DEVON ASSOCIATION FIXTURES FOR

1968

The Devon Association's series of competitions will be beginning next month, with the eight-bell at Dawlish on April 20th. The six-beli begins in May, with the South Devon competition at Modbury on the 11 th, the North Devon at South Tawton on the 25th, and the final for the George Facey Shield and the Shelliey Cup at Bishopsteignton on June 8th. The accent, then, is mostly on light metal: Dawlish, South Tawton and Bishopstergnton are all in the 10 - to 12 -cwt. range. But aficionados of bell music will make a note of May 1Ith: the noble $17 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. Bilbie six at Modoury is worth hearing at any time, and the cream of the bands of South Devon will be there to get the very best out of thent. How the winners of this half will fare on the light six at Bishopsteignton is another matter. West Down and Down St. Mary may we!! prove unbeatable on bells so near the weight of their own bells.

SWAFFHAM PRIOR, CAMBS. - On Feb. 9th, 1.260 Plain Bob Minor: D. Andrews (first quarter) 1. C. Sargen 2, G. Orbell 3, M. Brown 4, R. Palmer (cond.) 5, A. Barber 6.

SAXON TOWERS AROUND NORTHAMPTON

By P. AMOS

ALOOK around the countryside and it is surprising after 1,000 years to note the number of Saxon buildings there are still in existence. I can think of no fewer than seven within 35 miles of Northampton.
The best known of these, of course, are the tower of Earl's Barton Church and much of the old church at Brixworth, said to have been started A.D. 680. Although it is not named after him, it is believed that St . Chad trod the land on which Brixworth is built-and possibly with him St. Owen, who were both trying to Christianise England's seven Kingdoms. In addition to Earl's Barton and Brixworth there is a splendid example of Saxon work in the steeple of Barnack Church, near Peterborough. A little less so is the steeple of Brigstock, not far from Corby and Thrapston.

SEE NINE CHURCHES

On the other side of the county of Northants is the deaning tower of the Church of Stowe-Nine-Churches-named so by the fact that at this high point one can, on a clear day, see nine churches. The tower stands on the edge of a steep drop, but despite this has not moved an inch for a great many years.
The lower half of the tower, with a Minor four ring (tenor 13 cwt .) and a very old bell by Simon de Hazfelde, is definitely Saxon and the arch into it from the nave clearly shows this. It is very thick! Further afield, in Bedfordshire, we have the tower of Clapham Church, and in Bedford itself St. Mary's Church, where Saxon work can been seen unmistakably.
One would think that after all these hundreds of years the stonework would be so decayed that any thought of bellringing would be unthinkable-as indeed it is to some of those "unringable parsons" and "unringable architects" "The Ringing World" has been debating of late.
But no-these Saxon towers are far stronget than many of later periods, and of the last few years especially.
One man who proved this to be so was the late Rev. Louis Ewart-for some 30 years (from 1931) Vicar of Earl's Barton. Since 1761 a ring of six bells (tenor 12 cw . all but 3 lb .)

The beautiful rounded arch and doorway of Brixworth Church.

All Saints' Church, Brixworth, which dates back to Saxon times, has a place in English heritage. The tower contains five bells with a tenor of $\mathbf{1 5} \mathbf{c w t}$. in $\mathbf{E}$. had rung from this thousand-year-old tower standing on the bank of the village green-an Ordnance Survey Bench Mark at the foot of it telling me (when I was with the O.S.) that it is 292 feet above sea level.

Louis Ewart in 1935 set about rehanging the six bells and adding two trebles for an octave to mark the Silver Jubilee of King George V and his Queen. No harm has come to this tower as the result, and several peals have since been rung, although of late not particularly encouraged due to a few complaints about too lengthy ringing.

A very different attitude was taken in 1936 at Barnack, which up to then had had a minor five-rehung in a good oak frame for five in 1897; I rang on them once on an outing in the late ' 20 's.
It was never quite understood why Canon Fry was persuaded by the then diocesan architect to take away the ropes and other fittings, making them a swinging chime, as well as taking away the floor immediately beneath them, putting in a new tenor in a corner of the tower by itself ( 15 cwt . all but 2 lb .) hung dead, and a chiming clavier to all six below, from where you can gaze up to the bells some feet above.

Far better, in my judgment, to have recast the third bell a semitone higher to have thrown them into a major five, and to have added a treble for six if any doubts about strain in the tower-doubts which have been dispelled by other architects who have seen it sincenot necessarily diocesan architects but architects who have a knowledge of bells and bellhanging which not all have and in fact very few dioecsan architects have, which has ume and again been proved by the Central Council of Bellringers.

Canon Fry's successor (whom 1 once spoke to) was, I'm afraid, was of those "unringable parsons"; there is, however, a chance that some day a very "ringable" parson (like Canon Thurlow or the Rev. E. G. Orland, for example) may alter the situation in Barnack.
St. Mary's, Bedford, is another case not quite similar but almost. The light bells (tenor 7 cwt . approx.) have not been rung (I was told by the late Charles W. Clarke) since World War I, and I believe he told me the last peal on them was in 1902-but I stand to be corrected on that.
However, I have been up to see these bells on two occasions and see nothing wrong with the tower to any marked degree. Why. with a new frame, should they stand idle-surely they were not given to stand thus? Are we trustees of our bells or couldn't we care less about them? Must we all be "yes-men "for these "unringable clergy" and biased architects?
Clapham, just outside Bedford, has an even lighter six than St. Mary's, but not of very good tone. I have rung them at meetings years ago, and the Saxon work in this tower, of slender proportions, is quite obvious.
Brigstock steeple, of Saxon origin, is in many ways not unlike that of Brixworth-with the half-circular staircase, and, as at Brixworth, there are five bells in good ringing order (tenor 13 cwt 3 gr .24 lb .).
Brixworth has a 44 in . tenor of no more than 15 cwt . despite what locals have for years been saying, that it is " 19 z cwt."
This church, however, is studied by people who come to Brixworth from far and wide. It is reputed in some quarters to be the second oldest church in all England. It has of course had additions, as can be seen, but the Saxon work is unmistakable and is a gem.
Though there is no Saxon work at Weedon Bec, there was once a royal foundation castle of the Mercian kings, one of whom was the father of St. Werburgh, of Stone, Staffs, so history of Weedon has it !

Edington Priory Church, Wiltshire

THE small village of Edington lies under the northern bastion of Salisbury Plain, that great escarpment that runs unbroken from Westbury for nearly 20 miles to where the Salisbury Avon carves a way southwards to Sarum. Edington is a beautiful and romantic spot, the magnificent spur of Edington Hill and the ancient earthwork known as Bratton Castle towering to the south, and the land falling to the north with remarkable views over Steeple Ashton and Trowbridge and away to the Devizes Downs in the north-east.

This is the traditional site of the Battle of Ethandune in the year 878, the engagement in which King Alfred decisively defeated the Danes and compelled Guthrum to make peace. The last stand of the Danes is said to have been in the stronghold of Bratton Castle, where they were invested by the Saxon forces and compelled to yield. We cannot be quite certain that Edington is the Ethandune of the Saxon Chronicle, but there is no doubt the town or village was of some importance, and Alfred mentions it in a bequest to his wife.

LIKE A FORTIFIED MANSION

In the lower part of the village lies the 600 -year-old Priory Church, described by Nikolaus Pevsner as "a wonderful church and a highly important church. It is so varied in its skyline and so freely embattled that it looks like a fortified mansion." In 1351 William of Edington, Bishop of Winchester and Chancellor to Edward III, founded a college for priests and planned for them living accommodation and a church. At the request of the Black Prince the foundation was transferred to canons of the Augustine order, known as the Bonhommes, and the building of the church went on apace. In 1361 it was consecrated, and the nine years of building shows clearly the transition from the Decorated to the Perpendicular style of architecture. It is 150 feet long, cruciform, with nave, aisles, transepts and chancel, and a central tower furnished with a ring of six bells. The bells are as follows:
Treble.-Note B. John Lott, Warminster, 1640.7 cwt .
2nd.-Note A. Recast in 1899. The original inscription in facsimile gives "Anno Domini $1654^{\prime \prime}$ and the initials of John Lott.
9 cwt .
3rd.-Note G. William Bilbie, Chewstoke, 1781. 11 cwt .

5th.-Note E. John Lott, Warminster, 1647. 16 cwt . (Large Royal Arms on waist.)

Tenor.-Note D. Abraham Rudhill I or II. 1723. 24 cwt. The inscription reads: "I to the church the living call and to the grave do summon all."
There are also two sanctus bells.
For many years these bells and their frame have been in a very poor condition. The bell frame has mediæval timbers which have been reconstructed many times and, badly attacked by beetle, has quickly become dangerous. The tower would not support the bells at the height necessary and so the frame was supported on massive timbers let into the walls near the floor of the ringing chamber. The result was a movement of the frame in every direction, and the difficulties of ringing were consequently made very great.

NOISE TERRIFIC

The last phrase is certainly no overstatement of the case. At the end of December, 1957, a band attempted a peal of Minor on the six and would probably have succeeded but for lack of time and lighting; the bells were brought round at the half-way mark. D. P. J. wrote:
"We were horrified to note the ominous rumblings and shudders from the maze of wooden framework that filled the low central tower as we raised the bells singly, a very heavy old six, upon which no peal has ever been known. We were even more horrified when the opening rounds not only revealed that the bells were in no recognisable scale but also sounded down upon us with overpowering noise. Conducting and conversation had to be done by signs

It is remarkable that in such conditions so much of the peal was rung, and it is equally remarkable that four years later Mr. Cannon's band did succeed in bringing round a 5,040 of Plain Bob Minor in this tower in 3 hours and 25 minutes. The band stood as follows: Eric T. Lee 1, Brian Bladon 2, Ronald F. Diserens 3, Reginald F. Crook 4, Geoffrey K. Dodd '5, A. Patrick Cannon (conductor) 6. Mr. Cannon wrote:
"The timber frame, which is supported on beams from the ringing chamber, moves and creaks very considerably, and as the sallies nearly go round the wheels the noise is terrific.

The tenor has the unusual habit of being quick both ways!"
In the autumn of 1964 Mr. Ranald Clouston carried out an exhaustive examination of the bells and bell frame and urged the provision of a belfry and bells worthy of this magnificent church. It was clear that the dissonance of the bells and the decayed condition of the frame would demand a major project, and the incumbent, the Rev. R. E. H. Dudley, determined to set about this task. He had already succeeded in carrying out an immense scheme of restoration for the church, raising no less than $£ 26,000$ for the work. He has now turned his attention to the bells and their needs.

IMBER BELLS ACQUIRED

But this is not the whole of the story. When the village of Imber, on Salisbury Plain, was taken over by the War Department and abandoned by the population, the church fell into virtual disuse and the bells, a ring of five, were removed and stored. Mr. Dudley has acquired these bells and with their help he plans to install a ring of ten at Edington. The treble will be about 5 cwt . and the tenor 25 cwt . Of the Imber bells, only the old treble (Abraham Rudhall, 1721 ) would replace the present poor treble (John Lott, 1640), which would then be used for the 16 th century clock. The other Imber bells would make the top four of the ring of ten. A new cast iron frame is to be provided, and this frame will be supported on a steel structure reaching down to the floor of the ringing chamber. The five bottom bells are now at Loughborough, where Messrs. Taylor are providing a cast iron frame and recasting the second.

This great scheme will gladden the hearts of change-ringers of mid-Wilts, for there is at present no ring of ten anywhere near. It is interesting (and rather odd) to reflect that the only ring of ten in Wiltshire (the fine ten at Swindon) is not in the Diocese of Salisbury, and that the only ten in the Diocese of Salisbury (that at Wimborne) is not in Wiltshire! The practice of Caters and opportunities for Royal have been very much impeded by the lack of a convenient ring of ten, and it is hoped that the beauty and pleasure of 10 -bell ringing will be nurtured by the new ring at Edington.
The complete plan for the bells involves the expenditure of some $£ 11,000$, and Mr. Dudley (who has laboured so unceasingly) and his council (who have been so farseeing) hope that all interested in this splendid church and its bells will try to assist with some donation, however small it may have to be. The treasurer is Mr. T. W. York King, Lower Baynton, Westbury. Wilts.

LONG LENGTHS AND ADEQUATE NOTICE

Dear Sir,-There has been a considerable amount written recently on the subject of giving notice and composition of prospective long peals. The only thung that seems to have been agreed upon is that there is need for clartication and possibly alteration of the rules.
In the past 1 have always interpreted the rules as follows (although it seems that one can at present twist the wording to suit one's own particular ends):-
(1) Notise to de in "The Ringing World in sufficiens time for those who are interested to make arrangements to listen to the ringing
(2) The composition should appear along with the notice so that those who are interested, and capable of checking the calls, can verify that the correct ligures have been adhered to.
(3) Notice should be given to the conductor of the previous record (assuming that the present attempt is successful), so that he is aware that the attempt is being made to surpass bis record.
(4) Notice should be given to the secretary ot the Guid or Assuctation concerned for the same reasons as in (3) above.
Items (3) and (4) in this list are there as a matter of courtesy, but they can make things complicates tor the organiser of a long peal attempt, as will be explained.
(i) One mus! first discover who the conductor of the existing record is, and the Guild or Assoctation for whom the peal was rung.
(ii) Is the conductor still alive? Does he still ring? Is the Guild or Association stlll in existence?
(iii) Do you know whether there is a record in existence, and are you just breaking one record?
As an example, the notice already published tor an attempt for 27,000 Cambridge Royal would involve at least ten letters and a lot of time finding aduresses, when the notice in The Ringing World " should suffice. If anybody ts sutticiently interested they will come along anyway!

The records concerned are as follows:-
15,480 Cambridge Royal-Lancashire
Association
16,368 Cambridge Maximus-Birmingham,
St. Martin's.
16,920 Yorkshire Royal—Lancashire
Association
19,620 Plain Bob Royal-Chester Guild.
21,363 Stedman Caters-College Youths.
21,600 Bristol Major-Chester Guild.
Instead of writing the ten letters mentioned. 1 have given more than the minimum required notice so that those who may be sufficiently interested can make arrangements to listen.Yours sincerely,

ROBERT B. SMITH.

DISSATISFIED CONDUCTOR USES A PSEUDONYM

Dear Sir,-l should like to point out that the conductor and ringer of 5-6 in the peal of 23 Spliced Plain Minor rung for the Birmingnam University Socrety on February 16th, 1968 ("R.W". March 8th, 1968), was Richard J Parker and not as submitted As Master of he Sociery. I strongly condemn such use of a pseudonym as a means of dissociating one's name from $&$ peal of Minor, and I make this point in the hope that the whole Society will not be judged by the childish behaviour of one member.-Yours faithfully,

JAMES R. WHITE.

Haroorne, Birmingham

Dea, Sir,-As condu,tor of the peal of 23 Plain Minor published on page 191 of the "R.W". I should like to withdraw the peal due to certain irregularties connected with it. -Yours faithfully, Edgbaston.

JAMES P. RICHARDS.

In a covering letter to the Editor, Mr. Richard J. Parker writes:-
"As I did not wish to be associated with a peal of this nature, 1 sent the peal up with the name James $P$ Richards instead of my own. and 1 have been asked by one of the other members of the band to withdraw it. although they were informed of my intentions both before and after the peal

1 must assure you, however. that the peal was not a a 'hoax' but was a true and complete peal but as doubt may exist if I allow the peal to stand. I feel it is better in this case to withdraw it altogether with as little fuss as possible."
Mr. Walter Ayre, convener of the Peals Analysis Committee, informs us that a 23 Plain Minor peal as published would not have been accepted by his committee.-ED.

THE IPEAL THAT HDNDURED CUPID

Dear Sir,-In the past the reputation of the University of Bristol Society of Change Ringers, of which 1 am a non-resident member, has always been excellent. and the Society has been highly regarded by other University Societies and by the Exercise in general The future of the U.B.S.C.R is now in the hands of the present resident members. and recent events have led me to wonder whether they realise the tradition that they have to carry on.
Suring the annual dinner week-end in Januarv it was a great pity to see so few resident members at either the general meeting or the dinner itself. Perhaps the residents fels that thi. was an occasion for the old students to get together and reminisce. and this was indeed so, but we should have liked also to converse with present students and so to try and ke:p the Society together. The account of the dinner week-end which appeared in the "Ringing World" of February 23rd made hardly any mention of the ringing and seemed to consider the drınking to be far more important. This account would have given a totally erroneous impression to anyone reading It who did not attend the function.
But the real reason for this letter concerns the peal rung on March 2nd at St. George's, Bristol (published in the "R.W." of March 22nd). for the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, of which I am also a member To ring a peal "to mark the election of the treble unger as Cupid of the U.B.S.C.R." is urely to be most strongly deprecated. I wonder if the organiser asked the incumbent for the use of the bells to celebrate this particular event? Unfortunately there has previously been an occasion on which these same bells were used for self-glorification and without much thought for anyone or anything else. Is it any wonder that some clergy get funny ideas about hellingers? It is a pity that. on this present occasion, the members did not stop to think what church bells are for, particularly so since I notice that the band contained one first pealer and a hrst on eight as conductor. What a pity that the peal did not have a more praiseworthy objective.
Do not imagine that I am against peal ringnng. Indeed I much enjoy it and see no objection to ringing peals either for practicesince it is an excellent way of obtaining this -or for some laudable cause, but I hardly think that this present performance could be zlassed in either of these categories.-Yours faithfully. ANGELA NEWING.
Moreton-in-Marsh, Glos.

DO-IT - YOURSELF BAND OF ST. MARTIN'S, EPSOM

TEN bells, 16 ewt. Back three rehang on 1 hall bearings, 1957. Front seven plain bearings-high oil consumption.
It was just over 12 months ago that John Davidge, our captain becoming fearful that the oil faithfully put into the bearings every Monday night would soon reach the ringing room (recently decorated), suggested that nos only should the front seven be rehung but that we should do it ourselves
Mr. Hughes, of the Whitechapel Foundry, duly came down to give an inspection and in addition to agreeing that new bearings were needed suggested that a concrete beam should replace an existing wooden one to prevent the movement of the upper frame which holds 2 and 3.
The P.C.C. accepted the estimate at the end of November. It was then arranged with the foundry that after the Guildford Guild anniversary peal on February 10th. 1968. and before a proposed Surrey Association meeting on March 16th the necessary work would be carried out. the bells rehung and the tio beam cast (uy a local contractor).
John then spent many hours thinking out all the possible snags that might occur and devising a safe method for lowering the bells. Having thus invented a method using a 3 ft .long threaded rod through the elapper staple hole in the headstock (we have a metal frame and headstocks). he checked with Mr. Hughes only to find that such a method had been in use since time immemorial.

TRAMPS DISGUISED AS RINGERS

On Sunday, February 11 th, as a last gesture We rang for three services instead of the usual iwo. The locals noticed but were mollified to learn that all would be peaceful for a while. Evensong ringing was carried out by tramps disgulsed as ringers. After the bells had been lowered for the last time, the seven male membrs of the band went up to start the dismantling while the rest of us spread paper over the ringing room foor and prepared to label all the parts as they were brought down.

Upstairs work proceeded with two tramps per pis. Each pair was issued with a check jiss and a piece of chalk, and all parts were labelled wi:n chalk before leaving the chamber to have a more permanent label tied on in the ringing room.

First the ropes, then stays, sliders and tracks, the top halves of the wheels and the ten clappers. The clappers were to be reshaped and to have new bearmgs fitted at the foundry. Then by 9.30, with everyone assembled on the frame, the tense moment of lowering the first sell. It grew very quiet as the bolts were removed from the headstock and the bell lowered gently on to the timbers which had been set across the trame in readiness Even the 7 cw . of the seventh came down uneventfully, although there were sighs of relief when it toucned down. After a tray of liquid energy 7ad been brought over from the King's Head. strength was found to carry the seven headstocks down to the ringing room.

AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

John and Malcolm reappeared the following morning to measure the distances between the faces of the bearing blocks before removing these. Malcolm's large estate car then made a stow and stately journey to the foundry with all the bits-two days ahead of schedule. While wating for their return John's private forge Was put into service to provide metal plates tor the ends of the sliders and strips of $2^{\circ} x$ $t^{\prime \prime}$ steel were cut to length and bolted to the slider Dars to raise the track. This was necessary because, $t o$ avoid the labour and risk of error in drilling the frame. we had elected to have conversion plates to fit the new bearings to the frame using the existing holes. This necessitated raising the slider track by in.
By March 1st all was ready-the tie beam installed-the reassembly teams ready. Calamity! nothing available for another week. Gloom and despondency prevalled.

At last, on Friday, March 8th, the new pulleys, the clappers and four headstocks were collected (even though the red paint was still wet) and reassembly could begin. First the plates on to the frame, then the headstocks on to the plates, checking to make sure that the bearings were parallel - square to the headstock, level across the frame, and vertical, and that they remained so while the nuts were tightened. That evening, with five of the band working, three bells were up on the headstocks and by Sunday we were able to ring the back six for Matins and have a Monday practice. The only snag encountered at this time had been our failure to tell the foundry that there were frame lugs either side of the plateswhich meant that slight adjustment had to be made with hacksaw to some of the plates

SNAGS

The remaining headstocks were collected on Tuesday and the work was resumed. The first snags were soon encountered. This part of the frame seemed reminiscent of the Epsom Downs, which necessitated much packing, and the fourth after quarter turning was pulled up to the headstock, only to find that we had forgotten the plate for the crown staples, so down it bad to go.
Then the headstock showed a distinct partiality for the horizontal position. So the stay was fitted and brute force used The third also presented problems too Being hung high in the rafters with no space to take the extra height of frame plates, the frame had to be drilled to take the new bearings: but even so the large roof beam had to be carved away a little more to accommodate the wheel and a $t^{\prime \prime}$ of the stay had to be sawn off, so its contact with the slider is temporarily rather fine. The clappers were then fitted and adjusted by moving them or the oell abour until even striking was obtained. We had hoped to have clapper adjusters fitted, but this proved not to be possible for the type of headstock we have. However, on Friday evening the last ropes and pulleys were fitted. and altbough the Surrey Association meeting had been transferred to Putney, all ten bells were in fact ready for ringing on Saturday

CONFIDENT LEADER

Considering the average age of the 14 people who helped at St. Martin's was 19. I am sure many towers could tackle a similar job prosiding they have a confident leader and someone with basic mechanical knowledge (iwo small points: make sure that you and the bells are insured and that you have sound bearers for the bells).

The band would like to thank John for the many hours he spent both planning and working and the confidence he gave to everyone. We have all gained from the experience, both in beli knowledge and in hard-skinned and oilstained hands.
I think that the fact that the band stayed together during month with no bells is a compliment in itself to our captain.
We would like to thank High Wycombe, St. Peter's. Croydon and Dorking. for making us welcome on practice night. and Tony Skil ton, of Ashtead. for the loan of the tower for the last practice and for the arrangements ho made to accommodate us at Sunday service. We must also mention the excellent workmanship of the Whitechapel Foundry which helped 'o make the reassembly go so smoothly-and we are all pleased with the results of the work.
Jne last thing-does anyone want an old, out reasonably sound. ser of assorted pulleyblocks? Apply John Davidge. 15, Prospect Place. Epsom. JILL OAKSHOTT ET alia.

THE CONUNDRUM OF AN OLD LICHFIELD BELL

Dear Sir, -1 am bellringer at St. Chad's Church, Lichfield, Stafis, which possesses four bells, three of which were cast in the 17th century. No one yet has been able to translate the inscription on the tenor bell with certainty. People have tried before now, but never agree-eppecially with the date1555 , 1455,1255 and 1033 (?) bave boen suggested. The lat attempt was in 1932. I thought that by now some learned person might be ablo to sive an exact translation; 1 was hoping that maybe you know someone. In 1932 the British Museum authorities said they had seen nothing like it before. They sugrested contacting a Mr. H. B. Walters, F.S.A.-but he had already siven his opinion: © Our Lady Mary. : followed by six doubtful letters. He said the bell is of 16 th century origin because of the shape being (quote) "a transition between the lons-waisted mediaval bell and the shortowaisted bell of modern times being the normal shape of a bell at that time-Queen Mary's reigo (1553-1558)." Ho also said that the dates 1033 and 1255 are an impossibility because Arabic numerals had not been introduced (although the "Encyciopredia Britannica" states that they were fricoduced in the 12 hh century. He said the inscription is of something between Gothic and Roman writing.
In 1926 Mr . J Andrews interpreted it as: ? CHED + ADJ. MARI QUA + E + PB. 1255 aanerus (Holy Chad Help Mary Pray. Bellfounder's initials and date.) A modern version is: "St. Chad help Mary pray for us." He said the inscription was in Latin.
In his book "Church Bells of the County of Stafford" (1889) Mr. C. Lynam reads the inscription as: $O$ (stop) B.E.A. (the last reversed) I (reversed) I-MA (reversed) $R$ reversed) I (stop) A (stop) R. 1255. The lasi A being an abbreviation for Anno, and the last $\mathbf{R}$ for Resurectionis.

Mr. Lynam also mentions the form of the stops and size of the letters.
Later, Mr W. de Gray Birch, of the British Museum, translated it as: $\mathbf{O}$ (stop) B (blessed) Ladic Mari (stop) A.E.B. 1455.
Someone else suggested: O.R.B.U.M.D.I. M.A.R.I.A. A.R.E.I.B. and a date unknown. The bell itself is 39 inches bigh and 40 inches in diameter.
I would appreciate it very much if you do find a pervon able to translate the inscrintion -Yours sincerely, R. WILLLAMS.

Mr. F. Sharpe writes to *The Ringing World ":-

The photographs you sent me are Lynam's drawings, and therefore his interpretation of the lettering. I am not saying it is incorrect, but anyone is liable to misread an inscription of this type. H. B. Walters apparently saw the bell and said it was of 16 th century shape, and his judgment in these matters was good. What he meant about Arabic numerals was that they were not used on bells in this couniry in the 11 th to 13 th centuries, which does not seem to have been grasped by your correspondent. If the bell had been cast in 1255 it would have been of the Caversfield-Chaldon type, and Lynam should have known thisWalters did.
It the bell dates from the Reformation period it is most likely that the inscription is meaningless. Bellfounders valued their necks and tried to avoid any religious sentimentsthey were not sure whether Papist or Protestant would eventually triumph.

Letters to the Editor

THE STAPLEFORD GRAB-A DEHENCE
Dear Sir.-While not wishing to condone what the headline to some paragraphs published in your issue of March 8th, 1968. sug. gest to be irresponsible tower grabbing, is not your correspondent himself being a trifle irresponsible? No names are mentioned. we await them with bated breath, but the mind fairly boggles at the implications and cloak and dagger innuendoes contained in the item. Friction in the west, information to be passed on to the auznorities-which one is not made clear-unless the culprits confess their heinous crime. The Wiltshire police scouring the countryside for the errant ringers-even in this rural county one might have expected them to be able to occupy their time more usefully than by such a quest. Personal apologies to prevent the matter becoming more in-volved-goodness, it sounds very much that way now!

More seriously, what, one wonders, is his real objection to this incident? Could it in this particular case have caused any real damage, indeed would any follow future ringing at this tower? Certainly from another angle it can only be good that the village has been reminded of its long-forgotten bells. Perhaps if anything indicates irresponsibility i : is the fact that a church can allow its bells, basically in good order, to remain derelict for ten years plus because of two minor faults.

Your correspondent's address is the home of three of the bells in question; may we hope that any advice he has to give will be constructive?-Yours faithfully,

JOHN C. SAWTELL.

220 DOUBLES METHODS

Dear Sir,-The record peal of 220 Doubles methods has thrown a record amount of work on to those of us who try to keep records of names and strustures. The collection of 96 names given on page 231 is completely unnecessary The precedent in naming these variations should have been Grandsire. As Mr. Underwood accepts, Grandsire back to front is Reverse Grandsire, Grandsire turned round endways is New Grandsire, and Grandsire back to front and turned round is Reverse New Grandsire: yet Newborough has been in verted to St. Brynach and Headbourne Worthy? (And Gonalston. but it is probably too late to do anything about that.)

The point is that in structure all these 96 methods are only reversals and inversions of methods that have been rung before, and "New". "Reverse New" and "Reverse" something else is an adequate definition of a method, and certainly less confusing than four entirely different names. I am not trying to belittle the ringing of this peal, nor its compositions: my only disagreement is with the further naming of things which have been more than adequately named aiready.-Yours faithfully,

JOHN DAVID.

P.S.- Whatever they are called there would still be 220 variations.-J. D.

A LADY WHO RANG AT THE ABBEY
Dear Sir,-Like Mr. T, E. Sone, the Westminster letters have taken me back to a Sunday in July, 1921.
Standing outside the Abbey with the late Oliver Sippetts, waiting for the service to finish before going inside to look around, along came the late Bert Hughes with his large hat on.
"Would you like to go up into the belfrythey are going to ring after the service?" he enquired. Aside to me Oliver said: "You won't be allowed to ring.

After waiting in the cloisters we went up to a dirty belfry full of old timber beams upon which work had or was being done. To my delight I was allowed to ring the treble to Kent Trebie Bob and the second to some Grandsire.
I was the first female to be allowed in the belfry and still the only one. I believe. Some time after I was told the Dean had seen me coming down from the tower and said no more ladies were to be allowed to go up as he did not think it was the right place for them.
I shall always apprectate that visit and say thank you, as I was not much more than a schoolgirl then.-Your faithfully.

FLORRIE E. WYMAN.

HUNT BELLS

Dear Sir, - I must thank Mr. Chant for drawing your readers' attention so an earlier example of what 1 had considered a less interesting because less basic variation of the double-hunt system. In this connection, the following examples of hunt paths, all in this family, may be of interest.

There is no reason why the hunt bell's full lead should be a turning-place, or even why the treble should invariably be the hunt bell, and several of these paths have turning-places away from the lead.

KEY

The figures represent the places the treble (or other hunt bell) falls into in the course of a half-lead. Bracketed figures are single changes, and the first and last figures of a sequence are turning-places.

> Double-Hunt $\quad 123456(6) 54321$ Thackrah's Hunt
> $12123456(6) 543$
$1212456(6) 5$
> $21(1) 23456(6) 543$
> 321 (1) 23456 (6) 54
> etc.

Each of these variations will probably give over 350 methods.-Yours sincerely,

Southsea.

ARE THEY SUB-STANDARD?

Dear Sir,-With special reference to six 1967 peals which have appeared in the "Ringing World" this month, may 1 suggest that the Editor does not publish peals and quarter peals that are not sent to him within a week of being rung?

The explanation which comes immediately to mind is that the ringing in question is substandard and is best forgotten. - Yours sincerely, West Lyng, Taunton.

LAVENHAM CHURCH

Dea: Sir,-Lavenham Church certainly has a great reputation for its bells and its architecture, and as a recent visitor there I was interested to read Mr. Pipe's blurb in your issue of March 15th Unsurprisingly, I found the actual place rather different from its reputation (though none the worse for that) and I would like to add my comments.

First I must agree that the situation of the church is superb and the village still retains something of an old-world atmosphere: but the interior of the church is disappointing, mainly because of the "restored" chancel.

On hearing the bells I did not find the front five "not good": the treble and second I thought very pleasant and clear. It ought to be pointed out too, that the tenor is not a "matchlessly" good bell, though it is remarkable for its date and pitch. What the bells do have, of course, is character, and to ring them is an undoubted pleasure.

It was still more a pleasure to listen to the local ringers ringing a course of Plain Bob which was for a recording, perfectly struck at a distinctive slow pace; how could it be said that a more involved method (least of all Bristol) would be more effective?

Finally, I agree that the belfry has an impressive aura of tradition and is one of the pleasantest 1 have visited; and above all. the welcome given to me and the band I was with was one of the warmest I have experienced. The Lavenham ringers set an example to the Exercise in coupling such unassuming friendliness with plain good ringing.-Yours faithfully,

WORCESTERSHIRE BELLS

Dear Sir,-The following information may be of help to your correspondent. A. J. Whittle, regarding Worcestershire bells:-
Overbury, St. Faith's: 1 John Taylor, 1903 ; 2 Purdue, 1641 ; 3 Newcombe, 1555 ; 4 R. Handley, 1490; 5 A. Rudhall, 1719; 6 Purdue, 1641.
If Mr Whittle would like to have the inscriptions of these bells I would be pleased to let him have them.

Both Kemerton and Ashchurch are in Gloucestershire.

Regarding the other rings mentioned. i.e. Bredon and Bredon's Norton, the latte! are all Rudhall's except the treble, which is by Mears.

Bredon, St. Giles', are: 1 R. Rudhall II, 1733, 2, 3 and 5 Whitmore, 1624; 4 A. Rudhall I, 1706.
Pershore, St. Andrew's, has a complete ring of six by A. Rudhall cast in 1715 . The six by Rudhall in the Abbey eight are by A. Rudhall II, 1729.-Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR A. JOPP.

Cambridge University Guild Dinner

T
HE dinner was held in the Old Kitchen, Trinity College, on March 9th, when over 80 members and guests attended. The festivities began on the Friday evening in traditional manner and the Master checked his arrangements for peals of London and Rutland the next day. The organisation was so good that two Guld peals of Cambridge Major were rung at Trumpington and Sawston and a visitors' peal was rung at Harston. Ringing continued in the afternoon at Meldreth and Melbourn. Everyone agreed that John Gipson had done a magnificent job hanging the trebles at Meldreth. Some confusion followed at St Bene't's and Great St. Andrew's, but we were expected at Great St. Mary's. Finally we enjoyed a ring on the glorious bells of the Catholic church
Sherry was served, eventually, in the Junior Parlour but some members impatiently revisited the Blue Boar! No complaints were voiced about the seating plan - not even from the custodian of the Guild Dove. An excellent dinner was served. the culinary delights of which were conceived by the Master During the Ceremony of the Loving Cup a touch of Stedman Cinques (without the $8-10-125$ ) was rung by $F$. E. Haynes 1-2. V Nutton 3-4, J. M. H. Hunter 5-6. B D. Threlfall 7-8. R A. G Inglis 9-10. A. F Scholfield 11-12.

The president, Bill Ridgman, proposed the loya! toast, welcomed the non-resident members and guests, and mentioned the eminent memters who were present. We were honoured by the presence of the Master of the Oxford University Society and the Rev. R. N. Evans. Vicar of Great St. Andrew's. Frank Haynes managed to avoid paying for his dinner by coming in the guise of the Master of the Cambridge Youths and was accompanied by the secretary, Jim Quinney.

CANON THURLOW REMINISCES
The toast of "The Guild" was proposed by the president of the Central Council. who was himself up at Selwyn. Canon Thurlow promised to cell the truth and not what is printed in the Guild History He reminisced expansively about pushing the Rev A. H. duction of women-or, as Bill Cook would call them, ladies-into the Guild. It gave him great pleasure to propose the toast and to introduce the Master.
Richard Youdale, in reply reported that the peal ringing had been generally good but that he service ringing and practices had not been as well supported A record number of 36 peals had been rung by 51 members. A revival of handbell ringing had taken place with ten peals. including Stedman and the first of Surprise by the Guild Successful outings had been enjoyed in Suffolk, in Leicestershire with Sheffield University and in Buckinghamshire with(out) the O.U.S. Finally it was disclosed that the residents, after many frustrating hours pent with pencil and paper. had captured the Doubles methods/variations record, and how it nad been necessary to bring smelling salts into the belfry during the last 50 or so variaticns.
The toast of "The Visitors", was proposed by the secretary. Alan Scholfield, who welcomed all the visitors and pointed out to the Celtic fringe tha there were cven more northerners present than last year Mention was made of the "southern" universities and the interest the Guild was showing in the formation of the new Association. Particularly welcome were our friends from the Ely Association.
The Rev. R. N Evans. in reply, thanked the Guild for ringing the bells at Great St. Andrew's at all hours of the day and night. and proceeded to give a pulpit'seeye view of ringers.
Drinks were available in the Junior Parlour afterwards and many of the members and guests took advantage of this. A band of nonresidents rang T.B Maximus "in hand" and a touch of 5 -Spliced Surprise Major was also rung. Sufficient people crawled out of bed on Sunday morning to ring Yorkshire Maximus at G.S.M.. which completed the week-end

COLLINGBOURNE

One of ihe best attended and most successful meetings for a very long time took place on March 16th. when the Marlborough Branch met at the Collinghournes. Over 40 ringers were present, representing members from Chisledon. Aldbourne. Marlborough. the two home towers, Everleigh and Marlborough College. and visitors from Brockworth (Glos). Towcester (Northants). Spottisbury (Dorset), Chippenham. Salisbury and Swindon. A mos: welcome visitor was the Master of the Guild (Rev, R N. Longridge)

Ringing ommenced at 3 p.m. on the lovely six al St. Mary's. Collingbourne Kingston. considered by many to be one of the most runeful rings in the Branch, and continued under the direction of $\mathbf{M r} \mathbf{F}$. Read (Ringing Master) until 4.15 p.m. The many young members present were given every opportunity to take part in methods. call-changes and rounds. and the more advanced methods catered for the experts.

The Guild service was held at St. Andrew's, Collingbourne Ducis, the Rector (Rev. G. F. Kidd) conducting, with Mr. Alan Keen, of Aldbourne, at the organ. The lesson was read by the Master.

Afterwards a bountiful tea was enjoyed in the nearby schoolroom, prepared and served by Mr. and Mrs. R. Ward and Mrs. R Barlow. The necessity of letting the secretary know if one would like tea was highlighted when it appeared that extra tables were urgently required for the large company. All difficulties were, however, swiftly and efficiently overcome. but much wory would be avoided if all would signify their intention to be present.

At he business meeting the chairman (Mr. G. Newman) welcomed the visitors. Miss $H_{\text {. }}$ Jones thon secretary) read the minutes and submitted the balance sheet for 1967 . showing a small balance in hand. The schedule of meetings for the remainder of this year had now been sent to all tower correspondents. and it was hoped that this would lead to a reduced bill for postage

The Rev. $\mathbf{R}$ Keeley (Branch representative) gave a resumé of the proceedings at the last Guild committee meeting and announced that the Guild festival would be held at Wimborne in May. Enough interest was shown in this to justify the ordering of a coach for the day. He also answered questions relative to the sunply of Guild badges

In his closing speech the chairman announced that the whole company were regarded as the guests of the Collingbourne ringers and expressed thanks for their hospitality. A collection was afterwards taken and given to church funds in appreciation. He also thanked the Rector for the use of the bells. and all who had helped in the day's arrangements.
Ringing was then resumed on the somewhat lighter six at St. Andrew's and continued until 8 p.m.

THE TOWER GRABBER

BY GORDON W. RENDELL

This is the story of Sidney Snell.
Who wanted to ring the Russian Bell. Our Sid was a bit of a tower grabber. And than the reat was somewhat madder

So selting out one trosty morn,
He left the place where he was born.
And trotted off as last as able
On borrowed horse trom riding stable.
At the zoas: he mutters " Things look grim
This norse l've borrowed cannot swim."
So leaving borse be finds canoe
And raddles of wio the dive.
The problem now, which way to go, For in the North there's lots of snow So to the South be starts to pull, Through the "Med and Istanbul.

On reaching tand our Sidney sees A lot of soidiers stood in threes. He sayn, "I've come to ring your Bell." And the soldiers say." You 80 to Moscow '"

Once in Red Square our Sidney sples A monstrous Bell before the eyes. He shouks, dismayed, It can't be rung, I didn't know it wasn't hung."

What's more. it's gor a king-sized crack.
With a big p:ece missing round the back.
The piece knocked out lies on the ground And Sid sat on is looking round.

Suddenly devaluation slves
Our Sid an inspiration
With the price of copper now so high To take a piece back home he'd try.

As tanks roll by and people cheer. Our Sid shouts Oy , come over here. A tank slows down and comes to rest, In answe: to our Sid's request.

A smuling Russian, rather fat, With big black boots and funny bat, Climbs swiftly down from driving seat And swings his arms and stamps his feet
"What can we do for you?" be says. As har eyes mer Sidney's steely gaze
Give us a lift. there's a good chap."
The Russuan says " It can't be done,
That litile chip weighs several ton."
So Sidney, turning on his charm,
With valk totle twists his arm.
With vodk safely in bis pocket,
He stops a tractor, bauling rocket.
Sidney gaspe "This bloke is barmy.
He's been and stopped the blooming arma.:
As a hundred blokes load up his scrap,
Our Sidney is a humble chap.
For the ooldiers say they're very sorry
Ther didn't have a larger lorry.
"I must get tome." our Sidney thinke, I can'r afiord a round of drinks."
So Sidney's friend with the fur-lined bonter Climos aboard and starts the motor.
"Come on, Sidnik." shouts his chum,

- Don't stand around. you'll get all numb

He gives our sid the vodka bottie.
And slams his boot down on the chrotde.
${ }^{\omega}$ Which way do you want to go,
It all looks the same in this here snow?
"West, says Sid."Till you see the sea,
Here, bave a swig you ally B...

So back and forth the bottle went,
Until the vodka was all spent,
Which made our Sidney realise.
Ther desperate need for more supplies.
Witb tongue that felt like a prickly ceazle Sid made astop for stores and diesel, then fully roaded and relieved of pain lhey chunder westward once again.
After driving days and nights,
They see ahtad some distant lights
"The coast," says Sid, "without a doubt.
Now i suppose our luck's run out."
"We've got to iry to thumb a ride.
Arci get this lot to the other side."'
Sid's pal keeps going-doesn'! falter
And drives it straight into the water
Sidney shouts "Have you gone daff,
This is a rocket taunctier, not a raft. But to our Sud's surprise it floats And churns on past some fishung boats
On nearing England Sidney spies Scores of arcraft in the skies, Who thy around in rings and wonder If cerey should let it land or poke it unde:
They come ashore in a cloud of foam. Sid says " Iurn left. we're nearly home." And crowds of people stand and cheer As they see Sid and his souvenir.
COr blimey strewth and what a whopper," Explains a disbelieving copper
As Sid parks oy the foundry and
And pops inside to present his card.
Sid's iourney ends be's tome again,
With metal for a ring of ten.
And the Government has used its power Io swap his rocket for a stone-built tower
With frrends at night and Russian lodear. Who. incidentally, is known as Roger, At their ropes they gladly toil, Ringing Stedman Caters and Cambridpr Royal.
Sid said when thanked for his donation
I. the country and the ringing nation.
*- Most cower grabhers Russians are,
They rush in rush out. and don't say' ' Ta.'

BELFRY

Mr. Geo. A. Dawson asks for the publication of the compositions of extents Nos. 4 and 6 in the peal of 220 Doubles methods at Litlington on March ist ("R.W.". p. 227).
The band that rang a peal of Stedman Iriples at Erith on March 22nd were very kindly entertained to supper after the peal by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stevens, for which they wish to thank them very much.
The quarter peal of Doubles at New Alresford on March 9 th was rung for the dedication of the new Church Hall. The Bishop of Southampton preached at the dedication service and afterwards dedicated the hall.

Miss Doreen Hague, the energetic secretary of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Guild. has started a new job which necessitates her travelling to London daily. In consequence she is resigning her post as Branch secretary. "The Ringing World" is greatly indebted to Doreen for many years of faithful service.
Congratulations to Penny Halliwell. of Rayleigh. Essex. who called a quarter peal of Grandsire as her first effort as a conductor of Triples Prior to this she had called only two or three extents of Grandsire Doubles and a bob course of Bob Minor!

New members of the Edington band are receiving instruction and great encouragement from the ringers at Westbury and Steeple Ashton. Among the fresh enthusiasts we are interested to note Admiral Sir David Luce. a reminder of a notable naval predecessor in the 18 th century. and Admiral Francis Geary. an important member of the Society of College Youths and one of the band that rang the first peal of Bob Maximus.

GOSSIP

The peal rung at Cavendish, Suffolk, on February 17th (page 190) took 2 hours and 35 minutes, and not 2 hours and 25 minutes.
The ringer of the tenth in the touch of 1,121 Grandsire Caters at Canterbury Cathedral on March 2nd was D. J. Carr and not as printed.
Three sisters-Gillian. Patricia and Valerio Gardiner - took part in a quarter at St. Mathew's, Chapel Allerton. Leeds, on March 17th. All of them had a first of something and the youngest. Gillian. was ringing her firsta 15 th birthday compliment to ber.
Philip and Susan Rothera live at Terling. Essex, and have hopes of an entirely local quarter peal. The first step towards this objective was a quarter of Minor on March 14th, when :wo local girls. Anne Luton and Charlote A Sterk. rang their first quarter.
Miss Pamela Powell writes: "It is not true that a ringer at a Canterbury college recently arranged for members of his tour to ring at Strood. Kent (ten tubular bells). The last tower of the tour was not available and it was suggested by a member of the Ashford District that the ringers should visit Strood."
The Calne Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild have fixed the following meeting programme for 1968: Broad Hinton (6), May 25th: Lyneham (6). June 22nd: Yatesbury (5), July 13th; Bremhill (6). October 12th: Heddington (6). November 9 h .
Two of the band at St. Mary's, Eastbourne, have just received their Queen's Guide badges. At 13 years of age. Joan Hebden and Kathleen Reynolds are among the town's youngest ever to gain the a ward. They are both regular Sunday service ringers is well as members of the handbell choir.

FIRST LADIES' PEAL IN AUSTRALIA
We have just heard of the first ladies peal in Australia. This was on January 24th at Middle Swan Western Australia :he residence of Mr. and Mrs A. R Mann, when Helen J Henderson. in a temperature of over $100^{\circ} \mathrm{F}$. conducted her first peal of Plain Bob Minor Congratulating the ladies. Mr Mann writes: "It was an excellent peal. I heard the last three 720s and they were faultess."

BELLS PROVIDED THE CURE

The following story is culled from the "Sunday Express' :-

Mr. William Cousins. 85, bedridden with arthritis for three years at his home in Sandhurs: Road. Yeovil. heard the bells ringing in the New Yeat and decided to go for a walk next morning He did, and yesterday he said: "I have been walking daily ever since and am improving all the time."

TO YOUNG AND OLD

Advice from Rev. C. J. W. Faulkner, rector of Harlestone and president of the Northampton Branch of the Peterborough Guild:-
"I'm just a cog in Life's great wheel,
That daily makes the same old trip: And yet it's grand to feel
That but for me the wheel would slip It's simply grand for me to jog
Along and be a first-class cog."

VACANCY FOR TENOR RINGER
The "stout fellows" of Blessington. Wicklow. Eire, have lost their tenor man, George Brew. who has gone to London
George was member of the band which travelled. on the firs: Sunday evening of each month. into the Wicklow Mountains to ring at St. Mary's. Several contenders have already left their impressions.

APRIL IN DEVON

The competition ringing season gets going ext month with three festivals on Saturday April Sih In the North there is the Marwood Cup ompetition at Marwood (6. 16 cwt .), in the East the Plymtree Shield at Plymtree ( 6 , 11 iwt.) and in the South-West the South Devon Inter-Deanery Festival at Brixton ( 6, 13 cwt.).
After Easter there will be the Devon 8 -bell at Dawlish on April 20th. and the following Saturday the 27 th , the Barnstaple Deanery competition will be held at Atherington (upcountry visitors should put in some practice at driving up steep hills) and the John Leach Shield will be rung for on the back six of the 12 cwt . eight at Newton St Cyres.

GAINSBOROUGH TOWER CAPTAIN'S

 801h BIRTHDAYMr. Charles H Baker was taught to ring at Gainsborough in the year 1909 Amongst those who taught tim and rang in his tirst peal in $19: 2$ was Mr Walter Ayre Fifty-six years later, both again took part logether in a seal at Gainsbcıough, on Saturday, March 16th. to celebrate Mr Baker's 80th birthday

During those years Mr Baker has been a toyal and faithful servant to his church, not only in the oelfry. where he has :ong heen tower captain. but in many other ways.

He has taught many ringers the rudiments of the art, and il was fitting that the band which rang his 80th birthday peal should include some of his pupils, including his daughter. The band also included other members of the Gainsborough tower members of the West Lindsey Branch and the Master of the Lincoln Diocesar: Guild, Mr J Bray.

A peal of Little Bob Major was successfully rung after which the hand were entertained !o tea by Mr and Mrs Baker. After tea, thanks for nis service to the Guild were expressed to Mr. Baker by the Guild Master.

Amongst other presents, a handwritten copy of his feals, peautifully bound and inscribed. was given by members of the Gainsborough tower and an easy chair was presented to him at the Parish Communion on Sunday March 17th. by the Vicar of Gainsborough on behalf of the congregation.
On the same day a quarter peal was rung prior to Evensong, including members of the local band who were unable to take part in the peal on the previous day.

AN OLD NORTHAMPTONSHIRE FOUR

According to the Northampton Branch "Newsletter" Messrs R. A Eldridge and G F. Roome have visited Church Brampton tower. at the invitation of the Rector, to make a preliminary report on the state of the bells. Here there is a ring of four bells and nor a frame for five as was reported recently in "The Ring. ing World'. The bells are very old and dated: treble 1628, second 1616 . third 1607 . tenor ( $10+\mathrm{cwl}$, approx.) 1616. They were rehune in a wooden frame in 1867 and little or nothing has been done since then. The bells are complete with wheels, stays and sliders. although these have deteriorated through age The condition of the tower is to be questioned. there being several hairline cracks on the west side of the lower tower. Expert advice of an architect is required.

UPPER CLAPTON'S WEEK-END

The «eek-end of March 9th/10th was both a joyous and a sad one for the St Mathew's Guild of Ringers. Upper Clapton

On the Saturday they rang for the wedding of two of their members, Edward Steele and Nina Groves.

The next day a quarter peal of Grandsire Iriples was rung for Choral Eucharist and for the farewell service of the Vicar. Father Trevor Southgate who was leaving to become Vicar of Fleetwood, Lancs.

Members of the band were: C. F Neal 1. Mrs. D Neal 2. Ann Rowlands 3, Naomi Hales 4, J. A Hales 5, J. Steele 6, D. Neal (cond.) 7, D. Groves 8.

EVENTS AT BARKINGSIDE

By covering a quarter peal of Stedman Triples, Misis Barbara Shaw has become the tirst ladv ringer at St George's. Barkingside, to "circle the sower" to quarier peals

Not far behind are three other young lady member, of the band who also need the tenor to "comp!ete the circle." These four. 10 gether with Dayid Knewstub. started learning just three years ago and since then have been very faithful members of a young and en:husiastic band which, starting from scratch, is now capable of ringing Surprise Major.

The quarter peal was almost a farewell to David, for on the following Saturday he was marricu as the church, and later in the year will move out of the area when his new house is completed However, another quarter peal was rung immediately following the wedding Is a compliment to nim and his bride, the earlier quarter peal being rung on the eve of the 36 th anniversary of the church.

David will be missed, but with his help and that of the young ladies a new band of youngsters is being taught, and this should ensure a continuation of faithful Sunday service ringirg.

DUNSTER RING COMPLETED

Arthur Fidler and Eric Fowler, of Johp raylor and Co., completed their task of re: hanging the new ring of bells on a new steel frame at St Cieorge's, Dunster. Somerset. on March 14:h. They were "tried out" by the local band in the presence of the Vicar the chuichwardens and the secretary and treasurer of the PC.C. Everyone was most pleased at the "go" of :he bells and of their greatlv improved tone. making them an excellent ring of eight

After refreshments, films were shown of the removal from and restoring to the church of the oells, and of the recasting at the Loughborough Foundry. Arthur and Eric received sincere thanks for their efficient and satisfactory completion of a very hard job. and this -nded a very pleasant evening.

NOTTINGHAM UNIVERSITY OUTING

March 16th saw an invasion of Rutland by 11 members of the Nottingham University Society. Ringing commenced at the Church of SS. Peter and Paul. Langham. notable for a kinky sally on the tenor! At Empingham, a six with impressive volume. the inhabitants were victims for some minutes of an attempt at plain hunting during our visit Lunch. consisting largely of chips-as did tea, owing to the addictions of several members of the party -was consumed at Oakham and washed down in the traditional manner Thence, some Yorkshire and Stedman at All Saints' for a wedding.

Competition with a funfair was encountered at the Church of SS Peter and Paul Uppingham. having an unimpressive eight We then lost the coach for some time The driver. no douht anxious to keep us to schedule. delivered us literally to the door at Rothwell. almost demolishing the tower in the process We next moved into Leicestershire. finding a pleasant eigh at the Church of St. Dinnysius: Market Harborough Finally 10 All Saints ${ }^{6}$ Church. Lubenham. where considerably lengthened ropes for youngsters produced a new interpretation of the command "Stand" when Dave MacLean rose from his unorthodox kneeling posture. One could not heln thinking that was taking piety rather too far!

${ }^{6}$ FUSORIAL

WAGGERY"

THE progressive town of Thetford, Norfolk, had at one time a bell foundry which had been established by Thomas Draper, who had been in business at Bury St. Edmunds.
Draper was a forthright man, upright and honest. His sterling qualities and astute business sense elevated him to the respected office of Mayor of Thetford in 1592. To commemorate this honour he presented a bell to St. Cuthbert's Church. Draper devised a foundry mark for his ware, this being a crown pierced by two arrows, the flights of which are severed, obviously a link with St. Edmundsbury.
His son, John Draper, a man with a deep sense of humour, inhertied the Chettord establishment, and a good many bells were despatched by him to churches within a wide radius of the foundry.
On one occasion the founder was called to St. Benedict's Cnurch, Cambridge, which at the time possessed four or tive bells, one described as "cheap and nasty" and inappropriately inscribed:

Of ah bells in Benet I am the best

And yet tor my castung the parish paid lest.
1ae 1 nettora iman, naving ousdainiuuy observed tms somewhat van and hoilow "pun," could not resisi a repiy ot some sort. It was, of course, trautionat and expected or founders, who were, in those cays, legion, to aaveruse tnear work througn the meajum of their proaucts, newspaper adverustments being quite unknown. inetiora's arusan came out in a powertul and unrestricted manner, inscriong on ais bell:

John Draper made me in 1618
This bell was broake and cast again
As planiy doth appear
Wich time the churchwardens were
Edward Dixson for the one whoe stode by his tacklin
And ne that was his partner then was Alexander Jacklin.
John Draper died in 1644 and the Norfols foundry closed its doors. However, atter a tapse of about ten years, it was resurrected and transferred to Bury St. Ldmunds by Robard Gurney, Andrew Gurney's son, the latter ot whom for a short ume was in partnersnip with Draper.
Some of the younger Gurney's bells were good. A man of few words, with a practical, rough kind of hand, Gurney pursued his work in a quiet, leisurely manner. He had no tume for pretty talk, and even less for fusorial waggery. His worst bells, and these unhappily were many, were below mediocrity. Canon Raven wrote that the seventh bell at St. Andrew's the Great, Cambridge, had been described as a " mucky, yawing thing, without a bit o' music in it.'
In 1649 Gurney recast the bells of St. John's College, Cambriage, and charged the authorities f 418 s . 6 d . inclusive of new metal. Robard is mentioned in his father's will, dated 1643. The son at one time had supplied his father with two hundredweights of metal, and in return the latter left his heir with a legacy of three hundredweights . . . with all my tooles and moulds for to worke with all, as to my trade belongeth.'

THE FOUNDER'S LAST WORD
Henry Pleasant, of Sudbury, Suffolk, liked to brag, his sublime idiom

Henry Pleasant have at last Made as good as can be cast " being his favourite reference to himself.
It is thought that he succeeded the Grayes of Colchester about the year 1686, and having enjoyed a short stay at that town, removed his business to Sudbury. Pleasant had connections with Bracondale foundry circa 1700 , when it is assumed he was a partner with Charles Newman.
This boastful artisan was followed by John Thornton, who cast several good bells for Cambridgeshire, Suffolk and Essex. He suffered ar infrequent partner of the name of Waylett. who periodically displayed trade boards in the counties of Sussex, Surrey, Hertfordshire and Kent.

Sudbury's last bellfounder, Thomas Gardiner, provided a great number of bells for Suffolk fanes, the earliest dated 1709 and the latest 1755.

Gardiner turned out bells of atrocious quality. They tend to make a noise like the snapping of twigs. His ring of five at Doddington, Cambs, is a good example of tonal disharmony as can be found anywhere. He was very fond of using coin impressions on his bells, having in one instance employed a coin of John $V$ of Portugal, dated 1755. At the outset of his career our "coin collector" was entrusted with a job at Edwardstone, where he spliced three bells by Miles Graye (elder and younger) to form 3rd, 4th and 5th of a ring of six.
The new second bell of this ring understandably invoked the delicate musical senses of one William Culpeck, who tartly disagreed with the "noise" emitted by the instrument. Without hesitation he called the founder a "want-nit"-a most insufferable term. Culpeck's persistent criticism eventually wore down the dogmatic man of metal, who dismantled the bell and recast it with this embarrassing inscription:

Tuned by Wm Culpeck 1710
But Gardiner, biding his time, had the last word 1 He obtained revenge in no uncertain manner, coming out vigorously on another bell:

About ty (the) second Culpeck is wrett
Because the founder wanted wett
Thair judgments were but bad at last
Or else this bell I never had cast.

Alter a apse of $2 y$ years, ringing was resumed about 16 monins ago at tae tine 0.0 parish church. where there is a very good ring of elgni. A band of ringers has been estabushed consisting of older ringers who have settled in the Knaresborough district, together with some very keen and progressive yuunssters.

Under the leadersnip of Mr. Ronald Gudgeon and Mr. Leo Bean, the local com pany and their ladies proviaed a most bounutul tea in the Church Hall

At the business meeting Mr. Tom Cox, District vice-presiuent, occupied the cuair. lae president and Mrs. Bottomicy were very wescome visitors together with a number of their very young and very competent ringers from Dewsbury.

LODSWORTH PEAL OF 43-SPLICED

Dear Sir, Congratulations to Christopher B. Fynes on not on,y conducting his peal of 43Spliced Surprise Minor at Lodsworth, but also on ringing two tower beils at the same time. Well done I

I am interested in the footnote to the peal. stating " No 5-6 places above the treble " and " $45,64,56$, the same way throughout." I am most interested in extent No. 5 and ask Mr. Fynes if he would kindly publish it. Particularly since a similar extent published by Roger D. Bailey unfortunately contains 65 's at backstroke in all parts.

With reference to the peal rung at Bunney. Notts (see page 210), and claimed as "Spliced Surprise Minor," I wish to point out that this should not have been claimed as "Spliced but more accurately as "Surprise Minor." Yours sincerely,

BRYNLEY A. RICHARDS

ROCHESTER CATHEDRAL CHURCH

EASTER

By the REV. P. T. ROBBINS

"YOU don't really believe all that stuff about the empty tomb, and Jesus being seen alive after his death, do you?" This is the common attitude of ordinary decent folk these days to the subject of the Resurrection.
Very well, then, let us assume for a moment that the Resurrection didn't happen. . . . Lots of people who had been followers of Jesus claimed that it did: they were therefore either dupes or crooks. Some people or someone must have deliberately made something up. Others must have been only too anxious to accept what they had been told without troubling to verify the facts. And so everything that followed-the preaching, the converts, the spread of Christianity, the Catholic Church itself-all this was based on misunderstanding or deceit. St. Peter and St. John were knaves or fools. St. Paul was properly taken in, and his whole structure of belief and his religious experience were founded on fable. St. Augustine, St. Columba, St. Dunstan, St. Francis of Assisi, George Herbert, Father Damien, the Curé d'Ars, Albert Schweitzer, Martin Luther King, to name just a few, have all had their lives built on a lie.
If we draw back from this sweeping assertion in all fairness we have to say, "On the other hand, suppose that the Resurrection of Jesus was actual cold fact. . . . That means that one day years ago there was a dead body lying in a tomb, following false trial and execution. Early one morning, a couple of days after the execution, life re-entered this body, and it was reunited with the soul that had been in it; it was transformed and exalted to a higher mode of existence than that which is enjoyed by ordinary mortals. It means that a stupendous miracle had been wrought by God.'

If this were a factual occurrence we would expect that something so shattering would have shattering repercussions. Such are not hard to find. Even the fact that the Gospels were not written down until 30 or 40 years afterwards cannot disguise the surprise of the disciples at the turn of events, nor the astonishing transformation which took place in them-changing them from a group of rather ordinary people, neither more nor less prone to disagreement, selfishness or folly than any other similar group, into a band of dynamic, fearless world-shakers. The greatest consequence of all was the establishment of the Christian Church which has provided the moral and spiritual basis of life over most of the civilised world for close on 2,000 years. The Church has not always developed in ways which have been to its credit, but it remains a spirit-filled body, repeatedly renewing itself, perpetually acting as the conscience, the inspiration, and the hope of the world, pointing men to their true nature as children of God, and to their ultimate destiny to enjoy complete communion with Him for ever.

Even thrugh we live at the moment in a rather tiied world in which the influence of Christianity seems to be on the wane, we can reflect that there have been far blacker times for the Church in other ages, and that in spite of everything the influence of the Christian Faith on the mind of man and on the life of the world continues to be incalculable, and remains the chief hope for the future good of mankind.
We can virtually trace all this back to this one alleged event. Had it not happened at all Jesus would have taken his place with the great multitude of defeated idealists, and would probably not even be remembered today. Had it been a hoax the undoubted and manifest good which has resulted could never have happened. Everything points to the Resurrection as being true, and if it is true then it is something which we cannot ignore-for the God who did it claims our obedience and our love.

The Resurrection is, in fact, the basis of the Christian life, and is the foundation of every joy and hope that we have. It is something that we are bound to celebrate and shout about. And who better than us bell-ringers can make a joyful noise at this time of gladness to proclaim the triumph of God in raising up Jesus Christ from the dead?

Inter-Branch Striking Finals of Bath and Wells Association

Members gathering at Wookey tower on March 23rd were shocked to hear of the sudden death of Harold Parfrey, which overshadowed the Bath/Chew/Frome Branches' striking competition finals. Harold was to have led his Corston team for the Bath Branch. Bath secretary Alan Lee asked members standing in silent tribute to remember also Harold's wife, Betty, and their children.

The day was a grey one, high winds and heavy showers lashing the tower as four teams battled for the honours, and even the most experienced ringers suffered from the usual "nerves" produced by such occasions. Without doubt none of the teams produced its best, and Wraxall even broke down, which is evidence of the tension ringers were under.

Albert Tyler (Bristol) and Arthur Reed (Taunton) ensconced in a nearby bungalow, ably judged the competition, and after tea, provided by Vic and Mrs. Roberts and helpers, the judges gave their verdict.

Wrington (Chew Branch), ringing Grandsire, were first with 10 faults and Farmborough (Frome Branch), ringing Norwich Surprise, were second with 13 faults.
To round the day off, ringing transferred to St. Cuthbert's. Wells (8), for an hour after tea and the real "judging" of the afternoon's events took place at the Sherston Hotel in the evening. Regardless of silly mistakes made during the afternoon, it was agreed that the standard of ringing generally had greatly improved and the value of such competitions in improving ringing standards was without doubt.
It is hoped that Taunton Branch, holding their first competition this year, will support the inter-Branch finals, and the possibility of including Glaston Branch with Frome for competition purposes is under consideration.

ROCHESTER CATHEDRAL AND ITS BELLS

By N. J. DAVIES

THE massive grey square tower of an old cathedral rises before the sight of a jaded traveller. The bells are going for the vesper service, and he must needs attend it, one would say, from his haste to reach the open Cathedral door. The choir are getting on their sullied white robes in a hurry, when he arrives among them, gets on his own robe, and falls into the procession filing into service. Then the Sacristan locks the iron-barred gates that divide the nave from the choir, and all of the procession, having scuttled into their places. hide their faces: and then the intoned words, 'When the wicked man', rise among the groins of arches and beams of roof, awakening muttered thunder."-Dickens' "Edwin Drood."

Rochester Cathedral, although rather overshadowed by the Gothic magnificence of her sister at Canterbury, is one of the most ancient in England, owing its foundation to the piety of Ethelbert, King of Kent. The monarch. having been converted to the Christian faith through his wife Bertha, founded the See of Canterbury in 597 and soon after, at the instance of St. Augustine, the bishoprics of Rochester and London. The first church of St. Andrew of Rochester was founded by Ethelbert in A.D. 600.

For upwards of four centuries little structural change must have taken place, but when Gundulph succeeded to the bishopric in 1077 Norman ideas were destined to rebuild entirely the church.

The Norman church, planned by Gundulph and carried on by Ernulph, was unique in its disposition and arrangement of the east end, the narrowness of its transepts, the absence of a central tower and the situation of its cloisters. In lieu of the central tower there was a detached campanile in the angle formed by the north transept with the choir, and a portion of this, Gundulph's Tower, as it is still called, exists to this day. It was balanced by a small tower against the eastern wall of the south transept. Much of this Romanesque magnificence may still be seen in the nave today, acknowledged by experts to be one of the finest Norman naves in the southern provinces today.

No definite mention of bells occurs until 1154, when Prior Reginald had a broken bell recast and added two new ones. These three bells found a home in Gundulph's Tower, gaining for it the name "'Threebell Steeple". Some years later the sacrist Thalebot gave a large bell named after himself. Later still, c. 1200, one Radulphus Bretoun, a devout benefactor, caused a broken bell which had stood for some years in the nave of the cathedral to be sent to London for recasting. This pious deed was carried out for the repose of the soul of his brother who had been killed, and the bell received the name "Breton"

About 60 years later. Richard de Waledene. the monastic sacrist. gave a bell dedicated to St. Andrew. The exact location of be!ls Talbot. Breton and Andrew is never mentioned; possibly they were hung in the rudimentary central tower that was now in existence.

The last definite pre-Reformation entry occurs in 1343. In that year the central tower and spire were heightened and completed by Bishop Hamo de Hvthe, who placed in it four new bells-Dunstan, Paul, limar and Lanfranc.

CA Vicw of the CATIIEDRAI CHURCH of ROCHESTER in Kent.

The story of the pre-Reformation bells is sadly deplete. At unspecified dates other bells were added or recast, and mention is made in several 16 th century documents of a great bell dedicated to St. Mary which required the services of four ringers to sound it. After 1545 the central tower was known as the "Six-bell Steeple" and references to Gundulph's "Three-bell Steeple" ceased, thus indicating possible transference of bells from one tower to the other.

By the turn of the 17 th century, however. it is certain that the tower contained a ring of six bells (tenor 29 cwt .10 lb .). The third bell of this ring was recast in 1635 by John Wilnar. a local founder from Borden, near Sittingbourne. Some 50 years later the fifth and tenor bells were recast at a cost of $£ 120$ by Christopher Hodson, of St. Mary Cray, the new tenor weighing 30 cwt . 1 qr. 5 lb . In 1696 the treble was recast by John Wood, of Chancery Lane, London, at an expense of $£ 9$

In 1711 the well-known Richard Phelps, of the Whitechapel Foundry, estimated $£ 25$ to recast the cracked 4th bell; the iob was, however, won by James Bagley. of Cripplegate, who recast the bell the following year. He also quarter-turned and rehung the 2nd bell. described as "ancient and much worn at the lip". Unfortunately this laudable regard for antiquity did not prevail when the bells were recast 200 years later.

In 1749 the spire and upper portion of the tower were taken down and rebuilt to a different and more ponderous design (as shown on accompanying print). By 1770 the treble again needed recasting, the work being carried out by Pack and Chapman, of Whitechapel. Ten years later, in 1780. Gundulph's Tower began to be demolished for building materials but happily abandoned after the upper part had been removed.

During the early 19th century the cathedral authorities were unfortunate in engaging the services of the architect Lewis Cottingham. In 1823, the tower again being considered unsafe was taken down and rebuilt by Cottingham. This gentleman, without any attempt to copy work of the 13 th or 14 th centuries. contented himself with a sham-pinnacled belfry upon which, for over 30 years, Gundulph's Norman castle keep frowned as if in reproof of its vulgarity and pretentiousness. Luckily, Cottingham's tower, which was no better than the wretched specimens of "Commissioners Gotnic" that were rising about the same time all over the country, has gone, never to return. In 1834 the tenor bell was again recast by Thomas Mears and reduced to $26+\mathrm{cwt}$.

In 1904 an old citizen of Rochester. Mr Thomas Hellyar Foord, left $£ 5.000$ to the cathedral fabric. Dissatisfaction with Cottingham's poor work had been mounting yearly. and it was decided to completely restore the tower and bells. In rebuilding the tower as it appears today great effort was made to try to reproduce the pre-1749 tower. Examination of the bells showed that only the 4th and tenor of the six were considered good enough for incorporation in the new ring; accordingly, the other four bells were recast and two trebles added to make eight. The work was carried out by Mears and Stainbank and the new ring was hung in a massive wooden 10 -bell frame. The first peal on the bells, $5,040 \mathrm{Bob}$ Maior, was rung on October 21st. 1905, to celebrate the Nelson centenary, but the official rededication and inauguration did not take place until November 3rd, St. Andrew's Day.
Within 15 years plans were afoot to complete the augmentation to ten and in 1921 the whole ring was recast with additional metal into a ring of ten (tenor 30 cwt . 14 lb.). The work was carried out by Gillett and Johnston and the resulting ring was one of the best to emerge from the Croydon foundry. The 1905 frame, being in good condition, was retained, but all new fittings were supplied.

Unfortunately, the expected life of the wooden frame was severely curtailed. In 1959. following a serious subsidence, examination of the timbers showed that replacement was imperative. Messrs. John Taylor and Co. were entrusted with the work and the present substantial steel frame will ensure that Rochester Cathedral bells will continue to delight ringers and listeners alike for many years to come.

Quarter Peal Ringing in 1967 by alan a buswell

THE number of quarter peals has risen this year by 551 over 1966 to a total of 4,294. These were rung in 1.665 different towers Iust under half this number, however, had only one quarter rung in them. which leaves 3,472 quareers to be rung in 843 towers; $4 \cdot 1$ quarters per tower. There were 14 towers which - aimed their first on the bells, but this. of course, cannot be checked.

Addington. Surrey, rang the most with 50 ; Lympne. Kent, fell into second place with 37. followed by Si Clement Danes' with 28. Kingston upon Thames, Surrey, 20, Waltham Abbey 18. Lelant. Cornwall, Smarden and Warnford with 16 St . Vedast's. London. and Croydon (S.J.B.) both with 15 .

There qre a number of quarter peals which can come under the heading of "Notable Performances". i.e., 57 Doubles rung at Longparish, Hants; 10-Spliced Minor at Fawley, Hants; Finchingfield Major rung at Finching field, Essex for the first time and is a new method for "The Ringing World" Fabian Stedman compeution (figures yet to be published). Seighford Doubles rung at Seighford, Staffs, is also claimed as a new method. Spliced Erin, Stedman and Grandsire Cinques were rung at Oxford Cathedral. and on handbells. of which 46 quarters were rung. was one of Spliced Plain, Little and Gainsborough Bob Major at Middle Swan. Western Auscralia There were 18 handbell quarter peals rung overseas, most of them in Western Australia.
Leading the County list is again Kent with 13 ( 303 in 1966), their nearest rival being Somerset with 283 ( 275 in 1966). It is rather interesting to note the number of Doubles rung by Somerset (160) compared with only 39 of Minor, and there must be some reason for this. The total number of Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles (881) is very large and rather depressing, since they show how unadventur-ous and unimaginative quarter peal ringers are. One can always ring Plain Bob with Grandsire bobs for a change The "Other Methods" include various Doubles methods. including Stedman, Kent, Oxford. St. Clement's Minor. Oxford Bob Triples. etc. Incidentally. I only noticed two quarters of Triples in methods which will be found at the back of the Diary
In conclusion. I make no clam to the accuracy of this analysis, as there may be many quarters rung and not submitted to "The Ringing World"; also. that not all the quarters submitted have been published. through pressure on space or late presentation. but the number omitied is very small.
Should anyone require further information regarding individual towers and methods rung, etc., I will be pleased to give it, upon receipt of a s.a.e. to 32, Lower Drayton Lane, Cosham, Portsmouth. Hants.

COUNTY LIST OF QUARTER PEALS IN 1967 WITH LEADING TOWERS

AMAZING SCENES AT dURBAN'S FIRST PEAL

Police Send Four Flying Squad Cars

The first peal in Durban, South Africa, reported on page 238, gave rise to sensational news in the local newspapers the following day. Headed ' Ding-dong Row at St. Mary's,' the report reads:-

- The bells of St. Mary's rang on and on and on . as flying squad cars and crowds gathered outside the little old church at Stamford Hill, Duroan, last night.
* Up in the bell tower, a team of ringers were trying to keep their ten bells ringing for a three-hour "full peal' (only six bells were ringing). And at the mate a balding Rector, with timid voice, struggled to keep an angry crowd out of his church.

Policemen, who arrived in four squad cars following a series of complaints from residents of the area, found their way to the tower barred by a solid oak door, which was bolted from the inside.
". We don't mind when the bells ring for half an hour or so, said Mrs. Ricky Stangoebole, who lives next door to the church, 'but this has been going on all afternoon and my baby is giving me a bad time.

GIVE PLEASURE TO PEOPLE

"Rector of the church, Rev. A. Cbariton, told the assembled crowd: 'We ring the bells to give pleasure to people and these people are trying to do something special this evening.
"' If they can manage to keep ringing them for three hours, they will be able to send a report to the Bell Ringers' Magazine in England and it will be published.'
"After receiving assurances from Mr. Charlton that the bells would stop as soon as the three-hour limit was up, the police drove away smiling The bells stopped at 7.20 p.m."

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Maidstone District

A quarterly meeting of the Maidstone District was held at Linton on March 9th. Ringing started promptly at $30^{\circ}$ clock under the supervision of Mr. C. Tester (District Ringing Master) and was mainly dedicated to learners, with the bulk of the ringing being rounds and call changes. Bob Major and plain courses of Grandsire Triples.
The service was conducted by the Vicar and the lesson was read by Mr. Martin Howe, the District secretary. The last of the hymns sung appealed especially to the youngsters-it was a modern hymn with a "swinging" beat and would be very pleasant to hear at any church service.

A free tea was given by the local ringers and thanks were tendered to Mr. Percy Town and his helpers for providing such a mar vellous spread.

During the business meeting all ringers stood in silence in memory of Mr. Walter Gosling tower captain at Boxley for 40 years, who died recently.

After tea, ringing continued until 8.30 and varied from rounds to Yorkshire Surprise Major.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Boat Race Causes Change of Venue

Originally the Central District had intended to hold its anr,ual District meeting at Putney on March 30th, not realising that it was Boat Race Day. Mrs Oatway very resourcefully found an alternative tower at St. Nicholas' Thames Ditton. where Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorne made everybody most welcome Visitors were present from Alton and Swindon.

Ringing in the afternoon included an allladies touch of Plain Bob and an all-gentlemen touch of Stedman, with the Boat Race providing an aside for those with transistors. The Vicar, the Rev. J. Emrys-Jones, conducted the service and joined the Guild at tea, the catering for which had been undertaken by Mrs. Hawthorne.
At the business meeting, while the gentlemen did the washing up, Mrs. Hooton reported a good year, financially and socially, with a growing membership. All the officers were reelected, but on the Central Committee Mrs. Savory replaces Mrs. Collins, who has now left the district. It was agreed to send a letter to Miss Hilda Snowden, wishing her a speedy recovery.
The programme for ringing at the Guild annual general meeting on July 6th was approved by all. This will be published in "The Ringing World" later, together with details for a buffet lunch in St. Albans and dinner at Hertingtordbury Friends and supporters were requested to book the date and get their tickets as soon as possible.
All present regretfully said "Goodbye" to Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorne, who will shortly be moving ic North Wales. They were wished every happiness in their retirement.

More ringers arrived after the meeting and for a while some ancient brasses were bigger attraction than the bells. Ringing followed at Kingston on Thames.

THE wedding took place on February 24th of two well-known peal ringers, Ian H. Oram and Margaret E. Fort. The couple were married in the Parish Church of St Mary-the Virgin. Leigh, Lancashire, Margaret's home own.
The bride. given away by her grandfather, wore a full-length wedding dress of wild silk and carried a spray of roses and freesias Margaret was attended by her sister and cou sin; the Rev. Peter N. Bond was best man.

After the service 504 Stedman Triples was rung by Kent and Lancashire friends and was conducted by the Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

About 70 people attended the reception held in the Waterfield Restaurant. Leigh, after which the bride and bridegroom left for a short honeymoon in Manchester.

We are sure many ringers will join in wishing Margaret and lan every happiness in the years that lie ahead.
T. $L$.

A TWO-THOUSAND-TON HOWLER:

A description of the Parish Church of SS Peter ano Paul. Felixstowe. Suffolk, in the Urban District Council's Official Handbook of about 1906, includes the following: , possesses only one bell, as we speedily discover, for its piaintive appeal and reminder are more suggestive than the crash of a belfry equal to a 2,000 ton Bob Major. This solitary bell bears the inscription: 'Miles Graye made me, 1627."

CLAUDE RUSH.
Mr. W Barton, a vice-president of the Yorkshire Association gave a talk to the British Horological Institute. London, on April Sth. on "Bells and Bell Ringing."

The London "Evening Standard "carried a fine action picture in their issue of April ist of the casting of a bell at the Whitechapel Foundry.

PEAL AT DURBAN

Dear Sir, - I am sure that many English ringers will wish to offer hearty congratulations to the band which rang the peal of Grandsire Doubles at St. Mary's Greyville.

1 his will surely be a strong contender for the Peal of the Year Although is may be overshadowed by far more illustrious performances it could not be bettered for sheer ambition and perseverance. It is amazing that Cyril Chambers has been able to maintain a change-ringing tradition in Durban, for not unly are the two towers there isolated by hundreds of miles from the next outpost of ringing but there are difficulties encountered there quite unknown here in England.

To those of us who have seen the recent renaissance of ringing in Durban, reports of quarter peals in these columns have been most encouraging. During his stay in Durban, Geoffrey Armitage has given much assistance to Cyril. culmınating in the conducting of this crowning achievement
May we all look forward to more good news from Durban and continued progress there.-Yours faithfullly,

WALTER G. KNIGHT.
London, N.W

AN EARLY EVENING AT SITTINGBOURNE

Dear Sir,-I read with interest the letter of the nrolific Mr. Hedgcock entitled "Through Male Eyes". I can only assume that on the day in question the gentleman's eyes must have been slightly blurred or he would surely have noticed that the "comparatively high standard" of ringing, "particularly during the evening", came to a halt when the clock showed 7.30 p.m.

Having spent the day in question risking life and limb in a belfry with Mr. Harry Parkes (as anyone who has worked with Mr. Parkes will appreciate), my two friends and I felt the need for a little relaxation. Knowing there to be ringing at Sittingbourne, we made our way there post haste. When we arrived we were disappointed to find that the church was in darkness and there were no signs that there had even been ringing there that day. It was not until some time later that we discovered that the ringing had stopped at 7.30 p.m.
But I have to agree with Mr. Hedgcock on one point-we didn't find a fiasco when we arrived!-Yours faithfully,

PAM COURT.
Hythe, Kent.

BOB MINOR WITHOUT A SINGLE

Dear Sir, - Frank Blagrove has given the long-awaited answer about his extents of Bob Minor, but there is nothing new. From the other correspondence it can be seen that this is how a 720 was first obtained. I cannot see how he considers to have rung an extent of Bob Minor using this plan The extent he gives is a mixture of Plain Bob and Original Minor, nothing else. Bob Minor is a treble dominated method and although it is possible to have a bell other than the treble in the hunt, it is not possible to change the hunt bell in midstream. Mr Blagrove has fallen into a trap in stating that "two types of bob are used". Doesn't this contravene the rules of the Central Council?-Yours faithfully,

UNDERGRADUATE.
(Name and address supplied.-Ed.)

WHEN TO CALL "STAND"

Dear Sir, -With reference to Mr. Hunt's letter in "The Ringing World" on March $29 t \mathrm{~h}$ (page 242), in which he states that he wishes to be dissociated with a peal, as (1 quote) "some extents were flagrantly miscalled". I would have thought he could have stood his bell before the end of the peal.

In my opinion, any ringer, if he does not think the s.siking or conducting is up to the standard considering the quality of the band, should first warn the conductor and if it does not improve then stand.

I would just like to mention that I was invited to ring in this peal but could not do so, and also that I do not wish to cast any doubts on Mr. Hun: as a ringer, as having rung with him I consider he is a reasonably good and reliable ringer.

In conclusion, changing the subject if I may, Mr. Editor, I would like to say how good was Mrs. Parker's lecture on Rhythm and Striking at the recent half-day school on bellringing at Billingborough. If another record is to be produced in the near future, similar to the recording of Washington Cathedral bells, Mrs Parker's lecture, recorded of course by her, could be put on it and I think would benefit all ringers who hear it. - Yours faithfully.

Grantham, Lincs.

CORNISH PROGRESS

Dear Sir,-Further to the letters of Messrs. Visade and Lewis on the subject of outstandingly progressive local bands, we in Cornwall (" the home of call changes"), where the ratio of call change to " scientific" bands is approximately 9 to 1 , have some progressive method bands also
We may not all aspire to London Major (Mınor, yes), but, with such limited facilities, to train a Grandsire Triples band from nothing is a considerable achievement.

Iwo of our three Sunday service bands capable of Grandsire Triples (Carbis Bay and Redruth.-the other being Stratton) could not have been said two years ago to possess a band with enough competent rope-handlers to ring rounds on all their bells.

This seems to me more of an achievement in an area with an average of a dozen peals per year than where Spliced Surprise is rung nightly.-Yours sincerely,
T. ROY HART.

Redruth, Cornwall.

STOWE-NINE-CHURCHES

Dear Sir, -In the article "Saxon Towers around Northampton" (March 29th) you mention Stowe-Nine-Churches and you say that its name originates from the fact that from that bigh point you can see nine churches. Well, that may or may not be true: indeed, in the 16th century it was called "Nyne Steeples" but popular local legend will tell you differently.
The legend says that long years ago in Saxon times they decided to build a church there, but each time they tried the Devil came and moved the bricks. Eight times the old Saxon builders almost finished building the church and eight times the Devil came and dismantled the church and moved the bricks. However, the ninth attempt proved successful. The builders foiled wily old Satan and the rower is still standing to this day after 1.000 years.-Yours, etc.,

Sandy, Beds.

DOUBLES NAMES

Dear Sir,-May I also offer congratulations to the Cambridge University band on their performince in 220 Doubles methods/variations at Litlington on March 1st. It is very heartening to see that Mr Underwood has honoured the Winchester and Portsmouth Guld by naming several of his varieties after locat towers. However, since he requests any corrections to his nomenclature 1 offer the tollowing:-

St. Cleer (already named) is St. Remigius with Reverse Canterbury Bob.
Darwin (already named) is Dragon with Pink's single.
Itchen (already named) is St. Nicholas with Plain Bob bob or Dragon Single (1 believe it is false)
St. Catherine (already named) is St. Simon with Plain Bob bob or Old Doubles Single.
St. Katherine is St. Simon with Rev. Cant. Bob or Wallifower Single.
In the case of the St. Catherine's Doubles, 1 would like to raise a point for general discussion This is one of several methods for which I have been unable to obtain a true 120. 1 note however, that these methods are occasionally utilised in multi-method 120's. Does this not invalidate the performance, or is it acceptabie if the lead or so rung is true to the full spliced 120? Perhaps someone could produce for me true 120's of the following, whict otherwise 1 regard as false:-

Plain Course
St. Simon Winchendon St. Simon
Winchendor St. Simon Winchendon

| Bob | Single |
| :--- | :--- |
| Rev. Cant. | Old Double |
| Rev. Cant. | Old Double |
| Plain Bob | Old Double |
| Plan Bob | Old Double |
| Plain Bot | Grandsire |
| Plain Bob | Grandsire |

Yours sincerely,
DEREK C. JACKSON.
Totton, Southampton.

THE BELLE OF BELLRINGERS WANTED

Dear Sir.-Isn't it time a fresh impetus was given to livening up "The Ringing World"? Granted, bellringing does not provide much of an opportunity for a gay, exciting magazine but, in my humble opinion, more should de done beyond providing a photograph of a church on a bright yellow cover.
One possibility is a " Miss Bellringing * competition. No doubt such a revolutionary (?) idea will make many of our more venerable ringers shake with horror; I can hear the comments now-" laughable," "disgustinglowering the tone of a great magazine."
But will these people with reactionary Victorian beliefs remember one little fact-there are more ringers under the age of 30 than there are over the age of 60 (and possibiy over the age of 50 ), and these young people are the basis of the Exercise.

If the G.P.O. and the Coal Board, hardly the institutions that send the pulse racing, can run their respective competitions, why can't we? In conclusion, I can only hope that this letter-or even a mention of the idea in "Belfry Gossip" will be printed. Let us not be afraid of finding out who is Britain's most beautiful bellringer-many young men would dearly like to know.-Yours hopefully,

MICHAEL C. BROAD.
Solihull.

OBITUARY

MR. HAROLD LESLIE PARFREY

The vullage of Corston. Bath, was deeply shocked when the news became known that Mr. Harold L. Parfrey had died on the evening of Thursday, March 21 st, a feeling which was shared in the wider area of the Bath and Wells Diocese, and even further afield. as Harold was well known and liked in many places. The shock was all the greater since he was at the usual weekly practice on the previous Friday and was in hospital only two days.
For the past four years he had been towel master at Corston and indeed he had been the moving spirit behind the ringing at this tower for over 20 years. When he irst began to take an interest in Corston the band was struggling with Grandsire Doubles; at the present time it is possijle to pick a band for Surprise Minor and a Sunday service band for Grandsire and Stedman Irıples and Bob Major, while individual members ring Surprise Major methods, coached and encouraged by Harold. He was always inssistent on goou striking, inj the success of his bands in a recent striking competituori was a source of great gratification to lim. He was of a rather shy and quet disposition, although an offender in a touch could be dealt with in no uncertain manner. However, after "Stand" had been called, his slow smile showed that all was forgiven.
He learned to ring in the ' 30 's and his first peal was of Bob Major at Twerton in November, 1936.
His peals were: Doubles 21 (conducted Caters 5, Royal 2.
5), Minor 14 (1), Triples 19 (2), Major 26 , He had rung peals for five Associations other than the Bath and Wells, including tour peals for the Anctent Society of College Youths.
For several years he had been Ringıng Master for the Bath Branch of the Diocesan Association and at Corston had been a member of the choir, where his tenor voice will be greatly missed. He had also served on the Parochial Church Council.
His wife is also well known in ringing circles, as she has twice been vice-president of the Western District of the Ladies' Guild. Sympathy goes out in full meausure to her and their three children in their grievous loss.

The funeral service was held at Corston on March 26th, when the church was filled to overtlowing. The simple but affecting service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. Graham Hopper, and the Rev. Roger O Fry, one of Harola's oldest friends, with whom he had rung many peals. Psalm cxii, which he had often sung at ringers' services, was used, logether with two hymns, and the Nunc Dimitus as the coffin was carried out of the church by a bearer party consisting of Alan F. Lee, Ian Cox. Sidney J. Woodcock, Eric Naylor, Julian E. Newman and David A. Burt. At the request of Mrs. Parfrey the bells were rung open at the conclusion of the service.

AN APPRECIATION

It was indeed a terrible shock for us in the Bath Branch to learn of the passing of Harold Parfrey at the age of 51 after a very short illness.
He held office as Ringing Master of the Branch as well as the post of tower Master at Corston and was also a long-serving member of the choir. Harold was of a quiet disposition but could be forceful when ringing was not up to the standard he expected. However, as soon as the ringing was over he never bore any ill-will whatsoever and we shall remember that characteristic grin that would put everyone at ease again.
Of mis countless virtues we will not forget the way he always openly apologised for any error that he made, for the way he could always be relied upon to help anyone in any sort of trouble. He had endless patience with beginners and would put himself out for their sakes. He was always happy to join the choir at meetings and we shall miss his tenor voice and also the way he would transport ringers from one place to another regardless of time and cost.
Indeed, he was a man of rare qualities and was held in high esteem by all who came into contact witk him. This was borne out at his funeral service as not only were there many ringers present from far and near but almost every villager who was able to be present came to pay last respects. The firm of Horstmann Gear Co.. for whom he had worked for over 31 years, sent over 20 representatives. from workmates to directors.
He rujoyed every branch of ringing: first his Sunday service ringing. He liked quarter peals; rang on an average four peals per year and loved to go on an outing in search of new towers. His peals totalled 87 and it was a coincidence that his first was at Twerton-onAvon in 1936 and it was at this tower that he rang his last, Stedman Triples in December of last year. conducted by the Rev. Roger Fry.
We thank God for the example he has given us and send our deepest sympathy to his wife, Bette, and to his three children in their sad ioss.

ALAN F. LEE.

MR. SAMUEL PETTER

With great regret we record the death on March 24th of Mr. Sam Petter, who was for many years tower captain at St. Mary's, Worplesdon, Surrey He had been in poor health for some time but continued to show an interest in ringing He was 90 years of age and is survived by his wife, Ellen, who is also the same age and now lives at St Andrew's Home, Farnham.
Sam was born at Rogate and came to Worplesdon from Milland. It was there that he first became interested in ringing at the age of 19. He iang for the last time at St. Mary's, Worplesdon, on the Sunday before his 50th wedding anniversary in January, 1967.
At his funeral service at Worplesdon on March 24 th the bells were rung open-a wish he had often expressed. A memorial quarter peal was rung the same evening at St . Michael's, Pirbright.

PEAL WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir, - I wish to withdraw the peal of 5,056 Little Bob Major rung at Pulham Market, Norfolk. on October 17th. 1967, for the Norwich Diocesan Association, as the composition was false.

My sincere apologies to the members of the band and also to those who keep records of peals rung.-Yours faithfully,

LESLIE F. BAILEY.

SUSSEX RINGERS' PROFITABLE DAY IN LONDON

THE Northern District's outing to London on March 23rd was most instructive and enjoyable-the main attractions being the Whitcchapel Foundry and the Carter Ringing Machine at Kensington Science Museum
At Whitechapel Mr. Hughes met the party and gave a lecture on the principles of mouldmaking together with examples of work now being done at the foundry. In the handbell departmen: there were examples of every stage in the process, from the new castings to the finished article. They were beautiful to benold, and when Mr. Hughes ran through some chords on a finisred set the melodious sound was a real joy to hear. Later came a visit to the tower-bell turnng-shop, where Mr. Hughev explained the process in great detail. Ringing at St. Olave's Hart Street, followed and then came lunch.
The afternoon was spent in the Kensington Science Museum, where Mr. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dobbie and John Slater demonstrated the Carter Ringing Machine-a remarkable piece of mechanism. First Mr. Hughes told the story of John Carter and the marvellous way that he brought his ringing skill and his craftsmanship as a revolver smith together to invent and construct his ringing machine. The lecturer went to some length to point out the salient features of the machine and to describe its working, after which Mrs. Dobble set up the machine for it to ring Stedman Cinques. Whilst Mr. Dobbie talked about the machine's capabilities and answered questoons we inspected it whilst it was working. It was fascinating to watch the levers and rois working to produce the changes being rung on the handbells in the corner of the room. Doubless we owe much to John Carter for his machine, but we must not lose sight of the tireless work that goes into the business of keeping it in working order.
After a break for tea we began our journey home, calling at St. Mary's, Lambeth Si. Mary's, Battersea, and St. Mary the Virgin's. Putney. The beils were put to full use for rounds, Grandsıre, Stedman. Double Norwich, Cambridge and Yorkshire, and when at last we were on the way home, tired but still happy, we amused ourselves with handbells and singing.
Hearty thanks are extended to Mr. Dnuglas Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Dobbie and John Slater, who gave up their whole day for our benefit. and the tower representatives who met us. and last but not least to Mrs. Jean Osbon for organising the trip
G. T. J.

Southern Universities Inauguration

On the brigh: and sunny morning of Marcb 6th the Southern Universities Association was inaugura:ed most auspiciously Anticipating at the mos: 20-25 ringers, we arrived at Twyford (8) to hear the bells ringing to Grandsire Iriples-and this five minutes before time!and hurried up to the tower, wondering who had oeen so keen as to arrive early We were asto: $n$ ded to find that the ringing chamber was pucked: there were hordes of ringers from Oxford. London. Southampton. Sussex and. of course. Reading. We joined in with will. and rirging ranged from Grandsire and Stedman Triples to Cambridge and Yorkshire S Major The striking could have been better. fin our excuse was that it was the first tower of the dayl
From Twyford we moved on to Hurst (8). where the long draught upset a few ringers. Ringing it Hurst was almost a reperition of Iwvfora until the arrival of the Bristol contingent. when London was promptly called for, attempted and fired-up-iwice.

By now the number present had increased to approximately 40 We, to say the least. were pleased and surprised. From Hurst the party moved on (in some 15 cars!) to Sonning (8). where we found the tower captain had forgotten we were coming. However. the key was quickly obtained from the Vicar and the lovely eight were soon ringing out to Yorkshire and London, interspersed with Plain Bob Major and Grandsire Triples.
Ringing at Sonning finished promptly at 1 p.m. and several ringers were rather puzzled to find that approximately ten miles had to be covered in just under 15 minutes Some gave up and adjourned for a pie and a pint. but luckily some decided the "tower-grab" was worth the mad dash and set off hotfoot for Goring (8). Here the ringing ranged from Cambridge and Yorkshire S Major to Grandsire Triples The light eight gave us some excellent practice Streatley was only over the river so as the eight at Goring were being lowered Streatley's six were going up It was rather a squash getting everyone in the small tower, nevertheless. ringing ranged from Plain Bob Doubles to London $$$ Minor.
The next tower was at Caversham (8). En route we lost a number of ringers who watched the finish of the "head of the river" in which many schools and universities were raking part. Despite the absence of a few ringers others arrived and numbers reached approximately 50 , and this number was maintained throughout the rest of the day ringers waiting to ring on this nice eight was unimaginable as, no one having arrived to meet us, the two organisers rapidly phoned as many people as they could think of that might have a tower key and finally, a quarter of an hour late, we managed to gain entry! We were. however. compensated for our wait by being told that we could ring until $6 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. -an extra three-quarters of an hour This pleared -veryone and the ringing setted down to some excellent striking. especially the 5 spliced Also rung were Cambridge. Yorkshire, Bristol, S. Major and Grandsire and Stedman Triples.

After St. Mary's we had a break until 6.30 p.m. for tea. One can only conclude that the supply of eating places was inadequate, as no one arrived at the final tower. St Laurences (12), until 7 p.m. This being the Reading University tower. we were very well represented. increasing numbers to 60 (approximately). The bells being the only 12 of the day. Cinques and Maximus were the norm. although Yorkshire Royal almost came round The day's ringing tad obviously provoked a great thirst and all adjourned to the forewarned tavern, where the Reading ringers are well knownl
Everyone was agreed that the day had been a great success exceeding all hopes and well worth the organisation: also. we hope, the first of many meetings. The next date decided on was November 9th. details of area, etc., to be decided and circulated later. A.K.S.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION  Taunton Branch

The first quarterly meeting of the Taunton Branch in 1968 was held on March 2nd at Hillfarrance, where the six bells were put to good use prior to the Guild service at 4.15 . The Vicar Rev $J$ Butler. welcomed the 40 or so ringers oresent and joined the company for tea.

The new chairman. Rev M J Odlum. presided at the business meeting. when six new members were elected and Sampford Arundel was chosen for the next quarterly meeting on May lith The members were reminded that originally Taunton St James was provisionally chosen for the meeting but, unfortunately, it nad been necessary 10 find an alternative tower. The meeting was sad to bear that the members of the St. James' band had decided not to renew their membership of the Asso ciation. but was somewhat relieved to know that the tower would still be affiliated The Branct secretary informed the meeting that he had written to the St. James' cower secretary on the lines that should any individual member of the tower wish to remain a member of the Association he could do so as an unattached member.
Mr K. E. Beale informed the meeting that the Branch striking competition would be held at Rockwell Green on April 27th. commencing at $230 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. An appeal was made for strong support of this. the first event of its kind in the Branch.

The chairman accorded the best thanks of the meeting to the Vicar and organist, and the ladies for droviding an excellent tea.

Afterwards ringing continued both at Hillfarrance and Bradford-on-Tone.

BELFRY

We are pleased to learn that Mr. Nolan Golden, president of the Norwich Diocesan Association, is now out of haspital.
With all the excitement over the long lengths of Glasgow Surprise, it is worthy of note that the firs: peal in the method "in hand" was conducted by John R. Mayne on March 21st.
Arthur Baldwin will remember his first peal at Billingborough. Lincs, which. according to the conductor, he thoroughly enjoyed. His father had provided a new rope for the tenor.
Nine of the ringers in the peal of Grandsire Caters at Claines. Worcs, on March 23rd were either regular Sunday service ringers at Malvern Link or regularly attend the weekly Monday practices there. They would like to express their thanks to the Vicar and ringers Nt Clames for the use of their bells.

St. Neots is well-known for its superb heavy actave (tenor $29 \frac{1}{2}$ cwr.). The tower captain, Mr. George Bonham, achieved an ambition on March 23rd when he "completed the circle". turning in the tenor in fine style to an excellent peal and equalling the previous fastest time for a peal on the bells ( 3 houns 10 minutes).

GOSSIP

A donation has been received to cover the cost of providing a sharp second for Shoreditch Parish Church.

Lancashire has given the Exercise another example of progress. At Blackburn Cathedral a peal of Spliced Surprise Royal in 14 methods was rung on March 16th, which was the greatest number of Royal methods rung in an "all the work" peal.
Full support was given Bob Lester at his nome .ower. Barking on March 16th, when the Central District of the Suffolk Guild held an evening practice. Some 50 ringers attended from a wide area: it is hoped that all had a pull

Mr. G W. Edwards and Mr. R G. Morris, of Malvern Link. have a computer programme in Algol to prove any length of Grandsire Caters. They regre: that no proof can be undertaken by them but will let anyone interested have the tape ( 5 -hole) to copy.

It seems that political ringing of the past is being resurrected. We have received from Essex a peal "rung fully open to mark the overthrow of the Labour Party in the recent by-elections." This footnote is not being published.

overseas contracts for LOUGHBOROUGH

The Loughborough Bell Foundry has secured two very helpful export orders-to the Unites States and Australia.
A carillon of 49 bells (four octaves) has been ordered tor the Cathedral of St . John the Evangelist. Spokane, Washington, which is one of the architectural masterpieces of the New World. Mr. Paul Taylor informs us that the carillon is to be four octaves completely chromatic. with the largest bell 60 inches in diameter, sounding the note C , and weighing some two tons The tower was only completed some 12 years ago, and its height from the nave floor is 167 feet.
The second contract is for a chime of eight bells laizest $10 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$., for St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Canberra, Australia. The whole set is very similar to the one supplied to St. John's, Canberra, in 1964. Messrs. John Taylor and Co are sending drawings of the supporting girders, etc., and they are being supplied locally. The installation of the bells will also be undertaken at Canberra.

THE SOCIETY OF RAMBLING RINGERS

The annual reunion and meeting of the Society took place at the Barbecue Restaurant, Buxton. on February 10th. Despite the heavy snow in the previous week the roads had been cleared by Saturday, and ringing took place at Baslow, Hope, Chapel-in-le-Frith and Bakewell during the morning and afternoon.
Approximately 35 members and visitors enjoyed a first-class meal, and during the meeting that tollowed it was confirmed that the Society was in a much stronger position than the previous year.
Officers elected for the forthcoming year wers president. Mr. D. A. Frith: Ringing Master Mr. J. E. Cook, deputy Ringing MasMers, Messrs. D. Mottershead and S. Bell; secretary/treasurer, Mr R. B. Mills: peal secretary. Mr. M. Vernon; committee member, Mr. W Lacey.
It was sonfirmed that this year's tour will be in Norfolk and Suffolk and, following discussion, Lincoln got the vote for next year's reunion. R.B. M.

ORANGES AND LEMONS SERVICE

At the Oranges and Lemons Service at St. Clement Danes this year, Mr Charles Richards and his handbell ringers from the De Brome School at Feltham stole the show with a pleasant recital on 14 bells of the famous nursery rhyme.
Arranged by the London County Association, of which Mr . Richards is a member, the hundreds of schoolchildren present were much quieter and intent on the ringing than during any other part of the service - including the address by a very eminent R.A.F, chaplain.

CAPTAINS MARRY

Miss June Watts, tower captain at St. John's Church, Devizes: and Mr Peter Bushell. captain at All Saints'. Enford, Pewsey. Wilts, were married at St John's Church. Devizes, on March 23 rd. They are both popular ringers in their respective parishes. June, after 18 months as acting captain, was appointed to the office of captain by the Rector at the beginning of this year.
The bells were rung at the conclusion of the service, the ringers including several of June's pupils. Handbells were taken to the reception and rung at the cu'ting of the wedding cake The bride was presented with a barometer from her fellow ringers, the presentation being made by the youngest ringing member.
As the happy couple were leaving for their honeymoon at an undisclosed destination the bells of the parish church were rung to a quarte: peal by J. Porter 1. W. Mortimer 2, Mrs. P. Osbourne 3, W. Beaven 4, J. Weeks (cond.) 5, C. Hillier 6, D Barley 7. F. Cannings 8.

MR. "BERT" TURNER'S 80th BIRTHDAY

London ringers of the older generation will remember Albert Turner, better known as Bert. He was 80 years of age or. Sunday. March 31st and to mark the occasion a band. chiefly of his old pupils, assembled at St. Mary Magdalene'e Church, N.7, where he rang for so many years, and attempled a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples. Among those taking part were Miss D A. Deverell. Messrs. R. H Begrie, F Akers, R. Newman cond.) and A. W. Warren Untortunately, after some very good ringing, the quarter was lost. His friends wish Bert many years of active ringing. Although he is getting a little deaf and his eyesight is beginning to fail, he is still in very good shape

GLOBE-TROTTING AGAIN

Mr. Len Stilwell, who now lives in Windsor. is planning another transcontinental holiday in Canada. He leaves on May 7th for an 11week holiday with his brother at White Rock. about 30 miles from Vancouver. He hopes also to stay a few days with his nephew in Victoria. His plans include Calgary in his ttinerary and for the last few weeks he has been promised by a cousin a glorious time at Saskatoon. His companions of Adventure II wish him every happiness during his Canadian tour.

Mr. Edwin Barnett is at present in hospital at Dartord, Kent, recovering from an operation. He topes to be home in time for his 83rd birtheay, on Easter Day.

STRADBROKE (SUPFOLK) HANDBELLS
On page 277 of "The Ringing World" of April 23rd, 1965. there appeared an article by me on these 60 or so handbells of 50 years ago.
1 mentioned in particular the big. inscribed, booming "two-hander" which I thought was an E flat. I ended by adding that I would love to know where it was after all these years-1 had not seen it since about 1920 .

Imagine my surprise when I heard from Mr. Douglas Hughes. of Mears and Stainbank, that someone had broughe in 23 handbells for overhaul, and included in these was one bell, a Taylor 15 C sharp. inscribed: "This Peal of 8 Bells Presented Io Herberi Bayles by Mrs. F. W. Ffrench. Easter. $1913^{*}$ and another, a Mears 29 C inscribed: "Presented to Herbert Bayles by Mrs. F W Ffrench, Christmas. $1910^{\circ}$. This latter was the booming twohander which I thought was an E flat.
Now, due in great measure to Mr Hughes, 1 am the possessor of these two inscribed ones. It was thrilling to unpack them and have sight and sound of them for the first time for just on so vears.
Herbert Bayles, as I showed in my 1965 article, was a saddler and the verger, steeplekeeper and clock-winder of Stradbroke for many years, dying in 1936. aged 75 .
"Mrs. F. W Ffrench" was the wife of Frederic W. trench, of Depperhaugh Hoxne, Suffolk. who unsuccessfully contested the Eye oarliamentary seat for the Conservatives against the Liberals about 1914. She was an invalid and her chauffeur-driven Unic car was specially made for her so that she could travel in a semi-lying down position. She must have had an affection for Herbert Bayles and, jointly, his love of bells. CLAUDE RUSH.

NOSS MAYO, DEVON

The rerent notice in "The Ringing World" would appear to have caused interest among towe- grabbers, but the explanation is perfectly simple. The tower is in fact listed in Dove under the name Revelstoke. The church was built to replace the old ruined Church of St. Peter the Poor Fisherman at nearby Stoke Beach. he money being provided by Lord Revelstoke, and it has consequently been known since as Revelstoke Church. whereas the parish is Noss Mayo. 1 think in the circumstances a more appropriate entry in Dove should be Noss Mayo (Revelstoke) St. Peter.

DOUBLE APPRECIATION

Mr. W Frank Stenson, of Crewe, writes: "I have been very thrilled with all our 'Ringing World front pages, which have revived some very happy memories, especially - The Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Lavenham We visited Lavenham during its last flower and ringing festival and the former was the nicest, thing we have seen outside Chelsea Show."

A BRIDE FROM ASTON

The ringers in the peal of Yorkshire Maximus a: Aston. Birmingham, on March 16th (page 268) wish to associate with it the name of Miss Cynthia Jennings. the bride at the wedding preceding the peal. She has been a ringer at Aston Parish Church for five years and was married on the Saturday to Mr. James Baughan, a non-ringer, who lives at Erdington.

