of Manchester on the Prestwich boundary.
Th present Town Hall-known to all the local ringers as "The Cottage" stands on a commanding site facing Albert Square on an open space so named in honour of His Royal Highness Prince Alhert, Prince Consort to Queen Victoria. The building was designed by Sir Alfred Waterhouse in 131h cenlury Gothic style and cost $£ 1,000.000$. The foundation stone was laid on October 2kith 1868. and the building was officially opened on September 13 th . 1877 . When opened. it was described at the time as "unmatched for size. completeness and adaptahility to its purpose amongst the municipal structures of Furope."
The ouilding is triangular in plan view and in each adex there is a granite spiral staircase of Scorch. Irish and Welsh granite respectively. The grand staircase from the main entrance to the large hall is of English granite. The most noteworthy external feature is the 280 foot tower which dominates Alhert Square From the tof of the tower on a clear day there is an excellent view of the entire citv and of the surrounding country as far as the Pennines and Welsh mountains.
The four dials of the clock are each 15 feet 9 inches in diatmeter and above them are the words "Teach us to number our day. Fach minute hand is 10 feet long and the hour hand are 6 feet long. The snace he tween each minute is nine and a half inches and the hours are marked ty fleurs-de-lis inctead of the usual figures.

THE MAIN ENTRANCE

A striking feature of the entrance is the patterned marble mosaic of the floor and ceiling. In the centre is a geometric decign in Roman tiles discovered by the architect in a garden rockery and preserved in this unusual manner
In the centre of the ceiling there is an ornate candelabrum, suspended from an oaken trapdoor hearing a pilt renroduction of the Roval Coat of Arms. Through this trapdoor the bells can be lowered from the inwer

THE LARGF HALI

At the head of the grand staircase is the entrance to the large hall. which measure 100 feet by 50 feet and is lised for the principal municinal functions. It has richls de corated panels on the ceiling hearing the arms of cities and countries with which Manchester has trading connections. The walls are decorated by a carved and panelled oak dado with 12 panels hearing mural naintings depicting incidents and neople from the city nast. Against the furthest wall from the entrance is the organ. a maenificent insirument bv Cavialle-Coll. erected in 1877 and rehuill in 191?. This instrument has five manuals and over 5.000 pines. The hall is frequently used for mid-dav nromenade concerts hy the B.B.C Northern Orchestra.

THE BFLLS

- Denoter ringing tells.

With a total weizht of 34 tons 6 cwt. 2 ur. 6 Ih.. this was the heaviest rine of hells in anv one lower in Grear Britain. The bourdon (bell 21) was named "Great Ahel " after Alderman Ahel Hevwood, who opened the huilding in 1877.
The first neal to the rung on the bells was f.139 of Grandsire Catery on January 14th 1888. by a hand from St. Michael and All Angels: Ashion-under-Lvne. and the last peat on the hells was 5.000 of Stedman Cater, on June fith. 19:5 The hells were renuted to he difficult to handle and only 17 peals were rung: Grandsire Trinles 1. Siedman Trinles 1. Grandsire Caters 7. Stedman Caters s. Kent Treble Boh Royal ?. Of these, nine were rinn with lun men on the trnor, hut the three neslh of Kent Treble Boh Royal were :all rung with the tenor lurned in single-handed.

Shortly after the first peal was rung a resident band was formed from the ranks of the Manchester City Constabulary, and they still continue the tradition today. When the resident band was first formed, ringing at Manchester Town Hall was by invitations only, but the Jown Hall authorities thought it right and proper to do away with the closed shop business and allow ringers from all over the country to have the pleasure of ringing on their beils.

In September. 1936, all the hells except the nourdon were lowered from the tower and left on view in Albert Square where the citizens of Manchester could see them hefore being taken back to Loughborough for recasting. From the metal of the old 20 hells Messrs John Tavlor and Co. cast a new ring of 23 bells, which included a ring of 13 with a tenor of 424 cwit, at a cost of $£ 1,200$. including repairs to the tower.
An interesting feature of the new hells is the inscription on the tenor, which reads " Recast for the Coronation of H.M. King Gearge V1. The new bells were originally cast 10 commemorate the Coronation of King Edward VIII. and the tenor with its appropriate inscription was ready when the abdication was announced. The raised word and figures "Edward VIII" were removed and "George VI" cut into the metal in their place. When rehung. the bells comprised a ring of 13 bells and an electrically-controlled carillon using all the 23 bells, which played each day at 9 a.m., 12 noon and 3 p.m.

Six tunes, recorded on perforated rolls similar to those of a pianola, can be played on the carillon. The tunes are . Ye Banks and Braes." "Drink to me onls with thine eyes." *Bluebells of Scotland." ." Men of Harlech."
All Through the Night " and "Gather ye rosebuds while ye may." There is also a roll which will produce a course of Grandsire Triples on the light eight.
The clock. which was installed hy Messrs. Gillett and Bland of Croydon in 1887, 88 at a cost of $£ 3.485$, is reputed to be one of the finest timekeepers in the country. It strikes the Westminster quarters on 6. 7. 8 and 11 of the ringing hells, and the hour is struck on the $8 \frac{1}{1}$ ion bourdon.
The new bells were opened on May 8th. and the first peal-5.037 Grandsire Cinques-was rung on July 3 rd the same vear. The peal was rung by members of the National Police Guild repreventing Manchester City. Birmingham City. Leicester City, Bolton Borough and Livernool City Police Forces.

For many years it has been customary for the bells to be rung on the occasion of an outstanding event. Among the events commemorated were the Reliefs of Mafcking and Ladysmith. the end of the Boer War and World War I and the two nuhlic celebration. after World War II-VE: Day and V'J Day. They were also rung to mark the accessions of their Majesties King Fdward VII. King George V. King Gearge VI. Queen Ilizabeth II and the hirihs of all the roval children. During the second World War, when the ringing of church bells was prohihited. the han was twice lifted. as the suggestion of the King and the Prime Minister Mr. Winston Churchill. The first was on Christmas morning. when the hells were rung for the festive seavon and also to mark the victory of the River Plate on December 13th. 1939. The second occasion when they were rung was 10 mark the victory at El Alamein in November. 194?. From then onwards the hells remained silent until VE night-May 8ith. 1945-when they announced the victory in the largest multitude ever to he seen in Albert Square
To date. 62 peals have heen rung on the new 12. Most of the peals have heen cither for the Lancashire Association or the National

The hells are rung for official occasions on Spring. Bank Holiday Monday for the annual Anglican Whit Walks. MayorMaking Day. Civic Sunday. Remembrance Sunday. the annual Christmas Carol Service. Christmas morning and New Year's Eve, but due to administrative offices in the building. employing people working normal office hours, the bells have never been tung when Royalty have been in the city.

THE TOWN HALL EXTENSION

In the late 1920's the Mayor and Corporation decided that the Town Hall. as it stood. was not large enough to accommodate all the departments under one roof. An extension on the south side, designed by Mr. E. Vincent Hurtis, A.R.A.. at a cost of $£ 75.000$. was opened by H.M. King George V1 on May 1ilth. 1938.

THF COUNCIL SUITE

The Council suite in the Town Hall extension consists of a Council Chamber and anteroom, four committee raoms. iwo consultation rooms and members' common rooms.
An interesting feature is the voing machinery. Each memher's desk is numbered and fitted with iwo huttons marked "Aye" and "No." and the member of the Council records his or her vote hy pressing the appropriate button. The result of the vote is shown on the indicator panels on the wall and on the Lord Mayor's tahle. Simultaneously a permanent record of each vote is made by an insitument housed in an adjoining room.
In 1966 the Town Hall and the Cathedral set the pattern for the North's "Operation Spring Clean. The old Gothic huilding of the Town Hall was cleaned at a cost of $£ \pm 6,000$ and it has now restored the building to its original beauty.

Editor's note.-We apologise to Mr. Ward for the omission of some of his interesting article hecaue of lack of space.

I.EEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

Ihe lost monthly meeting of the leeds und District Amalgamated Sociecy was held on Suturday, August 31st. at All Saints'. Otley.

Over 30 ringers attended the meeting. including some advance memhers of a visiting party from Hampshire. who were touring Yorkshire towers during the following week. A good standard of ringing was enjoyed. particularly after tea, when several well-struck courses of Cambridge. Yortshire and Lincolnshire were rung.

At the business meeting the gathering was entertained by four members of the local church youth. Three girls and one bearded youth, armed with guitars. sang several devotional songs in the modern idiom. One of the ladv guitarists also proved to be a competent member of the local hand.

The next meeting of the Society will he nt Septecober 3ith at Woodlesford and Rothwell. R.C.

OBITUARY

MR. WHLIAM PYE

With much regret we report the death of Mr. William Pye on August 30th at the age of 71 .

Hill was taught the rudiments of the art at Newchurch (Warrington) before he joined the Armed Forces in the First World War. In 1922 he moved to Manchester, where he joined the City Constabulary and the band at the Town Hatl. When Joe Wilson retired from the police forte in 1938 Bill made made "Chief Ringer" at the Trown Hall until he relinguished the position to Richard Benson upon his own retirement in 1948. Most of Bill's peals were rung for the Lancashire Association and the National Police Guild. He was a member of the band which rang the first peal of Cinques for the Police Guild at Leicester. and also rane in the first peal on the new II at the Town Hall.

After his retirement from the Police Force. Bill joined the Cathedral band and rang there until he was forced to give up climbing to the belfry tower hecause of an abdominal complaint. He then hecame churchwarden at his local parish church-Holy Trinity. Platt

The funeral service took place on September 4th at Holy Trinity, followed by cremation at Munchester Crematorium, which was attended by relatives. close friends and members of the National Police Guild and the L.ancashire

Association. A quarter peal of Grandsire Caters was rung at the Cathedral the following Sunday evening by members of the Cathedral hand and close friends representing both the Police Guild and the Lancushire Association.

MR. G. H. HANCOCK

The death of Mr. G. H. Hancock, of Willoughby, Warwickshire, occurred ui Rugby Hospital on August 30th at the age of 64 yeats. George. an active ringer until recently, was a native of Willoughby and together with his father and brother Fred was a founder member of the Daventry Branch of the Peterhorouph Diocesan Guild when this was formed in 1925. He had held office. first as a committee member and later as Branch president for 20 years (from 1943 to 1963 ) and was highly respacted. He was. amongst other thinge, a chorister and member of the P.C.C.