BUILDING UP DOUBLES VARIATIONS

BY DEREK C. JACKSON

Part 1
Correspondence in "The Ringing World" during 1967 advocating variety in our ringing as the primary means of retaining the interest of our ringers has received support from many quarters. In an attempt to provide something which would assist this idea in a constructive manner I have prepared the following scheme which contains nothing new except the sequence. It is directed at the ringers in our 5 and 6 -bell towers and in those many 8 -bell towers where Doubles ringing is the norm. Eight-bell ringers-this is not for youl

Starting from my original premise in "The Ringing World", I maintain that the only system to retain the interest of our intelligent youngsters (who are the only means of building up a first-class band) is to provide variety and that indifferently-struck Jack-a-Napes or Blunderbus Doubles is much to be preferred to a weekly dose of immaculate Grandsire Doubles.
When I wrote this I realised that very few readers would even know of the existence of these methods and probably even fewer have since conducted their own investigations. Thus I have evolved two tables of Doubles methods as an assistance to the expansion of a band's repertoire.
The explanation of the first table must be prefaced by a few basic fundamentals:-

1. All these methods are Bob Doubles based. Thus it is important that learners in a Doubles band are taught this method in preference to Grandsire.
2. The learner must be able to produce his Blue Line by writing out the figures of a plain course of Bob Doubles and not be given a prepared diagram. Parallel to this course he should be able to write out the effect of a Bob at each point where the treble is leading.

Part 2

The utilisation of my scheme could be divided up into fortnightly sessions (or longer, if necessary), with the complete band regularly preparing a new method. (In a year's time the same sequence can be applied again to the new group of learners, once they have mastered Bob Doubles.) It can be seen that by using a different call with Bob Doubles a new method or variation is produced. All those given here are suitable for using one bell as observation (and therefore unaffected) with the calls four leads apart.

Start with the Old Doubles Single, which is really the Plain Bob Single used in Bob Minor. The observation bell is making seconds. The bell preparing to dodge in 3-4 down makes thirds, and then hunts up to the back, and the other bells plain hunt. Any bell can be used as observation, and one possibility is for the conductor to call himself observation. Another is to use the learner who is now adept at plain courses of Bob Doubles. It is quite easy to spot the lead where he makes seconds since as you hunt to the back you pass him just before you pass treble.

Part 3

When this variation is mastered attempt Seighford Doubles. This utilises a plain lead of All Saints Doubles as the Bob. Quite simply this is:-

One bell make seconds (unaffected, therefore observation bell).
One bell make long thirds.
Back bells each make fifths, fourths, fifths, and then plain hunt.

The Bob is given in Table 1 for the first lead, and this should be written out parallel to a plain course at each point where the treble is leading, as described in Part 1. Select your observation bell as in Old Doubles, except that the number two bell cannot be used. The figures you have just written out might help to explain this. The Bob must be called here two changes before the treble leads.

Next, April Day Doubles requires a Grandsire Single as the Single. The observation bell again makes seconds, and again the number two bell cannot be used. For a little variation at this juncture you could introduce a Grandsire Bob. You cannot obtain 120 changes with just this call, so using the above Single call B.S.B. Plain three times. You are now ringing Dedworth Doubles. Next you could introduce a rather odd method with handstroke dodges every time the treble moves from leading to seconds place, using Grandsire Bobs and Singles as the calls. This novelty will surprise all, especially when they learn that it is called Grandsire Doubles.
A Reverse Canterbury Bob has a similarity $t 0$ a Grandsire Bob and provides us with Kennington Doubles. In addition to this complexity the observation bell is now the one making long fitths. If your leamer is observation you will just have to concentrate a little more on the work he is doing. The number five bell cannot be used here as observation.

Finally a Pink Single as the Single provides you with your sixth Plain Bob Doubles variation. The observation bell is making seconds and the number two bell cannot be used as observation.

Your band is now able to ring a quarter peal of six Plain Bob Doubles variations and possibly also Dedworth and Grandsire Doubles. An extra three extents of Plain Bob gives you your 1,320 changes. For this you could call yourself observation, or your learner could ring the number three bell and be called observation for all except the Plain Bob. I would recommend the sequence of methods given in Table 1, since no consecutive extents require Singles, and possible confusion between Old Doubles, Grandsire and Pink Singles is less.

Part 4

Your next step is to change the basic method. Distribute the Place Notation, without telling your band the name of the method Call it Method 2.

They will find that it is Plain 12345 Bob Doubles with places instead of dodges, and will be 345 surprised how easy it is to ring Reverse Canterbury Doubles. Apply all the calls as before, without rushing your slowest member. You now have another six variations of this available, and could ring a quarter peal in up to 11 variations. During this it is probably safer to inform your band not of the name of the method being rung but of the name of the call being used, e.g., Reverse Canterbury with a Plain Bob Bob. The introduction of Folke Doubles is a useful bridge between Plain Bob and Reverse Canterbury and could be introduced between these two basic methods in your quarter peal. However, this suggestion is only for the more capable bands.

I would suggest that the sequence so far would easily occupy a year for most bands. You will now have your new learners commencing the sequence and the "old hands" requesting something new. Produce your Place Notation for Method 3. All bands will find this much more difficult and it will be several weeks before St. Simon's Doubles has been mastered. You will now have to choose between applying all the variations or of introducing St. Martin's, St. Nicholas and Winchendon, which are only variations of St. Simon's, utilising Plain Bob Bobs at the calls.

St. Mary's Church, Andover, Hampshire

By D. F. KING

$\mathbf{T}^{1}$HE Parish Church of St. Mary, Andover, is on a dominant site in the centre of the town and yet is more easily seen from the approaches to the town. Both parish and town are ancient and yet the church is comparatively new. As with other parishes in England, this is a history of two churches, but with common fea-tures-the dedication, the site and the bells!
The parish must have existed well before the Norman Conquest, though the church is not mentioned in the Domesday Book. However, at the end of the 11th century the church, with all its lands and possessions, was given to a Benedictine abbey in Anjou. By 1413 the Priory at Andover was dissolved, England being at odds with France at this time, and the church with its property was given to Winchester College, in whose gift the benefice still remains.
Unfortunately, many of the early vestry minutes and accounts are missing, but an alert vicar of Andover discovered one of the missing volumes at a London sale, which he promptly bought. This volume, covering the latter part of the 17th and early 18th centuries, has many references to payments to ringers for their services, particularly during the later part of the 17th century. Several of these payments were for what can be called royal occasions ("when the King was in Towne"), and it is also apparent that the burgesses of Andover were supporters of the seven bishops who defied the King in 1688 and who were tried for sedition. The bells in this year were rung when the bishops "were bayl'd out of the Tower" and when acquitted. There is an earlier reference to the bells being rung: this was in 1471 when the town was visited by the Duke of Clarence who, it is said, lost his life drowned in a butt of malmsey!

SPIRE COLLAPSES

The old church had a central tower topped by a spire 80 feet high, but this was blown down during the heavy gales of 1705. The spire was not replaced and the repair work not completed until 1712. There was a payment to the bellfounders of $£ 1113 \mathrm{~s}$. for repair of the bells. It is fairly certain that the tower had six bells at this time, because a nearby inn was the Five Bells in 1697 and the Six Bells by 1713. One wonders whether the augmentation took place after the damage. It is unlikely, however, that the bellfounders' bill would cover repair and an additional bell. In 1758 a ring of eight was cast by Messrs. Lester and Pack with a tenor of 16 cwt .
By the late 1830s concern was expressed about the inadequacy of the seating in the old church, and a plan was drawn up to provide more pews. This was submitted to an architect to find out if it was practical; not only did he turn the scheme down but he also said that all ringing must stop as the tower, in his opinion, was unsafe. It was eventually decided to build a completely new church. This decision was no doubt helped by the fact that the money for rebuilding was not to fall on the parish but would be provided mainly by a wealthy local clergyman.

BUILDING THE SECOND CHURCH

Work on the demolition and rebuilding started in 1840, and by the middle of 1842 it was expected that the end of the year would see the completion of the church. Then part of the clerestory walls fell, to the consternation and anger of the local population. The furore which followed eventually quietened down and the church was sufficiently completed by August, 1844, to enable services to take place. Two years later the tower was completed. The architect had wanted to have a spire, but the clerk of works, taken on at the time of the collapse of the walls, was adamant that this was not possible. The builder's wishes prevailed, no doubt because the architect's reputation was a little less soundly based after the collapse!

In May, 1846, a few months after the tower was finished, the bells were rung in honour of Queen Victoria's birthday. It seems from the records that striking was not always good in those days, and "The Hampshire Chronicle" considered that the ringers had not done justice to this "fine peal of bells". Charitably, the paper put this down to the ringers' "advancing years" and their lack of practice during the rebuilding.

Sunday service ringing continued but the tower does not appear to have attracted many peals at this time. The year 1899 saw a peal of Grandsire Doubles rung for the first time by a local band and in 1905 the first peal of Grandsire Triples.

In 1947 the bells were retuned and rehung on ball bearings with a metal frame, the third being recast and inscribed with the name of the vicar (the Rev. A. C. Fletcher Mard) and the churchwardens (J. A. Acherman and A. E. C. Macey). The work was carried out by Messrs. Taylors, of Loughborough, at a cost of $£ 2,000$, the whole being found by public appeal.

Andover District's Wonderful 40th Anniversary

Abstract

A N unprecedented celebration has taken place in rural North West Hampshire in honour of the 40 th anniversary of the Andover District. No fewer than 35 peals have been rung in 23 different towers. A principle observed was that every ringer capable of ringing a peal was invited to stand in the peal in his own tower.

With such a wide invitation it can be truly regarded as a District's own rejoicing There were 18 ringers taking part in their first peal and six conductors scored their firs peal in this capacity out of the nine who conducted peals. Altogether 46 ringers took part in peals, whilst at least eight more stood in the tailures and were unsuccessful in scoring a peal.

Of special note were the all local band peals-Plain Bob Triples at Hightere in their own tower, Grandsire Doubles at Broughton by Andover band, Plain Boh Doubles at Thruxton by Kingsclere local band and the local peal of Grandsire at Andover. "All those scoring a peal were Andover District members, and the enhusiasm shown has been well worth the efrort, writes the District chair G. A. combined effort in which everyone played his part."

THE DAY TO DAY STUDY

Two attempts were planned for January 1st-at Andover and Kingsclere. The former was turned into a practice when the conductor arrived with a heavy cold. At Highclere the first all-local eight-bell peal was scored with Plain HOb Triples. Friday's attempt in the only ringable four-hell tower in the District was successful. The 15 -yearold conductor, Kobert Crocker, rang his first in that capacity. Here the treble is rung under the clockcase and can be troublesome if a stragnt pull is not used.

Saturday was a day of failures. The popular and easy-going six at Longparish suttered a broken rope alter ten minutes; to Jack Wimlett, making his first attempt as conductor, this must have been disappointing. At Abbot's Ann in the evening Albert Green, also making his first attempt as conductor, lost a huntbell in Grandsire only eight extents from the end and, in the confusion, had to stop.

BROKEN ROPES

By now icy conditions prevailed, but the attempt to ring the tirst peal on the five bells at Wherwell went ahead as planned. These bells, previously unrungable, now go well, but the ropes of 4 and 5 have had the clockcase bult round them and these bells play up. Two talse starts through broken ropes were made; both being replaced, the third attempt fared better, but with 18 extents behind us, down came No. 3 rope, and another failure was chalked up.

Tuesday night of the second week was down for Longstock, a first on the beils, but further snow on Monday made road conditions treacherous. We started out and got as far as the nearest phone box, where a call was put through to the Vicar of Midgham, who gave permission for the attempt to be made here. Twenty Doubles methods were scored on the back tive there. The conductor, taking a tumble in the Vicarage, drove on thick ice. However, Berkshire road conditions were better and we arrived home safely.

On Wednesday the band got through to Goodworth Clatford and a first-class peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung on the good six, a portable tape recorder recording parts of it. Bradley Murduck was congratutated on his first as conductor.

- WOULD REJOIN!"

At Amport on Thursday Geoffrey Dodd was down to conduct a peal of Grandsire Doubles with five firsts. Before the start the tenor man said that he might have to rush outside, bu: to carry on without him and he would join in when he returned! Geoff told him not co worry. However, on the 22 nd extent his worst fears were confirmed, and before he could call the bells into rounds Bill was gone-and so another failure.

The annual meeting on the Saturday (January 13 th) prevented any further peal ringing, hut on Sunday the Andover ringers were successful in ringing Grandsire Doubles at Broughton, only the second peal on the bells, which are not easy to ring. A further attempt at Burghclere was again put back because of flu, but Wednesday's (January 17th) attempt on the heavy-going six at St. Mary Bourne was successful, with Reg Crook doing his stuff as conductor and with three first pealers in the band. A first-class effort.

Thursday's attempt on the quiet six at East Wocdhay was also successful. Voubles methods were rung with Philip Taylor calling his first peal as conductor. Albert Green's attempt at Leckford on January 20 th failed in the first quarter peal, but the second attempt, at Longparish, was successful, Jack Wimlett calling his first peal. Another success was on the light six at Stockbridge on January 21st, when Phil Murduck called his first of Bob Minor as conductor, this being the second peal on unese bells.

The peal at Tangley (a light ground-ftoor ring of five) was of Bob Doubles. This was on January 23 rd , and George Beavis, the local captain, was attempting his first peal. Philip Taylor was deputising for Geoff Dodd as conductor and brought the peal to a successful conclusion with a nice steady beat on these good-toned bells.

The Barton Stacey peal on January 25th was also successful. Eleven-year-old David Goss rang the treble in fine style for his first peal, whust his father, scill sutfering the after-effect of flu, was able to listen to the last six extents. Robert Crocker called his first peal on the easy-going six. On the same night the new six at Upper Clatford were pealed for the first time by a mixed team. Walter Mulford. a past captain of the other Clatford tower, fultilled a lifelong ambition in ringing the tenor to three Doubles methods, Jack Wimlett having kindly reserved this attempt for Geoft Dodd to call the first peal on the bells.

The Saturday (January 27th) peal at Kingsclere was one of the best on the bells, also one of the quickest. The recording on the tape recorder of the last three courses wis ringing of the highest order. Philip Murduck called Pritchard's popular peal of Bob Major. Another unfortunate failure was the Woolton Hill all-local band attempt on January 29 hh , when the treble rope broke in the last 720. This inctuded two tirst peal attempts and a first as conductor.

The Tuesday (January 30th) peal was ut Burghclere, but was again elusive. On Thursday night the difficult bells at Hurstbourne Priors were tackled, but with three of the bells proving troublesome with slip wheels and sticking pulley wheels, it was called round at the quarter peal. So with January completed, 13 peals were successful, almost halfway to our objective, with a good number of first pealers and firsts as conductors.

INTO FEBRUARY

Into February, and the first peal on the Longstock bells. another ground-floor ring, with no unusual characteristics, where 12 Doubles methods were rung with the bells well spaced out; this was on the Saturday afternoon (February 3rd). At Whitchurch, another ground-floor ring of eight, the attempt for Grandsire Triples the same day hardly got off the ground.

Sunday, the anniversary of the District, found five of us again meeting at Wherwell, but with more broken ropes and three splices later there was only time for a quarter peal, probably the first on the bells. Tuesday, at Leckford, was more successful, with Robert Crocker again conducting. Difficulty with four and five in the last quarter peal was suspected as the bells were going dry. Nevertheless, they are the best-toned five in the District. Thursday (February 8th) at Amport again brought success with a well-struck peal of Grandsire Doubles and three first pealers performing. The bells are rung from the chancel and were rehung and tuned by Taylors.

An all-Kingsclere band attempt had been planned for Thruxton on February 10th and it gave great pleasure to the participants and to the organisers when Bob Doubles was successfully rung with two first pealers, one first "inside" and a lirst peal as conductor; all credit to this band. On Tuesday (February 13th), at Longparish, a 34 Doubles method attempt was reduced to 25 as one of the band was ill and a last-minute replacement was found. A very pleasing peal was scored. Thursday (February 15th) at last found us at Burghclere, where a joint Highclere/Burghclere band successfully rang Bob Minor. There were two firsts of Minor and one first pealer took part.

A WEEK OF FAILURES

The second attempt at Andover on Monday (February 19th) had every look of success until, just before the halfway, a late call put the bells into some confusion. However, all the band felt that the next attempt had every chance of success. The unusual toned five at Over Wallop also registered another failure on the Wednesday. A further attempt, again at Andover, on February 18 th to ring Grandsire Triples failed through a shift course around the quarter peal mark and it was decided to strengthen the band before the next attempt.

Success came on February 21st with a peal in two Minor methods at Barton Stacey, Philip Taylor ringing his bell with two crushed fingers received when the car door was shut on them the previous night. Further success the nex: night was the first peal of Stedman Minimus at Newtown with three firsts of Stedman. Bernard Doe replaced Philip at the last minute when his fingers were too painful to ring a difficult treble.

The second attempt at Abbot's Ann was successful on February 24th, again a late replacement when David Goss was roped in 30 minutes before the start, and a good peal was successfully rung.

READY MONEY!

On the following Tuesday evening the first peal of Ready Money was scored at Tangley: one wonders where the name originated. It is quite tricky until one gets used to the bobs. This enabled George Beavis and Geoff Dodd to ring one together, both being well satisfied with the results.

Thursday evening proved rather a disappoint-ment-the Bob Major planned at Whitchurch for the second attempt was changed to Bob Minor when we met short. However, a very good peal was achieved in the quick time of 2 hours and 45 minutes with some pulling on the back end, the long draught not making things easy.
So the second month of our peal anniversary was completed with 11 successful peals and three failures out of 14 attempts, a good average on the whole.

INTO MARCH

We entered March with a good peal of Doubles on the unusual five at Over Wallop. the second attempt here, and were congratulated afterwards by the Rector on some excellent ringing, this being a Saturday afternoon peal.

The Awlover Ditrict ofwcers, taken at the annmal meeting at Whitcharch on January 13th. Left to right: Archibald W. An!ton (depuly chairman), Rev. Hamilhon Lloyd (auditor), Geofirey K. Dodd (chairman, seen cutting the 40th anniversary calke), Jads C. Wimiett (hon, secretory and Executive Committee representative), Reginald Crook (Ringing Master). Aftermote: The tressurer, Terry Tarrant, was busy collecting subscriptions,

The second attempt at Highciere, on March 4th, was specially organised for the regular practice night visitors to take part. A pleasing peal of Bob Major was scored with two firsts on eight and one first of Major, and a fast time with a good beat was set up with an experienced band.
Wednesday night's peal at Wootton Hill included three bandaged hands, one ringer suffering a sprained wrist, another with crushed fingers and the conductor also having a fractured finger in plaster; however, the two first pealers were in one piece and another successful peal was scored.
Into the second week and the wedding peal for Chris and Leslic on Tuesday night at St. Mary Bourne was the first in 42 Doubles variations for all the band.

12 DOUBLES FOR 12-YEAR-OLD

Ill-luck, however, dogged us on Thursday (March 14th) at East Woodhay, when at the end of the sixth extent of an excellent peal of Oxford Treble Bob Minor in what would have been a first for all the tenor rope parted below the sally.

Into the third week, and on Tuesday night another successful peal in 12 Doubles methods at Longparish, specially arranged for David Gass, now 12 years old, to ring his first peal "inside." On this performance he will definitely be one of our future Up-and-Coming Youngsters. However Wednesday night met with another disappointment when at Woolton Hill an attempt to ring four Minor methods failed after ringing an excellent 720 of Cambridge.

Thursday proved more successful with Plain Bob Minor at Upper Clatford. A mistake here i fatal, the bells being more than just noisy; a good peal was rung-the first of Minor on the bells.

To enable Res Rex to call his peal of Grandsire Triples, a special attempt had been arranged at Kingaclere on Marsh 23rd, with four firsts in the method taking part. All went well until the end of the fourth part, when a Inte call caured confurion and "Stand" was called.

Sunday proved more successful, Kent Minor being rung in fine style on the light six at Stockbridge, again with three firsts in the method and a first in the method on the bells, both of the other two peals being Bob Minor.

A FIRST AT NETHER WALLOP

Afterwards we visited Nether Wallop. Here the movement of the frame against the cower walls prevents long ringing but we were able to obtain permission for a quarter peal and a good one in four Doubles methods was rung on this heavy five, no peal or quarter having previously been rung on the bells.
The peal in 42 Doubles variations all with a plain course of Plain Bob had been planned for some'time and the different calls had been a regular feature of recent practice nights. It was in June, 1958, that the conductor first recorded a peal of Bob Doubles in six varia. tions, thinking this was the limit. Times have changed and at least 20 more calls could have been produced if required. A good peal was rung at Burghelere by a mixed band from Highclere and Burghclere on March 26th. The next evening a peal of Oxford Treble Boh was rung at East Woodhay, Mr. Webb having repaired the rope, the cause of our failure the previous fortnight.

Two attempts had been fixed for Saturday (March 30th) at Wherwell to ring the first peal on this anti-clockwise light ring of five, and at Woolton Hill for the first by an alllocal band since 1938. It was a matter of regret that the latter attempt had to be cancelled. At Wherwell, after a further check of ropes, good peal was rung with little difficulky on bells that will run away if allowed to do so. We would like to associate Phil Murduck and Jack Wimlett with this peal, both having stood in the previous attempts.

Alt that was left was Andover, and further attempts on Saturday and again on Monday (April 1st) each came to grief. However. Andover band are proud at having scored a quarter of Grandsire Triples with an all-local band, the first on record, and have vowed that a peal will be scored before the year is through.
G. K. DODD.

DEDICATION

NEWHEY, LANCASHIRE

At the foot of the Pennines, high on a hill above the village, stands the Church of St. Thomas, Newhey. The original bells, which were installed in 1877, have for many years been in such a poor condition as to render them dangerous to ring. It was therefore a proud moment for the local ringers and parishloners on Sunday, March 31st. when, before a large congregation, the Lord Bishop of Manchester dedicated the new ring of eight bells. These bells, which have been cast and installed by Messis. John Taylor and Co., are lighter than the old ring, the tenor now weighing 4 cwt. 1 gr. 17 lb . (Note $C$ sharp.)
The dedication service, which took place in the morning, was followed by ringing, when a well-stıuck touch of Stedman Triples and a course of Cambridge Surprise Major showed how delightfully rewarding this light ring is. The tower was open throughout the afternoon until Evensong and, despite the adverse weather conditions, over 60 ringers visited the cower. Some difficulty was experienced in controlling the trebles but, after a few minutes ${ }^{\text {a }}$ ringing. most people adjusted to the weight of the belt; (or should it be the lack of weight).

Practice night is Tuesday, 7.30 to 9 p.m. and Sunday service ringing 9 to $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$, and 6 to 6.30 p.m. All ringers welcome.
(The full story of the restoration of these bells will be the subject of a later arcicle.)

Andover District History and Who's Who

By J. C. WIMLETT

ON Saturday, February 4th, 1928, meeting was convened at whitchurch for the purpose of forming a new District of the winchester und Portsmouth Guild to be called the Andover District. Present were Mr. G. Williams (Master), the Revs. E. Jones, A. Lewis and M. S. Douglas and ringers from Basingstoke, Bramley, East Wooahay, Fareham, Highelere. Kings Somborne, Laverstoke, North Stoneham, Oakley, Overton, Portsmouth, St. Mary Bourne, Steventon, Wherwell. Whitchurch, Winchester and Woolton Hill. The Rev. M. S. Douedas, Vicar of Whitchurch, having been elected to the chair, called upon Mr. G. Williams to give reasons for forming the new District.
Mr. Williams outlined briefly that as the new Diocese of Guitdford had decided to form a separate Guild following the division of the old Diocese of Winchester, a largely attended meeting of riagers from the Dioceses uf Winchester and Portsmouth was held di Southamption on October 22nd, 1927, whet1 it was unanimously decided to form a joint Guild and recommended that the area should be divided into eight Districts and that the Andover District should comprise the following towers: Eight-bell-Andover and Whitchureh, six-bell-Amport, Burghclere, Highclere, Hurstbourne Priors, Laverstoke, St. Mary Bourne, Sydmonton and Woolton Hill: five-bell-Abbot's Ann, East Woodhay, Longparish, Nether Wallop, Over Wallop, Tangley, Thruxion and Wherwell.

FIRST OFFICERS

This resolved, the following were elected to be the first officers of the new District: Chairman, Rev. A. Lewis (Rector of Wherwell); secretary, Rev. F. C. Sear (Vicar of Ecchinswell); auditor, Mr. O. Smart (Andover); Central Council representative, Mr. Knapp (Highclers): Ringing Master, Mr. R. Rex (Woolton Hill).
It is to these gentlemen that we now say "thank you" for starting this new family named the Andover District of the Winchester and Portamouth Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers. The early years were not easy, travelling around the scattered towers was ait best by push bike. but early records show that a great effort was made and by the end of 1929 eight towers remained in union with the Guild, and there were seven honorary members. one life member, :breo compounding members and 60 full members.
At Highclere, now having eight bells, a peal was rung on February 23rd, 1929. The prewar years saw enthusiastic periods of actlvity and occasional changes in officert-Mr. 0 Smart was elected Ringing Master in 1931 and the Rev F. S H. Marle elect-A secretary. Of interest, the local Pross recorded a quarterlv meeting at Abbnt's Ann an Sont"n...op $12 \mathrm{th}, 1931$ when special mention was made that despite the bad weather and the Schneider Cup race 30 enthusiasts turned up for this moeting.
In 1935 the Longpartsh bells were rehung and a treble added, and In 1937 Goodworth Clatford added three hells to make a new riag of six, which was dedicated by the Bisbop of Winchester oa December 18th, 1937.

BREAK DURING WAR YEARS

Records lapsed after a moeting at St. Mary Bourne on April 18th, 1940, until a meeting at Whitchurch on July 15th, 1944, when 48 members attended from 15 towers covering a large area of the Guild just to be told there would be a combined practice at East Tytherley on August Bank Holiday (no doubt this was some Bank Holiday 1).

The District began to function again with a meeting at Whitchurch on March 24th. 1945. The same officers were all re-elected and quarterly meetings arranged for Goodworth Clatford on June 23rd and Longparish on September 27th. At the next annual meeting, on December 15 th, 1945 , the following new officers were elected: Rev. B. C. Taylor (Whitchurch), charman; Mr. R. A. Hill, Executive Committec: Rev. T. Marsden, auditor. The next change came the following year, when the Rev. S A. Gidlow (Goodworth Clatford) was elected chairman.

In 1947, three weeks after Andover bells had beea rehung, the death occurred of Mr. O. J. Smart, who had then been Ringing Master for 17 years. His place was filled pointly by Messrs. N. V. Andrews and A. L. Mitchell, other changes were Miss M. Tanner to secretary, followed by Mr. J. A. Hill later that year, Mr. N. V. Andrews auditor, and Mr. O. Smart to Executive Committee. A new appointment was introduced in 1951, Rev. P. K. Vennes to vice-chairman, and two years later Rev. P. Simcock was elected chairman, Mr. G. K. Dadd secretary and Mr. A. J. Hill creasurer.

NEW ENTHUSIASM

Geoffrey K. Dodd soon took over bath offices and stirred up new enthusiasm and by the next annual meeting a vast increase in membership was reported, ringing members from 48 in 1953 to 84 in January, 1955, and honorary members from 18 to 29 . This meeting saw another change, the Rev. J. P. Walton was elected chairman, to be replaced two years later by the Rev. P. K. Venner, with the Rev. Ann Large as vice-chairman. Because of the increased membership, Mr. A. W. Alliston, Mr O. Smart and the secretary were all appointed Executive Committee representatives. The year 1958 saw the arrival in the District of the Misses Hazel and Cherry White, who were immediately elected treasurers, once again splitting the secretary/treasurer duties. Mr. A. W. Alliston took over the duties of chairman in March, 1960, which was subsequently ratified at the annual meeting the following year, appointments by this time being for three-year perrods. In 1962 Mr. R. Crook was elected Ringing Master, the Rev. Hamilton Lloyd vice-chairman and Mrs. T: Tarrant creasurer.
Good progress was made during the next three years, striking competitions being arranged annually for the Aird Cup. This cup was originally donated by Malcolm Aird, of Tile Barn, Woolton Hill, prior to 1922, for competition between Woolton Hill, Highclere and East Woodhay. January, 1966, saw the next change of officers, Mr. G. K. Dodd to chairman, with Mr. A. W. Alliston deputy chairman, Mr. R. Crook Ringing Master, Mr. P. Murduck Deputy Ringing Mas: ter (a new appointment), Mr. J. C. Wimlett secretary and Executive Committee representative, and Mr. and Mrs. T. Tarrant treasurers. Since these appointments the accent has been on preparation for making this 40th anniversary a year to be remembered. and with the inspiration and leadership of our chairman, Mr. Geoffrey K. Dodd, such an epoch could not bo allowed to pars without being well and truly celebrated, hence the attempt to ring a peal in every tower in the District during the first three months of the year.

ONE EXCEPTION

The peal programme is dealt with but this history would not bo complete without saying that peals or quarter peals have been scored in overy tower in the District with the exception of Sydmonton, where, alas, the fabric of the tower is now crumbling so badly that the bells must remain silent until repairs are carried out. Summing up the peals: Peals rung, 35 : ringers taking part, 46 : first-peal ringers, 18 ; first as conductors, 7 ; first on the belle, 4.
R. Crocker took part in 29 peals (conducted 4), G. K. Dodd 22 (21), P. Taylor 21 (2), R. Newman 14, R. Crook 10 (2), J. Wimlett 9 (1), P. Murduck 9 (2).

Earlier, mention was made of the Aird Cup, which until last year was competed for by round ringers and method ringers in a combined competition, but last November, for the first time, the Aird Cup was open to competition among method ringers only, whilst teams capable of ringing rounds only competed tor a new Andover District Round Ringers Challenge Cup." This cup was generously donated by Mr. F. Gosling, of Newtown, to foster a keener interest among newcomers to the Exercise.

Kingsclere are the present holders of the Aird Cup with an excellently struck extent of Plain Bob Doubles, whilst Whichurch were the first winners of the new cup with their band of ringers who all had less than 18 months' experience at the time of the competition.

It is coincidental that new District boundaries came into effect on January 1st, 1968, extending the Andover District further south towers, covering a total area of approximately 250 square miles of aftractive Hampshire coumryside.

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD

Southern District

Although only 20 attended the meeting at Newton Nottage on March 16 th the ringing during the afternoon and evening was very satisfactory.
After the service a splendid tea was provided by the local ringers. At the business meeting the Morriston bells were discussed, and matters concerning their future were left to the District secretary to deal with.
The usual three meetings in each year were reduced to two-the annual general and the other during the early part of the year, the date and place to be left to the District secretary.

A vote of thanks was accorded to all those concerned in making the excellent arrangements.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION Northern District

The quarterly meeting of the Northern District was held at Baldock on April 6th. There was some delay in getting into the tower, since the key could not be found until 4 oclock. Ringing lasted for only half an hour before the service, which was taken by the Rev. K. G. Martin. Tea followed the service and then came the business meeting, at which Mr. M. D. Tagg took the chair. Apologies for absence were received from the secretary, Mrs. Anne Agg, who was in bed with a sprained back.

It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Aston and Benington, recently transferred to the District. The intermediate evening meetings will be at Wallington and Offley-all pending confirmation. Members were reminded that the C.C. Hospitality Fund was now open and that so far only 111 had been received by the secretary.

Ringing continued until 8.30 with methods including Cambridge, Yorkshire and Stedman. M. R. W.

Letters to the Editor

ST. CLEMENT DANES'

Dear Sir,-I feel sure I will not be the only person to point out a slight inaccuracy in the text of H. W. R.'s otherwise interesting article on St. 'Clement Danes' bells.
The eight bells cast in 1693 certainly did not originate from the Whitechapel foundry, as mentioned, but were cast by William and Phalip Wightman at their foundry on Windmill Hill, Clerkenwell. The same founders also cast bélls for St. James', Piccadilly, and both sets of bells were ornately decorated with running horders of crosses, fleurs-de-lis and flowers alternating.
The augmentation to ten took place in 1843, the new bells being cast by one C. Oliver, who had charge of a small foundry at Wapping. Oliver also recast the second of the old ring of eight at the same time.
Little information seems to have remained about Messrs. C. and J. Oliver. Walters ("Church Bells of England ") notes the existence of a foundry at Wapping, and, gives the dates 1810-1845. However, in conjunction with the casting of a ring of six bells at Worth, Sussex, in 1844, Oliver's foundry is stated to be at Bethnal Green! It would be interesting to learn of the exact whereabouts of Oliver's foundry. It would seem very likely that Oliver learned his talents at Whitechapel before migrating elsewhere. A family of that name has been associated with the foundry since the late 18 th century, and I gather that a lineal descendant is still in charge of the handbell shop.

In conjunction with St. Clement's bells, mention should also be made of the old Sanctus bell. cast by Robert Mot (1570-1604). It happly escaped the ravages of the Fire of London and the blitz, and has been restored to its original place in St. Clement's steedle. Yours faithfully,
N. J. DAVIES.

LADIES AT THE ABBEY

Dear Sir, - Miss Florrie Wyman is not correct in stating that she is the only lady to have ascended to the belfry and rung at Westminster Abbev. There must be other ladies who, like myself, have had this honour and pleasure, and were graciously received by the Abbey ringers.-Yours sincerely,

KATHLEEN M. LOCK.

North Mymms.

A LEARNER AT THE ABBEY:

Dear Sir,-I do not wish to disillusion Mr. Tonge (page 242) or Mrs. Wyman (page 262) but the Abbey is not the only church authority that does not allow many visiting ringers, and Mrs. Wyman is not the only woman to ring there. Whilst on tour in Hampshire a few years ago our band was refused permission to ring because "only the locals are allowed to ring here."

At about the same time as this I was granted the privilege of being allowed to ring at the Abbey, and both the young lady who was with me and I, together with another visitor, were given the full V.I.P. treatment, and the ringers would not hear of the young lady going without a ring, though only a learner at the sime.-Yours faithfully,

Malvern Link.

R. GEORGE MORRIS.

LADIES AT THE ABBEY

Dear Sir,-Like Florence E. Wyman, 1, too, have rung at Westminster Abbey. It was in June, 1924, when the Central Council met in London. I went up with the late Mrs. Fletcher, who was then Miss Edith Parker; 1 was Miss Phobe Upshed. We botb rang in a touch of Stedman.

I would not be surprised to learn that other ladies, too, have had the same good fortune.-Yours fatthfully,

PHCLBE A. TOMLINSON.

YOUNG CONDUCTORS

Dear Sir-With reference to the comment on Bellfounders' Gift Page in the issue of March 29th regarding a 12 -year-old calling a peal, away back in 1904 a 12 -year-old called a peal at Arklow. Co. Wicklow. The conductor was James Washbrook jun., who rang the 2nd to a peal of Grandsire Triples. The composition was Holt's ten-part; the peal took 3 hours and 12 minutes on Saturday, December 31st, 1904. The conductor scored his first peal on June 17th, 1903

As a matter of interest, his brother Walter scored his first peal at the same tower on January 21 st, 1905 , when only $10 \frac{1}{2}$ years old.
The last peal in which any Washbrook took part in Ireland was on September 11th, 1909, when five of the bells in the peal of Grandsire Triples were handles by four Washbrooks Harry (2), James W. senior (3 and 4), Walter (5) and James junior (7). James senior conducted the peal as well as ringing Nos. 3 and 4. -Yours sincerely,

A MEMORY OF EDINGTON PRIORY

Dear Sir,-Your enjoyable article on Edington Priory in a recent "Ringing Would" brought back vivid memories of Saturday, July 30 th , 1949, when I was fortunate to join an outing arranged (I think) by Mr. E. G. Caple, of Clevedon.

After ringing at Seend, Keevil, Steeple Ashton and Bration, the band began to apologise about the next tower, which we were visiting for the experience rather than the pleasure. And experience it certainly was-ringing with the criss-cross tumbers creaking and groaning all around you and, at intervals, when the bells got in a certain position, the bell frame hit the wall of the fower with a resounding smack.

At that time the tenor rope had a second rope-end spliced in, and it was just as much as two men could do to keep her going behind to Doubles. The locals knowingly left me the fifth.

To my ear, the bells were the middle six of eight, with the tenor half a tone flat. On reading the bell notes in your article it would seem that the fourth was also half a tone flat.

Mr. Caple dropped me in Bristol just after eleven; from there I was able to catch a train to Yatton and walk three miles in pitch darkness, along strange roads, to Wrington.

It certainly was a day to remember.-Yours faithfully,

CHARLES A. BASSETT.

DELAYED PEAL REPORTS NOT SUBSTANDARD

Dear Sir,-Mr. Baldam's contention in his letter published on page 262 that performances are not reported to "The Ringing World" within one week of accomplishment are substandard performances is, of course, complettly absurd.
The main causes for late reportung are that with the modern postal charges it is more economic, as well as convenient, to submit several performances at one tume: further, sometimes it is necessary to ascertain a ringer's correct name, also, as is usually the case, a human oversight occurs, but these are just a few of the many reasons. It is stupid to suggest, as does Mr. Baldam, that only bad performances are delayed from publication. Does the conductor of such a performance think that a delay will rectify the damage caused by the ringing?
I can only surmise from Mr. Baldam's letter that he personally has had experience of a sub-standard performance being published some time after the event and would suggest that if this is so it was surely his duty to inform the conductor that be felt he could not contmue the performance. and stand his bell, thus preventing any damage in public relations which a sub-standard performance causes, or, as a last resort, withdraw his name from the performance.-Yours sincerely,

KEITH E. BEALE.

Taunton.

Note.-We certainly agree with Mr. Beale. A notable example is that on March 9th the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths made seven attempts at nine-Spliced Surprise Major with each bell doing all the work. We understand that only one attempt was lost, and that through outside interference. The report has yet to reach this office.-Ed.

FIRST PEAL OF SPLICED SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,-In the interests of accuracy, I must point out that Mr. W. J. Robinson did not take part in "o the first peal of Spliced Surprise Major ever rung." as stated on page 261. That peal was rung at Whitley Bay on May 14th, 1924; the peal in which Mr. Robinson took part was rung at Warnham on June 11th, 1927.-Yours sincerely,

RICHARD SPEED.

A QUESTION TO BIRMINGHAM UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

Dear Sir,-I was pleased to see J. $R$. White's letter condemning the use of a pseudonym by one of his fellow members of the Birmingham University Society. Would be please now explain what tomfoolery lies behind the report of a quarter peal rung by the Society at Edgbaston Old Church for Evensong on March 10hh (page 245), when the eight bells were rung by ten people for nine. not counting the wretched J. P. Richards, who appears under his real name as well)? Furthermore, as I am informed that one of the ringers in this quarter is the Master of the Society, would he also please say how this exemplifies the Society's disapproval of such performances? Yours faithfully,
C. A. BARRON.

SECOND PAGE OF LETTERS

ST. CHAD'S TOWER

Dear Sir, With regard to the letter dealing with the tenor bell at St. Chad's, Lichtield (April 5th, page 260), may 1 contribute some small detail from my forthcoming publication "The Campanological History of Staffordshire, the product ot 15 years intensive study.

1 first inspected the bell in question in January over ten years ago. and at the time took ruobings and detailed notes.
The imagined inscription and lettering are nothing more ban a set of badly composed devices, shallow and quasi-mediæval in lorm similar to mosi very early local-cast work (It would be wise to dismiss the founder Michael de Lichfield at this point.) The forms are nor placed in any logical or sequential order, ihus it is impossible to determine any attempt it an inscription.
Arabic numerals certainly do not appear on the bell. which is of transitional contour, similar to two other bells in the county which came from the early Nottingham foundry, and are dated around 1500 . The seventeen forms and sundry other indistinct marks defy interpretation. Alphabet bells were an early form of attempted decoration and scraps of casting gathered from here and there often sufficed.
During my studies I have come to place little faith in the work of Charles Lynam. whose Victorian publication contains numerous errors of dating and inscription. His attempts to find order in the ferms present on the tenor of St. Chad's, Lichfield. are a projected ideal of that which he wished be had found!

A far more searching and informative examination of the bell, its history, documentation and probable casting are contained in my study of the county bells, from which the above paragraph has been constructed.-Yours faithfully,

POOLE WAS OVERLOOKED

Dear Sir, -I was rather surprised to read in "The Ringing World " on page 258 , in the article on Edington Priory, that the only ring of ten bells in the Diocese of Salisbury is that at Wimborne. Surely E. C. S. has rung on or at least heard of the ring of ten at Poole, which cannot claim to be in any county other than Dorset, and whose band are loyal members of the Salssbury Diocesan Guild.-Yours faithfully,

DOUBLES CORRECTION

Dear Sir,-May I correct a few slips which crept into the list of names of Doubles variations on page 231, between naming and publication, and which several people have already been kind enough to point out. Reverse Grandsire with a Wallfower bob and Antelope single should be St. Clears, not St. Cleer, and Reverse New Grandsire with a Grandsire bob and Pink's single should be Ruyton, and not Ryton. Both Ryton and St. Cleer already exist, being Winchendon Place with a Grandsire single and St. Remigius with a P.L. of All Saints' respectively. Both these mistakes were also transmitted to the peal report, which should be amended correspondingly.-Yours faithfully,

MILES PLATTING BELLS

Dear Sir,-Since the announcement of the Joint Manchester Branch meeting with the N.W. District of the Ladies' Guild at St. John-the-Evangelist's, Miles Platting (see ." Ringing World," page 194), the Rev. Timothy A. Baines (curate-in-charge) has received a letter from the Stroud area of Gloucestershire asking what price was being asked for St. John's bells. The letter went on to say that the writer had read in the columns of "The Ringing World" that the bells were for sale as the church was being demolished.
May 1 point out that no "For Sale Notice" has appeared in the columns of this journal, as the exact date of demolition is not known. At the tame of writing the church is due to be demolished in five years' time, but this date could be brought forward at a week's notice to 12 months, depending on the city's finaucial position in obtaining compulsory purchase orders
It is hoped that by the time the church is demolished the Manchester Branch will have found a home for the bells in the Manchester Diocese.-Yours faithfully,

ALAN WARD,
Manchester Branch Secretary.

NOT SUB-STANDARD

Dear Sir,-As a rirger in the peal at Hessle on July 22 nd, 1967 , I feel 1 must point out to Mr. Baldam (page 262) that this peal was by no means sub-standard; in fact it was of a higher standard ihan many of the peals that I have rung in and listened to.
I cannot vouch for the other five peals, but in our case it was presumed that the conductor had sent the peal of for publication; it was only whilst looking through some old "Ringing Worlds" that I realised he had not done so. As a result I mentioned that to R. H. Jordan, who consequently sent the peal for publication so that personal records could agree with official ones.

May I suggest that in future Mr. Baldam has first-hand experience of the standard of peals before he criticises them so unnecessarily; also that he leaves the Editor to make his own decisions about what should or should not be published.-Yours faithfully,

RODERICK R. HORTON.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The meeting of the Ashford District at Hothfield on March 16th was surely a recordbreaking one In addition to the Ashtord District officers, the secretaries of the Maidstone and Lewisham Districts, two other Ringing Masters and the hon. t:easurer of the county were present. In all, over 60 ringers, representing 24 towers, were counted.

In the absence of a local Vicar the service was conducted by the Rev. P. T. Robbins, the lesson was read by Master G. Sparks and John Spree was the organist.

Tea was arranged in the Village Hall by the local rıngers under the guidance of Mr. R. S. Sparks. A short business meeting was conducted by the chairman (Mr. A. S. Phelips), at which Master M. S. Davies was elected an associate member.

Ringing continued until 9 p.m. and consisted of standard and assorted combined methods. "Social life" was enjoyed in a nearby tavern. and it is known that several ringers were still journeying home in the early hours of Sunday morning.

PSEUDONYMS AND PEALS

Dear Sir,-Having gained a notable victory over the Glasgow long length issue, it would seem that Mr. Richard J. Parker now seeks further "fame" in your columns, probably on the ground that even bad publicity is better than none at all. I refer, of course, to his use of a pseudonym when reporting the peal of 23-Spliced Plain Minor rung for the Birmingham University Society, published on page 191 of "The Ringing World."
As a ringer in that peal I should like to endorse what Richard Parker says in his covering letter to you published on page 259: of "The Ringing World "- namely that the peal was not a hoax but was a true and complete peal. As such it was therefore a valid peal and the onus was on the conductor to publisn it correctly.

I do not think Richard Parker could have intended you to publish $t$ : is covering letter as it seems to be incompatible with his letter intended for publication, signed James $P$. Richards. It is abundantly clear that by reading the two letters together the only irregularity was Mr Parker's use of a pseudonym in the report of the peal. His sole reason for. this "childish behaviour" was, on his own admission, that he did not wish to be associated with a peal of Minor. Surely the time to consider association with a peal is before the peal begins, not after its publication in "The Ringing World."
Finally, I should like to apologise to your readers, who will no doubt have been amazed by the stupidity of this topic and annoyed at its use of valuable space, but I must emphasise that there is a fundamental principle at issue -for, if we are to allow the use of pseudonyms and the conductor's withdrawal of the peal when he refuses to reveal his identity, surely the publishing of peals in "The Ringing World " will become a farce.-Yours faithfully,

RUPERT A. CLARKE.

Harborne, Birmingham.

AND IN QUARTER PEALS

Dear Sir,-I wish to dissociate myself from the "quarter peal" rung at Edgbaston on March 10th ("Ringing World," page 245). As published, this performance is two changes short of the requisite length for a quarter peal, and thus does not qualify as a quarter peal, anyway. Added to this, two of the names published were intentionally changed (T. Pryor should read M. Pryor, M. B. Tyres should read M. B. Jefferies) The conductor produced the composition out of his head as the performance progressed, and laughingly admitted at the finish that the composition was "as false as old boots." During the performance, there being nine ringers for eight bells, ringers on the treble and tenor changed over the conductor appears under his "nom de cloche " of James P. Richards on the treble). All in all. the whole thing was of insufficient mathematical or musical quality to qualify as a quarter peal, and should never have been submitted to "The Ringing World " as such.

Regular readers of "The Ringing World" letters column will have little difficulty in guessing who the conductor of this quarter peal was-Mr. Richard J. Parker. I would like to add my condemnation of his action to that of Mr. James R. White ("Ringing World," page 259). who hopes "that the whole Society wili not be judged by the childish behaviour of one member."-Yours sincerely,
H. J. BAKER.

Some Caters Methods and Compositions

By M. S. BRUCE

NoO ringer of Major or Royal would relish a constant diet of only two methods. In Caters ringing, however, there are no more than that-in common use, at all events. Grandsire and Stedman are the staple of nu: nine-bell ringing, varied only occasionally by Erin or Plain Bob; this despite the many excellent and musical methods which exist in all the established categories: single-hunt, twinhunt and principles. I have listed a few of them as a starter, and a very little research will turn up dozens of equal merit, which for interest will rival most Major methods, and for music are comparable with Stedman Caters.

A METHODS WITH A SINGLE HUNT New. College Bob Caters.

This metnod is a straightforward extension from the Doubles and Triples method. Its pecular merit is the arrangement of the muste round the lead-end/head, when the 9ths place bell makes a double whole-turn, and the bells in 4-5 and 6-7 do lightning work, causing a repetition of the roll-up followed by a shift to the next musical phrase, itself repeated. The coursing order is well maintained, and while the method is simple, it has more interest than Plain Bob or Grandsire, and is well worth ringing.
The method

31939393 \text { h.l. 9. 1.h. } 129 .

135274968 the place bob.
All peals of Bob Caters are, of course, true for the method, and one is given as an example having courses of tittums, reverse tittums, backstroke home, handstroke home, and - 57968 ; more variety, in fact, than the usual peal of Grandsire contains.

For bands who want something more cballenging, the next method, with lightning work on the front and London work (7-6-7 and $9-8-9)$ in the back places, may be worth a trial. It also has the coursing-order, while not undisturbed. at least partially intact in the middle places, and the double-dodging effect in 6-7-8-9 is musically valuable. The method:

3_{3} 5_{3} 14959145 \text {. h.l. 9. 1.b. } 129

35274968 . 4ths place bob. Compositions as for Plain Bob.
As far as I know it has not been named; in any case it is only one of many which a few moments' work with pencil and paper can produce.

B TWIN-HUNT METHODS

These are produced (like Double Norwich Caters) by adding a hunt bell to an existing Majol method. For instance, the simple Court method-adapts to produce an excellently musical Caters method, more musical than Grandsire, because of the extra dodging, and much more interesting to ring, without being likely to tax the ablity of a moderate ten-bell company. But there is no need to be contined to right-place metnods, and Double Mancroft Caters, in itself a useful method, is a member of a family which includes Double Sandringham Caters and several methods descended from "irregular" Major forbears. The peal below is also true to Double Sandringtam.

DOUBLE MANCROFT BOB CATERS
 16951 : 25374968.
Bob, ring 369 for (169).
Single, ring 12369 for (169).
5,040 DOUBLE MANCROFT BOB CATERS

C PRINCIPLES
The field here is wide open. I cannot offhand recall more than half a dozen Caters principles, all of them closely related, and there must be thousands possible; so many that one hesitates to recommend any one above its rivals, or to deal with such a vast subject at all in such a short note as this. For practical and musical purposes, we can narrow the field somewhat: principles with plain courses too long or too short, which do not keep the heavy bells together at least part of the time or whose composition is precarious will never find favour; so it will perhaps not appear unreasorade if my remarks are limited to a few structures of the Stedman tamily. For one thing, they are more familiar than most methods, and a band is likely to take to a method not fas distant from one it knows rather than to a completely strange one. For another, the repeated dooging behind bas a real musical value, and lastiy tew of them are difticult to compose or ring

CARTER'S PRINCIPLE

In Stedman, the first twelve changes form the equivalent of a lead in a treble-dominated method, and the first place in the middle of the quick six links one block with the next. An extra partung change-Sths place in Doubles 7 ths in Triples and so on may be substituted to produce a principle very close to Stedman, but much more musical. Carter's Caters keeps the coursing-order behind throughout the course, and it is as musical to listen to as it is cacophonous to pronounce! Untortunately, it is difficult to compose, but the rewards for success are even greater than in Stedman; it is also interesting to ring.

Another Caters principle which might be of interest is formed troas a block of five bells plain-tunting on the front, alternately forwards and backwards, while the bells in 6-7 and 8-9 triple dodge. At each parting change there is Stedman work on the front and extra lightning work in 4-5.
The method:
5151515915151519 . Stedman calls.
5,040
Start with rounds the bead of a quick 8.

(b) $=1 \mathrm{~s}, 10 \mathrm{~s}, 128,14 \mathrm{~s}$. Round 8 ch . previously. Omit either group of bracketed calls.
A version of this principle also exists with the work divided into tens-with four dodges behind-but although this is, theoretically. the purer metnod structurally, the long dodging, especially at a bob, makes it less desirable.
Enough has been said to show how much potential is untapped in this field, as in so many other less practised areas. I' hope that some bands at least may be stimulated to experiment with new methods and new approaches to ringing for there is more still to be discovered here than in the more explored paths of Major

ARCHAEOLOGY  WERE THERE TWO LEWIS COCKEYS, BELLFOUNDERS?

Dear Sir,-A mystery surrounds the identity of Lewis Cockey, who cast the bell standing in the porcis at Clevedon. and we at Frome would like some help in its unravelling.

Walters, in "Church Bells of Wiltshire," 1929, confidently calls him a British founder on the strength of an entry in Yatton churchwardens' accounts for 1690 , but he, or someone of the same name, was in Frome from 1682-1684, when a beil was given to augment Frome's five to six. and again after 1690 . He is apparently the father of the better known William Cockey. bellfounder of Frome, though we cannot check at the moment as some of our church records are away being copied.
This presents no particular difficulty as he could well be itinerant, but the L C bells themselves present another problem. The one at Farleigh Hurgerford is of a quite different style from, ior instance, Clevedon and Sutton Veny. Are there, then, two bellfounding Lewis Cockeys at the same time, one Lewis Cockey and someone of the same initials, or one bellfounder using two different methods?
The Farleigh Hungerford bell was made by the older waste bell method. The outer surface of a clay bell was worked smooth and the lettering stuck on as thin squares and oblongs of clay, which had been pressed into moulds. The surface finish of the metal and the raised squares around the letters show how this was done. The other bells were made by smoothing the inside of the cope and stamping the letters into it is there any other bellfounder known who used both methods of casting?
Bellfounding is an art as well as a craft and one would expect, as in any other art, the style of the apprentice to be influenced by that of the master. The Farleigh Hungerford bell merely has L. C. William Cockey used W (bell) C. Lewis Cockey L (bell) $\mathrm{C}_{\text {, in flat, }}$ sheet-metal lettering very much like the I (bell) L of John Lott the elder, of Warminster. John Lott used not only the lettering but the punning vine and almost exact copies of the royal arms of Richard Purdue, $R$ (bell) $P$, who was in Edington in 1615 . There was a Richard Cockey, pewterer, of Warminster, who supplied brasses for Frome bells in 1624. Lewis may have been his relation, as later Frome Cockeys had Warminster connections.
L C bells are recorded at Holt (1695). Sutton Veny (1695-0 Bitton (1694). Farleigh Hungerford (1681), Hinton Charterhouse (1687) and Clevedon (1695), also Frampton in Dorset. The help we need. please, is a search in the churchwardens' accounts, if they are availahle, at these places and round about these times. for any mention of bells or of Lewis Cockey, and a check to see whether the bell itself is $L \mathbf{C}$ or $L$ (bell) $C$. if it is still in existence. What exactly was written at Yatton in 169 , and is Lewis Cockey's baptism recorded at Warminsier?
When we have been able to get all the facts together we hope we shall be able to send you the solution to the mystery.-Yours sincerely,

OBITUARY

THE REV. F. H. S. MARLE

The Rev Frederick H. S. Marle died in March at the age of 80 years. He was ordained in 1910 and served curacies in Devonshire, Berkshire and the Isle of Wight before going to Hampshıre, where the rest of his life was spent. He became curate of Burghclere, in charge of Newtown, and then moved to be Rector of Deane, near Basingstoke, in 1933, with charge of Ashe in 1935. For 35 years until his retrement in 1966 he served these two parishes. One of his predecessors at Deanc was the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, of Stedman fame.

Mr. Marle was never a great peal ringer though his name is on a board at Burghclere, bus he had a great love of music and delighted to ring and to be with ringers. He sook an active part in the work of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild in North Hampshire and, until age began to take its coll, shared in the Ringing Week of the Clerical Guild. He was a kindly man, with a pleasant sense of humour and a delightful chuckle.

On the day before his memorial service in Deane Church a band of neighbouring ringers honoured his memory with a quarter peal on the bells there. This was in his favourite method, Grandsire Doubles, and was conducted by his friend and Rural Dean, Canon F. A. Sanders. May he rest in peace after his long and faithful ministry.

MR. WILLIAM (BILL) KIRKPATRICK

On April 2nd the Chester Diocesan Guild, and St. Mary's, Lymm, in particular, lost one of its most stalwart members by the sudden death of Bill Kirkpatrick.

Although not a great ringer by peal ringing standards, Bill acheved greatness by his unselfish devotion to Sunday service ringing. Even at the age of 76 years Bill was one of the most regular Sunday ringers in the Lymm band and set a fine example in attending both morning and evening ringing. He rang at Lymm for 64 years, being for many years tower captain.

Bill had a full and active life. His sudden passing came as a great shock, since he had been ringing as usual on the Sunday previous and seemed in the best of health and spirits. His friendly face and cheerful disposition will be sadly missed by all his many friends.

At his funeral on April 6th the local band paid their last respects by ringing the bells half-muftled for the service. The Chester Diocesan Guild was represented by the Master, Mr. A. R. Elkins. Ringers from neighbouring towers, who rang handbells at the graveside, also joined members of the local band in two attempts at a half-muffied quarter peal, both of which, unfortunately, failed.

BOOK REVIEW

ANOTHER BOOK ON THE FENS

Mr. Trevor A. Bevis has now published a companion to "A Guide to the Fens and Fenland Churches," which is now entering tits third edition. This is "A Letter from the Fens," which is a great novelty. In a sense it embodies the craftsmanship in the Middle Ames with the facilities of the modern Press. The book is handwritten and freely illustrated by the author. The pages were then photographed and produced on a litho-ofiset press.

The author knows the Fenlands from his youth. His boyhood was spent in Pinchbeck, in the tulip field county, recalling the tulip processions with dozens of pretty Lincolnshire lasses conveyed on ingeniously-designed floats. There are delightful character sketches of Fen folk-the most rural of rural inhabitants. They are descendants of a race who fouchs to suro vive. The ielentleas enemy was the winds, the rains, the seas, rivers and marshes. This his resulted in a defiant attitude: a law unto themselves and often rude and uncivilised behaviour to visitors.
The letter gives very personal impressions of Peterborough, Ely and Cambridge. It deals with the building of the magnificent Fen churches and the process of building these churches, abbeys and cathedrals, both as re gards craftsmanship and finding the moncy for such undertakings.
There is a romantic side to "The Letter," the loss of King John's treasure in The Wash and the defiance of Hereward the Wake to William the Conqueror. Diagrams are used to tell the story of the Saxons' final fight against the Normans.
This book is a very worthwhile effort. To those who love the countryside and yet able to find entertainment in the town, $A$ Letter from the Fens" is an enjoyable companion. It is obtainable from Trevor A. Bevis, 150, Burrowmoor Road, March, Cambs, price 48. 6d. post free.

MR. E. BURNETE

The death occurred recently of Mr. Erness Burnett, at the age of 85 . Mr. Burnett learned to ring at Sharow, near Ripon, over 60 years ago and continued to ring until his health failed four or five years ago. He had read "The Ringing World" since it was first published and took "The Bell News" before that. A railwayman, he had worked at Kirkby Stephen and at Hartlepool. Since his retire ment he had lived in Darlington, and for several years was in charge of ringing at St. John's. Cremation took place at Darlington on April 7th, and the service was attended by some of his ringing friends.

BELFRY GOSSIP

March belfry has recently scored its 60 th quarter, nearly 30 people having rung "firsts." We learn from Darley Dale that Mr. J. Frank Smallwood is shortly moving to Blackheath, an area in which be lived for many years.
Mr. R. C. Stevens informs us that the correct weight of Croydon tenor is 36 cwt . 3 qr .18 lb . in C sharp. (Not C, as given in the peal of Londinium Surprise.)

Writing from Malta. Mr. G. E. Thoday states that he has visited St. Paul's Cathedral, Valletta, where the verger was kind enough to let him see the ring of six bells. These are hung dead for chiming. Unfortunately, as it was Saturday, Mr. Thoday was not allowed to ring them.

The ringer in the fourth in the peal 0 Conle on February 24th was David G. Cart, and not as printed on page 207.

Mr. W. H. Riddle, of Flixton (Manchester). has had to go into hospital for an operation. The Manchester Branch send Bill their good wishes for a speedy recovery.

We hear that there were drinks all round for the Clapton, Beds, band in the Golden Lion following the success of one of the members in our crossword competition.

The composition of the peal of Stedman Triples rung at North Mymms, Herts, on March 16th, 1968, was Thurstans four-part, and not Heywood's trassposition, as recorded on page 268.

CHANGE RINGING RESTORED TO WHERWELL

Some three miles from Andover is the pretty village of Wherwell, Hants, often depicted on calendars and postcards for its attractive thatched cottages, although motorists will know it better for the hairpin bend halfway down the 1 in 10 hill on the Andover approach into the village.
To ringers there is little significance except to those with an intimate knowledge of "Dove's," as the church has a light ring of five bells with a tenor of 7 cwt . hung in two tiers in a very small spire.
Andover District ringers had long given up the hope of ever ringing the bells; they had been chimed for many years by a keen young local learner, who played hymns as well as changes, and the previous incumbent was most unsympathetic to enquiries to inspect or look at them, his reason being that the shingled spire was unsafe.
Records of a District meeting having been held there in 1929 was the last indication of when the bells were last rung. However, application to the new incumbent in January, 1967, met with a very welcome reception, and we were met by the churchwarden and tower captain and given every assistance in the small amount of work that was required, and the bells were rung with no difficulty for 45 minutes to various Doubles methods. A splendid tea was given us before returning to Highclere for service ringing.
A further visit was paid a month later, when we rang the bells for service and we were given a welcome when we attended the service afterwards and were thanked from the pulpit for our services. A further survey of the tower was to take place, so we awaited the verdict of this before making a further visit. However, the Bishop's Waltham ringers were made welcome on their outing. I do not think they realised the bells had previously had a long silence and they found them a pleasant ring.
Our next visit was in January, 1968, in connection with the Andover District's 40 th anniversary celebrations, but a spate of broken ropes and some difficulty with the fourth bell slip-wheeling prevented the successful peal being rung until March 30 h --details elsewhere.
Details of the bells are as follows:-

| Treble | Warner, T. | 1858 |
| :---: | :--- | :--- |
| 2 | Gilletts, recast | 1950 |
| 3 | William Cor | 1707 |
| 4 | William Cor | 1707 |
| 5 | William Cor | 1707 |
| Frame and fittings | 1858 |  |

We hope they will prove a useful addition to the Andover District and that Mr. Carter and his enthusiastic young band will one day learn the art of change ringing and join our Guild of ringers.
G.K.D.

A FAMILY. QUARTER

Family quarter peals are rare. Mr. and Mrs. J. H Edwards, of 24, Mount Drive, Bedford, rang a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor at Goldington on April 4th. The band consisted of the father and mother and four daughters. All are Sunday service ringers at Goldington Parish Church when they are at home.

A RECTOR THEY ADMIRE

Bingham District of the Southwell Diocesan Guild have in admiration for the Rev. A. R. Hayward, Rector of Woodborough, which has a four-bell tower. A very good meeting with an attendance of upwards of 70 was held at his church on March 9th. He not only conducted the service (and his daughter, a learner-ringer, was a very good organist), but he paid for his tea and finally washed-up I "A real worker," comments our correspondent.
At the meeting four new members from Woodborough-the Misses L. Hoskins, S . Welch, P. Hayward and T. Sinfield-were enrolled. Ringing at Lowdham until 8 p.m. ended a very happy meeting.
Guild annual meeting, April 20th; June District meeting, Radcliffe-on-Trent.

MELTON DISTRICT DINNER

Ringers and wives and friends held their annual dinner at the Kings Arms. Scalford. on Satursay, March 23rd. The excellent spread was served by candlelight owing to a fallure of the electricity supply. The guests were the Vicar of Melion Mowbray (the Rev. G. H. Codrington), who proposed the toast "The Leicester Diocesan Guild," and Mrs. Codrington. The District chairman, Mr. R. Preston, replied.
An enjoyable social evening followed, which was organised by Mrs. D. and Miss A. Day and Mrs. Woodcock.

NEW ORGAN FOR MR. H. BADGER

Recently we recorded a peal rung at Dorchester Abbey to mark Mr. Harry Badger's 50 years' membership of the Oxford Guild. Harry writes that he is afraid his Sunday ringing will be curtailed as he has just been appointed organist of St. Mary s. Bayswater, Headington. This church is a daughter church of St. Andrew's, Headington, where the ring of six hells has recently been rehung by Messrs. White, of Appleton.

SILVER WEDDING AT WILLINGDON

The peal columns record an interesting achievement at Willingdon, Sussex, on March 30th. Specially arranged to mark the silver wedding anniversary of county secretary Bob Percy and his wife, Betty, it was called by their daughter, Janet (her first of Doubles as conductor). The inclusion of twins Susan (another first) and Charles nearly completed the band. At this initial attempt as a family they were joined by an old friend, Clive Brettell, to make the peal the first by a Sunday service band at the tower.
On the preceding practice night Mr. and Mrs. Percy were taken by Surprise when the Vicar, the Rev. W. Greenfield, came into the belfry, and after some "speechifying" presented the couple with some wine glasses and an electric clock, tokens of regard from the clergy and ringers.

A QUESTION FOR THE C.C.

Mr. John A. Acres writes thanking Mr. Frank Blagrove for his reply to the request for the extent of Bob Minor at Dorney (no singles). He adds it is now for the Central Council to decide whether such an extent can be accepted in their analysis.

RINGING COURSE AT BISHOP'S LYDEARD

The rival attractions of the Grand National and an outing to Cornwall clashed with a second half-day ringing course of the Bath and Wells Association on March 30th. Bishop's Lydeard Village Hall provided firstclass facilities for the lectures and tea. and ringing took place in the evening at Ash Priors and Halse. On this occasion there were only 18 students. half the number at Barrington last October.
Guidance was offered on the recognition and cure of basic handling faults; on bell, frame and rope maintenance and splicing; and some hints on the principles of conducting The lecturers were Harry Sanger. Michael Horseman and John Gilbert, who hope that their work will prove useful to those who participated.

bill theobald at washington

The first quarter by an American band was rung on March 30th at Washington Cathedral, conducted by Richard S. Dirksen. It was Grandsire and was the first of Caters by all the band except the conductor and his first as conductor.
Mr. William Theobald was at Washington on March 25 th. After an unsuccessful attempt at Parker's 12 -part, Bill called a quatter of Grandsire on the light eight at the Cathedral. It was a welcome to Mr. Edward Curran to the Cathedral Close and to Mr Theobald to the United States. There was to be a return visit to Washington on Easter Monday, when Bill was to have another shot at the peal.

WIRRAL BRANCH'S MEMORIAL PRIZE

 - Good Ringers, Pull your Best And lo, the great bell farre and wide Was heard in all the countryside That Saturday at eventide."(Ingelow.)
This was the quotation in the parish magazinc announcing the March meeting of the Wirral Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild held at St. Hilary de Poitiers, Wallasey. Ringing during the afternoon ranged from rounds to Lightfoot Surbrise The service was conducted by the Rector and Rural Dean. the Rev. W. N Digby Thomas, assisted by the Rev. Berhard L. Ellison.

During the course of the meeting held in the Parish Hall, following an excellent tea served by the local ringers. the Thomas Rogers Memorial prize was presented for the first time. During the past 18 months, donations had been received from local ringers and from many towers in the nearby district in memory of the late Mr. Thomas Rogers, Ringing Master for over 15 years. The money donated has been invested and the annual income is to provide a prize. On this occasion the prize was awarded to a young. keen. progressive, regula: Sunday service ringer. Thomas E. Howerth, of St. Mary's, Overchurch, Upton, Wirral.
After addressing the gathering, Miss Mary Rogers presented the award, which was a year's subscription to "The Ringing World." In reply, Mr. Howarth thanked the band at Upton for teaching him to handle a bell, together with his fellow members of the Branch who had helped him master the art of change ringing.

Tower and Bells of St. Thomas, Stourbridge

By Martin D. Fellows

COMMENCED around the year 1730, the erection of the "New Chapel," Stourbridge, was in 1759 nearing completion. It was in this latter year that a ring of eight bells was installed in the tower.

The church had been built by the townspeople, amidst much opposition from the Kector of Old Swinford, to fill the need for a place of worship in the industrial part of the huge parish of Old Swinford. It will be gathered that Stourbridge was but a district of the aforementioned parish, and in those days the centre of population was over a mule away from the parish church.

Arguments raged for many years as to the legality of having another church in the parish of Old Swinford, several Parliamentary Bills for the setting up of a new parish being rejected. Thus, the church became known as the "New Chapel" and the right of presentation lay in the people of the town. It is recorded that upon the election of a new minister for the church, the scenes were not unlike those which accompanied parliamentary elections of those times!

At long last, in April, 1866, the "New Chapel" was dedicated to St. Thomas by the Lord Bishop of Worcester and thus ended a state of affairs which must surely have been unique in the history of the Church of England.
The bells were cast at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry by Lester and Pack, and it is recorded that upon their arrival at Stourbridge they were hung in the tower by the brothers Samuel and Robert Turner, who were then bell hangers to Lester and Pack.

FIRST PEALS

The first peal to be rung on the bells was reported in Berrow's Worcester Journal of October 3rd, 1771, and reads as follows:
"On Thursday last, were rung at the New Chapel, Stourbridge, a true and complete Peal of 5040 Grandsire Triples in three hours and 26 minutes, being the only true peal rung in that steeple."
Another peal was reported in the same newspaper of November 25th, 1773:
"On Monday the 8th instant was rung at Stourbridge in this County, in six hours and twenty minutes, a Compleat peal of Bob Majors, being 10080 changes by Eight young men of that town, upon Eight of the most Musical and best hung bells within a hundred miles of the place; and being by some thousands more than ever were rung within the same distance. So great was the pleasure and astonishment that many were induced to express their approbation, who before had a dislike to music of that kind."

A LOCAL COMPOSER

Readers will be interested to learn that around the close of the 18 th century there was a ringer at the tower named Thomas Edwards, and it was he who, in 1792, produced the first known composition for a peal of Stedman Triples. The composition, however, is not in general use, due no doubt to an unfamiliar type of single being used.

By 1890, the bells were in desperate need of rehanging. A town's meeting was called and a committee there appointed to arrange for the work to be done. The rehanging work was carried out by Messrs. Charles Carr & Co. and the bells were reopened on April 24th, 1892.

In 1900, the bells were once more in urgent need of rehanging and, in addition, the seventh bell had become cracked. On this occasion the restoration work was carried out by Messrs. Mears & Stainbank. More repairs were carried out in 1909 by the same firm.

The bells gave good service until 1935, when they were again restored. They were removed to the foundry of Messrs. John Taylor & Co. where they were cleaned, retuned and four bells recast. In addition, the ring was rehung with modern tittings but, unfortunately, the old wooden bell trame was not replaced.

APPEAL FOR $£ 5,000$

This last restoration has seen the bells through to the present day, but during the last few years the bell frame has been giving indications that the end of its useful life is near. The Parochial Church Council is determined that the bells shall be restored completely, and on April 20th last launched an appeal for $£ 5,000$ to meet the total cost of not only having the bells rehung but also of having the tower repointed and refaced.

A ten bell frame by Messrs. John Taylor & Co. is envisaged, and if money over and above the appeal figure is forthcoming the bells will be augmented to ten.

Donations towards the appeal figure, which will be gratefully acknowledged, should be sent to Mr. M. D. Fellows, c/o St. Thomas' Vicarage, 63, Market Street, Stourbridge, Worcs. Cheques should be made payable to: "St. Thomas" P.C.C. Bells and Tower Restoration Fund."

MEETING DEFICIT BY INCREASED SUBSCRIPTIONS

Mr. E. A. Barnett New Chairman

RINGING is to cost more in Kent. At the 88 th annnal meeting of the Kent County Association at Rochester on Easter Monday the meeting approved the following increases to the annual subscription from January lst, 1969.

Members 5s. from 3s.  Junior members $\mathbf{2 s}$. 6 d . from 1 s . 6 d .

Life members $\mathbf{5 5} \mathbf{5 s}$. from $\mathbf{£ 3} \mathbf{3 s}$.
Non-resident life members 7s. 6d
Mr. B. W. May, the hon. treasurer, reported a loss on the year of 8141 . Upon the recommendation of the committee it was decided to appoint a chairman to the Association. These duties in the past had been undertaken by the late Mr. John Willis. Mr. E. A. Barnett was elected to the office and promised to do his best to carry on in the tradition set by Mr. Willis, Mr. F. White and Mr. E. H. Lewis

In the annual report Mr. Corby referred to "the entirely unfair and destructive criticism to which the Association has been subjected in the columns of "The Ringing World." He hoped that the hard-working officers would not he discouraged by the carping critics who would be better engaged in working to remedy the things of which they complained.

THE SERVICE

The choir at Rochester Cathedral was inadequate for the attendance at the service at noon. This was conducted by the Dean (the Rt. Rev. S. W. Betts) assisted by the Precentor (Canon P. A. Welsby), and was attended by the Mayor and Mayoress of Rochester (Mr. and Mrs. J. Green).
After the Eastertide prayer for the renewal of faith in the Risen Christ, the following members who had died during the year were remembered: Vice-presidents A. G. Hill (Erith), G. H. Spice (Tunstall) and J. Willis (Folkestone); associate members Rev. J. Clifford (Rainham) and H. Reid (Willesborough); practising members R. Beard (St. Mary Cray), C. Chapman (Cliffe-at-Hoo), S. J. Gee (St. Laurence-in-Thanet), S. Walter (Wickhambreaux); non-resident life members A. J. Bull and John Worth.

The Dean in his address said it was six years since the Association had held its annual meeting in the Rochester District and 12 years since their last service in that Cathedral. Recently he was privileged to dedicate some restored bells, and people were delighted to hear them. It was almost a resurrection in itself.

His text was taken from Acts ii: "They were all with one accord in one place and suddenly there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind."

He thought a nation depended very largely on small groups that built up its strength. Of course they must have the government at the top, and individuals had their rights, but it was the groups that made un its strength. John Wesley tecognised this when he formed his prayer cells. All of them knew that in the life of the Church they needed great worshipping units, hut the Church also nceded the smaller groups in which people got to know one another.

" THE SOUND OF HEAVEN "

The world they lived in was a difficult place: they were bombarded with sound, with radio and television and other noises. What the Christian Church needed was to tune in to the sound of heaven. Beils rang out the message that Jesus lives and the hope that it gave of the life beyond the grave. Therefore on that day they were offering themselves to Christ afresh in their fellowshin so that the gift He had given them could be used to its full to His glory.

The luncheon was held in the old Corn Exchange and was attended by a comvany of 180. An excellent meal was supervised hy Mrs. Feather and Mrs. Edmed, who had 38 heloers.

The general secretary (Mr. P. A. Corby) in his welcome to the guests thanked the Mayor and Mayoress for giving up their Bank Holiday to be with them, and the Dean and Precentor for providing one of the finest Easter services the Association had been privileged to attend. "We shall remember this service for a very long time," he said.
Another very sincere "thank you" to the Dean came from the Rev. Peter Robbins, and the welcome to the guests was completed with three leads of Kent Treble Bob Maximus " in hand "rung by Cyril S. Jarrett 1-2, E. A. Barnett 3-4, Mrs. Robbins 5-6, C. Osenton (cond.) 7-8, E. J. Beer 9-10, Trevor A. Cross 11-12.
The Mayor, who was also invited to speak, said while he did not profess to be a bellringer, he thought that morning that the bells sounded wonderful; it was a really marvellous sound; ne did not think they could get a better one and he congratulated the ringers. He had learned that day that bobbing was not just going up and down (laughter). The Mayor concluded by thanking the ladies for the excellent meal they had served.

THE ANNUAL MEETING

The Dean presided at the mecting and he was supported by Messrs. P. A. Corby, B. W. May (hon treasurer). E. A. Barnett and B J. Luck (vice-presidents). Apologies were received from Mrs. Mitchell. Mr. E. Barnett (who is now out of hospital), Messrs. G. I. Butcher. N. Davies, L. P. Pope and Miss B. Lankester.

Mr. Corby expressed the meeting's appreciation of the splendid article written by Mr. N. Davies on Rochester Cathedral for ". The Ringing World" and the front page picture. Since their last meeting they had, he said, lost another of their vice-presidents by the death of Mr. G. H. Spice. His passing was after their reoort was written, but his name was annronriatelv mentioned in the service at the Catherral. He would like to say how much the Association owed to the Snice family and in particular to George Spire. He was sure they would all like in join him in the trihute to his memory. The services of the nther two vice-nrecidents who had died-Tohn Willis and $\widehat{\wedge}$. G. Hill-had been recognised in the annual report.

Harry Parkes learned to ring at Mersham and has worked for Messrs. Mears and Stainbank as a bellringer for many years. He gave his services on a voluntary basis for the restoration at Mersham, where the bells have been tuned and rehung in a new frame with a replacement bell for one which was stolen from Whitechapel Bell Foundry. A new band has been trained by District officers. At Newchurch the fittings were removed locally and the bells await rehanging. At Kingsnorth work is proceeding, also locally.
The five at Eastry have been rehung. Wittersham bells were rehung by John Taylor and Co. and were rededicated in April. Work to the tower at Appledore was necessary to enable the bells to be rung. At Saltwood an overhaul has been carried out locally.
There is a revival of the possibility of the addition of two trebles to the four at Addington. The six at Chart Sutton have been rehung. Bredgar has a lovely new six cast out of the old five. The Vicar, the Rev. Stanley Evans, is to be congratulated on his enterprise in promoting this work.
Queenborough bells are ringable after a long silence due to essential work needed to the tower. A fund for the restoration of Newington bells has been started. After work by the local band, Hadlow bells are being rung one more-a major restoration is hoped. The extent of bell restoration work in the county in recent years is most pleasing.

HIT OUT AT CRITICS

A vigorous reply to the recent criticism of the Association was given by the hon. secretary in the concluding paragraph. Under the heading " General Comment" he wrote: The entirely nfar?
to which the Association has been subjected in the columns of "The Ringing World' is an extreme irritat on throughout the county. As an Association, our record of achievement over 88 years is one of which to be proud. It is to be hoped that our hard-working officers will not be discouraged by the carping critics who would all be better engaged in working to remedy the things of which they complain. All who carry out the Association's work do so without pay. and it is in the worst possible taste for these armchair crities 10 indulge in the unpleasant snining from which we have suffered. "The decline in churchgoing will in the end have a serious effect on our activities. We sometimes forget that if there is no church there are no bells, and if no congregation ultimately no ringers. We have a great part to play in keeping all the bells of the county ringing for church services each Sunday. Will there be more service ringing in 1968 than there was in 1967? Each member can best serve by improving his own standard of ringing so that he can thus help to improve the general standard.

The report was adopted on the proposition of the hon. secretary, seconded by Mr. J. Dafters. There were no comments.
Mr. B. W. May, in presenting the accounts. said a member in sending his application for tickets asked if the Association could support the Lord Mayor of London's "War on Want " appeal whereby they sent the price of one meal. The meeting showed its appreciation of the adpeal hy a retiring collection. which produced $£ 6$ Is.

Continuing, the hon. treasurer said memhership was up. both for practising members and juniors. Last year's annual meeting at Maidstone only cost them about $£ 7$. The ringing schools did not cost anything- in fact that held at Tonbridge contributed £1. Printing the annual reports cost $£ 194$. and he thought they must make some arrangement for paying for them.

MR. GEOKGE H. SPICE

The death of Mr. George H. Spice, a few days before his 75th birtnday, deprives the Kent County Association of a much respected member from a tamous Kent ringing tamily His father, the late Willam Spice, senior, tived in various parts of Kent and tinally settled at Tunstall. It was in this area that George Spice spent most of his life, although he learned to ring at Charing, where his son-in-law, the Rev. Y. T. Robbins, is now Vicar.

George rendered great service to the Association, first as District secretary in the Rochester District, and as general secretary from 1947 to 1954, being also the Central Council representative at this time. He was made a vice-president and although in recent years he did no: attend many meetings he was a wise counsellor, whose opinions were at all times worthy of attention.
Mr. Spice presided at the Association's annual general meeting at Sittingbourne in 1962.
He took great pride in the outstanding performances of his son John and daughter Betty, especially in handbell ringing during their time at Oxford University. It would be impossible to exaggerate the importance and ultimate significance of these activities in rebuilding general ringing after the removal of the war-time ban.
George Spice was ever a friendly man, who treated ringers, young and old, with great kindness and courtesy.
Every sympathy will be felt with Mrs. Spice and the rest of the family, including Mr. P: J. Spice, his brother, who is so well known in all parts of Kent.

The funeral service took place at Tunstall on March 28th in the presence of a large and representative congregation, and cremation followed at Charing.

MR. H. Lo PARFREY An Appreciation

The Rev. Graham Hopper, writing in the Corston and Newton St. Loe Parish Magazines, says:-
"The joy of Easter must this year be tinged with sorrow. I reter of course to Mrs. Parfrey and her children. I have never experienced such a general feeling of shock and grief as that which was caused by the news of the sudden and unexpected death of her husband, Harold Parfrey. Yet the very fact that so many shared her sorrow must have been a great source of strength and comfort.
*When one considers the loss which she has endured, to speak of our loss seems almost an anti-climax. Yet the church at Corston has in Harold Parfrey lost a true and faithful ser vant. One thinks of him of course as tower master and choirman; I think of him also as a father who led his family to their Sunday worship. It is in that capacity that we shall feel his absence most; such men can ill be spared."

MR. T. WARRINGTON

Mr. Tom Warrington, of Ruskington, Lincolnshire, died suddenly at his home on March 27th at the age of 82 . He had been a local ringer for 56 years and the local tower captain for well over 40 years. Right up to the time of his death he was a regular ringer and his services will be sadly missed both by the Ruskington ringers and the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, of which he had been a member for many years. He rang several peals for the Guild, one of the last, which he conducted, being to commemorate his 70th birthday.

MR. JOE HAYNE

Abbotsbury, Dorset, has lost an old and respected ringer by the death on April 13th of Mr. Joe Hiyne.

25 Spliced Surprise Major Rung

Five Months of Preparation

Another new record in Spliced Surprise Major has been achieved by a band led by Jonathan S. N. Porter. After five months of study and attempts, a peal of 25 methods of Spliced Surprise Major was rung at St. Ann's Church, Stamford Hill, on April 6th. This involved 174 changes of method and all the work of each method for every bell.

We are sure the Exercise will join us in congratulating the band on setting the Exercise a new record.

Jonathan S. N. Porter tells below the story of trials and tribulations before being crowned with success:-
*The peal had its beginning last October, when we rang Norman Smith's 14 all-the-work at Bushey Our objective was to ring the 23 all-the-work, the band meeting once a month at Bushey, but we lost an attempt for 19 in November and met short in December. In February this year we again lost the 19 and it was fel: that having only monthly attempts gave the band too much opportunity to forget the methods. However, we decided to go all out for the 23 in March.

Meanwhile I had asked Roger Baldwin about the possibility of extending Norman Smith's composition to 25 methods by the insertion of extending-lead (type $m x$ ) methods.
"Since he already had the proof scales for the entire 23 -spliced composition, and placed these at my disposal. I set to work at once.
"I had a special preference for Belfast, a difficult method which we had rung the previous November. After much fruitless labour, and at the 21 st attempt, this method was found to oe true if rung after Lincolnshire-right at the end of the composition. Another method, Hereford, was fitted in almost at once and the job was done.
"The band had only about a week to assimilate these two extra methods, and even with John Mayne strengthening the band our attempt was a little over ambitious. But nearly three parts of the peal were rung, which. together with some extra practice in the time remaining, gave us valuable experience.
"Another attempt was arranged for a date a fortnight later and we met at Stamford Hill on April 6th, full of confidence.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

The Northampton Branch held its March meeting on the 30th at Brixworth (5). Ringing commenced at $3 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and the Guild form of service was conducted by the Rev J. W. Burford, Rector of Brixworth, who eave a very interesting address on the history of the Church (Saxon, A.D. 680). Following this, tea was served by the ladies of Brixworth in the School Rooms to 45 members and friends. Visitors included ringers from Leeds. Derby and Cambridge $\mathbf{A}$ vote of thanks was proposed to the ringers of Brixworth for the arrangements they had made. and to the Rector for the use of his church and bells.

Evening ringing resumed at Pitsford (6), where methods ranged from Plain Bob to Cambridge

All in all a good time was had by everyone, with the attendance well up on average; ringing was of a high standard.
*We began at a stately pace, and rather nervously, but the ringing soon settled down and apart from the occasional minor slio an excellent standard of ringing was maintained. and, with no serious incident occurring, the bells were brought round in 3 hours and 4 minutes, to the especial delight of the less experienced members of the band."

GUILD OF DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Spring Meeting of South-West Branch

About 40 members and friends attended the spring mecting of the S.W Branch at All Saints' Holbeton, on April 6th Throughout the afternoon the six bells were kept going to call-changes, Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent.

Holbeton was at one time under the incumbency of a noted ringing cleric. the Rev. E. S. Powell, author of the Ringers' Handbook, and on the walls of the tower are boards recording a peal of Plain Bob Minor rung in 1910 by members of the Devon Guild, and also the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor rung in the county of Devon.

The service was conducted by the present Vicar, the Rev. K. W. Knight, after which the members proceeded to the village hall for a sumptuous tea prepared by the ladies of the parish.

During the business meeting, Messrs. J. R. Michell and $A$. Michell. of Callington, and M:. W. Rowe, of Stoke Climsland. were elecied unattached members and were welcomed by the Branch chairman. Mr. D. R. Bould. It was decided to hold another Branch social on October 12 th , and a committee of three was elected to make the arrangements. The secretary reported that a decision on the form of the Tom Myers memorial would be taken at the A.G.M. of the Guild, to be held at Bideford in May.

It was decided to hold a Branch practice at Sheepstor on July 13 th, subject to permission. and the autumn meeting was confirmed for Tamerton Foliot on October 5th.

After the meeting further ringing took place at Holbeton and on the eight bells of aearby Noss Mayo.

TECHNICAL

THE SIIVGLE IN CAMBRIDGE

By Richard Speed

SINCE the publication of Brian Price's $$ .091$ Cambridge Surprise Major some years ago the use of a single at Wrong to bring the bells round two changes after the lead-end has become quite common. particularly in methods with the Cambridge sequence of lead-ends and places in the first section. The advantages are most obvious in Maximus. where 5,042 's can easily be produced. so avoid. ing undue wear on ringers and ropes.

An alternative, which does not seem to have been explored, is to start the peal from two changes atter ine wrong lead-end instead of finishing at that point. The eftect of this is to put the bells into the course 32456 Below I give two examples of this-one ot Cambridge and one of Lincolnshire. The Cambridge is interesting in that the calling is Middleton's throughout untll the very last call, when a single is substituted for a bob to bring the bells round.

The peal of Lincolnshire uses a simple transposition of Simon Humphrey's excellent composition It will be noted that the second is now never in 5-6 at a course-end and that, in this case. the final call has been converted from a single to a bob to bring the bells round.

In general we may say that with any regular treble-dominated Major method starting - 38 and with the lead-end $b$, a composition of 5,152 changes can be converted into a 5,022 by this technique providing that the first call is a bob of single at Home. The only change required to the calling is to alter the last call as Home from a bob to a single or vice versa.

Letters to the Editor

THE CUPID PEAL AND OTHER MATTERS
Dear Sir,-I think it a great pity that Mrs. Newing sees fit to wash the Society's dirty linen in the public of the ringing fraternity. However, in such circumstances a public reply is called for to make quite clear that what was stated was not strictly true.

Firstly, only two members resident in Bristol did not attend the dinner. That their absence was not noticed is, I feel, to their credit.

Further, resident members are usually involved in chasing round Bristol, catering for the needs of the many visitors and non-residents, in looking after the many rowers open. I am given to understand that it has never been a habit or necessity for resident members to attend a meeting which is primarily for nonresidents, especially those unable to attend at any other time.
Mrs. Newing mentions the report of the dinner. I do not recall any similar report containing much information on the ringing during the day, which is generally not worth writing about. With so many towers open it would become yet another dreary report.
Finally I come to the real reason for her report. Perhaps Mrs. Newing is unaware of the fact that only one member of the band ringing in the peal of St. George's was not a member of the Society. As such, there was no "blowing his own trumpet" on the part of the treble ringer-he knew nothing of the footnote. How many other peal ringers actually set out to ring a peal for a specific occasion and get it? Many times a discussion following the peal is the reason for a footnote. Better this humorous note than a hypocritical commendation of some extremely obscure festival. Perhaps they would have been wiser to have worded it in a different manner. But however it is worded it shows an enthusiasm for Society traditions--traditions established by non-residents in resident days and passed on by the half-dozen or so who remained at the beginning of this year to the influx of freshers who accepted them. Without this new influx of people, who have helped to make the most united and friendly group in my three years, the Society in residence would not be.-Yours sincerely,

> GILLIAN M. BREARLEY, Secretary,
> University of Bristol Society.

552 LONDON SURPRISE MINOR

Dear Sir,-May I be so bold as to suggest to Mr. Viggers that he deletes, from future issues of the "Ringers" Diary" the 552 of London Surprise Minor on page 49.

The reasons for this are (a) that it contains 65's at backstroke, and (b) an alternative without 65's is obtainable as published in a letter by "W. A." in "The Ringing World " on May 5th, 1967 (page 302).

It may be that Mr. Viggers was misled (I was, by the way the letter was worded), as to which 552 was the one indicated as being suitable for London, no 65 's). It is as follows: Call the tenor $\mathrm{W} . \mathrm{H}, \mathrm{Out}, 2 \mathrm{~W}$, $\mathrm{H}, \mathrm{ln}, \mathrm{W}, 2 \mathrm{H} .-\mathrm{Y}$ ours sincerely,

BRYNLEY A. RICHARDS.
Mansfield. Notts.

RULES BROKEN

Dear Sir,-In its annual report recently published, the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association claims to have rung 77 peals during 1967. However, it would appear that at least 20 of these must be reclassified, presumably as non-Association, because the peals do not comply with "G. and B." rules.

Each of the 20 peals includes the names of persons whom I know to be resident in $G$. and B. territory, but the compilers of the report refuse to recognise them as members of the Association. The report purports to list all Association members, yet the names of Gillian M. Hunt, Brynley A. Shackleton and Anthony R. Peake are not included either under a tower or as "unattached". Since these persons are not recognised as members, the Association has not the right to claim any of the 20 peals in which they rang in 1967.
The compilers of the report also seem to be accusing my wife of bigamy-her name is published in one peal as Gillian M. Sweet! No doubt the participants of each of these 20 peals will look forward to having their $1 /$ - per rope peal tax refunded by the $G$. and $B$.Yours, etc., $\quad$ D. J. HUNT. Bristol.

PEAL OF RUTLAND SURPRISE WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir,-It has been brought to my notice that the composition of the peal of Rutland S.M, which I conducted at St. Giles', Lincoln, on March 9th, 1968, is false.
I therefore withdraw this peal with apologies to all who took part.-Yours sincerely,

Lincoln.  JACK L. MILLHOUSE.

THE LADIES' CHAMPION REPLIES

Dear Sir,-In reply to your correspondent's gentle chiding of myself and the Ladies' Guild ( $R$.W", page 282), I cannot see how she is in any position to comment either on my standard of assessment of the meeting or the standard of ringing, since she was not there.
It is well known in East Kent that Miss Court is not averse to antagonistic attacks on the Ladies' Guild, but she should not take umbrage at having travelled to Sittingbourne and then not getting a ring. I would suggest that had she intended to go to the meeting she would most certainly have had a good ringI do not consider 7.30 p.m. to be a good time to set out for a meeting from a town some 50 or 60 miles away!
Miss Court will, perhaps, one day realise that married women cannot devote the same amount of time to ringing as she does. The ringing at Sittingbourne did finish early-communications were disrupted because of a train crash; the weather was foul and people had to get to homes as far afield as Sevenoaks, Lewisham, Greenwich and Burmarsh. In any case, some of the ladies present were not as young as they once were and the ringing proved enough for them.
If Miss Court wants to go ringing as recreation after a hard day of demolition I would suggest she organises her own nearer to the area of work: but I am sure she would not get many with her-she would most certainly not get this frail correspondent!

Might I suggest, Miss Court, that you give a little sympathy and consideration to a Guild which is trying its best? People in glass houses should not throw stones, and you cannot burn the candle at both ends!-Yours, etc..

Liverpool and Cantab. JIM HEDGCOCK.

ST. PAUL'S, BEDFORD

Dear Sir,-Of particular note, following recent correspondence in "The Ringing World", is the quarter peal of 6-Spliced Surprise Major rung at St. Paul's, Bedford, by a band composed entirely of Sunday service ringers. When at full strength we can manage London, Yorkshira and Cambridge Royal and all standard methods on eight bells.- Yours sincerely,

Bedford.

TO TRY AGAIN FOR $\mathbf{1 0 , 7 8 4}$ OXFORD

 TREBLE BOB MAJORDear Sir,-I regret to say that the attempt to ring 10,784 Oxford Treble Bob Major on handbells on March 24th was unsuccessful. The ringers were Gerald Penney 1-2, Julia A. Fellows 3-4, Martyn L. J. Jordan 5-6, Brian J. Woodruffe 7-8. Another attempt is to be made early in May-details to follow.-Yours sincerely,

BRIAN J. WOODRUFFE.
Wheathampstead, Herts.

YOUNG CUNUUCTORS

Dear Sir,-With reference to the query in your issue of March 24 th concerning the youngest conductor, my son George catled a peal of Plain Bob Major three weeks betore his 12th birthday, and Roddy composed and conducted a peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal at 11 years and 7 months.
I do not know if either constituted a record and I cannot recollect that they were claimed as such at the time.-Yours faithfully,

SYLVIA R. E. PIPE.
Grundisburgh.

PEAL WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir,-I must ask permission to withdraw the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major rung at Sevenoaks on March 30th and reported on page 288 of "The Ringing World" of April 12th. 1

Unfortunately I misread the composition and called three Homes where I should have called three Wrongs. This is entirely due to my own carelessness, and the composition as printed in the current Kent County Association report is true.

I apologise for the disappointment to the band and for the inconvenience to the various recorders of peals.-Yours truly,
P. A. CORBY.

BRIXHAM SURPRISE CATERS

Dear Sir,-" When in Rome do as Rome does." I take that as the "Order of the day" as with the exception of Babbacombe this is a call change area. Generally speaking, the striking is first-class. We at Brixham are fortunate in having a good ring of ten and we get some good call changes on eight and ten.

Sometimes we even " mix it." As there are only five or six of us who have reached the "dizzy heights" of Grandsire Doubles we keep the ten going by ringing Grandsire Doubles on the back six and "call" changes on the front four. By prearrangement, when "Go" is called, the front four go 2143 and change every time a bob or single is called By this means everyone is kept happy (I hope), and we might break into a gallop and ring Triples (or even Caters) one day-who knows?-Yours faithfully,

PLAIN BOB.
P.S.-I hope my tower captain approves of this.-P.B.

Letters-continued  BELLE COMPETITION WANTED -FOLLOWED BY DATING!

Dear Sir,-I read with interest the letter from Michael C. Broad headed "The Belle of Bellringers Wanted " in your issue of April 12th.
I would like to endorse all this gentleman says relating to the organising of a "Miss Bellringing"" competition. I find "The Ringing World" of great interest, but at the same time feel that its pages could be brightened by feminine charm of the campanological world.
If such a contest is organised I would venture to suggest that Mr. Broad is allowed to date the winner, and myself date the runner-up!-Yours faithfully.

BRIAN C. LAW.

QUARTER PEAL ANALYSIS

Dear Sir,-First I should like to say how interesting I found the quarter peal analysis compiled by Mr. Buswell. He must, I know, have put a lot of time into it, as I have for several years carried out a similar one for the Alton and Petersfield District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild.
However, I feel I must take him to task over his comments regarding quarters of Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles. I quote: "The total number is very large and rather depressing, since they show how unadventurous and unimaginative quarter peal ringers are." If Mr Buswell could find time to read the notes appertaining to these, to him, unadventurous and unimaginative quarters, he would find many contain people "who are ringing their first quarter or first "inside" or in the method. To prove to myself as much as to him I have made a quick check on April 12th's "Ringing World," No. 2973, and find nine have such notes, while eight do not. Of those eight no doubt some are all the band can ring or at least it is the strength of the weakest ringer in their midst.

In conclusion, I feel it must be very encouraging to a learner to get his first quarter at the first attempt and for that reason (well, perhaps for the sake of good striking as well), prusually keep to the one or other of the methods in question. There is an increase in methods in subsequent quarters.-Yours faithfully,
K. SANSOM.

Buriton, Petersfield.

RINGING IN DURBAN

Dear Sir,-Congratulations to my old friend Cyril Chambers and to Geoffrey Armitage for their sterling work in Durban. As Walter Knight rightly points out, the peal at St. Mary's was a fitting tribute to Cyril's years and years of dogged persistence. At St. Paul's there seems to be an earlier claim for the first quarter on the bells when E. Bishop conducted 1.440 Bob Minor on January 29th, 1955, when Cyril scored his first in the method. 1 believe the first quarter in Natal to have been Grandsire Triples on September 22nd, 1925, at St. Mary's, and then a gap of 30 years until S. Osborn called Grandsire Doubles on August 20th, 1955. At St. Paul's a band of Servicernen, conducted by B. G. Key, unfortunately lost Grandsire Triples in May, 1942. -Yours sincerely,
V. SHEPPARD.

MOTIONS

9. (a) To amend rule 17 by substituting the the word "four" for "five" in the fourth line.
Proposed by V. Bottomley, seconded by F. W. Perrens.
(b) To add the following to the Decisions of the Council-
10. In the case of Doubles a "variation" be defined as the plain course of one $t 0$ another method. Each variation to another method. Each variation shall be given its own name.
11. A "variation" must in the case of Doubles be capable of producing 120 true changes.
12. In order that a variation may be deemed to have been rung, at least one plain lead and all the calls needed to produce that variation must be rung. This does not prohibit the use of spliced plain course methods which use only one call; i.e., variations such as those based on St. 'Simon, St. Martin and St. Osmund (or other groups) where there is one call in every four leads and, in the other three leads, each of the other three methods is rung This rule may be extended to cover extents using more than three calls as long as the required splicing is contained within the non-called (i.e. plain) leads. In no case may a call be deemed to give more than one variation unless the leads preceding or following that call are spliced.
13. Multi-method variation peals on seven bells or less, the object of which is to contain more methods/variations than have previously been rung to a peal, shall be limited to 5,040 changes.
14. The arrangement or composition (as the case may be) of record multimethod/variation peals on any number of bells shall be printed in "The Ringing World " within the period between the ringing of the peal and the meeting of the Central Council in the following year.
Proposed by C. A. Lewis, seconded by F. E. Dukes.
15. To receive, discuss and, if thought fit, to adopt the reports of the following committees:-
To pass such resolutions as may be necessary on matters arising out of the reports.
(a) Standing Committee.
(b) Literature and Press Committee.
(c) Biographies Committee.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The spring meeting of the Bridgnorth Branch was held at Quatt on April 6th. Quatt, a beautifully situated and unspoilt village, has held the title of the best kept village in Shropshire.
Ringing during the afternoon and evening on the pleasing ring of six was under the direction of Mr. Alan Jones, Ringing Master, who looked after the interests of the young ringers present.
At the service a most interesting address was given by the Vicar, the Rev. D. W. B. Manning, who took as his theme "What mean you by this service? "He hoped ringers did not regard their ringing just as a hobby. A very nice tea was served in the Village Hall. Suitable thanks were expressed to all those concerned in making the meeting so enjoyable.

FALSE CUMPUSIIIUN UF  RUILANU SUKPRIDL MAJUR

Dear Sir.- it bas been pointed out to me that the composition used for the peal of Kut land Surprise Major rung at St. Gites', Lin coln, on March 9th, 1968, is false. The erro is an opvious one and 1 apologise to the band and in particular to the three young ringer: who lang thelr first peal in the method. am also very soiry that Jack Millhouse, who has been kind enough to call most of my compositions for the tirst time, has fallen victim to this, my first error since taking an interest in composition

As the composition has received fairly wide circulation, I should mention that it is a 5,088 in two parts with two courses added in the second part, including calls at In and Sths in order that anyone who has the composition in their possession can destroy it.

The composition was produced in an attempt to obtain the record number of combination roll-ups in the method, and the appended composition was obtained at the same time I should be pleased if someone could tell me what is the greatest number obtained in standard peal length. The greatest number I have managed (in a true composition) is 127 , and this composition was published in "The Ringing World" of June 18th, 1965.-Yours apologetically,

London, W JOHN R. KETTERINGHAM

At Malta G.C. the Bells Chime in Great Confusion

By A. V. Sheppard

0NCE upon a time some wag condensed his impressions of this Mediterranean island in the aphorism "Yells. Bells and Smells." Today the smells have gone and the yells have given way to car horns. but the bells are still there, chiming in great confusion for all the offices of the Roman Catholic Church. And the skyline. too, is dominated in all directions by town and village churches of impressive size and architectural splendour old and new. ralsed up by a devout people who oroudly clarm to be more Catholic than the Pope himself. One thinks of the small town of Mosta, where the dome, surpassing that of St. Paul's Cathedral, London. is the third largest in Europe.

The capital. Valletta, was planned in 1569. after the defeat of the Turks by the Knights of St . John. and today there seems to be a church on every other street corner In the northern quarter of the eity stands the Anglican pro-Cathedral of St . Paul the Apostle. whose very graceful 200 foot spire is an outstanding landmark overlooking Marsamxett harbour On the site the Knights of the German Langue built their Auberge in 1574. being entrusted with the defence of the adjacent St. Sebastian bastion and the German Curtain. Napoleon abolished the repime of the Knights in 1798 and. two years later. British Forces. at the invitation of the Maltese. ejected the French and took control.

In the beginning Anglican worship took place in a disused kitchen of the Governor's palace. By 1813 there was need for larger premises and a suggestion was made to take over St. John's Co-Cathedral, the great Catholic Mother Church of Malta. for the English Protestants. Very wisely, the Governor refused. Queen Adelaide, widow of William IV, spent the winter of 1838 in Valletta and found the 2.000 English civilians still had onlv the old kitchen for a church, and that consequently many stayed away. Early the following year she wrote to tell her niece. the young Queen Victoria. that she had decided to build a chureh herself. The old German Auberge. now a mill and bakery, was rapidly demolished and Queen Adelaide laid the foundation stone on March 20th. 1839.

The orig:nal estimate was for $£ 8.000$, but alterations and additions inflated the cost to $£ 20.000$. which exhausted the Dowager Queen's resources, and at the consecration in November, 1844. the spire was unfinished. St. Paul's is built entirely of Malta's honey-coloured limestone in the architectural style of a Greek temple; the form is preserved by the disconnection of the tower, which is joined to the west corner of the church by a short corridor.
The six bells are hung in a robust frame of pine on the same level as the louvres: they are all lettered "C. and G Mears. Founders. London 1845 "-except the third, which has the date omitted. The diameters are: Treble $28 \frac{1}{2}$ ins.. second $31 \frac{3}{7}$ ins.. third 341 ins., fourth $34 \frac{1}{2}$ ins., fifth 39 ins., tenor 42 ins.. suggesting a weight of $12 \frac{1}{2}$ to 13 cwt . The canons are strapped to wooden headstocks. which are notched for wheels, and the tenor has a stav Apart from this. a careful inspection showed no signs of any fittings. slider pins. ropeholes. or anything to suggest they were ever meant for ringing, yet curiously the ends of the pits of the fifth and tenor have been cut away as it to allow a tree passage for these bells to turn over. Quite recently the frame has been reinforced underneath each of the plain bearings. Chiming is carried out by steel wires attached to the clapper flights and activated from a set of levers sited two floors, lower down the tower. Prominent in the ringing chamber is a printed card with the figure rows of Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles.

The spire was slightly fissured by the earthquake of 1886. and during the last war bomh blast shartered all the doors and windows, but apart from a demolished pinnacle, victim of an anti-aircraft shell, the tall and lovely spire came through unscathed, and the bells still chime their ordered and disciplined sound over this golden city lapped by an emerald sea.

PUZZLE CORNER

SOLUTION TO URANGWOT 4
Among the entries it was gratutying to read the odd complumentary remark on the puzzle, but this was counterbalanced by a suggestion to the Editor from one young lady that Mr. Surr "should be removed from society as a potential menace because of his diabolically ingenious puzzles. Schoolwork had been nil on two days it seems in her case, but I had warned George when he put the idea forward, as you will remember. Apparently the maths. teacher thought the puzzle impossible, but this was not borne out by the receipt of 18 correct entries, from which that of Michael D. Ling, of 17, Stanley Road, Sutton, Surrey, was drawn as the winner.
No ringer may appear twice in a horizontal or twice in a vertical row with any other ringer. It will be observed that corner positions are common to horizontal and vertical rows, whereas the others are not. Each ringer will have to appear twice in corner positions and twice in the others to avoid exceeding the number of different combinations available. Further, in this second type one appearance will have to be in 2 or 6 and the other in 4 or 8 .
A cannot be in 2 or 6 in II as it would combine with $B$ or $\mathbf{C}$ again horizontally. It must, therefore, occupy 4 or 8 . In 4 it could not find two suitable partners, having used up $H$ and $G$ in I and $F$ in IV and B and C are already fixed. Thus, A must be 8 in 11 and to avoid B horizontally must be 6 in III. 8 has to go into 8 in IV. Along similar lines $C$ has to occupy 4 in III and 6 in IV. Workine on IV, it will be tound that 4 must be D or E and 7 must be D or H . The various limited possibilities can be tried to find out what is acceptable and so produce the solution:-

| I | II | III | IV |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| ABC | BHG | B D F | DGA |
| H D | A F | G C | B E |

SHERWOOD YOUTHS SEEK C.C. MEMBERSHIP

The Sherwood Youths' first meeting for 1968 was held at Loughborough on March 30th, members attending from Nottinghamshire, Lincolnshire, Derbyshire and Leicestershire, and there were visitors from Kent and Warwickshire. Ringing commenced at the Foundry, the Master (Mr. G. A. Dawson) heing in charge. As was to be expected, the pleasant but very light bells proved difficult to handle and the standard of striking was moderate. Tea, kindly arranged by the Misses A. Henson. M. Beard. J. Pilgrim, D. Green, T. Nelson and Mrs. Gobey, was taken at the Parish Hall.

At the business meeting the secretary reported on the investigation into the Crofts Manuscripts now in. the possession of St . Peter's Church. Nottingham. After some argument it was decided to request that the manuscripts be deposited in the Nottinghamshire Record Offices, where they will be kept under the correct conditions and will be available for inspection by any member of the public.

The secretary also reported on the condition of W. Crofts' grave, stating that it was in need of repair. It was agreed to remove all the brickwork and lower the stone to ground level. The meeting also agreed that the Society should apply for affiliation to the Central Council. Eight new members were elected.

Ringing followed at the Parish Church. Methods ranged from rounds to London Major and included a touch of Erin Caters, a most suitable method for short musical touches. Thanks are due to Mr. R. Wilson for making all the local arrangements.

URANGWOT 5

In the first four problems in this series I have found myself with the job of writing up the subject matter provided by conversation with fellow ringers. Fhis takes time and so I was very grateful for this problem that was written up and submitted to the Editor, who passed it on to me for my comments. "I hope you will publish it and I hope that we shall have other people to follow his example," I said.

The recent quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles at Clashwell gained little recognition, but in some ways it was a greater achievement than some peals of Surprise Major. The tower is a fair size for six bells but the ringing chamber includes a large clock case and a staircase, which hinder ropesight. In fact they hinder ropesight so much that no ringer can see more than three other ropes and often has to dodge with a bell which cannot be seen. Trying to dodge with an odd-struck bell is bad enough, but when you can't see the bell you are dodging with a sharp ear is essential. At Clashwell it is difficult for a strange team to ring good rounds as there is no resemblance to a rope circle, with one and two falling in opposite corners, and you do not necessarily follow the ringer who stands next to you.

During the quarter peal the tenor ringer could only see Harry and kept a variable distance behind him. The treble ringer could see Lesley and Carol, with glimpses of the one on the third almost hidden by Lesley. Lesley's rope came down so close to the third that she preferred to ring with her back to the treble and facing the third "to avoid possible accidents". Alan could only see the fifth, so he remembered what the fifth was doing and pulled his rope accordingly. Ringing almost entirely by ear and rhythm, he handled the most difficult bell very well. Duncan called the bobs and singles. He was cramped in a corner where be could rest on both walls at once, but he could see the other three working bells and he watched Ann carefully when she was involved in singles.

There are no mirrors or spy-holes in the ringing chamber so any ringer who sees another ringer can also be seen himself by that ringer.

You might care to try your hand at sketching this unusual ringing chamber and placing the band for this quarter peal. If your entry is correct and first out of the hat you could win something towards the cost of a new edition of "Dove" and you could see whether Clashwell has been included.

T. SURR.

RECORD LENGTH ATTEMPT

10,784 OXFORD T.B. MAJOR
Dear Sir,-Another attempt to ring 10,784 Oxford I.B. Major on handbells will take place on Sunday, May 5th, 1968, at the School, Pancake Lane, Leverstock Green, Hemel Hempstead, Herts. The attempt will start at 11.30 a m . and the composition is to be as used in the previous attempt ("Ringing World," page 201),-Yours faithfully,

BRIAN J. WOODRUFFE.

BELLS OF BRISTOL RECORDED

Saydisc Specialized Recordings Ltd., Meeting House, Frenchay, Bristol, have placed the first of their "Bells of Britain " recordings on the market This recording deals with the bells of Bristol, and the price is 12 s . 11d. past free.
Mr. D. J. Gay, Tower Master at Weston-super-Mare Parish Church, contributes the following review:-

The recording consists of method ringing at the following four churches: St. Mary's, Redcliffe, Erin Cinques; The Lord Mayor's Chapel, Grandsire Doubles; The Cathedral, Spliced Cambridge and Little Bob; and St. Stephen's, Stedman Caters. With the recording, an excellent set of notes is included covering the methods rung, the history of the churches and their bells with interesting inscriptions, ringing $a$ bell and changes, Society rules and bell foundries.

The methods recorded are all well struck and show the high standard achieved by the Bristol ringers. The outstanding recording is without doubt St. Mary's, Redcliffe, and the disc interpretation, providing your recording equipment is truly versatile, of the tenor bell is a masterpiece.

Saydisc, the record publishers, inform me that this seven inch recording is the first of a series of church bells. this being "Bells of Britain," Vol. I, SD 127.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Hertford County Association had at the end of December $£ 150$ in their Central Council Fund.

Winchester College Society has now a very useful band. A peal was rung at St. Mary the Virgin's, Harefield, Middlesex, in 13 methods/variations by men in the school.

The Peterborough Diocesan Guild have a new record in Spliced Treble Bob Minor with 51 methods rung in a peal at Flore on April 6th. conducted by Graham C. Paul. Good work!

To help to defray the cost of a set of new ropes at Clay Cross, a charge of 10 s . will be made for all peal attempts. The new ropes have been ordered.

The first peal on the bells at All Saints', Tooting Graveney, one of Yorkshire Surprise Major, was rung on April 6th. It is to be regretted that the name of the Rev. A. E. Clayton, who did so much towards providing the bells, was not in the band. However, the church was represented by the presence of the Rev.. Michael Hart.

The Society of Sherwood Youths are seeking membership of the Central Council.

The Rhodesian Guild of Bellringers has its first African member. He rings at Que Que and learned to handle fairly quickly.

Mr. W. Parrott, secretary of the Surrey Association, is retiring. Mr. Colin Cook has been nominated as his successor.
In the table dealing with quarter peal ringing in 1967 there was a typographical error under Durham. The leading tower was Lanchester not Lancashire.
When the Rev. James Tomsett was ordained in 1964 he was appointed to St. Mark's, Surbiton, which has a fine tower with no ringable bells. We now learn that on May lst he is going to St. Cuthbert's, Wells, and that both he and Mrs. Tomsett are looking forward to some active ringing again in the bell-filled diocese of Bath and Wells. Mr. Tomsett was for many years captain and secretary of the St. Mary's, Wimbledon, band.

The Veterans' Reunion at St. Botolph's. Bishopsgate, has been altered to June 15 th. On the original date the Bishop of London is dedicating a memorial to the late Rector (Mr. Treacher), who was very helpful to the Veterans when arranging their first reunion.

RETURN OF BROMPTON REGIS BELLS

The remote Brendon Hills of West Somerset on Wednesday evening, April 10th, heard a sound which has been missing from them for many years-the bells of the parish church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Brompton Regis.
It is over 30 years since the five bells were last rung. although they were, on occasions, chimed up to 1957. Then about ten years ago they were sent to Messrs. Taylors, Loughborough, and ever since the people of Brompton Regis have been working hard to raise funds for the strengthening of the tower and for the retuning of the bells.

And now they are back in the village. At 9 oclock on the Tuesday, a grey and misty morning, a lorry bringing the bells back from Loughborough drove up to the village and was met by the Vicar. the Rev, J. Woodburn, and about 20 of the villagers who. led by the processsional cross and singing "Praise, my soul. the King of Heaven", escorted the lorry and its load to the church. There a short service was held in the churchyard and the bells were blessed.
The work of rehanging was carried out by Mr. Fidler. from the bellfounders, assisted by Messrs. Gould and Rogers, from Dunster. A slight difficulty was encountered when it was found that the tenor bell was slightly too large to go through the door, but a little ingenuity on the part of Mr. Fidier overcame that.
By Wednesday evening the work had been completed, and ringers from Dunster, Dulverton, Exford. Bampton and Taunton assembled to try out the bells. Prominent among them was the Rev. H. F. Warren, R.D., Rector of Exford and Master of the Diocesan Association. For nearly an hour the ringers rang in relays and many people were drawn to the church to see them in action. The more active among us climbed the somewhat hazardous spiral stair to the bell chamber to see-and be deafened by-the bells swinging in their new cages.
One of the oldest inhabitants of Brompton Regis was heard to remark "I never thought $1^{1} \mathrm{~d}$ hear that again in my lifetime." It is to be hoped that he will hear it regularly now, for eight potential ringers from the village are receiving instruction each weck at nearby Exford.

A Poem for Bellringers by D. Goss

Lead, hunt up, two blows behind. dodge three four down and what do you find?
Hunt down and lead, hunt up, you're on the track.
Dodge three four up, two blows out back.
Hunt down and lead then place. That's all.
Then into rounds in the belfry tall.
The conductor shouts, with lustiness, "Stand, "Twas a perfect course, my merry band." Some jolly ringers make belfries sway,
And others are likely to break a stay!
And what's on the end of the rope? you may say.
Well, of course there's the bell, with the headstock and stay.
And on Sunday mornings at a quarter to nine, The bellringer is ready to ring at this time. For an hour till the service is ready to start He will ring his bell steady, and right from his heart.
The above poem is dedicated to the ringers of Sandy Church. Mr. C. Blain has now a band of young ringers of average age 13 , capable of rounds and Grandsire Doubles.

SLRPRISE RINGING IN NORTH NORFOLK

The need has long veen rett in the Northern Branch of the Norwich Association for an advanced eignt-bell practice, tor although in Norwich, wnere numbers are strongest, there has been a slow improvement on higner numibers, and interest in Minor ringing is maintained at St. George's, Colegate, opportunitues for ringing Surprise Major were limited to Branch meetings and to occasions when poor attendance or late arrivals at St. Peter Mancroft reduced the band to eight. Outside Norwich there is no single tower that can regularly muster a Surprise Major band. The establishment of a monthly Surprise practice at East Dereham was therefore warmly welcomed.
The first task was to become as well acquainted with London and Bristol as with Cambridge and Yorkshire, and it has been a pleasure to help people through their first or second courses in these methods. For the slightly more advanced, a start was made in the field of spliced, and touches in five and six methods were brought round at the third practice. The month following saw concrete results of the practice, quarter peals of Spliced Surprise Major in six and seven methods being scored. Though they were not perfect, the standard of striking was high, and only one serious trip occurred. When one considers that only one of the band had previously rung spliced with London and Bristol included, the results are indeed satisfying. Peal attempts are planned.

The only regret to be expressed is that the attendance at these practices, despite notices in "The Ringing World." has been limited to ringers from three towers-Dereham. Wymondham and St. George's. Colepate. Norwich. It is hoped that many more will avail themselves of this splendid opportunity of improving their own ringing and the general standard of ringing in North Norfolk which Mr. George Adams and his supporters have offered.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY GUILD

Dublin University Guild sallied into Limerick led by Helen Hubert. the outgoing Master, and Jonathan Barry, the incoming Master, on March 30th. Ringing took place at St. Mary's Cathedral and also at Doneraile. The Guild was dined by Limerick people and picnic lunches were provided by the ladies. There was a sight-seeing visit to Cashel. "A very enjoyable tour," writes the man on the spor.

SUFFOLK GUILD

The N.W. Branch held a successful quarterly meeting at Elveden ( $8,17 \mathrm{cwt}$.) on April 6th, with about 50 people visiting the tower durng the afternoon and evening.
At the business meeting the chairman, Mr. C. Hancock, announced that Robin and Janet Rogers woald shortly be leaving Suffolk, and thanked them for the effort they had put into the Guild during the past three years.
Since the introduction, last autumn, of monthly Friday evening practices to replace the Saturday practices between the quarterly meetings. far more younger members have supported and enjoyed the meetings, and 1967 resulted in a 30 per cent. increase in Branch membership. It was particularly encouraging to see the younger ringers during the evening at Elveden, as the sustained interest and progress of bellringing for the future depend upon this generation more than any other.

MAJOR J. HOWARD FREEBORN TU MARRY

The marriage of Major J. Howard Freeborn and Mrs. Ada Miller will take place at the University Church of Great St. Mary. Cambridge, today (Friday, April 26th) at 12.30 p.m., when the 12 bells will be rung by the Cambridge Youths and the Cambridge University Guild of Change Ringers, of which the bridegroom has been a member for 57 years and for which he has rung 40 peals out of his total of 222 .
Major Freeborn has been a widower for over four years, and his bride, whose first husband was a prominent Cambridge lawyer, a widow for over a year. Their address will be 52 Queen Edith's Way, Cambridge (48268).

" MOSS MAYO "-(EVER BEEN HAD?)

Plain Bob writes: "I was interested in - Moss Mayo' (Belfry Gossip, April 12th). After seeing a notice in The Ringing World that a meeting was to be held at Holbeton with Moss Mayo in the evening, I thought - Two new towers, a nice run and a change of country.' As I failed to find Moss Mayo in 'Dove's,' I thought it must be a new eight.
"However, my wife and I enjoyed the run to Holbeton and had a long chat with a 'local' about the district. After tea we were made very welcome by a gentleman who introduced himself and asked if we were going on to Revelstoke. I said 'No, we are going to Moss Mayo.' He must have thought 'I've got a right one here,' but he kindly explained it all and off we went to ' Moss Mayo-Revelstoke,' St. Peter's.

Needless to say a footnote has been added in my 'Doves.'

BLACKBURN BRANCH STRIKING COMPETITION

Eight bands entered for the Blackburn Branch striking competition at St. Peter's, Burnley, recently. The bells were available for. an hour's practice at 2.30 p.m. In the competition methods varied from call changes to Cambridge Surprise Minor and Bob Major.
The results of the competition were given after sea by John Partington, the other judges being Dennis McCormick and Ian Goldthorpe. The three teams to go forward to the Association's final are: St. James', Accrington (Bob Major) 33 faults: Blackburn Cathedral (Bob Minor) 16 ; St. Peter's. Burnley (Bob Doubles) 24.

A vote of thanks was passed to Miss Marv Smith and her young helpers for the excellent tea. The evening's ringing varied from call changes to Surprise Major. A good dav's ringing was enjoyed by everyone.

LOOKS BACK ON 808 PEALS

Through his unfortunate illness (multiple sclerasis), Mr. John A. Acres, who now resides at Chigwell House. Chigwell, Essex, has had to conclude his ringing days with a splendid total of 808 peals. He occasionally enjoys a touch on handbells with ringers from Barkingside who visit him and in reading of the activities of his many friends in "The Ringing World." His work for the Exercise has not, however, ceased. He is still peal secretary to the Leicester Diocesan Guild.

CHANGING THE HUNT BELL

Deat Sir.-I am not eager to enter into any discussion which makes reference to the decisions of the Central Council, since these decisions are usually illogical, often inconsistent and sometimes contradictory. However, on the subject of calls, they are fairly concise and the letter from "Undergraduate" needs answering
Firstly, the point about changing the hunt bell is a red herring The hunt bell is not changed. Seconds place, which is the essence of Plain Bob. is made only when the treble is leading. "Undergraduate" states categorically and completely unjustifiably that it is " not possible to change the hunt bell in midstream." $i_{i}$ is possible (see page 276) and there is no Central Council decision which prevents it being done. It is interesting to speculate on the musical possibilities of doing this in, say, Surbrise Major
The other points raised by "Undergraduate" are. I think, amply covered by the "Decisions" oblainable for half a crown from the address on the back page.-Yours faithfully,

Bell IBhymes firom

From Mr. Pat Chapman, of Daventry, we have received cuttings of "The Northampton Chronicle and techo" relling of rhymes assuciated with the bells of Northamptonshire and elsewhere.
Mr. W. N. Terry, curator of the Central Museum, Northampton, makes the following interesting contribution:-

Some years ago I bought in Cheltenham a small book of poems for my then very young children. It is called "A Little Book of Old Rhymes," collected by Cicely Mary Barker and published by Blackie and Son Lid.

Shortly afterwards we knew we were to move our home to Northampton, and on a number of occasions came to the town via Banbury and went up the Banbury Lane. As we drove along we used to sing together (for the obvious reason) one of the rhymes, which 1 quous in full berewith.

Pancakes and fritters,
Say the bells of St. Peter's.
Where must we fry em?
Say the bells of Cold Higham.
In yonder land furrow
Say the bells of Wellingborough.
You owe me a shilling
Say the hells of Great Billing.
When will you pay me?
Say the bells of Middleton Cheney
When I am able
Say the bells of Dunstable.
That will never be
Say the bells of Coventry.
0 yes it will
Says Northampion great bell.

I think Coventry has accidentally been substituted for Daventry in this version which otherwise, apart from Dunstable, includes only Northamptonshire churches. The version from Canada, contributed by your correspondent W. McLean, seems to include only Northampton Town churches. (All Hallows' is, of course, an earlier form of All Saints'.)

I would very much like to hear of any other versions of this old Northamptonshire folk rhyme, and indeed of any other such items belonging to this area. They are dying out fast and if we do not record them now they will soon be lost for ever.

OTHER MEMORIES

Did every district have its own bell rhyme? 1 remember once hearing this: :

Moulton big jowlers,
Holcot ting tang,
Walgrave pretty merry bells,
Hannington cracked pan.
P. Knight, Lanesend, Walgrave.

Reading in " The Chronicle and Echo " about the nursery rhyme verse "The Bells of Northampton " reminded me of the little jingle my grandmother used to sing to me when I was a tiny girl.

Moulton great houlders,
Pitsford ting tangs,
Brixnorth little merry bells.
Spratton black pans.
Mrs. E. Judge, Lesson Road, Brixworth.

BUILDING UP  DOUBLES  VARIATIONS  BY DEREK C．JACKSON

Part 5
The following is not part of my scheme but a few lines of assistance to those a little con－ fused by the mass of figures and the arithme－ tic that those＂in the know＂take for granted． These notes are written by one who has only in recent years fully comprehended their sig－ nificance．One crumb of comfort is that such things as Place Notation do become more in－ teresting as your understanding develops，and certainly no learner should be denied this fundamental instruction simply because the tower captain has never tried to acquaint him－ self with it．
I suggested that your new，basic method should be introduced by a distribution of Place Notation to the band．Let us take Method 3 （Which is eventually found to be St．Simon＇s Doubles）．The Place Notation is $5,1,5,3,5$ ． 2nds，with lead－end 14253.
 last given figure，i．e．，write them out in re－ verse order．

The treble will then lead， and your next piece of in－ formation states that 2nds is made here．
Thus：－

This will contain a full lead of the method．

The first change of the method is obtained by keeping fifths place bell in its place，pair－ ing off the other bells，and crossing over the pairs．Thus：－ 12345 The second change re－

| 12345 | The second change re | 12345 |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  | quires the leading bell to |  |
| 521435 | stay in its place；cross | 521435 |
| 1 | over the other pairs． | 124153 |
| 5 |  |  |

The third change requires

| 5 | 12345 |
| :--- | :--- | :--- |
|  | 21435 |
| 1 | 24153 |
| 5 | 42513 |

\begin{array}{ll}
5 & 21435 \\
1 & 24153 \\
5 & 42513
\end{array}

12345 The last change of the lead is rather difficult．The seconds 21435 place bell must＂lie still＂，but 24153 the treble（First place bell）is 42513 leading twice．There is only 24531 one pair of bells to change over， 4235152 ，so the fifths place bell must 42135 also＂lie still＂．Hence we find 41253 （and shall do so frequently）that 14523 the final place is NOT 2 but 1， 2 and 5．Thus：－

\begin{array}{rl}
& 12345 \\
\cline { 2 - 3 } 5 & 21435 \\
1 & 24153 \\
5 & 42513 \\
3 & 24531 \\
5 & \\
1 & 41253 \\
5 & 14523 \\
125 & 14253
\end{array}

Part 6

This change（14253）produced at the back－ stroke lead of the treble is most important． It is known by $95 \%$ of the Exercise as the ＂Lead End＂．This is incorrect，according to an article in issue No．2947，page 637，where Mr．York－Bramble suggests the name＂Index Row＂．It is so important that the stated place notation always contains it as additional in－ formation．Primarily this is used to check that you correctly computed one lead of your method．
If you now repeat the complete process of Place Notation from the row 14253 you will write out the second full lead of the method． Another repetition gives you the third full lead， and a final repetition gives you the last lead． By drawing a line through the path of any bell，usually the number two，you can obtain the Blue Line，provided no mistakes have been made in the 40 changes．The Index Row 14253 can help you to check this．This is produced from 12345 at the treble＇s previous backstroke lead．

\begin{array}{ll}
\text { The next Index Row } & 14453 \\
\text { can be calculated } & 1 \times \times \times \mathrm{x} \end{array}

The bell in 2 nd position was in 4 th position in the previous Row．The bell in 3rd position was in 2nd position in the previous Row． The bell in 4th position was in 5th position in the previous Row．The bell in 5th position was in 3rd position in the previous Row．

| Thus it must be | 15432 |
| :--- | :--- | :--- |
| The next is | 13524 |
| And the next | 12345 |

This process is called Transposition．Now check your 40 changes at the treble＇s back－ stroke leads．They should be as calculated in our Transposition．

Part 7

Usually the Blue Line is produced by a much quicker process，using your one full lead． On another piece of paper draw five vertical． parallel lines，numbering the lines（NOT the spaces）1，2，3， 4 and 5．Now draw a pencil line through the path of number two bell in your written－out lead．Draw this diagram on your new piece of paper．At the end of the lead this bell has reached third position．Dur－ ing the next lead our bell will follow the path number three bell followed in the first lead． Draw a pencil line through the path of number three bell in your written－out lead．Join this diagram to the one so far drawn on your new piece of paper，first adding the words＂This is where number three starts＂．
Number three bell has reached fifth position at the end of the lead．During the next lead our bell will follow the path number five bell followed in the first lead．Use your pencil again，and your Blue Line is now three－quarters complete，and contains the starting positions of number two，number three and number five bells．You should now be able to complete your Blue Line．

Whither into the Realms of the Unknown

NJEVER before has the art of change ringing reached the standard of attainment as prevails today. And it is not a limited field of experts. The latest achievement that has come to light is the effort of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths in having six different teams ringing the same day peals of nine spliced Surprise Major with each bell doing all the work. There was a seventh band who failed through circumstances outside their control. Many of those taking part would not regard themselves as giants of the Exercise but even a decade ago such a performance would be spoken about with bated breath.

These great performances are not confined to one part of the country. The St. Martin's Guild has set ears a-tingling with their long lengths of Stedman Cinques and Glasgow Surprise. Almost immediately came a Lancashire retort with a few changes extra spliced into the composition thus challenging the mental and physical superiority of Birmingham. They have created their own field of specialisation in spliced Surprise Royal. There are other areas of great achievement-the compositions of spliced Surprise Major are staggering in their variety and are examples of disciplined minds to a degree undreamed of in the past. The handbell ringers should not be overlooked. Week by week they meet, adding new methods. To the struggling novice they seem to be endowed with gifts bordering on the supernatural. Well might the Exercise ask Whither! What next? Will this age of achievement peter out?

Probably it could be asserted that there are today 400 front rank ringers capable with practice of ringing with these famous bands. Most of our big Associations and Guilds have their elite who can take their place unhesitatingly in Surprise Maximus peals or ring Stedman Cinques of the standard of the College Youths. And from this source there is annually a steady flow of young men and women approaching the peak of modern ringing. Last year from Kent came a new cult of half lead Surprise. The Central Council will present their verdict on this new experiment at Worcester, which if accepted opens up a new field, not lacking in complications to tax mental ingenuity.

But what does the vast majority of ringers think about this advanced ringing? Frankly they are baffled. The gap is so wide that many of them are embarrassed when they ring with this top 400 . They realise the limit of their ringing horizon-just Grandsire and Plain Bob and their practices are invariably with beginners learning the rudiments of hunting. Last week we told the story of the Andover District and how on their 40th anniversary they rang 35 peals. These peals were of the simplest of methods because everybody capable of ringing a peal had a chance in his own tower. To the specialists and front rank people these peals make poor reading, but to those taking part there was the thrill of triumph. Not more than three or four of the many who rang in the Andover 40th anniversary will ever reach the top 400, but they can give the answer to the question Whither goest thou? Yes, it will still be Grandsire, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford. It will be the continuation of the tradition of their forefathers and Sunday by Sunday it will be the simple bell music that villages like to hear and for which poets and others give us the title of The Ringing Isle.

St. Cuthberga's, Wimborne Minster

"W IIMBORNE Minster, formerly collegiate and a free royal chapel, is an ancient, venerable and regular fabric, built in the form of a cross and in the fashion of a cathedral." So wrote Hutchins in his survey of Dorset in the eighteenth century.
In or about A.D. 713, a nunnery was founded by St. Cuthberga, sister of Ina, King of the West Saxons. The nunnery was a Benedictine foundation and it probably stood on the site of Dean's Court, a stone's throw from the Minster. Almost certainly the Abbey Church stood on the site of the present Minster. For three hundred years the nunnery prospered but it was finally destroyed by the Danes about 1013 during one of their incursions into Wessex.

Upon the restoration of the Saxon line of Kings with Edward the Confessor in 1043 a college of secular canons was founded, consisting of a dean, four prebends, four vicars, four deacons and five singers. In 1318 Edward II declared the Minster his free chapel and as such to be exempt from all ordinary jurisdiction. The deans were invariably holders of other preferment and among them may be mentioned Cardinal Pole (1517-1537), later Archbishop of Canterbury, who became dean at the age of seventeen. The deanery was dissolved in 1547.

A ROYAL "PECULIAR"
Margaret, Countess of Richmond, mother of Henry VII, who founded Christ's and St. John's Colleges at Cambridge, was a good friend to the Minster. She founded a seminary, which a charter of Elizabeth I converted into the Grammar School. In Elizabeth's reign the Minster became a royal "Peculiar", with three priest-vicars elected by the "Governors", serving each for a week in turn. This practice continued until 1876. At the same time, 1562, the property and rites which had been possessed by the college passed into the hands of 12 "Governors" to be chosen from among the substantial men of the parish. These 12 Governors still hold the living of the Minster and have a say in the running of the Grammar School.
The Minster is the only instance of a two towered fabric in Dorset. The central tower, which does not contain any bells, and parts of the arcade are the oldest parts of the Minster, being Norman. The rest of the church. covers various types of architecture up to Perpendicular. The church is built partly of a rich brown sandstone from the Ringwood quarries, and partly of a drab coloured stone. The whole Minster was drastically restored in 1855-57 with the removal of much "old fashioned" woodwork.

[^21]sents the sun, moon and stars revolving round the earth. The clock still goes and the works, which are in the belfry, cause the "Jack" outside on the north wall of the tower to strike the quarters. The "Jack" was added in 1613 and his present dress is that of a British Grenadier of the time of Napoleon.
The bell tower was built between 1448 and 1464 in the Perpendicular style. However there were bells in the central tower long before 1464. It is known by the inscription on the tenor bell which was recast in 1629 that it was given by a Mr. William Loringe. He was one of the canons of the church about 1385. The churchwardens' accounts began as early as 1475 and from the beginning there are references concerning the bells. Two examples are:- 1530 Item. "pay'd to the bell founder for mendyng of the second bell when it was craysd" 13s. 4d.
Mem: "That the bell founder owth for 3 lbs. of metall that was in hys ladyll"
12d.
1664 "Paid in beere to the ringers for a peale to try if the tower shooke, 1 s ."
Originally the tower contained five bells and the sixth one was added in 1686. During the restoration in 1856 two more bells were added. The first peal on these eight bells was Grandsire Triples conducted by George Williams on Dec. 26th, 1902.

A NEW TEN

By 1911 the condition of the bells had become unsatisfactory, several were out of tune and the fittings decayed. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston recast the whole ring, added two new trebles and hung them in a steel and iron frame. The bells were dedicated on June 14th, 1911. The second peal in the tower was rung on the new ten on June 22nd, just 8 days after their dedication. It was a peal of Stedman Caters conducted by William Pye and was the first in the method of Caters in the Diocese of Salisbury. It was also rung in honour of the Coronation of George V. Over the years since 1911 only fifteen more peals have been rung in the tower. There were two peals of Cambridge Royal in the fifties and one of Stedman Caters on Aug. 7th, 1937, rung by the Freemasons and conducted by F. W. Perrens. Peal attempts are now restricted to one a year as the tower is in the centre of the town.

In the belfry there is a list of Ringers' Rules dated 1883 to remind one of the days when ringers really had to earn their place in a tower.

The bells, with their inscriptions, are as follows:-

Treble-F sharp 4 cwt. 3 qrs. 1 lb . Per multos annos resonet campana Liobae.

Second-E 4 cwt .3 qrs. 8 lbs . Deo gratias agimus pro Domina Margareta Scholae fundatrice et hujus Ecclesiae benefactrice.

Getting Ready for Central Council Meeting

WORCESTER'S MASTER : MOST IMPORTANT OCCASION

THE Worcestershire Association's annual general meeting was held at Worcester on Easter Monday, as has been the custom for a good many years. A proposition to hold next year's meeting at Malvern found little support.

The day began with a well-attended service at All Saints' Church conducted by the Association's chaplain, the Rev. H. L. Davies. Also present were the president of the Association, the Dean of Worcester, and the Rector of All Saints': During the service a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by L. J. Haines $1-2, \mathbf{R}$. G. Morris 3-4, D. Beacham 5-6, M. V. White 7-8.

The meeting followed in the Cathedral Chapter House under the chairmanship of the president. The officers' reports had been previously circulated in the annual report and were presumably acceptable to members as they provoked no discussion. The general secretary gave the meeting a full description of the arrangements the sub-committee was making for the forthcoming visit of the Central Council.

As no other nominations had been received, all the officers were re-elected as follows: Master, Mr W. B. Cartwright; general secretary, Mr. D. Beacham; treasurer, Mr. G. Westwood; peal secretary, Mr. G. L. Bowen; chaplain, the Rev. H. L. Davies; librarian, Mr. C. W. Cooper.

A NEW FREEMAN

The Association's highest honour, that of being a "Freemason of the Association," was conferred upon Mr. Sydney T. Holt. This was in recognition of his long years of service as an officer and as one of the Association's leading peal ringers and conductors.

During the afternoon the towers at Dodderhill, Stoke Prior, Wychbold and Claines were open. A large number of ringers, including many visitors from other Associations, went from tower to tower on a beautiful and sunny afternoon, and this same crowd later filled the Cathedral ringing chamber to capacity to ring on the heaviest bells in the Midlands.

POINTS FROM REIORTS

In his foreword the chaplain (the Rev. H. Lewis Davies) quotes from the churchwarden's accounts for Old Swinford Parish in 1604. Over 200 years later, in 1815, the churchwardens had to pay $£ 2$ to "the ringers at Old and New Churches as promised when Bonaparte was taken by the English." Perhaps Waterloo was not won on the playing fields of Eton, but in the towers of North Worcestershire.
"All this goes to show that one of the unchanging sounds of the country has been the ringing of the bells at the Parish Church. This sound is perhaps the only one that has remained virtually unchanged since the Middle Ages. The modern methods are of fairly recent invention, and the art is more sophisticated than it has ever been, yet basically the sound of the clapper striking the bow today would be recognised as such by a man from Tudor times."
The Master (Mr. W. B. Cartwright) devoted his report mainly to the forthcoming visit of the Central Council, which he regarded as the most important occasion in the life of the Association. He appealed to all members to attend and see what happened at the ringers' parliament to which they had elected representatives.

The same theme was taken by the general secretary, who wrote: "Our Association covers an area which has contrasts in both countryside, churches and bells, and the ringing tours we are planning are arranged to exploit this. Over half the rings of bells of our area will be visited during the week-end and so I urge all of you to 'get cracking' and prepare your ringing chambers in readiness."
Paid-up ringing membership was more or less static at 507 this year as against 512 in 1966. There were no changes in the Association's officers but there was one addition, with Mr. A. J. Brazier being elected their fourth representative on the Central Council.

The general treasurer (Mr. G. Westwood) reported a surplus on the year in the General Fund of $£ 331 \mathrm{~s}$. 6d. The doubling of subscriptions had given the General Fund a satisfactory working balance with the result that they carried forward $£ 8816 \mathrm{~s}$. 9 d . Income in the Belfry Repairs Fund was $£ 75$, including £43 from the P.C.C. affiliation scheme. Expenditure totalled £27, including two grants of $£ 10$. The total of the Association funds, including badge stock of $£ 50$, amounted to £463 compared with £382 a year ago.

The peal secretary (Mr. G. L. Bowen) reported 56 peals in 1967 rung in 28 towers by 149 members ( 60 resident and 89 non-resident). Eleven members rang their first peal, a much better showing than in 1966.

Wide Interest at Randwick's Dedication

The dedication service for the two main improvements in the restoration of the Parish Church of St. John the Baptist, Randwick, took place on Palm Sunday evening. These improvements are the new chapel in memory of the Rev. John Elliott, incumbent of the parish from 1819 to 1891 (a record of 72 years very rarely surpassed), and the ring of bells recently augmented from four to six. The dedication was conducted by the Archdeacon of Gloucester, the Ven. W. T. Wardle, who also gave the address on the theme "the House of God."
Although about 30 extra chairs had been procured for the occasion, some ringers had to stand for the service. When the bells had been dedicated, rounds were immediately rung by Messrs. M Simpson (tower captain), A. R. Barnett, E. J. Barnett, B. E. Pegler and John Taylor (all of Randwick). The other ringer was Mr. Trevor Pritchard, Stroud Parish Church captain, who had been instrumental in belping the augmentation scheme. After the service there was ringing till 9 p.m.
Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Taylor came down for the occasion from the Loughborough Foundry. which had cast the two bells. The Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, who bad helped the scheme with a $£ 75$ grant, were very well represented with the following present: Miss Mary Bliss (chairman), Messrs. C. Rouse (secretary), Cyril Wratten (treasurer) and William F. Scudamore (Ringing Master), who read the first lesson, Psalm 150 . The Stroud and District Branch were also represented by Mr. Roy Nicholas (chairman), Mr. Peter W. Screen (secretary), Miss Sara Cornock (secretary) and Mr. E. Cribley (Ringing Master), who made a tape recording of the entire service. Also present were many ringers from various parts, including Mr. A. L. Barry from Gloucester Cathedral, and ringers from Cheltenham, Swindon, Cirencester, Bath and elsewhere.

The second lesson was read by Mr. John Wehner, son of the late Rev. G. R. Wehner, in whose memory a new communion rail has been placed in the Elliott Chapel. His name is also inscribed on the treble bell, for which his widow, Mrs R. A. M. Wehner, was a sponsor.

Many of those who had come from afar accepted the offer of refreshments at the Vicarage, served by the Hon. Mrs. S. M. Morrison, helped by ladies of the Church Council, and slides were to be seen there showing the casting of the treble bell on December 18th, 1967. and various stages of the installation of the bells by the bellhanger, Mr. John Walker.

The Randwick six have a very remarkable history, as they are three pairs of bells from widely different ages. Nos. 3 and 4 are from the late 14 th century, from Bristol; No. 5 the late 14th century, from Bristol; No. 5 and the $6 \frac{1}{\mathrm{cwt}}$. tenor from the early 18 th century, from the Abraham Rudhall foundry at Gloucester (the date of the tenor is 1701); and the two new trebles are dated 1967, exactly 250 years after the casting of the 5th in 1717. De. spite the disparity of ages of the bells, the six make a pleasant and well-balanced ring, which, thanks to some sound-control to prevent dominance of the old bells, which are higher in the tower, ring out over the Cotswold Hills as harmoniously as any.

Over a dozen people, mostly of the younger generation, have expressed interest in learning bellringing from scratch, and have turned up so far to the regular Thursday evening practice ( 7 to 9 p.m.), so it is hoped in a few months time to have an up-and-coming call change band which may go on to learn the basic methods.
The Church Council are extremely grateful to all who have helped their appeal so that they have not had to provide any funds for the bell restoration (their funds are fully committed with the Elliott Chapel and the redecorating and rewiring of the church). Particular thanks are due to the Stonehouse factory of Hoffman (Gloucester)) Lid., nearby, who supplied free of charge the ball races for the four old bells, which were rebung on the existing steel frame which had been originally installed in 1902 by John Taylor and Co. of Loughborough. These facts are briefly recorded on a brass plaque in the ringing chamber, which gives some details of the restoration of the bells which would never have taken place without the very generous offer of a bell (the second of the six) in memory of Mr. Russell Harper (1904-1964), who was born and buried at Rodborough.

HOW TO ACHIEVE A GOOD RISE AND FALL

SOMEONE recently asked for hints on trebling the bells up and down in peal. Before trying to oblige may 1 say that it all depends on what the band wants to achieve. A style that suits a light Cornish six may cause chaos on a heavy Somerset eight, and vice versa, and a ringer who bas been able to follow the bell in tront for years may not take kindly to the suggestion that any improvement is possible.
It is best to begin from the very beginning, from the first day the recruit arrives, in fact. He car be taught how to let out and take in coils, swinging all the bells in turn (muffs on or clappers tied, please) quite safely up to the sally-beginning-to-bob beight and down again. This enables him to get the feeling of keeping a tight rope and making a long pull once the bell is swinging high enough. He can also discover the difference between pulling and checking, and any awkwardness in movement and foot position can easily be corrected at this stage. Several can practise this together, watching and correcting each other, while one has undivided attention on a raised bell.

ACCURATE STRIKING

Accurate striking in the rise and fall is controlled by the length of rope. The upper hand must keep its place on the back-rope while a coil of rope is made or let out below this by the other hand. The lower hand must take its position again immediately, touching the other hand. With a sufficient pull the combined length of ringer at full stretch and rope takes the bell to exactly the same height as at the previous stroke, before the coil requires attention The size of the coils should be small enough to prevent their swinging and hitting the ringer in the face, and large enough to avoid too big a bunch in the hand. Three or four, of equal size, is about the right number.

SETTING RIGHT AND WRONG SIDE

With this groundwork the learner should be able to raise and fall a hell alone by the time he can ring rounds. The next stage is to raise the bells in twos, the improver keeping his bell exactly above or below the learner's. at whatever speed, within reason. the latter chooses to go. The knack of getting the bell up (and down) the right stroke is hest shown by the bell itself, if the layout of the bell chamber permits. The first pull sets bell and clapper swinging together, the checking of the bell at the end of the second swing sends the clapper on to hit it. The clapper hits the bell upward all the way and finishes on the lower side when the bell is set. If the clapper hangs in the middle, the bell catches it up as it swings higher, so that it is knocking the bell down all the way, making heavy work, and finishes balanced on the upper rim. altering the centre of gravity, so that the bell is difficult to set. From below, if the sound comes when the hands are raised (while the bell is still only striking on one side), the bell is right-stroke, if it comes when the hands are down, the clapper is on the wrong side.
After this the bells can be raised in threes, 135, 246, with the least skilled in the middle and the most skilled in front. In this way everyone has a chance to learn to treble up and down-a useful accomplishment-and learns the difficulties of both ends at different speeds. There are few enough bells for everyone to hear and identify all of them and correct the spacing accordingly. (The commonest fault in raising and falling bells in peal is for each ringer to take his spacing from the bell immediately in front and to ignore the bells behind.) The treble ringer also learns to leave room for the second side to come in, and all learn to accommodate speed to the weakest member. From this to raising all the bells together is but a small step. Half the interval for twice the number of bells is the only practical difference.

A NEAT START

With a band at this stage the treble ringer has no particular problems. On light bells a neat start is to swing them altogether and then check on the third swing. so that all strike in order the first time. On heavy bells, bringing them in one at a time. 1, 12, 123. etc., is more practicable. The best general direction is to keep them all as close as nossible until the tenor is striking both sides. then to ooen uo gradually. Heary bells should let those in front get well away hefore starting or their slower swing will hring them too wide. On light bells it sounds hest if the second side of the trehle comes in hehind the tenor (this depends enfirely uoon the spacinal: the gan quickly fills up. On a heavy eight it will provady come in behind the fourith or bith and should be illted over each bell in turn as the second side sounds. The interval between tenor and treble should be taken by all the other bells, so the speed of the rise can be controlled. At the top the tenor man nods to the treble to show he is up.
With a mixed band it does not always work out like this. Someone who rings too wide is too weak for his bell and dare not drop back. Someone ringing too close probably cannot hear his bell and is ringing by ropesight. Odd-struck bells cannot be corrected until the sally can be pulled. If those who can hear keep in the right position between treble and tenor the rest will sort themselves out at the top.

THE FALL
During the fall the bells pack in closer and closer, the treble tight behind the tenor, till they sound like a stick running down the railings. As the tenor loses its second side the treble closes in to the seventh, and so on. The danger is almost at the end, when the big bells tend to get left behind. If the tenor man has to swing on the bell the clapper goes across and the bell will not chime at the bottom. If the treble ringer, noticing this, slows up too abruptly and the tenor man stops checking, or has to pull, again the clapper goes over. At the bottom it sounds best if the bells chime in rounds as low and close to each other as the tenor can be made to strike. They can either all be let go at a shout from the treble (the little ones tend to jangle as they swing to rest), or can be missed for a swing after a count of three, and caught in rounds or queens, which brings them to silence. When dropping a heavy ten it is probably best to keep them packed in close as long as possible, and then to droo the front six in peal. letting the others boom to silence among them.
All this will be long-winded old-hat to our friends in the West, but if we can persuade our friends from the East to have a go we may no longer have to explain after their visits that it was not the death knell ringing. Once the art has been mastered by the whole band a good rise and fall can be the most exhilarating and satisfactory part of a good evenine's ringing.

Surrey Member Complains of Pressure

THE recommendation of the joint sub-committee of the Surrey Association and the Guildford Diocesan Guild regarding the question of boundaries, which was accepted at the annual meeting of the Guildford Guild by an overwhelming majority, is likely to be challenged at the annual meeting of the Surrey Association at Merstham tomorrow.
The agreed motion in effect was, pending the implementation of the Archbishop of Canterbury's commission on the organisation of dioceses, the Surrey Association should hold no meetings (other than joint meetings with the Guildford Guild) in the present Diocese of Guildford except at the following towers : Ashtaad, Banstead, Dorking, Egham, Epsom. Epsom Common. Ewell, Leatherhead, Ranmore and Thames Ditton.

FREEDOM OF CHOICE

In the event of this motion not being carried, Mr. C. F. Mew has given notice to pro-pose:-
"That the members of this Association, noting pressure from within and outside the membership to contract the activities of the Association in so far as it has been suggested that all meetings should be held exclusively at towers outside the Guildford Diocese except those of Ashtead. Banstead, Dorking, Egham, Epsom, Epsom Common. Ewell, Leatherhead, Ranmore and Thames Ditton, wish to direct the committee that they should follow a policy of complete freedom of choice for any meetings within the Ancient County of Surrey as it existed at the time of the formation of the Association.
"This directive to be carried out, bearing in mind that the Association has no towers affiliated to it but is dependent on individual members' support and therefore in holding a meeting at any tower does not lay claim to any right so ring at that tower but to provide an amicable arrangement for the pleasure of the ringers attending and to foster good relations with all ringers."

IONGER CENTRAL COUNCILS

The Central Council also comes under fire. Concerning them, another notice reads:-
"That this Association views with dissatisfaction the running of the Central Council meetings in that they do not give sufficient emphasis to the management and decision-making necessary for the well-being of the Exercise and that as a first step to rectify this it is suggested that the amount of time given to actual meetings be increased, and that the business meeting should start on Bank Holiday Monday morning and extend through to Tuesday evening if necessary.'
DOUBLES AND IRREGULAR METHODS
Two other motions are also on the agenda and these would meet with general endorsement in many Associations. They read:-
"That this Association abhors the chaotic state into which Doubles methods and variations has fallen and directs that the Central Council should investigate those claimed to have been rung and substantiate the correct namings involved and ensure that acceptable compositions have been used and report on the same through the columns of 'The Ringing World'."
"That the Central Council should clarify the position as regards the acceptance of peals rung in irregular methods, especially Major methods, and as regards the use of calls and changes of method made other than at the lead-end. as all these factors have increased recently."

EPSOM, SURREY. - At St. Martin's Church. on March 29th, 1,264 Plain Bob Major: Jill Oakshott 1. J. C. Davidge 2, S. Mortimore (first of Major) 3. Adrienne Gibson 4, P. J. Munday (cond.) 5. M. ## Letters to the Editor

RIGHT TO NAME
Dear Sir,-May I thank those of your correspondents who have commented on our Doubles peal, and clear up a few points raised in their letters. Mr. David "disagrees with the further naming of methods already adequately named." Headbourne Worthy and Stoney Middleton may already be adequately defined as Reverse New Newborough and Reverse New Middleton Stoney, but it is the right of the band that first rings a method or variation in a peal to name it, and I could find no record of these particular variations having previously been rung in a peal. If the "New" methods had been rung and named as New Newborough, etc., we would have to follow that lead (there was nothing to be done about Reverse Grandsire and Antelope as they are included in the Central Council Collection and therefore officially recognised as such), and might then not have rung the peal.

Mr. Jackson points this out in his simple but excellent article, which will do a great deal to help bands otherwise restricted to Plain Bob and Grandsire. Variety creates interest, especially when the variations have a local flavour, and many of them are much more likely to be rung in the district with which they are associated. Hampshire ringers are more likely to ring Headbourne Worthy than Reverse New Newborough.
Regarding the duplication of names, I have already corrected the error in St. Cleer.

As there are methods belonging to the three other spellings, there is a case for letting St. Catharine, with a C and an a-the spelling of the Cambridge College after which it was named- stand. (PBPS will work for St. Catherine-St. Simon with Plain Bob boh and O.D.S.). I admit I overlooked the existence of Darwin and Itchen, and suggest as alternatives Wonston and Test.
St. Giles, St. Miles, Church Gresley are Winchendon, St. Nicholas and St. Remigius with Plain Bob bobs.

As long as different sets of front work are done in the lead before each bob and the same frontwork is used for the second meeting on the front, as was used for the first, the three variations can be truly incorporated, though not with "all the work." The same applies to St. Albans, St. Paul and St. Ambrose, which are St. Simon. St. Martin and St. Osmond with Reverse Canterbury bobs. - Yours faithfully, RICHARD UNDERWOOD.

A PREVIOUS PEAL

Dear Sir,-While congratulating Bob Smith and his band on ringing a peal of Little Bob Maximus " in hand" at Prestbury, Cheshire, I am sure that they would like to know that the Lincoln Diocesan Guild rang the first peal " in hand " at Cleatham on June 17th, 1959, conducted by John Freeman,-Yours, etc.,

GEORGE E. FEIRN.

"IT'S KID'S STUFF "

Dear Sir,-Quite recently I beard the remark "It's kid's stuff." It was uttered by a so-called expert (who can ring Surprise Major) when commenting on a beginner's seeming tack of understanding of the method Plain Bob Doubles. Of course it is kid's stuff to the expert, who has already got well past the first hesitant steps in change ringing. But to the learner, who previously has never been faced with such a mathematical permutation, it is perhaps the most difficult step in the new hobby that he or she will have to face. It is therefore most unfortunate when so-called experts appear to, even if they do not mean to, poke derision at the struggling learner for his or her own slowness. No wonder we lose so many promising recruits when they meet with such an attitude as shown by these so-called experts.
A similar attitude can be seen at ringing meetings. All the so-called experts are the first to seize the chance for a rest when "call changes" or plain hunt " is called for. Re-sult-the Ringing Master finds himself with too many learners in the touch, which only defeats its own purpose. You see, plain hunt is "kid's stuff "
It is fortunate that the Exercise has only a few of these so-called experts around. Perhaps these people ought to reflect back to the days when they were struggling to learn the first steps. Then, perhaps, they will no longer say "Oh, Bob Doubles is kid's stuff."-Yours faithfully,

Rotherbam.

DOUBLES PROBLEMS

Dear Sir,-In addition to the names mentioned by Mr. Jackson (page 282), Newnham, Ryton and Abberley have been used before.
Like Mr. Jackson, I have a collection of methods for which 1 can find no true extent. These fall mainly into two groups, Mr. Jackson's and another where the call has the same effect as a plain lead. There are also the methods containing "Dragon Singles," which have two consecutive rows the same. I see no possibility of any of these groups having what one might accept as valid names.
The real trouble with Doubles naming has been the concept of "method." Doubles is not composed in the same way as changes on larger numbers, but an attempt has been made to apply a similar system of nomenclature, and the result is the chaos which exists at present, with 1,000 or so names chasing about half as many structures.-Yours faithfully, Peterborough.

JOHN DAVID.

FIRST THINGS FIRST

Dear Sir,-I feel that Mr. Buswell's sweeping generalisation ("Ringing World." page 280) of "unadventurous and unimaginative quarter peal ringers" is both unjust and untrue. One wonders how many of the depressing 881 quarters of Grandsire and Plain Bob contain first performances of any description.

In the ten quarter peals rung at Minster last year there were 20 "firsts " of some description. Perhaps Mr. Buswell believes in starting his learners on Cambridge and London before Plain Bob and Grandsire.-Yours faithfully,

DAVID P. LEWORTHY.

Minster, Sheppey.

SPLICED SURPRISE MINOR

Dear Sir,-Your recent correspondents who have requested compositions of Spliced Surprise Minor may be interested in the following extent containing the "Cambridge Eight." It has the advantage of having no 65's at backstroke and may therefore appeal to those who have objections to 65 's.

Containing Bourne (B), Cambridge (C), Hull (H), Ipswich (I), King Edward (K), Norfolk $(N)$, Prumrose ( P ) and Queen Mary ( Q ).

Yours sincerely,

TIMOTHY G. PETT.

HANDBELL RINGERS ARE NOT A CHOIR

Dear Sir,-Together with other members of our Moorside Handbell Ringers, I have noticed that on occasions you have referred to a group of handbell ringers as a "choir," the last word in the third column on page 265 of the issue of April 5th being a case in point. Now while this may be a word in common usage to describe a group of ringers in the United States (where they dress their ringers in cassocks and surplices when they take part in their church services) we feel that it is not a correct term to use when describing our English bands of handbell ringers.
Our ringers prefer the use of the word "band" as being a more correct description of a group of performers on musical instruments, such as ourselves; other terms that come to mind are " company," " group," etc., whereas my dictionary describes the word "choir" as "a group of singers, especially in a church service," i.e., a group of performers who make music with their voices, and not with instruments, as do handbell ringers.
The only group of handbell ringers in this country to perform in cassocks and surplices (that I know of) are Mr. Frederick Sharpe's band, and even so, if they do not sing as part of their performances we feel it would be incorrect to describe them as a choir.-Yours sincerely,

LADY RINGERS AT WESTMINSTER

Dear Sir.-It is with pleasure I learn that other lady ringers have enjoyed the privilege of ringing at Westminster Abbey, not having any wish or desire to be the only lady to have done so.
But, one ponders, did we cherish the privilege more 20 or 40 years ago than we would have done these days?
The reason for my letter is to show that the courtesy of the Abbey ringers when possible was given to all, old or young, good or, like myself, just a humble "not so good."
Mr. R. G. Morris' letter (page 302) now also shows this.-Youts sincerely,

FLORRIE E. WYMAN.

Letters-continued

COMPOSITION OF PLAIN BOB ROYAL
Dear Sir,-It may be of interest to some readers that the composition of Plain Bob Royal by me on page 717 of "The Ringing World " of October 28th, 1966, actually consists of 5,000 and not 5,040 changes.

The other day I had occasion to call it again and I found that the turning course " $X$ " is a lead short of a full course; hence the two leads difference.

I should also like to point out again that the third "X" should be a bob at Home; there was a misprint.-Yours faithfully,

NICHOLAS W. H. SIMON.

CROYDON TENOR

Dear Sir,-The conductor of the peal of Londinium at Croydon was fully aware of the correc: note of the tenor before Mr . Stevens was born. He was not responsible for the omission of the necessary sign from the peal report. If Mr. Stevens must write to ". The Ringing World' it is a pity he cannot contribute something interesting.-Yours faithfully,

WILFRED WILLIAMS.

TWO LEWIS COCKEYS?

Dear Sir,-On page 305 you printed a letter from a Frome reader on the above subject. My notes on Frome bells indicate that the treble and second were cast by William Cockey in 1724 and the sixth in 1746. Also in the notes is the following: "A prominent ringer, Mr . J. E. Lewis Cockey, formerly of Shetfield and now of Harrow, is a descendant of William Cockey, the Frome founder." This Mr. Cockey represented Middlesex on the Central Council from 1939 to 1948 , but I do not know his present address.-Yours sincerely,

MINIMUS PEAL AT NEWTOWN

Dear Sir,-I read on page 308 (April 19th, 1968) that Geoffrey K. Dodd has rung a peal of Stedman Minimus. I am interested to know what his place notation for this Minimus principle is, as I have been unable to find an acceptable one. As Erin Minimus (34 1434 $1434 \rightarrow$ ) is possible, I wonder whether perhaps this principle has been misnamed Stedman.

I would also like to know the names of Minimus methods and principles which have been rung in peals and their place notation.Yours faithfully,

Trowbridge, Wilts.

R. H. JOHNSTON.

Dear Si ,-With regard to the peal of Stedman Minimus rung at Newtown, Hampshire, on February 22nd and conducted by Mr. Geoffrey K. Dodd, I was aware that a method similar to Stedman, called Shipway's Principle, was applicable to even numbers of bells, but not to four!
Try as I might, I have not been able to find anything even remotely like Stedman that can produce an extent of Minimus.
Could Mr. Dodd please explain just what this method is?
I feel sure that many members of the Exercise would like to know.-Yours sincerely, Aldeburgh, Suffolk.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Northern District

For the Easter Monday meeting this year the District visited Hovingham, a delightful village which lies between York and Helmsley and which is the home village of the Duchess of Kent, whose father, Sir William Worseley, is Lord Lieutenant of the North Riding of Yorkshire and also president of Yorkshire County Cricket Club and who owns Hovingham Hall. The Saxon tower of All Saints' Church houses a pleasam ring of six bells and ringing took place during the afternoon from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

A short service was conducted by the District secretary, Mr. E. Hudson, in the absence of the Vicar, and was well attended, with hearty singing.

Cups of tea were provided by the local band and helpers in the Village Hall, after which a short business meeting was held, presided over by Mr. T. Cox, District vice-president. The company stood in silence to the memory of Mr. W. H. Johnson and Mr. J. H. Parrish, who both died suddenly in February. The vote of thanks was proposed by the Association president, Mr. V. Bottomley, who thanked Mr. F . Bishop for all the arrangements. Ringing was then resumed until 8 p.m. under the guidance of Mr. F. Hodgson (Ringing Master). Methods rung ranged from Plain Bob to London Surprise Minor and various Doubles methods. Ringers were from the other three Districts and visitors were welcomed from Lancashire and County Durham.
The next meeting is arranged to be held at Northallerton and Kirby Wiske. E.W. M.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Marlborough Branch

In lovely weather the Marlborough Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild of Ringers held its April meeting on the 20th at the towers of Shalbourne and Great Bedwyn. There was a fair average attendance of members, including a high proportion of young people, which is always a pleasant feature of these monthly meetings. Towers represented included Aldbourne, Chisledon, Marlborough, St. Katherine's (Savernake) and the home towers, with unattached members in addition.
Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. on the somewhat tricky five at St. Michael and All Angels*, Shalbourne, under the direction of Mr. F. Read (Ringing Master) and continued until 4.15 p.m., when a move was made to Great Bedwyn for tea. This was prepared and served in the Village Hall by Mrs. Tilley, Mrs. Hoare and Mrs. Wells and was greatly enjoyed. Mr. G. Newman (chairman of the Branch) thanked the Rev. A. Bromham and the Rev. W. G. Currie for permission to use the bells, and also all those who had contributed to the day's events.

The Guild service was then held in St. Mary's. Great Bedwyn, with the Vicar (the Rev. W. G. Currie) officiating, and Mr. A. Keen as organist. The lesson was read by the Rev. R. Keeley (Branch representative). At 6 p.m. the heavy six at St. Mary's were brought into use and rung for the rest of the evening. This majestic ring with its magnificent tenor ( 28 cwt., the heaviest in the Branch) calls for competent handling, and in the hands of the more experienced are a delight to hear. Although their weight proved a bit of a problem for the younger members, full use was

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GULLD
The Mansfield District met at Warsop on March 23rd as the first venue for 1968 . A popular and well-attended meeting, it shed light on progress made during the previous twelve months: first, in the number of young ringers present-a good 50 per cent. of the attendance and secondly, in the methods rung, by far the greatest amount of Surprise Minor rung at a Mansfield District meeting.
The Rev. David Leaming. Rector of Warsop, officiated at the service, which was followed by an excellent buffet tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Rooke, enjoyed by more than 50 members and friends.

During the business meeting Ian Scothern and Trevor Dorn, of Kirkby-in-Ashfield, and Julian Priest, of Warsop, were elected Guild members. It was agreed, with the co-operation of the East Derbys and West Notts Association, to make the next meeting, at Blackwell, in Derbyshire, a joint meeting.
Hearty votes of thanks were extended to the Rector and Mr, and Mrs. Rooke. ringing continuing until 9 p.m.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

An excellent opportunity for practice was afforded by the meeting of the St. Martin's Guild, held at Shirley on April 6th, the attendance being smaller than usual.

The Master referred to the passing of Sidney George Chaplin, which occurred on March 23rd, and the members observed a moment's silence to his memory.
New resident members elected included Miss Catherine Ticquet, of Coleshill, the Misses Helen and Patricia Lattimer and Messrs. Ian Sawdon and Simon Barratt, all of Knowle. The tower elections, as life members, of Miss Irene Ellsmore and Geoffrey T. Horritt, of Lydney, were duly ratified.

The R.C. Cathedral of St. Chad was chosen as the place of the next meeting, which should be held on July 6th.
It was decided to hold a striking competition combined with the October quarterly meeting, and final arrangements for this will be made at the July meeting.
A variety of methods for learners and more advanced ringers was rung during the afternoon, and a vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar of Shirley for the use of the bells.

DRAYTON TENOR REDEDICATED

The pre-Reformation tenor at the Church of St. Margaret. Drayton, Norfolk, which was recently recast by the Whitechapel Bell Foundry. was rededicated at Sung Evensong on Easter Day by Canon A. G. G. Thurlow, M.A. president of the Central Council, who preached a splendid sermon about the tenor being the keynote of a ring as Easter is the keynote of life. The service was conducted by the Rev. Humphrey Squire, who announced that the bell fund was now closed, $£ 1,865$ having been raised in 20 months, and that the parish is proud of its ring of six new bells.
The Rector thanked Messis. Mears and Stainbank for their kind co-operation over the whole project, and Trevor Bailey and Richard Hunt, who had dropped the old tenor and rehung the new in their own time and without reward. He also thanked everyone who had contributed, whether in cash or kind, large or small, without whose help this great effort would not have been possible. The new tenor, which weighs 7 cwt .3 gr .27 lb . in B. fits in beautifully, as the visiting ringers who at$\begin{array}{ll}\text { beautifully, as the visiting ringers who at- } \\ \text { tended the service soon found out. } & \text { H.E.S. }\end{array}$

The Glorious Ninth of March

WHEN the telephone rang at 1.10 p.m. on March 9th, and the secretary's wife learned of the success of the peal at Hackney, the result of some months' careful preparation for an ambitious venture by the Cumberlands began to come to fruition. The idea, which orginated in discussion between the Master and secretary after dinner-in fact in the early hours of the morning - some nine months previously, was to attempt a number of peals of nine-spliced using A. J. Pitman's " all the work" composition, all on the same day with different bands Initially it was thought that five such bands could be arranged, but more detanled study elicited six, and in the event it was found that by developing a seventh conduotor yet ancther band could be arranged. Even so, it was clear that this did not use all the ringers of the Society potentially capable of ringing this composition, but organisationally it would have been impossible to get more together for practice peals within a reasonable time period.

So the preparations began in July, 1967, and a provisional date was arranged for the final event, this being altered subsequently, because of matrimonial proceedings of great importance. Then followed a programme in which as many of the bands as possible were taken through the necessary Pitman spliced series. During this time the members of the bands were told of the plan and the date, and, to create the surprise element, were asked not to talk of the event.
The towers were arranged well in advance, as near to London as possible, as it was planned we would all meet for a social gathering after the peals. Although arranged well ahead, this did not prevent a last-minute problem when it was discovered that one tower was double-booked for a meeting as well as a peal attempt, and we are very gratefull for being allowed to go to Hertford at short notice.

AN UNDERGROUND MEETING

The week before the peals was spent in making numerous telephone calls to confirm the final arrangements. Everyone arrived at the right place at the right time-in fact perhaps it was taken to extremes by the Woodford band, where five of them, starting from different stations, found themselves in the same coach of an Underground train!
And so we met for the peals. The tension in each of the towers was quite noticeable, and this mounted throughout the peals, where each band was determined not to be the one to lose the peal-or perhaps it was the thought that there was a reserve tower for the afternoon if the peal in the morning was not successful.

Meanwhile, at the "nerve centre" at the secretary's home, excitement and bopes mounted as time went on and there were no telephone calls reporting failures. However, at $12.5 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. the phone rang-it was too early for a success, but fortunately it turned out to be a wrong number. Then at 1.10 p.m., as mentioned earlier, came the first success, that of the Essex band at Hackney. At 1.35 p.m. the successful conclusion of the second peal, this time at Stamford Hill, was reported, and five minutes later came another from Woodford. A 100 per cent. record so far and as the minutes ticked by it began to look more and more as though this record might be maintained. At 1.45 p.m. the fourth, from Gravesend. and then a gap to 2.10 p.m. for the Master's at Stanford-le-Hope. Finally at 2.35 p.m. the result of the last of the morning attempts were reported. All six successful!

PEALS LOST
The ringers in these six peals then gathered in the early hours in glorious sunshine at Shoreditch Church Hall, where the light refreshments provided were most welcome. While they discussed the morning peals and exchanged congratulations, the seventh attempt, arranged for the afternoon because an internotional crisis in the honey industry prevented one of the ringers participating in a morning attempt, was starting. It was a tremendous disappointment to learn in the early evening that the peal had been lost after 13 hours when the local captain stopped the attempt because of a most unfortunate misunderstanding. Disappointment it may have been, but not a failure, as the ringing had been excellent.

By the time the ringers in this peal arrived at Shoreditch, an excellent wine and cheese party, mos: ably arranged by Olive Barnett and her helpers, had been prepared. This was a most original type of social gathering for the Society, and was greatly enjoyed by everyone. We are most grateful to Olive and all who assisted in the preparations, and a beautiful spray of flowers was presented to Olive and to the wives of the Master and secretary for their part in the proceedings. The Master thanked everyone for their enthusiasm in taking part in this "completely spontaneous and unrehearsed venture."
As a postscript, this report was delayed to cover another attempt for the peal by the seventh band, arranged for March 31st. Once again, however, there was a disappointment for the band when the tenor rope broke eight leads from the end, after 5,216 changes had been rung. The band for this attempt stood as follows: Walter H. Dobbie treble, Sheila M. Dobbie 2, Alison M. Mann 3, Doris E. Colgate 4, Stanley G. Ponting 5, Tom Page 6, C. Martin Press 7, Stanley Jenner (cond.) tenor.

GULLD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Branch Meeting at Paignton
The Mid-Devon Branch of the Guild neld a quarterly meeting at Paignton on April 20th, when there was a moderate attendance.
The ringing throughout the afternoon, which was under the supervision of Mr. K. E. Dursdon, the Ringing Master, consisted of Grandsire, Stedman and Oxford Bob Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major.
The service which followed was conducted by the Rev. Preb. J. W. G. Molland, Vicar of Paignton, who heartily welcomed the vistors. After tea in the Methodist Schoolroom the usual business meeting followed with Mr. W. Simmonds in the chair, in the absence of the Rev. Fr. Paulinus Angold, who was away from home. Two other apologies for absence were received.
The minutes of the last quarterly meeting were read and confirmed, whilst two new members from Paignton and one from lpplepen were elected. A long discussion arose as to what form future meetings should take, but it was eventually decided that the next quarterly meeting should be held at Buckfast Abbey on September 14 th , and it was left to the Branch secretary to look into the suggestion of Saturday practices.
Prior to the commencement of the business, hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for taking the service, to the organist for his assistance, and to Mr. John Kelly and the ladies for the tea arrangements.

LLANDAFF CATHEDRAL DUTING

Fortified by a successful peal of Royal the night before by a Sunday service band, Llandaff ringers began the annual outing, held this year on Easter Tuesday, in good heart. Before we could reach the first tower, however, we stopped to pick up that "grandfather of Welsh ringing," Jack Pryor, and his wife, who, I should hasten to add, is as yet far from being grandmotherly! Amongst other ringers to board the coach at this point was John Parsons, late of Bristol University, and quite a well-known figure in a number of circles. Those who knew him well were glad to note for once the absence of his camera, which has embarrassed them on too many ocasions. The party now numbered 25 , so it was hoped to enjoy a day to satisfy all tastes.
The first tower, Lydney, was reached in good time, and after we had wandered round the church the Vicar led us to the bells, where we enjoyed some reasonable ringing on what is quite an interesting ring. Modern tuning tends to standardise bells and the slightly haphazard notes here gave individuality and charm to the bells.

UNTYPICAL GLOUCESTERSHIRE

SCENERY

We had looked forward to Mitcheldean and we were not disappointed after a rather tortuous journey through some untypical Gloucestershire scenery-untypical that is. in its lack of interest. The bells are a renovated Rudhall ring, and many thought them the best of the day. The ringing lived up to the bells and some good touches were rung, although nothing very ambitious was attempted.
An abstemious lunch was eaten at Hereford and it was a pity we had too little time to visit the Cathedral before ringing on the rather average eight at Lugwardine. Luckily we had plenty of time to look round the exceedingly interesting Leominster Priory. It must be difficult to find such a variety of styles of architecture in any other church; but of course Leominster is literally "two churches in one." a parish church being joined to the Norman Priory in the 13 th century. Of the many interesting objects within the church perhaps the most striking is a relic of "Merrie England "-a ducking stool. The bells live up to the majesty of the Priory and we were able to ring some presentable Stedman and Erin Caters.

In now pleasant weather we journeyed on to Monmouth to again arrive punctually to ring on the badly-going eight-it is difficult to believe that the bells were recently rehung for they are not at all easy. In spite of this we managed to ring quite well-touches of Double Norwich, Yorkshire and Cambridge proving that good ringing is not impossible on the ring. Afterwards some stayed on to belp at the local practice night, although it meant forgoing for a time some refreshment in the nearby hostelry.
A most entertaining evening was enjoyed in the Griffin. The ancient house is decorated with a number of curiasities from the Far East, arousing much interest and speculation as to their origin.

Although the evening was a purposefully long one, all arrived back at the end of the day in a comparatively alert state after a very successful day's outing.

BUILDING UP DOUBLES VARIATIONS

Part 8

The final peak of ringing is generally accepted as the acquisition of the mantle of conductor and composer. The field of Doubles ringing otters an introduction for the latter, and one can rise from the elementary to a complexity rarely encountered on higher numbers of bells.
We are concerned now solely with Index Rows (Lead Ends), and we must know the first Index Row and the row we would obtain if a call were made here. For example :-

Old Doubles 13524 S13245
We know that to obtain 120 changes we call three Singles when our observation bell is making seconds. We can write out this extent using our Index Rows as a form of shorthand and utilising our system of Transposition described in the previous article. For example:

| Plain Course 12345 | Single 12345 |
| 13524 | s 13245 |
| Using number | Using number |
| five as | two as |
| observation 12345 | observation 12345 |
|  |  |
| 13524 $\times 15324$ | 13524 |
| 13452 | 14253 |
| 14235 | s 12453 |
| 12543 | 14325 |
| ¢ 15243 | Now you complete it! |
| 13425 |  |
| 14532 |  |
| s 15432 |  |
| 14253 |  |
| 12345 |  |

Now try the same exercise with (a) Plain Bob, (b) Southrepps, (c) St. Columb.
With Seighford Doubles we encounter complications. The Index Rows are 13524 B13542. If you examine the call in Seighford, given in Table 1, you will see that the bell making seconds (number three bell) and the bell making fifths (number two bell) both then start on the work of number two and number five respectively in a plain course. However, the bell making long thirds (number five bell) and the hell making fourths (number four bell) DO NOT start on the work of number three bell or number four bell in a plain course. Here the long thirds bell goes to the front, and the bell making fourths goes to the back. Hence if there is no call at the next lead, the Index Row is NOT given by:-

\frac{12345}{\mathrm{~B} 13542} \mathrm{x} 15234 \mathrm{x} \mathrm{x}

Since number five bell and number four bell have crossed over their work, the Index Row is given by:-

\frac{12345}{B 13542}

i.e., number five bell acts as fourths place beili, and number four bell acts as thirds place bell after this call. Using this information you should now be able to write out a 120 of the method and also prove why number two cannot be utilised as observation bell.
In April Day Doubles the complication is increased, since after the Index Row S13524, number five bell acts as fourths place bell, number two as fifths place bell and number four as thirds place bell! In Kennington and May Day Doubles the complication is similar to that encountered in Seighford Doubles.
As an exercise you can prove that number three bell can be called observation in all six variations. Then verify that number two bell cannot be called observation in Seighford, April Day and May Day Doubles. Now you can check which of these variations can be called B-P-B-P-B-P, and these 60 changes will give your band some variety on practice night, especially if you apply it to any four of your variations (with or without warning) and allow your band to ring a mixed 240. Finally I have left two columns incomplete in Table 2. You can now attempt to check on the possible observation bells in these methods.

Part 9

What next? By now you will be performing the usual juggling acts of the experienced tower captain, and your ideas will be better than mine. You will have learnt more than I have described in these articles; for example, where to make the calls in April Day, Kennington and May Day Doubles. I have suggested the introduction of St. Osmund Doubles and St. Remigius Doubles, these being variations of the preceding four. Other possibilities are:-
(a) Simple splicing.-Try ringing Southrepps Doubles, except that the number five bell rings Plain Bob in 3.4. with all the other bells.

Try St. Simon's Doubles with the number five bell ringing St . Osmund for its front work.
Clearly there are many possibilities. You try some!
(b) New variations.-Use a Grandsire Extreme for a Bob. Use an Antelope Single for single. Discover the names of these 16 new variations.
(c) More calls.-Use two calls with the plain course, e.g., Plain Bob with a Grandsire Bob and an Antelope Single. Call B-S-B-P three times. This is Snodsbury Doubles.
(d) New meihods.-Mr. C. A. Lewis has applied some of our calls to other plann courses, e.g., New Bob Doubles, Huntspill Doubles. See page 602, issue No. 2940.
If you reach this point, or intend to make the effort. you will need a copy of that excellent "Doubles Collection", formulated by Messrs. Dodd and Jones. This is to be found in the following issues of "The Ringing World' :-
1964 Issues No. 2779, 2780, 2781, 2782, 2784, 2788.

Here you will find Folke Doubles, Grandsire Extremes, Antelope Singles and many others. Reference should also be made to 1967 Issues No 2916, 2925, 2940 and 2943. In addition, that excellent collection of 41 touches of Grandsire Doubles in Issue No. 2911 is a must. Copies of all these Issues can be purchased from the Editor, and this should be done before they become unobtainable.
In conclusion, may I point out that I can claim no credit for the work entailed here. Messrs. Dodd and Jones have performed the spade-work and more recent research by Messrs Dawson and Lewis has also been utilised. However, if additional copies of my tables would be of use to anyone, a s.a.e. sent to 13, Testbourne Road. Totton, Hants, will be readily returned bearing such tables. I would in return make one final plea: please introduce variety and interest to your young ringers-they are the future strength of your band.

(Concluded)

BELFRY

Travellers along the A. 31 to the South and West may care to note the changes of ringing times, at Romsey Abbey on Sundays-see last week's display notice.
Quarter peals are being published in "The Sentinel " of the Ely Diocese at a charge of 2 s . each. This cost will just about pay the cost of production.
"The Sentinel," the Ely Diocesan Association's magazine, calls attention to the number of bells in a scrapmetal merchant's yard at King's Lynn, which formerly hung in the church tower at Barton Bendish, Norfolk.

OBITUARY

REV. F. S. H. MARLE

The death occurred suddenly whilst living in retirement at St. Mary Bourne, Hampshire, of the Rev. F. S. H. Marle, Rector of Deane, Hampshire, until his retirement a few years ago and a past District secretary of the Andover District for 16 years.
It was during his curacy at Newtown that he first took an active part in ringing and during this time he founded the Newtown band of handbell ringers and unsuccessfully tried to augment the tower ring of four to five, but was advised by a well-known Newbury ringer that this was not possible so abandoned the project-a great pity, as the bells would have made a splendid ring of five.
He was elected District secretary in 1931 and carried on until 1947, when Mr. J. Hill. of Andover, continued in his place and he acted as audito: until just before his death.
His first peal, after several attempts, was at Burghclere in September, 1937-Grandsire Doubles. The peal was conducted by Henry Lawrenson, who was ringing his first as conductor. Mr. Marle rang in the first peal on the new six at Goodworth Clatford, augmented from three in December, 1937. The peal was Bob Minor, conducted by Harry Balaam, in March, 1938, and his final pealfour methods of Minor-was on his own bells at Deane in company with the young team from Basingstoke a year later, in March, 1939, the conductor, Donald Nash, being one of that young band who did not return from the war
The writer knew him well as a real Christian gentleman and although he moved from the Andover District he retained his interest in us to the last. May he rest in peace. E. D.

MR. S. G. CHAPLIN

The sad news of the death of Mr. Sidney George Chaplin, which happened on March 23 rd , was received by his colleagues at St. Martin's with great regret.
Born at Glascote, near Tamworth, 74 years ago, George's early ringing days were spent at Tamworth, but about 30 years ago he went to Birmingham to work and immediately joined the Cathedral and St. Martin's bands for Sunday ringing.
At the funeral service at Robin Hood Cemetery, Hall Green, the St. Martin's Guild were represented by Messrs. E. T. Lloyd and G. E. Fearn.

A peal of Stedman Cinques was rung at St. Martin's on April 2nd with the bells halfmuffled as a tribute of respect to his memory.

MR. J. P. MORRISS
On April 10th Swineshead, Lincolnshire, band lost a fatthful member in the sudden death of John Pearson (Jack) Morriss. He was a regular Sunday service ringes at Swineshead and Bicker. He was Ringing Master of the Eastern Branch of the Lincoln Guild and a sidesman at Swineshead Church.
After the funeral the local band rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples at Swineshead and Bicker, the bells being half-muffled.
CLENCHWARTON, NORFDLK.-On Good Friday. 1.260 Plain Bob Doubles: D. Brtion 1. V. Bowea 2, W. Spiller 3. G. Rich 4, E. H. Matin (cond.) S. Ruag half-muftied for service.

GOSSIP

The ringer of the 5th in the peal at Staines on February 24th was Jeffrey M. Britchford, and not as published.

Warfield, Berkshire, bells will shortly be augmented to a ring of ten by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. It is hoped that the dedication will be on October 12th.
Mr. C. J. Bennett, of Bilston, Stafis, writes pointing out that in the list for the leading towers in the county list of quarter peals in 1967 (" Ringing World," April 12th, page 280), the leading towers for Stafiordshire should read Bilston and Walsall, and not Lincols and Walsall, as published.

MEMBERSHIP OF HOME TOWER
Editor Fred E Dukes gives a ruling in the spring issue of the "Irish Bell News" of the following point:-
" A member of the Irish Association protested some time ago about the fact that a certain member of the 'home 'town had been referred to as a member of the 'home' tower. He sald that because that person was a member of another Society within the jurisdiction of the Association he could not become a member of the home tower.
" A ridiculous situation was therefore prevalent. whereby the person concerned was a regular worshipper before 'emigrating' and during holidays in the 'home' church. yet was not allowed to become a member of the resident bellringing team and was referred to as a visitor.
" As far as the Irish Association of Change Ringers is concerned, there is no rule forbidding, nor is there any objection by the Association as a body, any ringer being a member of more than one Sociely. Further, the Association has no right to say to any bellringer: - You cannot be a member of more than one Society.' "Mr. Duke heads his article "False Course."

LIMERICK'S 800th ANNIVERSARY

Preliminary information of a ringers' festival week-end on September 7th and 8th 10 commemorate the gouth anniversary of the foundation of St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick, is announced by the St. Mary's Cathedral Society of Change Ringers. It is hoped that bellingers and friends from every tower in Ireland and many cross-Channel ringing friends will be present.
The Saturday programme includes ringing at the Cathedral from $10 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. to $3 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. (or later by arrangement), a garden party at the Deanery in the afternoon, including tea and a social evening (with supper) at Villiers' Secondary School.
On Sunday morning there will be ringing preceding the service of Morning Prayer at 10.40. In the afternoon the bells will be available from 2 to 4.40 , when a ringers' festival service of thanksgiving for the 800th anniversary of the foundation will be beld. The congregation and ringers are afterwards invited to tea.

The bells of the Church of Mount St. Alphonsus (10) will also be available on both days.

RECORD CENTRE FOR ELY DIOCESE

According to "The Sentinel," the newsletter of the Ely Diocesan Association, the Dean and Chapter of Ely Cathedral have allowed the Association the use of the Goldsmith's Tower, above the Sacrist's Gate, for use as a muniment room in which to keep records. The room has light and heat, a large table, and, filling practically one side, a magnificent range of cupboards and shelves, ideal for accommodating records, etc. The chamber has a number of seats and has been completely redecorated. The Association will share it with unother Cathedral organisation.
Comments "The Sentinel": "The establishment of the Centre at Ely-a natural home -though it may appear insignificant. will do much to strengthen and burnish the link between the Association and the church authority."

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE MR. PETER CROOK
During the Easter Day service at Holy Trinity Church. Bolton, the presentation was made of a lectern Bible in memory of Mr. Peter Crook, who was a ringer for over 60 years, Bolton Branch secretary for 35 years until' his death in January. 1966, and a member of the Central Council on two occasions.
The Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Sykes) called all memhers of the Lancashire Association present to the chancel while he dedicated the Bible ind presented Mr. Tyson, of Holy Trinty Church ringers, with a tower record book.

After the service a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung by some of Peter's closest friends, a litting memorial to him as it was his favourite method.

A HUNTS AUGMENTATION

The five bells at Houghton, Hunts, have been augmented to six as a memorial to the late Rev J. D. Ward, who was for 30 years Rector of the parish.
Under the guidance of the new incumbent the P.C.C. set about the task of raising sufficient money for the bells to be rehung. The estimated cost of providing the new treble bell and the complete dismantling and rehanging of the bells, together with bird proofing of the tower and other repairs, was a little ove: $£ 3,000$. Including the memorial fund for the treble, some $£ 2,000$ has been raised.
The contract for work on the bells was given to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. The bells are provided with new fittings and are hung on ball bearings. The new frame is of iron and has been designed to house the six bells, with two hanging above four.
Inscriptions are: Treble, I will live for Thee; 2, VIRG BEGO EGAHC; 3, Man taketh paine but God giveth gnyne (gain), 1626; 4, Hee that will be meri let him be meri in the Lord, 1626; 5, Non Clamor Sed Amor Cantat in Avre Dei, 1626; 6, CYM CANO BVSTA MORI CYM PVLPITA VIVERE DISCE, 1626.

RINGING TOWERS IN IRELAND, 1968

According to the "Irish Bell News" four parties will visit Ireland this year.

Mr. C. C. Clarke will bring a party to tour both the North and South from July 27th to August 3rd.

Mr. R. B Smith's party will take it easy in the South from August 3rd to August 10th.
Mr. G. N. Hart's party will visit both Northern Ireland and the Republic from August 31st to September 13th.

Mr. F. L. Harris and his band are due for a peal attempt at St. Patrick's Cathedral, ${ }^{\text {a }}$ Dubuin.

YOUNG RINGERS OF DEWSBURY

On Easter Day the local band of All Saints'. Dewsbury, rang a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major. This is believed to be the first on the bells since 1929. The peal, which was the first for five of the band, was conducted by Vernon Bottomley and the band included 00 -year-old Ruth Richardson " inside,"
A peal in honour of this young lady's birthday was rung by the local band on Easter Tuesday. The second peal included 12 -yearold Avis Thompson, who would have been in the first peal but there are not sufficient bells at Dewsbury! All rang very well and there were surprisingly few blisters among thase who rang their first two peals in three days.

NORTH HANTS RINGERS VISIT CANTERBURY

Geoff Dodds' trips to a Cathedral city with a 12 -bell tower are now becoming a regular feature for ringers from around Newbury; already we have visited Taunton, St. Albans and Worcester, and the party on April 21st voted this to be one of the best yet.
An early start enabled us tl be at Rochester at 9 a.m., and an hour's ringing on the glorious ten in company with the local ringers ranged up to Cambridge Surprise Royal Further ringing followed at Chatham with the same band for another service, and then a special ring arranged at short notice for our benefit by the local captain at Frindsbury.
A quick ring at Hernhill before lunch and then the highlight of the day, when we were allowed to join with the local band in ringing Grandsıre and Stedman Cinques at Canterbury Cathedral
During the ringing on St. Alphege's six in Canterbury, non-ringing members of the party had the opportunity of seeing the Archbishop in his robes being photographed by sightseersa great thrill for them,
The six at Thanington Without proved to be the front six of an eight, nevertheless we enjoyed our ringing here, as we did on the fine six at St. Dunstan's, where ringing for Evensong had been put forward for our benefit.
We joined the local band at Sturry for ringing for Evensong before dashing to the last tower to ring the congregation out of church, this being on the famous ring at Leeds, where Grandsire Caters and Treble Ten ended a most enjoyable day. Ringing here enabled two of the party to ring at all the Leeds towers.
Leeds lowers.
A good low
Certainly a day to remember.
G. D.

ELY DISTRICT STRIKING CONTEST

The Ely District's fourth striking competition. held on April 6ith at Chatteris, was won by Fordham "A" with 60 faults. Others were, Histon (781), Chatteris (1111 ), Fordham "B" (1161). The judges were Messrs. W. W. Cousins and W J. Ridgeman.

IMPORTANT  NOTICE

The Committee regrets that owing to the illness of Mr. J. E. Jeater there has been a delay in dealing with accounts of "The Ringing World" and also acknowledgment of subscriptions.
We are also sorry to state that Mr. Jeater's health does not permit him to continue as accountant.

The books are being sent to Guildford. All remittances and enquiries should be addressed to Mr. C. W. Lucas, The Ringing World, c/o Seven Corners Press Ltd., Onslow Street, Guildford.

Chas. F. Browne, Paperhanger, Bolingbroke Row, Walworth Road

By ANTHONY CLAYTON

Compositions Keviewed by Christopker Mew SOME time ago a friend told me that he had come across a manuscript book on ringing whilst working in Dulwich Central Library in Lordship Lane, London. A visit to the library was at first disappointing but finally the book turned up references under "Ringing in South London in the Early Nineteenth Century" by C. F. Browne.
The book itself is quite small, measuring eight inches by four inches, and is bound in red leather with a clasp to keep it shut. It is very battered, but on what remains of the spine are the dates 1828-1847. Inside the book and on the first page is the title of this article. The book is Charles Browne's peal and composition book, writien in the most beautiful copperplate hand. Each peal occupies a page and each peal has a border in the style of a classical peal board. Charles Browne seems to have had an inexhaustible supply of designs typical of the period and quite untainted by the growing Gothic Revival. There are 54 peals recorded.
By far the majority of the peals are Grandsire Triples. This is only to be expected at a period when London ringing was at a very low ebb. The first peal in the book is obviously Charles Browne's first, in which be rang the treble to a peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Peter's Church, Walworth, on May 22 nd, 1828 , in 2 hours and 56 minutes. The slower speed for peals compared with today is very noticeable, indeed he adds the note "in the short time of 2 hours 40 minutes " to a peal rung on the old eight of St. Giles', Camberwell, before that church was destroyed by fire. The slower speed is perhaps partly explained by the "go" of the bells and their hanging, but more to the influence of the ringing fashion of the day.
Various peals of Grandsire follow, the towers being Walworth, Camberwell (St. Giles', on the old eight) and St. George's, Southwark. In 1829 he rang his first peal of Major, Bob Major, at Lambeth, in 3 hours and four minutes. By now Charles had progressed from the treble to an inside bell. He had started to climb the socal ladder and the next twelve peals are all for the St. James' Society, bringing us to the year 1830 .

A COUNTRY TRIP

One of these was rung at St. Stephen's, Coleman Street, in the City, and, besides towers mentioned before, Mitcham (Surrey) and Christ Church, Blackfriars Road, appear. In 1830 the St. James' Society seems to have gone for a country trip, Jinging the first peal on the bells at Staines Parish Church and a peal recorded as being rung at "St. George's Church, Windsor," in 2 hours and 57 minutes. This last peal has baffled me as there is no such record in the Curfew Tower at Windsor, and the time, 2 hours and 57 minutes, makes it quite impossible. Perhaps it was at Windsor Parish Church? The St. James' Society records could possibly clear this up. Charles Browne seems to have been confused by this trip, because both January 4th and 5th, 1830. are called Monday! The year before, he had Jung two peals in a day on October 12th, 1829. All these peals are of Grandsire Triples, one being labelled "Most excellent"! By now it scems that Charles was itching to do some conducting and he broke away from the St. James' Society never to return. He turned to calling handbell peals in public houses, mostly at the Rising Sun, Walworth. Very soon the Rising Sun echoed to the sound of Charles conducting 10,836 Grandsire Caters in 6 hours and 19 minutes, followed by 5,280 Grandsire Cinques. All these were called for the Newington Youths. On two occasions Charles and two fellow Newington Youths visited the Plough in Lordship Lane to ring Grandsire Cinques with three members of the Dulwich Union, Charles conducting these peals. Charles conducted peals at Holy Trinity, Newington (Southwark), Putney the ("First Peal on the New Bells "-unknown previous to the discovery of this book) and St. George's. Camberwell. He pealed at Lewisham and Woolwich and was very careful to label the peals he called "true and correct." In 1840 he was still ringing Grandsire Triples, this time at St. Clement Danes'

In 1844 he was persuaded to go to Rolvenden, Kent, with the College Youths. The presence of George Lansdell in the band explains the peal, as he is known to have come from Rolvenden. In 1845 he rang a peal at Walworth headed "Camberwell Ringers." Thi, was rung in February and was obviously a preliminary get-together for the band to ring on the new 10 at St. Giles', Camberwell, for in March the same band, with two additions, rang a peal of Grandsire Caters headed "" The Ringers appointed to the Church at St. Giles." Later on this band called itself the "Surrey Youths." This clears up a point in Morris's "History and Art of Change Ringing," where a guess is made as to the origin of this Company.

WITH COLLEGE YOUTHS

The new band opened up new fields for Charles Browne and he rang four peals of Kent and one of Stedman Caters and no peals of Grandsire! Then followed a peal of Kent Royal at Fulham and an interesting peal with the College Youths at Walworth. Let Charles speak for himself on this latter:-

On Wednesday, March 1st, 1848, the understated members of the above Society ascended the steeple of St. Peter's, Walworth, to ring the Celebrated Production of Mr. Saml. Austin of Kent Treble Bob of changes, but owing to the insufficiency of light after ringing 4 hours, 13 minutes they were compelled to sharten the number of changes to 7,040 , making a true and complete Peal of that Number of changes."

These last two peals, both a year outside the date on the spine of the book, are the last recorded. It would be fascinating to know if there was a further volume. Many of Charles Browne's fellow ringers will be familiar names to those who know something of 19th century ringing in London. Many are still to be seen on peal boards in different churches. Some of these boards are of great merit and real efforts should be made to preserve them. St. Peter's, Walworth, contains many fine boards in various states of decay.

THE COMPOSITIONS

In the middle of Charles Browne's book are pages devoted to composition, which Mr. Christopher Mew has kindly reviewed for me.
The compositions contained in the manuscript were mainly of such a nature that they would be considered of little value today. The interest lies therefore in the different approach of the composers to their subjects and in one or two oddities which appear. The compositions included one or two shorter touches but were in the main full peals and were set out in easily understandable forms, many being written out in full.

Since the larger part of the collection features Grandsire as a method, the following points arise in respect of those compositions for this method. Holt's Original is well in evidence together with the equally famous Tenpart ; with these must be coupled Reeves' variation of the ten-part and there also appear two similar variations by W. Shipway, both with the 7th observation and employing Holt's bob-singles.
Next in popularity were peals on the threelead plan including Taylor's Six-part, similar peals by one E. Wheeler, and another which is not attributed to anyone, and a five-part peal with the 6th observation by $\mathbf{w}$. Cooper, of Birmingham. One rather unorthodox composition appears in the shape of a five-part peal by W. Shipway which incorporates 21 ordinary bobs plus one bob made in 5ths place in each part and no singles. Also included are a number of peals of Grandsire Major which was quite popular at the time; these range from 5,040 to 8,000 changes, being of little interest. They include Shipway's fivepart and one simple peal by $W$. Eversfield which is shown for those who would ring the method.

Grandsire Caters is represented by some of the most unmusical compositions possible for what can be a beautiful method; most of these are spoilt by virtue of the composer's desire to make one of the lower bells observation. For example, who today would consider ringing such a length as 11,340 with a part-end of 148326597 merely so that the peal could be readily called from the 6th!! For interest sake is appended the calling of a 5,058 by an unknown author which gives the part-ends as the lead-ends of the plain course. To round off, there were two compositions of Grandsire Royal, one of which had subsequently been endorsed "false."

NEW SINGLES FOR STEDMAN
Still keeping on odd numbers, there appeared only one composition of Stedman, Thurstans four-part of Triples. There were, however, two examples written out of peculiar singles named "Tebbs' Single" and "Cox's Single," and the figures of these are appended; both involve the back five bells lying still.

There is comparatively little shown for evenbell methods, Plain Bob is not represented at all, plain courses of Double Norwich and Single Norwich Major are shown but with no compositions. Incidentally, it is interesting to note Single Norwich appearing, as this method is shown as first being pealed (see C.C. Collection of Major methods) in 1922, nearly 100 years later; could it be that a peal was previously rung and not recorded? Finally there appear compositions for Treble Bob Major and Royal, Oxford seemingly more in vogue at that time than Kent; they do not merit giving details.

Tebbs' Single

A fascinating find which I hope will interest others as it has interested me. One amusing note to end. The book contains the earliest known peal, rung in 1487, but alas, on inspection, it turns out to be a mistake for 1847!

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Longbridge Deverill, on April 6th. Ringing commenced, under the able direction of Ringing Master E. E. Norris, of Warminster, at 3 p.m., continuing until 4.30, when the company repaired to the church below for the service, taken by the Vicar (the Rev. G. I. Williams), with Mr. D. Cane as organist, the lesson being read by Hugh Lawrence, of Dauntsey School. In his speech of welcome. Mr. Williams told the company of a staunch band of ringers at his previous living, and ended by saying that ringers were a favoured section of the community, by being able to practise their art unhampered.
The service over, the party took a sunny walk along the main road to the George Inn, where a sumptuous tea had been prepared by the local captain of ringers, Mr. Reg Jones, and his wife, Ruth, with the willing help of the band. Nearly 50 sat down to tea and full justice was done by all concerned. The business meeting which followed was chaired by Mr. C. F. Andrews, of Melksham, with Mr. G. Davis, of Bradford-on-Avon, secretary, Proficiency certificates were presented by the chairman to T. Angel and A. Riddle, of Bradford-on-Avon, a thard, S. Moore, receiving his the following day. A complete new band of ringers from Sutton Veny were present, and these, with Mrs. D. Hutchins, from Warminster, were made members of the Guild. The secretary outlined the plan to be followed for the instruction of beginners at future monthly meetings, and this was accepted after a lengthy discussion.
The next monthly meeting was fixed for Hilperton on June 1st, the July quarterly is to be at Urchfont, and the October quarterly at Warminster. The striking competition for 1968 was fixed for the first Saturday in September, to take place at Seend, arrangements to be made by Ringing Master R. Purnell, who did so well last year.
Visitors were welcomed from Swindon and Colerne and, after the votes of thanks, the company once more adjourned to the tower, where under the direction of Mr. Norris ringing from rounds to Surprise methods was carried on until 8.30 p.m.
The six bells at Heytesbury were also available during the evening, good use being made of them.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

St. Peter's Church, Bromyard, Herefordshire

FROM the sturdy, squat Norman tower of St. Peter's, Bromyard, a Rudhall six has chimed out for more than 200 yrs. Now the octave is complete and such is the skill of 20th century tuning that Messrs. John Taylor have given to this market town bells that blend perfectly. There were bells here for centuries before the Rudhall foundry brought its wares to this countryside.

In the church there is much of antiquarian interest. A characteristic of the tower is the circular stair turret with its castellated top. The South and North doorways are examples of Norman craftsmanship and over one doorway there is a carving of St. Peter.

How the Norman font would have rejoiced the heart of the late Ernest Morris, who added these to his interest in bells. It is tub shape with two tiers of decorations, and one writer has interpreted one of these as representing the Tree of Life.

Probably the absence of arterial roads has enabled Bromyard to be largely unspoilt. Good specimens of 16th and 17th century architecture prevail and Tower Hall House is regarded as one of the finest specimens of half timbered buildings in a county rich in Tudor and Jacobean edifices.

St. Peter's, Bromyard, Herefordshire

By T. COOPER

BROMYARD, a small market town (population 1,800), is situated in the beautiful countryside of the WorcesterHerefordshire border. The Parish Church of St. Peter is a large building with a plain low solid central tower. In 1553 the tower contained "v great belles" and later, in 1752, a ring of six Rudhall bells was installed in a heavy timber frame.

In recent years the "go" of the bells and the deterioration and movement of the bell frame began to cause concern and misgivings to the ringers, and, as one visitor remarked, they had developed into "a very lumpy ring."

In 1966 the P.C.C. received reports and estimates from the bellfounders with apprehension, as heavy expenditure on heating and decoration had recently been completed. An overdue major organ overhaul was already receiving their attention. But their interest and concern about the bells was shown by appointing in the early months of 1967 a small committee to investigate the problem of bell restoration.

10 YEAR LOAN SCHEME

The parish of Bromyard St. Peter's is in its seventh year as a Christian Stewardship Parish. With this in mind, the bell committee were able to devise a scheme to raise an interest-free loan of $£ 2,000$. This loan scheme was to be raised in $£ 10$ loan bonds, repayable at $£ 200$ each year over the next ten years. The principles were approval and accepted by the P.C.C. and the "get on with the job" was given to the bell committee. The money thus raised would enable the ring of six bells to be rehung in a new cast iron eight-bell frame. A gift of a new treble bell towards an octave by one of the ringers was a further incentive.
In June, 1967, the bell committee, consisting of three non-ringers and six ringers, launched the scheme with support and encouragement from the Vicar, churchwardens and P.C.C. members and using all local means of advertising available. Within a few days the first $£ 1,000$ was in hand. With the earnest desire to help so readily coming from the church members and the rest of the community (proving, incidentally, the love of the sound of bells inherent in our people) the attaining of the target was rapidly approaching. But "halt" came from the treasurer; and in a day or two news of a magnificent gift to the church and parish was forthcoming.

MAGNIFICENT GIFT

In thankfulness, and as a memorial to her late husband, George Granville Dowson, Maggie Dowson donated the cost of the new bell frame and one new bell to complete the ring of eight. How deep was the gratitude of the town and district is beyond me to assess and express; but I am sure that whenever the question of generosity arises Bromyardians will instinctively remember the name of Dowson.
Within a few days the $£ 1,600$ loaned had been repaid, and in September the bells were at John Taylor's foundry at Loughborough. Now came the gift of time and talent from the ringers: bell chamber completely cleared and cleaned, padstones formed to carry the new girders, woodwork treated with preservative, ringing chamber redecorated, electrical fittings renewed and extended, fetching and carrying up and down the tower steps until physical tiredness almost dimmed enthusiasm.
In November the ringers had been to Loughborough to see the two new trebles cast-had poked about everywhere in the foundry as ringers from many a tower have done before. They almost managed the foundry ring.

CHRISTMAS WITHOUT BELLS

It was strange with no Christmas and New Year ringing. We did try our hands at Triples through the kindness of the incumbents and the help of the ringers at the towers of Ledbury and Colwall. Limited service ringing also took place at towers in the district.

Winter slowly passed with continual enquiries as to "When are the bells coming back?" Right to programme, on March 18th, the work of installing the new frame and rehanging the bells commenced. Daily, with unhurried capability and control, Mr. Eric Fowler and Mr. Leslie Evans went about their task and soon all was ready for the great day.

In the presence of a large congregation on Friday evening, April 5th, 1968, the Bishop of Hereford, at an impressive service, dedicated the augmented ring of eight bells. Afterwards, ringers from near and far tried out the bells. It was clearly apparent that the founders and bellhangers had converted our "lumpy six" into an easy going and splendid sounding eight.

Now, as our regular service ringing routine comes back, we ringers realise how blessed and fortunate we were in this parish of Bromyard. We know that other parishes have striven and succeeded in greater and harder and more difficult tasks. where enthusiasm and effort and tremendous courage and example were needed. And we know that that courage can be found and sustained by faith and prayer, through willingness to give our service to our God and Church, and through our earnest desire to spread our Christian fellowship amongst all men.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

 St. Margaret's Win District Striking ContestThe annual District striking competition was held at Bitteswell on April 6th. Five bands competed and Messrs. A. Ballard, B. G. Warwick and B. C. Law acted as adjudicators.
A sumptuous tea was laid on by the ringers and friends at Bitteswell, after which a District meeting was held.
The chief item was the announcement of the results of the competition. St. Margaret's, Leicester, were the winning band, having clocked up only 55 faults. Mr. Ballard then presented the trophy to Mr. John M. Jelley, who captained St. Margaret's, at the same time adding some warm words of encouragement to the not-so-good bands. The congratulations of the District go to these very capable ringers.
The other bands who competed were Aylestone ( 73 faults), South Wigston (75), All Saints', Leicester (132) and Markfield (178).
Also discussed were the District Surprise Major practices, which are now a regular monthly feature. It was thought that these were achieving results, but the ringers, they were being aimed at, i.e. the "learners," were not chiefly the people who were attending. Attendance at the moment seems to consist mainly of established Surprise ringers.
The secretary asked for guidance regarding District meetngs where tea facilities were not available, in particular as to whether a service should be held or not on these occasions. Mr. Warwick thought that the omission of a service was a retrograde step, and in general it was felt that a service should be held as part of a meeting wherever possible.

Attending were 43 members and three visitors, the largest number at a District meeting for three years. The chairman, Mr. John Bramley, expressed his gratification at this good turnout.

A variety of ringing took place during the evening, which rounded off an enjoyable meeting.

COUNCIL CANDIDATE

Mr. P. Amos is standing as an independent candidate for the Northampton Municipal Council. He is fighting for the abolition of the Compulsory Purchase Act, and thinks it wrong for a person to be turned out without adequate compensation.

New Surprise Royal Record

But Not the 27,000 Objective

THE attempt to ring 27,000 Cambridge Surprise Royal at the Loughborough Bell Foundty on April 20th was called round at 18,000 changes after 9 houts and 10 minutes ringing.
Ringing commenced af about $8.25 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and the first five courses of the firat part took approximately 55 minutes. The times for all the following parts were withis about a minute of this time. By the time that the first partend came up after 9,000 changes it appeared that the 27,000 would be accomplished with very little difficulty. However, as time progressed. mistakes began to occut and the conductor decided to omit the last bob on 890 in the second part, and ran the peal round two thirds of the way towards the required target. (Having listened to more than two houts of rape recording, the decision appears to be a little harsh.)

Naturally the band are disappointed in nor having rung the longest peal on ten bells. For over half the band it was theit first experience of an attempt for a peal of considerable length and on the foundry bells it was found to be more taxing than had been anticipated (following the four peals of Surprise Royal rung on them last year). I have no doubt that we could have rung the complete length to quite a fair peal, but a record peal must be beyond question in every aspect.
It is the latter point which ereates a technical problem, in that 18,000 changes exceeds the record of Surprise Royal and of Cambridge Surprise, but both of these peals took much longer to ring, being on much heavier bells. In the past we have always aimed as surpassing a previous record, either by ringing on bells of similat weight or by adding is considerable number of changes. This was oun intention with the recent attempt, but by calling the peal tound at a shorter length it is only 1,080 changes longet than the Yorkshite Royal record and 1,632 changes longer than the Cambridge record. We will rectify this situgtion in the not too distant future.

There were two changes in the band from that announced in "The Ringing World ": both Richard Inglis and Bernard Groves were indisposed. I would like to thank Simon Humphrey and Alan Scholfield for standing in the peal in their places. I would also like to thank Lawrence Haines for umpiring and lapingein the ringing, instead of Alan Scholfield, who was called on to ring. Finally, thanks are once ayain due to Paul Taylor for the use of the foundry bells.

ROBERT B. SMITH.

UMPIRE'S REPORT

The attempt to ting 27,000 Cambridge Surprise Royal was scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, but for various reasons was delayed until 8.25 . The first lead was a trifle shaky as the band adjusted to the bells, but the ringing rapidly improved and, by the end of the first course, everyone seemed happy. Fot the first ten courses the ringing was at a steady eleven minutes per course, except for the third course, which took $11 \frac{1}{2}$ minutes, probably in response to the conductor's "Push them along a bit "! In the eleventh course the back bells were brought irto the "Home" and the ringing speeded slightly to $10 \frac{1}{2}$ minutes per course-the little bells seemed to appreciate this return to familiar tersitory more than the big ones.

At 11.10, after the band had fung a normal length peal, the speed dropped to $11 \frac{1}{6}$ minutes and remained there until towards the end. At 12 o'clock someone remarked that "they" were open, and was immediately told to faint. Nearly an hour later the first third was completedthe distinctive 1234567908 being easily recognised. This change was the cue for shuftling of feet and stretching of backs as the tingers prepared for a further nine hours of ringing. At around I o'clock I was ordered to fetch "fish 'n chips" ten times. The thought of food must have inspired the band, for there was some excellent ringing at this time.

By half past one 10,000 changes had been rung on very difficult bells; soon afterwards

OBITUARY

MR. CHARLES E. FISHER

The Suffolk Guild lost one of its mast respected members when Charles E. Fisher passed away recently at his home at Ufford, Suftolk. He had served the Guild with distinction, not only by virtue of the offices he held but in his belfrymanship and his undoubted ability as a ringer and conductor.
Charles was born in 1885 and spent most of his life in the picturesque village of Ufford. He started his ringing as a lad and records show that in fact he conducted his first peal at Ufford in 1902 for the Norwich Diocesan Association, which of course covered most of the county of Suffolk at that time. In all he rang los peals for the Norwich Diocesan Association and a further 103 for the Suffolk Guild.
Charles Fisher commanded respect in any belfry by his many qualities. He had a quiet manner but there was always a twinkle in his eye and a lasting keenness to help beginners. He was an immaculate handler and striker, and was particularly fond of six- and eight-bell ringing. Over his long ringing life he often tang with the famous Leiston and Helmingham companies and was particularly proud of his younger brother, Frank, a most gified conductor.

Chatles held several offices within the Guild. including that of secretary and treasurer, and remained a vice-president until he died. The Suffolk Guild and many others will long remember him-his welcome to visitors, and the man that was Charles E. Fisher. Our sympathy roes out to his widow and family. May he test in peace.

MR S. C. COOK

With the death of Mr. Sydney Charlie Cook on March 10th members and ringers of St . Peter's Church, Hever, mourned the passing of the last of its "old brigade."

A native of the village, Charlie started work as a boy on Hever Castle Estate and rtayed there for 52 years apart from a short break during the first world war, when he served with the Army and was wounded in France. His connection with Hever Church as a ringer covered a period of 55 years and during much of that time he was a member of the Kent County Association. He was also verger at the church for 30 years.
Although never a prolific peal ringer, he did take part in one or two during his earlier days, but his main interest was with the local band, of which he was captain for some time. A few years ago he was forced to give up ringing because of ill-health but maintained his interest in ringers and their activities through the columns of our journal, which was delivered to him regularly by one of the Edenbridge band. In addition to his own church, Charlie often used to ring at Chiddingstone and Edenbridge, and on the evening preceding the day of his funeral a half-mutiled quarter peal was rung to his memory by a band comprising two members from each of the three towers.

MR. JOE HAYNE  An Appreciation

I have just read in my " Ringing World ": "Abbotsbury, Dorset, has lost an old and respected ringer by the death on April 23th of the occasional trip began to crecp in. rapidly corrected by the conductor. At 3.20 the half. way change cume up, soon followed by the eighth part-end. At this point a high-level conterence was undertaken, and a decision was made not to pass the 21.363 Stedman Caters or 21,600 Bristol Major. At 4,20 the band had rung more Cambridge Royal than any other team ; at quatter to five the Cambridge Maximus length was passed, and minutes latet the bob on 8-9-0 was omitted, leaving the bells in the backstroke home. Thls had a detectable cheering effect on the band, and the ringing proceeded, at a slightly faster $10 \frac{1}{2}$ minutes per course, with but one trip to the end. At nearly ten past five a bob Wrong brought the bells into the plain course, and there followed two-and-a-half courses of very good ringing to finish the peal, after 9 hours and 10 minutes and 18,000 changes. The reason for the late start now became apparent: by the time the belfry had been evacuated the hostelry doots were opening

No visitors appeared in the belfry; this could Have been due to the Leicester Diocesun annual general meeting, which was also held that day. The ringing was certainly adequate for a record peal, and it was only the high standards set by the band that prevented the full length from being rung. I am sure that it is only a mattet of time before the full 27,000 id rung, but, for the sake of future umpires (and ringers 1 it would be better if rung somewhere other than at the foundry-1 can still heat the plink-plonk of the litle bells :

LAWRENCE J. HAINES.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE BELL RHYMES

Dear Sit.-I was interested in the article on "Beli Rhymes from Northamptonshire." Mr; Thomas North puts "Pancakes and Fritters" into print in his book on "The Bells of Northamptonshire." He also mentions anothet one, and here it is:-
"Roast beef and marsh mallows,
Say the bells of All Hallows.
Pancakes and fritters,
Say the bells of St. Peter's.
Roast beef and boil'd,
Say the bells of St. Oiles'.
Poker and tongs,
Say the bells of St. John's.
Shovel, tongs and poker,
Say the bells of St. Pulcher."
This sounds like Shrove Tuesday, as wall it might, and Mr. North provides, quote:
"But hark I hear the Pancake Bell,
And Fritters make a gallant smell."
So with the sound of pancake bells in our ears and the smell of fritters in our noses 1 would suggest that Mr. Terry, of the Northampton Museum, gets hold of a copy of Mr. North's book. His library is sadly short of a notaible work.-Yours sincerely,
J. M. C. HOOTON.