The funeral service, held at St. Nicholas' Willoughby, on September 4th. Was conducted hy Rev. W. A. B. Barham and was attended by many ringing friends from both Coventry and Peterborough Diocesan Guilds. As the cortege left the church the hells were rung half-mumled to various methads by friends present. A well-struck half-muffled peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung at Staverton on the preceding Monday.

EDGAR SKIPSEYS TOUR THROUGH THE NORTH MIDLANDS

BASED on Chesterfield. and supported hy some 20 ringers from Somerset and the london area, this nine-day holiday proved highly successful in many ways. It will be remembered particularlv for its late nightsthe hotel closed at $11.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., and one group found themielves locked out at 11.45 -for its early morning starts. when two or three of the party regularly failed to make the grade, for huge late night meals in the steak bar and Chinese restaurant. For the friendly hattle in the TV lounse. for the conductor who could keep everyone right except himself. for handhell ringing almosi drowned by noise from the weir at llam. for peculiar map-reading by second-rate navigators, and for many excellent rings of bells, fine churches and ffiendly welcomes.
Most of Sunday was spent in Derby, but a quarter peal of Double Norwich Major was rung at Ilkeston in the afternoon. while the remainder of the party drove to Dovedale. found a ring of five in the charming little church at Ilam. and rang before an andience which would have done better to have spent their time studying the Saxon crosses and font and the fine manor house behind the church.
Only two peals were arranged. both unsuccessful, but the errant conductor at Ashover made partial amends hy calling a duarter of eight-splised. Quedgeley Surprise Major at Bolsover proved uphill work and was low quite early. enabling the hand to reach Ashover in time to grab the tower. Meanwhile thase not involved in the peal attempts visited Haddon Hall. enjoying the house. gardens. tea and company on a sunny afternoon. They also drove (?) up a steep hill for an early evening stroll on the heather-clad hill. top hefore rejoining the main party at Staveley for a local practice.

As some 65 towers were visited during the tour, it would prove horing to list them all. hut among the hest remembered are Repton for line bells. graceful spire and Saxon crypt. Glossop for the difficulty of finding the church and the impossibility of finding the eighth hell rope. Buxton (Fairficld). where the Vicar was wiring the church for a flower festival. Bradhourne, where we were very late (our apologies to the two gentlemen who met us). Lincoln Cathedral and Southwell, both for magaificent architecture and the latter as one of the few anti-clockwise rings of 12 . Wirkeworth was the only planned tower where we failed to ring. but we were 20 minutes late arriving, having previously made our way to Alton Towers instead of Alton Village.
Eust Retford and Melton Mowbray provided enjoyable ringing. and at Oakham we were photographed en masse with three cameras -one at a time-wielded for our benefit by a local ringer. We did some unnecessary travelling in Leicester. especially those left behind at traffic lights when we were led from the Cathedral to St. John's by Mr. Shirley Burton. After wending a circuitous route to the next lower we were told: "It's a straight road from St. John's to St. Margaret's." Not the way we went.
Near the end of the sour the thanks of all the patty were expressed to Edgar and his wife for their vety able organisation of the holiday, and the London contingent then left for home. The rest of us went to Netherseale. where the tour officially closed with three leads of Bristol and a course of Double Court Triples. A second contingent then left for Birmingham, where they were to grab three towers on the Sunday before reaching home.
The six remaining Somerset ringers refurned for a final night in Chesterfield. For their Sunday morning ringing they had to do a listle emergency repair work at Newhall (a South Derbyshire six), where they found two hells down. one with a broken stay, and four hells up. one without rope. An old bell rope, which hud served for years as an emergency tow rope, was rescued from a car hoot and pressed into service, and Stedman Doubles and Cambridge Minor rung. thanks to the Vicar and a local ringer who willingly gave us the necessary permission. Indeed. we are most grateful to all incumbents who allowed us 10 ring. and to the many local ringers who met us. also to those of the party who entertained us in the evenines with their stories of past exploits. Methods rung included London Sure prise Royal, ten-spliced Surprise Major, and some rather shaky Camhridge Surptise Maximus. It was not entirely the fault of the hells that Reverse Siedman did nor "go" at Ilam, but the fourth certainly wanter some pulling, didn't it, Edgar? H-M M.

HOLIDAYING IN THE EMERALD ISLE

CHE idea was 10 organise a holiday, with some ringing, that would be equally enjoyable to non-ringing wives and friends. Our organiser, John Smith, did very well in providing for all tastes on this trip 10 Eire. He Whas Very ably assisted by the secretary of the difficulty in persuading him that we did not want to ring all day every day 1
The party assembled on Friday and Sature day, August 2nd and 3rd. Jack and Joyce Hryor travelled by car and ferry via Holyhead, Bob Smith. Bernard Groves, Ron Andrew. Martin Howe and Peter Muchlinski in But's car via Liverpool. whilst Jack Millhouse with his sister, Betty. and her friend. Barbara. came over on the night crossing from Holyhead. Mesdames Andrew, Smith (and haby Lisa), and Groves and Brenda Ludlum travelled by air from Manchester. This brought the first crisis when it was announced that the flight would not arrive until 1.30 p.m.. the time arranged to start the first peal at Droghed: This was overcome by leaving Joyce with a car at the airport and the rest travelled to Drogheda. One amusing sight at Drogheda was a horse and cart parked in the main

At the church we were met by Geoffrey and Margaret Parker and their son, John, to complete the party, to the great relief of the otguniser. After being welcomed by Fred Dukes and shown how to stop the organ motor, we set off for a peal of Cambridge on the fine eight at St. Peter's Church. The lack of sleep during the previous night was evident, but Bernard managed to keep us all in order and we completed the peal in 3 hours and 12 minutes.

Back to Dublin and a reasonably early night. On Sunday we rang at St. Patrick's Cathedral for the morning service and those who were brave enough ascended the open spiral staircase to the ringing chamber of the Augustinian Church of St. John the Baptist to ring on a rather odd anti-clockwise ring of ten. After lunch we travelled down to Glendalough in the heart of the Wicklow Mountains, a most delightful spot, and then over the mountain pass to Blessington. Reference to Dove's *. Guide" says . St Mary (6, 15 cwit.), unringable. antioclockwise," and Dove is not far wrons: however, we did manage to ring some short louches for Evensong, including a course of Cambridete Minor. We were met here by Peter Brown, who brought with him an invitetion to visit Mr. and Mrs. Colin Lewis at their home in Bray. Led by Peter and his friend, George. we recrossed the mountain range via the Sally Gap and enjoyed most pleasant hour and coffee at Bray hefore returning to Dublin.

Monday was Bank Holiday in Ireland and we met quite an amount of traffic on our journey to Arklow, a very pleasunt journey which took us through the Vale of Clare. During the afternoon we enjoyed the hest ringing of the week on the bells of St. Suviour's (tenor 22 cwt . 2 gr. 19 lh.$)$ and marvelled at the feats of J. W. Washbrook as recorded on the walls. The method was Lincolnshire Surprise Major, but alas, after two and a half hours.
Stand" was called due to a miscall-by a Lincolnshite conductor, too! On the return ourney to Dublin some of us stopped at Bray and were privileged to ring on the grand eight (tenor 28 cwt.).

Tuesday was a non-ringing day and the five cars set out, by different routes, to travel to Cahir, which was to have been our H.Q. for the next four days. but for various reasons we left Cahir on Wednesday morning, the men travelling southwards to Cork, whilst the ladies travelled via Tipperary to Killaloe to seek out new quarters for the next three nights.
The ringers were met at St. Fin Barre's Cathedral by the president of the Irish Association. Mr. Fred Bogan. Instead of the planned Double Norwich it was decided to make another attempt for Lincolnshite on this magnificent ring (tenor 27 cwt 201 b. ). After a false staft. due to someone trving to gain access to the ringing chamber. the peal was dulv completed in 3 hours and 26 minutes under the conductorship of Jack Millhouse.

It was a long and tiring journey back to Killaloe.

Thursday was another non-ringing day. Peter and Martín spent the day fishing in the lough but we have not yet seen the results. The rest of the party went their various ways to see the beauty of the west coast area. Some stopped at a small seaside resort, Lahinch. for picnic lunch and then we made out way to see the Clifis of Moher and the magnificent view overlooking Galway Bay. The time passed all too quiskly and we left little time to enjoy the hospitality of the Lakeside Hotel before going on an evening cruise up the length of Lough Derg.
Limerick was the target for Friday. The ladies wished to do some shopping whilst the men made their way to St. Mary's Cathedral (tenor 24 cwt.), where we were welcomed by Mr. Ells, the Ringing Master of the Southern District. On this anti-clockwise ring Bob Smith conducted us safely through a peal of Stedman. Triples to celebrate the 8inith anniversary of the founding of the church.

We reluctantly left Killaloe early on Saturday to return to Dublin: the lack of traffic was most obvious and we covered 50 miles in the first hour. At 12 noon we were joined by Fred Dukes and Peter Brown and started off for a peal ot Boh Royal at St. Patrick's Cathedral. but after $2 \frac{1}{\text { hours "Stand" had }}$ to be called as our tenor ringer was suffering from stomach trouble. As a consolation we were able to have a short ring on the nearby ten at Christ Church Cathedral. after which some dispersed to catch the night boat whilst the remainder stayed until Sunday, when we rang before and after the morning service at St. George s. Dublin.
We all enjoyed our holiday very much. thanks to our organiser. Bob. Fred Dukes and Peter Brown for showing us around, and, above all. thank you. Ireland, for providing such wonderful weather-not a snot of rain all the time-and for the wonderful scenery. Many hope to come again and see some of the places in the West that we could not include in this trip.

SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY GUILD IN SUFFOLK

Thursday. July 4th. Saw the starting of the 1968 summer tour of the Southampton University Guild. We made the journey to Ipswich, our centre for touring Suffolk, in the University minibus, which had certainly aged since last year, but any doubts about ifs roadworthiness were quickly dispelled when the minibus, subjected to an on-the-spot M.O.T. test on the A.30, passed with flying colours. At Ewelme, an excellent lunch, later followed by ringing. was enjoyed at the home of our last year's Master. Robert Partridge: we extend our thanks to Mrs. Partridge.