Ardingly, Sussex.
Mr. Joe Hayne." How fitting and eloquent is that brief announcement and what memorles are conjured up by it. To one whose introduction to ringing was in the Dorchester area in the early days of the last war, Joe Hayne was one of the stalwarts who helped to give meaning and character to the Exercise. He was forthright by nature, of complete interrity and sincere in his fellowship.
How he hated formality and loved to be Joe to all the world! With great delight be told the tale of a letter which once reached him, bearing the seemingly inadequate direction: "Joe, Abbotsbury." His love of the cricket field was perbaps even greater than that of the belfry. and many were the kindly taunts of the then Branch chairman, Canon A. W. Markby, if Joe missed a meeting or was late because he was "chasing a ball. And now he will be missing-both in the belfry and in the cricket field, but I am sure that both have been eariched by his life, for which we give thanke,
M. M. GODLEY.

University Students Help Southwell Guild's Membership

T
THE attendance at the 22 nd annual general meeting of the Southwell Diocesan Ouild of Church Bell Ringers, held at Southwell on April 20th, was most encouraging. The committee's fears that an annul mecting starting with the business meeting at $2.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. Would prove unacceptable to the majority of the members was soon dispelled, and the attendance of upwards of 110 ringing members, plus their wives and visitors, proved that the ringers ate interested in the running of their Guild.

Tho busithes meeting, presided over by the Cuild chairmen, Mt. F. W. Midwinter, supported by the vice-chairman elect, the Rev. W. H. Snow, the reliting hon. treasurer, Mr. J. W. Raithby, and the hon. general secretary, Mr. W. L. Exton, was opened with a minute's silence for 14 members who had died since the last annual seneral meeting, namely, Mr. A. Munks (Mansfield Woodhouse), Mr, O. Oakley (Warsop), Mt. J. T. C. Barnes (St. Mary's, Nottingham), Dr. J. D. S. Thomas (Radcliffe-on-Trent). Mr. F. A. Salter (St. Peter's. Nottingham), Mr. W. Thornley (Stapleford), the Rev. W. B. Evans (Noth Wheatley), Mr. J. P. Wright (North Wheatley), Lady Sibell Argles (Holme Pierrepont), Mr. E. Wilcox (Nuthall), Mt. H. D. Argles (Holme Pierrepont), the Rev. Canon R. P. Tinsley (Holme Pierrepont), Mr. J. H. Marshall (Cotgrave) and Mr. F. L. Hemstoci (Southwell).
The minutes were approved and the annual report, which had been in circulation for some weets, was, with one or two minor amendmencs, accepted, on the proposition of Mr. S. W. Fostey, seconded by Mr. D. A. Whetton.

A SMALLER ANNUAL REPORT?

Mr. B. Hough said that in view of the cost of the annual teport, almost 3s. per copy out of a $s. subscription, perhaps consideration should be given to reducing the amount of material inserted, and suggested that perhaps the list of the members could be omitted and only a list of new members be inserted.

The hon. general secretary said that when viewed in isolation this figure was high, but when analysed the details were that the report cost was 2 s .8 d . per copy, but if the income from peal fees were deducted from the total cout then the resulting figure was 2 s . per copy (i.e. 40 per cent. of the annual subscription) and if the noa-resident life membership subscriptions were also deducted then this figure would be reduced to 1 s . 9 d ., which he considered was a teasonable proportion.

The hon. general secretary reported that membership had been maintained at over 500, mainly due to the inclusion of the Nottingtham Universily ringers at Beeston, to whom be extended a very warm welcome.

Bell restoration during the year had been the lowest for some time. A danation of $\mathbf{1 2 5}$ had been made to Pinxton, where a new light ting of five had been installed and where it is understood three trebles had now been ordered to complete the octave. Beeston bells had been retuned, the sixth recast and the bell rehung with new fittings in the original timber frame.
The income to the bell repair fund had risen by $£ 58 \mathrm{~s}$. 1d. to $£ 157$ 3s. 3d. during the year, the total standing at $£ 346$ 5s. 6d. This was a most welcome sign, bearing in mind that provisional donations had already been earmarked for East Ketford, where the ten bells were to be recast and rehung, Aspley, where two trebles were to be added to complete the octave, and Araold, where the four bells were to be restored with possible augmentation.

Lectures on bells and ringing with handbell demonstrations had continued during the year unabated, over 30 having been provided.
The hon. treasurer reported that a small loss of $£ 817 \mathrm{~s}$. 6d. had been made on the year's warking, but in view of the expenditure incurred over the visit of the Central Councit of Church Bell Ringers to Nottingham and the Three Counties Festival at Derby this was considered reasonable.

PEALS LESS THAN USUAL
The peal committee reported that the fotal of 75 peals was the lowest for several years. Fifteen members rang their first peal and. considering the drop of 48 peals on the 1966 total. this drop of iwo compares very favourably. Three new conductors appeared against none in 1966.

The 69 tower bell peals were rung in 41 towers, 32 of them in the county. The six handbell peals were all rung by the same band. The conducting was shared between 30 people. the leaders being Ruth Blackshaw (12) and R. B. Mills (11). There were 173 ringers involved, 88 of whom were resident, representing 17 per cent. of the Guild membership.

Four new members wete elected at the annual meeting-Miss Jill Kelley (Newark), David Woodhead (Edwinstowe), Peter Hay ward (Woodborough) and David Browh (Gamston). The returint olficers were thanked for their services to the Guild during the past yeat, and especially the vice chairman. the Rev. F. W. Stephenl, and the hon. iteasuter, Mr. J. W. Raithby, neithet of whom is accepling re* election. The chairman (Mr. F. W. Mide winter), the hon. teneral secretary (Mr. W. L. Exion), the auditors ( Messrs. C. J. Copp and B. Hough) and the trusteos (Messts. W. Nichols and F. W. Midwinter) were reselected, there being no other nominations. The vice: chairman (the Rev. W. H. Snow) and the Peal Committee (Messrs. B. M. Buswell and R. B. Mills) were declared elected, there being no othet nominations. Two nominations, Miss M. E. Chilton and Mr. H. Hanson, were received for the past of hon. treasurer and on a ballot Mr. H. Hanson was declared elected. Six nominations were received for the four Central Council delegates for 1969-71, and on a ballot Messrs. W. L. Exton, H. Poyner, R. B. Mills and j. D. Clarke were elected, the unaccessful candidates being Messts. C. W. Reed and B. A. Richards.
The collection for the Bell Repair Fund taken at the meeting realised $£ 64 \mathrm{~s}$. 9d.

A comprehensive vote of thanks to the Provost of Southwell for the use of the bells, the ladics of the Newark District for the tea, the officers of the Guild for their past year's work, and in particular the hon. general secretary and his wife for theis work in conjunction with the Central Council meeting last May, was moved by Mr. David Stainsby and cartied unanimously.

Following the business mecting the twelve bells of the Minster were available up to tea time, when a moss enjoyable tea, prepared and served buffet fashion by the ladies of the Newark District to the 130 people who had sent their names in, was provided.

Evensong held in the Minster choir was con ducted by the Provost (the Very Rev. H. C. L. Heywood).

Further ringing then took place under the direction of the Newark District Ringing Muse ter, Mr. P. Wakefield.

Hereford Ringing School's Five Day Course

THIS was the first five-day bellringing course to be held at Hereford, following the request from last year's week-end course, which Was the fourth one, that we might have a longer time under instruction in the tower to try to put into practice what we had learned in theory.

Our tutors for the course were Mr. G. T. Cousins, Mr. W. F. Moreton, Mr. F. Sharpe and Mr. W. O. Wilson.

On Tuesday evening after Easter we all arrived at Hereford Teachers' Training College. After supper we had a lecture to start the course, then each day except Friday we had instruction and tested our theory using handbells prior to visiting a tower with our instructors. On Friday we went further afield and had tower practice as one group and instead of returning to the college for lunch we had a picnic on the church wall, Mr. Sharpe laking a photograph to prove ringers do not always make a beeline for the nearest "local." We were split up into two groups during the rest of the week, the advanced starting with Stedman and Cambridge, and the elementary bell handling to Plain Bob. By the end of the course the advanced had rung a quarter peal and the elementary were learning Keat and Bestow Liscle Court.

We would like to thank all the local people who welcomed us to their churches and made ringing possible in allowing their bells to he used for this purpose. Also to the instructors for their unfailing patience with us learners; at times they must have wanted to knock our heads together I

At one of the churches we visited someone, who shall be nameless. offered to get the key to the church. After he had been gone rather a long time we began to wonder what had become of him-well, we found our that the key was kept in the "local" in the church. yard 1

As one of the instructors, we had Mr. F. Sharpe, who gave us, among other things, an "Illustrated Lecture on Bells." There was also some tune ringing done with him, but this was not on the syllabus and therefore done in spare time."
The conductor of the quarter peal learned to call it in the morning during the theory class, then rang a quarter of Grandsire Triples that same morning; several of the band made their first in the method.
Of course, during the evenings when we had some "free time," if we wanted to find someone there was always the Bridge Inn; several individual instruction sessions were beld by Mr. Sharpe and others in anything from methods to hanging bells in belfries, etc.

When we went to one tower, W. O. W. was heard to say something to the effect that he was going home with the carpet; the ringing chamber there was like a five-star hotel, where you sink into the carpet. Fortunately his "boot" was not big enough to hold it so it should be there next time you go!
We were all very sorry indeed to hear thas Mrs. Moreton senior had had to go into hospital during the week and wished her a speedy and complete recovery.

A great deal of hard work went into the arranging of the course, and we all owe our thanks to Mr. W. F. Moreton, also for all the help he gave us during the week; many of us have gone home much better ringers for his and the others' continuous perseverance. We all owe a great debt to Mr. G. T. Cousins for arranging the towers for ringing in some very lovely villages and towns of Herefordshire.

On the Friday evening we were joined by some more students and two more instructors, Mr. P. G. K. Davies and Mr. A. Wingate, for the week-end course.

Letters to the Editor

AN APPRECIATION

Dear Sir,-On behalf of members of the Andover District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild may I say how much we appreciate the space given us $m$ your issue of April 19th to record our 40th anniversary celebrations?

I would like to make one small correction -that the conductor of the second attempt at Kingsclere for Grandsire Triples was Reginald F. Crook, and not Reginald Rex, as printed. Reginald Rex was the District's first Ringing Master and was invited for his past connections to take part in the Kingsclere attempt and also one at Woolton Hill, which was previously his home sower; unfortunately both were unsuccessful.

Our main object was to give as many District members as possible the opportunity to ring in a peal, and during the last month to advance the standard of the methods rung, giving individual ringers the opportunity of something new It was regretted that the Cambridge Minor planned for the last week had to be cancelled the night before, as it would have included five firsts in the method.

Again many thanks for your coverage. Yours sincerely,

GEOFFREY K. DODD,
Chairman, Andover District, Winchester and Portsmouth D.G.

STHL MEMBERS

Dear Sir,-Mr. Hunt has questioned the inclusion of 20 peals in the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association Report for 1967, since the names of three ringers do not appear in the list of members in this Report.

The ringers concerned are members of the Association and their names were inadvertently omitted from the Report, as was explained at the Association annual general meeting held at Malmesbury on April 20th (which meeting Mr. Hunt did not attend, incidentally).

The format of the 1967 Report is a new venture. The Association officers are well aware that it does contain a number of errors, but these will be dealt with as a domestic matter within the Association.-Yours faithfully,
WILLIAM F. SCUDAMORE, Ringing Master. E. MARY BLISS, Chairman.

CHARLES ROUSE, Secretary.
CYRIL A. WRATTEN, Treasurer.
MARGERY A. WRATTEN, Peal Secretary.

TWO CORRECTIONS

Dear Sir,-I have been informed that the peal of Little Bob Maximus we rang on handbells at Prestbury, Cheshire, was not the first. It seemed unlikely that it had not been rung before, but the records we had available showed that the Royal had been rung but apparently not the Maximus. The claim is now withdrawn.

Turning to another point, that of Mr. Blagrove's peal of Minor, apart from the fact that it was neither clever nor original, it was not Plain Bob either. It was Spliced Plain Bob and Original and should be recorded in the Central Council's analysis as such. If people carry on at this rate, especially those who are capable of better things, where will it end?-Yours faithfully,

ROBERT B. SMITH.

FALSE PEAL

Dear Sir,-Mr. R. K. Mason has asked me to write and withdraw the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Maximus rung at Aston on March 16 th, 1968, due to the composition being false, and at the same time to include a brief note of how a false composition came to be used, in the hope that other conductors whose knowledge of composition is limited may avoid falling into the same trap.

One very often hears the expression "Any composition of $X$ is true to $Y$." In the case of the peal at Aston the expression would read "Any composition of Cambridge is true to Yorkshire." In a great number of cases this will be true, but it is important to realise the limits within which this statement is correct. The conditions in which a statement of this nature should not be relied on are in compositions where the tenors are parted or in which singles are used. In the case of the peal at Aston a composition of Cambridge was used which included a fair number of singles. A composition of Cambridge with the tenors together and just one single at Wrong immediately prior to the bells coming round will, however, be true as all the changes after the single are common to both methods.

Mr. Mason also asked me to convey his apologies to all those who took part in the peal and others associated with it by way of footnote, peal analysis and comment in Belfry Gossip.-Yours sincerely,

Leicester.
JOHN M. JELLEY.

SOUTHWELL A.G.M.

Dear Sir,-The annual general meeting of the Southwell Diocesan Guild at Southwell on April 20th will no doubt be officially reported in the usual glowing terms. As one present at that meeting I wish to voice an opinion which, as I have subsequently heard, I am not alone in holding.

After a long business meeting, which seemingly occupied half the afternoon, ringing was eventually begun at 3.45 p.m. During the following half-hour (only !) ringing included two touches of Cinques (both of which failed to come round) and three sessions of rounds too short to benefit any beginner taking the limited opportunity to ring at a twelve-bell tower. After the so-called "last touch" the majority of the ringers were packed off to await their tea at 4.45 p.m., some not having rung at all. Meanwhile a chosen few had the bells to themselves to "perform" on the back eight. After tea an "in" band again took over the bells to ring some unidentifiable method, leaving everyone else to hang around doing nothing until the service at 5.45 p.m. How the ringing was shared out during the evening I can only imagine, as I and others to whom I have since spoken did not wait to find out and went home.

Considering that it was supposed to be an annual general meeting, visited by people from considerable distances, I regard the event as a great disappointment, being marred by bad timing and selfishness I took along with me a beginner attending his first meeting. If he attends another it will certainly be a credit to his patience.
The tea, may I add, was excellent.. - Yours faithfully,

E. SHUTTLEWORTH.

ASSOCIATION EXPUNGES FOOTNOTE

Dear Sir,-In "The Ringing World" of March 22 nd you published a peal of Plain Bob Major rung at St. George's, Bristol, on March 2nd, the footnote of which occasioned a letter from Mrs. Angela Newing, which was published on April 5th.

At the annual general meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association held at Malmesbury on April 20th a resolution was unanimously passed that the footnote should not be included in the peal records of the Gloucester and Bristol Association. The conductor of the peal has been informed of this decision.-Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM F. SCUDAMORE,
Ringing Master.
E. MARY BLISS,

Chairman.

ANOTHER LADY IN THE QUEUE

1 Dear Sir,-Another one for the queue of ladies who have rung at Westminster Abbey is my wife (Mrs. E. L. Hairs). As to whether she was the first lady to ring there I cannot say, as it is nearly 50 years ago. But I can remember when the "rumpus" first startedimmediately after we had rung for Princess "Pat's" wedding.-Yours sincerely,
F. 1. HAIRS.

Groombridge, Sussex

I THE EXERCISE CONGRATULATES

Dear Sir, -I am sure the congratulations of the Exercise should go to Messrs. Saydisc, of Bristol, for their excellent EP record which gives examples of $6-8-, 10-$ and 12 -bell ringing in that city. Surely also congratulations should go to the band who rang the short touch of Cinques at St. Mary Redcliffe. The method may have been Erin, but the quality of the striking was Superlative !-Yours sincerely,

DAVID L. CAWLEX.
Whitstable, Kent.

METHOD NAMING

Dear Sir,-With regard to the (false) handbell peal conducted by Richard J. Parker, printed in "The Ringing World" of October 20th, 1967, I am informed by Geoffrey Dodds that the method names, which will stand, represent an incorrect extension from the Minor (see "The Ringing World," January 12th, 1968). Accordingly, as conductor of the first true peal of Major to include these methods, I rename - 1458-1238-1238-38 as Radley (2nds) and Northcourt (8ths), and -1458-38 -1238-38 as Cliviger (2nds) and Barkby (8ths).

No change will be necessary in peal reports, but I apologise for the inconvenience caused to those who keep records of methods. I should like to thank Mr. Dodds for his help with extensions, and Mr. Derek Sibson for his unfailing interest in suspect reports.

On the subject of Spliced Plain Major, it has been pointed out to me that the record Spliced Plain belongs not to the 61-Spliced Major ("The Ringing World," April 4th, 1968) but to Frank Blagrove's peal of Doubles some years ago. The 61 -spliced remains as the record Major on handbells and the record Plain Major.-Yours faithfully, CHRISTOPHER I. ROWSON. Maidenhead, Berks.

LETTERS-continued

 QUARTER PEAL RINGERS "UNIMAGINATIVE" (?)Dear Sir,-Our thanks are due to Mr. Alan Buswell for taking so much time and effort to compile a report of quarter peal ringing during 1967. What a pity that this otherwise excellent document had to be marred by the inevitable sneer at quarter peal ringers: - how unadventurous and unimaginative quarter peal ringers are "-not even most or many, note you.

It is my belief that the majority of quarters are rung by local bands before divine worship; are rung by the people who were intended to ring the bells; and for the purpose the bells were installed by our generous oenefactors. I, for one, would far rather ring in one quarter of Plain Bob Doubles as a preliminary to service and to the glory of God than any number of peals of this or that Surprise Maximus to the glory of the band and the county Association.

Any fool who has learned to ring two or three Surprise Major methods and has also learned how to use a telephone (though what is so wonderful in either achievement I fail to see) can then assemble a ready trained band with which to astound his humbler brethren. How much more worthy the man who maintains a local band ringing in God's service twice each Sunday, week in week out, year after year. One Elizabeth Barber is worth more to the Exercise than a hundred daft beggars prancing around Edgbaston belfry shouting about record lengths of Glasgow.

The doubtful honour of leading the quarter peal lists in Yorkshire falls to my tower, Longwood, where 12 of the 13 quarters were rung before service. Doubtful, since in a county boasting five Anglican cathedrals and more than 20 parish churches of major importance, in a county with a flourishing Association and 10 District Guilds, in a county which has more than its fair share of famous members of the Exercise, the leading quarter peal tower should be in a backwater of the Pennines and manned by a band of self-taught teenagers whose only reason for ringing is to be of service to their church.

Shame on you, peal ringers! Are you unable to teach local bands or are you just too idle? The fact that the total number of quarters in Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles is so high is ample proof that the majority of you are shirking your duty. If you would only devote more of your time and effort to your local tower, would attend Sunday by Sunday and practice by practice giving more of your skill and undoubted enthusiasm to the band there, then we should soon see an improvement in the standard of methods appearing in the quarter peal columns.-Yours faithfully,

Huddersfield.

IAN ROBERTS.

LATE REPORTING

Dear Sir, - There were two reasons for writing my previous letter (page 262), firstly to suggest a time limit for submitting peals and quarter peals, and secondly to inquire why those 1967 peals, published in March, were so late.

I think that there should be a time limit for submitting such performances and whereas a week is asking too much of some lazy people, eight months is beyond the other extreme. Can I suggest three weeks?-Yours sincerely,

Taunton.

Note.-There is only one conclusion we can put on late reporting-indifference to the Exereise and this journal.-Ed.

A RINGERS' STORY

PORTRAIT OF A PRACTICE

By "FIFTH OBSERVATION"

(Though of necessity based on experience, this story is composed of absolutely fictitious ele-

Part 1

Splat-splat-splat. Feet descending the stone steps of the turret stairway; Bob coming down from aloft

Mick looked up from Double Oxford. "Hullo, Bob."
"Hi, Mick." He came over to the bench and sat down.
"Phew, Mick," he remarked, loosening his tie, "I think you'd better take this practice. I'm not compos mentis."
"Tough day?" inquired Mick.
"Century's understatement. These juniors! Not a brain between the lot of 'em. I could cheerfully knock all their heads together."
"Make a grand front page story for us if you did. Chaos at Knapton's; Proprietor berserk! Quite a publicity draw for the old tower, too."
"Idiot," said Bob mildly; he was used to this sort of thing.

Feet pounding up the stairs-two pairs of feet-accompanied by much heavy breathing. "Paddy and Tim," murmured Bob. "Well, will you take Tim or shall I?"
"Leave all to me," cried Mick. "Hullo, boys! Splendid to see you so early! Pad, you'd like to get the tenor up, wouldn't you? Just the job for a warm evening like this."
Paddy, who knew his Mick, emitted a groan indicative of extreme exhaustion. "Go on," said Mick, grinning.
"Oh, well, if I must," sighed the injured martyr, "but, Bob, why don't you do it?"
"Wouldn't deprive you of the practice," replied Bob from the bench.

Tut,' said Paddy delightedly. "I do all the work in this tower," and crossed to the tenor rope.
The front five were left habitually up. "Tim," said Mick, "time for our handstroke practice."

The tenor was raised - as Paddy's scarlet countenance testified. Tim, replete with handstroke practice, sat on the cool stone windowledge and thought roseate thoughts of Being Good Enough to Ring on Sundays like all these other clever people. ..T There was a silence, broken only by a windmill whirr from the clork case in the corner, announcing the unpalatable fact that it was eight o'clock already

Then the Troughton girls arrived.
"Oh, good evening, Bob-Mick-boys! Sorry we're a bit late. We had company to tea, and they stayed-"
"-rather a time; in fact we've left Mum and Dad to carry on entertaining them. I say, Mick, how did you get so brown?"
"Just what I was going to say! You don't know how lucky you are. And what a super shirt Paddy's got!"
The Troughton girls amply made up for their lack of usefulness in the campanological field hy their ornamental and social qualities.

But Bob was still feeling a little disagreeable - sundry thoughts of his recalcitrant juniors persisted in recurring, and "Can't ring anything much yet. of course," he remarked heavily, regarding the assemblage with a hint of disfavour.
"Oh, Bob," protested the Troughton sisters. "We've got Doubles," said Jill reproachfully. "Best wait until somebody else-ah, Martin," exclaimed Bob, with the air of a shipwrecked mariner who has sighted a sail.
Martin was a quiet, self-effacing young man destined for university and a B.Sc. "Not ringing yet?" he said as he entered. "Thought I'd be late. The Cocks brigade are on their way," he added.

Lethargy dropped from Bob. "Right! Grandsire," he announced. "Sandra take treble. Jill take second. Pad, you on the third, and remember to hold her off at hand. I'll bump senor. Mick and Martin. fight it out for four and five between you, and for the privilege of conducting. unless Pad -
"Oh, I don't think I could," said Paddy, untruthfully.
"-as I was saying, unless Pad would like to call his own bell as observation. That'll be, er, bob-plain-bob-plain-single-plain and reneat. Iry that! You'll double-dodge behind at the calls, and make third's at the plain leads. U.K.. treble. Set 'em going."
The younger Troughton sister looked portentously round the band.
"All ready?" she inquired, as though about to start a race. "Look to : treble's going. She put her weight on the sally. "She's gone."
Ti-ti-TANG-di-da-BONG, said the bells of St. Dunstan's as they set off into rounds.

Paddy had only once in his life called a touch before. He swelled to twice his size.
"Go, Grandsire," he commanded, in the peremptory tones of the conductor; "and let's have some striking, please."

Clash! Crash! Da-ti-bong.
Crash: Wallop! Ti-da-bong.
"Oh dear, oh dear", said the Cocks brigade. hastening up the hill in the last of the evening sunshine

Leslie, immaculate in fawn slacks and flaring orange shirt, permitted himself a faint shudder.
"We are needed, my friends," he declared, increasing his pace as he swung through the lych-gate into the precincts of St. Dunstan's: before Sue and Jane had fairly accomplished the length of the path he was through the tower door and rapidly ascending the steps to the ringing chamber.

Outside the ringing chamber door be paused to regain breath. From the altercations within it was clear that Grandsire was at any moment due to grind to an unpremeditated halt.

"Four! Course me down!"

"Rubbish! I'm following two."
"Pad! Is it me in the hunt?"
"Yes-er, no-that is, yes! Take me from :ead, quick! Five, you're behind somewhere! Get down, treble! There! You've nearly made me miss my call. Bob-no, I mean Single! Dh. blow! Stand!"

Tinkle, clash, BONG. Silence.

Llandaff and Monmouth Association

THE 75th annual general meeting was held at All Saints', Newport, on April 20th and was attended by approximately 90 member; the decision to move the meeting away from Easter Monday appeared to be popular with the majority of the members. The bells of All Saints' Church and St. Woolos' Cathedral we:e available throughout the afternoon and after the meeting.
The Association form of service was held at All Saints' conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. A. A. Jones, assisted by our hon- treasurer, the Rev. I. J. Richards, the lesson being read by the Master, Mr. I. Davies. The ladies of All Saints' Church had provided and served a really bounteous tea in a local hall and they were sincerely thanked for their efforts by the Master.

Before the start of the meeting we were entertained by a short film show given by the Rev. A. W. McAdam, Vicar of Grosmont, illustrating the work which he and his parishioners had carried out in removing the old bells and frame, transporting them to and from London, making a new frame and reinstalling the lot into the tower.

The Rev. J. A. A. Jones took the chair for the meeting, supported by the Master, Mr. I. Davies. The meeting paid silent tribute to eight members who had passed away since the last annual general meeting-Harold Blick (Cowbridge), John E. Bloxham (Cadoxton), Herbert Davies (Pentre), Harry Green (Porthkerry), Edgar Lufi (Usk), A. Nicolls (Pontypridd), Albert Probert (Llangibby) and Edward Thomas (Bonvilston).

INCREASE OF 51

The hon. secretary, Mr. M. J. Pryor, reported that the year had been one of steady progress both as regarded recruitment and the advancement of the art. During the year there was a net increase of 51 members, the total membership being 393 ringing members, five honorary life members and one honorary member. Whilst this is most satisfactory we still have towers within our area with bands of ringers not in membership. An appeal was made to bring these towers into the brotherhood of the Association. Both Branches had reported good attendances at the meetings with an average of 50 to each. At the Central Council meeting, held at Nottingham last year, Mrs. J. S. King was elected to serve on the Broadcasting and Television Committee, our other representative, Mr. T. M. Roderick, is already serving on the Towers and Belfries Committee, and our representatives are to be congratulated on the active part they play in the Council's affairs. The work of collecting together past numbers of "The Ringing World" and having them bound is now complete, and thanks are due to our librarian for this work. During the early part of 1967 the bells of St. Woolos' wore placed on ball bearings and a major task of rehanging the ring at Grosmont is being carried out by the Vicar and his parishioners working under directions from a local architect and Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

AND 51 PEALS

Fifty-one peals were rung during 1967, the same number as in the previous year. Mr. T. Yeomans headed the list of peal ringers with 18 peals, whilst Miss Susan Harber led the ladies with nine peals. The band at Llandaff Cathedral rang a peal of Caters by a Sunday service band, a very creditable performance. Mr. Gwyn Lewis rang his 150 th peal for the Association and conducted a peal in which both his father and his son took part. Mr. David J. King rang his 200th peal and David J. Hughes, of Usk, had "circled " his home tower. In conclusion the secretary stressed that the production of the annual report was a team effort-Mr. David Llewellyn continues to check the peal records, and a very big "thank you" is due to Mr. I. Davies, who again, with the assistance of two lads from Cowbridge Grammar School, produced over 400 copies of the report

The hon. treasurer, the Rev. I. J. Richards, presented the accounts, which showed total assets of $£ \geqslant 52$ Os. 6 d ., an increase during the year of $£ 263 \mathrm{~s}$. 7d. The fact that the accounts are in such a healthy position is due to the large amount of work which various members do for the Association. None of the officers, including the Central Council representatives, had claimed any expenses, and again the annual report had been produced by Mr. Davies for the cost of the materials. Both of these reports were adopted and the officers thanked for their work during the year.
The librarian reported that some 40 books had been loaned out during the year, whilst other ringers had attended at All Saints' Church to do researeh into the books held there. This was considered to be most satisfactory and made the setting up of this library well worth while. The librarian, Mr. L. Bainham, was sincerely thanked for his work.

The secretary reported that the new Bishop of Monmouth had accepted an invitation to become a joint president of the Association in the place of the Archbishon of Wales, who recently retired. Mr. R. J. Stewart was elected Master for the coming year and installed in office by the retiring Master. Mr. Davies thanked the members for their support during his year of office, and Mr. F. J. Hannington expressed the feeling of all in thanking Mr. Davies for continuing to work so hard for the Association. The other officers were re-elected. It was decided to purchase a copy of W. G. Wilson's "Change Ringing" for the library.

The secretary was instructed to obtain insurance cover for the Association's set of ten handbells.

£50 DONATION

A proposition from the Management Committee that the sum of $£ 50$ be donated to Grosmont to assist in meeting the cost of rehanging their bells was carried unanimously after the new Master had very ably explained the cost of the work and what the parish was saving by making the frame and installing it themselves. The Vicar of Grosmont thanked the meeting for their generosity and hoped to see many of them at his church when the bells are dedieated, probably some time early in June.

The secretary gave details of the arrangements made for the anniversary dinner to be held in October and hoped that the members would support this function.
It was decided that the next annual general meeting shouuld take place at St. John's, Cardiff, on Saturday, April 12th, 1969.

In conclusion, Mr. T. M. Roderick thanked all those who had contributed to the success of the meeting. The members then made their various ways to further ringing and those casual social gatherines for which the fraternity is noted
M.J. P.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

A quarterly meeting of the Tonbridge District was held at Westerham on April 6ith. Some of the members were able to help by ringing for a wedding, while others occupied the ringing time usefully at Sundridge.

The service was conducted by the Vicar. Canon Aidan Chapman, who extended a warm welcome to all present.

The business meeting was held in the church with Mr. S. Jenner in the chair. The secretary reported on the success of two evening practice meetings, one at Horsmonden, at which 45 were present, and the other at Lamberhurst, which attracted 36 . The announcement was made of a fortheoming cricket match with the Maidstone District on July 7th, and a ringing school to be held on May Ilth. Thanks were accorded to the Vicar and to the Rector of Sundridge.

RICHMOND-ON-THAMES MUSIC FESTIVAL

The annual competition in the Bell Ringing Section of the Richmond Music Festival was held at Isleworth on April 6th and was one of the most successful yet. Five bands competed in the tower bell contest, and ringing included touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Major and the most ambitious yet-Grandsire Caters. The adjudicator was Mr. A. P. Cannon, who iistened for nearly two hours to the efforts of the various bands, and a very high standard of striking was achieved by all of them. The winners of the shield were Frank Lufkin's Colchester team, and after some general ringing those present adjourned to the Parish Hall for tea, and so popular was the afternoon that nearly 70 ringers and their friends sat down to tea, which was provided by the ladies of Isieworth Parish Church.

After tea, handbell ringing took place. Unfortunately only one team entered in the change ringing section, but they gave an excellent performance and easily passed the minumum mark necessary to be awarded the handbell change ringing shield; this was the team from St. John's, Hillingdon.

The last handbell ringing item was tune ringing; something a little different for most of the ringers present. There were two entritsone from St. Giles', Ashtead, and the othel the De Brome Handbell Society. The standard of both teams was extremely high and only one mark separated them, the De Brome ringers gainung the shield.

The provisional date for the next year's competition is Saturday, March 29th, at the same church. Teams considering the possibility of taking part should write, after September, to Mrs. D. J. Neal Smith, 93, Cole Park Road. Twickenham, Middlesex, when they will be sent a syllabus. Teams who have entered previously will automatically be on the mailing list and need not write.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Bellringers from eight towers in the Dorchester Branch and visitors from Canterbury met at Upwey on April 20th for the spring quarterly meeting. The six bells were rung to a variety of methods up to Cambridge Minor under the direction of Mr. E. H. Amey.

The Rector, the Rev. A. Leslie Jones, conducted the Guild service, and the organist was Mrs. J. Poyner, from Preston, the lesson being read by the Branch chairman, the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth. An excelient tea was provided by lady helpers and everyone had a piece of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Duke's wedding cake.
At the meeting members paid tribute to the memory of Mr. J. H. Hayne, tower correspondent and ringer for many years at Abbotsbury and a former Branch secretary. Details were given of the arrangements for the fortheoming Guild Festival at Wimborne Minster tomorrow.
Subject to approval, evening practices will be held at Bere Regis on May 18 Lh , Cattistock June 1st, Piddlehinton June 17th, Wyke Regis June 29th, and Maiden Newton July 27 th. Next quarterly meeting: St. Peter's, Dorchester, on July 13th.

FRATERNAL FRIENDLINESS

Dear Sir,-Having been elected a member of the Coventry Diocesan Guild of Bellringers as recently as April 20th I feel I should like to put on record the great spirit of friendliness which I have found exists among all bellringers.
Although only a novice as yet, I have been struck by the patience and warm welcome extended to myself by the more experienced bellringing fraternity, especially when they join in ringing mere "rounds" for my benefit.
In conclusion, I cannot praise too bighly our president and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Beamish, not only for their dedication to the Exercise in general but also for their belpful guidance to me and many other learners. Yours sincerely. GEOFFREY EDMANDS.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Ringers in North London are warned to beware of a man who may try to obtain money from them.
The Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Guild had an increase of 51 members in 1967. They also rang 51 peals.
Preb. J. H. B. Andrews, who has been hon. secretary and treasurer of the Clerical Guild of Ringers for the past 15 years, has resigned. His successor is the Rev. P. T. Robbins.
In our story of Edington Priory it should have been mentioned that Imber is now a part of this parish. "This is the reason." writes the Rev. Ralph E. H. Dudley, "that we are appropriating the bells from there,"
Timothy Angell, aged 12 , of Bradford-onAvon, who started ringing last September, rang the treble to a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles on March 31st for the service at which he was confirmed.
The enthusiasm of the Vicar of Bredgar for the rehanging and augmentation of the bells of his church was rewarded when he participated in a peal of Cambridge Minor recently on the new bells. The conductor was also particularly pleased to take part, as he had taught the Rev. S. M. Evans to ring in 1943.

The peals of Cambridge Surprise Major and Yorkshire Surprise Major at St. Peter's, Ash-ton-under-Lyne, on April 16 th, were rung consecutively, each ringer ringing the same bell.
The Rawlins School Campanological Society was restarted last September under the direction of Mr. D. L. Alderton, with the invaluable help of some members of the Humphrey Perkins School Campanological Society, Barrow-upon-Soar, Leicestershire, who joined this school in 1967. Since then some 60 or 70 pupils have tried ringing, of whom at least 10 have gone on to ring at their local church towers.
The Porthkerry (Glam) ringers rang at four cowers on their April outing, at Penhow (6) in the morning and at Lydncy (8) after lunch. where they were asked to ring beyond their scheduled time, for a special service for Scouts. At Newland, in a special service for Scouts. with a stay necessitated the removal of the Hastings uip, and with a stayless third some good ringing was enjoyed on fine six. After tea at Monmouth the last tower was at Skenfrith (6), where the Rector joined in the ringing.

LLANELLI NOW HAS A RING OF EIGHT

The dedication of two new bells and the opening of the restored tower and ring by the Lord Bishop of St. David's (Dr. John Richards) took place at St. Elli's, Llanelli, on April 20th. The six old bells were rung up singly before the service and the two new ones after the dedication, then as the Bishop returned to the sanctuary a short touch of Grandsire Triples was rung by Miss Joan Bailey (Llanelli) 1, S. V. Rees (Llanelli) 2, R. E. Scudamore (Llandeilo) 3, F. Sharpe (Launton, Oxon) 4, S. P. Rogers (Pembroke) 5, Rev. R. W. Thomas (St. Rogers (Pembroke, Master) 6, P. C. Rogers (Pembroke, Ringing Master) 7, W. P. E. Sage (Burry Rort) 8 .
The Bishop based his address on the story of the madman possessed by the legion of devils whom Jesus cured; by this miracle Our Lord made it possible for the man to return to his own family and friends and live in harmony and unity with them. He said that the two new bells had had to be tuned in such a way that they, too, could take their place in the existing ring of six and become a harmonious ring of eight.
The lessons were read by Mr . F . Sharpe and the Rev. D. Jenkins (curate): the organist was Mr. Alan Morris. The anthem sung by the choir was accompanied by organ and handbells. There was also a trumpet descant to the last hymn.
The whole congregation was entertained to tea, and the ringers, who returned to the tower afterwards, enjoyed their evening's ringing on the light eight.
The restoration of the tower (attributed to the 12 th century) has cost almost $£ 6,000$.

WALSALL RINGERS' SUPPER
Early in 1967 a sum of money was left to the Walsall ringers to be invested and the interest from this investment to be used to provide a supper annually for the ringers during the month of April.
The first of these suppers was held on April 24 th at the Quo Vadis Restaurant. The ringers met in the belfry before proceeding to the restaurant for the meal. Conviviality was the theme of the evening and an excellent meal was served which was enjoyed by everyonc.

The Vicar (the Rev. J. W. Jackson) joined us in time for a meal, much to the ringers' satisfaction. and he was very enthusiastic over the result of our efforts re the supper. At 10 p.m. we reluctantly left for home, everyone very delighted at our get-together and looking forward to next April.

RINGS OF TEN IN DORSET AND WHIS

E.C.S. writes: "I regret that in my note on rings of ten in Dorset and Wiltshire I omitted to mention Poole. I have tried to find some reasonable excuse for the error but I have not succeeded! I must apologise to the Poole band, and I thank Judith Robertson for drawing attention to my careless mistake."

FORTHCOMING PEAL ATTEMPTS

St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham, Saturday, May 18th, Hull Parish Church, 5 p.m., Superlative Surprise Maximus. Saturday, May 25th, Kendal, 2 p.m., Surprise Royal.

BROKEN STAY FOR CHARTHAM BRIDE
The six bells at St. Mary's, Chartham, Kent, were kept busy on Easter Monday on the occasion of the marriage of Martin E. Harrisson and Janet E. Cluett. A half-peal of 2,520 Plain Bob Minor was rung in the morning by an integrated band from Sturry and Chartham, and the bells were also rung before and after the wedding.
The bridegroom, originally a ringer at St. Nicholas', Sturry, is well known in Middlesex ringing circles, and before the wedding he and his best man rang in a touch of Minor with the local ringers.

After the wedding the bride was presented with an inscribed broken stay in remembrance of her early days of ringing at Chartham. All ringing friends wish Martin and Janet the very best for the future and hope they will find every happiness in their new home in Croydon.

"A WORTHY LIST»

Miss Anne Horsford, of Twickenham, commenting favourably on the reduction in the "tower grabbers" list, writes: I would like to see a list of those people who have rung for more than 100 services in their own church, attended at least 50 each year and taught at least two pupils per year to handle a bell. These, I feel, are the people worthy of names in "The Ringing World.'

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD

The following officers were elected at the annual general meeting on April 24th: President, W. J. Ridgman (Queens'); Master, A. F. Scholfield (Clare); secretary, R. L. Underwood (Peterhouse).

CHEW DEANERY'S STRIKING CONIDST
The sixth annual striking competition of the Chew Deanery Branch was held at Butcombe on April 20th, when a record entry of 12 teams representing nine towers took part. The splendid setting, fine weather and ready cooperation of the Rector made this a memorable occasion, and the judge, Mr. A. M. Tyler, of Bristol, was kept very busy.

The test piece was again 120 changes of Doubles or Minor, with not more than 12 whole pull of rounds before or after. Each team was also allowed up to two minutes unmarked rounds to get the feel of the bells.

When all the teams had rung, the Rector, the Rev. A. W. J. Reader, and the judge joined the competitors and churchyard critics for tea in the Village Hall, after which Mr. Tyler gave his placings and comments on the performance of the various teams.

The results were: 1 Long Ashton 17 faults (made up of 34 half-faults), 2 Backwell A 26 ( 10 whole, 32 half), 3 Kingston Seymour B 27 ( 5 whole, 44 half), 4 Kingston Seymour A 28 (4 whole, 48 half), 5 Yatton 29 ( 11 whole, 36 half), 6 Nailsea A 30 ( 4 whole, 52 half), 7 Backwell B 31 ( 14 whole, 34 half), 8 Portbury 38 ( 18 whole, 40 half), 9 Nailsea B 43 ( 10 whole, 66 half), 10 Wraxall 62 ( 37 whole, 50 half). Wrington and Winford were disqualified for not ringing the required number of changes.

After thanks were accorded to all who had contributed to such an enjoyable competition and certificates were presented to the first and second teams, Butcombe and Nempnett Thrubwell towers were available for general ringing.

MUCH PUBLICISED EAST RIDING RINGERS

For many years the East Riding ringers have had an annual Easter tour, cycling around various areas of the country, sampling many fine rings of bells. The 1968 tour failed to differ in this respect and the ringers enjoyed every tower-contrary to a report published in the "Lincolnshire Echo."

Our tour was a success at soon as we arrived at the Lincoln Youth Hostel. Here, before an excellent meal, we began to ring Plain Bob Major on our handbells. This advent brought the warden to investigate and on hearing that we were touring Lincolnshire to ring at neighbouring towers he arranged for the Press to publicise it. Next morning we received a telephone call from the "Yorkshire Post "asking for an interview, which was immediately given. That afternoon the "Lincolnshire Echo" greeted us at Navenby, but their report gave en inaccurate story and was not given by the spokesman for the party. Our fame seemed to be increasing. The following day saw the B.B.C. filming us for "Look North" at Eagle, and on Friday Anglia Television made a film for their equivalent programme. By now we were so well known that whenever we asked someone the way we were immediately recognised as "being on the television last night."

Despite the fact that only 11 ringers took advantage of the tour, the standard of ringing was high, Surprise Major being rung as well as Plain and Surprise Spliced Minor. Probably our best ringing took place on the easy-going extremely fine ring of eight at St. Giles', Lincoln.

It was agreed by the band that the tour was made a success by the tremendous hospitality at Lincoln Youth Hostel, and all hope to visit it again in the near future. R.A.B.

SIXTY YEARS A RINGER

It was in February, 1908, that Bill Shute first learned to ring at Buckhorn Weston, Dorset, and now, 60 years later, he is still going strong. During this time he has tirelessly taught many learners and rung many peals with his boundless enthusiasm. For over 40 years he has been a popular Rinping Master for the North Dorset Branch, since its inception. From 1935 he has lived at Ferndown, which was in the parish of Hampreston. Here he gave invaluable assistance to the local band, and so it was felt this tower was a suitable place for a congratulatory quarter peal. This was rung on April 27th, and the band hope that this tribute in some small way will show their appreciation to Bill for all he has taught them and other ringers. We now look forward to Bill achieving 70 years as a ringer.

It is hoped to hold a ringers' social gathering on June 29th at Hampreston, to which all Bill's many friends are invited. Details will be announced later.

77 YEARS A RINGER

Congratulations to Mr. J. Cheetham, of Dunholme, Lincs, on his 90th birthday. Appropriately the oocasion was commemorated by a peal of Minor in seven methods at St. Chad's Church. Dunholme, on April 15 th.

Mr. Cheetham learned to ring at North Collingham. near Newark, 77 years ago. His service to Dunholme Church, where he was married 52 years ago, has been conspicuous. He was the first cecretary to the Parochial Church Council and later became Vicar's warden. His service in the belfry has been out standing.

Restoration of the Bells at Newhey, Lancs

THE belis of St. Thomas', Newhey, had for years been the despair of intending peal ringers (the last successful peal attempt being in 1952), successive bands of local ringers hau become discouraged, and the bells had been silent for long periods since 1939. In 1963, however, a new Vicar was appointed to the parish, and his wife, a non-ringer but bell enthusiast, gathered together yet another band of would-be ingers. We struggled, with the guidance of the only two of our number with any previous experience, untl one evening the sounds brought a visit from the ringing secretary of the Lancashire Association, who had been passing through the village. On his advice and in response to his persistent invitations, we began timidly to visit other towers in the neighbourhood. By this time the second and fifth bells at Newhey were completely unringable and the two bellfounders were called in. These agreed that the complete structure was unsafe and nothing short of a new installation would suffice. Accordingly, the bells were rung down for the last time on June 28th, 1964.

At this stage the tower captain at Milnrow, our nearest neighbour, invited us to continue our ringing at this tower. This we have been glad to do and have benefited greatly from his guidance and experience.

Whilst enjoying ringing at Milnrow, we felt that something should be done about our own tower at Newhey and-in spite of opposition from some quarters-in March, 1965, the P.C.C. gave their approval to a bell restoration appeal, starting with a house-to-house collection, the target being $£ 2,000$ to restore the bells. Following this we had concerts, ${ }^{\text {a }}$ slide show, cookery demonstration, competitions, etc., and received one donation of $£ 50$. The Lancashire Association gave $£ 25$ but we still had only a little over $£ 500$ by November, 1966, when the Vicar and his good lady re turned to Ireland. One member of the restoration committee gave all her earnings as church cleaner over a period of 18 months to the fund, and with other smaller donations (not forgetting "kitty" money given to us over the years !) the fund stood at just over £600 when the new Vicar was inducted in July, 1967.

ORIGINAL TARGET TOO HIGH
From the outset we had the wholehearted support of the Vicar, but clearly our original target of $£ 2,000$ was too high. Money was needed for other purposes and we must settle for a lighter ring if we were to have any bells at all. Further letters passed between Vicarage and foundries (several also between our friend the ringing secretary and the foundries!), discussions were held with Lancashire Association members, and the present ring of eight decided upon. Money was now coming in more readily, chiefly due to the Vicar's efforts, but not forgetting another $£ 25$ trom the Lancashire Assoctation plus one of $\pm 10$ trom the Kochdale Branch and $£ 50$ which had been promised in 1965 " when we were nearing the target." There was, however, still the need to cut costs wherever possible, as local work, additional to the bellfounders' estimate, could add hundreds of pounds and kill the project. During one discussion certain Lancashire Association enthusiasts decided that one job they could do themselves would be to lower the bells, and this work was undertaken by four stalwarts from Heptonstall, Walsden, Milnrow and Newhey, witn occasional help from a 1 odmorden ringer.

Tnere were ripe remarks when the first four went up to plan their campaign. Pigeons abounded (with all that goes with pigeons!) and auring tne early weeks part of the task was to rid the tower of these uninvited guests. It was obvious that the main work was, to quote Chomas Edison, to consist of 1 per cent. inspiration and 99 per cent. perspiration. However, nothing daunted, the work commenced and before long the bell chamber resounded to breaking wheels and occasional chiming bells when pieces of unwanted timber missed their mark on their way to the door below. Hurnour was rife and hearty laughter was added to what the local Press called - ghostly noises issuing from Newhey bell tower." A good system was adopted, half the evening being spent in dismantling and the other half in lowering the debris to the porch and thence to the tip. When it came to the actual lowering of the bells some good chain blocks and sings, kindly loaned by a local engineering works, were used. The height of the bells and the shortness of the chain blocks sometimes necessitated three chain blocks being coupled together to enable the porch floor to be reached. Unorthodox, perhaps, but constant checks regarding safety were made at each move. The Vicar kept us informed on his correspondence with the bellfounders, popping in with encouraging words and impressing with his interest and enthusiasm. All the bells were lowered and in the porch for Harvest Festival Sunday. This provoked a lively interest from the congregation, half of whom thought they were "rather big" and the other half "rather small "! The following day the bells were taken to Loughborough, transport having been arranged by the engineering works gentleman who had loaned the lifting tackle.

The old timber frame was next to be dismantled, and much sawing and hammering took place before the tower was empty. One point not overlooked whilst there was still somewhere to rest a ladder was the repairing of the louvres and blocking up of ingress points of the pigeons. All the work was carried out with great cheerfulness and entirely without mishap, and no praise is too high for the splendid volunteers, two of whom travelled many miles twice a week for the whole of the two months the job lasted.

DEDICATION SERVICE FIXED

At last the bellfounders could be told that the tower was empty and their plans were awaited with mounting excitement. The dedication service was fixed for March 31st, 1968, and the fitter from Messrs. Taylor arrived on February 27th with frame, girders, etc., to commence installation. At the beginning of this year we were pleased to welcome to our band a local unattached ringer of skill and experience who, owing to ill-health, had been absent from ringing for four years. With characteristic enthusiasm he now assisted the bellhanger at every possible moment, spending some of his annual leave days in the tower and generally making himself invaluable. The bellhanger conmented that he had never hung bells so fast in his life!

All was in readiness a fortnight before $D$ Day and the ringers cautiously took hold for the preliminary trial. Apart from some minor adjustments, this went off surprisingly well, though it did not go unnoticed that we seemed to have a ringing chamber full of tenor ringers. (Tenar 4 cwt. 1 qr. 17 lb .) However, experience overcame the initial difficulty in handling and after a few constructive suggestions all that remained was the answer to "When are we ringing the first peal?"
Now that the bells were safely installed, attention turned to the ringing chamber. During the following fortnight many hours were spent in repairing the ceiling, then in general tidying up and cleaning. Regrettably there was no time to renew the lighting and decorate, but we feel sure our visitors on the day of dedication overlooked this.
The service deserves special mention. Everyone who helped in the restoration must have fel: that this was a most fitting culmination of their efforts. For members of the original band the atmosphere could not have been more moving, the most poignant moment being when ringers, chosen from those who had worked so hard and officials of the Rochdale Branch, made their way quietly to the tower to ring for one minute after the Lord Bishop of Manchester had offered the prayer of dedication.

This then was what our Vicar described as a wonderful day in the life of our church, and it is with a feeling of intense pride that we at Newhey offer our hospitality to all ringers, whose brotherhood has been proved in this little spot in Lancashire.

METHOD EXTENSION No. 7
Double Oxford Bob Minor extends correctly to all stages and the Maximus has yet to be rung. Although the 4th is pivot bell in all stages in both Double Oxford and Double Court, with the latter only the Maximus gives the same sequence of lead-head place-bells. Single Oxford and Single Court can only be named in higher stages by their relationship to the Double methods, as they also fail to extend correctly for the same reason. Double Court Maximus:

Holy Trinity Church, Meldreth, Cambs

MELDRETH village is ten miles southeast of Cambridge, near the borders of Hertfordshire and Bedfordshire. It is one of the most southerly parishes of the Ely Diocese. It has a population of some 900 , lies in a mainly agricultural area and is becoming increasingly popular for commuters to London and Hertfordshire industrial towns. The village is long and straggling with the parish church at the northern end.

There has been a church on the same site since Saxon times and the present building has many features of its Norman origin. The Norman church, which consisted of a nave, chancel and low west tower, was built of Barnack stone and completed about 1200 and remained in this form for a century or more. Between 1300 and 1350 decorated windows were cut into the thick Norman walls on the north side of the nave and chancel, and a great east window was inserted in 1379. An upper storey was added to the tower. During the fifteenth century the Norman roof of the nave was removed, a clerestory added, and the small Norman chancel enlarged. The south aisle and porch were built of flint and local clunch. The exterior has remained almost unchanged for four hundred years except for some plaster put on as protection during the last century.

THE BELLS

Nothing is known of the history of the ring of three or four bells which existed before 1855. During that year two bells were cast and hung by John Taylor of Loughborough, making a ring of four. In 1887 a treble was added by Gilletts of Croydon and hung above the other four. Owing to the poor state of the medieval frame the bells were seldom rung. In 1937 Alfred Bowell of Ipswich rehung the five in a new six-bell teak frame, with entirely new fittings, at a cost of $£ 298$ (which included overhauling the clock!). A treble was added in 1950 by Mears and Stainbank as a memorial to the men of the parish who gave their lives in the two world wars. There were probably three peals on the old five and 38 peals on the six. One of these was the 2,000 th peal for the Ely Diocesan Association, and many of them included learners ringing their first peals.
In February, 1967, the fifth bell cracked in the soundbow. She was a Miles Graye III. of 1665 , and after an inspection in June it was decided to recast both this and the second, which had poor tone. These, together with the third and fourth, were removed from the tower by the local ringers and taken to the Whitechapel Foundry. The third and fourth were retuned and were rehung with the two recast bells by Mr. John Gipson and his helpers. The bells now made a first-class ring of six, heard again in August, 1967, and another peal was rung.
Later that year John Gipson acquired a disused bell, originally cast by Taylor's and hung in a chapel in a Cambridge cemetery, and from this metal Mears and Stainbank cast two trebles to complete the octave. Once again the local ringers got to work, constructing new framework and moving bells to other pits. Mr. W. Newman of Litlington skilfully made the two new wheels. On February 8th, 1968, the new bells were collected from Whitechapel and were on view to members of the congregation during the weekend. On February 13th Mr. John Gipson and Mr. Dennis Pepper finished hanging them and they were rung by local ringers that evening.

In order to make more room in the ringing chamber a stone coffin was moved to a more prominent position in the church and the clock-case was cut back. All who have rung and listened to these bells agree that this new Cambridgeshire eight is indeed a credit to all concerned. They were dedicated by the Rev. Canon Gilbert Thurlow on May 11th.

IT was the turn of the Blackburn Branch annual meeting this year and the main was held in St. James' Church, and in an

 T. Wood) extended a cordial welcome.About 120 sat down to tea and the business meeting followed shortly after.

PROFICIENCY CERTIFICATES

The president (Canon A. Hodgson) wasted no time in preliminaries and soon had affairs under way. One of the conditions of obtaining a proficiency certificate is the ringing of a peal. A motion was put forward to alter this to a quarter peal but this and the amendment to refer it to the committee were quite firmly rejected by those present.

It is interesting to note that during 1967 certificates had been awarded to the following members: Mrs. Elien Parker (Halsall), Rev. C. J. Herbert (Rainford), Kenneth and Alan Wilson (Southport), Ivan Pass and Wyn Pugh (Oldham), Douglas Deakin, Kevan and Nigel Dean (Accrington), David Bennett (Newton-leWillows), Ian Smith (Darwen), John Illingworth and Neil T. E. Burnett (Westhoughton), Janet Lawson (Newhey), Michael Tompsett (Healey) and Bryan D. Hill (Blackburn).

In presenting his report, the ringing secretary (Mr. J. P. Partington) commented on the fact that following the notice in the Ringing World" the receipt of peal reports had improved noticeably.

INCREASE IN PEALS

During 1967190 peals were rung for the Association, an increase of 12 over last year. As last year, 19 of them were on handbells and the 171 on tower bells consisted of Maximus 11. Cinques 2, Royal 23, Caters 1. Major 84, Triples 10, Minor 33, Doubles 6 and Minimus 1 (first ever for the Association).
Thirty members rang their first peal and 49 members shared the conducting, three their first as conductor. Leading conductors were Kevin M. Price ( $21 \frac{1}{2}$ ), John H. Fielden (17), Geoffrey Fothergill (15). Leading peal ringers: John H. Fielden (42), Maryl R. Fielden (35), to be hosts for the Lancashire Association activities centred on Accrington. The service interesting address the Vicar (the Rev. W.

Jeffrey Brannan (33), Cyril Crossthwaite (32). The leading tower for peals was St. Peter's, Ashton-under-Lyne, with 12.

The peal of ten-Spliced Surprise Maximus contaning all the work for each bell and representing the maximum number of methods in such a normal peal was rung for the very first time. Similarly, the Spliced Surprise Royal "all the work" peals in six, eight and ten methods were the most achieved at their respective dates.

The treasurer (Mr. J. F. Wood) presented his accounts; these are in quite a satisfactory state, and the recently-formed Bell Restoration Fund looks really healthy already.

Being the only nominee for vice-president, Mr. Dennis Jones was declared elected and he warmly thanked the members. The general secretary (Mr. F. Reynolds) was also declared re-elected.
Members were reminded of the annual dinner which will again be in Preston on Saturday, October 26th.

An innovation this year will be a garden party at Goosnargh Vicarage on Saturday, June 29th. The president extended a hearty welcome not only to ringers but also their families and friends.

As a gesture of appreciation for her interest in ringing and the Association, the president proposed that Mrs. Joan Reynolds be elected an honorary life member. This was approved unanimously.

The president expressed his pleasure at seeing all Branches represented, and also extended a welcome to the visitors, among whom were Mr. J. Fidler and Mr. E. Hudson with several others from Yorkshire.

Grateful thanks were offered to the members of the Blackburn Branch for their organisation of the meeting and all who had helped to make it such an enjoyable day.

National Guild SOUTH EASTERN DISTRICT FORMED

A MILESTONE was reached on April 27th, when the National Guild of Police Ringers officially started its split into three Districts. It was the first meeting of the South Eastern District, held at Ware and Hertford. Until now the Guild had been operated on a nationwide basis and had become difficult to manage. At the last annual general meeting a decision was reached to set up three Districts, and under the close scrutiny of ex-Sgt. Charles Willmington, acting as Master, despite several bouts of iliness, arrangements were finalised for the South Eastern.
Members and their families met at St. Mary's, Ware, and were made welcome by Mr . V. R. Tubby, the tower secretary. Ringing included good striking of Stedman Triples, After paying our respects to the Vicar, several cars headed in the direction of Holy Trinity, Bengeo. Met and welcomed this time by the good wife of the towerkeeper, ringing included good touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Kent and Bob Major (due no doubt to the warm-up at Ware). At 5 p.m., our respects to the Vicar completed, our destination was the Police Headquarters at Hertford, where Insp. Wardrobe, of the Hertford Constabulary, and his catering staff had prepared a splendid tea.
The first South Eastern District meeting then took place in the Police Clubhouse. The chair was taken by the Acting Master, who outlined to members the reasons for the splitting up of the Guild, and although there were one or two small points to be ironed out, things were getting under way very smoothly. The split, in his opinion, could only do good and already there had been an increase in membership from places where no one knew of the existence of police ringers. He believed the only way to keep in touch with members was to keep them interested and make new ones. It was not the idea to take away the authority of the national secretary, but would strengthen his hand by having the District secretaries working for him.

The meeting was then asked to elect a secretary. P.C. Peter Shonk (Metropolitan), who had been acting as secretary, was proposed and elected unanimously. Supt. Ronald Hagley (Surrey Constabulary) was elected Master of the District, rnd ex-Det.-Insp. George Amor was elected to serve as a committee member. New members elected were P.C.'s William Page and Trevor Davies, hoth serving Surrey officers, and P.C.'s Clyde Curtis. Leonard Pryke and Allan Knight, all of the Suffolk Constabulary.

After further discussions regarding future outings, the chairman proposed a vote of thanks to all those who had helped to make the day a success, including the police and staff at Hertford and to Mr. Peter Searles, the local Hertford District secretary.

Ringing followed at St. Andrew's, Hertford, and ended at $8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. with a good rouch of Bob Major. With respects paid to the Vicar it was hack to the Club House for a general get-together and the odd pint for those not driving home.

LANCASHIRE TO-DAY  Canon A. Hodgson, president of the Lancashire Association, gives this telling message in the Association 1967 Report:"Last year, with that touch of modesty for which we Northerners are noted, I was saying that we are never so colourful as the South or so vociferous as the Midlands. Such is the profound and abysmal ignorance of presidents generally and this one in particular that even before the ink was dry Norman Smith had broken another sound barrier in his composition of Spliced Surprise Major and a peal was rung for the Association at Heptonstal in sixteen methods, being the greatest number rung to a peal of Spliced Surprise Major containing all the work of each method for every bell. From there the band went on to complete the sequence.

"That was colourful enough, but certainly not vociferous. Now to be completely up to date our chaps seem to have set Birmingham properly alight with this peal of Glasgow Surprise Major. Thank goodness they still retain their sense of humour about the whole thing and that no doubt the fertile minds to discover still more uncharted paths in the field of ringing.
"The Association manages to get a lot of fun out of its ringing and its fellowship. The Annual Dinner in 1967 was a great success and will no doubt set a pattern for such future occasions. We hope to see as many of our ringers and their families as possible at the Vicarage here on Saturday, June 29th, for a garden party at which there will be plenty to interest everyone.

> "Amidst all the fun and games the real work of the Association through its service ringing goes on steadily. It ts never very spectacular; many service ringers never graduate beyond it and very few reach the exalted ranks of the Spliced Surprise band. But we hope they get their own satisfaction and pleasure from their ringing, and we thank them for their services to the Church."

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The Witney and Woodstock Branch at its annual general meeting at Witney on April 20th agreed, after discussion to the introduction of a progress system. Six new Guild members were elected.

Officers elected for the coming year were: Chairman, Rev. F. Wilkins; deputy chairman, Mr. D. J. Smith; secretary, Mr. E. R. Venn, Kimberley, Wootton, Woodstock; treasurer and Ringing Master, Mr. D. Floyd, Torwood. Queen Street, Eynsham; Guild representauves, Messrs. D. Patching and D. J. Smith The retiring treasurer, Mr. A. Cantwell, was thanked for his services.

Good use was made of the Witney bells for an hour and a half before the service, which was conducted by Captain Newman, R.A.F.i as the church is without an incumbent. Local ladies provided an excellent tea in the Friends' Meeting House, and in the evening methods up to Surprise Major were attempted.

ALDRIDGE, STAFFS.-On April 17 th, 1,440 Plain Bob Minor: Diana White 1. M. Mulvey 2, Rosemary White 3. M. Allery (first of Minor and "inaide") 4. J. Buron 5, C. Bainham (cond) 6.

THE annual "Week" of the Guild of Clerical Ringers seems to be turning into an annual retreat! Following last year's enjoyable sojourn at the Lincoln Diocesan Retreat House, the centre chosen this year was the Old House, Cropthorne, the retreat and conference house of the Diocese of Worcester. This was a very happy choice-not only was the party of about 30 members, wives and children most comfortably housed, but Cropthorne itself proved to be an admirable centre, situated as it is on the banks of the Avon between Evesham and Pershore, beneath Bredon Hill, and within easy reach of a splendid concentration of lovely towers and fine bells.

Members met at Tewkesbury at 2.30 p.m. on the Monday following Low Sunday. After a delay caused by a funeral the bells were raised, and a reasonable course of Grandsire Cinques rung. Plain Bob Maximus was persevered in until the end, but the sound produced was not a very happy one. The party then made its way to Cropthorne in time for dinner, compassing Bredon Hill, and calling first at Bredons Norton, where several methods were well struck on the easy light six, and then at Overbury, where the beautifully-kept church and churehyard in their lovely setting seem to bear witness to a good working agreement between God and Mammon. Certainly some of the affluence connected with banking seems to have been diverted here. In the evening we sampled the six at the nearby parish church, and had an anxious moment when we discovered that the trap door through which we had entered the belfry could not be raised. There were proposals to ring an S.O.S., but fortunately a misplaced catch suddenly yielded and communication was re-established with the outside world.

IN THE CAGE

On Tuesday our first tower was at Pershore, where after the timorous had taken their courage in both hands a full party gathered in the cage. Yorkshire was successfully rung here. We repassed Pershore several times and never ceased to wonder at the beauty of the Abbey and its glorious tower. Earl's Croome (a Norman gem of a church) was visited en route to Upton-on-Severn, where a nominally successful course of London Major was rung. The coach took us on to the Malvern Hills for our picnic lunch, and the fears of some, who had envisaged some bleak mountain top, were dispelled when it parked close to an hotel at British Camp. Some climbed yet further in enjoy the magnificent views, and some younger members were nearly left behind, having found the superior attraction of the local juke-box. A short visit was paid to the six at Hanley Swan, and then in sudden torrential rain we rang at Malvern Link. A pleasant touch of Double Norwich on the good eight made some of us wonder why this excellent method is so neglected these days. After grappling with the heavy six at Powick we returned to the Old House, and the day ended with an hour's practice on our local member's bells-the Bell Tower at Evesham, where all admired the fine twelve, and Stedman Cinques and Treble Twelve were the best achievements.

A CLERICAL PEAL

While most of the party rang on Wednesday morning on the sixes at Great and Little Comberton and Elmley Castle, and drank coffee (?) nearby, a band scored quite a reasonable peal of Grandsire Triples at Hinton-on-the-Green An enjoyable lunch hous was spent on the banks of the Avon in the sun at Offenham Ferry, after which the six at Middle Littleton were put to good use in a variety of methods. More funeral trouble dogged us (we can't escape, however hard we try ! and denied us our next tower, but Salford Priars was kindly made available to us at short notice, so we slipped into Warwickshire and rang Superlative, not very superlatively. After this we sried to ring at Bidford-on-Avon in the same county. Here the lure of tea, served in the adjoining Vicarage garden (again on the banks of the Avon), proved too strong, and we remember Bidford for the tea and the Vicar's kind hospitality rather than for the ringing. We finished with ringing at Norton, and the Guild Evensong was sung here.

THE COMPANY

ONE THAT GOT AWAY

The great disappointment came on Thursday. An attempt for the elusive clerical peal of Bob Royal at Claines lasted for $2 \frac{1}{2}$ hours and then was sadly lost in sight of the end. We gathered that the faithful semnant did not spend too happy a morning either, having clock-hammer trouble at Ombersley, which prevented ringing there, and not doing justice to the bells at Grimley and Hallow (at Grimley the incumbent solemnly warned the ringers not to strain the tenor rope too much). It was perhaps appropriate that we spent our lunch hour at the Mug House at Claines, although the warm sunshine soon tempted the peal band (failed) out of the "Mug's Bar " into the garden. The afternoon was spent in Worcester with ringing at St. John's, St. Swithun's and All Saints'. (Cambridge Royal was successful here.) A delightful tea was laid on at the Church House Club. On our way back we rang on the pleasant six at Stoulton Church, and the party were much diverted to have the privilege of ringing on Mr. Jopp's own six at his home nearby; Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor were achieved on this incredibly light six. Perhaps the best wine was kept until last, for the evening ringing was at Great Hampton. The bells are a nice eight (tenor $12 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), they go and can be heard perfectly, and they seem to settle naturally into a good beat. Good striking marked the achievement of Stedman, Bristol and London.
The party kept together well on the Friday morning, ringing at Badsey, Bretforton and Broadway before we finally dispersed. A fitting climax came near the end, at Brelforton. when a course of London was rung by eight members of the Guild.
At the annual general meeting of the Guild, held at the Old House, Cropthorne, on the Wednesday evening, the resignation was received with great regret of the hon. secretary and treasurer, Preb. J. H. B. Andrews. With his urbane wit and humour and quiet efficiency he has done a wonderful job for the Guild for the past 15 years and things can never be quite the same again. The president, the Rev.
R. D. St. J. Smith, the vice-presidents, Canons B. F. Sheppard and K. W. H. Felstead, and committee members, the Revs. I. J. Richards and J. B. T. Homfray, were all unanimously re-elected, and the Rev. P. T. Robbins was appointed as the new hon. secretary and treasurer. Two new members were elected. Next year's "Week "was provisionally fixed for the Oxford area, with West Kent as an alternative.

Great help was given in all the arrangements by the Vicar of Evesham, the Rev. A. Webb. and we were delighted to have both him and his tower captain, Mr. Geoffrey Hemming, with us throughout the week. Springtime in the Vale of Evesham is a lovely time, and we were able to enjoy it to the full through the benevolence of the weather, and with the kind co-operation of all who allowed us the use of their bells, who met us, who helped us and who attended to our needs. In every way this was a memorable, happy and successful week. and we are deeply grateful to all who made it so.

TRURO GUILD OF RINGERS

The Penzance Branch held their Spring Festival at Wendron on May 4th, when some 70 ringers attended. During the service a plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells. Tea was provided by the ladies of Wendron.
At the meeting the next Festival was provisionally arranged for October 19th, possibly at Manaccan.
Towers represented were Carbis Bay, Gulval, Helston, Lelant, Madron, Mawgan, Paul and Phillack.
The bells were also rung at Crowan, Mawgan and Helston.

DEVON RINGERS' TOUR

Several members of the Devon Guild, under the leadership of Mr. A. L. Bennett, of Buckfastleigh, held another successful tour on May 4th, when eight towers in North Devon were visited. Accompanying him were Mr. and Mrs. N. Mallett and family (Exeter), Misses V. Stephens and M. Hawkins, Messrs. C. A. Caffry and D. J. Roberts and family (Torquay), Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Myers and family (Plymouth) Messrs. S. Pierce, D. Pearse. A. Frost, J. Steer (Stoke Damerell), D. R. Bould, G. E. Mudge, J. C. Michelmore, E. J. Cann and P. Perkins (Tavistock). A. L. B.

Dr. D. L. Gullick New President of Herts Association

THE Northern District were hosts this year for the annual general meeting of the Hertford County Association, which was held at Hitchn on April 20th. Ringing during the day was enjoyed at towers throughout the District, including Wallington, where ringing has recently been resumed after repairs to the sower. The service at St. Mary's, Hitchin, was conducted by the senior curate, the Rev. J. A. Holden, with an address by the Vicar, the Rev. R. E. Meredith. The lessons were read by the general secretary, Mr. A. R. Agg, and the president, Mr. E. T. Newnham. A rouch of Spliced Surprise Major on handbells was rung during the service by Mrs. S. K. M. Baldwin 1-2, J. R. Mayne 3-4, R. Baldwin $5-6$, and G. Penney 7-8.

Following the service a record number of over 170 members and friends sat down to tea before the business meeting wus opened by the president. The meeting stood in silence in memory of those members who had died during the year; these included one life member, Mr. R. Cook (King's Langley) and Messrs E. Bradfield (Sandon), E. G. Buck (Baldock), A. W. Coles (North Mymms), H. Gates (Hemel Hempstead) and J. Weaving (Tewin).

Reading the report of the Management Committee, the general secretary reminded members of their obligations in helping to ease the burden of routine work of the Association's officers. The regular payment of subscriptions, remission of peal reports and alterations of tower records would enable officers to devote a greater proportion of their available time to other ringing activities. Production of the Annual Report for circulation prior to the annual general meeting required the co-operution of everyone; delay from any one quarter could jeopardise the timetable imposed by the printers.

In presenting his report, the treasurer. Mr. H. Collings, indicated an excess income of over f12. Although there had been a significant fall in the income from subscriptions, a donation and interest from the Association's investments had ensured a reasonable credit balance. Mr. Collings successfully dealt with several searching questions from the floor of the hall regarding the statement of accounts.

The peal secretary's teport showed a further decrease in the number of peals rung, although the number of conductors and first pealers remained reasonably high. The wide range of methods recorded included the first peal of Surprise Maximus to be rung on handbells outside Leicester. The convener of the Central Council's Peals Analysis Committec raised a quiver of alarm regarding a peal which had apparently not been recorded; it was subSequently realised that the relevant "Ringing World" report had carried the wrong date.

The following new members were elected : Miss Julia E. Indge (North Mymms), Mr. N. R. Perrin (Benington) and Misses Christine A. Eliason and Jane M. Drew (Knebworth). Mr. G. Parson (Hemel Hempstead) was transferred from probationary to full membership.

The meeting then proceeded with the election of officers. Dr. D. L. Gullick, of Stevenage. was elected as president for 1968 and installed with his badge of office by the retiring president. In thanking members for the great honour which they had conferred on him, Dr. Gullick expressed the Association's gratitude to Mr. Newnham for his services during his tenure of office. Dr. Gullick said that as a medical secretary he had closcly studied the performance of committee chairmen and found that they fell into three general categories. Some hammered the table continuously and stifled reasonable debate ; others sat back and allowed discussion to drift ineffectually from the topic under review; while a minority controlled the procedure with a quiet but effective resiraint, to the benefit of all concerned. From his inquiries he was assured that Mr. Newnham was included in the last named. A vote of thanks to Mr. Newnham was warmly applauded. The remainder of the officers were re-elected with the exception of the peal secretary; Mrs. C. A. Agg did not seek re-election as she had taken over as Northern District secretary, and Mr. G. Penney was appointed as her successor.

Plans for the forthcoming visit of the Central Council to the county in 1969 were outlined by the general secretary. This would be the first meeting of the Council in Hertfordshire and every effort was being made to ensure the success of the venture. Considerable publicity would be generated in connection with the visit and it was up to each tower to be prepared to encourage recruitment and interest from their own areas.

A relatively short meeting was brought to a close with Mr. R. E. Sheppard fulfilling his now customary role by proposing a vote of thanks to all concerned with the arrangements for the day's activities. Further ringing took place at the local tower under the direction of the Distric: Ringing Master, Mr. M. D. Trigg, and at Offley.

WHAT YDU MAY FIND IN YEARS AHEAD By $P$. AMOS

$I^{T}$must have been a surprising moment for those working on the foundations of York Minster recently to strike bell metal and other parts of bell making materials. Equally so was a case at Empingham in Rutland in 1876, when parts of a temporary furnace and bell metal were unearthed in a field near the church, believed to have been left there from work on the bells in 1695.
Iron ore minings and gravel workers, as well as back gardens, often throw up histories of years ago-Northamptonshire is full of such histories.
We had the remarkable case recently where at Islip, near Thrapston, a mechanical digger struck thick. very old timber, which in turn sent archeologists and other experts to investigate No one could believe at first that it was a bridge dating back as far as the 12 th century. but that was the experts' conclusion after ali the evidence had been sifted. The River Nene had centuries ago flowed beneath it, its course having since been altered.

GARDEN TREASURES

Then at Welford a short time ago a resident digging in his garden struck an object. It turned out to be a silver chalice of 1518. believed to have been hidden 20 years later ( 1538 period) when the dissolution of the monasteries by Henry VIII took place. It has since been claimed as treasure trove and is believed one of only seven known to be like it.
Also recently from a garden at Stony Stratford on the North Bucks border was unearthed a few coins, among them a good specimen of one of Henry III (1216-1272)-this long reign of 56 years doubtless accounts for there being odd ones still to be seen.
Five miles north of there is Grafton Regis, the village with a royal history. It was from here that Edward IV married his queenElizabeth Woodville, a commoner and daughter of Sir John Woodville-against the wishes of the Earl of Warwick. the King-Maker, after the Lancastrian v. Yorkist battles of 1461. Ploughing up a field some seven to eight years ago, a farmer came across what was undoubtedly che foundations of the old manor house where the Woodvilles lived. It sent quite a sensation through the village and surrounding district because for years another house had been thought to have been the manor.

MEDIAVVAL BELL FRAME

In Grafton Regis Church tower is one of the oldest mediaval bell frames possible to find other than Fawsley and portions of that at Towcester. Up till 20 years ago it possessed cour bells-then augmented to five. One of the old four is known to have been paid for from sale of forestry about 1491, when William Chamberlayne was supplying bells in that area from London. The murder of the two princes of Elizabeth Woodville by their uncle, the Duke of Gloucester (later Richard III). one of whom was proclaimed Edward $V$ for two months and never crowned, no doubt changed the pattern of English royal history.
Richard III. as Duke of Gloucester, was a frequent visitor to Blaston in Leicestershire, where he gave a chalice to the church: this small but picturesque village on a summer evening has two churches, one in ruins, the other a rebuild of 1866 . Some miles to the north west is Market Bosworth, where Richard himself was slain. Odd pieces of armour have been unearthed in the past from the battleground. as also from Naseby in Northants, where Charles I was defeated two centuries later.
Bells have figured in many wars, and no less in the Cromwellian civil wars than in recent ones-tor melting for cannon, warning aids, hiding to steal, and even to rolt into ponds as one story has it at Canons Ashby, Northants. where there was a battle inside the church between Royalists and "Roundheads"

A "BOB MAJOR" TOWER

Here there is a massive tower, nicknamed "Bob Major" tower locally, because eight bells could hang in it comfortably whereas there is only one, no bigger than a sanctus bell.
There is a story that at the time Hugh Watts was casting bells for Preston Capes in 1631 he moade four for Canons Ashby. Sorpe 12 years later they were seized in the battle and sent to the bottom of the viliage lake. There have been no bells there since. For many years the church has been closed.

There is a similar story about belis lost to the small village church at Preston Deanery, Northants, between 1585 and 1622. when a certain Jasper Hertwell occupied the manor, plundered the church, selling the lead and the bells. it is believed, to Richard Benetlye, an itinerant bellfounder of the time.

Lakes have been dragged for other relics, and from the village pond at Isleham, Cambs. some years ago was fetched out a preReformation lectern.
In these days one can never guess what may come to light in excavations. Who knows, one of the very earliest of bells may one day be discovered, perhaps at Glastonbury or some such old historic spot.
Notton, near Daventry, Weedon Bec, Crick. Irchester and Moulton, Northants, have all been the scene of precious finds. and a short while ago when demolishing an old coltage at Ashton, workmen found a box of old coins of the short reign of James II. all dated between 1686 and 1688. tucked away in the roof. These too are now treasure trove muscum pieces.

PLANNING COCK-EYED?
A decade ago, any thought of plundering a church and selling the lead and the bells would have been looked upon with horror; but today this is again becoming quite the fashion, and by the turn of the century one wonders how many bells will be lost. Churches were once saved by planning new houses on the sites of the old ones cleared. Not so, however, today where planners are concernedshops and offices have taken their place and houses taken to where there are no churches. Has planning gone all cock-eyed?
Churches may have been on top of each other in towns like Worcester and Stamford vears ago. But the other extreme is the case nowadays, with many not going to a place of worship at all: and some of the religious teaching. I am afraid, does not help thingsof this 1 am most emphatic!

A PRESIDENT＇S WORD TO TOWER GRABBERS

Dear Sir，－As can be seen in the advertise－ ment columns of last week＇s issue，the Peter－ borough Diocesan Guild will again be holding its annual general meeting on the Saturday after Ascension Day．As usual on these or－ casions，there will be a good number of towers available at various times during the day，but I suspect we are not the only Guild or Association who have cause to regret the irresponsible bchaviour of the few，who attend meetings such as this，simply to add a few more towers to their list．

An annual general meeting is not only for ringing，but the three hours we spend having a service，tea，and conducting our business affairs has，in previous years，proved far too long for those with no interest in God． refreshment or the well－being of the Guild． As a result bells have been rung when no local ringer could be present to take respon－ sibility；bell stays have been broken by en－ thusiastic tower grabbers，who have left without word of explanation or apology．When， months after，they are reflecting on a profitable Saturday spent in Northamptonshire，local Guild officers are still trying to come to terms with an irate parish priest who cannot under－ stand why people should come and misuse his bells，and consequently refuses to have any more meetings in his tower．

Another undesirable but growing practice is that of knocking on the door of the Vicarage and asking for permission to ring，there and then．This is a deplorable practice at any time， and particularly so at an annual meeting．If a particular tower is omitted from the adver－ tised list there is a good reason for doing so， and again，it does not help the work of the local Guild officers if people insist on going around making their own arrangements．

I regret the necessity of this letter，but per－ haps some people have suffered in silence for too long．－Yours sincerely，

> E. G. ORLAND, President,

Petcrborough Diocesan Guild．

BIRMINGHAM UNIVERSITY WITHDRAW QUARTER PEAL

Dear Sir－On behalf of the Birmingham University Society we should like to withdraw the＂quarter peal＂at Edgbaston to which Mr．Barron refers．We can assure Mr．Barron that none of the Society officers at the time． or the present officers，knew of the conductor＇s intention to publish this＂quarter peal＂in ＂－The Ringing World，＂and we regret that the incident has occurred．We feel sure that Mr． Baker＇s letter will have clarified the situation for all concerced．－Yours faithfully，

RUTLAND SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir，－With reference to Mr．John Ketteringham＇s letter in＂The Ringing World，＇April 26th，I have done extensive work on the $S$ 3rds and $S$ 5ths course in Rutland S．M．and 1 am satisfied that the three－part 5,280 he gives contains the maximum number of combination roll－ups in such a composition It also contains the minimum number of -82 ＇s and -83 ＇s，and is one of a group of compositions with similar proper－ ties which are the best available on a three－ part plan

However，I belicve the maximum．number of roll－ups in normal peal lengths on the $3 / 5$ plan to be 132，which can be produced in a 5,120 ．This can be obtained in numerous compositions（but not in a three－part），a typical example of which is given below．

It should be noted that it is not possible to produce all the combination courses with a $3 / 5$ in every course without three courses each of－ 82 ＇s and－83＇s Personally，I find that on many bells these are not at all objectionable， but this undoubtedly limits the usefulness of these compositions．

MISS BELLRINGER

Dear Sir，－I have read with more than usual interest the correspondence about a＂Miss Bellringing＂competition．Indeed，the very same idea had been at the back of my mind for some time before the first letter was pub－ lished．I would like to say that if Mr．Michael Broad is seriously thinking of organising suck a competition I am prepared to help him in that venture．Modesty forbids me to say that I am not totally inexperienced in such affairs， but I will say that the type of asthetic ap－ preciation required has always seemed to come quite naturally to me．

To conclude my letter I would like to offer some advice to any potential candidates． Firstly，they should give up peal ringing，as this tends to develop the muscles of the body and thereby render it disproportionate．And secondly，they should not drink too much heer， the traditional reward of a bellringer，for that tends to expand the midriff．

I look forward to receiving from Mr．Broad any practical proposals．－Yours sincerely， M．G．INGRAM，
Reading University Society．

A CAMBRIDGE HOAX PEAL

Dear Sir，－My first reaction on seeing the hoax peal of Caius Surprise Major，osten－ sibly rung at St．Andrew＇s，Cambridge．on Sunday，April 14th，1968，was one of dis－ appointment at having been left out of the band，since I was one of those who waited outside the belfry door for nearly an hour while unavailing eftorts were made to find the ＂keys＂to enable us to gain entry and begin our attempt．（Incidentally，I hope that the niceties of Cambridge college pronunciation will not mean that the scintillating wit of the perpetrator of this hoax is lost on too many of your readers．）

However，when I came to study the peal a little more closely I was rather glad that I had been＂dropped．＂If one assumes the necessary dash at the beginning of the place notation，the method appears to be somewhat less inspiring than Ipswich，if that is possible． and I think 1 am sufficient of a traditionalist not to want to ring places in 1234，apart from the difficulties in composition which would seem to be involved．Further，St．Andrew＇s are musical bells with quite a bit of hum，and I do not think I would derive much pleasure from a peal there in 2 hours and 29 minutes， though I feel congratulations are due to Derek Butterworth on turning in the tenor some 20 minutes faster than the average，particularly as he did not arrive in Cambridge until Easter Monday morning ！

Yes，on reflection I spent a much more en－ joyable afternoon punting，though I could have sworn that it was John and Maryl Fielding who were sitting in my punt getting drenched by my rather enthusiastic style，and also that it was my brother who was seen propelling the other punt crabwise across the Cam．Still， perhaps they all have doubles！－Yours faith－ fully，

DAVID E．ROTHERA．

RIGHT TO RING IN ANY TOWER

Dear Sir，－Mr．R．George Morris，of Mal－ vern Link，makes reference to a Hampshire tower refusing permission because only the local band are allowed to ring there．

May I suggest that he names the tower in question so that something may be done to remedy this state of affairs？Our Bishop，a fair－minded man，is very disturbed at the closed shop．attitude of another Hampshire tower，and is looking into the matter．Mr． Morris can rest assured that Hampshire ringers do not condone this attitude and a very much alive Guild are ready to do something about it．
So come out with it，Mr．Morris，as we have already done regarding Westminster Abbey．Expose this tower and others like it and let us force this selfish attitude back into the 18th century，where it belongs．－Yours sincerely，

SEARCH FOR HANDBELLS

Dear Sir，－Can any reader please help me in tracing the handbells which used to belong to the late H．Parker，of Northwich，Cheshire． The reason for this inquiry is because Mrs． Parker is claiming a set of handbells which is in the tower of Northwich Parish Church as belonging to her late husband，Harry．
As far as I can gather，Harry had 26 handbells by Shaws and they were half a set of 52 ，being the top 26．－Yours faithfully， Northwich，Cheshire．

10,784 OXFORD T. B. MAJOR ON HANDBELLS

A peal of 10,784 T.B. Major by members of the Hertford County Association was rung, at the second attempt, on Sunday, May 5th, in the School at Leverstock Green. The peal started at 1144 a.m at a steady beat of 36 changes per minute The first 5.024 , the greater part of which had the tenors parted, was rung in 2 hours and 17 minutes ( $36-37$ changes per minute); 10,016 was reached in 4 hours and 27 minutes and the whole completed in 4 hours and 47 minutes (average of 37.6 changes per minute). It was the first 10,000 plus for all the band except the conductor. The ringing throughout was of a very high standard and this has given the band the confidence to attempt a longer peal of Treble Bob Major in the very near future, possibly the present record length of Treble Bob-17,824. Details of the attempt will follow.
The band wish to accord their thanks to the three umpires, and especially to Walter Ayre, for arranging things at Leverstock Green.

A NEW NOTTINGHAM SOCIETY

A recently-formed body of young ringers is the Arboretum Scholars of Nottingham who held their first outing on April 17th, traveling in the antiquated school bus 45 miles during the day
Ringing started in the meticulously-kept belfry at West Bridgford, where touches of rounds, Plain Bob Major and Minor, and Grandsire Triples were rung. Thirty minutes were spent on the heavy-going eight at Ruddington, followed by the six at Bunney, which produced the best ringing of the day.
Crossing into Leicestershire, the well-known humped-back bridge came as a shock to the handbell ringers. The tenor ringers had strengthening refreshments before tackling the bells of Loughborough Parish Church, undoubtedly the best bells of the day; only rounds were rung on the ten, but Kent T.B Minor was attempted on the front six. An enjoyable visit to the Foundry was followed by an hour's ringing on its bells. We attempted Cambridge Minor and Stedman Triples but had more luck with Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob Minor. The last tower, was at Kingston-on-Soar, where the bus driver had his first ringing lesson.
We thank our organiser for providing such an enjoyable outing at a cost of 3 s . per head, and also the driver and incumbents of churches visited. Incidentally, the average age of the members was 15 years.

CHERTSEY DISTRICT'S STRIKING CONTEST

Only four towers entered teams for the Guildford Diocesan Guild Chertsey District's fourth annual striking competition, which was held at Thames Ditton on April 27th. Major Bragg and Mr. P. G. Sherwood acted as judges, and in announcing the results Major Bragg noted that the standard of ringing was better than in previous years.
Hersham came first with only ten faults in ten minutes of Dotbles. Egham's two teams came sccond and third, followed by Horsell (last year's winners) and Thames Ditton. The new shield was presented to Mr. J. King, of Hersham, by the Guild Master, Mr. P. Smart.
After a short business meeting, attended by 29 members, ringing continued till 9 p.m. We all hope to see more teams and better weather next year.

WEST DORSET BRANCH TRY OUT BEAMINSTER BELLS

On a dull and wet afternoon the West Dorset Branch held its quarterly meeting at Beaminster on April 27th. Eight towers were represented, and ringing on the fine and recently rehung ring was much enjoyed. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. D. V. Galloway), who welcomed the Guild and gave an interesting address.

Tea was prepared and served by members of the Mothers' Union in the Tindall Hall. Afterwards the business meeting was held in the belfry, presided over by Mr. C. W. Powell, chairman. Nine new members from Beaminste were elected, and three non-resident life members.

The chairman said he would like to record the Branch's grateful thanks to Mr. and Mrs E. Pannell, who have moved to Hereford, for the help they had given to the Branch. Standard methods were rung, including Yorkshire and Double Norwich, till 8 p.m. Afterwards Netherbury bells were rung till 9 p.m.

Next quarterly meeting: Melbury Osmond, Saturday, June 22nd. Practice evening meetings: Hawkchurch, June 12th; Thorncombe, July 10th.

WIMBORNE BRANCH OUTING

Atter a week of lovely weather, Saturday, March 30th, was the wettest day for a month. Nevertheless the Wimborne Branch members of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild filled the coach and set off on their first-ever Branch outing. The driver admitted he did not know where the first tower was and even succeeded in getting lost between towns within ten miles of his home! We thought this was a bad omen. However, we reached Ludgershall safely and had a quick ring on the good bells-quick, because we had arrived late. But we were on time at Kintbury and enjoyed the mellow-sounding bells, even if the learners found them hard to handle.

Newbury in the pouring rain was very depressing, but fortified with a good lunch and a good ring of ten here we moved on the Thatcham. From there we visited Highclere, where, despite the small belfry, everyone man aged to have a good ring. The last tower was at King's Somborne; we were sad to learn there was no local band to ring these nice bells set round the font at the back of the church.

Our ringing methods may not have aspired very high but we all enjoyed the trip and look forward to another outing, but next year we shall book a fine day!

LLANDAFF CATHEDRAL'S 50 PEALS

Fifty peals have been rung on Llandaft Cathedral bells. Although there have been eight bells since 1879 and ten since 1920 32 of the peals have been rung in the last 12 years. Details:-

SONNING TIP THE BALANCE AT SANDHURST

What makes one striking competition dif ferent from any other? What, indeed makes one report of such a competition any different from the rest?
Like bells themselves, no two competitions are exactly alike although some accounts are necessarily repetitive when the same teams win consistently. Not 50 , however, with the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild competition.
On April 20th at Sandhurst-held on a glorious day-one perhaps for the "different" column! Similarly, a second entry would read "New band from. Wokingham (St, Paul's) " together with a sprinkling of "firsts" among the veterans-contenders for future reference.
Consistent wins have so far evaded any single team due to keen competition and, of course, ever fluctuating membership of bands.

On the other side of the balance sheet we have the accustomed formalities. The same judges (now almost resident), the same votes of thanks, the same keenness to do well, the organisers always there year after year, the same stalwarts.
Unlike other years, our Branch chairman, the Rev. Harcourt Trevor, was absent through illness-a debit soon to be made good, it is hoped.

Again the standard of striking was higher than in the past. and the iudges, Major Bragg and Mr. W. Viggers, endorsed this by the low ratings in the faults column.
The result (different again) was: Sonning 6 faults (Grandsire Doubles), Easthampstead 11 (Plain Bob Doubles) and Wargrave 26 (Grandsire Doubles).

Sonning also won at Sandhurst at the very first competition held by the Branch, but this was no coincidence as they proved worthy winners-enough to tip the balance on last year's winners and it is hoped that they will similarly treat the competitors at the Guild contest.

And so we come to the last entry-" a good balance and a healthy state," but, like all accounts, the "investments" could be larger and more " interest" gained for future security and betier striking in the Exercise. S.G.S.

NORTH DORSET

AND WIMBORNE BRANCHES
On Saturday, April 27th, a warm, sunny day, the neighbouring Salisbury Diocesan Guild Branches of North Dorset and Wim borne held a joint meeting. Four towers were open and over 40 people attended from the two Branches.
After ringing at the two Gussage towers (5 and 6) the Guild Office was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. S. J. T. Buffrey. He gave an interesting sermon on Easter. His little Church of St. Michael looked very pretty with its Easter decorations. A delicious tea was set out at Durweston, arranged by Mr . Corry.
The Master of the Guild, the Rev. R. N Longridge, who is resident in the Wimborne Branch (although at the moment is a paid-up member of the North Dorset Branch), spoke a few words welcoming everyone. He said how pleased he was to see the Branches holding such a joint meeting and thanked the two secretaries for arranging everything.
Ringing was resumed at Durweston (6) for an hour, after which Blandford (8) was open.

EASTER IN LITTLE TEXAS

COOD FRIDAY was the day appointed for travelling to Liverpool-or was it? At 6 p.m. on the same day Mary and Graham Elmes arrived at Bootle Vicarage. "You're a bit carly," said our host, " 24 nours to be e::act!" Obviously Dorset is still very much ahead of its time! But the big dipper at Southport proved to be sufficient penance for these early comers.
. Saturday served to illustrate to these "country bumpkins" that Liverpool deserves the title of " Little Texas"-everything seemed bigger and better, from the two cathedrals to Lewis' statue ! After thus improving them culturally, Bob Dennis decided to improve their vocabulary by taking them to the "Kop." Here Mike Young pulled of his most amazing feat of the week-he managed to find the three football fans amidst a crowd of 40,000 . The now well-educated and deafened quartet returned to the Vicarage for tea and to await the arrival of the rest of the party.

It was not long before Julia Fellows, driving her first car, and an ashen-faced Andrew Wilby arrived. Whilst Wilb was recounting his hair-raising experiences Richard Stevens and Elizabeth Timmins joined us. Philip Mehew arrived late but, as usual, not quite late enough to miss a nightcap at the local.

Six a.m. on Easter Day saw the "campers" busy cooking breakfast. We just made the 7 a.m. Communion, at which Wilb deputised for the organist and Philip for the "quire."

EASTER DAY PEAL

The week-end's ringing commenced on Boote's steel bells, which sound better than they go We were made very welcome at St. Nicholas' and likewise at the Cathedral, where we rejoined Elizabeth and Richard. We now encountered an unusual phenomenon-whereas in the South the pubs and hotels increase their cating facilities on Sundays and Bank Holidays, it seems that in the North good food is served on weekdays but "Never on a Sunday."

The afternoon heralded the first peal at-tempt-Cambridge Royal at Worsley. Here we were joined by Christino Androws, Michael Platt and Alan Scholfield and managed to score an average peal. The two people who "sat out" of this attempt were fortunate enough to get a ring at Manchester Cathedral. All of us rang for evening service at St. Helens and thus the first day's ringing was most satisfactorily concluded.
On returning to the Vicarage we found George Bonham and Bob Bellamy cagerly awaiting the terrific four-course meal that Mrs. Donnis had prepared, and the evening was whiled away eating and gossiping.

SCORED WITH CYRIL CROSSTHWAITE
Up again bright and carly on Monday for an attempt at Yorkshire Royal on Preston bells. Richard, however, was feeling unwell so we decided to attempt Plain Bob Royal with Mike as substitute. We were pleased to score a peal with Cyril Crossthwaite, to whom we are grateful for obtaining the bells at short notice.
Siedman Caters at Leyland was the afternoon's attempt. Some of the band, however, were feeling the worse for wear after Preston, and Richard, the conductor, was still "under the weather." We were not unduly surprised therefore when the peal "fired out" at the first turning course, although we were sorry not to score a peal with Jack Brown, who was standing in this attompt.
The evening was spent in Southport with different fragments of the party looking for each other for an hour. We reunited in time for one very quick pint.
The carly part of Tuesday morning was enjoyed immensely by four of the party who had a long "lie in," especially by two of the "Old Vicarage campers," who were able to watch the rest groping around in an attempt to leave for Aughton. Here Mark Nicholson made up the band for peal of Plain Bob Minor.

PHILIP MEHEW'S 700th

Our best peal of the week was seored that afternoon at Ormskirk, which was also notable for being Philip's 700th. George at one point seemed determined to spike the peal but was soon put in his "place" and, apart from this, the ringing was well above average.

Bob was in such a hurry to get to Preston to see the Woodhouse ringing machine that Philip's car load were only halfway out of the pub when the convoy was out of sight. By intuition and by stopping every third person in Preston the laggards eventually arrived at Cyril Crossthwaite's in time to see most of the demonstration. After joining the Preston practice the worst Chinese meal for years was enjoyed!

Bootle was a hive of activity on Wednesday morning as the men cooked their breakfast. rang for Matins, packed up and washed all the dirty crockery which they had accumulated during the week! At 10.15 all were ready and goodbyes were made to Mr. and Mrs. Dennis. Bob tried his best to lose us through Liverpool, even changing lanes in the Mersey Tunnel! It was surprising, therefore, that we all reached St. Mary's, Liscard, at the same time-where we found that grand old ringer Lester Gray waiting for us.

Lester and Bob had only just settled down to a pint when the peal fired out. Undaunted, the band proceeded to ring a fair quarter of Cambridge in 38 minutes on this 16 cwt . cight. The speed of the ringing brought some caustic comments from Lester, who had been listening with a sritical ear. However, we persuaded him to brave the wrath of his wife and join us in the pub, where until 2 o'clock he entertained us with amusing reminiscences. As he left he made Mary promise to come again and ring with him because he had "taken a fancy to that little girl."

Fortified by a Chinese meal as good as the previous night's was bad, wo dasned the 40 miles to Bowdon. The splendid eight made a fitting end to the week-end and we were disappointed not to score a peal. Nevertheless we decided that we must come hack later in the year and make a determined attempt at Liskard and Bowdon together with some of the other splendid rings in the area.
We should like to thank Bob Dennis, the organiser, and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis for making us so welcome at Bootle Vicarage. You've done it now-we'll come again! Also thanks to all those who stood in our peals and allowed us to ring their bells.

ULMI.

REVIEW OF TAUNTON AREA BELLS

On Aprid 27th a party of ringers from Twerton, Corston, St. Michael's, Bath, and Batheaston spent a pleasant (df wet) day in some of the rural towers in the Taunton area. We were pleased to have Mr. and Mrs. R. Dove, from Leeds, with us. Details :-
Trull (6).-A very pleasant six restored by Mears and Stainbank in 1933 and rung overlooking the church.

West Buckland (6),-A good ring restored by $J$ Taylor and Co. in 1956 ; the bells so very well
Angersleigh (5).-Short draught ring that goes well; of good tone.
Pitminster (6).-Octagonal tower with spire, odd rope circle with tenor almost behind the treble; some bells are near the clockcase but the six are pleasant to ring, nevertheless.
Corfe (6).-Only augmented in recent years: pleasant light ring; church contains Norman font.

Staplo Fitzpaine (5).-Old-fashioned ring, fairly heavy (tenor 16 cwt . in E).
West Hatch (5).-Good-going five that are rung regularly, plain bearings. A new experience for some was to ring and have a shower at the same time; reason-the tower leaks.

Hatch Beauchamp (5).-Very pleasant; augmented from four by Mears in 1951.
Curry Mallett (6). - Well-kept ring; very pleasant to listen to: on ball bearings in a wooden frame.
Pitney (5)-Go well; trifle loud in the ringing chamber; all fitted with new ropes. So ended our tour, in which over 30 methods were accomplished up to London. All upstair ringing shambers, so plenty of aching legs. But it was a pleasure to be met by such nice people.

TWYNING A POPULAR MEETING PLACE

The Tewkesbury Branch's quarterly meeting at Twyning on April 30th was the best attended meeting for years and about 50 ringers took part in the ringing, which was very good. The Branch has not been able to get a meeting at Twyning for some years because it had no ringing members.
Grateful thanks are due to two lady ringers and the Vicar for making it possible to hold the meeting. The Vicar took the service, and an excellent tea was provided by the two young lady ringers in the Church Hall
Many ringers had not had the chance to ring at Twyning, which helped to make this meeting such a success, and may we soon be invited again to this tower. The visitors came from Bromvard, Eardisland, Malvern, Leek, Clannes, Cheltenham, Bishop's Cleeve and Evesham.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY'S FORTUNES IMPROVE

The annual general meeting of the Leods and District Amalgamated Society was held on April 27 th in the North Leeds area, as has been the custom over the last few years. Chapel Allerton was the venue in the afternoon. where numerous Plain and Treble Boh methods were lung on the excellent six. The business meeting and evening ringing were held at St. Chad's, Headingley, the latter under the direction of the Society's new Ringing Master, Alan Clifton, of East Ardsley.

The meeting accepted with rearet the resignation of the president, Mr. Irvin Slack, and the Society's thanks for his endeavours during the last year were voiced by the new president, Mr. Robin Brown. of Rothwell. Pat Lock: wood, of Ossett, declined to be renominated as Ringing Master but her fiancé, lan North, was re-elected as secretary and treasurer.

In his annual report lan was pleased to note thet during the latter half of the year the attendance at meetings, which had been causing concern for some time, had been steadily grow. ing. This was particularly so since the Novembor mecting at Ossett, when members of the Joins Council of Yorkshire Ringing Societies swelled the ranks to over 50 . It was at this meeting that the local captain, Mr. Fred Bennett, acted as host to the gathering at tea in his capacity as Mayor of the Borough.

Since November, in excess of 30 ringers have joined the monthly meetings, and regular attenders have included members of the University Society and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Warford and their brood of young learners from Chapel Allerton.

Other business at the meeting included the formation of a committee to consider the introduction of a striking competition to the Society, and a proposal to increase the subscription from the present Is. per year.
The Annual Festival of the Yorkshire Ringing Societics is to be held in the Leeds district on June 22nd, the Society's members being responsible for much of the organisation. Plans are nearing completion for the catering arrangements and the staffing of the towers.
It was generally fele that during the lase six months the Society's fortunes had improved. and although the present membership is only half that of ten years ago, the increasing attendance at mectings is encouraging. R.C.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Congratulations to Mr. Philip Mehew on ringing his 700th peal.

Good work is being done by the Thrapston Branch of the Peterborough Guild in teaching. Three of the new band at Lowick have now rung quarter peals and the others will soon do 80.

In a peal attempt at Holme Pierrepont, Nottingham, the rope of the sceond bell broke as the band came into rounds at the end of the 25 th extent. They wert thus able to claim a long longth of 3,000 changea.

A peal attempt of Bob Royal at Manchester Cathedral on April 20th was to have been rung as a birthday compliment to Mr. Joseph Ridyard, of Southport. The peal was lost after two hours through a miscatl. The band extend their very good wishes to Joe.

It is interesting to note that regarding the peal at Bexley on April 20th three of the ringers-Mesprs. H. E. Audsley, E. A. Barnett and F.J. Cullum-wore members of the band who rans bob course of Stedman Triples during the rededication service in April, 1938.

On two suecessive Sundays at Bentley, Yorks, two ringers rang their first quarters: both were conducted by Mr. J. Whitham.

An interesting footnote to the Aldbourne peal of Grandsire Triples on April 27th: "First 8-bell peal on the bells by a local company since 1837." Aldbourne is comins back into its own.
St, John's, Devizes, ringers had a very pleasant tour of the Isle of Wight on April 27th, ringing at Ryde, Brading, Godshill, Brighstone and Freshwater. The visit was much enjoyed. The Island people made the party most welcome.
Seven Whitstable ringers had an enjoyabla holiday in Buckinghamshire based on Stony Stratford. One of their six days was spent in Oxford and another at Buckingham, whero the bells and the reception by the locals were much enioyed
Over $£ 3,400$ has been raised towards the target of $£ 5,000$ required by St. Thomas ${ }^{\circ}$ Church, Stourbridge, for the restoration of the bells and a new frame. (See April 26 th isua.)

BELFRY GOSSIP

A NEW RING OF EIGHT IN WARWICKSHIRE

Kingsbury Parish Church, Warwickshire, has at present six bells, the back five being cast in 1850 and rehung on ball bearings in 1921. The treble bell was added in 1959 by J. Taylor and Co.
It is proposed to recast the five old bells and make a new ring of eight, the 1959 treble being retained and tuned to make the third of the new ring. The present tenor weighs 16 cwt . 16 lb . according to the records, but it is intended to weigh it to ascertain the true weight. The new tenor will weigh approximately $17 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. and the octave will be tuned to the key of E .
This work will be started at the end of June, when the old bells will he lowered and zaken to the bell foundry. Anyone who wishes to ring on the old bells before they are recast will be most welcome. Practice night is Friday between $8 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and $9.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., and Sunday service ringing from $10.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. to $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and 6 p.m. to 6.30 p.m. Outing organisers will also be welcome and should contact either Mr. G. H. Lane, 7, West Avenue, Castle Bromwich, or Mr. K. C. Richards, Oakwood, Lea Marston, Sutton Coldfield.
The data and details of the new bells and their dedication will be published in 1969.

SUSSEX RINGER LEAVES FOR PERTH

This month will see the departure to Western Australia from their home in Sussex of Mr. H. W. Woolven and family.

For some years Bert Woolven has been associated with peal ringing in the South of England, notably in his home county of Sussex. Bert has done much to foster the good relationship that exists between the ringers of Kent and Sussex and will be missed by his many friends in both counties and elsewhere.
A farewell peal was attempted on April 20th at Tunbridge Wells, which lies close to the Kent/Sussex border, but this unfortunately came to grief.
All those who have known Bert over the years will certainly join me in wishing him, along with Jesse and Sharon. the very best for a happy future. Perth will, I am sure, be very pleased to welcome an accomplished ringer in their midst.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY GUILD ROMANCE

A welcome Easter visitor to the Emerald Isle was Miss E. Ann Sadler. Ann, who has recently become engaged to the Rev. G. M. Frazer Williams, curate at St. James', Bolton, Bradford, was a member of the Dublin University Guild, as was her fiance. The quarter peal, rung at John's Lane on Easter Day to compliment the happy couple, who intend to marry in August, was her 25 th quarter peal.

WEDDING BELLS FOR MAJ. FREEBORN

The peal of Stedman Triples at Kidlington, Oxon, reported in this issue, was rung by four ringers from the Oxford area and four from Cambridge, at the suggestion of Mr. Walter Judge. Unfortunately Walter himself was not able to participate. Major Freeborn has close associations with both Oxford and Cambridge. His father, the Rev. A. C. R. Freeborn, was Vicar of Kidlington from 1887 to 1925 . It was Walter's father. the late Harry $\mathbf{G}$. Judge, captain of the Kidlington band, who trught Major Freeborn to ring (about 1906).

SO NEARLY A PEAL-AND HE IS 93
An attempt for a peal of London Major at Grundisburgh met a sad end recently. As the last course was in progress the band were disturbed by attempts outside the tower to stop the peal, although there was fully 20 minutes before a service was due to start. Although this gave rise to one or two mistakes, everything seemed to indicate a successful conclusion. Then, in the last few changes, disaster struck. Another mistake occurred, the bells failed to strike into rounds, and so the peal was lost at the very last gasp.
What was particularly disappointing, however, was that this attempt had been arranged at the request of Mr. George Symonds, now in his 93 rd year, who wanted to ring another peal of London. George, who has only rung three or four peals of London altogether, the last being over 20 years ago, proved himself equal to the task. After a slightly unsettled start (which he afterwards admitted was because he was a bit "rusty"), he soon settled down to the rhythm of the peal and made very few trips thereafter. Even in the last few courses his concentration never wavered, demonstrating clearly the alert and active life he still leads.
And what were George's thoughts after the attempt? Although disappointed, he said he had enjoyed the exercise very much because "It was a bit more interestin' than that Treble Bob stuff I keep a-ringin' nowadays !"
So bad luck, George, but we look forward to a successful attempt with you later this year.
R. P.

ANDOVER'S 40th ANNIVERSARY

Fifty ringers attended the spring meeting of the Andover District held on April 6 th at Highclere, after ringing at Wolverton. Mr. G. K. Dodd presided, and the District secretary, Mr. J. C. Wimlett, presented a report on the 40 th anniversary ringing. As a tribute to Mr. Dodd a plaque recording the anniversary peals is to be hung in his own tower-Highclere. Thanks were accorded to the incumbent for conducting the service, and the ladies responsible for the splendid tea. Ringing included London and Cambridge Surprise Major, Double Norwich and Oxford T.B.

LIMERICK CATHEDRAL

It gives us great pleasure to include a quarter peal from Limerick Cathedral. This was the first as conductor by 15 -year-old David Galbraith. who received many congratulations on his achievement. Mr. G. H. Ellis informs us that he has five more young ringers under 15 who ring regularly with the Sunday service band. We await their first quarter. Good luck, Limerick !

TAKE NOTE OF THE DATE
Announcing the timetable of a meeting at Woolavington, Somerset, in the local church magazine, the editor writes: "We hope the meeting will be of interest to those who appreciate the ancient and traditional art of bellringing. As for those who can't stand the sound of bells, take note of the date and arrange to go out for the day."

THE DRAGON DEFEATED ST. GEORGE
St. George's Day, 1968, was chosen by ringers from the Fawley area as another occasion for an unusual quarter peal attempt. Dragon Doubles was practised during the preceding month, while St. George Doubles, given in the Doubles Collection as a variation of Winchendon, seemed more familiar and was left until the final fortnight. The venue for the attempt identified tsself very clearly after a study of "Dove"; there is only one church in Hampshire dedicated to St. George containing a ring of bells. This is at Damerham, situated on the opposite side of the New Forest from Fawley. with one of the 14th oldest rings of bells in the county.
Our first setback occurred when we discovered that St . George Doubles was not such a straightforward variation after all. , The plain course is Winchendon, with half a lead of Original for a bob and an Old Doubles single for a single. We arrived at Damerham on April 23 rd with the variation still not conquered. Three extents of it were planned, and we started confidently, using the calling given in the Doubles Collection. No faults this time, but rounds did not appear ! A fresh start, using the other stated calling. This time rounds at hand after 50 changes ! Frantic work with pencil and paper. At this point the Vicar, the Rev. G. Maule, himself an ardent ringer, arrived to watch us. With time running short we turned to Dragon Doubles solely, and 41 minutes later 1,320 changes were completo.
We understand that a full peal of St. George Doubles has been rung using the only two callings that are true. We would welcome clarification of the calls. and the calling used, from any member of the band who participated. It is to be regretted that on St. George's Day, 1968, Dragon won and St. George lost.
D.C. J.

TAYLORS OF RANDWICK

The first quarter on the newly-augmented six at Randwick, Glos, marks another milestone in the remarkable ringing career of the Vicar of this delightful Cotswold village, the Rev. Neil Morrison. Having encouraged the June handbell festival, which has become an annual event, and cycled from Truro to Thurso to raise money for the augmentation, he is now teaching a keen band of youngsters, three of whom joined in the service ringing after the quarter (Catherine Ballinger, who also read the lesson), Kim Hemer and Heather Watson).
It is also interesting that the first quarter on this excellent new six, by John Taylor, of Loughborough, was conducted by Mr. John H. Taylor and rung for the christening of Julian John Taylor, son of another John Taylor, a Randwick ringer.

Hillingdon ringers lose a friend

Lady Juliet S. Craig was a great friend of Hillingdon ringers all her life and her grandfather, Mr. John F. Stilwell, was the donor of the ten bells which were installed in 1911. Lady Juliet made a request that on the day of her funeral a muffled peal should be rung, as Hillingdon ringers did for her late husband, Sir Gilfrid Craig. A quarter peal of Stedman Caters with the bells half-muffled was rung on April 25 th.

A RINGERS' STORY

Portrait of a Practice-By "FIFTH. OBSERVATION"

Part 2.
[On a warm summer evening enough ringers have assembled at St. Dunstan's practice to permit an attempt at a six-score of Grandsire Doubles-the bobs to be called by the young and enthusiastic Paddy; Unfortunately his conducting ability doesn't prove equal to the task of keeping the bells right and the touch grinds to an unmelodious nalt as the Cocks origade-brother, sister ana cousin-arrive . . . d

Enter Leslie, wearing an engaging grin.
Having trouble?
why, no," responded Mick, "we were just seeing what Grandsire would sound like if we rang it, er, sems-conducted, as you mignt say-eh, Pad?

Grr 1 " spluttered the conductor. "You two dack-enaers crossed over on purpose."
Mick and Martun opened wide eyes of annocence. "Not we," sald Marun; and "I only did what you told me," sadd Mick. . ${ }^{\text {Go in, }}$ you dellowed at the last boo and in 1 went. No man can do more than execute the commanus given him by Oh, Mick," saia Paday a trifie testuly.

". . his superiors, whose word is, on all occasions
enter at this point Susan, somewhat uncomfortaoly attured in a gaudy tubular garmens stripea in a variety of starting coiours; bebunc ner cousin Jane, aressed in a slighuy more sutable fashion tor the negotiation of steep, spiral starcases; the former wearang an expression of chagrin, the latter grimning widely.

Hullo. you two! You've just missed tne all-time record glorious crunch-up," osserved Marin by way of greeting.
Lesle tavoured sue win a pontifical look. - If it had not been for my sister's insistence on wearing this regrettable garment to practise," ne sighed, "we three snould have been here considerably sooner-perhaps even in ume to avert the crisis. As it was, however, speed was reduced to one inch per step."

Oh, you beast, Les! Don't rub it in," cried mortified Sue, hands to curly head. "It was cuckoo of me to wear it tonght, I know $\rightarrow$ but it's such a super dress, and II wanted to stun Mick-always saying he wants a bit of life and colour in the ringing chamber" (loud snort from Mick at this point) "and now I've gone and split the seam all up this side, trying to get up your rotten old stars just to please you. I think I'll claim damages, Bob.'

Tne band were vastly diverted.

Rubbish! We didnt split your seam."
"I'm afraid we can't alter the height of the steps, you know" (this was Bob) "just to acommodate the latest in feminine inelegance.'

Ooh, BOB!" (from the Troughton sisters and sue, in unison).

Atter all " (this from Mick) " you couldn t expect the old Normans to have antucipated your litue bit of life and colour coming up werr starrs, Sue.'

Normans, my foot! The whole tower was renovated in exghteen-something."

Well, only one thung for it-or rather two; forswear the fashion, or ring from the ground tloor. We'll rig up a special rope for you, оиered Mick, knuy.
The snouts of mirth which greeted this gem of wit tailed otif somewhat at the entrance of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tedder and the Rev. Joha Southcott; partly in deference to the feelings of the curate, who was not yet hardboiled enough to be entirely immune from the fear that on occasion his ringers cracked hearty jokes at his expense on account of bis being only a learner and a rather slow one at that. But the present aspect of old Bill Tedder's countenance would have stopped a doubledecker in mid-career; and Bob, anticipating trouble, took measures to forestall it.

Come and ring, sir," he beamed, extending a hand to the Rev. Southcott. "And Bill and Pat, too-this is wonderful! We'll have a nice touch of Bob Minor."
'Eard some rum old Grandzur as we was comin' up 'ill,', grunted Bill. "Thought all yew young ladies ' $n$ ' gennelmen ' $d$ be able ter make a better noise ' n that."

Yes, yes, well, it was Patrick here's first attempt at conducting."

Second !"' (Paday had a strict regard for truth in such matters.)
"Sorry, Pad; second, and we all got in a bit of a mess, but now you're here we'll have a really strong side..$\dot{\text { let mo me me }}$ se yes, we might even get some Surprise."
yes, we might even get some Surprise.". " Cam-
Paddy fixed Bob with a hopeful eye; bridge?"

Oho," said Bob. "you've ambitions in that direction, have you? Cambridge it shall be, then; but Bob Minor for Mr. Southcott now, please. Catch hold, all who will. Would you take the second, sir? I'll stand behind you. Martin, would you like to take charge of this one? Just a short touch-make surc me secono's affected; it's all right. sir. I'L tell you what to do. Right you are, Martun oh, somebody for the nith? Lesile'? Good man. Off you go, Jill."

They rang Bob Minor, and then they had Mick's Double Oxford, with old Bill Tedder in his element, putting everyone else right (and humselt wrong) trum the venor; aun hum Bob hauled the Froughtons by main torce through a plain course of Stedman, and Leslie got himselt into a fearful muddle attempung to conduct a touch of Kent and Oxford, and was forced to call "Stand" halfway through.
In the ensuing pause Paddy, emboldened by Leslie's misfortune, raised his head from Cambridge Minor, to which he had been glued for the greater part of the evening, and remarked,
Bob, you said
"Come on, you Surprise addicts, here's Paddy getting impatient" announced Bob. "We haven't got long, so catch hold quickly, please. Where are you intending to start, then, Pad? ${ }^{\text {" }}$
"Third's place bell," said Paddy.
" And do you know how it goes? My goodness, you ought to; you've been huddled over the diagram all evening."
"Oh, yes-it's the work on the back; double-dodge. lie, single dodge, fifths, single dodge, lie, double dodge and go in to erfourth's place bell; and then I go dodge, places, places, dodge, places, places, dodge, and run in, and snap, lead, run out, dodge "Spare us the rest," implored Bob, feigning weakness at the knees.
The Cambridge band got into position-Jane on the treble, Sue on the second, Martin, Bill and Mick on the heavy end, and, in the middle, Paddy, stiff as a ramrod, Bob standing casually behind him.
Jane sent the bells into rounds; and, after four whole-pulls, "Go, Cambridge," said Mick. (To be concluded)

The Church of St. Mary Redeliffe, Bristol

The Church of St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol

By ALAN P. HANCOCK

THE parish church of St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, is generally accepted as one of finest examples of Gothic architecture in England. Indeed, Queen Elizabeth I, in 1574, described it as "the fairest, goodliest and most famous parish church in England." Later, in 1628, Charles I declared: "The parish church of Redcliffe for the foundation structures and buildings thereof is one of the most famous absolute fairest and goodliest parish churches within the realm of England."

Numerous quotations have been made before and since; sufficient to sum up with the phrase used by Thomas Chatterton, the boy poet: "The pride of Bristowe (Bristol) and the western land." The Rowley poems were written by Chatterton in the muniment room over the north porch and the church manuscripts were used as his parchments.
On the south side of the River Avon are the Red Cliffs and it is from the latter that the name originated; the church is that of St. Mary on the Red Cliff. It is hard to realise now that the "suburb of Redcliffe," as Pensvor described it, was once a separate entity from the city of Bristol. The River Avon separated them, Bristol being on the north bank and Redcliffe on the south. It was in Redcliffe that the wealthy merchants had their dwellings, wharves and warehouses. This glorious building, dedicated in honour of St. Mary, was the offering made to God by generation after generation of these men, among whom were Edward Colston, John Cabot and William Canynges.
The main features of the present church are its grandeur and the excellence of the proportions and the perfect symmetry of the cruciform design worked in ashlar blocks of stone from nearby Dundry. The roof is adorned by a variety of individual sculptured bosses which number about 1,200 and are covered with pure gold.

1,200 SCULPTURED BOSSES

The origins of the church are uncertain, but it is known that the inner north porch and the tower base are 12th century. The remainder of the church, with exception of the cloistery, the roof and eastern bay of the Lady Chapel, is 13 th and 14 th century. The last are 15 th century. The present-day building was completed by the addition of the two upper stages of the spire in 1872. The capstone stands 292 feet above ground level, it measures 12 feet across and weighs over a ton.
Various catastrophes have befallen the building during the ages. In 1446 the spire was struck by lightning and the top twothirds of it crashed to the ground. This brought about the first great restoration, which was undertaken by William Canynges, a wealthy merchant. Further restorations have been required since then, the next being in the late 17th century, which brought about the Georgian appearance. The third great restoration of the church took place between 1840 and 1870, when the stonework was completely restored. The fourth took place between 1930 and 1933, when Lord Dulverton made himself responsible for the completion of the whole exterior restoration. In recent years the tower fabric has been completely restored and the rest of the church building washed down.

HEAVY BELLS

The earliest record of a ring of bells being present in the tower of St. Mary Redcliffe is from notes made by William Wyrcestre, about 1480, which stated that Redcliffe had six bells, the heaviest of which (tenor 62 cwt .2 qr. 24 lb. ; 5th about 44 cwt .; 4 th about 30 cwt .) were equal in weight to those placed in St. Paul's Cathedral in the 19th century, when they were considered to be the heaviest ring in the world.

Since this early record of bells being present additions and alterations have been completed. In 1572 William Jeffers recast the 4th bell for $£ 8$. The next major work on the bells was undertaken in 1622 by Roger Purdue, who recast the tenor ( 42 cwt .27 lb .) and the 5 th ( 28 cwt .1 qr. 24 lb .). The latter is still present in the tower as the 11 th in the ring of 12 . Not long after the recasting of the bells a new cage was erected. A ring of eight was achieved in 1698 when two new bells were cast by Abraham Rudhall. In 1763, Thomas Bilbie, one of the well-known founders of Chew Stoke, Somerset, recast the four middle bells. The ring of eight was made up to ten in 1823 by Thomas Mears of Whitechapel, London. Meanwhile the tenor had been recast at some time since 1622 and weighs 39 cwt .

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank cast another two bells in 1872 (1st and 3rd) bringing the ring up to twelve. In 1888 Taylors, following consultation, rehung the bells in a new frame which for the first time introduced iron girders into the framework. At the beginning of the present century Taylors rehung the bells in a completely new frame of steel. The tenor and eight other bells were recast at this time and constitute the present ring of twelve with the tenor weighing 52 cwt . In 1951 a flat sixth was added to give a middle ring of eight, the tenor of which weighs approximately 19 cwt . This bell was placed as a memorial to Relph $\mathbf{G}$. Morgan, organist at the church for 43 years.

DOUBLES NOTICE AMENDMENT

Dear Sir,-I wish to give notice that I shall propose the following amendments to the mot.on proposed by Mr. C. A. Lewis on the C.C. Agenda:-
(a) That para. 4 and 5 be taken separately from para. 1, 2 and 3.
(b) That para. 1,2 and 3 be amended to read as follows:-
(1) In the case of Doubles only, a variation be defined as the use in a plain method of calls other than the standard calls for that method. The resulting bobbed or singled lead must not by itself constitute a plain lead of another method. Each variation to be given its own name.
(2) The variation must by itself be capable of producing the 120 true changes. Peal reports must draw a clear distinction between methods and variations, either by separate listing or, for example, "Plain Bob. New Bob, Old Variation, Eynsham Variation, etc."
(3) One variation with one or more methods, or two or more variations with or without methods, may be rung in one extent, provided that the plain courses of all the variations and methods in the extent are different, and that there is included at least one of each of the plain lead and different calls for each of the different variations and methods rung in the extent. I understand that the usual procedure is for the chairman to call to the floor for a seconder to an amendment.-Yours faithfully,
F. T. BLAGROVE.

Ely's Traditional Easter Monday

TTHE tradition of the Ely Diocesan Association of holding its festival on Easter Monday was observed this year when, after a round of visiting the many towers open, a large company assembled at Fordham for the service, the tea and business meeting.
At the meeting, presided over by Mr. W. W. Cousin, the traditional Bank Holiday gathering was challenged. The first proposal was for the business meeting to be held on the Saturday after Easter. This was withdrawn when a further proposition was made that the meeting should be held with similar arrangements as at present on a Saturday after Easter. Put to the vote, it was narrowly defeated. Finally, a proposal that the meeting should be held on Easter Monday with similar arrangements as at present was carried by a good majority. It is hoped to visit the Cambridge District next year.
The report for 1967, presented by Mr. H. S. Peacock was again one of progress and showed a slight increase in membership. They were pleased to welcome one hon. clerical member, 21 non-resident members and 88 resident member. On the debit side they had some who had not paid their subscriptions for 1967.

The obituaries included George W. Johnson (Hilgay), Stanley Faircliffe (Burwell), Arthur J. Ginn (Over), Harry A. Piggins (Wisbech), J. P. Stocker (St. Ives). H. W. Pratt (St. Ives), H. Sherman (Great Gransden).

Only 29 peals were rung for the Association. reported Mr. G. Pearson (peal secretary), compared with 56 in 1966. These comprised: Royal 1, Major 18, Triples 1, Minor 9. Eighteen towers were visited-Aspenden for the first time. Eighty members took part in peals, with over half only appearing once. There were five first-pealers and one first as conductor. The leading peal ringer was $\mathbf{D}$. F. Murfet with 15 peals, and the leading conductor was D E. Sibson. The Trumpinglon Tuesday band had now rung all A. J. Pitman's all-the-work Spliced Surprise Major in four methods to nine methods, and thanks were extended to D. E. Sibson for travelling regularly from London to Cambridge to conduct these complicated one-part compositions.
A paragraph in the report congratulated George Thoday on being the leading peal ringer of the Exercise in 1966. The reports were adopted
The officers were re-elected with grateful thanks tor their past services. They were: General secretary and treasurer, Mr. H. S. Peacock; peal secretary, Mr. G. Pearson; auditor, Mr. A. J. Davey.
Two appeals for money for restoration work were received, but owing to the amount of work in their own diocese it was decided that neither could be supported.
The service in the Church of SS. Peter and Mary Magdalene was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. J. Cole), Mrs. W. W. Cousins was the organist. The tea, attended by over 100 , was served in the Victoria Hall.

The meeting closed with a sincere vote of thanks to all who had made the day a success and this was acclaimed by all. H.S.P.

Commentary - The Price of Privilege

By K. H. FLEMING

RECENTLY when holding a conversation with a Rector of a local church I was astounded when he came out with the following statement: "I would have thought that if bellringers wish to guarantee the long-term future of their art they would seriously be considering purchasing private towers with bells in various parts of the country."

You may be as initially shocked to the same extent as I was, but like me, if you allow a few days (or weeks) for this statement to fit into perspective, in view of one's own local experience, then you may also come to think that he has a much more enlightened outlook of the future than the greater majority of ringers. Of course, the conversation did not end on this controversial point-he was trying to put over the church planning authorities' view in a discussion on future building needs of the church. The planners are not just obsessed with the idea of building churches without towers, etc., but are governed by one hard fact-MONEY.

Also the likely outcome of recommendations of the publication entitled "The 1970 Report" were mentioned. This Report deals with diocesan reorganisation and long-term planning. If you think of your own locality I am sure there are many examples (especially in towns) where the future of some churches is bound to come in for question in the next few years. Should the church authorities try and maintain these old buildings in the centre of decentralised towns and keep open others serving a fast lapsing congregation in small villages, or shauld they accept the challenge of the future and move and build in the fast-growing modern suburbs, thereby sounding the death knell for the older buildings?

No matter how prejudiced a ringer is, he will have to accept that this is going to happen, and provide the answer to the question, "Why not install bells in these modern new buildings?" The inevitable answer is MONEY.

Like the majority of readers, I for one was thrilled to read the article accompanying the picture in a recent issue of the "R.W." about the restoration of the bells of Edington Priory, and cannot help thinking this is the answer to the ringers' dream. But can we in all honesty expect to read of many more places undertaking such a colossal task? I doubt it very much.

In my opinion, although I may sound like a "prophet of doom," I can only foresee a lot of hard work (with sleeves rolled up and spanner in hand) and ringers having to give far more in terms of Money for the privilege which they enjoy at present in order to keep towers and bells in a condition for ringing. An excellent example of just what can and must be done was given in the same issue of the "R.W." by the Epsom ringers, and as I see it this is the pattern for the future. I do not wish to generalise, but my own local experience of what bell ringers as a collective body give in terms of hard cash when a restoration or augmentation takes place hardly covers the cost of the bell-hangers' first journey from the foundry to the church in question.

Ringers should realise that their future is at stake, and that the only position they can afford to be in when arguing with the church planning authority over the future of a particular ring of bells is one of sound financial backing accompanied by the ability to take any practical step (hard work) necessary. This second ability not only helps in purely practical terms but also saves money.

Now I can hear a great wail going up that by doing a lot of any practical work necessary ourselves we would be entering into competition with the bellfounders, but before these people shout too loudly they should remember that the most costly item on any restoration bill is time (or labour). Just send a T.V. for repair and see which is the most costly item on the bill.

The Church as a body is at present undergoing considerable strain with not only the problem of future building needs but with a world full of troubles of war, famine and racial tension. Whilst we as ringers also face these same problems, being members of that Church, we must be prepared to face our own personal problem of the approaching serious challenge to the future of our art. Each and every ringer, of whatever means in life, must ask himself and herself just how much they are prepared to do and how much they are prepared to give in the hard terms of action and money for the privilege which they enjoy at present.

Suffolk Guild Push for 500 Members

A N objective of a membership of 500 by 1970 was put before the Suffolk Guild at its annual general meeting at Stowmarket on April 20th. Membership had again increased, by 37, and totalled 404 together with 20 probationers. A change in the olifers arose through the resignation of Mr. Andrew T. Beckwith, who had been hon. secretary and treasurer for the past four years. His successor is the Rev. Lanrence R. Pizey, of Bramford Lodge, Bramford, Ipswich, who is assistan curate at Bramford.

The meeting attracted a large gathering of members and visiting ringers, who made good use of the 18 towers which were available from mid-day.
The Vicar of Stowmarket, the Rev. A. A. Muxlow, conducted a service in the Parish Church commencing at $4.15 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., at which the preacher was the Bishop of Dunwich (the Rt. Rev. D. R. Maddock). The service was preceded by a course of Grandsire Triples ". in hand," and the lessons were read by the Ring ing Master (Mr. G. W. Pipe) and Mr. Oliver G. Barnard. The congregation numbered 150 .
lea was served in the neighbouring Church Hall, where the Bishop and Mrs. Maddock were guests of the Guild.

The chairman, Mr. John W. Blythe, opened the business meeting by welcoming visitors from Warwickshire, Northants, Essex and Nor folk. Apologies for absence were received from Messrs, G. Goodship, H. W. H. Leather Dr. S. G. C. Harrison and the Horrnger ingers Minutes of the 1967 annual general meeting at Beccles were read, approved and adopted. There were no matters arising.

LOSSES BY DEATH

A short period of silence was observed to the memory of those members and friends of the Guild who had passed on during the past year. These were Charles Bailey (Beccles), Mrs Arthur Ballam (West Stow), Fred Boreham (Lavenham), Arthur Cuthbert (Wickham Market), William Faiers (Lavenham), Percy Marjoram (Tuddenham), Cecil Marriott (Ipswich), Arthur Moore (Bury St. Edmunds), John Stokes (Beccles) and Claud Woodard (St. Margaret's, Ipswich).

The Ringing Master, Mr. G. W. Pipe, said how pleased he was to see the improved relationships with the clergy and the increased membership during the past year. He illustrated the fluctuations in membership by the use of a graph and added that a membership of 500 by 1970 was a very real possibility. He also expressed pleasure at the increased support for the striking competition, the 12 teams at Horringer being the largest number entering so far. Twelve members had rung their first peal and four members had called their first peal.
The hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. Andrew Beckwith, also expressed his satisfaction at the increase in membership and congratulated the Guild on the promptness of payment of subscriptions. He urged members not to be hesitant about taking office in a District capacity and felt the experience to be gained in so doing was invaluable and often boosted a District when new enthusiasm was needed. On the financial side, the General Account was satisfactory and recorded a balance of $£ 204$ Os. 20.

RESTORATION FUND HEALTHY

The Restoration Fund was in a very healthy state, the total income over the past year being $\pm 884 \mathrm{~s}$. 9 d ., making a balance of $£ 24013 \mathrm{~s}$. 7d. Funds had benefited by $£ 16$ 12s. 6d. from the social at Bramford and there had been one or two other generous donations. A grant of $£ 20$ had been awarded to Stowmarket, and one of $£ 25$ had been promised for St. Mary's. Bungay

The secretary then said that owing to having commenced business on his own account recently he was unable to spare the leisure time to cope with duties as be would like, and therefore would not be seeking reelection. He had made his decision known at the lass Hommittee meeting and the members present had given most ready assent to his recommended successor. He concluded by thanking everyone for helping him during the past four years and for the welcome which he had always received.
The technical adviser (Mr. Ranald Clouston) said inspections had been carried out in six towers during the past year, as published in the annual report. He felt that as he resided out of the county a resident assistant would be of great help to him and asked if any keen young and agile member who had mechanical leanings would care to get in touch with him. Mr. Clouston also said that he felt that his approval should be given to completed restoration work before grants were paid. He hoped that the committee would give support to this suggestion
Mr. Hubert Mitson gave details of the Pearson handbells, which were on loan, on behalf of the trustees, and added that $£ 3$ had been collected during the past year lowards maintenance.
The aforementioned reports were accepted and approved with thanks to the respective officers.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Vice-presidents.- With the exception of Mr Charles E. Fisher, who had passed away recently, the following vice-presidents were all re-elected: The Ven. T. R. Browne, Messis Bert Chilvers, Cecil W. Pipe, H, Claude Rush, Charles 3. Sedgley and George E. Symonds. The meeting elected two new vice-presidentsSamuel Twitchett (Clare) and Andrew T. Beckwith (Ipswich)

Chairman.-Mr. C. W. Pipe occupied the chair during this clection, and there werc proposals for Mr. Blythe to accept office again and also a proposition that Mr. George Pipe become chairman. On being put to the vote a large majority voted in favour of Mr. Blythe continuing in office.

Ringing Master.-Mr. George W. Pipe was e-clected unanimously.
Hon. secretary and treasurer.-Following Mr Beckwith's decision not to seek re-election, the chairman moved the election of the Rev. Lawrence R. Pizzey to fill the vacancy on behalf of the committee. The retiring secretary seconded the proposal and the meeting carried the election unanimously.

Hon technical adviser,-Mr. Ranald W. M. Clouston was re-elected unanimously Report Editor,-Rev. Lawrence Pizzey proposed that Mr. Alan R. Bridges become Report Editor, and this was seconded by Mr Huber Mison and carried.
Pearson's Handbell Trustees.-Dr. S. G. C. Harrison and Mr. Hubert A. Mitson were re elected.

Hon. Auditor -Mr . J. W. H. Preastner was re-elected as Guild auditor.
Mr. George Pipe proposed that the 1969 annual general meeting should be held at Bury St. Edmunds on April 12th. Mr. C. Stannard seconded and the proposal was carried.

ANY OTHER BUSINESS

Mr. Leslie Mills said he thought that election of Guild officers should be on proposals from members to their respective District meetings, and recommendations would be conveyed by District officers or other representatives to the general committee and thence to the annual meeting. Mr Peter Bedford proposed that elections continue as at present and this was carried

Mr. Cecil Pipe remarked on the complacent attitude of the St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, P.C.C. with regard to restoration of the ring of 12 bells. He proposed that a resolution be sent fram the Guild stressing the urgency of

M.U.G's ANNUAL DINNER

NOT even " the sweetness of the grass and the tenderness of the moonlight " could convince the group of visitors in Fallowfield of the advantages of an airy night prior to their ringing on March 9th. Perhaps the array of the Saturday's mis-events will persuade us all to have a quiet " night before" next time. Despite the early morning fog, a Guild peal was rung at Marsden, its late start causing disruption to most of the other ringing arrangements.

In the evening, however, most managed to arrive at the Waldorf at the appropriate hour and order prevailed. After an excellent meal. the president, Brian Tomlinson, offered the loyal toast and then invited the first speech from the steeplekeeper, David Ley. In the traditional proposal of the toast of "The Church," traditionally used as a mouthpiece of challenge to the Church, David introduced some well-chosen extracts from Birmingham University's Rag magazine. This was applauded, in part, by a tiny handbell, smuggled into the dinner by an ex-Master 1

The reply came from the Rev. Alan Overell, the Rector of Sacred Trinity, Salford (our bome tower), who took the challenge and put it down-much to the amusement of the com-pany-and proceeded with further interesting tales. The secretary, Chris Munday, turned quips on almost all resident members-except his hand to a poem which seemed to include himself! He ended by proposing the toast of "The Visitors," and Graham Jones, of Leeds University, replied on their behalf.

Paul Coddington, of -Lancaster University, proposed the toast of "The Guild," and amongst the funnies (a cleverly innovated mod speech), was a story which, he claimed, had been related by a past secretary three years previously. Discussion afterwards proved his point, and it was suggested that, for those who want to hear it again, it should be made a triennial tale. Unfortunately it cannot be included here !

The Master replied on behalf of the Guild, expressing his surprise that the proceedings had managed to get that far, in view of the trail of disasters through the week-end. He reported that, although few peals had been rung, the Guild had been extremely active, both in and out of the belfry. There, had been no " lasting links" formed during or after the summer tour, but the Guild congratulated Margaret and Ron Warford, who were married the week-end after. He then explained that it was a summer tour two years previously which had brought them together. Echoing the welcome to the visitors, he said there were people from Nottingham, Leeds, Lancaster and Sheffield Universities present, and commented that it was quite a pleasure to have representatives from the Branches coming up to bead office from time to time.

Reporting on a cult of beard growing over the year, he commented that most had given up after a while, but a few were still trying. He concluded by introducing the Master for the coming year, Chris (Digby) Munday, al most the only one who had not yet attempted a beard.

The president then had the pleasure of announcing the engagement of Chris Movley and Jane Colley. When a speech was called for, Chris offered the few words, "Well, it all happened this afternoon, really," and thanked the Guild for the congratulations.

Formal then gave way to informal proccedings, which did not give way for quite a long time the problem. The meeting agreed to this. As there was no other business the chairman closed the meeting by expressing thanks to the many people who had contributed to a very successful day.

Ringing took place in a further four towers and thus ended another successful and much enjoyed meeting.

BELL ARCHAEOLOGY

J. E. Lewis Cockey Writes on the Cockeys

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. Shepherd's letter in a recent issuc, the writer is still in existen-e, and living in retirement at 47. Bath Road, Swindon. Now in the 80's and suffeling rather badly with arthritis, one's ringing activities are much restricted; though stull a member of the Christ Church company and an hon life member of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, I still manage to get an occastonal ring here and there.

While on the subject, I would refer to Miss Overend's letter in your issue of April 18th, which is of considerable interest.
In your issue of April 16th, 1954 (No. 2,245), I submitted an article on the Cockey family. which has some bearing on the matter, and I venture to repeat some items. The draft of this was shown to the late Sir Cyril Flower of the Records Office, when I was residing in Ealing. Sir Cyril was a Warminster man, and had considerable knowledge of the district, and was much interested in the matter, giving me some useful information and making one or two suggestions.
1 was aware of the dates of the trebles and sixth at Frome by William Cockey, and on New Year's Eve, 1938, had the pleasure of ringing the second to a good peal of Double Norwich, the first of Major on the bells, conducted by Mr. Nolan Golden, with Mr. Pat Cannon on the tenor. This peal was referred to by a lady visitor, "Pandora," in the - Sunday Times " in January, 1939.

It really appears that the family originated in the Bristol area. spreading eventually to many parts of the West Country, e.g. Salisbury, Totnes and many parts of Somerset. Stephen le Cokke was Provast of Bristol in 1261, and James Cokkye was Baliff in 1487. In 1524 it is stated that a John Cockys was assessed upon his personal goods, the sum of 9 . in the Manor of Holcombe, near Frome.

A Lewis Cockey was casting bells in Bristol about 1680, and a Mordecai Cockey, near Totnes, about the same date. I saw one of these bells at the Croydon Foundry some years ago. Preb. Daniel states that a Lewis Cockey came from Warminster to Frome about 1680, and set up a bell foundry there. An old rate book states that Lewis Cockey with a residence in Frome paid a 3d. rate in 1682 . In one document he is referred to as Mr. Lewis, implying a person of some importance. The registers ai St. John's, Frome, refer to his burtal in 1703, but strangely enough there is no trace of tis grave, nor that of William Cockey, though the two family tombs give the names of father and son, etc., from about 1700 almost to the present time. In view of the above, it would really appear, though not certain. that there must have been two Lewis Cockeys, one at Bristol and another at Frome.

A William Cockey did much wori in the Wincanton area for a number of years about 1703, and was churchwarden there. It is believed that he migrated to Frome, where he carried on with bellfounding. probably succeeding Lewis Cockey, and also being churchwarden there. The writer cannot defintely claim descent from William Cockey, and in fact cannot trace any children of his, if any, but is certainly descended from Edward Cockey. the last of the bellfounders, who was apparently the son of Christopher, died 1792son of Lewis, died 1786.

It was an interesting experience some years ago to look through the church registers with the late Prebendary Randolph,- but one was not able to get a complete record. I think that those at Warminster would provide some interesting information. I was told many years ago that there were some very old Cockey graves there, but was not able to find them.
Since my article of 1954 most of the persons mentioned are now deceased, and there are few male members of the family now in this country. The firm of Edward Cockey and Sons Lid. in Frome has now ceased to exist, so the name there has disappeared. It is noteworthy, however, that it is very numerous in the United States, a number of whom have shown great interest in their forbears here. U.S. records state that on January 26th, 1634, a Thomas Cockey, from Somerset, aged 25 , with his wife, sailed from London on the ship " Boniventure," commanded by James Rumsey, for Burbados, and apparently eventually settled in the Baltimore arca. A family tree in my possession shuws scores of names, almost to the present day, and is is noteworthy that they retain many of the old Christian names, such as Willam, Edward, Richard and Mordecai, but not apparently Lewis. There is also a reference to a John Cockey, 15 - - to 16 - but no other information.
Recently I had considerable correspondence with a Mr. Raridolph Lucas Cockey, of Baltimore, who was a direct descendant of the above-mentioned Thomas Cockey He was preparing a book on the family, and was honing to pay a visit to this country, but sadly enough he died a short while since.

Much might be said, too, about the magnificent astronomical and equation clocks made by Edward Cockey. of Warminster, in the 18th century-one of which is in Longleat House and a smaller one is in existence here in Swindon.

Possibly much of the above is not directly connected with the origin of this letter, but may possibly be of some interest.

One hopes that Miss Overend will be successtul in clearng up the question of Lewis Cockey.-Yours taithfully,

LIVERPDDL UNIVERSITY ANNUAL DINNER

MINUTES of frenzied activity, spread over several weeks culminated on Friday, February 23 rd , with the start of the seventh annual dinner of the Liverpool University Society. Visitors arrived throughout the evening. joining the practice at St. Francis Xavier $s$ and later, with the kind permission of the Ringing Master, at St. Nicholas', Pier Head. From there we went to that most famous Liverpool dockside pub, the Pig and Whistle, and yet again caused much dismay to Wynn.
Ringing the next day had been arranged at Walton (8), St. Michael's. Aughton (6), Christ Church. Aughton (8), Halsall (6), Emmanuei, Southport (8) and Christ Church, Southport (8). A peal of Bristol was lost at Bromborough due to the conductor calling three consecutive bobs (nobody else noticed). but the Society managed to score its first peal of Cambridge Royal at Ashton-under-Lyne.

The dinner, showing yet again an increase in numbers, was held at Bedford House. After the typically excellent meal the Master proposed the loyal toast to the Duke of Lancaster, which was followed by Mr. H. Dobbin proposing the loast of "The Church." In response, Fr. G. S. Pedley, curate of St. Nicholas' and a great friend of the Society, thanked us for providing the best company he had found in Liverpool since his arrival. His speech, which bore little relevance to the Church, was one of the most interesting the Society has had in the past few years.

Miss S. Cowan, with assistance from the secretaries. welcomed the visitors, particular reference being made to those aged stalwarts

Lester and Joe, who seemed to be having an uproarious time. Congratulations were extended to our guest speaker, Chris Kippin, on his engagement to Miss Heather Walters, and, with a dit of confusion, to Elizabeth Iimmins, Bob Peers and Chris Eden, although it was not quite clear who was engaged to whom Representatives from Bristol, Cambridge, Leeds, Southampton and Wales Universities were present and there were also visitors from Cambridge, Cheshire, Lancashire, Leicester, Norfolk, Nottingham, London, South Wales and Staffordshire.
In reply Mr. C. Kippin thanked us on behalf of all the visitors for the excellent meal. He said he wished that other universities would take a leaf out of our book-ham fritters, indeed! After several sharp witticisms he propased the toast of "The Society." saying that he hoped it would continue to prosper and wished it every success in the future.

The reply was undertaken by the Master. Mr. David Moore, who reported that four peals had been rung during the year. He congratulated the Society members, Messrs. Fox, Fielden, Hatield. Jenner and Bennett, on their recent marriages, and also Miss H. Arrowsmith on her engagement to Mr. J. Mackenzie, and two Soclety members on their engagement -Miss Julie Lethbridge and Mr. Bruce Veitch. He concluded by emphasising that the Society had been very active socially ovet the past year and thanking all those present for coming. and wishing them a pleasant evening.

The formal proceedings concluded, the Master led the company from the dining room to the lounge, where the evening passed quietly away to the clinking of glasses and handbells.

The Master, Mr. David F. Moore, was accompanied on the top table by Miss G. Bidgood. Fr. S. Pedley, Mr. C. Kippin and Miss H. Walters, Mr. H. Dobbin and Miss M. Macdonald and Mr. G. Sparling and Miss S. Cowan.

Also present were Mr. and Mrs. P. Gennett, Mr. and Mrs. J. Foot, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hatfield, Mr. and Mrs. D. House, Mr. and Mrs. J. Jelley, Mr. and Mrs. D. Jenner, Mr. and Mrs. P. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. M. Pilgrim, Mr. and Mrs. P. Rothera, Mr. and Mrs. M. Phillips.

SPLICED PEALS

Dear Sir,-May I communicate to you for publication the following unanimous decision of the Methods Committee:-
" The decisions on peals must cover both Regular and Irregular methods, therefore the leads must remain intact since Irregular methods can be rung which are asymmetric.

We recommend that the decisions on Spliced Peals remain unaltered and the peal bc accepted as published."

> C. KENNETH LEWIS, Convener on behalf of the Methods Committee.

SURPRISE RINGERS AND BEGINNE:S

Dear Sir,-If Messrs. King and Roberts (pages 342 and 363 ) really believe that people who ring Surprise Major or happen to like ringing peals are poor supporters of their local bands on Sundays and practice nights and do little teaching, their experience of ringing and ringers must be sadly limited. The childish nature of the remarks-who but Mr. King would call somebody who can ring Surprise an expert? -simply betrays a huge inferiority complex. I hoped when I read Mr. King's last le:ter (November 11th, 1966) that he would outgrow this, but he has obviously not done so yet.-Yours faithfully,

DAVID E. HOUSE.
Norwich.

SALISBURY GUILD A.G.M.

Dear Sir-Once again democracy was given rough justice at the annual meeting of the Salisbury Guild.

The re-election of the existing officers en bloc was proposed from the chair, the meeting not being asked for other nominations. An objection was raised to the election "en bloc"; this was practically ignored, the same procedure jeing adopted for the committee and Central Council representatives.
The agenda did not indicate that Central Council representatives were to be elected. As the meeting was unprepared, the vacancy left by a retiring member was quickly filled under the old pals act, no further nominations being asked for.

When questions were asked about the attendance of the representatives at the Central Council the reply was vague, an indication being made that the information could be obtained from "the Ringing World." What made it so difficult to give a straightforward answer? If the representatives feel that attendance at the Central Council is "a waste of time" why do they not stand down and allow someone else to bear the responsibility which has been delegated to them?

This year it was seen fit to make a grant to a tower without prior application being made, yet in 1965 an application made at the meeting was ruled out of order.

It was unfortunate that poor acoustics in the hall made the proceedings difficult to follow for a large number of those present; this was probably responsible for making the meeting more apathetic than usual, or perhaps the steamroller had done its work.-Yours faithfully,

GRABBED AND TAUGHT

Dear Sir, - So Miss Anne Horsford, of Twickenharn. has little time for the tower grabbers of this world! " Rejoice !" says she. "for the demoniac tribes who arrive at churches with a cloud of smoke, a squeal of brakes and long skid-marks in the gravel path are decreasing !"
But, you know, we are not so bad. I figured high in last year's tower grabbers but I also rang for at least 100 services, attended every one of them and taught 12 youngsters in the art of bell handling. Many other people in the celebrated list are known to me personally and a good number of them have done a great deal more for the Exercise than I can boast.
Please, Miss Horsford, don't frown on us too darkly. Most of us do our little bit to help, but we also like our fling on Saturdays and our tour in the summer, and if a person does not feel the collector's instinct and the wish to show off about his achievements, then he is no human !
Your list is an excellent idea; why not try it next year?-Yours faithfully, DEMON PAR EXCELLENCE. Name and address supplied.-Ed.

NOTTINGHAM BELL RHYME

Dear Sir,-Browsing through a library in Nottingham. I found this bell rhyme:-

Colston's cracked pancheons,
Screveton's egg shells,
Bingham's two rollers,
Whatton's merry bells.
Probably written by the ringers of Whatton ! - Yours faithfully,
S. M. O'NEILL (Miss).

KENYA RINGER WANTS TO HEAR ENGLISH BELLS

Dear Sir,-I very much enjoy reading "The Ringing World," but greatly miss the sound of hells. I wonder if any reader who has taperecordings of bells is willing to send me a copy of some part of his recordings? I would pay for postage and the cost of the tape in advance.
I would particularly like to hear Grandsire and Stedman but any methods would be welcome. Similarly, an Oxfordshire, Warwickshire or City of Cambridge tower would be preferable if there were a choice. If anyone would be good enough to go to this trouble I should be most grateful.-Yours faithfully.

JAMES STREDDER.

WARNING AGAINST SMOKING IN SOUTHWELL MINSTER
Dear Sir,-I have today received the following warning from the Provost of Southwell, the Very Rev. H. C. L. Heywood, and I would be most obliged if you would give it the necessary publicity in "The Ringing World."
"When the time came to sweep the Ringers' Gallery after a number of visiting teams had been given the privilege of ringing there we found 17 used matches and two cigarette ends on the floor. This was a gross abuse of privilege and I am under the necessity of telling every team wishing to come that if anything like this is repeated I shall not be able to extend the courtesy of our belfry to visitors. Apart from other considerations the fire risk (there is so much wood about) is very great."
I would like to endorse the Provost's remarks, and also suggest that we all take this warning to heart. It is no use saying "This does not apply to me, I do not smoke." It is as ringers that we shall be judged, and if ringing is stopped it will apply to one and all, and it is therefore up to us to stamp this out here and now.-Yours faithfully,
W. L. EXTON,

Hon. Gen. Sec.

RINGING AT SOUTHWELL A.G.M.

Dear Sir,-If you ask any member of the Southwell Guild about the ringing at the annual general meeting at Southwell they will make such comments as "The worst ringing of the year," "Five- and six-bell ringers trying to ring 12 bells," "Too many learners." These comments were made to me weeks before the meeting took place. The ringing on April 20th seemed doomed even before a bell was struck.
As Ringing Master for the first time at the annual general meeting. I felt that something must be done about this to raise the standard but a little. As over 130 names were submitted for tea I therefore made the following plans to cope with such numbers and get the best striking: The ringers of limited ability on five, six and seven bells would have to content themselves with ringing rounds; the rounds should only have four learners ringing at a time; rounds should alternate with ringing on twelve, ten and eight bells.
On April 20th the long business meeting left only 20 to 30 minutes for ringing. To save time, the bells were raised as quickly as possible in alternate fours. This took approximately five minutes. A tower packed with ringers surely demanded several short touches. After the last touch had ended, some ringers were reluctant to go to tea straight away so I decided to take advantage of this and squeeze another touch in. The band was only "the chosen few" because there were then few remaining ringers.
We had even less ringing time between tea and the service so I decided to form a band to represent most of the Guild to ring a service touch. I could fill a book with my own comments on the result of this.
I feel that Mr. E. Shuttleworth is not in a position to criticise the meeting because he did not stay to the end. The ringing ended soon after nine o'clock and for the final hour the standard of ringing improved greatly, thanks to the co-operation and support I re ceived from a few people, learners and experienced, visitors and Guild members who stayed to the not-so-bitter end-Yours faithfully,

PETER WAKEFIELD,
Ringing Master, Newark District.

Dear Sir, I am disgusted at the letter from Ian Roberts in "The Ringing World " of Mav 10th, which has acted on me as a last straw following many other attacks on the Birmingham ringers. I am sick of the meanness of small men who can do nothing but sneer and destroy the work of others. I have rung on $6,8.10$ and (very little) on 12 bells, and I have rung quarter peals and peals, so that 1 say from experience that 12 -bell ringing is the most difficult number to ring, and that the longer the length of ringing the greater the stress and strain on the ringer. Anyone who says otherwise expresses either ignorance or stupidity. To train and maintain a band to ring to a high standard on the higher numbers or to ring complex methods requires the most dedicated, concentrated, unceasing work for those who make the attempt.
As an outside observer who does not ring with the St. Martin's Guild, I believe that the St. Martin's Guild has maintained an excellent standard of ringing on all numbers of bells during very many years. This is something of incomparable value to the Exercise because of the St. Martin's Guild tradition of welcome to visitors from all parts of the country. If there were no established 12-bell bands, those enthusiastic ringers who wish to graduate to 12 -bell ringing might well be unable to do so, as 12 Royal ringers do not make a Maximus band. A 12 -bell band requires twice as many ringers as a 6 -bell band, but many times more than twice as much effort to maintain. Mr. Roberts may not feel that the effort is worthwhile, but no one can deny that the effort is considerable.

The St. Martin's Guild ringers are all concerned to maintain standards. They are not politicians who deliberately place themselves in a position to receive catcalls and criticisms and brickbats-they are not elected and paid to be opposed and attacked on their every wora. I object intensely to their being treated as the Aunt Sally of the Exercise, as seems to have happened over the last couple of years. These letters full of sneers and derogation are spiteful and hurtful. For a community of Christians all working to improve their offerings to the Church, this newspaper should have no place for vicious, destructive letters.
I also object to the unpleasant sneers at $m y$ husband over the peal of Glasgow. The publicity was at the request of the Vicar of Edgbaston and was of immense benefit to the attitude of the Birmingham public towards ringing-it was appreciated everywhere in fact except in "The Ringing World." where it had been presented with the hope that it had several factors of interest to ringers as well as news value.
If, as a result of stupid letters in "The Ringing World," my husband were to refrain from contributing anything further, to stop hitting his head against brick walls (headaches, grumbles and large postal bills are the usual rewards of committed ringers, Mr. Roberts, rather than glory)-then I think the Exercise would be the poorer. My husband's regular service ringing, practice ringing and meetring attendance is beyond anyone's criticism, except possibly a wife's. He works hard to try to make arrangements to suit, encourage and develop scores of ringers. He gets his clothes filthy from bell frames. He cares intensely about the standards and fellowship of ringers. He has never written a letter to "The Ringing World" to sneer at the quarter peals of Grandsire Doubles ringers.

OBITUARY

MR. PETER LAFLIN An Appreciation
Peter Laflin passed away peacefully on Tuesday, April 30th, at the age of 78 years. Peter led an active life right to the end: in fact on the Wednesday before he died he travelled to Chapel-en-le-Frith to visit members of his family, as usual. Both they and we are left with happy memories of a fine man who was also a fine ringer. It is association with people of Peter's stature that realiy makes ringing worthwhile. The example he set and the advice he gave was always worth following. both tor the learner and the more experienced ringer. He never gave less than his best, whether ringing Plain Bob for a learner or more complicated methods with the regular peal band.

Peter enjoyed listening to good ringing almost as much as participating; he enjoyed listening to his new record of "The Bells of Bristol in the last week of bis life. If our memory of Peter is as happy as his memories of his ringing and his friends, I am sure that he would be well pleased.
R.B.S.

MR. E. T. SNELLER

A very well-struck in memoriam peal was rung at Ilsley, Berks, on May 4th for Edward Thomas Sneller, a churchman, chorister, churchwarden and ringer at the Parish Church for 60 years. In the band were five olood relations, all natives of the village, who with the other three in the band remember him with love and thankfulness

MR. GEORGE E. BRAITHWAITE

The Lancaster Branch of the Lancashire Association has lost a founder member by the death of Mr. George E. Braithwaite, of Bur-ton-in-Kendal, on May 3rd, aged 61 .

George did perhaps more than anyone to encourage peal ringing in the Lancaster area and rang 106 peals, all on tower bells. Ap. proximately half of these were rung before the 1939-45 war and in his own locality. mostly in the basic methods. Without his unfailing attendance at Branch meetings in the years following the war the state of ringing in North Lancashire and South Westmorland would not be as it is at present, and indeed may well have succumbed to the pressure of modera life. He will long be remembered and greatly missed in Burton and the surrounding district.

Many friends attended the funeral service. interment being in a grave at the foot of the tower where he spent so many happy hours. Some of his favourite touches were rung before and after the service.
R.F.E.

I do not believe that the backbone of the Exercise is the regular parochial Sunday service ringer, nor do I believe it to be the ringer of peals only. The backbone of the Exercise is the fully committed ringer (in most cases a peal ringer), the man who works and organises, gives time and help and money, attending his commitments scrupulously, over many years. My husband is a fully committed ringer and no daft beggar. Mr. Roberts evidently knows nothing about the Birmingham ringers. What creditable reason can he have for expressing such ignorance?
I am sending this letter without reference to my husband.- Yours faithfully,

MARION S. AINSWORTH (Mrs.).
Halesowen Worcs.

MR. J. E. JEATER
With deep regret we record the death of Mr. James Edwin Jeater, of Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro, in hospital at Redruth on May 12th. He had been in indifferent healtl since January, and in February he "tendered his resignation as accountant to "The Ringing World," to expire at the end of June. His health deteriorated and since the second week in April his books have been attended to at Guildford.

For more than 20 years Mr. Jeater has been accountant to "The Ringing World," having been appointed when Mr. G. W. Fletcher was general secretary and treasurer to the Central Councll. He was then living at Petts Wood, Kent, but in 1953 he went to Cusgarne, Truro, where he had a bungalow and developed a beautiful garden.

The meticulous care with which he kept "The Ringing World , accounts won the admiration of the committee and the auditor. When he was first appointed about $£ 2,500$ a year was passing through his hands; in 1952 it had reached $£ 4,000$ and by 1967 it exceeded $£ 12,000$; such was the expansion of the paper. In 1964, when the Central Council met at Truro. he was requested to attend the meeting and receive personally the thanks of the Council tor the faithful discharge of his duties. His work was a labour of love. and the friendly notes that he wrote to people in all patts of the world maintained the true family spirit which "The Ringing World " has endeavoured to engender. The Editor has lost a very sincere colleague.
Cremation at Truro on May 15 th was private. To his widow and son, Robert, the sympathy of all our readers is extended.

MR. STANLEY S. BRISTOW •

Ringers from the Wellington (Somerset) neighbourhood, and especially from his own tower at Ashbrittle, were saddened by the news of the death of Stanley Bristow on May 7th
A ringer since 1919, when at the age of 14 he joined the little band which rang the five bells at Stawley, Stanley became captain at Ashbrittle in 1935 and held the post until 1967, when, on doctor's orders, he stopped working and retied to live in Wellington.

Stan was a gardener by trade and skill, but rınging was his pleasure. He was a loyal member of the Taunton Branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association and was at one tıme Deputy Ringing Master and, later. Branch Ringing Master. Learners found his patience and kindness inexhaustible, and he was always ready to help a struggling band.
The oells of Wellington Parish Church were rung half-muffled for the funeral service. which was attended by a large number of ringing friends, and the Sunday service band at Sampiord Arundel rang a quarter peal of Grandsıre Doubles, half-muffled, in his memory.

SHEFFIELD UNIVERSITY GUILD

The University of Sheffield Guild held its annual general meeting on May 3rd. when the following were elected to office for the coming year: Master, Simon R. Cole; Deputy Master, John F. Eborall; secretary and treasurer, John D. Cooper, c/o 134, Walkley Lane, Sheffield S6 2NZ. Practices will continue to be held at St. Marie's, Norfolk Row, on Fridays at 8 p.m. during term-time.

Berkshire Takes First Three in Oxford Guild Contest

HE semi-finals and finals of the Oxford Diocesan Guild striking contest were held on May 4th, a day which dawned bright and sunny but ended with the inevitable rain. However, even the lack of sunshine could not hide the natural beauty of this part of Oxfordshire, where the Witney and Woodstock Branch were acting as hosts.
One tcam from each Branch of the Guild15 in all-were due to take part, but lastminute cancellations reduced the number of teams to nine. These were split into two semifinals, the first held at St . James-the-Great, Stonesfield. Four teams took part in this contest: Headington (representing the Oxford City Branch), Thatcham (Newbury Branch), Eynshain (Winney and Woodstock Branch) and Hughenden (East Berks and South Bucks Branch) The Master of the Guild, the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg, was the judge for this semifinal
After the draw, the first team to ring were Headington. The band settled down very well and rang a good 240 of Grandsire without any trips. Thatcham followed, and rang Pitman's 240 of Grandsire in excellent style, marred by a slight mishap when one ringer missed his sally, and another wher a ringer (who shall be nameless) decided to do a single dodge at a bob! Third to ring were Eynsham, who, as befitting a team in their own Branch. rang an excellent touch of Grandsire. Hughenden rang last and set an impeccable standard in their initial two minute rounds. However, a mistake at a single in their second 120 of Stedman rapidly built up a large number of fauts. This concluded the contest ringing at Stonesfield. and after a few touche to enable the judge, stewards and other visitors to have a ring, the company moved off to Wootton Village Hall for tea.
Meanwhile the second semi-final was under way at St. Mary's. Northleigh. Originally it was intended to hold it at Coombe, but a broken stay and a troken rope necessitated a rapid reorganisation of plans. The teams taking part at Northleigh were: East Hagbourne (North Berks Branch), St. Mary's, Reading (Reading Branch) and Sonning (Sonning Deanery Branch). The judge was Mr. Frank Mack, who had travelled 150 miles from Exmouth to officiate. First to ring were East Hagbourne, who rang a very good touch of Grandsire Doubles. Si. Mary's, Reading, were drawn next, and as was to be expected of a band of this callibre they rang a splendid 240 Cambridge Minor. Last to ring were Sonning. who were unfortunately handicapped by the fact that some of their band had lost their way, so substitutes had to be fielded (or should I say "towered"! ). After their touch of Grandsire Doubles the bands converged on Wootton for tca.

A truly magnificent rea was organised by Miss Daphne Pollard. The judges then announced the results of the semi-finals. The Rev. C. Elliot Wigg, in his summing up, suid that a very high standard of ringing had been set again. He awarded the faults to each team as follows: Eynsham 26 fautts, Thatcham 28, Headington 36 and Hughenden 76. Mr. Frank Mack, in his summary, first remarked on the split-second accuracy of ull the bands in their two minute rounds preceding their rouch. None of them had exceeded two minutes and one second, and one was exactly two minutes. It was just as of they were timing it by a stopwatch (as they were 1). He went on to say that the first team had rung some very good Grandsire, but some handstroke leads had been wide. He awarded them $31 \frac{1}{2}$ faults. The second team had rung Cambridge very well, but some faults had occurred when the tenor was turned in; $30 \frac{1}{2}$ faults. The final team had been unfortunate: they incurred 60 faults. This meant that East Hagbourne and St. Mary's, Reading, would compete against Eynsham and Thatcham in the final.
The rain, which had been intermittent all the afternoon, now setuled into a steady drizzle.

The judges abandoned their original intention of judging from the Village Hall, performing their duties from inside the church. Knots of plastic-clad figures could be seen round the streets of Wootton, sheltering under trees, in doorways, cars and the church porch, all listening intently to the contest. East Hagbourne had been drawn first, and soon setted into some good Grandsire Doubles. Eynsham followed with another touch of Grandsire, the tenor adding a few extra faults by not standing first time at the conclusion of the touch. Thatcham rang at a slower pace than tho previous two team, incurring extra faults through a couple of trips. St. Mary's, Reading, soncluded the ringing with an excellent touch of Plain Bob Minor.
All the company gathered in the church to hear the judges decisions Mr. Mack spoke for both of them, saying that a very high standard of ringing had been maintained. The good. steady singing of the first team had carned them only 33 faults. The second team had rung rather hurricdly, which had led to some clipping in thirds and fourths place: he awarded them 44 faults. The third team's ringing had been * very nice, steady Grandsire Doubles, typical of a country band, with only two unforminate trips; 28 faults." The last team, who had rung Plain Bob Minor, were probably the team who had rung Cambridge at the semi-final that afternoon. Their ringing had been excellent, only 12 faults being scored. The Rev. C. Elliot Wigg then announced that St. Mary's, Reading, were this year's winners, with Thatcham second and East Hagbourne third.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN GUILD

Cary Branch

The Cary Branch met at Barton St. David on April 27th, when 30 ringers attended the service in the Parish Church conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. S. Thomas), who was also the organist. The lesson was read by the Branch chairman (the Rev. G. S. Robinson), who tork the chair after tea in the Village Hall for the business meeting.
The chairman presented certificates to four Barton St. David ringers and welcomed Mr. W. A. Prescott, tower captain, back to the tower after his operation and long illness. There was a special word of thanks to those who had carried on during his absence.

Ilchester Branch

The Ilchester Branch held its May practice at St. John the Baptist's Church. Pitncy, on May 4th. Over 35 ringers attended. representing 12 towers, including Yealmpton and Nailsea. The Rector, the Rev. P. E. Holmes, conducted the belfry prayers, and ringing on this good going scven cwt. five was under the direction of Messrs. Gordon Rendell and W. E. Turner. This included rounds. Grandsire Doubles, Bob Doubles, Reverse St. Bartholomew, Stedman and St. Simon's Bob.
It was very gratifying to know that the Pitney ringers wished to become full members of the Branch, and the company were further delighted when the invitation came from the churchwarden, Mr. J. A. L. Young, and Mrs. Young 10 visit their house for refreshments after ringing down the bells. The thanks of the Branch and its visitors were expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Young and also to the Rector and Mr. Ed. Thyer, the tower Master, for allowing the use of the bells. M.M.L.

HILL FARRANCE. SOM.-On March 30th, 1.260 Grandsire Doubles: Miss G. Stevens I. R Escote (first Doubles) 2. D. Escout (first Doubles) 3, R. Barrleti 4, R Colman (cond.) 5, C. Barnes 6. For the marriage or Miss C. J. Beresford-Stooke and Mr. J.

Miss Cross, hon. general secretary of the Guild, proposed a vote of thanks: to the incumbents of Stonesfield, Northleigh and Wootton, to the Witney and Woodstock Branch for making all the local arrangements, to the stewards for their services, to the Master and Mr. Frank Mack for acting as judges. Miss Cross added at this point that she hoped that they would take home a favourable impression of ringing in the Guild. Finally, thanks were due to Miss Daphne Pollard for giving up part of her holiday in order to prepare such a magnificent tea.

After a sbort prayer the company dispersed, some to the tower, others to wend their long way home, and some to ... guess where?

WHITSTABLE RINGERS VISIT BUCKS

It has been the tradition of the bellringers of All Saints' Church, Whitstable, to visit another part of the country at about Easter time, and this year saw seven of them off to Buckinghamshire to base at Stony Stratford. En route the light bells of Stoke D'Abernon (Surrey) were put to good use, and in the evening we had a short but enjoyable ring at Stony Stratford.
Tuesday saw the band ringing the unusual steel bells at Waddesdon-not as unpleasant as might have been anticipated, followed by the anti-clockwise old five at Nether Winchendon. Two Thomas Mears' sixes followedthe lovely bells at Aston Clinton and the correspondingly unpleasant ring at Ellesborough in its fine tower. Evening practice was spent with the locals at Buckingham.
On the Wednesday some members went to chime the unringable and discordant steel bells at Thornborough, followed by some good ringing at Brill. At Steeple Claydon we were joined by Ann Carpenter, and one member landed himself on the floor after the lower. The light five at Beachampton in their minute lower were much enjoyed, but the weather failed to hold out for our evening visit to the superb eight at Woburn.
Thursday was spent in Oxford, where the traffic was compensated for by the lovely sixes at Cowley and St. Aldate's, and where Cireat Tom was also visited. En route back a short break was made at Calverton, with its 12 cwt . six. In the evening we went to the brick church at Fenny Stratford, where the second persistently slipped wheel and the fifth refused to stop ringing despite every appearance on the part of the rope that the bell was "set." During the day we were delighted to have the company of John and Beryl Baldwin, and in the evening that of Alan and Diana Frost.

Friday was the birthday of one member, who appeared disguised as a clergyman, to the consternation of the hotel staff. We were glad to have Andrew and Richard Haseldine with us again, and the first stop was at Wingrave, where the fine six provided some of the best ringing of the week.
In contrast, the heavy bells at Wing ( $29 f$ cwt.). with their long draught, were too much for most of the company, though the interesting church was much admired. The party then went of wildly differing routes to Caddington (a nice, light six), but the noisy bells at Eaton Bray, which followed, taxed both the patience and the abilities of everybody. The supposedly bad eight at Toddington in fact proved to be quite good, in spite of a cracked seventh, and the church was one of the finest of the tour.

Saturday put us en route for home, with a stop on the long-draughted five at Little Horwood, and thence by a miracle of navigation to the excellent six at Albury (Surrey), where lunch was eaten at $4.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.!
The band thank all who made their stay so enjoyable; we hope that they will visit us one day, and long may their bells ring out.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Our sympathy to Barnwood, Glos, ringers, who have been bereaved by the death of their tower captain, Percy Newland
The peal of Wigston Surprise Major reported on page 369 should read 5,152 changes, and not 5,040 .

Mr. and Mrs. P. Harris both took part in a quarter of Stedman Triples at Hinton-on-the-Green, Wores, in honour of their 40 th wedding anniversary.

Furness Branch (Lancs) is losing two lady ringers-the Misses Doreen Maclean and Anne Blundell-who are shortly leaving for 12 months in South Africa. There was a farewell quarter at Broughton-in-Furness on May 4 th.

The Davids have rung another peal, this time at the Bell Tower, Evesham-Cambridge Surprise Maximus. A footnote is necessary to identify the two David Marshalls. David P. Hilling, of Slough. conducted.

Miss Pam Gough, from Burwood, N.S.W., is wo:king at St. Thomas Hospital and was present at a recent St. Giles' practice of the Middlesex Association with two other Aus-tralians-Merrilyn Chambers and Walter Knight.

Lost-one chocolate cake! Finder rewarded on returning same to Bingham District (Southwell Guild) tea ladies
M. Ross Bampton has completed his year in Melbourne, where he enjoyed the 10 and 12-bell ringing at the Cathedral, and is now back at Burwood with his young company
The 21 st birthday peal of Grandsire Triples for David F'. Moore at Leicester Cathedral on April 27th was intended to be Stedman Cinques. Alas, one of the cars broke down en route. The conductor wishes to associate the unfortunate victims with the peal, viz.: Mr. and Mrs. Martin Foster, Miss Juliet Stoy and Nigel Thompson.

Mrs. Nancy Poore Tufts informs us that the Potomac English Handbell Ringers last December gave two Christmas concerts to the British Embassy and also 12 concerts at EXPO 67, representing the U.S. Government. Mrs. Tufts is the owner and director of the bells.

Mr. Anthony J. Cox writes withdrawing the peal of Plain Bob Major at Bristol as being rung for the Gloucester and Bristol Association. He asks that it should be recorded as "Non-Association." (See issue of March 22nd, page 228.)

A SURREY BELL FESTIVAL

Limpsield Chart's first-ever Bell Festival was held on May 4th. This was the opening event in the local campaign for Christian Aid. Visitors to the Festival at St. Andrew's came from Kent and Surrey, and some good ringing was enjoyed during the day.

The morning's programme included instruction on handbells, under the direction of Mr. E. Nixon, followed by a soup-and-sandwich lunch. A striking competition took place in the afternoon, the test piece being six to eight minutes of call changes. In spite of familrarity with the bells, St. Andrew's band (ten faults) could not ouido West Wickham's seven faults. Limpsfield (St. Peter's) band took third place-it was good that their lack of experience did not deter them from entering. Mr. W. A. Hughes adjudicated, and after tea commented on the performances.
A selaction of Central Council publications was on display; one of these was selected by Mr. J. Cannell as the prize to take back to West Wickham belfry, suitably inscribed. The Rev. Philip Haynes spoke appreciatively of the efforts of all concerned, both visitors and organisers. Prayers for Christian Aid were said in church, and then followed more ringing until the bells were lowered at 7.40 p.m.
A fiesta for bellringers, said the advance notice in the parish magazine, and it turned out that way. A visitor's impression was that the Festival deserved wider support, although choice of date was unfortunate. For future reference, parents please note that youngsters of all ages were well provided for. The organiser was Mr. R. Stephens, ably assisted by friends of the local band.

LINIVERSITY OF BRISTOL SOCIETY
The annual general meeting of the University of Bristol Society was held on May 7th, when the following officers were elected for the 1968-69 session: Master, Mandi McCallion: secretary, Anthony J. Cox; treasurer. Michael J. Platt; tower secretary. Andrew N. Brock.

It was announced that the president, Dr. G. Hudson, would be leaving Bristol at the end of this session. The meeting decided to ask Dr. Hudson to remain in office until the next dinner day, when the question of his successor would be dealt with at the special general meeting of both resident and non-resident members.
Arrangements for the Reunion Week-end at Bristol on June 7th, 8th and 9th were outlined by the general secretary (Edward J. Mould) and non-resident members are asked to reply to the circular as soon as possible.
The summer tour will be held this year in the Worcestershire-Herefordshire area.

1968 HANDBELL RALLY

The next Handbell Ringers' Rally will be held on Saturday, October Sth, at Ecclesfield Comprehensive School, Ecclesficld, near Sheffield, Yorkshire. Entry forms for teams ringing are obtainable from Mr . W. C. Gregory, 26. Rawsons Bank. Ecclesfield, Sheffield S30 321, and must be returned before May 31st.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION-N. DISTRICT

The first meeting at Feering for ten years drew a goodly number of ringers to try out the recently rehung eight. A splice in the tenor rope began to look a little dodgy, but it had the decency to last out the day.

During the service the Vicar (the Rev. A. Moodey) gave an address (somewhat reluctantly), in which he traced the history of bells and ringing from the pre-Christian era. R.T.

NEWS FROM THE LNITED STATES

Ringing in the East has reached new heights during the last year or so with the renewed ringing activity at Hingham as the possible highlight. Mr. W. A. Theobald, of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, has been touring the States on business, and has had the opportunity to explore the ringing situation over a wide region. His visit has greatly stimulated interest, particularly in the areas where visits from experts are rare.

At the end of May a ringing week-end is being arranged. The towers included are at Kent, Smith Collcge, Hingham, Perkins School for the Blind (Watertown) and Groton. We are hoping that as many as possible will be able to participate, and are particularly looking forward to meeting Frank Price (Warfield, Berks) and Tom Goodyer (Sydney, Ausralia), who will be in the area at that time. This will probably be the first regional meeting to be held, and it is hoped that everyone will get a chance to practise something special.

Handbell ringing in the area, fostered especially at Smith College in recent years, has become popular, and a quarter peal of Bob Minor was rung in early May by two New England locals (Joan Hutchinson, who is going to Warwick University in the autumn, and Geoffrey Davies) and Richard Dirksen, on a visit from Washington.

WHERE WILL IT END?

Inspired by the leading article in "The Ringing World " of May 3rd. "Whither into the Realms of the Unknown." the following has been composed by a Hampshire ringer as coming from any of a dozen "" old sweats" who do not aspire to be any of the future 400.

As life goes on I sing my song,
With Double Norwich I'm really clever.
These young lads now they come and go But I go on for ever.
To call nine-spliced is really nice,
And to these bands we offer
Best wishes for future success
In everything they proffer.
How far can we ever foresee
To what the future holds,
As long as there are bells to ring, Or of failures left untold.
Ten years from now will they still go
On Saturdays and week-nights, too,
To ring these peals so far from home;
The answer is it's up to you.
I've tried it all and like to call
And ring the tenor when 1 can.
l'll ring it fast or ring it slow.
And strike it as good as any man.
So to you all. both big and small,
Whatever methods you may try,
Will you still be here in twenty years Or given up, I wonder why?
I've seen them come and when they've rung Rush off to pastures new.
Their lists of towers soon grow and grow,
Leaving their own band to stew.
We are all the same when in God's name, Whatever our standards be.
Our ringing is done to summon all. For this we dedicate ourselves to Thee.

URANGWOT-6

Recently three friends of mine decided to have another go at a peal of Minor "in hand." They all read "The Ringing World" and, what is more, they all buy "The Ringing World," and 1 have often heard them talk about useful tips they have culled from its pages. They passed one on to me on this occasion. "This may not be a record attempt but there's still no need for you to ring up to find out how we're getting on." "All right," I said, " but I shall want to know how you get on this time." "We'll make a bargain with you," said the conductor, "for 1 suppose you'll be round at the Forthsand Inn ds usual." "Naturally," I concurred. "Well, we'll join you afterwards and if we ring the peal you can buy us all a drink, and if we've failed we'll all buy you a drink." "Done," I said, adding "Best of luck. See you all on Friday night."

Friday came and in due course my friends joined me in the lounge. I fished in my pocket for my money just in case, but they would not at first give me a direct answer as $t o$ whether they had rung the peal or not. They told me that they had decided among themselves that each one would tell the truth or tell a lie in answering any questions that I cared to put and each knew what the others were to do. Fortunately I knew which pair of bells each would be ringing and I also had some idea of the questions to ask. Firstly, I asked the 1-2 man whether the other two were to adopt the same policy as each other about answering truthfully or lying. Secandly, I asked the 3-4 man whether the 1-2 man was more prone to tell lies thar the $5-6$ man in their arrangement. Each question was answered with "Yes" or "No" and, after considering the answers I received, 1 realised that I could be quite sure of how I stood with the 5-6 man and so I asked him "Did you ring the peal?" He answer "No."
In those circumstances would you have paid for the drinks or not? If you can work out the answer and send it to the Editor you might get him to pay for a drink or two if yours is opened first ! Closing date is May 31st.

LIVERPOOL UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

By kind permission of Mr. H. L. Hatfeld, the annual general meeting of the Liverpool University Society was held on May 4th at 23, Cumberland Avenue, Liverpool.
A new committee was elected consisting of : Mr. G. Sparling, Master ; Mr. H. Dobbin, secretary; Mr. M Cony, treasurer; Miss P. Jenkins, ordinary member. and, following an amendment to the constitution, they took office after a joint committee meeting on May 8th.

Mr. J. Fox (of Flat 4, The Chalet, Budworth Road, Nocterum, Birkenhead, Cheshire), was elected dinner secretary, to be held on February 22nd. Other dates arranged were: E.G.M., Friday, October 18th, and A.G.M. on Saturday, May 3rd, 1969. The annual tour (August 23rd-30th), which is to be organised by Mr. R. Shea (of 19. Maryport Street, Usk, Mon), is hoped to take the form of a cruise on a canal narrow boat. P.J.

LATE NEWS

Central Council A.G.M.

Will those who have booked on the coach outing on Whit Monday let Mr. P. Cattermole, St. Alban's House, The King's School, Worcester, know if they prefer roast lamb to cold meat and salad.

A WORCESTER SOUVENIR

A very attractive souvenir of Worcester has been prepared by Mr. P. Cattermole for the Worcesterghire and Districts Association in connection with the Central Council's visit. Copies are being sent to members of the Council, but are available to the general public, price 3 s.

It is a souvenir especially for ringers. There is an historical section on the development of change ringing and local bellfounders at Worcester, Evesham and Bromsgrove, logether with the story of the Cathedral. This souvenir should accompany every tourist anxious to "grab" new towers, as brief details are given of most of the churches in the county. The illustrations are well chosen.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL

 ASSOCIATIONTHE annual general meeting of the Stow-on-the-Wold Branch was held at Moreton-inMarsh on May 1lth. The newly-elected chairman the Rev. C. H. Pickthorne, Rural Dean, in his opening remarks congratulated Mr . Bernard Phillips and Mr. A. W. Wright, both of Bourton-on-the-Water, on being elected honorary life members of the Association. Both have been regular Sunday service ringers for over 50 years and have held various offices in the Branch with distinction.
The following officers were re-elected: Chairman, Rev. C. H. Pickthorne, R.D.; secretary and reasurer, Mr. L. C. Dowdeswell; Ringing Master, Mr. L. Joynes.
It was learned with regret that the Rev. L. W. Potter had resigned from the office of chairman, a post that he had held since 1960 , as he was emigrating to Canada in October.
It was decided that the Branch support the Association ringing competition and that teams from Moreton-in-Marsh and Bourton-on-theWater be invited.
The Branch secretary's report called attention to the formation of a travelling band of ringers to visit towers in the Deanery, which had proved an enormous success. A new band had been formed at Bourton-on-the-Hill, with the Rev. and Mrs. P. Newing as tutors,
The chairman asked the meeting to consider the possibility of holding a Branch Ringing Festival. He said that the clergy in Chapter had given their support and all bells in the Deanery would be available if required It was decided to give the matter fursideration.

The secretary commented that this was a big undertaking for so small a Branch. A Cotswold Ringing Festival would certainly give the Branch wide publicity, and he would draw up an itinerary for approval.
Two new members from Stow-on-the-Wold tower were elected-Misses D. Fisher and K. Morton-Lloyd.
During the afternoon and evening some excellent touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung. A well-struck touch of Bob Major was rung for the service, which was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. O. A. Griffiths.

OVERTON'S RESTORATION SCHEME

IAST year the ringers of Overton, Hampshire, with the active help of their Rector, Canon F. A. Sanders, himself a ringer, decided that something must be done about their ring of eight. It was the news that an old parishioner had left the church something over $£ 1,000$ that started it all. So. Mr. F Sharpe was asked to inspect the bells, which he did with his customary thoroughness. He recommended renewal of all fittings that were worn, drilling out the cast-in crown staples on the bottom six and, if possible, rehanging these and retuning the whole eight. Also possible was the recasting of 4 and 5 .

A MIXED RING

As in all towers with old bells, the eight came from different sources. The treble and second were put in by Mears and Stainbank in 1945. The 3rd was also from the same foundry in 1908 . The 4th and 5th were the oldestand most inferior in tonecast by Robert Becconshall in 1606. The 5th and tenor were cast by William Knight. of Reading, in 1663 and 1660 respectively. Finally, the 7th was from the Aldbourne, Wiltshire, foundry of Robert and William Cor, dated 1710.

PUBLIC INTEREST

All this focused local interest in the bells, which have always been greatly appreciated in the village. Unusual publicity was given in the quarterly "Portals NewsLetter," from the local firm of currency paper-makers. There was an article on the Overton ringers, with the accompanying photograph, showing what the photographer thought might happen. Anonymous donations of $£ 100$ and two of £25 (one in memory of a past ringer) started the Bell Repair Fund. The ringers gave their wedding fees, ran coffee mornings and generally got to work. Meanwhile, the original legacy had been found to exceed $£ 2,000$, but the Charity Commissioners ruled that only the interest could be used by the Church Council. In spite of this the Council decided to go ahead with the full scheme, including recasting the Becconshall bells.

THE BELLS GO

So the P.C.C. accepted an estimate from Mears and Stainbank for the work, at a cost of $£ 1,050$, including cutting the trapdoors. Incidentally, the bells had been "built-in" to the tower when it was reconstructed in 1908! The P.C.C. set aside $£ 300$ from the 1967 accounts and with this, swelled by the interest of $£ 200$ on the original legacy, the fund grew. The Basingstoke District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild gave $£ 10$ and a grant is hoped for from the Diocesan Guild itself. Nearly $£ 800$ is now in the fund. Meanwhile the bellhangers had moved in on Easter Tuesday and quickly took the bells from Overton for the first time in their history. The parishioners objected to the silence and so a small bell from the local school, itself 100 years old, was pressed into service and hung in amateurish fashion in the tower.

A FINAL EFFORT

The annual church garden party is being run this year for the bells and appropriately named "The Bell Fair," with emphasis on

OVERTON TOWER

(Special photographic effects by Don Bradshaw.)
bells and ringing. It is to be on Saturday June 8th, and opens at 2.30 with an amplified recording of the Overton bells. The school bell is being lowered again for a competition involving throwing coins into it, and neighbouring towers are joining in a lighthearted tug-of-war competition for teams of six, with the District Ringing Master, Mr. C. Osler, as referee. There will be tune handbell ringing by younger members. With numerous other diversions and a grand draw it is hoped to clear off the remaining money. Any ringers who are in search of an afternoon's entertainment will be very welcome.

THE RETURN

While the bells are away the ringers are busy cleaning and repainting the frame. Before the rededication on August 21st they hope to redecorate the ringing chamber. Then all will be set for Canon Gilbert Thurlow to offer to God these metal servants of the Church to begin another chapter in their long history, and the Overton ringers will have achieved their ambition.

BIRD'S-EYE VIEW

Dear Sir,-For those ringers who watch television and have wondered what tower it is on the Bird's-Eye advertisement, it belones to St. Mary the Virgin's, Goudhurst, Kent, and contains a heavy ring of eight with a tenor weighing 25 cwt 5 lb .

The bells are of good tone but require a little extra care in handling, etc., if good ringing is required.-Yours sincerely,

Chislehurst, Kent. TONY LEWIS.

WHITECHAPEL FOUNDRY TOUR
Following the success of previous years, the staff and friends of the Whitechapel Bel Foundry gathered once again for their now annual ringing outing on April 27th.

Once clear of the smoke and nose of the city, the coach made its leisurely way to oul tirst stop, at Balscote, near banoury, where the ringing nad a lively start as we tried our hand on Mr. C. A. Jarvis' tuneful litle ring (tenor 1 cwt 21 lb.$)$. Although some diftcultes were experienced by mosi of us, owing to our untamilarity with the handling qualiues of such small belis, we did, atter a littie prac tice and an agreement on the best speed, manage to improve the standard of the ringing

Our journey then took us over Edge Hill, but the famous view was rather obscured by cloud and mist. At the Ettington Park Hotel, Alaerminster, the company were generously entertained to luncheon by Messrs. Wuliam and Douglas Hughes.

Lunch completed, we then boarded the coach bound for Holy Trinity, Siratford-onAvon, where a variety of ringing took place unaer the leadership of Mr. Trevol Balley on the tine ring of ten. A short journey then brougnt us to St. Mary's, Warwick, where Jonn Siater took charge of the ringing. Some members of the party visited the nower festival being held in the church. As the coach passed through the lower arches of the towel, which are open to the road, a well-known bellhanger remarked that it was a pity that sucb goou facilities for transferring bells, etc., from lorry to beltry were not provided at more towers.

Our last tower of the day was at Weedon Bec, where, naturally, Mr. Harry Wcedon, our Ringing Master, was called upon to control the ringing. Here the ringing ranged from rounds and call changes to Yorkshire Surprise Major, and was concluded with a good touch of Stedman Triples.

The ringing was now finished, but the evening had just begun, and the party adjourned to the Crossroads Hotel, where a buffet and refreshments were avaulable for the benefit and enjoyment of all.

The thanks of the party are accorded to Mr. Harry Weedon and Mr. Trevor Balley, for their excellent organisation.
R. A. H.

TAUNTON BRANCH

 AT SAMPFORD ARUNDELWith the chairman (the Rev. Michael Odlum, Vicar) and the vice-chairman (Mrs. S. G. Williams, churchwarden), members of the Taunton Branch were assured of a successful and happy meeting at Sampford Arundel on May 11 th. The light, musical six bells were made good use of, and a service was conducted by the Vicar. A delicious tea in the Village Hall, provided by the ladies, followed.

At the business meeting Mr. A. H. Reed (Branch secretary) spoke in feeling terms of the loss sustained by the Branch in the recent death of Mr. Stanley Bristow, a faithful churchman, for many years captain of the Ashbrittle ringers and a one-time Ringing Master of the Branch. Members stood in silent tribute to their old friend. The chairman then welcomed the visitors, among whom was the Rev. Roger Fry.

The striking competition, held at the end of April, produced 17 entries and was voted a very suocessful first effort by the Branch. One new member was elected from Trull, and the next Branch meeting arranged for September 21 st at Ruishton, with practice meetings at Milverton on July 20th, West Bagborough an August 17th, starting at 6.30 p.m. all subject to local permission. Attention was drawn to the Dunster Branch meeting at Wiveliscombe coinciding with the meeting at Sampford Arundel, and it was hoped that it might be possible to avoid a clash of dates in future.
Warm thanks were accorded to the Vicar and all who had helped to make the afternoon so enjoyable, and later in the evening the ringers went on to ring at Wellington.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

Worcester Welcomes Central Council

Worcester-the City & Countryside

By DAVID BEACHAM,  General Secretary

Worcestershire and Districts Association

THE Worcestershire and Districts Association had been in existence for only 20 years when the Central Council first came to Worcester in 1902, so that the forthcoming visit, 66 years later, will be a new experience for ringers in this part of the Midlands and one to which we look forward with great pleasure.
Though not a large county, Worcestershire is very diverse and has many interesting contrasts in its countryside, churches and bells. Those of you who are able to take part in the ringing tours we have planned will be able to experience these contrasts and we hope that their pleasant memories will always remain with you.
Most of the county lies in a central plain through which runs the River Severn. Down the eastern side flows the "Warwickshire" Avon, which joins the Severn at Tewkesbury. Flanking this plain on the western and eastern sides are the hills of Malvern and Abberley, Cotswold and Bredon, with the Clent and Lickey hills to the north. In the north, too, lies the industrial area where parts of Worcestershire and Staffordshire and that "island" of Worcestershire, Dudley, make up that heart of the first Industrial Revolution known as "The Black Country." It is in this area of confused county and diocesan boundaries that most of the "Districts" in our title occur. There are a number of good octaves here, including the new light Taylor eight at Amblecote and the mellow old eight at Halesowen.
Through the west of the county flows the River Teme, and its valley and surrounding hills are a particularly beautiful part of England. Here are to be found cherry orchards and hopyards, some of the latter providing hops for that famous brew from across the Irish Sea! There are some interesting sixes here, but not many rings of bells altogether.

VALE OF EVESHAM

Over in the south-east, the Vale of Evesham, watered by the Avon, is a famous fruit and market-gardening area, and its "oceans' of plum blossom are a great tourist attraction in the spring. Bredon Hill lies in the Vale and "to ring around Bredon Hill" makes a good ringing outing, and one can well appreciate Housman's well-known lines. The fine 12 in Evesham's magnificent bell tower and the famous "bird cage" ringing chamber of Pershore Abbey also attract many ringing visitors.
In the central area lie many villages and hamlets connected by a bewildering network of country lanes. Travel along these north-east from Worcester and you are in the "Ambridge " district, and followers of the famous radio family on their way to ring at Hanbury Church (a fine eight) and passing the several timbered farms and cottages will have no difficulty in seeing-in their, imagination at any rate-" Brookfields Farm," complete with Dan Archer !

" THE FAITHFUL CITY"

The city of Worcester stands on the Severn with the Cathedral only a few yards from its banks. Historically, Worcester is famous for its battle of 1651, in which the city-" the Faithful City "-held out long enough for Charles II to escape and begin his flight from the country-via the Boscobel Oak, of course ! The house in which Charles stayed still stands in New Street. Not far from here was the site of John Martin's bell foundry, which was operating in that period. Walk along New Street and its continuation, Friar Street, and you pass more fine Tudor houses until you emerge near the Cathedral, confronted on its north side by its latest piece of redevelopment in which stands the Council's headquarters for the week-end, the Giffard Hotel. Because of the demolition which took place a few years ago, a well-known Sunday newspaper reported it as "The Sack of Worcester." Some old and interesting buildings have, regrettably, disappeared, and opinions on the worthiness of their replacements naturally vary. Those of you who have known the Worcester of the past are left to judge for yourselves.

Worcester is the home of some well-known products. The famous sauce is made here as well as Royal Worcester porcelain, and the manufacture of gloves is one of its oldest industries. The cricket lover will know that opposite the Cathedral is one of the prettiest grounds in the country, and the first tourist match is always played here. Further along the river bank is Pitchcroft, providing the racecourse, a fairground and games pitches.
We hope that this sketch will give you some idea of what Worcestershire has in store for you. Paul Cattermole's book will provide all the information you need about the churches and bells, and the members of our Association are waiting to welcome you into our belfries this Whitsun.

THE DIOCESE BIDS THE CENTRAL COUNCIL WELCOME

A Greeting from the Fatron of the Worcestershire and Districts Change Ringing Association, the Lord Bishop of Worcester, the Rt. Rev. L. Mervyn Charles-Edwards, D.D.
On behalf of the Diocese of Worcester I would like to extend a warm welcome to the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers for their Annual Conference, which this year is taking place in the City of Worcester.

In the well-known poem "Bredon Hill." by A. E. Housman, the poet says-
-In summertime on Bredon
The bells they sound so clear;
Round both the shires they ring them In steeples far and near.
A happy noise to hear."
Wherever you go in the southern part of the County Bredon Hill is a landmark, and euch of the villages round the Hill has a fine ring of bells.

Our own Worcestershire and Districts' Change Ringing Association, which was founded in 1882, keeps the art of campanology going in the Diocese, and it will he a great encouragememt 10 all our bellringers to know that the Central Council will be coming to us this summer. I shall look forward to meeting members and giving them my personal welcome. Although, alas, not a bellringer myself, I am a member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths' Society of Bell Ringers, and during my incumbencies at Market Drayton in Shropshire, Newark on Trent in Nottinghamshire, and St. Martin-in-the-Fields in London, not only had the help of splendid ringers, but counted them among my own personal friends, as 1 do the ringers of Worcestershire.

MERVYN WORCESTER.

'6WE'LL MAKE IT A MEMORABLE AND ENJOYABLE VISITT*

By William B. Cartwright, Master of the Worcestershire and Districts Association

$I^{T}$was in the year 1902 that the Central Council last visited Worcester. At that time I was only a small toddler living in a Worcestershire village known as Selly Oak. This place had the honour of being twice referred to in the Domesday Book. It was then called "Escelie" (pronounced Ess-Selly). From the records it appears that from a revenue point of view it was a very remunerative part of Worcestershire. I would not suggest for one moment that that was why in the year 1911 Selly Oak was absorbed into Greater Birmingham and became Selly Oak, Birmingham, instead of Selly Oak, Worcestershire !

It was here that I learned to ring, and in those early days I never thought that I should aspire to be Master of an Association which had the honour of having their invitation accepted by the Central Council and that 1 should have the pleasant task of writing a welcome to the members to our lovely county of Worcestershire.

We bope to publish a brochure giving information about Worcestershire and its bells. which will be sent to members and will also be available to non-members. I am sure this will be found to be both useful and interesting. Consequently there is no need for me to extol here the advantages of Worcestershire.
Therefore I would now say what a great pleasure it is to me to welcome all Council members and their wives, boy and girl friends and all others who will be coming to Worcester at Whitsuntide. I can assure all who have not visited the city before that they have d treat in store. The Cathedral is certainly worth a visit, as it contains one of the finest rings of 12 in the country. Listening to the hells from the opposite bank of the River Severn is to be recommended.

Come, then, to Worcester, members of the Central Council and all your friends, in the knowledge that we shall do our best to make your visit enjoyable and that all our ringers are determined to see that nothing is left undone which can be done to make is a memorable one.

THE BELLS OF WORCESTER CATHEDRAL

By JOHN C. SLATER

TO anyone viewing the Cathedral from the outside, perhaps the most striking feature is the sharp contrast between the plain exterior of the Early English nave and chancel and the richly decorated central tower. This splendid tower was completed in 1374 and it is fairly clear that it was not originally intended to carry any large bells, so that it is remarkable that it now contains a ring of twelve with $a$ tenor of $49 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt., three semitone bells and a four-ton bourdon.

Actual history of the bells begins in 1220. when three bells were cast to hang in the newly completed campanile. This must have been a curious structure consisting of an octagonal base 60 feet high by the same in width, surmounted by a lead-covered timber spire making a total height of 210 feet. (The tower is 196 feet to the top of the pinnacles.) The completion of the tower caused four more bells to be cast but it is doubtful whether they were hung at that time in the tower. At the Reformation the campanile contained four bells which were taken down but not destroyed and we shall see later that three of them are still in existence.

Information is scarce until 1647, when the campanile was demolished, all the bells by this time being hung in the tower. Additions were later made and bells recast until we find that in the mid-19th century the Cathedral had a ring of eight with a tenor of 20 cwt , approx. But it appears that for many years ringing had been on State occasions only and although competent bands existed at other churches in the city the Cathedral had no band of its own.

REV. R. CATTLEY'S INITIATIVE

By the 1850's the fabric was in a very dilapidated state and a restoration was commenced which took nearly 20 years to complete. This work was very thoroughly carried out but no plans were made for the bells at the time. However, in May, 1863, it was discovered that the 2nd bell had been stolen, and althougl this caused rather a stir no moves were made to replace it until later that year, when the Rev. R. Cattley, Minor Canon, wrote to the local papers proposing a grand new ring of ten bells (tenor 36 cwt . in D), a "powerful clock" and a great hour bell of four tons to be installed in place of the old ring. He had interested several influential people and the cost was estimated at $£ 2,000$, which was to be raised by Dublic subscription.

Initially the scheme met with some opposition as it was felt that the clock and bells project would divert subscriptions from the restoration funds. but Cattley successfully countered this by forming a committee that included not only the Mayor but the Earl of Dudley, at that time the wealthiest man in England. Cattley was very busy in the early months of 1864, as he not only formed his committee but found subscribers to contribute over $£ 1,500$, took the Astronomer Royal to task on the accuracy of the clock and contacted E. B. Denison. Q.C., for advice on the whole project. Denison (later Lord Grimthorpe) became very interested and visited Worcester in March and gave a public lecture on clocks and bells.

The lecture gave the project good local publicity and two months later Cattley announced that 52,009 had been subscribed and that the old bells were to be taken down immediately. Unfortunately he seems to have reckoned without the Dean and Chapter, who called a halt as they had not been informed of his objectives, and in any case they wanted professional assurance that the tower was capable of carrying the new ring safely. Two archisects reported favourably upon the scheme, 25 the load imposed by the bells was to be carried down to the crossing by a system of massive timber trussing.

OLD BELLS-FOUR IN NORFOLK

The old bells were taken down and sold. The oldest, Nos. 3, 4, 6 and 7, were bought by Mr. Tyssen Amherst for his house at Didlington, Norfolk, and are now at Didlington Church. The first three of these were cast by William Burford, of London, at about the time of the tower completion in 1374 , and the old 7th was cast by "John Danyell's successor" c.1480. The treble (1641) was given by the Dean and Chapter to the then new Church of Holy Trinity, Worcester, which has recently been closed, and through the prompt action of the present Dean the bell has now returned to the Cathedral. Of the remaining old bells. the Sth and tenor have disappeared without trace.

Meanwhile Cattley's proposals received official approval, but shortly afterwards the scheme was enlarged to a ring of 12 with a tenor of 42 cwt . in D , no doubt due to Denison's influence. Owing to the tower restoration involving the rebuilding of the top 20 or 30 feet, the clock and bells had to wait a few years until this work was complete. In the interval Denison wrote up the specification for the bells and also designed the clock. John Taylor and Co. were selected to cast the bells.

No doubt due to pressure of subscribers who wanted to see (or hear) something for their money, the order for the bourdon was given in 1868 and the bell cast in September of that year. It weighed $4 \frac{1}{2}$ tons, diameter 6 ft . 44 ins.. and was a maiden in $\mathbf{B}$ flat. Upon arrival at the Cathedral it was hung up for swing chiming in a frame in the north transept, and until the bell was raised in the tower it became the practice to chime it inside the Cathedral before services. Denison visited Worcester early in 1869 to hear the bell and, as it met with his approval, the order was given for a ring of 12 (tenor 50 cwt . in D flat), with a semitone between 4 and 5 for the top note of the Westminster Quarters. Throughout the rest of the year the frame and its supporting structure were built so that when the bells arrived they were taken up almost immediately. Mr. Tyssen Amherst, incidentally, supplied the letterstamps for the inscriptions. a beautiful alphabet taken from bells at South Somercotes, Lincolnshire, dated 1423.
The "try-out " was on May 25th, 1870, but the dedication and opening was not to take place until all the money had been found. A sum of 24,310 had been subscribed and 1700 was still required. The clock, made by Joyce, of Whitchurch, was installed and set going the following year.

CARILLON INSTALLED

A few months after the try-out a local industrialist, Mr. J. W. Lea, offered the gift of a carillon machine to play tunes, and after much wrangling between members of the Chap ter the gift was accepted. Gillett and Bland, of Croydon, received the order to supply an Imhof machine to play 28 tunes, but initially it was to play only seven. Soon after the in stallation of the machine in December, 1872, it was found that the choice of tunes was very restricted and although the funds were still £850 short of expenditure, Cattley was again appealing for subscriptions, this time for two more semitone bells. The public must have begun to wonder where or when the clock and bells project was going to end I Fortunately a donor came forward for the two bells and these were cast and hung in 1875. the number of tunes being increased to 28 and containing a fair selection of Victorian pops" such as "Home. Sweet Home" and My Lodging is on the Cold Ground."
Shortly after this. subscriptions dried up completely and the Dean and Chapter had 10 come to Cattley's rescue and relieve him of a debt of over 8700 . The total cast of the work was $£ 6,200$-over three times the original estimate. Cattley went on to form a society of ringers, which was the forerunner of the present Guild of voluntary bellringers. He also had a hand in the erection of other public clocks in the city.
As before, ringing was for State occasions only and it was not until 1893 that any Sunday service ringing took place. It was during this year that the tirst peal was rung, on December 14th, and was 5,093 Grandsire Casers conducted by Lionel Longncy. Only six peal.s were rung up to 1928 and only one upon the 12-Stedman Cinques-the remaining peak being Grandsire Caters and one of Bob Royal in 1919. the tenor being rung single-handed by Joseph E. Sykes.

1928 RECAST

Although ringing was rather intermittent up to the turn of the century, the bells had acquired quite a reputation for heavy going, due mainly to wear and tear and tower movement There was also some dissatisfaction with the tuning as the trebles were rather wild and upon several occasions rehanging was contemplated. Of events leading up to the 1928 recast, very little is known except that no funds were avalable to meet the cost. It is believed that Mr. E. P. Thomas, of Clasnes. contacted sufficient donors to offiset some of the cost which resulted in the 15 ringing bells (all the semitones had been hung for ringing from their installation) being recast and rehung in new fittings, and the bourdon retuned. The new tenor weighed 42 cwt .2 qr . in B , and the retuned bourdon 82 cwt .3 qr .24 lb . in A . The old inscriptions were reproduced on the new bells, a alain in the Somercotes alphabet. The work was carried out by John Taylor and Co. at a cost of $£ 1,380$.

The first three peals on the new bells were two of Stedman Cinques and Cambridge Maximus, the latter being conducted by William Pye, who rang the tenor single-handed. To date, a total of 30 peals has been rung and all the ringable bells rung to peals. The semitone bells have always been flat 4th, flat 6th and flat 8 th and it is possible to arrange a major 12, a major and minor ten, one major and three minor eights and four major and three minor sixes. Ropesight is sometimes difficult. however, as the flat 4th is directly behind the 8th. The bells are rung once each Sunday by the Cathedral Guild, founded in 1893.

BEHIND THE SCENES AT WORCESTER

William Baden Cartwright, The Master

Born in Selly Oak and lived in the area all his life. Commenced ringing career at St. Mary's, Selly Oak, in 1919, under the tuition of the late Samuel Grove, Harry Withers and other stalwarts of that time. Rang first peal at Harborne (Stedman Triples) on January 12th, 1920, ringing the treble with the celebrated John Carter ringing the second. The peal was conducted by the late George Pigott. Not a prolific peal ringer- 280 peals to the end of 1967. having conducted 108 of them. 199 for the Worcestershire Association. the remainder for various Associations.

Elected Ringing Master at St. Mary's, Selly Oak, in 1923 and has continued in that office ever since.Joined the Worcestershire Association in 1918. Appointed Ringing Master, Northern Branch, 1922-1924; secretary, Northern Branch of the Worcestershire Association. 1934-1936.
Served on Association's Central Committee since 1938. Elected a vice-president in 1947. Elected Master of the Association 1956 and still occupies that office. Represented the Worcestershire Association on the Central Council since 1951. For some years past has been the honorary legal adviser to the Central Council.

David Beacham, General Secretary

David Beacham was born in Gloucestershire in 1932 and until 1934 lived for most of that time in the village of Twyning, near the Worcestershire border, where he learned to ring on the Rudhall six in 1946. He also rang at the neighbouring parish church of Ripple, where he rang his first peal (Grandsire Doubles) on October 27th, 1947, conducted by Charles Haylings. His eight-bell ringing was learned at Upton-on-Severn under that redoubrable character Charles J. Camm.
Ringers living near the boundaries of two Associations know the divided loyalties this situation can cause and, for a time, he rang in both counties, learning 10 - and 12 -hell ringing at St. Mary's, Cheltenham, practices as well as supporting his own local ringing. In 1952 he began his association with ringing in Worcester and joined the Cathedral Guild in 1953. He was Master of this Guild from in 1953. He was Master of this Guild from 1956 to 1959 and hon. secretary from 1961 to 1966. Like many Worcester ringers, he is a member of two bands and is tower captain at All Saints: His peal total is 132 (conducted 10).

He has heen general secretary of the Association since 196? and a representative on the Central Council since 1956. His main interests are the planned training of ringers and bell restoration.
In 1964 he moved from Twyning to Hallow, Worcester, and took a three-year training course at Worcester College of Education and is now teaching in a Bromsgrove secondary school. Previously he was a horological engineer. His wife. Kitty. also a teacher, was a Worcester ringer, though she has not rung for some years. They have a 15 -montb-old son. Jonathan.

CIRENCESTER BRANCH STRIKING CONTEST

St. Mary de Crypt ringers won the first striking contest of the Cirencester Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, held at Longncy on May 1 lith. Ringing Bob Minor, they had only seven faults. Other placings: Barnwood (Grandsire Doubles) 12 faults: Upion St. Leonards "A" (call changes) 141: Brockworth (call changes) $15 \frac{1}{2}$; Churchdown (Grandsire Doubles) 19: Upton St. Leonards "B." who had only been rincing for about six months, $47 \frac{1}{2}$. The judges were Mr. W. B. Kynaston and Miss Valerie Willard.
At a short business meeting five new members from Upton St. Leonards and Barnwood were elected.

Record Crowd at

THERE was an attendance of over 150 people at the Association's annual general mecting on May 4th, held in York for the first time since 1961. This very gratifying increase in numbers on the good attendances during the last year or two caused headaches to the various Ringing Masters, especially to Mr. Alan Hartley, in charge of the heavy ring at the Minster.

The Minster Society was well organised for the day, however. Mr. Alan Leggett, its se:retary, solved the car drivers' parking problems by arranging for the Dean's Park to be open for the Association's use: members were ushered over the temporary bridge over the huge hole under the central tower to evening prayer in the choir, a service. with its music much appreciated, though the choir was outdone in "Unchanging God": and the St John's College Society, organised by Miss Joy Watkins, catered admirably in the College for tea. The only pity was that there were not more bells fairly close to the city.
Mr . Vernon Bottomley, presiding over the annual meeting, said the attendance was probably a record for the Association, at least since the First War. He declared the following officers elected: Peal secretary, Dr. T D. Spencer; report editor (a new oftice), Mr. R. Ducker; composition secretary (a new office), Mr. W. E. Critchley: general secretary, Mr. W. F. Morcion. The iwo honorary auditors elected were Mr. W. Barton and Mr C. F. Dempster; representatives to the Joint Council of Yorkshire Ringing Socicties, Mr E. Hudson and Mr. J. N. D. Chaddock.

INVITATION TO CENTRAL COUNCIL

The president informed members that the Standing Sub-Committee, at the General Committee's request, had begun to consider what might be done in 1975. the Association centenary year. While several suggestions for this event were still being considered, it had been decided, with the General Committee's agreement. to invite the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers to hold its 1970 meeting in Yorkshire, and the invitation would be made this year at Worcester. No centre had yet been chosen.

Yorkshire A.G.M.

The report for 1967 was then presented. and members were given an opportunity to ask questions about it. A further opportunity will be made at the September meeting at Knaresborough on September 21st.
The report includes these remarks on meetings: "We are well aware, that with increasing numbers attending meetings, there is the problem of organising good ringing, and we are at present considering the matter in an effiort to improve standards. There appears to have been a misunderstanding in some quarters about the content of the programmes of meetings in that it was suggested that there was no provision for those visitors who were unable to ring changes. We would like to make it clear that Ringing Masters do cater for all ringers. We would like to take this opportunity of sfating that the first consideration should be to have good ringing, and that call changes properly rung are to be preferred 10 advanced methods which are beyond the capabilties of one or more of the band. We sympathise with those members who wish to attempt something new. at a meeting and we see no objection provided adequate preparation is made and that the Ringing Master is given proper support by those qualified to give it

The retiring peal secretary, Mr. Eric Critchley, gave his 16 th and last report. The cotal of 225 peals included Surprise Major in no less than 24 different methods. There were 42 compositions in the report. He mentioned particularly that Mr. Neil Donovan, of Rotherham, had called Yorkshire Royal as his first peal a. conductor. Mr. Critchley was warmly thanked by the president for his work during the lasi 16 years, especially in producing the report each ycar.
New members elected were: Gail Horton, Gillian Gardiner, Robert Watson, Michael Rol lason. Richard Harrison, David Rankin, John Brierley, Kenneth Ineson. Stephen Emmet. Valerie Gardiner, John Gibson. Philip Charlsworth. Glyn Scourfield, David Burkinshaw and David Schofield. Cynthia Barnett, Chrisfine Broadley and William Thow were elected non-resident members.

"BELLS & A LIVE CHURCH"-MELDRETH DEDICATION

THE president of the Central Council (Canon Gilbert Thurlow) on May 11th visited Holy Trinity, Meldreth, Cambs, to dedicate two new bells.

He concluded an inspiring address to the large congregation of ringers and villagers with this message: "This is what Meldreth bells recall every time they ring: The Church is alive! The Church has a message worth proclaiming and is proclaiming it. The Church is a fellowship whose members give service, varied yet united. The bells invite all 10 share the Church's life, so believe its message-lo serve the Lord.'

The Canon reminded the congregation that for 1,000 years there had been a church in Meldreth. In an England which has so largely lost the respect of other peoples, where the spirit of paganism is so obvious-crime. drugs. dishonesty, immorality-the fact that there are so many Christians seems miraculous

Amid a dissatisfied people, here is the Church with its buildings cared for by personal generosity, with more and more churches being built. with a moral influence out of all proportion to the numbers who worship and with more and better ringers than perhaps ever before.
Oh yes ! Anti-Christ is strong! the atheists shout loudly. So, even. do some clergy who prefer publicity to priesthood. Indifference, persecution. apathy face the Church in many places. Despite these thingsperhaps because of them-the Church is alive! Theres more self-criticism, more planning for future opportunities, less self-satisfaction, more courage among church folk for very long time. Judge what has happened here! The Church in Meldreth is alive!
The Church is a fellowship. a family to which people either commit themselves or do not commit themselves. It has no room for mere hangers-on. Every church member should offer service of some kind to the communsty. The service provided here by those whose names youll read in "The Ringing World " next week and by their friends is an object lesson which deserves to go down in history. of how 10 render service. how to dedicate skill to God and the community.
One sometimes hears of ringers who are not members of the Church family. What a reflection on that branch of the Church family! How miserable to have a congregation whose members have not enough of the spirit of service to raise a band of ringers amongst them. How splendid it is to know that every time Meldreth bells ring for worship. here are members of the worshipping family offering service to Our Lord by proclaiming the Gospel.