At Ipswich our numbers were increased and rose to 13 by the weekeend. On Sunday several friends left. but three membera of the Sussex University Guild joined us in the evening

On Friday the fowers were remarkable hut. as we found nearly everywhere, were good. At Clopton the nerves of the Guild were shattered. for apart from the six bells being rung anti-clockwise and not at all easy to ring. we discovered that the centre of the ringing room floor consisted of nothing more than a fragile wooden lattice, which gave a splendid view down into the porsh!

Saturday was perhaps the day of the most impressive churches, especially those at lavenlum and l.ong Melford. At Sudbury the problem of keeping off the clock hammer was solved by our Master, Howard Payne, with a system of wiring (centred on a nearby coafhook) that would have done justice to a signal box!
Sunday was our day of comparative lelsure. After ringing at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich. George Pipe. our captain. directed us to Tuddenham, where we again rang for morning service and afterwards doubled the congregation. After lunch we headed for the beach at Bawdsey. Even though the weather was cool and indifferent. our members enjoyed themselves swimming and. of course. ringing handbells. We then went on 10 ring for evening service at Grundisburgh. the second lightest ten in the world, where we felt at home. (The Guild's home rower of North Stoneham is the lightest ien in Hampshire.)
Monday was uneventful but the churches were interesting. At Uford we udmired the unique carved 12 th century font cover, and at Burgh. our last tower. we almost forgot we were in the 20th century as we rang in the porch around a low hanging oil lantern in the iwilight, the church being lit and heated entirely by oil.
Tuesday was interesting socially, and Dehenham was perhaps the best tower. The flower festival at Otley fuscinated the female memhers. At Henley we met Altie Bowell. the famous Ipswich hellfounder. Wie visited St. Murgaret's. Ipswich. for the practice night hut unfortunately we did not meet as many local ringers there as we had hoped.

Wednesday was the last day of the tour and we took it easy. A late start was made at Ipswich towers to allow for such frivolities as shopping. Before lunch we rang at St. Matthew's and. after a very brisk walk acrois Ipswich. at St. Clement's. The four afternoon towers were all very near Iprwich and. to save further exhaustion, were all sixes. However. six oir our members were sufficiently awake to ring a atarter of Spliced Cambridge / Plain Bob in 33 minutes at Hintlesham

In true S.U.G.C.R. fashion the evening was spent wining and dining. indulging in a slapup meal. bringing us 10 the end of an extremely enioyable 1968 tour. Our thanks are due 10 Robert for driving us and to Susan for writion for the towets.

NORWICH DIOCESAN

ASSOCIATION

Holidays deprived a first-class attendance at the Northern Branch meeting at Garveston on September 7th, but over 30 enjoyed an excellent

The service was conducted by the Rev. $R$ Rye. of the Barnham Broom Group. T. Roost played the organ and the lesson was read by Mr. F. N. Golden Ringing prior to the service was halted by the tenor rope breaking (thanks to Ilenry Tooke for splicing samel. In the absence of the Branch Ringing Master. Mr. M. Cubltt. the bells were rung after the meeting to a variety of methods under the leadership of the Association Ringing Master, Mit. P. Adcock.

A METHODS COMMITTEE DECISION

Dear Sir,-I should be glad if you would publish the following unanumous Decision of the Methods Committee, which is aimed a widening the scope of Amendment 3 passed at Worcester:-

One variation with one or more methods, or two or more variations with or without methods, may be spliced in the same extent provided there is at least one plain lead of each variation and method and at least one culled lead for each call of each variation: if no call is made for a method, the plain course of that method must be different from all plain courses of the variations in the extent. But if all the plain courses of the variations and methods are the same. then one plain lead will be sufficient, and if a call is common to all the variations and methods then one example of that call will be sufficient." Yours fathfully,
C. KFNNETH L.FWIS.

THE LNDERGRADUATES' 12.481

Dear Sir-I have in my possession a copy of the composition used for the peal of 12.48i, pudsey Major rung at Loughborough in November last by eight undergraduates. This composition has been checked and found to be true by someone very competent in such matters. 1 do not intend to send this to you for publication until asked to do so by the composer and conductor. Richard Parker, who, it is rumoured, has mislaid his copy.

I have no intention of being drawn into the progressive lengths/record peals proper controversy, but would like to point out that due to difficulties of arranging a hand for our peal it was not possible to publish notice of the peal heforehand.- Yours faithfully.

NEW MINOR MFTHODS

Dear Sir. - May I. on behalf of Minor ringers who wish to keep their collections of methods correct. ask why the Central Council does not publish lists of new Minor methods similar to those of Major, Royal, etc., yearly?

Since the publication of the excellent " Index" at the end of 1965 there has not anpeared any list of named Minor methods. My records (possibly incomplete) show that some 61). admittedly mainly "irregular." have been rung since then. The volume of material concerning Doubles. Major. etc., is surely out of all proportion to the amount which is actually rung. May I thus appeal to Minor ringers and the Central Council to even un the score in the near future.-Yours faithfully.

PROGRESSIVE LENGTHS AND RECORD PEALS PROPER

Dear Sir.-May I quote the last sentence of Mr. Woodruflie's letter on page 606: "No notice was given of this peal and the composition has not subsequently been published." My committee has the true ligures of this 12.480 Pudsey and 1 was not aware of the rumours being put around that the figures of the peal were lost and the peal probably false. Therefore the only interpretation 1 could put on Mr. Woodruffe's letter was that he was questioning the action of my committee in cubmitting to the Council both progressive lengths and record peals proper under the single heading of "Performances." If he had questioned the avalability of the figures of the peal. he would have received a simple answer without comment. If he had written to me and questioned the ahove-mentioned action of the committee he would have received an explanation and a request to preserve the status quo until the fortheoming revision of Decisions. But the words of his letter publicly question the above-mentioned action of my committee. Therefore I gave this explanation and indicated that because of his letter it would now be necessary to distinguish between orogressive lengths and record peals proper

「o Mr. Haines I would suggest that he apologises firstly to the committee for saying that they had not checked this peal. and that he then joins the queue to apologise publicly to Mr Parker

Secondly. I did not say that I classed the 12.096 Giasgow as a progressive length hecause of the use of singles. I did say that the ringers of the peal asked for it to be classed as a progressive length. due to their not complying with all special conditions.

Lastly. I did not Eay that the Cambridge Maximus was questioned merely because of Mr. Woodrutle's letter. I did say that Mr. Woodruffe's letter cathed the need to distinguish between progressive lengths and record geals proper. I therefore raised the question of the irregular call used in Cambridge Maximus. His many misconstructions merely reflect discredit upon himself.

In reply to Mr. Groves, I did not give the official Central Council ruling. I quoted part of the C.C. Handbook, but not out of context, explained the past action of the committee and expressed my personal views on one of this year's long performances.
The Handbook might imply a desire that the composition should he published with the notice, but it does express a requirement. It is possible to give seven days' notice of 20.161 Double Norwich and to compose it the night hefore. And an eminent long-length ringer has drawn attention to the possibility of an unscrupulous hand ringing a progressive length hetween the notice and proper attempt. using possibly an extension of the published composition.
Perhaps he will argue his third paragraph with Mr. Smith, with whom I agree on the need for official and unofficial records, now known as record peals proper and progressive lengths.
He is correct in comparing Cam variation of Kent with Holt's composition of Plain Bob. They can be called Kent and Plain Bob. They are both all right for ordinary peals and progressive lengiths, but they both use an irregular call which affects the treble, so neither can be used to establish record peals proper. But hoth can be expressed as spliced. Kent Treble Bob and Kent Little Court, and Plain Boh and Original. And only in this way can they be used to establish record peals proper. The Cam variation might be years old : Holt's composition is centuries old!

Finally, I apologise for heing unable to read that which is not written. Precise inquiries save a lot of trouhle.-Yours sincerely

INSURANCE OF BEIIIRINGFRS

Dear Sir.-It has recently come to our at tention that our Church Insurance Policy only covers ringers from the age of 16 years. Correspondence with the company concerned reveals that they are willing to extend the cover at a reduced henefit from the age of 12. but " cannot usually reduce the age limit further than this.

Because of this our P.C.C. has categorically stated that no ringers under this age should be alloued to watch or take nart in ringing. This is a severe blow, although very reasonahle. and we have been prompled to inquire about the situation in other towers. It would appear that although captains wsually consider their ringers fullv insured, in each case the cover extends only to age 16 or 12.

It would therefore seem that a very large number of vouno rineers are not insured, and that their churches are unaware of this. The situation would appear most unsatisfactorv, as it is quite possible that other councils will he prompted to rake the same action as nurs. and prospective voung ringer be lost at a crucial time unless reqular insurance cover for such persons is offered. The position of learners or ohservers in the tower could also he clarified
We should he interested to hear if this is the situation generally and. if so. how it can he improved.-Yours sincerelv.

RINGING INTRESION

Dear Sir,-1 have been asked to send you a letter for publication. On Saturday. August 24th. a party of ringers entered our church at Breamore and rang our chureh bells without avking permission. Surely the ringing Exercise does not encourage this kind of thing. Therefore would the persons responsible for ringing these beils have the decency to make a reply to this letter in "The Ringing World " or to myself. giving their names and addresses.Yours truly.

METHOD MISNA.IED

Dear Sir,-The method which was published as ". Headinglev Surprise Major" in "The Ringing World " of August 23 rd is, I am informed by several sources. misnamed; it should he corrected to "Benson Surprise Major." as it was rung in a spliced peal in 1967. Perhaps you would be so kind as to puhlish a correction for me.

So far as I am aware the claim of "First peal in the method " is still valid. - Yours sincerely.