There was a large congregation at the service and ufter the reuding of the lesson a touch of Stedman Triples was rung by V . Nutton, B. Threlfall. F. Haynes and Mrs. Threlfall. The bell carol was sung before the sermon. Mr. W. Hughes represented the hellfounders at the dedication ceremony, which tas followed by rounds by the local company.
Tea was prepared by Mrs. Gibson and Miss Jean Sanderson and served in the Village Hall and there was ringing at both Melbourn and on the newly dedicated bells.

Letters to the Editor

SOUTHWELL GUILD'S SECRETARY EXPLAINS

Dear Sir,-1 thank Mr. E. Shuttleworth for his letter regarding the annual general meeting of tne Suuthwell Guild. (See .. The Ringing World," page 36?.)

There are many incumbent difficulties attached to the arranging of an annual meeting at Southwell, as opposed merely to obtaining permission to attempt a peal on the bells. The General Committee of the Guild considered all the many other factors that huve to be taken into consideration, i.e. the service, business meeting. accommodation available, tea facilities and ringing times, etc. The onlv item not known to them at the time was that the Minster choir would be away on holiday, and that no other choir would be in attendance for the service. This, incidentally, is the first time that I can ever recall this happening.
The committee's decision, whilst not ideal, was telt to be the best arrangement in the circumstances. The times were fully advertised.
The business meeting was completed, despite a rather long wait for the votes to be counted, in just over an hour. This for an annual general meeting is surely reasonable.
The ringing arrangements were in the hands of the appointed Ringing Master, and, in view of the numbers attending, the general consensus of opinion was that he did a very good job in the difficult circumstances. One of the main difficulties with Southwell is that there are no otber towers in the immediate vicinity.

With regard to the ringing at the times other than those advertised, 1 can assure you that this was not with my permission. It ringers seek out the verger and he admits them to the tower and locks them in, 1 am in no position to stop them ringing, much as 1 deplore this.

Considering that this was the Guild's annual general meeting. the main item on the agenda was the business meeting, and for once ringing must take second place. I would not have thought personally that this was the ideal meeting to take a beginner for his first meeting, especially with a view to ringing on the 12 bells.

Finally, if Mr. Shutteworth wishes to make his criticism constructive, perhaps he would like to offer his services to the Guild in the capacity of a Ringing Master.-Yours faithfully,

W. L. EXTON,

Hon. General Secretary.

CHRIST CHURCH, OKFORD

Dear Sir-I was interested to read in the June edition of "Ideal Home" of Son et Lumiere 10 be presented at Christ Church. Oxford, from June 27th to September 28th (nightly except Sundays), to be narrated by Sir John Gielgud:

Twelve centuries of events and personalities connected with Christ Church are embraced, from an early virgin saint up to such distinguished past students as composer Sir William Walton, poct W. H. Auden and actor-writer Emlyn Williams. As well as 13 Prime Ministers, 10 Viceroys, a clutch of notable Churchmen and others."
Will the bells of Christ Church be heard in this. I wonder?-Yours sincerely,

STELLA G. CAPO-BIANCO (Mrs.). Purley, Surrey

GETTING FACTS STRAIGHT

Dear Sir,-Everyone is entitled to his opinion, out it seems that one, Ian Roborts, has overstepped the mark. Let us get this one fact straight: Any itnger who stands in a peal attempt should be aiming at the target of approximately three hours of good ringing in a method that he or she has learned and on bells that are either a pleasure or a challenge to ring.

With this in mind it follows that it takes more than "any fool "to "learn two or threc Surprise Major methods." and that the mental and physical effor involved in scoring a record peal of Glasgow is outside the capacity of the ${ }^{\text {- }}$ hundred daft beggars prancing around Edgbaston belfry."

Having thus removed the idiot population (if it ever existed) from our peal bands, we are left with ringers who usually are willing to stand in quarter peal attempts at their own towers able enough to aid any "first" in the band and generally to help in keeping law and order in moments of crisis. This, of course, is a form of tuition that your correspondent chooses to ignore.
The choice of a method presents an interesting exercise in facts. If Mr. Roberts chose to analyse the composition of peal bands he would probably find that those scoring peals in the so-called "advanced methods" are represented by almost the same names. In standard method peals rather more variety appears. Descending the scale of achievement, the field for choice of quarter peal bands being larger (even the most dedicated ringer occasionally having other commitments!), the predominance of the so-called simpler method must follow. A quarter peal band used to be regarded as the first step to greater things, and one must start somewhere.
An answer to the perplexing question of bells, their uses and who should ring them, would tax the ingenuity of a bench of bishops: need I say any more?
In closing, may I suggest that our Mr. Roherts would have been more usefully employed walking across to Kirkburton and enjoying a "jar" at the hostelry known to many as "The Twitters"-perhaps then 1 need not have written this letter. - Yours faithfully.
M. W. HARBOTT.

Ashtead. Surrey.

1967 PEAL WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir.-It has come to my notice that the peal of Grandsire Cinques rung at St . Michael's Church, Macclesfield, in February, 1967, was false

I must. therefore as conductor, withdraw this peal and tender apologies to the band and all concerned.-Yours sincerely.

Whitefield, Manchester. F. JOHN NELSON.
Dear Sir-A At the end of last year I undertook the formidable task of trying to train a completely new band of ringers at Harmondsworth (a tower which has too long been silent).
It was not long before Mr. Frank Blagrove (Windsor) and Miss Anne Horsford (Twickenham) generously came to my aid, and have continued coming almost every Monday.
How heartening it is to know that amongst the ringing community there are thase who still believe in, and executc with such cheerfulness the old proverb" "A little help is worth a deal of pity."-Yours faithfully.

Longford. Middlesex.

" THERE'S A THIEF ABOUT"

Dear Sir,-Recently I was reading the Home Otfice pamphlet headed "Watch Out-There's a Thiet About." This contains a few elementary principles of crime prevention intended to encourage the public to safeguard their property.

It occurred to me that not infrequently incumbents and ringers allke fail to take elementary security precautions to ensure the safety of "the tools of the Exercise." 1 can think of many churches which I have had occasion to visit recently where belfries are left unlocked and property, such as books and handbells, often of value to the tune of several hundred pounds, left to the tender mercies of itinerant telons.

It was therefore with some apprehension that I read in " The Ringing World " dated March 2211d, 1968, a letter from Vernon Bottomley which stated ${ }^{*}$ it is unlikely that anyone will attend with lifting tackle and transport without first making inquiries." Unfortunately, there are only too many of the criminal classes willing and eager to attend with " lifting " tackle, and inquiries at that stage would hardly be expected.
To illustrate this, only recently three men were convicted at Chippenham of stealing as church bell, and only a few weeks ago a bell weighing perhaps half a hundredweight was stolen from the now derelict St. Mary Redcliffe School premises in Bristol. This has now been recovered intact.
Instances of theft from and malicious damage to church premises are increasing one has only to think of the recent sacrilege at Canterbury. In view of this, in my opinon more care should be taken on our part in connection with the security of the helfry and fittings. Perhaps if the church had been secured effectively the recent incident at Stapleford. Wiltshire, might not have happened.
Incidentally, are we 10 assume from the article on page 178 of "The Ringing World " dated March 8th. 1968. that the Wiltshire Constabulary are currently scouring Salisbury Plain in order to apprehend the alleged offenders? I think not.-Yours sincerely,

PAUL J. RIGBY.

Bishopsworth, Bristol.

THF OTHER WESTMINSTER ABBEY

Dear Sin-What is all this recent fuss about ringing at Westminster Abbey? Last Sunday morning I was Laken to the Abbey hy a friend, and after a friendly introduction I enjoyed a very pleasant ring on the ten bells. Before all your correspondents rush off to London to find out why the two trebles are not rung, I should point out that to ring at this Westminster Abbey they will have to travel abouut 6.000 miles to British Columbia. Here they will be welcomed by the monks of the Benedictine Monastery at Mission City, about 40 miles east of Vancouver. They will enjoy change ringing on the fine ten, which were cast at the Whitechapel Foundry.-Yours sincerely,

JOHN HALLETT.
New Westminster, B.C.

TOWER GRABBERS

Dear Sir.-Whilst I do not wish to comment on Miss Horsford's views on the tower-grabhers' list, I do feel that her ideas of what one should have done to have one's name mentioned are rather simple.

Surely almosi every ringer and churchgoer who is keen will have exceeded these qualifica-tions.-Yours faithfully,
A. D. LILLEY.

Ickleton, Cambs.

MIDLAND COUNTIES GUILD'S HEALTHY YEAR

A satisfactory year was reviewed at the annual general meeting of the Midland Counties Guild at St. Modwen's, Burton-on-Trent, where the Vicar of Stretton (the Rev. G. Lane) conducted Evensong. Previously there had been ringing on the tine six at All Saints'. Upwards of 50 members enjoyed tea in Friars' Walk School, provided by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brittan, Mrs. G. M. Dunn and helpers. They were thanked by Mr. R. A. Weston.
In the unavoidable absence of the president (Mr. B. Worthington) Mr. Welton presided at the meeting. Heartening proceedings were the election of 17 new members (seven from Packington and three from Winshill being prominent), and Mr. J. H. Britan (hon. treasurer) reporting the accounts to be in a healthy state with an increased balance.
In his report Mr. J. H. Cotton (hon. secretary) mentioned that seven meetings were held during the year, 20 new members elected, giving a total membership of 18 honorary and 140 ringing. The Coming-of-Age, Dinner was attended by 70 members and friends.

PERSONAL MILESTONES
Recording peals, Mr. Cotton said the total was ten fewer than last year. Mr. R. Cotton was the only first-pealer. Personal milestones passed in Guild ringing were Mr. J. W. Cotton's 600th, J. K. Smith's 100 th and G. R. Edwards' 100th. Leading peal ringers during 1967 were J. W. Cotton 35, J. K. Smith 24 , R. J. Clifton 24. Leading conductor D. P. Jones. 15 peals
There were certain changes in the officers. Mr. Welton, owing to business commitments, was unable to continue as chairman; his successor is Mr. G. L. Roobottom. Mr. T. Pryce, auditor for 22 years, also retired and Mr . G. Brown fills the vacancy. Resolutions of thanks were passed to these officers and :o those continuing in office for their work in 1967.

Two hours of good ringing followed, which included touches of Double Norwich C.B Major, Plain Bob Major and Stedman and Grandsire Triples at St. Modwen's.

Gloucester and Bristol Association

THERE were two notable "firsts" concerning the annual general meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Association at Malmesbury on April 20th. It was the first time in the 90 years' history of the Association that Malmesbury had been visited lor the annual general meeting, and this was due to the invitation of the octogenarian incumbent, the Rev. A. Beagham, supported very enthusiastically by the Chippenham Branch.

The second was the presence of Miss E. M. Bliss in the chair. She is the first lady to be appointed chairman of the Association, and she had a difficult meeting well under control from start to finish. A remark overheard afterwards was indeed charming tribute: "She should now go on to become Lord Mayor of London."

Over 100 members were present and there were visitors from Australia, Middlesex and Cheshire. Proceedings opened with prayer led by the Rector of Brinkworth and tribute was made to those who had died during the year, with a special reference 10 John G. Jefferies, a past Master of the Association.

Following confirmation by the members, the chairman presented the report, calling attention to its new style. She gave special congratulations to the multi-method ingers on their achievements on tower- and handbells and to the cycling Vicar of Randwick on the augmentation of his bells.

The Ringing Master, Mr. W. F. Scudamore, spoke about the Association ringing comr petition to be held on November 9th, the Boundaries Sub-Committee and the state of ringing for se:vices in the Association area, which lett room for much improvement. "We must find fresh ways to get more Sunday service ringing," he said. "Achievements of young ringers should be acknowledged and there should be a programme of training with a good certificate after examination by a panel of good ringers."

Congratulations were expressed on a peal of Plain Bob Triples at Olveston, which had seven firsts of Triples and a first of Triples as conductor.

The hon. treasurer, Mr. C. A. Wratten, outlined points in the financial statement. Costs were up and there was a loss of about $£ 9$ on general management. The Belfry Repair Fund was down, as it was at last being used. The sum of $\mathfrak{x} 75$ each had been voted to Randwick and Wincheombe and $£ 10$ to Painswick also $£ 36$ was well spent on subsidising the week-end course at Cheltenham. On the propositions of Messrs. C. Mogford and A. L. Barry the reports were adopted.

Peal No. 3.528 of Cambridge Surprise Royal at Swindon was challenged because it had singles at the half-lead. It was decided that it be left to see if the Central Councal accepted it as a peal.

As there was only one nomination for each of the officers, all were re-elected en bloc after thanks had been expressed to all. Attention was then drawn to the fine new badges of office being worn by the chairman and the Ringing Master. The officers replied with thanks for the trust shown in them. Messis. J. R Taylor, C. A. Wratten and A. L. Barry were re-elected to represent Bristol, Cheltenham and Gloucester Archdeaconries on the Central Council for 1969-71, but an election was held to find one for the Swindon Archdeaconry between D. J. Carr and A. R. Peake. the latter being elected by a very large majority. A decision made in 1931 that the representatives must come one from each of the Archdeaconries and must also reside in the Archdeaconry they represent was still binding.

Recommended by their Branches and the Management Committee, Messrs. Bernard Phillips and A. W. Wright, of Bourton-on-theWater, and John W. Sly, of Northleach, were made honorary life members for their services to their towers, Branches and the Association.

NO CHANGE IN SUBSCRIPTIONS
An invitation to hold the next annual general meeting on April 12th, 1969, in Tewkesbury was accepted and it was decided that subscriptions should all remain the same as for 1967, viz.: 2s. 6d. for juniors under 16: 3 s . fd. for associates; 5 s . for seniors, and the affiliation by parochial church councils to remain at El 1s.

A number of propositions by members were next dealt with, and it was decided to print only as selection of compositions rung for the Association for the first time, all others to be available on request from the peal secretary.

A move to combine the offices of Ringing Master and chairman found no support. neither did proposals to alter some of the rules, but a proposition to have methods rung for the first tume for the Association printed in place notation in the report was supported by the ireasurer and secretary on behalf of the Management Committee and carried unanimously.
The next motion was ruled out of order, as the fixing of peal fees is the prerogative of the committee, and they have fixed it at 1s. per rope for 1968.

Again, a move to alter a rule to define the areas represented by the Central Council representatives was rejected as the decision made in 1931, which is still binding, made it unnecesssary. Mr. G. Tudor, of Bristol, spoke of a possibility of the bells of St. Thomas. Bristol, being rehung and asked for steps to be taken to enable them to have a grant if the work is done.

Mr. M. Rose, of Cirencester, seconded by Mr. E. Mould, of Bristol Rural, moved that a footnote reference to "Cupid" be left out of the 1968 report. To this members agreed.

Thanks were expressed to Mr. H. Blacker and the Chippenham Branch for their work in arranging the mecting, tea and service, also to the chairman for the able handling of the meeting

An excellent meat tea was enjoyed by those who had booked in advance. This was prepared by the ladies of the Branch. who were thanked for such a good spread.
The service in the Abbey was well attended and a source of inspiration. A touch on handbells was rung during the service and a collection amounted to $£ 7$. Good use was made of the bells available in the morning and again after the service. To finish, another remark overheard, this by one of the youngest members present, referring to the address by the Vicar: "Sermons are usually a bore and uninteresting, but the one today was good and worth hearing.'

A RINGERS' STORY

Portrait of

[Now, after a good selection of methods has heen rung, comes the moment for which l'addy has been cagerly waiting-an opportunity io ring his first course of Cambridge and to prove to the band that, even if his conducting of Grandsire leaves something to be desired, he can ring Surprise with the best of them. J

Go, Cambridge. Paddy lost his head through sheer excitement. Me, really ringing Surprise... It this really me, really ringing Surprise? For a moment he floundered ou the end of his rope: then came Bob's platid voice-" Pull yourself together, man. Daubledodge, lie."

In a flash his head cleared. The diagram returned to his mind's eye-the zigzag of third's place bell ; double, lie, singles. fifths
He nodded vigorously to indicate $t 0$ Bob that hed got the message. found himself at the back, dodged twice, lay behind. Here came the treble-one dodge with her. And now fifth's place, white the treble lay behind : and another dodge with the treble, and two more blows behind. Goodbye. treble. Two more dodges, and then what? Oh yes. Fourth's place bell. Places. A three-four dodge first, then two blows in third's, two in fourth's. and here's the treble, dodge with her. then two in third's, two in fourth's and go in to-
"Three ! You've misseed your last dodge."
Crunch-hiatus-bong-ti-ding. Paddy looked round wildly for guidance.
"In second's now, Pad. Snap and lead full."
Paddy collected his scattered wits. One blow on the lead, one in second's and lead fullwhatever next? Oh, run out. Good.
Straight to the back he hunted: now he was in sixths. What did he do? Dodge, he supposed. But was it double or single? He tried for a double.

Crunch!
"You should have lain behind there, Pad. Double with me. Oy' Me. Pad. Over me. not under. One more, Over me

"Bob! What is the front work?"
Bob sighed. "Come on. quick. dodge. Pad: then lead. dodge. second's, then lead, dodge. second's over the treble, and then you're second's place hell... Dodge again. Pad now second's. now lead full. You're striking a bit wide: pull her closer in, otherwise you'll upset everyone else's striking. Second's place bell now."

Second's place hell. Fifth's place hell backwards. Dodging behind after the front work. wards.

The front work was muddled through, the hunting out accomplished. Then double, lie, single. Sixth's place hell. Gosh, this course seems to have gone on for weeks. Imagine

OBITUARY

MR. GEORGE GOLLDING
Painswick has lost one of the oldest of its ringers by the death in hospital on May 12 th of Mr. George Goulding, aged 74. He had been in failing health for some time.
He started to ring in 1920 and rang about 12 peals-all Grandsire and ranging from Doubles to Cinques. He was most regular in bis attendance. serving the church also as a chorister for about 60 years and for some years as crossbrearer. ears as crossbrearer. the depression in the 1920's he hecame a nostman and nearly all his 40 years in the GPO. Were spent at Painswick.
The funeral service on May 17 th was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. F. Heal) and was attended hy many ringers and friends from the G.P.O. Handbells were rung over the grave and a muffled quarter peal to his memory in the evening.
ringing a peal of the stuff! On and on like this, without a break, for three solid hours Gosh! The concentration you'd need would be phenomenal. I don't know if I'd ever be good enough to be able to . . . but perhaps if 1 practise a lot, and
A stentorian shout from Mick brought him sharply back to the present moment. "Pad! Wake up; you didn't do your dodge after your full lead. Three-four places now-no, dodge lirst-now fourth's, now third's, now dodge. now fourth's. now third's, dodge again, this is all ... Stand!"
Paddy, flushed, hot, filled with mixed elation and exhaustion, his ears still ringing with the voice of the bells and with words of command, regarded Mick solemnly through his forelock.
"Thanks a lot. Mick."
" A pleasure, Pad. Any day reason."
"Thanks, Bob. It seems so different when you're actually ringing it, doesn't it?"
"Ah. that's why they call methods like this Surprise "" responded Bob gravely. "becaus: you never know quite what's going to happen next."
"Oh. that's not really why, is it?" asked Suc. :I thought it was like Delight and Pleasure and all those other funny classifications and didn't really mean anything.

Search me." said Bob. "Seriously, though. Pad, that wasn't too bad, considering it was a first attempt. Have you ringing London in no time."
Paddy's world glowed. He was a Cambridge ringer. Henceforward, when he went to ringing meetings and practices and outings and people said "Catch hold for Cambridge." he would be able to take his place among the good ringers, the Cambridge ringers. the élite. At least. if it were a plain course he could-or a very easy sort of touch. He would stagger the next District meeting by his virtuosity. At least, if it were at a six-bell tower he would Whirt from the clock-case in the corner. Nine oclock: time for Bob to bring the proceedings to a close.
"That's it for tonight, then. folks." he said, hunching himself into his jacket. "Someone get the tenor down. Will you, Martin? Thanks. I'll entrust you with the task of locking up, then; here's the key, and could you make a special point of seeing that all the lights are turned off-somebody left the stairs light on last week. Coffee and handbells at my place for anyone who feels that way inclined. I'm off 10 get things, ready. See some of you shortly. Cheerio!" And Bob departed, splat-splat-splat, down the stairs to the tower door and the outside world.
After him, at long, slow intervals, came his band; Mick with a Troughton sister on eacly arm: Paddy being congratulated on his achievement, and offered various hints on how-to-keep-right-in-Cambridge, by the Cocks brigade; old Bill and the wife, in spirit already back on Five Oaks Farm, discussing with one another problems relating to the weatherproofing of a series of new poultry houses; small Tim Alexander and the curate. discussing the topic of summer holidays with considerable fervour; and Martin last of all.
Whistling absently to himself. he knotted the tenor rope, released the clock-hammer and made for the door: then, struck with a sudden thought, he turned, his hand on the lightswitch, and glanced rapidly round the ringing chamber. Had anyone left anything behind? Just as well to make quite sure. No yes, someone had left behind a notebook of some sort.
Martin picked up the book from the bench. METHODS, it said, in black ink on the front cover; and when it came open readily at a well-thumbed page bearing a somewhat illdrawn diagram of Cambride. Minor Martin needed no further proof that it belonged to a certain young gentleman by the name of P . J. Markwick
The trouble was that Paddy never stayed to coffee with Bob during term-time, there invariably being a fair (or unfair) amount of homework set by his French master on Thursdays
"Oh. well. r'll look after it for him." thought Martin: and. with a last look round. he switched off the light. pocketed the notehook. shut the door behind him and began the descent of the stairs.

A NORTH KENT WEEK-END

Organised by Mr. Laurie Mitchell, North Kent ringers and friends had a week-end tour of Dorset and South Devon on April 26th. 27th and 28 th. The first night was spent at Stoney Cross in the New Forest. During lunch the next day at Dorchester it started to rain and poured all the afternoon. The clouds rolled away while the party were enjoying a Devon crearn tea at Honiton. Evening ringing was at St. Paul's, Honiton, Ottery St. Mary and Clyst Honiton, and the hotel at Exeter was reached at 9 p.m.
On Sunday morning we rang at St. David's. Exeter, after attending Holy Communion which was arranged for the party. The morning was spent at Withycombe Rateigh and at Exmouth. ringing Mr. Frank Mack's light six. There was a roast turkey lunch at Beer, followed by ringing at Bridport and Wool. Tea was at Brockenhurst in the New Forest, where we met Mrs. Dunk. Ringing Masters for the week-end were Nicholas Chesson and Chris Osenton, and ringing ranged from rounds to Surprise Major Thanks are extended to all who made us so welcome

GUILDFORD DISTRICT STRIKING CONTEST

After a lapse of three or four years the Guildford District held a striking, competition again, at Dunsfold on May 11th. In spite of this attractive church being rather out of the way and on the edge of the District, five teams converged there. The Cathedral band were winners with $9 t$ faults. Stoke-next-Guildford 20t, Shere 21t, Chiddingfold $34 \frac{1}{2}$ and Bramley 55\}.
Bramley, who, the judge said, were "very determined " are also to be commended for entering, as they are a new and almost entirely self-taught band, used to a very light six with short draught and finding themselves suddenly on heavier bells with a long draught. A thunderstorm rolled overhead as they were ringing and they almost thought the bells were coming down!
The competition ringing was followed by the service, when the Rector (the Rev. Edmund Lister) spoke of ringing, as well as everything clse done, being to the Glory of God-and of course should be enjoyed as well. The organist was Mr. R. Fincher, and Mrs. Fincher, together with the other lady ringers or wives, provided a very good tea in the Village Hall. The business meeting followed, at which the judge, Mr. Douglas May, gave bis comments and markings. Nearly 40 were present.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Derby Diocesan Association has increased the peal booking fee to one shilling and sixpence a rope. This has been made necessary owing to increased printing costs.
The Bath and Wells Association has not scored a 12 -bell peal since 1936 . The recent attempt only reached the halfway stage despite the practice. Another attemps is contemplated.
Members who took part in the College Youths' peal at Christchurch Priory would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Davis for their hospitality after Mrs. peal.
Three of the four members of the ringing family at Newhey, Lancashire, rang in the first peal on the new bells recently The parents achieved their ambition of ringing their first peal! Congratulations!
The peal rung at Birstwith, Yorks, on April 24th. was for the Sussex Association, and not the Yorkshire Association. None of the band was a member of the Yorkshire Association. A donation of 10s. (as requested) was made to the funds of Birstwith Church.

Three generations of the Arscott family fang in an in memoriam peal at Fitzhead. Somerset, for Stanley N. Bristow, on May 14th.
Mr. R. A. Ford, of Taunton, complains about the Salisbury Guild Festival at Wimborne. He states that three of the churches he visited were deserred with the bells "left up " and doors unlocked.
Miss Anne Simkins, of The School House. Fyfield, near Ongar, Essex, who is writing a project on the work of the Essex Association, asks for information on the Association. which was in existence in 1879, its present membership and its influence on ringing both then and now.
After the College Youths' successful neal attempt at Christchurch Priory on Mav 1th the company were entertained to refreshments by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davis at Bourneheath, Stourcliffe Avenue. Southbourne. The ringers offered congratulations to Mr. Philip Murduck, who revealed that he and Mrs. Murduck were celebrating their 28 th wedding anniversary that day.

A 21 YEARS' SILENCE AT CHAWTON

 ENDEDThe bells of Chawton, Hampshire, are ringing again after 21 years' silence. They were rung for the first time on Sunday, April 7 th , to welcome the Bishop of Winchester, who attended Matins.

On a bronze plate in the church is recorded:  To the Glory of God and in memory of Isabella Barbara Shaw Stewart, who fell asleep at Chawton House on the 4th August, 1883, two of the Ancient Bells of this Parish were erected in the belfry and four new bells were dedicated to the service of Almighty God." Also, there is in the porch, near the belfry door, a frame containing Chawton Belfry Rules, 1884 ; among the ringers' names appearing on this manuscript are those of George and William Pullinger, whose home was at Chawton at that time.
A framed record of the only peal on the bells prior to May 4th, 1968. appears in the ringing chamber; this peal was rung for the Winchester Diocesan Guild on June 14th, 1913, being seven different Minor methods conducted by Charles Edwards.

A plaque by the belfry door is inscribed: -. To commemorate the Restoration of the Bells by the People of Chawton and wellwishers of the Church in 1937, the year of the Coronation of H.M. King George Vl." The work was carried out by Gillett and Johnston Lid., when the tenor only was rehung on ball bearings. The six bells are hung in two tiers in an oak frame with very little room to spare. There were ringers at Chawton until about 1938.

The peal rung on May 4 th was made possible by ringers coming from Alton, Petersfield, West Meon and Warnford. The band have to thank Alan Kersey for ringing the treble at only a day's notice after two previous arrangements had been made for treble ringers, who, though living miles apart, caught German measles within a week of each other. The two very young ringers on 2nd and 3rd are pupils of Mr. Ken Tipper, captain at Petersfield tower, and he and they are to be congratulated on their very good performance.

Lastly. the bell installation has been repaired and maintained through the interest of the Vicar, the Rev. H. Selby Ash, Mr. R. D. Giles, churchwarden, the P.C.C., who are heart and soul with the bells now, and Mr. O. T. Cox. verger and sexton for 30 years, who gave invaluable help in every possible way.

Mr. R. Corke, captain at Alton tower, has taken over the teaching of new ringers, and Mr. Clive Chennell-White, also of Alton, is arranging ringing for services until the local band is in being.
C. E. B.

FORTHCOMING PEAL ATTEMPTS

By the Ancient Society of College Youths, June 1st, 12.30 p.m., Yorkshire Surprise Maximus at Winchester Cathedral, and June 3rd, 2 p.m., Cambridge Surprise Maximus at St. Martin's, Birmingham.

A SHROPSHERE APPEAL

For the restoration and improvements to the bells and tower at Norton-in-Hales, Shropshire, over $£ 3,000$ is required. Mr. William Talbot. the ringing captain, writes thanking the Shropshire Association for the gift of £5 7s. 6d. subscribed at their recent meeting at Market Drayton.

A BUSY MONTH IN AMERICA

This is quite a ringing spring for Groton School. On May 3rd Rick Dirksen paid the School a visit and Plain Bob and St. Clement's were rung. On the 5th, about 100 members of the new English Guild of Handbell Ringers were entertained for their spring festival. They gave a recital lasting one hour of tune ringing in the chapel and then saw a demonstration of change ringing on tower bells in the belfry.

Mr. Russell Young drove to New York City on May 6 th to meet Frank and Sheila Price and took them back to Groton, and the following day motored them to their cousins in Peterborough, New Hampshire. They were at the School on the 9th helping with the second band

The first ring on the new bells at Smith's College took place on the 11 th. The College is 75 miles from Groton and naturally there was a big assembly of ringers. Mr. Russell Young informs us that Frank Price is down to conduct a quarter peal of St . Clement's Bob Minor. The first band at Groton is practising Plain Boh Triples and it is hoped to attempt a peal soon.

Later in the month Tom Goodyer is expected from Sydney on his way to England. There are two other big ringing days for the School. On May 25 th a number are going to Kent School and Smith's College to ring. and on May 26th every available ringer will ring at Hingham, Perkins and Groton.

ST. DAVID'S GUILD'S STRIKING COMPETITION

The annual striking competition of the St . David's Guild was held at St. Teilos, Llandeilo, on May 11th, with eight teams competing. viz.: two from Pembroke and one each from Cardigan. Llandeilo. Llanelli and St . Florence, a team composed of members from the Swansea and Brecon Guild and a "seratch" band captained by Mr. H. Jenkins (Tenby).

After an excellent tea, provided by the ladies of the parish, the Mayor-elect of Cardigan. Mr. Percy Griffiths. who is the Guild auditor, proposed to them a vote of thanks. The Vicar then invited Mr. F. Sharpe, of Launton, Oxon, to give his adjudication.

The team with the lowest number of faults was the one from Swansea and Brecon. but as visitors were not eligible for the Shield the result was declared as follows: 1 Pembroke "A", 20 faults. 2 Llandeilo 31, 3 Pembroke "B " 53. Mr. Philip Rogers, captain of Pembroke and Ringing Master, expressed his delight at receiving the shield for the first time.

Mr. Sharpe and his Launton Handbell Ringers then gave a recital of handbell music, which has become the highlight of the competition meetings and is greatly appreciated by all.

Ringers then returned to the tower until 8.30 p.m.

SURREY ASSOCIATION TLRN DOWN

AGREEMENT WITH GUILDFORD

The Surrey Association at its annual meeting rejected the motion of the joint committee with the Guildford Guild for earmarking certain towers in the Guildford Diocese where meetings can be held. They wanted freedom to hold meetings in all towers in the ancient county of Surrey. Report next week.

GUILD OF MEDICAL RINGERS

On May 11th and 12th the Guild undertook its first overseas commitment-a tour of the Isle of Wight, the home of its president. J. B. Williamson, and as he had made all the arrangements they were excellent. The one adverse feature was of the membership's mak-ing-too few of them came; more's the pity for them, for they missed a delightful weekend in this delectable isle.

The president had, however, provided for all eventualities, and at every tower there were some of the Island's ringers, without whom the Guild would have been hard pressed undeed. Certainly we were most grateful for this reinforcement and for many other kindnesses.

The towers visited were at Ryde, Brading, Carisbrooke. Godshill and Whitwell on Saturday, and Chale on Sunday for morning service. Comparisons are odious, but the renown of Carisbrooke's octave has spread so far that to report our brief visit there as a memorable "highspot" should not offend. In any case, everywhere we went in belfries and outside was much enjoyed.
Now that the reconnaisance patrol has taken place we shall look forward to a renewed invasion another year, with battalion support.
D. L. G.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Hunts District held its annual competition on May 11th at Holywell. Five teams entered and the judges were Messrs. J. H. Bluff, H. C. Foster and B. F. Sims. Godmanchester were first to ring and they were followed by St . Neots, Brampton, Great Staughton and Eynesbury.

The usual ringers' service was conducted by the Rector, and after tea Mr. B. F. Sins gave the judges' views and advice and congratulated the competing teams on some good ringing. A special word of praise was given to the Great Staughton team (although not completing the test piece) for their spirit in entering; five of this ream are schoolboys, aided and abetted by their Vicar.

The judges' decision was as follows: 1 St . Neots, followed by Brampton. Eynesbury, Godmanchester and Great Staughton. Mr. B. F. Sims then presented the Frank W. Lack Memorial Trophy to Mr. G. E. Bonham. the captain of St. Neots team.

Mr. A. J. Davey proposed the vote of thanks and it was then back to the tower for further inging until 8.15 p.m.

HOUGHTON. HLNTS

The Lord Bishop of Ely will rededicate the recently rehung bells at Houghton on June 3rd. The original five bells have been unringable since 1960 ). As a memorial to the Rev. J. D. Ward, Rector for 30 years, a new treble has been added and the P.C.C. is raising over $£ 3.000$ for providing this bell, dismantling and rehanging the bells. bird-proofing the tower and other miscellaneous repairs.

The contract has been carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank and the village has now a delightful ring of six with a 10 cwt. tenor. The service is at 6.30 D.m. and the tower will be open for ringing until 8.45 p.m. Parkins facilities will be available in the school playground, entrance from the Huntingdon Road.

OBITUARY

MR. T. C. HINSAL

With regret the ringers at St. Bartholomew's, Penn, Staffs, report the passing of Mr. T. C. Hinsal in his 90th year. He was a fellow ringer and friend of all Affectionately known as Tom, he had been a ringer at St. Bartholomew's for over 50 years and was verger for over 20 years. Tom was never a peal ringer but a very devout service ringer until failing health and age prevented him from climbing the few steps to the ringing chamber.
His very regular worship at the one church he loved carried back some 80 years and Penn has lost the finest church historian they ever had. Even to the last Tom was always cheerful and never failed to reminisce one of his many wonderful stories.
At the funeral on May 18 h members of St. Aartholomew's band of fingers rang with the bells fully muffled before and after interment. They also rang handbells at the graveside.
On May 19th, for Matins, in memoriam to dear old Tom, a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples with the bells half-muffled was rung by the following: K. Greatbatch (first quarter) 1, D. G. Forith 2, M. Gaskell (frist inside en 3. B. T. Ford 4. C. S. Warkins S. C. F. W.

MR. W. G. LILLEY

Mr. William George Lilley, of Winscombe. Somerset, died at Weston-super-Mare Hospital on May lst as a result of a road accident. He was 71 years of age and was cycling when he was involved in a collision with a car. For many years he had been captain of the ringers at Winscombe.
Following the funeral service, touches of Grandsire Triples were rung, conducted by Mr. George Prescott.

LATE NEWS

Mr. Claude Corderoy, of Blewbury, the secretary of the North Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, met with an accident while ringing for evening service at Blewbury on May 19rh. having the misfortune to break his wrist. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

HANDBELLS STOLEN

Mr. K. Paul Gilliver, of Nuneaton, had his grey Morris mini-van stolen from his home last week-end (May 18th). Unfortunately the van contained the church's handbells, a set of 12 in A, in an imitation leather case. Nine of the bells were in small, grey cloth bags. The bells were recently overhauled and retuned by Taylor's at a cost of $£ 62$.

The ringer of the sixth in the peal at Tring on April 27th was Richard G. Ouston, and not Austin, as submitted.

CENTRAL COUNCIL AGENDA ADDITION

Doubles Notice Amendment

I wish to give notice that I shall propose the following amendments to the motion proposed by Mr. C. A. Lewis on the C.C. Agenda:-
(a) That para. 4 and 5 be taken separately from para. 1,2 and 3.
(b) That para. 1,2 and 3 be amended to read as follows:-
(1) In the case of Doubles only, a variabe defined as the use in a plain method of calls other than the standard calls for that method. The resulting bobbed or singled lead must not by itself constitute a plain lead of another method. Each variation 10 be given its own name.
(2) The variation must by itself be capable of producing the 120 true changes. Peal reports must draw a clear distinction between methods and variations, either by separate listing or, for example, "Plain Bob. New Bob, Old Variation, Eynsham Variation,"' etc.
(3) One variation with one or more methods, or two or more variations methods, or two or more variations with or without methods, may be rung in one extent, provided that the plain courses of all the variations and methods in the extent are different, and that there is included at least one of each of the plain lead and different calls for each of the different variations and methods rung in the extent.
F. T. BLAGROVE.

Seconded by W. Butler.

HORSLEY CUP FINAL

The final of the Horsley Cup was held at Horsley (Derbyshire) on May 18th. The nine competing teams were the winners and runnersup of the Derby Diocesan Association's District heats.
The two judges, Mr. H. Rooke and Mr. A. Mould. marked independently and their results were combined to give an average number of faults for each team. Scoring was done in the usual Derbyshire manner-the number of faults (maximum of one per row) is subtracted from 240 (the number of changes rung) and a bonus is added of 71 per cent. for Treble Bob Minor, 5 per cent. for Plain Minor, $1 \frac{1}{\text { per cent. for Doubles, and nothing }}$ for call changes. The results were:-
Derby Cathedral (Cambridge) 224 points, Old Whittington (London Scholars') 219 , Bolsover (Cambridge) 203, Sawley (Cambridge) 191, Stanton-by-Dale (Cambridge) 185, Sandiacre (Kent) 179, Chesterficld (Grandsire Doubles) 167, Ockbrook (call changes) 163, Mayficld (call changes) 159.
The Association president. the Provost of Derby, presented the cup to Mr. G. Halls, the non-ringing captain of the Cathedral band.
Afterwards Mr. Rooke's band from Warsop -the holders of the Crawford Cup-competed with Derby Cethedral. This contest was judged by Mr. D. Carlisle. Warsop, ringing Norwich Surprise, had 10 faults and Derby Cathedral had 16 faults.

Presentation to Sussex General Secretary on Retirement

A PRESENTATION of an electric mantel clock was made to Mr. R. W. R. Percy at the 83rd annual general meeting of the Susser County Association, held at Horsham on May 11th, on his retirement from the office of hon. general secretary, a position he had held for 15 years. The presentation was made by the Master (Mr. R. V. Johnditticult times.

A letter was read from Mr. Len Stilwell, on holiday in Canada, mentioning the unstinting and unselfish service given by Bob Percy and proposing that he should be made a vice-president. A similar proposal came from Mr. W. Leslee Weller. This was endorsed by Mr. G. FitzHugh and carried by the meeting.

Mr. Alan Baldock, of Linden Cottage, Peelings Lane, Westham, was elected the new general secretary.

The service was held in St. Mary's Church, concucted by the Vicar (the Kev. M. R. Newman). A rooed choir of ringers, drawn from Various parishes in the county, led the singing, and the address was given by the Archaeacon of Chichester (the Ven. Lancelot Mason), who is a ringer.

Tea, served in the dining hall of Horsham High School, was in the capable hands of Mr. and Mrs. sourne and helpers. The general arrangements for the meeting, which was held in the Assembly Hall, were made by Mrs. Jean Usoon, secrecary or the Nortnern Division, and the Horsham ringers.

The Master opened the meeting with words of welcome to the vice-presidents (Messrs. S. E. Armstrong and R. P. Wood), the chairman of the East Grinstead and District Guild (Mr. J. Jeffrey) and Messrs. John Euston and Roy Davis (Surrey Association).

The secretary regretted that for the first time in 15 years no agendas or accounts were available. These had been sent to the treasurer for duplicating and had not been received. Apologies included one from the treasurer, who was at Ross-on-Wye on a business commitment. A silent tribute was paid to those ringers who had died during the year, viz.: Messrs. F. Page, H. Richardsun, C. W. Ridgway, C. B. Tompkins, Mrs. Southwood and Mrs. L. Stilwell.

DIVISIONAL REPORTS

The Divisional secretaries' reports were accepted as they appear in the Annual Report. The Northern Division had tried to improve the social side and held lectures on Grandsire Triples by George Jennings, a stoolball match at West Grinstead, a coach outing to High Wycombe and district, a ringers' service at Danehill, a carol service at West Hoathly and a Christmas party at Balcombe.
The Southern Division reported no greal change, but Burgess Hill bells are to be rehung during 1968.
The Eastern Division showed signs of 1 m provement. The Ringing chamber at Rotherfield had been put upstaırs and the bells had received attention. The sum of $£ 1,500$ had been spent on the tower at Willingdon, peal boards had been installed and a cabinet containing 28 handbells had been given to the parish.
The Western Division went from strength to strength. Members were welcomed for the first time from Rogate, South Harting, Aldwick and Lodsworth. Pagham bells had been rehung in a new metal frame. Midhurst bells had also been rehung. Aldwick hoped to augment their bells to six; one bell had already been purchased and the augmentation fund was going well. The treble at Washington was out of action, but no details were yet available.
The treasurer's report showed that the bank balance had increased by $£ 55$, but the Divisional balances were down by £31. Printing costs were down by $£ 15$ and a grant from the Bell Fund was up by $£ 15$. The balance at the bank was now $£ 235$.
Mr. George Francis, one of the auditors, mentioned that the accounts had not been audited. It was agreed to accept the accounts subject to audit.

FEWER PEALS

The peal secretary's report stated that 54 peals were rung during the year, which was a reduction. Eleven ringers rang their first peal. The peal of Doubles rung at Barcombs on September 27th in 50 methods/variations was a record for the Association.

The peal secretary, Mr. John Norris, raised the question of non-resident members electing non-resident members to the Association prior to peal attempts. This, he said, was of no value to the Association. There seemed to be a hole in the rules which needs filling up. This matter was receiving attention.

ELECTION OF NEW MEMBERS
Twelve new members were elected from Bexnill, Brighton, Lindtield and Crawley. Three former members were elected non-resident members, and the ratification of tive nonresident members prior to a peal attempt was contirmed. Messrs. George T. Jennings (Crawley) and George F. Tizzard (East Grinstead) were elected honorary life members of the Association.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The president and vice-presidents were reelected en bloc. It was agreed to approach the new Bishop of Horsham with a view to electing him as a vice-president. The Master, treasurer, peal secretary and trustees were duly re-elected. Mr. T. Barlow and Mr. R. W. R. Percy were re-elected auditors.

The Master thanked David Smith and his committee for the hard work they had put in in producing a new-style report at a considerable reduction in cost.

ASSOCIATION DINNER

The dinner will be held at the Queen's Hotel, Eastbourne, on October 26th. Tickets (26s, per head) can be obtained from the Divisional secretaries or Betty Percy; dress informal. There are adequate car parking facilities in the hotel grounds and on the sea front. Queen's hotel is opposite Eastbourne Pier. Dinner accommodation limited to 200 people.

Some members thought the present badge too large; a smaller design was approved and costs will be obtained.

The peal book given by Florence Wyman in memory of the late Oliver Sippetts will be written up in its present form (two peals per page).

A restoration fund is to be started to replace the present grant for bell repairs taken from the General Fund. Method of administration and collecting money will be debated by the General Committee.

EXPO SUSSEX 68

This exhibition will take place on July 19th and 20th at the Agricultural Show Ground, Ardingly, Sussex. The bellringing section, organised by the Expo Committee, will be in four sections: Craft, bellcasting, etc., Hand bellringing; Art of change ringing; Tower bellringing. The bell tower, erected in conjunction with the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, will house a ring of eight (tenor $4 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.).

ASSOCIATION LIBRARY

The general secretary mentioned that the Association had been blessed by a wonderful gift of books, etc, from Len Stilwell. Stan Armstrong had made, at the cost of material only, a very fine oak bookcase. These had been installed in the belfry of St. Peter's, Brighton, and would be under the supervision of the librarian, Albert Bond. R.W.R.P.

UNIVERSITY OF SUSSEX GUILD'S FIRST ANNUAL DINNER

Deciding that Chinese restaurants were no no longer adequate, the Guild held its first formal dinner at the New Refectory on May 4th.

The tone of the day was set by the success of a peal of Yorkshire Major at St. Nicholas', Brighton, in the morning, while other towers were open for general ringing. There were no serious mishaps, although the standard of ringing varied, as did the bells.
We were grateful to Canon Keeling, Vicar of Brighton, for conducting the service at St. Peter's and also for so ably presiding at the dinner. After a splendid meal, swiftly dealt with by 45 ringers and friends, he complained of not officially having a place to speak himself, and then proceeded to do so. much to the enjoyment of the company ! David Nibbs spoke briefly on the connections between the University, the Church and the local ringers; Dr. Daniel Jenkins, University chaplain, responded, speaking of his unusual introduction to the activities of the Guild.
Peta Ollen, proposing "The Visitors," thanked the guests for coming and hoped that even more would come next year. Clarke Walters (from the other place) had the unenviable task of both responding and proposing "The Guild." He noted the advances made by the Guild in only four years of existence, and put forward some useful suggestions for improvements, while keeping a watchful eye on his egg-timer. The Master's speech summed up the year's activities and clarified the aims of University Societies.
A comparatively early adjournment was made to the bar, which was open till 11.30. Handbells were available for the dedicated, while musical entertainment was provided by both tape-recorder and treasurer. Bacchanalian dancing developed in direct proportion to the bar takings.
On Sunday, after morning ringing, the Master entertained the visitors at the C.O.E. to coffee, handbells and German measles, but eventually succumbed and was absent from the quarter peal of Plain Bob Royal at St. Peter's in the evening. This was rung by Albert Bond, the tower captain, assisted by University ringers from Oxford, Southampton and Sussex, and was a fitting conclusion to a successful week-end.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION Biggleswade District

Due to the lack of other ringing events on April 13 th, a meeting at Old Warden attracted a large number of people, including a high proportion of younger ringers. Ringing continued smoothly throughout the day (apart from the breaking of a stay), with everyone ringing in turn along with the many visitors from various parts of the country.
During the break for tea and the monthly business meeting, some handbell ringing also took place with some valuable "spade work" being done by the more experienced ringers. This added greatly to the interest and enjoyment of the day.

Next meeting: June 8th.

FRAMLAND ASSOCIATION

Addressing the Framland Association at its annual general meeting at Melton Mowbray on May 4th, the chairman, the Rev. A. G. L. Lancaster, Rector of Waltham, said he had a profound regard for the art of bellringing, which he regarded at services as an integral part of divine worship. The whole tone or atmosphere of the service was frequently set by the effect of bells preceding the service. It did not happen often, but when the bells did not ring on Sundays both the village and the service appeared to be lifeless.

Eighteen towers were represented and the service was conducted by the Rev. G. H. Codrington (Vicar of Melton). The officers were re-elected. The secretary is Mrs. N. Cooke, of Waltham. Ringing took place in the afternoon and evening.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

The Church of St. Katharine, Merstham, Surrey

SURREY ASSOCIATION'S TERRITORY

THE Surrey Association at its three-bour annual general meeting at Merstham rejected the recommendation of the joint sub-conmmittee of the Surrey Association and the Guildford Guild concerning the area in Surrey where they would be allowed to hold meetings.

A motion was carried directing the committee to follow a policy of complete frecdom of choice for any meetings within the ancient county of Surrey as it existed at the time of the formation of the Guild.

The Master (Mr. F. E. Darby) presided over a company of 77 representing 30 towers.

As expected, a lengthy discussion took place on the recommendations of the joint suocommittee. Mr. W. Parrott, in proposing that these recommendations be accepiea (" Kınging World,' page 219), mentioned two suggestions put forwara to the Gullatord Guila by the sub-commituee. Ine urst, amalgamation, hat not deen received whit enunusiasm, and the second, on the question of boundaries, was not auscussed owing to the rigid nature of duocesan boundaries. Mr. Parrott deplored the eftorts "of what he described as " the lunauc tringe" of the Guildford Guid to generate ill-will and harm existing cordial relauons.
Mr. A. P. Cannon seconded and discussion followed. Mr. C. Mew telt strongly that it the motion were passed the Association's activities in the southern part of the county would be restricted. It simular restrictions were enforced by other neighbouring bodies they would end up with no towers to visit, the only members being non-resident in the county. At present indiviaual towers in the Guildtord Diocese made them welcome for peals and meetings.

CONFUSED BY TWO BODIES

Mr. J. F. M. Maybrey (liaison officer to the Surrey Assoctation from the Guilaford Guild), replying to Mr. Mew, wondered whetner incumoents confused the two orgamsations when their towers were requested lor meeungs. The Kev. A, Clayton, repeaung a point menuoned earier that the Surrey Associacion depended on the support of memoers and not anusated towers, sala tnat the wholl basis of the Association woula nave to be reconsidered if the motion were carried.
Mr. W. Parrott, exercising his right of reply, quoted irom a letter received from Mr. F. E. Coums to the eftect that the Assoctation should not be "sold up the river" and that if a seconder were obtained the members wuula wipe the floor with the motion. In another letter Mr. D. Parsons considered 2 (ii) of the motion to be one-sided and suggested it be reterred back.

The Master, in putting the motion to the vote, stressed that a vote in favour implied full agreement with all parts. The motion was defeated by a majority vote. The sub-committee was thanked for its work.

The meeting then agreed to discuss the motion proposed by Mr. C. Mew, seconded by the Rev. A. Clayton ("Ringing World," page 341), which was in effect the opposite ot page 341 ), which was in effect the felt that the second part of the motion reflected fully the general policy of the Association. The word "holding" in the last sentence was changed to "requesting," and the amended motion was carried with only two against.

CENTRAL COUNCIL UNDER FIRE

Three motions concerning the Central Council, all proposed by Mr. C. Mew and seconded by Mr. A. Bagworth (" Ringing World," page 341), were passed after some discussion. It was the general feeling that insufficient time was devoted to the business side of the Central Council meetings.

Another motion proposed by Mr. C. Mew, seconded by Miss J. S. Armstrong, namely "That the Association's three representatives on the Central Council should report at each annual general meeting of the Association and that there should be included in the agenda for each annual general meeting: 'Proposals to be forwarded to the Central Council ""was narrowly defeated. It was felt that a report given at the annual general meeting following the Central Council meeting achieved little owing to the time lag, and that in any case fairly adequate coverage was given by "The Ringing World."
A further motion, proposed by Mr. M. J. Uphill, seconded by Mr. C. Mew, on the subject of peal elections, was defeated. The motion sought to make tower elections easier by accepting decisions with a minority of nonpresent instead of, as now, insisting on a majority of resident members.

PEAK MEMBERSHIP

The hon. secretary's report for 1967 colstained the following information: Membership 395, an all-tıme peak; 46 peais rung, an increase of 15 ( 174 ringers took part); Aadington, with if to their creail, again headed the list of a total of 215 quarter peas.

Iva., wue manny to expenses of the Central Council representauves and the cost of a special issue of ". The Kinging worid." The Uistrict levy remained at ob per cent. The Beifry Repai Fund showed an increased balance tron $\dot{\mathrm{t}} 275 \mathrm{l} \mathrm{j} \mathrm{s}$. 5 d . to $£ \mathbf{j} 04 \mathrm{7s}$. 5d. A motion proposed by Mr. C. Mew, seconded by Mr, A. P. Cannon, to the ettect that " Not more than 20 per cent. of the cost of the job and no more than 25 per cent. of the total fund avalable at the time of application is to be given to any one tower," to ensure a better usage of this balance, was carried nem con.
Mr. B. J. Stone, the librarian, reported the acquisition of five books, including the extremely popular "Change Ringing" by Wilfrid G. Wilson. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Oatway had again presented a bound volume of "The Ringing World "for 1967. The librarian would welcome news of pre-1938 copies of "The Ringing World "for purchase by the library.

The Richard Stevens award for the most promising young ringer was presented for the first time, to John Hull, of Kingston, by the General Master.

Appendix to the Report of "The Ringing World" Committee

Submitted to the Central Council in 1968, as agreed by " R.W." Committee, 2/12/67

INTRODUCTION

1. In accepting the report of "The Ringing World" Committee, the Central Council at Nottingham in 1967 asked the commitee to include in its report to be submitted in 1968 "a statement on the measures it had taken and the plans it had made for widening the appeal of the 'R.W.' to all sections of the ringing community." We have thought it wise to make this appendix very full to refresh the memories of those interested.
2. It will be recalled that at the meeting of the Council at Bath in 1966, criticisms of the "R.W." and the committee came to a head. Let us first examine the situation up to that time. The Council rook over in 1942 a business which was "in the red" and a big financial risk was incurred for the sake of the Exercise. It will be generally admitted that the "R.W." is essential to communication within the Exercise. By careful busbandry during 20 years of continually rising prices, the committee has managed to keep solvent, aware that often that position was only realised by the generosity of individual ringers and some Associations and by keeping expenses to a bare minimum. Every time a price rise became essential because of increased costs, the circulation dropped and the heavy task of huilding up had to start all over again. All this time, too, the work has had to be done with a very limited staff, on limited salaries and with the limited accommodation and facilities which were made available free by the printers.
3. Gradually over these years the funds of the "R.W." have been bailt up to about the "quivalent of one year's expenditure at present rates. This we submit is no more than prudent in times like the present, bearing in mind that the risk of heavy additional expenditure is always just around the next zorner.
4. Many of the suggestions which were made, or hinted at, at Bath or have been put forward since, have been constantly in mind during all this time. It will be recalled that the committee issued a special jubilee number in 1961, considering tho extra cast justified on this special occasion. A competition was also beld to see whether a new front page design could be found acceptable to the Exercise, but at that time it was clear that a change was not generally desired.
5. With a view to greater economy in that part of the paper, various changes in peal layouts have been tried, and each has been strongly criticised at the time. In this matter, where the Exercise is very conservative, none of the changes was popular, but the economy was essential and some of us have grown to accept different styles, even if we don't like them.
6. Having reached the stage when insolvency was no longer imminent, the committee accepted that it was time to modernise cautiously, step by step. It was thought that ithe financial risk could be taken without betraying the trust which the Council had given them. So at Bath one of the comrittee's recommendations was that a new, younger member of the Council, who had shown his capabilities and keenness (and his willingness to help in our work) should be willingness to help in addea to the committe.

THE BATH MEETING, 1966

7. Now to summarise the events at Bath. The committee's report referred to changes at Guilaford and to inevitable increases in charges which would cause further financial anxiety. They indicated, however, that they had decided not to raise the price of the paper during 1966, except perhaps that any increase in postage might have to be passed on to new postal subscribers. The convener Qave further information about increased costs; pointed sut that the committee had agreed changes in investment policy giving an increased income; said that the circulation was about 5.600 , which was an increase of $120-130$ over the year betore; and announced that by the judicious operating of funds by his predecessor the "R.W." account was in a good position. The Sianding Committee recommended the adoption of the report and accoluts and the addition of Mr. D. A. Bayles to the committee.

Mr. G. W. Pipe was concerned with the non-financial side of the matier. He was confident that the number of subscribers could be doubled. He had ewenty suggestions and criticisms to ask the "R.W." Committee to consider. Mr. D. Beresford wanted a new committee with original ideas, so that they could expect the "R.W." to adopi a forward locking attitude. The Rev. J. Scott couldn't find the "R.W." on a station bookstall and supported the previous speakers. Mr. Chaddock asked the committee not to worry about financial loss. even if it amounted to a thousand pounds or two, if it would increase the sales! He suggested that the Editor did not receive sufficiently good contributions (literary, presumably, not financial). Another member suggested paying for contributions.
4. Mr. White, the Editor, said he had not seen Mr. Pipe's twenty suggestions, but every one of those Mr. Pipe had sent in some time ago had been previously thought of and considered by the committee. After referring to the essential contents of the paper, he told the Council that brightening the paper could not double the circulation. There was great difficulty in bolding the circulation.
10. After further discussion. Mr. R. S. Anderson reminded the Council that when the price was raised from 6 d . to 8 d ., the circula tion dropped from 6,000 to 5,000 . When suggestions for a new front page design were abtained they were rejected by the Exercise. the difference in cost between a 16 page and a 24 page issue was $£ 50$-i.e., $£ 2.600$ a year The 1966 surplus was $\mathbf{E 1 , 0 4 7 \text { . which included }}$ £268 from investments and $£ 676$ from donations. Mr. Smallwood feared it would be easy to dispose of the balance built up by much hard work. The solution was increased circulation first-then the news could be spread over a bigger and brighter paper.
11. Considerable discussion ensued over the possibility of forming an "ad hoc" committee in examine the position of the "R.W.", but after the lunch adiournment helplul speeches by Mr. Speed and Mr. Lufkin were against such a committee, but sought an opportunity to vote sor a new "R.W." Committee individually, to obtain new members with new ideas. A notable contribution was Mrs. Staniforth's "let's all be for the 'R.W." and not against it." Finally the "ad hoe" committee suggestion was defeated overwhelmingly: ten names were proposed individually for a committee of six members: and on a ballot three of the existing committee were re-elected. and Messrs. Hisyles, Beresford and Pipe were appointed new members.
12. Ithe front page article of "R.W." of unc 17th. 1966. summed up the salient features of the debate admirably-to avoid repetition we quote merely some phrases from
"The Standing Committee were satisfied with the report and the competence of the committee and wanted them 10 carry on witt the addition of Mr. D. A. Bayles.
"It soon became evident... that the critics were organised."
"None of the critics attempted to define what they meant by a brighter newspaper."
"Above all we must endeavour to keep the present price stable. An increase to one shilling could mean a drop of one thousand in circulation,"

THE NEW COMMITTEE

13. It was clearly desirable in the circumstances outlined above that the new committee, elected on May 31st, should meet as soon as possible and attempts were made to find a suitable date. July 30 hh was reserved for a meeting, but owing to the mabihty of two of the new members to attend, this was cancelled and it did not in the end prove possible to arrange a meeting until October 8th. One possible advantage of this delay, however, could have been tha: any new proposals for consideration could have been circulated before the meeting.
14. Meanwhile on June 26th Messrs. Beres ford and Pipe addressed a letter to the convener, the key-points of which are quoted or summarsed below
(a) "If we are now, able to take some bold imaginative steps.
(b) "We are of the opinion that it is now sufficiently financially stable to develop it in size and content."
(c) Could the first meeting of the committee be spread over two days, so that the "new boys" could put themselves in the picture?
(d) We feel our proposals can be considered under the following headings:
15. What is likely to be the financial result for 1966 ?
16. What are the magnitude of the increased cost factors forecast for 1967 ?
17. ... What is the circulation required to support a 24 page ${ }^{-}$R.W." weekly, once a fortnight or once a month?
18. How are the administrative costs increased as circulation rises?
(e) On the answers to these questions depends the practicability of planning an esiensive sales development programme on which, with an improved paper with more space devoted to the many aspects of ringing, we might hope to achieve a higher circulation.
(f) We feel a minimum 24 page paper weekly is essential.

Most of these very laudable sentiments and our comments on them will be found later. It was clear that any firm ideas needed thought and expert advice before a meeting could make firm decisions. It may, therefore, suftice at this stage merely to comment on
(b) The opinion that the "R.W." is financially stable prejudges the consideration asked for under (d).

A development in size and content depends on many other things as well as finance.
(c) We have seen above (para. 13) the fate of shis suggested swo day meeting. (d) It has always been normal practice for the "R.W." Committee to consider able balance could hardly have been built up otherwise.
16. On September 20th (three weeks before the date of the committee meeting) the convener was "still pressing for suggestions." On September 29th the convener circulated copies of a letter (17-9-66) which Mr. Pipe had sent to the Editor (and to the committee) with a "mock-up" of a 24 page issue, designed to be the basis "to achieve a new look as far as the cover is concerned, regular features and contents on a family journal pattern, wide scope for advertising and something for verybody." The letter admitted that "so mech of all this centres round cost. It may be that these suggestions are just out of the question." But it did not say how all these extra pages, every week, were to be filled, ither by whom or how the present limited staff and oflice facilities could cope, even if the cost could be mer. One proposal was for an already very busy clerical member of the Council to write a half page every fortnight!
(Continuedspierleaf)
17. Un the Thutsday/Friday before Saturday. October 8th, the members of the committee received a seven page foolscap document, photocopied and not completely legible. fosted late on October Sth, unsigned and undated mercly headed "Io all members of the 'R.W.' Committee." It dealt mainly with financial matters. We will call this Document financial matters. We will call this Document
A. At about the same time appeared another document of six foolscap pages, also unsigned and undated headed "Scope and Content." (Document B) 18.

These two documents apparently form the 13 pages of suggestions, etc., referred to in subsequent debate and we propose, therefote. to quote from them fairly fully, each quoration to be followed by comment, where appropriste.

DOCLIMENT A

19. (i) Quose: "To satisfy the various needs of sll sectors of singing we believe a weekly 24 page paper should be the objective." Comment : Apart from the cost, the existing staff could not cope with 24 pages every week, even if the manlerial to fill those pages was available.
(ii) Quore: "The cover-we would propose the adoption of a heavier paper for the ourside cover... in enable good reproduction of a photograph. Problems we edvisaged were-
(a) Cos: of two-colour printing if desirable. (b) Problem of folding-will is spoil the quality of the photograph? (c) Cost of paper. (d) Cost of blocks and photographs.
Answers provided by the Editor to the fint three points are: (a) $£ 1$ per 100 copies additional cost. (b) No problems for 30 lb , weight paper. (c) £50.

The additional coar (of a weelily 24 page paper with beavier weight cover) would be of the order of $£$ IS a week; with no beavier Weight cover $£ 50$ a week. .
In summary we would recommend.
Ist choice-A 24 page paper with heavier

weight cover

Ind choice-A 24 nage paper wish uniform paper throughout.
"We would strongly urge bold choice" of the first chojes recommended above.
Comment: This is a tirm recommendation from two very new members that the Exercise should commit itself to spending $\mathbf{E 7 5}$ more a week ( $£ 4,000$ a year). The surplus for 1965 was only just over $£ 1,000$. This to produce an enlarged paper with no assurance that is could be filled it does not allow for additional staff or for adequate office space. The additional cost could well be some $£ 6.000$ a yeat. Increased size and weight might mean increased postage.
(iii) Quote: "The cover phorograph.-The appearance of the cover is of tremendous importance in presenting an attractive paper. . The cast of the block would be $\mathfrak{E 2}$ and we fee that many of the. Associations would respond 10 an appeal...
Comment: Attractive covers are being produced as often us cost will allow. The desirability of this has always been recognised (see paragraph 4 above). The committee agree only too readily that it latest attempt was given a wonderful send off by the picture of "Mancroft," obtained by Mr. Pipe himself.
(jv) Quote: "Organisation.- It is recognised that expansion of the paper to one of 24 pages weekly would entail wonsiderable increase in the work required of the Editor io soliciting aricles.
Comment: It would require far more work for the Editor than asking for articles. He (v) Oumte: "ult is ther
(v) Quote: "ht is therefore proposed that members of the 'R.W.' Committee should play a more active role... and that responsibilaty for certain sections should be assumed by vatious committee members.

Comment 8 This is not new. Members of the committee have always made themselves iesponsible for series of articles and have always encouraged others to do so. But to obbain articles of the length and at the rate suggested later is another matter entirely, especially as we can't aecessarily aford them.
(vi) Unote: "We feel strongly that some financial recompense should be offered to those who spend... time writing the feature articles for the paper. In the proposed paper we have two features weekly-one general, one technical... we anticipate requiring . . 80-90 of these per year ... these articles should be commissioned for a particular date and a fee should be paid .. We propose a figure of £3 los. for a full page article."

Comment: The layout suggested in Document B (see paragraph 20) suggests a feature article on puge 3 : a beginners' corner on page ? the half puge a fortnight suggested in para. 16 above; a page of cull change news and articles about this aspect of ringing; and a page for a rechnical feature. This makes at least 156 pages of articles a year. Cost of payment over $$ 501$. The number of people who have the ability and ate willing to devore the time necessary 10 write worthwhile articles for the "R.W." is extremely limited. They write them because of their strong desire to nelp the "R.W." or because they feel strongly about something. The likelihood that payment would produce worthwhile articles from others, in the quantity indicated and at fixed dates. is temote. What happens to those contributors who are not offered payment? Who makes the invidious choice? Who does the necessary tax carrespondence?
(vii) Quote: FINANCE. A paragtaph of Document A was devoted io a reexamination of the policy of persuading people to take the "R.W." by post and figures were produced suggesting that the income per copy from pastal subscribers was very little more than that for newsagent subscribers.
Comment: Postal copies are needed for many subscribers.
(viii) Quote: Increased costs for 24 page paper in 1967. Figures were yiven indicating an annual inctease in cost of $£ 4.855$ in the case recommended earlier as first choice. Against this it was extimated that $£ 500-11.000$ should be obtained from advertising-more space should be sold. It is clammed that "an increase of 3d. a week would amply cover the most favnured case und give an extess income of $£ 300$ a year.
Comment: Once again if will be noted that no increased cost for staff or oftice facilities is included. It is not sbown how a paper with the limited technical appeal and limited circulation of the "R.W." can increase udverising revenue in the manner indicated. An increase of 3 d a week is estimated by the Editor to produce, say, 220 a weck to the would not get the whole of the 3 d . and thete nould inevitably be a drop in circulation. as experience has shown. The only acceptable justification for an increase in price would be the danger of ccissation of publucatoon for lack of funds.
Comment: If the commirree, by maintaining the present price and by the alterations it has made and is making in the "R.W." to date, can continue the present gradual increase in circulation, this will be more useful than setting imaginary targets that may or may not be met. Tatgers can be limiting ws well as stimulating!

Comment: There is nothing. except the work involved to stop any Association doing this now so long as the copies so sold are additional copies and the scheme does not mean that a full paying subscriber ceases to pay full price.

Comment: 11 took until March, 1967, to launch the census (by the proposer of is).

To fix a definite date for a "new" paper. with all the considerations referred to above and also dealt with in paragraph 20, before the new committee had even met, let alone considered the matter, seems premarure.
Any offer, by Mr. X or anyone else, to help with advertisements would of course be welcomed-it should not need an invitation.

DOCUMENT B

SCOPE AND CONTENT

20. (i) Quote: "We have assumed as a basic exercise a weekly issue of 24 pages at normal."
Comment: A rash assumption. See paragraphs 14. 16 and 19 (ii) above.
(ii) Quote: "We then envisage the inside pages running to a fairly regular pattern west byeek."
Comment: They do now and always have done. This is normal for any newspaper.

colour: new-look designs; colour; new-look designs; photographsAssociations to donate; responsibility for title page to be on one member of the committee.

Comment: Most of these poiats are covered earlier. The Editor must be responsible for day to day working under the policy direction of the whole committe. The committee cannot act as six individuals, each responsible for his own little job. What bappens if be resigns unexpectedly?
(iv) Quote: Page 2. Full details of the journal, subscription rates, etc. This week's contents, and a "crisp, pithy, pertinens editorial comment." This then dispenses with formalities and "the remainder of she magazine unfolds into a meaty, ซell organised document.
Comments The "R.W." is a aewspaper. The Editor may not always have a "crisp. pithy, pertinent: comment to make.
iv) Quote: Page 3. Features. An article about one of the aspects of bell ringing. Examples are given. 23 aames are given of people who could write these ardicles.
Comment: Some of those named already do more than their shate; others write occasionally when they feel strongly about something. If they could each find time and were willing (John Betjeman was one aamel) to Write two a year, that would not eveo suffice ror one year.
(vi) Quote: Page 4. Meetings. Small coverage at present.
Comment: Unless Associetion officers send in readable accounts of meetings they cannot be published.
(vii) Quote: Page 5. Letters. "One would assume that with a livelier magazine the quantity and quality of the letters will be proportionately larger-calling for perhaps a further half page.'
Cumment: Experience suggests that the quantity of letters varies in inverse proportion to their quality. An acrimonious correspondence seems to be the only kind that does not fizzle out quickly. All Editors want to receive good, helpful letters-they can be the most interesting past of any newspaper, but so far a regular page full of printable lesters is the exception.
(vin) Quote: Page 6. Letters and outings. Comment: See above for letters. Outings will not fill a page in the winter.
(ix) Quote: Yuge 7. Beginners' Course. "It is recognised that sufficient material for a whole page every week would be hard to achieve, but ...they must have tbeir page. Any short fall of copy could allow the space to be usilsed for outinss, meetings. letters.
Comment: He have already noted that letters and outinys are unlikely to need exira space. Some of the committee consider that heginners are unlikely to be induced to pay 9d. each week in the hope of getting a short article useful to them, when for 1 s . or 2 s . they can buy the appropriate booklets. Other members of the committee have writien many articles for beginners and know that 52 pagea a year, every year, is very difficuls, if not impossible.
(x) Qrote: Page 8, Quarters, "A glighily modified layout is desirable to relieve the monotony of a mass of small print.'

Comment: This would cont more and use more space for the sake of using it.

(b) Alternating with any other readers observations of matiens of interest.
(c) Merits or otherwise of various compositions."
Comment: $O n$ (a)-Canon " $X$ " is a very busy man, who does a fairly regular annual ar biennial article. We must not assume he san spare more time.
On (b), surely this would be letters-already amply catered for.
On (c)-But see auggeation for page 16 (see quote ( $x y$ ) below).
(xii) Quote: Page 10. (xii) Quote: Pages 11-14. Peals. Central fout pages, as being easy to find. "More thought needs to be jiven to layout."
Commeat: Wherber the peals go at she front (as formerly), in the second half (as now) or in the middle doesn't seem to the committe particularly relevant to tho success of tae paper. As to format-the number of chanses in the last few years-made for economie reasons and never immediately acceptable-is evidence of much thought by the commistec.
(xiv) Quotes Page 15. Call change news. - Another key position in the contenss. It is our belief that an untapped subscriber poten: tial ot $500-1,000$ readers presents itself here." Suggestions made for various articles by certain alresdy busy people. "Ample opporunity for photographs." "It is again accepted that cal change news may well not run to a full or even half page every week. Then the aveilable space may be given to other miscellaneous items."

Comment. There is no evidence for the assertion that up to 1.000 new subscribers are likely from call change ringers. The recent census a3ve 45 people out of 1,376 who were call change ringers only, and this is the only avallable figure. Fifty-two pages a year, every year, of notes and articles about call change ringers is clearly not fessible, even if the writers were available. Ample photographs will cost still more money. Half pages left over will not be needed for other items already overcatered for.

GENERAL COMMENTS ON dOCUMENTS A & B

21. It will be seen that Messrs. Beresford and Pipe, before even having attended a commutree meeting and with no experience of the practicalities or the practicabilities involved, had suggested a "new papet" to stast on a specitied date. This new paper would cost an additional $\$ 4,000$ y yar over the expected increased costs for 1967; plus, say, £2,000 year for extra stafl and accommodation plus, say, a minimum of $\pm 500$ a year to pay lor articles; plus a more expensive layout for quarter peals; plus the cost of illustrations and photographs for Belfry Cossip and for call hange ringers.
Io oftiset these costs we are advised that we can get $\pm 500-£ 1,000$ additional revenue from advertising though we are not lold how): plus the whole of an increase of 3 d . a week in the price of the "R.W."
22. As we have shown, both these figures of addinonal revenue are suspect.
The Editor's estimate of the produce of 3d. increase, allowing for drop in citculation, 4 about 120 a week. The committee now have assets of about 210,000 -one year's operation on the new scale suggested would male that look silly!
23. Looking quickly at the suggested pagination we see that we bave to find every week (and perhaps pay for) full page cover photograph: material for feature articles, beginners' articles, compositions. call changes and ecitorial amounting to $5 \frac{1}{2}$ pages a week, as well is filling up any over provision of space for gossip, miscellancous, obituariss, advertisements, etc. It must be realised that every article submitted is not suitable for publication (at least one member of the "R.W." Committee has written unpublished articles), so an even larger number of articles would be needed. In a bad week one could envisage a number of blank spaces in a 24 page paper.

THE FIRST COMMITTEE  MEETING

24. The foregoing was, therefore, the position when the commitiee met at Derby on October 8th. 1966. At the outset a senior member of the committee was very outspoken about the action of Messrs. Beresford and Pipe in leading an agitation against the committee before the Council meeting at Bath (see paragraph 7, et seq.) and at what he considered was the underhand way this was done. He also objected strongly to receiving pages of barely legible suggestions the day before the meeting (after wating many months) and being expected to consider them properly in the committee that day. After about ten minutes Mr. Pipe walked out of the mesting.
in spite of entreaties from the convener and other members of the committee to remain ather members of the committee to remain He did aot return.
25. As can be imagined it rook the welcome lunch break to reduce the ension in the commitree, after which much useful discussion took place. Mr. Beresford explained his and Mr. Yipe's suggestions; he was given appropriate replies by other members. and the Editor, and the committee agreed on certain changes which they considered they could now afford. A further meeting was arranged for January 28th, 1967, and the hope was ex. presised that Mr. Pipe would be able to attend. (NOTE. $\rightarrow$ The "R.W." issues subsequear 10 the committer meering are evidence of some of the decisions then taken. See paragraph 41 below.)
26. We have been told repeatedly that the Exercise has been keps in the dark about the work of the committee and what happened! We would, therefore, draw attention to the Editorial on October 21st. 1966. which dealt with the meeting of October 8th. To save members of the Council the trouble ot look. ing this up, we quote fully from the article headed "Planning for the Future":-

The democratically elected committee entrusted by the Central Council to produce 4 brighter and better "R.W." met... having had more tha'נ three months to assimilate the o maions of the Exercise and to submit new ideas for improvements.
"1 wo days before the committee met the members received a 12 page (sic) lyped docu= ment, setting out the scope and contents of the journal and the financial obligations involved. This had been prepared by Messrs. D. Beresford and G. W. Pipe. There were also cover designs and mock make-up for the committee's consideration.
-Many of the points raised... had been considered by the committee previously Mr. R. S. Anderson extended the fullest cooperation, sympathetically considering the noints raised by Mr. Beresford and answering if passible the questions submitted.
"The first point ... the title block. .. There was a general opinion that the time had come for a change.... The choice was a clear. clean-cut design of Mr. Pipe's... ihis the Editor considered could be appropriately a lapied.

Finance was involved in the next step. The two aliernatives were a 24 page issue at regular intervals, and a tinted covet with a picture... on the front page and 16 pages inside. Both issues would cost. . ybout 250 more than the present... 16 page paper.
-The question of the quality of paper used came under very close scrutiny.

The Editor was instructed to produce a tinted paper issue... in December. The committee empowered the Editor $t 0$ produce up to twenty 24 -page issues during 1967, pro vided the material available was suitable "To meet demand, it was suggested that Associations should select an appropriate persorality for a picture and biography, and also submit an appropriate picture for a also submit an appt
'It was felt that the Bellfounders' page and Gossip could be enlarged if there were live correspondents and a readiness on the part of readers to send information to the Editor
"With more space available a great range of special articles will be required. A oe regular features. We also hope that call change ringers . . . Will have their inserest. istorical sade of our art is required in the historical side of our art is required
"The sale of the paper can only successfully be stimulated locally and much depends on local officials. There is a genuine desire on the part of the committee to keep the selling price of the journal as at present.
"Sales revenue will never be enough to finance journals like the 'R.W. ... we are now reaping a little from the prudence in the past ... The 'R.W.'. $\cdot$. is planning to spend very much more on larger papers. contident that such is the family spirit of the Exercire that it will not be let down.
27. These extracts indicate that the Editor Eave the Exercise a very full account of the committee's meeting. It would have been wrong for him to mention at that date that one new member (it was hoped only temporarily) had taken umbrage and walked out. The value of a committee is in its decisions, taken after full discussion: not in the idiosyncrasies of its individual members. No committee chairman would have his members' confidence if be advertised the dis. agreements among them.

"RINGING WORLD" COMMITTEE MEETING, JANUARY 28th, 1967

28. As agreed at the October meeting, the committee met again at Derby on January 28th-as hoped there was a full attendance. The anditors' estimate of the 1966 surplus was considered, as were proposals of Seven Corners Press, Lid., for increases in printing charges. It was agreed that the committee would try to negotiate reductions, but that if this was not possible the new terms would have to be accepted.

It was agreed to obtain the views of readers by a questionnaire and Mr. Beresford's offer to anasyse the results and present them to the next meeting was accepted. "It was resolved that Messrs. Beresford and Pipe prepare and circulate to the committee a draft form for examination and approval prior to its insertion in "R.W.": Among other matters discussed were various wavs of improving circulation and the likely effect of any price increases. Some st least of the committee considered the journey and time spent worth while.

THE CENSUS

29. As agreed on January 28th, the Editor. on March 10th, 1967, announced the proposed issue on March 17th of census forms and at the same time gave further financial information. To quote :-
"a questionnaire to our readers. which is the brain child of two members of the comis an attempt to analyse the 'R.W.'s' family: to find out what the readers desire for the journal and how they would prefer the space available to be utilised."
"The desire behind the questionnaire is to ascertain how to fashion the 'R.W.' so that a bis sales drive can be attempted. This does nor mean embarking on extravagant ideas.
30. As indicated in paragraph 28 above, the draft questionnaire was circulated to the committee for approval, but was not received until March 9th, only just before zero hour for going to press. Nevertheless frantic efforts by some of the committee, helped by the Editor, managed to make a few improvements. It is extremely difficuls to frame questions which do not lead the reader to an answer you hope for. For example, part of question 12 said that part of an increased price of 3d. a week must occur, whereas the committee had firmly set its face against an increase, unless one was proved inevitable later. In its original form question 8 said "Are you a call change ringer?" Ninety-nine per cent of ringers would have had to answer "Sometimes" or "Often." The last minute addition of the word "only" made it possible to reply "Yes" word "only" made it possible to rep or "No," giving useful information.

"RINGING WORLD" COMMITTEE MEETING, APRIL 29th, 1967

31. As previously arranged, a further meeting, attended by all the committee, was held on April 29th, to consider primarily the draft annual report and the accounts for 1966, and the repert on the census. The draft report was amended and agreed, and Mr. Beresford gave a verbal summary of the results of the census and was thanked for bis work. He agreed to prepare a comprehensive report on the replies for examination at the next meeting. fxed for July 22nd, 1967.

NOTTINGHAM, 1967

32. The position, when the Central Council met at Nottingham, has been outlined above. The committee's report (as printed in "R.W." June 16th, 1967, page 407) was in the hands of members. It might not have been unreasonable to assume, in view of the time given to the subject at Bath, only twelve months before, the fact that the new committee had only been in existence for 12 months and in the year under review (1966) had met only once, that the Council would have wished to devote its time to other matters. But it was not to be.
33. Just before the Standing Committee meeting the evening before. the Council's secretary was handed separate letters from Messrs. Beresford and Pipe. Each of the letters (of clearly premeditated resignation from the committee) ended by saying that business commitments rendered it difficult to give the time to the work of the committee. Neither of the resigned members mentioned this reason in his speech to the Council. (See "R.W." in his speech to the Counci
June $16 \mathrm{th}, 1967$, for report.)
34. The Editorial of "R.W." June 9th, 1967. referred bricfly to the resignations and a very full account of the debate was given on June 16th. In addition, on page 406, the Editor gave "The Background to the Debate." The two issues of "R.W". gave such a full and fair report of proceedings and the events leading up to them that it does not seem necessary to lengthen this paper by quoting. They refute most emphatically suggestions that bave continued since the Council meeting that the Exercise has not been told the full story.
35. A week before the next committee meeting Mr. Beresford was good enough to send to each member of the committee a photocopied MS. giving a full summary of the replies to the census. A typed copy was promised to follow, but has not.
36. On July 19th. Mr. Pipe wrote at length to each member of the committee repeating many of the points made in Documents $A$ and B, basing his remarks this time on the census returns and telling the committee what they should do. "We would reiterate bow essential it is for the "R.W." Committee to..." etc. "Each member shonld..." etc.

"RINGING WORLD" COMMITTEE  MEETING, JULY 22nd, 1967

37. To bring this long story up 10 date,

 the committee met again at Derby on July 22nd as arranged, the main reason being to consider a full report on the census. Messrs. Beresford and Pipe, who were members when the date was fixed, were invited to answer any questions which might arise on the report they had agreed to present. In the event, both of them had other engagements that day. After a very full discussion of the summarised replies the committee authorised the Editor to report in the "R.W." on the most interesting details. (See August 4th, page 551.) The Editor expressed, at the committee's request. their public thanks to Messrs. Beresford and Pipe for the work done. The committee also supported the convener in his decision that from September to Christmas, 1967, 20-page cover issues of the "R.W." should be printed weekly.38 . This last decision was announced by the Editor in the "R.W." of August 4th, and on August 11th in a review entitled "The Next Step" the Editor dealt with the foregoing decision and with the latest views of Messrs. Beresford and Pipe. He went fully into costs and work involved in various proposals.
39. Our quotations and references in the foregoing paragraphs to statements in the the suggestions that members of the Council or other readers of the "R.W." are not told of the committee's proposals or intentions. We are content to conclude this very long account with a statement of the changes made in the "R.W." over recent months.

A LOOK AT THE "RINGING  WORLD" SINCE BATH  WHAT HAS THE "RINGING WORLD" DONE?

40. It must be emphasised that, for mechanical reasons, the "R.W." must contain 16 or 24 normal pages (multiples of eight). It is possible, when it can be afforded, to add a special cover (coloured or otherwise), giving another four pages. A 16 page issue can therefore be turned into a 20 page issue for about the same cost as a plain 24 page issue. Hitherto, the normal practice had been to have a 16 page issue, with an occasional 24 pages when the amount of news justified it. For example, a 24 page issue was necessary on June 17th, 1966, to cover Central Council news.
41. Let us see what the effect of the new committee and its decisions of October 8th (and subsequently) have been:-

1966

280 ct . 24 pages, including 1 page of compositions.
4 Nov. New heading to normal 16 page issues.
9 Dec. Special coloured cover (Mancroft), plus 16 inside pages-including half page special advert and 1 page for a crossword and "party games."
16 Dec. Normal 16 pages with special advert. 23 Dec. Ditto. 30 Dec. Ditto

3 Feb. Coloured cover, plus 16 pages-balf page cartoons and special advert.
24 Feb. Coloured cover, plus 16 pages-including 1 page of compositions. Coloured cover, plus 16 pages-in-
14 Apr. Coloured cover, plus 16 pages-including half page crossword, 1 page quiz and 6 additional illustrations.
5 May Coloured cover, plus 16 pages.
12 May Ditto.
26 May Ditto.
16 June 24 pages. Picture on front.
28 July Coloured cover, plus 16 pages.
18 Aug. 16 pages, with front page picture.
From September until Christmas each issue will be 20 pages, including a coloured cover, as indicated in paragraph 37 above.
42. We consider this record of achievement speaks for itself-the advent of three new members on the committee (two unforsunately for such a short time), the financial situation and the full co-operation of the Editor have made this possible. This is being written in August, 1967, but we are hopeful that the gradual increase in circulation since the last price increase will be maintained, thus justifying the work and faith of the committee and their staff.
43. In apologising for the length of this document, we point out that, like all members of the Council who are chosen to serve on the various committees, we too are busy people, who are only too happy to volunteer our time and services for the good of the Exercise. Jerhaps immodestly, however, we consider that our work is more onerous than that of some other committees of the Council but that the future prospects of the Exercise depend more upon the regular appearance of the "R.W" than on any other single factor.
44. In the leading article in the Golden Jubilee number Mr. Frederick Sharpe wrote:-

The 'R.W.' is a specialist paper ...this creates problems not encountered in the ordinary course of journalism... one of the most difficult things is to keep a true balance to suit the majority and yet to meet the needs of all... within the available financial resources

We are not likely to receive an attractive take-over bid from a national newspaper. . We need greater support A much greater circulation would make possible the publication of more technical articles and reports and our journal would have a much wider appeal in consequence."
45. These statements are as relevant today. As instructed, we have set out above the measures we have taken and some plans we have made. Other plans depend entirely upon our readers. The active support of the Council and the Exercise, shown by an increased circulation and a readiness to contribute news and articles of interest, will enable the "R.W." to meet the needs of the Exercise and be ample reward for our efforts.
August, 1967.

Letters to the Editor

THE RATIO OF PEALS AT DAVENTRY
Dear Sir, - How often we hear people talk of "peal ringers" and "service ringers" as if they were entirely separate groups. Usually there is the implication that peal ringers are a selfish breed of heathen experts with no time for the saintly service ringers.

I think it is high time the peal ringers defended themselves, and I would suggest that a more accurate description of the two groups would be competent and incompetent : Naturally there are exceptions to this but I am quite certain it is a more realistic division than that inspired by "sour grapes." So let us forget the old division and concentrate on getting rid of incompetence.
I am well aware that some people like to think that the peals rung in some popular towers constitute a very large part of the total ringing done. That this is not always so is shown by the analysis of ringing at Daventry in 1967. Seven of our own band took part in the peals and five others in quarter peals.

LAMINATED DOUBLES

Dear Sir,-Re Mr. R. K. Williams' letter in the May 24th issue of "The Ringing World," I cannot help wondering why he seeks names for these variations. If his letter is correct in what was rung, extents $\mathbf{B}, \mathbf{C}, \mathrm{D}$. $F$ and $G$ just contain two types of single and would therefore be better described as laminated (method clianges occur in effect at the half-lead and so cannot be called spliced). Extent B would better be described as mixed Royston and St. David. Doubles variation ringing contains enough scope without having to resort to the use of frivolous calls. -Yours faithfully,

GEORGE A. DAWSON.
West Norwood, S.E.

A WORTHY OR A SELF-RIGHTEOUS

 LIST?Dear Sir,-Ringers' attendance at church is entirely a matter of conscience, and that those who may have measured up to Miss Horsford's requirements should advertise the fact in "The Ringing World " must surely be the most impudent suggestion which has ever been mooted in your columns.-Yours faithfully.
R. H. DOVE.

BIRMINGHAM PEAL RINGERS AND SUNDAY SERVICE
Dear Sir,-It is sad that Mrs. Ainsworth should have been upset enough to reply to the rubbish contained in Mr. Roberts' letter, and 1 am concerned that this type of un-called-for publicity may make some inexperienced ringers coming to Birmingham a little apprehensive.
1 also learned to change-ring in Yorkshire, and along with five other call change ringers managed a 720 of Minor, thanks to Jarvis Close. Since coming to Birmingham two and a half years ago 1 have progressed further and ring at three local churches regularly. I do not ring peals at St. Martin's or the Cathedral.

Please believe me when I say that many people may gain the wrong impression that the peal ringers do not ring locally and help learners, and I would like to remark on a few of the silly beggars who prance about Edgbaston Church, as Mr. Roberts so childishly puts it. Below are some of the ringers in the peal of Glasgow :-
George Fearn went out of his way to belp me ring my first peal of Grandsire Triples. Directly under the record peal of Stedman Cinques in "The Ringing World" was another peal where two of the Cinques ringers, one of whom was John Anderson, were helping me ring my tirst peal of Plain Bob Major. Clifford Barron is better known to me as Ringing Master at Harborne and Edgbaston, where he and other local ringers are helping my son 10 ring Grandsire Doubles. Clifford attends all Sunday service ringing regularly.

Roderick Pipe is another familiar name in peal ringing but I do not know him as a peal ringer; 1 only meet him at Sunday service ringing and practice at King's Norton
I would like to thank, on behalf of the local towers, Alan Ainsworth, who, on behalf of the St. Martin's Guild. invited all ringers at local churches to hold a practice at St. Martin's. These practices were well attended.
It is some of these ringers along with other locals who have helped me ring 20 quarter peals for Sunday service.

Grow up, Mr. Roberts-get your facts straight.-Yours faithfully,

ERIC SPENCE.

FALSE PEALS

Dear Sir,-Every Thursday morning when my copy of "The Ringing World" is pushed through my letter box a cold shiver goes down my spine, the reason being false peals. 1 open it carefully and think: ." Will I still have rung 25 peals or will I have rung in a talse peal somewhere?"

It must be very disappointing and disheartening for young ringers who take part in their first peal or first peal in the method only to find a fortnight later the composition which they rang was false. It is only due to the carelessness of the conductors and, let us face facts, there are a lot of careless conductors about at the present time, as hardly a week goes by without one, two or even three peals being withdrawn.

To my way of thinking, this situation is very frightening. so could not the conductors in the future check carefully the composition (with the composer, if necessary, if it has not been rung before)? In so doing this unnecessary disappointment will be avoided.-Yours sincerely,

Chislehurst, Kent.

ST. KATHARINE'S, MERSTHAM SURREY

THE Church of St. Katharine, Merstham, stands to the north of the village close to the main London-Brighton Road. On Sunday mornings in the summer the efforts of the young band of ringers are all but drowned by the steady dronc of traffic heading towards the coast. But in winter, walkers on the North Downs, following the old paths that were used in the Stone Ages, can hear well the ring of eight bells across the rolling countryside.

The church dates from the 13 th century and was established on a promontory above the marshy land about which Merstham lies. The Pilgrims' Way goes within feet of the South Door, and forms the main pathway from the road to the church. Fortunately escaping the effects of Victorian Restoration, St. Katharine's retains a simple yct well-balanced interior.

The bells are of mixed descent. The oldest bell is the five, and dates from 1380, being cast by William Barford of London; the six was cast by Robert Mot in 1597, and later two Eldridge bells were added, the tenor ( $13 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. in $F$ ) in 1640 and four in 1657. The old ring of five bells was completed in 1774 with the addition of the seven, a fine-toned bell cast by Pack and Chapman. An old board in the belfry records a peal of 720 changes of Doubles in 1827 consisting of six methods: Grandsire. Plain Bob, New London, Oxford, Stedman's Principle, and Crown Bob, conductor William Smith.

In 1901 Messrs. Mears and Stainbank rehung the old five and provided a new treble to make a ring of six. The old clappers were removed and mounted on some of the original belfry oak against the north wall of the church where they can be seen to this day. Lastly, in 1964, through the gifts of two parishioners the bells were rehung lower in this attractive shingled spire, and augmented to eight. Ringing now takes place on the ground floor, in full view of the congregation, who are evidently pleased and interested to see how it is done.

The youthful band that has been learning under the guidance of the tower captain, Alec Cheasley, and the late Alfred Bull, has been fortunate in receiving the regular assistance of surrounding ringers in furthering their knowledge of change ringing. It seems likely that the bells at St. Katharine's will continue to compete with the Sunday motorist for a long time to come.

THE LADIES' GUILD

The Eastern District had an encouraging meeting at St. Matthew's, Ipswich, on Mav 18 th , attended by 16 members and some gentlemen. A new committee was formed and seven new members elected. It was decided to have a half-day outing into Norfolk later in the year and a ladies only evening meeting at a suitable six-bell tower.
Following tea, the six-bell towers at Bramford and Sproughton were visited. J. L.

THE CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Memorial to the late John Worth

THE Annual Festival of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at Hoole on May 18th. Attendance was considerably better than last years poorly attended meeting at Maccicstield. During the morning ringing took place at a number of towers in and around Chester.

At 2 p.m. members assembled in the Church Hall ot All Saints', Hoole, for the business meeting. Before the formal proceedings contmencea, members stood for a minute's silence in memory of Peter Lallin and the work he had done for the Guild during the past 40 years. An apology for absence was reccived from the Bishop of Chester.

Mr. H. O. Baker then read correspondence he uad received, in particular from the Dean of Chester Cathedral, regarding the Cathedral bells appeal; it would appear that tollowing delays due to unforeseen problems things would be going ahead in the not too distant future.

The minutes of the last Annual Festival and the statement of accounts tor 1967 had been circulated to all who were present; both were adopted as presented. In presenting tbe annual report tor 1967 Mr. C. K. Lewis stated that we had lost through death in 1967 the following members: John Worth, Alfred Frost. Harry Parker, Albert Booth, Nicholas Collins and Harry Thomas. Suitable tributes were written of them in the report.

Membership at present stands at: Honorary members 11 , lite ringing members 22 , ringing members 633 , representing 87 towers. Compared with last year's ringing membership thts, is a drop of 16 members, but there are two more towers in union than last year, which is a pleasing feature.

Finance-Gencral Account balance $£ 772 \mathrm{~s}$. 7d. (£86 1s. 2d. last year). Bell Restoration Fund balance $£ 327$ 8s. 11d. ( $£ 29312 \mathrm{~s}$. Sd.). Chester Cathedral Bell Fund $£ 738$ 8s. 7d. ( $£ 681$ 10s.).

Performances.-The total of 174 peals rung in 1967 is nine fewer than the record number rung in 1966, but the statistics showed some pleasing trends. The complete analysis is as tollows: Total peals 174 (183 last year), 136 on tower bells (150) and 38 on handbelis (33). The people taking part in peals were as fotlows: 151 resident members ( 161 last year), 71 non-resident members (91), i.e. the reduction in peals was not due to a reduction in resident members taking part. There were 29 firstpealers ( 33 last year) and 68 rang a peal in a new method or methods (73). There were 38 conductors (42), three of whom conducted their first peal (3).

Peals of particular note were those rung for the 600th anniversary of Malpas Church and the first peal of Major by the local band at Marple. The first peal in 24 Surprise Maxjmus methods was rung for the Guild, and peals by members of the Guild were rung at Liverpool Cathedral and Inveraray. A Guild band rang four peals of Surprise Royal in one day at Loughborough Bell Foundry, three were for the Guild and one for the 21 st anniversary of the Leicester Diocesan Guild. On handbells, the first peals of Spliced Surprise Major and Royal had been rung in 1967 for the Guild, also the longest peal of Royal on handbells, 19,260 changes, which, incidentally. is the longest peal (in time) to be rung on handbells.

Mr. Alexander Martin was elected as Master of the Guild and then took the chair for the remainder of the meeting. Mr. Martin thanked the retiring Master, Mr. A. R. Eikins, for the excellent way in which be had handled the Guild's aflairs during his term of office and he hoped that he would be able to justify his election as Master.
The following officers were then elected: Secretary and treasurer, Mr. H. O. Baker; report secretary, Mr. C. K. Lewis; peal recorder, Mrs. C. K. Lewis; librarian, Mr. A. Whiting, auditor, Mr. S. Jones; Press reporter, Mr. R. B. Smith
The business then continued with a notice of motion for the next Annual Festival; that there would be a general revision of the rules with particular reference to Rule 5 (relating to the Executive) prior to reprinting the rules. A sub-committec had been appointed by the General Committee to undertake this work, but feeling from the floor was that Branch secretaries should be included in this subcommittee and this was finally agreed upon although some thought that the sub-committee would then be unwieldy.
A motion involving the selection of the Guild's Central Council representatives was debated and carried by the $2 / 3$ majority required for a change in a constitutional rule. The effect of this will be that the two representatives (other than the Master and the general secretary) will in future be elected at the Annual Festival instead of being nominated by each of the seven Branches in turn. Mr. Martin then seported that this year the annual dinner and dance will be held at the Coach and Horses at Moreton on October 12th and the cost would be 27s. 6d. The Annual Festival for 1969 will be held in the Grappenhall Branch, and Mr. M. Thompson announced that this would be centred at Lymm on May 10 th. The annual dinner-dance in 1969 will be held at the Mollington Banastre Hotel, Chester, and Mr. Baker has already booked the room.
There followed a short discussion regarding a permanent memorial to the late Master, Mr. John Worth. Mr. Martin said that one of the new bells in Chester Cathedral would be dedicated to his memory, but a more personal and permanent memorial would be a badge of office for the Master, bearing his name. MrMartin was given the general approval of the meeting to obtain designs and probable costs of such a badge. Proceedings concluded with a vote of thanks to all concerned with the arrangements for the festival.

The above proceedings were held in two sessions, the first before the service, and the second for a short time immediately after tea. The service at All Saints', Hoole, was conducted by the Viegr, the Rev. A. B. Martin. who also preached an interesting sermon. Tea followed the service and all were well catered for. Ringing at Hoole and various otber towers in the area continued from $5.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. onwards before ringers started to make their various ways bome after a busy but enjoyable day.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE RINGING COURSE

Following the apparent success of recent District meetings catering specially for ringers at the rounds and call change stage. it was felt by several Association members that learners in this category might benefit further from a more formal and intensive course on the "Lumley" basis. Accordingly, the Ringing Master was asked to investigate the possibilities and, if the demand warranted it, to promote a suitable programme. An initial inquiry showed that there was little or no interest in a full-day course at Lumley Castle, but a further suggestion for a half-day event proved sufficiently popular to make this proposition worthwhile and arrangements were put in hand for a course of this nature at Chester-le-Street Parish Church on April 20th.

Tuition was provided for in two separate streams-Class A for the round ringer wishing to study first steps in change ringing, and Class $\mathbf{B}$ for the ringer at the plain hunting stage seeking an understanding of elementary method ringing. In all, 36 students were registered for the course, with numbers fairly balanced between classes, and there was representation from 10 of our affiliated belfries.

The Ringing Master invited three of the Associations up-and-coming young men to act as tutors for the day. Jim Crowther, of Wbickham, undertook responsibility for Class A, while Rodney Yeates and Andrew Craddock, of St. George's, Jesmond, directed Class B. Assistance for practical belfry exercises and demonstrations was provided by volunteers from the "old brigade" of instructors.
As usual on these occasions, time was our great enemy and, in order to provide as much variety as possible for alternate classroom and tower instruction, each class was allotted eight 45 -minute sessions, four in the afternoon and four in the evening after tea. The close proximity of tower and church hall at ChesteroleSireet allowed transfer of classes to proceed smoothly.
Jim Crowther began in Class A with a visit to the tower for a sifting of students' bandling and striking abilities, and after pointing out a variety of faults proceeded with alternate practical and classroom exercises in the rudiments of change ringing from four to six bells. By the end of the day most students were attempting plain bunting with an understanding of purpose and in some cases with considerable success.

Rodncy Yeates introduced the first half of Class B with a theoretical session, demonstrating graphically the development of plaio hunting to Plain Bob Minimus and Doubles and the essence of rhythmic striking by holding up and cutting in. Belfry exercises in bunting and dodging then followed and further sessions in class and tower elaborated the principles for ringing Bob Doubles. After tea, the second half was directed by Andrew Craddock, who extended the studies to the pricking of Bob Minor together with the effect of bobs and singles. Further belfry exercises enabled students to gain experience in ringing the method.
In a full assembly at the conclusion of classes, the Ringing Master recorded acknowledgments 10 all who had contributed to the organisation of the course- the Rector of Chester-le-Street, who had placed all facilities a: our disposal: the ladies under Mrs. D. A. Bayles, who had provided the sumptuous tea: and all tutors and assistants who had given their time and experience.

BELFRY GOSSIP

IN BEAUTIFUL MONMOUTH

Above the almost deserted A.48, on a little hiltop. stands the Castle of Penhow, one of the few castles still inhabited! Tucked away behind this charming castle is the Church of St. John the Baptist, its hillside churchyard bathed on May 11th in sunshine and carpeted with buttercups and daisies.
To this delightful spot came many ringers for the Monmouth Branch meeting, with their friends, children and babies, all to enioy something-either the six sweet little bells, the spring sunstine, the friendship or the joys of making daisy chains ! Later, all gathered inside to fill the church for an inspiring service, taken by the Rector (the Rev. Francis Kear). Linda Weekes, a Penhow ringer, read the lesson, and her grandmother, Mrs. D. Weekes. played the organ.

Afterwards all packed the tiny Church Hall for tea: the register of attendance never dis get round and the throng seemed never static enough to count! so the number attending proved a mystery until one of the "tea ladies" said that 74 cups had been pur out and all were used! So, near that number tucked into an excellent tea.

The business was, luckily. brief, and the Rector a good chairman. One new member was elected from Penhow, five from Mathern and one from Monmouth. News was given of the dedication of the rehung bells at Grasmont on June 30 rh at $2.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. Trevethin was mentioned tor the next meetrig on July 11 th.

Ringing on the six hells continued under the direction of the Master (Mr. Richard Stewart) until late in the evening, when dusk fell and the little hilltop was left once more to the hleating of the sheep and their snow-white lambs.

BROMHAN AND GOLDINGTON OLTING

In recent years the ringers of Bromham and Goldington. Bedfordshire, thave joined forces and planned some very successful outings. and the one which took place on May 11th, jointly organised tv Jim Edwards and Derek Hammond, was certainly no exception.
First stop was at the charmingly situated church at Old Wolverton, where Mr. G. IF. Fales was waiting to welcome us; the six bells were much enioyed.
Next. Northamptonshire. and first the delightful eight at Wicken, where we were received bv Mr. G. E. Green. The bells are a ioy to ring. and Stedman Triples went with a smooth rhythm that made us want to stav longer than the scheduled hour, but a very enjoyable high tea en route to Nether Heyford took way the last pangs of remorse 1
The village of Nether Heyford possesses much "oldz worlde" charm. and we enjoyed the fine ring of six bells. 100. but were sorry to find that Mr. N. H. Collins was suffering from influenza, though his able deputy did a good job.
Finally came the magnificent recently-rehune six at Floore, where we were met by Mr. R. tonge. The hells leave no excuse for bad striking, and everything from rounds to London went with a majestic swing-even Single Coirt u is successful!

But ringers do not think of bells only, and heer. with fish and chips, at Northampton comnleted the programme!
Sincere thanks to incumhents. organisers and oll who helped to make this trip sucb an enjoyable one.

A MID-CORNWALL FESTIVAL

Nineteen tams, representing seven different towers or groups, took part in the spring Festival of the Mid-Cornwall Branch of the Truro Diocesan Guild at st. Columb Major on May 11 th. The judge, Mr. N. C. Manhire, of Roche, complimented the teams on their greauly-mproved standard, which excelled that of any Guild festival he had ever attended. There were three separate tests-round ringing ofit the stays, change ringing oft the stays, and a rise, changes and fall.
In afl, nine first-class, seven second-class and three third-class ceruticates were awarded. As might be expected, a team from the home tower, St. Columb Major, took the honour of having rung the best peal of the day, in the second rest, and Mr. Manhire awarded them a tirst-class certuficate "plus."

Those taking part, with results, were: St. Columb (three 1sts and two 2nds), Truro Branch (Cathedral, Kenwyn and St. Kea combined) (two 1sts and one 3rd). St. Austell (one 1st and one 3rd), Tywardreath (two 1sts and two 2nds), Bodmin (one 1st and one 2nd). Helston (one 2nd), Veryan (one 2nd and one 3rd). The timekeeper was Mr. H. Lander (St. Stephen's), the secretary of the Mid-Cornwall Branch, Mr. John Purdey (St. Austell) was the recorder, and the captain and secretary of the St. Columb tower (Messrs. Alan and Michael Rodlitle) made the arrangements.
The Rector of St. Columb (Canon A. Gordon Cooke) welcomed the visitors and conducted the Guild Office, which was sung by the Parish Church choir. The organist was Mr. C. E. Lanson, of Truro. a vice-president of the Guild. Mr. Alan Carveth, president of the Guild. together with the secretary, Mr. Anthony Davidson, and the Assistant Ringing Master, Mr. Anthony Lock, took part in the ringing.

CHESHIRE RHYMES

Two Cheshire bell rhymes of the last century are forwarded to us by Christopher J. Eden, of West Kirby.
F From faults observe you ringers well.
R Ring true and don't dare turn your bell.
O On each default by him that's made
D Down sixpence surely shall be paid.
S Swear not in this most sacred place
H Here come not but with aweful grace:
A And whoe'er rings with spur or hat
M Must sixpence pay or forfeit that.
D Dare not to come to this sacred place
A All you good ringers, but in aweful grace.
R Ring not with hat nor spurs. no insolence.
E Each one that does. for every such offence
S Shall forfeit hat or spurs or twelve dence.
B But who disturbs a peal. the same offender
U Unto the box his sixpence shall down tender.
R Rules such, no doubt in every church are used.
Y You and your bells, that may not be abused.

SCHOOLBOY PROMISE FLLFILLED

The Rev. O. J. Aisbitt. who has recently been inducted as Vicar of Cleckheaton, Yorks, went to school with Alan Ainsworth on Tyneside. Alan was then just starting on his ringing career and promised that when his friend got a churct with hells he (Alan) would ring a peal for him. The promise was fulfilled on May 19 th.

NORTHERN RINGERS GO NORTM

The Northern District of the Durham and Newcastle Association covers the whole of Northumberland, an area (ringing-wise) roughly triangular in shape bounded on the south by the River Tyne, up the coast from Tynemouth to Bamburgh, then across country to Allendale.

As with most Associations, an attempt is made to hold a District meeting at every ringable tower in the District, and the towers a: Embleton and Bamburgh were visited this year on May 4th. A bus was laid on and 34 ringers and friends joined it at Newcastle and had a most enjoyable run via Morpeth up the beautiful Northumbrian coast to Embleton. The delightful little church stands back from the road and the belfry is reached by a unique wrought iron spiral staircase. An hour was all the time we could spend here so the ropes changed hands quickly as everyone who wanted to had a pull.