Wants Conference to Discuss Long Length Peals

Dear Sir,-It is plainly obvious to many ringers that the present Central Council rulings or recommendations on long-length peals are far from satisfactory. The correspondence over the Glasgow peals, complete silence on the matter at the Worcester meeting and the recent discussion about the 12.480 Pudsey and the 13.140 T.B. Maximus tend to confirm this view.
Firstly, 1 wish to take up the points ratsed by Mr. Blagrove in his reply to my query bout the 11.480 Pudsey. In their report to the Central Council the Records Committer simply listed the Pudsey peal and the 11.872 Glasgow Surprise Major under " New Method: and Performances" (" Ringing World." July 5 th. 1968. page 519). They, did not distinguish. as Mr.. Blagrove now does, between the Pudsey as a "progressive length" and the Glasgow as a "record peal proper." This grouping into progressive lengths or record peals proper is solely for the benefit of the Records Committee, who only give their decisions when asked and otherwise remain silent. No doubt. however, they have had the decency to inform Mr. R. J. Parker that his 12.480 Pudsey is only a progressive length and not the record length proper for Pudsey, which remains as the 10.560 rung at Loughborough on July 6th. 1963 May I ask what is the longest peal of Pudsey and Glasgow yet rung? May I also ask why has the Records Committee suddenly decided to check to the last detajl only the record neals proper and not the "progressive lengths"? If this decision was made prior to our recent attempt at 13.140 T.B. Maximus, why wasn't I, as conductor. informed what would be the Records Committee decision if the peal was rung? The notice was in "The Ringing World " of June 28th and the " decision" apneared in " The Ringing World" of August 1 fth in reply to an entirely different question. To return to the question of the Pudsev long peal. am I correct in believing that the Records Committee are not interested in seeing the composition of a peal which exceeds the previous best by almost 2.000 changes and that they are not interested in whether it is true or false? If this is so. then they do not deserve to he a Records Committee at all or at least should he relieved of their duties of recording long neals, and a new long-length committee established. a committee which ha a little respect for long peal ringers. And since the committee have not nublicly asked Richard Parker for his composition of Pudsey: may I do so and request that he submits is for publication within the next month or sends it privately to me. as conductor of the 10.560 . on I can prove and contirm that the 12.480 deerves to be recognised as the longest peal of Pudsey.

As for the 13.140 T.B. Maximus. I was not hware that we used two ivpes of bohs. hut then it all denends on what is a boh. I follow the Central Council ruline on such accavions. which states (Handbook, page 26):
A boh can affect any number of working hells and its effect should he to alter the oursing order of three of them." All the bobs I called were tiths nlace and they altered the coursing order of three working bells-the treble was never affected by calls. If there were other hobs then they were silent ones and the umnires missed them. And since Mr. Blagrove wants us to choose which record we would like (how thoughtful to give us the choice of a record we never attempted to beatl. our decision is this-we'll have hoth! And when another band excceds 13.140 in one, other or both. We will have another go and see what choice we get then. I have been approached by a meritorious Hertfordshire conductor and composer to explain what the second type of hob was. but having only the Central Council Handbook to guide me. I had to confess I did not know. Perhaps Mr. Blagrove's rules are different from mine (19.56 edition) and he will help me to amend them by explaining the bob and stating at which Central Council mecting these rules were altered and passed.

POSITION OF SINGLES

May I take up another noint about the single used in the 12.096 Glasgow and 9.600 Lincolnshire? The Central Council Handbook states (page 26): " Singles in T.B. methods may be used only when a desired result cannot be obtained by hobs." This, as evervone knows, is way out of date. Singles in T.B. and especially in Surprise, are ans accepted part of recent composing, and in accepting ordinary length Surprise peals. this ruling has been disregarded by the Methods. Records and Peals Analysis Committees. So why should it he used as a reason for discarding the 12.096 Glasgow but accepting the 9.600 Lincolnshire?
Mr. Blagrove has. no douht. nroved that 9.61) 0 Lincolnshire cannot be obtained without singles but finds the Glasgow a trifle more difficult despite the fact that at least two very competent composers have stated that 11.873 is the maximum with hobs onlv. The added reason that only a day's notice was given does not in any way detract from the performance of the peal since there is little doubt that it was rung and rung well. This was more than a little unfortunate and pressure should be brought to hear on the Lancashire Association representatives that this must not hanpen again or the neal will be discarded entirelv. II see odav that the same thing has happened over 12.096 Huddersfield-Derhaps the conductor or arranger will explain why this has occurred agann.) But the "decision" In demote the 12.096 is ridiculous, and to " nnerade" the lincolnshire. thourg the composition was not published until after the peal had been rung. contravening Central Council rules avain is beyond anvone's canacity to follow the wils workings of the Records Committee

I made a point in my letter of Fehruary 91h (page 103) that the present Central Council ruling implied that the composition be puhlished before the record attempt took place. but no one answered this or contradicted is and there was not a bleep out of the Records Committee about it. We now assume. follow. ing the recent decisions. that this does not apply any longer. hit nobody on the Records Committee has told us.

What a situation! If any long peal arranger knows where he stand, now amid atl this rule contravening and the illogical confusing unpuhlished "decisions" of Mr. Blagrove. then he has prohably used a computer to help him. Where do we go from here?

Firstly. I cannot understand how Mr. Blagrove can remain as convener of the Record, Committec and I suggest his easiest way out is to resign.

Secondly. I feel that something should be done quickly about long peal attempts and that we cannot wait for the 1969 Hertfordshire Central Council meeting to see if somebody puts forward proposals for a revision of the rules. I therefore would like to suggest that a meeting of long-peal ringers and Central Council officials be arranged at the earliest possible opportunity to discuss the problem. The people I would like to see at such a meeting would be Messrs. V. Bottomley (C.C. secretary), E. A. Barnett, J. A. Ainsworth. J. Freeman, C Crossthwaite. C. K. Lewis. R. B. Smith, D Knox. H. W. Egglestone and Brian R. White These ringers are suggested as being representative of past and present long peals, of Guild and towers where long peals have pre domiriated and of the present appropriate Central Council committees. I further suggest that such a meeting be held at a central location. e.g. Loughborough. with Paul Taylor as possible chairman.

TENTATIVE PROPOSALS

Tentative proposals which might be discussed are outlined below, and thesc are based on two criteria which, I believe. are of the greatest significance in record attempts:-
(i) That it is the longest peal, i.e. the greatest number of changes in a method or methods which is the prime consideration. IThere is no point in distinguishing between progressive lengths and record peals proper. since it is the merit of the performance, the ringing of the peal. which is important.)
(ii) That the opportunity of allowing interested ringers to listen to and witness these attempts must be considered.
These are my proposals:-
(a) That notice of any record attempt be submitted to the Central Council sec. retary (or suitably appointed official) at least 21 days prior to the attempt. Note.-Record peal here means any peal of over 6.000 changes which ex ceeds the length rung in that parlicular method. e.g. notice would he required for $6.000+$ London Surprise Royal (present record 5.41 )0) but not for 10.000 Plain Bob Maior (present record 40.320)
Notice" of the attempt means submitting the date. tower, time of start and composition.
Twenty-one days is suggested since few long peals are arranged within a few days and also that this would give the secretary (or official) time to carry out the procedure below.
(b) The secretary shall then appoint an umpire of sufficient ability to check the figures. to be present on the occasion of the attempt. and to state at the end that it was rung satis. factorily.
(c) The secretary shall also forward the notice of the attempt (date. lower, time. method(s) and length, not the composition) to the Editor of " The Ringing World." who will publish it at least seven days prior to the attempt.
(d) The composition of the attempt be available outside the tower while the attempt is in progress to enable interested ringers to follow the peal and check it if they so wish.
(e) If the attempt is successful. the composition to be puhlished with the account of the peal. The peal then becomes a record length.

Long Lengths-continued
(f) Should the Editor receive a peal report of record length (i.e. over 6.000 ) which does not fulfil these conditions. the peal should not be published but submitted to the Records Committee 10 discuss its merits. If it is a "record length" and no notice has heen given it is not to he puhlished hut returned to the conductor with an explanation why it is not acceptable. This way the onus of having the peal recognised rests with the conductor, and not with the Records Committee. and the onus of providing umpires rests with the Central Council secrelary (or appointed official).
Lastly, I have one alternative suggestion which is also worth discussing and that isno rules at all. each record length accepted on its merits.

I would welcome further discussion on the points raised and any other proposals.-Yours faithfully.

Editor's note.-The fact that we have puhlished this letter in full does not imnly that we necessarily support Mr. Wondruffe: proposal for what may he described as a "selfchosen" little Central Council meeting or that the people he mencions have agreed to attend such a meeting. Mr. Wondrufte can invite who he wishes to attend a private meet-ing-we will willingly quote him the adverfising rate-and it remains to be seen who turns up.

The Northern District met at Sandon and Ardeley on September 7th. Ringing commenced with call changes on the five at Sandon, followed by touches of Plain Boh, Grandsire and Stedman, rung with varying degrees of success. After some good ringing the comnany adjourned io Ardeley, where ringing continued on the pleasant six until 8.3n with a variety of methods, including L.ondon. Norwich. Kent. Oxford. Double Court and six spliced plain methods.

The next meeting will he a quarterly meeting, probably at Aston and Benington. when we hope the mecting will be oqually surcenso ful or even more so.

HINCKLEY RINGERS IN YORKSHIRE

Leaving the fine ring of eight at Market Busworth during a Hinckley District meeting, the minibus roared away cowards Yorkshire, and Sunday saw us at York Minster for service ringing. We were joined here by Dave Cooke, from Hull. Due to our limited experience on 12 bells the Grandsire Cinques was not so good as it might have heen. At Escrick in the evening we showed improvement-Bristol Surprise, Stedman Triples and Plain Bob were rung. Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hartley joined our ringing at this tower. Our final achievement of the day was doubling the congregation at the service, and one of our members read the lesson.

Monday morning we visited Pocklington, where we were joined hy Mr. and Mrs, Barry Brown and their baby daughter. Marion. Some good Bristol was rung bus the six leads of L.ondon were not of the same standard. Various Minor methods were rung at Hutton Cranswick and following this we moved to Bridlington, where we rang Bristol and Stedman Triples. From Bridlington we proceeded in sedate fashion to Scarborough.

Tuesday was our husiest ringing time. The first tower of the day was at Kirhymoorside (6). Where a nice touch of Norwich was followed by Spliced Surprise Minor in six methods. Our next lower was at Helmsley (8). Yorkshire Surprise went quite well here and was followed by Stedman Triples. Spliced in ten methods followed on the 11 cwt. six at Hovingham. We then visited the fine eight at Norton and rang some tine Bristol and Lincolnshire Surprise Major. The dav was rounded off at Scalhy. where two touches of Spliced Surprise Minor were rung and an excellent toush of Oswald Delight Major.
On the fourth day we rested. The morning was spent on the heach at Scarborough. Several of the party decided to savour the delights of the sea and the sun. Among the activities of the afternoon was a game of bowls. In the evening we joined the practice at Scarhorough. where we rang Yorkshire. Kent and Rristol and helped the young (and ohviously keen) hand with Grandsire and Plain Boh.

Double Norwich was rung at Thirsk on Thursday, followed by a course of London Surprise Major, Hese we-bade farewell to Barry Brown and his family. At Wath ne rang a course of Wath Surprise and a touch of spliced. We then moved to new digs at Harrogate for the last night of the holiday. The excellent eight at Harrogate demanded good ringing. Here Stedman, Bristol and Yorkshire were rung.

Sunday morning saw us at the golf course for 18 holes. At mid-day, at Ilkley, we experienced Yorkshire "tufts" for the first lime. Yorkshire went quite well here and this was followed by a touch of Stedman, in which we were joined by a local postman. Afterwards a course of Kent Maximus was lapped on llkley Moor (bart 'at) and this was followed by Little Bob Maximus. The remainder of the afternoon was spent with handbells. The final tower was Otley, where Grandsire Triples was rung and also Little Bob, in which we were joined by a local ringer. We now hade adieu to Dave Cooke and returned to Kit's (Ashhy Parva, Leicestershire) for a game of table skittles hefore disepersing.
The grateful thanks of the party must go to K. Paul Gilliver and Christopher M. Sturgess for efficient organisation of the towers and hotels respectively.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Guildford Diocesan Advisory Committee is checking all ancient bells in the diocese. The work is being undertaken for the Advisory Committee by the Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers.
A fraternal letter from Calgary signed hy Michael Simpson and Judy Midgeley informs us that until recently ringing at Calgary was at a low ehb but the presence of Len Stilwell and Len Edwards, of Gloucester, had enabled the locals to get some good ringing. including a course of Cambridge Minor.

The peal of Plain Boh Minor rung at Litton, Somerset. on August 12th hy the Bristol Society cannot he claimed us the first of Minor on the hells, writes Mr. G. W. Massey. The first peal on the hells, rung on Octoher 2nd, 1922. was of Plain Boh Minor. conducted by the late Jomeph T. Dyke. and a peal in seven Plain Minor methods was rung on February 2nth. 1994, conducted hy David Hoare. There have heen six peals of Doubles on the hells.
On a recent Wednesdav afternoion eight memhers of the Devon Guild mel at Wolhorough Parish Church to attemnt a neal of Plain Boh Major, the hand including three visitors from Worcestershire, hut the altempt came to grief after just over an hour's ringing. With the arrival of Mr. A. L. Bennelt at this stage a gond touch of Grandsire Triples was tane recorded. followed hy one of Stedman Triples and a course each of Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Major.
K. Lewis called his first quarter at Langdon Hills, Essex, on September Ind at the age of nine years.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perrens leave on Decemher $l l$ th for a trin round the world. including a few days' stav in Vansouver and about six weeks in Australia. We wish them happy days on their journey.

Congratulations to Donald Naylor of Blunsdon. Wills, who at 10 years and 10 months rang his first peal in two methods there on September 7th and earned the congratulations of the rest of the hand on the way he rang. despite some blisters on hoth hands.
Mr. E. A. Barnell would like to thank all who came to St. Clement Denes' at short notice on Sunday, Septemher 8 th . to ring at the inconvenient hour of 1 n.m. for the dedication of the Polish Air Force memorial: in narticular Mr and Mrs. W. H. Dobbie. who had learned of a family bereavement earlier that day. Lack of time meant that an attempt for a quarter neal had to he shortened by one course. and a hroken tenor clanner during Mr. Wilfrid Wilson's ringine for Matins necessitated use of the middle eight, which even to the conductor sounded slightly unmusical.

WILTSHIRE VETERAN HONOURED

Saturday, September 7th. was the 81st birthday of Mr. J. Vincent. of Blunsdon, Wiltshire. where he has sung in the choir of St. Leonard's Church and been a member of the tower for over 60 years. The opportunity was laken by the tower captain (E. William Ford) to arrange a peal in honour of the event. Past and present members of the tower, who had all learned to handle a bell under his guidance, were thus able to pay their tribute to a loyal and trusted friend.

Mr. Vincent learned to ring when there were only four bells in the tower, and after augmentation to six in 1913 rang in the first peal and eventually the first peal by a local band in 1923

Junior members of the choir were encouraged by him to the helfry and. a perfectionist in striking himself, he expected his many pupils to he the same. He has derived much pleasure in the fine performances of some of his punits in latter years in the field of Surprise. To take part in a well-struck course of London Minor is still one of his greatest pleasures. Long may he be able to ring and sing in the village church he loves so well.

ELSTOW RINGER'S WEDDING

Mr. Robert Law, who has done much to advance change ringing at Elstow. Beds, was married this month at St. John's Church. Bedford. to Miss Jacqueline Hull. The best wishes of Elstow ringers were expressed by a quarter peal of Minor on their bells on September 1?th. consisting of 720 Single Oxford and 540 Plain Bob. Taking part were Miss A. R. Hartley 1. R. P. Wood (first "inside" two methods) Miss M. F. Pettitt 3. Mrs. K. A. Marriott 4. M. J. Marriott (cond) 5 A. D. Norman 6.

ROUGHTOWN BELLS

The bells at Roughtown. Lancs. are at this moment being rehung by Mears and Stainbank.

The upper framework of the bells was badly corroded and is to be renewed. The bells will also be hung on ball hearings which will replace the original plain bearings (bells installed in 1903). The cost of the work will he approximately $£ 1.000$. A Bell Repair Fund was started hy the ringers two and a half years ago and $£ 450$ has heen raised by holding various functions and by a parish collection. sale of Christmas cards. collections for Christmas handbell ringing, etc. There have also been many generous donations from parishioners.

There is still a large difference hetween money obtained and money required. The fact that the bells are now being rehung is due odely to Mr. Joe Burgess, of Friezland. who has very kindly loaned our church $£ 600$ " interest free. payable any time." We intend. of course. to repay this monev as soon as possible.

This wonderful gesture comes from a very dear friend of the Roughtown team. because "Joe" has always heen closely associated with us ever since the bells started to ring at Roughtown, after a long period of silence. some eight years ago.

CORRECTIONS AND ALTERATIONS

DEVIZES BRANCH RINGING COMPETITION

A team from Melksham, skippered by Mr. W. C. West, president of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, won the second annual striking contest of the Devizes Branch at Seend, Wiltshire, on September 7th.
There were seven competing towers. the test piece being 120 changes or live minutes of call changes. The judges were Mr. Alan Lec (Twerton) and Mr. Ted Cribley (Stroud) and their placings were: I St. Michael's, Melksham (Grandsire Doubles) 8t faults: 2 St . John's, Chitton (call changes) 9: 3 Seend. followed by Warminster. Longbridge-Deverill ladies. Longbridge-Deverill and Hilperton. Mr. C F. Andrews. Branch chairman, presented the shield to the captain of the winning band.

A service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. K. Brown). and Jim Abhott and his team of willing lady helpers provided an excellent tea, A talk hy E. J. Hitchens. of .Melksham. with the assistance of five "goons." on plain hunting created much merriment in petting his points over. A very pleasant meeting ended in general ringing under the guidance of Mr. Purnell, Branch Ringing Master.

Three contributions to the Tyne-Tees series "My Job in the Church" by Denis A. Bayles, secretary of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association. were transmitted by Tyne-Tees Television on September 23rd-25th inclusive.

SHOREDITCH REDEDICATION

The ring of 12 bells at St. Leonard's, Shoreditch. which has been rehung, will be rededicated at Saturday, October sth, at 3 p.m. by the Archdeacon of London, who is patron of the living. It is hoped that the many ringers who sent donations to the fund will be able to come ro this service and enjoy the ringing which follows.

The sharp second. which has been generously donated by the Drapers Company, will be dedicated at a special thanksgiving service for the complete restoration of the church on October 19th at 6 p.m. The Lord Bishop of London will be present and dedicate this bell. It was, however. felt that an evening service was not suitable as a ringers' occasion and therefore the earlier rededication service to enable as many ringers as possible to attend and try out the rehung bells was arranged.

As advertised, lickets are required for this occasion, not in any way to restrict the numbers but merely as an effort to obtain an accurate estimate of the numbers attending, for catering purposes.

BLRGESS HILL OLTING

Blessed with sunny weather. Burgess Hill ringers had nearly 14 hours on the road during their annual outing this year. Ringing started at Godalming aind continued at the parish church at Windsor, where Mr. I. T. Blagrove made the arrangements.

After lunch there was a $70 \mathrm{~m} . \mathrm{n} . \mathrm{h}$. dash along part of the M. 4 motorway to Hambledon. north of Henley. The Vicar. who had just returned after tive weeks in hospital. sent word to say how much he had enjoved hearing the bells-our best ring of the day!

Two towers were visited in the eveningOdiham and Chiddingfold. Our thanks to all local ringers and incumbents who made the day=apossible.

LANCASHIRE'S PAST

By EDWARD JENKINS

DROBABLY sometime in the late 1880s, a stockily-built Northamptonshire lad some. what surreptitiously slipped into a goods train, which he had previously ascertained was destined for Manchester, and made himself comfortable for a restful night's journey to that city. Detraining early the next morning, it was quite easy in the semi-darkness to escape from the goods yard and let himself loose into the wilds of Manchester

This young man was Harry Chapman, who was destined to have a profound influence in the affairs of the Lancashire Association. He joined Manchester Cathedral band, then under the control of Jack Eachus. It soon became evident that Harry was not content to ring "Grandsire" morning, noon and night, and an inevitable quarrel broke out which ended with Harry leaving the company, taking with him George Turner and Albert Cross

Subsequently, the trio joined the Pendleton company, and after a few years Harry had the great joy of conducting the first peals of Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Major by the Association. One of his great performance was to turn in the 52 cwt . tenor of the old ring of ten at Manchester Town Hall, which then had a draught of 90 feet. This certainly was a very fine performance. Eventually he rase to become superintendent of works on the staff of the Manchester Corporation. He retired in 1928 and spent the remainder of his life at Keystone in Huntingdonshire. His last peal in Lancashire was Cambridge Surprise Maximus at St. Nicholas'. Liverpool. in 1928.