Tea was waiting at Bamburgh, some seven miles further up the coast, so after a quick look at the Vicarage, part of which is an old Pele Tower, the bus filled again and half an hour later the meal was being enjoyed. After tea three young members of the local band escorted the visitors to St. Aidan's Church. overlooking the sea, where the bells, which were alreadv raised, were soon going, and the tone and "go" of the eight (tenor 14 cwt ) was much appreciated. There was a wide choice of ringing from rounds to Surprise Major.
Eight o'clock was the time scheduled for leaving: goodbyes were said. the last stragglers climbed on board and, just before getting under way, the chairman of the District thanked the secretary for organising the trip. An uneventful run back to Newcastle concluded a most successful outing.

ARCHBISHOP SIMON HONOURED BY SON

Previous to the start of the quarter peal at Llandaff Cathedral to mark the election of the Rt. Rev. Glyn Simon, Bishop of Llandaft, as Archbishop of Wales, Dr. Simon visited the ringing room, where his son, Nicholas $W$. H. Simon, was about to conduct the attempt. During his term of office as Dean of Llandaff the Archbishop was responsible for the rehanging of the Cathedral bells and encouraged the formation of a young local band. Undoubtedly this is the first occasion that a ringer has conducted a peal or quarter peal to mark his father's election as Archbishod.

BURGHCLERE DOUBLES

As a silver wedding compliment to Mr . and Mrs Stradling, of Burghclere, a peal of Burghclere Doubles was selected. This Doubles method was composed by Mr. David Pepworth. formerly of Burghclere. It is on the same principle as Ascension Doubles with the calls made after the treble has led. Botb have been rung in multi-method peals. but Ascension has yet to be rung to a full peal. although a quarter peal was rung by an all-Burghclere band on Ascension Day five years ago. conducted by the composer.
Three Burghclere ringers rang in Burghclere Doubles, Marion Gosling ringing her first peal exceptionally well.

Southern District's New Secretary

In succession to Mr. M. King, who had resigned, the Southern District at its annual general meeting at Dore on May 18 th, elected Mr. J. Seager to succeed him. Mr. T. Tarbutt was elected to the General Committee for three years and Mr. H. Mann for two years. Elected to the Southern District's committee were Messirs. G. Pilkington, R. Carter and R. J. Sanderson

The vice-president (Mr. M. R. Meadows) was supported by the president (Mr. V. Bottomley) in stating that practice meetings were only being suspended for a short time. They were being revised so that the benefit would be felt by the weak towers.

Ringing was at both Norton and Dore.
Next meeting: Shelley and neighbouring towers, August 17th.

OBITUARY

MR. PETER LAFLIN

 AppreciationsBy the death of Peter Laflin the Chester Guid has lost a faithful and efficient librarian, for he had cared for the Rev. A. I. Beeston's library from the time it was handed over by the Rev. A. T. Beeston, in 1932 until the middle of last year, when he suggested that Mr. A. E. Whiting understudy him with a view to taking charge.

Peter joined the Chester Guild in 1930 and took part in many first performances for the Guild on handbells with the band formed by the late Allen F. Bailey. A native of Sutiolk. he had formed a real attachment for his adopted county, and when he retired he continued to serve his church in even more ways than before. His Vicar, Canon Wiltrid Garlick, at the funeral service spoke of him as a true Christian who never spared himself in helping others. Until last Christmas he climbed the steps to the bells of St. George's and cared for them in a way that few steeplekeepers do, but he found coming down the stairs more and more difficult and so he resigned the office of steeplekeeper. Though he could not climb the tower he turned out to listen to the ringing for service and was impatient with members of the congregation who tried to engage him in conversation when he was in spirit with his friends in the tower.

His peal record will show the great variety of his ability and when in the immediate postwar years the, band at Norbury became interested in Spliced Surprise in many methods Peter's "broadsheets," which he produced for the seventn, were a source of amusement but nevertheless they were a demonstration of his innate thoroughness. With learners he was very popular, for although he could be severe he was never unkind and young ringers seemed to appreciate him. His work for the Beeston Library was enormous; not only did he keep the index of first peals up to date but he also made the cabinets to contain the records, dealt with requests for information and compiled the peal records of numerous individuals.

He was a mine of information on past ringing matters; he was sometimes amused by the interest shown in methods or ideas which were rediscovered after being buried for 40 or 50 years. The last time the writer spoke to him he commented on the increased use of irregular methods and the like, which he rightly said appeared many years ago. In the past he had known John Carter and had a shrewd appreciation of the genius of that great composer and his work. As a practical steeplekeeper his occasional letters to "The Ringing World "giving advice were always to the point and 1 believe he never had a broken rope at St. George's:

To those interested in the theoretical side of the art he was always helpful and though he claimed he knew little of this side he could aluays put his bands on the information one sought. The writer owes him a great deal for his kindness and patience over 30 years ago, when he helped him with his early investigations. We shall miss him, and the Church of St. George, Stockport, will miss him. The last tributes paid to him at his funeral service by his church were that he was escorted into church and from the church by the churchwardens and choir, and as the coffin was carried out a course of Grandsire Triples was rung at a moderate pace on handbells. At the service there were representatives of various, branches of parish life. for Peter had helped all and sundry, as well as representatives of the Chester Guild and Lancashire Association and the Ladies' Guild. Ringers from a very wide area were present to pay their last respects to an old and trusted friend.

Finally a memory which epitomises his life. As he took hold of the treble sally before the long peal of Bristol at Over in 1950 he said: Remember we ring this to the Glory of God.'

The repors of Peter Laflin's death is saddening, although 1 only met him once. This was at a ringing meeting at Christ Church, Macclesfield, about five years ago, when 1 was a nervous learner and had never seen ten bells in action before. His kindly encouragement did much to allay my anxiety, and when he left the belfry he shook my hand, saying it had been nice 10 meet me, and gave me a sweet. I still remember that meeting as being one of pleasant incidents in my ringing experience. It is no wonder that he was a beloved man.-Yours sincercly, Liverpool.

ELIZABETH TIMMINS.

MR. ALFRED L. RIMAN

The East Grinstead and District Guild has lost a founder member and friend by the death on May 14th of Alfred L. Ryman at the age of 78 .

When the Guild was formed, in June, 1927, Alf, as he was affectionately known to ringers in the District, was captain of the Hartfield, Sussex, band. He joined the Guild at its first meeting and was soon elected to serve on the committee. In 1936 he was elected chairman, which post he held throughout the difticult war years with the ban on ringing, until 1944. He then became auditor up to the time of his departure from Hartfield in 1950. He was then living in West Sussex but never lost his keen interes* in the progress of the Guild. and attended its meetings whenever it was possible for him to do so.

His peal total is not known but the writer had the pleasure of taking part in nine peals with him, including one rung by officers of the Guild to celebrate its coming of age.

On Wednesday evening, May 22nd, eight members of the East Grinstead and District Guild met at Coleman's Hatch and rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples to his memory. This was conducted by the preseat chairman, Mr, B. E. Jeffrey.

To his son John, who is tower captain at Coleman's Hatch, and his daughter Stella the members of the Guild extend their sincere sympathy.
E.J.L.

MR. JACK MAWDESLEY An Appreciation

Jack Mawdesley, of St. Peter's, Newton-leWillows, Lancashire, learned to ring at Coppull, in Lancashire, before the 1939 war. With the lifting of the ban on ringing Jack found himself in Newton-le-Willows and, with all the pre-war ringers at St. Peter's being engaged on active service, he was called upon to form and train a new band: I was fortunate to be one of the first, Within the space of a few months there was a sufficient number to man the bells for Sunday service. It was a great pride and joy to us all that we were able to ring for such memorable occasions as $V E$ and VJ diays.
Jack never became a prolific peal ringer (he rang about half a dozen) yet he always maintained an enthusiastic interest in ringing. Perhaps his greatest virtue was that he was prepared to encourage others to become much more proficient than himself-a quality that is often lacking in Ringing Masters.

His passing is mourned by his family and by his many ringing friends. Although he will be missed. the fact that he has passed on his shill to others will mean that the bells at St. Peter's will continue to ring in the way that he would have wished them to. G.A.H.

LATE NEWS

We regret to report the death, while on holiday in Spain, of Mr. Michael David Trigg (23), Ringing Master at St. Mary's, Hitchin. He was a former Master of Southampton University Guild.

APPROPRIATELY, the first tower visited when the Railwaymen's Guild visited the Liverpool area on April 27th was the Cathedral. John Ridyard, the Ringing Master, explained the outstanding features of the aweinspiring bells and building, and for many it was therr initial visit.
Jack Brown, who was responsible for the week-end arrangements, kindly placed a coach and mini-bus at the disposial of the party, and with railway promptness we left for Setton at 11.30. Here Bill Deacon had the bells in readiness. So enjoyable they proved to be that it was with reluctance that we departed for the Stanley Arms, Aughton, where a real Lancashire hotpot awaited the company of 60. The Vicar (the Rev. L. Ayres) endeared himself to all by his charming manner. Unfortunately a mishap occurred in raising the light six before correctly adjusting the clock chimes. The Guild is not unmindful of the possible inconvenience caused and awaits the opportunity to recompense the church authorities.
The journey continued to Ormskirk, and here again the Ringing Master, Jim Dilworth, was waiting with the bells in readiness and, of course, there is no need to emphasise the pleasure this 23 cwt. ring of eight provides. Sharp on time we left for St. Nicholas', Liverpool; the route was around the famous race-

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION Eastern District A.G.M.

Beverley was chosen for the District annual general meetung on May 18 th, the Minster bells being available in the atternoon and rung to stanuard methods on ten. The service was held in the Minster, followed by an excellent tea provided by Mrs. Parham assisted by her Girl Guide troop.
Mr. H. Walker (of York) deputised as chairman at the business meeting. A warm welcome was extended to visitors from Nottingham, Swindon (Wiltshire), Leeds and Kirk Deighton.
In the absence of any offers to take over the secretaryship, it was a case of re-election, but the secretary did point out that he might find the end of the year a little bit of a strain when the business of editing the Association's report became due. The two retiring committee members, Mrs. D. S. Johnson and W. Stoker, were also re-elected. Miss Eileen Waddingham, of Walkington, was elected a member

SUFFOLK GUILD STRIKING COMPETITION

The Hubert Mitson Shield was won by Bramford "A" at the sixtn annual suttoik Gund straking competution, held at Ashbocking on May 4 th , trom 11 otner compeung teams. The Master, Mr. George W. Yıpe, ensured that no tme was lost and all teams had rung by 4 p.m. Apart from Grundisburgh, who cnose to ring Cambriage Minor, all teams rang 240 Plain Bob Minor. The general stanaaru had gready improved and the Juages, Messrs. George Tnoday, Bob Sinerrif and Geolrrey Lucas, were faced with a dithcult task.

Announcing the results atter tea, Mr. Thoday salu that the standard had been generally good, though in the judges' opinion ringing was rather slow. Several teams had lost marks because of the treble clipping the back bell. Placıngs:-
1 Bramford "A" $32 \frac{1}{2}$ faults, 2 Grundisburgh 331, 3 Aldeburgh 38, 4 Mendlesham 45, 5 Beccles 46t, 6 Framsden 60, 7 West Stow 65, 8 Henley $67 \frac{1}{2}, 9$ St. Mary-le-Tower $75 \frac{1}{2}, 10$ Offton 1261, 11 Barking 131, 12 Bramford "B" 157.
The Shield was presented to Robert 1. Southgate, tower captain of the winning band.

The service in the afternoon was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Donnan, himself a ringer, whose address was based on the inscription on a ringer's tombstone in Worlingworth Churchyard. The church choir attended and rendered an Easter anthem. Evening ringing was at Ashbocking and Henley.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

The Church of Lady St. Mary, Wareham, Dorset

WJAREHAM is one of the ancient boroughs of Wessex, and the earthen walls, considered of pre-Roman origin, are a prominent feature of the town. In Saxon times the town had grown in importance and was the scene of the early landings of the Danes. William the Conqueror erected a castle, now demolished, and two mints and it is mentioned in the Domesday book as a borough of prescription. Within the walls of the town there once stood seven churches; now only three remain. St. Martin's, the church on the walls as you enter the town from the north, although architecturally the most interesting, alas contains only one bell now. This church is mainly 11 th century Saxon in origin.

The south side of the town is bounded not by the walls but by the River Frome, and it is next to the river that the church of Lady St. Mary stands. This church was, until 1842, one of the finest Saxon buildings in England. However, the nave with its massive rectangular pillars was then pulled down and the present building erected. The original building was probably on the site of what is now known as St. Edward's Chapel, which lies at the east end of the south aisle, This chapel was the temporary burial place of King Edward the Martyr, killed by his stepmother Elfrida at Corfe in 978 . The most notable feature of the church is its unique font. It is the only hexagonal lead font in existence and dates from the 12 th century. It is ornamented with figures of the twelve apostles, but they have no faces since they were obliterated by Cromwell's troops.

The tower is 12 th century and, although we cannot say when bells were first hung there, we know that by 1550 there were four bells. Another bell was added at a later date and then, by an Order of Vestry on September 29th, 1784, the five bells were taken down. At that time there were four bells in the tower of Holy Trinity Church which stands on the west side of South Street. Three of these were taken down and with the five from Lady St. Mary were recast into a ring of eight by William Mears of London. These were hung in the tower of Lady St. Mary in 1785. In 1864 the second bell was recast by George Mears and Co. because it was cracked, and by 1900 the 3rd, 5th, 6th and 7th were also cracked, although nothing

COLLEGE YOUTHS VISIT KENT

GOR their annual "out of town " meeting the Ancient Society of College Youths this year had an invitation to visit "the Garden of England," with Canterbury as the main attraction. Unfortunately the clerk of the weather had deciaed that Saturday, May 25 th, would be a good day 10 water England's garden, but the rain did not dampen the enthusiasm of nembers.Lhe nrst ringing was at Rochester Cathedral, to which some two dozen members and trienus found their way by car or train for an hour's ringing on the tine ring of ten. At Rochester members were pleased to meet that stalwart Conlege Youth Mr. Charles Norris, and the company was grateful to Mr. C. S. Jarrett for making the arrangements for ringing. The party then made 1 is way through the rain to Canterbury, wnere an informal but excelient lunch has been arranged at the Castle Kestaurant. It was a maiter tor some commens tnat ine Master, Mr. F. A. Corby, was tlanked at the lunch table by two Cumberiand Youths!

Lunch was followed by a short business meeting at St. Alpuege's Parish Hall, where over $s u$ members were present and during the meeung two new members from the county -Messrs. S. Wigg and M. Barden, of Maid-stone-were elected.

At the conclusion of the meeting the Master said: " It gives me very great pleasure 10 express the thanks of the Society to all who have made this meetıng in Canteroury possible. To me personaliy it is a great pleasure to be here in view of the other ottice I hold, as secretary of the Kent County Association. The arrangements for today are the result of the kind thought and action of a member of the otber Society, Mr. Bernard Luck, who has for many years been a great friend of mine, and has performed varnous kind acts in his capacity of vice-president of the Kent County Association." The meeting heartily endorsed the Master's thanks.

Ihe secretary, Mr. J. G. A. Prior, supported what the Master had said, and pointed out that Mr. Corby was not the first to be Master of the College Youths and at the same time secretary of the Kent County Assoctation, the Late Mr. F. E. Mitcnell having held the same aual ortice in 1932-33. Mr. Luck appropriately acknowledged the vote of thanks.

Alter the meeting, which, as is the custom on these occasions, was attended by wives and triends, the company moved over to St. Alpnege's Church, wnere several well-known $12-$ bell ringers were abie to show that they had not forgotien all their six-bell ringing. This was foliowed by some enjoyable ringing in a variety of methods on the 12 bells of Canterbury Cathedral.

The party then made its way back " across the water " into the land of Kentish Men for an hour's ringing on the recently restored eight bells at the Master's home tower, Sevenoaks. The day's proceedings ended with a social houl at The Vine, where sandwiches had been kindly provided by the Master, and a little handoell ringing and a lot of miscellaneous conversation brought another most enjoyable "out of town" meeting to its close. ## UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY A.G.M.

The above-mentioned function on May 11th started typically when seven members sat for half an hour in the belfry at Barnes, waiting for the usual late arrival of the eighth. before successfully ringing a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major. As two faithful nonmembers took part. it was rung for the Kent Association, as being the least expensive for the band in new subscriptions.
Meanwhile, back at All Saints', Poplar, one or two of our more exalted graduates and the normal motley resident crew were feeling the loss of the peal band (by now consuming much-needed beer) as they tried their hand on the little-used ten. The two parties succeeded in converging almost simultaneously on the light eight at St. George's-in-the-East, and ringing was greatly enjoyed here, in spite of one frustrated tenor king's mutterings about musical railings. Ringing finished at the Society's own tower, St. Olave's, Hart Street, followed by a farewell service with the Rev. Maurice Dean, who is about to disappear into the rural void after nine years of tolerating us.

Tea was followed by general nilarity at a supposedly serious film of the Soctety's activities, but as it had been made by Roger Bailey nobody was really surprised.

The business meeting set an all-tıme record for length, but this was mainly taken up with the search for a new parent, as the Soctety has been derecognised in its own interests by the University Union. Delicate negutiations are now in progress with the Collegate Council. The other main items were the election of new officers, which, as the result of the shortage of nominations, was more of the nature ot an announcement, and in making arrangements for this year's phantom summer tour. The meeting tinally managed to close betore the Tiger Iavern, and the generation gap was bridged for the remainder of the evening in beer.
New officers: President, Alan Thirst; Ringing Master, Audrey Alexander; secretary, Chris Easton, King's College Hostel, Vincent Square, S.W.1.

Next general meeting on Saturday, October 26th.

CUMBERLANDS IN CAMBRIDGE

The Society heid a most successful mesting at Cambridge on April oin, when well ovei 100 members and friends sat down to a tea which had been most amply prepared by Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Pratt and therr helpers. Une of the most encouraging aspects was the distances which some people had travelied to attend the meeting, and a full coachload had been arranged from the Lincoln-Newark area.
The morning started in bright sunshine on the tine Taylor light eight at Trumpington, where we were welcomed by Miss $K$. Wulers, and this was followed by a lunch at an hotel in Trumpington. The afternoon ringing was at the Church of St. Andrew-the-Great, and afterwards a short business meeting was held before tea to fit in with the ringing times. At the meeting the Master welcomed everyone and said how pleased he was to see such an excellent attendance. Thirteen new members were clected and discussion took place about a possible venue for next year's country meeting, which would have similar attractions to Cambridge for the non-ringers. Tea followed and a suitable vote of thanks was expressed to the ladies for so kindly undertaking to provide the tea.

Evening ringing was on the heavy eight at the Roman Catholic Church followed by the 12 at Great St. Mary's, which are a joy to ring. At both these towers Jim Quinney made us very welcome. As an extra. a number of people called at Meldreth on "the way home" by kind invitation of John Gipson, to try the new eight, and we are very grateful for his hospitality.

The Society is most grateful to everybody who helped to make the day so successful and we trust that next year's will prove as good.
D. E. S.

LADY ST. MARY, WAREHAM-Contd. was done about it. On Monday, August 3rd, 1903, the first peal was rung (Stedman Triples conducted by Frank Bennett). A. F. Martin Stewart rang the third, and it is. interesting to note that 58 years later another peal of Stedman was rung on these bells in his memory.

By 1910 the tenor was also cracked and John Warner and Sons recast the 3rd, 5th, 6th, 7th and the tenor and rehung them in the old frame. 5024 changes of Double Norwich were rung on them that year, again called by Frank Bennett from the 5 th and with Martin Stewart again on the 3rd. Fred Townsend rang the 6th. 1912 saw a peal of Stedman called by George Stewart on the 4th and Alan Macdonald Williams from the treble, with Martin on the 5th. In 1935 there was a Royal Jubilee peal, being Grandsire Doubles with $4-6-8$ covering by the local band. After the war two peals of Bob Major were rung. but gradually the bells fell into disrepair and in 1958 they were all taken to Messrs. John Taylor's foundry at Loughborough. The 7th, which was cracked, was recast and the whole ring was rehung in a new frame with new fittings.

Under the leadership of Dr. C. T. Brown a local band of some ability now started to emerge, and in 1965 a local quarter peal of Cambridge Major was rung. 1962 had seen a local peal of Grandsire Doubles, but it was 1966, after many attempts, which saw the first peal of Grandsire Triples by the local band, conducted by Ross Robertson.

TINTED COVERS TO Increase to One Shilling Agreed Without Opposition

From the July issue the selling price of "The Ringing World" is being increased to one shilling a week. The Central Council, at its meeting at Worcester on Whit Tuesday, heard from Mr. J. A. Anderson this decision of the Committee responsible for the production of the journal.

Mr. Anderson announced that the accounts for 1967 showed a loss of $£ 522$, against a surplus for 1966 of $£ 855$. Accounts from January to April 30th revealed a loss of $£ 458$ - the equivalent of $£ 1,374$ per annum. Printing, now running at £12,000 per annum, was 50 per cent. more than 1966.

There was an overwhelming majority, both in the Standing Committee and also in the Council that the cover issues should continue. If the price was still at 9 d . there would still be a loss. An appeal was made to subscribers to make a contribution of 1/6 per month for the unexpired portion of their subscription.

An atmosphere of tension pervaded the meeting over the publication of Appendix "A", prepared by the Committee at the request of the last Council, to indicate the steps it had taken to improve the journal and to reply to the observations of Messrs. Beresford and Pipe. There were numerous criticisms, and Mr. Beresford described it as "a complete travesty of the truth". Eventually a resolution was passed congratulating the Committee on the improvement in "The Ringing World" during the past year but that the appendix be not accepted.
There were changes in the Committee. Mr. Denis Bayles complained of not being consulted by the convener and said he would only continue on the Committee if Mr. Richard Speed was elected to it. Mr. J. F. Smallwood had resigned and Mrs. Jill Staniforth was elected to the Committee as well as Mr. Speed.

BISHOP STUCK DN BELFRY STAIRS

So
SOCIALLY. the selection of Worcester for the holding of the third session of the 26th Council was a happy choice, the welcome most cordial by the host Association, and Mr. W. B. Cartwright, the Master, and Mr. David Beacham, the general secretary, spared no pains to provide excellent facilities for ringing and good fellowship.
There was a large attendance of Council members at the Communion service in the Cathedral on Tuesday morning, at which ths Bishop, the Rt. Rev. L. Mervyn CharlesEdwards, was the celebrant, and the president of the Council, Canon Gilbert Thurlow, assisted.
The meeting of the Council was preceded by welcomes from the City, the Diocese and the Worcestershire and Districts Association. The Mayor, Councillor Ronald Morrls, wain accompanied by the Mayoress, and with the Lord Bishop was the Dean of Worcester (the Very Rev. R. L. P. Milburn). Mr. W. B. Cartwright and Mr. David Beacham also ac companied the distinguished guests.

The Mayor reminded the company that thev were gathered there in the shadow of the ancient Cathedral, where the bells had heen rung for many centuries and were then housed in a campanile. The present bells were provided in 1870, as was also the clock, the cost heing about $£ 6,000$, towards which the Earl of Dudley contributed. In 1928 the hells were recast by John Taylor and Co. of Loughborough. There was a full ring of 12 bells and a bourdon bell, and also a small bell for quarter chimes.

The Bishop recalled in his speech that he was once Vicar of a market town in Shropshire and during the war years it was awful to think of their splendid bells being silent. Their member of Parliament was a member of the Cabinet. and the Bishop told him that the bells should be rung Sunday hy Sunday as a sign of triumph and not have the silence of defeat. He passed that thought on to Mr. Churchill and soon the bells were ringing on Sundays.

Dr. Charles-Edwards delighted the company with the story of the dedication of the bells at Great Comberton. The Bishop said he managed to climb up the narrow stairs but got stuck coming down and he imagined that he would have to conduct the duties of his episcopate from the church tower. The Master bellringer, however, came to his rescue and gave him a big shove with his boot from behind, which landed him outside the tower at the feet of the Vicar.
The Dean, who is president of the Worcestershire Association, said it was a great stimulant. delight and encouragement to have the Central Council with them and made them feel they were members of an interesting and powerful brotherhood. Their ancient Cathedral bells used to stand in a separate tower until they had trouble with a Bishop. Bishop Hooper did not like bells; he said "What you want is not bellringing but preaching." What he forgot was that the bells themselves were the hest preachers. Worcester had it own bellfounder in John Martin. and not far from where they were was John Martin's bell foundry.
Mr. W. B. Cartwright, as Master, also endorsed the welcome. and the president made a very witty reply in which he recalled the days when the Bishop was the Vicar of Newark.

FABIAN STEDMAN COMPETITION

The Editor is in a position to announce the result of the Fabian Stedman Competition. The 28 entries have been carefully examined and discussed by the three assessors and it is their opinion that the competition has not produced another Fabian Stedman. but there are a number of entries that are meritorious.
The assessors' report states:-
"Only four entries completely met the rules of the competition and of these we recommend entry No. 22 as the best, but No. 9 and No. 26 are virtually contained within No. 22 and are in themselves complete. No. 7 is the other entry which is complete.
"Many entries were regrettably ruled out because of non-compliance with one or more rules and many were not original anyway.
"Amongst those which did not comply we would especially draw attention to entries No. 16 as being particularly meritorious, lacking mainly extension.
"We suggest that you consider the advisability of sharing the prize money."
The Editor consulted the anonymous donor and he agreed that the $£ 100$ should be divided into a first prize of $£ 50$ and two others of £25.

THE PRIZE-WINNERS
The first prize of $£ 50$ has been awarded to No. 22-Mr. Roger Baldwin,

THE EDITOR HONOURED Life Membership Conferred

MR. T. W. WHITE

Mr. T. W. White, the Edifor of "The Ringing World," was proposed as a life member by Mr. F. E. Dukes (Irish Association), seconded by Mr. Edgar Shepherd (honorary members), both members of the Literature and Publications Committec. Mr. Dukes said "The Ringing World" was founded in 1911 by John S. Goldsmith, who rempined its proprietor and editor until he died in 1942. John Goldsmith was elected an honorary member of the Council in 1927 and there was little doubt that had the class of life membership been in existence he would have attained that rank. Mr. Goldsmith was an accomplished ringer and travelled to Australia on Great Adventure I. Jabez Armiger Trollope, another accomplished ringer, took over as editor after Mr. Goldsmith's death but had a short reign until he retired in 1946.
At probably the most critical period of "The Ringing World" Tom White came to the rescue of the paper as editor in 1946, having previously been of assistance to the paper when Mr. Goldsmith was in Australia. Last year Tom White completed 21 years as editor. iruly a proud record. He was 40 years of age when he learned to ring and now, at the age of almost 74, looked quite fresh and his eftorts as editor continued unflaggingly.

* On the personal side, I wonder how many editors would have remained at their post in face of the exceptional criticism which has as long as I can remember been levelled at - The Ringing World.' How many times has the Council listened to the commonsense speeches which Tom White made when a deadlock seemed apparent.
- The improvement of "The Ringing World and in its circulation came in no small way as a result of the conscientious and devoted work of the editor. The paper has more of a sense of humour than it had years ago, and caters for the younger ringer more than it did.
*Can we imagine "The Ringing World" without Tom White as editor? Will the Council be able to find a worthy successor when the time comes? How fortunate we are to have a man who continues to work for us when most others would be enjoying relaxation and the leisure of retirement, and never does, he fail to produce the paper. Only when he took part in Great Adventure II was he relieved of the bulk of his duties."

Mr. E. C. Shepherd, in seconding. thought it was most desirable to honour Mr. White now than to wait until it was too late. "Some of us who have been drawn close to the editor and his work will know of his kindness and unselfishness, and so, whatever the Council in its wisdom decides on this proposition. I personally am grateful to have this opportunity of paying tribute to the services (difficult to estimate to the full) given by one I have found so technically efficient, so devoted to 'The Ringing World ' and so intensely sym. pathetic in all its difficulties."

The motion was declared to be carried unanimously.

The Editor, in his reply, said that at a public dinner a lady had a rabbi on her right hand and a bishop on her left. Turning to the bishop she said "I feel as if I have the Old Testament on my right band and the New Testament on my left." Tersely the bishop rejoined: "In mast Bibles, Madam, there is a blank page between the Old and the New Testaments."

- I feel very much like a blank page today except for one thing. Across it is written - A very sincere thank you, Mr. President and members of the Council.:
"This is not the first time $I$ have been honoured by the Council. At the honeymoon Council at Chelmsford, when we rejoiced to have a Welsh bride with us, I was elected an honorary member of the Council although on that occasion some of the leading members voted against me. It seems in the intervening 11 years I have behaved myself better.

When I was first appointed an editor of a local newspaper at Guildford, a veteran editor wrote to me, White, you will make many mistakes as an editor, but take comfort in the thought that in your locality you will probably make fewer mistakes than anyone else. 1 am not going to pretend to this Council that there are not better editors of "The Ringing World' than myself. There are plenty. An editor is ever conscious of bis mistakes and i: is my regret that many of these cause pain to certain people. A firmer policy on my part would have saved their distress. Publicly 1 express my regrets.
" My period as an editor muss be drawing to a close. The past year has been a difficult one and my troubles have been aggravated by indifferent sight. I have had this trouble partly adjusted with new glasses. A prominent ophthalmic surgeon has given me from two to three years, but insists that I should rest at lunch time and not read late at night. I am making this public in the hope that a man or woman will be forthcoming to succeed me. While 1 have too great an affection for "The Ringng World to leave it in the lurch, my age tells me that I should make room for a successor.
-. The other day I came across a philosophy of flying, given to Royal Flying Officers. Strap it to your backsides and go to the limit.' It could well apply to our outlook in service to the Church, to the Exercise and to our work. and I leave the thought with you. Strap our faith to our backsides and go the limit." "

APOLOGIES

Messrs. B. Austin, F. M. Bowers. D. R Carlisle. J. D. Clarke. G. W. Fletcher. F. Hairs, B. E. Jeffrey, H. J. Sanger. Miss H. G. Snowden, E. J. Sterland, L. Stilwell, P. L. Taylor. C. G. J. Watts, F. A. White, E. F. Willcox.

NEW MEMBERS

The following new members were welcomed by the president: G. Francis (Sussex County Association), G. A. Dawson (Society of Sherwood Youths), Stuart Kimber (Surrey Association).

SHERWOOD YOUTHS REJOIN COUNCIL

When ank application for membership was received from the Society of Sherwood Youths, Mr. G. A. Halls, of the Derby Association, voiced his opposition. He held that it contravened the basic principle of one man, one vole. The members of this Society largely belonged to their own territorial Associationthe Southwell Diocesan Guild. The admission of the Sherwood Youths would create a precedent and they would have a string of applications before them

Mr. W. L. Exton. hon. secretary of the Southwell Diocesan Guild, said he was surprised to hear this opposition. The Society of Sherwoud Youths was formed hack in 1670 and they were formerly represented on the Council but their membership lapsed during the war. They were now very active.

Mr. J. F. Smallwood (life member) recalled an outstanding member of the Society in Witliam Doubleday Crofts. He could see no possible reason for the Society being turned down.

Mr. J. Seager also supported the application.
There was an overwhelming vote in favour of election and the Society was welcomed amid applause.

MINUTES

The Minutes published in "The Ringing World " of February 16 th and amended on March 1 st were adopted on the proposition of Mr. V. Boitomley, seconded by Mr. F. Sharpe.

HONORARY SECRETARY AND TREASURER'S REPORT

EARLY in the year, prints of the President's "Bells-True and False" were sent to all Dioccsan Advisory Committees. with the request that a copy be sent to every applicant for a faculiy to install "canned" bells. On the whole these were well received.
There has been the usual flow of inquirics of many kinds from the public. A good number followed the appearance in the magazine "Woman " of an item in the leature
How it is done." These were from potential recruits and I shall be pleased to hear of the successful introduction of anyone to ringing from this source.

The compilation of a register of redundant bells has created a lot of interest, but mosi of the applicants have been seeking single bells. or cheap augmentations. The object was of course the preservation of complete rings. My letter to the "Church Times" on the subject has not produced a single notification or redundancy but there have been several inquiries from incumbents hoping to obtain a ring of bells.

Once again 1 thank all those who have sent publications.

VERNON BOTTOMIEY.
Mr. Bottomley said he had nothing further to add and moved its adoption. Mr. R. S. Anderson seconded and expressed thanks to the hon. secretary for his work during the past year

ELECTION OF HONORARY MEMBERS

The following honorary members retired and were eligible for re-election: Mrs. E. A. Barnett, Messrs. B. Austin. J. Betjeman, F. E. Collins. F. 1. Hairs. C. K. Lewis, W. A. Osborn and H. L. Roper. The secretary announced that Mr. Hairs wished to retire.
The re-election of the other retiring me.nbers was proposed by Mr. F. Sharpe and seconded by Mr. F. E. Dukes.

Mr. D. E. Sibson proposed and Mr. D. Beresford seconded the election of Mr. John E. Mayne (a former member) as an honorary member. This was supported by Mr. F. Blagrove and carried unanimously.

Amazing Sales of Beginners' Handbook

The sale of publications still continues at a very high level, the -total for the year again exceeding 6,000 , states the report of the hon. librarian. This includes, for the third consecutive year, over 3,0of "Beginners' Handbooks." Due to the increased cast of these handbooks, together with increased postal rates, we are now selling these books at an increasing loss, and I would suggest that we sell then at a flat rate of one shilling each.
We now have in stock only a few cardsCare of Bells"-and I recommend that we do not have a reprint of these, as the information thereon is well covered in "Preservation and Repair of Bells."

We are indebted in Mr. C. A. Wratten for his work in compiling "A Collection of Surprise Compositions" and for his co-operation resulting in the sale of this very useful book now heing in the hands of the Colucil.

During the year the libraly has received the following gifts. which we acknowledge with giateful thanks: "Carhedrals at Work." Canon G. G. Thurlow-per the author: "Bobs and Singles," History of Christchurch Cathedral Society of Bellringers, New Zealand-from the Christchurch Society; Copy of "Reverbera-tions"-per J. P. Partington: Copies of "Irish Bell News "-per F E. Dukes.
We are indeed grateful 10 Mr . W. Pitcher for underaking the sale of our publications in nustralia and are pleased to note from his report in April that ringers out there are taking advantage of the facilities provided.
Finally, a sincere and hearty "thank you" to Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward for managing so efficiently the sales section of the library, a job which has grown very rapidly durng the past few years.

- 1 free.

Mr. F. W. Perrens moved the adoption and Mr. P. A. Corby seconded and the report was adopted.

LOSSES THROLGH DEATH

The president reported the deaths of the following members and past members of the Council: F. A. Finch, Middlesex Association (1950), H. Parker, Chester Guild (1936-1959). F A. Salter, Southwell Guild (1949-1953), J. Willis, Kent County Association (19511967). A. E. Sharman. Bedfordshire Association (1921-1946). T H. Radford. East Derbyshire and West Notts Association (1963-1967), A. W. Coles, Middlesex Association (1948), G. H. Spice, Kent County Association (1939-1954). Mr. J. E. Jeater, accountant to "The Ringing World for over 20 years.

Account of $£ 56$ ( $£ 71$ ). The Publications Account showed that the stock had been reduced from $£ 1.108$ to $£ 816$. Sales gross were $£ 432$ and net $£ 396$. The Clement Glenn bequest now stood at $£ 952$.

Net lass for the year $\mathbf{~} 52212 \mathrm{~s}$. Id.
Moving the adoption of the accounts, Mr Y. Bottomley said the only item he should like to draw attention to was a reduction of "The Ringing World" capital account by $£ 500$ due to the loss that had been sustained (This now stands at $£ 10,122$ against $£ 10,645$.)
In "The Ringing World" halance sheet the figures of investments ( $£ 9,499$ ) was somewhat lower ( $(10,200)$. It was desirable in the time of losing money to remain a little more liquid and for that reason there was more money on deposit at the bank ( $\{1,000$ ). In the Income and Expenditute account they would notice is net loss for the year of $£ 522$. Income from investments were $£ 340$ net. The effective loss on the publication was $£ 1.040$, and that was important to bear in mind.
Mr. F. E. Dukes seconded and the accomate were approved.

Review of Ringing and World Press

LITERATURE AND PRESS COMMITTEE REPORT

"T is with profound regret that we have to open this report with references to two serions' belfry accidents, both of which have been given wide publicity in the national Press. The tragic death of Mr. John Hall at Uphill has brought forth the sympathy of the whole ringing Exercise, and the article by Mr. Wilfrid Wilson in "The Ringing World " of June Ind expresses what we all feel of this very sad occurrence. The serious injury to Mr. Raymond Dunn at Old Hill was due to a similar mishap, and in this case, unfortunately, sensational reporting by sections of the Press not only obscured the circumstances of the accident but also aroused some public alarm over the question of belfry conditions and belfry tuition. The very sensible letter from Mr. G. F. Green to the "Birmingham Post " provided a salutary corrective.

The publicity given to these sad occurrences has led the convener of this commirtee being consulted by three incumbents on the matter of the safety of bells hanging in their respective towers (towers aid bells without ringers, it may be noted), and it is possible that interest and concern have been aroused in other parts of the country.

NATIONAL PROMINENCE

Items of bellringing news always seem to find a place in newspapers, and this year we have one or two notable ones. The "Daily Express" gave great prominence to the announcement of the contract given to the Whitechapel Foundry for replicas of the Liberty Beil of Philadelphia, an order said to amount to $£ 750,000$. In August the diamond wedding of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Symonds came to our notice. The congratulations and good wishes of all of us will go out to this grand old man of Ipswich. The 19th birthday of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales was celebrated by the ringing of Stedman Cinques at Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, and much publicity was given to the visit the Prince paid to the belfry on that occasion.

Two items of clerical news found prominence in the "Church Times." First the achievement of the Rev. A. S. Roberts, of Carbis Bay, who has now succeeded in ringing a peal on every eight-bell tower in Cornwall. Secondly, we have read of the remarkable work of the Rev. R. E. H. Dudley, Vicar of Fdington, Wiltshire, who has not only faced successfully a colossal restoration task at Edington Priory Church, but has also completed a scheme for providing a ring of ten bells. For the consummation of this ambitious plan Mr. Dudley has secured the bells of the church of the ruined village of Imber on Salisbury Plain.

The Central Council meeting in May was well reported and illustrated in the Nottinghan Press.

FEATURE ARTICLES

Among the feature articles of the year "The Music of the Bells" by Edyth Harper in "Musical Opinion" has the conventional approach and is carefully written. Reference might perhaps have been made to more interesting names than "Scholars" Delight" and "Canterbury Pleasure," but this possibly is not of great importance. Ken Hill writes in " London Electricity" on bellfounding and the Whitechapel Foundry, with a delightful tailpiece on binding ants. A valuable contribution to the piwalem of recruits was written (by request) for "The Hampshire Telegraph" by Mr. York-Bramble, and this essay holdly invites people to come to Portsmouth Catbedral and see for themselves what is done.
"Country Life" printed a short but excellent article by E. Trotman, of Beaminster, on Bilbie and his bells, aid from the " Western Morning News " cones a scholarly account of West Country ringing and customs by Canon Miles Brown. As an outstanding essay we ineartily commend "Launton Tower and Waterloo Celebrations " written by Keith Robertson for the "Oxford Times." With its accuracy, its maintenance of interest and its impeccable taste it might serve as a model for this type of article. The photograph of the ringers entering the tower is most striking, and the picture of our genial friend Mr. $\mathrm{F}^{\prime}$. Sharpe makes him look far more forbidding than we know him to be. "Home Words." has often provided something to do with our art. and in October M. Wight gave us "Bells with a Story," pleasantly discursive and well written.
Lady ringers form the subject of Mary Sutherland's "Sweet Belles in the Belfry," aut article in the "Western Mail." But the Ladies" Guild was surely not formed "because at that time women were not allowed in bell towers." By 1912 there were a good many lady ringers, and it was because of this that Edith Parker founded the Guild.

CRITICISMS

The convener communicated with the "Borchester Echo" to comment on the rather absurd and misleading presentation of the "Ambridge" bellringers that appeared in the annual issue. He received from the Editor a charming (and disarming) letter of apology and a promise that "next time I shall certainly consult a campanologist." The vulgar presentation in the "Daily Mirror" of a mishap to a ringer's braces at Lowestoft was a piece of bad taste, but it was felt that no good purpose would be served by writing to the journal. The matter underlines the importance in taking care in offering to reporters news of incidents which, trivial in themselves, can be unscrupulously exploited to bring ridicule upon a church and its belfry.

The illustrated article on ringing at Durban in "South African Panorama" seems to us to echo the same warning note. The text is short and interesting, but the illustrations do not present a satisfactory view of ringers in action, and we should find difficulty in commending the portrayal of a ringer standing in the pit beneath an upturned bell.

IRISH INTELLIGENCE

The Irish Press brings us some essays of note, In "Church of Irelard Gazette" Gilbert Thurlow provided an irticle both attractive and of excellent missionary value, and the "Courier and News" gave extensive publicity to the splendid work of the team of volunteers that brought eight bells from the disused church at Kilshane for use at Killyman, a distance of 200 miles. It is a pleasing thought that the Christian brotherhood fostered by our ringing can transcend political boundaries and the unhappy divisions that so often keep good people apart.

The close association of Ireland with the centennial celebrations in Canada brought about some considerable festival ringing arranged by the Irish Association, and this and the ringing in many other parts of the world were given publicity in the "Ottawa Journal " and the "Edmonton Journal"; and Mr. F.
E. Dukes received from the Canadian Embassy in Eire a special note on the events connected with the celebrations.
Among the publications we must make mention of "Reverberations," the journal of the " Handbell Ringers of Great Britain," a Society founded at Ashton-under-Lyne Grammar School in October, 1967. Both the enterprise and the publishing of the paper are to be commended, but we suggest that each number of the journal be dated; the copy we have bears no indication of its date of publication and no sequence number. "Northeast," the newsletter of the North West District of the Essex Association, came out in November, and we have noted an excellent recruiting leaflet put out from isleworth.
We offer our grateful thanks to all those who have sent material to us and have kept us in touch with journals we cannot readily see. To keep the report within reasonable limits we have not referred to all the matter sent in, but everything we have received has had altention, and everything has been of some importance in enabling us to indicate the journalistic trend of the year.

EDGAR C. SHEPHERD, (Convener), FRED E. DUKES.

Mr. Edgar Shepherd moved the adoption. Mr. F. E. Dukes, in seconding, drew attention to the tragic occurrences mentioned in the first paragraph and said it was up to them to see that every care was taken, especially in the case of young people. The report was adopted.

LOOKING AHEAD

The secretary reported that the Standing Committee discussed the succession to the president and vice-president, bearing in mind the statement made by Canon Thurlow when elected president that in no circumstances would he accept nomination after six years. Members of the Standing Committee wished to make known their decision to nominate Mr. John Freeman as president and Mr. E. A. Barnett as vice-president in 1969.
Regarding the revision of the Decisions of the Council, the Standing Committee recommended that the Records and Methods Committee and Mr. E. A. Barnett should investigate and publish their recommendations in "The Ringing World" before next January This was moved by the general secretary and seconded by Mr. P. A. Corby and adopted.

bath and wells diocesan ASSOCIATION

On May 11th the Ilchester Branch revived its Branch outing-a half-day family trip organised by the Ringing Master, Mr. Gordon Rendell.

A coach party left The Borough, Montacute. at 1.30 p.m., returning about 10.30 p.m. The towers visited were at Carhampton (6), Minehead (10), where a picnic tea was enjoyed, Wootton Courtenay (6), Timberscombe (8) and Dunster (8). Ringing was under the direction of the Rev. C. J. B. Marshall and Messrs. Gilbert Rendell, Tom Setter and Gordon Rendell, and varied from rounds and call changes to Grandsire Caters.

The Branch is grateful to the incumbents and the tower Masters for their courtesy in welcoming the party and to the organiser.

JOHN CARTER'S MACHINE  COMING TO C.C. MEETING

SEVEN demonstrations were given during the year to a total of 161 visitors, including three from the United States. The machine was also run on other occasions for faultfinding exercises, as some minor ailments had spoilt one or two of the demonstrations.

As it is quite impossible to carry out dismantling and repair at the Science Museum, the Trustees decided to withdraw the machine for repairs. We are indebted to Mr. Walter Dobbie for the work he willingly undertook during three weeks over the Christmas period, and which has put the machine once more into first-class order.
Mr. and Mrs. Dobbie must also be congratulated on the wide variety of methods they set up and rang during this time, including two peals as reported in ". The Ringing World " on February 23rd, 1968.

We are also grateful for the continued interest of our two other operators, Messrs. Alan Bagworth and John Slater. The attendance of two or more operators enables us to give much more interesting demonstrations.

The Science Museum authorities asked that we should state a value for insurance purposes and the Trustees have agreed to $£ 5,000$ on the basis that while a new machine could not be commercially built for this figure, there would be no point in replacing it should it be totally destroyed. If, however, it was 0 become badly damaged, the figure of $£ 5,000$ would be sufficient to enable it to be rebuilt. The Trustees hold a Letter of Indemnity from the Museum superintendent, which also states "that the sum shall be reviewed every three years."

DOUGLAS HUGHES,  FRANK E. HAYNES,

Trustees.
Mr. D. Hughes moved the adoption of the report and Mr. F. E. Haynes, in seconding, said he did not think the members of the Council realised what a splendid machine it was. The Council were fortunate in that the machine had been cared for and kept in a working condition at no expense to the Council. It might, however, be necessary to ask the Council for some small financial help at some future time. The machine had been looked after for some 30 years by Mr. Hughes sen. and Mr. Hughes jun.
Mr. B. Ashford asked whether there were any technical drawings of the machine.
Mr. D. Hughes: No.
Mr. Roger Savory (Winchester and Porksmouth Guild) asked if the machine could be on view at the next Council meeting. The reply of the convener was that it could be done. The last time it was on view cost about £21 for three weeks.

Mr. Savory proposed and Mr. G. Pipe (Suffolk Guild), who offered to donate one guinea towards the cost, seconded that the machine be on view. Mr. Walter Ayre, on behalf of the Herts County Association, assured the Council that his Association would be most happy to have it for the period of the Council mecting.
Mr. F. Reynolds (Lancashire Association) suggested that the Woodhouse machine should also be on view. This suggestion was warmly received by Mr. W. Dobbie, who has done much work on the Carter machine.
Mr. W. G. Wilson (London County) offered to help with the transport. He said he would like to see the two machines together-then they might have some splice!

The proposal was carried, only five members voting against, and the report was adopted.

NORTHAMPTON BRANCH'S OPEN DAY

The Northampton Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild arranged their first open day on May lith at the Church of St. Giles, Northampton.
The proceedings were opened by the Branch President, the Rev. C. J. W. Faulkner, with a short introductory talk and prayers. He then introduced the Guild president, the Rev. E. G. Orland, who gave the opening address.
During the afternoon the Exhibition was attended by well over 200 people, including the Mayor and Mayoress of Northampton, (Ald. and Mrs. T. H. Dockrell) and Mr. J. G. A. Prior, secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youths. Visitors from Rutland and Bedford also attended.
The large displays included photographs and general literature on bells and bellfounding, tems of interest on local churches and their bells. and one of the star attractions of the afternoon was the old Central Northamptonshire Association's peal record book from 1893 to 1920 . These displays were of interest to ringers and non-ringers alike. One of the school teachers in our midst had made two beautiful models of St. Giles' and Moulton (Northants) towers.

A great deal of interest was expressed by all who saw our film, entitled "Ringing for Joy". which members of the Branch had made specially for the occasion. This work was undertaken by Mr. Derek Smeathers.

In order that the public might see a life-size bell at close quarters, great fun was had by two members of the Branch in lowering from Lamport Church tower a "Tantony bell" weighing 62 lb . and transporting it to Northampton in a very small car. This was mounted on a wooden frame made and painted in a member's back garden. It caused considerable amusement to all who chimed it as it was cracked! Handbell ringing took place in the churchyard by two teams from Brafield (tunes) and Rothersthorpe (methods).
Sincere thanks are due to the following who kindly loaned material for the Exhibition: Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, John Taylor and Co.. Mr. E. C. Shepherd, Mr. N. Chaddock: to Parfreyson Limited, Northampion, for donating the advertisement space in the local paper, and local incumbents.
The organisation was undertaken by a small sub-committee consisting of Mr. R. A. Eldridge (captain of St. Giles'). Mr. G. F. Roome (social organiser) and Miss V. P. Williams (public relations officer), ably assisted by Mr. B. R. Care, the Branch secretary. B. C.

INTO CLEVELAND

This year Ossett and Horbury ringers, for their outing on May 18th, visited North Yorks. There was ringing at St. Mary's, Richmond. before lunch at Stockton and then ringing at the parish church. The journey was across the bcautiful Cleveland countryside 10 Skelton, where, at All Saints' Church, the going was a little harder. Methods rung were Plain Bob. Double Norwich. Stedman and Grandsire Triples.

We had tea at Saltburn and some enjoved a quick walk on the prom in the clear, bracing air: for others it was a final ring at Saltburn Emmanuel. The noise of the bells was terrific. One hears of townsfolk complaining about noise, but here the ringers were on the receiving end.

The Ossett captain, Cclr. Fred Bennett, retíring Mayor, thanked Mr. Irvin Slack. of Horbury, for organising such a wonderful outing.

OBITUARY

MR. M. D. TRIGG

The young Ringing Master of St. Mary's, Hitchon, Michael David Trigg, collapsed and died of a heart attack while on holiday with his wife at Estartit in Spain on May 23rd. Michael, who was only 23 years of age, was a native of Hitchin and became interested in ringing while a pupil at Hitchin Boys' Grammar School. He was quick to learn the basic merhods and eager to gain wider experience. This enthusiasm took him to practices at the neighbouring towers of Great Wymondley and St. lppolyts. The dedication and enterprise which made him a Queen's Scout was evident in his approach to ringing. He had a restless nature which sought fresh achievement; his enthusiasm encouraged others to make greater effort.
On leaving school Michael joined International Computers and Tabulators Ltd. and attended Southampton University as a sandwich course student. For two of his three years at Southampton he was Master of the University Guild. On returning to Hitchin Michael was elected as Ringing Master both of St. Mary's and of the Northern District of the Hertford County Association. In each of these offices there was a great challenge in re-establishing progressive change ririging. In less than two years there are signs of improvement, with practices at St. Mary's attracting ringers from a wide area.
Eleven months ago Michael married Josephine Harris, the daughter of the Ringing Master at St. Ippolyts, with whom he had been friendly since his early ringing days. His friends in North Hertfordshire and his former colleagues at Southampton will mourn the loss of a most promising ringer and offer their condolences to José and both families. A memorial service was held at St. Mary's on Friday. May 31st. Michael's body having been interred in Spain.

MR. JACK WAUGH

News was received with deep regret at Worcester that Mr. Jack Arnold Waugh. a former Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, died on June 3rd. He lived at Woodford, Essex, and had borne with great fortitude a long illness.
Held in high esteem by a large circle of friends. Jack was a member of the St. Paul's Cathedral band and also of Westminster Abbey. He was a trustee of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

The funeral service was held at St. Mary's, Woodford, on June 6th. He leaves a widow, son and daughter.

ANBRIDGE (B. & W.) OUTING

Thirty-five ringers from the Axbridge Branch and a few friends set out at $6.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on May lith for a day in the Bournemouth area.
The first ringing of the day was at Lytche:t Minster (6, tenor 11 cwt .). Next came the tine ring of ten at St. James" Church, Poole. which provided some of the younger members with their first ring on ten bells.

Lunch was taken at Bournemouth and just after arriving the only storm of the day descended upon us, but the sun soon returned brighter than ever. Good use was then made of St. Peter's octave. The last ring of the day was at Blandford Forum. M. L.

THE PROFESSOR

Is Originality Lacking?

"What the Exercise lacks nowadays," pontificated the Professor, "is Originality."

Of course, I disagreed with him. I' doesn't do to fall in with his views too readily otherwise he dries up and his pearls of wisdom are lost for ever.
"I should have thought that more original material was being produced now than ever before."
"Oh, to be sure, there is no lack of production. In the so-called field of composition almost every orher ringer you meet is a figuredabbler. The trouble is that much of it is a rehash of old material or ingenious ideas cribbed from other sources, disguised and served up with a different dressing."
"Surely." I objected. "it is a good thing for conductors to have plenty of new material at their disposal?"
"Is ir? It depends on what you mean by new material I came across a recent publication which contained, among other things. several peals ot Surprise Major that could have been produced by any tyro in the space of a few minutes, bearing the proud appellation of 'composition', when it would have been better to have described them as rearrangements, or rearrangements of rearrangements of arrangements.
"We have, of course, some excellent composers. but many people," he continued, "string together courses of this, that and the other, and the extent of their originality seems. in many cases, to consist of introducing single changes and methods that have fifths place without the treble behind into Minor methods, irregular methods into growing numbers of bells and singles into Treble Bob varieties."
"What about Spliced Surprise?" | demanded when I had sorted that lot out.
"Here there has been no significant advance for years! Certainly more and more methods have been stuffed into peals and, with commendable application, teams have continued to ring them but, apart from mere numbers; there has been no real originality displayed."
"What on earth do you want then?"
"I don't really know. I never pretended to be original myself. Perhaps I want a genius of the calibre ot Stedman or Carter who will revitalise the whole outlook of composition, or a campanological equivalent of Schonberg or Bouley or Stockhausen, who will either turn the whole system upside-down or at least give it a new slant."
"This is ", rubbish. You are asking for the impossible "
"Perhaps 1 am . But in certain respects, to me at least, compared with the other arts of Painting. Music and Sculpture, that of Bellringing seems almost stagnant. If a painter, musician or sculptor of 200 years ago had to return he would be astounded at the changes that had taken place in his art, changes which in fact are still taking place. A bellringer from the same period would discover most of us plodding along in the same furrows, calling the same bobs, churning out the same sounds (rung, perhaps, somewhat quicker, as though in an age of speed. quick ringing was a virtue). Minor, Major and Royal sounding exactly as it did two hundred years ago and Maximus still contributing its cascades of clangour."
"That remark," I pointed out, "won't win you many friends."
"Of course," he conceded graciously "there have been one or two technological advances. but nothing to which an ordinary ringer would not quickly adjust himself."
"You have a better opinion of the ordinary ringer than I have!"
"And where are the great ringing characters of today? Has modern education cast us all in the same mould? Does the "Have you any suggestions as to alterations or improvements we should make?" I interrupted, anxious to dismount him from his particular hobby-horse.
"Not really. I feel that experiments should be made both as to the nature of sounds produced and the principle of producing them. I have various ideas of my own but would prefer to hear suggestions from other people."
"I don't think mine would be any good." I said.
"One never knows." was his reply.
I feel sure 1 heard him murmuring as he left. something about "Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings".

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Eastem District's Spring Oating

On May 25 th three cars and a 12 -seater minibus, carrying a total of 29 ringers and friends, entered London.

Our first stop was at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, where we were welcomed by Mr. Douglas Hughes, who, after an interesting talk, took us around the various parts of the Foundry.
We then moved on for lunch, which had previously been arranged at a nearby public house.
The first tower of the day was St. George's in-the-East, Stepney, the bells being a new ring of eight, cast and hung during the past year. We rang Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob, but did not do justice to the very pleasant bells.
The highlight of the outing was the visit to the Science Museum and the Carter Ringing Machine, where we were again met by Mr. Hughes, who demonstrated Grandsire Caters and Plain Bob Royal on this engineering masterpiece. This was followed by an explanation of how the machine functioned.

After negotiating the heavy traffic we finally arrived at the R.A.F. Church, St. Clement Danes', here we rang Grandsire Caters, Plain Bob Royal and Stedman Triples.
We then moved on to Southwark for tea, and also ringing at St. George's, Borough High Street. The ringing on these hells was enjoyed and some good striking resulted. This ended a very successful and enjoyable day.
Our very sincere thanks go to Mr. Peter Shonk, a member of the Police Guild, who kindly arranged the ringing programme. Also to Mr. Hughes for the foundry visit and the Carter Ringing Machine demonstration. We are also grateful to Mr. Peter Searles, the District secretary, for the local arrangements.

LETTERS

WERE THE PROOFS CHECKED?
Dear Sir,-Seven people in Bristol were interested enough in Gloucester and Bristol affairs to attend the annual meeting at Malmesbury on April 20th. I must apologise for not making it eight. The truth of the matter was that I anticipated that I would spend a nuch more profitable afternoon ringing a peal at Lichfield Cathedral rather than sitting listening to what decisions the Management Committee had made a few weeks previously.
If the Gloucester and Bristol officers were aware of the many errors apparent in the annual report (1 can spot 15 in the Bristol City Branch alone). then surely the time to correct them is before publication, not after. If the officers from the north of the county do not have the time to check the proofs, then I suggest that next year they send at least the Bristol section to the auditors, who might be a little more in touch with the names of Bristol Diocese ringers.-Yours sincerely,
D. J. HUNT.

Hon. Auditor

GLOUCESTER BOUNDARIES

Dear Sir,-I admire the courage of "The Ringing World "' (page 421). Not even the Gloucester and Bristol Boundaries Committee would dare transfer five Gloucester Branch towers to the Cirencester Branch 1 Yours faithfully,
E. MARY BLISS.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT  SOCLETY'S MAY MEETING

The May meeting of the Lueds and District Amalgamated Society was held on Saturday, the 26th, at All Saints'. Batley.
Despite a dull afternoon and a rainy evening about 30 ringers joined the meeting and included visitors from as far atield as Hemingbrough, Barnsley and Manchester.
Standard Triples and Major methods up to Cambridge Surprise, liberally sprinkled with rounds and plain hunting, were rung on the light eight.

The Vicar of Batley welcomed the gathering at tea, which was amply provided by the local company, and during the business meeting the Society's congraulations were expressed to Alan Newbould, a vice-president of the Society, and Pat Gardner on their engagement.
The Society is not holding a meeting in June owing to the proximity of the Joint Council of Yorkshire Ringing Societies' Festival at Leeds on June 22nd, but July will see business as usual.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSN.

The Northern District meeting was held on June 1 st at Wallington. The bells were raised at 5.30 p.m. and put to good use throughout the evening. Methods rung included Stedman Doubles, London, Norwich and Cambridge Surprise and Kent Treble Bob Minor.
The absence of Mr. Michael Trigg, District Ringing Master until his unexpected death. was sirongly felt by everyone present but despite this Mr. A. R. Age succeeded in running the meeting satisfactorily. M.R.W.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Cheshire Guild rang a peal of Cambridge Maximus at Si. Giles', Cripplegate. on May 11 th, conducted by C. Kenneth Lewis. The first peal of Grandsire Major for the Guild of Devonshire Ringers was rung at Withycombe Raleigh on May 18 th , conducted by Frank D. Mack.

The band that rang a peal of Bristol Surprise Major at Harrow Weald on May 25th were very kindly entertained to tea by Mr. and Mrs. W. George Hart.

Has any church organist a longer record? Professor George Harrison was appointed organist of St. George's Church. Dublin, in 1895 and 10 still in office! No wonder the bells rang out for a quarter peal on May 29th. his 90th birthday.

The quarter rung at Brookland. Kent, on May 19 th. is believed to be the first on the bells conducted and with the bells open. D. C. Manger, who conducted, used a throat microphone wired to a 10 watt amplifier to make himself heard.

Mr. Ranald W. M. Clouston is in Scotland investigating the bells of Perthshire.
Police in North Hertfordshire are searching for thieves who stole a 10 cwt . 17th century bell from St. Faith's Churchyard at Hexton. near Hitchin.
The peal of Oxford Treble Bob Royal on handbells rung at Marple on April 4th has now been published twice. Will all who are keeping records please notel Helston. Cornwall, ringers who have been call change exponents since the eight bells were hung in 1904. are showing interest in method ringing. Six local ringers took part in a quatter Deal on May 24th, aided by two from Redruth. one Helstonian ringing his first.

Mr. Albert J. Hughes, of Bangor. who is now in his 87 th year, has written a paper on tho reminiscences of an octogenarian. A prominent part deals with campanology. He has taken "The Ringing World ", since the No. 1 issue.

RINGER INSTALLED AS P:-IYOR

On May 22nd Councillor D. Percy Griffiths was. with due ceremony, installed as Mayor of Cardigan, Wales. A stalwart of the Church, he is a licensed lay reader, Sunday School superintendent, chorister, member of the P.C.C., tower secretary of St. Mary's, Cardigan, and auditor of the St. David's Diocesan Guild.
Amongst the many messages he received congratulating him and his wife on their appointment as the town's leading citizens was one from Mr. F. Sharpe, past president of the Central Council, and one from the Master and fellow members of the St. David's Guild. The Guild was represented at the installation by the treasurer, Mr. A. F. Walters.
Amongst his other interests are the R.A.F. Association, British Legion, local A.T.C. Squadron, Loyal Order of Moose and the Church Youth Club.
A compositor at the local newspaper office, he is a past chairman of his local trade union branch of the N.G.A.
During his term of office he and his wife will be attending one of the garden parties at Buckingham Palace as well as many local and county functions.
The best wishes for a successful year in office are extended by all his ringing friends.

TWO PEALS FOR WASHINGTON

Washington is in the peal news this week with a peal of Plain Bob Major on the Cathedra: beis and a handbell pcal in which Mr. Frank C. Price conducted. There were six first pealers in the tower bell peal, and it must have been a proud moment for Mr. Richard S. Dirksen when he said "And that is all".

ANNIVERSARY OF KENT'S FIRST PEAL OF SURPRISE

The first peal of Surprise for the Kent County Assoclation was rung on May 27th, 1883 . in 3 Hours and 8 Minutes-Superlative, composed and conducted by Gabriel Lindoff. It was the lirst peal of Surprise by all the band: Percy Taffs treble, Gabriel Lindoff 2, Charles Waterman 3. Willian Kings 4. William Baker 5 William Easter 6. William Cooke 7. William Haigh tenor. The 75th anniversary of this historic peal was commemorated by a peal on May 27th, 1968. at Gillingham. to the same composition conducted by Philip A. Corby, general secretary of the Association.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY GUILD

Dublin University Guild held its annual dinner on May 18th. when the president. Rev. Professo:- F. E. Vokes. presided. The following evening the Society rang at Blessington and the president, who turned up to "keep an eye on things", was press-ganged by the Recor to reading the lesson and preaching the sermon. The Society plan to have an autumn zour in Devon during the first week in Octoher, preceded by a quarter peal at Grayshott. Hants, the home of the assistant Ringing Master.

SHEFFIELD CATHEDRAL

There is a major scheme at Sheffield Cathedral. An iron frame is to be placed in the tower and three of the hells, which were found on inspection to be cracked, recast. The work has been placed with Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

FROME BRANCH STRIKING COMPETITION

The third annual striking competition was held at Marston Bigott (6) on May 25th, and the sun smiled down as about 50 members listened to their rivals" efforts. Eleven teams took part and the standard of striking generally was the best yet. The honours this year go to Farmborough ( 4 faults), ringing Cambridge; Midsomer Norton were second (5) with Plain Bob Minor, and Chilcumpton third ( 5 f) with London. There was, in fact, very little to choose between these teams. The judges, John Brain and Michael Horseman, both from Chew Branch, gave an interesting preface talk and then delivered the verdict, at the same time highlighting the reasons for each team's faults.
The real success of the day was the inclusion this year of an enthusiastic learners team with an average age of 13 -plus. If the competition did nothing else, it provided a vehicle for these striking-conscious youngsters, and their entry heartened the organisers who felt that at last the real aim of the competition had been achieved. It is to be hoped that their example will be emulated by other adult teams.
George Massey proposed the votes of thanks, amongst which he thanked George Wareham for all the local arrangements and the ladies for all their hard work in providing tea.

SUNDAY MORNING BELL

According to "Municipal Engincering". a complaint was received by the Public Health Department of Southampton C.B. of noise nuisance from a church bell rung for a few minutes as 8.30 on Sunday mornings. When told that this was not considered to be a nuisance the complainant organised a petition to the Health Committee. In his annual report the Chief Public Health Inspector stated that it was thought that many people had signed the petition just because they had been asked to do so and not because they considered the bell to be a noise nuisance.

BANK RINGING DAY

In connection with the Midland Bank Ltd's sports day on June 15th, ringing members of the Bank are visiting a number of London towers. In the morning it is hoped to ring at Sit. Vedast's, Foster Lane: St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate; St. Olave's. Hart Street : after lunch it is planned to visit St. Clement Danes', St. Luke's. Chelsea, and St. Mary-the-Virgin's. Putney. The ringers will then go to Becking: ham to join in the Bank's sports on their grounds.-

SALISBURY GLILD

The attendance was very good at the Marlborough Branch meeting at Pewsey on Mav 18th, considering that Marlhorough had been well represented at the Guild. Festival the previous week. Mr. F. Reed. Ringing Master, directed the ringing and the talent and keenness shown should be of great value to the Branch in the future.
In the absence of the Rector, the Rev. R. Keeley conducted the service, and tea was prepared by Mrs. K. R. Hoare and helpers.

SWANSEA AND BRECON RINGING COMPETITION

Seven bands turned up at St. Catherine's. Buglan, for the 1968 Ringing Competition on May 25th. By 2.30 p.m. everyone was ready to start. The Main Class, which consisted of method ringing, was taken first. The bands entering for this class were St. Mary's, Swansea, Cadoxton, Newton Nottage and Sketty. After a brief spell the adjudication of the supplementary class commenced. The bands taking part were Glasbury, Talgarth and Sketty. The band from Brecon were unable to attend through illness of two members.
The ringing over, about 60 sat down 20 tea, laid out in the Church Hall, and this was appreckated by everyone.
After the Vicar, the Rev. D. I. Lewis, had given a warm welcome to St. Catherine's, the adjudicator, Mr. L. Evans, in his summing up, gave the following results: Supplementary Class (rounds, call changes and plain hunung): Sketty 70 faults, Talgarth 60 and Glasbury 30 . Glasbury were therefore the winners and were awarded the certificate. The Main Class (method ringing, without raising or lowering of the bells): St. Mary's, Swansea, 68 faults, Sketty 46. Newton Nottage 27 and Cadorton 15. Cadoxton received the shield, Newton Nottage being second and Sketty third.
The interest shown in the Supplementary Class on this occasion will mean that this class, for the younger ringers, is here to stay.
Thanks were accorded to the Vicar for granting permission to use the bells for the competition, and the ringers and friends of Baglan for the excellent tea and for their voluntary work in preparing and serving same.
Further ringing concluded a very satisfactory day.

CRAWFORD CUP

On May 25th Mansfield District of the Southwell Guild visited Blackwell, where they held a pleasant joint meeting with the East Derbyshire and West Notts Association in spite of the weather. Good use was made of the grand little six from 3 p.m. onwards and South Normanton bells during the evening.

The Rev. H. Stoppard kindly officiated at the service. following which everyone retired to the George and Dragon at Newton, where. by courtesy of Mrs. Beecroft. an excellent tea had been prepared by the ladies.
The Mansfield District's eliminating round for the Crawford Cup had been rung off during the afternoon at Tibshelf. and the results were announced by the judges (Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bradley, of Shelford). Of the two teams comneting, Warson were declared the winners. having rung 360 Norwich Surprise with 94 faults plus a penalty of 10 . The runners-up were Greasley, who rane 360 Grandsire Doubles. incurring 175 faults. In her report Mrs. Bradley expressed the judges' disappointment in having only two teams to judge.
Three new members were elected and the husiness meeting closed with a comprehensive vote of thanks to the incumbents of the three churches and all who had helped in any way.
Next meeting: July 27th, Edwinstowe.

"METHOD STRUCTURE IN CHANGE RINGING"

An introduction to its Theory and Technology - being PART II of the "RINGERS" MANUAL OF REFERENCE"
-This work, second in its series in Campanology. is again unique. It is complete in uself.
-It is prepsred both for bepiners and advanced students.
-li is mot a tert-book on specific methods, but shows, for the first time, the detailed structure of the geaeral play ot change-production by sype of "tmerhore" and their "cosnare" stases The Rnansis is beipful in method-learning -Well bound in po ateractive giff cover. wito gola citering the book measures $\left.8^{\prime \prime} \times 61^{\circ \prime}\right)^{\circ}$ wito goka contars nearls 300 of sneb torge 8 xges $x l^{2}$ acd contalus nearly 300 of sucb targe pages: with ome 8 taunes or diagrams, and 8 doubleDage and 5 single-page "charts."

- Each chapier closes with test-auestions and indicuted answers. Tbere are also series of definitions, "deseriphous and azioms, arranged to serve as an indet.

Paragraphs throughout the buok are numbered for ready cross-reference
-The book is remarkably well commended, especially by reading figures of the Exercise, including Canon Gllbert Tharlow, Fredk. Starpe and E. C. Shepmend iso C.C. Literatore and Press Commistee.
-Withour this book a "ringing" bookshelf is incomplere.
-The whole wark was planned for issue at minimum cost O. grobiucuon the price being thereby cut from poinds $t 0$ shillings, so as to be withlo the reach of all. The gnee. packing and inland postage included, at only $17 /$. (Seventeen shitlings.

OUR APOLOGIES

The picture that appeared on our cover of June 7th issue was not St. Katharine's Church, Merstham, but a church that we have not yet identified.

This unfortunate mishap is very much regretted and we apologise to our readers, and in particular to the Surrey Association, who were hoping to take advantage of this picture to push "Ringing World" sales.

A LANCASHIRE OUTING

Weeks of thorough planning and hard work on the part of Betty Omrod and Alan Ward preceded the annual outing of the ringers of St. James', Birch-in-Rusholme, and Manchester Cathedral on May 18th. Thus it came as no surprise when we left our last picking-up point in Manchester for Yorkshire exactly at the prearranged time, replete with our full complement of about 30 ringers and friends.

The first tower, at Holy Trinity, Skipton, was reached in good time. Here the ringing included rounds and call changes and a plain course (?) of Double Norwich, which collapsed after an unexpected "bob" call. A good 144 of Stedman Triples, however, concluded our ringing and set us on our way to Ripon Cathedral with restored confidence. While Little Bob Royal, Grandsire Caters and Cambridge Surprise Major were rung, non-ringers took the opportunity of viewing the inside of the Cathedral.
Then occurred the only mishap of the outing. Confused by the narrow and tortuous streets of Ripon, we set out for York in a westerly direction and after a three-mile excursion towards Fountains Abbey we doubled back to Ripon and thence to York Minster. The bells were promptly raised. Ringing included a course of Grandsire Cinques and majestic two courses of Stedman Triples on the back eight.

The weather continued to be kind, and a leisurely walk through the ancient and attractive streets of York brought $u_{s}$ to an eagerlyawaited mixed grill tea. Half-an-hour remained before leaving York and a group of us walked round part of the city walls under the able direction of Ian Goldthorpe, who drew our attention to architecture of note.
Our last tower was at St. John the Baptist's. Knaresborough. Spliced Kent and Oxford Treble Bob crowned our ringing here Before setting off for Manchester, plans were being made for next year's ringing outing, being proof of the successful conclusion of this one.

Many thanks are due to the organisers, incumbents and tower captains for making this enjoyable day possible.
P. G. B-K.

SALISBURY STRIKING CONTEST

The annual striking competition of the Salisbury Branch was held at Broadchalke on May 25th. The six bells are very pleasant to listen to inside and out of the tower. Six teams entered including two from the local tower. The result was a narrow victory for Enford with 30 faults, over last year's winners, Fittleton, with 33 faults, followed by Broadchalke "A" 45 , Wilton 49 , Sarum St. Thomas 57 and Broadchalke "B" 74 . We thank Messrs. R. G. Robertson and H. Pitman for judging the ringing, and the Broadchalke ladies for an excellent tea. G.A.T.

STEDMAN MINIMUS

Dear Sir, -In answer to your readers' questions on Stedman Minimus, the method rung a: Newtown, Hants, is as follows.

| STEDMAN MINIMUS |  |  |
| :--- | :--- | :--- |
| $\mathbf{1 2 3 4}$ | $\frac{1342}{}$ | $\underline{1423}$ |
| 2134 | 3142 | 4123 |
| 2314 | 3412 | 4213 |
| 3241, | 4321 | 2431 |
| 2341 | 3421 | 4231 |
| 2431 | 3241 | 4321 |
| 4231 | 2341 | 3421 |
| 4321 | 2431 | 3241 |
| 3421 | 4231 | 2341 |
| 4312 | 2413 | 3214 |

| 1432 | 1243 | 1324 |
| 1342 | 1423 | 1234 |

Consists of 36 changes; all bells ring the Stedman Slow Work except the treble, which sticks to a plain hunt.
This is an ideal method for teaching the basic principles of Stedman, and it was with this in mind that we rang it, intending to attempt a peal of Doubles the following week.

Whether it will conform to Central Council rules and regulations remains to be seen. The following, given to me by an eminent London ringer as a more true extension of Stedman, may be of interest to readers Johnson and Bedford. The London ringer's claim is that the 48 changes will be aocepted under Central Council rules, as each change is repeated once and all the bells work quick and slow; however, the 12 blows behind may deter ringers from using it, but 1 publish it in the hope that it may be of some assistance in teaching Stedman.

| 1234 |  |  |  |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
|  |  |  |  |

| 2431 | 3142 | 4213 | 1324 |
| 2341 | 3412 | 4123 | 1234 |

Most methods can be worked out on four bells; there is even a form of Grandsire without a hunt bell that I have worked out and, as far as I know, has no name. This is a true 24 , whilst the hunt bell version consisis of only two leads. As a matter of interest I have set this out:-

| 1234 | 1342 | 1423 |
| :--- | :--- | :--- |
|  | 3142 | 4123 |
| 2314 | 3412 | 4213 |
| 3241 | 4321 | 2431 |
| 3421 | 4231 | 2341 |
| 4312 | 2413 | 3214 |
| 4132 | 2143 | 3124 |
| 1432 | 1243 | 1324 |
| 1342 | 1423 | 1234 |

It is interesting to note that both this method and Stedman Minimus has Plain Bob lead-ends as lined; I hope they will prove of interest to your readers, especially those who ring on four bells, to give them some variety. Yours sincerely,
G. K. DODD

SALISBURY DIOCESAN FESTIVAL

THE Annual Festival of the Guild was held at wimborne Minster on May llth. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. D. J. Siricklanu, and the aadress given by the Rev. K. Keetey, Kinging Master of the Martborouga Branca. The singing was led by the Minster choir, whose rendering of Purcell's "Bell" anthem will long be remembered. Mr. E. C. Shepherd and ringers from Lyme Regis rang a course of Granosire Caters during the service.
The meeting and tea, attended by $180 \mathrm{mem}-$ bers, were heid in the Queen Elizabeth's Grammar School. Among those present were Mr. W. C. West (president), Mr. G. H. Harding (Vice-presiaent) and Counculor H. V. Purchase, chairiman of Wimborne U.D.C. Mr. Purchase, in weicoming the Guid to Wimborne, spoke ot his appreciation of bells. Mr. West thanked him tor his welcome and said the Guild extended from Martborough in the north to Poole and Lyme Regis in the south.
The Master, Lhe Kev. R. N. Longridge, then read the names of Guid members lost by death during the year: R. Dennett, W. Paull, J Gardner, G. Whitemore, B. thisworth, W. Hiscock, H. A. Roles, W. Roberts, A. G. Freegard, H. I. Cornick, C. Pretty, E. Marlow, F. Rumming, D. Hughes, J. Hayne, J. Walter, Mrs. W. Hiscock and Mrs. C. Carew Cox. The meeting stood in silent tribute.

WASTAGE OF RECRUITS

The minutes of the last meeting were read and signed. The general secretary in his report referred to the hign wastage of new recruts and expressed the hope that the extension of striking competitions and instruction in method ringing mignt help to stop this. He congratulated Mr. G. H. Harding upon cumpleting 60 years' membership of the Guid and referred to the several offices he had held during this time. Mr. A. Palmer was thanked for his efforts over the past 30 years as secretary of the Marlborough Branch. He also informed the meeting that some 12 belfry inspections had been carried out during the year and that work had been done in several towers.

Turning to the accounts, which showed an increased balance of $£ 25$, the secretary pointed out that the annual subscriptions fell short of the expenses by $£ 10$.

The Master prefaced his address by thanks to the Vicar for the service and to the choir. He referred with regret to the death of Mr . H. A. Roles, chaırman of the Salisbuy Branch, and welcomed Mr. N. Sketton as the new chairman and librarian. In adding his congratutations to Mr. Harding, he reminded the meeting that botn Mr. W. Snute and Mr. B. Ridout had been ringers for 60 years, but they had a very remarkable example of longevity as a ringer in Mr. Stedman, of Wyke Kegis, who rang in a quarter peal in honour of mus 9 jra birthaay. At the other end of the scale the Guild had young ringers of seven years of age. It was a great pleasure to note that Beaminster belis were ringing again and that Yerminster bells had been rehung.

Officers elected for the coming year were: Master, the Rev. R. N. Longridge; hon. general secretary, Mr. F. Slatford; assistant secretary, Mr. N. Knee. The Guild Committee was re-elected with the addition of Mr. J. T. Barrett. The Rev. R. Keeley, Messrs. G. S. Morris, J. T. Barrett and E. Hitchins were elected as Central Council representatives. Mrs. W. C. West, Mrs. 1. Macey and G. smun were elected hon. life ringing members.
Grants of $£ 15$ 10s. Were given to Milborne St. Andrew and Edington, where it is hoped to add another ring os ren to the Guila betore the end of the year.

HIGHER SUBSCRIPTIONS

Mr. Newman (Marlborough Branch), referring to the accounts, said his Branch was having difficulty in balancing the books, and was it not time to increase the subscription? He gave formal notice that this be placed on next year's agenda, when a subscription of 5 s . for senior and 3 s . 6 d . for junior members be discussed. Mrs. Robertson (Wimborne Branch) supported this.

The secretary announced that badges were once again for sale at $6 s$. from the assistant secretary, Mr. N. Knee, in a slightly new design. He gave notice that the next Festival would be held at Wootton Bassett on May 10th, 1969.

The meeting closed, ringers dispersing 10 some 12 towers in the area before making for home.

THE DEVON GUILD AT BIDEFORD

$\mathrm{T}_{\mathrm{H}}$He Devon Guild held its annual general meeting at Bideford on May 25th, when the event attracted about 130 members and friends, there being 16 towers open for ringing throughout the day.
The service at the Parish Church was conducted by the Rev. T. Derwent Davies (Vicar), assisted by Preb. J. H. B. Andrews, the Guild's president, who gave the address.

After a splendid tea in the Parish Hall the business meeting followed with Preb. Andrews in the chair, when six apologies for absence were received. There had been three deaths during the past year and the meeting stood in silent tribute.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and passed, and the reports of the secretary, treasurer, librarian and adviser of bells were all adopted. The officers were re-elected en bloc, these being Preb. Andrews (president), Messrs. D. J. Roberts (general secretary), G. J. L. Read (general treasurer), W. Simmonds (peal secretary), J. Perkins (auditor) and the Rev. J. G. M. Scott (librarian and adviser of bells).
Messrs. N. Mallett, D. R. Bould and the Rev. J. G. M. Scott were re-elected to the C.C. for the next three years, whilst Fr. Paulinus Angold. of Buckfast Abbey, was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by Miss B M. Boyle leaving the county. For her services Miss Boyle was made an honorary life member.

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE T. G. MYcRS
Four suggestions were discussed for a proposed memorial to the late Mr. T. G. Myers.「hese were a trophy for a Guild striking competition; a piece of church plate for St. Andrew's, Plymouth; a memorial chain of office for the Guild Master; a trophy for a Guild tower proficiency competition. After discussion. the meeting favoured a Master's chain of office.
The joint service with the Devon Association is to be held at Exeter Cathedral on Saturday, October 26th. The 1969 annual general meeting is to be held in the Torbay area.
Six Guild certificates were presented and it was decided to place on record a vote of thanks to Miss. Whitford for writing up the peal books. Votes of thanks for the service, use of the bells, the ladies' committee for the excellent tea and the president for presiding concluded the meeting

SOLUTION TO URANGWOT

No. 5
This puzzle did not attract as many entries as earlier ones. Males and females were represented equally in the 12 entries, of which eight were regarded as acceptable. In spite of a five to three ratio for the ladies among the correct entries, it was a man who came first out of the hat, to give the prize to Michael C. E. Hodge, 56, Bath Street, Abingdon, Berks.
Consideration of the data readily establishes that Lesley and Carol are not ringing the treble or the third. Duncan and Ann are working bells and so are not on treble or tenor. This leaves Alan or Harry for the treble, but as Alan can see only the fifth and the treble can see three bells. it must bo Harry on the treble. By similar reasoning the rest of the band can be worked out to obtain the result : Harry 1, Alan 2, Ann 3, Lesley 4. Duncan 5 and Carol 6.
The sketch of this unique tower fulfilling the requirements is somewhat like this:

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

St. Albans District

Saturday, May 18 th, saw the District visiting Wheathampstead (six tine bells), but the 60 feet of unguided rope kept some of the more nervous members in the background! Methods including London and Norwich were rung during the afternoon, and newer members and visitors had plenty of rounds and coped very well with the ropes. The Rev. G. T. Roe led a short service and then joined us for tea in the hall.
The Rev. Malcolm Melville was elected to :he chair at the meeting.
The Ringing Master said he was disappointed at the number of people who had put their names down as wanting peals organised. Anyone wanting a peal should write to Gerald Penney.

The Wheathampstead ringers thanked everyone for the support for their sponsored walk. It proved to be a profitable day, although the final amount is still not known.
Mr. Fred Ellis, tower captain at Wheathampstead, said he was sorry that ringing time had been shorter than normal; architects were rather worried by a crack in the tower, so ringing did not start until 3.30 p.m. and was just from 7 until 8 in the evening.
Mrs. Hardy said that she would make and sell large paper flowers, the proceeds to go to the "Central Council Visit" fund. Orders should be given to her.

After the meeting a few stayed to ring handbells in the hall-meanwhile the treble stay was broken back in the tower! Ringing carried on until 8 p.m., the other five stays surviving !

Forthcoming events.-Next meeting. Welwyn (8) June 15th; barbecue, St. Michael's, St. Albans. September 7th; dinner. December 7th.

"They are all Honourable Men"

The Official Journal of the Central $\mathrm{B}^{\text {RUTUS }}$ was an honourable man, so are they all, all honourable men." This sentence from Mark Antony's speech from "Julius Cæsar" seems particularly applicable after listening to the harrowing debate on "The Ringing World" at Worcester. After the dust from the explosions had settled, the president cooled the tension by stating that the Appendix was an honest report of what the Committee thought the facts were, and they were all honourable men, and so were Mr. Beresford, who had an expansive file, and Mr. Pipe. History will give the answer.
This appendix was especially asked for at the end of the Nottingham debate. The Committee studied the draft paragraph by paragraph, and they were guided by the general secretary and the treasurer to "The Ringing World". There were alterations and paragraphs were deleted. These deliberations were set up in page form so that they could be used in "The Ringing World". The Editor came to the conclusion, in consultation with a member of the Committee, that it would be an advantage to publish this separate from the 1967 report of the Committee. It was not a secret document: it was prepared for the Council and readers; it was the reply of the Committee to allegations that nearly resulted in resignations en bloc from the Committee. This was news and in the Editor's opinion should be published.
Readers can draw their own conclusion that the Appendix was not accepted by the Council. It is "the facts" as they saw them. To Mr. Beresford it was a "complete travesty of the truth", and he had the sympathy of those who wanted the issue burned or the four pages detached or blacked out in the style of a Rhodesian paper! If the Editor was forced to take such action the copies of the report would be a priceless ringing document, passed from hand to hand and phrases repeated from mouth to mouth as remembered.

There were only three active members of the Committee-the convener, Mr. W. G. Wilson and Mr. Denis Bayles. All three are friends of the Editor and it was a sad moment for him when one brought accusations against the others. The Council must realise that this is not a slap-dash committee. There is a monthly report sent by the Editor to each member, setting out the position. Mrs. Bottomiey, the assistant secretary to the Council, minutes the proceedings of the Committee and these are circulated within a few days. At the Birmingham Committee meeting in March the accounts for 1967 were discussed, and it was there and then decided that the Committee should meet before the Standing Committee at Worcester and report the steps they were taking to meet the situation. The illness of Mr. Jeater created an impossibility for the convener to report the situation earlier. The auditor finished his report on the Friday night before the Committee met on Sunday.
In a long life of public service the Editor has never known a case of a member remaining on a committee providing he could have his own nominee to sit by his side. The Council acquiesced without a murmur. The Editor is pleased that Mr. Bayles is remaining on the Committee to help him with the journal, but it is all very strange. The best thing for the Committee is to forget the past unpleasant scenes and, with the aid of two new members, face the future with confidence. Remember, they are all honourable men.

St. Mary Magdalene, Wethersfield, Essex

By Mrs. J. E. Poulter

THE lovely church of St. Mary Magdalene looks down from the top of the hill on which stands the North Essex village of Wethersfield.
This once small village was mentioned in the Domesday Book, and was then the home of approximately 370 people. It has grown over the years and is still being developed, although the character of the village is unspoilt. A large number of the people now living here are American servicemen and their families attached to the nearby Wethersfield Air Base.
The church dates back to the 12 th century, although there was probably a church here long before this, judging by the Saxon work on the north side.
The oldest part now existing is the large west tower, nearly 28 feet square on the outside. The original church attached to this tower was just a nave and chancel, the foundations of which could be easily traced many years later when the floors were taken up. The foundations of the east wall were uncovered nearly opposite the present vestry door, showing even its stucco picked out with lines of red colour.

In the early part of the 13 th century the nave was lengthened by taking in part of the chancel, and an aisle was built on the south side. The north aisle was built in the latter half of the century, explaining the round pillars of the south aisle and the octagonal ones of the north side.
The chancel was enlarged and restored in the early 14th century.

Both north and south porches are 15th century, as are the font and rood screen. The screen was then coloured.

The fine alabaster tomb now in the chancel was at one time thrown out in the churchyard and badly damaged. It depicts the sleeping figures of Henry Wentworth and his wife as they were in the 15th century.

Nearly 100 years ago an organ chamber and vestry were erected on the south side of the chancel, and a lepers' window, which was removed to allow for the archway for the organ, was then put in the east window of the new vestry.

There are six bells with a tenor of about $14 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. inscribed: MILES GRAYE MADE ME 1623. The 3rd and 5th are early 19th century by Thomas Mears, as is also the clock bell. The remaining three were all cast by G. Mears in 1858.

The first known peal on the bells was rung in 1930 for the Essex Association and conducted by Olave E. Broyd. There have

Demand for Issue to be Burned or Pages Blackened Out

For the third year in succession the report of "The Ringing World" Committee has given rise to acrimony. At the Council meeting at Nottingham the Committee was requested to present a report on two things-the improvement of the journal and observations on the questionnaire. This formed the appendix to the Committee's report which was printed and circulated to members of the Council and supplied to the Editor with other Committee reports. This report was published in full in our last issue, which went to press before the Council meeting at Worcester. There was precedent for such procedure. In past years Committee reports had been published in advance.

The report was received with a furore of opposition. There were demands that it should not be published, that the issue should be burned or the four pages blacked out. Mr. Dennis Beresford, the joint author of the report suggesting how the journal could be improved, described the Appendix as a "travesty of truth".

Eventually wiser counsels prevailed. The president pointed out that both sides thought they were giving the true facts. A resolution was passed commending the Committee on the improved "Ringing World" but the Appendix was not accepted.

The convener (Mr. R. S. Anderson) also faced opposition from within. Mr. D. Bayles brought a general complaint on how the Committee was run and also that he was not consulted over the financial position. He threatened to resign unless his own nomineeThe Council acquiesced, but also added Mrs. Jill Staniforth in place of Mr. J. F. Smallwood, who had retired after years of outstanding service.

REPORT OF "THE RINGING WORLD"

COMMITTEF

1.-The Council last year at Nottingham instructed us to include in our Report to be submitted in 1968 a statement of the measures we had taken and the plans we had made for widening the appeal of "The Ringing World " to all sections of the ringing fraternity. As required, we now submit in a printed appendix a very long and full report of the events of the past two years, with details of the various matters put to us and our actions (or reasons for inaction) thereon. We would point out that the report was written last August so that the report was written last August so does not refer to matters that have happened since then. Also that it refutes most emphatically the criticism we hear so often that the Exercise is not told of our plans and decisions, or the financial or other reasons for them.
2.-This policy of telling the Exercise has been continued since August by reports in "The Ringing World "and we cannot be held responsible if such reports are not read or not remembered.
3.-We would also draw special attention to other matters brought out in our report or apparent from the census referred to therein. It can be fairly assumed that the 25 per cent. of readers who filled in the census forms was representative of the keenest and most interested readers of "The Ringing World." Of this percentage, less than three-quarters in reply to a question which said that a price increase must occur indicated their willingness to nay. It can also be fairly assumed that the large majority of those who did not reply would be against any increase in price unless it was essential for the survival of the paper. 4.- We would also draw soecial attention to our comments in paragraph 19 (viii) of the printed appendix, that by no means the whole of anv increase of 3 d , a week would accrue to "The Rinoine World.'
5.-We have been told that our annual reonrts are no more than financial statements. dealing with matters that ran he seen or नediced from "The Ringing World" arrounts. hut the weekly apnearance of "The Ringing World" forms in fact our annual report-in S? or 53 instrlments. And we helieve that is a verv nuhlic and verv tonical report done in thic wav. We do not consider that members of this Council. well infnrmed and constant readers ase thev are. will wich in have a' ontter history of what has anneared in the paner during the preceding calendar year, but it is worth noting that 96 extra pages (including 28 issues having coloured covers) were provided during the year at a cost of some $£ 960$. 6.-The issues of "The Ringing World " between October, 1966, and August, 1967, specially mentioned in paragraph 41 of the printed appendix and the issues since that date, are an indication of the immense amount of thought and care which has been put into the work, both by the Editor and members of the committee. With the latter we must associate the Council's secretary and Mrs. Bottomley and Mr. D. Hughes, our treasurer. We willingly admit that the events of the 12 months between the Bath meeting in 1966 and the Nottinglam meeting in 1967, unfortunate though they were in many respects, have had an effect both on the efforts of the committee and on the Exercise generally.
7.-The evident feeling of the Council that our present tinances justified cautious expansion, even involving some risk of loss, has encouraged the committee to extend its thinking. The effect on circulation ing. The effect on circulation has been most gratifying. For cach of the last four weeks of 1967 the circulation figure has been above 6.000-even rising to more than 6,200 , but this expansion has had to be paid for. The draft accounts available at the time of writing this report indicate that, whereas in 1966 there was a net prolit of $£ 855$, in 1967 there will have been a net loss of over $£ 500$. We have arranged for a statement of account at April 30th. 1968, so that we and the Council may be informed of the trend of income and expenditure to as late a date as possihle. It is. however. clear that during 1967, while our income increased by a total of some $£ 700$, our expenditure rose hy some $£ 2,200$. Almost half of this, as indicated. was for an additional service to our readers. Apart from the increased cost of printing and despatch, a larger paper and more subscribers inevitably entail more expenditure on staff.
8.- Costs will undoubtedly continue to rise. Postal increases are foreshadowed and already in 1968 we have had to fare increased printing costs, and shall have additional National Insurance charges. To our mind it is unthinkable that the Council and the Exercise will wish us to return to a smaller naper. without the coloured cover and picture. The choice hefore the Council mav well be hetween this and an increase in price. We have arransed to meet hefore the Council meeting at Whitsun and will sthmit nur views in the lipht of the latest possible information. Even if a price increase proves necessary, it is certain that to retain a paper of the standard we have been aiming at we must also maintain the present upward trend in circulation, and shall need increased donations from our readers.
9.- We heard with regret at our committee meeting in December that Mr. J. Frank Smallwood wished to retire from the committee. Over many years Frank Smallwood has given to the Exercise devoted and generous service and particularly has this been evident in his membership of "The Ringing World "Committee, of which he was convener until comparatively recently. Only those who have served with him in this exacting and, at times, not only thankless but on occasion severely criticised sphere, can speak of his unfailing sense of duty and purpose. He has always reparded as a duty the task of ensuring that "The Ringing World" appeared without fail week in and week out. His standards both as repards conv and printing have been of the highest. whilst his wide experience as a practical printer has heen of inestimable value.

DEBT TO MR. SMALLWOOD

Appointed to a committee with no linancial reserves and a limited income, to produce a weekly paper, to him his purpose inımediately was clear-to provide a readable journal concurrently with building up adequate reserves against possible contingencies. Criticism, fair or otherwise, never deflected him from this path, and the Exercise owes to him the present financial strength of our accounts and the fact that projects which he would dearly have liked to introduce years ago are now being undertaken. The committee are pleased to know that when necessary he will still be a vailable to them for advice and guidance and feel sure the "Council will join them in saying "thank you" to one of the Exercise's mos: loyal servants.
10.-The retirement of Mr. Smallwood leaves a committee of three and we have thought it right to consult the Standing Committee of the Council as to the future composition of the committee.

Tbroughout a period of difficulty and frustration the Council and the committee have had the services of one person, whose toil in the interests of "The Ringing World", has continued not only undiminished but enthusiastically, the Editor-Mr. T. W. White, and your committec are sincerely grateful for all his work. No less appreciative is your committee of the valuable work of Mrs. Lucus at the Guildford office: Mr. H. L. Roper, who once more without recompense prepared the Index; and to all those who have made any contribution, great or small, to the journal throughout the year. Without this host of willing co-operation "The Ringing World" would be the poorer.
A special tribute nust he paid to Mr. Jeater. who has intimated that he finds it necessury for health reasons to resign during this coming summer. For years he has looked after the accounts of postal subscribers most efficiently, and we sincerely hope that his healtht will improve, and offer him our gratitude for his work for the paper.
Your committee also much appreciate the interest and guidance of Mr. Bottomley over What has undoubtedly been a difficult period. and no less the help of Mrs. Bottomley in taking notes at our meetings and providing and serving us with some most eniovable lunches, enabling us to continue our deliherations without any break. Our thanks are also rendered to Mr. Hughes for providing facilities for our meeting and lunch at the Foundry. We would also wish to thank the two bell-founders-Messrs. Mears and Stainbank and John Taylor and Co.-for their continued help and support by the donation each week of the page used for Belfry Gossin and headed the oage used for Belfry Gossio and headed of this kind is greatly appreciated.

PEAL REPORTS AND CHARGES

The Central Council has several times debated the idea of imposing a charge for the publication of peal reports in ". The Ringing World "and each time has rejected the principle of a compulsory charge.

There are objections to the idea on practical grounds. The cost and effort put into collection and checking would greatly reduce the net income. Currently peals are being rung at a rate of nbout 3,000 per annum. with an average of eight ropes per peal. One shilling per rope can be taken as the maximum acceptable charge and this would produce a gros income of $£ 1,200$ per annum. At present voluntary contributions attributable to peal ringers amount to about $£ 200$ per annum. The nex increase of $£ 1,000$ would be considerably reduced by tho cost of additional clerical assistance that would be required, and the office at Guildford is already overcrowded !
The committee noted with appreciation the desire expressed by many peal ringers at Notingham to make some contribution. It commends the idea of voluntary contributions and suggests that peal ringets might aim to contribute on a similar scale to those who ring quarter peals, based on the space occupled. In 1967 quarter peals contributed occupled. In 1967 quarter peals contributed only E1 per page. Approximately 15 peals per page give 120 ropes, and so a contribution of about 1s. Ner rope is needed to achieve this objective It may be observed that production costs are currently running about $£ 10$ per page without overheads.

Much of the effort and expense in sending a multitude of small sums to Guildford could be saved if local secretaries or treasurers would collect and send in bulk. In many cases machinery is already in operation for collection of Assoclation peal fees, and little extra work would be entailed in collecting voluntary contributions to "The Ringing. World" for peals. All donations are appreciated and will continue to be "Gratefully acknowledged."

R S. ANDERSON (Convener).

D. BAYLES.
J. FRANK SMALLWOOD
W. G. WILSON

THE DISCUSSION

Mr. Anderson, in presenting the report. prefaced his remarks by a tribute to Mr. J. E. Jeater and the meticulous care with which he keept the accounts of "The Ringing World:" He did lis work principally as a labour of love. Mr. Jeater saild at the begnning of the year that his health was such that he could not continue after Junc. Unfortunately illness overtook him and they had to report his death. The Council owed a great debt of gratitude to Mr. Jeater. He was able to attend the Council meeting at Truro and to meet so many friends whom he had previously known as pen friends. His death was decply regretted.

The convener followed this with a reference to the retirement from the committee of Mr. Frank Smallwood. "Frank Smallwood." he said, "was not everybody's cup of tea. He is very stralght, very forthright; be has carried out an unenviable task with dedication and devotion and it was through him that the capital account of "The Ringing World " was in the position it was today." They wished him every happiness in his new surroundings and with his ringing friends in the south of England.

There was one other person to thank, continued Mr. Anderson, and that was Mr. C. W. Lucas, who had now assumed the responsibility for the duties carried out by Mr. Jeater. He had done a tremendous amount of work because there was a backlog of work, and he spent long hours to provide the azcounts to the end of April. These figures went to Mr. Tait, out auditor, who sacriliced part of his holiday and was thus able 10 hand the accounts to a member of the committee last Friday at 10.30 p.m. "We owe them both a debt of gratitude.
Mr. Anderson then turned to the accounts for 1967 , which he said showed a loss of $£ 522$. Taking into account that in 1966 there was a surplus of $£ 855-$ a turnover of $£ 1,357$. During 1967 printing costs went up by $£ 2,000$ and ade ministration by $£ 177$. The unaudited accounts from January 1st to April 30th showed a continued loss and for the four months $£ 458$. the equivalent of $£ 1,374$ for a full year.

PRINTING BILL $50 \%$ INCREASE

He would like to remind the Council that the printing bill had now reached $$ 12,000$. In 1966 it was $£ 8,000$, in $1967 $ 10,000$. Thus from 1966 there had been an increase of 50 per cent. Further increases were inevitable; there was a printer's increase due at the end of September and postal charges would also increase about that time. The circulation had increased from 5,743 last May to 6,152 a week, an increase of just over 400. Unfortunately this increased income would not cover the coss of the extra copies.

The committee do not wish or believe that the Council wish to revert to a 16 -page plain white issue, even with a front page picture. Since last September, except for the Christmas holiday, they had had tinted cover issues and their policy was to continue such issues except for the August holiday and Christmas issues. Even with only 16 -page issues it would be impassible to continue on their present incomethere would have to be a revision of charges.
"I now give notice on behalf of my committee that, ms from the first issue in July, the cost of "The Ringing World" will be one shilling per copy, and the annual subscription wilt be 23 per annum. We have taken into account the increase in printing charges and the new postal rates. We hope that our postal subscribers will send the unexpired portion of their subscription, which works out at 1s. $6 d$. per month, to Guildford."

NO PEAL LEVY

They would see from their report that they have not considered a peal levy as a suitable way of doing things. It would entail a lot of extra work if introduced. They hoped, howe ever, that peal ringers would be more generous. During May quarter peal donations were £37, and peals only $£ 5$ In the issue of May 31st peals took up four and a half pages and quar. ier peals one and a half pages.

Mr. W. G. Wilson, in seconding the adoption of the report, associated himself with the remarks of the convener respecting Mr. Jeater and Mr. Smallwood. For the first few yeara he was on the committee he did not agree with all Jafus said, but he now knew that what he said was for his benefit and the Exercise as a whole.

APPENDIX "A" FACTUAL

Referring to Appendix " $A$ " (published in the issue of June 7 th ). he said this long report was mostly written last August. Some of them might think it was a fairy story, but it was not -it was factual, and he would be very happy to show anybody the papers. There was an impression in some quarters that they got more through newsagents than trom postal copies and that they made a loss on postal copies. They had asked their suditor to perpare a statement on it and it was quite clear that they made a profit on postuls and a loss through newsagents. If they could persuade readers to take their copies through the post they would be belter oll.
There was one thing Mr. Anderson could have done. He could have underlined that only last Eriday "The Daily Mirror" Group reported a loss of $£ 4$ million in trading. He thought that with the increase announced "The Ringing Worid" would break even. Whatever they did the price had to go, up but they felt they had good value for their money.

ATTACK FROM WITHIN

Mr. D. Bayles, a members of " The Ringing World" Committee, said he thought the Council would be interested in the activities of the committee und the way it had reached is decision to increase the price to one shilling per copy from the beginning of July.
In the first half of 1967 there was some experimenting with the introduction of a colour Lusue. He did some homeworts. The increase in printing a coloured issue was about fdu per week. It was the convener who decided the number of coloured issues, and not the committec. He was so upset at the prospect of lass that he sent a copy of his calculations to the convener and the editor. These calculations were confirmed by a loss of $£ 500$ in 1967. He (Mr. Bayles) was not alarmed if the losy had been in the region of $£ 200$, but he was alarmed at the prospect of a loss of over $£ 1,000$ in 1968 . He circulated his estimate of the loss to members of the committee but only the secretary acknowledged the receipt of it. I. then seemed reasonable to suggest three coloured and one white issue per month for the first three months at the committee meeting in December at Whitechapel, but that was defeated. He was not complaining about that defeat. It was one of the fruits of democracy. There were two voles one way and one the other.

Then they came to the Henry Johnson Dinner meeting. They were told that coloured issues must be continued and it toot the general secretary and himself a long time to get a realistic picture that expenditure was running so much in excess of income. They had heard the result-a loss of $£ 438$ for four months. That was not much out of what he had said-a loss of $£ 1,000$ for the yeat, and yet his figures were not listened to.

NO AGENDA

Since the Johnson Dinner he had had no communication or agenda for the meeting last Sunday evening. There was no mention be forehand that they would have to consider a price increase. He felt when he arrived there he was presented with a fait accompli. He had just come down from Chester-le-Street: he was not blaming the committee, as he arrived late.

Mr. Bayles said he did not feel that a matter of this importance should be considered in such a precipitate manner. "I thought about it all day on Monday and when I came back I sew no point in being a member of my committee and therefore I proposed to retign unless a meeting was called in the very near future. This request was refused and it seemed to me that I had no alernative bus to resign.

Mr. Vernon Bottomiey (secretary of the Council).

"As 1 expected, I was approached by a number of people who caid 'You must not resign ; you must stay on the committec. The Council has put you there to do a joh.' I think the Council should know how the committee was run at the present time. I did think of resigning and offering myself for election but this might create procedural difficulties. Therefore the committec should be enlarged by one member of my nomination, who will be there primarily to bring about an improvement in the way the committee is run and to ensure that decisions are properly acted on and proper agendas are prepared before a member travels 200 or 300 miles to attend. Therefors 1 propose the name of Mr. Richard Speed be added to the committee.
Mr. Bernard Ashford (Worsesteshire Association) seconded.
Dr. C. M. P. Johnson (Cambridge University) supported Mr. Bayles. After listening to the convener's remarks he was not convinced that the price increase was enough, particularly in regard to the increased cost of production from $£ 8,000$ to $£ 12,000$. They had had very little warning of the proposed increase in charge and no actual prediction of the position next year. They had been told that there would be a ieduction in circulation. What they wanted was an increase in cost that would make sure cover for years to come.

SADDENED

Canon K. W. H. Felstead said that it was not often that he spoke seriously but quite honestly he was very saddened on hearing the report of "The Ringing World" Committee showing this type of disagreement between members of the committee. For many years he was convener of the Methods Committee and the members often had different opinlons but there was never disagreement like this. He boped the committee would get together in a friendly way and be a happy committee, which was better than making or losing money.
The Rev. J. G. W. Scott (Guild of Dovonshire Ringers) hoped that if the Appeadix was accepted one sentence would be deleted which stated he could not find "The Ringing World " on a station bookstall What he said was that he looked at the station tookstall and could find nothing that resembled "The Ringing World " in lormat. It looked out of date. He thought that in the past year it had improved so much that it was worth another threepence. He asked the Council not to accept the Appendix. Acrimony had gone on loug enough. What the Appendix had done was to boot two people who found it impossible to remain on the committec. He moved that "The Ringing World" Committee be congraulated on the improvement of the journal but that the Appendix be not uccepted.
Mr. W. F. Moreton seconded and said that he could see no good in discussing the Appendix. He suggested that they add two people to the committee
Mr. N. Chaddock proposed that Mrs. Jill Staniforth he added to the committee in addition to Mr. Speed. He had known her for many years. She was clear-minded. sensible and had a mind of her own
Mrs. Barnett seconded.
Mr. Philip Gray said it occurred to him thas there must be something wrong in the way the committee functioned He thought it was a normal practice for the general secretary to attend meetings. He asked him to see thas the right procedure was followed-io be is special watchdog.

MURKY PAST

Mr. Dennis Beresford (Society of Royal Cumberland Youths) said this was an unpleasant task for George Pipe and himself. The suggestion that John Scott had made would be ideal as far as they were concerned. They did not wish to drag up the murky past or to go through this document and see what a complete travesty of truth this Appendix really was. He would like an assurance that this report be not published and no reference in the report.

The Editor: May 1 say that this Appendix will appear in the next issuc.