Towards the end of the first decade of this century, a very progressive band at Helmshore rang a peal of London Surprise Major which was probably the first in the method by a resident hand. In 1920 this band rang another peal in the same method. The conductor was James $H$. Banks who. with his hrother Joe and the brothers Wallwork. was the backbone of the band
In the early ${ }^{2} 20$, another very good and progressive band existed at Oswaldowistle, which rang the first peals of Lancashire, Northampton and Palatine Surprise Major. Thereafter. peals in the more difficult methods became more common

George R. Newton was for many years the leader of the company at St. Nicholas Liverpool. He was a man of infinite tact and patience, which was necessary with a hand inclined to be turbulent and quarrelsome, though the ill-feeling was never very deep. The company that rang the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus owe to George a deep deht of gratitude for holding them together. It was comforting to know that he lived to hear the fine rink now hanging in the lower

Many fine performances were recorded at Worsley on the old ring of eight, is the tahlets in the tower testify, and the two families of Derbyshire and Ridyard were active here for many years. Aftervards. Arthur Ridvard took charge of the Cathedral band at Manchester, and later on Joseph, one of the younger ones. did much good work at Southnort. Happily, Joe is still with us today
Deane (Bolton) had two outstandine ringers in Titus Barlow and Thomas B. Worsley Titus Barlow began to ring the more difficult methods rather late in life. He rang neals of London. Bristol. Cambridge Royal and Maximus. His death at the early age of 56 rohbed us of a very fine ringer and companion. Thomas B. Worsleys brilliance as a composer overshadowed his abilities, and he was certainly very much at home with Stedman. He was taken from in at an early middle age, when his talents were by no means exhausted.

During the $\cdot 20$, and 30 s a band around Manchester rang many methods in the Surprise group other than the standard four. In many of these performances our friend from the Chester Diocesan Guild took nirt We had, a mixture of talent and idea: "! 4 -h has gone on flourishing ever since and bov $r$ led in some of the finest perfarmances ever recorded in our art and science.

Dear Sir,-Mr. Blagrove is getting into all sorts of tangles in his efforts to justify his dicta on what constitutes a Doubles method. On page 620 of "The Ringing World " he assured us that "common extents (of Grandsire) may be called either Grandsire or Spliced Grandsire and Reverse St. Bartholomew," only to say later (on page 669) that it would be "inane" for anyone " to submit for publication such a description of the standard extent of Grandsire (Spliced Grandsire and Reverse St. Bartholomew)." Verb sap. But he then goes on to suggest that we should now use an "alternate single" in Grandsire Doublespresumably to enable Reverse St. Bartholomew to continue as an undoubted method.

Would it not be far simpler to say that no method can be made up of bob (or single) leads of another method? Mr. Blagrove's answer to this-that Grandsire itself consists of bob leads of Original-is irrelevant, since Grandsire is a method and Original a principle, and I am talking only of methods. I agree that Reverse St. Bartholomew would not be the only "method" to disappear under such a rule, but that is no reason to reject the basic idea.

If it were accepted, then the problems of such as Mr.. Frith, who are quite happy about ringing their peals, but are having considerable difficulty in reporting the results, would. I suggest, disappear. There would be no doubt as to whether a given sequence of rows constituted a plain lead of method $A$ or a "called" lead of method B. If it were a plain lead of $A$ and were used in conjunction with method C to produce 120 true changes. the result would be soliced. If it were a "called" lead of B then its use with method C would produce a variation. What could be simpler? -Yours sincerely,

CYRIL A. WRATTEN.

EUROPEAN BELLS

Dear Sir,-Mr. Armitage (page 687) will find Rivoli Veronese 24 km . north-east of Verona. One leaves that city by the Via G. Mameli on Route N 12 and travels up the valley of the River Adige. Rivoli Veronese lies between Domeglara and Ceraino to the west of the road overlooking Lake Garda. The village (population 1,000 ) is in the Valpolicella wine country, and the bells (a 12 cwt . five on ball bearings) are rung for Sunday service, and practice is on Fridays.
In "The History and Art of Bellringing." page 8, Ernest Morris writes: . . at Ostend bells are rung up and down in peal with ropes and wheels as in England." Two years ago after giving a talk on change ringing in Amsterdam. I was told "that is how some bells are rung in Switzerland," but I was unable to find out the location.-Yours sincerely,

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

The Church of St. Leonard, Clent, Worcestershire

Architecturally this church has much to offer, parts being late 12th century, with trumpet-scalloped capitals of the round piers. To ringers it will be honoured as the home tower of the late W. H. Barber, his father and grandfather.

St. Leonard's Church, Clent, Wores.

THE Domesday Book records that the Manor of Clent in Worcestershire was assessed at " nine hides"quite a large manor.

St. Leonard's Church stands at the foot of Clent and Walton Hills and although the date of its building is not known it is considered to be around 1150. One, Master Herbert, was the Rector in 1199 and was then involved in litigation with the neighbouring parish of Broome and also with the Nuns of Brewood in Staffordshire. From Master Herbert's time the list of incumbents is complete.

The tower, the Late Norman pillars between the nave and the south aisle and the foundations are all that remain of the original building. The chancel, which has a beautiful barrel roof, is 14th century.

Prior to 1681 there were four bells in the tower and in that year a fifth was added and the old four recast by Henry Bagley, who set up his furnace, etc., in front of the church, near the present lych gate. A sixth bell was added in 1701, but according to records this bell was most unsatisfactory and it was recast in 1718 by Joseph Smith, of Edgbaston. In 1743 the tenor became cracked and was recast by Matthew Bagley in the same year.
By the end of last century the bells were going very badly and in 1902 were retuned and rehung in a cast iron "H"-section frame on steel joists and augmented to eight by Taylors. They were put on ball-bearings in September, 1963. They are a lively little eight with tenor of 11 cwt .18 lb . in F sharp.
This was the home tower of the late William H. Barber, who moved to Newcastle upon Tyne from Clent around 1904. His grandfather and father rang here, also his brother John. It was also the home tower of the late William Short who, with William H. and John Barber, took part in many peals in the Midlands.

These three took part in the famous 11,111 Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's on Thursday, December 26th, 1901, in 8 hours and 2 minutes. William Short rang the treble and conducted the peal, William H. Barber rang the fifth, Gabriel Lindoff, the composer, rang the sixth and John Barber rang the tenor. It was the composer's first peal of Cinques. Also in that band were the three Pye brothers, James E. Groves, Thomas Reynolds, Charles Dickens, Harry Middleton and Arthur E. Pegler.

The first recorded peal at Clent was 5,040 Minor in seven methods, conducted by William Short, in which John Barber took part. It was rung on Monday, December 23rd, 1889, and 98 peals have been rung upon the bells to date.
The first recorded length was 2,160 Minor, being 720 each of Oxford T.B., Kent T.B. and Plain Bob, on Monday, October 5th, 1868, in 1 hour and 17 minutes, conducted by William H . Barber's grandfather, who rang the tenor.

A RINGERS' STORY

BEHIND THE HEADLINES

ONCE upon a time there lived a young man of 15 who aspired to become a ringer But the band were good and they did not have much time for learners, and consequently Albert. for he is our hero, lost his keenness and left the tower.

The years rolled by and Albert grew up, married and worked at his trade as the driver of a steam engine. watched admiringly by the small lads of the villages around, for in those days they were a common sight on the roads.

Two world wars came and left their mark. and the time came when a nearby tower lost several ringers at the same time and the tower captain started looking out for recruits. It also happened that the band between this and the neighbouring six-bell tower was strong and it was not unusual to find members of each tower helping each other out both on practice nights and on Sundays.

And so it was that one evening Albert was introduced to the tower. Much older now. and a little hard of hearing, but with a desire to take up again the hobby which he had pursued for a time all those years ago. It wasn't easy, and it involved many hours of endeavour and patience, but the consideration and encouragement of both tower captains, who had known him all their lives, was rewarded when he slowly mastered rounds on six and then on eight respectively.

There followed an even longer period when Albert struggled with hunting the treble; it wasn't easy, but in due course he managed this as well.

The six-hell tower was noted for its many quarter peals in which ringers rang their "firsts," more often than not in a humble Doubles method. and the tower captain. although he would not admit it. had started many ringers on the road to achievement through the medium of his fortnightly "quarters." And so the time came when Albert was invited to ring the treble to Grandsire Doubles. With a cast iron band, I need hardly tell you that the quarter was successful and Albert, though pretty well tired out, was elated, even if he didn't ring again at the practice which followed.

On the following Sunday the band at the eignt-bell tower were sitting around after a touch of Triples when Albert beckoned to the tower captain. "Tom," he said, "I was 15 when I left ringing because they were not interested in me, and now, at my age, I've rung a quarter!"" "And how old are you now, then?" said Tom. "Seventy-eight,", replied the old man, "and I'll bet there aren't many ringers who have given it up for over 60 years and then come back and rung a quarter peal! It just shows you are never too old."
I suppose that, as in all good fables, it should close with the usual stock phrase "and they all lived happily ever after," but on this occasion I can go one better. This is a perfectly true story and Albert is very much on our tower's books today as a performing member.
It is true to say that peals and quarter peals all look the same in print, but it is very nice Jecasionally to go behind the headlines to report one man's Everest. especially when its achievement is marked by that happiest of cominations. namely one man's will to succeed and the encouragement of the local rinpers to see that he does

DISTURBED BY BELLS

"The Times" has had an interesting series of letters under the heading " Disturbed by Bells."

Mr. Ronald Warson, of Blackheath, asks if the ringing of church bells constitutes public or private nuisance. He writes: "Like many other people, I have to be an early riser on week-days and therefore hope to achieve an extra hour's rest on a Sunday morning. Unfortunately in my area church bells peal before eight o'clock for several minutes. The purpose of this exercise seems pointless-surely the faithful (whose right to attend religious services 1 will defend to the death) possess alarm clocks. Alternatively, may 1 recommend the very efficient " alarm call ' service provided by the G.P.O.?"

An answer comes trom Finland from Mr. A. F. T. l.urcock, reader in English at Abo Akademi. He writes: " It seems strange that formal legal defence should be necessary for bell ringing which Dorothy Sayers calls the one loud noise made to the glory of God.' The real answer to Mr . Warson is very simple, uhatever the legal position may be. Church bells are rung not only to call the faithful (who no doubt set their alarm clocks for halfpast seven) but also to remind others. As als act of Christian witness, the bells no doubt embarrass some people because. like the Word of God. they do not "call the righteous but sinners to repent."

Mr. P. R. K. Prescott. Islington.-." Although constantly ringing bells may constitute both a private and public nuisance, parish churches are privileged in this respect. Soltau v. De Held (185I). However, Mr. Warson might yet have a cause of action if the ringing is quite unreasonable. because the ahove authority, being an obiter dictum. is not hinding on the courts. On the whole. though. I recommend earplugs as being cheaper and more certain than litigation."

Mr. Scott Hill-Read. Chantry Place. Marden. Kent.-. The late J. A. Spender. when he lived in this house, which is immediatelv opposite the 12 th century church that possemes a full ring of bells, was disturbed on one occasion when writing his leader for the old Westminster Gazette.' Accordingly he sent his butler over one sunny week-day afternoon with the promise that if the ringers would stop and go to a neighbouring village he would pay the cost of a bus and give them a gratuity into the hargain. Strange as it may appear in the lighe of social relations today, these dedicated campanologists agreed."

THE PLEASURE OF BELLS

From the "Western Gazette". Yeovil. of September 13th, we cull the following editorial, "The Sound of Bells", which we feel all ringers will appreciate. Such publicity is most helpful to the Exercise.

For how much longer will the ringing of church bells continue to be one of the traditional sounds of the courtryside?

Already many towers from which bells once rang out are now silent, because there is no one to ring them or because the ring. or tower which houses it. is no longer safe and there are insufficient funds to pay for the repairs.

But the ringing of the church bells is also receiving increased attention from some of those who campaign for noise abatement. So far the question of whether the ringing of church bells constitutes a public or private nuisance has never been tested in the courts. although the Noise Abatement Act of $1960^{\circ}$ appears to afford church bells no special privilege.

While those who live in close proximity to a church tower may from time to time have good cause for complaint. it is to be hoped that good sense and a spirit of compromise may prevail without recourse to law. thus prestiving a sound which still gives pleasure to so many: whether they be churchgoers or not.

MARSTON RINGERS WEDDING

On September 7th Noel Deam. elder son of M: and Mrs. D. Deam, of 71. Oxford Road. Marston, and Avril Walton, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walton, of 3. Rippington Drive, Marston. were married at the Church of St. Nicholas. Marston. Oxford. The Vicar, the Rev. Paul N. Rimmer. officiated

After the ceremony Avril and Noel were greeted by handbell ringing. While photographs were taken a quarter peal was rung on the five bells by members of the St. Nicholas' Society.

The wedding reception was held at the ptcturesque Victoria Arms, which is situated on the east bank of the Cherwell at Marston Ferry, and the honeymoon was spent in Jersey.

Noel was recently elected captain of Marston ringers and has been a ringer there for 13 years. In additson, he is a member of the choir and a cross-bearer. Avril has been ringing here for four years and is a Tawny Owl.

CHANCELLOR RULES IN FAVOUR OF RECORDED BELLS

$A^{\prime}$FTER hearing evidence at a Consistory Court, the Chancellor of the Diocese of Bath and Wells the W'orshipful W. S. Wigglesworth) granted the churchwardens and parishioners of Christ Church. Clevedon, permission 10 play the recorded sound of church bells from the church tower

The court has informed that it would have cost the Darishioners an estimated $\pm 6.000$ to strengthen the tower and install a ring of bells. Now they would be able to enjoy a Derfect reproduction for less than $t 100$.
The Vicar (the Rev Michael Rees) sand that apart from financial reasons. they made the application because many people had complained that the churchis two hells produced single mournful notes wheh were more in keeping aith a death knell than a ioyous message of welcome
"Our contention." explained the Vicar. "is that to install actual hells to provide a ring would be a vanity, a misuse of a large sum of money and a cause of offence when it is known that the same effect can be obtained at a fraction of the cost.

A BOGUS FALSEHOOD

The Dean of Wells, the Verv Rev. I. D. Edwards, chairman of the Diocesan Advisory Committee. spoke against the proposal. Whilst he was much in sympathy with Christ Church. his committee considered the scheme to be a "hogus falsehood"
The Dean said it could be argued that the noise of the recorded bells were in the same cutegory as the sound made hy ice-cream Deddlers. He told the court of the sound of the bells of Westminster Abhey heard coming from a small country church in Hampshire.

There was a daneer. he said. of the equipment heing used for the $w$ rong purpose at some time in the future. If the pretence was carried to its extremity, the church choir and even the preacher could be replaced th re cording equipment.

In his summing-un the Chancellor said that after hearine the wealth of support for the recorded hells, he did not consider the dangers of falsehood were so great as to dens-the church its request. He did, however impose restrictions to cover the size of the ring. the quality of the sound produced. and a clause which would allow his permission to he withdrawn if the equipment was used for the wrong purpose.
In an interview with the "North Somerset Mercury" the Rev. Roger Fry, a former secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, said: "I would rather have a good recording properly reproduced than the dismal tolling of a single bell.

In my view the cost of installing a modern ring of bells can put a great burden on a church council. Apart from that we have to ask ourselves if this expenditure is morallv justified. having regard to the need of the Church overseas and the need 10 provide churches on new housing estates,

NO ONE TOOK ANY NOTICE

A delightful story in told in the September issue of Sentinel.: the magazine of the Fl. Diocesan Association. The ringing of one hell at St. Peter's. March. 10 attract people at a garden fete was attributed to amateur ringing. As the ringing went on they hecame rather annoyed. but not so annoyed as the man who was doing the ringing
The clockwinder, having carried out his duty. found the turret door had heen locked hehind him-and he was imprisoned. He started in ring the nell to attract someone's attention to his plight. hut no one came. Fientually he had to remove objects in the clock chamber and lower himself through the trapdoor to the floor below

He had justification to feel "peeved" as he was exnecting a long-distance phone call at that time. which would have resulted in a valuable order for presentation gifts. The prisoner" thought it was a put-un joh, and is anxious to find out who the iailer is:

A SUMMER OF BELLS

By ANN GARDNER, of Washington Cathedral, U.S.A.

THE summer is over now. And what a summer it was ! I bad been plunning for it for over two years and dreaming of it even before that. To go to England, where the nearest tower is not 500 miles away, where you can ring open whenever you like, where there are people who know Yorkshire and Bristol and London in their sleep-in short, where all the dreams of a frustrated American ringer come true.
I came to England, and I began to learn an atmosphere and a ritual. What 1 knew at home was taking the two elevators (or lifts) to the ringing chamber, a palatial room with armchairs, desk and carpet, with the temperature averaging about 95 degrees in the summer: 1 knew our purple sallies and our well-behaved bells.
In England. there was first the spiral staircase. generally dark and without sufficient clearance for the head, up which I crept or crawled to the ringing chamber. Here the Ringing Master would welcome me. I found that nobody made 100 much fuss about the fact that I was from Washington; the main fact was that I was a ringer. I was asked what 1 could ring (and it was taken for granted that I could in fact do so) and always offered a chance to ring, no matter how exalted the ringers.

My friend, Ellen Hinterman, who had never touched a bell rope hefore coming to England, was also always given a chance, and rang rounds and call changes all over England, with helping hands always ready and advice by the bucketful. So 1 would grab a blue and white or red. white and blue sally and launch into the unknown. for I was learning to cope with heavy. unwieldy bells, and with light hells that it was impossihle to set. and with hells that, as the local ringers casually remarked. "went oddly." After the heautiful bells at home. some of them seemed to go very oddly indeed. just at first, and I raised a crod of blisters before I learned to adjusi myself.

THE PUB

After the ringing, as inevitable a part of the ritual as the spiral staircase came the pub, an institution unknown to America, and one which 1 would heartily recommend to it. Here I learned to play shove-ha'penny and skitules and harvested a crop of shocked expressions every time 1 ordered a lemon and lime. The fact is that I don't like the taste of beer, but this is obviously against the spirit of the Exercise, so I put away several shandies before I left. At the pub I heard political discussions (from which the main point to be gleaned that nobody in the entire length and breadth of the British Isles is fond of Mr . Wilson) and professional shop ("When you've got them into Handstroke Home also learned a standard reaction when I mentioned well-known ringers in another part of the country. "Oh. old So-and-so!" (A knowing laugh.) "Well, he'll give you a time, he will." "The ringers exchange meaningful glances.) "The old villain I Don't believe a word he says."
My tour began, of course. in London, where Mr. William Theobald welcomed us and took care of us constantly and efficiently. Here we saw the Whitechapel Foundry. Fllen experienced her first tower, and I my first English tower, our first (and second and English tower. our first (and second and third . ) pubs, my first English quarter peal and a ring at St Paul's, to my great joy and terror-only rounds, but it was all I wanted. After ringing there we went to a pub (of course) and sat downstairs while Mr. Theobald nominated Rick Dirksen to membership of the Ancient Society of College Youths upstairs. Then Ellen and I had our first try at handhell ringing with the experts. We rapidly discovered that what we ennsidered normal speed would send most English ringers to sleep. I found the proper handbell speed very exciting, if exhausting, and resolved to train my handbell band more rigorously (if I could get one-we consist of two people ut the moment) when I gos home.

OLD BELL MASTER

Our next ringing stop was at Bournemouth. for of course no visit to England would be complete without seeing our old bell master. Mr. Fred Price, without whom my ringing and all the ringing in Washington would be in very sad shape indeed. Mr. and Mrs. Price and their two sons treated us royally, and we had a comfortable, well-fed and delightful stay. Mr. Price gave Ellen a lesson that brought back memories of the hours of careful training at Washington, when we were all learners together, and a quarter peal of Stedman Caters was attempted at Poole. It was lost. but I learned a good deal about Stedman, particularly on the merits of course bells. At Bournemouth we tried our hands (and feet) at cricket and football, both invigorating exercises.
After a stay in Cheltenham, where I spent three years of my childhood, and some enjoyable ringing at St. Mary's. Charlton Kings. we went on to Great Bowden, a little town in Leicestershire, where a correspondent of mine. Mr. Edward Martin, had invited me to stay for a week of ringing and relaxation. He had not anticipated a railway "go slow" or a general exodus of ringers on holiday. so not all went as planned, but Ellen and I took the opportunity to "go slow" ourselves, wander the countryside, rest and study $O$ sets and other esoteric phenomenis.