Mry. Staniforth: We have the last say as to what appears in "The Ringing World." think we should ignore the Appendix and see that it does not appear.
The İditor: The paper is being printed today. The general secretary telephoned me a: 10.30 on Friday asking me to withhold the epport until ufter the mecting. We went to press at $11.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and it was impossible to witidraw it. I had not four pages ready to take its place.

Mr. G. Dodds (Hertford County Association) asked on what authority it was being published.

Mrs. Staniforth: There must be some way to stop it. Could we not concel this week' issuc?

Mr. Walter Ayre: I was going to suggest that i: be canselled.

The President: Is it possible to take it out in the bindery"?

The Editor replied that it would not be possibl: to remove the pages or black them out as suggested. This report was examined in detail by the committee and they had the assistance of the general secretary and the treasurer of "The Ringing World." It was set up with the dual purpuose as a report to the Council and to appear in "The Ringing World."

The general secretary said he was present at the meeting but his impression was that it would not be printed without permission.
Mr. C. K. Lewls said that at one time all reports were published before the meeting. They used to have them printed so that they could be discussed by the Associations.

Mr. J. Hartless: Would Messrs. Pipe and Beresford be prepared to accept a full apology published on the front pagee of next week's issue?

Group Capt. J. S. Mason (College Youths). Can we know what the consequences of this will be? I don't know what they are complaining about. What will be the eflect whes i: appears is "The Ringiag World "?

Ringing World Debate-continued

Mr. John Freeman (vice-president) said as he saw it this was a report of a committee It was not for the Council to dictate whether it should be published. It was news. The important thing was that since this statement had been made Messrs. Pipe and Beresford should be given an opportunity to reply
The president remarked that Mr. Freeman's observations were sound commonsense. The report had been printed and. short of burning the lot, there was nothing they could do. Those who printed the report thought these were the facts and they were all highly honourable men. It was perhaps a good thing that it was printed. Mr. Beresford has drawn attention to his file, which was an expansive one. Mr. Pipe had one also and one would have thought a simple way out would be for them to produce their version of the matter and thereafter to refer to the thing no longer. What the committec thought or understood about the way things had gone had to be in print.
The Rev. John Scott: I do not think that this report does credit to anyone. I hope that the fact that the Council rejected it will suffice and that Messri. Beresford and Pipe will be magnanimous and keep their facts to themselves.
The President: The next issue could have a note that while respecting the views of those who produced this report the Council rejected it, and that is the end of the matter.
Mr. Roper commended Mr. Scott's suggestion and hoped that Mr. Pipe and Mr. Beresford would not continue with acrimony. They must have satisfaction in knowing that they put ginger into " The Ringing World " which improved it.
Mr. E. A. Barnett endorsed the please of Mr. Roper and Mr. Scott. Mr. Pipe was not going to attend the meeting but changed his mind.

CONVENER'S REPLY

Mr. Anderson then asked for permission to reply. He was grected with cries of "No." The president. however, ruled that he was entitled to reply.

Mr. Anderson reminded the Council that *The Ringing World" Committee was given * charge (a) to produce the paper as it was to-day; (b) the Appendix. They received cartain recommendations which, if they were carried out, the loss would have been very much more.

Mr. Bayles had made certain accusations. Firstly, the coloured covers. He (Mr. Anderson) was in Guildford when the printers wanted to buy coloured paper. So far as the loss was concerned it was a calculated loss. The suggestion had been made in the previous Council that they could lose up to $£ 2,000$. At the March meeting as Birmingham the committee said it would consider the accounts to the end of April. This they did last Sunday and the vice-president attended that mecting. Agrecment was then reached as to price and he informed Mr. Bayles of the decision. (Mr. Bayles arrived late.) He was at the hotel all day and it took Mr. Bayles until 6 o'clock nefore he informed him that he did not agree. They had taken into account any possible loss of circulation in tixing their price.

A discussion followed on whether the Appendix was "rejected" or not accepted. Finally it was agreed that the report be adopted and the Appendix not accepted.

Mr. A. V. Davis made the suggestion that the Council elected at Bith should operate for the last year of the triennial period.

Clarifying Doubles Variations

In introducing his motion on this topic, Dr. Lewis stated that, in recent years, Douoles ringing had become chaotic. As far as the rules of the Central Council were concerned there was no such thing as a "variation." Nevertheless, variations were commonly rung to peals and these had always heen accepted by the Peals Analysis Committee. so that, de facto, the Central Council accepted variations. Unfortunately, because there were no rules relating to variations, a number of dubious peal arrangements had been rung.
Dr. Lewis illustrated the difference between a method and a variation by comparing Grandsire with Newborough. Grandsire had its own plain course, its own bob and single. Newborough uses the same plain course and hob as Grandsire, but utilises a plain lead of All Saınts' as a single. Because Grandsire has its own plain course it is a method. Newborough is only a variation because it uses Grandsire as its plain course.

Although Newborough is a traditional variation, which has been rung for hundreds of years, the Council might think that an extent of Newborough should be described as spliced Grandsire and All Saints'. If they took this view, then all variations which, at present, use a plain lead of another method as a call should cease to be variations and shouid be described as spliced. Mr. Blagrove's amendment to the original motion stated that categorically, and Dr. Lewis said that he would like to withdraw section (1) of his motion and replace it with section (1) of the amendment. Where a call which was not part of a plain course of another method was used in lieu of the usual call for the method being rung it would still be correct to describe the resultant 120 as a variation. In such a case the variation should be given its own name.

Referring to part 2 of his motion, Dr. Lewis thought it desirable that a variation should be capable of producing 120 true changes. Many variations rung at present were false, but because the falseness occurred within a lead it often went unnoticed. Dr. Lewis again suggested that Mr. Blagrove's amendment was hetter worded than his own, which he therefore withdrew.

The third part of the motion involved the Council in a technical description of the dubious practices that had been resorted to in order to ring multi-variation peals. Dr. Lewis analysed a set of variations hased on Grandsire using a S-SPx2 calling. He said that some people had used the following arrangement:- s Grandsire.

- Grandsire.

S All Saints' plain lead.

The president replied that hey had been told hy their legal adviser that for people to come back was not acceptable.

Mr. Richard Spced and Mrs. Jill Stanifort! were then clected to the committee.

Mr. Seager then suggested that the price increase should be left to the new committee.

Mr. W. G. Wilson explained that the increase in price was a matter for the committee. The decision could only be altered by the election oí a new committee.

The Council then passed on to the next husiness.

This they considered to give both Grandsire and Newborough. Although this might be so, the following part was completely unethical: S Grandsire.

S All Saints' plain lead.
P Grandsire
Here it was claimed that two variations had been rung, although the first required a Grandsire single and a Wallfower bob, as well as a plain lead of Grandsire, for its existence. The second required a Wallflower bob, an All Saints' plain lead (as a single) and a plain lead of Grandsire. Yet only one Wallfower bob and one plain lead of Grandsire had been rung.

Dr. Lewis maintained that the same hob could not be shared between two variations, neither could the same plain lead. Again he felt that Mr. Blagrove's amendment (No 3) was more suitably worded than his own, and he withdrew the third section of his motion in favour of the amendment.

Regarding the proposition to limit multimethod / variation peals on seven bells or less to 5,040 , Dr. Lewis said that he realised after discussion with Mr. Moreton that this would be unworkable. He was happy to withdraw this part of the motion completely, but would like to express his own opinion on it in public. He felt that it was not really playing fair to ring eight extents of Minor or 43 of Doubles and then say that one had rung more methods to a peal than had anyonc else. Perhaps some of his friends on the Council might take the hint!
Finally he said that it had not always, in the past, been possible to get details of the arrangement of particularly important peals. For the good of the Exercise their arrangement should be published, and this was demaided by the final section of his motion. It was felt that full details of the peal should be submitted to the Editor of "The Ringing World " at the same time that the peal was submitted. At Mr. Moreton's request, to facilitate the work of the Records, Peals Collection and Peals Analysis Committees, Dr. Lewis moved that these details should be published by January 31st of the year following the ringing of the peal.

Mr. Dukes then formally agreed to the withdrawal of sections (I), (II) and (III) of the motion, In favour of Mr. Blagrove's amendment, to the complete withdrawal of section (IV) and, finally, he seconded section (V).

Mr. Blagrove then proposed that his amendments, seconded by Mr. Butler, should replace those withdrawn in their favour by Dr. Lewis.
The Council proceeded to discuss the matter at some length and both Dr. Lewis and Mr. Blagrove were questioned closely on the implications of the motion. Mr. Dawson, in particular, felt that the proposed regulations were far too stringent. Canor Felstead and Mr. Moreton, however, strongly supported the motion in its amended form.

After further discussion the Council unanimously decided to adopt the amended motion. It should, perhaps, be stressed that there has been no restriction on the scope of ringing open to Doubles addicts. Many of the wellknown names, such as April Day, will be replaced by recognising that spliced extents of various methods have been rung, and this should help to clarify the confusion. True variations which are not spliced extents will continue to be rung and it is hoped that a collection of them may be publisbed in the future.

FILMS, RECORDS & TUTOR'S BOOK PLANNED

REPORT OF SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING AND EDUCATION COMMITTEE

Week-End and Day Courses,

IT is pleasing to note that certain centres seem now securely established for residential and day courses, and are able to develop new aspects and techniques and consolidate older ones which have proved very successful.

In this sphere we have the annual courses ai Hereford, pioncered by Mr. Moreton and the Hereford Guild, where the next venture is to be a five-day course, and the annual courses at Grantley Hall in Mr. Chaddock's hands.

Miss Cross and Mr. Sharpe both helped with the course at Cheltenham organised by the Gloucester and Bristol Guild and their own Guild is very active in this aspect of training. The Oxford Guild are planning for a potential leaders' course, a commendable aim, which, under different names, has also caught on in Derbyshire and Yorkshire.

The Lincoln Guild and the Derby Association have both followed up the earlier courses in which Mr. Moreton and Mr. Chad. dock gave assistance.

Along with the Durham and Newcastle Centre, continuity is thus established in six centres. Several other Guilds have already held courses and others are planning for them, and so it would seem that the movement is securely established. Advice has been given to many Guilds and the convener welcomes such inquiries.

Theologieal Colleges.-Mrs. Staniforth continues to maintain liaison between Theological Colleges and those concerned with organsing or giving lectures.

Washington Film.-The film was loaned out 17 times during 1967 and net income to date from this source now exceeds the cost of the film to the Council. The film is still in very good condition and continues to give pleasure to many viewers.

Film Strip.-A film strip is to be made on the work of bellfounders. Both our leading bellfounders have promised to help Mr. Sharpe and Mr. Moreton to produce this.

Film about Bell Ringing.-Following a request at the last Council meeting that an instructional film should be made, it is of interest that. by coincidence, a professional body has offered to make a film. Since their cost for a 15 -minute film would be likely to run into four figures, this sort of undertaking would seem to be outside our financial ability. It would seem that we await the enterprise of some 8 mm . enthusiast for a more economical production.
Gramophone Record Illustrating Good Striking-Inquiries are being made regarding the cost of producing a gramophone record with commentary, illustrating good striking, for use as a teaching aid with beginners.
Tutors' Handbook.-Provisional draft scripts were given to those members of the Standing Committee who asked to see one. The draft has been revised and rewritten and all comments received by the writers have been taken into account. The handbook will be in two related parts- Part I on "Bell Control" " has been written by Mr. Moreton., and Part II on "Elementary Change Ringing" by Mr. Chaddock. The handbook concentrates particularly on methods of teaching. It is hoped that it on methods of teaching will soon be available.

Miscellaneous Items.-During the year the convener has dealt with the following requests: Notes on "Teaching Bell Control," film strips on "Teaching Bell Control," syllabuses for evening institute courses, loans of general interest slides and visual aids for recruiting, "propaganda" efforts and open days, advice on purchase of secondhand handbells, advice regarding striking contest, advice regarding tune ringing and music, information regarding ringing films.

Mr. Sharpe has again given numerous lectures to societies and church organisations and assisted with several week-end courses.

The "Squarer Deal for Learners." - The convener has been in correspondence with Miss E. M. Barber about the above scheme, which she recently "launched and on which she has reported in "The Ringing World." Specinen test cards and notes about the scheme and tests were requested and received. The aim of this scheme is to encourage recruits and stimulate their progress. Miss Barber has put a good deal of work and enthusiasm into her scheme. The convener hopes to be able to report to the Council verbally on further discussions with Miss Barber about the scheme. NORMAN CHADDOCK
WILFRID F. MORETON. FREDERICK SHARPE. JILL STANIFORTH. MARIE R. CROSS.

Moving the adoption of the report, Mr. N. Chaddock said a film strip was likely to be produced this summer. He had discussed a "Squarer Deal for Learners" with Miss Barber. She had made various suggestions aimed at generating enthusiasm among learners.
Authority to publish the " Manual to Instructors" had been given, but the cost might be the deciding factor. What would be the ceiling? He was hoping that the publication would not exceed 8s. in cost.
Mr. W. F. Moreton seconded.
Miss Marie R. Cross: How many pages will it have and how would it compare nith the Ringers' Handbook?
Mr. Chaddock replied that it would be about 60 pages. It could be reduced according to price. It could cost 10 s ., but modern methods might reduce it to 6 s . or 7 s .
Mr. G. W. Pipe said he had been privileged to read the proofs. It was an excellent handbook and well werth 7s. 6d.
Mr. White said he understood the Ringers" Handbook would have to be reset shortly and it would increase cost.

FILM STRIP DISCUSSED

Mr. E. Billings (Peterborough Guild) said the Peterborough Guild had an 8 mm . film strip.
Mr. A. V. Davis (Winchester and Portsmouth) was delighted to hear that they would have a film strip, which would be a great help to people talking about ringing. He suggested that inquiries should be made from film clubs.
Mr. Chaddock said he had spent some time with Mr. Clive Smith and he suggested a cine club. He asked for Mr. Smith to be added to the committec.
Mr. Colin Lewis said the cultural arrangements in Ireland included assistance in making films.

The convener replied that they had no success to their application in this country.

Mr. Billings said the cost of the Northampton film, which was recently shown, was under £ 10.

NO CEILING TO HANDBOOK

A discussion followed on the cost of the tutors' handbook, during which it was suggested that a ceiling should be fixed or that it be published in two parts if it proved to be too costly.

Mr. R. S. Anderson: I think you will be tying the hands of the librarian if you fix a ceiling. We have appointed these officers and it would be a misplace of confidence.

GRAMOPHONE RECORDS

The convener said several people had written to him suggesting a gramophone record io illustrate good striking. The cost for an order of 100 records would be 21s. each; for over 100 the cost would be slightly cheaper. Perhaps the Clement Glenn Fund could be used to finance it.
Mr. Moreton supported the convener and Mr. Clive Smith said he had obtained a quotation of an actual disc and was prepared to go ahead with such recordings if the Council wished it.

Mr. Alan Ainsworth said he had produced a record of Stedman Cinques and sold 100 copies. They would sell 100 copies easily.
The Editor said the Bristol firm who advertised "The Bells of Bristol" in "The Ringing World" was very pleased with the number of replies they received. Perhaps Saydisc would provide the record if the Central Council provided the material.
Mr. V. Bottomley said there was $£ 185$ available in the Clement Glenn Fund; they could not withdraw more He suggested a limit of $£ 100$.

Mr. Hartless (Winchester and Portsmouth) urged the use of hard-wearing records, and Mr. H. Poyner hoped that six-bell, closed lead and call change ringing would be recorded.

It was agreed that Mr. Clive Smith be added to the committee and that they would be allowed to spend up to $£ 100$ from the Clement Glenn bequest.

Mr. E. A. Barnett said they should not pass the report without expressing thanks to the committee for the energy and enthusiasm with which they undertook their work.

YETMINSTER BELLS REDEDICATED

For a year all but a fortnight the village of Yetminster in North Dorset has been without five of its six bells ; no "rounds and call changes" to summon parishioners to worship. ne striking of the clock and no three-hourly rendering of the National Anthem. So Thursday, May 16th, was a great day when, after a thorough renovation of bells 2106 by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. of Loughborough, a service of rededication was held in a packed church. Good ringers' hymns, a lesson from Ecclesiastes xxxviii reminding us of the craftsman's skill, and an inspiring address from the Archdeacon of Sherborne (the Ven. E. J. G. Ward) were all appreciated.
As an act of dedication the Archdeacon tolled the bell three times, and a minute's rounds were rung by W. C. Shute (Ferndown), E. T. P. Field (Stoke-sub-Hamdon), Mrs. A. F. Godley (Yetminster), W. Bennett (West Coker), C. Vowles (Yetminster, captain) and J. Ellis (Yetminster), After the service there was ringing for all and refreshments were served in the Church Hall.
The general ieport was that the bell founders had done a splendid job and that the addition of rope guides was definitely a good thing.

OBITUARY

MR. JACK A. WAUGH

The news that Mr. Jack A. Waugh, of Woodford, Essex, had died on Whit Sunday, at the age of 56 , was received by his fellow members of the Ancient Society of College Youtns with feclings of great personal loss, for he was one of the Society's most devoted and highly esteemed members. He had been in poor health for some months but the end came with unexpected suddenness. The deep and sincere sympathy of the Society goes to Mrs. Waugh and to her son, Colin, and daughter, Eileen. By a tragic coincidence Jack's mother died just a few hours later.

For many years Jack had been a member of the company of ringers at Westminster Abbey and also of the St. Paul's Cathedral Guild of Ringers. It is a custom at Westminster Abbey that the body of a late servant of the Abbey shali rest there during the night preceding the funcral, and so it was that on the evening of June Sth the coffin was met in Dean's Yard by the Ven. E. F. Carpenter, Canon and Archdeacon of Westminster. After it had been draped with the richly-embroidered Westminster Abbey pall, the coffin was carried through the cloisters and along the north aisle to the Chapel of St. George, followed by Mrs. Waugh, her son and daughter and many ringers.

At the conclusion of a short service a course of Stedman Triples was rung on handbells by a band which included the leaders of the Westminster Abbey and St. Paul's Cathedral ringers. Among those present were the Master, secretary, other officers, ten past Masters and members of the Ancient Society of College Youths and the Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. So we left our dear friend Jack to rest in the noble Abbey Church which he so much loved and which he had served faithfully and well.

On June 6th his body was conveyed from the Abbey to Woodford Parish Church and there a funeral service was conducted by the Rector for both Jack and his mother. Before the service the bells were rung half-muffled by members of the College Youths, the Essex Association and the local band, of which Jack had been a member.

Jack learned to ring at Woodford and he soon became very well known in London ringing circles. In 1926, at the age of 14. he became a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths and throughout the rest of his life he was a loyal and enthusiastic member. He was junior steward at the time of the Society's tercentenary, then senior steward for several years and elected Master in 1948. For a time he was one of the Society's Central Council representatives (1939-47) and since 1966 he had been a trustee. As well as his service to the Ancient Society he had also served the London County Association for several years as an officer of the Northern District. first as secretary, then as Master, and from 1936 to 1938 on the Central Council.

In his ringing days Jack was never happier than when he was ringing a heavy tenor and he had several fine performances to his credit. Among these were many peals on Southwark Cathedral tenor, a peal of Stedman Cinques on Worcester Cathedral tenor at a time when that hell was a tough job, and several peals on the 54 cwt . Giltett and Johnston tenor at St. Marv-le-Bow. Cheapside, including the only peal of Maximus to which this bell was rung.
Perhaps above all Jack Waugh will be remembered for the complete integrity of his character-as the Rector of Woodford said at the funeral service, "Jack Waugh was as straight as a die.' Those of us who were privileged to have his friendship, and we are legion. are grateful for all that he has meant. and still means, to us and for his life of service to ringing and to his church. We shall always remember him with affection. May he rest in peace. Farewell, dear and faithful friend.

The Suffolk Guild regrets to report the passing of one of its most devoted members, Walter D. Bailey, of Stratford, on Wednesday, May 29th.

Walter started his ringing career as one of the East Berghole ringers on the unique ring of five, hung at ground level and rung in a cage in the churchyard. Literally thousands of tourists have visited East Bergholt in the heart of Constable's Country, and Walter's cheery face would have been there to offer the traditional welcome. His learning of "tower" bellringing started fairly late in life. but although he found the change-over difficult he mastered the art and taught many youngsters thercafter !

Whether at a Guild meeting or on a visit to Stratford one would always find the cheerful Walter among the crowd.

The interment took place at Sitratford on Whit Tuesday attended by many ringers. and a half-muffled peal was rung in his memory on June 6th. His place in Suffolk will be very hard to fill. and our sympathy goes out to his widow Joyce and family. May he rest in peace.
G. W. P.

LOOKING FOR TOWERS AND "TATERS"

Every Whit Monday (or Spring Bank Holiday), whilst the Central Council are deliberating on our behalf, the members and friends of King's Lynn St. Margaret's band emerge from " the wilds of North-West Norfolk" and enjoy their annual tour.

For 12 years these tours have been organised and led by Leslie Houghton and have become for many of us one of the most eagerly anticipated events of the year.

This year the itinerary took us, at furthest, to Louth and Lincoln (St. Giles') and included six towers in all. Considering that the party spent very nearly 15 hours away from King's Lynn this number may not seem excessive, and to many tower grabbers it probably seems very small. The Nor-folk in general, however. have no reputation for soaring ambition and there is no reason why ringers in particular should be at variance with their background.

For farms and farmworkers the two or three weeks preceding haymaking can be as quiet as any part of the year, and it is an ideal time to bs "about" and able to see how the other fellows have been making out. Consequently the journey to the first church resembles a farm tour more than a ringing tour and there develops almost a competition to see who is first to notice a particularly promising crop of barley or "taters."

On arrival at King's Lynn the party quickly dispersed. but before they went a vote of thanks was passed to Leslic for the organisition of another most civilised expedition F.S.

TOTMERNHOE'S WONDEREUL

DAY

The 18 h annual outing of the Totternhoe ringers took place on May 25th, a visit being made to Northamptonshirc.

The day dawned cloudy and dull and the rain, which began to fall before the first stopping place was reached, persisted throughout the day until early evening, but this gentle reminder that the cricket season was in full swing was not enough to damp the spirits of this party!
A hardy type is your bellringer, for whereas the follower of certain other pastimes may turn out only once a weck, and even then tak: no active part in the proceedings apart from yelling himself blue in the face and throwing the odd bottle the more sturdy campanologist will spend several evenings a week pursuing his favourite hobby and, having enjoyed is feast of ringing on Saturday, will cheerully come up for more on Sunday!

At St. Mary's, Easton Neston, which stands in the charming and gracious surroundings of a large private park, we descended from the coaches (two-large!) and scurried for the shelter of the church, where the fine light cight were put to good use. Next came the grand six at Cottesbrooke, where the beautiful Church of All Saints adds dignity to another charming scene. At St. Michael's, Hazelbeech, we arrived in good time to provide wedding bells for the bride and bridegroom, whose marriage we trust got off to a good start.

Lunch was taken at Kettering, after which the splendid 21 cwt. six ring of eight at Rothwell was very much enjoyed. Leaving Northamptonshire for Leicestershire we enjoyed an hour's ringing on the splendid eight at Market Harborough and afterwards a welcome cup of tea.

On the homeward journey we were highly pleased with the two excellent sixes at St . Mary's, Badby, and Holy Cross, Byfield, the latter, standing on an eminence a little way out of the village, is a particularly impressive pile, and one's thoughts turned to the devoted souls who laboured to build such beautiful places, and also to the thousands who have climbed the well-worn belfry steps to send out the music of the bells during the centuries of its existence.

For the delight of this wonderul day spent in such beautiful countryside the sincere thanks of all are accorded to Jack Scott, the organiser. the incumbents and the local ringers, who were such charming hosts.

BEDS TO BERKS

On May 11th the Biggleswade District of the Bedfordshire Association held its annual outing in Berkshire. A coachful of sleepy ringers and friends left the county at about eight o'clock after having picked up others en route. The first tower, at St. Mary's, Twyford, proved a popular time for coffee as well as ringing. The next tower was St. Mary's, Reading, followed by lunch. After inner nourishment and with the prospect of fine weather we enjoyed ringing at two good towers during the afternoon, Binfield (a delightful six) and Warfield (a very pleasant eight). Let's hope we can visit them again soon as a royal ring t

After tea in Windsor-at a restaurant, not the large house on the hill!-we rang at Si. John's Church and then journeyed on to Cookham. Here we rounded oft the day's ringing, a local ringer kindly allowing us to admire the scenery from the top of the tower. With a stop in the evening at Beaconsfield, the tired ringers returned home happy and contented.

We extend our deepest gratitude to everybody who made the day such a suocess: the respective Vicars for the use of their bells, the kind people who met us and. last but by no means least, Philip Rogers for his excellent and quiet efficiency.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Len Stillwell rang in a quarter peal at Vancouver. B.C., on May 29th.

Ruby wedding congratulations to Mr. and Mrs J. H. Cook, of Asfordby, Leics. Mr. Cook, who is a vice-president of the Leicester Guild, is a churchwarden as Asfordby.
There were five "firsts" in a quarter of Doubles conducted by Mr. K. L. Brown at Blofield, Norfolk. A sign of new life.
The quarter of Grandsire Triples at East Tytherley on June 3rd was rung by present members of Winchester College. The average age was 16. They ask if another school band or younger band has rung a quarter of Triples.
Peals and quarter peals have been rung at sea, but have any been rung on the Irish Sea? The nerformance of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lewis and P. W. Brown on board M/S St. David on June 1st drew a erowd of interested and amused spectators. It was, however, only a 720 .

St. Thomas', Stourbridge, the subject of a recent front page cover, has now raised $£ 4,000$ towards the $£ 5,000$ for the restoration of the tower
We regret to hear that Mr. T. R. Butler, of 27. Lynwood Gardens, Liverpool 9, has gone into hospital for an operation. He hopes to be "our and about" in a few weeks' time.

Mr. C. Hervey Bagot, of Adclaide, has arrived in England and will be at the Institute of Physics for two years. He was president of A N.Z.A.B. at the time of Great Adventure Ii and was captain at Adelaide Cathedral from 1957 to 1960.
Another handbell record was established on May 26th of 17.824 Kent Treble Bob Major in 7 hours and 44 minutes at Leverstock Green, Herts. Ringers were Gerald Penney 1-2, Julia A. Fellows 3-4, Martyn L. J. Jordan 5-6. Brian J. Woodruffe (cond.) 7-8. Full story next week.

Bellfounders' Gift Page to 'The Ringing World'  DONATED BY  MEARS & STANBANE, WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY, LONDON, E. 1

REV. A. S. ROHIRS AN HON. CANON
The Rev. A. S. Roberts, Vicar of Carbis Bay, was appointed an honorary Canon of Truro Cathedral when the Bishop of Truro (Dr. J. M. Key) consecrated the newly-completed nave at St. Anta and All Saints', Carbis Bay. The announcement was made from the pulpit by the Bishop, who said he thought it was so appropriate for a true son of Truro, as Mr. Roberts was, and as a tribute to his devotion and perseverance as a parish priest.
As a compliment to the new Canon a quarter peal was quickly arranged and rung after the service, following a good ring for the young band so ably trained by Mr. Roberts.
Carbis Bay is only the second parish church to be built in Cornwall this century. The church without a tower and with an uncompleted nave was built in 1929. Thirty years later the tower was completed and between 1961 and 1968 the four bays added, covering the original ground plan.
No one could have served the Truro Diocesan Guild more faithfully than the new Canon, who is vice-president of the Guild. He is also secretary of the Diocesan Missionary Council.

MISS ROSEMARY EARL MARRIED

On the eve of her marriage, Miss Rosemary Earl, secretary of the Sussex District of the Ladies' Guild, rang a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor in her own tower, St. Mary's, Willingdon. It was an all-ladies band, viz.: Susan Percy 1, Sybil Tonken 2, Rosemary Earl 3. Annette Bradbury 4, Janet Percy (cond.) 5, Betty Percy (6).
Rosemary was martied on June 3rd to Keith Farley, the service being conducted by he: godfather, Canon Roger Davison, at the invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. W. Greenfield, who assisted.
Given away by her father, the bride wore an empire-line gown with a train in triona satin and trimmed with lace; she carried a white prayer book with a spray of apricot carnations and stephanotis. Mrs. Lesley Howard, twin sister of the bride, was matron of honour and the best man was Mr. John Hill
As the bride and bridegroom left the church they walked under an archway of bellropes.

A FIRST AT GUILDFORD CATHEDRAL

Guildford Cathedral's resident band rang its first quarter peal on May 24 th for the service which marked the retirement of the Dean. Bishop George Clarkson, and the seventh anniversary of the consecration of the Cathedral. At the service Bishop Reindorp dedicated a set of 25 handbells for the use of the Cathedral company. Two of the bells were a personal gift of the Bishop and Dr. Alix Reindorp. The Dean was a verv close friend of all ringers locally.

EDINGTON PRIORY

The Rev. Ralph E. H. Dudley, of Edington Vicarage, expresses his gratitude to our readers who have sent contributions towards the augmentation to ten bells for Edington Priory. So far about $£ 30$ has been received from this source. The Vicar also informs us that due to a very large order they have received from the United States Messrs. John Taylor are unable to complete Edington bells before August.

MR. A. DISERENS
The Exercise will congratnulate Mr. Albert Diserens on ringing a peal at St. Mary's, Reading, on May 26th, to mark the 50th anniversary of his first peal and his 50th year as a member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. His wife and three of his sons were taking part in the peal.
Mr. Diserens was taught to handle a bell at St. Mary's, Sunbury-on-Thames, which at that time was a call change tower. It was at Hersham that he was introduced to change ringing and on starting work he rang with various London ringers, who arranged his first peal. This was for the Oxford Diocesan Guild at Woburn, Bucks, on May 20th. 1918, the method being Kent Treble Bob Major, conducted by T. H. Taffender. The peal was rung half-muffled to the memory of William Trusss. who had been killed in action.

During the early 1930's he lived in Brighton and rang with Keith Hart and his well-known band at St. Peter's. At the outbreak of war he moved from London to Reading and is there was a ban on tower bell ringing he held regular handbell practices at his home. He was, until a few years ago, captain of the ringers at St. Mary's, Reading, and is still a stalwart member. Under his' leadership the hand has rung peals of Spliced Surprise Major. Recently he organised special practices at St. Laurence's, Reading, which culminated in peals of Bristol Royal and Maximus being rung for the Oxford Diocesan Guild.
Mr. Diserens has kept no record of his peals but believes them to tohal between 300 and 400 .

A GOLIDEN WEDDING OUARTER

June 1st. 1968, was a day Mr. Bert Smith. of Chirton, Wilts, had been anticipating for a long time. It was his golden wedding day and he looked forward to ringing in a quarter peal in honour of the occasion. During the preceding week he tad been in the tower looking at the ropes and things in general. Alas, the next day he had a heart attack and was confined to bed. But he was able to hear a good quarter of Grandsire Doubles rung on the bells he had served for 60 years. From 1915 until 1947 he was tower captain. Chirton ringers wish him a speedy recovery to join them again, as the tower is not the same without Bert.

A PENCHANT FOR 12-BELL TOWERS
Famed for their previous outings to Exeter and Liverpool, Mr. F. Tonge's Longparish outing this year was to Manchester Town Hall. The programme proved equally as good as the other two despite a day of heavy rain on May 25 th.
Departing at 5 a.m., Wolverhampton was reached by 9 and ringing enjoyed on the 12 bells here before the run to Manchester along the M. 6 motorway.
The six at Northenden was enjoyed after lunch, London Minor being rung here, and on the eight at West Didsbury we were joined by Alan Ward, who had helped with the arrangements.
The eight at Birch-in-Rusholme, considered by Alan to be the best eight in Manchester, was also sampled before our visit to the Unitarian Church at Brookfield Gorton, also with cight bells.
Next came the nighlights of the day-the Cathedral and Manchester Town Hall, both first-class rings. We wished we had had more time to do full justice to the bells at the Town Hall as they are a grand ring.
Finally, Miles Platting, kindly arranged for us by Alan, which we all appreciated. We hope to plan another day in the area to visit all the good rings we missed.
Thank you, Manchester, and thank you, Franke Tonge, for your arrangements.
G. K. D.

UPPER BEEDING AMBITION FULFILLED

The first quarter by an entirely local band at Upper Beeding, Sussex, was the fulfilment of an ambition of Harry Barber, who rang the third. He was a member of the first change ringing band formed in the tower over SO years ago and at various times had tried to teach, without success, a local band. About four years ago Mr. Arthur Riddington took up the challenge of teaching a band, but before a start could be made, debris left by generations of birds had to be cleared from the tower. He had a band who could ring a plain course when, at the end of 1966, he and his daughter, Ann, left for the Midlands.
Mr. J. M. Hills then took over and he called the tower's first local quarter. He has two promising young people, Trevor Craven (12), who rang for his own confirmation, and Catriona McNeil, whom he hopes to see ringing Surprise Major before she goes to a university in October.

ST. MARY'S, MARLBOROUGH

Faculty permission has been granted for the bells of St. Mary's, Marlborough, Wilts, to be augmented to eight, using metal from the hells of $$ S$. Peter and Paul's, Marlborough. The work is in the hands of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.
With only one other "eight" in the area at the moment we feel that this part of Wiltshire will have a valuable asset on the completion of the scheme.

GREAT BADDOW'S OUTTNG

A small pasty of Great Baddow ringers and their friends had their annual outing in Kent on May 4th. The first tower visited was Boughton-under-Blean. The second and third ropes of the eight bells were hooked up, so only the back five were rung. The next stop was at the charming village of Chilham (8). Lunch was taken in Canterbury, followed by visits to Sturry (6) and Wickhambreaux (6). After tea at Ash we found that the second clapper had broken, so the back six were used. The last tower was at Wingham.

Letters to

THE STAPLEFURD GRAB

Dear Sir, - The letter from Mr. Sawtell, of Holt, re "Stapleford grab," has just come to my notice on returning to England.

There were several reasons why the Stapleford episode was dropped. Firstly, I have been out of the country for some weeks; secondly, because the Vicar did nat wish for any more publicity and wished the episode forgotten. In the first place I had hoped that the people concerned would have expressed regret, but 1 presume this was too much to ask since one presumes from a lot of correspondence published nowadays that the mere fact that one is a ringer gives one a divine right to ring on any bell regardless of the safety of the installation or the desire of the authorities concerned to allow ringing. People of this calibre revel in adevrse publicity of this description, which is why I did not intend to give them any further.

Mr. Sawtell might like to know that actual damage was caused at Stapleford as the people concerned did not check to see if the chime hammers were clear and as a result three were broken and the bells concerned chipped. This has been repaired.

The typical excuses were used. If my real objections to the incident were stated, they would be as follows:
It was decided some years ago that due 10 the age and condition of the installation, the fact that the third is cracked (a minor fault, I presume) and that the tower is cracked (not always dangerous but in this case considered so) that no further ringing take place. The parish has so few people that the cost of restoration is at present out of the question. It is an unfortunate fact that unsafe bells are not always unringable and there are plenty of examples in this direction. It is, however, alarming that there are ringers who, merely on the strength of being able to handle a bell, are able to set themselves up as experts on frames and fittings and on several occasions have even tried to override bellfounders' opinions.

Nobody can ever accuse me of closing a tower just for the sake of it although in the course of my profession I have occasionally had to recommend that no further ringing take place, and I assure you that this decision is not reached easily. I myself, incidentally. have rung at Stapleford, and this is not the only tower over a wide area where tower grabbers have been in action in places where ringing should never take place.
Everybody deplores the closing of towers for reasons that are not legitimate but for goodness sake let us have a bit of common sense over the ringing of hells where the reasons are sound before a really serious accident takes place.-Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM A. THEOBALD.
Whitechael, London. E.

THE BELLS OF MERSTHAM, SURREY

Dear Sir,-On page 443 C. N. C. says the oldest bell, the fifth, dates from 1380 . cast by William Burford, of London, but Stahschmidt in his "Church Bells of Surrey" connects it with Burford, 1371-1392, and was uncertain. The inscription is "Sancta Katerina ora pro nobis."

The Burford stamps were reputed to have been sold to an unknown London founder about 1450 and up-to-date history gives William Chamberlain, who was founding in London at that time.

The two Eldridge bells (the tenor 1640) was cast by Bryan Eldridge I, and the fourth, in 1657, was by his son, Bryan Eldridge 1I. -Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

NINE PEALS WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir,-It has been brought to my notice that the method Windsor Single Bob Minor (II) is false when rung to a full 720.

I therefore withdraw the following handbell peals, conducted by myself, and tender my apologies to the band and all concerned in the keeping of records, etc.
1 took this method from H. Chant's " Index of Minor Methods " (" Ringing World,' 1965. page 851), and it was on this authority we rang it.
1.-June 3rd, 1966. Bettyfold, Hawkshead, Windsor Single Bob Minor (II).
2.-June 24th, 1966. Bettyfold, Hawkshead, three Minor methods.
3.-July 29th. 1966. Bettyfold, Hawshead, four Minor methods.
4.-August 2nd, 1966. St. Martin's, Bowness, five Minor methods.
5.-September 23rd, 1966. Bettyfold, Hawkshead, six Minor methods.
6.- November 11th, 1966. Bettyfold, Hawshead, seven Minor methods.
7.--January 6th, 1967. Bettyfold, Hawkshead, seven Minor methods.
8.-July 21st, 1967. Bettyfold, Hawkshead, seven Minor methods.
9.-August 9th, 1967, Bettyfold, Hawkshead, nine Minor methods. Yours faithfully, Windermere.

KEVIN M. PRICE.
WINDSOR BOB MINOR II (FALSENESS)
Dear Sir,-Referring to the recent withdrawal of peals containing full extents of the above method, which has now been found false, and also replying to Mr. T. Lewis' letter re careless conductors, I would like to point out that at the time of ringing these peals, which were rung two years ago, our band was composed of very raw recruits. The conductor was only 13 years old and at that time knew nothing of how to prove methods. Now he is able to compose and prove his own spliced callings. We all naturally assumed that the methods shown in Mr. Chant's alphabetical list in The Ringing World "were genuine methods unless clearly stated. Now we feel there surely must be other methods in this list which must be false. It is also regrettable that it has taken so long for the Methods Committee to find out and tell us that the method is false. In my opinion it is not very encouraging for a young and keen ringer to tind his peals false after so long.-Yours faithfully,

Ambleside. JOSEPH WHALLEY.

MOST CNPOPULAR MEMBER APOLUGISES

Dear Sir-Oh dear, oh dear! What a stir my recent letter has caused. I gather from the correspondence in ": The Ringing Worldd ' and from two entertaining but anonymouse letters -having one's address in "The Diary" has its disadvantages-that I must be the most unpopular member of the Exercise.
First of all then, my apologies for the ${ }^{\circ}$ daft beggars bit." In making my point I did go rather! too far; though what I had in mind was not the record peal of Glasgow but the Lancastrian sequel to this event and a subsequent quarter peal.
You know, I did not set out to condemn peal ringing. Nor did I set out to sneer at the more advanced methods and those people who ring them. Peals are the acknowledged "touch-stone" of ringing ability and on such occasions as a peal of Londinium Maximus or a record length in a difficult method are the very apex of our art and science.
No, my peal ringing friends, I do not say you don't do any service ringing. What I do say is that the majority of you do not give service ringing the serious attention it deserves. Ah well! No doubt you will still disagree. I don't care, provided that if ever you should meet me you won't beat me over the head with anything stronger than a wet lettuce leaf. With best wishes to you all. -- Yours faithfully.

IAN ROBERTS.

Week-end of Change Ringing in New England

by ELIZABETH F. DAVIES

$\mathbf{T}^{\text {He}}$Eng first week-end of change ringing in New England was indeed an historic event. After months of planning, many people gathered at Kent School, Connecticut, for a week-end of very enjoyable fellowship.

Even up to the last moment there were complications. One of the party lost his toll tucket on the Massachusetts Turnpike and practically had to take his car apart to tind it. Neealess to say there was difficulty in putting it togethe again.

Nevertheless, a large party assembled al Kent including some boys from the School. Winh plenty or rounds on ten for beginners, who eventually became aocustomed to the long araugnt, the ringers ranged up to Cambridge Surprise Major. Everyone enjoyed the bells, whicn were hung by Mears and Stainbank in 1931.
rhe countryside in this part of New England is very beauturb, and the arive aiong kumte $\%$, whicn runs atong ue nousatomc Kiver, was a ueugnt to aul. However, as it took us roul nours of fast driving to reach it trom soston, we decided that tower grabbing in America would be out of the question.
At aoout 3 o'clock we set off for Smith Coucge at Norihampton, Massacnuseits, abous IUU miles to the norin-east, and arrived in ume ror an nour's ringing on thas newlyopenea, lignt ring ot eignt. sill 「heobald, who was responsible tor the nanging, led the ringing nere, and it was interesung to see so many or the smith giris join in, as most of them were taugnt to ring oniy in the previous tew days. the great alsparaty in weignt between sumth anu nent was userul experience tor the learners.

DOMESTIC BEERS OF THE WORLD

A targe conungent then maue its way back along the Massacnusetis Iurnpike to dunner at Jake wirths German restaurant in oowntown Boston. Features of this ond eatung house are the sawdust on the Hoor and draught dark German beer. The rest of the evening was spent at the Wurshaus, near harvard Unversity in Cambridge, which has the largest varioty of imported anu domesuc oeers in ane wortu. 1hus even our Australian guest was abie to sup his local brew ! Overnignt accommodation was then provided for the visitors by ringers living in the area.
Sunday dawsed bright and clear for our visit to Hingnam. Here the bells have been made ringable completely by local eftort, atter 40 years of silence. The Bell Tower is a nationat monument, erected as a memorial to the Pllgrims who first came over from Hingham in Eagland. It stands separate from the Old Ship Church but in the same grounds. The following notice stands outside the church:-

> Erected in 1681, it is the oldest church structure in the United States to nave been used continuously for public worsnıp. Samuel Lincoln, original American ancestor of Abraham Lincoln, worshipped here regularly.

It was stimulating to see such a large crowd of non-ringing visitors, many of whom climbed up to the belfry. This was a great day for the Hingham ringers after their long months of hard effort, and the occasion was well covered by the local Press. Many of the Hingham townsfolk had never before heard the ten bells rung together. Again local beginners were able to join with the more experienced, to get a little practice in between touches of standard methods. The bells are still a little difficult to handle, and it is considered inadvisable to ring all ten bells for long periods. An appeal for rehanging the ten, which came from Mears and Stainbank in 1913, and strengthening the tower, is under way.

Afterwards it was a pleasant surprise to be entertained in the Parish Hall with coffee and doughnuts. At this time we were able to talk to members of the Old Ship Church about change ringing and demonstrate the art on handbells.
Sunday lunch was at the Athens-Olympia Cafe, a Greek restaurant in downtown Boston, where the Greek management wondered what had descended upon them, these humans with their odd conversation about touches, bobs, and then asking tor checks in singles and not one lying behind to help with the coming round at back.

AT GROTON

Groton Boys' Private School was to be the last tower ot the week-end, and here we were wercomed in the late atiernoon oy Russell roung and the boys who ring at the school. inese beautiful bells were soon going to a variely ot methods, incluating a fine touch of Granusire Caters.
At thus point it was time for farewells to be mave and the long journeys home tor some to begin. Mr. lom Goouyer won thrst prize tor travelling the longest distance, as he is on a business trap from Australia. Mr and mis. ## A MODERN RINGERS' RHYME

In this modern age we strive to keep Alive an ancient art,
In jeans, slacks, shirts or mini-skirts
We try to play our part.
But as we make the sound of bells
King o'er this little town,
Let us not forget for Whom we ring-
We must not let HIM down.
Be it call change, method, peal or rounds, And when we rise and fall,
For service, practice, contest, wedding,
Or as they bear the pall,
Let strength, skill and wits be used aright So there's no arguing,
Because we are in God's House-
And may HE bless us as we ring.
Written by A. Ivan Rabey, a ringer at St . Columb Major Parish Church, Cornwall. for the Spring Festival of the Mid-Cornwall Branch of the Truro Diocesan Guild of Ringers-May 11th, 1968.

BRISTOL CITY STRIKING COMPETITION

Eight teams gathered on May 25 th at St. Mars s, the Lora Mayor's Chapel, Bristol, to tase part in the City branch of the Gloucester and Bristor Assoctation's striking compention, organised by Mr. Y. J. Bird.
lue test piece consisted of 240 Doubles or Minor and the compeution was juaged by Messrs. C. H. Kippin and A. M. Tyler, who were mouen away in the nearoy College ol Commerce. Numerous self-appoinied judges were seen pacing round the environs of the Chapel during tue arternoon and exchement mounted as band after band put up goud pertormances.
A munth team, of ladies, meanwhule prepared a urst-class tea under the leadership of Mrs. Mary bird; after ringung, everyone crossed the cenure to St. Stepnen's Common Room to enjoy 1 l .

Mr. Kippin then announced the verdict of the judges, after making we observation that the standard ot striking during tue compeution was the nighest the juages had encountered in their careers as compeutuon Judges. Results. Catnedral 35 faulis, stoke Bisnop " " $A$ " 58 , St. Phup's 62, St. Amorose' " $A$ " 88, St. Ambrose' ${ }^{-1}$ B " 101, St. Micnael's 135, Stoke Bisnop "B" 165 , Holy Nativity 287.
Mrs. Jessie Kippin made the presentation of certucates to the captains of the hrst three teams. An hour's ringing at St. Stephen's concluded a most satisfying occasion.

The Branch is grateful to the Vicar, the organist and the ladies who provided tea.

GENERALISATIONS

Dear Sir,-In recent times we have become accustomed to seeing, now and then, facile, "inexperienced" generalisations in your correspondence columns.
Top marks must now be awarded to Mr. Patrick I. Chapman for the fatuous pronouncement that those with enough leisure to ring peals are competent, whilst ringers too busy to do so are incompetent.
We should, nevertheless, be grateful for his reservation. No doubt even Mr. Chapman appreciates that some ringers, including one or two "top-scoring" conductors, will never know the meaning of the word "striking" however many hundreds of peals they ring !-Yours faithfully,

The Church of St. John the Baptist, Beeston, Notts

St. John Baptist, Beeston, Nottinghamshire

By IAN V. J. SMITH

BEESTON lies between the main Derby to Nottingham thoroughfare and the River Trent. It is possible that a rough church existed at Beeston (Bestune or Bestonia) before the Norman Conquest, although no such building is mentioned in the Domesday Book of 1086 . If such a structure had existed the Normans would certainly have replaced it with a more solid building of stone.
There was certainly a church at Beeston about the year 1160. In the 13th century the church was rebuilt in the Early English style of Henry III, and again in the 14th century in the Decorated Period of Edward III.

Once again, the church was rebuilt in the reign of Henry VII and a bell was cast for the church by Richard Mellour, who cast in Nottingham from 1488 to 1508. In 1552 we learn that the church possessed ""iii bellys in the stepull", and "i handbell". It is not known when or by whom the other two bells were cast; they could be by Richard Mellour, or perhaps of a later date by Robert Mellour (1510-1525), the Selyoke family (between 1499 and 1548), or by Humphrey Quarnby ( $1550-1559$ ), all of whom cast in the city of Nottingham.

In 1593-4 the plague raged in Beeston and 137 people died, about a quarter of the population at that time. In 1640 (some authorities say 1630) the 2nd bell was recast by George Oldfield at the Nottingham foundry. Rumour has it that this bell originally came from Clifton church on the other side of the River Trent, but there is no evidence of this.

RUINED BELFRY

By the end of the 17 th century the belfry had fallen into a very bad state, and in April 1704 the church clock was referred to as "having its works much interfered with by owls and others of the feathered tribe, which tenanted the ruinous belfry at that period". A century later in June 1808 there is another similar report in the Parish Registers.

The three bells so far mentioned continued to give service until 1843 when the old church was demolished. An interesting custom which still took place at that time was the ringing of the church bell on Pancake Day, the "pancake bell" being rung by the oldest apprentice in the parish.

The church was rebuilt in 1844, the money, just over $£ 3,500$, being raised by public subscription. In this year, the treble bell was recast by Taylors of Loughborough at a cost of $£ 4817 \mathrm{~s}$. $10 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}$., and the three bells placed in the new tower were as follows:

Treble: Recast by Taylor 1844. Inscription: "In Principio erat Verbum" (In the beginning was the word) Wt. 8 cwt.

Second: God Save His Church 1640 (1630?) (Oldfield Mark)

Third: (A rose) Celorum Rex Christe Tibi Placeat Sonus Iste. (R. Mellour's Mark) (O Christ, King of the Heavens, may this sound be pleasing to thee)

However, the Rev. T. J. Oldrini, when he became Vicar of Beeston in 1854, described the bells as being "far from silvery in tone whatever they might have been originally". In addition to this, the third bell was cracked while the Christmas peal was ringing during the great frost of Christmas Eve 1860 when the thermometer registered 8 degrees below zero.

In 1870 the three bells were taken down, and the metal was incorporated in a new ring of six, tenor quoted as 193 cwt . (later found to be 18-0-4), supplied by the Loughborough foundry at a cost of just less than $£ 600$. The ring was opened in March 1870, and soon afterwards change-ringing was introduced, Mr. W. Towlson from Attenborough being paid an annual sum to instruct the Beeston ringers in the art. On March 1st 1871, the first six-score of Grandsire Doubles on the bells "was accomplished in a most creditable manner", this being followed by the first 720,18 months later.

FIRST PEAL 1877

In 1877 two trebles were added by the inhabitants of Beeston in memory of John Watson, a liberal benefactor to the church in the past. After the opening ceremony the first peal on the bells was rung by the Society of Sherwood Youths, it being 5,040 Grandsire Triples. Other notable early performances on the bells were 5,088 Kent Treble Bob Major on September 23rd 1882, the first of Kent Major for the Midland Counties Association, and 7,200 Double Norwich on November 18th 1882, which was, at the time, a record for the Association.
The first peal by an entirely local band was Grandsire Triples on November 9 th 1895. Between that time and the end of the century the band had made great strides, adding several peals of Bob Major and several more of Grandsire to their account. Indeed, Jasper Snowdon, after a visit to Beeston, described the band as one of the best in the country at the time.

More progress was made before the first World War, and the following is a list of first performances by the Beeston band.
5040 Grandsire Triples, November 9th 1895.

5184 Plain Bob Major, September 25th 1897.

5088 Kent Treble Bob Major, April 3rd 1909.

5040 Stedman Triples, May 15th 1909.
5024 Oxford Treble Bob Major, November 121917.
5008 Double Norwich Court Bob Major, March 11 th 1911.
5056 Superlative Surprise Major, March 16th 1912.
5024 Norfolk Surprise Major, February 14th 1914.
The last two of these were received with great acclaim in the local press, they being looked upon as triumphs for Beeston itself, not just for the ringers. The great rise in the success of the Beeston band was largely due to the arrival of Mr. Albert Coppock, who conducted many of the peals.

After the war, the band continued to progress and the next notable achievement was a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major on February 18th 1922 . The ringers then turned their attention to London and the first quarter in this method was achieved on November 20th 1922. Several unsuccessful attempts were made for a peal, the band having been weakened by the departure of Mr. Coppock on account of the intolerable behaviour of one of the other members of the band, young Billy Clifford. This meant that the conducting was thrown on to Percy Price, as he always rang the tenor. The peal was finally achieved on January 31st, 1925 when the band stood as follows:

REMARKABLE PEAL

William Clifford, junr. 1, William Clifford senr. 2, Frederick S. Price 3, Alfred B. Moss 4, J. Charles Dickens 5, Arthur Lowe 6, Edgar C. Shepherd 7, Percy Price (Conductor) 8. The only surviving member of the band is Mr. E. C. Shepherd, now of Warminster. This peal is truly remarkable for two reasons: (1) there was not a competent conductor in the band (it was Percy Price's first peal as conductor), (2) Mr. W. Clifford senr. was in his 76th year and had not learnt to ring Surprise until in his 60 s.

This was virtually the culmination of the Beeston band's peal-ringing career, only one more peal being rung by a completely local band, one of Stedman Triples the following year. However, the band continued in good strength until the second World War.

After the war the band was at a very low ebb, although occasionally methods up to Kent could be rung with the help of visitors. The bells were then not in very good condition and in 1953 Messrs. Taylor said that they should not be rung more than another year and, following the breaking of the tenor clapper in July 1955, the bells ceased to be rung with the exception of the third which was chimed for service. A bell fund was initiated to raise money for restoration but unfortunately came to nothing. (Continued on page 515)

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL-continued

 WORLD-WIDE SURVEY OF BELLS AND RINGING
REPORT OF THE OVERSEAS COMMITTEE

YOU may remember the first Overseas Report, five short years ago, contained no details of American ringing and reviewed just 20 towers. Since then most of the 16 unring ables and all of the 48 ringables abroad have had a mention This year we chronicle inspired efforts by steeplekeepers, a consolidation of the devoted work of teachers and its harvest of performances streaming from distant towers AFRICA.-The Republic of South Africa had a very quiet year when it seemed that ringing was going through a dormant period, then suddenly in the last days of 1967 Durdan sprang to life. St. Paul's has a new captain in Reg Davey, whose many learners enjoy three practice nights a week. St. Mary's is encouraged by their enthusiastic Vicar, who always attends the start of quarters. With the help of Geoffrey Armitage (Leeds), joint practices were held, and three quarter peals quickly raised the standard for the first peal in Durban.

Rhodesia.-At Salisbury. in spite of departures, there were only four silent Sundays during the year, which was ended with muffled and open ringing. At the A.G.M. the official name became ": The Rhodesian Guild," and the annual outing to Que Que resulted in some enjoyable change ringing on the four bells.

ALSTRALIA. - The 1967 A.N.Z.A.B. Testival was the first to be held in the provinces with Ballarat and Bendigo as the venues. Jack Roper was elected president and the proceedings included a "Progressive Dinner." In this each course of a meal is taken at a differeni house, so you cat your way along the route to the next tower!

In May ten Sydneysiders, mostly young lads. went on a 2.000 mile tower grabbing spree They rang in seven towers in seven days across three States, quite a tribute to their enthusiasm for ringing Canberra. - Aspen Island in Lake Burley Griffin is the site chosen to receive the British Government's gift of bells. Parliamentary answers in Adelaide suggest it is already too late to install a ring of bells. but the tower is to have a carillon of 53 (tenor $120 \mathrm{cwt}$. ). However, A.N.Z.A.B. still hope that intensive high-level lobbying in both countries mav yet sway the authorities to make the gift it truly British one. Geelong.-St. Paul's has a Whitechapel eight (tenor 14 cwt.) just a century old. Alas, today the church is derelict and although the bells and fittings are intact there is small hope of any action. This would seem a good case for a transfer. Hobarr.The fellowship of ringers was most evident in the practical gift of money sent hy members of Great Adventure II for relief in the disastrous bush fires that swept Tasmania last summer. Melbourne.-Here Robin Turner's band have heen breaking new ground with handbell peals of Surprise and 25 Minor methods, both Australian firsts. St. Paul's Cathedral, which can be reckoned to have one of the finest 12's in existence, is very active, ringing Caters and Cinoues for service. The arrival of Heather and Tony Mann in Perth has been a great stimulus for Western Australia. and handbell quarters are now streaming out from such unlikely places as sheep-shearing sheds. At a result the first Australian ladies' peal was scored recently.

Sydney.-The band at St. Mary's R.C. have progressed to ring Bristol and often help out a: Randwick. Our correspondent's estimate of the tenor at Christchurch (St. Lawrence's) is 9 cwt . The old six in worn hearings on a weak frame, odd-struck with a long draught, have ropes missing and some wheels broken: not a cheerful picture. At Church Hill (St. Philip's), Noel Bissett has an active chiming band. Although the " go " is difficult nere, changes were rung by visitors twice during October. Sydney ringers also helped out at Broadway (St. Benedict's), where the rough old six sounded out for church festivals, as did the bells at Yass. Burwood is again the scene of a memorable first, this time by an under-16 band. A call change band is active at Darling , Point. and Turramurra's ringers, when not polishing up London Minor, are scheming to make this an eight-bell tower.
New Zealand.-The Warner eight at Auckland were cast in 1862 and spent their first 40 -odd years being chimed in a wooden tower. Installed in St. Matthew's in 1905, they were rung to a quarter peal in 1912, hut lost a peal the following year. Subsequently the wheels were removed and they were clocked until last year. Much devoted work by Mr, Lack and his team has got the third ringable. With new ropes and a tight frame they are now chimed for service: a weekly handbell practice keeps up enthusiasm. The tremendous task of making these bells ringable once again deserves every possible encouragement.
At Christchurch a thorough survey of this installation was sent to the Dean and urgent repairs were called for. There is no doubt that the publicity accompanying the peal of Cambridge-first by a resident New Zcaland band-helped the restoration project. a benefactor came forward and a competent engineering firm is being sought to carry out the overhaul. In the suburb of Papanui, Raty Idle has taken on a healthy crowd of learners. They already ring Grandsire and have opened a fund for a sixth hell
CANADA. - The year 1967 saw the c.altennial marked by several quarter peals. Victoria rang the lirst in Canada of Stedman Triples. while Calgary and Vancouver scored Grandsire. The structural sursey at Vancouver Cathedral found the tower safe but the steeple had to be reinforced and this interrupted ringing for cight weeks. At St. James' there is a 40 cwt. eight reputed to have been intended for change ringing, but thwarted by the city engineer when they were installed in 1937. Inventigation now definitely establishes that these bells were never made to be hung for ringing. Apart from Vancouver and Victoria, the lack of replies from Canada constiture, the biggest gap in our knowledge of overseas rowers
U.S.A. - Boston (Advent) has a 20 cwt. Mears eight in fair condition. There was an active band until 1937 or so, now they are chimed. In Christ Church is an historic 15 cwt. Rudhall eight inscribed *We are the first ring of bells cast for the British Empire in North America. A.R. 1744." Six years later one of the band was Paul Revere, the famous Boston patriot. In 1894 the "Old Colony of Bell Ringers" had them rehung. In 1939 the steeple blew down and sub sequentlv sprinkler pipes obsiructed ringing. Nowadays they are chimed. Still in Boston the Perkins School for the Blind has a good cight with ropes although there is no band Visitors are most welcome but the neighbours, understandably, do not enjoy unskilled clashing. Down in South Carolina, Charleston has a Mears eight with a romantic history Cast in 1764. they were removed from the tower as a prize of war during the colonists revolt and brought back to London. They were then hought by a sympathetic city merchant and shipped back again. There have been two recastings since and, although now devoid of wheels and stays. a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was chimed on the Ellacombe apparatus in 1951.
Groton.-In the absence of any replies to our inquiries over the last three years we note (from "The Ringing World ") that ten boys toured Southern England during the summer. Back home they ring Stedman on the School's excellent ten. From Hingham, Mass, we are happy to report a revival at this almost unknown tower. Since the 19 cwt . ten left Whitechapel in 1912 very little has been heard of them, indeed ramour had it the tower was unsafc. In 1967 David Gifford and friends bought ropes, cleaned the place up and, with the help of two British ringers, practice began. The bells go well, the tower is perfectly safe and eight people are now ringing "open" rounds. All this activity is a tine example of the infectious spreading of the art stimulated by Washington's example.
New York.-Information is sought on the 25 cwt. eight cast by Mears in 1795 and hung in Trinity Church on Broadway; the church was later burnt down. Hhaca, N.1.-Frank Fidridge reports that in planning the new college chapel, serious thoughe is being given to a ring of ten. In Northampton, Mass., Smith College is to have a new Mears eight with a tenor of $8 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{ch}$. in A. At Philadelphia the uncertainty over the number of bells in Christ Clurch tower has now been cleared up The 18 cwt. eight cast at Whitechapel in 1754 are chimed from a clavier as this historic ringing chamber is wholly filled by an 88 rank organ. It was here in 1850 that the first peal outside the U.K. was rung. The other three bells were given as a 1945 war memorial.
Washington has had a productive year with increased active membership and the formation of a fine "first band" which will not be interrupted by graduation for two years: The two groups, ." The Whitechapel Guild and "The Cathedral Society." together muster almost 40 regulars with a practice, at difterent levels, every day of the week. Two peals were successful and nine quarters scored. two of them during a visit to Kent School. In April the tenor (32 cwt.) was turned in for the first time, and in June Rick Dirksen, the talented bellmaster, was married.
Outbreaks of change ringing on handbells were recorded from Cornell University. Northampton and Princetown, Mass., and Oberlin, Ohio.

Miscellaneous. - Malta. St. Paul's pro-

 Cathedral. Investigation confirms the bells are hung for chiming. The 13 cwt . Mears six were cast in 1845. Poona. Panch Howd.There was known to be a Taylor eight here of 1893 vintage (tenor 25 cwt .), hung in a detached campanile, reputedly unsafe. On examination they were found to be hung on one level in plain bearings and iron headstocks, complete with wheels and Hastings stays. Apart from the mess of resident bird the installation is in fairly good order and only needs oil and ropes to become ringable. They are chimed for service and State occasions.In closing. 1 must acknowledge a debt to many correspondents, old and new, who have generously undertaken investigations and collated information on my behalf. The radition of good fellowship that goes hand in hand with a love of bells truly spans all the ringing towers on earth.
A. VICTOR SHEPPARD (Convener).

The adoption of the report was moved by Mr. V. Shepherd and seconded by Mr. G. Pipe Mr. F. Price (Oxford Guild) said he would like to make a couple of amendments in regard to ringing in America. At Perkins School for the Blind they were not made very welcome and not allowed to ring. At Groton the ringing was of superb quality. At Hingham the tower was unsafe. He was given to understand that something was to be done. In regard to Northampton (Smith's College) he congratulated Messrs. Mears and Stainbank on an excellent ring, probably the best for their weight he had heard. He thought that some advice should be given in regard to sound

"Finest Practical Work of Council"

REPORT OF THE TOWERS AND GELFRIES COMMITTEE
THE work of the committee increased considerably during 1967, and advice on bell and tower restoration was given in 120 churches -an all-time record. It appears that we are now dealing with inquiries resulting from the second cycle of quinquennial reports under the Inspection of Churches Measure.

By reason of its special character it is only possible to give a brief summary of the committee's work here. It is estimated that the 120 reports cover over 700 closely-typed pages. Members of the committee travelled approximately 6.000 miles and wrote over 400 letters during the year.

The 120 churches in which advice was given during 1967 may be analysed geograpbically, thus:-

Bedfordshire  Berkshire  Buckinghamshire  Cambridgeshire  Cardigunshire  Carmarthenshire  Cheshire  Cornwall  Derbyshire  Dorsetshire  Devonshire  Durham  Essex  Gloucestershire  Hampshire  Herefordshire  Huntingdonshire  Lancashire

Of these, 21 inquiries were dealt with by correspondence, the remainder necessuated visits to the churches concerned.
Twenty-four inquiries relating to towes oscillation and damage to masonry due to defective bell installations were dealt with during 1967; 66 churches sought advice on repairs and maintenance of bell gear; advice on rehanging was given in 45 churches, and on augmentation in 19 churches. Advice on recasting was given in 16 churches, and in regard to this the committee wish to remind members that the principles regarding the recasting of ancient bells are given in detail on pages 25 and 26 of the Council's Handbook. The problems of sound control increase each year, and advice on these was given in 46 churches during 1967.
Members are urged to emphasise the necessity of obtaining a faculty for bell restoration work: or alternatively an Archdeacon's certificate if the work is of a minor character. We have experienced another instance in which bells and gear have been dismantled without the Chancellor of the Diocese. the Archdeacon or an architect being consulted, and without a faculty application being made. We also wish again to stress the importance of carrying out vital repairs to a tower before bell restoration work is put in hand, or of doing the two together. We have experienced more instances of bell restoration being done and essential tower repairs postponed.
The committee has met to discuss the proposed two new handbooks and reports that substantial progress has been made. We hope to produce the final draft MSS. during 1968.
Members of the committee have given 21 lectures to diocesan. architectural and professional organisations and resident ringing courses: and a sub-committee has been formed to investigate bell welding.

As in previous years this report has been compiled by the convener from statistics sent to him by members of the committee.

H. O. BAKER
F. E. COLLINS.
J. O. M. SCOTT.

1. FREEMAN.
I. M. RODERICK.
B. D. THRELFALL.
A. J. FROSI:

Mr. Frederick Sharpe, in moving the adoption, said the committee had done more work this year than in any year in its history. They had heard references to various files, but in the car park there were 120 unless awkward questions were asked. He would like to pay tribute to the members of the committee, who had travelled long distances at great expense 10 give this service to the Exercise in general

Seconding, Mr. Brian Threlfall thanked Mr Sharpe on behalf of the committee. Mr Sharpe was retiring from business and he no longer had the service of his office staff. He asked permission of the Council for a small sum to be available for Mr. Sharpe's secretaral work

The General Secretary: There is provision for the expenses of committees to be claimed. He believed that the greatest difficulty in the past had been to get Mr. Sharpe to claim.
The Rev. John Scott said diocesan ad. visory diocesan boards did not always pay expenses unless they asked for a report. It generally happened that kind P.C.C.'s asked what their expenses were. They sometimes gave a figure of 6 d . a mile.
Mr. Sharpe said the majority of P.C.C.'s did not reimburse them or make allowance for the time they leave their business. Last week he spent two whole days with architects regarding towers that were faulty.
Mr. P. A. Corby commented that this was quite the finest practical work the Council did. He felt the Council would not wish to be nig gardly for the work done.

Miss M. R. Cross suggested that the Council paid Mr. Sharpe an honorarium for the work paid Mr. Sharpe an honorarium for the work the lead of the Oxford Guild in this respect.

The report was then adopted.

1970 REPORT

Mr. Edwards (Bedfordshire Association) called attention to a letter on the 1970 Report which had appeared in "The Ringing World" and had been forwarded to the Council. They would like it discussed. It might be a good thing if a committee was set up to keep abreast of the situation.
The general secretary said the letter was discussed by the Standing Committee and he was instructed to get to the heart of the matter.

Asked what the report was, Mr. Bottomley said it was a report on the lines of the Paul Report, but instead of dealing with people this dealt with buildings. There was a risk of lass of bells.

NOTICE OF MEETINGS

The Council agreed 10 amend Rule 17, dealing with Notice of Meetings. that the agenda be published not less than four weeks previously instead of five, as at present.

In reply to Mr. B. G. Warwick (Leicester), who wanted to know the reason, the general secretary replied that it was physically impossible for the secretary to get the material to The Ringing World " at Guildford in time.

prooting. Americans do not take kindly to noise and they had seven complaints straight away. He thought sound-proofing should be included in every contract overseas.
Mr. Edgar Shepherd commented on the handbell ringing at Canberra, where a peal in 25 Minor methods had been rung. It was very gratifying to see such progress in a quarter they had not expected.
Mr. Anderson asked if there had been any progress in regard to the Canberra installation.
The president said he had the good luck to take the Australian Postmaster General round Norwich Cathedral. He said he was entirely in favour of swinging bells but he was afraid he was in a minority. Their hopes had been raised in the last few days by Australia having a new president and he might achieve something.
Mr. Philip Gray (A.NZ.A.B.) said he felt that the dice had not been fully cast and there was still a ray of hope if they could take it up again. He would like to think that this was true. Last September, when he visited Australia; he was amazed at the progress that had been made in ringing.
Mr. W. G. Wilson said there was an impression that a ringing peal could be at St John's.
The president said that a competition for the campanile at Canberra had been beld and the designs were in Australia House.
Mr. D. Hughes said the models had already gone from Australia House. The competition had been won by an Australian architect.
The report was adopted.

THE NEXT MEETING

The Standing Committee suggested that the next meeting should be at Whitsun, 1969, on May 29th. This was moved by the chairman and seconded by Mr. W. Ayre.
Mr. P. A. Corby moved as an amendment that the Council meet on Saturday, May 24th. Because Tuesday was a working day, it was difficult for some people to serve on the Council.
Mr. Taylor seconded, and the amendmens received the wholehearted support of Mr. J. A. Ainsworth.

Mr. Ayre said the hall had already been booked for May 27th.
The president said it would only be possible to hold it on a Saturday not next to a great Church festival.

Mr. Corby then withdrew his amendment but expressed the hope that the Council would not lose sight of meetings being held on Saturdays.

Mr. R. Speed asked for ringing arrangements not to be advertised in "The Ringing World "because the towers became crowded. The bells would then be available for members of the Council.

Mr. W. Ayre: Noted. Peal arrangements will be for Council members.

1970 MEETING

Mr. Wilfrid Moreton invited the Council to meet in 1970 on the right side of the Pen-nines-in Yorkshire. They had not decided upon the town in which they would meet.
Mr. Walter Ayre seconded, and the Council accepted the invitation.

549 PEOPLE RANG THEIR FIRST PEAL IN 1967

report of the peals analysis Committee

OUR first section deals with 13 peals teft over from 1966: Chester Guild 1. Hertford County 2. Oxford Guild 4, Salisbury Guild 5 , Unattached 1. Why the respective conductors cannot send in their peals promptly is beyond our comprehension!

In 1967 there was again a decline in the number of peals rung-lower 2.923, a loss of 129. and handbells 250 , a drop of 37. The grand total is therefore 3.173 . We noticed one redeeming feature-that there were less duplications than last year-thunk you for this.
In the final totals, the three leading Associations/Guilds, etc., are the same, as the table below shows. It is good to see the Peterborough Guild appearing so high. The first nine places, with 100 plus peals. are:-

|  | Tower | Hand- | Total |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Kent County Association | 216 | 21 | 237 |
| Yorkshire Association | 212 | 13 | 225 |
| Oxford Guild (4 in 1966) | 192 | 22 | 214 |
| Lancashire Association | 170 | 18 | 188 |
| Chester Guild (1 in 1966) | 237 | 38 | 175 |

Among the outstanding performances of 1967 the cnumerate the following: Bath and Wells, 160 methods Spliced Surprise Major: Chester Guild, 24 Spliced Surprise Maximus and 5 methods Spliced Surprise Major " in hand"; Coventry Guild. 50 and 53 method Minor; Derby Diocesan. 100 method Doubles, Stedman Cinques with eight firsts on 12. including the conductor; Gloucester and Bristol. 163 and 165 Spliced Surprise Major: Kent County, Plain Bob $14^{\text {" }}$ in hand "; Lancashire Association, 30, 33, 35 Spliced Surprise Maximus and 10 methods Spliced Surprise Royal: Lincoln Guild, 52 and 95 methods Doubles: St. Martin's Guild, 11,872 Glasgow Surprise Major: Archdeaconry of Staffordshire, Family peal of Doubles; University of London, 70 Spliced Surprise Minor; Middlesex County, London Surprise Royal $\because$ in hand "-a very fine performance.
We should welcome further information as to the number of changes rung on certain occasions and how the peals came round: e.g. p. 86 Lancashire Association-Samlesbury, Yorkshire Major-5.051.
p. 481 Peterborough Guild - Nobottle Surprise Royal-5.037.
p. 862 Peterborough Guild - Vintry Surprise Royal- 5.038 .
p. 862 Sussex County - Plain Bob Royal- 5.088 .
p. 329 Kent County-Limpsfield Chart How many methods? 6 of 6 shown.
In addition we require guidance from the Council regarding the acceptance of two peals of Scientitic, rung for the Middlesex County, as $w$ : understand that three types of bob were ..sed: also a peal of Plain Bob Minor sung at Dorney by the Oxford Guild-without singles. At the moment these three are not included in the analysis.
We have included the peal rung at Frindsbury of five methods of Surprise Major using no bobs or singles, but wish for confirmation by the Council.
The following peals are ruled our, on the information given:-
p. 940. Lancashire Association - Hawkshead. H.B.-College Little Bob-7 ex-tents-us an extent of Little Bob is 480 changes.
All handbell "peals" of Minimus.
Lodsworth, Sussex-four methods.
Ihrybergh. Non-Association-three methods.
The Council ruling is that handbell peals of Minimus be not accepted. We should appreciate the views of the Council on the Major methods now being rung with irregular leadends.

First-pealers during 1967 totalled 549, with 103 firsts as conductor.

W. AYRE (Convener). K. W. H. FFLSTEAD H. L. ROPFR.

Mr. W. Ayre moved the adoption of the Mreport and said of the peals of Scientific he still maintained that three types of bobs were used. In regard to College Single they would like the views of the Council on this irregular lead-end. The peal of Southrepps Minor (Yorkshire Association) was not in line with the Decisions of the Council. He had come to the conclusion that it was about time that there was a change and he suggested that at next year's meeting someone else be elected in his place.
Canon K. W. H. Felstead seconded the adoption except for the last remark.
Mr. D. E. Sibson said Glouceester and Bristol had two peals of 165 , and not 163 .
Mr. A. J. Frost (University of London) said a peal of Scientific was rung ien years ago and there was no exception taken to it. The bobs were then called red and bluc. He thought the peal should be accepted.
Mr. F. T. Blagrove said he would like to see every true peal included in the analysis. The peals of Scientific were true. Both Jasper snowden and Shipway accepted the peals of Minor without a single as true peals. One could not get a 720 from Windsor Single. Surely the committee should be competent to do its job.
Mr. Ayre: 1 am afraid it is not our job to check the truth.

Mr. G. Dodds said regarding the peal of Bob Minor at Dorney (without singles) early exponents accepted it, but since then they had made various decisions about a peal. Did the peal now rung count as Bob Minor?
Mr. B. Warwick (Leicester Guild) asked about the peals of Shortheath Surprise Royal.

Mr. R. Speed replied that two compositions were put in "The Ringing World."

Mr. H. Poyner thought the peal of Minor should be included.
Mr. P. A. Corby asked whether the convener would be prepared to amend his report in the light of what had been said.

Mr. R. Speed then moved that the report be accepted and that they delete "welcome further information " on the first page and that the totals on the second page be amended. This was agreed to.

THE PEALS COLLECTION COMMITTEE

Mr. Eric Critchley (convener) stated that there was no report from the committee but work had started on a collection of 9 - and 12-bell peals.

THE BIOGRAPHIES COMMITTEE

HE work of this committee has consisted of routine matters, but we have not been overwhelmed by the receipt of members' outstanding biography sheets and photographs. We would very much like to have the personal record of all members.
We have been saddened by the death of one of our committee colleagues, John Willis, who has done much valuable work during ulmost 16 years' membership of this committee. We have benefited greatly from his experience and advice and, as he had an carly and syistematic method of working, he left none of his committec work untinished-10 our undoubted advantage.
William Parrott, who through business reasons has been forced to resign from the Council, has volunteered to continue his contribution to the work of this committee and we feel this acceptable for the coming year. So it is felt that, with the approval of this Council, we should not elect replacements now but carry on as at present during the third year of this triennial session.

Deaths of the following members and pastmembers have been recorded:-
J. Worth. Chester Diocesan Guild 19511953, 1960-1963. 1965-1967. Died February 25th. (Attended eight meetings).
T. G. Myers. Guild of Devonshire Ringers, 1948-1967. Died March 27th. (Seven meetings.) S. G. Coles, Bath and Wells Diocesan As. sociation, 1946-1960. Died May 30th. (Nine meetings.)
F. A. Finch. Middlesex County Association. 1950. Died July 23rd. (One meeting.)

H Parker, Chester Diocesan Guild. 19361939. Died October 9th. (Three meetings.)

F A. Salter. Southwell Diocesan Guild. 1949-1953. Died November 12th. (No mectings.)
J. Willis. Kent County Association. 19111957; honorary 1957-1967. Died November 20th. ( 10 meetings.)
A. E. Sharman. Bedfordshire Association. 1921-1946. Died November 2Sth. (16 meetings.) T. H. Radiord, East Derbyshire and West Notts Association. 1963-1967. Died December 10th. (No meetings.)
T. J. LOCK (Convener). W. PARROTT.
W. H. VIGGERS.

Moving the adoption of the report. Mr, $t$. Lock (Middlesex) called attention to the resignation of Mr. W. Parrott from the committee and said they were very indebted to him for the work he had done very efficiently

Mr. W. Viggers (Guildford Guild) seconded, and the report was adopted.

Influence of Incumbents in Broadcasts

REPORT OF THE BROADCASTING AND TELEVISION COMMITTEE

T
HE broadcasting and televising of bells during the year have varied much as between Region and Region and it would appear from the reports we have been able to collect that bells attracted more interest in the West a. I in Ircland than elsewhere.

From Scotland, where of course there are few churches with rings of bells and fewer still with ringers, there comes no report of any ringing "on the arr." At St. James', Leith, a tape was recorded of the Association Ringing Master with a group of helners to be used as a news item on Scottish I.T.V. but it appears not to have been broadcast yet.
The report from Ireland speaks of the bells of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, being heard over Radio Eireann on Christmas Eve, and mention of this was made in a subsequent interview over the air-the ringers taking part also were referred io. Christ Church Cathedral. Dublin, bells welcomed the New Year in connections with the usual celebrations. which were broadcast over Radio Eireann. The Bush brothers, from Shankill. Lurgan, were seen on Telefis Erreann " Late Late Show." St. George's, Dublin, and St. Mary's. Limerick, bells also were heard on Radio Eireann. The bells of Hillsborough joined in the "Christmas Bells" programme broadcast by the B.B.C.
Wales. - Television appears to be the only medium featuring bells during the year. I.W.W. News gave shots of Grosmunt bells being lowered from the tower, watched by the Vicar and ringers. In the B.B.C. "Hobby Horse" programme, Talgarth handbell ringers appeared playing tunes. The "Claim to Fame programme included a young man whose clam was that he had composed a new method-" All Saints' Doubles."
In the "How" programme, a T.W.W. Southern production, there was given a demonstration of how to ring a bell. using a model. This was done very well, but unfortunately the demonstrator ended by pulling a supposedlv real bell rope and disappearing out of the top of the picture. This programme was for children and such an ending could only give an impression of danger. and certainly would not encourage young people to learn to ring. A letter of protest to Angus Wright. the producer brought from him an abject apology. and a promise " as a one-time service ringer myself " to put things right with a further demonstration in a future programme.

North Region.-With Darley Dale from the Diocese of Derby representing the North Region in the Christmas broadcast it may be fairly claimed that all areas of the Region have taken part now in these broadcasts. Suggestions were made as usual to the tower before the recording, and the outcome was very satisfactory.

Several occasions were noted on I.T.V. Sunday morning programmes where bells were used to accompany the extablishing shots before a service. With the very limited time available, ringing on these occasions is probably best confined to rounds. Rounds were rung in most of the programmes seen and the striking was generally quite good.
Canon Thurlow appeared in an Epilogue on Tyne-Tees television on November 4 ith and spoke on bellringing. Two other Epilogues which he recorded. and three recorded by Dennis Bavles for the series "My Joh in the Church." have yet to be allocated dates for transmission.

Midand Region.- There is very little nows from this Region of bells on the air, but good coverage by radio and TV was given to the long peal of Glasgow Surprise Major rung at Edgbaston. The B.B.C. gave two radio broadcasts on the day of the peal with an interview with one of the ringers, and a recording of the belts a day or so later. Colour TV pictures of the church, which was floodlit, were taken and shown. as were pictures of the ringers during the peal with a close-up of the conductor, Roderick Pipe.

Kast Anglia.-In the B.B.C. "Look East programme, on various dates, were seen a film of the bells of Wymondham Abey being returned after vecasting and retuning; a film of a party of American boys touring Sutfolk lor bellringing practice ". they cannot get in their own country"; and one of the ringing of the peal at Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, in honour of the 19 th birthday of Prince Charles.

An intervies with Cecil Pipe atter his rciurn from his visit overseas was broadcast.

West Region.-The year 1967 has seen a change in the post of Religious Broadcasting Urganiser in the West at Bristol. The Rev. Coun James, who succeeded the late Kev. Martin Willson, has left the B.B.C. to become Vicar of St. Peter's, Bournemouth, and his place has been taken by the Rev. Peter Firth. Although we have yet to make his personal acquintance we have had several telephone conversations with him, particularly in connection with the " Christmats Bells" broadcast, and found him most co-operative. In correspondence we have raised the question of the use of bells in service broadcasts. and feel he will do all in his power to help in this respect. Sunday service broadcasts have included the bells of St. James', Southbroom, Broadclyst, St. Michael's, Honiton, and St. Mary's, Southampton. The bells of Crawley Parish Church were included in an evening service broadcast for the World Service.

The majestic ring of 12 at Exeter Cathedral Was heard as the West's contribution to the - Christmas Bells" broadcast.

On television the Rev. John Scott gave an excerpt from his splendid programme on the bells and ringers of Devon.

We feel sure that there were other items which included bells in either sound broadcasts or on television, and if those taking par: in any such event would be good enough to pass the necessary information to us we shall be pleased to include details in these reports in the future
I.Ondon Region.-No reports of bell broadcasts have been received other than one of Westminster Abbey, half-muffled, on the occasion of the memorial service to Lord Atlee.
During the year we have approached the B.B.C. With a view to changing the recordings used for introducing the Sunday morning programmes without getting much satisfaction. However. this is being followed up and we hope soon to nersuade the powers that be to use some of the good recordings which we know are in the B.B.C. Library.

D. A. BAYLES.
J. T. DUNWOODY.
G. E. FEARN.
J. KING (Mrs.).
H. J. SANGER.
A. G. THURLOW.
R. S. WILSON.

Mr. Harold Pitstow moved the adoption. and said that since the report was written he had had a long talk with the B.B.C. Director of Religious Broadcasting, mainly on getting the bells of churches where the services were broadcast. He was received very sympathetically but told that it was really a muiter for the Regions. The B.B.C. did not dictate to them what they should do.

A great deal rested with the incumbent. so ringers should put in a plea for their bells.

Mr. D. Bayles seconded.
Mr. John Gilbert said he was very sorry that no bells accompanied the "Songs of Praise" broadcast from Worcester Cathedral the previous Sunday.

Mr. David Beacham said requests were made for Worcester Cathedral bells to be included.

The report was adopted.

VOTES OF THANKS

The president proposed the Council's most grateful thanks to the Dean and Chapter of the Cithedral and incumbents for use of bells. Ile thanked the Mayor, the Master and general secretary of the Worcestershire and Districts Association. Each Council meeting, said Canon Thurlow, had something unusual, and they valued the book on the towers round and about Worcester by Mr. Paul Cattermole and the librarian, Mr. C. W. Cooper, who made it possible for a copy to be presented to each member of the Council. He also thanked Mr. Brazier, the accommodation secretary, and Mr. G. Bowen, the peal secretary, and all the members of the Worcestershire Association for having them. (Applause.)

The president concluded with an announcement that this was the last meeting of the Central Council over which he would have the pleasure of presiding, and he thanked the members for their friendship and co-operation during the last six years.
Mr. P. A. Corby, in thanking Canon Thurlow for what he had done in the last six years as president, said they congratulated him on always maintaining his equilibrium and tinding the right word at the right time.

The civic reception followed in the Civic Hall, where the Mayor and Mayoress received the members of the Council and their wives. The president expressed the thanks of the Council in a charming and witty speech.

Record Handbell Peal-  17,284 TREBLE BOB MAJOR MAY 26th, 1968

An account of the peal by the conductor:1 can only write of the peal as I saw it and hope that this is very much the same as experienced by the other members of the band

Before :he attempt started I was somewhat apprehensive of the method and especially of striking through the 3 rds and 4 ths places at the lead-ends. Previously we had rung three peals of Oxford and one mediocre peal of Kent, and all but one of us had found Oxford easier 10 ring than Kent. Too often with Kent it becomes a process of " sliding " through the places whereas with Oxford the places have to be made more deliberately. However, once the peal had got under way I forgot about this as very few trips were made in the places.
We started at a slow rate, taking 30 minutes to ring the first 1,000 changes, but by the time 3.000 changes had been rung we were down to 25 minutes per 1.000 . The first half of the peal was by far the most difficult part to ring since for over three hours the tenors were parted. I found this part a strain-transposing six-figure coursing orders as well as thinking about the rhythm and the speed-and was relieved when the tenors came back together at 8,320 . Two courses later we had passed the halfway mark but nothing was said as all was going well. So far the peal had been uneventful, the main events had been the comings and goings of the umpires as they went to lunch or to the nearby pub, and of the occasional visitors passing the windows of the hall. The only sound other than the ringing was the clicking on and off-I could never work out which-of the tape recorder. We always knew when our senior umpire was present as the pleasant aroma from his cigars penetrated into the hall.

LANDMARK

Ifelt the landmark we were waiting for was 10.784, which was the length we had rung three weeks previously. As soon as it had been passed I told the band and this cheered them up-well, at least, they all smiled, and Martyn said he'd "never felt better," though afterwards he admitted that he was feeling terrible" at the time ! The next event was at about 5.30 p.m., when the St. Albans Abbey contingent departed for service ringing. They missed the next significant record, the passing of the 13,664 Double Norwich C.B. Major, the Association handbell record, after 5 hours and 58 minutes, but they were back in time for the next important landmark. But while they were away I felt we had an uncomfortable period of ringing; more trips occurred at this time than at any other part of the peal. Gerald developed the habit of looking at his watch every lead-end, or so it seemed; Julia, however, just sat there appearing so unconcerned and I don't think she realised that she was about to ring more changes than any other lady ringer; also about this time my wrists felt as if they were ringing $11-12$ at the Abbey instead of $7-8$ size 15 in C. But this uneasy patch cleared up suddenly after a mistake had been corrected and the culprit (Martyn) had the wit to declare be was only testing the conductor.

EXISTING RECORD PASSED

After 6 hours and 56 minutes we passed the existing Major record $(15,904)$ some 40 minutes quicker than that peal and I announced we'd now rung 16,000 and asked if all was well to

A STUDY IN CDNCENTRATION

Their stint lasted 7 hours and 44 minutes. From Ieft to rlght: Julia A. Fellows, Martyn L. J. Jordan, Gerald Penney and Brian J. Woodruffe. go on and ring the last six courses. It was, and soon the bob at 5ths was called to part the tenors for the last time. A little tension built up in the ringing as we felt we were going to get the peal; evidently some of the listeners felt the same way, as I saw Bill Nichols and Bill Little, ringers at the Abbey, leave 15 minutes from the end-rather like spectators leaving a football match when they realise the result is a foregone conclusion.
And so we came to the last course. a long one of 14 leads, taking 12 minutes to ring; the existing Kent record ( 17.280 ) had been passed in the previous course; at 7.32 p.m.. 7 hours and 44 minutes after we had started, the bells ran cleanly into rounds, and our goal, after five months of preparation, had been reached.

The members of the team are most appreciative of the services of the umpires in their unenviable task both for this attempt and for the previous two. Our thanks also go to Walter Ayre for arranging to have the school available for the peal and for whose wite the peal was a birthday compliment, and also to the visitors who took an interest in this and the other attempts. It was in Januaty this year we decided the handbell Major record ought to be more than 15.000 and we set out with the aim of raising it. Now, five peal successes and five failures later, it has been achieved and we set our sights on something new. The umpires, Walter Ayre, Tony Carter. Bob Hardy and Andrew Wilby, have now, I believe, turned professional ait a rate of a penny a change. so perhaps any future attempts may cost us more than a pint or two!

UMPIRES' REPOR [

Not as good as the 10.000 ," muttered one member of the band, nursing two sore palms. However, after comparing the tape recordings of both performances we think this selfcriticism a little harsh.

It was about ten to thelve when the bells started off, the pace settling at an even 36 changes per minute. A hesitant first course ringing Oxford." The pace continued at about 36 c.p.m for the first hour then steadily increased, despite the parted tenors, to about 41 c.p.m. After 2 hours and 10 minutes the lirst drama, a miscall, immediately corrected. The band seemed on edge-the pace slowedhut an hour later a bob brought the tenors together and the pace quickened once more to 41 c.p.m. Smiles crept across ringers' faces, denoting all was well again.

Parting the tenors once more slowed the pace to $38 \mathrm{c} . \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}_{\text {., }}$ where in general it remained for the remainder of the peal. The first relief came after 4 hours and 41 minutes' ringing. when the record length of Treble Bob "in hand," set by the same band on May 5th, was surpassed. Brian informed the band that they were five minutes ahead of schedule (the original 10,784 in fact took 4 hours and 47 minutes), and after a few lighthearted comments it was obvious that they had decided that the 17.000 was not going to be lost. The rhythm settled into what was generally agreed to be the best ringing of the peal

The 13.664 Hertford County Association handbell record (1948) was reached after 5 hours and 58 minutes. the 15.904 record of Major "in hand" (1962) after 6 hours and 56 minutes, and finally, after 7 hours and 29 minutes, the 1923 record of 17,280 Kent T.B. was passed. There then was new ground, but not for long, for in another 15 minutes the bells were round. The sigh of relief by the band as they set-up is recorded for posterity on tape.

According to "The Daily Telegraph " Britain is to give a carillon and a tower to Canberra to mark its golden jubilee in 1970. Does this mean that the plea on behalf of change ringers for swinging bells has been dismissed?

Letters to the Editor

IS IT FALSE?

Dear Sir,-Mr. Dodd's peal of Seedman Minimus must surely be regarded as false if it consisted of plain courses of the method as shown, since each plain course contains six changes three limes each and a further 18 changes once each, i.e. an extent of 24 changes plus six of these twice each.

The method which he has gained from an eminent London ringer is much more interesting. This is the version which we deduced on first seeing the Newtown peal report and have subsequently rung at Langdon Hills when meeting short.

We have also carried out experiments with Treble Bob Minimus methods which are double extent methods. Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and a version of Kent but without the places-not needed since repetition must occur-are possible, and also another double method which consists simply of Cambridge backwork with threc-pull dodges instead of double dodges and the same work on the front.

The "form of Grandsire witbout a hunt bell" which Mr. Dodd gives is, in fact, an extent of Grandsire Minimus produced by calling three bobs and therefore it does have a hunt bell. This was rung "in hand" by myself and my eight-year-old son to a quarter peal on December 30 th last and subsequently published in "The Ringing World" as Grandsire Minimus.
I should like to thank Mr. Dodd for introducing us to Stedman Minimus, and also your corresbondent R. H. Johnston for Erin Minimus-we usually have only a Minimus band for Sunday evenings-but would like clarification regarding the Central Council rules and double extent Minimus methods which I would like to think are " acceptable," since they make interesting ringing if you are forced to ring four--Yours sincercly,
G. I. LUCAS.

Basildon, Essex.

PREVIOUSLY NAMED

Dear Sir,-Regarding Mr. G. H. Dodd's letter (" Ringing World," June 14th, 1968) giving three Minimus methods, the last one. which he claims to be Grandsire without a hunt bell, is really Single Court Bob Minimus. which was rung to a peal at Barton, Westmorland, on March 2nd, 1968.-Yours faithfully,

KEVIN M. PRICE.

THANK YOU, KENT

Dear Sir,-May I through the medium of "The Ringing World " thank the incumbents and tower captains of the five churches we visited on our annual outing from Orsett, Essex, on June 8th. It is my usual practice to write to each tower, but somewhere en route I lost the envelope containing all the correspondence relating to the outing. We would like to thank Mr. Stockbridge and Miss Pinnock for meeting us at St. Dunstan's and St, Stephen's. Canterbury, respectively. At Charing we were met by the Rev. P. Robbins and a young member of his band, and at Aylesford by Mr. Parker. I would like to mention specially Roger de Brett of Aylesford with whom I seemed to keep up an endless correspondence and who kindly put me in touch with our tinal tower. Halling. Here we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Underhill and a member of his band who stood in a touch of Minor with us in spite of not having rung for 14 months. Thank you. Kent, for a very enjoyable outing.-Yours sincerely.

JOAN HILLS.
Grays, Essex.

DON'T LEAVE HANDBELLS LYING

 ABOUTDear Sir,-Reading in your May 31st issue of the Nuneaton ringer who had his mini-van, containing a set of handbells, stolen, reminds me of what on several occasions I have seen in churches 1 have visited-handbells left in all sorts of places where strange visitors could, if their consciences were so rotten, easily steal them.
I remember once, going to meeting at Watford, Northants, seeing a set of handbells hung in a pew. In others, where the belfry is on the ground floor, they have been hung on coat hangers. In others they have been fetched out of an old chest with no lock and key on it

Dealers have somehow got to know that handbells are in big demand and fetching nigh prices. I know this through going to auction sales, where many do not know the difference between criers' bells with a wooden handle and proper handbells and bid some of the silliest prices for the former, thinking they were handbells and later trying to resell them as such in their secondhand shops and on market haberdashery stalls to the ignorant who know no difference.

One came to me only two days ago to know if I wanted to buy "a valuable set of handbells." "You are sure they are valuable?" I jokingly replied, and asked him "How valuable? " and did he know what he was trying to sell and could he see green in my cyes. "Sorry, I am not a buyer." I said. He afterwards looked confounded when told that what he had were not proper handbells and were practically worthless. I have known others who, having discovered the difference, have removed the wooden handles, fitted leather straps and tried to palm these off as handoells.

All this goes to show the keenness of dealers to get hold of handbells if they can come by them by hook or by crook.

Old disused bells out of school turrets are other things they are seeking to try palming off as ships' bells to big country houses and others they think they can bluff.
So in view of this, those who have any handbells should be more careful and not leave them lying about where easily seen.Yours sincerely.
P. AMOS.

The bells of three village churches rang out on June 8 th, when the North Dorset Branch heid its quarterly meeting. Firstly, at Bradford Abbas, where. alas, there is no regular ringing at present, but where, with a newly-enlarged population, there is hope for the future. Secondly, at Upminster, where many favourable comments were heard on the newly-rehung six. Then a few ringers went on to Lillington (a light five), in a delightfully remote village (although only three or four miles from Sherborne).

The service at Bradford Abbas was conducted by the Master of the Guild, the Rev. R. N. Longridge; the lesson was read by Mr. H. A. Stapleton, a ringer from Shillingstone; and the address was given by the Vicar, the Rev. G. Squarey. A self-service tea in the Village Hall was provided by Mrs. Gillham and Mrs. Guppy, and was followed by the business meeting. The Branch chairman, the Rev. R. G. Chaffey Moore, thanked those who had helped with the local arrangements and welcomed members of the Dorchester and Wimborne Branches.

New members elected were Messrs. P. Moule. 3. Herbert. C. Collins. N. Adams and A. Miflin, all from Sherborne Abbey lower. Proficiency certificates which had been earned by three Durweston ringers-Messrs Arthur B. Corry. Brian R. Jeans and Alan J. Paulley were handed to Mr. B. R. Jeans.

LONG LENGTH LINCOLNSHIRE RUNG AT BARNES

The idea of ringing a long length at Barnes was suggested by John Ketteringham some time ago, and although the Rector of St. Mary's has in the past received several complaints from local residents during peal attempts, he was very keen on the idea and gave his permission for an attempt on June 8th. The original suggestion was to ring about 12,000 of Lyme Surprise Major, but when Chris Starbuck and Simon Humphrey produced a composition for 9,600 Lincoinshire, thus extending the existing longest length, which stood at 5,376 , it was decided to attempt his instead.
In order to prepare the local population for what was coming, advance publicity was obtained by the Rector in two of the local papers, the story appearing under a front page headine in one of them!
The band duly assembled on the morning of June 8th and, after the usual adjusting of ropes, the bells went into changes at 9.18 a.m. Audrey. Alexander, the Master of the U.L.S.C.R., kindly acted as umpire, assisted by Michael Rigby. After a rather slow start the band soon settled down and the speed of ringing increased, unfortunately rather too much, as is wont to happen at Barnes. However, after several exhortations from the conductor, a more reasonable pace was set and maintained for most of the peal.

The first part-end came up in 98 minutes and the half-way point in exactly two and a half hours. The ringing was not faultless but the trips which did occur were infrequent and quickly righted. The general standard of striking was very good. although the last 1,000 changes suffered a little from the effects of tiredness and blisters. The bells came into rounds at 2.14 p.m. and the band were very pleased to learn that not a single complaint had been received Everyone seemed thoroughly pleased with the peal and thirsts were soon being quenched in the local hostelry. where the possibility of ringing 12.000 at Barnes next year was discussed.
T. G. P.

UMPIRES' NOTE
We checked all the calls and course-ends. All the course-ends came up correctly and we are of the opinion that the tinging was of the required standard for a record length.

Audrey R. Alexander. Michael Rigby.

NORTH DORSET BRANCH LIKE UPMINSTER BELLS

Foremost among the forthcoming activities announced was the gathering to be held at Hampreston on June 29th in honour of the 60 years of bellringing of Mr. W. C. Shute. the senior Branch Ringing Master. Many of his large numbers of friends hope to be with him on that occasion. Notice was also given of the Blandford Ringing Festival to be held on October 26th.

Mention was madc of recent honours received by members of the Branch. At Mere. Messrs. A. J. Gray and C. H. Jordan had been given certificates in recognition of over 50 years each of service to the tower: and at Gillingham the ringers had done honour to Mr. M. D. Perrett. a member of long standing, on his golden wedding day.

AGAINST RINGERS' INTERESTS

Dear Sir.-I view with horror the recent correspondence concerning a "Miss Bellringing." Such a competition is not in kecping with the high standards which your journal has long sustained.
" The Ringing World " should surely devote jtself to ringing, not pornography. - Yours faithfully.

ANNA K. SADOWSKA.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Central Council's card " Instruction on Care of Church Bells" is no longer available.

The University of Bristol Society rang two peals and one quarter during their annual reunion starting on June 7th.
Mr. Jack W. Drew. who has not yet sufficiently recovered from a serious car accident to stand for any length of time, conducted a quarter of Grandsire Doubles seated in the belfry of Stoke-sub-Hamdon on June 9 h .
At the memorial service for Lady Juliet Craig on June 9th Mrs. Rogers not only rang in the quarter peal of Grandsire Caters hut was one of the many Girl Guide leaders who attended to pay tribute 10 one who had strongly supported the movement over a long period.
The Midland Bank ringers' day in London on June 15th was a great success-six towers being visited. Many came from the provinces as far afield as Coventry, Swansea, Bridgnorth and Gloucester.

During the University of Bristol Society's week-end (June 7th to 9th) five peals were arranged but only two were scored-Pudsey at Longney and Stedman Triples at St. George's, Bristol.
Abingdon School Society attempted a quarter peal during the visit of H.M. the Queen to R.A.F. Abingdon on June 14th. A bob pus in a lead early was unfortunately not noticed for two leads, making the quarter false. There was, however, some excellent striking as the Queen passed the church.
The Ashford District of the Kent County Association have decided that the John Willis Memorial be a bell hung in a tower within the District and that a tablet be displayed in the ringing chamber recording the fact. Sus: gested towers are either Newchurch or Charing.
Peals of Doubles rung after July ist must he submitted in conformity with the Council's Decisions on variations.

A FLYING ClAPPER

There is much to interest the handbell ringer in the latest issue of "Reverberations," the journal of the Handbell Ringers of Great Britain. Chere are now 34 registered teams and a very large number of unattached members.
An amusing and embarrassing situation is told of an incident at a concert before an audience of 300 . The final chord was given with a resounding thump when the clapper fell out of the bell, off the stage and straight into a lady's open handbag!
"We stood there, stunned. while the whole audience tuined to look at the lady who had woken up with a start and was holding the peculiar object in her hand. 1 say 'peculiar "because it was obvious that she had never seen anything remotely like a handbell clapper before in her whole life, and was eyeing her new discovery with evident distrust.

- Geoff, bless him. made a hurried apology to the interested audience, dropped his bells on to the table and went to rescue the offending object from the embarrassed lady. To hide my face, I turned my back on the audience, although I would gladly have crawled under the table.

Needless to say we did not win. We did not even make the top four. a discovery which did not really amaze any of us. One of the judges sidled up to "have a word' with Geoff afterwards, and solemnly reprimanded him for (I) ringing with badly-serviced bells. and (II) nearly causing a nasty accident. crept off and hid in a dark corner with a hotdog and tried to look both unconcerned and inconspicuous. And I didn't taste the hotdog!"

This is a good and amusing magazine and we congratulate the Editor, John P. Partington, on the entertainment provided.

LNIVERSITY OF SLSSEX A.G.M.

The annual gencral meeting of the U.S.G.C.R. Was held in glorious weather on top of Ditchling Beacon on Sunday, June 9th. The following officers were elected for the next two terms: Master, Miss Caroline Mackie ; secretary, Miss Susan Hopkin. c/o Falmer House Pigeon Holes, University of Sussex. Falmer, Brighton; treasurer, Mr. David Nibbs.

TENTERDEN RINGERS IN ROCHESTER AREA

Tenterden ringers spent their annual outtng on Whit Monday in the Rochester District. Thanks to the help of Mr. Cyril Jarratt, captain of the Cathedral band, an hour's enjoyable ringing, which included Grandsire Caters, took place at Rochester Cathedral. The bells of St. Margaret's. Rochester, were a contrast, a very rough eight with a stay missing from the second. An excellent lunch was had at the Gordon Hotel.

There was very good ringing in the afternoon at Chatham and Rainham, and an extremely good tea at the Oast House Restaurant, Teynham. Two sixes were reserved for the evening at Newington-next-Sittingbourne and the new ring at Bredgar. It was at Bredgar that the customary evening service was taken by the Rev. S. M. Evans (Vicar).

A GOOSNAKGH DEDICATION

Just opposite the pretty Lancashire village church of St. Mary, Goosnargh, stands the village school. The school has been in existence for over 300 years and June 15th was an important milestone in its history. On this day extensions to the old school, comprising assembly hall. kitchen, cloakrooms, toilets, library and storerooms were dedicated by the Bishop of Blackburn. the Rt. Rev. Charles R. Claxton, in the presence of the Chief Education Oflicer of Lancashire. Sir Percy Lord
After the dedication ceremony the opening was performed by Sir Robert O. Lloyd, an Old Boy of the school, who, in his youth, had learned to ring on the six bells of St. Mary's.
The Vicar of Goosnargh, Canon A. Hodgson, who is of course president of the Lancashire Association, being aware of Sir Robert's one-time interest in bellringing, had arranged for a quarter peal to be rung in!mediately after the opening ceremony. Sir Robert was delighted with this gesture which brought back memories of his youth, and warmly thanked the ringers for their efforts.

KENT TOWER TO HAVE BELLS RECAST

Two silver-gilt flagons from Westwell Church, Kent, have been valued by a director of Sotheby's at about $£ 30,000$. Canterbury Consistory Court has given permission for their sale and the money will be used for the church restoration and heating and to recast the bells. At present Westwell has a ring of four. We trust that it is possible to augment them to six.

BINGHAM DISTRICT CONTEST

Mecting at Elston. in Newark District, Bingham could truthfully say they were in a neutral tower for their round of the Crawford Cup. Mr. F. Hooper was the judge with Mr. D. Tysoe as marker. His placings were: Shelford 8 faults. Whatton 10 . Holme Picrrepont 34, Radcliffe-on-Trent 57, Cotgrave 71, Gedling 137 plus 10 points penalty. Mr. W. L. Exton thanked the judges.

One new member, Miss E. Dickson (Bingham), was elected and five non-resident life members-Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Rothera, Mr. D. Rothera, Miss Ann Fellows and Mr. P. J. Rothera.

Canon Evans (Rector) conducted the service and a very good tea was served by the ladies.

Forthcoming fixtures are: Junc meeting. Radcliffe-on-Trent: July meeting, joint with Newark District, at Orston and Staunton-in-the-Vale: District outing on September 28th.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The nice weather seemed to draw many people to the Biggleswade District meeting at Campton and Meppershall on June 8th, when the two towers were open simultaneously during the afternoon and evening. After a very shori service conducted by the Vicar of Meppershall over 40 people sat down to an excellent tea prepared by local ladies.

Mr. P Mehew chaired the business meeting, when two committee members were elected to attend the general committee meeting later that evening to discuss the election of an Association technical adviser and the forthcoming Association striking competition to be held in the Luton District. Further ringing followed until $8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

Next meeting: Eaton Socon, July 13th,

NOTICE OF LONG PEAL ATTEMPT ON HANDBELLS

Dear Sir--I wish to give notice of an attempt to ring 13,140 Kent Treble Bob Maximus (Cam variation) on handbells in All Saints' belfry, Marple, Cheshire, on Saturday, July 6th. 1968, starting at $9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. The composition is as follows:-

| M | w | H | 234567890 ET |

Four times repeated.
The present T.B. Maximus records are:-
(a) Tower bells: 12.240 Kent at Ashton-under-Lyne on April 17th, 1911.
(b) Handbells: 5.376 Kent at Evesham on November 21st, 1923.

Yours sincerely,

BRIAN J. WOODRUFFE.
Wheathampstead, Herts.

TLRRAMLRRA PLANS FOR AN OCTAVE

The parish committee of St. James' Church, Turramurra, New South Wales, has authorised a fund for the purchase of two trebles. This will in fact be the second augmentation, as the first bell (the present fifth) was cast in 1924, and at first erected in the churchyard. Five more hells were cast in 1937 and hung for ringing in the new church, which was completed in 1941.
The founders of these six bells, Messrs. John Taylor and Co.. have been asked to quote for the new trebles, and the bell fund has already reached over $$ A 300$. The total cost is expected to be about $$ \mathrm{~A} 2.500$, including additions to the all-welded steel frame. When completed, this augmentation will provide the sixth ring of eight in the Sydney district.