We also worked away on handbells and played skittles and dominoes. I learned some of the sorrows as well us the joys of peal ringing: 1 made my first English peal but last two more in as many days. Here 1 joined my first English Guild-the Leicester Diocesan Guild. I met Mr. and Mrs. Peter Staniforth at a dedicatory ring at Stonev Stanton, where. after some moderately disastrous Cambridge. I got through Stedman Caters and Kent Treble Boh Royal on handbells (at the proper speed!) for the first time. and had practically to be carried to hed afterwards. a complete mental wreck. Mr. Staniforth kindly offered to set up a handbell peal for later in the month.

OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE

Ellen and I next decided to take to our feet. and learned a gond hit about walking on the way to Oxford. We gave up near the end and got a bus. as it was pouring with rain. Indeed it rained almost continuously while we were at Oxford. our only spell of really bad weather, hut we didn't let it damp our enthusiasm for viewing colleres or for ringing (at St. Martin's and All Saints' and at Old Marston). Then, just to be fair. we went on to Camhridge (via London-English trains are very odd!). where the weather was glorinus. Dr. C. M. P. Johnson, when finally located. took care of us, and we experienced nur firct tower grah (a rather mixed hlessing. I would sav). and mv first plain course of Yorkshire. the reward of weeks of fervent studv. We also went punting and got very warm and happv.
The next ston was hark in leicester for a handbell peal with Mr. Staniforth. The neal. after several false starts, was eetring along nicely until the second hour. when I hegan to he hipnotised by the fenors and to have the definite sensation that I was in the middle of a nightmare and couldn't wake un. I held on till the end. and was very glad indeed for this (to me) rare opnortunity. hut it was a far more ormelling experience than any tower bell neal I have rune
Leeds came next, under the direction of Father Giles Galley. Here I was lucky enough to get two peals-Stedman Triples (a first for me) and Plain Bob Major-without any major disaster. I also got through my first Boh Maximus, which I found quite a shock and requiring fierce concentration: rang my first Little Bob: and saw my first (and last) Yorkshire tail-ends, which I thought it wisest to leave to others to manage.

THE AUTHORESS

IN SCOTLAND

A quick excursion back to Leicestershire for a peal. which turned into a quarter peal of Double Norwich, marked nearly the end of our ringing travels. From here Ellen and I set out for Scotland (spoken of with a certain amount of scorn by many ringers) with the intention of walking and thinking, not ringing. And walk we did. till our feet ached and our hacks ached, and we lived on bread and cheese and breathed deeply.
And then we came to the very end of all thingi-London, and Mr. Theobald again, and one last try for a peal. Two other Wiashington ringers, Marth. Windrom and Judy Andrews, were in the attempt as well, so that it seemed that we were nearing home again. The peal was lost, but 1 am glad we tried for it, at any rate. At last came the last ring of all, at St Botolph's-Stedman, Double Norwich and Yorkshire, in which I got a chance to see if I had learned anvthing, and found that I actually had

For I had not only stored un an inexhaustible supply of memories and friends and places. but I had done what I had set out to do. When I came to England I had rung at one tower, rung one peal, and I knew Plain Boh. Grandsire. Stedman. Kent and Oxford. When 1 went back home I had rung at 30 towers. rung five peals and knew (or had at least rung) Double Norwich. Cambridge. Yorkshire and Little Bob. And I had learned from those who knew hest how to approach a new method or an unfamiliar tower without terror. None the less I was glad to come home to my own dear Cathedral. my own hells. my own high tower-always hoping to return again.

BRISTOL RINGING FESTIVAL

This year's Bristol Ringing Festival on Octoher 26 m . with 29 towers open, provides something for everyone. For 12-bell ringers there are the fine bells of St. Mary Redcliffe. Eightbell enthusiasts have a choice between the Cathedral, the heavy eight at Long Ashton and various lighter eights such as those at St. Ambrose's and Knowle. For those who care to pit their skill against heavy sixes there will be Westbury and Westerleigh.
All are invited to the social gathering at no admision charge. This is one of the bighlights of this year's ringing calendar.

Cambridge University Guild Week, 1968

T OVELY countryside, Norman towers and a larger attendance than for many yearsf not the largest ever-marked this year's Guild week in Hampshire. We stayed at the superb 18 th century Old Alresford Place, once the rectory, now the Winchester Diocesan Retreat House and run by a detachment of Sisters of Bethany. They regarded us in general with indulgent amusement, left the door open trust ingly for our late-night returns, and fed us very well.
Officially, the week began on the Sunday, but the organiser had invited a select band to join him for a peal attempt the day before at Winchester Cathedral. To our delight, this was successful-again, the first time for some years that the "first day peal" has come round -and we were able to meet the others at Newbury the next day with some pride. After Newbury, we went to Highclere before ringing for service at Old Alresford

MASTERLY SILENT CAMBRIDGE

Monday saw us setting off southwards, starting with Cheriton and going on to Curdridge and Fareham, where we were able to open the double doors of the tower and ring almost n the open air. The "Good Food Guide" came in useful to find a suitable lunch establishment for many of us before we split into two camps for our afternoon ringing. A very high-powered gathering went to Soberton for a peal attempt: the Master, the president (himself an ex-Master) and seven ex-Masters were to attempt silent Cambridge Major. The president, as umpire, folded eight little bits of paper and put them in his cap and lots were drawn for the bells. The system was "bent" a little to avoid the only lady being left with the tenor, but in the event she drew the treble The president said "Go". and 2 hours and 40 minutes later "Stand", and the peal was rung -despite the monkey faces of some nonpealers pressed against the glass. These legiimately visited Shedfield, the now solitary church at Warnford, and West Meon, where the two parties reunited.

Our longest day was Tuesday, and the large mileage was further bedevilled by heavy traf fic. Bournemouth was the objective, and we began by travelling to Fordingbridge through part of the New Forest. From there we went to Ringwood, and here the peal band split off to attempt Stedman Cinques at Christchurch Priory, after a hearty lunch in Ringwood. One carload of non-pealers followed their example. This was the day, too. that one of the cars seemed fated-after curing fan-belt trouble be fore starting, it had a puncture at Fordingbridge and a broken windscreen at Sopley, However, all was mended later and its owner only missed one tower. As St. John's, Bournemouth, bells were unfortunately not available.
there was time to spare until we met at St.
Peter's. A mad rush through the Forest followed, but we were still regrettably half-anhour late at Lyndhurst. Finally we called at Twyford, where Gilbert Thurlow left us to rededicate Overton bells later in the evening The peal at Christchurch was successful and the two parties rejoined in the local before supper.

DURHAM NEXT YEAR

rhe business meeting, held on the return of he Overton party, was concerned mainly with peal cards: for the future, it was left to the wishes of each band, with the stipulation that if they decided to have cards they should donate one to the Guild. Future weeks were also discussed: next year's is to be in County Durham (August 23rd-30th, 1969) : it is hoped 1970's will be in the Peak area; the next Cambridge week is to be in 1972, and seven-yearly hereafter, and thus the centenary year week n 1979 will also be in Cambridge.
We began Wednesday with Corporate Communion in the house chapel, our three clergy and the president all taking part in the service. The morning's ringing was an easy programme: Ropley, East Meon and Hambledon. Most people had lunch in Portsmouth and a band went off to attempt Rutland at Portsea They rejoined the rest at Portsmouth Cathedral very quickly; unfortunately they were not successful. The non-pealers, making a bob in the programme coursing order, visited St. Mary's, Liss, Hawkley and Petersfield, where they were rejoined once more by the peal band. Four of the party, suitably refreshed, were able to assist a damsel in distress here by push-starting her car. She disappeared in a large cloud of blue smoke, only to reappear very shortly as she had been pushed in the wrong direction! After a rather hasty supper, most of the party adjourned to an ad hoc practice at the Cathedral.
Another long day faced us on Thursday, this time to Salisbury, with a start at Andover Here it wasn't until the majority had been up and down the terrifying timber staircase sus pended in mid-air that we found the notice of an appeal-for combating the ravages of woodworm in this very staircase! St. Thomas", Salisbury. completed the morning. and here the peal band departed to attempt Stedman Triples at Romsey Abbey. They lunched in Romsey-as one member remarked, the first time he had ever had a meal in a Trust House for half-a-crown: but it didn't do any good: boh was missed after two hours. The rest had their lunch in Salisbury before calling at St. Martin's there and continuing to Sherfield English. Here a three-way split took place: some (not enough, as it tumed out) went to the next tower, Bishop's Waltham, some took advantage of a "beer and sandwiches on the lawn" offer by one member s uncle, a local vicar, and the rest went to listen to the peal. All were eventually reunited in Winchester College before returning to Alresford for supper.

TRAFFIC DIFFICULTIES

On Friday we turned south once more and were again in some trouble with the traffic. The morning was spent at Bishopstoke and the mall ten at North Stoneham. Here the "peasants' revolt" in the afternoon's peal band gathered force, and a peal of Cambridge Royal was rung at St. Mary's, Southampton, instead of the Double Norwich Caters decreed by the establishment. After a rather scattered lunch, non-pealers met at Eling before attacking the traftic again to reach Bitterne Park. The journey on to Alverstoke proved more difficult and we were a little late, but delighted to find J. B. well enough to meet us herc. By the time the delightful little village church of Tichborne was reached, again rather late, energies were beginning to flag, and a shorter stay than it merited was made there before returning to supper.

Quite a number had departed by Saturday so a rather depleted band set off northwards, calling at Micheldever. Wonston and Kingsclere before lunch and going on thence vis Bramley to the nine at Basingstoke. Here the last peal band of the week left to attempt London at the 8 -bell tower down the road, but they were not successful. Most of the rest went on to Preston Candover and to Bentworth.
This was the end of our formal ringing programme, though it was suggested that any who were left should join in service ringing at New Alresford and the Cathedral on the Sunday. We had had a good week-though just a little strenuous in parts - and we are all very grateful to our organiser Richard Youdale for all his hard work, and admire his complete sang-froid in the face of all eventualties. Finally. a special word of appreciation to Canon Maundrell. of Winchester through whose good offices we were enabled to stay at Old Alresford Place.

520 Miles for

$\Gamma$T was a beautifully clear late afternoon over British Columbia when four adventurous ringers from Vancouver took to the air in a rented light plane for a ringing visit 10 Cal gary. Alberta. The flying ringers included Miss Margaret Wheat, pilot Jeff White, John Hallett and myself.
